Cease Fire Order to End Fighting in Israel, Egypt

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld announced today Israel and Egypt have agreed to an unconditional cease-fire on their borders tonight.

Israeli diplomatic sources in London reported their government has called a temporary halt to the operation of its ground patrols along the frontier of the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip. The Gaza Strip, crowded with Palestine Arab refugees, has been the chief center of trouble between Israel and Egypt.

The cease-fire is effective at 6 p.m.

It is the major achievement to date of Hammarskjöld's peace mission, in which he has conferred over the past 10 days with government officials of Israel and Egypt, leader of the Arab nations.

Israel's Premier David Ben-Gurion met with his Cabinet this morning to discuss the progress of his talks with Hammarskjöld, which opened Tuesday. Israeli sources said the talks had brought "very good progress toward evolving means of reducing border friction."

TASK COMPLICATED

Hammarskjöld's task was complicated by an Israeli countermand that Egypt lift all restrictions on Israeli shipping through the Suez Canal.

The secretary first went to Cairo, where he spent five days conferring last week with Nasser and top Egyptian officials.

After weekend staff conferences at his temporary headquarters in Beirut, Lebanon, the secretary pushed on to Israel. He expects to go soon to Amman, the Jordan capital, and Damascus, Syria.

Only minor border incidents have been reported since Hammarskjöld wound up his talks in Cairo and came to Israel.

Will Open Bids on Hospital Job

Architect Leo Heenan to Tabulate Estimates for Report

Bids for the $3,000,000 addition to Pontiac General Hospital will be opened this afternoon at 2:30 in the City Commission chambers of the City Hall.

After receiving all bids, architect Leo J. Heenan is expected to tabulate them for a report to be submitted to the City Commission April 24.

The commissioners approved the final plans for the wing on Feb. 14. At this time, City Manager W. K. Willman said "as soon as we know what the bids are we will begin to advertise the sale of the bonds."

The $3,000,000 general obligation bond issue was approved by voters Nov. 2, 1934.

On March 13, this year, the City Commission approved the issuance of $2,900,000 worth of bonds. This was necessary because $100,000 worth were made void because their retirement date was expected to be reached before a state group approved the bond sale.

The $100,000 will remain in the financial plans as this amount was set aside in the 1935 budget, the city manager reported.

Prince and Bride Speak Vows in Monaco's Cathedral

PRINCE RECEIVES COMMUNION — Prince Rainier III receives communion from the Most Rev. Gilles Barthe, Bishop of Monaco, during religious ceremony uniting him with American film star Grace Kelly this morning in Monaco's Cathedral.

Monaco Cheers Rainier and Bride

Dewy-Eyed Princess Grace Speaks Vows

By BOB CONSIDINE

MONTE CARLO (INS)—Pope Pius XII bestowed his blessing today on Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier III in a brilliant religious wedding ceremony in Monaco Cathedral before nearly 1,000 stunceremony that legally made the dewy-eyed Philadelphia girl and the ruler of Monaco man and wife yesterday.

The superb-looking pair exchanged gold wedding rings and received Holy Communion before an altar that was a prelude of white flowers and dark television cameras.

Then they went off smiling broadly in an open car while subjects and visitors cheered mightily and cries of "Vive la Princesse" rang through the sunshine-bathed air.

The hour for the long-delayed honeymoon of the golden-haired American film beauty and her Prince on the royal yacht grew a bit nearer and, as it did, the tempo of this slightly incredible story picked up pace and pomp. Shouts rang through all the 375 acres of what the papal nuncio who gave the pair the Pontiff's blessing—called "this precious jewel on the Mediterranean shore." Wildly cheering Monegasques and others lined the gracefully twisting streets as the Prince and his regal beauty passed before them after the wedding, en route to the palace, some of whom ramparts date back to the early 13th Century.

On the way they received shrill squeals of delight from Monegasque schoolchildren dressed in bright red and white and alternately waving United States and Monegasque flags.

As the young former film star predicted with a sad smile yesterday, the ceremony today was another wedding without a kiss. But Rainier had shed most of the cool, aloof manner he displayed at the civil ceremony.

PROUD PRINCE

He was as proud as his personally designed uniform—and almost as cheerful as his sky blue trousers with gold sideflaps as he took her serene highness down the deep red carpets of the church whose white marble seemed made of angel cake.

Philadelphia-born Princess Grace, 26, looked proudly and longingly at the 32-year-old Rainier (Other stories, pictures on pages 2, 21, and 51.)

once they were seated in the back of a black and yellow Rolls-Royce convertible with the top down.

The bride was radiant in her white gown of lace, satin and tulle, encrusted with hundreds of pearls and the astonishing numbers of 800,000 transparent sequins.

She hardly had been seated, with three women and two footmen helping her adjust her skirt, when she clasped Rainier's hand and held it tightly as the car waited two minutes for the rest of the procession to form behind them and roll down the hill between a lane formed of French Alpine troops.

Exclamations such as "She looks like a fairy princess" and "She's too beautiful to be real" were heard.

Grace smiled at her subjects who crowded outside the cathedral cheering, waving and applauding her and Rainier.

Rainier smiled warmly at his bride but still seemed self-conscious as the car started through the crowd.

Getting to the car, Grace and the Prince walked slowly down (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Soviets Protest on Minor Points in New Charter

Group Will Supervise Nuclear Material Pools Throughout World

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomats credited Russia with another strong bid for international good will today in its agreement to join the Western powers in setting up a worldwide atoms-for-peace agency.

A 12-nation conference, including the Soviet Union and the United States, agreed last night on a charter for the proposed new organization which would function under the general sponsorship of the United Nations.

The charter will be presented to an 84-nation conference which will meet at U. N. headquarters in New York in September.

The agreement was announced by the State Department after a series of meetings which began Feb. 27.

The action appears to assure creation of a project initiated by President Eisenhower in December 1953. He called for an international atoms-for-peace pool which would spread the benefits of peaceful atomic power over the world.

POOL ATOM MATERIALS

In essence the organization is designed to pool contributed atomic materials from the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada primarily, and make them available to applicant countries which lack the knowledge and industrial resources for producing their own atomic fuels.

In the consuming countries the fuels will be "burned" in atomic furnaces to produce electric power and thereby raise the industrial level and living standards.

Russia for more than a year and a half refused to cooperate and the Western powers went ahead on their own. At the Geneva summit conference last July Premier Nikolai Bulganin told Eisenhower Russia would contribute fissionable material if an agency was set up. Subsequently Moscow agreed to take part in the conference here. Its representative was Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin.

INDIA AN OBJECTOR

Early in the sessions Zarubin conceded two points which helped to make the final outcome possible. He dropped a bid to include Red China. He also yielded on a Soviet proposal that the new agency be subject to the big power veto in the U. N. Security Council.

The Soviets are reported to have stated reservations on several points of the charter. But they joined in making adoption of the charter by the 12-country group unanimous.

Not all the objections came from Russia, however. India and some other nonatomic powers are reported to have protested that some early drafts would have given them little say in the agency.

AMERICANS SKEPTICAL

This was the third Soviet action this week seemingly calculated to promote the idea that Russia is now cooperating in constructive developments.

Others were an offer of cooperation in U. N. efforts to make peace between Israel and the Arab states and the announced dissolution of the international communist information agency, the Cominform.

American officials remain highly skeptical of Soviet aims in these maneuvers, but they concede they have wide appeal for millions of people.

Courageous Cat Hikes 200 Miles to Rejoin Family

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Missy, a fluffy brown and white cat missing for 14 months, has joined her family here after a 200-mile journey that left her dirty and bedraggled and her paws almost raw.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bass said yesterday they moved here 14 months ago after their home at Lyle, Tenn., was destroyed by fire. The day they moved, however, they couldn't find Missy and left without her, much to the disappointment of their daughter, Wanda, 6.

The couple said Missy appeared in their front yard here Tuesday. "That cat had never been outside Hickman County when we lived there and I don't have any idea how she got here or how she knew where we were," Bass said. "But I'm certain she's our Missy."

Grace in Headlines? 'Good'—Says Official

JERUSALEM (INS)—Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharet has told how the name of Grace Kelly came up in Middle East peace talks—for the first time.

He said, "I didn't know who Miss Kelly is until tonight, when I was told her wedding has displaced the Middle East in the news headlines."

"This may be a good thing. What we need is less headlines, and more constructive lines of agreement."

Russian Leaders in London Debut

Red Bosses Lay Wreath on British Memorial; Boys Heavily Guarded

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Khrushchev drove through London's sun-drenched streets today to lay a wreath on Britain's national war memorial.

It was the first public engagement for the Soviet leaders, who arrived here yesterday for a 10-day visit of sightseeing and talks with Prime Minister Anthony Eden.

Helmeted motorcycle police escorts surrounded the Russians' sleek black automobile as they drove off from their headquarters at plush Claridges Hotel through crowds clustering the sidewalks.

As Bulganin and Khrushchev drove off to the Cenotaph Memorial in Whitehall the crowd was silent in keeping with the restrained and chill reception the pair have received thus far. About a dozen people waved good naturedly to the Soviet leaders.

The Russian leaders were to spend most of the rest of the day at No. 10 Downing St., the Prime Minister's official residence. Lined up for them were a talk with Eden this morning, a conference this afternoon with the Prime Minister and his Cabinet and a dinner meeting tonight.

She Waits at Airport

Independence Gets Ready for Margaret's Wedding

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—There was an air of quiet anticipation in Independence today as the folks at 219 North Delaware awaited the arrival of the bridegroom-to-be.

E. C. Daniel Jr., the New York newspaperman who will be wed Saturday to Margaret Truman, was due in neighboring Kansas City, by air, about noon.

Margaret planned to meet him at the airport. Daniel will be a house guest of her parents, former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman.

So will Daniel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Daniel Sr. of Zebulon, N. C., who are due tomorrow.

A big family party is scheduled at the Truman home tonight. It's to give Daniel a chance to meet Margaret's aunts, uncles and cousins.

Meanwhile, Independence continued to take wedding preparations in stride.

In the big, white, freshly scrubbed frame house on Delaware Street there was "hustle and bustle," the lady of the house said.

But the emphasis was on keeping wedding preparations quiet—and thorough.

"We want the wedding to be very solemn and serious—because it is," Truman said.

"They've got me muzzled," he added. He wouldn't talk politics—not to the point of saying something that might be controversial, anyway.

HIKES GAS TAX

Similar highway construction proposals were defeated last year because of a dispute—now settled—over financing.

One of the tax increases carried in the House bill would add one cent to the Federal gasoline tax, now set at 2 cents a gallon.

MAJOR PROVISIONS:

The Federal Government would furnish some 37½ billion dollars for the 13-year program, with states providing the rest.

Major provisions of the bill include:

2—An increase in the regular Federal program of aiding primary and secondary roads, which now involves some 700 million dollars a year. This would total $1,675,000,000 from 1957 through 1969.

3—Appropriation of $1,235,000,000 for roads on Federal lands.

In addition, some $1,800,000,000 in Federal and State funds already have been authorized for road projects in the fiscal year that ends June 30, 1957.

$51.5 Billion Highway Building Bill Ready for House

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $51.5-billion-dollar road building program—one of the most important measures before Congress this session—was approved Wednesday by the House Public Works Committee.

The move cleared the way for early House action—perhaps next week. The Senate already has passed a less comprehensive bill.

Backed by both the Eisenhower Administration and Democratic leaders, the House bill calls for a 13-year program to include a $40,000-mile network of interstate superhighways.

To help finance the program, the measure carries an increase in highway user taxes estimated to net an additional $14,800,000,000 in the next 16 years.

A committee spokesman said the bill as approved included all changes adopted during earlier committee consideration of the measure.

This leaves only the formal procedure of reporting to the House a "clean" bill which may be presented to the committee Thursday. The proposal is sponsored by Rep. Fallon (D-Md.). Committee sources said they expect

MAJOR PROVISIONS:

The Federal Government would furnish some 37½ billion dollars for the 13-year program, with states providing the rest.

Major provisions of the bill include:

1—Federal payments of $24,825,000,000 toward a superhighway network. This represents 60 per cent of the total cost. States would pay about $16,675,000,000.

2—An increase in the regular Federal program of aiding primary and secondary roads, which now involves some 700 million dollars a year. This would total $1,675,000,000 from 1957 through 1969.

Edison May Quit Atomic Project

Special Law Enacted by Congress Only Will Give Green Light to Plan

WASHINGTON (U)—Walker L. Cisar, Detroit utility executive, says a development group he heads will abandon a proposed 40-million-dollar atomic power project in Michigan unless Congress enacts a law to exempt firms participating in such projects from regulation as holding companies.

Cisar, president of the Detroit Edison Co., testified before a Senate Commerce subcommittee yesterday in support of the proposed legislation. It would allow industrial firms to join utilities in the development of atomic reactors to produce electricity without subjecting any of the firms to provisions of the holding company act.

Cisar is president of the Power Reactor Development Co., organized by 26 utilities and other concerns to build a breeder-type atomic reactor at a site on Lake Erie north of Monroe, Mich.

The project has been described as one of the most important undertaken by private enterprise in development of the infant atomic power industry.

Detroit Edison plans to erect a 14-million-dollar turbine-generator plant at the reactor site. It would use heat from the reactor to generate 150,000 kilowatts of electricity.

Cisar said the industrial firms affiliated with the development company, among them the Chrysler Corp., "feel that it would be completely unreasonable to subject them to the provisions of the public utility holding company act merely because of their participating in such a research and development project."

The project could not continue without the exempting legislation, Cisar said. He said $7,200,000 had been spent on it so far and that it "is too important to let fail."

Asia Is Subject of Seminar by Two Schools

Asia will be the subject of third annual World Affairs Seminar to be held by the combined history departments of Cranbrook and Kingswood Schools tonight and Friday.

Officials from government embassies in Washington will lecture on the affairs of their own countries and participate in student discussions.

The guest lecturers are expected to give a specific point of view on the policy of the governments they represent. These informal sessions enable the students an opportunity to become more familiar with the world of international relations.

Dewy-Eyed Grace Takes Nuptial Vows

the steps of the cathedral as trumpets flourished and two photographic helicopters fought for space right over the cathedral square.

She was given in marriage by her father, John B. Kelly, wealthy Philadelphia contractor. He wore evening dress.

The father and his beautiful daughter moved down the aisle to the altar first. Then Grace stood alone as the procession of the Prince walked slowly to the altar among the bejeweled audience.

Grace did not turn her head backward but some of her composure appeared to be deserting her as she came to the altar. She clasped and unclasped her hands, and seemed striving to hold back a flood of tears.

SEEMS NERVOUS

Grace did not turn her head backward but some of her composure appeared to be deserting her as she came to the altar. She clasped and unclasped her hands, and seemed striving to hold back a flood of tears.

She kept blinking her eyes—noticeably dark-ringed as if she had spent a sleepless night—as the bishop delivered the allocation.

When Mass began Grace stared intently at the ring on her finger and placed the other hand affectionately over it and rubbed the ring for good luck.

The pontiff's message was read first in French, then repeated in English. Grace perked up when she heard the words in her own language.

The papal legate delivered a special benediction as the couple knelt before him. Grace and Rainier crossed themselves, then rose to shake hands with Msgr. Marcella.

RAINIER SMILES

For the first time Rainier broke into a broad smile. But this vanished as he turned to march up the aisle with Grace on his right arm.

His lips were tightly together as he walked up the aisle. Grace, looking grave, glanced slowly from time to time to left and right.

When Grace and Rainier reached the cathedral door they walked into the glaring Mediterranean sunshine.

Both then broke into smiles, as bugles blew and bells pealed happily.

The two walked down the steps of the cathedral 25 yards to an open car and passed the honor guards who smartly presented arms.

Surrounded by a noisy motorcycle escort, the couple's open car moved slowly between lanes of cheering Monagasques who hope Grace will provide an heir to Monaco and save the little land from being annexed by France.

PRINCE ON EDGE

The bridegroom, who was ushered into the cathedral with a flourish of trumpets that was almost drowned out by the flapping of two helicopters above, appeared on edge during the entire ordeal.

Rainier, standing by his slim young bride, wore a black Napoleonic uniform coat with gold epaulettes and sky blue trousers with wide gold stripes. Over his shoulder and across his chest was a sash of the Order of St. Charles.

He carried in his hand a helmet matching the trousers. The helmet was crowned with red and white plumes.

The Prince designed his own uniform. The design took into consideration his loss of weight because of a diet and the strain of attending to almost every particular of this tiny never-never land on the Mediterranean coast.

Princess Grace of Monaco gave her bridal bouquet to the patron saint of her new country this afternoon. It was her first official act as her serene highness and wife of Prince Rainier III.

RADIANT PRINCESS

The radiantly lovely new princess was smiling happily as she drove amid the cheers of her people to the tiny Chapel of St. Devote, patron saint of the principality.

The Prince stood to one side as the princess knelt in her graceful wedding gown and prayed. Then Grace placed a spray of lilies-of-the-valley at the feet of the statue.

The honeymoon trip will start aboard the royal yacht "Deo Juvante II"—a cruise of about a month's duration during which Rainier and Grace will be received by Pope Pius XII in a special audience.

Then they'll come back to this little land of some 28,000 people ruled over by a man with 600 years of history behind him and by a beautiful 26-year-old screen star whose father was once a Philadelphia bricklayer.

FSBA Factions Attack Officials

Milk Group Asks Two to Answer Accusations of CIO 'Sell-Out'

Two leaders of the Fair Share Bargaining Assn., under fire on charges of attempting to hand the dairy farmer group over to the CIO, have been asked by opposing factions to appear at a South Lyon meeting tonight to defend themselves.

The two are Rolland Brengle of South Lyon, president, and Treasurer Arthur Heip of Northville, ousted Oakland County representative to the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. sales committee.

The public meeting was demanded by Fair Share representatives elected from various counties, who accuse Brengle of "holding private sessions of his rump parliament."

Some Fair Share members have charged that August Scholle, president of the Michigan CIO Council, wants to control the association for political purposes, although the labor leader states that his offer of $1,000 a month was intended only to "help" the Brengle group.

The Fair Shareers recently led a milk strike in the Detroit area in an effort to raise wholesale milk prices above the standards urged by the Milk Producers Assn.

Similar regret was expressed at the resignation of state representative Richard B. VanDusen.

When the nominating committee returned its 124 names just before midnight, Waterford Township delegate Richard L. Moore objected to the 35 listed delegates who were not either elected delegates or delegates nominated from the floor.

BLASTS DISORDER

Sharply criticizing the "disorder at the last state convention," Moore urged that "the operation of the working delegation should remain in the hands of the elected delegates."

Moore told the 17 delegates still on the floor there was "plenty of room on the alternate list" for non-elected delegates.

As alternates, these delegates could be seated in the delegation at the convention, but would have no voice in pre-convention meetings.

The 17 delegates accepted the list over Moore's objection.

Parliamentarian Lodge urged chairman Hayes to appoint a steering committee before the state convention. Lodge said a "good steering committee" would eliminate "most of the disorder."

BIRMINGHAM — Arthur F. Blakeslee became new president of Birmingham's Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting last night at Devon Gables.

Blakeslee is manager of the Consumers Power branch office here.

Election was by board members, including newcomers announced at the meeting. They are Russell M. Downey, general manager of the Wilson Pontiac-Cadillac agency; Aaron Kershbaum, vice president of K & Y Baum's; and Arthur Lake, partner in Lake Jewlers.

A talk by Calvin Patterson, vice president of Michigan Bell Telephone Company, pointed out civic responsibilities of modern business to the 165 per cent.

Promoting Birmingham as a shopping center, issuing a new booklet on the city, and supporting civic projects, are among plans to be studied by the board members at a future meeting.

Seek to Expand School Program

Bloomfield Hills Orders Cost Study on Summer Stepped-Up Classes

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A plan for an expanded summer school program was considered by the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education Tuesday night, and a cost study was requested by the board.

The increased program might be financed by tuitions, board members were told.

The Wing Lake recreation program would be expanded over the entire district, and "enrichment" classes to give advanced classwork to above-average students are included.

High school typing would be offered, as well as making summer chorus and instrumental music as a part of a stepped up year round program.

The school's newly approved budget calls for $838,220, with $535,000 for teachers.

New pay schedule is from $4,200 for beginners to $6,600 for top-pay teachers with BA degrees, and $4,400 to $6,800 for MA teachers.

Most contracts have been signed by the 75-teacher staff, with three resigning. Two teachers will be returning next year after teaching in Holland and Japan, and another after a year's European travel.

About 22 teachers will be hired for newly formed classes.

Hickory Grove School Board will meet with the Bloomfield Hills board on Tuesday to talk over mutual problems.

Sale at Cranbrook to Augment Fund

Cranbrook Academy's Scholarship Fund will benefit from two weekend sales of weaving work to begin Saturday at the school's art galleries. It was announced today. Sales will be held both Saturday and Sunday and again the weekend of April 28-29.

The weavings to be on sale will be donated by Department Head Marianne Strengell. Among the materials will be chair-lengths of upholstery fabrics, lengths for pillows and hassocks, place mats for trays and tables.

The sale will take place from 2 to 5 p.m. on the four days with the south gallery booths to be manned by student volunteers from the weaving department.

BEACONS OF WELCOME—Four beacons, together generating almost two billion candle power of light, are being installed atop New York's Empire State Building, and this sketch shows how they will look up there. They will be placed 1,092 feet above 5th Avenue and 34th Street. Engineers say they will be visible from the air as far away as Boston and Baltimore. Persons on the ground up to 80 miles away will be able to see the beacons, which will cost some $250,000.

Copper Theft Gang Jailed in Dickinson

IRON MOUNTAIN (N)—Seven persons, including four teenagers, were held today in connection with the theft of $2,344 worth of copper tubing from the Kingsford Chemical Co. plant in Iron Mountain.

An eighth, Art Solom of Aurora, Wis., was arraigned yesterday at Florence, Wis., on a charge of receiving stolen property. He was bound over to circuit court on $2,000 bond.

Sheriff's officers from Iron Mountain and Florence said they found a large amount of copper tubing hidden in the attic of Solom's home. He operates a scrap yard in Kingsford. Seven persons were held in the Dickinson County Jail here on grand larceny charges. They are George Rowel, 17, Bruce Hicks, 16, Clarence E. Walstrom, 36, Gene Richards, 16, and William Chartier, 20, of Kingsford; Wayne Ocienzonek, 16, of Iron Mountain, and Richard Peterson, 20, of Norway.

by American Businessmen Italy Called 'Paradise'

ROME (INS)—Italy today was painted as a sunny paradise where American businessmen can "live longer, make more money, and work less hours" than in the United States.

An Italian official put it this way: "For the tired American businessman, Italy is better than California or Florida. The climate is mild, the taxes are even milder."

The official who is working on plans to attract foreign—and particularly American—capital to Italy, listed a number of his country's economic advantages:

1. Italy is riding the crest of an economic upswing. Gross incomes increased seven per cent last year, five per cent during the previous year.
2. Italy has vast undeveloped resources. Some oil has been found in the south, more is expected. There are also indications of uranium, coal and other mineral deposits.
3. In the south there is a fertile field for developing citrus fruit and vegetable production in conjunction with canning and frozen food industries that could be established. Wheat and cotton has been grown successfully, and dairy and meat production offers good potentials.

4. Labor is cheap, Italian workers are clever, amenable. And to clinch his sales argument, the official brought up two added inducements for the American investor. The recently passed law permitting foreign investors to re-export their profits and capital at will and the fact that Italy's tax is nominally a flat 32 per cent of profits.

WORDS OF CAUTION

But foreign businessmen now operating in Italy had words of caution for enthusiastic businessmen who would rush into this paradise of profits and pizza-pies.

"On the books, Italy's capital levy of 32 per cent looks a lot better than America's 53 per cent corporation tax," an industrialist explained. "But when it comes down to brass tacks, it's a different picture."

The picture changes, the industrialist said, because Italian revenue agents can make it change at will. Under local regulations, agents have a wide latitude in determining taxable profits of a company or an individual. They often dis-low important cost figures by saying that these costs were incurred as the result of a company's "bad judgment."

In addition, there are a number of additional taxes, such as those levied by local government-sponsored Chambers of Commerce, a three per cent transaction tax, and a number of hidden duties that appear at various distribution levels.

Record Tobacco Crop

BUENOS AIRES — Argentina produced a record 91,000,000 pounds of tobacco from 99,132 acres in the 1956 season compared with 67,000,000 pounds from 84,733 acres in 1955.

Aussies Study Remote Waters

Gulf of Carpentaria Tides to Receive Major Emphasis in Survey

WASHINGTON — A study by Australian scientists of the unpredictable tides in the Gulf of Carpentaria will shed new light on one of the world's least-known major bodies of water.

The gulf cuts deeply into the northern coast of Australia, with Arnhem Land on the west and Cape York Peninsula on the east, says the National Geographic Society. It is 420 miles wide from Cape York to Cape Arnhem and 400 miles in length, almost one-third the size of the Gulf of Mexico.

Besides unstable tides, generally shallow water and many shoals make navigation dangerous in the Carpentaria Gulf. Its shoreline ranges from flat, miles-wide marshes to rocky granite cliffs. Mariners are warned by shipping authorities that some of the island-dotted coasts are still uncharted.

Plankton—tiny plant and animal life—swarms in gulf waters, giving off a vivid phosphorescent glow. At night, waves and ripples are marked with rainbow colors, pink, blue and yellow.

DWARF TEXAS

The surrounding gulf country is literally the edge of civilization—Australia's wildest frontier. It is inhabited by primitive aborigines and beasts only an occasional lonely cattle ranch or mission. Cattle "stations" dwarf even those of Texas. Some encompass many hundreds of square miles.

Gulf rivers are full of edible fish and game abounds in the nearby jungles. A scientific expedition to Arnhem Land in 1948, sponsored by the National Geographic Society, the Smithsonian Institution and the Australian government, brought back a collection of more than 10,000 fish, 350 birds and 469 mammals.

Crocodiles infest the rivers. "Whenever I went to the water's edge to get a drink," said one British anthropologist-explorer, "the porters would have to throw in logs and stones to keep them away."

The aborigines of the gulf country live in a Stone-Age existence. The men are short, averaging five feet, six inches. They have phenomenal skill as spearmen. Using a "woomera," or throwing stick, they can make accurate casts of more than 100 yards.

Easier-to-Use Meats Gain in Popularity

CHICAGO—Only a third of all the bacon sold in the nation was retailed in sliced form a decade ago. Now about three fourths of it is sold sliced.

The increased demand for easier-to-use meats is also reflected in sales of canned hams. Before 1948 such hams were insignificant in volume. That year about 10 per cent of ham production was canned. The figure now is nearing 20 per cent.

Did They Burn Up!

MALDEN, Mass. — Gunmen who "cased" the variety store of Samuel Cohen, 67, for more than a week decided he kept his money in a cigar box. "Give us that cigar box on the shelf," they ordered, Cohen complied. The box contained a half dozen cigars.

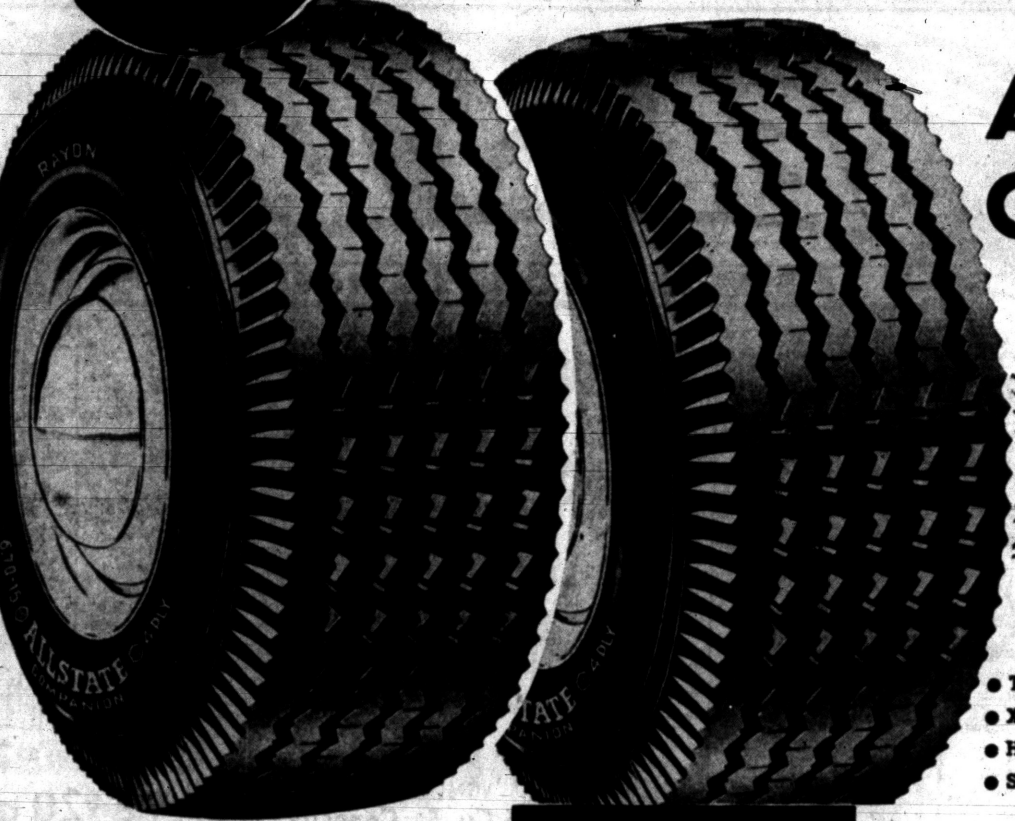

The robbers weren't aware that Cohen frequently changed the hiding place of his money.

"I never saw anything like it!"

Homemade Car Tours the Road

Hastings Man Builds an Antique Automobile for $97.60 Total

HASTINGS (AP) — Robert Link is one man who beat the high cost of an antique car. He built his own.

In his basement Link has put together what he calls a "tinker toy idea of an old model car"—for a cash outlay of $97.60.

And it deserves its name of Link Special. It isn't a replica or restored model of any car ever made. Link collected some likely looking parts and proceeded to build his own model.

He figures a real antique car of his Special's 1902-1908 vintage would cost about $3,000.

To the non-expert eye it looks like the real thing. The tiller-steered model has a high riding buggy seat, wooden spoked wheels and solid rubber tires.

LIGHTS ARE AUTHENTIC

But the only authentically old things on it are the headlights and tail-light, which Link purchased from a dealer for $15. Old buggies provided most of the other parts, including the seat, wheels and steps.

The dashboard and body frame are made of black walnut and cherry wood, painted with black enamel. Link built the 3 1/2 gallon gas tank and fenders out of sheet metal.

The engine is a 12-horsepower Glad Mustang taken from an old luggage cart. It cost $50. Chain sprockets to the rear axle provide the power. The steering tiller is made of cast iron pipe.

MADE A PROFIT

Link, who works in the milling department of a Hastings factory, said he's always wanted to own an antique car or be able to buy one to restore.

So he didn't let the fact he couldn't afford one stop him. He built his first "antique" car in 1952, then sold it later for a profit to a car collector.

His three children complained so at losing the unique vehicle that Link undertook his present car. He's been working at it since last October and now it is practically ready to run.

There'll be one slight hitch before road test time. Link has to take his car apart to get it out of the basement. But he says that's easy — he'll just remove a few bolts, carry the car outside in sections and reassemble it.

EXPERIENCE HELPS — When it comes to serving quantity meals, experience is a big help. The three women above have had that in abundance, having helped to serve some 2000 meals in the last year at St. Benedict's Church. From left to right they are Mrs. Homer Moran of Coleman street, Mrs. Arthur Perrin of Starr avenue (she makes all the coffee), and Mrs. Charles Visnare of Voorheis road, co-chairman of the dining room. Mrs. Moran is kitchen chairman.

Cooking Suggestions for Banquets

Group Offers Valuable Tips

Vital Essential: 'Plan' Claim Guild Women of St. Benedict Church

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

From now until the end of the school year Pontiac area women will be serving banquets. Every organization wants a closing dinner. Many of them are prepared by church women.

St. Anthony's Guild of St. Benedict's Church consists of a group of women long experienced in serving quantity meals. For instance, in 1955, this group of 25 women served two thousand meals. In this way they earn money for their church.

Under the direction of Mrs. Peter Aldo, captain of the guild, these women have become an experienced team. Their suggestions for efficiency in serving large groups should carry weight.

A good planning committee is the first important essential, they insist. Half the work is one on paper—and over the telephone.

Mrs. Charles Visnare is co-chairman of the dining room committee. She lines up her workers far ahead of time, then calls them just before the day of the banquet to be sure they are still planning to help.

One person should be responsible for purchasing the food. She should find a reliable butcher who will cooperate in getting her the large amount of good meat she needs.

When a group has worked together for some time, each woman will find her own specialty, the job she likes best to do. This makes for more efficiency and smoother working.

Here are some useful tips for all banquet chairmen, given in a little pamphlet devoted to quantity meals.

"Give consideration to the food preferences of the group. Know the amount of money you have to spend or allowed to charge.

"Avoid difficult or complicated food for a large group. Use in-season foods to save money and obtain better quality.

"Know the limitations of the equipment you have. Be sure your recipes are reliable.

"Plan a menu with attractive, harmonious colors and arrangement, with a good balance between soft and solid foods and a contrast in flavor and textures.

"Better have leftovers than not enough."

In order to be sure your helpers know their duties it is advisable to make a check list. This will prevent delays, disputes and overlapping of committee jobs.

Groups that are new in this business of serving large crowds can get help. The Michigan Cooperative Extension Service puts out a monthly bulletin. It lists foods in season and gives recipes. Contact Mrs. Josephine Lawman, Oakland County Extension Service, Pontiac, Michigan, for details.

An excellent book for any group to have on hand is Jane Kirk's "What's Cooking?" It is slanted toward church and PTA groups and their needs. The recipes are varied and good, the instructions clear.

Here are a couple of quantity recipes you may find useful.

Veal and Ham Loaf

3 pounds lean ground veal
3 pounds ground cooked ham
2-3 cup grated onion
2 cups cream of rice cereal
2-3 cup milk
8 eggs
1 tablespoon salt
1 1/2 cups crushed pineapple
2 tablespoons kitchen bouquet
2-3 cup catsup

Mix veal, ham, onion, cereal, milk, eggs and salt. Scale into 6 two-pound portions and shape in loaf pan, about 5 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 3 inches. Turn into greased shallow baking pans. Bake in 350-degree oven until done, about 1 hour.

When done, combine pineapple, kitchen bouquet and catsup. Spread over tops of each loaf, allowing it to run down sides, and return to oven for about 10 minutes longer. Serve hot or cold.

Makes 48 portions of a 4 ounce slice each.

Sweet-Sour Cream Dressing
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup vinegar
4 large cans undiluted evaporated milk
Combine salt, sugar, mustard and vinegar together. Beat well. Continue beating and slowly add all the evaporated milk. Use with shredded cabbage or mixed vegetables. Makes 2 quarts.

Grenadine is widely available in supermarkets. This sweet red liquid makes a delightful addition to a fruit cup when used with discretion.

Add sliced strawberries to vanilla pudding and use as a filling for angel food cake. Cut the cake crosswise in three layers.

Put Basil on Tomatoes

The herb basil, so popular in Italy, and tomatoes are inseparable. Lightly sprinkle the dried herb over freshly cut wedges. It's wonderful!

Croquettes Star Tuna, Tomato

Croquettes are always a good choice for dinner. Fish croquettes are popular, and in line with this thought is a new recipe featuring canned tuna.

The tuna is combined with mushrooms and tomato in croquettes which are topped with a savory tomato sauce at serving time.

Tomato-Tuna Croquettes
 1 4-ounce can chunk-style tuna, drained
 1 10 1/2-ounce can condensed cream of tomato soup
 1 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained
 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
 1 egg, beaten
 2 tablespoons water
 1 quart salad oil
 1/2 cup vinegar
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 Dash cayenne

Combine tuna, half of soup, half of mushrooms and one half cup bread crumbs; mix well. Chill. Shape into four croquettes. Combine egg and water. Dip croquettes in egg mixture and coat with remaining 1/2 cup crumbs.

Fry in hot deep salad oil (375 degrees) three minutes, or until browned. Drain on absorbent paper.

Combine remaining soup and mushrooms and remaining ingredients. Heat to boiling point, stirring frequently. Serve sauce over croquettes. Serves four.

Fancy but Easy Salad

An easy salad with a fancy look and a sweet-tart flavor can be made of grapefruit sections rolled in honey and then in coconut or chopped, nuts. Serve on crisp lettuce.

TOMATO TUNA CROQUETTES — For a welcome change serve delicious tuna croquettes with tomato sauce. Individual salads of chicory, cottage cheese, radishes and carrots are colorful and tasty. Buttered corn complements the rest of the meal in flavor and texture.

Peaches Crown Cheese Tarts

The best things in life aren't always complicated and costly.

Today the eliquent majority of folks are trying to get more protein into the daily diet.

Unlike most desserts, Peach Cheese Tarts are moderate in calories while contributing more than 8 grams of protein in each serving.

Best of all for the busy homemaker, the tarts may be enjoyed by all the family from gramp to toddler. The tarden brown cups are easily made, as directed.

Peach Cheese Tarts

6 slices white bread
 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
 1 cup cottage cheese
 1 cup junior peaches
 Trim crusts from bread. Lightly oil six large muffin tins or custard cups. Brush bread with melted butter or margarine.

Fold, by holding opposite corners together, one slice of bread, buttered side up, into each tin or cup to form four-pointed cups.

Bake in moderately hot, 375-degree oven until lightly browned.

Cool bread cups.

Divide cottage cheese equally between the six-cooled cups and top with the chopped peaches, flavored with almond extract. Serves six.

Variation: For adults, the peaches may be lightly spiced with cinnamon.

Those Counting Calories Can Enjoy Fried Chicken

Here is a recipe for fried chicken or chicken in a basket which has only 115 calories, for a 4-ounce serving instead of 235 for the same portion fried the traditional way.

It comes from Ruth West's book, "Stop Dieting, Start-Losing." This book of many recipes shows you how to lose two or three pounds a week and still enjoy pea soup, pork chops, hot corn pone, apple pie a la mode and other mouth-watering dishes.

Fried Chicken or Chicken in a Basket

Cut 3-pound fryer into serving pieces, unless you've bought "parts." Rub each piece of chicken all over with the inside of a lemon that has been cut into quarters, squeezing juice out as you rub.

Then salt each piece liberally with seasoned salt, or onion salt, lifting the skin and salting well underneath it. Sprinkle with freshly ground black pepper.

Put the pieces in a covered dish and let chicken marinate overnight in the refrigerator. When you're ready to cook it, put about 1 teaspoon of butter or margarine in a heavy skillet and brown the pieces lightly on all sides, pressing the chicken down, then moving it around so that it doesn't stick.

As pieces brown, lift them into a broad, flat casserole. If the pieces aren't very well or evenly browned, don't worry, this will be done later.

Into the brown, crusty remainder that sticks to the bottom of the skillet, pour about one-half cup of boiling water and scrape residue until all is blended and the pan bottom is clean.

Taste this mixture, adding a little salt, and perhaps one-half teaspoon of sugar until it's nicely seasoned. Pour over the browned chicken in the casserole.

Cover the casserole tightly with aluminum foil and put it in the oven, set at 350 degrees. Let it bake there for 40 minutes.

Remove aluminum foil and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer, or until chicken is as deep a golden brown as you like.

Spring Mirrored by Peach Desserts

Peaches and dessert are almost synonymous. Try these easy-to-prepare Peach desserts to accent spring menus.

Peach Tarts — Fill baked tart shells with vanilla pudding and drained canned peach halves.

Snowballs — Fold leftover cake cubes into sweetened whipped cream. Spoon onto peach halves and top with coconut.

Easy Luncheon Dish
 Looking for a quick and easy luncheon dish? Just roll a slice of ham around four fresh cooked asparagus spears. Serve with a rich cheese sauce. It's sure to make a big hit.

Tea-Bag Dunkers Ought to Hang Heads in Shame

To know whether you're a tea-bag dunker or not, you must first know what a tea-bag dunker is. Generally speaking, a "TBD" is one who doesn't give the tea bag a chance to make a really good cup of tea.

For some reason or other, most TBDs simply cannot resist the temptation to grasp the paper label at the end of the string and, with a very definite up-and-down motion starting at the wrist, they dip the tea bag up and down, down and up, and so on ad infinitum, until the boiling water has dropped to a temperature far below the ability to do the tea in the bag any good.

And then they wonder why on earth they can't get a good cup of tea! The truth of the matter is that tea-bag dunkers don't give the tea bag half a chance and blame an insipid cup of tea on the bag—rather than on themselves.

Tea-bag dunkers generally make four mistakes when they get a cup or pot of tea in front of them. No. 1: By dunking the bag up and down, they cause the water to cool off rapidly. To make a good cup of tea, the water must be absolutely boiling. It is the action of the boiling water that extracts the goodness and flavor from the tea bag.

No. 2: Tea-bag dunkers generally continue this devastating up-and-down motion until the water attains a certain color that is pleasing to the dunker's eye. Let it be known here and now—you can't judge a good cup of tea by its color.

Some strong tea blends, strange as it may seem, color up very light, while on the other hand, it's not unusual for a very weak tea to produce a very dark color.

This leads us to error No. 3: TBDs generally brew tea by the color instead of by the clock. It takes at least three minutes for the boiling water to take action on the tea leaves in the bag. Brew tea by the clock... three to five minutes.

Error No. 4 involves the greatest offender of the tea bag on record. TBDs are known to indiscriminately use the same tea-bag over and over again. One pound of tea will make 200 cups of tea—averaging less than one cent per cup. How much can a tea-bag dunker expect to squeeze out of a tea bag?

If tea-bag dunkers had any idea of all the time and trouble that goes into the blending and testing and weighing of the tea leaves that come from halfway around the world, they'd have a little more respect for the modern convenience in tea-making that the little tea bag has brought to Americans, thus enabling them to enjoy tea more often with a minimum amount of effort.

The amount of tea leaves, the size of the tea bag are all calculated with extreme exactness to give tea-drinkers a truly good cup of tea on the scale of one tea bag to every cup of boiling water.

Enough room is left in every single tea bag to accommodate the expansion of the tea leaves in each packet. There are at least 30 and sometimes as many as 50 different kinds of tea in a single tea bag—especially selected for maximum tea-drinking enjoyment.

So—now that you know what a tea-bag dunker is and how he abuses not only the tea bag but his own palate, you might want to start a new reform.

Buy Variety Meals for Thrift, Flavor

When you buy in quantity, you can include in your freezer storage supply one of the variety meats—sweetbreads, kidneys, tongue, liver, heart, oxtail, brains. Or you can add them to your other meat orders at relatively low cost.

Nutritionally, the variety meats are loaded with vitamins and minerals. Economically, they're a real money-saver. Taste-wise, they add new flavor sensations to tired menus. For a starter try this recipe:

Barbecued Beef Kidney
1 beef kidney (about 1½ pounds)
2 onions, sliced
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons vinegar
¼ teaspoon chili powder
2 tablespoons Worcestershire
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
½ cup catsup

Wash kidney, remove outer membrane. Split through center; remove fat and tubes. Cut kidney in small pieces. Cook covered, in 2 cups water about two hours, or until tender. Drain.

Saute onions in fat; add 1 cup water and remaining ingredients. Cover and simmer 30 minutes. Add kidney; simmer 20 minutes longer. Serve with fluffy rice or buttered noodles.

Bananas With Pork

Good sidekick for roast pork: Halve bananas lengthwise and spread with soft butter or margarine; top with hot cranberry sauce and bake in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes. Use canned whole cranberry sauce and break it up as you heat it in a small saucepan on top of the range.

Apples, Raisins Flavor Fritters for Breakfast

Fry Apple Raisin Fritters for a late breakfast on a weekend morning.

Sift together 1½ cups sifted enriched flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar and one-half teaspoon cinnamon.

Combine 1 egg, beaten, one-half cup milk and 1 tablespoon melted shortening. Add 1½ cups chopped apples and one-half cup seedless raisins to liquid mixture. Add to flour mixture, stirring until flour is moistened.

Drop by spoonfuls into deep hot fat (375°) and fry until brown, turn ing frequently. Drain on absorbent paper.

Serve with syrup and pork sausages. Makes about 16 small fritters.

Heat membrane-free orange sections in a spicy sugar syrup and serve with poultry or meat. Whole cloves and stick cinnamon may be used for spicing the syrup.

Women of Forest Lake Sponsor Fashion Showing

Forest Lake Country Club's Women's Group sponsored a luncheon and fashion show Wednesday for members and guests of the club. Mrs. Leland B. Church (right) of Birmingham goes over the list of planned summer events with Mrs. Melville Werner (center) of Birmingham and her guest, Mrs. Forest Dodrill of Bloomfield Hills.

Ensembles for Summer Are Viewed

Wednesday Event Takes Place at the Country Club

Cashmere and linen coordinates highlighted the fashion showing held for women of Forest Lake Country Club Wednesday.

These elegant costumes were shown mostly with imported linen sheath dresses topped by cashmere sweaters which had matching trim of the sheath.

Another feature was the cotton dress (drip-dry, of course) with accordion-pleated skirt making a very lovely summer outfit.

Embroidered sweaters in every color combination imaginable were eye-catchers at the show, and certainly will be seen often this summer over the refined cotton dresses.

Lat day and evening dresses of cotton, silk, and some in the new miracle fabrics, all priced moderately, are a delight to the distaff side.

BEAUTIFUL LACE

Climaxing the show was a beautiful blue lace dress, intermission-length in front and draped as a peacock to ankle-length in the back. The strapless gown had a very full skirt.

Modeling the fashions were club members including Mrs. Ferd Brook, Mrs. James Blakeney, Mrs. George Greig, Mrs. William Hartman, Mrs. Herschel Miller, Mrs. George Jacquillard and Mrs. Eugene Cahill.

Others were Mrs. William Hutchins, Mrs. Victor Cramer, Mrs. James Heatherson, Mrs. Stan Gillen, Mrs. Jack Gillespie and Mrs. Sterling Gordon.

Mrs. Alan Pfaff and Mrs. H. A. Swigert were cochairmen of the day.

Mary Holmes, George Purvis Exchange Vows

First Baptist Church was the scene of the ceremony uniting Mary June Holmes and George Richard Purvis in marriage Saturday evening. The Rev. William Hakes performed the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Holmes of Ruth avenue are parents of the bride. George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Purvis of West Fairmount avenue.

A light blue dress with white accessories was chosen by Mary June for her wedding. Her flowers were white orchids and she carried a white Bible.

Mrs. Harold Holmes, her only attendant, wore a salmon-colored dress with white accessories. Harold Holmes, brother of the bride, served as best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. The couple is residing on West Fairmount avenue.

Male Models Wow the Ladies

Waterford GOP Women Present Men's Fashions

Waterford Township Republican Women's Club put on a very special affair for their members at the CAI Building Tuesday evening.

It was a time for women to do the whistling as men were presented in a fashion show sporting latest spring and summer fashions from Osmun's.

First to appear was Louis Berry wearing a tailored suit of gray imported worsted. The lightweight fabric appeared cool enough for mid-summer days.

Some of the models were a little excited by all the attention and applause—like Fred Ziem who made a right turn instead of a left. But he's still one of our favorite fashion models.

He looked debonair in the striped sport coat of light weight woolen. The handsome models made all heads turn as they paraded down the runway. Orrin McQuaid caused a flurry of excitement in the charcoal brown suit of silk and cotton.

This blending of fabric gives an elegant look to any suit and is designed to hold its press.

COOL BERMUDAS

A "bell-ringer" was worn by John Bell. This modest priced suit of dacron and cotton blend welcomed the guests.

Designed to take you all through summer are these dresses modeled by members of the Women's Group of Forest Lake Country Club. Models (left to right) are Mrs. Ferd Brook of Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. William M. Hutchins of Birmingham and Mrs. Raymond E. Cahill of Bloomfield Hills.

I thought of this some months ago, when I guested on a radio show conducted by a beloved New England mistress of ceremonies.
The announcer seemed so different from some announcers I've met. He really listened to my answers, really listened to the mistress of ceremonies, really wholeheartedly entered into the show.

JUST GESTURES
Some men, on such a show, just kind of go through the gestures, as if this was a lot of nonsense but after all, as the saying goes, "It's a living."

I had a hunch that this was no ordinary announcer and my hunch was right!

Later, at brunch, while the three of us were talking, I learned something about this young man, Carl de Suse.

In addition to working on this very popular show, Mr. de Suse has his own early morning show, plus television, plus feature stories for one of his city's leading newspapers, plus articles in general magazines.

But that isn't all. Mr. de Suse has the travel bug, too, and every year he makes a jaunt, with camera and tape recorder, to some remote part of the world.

He does it on his so-called vacation—and then lectures about his trips to audiences all over New England!

YUGOSLAVIA NEXT

He was planning to go to Yugoslavia when I met him. He told me of the fabulous complications involved in taking recording and photo equipment to foreign places. But you could see that he loved every minute of it and that he did every bit of it with the same wholehearted zest with which he had announced the morning's program. You could also understand why his lectures are so popular.

"After all," he told me, "I've always been basically interested in people. I have more or less felt that I could, in a small way, imitate the United Nations by bringing people of different lands face to face with each other—outlining their lives, their problems and their countries with an eye to the beautiful as well as the ugly, the humor as well as the pathos." If you're not as successful as you'd like to be, resolve this minute to do every single chore as wholeheartedly and zestfully as you can.

It'll make a new person of you! (Copyright 1956)

Hosts May Let Guests Treat Them

However, Visitors Are Not Required to Entertain

By EMILY POST
A hostess writes: "Very often my husband and I have friends come to stay with us anywhere from a week end to two weeks. Naturally we do all we can to entertain them and make their visit pleasant."

"Occasionally guests will offer to pay some of the expenses of entertainment, such as taking us to dinner, or the theater, etc. What should our attitude be under the circumstances? Should we let them do this, or must we, the hosts, pay for everything?"

Answer: It is not expected of them, but if they want to invite you out, you of course accept with pleasure, and show appreciation.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My son has been away at boarding school and when he returned home recently for the Easter holiday, I noticed that he always left a little food on his plate."

"When I questioned him about it he said that he was taught always to do this and that to finish everything on one's plate was considered very 'hoggish.' I have never before heard of this and would like to know if there is such a rule of etiquette."

Answer: To deliberately leave a portion of food on one's own plate has never been accepted etiquette—in fact, it is pure waste.

Main Declines to Seek Office

Drain Commissioner Elected to 2 Terms After Appointment

Oakland County Drain Commissioner Ralph A. Main today announced he will not be a candidate for reelection this fall.

Main, appointed to the post in 1951 by the County Board of Supervisors, was twice returned by county voters.

During his tenure as drain commissioner, the drain office was modernized, a new engineering department was established, necessary drain legislation was passed, and six major long range drain projects were conceived.

Main has served on the Legislative committee of the Michigan Association of County Drain Commissioners, and is currently president of the organization.

Main is a former Birmingham city commissioner and mayor.

College Registrars Worry About Utilization of Space

DETROIT — Deeply concerned by fast-growing student enrollments the nation's college registrars are planning a study of space utilization at colleges and universities.

The Fund for the Advancement of Education announced a $14,800 grant for such an undertaking yesterday at the 42nd annual meeting of the American Assn. of College Registrars and Admissions Officers. Some 750 registrars are attending.

John Rhoads of Temple University, president of the association, said most colleges give "little or no attention" to self studies of space utilization.

"Many colleges and universities actually are utilizing not more than 50 per cent of the available classroom space," he said.

"DO-IT-YOURSELF"

Rhoads said the registrars plan to publish in November a "Do-It-Yourself" manual for college administrators as a guide to better use of available space.

"This is important," he said, "because the doubled enrollment of 1965 will require that colleges and universities of all sizes plan to accommodate more students within the framework of existing plant facilities."

In an earlier session, Paul E. Elicker, executive secretary of the National Assn. of Secondary School Principals, criticized what he said were inconsistencies in college entrance requirements.

SLAPS ATHLETES

"You claim the requirements are very high," he said. "Why then should you maintain the time 'dishonored' tradition of flunking 40 or 50 per cent before graduation?"

At the same time, he said, some colleges accept athletes regardless of whether they meet standards of admission.

Many college leaders complain college freshmen can't read, spell or learn, he said.

"If this is true, and it may be," he said, "why are such students ever admitted to college?"

Reuther Lists Tips to Defeat Reds in Asia

DETROIT — Globe-trotting Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, came back to Detroit yesterday with some tips on how to defeat Communism in India and Asia.

Reuther, who just completed a 4,000 mile trip to India, made his remarks quickly. He will leave again tomorrow for the UAW's educational rally in Washington Saturday.

Reuther said that the United States must assist the Asiatic countries in improving the welfare of their people and bettering their economic and social status.

The union leader made 11 speeches in 10 and a half days in India. He said:

"India will be won for the West in the rice fields, not on the battlefields. We must increase our technical aid program and our economic aid to India, instead of spending these funds for military purposes."

Although the Indian government is doing its best, Reuther said, the average annual income in India is only $56 and more than 70 million Indians earn less than $20 a year.

Spaniards under Cortez sent Indian slaves into the yawning crater of Mexico's Popocatepetl volcano to get sulphur for gunpowder.

Automaker H. H. Franklin Dies at 89 in Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Herbert H. Franklin, who gave his name to the once-popular Franklin automobile with its air-cooled motor, died this week at his home here. He was 89.

Franklin built the proceeds from sale of a weekly newspaper into the 20-million-dollar a year automobile business. The company went out of business in 1934, however, a victim of the market crash and competition. The cars now are collectors' items.

Franklin's first job was as a reporter on the Weekly Coxsack, N. Y., News. He became owner and publisher of the paper, but after six years sold it to invest in a device for making finished castings.

He formed the H. H. Franklin Co., in Syracuse in 1903 and with "My Fair Lady," the musical version of Shaw's "Pygmalion," was chosen as the best musical, receiving the first unanimous vote in the 21-year history of the critics' awards.

Truck Crushes Child

DETROIT (AP)—Seven-year-old Audrey Messer of Detroit was killed Tuesday when she was crushed by a truck backing into a loading dock at a Detroit factory. Police said she was knocked down and then run over after she ran behind the truck.
