Pueblo Skipper Tells of Confession Ordeal, Suicide Try

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The captain of the Pueblo says he confessed to spying after blood-chilling mental torture, and then tried to drown himself in a bucket of water.

Tears streaming, his voice breaking with anguish, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher told a Navy court of inquiry yesterday that North Koreans finally broke him by threatening to shoot his crewmen one by one in front of him.

Bucher's account of the terror ended — at least for now — his public appearances. He goes before a closed session of the court today to give secret-classified-testimony.

After describing why he confessed, Bucher said yesterday, "Sometime during the night I attempted to commit suicide by drowning myself in a bucket of water in my room but was unable to accomplish this."

CONFESSION

The typewritten confession said Bucher was a CIA agent, that his ship intruded into North Korean waters and that he was trying to put South Koreans ashore.

He couldn't eat or sleep for several days, Bucher said, because he was haunted by the thought that secret information on the Pueblo had fallen into Communist hands.

★ ★ ★

The court warned Bucher Wednesday he may have violated regulations by surrendering the ship. Bucher was in his fourth day of testimony and has been unusually calm until he came to describing an interrogation before he confessed. As he talked he began trembling.

"They made me kneel on the floor," Bucher said. He said a North Korean he nicknamed Super Colonel, or "Super C," seemed desperate.

'2 MINUTES TO DECIDE'

"You have two minutes to decide to sign the confession or be shot," Bucher said he was told.

"At the end of the two minutes he asked me to sign," Bucher said. "I said I wouldn't. He told a guard at my side to move so when I got shot and the bullet passed through my head, he would not be hit."

★ ★ ★

"Kill him!" Bucher said a North Korean shouted. "The gun clicked but it didn't fire. I had fully expected to be shot. But when the slide was drawn back, presumably to insert another bullet, I did not hear any bullet hit the floor and I damn well knew it was a game they were playing."

★ ★ ★

Two more minutes went by, Bucher said, and "the officer said, 'He's not worth a bullet,' and told me I would be beaten to death. Two guards beat me to the floor and kicked me and worked me over real good . . . "

Bucher said he revived then was told by Super C: "We will now begin to shoot your crew and shoot them in your presence until you sing . . "

Bucher said the North Koreans summoned the youngest member of his crew, 21-year-old Fireman 2.C. Howard Bland.

★ ★ ★

"I was not prepared for them to shoot my crew," Bucher said. "I was convinced they would do it.

"I told them at this time, 'I will sign this confession,' I did sign it. . . . . "

Milliken: Might OK Levy for Parochiaid

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken said today he might be willing to approve a state tax increase this year to finance a program of state aid to nonpublic schools.

"It depends on many factors," Milliken said during his first news conference since he was sworn in as governor Wednesday.

He repeated a previous warning that if lawmakers approve a costly parochial aid program, they must also provide revenue enough to finance it.

The $1.51-billion general fund budget proposals Milliken announced Wednesday do not include funds for such a program, but still would spend more money than the state would take in during the period.

'SYMPATHETIC'

Milliken also repeated he is "sympathetic" to the financial woes of private schools and said if a dollar shortage forced them to close, "It would be a tragedy."

"Under certain conditions — assuming a sound constitutional background and assuming a sound system of financing — I would look with favor" on a state aid program, he said.

Milliken also defended the figures in his budget which show that if the Legislature adopted his spending proposals for fiscal 1969-70, the state would enjoy a $12.9-million surplus at the end of the period.

Some legislators have questioned the bookkeeping used in preparing the estimates, charging that much of the projected "surplus" is money already committed to paying coming debts and that actually the state balance sheet should show a projected Treasury deficit.

"I think the basic dollars we have to work with are there, and I stand by the budget," Milliken said.

On other subjects, the new governor said:

- He has discussed with Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh the Motor City's legislative program, including Cavanagh's call for a higher city income tax, and "At some point I will be revealing my position on this issue."
- He would like the Legislature to begin as soon as possible considering proposals for a new state capitol building.

Area to Be Caught in a Deep Freeze

Winter-weary residents of the Pontiac area will be caught in another deep freeze tonight when temperatures plunge to a low of 12 to 18.

The weatherman forecasts cloudy, windy and cold with a chance of snow flurries through tomorrow.

Tomorrow's expected high is 18 to 23. Sunday's outlook is continued very cold with chance of flurries.

Elsewhere, a blizzard, the latest severe weather to strike the nation the past few days, drove across the northern plains and upper Midwest today.

An Arctic cold wave, responsible for the blizzard, caused temperatures to toboggan more than 30 degrees in many parts of the nation, including readings into the 20s early today in northern Louisiana.

TURNING COLD

The West Coast kept getting rain and was promised no letup from its long siege, at least until after the weekend. Until then, rivers and streams were expected to keep flooding and walls of mud expected to continue slithering down hillsides.

★ ★ ★

Travelers warnings were in effect across the Midwest with the expectation of freezing rain changing to snow.

Precipitation possibilities in Pontiac area are 40 per cent today, 20 per cent tonight and tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Cleanup Begun in the Wake of Lethal Twisters

HAZLEHURST, Miss. (AP) — Massive cleanup operations began today in central Mississippi where tornadoes killed 29 persons as they carved a path of destruction across three counties.

The twisters, roaring in from the west yesterday morning, injured more than 150 persons and left about 300 homeless. Damage was estimated in the millions.

★ ★ ★

The first area struck was a predominantly Negro settlement just outside south Hazlehurst in Copiah County.

The tornadoes then moved northeastward into rural areas of Simpson and Smith counties about 30 miles later.

WORKED INTO NIGHT

Utility crews worked into the night yesterday to restore most of the electrical and telephone service.

The Hazlehurst hospital alone treated 128 persons. Many others were taken to hospitals in Jackson and Brookhaven.

Picture, Page A-2

Governmental and private agencies quickly moved into the area to care for the hungry and the homeless.

Gov. John Bell Williams, on a tour of the stricken area, pledged state aid.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., announced in Washington the Small Business Administration would make 3 per cent loans available to business and residential areas.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., urged the government to declare the region a federal disaster area.

400 Arrested in Banned Rally at Frisco State

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police, enforcing an antirally rule, arrested more than 400 persons yesterday at San Francisco State College.

By midnight, officers at city prison still had not booked all those brought in during a three-hour relay of nine police vans.

About 300 policemen moved in after the crowd refused to heed warnings to disperse, given over a loudspeaker atop the administration building.

UNION PICKETS

Among those arrested were 15 American Federation of Teachers union pickets, including some from Fresno State College, and Nathan Hare, a Negro instructor newly named to head a black studies department, created to placate strikers.

In a flurry of excitement before the mass arrests, some of the students who oppose the strike were chased across campus by demonstrators as the pro-administration students tried to run up an American flag which had been cut down from a flagpole.

Ten policemen on horseback protected the flag-bearing students while Bill Barrett of the committee for an academic environment climbed up a human ladder and taped the flag to the pole.

Teen Dies, 5 Hurt in Head-On Crash

Six persons were injured—one fatally—in a two-car collision just after midnight on West Maple, a half-mile west of Inkster, in West Bloomfield Township.

Dead is Denise C. Kiley, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Price of 5420 Centerbrook, West Bloomfield Township, driver of the westbound auto. Police said Miss Kiley was killed almost instantly in the nearly head-on crash.

'City District Court to Need 4th Judge'

By JIM LONG

Pontiac's new District Court has been operating less than a month, but it's already apparent that the work load will require the addition of a fourth judge within a year, according to presiding Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

He said today he was certain that the new position would have to be created because of the enormous number of civil cases expected to be processed this year.

He estimated that 25,000 civil cases will come before the court by the end of the year, 3½ times the 7,000 civil actions in 1968.

"By midyear the problem will become so serious that the District Court administrator will have to assign us a visiting judge to help reduce the backlog" McCallum said.

RECOMMENDATION LIKELY

Eventually, and it probably will have to be done this year, according to McCallum, the Michigan Supreme Court likely will recommend to the State Legislature that another judge be added in District 50, which encompasses only the City of Pontiac.

Under the existing setup, Pontiac has three district judges, one more than the old Municipal Court system, with former county Probate Register James R. Stelt being added by his election in November.

The district courts were established on a statewide basis by the Michigan Legislature last year to replace all justices of the peace, and in many instances, Municipal Courts, as in Pontiac.

The justice of the peace system and circuit court commissioners were abolished by the 1963 State Constitution, which gave the Legislature five years to devise a plan for a substitute court.

In setting up the District Court in Pontiac, each judge is responsible for a particular phase of the operation — McCallum for criminal trials, Stelt for traffic offenses and Maurice E. Finnegan for civil suits. The annual salary for each is $27,500. The state pays $18,500 and the city the balance.

Since both the criminal and traffic dockets are up to date, McCallum and Stelt will share the burden in disposing of civil cases.

"But that's not enough," said McCallum, a 14-year veteran of the bench, "They're piling up and will continue to do so until we get relief. There's no other solution.

"It would be different if someone wasn't doing his share, but that's not the case," he added. "Everybody is pitching in and doing the best they can."

PONTIAC CASES DECLINE

Oddly enough, said McCallum, until now, the number of civil cases in Pontiac has decreased over the years.

U.S. Medical Helicopter Downed, Killing 7

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today a medical evacuation helicopter was shot down in the central highlands, killing seven and bringing the war's total of choppers lost in combat to 999.

The command also belatedly announced that a helicopter shot down Jan. 15 south of Da Nang killed Col. Michael M. Spark, 41, Alexandria, Va., commander of the 3rd Marine Division's 3rd Regiment. Six others, including a Marine officer, died with him in the flaming crash. Spark was the first Marine regimental commander killed in Vietnam.

The medical evacuation helicopter was downed yesterday in the central highlands 23 miles northwest of Pleiku. Three wounded Americans aboard the craft and four crewmen were killed. The command said it was clearly marked with red crosses.

In addition to the number of helicopters lost in combat, the U.S. Command said 1,316 others have been lost since Jan. 1, 1961, due to mechanical failure, enemy barrages that caught them on the ground and other causes.

2 MORE VICTIMS

Spokesman at Da Nang identified two others that died with Spark in the crash last week.

★ ★ ★

They were: Lt. Col. Ermil Lee Whisman, 39, commander of the 1st Battalion, 12th Marines, a native of Winchester, Ky., and Sgt. Major Ted McClintock, 59, of the 3rd Marine Regiment, a native of Seattle, Wash.

A spokesman said Spark was in a command helicopter directing his troops battling enemy soldiers in heavily fortified position about 30 miles south of Da Nang. The helicopter was hit by small-arms fire, crashed and burned in the jungle.

Meanwhile, U.S. military analysts said from now until mid-February is a critical period in the Vietnam war because of the peace talks in Paris and the new administration in Washington.

These experts do not see any imminent threat to Saigon. Instead they anticipate enemy attacks on the three provinces along the Cambodian border northwest to northeast of the capital — Tay Ninh, Binh Long and Phuoc Long.

The analysts said intelligence reports indicate the Communist command plans to increase operations in an attempt to give the negotiators from Hanoi and the Vietcong greater leverage in Paris and to put pressure on the Nixon administration while it is still shaking down.

An enemy winter-spring offensive has been anticipated since last Dec. 13, but the experts said they believe the U.S. and South Vietnamese operations that have smashed numerous bases and captured hundreds of tons of supplies have upset the Vietcong's timetable.

★ ★ ★

"The enemy is not in a position to attack Saigon right now," one source said. He conceded, however, that the Vietcong can make terror raids, blow up allied installations and pull off assassinations inside the capital.

Lodge, Ky Confer Today on Strategy

PARIS (UPI) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam and American negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge planned a strategy conference today 24 hours before the opening of expanded Vietnam war talks.

Ky arrived in Paris at midmorning. He flew from a month of consultations in Saigon, bringing new instructions to his delegation.

Shortly after his arrival, Ky was to confer with Lodge. The two men are old acquaintances from Lodge's days as U.S. ambassador to Saigon.

BASIS FOR SECRET TALKS?

Although the exchange of delegation lists was a mere formality of protocol on the surface, diplomatic sources said the unusual session could establish the basis for secret contacts between the Communists and allies in the future.

At a reception last night, Tran Buu Kiem, chief bargainer for the Vietcong delegation, said he would demand the Vietnam conflict be settled on the basis of the National Liberation Front's five-point program.

The allied bargaining position was presented as equally tough. Lodge and his counterpart from South Vietnam, Pham Dang Lam, said they would lay the blame for the war squarely on the Communists.

On his arrival, Ky emphasized that his country wanted peace but not at the price of Communist domination.

Murder Retrial Enters 5th Day

The first-degree murder retrial of R. G. Stroman, found guilty of slaying a Pontiac grocer six years ago, entered its fifth day in Oakland County Circuit Court today with Stroman acting as his own attorney.

Stroman, 35, has been boning up on the law since being sentenced to life in prison in January 1963, for his role in the shooting of Eftimias Vasiliou in his store at 309 Orchard Lake.

His conviction was set aside last month by the Michigan Supreme Court on the basis that the jury may have been prejudiced by statements made by two codefendants.

The pair — Joseph Page, then 26, and Benny L. Spells, then 23 — are serving life terms for the July 30, 1962, murder.

Stroman feels that if his own pleadings had been followed by the Supreme Court, not only would he have gotten a reversal, but would have been immediately released from prison.

To show his dissatisfaction, he dismissed his court-appointed attorney, William E. Bolle of Royal Oak, just as his retrial got under way Monday.

Stroman, formerly of Pontiac, admits to being scared. "I get butterflies in my stomach just thinking about it," he said. "I also have a problem keeping my tongue wet. It keeps sticking to the roof of my mouth."

For Bolle, the situation isn't quite as bad, but it is embarrassing. Though fired, he has been ordered by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams to remain in the courtroom and provide Stroman with legal advice.

Ice on Lakes Too Thin as Result of the Thaw

Children and adults are warned to stay off the ice of lakes and ponds this weekend because of the unseasonably mild temperatures this past week.

Lt. Donald Kratt, head of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department Water Safety Division, said the lakes in the county have lost a six-inch base because of the weather.

He warns that it will take several days of cold weather before the ice is safe.

AFTERMATH OF TORNADO—A path of destruction a mile long was cut through Hazlehurst, Miss., yesterday as a tornado swept through the small town, leaving 10 dead. Twisters claimed another 19 lives in other sections of the state. Altogether, more than 150 persons were injured and 300 left homeless. Damage is estimated in the millions. (Story on page A-1)

Computer Failed to HEW Line on Cash

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Investigators told today about a government payroll computer which went berserk and coughed up checks to persons who had resigned two years earlier, who had already been paid once, who were on leave without pay—or who were not even employed.

Some of the persons cashed the checks anyway.

The computer was in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which installed it in 1965. A HEW study had recommended modernizing and consolidating the 73 payroll offices, because the old "decentralized system was becoming quite complex."

Then the troubles really began.

The General Accounting Office (AGO) said the payroll computer handed out thousands of dollars too much in pay, free U.S. savings bonds to people who didn't buy them and faulty year-end tax information.

The auditors estimated that the year-end tax withholding statement contained nearly $4 million in annual errors. For example, taxable income was understated by $2.8 million—which could have resulted in $402,080 in underpayments of federal income taxes in one year alone.

★ ★ ★

During a two-year period, the government auditors said, 33,154 savings bonds with a purchase price of $1,605,000 were erroneously issued—but department employes caught that error in time and ordered the bonds returned.

Teen Dies, 5 Hurt in Head-On Crash

Also injured in Miss Kiley's car were Julie A. Play, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Play, 5567 Old Carriage Lane, West Bloomfield Township, and Laura Staley, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Staley of 6678 Perham, West Bloomfield Township.

ALSO IN HOSPITAL

Miss Play was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for multiple lacerations and transferred to Straith Clinic, Detroit, where she is in satisfactory condition today. Miss Staley is in satisfactory condition with multiple lacerations at Pontiac General Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Driver of the other auto, Mrs. Jeri L. Martin, 41, of 5105 Franklin, Bloomfield Township, and her passenger, Mrs. Ruth Smith, 74, of 7136 Trathan West Bloomfield Township, were treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for multiple lacerations. Mrs. Smith is being held for observation.

★ ★ ★

The accident is still under investigation.

Treasurer Is Chosen for Stadium Authority

Budd Findlay, land development coordinator for the Pontiac planning and urban renewal office, has been chosen to serve as treasurer for the newly formed Stadium Authority.

★ ★ ★

Officers were chosen Wednesday. Other positions are held by men appointed to the five-member body by the City Commission. The authority has power to negotiate for a professional sports' domed stadium for Pontiac if Detroit's professional baseball and football teams choose to move here.

★ ★ ★

Other authority officers are Harold Cousins, chairman; Robert Eldred, vice chairman; and Howard H. Fitzgerald II, secretary. Also serving are D. B. Eames and Charles F. Brown.

'Court to Need 4th Judge'

"When I started, 17,000 civil cases were coming through the court each year, but as the backlog increased, new cases were taken outside the city where justices could settle them quickly," McCallum said. "Eventually the civil cases in the city declined."

★ ★ ★

Now that there are no justices of the peace, McCallum noted that the district judges who have jurisdiction in areas far larger than justices will be unable to handle the overflow if they are to keep their own dockets current.

McCallum said that there is no place in the state that has the volume of cases as Pontiac.

Among the reasons for the increased number of civil cases is the fact that the limitation on damage claims has been raised from $500 in municipal court to $3,000 in district court. Previously, claims over $500 had to be filed in circuit court.

"Really, the load is appalling," he said. "If another judge was brought in from outstate and shown what we are up against — he'd probably just laugh because he wouldn't know what else to do."

McCallum said that despite the work load, there will be no change in one program that has proved highly successful and kept literally hundreds of persons from going bankrupt.

Created by state law, but used almost exclusively in Pontiac, the program allows a person to turn his pay check over to the court, which in turn divides it among his creditors. Only a portion of the pay is kept by the debtors. Last year, the court paid out $800,000 for debts.

The likelihood that the city will get another judge will create some new headaches for city administrators who will have to find him a courtroom.

Even now there are only two courtrooms for three judges, with Stelt using any court he can find vacant.

Globe-Trotting Teen Beauty Back in State

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Miss Pamela Martin, the globe-trotting daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Martin, 1281 Twin Maples, is back from a three-week trip to the Far East.

The current holder of the Miss Teen U.S.A. title visited Japan under the auspices of the World Beauty Congress and several Japanese department stores.

★ ★ ★

She modeled clothing and made numerous public appearances in Osaka, Tokyo, Kyoto and other major Japanese cities.

Miss Martin also attended festivities in connection with the world teen-age beauty contest in Tokyo. She was not a contestant.

RETURNS TO U. OF M.

The township miss returns today to Ann Arbor where she is a freshman at the University of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

It will be strictly studies for Miss Martin until March when she is off again to Los Angeles to reign over activities of the 1969 Miss Teen U.S.A. contest.

★ ★ ★

Her biggest impressions of Japan: the growing trend of Japanese people toward living and dressing American style; green tea and Japan's celebrated unusual food (seaweed, snails, etc.).

★ ★ ★

She was happy to find plenty of American food in Japan.

PRO-AMERICAN

Miss Martin said she found a strong pro-America sentiment among the Japanese youth she met. "I was very impressed with the enthusiasm of Japanese youth towards the United States," she added.

★ ★ ★

Miss Martin plans to attend the University of Michigan for one more year, then head for New York for fashion school and hopefully a career in fashion and design.

★ ★ ★

200 Votes Blow to DST Hopes

LANSING (AP) — Daylight Savings Time advocates lost ground today in their efforts to overturn the issue's defeat in the November election.

State Elections Director Bernard Apol said some 200 more votes against DST had been discovered in ballot recounts in Marquette, Berrien and Sanilac counties.

Apol had reported yesterday the 1,501-vote margin by which the issue lost had been cut to some 250 votes. The 200-vote addition brings the margin to some 450 votes now, he said.

Apol added that some 350 precincts still remain to be recounted and that some 2,200 already have been rechecked.

★ ★ ★

The controversial DST issue reportedly was approved by voters Nov. 5, but a further check proved the issue lost. DST proponents called for the recount in 80 of Michigan's 83 counties.

Rights Panel's Report on City Due Monday

The Michigan Civil Rights Commission will disclose its findings on race relations in Pontiac in a report and hearing at 10 a.m. Monday at City Hall, East Pike and East Wide Track.

★ ★ ★

The commission held a series of weeklong hearings in the city last June. Officials and private citizens gave testimony on racial practices to the hearing board.

★ ★ ★

Monday's report will reveal the commission's findings. Another public hearing will follow issuance of the report, the commission disclosed.

State Citizens May Be Last in Line to See Capitol Plans

LANSING (AP)—Apparently the citizens of Michigan will be the last to learn what their proposed new state capitol will look like.

Architects have agreed on a design and are ready to submit it to the executive office, the Legislature and the Supreme Court. The transition from ex-Gov. George Romney to Gov. William Milliken this week has delayed consideration for a time.

Meanwhile, the architects say they are under orders from the Legislature's Joint Capital Outlay Committee to reveal no information about the new structure—which will cost taxpayers an estimated $45 million to $50 million.

About $500,000 has been spent so far in planning the new capitol. Milliken's 1969-70 state budget proposals include $5 million for further work.

AVOIDING CRITICS

"The committee said that it isn't fair to have a lot of people criticizing the thing before we show it to them," said A. N. Languis, director of the executive office's building division.

Languis said the committee, which has been studying different proposals from the Detroit architectural firm of Smith, Hynchman & Grillis, decided legislators should not first learn of the Capitol plans through "press clippings."

"There is a protocol, and rightfully so," he said.

Robert Yokum, an architect with the Detroit firm who has been working closely with the committee, said he had been instructed not to release any pictures or models of the proposed structure, or to discuss details.

MODEL IS READY

Languis added that a model has been built and is ready to be submitted to the governor and the committee for consultations. He added the process might get underway within 30 days.

★ ★ ★

Approval of both the Legislature and the governor would be needed for the proposed new capitol.

Fuel Supplies Adequate in Detroit Despite Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Gasoline and fuel oil supplies remained adequate if not excessive in Detroit Thursday as the 25-state strike against six oil companies continued.

Scattered settlements were reported across the country, but about 45,000 of the 60,000 Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union members remained on strike.

In Detroit, negotiations with Mobil—termed the "key company by officials of Local 7-389—were scheduled to get under way today. The major issue is a union demand that retirement ages by lowered from 65 to 62.

Meanwhile a Wayne County Circuit Court suit brought by Shell Oil Co. against the union was postponed until Feb. 7. Shell had claimed union members interfered with activities of nonstriking employes at a storage facility.

Locally affected oil companies include Mobil, Shell, Sinclair, Gulf and Texaco. The union reached agreement with Pure.

Proposed Parking Ramp In Lapeer Plan Would Include Retail Stores On First Floor

Project OK Would Bring Radical Lapeer Face-Lift

LAPEER — The face of this city may be radically changed if the $5.1-million urban renewal plan now pending before the City Commission is approved.

A proposed $1.6-million parking ramp, the most costly single part of the program, has drawn objections from some residents. A hearing was held last week.

★ ★ ★

But, even if the ramp does not become a part of the finished project, some large changes will be in store for Lapeer's central business district (CBD).

★ ★ ★

The renewal project as presently constituted is only the first phase of a long-range plan envisioned for the CBD by the city's planning consultants, Vilican-Leman and Associates of Southfield.

'TWOFOLD PROBLEMS'

A presentation prepared by the planning firm sees the problems of the present downtown area as twofold — aesthetic and physical.

★ ★ ★

"The existing 100-foot right-of-way (along Nepessing, the main street)," the planners point out, "has too much vehicular movement, inadequate parking, long, dull and uninteresting building lines, uninviting pedestrian walks, and a lack of pedestrian spaces."

★ ★ ★

To relieve pedestrians from boredom and entice them into the CBD, Vilican-Leman proposes to curve Nepessing, and allow on-street parking in the spaces between curves so parked cars would not obstruct traffic.

★ ★ ★

Additional parking at a convenient walking distance from the CBD would be provided by the controversial parking ramp suggested at Nepessing and Cedar, which would have a first floor devoted to retail stores.

ONE-WAY LOOP

The planners also suggest a loop road running counterclockwise around the CBD. The loop will be created by converting Mason, Clay, Pine and Park to one-way traffic.

★ ★ ★

The first phase of the renewal is scheduled for completion by 1975. Vilican-Leman's long-range plan, running through 1990, calls for conversion of the entire area within the loop road to a pedestrian mall.

★ ★ ★

"Cross streets would not be allowed within the core area and alleys would serve as secondary malls open only to service vehicles at designated times," the presentation explains.

★ ★ ★

The county courthouse area, on the southeast corner of Nepessing and Cedar, would be preserved and a plaza added to provide green space.

COMPACT CHARACTER

Vilican-Leman also proposes four parking structures, commenting, "Long range goals demand the use of multi-level parking structures as land costs rise and room for expansion shrinks. The retail core (CBD) must maintain a compact character if it is to effectively serve shopping needs; yet, it must offer convenient, efficient storage areas for vehicles."

★ ★ ★

The first phase project, the presentation adds, is designed to provide a basis for further growth when and if desired.

Legislator Urges Colleges to Set Student Guidelines

A Republican state senator has asked university administrators in the state to set up guidelines for college students, warning that disruptions on college campuses could "spell the end to the survival of our free educational society."

KUHN

Sen. George Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield Township, also asked the state's college and university officials to comment on the possibility of legislative action to control "such activist groups" as Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

★ ★ ★

In a letter sent to all university and college presidents in the State, Kuhn said:

★ ★ ★

"Minority groups on a number of university campuses throughout Michigan have been participating on a continuing basis with many disruptive tactics . . .

'SMALL PERCENTAGE'

"In most cases," he added, "these immoral, improper and sometimes illegal incidents have been caused by a very small percentage of students."

★ ★ ★

Kuhn cited one case in which he said 10 SDS students had been "the catalysts for all their troubles" at a university with 5,000 students.

★ ★ ★

"These forms of activity have made a mockery of the academic freedom accorded to our institutions of higher learning," he said.

"If this trend does not stop," Kuhn warned, "public opinion could advocate more legislative controls on the autonomy of our colleges and universities."

'ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY'

Kuhn said it was "absolutely necessary" that all university officials and student legislative bodies review campus problems and set up whatever standards "necessary for the students' welfare.

"It is the joint responsibility of the university administrators, student leaders and public officials to do whatever is necessary to restore the peace that must prevail on our college campuses to maintain our educational system," Kuhn said.

Lake Orion School Vote Is Tomorrow

LAKE ORION — This school district will hold a special election tomorrow on renewal of a 4-mill property tax levy for operating expenses. Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The election will be the third for the district in seven months. In June voters turned down a 6.25-mill increase, including 3.5 mills for operating expenses and 2.75 mills for a building program.

★ ★ ★

A second attempt to obtain 3.5 additional mills for operation, in Agust, also was defeated.

★ ★ ★

Schools Supt. Lewis Mundy has said that the district's present educational program cannot be maintained unless the renewal is approved. The five-year levy, first approved by voters in 1963, expired last month.

★ ★ ★

The 4 mills asked will amount to about $175,000 annually in tax income, according to the superintendent. The district's current tax rate, which will remain the same if the renewal passes, is 23.75, the lowest in Oakland County.

Need Stressed for Relief Drain

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Necessity for a central relief trunk drain costing an estimated $1.07 million has been declared by the Township Board.

The line, about 10,000 feet long when completed, would connect with the existing Nichols Drain at 14 Mile and Lahser and run north on Lahser to 15 Mile with two extensions. One extension would run westerly about 1,500 feet extending from the southeast corner of Maple and Lahser.

★ ★ ★

An easterly extension would run across Maple to Tuckahoe. The line would run along Tuckahoe for about 1,000 feet and then extend north stopping at Roland.

★ ★ ★

A hearing on cost apportionment will be scheduled once construction plans are completed. A township official said the regular pattern of financing drains in Oakland County has been through an at-large tax.

A YEAR AWAY

A spokesman for Hubbell, Roth and Clark Inc., engineers for the project, said actual construction of the sewer line probably will not begin for better than a year.

★ ★ ★

The drain was petitioned for through the Oakland County Drain Commissioner's Office under the chapter 20 provision of the state drain act.

★ ★ ★

County Man Is Hurt in 1-Car Crash in Troy

He apparently lost control of his car on 14 Mile near Indusco and hit a tree stump about 11 p.m., according to police.

1968 Was(n't) a Good Year

Lapeer County Surplus?

News Analysis

By TOM GRAY

Financially, 1968 was a good year for Lapeer County. At least, County Treasurer Lyle Goodrich's figures say so.

The question now is, how good?

Board of Supervisors Chairman Paul Herpolsheimer commented, "That's a good question."

The board spent some time at its last meeting discussing reports that the county closed out 1968 with a surplus on the order of $110,000.

MIXED BLESSING?

With several county departments arguing the case for more money this year, the news may well prove a mixed blessing.

The new seven-man board of supervisors, for example, has inherited negotiations with the union representing the county sheriff's deputies.

The negotiations have been dragging on for about three months, with the deputies, offered a $400 raise and Blue Cross insurance coverage, holding out for further pay hikes.

In drawing up the $1-million county budget approved last month, the old board of supervisors also trimmed fund requests from the friend of court's office, the prosecutor's office and the department of social services.

THORNY QUESTION

The question of a surplus, therefore, is a thorny one — and the situation is further clouded by the fact that the county's auditing system leaves considerable room for discussion.

Under the county system, according to Goodrich, the books are closed out and balanced as of Dec. 31, with unpaid bills being carried over to the next month.

★ ★ ★

"Historically, we've never gone on cost accounting (in which accounts receivable and payable are balanced along with expenses and income already spent or received)," explained Goodrich. "In a year, we have 12 months' bills and 12 months' receipts — the only thing is that December's bills are paid in the next January."

Herpolsheimer, however, pointed out that a number of 1968 bills are still unpaid — and suggested that the total might be larger than in previous years.

BIG ROAD JOB

"When they closed the books for the year," he noted, "one department hadn't even drawn its total 1968 budget. Also, there's a big road job which we haven't paid yet.

"We don't have all the facts yet," Herpolsheimer summed up, "and it's a little hard to judge."

★ ★ ★

The board of supervisors has requested a detailed report on last year's budget from Goodrich, in order to determine if there is a pie yet to be split and, if so, how large it is.

With the county's contingency fund shriveled to $5,000 in the 1969 budget, any extra funds will no doubt come in handy.

They occupied two buildings for just over two hours, but police-student battles continued for another three.

French Police Win 2 Rounds Over Militants

PARIS (AP) — Some 250 student rebels withdrew quietly during the night from France's newest university after police battled rebellious students for five hours in the Latin Quarter of Paris.

Despite the crackdown in the capital, the riot police just watched at suburban Vincennes University, a leafy model campus where students took over the administration building and communications facilities. Window curtains were set on fire in one meeting room, but the damage was not serious. The last holdouts withdrew quietly about 4 a.m.

The country's largest undergraduate group, UNEF, or the National Student Organization, appealed for students "to multiply the mass mobilization and occupy buildings or begin strikes according to the local situation.

Teachers at one Paris high school, the Lycee Michelet, decided to stay away from their desks to protest police invasion of the school two days ago.

QUICK INTERVENTION

Only quick intervention by the dean of liberal arts at the University of Paris, Raymond Las Vergnas, defused an explosive situation at the Sorbonne Thursday.

Students who occupied the director's office and made it a shambles had been removed from the building when another group appeared to seize Las Vergnas.

The students received a direct warning by telephone from Education Minister Edgar Faure, who said he would not tolerate their holding the dean. Then Las Vergnas suggested that he lead the rebels out of the building to secure them safe passage past armed police waiting outside.

This quieted the crowds massed near the Sorbonne. But police still used their clubs to break up groups of paraders Thursday night who carried red and black flags and shouted, "Down with the police state!"

NO MAJOR INJURIES

No major injuries were reported, although rocks and bolts were thrown. About 200 arrests were made. Police said about 1,000 students took part.

The students are demanding a 15 per cent increase in scholarship money and are also dissatisfied with the progress of the educational reform program the government drew up after the student revolt last spring.

The police claimed left-wing extremists are trying to sabotage elections next month in which students and teachers will form joint university planning committees.

Bus Driver Traveler's Aide

Expert on Detroit Lore

AP Wirephoto

MEMBER OF THE BOARD — Detroit Street Railway driver Andy Wilson straddles the wheel of his bus. The driver, who taught himself French and is an expert on Detroit history, so impressed visitors and officials with his knowledge of little-known Detroit facts that he was named yesterday to the Traveler's Aid Society board. Now 48 he has been a Detroit bus driver since he was 21.

DETROIT (AP) — You could learn a lot riding in the Detroit Street Railway bus driven by Andy Wilson.

You could learn a smattering of French. The 48-year-old DSR veteran is a self-taught linguist who often is called on to guide tours of French visitors.

★ ★ ★

You could learn where Detroit's Penobscot Building got its name, or any of hundreds of historical facts about the nation's fifth largest city you might not be able to glean anywere else.

And that's why Wilson, who's been driving for the Detroit bus system since he was 21, has been named to the board of directors of the Travelers Aid Society.

KNOWLEDGE OF PROBLEMS

Marvin Kornegger, the new executive director of Travelers Aid in Detroit, said Wilson, a Negro, has a first hand knowledge of inner city problems in addition to his linguistic and historical abilities.

★ ★ ★

"I'm just enough of a ham," says the 6-foot-3, 235-pound bus driver, "so that that kind of thing makes me feel 10 feet tall."

★ ★ ★

Wilson says he enjoys having a captive audience on his bus to impress with his spiel.

KEEPING IT UP — Marsha Thompson, 19-year-old Iowa legislative secretary, has drawn widespread reaction to her decision not to lower her hemline. Mini-wearing Marsha has ignored her supervisor's suggestion that she avoid such attire "for her own protection." More than a dozen letters from across the U.S. show mixed feelings toward her decision — some praised her, some condemned her.

United Effort Key to City's Rebirth

In a previous editorial, we outlined the current plan for the rejuvenation of downtown Pontiac and the hearty approval given it by a regional officer of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) during a recent visit here.

But grandiose as is the concept—it envisions the eventual investment of $100 million—it will come to naught unless implemented by wholehearted community support and personal enterprise.

★ ★ ★

The HUD representative hit the nail squarely on the head when, during his inspection, he said: "Sure, you have a plan—but now it must be carried out."

And carried out it must be.

The plan on which the fate of our core city hangs differs from previous ones. Those foresaw a total development by an individual developer; whereas the so-called Bruno Leon design broadly blueprints the ground use of the 27 acres involved while affording opportunity for individual initiative to develop projects piecemeal within the framework of the master plan. The plan represents a complex comprising a hotel, convention center, convalescent hospital, small sports arena, office buildings, stores, and apartments—and, most importantly, an underground garage.

This puts it squarely up to the community and the influential members of it to put their collective shoulder to the wheel of progress in a united push to revitalize downtown Pontiac.

The climate for doing so was never better. Pontiac is the hub of one of the most fantastically expanding areas in the entire Nation, with industry, business and population all headed in one direction—UP.

If the City is to have a central business section of which it can be proud, the citizenry must provide it. No one else will. So it is up to you—and You—and YOU.

★ ★ ★

Let's go, Pontiac.

We Commend Developer on His Enterprise

During a period when, regrettably, there has been more discussion than action in meeting Pontiac's pressing needs for commercial and residential renewal, one individual stands out as having suited action to the word.

LANGS

He is CHARLES L. LANGS, a local builder, who has just been granted a $3.3 million Federal loan for a 325-unit low-income housing project. It was termed by a spokesman for the insurance company making the loan the largest yet made under the $1-billion pledge of the Country's insurance companies to underwrite housing programs.

★ ★ ★

This is but one of several projects that Langs has either completed or has under construction to relieve the acute local housing shortage—particularly for low-income and senior groups. Additionally, the builder is constructing a $2.5 million motor hotel at the City's southern outskirts.

★ ★ ★

Too much credit cannot be paid the enterprising developer who individually is working for the betterment of Pontiac and its citizens. Although over-all concepts and designs have a place in bringing municipal rejuvenation to reality, it is in the final analysis the combined initiative of individuals that will bring it to fruition.

Mr. LANGS is to be commended upon his progressive and public-spirited outlook and pursuits, which hopefully will find reflection in others interested in the welfare of their city.

Food Cost Eats Up Less of Family Income

Americans are expected to run up a $100-billion food bill this year, according to Food Engineering magazine. This will be $5 billion higher than in 1968.

★ ★ ★

The figure, huge as it is, does not seem outsized. What the average housewife may find hard to swallow, however, is the claim that she will be spending less—proportionally—to set her family's table than she has in the past, despite a projected 3 per cent rise in food prices in 1969.

★ ★ ★

Yet it's true. Americans currently spend less than 18 per cent of their disposable income to eat. This is the lowest percentage ever, and much below that for other nations.

Rail Metroliner Points Way to Future

By NOEL GROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The guy was walking the length of the train coach with a sandwich in one hand and a cup of something in the other when the car lurched and made him stagger sideways like a drunk, which he wasn't, just a working newspaperman, although there are those who would argue about making the distinction.

GROVE

Anyway, he regained his center of gravity, rolled his eyes upward and said, "Some things about trains just don't change."

★ ★ ★

Some things about trains did change, though, with Penn-Central's new high-speed Metroliner which just began service between Washington and New York. It could mean that trains will go faster with more comfort and a competitive eye toward personal service. Short-distance trains, that is, hoping to recapture some of the passengers in congested areas from the airline shuttle flights.

To lure the traveler from the sky and back to the rails, Penn-Central's Metroliner features piped-in stereo, carpeted floors, in-seat food service, on-train telephones and 110 m.p.h., eventually to be 160, they say, thanks to welded rails and improved track beds that cost $55.5 million. Trips between New York and Washington are now three hours instead of four.

About 3,000 railroad people have gone through a $1-million training program to beef up service that has seemed in recent years to be in a race toward some kind of annual churlishness award.

For the most part, however, passengers on the first voyage of the new train were not overly impressed. The Metroliner was fast, clean, polite and roomy, but hardly seemed a breakthrough in land transportation. Carpets, million-dollar smiles and an hour chopped off a four-hour trip do not make a technological revolution.

Such touches are pleasant and appreciated, but it's questionable whether they will lure travelers back to the ground. Train buffs will be pleased at the face-lifting, but what ground transportation really needs is a new face.

That, too, is coming, says the Office of High Speed Ground Transportation. Research is now being directed toward two classes of unconventional systems — tracked or guided vehicles riding on a cushion of air, and vehicles that shoot through a tube or tunnel at extremely high speeds.

I talked to then-Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd about those new vehicles at a reception in Philadelphia honoring the Metroliner's maiden run. Were $55 million track beds and the cost of new equipment justified when the tube trains and air-cushion cars were what was really necessary to revolutionize the business?

Boyd, a big man with a bone-cracking grip and one hand throttling a bourbon-and-something, said it was a "necessary transitional stage" and that the Northeast Corridor was going to get even more congested by 1970 and 1975 and that something had to be done.

★ ★ ★

As for the tube trains, etc., "I'd be surprised to see any of those before at least 1980," he said. He looked slightly irritated and turned to a radio reporter who wanted to know about his planned trip around the world with his wife, but perhaps he was just tired from the trip up.

Forward Together!

David Lawrence Says:

Government Gets Down to Work

WASHINGTON — Now that inauguration festivities are over, the unspectacular, though important, operations of the government have been resumed.

LAWRENCE

The new president, with his 12-member Cabinet confirmed by the Senate, can concentrate on the problems left behind by the preceding administration.

The handling of the many complex issues that confront the executive branch of the government today is hard to describe to the American people. Much of it wouldn't interest them as the subjects are technical in nature.

One of the handicaps to American government is that there is a constant pressure from the outside for certain kinds of information, even though a policy might not be fully developed or a negotiation might be hampered by making details public too soon.

The American people are entitled to know what is going on in their government. It has long been argued, however, that this should not justify disclosure in the midst of the study of a crucial plan or, in the case of international negotiations, before the response of another government has been obtained.

'LEAKS' OCCUR

Diplomacy requires that most matters remain confidential, at least until decisions have been made. But "leaks" occur, and many a worthwhile objective is frustrated because of premature publicity.

President Nixon has a Cabinet of able men. Other presidents have had Cabinet officers of the same caliber. But the most important thing is how the chief executive delegates tasks to his Cabinet, and whether he depends upon them for advice on the subjects which require his own decision.

A president would be benefited by more frequent Cabinet meetings because this would afford him an opportunity to get viewpoints which might indeed reflect the trends of public opinion, too.

It would be even better if the Cabinet officers could spend more of their time on over-all policies, including those outside their respective departments.

CAREER OFFICIAL

This could be done if a general manager were appointed for each department — a career official who could continue to serve whether or not he had come into office while another party was in power.

When the President gets all the information from his specialists, as well as their suggestions as to what policy should be followed, it would be helpful to him if he placed highly important questions before the Cabinet as a whole for discussion.

Each of the secretaries would at least have a general idea of what the impact might be if certain policies, both domestic and foreign, were adopted.

In any event, there would be less risk than is the case with one-man government. The country would benefit by the practice.

Bob Considine Says:

Nixon Isn't Really 'In' Because RMN Still Out

NEW YORK — PEOPLE . . . PLACES . . .

, President Nixon has got it made: a nice big house to live in, a salary of $200,000 a year, a fleet of jet planes, three helicopters, a garage full of cars, free food and drink, a movie theater of his own, a bunch of H-bombs, and the right to take his papers with him when he leaves.

CONSIDINE

But the new President won't really have it made, won't be "in," until people identify him by his initials.

A headline reading RMN Signs Bill would mean little to the average American today. RMN, for the time being, at least sounds like a cough remedy. But, worse, how about a headline reading STA Visits Katmandu. How many would know the head referred to the visit of the vice president of the United States to the capital of Nepal? Question 10 people on the street today and nine would say STA is a disinfectant.

WW, FDR

WW once meant Woodrow Wilson, and after that it meant another great statesman, Walter Winchell. FDR could mean only one person in the world.

In time, HST became the only way to identify Harry S. Truman, even though he never had a middle name to go with "S." Then, of course, everybody in the world knew JFK and LBJ. And HHH, for that matter.

But RMN is going to take some time to get used to, and as for STA, well, that's going to take even longer.

I'm in bad with some nice people, readers, who have sons and daughters in high school and college bands. I wrote a piece around the time of the Bowl games stating that if my daughter decided to take cornet lessons I'd break her guitar over her dear noggin.

Well!

"It is hard to believe one in your position could make such a blunder," writes Bob Pape of Midwest City, Okla. "A man who has a son who is all muscle and brawn but does not have a brain in his head. He is just a coach's robot that butts heads with another coach's robot."

Mrs. Charles Spencer, writing from the same city, pens: "It is so difficult for me to understand why people in your position, and especially a parent (God help your poor children!), could stoop so low, low, low."

"I suffer through the athletic part of a football game just to see the bands at half-time," notes Mrs. Howard Blatchford of Superior, Neb. "Many of the band members are on the dean's list. Have you listened to the grammar used by the football stars during interviews? It sends shivers up your spine. If a member of your family needed emergency surgery, would you prefer an ex-tackle or an ex-glockenspiel player?"

Neither.

Parents Voice Objection to Series at University

As parents of three youngsters attending Michigan State University, we vehemently object to the present series "Sexuality; a Search for Perspective." For 18 years we have tried to instill in these young people a good personal integrity and a high code of moral behavior. Now they hear from supposed educators the exact opposite.

★ ★ ★

Michigan taxpayers should strongly object to their tax monies being wasted in this manner. Smut in the mail is a federal offense, but it seems anything goes if it is said in the name of education.

★ ★ ★

We urge MSU President Hannah to help us stop this series, if possible, or at least follow it with some good moral lectures to show this only leads to more despair, unhappiness and declining culture.

Offers Additional Facts on Death Penalty

In reply to your editorial "Facts About 1968," Dr. B. van Nierkerk says:

"Among the strangest of all facts surrounding the death penalty is that its desirability is not a question of debate in the country where it is applied with the greatest frequency. Executions in this country have increased from 16 to 100 a year in the past 25 years. From July 1963 to June 1965, 281 death sentences were imposed in South Africa and 194 men executed.

★ ★ ★

"During this period, South Africa alone accounted for about 47 per cent of the world's executions. In the absence of any proof of its effectiveness as a deterent . . . it would seem that the only possible, albeit cynical, arguments which could be raised to justify it are revenge and the cost of maintenance of prisoners for long periods."

Comments on Waterford's School Millage

Regarding the school millage proposal in Waterford Township, people ask what is going to happen when the future generation takes over, but what can they expect when they won't give us a chance? For those who think the new generation is a bunch of pot smoking hippies, I have news for you. A very small percentage of us are. Next time—if there is a next time—I urge all to vote yes on this proposal. Consider it an investment in prosperity.

Question and Answer

A small item in the paper said the Audubon Society would make a "bird feeder tally" of birds this year. Does this mean only members of the Society, or may anyone help with the count?

AMATEUR BIRDWATCHER

REPLY

Unfortunately, both have already taken place. The count was made Dec. 28, the bird feeder visitation Jan. 18. We could have called you in time for the visitation, but you didn't give us enough information to find your phone number. However, Audubon Society activities are open to anyone interested. Meetings are held every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at All Saints Episcopal Church, Pontiac.

Question and Answer

Diseased elms and other dead and diseased trees have been dumped on property on Crooks Road. Avon Township city hall says it shouldn't be dumped there. The owner put up a private property sign, but the tree service doing the dumping says it has the owner's permission. This is bound to spread Dutch elm disease. Can't something be done?

MRS. F. S.

REPLY

We talked with Mr. Alward's office and were told the lot owner originally asked the tree service to dump a load of wood chips there. After that they kept dumping other loads without his permission. A load of dirt has now been placed over the driveway to keep them out, and the building inspector feels this should eliminate the problem.

Sound Conclusion

The Wall Street Journal

Controversy has already enveloped a new report debunking suggestions that unidentified flying objects are likely to be spaceships from other planets.

Those who believe the spaceship theory do so ardently, and they eagerly seize on the least hint of a gap in the debunker's case. And to give them their due, the believers seem to have a point of a sort: Whatever the scientific credentials and pretensions of the investigators, when they come to evaluate eyewitness reports of phenomena now passed, they deal not with the certainties of science but with the unprovables of history.

★ ★ ★

One thing has always puzzled us, though. If someone did prove UFOs were peopled with little green men, what are we supposed to do about it? If flying saucers are manifestations of a superior intelligence, presumably it will make itself known to us when it deems us ready. In the meantime, frankly, we have enough other things to worry about.

★ ★ ★

The latest report, which was done under the auspices of the University of Colorado at a cost of $500,000, says further investigation of UFOs isn't worth a lot more trouble and public expense. Whether it's science or history or just common sense, that strikes us as a sound conclusion.

'Broadway Joe'

Palo Alto Times

Broadway Joe Namath made "believers" of nearly 70 million fans glued to television sets across the nation as he led the New York Jets to a 16-7 upset victory in the Super Bowl.

The mighty Colts of Baltimore were on the losing end of the score, after the "experts" had made them 18-point favorites to win the world title.

★ ★ ★

But the "experts" underestimated Namath, underestimated the Jets and underestimated the caliber of play in the American Football League.

The junior league obviously is nearing a par with the older National Football League in professional expertise— a fact fans of the Oakland Raiders have been quite certain about for the last couple of years.

★ ★ ★

But the story in the Super Bowl game was Namath, whose passing and play-calling were conservatively described as "fabulous."

Babe Ruth, Dizzy Dean and Cassius Clay all rolled into one he may be. Loud of mouth and extravagant in style, also, but who can deny the next time Broadway Joe "guarantees" a win that's the way it's going to be?

Stores at Irish Border Play a Price Game

JONESBOROUGH, Ireland (AP) — Grocer John Rice can't sell butter in his store on the southern side of the Irish border. But his shop across the road on the northern side sells plenty of it.

Why? Because butter in the Irish Republic is 72 cents a pound; north of the border it's 39 cents. The Republic's subsidy on exports explains the price difference.

★ ★ ★

With cigarettes it's the opposite. Rice's south of the border store sells them for 64 cents a pack, but they gather dust on the shelves of his northern place where British sales taxes boost the price to 73 cents.

Bread is cheaper in the north, but patent medicines and toothpaste cost less in the south, again because of different sales taxes.

DOESN'T KNOW WHERE

Such price labels are the only visibile sign of the Irish division which cuts through Jonesborough. The border also runs across Rice's 19-acre farm.

"All I know is that the border runs through the farm, but I couldn't tell you where," he told a reporter.

★ ★ ★

As a property owner on both sides of the border, Rice can vote in elections in both north and south. He pays property taxes on both sides, but income tax only in the north where his house is located.

With two stores to look after, he has two wholesalers. The Republican store is stocked from Dundalk, the northern store from Newry. The wholesale firms, supplying the same goods at different prices, are part of the same organization.

SIMILAR SITUATIONS

A similar situation exists in Pettigo in County Donegal, where the border divides the town in half.

Pettigo's 400 villagers share five churches and two schools. On the Republican side of the border are the Roman Catholic church and the Anglican-orientated Church of Ireland. Across a stream are the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist churches.

★ ★ ★

Republican Pettigo has the only bars. Until last year the Republic's liquor taxes were so much lower that no northern pub could compete. An emergency budget increased the Republican's taxes last fall, but Pettigo's Protestants still must go south for a drink.

At night in the border areas, smugglers and outlaws are on the move. Smuggling changes patterns and directions from year to year as taxes and farm supports change.

★ ★ ★

At the moment fat pigs, butter and car tires are the prize commodities, moving by the truckloads over lonely mountain tracks. They bring higher prices in the south.

President Names Cabinet-Rank Councilor

Nixon Legislation in Works

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon hopes to start sending "a significant legislative program" to Congress within several weeks, according to the President's newly named chief White House staff member.

The statement from Arthur F. Burns gave added substance to other indications that Nixon intends to present the Democratic 91st Congress with an ambitious legislative program as soon as possible, perhaps by March.

★ ★ ★

Burns, an economist and long-time friend and trusted adviser" was named by Nixon Thursday as councilor to the President with Cabinet rank, the only White House staff member with that status.

Burns, whose chief responsi- domestic policies and programs, said he already has submitted two reports to Nixon on potential legislative proposals or executive actions.

YET TO BE REACHED

A decision yet to be reached is how and exactly when Nixon will make his legislative proposals. If the President decides on a special State of the Union message it probably will come within 30 or 40 days, Burns said.

The alternative would be a series of special messages.

★ ★ ★

The other indications that Nixon wants to get his proposals to Congress as soon as possible included his creation of nine special panels within the Council of Urban Affairs to submit recommendations on what he called "near term" issues requiring quick action.

So far, Nixon's legislative intentions have been defined only in broad terms, essentially by subject headings.

18 MAJOR AREAS

Burns' reports, for instance, covered 18 major areas, including federal expenditures, government organization, debt, science and technology, education, business regulation, resources and environment, health care, manpower and electoral reform.

In addition, Budget Director Robert P. Mayo has disclosed that the President will send to Congress recommended changes in the $195.3-billion budget submitted by former President Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Another likely proposal will be a recommendation for at least a partial dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the agency chiefly responsible for the War on Poverty.

Daniel P. Moynihan, Nixon's assistant for urban affairs, said, "There clearly has arisen a predisposition in favor of locating in established departments those functions developed by the OEO which have proven successful."

OTHER ACTIVITY

In addition to announcing the appointment of Burns to the newly created councilor post, Nixon Thursday conferred with Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy, Chairman Paul W. McCracken of the Council of Economic Advisers, Mayo and William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

★ ★ ★

The sessions were described as a general discussion and review of financial and economic conditions.

★ ★ ★

He also met privately with Gen. Robert Cushman, Marine Corps commander in Vietnam and formerly Nixon's military adviser when he was vice president.

Czechs Arrive for Rites of Fire Victim

PRAGUE (AP) — Student delegations began arriving in Prague today for memorial ceremonies honoring Jan Palach and his suicide by fire to protest the Soviet occupation.

Fearing violent demonstrations that might provoke new intervention by the Russians, the Czech government warned the students to be on guard against "irresponsible elements" that could cause trouble.

★ ★ ★

Student leaders said unrest was widespread among the young, but they stressed that the memorial ceremonies would be orderly and dignified.

★ ★ ★

They reported demonstrations in Bratislava, the capital of Slovakia, were suppressed by the authorities and others in Brno and Ostrava were interfered with. They said students at a teachers' college in Ostrava occupied a school building.

CLOSED COFFIN

Palach, who set himself afire Jan. 16, died Sunday. His closed coffin will be on view today and Saturday, with a private funeral afterward.

★ ★ ★

It was announced that a sixth Czechoslovak since Palach had set himself afire in Levice, Slovakia. None of the six has died, and authorities said none had political motives for their acts. All had histories of suicide attempts.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, Ota Sik, former deputy premier and author of the economic reform program last year, and Eduard Goldstuecker, former head of the Czech Writers' Union, attended a meeting of the Czech national council Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Both returned from self-exile Wednesday night but friends said they would be leading the country again in a few days. Sik is doing economic research in Switzerland, and Goldstuecker is teaching in Britain.

Fury III 2-Door Hardtop

Why Plymouth?

1. The GREAT! Plymouth Sale—Our specially-equipped Fury, Belvedere, Barracuda, and Valiant models are now costing even less. But our GREAT! Sale of the Year is only one of a lot of good reasons why you should consider buying a Plymouth. 2. Engineering—Plymouths are tight and strong because structural steel members, body braces, and sheet-metal panels are welded into a single, unitized shell. Unibody construction gives more resistance to the twisting forces of rough roads than body-on-frame cars. 3. Good Handling—High-chrome steel torsion-bar front springs combined with rugged multi-leaf rear springs make Plymouths better handling, better riding than other cars. 4. Durability—7-Step Dip-and-Spray Anti-Rust Treatments on all Plymouth exterior body surfaces and all inner and outer surfaces of lower body metal mean longer body life. 5. Beauty—All Plymouths are painted with super-hard Acrylic Enamel that retains a mirror-like finish with only cold-water washes. Acrylic Enamel means beauty that lasts. 6. Safety—Plymouth's big brakes give smooth, safe braking. They're bigger and heavier than brakes on most other cars. 7. Comfort—Head room. Hip room. Shoulder room. Leg room. And trunk room . . . loads of it!

That's why!

Top Guerrilla Stands Firm in Laos Capital

VIENTIANE (UPI) — Soth Petrasy is no ordinary Communist Pathet Lao guerrilla official.

Soth Petrasy operates an "embassy" in the heart of Vientiane, the seat of the government he is seeking to overthrow. He has a garrison of Pathet Lao troops ready to protect him.

★ ★ ★

The pro-western regime of Prince Sōuvanna Phouma demanded that Soth and his entourage leave Vientiane following a North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao attack last week which destroyed an ammunition depot just 12 miles outside the capital. It was the second such demand in a year.

And for the second time in a year, Soth firmly and irreconcilably said "no."

ARMED GUARDS

Soth's embassy is in the middle of the Vientiane business district. His rifle-carrying gurads, dressed in baggy khaki uniforms and belts with a star on the buckle, look out at the busy marketplace across the street and watch government soldiers pass by.

In the early morning, a khaki-clad proletarian goes to market with a basket, doing the embassy's daily shopping and exchanging gossip with the peasant women.

★ ★ ★

Soth is unusually sociable for an oriental Communist and talks with anybody in impeccable French. He even chats informally with American diplomats when their paths cross.

One Western diplomat describes him as "personally, a nice guy." Aside from social amenities, which are often lengthy in Laos, the things Soth says are straight party line.

'CAN OF WORMS'

To understand Soth's place in the scheme of things, one has to delve into the complexities of the 1962 Geneva agreements which "neutralized" Laos, and into Laotian politices, which some diplomats describe as the proverbial can of worms.

Under the Geneva accords, the Pathet Lao had positions in the Cabinet along with Souvanna officials and neutralists. The Pathet Lao ministers fled Vientiane in 1963 when it looked as though Souvanna might arrest them.

Their cabinet seats have remained vacant ever since, and they left Soth to protect their interests.

There also are family ties and deep-rooted relationships between both sides. Prince Souvanouvong, the titular leader of the Pathet Lao, is Souvanna's half-brother. The government, in typical Lao style, is sometimes reluctant to tread on the toes of Communists whom they grew up with, and vice versa.

WELCOME OPPOSITION

Many diplomats and government officials privately welcome Soth's presence as the only legal link with the Pathet Lao, whose headquarters is deep in the jungles of northern Laos.

Soth made it clear that he was not going to budge. "I am here legally, under the agreements which set up the coalition governments in 1962," he was quoted as saying. "I have no intention of leaving."

★ ★ ★

Souvanna government officials shurugged off the reply and indicated there could be no question of using force.

"We merely used the opportunity presented by recent events to once again state our position," an official said.

Man Is Arrested in Theft of Nickel

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Louis Rainone, 43, appeared in a Windsor court Thursday on charges of possessing stolen goods. About $90,000 in nickel cubes is involved.

Rainone, of no fixed address, was remanded until Jan. 27 and bail was set at $10,000.

The charges followed the disappearance of a transport truck with more than 38,000 pounds of nickel cubes, being transported from St. Catharines to Livonia, Mich. The truck and its load were in a parking compound at the Ambassador Bridge between Windsor and Detroit when it disappeared.

The game of croquet originated in France.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin is ill, suffering from a worsening of an old liver ailment, an informed source says.

Kosygin, 64, has been out of public sight for more than a month and officially has been reported to be on vacation.

The unofficial Soviet source said Kosygin is living in his country home near Moscow. The informant could not say how serious the illness is nor how long the premier would be kept from his normal duties.

Former Arkansas Governor Sued for Divorce

FAUBUS

Former Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus is being sued for divorce by his wife of 37 years. Alta Faubus charges general indignities in her suit.

Faubus, governor for 12 years, waived his right to appear and said a property settlement had been agreed on. This means he will not contest the divorce.

The couple has one son, Farrell Faubus, a lawyer who filed the divorce suit yesterday.

Julie and David Eisenhower Visit His Grandmother

Julie and David Eisenhower are visiting his grandmother at the farm home of former President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower at Gettysburg, Pa.

DAVID

JULIE

Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower reopened the home last month while her husband remained a patient at Walter Reed Hospital.

The newlyweds plan to visit later this week at the home of David's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, in Phoenixville, Pa.

Julie Eisenhower, younger daughter of President and Mrs. Nixon, is reported suffering from a minor cold.

Tumor Surgery Yields Something Extra—a Baby

Mrs. Irving Crawford, 47, unexpectedly became a mother when doctors removing a tumor also delivered a nine-pound daughter in Houston, Tex.

Her doctor said the tumor had forced the child into such a position that its heartbeat could not be detected before the operation Wednesday.

The Crawfords, married for 25 years, have two adopted children and are guardians of three others.

He Took the 'Whereases' Out of Proclamations

Will Sparks is the man who took the "whereases" out of presidential proclamations.

Sparks, a former speech-writing aide to President Johnson, said the president complained that the proclamations were so dull that nobody read them.

Sparks, speaking to an Overseas Press Club audience in New York City last night, said he did some research and found there was no legal reason for the stilted prose. George Washington started it and no one thought to change it, he said.

"On Jan. 11, 1966, the National Safe Boating Week proclamation was the first one without a single 'whereas' and, with one or two exceptions due to bureaucratic bungling, there haven't been any 'whereases' since," he said, adding he hoped President Nixon would not restore them.

2 Youths Rob Man of $381

A Pontiac laundry employe, carrying business receipts to the bank, was robbed of $381 at gunpoint last night by two youths. He was carrying the receipts in a bowling bag.

Edwin Kast, 53, of 2412 Renfrew, Sylvan Lake, told police that he had just left the Brighten Clean Laundry, 405 Auburn, at 6:30 p.m. when one of two youths who approached him stuck a gun in his ribs and told him to drop the bag.

The youths then picked up the bag and ran south on Tasmania Avenue, according to Kast.

He described both as Negroes about 17 years old.

Repeal of Indian Liquor Ban Eyed

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A bill to repeal an old provision making it a felony to sell liquor to Indians was introduced Thursday in the Minnesota legislature.

Rep. Earl Gustafson of Duluth, sponsor of the bill, said the old law is not enforced and is probably unconstitutional.

Pier Started

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — Construction has begun on South Haven's first city-owned pier, which will have either 52 or 64 slips. The number of slips hinges upon final approval by the state Senate of an additional $42.000 loan. Total cost of the project would then reach $347,000.

Kelley Aide Calls for Grand Jury Reform

LANSING (UPI) — A bill to repeal Michigan's one-man grand jury system had its first public airing before the Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday.

Leon S. Cohan, deputy to Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, testified it would be "disastrous" to abolish the law before providing an alternative method of investigation.

★ ★ ★

He suggested two approaches — giving the 23-man grand jury power to grant immunity to witnesses or giving the attorney general authority to subpoena and provide immunity.

Cohan said the 23-man grand jury law now lacks strength because it does not extend immunity to persons called to testify.

The sponsor of the one-man grand jury system repealer, Sen. James D. Gray, D-Warren, said the single grand juror approach is used as a "political guillotine" and furthers the political ambitions of the juror.

"It is ridiculous that Michigan is the last major state to have the system," he added.

"The investigating power should be an administrative, not judicial, matter."

★ ★ ★

Gray contended the present method does not conform with the separation of powers doctrine because the judicial branch both investigates and sits in judgment. He said the expenses a one-man grand jury entails are "fantastic."

The Legislature could improve the law, Cohan said, by increasing jury size to three members and by requiring agreement of two before any action could be taken.

INCREASED TERM?

Cohan also said the term of the jury could be increased from one to three years. He said the present limitation is inadequate for investigating organized crime.

★ ★ ★

A third Cohan suggestion was to provide anonymity for witnesses called before the jury.

The committee requested the attorney general's office to draft a model bill as an alternative to the repealer proposed by Gray.

School Levy Exemption

Tax Break for Elderly Proposed

LANSING (UPI) — Senior citizens with an annual combined income less than $5,000 will be exempt from paying all property taxes to support schools if legislation proposed by Sen. Charles Youngblood, D-Detroit, is approved.

Youngblood's bill puts limits on the value of property the over-65 applicant can own. Persons applying for this exemption must have lived in Michigan for five of the last 10 years to qualify.

Youngblood introduced the bill during a two-hour Senate session Thursday. The upper chamber adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday. At that time, it will again be joined by the House of Representatives which has recessed for two weeks.

Another bill sponsored by Youngblood would prohibit tax assessors from adding value to property simply because the owner made necessary repairs "for the purpose of upkeep and general appearance." Currently, homeowners complain that the property assessment procedure discriminates against conscientious upkeep.

AUTHORIZATION

Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, introduced the anatomical gift bill which would authorize a person to will all or part of his body for transplants or research.

The act also contains a section abolishing liability for the physician in a lawsuit if he "acts in good faith in accord with the terms of this act or with the anatomical gift laws of another state or a foreign country . . ."

★ ★ ★

In line with recommendations of physicians, Sen. Beebe did not include a definition of death in her bill.

Fresno Mayor Expected to Be Model Cities Head

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Political leaders in Fresno say the appointment of Mayor Floyd Hyde as head of the Model Cities program in the Nixon administration has been expected for two weeks.

Hyde, 47, had lunch Thursday in Washington with President Nixon. The mayor and Mrs. Hyde went to Washington to attend Monday's inauguration ceremonies.

★ ★ ★

The City Council was reported to be in the process of choosing a successor to Hyde as mayor, a nonpartisan post. He is a Republican.

Hyde, an attorney, was elected four years ago as mayor, his first political office, and has been a prime mover in Fresno's redevelopment program. With federal aid, the city converted six downtown blocks into a pedestrian mall, rejuvenating a business district. The program has won a number of citations.

★ ★ ★

Hyde was named recently as a vice president of the National League of Cities and has been critical of Johnson administration programs for the inner-city poor.

Groves Debaters Clinch District Championship

By KIM SEROTA

"The United States needs compulsory service if our country is to survive," argued varsity debater Steve Mintz as the Wylie E. Groves debate team went on to win the district championship in state tournament competition.

The "Dynasty," as the team is known to Groves students, won five of six debates in the first of three rounds of the state tournament.

★ ★ ★

The tournament includes district, regional, and state competition. This year's district meet, at Royal Oak Kimball High School, is the first ever won by a Groves team.

To qualify for the regional meet, also held at Kimball, it was necessary for the debaters to defeat the host team, last year's district champion, and the team from Birmingham's other high school, Seaholm, which placed second in the state competition.

PLACED HIGH

The varsity team (Steve Halpert, Brian Premo, Randy Weisberg and Mintz) feels that this year the team has a chance at the state title. The "Dynasty" finished its season first in the Oakland League and second in the Northwest Suburban League (NWSL).

Commented cocaptain Weisberg after defeating NWSL champion Oak Park, "We really upset the established teams because no one expected Groves to place at all this year!"

★ ★ ★

The Groves student lounge has again been transformed by the art department.

The lounge-turned-art gallery has been the scene of attempts to "build a better mousetrap" and interpretations of animals in the zoo.

SCULPTURED DOLLS

The latest display, by Michael Miller's three-dimensional design class, is of sculptured dolls in a wide range of subjects and materials.

The exhibit includes such works as a hocow (a cross between horse and cow) by Jim Render, a girl meshed with a bicycle by Richard Gallerani, and a lady in a chair by Ellen Gluck. Many other projects also were displayed.

WTH Classes to Demonstrate Spirit in Drive

By JANICE CRISP

Waterford Township High School's classes will have a chance to show which has the most spirit next Thursday and Friday.

The Girls' Letter Club is sponsoring a contest for the March of Dimes entitled "Put Your Money Where Your Mouth Is."

Jan. 30 and 31, three megaphones, one for each class, will be circulated throughout the school. They will also be in the lobby during class breaks and in the cafeteria during snack time.

Members of each class may donate money by putting it in the megaphone labeled for their class. The money will be counted on Friday after snack time, and the winner of the contest announced at that day's prep assembly.

SPIRIT TRIANGLE

The Spirit Triangle will be awarded to the winning class for use at the Walled Lake basketball game that night.

Yesterday, the senior class sponsored a Rec Nite.

Tomorrow night at 8 there will be a donkey basketball game between the faculties of Waterford and Mott. Tickets, 75 cents for students and $1 for adults, will be sold at the door.

Gospel Singer at Christian

By MELINDA THEMM

The student body of Oakland Christian High School was entertained by a young French gospel singer, Charles Roda, at a recent assembly.

OCH students chose their Student Council leaders in a recent student government election. Elected were Dan Allen, president; Debbie Locknear, vice president; Dona Currey, treasurer; Ruth Dunlap, secretary, and Dave Gabert, chaplain. Paul R. James, social studies teacher, is adviser.

The OCH Ensemble gave its first away-from-school performance at the Oakland Avenue Presbyterian Church last Sunday evening.

Members of the ensemble are Ruth Dunlap and Clyde Murphy, seniors; Dona Currey, Cindy Edwards, Arnie Hashman, Randy Largent, Tom Molyneux, June Murphy and Dan Allen, juniors, and Debbie Locknear, sophomore.

WLC Prom Goes 'Underwater'

By JOANNE SANDERSON

"An Underwater Fantasy" will be the theme of the junior prom to be held Saturday at Walled Lake Central High School beginning at 8 p.m.

Tickets were sold for two weeks at the bookstore for $5 a couple.

★ ★ ★

Prom decorations will be taken from settings under the sea with the main colors green, blue and yellow.

The hors d'oeuvres will center around seafood. They will be made mostly with tuna and shrimp with the punch a sea green, kept cold by "ice fish."

SHIP FOR BANSTAND

There will also be punch with lime sherbet. The food wil be served by sophomore girls dressed in blue and green pant costumes.

The band will use a sunken ship for its bandstand. The backdrop will feature fish caught in netting.

★ ★ ★

Later on in the evening, the queen will be chosen and will ascend her coconut shell throne.

The class executive board has been hard at work. The decorations committee and refreshment committee have worked almost every day after school. Home economics teacher Mrs. Richard A. Saurbrun has assisted the refreshments committee.

Kenneth Butler is the class sponsor.

The Drama Club, sponsored by vocal music instructor Alexander Zerban and drama teacher Jacqueline Bowers casted Tuesday for the production "Thurber Carnival." This production, containing several skits, will be presented the second week in March.

The journalism class is sponsoring a dance on Jan. 31. It will follow the wrestling match and will last until 11 p.m. The dance will feature the band, "Guys and Dolls," a group of college students.

FISHY FUN — Promoting the water scene of Walled Lake High School's junior prom, "An Underwater Fantasy," are juniors Toni Piskorski and Scott Reynolds. The prom will be held Saturday, beginning at 8 p.m. Serving the refreshments will be sophomore girls in blue-and-green pants costumes.

Tryouts for Play Held at Andover

By ANN PETERS

Tryouts for the next Bloomfield Hills Andover High School play were held Monday in the Little Theater.

Announcement of the 22-member cast for "David and Lisa" will be made shortly. The play is sponsored by the Protagonists.

★ ★ ★

Plans for this year's senior class trip have been revealed. The class will visit New York from May 29 to June 1.

Attractions include Staten Island, the United Nations Building and the Empire State Building. The seniors will also see a Broadway play.

★ ★ ★

Chaperones for the senior trip will be Mr. and Mrs. James Wolfe and Mr. and Mrs. John Rakolta.

Plans Melt Away at West Bloomfield

By SHARON CARR

A snow king, a snow queen and no snow?

To support Keego Harbor's plans for a Snow Carnival weekend, West Bloomfield High School students made plans to coincide with the activities.

★ ★ ★

Although plans for a snow-sculpturing contest have melted and hopes for snowmobile races are evaporating a Snow Ball, and a snow king and queen still exist.

Following the basketball game at Bloomfield Hills Andover tonight, students will return to the high school cafetorium for the Snow Ball, featuring The Mermaid Tavern.

RESULTS OF VOTING

At this time the results of the voting will be anounced and the snow king and queen will be crowned.

Members of the court are John Crowder, Mike Hubbard, Steve Westjohn, Kevin Gawronski, Debbie Bayer, Jo Schippert, Laurie Stephans and Carol Shaw.

After weeks of preparation, the Drama Club is ready to present "The Madwoman of Chaillot."

Under the direction of Thomas Smith and student-director Sandy Elbling, the performance will be Jan. 29, and 30 at 8 p.m.

CAST OF PLAY

Countess Aurelic, the Madwoman of Chaillot, is played by Jan Anderson. Carole Biernacki plays Mme. Constance, the Madwoman of Passy, and Rachel Foxman has the part of Mlle. Gabrielle, the Madwoman of St. Sulpice. The Madwoman of la Concorde is portrayed by Sioux Pingston.

Other important characters are Dick Curran, president; Ann Mcguire, baroness; Jan Kevwitch, flower girl; Kym DesJardins, street singer; Gopal Rampal, deaf mute; Julie Burt Pawlette; and Joe Carevic, the ragpicker.

★ ★ ★

Sue Alkema plays Irma, John Thompson, Dr. Jadin; Greg Kholhede, Pierre; and Gerry Teichman, the sergeant. There are 40 in the cast.

★ ★ ★

For the first time the sophomore class has officers. Newly elected are Mike Chapman, president; John Hugelet, vice president; and Margaret Neubacher, secretary-treasurer.

Avondale Hosts Foreign Student

By KAREN SHELDON

Avondale High Students are hosting another foreign exchange student from Uruguay.

Rosa Gomez of Montevideo, who arrived in Michigan Jan. 17, and will stay with the Robert Wagners of Nichols Drive, Pontiac Township.

★ ★ ★

Spanish, German, French and English are but a few of the languages Rosa speaks.

Her interests range from history and chemistry to gymnastics, swimming and yachting.

LIGUISTIC INTEREST

Montevideo is where Rosa plans to attend college. She hopes to be a translator.

The Library Club is sponsoring an after-the-game dance tonight. Admission price is 35 cents with the proceeds being used to build up its treasury.

Northern High Gets Ready for 2nd Semester

By LARRY HELTSLEY

Students carrying armloads of books were a frequent sight at Pontiac Northern earlier this yeek as final exams were held. The first semester ended as first, second and third hour tests were held on Monday and fourth, fifth and sixth hour tests on Tuesday.

Each test lasted 75 minutes with a 15-minute break between tests. PNH students have a three-day semester break and Monday will start on their second semester. Registration, book pickup and scheduling had to be completed during the vacation.

★ ★ ★

Senior Class President Pat Griffin has announced that the senior class trip to camp Gay El Rancho will cost $40 per person with transportation fees to be decided. Reservations are available for students and the remainder to be placed on a waiting list.

Registration for the trip will begin Tuesday. A. A. Landers, senior class sponsor, is in charge of the reservations and answer questions concerning the trip.

DEPOSITS

Deposits toward the trip can be made immediately after reservation assurance. The amount deposited is determined by the individual and must be made through the main office.

Scores from the American College Testing program have arrived and are ready for distribution to students. Students may pick up the test scores from their counselors.

★ ★ ★

Committee chairmen have been chosen for the Varsity Club's Valentine dance. Greg Adsit is general chairman and Bib Hukka, band chairman.

Refreshments will be handled by Paul King. Doug Inscho is in charge of tickets. The dance will be held Feb. 15 in the school cafeteria.

2 EXCHANGE STUDENTS

The PNH International Club will add two foreign exchange students to the four who are now attending school. The two students from Brazil arrived this week and will begin classes Monday.

A committee has been formed in order to revive dead school spirit. Representatives from the Varsity Club, Pep Club, cheerleaders and International Club will hold meetings and try to organize themselves into a pep committe. Declining student participation and attendance at athletic events brought about the committee's developments.

6 Waterford Mott Girls Seek Miss March of Dimes Title

By GEORGIA ROSEWALL

Six Waterford Mott girls are competing for the Miss March of Dimes title.

Participants are Dawn Saffron, Connie Crawford, Cinda White, Kendra Solberg, Teri Barker and Marie Prieto.

★ ★ ★

Girls receive one vote for each dime they collect. The six Mott girls are competing with girls from all of the area high schools.

The Student Council will sponsor several activities to raise money for the March of Dimes. Next week, they will sell heartshaped lollipops, hold a penny pitch and bake sale.

MILLAGE DRIVE

Student Millage Action Campaign (SMAC) members have been circulating a pro-millage petition among Waterford voters this week.

The petitions seek another election on the Waterford school millage and bond issue proposals.

The signed petitions will be taken to the school board.

★ ★ ★

Students are being given the opportunity to choose the homeroom of their choice.

Purpose of the change is "to let students be with their friends, in hope that everyone will attend homeroom," Student Council chairman Jim Durnbraugh said.

SCHOOL BY-LAWS

Work on revising Mott's constitution began Tuesday. Cochairmen of the constitution committee are Paul Coughlin and Doug Dubrish. Georgia Rosewall is acting secretary.

"All meetings will be open and interested students are urged to help with the revising," Doug said.

★ ★ ★

Mott's newspaper, "The Helm," is sponsoring a Bermuda-Slack Day Thursday. Tickets are 25 cents and may be purchased through Wednesday.

Proceeds will go toward the publishing of the newspaper.

BIG GAME

The Corsairs will play Novi tonight, away.

Waterford Mott students had a half-day yesterday and no school today.

Stevenson Club Forms Drill Unit

By GAIL NELSON

Stevenson High School's Pep Club has recently formed a drill team which will put on a halftime show at home basketball games.

Senior Gari Ann Hotton organized the team and directs its daily practices. She now is ordering material and patterns in hopes of having new cullottes ready for the 30 girl-group to wear at their first drill.

★ ★ ★

The opening of Stevenson's new pool, postponed for the last six months due to a construction strike, is now scheduled for February.

★ ★ ★

The $750,000 T-shaped pool will feature two diving boards, six racing lanes, a laundry, locker room and seating for 700.

COMMUNITY USE

The pool will be used by the community as well as by Stevenson students. Principal Dr. Robert Ulrich, commented that the pool will be "one of the very finest pools anywhere."

Stevenson acquired a trophy Friday night when the Stevenson tankers downed their chief rivals from Utica.

Sweat Shirt Sale at Brandon

By MARJORIE WIDMAN

The Contemporary History Trip Club at Brandon High School is feverishly selling sweat shirts.

The shirts are available in heather colors of blue, cranberry and green, in sizes, small through extra large.

All proceeds go to the Washington-New York trip set for Easter vacation.

The BHS debate team of Debbie Ball, Sigrid Medlen, Alan Mansfield, Connie McKay, Tom Stowell, and Donna Wayland, will travel to Our Lady of Sorrow in Farmington for the district tournament. The team has a league record of 10-3, a tie for second place.

Brandon has taken on the air of true school spirit with the sophomores selling window stickers with "Brandon Blackhawks" in blue letters over a basket and basketball.

Along with these are sweater stickers sold by the Pep Club.

Randy Cooper who is a member of the Michigan Honors Choir spent three days at the University of Michigan where he rehearsed with the 85 other student members of the MHC.

SCHOOL NEWS ROUNDUP

By ANDI BARNES

Students at Dominican Academy have been busy "buying" votes for their candidates. The price: a dime a vote. Seem fair? Fair enough, since all money goes to the March of Dimes.

Students voted senior Odilia Soraruf as Dominican's official March of Dimes contestant. Odilia is a boarder from Ypsilanti. She will represent the school in the state March of Dimes pageant at Mt. Holly Feb. 8.

★ ★ ★

The affair is open to students from participating schools. The day will include skiing and music by the Plain Brown Wrapper and other bands from the area.

Girls at DA are hunting talent. Plans are being made to stage a school talent show Feb. 14. Students from all grades will be able to participate and show off their special talents.

★ ★ ★

Tuesday, the senior sociolgy class met with the Rev. Edmund Brennan, from St. Basil's novitiate in Pontiac Township.

Lake Orion

By CHERYL GRITZINGER

The Lake Orion High School Student Council has amended its constitution. Proposed by President, Charles Hopper, the amendment reads:

"The Student Council shall announce the hour and day of regular meetings two days prior to the meeting. The Student Council adviser shall be authorized to write a maximum of six (6) guest passes, two students per grade, for the meetings. Students may obtain guest passes only with written permission from the teacher of the class to be missed. Passes will be granted on a first-come first-serve basis. Students should try to obtain a pass only for meetings to be held during their study hall period. These guests shall have the same rights as regular members except the right to vote."

★ ★ ★

The proposal was adopted and is effective immediately. Members hope this will take the place of open Student Council meetings.

Last week nine prospective members of the Varsity "O" club went through part of their initiation. Initiates are Tom Perry, Jerel Hollens, Gary Costanzo, Ron Stanley, Bob Mundy, Rich Parsons, Ray Watson, Daryl Tate and Paul Sharkey.

Oxford

By CAROL PRINCE

A lively and productive discussion between Student Council and faculty members of Oxford High School took place at a tea sponsored by the Student Council.

"What do you mean by the communication gap between student and faculty?" was heard above the buzz of conversation groups. Both students and teachers asked, "How are we not communicating?"

★ ★ ★

Ways to involve more students in activities outside of class was another topic of discussion.

Suggestions included taking one hour a week for activity periods such as chess tournaments, wrestling matches, impromptu or planned demonstrations of club activities or a record-listening session.

★ ★ ★

A committee was appointed to set up the first experimental student activity hour with Mrs. Wendell Honsinger, chairman, assisted by Christy Johnson, social studies instructor, and student members Nancy Hall and Dennis Barrett. The program will be subject to the approval of Principal Raymond Brabo.

Our Lady

By CHRIS GINGRAS

In an open-forum assembly Monday, Sister Mary Paul, O.P., principal of Our Lady of Lakes, announced that three of the school's juniors won honors in the recent "Voice of Democracy" speech contest. Denise LaForge, Dave Tait and Bryan Sauve won first, second and third place awards, respectively.

Congratulated by Sister Paul was OLL's young debate team. Competing in a preliminary league consisting of classes A through D, the team won four of eight debates this season.

★ ★ ★

Debate moderator William T. Peters of the faculty, called it "a very impressive showing for a first-year team." The team, competing in the class D tournaments, meets Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows today after school.

In this first formal meeting of students with the new principal, Sister Paul reiterated some general rules she feels need more attention and expressed her pleasure over some of the things she has observed in her first week at Lakes.

Holly

By MARCIA CLARK

A new form of student government is being tried at Holly High School.

A committee of four students, each representing one grade, has been chosen from the student council to discuss diciplinary matters with the administration.

Freshamn Mark Ridley, sophomore Jack Grim, junior Tom McKenney and senior Gary Bradley, will meet with principal Norman Jones biweekly.

"There is not so much a generation gap between adults and students; it is more of a communication gap," commented Jones.

MORE COMPACT

David Annala, Student Council sponsor, said, "The smaller committee may well replace the larger Student Council, for it is more compact and therefore more efficient."

Members of this committee will change periodically.

One of the first topics to be discussed will be the dress codes of the high school concerning the wearing of blue jeans to classes.

Feb. 3, the Metro-League Student Council will meet at HHS. The Metro-League Student Council is made up of representatives from each student council in the Flint Metro League.

Paula Duff, Brad Addis and Jeff Bouck are permanent members of the council.

Greg Kundinger and Jeff Caryl are alternates.

Novi

By THOM HOLMES

The senior class of Novi High School has chosen its class symbols. The class song is "The Impossible Dream."

For the flower, the girls will receive yellow roses on the night of graduation, and the boys will receive green-tipped carnations.

★ ★ ★

The class colors are green and gold, the school colors. Since the class of '69 will be the first graduating class from Novi, this selection was deemed appropriate.

The senior class mascot is the koala bear. The class motto is "Our glory is not in ever falling, but rising when we fall."

RIBBON DAY

The junior class held a ribbon day on Jan. 16. Any girl who purchased and wore one of the juniors' ribbons was not allowed to speak to any boys all day. If she did, the ribbon would be given up to the boy.

After the event, there were two honors given out. The girl who lost the most ribbons was junior Linda Ellegood, who lost 13. The boy who won the most ribbons was sophomore Bob Vivian, who ended up with 14.

There are now tentative plans for a bops' ribbon day. The junior class made around $50 on its project.

Pontiac Catholic

By GERI KLINKHAMER

Tension is high as exams began this week at Pontiac Catholic High School. The faculty is experimenting with a new schedule for taking the exams this year. Each day, all grades take their test on the same subjects during the regular period and then continue with the regular day.

The Senior Government Seminar announced the winners of the Voice of America contest. They attended a celebration sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, and were given their awards. Becky Spurk won a gold medal and $25 saving bond, Geraldine Blanzy a silver medal and Patricia Hoffman a bronze medal.

In a celebration of Christian Unity Week, Pontiac Catholic students were visited by three clergymen.

The Rev. Tom Wilson, Episcopalian; Rabbi Ernst Conrad; and the Rev. Wayne Brookshear, Methodist, held discussions with the religion classes.

The girl's varsity basketball team won its fifth straight game Sunday, beating Nativity, 47-15. The junior vasrity also won 22-12.

SKI ACTIVITIES

The ski team, under the direction of Cynthia Moloney, physical education instructor, lost its meet against Lakeview High School Saturday. It faced Utica on Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The junior class is sponsoring a sockhop in the gym tomorrow night after the Titan's game with Our Lady of the Lakes. The dance, open to only students of the two schools who attend the game, will cost 50 cents per person and will feature two bands.

Teen-Age Singers to Perform at Mall

The Omega Singers, a group of 105 teen-agers from area high schools, will perform at the Pontiac Mall automobile show tomorrow at 5 p.m. The Mall is located at Telegraph and Elizabeth Lake roads, Waterford Township.

Sponsored by the Eastern Michigan District of the Church of the Nazarene, the Omegas will also deliver a concert tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the Hillcrest Church of the Nazarene, 520 W. Walton.

Here's a Deep, Dark Secret---Men Admire Women

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Do men dislike women?

BOYLE

"I know my husband loves me, because he voluntarily told me so himself once — 20 years ago," said one wife. "But I have always wondered if he really liked me, too. I don't feel that most men actually are fond of women or enjoy their company.

"There must be something about us they resent. Perhaps it's a biological resentment, the fact that we are able to bear children and they can't."

Oh, dear no, lady. How wrong can the feminine intuition be? Men have enough trouble putting up with children after they are born; they have no hidden desire to bear them. This race-perpetuating chore they are happy enough to leave to womankind.

While men have no desire to be women and often distrust them in general, there are many things they secretly respect and admire about women —or even envy. They just rarely express them aloud.

Women would be surprised how often husbands, when no member of the opposite sex is present, remark with a trace of tears in their eyes, "The thing I like about my wife is that she . . ."

"Whenever I hear a guy starting to talk like that," said a bartender friend, "I refuse to pour him any more. You always know a man's had enough when he starts bragging about his wife or remembering how good his dear old mother was to him."

What is it that men admire about their wives—or even about most women?

Well, there are several qualities. Such as:

Man admires woman because she is generally less fickle and more steadfast in loyalty than he is.

UNFLINCHING COURAGE

Man admires woman because, while she is more vocal about petty annoyances, she usually can bear the great disasters and continuing ordeals of life with a silent unflinching courage that puts to shame his own yowls of self-pity about fate.

Man admires woman because she can find more happiness and excitement in small things than he can—a bit of chatty gossip, trading menus over the telephone, buying a new hat, the presence of fresh flowers in a living room vase, the soft glow of candlelight at dinner, even though the meal be warmed-over hash. What he grunts at, she exclaims over, for she has the great gift of brightening her world with tidbits of pleasure.

★ ★ ★

Man admires woman because of her endless quest for perfection. If there is to be a better or more gracious world, it will be her doing, not his. He is often willing to compromise and accept the second-rate. She never is.

A woman, rich or poor, always has the desire to go through this world first-class. If a thing isn't right, she tries to put it right.

ALWAYS THERE

She won't accept shoddy or inferior merchandise. She won't sit in a cold room if there is a way to make it warmer. She won't take a seat at a badly located table in a restaurant if there is a better one to be had. If she marries a guy who is a Dr. Jekyll-and-Mr. Hyde, she inexorably sets about convincing him that he is Sir Galahad.

Finally, man admires woman because, like Mt. Everest, she is there—ever-inviting, ever-challenging him to prove himself.

★ ★ ★

Why then, if men do admire women so much, don't they tell them so more often? The answer lies in simple male psychology.

★ ★ ★

If a man too often told a woman of his respect for her feminine strengths, it would seem to him like he'd be confessing his own masculine weaknesses. And what guy likes to do that?

Heston Does Love Scenes Nude, Then Bares Views

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Charlton Heston in a nude lovemaking scene?

THOMAS

It happens in "Pro," Heston's new film which concerns professional football but includes some bedroom athletics as well. The actor was indulging in some of the latter with costar Jessica Walker on the last day of filming. The set was closed to all but necessary film workers.

★ ★ ★

Later, a fully dressed Heston commented:

★ ★ ★

"I'm pleased and proud at the way that sex has been handled in this picture. We've done two or three erotic scenes without the baring of one breast. Yet I think audiences will find the scenes as stimulating as those in which the actors are shown nude.

★ ★ ★

"Nudity on the screen is like violence: It can defeat its own ends. Too explicit a sex scene is distracting, just as too much violence destroys illusion.

★ ★ ★

"For instance, if a scene shows a knife being stuck into a body, that is shocking and repugnant; it is much more effective to show the knife being drawn, and then show the face of the victim.

★ ★ ★

"Likewise, if a picture shows too much bareness, the audience is embarrassed; the onlookers are not swept up in the passion of the moment."

★ ★ ★

This may come as news to many of today's film makers who seem to be playing sexual brinkmanship in exploring new vistas of screen passion. Heston is distressed by this trend.

★ ★ ★

"Yes, I know there are some film makers who believe their only responsibility is to film," he remarked. "I don't believe that. I don't think that film makers should be as unrestricted as other creative artists. You can't take the standards of a painter or a novelist and apply them to the movies.

★ ★ ★

"Film reaches too far and influences too many people. Complete freedom of expression is not possible; responsibility must go with it."

Heston was recently elected to another term as president of the Screen Actors Guild. With so many actors and actresses being required to appear nude nowadays, does the guild offer any protection to those who don't wish to?

"There's nothing in the contract with the producers that covers that," he said, with no pun apparently intended. "An actor has the responsibility to protect himself, and we urge our members to do so, particularly in the field of stunts.

"If an actor is asked to take a saddle fall and he thinks it's dangerous, he should decline to do it. Likewise if a girl is asked to do a nude scene and she doesn't want to, she should say so. I certainly think the guild would support her."

Soft and low. Gentle and quiet. That's electric heat.

It's the quietest heat you can get.

If it's radiant, there's no sound at all. If it's a warm-air furnace, the fan runs at a lower speed. Gives only a gentle hum, soft as a lullaby.

What else?

Electric heat is clean. No fumes. No soot. No draft. No chill one moment nor a burst of hot air the next. The humidity stays in the comfort range. It's better for you. Your nose and throat. Better for your home.

Call Edison for the name of your nearest Edison-approved Electric Heat Contractor. He'll give you a no-obligation survey. And we'll see that you get a $100 trade-in allowance on your old heating plant.

Electric heat . . . the hushabye heat. Comforting to have while your little one, your pretty one, sleeps.

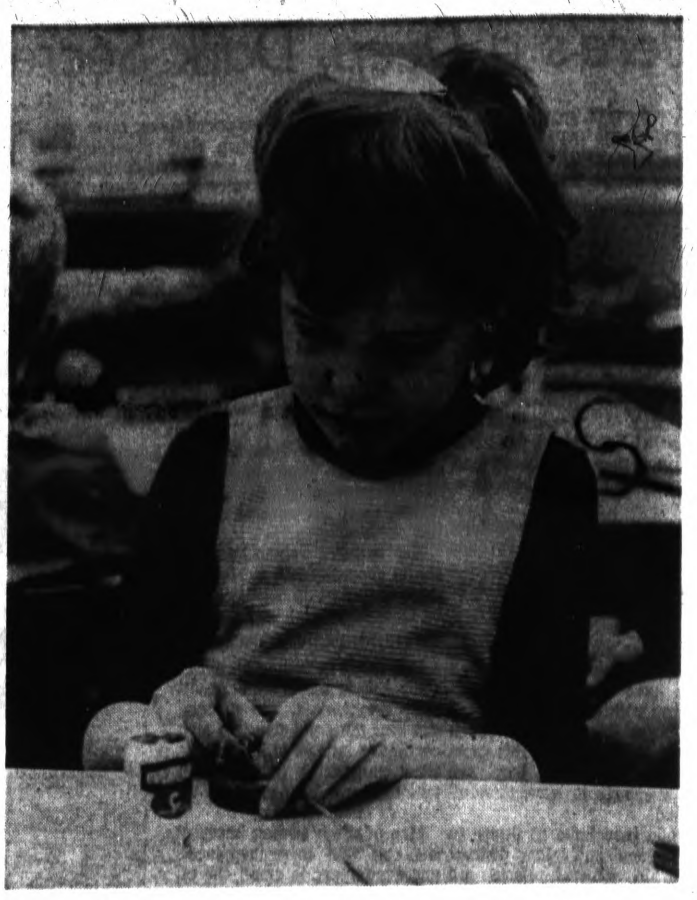
Norma Jean Hasting Works With Magnets

Wow! Dion Henry And Light Grow Brighter



Cathy Landis Of 74 Preston Wires An Experiment

Educator Teaches Science —and All the Kids Like It

"Boy, this is fun! Better than ABCs and learning to tell blue from green!"

They were learning without even knowing it.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Julian Greenlee, director of science education for Oakland Schools, came to Donelson School in the Waterford Township School District one day at the request of first grade teacher Mrs. Carol Wagner.

He had been asked to demonstrate how children could discover principles of science for themselves.

SIMPLE SUPPLIES

He gave each pair of first graders flashlight batteries, a light bulb, a pair of magnets, a length of bell wire, some nails and a steel knitting needle.

★ ★ ★

Greenlee then gave a few simple demonstrations of what could be done with the materials, and told the children to go to work.

★ ★ ★

Donna Jewell of 2615 Sylvan Shores, found five different ways of running an electric circuit through her flashlight battery.

★ ★ ★

The question was, does it make any difference if you use one battery, or two, or three? Dion Henry of 450 Cameron and Susan Saylor of 996 Myrtle found that the light gets brighter and brighter with the addition of each battery.

THAT'S MAGNETISM

Norma Jean Hasting of 130 N. Tilden discovered that the steel knitting needle stuck to her magnets. That's magnetism, Norma Jean!

★ ★ ★

Greenlee also gives other demonstrations in science principles with such items as rocks, light and air on the request of teachers in any of the 28 school districts under the jurisdiction of Oakland Schools.

★ ★ ★

His is one of Oakland Schools services to help awaken children's interest in science, nature, music and so on.

WHAT'S THAT? — Tony Morris of 29 Camley watches a battery experiment with rapt fascination.

THIS GOES HERE — "Hmmm, I wonder if this will work now," thinks Donna Jewell.

Letter Takes 25 Years to Be Delivered

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A letter mailed by a GI in Maryland nearly 26 years ago finally arrived at its destination this week.

But the sender, Carl Brown, has no hard feelings. "I think the Post Office Department generally does a better job than that," said Brown, who now lives in Atlanta.

★ ★ ★

His mother, Mrs. Grace Joyce, said today the letter came to her from Mrs. Molly Perschau of Claymont, Del., who said it was delivered to her address recently with some other mail for Mrs. Joyce.

Mrs. Joyce said she doesn't know why it went first to the Claymont address. "But where has it been all these years?" she asked.

'NY ON 26 CENTS'

Brown was an 18-year-old Army private stationed at Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground, when he mailed the letter March 30, 1943. Today he's a father of two sons and is assistant controller at an automotive plant in Atlanta.

In the letter, Brown described a weekend trip to New York, which cost him 26 cents "because everything is free to servicemen in New York."

"You surely couldn't do it for that today," said Brown in a telephone interview.

Batik Makers Aren't Worried

DJAKARTA (UPI) — Modern textile factories manufacture imitation batik in large quantities and sell it for low prices.

But the artisans who carefully draw by hand traditional batik patterns according to techniques 1,500 years old do not worry about cheap competition.

"People who care about batik know the difference," one of Java's 12,500 batik producers said. "They are willing to pay higher prices for the real thing."

But what batik makers do worry about is the availability and prices of the raw materials they use to make the gaily colored sarongs of Indonesia's equatorial islands.

IMPORT PROBLEM

Indonesia's batik industry must import cambric, a finely woven cotton fabric, and dyes from abroad. But foreign exchange is short in Indonesia, and this pinches the industry.

Batik makers currently are using about 3 million yards of cambrics every month to make 800,000 pieces of stamped batik and 400,000 pieces of the more costly hand-drawn batik.

★ ★ ★

Only about 2 to 3 per cent of Indonesia's batik is exported for sale in foreign countries.

Hand drawn batik sells for as much as $80 for one piece, enough for one dress. Stamped batik may be priced for less than $1 per piece.

In making hand-drawn batik, the artisan draws the pattern on cloth with molten wax poured through a funnel with a thin spout.

The cloth is dipped into boiling dyes to produce on the nonwaxed parts the distinctive and basic batik colors of brown and blue-black. The wax then is scraped away, leaving two-tone batik.

Artist's Paintings Glow With Conviction

CANON CITY, Colo. (UPI) — Charles G. Cannon, 43, insists painting is both his pride and his downfall.

It earned him the $150 top prize in a recent art show in Cape Coral, Fla. It also got him a 10-to-14-year sentence at the Colorado State Penitentiary.

"Some of my paintings were on checks to pay the grocery bill, but the checks ended me up where all the grocery bills already are paid," Cannon explains.

He learned this week his oil painting, "Freighters," which depicts a Denver & Rio Grande Railroad boxcar, has won top prize at the Cape Coral Art League show.

Cannan, a Denver art gallery curator until arrested for passing bad checks, said he was trying to express the concept of "old, worn and weathered wood that has traveled and been abused but is still holding up."

Cannon confesses to being "not really familiar with boxcars, although I happen to presently be in a place with men who are generally associated with boxcars."

★ ★ ★

Prison life has helped make Cannon what he is. Although a painter for 22 years, he turned professional only 10 years ago while an inmate at Leavenworth Federal penitentiary.

One of his works at the prison was a portrait of Jacqueline Onassis, which he says now hangs in the Kennedy Library in Boston.

Life behind prison bars gives Cannon plenty of extra time to work on his art. "Being where I am, I can't go out to watch movies or take a stroll through the park, but I can devote a lot of time to my painting," he said.

He doesn't spend all of his time painting though. He spends six hours each day working in the prison laundry, devoting his free time on weekends and holidays to painting.

★ ★ ★

Cannon, who has four more years to develop his work behind prison walls, said he would use the prize money from his Florida painting to buy more art supplies.

It was in prison he developed his concept of painting, Cannon says.

"It is an extremely different type of painting, but it is quite objective. This type of painting is an abstraction, but a mental abstraction. The subject matter takes up the whole canvas."

Cannon said his subjects "involve common things in American history that are passing from the scene." In addition to boxcars, he said there were "many other aspects of my childhood that we as Americans thought would never change, and some of them have vanished already."

The convict-artist, who hopes to "exist on my painting and not on negotiable securities" when he is released, said he was trying to encourage his fellow inmates to take up art.

"I've often thought that it might be possible to use my talents to bring out the talent in other men in the institution," Cannon said. "There are other artists here. It's just a matter of getting them together. It takes a lot of talking and persuasion."

Cannon said he has been "arguing with one man here who has phenomenal talent. I have to convince him to enter the spring art show."

Father Wins Suit on Son's College Costs

MIAMI (UPI) — Debt-ridden fathers of college boys, take note. A father has sued his son for college expenses, $19,000 worth, and won.

It apparently has nothing to do with politics, pot or poverty, but Orval Robertson of Miami, won his suit Wednesday in Circuit Court against his son, Dr. James A. Robertson.

★ ★ ★

The father filed suit for expenses he paid for his son in four years of college and in dental school, and won in a jury trial.

★ ★ ★

The son claimed that his father volunteered to put him through the University of Michigan and dental school in Virginia. But the father produced a letter from the son acknowledging the debt, with a promise to repay it at $100 a month.

Sexy Play's Opening Near; Ann Arbor Police to Attend

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Ann Arbor police chief says it's neither a warning nor a threat, but his men will attend a scheduled play at the University of Michigan Sunday in which advance billing reports scantily clad actors "kiss and fondle each other from head to toe."

"We made it clear that anything done or not done about this play before it is held is the university's decision," Police Chief Walter E. Krasny said Wednesday after a meeting with high-level university officers.

★ ★ ★

The play "Bacchae," is scheduled to be performed by a touring New York group called "Dionysus in '69."

Top city and county law enforcement officers and six U-M vice presidents attended the session.

★ ★ ★

At the meeting, a university faculty member lectured on the history of Greek plays. A female student, who once was a member of the acting company, said players walk through the aisles for audience participation, but do not force themselves on unwilling individuals. She said costumes will partly conceal the actors' bodies.

The session was called after Dan McCreath, president of the student-run University Activities Center (UAC), said he was warned by an Ann Arbor detective that officers may be held legally responsible if the play leads to charges of obscenity or indecent exposure.

EROTIC GROANS

A press release issued for the event, part of a Creative Arts Festival, said cast members appear in various stages of undress and "kiss and fondle each other from head to toe, utter erotic groans and often whisper words of love to unsuspecting girls in the audience."

It said "Topless women and casually unclothed men add to the atmosphere" and that a Greenwich Village garage is the scene of the contemporary interpretation of Euripides "Bacchae."

★ ★ ★

It also is scheduled to be performed Monday night.

The play opened at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis for a three-day run Wednesday. It was reported players would be clothed during former nude scenes.

DETROIT RUN

The play is scheduled to be performed in Detroit later in the week.

The names of the university professor or coed who spoke at the meeting Wednesday were not released.

★ ★ ★

Soul singer Aretha Franklin opens the festival Saturday. It runs through Feb. 8.

Harry Stuart Winer, festival chairman, said he hopes to make it the most exciting two weeks in the history of the university.

Dogs Taking a Bite Out of Taxpayers

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new federal budget as it now stands calls for a penny increase in first-class postal rates. Again.

WEST

Unless President Nixon revises the budget, or Congress decides otherwise, it will cost 7 cents to mail a letter in fiscal 1970. Which is more than most letters are worth.

★ ★ ★

The general public probably isn't aware of this, but one reason postal rates keep going up is because more and more mailmen are being bitten by dogs.

James H. Rademacher, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, recently reported that dog-bite casualties had risen 20 per cent in a two-year period.

10,000 BITTEN

More than 10,000 postmen were bitten in 1967, with 1,000 of the injuries being serious hospitalization or other medical treatment.

The thing about these figures that pains me is the fact that every time some pooch takes a hunk out of a postman, it nips the rest of us in the pocketbook.

★ ★ ★

"The Department of Labor estimates that every disabling injury in the federal service costs the taxpayers $545," Rademacher said.

On the basis of that estimate, dog bites are adding well over half a million dollars a year to the postal deficit. Which adds up to a lot of stamps.

OWNERS SUBSIDIZED

In effect, then, those of us who don't own dogs are subsidizing dog owners. A dog owner pays the same amount for stamps that I do. But my stamp bill may be going up in part because of his hound's teeth.

I resent this. Bitterly. And the National Safety Council has made me feel even more aggrieved.

★ ★ ★

The council recently compiled some safety tips for postment. Among other things it told them that "a dog is basically a coward and a sneak and is more apt to bite you when you aren't looking."

Moreover, dogs are not to be trusted, the council warned.

NEW CHALLENGES

"You may encounter a certain dog for days or weeks without incident — then one day, he decides to bite you."

"You must prepare yourself for a new challenge each day from every dog you meet as you go about your daily work," it said.

★ ★ ★

This probably explains why the postman keeps putting the wrong mail in my box. He has his mind on the canine challenge.

Rademacher has suggested a new law making it a federal offense to bite a postman. To which I would add another proposal.

I recommend that dog owners be required to pay 10 cents for stamps. For the rest of us, the rate would drop to a nickel.

Bridge Toll Cut Is Factor

U.P. Tourism on Rise

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP)—Michigan's Upper Peninsula is expanding and upgrading its tourist attractions and accommodations, with activity most pronounced at either end — Ironwood on the west and Sault Ste. Marie on the east.

Slashing of tolls on the Mackinac Bridge Jan. 1 resulted in a 10 per cent traffic gain in this year's first 15 days and tourism sponsors anticipate this percentage will gallop upwards before the year is out.

The one-way passenger car rate was cut from $3.75 to $1.50. Other fares similarly were reduced.

Ken Dorman, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Tourist Association at Iron Mountain, estimates 1968 tourists left $172 million to $178 million in the Upper Peninsula.

ONE-THIRD OF AMOUNT

Dorman estimates this is roughly one-third of the amount spent at retail in the 15 counties for goods and services.

Sault Ste. Marie has converted the Great Lakes freighter Valley Camp into a marine museum and hall of fame, and it also has started a "Shrine of the Missionaries," with three concrete towers soaring 210 feet already in place.

The city has built a 1.5-mile racetrack for snowmobiles, banked to handle speeds up to 100 miles an hour, and plans the nation's first 500-mile race for these vehicles Feb. 8.

It also is promoting the "Big Sea Water National Forest Recreation Area," a proposed $8.8-million project in the Hiawatha National Forest to be completed in the next 10 years over 64,000 acres along Whitefish Bay, 20 miles to the west.

CAMP SITES

This National Forest Service project, if Congress finally approves, would include 2,520 camp sites, complete with bath-houses, for tourists. Also planned there is a museum and summer art colony on Iroquois Point.

Development, meanwhile, is progressing outside Ironwood in the Black River Recreation Area of the Ottawa National Forest.

The Black River, which starts on the Michigan-Wisconsin border, drops 1,300 feet in the course of its 30 miles to Lake Superior. Spectacular views are provided by waterfalls in this rust-tinted river.

The major falls are Potawatomi, which overlooks already jutting over its foaming rapids; Sandstone; Conglomerate and Rainbow, all within a distance of three miles.

SHELTERED MARINA

Plans call for doubling the size of a sheltered marina at the river's mouth to accommodate 200 boats. Development of a 50- to 75-unit campground overlooking the harbor is under way as is the reconstruction of water and sewer systems and expansion of the parking area there.

★ ★ ★

Two of Michigan's swankier ski clubs are among the five which the Ironwood area boasts. These are Big Powderhorn Mountain and Indian Head, with the former already having resulted in development of an adjacent community of A-fame resort cottages.

The Gogebic Range Ski Corp. reports commitment of a $1-million ski flying hill on Copper Peak that will permit world-record leaps of 540 feet.

★ ★ ★

One of Ironwood's more recent residents is Hiawatha, a 52-foot high, molded fiberglass statue of the legendary Indian hero memorialized by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

LAKE SUPERIOR

From his hilltop pedestal, this Hiawatha as tall as a five-story building, easily can see the "shores of Gitchee Gumme, by the shining Big Sea Water"—known today as Lake Superior and the setting for Longfellow's poem.

Hiawatha wears deerskins and headdress.

The Gourmet Adventures of Jayson's

Salads in ring molds are being used as often as your coffee cups! They are that useful so pretty and appetizing; offer such variety in color and in flavors. They can be made in advance, with almost anything you have on hand and will look as expensive as all get out. The filled ring mold definitely puts your best food forward when serving time arrives. Of course, you can shape them in any mold. And what nicer way to serve luncheon portions than in individual ring molds?

The meals at JAYSON'S, 4195 Dixie Hwy. at Hatchery Rd., Drayton Plains, 673-7900, are a gourmet's delight. American food served in a friendly atmosphere. Cocktail hour 4-6 daily featuring our own chip-dip. J. C. Heard Trio nightly. Where dining pleasure and hospitality go hand in hand.

HELPFUL HINT: Parsley—that good old stand-by—can be frozen! First wash it, trim the stems, dry it in a towel and roll it up in foil; then put it in the freezer.

1 Girl + 2,200 Boys = Big Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — Three weeks ago, Alice DeRivera, 13, came home and told her parents she wanted to transfer from the high school she now attends to an all-boys school noted for its math department.

"I reminded her she had to have her parents' consent," said Alice's father, Joseph, a psychologist. "So we sat down and had about an hour's discussion. She convinced me."

★ ★ ★

Wednesday, Alice, backed by her parents, won the right to at least take the admission test for Stuyvesant High School. A court hearing will be held next month to determine whether she'll actually be allowed to enter the school.

★ ★ ★

Alice, who scored in the 99th percentile in a citywide math test, claims her present school —John Jay High in Brooklyn— "doesn't suit me intellectually."

'GOOD FOR THE BOYS'

She said she thought it would be good for the 2,200 boys at Stuyvesant to have a girl around—"It would make them more competitive," she said—and her father agreed.

"She has a lot of poise," DeRivera said in an interview, "and what we're all hoping is that it won't be long before there are other girls there."

★ ★ ★

Supreme Court Justice Irving L. Levey disagreed. "I think you're doing a great injustice to this child," he said, adding, "It would be very uncomfortable for her in an all-boys school."

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless, Levey set Feb. 26 for a hearing on the constitutional questions involved in a girl seeking to attend a boy's school. The board of education agreed to let Alice take a standardized entrance exam Thursday. The results will apply if the court ruling goes in Alice's favor.

ONE OF THE BOYS? — Alice DeRivera, 13, won the right in court Wednesday, to at least take the admission test for the all-male Stuyvesant High School, which is noted for its math department. Alice, who scored in the 99th percentile in a citywide math test, contends that Stuyvesant's 65-year-old all-male policy is unconstitutional because of sex discrimination.

Space Travel Quarantine Areas Asked

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Establishment of quarantine areas to prevent space travelers from bringing microbes back to earth —or transporting them to another planet—has been recommended by a University of Michigan botany professor.

The suggestion came from William Benninghoff, chairman of the panel on biological and medical sciences of the committee on polar research in the National Academy of Sciences.

Benninghoff, who recently returned from a month's visit to the Antarctic, said one purpose of the trip was to evaluate prospects for preserving sites in the Antarctic against contamination in the future.

He said these sites may some day be of great value as a quarantine station. Space vehicles returning from another planet could be held there for biological inspections, he said.

★ ★ ★

"We have to keep an open mind about finding extraterrestrial life in our solar system and exercise caution not to introduce them inadvertently on earth," Benninghoff explained.

Although he does not anticipate finding another society of "humans" in our solar system, the professor said he considers the presence of organisms no more elaborate than bacteria or self-duplicating macromolecules entirely possible.

'Handle With Care' Is the Rule

EAST LANSING (AP) — Too much love can kill your gerbil.

That's the word from Dr. Warren G. Hoag, a Michigan State University veterinarian.

In fact, Hoag says, too much love can also bring about the premature demise of your guinea pig, hamster or rabbit.

"People don't realize that this type of pet requires a balanced diet, freedom from excessive handling and a certain amount of protection from disease," said Hoag. "Poor diets and too much handling cause more illness among these pets than do actual diseases."

If you want to pet your pet, Hoag advises a dog or cat.

★ ★ ★

The smaller animals last, on the average, six months after they are brought into the home, Hoag said.

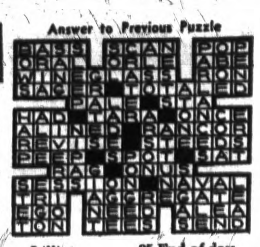
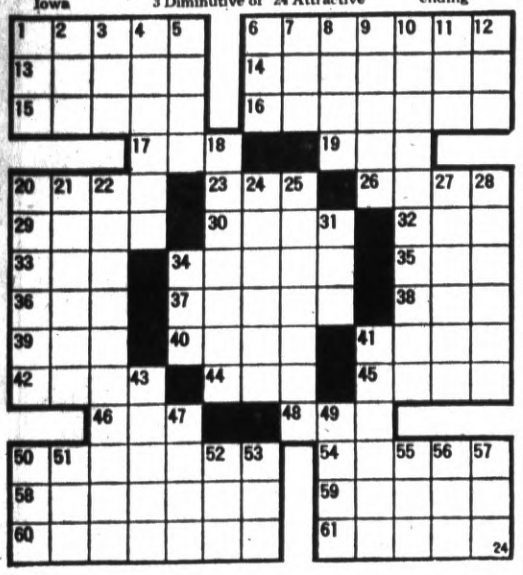
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Nixon Bandwagon Filling With Johnny-Come-Latelys

By EARL WILSON

WASHINGTON — It turns out now that everybody in the country voted for Nixon.

I bumped into about 30,000 people at six Inaugural balls — and all 30,000 bumped me right back — and they all swore they gave their life's blood for Nixon.

WILSON

This furious bandwagon-jumping is the first manifestation of the Nixon takeover. Nixon's shrewd aides know who's telling the truth.

Of course there are many who proved themselves. Art Linkletter (he m.c.'d the Ball at the Sheraton Park) has for some years advised the new President about what not to do on TV.

"I can finally wear the white tie and tails I bought for Nixon's Inaugural eight years ago" Art said.

Funny but serious Orson Bean (he m.c.'d at the Smithsonian ball) announced to Alan King on the Tonight show months ago that he was for Nixon. He subsequently stumped hard for him.

★ ★ ★

Orson was right up there with the Senators and Cabinet members at the swearing-in, close enough to hear one Senator muttering when Senator Dirksen called Earl Warren "Justice of the United States Supreme Court" instead of "Chief Justice of the United States."

Connie Francis, Bobby Vinton, Lee Bowman and Dale Robertson are part of the early birds for Nixon — and who else should be invited to the first lunch at the White House but gadabout Anita Louise and her husband Henry Berger of Beverly Hills?

★ ★ ★

The six balls were awash with Hollywoodland. Beautiful Jeanne Crain and her husband Paul Brinkman, long friends of the Nixons, were exuberant.

And there were others . . . Guy Lombardo, to whose music the young, unknown Nixon and his wife danced on VJ Day . . . he also revered Duke Ellington, and, as President, paused to recognize and pay tribute to him.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N. Y. . . .

Anna Moffo, who sang for the Nixons at Constitution Hall, called Secret Service men to investigate a suspicious-looking package she found in the ladies' room; turned out to be a box of scrap paper . . . Barbra Streisand was in such a rush to fly home from the Paris premiere of "Funny Girl" that she forgot $200 in purchases at Orly airport.

Frank Sinatra Jr. heads an entertaining show at the Rainbow Grill, with singer Lottie Jones and comic Paul Lennon . . . Pert, pixieish Arlene Fontanna debuted her new act at the Maisonette, and thanked the audience "for coming to my inauguration." Of her backless, low-cleavaged gown, she said, "I don't think it's finished yet."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The optimist proclaims the world we live in to be the best of all possible worlds. The pessimist fears this is true." — James Branch Cabell.

EARL'S PEARLS: Flip Wilson complains at the scarcity of taxis in N.Y.C. when it rains: "They're so rare that when I got one recently I had it stuffed and mounted."

Marty Ragaway tells of the airplane passenger who disliked the movie being shown — so he hijacked the plane and made the pilot fly to Radio City Music Hall . . . That's earl, brother.

S. Viet Rail Line---Idled by War---Comes Back to Life

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)—The railway station serving this city of 374,000 people was until recently a sorry stucco monument to a drawn-out war.

A hundred miles from the demilitarized zone and 370 miles from Saigon, it was once a stop-off point for trains running from Hanoi to the southern capital.

★ ★ ★

The war changed that, and two years ago, the last fitful service went off the line because of ambushes and mines. Its trains began to rust.

★ ★ ★

But now local children line the rail-yard fence once again. The stationmaster, living on a government retainer for two years, has put on a new uniform. Pham Van Luc, Da Nang's locomotive engineer wears a new uniform too.

★ ★ ★

Luc, 43, who has spent 24 years as a train driver, wasn't worried when he made the first run for two years along the 60-mile line between Da Nang and Hue.

★ ★ ★

He has, he says, seven medals from the French for getting his train through Communist ambushes; and besides, doing odd jobs for the military is nothing like getting pasengers from city to city.

★ ★ ★

"I had 50 passengers and a company of troops. I put the troops in the middle, the first and the last carriages and the passengers in the second from last. The engine cabin, I let no one inside," he said.

"I started from Hue. To be honest, the first line opening was yesterday. I had to get the engine and carriages down there . . . because there just weren't any trains. But this was the first real run, a passenger run."

PICK UP GIs

Luc said he picked up two American GIs in Phu Bai, now a military base and a stop-off point for the Da Nang-Hue diesel sent to the Vietnamese government in 1963 but till now used only once or twice.

★ ★ ★

"There were about eight Americans aboard in all. I don't know who the others were." he added.

★ ★ ★

Because there were no new tickets, the stationmaster pulled out the old ticket books, dusted them down and let anyone ride for the old price of about 40 cents rather than spoil the tickets. A bus ride costs four times that much amount.

NANCY PUSKAS

Some of the Stuff of Dreams Comes to Nancy Puskas

By JUNE ELERT

As the last ringing B-flat faded into silence a week ago Sunday, Nancy Puskas' eyes sought the adjudicator, Lorenzo Alvary. He called imperiously, "Come down here."

He asked, "Why do you sing the octave jump in full voice when it is marked pianissimo? Is it because you feel it that way, or can't you sing it softly?"

"Oh, uh, yes. Uh, of course, I can sing it softly — "

"Then do it. We are here to serve the composer."

Telling me about it, Nancy gave full play to the precise pronunciation, rolling "r's" and waving gestures of the volatile Hungarian basso, veteran of hundreds of performances at the Metropolitan Opera Company.

"That," she said, "was when I knew I had to put my money where my mouth was. I had always sung that note with a good firm tone.

"My accompanist backed up about four bars ahead of the phrase and I did it again. I knew it was good. I could see him nodding his head."

SCHOLARSHIP FINALIST

Thus, Nancy Puskas, 30 years old and the mother of two, won her way into the finals of the Grinnell Foundation Opera Scholarship competition against a formidable field of 25 rivals.

Long dreamed of, the reality began a few months ago when Nancy read that entries were open for this year's competition, and that the age limit for sopranos was 30. It would be her last chance.

* * *

In two-and-a-half months, she worked up a repertoire of five operatic arias, studied French and Italian phonetic pronunciation, and vindicated her faith in herself. She won the right to compete in the finals which will be held in the Detroit Institute of Arts, Monday, following the 1969 Opera Luncheon of the Detroit Grand Opera Association.

This victory also might have entitled her to compete in the preliminaries of the Metropolitan Opera auditions in Cleveland later this year, except for the fact that she is over the age limit. Sopranos must be 28 or under for that competition.

"Anyway," Nancy says, "I have done what I wanted to do. If I hadn't tried, I would have wondered forever if I could have had a career in opera."

Alvary characterized her voice as a lyrico-spinto, which is, Nancy says, a garbage-can term meaning a soprano who can sing anything.

"It's all so exciting. People have been calling, asking when I'm going to New York. But, gosh, I won't be going anywhere.

"My home, my family are here. I couldn't go dashing off in all directions, living out of a suitcase. I made my career choice when I got married.

"But I just had to find out if I could have done it . . . "

She went on, "I wouldn't mind becoming a great teacher and having a hand in producing some of the great singers of the next generation."

In the Puskas home on Edgewood Drive, Nancy takes care of husband, Fred, and children Angela, 8, and Alec, 4, gives vocal lessons, is soprano soloist at Central United Methodist Church and is a sterling member of the Tuesday Musicale.

* * *

"It's a wonderful feeling, just the same. I haven't slept much. I keep reliving every second of it, and when I do go to sleep, I dream about it."

Nancy plans to work hard for the next 10 years on opera repertory. By that time, she says, "My children will be well on their way through school, and I may still have a chance to sing a little opera here and there."

Nancy will be guest soloist for the spring concert of the choirs of Kimball High School in Royal Oak, where her husband is a teacher.

State Nurserymen to Hear Address by Mrs. Milliken

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's new first lady, Mrs. William Milliken, will be a featured speaker Feb. 13 at the Michigan Association of Nurserymen convention at Grand Rapids.

Why Mrs. Milliken?

She's been a student at Michigan State University's School of Landscape Architecture.

Mrs. Milliken will tell convention delegates of "a student's approach to landscape design of a small home."

* * *

Also on the speakers' roster for the three-day convention are: Dr. H. John Carew, chairman of the MSU Department of Horticulture; William H. Haight, director of community relations for the Michigan Retailers Association; Robert F. Lederer, executive vice president of the American Association of Nurserymen; Carl T. Johnson, Michigan Natural Resources Commissioner and several others.

Separated Twins OK

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Siamese twins successfully separated by physicians at Mobile General Hospital were reported in satisfactory condition.

The twin boys were born at the hospital Jan. 6 to a 16-year-old Mobile girl. The infants were separated Monday.

The twins were joined from the lower portion of the chest to the umbilicus. They had a common liver.

Name of the mother was withheld by hospital officials.

Shrewd Little Lady Takes All She Could Cart Away

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: At age 81, after having been a widower for many years, Dad married a shrewd little 73-year-old lady. She had dollar signs in her eyes when she married him.

After four months, Dad left her, saying, "Now I don't have to die to know what hell is like."

The problem: When Dad walked out on this lady, he said, "I am sick of you. Take what you want!" (The house and everything in it was Dad's.)

Two days later when we went to the house, we nearly fainted. The place had been stripped. She had taken everything, including carpeting, draperies, fixtures, stove, refrigerator, and she even uprooted some of the plants in the garden!

Now, Abby, you know Dad was not of sound mind when he told her to take what she wanted. What should we do? Don't suggest a lawyer. Dad IS a lawyer.

TWO DAUGHTERS

DEAR DAUGHTERS: Whether Dad was of "sound mind" or not when he told the grasping little chisler to "take what you want," she took him literally. Dad surely knows that doctors fall ill, consult other doctors, and lawyers with legal problems, consult other lawyers, so he should see a lawyer. But he'd better look for a furnished apartment in the meantime.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I know that when children are young, they all "experiment" a little, but what do you think of four and five-year-olds playing "doctor"?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: It's all right as long as they don't "operate."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 15 years and my biggest complaint is the same one I've had ever since I was a bride.

My husband "surprises" me with unexpected dinner guests. He doesn't even call to give me a few minutes notice, he just walks in with company at mealtime, and says, "Don't go to any extra trouble. Honey, they'll eat whatever we have." I could just wring his neck!

Sometimes I have skimpy leftovers and there is only enough for our family.

Naturally I'm stuck, and have to be a good scout, but I wish I could cure him of his stupid thoughtlessness.

COMPANY FOR SUPPER

* * *

DEAR COMPANY: If your husband has been "surprising" you with "unexpected" company for 15 years, it's time you expected it. Quit being a "good scout" and start being a "Girl Scout." (Be Prepared.)

PAUF Women's Unit Reelects Mrs. Wright to Its Top Post

Mrs. William Wright was reelected president of the Women's Division, Pontiac Area United Fund, at a meeting held Wednesday.

Also serving for another year will be Mesdames: Vincent Bronsing, vice president; James Cowen, recording secretary, and Glenn Griffin, corresponding secretary.

AWARDS TEA

Preliminary plans and dates were discussed for the spring awards tea, another health fair in the fall, the campaign kick-off ball (pending approval of the 1969 campaign chairman) and other public service programs.

Mrs. Adrian C. Ish was named chairman of the awards tea which is planned for May 15 at the Old Mill.

Mrs. Maxwell Shadley and Mrs. William Emerson accepted cochairmanships of a preliminary committee for the health fair.

Mrs. Bronsing will head up a fashion show for the handicapped, tentatively scheduled for July.

Mrs. Richard Veazey and Mrs. Griffin will coordinate the kick-off ball.

Mrs. Thomas Follis will head up the publicity for various Women's Division functions this year.

Announcement of Past Vows Are Sent Now

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of the Emily Post Institute

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Mrs. William D. Gallant of Union Lake, Mich.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: A year ago our daughter married her young man before he left for his overseas tour. They didn't tell anyone other than both families, because college regulations are such that married women cannot stay in the dormitories.

By keeping their marriage secret, she was able to stay on and finish the year. In October our daughter went down to Texas to be with his folks, and because of her excellent job, they do not plan a trip up north.

* * *

In the meantime, we still have not announced their marriage. She has mentioned that they would like to have a child when he gets back, and for those who do not know she is married, it could be quite a shock.

Since a whole year has elapsed, we are all wondering how to announce this marriage now, without its appearing to be a bid for wedding gifts. — Mrs. Gallant

* * *

Dear Mrs. Gallant: Don't worry too much about what people will think — it will soon be evident that everything is "above board" in any case. Send out announcements immediately. This will let everyone you care about know of the marriage, and if a child comes sometime next year there can be no questions asked.

* * *

Announcements carry no obligation to send a gift, but those who are close to, or are fond of, your daughter, will undoubtedly wish to. There is no reason they should not, or that your daughter should not happily accept, and enjoy presents from good friends.

Local Couples at Inauguration Ceremony, Ball

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Several Birmingham-Bloomfield couples trekked to Washington, D.C. for the inaugural and the attendant festivities.

One fortunate pair, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Slater of Provincetown Road, Pontiac Township, was spared the scramble for accommodations in the crowded city. They stayed with friends — Mr. and Mrs. Dale Shrag of Maryland, who until a year and a half ago were residents of Bloomfield Orchards.

* * *

Jack, by the way, is the executive director of the Southeastern Michigan United Republican Fund.

"The inaugural ceremony itself was outstanding — most impressive," said Mrs. Finley Milne of Bloomfield Hills. But, she added, "I can't say the ball was a ball. It was more of a packed-in mess."

The ball in question, which she and Mr. Milne attended, was at the Smithsonian Museum of History and Technology. It bore out, with a vengeance, the Nixon administration's theme: Bring Us Together.

With the Milnes were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook of Bloomfield Hills.

FOURSOME

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Dodge of Birmingham and John and Sue Gibbs of Troy made the trip as a foursome. John is GOP chairman in the 18th. His wife was honored with an invitation to the Distinguished Ladies Luncheon held Sunday at the National Gallery of Art.

* * *

All four attended the ball at the Smithsonian, even managing a spin or two around the dance floor. Sue was no doubt a standout in a gown of orange chiffon.

Booklet Describes Estate Tax Rules

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

My husband passed away a year ago and the estate will soon be processed. I know the first $60,000 is exempt and that after it's deducted, one half of the remainder is taxable. Now, how much tax, percentage wise, is placed on an estate of, say, $100,000?

Does the government issue any printed matter that covers the many questions pertaining to the settling of an estate? If so, where may I obtain it?

B.B., Chicago

Dear B.B.:

The table for computing Gross Estate Tax shows that a progressively graduated rate is applied as the amount involved increases. For example:

An estate of $50,000 has a tax liability of $7,000, or 14 per cent taxation. But any excess over that amount up to $60,000 is taxed at 25 per cent. A $100,000 estate has a tax liability of $20,700, or 20.7 per cent. Any excess over that amount up to $250,000 is taxed at the rate of 30 percent.

Allowable credits against the estate tax that may or may not apply in your case include: Credit for State Death Taxes; Credit for Gift Tax; Credit for Tax on Prior Transfers of property; and Credit for Foreign Death Taxes.

The government does lend a hand in clarifying these and other important provisions of the laws. You can send for the booklet "A Guide to Federal Estate and Gift Taxation," price 25 cents. Address your request to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Dear Mary Feeley:

I gave $2,500 to my daughter as a gift. Do I deduct this from my income tax on Form 1040? If so, where do I show it?

I.J.C., Midwest

Dear I.J.C.:

You can't deduct this gift on your income tax return. Nor need you report it, since the sum is less than $3,000. Only a gift of more than $3,000 must be reported — on a separate gift tax form, which must be filed by April 15th following the close of the calendar year in which the gift was made. It doesn't matter whether an actual gift tax is due or not.

★ ★ ★

The idea is that gifts can reduce the taxes on the donor's estate at his death, since gift taxes are lower — as of now, anyway — than estate taxes. But giving away money doesn't pad the pocket of the giver himself.

You might also find the government booklet mentioned above of help if you're planning a continuing gift program.

★ ★ ★

Dear Miss Feeley:

I gave some used bedroom furniture to a family who needed it — having heard of this family through a charitable organization.

I assumed I could deduct it on my income tax. But now a friend tells me I can't — that I should have given it to the organization instead, and told them to give it to this family. That way I could have deducted it as a charitable contribution.

Is she right?

Mrs. A.L., San Jose, Calif.

Dear Mrs. L.:

No, that wouldn't have worked either, tax-wise. IRS says that while a gift to a recognized charitable organization is deductible, it ceases to be deductible if you specify that a certain individual or individuals are to benefit by your gift.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM R. EWALD

Ewalds Celebrate 50 Years

To mark the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary and his 80th birthday, the William R. Ewalds will be honor guests at a small family dinner on Saturday, the anniversary date. "W.R." as he is called, has a birthday on Sunday.

Married Jan. 25 in Detroit, the couple, who lives in Franklin, has been Birmingham area residents for 38 years.

Their children are Mrs. Robert K. Vietor of Birmingham and William R. Ewald Jr. of Washington D.C. They have three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

MRS. LARRY RAGSDALE

Three Weddings Are Performed

Newlyweds, the Larry D. Ragsdales (nee Carol Jo Godoshian) are making their home in Ann Arbor where she is studying at the University of Michigan.

The daughter of the Paul A. Godoshians of Draper Street and the son of the Floyd C. Ragsdales of South Edith Street were wed recently in All Saints Episcopal Church.

Janice Godoshian and Robert Crane were honor attendants with the Gregory Oslers, and Dikran Ornekian assisting.

The newlyweds were feted with a reception at the Elks Lodge.

Mastrangel-Karnes

St. Owens Catholic Church, Franklin, was the recent setting for the wedding of Deborah Lorraine Karnes and Guy Frederick Mastrangel Jr.

For the evening ceremony, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Karnes of Bloomfield Hills wore an Empire gown of Chantilly lace. Her bouquet was comprised of white carnations and roses.

Glenda Stevens and Mark Mastrangel were honor attendants with Earl Trost of Southfield and Lawrence Collins as ushers.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception in the Southfield home of the bridegroom's parents, the senior Mr. and Mrs. Guy F. Mastrangel.

The couple is honeymooning in Freeland.

Gillespie-McCurry

Lance Cpl. David Robert Gillespie, USMC and his bride, the former Mrs. Sharon Ann McCurry, were feted recently in the parlors of Lutheran Church of the Ascension following their marriage.

The daughter of the William T. Johansons of East Beverly Avenue and the son of the Walter Gillespies of Augusta Street were attended by Mrs. James Braswell, sister of the bride, and Dennis Gillespie, the bridegroom's brother.

James Brasdell and Ronald Warren ushered.

The newlyweds are making their home in Jacksonville, N.C. where he is stationed.

Catholic League Elects Officers

Mrs. Joseph Pollina was elected to lead the League of Catholic Women in the role of president for the coming year, at a recent meeting in Jason's.

Assisting her will be Mesdames: W. J. Hinds, Stanley Vitasinsky and Emma Pellican as vice presidents; Leon Hubbard and Nellie Frye, treasurer and assistant; Joseph Emmerth and Rose Griffin secretaries.

Others named to office are Mesdames Fred Gottschalk and Albert Schoeneman.

Pink for Rachel

Twenty-one guests attended a recent baby shower at the Ward's Point home of the Walter E. Terrys. Hostesses for the occasion which honored Mrs. David Stevens of Union Lake were Mrs. John Polmear and her daughter, Margaret.

Grandparents of young Rachel, born Dec. 28, are the Walter Terrys and Mr. and Mrs. George Stevens, of Green Lake.

Lunch box sandwiches will not become soggy if each slice of bread is covered with a thin film of butter before applying the filling. Be sure that the butter is spread evenly and out to all edges of the slice of bread.

Sewing Class

The Bishop Method of sculptured double knits workshops reported in Wednesday's Pontiac Press will take place at 9:45 a.m. until noon on (Jan. 25 and Feb. 1) in Consumers Power auditorium on West Lawrence Street. Both sessions are open to the public.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean G. Beier of Pine Street, Bloomfield Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Katherine, to Stephen Randall Biggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Biggs of St. Louis, Mo. The bride-elect and her fiance are seniors at Denison University, Granville, Ohio. They are affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Phi Delta Theta fraternity. A June 14 wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Quinn of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Ruth, to Clifford John Cox II of Ann Arbor. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford J. Cox of Armada. The bride-elect is working on her master's degree at the University of Michigan, where her fiance is a student in the School of Medicine. A June 21 ceremony is planned.

'Great Decisions' Program Slated

Baffled by the mounting complexities of U.S. foreign policy? Oakland College Community Services Division and Baldwin Public Library remind area residents that Russell Barnes, former foreign affairs analyst of the Detroit News, will lead the 1969 Great Decisions program, starting Feb. 3 at 1 p.m. at Baldwin Library, Birmingham.

Again this year OCC and Baldwin Library are cosponsoring the series. The weekly two-hour afternoon programs will continue through April 7.

Among problems to be covered at the various meetings will be: Canada under Trudeau; Western Europe and the U.S.; Middle East Tinderbox; Czechoslovakia, Russia and Eastern Europe; and Dissent, Democracy and Foreign Policy.

★ ★ ★

To give participants background for each meeting, kits will be distributed containing background material prepared by the Foreign Policy Association, national nonpartisan organization which annually makes these programs available in cities throughout the country.

Those interested in attending are invited to register now by calling Oakland Community College or the Baldwin Public Library.

Stoltmans Make Home in Georgia

Family and friends will gather at the Embarcadero Drive home of the Lionel Barils for a reception Saturday honoring newlyweds, the Joseph Stoltmans, nee Lorraine N. Baril. The affair begins at 6:30 p.m.

The couple, who were married in Chicago, Ill., will depart for Athens, Ga., following the family visit, to make their home.

College Guarantee for Qualified

'Civilian GI Bill' Proposal Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal for a "civilian GI Bill" to enable needy students to attend college will be introduced in the 91st Congress.

Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., said he would draft the new legislation, which would implement a report by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education.

"Any qualified student ought to have the chance for a higher education, including master's and doctor's degrees if he decides to pursue them," Reid said in an interview.

The report, released last Dec. 12, contains 22 recommendations, including a massive program of direct grants to needy students, with federal matching grants, student loans, work-study programs and doctoral fellowships. Extensive aid for medical training also is included.

CHANCES NIL

Although the report is viewed favorably by most congressmen, the chances of formal enactment this year are almost nonexistent.

In the Senate, associates of Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., new chairman of the Senate Education Committee, say that at present they would view Reid's bill as something of a catalyst to stimulate discussion leading to new legislation some time in the future, but not necessarily this year.

★ ★ ★

And a key member of the House subcommittee on education, Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., said, "I doubt if we're going to do anything about higher education this year."

In an interview before he took office, Robert Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, said he had talked about it with President Nixon, "but not in any depth."

★ ★ ★

He said some of the report may be forged into administration proposals. "I'm generally in favor of the emphasis on medical and dental schools," Finch said, although he added, "Probably the areas of real concern are for elementary and secondary schools."

★ ★ ★

Reid himself said, "I realize that the effort at the elementary level has to be improved if we are going to maximize the opportunity at the upper levels of higher education. Still, I hope the education and labor committee will act soon on higher education."

The Carnegie proposal has received generally enthusiastic support in academic circles.

Dr. Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California and chairman of the Carnegie Commission, said, "The predominant reaction has been that this program should be near the top of the agenda for the new Congress."

★ ★ ★

One dissenting note to the Carnegie proposal came from Russell I. Thackery, executive director of the National Association of Land Grant Colleges and State Universities.

Thackery contends tht direct grants to students will tend to drive tuition fees upward, while institutional grants would enable colleges and universities to improve facilities and to expand to handle a greater inflow of students.

★ ★ ★

2 Boat Clubs Fight Detroit End-Bias Act

From Our News Wires

DETROIT — The exclusive Detroit Boat Club and Detroit Yacht Club, ordered by the city to racially integrate their membership or face eviction from a city park, have hired attonevs and apparently will fight the action.

The two clubs, which have no Negroes among their 3,500 members, occupv buildings and an inlet on Belle Isle, a park in the Detroit River, for which they pay only $1 per year and an estimated $35,000 per year in taxes.

★ ★ ★

"For well over three-quarters of a century each of our clubs has attempted to conduct its affairs in a lawful, respectable and harmonious manner," the two clubs said in a joint statement yesterday. "We regret certain interests in the city now appear to think otherwise."

★ ★ ★

The Parks and Recreation Commission, which has jurisdiction over Belle Isle, has given the two clubs until March 28 to comply with the integration order. Otherwise, "steps to terminate the clubs' leases will follow."

SOUGHT FOR YEARS

State Rep. James Del Rio, a Negro Detroit Democrat, has sought for years to force the club's to allow Negroes to join and expressed satisfaction over the ruling.

Meanwhile the city attorney who made the ruling says he hopes the clubs can find Negro applicants.

★ ★ ★

If they don't, City Attornev John R. McKinlay's two sons will find themselves in drydock. Both John and Arthur McKinlay are members of the Detroit Boat Club.

★ ★ ★

"We're no in conflict," said the attorney of his sons and himself. "They and many members of the clubs would be glad to comply if someone helps them find prospective Negro members."

Doctor O.K's This Hemorrhoid Treatment For N.J. Couple's Son

Treatment Shrinks Piles, Relieves Pain In Most Cases

Wharton, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jeffers report: "Our son suffered from hemorrhoids. I asked the doctor about Preparation H and he gave us the O.K. Our son is now fine, thanks to Preparation H."

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases—Preparation H® actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced.

There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

Pontiac Man Robbed After Leaving Bar

Two men reportedly followed a Pontiac man from a tavern early this morning, beat him to the ground, pulled a gun and stole his wallet containing $129.

Daniel Baxter, 35, of 24 Cross told police he played pool at the Stadium Inn, 352 Oakland, with one of the assailants he didn't know.

★ ★ ★

Baxter said he left the tavern on foot and was attacked by the pair who pulled up in a car on West Howard between Baldwin and Johnson at about 2:15 a.m.

After the attack, the holdup men then jumped back in the car and sped off, according to Baxter.

★ ★ ★

He described the men as both white, one about 24 years old, 5 feet 5 and 150 pounds and the other about 30 years old, 5 feet 11 and 140 pounds.

Group Opposes Parochiaid Bill

Petitions Are Aimed at Milliken, Senators

Petitions opposing a bill to be introduced in the State Legislature to provide state aid to non-public schools are being circulated in Pontiac and Waterford Township by Citizens Against Parochiaid (CAP).

Mrs. Joseph Szeremet, head of the recently organized group, said the petitions will be sent to Gov. William Milliken and various state senators when enough signatures are collected. The group did not set a goal for the number of signatures.

The petition reads: "We, the undersigned, wish it to be known that we are opposed to the parochiaid bill to be considered by the Michigan Legislature. Further, we are opposed to any state financial aid to nonpublic schools."

Mrs. Szeremet listed among the group's reasons for the petitions that the church and state should be separate, that the interest of the general public will not be served and that aid to private schools will result in weakening of public schools.

'IN SAD SHAPE'

Public schools are in sad financial shape and should get the money first, Mrs. Szeremet said. Giving aid to private schools is taxation without representation, she said.

CAP is attempting to get a resolution against parochiaid presented to the Democratic convention in Detroit Feb. 1 and 2.

★ ★ ★

The group is contacting all area PTA groups for signatures and help in circulating the petitions.

Petitions may be obtained by writing CAP, P.O. Box 31, Orchard Lake, Mich. 48033.

Open-Housing Vote Is Sought

GROSSE POINTE FARMS (AP) — Officials of the Grosse Pointe Farms Human Relations Council say the group will launch a petition drive Saturday to place an open-housing ordinance proposal on the April 7 ballot in the city, affluent, virtually all-white suburb of Detroit.

For Area Hero

Widow Gets Medals

Several medals and citations were accepted posthumously by a wife of a Pontiac area resident honored for heroic achievements in connection with Naval Seabee construction operations in Vietnam.

Mrs. Linda Peek of 1125 Collier, Pontiac Township, widow of Builder Third Class John F. Peek, was presented the National Defense Service Medal, the Purple Heart, the Navy Commendation Medal, the Vietnam Service Medal and the Vietnam Campaign Medal in ceremonies Wednesday at the Pontiac Naval Reserve Training Center.

★ ★ ★

Peek was killed near Phu Loc, Vietnam, last spring when his unit came under heavy enemy mortar and recoilless-rifle attack. The Navy said Peek continued to return fire until his position received two direct hits from enemy shells. He was credited with repelling an attack that would have been much more severe had he abandoned his position.

Cmdr. D. W. Kuechle, commanding officer of the Naval Reserve Surface Division, Pontiac, presented the medals and citations to Mrs. Peek. Also attending the ceremony were the three Peek children, Laurie, 6; Randy, 4, and Rickey, 3.

Hickel Confirmation Is Victory for Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has easily won its first congressional test, gaining confirmation of Walter J. Hickel as secretary of interior over the opposition of nearly all the Senate Democratic leadership.

But indications were Democrats in Congress will be watching the Alaska governor's every move after he is sworn in at the White House ceremonies today.

★ ★ ★

"Mr. Hickel is on notice from both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue," said Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield after Hickel was confirmed Thursday by a vote of 73 to 16.

"It will probably mean he will be a very good secretary of the interior," Mansfield added.

Mansfield, paired against confirmation, said the vote has no significance for the future and "We're very hopeful relations will be good."

Both Michigan senators — Democrat Philip Hart and Republican Robert Griffin—voted in favor of the confirmation.

Hickel, whose views on conservation and water pollution had stirred a storm of controversy, was the last of Nixon's 12 Cabinet appointees to be approved. The others were sworn in Wednesday.

Also confirmed Thursday was multimillionaire California industrialist David R. Packard as deputy secretary of defense.

The vote was 82 to 1. Tennessee Democrat Albert Gore, declaring the nomination constitutes "a conflict of interest as plain as the nose on your face," cast the single "nay."

All 16 dissenting votes on the Hickel nomination were cast by Democrats. All Republicans either voted for the Alaska governor or stated support of him.

The dissenters included such luminaries as Edward M. Kennedy, the party whip; Fred R. Harris, the chairman of the National Democratic Committee; and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and Eugene J. McCarthy, possible 1972 presidential candidates.

Several lesser appointees won quick approval, but the Senate Armed Services Committee put off action until next week on the nominations of John H. Chafee as secretary of the Navy and Dr. Robert C. Seamans Jr. as secretary of the Air Force.

Its ranking Republican, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, accused the Nixon administration of "a serious error" in not asking the Senate to reconfirm Stanley R. Resor, who is remaining as secretary of the Army.

Girl at Mason School Wins Jaycee Award

An eighth grader at Mason Junior High School in Waterford Township has been named the winner of the Waterford Jaycees Americanism Essay contest.

She is Candy Schatzley, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Schatzley, 5955 Rowley. Her essay has been sent to the state Jaycees for judging in competition with other local chapter winners.

★ ★ ★

For her effort, Candy will receive a dictionary and plaque engraved with her name.

Expert to Address Mental Illness Seminar at PSH

Dr. Leroy Augenstein of Michigan State University's biophysics department will address a statewide seminar on mental illness and retardation at Pontiac State Hospital's Fairlawn Center tomorrow.

The all-day conference is sponsored by the Pontiac area Jaycees and other Jaycee chapters in District 18.

★ ★ ★

Other speakers include Bruce Ambrose of the Michigan Society for Mental Health and James Meyers, an assistant national director of mental health for the United States Jaycees.

Volunteer hospital work of the Pontiac area Jaycees and Jaycettes will be explained.

Waterford Curbs on Outdoor Signs Take Effect Soon

New regulations on outdoor signs placed in Waterford Township will become effective Tuesday, according to Township Clerk Arthur J. Salley.

More stringent retrictions on the use and size of signs were approved Monday by the Township Board in amending several provisions of the zoning ordinance.

The amendments set limits on the time temporary signs can be left in a location and distances they can be erected from a road.

A story in The Pontiac Press Tuesday incorrectly stated that the amendments had not been finalized, and that a public hearing was still to be held.

Extra Expects Star Treatment

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Even movie extras are entitled to the luxuries of Hollywood.

A Denver woman had only one question Thursday when she called for a part as an extra in a movie filming on location here: "When will the studio car pick me up?"

Fire Hits Tavern

A grease fire in the kitchen at the Sport-O-Rama Tavern, 856 Oakland, last night did about $3,000 damage, according to the Pontiac Fire Department.

Firemen fought the blaze for about one hour and said $1,500 damage was done to the kitchen area and $1,500 to contents.

Long Illness Claims Wife of 'Salt' Ford

GROSSE POINTE (AP) — Mrs. Emory Moran Ford, wife of the director and former president of Wyandotte Chemicals Corp., died Wednesday after a long illness. She was 57.

The former Laura Salisbury Evans married E.M. Ford in 1933 and promptly took her place in Detroit and Grosse Pointe society as a newcomer to the "salt" Ford family.

★ ★ ★

The family, of no relation to the Fords of automobile fame, is involved in such enterprises as Libby-Owens-Ford Glass Co. as well as Wyandotte Chemicals.

Mrs. Ford served as a member of the Planned Parenthood League, was active in the Detroit Zoological Society and was a member of the board of trustees of Leader Dogs for the Blind of Rochester.

Although she shunned publicity, friends described her as outgoing and friendly.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, a daughter and a sister.

The funeral was set for Saturday at Christ Church in Gross Pointe.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

What would you bid with the South hand after East opens the bidding with a diamond?

We are pretty sure most South players in the continent-wide Charity Game decided to gamble with a four-spade call. We approve heartily of this bid. South can't tell what is going to show up in dummy but most of the time there will be enough help so that there will be a good play for the game.

South is mightily disappointed when he sees the dummy and will wish that he had restrained his impulses. Then if he plays the hand in workmanlike fashion the gods of chance will come to his aid and he will make his contract.

It doesn't require great genius. South takes his ace of diamonds and starts trumps and drops the queen and jack so that there are no-trump losers. He runs off a couple more trumps just to see if anyone will discard a club but no one is going to oblige.

★ ★ ★

Then he has to lead a club. He plays his deuce and covers West's three spot with dummy's six or seven.

East is in with the nine and probably leads a diamond. Not that it matters as long as he doesn't underlead his heart ace.

South ruffs and plays a second club. West plays the jack or queen and it is up to South to make the winning play. With no adverse bidding South would figure to go wrong but South has heard East open the bidding.

★ ★ ★

East's play of the king of diamonds at trick one sort of marked West with the queen. East almost surely needs the ace of clubs for his opening bid. Therefore the correct play is a second low club from dummy and it is well rewarded. East has to play his ace!

You, South, hold:
♠AQ6 ♥KJ7 ♦A104 ♣KQ104
What do you do now?

A—Pass. Your partner has guaranteed all the aces but he is obviously afraid of a diamond loser. If your queen of spades were the diamond queen you should bid the grand slam. But it is not. You pass.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding four hearts over three no-trump, your partner bids four no-trump. What do you do now?

Trading Is Active

Stock Market Rally Blunted

NEW YORK (AP) — A continuing stock market rally was blunted early this afternoon, although gains still held a good margin over losses. Trading was active.

Advances outnumbered declines by about 170 issues on the New York Stock Exchange, slicing an early advantage of about 250 issues for the upside.

★ ★ ★

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .13 at 940.33.

At the start, the Dow industrials were ahead more than a point.

MAINLY TECHNICAL

Analysts saw the action as mainly technical. The rally of Wednesday and Thursday was a normal type of rebound which seemed to be meeting some preweekend profit taking. A second straight decline in new factory orders and concern over rising invetnories of new cars were among other factors.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon held a narrow gain of .3 at 357.4, with industrials up .9, rails unchanged, and utilities up .1.

Both American Smelting and Pennzoil advanced more than a point, even as Pennzoil's bid for a take-over of ASR remained a matter of contention.

Armour and General Host dropped fractionally. Armour filed suit against Pennzoil for an injunction against Pennzoil's tender offer.

Flint Central Holding Top Spot

No Help Yet for Chiefs in Stopping SVC Leaders

Pontiac Central's Chiefs almost found that help they've been looking for Wednesday night in their bid to catch Flint Central's Indians in the Saginaw Valley Conference race.

The assistance the Chiefs are in need of is someone to kayo the Indians, who are breezing along with a 6-0 record in league play. The Chiefs are running second at 6-1.

Flint Northern gave the Indians a battle Wednesday before some 2,800 fans at the Flint IMA before bowing, 71-66.

★ ★ ★

Can anyone beat Flint Central? "Sure they can," says Pontiac Central coach Ralph Grubb, not at all dismayed by the failure of Flint Northern to turn the trick. "Midland could on a good night. They (Indians) have to play at Flint Northern later and there's Arthur Hill."

Unless one of those three sidetracks the Flint Central quintet, Pontiac Central will likely finish second. The Chiefs lost to the Indians earlier in the season and that was their only date this campaign.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Central turns to a nonleague foe this evening, while Flint Central has a relatively easy assignment against Bay City Handy.

The Chiefs visit Bloomfield Hills Lahser (4-3), a team they whipped back in November in the season opener, 75-41. Lahser has improved since that time, but then, too, so have the Chiefs so this one figures to be little different.

★ ★ ★

Central's trio of Monte Herring, Jerry Ratliff and Campy Russell are averaging more than 15 points a game and they've given PCH control of the rebounding phase of the game.

Lahser's big gun is 6-4 Bill West, who is averaging 15.1 points a game in seven outings.

In other SVC games, Flint Southwestern is at Saginaw, Arthur Hill is at Midland and Bay City Central is at Flint Northern.

Pontiac Northern will be trying to shake off the effects of that setback Tuesday against Flint Northwestern in a home encounter this evening with Southfield Lathrup.

Lathrup heads into the game winless in eight starts so PNH should have an easy evening recording its fifth Inter-Lakes League decision.

★ ★ ★

The big game in the I-L is slated for Waterford where the Skippers will battle visiting Livonia Stevenson for the No. 2 spot in the league race. Both are 3-1.

In the other I-L game, Walled Lake (1-3) has a date at Farmington (1-3).

ATTACK THWARTED—Detroit Red Wings' goalie Terry Sawchuk (on ice) uses his body and stick to ward off a shot by rushing Boston Bruins in the first period of their game last night at the Olympia. Detroit defenseman Kent Douglas (5) helps Sawchuk against the rush by Ken Hodge, after the rebound, while Phil Esposito (7) and Dallas Smith (20) turn after the shot. The game ended in a 2-2 tie.

Red Wings Battle Bruins to 2-2 Deadlock

High Scoring Lines Finish on Even Terms

DETROIT (AP)—The National Hockey League's two highest scoring lines met headon Thursday night in a confrontation that settled nothing.

The Detroit Red Wings got first and third period goals from Frank Mahovlich but Ken Hodge sandwiched a pair of his own in the second period as the Wings battled the first place Boston Bruins to a 2-2 tie.

★ ★ ★

Mahovlich's goals were his 28th and 29th and his combination with Gordie Howe and Alex Delvecchio now has scored 152 points. Hodge's tallies were his 22nd and 23rd; he and teammates Phil Esposito and Ron Murphy have an identical 152 points.

"It was probably the best game in this rink in quite a while," said Wings' coach Bill Gadsby. "I thought we should have won, but if we keep playing like that we'll win our share."

ANOTHER DEADLOCK

Bernie Parent of Philadelphia, the only goalie to play a full period of shutout hockey in the All-Star Game, kicked out 36 shots and led Philadelphia to a 2-2 standoff with Chicago.

Claude Larose, who scored the West Division's tying goal in the final three minutes of the All-Star Game, tallied Minnesota's first in a 3-1 victory over Pittsburgh.

★ ★ ★

In other Thursday night action, New York dropped Los Angeles 3-1, Oakland stunned Montreal 5-3 and Toronto shaded St. Louis 3-2.

It was a hard-hitting game but Detroit took the initiative most of the time and pelted Bruin second-string goalie Ed Johnston with 38 shots. But Johnston brilliantly thwarted Red Wing power plays.

THWARTED BREAKAWAYS

Terry Sawchuk, who suffered a broken finger earlier in the season, started his first game since Nov. 16 and had saves against Esposito and Ed Westfall on breakaways.

"After a two-month layoff you don't know how he'll do, but you've got to get him in action," said Gadsby.

★ ★ ★

The Bruins, unbeaten in 12 games, zoomed ipto a five-point lead over Montreal in the East Division. Detroit, which has lost only one of the last 10, is locked in a three-way tie for fourth place with New York and Chicago.

Parent was brilliant against the Black Hawks as Philadelphia battled Chicago to a tie.

The Flyer Goals by Dick Sarrazin and Guy Gendron came 16 seconds apart in the second period with Gilles Marotte serving five-minute major penalty.

SHORT HANDED

The Hawks were two men short for the first one with Bobby Hull also in the box. Doug Mohns and Howie Young scored for Chicago.

Larose's long slap shot got the North stars off in front of Pittsburgh and Minnesota, playing its first game, under returning Coach Wren Blair, ended a 14-game winless streak at the expense of the Penguins.

★ ★ ★

After the game, the teams swapped defensemen with Duane Rupp going to Pittsburgh and Leo Boivin to Minnesota.

The Rangers were also successful with a returning coach as Emile Francis stepped in for ailing Bernie Geoffrion. Rod Gilbert scored a pair of goals and Vic Hadfield assisted on all three New York tallies in the victory over the Kings.

BATTLED BACK

Montreal jumped off to a 2-0 lead against Oakland but the Seals battled back to tie the score at 3-3 and then beat the Canadiens on late goals by Bob Dillabough and Gerry Ehman.

Dillabough stole a pass from Henri Richard with just over five minutes remaining and broke in alone to beat goalie Rogatien Vachon. Then Ehman hit an empty net for the wrapup goal.

Ron Ellis had a pair of goals leading Toronto past St. Louis and ending five-game unbeaten streak for the West division-leading Blues.

Wolverines to Test Improving Spartans

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The rise in the quality of Michigan State's recent Big Ten basektball play can be attributed to one thing — the rise of Rudy Benjamin.

Just how much of an increase and what direction the Spartans' fortunes in the conference race will take could be decided this Saturday afternoon when Michigan State hosts arch-rival Michigan in one of the two conference games.

★ ★ ★

Purdue, with its 2-0 record, good for second place in the Big Ten behind Ohio State, sees its first action since Jan. 7 when the Boilermakers go to Minnesota.

EVEN RECORD

Michigan State goes into its clash with Michigan with a 2-2 conference mark while the Wolverines are 2-3 after being sunk by the Wildcats last Tuesday.

The Spartans were impressive in losing by a single point to Iowa on the Hawkeyes home court, then ripped up the same Northwestern team which earlier had dumped Michigan State at Jenison Fieldhouse.

★ ★ ★

"I'd be foolish to predict that we'll be a championship contender with all the fine teams there are in the league this winter," said Spartans' Coach John Benington. "But our performances in the last two road games have certainly brightened our outlook."

Benington also said what has been true for years in the conference, that the champion will be the team which can win on the road.

FLOOR LEADER

Benjamin has spurted in both road games — scoring 26 at Iowa and 17 at Northwestern. He has taken charge on the floor and eased some of the pressure which previously weighed heavily on the shoulders of 6-foot-6 Lee Lafayette.

When the 6-foot-3 Benjamin first came to Michigan State from Dayton, Ohio, he was heralded as one of finest prep players from that state that year. He promptly led the Spartans' frosh in scoring.

★ ★ ★

Benjamin came on slow at first this season but now is pouring in nine points per game for the 10 of Michigan State's 12 games he has played in.

Top Cage Bill in Windy City

CHICAGO (AP) — This is UCLA-Lew Alcindor weekend in Chicago but general top billing must go to the return to action of Purdue's Boilermakers and their chase of Ohio State in the Big Ten basketball title campaign.

The top-ranked UCLA Bruins will be aiming for their 29th straight victory tonight against Northwestern in Chicago Staium and will meet Chicago Loyola Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

The other halves of the Stadium doubleheaders, which are expected to attract a total of 30,000 fans, pit Loyola against Marquette tonight and Illinois against Notre Dame Saturday.

A relaxed Northwestern faces the UCLA invincibles after a comforting 100-85 triumph over Michigan Tuesday that put the Wildcats back into the Big Ten race with a 2-3 record, matching the Wolverines.

Illinois, because of semester exams, has been idle since an 82-77 overtime victory at Northwestern Jan. 11 to boost its conference mark to 2-1. The Illini are 11-1 over all and top the Big ten in national rankings in the No. 8 spot.

League Curtails Visits to Hurler by Teammates

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Executives of the eight International League teams adopted two rule changes Thursday and petitioned for a third in winding up a one-day session of the Triple-A baseball loop.

IL president George Sisler Jr. called it one of the league's most productive meetings.

General managers adopted a rule prohibiting any player, other than the catcher, from going to the pitcher's mound. And the catcher must get permission from the umpire in chief before he can visit with the pitcher.

In another change designed to speed up the game, officials adopted a rule which will alter the doubleheader setup. All twinbills now will be seven inning games instead of one nine-inning affair and one seven-inning game.

PINCH HITTER

By a unanimous vote, officials agreed to petition baseball's Rules Committee for approval of an experimental change which would permit the use of a designated pinch hitter for the pitcher.

The IL wants to try the change this season, but seven members of the nine-man committee must approve the change.

★ ★ ★

"The option to use a designated pinch hitter will add more punch and excitement to the game," Sisler said.

The league announced a 140-game schedule opening April 18 and noted the establishment of the new American Association.

"We plan to initiate negotiations for resumption of the Junior World Series," Sisler said.

★ ★ ★

"The prospects are excellent that we may be able to resume the series this fall."

He did not indicate when such negotiations would begin, but the American Association meets again Jan. 29 in Indianapolis, Ind.

600 Trackmen in U. of M. Relays

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — More than 600 athletes kick off the indoor track season in Michigan Saturday when the University of Michigan hosts its own relays.

Competing in addition to Michigan and Michigan State over the newly-rubberized surface installed at Yost Fieldhouse are Western Michigan, Central and Eastern Michigan plus the Mid-American Conference schools of Bowling Green and Ohio University.

★ ★ ★

Ron Kutschinski of Michigan, who participated in the Olympics, heads a fine middle distance field while NCAA 200-meter champion Emmett Taylor of Ohio and Western Michigan's fine sprinter Tom Randolph highlight the shorter distances.

In addition to the University and open divisions of competition, the relays feature a special freshman segment.

Included there will be former Flint Central sprinter Herb Washington, now a freshman at Michigan State, who turned in a 9-4 clocking in the 100-yard dash while in high school and competed around the country last year.

'Courageous' Namath Halas Award Winner

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Joe Namath of the New York Jets has been named winner of the George Halas Award as the "most courageous" player of the year by the Professional Football Writers of America.

Namath, who guided the Jets to the world championship, played the entire year on weak knees, and a dislocated thumb but never missed a game.

Ira Davis to Coach

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Ira Davis, three-time Olympic star, was named LaSalle track coach Thursday to succeed Frank Wetzler. Wetzler died last Jan. 10 of injuries received in an auto accident.

Young Links Pro Sees Fine Round Crosby Casualty

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Suppose for a moment that you are a 26-year-old professional golfer who has never finished a tournament higher than a tie for 20th place. Last year, you earned a grand total of $3,537.53.

You are now in the first round of one of the richest tournaments on the tour and you finish with a 70, two strokes under par and in a three-way tie for the lead with Billy Casper, who last year made more than $200,000 and rookie pro Mac McLendon.

★ ★ ★

But just after you finish your 18 holes at the Pebble Beach course, the first round is canceled because of heavy rains. Everybody's score is wiped out and you have to start all over.

Are you angry? Do you curse the weather that played such a dirty trick on you? Not if you're Harry Toscano because you figure you had it coming.

It all happened to Toscano in what was to be the opening round of the $150,000 Bing Crosby Golf Tournament Thursday.

No fewer than 96 pros had finished their rounds and 72 were on the course, most of them almost through, when the Professional Golfers Association canceled the round. The tournament will now run through Monday at least.

★ ★ ★

Jack Nicklaus, who was two-under-par standing at the 18th tee at Pebble when the rains came, somewhat forlornly said he'd have liked to have finished.

What are the chances the tournament will be finished Monday? Not great. Rain is supposed to diminish today but more is forecast for Saturday. ABC now plans to televise the final three rounds.

ATLANTA (UPI) — Norm Siebern was named Atlanta Braves' scout in Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri Thursday. Siebern spent 12 years in the majors with the Yankees, Kansas City, Baltimore, California, San Francisco and Boston.

County Point Race in Red-Hot Battle

There's no longer a runaway for the 1968-69 Oakland County high school basketball scoring championship.

Through most of the first half of the campaign, it looked as if slender Tim Megge of Orchard Lake St. Mary would easily wrap up his second straight scoring crown.

He may still win it, but easy it won't be.

MEGGE SECOND

For the first time since the opening of the season Megge finds himself chasing someone else in the scoring race.

★ ★ ★

Heading the pack now is 6-4 junior Greg Carter of Roeper School who has compiled a 27.4 average through 10 games.

Megge, held to 42 points in two contests last week, is hot on Carter's heels with a mark of 26.6.

And just a shade behind that twosome is sharp-shooting Sam Brady of Pontiac Catholic.

★ ★ ★

The spotlight will be on Megge and Brady and both their teams tonight.

OLSM, 10-0 in the Northwest Catholic League, plays host to Pontiac Catholic, in second place in the loop with a 9-1 mark. OLSM won their first meeting, 70-53.

LEADS SVC

Well out in front in the Saginaw Valley Conference scoring race is 6-9 Ken Brady of Flint Central, the pacesetter in the SVC with a 6-0 record.

DETERMINATION — Johnny Pott, defending champion of the Crosby National Pro-Am tournament, is a picture of grim determination as he whacks the ball out of a deep rough on the 8th green at Cypress Point yesterday. He took a bogie-5 on the hole but it didn't count as the entire first round of the tournament was washed out by heavy rain.

Penn State 11 Wins at Bank

By The Associated Press

Penn State came out of the year end football bowls the big winner, both on the scoreboard and at the bank.

As an independent university it keeps all of its share of about $330,000 from the Orange Bowl where the Nittany Lions defeated Kansas 15-14. Kansas must whack up its $330,000 with the Big Eight conference, a rule that applies in one form or another for all the other conferences.

No exact figures are ever announced on the Rose Bowl, the biggest and richest of them all, but with a sellout crowd of 102,063 and a rich television contract, the Big Ten and the Pacific-8 are each reputed to get around $1 million.

The Big Ten divides its share up 11 ways, two-parts going to the team that played, and one to each other conference member. This amounts to about $100,000 per share. The Pacific-8 divides its portion equally among the eight conference schools. In the Rose Bowl, Ohio State dumped Southern California and O. J. Simpson 27-16.

MUST SPLIT

In the Gator Bowl, each team received about $190,000 but Missouri, the winner over Alabama 35-10, must share its prize with others in the Big Eight and Alabama must split with members of the Southeastern Conference, with Alabama keeping $115,000.

In the Bluebonnet, where Southern Methodist took a squeaker from Oklahoma 28-27, the team shares were the biggest ever, about $192,000 with SMU keeping $100,000 and sharing the rest with Southwest Conference teams. Oklahoma's Big Eight counterparts were also cut in. The previous record was $160,000 each to Texas and Mississippi in 1967.

★ ★ ★

The Sugar Bowl was a rich one. Here Arkansas beat Georgia 16-2 and each reportedly got $250,000. Georgia kept $115,000, with the balance split among Southeastern Conference teams, while Arkansas kept $100,000 and split the rest with the Southwest Conference.

The Cotton Bowl also was lucrative. Texas and Tennessee each received about $300,000. Texas kept $100,000 and divided the balance into eight shares, with seven going to Southwest Conference members and the eighth to Texas itself. Tennessee kept $115,000 and split the rest with the Southeastern Conference. Texas won 36-13.

Retirement May Be Serious for Namath

NEW YORK (AP) — Only Joe Namath could top Joe Namath when it comes to startling the pro football world, and Broadway Joe has in mind an encore for his Super Bowl triumph with the New York Jets.

Namath, pro football's bonus boy at the tender age of 25, is talking about retiring. Don't laugh. Remember Sandy Koufax and Jimmy Brown?

Although he is the sports' No. 1 star with a bushel full of money and maybe more Super Bowls ahead of him, he listed some pretty good reasons for getting out now, while he still is on top.

"The legs are the main problem," he said, reaffirming a simple off-hand comment Wednesday that he is considering the possibility of retiring.

PULLED SHOCKER

Brown, Cleveland's great running back, shocked the sports world by retiring before the 1966 season for a movie career. Koufax, baseball's superstar, after pitching Los Angeles to the pennant in 1966, retired because of a painful elbow ailment.

"You have to make it while you're on top before you get destroyed," said Namath, who has been bothered by knee trouble in both legs since his college days at Alabama. He has undergone three operations on them and still plays in pain.

"It's been a long season and with rest they might be better," Namath said. "But the way I feel now, retirement is something that has to be considered.

"I know I couldn't have played in the second half of the All-Star game at Jacksonville if I had to."

He denied that retirement talk might be a means toward getting a better contract from the Jets. "If I can't play, I can't play. I'll just be physically not capable. The doctor will have to decide that," he said.

One thing that Namath will consider is his teammates.

DOCTOR'S VERDICT

"There would be a sense of letting them down if I quit," he explained.

Namath said he already has told Ewbank that he is considering retiring.

Ewbank, by the way, had been working on a three-year contract at $50,000 a year, and his job had been rumored in jeopardy until the Jets won the American Football League's biggest upsets in the Super Bowl.

The terms of Ewbank's new contract were not disclosed, but it certainly must have been a good one. Now all he has to worry about is keeping Namath in a Jet's uniform.

College Loop Sees Changes

More Liberal Rules Asked by Southeast

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Southeastern Conference's always controversial football grants-in-aid limits faced another change today when the men with the votes, the presidents of the 10 member schools, met to consider demands for more liberal rules.

Conference athletic directors and football coaches, winding up their two-way meeting Thursday, are asking the presidents to establish a scholarship "bank" in which schools that fail to sign the present limit of 40 one year can carry up to five of the difference over to the next year.

CARRYOVER PLAN

A school would not be allowed to sign more than 40, the present limit, in the first year of such period but could "bank" up to five and thus be able to sign up to 45 new football players the following year.

If adopted by the presidents, the rule would replace an overall of 125 limit on the number of football players on scholarships.

The 80-in-two rule would wipe out the overall limit and permit a school, counting "red shirts" (five-year men), to have up to 200 football players on scholarships at one time.

St. Clair JC Among Rated

DODGE CITY, Kan. (UPI) — Port Huron, (St. Clair) Junior College is listed 13th among the nation's two-year institutions in basketball, the latest poll showed Thursday.

San Jacinto of Pasadena, Tex., was ranked No. 1 with a 22-1 mark for the second week in a row.

Michigan Lutheran Overcomes Stall

PERRYSBURG, Ohio (AP)— Penta Tech of Ohio tried to use a game - long stall to get even with a 40 - point basketball drubbing suffered earlier this season, but still lost to rampaging Michigan Lutheran College Thursday night, 56-51.

The win gave the Saints a 16-1 record for the season, including that 86-46 victory over Penta. The Wolves' record for the season is 8-7.

PTTA Leaders Boost Margin in Weekly Play

China City and West Side Mobil maintained their leads in the respective divisions of the Pontiac Table Tennis Association with identical 4-2 victories last night.

West Side defeated Buettner's and China City won over Arby's in widening their margins to six points over Richardson's in the National Division and five points over Capitol in the American Division.

Track Event at Astrodome

HOUSTON (UPI) — The first track meet ever held in the Astrodome opens tonight, and as usual with this city's plastic-roofed, plastic-grassed showcase, everything will be first class.

There will be 1,367 athletes on hand for the two-day show and a fistfull of world indoor records are forecast.

Favor Porsche in Rally at Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI) —Porsche was a strong favorite to win the 38th Monte Carlo rally today.

With results in from three of the seven tests, Porsches driven by Swedish and British teams maintained a commanding lead in the rally. Third was a French-driven Alpine Renault.

★ ★ ★

Although road conditions in the mountains around this principality had improved, ice and snow were expected to eliminate about half the 43 cars which started out from Monte Carlo Thursday night.

Swedish farmer Bjorn Waldegaard and his teammate Lars Helmers, driving a Porsche, were in first place after the first three tests.

CLOSE BEHIND

Last year's rally winners Vic Elford and David Stone of Britain, were close behind in another Porsche with 16,276 points. The Britons were reported anxious to pass the Swedes to capture a rare second consecutive trophy.

★ ★ ★

Another battle was on among three French teams for third place. They found themselves in the unusual situation of driving three different foreign models — an Alpine, a Porsche and a Ford.

Pay Hikes OK'd

HOLLAND (AP) — The Holland City Council, by a 7-2 vote, has approved pay hikes for themselves and the mayor, but the hikes must be approved by the public at an April 7 election. Councilmen approved a $600-a-year salary boost, giving them $750, and the mayor was granted a $300 increase to $1,500.

Rallies Produce Victory in City Rec Cage Action

Club One Spot spurted ahead in the last quarter while the Unbeatables No. 1 unit roared from behind in the third period for city men's recreation basketball triumphs last night.

The clubmen outdistanced Conn's Clothes, 60-52, and the Unbeatables pulled out a 74-66 win over Perry Drugs. In a third game, Local 596 outclassed the Unbeatables-II, 88-68.

Club One Spot and Conn's were tied, 38-all, entering the last period. Larry Edwards then netted all 9 of his points and Felix Brooks added the final seven on his 20-point night to spark the winning surge. Fred Davis had 19 for the losers.

★ ★ ★

Perry Drugs jumped to a 38-29 edge on the No. 1 Unbeatables, but wilted in the third quarter when Rudy Ranson pumped in 12 of his 26 points.

★ ★ ★

Rick Trudeau's 27 for Perry took game scoring honors.

Curley Craft's 21 points and Willie Peck's 19 sparked Local 596 past the second Unbeatables quintet. Jim Campbell notched 17 for the losers.

WATERFORD PLAY

Kampsen Realty emerged a narrow winner in key Waterford Township men's recreation basketball contest.

Kampsen (5-1) assumed sole possession of the American League lead by edging Duke's (4-2) Speedo Service, 69-65, although Duke's held a 37-29 intermission advantage.

★ ★ ★

Mike Miley and Ray Robinson scored 20 each, and teammate Dan Larkin had 17 for Kampsen's. Gary Hayward notched 24 in a losing cause.

OTHER SCORES

The other AL outings saw poor foul shooting doom Coulacos Insurance to a 52-44 defeat at the hands of Lighthouse Lanes, and Genesee Welding Supply post a 63-61 overtime win against luckless Lakeland Pharmacy.

Mike Landsdorf's 22 points helped Lighthouse equal Coulacos' 3-3 record.

★ ★ ★

Ray Heaton gained a 57-57 tie for Genesee (3-3) with a field goal in the final five seconds of regulation play. Teammate Ken McClintock hit four points, including the winning two free throws, in the overtime period.

STAYS UNBEATEN

The favored teams all won in the International League. Unbeaten CIO 594 made it six in a row with a 58-42 romp over M. A. Benson as Jerry Beseau scored 18 points.

★ ★ ★

Mel's Sport Shop (5-1) outlasted Sparks-Griffin, 56-52, despite 18 by Dale Mahrle; and Tom Dabbs' 27 tallies led Spencer Floor Covering (3-3) to a 60-41 victory over Irwin Realty.

REST ORDERED—Emil Francis, general manager of the New York Rangers, announces that coach Bernie Geoffrion (background) has been directed by doctors to take a three-week rest from coaching. Francis said he would be the "interim coach" until Geoffrion felt up to resuming the coaching again. The announcement was made prior to the game with Los Angeles in New York and the Rangers won, 3-1.

State Pro 'Shook' Over Club Count

From Our News Wires

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. — A veteran club pro from Michigan looked in his golf bag on the 18th hole here yesterday and promptly blew himself out of contention in the PGA Seniors Championship.

Lorin Shook of Saginaw, needed only a chip to the 18th green and a putt for a 72.

But at that point discovered he had 15 clubs in his bag. The limit is 13, and any number above carries a four stroke penalty if two or more holes are played under those conditions.

Shook became so unnerved by the discovery that he took a double bogey six on the hole and the penalty shot his score up to 78.

Bob Hamilton, former Professional Golfers' Association national champion, fired a five under par 67 Thursday to grab a two-stroke lead in the championship for players 50 years of age and over.

★ ★ ★

Hamilton, from Santa Claus, Ind., had a 34 on the front nine and 35 coming back over the 6,800-yard, par 72 East Course at the PGA club. He managed five birdies and played par golf the rest of the way.

★ ★ ★

Chick Harbert, Tommy Bolt and Ferdie Catropa posted 70s, followed by Lou Barbaro, Paul Gross and Joe Lopez Sr. at 71.

Fifty-one of ttose in the 72-hole tournament have played in it for 20 years or more.

Players are divided into age groups and the oldest — 80 and above — will be limited to nine holes Friday and Saturday.

Davidson MVP Earns Honor

By the Associated Press

Dave Moser was named Davidson's most valuable player last season and he hasn't been doing too badly the past few days, either.

★ ★ ★

Last Saturday, the 6-foot-1 senior from Fort Wayne, Ind., fired a last-second basket that shot Davidson past stubborn VMI 66-64.

★ ★ ★

And Thursday night, he scored eight of the points as the fourth-ranked Wildcats ran off 11 straight early in the second half and clawed the Princeton Tigers 71-54.

The red-haired Moser averaged only 8.6 points a game last season but won his MVP award with strong defense and ballhandling. Coach Lefty Driesell calls his captain "one of the smartest backcourt men in college basketball."

DEFENSIVE GEM

Driesell was pretty smart himself, plucking 6-5 senior Mike O'Neill off the bench to start in place of the injured Jerry Kroll, Davidson's No. 2 scorer. O'Neill limited Princeton's top scorer, Jeff Petrie, to eight points, all in the first half, while netting 22 himself.

★ ★ ★

"Princeton didn't play up to its capabilities and neither did we, I guess," Driesell said. "But with Doug Cook playing with a bad ankle, we did pretty well considering, I guess."

★ ★ ★

It was Davidson's 13th win in 14 starts. Princeton, led by Chris Thomforde's 20 points, is 8-6, but has lost to four of the top 11 teams in the nation in this week's Associated Press poll.

In fact, Gordon L. Wise, an assistant professor of marketing at Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio, puts out an analysis of schedules and rates Princeton's as the second toughest nationally.

★ ★ ★

"Look at the teams they have lost to," Driesell said. "They're so much better than their record that it's difficult to describe."

Church Quint Still Unbeaten

Northeast Community boosted its record to 7-0 by defeating United Missionary, 89-30 in Church League basketball play last night as Phil Walters poured in 26 points.

★ ★ ★

In another game, Stone Baptist defeated Bloomfield Hills Baptist, 48-40 despite 19 points by Dick McCoy of the losers. Van Curan had 18 for Stone.

Finally.

Now you can do what you never did before in a Volkswagen:

Nothing.

Yup. We've gone and put a fully-automatic transmission in a Volkswagen.

In fact, we put it in two Volkswagens (as an option). The Fastback. And Squareback.

So now you can drive anywhere in a VW without having to shift for yourself.

Just put the lever in 3. (What everyone else calls DRIVE.) And drive. Like you would any regular car.

Except with our automatic, you'll have to do one thing you don't do with someone else's automatic:

Stay away from gas stations more often.

Because you'll need gas less often. One gallon takes you not 10 miles. Or 15.

But 25 miles.

So now you can do what you always did before in a Volkswagen:

Save money. Automatically.

Titans Win First Match

Chiefs Gain Mat Lead in SVC

Pontiac Central's unbeaten wrestlers took the lead in Saginaw Valley standings by defeating Flint Southwestern, undeaten before the match, 26-22, last night.

But, the tough non-league assignments have yet to come for the Chiefs' grapplers with Walled Lake next Tuesday and Pontiac Northern soon after.

★ ★ ★

In other matches, Pontiac Catholic's Titans won the first wrestling meet in their young history by downing Catholic Central's "B" team, 25-21.

Avondale defeated Troy, 24-18, in Oakland-A competition while Clarkston trimmed Northville, 24-18, in Wayne-Oakland action.

THREE PINS

Three Chiefs pinned their opponents, Everett Seay in 127-pound class, Myron Border in 140 and Reggie Rodriguez in 175-pound division. The pins were key factors in the triumph.

It was the first home meet for Pontiac Catholic which now stands 1-1 for the season and a pin by Cliff Linsenman in 175-pound division was a deciding win.

Clarkston, which now stands 3-1 in the league, was led by Jeff Quigley who remains unbeaten in dual competition after winning his 135-pound clsss event with a decision.

Dan Souheaver pushed his individual winning streak to 13 in a row over two years by winning the 167 pound class with a pin. This brought Avondale's league mark to 2-1 while Troy is now 2-2.

Clawson defeated Lake Orion, 28-25, in another O-A meet last night, as the Dragons slipped to a 1-7 record for the season and 0-4 in league play.

Angel Manager Becomes Ill in Golf Meet

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Bill Rigney, manager of the California Angels' baseball club was listed in stable condition today after being hospitalized when he said he felt faint while playing in the Bing Crosby Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament.

Dr. Donald Scanlon at Monterey Hospital said the 50-year-old manager's heart was being monitored but emphasized that Rigney had suffered no heart damage and had been kept overnight strictly as a precautionary measure.

★ ★ ★

Rigney, paired with professional Paul Harney in the tournament at nearby Pebble Beach, complained of feeling faint midway in Thursday's round.

Scanlon said Rigney never lost consciousness and added he may be able to resume playing in the tournament.

Defending Champs in Track Classic

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Diminutive Sam Bair and durable George Young return tonight to the second annual Philadelphia Track Classic hoping to defend titles each won in record time last year.

Bair, the 5-foot-6, 125-pound miler from Kent State and Young, the 31-year-old Casa Grande, Ariz., schoolteacher, running the two-mile, have each won three straight races in this young indoor track season.

★ ★ ★

Bair, who could be gunning for a sub-four-minute mile here, has a season's best of 4:02.8 in the Los Angeles Invitational. He set the Classic mark of 4:04.7 last year.

No News on Coach

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Plans to select a new basketball coach and athletic director at Creighton University remained indefinite Friday, following the Thursday announcement by John J. "Red" McManus that he would step down from both posts effective June 1.

Bloomfield Tankers Win, Lose Meets

It was an easy swim victory for Bloomfield Andover, but a close defeat for neighbor Bloomfield Lahser, despite school records in their meets last night.

Andover whipped Clarenceville, 71-34, while Lahser lost a 53-52 verdict to Lincoln Park.

★ ★ ★

Jeff Klann set a school mark in the 400 freestyle for Andover as did the medley relay team in which he took part.

Rick Amann was a double winner for Lahser but Kevin Trimmer set a varsity mark with 2:18.1 in the 200 individual medley.

Andover is 6-2 for the season and Lahser stands 5-5.

Scoring Up at Several Lanes

The pinspilling was spread around better the past seven days with three classic leagues reporting strong performances.

Huron Bowl's good scoring continued in the Friday men's Classic with Tom Mayes rolling 11 straight strikes for a 290 game to help Joyce's Standard Service to an 1134 game, the third best team actual listed this season.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Janitor Supply, behind Bill Kirkland's 214-247—657, hit a 3110 series. The high individual series was posted by Doug Swords of Herk's Auto Supply. His figures were 249-215—677 to just edge out Bob Gronzo (Oxford Merchants) with his 233-231—675.

Bill Crawford of Gniewek's Trophies rolled a 279 in a 668, and Mike Samardzija Jr. recorded a pair of 226s in his 663.

MASTERS

Monday night at Wonderland Lanes in the Masters League, Jack Morys paced the scoring with 245—687, although Dudley Steinhilber had a 247 game. Dave Martens hit a 240. Frank Hockstine's 644 was the next best series. Jerry Dunkel had a 237 in a 609.

★ ★ ★

Mory's Pro Shop posted 1038-1022 actuals but missed the 3,000-pin mark by 35 pins. It also trails league-leader Sportsman's Bar by .971 of a Peterson point.

West Side Lanes' late classic league that night featured a 1097—3189 effort by the Pontiac Janitor Supply team for the season's fourth best actual team series.

Dick Beamer's 247—672 duo and Dave Sherman's 278 game commanded the individual spotlight. Rich Toles produced a 251 game, and Joe Foster had a 650 series.

Ed Austreng's 640, Al Pietz's 244, Bob Moore's 243 and Arnie Osta's 241 also rate mentioning.

Tuesday night at Highland Lanes there was a season high and perhaps all-time high performance for the establishment. The Wozniak Farms entry in the Highland Businessmen's League rocked the pins for an 1107 actual, the sixth best team game reported in the area this season.

★ ★ ★

Eagle Keglers Continue in Tourney Play

State Entries Back in Action at Savoy Lanes in City

Waterford Eagles Aerie No. 2887 had their "two days" last weekend and now the other members of the state association will begin firing away at the local entries' totals in the 27th annual Eagles State Tournament at Savoy Lanes.

The leaders in the three divisions reported all are from the Waterford Aerie. The only other state Eagles group to compete last weekend was from Albion and its members hold only third and fourth places in the doubles.

★ ★ ★

But Eagles keglers from Battle Creek, Sturgis, Owosso and Cheboygan will be invading Savoy tomorrow and Sunday in hopes of distributing the laurels better.

★ ★ ★

All three events are close. One pin separates the top two teams, four pins distinguish the doubles leaders, and there's a three-pin difference atop the singles.

Need an idea for a new bowling league? How about a family league with a real clan plan!

Specifically, the Charles Sweeney descendants could take over a 16-lane establishment and fill it by themselves.

Sweeney, a Lake Orion resident until his death last summer, was an active bowler and set the all-time high at Royal Recreation in Lake Orion. The former plastering contractor bowled locally more than 25 years and hit his peak with a 279—740 night at Royal.

He and his wife Florence produced 12 children, all of whom have bowled. Most of them are still active in leagues, or have spouses and youngsters who are now bowling.

★ ★ ★

Several of the Sweeney "children" are highly regarded as bowlers. Pat Sweeney is one of the area's outstanding classic league keglers. He has 21 sanctioned 700 series, including one when he was 19 years old.

Pat had a perfect game in the Huron Bowl Classic and on the opposing team that night three years ago was his brother Bill, who also has a sanctioned 700.

YOUNGEST

The youngest of the five brothers, Bob has just returned to keg competition this season after a military tour; while brothers Don and Mike are currently on the inactive list.

Among the seven daughters Marie Reynolds has been the most productive on the lanes, at least. She recently set an all-time high for women at Sylvan Lanes with a 664 series.

Two seasons ago she set the high mark at Airway Lanes with a 661 and her personal best is a 667 at Huron Bowl. During the 1966-67 season she carried a 183 average in two leagues.

Sisters June Spear and Doris Ann Penala bowl regularly at Sylvan and Orchard Lanes, respectively. Gloria Herzfeld is sitting out the current season, and also limited to open bowling are Charleen Collins and Lee Ann Seyler.

GRANDCHILDREN

Both Lee Ann and Gloria's husbands are bearing the family colors on the lanes. In addition, at least five grandchildren already are completing in the youth program at Collier Lanes.

"Dad really enjoyed the sport," Marie said. "He loved to watch the boys bowl Friday nights at Huron. He didn't push any of us into bowling; everyone that tried it seemed to enjoy it.

"We all had the same interests. Gloria and I stopped at Huron the night Pat had his 300. We got there after he had the first eight; it was quite a thrill for all of us," she noted.

★ ★ ★

The longtime employe of P. T. Standard Parts Co. admits that her first 600 is another special moment in her own keg career which now is in its 12th season.

While Mama Sweeney was the only one who didn't have a chance to bowl — she was too busy raising 12 children — she may yet have an opportunity to enjoy the lane antics and accomplishments of the grandchildren who already are becoming quite competitive.

★ ★ ★

Bowlers of the Month in Huron Bowl's December eliminations are Marge Hagerman (576 in the finals) and Art Beatty (651).

Will Dennis Yenglin of Waterford Township please contact the Press sports department regarding your triplicate award in the Pontiac Open Singles Tournament.

Blind Wrestler Keeps His 'Sight' on Winning

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Steve Welch wrestles at the University of California. He was undefeated in 16 matches as a freshman and has a 3-3 record this year in varsity competition.

Steve Welch also is blind.

★ ★ ★

California wrestled against Washington State last Saturday. Welch was losing with 10 seconds left. He came up with a two-point reversal to win and set up a Cal victory.

Welch, 20, lives in nearby Hayward. He has been blind since birth, as has his sister, Sharon, 23, who was graduated from Cal last June.

DOESN'T INTERFERE

He has not let his blindness interfere with his life. He waterskies, dates frequently and refuses to use a seeing-eye dog because it would tie him down.

Welch began wrestling in high school. "It was really hard in the beginning. My feet used to get tangled up and I'd be taken down every match.

"Once I gained experience, I found I would wrestle on even terms even though I couldn't see them. Most guys try to lock up, so I know where they are."

GOOD TIMING

Welch lives in a dormitory a block from school and wends his way through the crowded campus with amazing accuracy and timing. He had a B average last semester.

Coach Bill Martell thinks Welch is championship material.

"He's a soph and made the varsity, which is hard to do here. The guy he beat from Washington State was runner-up in the conference last year," Martell said.

Pontiac Press Photos

BOWLING CLAN — Pat Sweeney (top), one of the top-average men locally, and his sister Marie Reynolds, who has set the women's high series at two area establishments, are two of the 12 Charles Sweeney children who have been active in bowling around Pontiac.

"A PAD THAT'S RIGHT OUT OF PLAYBOY!"

30-DAY OCCUPANCY

That's what one young swinger said when he first glimpsed an Oakland Valley Apartment! Modestly, we agree. We've put all the latest luxuries into these 1 and 2 bedroom apartments . . . sunken living rooms, terrace dining rooms, even private balconies. We've carpeted them, draped them, installed air conditioning, and sound-condition them so as not to inhibit parties. And just to show we're serious about the Playboy bit, we've built the great new Oakland Valley Club for Oakland Valley Apartment residents and their guests. It has a pool, card and game rooms, exercise room, sauna baths, and a very free-wheeling atmosphere. All yours for as little as $175 a month. P.S.—Bunnies Welcome.

Models Open Daily and Sunday—1 to 8 P.M. Saturday—1 to 6 P.M. Closed Wednesday.

A Look at TV

Fakery Cheapens 'Lions'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — There were several moments during NBC's alleged documentary, "The Lions Are Free" Thursday night when one wondered if he had not tuned in "Daktari" by mistake.

★ ★ ★

Theatrical license and camera tricks are permitted, even welcomed, in fictitious action-adventure shows, but when a special program is held out to be an account of a visit by a British actor to Kenya to check up on the well-being of some lions with whom he had costarred a couple of years earlier, it would seem to be the better part of wisdom to stick to the literal truth. Particularly if the resulting film was to be shown to a sophisticated, show-wise audience.

★ ★ ★

The premise of "The Lions Are Free" was sentimental: Bill Travers, the actor, who had played an African game warden in a 1966 film, "Born Free," and had made friends with seven lions during the production of the film, went back to Africa to see how the animals, after exposure to man, were getting along in their natural habitat.

★ ★ ★

All that was fine. But the documentary implied that the visit was made by Travers alone to George Adamson, the British game warden he had portrayed who lives alone with his animal friends in the wilds.

CAMERA CREW

Obviously, Travers headed a working party—after all somebody had to be around filming all those reunion scenes. And when a couple of lions started roaring and quarreling over a lioness close to Travers' automobile, the actor and Adamson scurried to safety inside the vehicle. But that left somebody outside with a loaded camera to catch the excitement. At another point Adamson was supposed to be hunting for a lioness who had just had cubs — and again somebody with a camera had gotten there first to record the moment he found her.

★ ★ ★

None of this nature-faking was really necessary since the affectionate relationship between the animals and Travers and Adamson was unusual and interesting enough without manufactured gimmickry. Particularly rewarding were shots of the trusting lioness with Adamson after she had given birth to two cubs when she permitted him to approach her and touch her babies.

★ ★ ★

The hour seemed padded by the usual shots of African animals and was interlaced with shots of Travers' wife, Virginia McKenna, worrying about him and the lions at her home in England. Presumably this was to satisfy movie-goers who had seen the film, "Born Free" since Miss McKenna had played Mrs. Adamson.

Court Gains GI's Discharge

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Defense Department has bowed to a federal court order directing the discharge from the Army of Spec. 4 Charles Franklin Grubb, 21, of Jackson, Mich., now stationed at Ft. Lee.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Michael Morchower said Thursday he has been notified that Grubb will be given a discharge as soon as necessary processing procedures are completed.

★ ★ ★

U.S. District Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. ordered Grubb's discharge Tuesday during a hearing here at which Grubb contended he was being illegally detained in the Army beyond his three-year enlistment.

The controversy hinged on questions of whether Grubb's enlistment was for three or four years—and whether the Army intended to keep a promise made when he enlisted in Detroit in June 1965.

★ ★ ★

Grubb testified he enlisted for four years on the basis of a promise he would be assigned to the Army Security Agency. He said the promise was not kept and that he was assigned to the artillery.

Because the Army had not kept its promise, Grubb contended, his enlistment period was reduced to three years. Judge Merhige agreed and directed his discharge.

Rep. Dingell Offers a Vote-Reform Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., introduced legislation Thursday which would abolish the Electoral College and offer a new system for electing a president and vice president.

The 16th District congressman proposed that an electoral system be substituted whereby the top pairs of candidates be given a proportionate number of electoral votes according to their vote strength in each state.

★ ★ ★

Dingell said while he favors direct election, he doesn't think the required constitutional amendment would pass. His system, he said, would eliminate any chance of a third-party candidate creating a stalemate situation.

Pueblo Skipper Tells of Confession Ordeal, Suicide Try

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The captain of the Pueblo says he confessed to spying after blood-chilling mental torture, and then tried to drown himself in a bucket of water.

Tears streaming, his voice breaking with anguish, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher told a Navy court of inquiry yesterday that North Koreans finally broke him by threatening to shoot his crewmen one by one in front of him.

Bucher's account of the terror ended — at least for now — his public appearances. He goes before a closed session of the court today to give secret-classified-testimony.

After describing why he confessed, Bucher said yesterday, "Sometime during the night I attempted to commit suicide by drowning myself in a bucket of water in my room but was unable to accomplish this."

CONFESSION

The typewritten confession said Bucher was a CIA agent, that his ship intruded into North Korean waters and that he was trying to put South Koreans ashore.

He couldn't eat or sleep for several days, Bucher said, because he was haunted by the thought that secret information on the Pueblo had fallen into Communist hands.

★ ★ ★

The court warned Bucher Wednesday he may have violated regulations by surrendering the ship. Bucher was in his fourth day of testimony and has been unusually calm until he came to describing an interrogation before he confessed. As he talked he began trembling.

"They made me kneel on the floor," Bucher said. He said a North Korean he nicknamed Super Colonel, or "Super C," seemed desperate.

'2 MINUTES TO DECIDE'

"You have two minutes to decide to sign the confession or be shot," Bucher said he was told.

"At the end of the two minutes he asked me to sign," Bucher said. "I said I wouldn't. He told a guard at my side to move so when I got shot and the bullet passed through my head, he would not be hit."

★ ★ ★

"Kill him!" Bucher said a North Korean shouted. "The gun clicked but it didn't fire. I had fully expected to be shot. But when the slide was drawn back, presumably to insert another bullet, I did not hear any bullet hit the floor and I damn well knew it was a game they were playing."

★ ★ ★

Two more minutes went by, Bucher said, and "the officer said, 'He's not worth a bullet,' and told me I would be beaten to death. Two guards beat me to the floor and kicked me and worked me over real good . . . "

Bucher said he revived then was told by Super C: "We will now begin to shoot your crew and shoot them in your presence until you sing . . "

Bucher said the North Koreans summoned the youngest member of his crew, 21-year-old Fireman 2.C. Howard Bland.

★ ★ ★

"I was not prepared for them to shoot my crew," Bucher said. "I was convinced they would do it.

"I told them at this time, 'I will sign this confession,' I did sign it. . . . . "

Big Cleanup Begun

Twister Toll at 29

HAZLEHURST, Miss. (AP) — Massive cleanup operations began today in central Mississippi where tornadoes killed 29 persons as they carved a path of destruction across three counties.

The twisters, roaring in from the west yesterday morning, injured more than 150 persons and left about 300 homeless. Damage was estimated in the millions.

★ ★ ★

The first area struck was a predominantly Negro settlement just outside south Hazlehurst in Copiah County.

The tornadoes then moved northeastward into rural areas of Simpson and Smith counties about 30 miles later.

WORKED INTO NIGHT

Utility crews worked into the night yesterday to restore most of the electrical and telephone service.

The Hazlehurst hospital alone treated 128 persons. Many others were taken to hospitals in Jackson and Brookhaven.

★ ★ ★

Picture, Page A-2

Governmental and private agencies quickly moved into the area to care for the hungry and the homeless.

RED CROSS STANDS READY

"We are ready to feed, clothe and shelter all of them," said George Sheffield, central Mississippi Red Cross disaster chairman.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture in Atlanta and the state Welfare Department in Jackson volunteered to provide food where needed.

Gov. John Bell Williams, on a tour of the stricken area, pledged state aid.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., announced in Washington the Small Business Administration would make 3 per cent loans available to business and residential areas.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., urged the government to declare the region a federal disaster area.

Area to Be Caught in a Deep Freeze

Winter-weary residents of the Pontiac area will be caught in another deep freeze tonight when temperatures plunge to a low of 12 to 18.

The weatherman forecasts cloudy, windy and cold with a chance of snow flurries through tommorrow.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow's expected high is 18 to 23. Sunday's outlook is continued very cold with chance of flurries.

Elsewhere, a blizzard, the latest severe weather to strike the nation the past few days, drove across the northern plains and upper Midwest today.

MERCURY PLUMMETS

An Arctic cold wave, responsible for the blizzard, caused temperatures to toboggan more than 30 degrees in many parts of the nation, including readings into the 20s early today in northern Louisiana.

TURNING COLD

The West Coast kept getting rain and was promised no letup from its long siege, at least until after the weekend. Until then, rivers and streams were expected to keep flooding and walls of mud expected to continue slithering down hillsides.

★ ★ ★

Travelers warnings were in effect across the Midwest with the expectation of freezing rain changing to snow.

Precipitation possibilities in Pontiac area are 40 per cent today, 20 per cent tonight and tomorrow.

Temperatures started falling from a recording of 46 at 7 a.m. to near 28 at 12:30 p.m. in downtown Pontiac.

IN THE MOOD—Springlike temperatures yesterday coaxed Colleen Cassin of 1108 Berkley to sponge off her car's winter grime. But if today's threatened snow flurries add up to a good-sized snowfall, she may wish she had the bucket full of salt.

Lodge and Ky Hold Strategy Meeting Today

PARIS (UPI) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam and American negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge planned a strategy conference today 24 hours before the opening of expanded Vietnam war talks.

★ ★ ★

Ky arrived in Paris at midmorning. He flew from a month of consultations in Saigon, bringing new instructions to his delegation.

Shortly after his arrival, Ky was to confer with Lodge. The two men are old acquaintances from Lodge's days as U.S. ambassador to Saigon.

★ ★ ★

BASIS FOR SECRET TALKS?

Although the exchange of delegation lists was a mere formality of protocol on the surface, diplomatic sources said the unusual session could establish the basis for secret contacts between the Communists and allies in the future.

★ ★ ★

At a reception last night, Tran Buu Kiem, chief bargainer for the Vietcong delegation, said he would demand the Vietnam conflict be settled on the basis of the National Liberation Front's five-point program.

The allied bargaining position was presented as equally tough. Lodge and his counterpart from South Vietnam, Pham Dang Lam, said they would lay the blame for the war squarely on the Communists.

★ ★ ★

400 Arrested in Banned Rally at Frisco State

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police, enforcing an antirally rule, arrested more than 400 persons yesterday at San Francisco State College.

By might, officers at city prison still had not booked all those brought in during a three-hour relay of nine police vans.

It was the biggest haul since a student strike, spearheaded by about 200 dissidents and supported by 250 striking teachers, began Nov. 6 at the 18,000 student campus.

About 300 policemen moved in after the crowd refused to heed warnings to disperse, given over a loudspeaker atop the administration building.

UNION PICKETS

Among those arrested were 15 American Federation of Teachers union pickets, including some from Fresno State College, and Nathan Hare, a Negro instructor newly named to head a black studies department, created to placate strikers.

In a flurry of excitement before the mass arrests, some of the students who oppose the strike were chased across campus by demonstrators as the pro-administration students tried to run up an American flag which had been cut down from a flagpole.

★ ★ ★

Teen Dies, 5 Hurt in Head-On Crash

Six persons were injured—one fatally—in a two-car collision just after midnight on West Maple, a half-mile west of Inkster, in West Bloomfield Township.

Dead is Denise C. Kiley, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Price of 5420 Centerbrook, West Bloomfield Township, driver of the west bound auto. Police said Miss Kiley was killed almost instantly in the nearly head-on crash.

'City District Court to Need 4th Judge'

By JIM LONG

Pontiac's new District Court has been operating less than a month, but it's already apparent that the work load will require the addition of a fourth judge within a year, according to presiding Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

He said today he was certain that the new position would have to be created because of the enormous number of civil cases expected to be processed this year.

He estimated that 25,000 civil cases will come before the court by the end of the year, 3½ times the 7,000 civil actions in 1968.

"By midyear the problem will become so serious that the District Court administrator will have to assign us a visiting judge to help reduce the backlog" McCallum said.

RECOMMENDATION LIKELY

Eventually, and it probably will have to be done this year, according to McCallum, the Michigan Supreme Court likely will recommend to the State Legislature that another judge be added in District 50, which encompasses only the City of Pontiac.

Under the existing setup, Pontiac has three district judges, one more than the old Municipal Court system, with former county Probate Register James R. Stelt being added by his election in November.

The district courts were established on a statewide basis by the Michigan Legislature last year to replace all justices of the peace, and in many instances, Municipal Courts, as in Pontiac.

The justice of the peace system and circuit court commissioners were abolished by the 1963 State Constitution, which gave the Legislature five years to devise a plan for a substitute court.

In setting up the District Court in Pontiac, each judge is responsible for a particular phase of the operation — McCallum for criminal trials, Stelt for traffic offenses and Maurice E. Finnegan for civil suits. The annual salary for each is $27,500. The state pays $18,500 and the city the balance.

Since both the criminal and traffic dockets are up to date, McCallum and Stelt will share the burden in disposing of civil cases.

"But that's not enough," said McCallum, a 14-year veteran of the bench. "They're piling up and will continue to do so until we get relief. There's no other solution.

"It would be different if someone wasn't doing his share, but that's not the case," he added. "Everybody is pitching in and doing the best they can."

PONTIAC CASES DECLINE

Oddly enough, said McCallum, until now, the number of civil cases in Pontiac has decreased over the years.

U.S. Medical Helicopter Downed, Killing 7

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today a medical evacuation helicopter was shot down in the central highlands, killing seven and bringing the war's total of choppers lost in combat to 999.

The command also belatedly announced that a helicopter shot down Jan. 15 south of Da Nang killed Col. Michael M. Spark, 41, Alexandria, Va., commander of the 3rd Marine Division's 3rd Regiment. Six others, including a Marine officer, died with him in the flaming crash. Spark was the first Marine regimental commander killed in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

The medical evacuation helicopter was downed yesterday in the central highlands 23 miles northwest of Pleiku. Three wounded Americans aboard the craft and four crewmen were killed. The command said it was clearly marked with red crosses.

In addition to the number of helicopters lost in combat, the U.S. Command said 1,316 others have been lost since Jan. 1, 1961, due to mechanical failure, enemy barrages that caught them on the ground and other causes.

2 MORE VICTIMS

Spokesman at Da Nang identified two others that died with Spark in the crash last week.

★ ★ ★

They were: Lt. Col. Ermil Lee Whisman, 39, commander of the 1st Battalion, 12 Marines, a native of Winchester, Ky., and Sgt. Major Ted McClintock, 59, of the 3rd Marine Regiment, a native of Seattle, Wash.

A spokesman said Spark was in a command helicopter directing his troops battling enemy soldiers in heavily fortified position about 30 miles south of Da Nang. The helicopter was hit by small-arms fire, crashed and burned in the jungle.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, U.S. military analysts said from now until mid-February is a critical period in the Vietnam war because of the peace talks in Paris and the new administration in Washington.

These experts do not see any imminent threat to Saigon. Instead they anticipate enemy attacks on the three provinces along the Cambodian border northwest to northeast of the capital — Tay Ninh, Binh Long and Phuoc Long.

The analysts said intelligence reports indicate the Communist command plans to increase operations in an attempt to give the negotiators from Hanoi and the Vietcong greater leverage in Paris and to put pressure on the Nixon administration while it is still shaking down.

An enemy winter-spring offensive has been anticipated since last Dec. 13, but the experts said they believe the U.S. and South Vietnamese operations that have smashed numerous bases and captured hundreds of tons of supplies have upset the Vietcong's timetable.

★ ★ ★

"The enemy is not in a position to attack Saigon right now," one source said. He conceded, however, that the Vietcong can make terror raids, blow up allied installations and pull off assassinations inside the capital.

Nixon Withdraws LBJ Nominations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has withdrawn 155 nominations — including two ambassadors, five judges and dozens of postmasters-submitted to the Senate by Lyndon Johnson in the last days of his administration.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon wants a chance to review them all case-by-case "without prejudice."

★ ★ ★

"There is a possibility," Ziegler said, "some will be renominated."

The nominees for ambassador are Robert W. Komer, former head of the Vietnam pacification program, whom Johnson named envoy to Turkey, and Albert W. Sherer Jr., a career foreign service officer who had been slated to go to Equatorial Guinea.

The five judges had been named to U.S. district courts in California, Washington, D.C. and Guam.

Ziegler was quick to point out that President Kennedy had withdrawn 1,243 Eisenhower postmaster nominations when he took office. But Ziegler said he did not know how many nominations had been submitted or subsequently reinstated.

The action also affected three men Johnson had named to the Law Enforcement Assistance Agency, created last year to help local police in the fight against crime. They are administrator Patrick V. Murphy, former director of public safety in the nation's capital, and associate administrators Ralph G. H. Siu of Hawaii and Wesley A. Pomeroy of California.

Murder Retrial Enters 5th Day

The first-degree murder retrial of R. G. Stroman, found guilty of slaying a Pontiac grocer six years ago, entered its fifth day in Oakland County Circuit Court today with Stroman acting as his own attorney.

Stroman, 35, has been boning up on the law since being sentenced to life in prison in January 1963, for his role in the shooting of Eftimias Vasiliou in his store at 309 Orchard Lake.

★ ★ ★

His conviction was set aside last month by the Michigan Supreme Court on the basis that the jury may have been prejudiced by statements made by two codefendants.

The pair — Joseph Page, then 26, and Benny L. Spells, then 23 — are serving life terms for the July 30, 1962, murder.

Stroman feels that if his own pleadings had been followed by the Supreme Court, not only would he have gotten a reversal, but would have been immediately relased from prison.

To show his dissatisfaction, he dismissed his court-appointed attorney, William E. Bolle of Royal Oak, just as his retrial got under way Monday.

Stroman, formerly of Pontiac, admits to being scared. "I get butterflies in my stomach just thinking about it," he said. "I also have a problem keeping my tongue wet. It keeps sticking to the roof of my mouth."

For Bolle, the situation isn't quite as bad, but it is embarrassing. Though fired, he has been ordered by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams to remain in the courtroom and provide Stroman with legal advice.

Ice on Lakes Too Thin as Result of the Thaw

Children and adults are warned to stay off the ice of lakes and ponds this weekend because of the unseasonably mild temperatures this past week.

Lt. Donald Kratt, head of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department Water Safety Division, said the lakes in the county have lost a six-inch base because of the weather.

He warns that it will take several days of cold weather before the ice is safe.

AFTERMATH OF TORNADO—A path of destruction a mile long was cut through Hazelhurst, Miss., yesterday as a tornado swept through the small town, leaving 10 dead. Twisters claimed another 19 lives in other sections of the state. Altogether, more than 150 persons were injured and 300 left homeless. Damage is estimated in the millions. (Story on page A-1)

Computer Failed to HEW Line on Cash

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Investigators told today about a government payroll computer which went berserk and coughed up checks to persons who had resigned two years earlier, who had already been paid once, who were on leave without pay—or who were not even employed.

Some of the persons cashed the checks anyway.

★ ★ ★

The computer was in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which installed it in 1965. A HEW study had recommended modernizing and consolidating the 73 payroll offices, because the old "decentralized system was becoming quite complex."

Then the troubles really began.

OVERLY GENEROUS

The General Accounting Office (AGO) said the payroll computer handed out thousands of dollars too much in pay, free U.S. savings bonds to people who didn't buy them and faulty year-end tax information.

The auditors estimated that the year-end tax withholding statement contained nearly $4 million in annual errors. For example, taxable income was understated by $2.8 million—which could have resulted in $402,080 in underpayments of federal income taxes in one year alone.

★ ★ ★

During a two-year period, the government auditors said, 33,154 savings bonds with a purchase price of $1,605,000 were erroneously issued—but department employes caught that error in time and ordered the bonds returned.

Teen Dies, 5 Hurt in Head-On Crash

Also injured in Miss Kiley's car were Julie A. Play, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Play, 5567 Old Carriage Lane, West Bloomfield Township, and Laura Staley, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Staley of 6678 Perham, West Bloomfield Township.

ALSO IN HOSPITAL

Miss Play was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for multiple lacerations and transferred to Straith Clinic, Detroit, where she is in satisfactory condition today. Miss Staley is in satisfactory condition with multiple lacerations at Pontiac General Hospital.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Driver of the other auto, Mrs. Jeri L. Martin, 41, of 5105 Franklin, Bloomfield Township, and her passenger, Mrs. Ruth Smith, 74, of 7136 Trathan West Bloomfield Township, were treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for multiple lacerations. Mrs. Smith is being held for observation.

★ ★ ★

The accident is still under investigation.

Treasurer Is Chosen for Stadium Authority

Budd Findlay, land development coordinator for the Pontiac planning and urban renewal office, has been chosen to serve as treasurer for the newly formed Stadium Authority.

★ ★ ★

Officers were chosen Wednesday. Other positions are held by men appointed to the five-member body by the City Commission. The authority has power to negotiate for a professional sports' domed stadium for Pontiac if Detroit's professional baseball and football teams choose to move here.

★ ★ ★

Other authority officers are Harold Cousins, chairman; Robert Eldred, vice chairman; and Howard H. Fitzgerald II, secretary. Also serving are D. B. Eames and Charles F. Brown.

WAITING FOR PADDY WAGONS—Helmeted and shotgun-carrying police ring a number of demonstrators at San Francisco State College yesterday, waiting for the arrival of police vans to cart them to jail. Some 400 persons were arrested as police broke up a forbidden rally.

'Court to Need 4th Judge'

"When I started, 17,000 civil cases were coming through the court each year, but as the backlog increased, new cases were taken outside the city where justices could settle them quickly," McCallum said. "Eventually the civil cases in the city declined."

★ ★ ★

Now that there's no justices of the peace, McCallum noted that the district judges who have jurisdiction in areas far larger than justices will be unable to handle the overflow if they are to keep their own dockets current.

McCallum said that there is no place in the state that has the volume of cases as Pontiac.

Among the reasons for the increased number of civil cases is the fact that the limitation on damage claims has been raised from $500 in Municipal Court to $3,000 in District Court. Previously, claims over $500 had to be filed in circuit court.

"Really, the load is appalling," he said. "If another judge was brought in from outstate and shown what we are up against — he'd probably just laugh because he wouldn't know what else to do."

McCallum said that despite the work load, there will be no change in one program that has proved highly successful and kept literally hundreds of persons from going bankrupt.

Created by state law, but used almost exclusively in Pontiac, the program allows a person to turn his pay check over to the court, which in turn divides it among his creditors. Only a portion of the pay is kept by the debtors. Last year, the court paid out $800,000 for debts.

The likelihood that the city will get another judge will create some new headaches for city administrators who will have to find him a courtroom.

Even now there are only two courtrooms for three judges, with Stelt using any court he can find vacant.

Globe-Trotting Teen Beauty Back in State

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Miss Pamela Martin, the globe-trotting daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Martin, 1281 Twin Maples, is back from a three-week trip to the Far East.

The current holder of the Miss Teen U.S.A. title visited Japan under the auspices of the World Beauty Congress and several Japanese department stores.

★ ★ ★

She modeled clothing and made numerous public appearances in Osaka, Tokyo, Kyoto and other major Japanese cities.

RETURNS TO U. OF M.

The township miss returns today to Ann Arbor where she is a freshman at the University of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

It will be strictly studies for Miss Martin until March when she is off again to Los Angeles to reign over activities of the 1969 Miss Teen U.S.A. contest.

★ ★ ★

Her biggest impressions of Japan: the growing trend of Japanese people toward living and dressing American style; green tea and Japan's celebrated unusual food (seaweed, snails, etc.).

She was happy to find plenty of American food in Japan.

PRO-AMERICAN

Miss Martin said she found a strong proAmerica sentiment among the Japanese youth she met. "I was very impressed with the enthusiasm of Japanese youth towards the United States," she added.

★ ★ ★

Miss Martin plans to attend the University of Michigan for one more year, then head for New York for fashion school and hopefully a career in fashion and design.

★ ★ ★

A three day stopover in Hawaii left the 18-year-old time for some sun, which should be the envy of her winter-weary fellow students.

DST Loss Margin Now Down to 300

LANSING (UPI) — The margin of defeat on the Daylight Savings Time issue continues to narrow in the recount. It now stands at about 300 votes.

So far 2,200 of 2,700 selected precincts in about 60 counties have been recounted. Bernard Apol, state elections director, today said the other 500 should be done by the first of next week.

★ ★ ★

Nearly all precincts in Wayne County have been rechecked, and Apol said election officials are waiting mainly for rural counties to report.

So far, the largest error has been found in Huron County where a net gain of over 300 votes were picked up by the yes side.

★ ★ ★

The Nov. 5 ballot proposal was thought to have passed by 25,000 votes following the election but a close check by the State Board of Canvassers disclosed fast time had gone down by 1,501 votes. After the defeat, fast time backers called for the recount.

Rights Panel's Report on City Due Monday

The Michigan Civil Rights Commission will disclose its findings on race relations in Pontiac in a report and hearing at 10 a.m. Monday at City Hall, East Pike and East Wide Track.

★ ★ ★

The commission held a series of weeklong hearings in the city last June. Officials and private citizens gave testimony on racial practices to the hearing board.

★ ★ ★

Monday's report will reveal the commission's findings. Another public hearing will follow issuance of the report, the commission disclosed.

State Citizens May Be Last in Line to See Capitol Plans

LANSING (AP)—Apparently the citizens of Michigan will be the last to learn what their proposed new state capitol will look like.

Architects have agreed on a design and are ready to submit it to the executive office, the Legislature and the Supreme Court. The transition from ex-Gov. George Romney to Gov. William Milliken this week has delayed consideration for a time.

* * *

Meanwhile, the architects say they are under orders from the Legislature's Joint Capital Outlay Committee to reveal no information about the new structure—which will cost taxpayers an estimated $45 million to $50 million.

About $500,000 has been spent so far in planning the new capitol. Milliken's 1969-70 state budget proposals include $5 million for further work.

AVOIDING CRITICS

"The committee said that it isn't fair to have a lot of people criticizing the thing before we show it to them," said A. N. Languis, director of the executive office's building division.

Languis said the committee, which has been studying different proposals from the Detroit architectural firm of Smith, Hynchman & Grillis, decided legislators should not first learn of the Capitol plans through "press clippings."

* * *

"There is a protocol, and rightfully so," he said.

Robert Yokum, an architect with the Detroit firm who has been working closely with the committee, said he had been instructed not to release any pictures or models of the proposed structure, or to discuss details.

MODEL IS READY

Languis added that a model has been built and is ready to be submitted to the governor and the committee for consultations. He added the process might get underway within 30 days.

* * *

Approval of both the Legislature and the governor would be needed for the proposed new capitol.

Fuel Supplies Adequate in Detroit Despite Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Gasoline and fuel oil supplies remained adequate if not excessive in Detroit Thursday as the 25-state strike against six oil companies continued.

Scattered settlements were reported across the country, but about 45,000 of the 60,000 Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union members remained on strike.

In Detroit, negotiations with Mobil—termed the "key company by officials of Local 7-389—were scheduled to get under way today. The major issue is a union demand that retirement ages by lowered from 65 to 62.

Meanwhile a Wayne County Circuit Court suit brought by Shell Oil Co. against the union was postponed until Feb. 7. Shell had claimed union members interfered with activities of nonstriking employes at a storage facility.

Locally affected oil companies include Mobil, Shell, Sinclair, Gulf and Texaco. The union reached agreement with Pure.

Project OK Would Bring Radical Lapeer Face-Lift

LAPEER — The face of this city may be radically changed if the $5.1-million urban renewal plan now pending before the City Commission is approved.

A proposed $1.6-million parking ramp, the most costly single part of the program, has drawn objections from some residents. A hearing was held last week.

★ ★ ★

But, even if the ramp does not become a part of the finished project, some large changes will be in store for Lapeer's central business district (CBD).

★ ★ ★

The renewal project as presently constituted is only the first phase of a long-range plan envisioned for the CBD by the city's planning consultants, Vilican-Leman and Associates of Southfield.

'TWOFOLD PROBLEMS'

A presentation prepared by the planning firm sees the problems of the present downtown area as twofold — aesthetic and physical.

★ ★ ★

"The existing 100-foot right-of-way (along Nepessing, the main street)," the planners point out, "has too much vehicular movement, inadequate parking, long, dull and uninteresting building lines, uninviting pedestrian walks, and a lack of pedestrian spaces."

★ ★ ★

To relieve pedestrians from boredom and entice them into the CBD, Vilican-Leman proposes to curve Nepessing, and allow on-street parking in the spaces between curves so parked cars would not obstruct traffic.

★ ★ ★

Additional parking at a convenient walking distance from the CBD would be provided by the controversial parking ramp suggested at Nepessing and Cedar, which would have a first floor devoted to retail stores.

ONE-WAY LOOP

The planners also suggest a loop road running counterclockwise around the CBD. The loop will be created by converting Mason, Clay, Pine and Park to one-way traffic.

★ ★ ★

The first phase of the renewal is scheduled for completion by 1975. Vilican-Leman's long-range plan, running through 1990, calls for conversion of the entire area within the loop road to a pedestrian mall.

★ ★ ★

"Cross streets would not be allowed within the core area and alleys would serve as secondary malls open only to service vehicles at designated times," the presentation explains.

★ ★ ★

The county courthouse area, on the southeast corner of Nepessing and Cedar, would be preserved and a plaza added to provide green space.

COMPACT CHARACTER

Vilican-Leman also proposes four parking structures, commenting, "Long range goals demand the use of multi-level parking structures as land costs rise and room for expansion shrinks. The retail core (CBD) must maintain a compact character if it is to effectively serve shopping needs; yet, it must offer convenient, efficient storage areas for vehicles."

★ ★ ★

The first phase project, the presentation adds, is designed to provide a basis for further growth when and if desired.

Legislator Urges Colleges to Set Student Guidelines

A Republican state senator has asked university administrators in the state to set up guidelines for college students, warning that disruptions on college campuses could spell the end to the survival of our free educational society.

KUHN

Sen. George Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield Township, also asked the state's college and university officials to comment on the possibility of legislative action to control "such activist groups" as Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

★ ★ ★

In a letter sent to all university and college presidents in the State, Kuhn said:

"Minority groups on a number of university campuses throughout Michigan have been participating on a continuing basis with many disruptive tactics . . .

'SMALL PERCENTAGE'

"In most cases," he added, "these immoral, improper and sometimes illegal incidents have been caused by a very small percentage of students."

★ ★ ★

Kuhn cited one case in which he said 50 SDS students had been "the catalysts for all their troubles" at a university of 5,000 students.

★ ★ ★

"These forms of activity have made mockery of the academic freedom accorded to our institutions of higher learning," he said.

"If this trend does not stop," Kuhn said, he is of the opinion could advocate more legislative controls on the autonomy of our colleges and universities."

'ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY'

Kuhn said it was "absolutely necessary" that all university officials and student legislative bodies review campus problems and set up whatever standards "necessary for the students' welfare.

"It is the joint responsibility of the university administrators, student leaders and public officials to do whatever is necessary to restore the peace that must prevail on our college campuses to maintain our educational system," Kuhn said.

Need Stressed for Relief Drain

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Necessity for a central relief trunk drain costing an estimated $1.07 million has been declared by the Township Board.

The line, about 10,000 feet long when completed, would connect with the existing Nichols Drain at 14 Mile and Lahser and run north on Lahser to 15 Mile with two extensions. One extension would run westerly about 1,500 feet extending from the southeast corner of Maple and Lahser.

★ ★ ★

An easterly extension would run across Maple to Tuckahoe. The line would run along Tuckahoe for about 1,000 feet and then extend north stopping at Roland.

★ ★ ★

A hearing on cost apportionment will be scheduled once construction plans are completed. A township official said the regular pattern of financing drains in Oakland County has been through an at-large tax.

A YEAR AWAY

A spokesman for Hubbell, Roth and Clark Inc., engineers for the project, said actual construction of the sewer line probably will not begin for better than a year.

★ ★ ★

The drain was petitioned for through the Oakland County Drain Commissioner's Office under the chapter 20 provision of the state drain act.

★ ★ ★

Flooding conditions during heavy rainfall over the past several years resulted in the need for the trunk drain.

Lake Orion School Vote Is Tomorrow

LAKE ORION — This school district [illegible] special election tomorrow on [illegible] mill property tax levy for [illegible] Polls open at 7 a.m.

★ ★ ★

School Supt. Lewis Mundy has said that the district's present educational [illegible] cannot be maintained unless the renewal is approved. The five-year [illegible] first approved by voters in 1963, expired last month.

★ ★ ★

The 4 mills asked will amount to about $[illegible],000 annually in tax income, according to the superintendent. The district's current tax rate, which will remain the same if the renewal passes, is 23.75, the lowest in Oakland County.

Lapeer County Surplus?

News Analysis

By TOM GRAY

Financialy, 1968 was a good year for Lapeer County. At least, County Treasurer Lyle Goodrich's figures say so.

The question now is, how good?

Board of Supervisors Chairman Paul Herpolsheimer commented, "That's a good question."

The board spent some time at its last meeting discussing reports that the county closed out 1968 with a surplus on the order of $110,000.

MIXED BLESSING?

With several county departments arguing the case for more money this year, the news may well prove a mixed blessing.

The new seven-man board of supervisors, for example, has inherited negotiations with the union representing the county sheriff's deputies.

The negotiations have been dragging on for about three months, with the deputies, offered a $400 raise and Blue Cross insurance coverage, holding out for further pay hikes.

In drawing up the $1-million county budget approved last month, the old board of supervisors also trimmed fund requests from the friend of court's office, the prosecutor's office and the department of social services.

THORNY QUESTION

The question of a surplus, therefore, is a thorny one — and the situation is further clouded by the fact that the county's auditing system leaves considerable room for discussion.

Under the county system, according to Goodrich, the books are closed out and balanced as of Dec. 31, with unpaid bills being carried over to the next month.

★ ★ ★

"Historically, we've never gone on cost accounting (in which accounts receivable and payable are balanced along with expenses and income already spent or received)," explained Goodrich. "In a year, we have 12 months' bills and 12 months' receipts — the only thing is that December's bills are paid in the next January."

Herpolsheimer, however, pointed out that a number of 1968 bills are still unpaid — and suggested that the total might be larger than in previous years.

BIG ROAD JOB

"When they closed the books for the year," he noted, "one department hadn't even drawn its total 1968 budget. Also, there's a big road job which we haven't paid yet.

"We don't have all the facts yet," Herpolsheimer summed up, "and it's a little hard to judge."

★ ★ ★

The board of supervisors has requested a detailed report on last year's budget from Goodrich, in order to determine if there is a pie yet to be split and, if so, how large it is.

With the county's contingency fund shriveled to $5,000 in the 1969 budget, any extra funds will no doubt come in handy.

County Point Race in Red-Hot Battle

There's no longer a runaway for the 1968-69 Oakland County high school basketball scoring championship.

Through most of the first half of the campaign, it looked as if slender Tim Megge of Orchard Lake St. Mary would easily wrap up his second straight scoring crown.

He may still win it, but easy it won't be.

MEGGE SECOND

For the first time since the opening of the season Megge finds himself chasing someone else in the scoring race.

★ ★ ★

Heading the pack now is 6-4 junior Greg Carter of Roeper School who has compiled a 27.4 average through 10 games.

Megge, held to 42 points in two contests last week, is hot on Carter's heels with a mark of 26.6.

And just a shade behind that twosome is sharp-shooting Sam Brady of Pontiac Catholic.

★ ★ ★

The spotlight will be on Megge and Brady and both their teams tonight.

OLSM, 10-0 in the Northwest Catholic League, plays host to Pontiac Catholic, in second place in the loop with a 9-1 mark. OLSM won their first meeting, 70-53.

LEADS SVC

Well out in front in the Saginaw Valley Conference scoring race is 6-9 Ken Brady of Flint Central, the pacesetter in the SVC with a 6-0 record.

DETERMINATION — Johnny Pott, defending champion of the Crosby National Pro-Am tournament, is a picture of grim determination as he whacks the ball out of a deep rough on the 8th green at Cypress Point yesterday. He took a bogie-5 on the hole but it didn't count as the entire first round of the tournament was washed out by heavy rain.

Retirement May Be Serious for Namath

NEW YORK (AP) — Only Joe Namath could top Joe Namath when it comes to startling the pro football world, and Broadway Joe has in mind an encore for his Super Bowl triumph with the New York Jets.

Namath, pro football's bonus boy at the tender age of 25, is talking about retiring. Don't laugh. Remember Sandy Koufax and Jimmy Brown?

Although he is the sports' No. 1 star with a bushel full of money and maybe more Super Bowls ahead of him, he listed some pretty good reasons for getting out now, while he still is on top.

"The legs are the main problem," he said, reaffirming a simple off-hand comment Wednesday that he is considering the possibility of retiring.

PULLED SHOCKER

Brown, Cleveland's great running back, shocked the sports world by retiring before the 1966 season for a movie career. Koufax, baseball's superstar, after pitching Los Angeles to the pennant in 1966, retired because of a painful elbow ailment.

"You have to make it while you're on top before you get destroyed," said Namath, who has been bothered by knee trouble in both legs since his college days at Alabama. He has undergone three operations on them and still plays in pain.

"It's been a long season and with rest they might be better," Namath said. "But the way I feel now, retirement is something that has to be considered.

"I know I couldn't have played in the second half of the All-Star game at Jacksonville if I had to."

He denied that retirement talk might be a means toward getting a better contract from the Jets. "If I can't play, I can't play. I'll just be physically not capable. The doctor will have to decide that," he said.

One thing that Namath will consider is his teammates.

DOCTOR'S VERDICT

"There would be a sense of letting them down if I quit," he explained.

Namath said he already has told Ewbank that he is considering retiring.

Ewbank, by the way, had been working on a three-year contract at $50,000 a year, and his job had been rumored in jeopardy until the Jets won the American Football League's biggest upsets in the Super Bowl.

The terms of Ewbank's new contract were not disclosed, but it certainly must have been a good one. Now all he has to worry about is keeping Namath in a Jet's uniform.

College Loop Sees Changes

More Liberal Rules Asked by Southeast

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Southeastern Conference's always controversial football grants-in-aid limits faced another change today when the men with the votes, the presidents of the 10 member schools, met to consider demands for more liberal rules.

Conference athletic directors and football coaches, winding up their two-way meeting Thursday, are asking the presidents to establish a scholarship "bank" in which schools that fail to sign the present limit of 40 one year can carry up to five of the difference over to the next year.

CARRYOVER PLAN

A school would not be allowed to sign more than 40, the present limit, in the first year of such period but could "bank" up to five and thus be able to sign up to 45 new football players the following year.

If adopted by the presidents, the rule would replace an overall of 125 limit on the number of football players on scholarships.

The 80-in-two rule would wipe out the overall limit and permit a school, counting "red shirts" (five-year men), to have up to 200 football players on scholarships at one time.

St. Clair JC Among Rated

DODGE CITY, Kan. (UPI) — Port Huron, (St. Clair) Junior College is listed 13th among the nation's two-year institutions in basketball, the latest poll showed Thursday.

San Jacinto of Pasadena, Tex., was ranked No. 1 with a 22-1 mark for the second week in a row.

Michigan Lutheran Overcomes Stall

PERRYSBURG, Ohio (AP)— Penta Tech of Ohio tried to use a game - long stall to get even with a 40 - point basketball drubbing suffered earlier this season, but still lost to rampaging Michigan Lutheran College Thursday night, 56-51.

The win gave the Saints a 16-1 record for the season, including that 86-46 victory over Penta. The Wolves' record for the season is 8-7.

Track Event at Astrodome

HOUSTON (UPI) — The first track meet ever held in the Astrodome opens tonight, and as usual with this city's plastic-roofed, plastic-grassed showcase, everything will be first class.

There will be 1,367 athletes on hand for the two-day show and a fistful of world indoor records are forecast.

Penn State 11 Wins at Bank

By The Associated Press

Penn State came out of the year end football bowls the big winner, both on the scoreboard and at the bank.

As an independent university it keeps all of its share of about $330,000 from the Orange Bowl where the Nittany Lions defeated Kansas 15-14. Kansas must whack up its $330,000 with the Big Eight conference, a rule that applies in one form or another for all the other conferences.

★ ★ ★

No exact figures are ever announced on the Rose Bowl, the biggest and richest of them all, but with a sellout crowd of 102,063 and a rich television contract, the Big Ten and the Pacific-8 are each reputed to get around $1 million.

The Big Ten divides its share up 11 ways, two-parts going to the team that played, and one to each other conference member. This amounts to about $100,000 per share. The Pacific-8 divides its portion equally among the eight conference schools. In the Rose Bowl, Ohio State dumped Southern California and O. J. Simpson 27-16.

MUST SPLIT

In the Gator Bowl, each team received about $190,000 but Missouri, the winner over Alabama 35-10, must share its prize with others in the Big Eight and Alabama must split with members of the Southeastern Conference, with Alabama keeping $115,000.

In the Bluebonnet, where Southern Methodist took a squeaker from Oklahoma 28-27, the team shares were the biggest ever, about $192,000, with SMU keeping $100,000 and sharing the rest with Southwest Conference teams. Oklahoma's Big Eight counterparts were also cut in. The previous record was $160,000 each to Texas and Mississippi in 1967.

★ ★ ★

The Sugar Bowl was a rich one. Here Arkansas beat Georgia 16-2 and each reportedly got $250,000. Georgia kept $115,000, with the balance split among Southeastern Conference teams, while Arkansas kept $100,000 and split the rest with the Southwest Conference.

The Cotton Bowl also was lucrative. Texas and Tennessee each received about $300,000. Texas kept $100,000 and divided the balance into eight shares, with seven going to Southwest Conference members and the eighth to Texas itself. Tennessee kept $115,000 and split the rest with the Southeastern Conference. Texas won 36-13.

Favor Porsche in Rally at Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI) —Porsche was a strong favorite to win the 38th Monte Carlo rally today.

With results in from three of the seven tests, Porsches driven by Swedish and British teams maintained a commanding lead in the rally. Third was a French-driven Alpine Renault.

★ ★ ★

Although road conditions in the mountains around this principality had improved, ice and snow were expected to eliminate about half the 43 cars which started out from Monte Carlo Thursday night.

Swedish farmer Bjorn Waldegaard and his teammate Lars Helmers, driving a Porsche, were in first place after the first three tests.

CLOSE BEHIND

Last year's rally winners Vic Elford and David Stone of Britain, were close behind in another Porsche with 16,276 points. The Britons were reported anxious to pass the Swedes to capture a rare second consecutive trophy.

★ ★ ★

Another battle was on among three French teams for third place. They found themselves in the unusual situation of driving three different foreign models — an Alpine, a Porsche and a Ford.

Pay Hikes OK'd

HOLLAND (AP) — The Holland City Council, by a 7-2 vote, has approved pay hikes for themselves and the mayor, but the hikes must be approved by the public at an April 7 election. Councilmen approved a $600-a-year salary boost, giving them $750, and the mayor was granted a $300 increase to $1,500.

Scoring Up at Several Lanes

The pinspilling was spread around better the past seven days with three classic leagues reporting strong performances.

Huron Bowl's good scoring continued in the Friday men's Classic with Tom Mayes rolling 11 straight strikes for a 290 game to help Joyce's Standard Service to an 1134 game, the third best team actual listed this season.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Janitor Supply, behind Bill Kirkland's 214-247—657, hit a 3110 series. The high individual series was posted by Doug Swords of Herk's Auto Supply. His figures were 249-215—677 to just edge out Bob Gronzo (Oxford Merchants) with his 233-231—675.

Bill Crawford of Gniewek's Trophies rolled a 279 in a 668, and Mike Samardzija Jr. recorded a pair of 226s in his 663.

MASTERS

Monday night at Wonderland Lanes in the Masters League, Jack Morys paced the scoring with 245—687, although Dudley Steinhilber had a 247 game. Dave Martens hit a 240. Frank Hockstine's 644 was the next best series. Jerry Dunkel had a 237 in a 609.

★ ★ ★

Mory's Pro Shop posted 1038-1022 actuals but missed the 3,000-pin mark by 35 pins. It also trails league-leader Sportsman's Bar by .971 of a Peterson point.

West Side Lanes' late classic league that night featured a 1097—3189 effort by the Pontiac Janitor Supply team for the season's fourth best actual team series.

Dick Beamer's 247—672 duo and Dave Sherman's 278 game commanded the individual spotlight. Rich Toles produced a 251 game, and Joe Foster had a 650 series.

Ed Austreng's 640, Al Pietz's 244, Bob Moore's 243 and Arnie Osta's 241 also rate mentioning.

Tuesday night at Highland Lanes there was a season high and perhaps all-time high performance for the establishment. The Wozniak Farms entry in the Highland Businessmen's League rocked the pins for an 1107 actual, the sixth best team game reported in the area this season.

★ ★ ★

John Wozniak led the assault with 252. Jim Haggerty hit 242, Joe Kocsis 231 and Gene Morin a 204 all in their first game of the night.

BOWLING CLAN — Pat Sweeney (top), one of the top-average men locally, and his sister Marie Reynolds, who has set the women's high series at two area establishments, are two of the 12 Charles Sweeney children who have been active in bowling around Pontiac.

By JERE CRAIG

Need an idea for a new bowling league? How about a family league with a real clan plan!

Specifically, the Charles Sweeney descendants could take over a 16-lane establishment and fill it by themselves.

Sweeney, a Lake Orion resident until his death last summer, was an active bowler and set the all-time high at Royal Recreation in Lake Orion. The former plastering contractor bowled locally more than 25 years and hit his peak with a 279—740 night at Royal.

He and his wife Florence produced 12 children, all of whom have bowled. Most of them are still active in leagues, or have spouses and youngsters who are now bowling.

★ ★ ★

Several of the Sweeney "children" are highly regarded as bowlers. Pat Sweeney is one of the area's outstanding classic league keglers. He has 21 sanctioned 700 series, including one when he was 19 years old.

Pat had a perfect game in the Huron Bowl Classic and on the opposing team that night three years ago was his brother Bill, who also has a sanctioned 700.

YOUNGEST

The youngest of the five brothers, Bob has just returned to keg competition this season after a military tour; while brothers Don and Mike are currently on the inactive list.

Among the seven daughters Marie Bradley has been the most productive on the lanes, at least. She recently set an all-time high for women at Sylvan Lanes with a 664 series.

Two seasons ago she set the high mark at Airway Lanes with a 661 and her personal best is a 667 at Huron Bowl. During the 1966-67 season she carried a 183 average in two leagues.

Sisters June Spear and Doris Ann Penala bowl regularly at Sylvan and Orchard Lanes, respectively. Gloria Herzfeld is sitting out the current season, and also limited to open bowling are Charleen Collins and Lee Ann Seyler.

GRANDCHILDREN

Both Lee Ann and Gloria's husbands are bearing the family colors on the lanes. In addition, at least five grandchildren already are completing in the youth program at Collier Lanes.

"Dad really enjoyed the sport," Marie said. "He loved to watch the boys bowl Friday nights at Huron. He didn't push any of us into bowling; everyone that tried it seemed to enjoy it.

"We all had the same interests. Gloria and I stopped at Huron the night Pat had his 300. We got there after he had the first eight; it was quite a thrill for all of us," she noted.

★ ★ ★

The longtime employe of P. T. Standard Parts Co. admits that her first 600 is another special moment in her own keg career which now is in its 12th season.

While Mama Sweeney was the only one who didn't have a chance to bowl — she was too busy raising 12 children — she may yet have an opportunity to enjoy the lane antics and accomplishments of the grandchildren who already are becoming quite competitive.

Bowlers of the Month in Huron Bowl's December eliminations are Marge Hagerman (576 in the finals) and Art Beatty (651).

Blind Wrestler Keeps His 'Sight' on Winning

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Steve Welch wrestles at the University of California. He was undefeated in 16 matches as a freshman and has a 3-3 record this year in varsity competition.

Steve Welch also is blind.

California wrestled against Washington State last Saturday. Welch was losing with 10 seconds left. He came up with a two-point reversal to win and set up a Cal victory.

Welch, 20, lives in nearby Hayward. He has been blind since birth as has his sister, Sharon, 23, who was graduated from Cal last June.

DOESN'T INTERFERE

He has not let his blindness interfere with his life. He waterskies, dates frequently and refuses to use a seeing-eye dog because it would tie him down.

Welch began wrestling in high school. "It was really hard in the beginning. My feet used to get tangled up and I'd be taken down every match.

"Once I gained experience, I found I would wrestle on even terms even though I couldn't see them. Most guys try to lock up, so I know where they are."

GOOD TIMING

Welch lives in a dormitory a block from school and wends his way through the crowded campus with amazing accuracy and timing. He had a B average last semester.

Coach Bill Martell thinks Welch is championship material.

"He's a soph and made the varsity, which is hard to do here. The guy he beat from Washington State was runner-up in the conference last year," Martell said.

Eagle Keglers Continue in Tourney Play

State Entries Back in Action at Savoy Lanes in City

Waterford Eagles Aerie No. 2887 had their "two days" last weekend and now the other members of the state association will begin firing away at the local entries' totals in the 27th annual Eagles State Tournament at Savoy Lanes.

The leaders in the three divisions reported all are from the Waterford Aerie. The only other state Eagles group to compete last weekend was from Albion and its members hold only third and fourth places in the doubles.

★ ★ ★

But Eagles keglers from Battle Creek, Sturgis, Owosso and Cheboygan will be invading Savoy tomorrow and Sunday in hopes of distributing the laurels better.

★ ★ ★

All three events are close. One pin separates the top two teams, four pins distinguish the doubles leaders, and there's a three-pin difference atop the singles.
