N. Viets Are Warned of Stiffer Air Raids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara warned North Viet Nam today that it will suffer more bombing attacks like the one that knocked out a key electric power plant near Haiphong yesterday.

He blandly refrained, however from characterizing the air strike near North Viet Nam's industrial heart as the start of significant escalation of the war.

STAR WITNESS HONORED—Margaret Allen, key figure in smashing a gambling operation at the Stren Assembly Club in Madison Heights in 1963, was honored yesterday at a Bloomfield Hills Country Club luncheon sponsored by The Pontiac Press. The 29-year-old stenographer received a plaque and $500 from Pontiac Press Publisher Harold A. Fitzgerald. Miss Allen acted as an undercover agent for the State Police. Officials connected with the case attended.

tacks will reveal a spreading air campaign against a new list of targets in the strategic Hanoi-Haiphong area.

McNamara's statements, made on his return from the winter NATO meeting in Paris, came as officials sought to discourage the idea yesterday's attack opened a new phase in the bombing campaign.

The State Department said that aircraft had bombed that close to the port city of Haiphong before. But the targets were different — bridges and rail lines.

SAME TACK

McNamara took the same tack in his planless news conference saying that the power plant bombing was "representative of the type of attacks we have been making and will be making against North Vietnamese targets."

Earlier attacks of the type, however, were against power plants far down the coast from the sensitive Hanoi-Haiphong area and they have been few in number.

McNamara told newsmen the Wednesday attack was aimed at crippling industries producing ammunition and supplies for infiltration through Laos to South Viet Nam.

The industries got electricity from the UI Bong plant 14 miles northeast of Haiphong, McNamara said. He also said the bombing was "appropriate" re-compense for the Viet Cong's increased terrorism in the South.

PREVIOUS OCCASIONS

On seven previous occasions, in the midst of hundreds of missions against supply lines in the North, there have been announced strikes against power plants.

Not long ago, U.S. officials were ruling out bombing of targets in Hanoi and Haiphong, partly on grounds that it could provoke Red China into greater participation in the war and partly on grounds that the chief objective should be supply and communication lines.

Pontiac Area Due More Cloudy Skies

The weatherman reports skies will continue cloudy with intermittent light snow or flurries tonight through Friday.

Temperatures falling to 22 to 30 tonight will rise to 30 to 36 tomorrow. Little change is expected Saturday.

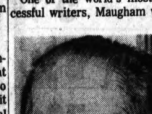

Today's westerly winds at 10 to 18 miles per hour will continue.

A brisk 28 was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The 2 p.m. recording was 32.

Author Maugham Dies at Villa

NICE, France (AP) — British author W. Somerset Maugham died early today at his beloved Riviera villa La Mauresque after he was returned there unconscious from a Nice hospital. He was 91 and suffered a stroke six days ago.

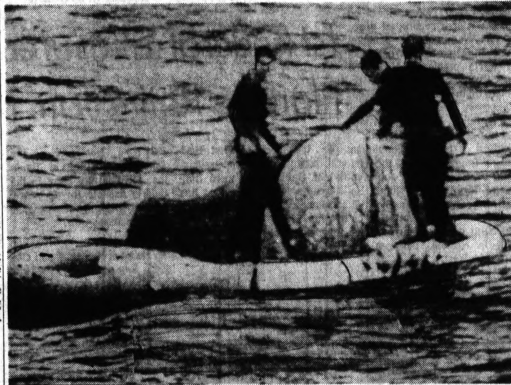

One of the world's most successful writers, Maugham wrote 30 plays, 26 novels and 120 short stories during a career that spanned more than a half-century.

His masterpiece was the novel "Of Human Bondage," published in 1915 when he was 41. It told of a club-footed medical student's romance with a stately waitress who disdained him.

In 1946 Maugham presented the manuscript, valued by doctors at close to $50,000, to the Library of Congress in appreciation of America's hospitality.

Another success was "Mistress," the short story about the prostitute and the preacher which John Colton and Clemence Randolph turned into the play "Rain," one of the perennial hits of the theater. Several movie versions were also made.

Hospital Says Nurse's Error Caused Death

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — A nurse's mistake resulted in a fatal overdose of hydrochloric acid for a ulcer patient, a hospital disclosed here yesterday.

Lester G. Johnson, administrator of Swedish Hospital here, said the nurse omitted a decimal point and the word "diluted" in copying a physician's prescription.

As a result, the patient, Arne Nelson, 54, Edina, Minn., swallowed a 4 per cent hydrochloric acid solution instead of the scheduled 4 per cent diluted solution.

Nelson's physician, Dr. Hamlin Mattson, said the solution was prescribed to keep the stomach lining free of bacteria during surgery for bleeding ulcers.

When the nurse gave the solution to Nelson, he immediately developed abdominal pain. The pain was relieved with a sodium bicarbonate solution, but Nelson died two days later.

Johnson described the nurse, whose name he withheld, as "one of our best" and "extremely conscientious."

New President Active in Chamber 3 Years

A General Motors executive has been elected president of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce at a meeting yesterday.

Kenneth S. Miller, assistant traffic manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division, will succeed Charles F. Brown, Pontiac manager of Consumers Power Co., in the top chamber post.

Miller of 29 Lincoln was formerly first vice president of the businessmen's group.

He has been active in chamber activities for three years and was chairman of that group's traffic safety committee.

Other activities have included the presidency of the Pontiac Traffic Club, exalted ruler of Pontiac Elks Lodge 810 and vice chairman of the 1961 Centennial celebration.

NEW OFFICERS

Other new chamber officers include Harold B. Euler, Pontiac General Hospital administrator, first vice president; Alvin V. Conner, director of Industrial Relations Fisher Body plant, second vice president; Eugene Russell, district manager of Michigan Bell Telephone Co., secretary and Alvin Steinman, owner of Alvin's Pontiac, treasurer.

NOTABLE WORKS

Among his other notable works were "The Moon and Sixpence" (1919), based on the life of a painter Paul Gauguin; "Cakes and Ale" (1930), which aroused much comment for its lampoon of author Hugh Walpole; and "The Razor's Edge" (1944), a story of an American turning to mysticism in India.

Johnson Gets Firm Support of AFL-CIO

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The AFL-CIO emerged today from its 10th anniversary convention more united than ever and a growing source of political strength for President Johnson and the Democratic party.

Despite differences over some issues, the big labor federation gave solid support to any measures Johnson decides to use in the Viet Nam war and threw its weight behind his Great Society program at home.

Nearly 1,000 delegates also voiced approval of union efforts to elect 51 congressmen, mostly Democrats, who are considered friendly to AFL-CIO aims during the 1966 campaign.

Agreement between George Meany, AFL-CIO president and auto workers chief Walter P. Reuther, was virtually complete despite their bitter public feuds in the past.

Only Paul Hall, president of the Seafarers Union and AFL-CIO vice president, injected an anti-administration note during the windup of the weeklong meeting yesterday.

LASHED OUT

Hall lashed out at Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, the departments of state, commerce and labor and unnamed "bureaucrats" who he said were not showing true friendship for unions.

"We are not the arms of the administration," Hall told the convention. "We are not the tail of the Democratic party donkey."

Merchant marine policy, he charged, has been reducing the number of available American ships to send cargo to Southeast Asia, thus "sabotaging" the war effort in Viet Nam.

In a resolution approved without dissent, delegates representing 13 million union members declared the Viet Cong forces were part of a Communist drive for world domination.

Astronauts Get a Big Welcome

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford rode the red-hot Gemini 6 spaceship back to earth today, triumphantly climaxing the great rendezvous adventure that brought the United States closer to the gateway to the moon.

Schirra guided the little spacecraft through its blazing reentry to an expert landing in the Atlantic Ocean, just 12 miles from the aircraft carrier Wasp.

Schirra came closer by far to his target than any other Gemini pilot, although not quite close enough to allow a visual sighting by the hundreds of sailors crowding the deck of the carrier. But planes of the recovery force tracked him on radar.

One hour and four minutes after the splashdown, the Gemini 6 was hoisted aboard the carrier with Schirra and Stafford still inside.

They had opened the hatches to let in some cool air, but declined a helicopter pickup.

The sailors of the Wasp, decked out in bright white tropical uniforms in honor of the returning space heroes, cheered them as they stepped out on deck.

FIRST-HAND LOOK

Marine guards stood station in front of ropes holding back the sailors, who thronged into the hangar bay to get a first-hand look at the astronauts.

The ship's hand played loudly and a color guard stood by bearing flags of the National Space and Aeronautics Administration and all the military services.

A big sign on the wall of the hangar deck read, "Schirra-Stafford: Spirit of '76."

With the same skill he showed in the 18,000-mile chase of Gemini 7 and the rendezvous high above the earth, Schirra gave the other Gemini pilots a mark to shoot at when he landed. The earlier Gemini astronauts missed their targets ships by 40 to 100 miles.

RED CARPET

Walking a red carpet laid down by the Marines, Schirra and Stafford went directly to sick bay for medical examinations.

Planes in the recovery force quickly reached Gemini 6 as it bobbed in the water and got the cheering report from the capsule: "We're in great shape."

Astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. were nearby in the Gemini 7 when Schirra fired a blast of retro rockets.

Crashed in Black Sea

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — A U.S. Air Force B57 crashed into the Black Sea two days ago, the Turkish Defense Ministry reported today. An announcement said a Turkish destroyer and a freighter went to the scene, about 90 miles north of Samsum, but it did not say what they found. A B57 normally carries a crew of two.

vous "a great success," but added, in an article from its New York correspondent, S. Kondrashov:

"American experts stress that while their country has advanced to first place as to duration of man-hours in space, it still lags behind the U.S.S.R. in the power of rocket boosters and the size of space ships."

The Soviet Union has not launched a manned spaceship since March 19, when Alexi Leonov became the first man to walk in space.

Investia gave a detailed description of the feat by the two Geminis, saying Walter M. Schirra Jr. especially distinguished himself in the handling of Gemini 6, achieving rendezvous, thanks to "a number of complicated and accurately executed maneuvers."

Prior to this the Soviet Union was slow to comment as usual. The official news agency Tass reported factually on the mission but did not mention its historic importance or disclose any Soviet pains for a similar feat.

RECOVERY AREA — The Gemini 6 astronauts returned to earth this morning in an area approximately 600 miles south of Bermuda.

Wilson Asks for Backing on Rhodesia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson appealed to the U.N. General Assembly today to support Britain's Rhodesian policy. But many African delegations walked out of the blue and gold chamber without waiting to hear what he had to say.

Wilson ignored the walkout. He pledged that Britain will pursue its efforts until it has ended the rebellion of Rhodesia's white minority government. He expressed confidence his government was on the right track.

The British leader was given a round of applause by the remaining delegates, including some Africans, as the protesting can claim to speak more representatively on behalf of the Rhodesian people as a whole.

Wilson said he recognized that many nations in the assembly had "criticized us bitterly for not invoking the use of military force to suppress this rebellion," but he added: "This is not the way to settle this problem."

The British leader planned to go to Washington later in the day for talks with President Johnson on Rhodesia and other problems, including Viet Nam.

Wilson laid heavy stress on the need for a negotiated peace in Viet Nam and for bringing Red China into East-West talks on world problems. He noted that the Soviet Union had rejected British requests for cooperation in launching Viet Nam peace talks, but said Britain had not given up its attempts.

Wilson expressed conviction that no final solution of the Viet Nam conflict can be achieved by military means alone. He said one of the consequences of an agreement to negotiate on Viet Nam would be an improvement in relations between the East and West.

rockets that hauled Gemini 6 200 feet apart, for more than five hours.

Schirra and Stafford, thwarted in two earlier Gemini 6 launches, rode a powerful Titan 2 rocket into space yesterday to start the pursuit of the Gemini 7 astronauts, who were heavily bearded and slightly weary after 11 days in orbit.

The dramatic chase covered 105,000 miles and more than 3 1/2 orbits.

Expertly steered by command pilot Schirra, Gemini 6 executed eight orbiting-shifting maneuvers that eventually placed the two space vehicles in the same orbit within a few feet apart.

Nose to Nose

The momentous rendezvous occurred at 2:26 p.m. when the two ships faced each other nose to nose 185 miles above the western Pacific Ocean.

The word was flashed by Stafford, who radioed: "We're at 120 feet and sitting."

The message meant Gemini 6 had completed a braking maneuver that matched the speed of Gemini 7—and the two were flying together at better than 17,500 miles an hour.

Within minutes, Schirra closed to within an estimated six feet of Borman and Lovell and the two pairs of astronauts started an exchange of wisecracks that continued throughout their rendezvous.

Originally, mission control center in Houston said the two should stay together only about four hours. But Navy Capt. Schirra and Air Force Maj. Stafford requested an extra orbit, saying they had plenty of fuel to practice more maneuvers.

Flight director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. granted the request.

The specmen brought back with them movies the world waited eagerly to see.

They pictured yesterday's dramatic meeting of spacecraft high above the earth, a feat that took the United States a fly toward the goal of flight to the moon.

Borman and Lovell, bearded and "a little bent," waved farewell to their space companions and hurried on toward another big goal—14 days in space.

SATURDAY SPLASH-DOWN

They will come down Saturday, holders of every manned space flight endurance record.

Schirra, who had missed his target by only 4 1/2 miles in his first rendezvous during the Mercury program in 1962, brought Gemini 6 down at 10:23 a.m. EST about 630 miles southwest of Bermuda.

Borman and Lovell had hoped to photograph the retrorocket fire and the first stages of the Gemini 6 descent but because of trouble with his maneuvering rockets, Borman was unable to get into position.

Schirra's skill in maneuvering Gemini 6 made the rendezvous look easy, and words of praise for the feat came from nations around the world.

E. W. JOHNSTON

ROBERT W. STOGDILL

1st Federal Treasurer Plans to Retire Jan. 1

The treasurer of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland for more than 10 years, E. W. Johnston, has announced his retirement effective Jan. 1.

Johnston, 112 W. Princeton, will be succeeded by Robert W. Stogdill, 170 Ottawa, Troy.

A past treasurer of the American Institute of Banking, Johnston has been in the field of finances for 50 years, the last 12 at the local savings and loan association.

He is a member of the Pontiac Board of Realtors and Oakland Avenue Presbyterian Church and an active Mason.

Stogdill joined First Federal last March. He is currently controller of the association.

Five other promotions were also announced today at First Federal.

Give Warning on Ice Ball Use

The Oakland County Health Department today warned the public not to purchase ice balls made in Hong Kong and to dispose of any they have already purchased.

Further, the department is contacting all known wholesalers of these ice balls, urging them to contact their retailers, in an effort to completely halt further sales.

Three men were promoted from assistant treasurer and branch manager to assistant vice president and branch manager.

They are Irving F. Flemming, 5800 Lakewood, Clarkston; Earl Fortin, 3771 Embarras, East Farmington; and Leroy E. Hartman, 184 Tilden.

Richard D. Morrison, 151 S. Ascot, Waterford Township, acting branch manager, has been promoted to assistant treasurer and branch manager.

City Surgeon Is Elected by County Unit

A Pontiac surgeon and former chief of staff at Pontiac General Hospital has been elected president-elect by the Oakland County Medical Society.

Dr. Kenneth Vandenberg, of 35 S. Johnson will assume office in December 1966.

The novelty items are plastic balls with water inside.

They are designed to be frozen then dropped in a drink. Their supposed advantage over water is that they do not dilute the drink.

But water has gotten into drinks when the plastic covering broke, according to State Health Director Albert Heustis.

No Thirsting for Learning

ROCHESTER — A power failure yesterday in a portion of Avon Township gave West Junior High School pupils an unexpected vacation today.

The failure caused a burned-out motor on a water pump at the school, causing a loss of water pressure.

Assistant Schools Super. Douglas B. Lund said classes should be back in session tomorrow.

Job and Wage Study Will Begin Next Week

BIRMINGHAM — A job and wage study among city employees will get under way next week.

The $5,500 evaluation program was approved by the City Commission Monday.

It will be conducted by Psychological Research Services Western Reserve University Cleveland.

An analysis of the internal structure and ratings of job classifications will be prepared following two day visits to the city by a team of seven or eight interviewers.

The study will show what inequities exist, if any, and will then serve as a basis for adjustments.

Before joining the city staff in October, Burley was chief engineer in charge of Detroit's sewage treatment plant.

Municipal Judge John C. Emery Jr. is attending a three-day National Driver Improvement Programs Conference at Kellogg Center on the Michigan State University campus.

Emery is participating in the conference, which started Tuesday, at the request of the Automotive Safety Foundation.

The initial team visit will be made Dec. 20 and 21. The second will be during the first or second week of January. The final report is expected to be completed by mid-February.

As a basis of comparison, the city manager's office will conduct a wage survey among neighboring communities.

The appointment of Fred H. Burley as assistant city engineer was announced this week by City Manager Robert S. Kenning. The appointment is effective Jan. 1.

Burley will succeed Gerald L.

Raid on Power Site Elates AF

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. warplanes returned to the skies of North Viet Nam today but kept away from the industrial heartland they invaded Wednesday with a raid on a key power station outside Hanoi, the nation's major port.

The Air Force reported that the attack on the Uong Bi power plant was even more successful than initially reported and that 25 per cent of the power supply of North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi had been knocked out.

The lightning attack by a flight of Air Force F105 Thunderchief jets chipped off a third of Hanoi's power, a spokesman said, adding "it was bigger than we thought at first."

New strikes against the Communist North were aimed today at a radar installation on an island 80 miles southeast of Hanoi, and military and communication targets in the Vinh area to the south.

INTELLIGENCE REPORTS

As intelligence reports on the power plant raid brought elation to military officials, U.S. Marines battled 40 to 50 Viet Cong and killed an undetermined number in a new outburst of fighting in "Death Valley" south of Da Nang.

The skirmish broke an uneasy quiet on the ninth day of Operation Harvest Moon, a big Marine-South Vietnamese sweep across the rice valley 350 miles northeast of Saigon where a veteran Communist regiment has long been operating.

Communist terrorists struck again in the Saigon area. Before dawn, a band of Viet Cong tossed grenades into a Roman Catholic church at Nha Be, five miles from the city, and machine-gunned it, killing eight Vietnamese, including several children. The church is only 300 yards from South Viet Nam's biggest fuel and ammunition dump.

At My Trang, a small government outpost also south of Da Nang, 40 militiamen withstood a 10-hour siege by a Communist battalion which was believed to include North Vietnamese regulars. The defenders killed 42

Communists and captured more than 40 weapons. Some of the dead were found in the wire around the compound.

A Viet Cong battalion usually consists of about 400 men. Defying tighter security measures, the Viet Cong left another birthday calling card at a U.S. military billet in downtown Saigon and injured four Americans, none seriously.

A terrorist hurled a bomb at the barbed wire-enclosed compound of the U.S. 525th Army Intelligence Group in the latest bloody installment of a campaign apparently linked with the fifth anniversary next Monday of the Viet Cong's political command, the National Liberation Front.

The sound of other explosives echoed across Saigon as U.S. Air Force B52s from Guam unloaded tons of bombs on suspected Viet Cong targets 35 miles east of the capital. The eight-engine jets opened their bomb bays over the province of Phuoc Tuy, on the South China Sea.

North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's Communist regime strongly protested the destruction of the power plant to the International Control Commission, the Indochina peace-keeping agency. Radio Hanoi said the raid killed three children and made a sham of President Johnson's "peace and negotiation hoax."

New Bail Bond Project May Be Near in State

LANSING (AP) — Michigan may be on the verge of adopting programs that would give the poorer man a better break on bail bonds in criminal cases.

A committee is studying whether Michigan should adopt programs used in some other states which provide for investigation of the background of an accused person.

If the investigators feel the person is likely to appear at his trial, they recommend to the judge that he be released without posting any money.

Chief Justice Thomas Kavanagh of the Michigan Supreme Court appointed the study committee of legal and police authorities several months ago.

The committee has applied for federal antipoverty program funds to start a pilot project, probably in such an area as the Detroit Recorder's Criminal Court.

GOOD RESULTS

Meredith H. Doyle, administrator of the State Supreme Court, said yesterday a project tried in New York, using primarily law students as investigators, has had good results.

Among persons released without posting cash, he said, about one per cent failed to appear for trial. The figure was 2 to 2.5 per cent for persons who posted a money bond and lost the money by failing to appear.

Doyle said the judge still would have control over bond decisions, and could set high bonds for persons considered risks.

"Before trial, everyone is presumed innocent," said Doyle, "but the rich man would put up bond while the man without money would have to go to jail. If he is acquitted, he would have to go to jail for nothing."

The only purpose of setting bond, he said, is to insure the accused person's appearance at trial, not to punish him.

Red Boss Sounds Off in a Discordant Key

Soviet Premier ALEXEI KOSYGIN's recent diatribe against the United States may have served one useful purpose. It should dispel any illusions among the naive that the official Red line has melted with respect to its international machinations.

It should also give clear indication that the course of the new Kremlin bosses among the community of nations will continue to be one of shiftiness and ruthless exploitation of any situation that serves Russia's ends.

In an interview with columnist James Reston, Kossygin staged a fine semantic performance, rivaling in ambiguity Humpty Dumpty's classic declaration that when he used a word, "he meant just what he chose it to mean — neither more nor less."

The gist of the Communist leader's outpouring was that everything the U. S. has done since the end of World War II has been evil, wrong and calculated to stir up war — and that everything the Soviets have done has been good and right and conducive to peace.

And to compound the complexity of his rationalizations, Kossygin took the simple (for him) line that anyone who disagrees with him must be either stupid or dishonest.

By way of a refresher course, here are a few developments of Moscow's "peace" program during the last quarter-century:

- Assuring Hitler that Russia would remain neutral when the Nazis invaded Poland.
- Using military force to create puppet regimes in every country of Eastern Europe.
- Promising the Allies it would hold free elections throughout Eastern Europe, and then dishonoring its pledge.
- Dividing Germany by force, and attempting to blockade West Berlin, by the Berlin Wall.
- Attempting to wreck the Marshall Plan that played so big a role in the rehabilitation of war-torn Europe.

No, there is no evidence that the claws of the Russia Bear have been trimmed in the interest of conciliation. That Kossygin's implications to the contrary were clothed in even-paced, dispassionate discourse — unlike the ranting, shoe-thumping style of his predecessor, NIKHITA KHRUSHCHEV — make them no less ominous.

Let no American kid himself about the menace symbolized by the hammer and sickle.

High Cost of Running Hits Political Aims

An ominous trend of the times and the inhibition it represents in attracting top-caliber men for political office, is the ever-increasing cost of getting elected.

If a candidate is to have more than an outside chance of being elected, he must either be wealthy in his own right or obligate himself to sources able and willing to back him financially. Obviously, aspirants for public office who fit into either category are not necessarily the cream of the candidate crop.

By way of example, in the recent campaign for Mayor of New York City, it cost $2.6 million to elect the winner — with a total expenditure for all three candidates approximating $5 million — or about $2 for each vote cast.

By contrast, Democrats spent only

$10.5 million to elect LYNDON JOHNSON president in 1964. The average cost per JOHNSON ballot was 40 cents.

But had New York's cost per vote applied in the national election, backers of JOHNSON and GOLDWATER would have spent some $140 million. And had it extended to campaigns for other national, state and local offices, the figure would have reached into the billions.

The price tag on a U. S. Senate seat can be as high as $1.5 million in campaign costs, and in some of the Nation's congressional districts it can take as much as $100,000 to run for the House of Representatives.

Unless some means can be found to contain the spiraling costs of seeking public office, our democracy may slowly degenerate into a plutocracy.

"In 47 years from now, the world's population will have doubled," says a U. N. delegate. Well, yes; double, perhaps — or nothing.

"A cure for the common cold may be on the way," says a physician. So may Utopia, and it's an even bet as to which may arrive first.

Friends of U.S. Add Troubles

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Friendship in the modern world is like cats on a tin roof, which is hardly a quiet way to spend an evening.

The United States has been friends with Pakistan, whose President Mohammed Ayub Khan is here talking to President Johnson, and with India, whose Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri is coming here in February to talk to Johnson.

They want to get out of the box they got themselves into with their undeclared war over Kashmir in the fall.

Pakistan, thinking the odds are on its side, want the people of Kashmir to decide in a vote whether they want to be part of Pakistan or India. India, which doesn't like the odds, wants no part of a vote.

Over the years the United States has given India and Pakistan over $10 billion in aid.

At first it gave military aid to Pakistan. India, playing lofty and neutralist, did not pay so much attention to arms.

Then the Red Chinese attacked India, which then cried for American arms, and got them. But when India and Pakistan began to fight, both blamed the United States for arming the other.

Two old friends
Then two good old friends, the Soviet Union and Red China got into the India-Pakistan act, with Red China blaming the Soviets for helping India while the Russians criticized China for butting in on Pakistan's side.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson was to leave London today to come talk to Johnson about some problems, like how to get U.S. support for an all-out embargo against Rhodesia which just left the Commonwealth.

Next week West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard is coming to talk to Johnson. While Britain and Germany are economic rivals, the British and the United States want German help in keeping the North Atlantic Treaty Organization together.

De Gaulle criticized the United States Tuesday for becoming an "interventionist power," and quarreled with its policy in Viet Nam.

ALL SOUNDS NOISY
But if all this sounds like a noisy time in the West, the moving going on between the Soviet Union and Red China, those one-time comrades, is enough to frighten the mice, if there are any mice around.

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Lays Viet Case on the Line

WASHINGTON — The most significant development in world affairs today is the appeal that the United States has just made to other nations for help in fighting the Viet Nam war.

Two members of President Johnson's Cabinet — the secretary of state and the secretary of defense — have present. LAWRENCE ed to the council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization the blunt facts about the big burden the United States is carrying virtually alone.

This is the first time that spokesmen for the United States have laid the Viet Nam case on the line.

Secretary McNamara analyzed the meaning of Red China's threat in Asia. He said the Peking regime will soon have nuclear material to make not only bombs for aircraft but missile warheads. He mentioned that the Chinese Communists have a standing army of 2.3 million men and huge reserves as well as a large air force, with planes supplied by the Soviet government.

ALREADY 'TARGETED'
The secretary declared that Red China has already "targeted" Thailand for future attack.

These realistic statements were made to convince the NATO members that a world situation confronts them which transcends in importance their own preoccupation with Europe.

For, while McNamara didn't say so, he implied that, if the United States gets tied up in Asia, it might be difficult for this country to furnish all the military aid necessary should an attack by Communists develop inside Europe.

Up to now, though there has been some token aid given in the Viet Nam war by other countries, the United States has borne almost the entire burden.

WAYS TO STRENGTHEN
The mission of Secretaries Rusk and McNamara was designed to warn NATO that the members had better start thinking of ways to strengthen the alliance rather than talking about ways of weakening or decentralizing the whole defense mechanism.

It is, unfortunately, not fully realized in the free countries of Europe that the people of the United States are growing a bit disillusioned about the attitude heretofore taken by its allies toward rendering help in the Viet Nam war.

Europe's aloofness could result in the formation of a public opinion in this country favoring withdrawal of American forces from Europe and transferring the full responsibility for defending that continent to the European members of NATO.

Secretary Rusk, in requesting cooperation from NATO members, said he would welcome different forms of aid at the start, but basically the United States wants large manpower contributions.

For it is obvious that currently American troops are making the supreme sacrifices virtually unsupported by any major power in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization or anywhere else.

That's why the addresses of the two Cabinet secretaries, McNamara and Rusk, at the NATO meeting in Paris can be a turning point in the whole Asian situation. Both Peking and Moscow are doubtless watching closely to see which way the wind is going to blow.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A Christmas message to the American soldier in South Viet Nam:

The reverse has been true. This is a result of your being the kind of men you are. Vietnamese civilians I know say with approval that you're different from any foreign military men they've seen.

'Let's Stand Up for Real Cause of Freedom'

Much of the activity which concerns lovers of freedom and democracy comes from a difference in the basic philosophy of government, which in turn stems from the selfishness or concern for others which each possesses. It's hard to name a candidate from either major political faith who will commit himself and his candidacy on the actual forcing of the tyrants to allow his people a democratic form of government. It's time we cared enough for our fellowman to pledge a fight to the finish to make the oppressors of mankind stand back while their subjects choose their own leaders.

We are suffering from actual Communist propaganda being spread in colleges and universities and swallowed by our gullible youth who act like disloyal slaves, giving aid and comfort to the brainwashed coolies in foreign lands which we have deserted. Many Americans would like to stop the demonstrators but they aren't willing to care enough about the human suffering in other lands to take action.

Clerics are just as guilty as politicians when they openly advocate admission of Communist China to the U.N. We need Christians and Americans who care to stand up and be counted for the real cause of freedom.

Comments on Integration in Public Schools

Troubles with Negroes are our own fault. I read some people don't want the Negroes in our schools. Are they afraid that the Negroes are smarter? The Negroes have just as much right in public schools as the whites. If it weren't for the whites the Negroes wouldn't be here. The whites were thinking of themselves when they brought the Negroes from Africa and other places for slaves. Print that in your newspaper.

Rate Hike 'Clam-Up' Charged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Regard to interest rates. They rely on their own self-serving speeches and handouts, but they ignore the congressional forum where they can be cross-examined. The Federal Reserve Board allowed them to do this.

The complaints came from the minority of the Senate House Economic Committee. This group voted Wednesday, on strict party lines, not to summon administration officials as witnesses in its current round of hearings on the interest hike.

"This is a very disturbing trend that started with questions about the conduct of the war in Viet Nam," Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., said. "They refused to discuss the issues openly with the people and now they are doing the same thing in re-

The committee has called to the witness stand Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. and other members of the Federal Reserve Board, but not the principal administration officials concerned with monetary matters — the secretary of the Treasury, budget director and chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

EXECUTIVE SESSION
After Republican members repeatedly complained, the committee held an executive session Wednesday. At that time, by identical 7-6 party line votes, the committee rejected a resolution offered by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., to call the three administration officials. Committee aides said administration witnesses will be available for questioning on the interest rate increase, which the Federal Reserve Board voted on grounds it was needed to head off inflation, when the committee conducts its regular hearings in January on the President's economic message.

The current round of hearings concludes today.

9th U-M Protester Reclassified

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A ninth University of Michigan student who took part in an Oct. 15 anti-Viet Nam war draft board sit-in here reported himself reclassified 1A in the military draft Wednesday.

George Steinitz, 21, Valley Stream, N.Y., senior philosophy student, said he had received notice of reclassification from his Long Island Draft Board No. 6. He previously had a student deferment.

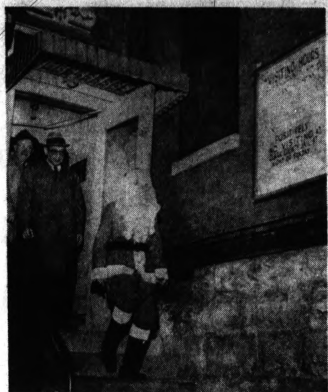

The student reclassifications have been a subject of controversy. Draft board policy has been challenged and defended.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, clashed in Washington Wednesday.

Hart said a citizen's legal right of protest was endangered. Hershey said illegal obstruction of the draft law cannot be tolerated. Two of the nine students are appealing their reclassification. Others have said they plan likewise.

Steinitz, declaring he also would appeal, said he had been "unfairly treated by government bureaucracy" and his right of free speech curtailed.

Space Medicine Director Among Plane Crash Dead

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — A note, he said. "Dr. Lovelace worked very closely with us in the manned flight program since the earliest days.

"One of the first things I did when organizing the Mercury project in 1958 was to ask Randy Lovelace to come and work with us. He has been a tremendous help, and it is with very great regret that we get this news."

Dr. Charles A. Berry, director of the center's medical operations, described Lovelace as "a great pioneer in aerospace medicine, highly respected throughout the world in his field."

NEVER MADE IT
The two-engine plane left Aspen at 12:30 p.m. Sunday on a flight to Albuquerque. It turned toward Independence Pass to the southeast but never got over the mountain peaks. The wreckage was found in Grizzly Gulch, 1,500 feet short of the top of Grizzly Peak.

Brown, who had not filed a flight plan, got into a canyon with sheer walls on either side. "It appeared that the plane got too low in the canyon, tried to make a quick turn to get out and lost altitude," said Mike Penfold of Aspen, a Forest Ranger and one of four men who reached the scene Wednesday. "It looks like he caught one wing in the snow and it probably cartwheeled," said Penfold. "The plane broke in half, the passenger compartment broke open. It apparently threw all the people out, in their seats."

Husband of 2 Is Identified by First Wife

ANN ARBOR (AP)—"That's the man I married. He's changed a little but that's him," Mrs. Elaine Mallion said Wednesday on viewing a picture of the man who calls himself Robert B. White.

State Police, meanwhile, gave White, 37—or Maurice Mallion—a lie detector test. Results are to be kept private until White's court hearing Dec. 23 on charges of abandonment and nonsupport.

White, Ohio delivery truck driver, claims he doesn't recall having a wife and four children in Michigan. He has a wife and three children in Mount Healthy, Ohio. Police say a routine FBI fingerprint comparison after a traffic violation in Ohio disclosed his identity as Mallion. He was extradited to Michigan.

Mrs. Mallion, also 37, says her husband abandoned her and the family in 1957.

Involves Art Stolen in WW II

Philanthropist Suspected of Big Fraud

BONN, Germany (AP) — Germany is preparing an alleged multimillion-dollar fraud case involving an art collection that vanished in World War II.

Held as chief suspect is Dr. Hans Deutch, an Israeli lawyer, publisher and philanthropist. His bail of $3 million is the highest ever demanded in Germany.

The state prosecutor's office says Deutch, 59, is under suspicion of having fraudulently obtained $4.4 million in claiming restitution from the Bonn government.

Deutch is alleged to have submitted false evidence that the Nazis in 1944 stole 200 French impressionist paintings and 650 prints collected by Baron Ferenc Hatvany, prewar "sugar king" of Hungary.

On behalf of the heirs of Baron Hatvany, Deutch presented a $16-million bill, based on estimates by two art experts.

ACCUSE SOVIETS

Prosecution investigators, who so far have questioned 115 witnesses in many countries, seek to prove that the paintings were hauled off by Soviet troops when they captured Budapest.

They contend that the Hatvany collection was far less valuable than Deutch claimed.

The investigations have prompted a German court to rule at three preliminary hearings that Deutch is under "urgent suspicion" of fraud. No formal charge has been filed. In German practice this is not unusual, particularly in a complex case.

Deutch has denied all accusations so far.

He took over the Hatvany case after successfully representing two other aristocratic families in restitution matters, Poland's Prince Radziwill and France's Baron Edmond de Rothschild. Lawyers for Deutch say he collected high fees for his efforts, but much of the money went to humanitarian projects. These included funds for a prize for people contributing to the idea of European unity.

Austrian Chancellor Josef Klaus sat on the board administering the prize. The first award in 1963 went to Spanish philosopher Salvador de Madariaga. The designated 1964 winner was the French culture minister, Andre Malraux. Before the ceremony was scheduled, Deutch was arrested Nov. 3, 1964.

HIGHLY HONORED

The arrest stunned philanthropic and legal circles where Deutch enjoyed a high reputation. He holds the honorary title of professor awarded him by Austria and all documents in the case refer to him as Prof. Deutch, a top honor in the academic-minded world of German-speaking people.

By the time of his arrest, Deutch had collected slightly more than half of the $8.75 million settlement on the Hatvany claim on which he and the government agreed in 1962.

Before a German restitution court, Deutch had cited testimony that SS troopers had carried off the Hatvany paintings — including works by Degas, Delacroix and Renoir.

Baron Hatvany, according to his family, rescued only six paintings which he sold in the West after leaving Hungary after the war. A seventh, "The Wrestlers" by Gustave Courbet, was found damaged in a Hungarian school and now is displayed in a state-run Budapest museum.

CRIMES SUSPECT

The baron died in 1968, less than a year after the German law on restitution of Nazi-stolen property went into effect. His heirs filed a claim. Their first lawyer was a former member of the Hungarian Fascist Arrow Cross movement. Baron Tibor Collas, who had fled to Germany after being held in Budapest as a war crimes suspect.

Collas signed an affidavit that Nazis stole the Hatvany paintings. He also located a wartime friend, former SS Lt. Friedrich Wilke, who was prepared to testify. When Collas died in 1961, Deutch took over the case — and Wilke.

Before a Berlin restitution court, Wilke swore that the paintings were stolen by the Nazis.

After the first installment was paid, authorities received a tip that the whole matter was worth checking.

STILL SUSPECTED

Wilke and Deutch were arrested along with a Hungarian exile, Franz Wisney. Wilke was freed on bail three months later. The prosecutor's office says he told interrogators Deutch urged him into perjury before the Berlin court. Wisney has been released but is still listed as a suspect.

Wilke has become the prosecution's key witness. The more than 5,000 typewritten pages of investigation files also list testimony by various persons who say Baron Hatvany told friends he believed the Russians had taken his paintings.

Deutch's lawyers, in turn, have located several witnesses to support the story of the Nazis. One Swiss woman says she saw crates marked "F. von Hatvany" in the Berlin bureau of Adolf Eichmann late in 1944. Eichmann was hanged in Israel in 1962.

Deutch is a patient in the Bochum prison hospital, under constant observation as a diabetic. He was transferred there a few months ago on the ground that continued imprisonment in a Bonn jail could endanger his life.

New Radio Waves Are Highest Yet

By SCIENCE SERVICE
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Microwave radio waves of the highest frequency ever reported, 12,000 million pulsations per second, have been produced here using "hot electrons."

To generate such high frequency microwaves, scientists used a thin crystal of gallium arsenide, a semiconductor now used in transistors and lasers. They applied a low voltage across the crystal, which is less than one-thousandth of an inch thick.

This converted direct current to continuous microwave power at frequencies as high as 12,000 megacycles, twice as high as previously achieved.

The experiments were conducted by scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Electronic Research Center under the direction of assistant director Dr. W. Crawford-Dunlap.

Because microwaves can be aimed more precisely than radio waves of lower frequency, they are particularly useful for long-distance communications.

MORE EFFICIENT
The high frequencies generated by using "hot electrons" appear promising for future spacecraft transmitters, since they would be more efficient for space communications than the lower frequencies now available.

Weak signals from space are difficult to process into any useful form with out highly complex equipment. Most microwave transmitters are now of the vacuum tube, because transistors produced at this time are inadequate for these frequencies.

If vacuum tubes can be replaced with crystals such as gallium arsenide, a significant improvement in space communication efficiency would be possible.

Achievement of the very high microwave frequencies resulted from experiments by Dr. Harold Roth and two associates, W. Deiter Straub and John A. Ayers.

SOLID STATE
The work was based on the changes that "hot electrons" undergo in solid state semiconductors discovered by J. B. Gunn of International Business Machines Corp.

The Gunn effect is a new electron phenomenon that has already led to the microwave generator.

Further studies of the Gunn effect will most certainly increase understanding of how electrons behave in semiconductor materials.

"Hot electrons" are highly energetic particles not in equilibrium with their surroundings, raised to such a high energy level by the voltage applied across a gallium arsenide crystal.

MESSAGE TO SPACE — Lyn Dente of Cape Kennedy, Fla., raises her hands in a salute to America's four astronauts in front of a motel sign yesterday after Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford went into orbit in Gemini 6. 'Crummy and Itchy' refer to Gemini 6 astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell who said Tuesday, after 10 days of circling the earth, that they were getting crummy and itchy.

Wherever You Turn

Confusion Is Left by Signs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Down in the catacombs of the U.S. Capitol is a sign that reads "subway to 4th floor."

It is one of the reasons why I doubt that the international committee for breaking the language barrier will ever achieve its goal.

The committee is waging a WEST campaign against signboard confusion, particularly as it concerns international travelers. Top priority is being given to the lettering on rest room doors.

The idea is to make it possible for a person to find the right door anywhere in the world, regardless of what language he or she speaks.

Anyone who has ever visited a foreign country surely will agree that this is a worthy objective. The need for some clarification along that line was impressed upon me last summer when I made a trip to Italy.

Some of the doors there are labeled "signoras" and "signores." I had a great deal of trouble remembering whether I was an "a" or an "e."

In such cases, the trial and error method is unsatisfactory, to say the least.

I am not convinced, however, that the committee's approach—the use of symbols instead of words—will solve the problem. It is thinking in terms of putting silhouettes on the doors.

The trouble with that is that so many women nowadays wear slacks, and so many fellows have long hair, silhouettes are virtually meaningless.

And the door problem is fairly simple compared to what the committee will encounter when it starts trying to devise suitable symbols to replace certain other types of signs.

That "subway to 4th floor" sign doesn't even make sense to someone who understands English. Reducing it to a symbol that a foreigner could understand would be a neat trick indeed.

In fact, the Capitol, which draws many foreign visitors, fairly abounds with signs that would challenge the committee's ingenuity.

On the basement level is an arrow pointing to "House Gallery." When you consider that the House Gallery actually is on the top level, three floors above the basement, you can appreciate what the committee is up against.

These examples, although perhaps extreme, make me fear that the language barrier will never be broken.

Olympic Champ May Run for Congress

VISALIA, Calif. (AP) — Bob Mathias, former two-time Olympic decathlon champion, plans a return to competition. He may run for Congress.

It will be a different kind of competition for the man who sprang to world fame as a 17-year-old from Tulare, Calif., by winning the Olympic Games decathlon championship.

Mathias, 35, says he probably will announce his candidacy early in 1966. He will seek the Republican nomination in central California's 18th District.

Should he win the nomination, Bob will face a highly successful professional politician — Rep. Harlan Hagen, D-Calif. Hagen, who won elections by big majorities — was elected in 1952 and is serving his seventh term. He is a senior member of the House Agriculture Committee and is well-known for his work on legislation in agriculture and water problems.

TO JOIN NONPROFESSIONALS

Mathias, if he runs, will join the increasing ranks of non-professional politicians who have entered California politics. He is hoping to duplicate the successes of Republican Sen. George Murphy, a former Hollywood actor; and Democratic Rep. John V. Tunney, son of former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney.

Actor Ronald Reagan, a Republican, is considered a front-runner for the 1966 GOP gubernatorial race, but has not announced his candidacy.

While Hagen was winning his first congressional election in 1952, Mathias was winning his second decathlon at the Olympics in Helsinki. That victory followed his Olympics triumph four years earlier in London.

PLAYED FOOTBALL

Bob also played football at Stanford University and was a fullback on the 1952 Rose Bowl team.

Mathias moved to Visalia — a community near his hometown of Tulare in September to be near his Sierra Nevada boys camp.

"People kept asking me to run for Congress," he said in an interview.

"It's important to have the best men back in Washington and some people think I'm the best guy to represent them."

AGRICULTURAL COUNTIES

The 18th District comprises three agricultural counties in the southern San Joaquin Valley whose principal products are cotton, grapes and oranges and oil.

"It's like training for the Olympics," Bob said. "I want to do the best I can. It means you have to do a lot of running."

just have that certain desire. There's something inside you that makes you want to win. All athletes have the feeling that they don't feel good unless they do the best job they can.

"I think I would make a darn good congressman."

Mathias is wary of political labels such as moderate and conservative. He says Sen. Murphy, has advised him against labels.

NO LABELS

"I don't expect to be labeled," he said. "I would like to be known as a dynamic Republican."

Mathias has had a variety of careers since his discharge from the Marines. He acted in movies — including his own biography — and on television; and traveled the world as a State Department good-will representative.

His family includes his wife, Melba, and three daughters.

Cigarette Starts Fire

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Wang Kuei, 33, has been indicted for endangering public safety by discarding a burning cigarette butt. The resulting fire caused $100,000 damage to property and left more than 100 persons homeless.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Harry O. Whitfield, Waldo Avenue, looks a bit puzzled as his granddaughter, Mrs. Noyce W. Strait Jr. of West Iroquois Road, demonstrates a modern dance. His daughter-in-law, Mrs. Stuart Whitfield, Cherokee Road (rear) is the connecting generation. Whitfield is the only active charter member of the Wednesday Dancing Club. His family has been represented continually in the club since its founding in 1915.

Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Noble

Honored guests at the 50th anniversary party of the Wednesday Dancing Club were members who joined before 1930. Representing 162 years of continuous active membership are (from left) Mr. and Mrs. Stuart A. Austin, Bloomfield Hills; the Henry Houstons, Oakland Street; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Cole, Bloomfield Hills; and Mr. and Mrs. Goodloe Rogers, Ottawa Drive. Others honored were the Robert Armstrongs, Mrs. Maitland Comb, Mrs. W. R. Eames, the Jefferson Isgriggs, the Robert Olivers, Harry O. Whitfield and Mrs. Noyce W. Strait.

Dr. and Mrs. Norman Gehringer, Bloomfield Village (left) joined the Wednesday Dancing Club this year. Bruce Annett and Mrs. Annett tell them something of the history of the organization. The anniversary dance was held at Bloomfield Hills Country Club. Early dances were held in the old Chamber of Commerce Building on East Huron Street, now Wyman's Furniture Store.

Cookies Are Traded at Their Party

The Waterford Township Child Study Club No. I met recently for its annual Christmas cookie exchange at the home of Mrs. Edmund Windeler of Hatchery Road.

Mrs. John Sauter was cohostess.

Mrs. William Shunch told the story "A Certain Small Shepherd" by Rebecca Caudill.

GROUP II

Fifteen members of the Waterford Child Study Club No. II gathered in the Baybrook Avenue home of Mrs. Fred Storman for a recent Christmas party.

Mrs. Russell Jacobson and Mrs. Amos Vaughn were cohostesses.

Mrs. Walter Latozas and Mrs. Charles Murphy had charge of the program.

Club Donates to Charities

The West Walton Boulevard home of Mrs. Ray O'Neill was the scene Tuesday of the Christmas meeting of the Dirt Gardeners Club.

Mrs. Rose Thomas spoke on the 18 varieties of conifers grown in Michigan.

Contributions were made to the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, Waterford Township Library, the state's conservation school at Higgins Lake and an American Indian scholarship.

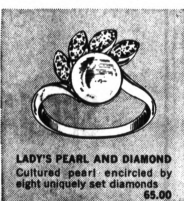

Mrs. Frank Lyss of Moline, Ill. was a guest at the event where Mrs. Chester Dlugoszski was cohostess.

Parents Are Helping Him to Remain a Useless Bum

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 28 and happily married. My 25-year-old brother is able-bodied, intelligent, and un-employed. He lives at home and lets my parents support him.

They buy his clothes, give him spending money and provide him with a car. He sleeps until noon, leaves his room a mess, and then takes off to play pool with his unemployed buddies all day.

He tells my folks he's job hunting. This has been going on for six months. My mother calls me constantly, moaning and groaning about how inconsiderate my brother is.

He either doesn't show up for meals, or he brings home four or five free-loaders for a meal. All my advice to him has been ignored, and my advice to my mother (to throw him out) has also fallen on deaf ears. What more can I do?

"AUS-GESPIELT" IN MILWAUKEE

DEAR "AUS-GESPIELT": If a 25-year-old man chooses to be a bum, it's unfortunate, but his mother doesn't have to help him. You've done all you can.

Ask your mother to give you one good reason why the lazy lout should go to work when he's never had it so good.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who fancies herself as an expert dessert-maker. Whenever I invite her to my home for dinner, she insists on bringing the dessert and, of course, I have to serve it to my guests or she will be insulted.

Abby, I hate to appear ungrateful but this woman's desserts are not fit to eat. It isn't only my opinion. My guests will take a token bite and I can see that they have great difficulty choking it down.

Meanwhile, my lovely dessert remains in the kitchen. How can I get out of serving my friend's offerings without hurting her feelings? She's a nice person and I wouldn't offend her for the world, but this problem is getting me down.

OMIT NAME AND CITY

DEAR OMIT: Next time you invite this woman to your home for dinner, tell her that you appreciate her generosity, but please to refrain from bringing anything, as your menu is complete.

If she ignores your request and brings something anyway, serve yours and hers, too.

DEAR ABBY: Your suggestion that asking school children to make a "Family Tree" is an invasion of privacy, has drawn a great deal of fire, pro and con.

Regarding the one from "PROUD" IN VIRGINIA, who was thrilled and tickled to find proof of her "noble" ancestry, making her eligible to join the DAR:

It was Daniel Webster who said, "It is only shallow-minded pretenders who make distinguished origin a matter of personal merit." Voltaire said it better: "Whoever serves his country well has no need of ancestors."

Still a better one by Ovid: "Birth and ancestry, and that which we have not ourselves achieved, we can scarcely call our own." And perhaps the best of all, by the English poet, Sir Thomas Overbury (1581-1613), who was poisoned in the Tower: "The man who has nothing to boast of but his illustrious ancestry is like a potato—the only good belonging to him is underground."

"HUMBLE" FROM BOSTON

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice: Do you have any suggestions as to what I might do for a pattern with kimono sleeves? They pull at the shoulders and also pull away at the neck. Could this be caused by my very square shoulders?

Dear Mrs. C. U.: Yes, this is the reason your dress is pulling away at the shoulders and neckline. You must change the pattern if you have square shoulders the same as you would change a pattern for regular set-in-sleeves.

Since you won't have a mark on your pattern for the shoulder, it is approximately 4 to 4 1/4 inches from neckline. Raise the height of the shoulder seam at this point about 1/2 inch. You will have a more squared look instead of the curve of the pattern. It is also important to raise the underarm 1/2 inch to give you more room.

Mrs. G. K. says: "In answer to Mrs. H. E. and anyone who is allergic to wool, try making your coats from a good quality Acrylic blanket. You can cut a slim-type coat from a double-sized blanket. These blankets come in such beautiful shades and plaids that would be suitable for most any occasion. The great part about them is the warmth without excess weight."

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Arthur Parsons, South Hadley Falls, Mass., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board for the following idea.

"Perhaps this idea can help other mothers with rough and tumble sons. My son came home from school with a one-inch tear pulled away with a button from a new corduroy coat. I bought a set of leather elbow patches, cut one up into 2-inch squares and rounded corners and machine stitched them under each button. I replaced the buttons over the leather and the coat looks like new again."

(This would also be a great idea for pulled-out buttonholes. Make a buttonhole in a patch of leather and sew it over your original buttonhole).

OCC Faculty Wives Pour Coffee

The first project of the newly organized Faculty Wives of Oakland Community College was a Christmas Coffee on Wednesday.

Students, faculty members and administrative officials were welcomed on both Highland Lakes and Auburn Hills campuses from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Acting as cohostesses were Mrs. Victor Stokes and Mrs. Roland Anderson, assisted by Mrs. Raymond Simescu and Mrs. Gary Falkenberg. Students in the food service technology classes under the direction of Raymond Simescu prepared the food. Paul Kriewall and food service students assisted.

Representatives of the Student senate on the Auburn Hills campus and the student government on the Highland Lakes campus were hosts.

The college chorus and the College Folk Singers presented musical programs.

It is expected that this coffee will become an annual affair.

Proceeds to PGH

Proceeds from the second annual High Fever Frolic sponsored by the Auxiliary to the Pontiac General Hospital totaled $6,832. It was announced at a recent meeting of the auxiliary board of directors.

This money will be used to buy more equipment at the hospital.

New Girl Scout Staffers Come From Far Places

Three from the South and one from the West — four young women are working together as new staff members of the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council.

Replacing Carol Ann Pape who directed Camp Sherwood for the past two years is Jennette Gudgel of Santa Cruz, Calif. Miss Gudgel is the program service director and camping function administrator in the local office.

A graduate of San Francisco State College, she had four years of scouting experience in California. She is a district chairman in the American Camping Association.

FROM TEXAS

Jean Wilcox who holds a degree from Texas Technological College in Lubbock, Tex. and has studied at Merrill-Palmer Institute in Detroit has traveled extensively. She has lived in India and Brazil.

Miss Wilcox is district advisor for Pontiac and North areas and has a special assignment as director of day camp for mentally retarded children. She is also assistant director of Camp Sherwood.

District advisor of Midwest and Waterford areas is Linda Porter, a native of St. Joseph, Mo. After graduation from Northwest Missouri State College, she served for a time on the staff of the Southern Oakland County Girl Scout Council.

TAUGHT

Teaching in Virginia and a year in England followed the graduation of Frances Cooper from Columbia College, Columbia, S.C.

As a child she was active in Girl Scouting and has been on the staff of several camps. Her districts are Avon and Southwest. She serves also as public relations advisor.

Jennette Gudgel and Jean Wilcox, Moreland Street, and Mrs. Robert Porter, Royal Oak. Seated is Mrs. Clive Cooper, also of Royal Oak.

Leagues Join for a Party

The Niblick Golf and Bowling League gathered for a joint Christmas party at the Elks Temple Tuesday.

Mrs. Louis B. Livingston and Mrs. Donald Lane were cohostesses.

The groups made a donation to the Oakland County Sanatorium for an organ and to the Visiting Nurses Association for Christmas entertainment at the same place.

Swab Snowflakes

Decorate your Christmas tree with delicate snowflake ornaments, made with heavy white paper and cotton-tipped swabs. Cut paper circles about two and a half inches in diameter. Glue on swabs in criss-cross designs, letting white cotton tips extend beyond circle base. Make a pin hole in top of paper circle and insert silver thread for hanging.

Confer Order on Member

The order of the Rose was conferred on Mrs. Edward Amann by Xi Gamma Delta chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. The ceremony took place Wednesday at a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Charles Hoffman of North Cass Lake Road.

The chapter voted to send a donation to the Plymouth Home and Training School and books were collected for the Pontiac General Hospital.

Cohostesses at the event were Mrs. Harold Hayden and Mrs. Philip Stenberg. Mrs. M. A. Calbi and Mrs. George Thompson were guests.

Sorority Has Yule Dinner

Members of Beta Theta Pi sorority, Delta chapter traveled to Grosse Pointe to the home of Sue Foster for their annual Christmas buffet dinner Wednesday.

A basket was decorated and filled for a needy family in the Pontiac area.

A spring card party is being formulated for the change of seasons.

Cotton Batting Forms Snowman

According to the National Cotton Council, you can fashion a snowman from white cotton batting and chicken wire.

Make two chicken wire globes, a large one for the snowman's body, and a smaller one for the head. Secure wire "head" to body with heavy string.

Cover wire bases with cotton batting, punching the cotton into wire openings to create a fluffy effect.

Viet Cong Step Up Savagery

SAIGON (UPI) — A scream on the mountainside is answered by a burst of bullets.

In the morning U.S. soldiers policing up the battlefield are sickened by the sight of American bodies — tied hand and foot and shot through the head — one more atrocity in a harsh land.

American troops fighting North Vietnamese regulars in the central highlands have seen their wounded comrades dragged into the brush by their captors and executed.

A young Marine is listed as missing at morning roll call. Three days later his body is found floating in a river. Hands and feet are bound with steel wire and wounds are in his abdomen, chest, legs and arms.

In a tiny Vietnamese popular forces outpost in Go Cong province three soldiers holding out against Viet Cong demands to surrender, watched helplessly as their wives and babies were slaughtered.

LAST-DITCH FIGHT

The Viet Cong had demanded that the wives of soldiers Le Van Hung, 27, Trung Van Duc, 30, and Le Van Mao, 27, tell their husbands to give up their last-ditch fight.

The three civilian-soldiers were holed up in a concrete watchtower and offered the only resistance the shattered camp could show.

After the VC pulled out Hung picked up the bodies of his wife and two baby sons. Duc found his dead wife still clutching the body of their 8-month-old son.

Mao's pregnant wife was mortally wounded and his 7-year-old step-daughter dead. His wife died hours later in a hospital where doctors tried without success to save the unborn child.

Duc lamented, "I have nothing left of them . . . not even a photograph."

DEEP SHOCK

Mao was in deep shock for two weeks.

A U.S. Marine helicopter pilot flying along the coast reported seeing a boat containing about 18 persons.

He said all the men in the boat held children in their laps, and when the boat neared the shore they threw the children into the water and fled inland, pausing only to send a hail of bullets into the struggling children.

SITUATION IN HAND—A U.S. Marine throttles a Viet Cong prisoner flushed from a rice paddy by Marines advancing through the Viet An Valley this week. The Marines supported South Vietnamese troops in an effort to seal off escape routes for a Communist regiment long entrenched in the valley that Marines have dubbed "Death Valley."

A stunned Vietnamese official who investigated the aftermath of the Viet Cong attack on Tan Hiep a few days ago wrote that the Viet Cong "savagery were indescribable."

MANY MASSACRED

He reported that the Communist attackers seized a number of young men and women from Cau Nghia village "and massacred them with rifles and daggers."

The Viet Cong looted the homes of villagers taking money and radios.

they lived, their hands locked together.

More than 40 others died that terrible night, and 80 more were wounded and some maimed for life.

'GLORIOUS VICTORY'

Most of them were innocent Vietnamese civilians — but radio Hanoi proclaimed the deed a "glorious victory for the heroic South Vietnamese liberation fighters."

Silent black-clad figures steal into Nhon Nghai village under cover of night. They seize the village chief and force the people from their homes to watch the chief tied to a pole and executed in cold blood.

Nhon Nghai's village chief thus became just one little number in a statistical report that lists an average of 35 rural government officials murdered and about 40 kidnapped each and every month.

For instance, during the month of June, 87 officials were assassinated.

42 DIED

In September 42 died and 33 were dragged away in the night.

On July 31 Viet Cong opened fire on a tiny outpost called Chau Doc. Among the casualties is the chief of Bau Quang pagoda and one of his Buddhist monks. A child was also killed in the attack.

The bodies of two American advisors killed in a massive Viet Cong ambush were found mutilated and beheaded.

There are reports that the Viet Cong carried their heads, displayed on bamboo pikes, through neighboring villages as proof of their "great victory."

by Pole-ish Drivers

FRANKLIN, Pa. (UPI)—Polk Borough, about 10 miles southwest of here, was plunged into darkness for the second time in 48 hours last night when a motorist rammed into a pole and knocked down the power lines.

The same pole was downed Saturday by another motorist. No injuries were reported.

3 Road Aides Named

LANSING (AP) — Three Highway Department aides were named Wednesday to coordinate department activity with Detroit officials and residents. The city's Common Council had requested the action. Named were Henrik Stafseth, Andrew Sinelli, and Frank Simmons.

Mayor Outlines Grade Expense

Says Pontiac's Cost
Likely to Be 85 Pct.

Grade separations for busy railroad crossings in Pontiac would likely be constructed at 85 per cent city expense, it was disclosed this week.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said that, barring a prior agreement with the railroad, the state law apportions the bulk of the costs to the city.

Taylor detailed procedures for securing grade separations at busy railroad crossings on major streets.

The city periodically receives inquiries on the feasibility of such grade separations.

CITES PROCEDURE

Taylor said the procedure in the state law provides for the city to petition the Public Service Commission for a crossing.

The commission then holds a formal hearing on the request, deciding if it is necessary.

Unless there is prior agreement between the city and railroad company, the cost of construction is split 15 per cent to the railroad and 85 per cent to the city.

Thus, crossings at West Huron and Johnson would probably be constructed at 85 per cent city expense.

One previous city estimate put the cost of a grade separation at West Huron in the neighborhood of $500,000.

New Formula Told for Identifying Likely Delinquents

CAMBRIDGE, Massachusetts

(AP) — A noted criminologist said today children who are likely to become juvenile delinquents can be singled out when only 2 to 3 years old.

Dr. Eleanor Turett Glueck, a researcher at Harvard University, announced this conclusion after years of studying infant and family characteristics.

She said the findings offer new hope for preventive action in individual cases before serious delinquency actually develops.

Dr. Glueck and her husband, Sheldon, who is professor of criminal law at Harvard Law School, devised the widely used Glueck Social Prediction Table based on a 1950 study of children in the 5½- to 6-year-old range.

TWO FACTORS

Dr. Glueck has now added two factors which she said makes the table effective for weighing up the delinquency potential still earlier in life.

Two years ago the New York City Youth Board reported that a 10-year study using the original Glueck table showed that of 33 boys identified as having a high delinquency potential at school-entering age, 25, or 84.8 per cent, became persistent offenders before the age of 17.

Of 243 boys identified as unlikely to become delinquent, only 9, or 2.9 per cent, did so. Dr. Glueck believes the revised table will prove equally accurate in assessing younger children.

The original table was based on three factors. Two were social: (1) undesirable parental traits such as criminality, alcoholism, emotional disturbance or mental retardation, and (2) the degree of parental affection for the child. One was constitutional: the degree of child restlessness.

The revised table adds two constitutional factors: infant destructiveness and resistance to authority.

Dr. Glueck said that since the two parental factors are apparent from the time of the child's birth, she is hopeful that "identification of potential delinquents can eventually be pushed back beyond even the 2- to 3-year level."

She placed the primary blame for delinquency on "the weakening American family."

"Mothers, rich or poor, who do not make appropriate provision for the physical and emotional care of their children are home.

the culprits on today's ever-increasing crime rate," she said in an interview.

She said fathers, too, must assume more responsibility toward their children. She deplored what she described as the "view in our society that a father has fulfilled his role if he provides resources for the family."

Leathered Furniture a Big Hit

As a Christmas gift for the entire family, leather furniture is a "natural." The authentic beauty and ruggedness of rich-looking leather sofas, benches, chairs, tables and other furnishings can brighten the home at holiday-time — and a hundred happy holidays to follow.

Leather chairs of every size, shape and shade make elegant and exciting group gifts, points out Leather Industries of America.

The family may decide on an ultra-comfortable leather armchair (a classic for any den), or perhaps a set of graceful dining-room chairs with seats covered in easy care leather.

Other styles range from occasional chairs with leather seats and backs (such as backrests of wove leather strips) to over-sized square hassocks of tufted leather set on straight metal legs, or teak-chairs with leather slings.

All combine good looks with long wear — and as a bonus to Mom, dirt wipes off in a wink.

For a truly opulent Christmas present, choose a distinctive leather couch. From sofas stretching six or more feet to most powerful ally. But, as Indonesians demonstrate against whether the family comprises its technicians home and cuts off virtually all economic aid.

Since leather may be tufted, tooled, quilted, pleated or draped, there's a wide choice to be had not only in color, silhouette, kind of wood if any — but also in how the leather itself may be worked!

There are many leather gifts for the home to add sparkle to holiday festivities.

Designed to please the most discriminating members of the family are leather-paneled cabinets, tables and desks inlaid with leather, and leather headboards. Smaller but no less smart are leather lamps, leather desk accessories or throw pillows.

Winds of Change Sweeping Indonesia

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Winds of change gust through Jakarta's busy Chinese quarter, flap the banners hanging across the city's main streets and sweep across the marble veranda of President Sukarno's palace.

Actually, these are the winds which signal the start of Indonesia's rainy season but with the change of seasons also have come other changes.

Sukarno, lifetime president of the 3,000 islands and the more than 106 million people comprising the Republic of Indonesia, takes on a more plaintive tone as he addresses his handpicked People's Consultative Assembly.

In Jakarta, a city of banners and slogans, insulting caricatures of Uncle Sam and the "white imperialists" have disappeared.

And plaintively, Sukarno declares, "If you don't like me, then discharge me. I will withdraw if you are not satisfied."

He adds: "People say they leave the political settlement of the revolution to the president... but they push me and they irritate me. I ask you to leave the matter to me."

But six weeks after Indonesia's abortive revolution, it was apparent that the non-Communist army did not intend to leave the matter to Sukarno, and that for a long, long time at least things for Sukarno would not be the same.

The Indonesian press has gone beyond Sukarno's control and pushes the anti-Red Chinese line of the army.

D. N. Aidit, the short, stocky, dynamic leader of the country's three-million member Communist party, apparently is dead, executed after capture and questioning in November. He had been considered almost an intimate of Sukarno.

Perhaps best straw in the wind is the switch-over of Foreign Minister Subandrio, architect of the axis with Peking under which the Chinese were to provide Indonesia with millions of dollars in credits over the next few years.

Subandrio is a clever but cautious man with a reputation for landing on his feet.

Like Sukarno he has resisted a break with the Chinese despite early Peking endorsement of the Sept. 30 revolution that failed.

Now Subandrio says he can be neutral between Peking and Moscow.

Peking had been Sukarno's stretching six or more feet to most powerful ally. But, as Indonesians demonstrate against whether the family comprises its technicians home and cuts off virtually all economic aid.

Sukarno is not a Communist but he is a professed Marxist and he is pledged to keep his revolution headed toward the left.

Among the many political contractions coined by Sukarno is the term "Nasakom." It is meant to combine what Sukarno regards as the basis of the country's political life—nationalist, Communist and religious influences almost disappeared.

Today communism is in retreat and, with Sukarno's confession of negligence toward the economy, new thought is being given to the lot of the Indonesian peasant.

Use Imagination in Gift Choice

Shirts, socks. Ties. These are the traditional gifts that come to mind when it's a question of giving a man, and all too often the gift list for Santa himself stops right there.

Of course, he'll smile and look delighted when he opens the packages, but will he really be happy?

The way to make sure is to apply a little imagination in the selection of his gifts.

Even traditional gifts can mean a lot more, when the approach is imaginative.

Shirts, socks and ties may be exactly what he needs. If so, a quick check of his wardrobe can verify this, and the same check will serve as a guide to his color and style preferences.

GO BEYOND BASICS

Take shirts, for example. It's practical to replenish his shirt supply — and it's imaginative giving him something different.

Think about adding zing to his wardrobe with rugged, colorful sport shirts. Or, think about giving him a shirtjacket or two, just for a change.

Going beyond the basics, it's imaginative to increase the scope of fashion giving for Santa.

He'll welcome robes and pajamas — but how about slacks, hats, sportjackets, warm outerwear, shoes?

These are the wardrobe items he usually has to buy for himself because, for a woman giving a man, the problem of choosing the correct size is apt to be frightening.

Be bold! Look in his closet for size information. If necessary, "borrow" a sport jacket or a shoe and take it along when shopping.

Even in the case of mistakes, the courteous gifts exchange policy of local stores assures that he is certain to get what he wants.

While Santa welcomes gifts to wear, there are many other ways to please him at Christmas. Just imagine what he'd like to help him with all his interests and activities.

Leisure time gifts can be some of the most rewarding, both for the man who receives them and the giver.

His favorite sports — bowling, boating, fishing, golfing or whatever — provide clues to the equipment and accessories he needs and wants.

And how about something he can wear to play his favorite game — a golf jacket or a new pair of bowling shoes, for instance.

Remember, too, that he's a busy man. Chances are, he'll appreciate gifts to dress up his office and make it more functional — new desk accessories, perhaps.

GROOMING GIFTS

Today's boom in traveling suggests still another gifts category for him. Not only luggage but grooming gifts are indicated here — such as a kit for his shaving needs, brushes and toiletries, or a portable case for his ties.

For the man who has his own home workshop, or the man who just likes to tinker about the house occasionally, gifts of tools are ideal.

This year's selection of do-it-yourself gift items offers everything from a simple screwdriver to the most elaborate power tool kits — at prices modest enough for Junior to get in on the act, too.

Stamp collector or shutterbug, record collector or model builder, the hobbyist goes for gifts that help him ride his hobby.

And if he doesn't have a hobby, this might be the Christmas to start one for him, with a well-chosen gift.

In terms of voters India with an electorate of 175 millions, is the world's largest democracy.

Variety of Ideas Small Gifts Big Delight

TOYS OF YESTERYEAR — Antique toys, each an authentic collector's item, surround Mary David and Jerry Smith. Smith of Kansas City, Mo., has selected 500 of the valuable playthings from his collection for a Christmas season display at the Hallmark Gallery in New York City. Miss David is a member of the gallery staff.

"Little gifts" loom large in the Christmas giving picture, thanks to electric housewares and "mobile entertainment" ideas.

Electric housewares not only go to work in the kitchen, they also do a wide variety of jobs all around the house, before and after Christmas.

While there are comparatively few totally new entrants in the housewares field, "old stand-bys" such as blenders, toasters, electric skillets, coffeemakers, automated toothbrushes, slicing knives, shoe polishers, electric heaters, grills and rotisseries, food warmers show such advanced appearance and performance as to make "yesterday's models" seem obsolete.

Miniaturization makes new gains in "big little" gifts for Christmas '65.

For instance, there's a tiny tape recorder that weighs just three pounds, complete with batteries — and snap-in cartridges that eliminate tape-changing.

TAPE RECORDER

Cordless convenience is offered by a book-size tape recorder (weight, five pounds) with built-in power cell and recharger — no separate recharging equipment needed.

Even stereo components are portable now. One new phonograph consists of stereo components that latch together to form a cube for easy carrying.

Transistorized radios, AM only or AM-FM, keep shrinking in size and gaining in performance power.

The first state minimum wage law was enacted in Massachusetts in 1912. Today, three-fourths of the states have such laws.

Traffic Deaths Pass

RENTON, N.J. (AP)—New Jersey's traffic death toll has passed the 1,000 mark for the 13th year since the state began compiling records.

State Atty. Gen. Arthur J. Silis said 1,000 traffic deaths were reported as of the beginning of this week. He said the deaths exceeded 1,000 for 11 successive years, 1927 through 1937. The toll was below that figure from 1938 through 1963, but reached 1,071 in 1964, he said.

It Grates on Ears of U.S. Officers, Civilians

Most Hated Word in Viet Nam War Is 'Ambush'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The most hated word in the war in Viet Nam is — ambush.

It is also the most controversial word.

It grates on the ears of U.S. military commanders over here. But the word ambush will remain reluctantly active in our vocabulary as long as we are battling in places such as Southeast Asia.

BOYLE

There is no other word in the language that presently describes better the kind of warfare going on there, unless it be the term "bushwhacking," which is hardly more acceptable. For being ambushed or bushwhacked amounts to the same thing.

The dictionary defines ambush as "a trap in which concealed persons lie in wait to attack by surprise."

HATE WORD

Military commanders hate to admit their troops have been ambushed because this implies to many they may have been derelict in their duty. Theoretically, soldiers aren't supposed to enter enemy traps or be caught by surprise. The word has an inescapably derogatory ring to it — unless you are the one who has done the ambushing. Then it sounds fine.

Take an instance reported in recent news dispatches.

Infantry Division — killed 200 or more Viet Cong. The battalion suffered its heaviest casualties of the war.

A U.S. spokesman described the action as "a meeting engagement."

FIRE FIRST

"It was a big ambush," said a young officer in the field. "Who was right? Both were. It's a question of semantics."

The American column was on what is called a "search and destroy" mission. Its men were looking for the enemy, trying to provoke them into battle. The waiting Viet Cong, dug in and well-camouflaged, fired first from positions along a jungle road.

Both sides got what they wanted, and each paid a price. The Viet Cong executed an ambush. We had a "meeting engagement." This probably will be the rough pattern of the war for some time to come.

Our purpose is to destroy the enemy in battle. If he won't come to us, inevitably we will have to go to him.

Ambush has to be his main art and chief reliance. Heavily outnumbered and greatly outgunned, the Viet Cong dare not face our artillery and airpower in open warfare. If they did so, the war would be quickly over.

DARING RAIDS

They have to hit and run, to strike from the jungle in daring raids and retreat back into it when superior force is mobilized against them.

Their strategy isn't to smash us to pieces but to bleed us to death. Their hope is that in time we will weary of this piecemeal bloodshed, pack up our old kit bags and go home.

In the face of increasing American firmness, that hope on their part at present seems a forlorn one.

"If they can ambush us, why can't we ambush them?" some ask.

BY SEA, AIR, LAND

We do ambush them. As our force increases and we restrict their movements and close their infiltration routes, we will ambush them more often — by sea, by air, by land. The art of ambush is not foreign to American arms. It helped win us our national freedom, and we know how to employ it on the grand scale.

So, much as we may dislike the word ambush now, we may as well learn to live with it. We'll be hearing it for a long time yet — and probably be using it more often ourselves.

FPC Chief Urges Congress to Encourage Power Pools

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The one great lesson of last month's Northeast power failure is that the nation's electrical systems must be tied even closer together — and it's up to Congress to help.

That was the blunt challenge laid down by Federal Power Commission Chairman Joseph C. Swidler yesterday at a hearing conducted by a special congressional committee investigating the big blackout.

"Without legislation," said Swidler, "the problem can't be solved."

Swidler wants Congress to encourage development of "power pools," networks of individual systems tied closely together, coordinating their operations and sharing common sources of power greater than their combined needs.

The result, the FPC chief believes, would be cheaper power, increased flexibility and, perhaps most important, "mutual assistance in time of trouble."

DRAWBACKS

Swidler, who will soon be leaving the commission, conceded that there are also drawbacks to interconnected systems.

"The weakness in one system may work injury to all," he said.

In the case of the Nov. 9 blackout, a mishap at any obscure Canadian relay system set off a "cascading" effect that shut down power plants in eight states and New York City. The result was some 14 hours of hardship in an 80,000-square-mile area containing 30 million people.

Swidler claimed that the Northeast experience does not justify criticism of the power pool concept.

NOT POWER POOL

For one thing, he said, the Canada-Eastern United States system — known as Canus — was not really a power pool. It is only loosely connected and uncoordinated, he said. He called on Congress to:

- Give the FPC authority to oversee development of power pools and to insure that minimum standards are applied.
 - Remove the "incentives" the law now offers public and private utilities to stay out of interconnected systems.
- Rep. Oren E. Harris, D-Ark., a member of the committee, suggested that before enlarging the power sharing system individual weaknesses must be considered. He wondered aloud whether in a big power pool the weak might pull down the strong.

Swidler agreed that weaknesses must be corrected. But, he added, "I think that the uncoordinated planning of 3,600 separate companies is a great source of weakness."

Rules Strict on Gifts for U.S. Employees

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's all right to give your postman a handkerchief, some cookies or such for Christmas in appreciation of those trudges through rain, sleet and snow to your mailbox.

A postal official said yesterday that the department has no position regarding token gifts of appreciation — with reason.

"But we have very, very strict regulations — under no circumstances can the letter carriers solicit anything," he said.

A check around the capital showed the government has "hound's tooth clean" regulations about gifts to any federal employee from anybody having business or seeking business with the government.

The rules pretty well eliminate anything from a business firm except calendars or pencils with the firm's name on them.

WORD SPREADS

The word appears to have gotten around.

"We used to receive quite a few gifts, but after the new regulations came out, it stopped; it just stopped," one Pentagon worker told a reporter.

For the thousands of federal workers under Civil Service, the regulations are similar.

Members of Congress set their own guidelines.

GETS QUESTIONED

A congressional assistant was asked if she and her staff were under any regulations about accepting Christmas gifts.

"No — because we never get any," she replied. "Oh, sometimes, a box of candy comes to the office staff."

Do they keep it?

"We eat it," she replied in a "what else?" manner.

What is Christmas

Christmas (Krīsmas, Krist'-n [Christ + mass])
An annual church festival, kept on December 25 in memory of the birth of Christ, celebrated by special gifts, greetings, etc.

Christmas is many things to many people. For some it is a time to be with loved ones, wrapped in love, warmth, comfort and contentment. For others it is the time for rejoicing, gaiety, good cheer and good will to all men.
And for others it is simply the time to be home for the holidays. For us it's the time to extend Seasons Greetings to you and to help you fulfill all your holiday wishes. Be delighted with the array of the World's Treasures that you will find in our fine shops. Here you can select exquisite gifts to beguile and enchant everyone on your list.

ACTION GAME — Among toy designer Marvin Glass's creations for this Christmas is this three-dimensional action game. Youngsters, like the enthusiastic lad shown above, play cards to assemble the game, then begin to set it in motion. When the clock is wound, a boxing glove pops out, the glove punches a broom, the broom swats a cat, the cat drops her ball, etc.

College Presidents Ask Romney's Help

By AL SANDNER
Associated Press Writer
LANSING (AP) — The heads of four private higher education institutions asked Gov. George Romney yesterday for assistance that could halt the steady drop in their attendance and they claimed — save the state millions of dollars.

Romney held an informational meeting with the Rev. Laurence Britt, SJ, president of the University of Detroit; William Spoelhof of Calvin College, C.A.; and Sister Mary Emil, IHM, of Marygrove College. They represented an association of 17 private and church — related four-year accredited schools.

They suggested a tuition-grant program similar to those operating in New York and Wisconsin, and state funds to enable the private schools to get federal assistance in construction.

Based on New York and Wisconsin experience, Father Britt said, the state could save at least $10 million in the next 10 years if it instituted the grant program.

"This," he said, "is based on a projected enrollment increase of 20,000 students and current costs of $1,100 per student educated in tax-supported schools."

The noncompetitive program would grant students up to $600 a year to defray tuition costs. It would be based entirely on financial need.

They also asked state help in putting up the funds needed to match federal higher education facilities funds.

"In many cases, the schools need just one facility that could double their enrollment," Sr. Emil said.

"What we are talking about here is the survival of our dual education system in Michigan," VanderWerf said.

Grand Rapids (AP) — David Martin, 19, of Belding died Wednesday at St. Mary's Hospital of injuries suffered Dec. 5 in an auto crash. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Martin, he was thrown from a car which crashed off a Montcalm County road south of Sheridan.

Disposable income is expected to rise more than four per cent in 1966, according to a survey of the American Statistical Association.

Glass doesn't claim any mystical powers for the ideas he thinks up.

How does he get ideas for toys? "It's a struggle I just suffer 'til I get ideas," he says.

Glass has exclusive rights to produce many of the James Bond toys.

He says he realized the James Bond craze would be a big one in the toy industry thanks to the Bond movies.

Glass says Barbie is every teen-age girl's dream — she's pretty, popular, talented and always beautifully dressed.

Glass notes, however, that the Barbie doll is a success only in the United States.

He says, "Barbie could only live in a culture like our own, where the evaluation of woman is superficial."

Glass says most people thought Barbie too realistic to be babies or little girls; Barbie was too grown up. But it was an instant hit.

His Toys Break the Rules

"It's the knowledgeable people who hold back progress in the toy industry."

They have all the answers, and the answers are always wrong."

These words come from someone who ought to know. He's Marvin Glass, one of the country's top toy designers.

The 50-year-old Glass is an unconventional man with unconventional ideas.

He is a graduate of the University of Chicago with a psychology major who got into the toy business by accident.

He thinks educational toys are a fraud: "when a designer can't think of anything new for a toy, he puts the word 'educational' on the box."

NO TESTING

He refuses to test his toys on a panel of children, saying youngsters don't like to judge toys, just buy them.

Glass also claims that toy designers never learn.

He says the toys that are the greatest successes are the ones which break all the rules — the toys that manufacturers are hesitant to produce for fear they won't sell.

As an example, he cites the Barbie doll (not one of his own creations).

TOO REALISTIC? Glass says most people thought Barbie too realistic to be babies or little girls; Barbie was too grown up. But it was an instant hit.

Congressmen Eager to View War Scene

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Next to walking into a Viet Cong ambush, about the most unsettling thing an American unit can encounter in the field these days is a covey of congressmen taking a look at the war.

This means a four-day VIP tour of major American military installations, with several briefing sessions before a large and complicated map marked with such mysterious terms as "Zone C" and "Zone D."

With Congress out of session, a record number of American politicians have been getting fitted out for fatigues and climbing aboard helicopters to make the combat scene.

In two months at least 45 congressmen and 11 governors, plus assorted mayors, judges, commissioners and other plenipotentiaries have departed among the screaming jets and whirling helicopters at Saigon's airport.

CONSTITUENTS RATE
All the politicians, according to one top military spokesman, are most interested in seeing the same thing: Constituents.

After that, they want to visit the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division, with its more than 450 helicopters buzzing in and out of An Khe Valley; they want to land on the deck of a carrier out in the South China Sea; they want to eat C rations out of a can — if there is an obliging photographer at hand — with Marines up in Da Nang.

Because time is short and planes or helicopters are hard to come by, many guests wind up with the 1st Infantry Division encamped in tents in the dust and mud only 25 miles from Saigon.

The Big Red One has had such an influx of visitors that the dogfaces are used to a sergeant sticking his head inside a tent and bellowing: "All right, everybody from Michigan" or "New Jersey or Idaho or California — off your coats and on your feet, your congressman wants to shake hands."

RELOCATES MEN
Legend has it that one top kick, tired of trying to round up a khaki-clad quorum from Illinois, lined up the men he had and relocated them: "You are from Peoria, get it? And you're from Joliet. You, you're Springfield. And you're Danville. You're Rockford," and so on.

Chicago got a whole squad.

Since the war changes every day, and yesterday's pacified area can become today's disaster zone, it is up to field commanders to decide where a dignitary cannot tread.

Happy is the legislator, however, who can be shot at and missed, and breathlessly relate his experiences to a news conference. It happened to Rep. Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y.

"We were right there in the thick of things," Halpern told reporters after some sniper took to a potshot at his helicopter coming out of Lai Khe, 45 miles north of Saigon.

Military hosts try to discourage it, but combat fatigues have become the uniform of the day for visiting functionaries. The fact that some of the gentlemen look ridiculous in jump boots and jungle jackets in no way discourages them. The same uniforms are used over and over again. Today's combat-ready Democrat may go off to war dressed in the armor of yesterday's Republican, with a seam or a cuff taken in an inch here or there.

Others augment the basic field uniform with raffish adornments. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., went about in a bush hat with the brim curled up in the go-to-hell Australian style. Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois affected a baseball-style fatigue hat.

At the highest levels, both embassy and military, officials say they are glad to have the people's representatives come see for themselves what the war is all about.

At the lowest levels, particularly in the field, the men tire of the protocol parade.

Dick Kriegel, the United States Operations Mission representative in Binh Dinh Province, became a hero to the harassed hosts in the field when Sen. Kennedy asked him about some of his problems.

FOR PIPE SMOKERS — A gift they like could be fine tobacco in an interesting holiday canister.

"To be blunt, sir," Kriegel replied, "we just get too many VIPs like you."

Anecdotes abound about congressmen running around with tape recorders to get interviews with constituents for replay at home and taking down names and addresses of future voters in their district. There is the case of an enlisted man plucked by helicopter from a lonely Special Forces camp just to have Thanksgiving dinner with his governor.

State loyalties sometimes lead to unusual scenes. Gov. George Romney untied the Michigan flag aboard the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga. Two Texas congressmen tried to get some Montagnard children to harmonize with them on "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

The people's choices also came up with some startling reactions to matters military. One solon was shown the baseball-size hole made in an armored personnel carrier by a Viet Cong recoilless rifle. "And that's high tensile, multiple, ballistic resistant blue twisted steel," the platoon sergeant told him.

The congressman rapped the side of the vehicle smartly with his knuckles.

"Yes," he opined. "Very strong."

A West Virginia visitor was taken to Tay Ninh in the delta to visit the Pope of the Cao Dai, a sect that operates its own little Vatican and worships such saints as Sun Yat-sen and Victor Hugo.

"Ten," said the sainted leader of the sect, "is very invigorating."

The congressman took a sip. "You better believe it, Pope," he said.

Welland Canal Is Closed to All Incoming Ships

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (AP)—The Welland Canal between Lakes Erie and Ontario closed to incoming ships at midnight, leaving 30 vessels berthed in Port Colborne for the winter. It is the largest number in several years.

About half of the ships will store grain for use by local mills during the winter.

One side of the flight locks at Thorold was closed Wednesday because of light traffic, and mechanical repairs were started.

SANTA, TAKE NOTE—Modern ranges make both cooking and cleaning easier. Electric ranges like this one have self-cleaning ovens and while the oven is cleaning itself, Mom can whip up a batch of fudge or other holiday treat on a surface cooking unit.

Many Improvements Mark Advent of New Major Appliances

Now, this is the Christmas when Santa should ask himself these questions:

Does Mrs. Santa have a frost-free (no defrosting needed) refrigerator-freezer? Does she have a really modern, automatic range with new cook-easy, clean-easy features? Does she have a top model, automatic washer and automatic dryer? Does she have an automatic dishwasher?

A "no" answer to any of these questions means an instant solution to Santa's present problems. Consider the many new developments in major appliances. Remember that the dishwasher, the dryer and, to a certain extent, the automatic washer are still only a dream for countless homemakers.

It's obvious that Santa, and every family man, has an unparalleled opportunity to delight the lady of the house with important gifts that bring the kitchen and laundry up to date and bring greater-than-ever convenience.

Dad, in the role of Santa, may find that he saves money, too. Before the Federal Excise Tax Cuts went into effect last June, manufacturers of gas, electric and oil appliances (including virtually all major appliances, and self contained air conditioners, not too) paid a five per cent tax on

PRICES LOWER

Since this tax was repealed, appliances prices are often somewhat lower.

To the need for modernization and the possible savings add the extra pleasures that come with appliance gifts.

While Mom's happiness and comfort are the first consideration, all members of the family benefit from gifts of appliances.

They share in the ease and efficiency such gifts provide and, most of all, they can share more of Mom's time, thanks to the New work-savers.

In addition to the major appliances, Santa and his helpers have a world of small appliances to select from.

Blenders to shoe polishers, rotisseries to toothbrushes, small appliances serve as appreciated extras when presented with big gifts. Or, on their own, they offer an opportunity to personalize the appliance gifts to fit any budget.

Christmas Tree Sale Is Big Business

That Christmas tree you will buy this year, along with millions of other American families, has created a gigantic industry.

Until a decade ago, about half the trees purchased in the United States came from Canadian forests.

Now the nation supplies the majority of its own trees each year, thanks to efforts of the U. S. Forest Service plus a few new far-sighted state forestry departments.

Most of the trees this year will come from supervised "tree farms" in designated areas in almost all states. Even in the so-called desert states of the Southwest, at least 1 million trees will be cut commercially for use in nearby metropolitan areas.

White balsam fir will maintain the number one spot this year as the top choice of American tree buyers and cutters.

TOUGHER TREE

Commercial tree companies say the balsam fir is tougher, holds its needles longer and can take more abuse in shipping.

Right behind the balsam fir is the blue spruce, beautiful with a silver sheen, but shied away from by tree firms because of its fragile characteristics.

Also in prominence is the Scotch pine, which accounted for 21 per cent of the Christmas tree market last year. Another variety, found mostly in the Southwest, is the squatty pinon. Last year the pinon's market jumped with new shipments to California.

NEW PROCESS

Regulating the growth and sale of Christmas trees is a new process in the nation brought on most recently by black market activities.

Most states have passed laws requiring tagging of all trees for Christmas cutting. New Mexico was the most recent state to pass a so-called Scrooge Act to regulate its state-owned forest land.

The Forest Service earlier had clamped down on unselective cutting of trees on federal lands throughout the country.

The service planted large areas of small trees, and now allows cutting on the "tree farms" on an annual basis.

With the new programs developed by most states, forest experts and tree firms say the outlook for the future of Christmas trees is good.

Christmas tree farms is another step in the conservation move sweeping the country in an attempt to preserve and replenish natural properties.

Harbor Improvement

LUDINGTON (AP)—A public hearing was to be held today by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers to consider requests for further navigational improvements at Ludington Harbor. Some area interests seek enlargement of the present turning basin and a deepening of the harbor from 18 feet at present to 26 feet.

Viet Conflict Has Broad Diplomatic Impact

By JOHN HIGHTOWER
Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON — The diplomatic conflict arising out of the war in Viet Nam ranges over a far broader front than the military struggle.

It extends from Peking to Washington and from Moscow to London with almost every important capital in the world involved. It widens the splits that already exist between nations, magnifies old disputes and feeds global fear of nuclear war.

Red China has used the conflict to try to wrest Communist leadership away from the Soviet Union, especially in Asia and Africa. Soviet leaders have seized on North Viet Nam's need for arms in an effort to break China's grip on the Communist leaders at Hanoi. The United States, supported by many of its allies and opposed by France, is fighting in Viet Nam not to bar Communist conquest but also to show that "wars of liberation" elsewhere don't pay.

CONTRADICTION

The chain reactions to the conflict seem endless: The East-West dispute; the split within the Western and Communist blocs, the dissensions between the big powers and the newer and weaker countries are tied into a pattern of competing and sometimes contradictory interests in a sharpened struggle for power and position.

Yet most Western diplomats here agree that if the Vietnamese war could be ended tomorrow, the world might be an easier place to live in but very few of its real problems would disappear.

If the war goes on — and need for arms in an effort to break China's grip on the Communist leaders at Hanoi. The United States, supported by many of its allies and opposed by France, is fighting in Viet Nam not to bar Communist conquest but also to progress between the two big conflict. It is also a governing element in the Soviet's relations with the United States, more Militarily, the Vietnamese war is a small war, mainly involving only the United States and the two Viet Nams. But in U.S.-Soviet relations the Vietnamese war may well be the true reason why Kremlin leaders rejected President Johnson's last bid last January for an exchange of visits. That has been the explanation consistently put forward by the Soviets.

Some skeptical Washington officials argue, however, that the Kremlin was delighted to have so handy an excuse to stall. These officials believe the Soviet Union is not yet ready for an American presidential visit.

cutting through their internal secrecy and propaganda barriers. The Vietnamese war also is blamed by the Soviets, but not so generally by American officials, for blocking progress in disarmament negotiations. Yet if the war ended tomorrow, U.S. leaders would not expect a sudden boom in disarmament prospects.

Peace would bring no quick accord on a pact to halt the spread of nuclear weapons. The central issue of this proposed pact is not Viet Nam but a NATO nuclear weapons role for West Germany which is bitterly opposed by the Soviets.

Nor would a treaty to ban underground nuclear weapons tests be readily concluded because the main problem is not Viet Nam, but inspections demanded by the United States and Britain inside the Soviet Union, and the Soviets' refusal to grant them.

SHADOWS DARK But the Vietnamese conflict makes these and many other issues more difficult to deal because the darkening shadow of months that the Chinese had the long Asian crisis is everywhere apparent. But it needs to be seen for what it is; probably than the major contribution of peace with such actions as their attack in Viet Nam would be to bring a change in atmosphere and ease Kashmir crisis this summer — some of the tensions between they also seemed to have antagonized the United States and the Soviet Union.

The diplomatic or political difficulties created by the war are considered here to be greater for the Kremlin than for the White House, in spite of the fact that the United States is involved militarily. And the reason for this is Red China.

The rivalry between the Soviet Union and Red China is a major factor in determining their attitudes toward the Vietnamese conflict. At the same time, it is magnified by that China's declining prestige in the Afro-Asian field was demonstrated last month when an Afro-Asian conference meeting to arrange a summit session of Communist and neutralist leaders was able to agree only on postponing a summit meeting.

Red China had said that if the conference was not to condemn U.S. "imperialism" in Viet Nam there was no point in having it.

They were unable to get assurance of the condemnation. The Vietnamese conflict has been an irritant in U.S.-French relations — but only an irritant. The real differences between France and the United States are rooted in European problems. But in his effort to promote French prestige at U.S. expense, President De Gaulle pressed for more than a year for Vietnamese settlement, with neutralization of Southeast Asia.

SEES DEFEAT The U.S. officials made clear that what he meant was that the United States should get out of the fight at almost any cost before the United States suffered the defeat he considered inevitable.

"It does not appear there can be a military solution in South Viet Nam," De Gaulle said in July 1964. "One must make peace."

A year ago De Gaulle was not the only leader in the West who thought the United States would lose the Vietnamese war. Others worried equally about the loss of the United States during the past six months. Johnson's double track Viet Nam policy seems to have been effective in limiting the impact of the war on other areas of U.S. international relations.

One result of all this appears to be that Johnson has gained more elbow room, greater flexibility, for carrying out U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Another result, which U.S. officials consider hopefully from time to time, could be that the Soviet Union has begun to move into position to use its influence Johnson activated two policies with North Viet Nam for a which radically changed the peace settlement with the United States.

Soviets Reject Yank's Appeal

Verdict Is Upheld in Violation at Border

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Russian Republic Supreme Court today refused an appeal by American tourist Newcomb Mott, sentenced recently to 18 months in a labor camp for illegally crossing the Soviet-Norwegian border.

Three Supreme Court judges, two men and a woman, deliberated for 53 minutes before returning the verdict.

They ruled that the Murmansk Regional Court had been correct in sentencing the 27-year-old Sheffield, Mass., salesman Nov. 24 after a three-day trial.

"The crime was qualified properly by the Murmansk court, and the sentence conforms to the law," Presiding Judge G. P. Chernishov said.

Mott was not present in the small courtroom in the Supreme Court building on a square a few blocks away from the Kremlin.

EXPECT MOVE

He has been kept in Murmansk jail pending the appeal and now is expected to be moved immediately to an unidentified labor camp. He was arrested Sept. 4.

His Soviet attorney, Boris Zolotukhin, who made the appeal, said that his next step will be to ask the Russian Federation Supreme Court prosecutor and the presiding judge to appeal to the Supreme Court of the Soviet Union.

(In London, Mott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mott, awaiting the outcome of the appeal, said their son's conviction was the first for an illegal border crossing in the area. They said at least seven other persons had been arrested on similar charges there during the past 20 years but none was tried.)

U.S. Embassy Counselor Officer William Shinn will aid Mott in appealing for clemency to the Supreme Soviet (parliament) of the Russian Republic and of the U.S.S.R.

Overhaul Aid to States--GOP

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Top day by the Republican coordinating committee, composed of former presidential nominees, congressional leaders, governors and representatives of the GOP National Committee.

Two more sections of the report will be released later.

"Strengthening the federal system requires an attack on the problem of the fiscal poverty of the states amid federal plenty," the report said.

It said present federal aid programs involve "a mass of specific controls" requiring spending in some states for purposes other than their most urgent problems.

The block grant proposal is similar to the idea commonly identified with Dr. Walter W. Heller, a chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under President Johnson and the late President John F. Kennedy.

The GOP report said Republicans in Congress advanced the same idea during the Eisenhower administration.

Americans consume about 65 million tons of beef a year, up 20 per cent since 1959.

These proposals came in a report unanimously approved Monday.

They proposed a new system of "functional grants" under which the states would have more leeway than they now have to use federal aid money for such purposes as education, welfare and public health.

They also recommended a set of "block grants" to be used by the states for whatever purposes they wished, almost free of federal controls.

It was suggested that the block grants start at 2 per cent of annual federal income tax collections and eventually be raised to 10 per cent. The 2 per cent figure would amount to more than $1.5 billion a year.

These proposals came in a report unanimously approved Monday.

Slip of Lip Stops Ship

ST. IVES, England, (UPI) — A 53,000-ton tanker was held up for two hours yesterday because a seaman sneezed.

The sneezer was John Peter Mitchell, 19, crew member of the Esso London. He dislocated his jaw in the process.

The tanker dropped anchor offshore and waited two hours for a lifeboat to pick up Mitchell and bring him to a hospital.

MAY AND SEPTEMBER—Joan M. Douglas, 25, third wife of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, filed suit yesterday in Yakima, Wash., for divorce. She and the 66-year-old Douglas (left) have been married about two and one-half years. Mrs. Douglas charged cruel treatment and personal indignities. This picture was taken last January.

Wife Seeks Divorce From U.S. Justice

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — The honeymoon on Washington's rugged Olympic Peninsula, the slender, brown-haired Mrs. Douglas said she found the experience "new, strange and wonderful."

Joan Martin Douglas, 25, filed suit for divorce in Superior (County) Court here Wednesday, charging the 67-year-old jurist with cruel treatment and personal indignities.

They met in 1961 when Douglas lectured at Allegheny College, where she was a student. Joan planned to do a senior year research project on Douglas' political philosophy, so a professor introduced them.

They were married Aug. 6, 1963, in Buffalo, N.Y. Douglas, an avid outdoorsman, took his bride on a hiking and campaign

WEDDING GIFT

The justice gave her a back pack and a pair of hiking boots for a wedding gift.

In her divorce complaint, she said he agreed to pay her $500 a month for eight months beginning Jan. 1 and $400 a month thereafter until she dies or remarries. She asked for restoration of her maiden name.

In Washington, D.C., Douglas' office said he was out of the city. Mrs. Douglas' attorney, Dan Reaugh of Seattle, said he did not know where she was.

The suit was filed here because they have a summer home in the Goose Prairie area of western Yakima County.

The couple had no children. Douglas has a son, actor William O. Douglas Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Frank C. Wells, by his first wife, whom he married in 1923. His first two marriages ended in divorce.

Receiver of Check Must Like the Grass

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rackets figure Carmine Lombardozzi was ordered yesterday to testify before a grand jury about an alleged checkbook stub indicating he wrote a $3,600 check to someone at 1508 Seventh Ave.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Irving Seidman said that address in Manhattan would be in the middle of Central Park. In Brooklyn, said, it would be located somewhere in Greenwood Cemetery.

Doubt Wisdom of Negro Party Plan

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The announced plan to form a "black panther" party underscored the growing impact of the Negro vote in Alabama today but brought some misgivings.

One Negro leader, Rufus Lewis of Montgomery, said he is fearful that a third party on the ballot in neighboring Lowndes County, where Negroes now have a voting majority, may tend to divide rather than unite them.

Lewis has devoted years of study to the problem of getting Negroes registered as voters. He said he was surprised at the disclosure that the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee plans to organize a new party with the hope of electing Negro candidates in Lowndes County next year.

The Negro candidates, nominated at a party convention, would run under the emblem of the black panther in the November general election against the Democratic and Republican party nominees.

A SNCC spokesman in Atlanta who made the disclosure said:

"The people of Lowndes County are determined that any Negro they elect will be responsive to them and their needs. This can be done only by supporting people like themselves from their own ranks for political office."

He said similar projects may be undertaken in other of the seven Alabama counties where Negroes have gained a voting majority.

No reaction from white leaders of either Democratic or Republican parties was immediately available.

Lewis, chairman of the voting and registration committee of the Montgomery Improvement Association and a leader in the statewide association for registration and voting, questioned the third party movement.

"In my thinking," he said, "the people in Lowndes County and these other counties will want to stick with the Democratic party and try to have some influence in the national election of federal registrars in Alabama. Negroes could be elected just as easily on the Democratic ticket."

FORMER VOTE

The Negro businessman recalled the experience last year in Macon County, the first in state to gain a Negro voting majority.

Negro candidates running as independents and supported by a rival group were overwhelmingly defeated for city and county office by Democrats endorsed by the Tuskegee Civic Association, a long-established organization.

Passage of the new federal voting rights law and the preference in Atlanta show a Negro voting majority in Lowndes, Perry, Hale, Greene, Bullock and Wilcox, and a close race for control in Dallas (Selma) and Marengo counties.

Voters in those and other counties will elect sheriffs and scores of other county officials in 1966. Only in Macon — with two Negroes on the Tuskegee City Council and four in county office — have Negro and white officials been elected together.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Mr. D destroys the Voodoo man's evil mirror and tells Santa the story of the Zabbazara bus. Santa says there is such a place as Zabbazara and they will go there to break the spell of the Voodoo man.

CHAPTER TEN AP Newsfeatures

Mr. D patched up the broken gas tank with chewing gum and Santa filled the tank with gas from the toy automobile shop. "I shouldn't drive," said Mr. D. "I can't see properly without my glasses."

"I keep a spare pair of glasses for myself," said Santa. "Try mine."

Mr. D put on Santa's glasses. For the first time in his life things looked straight and true.

"They're like magic! Everything is beautiful!"

"Not I!" said the crocodile. "Even you," said Mr. D. "And the Fabulous Dunklebum, too!"

MOST BEAUTIFUL
"Wait until we get to Zabbazara," said the little boy. "I bet that'll be the most beautiful."

The crocodile shook her head. "I'm going to stay here with the Fabulous Dunklebum."

The ugly old crocodile, in love with the ugly old monster, couldn't bear to leave him even though he had turned to stone.

The donkey felt sorry for them. He said, "I'll stay, too. What if the Voodoo man comes back? Someone has to be here to protect things!"

"That's true," said Santa. "How sensible you are."

FELT PROUD
No one had ever told the donkey he had sense. He felt very proud. He almost didn't mind not going to Zabbazara.

"Goodbye! Goodbye!" He waved to Santa and the little boy and Mr. D as they climbed aboard the bus. "Don't worry. I'll take care of everything."

The crocodile waved, too, and called out, "Don't forget to break the spell!"

In the bus, the little lost boy sat beside Santa. "What will happen if you don't find a way to break the spell?" he asked. "There'll be no Christmas,"

'We Must Go to Zabbazara' said Santa. "How can I make toys without my workers, and how can I deliver them without my reindeer?"

"And when the Voodoo man finds I did not look in his mirror and turn to stone, he won't rest until he has cast another spell for me."

"We must get to Zabbazara, and we must get there very fast for it is only a few days more before Christmas."

"But," said Mr. D from the driver's seat. "How do you know there is truly such a place?"

FAR AWAY PLACES
"I have a map and I have seen it there," Santa unfolded a sheet of fine linen. On it, embroidered in silk threads, was a map of faraway places.

"It's not a map of the world at all!" protested the boy.

"It is a different world. These are lands where you go in your dreams," He pointed to an island embroidered in gold. "See, here is Zabbazara."

"I have heard there is a princess there who can give any gift and break any spell. That's where we must go."

"An island!" exclaimed Mr. D. "How on earth will I get the bus to an island?"

"Just follow the directions on the map."

Mr. D studied the map. There were directions in strange languages and roads whose names he couldn't pronounce.

There were highways that seemed to leap across oceans and lands that seemed to hang in the skies.

Maybe it was because of the glasses Santa had given him or maybe it was for some other reason, but suddenly the map seemed very clear to Mr. D. He knew for sure that the Zabbazara bus really was going to Zabbazara.

Tomorrow: The Golden Island.

Canada Yule Spending Is New Record

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada is on the biggest Christmas shopping spree in its history. The Retail Council of Canada estimates that sales are up about 10 per cent over last December's record of $2 billion.

Part of the prosperity, especially in the prairie area, is made in China.

A survey by the Canadian Press made this entry for Alberta and Saskatchewan:

"Wheat sales to China were pinpointed as helping make it a Merry Christmas at the till."

The boom is much more widespread, however. Stores in centers like Montreal and Toronto report they are having trouble maintaining a flow of goods from manufacturers.

A store manager in Vancouver, B.C., said:

"We're feeling the effects of the affluent society of our times—more people with more money buying better goods."

In 104 years of statehood, Kansans have elected only seven Democratic governors.

Gift for Entire Family Gains in Popularity

"God bless us every one," Tiny Tim said it at his Christmas dinner, but it may well be said by families all across the nation as the big family gift gains in popularity.

This is the "From Us — To Us" gift, the one the whole family wants, the one the whole family selects, the one the whole family enjoys.

Important to the family house present is an early start. First, have a whole family discussion to decide what the house gift will be, and then set out early — en masse — to make the selection.

If it is to be furniture of any kind, the family will want to shop in several stores.

If it is to be a musical instrument, perhaps a piano, each member of the family should have the opportunity of playing it.

And remember — federal excise taxes have been removed on musical instruments.

DELIVERY IMPORTANT

Equally important in getting an early start is assurance of delivery for Christmas Day.

Most stores have long-term credit plans to ease the burden of the really big gift.

In addition to the whole-family house present, there is the personal type of house gift — the one Dad gives Mom, or Mom gives the children, or the children give to the parents.

The younger children, too, can join in the fun of giving something to the house.

LIVING PRESENT

Potted plants, too, are made for young budgets and have the added quality of being a "living" present.

The gift for Mother can run the gamut from kitchen equipment to leisure-time relaxation, from cleaning equipment to entertaining accessories.

A tea cart, new bridge table —

Dad could give her the table while the children chip in for monogrammed table covers and bridge luncheon sets.

A Christmas tradition is that Dad is presented with a comfortable chair, but he would also welcome hobby equipment, gadgets for the car, games — how about monogrammed playing cards to go with the bridge table he's giving Mother — or one of the new home-sized pool tables.

DAD INTERESTED

And pretty house presents need not be confined to Mother; Dad is also interested in the look of his home.

A reading lamp especially for his corner, an ornament reminiscent of something special to him — perhaps a piece of glass in the shape of a bird for a huntsman — or a footstool that complements his easy chair, these are all appreciated by the man of the house.

Youngsters, too, delight in the appearance of their home, and particularly of their own rooms. A pretty bedspread for Miss Teen-Ager, manly wall pictures for the young man, a bright toy chest for the little ones are all pleasing, yet practical, gifts.

If there are newly-weds to be reflectors — similar to those reduced shredding of corn

FAMILY HARMONY — Many years of caroling come with the musical gift of an organ. Removal of the federal excise tax means savings on gifts of musical instruments this year. The organ shown is by Hammond.

YEAR-LONG CONVENIENCE — A gift of an automatic dishwasher means freedom from the chore of washing up after every meal. A modern electric dishwasher requires no pre-rinsing, and handles heavy loads, including outside pots and pans.

'66 Christmas Club Plans Open Now at Local Banks

Let's face it. To carry out all accumulate the cash he needs, those generous gift-giving im-to buy gifts, a full-service bank pulses, Santa and his helpers can also be a good place to go need money.

That's why many far-sighted Santa-assistants are preparing right now to give themselves a gift of cash for Christmas 1966.

Christmas Club plans for the '66 shopping season are opening at local banks, and really early shoppers, with '66 in mind, are looking ahead to a sizeable check for gift shopping needs next year, by setting aside a few dollars — or less — every week.

Right now, too, banks are paying out savings to members of their '65 Christmas Clubs — good news for everyone who planned ahead for this Yuletide and its shopping expenses.

For those who didn't participate in this year's Clubs, and for anyone who needs extra Christmas cash, banks are ready to come to the rescue with loans — to buy a car, a major appliance or any one of a number of big gifts, as well as personal loans to purchase many smaller gifts.

FULL SERVICE In addition to helping Santa available at local banks.

Christmas gifts available from banks include, for instance, that first checking account for the college student.

An initial cash deposit and an attractive personalized check book from the bank make this gift even more welcome.

Opening a savings account for a child at Christmas can not only delight the youngster, it can help him, or her, learn lessons in thrift.

YEAR'S RENTAL

A year's rental on a safe deposit box could make a different and appreciated gift for the newweds in the family.

Young couples just starting out usually want a safe place to keep the important papers that will pile up through the years — beginning with the marriage certificate.

Mint-new bills in all denominations and attractively designed Christmas envelopes to hold them, make perhaps the most appreciated of all gifts available at local banks.

Make Sure Pet Is Welcome

If Present for Child, Get Parents' Okay

This Yuletide, many kinds of pets, from ponies to ant colonies, will be ribboned, bowed and otherwise readied to make the Christmas gift scene.

The most asked for and the most given pets are dogs and cats.

Whether a pure-bred, pedigreed animal or a healthy, happy animal-shelter variety, dogs and cats represent a long-term gift of love and companionship for the entire family.

Most important, therefore, before choosing a new pet, is to make certain it will be a welcome addition to the family, sure to receive the care and affection it needs to thrive.

If the new puppy or kitten is to be a gift for a child, be certain the parents approve.

Begin early and look carefully over a number of litters.

Ask the help of a pet dealer in choosing the breed of cat or dog best suited to the prospective master. And make sure the animal has all its shots.

Healthy, sturdy puppies are lively and alert, like to be held and petted.

Be wary of that wistful little fellow cringing in the corner. He may be sick or temperamentally unsound.

Check the puppy thoroughly before buying. Eyes and ears should be clean and clear; the stomach, well-rounded and the coat, even textured.

Note the puppy's reaction to people. Healthy puppies won't snap, growl or cringe, even at sudden noises. They are ready to become pets at eight weeks or older.

Cats, especially kittens, should be lively and playful, clear-eyed and with no tendency toward sneezing or coughing.

Kittens are generally ready for a new home at six weeks.

USEFUL EXTRAS

A food supply, dishes, grooming aids and toys are "extras" that might well be provided to insure a new pet's comforts in his new home.

For the well-established pet, Christmas is the time to reap the rewards of a trusting companionship.

A new traveling case, identification tags, toys, a fancy collar are all gift possibilities.

'65 Toy Crop Runs the Gamut

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise
Women's Editor

NEW YORK — Some of the toy-type goodies children will find under the Christmas tree this year may lead one to believe Charles Addams, not Clement Clarke Moore wrote "A Visit From St. Nicholas."

For example, can you imagine jolly old Santa toiling away at the North Pole perfecting a human anatomy kit? Well, that's just what he did. And it's ready for Christmas, containing replicas of organs, glands, veins and arteries.

With this little collection, you play doctor using electroprobes to remove such items as a funny bone and a Charlie horse.

Another new game spoofs a bad children's camp, a la Allan Sherman's Camp Granada records.

ICKY ANIMALS

The point of this one is to collect icky animals and try to escape from camp. If the kids' dreams are of caterpillars and worms rather than sugarplums, it's just a sign of the times.

Who even knows what a sugar-plum looks like in this day and age?

Yet everything in Santa's sack is not ghoulis. The secret agent is the latest action hero to captivate young America.

James Bond's exploits get recognition with an 007 espionage game, a dispatch case and guns.

JIGSAW PUZZLE

There's a Goldfinger jigsaw puzzle and a secret agent transistor radio-rifle.

Science is represented by replicas of the most popular moon exploration projects.

There is a record variety of craft kits that should improve that caliber of handmade kids' presents to parents.

Melt 'N Color utilizes a "press-flo" brush device on the crayon

EASY WAYS

Glitter Color Kit provides easy ways to glamorize everyday household objects.

And there's a potter's wheel that runs on batteries for young craftsmen.

Dolls this yule season grow more sophisticated. Some have changes of wigs.

Patty Duke, a favorite teenage doll fashion plate, also stars in paper doll kits where her super chic wardrobe adheres without the use of tabs or glue—just a magic crayon.

TAPESTRY DESIGN

Op-art now influences stuffed animal design. There is a dog, cat, monkey, elephant and pig group which sports tapestry design in the op-art manner.

And a new touch of sophistication in the animal kingdom is "the mink look."

achieved by a lustrous, shaggy new kind of long pile plush.

Among a bevy of toys designed for young homemakers is a spray iron that gives off a steamlike effect, and a pretzel baker that operates on a 100-watt bulb.

Toyland '65 is a bumper crop that runs the gamut from the fantastic to the delightful.

Mare Wanted to Go Home!

BROOKFIELD, Wis. (AP) — A homesick mare, put out to pasture by its new owners, broke down a three-strand barbed wire fence and trotted 10 miles back to its former home.

Mrs. Patricia Polack, operator of Emerald Hill Farms here, had sold the horse, named Peppie, to Thomas Finger of Waukegan. His 12-year-old daughter, Diane, had ridden it back to their home. After the 11-year-old mare made its escape, it ran along the railroad tracks to return to the Farms.

Want Single Agency to Control Programs

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — One powerful state agency to control New Jersey's water supply and pollution control programs has been proposed by a commission which made an economy study of the State Health Department.

The bipartisan commission said it found the department was well managed but that savings could be made. It said state control over sewerage systems was inadequate and its water management programs were fragmented among too many departments.

SHOE BUTTON EYES — A heart that says "I Love You" Thanks to a music box—appears in this year's version of the famous Raggedy Ann.

Whimsy Rules in Stuffed Toys

Toyland's stuffed animal kingdom is more strongly influenced by fantasy than ever. Whimsical designs dominate in contrast to the monster cult evidenced in the hobby horse, for example. The trend is toward cuddlier than ever characters that make reassuring go to sleep companions.

Capitalizing on the universal appeal of plastic curlers is a Lazy Daisy, an imaginative dog creation whose super shaggy coat is well adapted to curling routines.

A sure comfort for the nostalgic minded, amid the streamlined marvels of Toyland, is the perennial favorite Raggedy Anne (Andy, too!), cuddlesome and plump as ever and this season endowed with music boxes which softly play that reassuring favorite, Brahms' Lullaby.

New in marionettes is a push button Pinocchio whose special mechanism keeps strings from tangling.

Among the most novel of the stuffed animal designs is a furry group made with a washable acrylic fiber that resembles mink. A Princess Dog and Princess Cat equipped with small crowns, are among the cuddly "furry" group.

LASTING JOY—She'll hand him lasting pleasure on Christmas with a new square-shaped Swiss watch that has a numberless dial.

Spread this around:

Canadian Club's gift packages have everything! Elegant ribbons. Hand-tied bows. Dazzling foil, in a choice of four designs. And a big supply of "the world's most wanted gift whiskey"—the whisky men prefer as a gift by two to one over any other single brand.

Keep this to yourself:

There is a way to feel like the last of the big spenders. All you have to do is treat yourself and your guests to Canadian Club, the whisky with the lightness of Scotch and the smooth satisfaction of Bourbon. It's "The Best in the House" in 87 lands.

Personal Touch Added to Gifts

Those special gifts from the imaginative woman who sews add new and unusual dimensions to traditional gifting this Christmas.

For a husband's office, grandmother's living room or a friend's nursery, "do-it-yourself" kits and simple embroidery stitches create beautiful wool wall pictures.

Decorative throw pillows are welcomed gifts for the house, fun to make and inexpensive.

Basic pillows of latex foam rubber, available in local stores in a variety of shapes, can be decorated with a little ingenuity, a variety of fabrics, and ready-to-use trimmings.

PILLOWS — Throw pillows are decorative Christmas gifts. To basic latex foam rubber core, add any fabric covering and ready-to-use trimming. Conso trim here.

WOOL GIFT—Wool gathering at Christmastime leads to home decorating gifts of wool — embroidered pictures like this one. Wool-Art kits by Hallman Products Co.

COLORFUL—Stockings make a grand appearance Christmas Eve in handsomely decorated felt, sewn entirely by machine. Suggested by Neechi.

When the woman who sews has a sewing machine with embroidery and other special attachments, her holiday gift projects reflect definite flair and imagination.

YULETIDE STOCKINGS

Easy to make are Yuletide stockings of felt, decorated with embroidered designs and cut-out shapes.

These stockings can be large enough to hang and hold a gift, or small enough to enclose in a Christmas card.

Traditional gift ideas from an industrious needle still favor the embroidery of stamped goods such as towels, tablecloths, pillow cases.

PETITPOINT chair cushion covers, hand-crocheted edgings on handkerchiefs, guest towels, crocheted dish warmers and pot holders add a personal touch to simple stocking stuffers.

HOSTESS APRONS

Dainty hostess aprons, edged in lace, ribbon or rick rack, and anything knitted, from caps to coats, make wonderful and wise Christmas gifts.

Complete wall picture kits in wool are available in hobby shops, in many artistic subjects and motifs to cover every gift situation.

One suggestion for just-for-Christmas throw pillows is a Christmas tree motif, made out of fringe and decorated with tiny ornaments, centered on a round pillow.

Cemetery Area Probe Asked

DETROIT (AP)—An investigation of certain unidentified "areas" of Brookdale Cemetery was asked of the Wayne County prosecutor's office Wednesday by Circuit Judge Joseph G. Rashid.

Rashid announced his request as a second attempt within a week to exhume a body at the Livonia cemetery was held up. The proper cemetery officials failed to appear.

The cemetery, in legal troubles for years and in receivership to Rashid's court, is up for auction. Two bids for the property were received Wednesday, one of $450,000 and the other of $400,000.

Eight persons have petitioned for exhumation of bodies. The cemetery has been accused in various investigations and court procedures of mishandling burials.

Shopping Center Still Will Be Built at Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—The developers of a planned shopping center for Sault Ste. Marie said Wednesday they will go ahead with construction despite the announced closing of Kincheloe AFB.

Ground-breaking is scheduled for next spring, developers Alfred Pretino and Benjamin Simon said.

Rusk Says He Believes NATO Members Took U.S. Warning on China Seriously

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today he thought that the members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization had "taken seriously" the U.S. warning that Red China is as great a threat to the security of Europe as it is to the rest of the world.

Rusk described the three-day meeting of NATO ministers ending today as a "very profitable meeting." But he declined to comment on the attitudes of America's NATO partners to ward the war in Viet Nam, saying, "Let's wait awhile on that."

The secretary seemed well-satisfied with the reception given statements he and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara made on the potential threat posed by the Chinese Communists.

Canadian Foreign Minister Paul Martin told a newsman that Canada was concerned at the report of Red China's nuclear buildup. McNamara gave Wednesday. The defense secretary said China was bent on world conquest and within 10 years would have intercontinental missiles capable of reaching America.

Martin said he felt that all the NATO members had cause to take a careful look at McNamara's analysis.

Representatives of some other members of the alliance seemed less worried. A Belgian spokesman said Peking's main target appeared to be the Soviet Union, and he did not consider the Chinese threat of immediate concern to Western Europe.

A Norwegian source said McNamara and Rusk had attempted to extend the alliance's scope well beyond Europe, but he did not see how the smaller members could give the United States much help in that direction.

Rusk on Tuesday asked the 14 other NATO nations to support the U.S. war effort in Viet Nam with token contributions of engineers and doctors. Britain, Norway, the Netherlands and others endorsed the American stand in Viet Nam following Rusk's speech but made no commitments to send aid.

The two U.S. Cabinet members tried to emphasize that Western Europe stood in almost as great danger now from China as it did from the Soviet Union a decade ago, the sources agreed. They said the United States would defend its European allies from the China Communists as much as against a threat for any other nation. In exchange, Washington expects more support from the Europeans in its efforts to contain the Communists in Viet Nam, the sources said.

Following the meeting today, Rusk was bound for Madrid to brief Generalissimo Francisco Franco, the Spanish chief of state, and other officials on the conference.

Spain is not a NATO member and there had been reports recently that it might seek membership. But Spanish officials in Madrid said their government had not asked the United States or any other country for admission to the alliance.

Mortgage debt outstanding last year exceeded $31 billion, according to Federal Reserve System estimates.

Jacoby on Bridge

By JACOB & SON

The San Fernando Valley Unit of the American Contract Bridge League has just started a magazine called "Bridge Star".

The first issue includes articles by many West Coast bridge experts.

One article is by Eddie Kantar and discusses the way a good defensive player can false card in order to help out his partner's defense.

South plays three hearts. Eddie does not describe how he got there, so we have suggested the possible bidding. It might have gone that way.

In the actual play, West opened the nine of spades. The jack was played from dummy. East won with the king and returned the ten of diamonds to his partner's ace. West led a second spade, won by East's ten. The ace of spades was played next and ruffed high by South, who still had to lose a diamond and club for down one.

Eddie points out that a diamond return by West at trick three would have led to a two-trick set because the defense would get the same tricks plus a ruff of the king of diamonds. Should West have known enough to lead back the queen of diamonds?

Eddie says that East could have won the first spade trick with the ace instead of the king. Then, when West took his ace of diamonds, he would have assumed that the king of spades was held by declarer and led a diamond instead of the second spade.

THE BIDDING HAS BEEN:

West North East South
Pass 3♠ Pass 2♥
Pass 3♠ Pass 3♥
You, South, hold:
♠ A K 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♥ A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♦ A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♣ A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

What do you do now?
A—Bid four no-trump.
You want to be in a slam if your partner can show an ace.

LEGENDS OF CHRISTMAS

By Kreigh Collins

Plates: Woe to Buyers, Dough to States

By CHARLES C. CAIN
AP Business News Writer

DETROIT — This is the time of year when many motorists take screwdrivers and pliers in hand and set out to wrestle with rusty nuts and bolts as they change their auto license plates.

While the operation may make motorists temporarily unhappy, it does wonders for the disposition of tax collectors who take in about $2 billion a year on the new plates.

The rules on license plates vary widely in the 50 states.

Seven states issue license plates which are valid for the life of the car: 11 extend validity by issuing annual tabs which are attached to license plates and the rest require new plates each year.

About the only thing standard in the license plates area is their size. They used to be of all sizes and shapes but as of 1957, with backing of the auto industry, the size of plates became standard — 12 inches wide and 6 inches high.

Prices of the license tags run from as little as $3 a year to a high of $60. In some states, horsepower is a consideration in the pricing; in others, the overall weight of the car and its age are factors.

The auto license plate business has come a long way since April 25, 1901 when New York became the first state to require motorists to register their vehicles and display a license tag. The fee was $1 and New York collected a grand total of $954 the first year.

The two big reasons for installing license plates in 1901 still are valid. One was to deter would-be car thieves; the other was to have some sort of identification tag so that a motorist who violated the law could be traced easily.

Along with differences in color in plates, the various states have used auto plates to promote industry and business with slogans.

For example, Florida license on all cars.

plates told of the "Sunshine State"; Nebraska of the "Beef State" and Arkansas of the "Land of Opportunity."

SLOGANS VARY

Some of the license plates are turned out by private concerns. In Michigan, the license plates have been produced since 1919 by inmates of Southern Michigan prison. Many other states also use prison labor.

This year, about 2,500 tons of galvanized steel coil were used to make more than 4.5 million sets of plates in Michigan at a cost of about 18 cents a pair. The average fee charged Michigan motorists was about $12, so the state-operated venture has been a profitable one.

One of the big problems facing makers of the license plates is whether the license plate mounting should be standardized on all cars. Some sources have urged that slots be provided in the trunk lid and in front bumpers so that license plates may be located about the same Traffic safety advocates have described reflectorized license plates as an additional way of reducing nighttime accidents. Currently, 16 states and the District of Columbia use reflectorized plates and other states are considering them.

A WARNING

The theory is that if a car's lights fail at night, reflective plates help to reduce possibilities of collision by serving as a warning while the car is parked or stalled.

Thus the once lowly license plate has become not only a money maker for the various states but an accident preventive as well.

U.S. Scores Dramatic First in Space

This Shows An Artist's Conception Of The Nose-To-Nose Maneuvering During Yesterday's Space Rendezvous

Foreign Experts Hail Space Rendezvous

LONDON (AP) — Foreign and extraordinarily complex feat," said the Times of London. "So far the Russians have been able to lift heavier loads but their instruments have been less highly developed. The Americans are now benefiting from their more advanced control systems but they have yet to close the weight gap."

Soviet morning papers gave brief factual reports. Moscow radio gave a detailed account of the rendezvous on morning news summaries.

Czechoslovakia's Communist party organ, Rude Pravo, hailed the Gemini rendezvous as a "great scientific and technical achievement, one of the preconditions for a successful journey to the moon. The mastery of a safe meeting in space is a definitive jump forward."

"TRULY BRILLIANT"

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank tracking station, said the meeting of the two Geminis was a "truly brilliant demonstration of the possibility of control and the maneuverability in space."

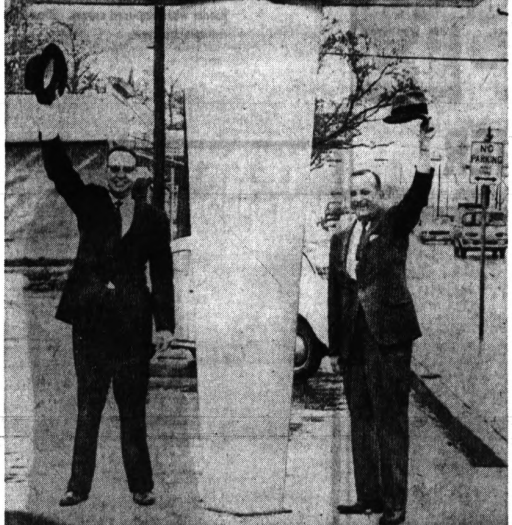

"The immediate effect," said Lovell, "is that one of the outstanding problems facing the Apollo moon project is approaching a solution, but the implications of the event must not be studied with interest in the scientific and military academies of the world."

"This is a tremendously difficult feat," said Prof. Martin Ryle, director of the Radio Astronomy Observatory at Cambridge, England.

The British press and television joined in the praise.

"It was a brilliant, important

GROUND SUPPORT—R. C. Green (left) of Webster, Tex., and O. G. Lindquist, Nassau Bay, wave their hats beneath a sign in front of a bank in Webster. The sign indicates support by the bank and its employees of the double team of U.S. astronauts, who made a rendezvous in space.

DADS FLYING HIGH — Suzanne Schirra, 8, points skyward as she indicates to Susan Lovell, 8, that flying around up there in space are their fathers and another of their favorites—Santa Claus. The girls probably are more interested in their coming holiday than the historic space meeting of the two Gemini spaceships, piloted by their fathers.

Families of the Astronauts Keep Vigil on Space Flights

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — None watched more prayerfully or cheered more excitedly than the families left behind by the men cavorting through space Wednesday in Gemini 6 and 7.

"Beautiful" was the word echoed by wives of astronauts in the pursuing Gemini 6, Mrs. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Stafford. With children and friends, each watched television and listened at home over space center speech monitors.

Similar vigils were kept here by Mrs. Frank Borman and Mrs. James A. Lovell Jr., whose husbands have been girdling the earth since Dec. 4 in Gemini 7.

Keenly interested spectators also were the parents of the Gemini 6 pilots — Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Schirra Sr. at their home in Point Loma, a San Diego, Calif., suburb, and Mary Ellen Stafford at Weatherford, Okla.

THRILLED, HAPPY

"Thrilled and happy beyond words" was the reaction of Mrs. Borman to the epic rendezvous of the spacecraft. At her side were the Bormans' sons Frederick, 14, and Edwin, 12, and her mother, Ruth Bugbee of Tucson, Ariz.

"Needless to say, it was beautiful," said Schirra's wife, whose co-watchers were her children Suzanne, 8, and Walter M. III, 15, along with wives of three senior astronauts — Mrs. Alan B. Shepard Jr., Mrs. Donald K. Slayton and Mrs. L. Gordon Cooper.

The wife of astronaut Stafford considered the Gemini 6 blastoff more awesome than the reunion 185 miles from earth with Gemini 7. "I was confident all the time they would make the rendezvous," she said.

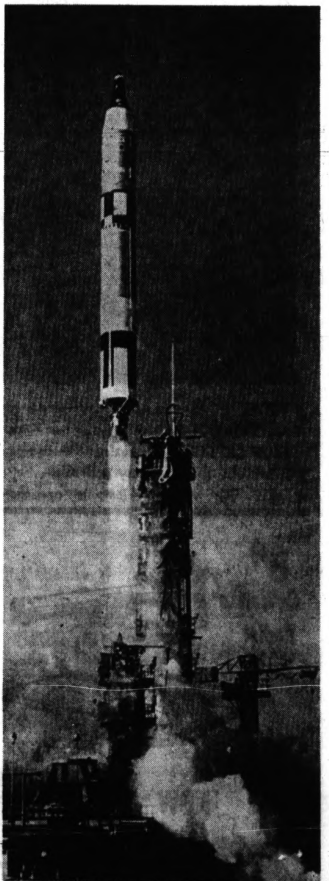

Also at the Stafford home near the space center were daughters Dionne, 11, and Karin, 8, plus another trio of astronaut wives — Mrs. Neil A. Armstrong, Mrs. Donn F. Eisele and Mrs. John W. Young.

WIFE CONCERNED

Mrs. Lovell, who expects her fourth child this month, was "quite concerned because they (Gemini 6 and 7) got so close," a National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said. Controllers said the spacecraft maneuvered within six feet of one another.

In California, Schirra's parents obviously were relieved at the successful Gemini 6 flight after two delays.

"We are getting used to it

Conference of Anti-American Organizations May Backfire Against Cuba

By ISAAC M. FLORES
HAVANA (AP) — There are indications that a tricontinental conference of anti-American organizations here next month may backfire against its Cuban hosts.

Diplomats and some Cuban political experts privately express the view that these organizations from Asia, Africa and Latin America may use the conference to export the violent overthrow of governments in their own countries.

In such a case, these observers reason, won't some of the governments of the countries involved blame Prime Minister Fidel Castro for cooking up revolutions against them?

There is reason to believe the conference may also trigger criticism of Castro by Latin-American countries, many of them convinced that Cuba is exporting revolution throughout the hemisphere.

CUBAN FRIENDS

Some of the Asian and African countries to be represented here have governments that are friendly toward the Cuban Communist regime. This is not a conference of governments, however. It is a gathering of leftist groups, all claiming to be popular liberation movements seeking to establish socialism in their own countries.

Organizations from 100 countries have been asked to send five representatives each to Havana Jan. 3-10. Castro obviously plans to make it a huge propaganda show. The dates coincide with the seventh anniversary of his revolution.

HIS 'N' HERS — Jewelry gifts in the his and her vein can be counted on to make Christmas merrier. For her, a leaf-shaped pin and butterfly-winged earrings; for him, cuff links and tie tack.

Holiday Came With Explorer

Columbus Arrived in 1492 With Christmas

Christmas came to the New World right along with Christopher Columbus on his first expedition in 1492.

In early December 1492, Columbus sighted the northwest coast of the island of Haiti. He landed on December 5, the day of the feast of St. Nicholas, and named the site Port St. Nicholas.

Columbus was still determined to find the riches of the Orient, however, and set sail again.

By December 23, Columbus had reached Acul Bay where he received a message from Duacanagari chief of all northwest Haiti, inviting him to his village headquarters. The natives had heard of the Feast of the Nativity and were anxious to see the celebration.

Columbus responded eagerly—not because he might be bringing a touch of Christendom to the Indians, but because he was under the mistaken impression that Duacanagari was the emperor of Japan.

WEIGHED ANCHOR

He weighed anchor before sunrise on December 24, and Christmas Eve found the Santa Maria and Nina off a high, rocky headland named Punta Santa in reference to the approaching festival.

At 11 p.m., with the Nina showing the way, the wind died and the two ships barely were making headway. Columbus went below and the deck watch, taking advantage of his absence, curled up where they could for a nap.

The helmsman also felt the need for a rest and turned the tiller over to a young cabin boy.

At just about midnight the Santa Maria slid onto a shelving of coral in Caracol Bay. Throughout the night efforts were made to free the Santa Maria but finally, at dawn, Columbus ordered the crew transferred to the Nina.

CHRISTMAS DAY

Christmas Day found Columbus and his men laboring to bring what they could of the Santa Maria's cargo, stores and equipment ashore.

Realizing that the Nina could not accommodate both crews, Columbus decided to leave part of his hand on shore. He ordered a tower and fortress to be erected from the Santa Maria's lumber.

This became the first European settlement in the New World. It was named La Navidad, in honor of the day of disaster.

POOCH PSYCHOLOGY — Dr. Dare Miller, a dog psychologist of Los Angeles, gives Prince Ygor, a Russian wolfhound, a treatment to promote his obedience as well as his mental health. The dog's owner model Barbara Singleton, notes the dog's behavior has improved since treatment.

Dogs Obey Better After Brainwashing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A cat raced across the sidewalk in front of D'Ors Prince Ygor, Barbara Singleton's platinum-blond Russian wolfhound.

Ygor started to bolt after the cat. Miss Singleton, a pretty television model, clinked a chain in her hand and spoke: "Come, Ygor."

Ygor halted as if thunder-struck. "Heel!" said Miss Singleton. Ygor trotted obediently to her side and they walked on.

Ygor has never been to dog-training school. That's passe, these days, in the Beverly Hills-West Los Angeles environment of culturally enriched dogs. The secret of his instant obedience? ELITE CANINES

Like 300 other elite canines, Ygor has had psychotherapy. He was a patient of Dr. Dare Miller, who describes himself as Los Angeles' only dog psychologist.

"He is really so much better since he has had help," said Miss Singleton.

Dr. Miller treats dogs the way movie villains sometimes deal with captured counterespies: he brainwashes them, then shapes their will with conditioned response.

"In five minutes," said Dr. Miller, 35, "I can teach a strange dog to come to me on command."

NEW TECHNIQUE Miller's methods differ from those of traditional dog trainers in their psychological approach: no punishment, no negative commands, and a conditioning technique on which he holds a copyright.

A chain — the sort Barbara Singleton clinked to halt her bolting Borzoi — does the trick.

The chain is made of a special bronze-phosphorous alloy. Hanging on it is a tiny tuning fork.

Dr. Miller said: "The fork and the chain, when rattled, vibrate at 34,000 cycles per second, in the uppermost range of a dog's hearing. It doesn't hurt his ears; it just interrupts anything the dog is thinking."

"If the dog is going to do something bad, it changes his mind."

DOG'S THOUGHTS

"If you give the dog a command simultaneously with the clink of the chain, the command is impressed in the dog's thinking, and on his memory."

"By repeating the process, the dog can eventually be taught to respond to the owner's word alone, without the chain."

WARM COMFORT — A suburban coat for city and country wearing might be just the gift he's looking for. Check his clothes closet for size. By Zero King.

Sierra Leone derives its name from Pedro da Cintra, a Portuguese adventurer, who in 1482 described the area as the "Lion word alone, without the chain."

This dresses up the traditional groning board.

Variaions in the Christmas meal and shortcuts while cooking keep pace with the changing scene.

A gift of waterless cookware, allows the chef to simmer carrots and Brussels sprouts, for example, at an even heat while he prepares another item for the stove.

Brides, especially, appreciate this because one of the hardest things to learn when cooking is timing the various foods.

Another cookware gift to consider when shopping is the divided fry pan.

This gives double service, important when the family gathers for holiday meals.

A heavy aluminum or iron Dutch oven serves as an alternate baker when the oven is full of rolls and mince pies.

Another alternate is the 12-inch fry pan. In it cook a duck of more than five pounds in under two hours.

Try this simple recipe by the home service directors of a cookware firm (Club Aluminum Products):

Stuff duck with dressing, or just an onion, apple and orange. Put duck in pan, at intervals baste with orange juice or melted currant jelly.

Since many holiday treats tend to make gassy cooking, don't forget that many fine cookware items — fry pans, sauce pans, Dutch ovens — now have a nontoxic finish to make postdinner cleanup jobs much easier.

Smaller utensils such as egg beaters, rolling pins and muffin pans come with nontoxic finishes and make excellent "kitchen stuffers" for a bride's first Christmas, too.

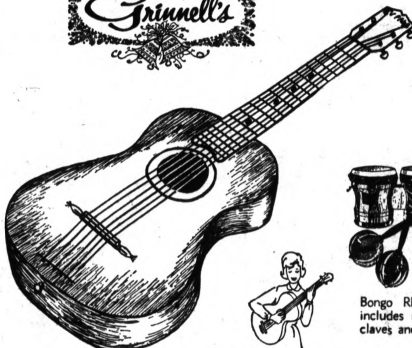

President Is Named for New University

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Harold Enarson, 46, vice president of the University of New Mexico, has been named president of newly created Cleveland State University. Enarson was graduated from the University of New Mexico and holds degrees from Stanford and American universities.

FAR FROM HOME — Thundering Niagara Falls provides a strange new setting for a familiar feature of the British capital — a double-decker bus. A Niagara Falls, Ont., firm has imported three of the double-deckers from London for its tours and business has been so good that another has been ordered.

Memories of Trujillo Still Linger Among Elders in Dominican Republic

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—"In Trujillo's time," the man said, "the streets were immaculately clean, the grass trimmed, the trees pruned."

He nodded toward the seaside walk, littered with scraps of paper and fruit peels. Piles of loose sand hugged the curb, however, and free speech is a way of life, not a possible prelude to political exile or a prison term.

LIKE TO RECALL

Still, many people, especially the older ones in this country of young folks, like to look back with a sort of knowing, I-hold-you-so-air.

The transition from 31 years of Trujillo dictatorship to representative democracy has been rocked by continued violence. One would have to look close today, though, to find the signs of last April's revolution, one of the most explosive in Latin American history. Emotional scars are fading faster than most foreigners here thought possible.

The other evening, Col. Francisco Caamaño Deno, amiable chief of the rebel army, sat with friends in a popular restaurant. The place was crowded with people from the other side of the political fence. Some waved at Caamaño. He smiled, waved back. Six months ago, the two groups likely would have been shooting at each other.

Physical scars are disappearing in a flurry of construction and repair projects that have helped thin the ranks of unemployed. Even surprised Dominicans are asking: Where's the money coming from?

MORE AID DUE

The United States has put more than $80 million in a major rehabilitation effort. More is on the way. The 9,000-plus foreign troops stationed in the country are spending at least some of their salaries here.

Scores of privately financed low-cost homes are going up on state land in the city. With an emergency grant of $2 million

Santa Gets License for Tennessee Trip

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Santa Claus has received his Tennessee driver's license for his trip through the state Christmas Eve.

The State Safety Department computer issued license No. 000000000 to St. Nick. Officials said they would leave it under the Christmas tree at the department's headquarters here for him to pick up.

Only condition to the licensee: "Must be driving sleigh with eight reindeer and Rudolph."

from the Alliance for Progress and $924,000 from the Organization of American States, the government is completing an aqueduct to end a chronic water shortage.

The most dramatic infusion of American help has come through the distribution of U.S. surplus foods. Catholic relief services, Church World Services and CARE gave away 63 million pounds—about 18 pounds per Dominican—of cornmeal, flour, powdered milk, cooking oil and oatmeal in the period between the start of the revolution, April 24, and Aug. 31. Food distributors are being stepped up with the emphasis on children of school, and preschool age.

Gambling casinos and most night clubs have reopened. Even hope has gotten a boost with the reopening of the national lottery. Sidewalk stands are heaped high with imported apples at 25 cents each, and there's a festive note in the air as Christmas approaches.

SAME FEELINGS
Anti-Yankee fervor is on the rise, but not because Dominicans feel different about the American armed presence here. "It isn't that we don't like Americans, we do," says Bonaparte Geaureaux, 31, a young businessman. "It's just that we don't want foreign troops on our soil."

Framed against this background is a snugly little nocturnal "war" between diehards of factions involved in the revolution. The tempo is dying down but occasionally the night guards hiding in the hibiscus front lawn is a machine gun. The lights burn late in the homes sign on the driveway proclaims: "some rightwing extremist po—" "beware of the dog."

HANDSOME—Fashionably styled bracelet watches make an excellent addition to her watch wardrobe. This one features a Florentine finish.

DOWNTOWN PONTIAC

Zoning Board OKs 2 Builder Requests

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Township Zoning Board last night approved two requests to rezone a portion of 14 1/2 acres on Walton near Livernois to administrative and professional and single-family residence.

A request to rezone part of the 14 1/2 acres to multiple dwelling was tabled when the six members present tied in a 3-3 vote.

The three requests were from a local builder, Terrence O'Connor, who proposed 100 lots for single family use and 255 apartment units.

Residents of abutting Long Meadow, Tenken Manor and Heartpeace subdivisions voiced objections to the multiple dwellings. They presented the board with a petition last night signed by 250 persons.

The administrative and professional buildings would front on Walton. Behind these would be located the multiple dwellings to act as a buffer for the single-family residences.

COST OF LOTS
O'Connor indicated last night that if he were to eliminate the multiple dwellings and put in 143 single-family lots rather than 100, the cost of each lot would come to about $10,000.

He said this was based on

Teacher Group's Bid for Pay Hike Denied

TROY — The board of education this week denied a request from the Troy Education Association for a salary increase for the current year.

Assistant Schools Supt. Boyd the cost to him for the facility and for a private water system and sidewalks which a new township ordinance requires of all builders developing a new subdivision.

In other action, the board reported on a joint meeting to be held Tuesday with the Regional Planning Commission and two homeowner groups regarding a proposed change to light industrial zoning along the Grand Trunk Railroad.

A public hearing on the matter will be held Jan. 19.

Larson said the request was turned down because the budget has already been adopted for this year.

The teachers were given a raise last year. The present salary ranges from $5,100 to $8,160 for teachers with a bachelor's degree and from $5,400 to $8,560 for a master's.

The TEA was recently named sole bargaining agent for the district's teachers, but Larson said the request is not part of the negotiations which are scheduled to start after Christmas.

In other action, the board named Metropolitan Council 23 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees as sole representative for bus drivers, cooks and custodians.

Special Tax Exemption

Forms Are Available

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Affidavit applications for veterans and senior citizen home-stead tax exemptions now are available at the Township Hall. Supervisor Edward Chepy has urged those who qualify to pick up the forms and file them as soon as possible.

Orion Favors Sewage System

Would Serve Eight
Area Communities

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has given tentative approval to the proposed Clinton - Oakland Sewage Disposal System which would serve eight communities.

Township Supervisor John Lessiter said the board is investigating the possibility of obtaining a federal grant under the 702 Plan which advances loans to municipalities for public works planning of a specific project.

The estimated principal cost of the disposal system is $16.5 million. It would serve the townships of Avon, Pontiac, Waterford, Independence, West Bloomfield and Orion and the cities of Pontiac and Orchard Lake.

It would connect to the Dequindre Interceptor which the city of Detroit will extend from 14 Mile to 23 1/2 Mile.

Each community would have to pay the cost of its individual internal sewer system in addition to sharing in the cost of the trunkline.

Orion Township's share of the cost would be 4.7 per cent.

JUNIOR MISS — Gail Wray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wray of 785 E. Glass, Brandon Township, was chosen Ortonville Junior Miss in the recent pageant sponsored by the Ortonville Jaycees. She will enter the Michigan Junior Miss pageant in Pontiac Jan. 29.

LICKING A PROBLEM — Missie, a silver toy poodle belonging to Mrs. Preston Stroup, 131 N. Connecticut, Royal Oak, takes over the chore of licking Christmas card envelopes. It was found that the tiny dog, six inches high, liked the taste of the glue when an envelope was accidentally dropped to the floor. Then again, Missie may sense that with all the holiday activity going on, there must be something in it for her and that it doesn't hurt to help out.

Jaycees Slate Yule Party for Children

CLARKSTON — The Clarkston Jaycees will stage their second annual children's Christmas party at 4 p.m. Saturday at the Clarkston High School gymnasium.

Entertainment will be provided by magician Mike Patterson, "mechanical man" Kenneth Maynard and "Poop Deck Paul".

Santa Claus and Cathy Lessiter, Clarkston's Junior Miss, also will be on hand, according to Jaycee officials.

Candy canes will be given to each child who attends. The show is open to Independence Township children age 3-5.

Seat Councilman; Second Appointed

WOLVERINE LAKE — A new village councilman was sworn into office and another appointed this week.

Dallas Balze, 2623 Canal, took a seat on the council to replace Leroy Winkler, who resigned recently.

William R. Carr, 263 Wabasso, was appointed to the council following the resignation of Joseph Katona, who said he was vacating the office because he had too many other commitments.

Both appointees will serve until the next village election in 1967.

Polish Historians to Hear Four Priests

ORCHARD LAKE — Four priests from the Orchard Lake Schools will be among lecturers at the 22nd annual convention of the Polish American Historical Association Dec. 28 and 29 in Livonia.

They are Rev. Valerius Jasinski, Rev. Joseph Swastek, Rev. Zdzislaw Peszkowski and Rev. Walter Zebrowski.

New School Contracts Awarded Although Bids Above Budget

ROMEO — The board of education has awarded general construction and mechanical contracts on a new elementary school in spite of the fact that the bids were more than the amount budgeted.

The electrical bids were rejected and will be rebid in January.

Schools Supt. T. C. Filippa said the bids were about $30,000 more than estimated.

The general construction contract went to Amos Roe, Inc. of Warren for $261,000 and the mechanical contract to Kropf

Plumbing and Heating of Detroit for $124,990.

The school is to be located at Camp Ground and 29 Mile.

BIDS TOO HIGH

Filippa said bids on additions to the junior and senior high schools were too high and will have to be studied before any action is taken.

He said cuts may have to be made in the plans.

Bids on the total building program came in about 20 per cent higher than what had been anticipated.

Of a $1.4 million building program approved by voters last June, $1,250,000 was to have been for actual construction. The total of the low bids was about $1.5 million.

Sewer System Role Will Be Meeting Topic

ORCHARD LAKE — The city's part in a new sewer system plans will be explained at a public meeting at West Bloomfield High School tonight.

R. J. Alexander, Oakland County Department of Public Works director, will discuss the proposed Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal System at the 8 p.m. meeting.

The system — to serve Orchard Lake and parts of Pontiac and Waterford, West Bloomfield, Independence, Avon, Orion and Pontiac townships — carries an estimated cost of $16.5 million.

Orchard Lake's share of the cost has been estimated at 1.4 per cent of the total.

The proposed contract for the project now is being considered by the eight municipalities involved.

Lift Quarantine on Small Grain

Rye, wheat, oats, and barley may now be shipped without regard to the cereal leaf beetle quarantine, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Unrestricted movement of these small grains will be allowed until June 1, 1966. Quarantine provisions still apply to corn, which is generally harvested later and may still harbor the damaging plant pest.

The cereal leaf beetle is a threat to the nation's grain crop. Michigan's worst infestations have occurred in southwestern counties.

Quarantines have been established to restrict shipment of beetle-carrying crops.

By December, beetles in rye, wheat, oats, and barley have either died up or starved, thus the quarantine on these crops is lifted.

Control of the cereal leaf beetle in Michigan is the responsibility of the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Plant Industry Division, in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Painters United in Enthusiasm for Work Atop the Golden Gate

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Like to work 75 stories up, painting the Golden Gate Bridge? Sorry, but this is "not just any bridge." The painters rarely quit, none has ever been killed, and there are far more applicants than jobs.)

By LYLE W. PRICE
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There's an almost mystical attraction to the Golden Gate Bridge, at least for the painters who climb to fearsome heights daily to renew its world-famed orange glow.

"The bridge grows on you; it becomes part of you," says Hale Sharrett, a husky ex-Navy man who supervises a 40-man painting crew.

The painting boss replaces his calm, steady gaze with a look of surprise when asked why a painter would work at heights up to 746 feet above swirling riptides, the deck.

"Why this is the Golden Gate Bridge you're talking about, not just any bridge!" he exclaims. DRAWN TOURISTS This magnetism has also drawn millions of tourists — and 386 known suicides — in the bridge's 23-year history.

It also thrills drivers and passengers who cross the 4,200-foot suspension bridge, says James Adam, general manager of the bridge. Some 345 million vehicles have crossed the bridge since it opened in 1937.

Another 1.5 million pedestrians have strolled the bridge's walkways, usually in couples, or families, almost always with cameras. Only rarely will they see the painters, who usually are specks high up on the towers, or hidden from view under 746 feet above swirling riptides, the deck.

The painters continuously because of "terrible weather — foggy in summer and windy in winter," Sharrett says. Despite painting eight hours a day — covering 1,200 square feet of flat surface or 200 square feet of cables on an average day — the men don't feel bored.

"It's a long way from being a dull job," Sharrett asserts. "There's something different every day. We've had wrecks, fires, jumpers — anything can happen on the bridge."

"There have been several instances where painters have rescued would-be suicides," says Sharrett's boss, the maintenance superintendent, R. D. Mullins. "If the painters see the suicide on the railing," Mullins said, "maybe we can get there in time, since the jumper usually goes over the railing and stands on the beams underneath, then jumps."

The bridge's appeal draws far more applicants than can be used in the painting crew.

"Our men have been on the job an average of 15 years," Sharrett says, "so you see we don't have many vacancies. But we get about two new applicants a day."

CAN SEE FEAR The supervisor, a 19-year veteran who worked up from rookie painter, says he can tell in a day whether a new man is scared.

"I think it's fair to say one must have 'iron nerves' for this job," he declares. "We have had would-be painters freeze on the railing."

Besides iron nerves, the painter must also have two years' experience as a journeyman painter and one year of painting structural steel or bridges at considerable heights.

The jobs, which pay $800 a month, are demanding mostly of surprise when asked what thoughts run through his mind at the top of a tower, 75 stories above water, even though he is protected by a safety belt, an emergency net and good sense from a plunge to certain death.

"Nothing — you think of nothing up there," he said.

If painters do think, he said, it's in terms of safety, not danger. "We have an excellent safety record. Not one painter has fallen to his death."

BELT REQUIRED A worker is automatically fired if he isn't wearing his safety belt on the job, Sharrett said. Large rope nets follow the men as they work.

The nets are similar to the type that caught and saved the lives of 19 workmen when the bridge was being built. Ten workers were killed near the end of construction, however, when a scaffold gave way and ripped a safety net apart. Two other workers, not painters, would that be to paint?"

NERVES OF STEEL — Ray Santana of San Francisco is one of 40 elite painters who scramble daily 746 feet above the waters of San Francisco Bay to protect the famous Golden Gate Bridge. The crew continuously paints its 10 million square feet of deck, towers, supports and cables.

Jellied Fruit Mold Resembles Fancy Holiday Wreath

"Everywhere, everywhere, Christmas tonight! Christmas in lands of the fir tree and pine Christmas in lands of the palm tree and vine; Christmas where snow peaks stand solemn and white, Christmas where corn fields lie sunny and bright."

Phillips Brooks wrote these lines almost 100 years ago, but they fit this Hawaiian Fruit Ring to a T. It calls for pineapple, oranges, and coconut—all fruits that hail from lands where palm trees wave.

The orange-banana flavor gelatin is a newcomer to the family of dessert gelatins, making a dozen plus one the number of fruit flavor gelatins available for easy desserts.

Surround the wreath with puffs of prepared whipped topping, maraschino cherries, toasted coconut, and candy mint leaves to give this dessert a gay red, white, and green color scheme.

Hawaiian Fruit Ring

1 cup diced orange sections (about 3 oranges)
¼ cup sugar
1 can (8½ oz.) pineapple tidbits

1 package (3 oz.) orange-banana flavor gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
3 tablespoons chopped maraschino cherries

Combine oranges and sugar and let stand 10 minutes. Drain oranges and the can of pineapple, combining and measuring syrups. Add water to syrups to make 1 cup.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add measured liquid and orange rind. Chill until very thick. Cut pineapple tidbits in half; fold into gelatin mixture with oranges and chopped maraschino cherries.

Spoon into 1-quart ring mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold.

Garnish with prepared whipped topping, toasted coconut, maraschino cherries, and candy mint leaves, if desired. Makes 3½ cups or 6 servings.

Marinate First

Marinate drained canned asparagus in olive oil and wine vinegar. Serve on salad greens with slices of tomato or red onion.

HAWAIIAN FRUIT RING — For Christmas or New Year's, this sparkling dessert made with the new orange-banana flavor gelatin, fragrant with pineapple and oranges, is garnished with puffs of prepared whipped topping, maraschino cherries, toasted coconut, and candy mint leaves.

For a pleasant glaze for ham, Simple and good: cranberry dilute canned whole cranberry juice cocktail mixed with ginger sauce with sherry.

Food Stamp Program Well Under Way

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Many Oakland County families have been eating better since the first of December, thanks to the government Food Stamp Program.

Some 1900 county residents became eligible Dec. 1 to purchase food stamps from the county welfare department. The amount they could buy depends upon the number in the household and the family income.

At the end of the first week $21,000 worth of stamps had been sold.

All families who previously received surplus foods may now buy the stamps. Workers went to distribution points in November to take applications. Some non-assistance families may also be eligible.

We talked last week with Ora Hinkley, county supervisor of the Bureau of Social Aid, and Donald Cindler who has charge of this new program.

Almost everyone on the departmental staff has helped set up the program. Cindler is now trying to recruit five new staff members to carry on the work.

Detroit had the pilot program for food stamps. Macomb and St. Clair counties join Oakland in its extension.

The USDA says that Oakland had the highest participation of any new county on the day the program began.

"Can we buy meat?" seems to be the question most often asked by recipients of the stamps.

FOOD ONLY

Meat may be bought and any other foods. Imported foods (bananas and coffee excepted), alcoholic beverages and nonfood items are taboo.

The purpose of the food stamp program, according to the leaflet published by the USDA, "is to assist low-income families to increase their consumption of food and the quality of their diets."

This is just what it's doing for one mother with whom we talked. With four boys, aged 4 to 13, and only ADC payments as income, she is delighted with her participation in the food stamp program.

She spends $80 a month and gets an additional $28 in stamps, bringing the amount she has for food to $108.

"It seems like a lot," she says. "Meat will be the main thing I'll buy with the stamps. The canned beef we got with surplus foods was excellent, but one gets tired of anything if you have it too often."

The only drawback this participant sees for herself is that it's a bit of bother to separate out the nonfood items, when she shops. But of the program itself she has no criticism.

NOT ALL STORES

Another woman who is on welfare and who has just started to use the stamps says that every store she patronizes will take them.

All the big chain stores are certified to accept stamps. Any store may make application to do so, provided at least 25 per cent of its stock is foodstuff.

Stamps may be used to pay sales tax, but not bottle deposits. No money may be given in change. Some stores have due bills for change under 50 cents, the lowest priced stamp.

In the opinion of one man in the grocery business — the assistant manager of a local chain store — the program is going along smoothly.

Christmas dinner may be more interesting for a lot of low-income families this year.

Refrigerated Biscuits Bake in Tree Shape

Whether it appears as coffee cake or sweet biscuits, a gay tree shaped and trimmed quick bread makes a whimsical refreshment to bake during the holidays.

It is truly a "fun" food for most of the work lies in forming the tree. And, that's easy for canned refrigerated biscuits are used! Each gets a dip in orange marmalade and butter, then a turn in crushed corn flakes, before being arranged tree fashion on a foil-lined cookie sheet.

Crisply tender corn flakes make an ideal golden brown topping that sticks in place after baking. It is but one example of how cereal's multifaceted flavors and forms lend themselves to creative cookery.

After baking, drizzle the tree with confectioner's icing and decorate with candied cherries. Serve it warm.

Christmas Tree Cereal Bread

3 cups corn flakes, regular
1/2 cup orange marmalade or pineapple preserves
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
2 cans (8 ounces each) refrigerated buttermilk biscuits (10 biscuits per can)
2 to 3 tablespoons milk
1 cup sifted confectioner's sugar
1/2 cup chopped mixed, candied fruit

Crush corn flakes as needed to make 1 1/2 cups crumbs. Turn into shallow pan. Combine marmalade or preserves and butter or margarine; mix well.

Cover a large baking sheet (17x12 inches) with foil. Brush foil with soft butter or margarine.

Starting at center of one end of baking sheet, build tree as follows: Press a biscuit, face down, into marmalade mixture, then coat with crumbs. Place crumb side up in center of one end of baking sheet. Repeat with row of two biscuits, then 3 biscuits, 4 biscuits, then 5 biscuits. Use 2 biscuits for trunk of tree and 3 biscuits at the base. Turn edges of foil up.

Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) until done and lightly browned, about 20 minutes.

Stir milk into confectioner's sugar to make an icing of spreading consistency. Drizzle tree with icing and garnish with bits of candied fruit. Serve warm. Yield: 20 rolls, 10 to 12 servings.

CHRISTMAS TREE BREAD — Corn flakes give their tender-crispness and inviting color to this cunning cereal bread fashioned from biscuits.

Not Much Fuss for Tasty Stew

Mix together salt, one tablespoon coarse black pepper and one tablespoon sugar on a paper towel. Roll one pound of top round, cut in cubes in the mixture, coating each side and pressing it well into the meat.

Over a medium fire heat two tablespoons of corn oil in a stew pan or large frying pan with a lid. Add the meat all at one time, stir and turn it, so it will brown evenly, and the sugar will not burn. Allow five to seven minutes. The meat should be quite dark and slightly glossy to seal in the juices and a unique flavor.

Now add one and one-half cups red wine and continue to stir a moment longer until any brown particles have dissolved from the sides and bottom of the pan. Turn the fire very low and add four tomatoes cut in cubes.

Cover and cook for about two hours. If necessary, add a little more wine, only enough to nearly cover the meat.

Now add six small white (peeled) onions. Continue to cook ten minutes. Next add six small carrots (scrapped), cook a final fifteen minutes. Taste-test for flavor. Add additional salt and pepper, if desired, and there you are — a very elegant French stew.

A pound of ground beef measures two cups.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Ford Foundation has awarded California's Save the Redwoods League $1.5 million "to help purchase the Gold Bluffs seacoast area and to stimulate the league's own fund raising."

The first $500,000 of the grant will go toward the Gold Bluffs purchase, 2,100 acres and eight miles of spectacular seacoast lying within the crescent of Prairie Creek State Park in extreme northwestern Humboldt County. Total cost of the purchase is $2.4 million.

Toys for Christmas Season Show Variety of New Ideas

New approaches to sound and motion kindle notable excitement through the launch of a new breed of toys in this year's season.

Santa's bumper crop of playthings recreates in full realism the most advanced manifestations of the affluent way of life, keeps pace with the breathless advances of science and also satisfies the nostalgic shopper's eye with a wide range of updated traditional toys.

Parents who have been caught short without batteries needed for a particular toy Christmas morning, will be cheered to hear that a new line of Pow-R-R trucks of heavy gauge steel achieve the realistic purr of a glant motor without any batteries whatever.

ZZ-Zound is another no-battery sound device featured in heavy gauge steel toy trucks.

In tune with Toyland's role of presenting the most advanced designs for leisure living is a Weekender wheel toy design with a candy striped canvas tent arrangement folding down from the top of the body, convertible bed - seats and miniaturized kitchen modeled after a $9,000 super camper-wagon.

SECRET AGENT
The secret agent seems to have partly supplanted the cowboy as an inspiration for unusual guns. James Bond has inspired a whole series of spyt-oriented playthings.

Secret Agent 007 is starred in a variety of guns and a portmanteau, and there's a James Bond game crammed full of secret rendezvous and fast action.

Among the many unusual play concepts is the first toy version of an elephant gun which shoots plastic balls.

CAREER TOYS
New in career toys is a convectorized lollipop factory. The Whiz Fizz soda fountain can turn out 50 individual sodas in three flavors. There's a pretzel bakery machine and a cookie "factory."

A new power shop provides a lathe, jig saw drill press and sander, all designed for working with wood.

Most bizarre hobby toy, the Witch Doctor head shrinking set, features clay cast ugies in tune with a vogue for monster types, outdoing Grimm's fairytales on the score of horrendous appearance.

New in diversifications for the juvenile scientist is a hobby-scope, designed for scrutiny of fossils and leaves. The young geologist will have special equipment for measuring specific gravity.

A new kit of plastic links is planned to help junior form molecular patterns.

Space oriented toys are still in orbit, but the playroom applications do not evidence any notable new techniques for adapting outer space exploration to home fun.

A new concept of train tracks is provided by a tile assembly approach with train tracks embedded and all tiles pre-laid.

Enthusiasm for miniaturized auto racing has inspired a variety of new twists adding to the daredevil action. New is an engine scream device and a controller activated "blowout" set.

AUTO RACING SETS—Motorized sports, particularly auto racing, have been refined by toy manufacturers into exciting Christmas gifts for hobbyists of all ages. Raceway sets, like the one shown, reproduce the original in miniature. This set has two racing cars, speed controllers, criss-crossing lane-change chicanes, power pack and many feet of track. Its appearance under the tree is likely to be as interesting to Dad as to Junior.

London Eagle Is Free Again

'Goldie' Eludes Zoo Keepers and Escapes

LONDON (UPI) — Goldie, the feathered Houdini of London Zoo, was in orbit again today. And once again the astronaut of the aviary was stealing headlines.

Goldie is the 8-year-old French eagle which foundered down from its cage and eluded her majesty's police and zoo keepers for 12 days from the treetops of Regents Park.

After his recapture — he was trapped by a piece of rabbit placed in a trap — Goldie was placed under a security guard which would have made Willie Sutton blush. Not so the intrepid Goldie.

While his keeper, Derek Wood, 33, was sweeping his cage Wednesday, Goldie managed to squeeze his six-foot, six-inch wing span through an 18-inch opening and soared to freedom among the familiar Regents Park branches.

"Goldie is an extremely intelligent eagle with a very high IQ," said the crestfallen Wood. "When he got out last time we thought it might have been an accident. Now we know better."

"Good luck," said an editorial today in the Daily Mirror alongside one praising U. S. astronaut Frank Borman, James A. Lovell, Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford.

"Once again you have fooled the keepers at London Zoo and escaped from your aviary cage to freedom. The whole nation is following your orbit, too, with glee."

Goldie was last seen resting comfortably in a 50-foot level tree. Zoo officials refused the hunt at dawn and discouraged tourists from accompanying them.

A Finnish newspaper editor who offered to buy the elusive eagle the last time it escaped, renewed the offer today, declaring he would turn Goldie loose in the Finnish woods where he first was captured.

The offer, a zoo spokesman said, "The situation has not altered at all."

(A) You have an excellent list of stocks. I can suggest to you issues which will supply more income, although these will represent some lessening of security and growth potential. However, I believe them to be quite safe as regards dividends. I would hold Northern States Power 4.08 pd. and General Motors as both show good returns. Your other fine holdings all yield less than four per cent.

For your requirements, you might switch them into Atchafalaya, a new power project in the Southwest, and a new power project in the Southwest, and a new power project in the Southwest.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Many savers as well as borrowers will be affected by the rise in interest rates. Thrift institutions are beginning to bid higher for the money that savers can deposit.

What the higher costs of borrowing might do to corporate and consumer plans as a result of the Fed's move is still uncertain.

Dawson's Bank's raising its discount rate to 4 1/2 per cent from 4 per cent is being debated before a congressional committee. The discount rate is what the Fed charges member banks for loans. This sets the trend for bank loans to the public.

But across the country a number of savers — if they have enough money — are being told they can get more returns from now on if they leave their money with lenders for a specified length. In a few instances the yield already has risen to the new 5 1/2 per cent ceiling.

Savers also can buy bonds and get higher yields — because they pay less for them — even though the interest rates are fixed. And new issues of bonds are expected to carry higher interest rates.

GETTING INTO FIGHT

Commercial banks, mutual savings banks, savings and loan associations are getting into the fight to lure their own depositors or at least hold them in. The Fed says it deliberately left the 4 per cent ceiling on what member banks can pay on regular or passbook savings accounts which can be freely drawn upon. It says this was to keep from harming other kinds of savings institutions.

But it raised to 5 1/2 per cent from 4 1/2 per cent what its member banks can pay on certificates of deposit.

nonnegotiable certificates for individuals rather than corporations. Since the interest rate hike, some smaller banks have offered savers big yields — on strict terms. Example, $16 per cent on deposits of $5,000 or $10,000 left for at least three years.

A number of mutual savings banks have raised the dividend rate they will pay depositors to 4 1/2 per cent from the 4 1/4 per cent they paid before the Fed acted. The 4 per cent ceiling applies only to savings accounts in commercial banks.

In Los Angeles, a savings and loan association will go on paying its depositors 4.85 per cent. But it is offering a bonus rate of 5.35 per cent to savers who keep $10,000 or more on deposit at least three years. Another Los Angeles financial institution is offering a bonus rate which it says will apply to accounts of $1,000 or more.

OCC Given Authorization for Bond Sale

Oakland Community College was authorized last night to invest $6.3 million from the sale of $7 million in bonds with seven different banks for maturity periods ranging from 30 to 360 days.

Banks offering the highest interest rate on certificates of deposit were successful bidders in each maturity category.

The bond sale will finance construction of the college's Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Township.

A total of $700,000 from bond sale funds will be returned to the OCC general fund in repayment of a loan from this fund for purchase of the new campus site and architect fees, leaving $6.3 million for investment.

Area Bank Hikes Interest on Deposits

Birmingham-Bloomfield Bank's recent announcement that it will increase its interest rate to be paid to the public on time deposits to 4 1/2 per cent has stirred wide depositor interest throughout the tricity area, according to bank officials.

"Our announcement on Dec. 11 — the first by a Michigan County — that we will pay 4 1/2 per cent on time deposits has resulted in hundreds of telephone calls from people in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties asking for details about our new rates," Thomas H. Wagner, chairman and president of Birmingham-Bloomfield Bank, said.

The new interest rate applies to time deposits in any dollar amount and became effective yesterday. The bank will pay 4 1/2 per cent interest on one year time deposits and 4 1/4 per cent interest on six-month time deposits.

Wagner said the Birmingham-Bloomfield Bank is fortunate that it does business in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area, which is one of the fastest-growing banking areas in the United States.

"Our bank has had a deposit and loan increase of 250 per cent during the past year," Wagner noted.

The sustaining demand for automobile, commercial, consumer and home mortgage loans in the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Wixom area makes possible the increase in the interest rate paid to depositors on time deposits.

Chiefs Cimb SVC Beanstalk

Unbeaten PCH Tangles With Arthur Hill '5

Lumberjacks Playing Host; Central Owns 2-0 Valley Record

Pontiac Central's Chiefs climb another beanstalk tomorrow in their quest for a golden egg.

In this case, the egg represents the Saginaw Valley Conference basketball championship. Waiting at the top of the stalk in the form of Giants will be Arthur Hill's Lumberjacks.

This game isn't going to determine the champion, but it will be a major indication of how well the Chiefs will do in the long run. PCH plays Arthur and Saginaw, only once and both games are on the road.

This gave the Chiefs a 2-0 league record and a tie for first place.

Arthur Hill is not expected to crumble by 40 points. In fact, the Lumberjacks are favored although they have lost a non-league tussle to Bay City Central.

In that setback, the Lumberjacks beat themselves by making only one of 20 field goal tries in the third quarter. And they will put a front line on the court that is taller than exhibited by BOC against the Chiefs.

Leading the attack so far has been 6-4 Tom Thon, a 200-pound junior. He is supported by 6-5 Dave Hammer, a 195-pound senior, and 6-1 Roger Hayman.

ALL-VALLEY
The expert in the backcourt, and the player who has given the Chiefs trouble in the past, is 5-7 Denny Herzog, an All-Valley choice last season. Herzog has been hampered by a leg injury, but his playmaking ability and defensive work continue to be good.

Hammer and Herzog have been regulars for three seasons. Coach Chuck Fowler has 6-4 Lee Bauman, a 240-pounder, Jim Ward, 6-5, and 200 pounds, in reserve.

PCH is expected to counter with Jessie Evans (6-2½), Ross Ludwig (6-1), Jim McClelland (5-7½), Eddie Pruitt (5-7½), Larry Platt (6-3), Prentice Hill (5-9) and Willie Craft (6-2).

Buffalo Coach Garners Award

NEW YORK (AP)—Low Saban, coach of the defending champion Buffalo Bills, has been voted coach of the year in the American Football League.

An Associated Press panel of 24 sports writers that included three from each league city, gave Saban 14 votes. Al Davis of Oakland was second with seven. Sid Gillman of San Diego, the Western Division champion, got two, and Weeb Ewbank of the New York Jets received one.

Huskies' Tankmen Beaten

Pontiac Northern swimmers lost their first dual meet of the season in an exciting event which went down to the 200 free-style relay before it was decided.

Thurston won the final event with a pool record of 3:50.4 and won the meet 56-49. Northern set a varsity record in the same event in 5:52.8 but it was to no avail.

Carl Hiller was Northern's double winner with a varsity record in the 200 Individual Medley in 2:12.8 and in the 400 breaststroke.

4 Rec Quintets Winners

Four games were on the city recreation men's basketball slate last night with the Packers thumping the Champs, 73-53, in the lone American League contest.

The one National League encounter found Highland Campus topping UAW No. 1, 56-52. The All Stars edged Autobahn Motors, 48-42, and Couloacs Insurance beat POH, 49-38, in International League games.

John Slavin hit 20, Ed Quirk 19 and Darrell Lovell 15 to feature the Packers' victory. Game honors went to the Champs' John Hurner who had 25.

Bill Spain's 21 points were not enough to carry the UAW quintet to a 56-52 victory over the five which had the twin punch

Family Night Programs on Tigers' Plan

Family Night will be a feature at Tiger Stadium in 1966, joining Ladies' Day and Teachers' Day as bargain events for Tiger fans.

Twenty-four sections of the Upper Deck will be set aside for the family groups at Tiger Stadium on the two dates. Dad will pay $2.00 for his ticket. Mom and the girls, as well as the boys 14 or under, will be admitted for 50 cents each.

Family Night tickets will be sold in advance and will be limited to 10,000.

Jean Saubert Ranking Skier

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore., drew the best placings for Americans in the International Ski Federation ratings for women, announced this week.

The ratings, based on 1965 performances, determine the starting order in major races for the coming season.

Aces from France, Austria, West Germany, Canada and the United States dominated the list.

Miss Saubert placed first in the slalom with four other racers, sixth in the giant slalom and 10th in the downhill.

Sandra Shellworth of Boise, Idaho, placed 11th in the giant slalom. Cathy Allen of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Linda Meyers of Harbor City, Calif., were 10th and 11th, respectively, in the slalom.

Christ Haas and Traudl Hecher of Austria led the downhill ratings. Marielle Gotschel of France was No. 1 in the giant slalom.

information at tourist council booth in Chicago and Cleveland, said William McGraw, council director.

"This interest, coupled with early returns from our advertising and publicity programs, indicates continued high interest in Michigan as a winter vacation state," McGraw said.

"It appears the only thing that would prevent a record season is a lack of good snow conditions and that seems highly unlikely." The council predicted some 250,000 persons will make one or more trips to Michigan winter sports centers this year, spending about $28 million.

State Hunters Enjoy Success in Elk Shoot

VANDERBILT (AP) — A good ending to Michigan's second special elk hunting season since before the turn of the century is predicted for today.

As of late Wednesday night, 176 of Michigan's largest game animals were hauled in to the Pigeon River State Forest checking station.

A light tracking snow helped hitherto unsuccessful marksmen to bag six elk Wednesday. The best prize was a near 400-pound cow elk.

An additional light snow fell during the night, giving an assist to hunters scouting for fresh tracks.

Conservation officer Earl Helms predicted there would be a large turnout of last-chance hunters for the final day and a kill of about 10 more elk.

The hunters will be able to shoot until 7 p.m. tonight, although dark comes much earlier in the elk territory.

Rain Hampers Local Resorts

Slopes Open in Part of Upper Peninsula

The "teasingly" cold weather has skiers and local resorts on the fence.

The recent wet spell ruined early efforts for the resorts to keep what base they had developed with their snow-making equipment.

Most operators are just waiting for that first, lengthy below-freezing spell to lay a good coat of snow and open for the winter.

None is running now, though Mount Holy and Pine Knob each have dining facilities operating. Dryden has had limited skiing, reportedly, and may resume this weekend.

There is skiing in the western Upper Peninsula; and some northern Lower Peninsula resorts had opened but were rained out last weekend. If the current cooling trend continues, they may reopen this weekend though conditions would generally only be fair.

Venison Cost $20 Per Pound in U. P.

HOUGHTON (AP) — The hunter lucky enough to bag a deer during the recent hunting season in the Upper Peninsula had to pay about $20 a pound for his trophy.

A study made by forestry students at Michigan Technological University here shows that the average hunter spent about $219 during the season on food, equipment and miscellaneous items.

He also walked more than two miles a day and drove more than 12 miles a day.

Michigan Second

OSU Top Gridiron Attraction

By The Associated Press
Perennial leader Ohio State's home attendance slipped by 125 fans a game in 1965 but the Buckeyes still led the nation as a football attraction with an average of 83,256 spectators at its five home games.

It marked the eighth consecutive season and the 14th in the last 15 that Ohio State captured the national attendance championships.

The only teams that ever attracted more were the 1964 Buckeyes with 83,391 per game and the 1957 Michigan Wolverines with 84,159.

'M' SECOND

Michigan finished second this season with an average turnout of 80,081. It was the first year since 1957 that more than one team topped the 80,000 mark. Figures released by the NCAA

Service Bureau today showed that the national college total attendance for 1965 soared to an all-time high of 24,682,572. It was a 5.69 gain over last year and the biggest one season in

Church Loop Seeks Teams

The Pontiac YMCA's senior division church basketball program for high-school-age boys is looking for one more team in its Friday night league.

The circuit began play last week with seven teams after a last minute drop out. Any 21,373 more than in 1964. Memphis State made the second largest gain, an increase of 17,977 per game. Houston, helped crease in the 18 years official national attendance records have been kept.

A total of 616 four-year colleges fielded football teams—six less than last season—but they played four more games and drew more fans per game—8,979 to 8,508—than in 1964.

Only two teams from 1964's top 10 list dropped off in 1965. Illinois fell from seventh to 16th place, and Minnesota slipped from 10th to 13th. They were replaced by Southern California, up from 13th to seventh, and Nebraska, up from 17th to 10th.

Southern Methodist led the country in increase, averaging 21,373 more than in 1964. Memphis State made the second largest gain, an increase of 17,977 per game. Houston, helped by the Astrodome, made the third biggest gain, 17,427 per game.

A total of 25 teams averaged more than 40,000 fans a game. The largest crowd of the year was 102,315 for the Michigan State at Michigan rivalry. Second largest crowd was the 96,492 that saw the Army-Navy game at Philadelphia.

Hope Wins Squeaker

ADRIAN (AP)—Hope pulled away with 42 seconds to go and narrowly defeated Adrian 94-90 in a tight MIAA basketball game Wednesday night.

With the score tied at 90-90, Hope's Dave Utzinger got the winning basket followed by foul shots.

Kemp 'Most Valuable' in AFL

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Kemp, after being cut by the Detroit Lions, won over Lance Alworth, San Diego's brilliant flanker, in a close vote by the 24 sports writers, three from each league city, who make up The Associated Press panel.

The man who directed the defending champions to another title in the Eastern Division, received 10 votes and Alworth drew eight. Paul Lowe, San Diego's fine running back, polled four votes and one went to Bob Bell, Kansas City's outstanding linebacker. One member of the panel did not vote in this category.

Gino Cappelletti, Boston's pass catcher and place kicker, was voted the Most Valuable Player in the league last year.

Although Kemp ranked fourth among the league's passers in the latest statistics, the voters acknowledged his leadership ability in bringing the Bills into another title game.

FACE SPARTANS—Rod Kruskie (left) and Dan Ludwick are expected to see considerable action for Rochester tomorrow night when the Falcons play at home against Fitz.

Avondale Faces Stiff O-A Test

Avondale's Yellow Jackets are off to their fastest start in years, and the team will get an idea of how good it really is when it takes on Warren Cousino on the Patriots floor tomorrow night.

The game is one of four on the O-A slate. Other tilts have Clawson entertaining Lake Orion, Fitzgerald traveling to Rochester and Troy visiting Madison.

In the Wayne - Oakland League, Clarkson shares host to defending champion Bloomfield Hills in a key contest.

Avondale has won three in a row under new coach Nick Niera and shares first place in the O-A with Cousino and Clawson. All are 2-0.

And in Cousino, the Jackets will be meeting a foe that has chomped up five opponents in a row, including Rochester, the pre-season favorite to win the league crown.

BALANCED TEAM
Avondale hasn't walked over anyone, but the squad has shown a lot of balance in the scoring column, and the Jackets have played a strong game in the rebounding department.

Dave Erwin, 6-4 center, and Dennis Jacobs at forward give the Jackets a solid 1-2 punch in the battle for rebounds. Erwin Sponberg, president, is also averaging more than 10 points a game along with Lee Saunders (6-2) and Barry Peel.

Making the Cousino machine work are a pair of junior brothers, Bob and Paul Pa-

Paul, a 6-2 forward, is averaging more than 20 points a game and Bob has averaged 10 a game in five outings.

Rochester, after the 73-53 trouncing by Cousino, came back last week to lead Madison through most of the game before folding in the fourth quarter in losing, 80-83.

TWO SETBACKS
Defending champion Troy has lost two in a row and rates the role of the underdog in the contest against Madison (2-1).

Lake Orion kept the pressure on Avondale last week before losing, 68-54. The dragons suffered when two of their starters left the game on fouls.

West Bloomfield, with league wins over Bloomfield Hills and Clarkson, shares first place with Northville's Mustangs at 2-0.

The Lakers were picked to go nowhere in the league race, but with two wins tucked away, the team has to be numbered among the contenders.

Clarkson and Hills are both 1-1 in league competition and the loser will have a hard time catching up in this year's battle for the top spot.

JUNIOR STAR
—With junior Dan Fife in the lineup — he's averaging slightly more than 30 points a game — to dethrone Hills' Barons, is unbeaten after three starts, but the Mustangs could have their hands full at Milford.

Northville, the pre-season pick nowhere in the league race, is unbeaten after three starts, but the Mustangs could have their hands full at Milford.

He was nominated by Wayne State University where he starred in football and track. Also named award winners were Dr. Harold Sponberg, president, is also averaging more than 10 points a game along with Lee Saunders (6-2) and Barry Peel.

Gemini 6 Splashes Down Safely

N. Viets Are Warned of Stiffer Air Raids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara warned North Vietnam today that it will suffer more bombing attacks like the one that knocked out a key electric power plant near Hanoi yesterday.

He blandly refrained, however from characterizing the air strike near North Vietnam's industrial heart as the start of significant escalation of the war.

tacks will reveal a spreading air campaign against a new list of targets in the strategic Hanoi-Haiphong area.

McNamara's statements, made on his return from the winter NATO meeting in Paris, came as officials sought to discourage the idea yesterday's attack opened a new phase in the bombing campaign.

The State Department said that aircraft had bombed that close to the port city of Haiphong before. But the targets were different — bridges and rail lines.

SAME TACK

McNamara took the same tack in his planese news conference saying that the power plant bombing was "representative of the type of attacks we have been making and will be making against North Vietnamese targets."

Earlier attacks of the type, however, were against power plants far down the coast from the sensitive Hanoi-Haiphong area and they have been few in number.

McNamara told newsmen the Wednesday attack was aimed at crippling industries producing ammunition and supplies for infiltration through Laos to South Vietnam.

The industries got electricity from the UI Bong plant 14 miles northeast of Haiphong, McNamara said. He also said the bombing was "appropriate" re-compense for the Viet Cong's increased terrorism in the South.

7 PREVIOUS OCCASIONS

On seven previous occasions, in the midst of hundreds of missions against supply lines in the North, there have been announced strikes against power plants.

Not long ago, U.S. officials were ruling out bombing of targets in Hanoi and Haiphong, partly on grounds that it could provoke Red China into greater participation in the war and partly on grounds that the chief objective should be supply and communication lines.

Johnson Gets Firm Support of AFL-CIO

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The AFL-CIO emerged today from its 10th anniversary convention more united than ever and a growing source of political strength for President Johnson and the Democratic party.

Despite differences over some issues, the big labor federation gave solid support to any measure Johnson decides to use in the Viet Nam war and threw its weight behind his Great Society program at home.

Nearly 1,000 delegates also forced approval of union efforts to elect 51 congressmen, mostly Democrats, who are considered friendly to AFL-CIO aims during the 1966 campaign.

Agreement between George Meany, AFL-CIO president and CIO vice president, Walter P. Reuther, was virtually complete despite their bitter public feuds in the past.

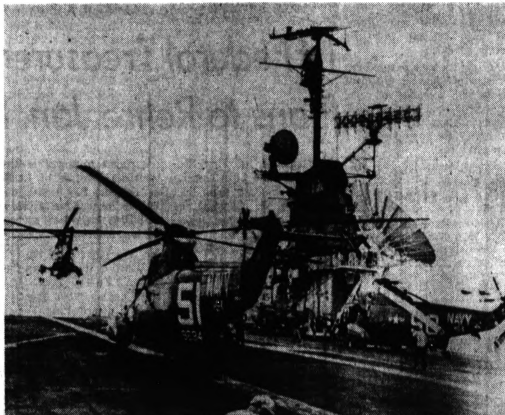

Only Paul Hall, president of the Seafarers Union and AFL-CIO vice president, injected an anti-administration note during the windup of the weeklong meeting yesterday.

LASHED OUT

Hall lashed out at Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, the departments of state, commerce and labor and unnamed "bureaucrats" who he said were not showing true friendship for unions.

"We are not the arms of administration," Hall told the convention. "We are not the tail of the Democratic party donkey."

Merchant marine policy, he charged, has been reducing the number of available American ships to send cargo to Southeast Asia, thus "sabotaging" the war effort in Viet Nam.

GEMINI'S FRIENDS — Helicopters from the carrier Wasp are the astronauts' friends, covering the water with watchful eyes. Yesterday they flew missions to handle any emergency during the takeoff of Gemini 6, and today the same crews took off to recover astronauts Walter Schirra and Stafford as they splashed down in the Atlantic.

Recovery Craft Is at the Scene

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Gemini 6 astronauts Schirra and Stafford splashed safely into the Atlantic today after their historic rendezvous flight with Gemini 7. An aircraft spotted them floating in the sea and reported conversation with the pilots.

The aircraft code name Air Boss 1, sighted Gemini 6 in calm waters about 30 miles west of the main recovery ship, the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The landing occurred at 10:29 a.m. EST about 630 miles southwest of Bermuda.

One of the recovery helicopters, designated Search 2, also reported radio contact with the astronauts.

Search 2 was hovering overhead at 10:42 a.m. at the time the Wasp was about 15 miles from the scene.

"We're in great shape," the astronauts reported.

Navy frogmen leaped from the helicopter to attach flotation devices to the spacecraft.

STUDY OF DATA

A study of radar data showed that the spacecraft landed 12 miles southeast of the Wasp instead of 30 miles west northwest as originally calculated.

Schirra and Stafford requested that they remain inside the spacecraft until the carrier reached them.

They could have elected to be retrieved by helicopter, but with the carrier so close they decided to stay put.

The four retro-rockets of the Gemini 6 fired with a jolt at 9:53 a.m. EST as the spacecraft zipped more than 160 miles above the Pacific west of Hawaii.

SLOWED SPEED

The rockets slowed the speed of the craft from 17,450 miles an hour to about 17,150 miles.

At the reduced velocity Gemini 6 no longer was able to maintain an orbit and it was caught in the grasp of the earth's gravity.

Schirra and Stafford then began a gradual descent on a path that was to take them across the Pacific, Mexico, southern Texas, the Gulf of Mexico and Florida.

The 37-minute reentry was to end with Gemini 6 parachuting into the Atlantic 630 miles southeast of Bermuda at 10:29 a.m. EST.

TIME OF MISSION

That's 25 hours, 52 minutes after Gemini 6 blasted off yesterday from Cape Kennedy, Fla. to conduct its momentous rendezvous with Gemini 7 astronauts Borman and Lovell.

Gemini 7 was about 12 miles behind and 18 miles higher than Gemini 6 at the instant of reentry, hoping to observe and photograph from the re-entry.

Seconds after reentry, Schirra told the Hawaii tracking station:

Pontiac Area Due More Cloudy Skies

The weatherman reports skies will continue cloudy with intermittent light snow or flurries tonight through Friday.

Temperatures falling to 22 to 30 tonight will rise to 20 to 30 tomorrow. Little change is expected Saturday.

Today's westerly winds at 10 to 15 miles per hour will continue. A brisk 28 was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The 1 p.m. recording was 32.

Get 'Tourist' Treatment in Space

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Like a couple of travelers who had been there before, the Gemini 7 astronauts pointed out the sights to their fellow space tourists in Gemini 6 yesterday. They got a little good-natured abuse in return.

"You guys are really a shoddy looking group," said Navy

Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. after he and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford began keeping company with Gemini 7.

He had greeted the Gemini 7 crew — Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr. — with: "There seems to be a lot of traffic up here."

"Call a policeman," Borman suggested.

The spacecraft were nose to nose, about 10 feet apart at the time.

'LIP MOVING'

"I can see your lips moving," Lovell said.

"I'm chewing gum," said Schirra.

"Oh, okay. Can you see Frank's beard, Wally?"

"Yeah I can see yours too — better right now."

'BLUEBEARD'

Another time Schirra addressed one of the Gemini 7 crew as "Bluebeard" and said: "You don't have much of a mustache."

The reply: "Don't let them kid you. I'm just a blond."

Over Malagasy Republic there was this exchange: Schirra: "Those forest fires really stick out, don't they, Jim?"

Lovell: "Roger. You can see them all the time, Wally."

OIL FIRE

Schirra: "Yes."

Lovell: "That fire down there to your left is an oil fire, I think. It has been there every night."

Schirra: "Well, I'll be damned."

Like all tourists, the spacemen shot still photographs and movies of each other.

Overdose Took Patient's Life

Claim Nurse Copied Prescription Wrong

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — A nurse's mistake resulted in a fatal overdose of hydrochloric acid for a ulcer patient, a hospital disclosed here yesterday.

Lester G. Johnson, administrator of Swedish Hospital here, said the nurse omitted a decimal point and the word "diluted" in copying a physician's prescription.

As a result, the patient, Arne Nelson, 54, Edina, Minn., swallowed a 6 per cent hydrochloric acid solution instead of the scheduled .6 per cent diluted solution.

Nelson's physician, Dr. Hamlin Mattson, said the solution was prescribed to keep the developed abdominal pain. The stomach lining free of bacteria during surgery for bleeding ulcers.

When the nurse gave the solution to Nelson, he immediately developed abdominal pain. The pain was relieved with a sodium bicarbonate solution, but Nelson died two days later.

Johnson described the nurse, whose name he withheld, as "one of our best" and "extremely conscientious."

KENNETH S. MILLER

GM Executive Heads C. of C.

New President Active in Chamber 3 Years

A General Motors executive has been elected president of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce at a meeting yesterday.

Kenneth S. Miller, assistant traffic manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division, will succeed Charles F. Brown, Pontiac manager of Consumers Power Co., in the top chamber post.

Miller of 20 Lincoln was formerly first vice president of the businessmen's group.

He has been active in chamber activities for three years and was chairman of that group's traffic safety committee.

Other activities have included the presidency of the Pontiac Traffic Club, exalted ruler of Pontiac Elks Lodge 810 and vice chairman of the 1961 Centennial celebration.

NEW OFFICERS

Other new chamber officers include Harold B. Euler, Pontiac General Hospital administrator, first vice president; Eugene Russell, district manager of Michigan Bell Telephone Co., secretary and Alvin Steinman, owner of Alvins of Pontiac, treasurer.

Barry Blows His Own Horn

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Fledgling trombonist Barry Goldwater has a bet going with his family.

The 1964 Republican presidential candidate has wagered he'll be able to play "Silent Night" on his horn by Christmas Eve.

Thief Has Sweet Tooth

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A sweet tooth may have led the thief to the loot at William Parks' home, police say. Parks reported $30 was stolen from a cookie jar. The thief also took a $24 transistor radio.

Author Maugham Dies at Villa

NICE, France (AP) — British author W. Somerset Maugham died early today at his beloved Riviera villa La Mauresque after he was returned there unconscious from a Nice hospital. He was 91 and suffered a stroke six days ago.

One of the world's most successful writers, Maugham wrote 30 plays, 26 novels and 120 short stories during a career that spanned more than a half-century. His last work, a memoir called "Looking Backward," was published in 1962. He gave up writing fiction in 1953 when he was 78.

In his final years his hearing failed, cataracts dimmed his sight and his memory became spotty.

Doctors said Saturday he could not recover from the stroke he suffered the day before.

He Remained

He remained in a coma and when all hope was gone, he was taken from the British-American Hospital in Nice Wednesday to die at his villa on Cap Ferrat, six miles away.

RICH AUTHOR

Maugham was best known for his fiction that made him a fortune few writers have matched.

His masterpiece was the novel "Of Human Bondage," published in 1915 when he was 41. It told of a club-footed medical student's romance with a slatternly waitress who disdained him.

In 1946 Maugham presented the manuscript, valued by dealers at close to $50,000, to the Library of Congress in appreciation of America's hospitality.

Another success was "Miss Thompson," the short story about the prostitute and the preacher which John Colton and Clemence Randolph turned into the play "Rain," one of the perennial hits of the theater. Several movie versions were also made.

Among his other notable works were "The Moon and Sixpence" (1919), based on the life of a painter, Paul Gauguin; "Cakes and Ale" (1930), which aroused much comment for its lampoon of author Hugh Walpole; and "The Razor's Edge" (1944), a story of an American turning to mysticism in India.

STAR WITNESS HONORED—Margaret Allen, key figure in smashing a gambling operation at the Stieren Assembly Club in Madison Heights in 1963, was honored yesterday at a Bloomfield Hills Country Club luncheon sponsored by The Pontiac Press. The 29-year-old stenographer received a plaque and $500 from Pontiac Press Publisher Harold A. Fitzgerald. Miss Allen acted as an undercover agent for the State Police. Officials connected with the case attended.

Says Kelley

'Aid Victims of Crimes'

DETROIT (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley proposed yesterday that Michigan compensate victims of violent crimes.

Citing such programs in Great Britain, New Zealand and California, Kelley said "the time has come for us in Michigan to give to the victims of crimes as much consideration as we give to criminals."

He said the economic byproduct of violent crime causes long-lasting and even permanent damage to the economic health of the family.

Yet the criminal, said Kelley, is housed, fed, and given medical, dental, psychological and psychiatric care by the state.

Kelley painted the broad outlines of his proposal and said it would be dealt with more specifically early next year in a white paper on crime. He spoke yesterday at the Detroit Press Club to members of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity.

FINAL PRODUCT

The Democratic attorney general said the program should at first be "somewhat limited so that we may obtain the benefit of experience to develop a final product."

He said the highest priority for aid should go to the person killed or injured when coming to the aid of a victim of a crime.

Next in line he placed the individual killed or injured while helping a law enforcement officer apprehend a criminal.

Third — and the largest category — would be the primary victim of a crime of violence, he said.

In Address to U.N.

Wilson May Toughen Rhodesia Stand

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson may announce tougher new measures against the Rhodesian government in a speech to the U.N. General Assembly today.

A number of African nations have urged stronger sanctions against the rebellious white minority government, including an oil embargo. Wilson told newsmen Wednesday night he favors an oil embargo only if other countries cooperate.

"We have been having informal conferences with a number of countries," Wilson said, on his arrival at New York's Kennedy Airport. He did not elaborate.

Wilson will begin meeting with President Johnson in Washington late today. The main topics are expected to be Rhodesia and Viet Nam.

NO AGREEMENT

The U.N. Security Council, under pressure from African and Asian nations, called on Nov. 20 for an oil embargo against Rhodesia, but Britain would not agree to the move unless it could be made effective.

Word from London that Wilson might announce a last-minute caucus of members of the 36-nation African group at the United Nations, Guinea, Tanzania and other members of the group's extremist wing were urging that the Africans boycott Wilson's speech, but Liberia and other moderate governments argued that this would be childish.

The Organization of African Unity voted two weeks ago that its 36 members would break diplomatic relations with Britain by Dec. 15 if it had not put down the rebellious Rhodesian government by then. As of Wednesday's deadline, only Tanzania, Guinea and Ghana had gone through with the threatened action.

U.N. circles have accused the Africans of showing irresponsibility with demands for military force and other tough measures against Rhodesia which they are in no position to help carry out.

Some delegates felt that Wilson's attempt last month to reach a compromise with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith's regime was crippled by the bickering resolutions put out by the General Assembly and the Security Council at the behest of the Asian-African group.

Gemini 6 Back Safe

Thanks Hawaii." He also bid farewell to the Gemini 7 pilots.

Bearded and "a little beat," Borman and Lovell waved goodbye to their space companions and sailed on toward another big goal — 14 days in space. They will come home Saturday after shattering every manned space flight record.

FIVE HOURS

The two spacecraft executed a historic meeting in space Wednesday and whirled around the world in formation, six to 200 feet apart, for more than five hours.

Schirra and Stafford, thwarted in two earlier Gemini 6 launching attempts, made a powerful Titan 2 rocket into space yesterday to start the pursuit of the Gemini 7 astronauts, who were heavily bearded and slightly weary after 11 days in orbit.

The dramatic chase covered 105,000 miles and more than 340 orbits.

Expertly steered by command pilot Schirra, Gemini 6 executed eight orbit-shifting maneuvers that eventually placed the two space vehicles in the same orbit only a few feet apart.

NOSE TO NOSE

The momentous rendezvous occurred at 2:30 p.m. when the two ships faced each other nose to nose 185 miles above the western Pacific Ocean.

The word was flashed by Stafford, who radioed: "We're at 120 feet and sitting."

The message meant Gemini 6 had completed a braking maneuver that matched the speed of Gemini 7—and the two were flying together at better than 17,500 miles an hour.

Within minutes, Schirra closed to within an estimated six feet of Borman and Lovell and the two pairs of astronauts started an exchange of witty cracks that continued through their rendezvous.

Originally, mission control in Houston said the two should stay together only about four hours. But Navy Capt. Schirra and Air Force Maj. Stafford requested an extra orbit, saying they had plenty of fuel to practice more maneuvers.

Flight director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. granted the request.

At 7:52 p.m., after 5 hours 26 minutes, Schirra fired his jet thrusters to drop Gemini 6 into a lower orbit and he and Stafford gradually pulled ahead of Gemini 7 at the rate of 20 miles each 90-minute orbit.

BEST WAY

While they were together, the two flew completely around each other, over and under and back and forth as they tried to determine the best way to fly in formation with another spacecraft — a technique that must be developed for manned flights to the moon.

They took movie and still pictures of each other, used acrobatics and made star-tracking and infrared measurements on the spacecrafts.

Most of the maneuvering was done by Gemini 6 which had the most fuel.

"It's great, really outstanding," exclaimed Lovell.

EXCITING DAY

Both sets of astronauts retired about 10 p.m. after their exciting day in space.

Asked by a tracking station when the Gemini 7 pilots wanted to be awakened, Borman replied:

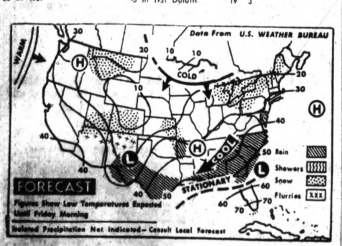

"Give us a call when we want to wake up. We're both pretty beat."

Give Warning on Ice Ball Use

The Oakland County Health Department today warned the public not to purchase ice balls made in Hong Kong and to dispose of any they have already purchased.

Further, the department is contacting all known wholesalers of these ice balls, urging them to contact their retailers, in an effort to completely halt further sales.

The State Public Health Service announced yesterday that the ice balls are contaminated. Laboratory tests showed they have high bacterial counts, evidence of pollution and disease-associated bacteria.

The novelty items are plastic balls with water inside. They are designed to be frozen then dropped in a drink. Their supposed advantage over water is that they do not dilute the drink.

But water has gotten into drinks when the plastic covering broke, according to State Health Director Albert Heustis.

ROCHESTER — A power failure yesterday in a portion of Avon Township gave West Junior High School pupils an unexpected vacation today.

The failure caused a burned-out motor on a water pump at the school, causing a loss of water pressure.

Assistant Schools Supt. Douglas B. Lund said classes should be back in session tomorrow.

Sun Satellite Gathers Data

Compiles Information for Future Astronauts

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A heavily instrumented satellite called Pioneer 6 cruised in a complex orbit around the sun today and began sweeping up information that will guide future astronauts traveling between planets.

The drum-shaped spacecraft soared aloft at 2:32 a.m. from Cape Kennedy on top of a souped-up Delta rocket. Fire spewing from the 90-foot tall booster's tail could be seen for many miles as it drilled a hole through a ceiling of fog in the early morning darkness.

Two seconds after the spinning satellite was set in position about 365 miles above Africa, some 4,900 miles from Cape Kennedy, three spinny arms were deployed from it. Radio command from the ground turned on a gas jet at the end of one arm, orienting Pioneer 6 so its signals could be received on earth.

"Engineering data shows that all parts of the spacecraft are operating normally," said Charles F. Hall, Pioneer program manager from the Ames Research Center at Mountain View, Calif.

'WINDSTREAM'

The shiny spacecraft will study characteristics of the solar "windstream" which consists of electrically charged gases that boil off from the sun's gravitational field at super-sonic speeds.

Other instruments packed inside the 140-pound spacecraft will also help chart the way for manned voyages between planets by looking at magnetic fields in space.

Pioneer 6 is in an elliptical orbit around the sun between the orbital paths of earth and Venus.

Job and Wage Study Will Begin Next Week

BIRMINGHAM — A job and wage study among city employees will get under way next week.

The $5,500 evaluation program was approved by the City Commission Monday.

It will be conducted by Psychological Research Services of Western Reserve University, Cleveland.

An analysis of the internal structure and ratings of job classifications will be prepared following two-day visits to the city by a team of seven or eight interviewers.

The study will show what inequities exist, if any, and will serve as a basis for adjustments.

FIRST VISIT

The initial team visit will be made Dec. 20 and 21. The second will be during the first or second week of January. The final report is expected to be completed by mid-February.

As a basis of comparison, the city manager's office will conduct a wage survey among neighboring communities.

The appointment of Fred H. Burley as assistant city engineer was announced this week by City Manager Robert S. Kenning. The appointment is effective Jan. 1.

Burley will succeed Gerald L.

Miley, who resigned to become project engineer for the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

Before joining the city staff in October, Burley was chief engineer in charge of Detroit's sewage treatment plant.

Municipal Judge John C. Emery Jr. is attending a three-day National Driver Improvement Program Conference at Kellogg Center on the Michigan State University campus.

Emery is participating in the conference, which started Tuesday, at the request of the Automotive Safety Foundation.

Decorating Contest Slated in Waterford

The Waterford Township Jaycees are sponsoring a Christmas exterior home decoration contest this year for the first time.

Plaques will be presented to two homes. Judging will be based on originality and design of display, according to Robert Wright, chairman.

Contestants should register with Wright at 3420 Clayton. All entries must be received by next Tuesday. The winners will be notified Dec. 24.

Seek to Correct Imbalance

Soviets Step Toward Economic Realism

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW
MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has taken a major step toward economic realism.

Budget and development plans for 1966 adopted by the Supreme Soviet last week indicate an intention to correct an imbalance created in the Stalin era between industry and agriculture.

The announced plans suggest that the U.S.S.R. hopes to be able to concentrate on internal development instead of having to turn its major attention to the danger of a new world war.

Despite a hard-sounding line on Viet Nam and other East-West questions, new budget increases in projected military spending are regarded as only in proportion to the increase in total spending.

APPARENT SLOWDOWN

An apparent slowdown in the rate of growth of the Soviet economy does not mean it is as slow as it has been in the previous years. The planned rate for 1966 will be 6.7 per cent, a drop from a claimed rate of 8.5 per cent this year and the lowest since the 1946 postwar recovery year. In 1958, for example, production of five million tons more steel meant a 9 per cent increase. In 1966 it would take more than eight million additional tons to match that growth percentage.

An attack on chronic agricultural problems also is a factor in slowing down the overall rate of growth. Soviet planners, charting rapid development for agriculture, know to their sorrow that farming in the U.S.S.R. does not lend itself to accurate planning.

Crop failures in 1963 and again this year forced the Soviet Union to buy wheat abroad. Meat and dairy products remain in short supply.

BIG INVESTMENT

In March, the leadership decided to invest 41 billion rubles in agriculture in the 1966-70 five-year plan. This is as much as was invested in the previous 19 years.

Stalin left agriculture to stagnate — and thus, eventually failed to feed an expanding population adequately — because he demanded concentration on heavy industry. His industrialization was relatively simple. The U.S.S.R. would produce "the means of production" such as steel and other heavy industrial goods, and a limited range of goods for the consumer, such as the same kind of blue underwear for all Soviet men, for example.

But it became difficult to control every nut and bolt from a centralized Moscow ministry.

Now an effort at limited decentralization is in progress, involving more local initiative in enterprises and rewards for producing goods which sell, rather than meeting command quotas. It means, simply, the profit system.

RATIONAL THOUGHT

There appears to be an effort to bring rational thought to a distorted internal economy. The Soviet press in recent months has been full of horror stories about inefficient production, failure to utilize productive resources, inability to get new plants producing and general dragging of feet.

SHINY CHRISTMAS — A man's world of jewelry gifts might include rings, an electric watch, and a cuff link and tie tack set.

Duty in Africa Alters Opinions

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Several Peace Corpsmen who taught for two years in African schools developed more liberal attitudes about race relations, a University of Michigan study says. "Some volunteers found that the distinction between races had become a fairly irrelevant concept," said Assistant Prof. Raphael S. Ezekiel.

Ezekiel collaborated with Prof. M. Brewster Smith of the University of California in a two-year study of the corps. Volunteers began to see "that labeling and emphasizing differences between groups served to obscure reality and lessen the richness of their own lives," Ezekiel said.

SMALL CHILDREN

Ezekiel said the experience of being waved at by small Ghana children shouting "white man, white man" — without malice — may have increased the volunteers' sensitivity to the feelings of a man who is only seen in terms of his group.

Other factors influencing them were concern that segregation gave America a bad image abroad and self-consciousness about being treated kindly by African while Ghanaian newspapers carried stories about racial violence in the United States, Ezekiel said.

Educational construction in the United States in 1964 amounted to more than $4 billion.

Scars of Recent Strife Fading

Memories of Trujillo Still Linger Among Elders in Dominican Republic

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—In Trujillo's time, the man said, "the streets were immaculately clean, the grass trimmed, the trees pruned."

He nodded toward the seaside walk, littered with scraps of paper and fruit peels. Piles of sand begged the curb, however, and free speech is way of life, not a possible prelude to political exile or a prison term.

LIKE TO RECALL

Still, many people, especially the older ones in this country of young folks, like to look back with a sort of knowing, I-told-you-so air.

The transition from 31 years of Trujillo dictatorship to representative democracy has been rocked by continued violence. One would have to look close today, though, to find the signs of last April's revolution, one of the most explosive in Latin American history. Emotional scars are fading faster than most foreigners here thought possible.

The other evening, Col. Francisco Caamaño Domo, a former chief of the rebel army, sat with friends in a popular restaurant. The place was crowded with people from the other side of the political fence. Some waved at Caamaño. He smiled, waved back. Six months ago, the two groups likely would have been shooting at each other.

Physical scars are disappearing in a flurry of construction and repair projects that have helped thin the ranks of unemployed. Even surprised Dominicans are asking: Where's the money coming from?

MORE AID DUE

The United States has put more than $80 million in a major rehabilitation effort. More is on the way. The 9,000-plus foreign troops stationed in the country are spending at least some of their salaries here.

Scores of privately financed low-cost homes are going up on state land in the city. With an emergency grant of $2 million from the Alliance for Progress and $924,000 from the Organization of American States, the government is completing an aqueduct to end a chronic water shortage.

The most dramatic infusion of American help has come through the distribution of U.S. surplus foods. Catholic relief services, Church World Services and CARE gave away 63 million pounds—about 18 pounds per Dominican—of cornmeal, flour, powdered milk, cooking oil and oatmeal in the period between the start of the revolution, April 24, and Aug. 31. Food distribution is being stepped up with the emphasis on children of school and preschool age.

Gambling casinos and most night clubs have reopened. Even hope has gotten a boost with the reopening of the national lottery. Sidewalk stands are heaped high with imported apples at 25 cents each, and there's a festive note in the air as Christmas approaches.

SAME FEELINGS

Anti-Yankee fervor is on the wane, but not because Dominicans feel different about the American armed presence here. "It isn't that we don't like Americans, we do," says Bonaparte Geauleaux, 31, a young businessman. "It's just that we don't want foreign troops on our soil."

Framed against this background is a snugly little nocturnal "war" between diehards of factions involved in the revolution. The tempo is dying down but occasionally the night silence is broken by a grenade or machine-gun fire.

Lights burn late in the homes of some rightwing extremists political figures known, says President Hector Garcia-Godoy, to be conspiring against the government. Among them are those who measure peace and progress mostly in terms of clean streets and pruned trees, a la Trujillo.

The home of the armed forces minister, Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, is watched by a platoon of heavily armed guards hiding in the hibiscus and bougainvillea. Parked on the front lawn is a machine gun. The sign on the driveway proclaims: "beware of the dog."

High School Revisited—2

College-Bound Students on Increase

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second of three articles on what a UPI reporter learned when he returned to his home town high school 13 years after his graduation.)

By MYRON FEINSILBER
STROUDSBURG, Pa. (UPI)—When Alfred Munson picks up the local newspaper, he gets a reading on how well he did his job a year or a generation ago. Here's a story about a boy arrested for breaking into a gas station — and you can almost see young Munson. Here's a young lady elected to Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Michigan, and Munson must be beaming.

A long, lean and stern man with fingers that look extraordinarily long when they jab at you in the air, Munson is principal of Stroudsburg High School. He is singularly, though of course not solely, responsible for the education of a town, generation after generation.

Thirty-six years after Munson himself was graduated from Stroudsburg High, and 13 years after he handed me a diploma, I came back to see how things have changed. Some haven't. A few minutes before the first bell at 8:20 every morning, 1,430 locker doors slam shut with a racket that echoes through the halls. And the outer clothing students wear is still called "wraps," a peculiar schoolish word.

BICYCLES GONE
But the hundreds of bicycles that used to stand outside the school are gone, and gone too are the boys in their blue corduroy jackets with "Future Farmers of America" stitched in gold on their backs.

Although Stroudsburg, a town of about 6,000 residents about 85 miles west of New York City and 90 miles north of Philadelphia, is surrounded by farmland, there are no longer enough future farmers to justify a course in vocational agriculture.

Instead, the students want to go to college — and 38 per cent of them did go last year. But when they've finished college and return to Stroudsburg, unless they've become doctors, dentists or lawyers, they find few jobs for the college-educated here.

And boys who take the five-year "shop" course, learning to deal with machinery and to work with their hands, know that a pay check from local industry of about $80 a week is typical. They can do better in the unionized cities.

"There isn't enough skilled labor here to attract high-paying industry," says Munson. "And there isn't enough industry to keep skilled labor. It's a chicken-and-egg proposition."

The drive to get into college — and the competition — is changing the nature of youngsters, teachers told me. The stress on college has increased the schism between the academic students — those bound for college — and the general or commercial students, who aren't.

Last term, the honor roll was posted as always, outside the principal's office. Nearly all the students on it were in the academic program. "Down in the shop," recalls guidance counselor Raymond Serfass, "without telling anyone or asking anyone the shop students posted their own honor roll. And they were honest; it was an accurate list. They were telling us, 'look at what we're doing, we're good too.'"

Emphasis on college, he says, "has caused public education to ignore the 'average' student." He suspects that many schools assign the best teachers to the best pupils, and he thinks a case could be made for doing the opposite.

SCHISM GREATER
Supt. of Schools Earl Groner, who started his teaching career at Stroudsburg High 34 years ago, one year ahead of Munson, points out that the schism between the college-bound and the work-bound students grows greater because no longer are bright but poor youngsters forced to take the general course, knowing well enough that they could never afford college. Now any student who wants to go to college can find financial aid.

The competition for a college acceptance, says Serfass, has not been exaggerated. "The kids are working like pups."

And because of it — and because of Sputnik 1 — school is harder. Says Groner: "I majored in chemistry and physics when I went to college. But I wouldn't be able to pass the advanced chemistry or physics courses we are offering today."

Serfass' job as guidance counselor is new. A town which has scant appetite for educational "frills" demanded one. Serfass devotes a good deal of time to counseling students who want to go to college.

He runs into trouble from fathers who say, "I got into Bucknell with a C plus average, so why can't my son?" And from mothers who, he says, want chiefly to be able to brag to the bridge club about the Ivy League schools which accepted their sons.

But colleges become ever more selective — and mysterious about their processes of selection. "They still want a good football player," he says, "but they just won't take a bag of muscles."

"The colleges are asking, 'What can this kid bring to us that will be transferred to other kids? Is he an exceptionally fine chess player? Is he a bug on collecting antique guns?'"

"Yale is looking for kids with 'spirit.' What the devil is 'spirit?'" Munson feels this new pressure on youngsters may be robbing them of their childhood. He thinks it is possible to postpone adolescence — but not to cancel it. "Maybe that's why we see so many marriages go wrong. Maybe these kids are adults before their time."
