COMING DOWN — The Roosevelt Hotel, a Pontiac landmark for 43 years, is fast on its way to extinction. Prompted by a court order rendered Wednesday, the owner ordered razing of the building's remains, and wreckers moved in yesterday. The hotel at 125 N. Perry was struck by fire Aug. 27.

Romney Sets Goals; Aim Is Tight Budget

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has served notice on Michigan's government department heads that next year's state budget will be tight and that plans for a number of proposed projects will have to be delayed.

★ ★ ★

Romney's Budget Bureau for the first time has sent state agencies "tentative target budgets" which indicate about how much each agency can expect from the state next year.

★ ★ ★

The administrators have the message, but some of them don't like it and are trying to convince the budget-writers they need more money.

★ ★ ★

First to receive public criticism is the "target" figure of $812.4 million for state school aid in fiscal 1969-70, a $60-million boost over this year's estimated total.

ANALYSIS BEING MADE

The State Department of Education is preparing an analysis of the proposed aid figure and is expected to describe it as far short of meeting schools' needs.

Officials from several of the 19 principal state departments are meeting with State Budget Director Glenn Allen and his aides, fighting for larger appropriations.

Allen stresses the proposed "target" figures are subject to revision. "They're preliminary," he said.

Some examples of Romney's "hold the line" budget plan:

● The state's colleges and universities, which this year asked for $300 million and got $226.6 million have been assigned a "target" figure of $240.3 million.

● The Mental Health Department, recipient of a $9.6 million budget increase this year, would receive about $6 million more next year, bringing its General Fund budget share to $146.8 million.

★ ★ ★

● The Department of Education, which requested a $31.6 million appropriation for the current fiscal year and received $25.7 million, would receive a boost next year of $1.1 million.

★ ★ ★

● The Department of Public Health, with a current budget of $19.3 million compared with the $20.8 million requested, would receive an increase of $485,061.

★ ★ ★

The conservation department is seeking a $200,000 addition to its proposed $15.5 million appropriation, spokesman said.

Fortas Rejects Call to Testify to Senate Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Abe Fortas refused today to appear again before the Senate Judiciary Committee, which resumed hearings with testimony he was paid $15,000 to conduct a summer seminar at American University.

Dean B. J. Tennery of the university's law school told the committee, in its consideration of Fortas' nomination to be chief justice, that Paul A. Porter, a former Fortas law partner, helped raise funds for the seminar.

★ ★ ★

Tennery, a surprise witness before the committee, said Fortas had left the matter of compensation to him. "I did not even discuss with the justice what compensation he should receive," the dean said.

Earlier this morning Fortas declined the committee's invitation to return for further "interrogation." He testified over four days in July on his nomination.

LACK OF PRECEDENT

In a letter to the committee chairman, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., Fortas noted the "lack of precedent for such appearance," also his "respect for the Senate" and his "profound and unshakeable devotion to the court and the Constitution."

And yet he did explain specifically why he would not return.

★ ★ ★

The chief opponent of Fortas' confirmation, Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., said: "There can be no excuse for this refusal, which leaves the committee record incomplete."

Today's committee schedule had called for hearing first Sgt. Donald Shaidell of the Los Angeles Police Department as it studied the part Fortas played in Supreme Court pornography decisions.

Cycle-Helmet Clash May Cut Road Fund

By JIM LONG

Michigan could lose millions of dollars in federal highway funds if state laws covering motorcycles don't conform with the safety standards set by the government, State Rep. Loren D. Anderson said today.

★ ★ ★

"The federal government has gone along with us so far only because they know we're trying our best to comply," the Waterford Township Republican said. "But I don't know how long it will last."

★ ★ ★

Anderson's concern stems from an announcement made by the American Motorcycle Association (AMA) earlier this week. It said it would go into court to challenge a new state law that requires crash helmets to be carried on motorcycles as part of their equipment.

The measure was adopted this year to offset a Wayne County court order which voided a 1967 law that required motorcyclists and their passengers to wear helmets. The law was declared unconstitutional.

ANDERSON

The ruling has been upheld by the Michigan Court of Appeals and is now before the Michigan Supreme Court, according to Anderson.

Anderson is chairman of a special House subcommittee set up to draft new laws pertaining to motorcycles. He refined the first helmet statute and drafted the second.

★ ★ ★

"I really can't understand why the AMA is fighting us so hard, though I suspect that it is getting a lot of pressure from its members," Anderson said.

"You would think that the association would do everything in its power to promote safety among its members," he added.

LOSS OF REVENUE

Anderson said the state could forfeit as much as 10 per cent of its federal highway revenue because the Federal Highway Safety Standard Act is being violated.

States must follow regulations set down by the act to be eligible for federal highway funds, he added.

"And the act clearly says that motorcyclists must wear helmets."

Pontiac Sales Up Over Sept. 1-10, '67

Pontiac Motor Division reported today that its sales for the first 10 days of September were up 28 per cent from a year ago.

General Sales Manager Thomas L. King said Pontiac dealers sold 12,388 new Pontiacs, Tempests and Firebirds during the Sept. 1-10 period. This compares to the 9,685 units sold during the same period last year.

Magic number? It's any combination of Detroit Tiger victories and Baltimore Oriole defeats totaling seven. When the number shrinks to 0, the Tigers clinch the American League pennant.

Model-City Bid for Pontiac Eyed

The advisibility of applying for Model City Funds from the federal government as a method of uplifting living and social conditions in slum areas of Pontiac will be studied by the Pontiac Area Planning Council (PAPC).

★ ★ ★

The PAPC Board of Governors last night directed its staff to prepare its findings and submit recommendations before its Oct. 10 meeting.

The study also is intended to determine the feasibility of Pontiac making application in cooperation with Oakland County which has been considering entering such a program.

★ ★ ★

The report will be undertaken as a result of a recommendation made by the PAPC task force on race relations.

APRIL 1 DEADLINE

The deadline for applying for Model City Funds is April 1, 1969, and according to James Bates, a member of the PAPC staff and planning director for the city of Pontiac, it takes about three months to prepare an application.

★ ★ ★

If Pontiac were accepted into the program, it would receive grants paying up to 80 per cent of the cost in revitalizing neighborhoods.

The Model Cities program is aimed at removing blighted areas, expanding housing, increasing job opportunities, reducing welfare cases, improving education facilities and, in general, improving living conditions.

HHH Slaps Nixon; Agnew Apologizes

By the Associated Press

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has assailed Republican presidential rival Richard M. Nixon by name while Nixon's running mate was all but apologizing for a verbal attack on Humphrey.

"I am not concerned about the 'new Nixon' or the 'old Nixon.' What worries me is the real Nixon," Humphrey told a rally at Sea Girt, N. J., last night.

Humphrey labeled Nixon as "that man who abused Mr. Truman, who heaped scorn on Adlai Stevenson, who fought John Kennedy every step of the way," and who has opposed efforts of President Johnson.

In Rochester, N.Y., the GOP vice presidential nominee, Spiro T. Agnew, said he erred describing Humphrey as "squishy soft on Communism." Agnew said if he had realized the effect the statement would have, "I would have turned five somersaults to avoid saying it."

Related Stories, Pages A-5, B-13

Nixon called for new leadership to restore respect for the United States around the world and urged a halt in trade with allies of North Vietnam as he campaigned yesterday in Indianapolis, and New Orleans.

"It is time we made clear that the flag of the United States is nobody's doormat," Nixon said.

Humphrey's running mate, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, also stepped up his attack on Nixon and charged, "Unfortunately in this campaign, as in all the last 20 years, he has shown adeptness more at running against, than running for, a program for this country."

Third-party candidate George Wallace was heckled in Milwaukee, Wis., by pickets who shouted, "Bigot, bigot, bigot." Earlier Wallace said, "The worst bigots in the country are those who call other people bigots."

Mobilizing Ups Viet Army Force

SAIGON (AP) — The results of South Vietnam's general mobilization far exceed the government's expectations. It has drawn more than 240,000 men into the armed forces, officials say.

"This is about 30 per cent above what we expected," said one official. The total includes 63,000 young draftees and an amazing 161,000 volunteers.

This has boosted the regular armed forces to more than 755,000 men, with 800,000 expected by the end of the year. Additionally, 400,000 men serve in loosely organized, sparsely armed local defense units, most of them in the cities and their suburbs.

Officials said the large number of volunteers probably resulted from the desire of the young men to have some choice of assignment. The number of draftees, although less than half the total of volunteers, is considerably higher than the draft figure for last year. Officials say that 20 to 30 per cent of the men called up are rejected because they are physically unfit.

AGES 17 TO 43

The general mobilization law enacted last June makes men 17 to 43 subject to the draft, veterans and reserves.

Until the end of July, men 18 to 33, including veterans and reserves with less than five years service, were called. Each month the draft call goes to an older class of man. Officials say they won't know until the end of the year whether 17-year-olds and men 39 to 43 will be needed.

★ ★ ★

The law includes a program of deferments, but these are hard to get and the requirements are strictly enforced by a board which decides each case.

There are the usual deferments for the only surviving son, students, Buddhist monks, Roman Catholic priests and for physical defects.

★ ★ ★

Private companies, government offices and U.S. government agencies are required to categorize their employes on an A-F basis, "A" meaning indefinite deferment, "F" meaning no deferment, and the letters in between recommending deferments of one year to three months.

NEW ARTIFICIAL ARM — A battery-powered artificial arm that seemingly thinks for itself is shown being demonstrated by amputees in Boston, Mass. Firemen's Show Is R-r-really Big Fire Chief Charles Marion has predicted "a top-flight show" for this year's Pontiac Firemen's Festival next Wednesday.

"We had a good program and a good crowd last year," he said. "But we're looking for both to be better this time."

★ ★ ★

Marion pointed out that the 1968 parade will be the biggest ever, with more bands, vehicles and marchers making the trek from downtown to Wisner Stadium for the 7 p.m. opening of festivities there.

A motorcade will set out from the Pontiac Mall at 6, then join with the rest of the parade at Pike and Saginaw at 6:30.

WORK PRAISED

Marion praised the community service work done by the Firefighters' Association—work financed by proceeds from the event.

"One example is the invalid sticker program, wherein shut-ins have stickers placed on their front doors and bedroom windows to indicate an evacuation problem in case of a fire.

★ ★ ★

"That could save a lot of lives," he said.

Festival events will include fire prevention demonstrations, featuring a propane gas tower, a tug-of-war, a fireworks demonstration, ladder and hose drills and an appearance by Linda Howe, Miss Oakland County of 1968.

'Russian Buildup Dwarfing NATO'

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say intelligence reports indicate the Soviet Union has built up its army in Eastern Europe to more than 50 divisions, about twice the number maintained by the West on the other side of the Iron Curtain.

* * *

While the Soviet divisions are said to be in a very high state of readiness, some NATO divisions are below strength and lacking in sustained logistics support, by U.S. standards.

* * *

U.S. intelligence reports, charting Soviet moves connected with the occupation of Czechoslovakia, have sparked deep concern that the balance of power in Eastern and Central Europe has shifted against the West.

Officials stress they are talking about the threat in terms of Soviet capability rather than any Russian intent to attack.

FORCE BEFORE INVASION

Before the Russians led a Warsaw Pact invasion of Czechoslovakia on Aug. 20, the Soviet Union maintained 20 divisions in East Germany, two in Poland and four in Hungary.

NATO nations arrayed a total of 24 divisions in and near West Germany. France, no longer part of NATO, nonetheless contributed to western military strength with two divisions in West Germany.

* * *

While the figures vary from nation to nation, a Soviet division contains about 10,000 men. An American division has about 15,000 men, exclusive of support troops.

According to the latest U.S. intelligence analysis, Russia now has 17 divisions in Czechoslovakia where there were none before the invasion.

IN STRIKING DISTANCE

Six of these divisions are deployed within striking distance of the Czech-West German border, which until Soviet occupation was manned only by Czech guards.

* * *

U.S. military authorities say the Russians are now astride a main avenue of approach to such important German cities as Munich and Nuremberg.

CLEARING TRACKS—Workers last night and today spent several hours clearing Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks after nine cars of a 125-car freight train derailed near South Saginaw Street. Nobody was injured, and officials have not been able to estimate the damage.

'Pot' Grew Wild in Area Field

It could have been a field day for narcotic addicts if the police hadn't showed up first.

But since they did, bushels of marijuana growing wild in a 15-by-20-foot field in Commerce Township went up in smoke.

* * *

Police from Wolverine Lake and detectives from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department first learned of the weed from a passing motorist.

He told them he had driven by the vacant lot on South Commerce Road near Glengary several times before he decided to report his suspicions to police

SAMPLE TESTED

Authorities yesterday sent a sample of the weed to East Lansing where technicians in the Michigan State Police Crime Lab confirmed that the hemp was marijuana.

Police said that the marijuana had never been cultivated.

* * *

And understandably so, police added, since it was growing on right-of-way property owned by the Michigan State Highway Department.

Cycle-Helmet Controversy 'May Cut U.S. Road Aid'

During the short period that helmets were mandatory, statistics revealed that there was a marked decrease in motorcycle fatalities, Anderson said.

REVERSAL

"Now its starting to go back the other way.

"This strong opposition against helmets could work against motorcyclists," Anderson said.

* * *

If the death rate continues there may be a public clamor for strong legislation that might even lead to removing motorcycles from the road, according to Anderson.

* * *

"Something like this might happen through 'panic' legislation, speeded through the House without much thought given to the repercussions," he said.

EX-CYLE POLICEMAN

"This would be a sad situation," said Anderson, himself a former motorcycle policeman in Pontiac.

Anderson said he feels the criticism leveled at him because of his legislation has been unfair.

* * *

"All I'm doing is trying to make motorcycling safer."

Trains on Time Despite Mishap

Trains are still running on schedule today through Pontiac despite last night's nine-car derailment of a 125-car Grand Trunk Western freight train between Franklin Road and South Paddock.

Nobody was hurt when the train was forced to apply emergency brakes at about 8:55 p.m. because an auto was stopped on the tracks. When the brakes were applied, several cars buckled and nine jumped the tracks. Grand Trunk Western officials said today.

Tracks were cleared so that today's trains could run on schedule, though.

The freight was on a scheduled run from Detroit to Durand. Railway officials this morning could not estimate damages caused by the mishap, but said at least two of the derailed cars might have to be scrapped. Damage was also done to about 350 feet of track.

AUTO VANISHED

The auto that apparently caused the derailment could not be located after the mishap. Officials theorize the driver fled in his auto when he saw the oncoming train.

Pontiac police dispatched 10 patrolmen to the scene to direct a traffic jam that was caused by the derailment. Officers said traffic was backed up for miles and the jam-up lasted for several hours. Railworkers were still working this morning to clear the portion of wreckage between Saginaw and Paddock, according to Yardmaster Lee Marino.

Warehouse Picketed

Liquor Drought Looms in Area

Oakland County's liquor supply could dry up in a few weeks if picketing continues at the State Liquor Control Commission warehouse serving the area.

About 50 employes at the Lincoln Park facility have walked off the job. Their union is the Federation of State County and Municipal Employes, but the Teamsters, who drive the delivery trucks, are not crossing the picket line.

* * *

The warehouse is the supply source for Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Lapeer, St. Clair, Monroe and Washtenaw counties.

Gordon Ritchie, director of the warehouse, told The Press today that "panic buying" has already occurred. He said some brands are expected to be gone sometime next week with most popular brands probably disappearing after two weeks, if the picketing continues.

LANSING NEAREST

The nearest state warehouse is in Lansing and it is not affected.

The labor dispute reportedly involves wages, working conditions and the firing of some personnel. Ritchie said he felt the dispute would be "settled soon." It began Sept. 5.

TRANSPORTATION STUDY

The board also laid the groundwork for establishing a task force to study transportation problems in Pontiac and the surrounding area.

Noting that Pontiac has only 6½ months before it could lose its bus service, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., chairman of PAPC, said: "Transportation is a problem that is no longer just a city problem, but one that the county and school people should concern themselves with."

Staff members will return later with recommendations on how the transportation group should proceed.

The formation of "a small task force" to study transportation was recommended by David Doherty, PAPC director.

Romney Will Urge New Bargaining Law for Teachers

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney said today he would urge the Legislature next year to give priority to overhauling the state law governing contract bargaining by teachers and other public employes.

He added he would recommend action to require judges to issue back-to-work orders against teachers, but only in disputes which result in work stoppages before other settlement procedures have been exhausted.

* * *

Part of the problem, he said, is "the dilly-dallying of our courts" in the area of strikes by public employes.

"Courts weren't created to be mediators," Romney said.

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS

Other recommendations Romney will make next year:

- Restructuring of existing fact-finding procedure so that it can begin and end "before the eve of a crisis."
- Publicizing of fact-finding recommendations, including the fact-finder's opinion as to who is responsible for a stalemate.
- For an experimental two-year period, binding arbitration of labor disputes involving firemen and policemen.
- Creation of a public employe relations panel to oversee the fact-finding efforts.
- Setting a specific school opening date in districts where none is established by local agreement, to eliminate possible confusion over whether teachers are actually on strike.

Physicians' Savvy of Drugs Doubted

WASHINGTON (AP) — How much do doctors know about the drugs they prescribe for patients?

A federal task force, asking that question, expressed serious concern yesterday over doctors' ability to prescribe appropriate drugs.

* * *

It said doctors' knowledge is limited by the fact most of their information comes from promotional material from the drug manufacturers. The task force also mentioned lack of time for doctors to make judgments, rapid changes in the drug field and inadequate medical training.

It quoted one pharmacologist as saying "Lack of knowledge and sophistication in the proper use of drugs, is perhaps the greatest deficiency of the average physician today."

* * *

The Task Force on Prescription Drugs made its report to the secretary of health, education and welfare.

Enrollment Down in Pontiac Schools

School enrollment in Pontiac appears to be smaller than expected, preliminary figures released yesterday by Assistant Supt. William J. Lacy indicate.

A total of 23,162 students are enrolled in Pontiac schools as of last Monday, according to Lacy.

* * *

Enrollment has been projected at 24,079 for the fourth Friday of this month, when enrollment figures are submitted for state aid. Last year's official figure was 23,729.

At least two elementary schools are overcrowded, Lacy says. They are Wisner and Alcott schools, a portion of whose pupils were to go to the new elementary school next to Lincoln Junior High School.

* * *

Completion of the school was delayed by the construction strike. It probably will not open this school year because extensive changes in attendance boundary lines would be needed.

RECEIVES CERTIFICATE — Completing a second summer program of the Police Youth Service Corps, in which selected city boys worked with the police department to better understand police operations, was a banquet held last night. City Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr., District 1, (left) presents a certificate of achievement to one of the boys, Robert A. Jones, 14, of 273 Crystal.

City's Police Youth Plan Leaders Say Objectives Are Accomplished

The second Pontiac Police Youth Service Corps summer program, which ended with a banquet last night, has accomplished its primary objective of improving police-community relations, according to program leaders.

Certificates of achievement were awarded to 28 boys who completed the eight-week work experience program in ceremonies at the First Federal Savings of Oakland.

* * *

George Caronis, program coordinator, cited growth on the part of participants as a major result of the youth corps session.

He described growth in respect for individual policemen and for the job of law enforcement collectively, as well as in personal responsibility, in relating to other persons, in self-understanding and in community awareness and identity.

OUTSIDERS POSITIVE

"Our impressions about this program are substantiated by the positive reactions of those outside the program and by the low rate of turnover during the session," said Caronis.

He credited much of the program's success to the efforts of Patrolmen Richard Hayes and Thomas Gracey, group leaders.

* * *

City Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr., District 1, who passed out the boys' certificates, pointed to the program's role in "building bridges to better police-community relations by the spirit of the program."

ECHO OF THE GT — The 1969 Thunderbird will reflect much of the feeling of the GT with minor revisions. The two-door Landau (pictured) has omitted the rear quarter windows while all models have included hidden back-up lights in the center rear grille. Highlighting optional features is an all-metal, electrically powered sun roof. When closed, the panel matches the roof lines and seals tightly to keep out air and water. Two-door hardtops, two-door Landaus and four-door Landaus are available.

Thunderbird Retains GT Look

Ford Motor Co.'s 1969 Thunderbird has retained much of the GT-car look of its predecessors with minor design changes such as a new grille, tail lamp and rear roof pillar.

Retractable doors conceal the headlamps within the grille during the day. The low front bumper wraps around and into the front fenders.

A center rear grille, containing hidden back-up lights, divides the taillamps while the wide rear roof pillars on the two-door Landau replace the rear quarter windows.

The Thunderbird will be featurde in the showrooms of area dealers including: Harold Turner, 464 S. Woodward, Birmingham; Don Spiker Ford, 130 S. Milford, John McAuliffe Ford, 630 Oakland, Pontiac; Troy Motors, 777 John R, Avon Township; Shuman Ford Sales, 1111 S. Commerce, Commerce Township; Flannery Ford, 5806 Dixie, Waterford Township; and Jack Long Ford, 215 Main, Rochester.

Thunderbird is offered in three models—a two-door hardtop, two-door Landau, and the four-door Landau.

Through changes in the car's suspension system a height reduction to 52.2 inches was made possible for the two-door Landau and hardtop models. Thunderbird's length is 206.9 inches.

MATTHEW

NEW YORK (AP) — Matthew Marcus finished grade school in five years, high school in two and yesterday at the age of 12, he started life as a freshman at City College.

"I expect the students and professors to stare and ask me questions at first," said Matthew, five feet tall and freckle-faced. "But after a while I hope they will accept me for what I know, in spite of my age."

* * *

Matthew, who loves sailing his engineer father's 26-foot boat and has an extraordinary aptitude for science and mathematics, is believed to be the youngest student to enroll at City College in this century.

His brother, Daniel, 18, a student at the Stevenson School in Manhattan, taught him to read at 4. By the fifth grade of elementary school in Greenburgh, Westchester County, his genius was recognized and he was sent on to Woodland High School in Hartsdale.

EXPERTS AGREED

Dr. Jack Novick, the school psychiatrist, suggested college after two years at Woodland. Prof. Harry Lustig, City College physics chairman, tutored Matthew Saturday mornings this summer and agreed.

Matthew, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Marcus of White Plains, will be studying advanced calculus, honors courses in English and physics, his probable major, and conducting independent chemistry research under a selected-students program for talented undergraduates.

* * *

Mrs. Marcus, a housewife, realizes the big drawback to her son's genius. "People occasionally tend to forget he's still 12 years old," she said. "If he does something 12 years oldish, then they're astonished and surprised."

The only failing grade Matthew has ever received were in gym. "He could never remember his sneakers," his mother said.

Jackie's Ex-Secretary Discusses Happy Book

NEW YORK (AP) — "Nothing was without controversy. The kitchen could not even make a peanut butter sandwich without making someone upset."

Letitia Baldrige, former social secretary to Mrs. John F. Kennedy, made this observation about her White House job in a happy autobiography, "Of Diamonds and Diplomats," to be published by Houghton Mufflin Monday.

Books relating to Mrs. Kennedy are not without controversy. Yet Miss Baldrige, now a housewife, mother and director of her own Chicago public relations firm, is confident the former first lady will have no objection to this one.

"She knows I would not be indiscreet," said Miss Baldrige.

Some snippets, recounted by Miss Baldrige:

In her first and last news conference in Washington the Miami-born, Omaha-bred, Farmington-and-Vassar-educated former secretary to Clare Boothe Luce too fliply described her new boss as "a woman who has everything, including the President of the United States."

• Deprecatingly referred to club women as "those vast hordes of females;

• Unwittingly jarred the traditionalists by giving the impoession that Mrs. Kennedy would hang modern art in the White House;

• Haplessly did nothing to dispel a notion among the press that a feud existed between Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower and the new first lady.

CATASTROPHIES

Soothed by the president's father Ambassador Joseph Kennedy, consoled by her own father, a veteran Republican congressman, and encouraged by Mrs. Kennedy, Miss Baldrige says she and her distaff staff nevertheless:

• Angered the Women's Christian Temperance Union by setting up a bar at the first White House party, not realizing they were breaking a dry tradition and on Sunday at that.

• Insulted a Catholic priest by mistakenly sending a form letter congratulating him on the birth of a son.

• Panicked the American Embassy in India by sending ahead of Mrs. Kennedy's visit standard cowhide framed photos to the land of the sacred cow. Silver replacements were purchased in Rome in the nick of time.

Workmen Dismantle Its Rides

Walled Lake Park Is Closed

By DIANNE DUROCHER

The Flying Dragon sleeps. A strange quiet has replaced the once-constant noise of shuffling crowds, organ music and excited screams that once hung over the Walled Lake Amusement Park.

Some sound does remain, but it is the busy clanging, hammering and shouting of workmen dismantling the equipment in the famed park adjacent to the lake of the same name.

* * *

The dragon was the giant roller coaster, a test of a small child's stomach and a father's courage.

* * *

Sunday the park ended its regular season with a Detroit Police Officer's Association Picnic, and Monday closed forever, after 40 years of operation.

'HARD TO BELIEVE'

"It's hard to believe; I probably won't come to the full realizaton until next spring," said Ronald Hood, park caretaker for about the last 13 years.

Park Supt. John Hamlet echoed Hood's sentiments, adding, "The prospect of closing has been discussed all summer as negotiations to buy the grounds or renew the lease were unsuccessful."

* * *

The park's owners, the Wagner Brothers of Detroit, also own and operate two other amusement parks in the Detroit area. They were unable to secure a satisfactory lease or purchase agreement for the land and are removing their equipment.

The huge roller coaster almost encircles the park. It was brought there in the spring of 1928 and first operated by Fred Pierce in 1929. Pierce later installed other forms of entertainment.

CARS SIT MOTIONLESS

Now the sign portraying the fierce green flying dragon hangs above the empty entrance to the roller coaster, and the cars sit motionless, surrounded by the sprawling track.

Not far from the roller coaster ride, the rocket ships, Ferris wheel and tilt-a-whirl sit motionless in the sunshine. Their motors are greased and well-kept from recent use.

Hamlet said the park has been a popular recreation spot over the years, pointing to pictures in a scrapbook kept in the office. A shot of the park in 1930 shows the parking lot jammed with antiquated black cars. In another picture, men and women dressed like Harold Lloyd and Jean Harlow strolled about the grounds.

He said that the park has always scheduled commercial picnics. Church, school union and fraternal organizations held picnics there, he said.

SITE FOR SALE

After the equipment is removed, the land will probably be put up for sale by the owners, Hamlet said.

Next spring, the fence surrounding what's left of Walled Lake Amusement Park probably will surround a vacant lot.

New Station Telecasts Sunday

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — A new television station, Channel 62, WXON-TV, located here, will begin its regular broadcasting Sunday at 3 p.m. The station will telecast daily beginning at 3:30 p.m.

The ultrahigh frequency (UHF) station will serve southeastern Michigan. It was issued the last operating permit for the Detroit area.

* * *

Installation of a 790-foot transmitting tower was completed last week, and a test has been run as a final check on equipment, said Ron St. Charles, program director.

WXON-TV programming will be included in Pontiac Press listings, starting tomorrow.

Plans for Clarkston School HQ Go On

CLARKSTON—The board of education will proceed with plans for construction of a new administration building, proposed for a site on Clarkston-Orion Road.

Rough drawings, bearing no price tags, have been presented to the board.

In other business the board voted to obtain prices on new incinerators for Andersonville, Clarkston Elementary, Sashabaw Elementary and Clarkston Middle Schools.

A long-term solution to the paving problem at Clarkston Senior High School is under study. The parking lot has required repair regularly since its construction.

Romeo Schools Set Dec. 9 Vote on 4-Mill Issue

ROMEO — Faced with a projected $119,000 deficit by June 1969, the board of education has called for a special election Dec. 9 for renewal of a four-mill school operating tax.

Proposed expenses in this year's budget exceed receipts by $66,000, say school officials This is in addition to a $53,000 deficit at the end of the last school year.

* * *

School Supt. T. C. Filppula, who was directed by the board at a recent meeting to prepre a list of cuts to provide a balanced budget, said the operating deficit for this year is due mainly to increases in teacher's salaries and staff additions.

Principals are still nelotiating contracts, and they will meet with the school board Oct. 7 to discuss the board's proposals.

HEARING OCT. 7

Also on Oct. 7, the board will hold a public hearing to discuss the proposed 1968-69 operating budget.

In other recent business, the board reported it is looking for a site for a new 21-room elementary school, to be built with revenue from a $2,300,000 bond issue approved by voters June 10.

* * *

The board voted to permit senior citizens in the school district free admission to all school functions.

In other action, the board approved a plan for complete hospitalization coverage for school employes not covered by contracts.

8 PCT. INCREASE

Supt. Filppula announced that an unofficial count of students taken last Friday showed system enrollment at 3,552, approximately an eight per cent increase over last year.

Theater Group in Utica Adds 'Odd Couple'

UTICA — The Utica Community Schools Summer Musical Theatre has added a new play, "The Odd Couple," to its repertoire. Its presentation tonight, tomorrow and Sunday at the Utica Community High School auditorium, 47255 Shelby, will mark the play's first production in the Detorit area by an amateur cast.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1 for students at the door.

* * *

Joseph Rivard, director of community education, said the success of three previous plays already performed by the Summer Musical Theatre caused the addition of the "The Odd Couple" to the season's list.

A fifth play, "Roar of the Greasepaint," will be performed Oct. 25-26 and Nov. 1-2.

County Gets Look at Plan for Complex

Plans for a multimillion-dollar apartment complex in West Bloomfield Township were shown yesterday to the coordinating, zoning and planning committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

The 152-acre development on the northeast corner of 14 Mile and Farmington Road would contain over 60 multiple dwelling buildings for a total 1,200 housing units.

* * *

The proposed development would have clusters of apartments, arranged in circles, eight to a circle, and would have a nine-hole golf course running between groups of buildings.

Proposed by Herman Frankel of Birmingham Parks Inc., 3171 Bloomfield Shore, West Bloomfield Township, the complex would also contain a small shopping center and an adjacent large single-family development.

$200 MONTHLY RENT

It was reported to the committee that rents would be over $200 monthly per unit. The development firm sought approval for rezoning for the complex.

The committee, whose function is to be certain rezoning requests in county communities conform to master planning and legal requirements, recommended approval of the rezoning.

* * *

On formerly residential land, both multiple-dwelling and small areas of commercial zoning were asked. Approval had already been obtained from the township's planning authority.

A final decision will be rendered by the township board of trustees.

County OKs Highland Plan for Multiple-Dwelling Units

A plan to build multiple - dwelling units in Highland Township cleared the coordinating, zoning and planning committee of the County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

The proposed development is for 10 acres owned by William Mehlorn on the east side of Ridge between Highland and Wardlow. About 100 units are proposed.

* * *

The township reportedly does not now have any multiple - dwelling developments, though a few others are in the planning stage.

A rezoning of the land from residential to commercial is being asked. The township zoning regulations do not contain a multiple-dwelling classification. Committee member Mrs. Jean McDonnell of Southfield cast the single "no" vote to the proposal, basing her objection on the need for the township to place multiple-dwellings in its code.

3-ACRE SITE OK'd

Also in Highland Township, the committee gave its approval to rezoning a three-acre parcel on M59 east of Duck Lake Road containing a large empty building. It will be rezoned from commercial to manufacturing if final approval is granted by the township board. Renovating the structure and installation of a small-parts factory is reportedly planned for the site.

Rezoning to allow a gas station on Milford south of Lone Tree also met approval.

For Springfield Township an amendment to the zoning ordinance to allow a single residence on property with access only by private road met committee approval.

The committee agreed with the Springfield Township planning board in disapproving of rezoning for a proposed 64-acre subdivision. The request was for land north of Holcomb near Ellis, owned by Robert McGinnis.

The land is zoned agricultural - residental and requires 10-acre lots. If rezoned it could have allowed a subdivision with about three homes per acre

Commercial zoning for a four-acre parcel on Dixie just north of I-75 met committee approval. The township planners opposed the rezoning for Kenneth Gottschall of 8739 Dixie on the basis he the group he wishes to rezone the land had submitted no development plan. He told the group he wishes to rezone the land before selling. The township trustees will now get the issue.

For Bloomfield Township approval was recommended for a 6.5-acre parcel at Inkster north of 15 Mile to be rezoned for office buildings.

Developers seek to build a large office complex at the site which has been zoned residential. Township planners had already approved the move.

Farmers to Elect Officers of ASCS

Michigan Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Service elections will be conducted in Michigan next week, according to Frank Light, state committee chairman.

Farmers have been notified by their local ASCS offices of the time, date and place of the elections, Light said.

Community committeemen will be elected, who in turn will be asked to elect farmers to fill vacancies on the county committee.

Historic Troy House Moved

TROY — The historic Caswell House was moved yesterday from the site it had occupied for 136 years.

* * *

More than 2½ years after the plan was originally suggested, the old home was saved. When the house was sold in 1966 residents and city officials united to preserve it as a historic landmark and move it to the old city hall site at Wattles and Livernois.

* * *

Built by Solomon Caswell, who came to Troy in 1824, the impressive monument to Greek revival architecture has stood on Adams north of Big Beaver since 1832.

Severed from its foundation, the house began its four-mile journey to its new site yesterday.

C. A. Johnson & Son Inc. of Detroit handled the operation. Traffic was stopped on Big Beaver, Coolidge and Wattles so that the house could be pulled off its trailer at about 10 miles per hour.

Traffic lights at two intersections slowed the procedure, but the signals were raised by a telescoping "giraffe" provided by Detroit Edison.

The house was given to the city by the North Hills Christian Reformed Church with the stipulation that it be moved. The church bought the site from John Angelosanto, who was given the house in the will of the original builder's grandson, Will Caswell.

In 1966 the Caswell Fund Committee, appointed by the Troy Historical Commission, requested that the Troy Historical Society act as the collecting agent for funds to save the old home.

$8,400 RAISED

Through various fund raising activities and direct appeals to individuals and organizations, $8,400 was raised to save Caswell House.

In 1967 the City Commission appropriated $15,000 toward a new foundation and renovation of the house, with the understanding that the money raised by the historical society would be used to move it.

* * *

Future plans call for another Caswell House Fund, to decorate and furnish the home. Historical Society members hope to have at least one room completed by 1971.

Shelby Planners Advise Rezoning

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — After making a 42-day circuit through four county and township agencies, a rezoning request for the southeast corner of 25 Mile and Mound was referred back to the township Board. The referral by the Township Planning Commission at a recent meeting carries recommendations for final approval of the zoning.

Petitioner Dr. A. Morgenthaler made his request July 31 to the Township Board for rezoning from professional building classification to commercial zoning, in order to allow him to build a gasoline station on the corner, and a convalescent home next to it.

* * *

The Shelby Township Planning Commission recommended approval for the convalescent home, but recommended denial of the gas station.

The question was then sent to the Macomb County Board of Supervisors, coordinating zoning committee, which recommended approval for the entire rezoning and then sent it back to the township board, which, in turn, referred it again to the planning commission.

This time the commission recommended approval for the gasoline station as well as the convalescent home.

The final decision will be made at the township board meeting next Tuesday.

In other recent action, the planning commission has recommended final approval for the 94-lot Shropshire Downs Subdivision, north of 23 Mile between Hayes and Schoenherr. The land is owned by Odilon Houtekier, a trustee on the township board of supervisors.

U.S. Lifts Veil of Secrecy on Pueblo Mission, Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The USS Pueblo was told to snoop on Soviet ships passing near Japan as a follow-up to her electronic surveillance of North Korea, a U.S. document shows.

The intelligence ship was supposed to visually inspect and photograph soviet naval vessels, openly, while returning to the U.S. base at Sasebo, Japan.

★ ★ ★

The additional mission was forestalled when the North Koreans captured the Pueblo—in North Korean territorial waters, they claim—on Jan. 23, four days before she would have headed for Sasebo.

The secondary snooping job was disclosed for the first time Thursday as the U.S. government broke out of secrecy a Jan. 5, 1968, order to refute a new North Korean allegation.

3-MILE LIMIT

The North Korean radio said the Pueblo was authorized to go as near as three miles from the North Korean coast, under a Feb. 28, 1966, order. The United States recognizes a three-mile limit. North Korea claims 12.

The State Department acknowledged such an order went out to "a great many" Navy vessels operating near foreign shores, but this was superseded in the case of the Pueblo by a specific instruction Jan. 5, 1968.

★ ★ ★

That message, couched in cryptic, often garbled military language, set out general details for the Pueblo's North Korea spy assignment, codenamed "Ichthyic One."

A key passage, so far as the U.S. government's effort to refute the North Korean claim is concerned, said:

"CPA (closest point of approach) to Korcom (Communist Korea)-Soviet Land Mass-Offshore islands will be thirteen NM (nautical miles).

'HE ADHERED'

Said State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey:

"We continue to have no reason to believe that the captain of the Pueblo did not adhere to the 13-mile restriction in his sailing order."

★ ★ ★

The instruction told Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, skipper of the Pueblo, to leave Sasebo about Jan. 8, proceed through the Tsushima Straits and up the Korean coast to operational areas designated Mars, Venus and Pluto.

★ ★ ★

These were Sea of Japan zones delineated on a north-south basis by the 39th to the 42nd parallels.

The Pueblo, according to the publicly released copy of the order, was to operate from 13 miles offshore to 60 miles out between the 39th and 42nd parallels.

20-MILE GUIDELINE

Under these guidelines she would have been permitted to go to within about 20 miles of Soviet territory adjacent to northern North Korea.

On the way she was to "attempt to avoid detection by Soviet Naval units."

Upon reaching the 39th parallel the Pueblo could move about the Mars, Pluto and Venus operational areas "concentrating efforts in areas which appear most lucrative."

This was not otherwise defined, but officials have acknowledged the ship was electronically eavesdropping on North Korean shore transmissions, among other things

RADIO SILENCE

On Jan. 27 the Pueblo was to leave the operational areas "and if not under surveillance, maintain strict emcom (emissions control, or radio silence)" while proceeding south along the Korean coast to the Tsushima Straits.

There, the ship was to "intercept and conduct surveillance" of Soviet naval units passing through the area.

★ ★ ★

Asked what this meant, a Pentagon spokesman said: "Just take a look at them. Follow them around. See what they're doing."

Apparently the Soviet surveillance would not have been covert.

DAILY REPORT

The Pueblo was told that "upon establishing firm contact with Soviet naval units, break emcom (radio silence) and transmit daily sitrep (situation report).

"Operate at least five hundred yards from Soviet units except to close briefly to 200-yards as necessary for visual-photo coverage," the message stated.

"Do not interfere with Soviet exercises but maintain a position on the periphery for observation purposes."

★ ★ ★

The Pueblo was to wait around for passing Soviet vessels no more than 24 hours before heading southward to arrive at Sasebo by Feb. 4.

The final somewhat garbled paragraph said: "Injsolled (installed) defensive armanent armament should be stowed or covered as such a mannernas (manner as) to not elicit unusual interest from surveying-surveyed untis. Employ only in cases where threat to survival is obvious."

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon says the Pueblo's outboard guns remained covered when she was surrounded by North Korean patrol craft which hauled her into Wonsan Jan. 23.

Streets Near Home Shown Bad for Child

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — If a school child is hit by a car or truck, the accident is most likely to occur within a few blocks of the student's home, a 10-year study by the Colorado Highway Department has shown.

Almost all the young pedestrians are injured, the study indicated. The injury is likely to be serious but seldom fatal, the report indicated.

★ ★

Statistics indicate that right-of-way and signal violations by the youngsters occur twice as frequently as those by drivers

Traffic signals are no panacea, the report said, because a "significant number" of accidents result from children running into the road from between parked cars.

The report was compiled from accident statistics gathered from the 8,900 miles of state highways, where the annual average was 29 pupil-vehicle accidents. There were 11 fatalities among the school-age group charged to the state highway system during the 10 years.

Cooperation Vital to Crime Reduction

A recent report on the location of crime in Pontiac once again brings home the necessity of citizen cooperation if crime is to be reduced.

The report prepared by Pontiac police for Oakland County Prosecutor S. JEROME BRONSON indicated that almost two-thirds of the violent crime in the City is committed in the predominantly Negro area on the south side of the City.

★ ★ ★

It also indicated that the heaviest concentration of police efforts is in the same area. Despite this heavy police effort, crime is exceedingly high there.

The report to BRONSON followed a charge by City Commissioner WARREN T. FOWLER that police were afraid to patrol the Negro areas of the City.

BRONSON indicated that the number of police is limited, and it is impossible to reduce the high amount of crime by police action alone. He said it is up to the residents of these sections to cooperate with law enforcement officers if crime is to be curtailed.

Several months ago a simiiliar opinion was voiced here by LOUIS A. RADELET, director of the National Center on Police and Community Relations at Michigan State University.

Prof. RADELET was speaking on the subject of how relations between the police and minority groups can be improved. He said that more police is not the answer, that relations will only improve when the residents and businessmen of the Negro community will cooperate fully with police to curtail the crime which haunts the area.

★ ★ ★

We agree. But cooperation with the police is needed throughout the City, not just in the high crime areas.

Urge Coho Fishermen to Observe Precautions

It's that time of year again when a relatively new phenomenon — Coho fever — sweeps many Michigan fishermen to the waters of Lake Michigan. For some, as we have seen in the past and are again seeing this year, the price of a Coho Salmon is death.

This is such a needless loss of life, and one that could be avoided by some common sense safety precautions.

★ ★ ★

We know that hundreds of fishermen venture out each year into Lake Michigan with boats far too small for those waters. This is no normal lake, as any native of the Lake Michigan shoreline can tell you. Storms often come up rapidly across the lake, changing it from a placid body of water to a death-dealing monster.

★ ★ ★

Anyone using anything less than an 18-foot boat is foolish. Even larger boats are tossed about like match sticks by Lake Michigan's wind-whipped waves.

We know that hundreds of fishermen pay no heed to weather warnings issued by the U.S. Coast Guard. This, too, is foolish. The Coast Guard has set up a very efficient system of warning fishermen in advance when conditions spell the probability of rough waters.

Yet, hundreds of fishermen ignore these warnings.

★ ★ ★

We urge sportsmen in this area who plan a northward trek in search of Coho to approach the outing with full knowledge that they may not be able to fish Lake Michigan's waters. If the weather is bad, it is best to remain grounded.

Waiting until next year is not as bad as one might think. It will be a whole new ballgame in August and September of 1969. That's when the first runs of adult Coho are expected along the Lake Huron shoreline.

And Lake Huron should provide much safer fishing than the unpredictable waters of Lake Michigan.

Negroes Score New Victories in Sports World

When ARTHUR ASHE JR. won the men's singles crown in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships Sept. 9, he represented another big step forward for the American Negro in the sports world.

Negroes are not new to sports—there are many Negro stars in baseball, football, basketball and track—but Ashe's victory was a major breakthrough in the sport of tennis.

He became the first Negro to win the U.S. Open crown.

★ ★ ★

Another sport—golf—could be the scene for the next major breakthrough for Negro athletes. Last year Negro golf pro CHARLES SIFFORD won the Hartford Open. That victory helped boost his 1967 earnings to more than $47,000.

Earlier this summer another Negro golfer, LEE ELDER, gave JACK NICKLAUS a real run for his money in a thrilling playoff in a major tournament.

★ ★ ★

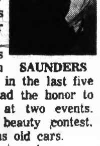
The play of Asche, Sifford and Elder are notable achievements for Negroes in sports where the Negro is a fairly recent competitor.

'Judge' Compares Contest Models

By DICK SAUNDERS

"Here come da judge," my friends whisper when I pass.

"Here come our ever-lovin' judge-type daddy," my kids chortle when I approach.



SAUNDERS

"Lecherous old man," my wife snorts when I enter a room.

All this stems from the fact that in the last five weeks I've had the honor to be a judge at two events. One was a beauty contest. The other was old cars.

★ ★ ★

With the girls I'm batting a thousand. With the cars I'm batting .500.

The first event was the Romeo Peach Queen Contest Aug. 9. The second was the 18th Annual Old Car Festival at Greenfield Village in Dearborn last weekend, where I served with a host of dignitaries as an honorary judge.

There are some procedural differences between judging girls and old cars. In other words, it's not what you look at but how you look at it.

Take bodies for example. They must be authentic and well maintained.

★ ★ ★

To judge the authenticity of a 1911 Buick Touring car takes considerable knowledge of automotive history—something which I do not have. Fortunately, the cars are well screened by experts beforehand, and honorary judges get only the best from which to select grand champions.

Beauty contests are a little different. Judging the authenticity of a 36-22-35 blonde comes much more naturally. You just watch for jiggles and uneven surfaces.

There's also a difference in jargon around the judging table.

★ ★ ★

For example, in judging old cars one might turn to a fellow judge and say, "Get a load of the bumper design on No. 12 over there."

You wouldn't be caught dead whispering something like that at a beauty contest.

Then, too, there's interior design. That's what they call it in old car contests. In beauty contests they call it personality or, sometimes, wholesomeness.

Dress is another important item. In old car contests, you'd call it a paint and polishing job. I can think of at least two potential grand champions last weekend that dropped by the wayside because of flaws in their paint jobs.

★ ★ ★

In beauty contests dress is something entirely different. I have yet to judge one of these where body painting plays a key role (but it would be a novel experience).

Yet another difference, of sorts, is locomotion. With antique cars you have two distinct types: internal combustion and steamers.

★ ★ ★

Come to think of it, I know some women who fall into both classes.

One final observation is that in antique car contests, the big, flashy cars most often win the top prizes. However, among beauty contestants, the big ones are at a disadvantage.

The big girls are losers. Well, almost always. There are exceptions. Like my wife. She's a six footer and look what she won.

Me. The lecherous old judge. Case dismissed.

Today's Odd Ball!

David Lawrence Says:

Campaign Has Odd Spectacle

WASHINGTON — A strange spectacle in American political history is being witnessed today in the presidential campaign.

LAWRENCE

Although the President of the United States heads a Democratic administration, and the platform adopted by the Democratic party at the recent convention supports his policies in Vietnam, a demand is being made by both the Democratic presidential and vice-presidential nominees to "end the war" by taking what are called "calculated risks."

★ ★ ★

The vice-presidential candidate, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, has defined the differences between himself and the administration by arguing that, while everybody is agreed that the war "must be settled not by military force but by negotiated settlement," the United States must "take some risk to end the war."

He declared that it is on this point he begins to "part company" with the administration on Vietnam policy.

ALREADY CHANGED

He sought to justify his attitude by claiming that the administration has already changed its position as a result of the dissent which has been expressed in America.

Also, Mr. Humphrey has been saying that he could have accepted the minority proposal for the Democratic platform calling for an "unconditional" halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Apparently in an effort to deal with such varying comments, President Johnson in a speech before the American Legion convention at New Orleans Tuesday, made the following declaration:

"Just a few days ago, I went to the field with a cable and asked the commander of our troops in South Vietnam, one of the ablest commanders ever to wear a uniform, Gen. Abrams, to give me his viewpoint on what would happen if I should order him to carry out the suggestion that had been made by some of our enemies abroad and some of our friends at home to stop the bombing.

HIS REPLY

"His reply was simply this: If you should require me to stop the bombing of North Vietnam, you would permit the enemy to increase his capability severalfold in 10 days, and if he did, I would be forced to withdraw our men from that area because they could no longer stand their ground.

"I am not going to issue any order like that.

★ ★ ★

"Gen. Abrams nor a single field commander we have has made that recommendation to me. I am not a prophet or a speculator, but I do prophesy that some of these men who recommend it now would not do so if they were there on the DMZ, and could see there what our men face every day and face every night."

Ike's Brother Forgets Spirit of Camp David

NEW YORK — People . . . places . . . politics . . .

Eisenhower is going all out in this campaign Edgar N. Eisenhower, that is. The general's older brother is attempting to knock Sen. Warrren Magnuson, D-Wash., out of his long-held seat on Capitol Hill, on the ground that Maggie "has been the Senate's leading voice encouraging trade with the Communists."

CONSIDINE

Edgar Eisenhower's man is Republican Rep. Jack Metcalf, former U.S. amateur golf champion.

A strong campaigner, Edgar writes:

"We are supplying the following strategic items to the Soviet Union and her Communist allies while American boys are dying in Vietnam:

"Advanced air navigational radar; machine tools used in the fabrication of military equipment; highly sophisticated computers; geodetic instruments critical to improved missile accuracy; important ingredients in the manufacture of rocket fuel (diethyline glycol and nitrocellulose), plus steel, rubber, petroleum, copper, tin, lead, zinc, aluminum —on and on it goes." He adds that Sen. Magnuson is in large part responsible for this.

Some of it dates back to the Spirit of Camp David days, Mr. E.

The timing of the Czech crisis and the ominous warnings it evoked from the White House could not have been better—if that's the word—for the Spanish representatives meeting with their American counterparts to discuss the terms of an extension of the U.S. bases pacts.

The Spanish had been pushing for a thorough updating of their military gear. Our side was reluctant to agree to some of their requests, notably in the more sophisticated types of tactical missiles. We felt we had done enough by supplying their air force with F104s (which they fly better than the Germans do).

But when the Russians and their Warsaw Pact allies cracked down on the faint breath of freedom in Czechoslovakia, the position of Gen. Franco's spokesmen was made easier.

The value of magnificent airstrips, maintenance buildings, a port for Polaris subs and pipelines on the Iberian Peninsula, free of Communist infiltration, was once more put in perspective.

The Spanish will probably get all they want, an inadvertent bonus from their sworn enemies — the Reds.

I recently heard of a protest by so-called hippies. I'm going to be home shortly and I don't like those long-haired guys who want hair as long as a girl's. Long hair belongs to women. Gives Views on Cry of 'Police Brutality'

"Police brutality" has become a byword in the public press, planted there by those who would handcuff our police by civil ordinance and trial boards. Where the Supreme Court left off striking down our protective screen of laws, the effort seems now aimed to inactivate our law enforcement. Who benefits from all this? Surely only those who would change our society.

Parents Should Stand Behind Young People

Our young people rebel because they aren't allowed to live a young person's life. They aren't allowed to stand up for what they believe or voice their opinions on matters that concern them. They are supposed to do as the older people want them to. We have our fads and fashions, let them have theirs. I have met several young, long-haired boys recently and under that long hair found reliable, helpful, considerate young men who respect their elders. I believe parents should stand behind their young people. If they show good behavior, they should be able to have their hair long if it is combed out of their faces during school and working hours. I am behind them all the way and hope others feel as I do.

Discusses Parking Problems on Prall Street

The City has posted "no parking" signs on Prall between Huron and State. Apartment owners are supposed to provide parking for the tenants. Prall has been a street that drivers speed on night and day. Can't the police make more money for the City by ticketing speeders and autos with improper mufflers than by ticketing the tenants? We are constantly awakened during the night by autos speeding and loud mufflers. We wish the police would check this out more often and leave the tenants alone until the owners provide parking. We tenants are not to park on Prall, but high school students were allowed to park all day without being ticketed. Where is justice?

Hospital Costs

Raleigh (N.C.) News Observer

Duke Hospital in Raleigh has raised its charge for a private room from $40 to $52 a day. In these more and more prosperous times that is no longer a great amount to hold in the hand. Still it seems an astronomical sum to hand over for a single day of routine hospital care, even at Duke Hospital.

Of course, no one should doubt that the increase is justified, or that anything except necessity drove Duke trustees to impose it. But because it does break the $50 per day barrier for the first time in North Carolina, it does dramatize conditions being ignored or silently suffered elsewhere.

★ ★ ★

The squeeze is on all hospitals. While few sustain the supportive facilities and services which Duke does, all have felt the effects of rising wages and higher costs of operations.

Nearly all have also felt the effect of increased indigent care. On any day of the week a remarkable sight at big, famous supposedly rich Duke Hospital is the gathering for out-patient care of many whom simple observation suggests are unable to pay for the service rendered them.

★ ★ ★

And when the need is genuine, they are often provided in-patient care with as little concern for their ability to pay. No one should wish it otherwise.

But at Duke and other hospitals, too, paying patients must pay much of the cost of care for charity patients.

And this points up another squeeze little noted; it is on middle income families neither rich enough to readily pay higher hospitals costs nor poor enough to receive free care.

Thus, the most painful financial burden of the hospital care today is heaped on those who are neither rich nor poor.

Rent a Kid

Lexington (Ky.) Leader

Atlanta, Ga., has developed an imaginative new program for youngsters 14 to 18 years old who have little parental supervision and little opportunity for finding full-time summer employment to earn money for food, clothes and school expenses.

The project is called "Rent-A-Kid." Started earlier this summer as a partial joke, the plan to aid underprivileged children in Atlanta's slums with their first work experience has been moderately successful.

So far, the youngsters have performed a wide variety of little odd jobs which range from painting fences and garages to shelling butterbeans and preparing other vegetables for home canning. The children get $1.35 an hour for their labor in addition to the experience of working for what they get.

★ ★ ★

Since some of the children are school dropouts, the program helps many who need help to stay in school and become self-supporting citizens.

RFK Autopsy Photo Blackout Sought

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Friends of the Kennedy family in the California legislature are trying to prevent mass publication of photographs taken during the Robert F. Kennedy autopsy.

About 300 photos were taken during the post-mortem doctors conducted on the slain senator's body in Los Angeles last June. Most or all of them are expected to be introduced at the trial of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, accused of fatally shooting Kennedy just after he proclaimed victory in the June 4 California Democratic presidential primary.

* * *

Gov. Ronald Reagan, a Republican, arranged to put the matter before the current special session of the legislature today. A bill has been drafted.

Dist. Atty. Evelle Younger of Los Angeles said the law permits reproduction of any court evidence, including autopsy photographs, as soon as it becomes part of the court record. Thus anyone could obtain copies of the photos merely by paying a nominal fee to cover the cost of making prints.

FRIENDS FEARFUL

"Persons close to the Kennedy family . . . were fearful that if we make available about 300 photographs taken during the course of the autopsy, some second-rate publisher is going to put all 300 of them in a book or magazine and sell them to the kind of people who respond to that kind of pictures," Younger said.

"Obviously it doesn't serve any legitimate purpose to have that done, so we hope to prevent that."

* * *

He relayed the friends' desires to Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, a long-time political associate of the Kennedy family who was Robert F. Kennedy's presidential campaign chairman in California.

A bill was passed during the regular session of the legislature, which ended Aug. 3, but Reagan vetoed it on grounds it was so broadly written it could hamper medical or scientific research.

SPECIFIC EXEMPTION

The new bill specifically exempts those fields from the proposed ban on reproduction of autopsy photos.

Only Reagan can determine what is considered during the special legislative session.

Younger said the Kennedy family made no attempt to prevent any evidence from being introduced at the trial nor "was it ever suggested to us not to put these pictures in the record."

The district attorney said his first reaction was that "no human being would reproduce those and try to sell them."

LEARNED THE HARD WAY

But he said those close to the Kennedy family who made the request—not identified by Younger—have "learned the hard way to anticipate that the seamier side of human nature will come to the fore."

Romney to Hit Trail and Stump for Nixon

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. George Romney takes to the presidential campaign trail again next week after a six-month absence. This time he'll be lauding Richard M. Nixon instead of knocking him.

The Michigan governor plans to hustle votes for the national Republican ticket in Los Angeles, Sacramento, Salt Lake City and Boston during a five-day, cross-country blitz.

* * *

His wife, Lenore, the governor's closest adviser when he sought the presidency in the snows of New Hampshire, will assist with the handshaking and smiling.

Ever since the trip was announced, hallways and cloakrooms at the State Capitol have been abuzz with speculation that Nixon promised Romney a Cabinet post in return for the governor's active support this fall.

NOT SAYING

Positions frequently mentioned are secretary of Housing and Urban Development, and secretary of commerce. Romney hasn't indicated his preference or even whether he wants a Washington job should Nixon win the White House.

"Anyone would certainly consider it seriously, but I don't know whether I would do it," comments Romney.

* * *

A lot, of course, will depend on Romney's ability to deliver Michigan's 21 electoral votes to Nixon. The state last went for a Republican presidential candidate in 1956.

Romney has said Nixon can win in Michigan but that the feat will not be easy. State Republicans have budgeted $2.5 million for the campaign. They aren't going to be counted out for lack of effort.

CLASSIC EXAMPLE

The Michigan campaign organization is a classic example of Nixon's apparent success in folding all Republican factions within his political embrace.

The Nixon manager here is Creighton D. Holden, who served as Barry Goldwater's regional director four years ago when he carried the Republican standard. Romney, who ignored Goldwater, is chairman of the state campaign committee.

* * *

Last winter, Romney and Nixon were political foes in quest of the GOP nomination. Romney dropped out before the New Hampshire primary but stayed off the former vice president's bandwagon.

K-12 Dispute Hurting Schools

SAGINAW (AP) — Tangled legal proceedings combined with rising interest rates and higher building costs have caused a quarter-million-dollar loss to Swan Valley School District taxpayers.

The problem stems from a suit being considered by the K-12 kindergarten through 12th grade law which led to the formation of this small Saginaw County district in 1966.

* * *

At least one other district in Michigan — Chippewa Hills in Mecosta County — faces problems similar to those here because of litigation initiated in Cass County by a group fighting the K-12 idea.

* * *

School officials in Swan Valley have found they can't get money from $960,000 in bonds voted to construct needed classrooms in the rapidly growing district. Bonding attorneys won't approve payments because of the litigation.

RISING COSTS

The bonds were sold in April 1967 at an average annual interest rate of 3.9551 per cent. Since then, school men say, the rate has jumped one per cent. They also note construction costs have risen due to the building trades strike settlement.

The case which is holding up bond payments was heard by the Appellate Court in January. No decision has been handed down yet.

* * *

"Because of the ridiculous loss of time, this will cost the taxpayers in our school system at least $250,000 or more for increased interest on the bonds when we resell them, plus increased building costs," said school board President Richard Middlebrook in an angry letter of protest to Gov. George Romney.

School officials and board members have made numerous trips to Lansing to push for a decision. Residents of the area put 500 names on petitions urging a decision. Neither action has proven fruitful.

COURTS CRIMINALS?

"I fully realize justice and court decisions, whether for or against us, cannot be rushed; but I also realize that our future generation must be educated," said Middlebrook in the letter to Romney. "I cannot help but wonder if the courts of the state are not the criminals in this case."

A reply from the governor's office recently suggested getting approval of the bonds by attorneys outside Michigan. Supt. Alvin C. Thom said this approach failed in an attempt earlier this year.

* * *

Ronald L. Dzierbicki, Appellate Court clerk, said an opinion would be filed "in the not-too-distant future" but hinted that might not end Swan Valley's problems.

He said suits attacking the K-12 statute "will certainly go on to the Michigan Supreme Court, and even then it is possible for some party to then go into the federal courts."

HIGHER BILL

This means the eventual construction cost-interest rate bill paid by Swan Valley taxpayers could go even higher as inflation and time take their toll.

An $850,000 bond issue was passed by voters in the old Shields District for needed classrooms prior to that district's consolidation into the Swan Valley system. The $960,000 bond proposal then was voted to replace the $850,000 issue for a new elementary school and no addition to the junior high school.

* * *

The nine-room addition was nearly complete when the K-12 law stopped any bond payments. One immediate result was the school board couldn't pay a $380,000 bill it owed to the contractor.

"It's a pitiful thing . . . This man needs the money but there's nothing we can do," said Supt. Thom.

Swan Valley had planned to have the 16-room Robert B. Havens Elementary School completed for use this fall to accommodate an expanding enrollment. The K-12 suit made this impossible.

A fire put even more pressure on the rapidly growing district. The two-room Swan Creek Elementary School was destroyed by a late-January blaze. Room had to be found in already overcrowded buildings.

* * *

The school board purchased five portable classrooms at a $51,200 expense and has jammed children into junior high school hallways. Meanwhile the enrollment keeps booming.

In 1963-64, the five districts now a part of the Swan Valley system had a combined enrollment of 1,202. Last fall, 1,736 were registered. The figure is expected to reach 1,830 this year.

"It's darned frustrating . . . if costs keep rising we may have to seek another vote," board president Middlebrook said, referring to a possibility that the $960,000 may not be enough to build the 16 classrooms at Havens Elementary.

Plans for the future also have been set back by the K-12 proceedings. Swan Valley schoolmen have a $7.2 million, five-year building program on the drawing board.

The program calls for a new student high school; a new junior high building; a school administrative center, and additions to two elementary schools.

Students in grades 10, 11 and 12 now attend Saginaw public schools on a tuition basis because the Swan Valley District doesn't have a high school.

It had been hoped a bond election could be held this past June so the five-year program could be started. The K-12 issue nipped the idea in the bud.

Appellate Court Clerk Dzierbicki said the nine judges are doing their best to clear their desks of 2,000 appeals filed this year, one of the highest per-capita volumes in the country.

"The issues involved are not only important and far-reaching in terms of the constitutionality of the K-12 statute, but the number and complexity of these issues are such that even under the most optimum conditions, it would take a considerable amount of time to do a comprehensive analysis and opinion on all of these issues," he said in a letter to State Sen. Robert L. Richardson, Jr., R-Saginaw, who inquired about the situation.

If the K-12 statute is declared unconstitutional, it would appear Swan Valley's complex problems could be even worse.

"If they make the law unconstitutional, it would be like unscrambling an egg," said board president Middlebrook.

Antismoking Film Is His Last

Cancer Victim Made Plea Before He Died

NEW YORK (AP) — "Don't be a loser." That's the message of a dramatic antismoking film left by actor William Talman who died of lung cancer two weeks ago.

Talman, who became television's biggest loser playing the prosecutor on the Perry Mason series, made the one-minute commercial for the American Cancer Society six weeks before his death at age 53.

* * *

A three-pack-a-day cigarette smoker for his entire adult life, Talman says in the film: "Before I die, I want to do what I can do to leave a world free of cancer for my six children."

At the opening of the commercial, which was filmed at the Talman home in Encino, Calif., on July 17, the actor introduces his wife, Peggy, and the children.

WANTS TO WIN

Then the film cuts to a scene of Talman sitting next to a photograph of Raymond Burr, who played Perry Mason. Talman recalls that Burr "used to beat my brains out on TV every week for about 10 years."

"You know, I didn't really mind losing these courtroom battles," the actor says, "but I'm in a battle right now I don't want to lose at all because if I lose it, it means losing my wife and those kids you just met. I've got lung cancer.

* * *

"So take some advice about smoking and losing from someone who's been doing both for years," he continues. "If you haven't smoked — don't start. If you do smoke — quit. Don't be a loser."

Donald S. Hillman, director of TV films and radio for the cancer society, said Talman, who is obviously in pain during the sequence, was under heavy sedation and had received a cobalt treatment in the morning.

SOON A VICTIM

He said Talman volunteered to make the commercial after reading that the society had difficulty in getting actors to appear in antismoking films because they feared cigarette sponsors would not consider them for their commercials.

"We decided to do this film," Hillman said Thursday, "because it presented a unique opportunity for the society to dramatically and realistically portray to the American TV audience the beliefs and feelings of a man soon to be a victim of his own smoking habits.

* * *

"Besides," added Hillman, "Talman is all the more effective because he had previously been established as a loser."

The society said it would distribute the commercial to networks and local stations around the country next week. Spokesmen at the three major networks said they had not yet seen the film and had not decided whether to use it.

Legislator Will Seek Bill to Cut VD in Teens

LANSING (AP)— Legislation aimed at preventing the spread of venereal disease among teen-agers will be introduced next year, Rep. Lucille H. McCollough, D-Dearborn, said Wednesday.

Mrs. McCollough said the bill would be patterned after laws enacted in New Jersey and California.

* * *

"My bill would permit minors to give their own consent to VD therapy and thereby establish a confidential relationship between the physician and patient," she said. "The proposed law will specify that the attending physician would not be required to report the nature of treatment to parents or legal guardians unless other essential factors are encountered."

"My proposed law would permit the carrier of a venereal disease to be treated immediately without fear of embarrassment or family rebuke," she added.

The Midwest area of this country has more tornadoes than any other part of the world.

Texas Charges 13 With Swindling 22 Churches

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Grand jurors indicted two churchmen, a former state securities executive, a former state representative and nine other persons Thursday on federal charges of swindling 22 churches in 12 states of about $5 million.

Those of the 13 who could be reached denied any wrongdoing. Some expressed surprise at the indictments.

They were accused of mail fraud, conspiracy, fraud in the sale of church bonds and interstate transportation of fraudulently obtained bonds.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert Travis said the churches issued the bonds to obtain money for construction of buildings. He said they received only about $180,000 in construction work for securities with face value of $5,154,900, which were issued in 1965.

PAYMENT DEMANDED

Purchasers of the bonds now are demanding payment from the churches, Travis said.

* * *

The system is routine among churches, with some security dealers specializing in sales of the bonds and acting as collection agents for the purchasers.

Those indicted are John B. Walling, Lysl W. McKnight and the Revs. Homer G. and Omer H. Ritchie, all of Fort Worth, Tex.; Carl R. Duncan of Dallas, Tex.; Glenn V. Paden Sr. of Cleburne, Tex.; T.H. Ruth of Denton, Tex.; Bradley Bourland of Austin, Tex.; Delbert M. Sawyers, a former Lubbock, Tex., resident now living in West Germany; Thomas A. Greer Jr. of Dunlap, Tenn.; Horace Taylor of Clarksville, Tenn.; Percy R. Clark of Pine Bluff, Ark.; and Dwight Parks of Waco, Tex.

Travis said the securities and exchange commission and postal inspectors worked on the case eight months.

* * *

U.S. District Judge Leo Brewster set bonds for 12 of the defendants at $1,000. Bond for Sawyers was fixed at $10,000.

Travis identified Sawyers as a former Lubbock car salesman now in West Germany after jumping bail on an appeal bond from a one-year sentence in New Mexico.

* * *

Fourteen of the churches were Churches of Christ, three Baptist, three Christian Scientist and one Assembly of God.

Travis said Paden Construction Co. of Cleburne, owned by Glen Paden, was to do the construction. That company, however, and a firm owned by Walling-World Oil & Gas Corp., are in federal receivership.

ALLEGATIONS DENIED

Walling, a state representative from Wichita Falls, Tex., in 1951-59, said, "I deny any and all of the allegations."

The Rev. Homer Ritchie and his brother Omer are copastors of Fort Worth's First Baptist Church, one of the largest in the state with nearly 5,000 members.

* * *

The Rev. Homer Ritchie said, "I don't know why the government is doing this. It is without basis. Ridiculous."

Duncan commented, "I haven't kept up with it and I don't have an opinion on it. I don't even know what it's all about."

Bourland, an assistant attorney general of Texas in 1950-54 and Texas securities commissioner in 1954-56, said, "It's just extremely difficult for me to understand how they can do this . . . Apparently all the facts were not reported. When they are, it will show that there are no grounds for this action against me."

Travis claimed Paden, a prominent Church of Christ layman, passed on $3,850,000 to Walling and retained the rest.

* * *

McKnight was described by Travis as an intermediary between Paden and Walling.

The grand jury listed nine persons as what it called "coschemers" but they were not indicted.

* * *

The largest amount of the bonds—$3,993,250—was issued by the Mid-City Baptist Church in New Orleans.

'Tolerance Led to Soviet Invasion'

Czech Assembly to Vote on Censorship

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's National Assembly was called into session today to approve a censorship law incorporating instructions issued to newspapers and broadcast stations two weeks ago when Soviet occupation forces began letting them reopen. The maximum penalty provided in the law is suspension of publication for three months.

Soviet bloc sources said the tolerance shown by Czechoslovakia's liberal Communist leaders during the spring and early summer to published and broadcast anti-Russian and anti-Communist opinion was perhaps the most important factor in Moscow's decision to invade the country on Aug. 20.

Party chief Alexander Dubcek began a series of liberal reforms after replacing conservative Antonin Novotny in January and might have proceeded without Russian interference if he had restrained the press and radio, one East European source said.

"Dubcek said he loved the Russians, but he proved that he did not really know them," the informant said.

DUBCEK CENSORED

Dubcek himself was a victim of censorship Thursday night, presumably self-imposed at the urging of his associates and advisers. He had prepared a television speech in which he said he and his colleagues did not want to bring back censorship, that it was a step backward and would be only temporary.

But when the speech was telecast three hours later than scheduled, these remarks had been deleted. One report said Gustav Husak, chief of the Slovak Communist party, persuaded Dubcek to water down his speech.

* * *

Other deletions included statements that there were anti-Communist forces in other Communist countries as well as in Czechoslovakia, and that liberalization will continue even if at a slower pace than before the occupation.

One source said that if the original text had been broadcast, "The Russians would have been back in Prague within five minutes."

TROOP PULLOUT

Most Soviet tanks and armored units pulled out of Prague and other major cities into the countryside early this week, but one local Communist source said: "They could move back into the capital inside less than an hour under any pretext."

Compliance with the censorship instructions has increased in the last few days to the point where newspaper readers have gone back to reading between the lines. The new law re-establishes the office of press censorship, which is to be headed by Josef Vohnout, a pro-Dubcek official.

* * *

The National Assembly also was to take up a law barring opposition political parties. It declares that the organizations now in the Communist-led National Front satisfy the needs of the people.

Another measure raises taxes on wage increases and state enterprises in an effort to meet a deficit already estimated this year at the equivalent of nearly $300 million.

ADC Clothes Plan Is Hit

ST. JOSEPH (UPI) — Some 25 mothers who receive Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) payments for their children paraded around the Berrien County Courthouse Thursday to protest the manner in which the county was providing the children with clothing.

The mothers were demanding they be given cash for the supplemental winter clothing rather than purchase orders. They accused the Berrien County Welfare Department of sending them to used-clothing stores and said they wanted new clothing rather than secondhand garb for their children.

The protest was similar to ones staged in several Michigan cities in the past two weeks. In Ann Arbor, 244 persons, mostly University of Michigan students, were arrested before the welfare department agreed to allot $70 per child for school clothing.

* * *

Similar demonstrations in Flint, Saginaw, and Detroit followed a ruling by Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley that school clothing for welfare children is an "emergency" need to be covered by special appropriations to the county welfare departments.

Stop Burning at Cancelled Vows

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am so burned up right now I could be treated for third degree burns.

Last week, seven girls and I were to be in a big church wedding which never took place. All of us girls had paid for our own gowns, shoes to match, head pieces, and accessories, which came to a nice sum. FOUR days before the wedding the bride changed her mind and called the wedding off!

ABBY I think it's the bride's duty to pay us girls back for the money, we forked out. Only two of the other girls agree with me. What do you think?

BURNED

DEAR BURNED: I think it would be lovely if all the brides who "changed their minds" were able to reimburse the girls for the money they "forked out." Unfortunately, few are. I'm afraid you are out of luck and out of pocket. I don't blame you for being "burned up," but try to cool off before you make an ash of yourself.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, having raised a fine family. They're all over 21 now. Their father has been gone since they were mere babies. I had no financial help, so it has been a struggle.

My husband died in a sanitarium from a form of insanity as a result of a social disease. (I told everyone he had a "stroke" and it affected his brain.)

My children have never questioned their father's illness or death. I have always built him up as a fine man. He was, in a way, but he paid with his life for his indiscretion.

How much should I tell my children? Part of it? Or all of it?

FEELING GUILTY

DEAR FEELING: None of it. I can't think of one good reason for you to now destroy the fine image your children have of their father. In this case your silence is more golden than "guilt."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Aunt Lucy was widowed, and being up in years she didn't have much to do. She had always enjoyed writing, mostly poems and short stories. I work for a newspaper so she let me read her "collection," and while they were sweet, they had no literary style or special value. But Lucy's friends thought they were "wonderful" and urged her to find a publisher.

All the legitimate publishers she sent her stuff to, sent it back immediately. But Lucy kept trying, and she finally found a "publisher."

For $2,000 they promised to publish her "masterpieces of literature" and practically guaranteed her a best seller with TV and radio interviews and autograph parties in all the major cities, etc.

I told Aunt Lucy not to send them $2,000, which she could ill afford, but she did anyway.

* * *

A few months later, she was delivered 50 copies of her "book," which she was asked to distribute to book stores, newspapers, etc. The public libraries wouldn't touch them, and the ones in the local bookstores failed to sell and were given back to her.

Finally her publishers told her they couldn't promote a book that didn't even sell in her home town, and they offered to SELL her (at half price!) all those they had on hand. (This, after she'd paid $2,000!) They said she could either try to sell them herself, or give them to friends as gifts.

Needless to say, Aunt Lucy is heartbroken. I don't know how these "publishers" can get away with this sort of thing, but apparently it's all legal. Perhaps if you print this letter it may save others from being hurt.

CONCERNED NIECE

DEAR CONCERNED: May I add another helpful note: People who enter into "business deals" should FIRST consult a competent lawyer before signing anything. And would-be-authors would do well to work through professional literary agents.

Three Lassies Going Home to Continue Medical Studies

By JEANNE NELSON

Going home always brings about a good feeling, but leaving the excitement of new places, things and people makes it a bittersweet experience.

Three Glasgow University medical students, who soon board a plane for their homes in Scotland, are feeling this now. Today marks the end of a summer-long student work program at Pontiac State Hospital.

* * *

Veronica Reid, Moira Kiernan and Jeniffer Dunbar, studying to be physicians at the University, came to PSH at the invitation of Dr. Donald Martin, medical superintendent. Luggage wasn't the only thing they brought along on this, their first trip to America.

As can be expected, they also carried with them the usual misconceptions about our fair land, and in addition, a few of their own apprehensions. With the passing of time, some judgments have been changed and new feelings about us and the USA have taken root.

TWO CONCLUSIONS

The usual comparisons between peoples and nations highlighted our talk and certainly two things stood out clearly. "Everyone here talks too fast. And the men are so forward."

According to the Scots, Glasgow offers far more in the way of social entertainment than does our area. However, shows and restaurants here stay open later. The girls also had to lengthen their skirts to conform with PSH rules.

Each works in a different division of the hospital. Jenny is in the Oakland County unit; Moira, in Genesee County unit; and Veronica, in Fairlawn Center. But all agree the professional staff in each is much friendlier and more helpful than at home.

* * *

On the minus side, the girls were surprised to find that American women are discriminated against in the medical world. "Many more girls go into medicine at home," they declare.

The trio is united in thought on American women. "Too bossy — why do the men stand for it?" And they have much more free time here than the women at home. Over there, food shopping is done each day and the housewife shops at several specialty stores rather than at one supermarket."

"Only in rather wealthy families can the women afford to do volunteer work." The number of American women involved in volunteering was a happy surprise to them.

NO DOUR LOOK

Americans they come into contact with soon find these three Britishers nothing like the stereotyped dour Scot's image. Far from it, they are the picture of gaiety, friendliness and vitality.

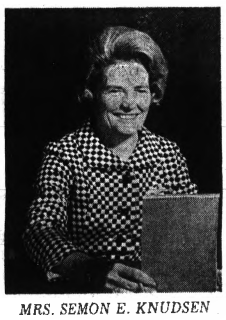
Each has that incredibly flawless complexion their countrywomen are known for, and surprisingly enough, not one of them is blond although Moira's hair is auburn. They toured their first newspaper plant right here at The Pontiac Press (shame on you — Glasgow Herald and Daily Express.)

* * *

Although this summer has been a busy and exciting one for them, last summer held some rare moments too. They all worked in a whiskey factory at home. No one would tell who got the taster's job.

Before arriving in New York for the last lap of their journey, the girls will visit Washington, D.C. and other places of interest along the way.

The strains of "Auld Lang Syne," sung at their farewell party this week, will echo across the ocean along with memories of newfound friends and thoughts of returning some day.



MRS. SEMON E. KNUDSEN

Mrs. Knudsen Plans Luncheon

Mrs. Semon E. Knudsen of Birmingham will serve as chairman for the second annual "Heart of Gold" luncheon to be staged at Cobo Hall, Feb. 11, 1969 by the Volunteer Award Council.

Women who have given outstanding service as community volunteers in Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties will be honored with "Heart of Gold" awards.

Mrs. Joseph L. Hudson Jr. of Grosse Pointe is serving as vice chairman.

* * *

Heading other committees are Mesdames: Aaron Gershenson of the United Community Services Women's Committee; Harold J. Schachern of Women for the United Foundation; Fran Harris of Women's Advertising Club and Buford Barber, Detroit Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women.

Over 21? You're In

Rochester area women of voting age may attend the annual membership tea of the League of Women Voters Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Paul's Methodist Church, Romeo Road.

For further information, Mrs. Tracey Scholtz of Rochester may be contacted.

Concert Goers Dine in Style Before Music

When it comes to the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, some Bloomfield Hills couples had reservations — for dinner, of course, at the Detroit Athletic Club before the opening concert Thursday night.

The Edward S. Wellocks of Kirkway Boulevard were joined at their table by Mr. and Mrs. John Graham and the Harvey Greenes, all of Bloomfield Hills, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Prunt of Dearborn.

* * *

Mrs. Wellock, by the way, was gowned in shocking pink and gold Korean brocade, brought back from a trip to the Orient last year.

The LeRoy W. Dahlbergs of Lone Pine Road hosted Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson of Bloomfield Hills and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Straith of Birmingham.

The John Prepolecs entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Warner of Flint.

WITH FAMILY

Dr. and Mrs. Owen Hendren of West Valley Road celebrated their first 35 years of married life Sunday. Nothing fancy planned, just a very quiet family party.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Bachman Jr. of Lakewood Drive just got back Tuesday, "exhausted," after doing five European countries in two and a half weeks.

This was the first trip abroad for their grown sons, Thomas, 20, and William, 22, who have already taken off again for school — Tom to Boston, Bill to Denver.

They cancelled a scheduled visit to West Berlin because of the Czech crisis, instead drove from Amsterdam to Munich via the spectacularly scenic Rhine River route.

FOR FUTURE TRIPS

On the last leg of the trip, the Bachmans drove over the Alps, "scouting the ski resorts along the way."

Heading up the list of host couples for the weekly Village Woman's Club dinner dance tonight are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cunningham Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Andrese will be the guests of honor at a little post-nuptial dinner dance Saturday at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club. Hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Rinehart S. Bright of Cranbrook Court and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Polk.

The Andreases were married in May; she is the former Maxine Relth.

Steak, Watermelon Roast for Sorority Rushees

The Airport Road home of the Bob Bolts will be the setting for a steak and watermelon roast on Saturday evening. The event heralds the rush season for Beta Chi chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

* * *

Guests will be new rushees, Mrs. John Grames and Mrs. John Richardson, along with their husbands.

Another event coming up is the group's benefit sale on Sept. 20 at AMVETS Hall on Oakland Avenue. The Disturbed Ward at Pontiac State Hospital is one of the recipient of this chapter's benefit project funds.

Tell of Name Change

The Birmingham Eta Iota chapter No. 5140 of Beta Sigma Phi International has been changed to Xi Gamma Psi, Exemplar No. X-3441.

The first meeting combined business and social activities. It was hosted by Mrs. John W. Craig of Southfield, with the new president, Mrs. James Thomas, presiding.

* * *

Plans were made for the year's program of growth and services.

The next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 1 at the Troy home of Mrs. Thomas.

The Hon. William R. Beasley and Mrs. Beasley of Bingham Farms announce the engagement of their daughter, Anne Elizabeth, to Timothy Mitchell Stone. His parents are the Donn E. Stones of Grosse Ile. The couple are graduates of University of Michigan. He will enter U.S. Army Officer Candidate School in the fall.

These works by employes of the several Pontiac divisions of General Motors Corporation are among the entries to be shown at Pontiac Creative Arts Center Monday through Oct. 6 in the first collective display of the artistic talents embodied within that large group. Mrs. Ivan J. Stretten of Locklin Lane, West Bloomfield Township, checks the submissions. She is serving as show chairman. This is the first major public exhibit scheduled since the remodeling of the Center on Williams Street.

"Six Painters From France" will be held on Mondays at 1 p.m. for six weeks beginning Sept. 30. Instructor for this course will be Mrs. Susan Rossen who will discuss Manet, Monet, Degas, Gaugin, Toulouse-Lautrec and Cezanne, showing their importance in the 20th century and how their influence determined the direction of modern art.

BACKGRIUND

Mrs. Rossen is formerly Assistant Art Curator at the Detroit Institute of Arts and has studied at Smith College, the Iouvre School, the Institute of Art and Architecture and the Academie Julien in Paris. She did her graduate work at Wayne State University and the University of Michigan.

Miss LaCroix is a dramatic soprano who has appeared professionally with the Bonstelle Theater, the Vanguard Theater, the Detroit Chamber Music Workship and as soloist with the Plymouth Symphony.

She is a graduate of Wayne State University where she majored in music. Additional work has included study with Avery Crew and at the Meadow Brook School of Music.

F. R. Ludwigs Repeat Vows

Evangelical Mennonite Brethern Church, Henderson, Neb., was the setting recently for vows uniting Ruth Heiser and Fred R. Ludwig.

Honor attendants for the son of Rev. and Mrs. Fred D. Ludwig of Oxford and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Heiser of Aurora, Neb., were Irene Rich and Vergil Nelson.

Other members of the wedding party were Dorothy Schrag, Arlene, Dean and Raymond Heiser.

* * *

For the double ring rite, the bride wore an A-line sheath of silk organza over bridel satin. Chantilly lace accents highlighted her ensemble and matching organza chapel train. A floral headpiece held her veiling and she carried a cascade of red Sweetheart roses with Stephanotis.

* * *

The newlyweds, who will make their home in Winona Lake, Ind., received guests in the church parlors following the ceremony.

BPW of Pontiac Celebrate Half a Century

In 1918 "Women were organized and classified in order to aid in war relief and the first gathering of this group was sponsored by the government."

These words, recorded as spoken by Mrs. H. H. Thatcher, first president, in the records of the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club, mark the birth of this group which is celebrating its golden anniversary this month.

★ ★ ★

Two years later, the Club joined the newly-formed National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and adopted as its aims:

"To encourage the organization of clubs in all parts of the State of Michigan; to promote and protect the interests of women in the professional, civic and industrial world; to become the source of information with respect to new opportunities for women and to encourage al l women to greater effort in developing efficiency in the more important activities of the world's work."

Grace Heitsch, and Vera Bassett, both still active in the Pontiac group, joined the membership roster in 1921 and 1924.

ALWAYS SERVICE

Philanthropy and community service early became a large item of concern. One of the earliest projects was the establishment of an employment agency and lounge for business women and coordinating efforts with the Girls Protective League.

In 1925, scholarships were the main goal and set a prescedent which has continued through the years.

A guest speaker of that year from the then Bureau of Education, State Department of Health, said.

"There is too much criticism of the boys and girls of today and not enough understanding." The same speaker also advised the members "one way in which the club could use its influence is in removing from the newsstands, pamphlets of an undesirable type."

Also that year, the president, Mabel Judd, initiated the practice of members addressing each other by their first names, in order to "increase fellowship."

The Little Theater of Pontiac was an early beneficiary of the club's activities.

PROJECTS

Throughout the 50 years, the Pontiac BPW has: Contributed to City Hospital for a "free bed" that was being maintained by the City Federation;

● Pledged funds for the establishment of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital:

● Supplied equipment for a "well baby center" operated by the Visiting Nurses Association;

● Contributed to the maintence of a vocational teacher; to the City Library and the Red Cross Relief Fund;

● Furnished the girls' club room at the Juvenile Home,

● Provided Christmas treats for school children;

● Worked for the YMCA, YWCA, and the Community Chest; the Family Service Bureau and veterans needs.

Additionally, the Club worked actively against a proposed bill that would have prohibited the employment of married women. That was in 1933.

In 1938, members backed Saturday night closing of stores in Pontiac, but records do not show the result of that effort.

In 1942, the Club voiced opposition to a proposed minimum wage for women.

★ ★ ★

International Federation associate membership was entered into at a cost of $5 back in 1933. Incorporation took place in 1937.

The war effort of 1941-45 received its share of the group's attention.

Margaret Cole, president during the years 1947-48 and again in 1964-66, was one of 10 Michigan women selected to attend a briefing on the NASA project at Cape Kennedy.

As a result of this briefing, a conference entitled "Women in the Space Age" was held at Oakland University with Mrs. Cole serving as chairman and members of the Pontiac Club as hostesses.

★ ★ ★

Principal activity during the 1968-'69 season has been directed toward the support and activities of the YWCA with president Mrs. F. Leigh (Lucinda) Wyckoff working as a member of the Y board of directors.

This month's golden anniversary celebration will be recorded as one of the highlights of the 1968-'69 tenure of president Helen Kinney.

Polly's Pointers

Iron Removes Ridges

DEAR POLLY — I think I have some help for Mary, whose beige nylon carpet has a ridge (from rolling) down the middle. We bought one on sale before we were ready to use it, so it was left rolled up. The roll became flattened. When finally we laid the rug on the floor, there were about 10 ridges in it. I took a clean dish towel, wet it good, wrung it out and used it as a steam-pressing cloth as I ironed my rug.

It worked! I kept a pail of water next to me and kept the cloth damp, but not dripping. (Polly's note — A long strip torn from an old sheet would have made the job a bit faster and easier.)—MARY LOU

DEAR POLLY — Can you tell me how to get rid of the stink in my vacuum cleaner? I have tried air fresheners and they do not work very well. — NANCY

* * *

DEAR POLLY — Recently I noticed an unpleasant, musty odor coming from the exhaust of my tank-type vacuum cleaner. To eliminate this, I rubbed a little cream sachet on a small square of fabric. I placed the fabric square inside the exhaust end of the vacuum cleaner and snapped the cover back in place. The result is a most pleasing aroma which remains for several hours. — MRS. W.L.S.

DEAR GIRLS — I used cologne on a bit of cloth and placed it on the bag (not over the opening) in my tank cleaner and it worked great. — POLLY

* * *

DEAR POLLY — The fabric departments in most stores have free monthly pattern pamphlets put out by the pattern manufacturers. They usually have a page of sewing hints and I save that page from each one I get and find them most helpful for the beginning seamstress. They show easier ways for sewing and making alterations. I have now made my own book with these sheets, so when I get stuck I can usually find the answer. — FRANCES

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Today the wages of summer are with us! About this time of year, thousands and thousands of women begin to think about getting rid of their summer suntan. The tan which looked so smart and was so flattering with summer clothes, and in the great outdoors is not so attractive with fall clothes, indoors.

* * *

As suntan begins to disappear, one is likely to look sallow, or slightly jaundiced, rather than stunning. Therefore, it is understandable that women wish to speed the fading process. Many write to ask how to do this, how to banish the freckles they have acquired, and whether or not the bleaching creams are any good.

Well, it is impossible to have that deep stylish tan in the summer, and suddenly, pronto, have a fair complexion in the early fall. However, there are measures you can adopt to speed the process and also to cover up the deepend pigmentation until your complexion returns to its natural color.

* * *

Of course, the skin will gradually fade as the old skin is replaced by new skin, but this takes months. Lemon juice is a mild bleach and will help some. However, this is a slow process.

There are bleaching agents and creams but these should be used with care. Actually, I think it is a good idea to obtain the advice of your physician if you are going to use one of these. They are irritating to the skin of some people. At least try any such product on a very small area at first to be sure that your skin does not react unhappily to it.

The same advice applies to the use of bleaching products for freckles. These brown spots can be removed by skin-planing and other methods. However, these seem rather extreme and are only temporary.

* * *

With available cosmetics, a woman can successfully hide suntan or freckles. There are products which will cover even birthmarks. If you wish to lighten and rose-tint your skin while it is fading, use a base and powder a little lighter than your tan, with some rose in it. Change the base and powder as your tan fades. You will probably have to do this only twice.

Surge for Change Perils Swedish Regime

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden is going through its sharpest political ferment in decades. A fiercely fought national election campaign will decide whether a surge for change in this welfare state is strong enough to unseat the Social Democrats—in power 36 years.

Some five million voters Sunday will choose a new lower house in Parliament and determine who will form a government—the perennial Social Democrats or an opposition coalition of Liberals, Centrists and Conservatives.

* * *

What are the chances of an upset with a shift to the right similar to what has occurred in neighboring Norway and Denmark over the last two years? Political commentators, shy about predictions, expect a close outcome.

Gunnar Hedlund, 68, leader of the Center party and a forest owner, likens it all to a bear hunt: "One shouldn't sell the skin before the bear has been shot—even though we say that he now is within shooting distance."

CAN WIN, IF . . .

Social Democrats say: "We'll win if we can get our stay-at-home supporters — the sofa loungers—to the polls. Too many of them have grown apathetic over the years and are taking an election victory too much for granted. We need every vote this time."

Non-Socialists say that if they ever stand a chance of emerging from the political wilderness, this should be the year.

* * *

They are building hopes on the strength of a setback the Social Democrats suffered in 1966 local elections—a drop from 47 to 42 per cent in their share of the vote.

Apart from a floating vote estimated at 2 per cent of the electorate, most political pundits say the key to the election lies with approximately 625,000 young new voters who have become increasingly vocal and active in political affairs. Some restive elements criticize the neutralist government for not taking sharper stands on Vietnam, Greece, South African apartheid and Portuguese colonial policy. Others accuse the government of miserly economic support for underdeveloped countries while Sweden never has been better off materially.

PICTURED AS TIRED

The opposition pictures Tage Erlander as a tired 67-year-old prime minister, 22 years in office. He says the party which comes closest to meeting the ideals of youth and gives them a vision of the 1970s most likely will win the majority of the first-time voters.

The Conservatives campaign under a slogan that they are "the young party" under their new leader, Yngve Holmberg, 43. Also under the direction of a new leader, Sven Weden, 55, the Liberals are conducting their campaign on a similar theme: "Vote young, vote Liberal."

* * *

The security from birth to old age provided by the deeply imbedded welfare system is not at issue—no matter who wins, the Swedish social way of life will go on and be refined. The election is being fought mainly on "pocketbook" issues such as the inflationary price spiral, tax reform in a situation where Swedes are among the most heavily taxed people in the world, high rents and a housing shortage. Unemployment in August stood at the highest figure in a decade for that month.

Though they have their backs to the wall, the Social Democrats shunned Communist party overtures to join forces tactically. Instead, the Communists led by 51-year-old Carl-Henrik Hermansson are fighting the Social Democrats and dividing the workers' vote, even in areas where the outcome is crucial for the ruling party.

INSIGNIFICANT ROLE

Until the Russian-led occupation of Czechoslovakia, foreign affairs played an insignificant role in the campaign. Now the invasion could cost the Communists votes. After the 1948 Communist take-over in Czechoslovakia, the Communist share of the ballot was cut virtually in half; Social Democrats picked up most of the protest votes.

The opposition bourgeois parties never before have shown such unison in concentrating their attack on the Social Democrats. Liberals and Centrists entered an informal election alliance with a common platform.

* * *

They have not embraced Conservatives for fear that would scotch chances to attract more moderate Social Democratic voters who fear an increasingly leftist tendency in their party. Social Democratic leaders charge that the non-Socialists could never form an effective coalition government.

The 233 seats in the lower chamber of Parliament are given each party in proportion to the votes it wins. At present, Social Democrats hold a majority of one over non-Socialist parties, but their effective margin is nine because the eight Communist members regularly ballot with them.

Or Kick at Football

Don't Fume at Cigars

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Cigar Institute of America has published a little booklet entitled "A Married Woman's Guide to the Married Man."

WEST

The institute says it did this "in recognition of the fact that while this may be a man's world, women are partly to blame."

What it apparently is trying to achieve is greater tolerance and understanding of cigar smoking.

It feels that cigars incite feminine hostility mainly because of the old saying "A woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke."

ON THE DEFENSIVE

Women regard that as an unflattering comparison and it puts them on the defensive when they are around cigars.

In an effort to undo some of the damage, the institute takes the tack that cigars actually bring married women love and security.

* * *

When a married man "surrounds himself with a magic blue cloud" of cigar smoke, he is not drawing odious comparisons. Rather, he is expressing "a primitive, instictive feeling that all is well."

Symbolically he is saying "The ship is tight. The drawbridge is up. The cave is safe from tigers."

POETICALLY DECLAIMING

At the same time, he is also being romantic. To his wife he is poetically declaiming, in effect, "I could not love thee, dear, so much loved I not also my cigar." Or so the booklet says.

I'm sure cigar smokers will look upon the booklet as a public service, and I wish that someone would now perform the same service in regard to professional football.

* * *

My wife can't seem to understand that when I am watching a game on television, I am actually displaying my affection for her.

Last weekend there was a game on Friday evening, two on Saturday evening and one on Sunday afternoon. When I put up the drawbridge again Monday evening, she swam across the moat.

"You should be glad I'm watching the game," I said. "I mean our cave is safe from tigers."

"I would rather have it safe from the Green Bay Packers," she said.

* * *

"But I could not love thee, dear, so much—loved I not also the Washington Redskins."

"Then let the Redskins darn your socks," she said.

GROUNDS FOR DIVORCE

You see what I mean about the need for a booklet? A good cigar is only tobacco, but football is grounds for divorce.

Japan Frontier a Booming Isle

WASHINGTON — "Boys, be ambitious," is the motto on Japan's last frontier, the northern island of Hokkaido.

A legacy of the American educator who organized a college on the island in 1876, it bears special significance today.

* * *

Japanese engineers recently began preliminary studies on a 22.5-mile undersea tunnel that may link Hokkaido with the main Japanese island of Honshu by 1975.

It would be the longest tunnel of its kind in the world, unless a similar proposal for the English Channel becomes a reality sooner.

STORMS STOPS FERRIES

The Japanese tunnel would replace an expensive ferry service, often interrupted by icy storms.

Lack of reliable surface transportation has hindered Hokkaido's growth. The island accounts for 20 percent of Japan's land area, but supports only five million people, or 5.4 percent of the nation's total, the National Geographic Society says.

* * *

Japanese farmers prefer their tiny farms on the overcrowded but sunnier southern islands to more spacious fields on Japan's northern frontier, where chilly winds blow and heavy snows fall.

A disheartened Hokkaido official once said, "In Tokyo, they think there is nothing up here but bears, codfish, and snow." Planning industries have long since dispelled such notions.

Viet's Year-Old Government Appraised

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu, a man the Communists call an American puppet, has proved after a year in office that he pulls most of the strings.

Since election day last Sept. 3, Thieu has consolidated his power, inaugurated some needed reforms and broadened the base of the government.

* * *

Because his support still rests mainly on the military and on certain militantly anti-Communist groups, Thieu's government has resorted to antidemocratic means to stifle opposition.

Thieu's election, followed a month later by the election of a legislature, created a government which took over from a military junta that had ruled South Vietnam since November 1963.

STILL MEET

Thieu and his vice president, Nguyen Cao Ky, still meet regularly with the nation's generals to get their approval on most important matters.

Ky headed the previous government as premier, and Thieu was chief of state.

"The Ky government had little to show that it had support outside the armed forces," says one American official who has worked closely with both governments.

"The elections created a certain amount of popular support.

The addition of Tran Van Huong as premier has made the government even more responsive to the people, and the legislature has proved that it is no rubber stamp."

INTERNAL THREAT

While enemy offensives have caused immediate threats to Thieu's government, much of his time has been spent meeting an internal threat from Ky for power.

Ky had been able to exert unusual control over the operation of the national administration because as premier for two years he had appointed friends to hundreds of high positions.

Ky's power was all but eliminated when Thieu fired Maj. Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan as national police boss, as well as Ky friends who commanded the 3rd Military Corps around Saigon, the 4th Corps in the Mekong Delta and the 2nd Corps in the central highlands.

NGUYEN VAN THIEU

Thieu holds the upper hand. Several Ky men have been secretly arrested, others have fled the country. A coup in South Vietnam remains a possibility, although it seems much less likely than when Thieu first took power.

COUP PLANS

Several months ago, U.S. officials, concerned about reports that Ky was planning a coup, warned him and other generals in blunt terms that the American government would not stand for it.

U.S. officials deny, of course, that any such talks occurred.

"None of those who might become involved had to use much imagination to know what would happen to U.S. support if there was a coup," said an embassy official. "We didn't have to add it up for them."

* * *

Despite the U.S. assurances, as recently as July, Thieu ordered a coup alert in Saigon after he had fired Lt. Gen. Le Nguyen Khang, a Ky friend, as commander of the 3rd Corps, say well-informed government sources.

To maintain the present stability, Thieu must steer a careful course. A blunt move by the United States to force the government into talks with the Viet-cong's National Liberation Front or to consider a coalition government would cause him trouble.

THREATS, PRESSURE

"If that happened, the government would become shaky very quickly," said a foreign diplomat. "There would be pressure from both right and left. The generals would threaten Thieu and the Roman Catholics would be demonstrating in the streets. And the people who are tired of the war would clamor for any way out."

Among Thieu's achievements, the most meaningful so far appears to be the naming of one-time teacher Tran Van Huong as premier. Huong, 64, is a well-known southerner whose honesty seems unquestioned.

Much of Huong's time has been spent in organizing an anticorruption drive. He has admitted that corruption is so widespread among Vietnamese officials that it threatens every government program.

CHIEF'S REMOVED

So far, 17 of the 44 province chiefs have been removed by Thieu, many of them for corruption. Dozens of district chiefs, provincial police chiefs, and other civil servants have been fired.

Huong has pushed the trials of thousands of political detainees, to have them freed if they are innocent and jailed if they are guilty.

One area of failure is inability to create a broad anti-Communist political front made of nationalist groups. Vietnam has no nationally organized anti-Communist political force.

Huong says such broad support would take at least two years to organize. The Viet-cong already are hard at work organizing political fronts for the political war they know will come some day.

Most government officials are convinced that if an election were held tomorrow the Communists would win — anticommunist elements are too fragmented.

FEAR ACCOMMODATION

President Johnson's March 31 speech, which opened the way for preliminary talks with Hanoi in Paris, raised fears of accommodation with the Communists that have not been entirely stilled.

* * *

Thieu's government takes harsh measures against those who would go against the government's strict anti-Communist line.

Lawyer Truong Dinh Dzu, who came in second in the presidential race running as a peace candidate, now is serving five years at hard labor. A military court found him guilty of advocating talks with the National Liberation Front.

Dzu's conviction has embarrassed U.S. officials, one of whom says privately the case was "stupidly handled."

SIMILAR TRIALS

Military courts have tried students, Buddhists and newspaper publishers on similar charges. Several persons were not even allowed to run in last fall's elections.

One high government official defends measures of the government that may appear anti-democratic in some eyes. "Why does everything here have to be a perfect democracy?" he asked. "After all, this is a country fighting for its life. You Americans ask too much."

* * *

Other officials say the government's hard line is a necessary facade. One observed: "If Thieu were to say, 'OK, we'll talk with the Front and perhaps we'll form a coalition government,' the army would go to pieces. Why lay down your cards before you get to the table?"

Windsor Royal Theater Group Touring U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Doing nervy things comes natural to the Windsor Royal Theater company which has just set off on a four-month U.S.-Canada tour.

"I never was good at taking orders," said John Counsell, the founder-boss of the English group. "We do things our own way."

* * *

Like surviving for 30 years without subsidy or other outside support; refusing to build revenue via season-long subscriptions; and now, by putting up its own funds — $48,000 — to finance the transcontinental foray.

The company, again ignoring custom, has arrived with none of the usual fanfare that accompanies cultural exchange. Everyone has heard of the Royal Shakespeare and National British companies, but until the 45-city tour was arranged, few on this side of the sea knew of this other group. The U.S. tour opened Tuesday in San Francisco.

NOT USUAL SENSE

"We aren't a permanent repertory in the usual sense," concedes Counsell. About 15 years ago, the theater just down the hill from Windsor Castle gave up stock company method to hire actors on a play-by-play basis.

"What we have is a pool of about 200 players who can give us time between film, TV and other commitments in nearby London — and that means we can have a high caliber of work."

* * *

The four productions being done in this country include a restoration romp, "The Beaux' Stratagem" Oscar Wilde's "An Ideal Husband;" Noel Coward's "Hay Fever," and what Counsell regards as "the connoisseur piece." Bernard Shaw's "Mrs. Warren's Profession."

* * *

The 63-year-old director himself will take minor roles in two exhibits, but three other family members, his wife, Mary Kerridge, and 26-year-old twin daughters, Elizabeth and Jeffifer, have lead parts among the cast of 18.

NEGOTIATIONS ARE ON

In addition to the already scheduled stops, negotiations are under way for the Windsor visitors perhaps to stay on for 10 weeks residency at Ford's Theater in Washington.

Ask Counsell what prompted you are suddenly back in the 1943 command headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, where the impresario-to-be, with a history degree from Oxford, was helping write dispatches.

"All of us on the staff were conscious of what good will had been developed among the English and American members, quite an extraordinary integration that was all due to Ike.

"We started asking each other how that feeling could be perpetuated. One of my colleagues from Amherst — I've lost track of him in the years since — knew I'd done some theatricals and suggested a tour.

SOMETHING TO SHOW

"The idea has been locked away in my mind ever since. I nearly did it at the time the Berlin Wall crisis developed. Now, I'm glad it has been delayed, because we've been able to build until we have something we are proud to show."

Editor: It's Best of Times, Worst of Times for Writers, Writing

NEW YORK (AP) — In Arnold Gingrich's opinion, these are "the best of times and the worst of times" for writers and writing.

Why the best of times?

"Because never before has it been easier to get published," the veteran editor said in an interview. "Never before has it been so easy for a young writer to get a grant in aid, or to get a job as a writer in residence, or in teaching."

* * *

"And publishers are engaged in a fantastic competition to uncover new talent. The days of Joseph Hergesheimer writing 14 years without getting a line in print are gone forever."

Why the worst of times?

"With all this competition among publishers, you'd think we would be in a golden age of writing, but we're not.

'LACK OF DISCIPLINE'

"Never has there been less editing of manuscripts. Never has there been more half-baked stuff published than there is today. There is an utter lack of discipline in writing now.

"Writers today reach too much success too soon. I feel that qualitatively we have no progress to point to."

* * *

Gingrich, 64, is publisher and founding editor (in 1933) of Esquire Magazine, and is this year's recipient of the Henry Johnson Fisher Award of the Magazine Publishers' Association, for individual achievement in magazine publishing. His editing career goes back to the days of F Scott Fitzgerald and Ernest Hemingway.

Asked about the current tendency toward themes of sex and eroticism, Gingrich said a reaction is developing.

KEEPING PACE

"In this race for what we used to think of as indecent exposure, the movies are practically keeping pace with the books—and so is the theater," he said.

"I don't believe in imposed censorship. No one in tune with this century believes in it. But a natural censorship is bound to assert itself. It is the censorship of boredom. Inevitably it is going to do its own policing job.

* * *

"When you have an age of such extreme relaxation of all standards, inevitably you will have a surfeit," he continued. "We see that now in our youth. Our young are so fed up with love-ins and sex that it is politics they are turning to now."

Gingrich said that "already we have seen a reaction in France, their revulsion from sex. And now in France they have the novel of objects rather than of people—almost the abstract novel, if you want to call it that. It may be establishing a trend. Or at least it is a reaction to the surfeit of sex."

DEVELOPMENT

One development in writing, said Gingrich, has been "the blurring of a line between fiction and the article, and that involves the rise of the so-called nonfiction novel."

He spoke of Truman Capote in that connection, and while he credited him with "writing like an angel" and being "as good a writer as we've got," he asserted Capote did not invent this technique.

* * *

"Lillian Ross did that sort of thing way back in the '50s, in her demolition job on Hemingway," he said. "She pinned him like a butterfly, by using the fiction writer's stock in trade, a good ear for dialogue. She destroyed him by quoting his exact words."

Humor is extremely scarce these days, said Gingrich.

"It is the universal complaint of editors today that they can't find the stuff. Or if they do find it they can't hang on to it. Suppose they find a young college kid who has written something exceptionally funny. The next thing they know, he has gone into advertising or is writing television scripts.

"But then, there are reasons back of this. For one thing, the world isn't as funny as it used to be years ago.

"For another," he continued, "there are fewer things you dare be funny about. People are more sensitive to what is said about them: Today, dialect humor is out. Try to be funny about any nationality and someone will be on your neck."

The audience for today's writers, the editor said very pointedly, is far better than it used to be.

'MORE THOUGHTFUL'

"We are getting a much more thoughtful public as a whole," he asserted. "Today's reader is a greatly upgraded creature as compared with those in the days of the Babbitts."

"The level of the audience," he said, "and I repeat the word level, certainly is enormously higher. We have every indication of that in the greatly increased numbers who are interested in art, the ballet and serious music.

* * *

"I know, it is easy to scoff at what has been called the culture boom, and easy to say that many of these people are amateurs.

"But what's wrong with having a dedicated band of amateurs?"

Murder Toll Near Cancer's for Ages 15-24

CHICAGO (UPI) — Cancer is the second leading cause of death in the United States — but persons aged 15 to 24 are almost as likely to be murdered as die of cancer, National Safety Council statistics show.

In the new edition of accident facts, the Safety Council cited National Center for Health statistics for 1966 which showed 2,628 deaths due to cancer among the 15-24 age group. The same group had 2,397 deaths due to homicide.

* * *

In all age groups from 1 to 44 years old, the leading cause of death in 1966 was motor-vehicles.

From 45 onward, heart disease moved into first place with cancer second and cerebral strokes third. Among persons over 65, the number of deaths due to heart disease, cancer, stroke, diabetes and pneumonia exceeded the death total due to auto accidents.

Among persons over 75, more than three times as many died of falls as in motor vehicle accidents.

Pension Change Due for Veterans, Widows

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON — Veterans and widows on the VA pension rolls can expect the postman to deliver annual income questionnaires a month early this year — in November instead of December.

That's because the Veterans Administration payments on the new rates and higher income is gearing itself to calculate next year's pension limitations voted by Congress. It'll be a gigantic overhaul job for the VA.

BAULCH

* * *

For those who aren't familiar with VA pensions, a veteran's eligibility depends on amount of income from other sources plus permanent and total disability. For widows and other dependents what counts is amount of income from other sources.

About 1.1 million of the 1.3 million veterans, widows and other dependents now on the rolls under the post-1960 plan will get more money. Many others will get the same. No one will get less unless his income went up enough — aside from Social Security increases. This year's Social Security increases will not affect the pensions until 1970, if then.

PRE-1960 PLAN

If you're still under the old pre-1960 plan you won't get a raise — and I get a lot of mail complaining about this. But Congress is trying to encourage all to eventually join the new plan. Those under the old plan do not get the income limitations raised $200 — just those under the new plan.

So the time has come for everybody under the old plan to consider if it's wise to shift to the new plan. Many of the 575,000 still under the old plan have been losing from $5 to $70 a month by not shifting. And they'll lose even more when those under the new plan get their raise.

* * *

However, some of you under the old plan may still find it better to stay where you are.

The VA is planning a major campaign early next year to urge that everybody under that plan consider changing. The checks that go out Feb. 1 will explain the new plan and provide a signup card.

THERE'S NO RUSH

But you won't have to rush unless you determine that you're losing money now. After the drive opens next year everybody who signs up by May 1 will get paid the difference between the new and old plans as if they had signed up on Jan. 1.

The VA pension experts say even if a person decides to shift the experts take a good look at each person's situation to be sure he isn't making a mistake. If the VA thinks it's to your advantage to stay in the old plan they'll advise you to do so.

* * *

Once you're under the new plan you can't shift back to the old.

If you have trouble making up your mind it's a good idea to go to your nearest regional VA contact office and talk it over.

PRO AND CON

Here are advantages to consider in deciding whether to stay in the old plan:

- Railroad retirement annuities for veterans are not counted as income, as they are under the new plan. For widows such income counts under both plans.
- A wife's unearned income doesn't count in figuring a veteran's eligibility. So if your wife has a big pension income the old plan may be better.
- Your net worth is not considered in deciding eligibility, as it is under the new plan.
- Under the old plan, when a single veteran goes into a VA hospital or domiciliary institution his VA check is cut in half starting with the seventh calendar month. But he gets the other half as a nest egg when he gets out. Under the new plan he gets only $30 starting with the third calendar month and he doesn't get the remainder when he gets out.

* * *

And here are two other factors:

- When a veteran is housebound, under the old plan he can draw a total of $100 including his pension. Under the new plan he gets $40 added to his pension.
- A veteran requiring an attendant gets a monthly check for $135.45 under the old plan, including his pension, but under the new plan he gets $100 added to his pension.

Dr. Oaks Says:

Smokers Still Puff Away, Despite Medical Hazards

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series of weekly articles by the Oakland County Medical Society. Dr. Oaks is the collective voice of the society.)

Smoking is a bad gamble. Facing similar odds, a smart poker player would fold his hand without attempting to rationalize the statistics.

But not so the smoker. He isn't even a good poker player, for no matter how slim the possibility he still tries to fill that inside straight.

In other words, he continues to smoke knowing full well the odds against his avoiding one of the many smoking-related disorders.

A three-phase process has been suggested for those that want to rid themselves of an obviously distasteful habit. First and most important is the brainwashing; Second, the actual discontinuance and third, staying stopped.

STATISTICS PROVE IT

While a person may build a case in his own mind that smoking is silly, a dirty habit and harmful to one's own good health, statistics are needed to fully convince him.

There are plenty of statistics. First, however, consider these questions: How much do you smoke? Do you think that is too much? How many "smokes" can you enjoy before respiratory changes occur?

* * *

It has been statistically documented that more than 33.3 per cent of all male patients who had smoked 500,000 cigarettes during their lives had lung cancer. When you reach 200,000 you have a 20.3 per cent chance.

And if you never smoked? The chances are 1.3 per cent. You begin to think: "Well that still gives me a 67 per cent chance of continuation without serious complications. True, if only one disability is considered.

MULTIPLE DISORDERS

Multiple disorders are far more prevalent among the heaviest smokers. Besides lung cancer there is increased risk of myocardial infection, emphysema, gastric and duodenal ulcers, arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries), chronic bronchitis and silicosis.

* * *

"Ah," you think, "my chances become less favorable."

Even though the less severe complications will not likely cause death, the degree of disability is probably a much more cruel price to pay for a disgusting habit.

"What happens", you ask, "if I discontinue the habit?

I mean, the die is cast . . . "I've smoked a long time!"

200,000 IS THRESTHOLD

The threshold beyond which there is an increased risk of serious complications appears to be 200,000 of the white papered cylinders. Thus, a man who starts at age 17 and consumes one pack per day until age 47 has reached his threshold. Two packs a day for 15 years leads to the same threshold.

And if a person does quit? For those who successfully discontinue the habit, though not completely safe, diminish the risk of cancer by 21 per cent.

* * *

This statistical information is intended as further evidence for a person's own private brainwashing. If the brainwashing is complete enough, phase two is possible.

Actually, what results is a person who truly wants to stop. This is better will power than the urgings of a wife, friend or even one's concerned personal physician.

NEXT: PHASE TWO

Scientists Outwitted by 'Clever' Parasite

NEW YORK (UPI) — Scientists who engaged in the longest concentrated war to date on staphylococci bacteria, a troublesome parasite of mankind, have confessed in effect that as of now "staph" can be cleverer than scientists.

The scene of the 10-year war was the Temple University health sciences center in Philadelphia, one of the country's leading medical centers. Its goal was to reduce the virulent "staph" around the premises to an irreducible number.

The Temple scientists maintained an unremitting surveillance of "staph" living in patients and hospital personnel for the purpose of controlling and preventing hospital infections.

Their weapons were the full array of antibacterial drugs and the creation of an over-all environment in which theoretically virulent "staph" could not exist.

* * *

"It was observed during the first few days of the 10-year period that staphylococci of presumed high virulence can overcome most control measures," Dr. H. Taylor Caswell and other members of the surveillance committee reported to the American Medical Association.

"Neither stricter prophylaxis (preventive measures) nor more potent antibiotics were very effective in reducing hospital-acquired infections. Only some still-unexplained natural changes in the behavior of the especially virulent staphylococci and their disappearance from the hospital environment resulted in a decrease."

* * *

In the first three years of the 10-year period 1 per cent of the patients with "staph" disease were already infected when they were admitted. The chance of getting a "staph" infection in the hospital was 1.1 per cent.

In the last three years only 0.5 per cent were infected when admitted, and the chance of acquiring infection in the hospital was down to 0.6 per cent.

Almost all of this reduction was due to the mysterious change in the behavior of the one "staph" strain from high virulence to nonvirulence. In the beginning it was responsible for 53 per cent of all infections in clean surgical wounds and for only 7 per cent at the end.

"Staph" bacteria live in all places where people are, including hospitals which ideally should be free of all infectious microorganisms.

No scientist speaks of entirely eliminating virulent "staph" even from those supersanitized places. Science is not yet up to such a task.

Car Race Trend Hit

By BOB COCHNAR
NEA Automotive Editor

NEW YORK — Stirling Moss likes locks. Not the kind you eat with cream cheese or bagles. Not even the kind found flowing down the necks of comely birds. The kind which keep people out or in.

* * *

"Yes, I know it's a rather strange interest," he confessed in his clipped English. "I collect bales of nonessential information. You want to know anything about tensile strengths?"

* * *

Moss admitted that he still had a certain affection for racing cars, but locks are also fascinating. "I get all my locks in the States," he says. "You can buy Yales in England, of course, but they're so common. I have a fondness for Sargents; not too many in England and therefore hard to pick. Kwiksets aren't bad either. Nice tumbler mechanism."

SPREADING WORD

It took some prodding to get Stirling off the lock kick. His specialty is, after all, cars. Although he hasn't raced in nearly seven years (a near-fatal accident in England nipped his incredible career) the sport is still his thing.

* * *

As racing director for the Johnson Wax Co., he is currently spreading the word about the six-race Canadian-American Challenge Cup series, of which Johnson is the major sponsor.

* * *

He is convinced that the fall Can-Am series will soon eclipse all other race programs, with the probable exception of the Indianapolis 500.

* * *

"Why not? The series has attracted the best drivers — chaps like Mario Andretti, Dan Gurney, Bruce McLarnen, Denny Hulme. The money's good — something like a $500,000 purse. And the cars are the fastest."

COMPETES IN RALLY

Moss had other news as well. Seems that he was convinced — not that it was difficult — to return to the lists by entering the 84 Hours of Nurburgring, a demanding endurance rally at the sinuous German circuit.

* * *

Stirling's mount was a 1,300cc Lancia Fulvia which he and teammate Innes Ireland pushed to the lead after 12 hours.

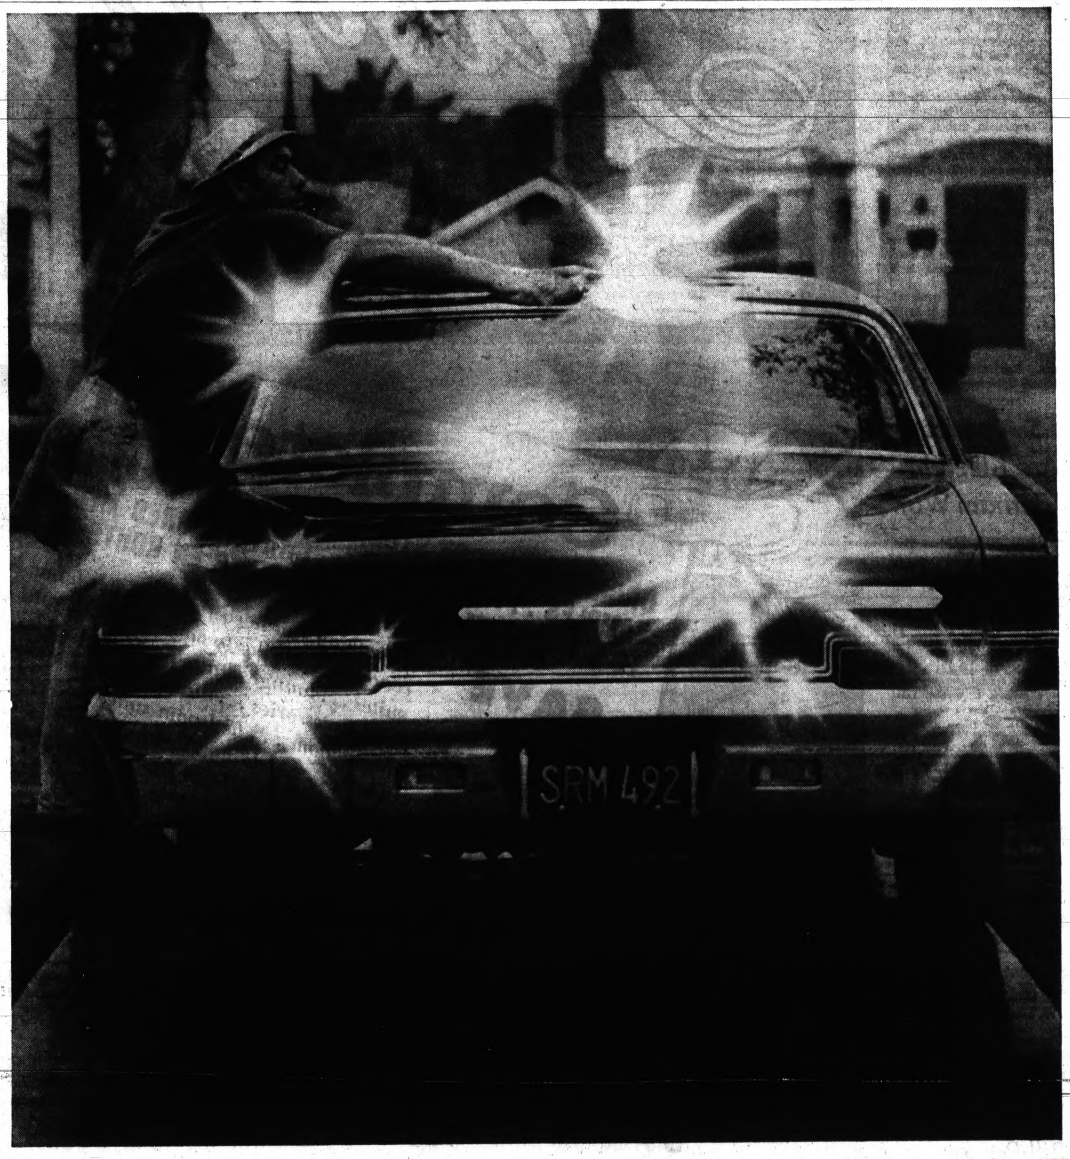
* * *

Inexplicably, the gearbox seized after 26 hours and the car was retired. Stirling felt fine. "Although it wasn't an actual race," he explains, "and a little Lancia isn't quite a Formula 1 car, I had fun and was pleased with the performance."

* * *

He points out quickly that he has no plans to resume his Grand Prix career or do anything more than perhaps participate occasionally in a rally. "Driving cars is a whole lot better than watching them," he muses. "But one must know one's limitations, mustn't one?"

STIRLING MOSS



The average American cleans his car thoroughly every weekend. He thinks.

Cleaning the outside of a car doesn't get rid of another kind of dirt that's building up on the inside—engine dirt.

It's engine dirt that can turn a beautiful, shiny car into an ugly mechanical failure.

At Mobil, we have something to help get rid of that engine dirt—Mobil Detergent Gasoline. Both Mobil Premium and Mobil Regular have a Detergent that actually helps clean your engine. Every single time you drive.

Mobil Detergent Gasoline gets to vital parts of your engine—your carburetor, oil screen, PCV valve (an anti-air-pollution device). It keeps these parts clean to help prevent trouble. Trouble like stalling. Or wasting gasoline. Or breaking down and ending up with a big repair bill.

So next weekend, while you're using all that elbow grease on the outside of your car, think about using our Detergent Gasoline on the inside. That way you'll be cleaner, both body and soul.

OU Class Set on Stock Mart

Forecasting of stock market prices will be studied in a new course scheduled this month by the Division of Continuing Education at Oakland University.

The course is one of 217 being offered the division, which is scheduling a range of courses in finance for both the businessman and the interested individual who wants to know more about taxes, stocks and credit unions.

The forecasting course will go into the role of the New York Stock Exchange in establishing stock prices and will examine the methods and philosophy of professional traders, individual and institution investors and other market participants. The emphasis will be on the effects of all these groups on stock prices.

Another course will study the various investment institutions, such as pension, mutual, closed and investment funds, and the market for common stocks, bonds and long term corporate debt and mortgages.

★ ★ ★

For businessmen, 10 two-hour lectures will be offered on federal and Michigan income tax laws with the stress on their effects on corporations and businesses.

Classes begin the week of Sept. 23 and last from 10 to 12 weeks.

More information may be obtained by calling the division in South Foundation Hall at Oakland University.

Area Girl Is Helping Tibetan Refugees

(EDITOR'S NOTE — For the airline stewardess who seeks more than a "coffee - tea - or - milk" existence, there's the Thomas Dooley Foundation program in Nepal. A number of stewardesses are taking three month's leaves of absence from the airlines to do volunteer social work and nursing in the Himalayan hospitals.)

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

JEWALAKAL, Nepal — Kathy Anderson, a stewardess on round-the-world flights, used to gaze out the lounge window at the passing Himalayan range, snow-choked and forbidding, and wonder what life was like in one of those tiny villages below.

On a recent rainy morning in the mountain kingdom of Nepal, Kathy got on her bike and rode nine muddy, winding miles to Jewalakal, a village inhabited entirely by refugees from Communist Tibet. Kathy was wearing her airlines smock, the dress that stewardesses put on when they begin rolling the whisky cart down the aisle and handing out trays of corrugated steaks.

* * *

As she passed through the gates of the refugee settlement, 40 to 50 Tibetan moppets ran out to meet her with excited laughter, much pushing and shoving, and, on a signal from one of the old boys, one chorus, in English, of:

"Are you sleeping?
Are you sleeping?
Morning John, Brother John.
Morning bells are ringing. . ."

BUDDHIST PRAYERS

The commotion nearly drowned out the constant singsong chant of Buddhist prayers from the rug factory, where the adult Tibetans already were at work turning out the magnificently woven items that help keep the village going. Even the toothless old woman whose sole job it was to pray for everyone in the village ceased whirling her prayer wheel long enough to smile and bow at the pretty American blonde girl who had such a way with those mischievous children.

For Kathy Anderson, a Pan-American Airways stewardess from Birmingham, Mich., another day had begun in her three-month stint as a volunteer worker with the Thomas A. Dooley Foundation's stewardess program.

* * *

In the mornings, Kathy ran a day nursery for the children of the Tibetan rug weavers, who before her arrival accompanied their parents into the factory and were constantly under foot and in danger of injury from the machinery. In the afternoon, Kathy taught English and put on puppet shows for the children in an orphanage in Katmandu, the capital of Nepal.

Her companions in this far off mountain kingdom were a TWA stewardess who did orthopedic therapy at a leprosarium a few miles out of town, a Braniff girl with a nursing background who worked at the Bir Hospital, the largest in Nepal, two United Air Lines stewardesses who helped out at the orphanage, a girl from American Airlines who was involved in a health survey of Nepal, and Stella Saint, a Northeast Airlines stewardess from New Bedford, Mass., who more or less served as boss.

UNPAID VOLUNTEERS

All had come to Nepal on a nonpaid leave of abence from their airline to volunteer for three months of social work and nursing with the Dooley Foundation, named for the American doctor who dedicated his life to the health problems of Asia.

Other stewardesses were operating a combination showboat and hospital boat on the Mekong River in Laos, coaxing the natives into taking plague shots and undergoing medical examinations—using a beguiling mixture of showmanship and professional know-how.

* * *

Still others were helping out at hospitals and orphanages in Vientiane, the capital city of Laos. In all, about 120 stewardesses from more than 40 foreign and American air carriers had volunteered for the program. Pan-American had flown them out free on a space-available basis, and would fly them back the same way when their three-month hitch was over.

"It's not nearly long enough," complained Kathy, in between attempts at organizing her Tibetan charges into a marching game. "Even girls who give up their vacations and accumulated leave time to come out feel they are getting a lot more out of it than the people we have come to help. I'm coming back again in January for another three-month tour if I can swing the time."

DIFFICULT ADJUSTMENT

The Tibetans who came down from the high mountain passes after the Red Chinese took over and the Dalai Lama fled 10 year ago find difficulty adjusting to the milder, damper climate of Nepal's lovely Katmandu valley.

"For one thing they wear too many clothes," said Kathy. "They still wrap themselves up in woolens and furs, like they used to wear in their home village, and as a result they seem to be susceptible to every disease that comes along."

* * *

Kathy has tried to solve the problem by coaxing one of the Tibetan tailors in the refugee settlement into stitching up some tuburs, Tibetan native costumes, for the children, from old uniforms donated by the various airlines. She herself has designed some playsuit and dresses for the younger children.

"It's a good thing the mini-skirt uniform came along," said Kathy. "Now we have lots and lots of obsolete uniforms available for making into tuburs."

SORT OF A UNIFORM

The "Dooley Stus," as the girls are known in Katmandu, first began wearing their airline working smocks as a matter of convenience to protect their clothes along the dusty roads, but now it has become a sort of volunteers' uniform.

Working in a leprosy hospital would seem to require a special kind of courage, as would dodging Pathet Lao ambushes on a houseboat in the Mekong River in Laos, but the challenge of the world, more than the lure of far off places, has spread the word of the program from airline to airline so that volunteer applications office in San Francisco.

* * *

"Most of these girls have been just about everywhere," said Stella Saint, back for a second tour in Nepal. "The travel part doesn't interest them as much as the chance to do something for somebody for nothing. Maybe it's the feeling that there's more to life than handing out martinis in the first-class cabin and putting on that 'everything-is-just-dandy-smile' when it gets a little bumpy up there."

A collector of antique cars, Jim Leake owns 23 Rolls Royces and a vintage variety of other autos. He also has the first car he ever bought—and it's still running after nearly 40 years.)

By DAYTON BLAIR

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Jim Leake grew up on a central Oklahoma farm and dreamed of the day he could own and drive a fancy car — perhaps a 1924 Buick like a neighbor owned.

Today Leake owns not only a 1924 Buick — "a real smooth running one"—but also 74 other vintage cars—including 23 Rolls Royces, believed to be the most on private hands. Many of the cars are significant historically.

* * *

There's his personal favorite, a 1911 Rolls Royce Silver Wraith ceremonial phaeton built for the maharaja of Mysore in India.

Another is his Humber Pullman limousine used by Winston Churchill until his death.

Others include a 1934 Packard formal sedan delivered to the White House in 1934 and used by the Roosevelt administration until after World War II, and a 1900 De Dion Bouton that had the first high-speed engine with the De Dion rear-end assembly that still is the format of types used in racing cars today.

DRIVES THEM ALL

"I drive them all whenever I can, to keep them loose," says Leake, now president of three television stations and other business interests.

'I love to tinker with these cars and I just wish I had more time," he said. "I just got back from driving one of the Rolls Royces to Arkansas for a parade."

* * *

The Churchill car always is the subject of many questions.

Leake and a fellow townsman, Bill Hays, learned it could be bought in England. Lady Churchill, whom he did not see during the negotiations, had two requirements. One was that it be taken out of England to avoid commercialization and the other was that its price would not be disclosed.

ORIGINAL TITLE

No one knows what Leake and Hays paid, but, Leake said, "We've got the original title signed by Sir Winston himself that would probably be worth $5,000 or $6,000 to collectors."

The big powerful car, equipped with a custom-made ash tray for Churchill's cigars, was built for him by the Rooes Motor Group in 1956.

* * *

Leake, who admits he never got over his boyhood fancy of beautiful cars, will go anywhere necessary if he can get a car he really wants.

He first learned the maharaja's car was for sale while it still was in India. A price of $15,000 for the car in its unrestored state was too much. But later when he heard it was to be auctioned at Earl's Court in London, he and his wife flew there. He bought the car, now fully restored, on a bid of 9,600 pounds—about $27,900.

FIVE DRIVERS

The favorite of Leake's wife is a 1923 Ford speedster which the couple's daughter, Nancy, also likes to drive. Their son, John Griffin Leake, and another daughter, Jean, also drive the antique cars around Muskogee frequently.

There's a 1935 Duesenberg delivered to Dan Topping, the former owner of baseball's New York Yankees. It had been driven 135 miles per hour before it was turned over to him. "It still just loafs along at 60," says Laeke who drove it to Tulsa this summer for an exhibition.

* * *

He owns a 1901 Oldsmobile, one of only 300 or 400 made. "That's the car that inspired the song, 'My Merry Oldsmobile,' " said Leake.

There is a one-cylinder 1904 Reo that he keeps in England for the annual London-to-Brighton run for cars of 1905 and older. "Mine is about the newest car that will ever be in that race," Leake explained.

3 BENTLEYS, 1 MINERVA

There are three Bentleys in the collection and a prize 1920 Minerva from Belgium.

Although most cars are British, he has rounded up a broad section of American motorcar history.

* * *

He has four Packards, a 1925 Locomobile, a 1919 Pierce Arrow, 1917 Dodge, 1918 Reo, 1925 Marmon speedster, 1912 Hupmobile, 1902 two-cylinder Maxwell, 1912 Argo Electric touring car, 1935 Alvis touring, 1936 Cord Phaeton, 1924 Hudson sedan and a total of five Fords—all collected with a bit of history in mind.

One of the Fords is a 1928 popcorn wagon that still works, although he had the popcorn popper made electric for better use.

A 1928 Model A town car is "the epitome of a fine car of that era," he says. "It is the finest of the Model A's."

Leake has a 1911 Model T delivery wagon, complete with cut glass windows on the side. "It's patterned after the old horse-drawn delivery wagons and is a fine bit of history," he said.

* * *

But parked in the middle of the fleet of big cars—and ready to be taken out for a spin—is a 1929 Austin Roadster.

"It's the first car I ever owned," he said. "I bought it for $85 while I was in college."

Current Books

THE LESSONS OF HISTORY. By Will and Ariel Durant. Simon & Schuster. $5.

At the end of a 40-year stint of writing their 10-volume "The Story of Civilization," the authors have addressed themselves to the question of "what history has to say about the nature, conduct and prospects of man. It is a precarious enterprise, and only a fool would try to compress a hundred centuries into a hundred pages of hazardous conclusions. We proceed."

* * *

After that humorous introduction they examine the lessons of history in relation to astronomy, geology, geography, biology, ethnology, psychology, morality, religion, economics, politics and war.

In this brief work, written in an aphoristic, witty style, the Durants quietly look back across the centuries to give us the measure of mankind in historical perspective.

THE WHOLE FAMOUS HARRITY FAMILY. By Richard Harrity. Trident Press. $5.95.

* * *

Call it Americana, theatrical history or whatever you like, this memoir is an unusual excursion into a world of far away and long ago; the world of small town vaudeville in the first couple of decades of this century, preradio and pretelevision.

* * *

The Harritys were father Eddie, a dancer (hoofer, as they said then); mother Josephine, who sang sentimental songs and kept a firm grip on the family's wavering finances; tiny sister Marie, billed as the youngest toe dancer in the world, and the author — called "Master Joe," who danced, recited and did all sorts of acting tricks, from the age of 7.

They never made the Big Time, playing always to rubes and yokels. They brushed against such coming figures as Charlie Chaplin and W. C. Fields.

It's an exotic story, told in garrulous prose, about a crazy lamplight world that is gone forever, an offbeat item for readers interested in the way it used to be.

Ad a Bit Fishy, but He Got Boat

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A 12-foot plywood fishing boat was advertised for sale "for 60 fish." But when Ernie Crisp showed up Thursday he was told, "We meant dollars."

* * *

"You said fish," Crisp countered. He got his boat for 60 goldfish.

HIS PARKING LOT'S FULL — When James Leake of Muskogee, Okla., needs a car he has 74 available—all vintage and all in prime running condition. Some of the more valuable ones are: (1) 1956 Rolls Royce with body by Freestone Webb; (2) 1911 Rolls Royce Silver Ghost Phaeton built for the Maharaja of Mysore, India; (3) 1912 White Opera coupe; (4) 1924 Buick touring car; (5) 1938 Rolls Royce he examines with his son, John; (6) 1904 Reo one-cylinder kept in England for the annual London-to-Brighton run of cars made before 1906.

Legion Takes Big Dose of Politics; Straw Vote Favors Nixon

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The panorama of America's new-look presidential campaign passed before the American Legion convention in the space of a few hours, giving delegates a concentrated dose of politics.

It came with each candidate in a pocket of heavy security; police all around, alert and suspicious; Secret Service agents with walkie talkies, scanning the balcony.

* * *

The 2,993 delegates and 2,850 alternates heard Republican Richard M. Nixon, Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey and George C. Wallace of the American Independent party.

The Associated Press ran a quick 100-Legionnaire poll afterward. It may indicate that you cannot always judge these things by the volume of applause.

POLICE APPLAUD

For instance, even some of the white-gloved police guard applauded when Wallace, his Legionnaire cap cocked at a jaunty angle, told how he'd deal with "pointed - head" intellectuals and enforce law and order.

* * *

Humphrey was next. He stepped into the limelight about three hours after Wallace departed. Law and order was his text, too.

Humphrey left the Legionnaires somewhat subdued. Applause: polite but light, with a solitary, tentative boo from somewhere back in the auditorium.

Nixon came on Thursday, tanned and confident, with a joke to warm up the crowd.

Then Nixon, saying he wanted to speak above party politics, dealt mainly with foreign affairs, the need for strength in an uncertain world.

* * *

His applause—solid, not so exuberant as Wallace's, but sober and sustained.

Relying on volume, you might rate Wallace on top by a nose. The quick poll rated it Nixon 48, Wallace 16, Humphrey 11, undecided 25.

Married middle-aged women living in middle and upper class societies have become an increasingly larger percentage of the more than four million alcoholics in this country.

Slovakians Bitter at Occupiers—Their Former Comrades

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia (AP) — From the street below the mighty, four-towered castle, one could see only the long barrel of a Soviet self-propelled gun positioned inside the castle courtyard.

A helicopter rose from the vast courtyard, flew briefly along the slow-flowing, grayish Danube River and then made a wide circle over the city's industrial quarters, basking in a bright September sun.

* * *

"That is something which will be hard to forget," a burly Slovak said, pointing up to the castle. His glasses and his clothes made it difficult to realize that he was an anti-Nazi guerrilla fighter 23 years ago.

"As partisans we fought on their side in the mountains. There was no country with which we had stronger bonds of friendship. And now this."

SYMBOL OF PRIDE

Three weeks after the Soviet-led invasion, the historic castle is the only point in this Slovak capital that is still occupied by the Russians. Psychologically they could have hardly picked a worse place. The castle, whose origins go back 1,000 years, is a symbol of Slovak national pride.

It is the scheduled site of a history-making ceremony next month—the formal signing of a document awarding long-coveted federal status to Slovakia. Demands for a greater Slovak say in the affairs of the two-nation republic played a major role in the political upheaval that put a Slovak, Alexnader Dubcek, and his reform-minded Czech and Slovak supporters in control of the party last January.

* * *

In July, Bratislava was the stage of the six-power talks at which the Russians and their hard-line allies solemnly assured Czechoslovakia it could follow its "own road to socialism."

Slovaks easily remember how Soviet party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev exchanged bearhugs with his Czechoslovak hosts after the conference and how he wiped tears during a wreath-laying ceremony at the hilltop Slavin memorial to 40,000 Soviet soldiers killed in the liberation of Slovakia.

Three weeks later, Soviet tanks, coming in from neighboring Hungary, entered the city in a postmidnight strike. Bullets scarred the spire of the Calvinistic church, the university and other buildings. Plaques are now being put up by the city to commemorate the 14 people killed in Bratislava.

"Imagine, Brezhnev crying like a baby here while he surely had the occupation plans in his pocket already," said a Czech-born railway worker from Australia, winding up his first visit to his native country in 20 years with a walk up to the Slavin monument.

"I've been here for three months and I am proud of these people," he said. "No country has ever shown such unity."

A Slovak emerging from a crowded Catholic church echoed his point.

STAND TOGETHER

"We have often feuded with the Czechs," he said. "But now we were made to stand together more than at any time before in history. Anyone calculating on a split between the Czechs and Slovaks is grossly mistaken."

Similar words could be heard at every stop on a 300-mile trip through the Slovak countryside. Soviet tanks and troops ringing Bratislava are mostly out of sight. Only occasionally can they be spotted in the vineyard-covered hills near the city.

More conspicuous are three large Hungarian troop camps northeast of Bratislava, in an area with a strong Hungarian-speaking minority. Contacts with villagers are said to have demoralized some Hungarian units so much that they had to be exchanged every two days for some time.

Unlike the Russians, the Hungarians strictly avoided any interference in Czechoslovak administrative matters, such as by occupying post offices or other public buildings. There is no record of any shooting incident involving the Hungarians.

SLOGANS RARE

Occasionally, Hungarian troopers can be seen walking over to a nearby village for a can of wine and a chat. Anticocupation slogans in Hungarian are extremely rare. And the anti-Soviet ones, often painted in Cyrillic letters on the roads, are gradually rubbed off by the tires of the long columns of cars returning from weekend trips.

In the village of Uhrovec, less frequented by motorists, one slogan—"U.S.S.R. leave us alone"—seemed to have been painted only recently across the street leading to the geese-surrounded house of the village administration. A Czechoslovak national flag was flying half-staff.

* * *

On a mountain nearby rises a memorial to Slovak partisans killed in World War II. One of the victims honored there is American-born Julius Dubcek who died in combat just five miles from Uhrovec, the native village of his younger brother—party chief Dubcek.

The southwesternmost city in the U.S. is San Diego, Calif.

A Junior Editors Quiz About WATER

QUESTION: Why is water wet?

ANSWER: Water is called by the scientists H_2O, by which is meant that it is two parts hydrogen to one of oxygen. By water we usually mean the familiar liquid we drink and swim in. But there can be other forms of H_2O, such as the solid form (ice) and the gaseous form (steam, water vapor — some of which is always present in the air).

Liquid water is wet because wetness is a characteristic of liquids. In the solid form of water — ice — the tiny molecules have moved apart into crystal form. They are now hardly in motion, which makes ice a solid mass.

But in liquid water, the molecules are decidely in motion, and this makes water a fluid mass with no actual shape of its own. It takes the shape of its container. It is this looseness of structure which makes water wet.

The surface of water has what is called surface tension; here, the molecules cling tightly together. Soap or detergents break up this surface tension and so actually make water wetter. In this condition, it is better fitted to rinse grease and dirt away.

Russian Device Induces Sleep via Electric Pulses

TORONTO (AP) — A machine that Russians use to induce sleep was demonstrated this week to the Canadian Medical and Biological Engineering Conference.

The conference was told Russian insomniacs can go to a neighborhood medical center and hook up.

* * *

Dr. Arsen Iwanovsky, head of science technology at the Library of Congress in Washington, demonstrated the electrosleep machine and said the Russians for 20 years have experimented successfully with electrosleep and electroanesthesia.

The patient puts on a device that looks like a black rubber mask. Inside are inch-wide sponges soaked in a salt solution, two covering the eyes, two behind the ears. The sponges also cover tiny electrodes which hook up to a generator.

PURPLE BLINDS

The insomniac receives electric pulses but won't feel a shock. At low frequencies he may see what looks like purple Venetian blinds, opening and closing.

He will feel a pleasant tingling behind the ears. In less than 15 minutes, most people fall asleep.

The gadget could replace addicting tranquilizers, says Iwanovsky. But he doubts it ever will be installed in the home. The mask and box belong in medical clinics, he said.

The Soviets are divided on why electrosleep works. Some claim it has a direct effect on the central nervous system; others say it has a suggestive effect.

OTHER USES

Soviet and East European documents indicate that electrosleep has been used with good results in surgery, obstetrics and such internal conditions as stomach ulcers, diabetes, asthma and headaches. For electroanesthesia, the current is turned up higher.

"It is not possible to say it has universal action," Iwanovsky said. "About 30 per cent of people say they feel nothing and benefit nothing."

THE DENNIS McLAINS
At Home in Beverly Hills

Historic No. 30 Biggest Appointment for Denny McLain

DETROIT (AP) — Denny McLain shut the door of his home in suburban Beverly Hills to the outside world today, beginning the transformation from organist to pitcher as he began to mentally prepare for Saturday's shot at a historic 30th victory.

"Noon—that's it," said McLain. "After that, no business appointments, no rehearsals. I'm closing the door."

* * *

It appeared to be a wise decision for McLain will be shooting for a spot in baseball's record book as the first 30-game winner in the majors since Dizzy Dean in 1934 when he steps on the mound Saturday at 2:15 p.m., EDT, before a packed Tiger Stadium and a national television audience (NBC).

And concentrating on that task had to be impossible Thursday at the McLain house, a new split level in a better-than-average residential neighborhood, for the atmosphere resembled something more closely associated with Beverly Hills in California than the small Oakland County community.

'NICE AND EASY'

With the front door swung open, the starins of "Nice and Easy" blared onto the street nice and loud as McLain, who already has recorded an album of his organ music, rehearsed with his quartet for a post-season tour.

The sounds, similar to those at any discotheque, spread through the house while McLain's agent, Frank Scott, answered the constantly ringing phone that brought offers of personal appearances and endorsements for the 24-year-old righthander.

* * *

"I doubt anybody gets more telephone calls than me," McLain quipped, "except the information operator getting the requests for our number."

Trying to cope with the scene, the people, were McLain's wife, Sharyn, and daughter, Kristi, 3, unquestionably somewhat bewildered by it all.

"Kristi's too young to know what's going on," McLain's wife explained. "She knows what daddy does, but she has been asking me over and over why everybody wants daddy.

"I tell her they want his autograph. She understands that."

Kristi, however, is being told a white lie. Everybody wants daddy's autograph—but on a contract.

Mrs. McLain, meanwhile, notices Denny a little-more-tense than usual, despite his claim to the contrary.

"I think he's more tense—under a lot of pressure," she said. "When he comes home he likes to try and forget it—and he really does try not to show it, tries not to let anyone know.

"But I know how much it means to him to have this opportunity and to go through something like this."

Even McLain acknowledges that.

"Sure, money's got a great deal to do with it," he said matter-of-factly. "But I've got 29 now. I'm so close. A heck of a lot of pride goes with it, and a heck of a lot of satisfaction.

"I want 30."

Earl After 13th on 'Friday 13'

Earl Wilson has had enough hard luck this season and if he's superstitious this will be a tough night for him.

Wilson, with a 12-12 record, goes for his 13th victory of the season on Friday the 13th when he leads the pennant bound Detroit Tigers against the Oakland Athletics in the first of a three game series tonight in Tiger Stadium.

The irony of it all is that his opponent Jim Hunter is 12-12 and one of the other will win or lose his 13th.

Wilson, a 22-game winner last year, has been periodically sidelined with an assortment of nagging injuries, including a bruised heel, a twisted knee and bruises caused by being struck with at least four line drives.

* * *

On top of that, the Tigers have averaged about two runs a game for the big ex-Marine. He personally drove in six of the 12 runs in the last two games he won.

"It's been very frustrating," said Wilson, who is well aware the big money in baseball goes to the big winners.

THREE STRAIGHT

The Tigers have won three straight going into tonight's game and now lead the second place Baltimore Orioles by 8½ games with 15 remaining.

But the players, who lost the pennant by one game of the final day of the season last year, aren't taking anything for granted.

"Right now we've got to bear down every game," says Willie Horton, the slugging left fielder. "Everyone around here knows that. We just got to keep fighting like it was the first game of the season."

Manager Mayo Smith will send Denny McLain after his 30th victory Saturday and Mickey Lolich will pitch the final game of the Oakland series Sunday.

The A's will counter with Chuck Dobson Saturday and Lew Krause Sunday.

Lions in Opener

Munson Doubtful

It's a touch and go situation for quarterback Bill Munson as the Detroit Lions prepare for their season opener Sunday in Dallas.

The newly obtained quarterback, who played one full game and one quarter in five exhibition games, was hardly able to throw the ball in practice this week as a result of an injury in the 9-6 loss to the Jets last Saturday.

* * *

The Lions' offense has been helpless in pre-season play and without Munson, much of the responsibility of putting it together against the Cowboys rests with rookie Greg Landry.

Landry, the No. 1 choice from Massachusettes, completed only nine of 20 attempts in exhibition play, while Munson had 42 completions in 72 attempts for a 58.3 average.

COWBOYS FAVORED

The Lions have not lost a season opener since 1960 but the Cowboys are seven point favorites in this one. Three of the season openers have been against Green Bay since 1960 and the Lions have won two of them and tied last year 17-17 as the Packers scored in the final minute.

* * *

This will be only the third game played between Detroit and Dallas, each having won once. In a lone pre-season game in 1965 with the Cowboys, the Lions were losers 20-10.

* * *

The injury riddled offense has been a big factor since the start of training camp for the Lions and it has accounted for only five touchdowns in the five pre-season contests.

In all, the Lions scored 59 points but the opposition was held to only 48 as the defense has been short of spectacular on a couple occasions.

In the five games, the Lions have given up 338 yards by rushing for an average of 66 yards per game, and in the air the opponents have picked up 740 yards for 148 average per game.

KICKING PROBLEM

Poor punting, penalties and fumbles have been statistics which the Lions have outpointed their opponents. Jerry DePoyster, the draft choice from Wyoming has been effective on kickoffs and field goals, but has a punting average of only 37.9 compared to 44.4 for the opposition.

Kickoff Sunday is 2:30 p.m. and it will be televised on Channel 2 and broadcast on WXYZ radio with Van Patrick.

Ellis Must Get Convincing Win

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Jimmy Ellis doesn't just want a victory over Floyd Patterson, he wants a convincing one. And he thinks he knows how to get it.

Ellis, who defends his World Boxing Association heavyweight championship against Patterson at Stockholm's outdoor Raasunda Stadium Saturday, said Thursday.

* * *

"This is an important fight for me." "My last fight against Jerry Quarry (whom he defeated for the title) was a good one tactically—but I suppose it was not a good one from a public point of view.

"I want to win this one against Patterson in a convincing way. I think my right hand will be the answer."

The bookies make Ellis the 2-1 favorite. The fight will be beamed to the United States via satellite. It is scheduled to start at 2:15 p.m. EDT, and will be telecast by ABC.

ONE OFFICIAL

Harold Valan of New York will be the sole official.

"The fight will be decided on a round by round basis with a mandatory count of eight," Varlan said. "That means any man who goes down must stay down for eight even if he feels he can pull himself off the floor after a second."

* * *

Valan also said, "in the first 14 rounds I shall make a count even if the bell goes after the man is down. The only round where this will not apply will be the last round."

Forecasters predicted the weather would be good for Saturday.

2 Top Teams Play

College Grid Season Starts

By the Associated Press

Tennessee and Nebraska, two of the top 20 teams in The Associated Press' preseason poll, help kick off college football's 100th campaign Saturday. Both could lose their ranking before the day is over.

Tennessee, 9-1 a year ago before losing to Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl, is ranked No. 9. The defending Southeastern Conference champion Vols entertain SEC-rival Georgia on their new $250,000 all-weather Tartan turf in Knoxville in the first nationally televised game of the season ABC, 3:45 p.m., EDT.

* * *

Nebraska's 13th-ranked Cornhuskers, trying to rebound from the worst season (6-4) Coach Bob Devaney ever had, are at home against Wyoming, only major team to go unbeaten in 1967 regular season play but not as strong this time around.

Other afternoon action finds North Carolina State at Wake Forest, New Mexico State at Utah State, Buffalo at Iowa State and Arkansas State at Western Michigan.

At night, Tulane is at Houston, Richmond at Toledo, Lamar Tech at West Texas State, Miami of Ohio at Xavier, Kent State at Dayton, Parsons at East Carolina, Morehead State at Marshall, Colorado State U. at New Mexico, California-Santa Barbara at Texas-El Paso and Furman at Mississippi College.

Georgia is almost as worried about Tennessee's plastic-type turf as about the Vols themselves.

"We feel that the new field will put us at a disadvantage in the first game, especially because Tennessee will have an opportunity to practice on the field and we won't," complained Coach Vince Dooley.

California to Visit Michigan Next Week for Opener

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Michigan football team took advantage of the first day of good football weather this week, beginning drills Thursday aimed at their first opponent of the season—California.

Coach Bump Elliott said he will spend the weekend and all of next week running the squad against California plays. He said his plans are based on films of California games last season and early practice reports.

The Sept. 21 match in Ann Arbor will be the first game of the season for both teams.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Coaches eased up on the Michigan State football squad Thursday and Friday, scheduling only light workouts prior to a major head-banging session Saturday.

It will be the last hard hitting before the Sept. 21 home opener only slightly more than a week away against Syracuse.

Northwestern — The Wildcats have regained the services of two injured first stringers, Ken Luxton, offensive right halfback, and Denny White, defensive halfback. Sophomores Dave Shelbourne and Darrel Splithoff shared the quarterback assignment in Thursday's drill in the absence of veteran Dana Woodring, who has a bruised rib.

* * *

Purdue — The Boilermaker football squad will hold a practice game Saturday which will be barred to the public. Coach Jack Mollenkopf said that he will not stick strictly to a No. 1 offensive lineup against the No. 1 defensive squad in the game.

Indiana — For the first time in the Hoosiers' history the football squad has elected three co-captains. They are Al Gage, of St. Louis, Ill.; Jerry Grecer of Gary, Ind., defensive tackle, and Jim Sniadecki, of South Bend, Ind., linebacker. Gage is a tight end.

PLAYER SHIFT

Minnesota — A Gopher shift in the lineup has moved Alvine Hauwes of Memphis into the left tackle offensive spot that had been held since the beginning of fall practice by Jim Wrobel.

Ohio State — Coach Woody Hayes says 21 Buckeye players still are plagued with injuries, but only a couple of them are serious. Halfback Jay Bombach faces a third operation on his right knee and middleguard Vic Stottlemyer is troubled with a sore knee.

* * *

Wisconsin—The Badgers went through double drills in preparation for their opener against Arizona State in Tempe Sept. 21. Three defensive linebackers, Clarence Brown, Rudy Schmidt and Harry Alford, remain on the injured list.

Illinois — Coach Jim Valek pointed his squad toward Saturday's final practice scrimmage which will determine as many as five starting positions. Valek said the Illini should have all of the major challengers for starting posts healthy for that shakedown test.

Iowa—Four pre all-American football selections were among the 39 players who reported for freshman practice. They are Bill Windauer, lineman from Chicago; Tom Smith, fullback from Waterloo; Levi Mitchell, back from Gary, and Steve Penney, back from Genesco, Ill.

CRACKS RECORD — Bob Seagren of the University of Southern Cal eases over the bar at 17 feet 8¾ inches to crack the world pole vault record in the Olympic tryouts at South Lake Tahoe, Calif. It was one inch over the record of Paul Wilson a teammate at Southern Cal.

Seagren, Carlos Newest World Record Holders

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP) — Bob Seagren and John Carlos, track and field's newest world record holders, have their own problems, but hold it a moment and consider the infuriating plight of Jerry Bright and Tom Randolph.

Bright and Randolph ran 200 meters in 20.1 seconds at the U.S. Olympic track and field trials on the wooded track just up the hill from here Thursday, one-tenth of a second slower than it had ever been run before.

* * *

They will not, however, be part of the U.S. Olympic team—three men in the race ran it faster than they did.

There was Carlos, whose 19.7 clocking beat Tommie Smith's world mark by three-tenths. There was Smith himself, second in 19.8, and there was Larry Questad, third in 20.0.

Seagren broke the world pole vault record by an inch and a quarter—or was it just an inch?—clearing the bat at 17-9 as he became perhaps the only member of the U.S. pole vault contingent who doesn't shock people by being there.

* * *

The other two are John Pennel, who once held the world mark but had been out of action for two years after an automobile accident and has just now rounded into complete recovery, and Casey Carrigan, the first high school student ever to clear the 17-0.

* * *

Seagren's vault was announced as 17-9, but then some stickler for the rules said, no, it was only 17-8¾, because when converting from meters to feet you have to subtract one-quarter of an inch.

* * *

But then it was decided to submit the record as 17-9, or 5.41 meters, which is the same thing, and let the International Amateur Athletic Federation iron it out.

HOW HIGH?

The record Seagren broke belonged to his teammate, Paul Wilson, out of these trials because of an injury. It was the third time Seagren had claimed the world standard.

Carrigan, of Orting, Wash., whose previous best was 16-8¼, could hardly stand in one place after vaulting 17-0 and earning a spot on the squad.

* * *

No sooner had Carlos run his race, winning what observers were quick to call the finest 200 in history, than credit for the world record came into doubt.

* * *

Rules say a track shoe may have no more than eight spikes. Carlos was testing a new shoe with 68 tiny rubber edges that are like little brushes.

The rule was made when the new rubberized tracks now generally in use were unheard of and really has no application to present circumstances.

* * *

But it is the rule and Hilmer Lodge, chairman of the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Committee, expressed doubts that Carlos' mark would receive international recognition.

"The record will be submitted," Lodge said, "with the notation that the shoe worn had 68 brushes."

STEEPLECHASE

Two other winners Thursday were George Young, the 31-year-old Casa Grande, Ariz., schoolteacher, and Mark Murro the 19 year-old-Mesa, Ariz., junior college student.

Young won the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 8:57.9. Also earning trips to Mexico were Bill Reilly, second in 8:58.8 and Conrad Nightengale, third in 9:04.4.

Murro, whose home is Newark, N.J., tossed 263-9 with a javelin borrowed from Garry Stenlund, who finished third at 254-9, to Frank Covelli's 259-0.

HAND FOR THE VICTOR — Larry Questad (right) former Stanford runner gives John Carlos of New York a hand of congratulations after the 200 meter race in which Carlos cracked the world record in the Olympic trials at South Lake Tahoe, Calif. yesterday. Carlos' time was 19.7, breaking the existing record of Tommie Smith at 20 flat. Questad was third in the event.

Jack Bachelor Seeks Olympic Berth

Among the contestants bidding for a spot in the U.S. Olympics in a long-distance race today is Jack S. Bachelor of Birmingham.

Bachelor, 24, a 1962 graduate of Birmingham Seaholm, ran fifth in his heat of the 5,000-meter trials Wednesday and the top eight in that race moved into the finals today.

The top three will represent the United States in the Olympic Games in Mexico next month.

* * *

Bachelor, who is studying entomology, is at present a member of the Florida Track Club.

He's a 1966 graduate of Miami (Ohio) and gained his masters degree at University of Florida in June of this year. He is still at U. of Florida working on his doctorate.

Nats Defeat Orioles

Howard Belts McNally's Slider

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dave McNally's unbeaten streak ended much the way it began—with a slider.

Slugger Frank Howard, swinging on a 3-0 pitch, belted a wayward slider out of sight for his second homer Thursday night as the Washington Senators beat Baltimore 4-1 and handed McNally his first defeat since the All-Star break.

* * *

McNally, whose mid-season development of a tricky slider had triggered a 12-game victory string for a 20-9 record, shrugged, "It had to end some time."

Howard hit his 41st and 42nd homers off McNally in boosting his major league lead. The first blast sailed more than 465 feet into the upper deck and was the only hit off McNally in the first five innings. Then Howard snapped a 1-1 tie with a two-run shot off the Oriole southpaw in the seventh.

McNally said he wasn't surprised to see the big slugger swinging even though the count was three balls and no strikes—a pitch most batters let go by.

TOO HIGH

"I knew he would be swinging," he said. "I was trying to throw it down and inside. It was a bad pitch, way too high."

Senators' Manager Jim Lemon said Howard has been told to go for the 3-0 pitch at any time and explained, "He's a wild swinger. He needs every strike he can get."

* * *

Howard, who also fanned twice for a total of 129 strikeouts to go with his 42 homers this year, tied the Washington club record with his two blasts.

The previous season high was set by Roy Sievers in 1957 and matched by Harmon Killebrew in 1959. Howard said his goal is 45 homers for the year.

Five of Howard's home runs have come off McNally.

Manager Earl Weaver closed the Baltimore clubhouse for 10 minutes after the game to give the Orioles a tongue-lashing for what he called a lackluster attitude.

Baltimore had beaten Washington the first 12 games of the season before losing four of the last six to the Senators. Weaver told the Orioles they would still be in the pennant race against Detroit if it wasn't for their uninspired play against last-place Washington.

* * *

"If we'd won those four, we would be right back in it," he said.

Instead the loss trimmed Detroit's magic number to seven, the combination of Tiger victories and Oriole losses needed to clinch the pennant.

Weaver told his players he was imposing a fine of $100 for every missed sign the remainder of the season and said, "In the last eight or 10 games we've missed 15 or 20 signs."

He told them, "There's going to be 25 guys on this club next year and they had better care whether we win or lose."

Soccer Foes in Deadlock

By the Associated Press

Nobody's won one and everybody was 1-1 in the North American Soccer League playoffs today.

In the opening round of the playoffs Wednesday night, Kansas City and San Diego played to a 1-1 tie in the Western Conference while Atlanta and Cleveland also battled to a 1-1 deadlock in the Eastern Conference.

Each is a two-game series with the winner determined by the highest number of goals. In the event of a second game tie, there will be a 30-minute overtime followed by a sudden death period if still deadlocked.

Players Keep Silent Over 'Peace' Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The men who put up the money have forged two-thirds of a compromise in the player rebellion on the rich pro golf tour. But the players still are silent on whether they will accept the peace proposal.

The sponsors' plan for a new 12-man super board to govern the golf tour won acceptance Thursday from the Professional Golfers Association on the condition that the PGA continue to handle the day-to-day operations of the tournament circuit.

* * *

Gardner Dickinson, head of the players who bolted last month with plans to set up their own tour, said he would have a statement later today when he finished play in the Kemper Open at Sutton, Mass.

Arnold Palmer said immediately that he was extremely disappointed in the PGA acceptance of the super board.

Palmer, one fogolf's greats, had proposed his own compromise that he called for a 14-man committee, with the players filling seven of the seats. The PGA spurned that plan in endorsing the sponsors' suggestion.

* * *

The PGA agreed with the sponsors on the outline of a 12-member board with three men each from the players, the sponsors and the PGA.

Those nine would select three other members from the ranks of retired golf greats, such as Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson and Lew Worsham.

The plan would accord the sponsors a formal role for the first time in setting policies, selecting sites, scheduling tournaments and approving purses.

Indiana Champ New Golf Coach at Michigan

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Bill Newcomb, a former Indiana State Open champion from Logansport, Ind., was named head golf coach at the University of Michigan Thursday by Athletic Director Don Canham.

* * *

At the same time, Canham named Bill Newton, a U-M dentistry student from Ann Arbor, as the school's first full time assistant golf coach.

* * *

Newcomb, 28, succeeds Bert Katzenmeyer, who retired last year to accept a post as athletic director at Wichita State University, Wichita, Kan.

* * *

Newcomb, who won the Michigan Amateur golf title in 1967, also is a faculty member of U-M's School of Landscape Architecture.

Goldstand Leads Kemper Open by One

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Joel Goldstrand, winner of less than $2,200 on the PGA tour this year, held a one stroke lead over comeback veteran J. C. Goosie, but Arnold Palmer was right on their heels today as the $150,000 Kemper Open entered the second round.

A field of 140, due to be cut at the halfway mark of the 72-hole test, teed off in a clouded atmosphere as it awaited official word from the newly formed American Professional Golfers on the latest development in its fight with the PGA.

* * *

APG President Gardner Dickinson was due to start in midmorning, but hoped to hold a news conference at the end of the round.

He spent much of the night attempting to contact all seven APG officers on the PGA's decision to go along with a 12-member Tournament Control body.

OWN PUTTER

Goldstrand, 29-year-old former Houston star from Worthington, Minn., shocked the veteran pros by employing a sizzling home-made putter for a five under par 67 on the 7,230-yard Pleasant Valley Country Club course Thursday.

* * *

Goldstrand, who barely managed to earn a tournament berth in a qualifying round Monday, used the putter he made himself for the first time—and he needed to use it just 29 times on mammoth greens.

* * *

He took a normal putter, hollowed it and used epoxy steel to put a mallet on it. He let it harden overnight, filed it down and insert a brightly painted nail in the center to help him with putting direction. It worked—at least the first time he used the putter.

* * *

Goosie, 39, who returned to the tour last spring after spending more than seven years as a club pro in Florida, took a bogey on the first hole and then settled down for an outstanding round.

FINEST ROUND

Palmer came through with his finest opening round since the Memphis open in June as he carded a 69 despite 33 putts. He was satisfied with his driving and putting but said he still is not "crispy" with his irons.

Tied with Palmer entering the second round were Bruce Crampton, Art Wall, Charlie Sifford, Phil Rodgers, Mike Higgins and Bert Greene.

Host pro Paul Harney, Mac McLendon, Laurie Hammer and Al Gieberger were another stroke back with 70s.

U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino was far back with a fat 76.

Maple Leafs Give Orders on Neatness

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs may lead the National Hockey League in neatness this season, if General Manager-Coach Punch Imlach has his way.

Imlach, who Wednesday ordered all Maple Leafs with sideburns to shave them off, was just as tough at the team's training camp Thursday.

* * *

Midway through practice, the bald-headed Imlach called rookie defenseman Brad Selwood over to the board after he noticed the player's abundance of hair.

"Do you know how to shave?" asked Imlach.

"Yes sir."

"Do you have any blades?"

"Yes."

"Then use them."

"I'm going to get a haircut tonight," Selwood said.

TRAINER, TOO

Imlach also threatened trainer Joe Sigro with a $25 fine unless he had his sideburns removed by today. Goaltender Bruce Gamble and left winger Wayne Carleton trimmed their sideburns off Wednesday, but defenseman Mike Pelyk obviously didn't take enough off.

"Get some more off, or else no check," Imlach told him.

By late Thursday, Imlach was delighted to report in an interview that all sideburns at the training camp had vanished.

Mass Holdout Is Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball players may stage a mass holdout next spring in the sport's first strike, a spokesman for the players association said Thursday.

Richard Moss said players are refusing to sign contracts for the 1969 season until they can win improvements in pensions, insurance, spring training pay and other fringe benefits.

"I think the players are prepared to go all the way," Moss said.

* * *

Moss, representing the Major League Baseball Association in a legal panel on collective bargaining in professional sports, said the negotiations will open next month.

Sports already has been struck by the National Football League players dispute that delayed preseason drills this summer and by the rebellion of golf stars threatening to set up their own pro tour in a dispute with the parent Professional Golfers Association.

Southall Signs With Diamonds

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Diamonds of the Continental Football League announced Thursday they had signed former Baylor quarterback Terry Southall.

* * *

Southall, a sixth-round draft choice of the Baltimore Colts in 1967, was placed on waivers by the Colts this year. He played a year in the National Football League as backup quarterback to Johnny Unitas.

Women All-Stars Wins

Pistons Open Camp Minus Joe Strawder

MARYSVILLE, Mich. (AP)—The Detroit Pistons, minus center Joe Strawder, opened training camp Thursday and the first item on the agenda was finding a replacement for the 6-foot-10 pivotman.

★ ★ ★

"We've talked to Strawder and he says he won't come back," said Coach Dennis Butcher.

★ ★ ★

That leaves Butcher with three candidates to take over the center slot, certainly one of the toughest positions to fill in the National Basketball Association with the likes of Boston's Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain of the Los Angeles Lakers to contend with.

Strawder, who underwent surgery last April for a back ailment, indicated in July that he would not fulfill the final year of a two-year contract.

TWO ROOKIES

So the pivot spot will be up for grabs among 6-foot-10 Jim Fox, 6-foot-11 rookies Otto Moore and seven-foot Rich Niemann.

"Right now we'll probably go with Fox as No. 1 because he is the most experienced," said Butcher.

Fox came to the Pistons last year in a deal with the Cincinnati Royals. But he played less than 40 games last season.

Moore is the team's top draft choice and was a college standout at Pan American in Texas. Niemann, the team's No. 4 draft choice, played college ball at St. Louis.

Butcher put his team through a 90-minute scrimmage shortly after they suited up for the first workout.

★ ★ ★

"We don't have a lot of time," said Butcher. "We want to give all these kids a chance to show what they can do."

The Pistons have 13 rookies in camp to fight it out for four openings on the 12-man roster. The veterans are scheduled to report Monday.

Continental Player Latest Casualty

Pro football's death toll has climbed to five in 20 years with the death of an Omaha player.

Glenn Hepburn, 31, a linebacker with the Omaha Mustangs, died Thursday in a Detroit hospital of head injuries suffered in a Continental Football League game with Detroit last Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

Three deaths have occurred in the American Football League and one in the National Football League.

★ ★ ★

Stan Malden, a tackle for the old Chicago Cardinals, was fatally injured in an NFL game at Pittsburgh in 1948.

In the AFL, Howard Glenn of the old New York Titans died of a broken neck in a game at Houston Oct. 9, 1960.

★ ★ ★

Another broken neck claimed the life of Stone Johnson, 23, a rookie flanker for the Kansas City Chiefs, who died in a hospital nine days after he was injured in an exhibition with Houston.

★ ★ ★

Mack Hill, a Kansas City fullback, died of complications following knee surgery Dec. 14, 1965—two days after he was hurt in a game at Buffalo.

Can-Am Cup Road Racing Drivers Set

BRIDGEHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Thirty-one top road racing drivers were set today to begin practice and qualifying for the Bridgehampton Grand Prix, the second event of the six-race, $500,000 Canadian-American Challenge Cup series.

★ ★ ★

Included in the field for Sunday's race is Dennis Hulme of New Zealand, who won this event last year, took the Road America at Elkhart Lake, Wis., the first race of the Can-Am series, two weeks ago and is closing in on the world's driving championship.

★ ★ ★

Also making a bid for top money in the more than $61,000 Bridgehampton is Bruce McLaren, who owns Hulme's car and is the defending Challenge Cup champion. McLaren finished second in the Road America.

35 in Golf Field of LPGA Event

CALDWELL, Idaho (AP) — A field of 35 professional lady golfers tees off today in the Englehorn Invitational Tournament, but with two glamor names missing from the line-up.

Kathy Whitworth, second in 1968 money winnings on the ladies' tour, isn't entered; nor is Mickey Wright.

But the year's top money winner among touring lady pros, Carol Mann, will compete, along with Sandra Haynie, third in winnings.

Hometown girl and tournament namesake Shirley Englehorn will be the sentimental favorite.

The 54-hole tournament, with $2,000 first prize, ends Sunday.

TOMMY ARMOUR

Ex-Golf Great Dies After Lengthy Illness

LARCHMONT, N.Y. (AP) — Tommy Armour, a Scotsman who recovered from severe war wounds and six months of blindness to become one of golf's all-time greats, is dead at the age of 72.

He died Wednesday night at his home here after a lengthy illness.

★ ★ ★

One of the great iron and brassie players, Armour was the first professional to win the four big tournaments of his day —the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Canadian Open.

He also won the French Amateur in 1920, his first major success, in addition to a number of smaller tournaments during the early days of the PGA tour.

BLACK WATCH

In 1914, Armour enlisted in the famed Black Watch Highland Regiment. He saw action at the front and suffered severe wounds, particularly to his left arm, legs and eyes, at Ypres. He was blinded for six months but finally recovered the sight in his right eye.

Other golfers, particularly the immortal Bobby Jones, often turned to Armour for advice. Lawson Little telephoned from St. Andrews, Scotland, to Armour in Chicago for help before the final round of the 1935 British Open.

Despite his superb iron play, Armour was an opponent of the wedge, which he said "took 90 per cent of the skill out of short iron play."

Born in Edinburgh, Armour came to the United States in 1921, a few months after playing with the British against U.S. amateurs in the forerunner of the Walker Cup series. Five years later as an American citizen he was a member of the U.S. pro team that met the British in the matches that led to the Ryder Cup competition.

OPEN CHAMP

Armour beat Harry Cooper in a playoff for the 1927 U.S. Open title after tying the match with a 12-foot putt on the 72nd hole. He captured the PGA in 1930 and the British Open at Carnoustie, Scotland, in 1930.

Funeral service will be private at the discretion of the family.

Survivors include his widow, Estelle; two sons—Thomas Armour Jr. of Las Vegas and Alex of Larchmont, and two adopted sons—Ben Andrews of Monsey, N.Y., and John Armour of Ocala, Fla.

Coho Reports at Platte Bay

Top coho attraction today is Platte Bay as well as stream fishing in the Big Manistee and Little Manistee Rivers and Bear Creek.

Yesterday, 600 boats were sighted by the Conservation Department in Platte Bay. Reports indicate good catches with coho averaging 12 to 14 pounds.

★ ★ ★

Stream fishing is proving poular with many anglers in the Manistee area. Most productive of the three major streams here was Bear Creek. Catches were averaging 13 to 15 pounds.

★ ★ ★

Reports indicate a run of coho and chinook from Lake Michigan through Muskegon Lake to the Muskegon River. Catches, however, have been reported as spotty.

Mrs. Cova Takes Weekly Golf Event

Mrs. Midge Cova of Novi put together a 42-39—81 to take honors this week in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association outing at Glenhurst.

Two strokes off the pace was Mrs. James Courtney of Livonia. Isobel Burrell of Detroit led the first flight with a 93, Mrs. William Pate of Detroit carded a 101 to lead the second flight and Mrs. James Suddath of Birmingham led the third flight with a 108.

Vikings First to Start

Pros Kickoff Saturday Night

By the Associated Press

Atlanta and Minnesota, a couple of teams consigned to a year of mediocrity, blast off the 49th National Football League season Saturday night.

The opener on the Vikings' field is the first of eight games in three days during which all 16 NFL teams make their debut.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, Houston's defending Eastern Division champs, still smarting over an opening loss to Kansas City, take on Miami, 0-0, in the Orange Bowl as the American Football League swings into its second week of activity Saturday night,

★ ★ ★

Both Minnesota and Atlanta are rich with youth, and neither has a potent offense. The Falcons won only one of 13 games in their second season in the NFL last year, while Minnesota claimed the Central Division cellar for the second straight year.

Not much improvement is expected of either this season.

SURPRISE MOVE

In a minor surprise, Viking Coach Bud Grant announced that Joe Kapp will be his starting quarterback instead of Gary Cuozzo.

★ ★ ★

Cuozzo was picked up from New Orleans in an effort to add more punch to the Vikings' sagging attack, but missed valuable time during the exhibition season with a jammed shoulder.

★ ★ ★

However, Grant did say he wouldn't hesitate to change quarterbacks at any time during the game.

Atlanta has been forced into a bevy of personnel changes because of injuries, including a knee injury that has sidelined flashy fullback Junior Coffey.

★ ★ ★

Miami faces a difficult chore in stopping the Oilers' Pete Beathard, who hit on 23 of 48 passes, including two touchdown strikes to rookie Mac Haik, for 385 yards in the loss at Kansas City.

The second-year Dolphins boast a beefed up attack headed by quarterback Bob Griese and rookie fullback Larry Csonka.

★ ★ ★

Six other NFL openers are on tap Sunday—including Green Bay's opening bid for an unprecedented fourth straight league championship against Philadelphia—and one more Monday night.

★ ★ ★

In other Sunday openers, Baltimore, with golden armed Johnny Unitas a doubtful starter, entertains San Francisco; Cleveland is at New Orleans; New York at Pittsburgh; Washington at Chicago, and Detroit at Dallas.

St. Louis plays host to strong Los Angeles Monday night in a nationally televised game, CBS, 9:30 p.m., EDT.

The NFL is carved into four divisions again this season, with Green Bay favored in the Central, Dallas in the Capitol, St. Louis and Cleveland in the Century and Los Angeles and Baltimore in the Coastal.

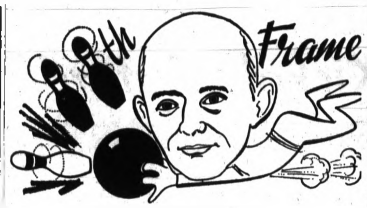
ROYAL OAK ★ CALL 549-7474



By JERE CRAIG

The familiar clatter of falling pins once again is building in intensity as the country's favorite family indoor sport keeps the lights burning morning, afternoon and night at the county's 50 bowling establishments.

The trend is toward bigger and better seasons each year in the bowling industry, and Pontiac already has had a 300 game this month and indications are another blue ribbon campaign is looming.

The bowling scene locally has changed very little since last spring. There were no significant switches of management or exterior alterations among the members of the Bowling Proprietors Association of North Oakland County.

Owner Bob Crebassa of Royal Recreation in Lake Orion has taken over the full-time operation of that house and a general facelifting is in the works.

Birmingham Bowl has added two lanes, and Country Lanes in Farmington has gone from 24 to 32 lanes.

★ ★ ★

Among the management changes around the area, Hal Peters (Gold Crown Lanes in Troy); Sam Wolk (Southfield's Melody Lanes); Joe Maly (Star Lanes, Southfield); Dick McCuaid (Strike 'n' Spare, Birmingham) and Frank Bolger (Clawson-Troy Elks) all are in their first full seasons.

Royal Oak had the biggest turnover. Jack Yeager at Red Run, Fred Eazer of Royal Oak Bowling, Ed Sobczak Jr. of the RO Elks and Cliff Dreher at Yorba Linda have all taken over since last fall.

UNIQUE SPONSORSHIP

Team captain Fran Bertram has worked out a happy arrangement for his entry in the Huron Bowl Classic.

Five Oxford merchants — Groves' Five and Dollar, Cadillac Food Center, Patterson's Pharamacy, The Clothes Closet and Oxford Hills Golf Club— are each sponsoring one member of the team, which naturally is called the Oxford Merchants.

Team members Art Pearson, Joe Myers, Bob Gronzo, Nick Coates and Bertram each sport the name of his individual sponsor plus the team name. A partial sponsorship is in the mill for substitute Bill Johns.

★ ★ ★

Dolores Mack doesn't bowl regularly in any league due to a physical handicap. The highlight of the season for her usually is to break 100.

But at the moment she is beaming about a game in the 70's. It seems this writer was bowling against her at the time and foolishly taunted Mrs. Mack about a 5-7 setup. She responded by converting the split (and she's a left-handed bowler) and I hope this will pay off the debt!

QUICK PAYOFF — The bowling season provided a quick payoff for Don Roehl (left) of Waterford Township. He rolled a 300 game last week at West Side Lanes on the opening night of the St. Michael's League, and last night he received a $100 check plus a trophy from copreprietors Jerry (pictured) and Sam Perna before the league's return to action.

Donald Roehl Has 300 Game

St. Mike Leaguer Attracts Sponsor

When your bowling team doesn't have a sponsor on the opening night of the season, sometimes it pays to be a little drastic with your bowling.

A General Motors plant protection worker with the appropriate name of Donald G. Roehl (as in roll the ball) did just that, registering a 300 game as the St. Michael's League opened the season last week at West Side Lanes.

★ ★ ★

The 36-year-old bowler and his teammates returned yesterday for the second night of the season now known as the Harwood Custom Tailoring crew.

FIRST ONE

The first perfect game for Roehl, the 300 was preceded by 180-151 as he posted a 631 series. All but one of his deliveries was in the pocket in the 300.

"The 11th ball was the worst," he revealed, although it was an earlier delivery that crossed over to the "Brooklyn" side.

"I had trouble standing up," Roehl revealed. But it was in the pocket, and the last delivery was another solid hit. "I watched it hit, then jumped in the air."

INACTIVE

Roehl graduated from St. Michael's high school in 1950 and began league bowling in 1956. He quit after four years, then resumed again in 1966. He has four children.

★ ★ ★

Ironically, It is the second perfect league game for West Side, both coming on the opening night of a league and both being recorded on lanes 11 and 12.

Women Keglers Score

With the men already having a 300 game and a 719 series to their credit, the local women are showing signs that they, too, want to join the scoring parade.

Last week Loretta Fisher of the Independent Ladies League at West Side Lanes rolled a 240 while compiling a 562 series.

Then Monday Pontiac General Hospital circuit member Carolyn Sanford hit a 244 at Savoy Lanes.

The best team actual total reported to date is in 3156 of the Oxford Merchants in last Friday's Huron Bowl Classic. Hartford Roofing was close behind at 3149, and had a high game of 1150.

Joe Myers just missed the 700 mark with a 243-247—699 effort. Art Pearson, Myers' teammate on the merchants' squad, had high game with his 265 (235—694).

Hartford was led by Tony Ledesma's 247-221—670. Ed Gibbs posted 250-234—662 for the roofers; and Jack Aldred registered a 253-204—649 for Team No. 14.

★ ★ ★

The West Side Lanes Classic men began this week with Irv Lohr taking runner-up honors individually. He had 244 — 635 to trail George Howard's 254 and Mike Flores' 647.

★ ★ ★

Al Norman matched Lohr's 244, and Joe Foster had a 630 series. Pontiac Janitor Supply was the only sponored squad posting an eight-point sweep.

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard

Crowds at golf tournaments are usually quite manageable. But there are some, particularly those known as "Arnie's Army," that at times can be detrimental to a game.

In the Pensacola Open, in 1963, Harold Kneece was leading. He was playing with Arnold Palmer on the final day. On the second hole, Harold had hit near the green. Then Palmer hit close to his ball.

KNEECE DOWN

Immediately, "Arnie's Army" surged onto the fairway and accidentally knocked Kneece down. It shook him up and he shot a 73. He tied for second. I am not saying that Kneece and not Palmer would have won that Open. I am simply illustrating how a crowd might adversely affect one's play.

★ ★ ★

A similar incident happened to Bert Yancey recently in the Doral. He too was mowed down by the "Army."

This is not Palmer's fault in any way. He has tried to talk with the crowd and ask their cooperation. He doesn't any longer. He knows it is futile. Those responsible are the marshals. They, too, are watching Palmer — instead of the crowd.

★ ★ ★

There seems to be another kind of following for Lee Trevino, called "Lee's Fleas." But the only threat they pose — at least right now — is to make Lee more money.

Meadowbrook WDGA Champion

A long putt by Mrs. Jane Young gave Meadowbrook Country Club the team championship of the Women's District Golf Association yesterday at Tam O'Shanter.

Meadowbrook had 31 points after Mrs. Young 20 footer on the final hole with 30½ for the Tam team.

Mrs. Candy Johns, Mrs. Helen Martin and Mrs. Mary York were the other team members.

Bye and Large Wins Brown Jug Trial

DETROIT (AP) — Bye and Large, driven by George Sholty, held on Thursday at Detroit's Hazel Park track to win the Brown Jug trial for trotters. The time was 2 minutes flat.

Fulla Napoleon was second and Meadow Brick third in the field of five.

Bye and Large was a 3-2 favorite, but only after Rum Customer was scratched with a virus and subsequent fever.

Area Drag Boaters Triumph at Oxford

The second annual Eastern Chapter Championships of the National Drag Boat Association attracted 60 boats and a large number of spectators to Oxford Lake last Sunday.

Three entries from Lake Orion and another from Cass Lake were among the 19 trophy recipients. Two classes of outboards and 12 inboard divisions were held.

Five states were represented in the competition that was staged on a timed quarter-mile straightaway at the lake.

★ ★ ★

Detroiter Bob Morris received the Lanny Ammons Memorial Trophy for the fastest time, a state record 121.62 miles per hour.

Morris and his brother George were two of the five trophy winners in the 100-plus class. This group included Jack Watuins of Cass Lake, Vic Watson and Dudley Proctor (both of Detroit).

OUTBOARDS

Both outboard division winners were Detroiters: Bill Blake (46-50 m.p.h. class), and Lowell Schumacher (50-55 m.p.h.).

Lake Orion residents Don Champagne (50-55 m.p.h.), Skip Hazelton (55-60) and Wilbert-Verpooten (75-80) were inboard winners. So was Toledo's Jerry Hayne (65-70).

The rest of the trophies went to Motor City contestants. This included Roger Wolfram (45-50), John Fogg (60-65), Harry Serra (70-75), Jerry Emke (80-85), Jim Mather (85-90), Gerald Lamphier and Mike Ferguson (90-95) and Dick Bigler (95-100).

There will be an area drag boat race under the auspices of the state association Sept. 9 at Oxford Lake.

Maples Dominate Series

Groves to Test Seaholm First

All streaks come to a close sooner or later, and coach Jim Kinnison and the Falcons of Birmingham Groves are trying to find an end of a string that's a little embarrassing.

It's one thing to lose away from home, but even worse is losing at home and to a neighbor at that.

For the past seven years, the Falcons have taken on city rival Seaholm and each time they've come away second best.

FIRST ONE CLOSE

Fact is the closest the Falcons came to winning was in their first shot at the Maples. That came back in 1961 and they dropped a 15-13 decision.

* * *

Since then, Seaholm has blanked the birds four times, and the Maples will be trying to do it again this evening when the two square off on the Groves field at 8 o'clock.

NEITHER A THREAT

Neither team is considered a threat in its league race, but conference titles are unimportant at this stage. At stake is city prestige and some 4,000 to 5,000 fans are expected to be on hand to watch the action.

* * *

It's one of the big games on a busy Friday night scheduled that signals the kickoff of the 1968 season.

NON-LEAGUE TILTS

Like Seaholm, other members of the Southeastern Michigan Association will be facing non-conference foes this evening.

Ferndale, the SEMA favorite, entertains Royal Oak Dondero Southfield players host to city rival Lathrup, Royal Oak Kimball is at Walled Lake, Berkley plays host to Troy and Hazel Park is at home against Warren Fitzgerald.

Groves' comembers in the Northwest Suburban also face non-league outings.

The big one has North Farmington moving in to take on Pontiac Northern.

Elsewhere, Waterford invades West Bloomfield, Lake Orion visits Waterford Kettering, Waterford Mott journeys to Clio and Pontiac Central has a date at Midland.

In others, Milford is at Avondale, Oxford at Clarkston, Romeo at Lapeer, Rochester at Utica Stevenson, Romeo at Lapeer, Utica at Center Line and Northville at Plymouth.

Defending champion Orchard Lake St. Mary opens defense of its Northwest Catholic title Sunday at home against Royal Oak St. Mary. Another league game have Pontiac Catholic entertaining Waterford Our Lady, Farmington Our Lady plays host to St. Francis de Sales. A Saturday night tilt has Ferndale St. James at Detroit St. Rita.

At Waterford Hills

Regional Races Scheduled

The Sports Car Club of America will conduct its Regional Races this weekend at the Waterford Hills Sports Car Racing course, located on the grounds of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, six miles north of Pontiac on Waterford Road.

* * *

Entries from eight Midwestern states and Canada have been filed for the meeting which will feature eight 10-lap events on Saturday, beginning at 12:15 p.m., and nine races on Sunday, three of which will be over the 15-lap or 22½-mile distance.

The first Sunday race will start at 2 p.m.

* * *

Jeff Lance of Troy, who moved up from G-production cars in which he holds the track record of 62.05 miles per hour, is considred a favorite in the Formula class in which he has won 12 consecutive races this summer. Lance drives a Lotus Formula B.

The Waterford Hills Sports Car Racing Club, a non-profit organization, will donate a portion of its receipts over the weekend to Tom Swindell, veteran driver from Pontiac who was seriously burned in an accident two weeks ago at Elkhart Lake, Wisconsin.

LOCAL ENTRANTS

Pontiac entries include: Jim Hagerty, driving a Honda, and Rita Harms, in a Sprite, competing in H-production class; Stacy Walters and Harold McDonald, both driving Formula Vee cars; Dennis Smrcina, piloting a Delta in D-production; and Allen Reed, Jr., in Formula Vee.

* * *

Bill Larson, in a Lotus Super Seven, from Utica is entered in F-production; Dick Harms, driving a Sprite, is in H-production competition; and John Kubiac, also of Utica, is a Formula Vee entrant.

Dave Shook and Charles Bartlebaugh, Rochester, are entered in Formula Vee competition.

* * *

Art White of Waterford, one of the favorites in Formula Vee, and Dick Puertas, driving a Ginetta in E-production, his fellow townsmen, are slated to race both Saturday and Sunday.

Farmington entries include: Tom Abbott, in Formula Vee; Jim Branam, Larry Clingman and Garrett Van Camp, all in E-production; and Kryn Irhman in A-modified class.

Mishap Kills Former Pitcher

GRANADA HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Don Rudolph, 37, who compiled a 17-29 record pitching for four major league baseball teams between 1957 and 1963, has been killed in a traffic accident in this Los Angeles suburban community.

Rudolph in the contracting business since retiring from baseball, lost control of his pickup truck on a steep grade Thursday, police said. He was thrown from the vehicle which then rolled over on him, they said.

Race Purse Increased

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — The winner of the Washington, D.C., International this year will earn $100,000, an increase of $10,000 over 1967, President John D. Schapiro of Laurel Race Course announced today.

Little Threat for Damascus

Stanislaus Challenger in Michigan Mile

DETROIT (AP) — The dark cloud of Stanislas is the only thing resembling a threat as heavily favored Damascus prepares for the 20th running of the $100,000-added Michigan Mile and one-eighth Saturday at the Detroit Race Course.

Mrs. Mildred Kerr's stretch-runner caused some vibrations two years ago when he beat the 1965 Horse of the Year, Tom Rolfe, in this same race.

"A horse that wins as much money as he does every year can always cause trouble," said Frank Whiteley Jr., who trained both Tom Rolfe and Damascus.

But Whiteley concedes that Damascus, a four-year-old bay who has never finished out of the money in 29 starts, "won't need much for this race."

Damascus, 1967 Horse of the Year, is by far the best horse to compete in Michigan's richest horse race. He has 21 victories in 29 starts and has won $1,130,761 in purses to rank fifth on the all-time list.

JC Transfers Help Open OU's '68 Soccer Season

A couple of junior college transfers were expected to give the Pioneers of Oakland University a boost as they journeyed to Delta College in Bay City for the opener of the 1968 soccer season.

The two new faces moved to OU from Schoolcraft Community College and they are junior Joop Doorn of The Netherlands and sophomore Bahram Farahmand of Iran.

GAINED HONORS

Doorn was twice named All-American and Farahmand was an honorable mention All-American. Among the other newcomers on the squad are freshman Robert Anson of Bethesda, Maryland; freshman Paul Neeson of Ferndale; and sophomore Francisco Palau of Bogota, Columbia.

Returning lettermen are Matt Friedemann, Romeo; Dave Hansen, Pontiac; Kerry Pike, Detroit; Bob Sachau, Rochester; John Auger, Clawson; Bill Swor, Grosse Pointe; Mike Nolph, Ferndale; Gerald Woloson, Detroit; German Tovar, Columbia; Bill Buczko, Detroit.

One of coach John Scovil's major problems will be replacing goalie Russ Smyth of Berkley, one of the team's main cogs last year in its six victories.

Legislators Set School Buses Hearing in City

A public hearing on Michigan's school bus laws will be conducted in Pontiac Sept. 26 by a special House committee, it was announced today by State Rep. Clifford H. Smart R-Walled Lake.

"Many of our present laws dealing with school buses are outdated," said Smart, a member of the committee and chairman of the permanent House Education Committee.

* * *

"Hatchwork attempts to modernize them have been made in the past, but haven't proven completely effective," he said. "We need a total overhaul of the school bus statute to meet modern educational needs."

The Pontiac hearing, one of three to be held on the subject, will be conducted in the Oakland County Courthouse Auditorium, beginning at 10 a.m.

The other hearings are scheduled for Sept. 27 in Jackson and Oct. 4 in Kalamazoo. The possibility of holding a fourth hearing in Lansing later in October also is being considered.

Other members of the committee scheduled to appear with Smart are State Reps. William V. Webber R-Kalamazoo; Hal W. Ziegler, R-Jackson; J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City and James Tierney, D-Garden City.

Over Birth Control Views

Priest-Bishop Showdown Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — The conflict between Washington's Roman Catholic officialdom and a group of priests over the right of church members to use artificial birth controls appears headed for a showdown with a settlement deadline only one day away.

In it's face, the dispute involves only Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle and 51 priests within the Washington diocese who disagree publicly with Pope Paul VI's edict against the use of mechanical contraceptives.

* * *

But the split mirrors a churchwide division over whether Catholics are bound by the Vatican edict or, the priests maintain, can ignore the pronouncement on the grounds that birth control is a matter of personal conscience.

Here is the setting:

- The 51 priests and some theologians adopted a statement holding that Catholic couples may responsibly decide according to their consciences that artificial contraception is permissible in some circumstances.
- The cardinal directed them to give up that stand and accept the Pope's ruling fully. He gave them until Saturday to recant and mentioned the possibility of canonical penalties for those who do not.
- As if to emphasize his point the cardinal dismissed the Rev. T. Joseph O'Donoghue as assistant pastor of a Washington church for delivering a sermon Aug. 4 quoting high church officials who disagree with the encyclical.
- In another action the trustees of Catholic University asked last week that a panel be appointed to investigate whether 18 teachers have violated their responsibility to the university by publicly dissenting on the issue.

Neither side has budged and nothing was settled in a two-hour closed-door session Tuesday to which Cardinal O'Boyle summoned the 51 priests by telegram. Some 40 of them showed up.

A spokesman for the dissenters reported there was only "discussion" and the priests were "not able to judge what he (O'Boyle) might do."

Later the Rev. Mr. O'Donoghue, addressing a meeting of supporters, said it was up to them to band together to protect their viewpoint. He suggested, that "even Cardinal O'Boyle can be reached by a petition."

One of his former parishioners said he had collected 353 signatures during masses protesting "unjust punishment" of O'Donoghue.

STERN STATEMENT

The cardinal followed up on Wednesday with release of a sternly worded statement saying he condemns as "erroneous, scandalous and offensive to faithful Catholics" the voices of dissent from the Pope's ruling.

He asserted that "we are responsible for forming a right conscience" in conformity with teachings of the church and thus acceptance of the encyclical represents true freedom of conscience.

The statement quoted a Vatican Council declaration that catholic couples "should be submissive toward the church's teaching office."

* * *

As to O'Donoghue's discussion of disagreement with the Pope by high churchmen in Belgium, the Netherlands and Germany and by some 600 American theologians, the cardinal said he agrees with them only if they are teaching in accord with Vatican Council declarations.

The statement made no mention of what might happen to Washington priests who persist in dissent, but a bishop's powers are broad.

Probate Court Films 20,000 Estate Files

Another phase in the long-range program of the Oakland County Probate Court to modernize its record-keeping system has been completed with the microfilming of an additional 20,000 old estate files.

Since September 1966, about 30,000 closed cases have been placed on microfilm to conserve space and to make them more permanent, according to Probate Register James R. Stelt.

* * *

It will take at least another two summers to complete the job on the remaining 36,000 cases that can be microfilmed.

* * *

Under the Michigan Probate Court Code, only those cases that have been closed six years or have had no activity for 10 years can be placed on microfilm. The original documents can then be burned.

30,000 CURRENT CASES

There are about 30,000 cases that are current and cannot be microfilmed.

Stelt said Oakland County is the largest in the state to embark on a large-scale microfilming program of its probate court records, and the only county to utilize a central microfilm department.

* * *

The department, headed by Marvin Bandlow, is a division of the county board of auditors.

As with all important county records that are microfilmed, a security copy is made of the probate records and stored in a area away from the courthouse for safekeeping.

READILY AVAILABLE

The microfilmed files are readily available and may be reviewed through a microfilm reader, said Stelt. Copies also can be made of the filmed document.

Besides saving storage space, Stelt noted the ease in which microfilm records can be handled.

* * *

When the court operation moved from the courthouse tower to a new wing recently, the 30,000 microfilmed cases were moved simply by transporting one file cabinet.

Several days would have been needed to transfer bulky documents if they had not been on microfilm, Stelt said.

REGULAR ROUTINE

It is expected that the microfilming of the older cases will be completed by the fall of 1970. Filming the files then will be done on a regular routine basis, Stelt said.

County Race Not Changed by Recount

A recount completed yesterday didn't change the small winning margin of Madison Heights Mayor Lee Walker in his bid for a seat on the reapportioned County Board of Supervisors.

The recount was petitioned by Joseph Baracat of Royal Oak, who lost the Democratic nomination in District Five to Walker, 489 to 465.

* * *

Baracat said today that he is considering possible litigation to challenge "several discrepancies" in voting procedures turned up during the recount but discounted by officials.

"Because of the slim difference, I'm also thinking of running as a write-in candidate," said Baracat. "I just haven't made up my mind yet."

Earl Waterland Stands Outside Missile Site Near His Ranch

SPEARFISH, S.D. (AP) — To the South Dakota cattlemen and sheepmen who live on the rolling plains staked at the turn of the century, worry is an everyday companion.

There are the spring blizzards that sweep their lands at lambing and calfing time to worry about; there are worries about mortgages to be paid; worries about prices; and children to be raised and educated; worries about machinery to be repaired and fences to be fixed on lands where many of the ranchers were born and where many expect to die.

* * *

With so much to do, there is little time to concern oneself with such things as nuclear missiles sites dug into one's land as part of the giant U.S. defense system against attack.

You just come to terms with and learn to live with the cheek-by-jowl existence to missiles, armed with warheads that could be sent aloft to demolish whole cities, or which might make your homes and children and barns and livestock prime targets in case of war.

PART OF SCENERY

So to the ranchers, the missile sites have become just part of the scenery, as much as the jackrabbits and antelope that bound across the tabletop plains and bald buttes that suddenly rise from the prairie, yellow with sweet clover and blue with alfalfa in the summer.

"Subconsciously you're aware of the missiles being there, but you tend to forget them after a while," said Earl Waterland, who each day looks through his red chicken coop at the missile site on his land.

"I was worried about it at first, but when a person first comes out here he worries about the blizzards and rattlesnakes, too. But you get used to them. There's no sense in a person worrying about those things," said the 55-year-old rancher whose white farmhouse near Plainview is less than 1,500 feet from a missile site.

What Waterland sees every day looks like a pint-sized power installation. But he knows it is not. He knows that the telephone poles and electronic gadgets he sees are atop a buried missile that could strike any point in Europe or Asia within 30 minutes.

INSTRUMENT OF DEATH

He knows that beneath this particular piece of topsoil there is a sophisticated instrument of mass death — one of the 1,000 Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles buried deep in the fields of both Dakotas, Wyoming, Montana and Missouri.

Each day for five years now the Dakota plainsmen have passed the harmless-looking sites, knowing the men buried in the launch control centers have been ready every second of that time to turn the keys that would instantaneously send the long and narrow warbirds screaming out of the ground at speeds over 15,000 miles an hour.

~~Each day nothing happened.~~

Each day it became easier to believe the missiles would never be unleashed and each day the realization of what was buried a few miles from their homes became ever more muted.

Some of the plains people firmly believe the missiles will grow obsolete in the ground and someday be dismantled. Others admit they have forced themselves to believe the devastating command to fire never will be issued. Otherwise there would be little point in spending 14 hours a day in the field during haying time. Or fixing the fences and buying tires that will last for their pickups.

WAR A FANTASY

The thought of the missiles speeding away from the North American continent and the whole thought of nuclear war is a fantasy to many of the men and women in the heartland of the United States. War is something across the oceans, or, at worst, in the big population centers of the Northeast. It is far from the land where they hunt pheasant and deer and only eight people share a square mile.

The Air Force has assured the ranchers their pastures would not become a prime target in case of war, but many don't believe it.

* * *

"I guess we're more or less resigned to the fact we'd be among the first targets, but as far as worrying about it, we don't," says Bill Schmele, a 35-year-old cattle rancher who overstocked his lands on the gamble prices would be up and rains plentiful.

A feeling of pride in America's tremendous military strength—and perhaps a certain hawkishness—is common among the men and women who live where Gen. George Custer made this famous last stand and where Sitting Bull was later slain.

'THEY'RE FIGHTERS'

Alfred Allen, a retired postal employe who runs a parking lot in Rapid City, says the enemy could never get past Ellsworth Air Force Base, the Strategic Air Command base that maintains the 150 missiles in South Dakota.

"They're fighters, those boys up there," said the 68-year-old Allen. "They'd be on them like a dog on a rabbit."

* * *

The ranchers and townspeople don't know how much destructiveness surrounds them, but they know it's massive.

The Air Force will only confirm that the missiles are nuclear. It will not say whether they are tipped with A-bomb or H-bomb warheads or what their destructive force might be.

SECOND THOUGHT

The ranchers say they sometimes give a second thought to the missiles in times of world crisis.

"But most of the time we're too busy with everyday things," said Mrs. William Carlstrom, who lives on a diary farm near Spearfish.

* * *

The same men and women who profess to believe the missiles will never be fired have thought of a misfire. And what would happen to their homes if the missiles accidently shot out of the ground.

"Maybe 10 out of 50 will ever get out of the ground," said Dale Lewis, 33-year-old publisher of the Pennington County Courant. "It's a complicated system and the chances of malfunction are too great. Two of the 50 around Wall would probably blow up here if they were ever fired."

REMINDER OF VIOLENCE

Some of the teen-agers, who played in the shafts when the missiles were installed, say they are a reminder of violence. One is Margaret Jensen, a high school senior who lives with her family on a 6,000-acre spread near Wall where only the Jensens and the Sioux have ever lived.

"It makes you think of the innocent people who will be killed for doing nothing. It makes you think of mass death," said Margaret, who at 16 is far more interested in the horse she raised from a colt than boys.

* * *

When the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers first started knocking on the rancher's doors and asking to buy a little patch of land for a "military installation" they were met with opposition —and one or two loaded shotguns.

"They were just rugged individualists who didn't want to give up their land," explained Maj. Thomas McKiernan, head of public information at Ellsworth.

BUNGLING CHARGED

"They acted as though we were a little subversive or something if we didn't hand over the land right away," Waterland says.

"The U.S. Corps of Engineers is famous for bungling things and they did it again," explains Horace B. Jackson, a Rapid City lawyer who represented the ranchers in federal courts in Deadwood and Aberdeen when they fought to keep their land.

"If they had handled it right, most of those fellows would have simply given them the land."

As it was, the government had to condemn nearly a third of the tracts it needed.

COPTERS FIRED UPON

Once the land was acquired the front widened. Potshots were taken at Air Force helicopters and more than one construction worker was marched off the land by an irate rancher with a loaded rifle.

Then the recruits from Brooklyn couldn't remember how important it was to close fences behind them and livestock — including John Kudloch's $1,000-a-head registered Hereford bulls — wandered onto busy highways. Even more livestock fell into the ditches dug for the big cables that connect the missiles.

Nobody knows how many really fell in.

"A hell of a lot more in court than on the range," said Jackson, a paunchy man who eats low-calorie lunches topped off with cream pie.

* * *

"A few fell in and a lot more got pushed in," said Bernard Eveleth, who runs the general store at Union Center. "They could get $300 or $400 a critter that way and that was more than they could get at the sale barn."

PUZZLED BY MILITARY

The attitudes and mannerisms of the military also puzzled and amused the straightforward South Dakotans, many of them descendants of the Germans and Scandinavians.

"The thing I can't understand is why they go around armed all the time," said Leo Turpen, a 26-year-old hired hand who lives in Newell. "There's nobody out here in the sticks that's going to jump them. They play like they're in the movies or something."

* * *

The sophisticated electronic gear on the missile sites—which at first couldn't differentiate between a prowler and a crow — amused the ranchers.

By JOHN S. LANG

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A plantation owner stands haughtily on a dirt pathway, squinting at his black field hands sweating under a merciless Louisiana sun.

"Niggers is business," wheezes a fat slave trader in a garish checkered suit who had sidled up to him.

"The business of slavery," retorts the landowner with a sneer, "is even more degrading to the masters."

* * *

"Cut," someone shouts. "Back in places." "How was the sound?" "Give me five minutes to round up the horses." "Everybody quiet!"

It is scene 28, take 1, sound 51 of a movie — a movie intended to depict slavery the way it really was.

LEAD ROLES

"Slaves" is the name of the production, and with the exception of Stephen Boyd, Negroes play the lead roles.

Singer Dionne Warwick plays her first film role and Ossie Davis and Robert Kya-Hill portray slaves.

The film will be controversial. The movie makers intend for it to be.

* * *

The site chosen by the producers, the old Witherspoon Plantation 20 miles south of Shreveport just past a road sign which reads, "Kick A Poo," would seem to be an unlikely place to film it.

Yet two Shreveport businessmen enticed the crew here from a location in Florida and the script has been read and okayed by the Chamber of Commerce.

THE REAL SOUTH

"They said we had to come here to make it," said Philip Langner, president of Theatre Guild Films, the producer. "Whey they first called, I said, 'You don't want this picture. Wait till you read it.' They read it and said, 'Not at all. This is where you should make it — in the real South.' "

Langner and Herbert Biberman, who coauthored the original script and who is directing the film, said several Shreveport couples whose great-grandparents had owned slaves told them they accepted the validity of the script.

* * *

"We are prejudiced in the North," says Langner. "We think the South is all of a piece. It's been an eye-opener. I've never met a southerner who didn't beat me to saying 'Slavery was bad.' "

The director and producer both insisted the film is not about the South today, or the North today, no matter what lessons may be drawn from it.

RESULT OF HISTORY

"So much in our lives today is a result of history we are not aware of it," Langer explains. "It applies to Negro actions today. We ask, 'Why are they behaving like this? Why don't they shape up?' Well, we researched the film. Herbert read 150 volumes of history. There were laws passed which kept Negroes from learning to read for hundreds of years. So how can we complain when Negro children have trouble in school today?"

Marvin Hodges, a builder in Shreveport, is one of the men who lured the movie company here. And he landed a bit part, that of a paddyroler, a man who patrolled plantation borders in the days of slavery to catch runaways.

* * *

"I showed 'em it was a hell of a lot better to do it here than in Florida," Hodges said. "Some people would call the film an indictment of the South, but, hell, you can't indict what's been indicted. It's an historical portrayal. I would say the businessmen in Shreveport are mainly for it. I've had 60 letters of appreciation and only three against it," Hodges said.

The land is owned by Dr. Clayton H. Smith, a Shreveport dentist, who plans Sunday tours to show the sets.

NOT DEROGATORY

"I kept telling Mr. Biberman that if the film was derogatory to the South, I did not want him in here," Smith said. "But he assured me it was not, that it's an historical picture of situations in 1850. I sent this to the Chamber of Commerce and a man down there told me he didn't see anything wrong with it."

One member of the film crew laughs about his dealings with local authorities.

* * *

"We were shooting a scene of slaves chained in a wagon and we needed shackles. So we called the sheriff and asked if he knew where we could get 18 pairs of shackles. He said, 'Gee, I don't know. I've got six pairs but I'm using them all now."

* * *

The Negro members of the cast are playing their parts with a mission.

BROKEN PROMISE

"Slavery was not moonlight and magnolias," says Davis, whose part is that of a slave named Luke who is educated, baptized a Christian, promised his freedom and then sold down the river away from his wife and children.

"I'm here with a mission. One of the great needs today in the black community is a positive male image. Luke is a slave, but more important, he's a positive black male image. This is something my son and all other black sons — as well as white sons — need to be exposed to.

* * *

"Strength, dignity and courage, or even simple humanity. I don't know if that's been shown before in a picture. Slaves have been shown as buffoons, simpletons or at best Uncle Toms whose main interest is the welfare of the white masters.

* * *

"The lesson, as I see it, is that we had better solve racial problems while talk, compromise and mutual adjustment are still possible, rather than wait until extremists on both sides take over."

'MALCOLM X'

To Kya-Hill, born on a North Carolina tenant farm and reared on a peanut patch in Virginia, his role as the slave Jericho, "the Malcolm X of 1850," is a chance to relate the evils of slavery with racial turmoil today.

"The attitudes of slavery are so entrenched in this society," he complains, "they are still there. They've taken the chains off the body, and now we've got to take the chains off the mind."

* * *

The one performer not trying to make a social statement is the sole white star, Boyd.

The Irish-born actor says he did all his soul-searching before ever coming to the United States. The only reason he is doing the picture, he says, is that he likes the role.

SINGER IS STAR — Dionne Warwick smiles during part of the shooting of "Slaves," her first film. Negro actor-comic Ossie Davis also has a featured role in the movie.

Filming of 'Che' to Begin This Month

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "We haven't even made the movie yet, and already we're being blasted from the left and from the right," said director Richard Fleischer with a faint air of amusement.

THOMAS

He plans to start shooting this month on a controversial film for 20th Century-Fox called "Che." "Che." The subject covers the life and violent times of Che Guevara, partner in Fidel Castro's Cuban revolution and would-be revolutionist in Bolivia, where he met his end in October 1967.

* * *

Portraying the guerrilla will be Egypt-born Omar Sharif, who bears a remarkable resemblance when equipped with moustache, beard and fighting gear. The film will begin in mid-month at the 20th-Fox ranch in Malibu, then transfer to Puerto Rico for exterior scenes until mid-December.

Director Fleischer ("Fantastic Voyage," "Dr. Doolittle") has prepared himself for a rugged film, both during and after the shooting. "Che" has already been attacked by editorialists who see the film as a glorification of a revolutionist and by new-leftists who suspect the film will defile their idol.

HOW CAN THEY KNOW?

"It amazes me that people should prejudge a movie before we even make it," remarked Fleischer. "How can they possibly know what kind of an approach we will take?"

The picture will not be based on the Che diaries, which have been published after the inception of the project. The script has been based on the research of producer Sy Bartlett from printed sources.

* * *

"We will show Che not as a hero, but as an interesting man, one of the great personalities of our time," Fleischer said. "He believed that no change could come about without violent, bloody revolution. When the Russians dropped that as part of their philosophy, he became an advocate of the Red Chinese, and he went on a rampage to demonstrate his theories.

* * *

"His philosophy that violence is the only means to accomplish change is a very 'now' issue. That's what I think will give our picture immediacy.

'NOT ONLY ANSWER'

"But of course when you come to the end of a picture, you should make a statement. Che obviously didn't achieve his purpose in Bolivia; he discovered that you can't export revolution. He was killed, and our picture will show that violence is not the only answer. Ends do not justify the means, not all the time."

"Che" will cover the period from Castro's invasion of Cuba in 1957 to Guevara's death 10 years later. Several real-life figures will be portrayed, including Fidel Castro.

How do the film makers get away with portraying living persons without their permission?

"We're just doing it," said the director. "Castro will have to come to this country to sue us, and I doubt if he would do that. I don't expect we'll be playing 'Che' in Cuba, although they might acquire a print of it—so they can shoot at the screen."

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

West's two no-trump call was one of the modern gadgets called "the unusual no-trump." It has nothing to do with no-trump but shows a minor two-suit hand.

JACOBY

Both Montreal and Minneapolis used this convention in their match and it worked very well for Minneapolis on the hand in the box. South wound up playing four hearts only.

* * *

The bidding shows how Ron De'Harpporte and Newt Dockman of Minneapolis countered this unusual no-trump. Ron's bid of three diamonds said, "Partner, I am making a cue bid to show a good hand with heart support." The fact that he did hold the ace of diamonds was incidental.

Ron's later bid of five diamonds showed this ace and Newt's six-club call was a belated grand slam invitation. Ron did not accept because he knew that at one stage of the proceedings Newt had been willing to stop at game.

* * *

West opened the king of diamonds. Newt won in dummy and led a heart to his ace. West showed out and Non saw problems. He could not afford to draw trumps because he would have no entry to dummy except the spades. He solved his problem by deciding that West's unusual no-trump with practically no high cards must have been based on at least 11 minor suit cards.

Then he cashed dummy's ace and king of spades and led the jack. East played low but that did him no good. Newt discarded his eight of clubs. Then he played dummy's second diamond. Later he ruffed his last diamond with the queen of trumps and made the slam.

* * *

All of which goes to show that these modern bids don't always work out so well. If West had not bid the unusual no-trump, South would not have known how to play the spades and might well have gone down.

What do you do now?

A—Bid four hearts. You have very good heart support but are not quite strong enough to head for a slam on your own.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid four hearts and your partner bids four spades. What do you do now?

Trading Relatively Light

Mart's Recovery Gains Ground

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market recovered Friday, with gains increasing early in the afternoon. Trading was relatively quiet.

Advances outnumbered declines by about 200 issues on the New York Stock Exchange. The opening was mixed, but a higher trend gradually became apparent. As the indicators moved up, more buying was attracted.

* * *

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 340.1, with industrials up 1.2, rails off .4, and utilities off .1.

Analysts saw the rise as the continuation of a recovery move which became apparent late in Thursday's losing session.

NEWS ENCOURAGING

The background news contained some encouraging and some inflationary overtones, analysts said. They noted a prediction by Budget Director Charles J. Zwick that government spending would face unavoidable increases totaling $7 billion to $9 billion in the fiscal year starting next July 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .87 at 916.52.

The small amount of the rise was due to easiness in some of the Dow's component blue chips, such as Du Pont, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, American Telephone and American Tobacco, which took fractional losses.

Martin Marietta, a fractional gainer, led the list on volume by a wide margin.

FAIRCHILD UP 3

Among other very active issues, Fairchild Camera spurted about 3, Phillips Petroleum more than 2, Delta Airlines and Lorillard more than a point each.

Reds Hard-Hit Near Cambodia

North Viet Regiment Believed Driven Off

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces battled strong enemy troops in two areas near the Cambodian border and killed at least 217 of them under a rain of bombs, artillery and machine-gun fire, a military spokesman reported today.

An American task force reinforced by tanks and dive-bombers clashed with a North Vietnamese regiment in a 14-hour fight Thursday that swirled through rubber plantations in an arc north to east of the pivotal district town of Loc Ninh, 65 miles north of Saigon.

* * *

U.S. Headquarters said 113 enemy troops were killed. But more important, a U.S. intelligence officer said, "We think we probably pre-empted an attack on the city."

Fourteen Americans were killed and 60 wounded.

NORTH REGIMENT

The enemy force was believed to be the North Vietnamese 32nd Regiment which moved down from the central highlands earlier this summer to bolster the veteran North Vietnamese 7th Division operating north of Saigon.

* * *

Fighting eased off during the night. The enemy regiment could have slipped back across the border into Cambodia, out of bounds to American troops, leaving a rear guard to cover its withdrawal. Enemy gunners slammed 25 mortar rounds into the Loc Ninh airstrip during the night.

The Vietcong tried unsuccessfully to take Loc Ninh last November and more than 1,500 of their men were killed.

* * *

The fighting last November was the first phase of an attempt to draw allied troops to the border area and tie them up while enemy forces maneuvered into position for massive assaults on cities, towns and allied installations.

Dems Raise Funds With Detroit Party

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Democrats staged a $50-a-couple cocktail party Thursday in Detroit, raising funds for legislative candidates in a bid to regain control of the State House of Representatives.

* * *

More than 500 Democrats showed up at the shindig in the Hotel Pontchartrain. Party officials said they expected the event to yield $20,000 to the party.

* * *

About 90 per cent of the money is expected to go to Democratic candidates in 20 "swing" districts.

No '69 Recession Seen Likely

2 Forecasts Are Bullish

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

CUNNIFF

NEW YORK — At least two well-known economic consultants to large corporations here are about to release bullish reports on prospects for the economy in 1969.

Both reports are described as surprising, even before complete data are in. They are based on surveys of spending plans for expansion by large companies.

* * *

Unexpected business confidence is shown in the reports despite higher taxes and other slowdown tactics of the Federal Reserve and the Johnson administration. Spending increases of as much as 7 per cent are foreseen.

One obvious conclusion is that business will be giving its endorsement to a balanced rather than inflated economy. Economic stability is always desired by those responsible for making large spending plans.

NO RECESSION SEEN

In general, these and other economists now foresee a flattening of the economy during the next few months, but with little likelihood of a recession, despite fears that have been expressed even by administration officials.

As inflation is squeezed from the economy, these economists feel, a foundation for real growth will begin to solidify.

* * *

In the second half of 1969, the two upcoming reports suggest, the economy will be in the midst of a resurgence. At least one of the forecasts indicates that the upturn will be sharp.

These reports tie in with what appears to be a return of business confidence in the ability of officialdom, represented by the Federal Reserve and the administration, to steer the economy in the right direction.

OPTIMISM RISING

Confidence had fallen badly in the past two years as inflation spread almost unchecked. Optimism seems to have risen following government spending cuts, the tax increase and other measures. Hard lessons learned in the past two years may pay dividends in the future, it is felt.

Of interest to investors are records showing that stock market advances precede upturns in capital spending, which the upcoming reports indicate will be strong in the latter half of 1969, by six to 12 months.

* * *

This may or may not hold true for the stock market in 1969. Other factors, such as corporate profits, also must match increases in capital spending before a general rule can be stated.

However, some stock market analysts with unusual courage or confidence have gone out on a limb to forecast better stock prices in 1969, primarily for sound, blue-chip companies that tend to benefit from stability.

RESPECTED ADVISER

Among these is John Wright of Bridgeport, Conn., adviser to well-to-do individuals and institutions, one of whose policies is to deal almost solely in stocks of premium investment quality.

"Twelve months from now," says Wright, "today's stock market pricing of most blue chips will, in our opinion, look like a fisherman's view of the big ones that got away."

* * *

Wright feels that with inflation receding, the price per share of marginal companies will retreat also and that the money will go into the large, blue-chip companies that are less subject to short-term changes.

"We're at the end of one economic cycle, which began in 1960, and we're about to enter a new one," Wright says, adding that he expects to commit his own and customers' funds to the stock market by late October.

RARE STRAIGHT TALK

Such optimism and straight talks is rare. Although neither the directness nor uncommonness makes them correct, such attitudes do give an idea of how some economists and analysts are changing their thinking.

The fallibility of the seers is too easily realized when you consider the political, military and diplomatic hazards of 1969. Nobody can foresee events as they will occur, but they can take a position.

* * *

A few respected economists and analysts, backed by surveys and studies such as those on capital spending, now seem to be taking a stand. And in some instances their confident posture is one that a few months ago they would have dared not take.

FCC Hits NBC After Huntley Hit Meat Law

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission sharply reprimanded the National Broadcasting Company today for not disclosing newsman Chet Huntley's interest in the meat-packing industry after he broadcast attacks on the Wholesome Meat Act.

It accused the network of falling short of its responsibilities and sent excerpts of a letter reminding NBC of licensee responsibility to all 7,500 U.S. radio and television station owners.

* * *

The reprimand took the form of a letter to NBC in response to a complaint by Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, regarding Huntley's broadcasts of last May 27 and June 10. Huntley said "truck drivers and other employes" in the New York area "are now quitting their jobs to become federal inspectors" under the new act.

Noting that Huntley at the time of the two broadcasts owned a cattle ranch in Montana and was executive vice president of Group 21 Inc., a cattle-feeding operation in Iowa, the FCC told NBC, ". . . You appear to have fallen short of your responsibilities . . . with regard to disclosure of Mr. Huntley's interests in the matter on which he commented and with regard to the fairness doctrine."

PLANT DUTCH BULBS IN FALL FOR A SPRING FLOWERING GARDEN

Tulips, Hyacinths, Daffodils and Crocus Grow from Bulbs Planted Now

Fall is the season to plant the bulbs to yield next Spring's flowers. For the experienced gardener or the beginner, Fall stirs the imagination with visions of next Spring's garden sparkling with the magnificent colors and shapes of tulips, hyacinths, daffodils, crocus and many little bulbs.

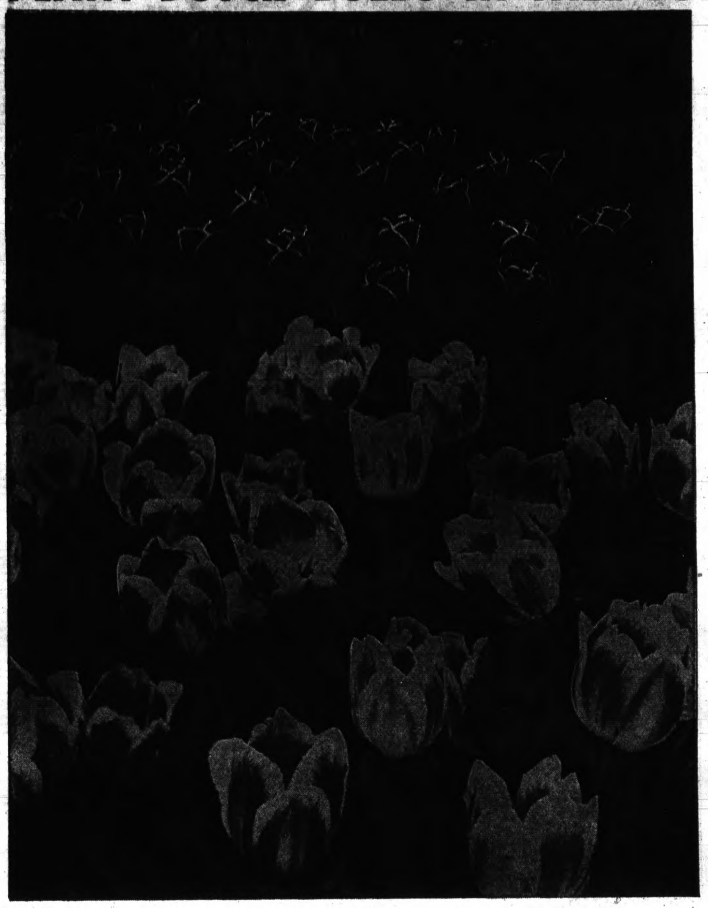
Practically anyone, young or old, with or without gardening "know how" can grow a bumper crop of Spring flowers with Dutch bulbs. Each Fall, ships unload millions of bulbs from Holland which must be planted in September, October, or November — before the ground freezes solid. In warm Southern climates, bulbs can be stored easily in the refrigerator and planted as late as December or January.

Bulbs, because of their wide variety in shape, texture, color and height, lend themselves to all types of landscaping. They can be "naturalized" along paths, in woodland settings, around rocks, trees and shrubs. They are ideal massed in solid colors for spectacular effects, planted in rows three or four deep for a more formal appearance or arranged in planter boxes for decks, patios, terraces and windows.

At least ten weeks of Spring flowers can be assured through proper selection of bulbs — starting with the shy crocus, which may blossom before the last snowfall, and ending the season with the stately Darwin tulips in late May or early June. The early Spring garden can be a blaze of color with daffodils, hyacinths and the early flowering tulips. Mid-season can be highlighted with the immense Darwin Hybrids — largest flowering bulb in the tulip family. In May and June, the fringed petals of the exotic Parrot tulips will lend a touch of fantasy as they sway in the sun, while the delicately curved and pointed petals of the Lily-flowered tulips will add a graceful note as they nod to gentle Spring breezes.

Bulb gardening is easy — nature does most of the work. Here are a few simple rules that the Dutch follow, which may come in handy now that bulb planting time is here again:

1. Select bulbs early while retailers have ample supplies and a good choice of varieties. Quality bulbs cost only a few pennies more and guarantee beautiful blossoms. Pick some for early, mid-season and late flowering for the following Spring.
2. "Bargain buys" often prove disappointing. So stick to quality Holland bulbs that will give you sure bloom the first year you plant them.
3. Bulbs should be planted before the ground freezes hard for the winter. This timing gives them the best root development.
4. Plant the bulbs in sandy, well-drained soil. If soil is "heavy," mix in some sand when planting the bulbs. Tulips, daffodils, and hyacinths are planted six inches deep and six inches apart. Crocus and other little bulbs are planted three inches deep and three inches apart. Set the bulb firmly into the ground with the pointed end up. Cover the bulb with soil. Then water the area well and that's it!
5. Avoid planting bulb flowers in thin lines — they are best set at least three rows deep in clumps. Most gardeners prefer informal arrangements with groups of 8 to 16 bulbs of one type and color planted in mass. Crocus and other "little" bulbs can be planted at random.



TULIPS

Tulips, which must be planted in the Fall, blossom from late March through June. Almost every shape, size and color can be found in the 23 classes of the Tulip family. Some will bloom in pure white, others almost black. Many blossom in soft hues of pink, deep purple and yellow and in nearly every shade of red. Tulips blossom in single and multi-colors, and many have beautifully marked leaves.

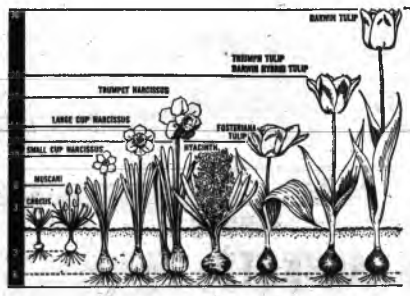
There are tulips that do not resemble tulips — some look like peonies, others are shaped like lilies, and a few have fringed petals. There are tulips with beautifully proportioned flowers on long, stately stems and varieties which have large flowers on stems that measure almost three feet. It is easy to understand why the tulip is king of Spring flowers.

DAFFODILS

A bright daffodil garden will blossom early this Spring if you plant the bulbs this Fall. Daffodils will cover the ground in a petal-carpet of color in many hues of yellow, white and pink. These hardy bulb flowers are ideally suited for mass plantings in fields and rock gardens as well as in naturalized settings. Once planted, daffodils will blossom for years and many varieties will increase in numbers. Interplant daffodils with other Dutch flowering bulbs for a complete Spring garden.

FALL IS BULB PLANTING TIME

Gardening with bulbs is almost as easy as letting wild flowers come up where they will. Planting is easy. Tulips, daffodils and hyacinths are planted six inches deep and six inches apart with pointed ends up. The flat bottom of the bulb should rest firmly on the soil. Crocus, grape hyacinth, scilla and the other little bulbs are planted two to three inches deep and two to three inches apart. Bulbs must be planted before the ground freezes solid so that the roots will have a good chance to develop. Nature will do the rest of the work for you. Bulbs grow well in just about any kind of soil, and all they need is good drainage. Next Spring, your Fall gardening efforts will be rewarded with magnificent displays of bulb flowers. At the end of the blossoming season, many bulbs can be left undisturbed in their beds to flower for several years.



HOLLAND BULB PLANTING GUIDE

Now is the time to plant the tulips, daffodils, hyacinths, and other Dutch bulbs just arrived from Holland. Bulb flowers blossom in many shapes and sizes and in almost every color. This simple diagram explains how deep to plant the bulbs that can give you beautiful flowers for at least ten weeks next Spring.

Watering Tips

Correct Hose—Garden Aid

How do you water your lawn? Do you pull out a leaky garden hose, turn on the water and aim it at the lawn and plants? If so, you may be wasting time and money.

Sears, Roebuck and Co. experts suggests a simple but well regulated watering cycle will enable you to save time and excessive water. You'll have a greener, healthier lawn, and prettier plants.

* * *

Developing the proper watering system requires a basic understanding of watering principles and techniques, plus the correct watering tools.

When it comes to watering, your garden hose is the main lifeline. The choice of a garden hose should be a careful decision and should fit particular requirements.

It should be the right diameter, the correct length and made of the best materials. One of the newest garden hoses is a good example of basic hose characteristics necessary to do a proper job.

Its construction features a backbone of nylon cord, the same fiber used in the manufacture of automobile and truck tires. This means the hose will not burst and has built-in resistance to kinking — the action that causes many a garden hose to behave like a jungle snake.

The hose is encased in Nordel, a new synthetic rubber coating developed by DuPont. Nordel is designed to withstand extremes in temperature and has inherent resistance to most garden and lawn chemicals.

After selecting a quality garden hose, here are tips on how to put it to good use and water wisely:

- Do not sprinkle lawns daily. Light daily sprinkling encourages a surface root system which is more quickly dried out. A deep rooting system is encouraged by systematic watering that slowly applied will seep to a depth of six to eight inches. A deeply rooted lawn requires less frequent watering.
- Water slowly so that the soil will be thoroughly moistened at least six to eight inches deep. To test soil moisture, take a handful of soil from two to six inches deep. If soil forms a tight ball, it should not be watered, if soil will not form a soft ball, it's time to water.
- Water in early morning hours, if possible. If watering in the late afternoon, be sure that moisture on the leaves will have time to dry before evening. Excess moisture on leaves of some plants can cause disease.
- Start lawn watering at first sign of dryness. Slowing down of growth rate and a bluish tint to the grass are two early signs of dryness.
- Plants near house and foundations will require more water than those set in the open. Foundation structures provide for good drainage, but also drain off water from plant roots. Roof overhangs divert rainfall, while reflected light and heat from house walls increase water loss from plantings.
- If trees are growing in lawn, they require more water because grass will absorb much of the tree's potential water supply.

Water from a hose may be almost as dangerous as a bullet from a gun. When plants are the targets, a too-forceful spray injures, them and washes soil from around their roots. It's wasteful of water, too.

The right way to water is to dig a shallow trench beside each plant row, then place the end of a hose minus a nozzle on a sack, a blanket or a piece of board to spread moisture over a wider area.

Garden Tops Car Garages in New York

One of New York City's biggest gardens blooms on 22 acres at Lefrak City in the Forest Hills area of Queens. It is on top of the big subterranean garages that form the platform on which the 20-building Lefrak City rests.

Jack Valle, designer of the gardens, reports that 51,400 tons of top soil and 18,000 tons of gravel were used in the Japanese-mood gardens.

* * *

Prime consideration in selection of trees and shrubs, Valle said, was to provide gardens as lovely in late fall and winter as in spring, and to have trees and shrubs durable enough "to survive our grim winters."

There is blue grass. The many evergreens include hybrid rhododendrons, azalea, hicksi, andromeda and cotton easters.

ORNAMENTALS

Ornamental trees include dogwood, flowering crab apples, red buds, flowering cherry and white birch.

Shade trees are Japanese red maple, pin oak and Norway maples.

According to season, there are tulips, hyacinths, crocus, daffodils, petunias, geraniums, ageratum, fuschia and chrysanthemums.

Lower DDT on Food Crops

The amount of DDT allowed to remain on certain food crops was reduced by the Government recently. DDT is one of the most widely used insecticides in agriculture.

The changes affected 31 fruits and vegetables, the Food and Drug Administration said. Permissible residues were reduced from 7 parts per million to 3.5 ppm on some crops and to 1 ppm on others.

* * *

In February, the FDA had proposed lower tolerances for 36 fruits and vegetables. Today, however, the agency said the 7 ppm tolerance would be retained pending further study for five leafy vegetables — collards, kale, mustard greens, spinach, and Swiss chard.

* * *

Information submitted to FDA showed that residues exceeding 3.5 ppm remains on these crops when DDT formulations now used by growers are applied according to label directions.

LOWER

After Jan. 1, 1969, the FDA intends to lower all tolerances for DDT to 1 part per million unless it is shown that a higher tolerance is needed for specific food crops under good agricultural practices. Any data obtained to support such exceptions is to be submitted to the FDA before Jan. 1.

* * *

Recent findings by scientists have shown that DDT tolerances had been higher than necessary on many crops. Samples of food analyzed by FDA have shown that actual residues are generallly far below those established today.

* * *

The new regulation was published in the Federal Register. Written objections may be filed within 30 days with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, 330 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20201.

Tropical Jungle on Home Front

Our homes are taking on a jungle-like atmosphere. Fake furs abound, African prints and leopard patterns are popular, giant green plants provide lush tropical foliage.

However, modern homes don't have the environment of a tropical rain forest, so select your greenery from quality florists or garden centers in traditional red clay pots. They'll keep your jungle thriving.

Severe drought may cut South Africa's maize corn crop for this year to about half of last season's 10 million bags.

Soluble Fertilizers Are Gaining Boosters

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

More home gardeners are turning to foliar feeding, which means fertilizing plants by spraying them with soluble fertilizer. The practice is a fast, efficient way to boost growth and yield.

Greenhouse and nursery men and other commercial producers have utilized foliar feeding for a decade. Home gardeners are doing it more now to help ailing plants.

* * *

A Cornell University expert, Prof. H. B. Tukey Jr., advises foliar spraying as part of the total program of plant fertilization, not as a substitute for feeding the roots through the soil.

* * *

Plants parts above the ground absorb nutrients faster, but roots absorb more of them.

NUTRIENTS

All parts of a plant, including twigs, branches, buds, flowers and leaves absorb nutrients well, according to research.

Thus, foliar feeding can effectively help a plant get established following transplanting or injury due to disease, cold winters, girdling by mice and rabbits.

Foliar feeding is especially helpful when a plant is growing most rapidly, as in spring. Tukey related. In spring, when the soil is wet and cold, roots absorb little, and foliar feeding can do much good then.

* * *

Root absorption increases as the soil warms. Tukey said foliar applications also tend to increase root absorption.

* * *

Gardeners should use only fertilizers designed for foliar feeding, and follow directions carefully.

Foliar feeding, Tukey added, is very useful when a special nutrient is needed. Examples include iron chlorosis for used foliar feeding for years as rhododendron and pin oaks, and deficiences of minor elements such as zinc, copper and boron, in fruit crops.

Commercial greenhouses have a mist spray in rooting cuttings.

Fruit growers use it on apple trees at bloom time to increase fruit set and quantity.

* * *

Sugar cane growers report a 15 per cent increase in sugar yields when plants are sprayed with phosphorous just before harvest.

Some 1,300,000 U.S. citizens will visit Mexico this year.

Potted Plants Glamorize Bath

Many foliage and flowering plants are suitable for glamorizing the decor of modern bathrooms. Such clay-potted flowering plants as orchids, begonias, fuchsias, anthuriums, African violets and gardenias will enhence any bathroom color scheme.

* * *

And, to change the pace with greenery, try dracaena, maidenhair ferns, ivy and peperomias.

Dried Grasses Bouquet Favorite

For dramatic background use Grass; Barley and Broom Corn, in long-lasting flower bouquets, Millet, Sorghum, Oats, Wheat, make note of the many and and Rye, all available at the varied ornamental grasses, florist shop.

reeds and grains.

Their names vividly describe their appearance. There is in California in 1967, with Cloud Grass, Natal Grass, 7,579,000 tons produced, valued Fountain Grass, and Pampas at $216 million.

NOVEL CONTAINER—Sea shells can be useful as well as decorative, especially when used to hold a phlox arrangement. Because the shell is low and won't hold much water, a piece of pre-soaked plastic foam should be used to hold the flowers.

Life Is a Bowl of Roses

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Two of the three roses that received All-America Rose Selections honors for 1968 were developed by Mme. Francis Meilland, who has spent much of her life among roses in France.

The House of Meilland is directed by Mme. Meilland, her son, Alain, and her father-in-law, Antoine, now 83. It produced Miss All-American Beauty and Scarlet Knight and is perhaps best known as the originator of the famed Peace Rose.

Alain, 27, heads the business, which was begun by his great-great-grandfather, Joseph Rambeaux, a Lyons gardener, in about 1850.

★ ★ ★

Rambeaux developed 10 new rose varieties. His widow and son-in-law, Francis Dubreuil, introduced 64 more between 1884 and 1914.

Dubreuil's daughter, Josephine, married Antoine Meilland, first an employe and finally owner of Dubreuil's nursery. Their only child was Francis, who carried on the family rose tradition.

USA

★ ★ ★

In this country, the Conard Pyle Co. of West Grove, Pa., has introduced such Meilland roses as Golden State (1938), Good News (1940) and Peace (1945).

Sidney B. Hutton Sr. of Conard-Pyle, recalled that he saw Peace in the trial grounds in the fall of 1941 and that his immediate reaction was, "That rose is a winner."

★ ★ ★

Francis married Louisette Paolino, daughter of a Paris flower grower, in 1939. She assisted her husband in hybridizing along with Francis's father, Antoine. Francis died in 1958, at the age of 46. Alain, then 18, had been his father's helper.

Alain is director, Louisette is chief hybridizer, and the elder Meilland is supervisor of culture and advises in selection of new plants.

QUARTET

The trio has become a quartet. Alain's wife, Marie-Helene, has joined them.

Miss All-American Beauty, a pink tea, was hybridized in 1956. The seed parent was Chrysler Imperial, and the pollen parent an unnamed seedling from a cross of Independence X Peace.

★ ★ ★

Scarlet Knight, a velvety red grandiflora, is from a union of Happiness X Independence X Sutter's Gold.

The third AARS winner is Europeanna, a crimson floribunda. It was originated by G. deRuiter of Holland. The individual roses are double, of 25 to 30 petals.

BREEDER OF CHAMPIONS — A life of roses is lived by Mme. Francis Meilland, rose hybridizer.

Winter Bloom Guarantee

If you have choice plants of coleus, heliotrope, browallia and other annuals that will make the winter window garden colorful, pot them up now, first reducing both roots and tops by pruning.

Small plants may be potted just before frost but large ones need time in the open to get used to a reduced amount of soil.

The largest known American holly tree is growing near Hardin, Tex. It is 55 feet tall, has a limbspread of 61 feet and a circumference of 13 feet, four inches.

ARRANGEMENT IDEA — Powder Puff Asters and basil are as easy to arrange as they are to grow. The simple secret for using a large salad bowl is to place a small cereal bowl inside. The flowers can then easily be arranged using a simple flower stem holder.

Nation's Apple Production Will Increase

The nation's apple supply will be more plentiful than ever, climbing from the current 120 million bushels to 174 million by 1975, a Cornell University economist predicts.

And Prof. Max E. Brunk says the West will produce at least 42 per cent of the total crop, compared with 36 per cent now.

More apples from the Northwest will find their way to the eastern markets and more eastern fruit will go to expanding processing. Now, 61 per cent of the apples are sold fresh.

Technological developments aiding the industry in recent years have been spray-thinning, controlled-atmosphere storage, processing and packaging improvements.

A new development in sight is mechanical harvesting, which Brunk says will have great impact on the supply of processing fruit.

Display Flowers on Vacant Hearth

Spread a colorful display of flowering plants on the hearth of your indoor fireplace this summer to maintain a cheerful outdoors atmosphere.

★ ★ ★

Clusters of geraniums, begonias, azaleas and year-round chrysanthemums, in red clay pots to keep them healthy, can make your floral fireplace a bright center of attraction.

★ ★ ★

Garden benches should be 16 or 18 inches high, with seats about 18 inches wide.

If you are less than proud of your lawn
maybe the grass itself is to blame!

AFTER all, most people don't start with a lawn of their own choosing. It usually comes with the house. And the grass may be an unsuitable kind or an inferior variety.

If you hate the thought of digging up and starting all over, consider seeding WINDSOR grass right into your present lawn. This won't change a poor lawn overnight. But thousands of homeowners have discovered to their satisfaction what a box of Windsor and a little patience can do. And now is the naturally right time to seed.

Windsor, the improved variety of Kentucky Bluegrass, is an exclusive development of Scotts research. Windsor is unusually attractive and hard wearing. Also, its extraordinary root strength makes it a grass that thrives in summer's heat, stays green longest during drought, and spreads underground to occupy bare spots.

Just as this is the right time to seed, it's the time to fertilize, for a better lawn this fall and next year. Your grass is probably hungry right now. Feed it with Turf Builder, the fertilizer that makes grass multiply itself.

A money-saving combination. Right now Scotts dealers are having a timely Seed-and-Feed Sale. You can save money on Windsor seed bought together with Turf Builder. Stop at one of the retailers listed here, and you can be on your way to a better lawn this very weekend.

No-quibble guarantee. All Scotts products are fully guaranteed. If they don't work to your complete satisfaction—just let us know and you'll get your money back promptly and with no quibbling. SCOTTS, the grass people, Marysville, Ohio.

Subcolleges at OU Hailed as an Answer

By DICK ROBINSON

Oakland University's small subcolleges are the best answer to mass educaton, a noted Harvard social scientists told about 1,000 university students yesterday.

"But students should also experience a large university setting for a full range of education," David Riesman said in opening the university's 1968-69 Speaker Series.

Riesman, who has written about OU in several books, said he would like to see more institutions adopt the concept of more manageable small colleges like OU's New and Charter colleges.

The New and Charter colleges offer students a unique program designed to preserve small school intimacy within a growing university.

'THEY CAN LEARN'

"Students feel they can't learn in large lecture halls, but this is wrong," Riesman said.

He couldn't answer a question from the overflowing student audience on where the university is headed. But he did say:

"What Oakland University is doing is difficult — a commuter college in a residential university. Oakland is not less experimental than in its early years, but it faces more problems."

Riesman placed Oakland University in the elite public-college-with-private-standards league. The league has very few members, including University of California at Riverside and Santa Cruz and Harper College in Binghamton, N.Y.

Members of the league don't have a "gatekeeper" at the door to the university but they maintain high academic standards, he explained.

LEADING OBSERVER

Riesman, who was introduced as the "leading observer-commentator in American education today," maintained that students today would fight the Army draft even if there were no war in Vietnam.

DAVID RIESMAN

"This represents a breakdown in traditional boundaries of authority," he claimed. "Students are not snobbish and their arrogance has diminished."

* * *

Students today have less friends than students years ago, are more mature at a younger age because they had what once were college-level courses in high school and have a greater extensional feeling about the world, according to Riesman.

Many student activists come from a conservative family background where there is no talk of politics, according to Riesman. They come to a campus where there is much political talk and then they alienate themselves from their families.

4 U.S. Units Miss Fund Cut

Among Departments to Get More Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's main targets in its efforts to meet the $6 billion spending cut ordered by Congress will not necessarily include all the big spending agencies.

Because new spending requirements have arisen since the original budget estimates were released in January, some departments will even come out of the money arena with more —not less—than was asked for them eight months ago.

* * *

Included are the Commerce Department, expected to get $885 million instead of the January estimate of $853 million; the Treasury Department, $16.3 billion instead of $15.4 billion; General Services Administration, $503 million instead of $493 million; and the Labor Department, $3.9 billion instead of $3.8 billion.

In each case the higher total is expected to be reached only after both Congress and the administration have taken a turn with the knife, but the cuts programmed by the administration rank more as flesh wounds than major amputations.

ADMINISTRATION CUTS

The cut the administration has in store for Commerce, for instance, is $5 million. It plans to take $6 million from the Treasury, $12 million from GAS and $3 million from Labor.

As Budget Bureau Director Charles J. Zwick disclosed last Sunday, the administration is really faced with a $3.5 billion cutting job, not $6 billion, because $3.5 billion is all that will remain to be trimmed after Congress finishes its own money slashing.

* * *

Zwick gave this breakdown of agencies and figures facing major cuts:

- $1 billion from non-Vietnam defense programs.
- $1 billion from loan programs of agencies such as the Small Business Administration, Farm Credit Administration and Export-Import Bank.
- 200 million from the federal-aid highway program, by delaying certain projects.
- 100 million from the space program, but without touching the Apollo man-on-the-moon project.
- 1.2 billion from all other civilian agencies, but with high-priority social programs such as "safe streets", low-income housing and manpower training protected from cuts.

'SENSIBLE THING'

An administration spokesman said Thursday that cutting relatively heavy amounts from the lending programs seemed an easy and sensible thing to do.

It is a lot less painful to deny a loan that might have started some program, the spokesman said, than to cut back or halt a program already under way.

* * *

"But even with the emphasis on loan programs in our reductions," he said, "this is no trick being done with a mirror. It's going to reduce the amount coming out of the Treasury by just the amount we said."

Among the lending agencies, the biggest reduction from January request levels is aimed at the Farm Credit Administration, being cut back from $701 million to $51 million.

Pain in the Neck Turns Out to Be 22- or 25-Caliber

WARREN (AP) — Michael Simon knew he had a pain in the neck.

But the 21-year-old Roseville man said it took eight days before he learned it was caused by a bullet.

Doctors at South Macomb Hospital found Thursday that Simon had either a 22- or 25-caliber slug lodged in his neck.

He had gone to the hospital complaining of a pain that persisted ever since he was driving along a road Sept. 4, heard "a whoosh of air" and his neck started to bleed.

Simon told Warren police that at the time he went to a drug store and a pharmacist stopped the bleeding and sent him home.

Hippies Dirty, So What?, Defends Heather MacRae

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—When it was suggested that I interview Heather MacRae, the magnificently scrubbed, attractive, 21-year-old actress daughter of Gordon and Sheila MacRae, I thought it a good idea — I would learn something about youth.

But I didn't suspect how much.

WILSON

"The hippie revolution is a beautiful thing," the long-haired blonde youngster said, adding that she's disgusted with adults ranting that the hippies are dirty.

"I think my friends all bathe — I haven't actually checked," she laughed, "but if they want to be dirty, let them be dirty. America has a great hang-up about being clean and about being thin. I don't think it's really important to be clean except to be clean in the mind.

"A lot of Americans who are very proud of being clean physically have very dirty minds. They think that sex is dirty and that integrated marriage is dirty. I think they're the ones who are dirty."

I wished I could ask Gordon and Sheila what to say next.

"How can anybody be sure a hippie's dirty just because he has long hair? Look at Tiny Tim. People think he's a mess, but he takes about six baths a day. I think he's marvelous Heather said.

Heather soon had me running for cover. She's one of the non-stars of a new movie, "Recess," which is to movies what "Hair" is to the stage. Heather'd love to do another "Hair" but as for the old standard musicals — forget them! "A new trend has to come about in musicals," she said. No more of these chorus kids aimlessly, pointlessly kicking their legs about.

"Have you discussed all this with your parents?" I asked her.

(Her parents had told me she would be delightfully honest.)

★ ★ ★

"Yes, I have," Heather said. "I've tried to explain the youth revolution to them and they're beginning to understand it. They're both very groovy about it."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A panhandler admitted that he doesn't look for a job: "I do better by looking for people who already have jobs."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "You can tell Americans trust in God by the way they drive."

Carl Ballantine, a Chicagoan, was asked what he thought of that city's police force. "I'd rather not say," he answered, "...I still have relatives living there." That's earl, brother.

Warner's has a better way—this—for the petticoat doesn't go near the waist to add bulk to the midriff you just trimmed so beautifully with Warner's waist-cincher that sleeks high (above waist), sleeks low (over hips), and keeps hose in place with garters that are too shy to show. Nude, color that goes with your skin—and everything else. SML, 16.50.

COMING DOWN — The Roosevelt Hotel, a Pontiac landmark for 43 years, is fast on its way to extinction. Prompted by a court order rendered Wednesday, the owner ordered razing of the building's remains, and wreckers moved in yesterday. The hotel at 125 N. Perry was struck by fire Aug. 27.

Mobilizing Ups Viet Army Force

SAIGON (AP) — The results of South Vietnam's general mobilization far exceed the government's expectations. It has drawn more than 240,000 men into the armed forces, officials say.

"This is about 30 per cent above what we expected," said one official. The total includes 63,000 young draftees and an amazing 161,000 volunteers.

This has boosted the regular armed forces to more than 755,000 men, with 800,000 expected by the end of the year. Additionally, 400,000 men serve in loosely organized, sparsely armed local defense units, most of them in the cities and their suburbs.

Officials said the large number of volunteers probably resulted from the desire of the young men to have some choice of assignment. The number of draftees, although less than half the total of volunteers, is considerably higher than the draft figure for last year. Officials say that 20 to 30 per cent of the men called up are rejected because they are physically unfit.

AGES 17 TO 43

The general mobilization law enacted last June makes men 17 to 43 subject to the draft, veterans and reserves.

Until the end of July, men 18 to 33, including veterans and reserves with less than five years service, were called. Each month the draft call goes to an older class of man. Officials say they won't know until the end of the year whether 17-year-olds and men 39 to 43 will be needed.

★ ★ ★

The law includes a program of deferments, but these are hard to get and the requirements are strictly enforced by a board which decides each case.

There are the usual deferments for the only surviving son, students, Buddhist monks, Roman Catholic priests and for physical defects.

★ ★ ★

Private companies, government offices and U.S. government agencies are required to categorize their employes on an A-F basis, "A" meaning indefinite deferment, "F" meaning no deferment, and the letters in between recommending deferments of one year to three months.

Romney Sets Goals; Aim Is Tight Budget

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. George Romney has served notice on Michigan's government department heads that next year's state budget will be tight and that plans for a number of proposed projects will have to be delayed.

Romney's Budget Bureau for the first time has sent state agencies "tentative target budgets" which indicate about how much each agency can expect from the state next year.

★ ★ ★

Romney's Budget Bureau for the first time has sent state agencies "tentative target budgets" which indicate about how much each agency can expeat from the state next year.

★ ★ ★

The administrators have the message, but some of them don't like it and are trying to convince the budget-writers they need more money.

First to receive public criticism is the "target" figure of $812.4 million for state school aid in fiscal 1969-70, a $60-million boost over this year's estimated total.

ANALYSIS BEING MADE

The State Department of Education is preparing an analysis of the proposed aid figure and is expected to describe it as far short of meeting schools' needs.

Officials from several of the 19 principal state departments are meeting with State Budget Director Glenn Allen and his aides, fighting for larger appropriations.

★ ★ ★

Allen stresses the proposed "target" figures are subject to revision. "They're preliminary," he said.

Some examples of Romney's "hold the line" budget plan:

- The state's colleges and universities, which this year asked for $300 million and got $226.6 million have been assigned a "target" figure of $240.3 million.
- The Mental Health Department, recipient of a $9.6 million budget increase this year, would receive about $6 million more next year, bringing its General Fund budget share to $146.8 million.
- The Department of Education, which requested a $31.6 million appropriation for the current fiscal year and received $25.7 million, would receive a boost next year of $1.1 million.
- The Department of Public Health, with a current budget of $19.3 million compared with the $20.8 million requested, would receive an increase of $485,061.

★ ★ ★

The conservation department is seeking a $200,000 addition to its proposed $15.5 million appropriation, spokesman said.

Cycle-Helmet Clash May Cut Road Fund

By JIM LONG

Michigan could lose millions of dollars in federal highway funds if state laws covering motorcycles don't conform with the safety standards set by the government, State Rep. Loren D. Anderson said today.

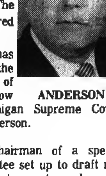
★ ★ ★

"The federal government has gone along with us so far only because they know we're trying our best to comply," the Waterford Township Republican said. "But I don't know how long it will last."

★ ★ ★

Anderson's concern stems from an announcement made by the American Motorcycle Association (AMA) earlier this week. It said it would go into court to challenge a new state law that requires crash helmets to be carried on motorcycles as part of their equipment.

The measure was adopted this year to offset a Wayne County court order which voided a 1967 law that required motorcyclists and their passengers to wear helmets. The law was declared unconstitutional.



ANDERSON

The ruling has been upheld by the Michigan Court of Appeals and is now before the Michigan Supreme Court, according to Anderson.

MORE

Anderson is chairman of a special House subcommittee set up to draft new laws pertaining to motorcycles. He refined the first helmet statute and drafted the second.

"I really can't understand why the AMA is fighting us so hard, though I suspect that it is getting a lot of pressure from its members," Anderson said.

"You would think that the association would do everything in its power to promote safety among its members," he added.

LOSS OF REVENUE

Anderson said the state could forfeit as much as 10 per cent of its federal highway revenue because the Federal Highway Safety Standard Act is being violated.

States must follow regulations set down by the act to be eligible for federal highway funds, he added.

"And the act clearly says that motorcyclists must wear helmets."

Model-City Bid for Pontiac Eyed

The advisibility of applying for Model City Funds from the federal government as a method of uplifting living and social conditions in slum areas of Pontiac will be studied by the Pontiac Area Planning Council (PAPC).

The PAPC Board of Governors last night directed its staff to prepare its findings and submit recommendations before its Oct. 10 meeting.

★ ★ ★

The study also is intended to determine the feasibility of Pontiac making application in cooperation with Oakland County which has been considering entering such a program.

★ ★ ★

The report will be undertaken as a result of a recommendation made by the PAPC task force on race relations.

APRIL 1 DEADLINE

The deadline for applying for Model City Funds is April 1, 1969, and according to James Bates, a member of the PAPC staff and planning director for the city of Pontiac, it takes about three months to prepare an application.

★ ★ ★

If Pontiac were accepted into the program, it would receive grants paying up to 80 per cent of the cost in revitalizing neighborhoods.

★ ★ ★

The Model Cities program is aimed at removing blighted areas, expanding housing, increasing job opportunities, reducing welfare cases, improving education facilities and, in general, improving living conditions.

HHH Slaps Nixon; Agnew Apologizes

By the Associated Press

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has assailed Republican presidential rival Richard M. Nixon by name while Nixon's running mate was all but apologizing for a verbal attack on Humphrey.

"I am not concerned about the 'new Nixon' or the 'old Nixon.' What worries me is the real Nixon," Humphrey told a rally at Sea Girt, N. J., last night. night.

Humphrey labeled Nixon as "that man who abused Mr. Truman, who heaped scorn on Adlai Stevenson, who fought John Kennedy every step of the way," and who has opposed efforts of President Johnson.

In Rochester, N.Y., the GOP vice presidential nominee, Spiro T. Agnew, said he erred describing Humphrey as "squishy soft on Communism." Agnew said if he had realized the effect the statement would have, "I would have turned five somersaults to avoid saying it."

Nixon called for new leadership to restore respect for the United States around the world and urged a halt in trade with allies of North Vietnam as he campaigned yesterday in Indianapolis, and New Orleans.

"It is time we made clear that the flag of the United States is nobody's doormat," Nixon said.

Humphrey's running mate, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, also stepped up his attack on Nixon and charged, "Unfortunately in this campaign, as in all the last 20 years, he has shown adeptness more at running against, than running for, a program for this country."

Third-party candidate George Wallace was heckled in Milwaukee, Wis., by pickets who shouted, "Bigot, bigot, bigot." Earlier Wallace said, "The worst bigots in the country are those who call other people bigots."

Fortas Rejects Call to Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Abe Fortas of the Supreme Court refused today to 'appear before the Senate Judiciary Committee for further testimony on his nomination to be chief justice of the United States.

Fortas declined "respectfully" the committee's invitation in a two-paragraph letter addressed to the chairman, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

The letter was delivered to Eastland's office this morning by Walter B. Slocombe, Fortas' law clerk for the new court term that begins next month. It was then distributed to reporters at the Supreme Court.

Later this morning the committee was scheduled to re-open its hearings on the nomination.

LEADOFF WITNESS

The committee called its leadoff witness Sgt. Donald Shaidell of the Los Angeles Police Department as it focused the first phase of its new hearings on the part Fortas played in Supreme Court pornography decisions.

Fortas submitted to extensive questioning by the committee for four days in July. He was invited Tuesday to return for interrogation.

His letter to Eastland said:

"I appeared before your committee initially, despite the lack of precedent for such appearance, because of my profound respect for the Senate and my view that such appearance might aid the Senate in the performance of its constitutional duty to advise and consent concerning judicial nominations."

"I believe that, now, my proper course of action is respectfully to decline to appear again at the request of some members of the committee for the further interrogation described in your telegram."

Firemen's Show Is R-r-really Big

Fire Chief Charles Marion has predicted "a top-flight show" for this year's Pontiac Firemen's Festival next Wednesday.

"We had a good program and a good crowd last year," he said. "But we're looking for both to be better this time."

★ ★ ★

Marion pointed out that the 1968 parade will be the biggest ever, with more bands, vehicles and marchers making the trek from downtown to Wisner Stadium for the 7 p.m. opening of festivities there.

A motorcade will set out from the Pontiac Mall at 6, then join with the rest of the parade at Pike and Saginaw at 6:30.

WORK PRAISED

Marion praised the community service work done by the Firefighters' Association—work financed by proceeds from the event.

"One example is the invalid sticker program, wherein shut-ins have stickers placed on their front doors and bedroom windows to indicate an evacuation problem in case of a fire.

★ ★ ★

"That could save a lot of lives," he said.

Festival events will include fire prevention demonstrations, featuring a propane gas tower, a tug-of-war, a fireworks demonstration, ladder and hose drills and an appearance by Linda Howe, Miss Oakland County of 1968.

'Russian Buildup Dwarfing NATO'

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say intelligence reports indicate the Soviet Union has built up its army in Eastern Europe to more than 50 divisions, about twice the number maintained by the West on the other side of the Iron Curtain.

* * *

While the Soviet divisions are said to be in a very high state of readiness, some NATO divisions are below strength and lacking in sustained logistics support, by U.S. standards.

* * *

U.S. intelligence reports, charting Soviet moves connected with the occupation of Czechoslovakia, have sparked deep concern that the balance of power in Eastern and Central Europe has shifted against the West.

Officials stress they are talking about the threat in terms of Soviet capability rather than any Russian intent to attack.

FORCE BEFORE INVASION

Before the Russians led a Warsaw Pact invasion of Czechoslovakia on Aug. 20, the Soviet Union maintained 20 divisions in East Germany, two in Poland and four in Hungary.

NATO nations arrayed a total of 24 divisions in and near West Germany. France, no longer part of NATO, nonetheless contributed to western military strength with two divisions in West Germany.

* * *

While the figures vary from nation to nation, a Soviet division contains about 10,000 men. An American division has about 15,000 men, exclusive of support troops.

According to the latest U.S. intelligence analysis, Russia now has 17 divisions in Czechoslovakia where there were none before the invasion.

IN STRIKING DISTANCE

Six of these divisions are deployed within striking distance of the Czech-West German border, which until Soviet occupation was manned only by Czech guards.

U.S. military authorities say the Russians are now astride a main avenue of approach to such important German cities as Munich and Nuremberg.

'Pot' Grew Wild in Area Field

It could have been a field day for narcotic addicts if the police hadn't showed up first.

But since they did, bushels of marijuana growing wild in a 15-by-20-foot field in Commerce Township went up in smoke.

* * *

Police from Wolverine Lake and detectives from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department first learned of the weed from a passing motorist.

He told them he had driven by the vacant lot on South Commerce Road near Glengary several times before he decided to report his suspicions to police

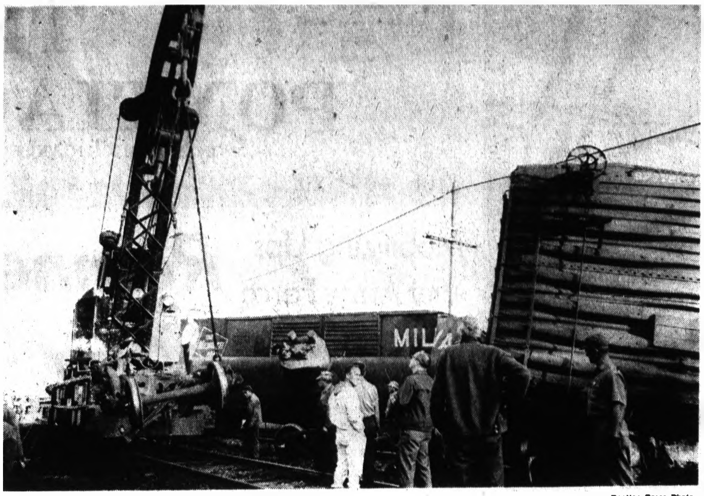
SAMPLE TESTED

Authorities yesterday sent a sample of the weed to East Lansing where technicians in the Michigan State Police Crime Lab confirmed that the hemp was marijuana.

Police said that the marijuana had never been cultivated.

* * *

And understandably so, police added, since it was growing on right-of-way property owned by the Michigan State Highway Department.



CLEARING TRACKS—Workers last night and today spent several hours clearing Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks after nine cars of a 125-car freight train derailed near South Saginaw Street. Nobody was injured, and officials have not been able to estimate the damage.

Cycle-Helmet Controversy 'May Cut U.S. Road Aid'

During the short period that helmets were mandatory, statistics revealed that there was a marked decrease in motorcycle fatalities, Anderson said.

REVERSAL

"Now its starting to go back the other way.

"This strong opposition against helmets could work against motorcyclists," Anderson said.

* * *

If the death rate continues there may be a public clamor for strong legislation that might even lead to removing motorcycles from the road, according to Anderson.

* * *

"Something like this might happen through 'panic' legislation, speeded through the House without much thought given to the repercussions," he said.

EX-CYLE POLICEMAN

"This would be a sad situation," said Anderson, himself a former motorcycle policeman in Pontiac.

Anderson said he feels the criticism leveled at him because of his legislation has been unfair.

"All I'm doing is trying to make motorcycling safer."

Trains on Time Despite Mishap

Trains are still running on schedule today through Pontiac despite last night's nine-car derailment of a 125-car Grand Trunk Western freight train between Franklin Road and South Paddock.

Nobody was hurt when the train was forced to apply emergency brakes at about 8:55 p.m. because an auto was stopped on the tracks. When the brakes were applied, several cars buckled and nine jumped the tracks, Grand Trunk Western officials said today.

Tracks were cleared so that today's trains could run on schedule, though.

The freight was on a scheduled run from Detroit to Durand. Railway officials this morning could not estimate damages caused by the mishap, but said at least two of the derailed cars might have to be scrapped. Damage was also done to about 350 feet of track.

AUTO VANISHED

The auto that apparently caused the derailment could not be located after the mishap. Officials theorize the driver fled in his auto when he saw the oncoming train.

Pontiac police dispatched 10 patrolmen to the scene to direct a traffic jam that was caused by the derailment. Officers said traffic was backed up for miles and the jam-up lasted for several hours. Railworkers were still working this morning to clear the portion of wreckage between Saginaw and Paddock, according to Yardmaster Lee Marino.

Warehouse Picketed

Liquor Drought Looms in Area

Oakland County's liquor supply could dry up in a few weeks if picketing continues at the State Liquor Control Commission warehouse serving the area.

About 50 employes at the Lincoln Park facility have walked off the job. Their union is the Federation of State County and Municipal Employes, but the Teamsters, who drive the delivery trucks, are not crossing the picket line.

* * *

The warehouse is the supply source for Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Lapeer, St. Clair, Monroe and Washtenaw counties.

Gordon Ritchie, director of the warehouse, told The Press today that "panic buying" has already occurred. He said some brands are expected to be gone sometime next week with most popular brands probably disappearing after two weeks, if the picketing continues.

LANSING NEAREST

The nearest state warehouse is in Lansing and it is not affected.

The labor dispute reportedly involves wages, working conditions and the firing of some personnel. Ritchie said he felt the dispute would be "settled soon." It began Sept. 5.

TRANSPORTATION STUDY

The board also laid the groundwork for establishing a task force to study transportation problems in Pontiac and the surrounding area.

Noting that Pontiac has only 6½ months before it could lose its bus service, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., chairman of PAPC, said: "Transportation is a problem that is no longer just a city problem, but one that the county and school people should concern themselves with."

Staff members will return later with recommendations on how the transportation group should proceed.

The formation of "a small task force" to study transportation was recommended by David Doherty, PAPC director.

Ray May Never Take the Stand

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray, who is charged with murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., may never testify in his own defense.

* * *

Arthur Hanes Sr., Birmingham attorney who is chief defense counsel, said the decision to put Ray on the stand or keep him off may not be made until "the moment the prosecution rests its case and the judge tells me to call my first witness.

"That's when I'll have to decide, because under Tennessee law the defense must call as its first witness the defendant himself," if he is to be called.

* * *

If that happens, the prosecution under cross-examination could bring out Ray's hapless record as a thief and robber and the fact that he is an escaped convict.

TRIAL DATE

Ray is scheduled to go on trial in Shelby County Criminal Court here Nov. 12. He is charged with first degree murder in the sniper assassination of Dr. King, who was slain by a single bullet April 4 as he leaned on the balcony railing of a downtown motel.

* * *

The Negro apostle of nonviolence was in Memphis to give support to striking garbage workers, almost all of them Negroes, who were locked in a vitriolic battle for higher wages with the city administration.

Hanes indicated in an interview in Birmingham that he may move for postponement in the trial date.

Physicians' Savvy of Drugs Doubted

WASHINGTON (AP) — How much do doctors know about the drugs they prescribe for patients?

A federal task force, asking that question, expressed serious concern yesterday over doctors' ability to prescribe appropriate drugs.

* * *

It said doctors' knowledge is limited by the fact most of their information comes from promotional material from the drug manufacturers. The task force also mentioned lack of time for doctors to make judgments, rapid changes in the drug field and inadequate medical training.

It quoted one pharmacologist as saying "Lack of knowledge and sophistication in the proper use of drugs, is perhaps the greatest deficiency of the average physician today."

* * *

The Task Force on Prescription Drugs made its report to the secretary of health, education and welfare.

Enrollment Down in Pontiac Schools

School enrollment in Pontiac appears to be smaller than expected, preliminary figures released yesterday by Assistant Supt. William J. Lacy indicate.

A total of 23,142 students are enrolled in Pontiac schools as of last Monday, according to Lacy.

* * *

Enrollment has been projected at 24,079 for the fourth Friday of this month, when enrollment figures are submitted for state aid. Last year's official figure was 23,729.

At least two elementary school are overcrowded, Lacy says. They are Wisner and Alcott schools, a portion of whose pupils were to go to the new elementary school next to Lincoln Junior High School.

* * *

Completion of the school was delayed by the construction strike. It probably will not open this school year because extensive changes in attendance boundary lines would be needed.

RECEIVES CERTIFICATE — Completing a second summer program of the Police Youth Service Corps, in which selected city boys worked with the police department to better understand police operations, was a banquet held last night. City Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr., District 1, (left) presents a certificate of achievement to one of the boys, Robert A. Jones, 14, of 273 Crystal.

City's Police Youth Plan Leaders Say Objectives Are Accomplished

The second Pontiac Police Youth Serivce Corps summer program, which ended with a banquet last night, has accomplished its primary objective of improving police-community relations, according to program leaders.

Certificates of achievement were awarded to 28 boys who completed the eight-week work experience program in ceremonies at the First Federal Savings of Oakland.

* * *

George Caronis, program coordinator, cited growth on the part of participants as a major result of the youth corps session.

He described growth in respect for individual policemen and for the job of law enforcement collectively, as well as in personal responsibility, in relating to other persons, in self-understanding and in community awareness and identity.

OUTSIDERS POSITIVE

"Our impressions about this program are substantiated by the positive reactions of those outside the program and by the low rate of turnover during the session," said Caronis.

He credited much of the program's success to the efforts of Patrolmen Richard Hayes and Thomas Gracey, group leaders.

* * *

City Commissioner T. Warren Fowler Sr., District 1, who passed out the boys' certificates, pointed to the program's role in "building bridges to better police-community relations by the spirit of the program."

Workmen Dismantle Its Rides

Walled Lake Park Is Closed

By DIANNE DUROCHER

The Flying Dragon sleeps. A strange quiet has replaced the once-constant noise of shuffling crowds, organ music and excited screams that once hung over the Walled Lake Amusement Park.

Some sound does remain, but it is the busy clanging, hammering and shouting of workmen dismantling the equipment in the famed park adjacent to the lake of the same name.

★ ★ ★

The dragon was the giant roller coaster, a test of a small child's stomach and a father's courage.

★ ★ ★

Sunday the park ended its regular season with a Detroit Police Officer's Association Picnic, and Monday closed forever, after 40 years of operation.

'HARD TO BELIEVE'

"It's hard to believe; I probably won't come to the full realizaton until next spring," said Ronald Hood, park caretaker for about the last 13 years.

Park Supt. John Hamlet echoed Hood's sentiments, adding, "The prospect of closing has been discussed all summer as negotiations to buy the grounds or renew the lease were unsuccessful."

★ ★ ★

The park's owners, the Wagner Brothers of Detroit, also own and operate two other amusement parks in the Detroit area. They were unable to secure a satisfactory lease or purchase agreement for the land and are removing their equipment.

The huge roller coaster almost encircles the park. It was brought there in the spring of 1928 and first operated by Fred Pierce in 1929. Pierce later installed other forms of entertainment.

CARS SIT MOTIONLESS

Now the sign portraying the fierce green flying dragon hangs above the empty entrance to the roller coaster, and the cars sit motionless, surrounded by the sprawling track.

Not far from the roller coaster ride, the rocket ships, Ferris wheel and tilt-a-whirl sit motionless in the sunshine. Their motors are greased and well-kept from recent use.

Hamlet said the park has been a popular recreation spot over the years, pointing to pictures in a scrapbook kept in the office. A shot of the park in 1930 shows the parking lot jammed with antiquated black cars. In another picture, men and women dressed like Harold Lloyd and Jean Harlow strolled about the grounds.

He said that the park has always scheduled commercial picnics. Church, school union and fraternal organizations held picnics there, he said.

SITE FOR SALE

After the equipment is removed, the land will probably be put up for sale by the owners, Hamlet said.

Next spring, the fence surrounding what's left of Walled Lake Amusement Park probably will surround a vacant lot.

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — A new television station, Channel 62, WXON-TV, located here, will begin its regular broadcasting Sunday at 3 p.m. The station will telecast daily beginning at 3:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

In. tallation of a 790-foot transmitting tower was completed last week, and a test has been run as a final check on equipment, said Ron St. Charles, program director.

WXON-TV programming will be included in Pontiac Press listings, starting tomorrow.

Plans for Clarkston School HQ Go On

CLARKSTON—The board of education will proceed with plans for construction of a new administration building, proposed for a site on Clarkston-Orion Road.

Rough drawings, bearing no price tags, have been presented to the board.

In other business the board voted to obtain prices on new incinerators for Andersonville, Clarkston Elementary, Sashabaw Elementary and Clarkston Middle Schools.

A long-term solution to the paving problem at Clarkston Senior High School is under study. The parking lot has required repair regularly since its construction.

Historic Troy House Moved

TROY — The historic Caswell House was moved yesterday from the site it had occupied for 136 years.

★ ★ ★

More than 2½ years after the plan was originally suggested, the old home was saved. When the house was sold in 1966 residents and city officials united to preserve it as a historic landmark and move it to the old city hall site at Wattles and Livernois.

★ ★ ★

Built by Solomon Caswell, who came to Troy in 1824, the impressive monument to Greek revival architecture has stood on Adams north of Big Beaver since 1832.

Severed from its foundation, the house began its four-mile journey to its new site yesterday.

C. A. Johnson & Son Inc. of Detroit handled the operation. Traffic was stopped on Big Beaver, Coolidge and Wattles so that the house could be pulled on its trailer at about 10 miles per hour.

Traffic lights at two intersections slowed the procedure, but the signals were raised by a telescoping "giraffe" provided by Detroit Edison.

The house was given to the city by the North Hills Christian Reformed Church with the stipulation that it be moved. The church bought the site from John Angelosanto, who was given the house in the will of the original builder's grandson, Will Caswell.

In 1966 the Caswell Fund Committee, appointed by the Troy Historical Commission, requested that the Troy Historical Society act as the collecting agent for funds to save the old home.

$8,400 RAISED

Through various fund raising activities and direct appeals to individuals and organizations, $8,400 was raised to save Caswell House.

In 1967 the City Commission appropriated $15,000 toward a new foundation and renovation of the house, with the understanding that the money raised by the historical society would be used to move it.

★ ★ ★

Future plans call for another Caswell House Fund, to decorate and furnish the home. Historical Society members hope to have at least one room completed by 1971.

Romeo Schools Set Dec. 9 Vote on 4-Mill Issue

ROMEO — Faced with a projected $119,000 deficit by June 1969, the board of education has called for a special election Dec. 9 for renewal of a four-mill school operating tax.

Proposed expenses in this year's budget exceed receipts by $66,000, say school officials This is in addition to a $53,000 deficit at the end of the last school year.

★ ★ ★

School Supt. T. C. Filppula, who was directed by the board at a recent meeting to prepre a list of cuts to provide a balanced budget, said the operating deficit for this year is due mainly to increases in teacher's salaries and staff additions.

Principals are still nelotiating contracts, and they will meet with the school board Oct. 7 to discuss the board's proposals.

HEARING OCT. 7

Also on Oct. 7, the board will hold a public hearing to discuss the proposed 1968-69 operating budget.

★ ★ ★

In other action, the board approved a plan for complete hospitalization coverage for school employes not covered by contracts.

A fifth play, "Roar of the Greasepaint," will be performed Oct. 25-26 and Nov. 1-2.

Shelby Planners Advise Rezoning

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — After making a 42-day circuit through four county and township agencies, a rezoning request for the southeast corner of 25 Mile and Mound was referred back to the township Board. The referral by the Township Planning Commission at a recent meeting carries recommendations for final approval of the zoning.

Petitioner Dr. A. Morgenthaler made his request July 31 to the Township Board for rezoning from professional building classification to commercial zoning, in order to allow him to build a gasoline station on the corner, and a convalescent home next to it.

★ ★ ★

The Shelby Township Planning Commission recommended approval for the convalescent home, but recommended denial of the gas station.

The question was then sent to the Macomb County Board of Supervisors, coordinating zoning committee, which recommended approval for the entire rezoning and then sent it back to the township board, which, in turn, referred it again to the planning commission.

This time the commission recommended approval for the gasoline station as well as the convalescent home.

The final decision will be made at the township board meeting next Tuesday.

In other recent action, the planning commission has recommended final approval for the 94-lot Shropshire Downs Subdivision, north of 23 Mile between Hayes and Schoenherr. The land is owned by Odilon Houtekier, a trustee on the township board of supervisors.

County Gets Look at Plan for Complex

Plans for a multimillion-dollar apartment complex in West Bloomfield Township were shown yesterday to the coordinating, zoning and planning committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

The 152-acre development on the northeast corner of 14 Mile and Farmington Road would contain over 60 multiple dwelling buildings for a total 1,200 housing units.

★ ★ ★

The proposed development would have clusters of apartments, arranged in circles, eight to a circle, and would have a nine-hole golf course running between groups of buildings.

Proposed by Herman Frankel of Birmingham Parks Inc., 3171 Bloomfield Shore, West Bloomfield Township, the complex would also contain a small shopping center and an adjacent large single-family development.

$200 MONTHLY RENT

It was reported to the committee that rents would be over $200 monthly per unit. The development firm sought approval for rezoning for the complex.

The committee, whose function is to be certain rezoning requests in county communities conform to master planning and legal requirements, recommended approval of the rezoning.

★ ★ ★

On formerly residential land, both multiple-dwelling and small areas of commercial zoning were asked. Approval had already been obtained from the township's planning authority.

A final decision will be rendered by the township board of trustees.

County OKs Highland Plan for Multiple-Dwelling Units

A plan to build multiple - dwelling units in Highland Township cleared the coordinating, zoning and planning committee of the County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

The proposed development is for 10 acres owned by William Mehlorn on the east side of Ridge between Highland and Wardlow. About 100 units are proposed.

★ ★ ★

The township reportedly does not now have any multiple - dwelling developments, though a few others are in the planning stage.

A rezoning of the land from residential to commercial is being asked. The township zoning regulations do not contain a multiple-dwelling classification. Committee member Mrs. Jean McDonnell of Southfield cast the single "no" vote to the proposal, basing her objection on the need for the township to place multiple-dwellings in its code.

3-ACRE SITE OK'd

Also in Highland Township, the committee gave its approval to rezoning a three-acre parcel on M59 east of Duck Lake Road containing a large empty building. It will be rezoned from commercial to manufacturing if final approval is granted by the township board. Renovating the structure and installation of a small-parts factory is reportedly planned for the site.

Rezoning to allow a gas station on Milford south of Lone Tree also met approval.

For Springfield Township an amendment to the zoning ordinance to allow a single residence on property with access only by private road met committee approval.

The committee agreed with the Springfield Township planning board in disapproving of rezoning for a proposed 64-acre subdivision. The request was for land north of Holcomb near Ellis, owned by Robert McGinnis.

The land is zoned agricultural - residental and requires 10-acre lots. If rezoned it could have allowed a subdivision with about three homes per acre

Commercial zoning for a four-acre parcel on Dixie just north of I-75 met committee approval. The township planners opposed the rezoning for Kenneth Gottschall of 8739 Dixie on the basis he the group he wishes to rezone the land had submitted no development plan. He told the group he wishes to rezone the land before selling. The township trustees will now get the issue.

For Bloomfield Township approval was recommended for a 6.5-acre parcel at Inkster north of 15 Mile to be rezoned for office buildings.

Developers seek to build a large office complex at the site which has been zoned residential. Township planners had already approved the move.

13 Charged With Swindling 22 Texas Churches

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Grand jurors indicted two churchmen, a former state securities executive, a former state representative and nine other persons Thursday on federal charges of swindling 22 churches in 12 states of about $5 million.

Those of the 13 who could be reached denied any wrongdoing. Some expressed surprise at the indictments.

They were accused of mail fraud, conspiracy, fraud in the sale of church bonds and interstate transportation of fraudulently obtained bonds.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert Travis said the churches issued the bonds to obtain money for construction of buildings. He said they received only about $180,000 in construction work for securities with face value of $5,154,900, which were issued in 1965.

PAYMENT DEMANDED

Purchasers of the bonds now are demanding payment from the churches, Travis said.

* * *

The system is routine among churches, with some security dealers specializing in sales of the bonds and acting as collection agents for the purchasers.

Those indicted are John B. Walling, Lyal W. McKnight and the Revs. Homer G. and Omer H. Ritchie, all of Fort Worth, Tex.; Carl R. Duncan of Dallas, Tex.; Glenn V. Paden Sr. of Cleburne, Tex.; T.H. Ruth of Denton, Tex.; Bradley Bourland of Austin, Tex.; Delbert M. Sawyers, a former Lubbock, Tex., resident now living in West Germany; Thomas A. Greer Jr. of Dunlap, Tenn.; Horace Taylor of Clarksville, Tenn.; Percy R. Clark of Pine Bluff, Ark.; and Dwight Parks of Waco, Tex.

Travis said the securities and exchange commission and postal inspectors worked on the case eight months.

* * *

U.S. District Judge Leo Brewster set bonds for 12 of the defendants at $1,000. Bond for Sawyers was fixed at $10,000.

Travis identified Sawyers as a former Lubbock car salesman now in West Germany after jumping bail on an appeal bond from a one-year sentence in New Mexico.

* * *

Fourteen of the churches were Churches of Christ, three Baptist, three Christian Scientist and one Assembly of God.

Travis said Paden Construction Co. of Cleburne, owned by Glen Paden, was to do the construction. That company, however, and a firm owned by Walling-World Oil & Gas Corp., are in federal receivership.

ALLEGATIONS DENIED

Walling, a state representative from Wichita Falls, Tex., in 1951-59, said, "I deny any and all of the allegations."

The Rev. Homer Ritchie and his brother Omer are copastors of Fort Worth's First Baptist Church, one of the largest in the state with nearly 5,000 members.

* * *

The Rev. Homer Ritchie said, "I don't know why the government is doing this. It is without basis. Ridiculous."

Duncan commented, "I haven't kept up with it and I don't have an opinion on it. I don't even know what it's all about."

Bourland, an assistant attorney general of Texas in 1950-54 and Texas securities commissioner in 1954-56, said, "It's just extremely difficult for me to understand how they can do this . . . Apparently, all the facts were not reported. When they are, it will show that there are no grounds for this action against me."

Travis claimed Paden, a prominent Church of Christ layman, passed on $3,850,000 to Walling and refained the rest.

* * *

McKnight was described by Travis as an intermediary between Paden and Walling.

The grand jury listed nine persons as what it called "coschemers" but they were not indicted.

* * *

The largest amount of the bonds—$3,993,250—was issued by the Mid-City Baptist Church in New Orleans.

'Tolerance Led to Soviet Invasion'

Czech Assembly to Vote on Censorship

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's National Assembly was called into session today to approve a censorship law incorporating instructions issued to newspapers and broadcast stations two weeks ago when Soviet occupation forces began letting them reopen. The maximum penalty provided in the law is suspension of publication for three months.

Soviet bloc sources said the tolerance shown by Czechoslovakia's liberal Communist leaders during the spring and early summer to published and broadcast anti-Russian and anti-Communist opinion was perhaps the most important factor in Moscow's decision to invade the country on Aug. 20.

Party chief Alexander Dubcek began a series of liberal reforms after replacing conservative Antonin Novotny in January and might have proceeded without Russian interference if he had restrained the press and radio, one East European source said.

"Dubcek said he loved the Russians, but he proved that he did not really know them," the informant said.

DUBCEK CENSORED

Dubcek himself was a victim of censorship Thursday night, presumably self-imposed at the urging of his associates and advisers. He had prepared a television speech in which he said he and his colleagues did not want to bring back censorship that it was a step backward and would be only temporary.

But when the speech was telecast three hours later than scheduled, these remarks had been deleted. One report said Gustav Husak, chief of the Slovak Communist party, persuaded Dubcek to water down his speech.

* * *

Other deletions included statements that there were anti-Communist forces in other Communist countries as well as in Czechoslovakia, and that liberalization will continue even if at a slower pace than before the occupation.

One source said that if the original text had been broadcast, "The Russians would have been back in Prague within five minutes."

TROOP PULLOUT

Most Soviet tanks and armored units pulled out of Prague and other major cities into the countryside early this week, but one local Communist source said: "They could move back into the capital inside less than an hour under any pretext."

Compliance with the censorship instructions has increased in the last few days to the point where newspaper readers have gone back to reading between the lines. The new law re-establishes the office of press censorship, which is to be headed by Josef Vohnout, a pro-Dubcek official.

* * *

The National Assembly also was to take up a law barring opposition political parties. It declares that the organizations now in the Communist-led National Front satisfy the needs of the people.

Another measure raises taxes on wage increases and state enterprises in an effort to meet a deficit already estimated this year at the equivalent of nearly $300 million.

ADC Clothes Plan Is Hit

ST. JOSEPH (UPI) — Some 25 mothers who receive Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) payments for their children paraded around the Berrien County Courthouse Thursday to protest the manner in which the county was providing the children with clothing.

The mothers were demanding they be given cash for the supplemental winter clothing rather than purchase orders. They accused the Berrien County Welfare Department of sending them to used-clothing stores and said they wanted new clothing rather than secondhand garb for their children.

The protest was similar to ones staged in several Michigan cities in the past two weeks. In Ann Arbor, 244 persons, mostly University of Michigan students, were arrested before the welfare department agreed to allot $70 per child for school clothing.

* * *

Similar demonstrations in Flint, Saginaw, and Detroit followed a ruling by Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley that school clothing for welfare children is an "emergency" need to be covered by special appropriations to the county welfare departments.

Pistons Open Camp Minus Joe Strawder

MARYSVILLE, Mich. (AP)—The Detroit Pistons, minus center Joe Strawder, opened training camp Thursday and the first item on the agenda was finding a replacement for the 6-foot-10 pivotman.

* * *

"We've talked to Strawder and he says he won't come back," said Coach Dennis Butcher.

* * *

That leaves Butcher with three candidates to take over the center slot, certainly one of the toughest positions to fill in the National Basketball Association with the likes of Boston's Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain of the Los Angeles Lakers to contend with.

Strawder, who underwent surgery last April for a back ailment, indicated in July that he would not fulfill the final year of a two-year contract.

TWO ROOKIES

So the pivot spot will be up for grabs among 6-foot-10 Jim Fox, 6-foot-11 rookies Otto Moore and seven-foot Rich Niemann.

"Right now we'll probably go with Fox as No. 1 because he is the most experienced," said Butcher.

Fox came to the Pistons last year in a deal with the Cincinnati Royals. But he played less than 40 games last season.

Moore is the team's top draft choice and was a college standout at Pan American in Texas. Niemann, the team's No. 4 draft choice, played college ball at St. Louis.

Butcher put his team through a 90-minute scrimmage shortly after they suited up for the first workout.

* * *

"We don't have a lot of time," said Butcher. "We want to give all these kids a chance to show what they can do."

The Pistons have 13 rookies in camp to fight it out for four openings on the 12-man roster. The veterans are scheduled to report Monday.

Continental Player Latest Casualty

Pro football's death toll has climbed to five in 20 years with the death of an Omaha player.

Glenn Hepburn, 31, a linebacker with the Omaha Mustangs, died Thursday in a Detroit hospital of head injuries suffered in a Continental Football League game with Detroit last Saturday night.

* * *

Three deaths have occurred in the American Football League and one in the National Football League.

* * *

Stan Malden, a tackle for the old Chicago Cardinals, was fatally injured in an NFL game at Pittsburgh in 1948.

In the AFL, Howard Glenn of the old New York Titans died of a broken neck in a game at Houston Oct. 9, 1960.

* * *

Another broken neck claimed the life of Stone Johnson, 23, a rookie flanker for the Kansas City Chiefs, who died in a hospital nine days after he was injured in an exhibition with Houston.

* * *

Mack Hill, a Kansas City fullback, died of complications following knee surgery Dec. 14, 1965—two days after he was hurt in a game at Buffalo.

35 in Golf Field of LPGA Event

CALDWELL, Idaho (AP) — A field of 35 professional lady golfers tees off today in the Englehorn Invitational Tournament, but with two glamor names missing from the line-up.

Kathy Whitworth, second in 1968 money winnings on the ladies' tour, isn't entered; nor is Mickey Wright.

But the year's top money winner among touring lady pros, Carol Mann, will compete, along with Sandra Haynie, third in winnings.

Hometown girl and tournament namesake Shirley Englehorn will be the sentimental favorite.

The 54-hole tournament, with $2,000 first prize, ends Sunday.

Can-Am Cup Road Racing Drivers Set

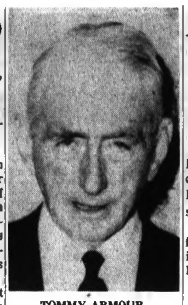
BRIDGEHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Thirty-one top road racing drivers were set today to begin practice and qualifying for the Bridgehampton Grand Prix, the second event of the six-race $500,000 Canadian-American Challenge Cup series.

* * *

Included in the field for Sunday's race is Dennis Hulme of New Zealand, who won this event last year, took the Road America at Elkhart Lake, Wis., the first race of the Can-Am series, two weeks ago and is closing in on the world's driving championship.

* * *

Also making a bid for top money in the more than $61,000 Bridgehampton is Bruce McLaren, who owns Hulme's car and is the defending Challenge Cup champion. McLaren finished second in the Road America.



TOMMY ARMOUR

Ex-Golf Great Dies After Lengthy Illness

LARCHMONT, N.Y. (AP) — Tommy Armour, a Scotsman who recovered from severe war wounds and six months of blindness to become one of golf's all-time greats, is dead at the age of 72.

He died Wednesday night at his home here after a lengthy illness.

* * *

One of the great iron and brassie players, Armour was the first professional to win the four big tournaments of his day —the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Canadian Open.

He also won the French Amateur in 1920, his first major success, in addition to a number of smaller tournaments during the early days of the PGA tour.

BLACK WATCH

In 1914, Armour enlisted in the famed Black Watch Highland Regiment. He saw action at the front and suffered severe wounds, particularly to his left arm, legs and eyes, at Ypres. He was blinded for six months but finally recovered the sight in his right eye.

Other golfers, particularly the immortal Bobby Jones, often turned to Armour for advice. Lawson Little telephoned from St. Andrews, Scotland, to Armour in Chicago for help before the final round of the 1935 British Open.

* * *

Despite his superb iron play, Armour was an opponent of the wedge, which he said "took 90 per cent of the skill out of short iron play."

Born in Edinburgh, Armour came to the United States in 1921, a few months after playing with the British against U.S. amateurs in the forerunner of the Walker Cup series. Five years later as an American citizen he was a member of the U.S. pro team that met the British in the matches that led to the Ryder Cup competition.

OPEN CHAMP

Armour beat Harry Cooper in a playoff for the 1927 U.S. Open title after tying the match with a 12-foot putt on the 72nd hole. He captured the PGA in 1930 and the British Open at Carnoustie, Scotland, in 1930.

Funeral service will be private at the discretion of the family.

Survivors include his widow, Estelle; two sons—Thomas Armour Jr. of Las Vegas and Alex of Larchmont, and two adopted sons—Ben Andrews of Monsey, N.Y., and John Armour of Ocala, Fla.

Coho Reports at Platte Bay

Top coho attraction today is Platte Bay as well as stream fishing in the Big Manistee and Little Manistee Rivers and Bear Creek.

Yesterday, 600 boats were sighted by the Conservation Department in Platte Bay. Reports indicate good catches with coho averaging 12 to 14 pounds.

* * *

Stream fishing is proving popular with many anglers in the Manistee area. Most productive of the three major streams here was Bear Creek. Catches were averaging 13 to 15 pounds.

* * *

Reports indicate a run of coho and chinook from Lake Michigan through Muskegon Lake to the Muskegon River. Catches, however, have been reported as spotty.

Mrs. Cova Takes Weekly Golf Event

Mrs. Midge Cova of Novi put together a 42-39—81 to take honors this week in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association outing at Glenhurst.

Two strokes off the pace was Mrs. James Courtney of Livonia. Isobel Burrell of Detroit led the first flight with a 93, Mrs. William Pate of Detroit carded a 101 to lead the second flight and Mrs. James Suddath of Birmingham led the third flight with a 106.

Vikings First to Start

Pros Kickoff Saturday Night

By the Associated Press

Atlanta and Minnesota, a couple of teams consigned to a year of mediocrity, blast off the 49th National Football League season Saturday night.

The opener on the Vikings' field is the first of eight games in three days during which all 16 NFL teams make their debut.

* * *

Meanwhile, Houston's defending Eastern Division champs, still smarting over an opening loss to Kansas City, take on Miami, 0-0, in the Orange Bowl as the American Football League swings into its second week of activity Saturday night.

* * *

Both Minnesota and Atlanta are rich with youth, and neither has a potent offense. The Falcons won only one of 13 games in their second season in the NFL last year, while Minnesota claimed the Central Division cellar for the second straight year.

Not much improvement is expected of either this season.

SURPRISE MOVE

In a minor surprise, Viking Coach Bud Grant announced that Joe Kapp will be his starting quarterback instead of Gary Cuozzo.

* * *

Cuozzo was picked up from New Orleans in an effort to add more punch to the Vikings' sagging attack, but missed valuable time during the exhibition season with a jammed shoulder.

* * *

However, Grant did say he wouldn't hesitate to change quarterbacks at any time during the game.

Atlanta has been forced into a bevy of personnel changes because of injuries, including a knee injury that has sidelined flashy fullback Junior Coffey.

* * *

Miami faces a difficult chore in stopping the Oilers' Pete Beathard, who hit on 23 of 48 passes, including two touchdown strikes to rookie Mac Haik, for 385 yards in the loss at Kansas City.

The second-year Dolphins boast a beefed up attack headed by quarterback Bob Griese and rookie fullback Larry Csonka.

* * *

Six other NFL openers are on tap Sunday—including Green Bay's opening bid for an unprecedented fourth straight league championship against Philadelphia—and one more Monday night.

* * *

In other Sunday openers, Baltimore, with golden armed Johnny Unitas a doubtful starter, entertains San Francisco; Cleveland is at New Orleans; New York at Pittsburgh; Washington at Chicago, and Detroit at Dallas.

St. Louis plays host to strong Los Angeles Monday night in a nationally televised game, CBS, 9:30 p.m., EDT.

The NFL is carved into four divisions again this season, with Green Bay favored in the Central, Dallas in the Capitol, St. Louis and Cleveland in the Century and Los Angeles and Baltimore in the Coastal.

Gains Outnumber Losses

Market Steadies After Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — Gains outnumbered losses early Friday as the stock market steadied from two sessions of decline. Trading was fairly active.

After a mixed opening, the market assumed a slightly higher trend. Gains outnumbered losses by more than 100 issues on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow Jones industrial average made a modest gain.

* * *

Leading motor stocks were steady to a bit higher. Auto sales in early September were reported well above the total of the like period a year ago.

Steels and rubbers also edged higher on balance.

Drugs were soft, following an assertion by a government task force that drug industry profits and promotional costs are too high. Schering fell about 2 points. Pfizer and Merck edged fractionally lower.

Global Marine recovered a point or so of the 12¼-point plunge of Thursday when it reacted to news it was terminating its Alaskan gold explorations.

Atlantic Richfield, Westinghouse Electric and IBM also rose a point or so.

* * *

International Telephone and Xerox fell around a point.

American Telephone eased ⅛ to 52¾ on a block of 6,800 shares.

* * *

Analysts saw the action as a continuation of the firmer trend which developed late in the Thursday decline. They regarded the general news background as carrying inflationary overtones.

North Viet Regiment Believed Driven Off

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces battled strong enemy troops in two areas near the Cambodian border and killed at least 217 of them under a rain of bombs, artillery and machine-gun fire, a military spokesman reported today.

An American task force reinforced by tanks and dive-bombers clashed with a North Vietnamese regiment in a 14-hour fight Thursday that swirled through rubber plantations in an arc north to east of the pivotal district town of Loc Ninh, 65 miles north of Saigon.

* * *

U.S. Headquarters said 113 enemy troops were killed. But more important, a U.S. intelligence officer said, "We think we probably pre-empted an attack on the city."

Fourteen Americans were killed and 60 wounded.

NORTH REGIMENT

The enemy force was believed to be the North Vietnamese 32nd Regiment which moved down from the central highlands earlier this summer to bolster the veteran North Vietnamese 7th Division operating north of Saigon.

Fighting eased off during the night. The enemy regiment could have slipped back across the border into Cambodia, out of bounds to American troops, leaving a rear guard to cover its withdrawal. Enemy gunners slammed 25 mortar rounds into the Loc Ninh airstrip during the night.

The Vietcong tried unsuccessfully to take Loc Ninh last November and more than 1,500 of their men were killed.

The fighting last November was the first phase of an attempt to draw allied troops to the border area and tie them up while enemy forces maneuvered into position for massive assaults on cities, towns and allied installations.

House Unit to Probe Chicago Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities has voted at an informal session to inquire into disturbances in Chicago during the Democratic National Convention.

A spokesman said no details have been settled.

Normally, the committee assigns staff members to make a preliminary investigation, then decides whether to conduct hearings.

Dems Raise Funds With Detroit Party

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Democrats staged a $50-a-couple cocktail party Thursday in Detroit, raising funds for legislative candidates in a bid to regain control of the State House of Representatives.

More than 500 Democrats showed up at the shindig in the Hotel Pontchartrain. Party officials said they expected the event to yield $20,000 to the party.

About 90 per cent of the money is expected to go to Democratic candidates in 20 "swing" districts.

Mexican Pickers Lack Visas, Ousted

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP) — The U.S. Immigration Service combed pear orchards in southern Oregon during the past five days and discovered 45 Mexican nationals without visas.

The group agreed to voluntary deportation and the Immigration Service put them on a bus for Livermore, Calif., to be turned over to border guards.

The Mexicans were not unhappy with the bus ride. Most had earned about $1,400 in the orchards and were getting a free ride home.

No '69 Recession Seen Likely

2 Forecasts Are Bullish

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — At least two well-known economic consultants to large corporations here are about to release bullish reports on prospects for the economy in 1969.

CUNNIFF

Both reports are described as surprising, even before complete data are in. They are based on surveys of spending plans for expansion by large companies.

* * *

Unexpected business confidence is shown in the reports despite higher taxes and other slowdown tactics of the Federal Reserve and the Johnson administration. Spending increases of as much as 7 per cent are foreseen.

One obvious conclusion is that business will be giving its endorsement to a balanced rather than inflated economy. Economic stability is always desired by those responsible for making large spending plans.

NO RECESSION SEEN

In general, these and other economists now foresee a flattening of the economy during the next few months, but with little likelihood of a recession, despite fears that have been expressed even by administration officials.

As inflation is squeezed from the economy, these economists feel, a foundation for real growth will begin to solidify.

* * *

In the second half of 1969, the two upcoming reports suggest, the economy will be in the midst of a resurgence. At least one of the forecasts indicates that the upturn will be sharp.

These reports tie in with what appears to be a return of business confidence in the ability of officialdom, represented by the Federal Reserve and the administration, to steer the economy in the right direction.

OPTIMISM RISING

Confidence had fallen badly in the past two years as inflation spread almost unchecked. Optimism seems to have risen following government spending cuts, the tax increase and other measures. Hard lessons learned in the past two years may pay dividends in the future, it is felt.

Of interest to investors are records showing that stock market advances precede upturns in capital spending, which the upcoming reports indicate will be strong in the latter half of 1969, by six to 12 months.

* * *

This may or may not hold true for the stock market in 1969. Other factors, such as corporate profits, also must match increases in capital spending before a general rule can be stated.

However, some stock market analysts with unusual courage or confidence have gone out on a limb to forecast better stock prices in 1969, primarily for sound, blue-chip companies that tend to benefit from stability.

RESPECTED ADVISER

Among these is John Wright of Bridgeport, Conn., adviser to well-to-do individuals and institutions, one of whose policies is to deal almost solely in stocks of premium investment quality.

"Twelve months from now," says Wright, "today's stock market pricing of most blue chips will, in our opinion, look like a fisherman's view of the big ones that got away."

* * *

Wright feels that with inflation receding, the price per share of marginal companies will retreat also and that the money will go into the large, blue-chip companies that are less subject to short-term changes.

"We're at the end of one economic cycle, which began in 1960, and we're about to enter a new one," Wright says, adding that he expects to commit his own and customers' funds to the stock market by late October.

RARE STRAIGHT TALK

Such optimism and straight talks is rare. Although neither the directness nor uncommonness makes them correct, such attitudes do give an idea of how some economists and analysts are changing their thinking.

The fallibility of the seers is too easily realized when you consider the political, military and diplomatic hazards of 1969. Nobody can foresee events as they will occur, but they can take a position.

* * *

A few respected economists and analysts, backed by surveys and studies such as those on capital spending, now seem to be taking a stand. And in some instances their confident posture is one that a few months ago they would have dared not take.

Wider Buses Said Planned by Greyhound

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The Des Moines Register reported today that the Greyhound Bus Corp. is so confident that Congress will authorize wider trucks and buses it is building and testing a bigger bus.

In a copyright article by Nick Kotz of the newspaper's Washington bureau, the Register said Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, has received a letter from Greyhound's president to that effect.

* * *

Kotz writes that Schwengel, in investigating the rumor of new Greyhound buses, was told by Greyhound President Gerald H. Troutman the new bus is under construction.

"This bus, on which Greyhound has already spent several million dollars, is now in production," Kotz quoted Troutman's letter to Schwengel as saying.

* * *

"It would be too bad to deprive the interstate traveling public of the comfort and convenience of this bus, to say nothing of the additional safety feature," Troutman was reported to have written.

Kotz wrote that the Troutman letter contended that the new Greyhound bus—8½ feet wide, 40 feet long and 12 feet high—would reduce traffic congestion because fewer buses could carry more passengers.

Penney Store Is Celebrating Two Birthdays

The J. C. Penney store in the Bloomfield Miracle Mile Shopping Center has a double reason to celebrate this weekend. Not only is the store marking Miracle Mile's 11th anniversary, but James Cash Penney, the chain's founder, will celebrate his 93rd birthday Monday.

Penney visited the Miracle Mile store nearly 11 years ago to join in opening ceremonies.

A store spokesman said three birthday cakes would remind shoppers of the founder's birthday. In addition, a large 10-by-10-foot artificial cake will mark Miracle Mile's 11th anniversary.

Booths of some 20 area non-profit organizations will be set up in the center's parking lot from noon to 8 p.m. today and tomorrow.
