Doctor Stresses Importance of Fluoridation

CHICAGO — The new surgeon general of the Public Health Service this morning affirmed his agency's continuing support of water fluoridation.

Dr. Luther L. Terry declared, "I cannot emphasize too strongly the importance of fluoridation as a means of improving the dental health of children."

He further urged every community without the protection of fluoridated water supply to "adopt this safe and effective public health measure for the reduction of dental decay."

Delivering the keynote address at the 12th National Dental Health Conference being sponsored here by the American Dental Association, the surgeon general said that fluoridation's effectiveness in "preventing two out of every three dental cavities has been" amply demonstrated.

Coffee's Flowing Like Water, Says Federal Survey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans drink about 400 million cups of coffee daily, or nearly 16 pounds a year, for every man, woman and child.

The Commerce Department, reporting this today, predicted coffee consumption will continue to rise and that prices will be relatively stable at least until 1965.

In a study entitled "Coffee Consumption in the United States, 1920-1965," the department estimated 1965 consumption at 24.7 million bags compared to 21 million bags in 1950.

Coffee is served at least once a day in 95 per cent of all American homes, the report said. The nation imports half of all the coffee shipped in international trade.

Ford Salaries Near $7 Million

Total Less Than 1959; Henry of Top of List With $462,500

DETROIT — The Ford Motor Co. paid its top officers and directors just under $7 million in salaries, fees and bonuses last year, $330,000 less than in 1959.

Ford disclosed the payments Tuesday in its proxy statement mailed to shareholders in anticipation of the company's annual stockholders meeting May 18.

Board chairman Henry Ford II topped the list at $662,500. He received $485,000 the previous year. His salary rose by $2,500 but his bonus dropped $25,000.

Robert McNamara, who resigned as Ford president at the end of the year to become secretary of defense, received $386,667, including a $245,000 bonus to be paid in four annual installments. McNamara was paid $410,833 in 1959.

John Dykstra, elected president of the company earlier this month, was the third highest paid Ford executive last year. He received $375,000, a decrease of $16,667 from the previous year.

The Ford executive payments compare with $74,000 paid to General Motors Chairman Frederic D. DePue and $517,750 paid to President John Gordon.

In the proxy statement management most proposed re-election of the 17 of a year ago is James O. Wright, vice president for the car and truck group.

School Board to Consider Pay Scales for Employees

Wage-schedule recommendations for maintenance employees, principals, assistant principals and administrative positions are slated for presentation at tomorrow night's Pontiac Board of Education meeting.

The board will meet at 7:30 in the central administration building, 40 Patterson St.

The schedules will be for members of the administrative staff, employees represented by Local 719 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union (AF-CIO), and those represented by the United Skilled Maintenance Trade Employees Union.

"Discussions have been continuing with these three groups and recommendations for wage schedules will be presented at Thursday's meeting if possible," said Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, school superintendent.

If recommendations have not been reached, issues on which differences exist will be discussed orally.

The board will also be asked to approve a registration notice for the spring school district election.

The proposed notice sets May 15 as the last day unregistered persons may register to vote in the June 12 school election. It is expected to be approved.

In other business, the board will hear a report from Dr. Otto F. Hutziger, assistant superintendent, concerning the constitution of a school district at Pontiac Northern High School to eliminate water leakage into locker rooms.

Hutziger will also report on progress of the school district's food service program, the 1960-61 bonding program, and vendors on school property.

Whitmer is scheduled to make oral reports on the State Treasury Commission hearing this Friday concerning Mrs. Isa Vogel, former Herrington School teacher dismissed by the board last summer, and a proposed settlement of a copyright problem involving teaching guides authored by several Pontiac teachers.

Whitmer will also discuss with board members the procedure to be used next year in arriving at teacher salary schedules.

Several board members and teachers have voiced dissatisfaction with the current procedure.

Dinner Meeting Scheduled by Fire Safety Unit

A dinner meeting of the Fire Safety Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce will be held at 6:30 tonight at the Elks Temple.

Sherwin M. Birnkant, chairman, said the main business will be to lay the foundation for the 1961 parade and field day activities.

"Brief reports will be presented by all subcommittee chairmen in order to acquaint members of the various facets of our work," he added.

Some 75 persons are expected to attend.

Representatives of all fire safety organizations who participate in Pontiac's Fire Safety Week activities have been invited to send representatives, Birnkant said.

About 81 per cent of the U.S. labor force works for wages and about 19 per cent is self-employed.

Two Are Sentenced for Reckless Driving

Two Pontiac men were found guilty of reckless driving and sentenced yesterday by Municipal Judge Cecil McCullum.

John L. Cowart, 31, 160 W. South Blvd., was placed on a year's probation, fined $20, and ordered to attend driver safety school.

Kennick Day, 29, 629 Peasock Ave., was placed on six months probation and ordered to attend driver safety school.

CIA Partially at Fault for Cuban Fiasco

Our reaction along with hundreds of others concerning the Cuban fiasco is who's responsible for this gigantic goof?

It appears that the Central Intelligence Agency, on whose reports much of our strategic and defense thinking depends, is at fault partially. Apparently President John F. Kennedy gave the word for the rebel forces to go ahead with their invasion plans on the strength of CIA information.

Results seem to indicate that the estimates set forth by the Intelligence agency were far from accurate. If this is true it is terrifying to think of the faith we put in CIA reports from far away places such as Red China.

The landing results show that support from within for the rebels was considerably less than expected. At this point pinning the blame is difficult because complete knowledge is lacking.

For obvious reasons the complete CIA operations can't be made public. But lifting the cloak on the whole affair to a point where our citizens could have some understanding seems reasonable.

President KENNEDY says he will take the complete blame, but he fails to say what the blame is for. To date the whole episode is an unfortunate mess.

With the world surrounded to-day with more turmoil than we have witnessed in some little time, we must have faith in our defense policies.

Nothing short of hard-boiled scrutiny and some reassuring statement from the administration will clear the air after the manner in which the Cuban invasion plan flopped.

Obsolete Slaughtering Should Be Eliminated

A bill asking humane treatment for animals in slaughterhouses is again before our State Legislature.

It would seem that in this day and age with so many modern and humane slaughtering methods available that such a bill would find little difficulty in passing. Yet, in the past it has.

In some of the slaughterhouses many of the old-fashioned grisly practices are still in use. Why are these inhumane tortures of our meat animals continued?

The animals are helpless, and it is up to us as citizens to see that they get fair treatment. In well-run, up-to-date meat packing plants all the painful injury and agony is eliminated.

Our State Senate has passed bill S.1015 with but one dissenting vote. Now the Agriculture Committee of the House of Representatives has the same bill before it. This newspaper recommends passage.

Notify your legislator, the animals can't.

Doctor Climbs Stairs for Daily Exercise

A Pontiac doctor astonishes and horrifies his fellow contemporaries by taking the stairs several times a day in the hospital where he works.

Are the elevators working? Yes. Does he think he gets up faster on his own? No. Is he afraid of elevators? No. Is he working off a bet? No.

He just believes what sedentary businessmen have all been told many times—that they don't get enough exercise. This gentleman remembers from childhood that transportation is not always necessary.

In fact, he remarks that he knows it is far better to move about under one's own power. He points to the farmers, and the fact that by and large most of them exercise strenuously daily in their work.

Now, setting aside the scare stories about straining the heart, he has decided that good old-fashioned exercise is what we all need. In fact, that's what he tells his patients.

He's right. But most of us, no doubt, will continue to ride when we could walk. And the sale of expensive rowing machines and mechanical horses will climb.

"It already has arrived," writes James Fordney, formerly of Pontiac, now living in Los Angeles, in proof of the claim that our West Coast is to outstrip our East Coast. He points out that Los Angeles now has two major league baseball teams, while New York City has only one.

A letter drifts in from Pontiac's former Jack Austill, now living in Minneapolis, saying that his present home town is again on speaking terms with its neighboring St. Paul, since they've united on a major league baseball team—with the compromise name of "Minnesota." Jack also revises that old story about Minneapolis people discarding the Bible, because it says so much about St. Paul, and never mentions Minneapolis.

We're quite in agreement with the sentiments expressed in a letter from Mrs. Elizabeth Reese of Keego Harbor, who feels that the Centennial dongs are creeping up on us faster than we may realize. Two months from now most of the big show will be history.

David Lawrence Says:

Kennedy's Tax Plans Shortsighted

WASHINGTON—What's the hurry—or isn't there hurry enough? The first three months of the Kennedy administration give an impression of haste and haste, if not helterskelter. Much has been promised and much has been talked about on television and in the press, but very little in the way of concrete accomplishment toward the building of a sound economy is as yet in sight.

While the opinion polls show that the President has gained in popularity since the election, members of Congress who have taken soundings back home say that the Kennedy legislative program hasn't achieved the support that a new administration would naturally expect.

But there's a reason for this paradox. The truth is the people are bewildered by the tens of thousands of words from "task forces" and academicians.

Twenty-nine messages totaling about 58,000 words have been sent to Congress by President Kennedy as contrasted with a third of that many words in 13 messages in the first 90 days of the Eisenhower administration in 1953.

The chief trouble with the administration's proposals on tax changes is that they have been drawn by inexperienced men who are more theoretical than practical.

The President's message on tax reform was drafted by persons who apparently are versed in theories of taxation but know little about what really makes business grow.

Temporary expedients may be important, but long-range planning is even more so.

A tax plan that's temporary isn't likely to be taken as seriously as one that will cover a fixed period within which expenditures for modernization or replacement of plant or equipment are made. Expansion of business is not an overnight affair or confined to a single year.

TAX DEPRECIATION Take the matter of tax-depreciation allowances. The general public for the most part probably didn't read the President's message—it was necessarily technical.

But it was doubtless read carefully by corporation executives, including the treasurers and the finance committees of various companies.

Here are some typical sentences from Kennedy's message that spell uncertainty:

"It may be that, on examination, some of the existing depreciation rules will be found to be outmoded and inequitable; but that is a question that should be separated from investment incentives. "A review of these rules and methods is under way in the Treasury Department as a part of its over-all tax-reform study to determine whether changes are appropriate and, if so, what form they should take.

"Adoption of the proposed incentive credit would in no way foreclose later action on these aspects of depreciation."

One would think from this statement that the subject of tax-depreciation allowances is something new and hasn't been studied before.

The new tax-incentive plan is really a top to business—an attempt to quiet the growing clamor for a sensible policy on depreciation allowances. What a kind of planning can be done for the next five years upon reading the President's message?

Here is one paragraph in it which is an example of how to confuse business: "I believe this investment tax credit will become a useful and continuous part of our tax structure."

"But it will be a new venture and remain in need of review. Moreover, it may prove desirable for the Congress to modify the credit from time to time, so as to adapt it to the needs of a changing economy."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Croup Today Is Rare but Know This Emetic

"When I was a very small child," relates Mrs. OFK, who certainly does not agree with me when I say croup is never fatal, "I had a bad attack of croup, and if my mother had not administered kerosene I certainly would have been here to tell the story. I threw up a hard ball of phlegm, and it stands to reason DR. BRADY I would have choked to death. " (OFK)

Kerosene is not so poisonous as gasoline, naphtha, benzine, or carbon tetrachloride, but nevertheless kerosene poisoning may occur if the kerosene swallowed accidentally or intentionally is not removed by vomiting or by stomach tube or "pump."

Formerly I had a pamphlet on croup, but the demand for information and advice about croup fell off to just an occasional query, so I erased it from the list. If infants or young children ever do have croup nowadays, it must be under a more fashionable name.

Spasmodic croup or "catarrhal" croup, as it was called in horse and buggy days, is comparatively rare today, for these reasons:

First, because infants and young children today get more calcium and vitamin D. Second, because most people know that C. R. I. (any common cold, pneumonia, or influenza, or respiratory infection) is communicable and so they try to keep out of the range of cough, sneeze and conversational spray.

Third, because young children are not so much coddled with excessive clothing and overheated living and sleeping rooms.

In any case the best first aid for croup is a good emetic—the child can't keep down. A teaspoonful of syrup of ipecac is traditional for a baby, but is slower than all outdoors. It may take 10 to 15 minutes to produce vomiting. It is hard enough to wait 10 minutes when the child is struggling for air.

It is intolerable in the emergency when you believe the child has swallowed poison. Try an emetic which is almost instantaneous copper sulfate.

For a young infant one grain of copper sulfate dissolved in a teaspoonful of water. For an older child or an adult four grains dissolved in a half-glass of water. (Jacobi's Therapeutics of Infancy and Childhood).

I tried this quick emetic first on our own baby. One day she crept into the office, knocked down a vase of corsage substitute (chloride of lime?) and her mother found her sitting happily eating the tablets. In my emergency bag was a small vial of copper sulfate solution ready for just such use. The baby emptied her stomach the instant after the solution hit bottom. Perhaps this explains why I have always associated Dr. Abraham Jacobi, the father of pediatrics, with Hippocrates, the Father of Medicine.

Signed Mrs. OFK, may this one page of 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene be distributed, or treatment, will be made available to all who request it. A national self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright 1961)

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Women Like Occasional Dominance

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE 14-69: Donna D., aged 24, is a cultured English girl. She was engaged to an aristocratic, college graduate named Gerald who loved music and had the refinement you'd expect would attract Donna.

But Gerald overly worshipped Donna. He placed her on such a high pedestal that he revered her. Subconsciously, Donna probably enjoyed some of the prestige of Gerald's mother and sisters.

For, despite the fact they were engaged, DR. CRANE Gerald still had never kissed her.

This disturbed Donna's feminine pride. Her romantic love of the platonic nature of their dates, so one night the room-mate challenged Donna.

"I'll bet you a box of chocolates that Gerald will not kiss you tonight on your date," she said. Well, Donna had to take the wager. Gerald took her to the concert that night; then to a supper club afterwards.

As they spun along toward her home, he still hadn't put his arm around her, so she shivered tactfully and said:

"My, isn't it cool tonight!" Instead of picking up his cue, he thoughtfully placed her wrap around her shoulders, but that was all.

Donna knew it was only a

Voice Different Opinions on 'Operation Abolition'

It is regrettable and surprising that Governor Swanson has ordered "Operation Abolition" banned from public showing by the State Police. Communism thrives on the gullibility of free men, and before they know it, they are caught unaware, and enslaved.

Dr. Daniel Poling, editor of Christian Herald declared that to discount or discredit the House Un-American Activities Committee would be "a disservice to America and to the free world." He had references to a petition in the New York Times asking Congress to eliminate the House Committee.

A renewed dedication to God, and sincere prayer is needed in order to dislodge the enemy and save America from the moral, political, and spiritual ruin which seems to be the inevitable.

Rev. A. J. Baughy, Pastor Evangelistic Tabernacle

The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom deplores the action of the State Legislature in inviting a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee to come and testify before it in the present controversy over the film "Operation Abolition." We feel that this body's attention should be directed to the grave problems which confront the state—problems of education, employment and taxation.

We fully support the Governor in his action and in his statements concerning this film. The legislature seems to be indulging in political obscenity in making such an issue of his action.

The House Un-American Activities Committee is assuming functions which are not within its province and have no legislative purpose. If our lawmakers believed in our traditional practice of providing fair hearings, they would invite Hon. James Roosevelt at the same time, so that he could present the true story of the making of this distorted film.

Says Students Did Stupendous Job

"Auntie Mame" presented by the Junior Class of Clarkson High School was a comedy on the risqué side and I think a better choice could have been made. However, the students did a terrific job with a stupendous portrayal of "Auntie Mame" and a great supporting cast, right down the line. The costumes, scenery, and acting were just about professional caliber.

10,000 Unionists in State Agree to Pay Cutbacks

By A. F. MAHAN
DETROIT (AP)—To keep their plants competitive or from moving elsewhere — in other words, to preserve their jobs — approximately 10,000 Michigan unionists have agreed this year to take cutbacks in wage contracts.

In one Detroit instance, workers had the National Labor Relations Board kick out their union, which had demanded more. Then they accepted less.

Among those agreeing to cutbacks are locals of the United Auto Workers, the Allied Industrial Workers, the Railway Brotherhoods, the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and the International Association of Machinists.

In one case early this year, some 500 UAW members voted 2 to 1 at Menominee to continue in effect a 10 per cent wage cut they had accepted a year earlier.

Involved at Menominee were employees of the Lloyd Manufacturing Co., a maker of seating for schools and public buildings. The firm is a subsidiary of Heywood-Wakefield Co., of Gardner, Mass., where employees previously had agreed to continue another year a 10 per cent cut they accepted for 1960.

In both instances Heywood-Wakefield expressed doubt it could meet competition without continuation of the cutback. It said both the Michigan and Massachusetts plants might have to be closed.

The Menominee union first rejected continuation, on the grounds that the UAW cutback had saved the company $125,000 in 1960, while individual living costs were rising.

The company countered it had lost $53,000 last year and estimated its current Menominee wage at $1.99 an hour. It said losses had been higher in 1958 and 1959.

One of the most dramatic developments in this field in Michigan was in heavily unionized Detroit.

The 76-year-old Best Broom Manufacturing Co., Inc., laid off 15 of its 25-man work force in November 1959, contending it could no longer remain competitive. It said it would increase its broom imports from Mexico to 16,800 a month.

DEMANDED MORE
Then in November 1960, a representative of Local 42 of the General Industrial Employees presented President Shimon L. Berris with demands for improved vacations, three additional paid holidays and a welfare plan which Berris said would have cost $9.35 a month per employee.

At this point, led by Russell Sargent, asked the National Labor Relations Board to decertify the Union as bargaining agent and voted 8-2 against the Union.

Meantime, a large food chain notified Berris it was meeting customer resistance to brooms made outside the United States.

Berris said he was determined he could manufacture brooms here and sell at the Mexican price if he could reduce wage costs by seven per cent.

Employees voted unanimously March 24 to accept the wage cut. Berris promised to return to full production in his Detroit plant and to halt all imports. He estimated 1961 wage savings would approximate $10,000.

"The important thing," Sargent said, "is that all of us will be working, and maybe some of those who were laid off — and most of them are on welfare today — will be recalled."

Has Calling Card of Kit Carson, Town Declares

WETMORE, Colo. (AP)—Residents of this south-central Colorado community are convinced that Kit Carson, frontier scout, left his calling card at Handscreable Creek near Wetmore.

The letters "KIT C." are carved on a large rock that jutting from the stream. Several years ago some hiker of the section of the rock that bore that inscription and carried it away.

But it apparently was too large to hide safely, and the stone was found where it had been thrown in a weed patch beside a road. Now it is set in cement and protected by iron bars at a picnic ground near the creek.

Electronic Dog to Help Science

To Use New Computer to See How Medicines Work in Humans

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (UPI)—Medical scientists here have come up with an "electronic dog," an unusual computer designed to streamline the study of experimental drugs.

It is expected to be useful in showing exactly how medicines work in humans.

The device and method were developed by scientists and technicians of a large drug company to help solve a persistent pharmaceutical problem: What happens to a drug once the patient takes it?

The computer answers a whole series of interrelated questions. It shows how much of a drug the body absorbs and the rate of absorption, how widely the compound is diffused throughout the system, and how quickly it is eliminated.

KEY QUESTIONS
These are key questions in the understanding and use of any new drug.

The dog's basic purpose is to find correct dosages.

No drug can be used to full advantage until research determines the smallest amount that gives the best possible effect as well as the largest amount that will be beneficial without producing adverse side effects or even death.

The computer's great value is as a time-saver. With it, the time researchers must spend evaluating new drugs can be shortened tremendously.

The machine's answers are double-checked, however, in more tests with live animals.

Eventually, if these results are promising and the drug is considered safe, there are clinical trials with humans.

TWA to Show Latest Movies on Long Flights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Trans World Airlines announced today plans for showing movies in the air. It will exhibit first-run, full-length movies on its long-range jet flights.

The airline plans to start showing the feature films, some of which will be pre-released, on New York-Los Angeles and New York-San Francisco nonstop flights starting July 19. Showings on international flights will begin Aug. 16.

TWA tested the movie idea several months ago and decided to equip its long-range jets for showings after getting favorable passenger reaction.

Only first class passengers will see the movies, TWA emphasized that they will not be a "captive audience," however. The sound track is carried to passengers via individual headsets equipped with personal sound control.

House Rejects Glow Plates 93-3; Bill Back to Senate

LANSING (AP) — The requirement for "glow-in-the-dark" auto license plates is flickering out in the legislature.

The House voted 93-3 Tuesday to repeal the controversial law requiring reflectorized auto license plates. The repealer previously passed the Senate.

The measure still must go back to the Senate for approval of a House amendment specifying that motorists who paid an extra 35 cents this year for reflectorized plates they didn't get will receive credit for the money in license purchases next year.

About $1.3 million is involved. The legislature passed the bill requiring the reflectorized plates in 1959 but didn't include any money to finance them. Motorists individual headsets equipped with personal sound control.

by an injunction in Wayne County Circuit Court.

The House gave the repealer immediate effect after members were told this might save the expense of court litigation.

The House passed a bill previously approved by the Senate to change the name of the State Boys Vocational School at Lansing and Whitmore Lake to the Boys Training School.

Sponsors said many high schools with vocational programs adhere to the similar name for the state schools for youthful lawbreakers.

A bill to authorize a "seal of quality" for Michigan agricultural products, passed by the Senate, was reported out with a recommendation for passage by the House Agriculture Committee.

Similar measures had passed the House in previous years but were stalled in the Senate. Chances of House concurrence in the Senate passage this session were seen as good.

Married Girl of 10 Awaits Her Baby

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A 10-year-old Negro girl has entered City Hospital to await the birth of a baby expected next month. The child, identified on hospital records as Dolores Smith, is married to an 18-year-old farm laborer, relatives said. They live in Mason, a rural west Tennessee area.

The youngest mother on record was an Argentine girl who gave birth to twins when she was 7.

'77 Sunset Strip' Actor Suffers Heart Ailment

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Richard Long, 33, a star in the television show "77 Sunset Strip," is in a hospital being treated for a heart ailment.

Long is being sued for divorce by actress Mara Corday. The case was slated to come up in suburban Burbank today.

Miss Corday expressed sympathy over Long's illness but indicated there would be no reconciliation.

'Golf' License Creates Humor

A note of humor crept in as the City Commission last night licensed a miniature golf course on East Boulevard near Perry Street.

To make sure that the neighborhood wouldn't be bothered by excessive noise or other commotion, the commission had asked David R. Ewalt, director of parks and recreation, to study the proposed operation.

Recommendation that the license be granted, Ewalt noted, the place probably wouldn't be noisy, "except when someone possibly screams with joy after making a hole in one."

Ewalt noted further, tongue in cheek, that the public address system would be used to play records, quietly, of "symphonic music" to ease the tensions of the golfers.

The commission welcomed the report, although Commissioner William H. Taylor had a passing thought about the music.

"I hope they don't play the same symphonic record over and over again — that would drive anyone wild," he said.

Commissioner John A. Dugan, in whose district the golf course has been built, had one criticism of the administration.

He said the license matter should have been in the hands of the commission before the place was built, not when it was ready to go.

SLATE HEARINGS

Hearings called for May 2 will be on proposals for curbs and gutters on High Street, Blaine to Summit, and for a 305-foot water main on Bassett Street, west of Woodward, with a block-long connection up the west side of Woodward from Bassett to Fulton.

The assessed cost for the High Street job, which set at $3,202 and the city cost $6,094. Grading and graveling are included but 1958 assessments were levied for this.

The assessed cost for the Bassett Street line is $1,229 and the city cost $2,362.

There were no objections at hearings covering assessment rolls for proposed curbs and gutters on Kensington Avenue, Mt. Clemens to Perry; Monticello Avenue, Oakland to Orlando; Manitou Road, Ottawa to the subdivision line; and First Avenue, Arlene to Fuller.

Commissioner Winford E. Bottem asked for drainage of a low point on Montclair Street near Lincoln Junior High School.

How you can help your boy if he says—
66 I want to be a newspaperman. 99

Help him the same way you would if he set his sights on any other profession... medicine or law or teaching. First, make sure he knows exactly what he's headed for. Then, show him the best road to get there.

Newspaper work naturally attracts young people. It offers prestige, excitement, good pay, the opportunity for rapid advancement — and, most important, the satisfaction of making a real contribution to society. But, in return, it requires dedication, hard work, civic responsibility and basic integrity.

If your boy understands the responsibilities (as well as the rewards) of newspaper life, he's ready to prepare for it. The time for him to start is right now — while he's still in high school.

Newspaper work is divided into five major fields. Each requires special skills and special training for a successful career in it:

NEWS REPORTING AND EDITORIAL WRITING — often considered the basis of newspaper work: gathering, reporting, editing or analyzing the news... or commenting on it for the newspapers' opinion pages. These tasks require curiosity, perseverance, the ability to write clearly. They call for training in a journalism school or department, or a broad liberal-arts college education.

BUSINESS — under the business department come accounting and finance, and frequently personnel work and sales promotion. Useful here are the ability to plan ahead, to get along with people, good business judgment and a knowledge of bookkeeping and office management. Some business department positions call for a college degree in accounting or management. In the case of sales promotion, a man needs ability in creative copywriting or art.

ADVERTISING — the department that furnishes the newspaper with most of its revenue. People who sell advertising successfully often have a broad educational background in business, marketing, accounting and psychology. Above all, they enjoy meeting and talking with people, following through on sales problems and presenting new advertising ideas imaginatively.

CIRCULATION — Training and supervising newspaper boys and men who sell and distribute newspapers is the heart of circulation management. Sales training, general business experience and a broad education (including psychology and marketing courses) are helpful here.

PRODUCTION — the departments that turn words, photographs, ink and paper into the finished newspaper. The departments offer technical job opportunities in typesetting, photoengraving, stereotyping and press operation. Although a high-school graduate can qualify for many trainee jobs, a technical education is very helpful. An increasing number of graduate engineers are being employed in the production department.

Work on high-school or college newspapers is especially valuable training for any of these newspaper fields.

The whole newspaper story can't be told here. To learn more about its exciting employment opportunities, mail the coupon on this page. You'll receive a 22-page illustrated brochure, "Career Opportunities in the Daily Newspaper Business," a list of accredited journalism schools and other guides. Why not mail it today?

He retired in 1953, but has re-

UAW, at Thursday Meeting, All Set to Map Out Demands

By ROBERT IRVIN
UPI Automotive Editor
DETROIT — The United Auto Workers Union observes its 25th birthday Thursday by mapping a new set of demands on the auto industry.

Thursday morning the giant union, founded in South Bend, Ind., in 1936, opens a three-day special convention to spell out what it wants from the auto firms in contract talks this summer.

Thursday night, the 3,000 UAW officials attending the convention, plus some old timers from the union's early days, will gather at Cobo Hall for a Silver Anniversary dinner.

Host for the affair will be UAW President Walter P. Reuther, the only one of the current top union officials who attended the Auto Workers' first convention 25 years ago.

At the time of the South Bend meeting, the UAW had working agreements with only two auto-makers, Studebaker and Nash, and represented only 7,000 workers. Today the union has contracts with thousands of companies and represents 1.1 million workers.

At the 1936 convention, the 200 delegates listed among their demands a guaranteed annual wage (GAW) and a 30-hour week.

Today, the UAW is still trying to achieve these first two goals even though over the years, it has pioneered many other new labor goals.

The GAW and the shorter work week will both come up for discussion at Thursday's special convention.

WANT SALARY

Reuther has said one of the UAW's key objectives this summer will be a demand that hourly rated production workers be paid a salary just like office workers.

This would be a form of the GAW and is designed, according to Reuther, to give blue collar workers the same antilayoff protection enjoyed by white collar workers in business slumps.

Reuther also believes a shorter work week would help lick the unemployment problem since more men would be needed to do the available work.

The short week, or more specifically 30 hours work for 40 hours pay, is strongly supported by the biggest UAW local—Ford Local 600 at the River Rouge plant, which has 30,000 members.

"Our members aren't interested in a wage increase this year," Local 600 President Carl Stellato said. What they do want, he said, is a shorter work week with no cut in pay.

The special convention, which will formalize the union's demands on the auto industry, also will be urged to press for early retirement at age 60, company-paid health insurance, improved unemployment compensation and better working conditions.

Bentley Will Run for Seat at Con-Con

OWOSSO (AP)—Alvin M. Bentley, former congressman from Michigan's 8th District, announced today he is a Republican candidate for nomination as a delegate to the State's forthcoming constitutional convention.

Bentley will run in the 15th Senatorial District, made up of Shiawassee, Clinton and Eaton counties. He quit his congressional seat to unsuccessfully oppose Sen. Patrick McNamara, D-Mich., in the 1960 election.

Bentley heads an Owosso manufacturing company and is rated a millionaire.

Annexation Oversight All Right With Him

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Homer Blincoe enjoys all the services provided by the city of Dunedin, but pays none of the city's taxes.

His house is surrounded by the city, but is not a part of it. Through oversight, the lot on which Blincoe's house is built was not included when the city annexed the suburban area in which he lives.

Gain in Cutting Accident Deaths

U.S. Rate Down From 60 in 1950 to 52 for Each 100,000 in 1960

Some progress has been made recently in reducing the accident death rate in the United States, the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. report.

The rate fell from 60 per 100,000 population in 1950 to 52 in 1960. Yet, accidents still take about 95,000 lives a year and are out-ranked only by the cardiovascular diseases and cancer as a cause of death, the statisticians note.

Injuries resulting from accidents are the leading cause of death among white males in the age bracket 1 to 34 years, and are outnumbered only by heart disease at ages 35 to 44.

Fatal mishaps play a dominant role in the total mortality among children and young adults. For example, among white males accidental injuries cause somewhat more than one fourth of all deaths at ages 1 to 4 years, the proportion increasing to nearly one half at ages 5 to 14, and to about two thirds in the 15 to 24 year age range.

Motor vehicle accidents are the largest single cause of fatal injuries among both males and females at every age period under 65 years, according to the statisticians.

Bloomfield Resident Gets Chrysler Post

Franklin Walter of 174 Hillboro, Bloomfield Township, has been named director of product planning and chief engineer of the Plymouth Division of Chrysler Corp.

He succeeds Jack E. Charipar of 3861 Northdale Road, Bloomfield Township, who leaves in June for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology on an Alfred P. Sloan Fellowship for a year of study in industrial management.

Walter, 38, is a former Sloan Fellow. He joined Chrysler in 1948 as a graduate student in the Chrysler Institute of Engineering, from which he received a master's degree in 1950.

He spent the next 11 years with Chrysler's Central Engineering Division, and was chief of styling administration and planning with the Plymouth Division before his promotion.

Registrations for New Cars Up in March

DETROIT (AP) — R. L. Polk & Co. said today registrations of new cars during March probably will total 485,000 after hitting a 27-month low of 374,877 in February.

Polk is official statistician to the auto industry.

The February total included 26,772 foreign cars, up slightly from January.

Registrations of all new cars for the first quarter are expected to total 1.25 million, Polk said. During the similar period last year the total was 1,520,983.

Steel Output at High

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel production last week hit an 18-month high, the American Iron & Steel Institute reports. For the sixth straight week output exceeded the previous week.

Nearly 30,000 of the 74,000 patients under the care of Canadian mental institutions at the start of 1960 had been in hospitals for more than 10 years.

New Attack Is Launched on Stock Options

By ROGER F. LAINE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK — U.S. industry's stock option plans for its executives have come under new congressional fire.

The attack has been launched by Tennessee's Democratic Sen. Albert Gore. The tax-writing finance committee member introduced legislation this month to knock the statutory preps from under them.

Gore claimed that "flagrant" abuse of stock options produced a tax law loophole that cost the U.S. Treasury more than $100 million a year. He said they were being used to pay executives at a low tax rate.

Monday Gore said in a Senate speech that the president of International Business Machines Corp., Thomas J. Watson Jr., could realize a profit of almost $4.5 million out of his company's stock option plan.

Under the plans, a corporation gives an executive the privilege of buying stock up to 10 years in the future at the price the stock sells for at the time the option is granted.

If the price climbs, an executive can exercise the option, hold the stock six months, then sell and pay tax on the profit at the 25 per cent capital gains rate.

This rate might be half or far less than half the rate an executive in a high salary bracket would have to pay on his income from salary.

On the other hand, he might choose to hold the stock almost indefinitely in keeping with the stated purpose of the plan as employed by many corporations.

It is the capital gains aspect that has particularly aroused Gore.

What do the companies say about it all?

IBM itself said it would have to study Gore's most recent statement before committing itself.

Quoted earlier on the subject, however, General Foods Corp. said that under its plan more than 200 top employees had invested $18.5 million cash in the purchase of shares.

Those who have been granted stock options have purchased more than 89 per cent of all the options which have matured and have retained more than 92 per cent of all the shares purchased," a spokesman said.

APPLIED AT GE

The notice of General Electric Co.'s annual meeting this week in Syracuse disclosed that corporate chairman Ralph J. Cordiner, during 1960, exercised an option to buy 9,000 shares of GE stock at $23.75 a share. The market value at the time of purchase was $76 a share.

Cordiner's salary was listed at $280,000 gross, or $76,125 after estimated 1960 federal income tax.

GE, which has granted stock options to 1,428 officers, managers and other employees in responsible positions, has defended stock options in these terms:

"These stock options have been and are essential in enabling the company to meet the vigorous competition for competent executives, to spur its key employees to keener efforts on behalf of the company and to give these individuals a chance to share in the company's resulting success."

New Postal Rates May Force Paper Prices Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General J. Edward Day said today postal-rate increases requested by the administration would force many newspapers and magazines to boost subscription and advertising rates to prevent losses.

Nevertheless, he told the House Post Office Committee that rate increases proposed for publishers are "reasonable" from the standpoint of allocating postal costs fairly among mail users.

Don't Send Cash Back; Buy a Gift

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Two of my husband's relatives visited us lately. They were here a week. Several times during their visit they offered me money for food, which, of course, I refused to take. When they left, I found an envelope with money in it on top of the dresser in the spare room.

I am sure they left this with the very best intentions but, nevertheless, I do not like the idea of their paying for our hospitality. Will you please tell me if I can send the money back without hurting their feelings?

A: To send the money back will surely hurt their feelings. It will be better to write them that they should not have left the money, but now that they have done so, you thank them for it and add that you will use it to buy a vase, or something else you can use, which will remind you of them every time you see it.

Q: When returning a dish to a neighbor who has sent something she made over to us, is it not proper to return the dish to her with something in it? In my opinion, returning an empty dish is very unappreciative of your neighbor's kindness. Your comment on this will be appreciated.

A: If you happen to have something that you have just baked and want to send it to her, that is quite all right. But the correct practice is to send back the empty dish and then some day when you have something special to send her, you send it at that time.

Q: When a man and woman dine together in a restaurant and are seated side by side, shouldn't the woman always be on his right? This question has brought up a good deal of argument in one office and we would like to have you settle it.

A: She should be on his right, unless by sitting on his left she will have a better place, for instance, he hears poorly with his right ear.

Proceeds Will Go to Charity

Event Scheduled for Thursday at Cranbrook

More than 200 women in 20 departments will assist an expected crowd of 1,500 treasure hunters at the semiannual rummage sale of Christ Church Cranbrook Thursday.

Sale hours are from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Many regular safekeepers will be in line at 6:30 in the morning, with people coming from as far as Kalamazoo. In other years, many of the departments have been sold out by noon.

A snack bar serving coffee and doughnuts or milk and sandwiches is available to buyers throughout their wait.

Rummage sale proceeds will be distributed by the Christian Social Service Department of the Episcopal Churchwomen of Christ Church in helping Oakland County social service agencies.

Abby Says: Better Check

Is His Line Right Kind?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I stopped a man on the street and asked him for directions. (I was new in town.) He walked me to where I was going, as it wasn't very far. We struck up a friendship.

That was two years ago. I won't go into detail, but now we are very much in love, Abby. He says he has no family at all. No sisters, brothers, parents, nobody! He never talks about his job, his past or his co-workers. He says he "sells."

We sometimes talk of marriage but nothing definite. I am 27 and he is 34. Is it possible that he can have not one relative or friend or co-worker?

DEAR GIL: Possible, yes. Probably, no. Find out what he sells, for whom and then check on him. It could be a "line" you don't want.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going steadily for a year now, and it is getting close to the engagement stage. I am 19 and my "problem" is 20. When we go out on a date, we usually stop to get something to eat on the way home.

He always orders a hamburger with onions. When we say goodnight, all I can smell are onions. Could you suggest something?

ONION HATER

DEAR ONION HATER: Tell your friend that when he orders a hamburger, he should "hold the onions" if he would "hold his girl."

DEAR ABBY: We have a 22-year-old niece whose pet dog recently died. No one can talk to her. She is in another world. She refuses to eat, and she cries all night. We are afraid she's losing her mind.

We try to tell her that 12 years is a full life for a dog, but she says her could have lived to be 20. She even talks of committing suicide. We have had humans die in this family and she never took it so hard.

How can we help her get over it? Don't suggest a puppy. We bought her one and she wouldn't even look at it.

WORRIED AUNT

DEAR WORRIED: All pet owners suffer some heartache at the loss of a cherished pet, but your niece has gone off the deep end. An emotionally mature, healthy person adjusts to such a loss. She needs professional help — and NOW!

Be Fun to Live With

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Spring and summer not only bring roses, but brides. These seasons with June leading the field seem to be the most popular ones in which to take the big leap. That is appropriate because June is such a beautiful time of year, with all the world bursting with new life and charm and color.

And marriage is such an utterly new way of life that the first small apartment or house makes housekeeping seem like play, and the first baby like a doll.

I hope that you always can keep the sheen on your marriage and not let it be dulled by daily routine. Make a fresh start every day. Certainly one way to do this is to keep yourself as attractive as possible.

Always look pretty for him when he comes home from work. Don't impose on him because he is now young and become careless about his hair, complexion and figure.

OTHER FACTORS

While physical attractiveness is surely important, there are other, even more vital factors which are essential to a happy marriage. Today I will give you a few of them.

Treat him with courtesy, as you would a stranger and acquaintance. Courtesy is so very important when two persons live in the same house and romance is rubbed this by the hecticness and strains of daily life.

If you are jealous, don't show it. This is an admission of inferiority, or feelings of inferiority. Besides, a jealous person looks ridiculous. Trust him. You would not have married him unless you thought you could do so, and trust usually engenders loyalty.

PRaise HIM

Praise him more than you criticize. There will be plenty to praise if you look for it. Some women begin trying to make their husbands over soon after the wedding ceremony (into a man they did not fall in love with in the first place).

A sense of humor is more valuable than thousands of dollars as a dowry. A light touch, a pleasant and gay approach to life, smooth the way in a magic manner. Shared laughter forms strong bonds. Be fun to live with!

Be forgiving! He is human just as you are. Be tender! He will need your tenderness just as you will need his. I hope that he will provide you with the same qualities and characteristics.

I'm hearing from women who are thrilled with the figure improvement the 9-day diet has given them this year. Others want copies of the menus they missed. If you are one who missed this easy way to get in shape for summer, you still can enroll for the 9-day diet booklet. Enclose 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Soviet System Suits Families to a T—Mrs. K

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Nikita Khrushchev believes that life in the Soviet Union for a woman is the road to happiness. Mrs. Khrushchev, in a letter in McCall's Magazine, said that in Russia the interest of the family and the state "are identical."

"State policy is shaped for our benefit, and this has been tested and proved for every individual in our country by life itself," she said. "State policy is the embodiment of our own desires and aspirations."

Mrs. Khrushchev's letter was in reply to 30 questions submitted by UPI reporter Helen Thomas.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americans spend some $300 million a year for cold remedies.

U. of M. Alumnae Win Bowl

The Pontiac University of Michigan Alumnae Club has won the sterling silver bowl presented by the U. of M. Alumnae Council to the club with the largest membership per cent increase during the year.

Pontiac's membership increase was 100 per cent. The Akron, Ohio alumnae club was second with an increase of 72 per cent.

The local club also received a citation for placing second with Battle Creek for a silver bowl presented to the club having the year's greatest numerical increase. The Flint club with 34 new members received the honor. Lansing alumnae club placed third.

The awards were presented at the annual national meeting of the University of Michigan Alumnae Council Saturday at the U. of M. League Building. The day was spent in workshops on presidential duties, special programs, and the awarding of scholarships and service citations.

At the general alumnae council meeting Mrs. George T. Campbell from the alumnae governing board and chairman of the program workshop announced that clubs throughout the country have decided to include in the year's agenda a "University of Michigan Day" and an "Ann Arbor Day" when clubs will visit the campus.

FELLOWSHIP INCREASE
The scholarship committee chairman announced that fellowships honoring Lucy Elliott and former Dean Alice Lloyd have been increased from $70 to $1,000 and will be awarded each year, rather than during alternating years.

Club members learned that the project "University of Michigan's 14th Birthday Party" had netted to date $9,000 which will be deposited in the Alice Freeman Palmer Endowment Fund for a woman's full-time professorship in the university's history department.

The officer candidates for next year were accepted. Lillian Jacobs will serve on the national membership committee. Mrs. Rudolph H. Sell will be vice chairman of the council, and Mrs. Norris A. Host, former council chairman, will assume a place on the Michigan League Board of Governors for a three-year term. Mrs. Sell and Mrs. Host are from Birmingham.

Regent Irene Murphy emphasized the need for added appropriations for the university, adding, "Regents drawn upon higher entrance fees, learning to bring about in our nation an elite of brains and money which is foreign to American policy and ideals."

Kids Who Get Rides Miss Fun of Walks

By RUTH MILLETT

In a Seattle, Wash., suburb three mothers recently picketed the modern version of the little red schoolhouse in protest against parents taxiking their children to and from school.

The picketing mothers claimed that the mom-driven "taxi" jam in front of the schoolhouse created a traffic hazard for the children who walk to school.

Since it was designed as a walk-to-school — with none of its pupils living more than nine-tenths of a mile away — the protesting mothers figured it ought to be kept strictly walk-in.

However sensible their reasoning, these mothers probably won't win their "let 'em walk" battle. For too many mothers today feel guilty if they don't continually knock themselves out to do things for their children.

They just can't bring themselves to send their children to school on foot. They don't feel they are being good mothers if they aren't being overly protective.

Yet, actually, any child whose mother drives him to and from school when he lives in easy walking distance is depriving him of a lot of fun along with denying him the chance to learn to look after himself.

Children who walk to and from school don't clip along at a fast pace. They dawdle. They stop to look at and examine things along the way. They chuck rocks. They meet up with friends. They tell secrets. They argue. Sometimes, they get in fights to settle old scores. But it all adds up to a little adventure each day.

But kids who have always been chauffeured have no way of knowing what they are missing. They are so used to being overprotected they think they like it.

Think we're clean? It's said that some of the Roman emperors bathed as many as seven or eight times a day. Maybe that's because they didn't have the benefit of today's efficient soaps to wash away dirt.

Heavy Rod No Short Cut to Moral Solution

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

If I've done nothing else by criticizing the use of scriptural authority as support for the slogan, "Spare the rod and spoil the child," I certainly have encouraged biblical research in this country.

Unhappily, I am unable to reply personally to the flood of mail from readers who have found more biblical passages which they advance as justification of uncontrolled whipping of children.

In this space I have already discussed the citations which contain the word "chasten." I now reply to the next most-quoted passage:

"Foolishness is found in the heart of a child; but the rod of correction shall drive it far from him."

Again I call attention to the controlling word in this passage—"correction." It means "putting right" rectification.

It is these readers' right to believe that they can "put right"

a child by the uncontrolled rod.

I do not think so.

I think you can reduce a child—or me—to a convenient submission by beating us severely. But I do not think you can "put" us "right." Not if "right" is win-

Lonely Lassie

GLASGOW, Scotland (P)—The loneliest girl in Scotland, 22-year-old Mhairi Clark, wistfully says she'd really like to dance. But Mhairi is the only resident between the ages of 10 and 35 in the tiny village of Loch Rann, on the wild Isle of Arran.

"All the boys and girls have left long ago to work on the mainland," Mhairi says. "But I don't want to leave my people."

So at night she plays her phonograph and taps her toe to the music. You can't dance without a partner.

ning our appreciation of the injury we have done you by our offense.

Certainly all you would achieve from me would be an overpowering interest in my own self-preservation.

I must claim my right to this opinion as I grant the same right to my angered readers. So there seems no point in continuing this argument over the true meaning of these Bible citations. If everyone had always agreed on the meaning of Holy Writ, Christian history would not be what it is. But nobody can make me see an unbalanced license to whip in these passages.

As to those correspondents who charge me with severity toward the reader who originally claimed biblical dignity for his hearsey slogan, I gladly accept the charge. I wrote crossed plans for a rummage sale that he had angered me. His responsibility still angers me.

I shall always become angry at people who parrot hearsay for me.

Pick Director of Recreation

Ohioan Will Take Over Program in Waterford; Salary Is $6,300

Waterford Township has a new recreation director. He is Robert J. Lawyer, 26, of Richmond Heights, Ohio.

His appointment, effective June 1, was announced today by Mrs. Marion Novess, chairman pro-tem of the township recreation board.

Lawyer succeeds Thomas J. Belton who left for a similar position in Austin, Minn., on Feb. 21, after 7½ years service.

The new director will receive $6,300 a year to start. He is currently a physical education teacher at a junior high school in Richmond Heights, and works part time as recreational director there.

Lawyer is a native of Cleveland. He is married and has a 14-month-old son named Scott. He received a bachelor's degree in physical education from Baldwin-Wallace University, Berea, Ohio, and is working on a master's degree in recreation from Kent State University, Kent, Ohio.

The new director was selected from 30 applicants, and after interviews with five of them last week.

Publisher of NY Times Retires After 26 Years

NEW YORK (UPI)—Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times since 1933, retired Tuesday and was succeeded by Times President Orvil E. Dryfoos.

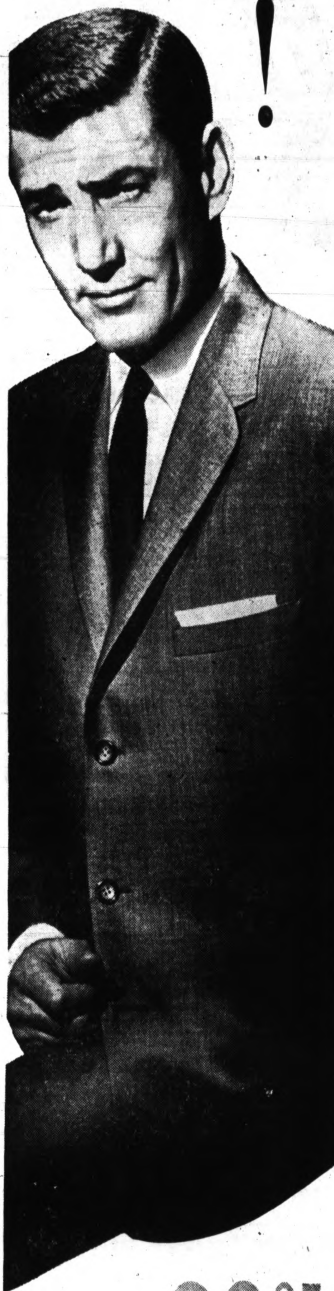

The Times also announced the retirement of Charles E. Merz, editor in charge of the editorial page since 1958, who was succeeded by John B. Oakes.

Sulzberger, 69, will remain chairman of the board of directors.

Folks Welcome in New Zealand

Settled by the British Kipling Once Said, It's Lonely and Lovely

WASHINGTON — New Zealand is a welcome and hospitable spot in today's crowded world. New Zealand, however, is an uncrowded nation whose population numbers less than 2.5 million. Over the years immigration has accounted for a substantial part of the annual population increase. There is a lingering labor shortage, a continuing need for craftsmen.

"Last, loveliest, loveliest, exquisite, apart," wrote Rudyard Kipling of Auckland, New Zealand's largest city. His description might be applied to the whole country.

A South Pacific member of the British Commonwealth, it lies at a point on the globe exactly opposite the British Isles, the National Geographic Society says.

New Zealand is a pocket wonder world, roughly the size of Colorado and divided into two main islands called simply North and South.

The land varies from green grazing lands as pastoral as those of England, to volcanoes, geysers and glaciers, alpine heights, damp forests, fish-filled lakes and floods with deep waters reflecting mile-high peaks.

The Southern Alps are so rugged that Sir Edmund Hillary found them an excellent training ground for his historic conquest of Everest.

Sir Edmund, leader of a 1953 scientific expedition to the Himalayas, typifies the New Zealanders — youthful, vigorous, athletic, and well-educated. He is a beekeeper by profession.

Growing up in a land blessed with rich soil and mild climate, New Zealanders enjoy one of the world's highest standards of living.

In little more than a century of British settlement, New Zealand has become the dairy farm of the British family of nations, and a world source of meat and wool. It exports more mutton and lamb than any other country; it ranks second in food production and shipments.

Europeans were not the first settlers in New Zealand. In a time lost to history it was inhabited by a primitive people who hunted the giant, flightless moa, now extinct. Then a handsome Polynesian people called Maoris landed in their frail, wave-tossed canoes. By tradition the Maoris' largest fleet arrived in A.D. 1350.

TEMPE, Ariz. (U)—A Tempe resident was cooking some steaks on an outside grill when police arrived.

The officers said a neighbor had seen the smoke, taken a deep sniff and reported someone was breaking the city ordinance against burning garbage.

JFK Must Warn Aides About Off-Cuff Remarks

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — If President Kennedy wants to enjoy the continued bipartisan foreign policy support of Richard M. Nixon and Dwight D. Eisenhower, he will have to button the lips of some of his own top team.

The former vice president, who Kennedy's own words has been "most helpful" during the Cuban crisis, nearly hit the proverbial ceiling when he read Interior Secretary Stewart Udall's remarks about the fiasco.

Udall, on a television interview, tried to shift the blame for the invasion debacle to the former administration. Claiming that it was conceived by Ike and Nixon last year, he said: "They started it and handed it over" to Kennedy.

This was definitely not the line that President Kennedy took with Nixon, when he invited his erstwhile presidential rival to the White House late last week to discuss the Cuban and Laos crises.

At that time, the youthful President acknowledged that he had had ample time to review the situation. He also took full responsibility for the Cuban disaster.

Nixon was therefore infuriated by Udall's attempted blame-shifting, and by reports of the record press briefings held by White House assistant Ted Reardon and others, which he thinks unfairly sought to blame the Eisenhower rather than the Kennedy administration for the thwarted invasion.

KENNEDY TACTFUL
Kennedy is going to need the unifying support of Nixon and Eisenhower in these difficult days ahead. Both gave it generously when the President tactfully sought it at personal briefings.

All the good that JFK has accomplished by his courteous wooing will be squandered, however, if he permits his Cabinet officers and White House staffers to talk slanted partisan politics about foreign policy.

Nixon, when he read the account of Udall's widely televised remarks, said if there is any more of that from top Kennedy officials, he will issue a public statement of the facts.

These facts would include the obvious one that although Kennedy has been in office not quite one hundred days, he has had the services of CIA Chief Allen Dulles at his disposal since late last summer.

SPECIAL Announcement
DIAL FE 4-6243

Dulles briefed Kennedy through-out the fall campaign. He gave him a broad fill-in on Cuba before the last "great debate," and a few days after the November election, Kennedy announced that he would retain Dulles as head of the super-secret spy outfit. From that moment forward, Dulles obviously became Kennedy's "man."

Faulty intelligence about the strength of Castro's police state and the number of available Soviet tanks and planes has been largely blamed for the invasion disaster.

Nixon favors not less, but more of these para-military operations to beat the subverting Communists at their own guerrilla game.

He believes CIA should be completely overhauled, however, so that its activities are restricted to intelligence gathering, and not to operations. The latter should be handed over to a different agency.

Nixon, who except for a hair-thin margin of the popular vote would now be charged with presidential responsibility, feels that the worst result of the Cuban fiasco would be for us to wash our hands of this kind of operation.

He thinks these guerrilla actions are essential, but that the quality must be improved. Most important, he feels we must not get mixed up in them unless we are willing to fight through to a victorious conclusion.

$3.53-Million Bond IssueSewage Plan Up Tuesday

The sewage treatment plant bonding proposal the City Commission is working on will absorb another big chunk from capital improvement millage.

The combined bill for the new sewage bonds and the 1956 hospital construction bonds might amount to around $400,000 annually for the next few years, or about 40 per cent of the present capital improvement levy of $1 million.

The $3.53-million bond issue for court-ordered expansion of sewage treatment facilities was introduced by the commission last night and is scheduled for adoption on Tuesday next week.

The anticipated drain on capital improvement funds has been repeatedly stressed by City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Next Tuesday's move will call for sale of general obligation bonds with repayment of $120,000 a year on principal for 29 years, beginning in 1962, and $50,000 the last year of the life of the bonds.

INTEREST UNKNOWN

Annual interest charges will probably push the total annual payment to around $200,000 or more, although the interest rate won't be definite until after the bids are in.

The city is already taking $100,000 a year out of capital improvement funds to pay off the principal on the $1 million Pontiac General Hospital construction bonds. The interest payment this year is $71,178.

The interest payments on both bond issues will continue to decrease over the years as the principal is paid off.

The present City Commission has apparently dropped any thought of asking voters for special millage to pay off the sewage bonds.

Current plans to capitalize the interest on the sewage bonds this year will add to the financial jolt when the first payment is made.

Will Discuss Big Spectacle

Meeting of Civic Units at Elks Temple Tonight to Eye Centennial

The big outdoor spectacle that will highlight Pontiac's June 27-28 Centennial observance will get on the road tonight.

About 200 Pontiac area groups have been invited to send representatives to an 8 p.m. meeting at the Elks Temple at which the show will be outlined and its casting discussed.

More than 1,000 Pontiac area residents are to be recruited into the cast in the near future, according to present plans.

Harry W. Miller, spectacle director, said the model of the spectacle will be displayed for the first time.

The set is based on the script for "The Pontiac Story" Miller has written from historical material gathered by the Spectacle Division's Scenario and Title Committee.

Robert W. Emerick, Spectacle Division chairman, and committee chairmen will take part in tonight's program.

3 Plead Guilty in Armed Holdup at Sports Store

All three Madison Heights youths, charged in the attempted holdup of an Oak Park sports store Feb. 8, have entered guilty pleas to charges of assault with intent to rob while armed.

The latest to plead guilty before Circuit Court Judge Frederick G. Ziem were Fred Mills, 15, of 530 11-Mile Road, and Glen Foster, 20, of 12 E. Katherine St.

Judge Ziem accepted their change of plea from nolo contendere. He set sentencing for May 15.

Their pleas followed one to the same charge from Ernest Cameron, 20, of 26339 Wolverine St. He will be sentenced May 8.

All three charged their pleas after Judge Ziem dismissed charges of first-degree murder against them, stemming from the shooting of a fourth member of their robbery gang.

The judge claimed it was justifiable homicide in the shooting of 16-year-old Russell E. Burphy.

ment budget is increased substantially each year by the state's highway fund diversion. In budgeting neighborhood improvements in future years, though, the administration points out the highway funds can be used only for street improvements.

Other factors affecting capital improvement funds are the urban renewal projects.

Under contract to match half the federal investment in urban renewal, the city is scheduled to pour more than $1.1 million into the first project in the next few years.

But state and federal aid, local assessments and revenue bonds are to supplement investment from capital improvement funds.

Commitment of a large portion of capital improvement funds to one or two projects won't be anything new, however.

In the past couple years, as much as $300,000 a year or more has been committed to the hospital for the bonds and for completion of the east wing modernization. The last part of the modernization bill is to be paid off this fall.

Williams Resigns at Ford Motor, Effective Aug. 1

Walter A. Williams, 59, of 1564 Galkers Road, Bloomfield Township, senior member of the corporate hierarchy at Ford Motor Co., Tuesday announced his retirement, effective Aug. 1.

Williams, a 36-year veteran with the company, has been a vice president since 1950 in charge of corporate sales and advertising.

He joined the company as a timekeeper at Kansas City in the Model T era, and with the exception of the two Ford brothers, is the only current top executive who was with the company before World War II.

Henry Ford II, board chairman, lauded Williams' record as a sales executive and as a member of Ford management.

Williams was appointed Ford car sales manager in 1946, and upon formation of the Ford Division in 1949 he became general sales manager of the division. He has been serving as assistant general manager of the Lincoln-Mercury Division, and as vice-chairman of the Dealer Policy Board.

Judge Passes Sentence on Two Pontiac Women

Two Pontiac women were found guilty of soliciting an act of prostitution and were sentenced yesterday by Municipal Court Judge Cecil McCullum.

Louise Davis, 22, 229 Orchard Lake Ave., was ordered to pay a $50 fine or serve 10 days in the Oakland County Jail for soliciting at 74 Wessen St., April 6.

Dorothy Williams, 41, 74 Wessen St., was ordered to pay a $50 fine or go to jail seven days for soliciting at the Wessen Street address March 23.

The president of one of the city's oldest furniture companies announced today the purchase of interests held by Robert Glenn.

John P. Stewart, president of the Stewart-Glenn Co., organized in 1917, said the company this week acquired the interests held by Robert Glenn, son of one of the founders of the company.

The name of the firm will remain the same.

At the same time, Stewart announced that the transaction will result in the closing of the S-G Warehouse Furniture Sales, 20 Franklin Road. A close-out sale will begin April 6.

No purchase price was disclosed. The company will center all its business in its store located at 1800 S. Telegraph Road, and hopes to increase the floor space of the two-year-old building by at least 50 per cent, according to Addison K. Oakley, manager and secretary of the company.

Glenn said he sold his interests in the company in order to expand the operations of the Automat Corp. of which he is president.

THE WISNER HOME—Located on Oakland Avenue at Wisner Street, the home of Gov. Moses Wisner is one of the city's im-

Foundation Hoping Search 'Pans' Out

Hunt Furnishings for Old Wisner Home

A certain amount of delicacy is in evidence as the Oakland County Historical Foundation begins a Centennial year move in behalf of the Wisner Home on Oakland Avenue.

The foundation is hoping to round up some period pieces from a century ago to add to the historic site.

The quest includes a certain item not too frequently mentioned in polite society nowadays. The object used to be included in bedroom sets before indoor plumbing replaced the out-house.

What the foundation is looking for generally is an old-fashioned marble-top, without dating from the years preceding the Civil War period.

It hopes to acquire with the stand one of the traditional bedroom sets, including a porcelain

Well, the item at the end of the list is pot-shaped and used to be stored in the lower cupboard of the washstand when not in use.

"We hope to acquire a full set of utensils with the stand of a vintage that fits in with the original furnishings of the home," explained John A. Linabury, vice president of the foundation.

RELIES ON CITIZENS
 Operating on limited funds from membership fees and donations, the foundation relies on the generosity of private citizens in much of its work to beautify the home of Gov. Moses Wisner in authentic fashion.

Wisner, an Easterner who came to Pontiac in the 1830s, was a lawyer who became Michigan's 10th governor (1859-1861), later to die in the Civil War as colonel of Michigan's 22nd Regiment. The foundation preserves his Pontiac farmhouse as a state historic site.

The foundation is also looking for other period pieces, including hand-carved lamp tables and kerosene oil lamps of glass or brass.

It hopes to receive carpeting for a number of rooms, perhaps examples of the flowered Brussels carpeting of the period or rag carpeting, fashioned either with or without a hand loom.

Drapes for Wisner's study are on the acquisition list.

MODERN TOUCH
 A modern item includes rubber runners to protect the valuable rugs and floors from the throngs of visitors expected later on this Centennial year.

The foundation also hopes to win some volunteer labor from such building trades as the carpenters, plumbers and masons.

A display room on the second floor has still to be finished and there are rest room facilities to be installed.

In addition, the foundation wants to restore the roof cellar and barn, fence off the grounds, add plantings to the lawns, install storm windows on the home and blacktop the driveway and parking area.

Shopping Center Details to Be Viewed by Planners

It'll be shopping center night north of Granview Street. The for the planning commission a week from today.

Reasoning proposals for three proposed neighborhood centers are now on the commission's agenda for its regular meeting the first Wednesday night of the month.

The latest proposal was referred to planners by the City Commission last night.

This involves rezoning of the eastern two-thirds of the block corner of Baldwin Avenue and Mont west of Glenwood Avenue and calm Street have been placed in the hands of the planning commission.

Tentative plans drawn up by Citizens Investment Co. of Detroit call for a five-story center with about 600 feet of frontage on Baldwin and 1,000 on Montclair.

The third proposal comes from Morris Green, a Detroit developer, who has asked for rezoning of 2,900 feet of frontage on the north side of Walton Boulevard between Giddings Road and Ferry Street.

The planning commission will ask for details on all three projects next week.

Biloxi, Miss., is the largest shrimp and oyster packing point in America.

Switch Location of Auto Show

Centennial Event Will Be Staged at Parking Lot on E. Pike St.

City commissioners have agreed to switch the site of the Centennial auto show from Saginaw and Water streets to the municipal parking lot on East Pike Street.

The change was okayed last night after it was reported Pontiac industry would prefer using about half the parking lot for an automobile display during the June 17-24 celebration.

Commissioners had agreed a week ago to spend about $2,500 to black-top the rubble-filled lot at Saginaw and Water where the Oakland Theater once stood. The lot is owned by the Butterfield Theater chain.

Under the new arrangement, it would cost the city less than $500 to make up parking revenues for the portion of the lot the show will use.

Navy Cancels Pact for Bendix Missile

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cancellation of the remaining $57 million of a contract with the Bendix Corp. of Ann Arbor, Mich., for development of the Eagle missile was announced Tuesday by the Navy.

The weapon had been intended for use by planes against other planes.

President Kennedy told Congress a month ago that the project would be dropped. Earlier the Eisenhower administration had canceled plans to develop a fighter plane, "the Missileer," from which the Eagle would have been fired.

Welfare Total Down in County

he said, sends the load over the 3,000 mark.

He said month-end case loads were 2,846 for January, 2,746 for February and 2,777 for March.

"The load is becoming almost stationary," Burt said. "We're closing almost as many cases as we're opening, except for surplus food and that's mounting higher all the time."

Burt said there were nearly 9,000 cases or 30,000 persons drawing surplus food packages from the Pontiac and Royal Oak offices.

The director said the slight dip between March and April in the welfare load was due to extension for another 13 weeks for those among the unemployed who have employment benefits, and a number who have returned to outdoor jobs due to the arrival of warmer weather.

Extension of unemployment compensation benefits has decreased slightly the number of persons receiving assistance from the Oakland County Social Welfare Department, the department director said today.

George H. Burt reports the gross case load as of April 21 was 2,782. Adding another 300 pending cases, weather.

LEMON-LIME CHIFFON CAKE—Chiffon cake is only 10 years old. Thousands of cooks have made it "from scratch" or from a mix. The newest mix is Lemon Chiffon Cake Mix. Here you see it filled and frosted with cream. Wonderfully refreshing.

It's Gayner Than a Spring Day

The season is approaching when fresh fruits are at their flavoriest. Even though lemons and limes are available the year round, lemonade and limeade reach a peak of popularity with the arrival of warm weather.

This ever-popular combination, has now found its way into a cake that's as fresh as spring itself. The lime-flavored whipped cream atop the square layer cake completely camouflages the surprise that awaits you when you cut into it. What a delight when you discover the light and tender Lemon Chiffon Cake that's as high and light as sponge cake and as rich as butter cake.

This new exclusive cake mix flavor has just made its debut on the market. You'll find it has the same moist texture, high volume and delicate flavor of a home-made cake.

Lemon-Lime Chiffon Cake
Prepare Lemon-Chiffon Cake Mix batter according to directions on package. Bake in two square pans, 8x8 1/2", for 35 to 45 minutes at 350 degrees (moderate). Cool following package directions. Remove from pans. Fill and frost with Lime Filling (below).

Lime Filling: Mix in top of double boiler 2 egg yolks, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 3 tablespoons lime juice. Cook over hot water 6 to 8 minutes, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cool. Add 1 teaspoon grated lime rind and enough green food coloring to give desired shade. Fold into 1 1/2 cups whipping cream, whipped stiff.

Ever Try Curry With Oysters?

People dream of finding a pearl inside an oyster. Perhaps this is why oysters have a special aura of enchantment. Unfortunately, most persons never realize their wish. The lack is not noticed, however, for the delicious and unique flavor of the oyster becomes the dominant interest.

Creamed Oysters captures the flavor of oysters at their best, because they are simmered gently in a cream sauce flavored with exotic curry powder.

A new twist with oysters deserves a new recipe for the rice over which the oysters are served. Here, fresh minced parsley is sprinkled among the fluffy white grains of rice.

Creamed Oysters Over Hot Rice
1 quart shell or canned oysters
1/2 cup butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups cream
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons sherry
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup hot cooked rice
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Drain oysters, reserving liquor. Melt butter in saucepan. Stir in flour to make smooth paste. Slowly add oyster liquor and cream. Season with salt, curry powder, pepper and paprika, stirring constantly until smooth and thick. Add drained oysters. Bring to boiling point and simmer gently for 20 minutes. Remove from heat and add sherry, Worcestershire sauce and lemon juice. Serve over beds of hot buttered hot fluffy rice. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Vegetable Casserole Has Onion Cheese Sauce

Blend your left-over vegetables into a delicious casserole with this quick and easy Onion-Cheese Sauce. In a saucepan, melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine and remove from heat. Blend in 3 tablespoons flour and 1/2 cup onion soup mix, then add 2 cups milk. Return to heat and stir until thickened. Add 1/4 cup grated cheese and stir until melted. Pour over left-over vegetables. Sprinkle grated cheese over top and bake 20-25 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

The Great Smoky mountains national park, partly in North Carolina, covers a vast area estimated to be in excess of one-half million acres.

Dieting Is Easy in Gourmet Style

If the richly herbed and spiced flavor of wonderful Italian foods is what you crave, but you're afraid of the calorie cost, forget your fears.

The chef of the Italian Pavilion, considered by many gourmets to be one of New York's greatest Italian restaurants, has created one of the most palatable and nutritious vegetable recipes to come our way in many a moon. And what's more, the calorie count of this irresistible delicacy is so low it lets you eat your pasta without a pang of conscience.

Inspired by the development of new low calorie Italian-Style dressing, the first low calorie salad dressing with a flavor that can win friends among fleshy chefs, this culinary artist has created a recipe for marinated mushrooms that satisfies almost every requirement of lovers of good eating. Heavenly of aroma in the cooking, fabulous of flavor in the eating, it is also extremely versatile in menu application.

Equally delectable hot or cold, marinated mushrooms Italian-Style can be served as hors d'oeuvre, as a relish with meals, or as a vegetable course.

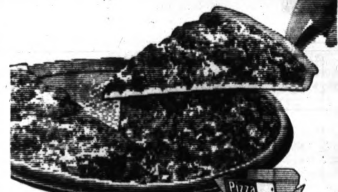

Marinated Mushrooms Italian Style
1 pound fresh button mushrooms
1/2 ounce bottle low calorie Italian-Style dressing
1 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup garlic oil
1 small bay leaf, crumbled
1/2 teaspoon dried oregano
1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
1/2 teaspoon salt

Wash mushrooms and dry them thoroughly. Place mushrooms in saucepan and add remaining ingredients. Cover, bring to a boil. Remove from heat immediately, stir, and let stand for at least 15 minutes before serving. To serve cold, let mushrooms stand in marinade until cool, stirring occasionally. Then chill mushrooms in their marinade.

MARINATED MUSHROOMS—Who said it's tough to diet? Certainly not the chef of the Italian Pavilion, one of New York's greatest Italian restaurants. Inspired by the introduction of the new low calorie Italian Style dressing, first low calorie dressing any self-respecting chef would have anything to do with, the chef of the Italian Pavilion's kitchen created the new recipe for marinated mushrooms pictured above.

JAM SWIRL COFFEE CAKE—Put the coffee pot on and call in the neighbors for a "kaffe klatch." You have a muffin/coffee cake in the oven and it's at its best when served warm. No trouble at all to make with muffin mix.

Malaria is one of the oldest known diseases of man. The Caroline group has more than 500 islands.

Let's All Have Coffee Cake

A visit to a Scandinavian kitchen will always find the coffee pot on the stove and luscious home-baked pastries and coffee breads ready to eat.

This coffee tradition is fast becoming Americanized with the ever-popular coffee break, and modern homemakers are constantly looking for new and easy snacks to accompany their morning coffee.

Here's just the answer to add that special something to your next "kaffe klatch." It's a light-as-a-muffin coffee cake with sweet swirls of blackberry jam throughout and frosted with just the right amount of thin white icing.

And you can serve it hot-from-the-oven with just a moment's notice because it is so easy to make from a muffin mix. And it's that quick swirl of jam that adds the extra touch to make it a "kaffe klatch" worth raving about! Here's the recipe as created for

"kaffe tid" in the Betty Crocker kitchens:
JAM SWIRL COFFEE CAKE
Heat oven to 400 degrees (mod. hot). Make Quick Raisin Bran Bread as directed on Raisin Bran muffin mix pkg. Pour into greased 8" pie pan. Dot 1/2 cup blackberry preserve here and there on top of batter. Cut through batter several times with spoon or knife. Bake 20 to 25 min. Cool slightly, then drizzle Thin White Icing (recipe below) over coffee cake.
Thin White Icing: Mix 1/4 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 1 tsp. milk and a few drops lemon juice.

Show the Bride and Feast the Guests

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor
 After Easter there is always an upsurge of entertaining, especially, bridal showers for the June brides. We thought you might like some suggestions about sweet things to serve after all the games have been played and the gifts opened.

What could be more appropriate than an Orange Upside Down Cake? Orange blossoms have been associated with brides for centuries. Valencia oranges are in the markets now and yield both fruit and virtually seedless sections for the bottom (or is it the top) part of the cake.

Orange Upside Down Cake
 1 package white or yellow cake mix
 1/2 cup orange juice
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 1 cup orange sections
 1 cup Florida orange sections
 1/2 cup orange juice

Prepare cake batter according to package directions substituting orange juice for water. In cake pan (8x8x2 inches), melt butter; sprinkle with brown sugar. Arrange orange sections in butter-sugar mixture. Turn cake batter over sections to 1/2 depth of pan. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for 40 to 50 minutes or until done. Let cake cool about 10 minutes and turn out serving dish. Garnish with whipped cream and orange sections, if desired. Yield: 1 cake.

Note: Extra batter may be baked in cup cake tins.
 *To section oranges, cut off peel round and round spiral fashion. Go over fruit again to remove any remaining white membrane. Cut along side of each dividing membrane from outside to middle of core. Remove section by section.

Since the happy young lady is floating on Cloud Nine anyway, you might as well serve a dessert to keep her up in the air. This Coconut Cloud Pie is a make-ahead dessert, an all-time angelic creation.
COCONUT CLOUD PIE
Five-Minute Pie Crust:
 1 1/2 cups unbleached all-purpose flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup lard
 2 1/2 tablespoons water
 Combine flour and salt; add lard (room temperature) and cut in with pastry blender or 2 knives until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add water all at once, pressing dough together. Shape dough into ball.
 Lay on lightly floured pastry cloth or board and roll lightly to 1/4-inch thickness, rolling from center to edges. Fit into tin, trim and crimp edges. Prick unfilled single crust liberally and bake in 425 degrees F. oven 10 to 12 minutes.

Coconut Cloud Filling:
 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
 1/2 cup cold water
 4 egg yolks
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup coconut
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract
 Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine egg yolks and sugar. Add milk and cook in double boiler, stirring constantly, until custard coats a spoon. Add softened gelatin to hot custard. Stir until dissolved. Add salt and cool.

When mixture begins to thicken, fold in, stiffly beaten egg whites, coconut, vanilla and lemon extract. Pour into baked pie shell. Chill. To serve, sprinkle pie with coconut and sweeten with whipped cream. Something different is a desert waffle topped with a scoop of meringue and browned in a very hot oven. Just before serving you drizzle some crimson cherry sauce over it all.

CHERRY MERINGUE WAFFLES Sauce:
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 1 1/2-4-oz. can frozen cherries, thawed
 1/2 cup almond extract
 Few drops red food coloring (optional)
Waffles:
 1 cup milk
 1 egg
 2 tablespoons melted or liquid shortening
 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 1 cup pancake mix
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup water
 For waffles, place milk, egg and shortening in a shaker or glass jar. (If melted shortening is used, add after pancake mix.) Add nutmeg and pancake mix. Shake vigorously 10 times or until batter is fairly smooth. Bake in hot waffle baker until steaming stops. Cut into sections; place on cookie sheet.
 For meringue, beat egg whites until frothy. Add cream of tartar; add sugar, a tablespoon at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat until stiff and glossy. Spoon meringue on each waffle section. Place in extremely hot oven (325 degrees F.) for 1 to 2 minutes until delicately brown. Top each hot waffle with warm cherry sauce.

 If you are serving salad and waffles and want a simple dessert, think about fresh pineapple compote. Chilled in a cinnamon syrup, the pineapple takes on an elusive taste that raises it out of the realm of the ordinary.
Cinnamon Pineapple Compote
 1 stick cinnamon, 2" long
 1 cup sugar
 1 cup water
 1 cup fresh pineapple wedges
 Place in a saucepan cinnamon, sugar, water, lemon juice and salt. Mix well and cook to form a thin syrup, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat and take out cinnamon stick. Add pineapple. Cool and chill. Serve in sherbet glasses topped with a fresh strawberry or maraschino cherry. Yield: 6 servings.

Spray Foods With Nitrogen

EAST LANSING (N)—A new process has been developed that freezes foods minutes after cooking, keeps them frozen solid for days without refrigeration, and "does in minutes what other methods do in hours," says Gil Gjertsen, assistant to the president of the LiqueFreeze Corp. of America.
 Gjertsen described the process at a frozen foods seminar at Michigan State University recently. The process depends on liquid nitrogen — at 320 degrees — "the coldest substance known to man," he said.
 He told a group of 75 food plant engineers and processors the new freezing technique can be set up on a processor's assembly line, freezing the food immediately after cooking or processing.

The first contact with liquid, gaseous or sprayed nitrogen freezes all surfaces, "sealing in flavor and even aroma to an extent not achieved by current freezing methods," Gjertsen said. Foods can then be transported in insulated containers without further refrigeration — or the container can be treated with nitrogen to maintain the sub-zero temperatures in the compartment itself. This, he said, would allow airlines and ships to carry frozen foods without the bulk of conventional refrigerated equipment. It also is possible to freeze foods after they have been loaded in specially equipped railcars, trucks or containers.

 Nitrogen-frozen food was placed in an insulated container on the deck of a freighter, he said, and shipped to New York via Puerto Rico, Baltimore and Philadelphia. Subjected to outside temperatures of up to 120 degrees, the cargo was still frozen at 24 degrees below zero 30 days later, he said.

Tony Pettito asked his grandmother what women did in the days before radio, TV and movies. She answered: "Housework" . . . An auto driving instructor told his class: "I want you people to remember that gasoline and alcohol don't mix — so drink only one or the other." —Earl Wilson.

Can of Soup Good on Beans

Everyday foods can become party fare when a little imagination is used in preparation. Take the young, tender spring vegetables now making their appearance at local markets. Good in themselves, they become extra special and have an appealing new look when lusciously sauced with a canned condensed soup sauce. The "fresh-from-the-garden" flavor is enhanced with the "right-from-the-pantry-shelf" smoothness and zest of the soup sauce.
 For tonight's dinner plan your menu around crisp green beans dressed with a celery bacon sauce . . . canned condensed cream of celery soup is the base. To go along . . . a juicy ham steak, broiled or baked to perfection, hearts of lettuce salad and for dessert . . . another treat for the season . . . fresh strawberries and cream.
Green Beans With Celery Bacon Dressing
 4 slices bacon
 1 cup chopped onion
 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of celery soup
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup green beans, cooked and drained
 Cook bacon until crisp; remove and crumble. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons drippings. Add onion; cook until tender. Stir in soup, milk, and beans. Heat, stirring now and then. Garnish with bacon. Makes 4 servings.

Cinnamon Toast Gets Slight Change

Workers in offices and factories look to the coffee-break in mid-morning or afternoon to give them a new lift, new energy and interest in their work. Workers at home — busy homemakers — can get the same renewal of energy and interest by taking time for coffee and a snack in the comfort of their own kitchens.
 A home-style coffee-break needn't take much time if you have a jar of instant coffee on the shelf. Add to nibble on while you sip, make yourself a slice of cinnamon-chocolate toast, a new variation of another old favorite.

Walnut Coffee Bread Starts With a Loaf

This easy recipe is made with a loaf of unsliced bakery or home-made bread. It's ideal for that spur-of-the-moment coffee klatch. Cut crusts off the top, sides and ends of loaf. Cut loaf in half lengthwise and then cut each half into 10 or 12 cubes but do not cut all the way through the loaf. Cream 1/4 cup butter or margarine and 1/2 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed. Blend in one tablespoon cream. Spread butter mixture between each cube and on all sides generously over the top. Sprinkle the whole loaf with 1/4 cup finely chopped California walnuts, and dust lightly with cinnamon. Place in a loaf pan and bake at 325 degrees 15-20 minutes or until golden brown, toasted and hot through.

No One Will Ever Guess What's in the Dressing

Like German-style potato salad with real old-fashioned flavor! It's easily accomplished by adding into 10 or 12 cubes but do not cut all the way through the loaf. Cream 1/4 cup butter or margarine and 1/2 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed. Blend in one tablespoon cream. Spread butter mixture between each cube and on all sides generously over the top. Sprinkle the whole loaf with 1/4

Spinach Has Different Taste in Salad

There's no excuse for salad blues because there are so many interesting possibilities, year round. A handsome and tasty salad of spinach, bacon and hard cooked eggs can be served as a side salad with dinner, or as a separate course at a light luncheon or supper, perhaps followed by a substantial soup as the entree. The secret of good flavor in this salad is the combination of dressing ingredients well before serving time. Allowing the oil, vinegar and seasonings to stand an hour or more gives their individual flavors a chance to blend. Tabasco is the pepper seasoning that gives the salad piquancy.

Iceberg lettuce, cored and stuffed with cream and cottage cheese blended with diced green pepper, shredded carrot and seasonings make wonderfully tasty and attractive looking individual wedges. Best served with home-made French dressing, zesty with dry mustard and Tabasco. Spinach Salad
1 bag (12 ounces) spinach, washed

Button Mushrooms Team Up With Franks

Here are the tastiest, juiciest most different mushrooms you ever saw—and so easy to prepare! They are perfect for cocktail parties or pre-dinner snacks at any time. Tabasco French Dressing
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup Tabasco
Mix dry ingredients thoroughly, add oil and Tabasco; stir until well blended. Add vinegar and beat or shake well. Beat or shake just before serving. Yield: 1 cup.

peat on the other side.
When done, arrange them in a tray, and your guests will serve themselves and ask for more.
You'll be able to work out other variations of these "Franks 'n' Mushrooms," too. For instance, try adding an olive at the bottom of the frankfurter section, and broil as above. It's delicious!
Television is a well-balanced me-

easily as the nighttime shows.
Another measure of civilization's

Colavito Rumored in Deal With Yankees

DETROIT (U)—Rick Ferrell is so enthused about the Detroit Tigers quick getaway he has decided to stand pat with his first place lineup—for a while anyway.

"I'm happy with the club just the way it is and have no trade in mind whatsoever," said the Detroit personnel director after last night's game with the New York Yankees was postponed.

The storm that washed out the game was followed by a report of trade winds involving Rocky Colavito.

A New York story said the Yankees were seeking the Tiger left fielder and Detroit might be willing to part with its home run slugger. The report said Ferrell had talked with Roy Hamner, Yankee general manager.

Catcher Johnny Blanchard and either second baseman Bobby Richardson, third baseman Clete Boyer or outfielder Hector Lopez were reported to be the Tigers' asking price for Colavito. "No, Blanchard's name didn't even come up," Ferrell said in an apparent slip of the tongue. He went on to say:

"I sat next to Hamner Monday night at a banquet. Naturally we talked.

"But we have a good club and I'm happy the way things are. I have no idea of trading with anyone. Right now I have no plans to talk trade seriously with any team.

"Of course, I discussed things with them just to find out what they need and what they offer. But I haven't even come close to making a trade. There's nothing going."

Manager Bob Scheffing, who has the Tigers wiggling with a surprising 84 record, also likes the club just the way it is.

"We have no trades on the fire," said Scheffing, who helped engineer the deal with Milwaukee that is a major factor in the Tigers' start.

The performance of rookies Jake

Wood and Steve Boros and catcher Dick Brown, one of four players acquired from Milwaukee, has been another reason for the surge. Boros is batting .333 with 10 RBIs. Brown is hitting .321 and Wood .288.

It seems likely Ferrell feels the Tigers are set with Boros at third and Wood at second. At least one of the club goes to the bullpen and the rookies with it.

The only place Richardson or Boyer probably could fit in right now is at shortstop for Chico Fernandez.

Brown's play, both in the field and at bat, indicates the Tigers' long search for strong catching is over. Thus, Blanchard, coveted by the Tigers during the winter, has lost some value, especially because he's no better than the Yankees' third string catcher.

Colavito has been off to a slow start—but no slower than last year when he finished with 25 home runs. He has only two homers and a .226 batting average.

A trade of Colavito would be the biggest surprise followup of 1960's latest deal. He came to the Tigers from Cleveland as reigning home champion for Harvey Kuenn, who won the American League batting champion. Kuenn played one season with the Indians, who dealt him out of the league to San Francisco last winter.

The Tigers, meanwhile, beat the Yankees today in a bid for their ninth straight victory. Don Nix, after his third triumph faces Whitey Ford in a duel of lifethrivers.

The makeup of last night's post-game was set for Sept. 15 as part of a two-night doubleheader.

SPORTS

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's public high schools are returning to do wide athletic competition after an absence of 31 years.

The city's board of education ended years of off-and-on discussion yesterday and voted 4-3 to re-enter tournament competition in six sports on a two-year trial basis.

It means Detroit's public schools, which turn out some of Michigan's strongest teams, probably will compete in the state high school basketball tournament in March of next year.

The board tabled a decision on exactly when the public schools will rejoin other Michigan schools in competition. Budget problems will be discussed at the board's June 4 meeting. If funds are available, the Detroit schools will jump back into statewide play in the fall cross-country seasons.

Other sports involved are swimming, track, golf and tennis.

Detroit withdrew its public schools from statewide competition in 1930 after several years of highly successful results in the basketball tournament.

In recent years, there was a growing movement to return to state play. It met with strong opposition, however.

The movement gained impetus last month when Detroit Catholic Central gained a tarnished Class A state basketball championship.

Unbeaten Detroit Eastern, a public school, was the only team that beat Catholic Central during the season. Eastern, in many quarters, was regarded as the uncrowned state champion.

Yesterday's board decision went against school superintendent Samuel Bonnell. He opposed the return to state competition.

The three members of the board opposing the move all are women. The four who supported it are men.

Detroit's public schools left state play in 1930. Newspaper files of that day indicate the school board at that time felt Detroit's schools had sufficient competition among themselves. Also, an emphasis was being placed on intramural sports at the schools.

JAW ACTION AGAIN—Pitcher Larry Jackson, who suffered a fractured jaw when struck by a bat in spring training, bites into a hot dog to give that jaw a test. Jackson who won 18 games for the St. Louis Cardinals last year said he is ready to pitch again. He is expected to go against the Braves tonight.

In Second Round of North and South Golf

Green, Draper Victors at Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N.C. (U)—Two Oak Arks, today after defeating John Hendrickson of Flourentin, 4 and 3.

Two other Birmingham golfers, Dr. Richard Strickland and Dr. F. M. Adams, failed to survive the first round.

Birmingham's Tom Draper engaged Dr. Ed Upesgraff of Tucson, Ariz., today after defeating John Hendrickson of Flourentin, 4 and 3.

Medalist Wayne Jackson was a 3 and 2 victim of tourney-tough Dale Morey in the opening round.

Charlie Smith, the defending champion, scored a 3 and 2 victory over David MacLurg of Dearborn to lead a virtually uninterrupted procession of winning favorites into Wednesday's two rounds. Smith, from Gastonia, N.C., was even par and 4-up as he turned in 34.

The nearest threat to an eyebrow-raiser was the 19-hole victory of 41-year-old John Thornton of Rochester, N.Y., over Charlie Harrison, former Southern champion from Atlanta.

The sharpest scoring of the boiling hot day over the 7,000-yard, par 72 No. 2 course of the Country Club was a 1-under-par by Dick Chapman, a former winner from Atlanta.

Standout Derby Eligibles Ready for Blue Grass

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A standard field of Kentucky Derby eligibles was being assembled at Keeneland today for the $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes.

Among the nine or 10 major thoroughbreds expected to start Thursday are the winners of the Louisiana and Alabama Derbies: The Chesapeake Stakes and Santa Anita's San Felipe Handicap.

The field is regarded as one of the finest ever put together for this race, which has produced three Derby winners—the last one, Tony Lee in 1959.

At a mile and an eighth the Blue Grass is 1 furlong shorter than the Kentucky Derby races slated May 6 at Churchill Downs.

Alberta Ranches' Flatterly and Kerr Stables' twin that of Mr. Consistency and Gay Land shaped up as the early betting favorites.

NCAA Back in Action; Ban Summer Cage Play

WASHINGTON (AP)—The council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association today is expected to end probation and permit Auburn University once again to take part in NCAA-sponsored championships and bowl games.

A top NCAA source said the decision would come when the council acted on a report by the committee on infractions, which has been reviewing the athletic "policies and practices" of the Alabama school. The council ends a three-day meeting today.

Auburn has been on probation for player recruiting rule violations since 1956. It is the longest penalty handed any NCAA member since 1952, when the NCAA began enforcement of its code on recruiting of athletes.

The council Tuesday banned organized summer competition. Players taking part in such summer basketball could not play college basketball under the proposal by the NCAA council.

Most organized summer basketball is played either in the Los Angeles area or in the Eastern United States. New York's Catlin Mountain reports, the so-called "Borscht Circuit," is a hot bed of summer basketball.

A council spokesman stressed that the recommendation resulted from a study begun last year, before recent revelations of alleged bribes and links between college basketball players and gamblers.

He added that one of the problems arising from summer basketball is "the creation, in some instances, of undesirable associations" between players and others.

Other objections, he said, were that off-season basketball leads to exploitation of student athletes, may result in excessive competition with teams playing three or four games a week, and some sponsors in summer leagues have recruited players with excessive inducements.

The 18-member council set up a committee to draft legislation implementing the ban. The legislation will be subject to action by the national convention next January.

NCAA Executive Secretary Walter Byers said the council also refused to delay by one year a new ban on participation of high school football players in all-star football games.

The 1961 NCAA convention adopted the new rule. Some coaches of all-star games had asked that it be eased for some games this year.

Shivering Angels Mightily Pleased to Head for LA

CHICAGO (AP)—The brand new Los Angeles Angels, having had their fill of teeth-chattering weather which has played havoc with baseball schedules in the East and Midwest, were singing "home sweet home" Tuesday night.

Rained out for the second successive night against the Chicago White Sox, the Angels departed for Los Angeles Tuesday night in a chartered jet.

"Brother, it's going to be good to get home," said Manager Bill Rigney. "We've been on the road for a month. That warm weather home should be a big help to us."

The Angels won their season opener at Baltimore but have since lost seven straight.

FRIDAY START OF BACKING CORRECTLY

1. CORRECT BALANCE IS ESSENTIAL AT ALL TIMES THROUGHOUT YOUR OIL SWING, AND THE BEST PLACE TO START IS AT YOUR SHOULDERS. ONE TENDENCY IS TO INFLUENCE YOUR BALANCE BY LEANING YOUR BODY FORWARD. THE RIGHT BALANCE IS LOWER ON THE SHIRT, THE RIGHT BALANCE IS LOWER AT ADDRESS.

2. DON'T DO AS I AM DEMONSTRATING HERE—TRYING TO KEEP MY SHOULDERS LEVEL AT ADDRESS. THIS IS A TERRIBLE MISTAKE. UNUSUAL POSITION AND SHOULD BE AVOIDED. SUCH A POSITION WILL THROW YOU OFF BALANCE RIGHT AT THE START. IT WILL ALSO DRAW THE RIGHT ELBOW AWAY FROM THE SHIRT. THE ONLY WAY TO KEEP IT TO STRAIGHTEN THE RIGHT ARM.

Monroe Moore of Pontiac embarks soon on a big pro bowling tour which could net him national prestige and plenty of dollars.

Following the ABC Masters at Cobo Hall May 7, the Huron Bowl instructor and counter man will be on the go in meets which will take him across the country from New Jersey to California.

The fast-growing Professional Bowlers Association has put together an outstanding tour starting May 11 at Paramus, N.J. and ending June 23 at Las Vegas, Nev. There will be stops at Dallas, Houston and El Paso in Texas, Shreveport, Louisiana, San Jose, San Francisco and El Redondo Beach in California.

Moore will be meeting the best in the nation everywhere he goes but he's been through that before. He participated in the National All-Star at Omaha in Jan. 1960 and missed making the semifinals after a big start. He had beaten the likes of Ed Lubanski and Billy Golembiewski in area qualifying.

Huron proprietor Joe Bonfiglio and young Mike Samardzija will bowl with "Mo" at the ABC Mike will also compete in Ohio and at the National Invitational.

HERE 'N THERE
Keg tournaments are under way at B & M in Walled Lake and Romeo's Ormace. Auburn Lanes has one coming up next month. . . Gerry Hintz topped the West Side Ladies averages at 132. Marguerite Young had 179 and Jeannette Mikhalik 176.

Irv Skupien had a 227 game at the ABC. . . Peg Carter's 276-683 were the best scores of her career. . . The Union Lake Optimist Club of Union Lake will hold a weekend tournament at Wonderland Lanes called "Bowlerama 36." Name sounds familiar. . . Don Nicholke Insurance has taken Elks Ladies lead.

Farmington High senior Gary Cousins has rolled four 300 games in his three years as a bowler. The protege of Tom Langan at Nur-West hopes to be a pro some day. . . Roloff sparkplugs Betty Pierce and Ida Wilson had been the low scorers all year for All Star champion Motor Inn. . . Over 1600 teams have already filed reservations for the 1962 ABC tourney at Des Moines.

Shirley Pointer has joined the women's Professional Bowlers Association. The Huron instructor carries averages of 184 and 178 in rugged Detroit leagues and 180 at starting the 17th game Wednesday. Her season high is 702.

All will feature qualifying rounds to determine finalists and some will have pro-amateurs.

Baylor Shotputter Hoping for Sweep

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Baylor shotputter John Fry is shooting for a sweep of the three major Midwest relays titles in the 32nd running of the Drake Relays here Friday and Saturday.

Fry, whose all-time best is a toss of 56-10, won the Texas and Kansas crowns. If he captures the Drake title he will snuff a bid by Oklahoma's Mike Lindsay to join the select list of three-time winners in the Drake meet.

Lindsay, a brassy Briton, won here as a sophomore and junior. Only 12 athletes in the history of the meet have won the same event three times.

The shotput battle—with Georgia Tech strongman—Ed Nutting also challenging—is one of many featured field events.

Chess Experts Deadline for World Championship

MOSCOW (AP) — Play in the 16th game of the world chess championships was adjourned for a second time Tuesday with neither Mikhail Tal, the defending champion, nor Mikhail Botvinnik, former champion, having an advantage.

Ninety moves have been made of 40th Monday.

The game will be continued Thursday with the two players starting the 17th game Wednesday on schedule.

Daugherty Not Impressed With MSU Frosh Gridders

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State University football coach Duffy Daugherty was worried to find because none of his freshman football players has been outstanding in spring practice.

"I don't think it's anything to get alarmed about yet," Daugherty said, "but if we're going to have to be a good team next fall a lot more freshmen are going to have to assert themselves more than they have so far."

"A check of our better teams of recent years will show they all got big lifts from new players," Daugherty said.

A team spokesman said most of Michigan State's football individual sensations in the past showed greatness early in their careers.

Only three freshmen were among the starters at last Saturday's fall-in-the-rain game against the Spartans. And they were there only because veteran performers were absent from practice.

"The current group was a small one, but we had hopes that there was some quality in it," Daugherty said. "We hope it will start showing up before the end of spring drills May 13."

Prep Schedules

DETROIT (AP) — John Powell Jr., of Toledo is off to a flying 556 start in his quest of the classic division all-events crown of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Powell rolled a series of 230-192-234 as he paced the Ansberg West Club of Toledo to a 2,874 total in its classic debut Tuesday night. He acted in doubles and singles today before returning to the lanes tonight for the team's second classic appearance.

Bob Brayman of Detroit leads the classic division all-events with 1,363.

Waterford Finally Tops PCH in Track

Waterford's track team accomplished something in the rain and mud Tuesday afternoon at Wm. Field that only one other Skipper team has been able to do in a major sport over the years.

Coach Al Cuthrell's third-grade splashed to a 56½-52½ victory over Pontiac Central.

The baseball nine is the only other major Waterford athletic team to beat Central. The football squad came close last fall. Central has ruled supreme in basketball.

Joe Falls, Mike Siskels and Mike Kaines remained undefeated as the Skippers won their sixth straight dual meet. The waterflooders Waterford as one of the two track powers in the county. Birmingham Seaholm is the other.

Falls swept his usual three first places in high and low hurdles and the pole vault. In the latter event, he cleared 11 feet 9 inches to post his best performance of the season.

Siskels captured the 100 and 220-yard dashes. He joined Falls on the winning 880 relay team. Kaines, hampered by the soft track, splashed to victory in the mile in 4:37.4.

The Skippers piled up a big lead in the running events, winning six firsts and sweeping all three places in the high hurdles. Waterford held a 44-29 edge in the running events.

Paced by a sweep in the broad jump, the Chiefs almost overhauled the Skippers in field events.

Paul Brown cleared the bar at 5 feet 11½ inches, his best showing in the high jump. Bobby Trotter led the broad jumpers and Bradell Pritchett unblemished a toss of 37-1 to remain unbeaten in the shot put.

Jim Nelson turned in a good performance in the discus.

Other double winners for Cranbrook were John Ogden with a 2:04.9. On a dry track he might have bettered the Wm. Field record of 2:03.8 set by John Jefferson of PCH in 1959.

Under the same conditions, the mile record of 4:30.1 set by Rem Purdy of Grosse Pte. in 1959 might have been broken by Kaines. The Waterford runner has consistently been under 4:30 this spring.

The Skippers' victory in the 880 relay was one of the deciding factors in the meet. The 1:35.4 was the best time for Waterford. Waterford runner has consistently been under 4:30 this spring.

Cranbrook posted an 81 1/8th to 36 5/8th win over Windsor Kennedy Tuesday.

Tod Williams won the low hurdles and shot put for the Cranbrook.

Annual Pontiac Press Fish Contest Opens Saturday

Midnight Prowlers on Area Trout Lakes

Pike, Bass, and Bluegills Also Eligible; Weight Is Considered

Saturday is an important day for Oakland County fishermen. The trout and pike season opens April 29 and so does the annual Pontiac Press Fishing Contest. The start of the contest has been moved up six weeks over previous years.

The reason is the addition of a new class. For the first time in Press contest history, rainbow trout will become eligible. Northern pike, bass and bluegills are the other categories.

A $50 U.S. Savings Bond will be awarded to the anglers bringing in the heaviest pike and black bass before the contest closes Sept. 17, two days after the close of the regular trout season. Bonds of $25 each will be the reward for turning in the heaviest rainbow and bluegill.

Following are the contest rules:

1. The contest will begin Saturday, April 29, and close Sept. 10.
2. Oakland County residents are the only fishermen eligible.
3. The fish must be caught in Oakland County.
4. Fish taken in private lakes, ponds, streams or commercially operated waters are not eligible.
5. All entries must be brought to The Pontiac Press sports department for weighing. Pictures will be made of new leaders in each class or unusual catches.

The entries will be accepted in the sports department 30 days a day through Friday from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. and on Saturday from 7 a.m. to noon. No entries will be accepted on Sunday.

Although Pontiac Lake is open to black bass fishing all year, no entries will be accepted in this division until the regular season starts June 17.

Bluegills, rainbows and pike become eligible Saturday. There is no closed season on bluegills. Rainbows were added to the contest because of the number of lakes in the county containing this trout. Several streams are also stocked each year. The increasing number of rainbows caught in Oakland County during the last couple of years was another deciding factor.

To give fishermen some idea what has won in the past, here are last year's prize winners:

Daryl Lattance, Waterford, 12 pound 6 ounce northern pike; Robert C. Yeatz, Pontiac, 7 pound 12 ounce black bass; Dick Bloom, Holy 11 pound 5 ounce bluegill. Yeatz's bass was the second largest ever entered in the contest.

No angler can win more than one division.

Plan Archery Banquet

The annual Multi-Lakes Conservation Association's archery league banquet will be May 13 at the Detroit Inn. Trophies will be presented to the winning teams and individuals.

About 11:30 p.m. Friday night, boats will begin plowing through the waters of several Oakland County Lakes.

"This is the place," a hushed voice will say. Two soft splashes will indicate that fore and aft anchors have been sent to the bottom, about 20 feet below the keel.

At 12:01 a.m. Saturday, a few minutes later, lines will be dropped over the side and sent to the bottom. Hooks on the ends of the lines will be baited with worms, nightcrawlers, crawfish, wigglers, minnows, salmon eggs or other morsels.

Some will use spoons, spinners and flies.

Other fishermen will be slipping through the woods or quietly easing riverboats into position on streams and lakes by gliding up miles north of Pontiac. These hardy souls, the vanguard of the 100,000 anglers who will begin appearing at sunrise, will use essentially the same equipment and bait as their brethren in Oakland County.

The 1961 trout season will be officially under way.

Because of the opening day tradition, the bulk of the trout fishermen will be caught in the Huron River.

The Clinton River, between the state hatchery and M3, has been planted. So have several smaller streams.

Special regulations apply at the Bald Mountain, Davisburg and Fenton trout ponds. Fishing hours are from one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset. Only flies can be used and the daily limit is two trout. The fish must be at least 10 inches long.

Streams in Northern Michigan should be in peak condition unless the rain continues. Flies and bait will be the big producers.

Early brown stone flies fished wet on No. 14 hooks are good possibilities. So is the larger No. 10 stone fly creeper. A few duns should hatch, helping the dry fly purists. Bucktails and streamers are good early season lures.

The bait fishermen, however, probably will make the best catches. They always seem to get the big ones opening weekend.

Three Changes on Commission

Scholle Is Among Trio Named to Conservation Governing Board

LANSING — Three new men — August Scholle, Harry H. Whiteley, and E. M. Laitala — have been appointed to Michigan's Conservation Commission by Governor Swainson.

If their appointments are confirmed by the Senate, Scholle will succeed Laurence F. Gotschall. Whiteley will replace George A. Griffith, and Laitala will fill the post of Peter J. Calaterra on the seven-man governing body of the Conservation Department. Their terms expire April 1, 1967.

Scholle is president of the Michigan AFL-CIO Council. Whiteley publishes the Proquest, a weekly newspaper, at Rogers City. He is a nephew of the late Harry H. Whiteley who served on the Commission from 1927 to 1949. Laitala is editor of a Finnish newspaper at Hancock.

Griffith, a retired field representative for Wayne Knitting Mills of Fort Wayne, Indiana, has served on the Commission since 1950. He lives at Grayling.

Gotschall has been a member of the Commission since 1949. He taught high school for more than 20 years prior to his retirement at Baldwin.

Calaterra also joined the Commission in 1949. He is the founder and owner of a distributing company with headquarters at Norway where he lives.

ermen will lead north. But many will fish near home — probably with better results — for one reason or another.

Oakland County offers trout enthusiasts from 19 to 13 lakes containing rainbows. The county also has eight streams planted with brooks, browns and rainbows.

Three special trout ponds add to the opportunities. Neighboring Lapeer County has its share of fine lakes and streams.

Area lakes that will get the most attention Saturday and Sunday are Orchard, Osborn, Union, Elizabeth, Mace, Crooked, Schoolhouse and Deer.

Anglers trying Mace will find lake trout roaming the same areas as rainbows this time of year. As the water gradually warms, lake trout will head for the deepest holes. Rainbows usually range from 20 to 40 feet. Early in the season trout often frequent shallow depths.

The Huron River is stocked in three locations. The Clinton River, between the state hatchery and M3, has been planted. So have several smaller streams.

Special regulations apply at the Bald Mountain, Davisburg and Fenton trout ponds. Fishing hours are from one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset. Only flies can be used and the daily limit is two trout. The fish must be at least 10 inches long.

Streams in Northern Michigan should be in peak condition unless the rain continues. Flies and bait will be the big producers.

The bait fishermen, however, probably will make the best catches. They always seem to get the big ones opening weekend.

New York Woman Takes WIBC Lead

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Mrs. Erma Kraft, rolling with Lusher's Tornadoes of Rochester, N.Y., took over all the events last Monday with 1,786 in the Women's International Bowling Congress Tournament.

Mrs. Kraft, mother of two children, rolled 660 in doubles after a 355 in team event and 371 in singles. She needed—and made—a spare and a strike in the final frame in doubles competition to nose out Betty Kuczyński of Chicago by one pin.

Mrs. Kraft and Peg Martin combined for 1,224 in doubles. They were good enough to slip into second place in that division. Both women are bowling instructors.

Shooting Preserves Still Not Prospering

LANSING (AP) — After three longer and where most successful, preserves didn't begin to make money until the third or fourth year in business.

Most preserves are closed to the public, open to shooting only on a membership basis or by other special arrangements. Twenty are pay-as-you-go operations available for public shooting.

Those who are making money seem to be those who are recruiting customers from business and industry," said P. S. Stuewer, who looks after the program for the State Conservation Department.

"Those who are looking for the daily fee shooter coming down the road are having a heck of a time getting off the ground," he said.

Most preserves concentrate solely on raising pheasants. Half a dozen or so release ducks as well and a few deal with smaller birds.

Last year, 25,616 pheasants were released and 16,256, or 63 per cent, were shot. A moderate increase was reported this year.

Depending on the size of the preserve, a certain percentage of birds released must be permitted to go free as targets for hunters on public lands.

Shooters knocked down about 8,700 ducks this year, the same as in 1960.

"Michigan hunters don't seem to be inclined so much to pay for their shooting as they are in some other states," said Stuewer. "They are willing to spend considerable money to hunt deer, but not to hunt small game."

Michigan's vast public hunting range, considerably larger than most other midwest states, is probably the chief reason, Stuewer said.

The legislature took steps two years ago to encourage preserve shooting, lengthening the season so that it could open on Sept. 15 and increasing the percentage of birds that may be shot.

Stuewer figures that the next year or two probably will be the years of decision for most operators. Many of those who still aren't making any money at the end of the 1963 season likely will close their gates and look for a more profitable business, he said.

Nesting Season Under Way

The weather (AP) now and June 15 will greatly influence Michigan pheasant hunting next fall.

"The spring nesting period is crucial," says Charles Shick, Michigan State University wildlife specialist. "Cold wet weather can mean many lost nests and a heavy death rate for young birds."

Hens will start building nests soon. They look for covered areas, especially near fence rows. They sit on their eggs for 23 to 24 days before hatching in late May and early June. A few may hatch as late as July.

Each nest usually has 10 to 12 eggs. Nine to 11 of these hatch on the average, but only half of the new chicks survive until fall.

The hen hatches her eggs with no help from her husband.

She raises one brood each summer. If her eggs are destroyed, she usually tries again and again until she has that brood. This often happens when nests are ruined by the first cutting in hay fields.

Boys Club Members Try Smelt Dipping

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Writer, Pontiac Press

EAST TAWAS—Members of the Pontiac Boys Club found the fishing to be fair or poor, depending on what they were after, in Northern Michigan last weekend.

The boys traveled to the Alpena area by bus Saturday for some smelt dipping. Sunday found them unloading their fishing equipment here at the state boat dock that reaches out into Tawas Bay.

"The smelt dipping was only fair," said Cressie Larson, the club's executive director, "but I understand we had much better luck than anyone around Tawas."

"The boys dipped two milk cans full. They say the smelt didn't run in this area last night."

Larson watched his charges bundle up against the chill wind blowing inland from Lake Huron before they headed out on the dock in hopes of getting a can or two of perch.

"I promised the boys they could go fishing on this trip," said the director. "The weather isn't the best, but they insisted on holding me to my promise."

About 15 people were dangling worms and minnows in the ice green water when the boys arrived on the dock. Only a handful of perch had been taken. Those in the pails were nice ones, however, measuring 9 to 13 inches.

Boys Club members found the fishing hadn't improved.

The smelt run that had materialized earlier in the week in the Tawas River, Whitney Drain (singing bridge) and at Bear Track stopped Saturday. About 1,000 hardy anglers wielded their long-handled nets in these locations Saturday night only to return home with few if any smelt.

The skies turned overcast Sunday afternoon and the temperature began dropping. A small run started up the Whitney Drain about 3 p.m. One Saginaw couple, dipping from shore, took a bucket full in about an hour. Most of the fish were females, 6 to 8 inches long.

Only a handful were dipping at the time, but everyone was getting a smelt or two per dip. A stronger run appeared about 11 p.m. Sunday.

Two pike, both loaded with eggs and weighing about six pounds each, found themselves in wire smelt nets. Both were released.

The run is expected to begin tapering off toward the end of this week.

There should be some moving up stream this weekend. Trout fishermen might think about taking a net along. It might keep some of them from coming home empty handed.

Smelt are selling at 10 cents a pound in the area of the Tawas. Suckers being lifted from the Rifle River at Omer can be purchased at stream-side for 13 cents per pound.

The sucker run has dropped off, but a few of the big, square nets are dropped into the water each night.

Streams flowing into Lake Huron between Omer and Alpena are slightly above mid-season levels because of the rain. The water is very discolored.

A couple of dry days is all that will be needed to make trout streams low and clear, a condition not seen this early for many years.

Fly fishermen will like these conditions.

Northerns, Walleyes State 'Deer King' Faster With Buck Than on Trigger

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's self-style "deer king" was sure enough a fast man with a buck, says the State Conservation Department. But he bought rather than shot his buck last year, the department weekend.

Everett E. Tucker, head of the department's enforcement division, said Charles Dougan, 50, of Haslet, is free on $150 bond pending arraignment in justice court at Kingsford, Dickinson County, on a charge of illegal purchase of a deer.

Tucker said Dougan has appeared on television shows and been featured in newspapers as Michigan's "Deer King." He claimed to have shot 33 bucks in 33 years of hunting, Tucker said.

Ray Nord of Harwood has been arrested for selling the deer to Dougan, Tucker said, and admitted the sale for $80. Tucker said Dougan also is charged with illegal possession of a bear carcass.

Dougan will be arraigned on the deer charge at Kingsford May 8.

Beetles Are Exhibited

Beetles are featured in a new exhibit at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford.

Thirteen odd and interesting-shaped beetles are displayed which might be discovered in a person's yard or anywhere else in Southeastern Michigan.

Forest Fire Toll Up in State This Year

Michigan's hopes for another record season in forest fire control went up in a puff of smoke during the week ending April 16.

The weekend's assortment of pouring rains and blanketing snow came too late to check fires which rampaged during 1.25 acres during the April 16-16 period. As a result, the state's 1961 fire toll rose to 3,084 acres, some 100 acres above last year's all-time low.

New Packaging Plant to Locate in Rochester

Area Must Raise $30,000 to Be Certain of Aerosol

By DON FERMOYLE

ROCHESTER — A $700,000 aerosol packaging company will be the first new industry to locate here through the efforts of the Rochester Area Development Corp. (RADCO).

Although negotiations are not yet completed, RADCO officials today reported the proposed acquisition of the custom canning plant as their first major success in a drive to draw new industry to this area.

The exact site of the plant—which would be used for the manufacture of pressurized metal dispensers—will be disclosed at a later date, according to Thurley E. Allen, RADCO president.

"We expect to have preliminary agreements negotiated within 30 days," Allen stated.

RADCO, an organization formed by the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce specifically for the purpose of attracting industrial developments such as the canning plant, now is launching a drive to raise $30,000 in the community.

"There is a requirement by the Small Business Administration that $50,000 be raised in the community," Allen explained. "Approximately $30,000 of that amount already is available."

John Patterson, financial chairman of the plan, said that RADCO, said $30,000 in the form of subscriptions was received at the RADCO stockholder's meeting where plans for the proposed company were approved.

Under the plan, the plant would be purchased by RADCO, mortgaged by the Small Business Administration and sold on a lease-purchase arrangement to the proposed Rochester Aerosol Corp.

Operating capital then would be furnished by the new company.

Each subscriber to RADCO stock or debentures will have the opportunity to purchase common stock in the Rochester Aerosol Corp.

MAKE STOCK OFFER Although $30,000 must be raised in the Rochester area, offers to purchase stock already have come from investors in Detroit, New York and Toronto, RADCO officials said.

Resides giving residents of the community an opportunity for local investment, the plant would provide jobs for about 25 persons and broaden the tax base of the Rochester-Aerosol Township area.

RADCO spokesmen, who believe that the canning plant will be the first in a series of new industries drawn here through their organization, pointed out that this type of manufacturing concern would diversify the industry of this area.

The metal containers which would be manufactured at the plant are the type used to dispense hair sprays, insecticides and household cleaners.

Other top officials of RADCO are William Mitchell, vice president; L. Rex Bobart, secretary; and Neil Hartwig, treasurer.

Men Rule Congress of Parents, Teachers Man Accused on Check Count

By JOE SINGLETON

The men have "taken over" the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers now holding its 44th annual convention at the Pick-Fort Shelby Hotel, Detroit.

Four men were elected to top posts in the congress, one an Oakland County resident, in yesterday's election.

Clifford H. Smart, superintendent of schools at Walled Lake, was elected treasurer.

A. B. Haist, of Saginaw, was elected vice president of Region B; H. Carl Spiller, of Potosky, vice president of Region B; and Herbert A. Auer, of East Lansing, vice president of Region E.

These four men join Otto Yarnall, now president of the congress, 26 men state board members, and 880 men presidents of PTA locals.

THIRD WORLD WAR

At a general session at the Cass Technical High School auditorium last night, Dr. Lynn N. Nicholas, professor, department of educational administration, Wayne State University, spoke to the group on the topic, "Pointing the way."

"Whether we know it or not, we are engaged in a third world war," Nicholas said.

Nicholas asserted that in our struggle with the Communists in the space and scientific race, "whoever has the knowledge has the world at his feet."

With the theme of the congress being "Challenges of the 60s," Nicholas presented three major challenges to the group.

"Can we provide equal opportunities for all people in our society?" was Nicholas' first challenge, citing as examples the Supreme Court decisions barring racial segregation in public schools.

"Can we provide higher education for our youth and adults?" was Nicholas' second challenge citing the needs for community colleges.

POINTS OUT SERVICES

In stressing the needs for community colleges, Nicholas pointed out the services that these colleges should render, which were:

To provide two years of training for students not able to enroll in regular four-year colleges; to provide terminal course for students who are not interested in four years of college; and to provide semi-professional type training for unemployed workers separated from their jobs.

Other services of the community colleges are to provide for leisure time pursuits; to provide training for active and healthy adults or senior citizens who are enrolling in colleges to learn new skills after retirement and to help out the need for improved guidance and counseling for children in secondary education since the National Defense Education Act of 1958.

The last challenge Nicholas put to the group was, "Can we achieve needed excellence in our schools?" and then he asked whether children with high IQ's can be educated and still encouraged to achieve according to their respective abilities.

"Education is our first line of defense, and we neglect it at our own peril," Nicholas concluded.

The 44th annual convention of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, which started Monday, will conclude its session with a banquet tonight at 6:30 at Cobo Hall.

Union Issue on Ballot

MUSKOGEE (UPI)—The Muskogee City Commission last night placed on the June 12 ballot the controversial issue of whether city employees will be allowed to join unions.

A 30-year-old Detroit man, accused of cashing a series of bad checks in Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties, was in the County Jail here today following his arrest by Romeo state police.

Being held on a charge of uttering and publishing a counterfeit check was David F. Sylvester, who has been bound over to Circuit Court by Avon Township Justice of the Peace Luther C. Green.

Green set bond for Sylvester at $400 and ordered him to appear in Circuit Court at 1:30 p.m. Monday. Sylvester was jailed after failing to meet his bond.

Cp. Henry A. DeLoft of the Romeo State Police Post said the total amount of checks allegedly cashed by Sylvester was unknown since they turned up in three counties.

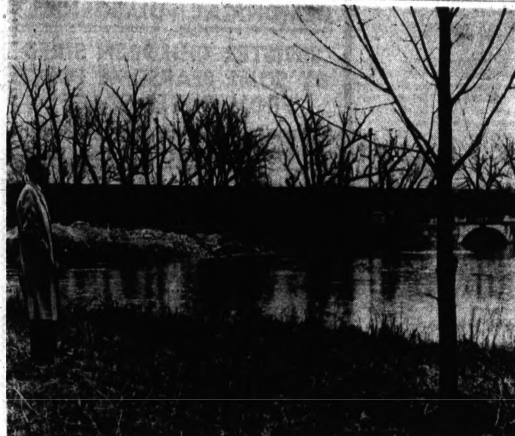

ARRESTED AT HOME

According to one estimate, about 28 worthless checks with Sylvester's name signed to them have been reported so far, DeLoft said. Most of them were made out for $10 and $20.

Officers from the Romeo post, who had been seeking Sylvester since the A&P Supermarket in Rochester reported receiving a bad check Feb. 17, arrested him at his home in Detroit.

When apprehended, police said Sylvester couldn't see why the bank wouldn't cover the checks.

Although there was no money in the account, Sylvester told police the bank should have given him some consideration since he had done business there for a long time.

VIEWS PARK SITE—Milford Village Manager Oliver Taylor inspects the Huron River waterway where the village intends to develop a 14-acre park, complete with swimming pool, tennis courts, baseball diamond, pavilion, tot lot and docking facilities. The site is owned by the village.

14 Acres North of Huron River

Park Planned by Milford

By JIM LONG

MILFORD — Plans for a 14-acre waterfront park development here were announced today by Village Manager Oliver Taylor.

The recreation site will be developed on village-owned property north of the Huron River and immediately west of Main street.

The area, much of it now swampy woodland, is used in part for the storage of village equipment and salt.

Plans for the park already have been developed by Munson Associates of Roseville, landscape architects, to design final drawings of the proposed park in two or three weeks.

However, revised drawings will be submitted by the firm in several weeks, according to Taylor, as a result of the recent acquisition by the village of additional land adjacent to the proposed park area.

The general layout of the park won't change greatly with the additional land, but it will give planners more area to design facilities without being cramped," the manager explained.

Included in the tentative park plans are a swimming pool, tennis courts, a tot lot, pavilion, baseball diamond, shuffleboard deck and parking facilities and picnic areas.

Taylor said he believes preliminary work, such as filling in the swamp area and leveling low ground, could begin in late spring.

Much of the fill dirt, Taylor said, will be obtained from a high area behind the department of public works garage next to the park area. Other fill will be taken from the river shore by dredging.

TO RAISE DAM Permission to raise the dam at the Master Plastics Co. in order to lower the river so dredging can be accomplished with a minimum of effort has been granted by the plant's supervisor, Emmett Ellis.

Total cost of the park project has not been determined by the village, according to Taylor. However, $2,500 for preliminary work at the park was budgeted this year.

Taylor said that the village, however, is an enviable position because a surplus of $30,000 is anticipated at the end of the next fiscal year, a portion of which could be used for the park development.

The village has one other park within its boundaries, a one-block square tract near the fire hall on South Milford Road.

The park project was first proposed last fall by the 9-member Village Planning Commission.

One result of the extended and deepened approach has been inter-county cooperation and coordination between county extension agents and other agencies, MSU reports.

The depth approach off-campus is just beginning, Henneman said, but plans for some future activities have not advanced beyond the talking stage yet.

One of the more important landmarks in the new trail was a series of beef cattle meetings earlier in the year in Kalamazoo, Blissfield, Lapeer and Alma.

In each area, cattlemen spent 20 hours in class. High Henderson, MSU animal husbandry specialist, said the entire course covered 16 subject areas—in feeding nutrition, physiology, disease and parasite control, building, outlook and management.

Some 516 cattlemen attended, he said, and some were talking about next year's program before they left.

"Incidentally," Henderson added.

To Fete Teachers Retiring From Clawson Schools

CLAWSON — The Clawson Education Association, a district of the Michigan Education Association, will hold a business meeting and a tea in honor of retiring teachers in Clawson High School May 2 at 4 p.m.

About 130 teachers and administrators are expected to attend.

The meeting will center around a discussion of hospitalization insurance and a report from the delegate to the MEA Representative Assembly, held in Lansing April 14-15.

Retiring from the school system are Vera Clark, principal, Kenwood School; Lillian Darragh, third grade teacher, MacDonald School; Evangeline Locke, kindergarten teacher, Hunter School; and Mrs. Lee Briggs, seventh grade teacher, Clawson Junior High School.

Presiding at the meeting will be Richard Megathian, teacher at Clawson Junior High School, who is district president.

Association Approves Hospital Near Almont

ALMONT — The Women's Auxiliary of the Community Hospital near here recently was notified that its application for membership in the American Hospital Association has been approved.

Dr. Edwin L. Crosby, director of the association, informed auxiliary president Mrs. Robert Patton, that her organization is now fully qualified for Type V institutional membership.

This membership entitles the group to receive publications and other material of interest and to cooperate with other member organizations to make the hospital a more effective medical facility.

Mrs. Patton said.

Examination Set for Fire Chief in Theft Charge

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — Examination of Fire Chief Sam D. Mitchell, charged with embezzling road materials from the Oakland County Road Commission, will be held here at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Justice Court.

Mitchell demanded examination in his arraignment last night before Royal Oak Township Justice of the Peace Lonnie C. Cash. Mitchell was released on a $2,500 personal bond.

The fire chief is charged with using county asphalt to make a driveway at his home at 3079 Mitchelldale St.

He is accused of converting more than 20 tons of asphalt material to his own use between May 18, 1959, and Sept. 1, 1960. The material was valued at $1,000.

Mitchell still remains as fire chief and it is expected that the Township Board will take some action in the matter when it meets at p.m. today.

Modern-Day Archeology Uncovers Old Pipelines

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You don't have to be an archeologist to uncover ruins from the past, city officials are learning.

Workers digging for a new steam line near Columbus' city center have run across railroad tracks, concrete machinery foundations, street pavement eight feet below the present street level, old pipeline and some griddstones.

COURTESY, AND QUALITY

Scouts for Waterford Teachers

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

New teachers are coming into the Waterford Township school system from all parts of the United States—not because of the salary—but because of the school district's educational advantages and the township's beauty.

This is the opinion of Donald Smith, who has traveled in 12 states seeking the best possible instructors to teach next year's anticipated 13,000 pupils in Waterford.

The school district's starting teacher salary of $4,000 is somewhat lower than that of surrounding areas due to the lack of an income tax base. Thus, the work of teacher recruiters has become at times one of frustration, Smith said.

For instance, Pontiac teachers last year started at a salary of $4,600. This has just been raised to $4,710 for a teacher with a bachelor's degree. Birmingham's teacher salary remains the same as last year at $4,600, and Royal Oak pays its teachers $4,750 to start.

The Bloomfield Hills Board of Education recently gave its teachers a $100 raise to $4,800. The board of education expects to set up a new teacher salary scale at a special meeting May 6.

Smith, who takes a leave of absence as Stringham School principal the second semester of the year and travels to accredited colleges to point out Waterford Township's advantages to prospective teachers, often has that salary problem to overcome.

He tells the prospective teachers about the continuing college training program, where an individual can improve his status right in the school system. Professors from Wayne State University, Eastern Michigan, the University of Michigan and Michigan State University Oakland have set up the program and bring entire libraries to the schools for greater convenience.

He also tells them of the modern facilities, of the new school buildings, of the young staff, of the availability of cultural projects and of the recreational opportunities.

CHECKS, THEN ACTS

An attempt to sell Waterford to a prospective teacher comes only after Smith has had a good look at the applicant's background.

A happy attitude toward children and fellow teachers, and enthusiasm for the profession as well as educational skill are sought by Smith.

"The supply and demand for teachers are unbalanced at the present time," Smith said. "For some reason, this year there are

Pilot Error Blamed for '59 Airline Crash

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) Tuesday blamed pilot error during a potentially dangerous maneuver for the crash of an American Airlines Boeing 707 jetliner during a training flight on Aug. 15, 1950.

All five crew members were killed in the accident, which occurred near Calverton, Long Island, N.Y.

The CAB said the crew failed to recognize and correct an excessive yaw that developed while the plane was practicing a landing with two engines on the same wing out, simulating 50 per cent power failure at low altitude.

24-Hour Delay in U.S. Test of Space Capsule

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A technical hitch today postponed for 24 hours the last scheduled test of America's man-in-space capsule before the first flight of an astronaut.

The launching at the civilian space agency's test center at Wallops Island, Va., now is planned for Thursday, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) spokesman said.

The test will hurl the empty capsule to an altitude of 35,000 feet, where its escape rocket will be fired to determine the astronaut's chances of survival should trouble develop at that altitude.

Tomorrow's test may determine whether the first manned launching, a suborbital downrange flight, can be carried out in an identical capsule at Cape Canaveral, Fla., next week as scheduled.

Noted Psychoanalyst Leaves Classes at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—The Michigan State University Psychology Department says Dr. Erich Fromm, internationally known psychoanalyst, author and lecturer, has canceled teaching assignments at MSU and left for his home in Mexico.

Dr. Louis McQuitty, head of the department, said Fromm was taken ill with a stomach ailment last week. The illness was not serious, McQuitty said, but Fromm's return to MSU was uncertain.

Soybean Futures Go Up and Down

CHICAGO (AP)—The nearby soybean futures rallied rapidly over a broad range today in heavy early dealings on the board of trade.

After opening as much as six cents higher, profit taking chopped prices hard and within a few minutes all the advance had been replaced by losses of a cent or so before meeting another flurry of support. The new crop month started with steep losses.

In the grain pits, one commission house was an active seller of the crop. The offerings opened up a question of steep loss liquidation and before it was absorbed, setbacks had run to about two cents. Wheat was in moderate demand.

Kennedy Considering Use of Force to Defeat Castro

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration is reported to be considering possible use of military force against the Castro regime in Cuba if other methods eventually fail to put an end to the island's pro-Communist rule.

Employment of force as a last resort is said to be one of several plans under study here for dealing with the Cuban crisis. Other plans include the application of political and economic sanctions against Cuba through joint action with Latin American allies.

Some officials believe that as the situation develops following the unsuccessful rebel invasion of the Western Hemisphere, other American governments might ultimately be willing to participate even in military operations against Cuba.

The United States is trying to convince them through diplomatic consultation that Cuba as a Communist base is a threat to the entire Western Hemisphere.

One of the possible lines of anti-Castro actions under consideration by President Kennedy are near final decision.

They include:
Naval blockade — In Kennedy's

view this would be an act of war and probably not a very effective move since a blockade is aimed at strangling a nation slowly.

Two Rhode Island Brothers 1st, Second in Idea Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — The Yankee ingenuity of two Rhode Island brothers won separate prizes for them today in a "best idea" competition sponsored by the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

They were Charles W. Utter, editor of the Westerly (R. I.) Sun, and his brother George, business manager.

The editor was winner in the under-15,000 circulation category and his brother, second.

Another New Englander, William F. Lacey, assistant publisher of the Lawrence (Mass.) Eagle and Tribune, winner in the 15,000-50,000 circulation category.

Charles Utter was faced with a photography problem. A ship on launching and his headline came too close together to permit getting of the competition.

Economic embargo — A partial embargo already is in effect. The greatest single diplomatic disadvantage of a total embargo is that it would subject the United States to propaganda charges of starving the Cuban people. Cubans still can buy foodstuffs and medicines from the United States.

Another anti-Castro operation by Cuban refugees — some authorities think such an action might still be the way out for the United States if the operation could be properly organized and supported on a large scale.

Kennedy reportedly is pleased with the success he has thus far achieved in rallying bipartisan political support for a tough and determined U. S. anti-Castro policy.

The latest evidence of this support came Tuesday from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a Republican party leader, who had just conferred with Kennedy for an hour.

He said he was in support of whatever action becomes necessary to defend freedom," Rockefeller said. He expressed the view that the presence of Castro in Cuba, considered in the light of the world developments generally, is a threat to the security of the United States.

His view appeared to give fresh meaning to a statement which Kennedy made in a speech last Thursday to the American Society of Newspaper Editors. He said then that if the inter-American doctrine of noninterference in the internal affairs of another country became merely an excuse for lack of action, the United States government "will not hesitate to protect the security of its own nation."

Prior to his meeting with Rockefeller, Kennedy had conferred with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and for Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara.

Words of backing also were relayed from former President Harry S. Truman, Eisenhower's Democratic predecessor, by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

After meeting with Truman in Kansas City Tuesday Johnson said Truman supports a "course of courage" in the handling of world crises.

SEKES ADVICE — In his talks with the leaders of both major political parties Kennedy is reported to have sought their advice on possible future U.S. actions toward Cuba. He also provided them with information on the collapse of the Cuban rebel assault.

The President also is understood to have discussed with them a number of other world trouble spots, including Laos and its Southeast Asian neighbor, Vietnam. But officials here no longer try to make any secret of the fact that the Washington government approved the operation and had in fact provided training, funds and weapons to make the assault possible.

One evident result is that the Kennedy administration is now publicly committed to the overthrow of Castro's rule. In its view Cuba has become a part of the worldwide Communist machine for conducting attacks on non-Communist nations by means of propaganda, subversion, infiltration and other cold war tactics.

While the search for a new anti-Castro strategy is occupying much time in the White House and State Department, indications are that Kennedy may be several weeks in coming to a decision on why the Cuban rebel assault failed and how mistakes of that operation can be avoided in the future.

Small Items Go Flowers and Cleaning Say It Is Spring

in Little Rooms

How can you make a small room look larger?

Many one-room dwellers try to cram into a small space objects of clutter, such as bulky Empire chests—provided by generous relatives perhaps—and other extraneous objects that aren't needed.

If you have a small room, take advantage of modern innovations when it comes to decorating. Don't buy or use something because you "always had it at home."

Limit furnishings to necessary objects. Choose light scaled convertible couch and chairs. Newer narrow drawer cabinet units offer space economy, and can hold clothes, silver, china. It's surface is useful for television, objects of art, a lamp, magazines.

Consider painting your floors the same color as the walls to make your room look twice as large.

A table may be more practical than a desk in a tiny room. It can be used for eating, writing, reading, and it's the ideal place to put the bright light. There are small, chic tables available suitable for the purpose. Some offer washability and are impervious to stains.

White formica can go with everything. Choose comfortable dining chairs that may double for company seating.

There should be a convenient place to store blankets, pillows, linens for the convertible bed so that closet space is not used up with all the bulky bedding. Newer cedar chests are ideal for the purpose. There are chests to match any decor: Early American, French Provincial, and some with an Oriental flair.

Grandmother took up the carpeting, hung the feather beds over the line and scrubbed the house with homemade soap.

Her granddaughter has the most attractive tools American designers can think up to use for her spring housecleaning.

Her vacuum cleaner is a lightweight one that cleans not only carpets, but draperies, Venetian blinds, furniture and bare floors.

She has a floor scrubber and polisher and a rug shampoo attachment. Her carpet sweeper can match the color of her kitchen.

The modern homemaker doesn't tear up old rags for cleaning. She buys terry cloth in a package for polishing. But she remembers that a chamomile is fine for some cleaning jobs.

When she dusts, she may use a soft duster on a stick that looks very much like a giant lollipop, even to color. Or she may use a fur-like mit that is machine washable. This comes with a matching smaller one for little daughter to use.

Her dust mop will be as bright as her duster. It will be chemically treated to pick up and hold dust, rather than scatter it around.

Cleaning may not be any more desirable, but it certainly is more colorful.

WHAT A JOB — Mrs. Kenneth Smalley and her two older daughters get set for spring housecleaning. But the thought of the job ahead is too much for them, even with good tools. Five-year-old Jill pats the vacuum cleaner, while three-year-old Kathy takes firm hold of the broom. Their younger sister, Lee Anne, was out of the way in her playpen. The Smalleys live on McClintock Road.

Wall to Wall Rug in Bath Is Luxurious

To prevent chill from bare feet on a cold floor, carpet the bathroom. The bath mat is usually on the towel rack out of reach, and a scatter rug centers on one fixture. Wall-to-wall carpet gives a real sense of luxury.

There is cotton carpeting that comes in sections, so it is easy to fit around fixtures and toss into the "washing machine. There are carpets of man-made fibers like nylon, saran and acrilan that are less absorbent and thus resist splashing from sink or shower.

Carpet belongs, too, in the adjoining dressing room to lend warmth. Since it is beyond the reach of spilled water, it can be any kind of carpet for a rich feel underfoot.

Spring-Cleaning Gear Makes too Heavy a Load

Before you embark on your spring-cleaning campaign, round up the various cleaners you generally use. Load them all on your kitchen or bathroom scales and see what the aggregate weight is.

Remember, you'll be lugging this weight around. And every pound registered on the scale represents an expenditure of energy above and beyond the amount you generally spend in the course of a day.

The more you tote, therefore, the wearier you'll be, come evening.

While you can't eliminate such invaluable aids as the vacuum cleaner, mop, broom and bucket, you can reduce your work load by cutting down on cleaners.

But you'll have to cease being a specialist . . . using a different product for every different job.

The more you tote, therefore, the wearier you'll be, come evening.

But you'll have to cease being a specialist . . . using a different product for every different job.

GET RESULTS

You'll find you can get excellent results with just four basic essentials . . . an all-purpose wax that can be used for both floors and furniture, a silver polish, a copper polish, and a box of sal soda concentrated.

The latter is a double-barrel cleaner that can be used in a solution for general soil removal, as well as dry as a scourer.

As a scourer, it does the work of an abrasive; yet unlike an abrasive it can't scratch since it contains no grit or sediment and is completely soluble in water.

So on all surfaces where soil has accumulated and hardened, apply the sal dry with a dampened brush or sponge.

All other surfaces, where it's just a matter of a thin film of soil, it's a solution of three table-spoons of the sal to the quart of warm water that you need.

This solution does well by the interior of clothes closets, kitchen cabinets, tile and linoleum floors, plastic, glass and porcelain surfaces.

Headwork Key to Saving Labor Around House

ST. PAUL (UPI) — Work with your head can save work with your hands, according to a University of Minnesota extension home-management specialist.

Mrs. Edna Jordahl urged homemakers to apply basic management principles and creative management to "lick time and energy problems."

She defined good management as the "best use of what you have to get the most of what you want."

Creative management, Mrs. Jordahl says, is taking a critical look at your own situation, analyzing your resources and then finding the best way of utilizing them, she said.

She suggested a five-part analysis to speed up work: analysis of you, your resources; the item under consideration; your tools and equipment; your method of work.

Bring Outdoors Inside

You don't need to be left out of the trend to porch and patio dining just because you haven't a porch or patio. And dining on the "terrace" does not have to be called on account of rain—or a change in seasons.

All you need to do is move the porch or patio or terrace indoors. It's a lot easier than it sounds at first.

It's a new decorating idea, inspired by the popularity of outdoor living and the informal charm of casual furniture. Hettrick, a leading manufacturer of casual furniture, has come up with some new hints for bringing outdoor dining indoors and keeping it there all year 'round. This makes it summer the year 'round too.

"A glass-topped metal dining table, surrounded by matching metal chairs can be the starting point for an unusual and attractive indoor patio," suggests Roy Niebling, Hettrick president. "It can be done on a small budget and in a small space, too."

"Wallpaper resembling bricks and window boxes on the interior—where you would expect to find them on the outside—can create an outdoor effect in any dinette, for example," Niebling continues. "Outdoor dining furniture against this background takes on all the charm of an outdoor setting in midsummer."

A glass-topped table makes it a terrace. An ice-cream table of wrought-iron mesh, on the other hand, turns the room into a sidewalk cafe.

"This is a particularly effective way to make the most of cramped space in a small apartment where a distinctive decorative touch—such as an indoor patio—can make the difference between a standard apartment and one with individual charm. It is also a way for young couples just starting out to join in the trend toward casual outdoor living even before they graduate to a suburban home with a porch or patio."

Wallpaper is just one way to give casual furniture an outdoor backdrop, the Hettrick president points out. A profusion of plants might be the answer or a picture window could provide a head start.

"Even if you already have a patio or lawn you might want to extend it on into the house—for weather insurance or for year-round use—by placing outdoor dining furniture just inside a picture window or glass door," Niebling suggests.

Draperies Made of Hard Plastic

The newest thing in draperies, room dividers or folding doors is a plastic traversing screen made by Jaylis Industries in California.

These draperies, made of thermo-plastic from Dow, can be had in a wide variety of solid colors or in custom-made multi-color designs. Each order is custom-made to fit the size of the opening.

The little squares of plastic which make up the accordion fold draperies remain cool to the touch in the hottest sun because of a high degree of reflectivity. Glare is eliminated, but filtered light comes through. Ventilation comes from the vertical slits where the draperies fold.

Whatever their use, these draperies are mounted on a track and pull smoothly. They are sold by the foot and are available locally.

Use Paper for Variety of Purposes

NEW YORK (UPI)—One day, historians may refer to this as the Paper Age as well as the Atom Age.

Paper manufacturers at a recent convention said that today the American housewife can hang her wash on a paper clothesline that will last for years.

She can carry home groceries in a bag that can be converted into a sailing toy for Junior.

And tomorrow, she may even live in a paper house.

One of the newest developments in the field is a twisted, knitted paper which can be boiled, washed or dry-cleaned and reused as many as 30 times.

It was developed by Ronald R. Marks, of Dallas, Tex. Dozens of possible uses for the knitted paper were mentioned — as substitutes for burlap, for parachutes, for wall decoration, hats, handbags, even heat-shielding materials for missiles.

The least number of tropical disturbances — from which hurricanes are spawned — recorded in the Gulf-Atlantic states in one season is two.

Mobile-Age Cleaner Can't Forget the Car

By MARJORIE EICHER
Women's Editor
The Pontiac Press

The ambitious spring-cleaning housewife will not overlook a place where people spend a lot of time—the interior of the family car. In the mobile age in which we live, this small area in which we spend many hours deserves special consideration.

Chief question seems to be who should do the job. Unresolved, the job is apt to go undone.

In most families inside household chores are definitely in the distaff domain, while the man of the house has charge of landscape duties and other exterior maintenance. Homemaking roles are changing, though, according to Michigan State University female research consultant Ruth Hill Useem.

"Outside the simple fact that the female of the species bears the offspring," she said, "There are not roles in modern society which we have that cannot be played by individuals of either sex."

The lady research consultant said there are already movements of men into roles traditionally assigned to women and movements of women into men's roles.

SHOULD HAVE PLAN

Just how the automobile cleaning chore fits into this picture is a matter for each family to decide. Whoever gets the job (and perhaps the best solution is to make it a project for the entire family) will find it easier and more pleasant if they proceed with a definite plan.

Begin with a thorough vacuuming. A brush will pick up most loose dirt, but a vacuum is needed to clean the hard-to-reach areas and to remove dust and dirt particles that have penetrated into seat backs and cushions.

Next comes the upholstery. A foam type cleaner will remove most ordinary dirt. Apply freely with a sponge and agitate in a circular motion with a soft bristle brush to raise a thick, uniform foam.

When the foam disappears, wipe thoroughly with a clean cloth or turkish towel. It is best to clean in sections, such as a complete door or cushion. Allow cushions to dry thoroughly before using them.

To remove stubborn stains caused by gum, oil, grease, tar, lipstick and similar materials, wet a piece of clean cheesecloth with a solvent cleaner and wring out the excessive fluid. Wipe the fabric with a lifting motion, experts suggest, working from the perimeter of the spot toward the center. Repeat the procedure with clean cheesecloth until the spot disappears.

Sun visors, instrument panel, toppling and rear window shelf are next. These are the dust and clutter catchers in every car.

Last interior item to check is the floor covering. Worn rubber matting should be replaced. Worn carpeting may be covered with floor mats, available in individual sections or in door-to-door.

Don't forget the trunk! Out of sight should not be out of mind. Replace the matting here if necessary, organize your regularly carried extras—flares, tools or what have you—and consider the possibility of covering that spare in a washable polythene spare tire cover that is now on the market.

Keep Cheery Mood With Shiny Interior

One way to have the inside of the house reflect the cheery mood of spring is to have the areas that are intended to shine, shine like the proverbial new penny.

Your regular spring cleaning routine will take you into nooks and crannies, closets, cupboards and drawers. It's those obvious areas, those that you're accustomed to looking at every single day, that may get slighted.

Light bulbs and fixtures are cases in point. Covered by a thick layer of dust, they'll dim the illusion of brightness, come nightfall or on dreary, grey days.

Dust bulbs well with a dry cloth. Immerse fixtures, if they'll fit, in a sinkful of hot water. You'll want to add a grease emulsifier, for it's a fine, invisible film of grease that's holding the dust in place.

Sal soda concentrated is an excellent product for this purpose. Add three tablespoons of it to the soak water and before you know it, dust slips its moorings and floats to the surface of the water.

Fancy, intricately-cut glass fixtures may need the assist of a toothbrush, and a little dry sal.

DON'T FEAR SCRATCHING

There's no need to fear scratching, for sal contains no grit or sediment and dissolves completely in water. If fixtures won't fit in the sink, sponge them inside and out with the sal soda solution, rinse and dry.

Decorative mirrors should likewise be kept spotless. If dulled by dust or smudged, they can't efficiently perform one of their primary functions . . . to give dark walls the illusion of brightness.

Here again, because of sal's power to cut grease, you'll find it helpful. Working from top to bottom, sponge mirror with a sal soda solution, rinse with fresh water and dry with a soft lintless cloth.

Your windows, which are, after all, the source of your daytime light, must be kept clear if your home is to enjoy the full benefit of the sun's cheery rays. And in spring, with all the rain, they cloud up faster than at any other time of the year.

You'll find if you apply the same technique to windows as you do to mirrors . . . the sal soda solution in a from-top-to-bottom pattern . . . the job will seem less formidable.

There's one last area to check and that's your TV screen. The youngsters' smudgy fingerprints, combined with a layer of dust, not only stare out at you when the set is off, but detract from your viewing clarity when the set is on.

Once again, a quick sponge-off with a sal solution, quickly remedies the situation. Just make sure the sponge is well wrung out when cleaning as well as rinsing so that water doesn't seep into the mechanism.

Write Their Name

It won't be long before the children pack up their gear for camp. If the thought of sewing on hundreds of name tags wears you out, get a set of marking pens. Three of these come in one package and are said to work on any kind of surface.

Fabric Names Have Ancient History

Many upholstery fabrics in general use today are still identified by name-types which originated centuries ago. Here is a list of the more popular ones.

Most of these are woven of any of a variety of yarns today. Weaves also may be developed in textured yarns that add to the design interest.

BROCADE—Denotes a pattern which appears to be embroidered on the surface of satin, damask or twill weave. Real silver and gold threads were used in the ancient fabrics. Today synthetic, tarnish proof threads give us the same glitter effect.

It is thought European weavers learned the art from the Persians, who learned from the Chinese. The French word brocher meaning a kind of embroidery is the basis for the term brocade.

BROCADELLE—The large raised or embossed pattern, is created by linen or other heavy threads on the back. They are pulled tighter than the face threads to create the raised pattern. The fabric originated in the 13th Century and is thought to have been in imitation of tooled leathers which were very popular.

CHINTZ—A fine cotton weave with printed pattern in many or few colors. It originated in India and the word comes from Sanskrit chitra meaning spotted. Today, for upholstery, chintz is often quilted, with a chain embroidery stitch around certain parts of the pattern.

CREWEL—Wool embroidery in large pattern of flowers, vines and birds in many colors on heavy unbleached cotton or linen.

Originated in the early 16th Century. The designs complement Early American furniture and are now often printed as well as embroidered.

TAPESTRY—A heavy woven fabric with multi-colored pattern, achieved by inserting colored threads for the pattern only. Formerly made of wool, now generally made of heavy cotton. Tapestries are among the oldest known textile types.

The form of weaving dates back to the fifth Century. They depicted scenes and during the middle ages were used to cover walls, for beauty and extra insulation.

TRAPUNTO—A design outlined and quilted on plain fabric, such as heavy satin. The pattern is filled or stuffed on the reverse side. Originated in Italy as a means of displaying family crests on chair backs, spreads and valances.

Citrus Colors

Harry Truman never wore a brighter shirt than the one displayed locally — only this one is for very small boy. The shirt is printed all over with pictures of oranges, lemons and limes. Even the small fry must bow to the popular colors each year.

Take It Along

Each year at this time one famous perfume house brings out its special summer fragrance in an exciting package. Called a "Cruise Kit" this year, it comes in a cardboard suitcase.

Get Outdoor Grill Ready for That First Steak

Outdoor barbecue time is upon us again. With any kind of break in the weather, this season can be extended for 6 months. The rest of the year you either bundle up like an Eskimo or you transfer your operations indoors.

There are just two limitations on the size grill that you buy; money to pay for it and space in which to use it.

The smallest grills are rectangular folding ones. They cook hamburgers that taste as good as the ones grilled over the most elaborate equipment. A medium size hibachi has levers to raise or lower the cooking surface.

A handy appendage to some of this year's grills is a table. It hooks onto one side of the grill and is supported by a leg on the other side. The cook has a place to put down his tongs, his basting spoon and his potato holders.

A cover to pull over the grill keeps it clean and ready for use. Smaller grills, of course, are just tucked away in a storage unit.

If your present grill has a rotisserie attachment, you can get chicken baskets, roto shish kabobers and wienie wheels for it. Each one slips into the grill in place of the rotisserie.

An aluminum king size spatula with a long handle will let you turn hamburgers without getting close to the heat. When you're barbecuing, make use of the set that combines a covered pan for the sauce and three aluminum shakers. Two of the shakers are for salt and pepper; the third one is for water to control the flames.

Charcoal comes in blocks impregnated with wax which starts to burn quickly. There is liquid fire starter and an aluminum container that is supposed to get the fire going faster. You keep your charcoal in a scuttle.

A net umbrella will keep flies off the food. You can surround yourself with a forest of sticks in the ground that hold glasses, ash trays or hurricane yard lights.

Pressed Glass Comes to Town

To anyone who has ever gone to an antique auction pressed glass is an old friend. And antique shops are full of it. In the late 18th and 19th centuries pressed glass was in vogue throughout the settled part of America.

Some of the old companies are still in business. In a few cases modern companies have bought out old ones and are using some of the original molds.

It is fitting that in Pontiac's Centennial year colored pressed glass is being sold. One store has a large line of it in shades of amber and amethyst. The Tiffin glass people in Ohio—a glass-producing area of long standing—are making bowls, footed compotes, vases, pitchers, little baskets and courting lamps.

The courting lamps are so popular that they don't stay long in the store. They're fitted for kerosene, complete with wick.

Pressed glass have never gone out of style; perhaps it will become a new rage in Pontiac.

Bride-to-Be Has Music on Her Mind---Lohengrin

By MARJORIE EICHER
Women's Editor
The Pontiac Press

Spring belongs to brides. More than ever the spring wedding is increasing in favor. And spring belongs to the bride-to-be, too, for she is immersed in all the details of preparing for the most exciting period of her life.

There is more to getting married than saying "I do." Ready to help relieve some of the strain that accompanies every important occasion is the new "Bride's Book of Etiquette," just published by Grossett & Dunlap, New York. Prepared by the editors of The Bride's Magazine, the book serves as a guide for the girl who wants to plan "the perfect wedding."

How to announce the good news (including a little story with the theme "how to make life easier for the society editor"), the whys and wherefores of wedding customs, guides for every possible type of wedding, reception suggestions—these and a myriad of other situations are well covered in clear terms in this illustrated 168-page book.

The check lists and diagrams alone make it an invaluable aid for the bride-to-be and her mother.

Here at The Pontiac Press we write accounts of well over 500 weddings a year. We expect this number to increase over the next few years as the crop of "war babies' marries.

In order to help us do a good job with your wedding story we have a few requests—that you secure one of our wedding forms early, fill it out completely and LEGIBLY (it helps to have it typed—at least print the names.). Let us have it with your wedding picture in advance of the wedding, if possible.

PICTURE DEADLINE

Be sure, however, to instruct your photographer to have the picture in our hands no later than three days after the wedding. It makes us sad to be unable to print a bride's picture with her story, for we truly believe this is the most exciting day of her life.

The fashion path is strewn with elegance this season as far as bridal finery is concerned. Floating skirts, ethereal fabrics, basque bodices and bateau necklines are all high in popularity.

Veils are short and the Swedish crown is still the favorite headpiece. If you're among the fortunate few to have an heirloom veil in the family, of course you'll wear it with joy.

Campus marriages are on the increase, too, and a whole new pattern of life has emerged in college towns as a result of this. From housing to entertainment, from finances to fulfilling educational commitments, the campus marriage presents challenges that are unique.

Everybody loves a bride. Witness the tender smiles when the wedding procession toots down the street. Along with the staring tip-toeing kiddies and the hand-holding "steadies," we love you young lovers whoever you are, and we hope to be here to write about your golden wedding day!

A WELL-GROOMED GROOM — Keying his clothing selection to his bride's choice of formality, today's bridegroom selects a club coat with striped trousers for the semi-formal wedding taking place before 6 p. m. With it he may select a white or gray vest. The American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear offers advice on proper attire for the male for any type of wedding.

SERENE ON HER DAY OF DAYS — The bride who has pre-planned each detail of her wedding, be it simple or elaborate, can approach her wedding day with the serenity such an important occasion requires. A new "Bride's Book of Etiquette" has just been

Put Loving Thought Into Choice of Gift

You have to buy a wedding present. For some people that is a permanent state of affairs, especially the young.

Brides do sign bridal registers and indicate what they would like. But if you are an individualist, you will want to pick out something pretty special yourself.

Skip the obvious linens, dishes, and silver and look farther. Look, for instance, at some silver bowls with colored enamel interiors. They're exquisite and will endear you to the young couple. Presenting beauty is a gracious thing to do.

If the sight of a cord dangling below an electric clock bothers you, look for electric wall clocks that run on flashlight batteries. Looking, if you don't know the They're downright mysterious secret.

By the way, they would be a good clock to have in that cabin up north that doesn't have electricity.

Gifts with a dual purpose are always nice. Examine the round brass tray that comes with a walnut table just its size. Use the tray alone or use it as a coffee table. The tray is deep so that anything placed on it won't spill off.

Some folks can't keep house without ashtrays. Giving a young couple several BIG handsome ones will take care of that problem. You can get them to match any style room.

A teakettle is a utilitarian article, but when it is a polished brass teakettle, it's something special.

Summer Time Calls for Games

Tennis, anyone?

If all the other available games are played, there won't be many people left for tennis.

After golf has taken its toll, those remaining at home have a wide choice of amusements.

Croquet has been more or less popular for nearly two centuries since it was first played in Ireland. In addition to the standard sets, you can get plastic ones for children.

Horseshoes demand little in the way of equipment, once you have the horseshoes. Again, there are plastic ones for youngsters who can throw these with less danger to themselves and others.

There are flying saucers and boomerangs. There's a Wiffle ball that curves when you throw it. How about badminton?

If you want archery sets, you have a choice of wood, fiberglass or metal bows and several kinds of arrows.

One of the games on the market this year makes use of a new fastening device used on some clothing. Velcro fastening tape is a combination of micro-scope hooks and loops which stick to one another.

A back drop with the picture of a ball catcher is set up. Balls having narrow strips of this Velcro stuck around them can be thrown at the back stop; when they hit, they'll stick.

Relax in the Tub

Relax in the tub before that big date. There's a bath head rest on the market that fastens to the tub with small suction cups. Just put your head back and take it easy for a little while.

Summer Furniture Encourages Ease

Outdoor living has become so important to Americans that there are whole departments and even whole stores devoted to furniture for the porch, the patio, the terrace and the yard.

You have your choice of wood, metal or man-made material. Redwood is the most lasting wood for this purpose, although many picnic tables have been made of pine. These need only a sealer coat to keep them in good shape for years.

There's a redwood table with an attached seat that folds up and becomes a park bench. It folds flat for storage. Other redwood picnic tables have the conventional benches.

You can get a redwood cart on which to put the grill; it can double as a serving table if your grill is large enough to sit on the ground. One store shows wood slats for the seat and back.

Much of the furniture has aluminum frames. But some are made completely of metal. One white metal swing has flowered cushions and matching canopy.

Another white painted set is wood. This includes a lounge, chair and coffee table. All have green trim.

There are folding camp stools and children's chairs in natural wood. Another piece of furniture for the youngsters is a wooden lounge with a canvas cover.

Plastic webbing is used on much of the outdoor furniture. This is impervious to water and needs only to be dried off after a rain. It comes in many colors which make the patio or lawn as gay as a butterfly.

One company is making this lawn furniture with a combination of plastic webbing and plastic tubing, woven together. Other pieces of furniture have only the plastic tubing.

This year there are a number of folding aluminum cots. These are lightweight and can be used at home or carried to the beach or on camping trips. Some have only pads; others have foam mattresses.

Umbrella tables make outside eating more pleasant. You have your choice of two kinds of tablecloths. One is fitted oilcloth, one with fringe. This you put on the table before inserting the umbrella. The other has a zipper from the edge to the center and can be removed without interfering with the umbrella.

A separate umbrella with a clamp on the end of the handle can be fastened to the back of a glider or even a chair.

Hammocks are not out of style. Pontiac stores have both the woven kind and one made of plastic. They can be used between trees or with a stand.

Keep Rugs Mended

If you mend damaged areas as soon as they appear in a favorite rug, you can give that rug a longer life, according to a new Cornell University Extension Bulletin on care of rugs and carpets. The bulletin reminds homemakers that frayed ends of a rug should be bound.

American Eagle Is Popular in Homes

NEW YORK — The American Eagle—that revered and honored bird—is again spreading his wings and invading the home furnishings field. With the current revival of American Federal furniture, this invasion was to be expected. As a decorative motif, the eagle—carved, painted or inlaid—symbolizes the period.

Historically, the Federal period spans the years immediately following the Revolution to the early 19th Century—a time of growth and expansion for the new nation. Classicism still dominated design and architecture, and furniture of the period is graceful with flowing lines, bow-front chests and turned or tapered legs. Today, this style provides a new formality in American furnishings—midway between rustic Colonial and starched Williamsburg.

It was in 1782 that Congress approved the adoption of the eagle as the national symbol on the United States seal, and from that time on the bird appeared perched atop mirrors, clocks and highboys.

Pontiac Homeowners Buy Conservative Carpeting

Pontiac Press Home Editor

One of the biggest investments made in furnishing a home is carpeting. Call it a status symbol, if you like, but it has always spelled "luxury" to most people.

The picture with this article came from New York City where the room is actually on view at the National Design Center. You will notice that the carpeting is nylon — and bright red.

This started off a train of thought on how the bright colors in new carpets have been selling. We talked with a downtown carpet salesman to get the answer to that question and to several others on the general subject of carpeting.

While there is scattered interest in high color carpeting, most people still prefer to buy a neutral shade; beige is the first choice. Interior decorators are using the brighter colors, but not the general public.

Then we went on to carpet content. Are the man-made fibers replacing wool? Quite definitely not. In the Pontiac area 95 per cent of all carpeting sold is still wool; the national average is 86 per cent.

HIGH PILE

High pile nylon is gradually taking over in the bathroom and the bedroom and there is less call for cotton in these areas.

Acrlan is now mixed with 20 per cent verel to make it flame-proof. This fire hazard was a drawback in the original acrlan carpeting.

We also learned that nylon generates static electricity which clings to dirt; but nylon is resilient against moisture and can be washed. Wool, on the other hand absorbs moisture, but is resilient against dirt and must be dry cleaned.

There are four standard weaves in carpeting; the first is becoming more and more popular. The four are: tufted; knitted; Axminster and Wilton.

Relocated Beauty Shop Features Coffee Bar

When the Andre Beauty Salon moved from its former location the Pontiac State Bank Building to 11 North Saginaw, the owner introduced some new ideas.

Alex Andre has been helping Pontiac women stay lovelier looking for about 21 years. His new salon is in what was once a luggage store.

The color scheme in the ground floor location is orchid and blue with white used as accent. The uniforms worn by the 17 operators are white. Furniture in the reception room is also white.

A coffee bar is a feature of the shop itself. Andre says he serves 30 to 100 cups of coffee a day as a courtesy to his patrons. As far as he knows, he is the first beauty shop owner in Pontiac to offer such a service.

The coffee bar itself is light beige with a blue top. Stools are blue. The floor of the shop is light blue with orchid and blue wallpaper on the walls.

Sinks are blue. Chairs under the 20 dryers are orchid, and are deeply upholstered.

Lay Carpet in New Attic Bedroom

Families grow, but unfortunately houses stay the same size. As babies turn into young adults, there never seem to be enough bedrooms. One expansion spot is the attic, which can yield an extra room or two with little expense.

Since an attic may be cool, it is important to use carpet. This adds insulation and prevents drafts through a possibly faulty floor. It can be put down right over a rough sub-floor and provide the finish and decoration in one step.

Carpet also sound-conditions the attic room, so that sounds of footsteps or radio do not disturb the sleepers below.

If furnishings must be kept modest, carpet can add its own beauty in color and pattern. It pulls unrelated pieces together into a decorative scheme.

This makes the new resident feel at home, rather than "out-cast" in the attic. Put wallpaper over insulated wall-board, use gay paint and draperies, and the new top-floor room can be one of the prettiest in the house.

cent. In addition there are three drop lights mounted above the coffee bar; one has a black shade, the second is gray and the third brass.

Carpet Covers Flaws in Floor

If a family is thinking about modernizing an older home, carpet should lead off the renovating list. Besides being one of the most important decorative furnishings in a home, carpet also does triple duty as a building material.

THREE ROLES

First of all, it provides the best finished floor attainable for comfort and beauty. Second, it acts as an effective insulator against heat loss and cold drafts, so common in an older house. Third, carpet's sound-conditioning ability is equal to many standard acoustical materials, and helps to quiet household activity.

Using carpet as a finished floor means that a minimum of attention and expense need be paid to old floors, and the money saved can be applied to other major alterations.

Many floor faults can be concealed by covering with carpet where more extensive repairs and finishing would be necessary if the floor were left bare or covered by other materials — which would then need a rug over them.

Touch up major faults, by filling cracks or sanding ridges. Then use a rug cushion in all cases to counteract minor imperfections.

Carpet's insulating qualities will prevent heat from being lost to the cold air or ground beneath the floor, saving fuel. And its acoustical properties will in most cases eliminate the need for installing expensive sound-conditioning materials.

Glamorizing the old front hall and staircase is one major remodeling job that carpet can do effectively and inexpensively. Worn stairs and floor boards can be quickly covered with colorful carpet that is much easier to care for than bare surfaces requiring constant polishing.

Wooden Indians Return

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Indians have invaded Pontiac! To be specific, two Indians have invaded the city. They are a pair of cigar store Indians for sale at Lewis Furniture Store on South Saginaw Street.

One is a lady, although she carries a knife and a box of cigars. Carved from solid mahogany, she is a hand-painted replica of an original statue found in the Shenandoah Valley. This Indian princess stands 66 inches tall.

Her companion is a brave, complete with feather headdress and carrying a bundle of cigars in his left hand. With his right he peers into the distance. He is made of plaster. Both Indians are being manufactured by a furniture company in Grand Rapids.

What's the history of the cigar store Indian? It's not an easy story to trace and we are indebted to William J. Dean for letting us read "Tobacco and Americans" by R.K. Heimann.

FROM INDIANS

From the beginning, tobacco was associated with Indians. They offered leaves of it to the first white explorers in the New World. They used it in rituals.

After the Civil War there was a certain nostalgia about the then-vanishing Indians of the West. It seemed good sales psychology, says Mr. Dean's book, to keep the association between Indians and tobacco alive. Thus was born the cigar store Indian.

At one time there were almost half as many carved redmen as there were living Indians. In New York they were more numerous than barber poles.

The rage for these exotic figures outside cigar stores reached its height between 1840 and 1860. After the Civil War the wooden figures began to be replaced by cast metal ones. These were harder for thieves to carry off.

Ever since, the cigar store Indian has been a sought-after piece of Americana. Originals command fantastic prices. The reproductions are not cheap.

Summer Pastime

There have been many jokes about people who run around with butterfly nets. But such a net might be the means of starting a young scientist on a career. Nets today are made of nylon and come with an instruction book on ways of preserving the butterflies.

Terry Cloth

There have long been covers of plastic to use over your mixer and toaster. Now good looking terry cloth ones that match aprons and hot pad mitts are available. White with bright colored designs, these covers are machine washable.

Start Your Life With a Rug

It is important to a new couple that their first living situation spells "home" immediately. Learning to live together is a new experience for both bride and groom.

To give the feeling of home quickly on the return from the honeymoon, here are some suggestions for a one-room, two-or-three-room apartment, or a small house.

1. Put a rug on the floor. It has many immediate values of comfort. It is kind to bare feet, it is quiet for privacy, and gives warmth, important in old houses. It makes sparse furnishings seem more complete, and ties together a temporary collection of old pieces.

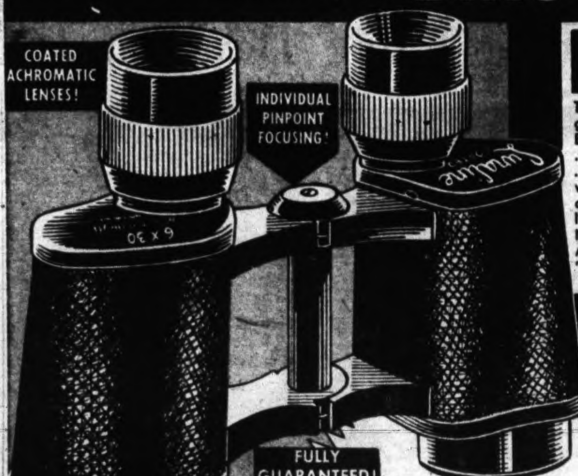

2. If visitors exceed chair capacity, they can sit on the floor for TV or record listening and probably will anyway. A carpet invites the informality that means home.

A rug is also an investment for the future. It can move to any other room in an expanded house, as the family grows.

3. Choose a gentle pattern or texture, best for the concentrated traffic in small apartments, and for children's rooms later. It conceals signs of activity until clean-up time comes around.

A wise bride will drop a hint about her favorite carpet design to her family planning wedding presents. There is no better use for a wedding check than a carpet or rug.

It's Time to Sew

These are days designed for sewing!

Playing days, when you will need new clothes, are just around the corner. The new fashions look fresh and are exciting.

If you start now there is still time for careful planning, so each outfit can be a conversation piece to prize in the days ahead.

So get out the tape measure and scissors, the basting thread and sewing machine.

The first step is the shopping spree! After a careful inventory of last year's left-overs, take courage and pocketbook in hand.

Shop the fabric department of your favorite store. Shop other fabric collections.

Even shop the ready-to-wear departments so you know what is strictly 1961 in mood.

This spring you will find fabric departments gay and brighter than ever.

Color has exploded into clear, vibrant shades; it departs from the traditional, to spotlight the colors we have been hesitant to team up with.

Hot orange, pimento red, lettuce greens are all headline news. Gold continues strong. Lilac and lavender bloom everywhere and blues are bold and brave!

Banana is a new shade—beige with a yellow cast. In fact yellow comes in a rainbow of shades including lemon, lime, and banana.

Choose the colors that do most for your complexion, and your needs as well. There are the new darker cottons in stained glass prints that don't need washing after a single wearing.

Succumb, too, to the flagrant, spirit-lifting prints that make each wearing an adventure.

As exciting as print are the new sanforized plus woven cottons whose appeal is in texture, or in lustrous silken-like elegance.

Tapestry patterns are produced in two-tone effects which make impressive spectator sportswear.

They are ribbed repps, bengalines, ottomans, even moires, that tailor to perfection in suit and jacket dress combinations.

The woven cottons so popular in dad's sports shirts are proving the newest fashion choice for classic shirtwaist dresses. They are in the Oxford weaves, pin stripes, small checks.

If these aisle-upon-aisle of rainbow fabric displays tempt you with their increased freshness and variety, the fabric department will fulfill.

Now the Textile Identification Act, effective March 1960, is well into action and it orders that fabrics must be labeled to tell the consumer the generic name of the fabric: cotton, linen, rayon, etc.

You'll find some scientific puzzles too—such as acrylic and polyester—but remember these are generic, not brand names. A few questions and a little comparison will quickly orient you.

Be sure, as you buy, that the grain of the fabric is straight. The wash-and-wear finish on cottons is permanent, (if it's good) and you can't "pull" the fabric into alignment later. If the grain isn't true, then your print motifs or your fit will be lopsided in the finished garment.

Continue to be alert to this straight-of-the-goods feature as you lay out your pattern. Be cautious, too, about marking materials. Clay chalk is good. Wax, carbon, or pencil dots and vees often prove more permanent and embarrassing than you expect.

YOU'LL SING A SONG OF VALUES!

Little Miss Citizen Has Stars in Eyes

Some of the stripes in the flag she waved matched the color of the hand holding back her dark hair.

And there were nearly as many stars in her brown eyes as there were on the blue background.

If it hadn't been for her bashfulness and excitement, it wouldn't have surprised Donald and Ruth Montney if the new addition to their Drayton Plains household had broken into a chorus of "whose broad stripes and bright stars..."

Marjori Ellen Montney, a little girl from Seoul, Korea, had just become a naturalized American citizen in ceremonies at the courthouse in Pontiac yesterday.

She is two months to the day from being 7. Marjori wanted to stand up with the other 33 ladies and gentlemen when Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem's court clerk Robert Potere administered the oath of a new citizen of the United States.

But she sat on her mother's lap and listened to others take their oaths at the store. Six-year-old Marjori, adopted by the Montneys in 1958 from an orphanage in Oregon, had something the other new citizens didn't. She carried a flag of her new country.

Excitement gripped her so, even at her tender age, that she could answer only one question with a "yes." She (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Call Witnesses in Lassiter Trial

DETROIT (AP) — Witnesses were called for first testimony today in the murder and conspiracy-to-murder trial of Mrs. Nelle Lassiter and Gordon Watson.

Lengthy opening statements by the prosecution and defense took up Tuesday's session of the long-delayed trial of Mrs. Lassiter and Watson in the 1959 slaying of the woman's husband, Parvin (Bill) Lassiter, a wealthy auto dealer in Royal Oak.

The trial was barely under way when Mrs. Lassiter, glamorous, 35-year-old blonde of Beverly Hills, interrupted with cries of "That's not true, that's not true."

Assistant Prosecutor George Kent had just told the jury that the state intends to prove that Mrs. Lassiter had told another woman she no longer loved Lassiter and that he was mean to her.

Mrs. Lassiter broke into sobbing when Kent said she asked a sweetheart of Roy C. Hicks to enlist Hicks' aid in getting rid of Lassiter. Hicks is one of three Chattanooga, Tenn., men in prison for the slaying of Lassiter. His body, shot in the head, was found in a water-filled ditch near Detroit's Willow Run Airport.

Watson, 45, at present apparently unmoved throughout the disruption. His attorney, Albert Summer, told the jury the defense "emphatically denies" all prosecution claims and "will point out that state witnesses are lying and where they lied before."

Key prosecution witnesses are Hicks, Charles Nash and Richard Jones, the trio serving life. They met Lassiter at the airport on her return from a Western business trip. Nash admitted he shot Lassiter during a drunken argument.

Efforts by defense attorney Joseph Louisell to calm Mrs. Lassiter were fruitless, as Circuit Court Judge Joseph G. Rashid ordered a recess. She regained her composure within 20 minutes and the trial resumed.

Louisell told the jury that the prosecution's claims "are not evidence and not to be considered by you as evidence."

Efforts by defense attorney Joseph Louisell to calm Mrs. Lassiter were fruitless, as Circuit Court Judge Joseph G. Rashid ordered a recess. She regained her composure within 20 minutes and the trial resumed.

Louisell told the jury that the prosecution's claims "are not evidence and not to be considered by you as evidence."

Watson, 45, at present apparently unmoved throughout the disruption. His attorney, Albert Summer, told the jury the defense "emphatically denies" all prosecution claims and "will point out that state witnesses are lying and where they lied before."

Key prosecution witnesses are Hicks, Charles Nash and Richard Jones, the trio serving life. They met Lassiter at the airport on her return from a Western business trip. Nash admitted he shot Lassiter during a drunken argument.

Chances Good for Holding Line on County Taxes

4.2 Pct. Hike in State Valuation Spurs Hope of Lowering Rate

Chances of holding the line on — or possibly even lowering — the 1961 county tax rate brightened today when the county's equalized valuation for tax purposes was set at $2,094,883,180.

It represents an $86,064,080 increase — or 4.2 percent — over the 1960 state equalized valuation for the county of $2,008,819,100.

Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the board of assessors, termed the preliminary report from the board of supervisors' equalization committee "very optimistic."

When the county's tentative 1961 budget was announced, supervisors learned that it might be possible to retain the present 4.8 tax rate for another year if the county experienced a 2½ percent jump in its valuation by the state.

Realization that the increase was 4.2 percent led Moore to speculate that the tax rate "probably could drop lower" with the greater boost in the value of the county.

The county is hoping to raise $11,263,441 in taxes to operate next year out of a preliminary budget of $14,775,941.

Based on the disclosed 1961 equalized figure, an official preliminary showed that the county might be able to raise this amount with a rate around 5.39.

The state very seldom disturbs or alters the county's equalized figure. State equalized values, on which the tax rates are based, will be announced May 8.

County supervisors met Monday to receive the committee's report, which reflects about $33 million in new construction in the county, according to William B. Grabendick, director of the county's equalization department.

Values of some properties increased, too, he said, because of the construction of sanitary sewers in many areas.

The city's equalized valuation for 1961 is $354,142,112. This represents an increase of more than $1.5 million over the city's 1960 equalized valuation set by the state at $332,622,653.

Grabendick said another $3 million of the climb over the 1960 total state equalized valuation came as a result of a readjustment of values, such as assessed commercial property up to 50 percent of current cash value.

Believe Cubans Divided Over Fate of Prisoners

MIAMI (UPI) — Guerrilla fighters believed to be remnants of the invasion force that went ashore 10 days ago have attacked a militia outpost and killed one militiaman, Havana radio announced today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuban officials may be divided in a struggle over the life-or-death fate of 548 prisoners reported captured in last week's unsuccessful invasion.

Latin American diplomatic sources said today there apparently is one clique, headed by Raul Castro, which favors execution. Another, perhaps including President Oswaldo Dorticos, is opposed.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro himself appeared on both sides of the fence in a Sunday television appearance.

"Let them not ask for clemency," he declared in discussing the prisoners. But at another point he hinted they might be spared, to be held as hostages against any further invasion attempts.

The diplomatic sources said their information on the struggle came from a person in Havana who had been in contact with the situation.

APPEAL FOR CLEMENCY
The presidents of six Latin American nations have joined in an appeal for clemency.

Pope John XXIII, the Organization of American States (OAS) and the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights also have asked that the prisoners be spared.

Portorico said Tuesday Cuba "will never violate humanitarian norms" in dealing with prisoners.

He was responding to an OAS appeal for humanitarian treatment for the prisoners.

The possibility that Dorticos might be among those favoring moderation, the sources said, is further indicated in the tone of his reply to the OAS plea.

"In naming Raul Castro as a reported advocate of immediate execution, diplomatic sources noted that he supervised the execution of 71 persons in Santiago, Cuba, one morning shortly after his brother came to power. Raul Castro heads the Cuban armed forces.

BLACK MARK
Another argument against executions, the sources said, is the traditional Latin American aversion against capital punishment for any crime, let alone political.

The Castro regime's execution of more than 600 persons, the sources said, already is one of the principal black marks against it in the eyes of Latin Americans.

Any new wave of executions would only increase this revulsion and make more likely the possibility of joint hemispheric action against Cuba, they said.

Officials here privately expressed their hopes that De Gaulle now can move along in his quest for a settlement of the Algerian crisis.

Some authorities said his success in smashing the uprising would strengthen his hand in arranging the settlement.

U.S. officials believe such a settlement would allow France to play a more effective role in building the defenses of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, thus insuring France's position as one of the cornerstones of NATO.

The bulk of France's military power has been tied up in Algeria for six years, trying to keep peace and protect France's settlers.

High-ranking U.S. officials have launched a "battle of informed sources" over what caused the anti-Castro invasion to sink in the swamps of Cuba.

A top official started round two of the fight Tuesday. He denied there were any intelligence miscalculations involved in the failure. He wouldn't say what he thought did cause it.

His version was that there was no misjudgment of Castro's military power, and no misjudgment of his control over the Cuban people. He said the United States knew how many planes and tanks Castro had and the ability of his forces to use them.

This was exactly the opposite of what other equally high officials have said. They said the invasion failed because Castro's forces met the rebels with more planes and other fighting equipment than the United States thought they had.

They also said both Washington and the Cuban rebels underestimated Castro's iron grip on the people, which prevented a general uprising.

INFORMATION CLOUDED
Kennedy told his news conference last week that there would be a lot of background briefings "by interested people or interested agencies... I think you will be informed."

There has been a rash of background briefings, but sorting out the information is something else again. The dispute boils down to whether the invasion was a fiasco because of intelligence or military failures.

Officials Welcome Fall of Insurgents as Aid to Strong, Unified France

WASHINGTON (AP) — The collapse of the Algerian revolt obviously cheered official Washington.

Neither the White House nor the State Department issued any formal comment Tuesday night. But Secretary of State Dean Rusk said, "It is always a great help to the free world to see France strong and unified."

Rusk spoke to newsmen before taking off for the Central Treaty Organization meeting in Ankara, Turkey. The organization is an alliance of Britain, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan.

The United States supported French President Charles de Gaulle all the way.

President Kennedy had offered him any assistance he might want in squashing the revolt.

WARNS GENERALS
The State Department also had warned the insurgent French generals not to attempt to move into Tunisia or Morocco to attack Algerian Muslim leaders based there.

Head of Mutiny Surrenders to Face Trial

Four - Day Insurrection
Is Ended Abruptly by De Gaulle Forces

ALGIERS (AP) — Forces loyal to Gen. Charles de Gaulle crushed the four-day army revolt today with hardly a shot.

The man who led the insurrection, Gen. Maurice Challe, surrendered to face trial and possibly a death sentence.

Three other retired generals who joined in leading the mutiny—Raoul Salan, Edmond Jourdain and Andre Zeller — were not accounted for.

One unaccounted-for put them at a Foreign Legion camp at Zerkala, 25 miles from Algiers.

The French Ministry of Information said 56-year-old Challe landed at a field near Paris. He will be brought to trial on charges of organizing an insurrection and usurping power. Similar charges have been placed against the three other generals and three colonels.

The government has not disclosed whether Challe will be tried as a soldier or as a civilian. On this issue could depend whether he faces a firing squad or the guillotine — although the possibility of a death sentence was largely discounted in Paris.

The uprising ended with the beheading of about 100 rebels which it began Saturday.

THOUSANDS GATHERED
Thousands of Europeans gathered in the forum in the center of Algiers as rumors swept the city that loyal troops were preparing an attack.

But the mutinous generals could give little encouragement to the French settlers, who had hoped De Gaulle's plan of self-determination for Algeria was doomed by the insurrection.

The generals attempted to speak to the crowd but found the microphones were dead. They then boarded trucks guarded by troops and fled the city.

Local gendarmes and troops took control of the city and threw up roadblocks.

Spontaneous shooting broke out but after daylight life in Algiers steadily returned to normal. Stores and shops opened and buses were on schedule.

In Paris, Information Minister Louis Terroine said a plane from Algeria had landed at British Gibraltar with certain "accomplices" of Challe but he did not know their names.

500 Ninth Graders Off to Washington

Nearly 500 ninth grade pupils and teachers in four Pontiac junior high schools are on their way to Washington, D.C., this afternoon. The pupils left in two groups at 6 a.m. today and will return home Sunday.

The largest group is from Madison, Washington and Jefferson Junior high schools. It contains about 330 pupils.

A group from Lincoln Junior high school includes 140 pupils and teachers.

They will be supervised by Ralph S. Forman, assistant principal, and Mrs. Evelyn Allen, Mrs. Kaye Brunette, Mrs. Mary Choate, Barbara Strobel, James Burke, Norbert Daul, John Keiser and Anthony Piza, all Lincoln teachers.

The Lincoln trip is an annual project separate from the other schools.

Lincoln students will enjoy an "extra" Saturday when they leave Washington for home by way of Gettysburg, Pa.

They will spend the afternoon touring the famed battlefield and leave for Pontiac following a dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg.

IST FOR JEFFERSON

The larger group will be supervised by George Vanden, Madison principal; Robert D. Boyce, Washington assistant principal; and 18 teachers from the three schools.

This is the first year Jefferson students have gone on the trip. There will be about six students from that school.

Both groups will view all the points of interest in Washington and tour Arlington Cemetery. They will stay in a hotel in Alexandria, Va.

The larger group will go by train, while Lincoln pupils will travel both ways by bus.

Small groups of soldiers were stopping all cars and rounding up Cubans and European members of Tashome's party.

TURNED BACK

Tashome, his foreign minister, Evariste Kimba, and two soldiers were surrounded by other soldiers when they started toward the terminal building to board their plane.

Others in the Tashome motorcade were turned back at the airport.

Before his arrest, Tashome jovially posed for photographers in a begging pose on his knees, mocking the way he claims Kasaubwa has been treated by the United Nations.

The conference that Tashome left was a meeting of all Congo factions except that headed by Antoine Gbangou.

Tashome's chief complaint was an agreement Kasavubu reached with the U.N. Command calling for immediate withdrawal from the Congo of all foreign advisers under the central government's authority.

Belgian advisers are prominent in Katanga's government and Belgium and other white mercenaries serve in Tashome's Katanga army.

Weather Goes Berserk Over U.S.

From Our News Wires

Cloudbursts touched off flash floods in Pennsylvania and West Virginia today as a slow-moving cold front headed for the East Coast.

High water blocked three state highways in Northwestern Pennsylvania.

Tornadoes and tornado winds ripped across parts of Indiana.

Ohio and Arkansas Tuesday in a wild belt of severe thunderstorms which extended into Pennsylvania.

At least four deaths were attributed to the stormy weather. More than a dozen persons were injured. Property damage was extensive.

During the night, high winds, cutting hail and heavy rain, battered the nation from the Ozarks to the Appalachians.

Widely scattered thundershowers fell along the coast from South Carolina to Maine.

Near Monroe, Mich., several families left their homes today as the rain-swollen Plum Creek, a branch of the River Raisin, went over its banks.

None of the homes were presently under water, officials said, but the rising water threatened to completely isolate them.

One of the families was taken out by boat. A half-dozen others left their homes by driving through flood waters.

Twisters strike

In Indiana, twisters struck near Shelbyville, destroying 20 homes and barns and then slipped into neighboring Rush, Fayette and Wayne counties. Six persons were hurt.

The tornado powered across the Ohio line, and destroyed several homes in a new subdivision near Eaton, causing damage estimated at $500,000 to $1 million.

Tornado winds hammered central and Eastern Arkansas in violent thundershowers.

Wind gusts up to 70 m.p.h. caused property damage estimated at $500,000.

In Cincinnati, winds were clocked at 33 m.p.h., resulting in heavy damage. Wind storms in Ohio were blamed for the deaths of a man and a boy in two separate accidents.

NATIONAL WEATHER—It will be cooler tonight from the Northern Plains eastward to the Lakes region and the Ohio Valley and from the Middle Atlantic States northward along the coast.

Warmer weather will extend from the Central and Southern Pacific Coast eastward to the Central and Southern Plains. It will continue warm in the Eastern Gulf. There will be little precipitation in the nation.

He's on the Ball With Petitions

Clawson Republican of Same Name Files First for Con-Con Seat

Richard G. Ball does things fast and first.

The 25-year-old Clawson Republican did history in Oakland County today when he became the first county candidate for Michigan's Oct. 3 constitutional convention to file nominating petitions.

Deadline isn't until June 6.

Ball, of 168 Highland Ave., saved his candidacy announcement for the day when he filed 34 signatures containing about 600 signatures. He'll bid for the GOP nomination from the county's 35 legislative districts.

One of his competitors will be Arthur G. Elliott Jr., GOP county chairman.

First believed to be the first in the state to file, Ball informed Mrs. Child that some candidates in Oakland County had bettered his record.

A body draftsman at Fisher Body at the General Motors Technical Center in Warren, Ball said he had been a supporter of con-con for some time. He is a charter member of the Clawson Junior Chamber of Commerce, whose parent organization was one of the several fighters for a convention.

A newcomer to politics — he has never sought public office — Ball lists himself as a member of the Young Republicans of Oakland County, the Clawson GOP Club and Citizens for Michigan.

He said he started circulating petitions April 11 — eight days after Michigan voters approved calling a convention.

When she returned home with her parents the flag hardly stopped waving, her mother said, except when the first grader at John Monteth School was sewing on a button.

At night the red, white and blue lay over her bed covers.

It marked the end of a big day for little Marjorie, little Miss America.

Marjorie now joins four American brothers at the 2238 Georgetown Street home.

study of intelligence methods he has ordered Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor to make.

Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., said today Republicans expect to be consulted before Kennedy decides what future course to pursue in dealing with Cuba.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said his party's members are generally agreed on a memorandum against criticism of the Kennedy administration's actions in connection with last week's aborted invasion.

EXPECTS CONSULTATION

In return, he said he expects Republican leaders to be consulted in advance about forthcoming important presidential decisions. He noted that he and others were not called to the White House until the invasion had begun and it was threatened with the disaster that overtook it.

"Generally speaking, it is the Republican position that the United States must take some strong action against Castro," Bridges said. "Matters cannot be permitted to drift. It is up to the President to decide what course we will take but we'd like to be consulted about it and offer any suggestions we may have."

FIRST ONE—With the deadline still more than a month away, Richard G. Ball of Clawson got the jump today on the rest of the many Oakland County candidates for the state's constitutional convention when he filed his nominating petitions with Mrs. Mabel M. Child, county election clerk. Ball, who'll bid for the GOP nomination for the county's 35 legislative districts, is the first in the county to file. Deadline isn't until June 6.

Five per cent architect fees will add another $16,000, all to come out of capital improvement funds.

The figures became definite last night as city commissioners followed architect's recommendations and awarded contracts to three low bidders.

Chasius Construction Co. of Birmingham will be the general contractor at a price of $221,783; Zeni & Maguire Co. of Detroit will install heating and plumbing at a contract cost of $73,600; and Fred W. Mootz Electric Co. of Pontiac will be offered a $25,483 contract for electrical work.

The contract prices are a combination of base bids and additional charges for alternate work and above the main job.

The three companies submitted the lowest base bids and alternates among the 35 bids opened a week ago.

Commissioners voted unanimously to sign with the three, although several spoke out in favor of awarding the plumbing and heating contract to a local firm.

This is Eames & Brown, whose base bid and alternates amounted to $75,085, or $2,385 more than the Detroit heating and plumbing company's.

Commissioners Robert A. Landry, Winford E. Bottom and Milton R. Henry called for the low bid to be upheld and Henry agreed that to do otherwise would be legally dangerous.

But City Manager Walter K. Williams advised that "the principle of accepting the low bid contracts during the June 17-34 Centennial observance."

The city is hoping to have contracts signed and construction well under way by June 17, the centennial date.

To be located on a site across East Pike Street from the Public Safety Building, the new main fire hall will be the urban renewal area and consequently, some portion of the cost is expected to be credited against the city's financial share in urban renewal.

This would bring the prevailing prices for regular gas in the Pontiac area to between 27.9 and 29.3 cents a gallon depending on brand.

The price cuts in Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties began in the first days of February, and had amounted to close to seven cents for most brands.

While consumers expressed pleasure, station operators and dealers have issued many complaints about price-cost squeeze, and various behind the scenes efforts have been made to halt the "price war." Prices had skidded to the lowest point in three years.

New Fire Hall Cost Is Lowered

Accepted Bids Total $320,864; City Budget Ceiling Was $357,000

Pontiac's new pay-as-you-go fire hall in the Civic Center area will cost $320,864 to construct, far below the budget ceiling of $357,000.

Five per cent architect fees will add another $16,000, all to come out of capital improvement funds.

But City Manager Walter K. Williams advised that "the principle of accepting the low bid contracts during the June 17-34 Centennial observance."

The city is hoping to have contracts signed and construction well under way by June 17, the centennial date.

To be located on a site across East Pike Street from the Public Safety Building, the new main fire hall will be the urban renewal area and consequently, some portion of the cost is expected to be credited against the city's financial share in urban renewal.

This would bring the prevailing prices for regular gas in the Pontiac area to between 27.9 and 29.3 cents a gallon depending on brand.

The price cuts in Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties began in the first days of February, and had amounted to close to seven cents for most brands.

While consumers expressed pleasure, station operators and dealers have issued many complaints about price-cost squeeze, and various behind the scenes efforts have been made to halt the "price war." Prices had skidded to the lowest point in three years.

Delay Woman's Trial

Trial of a Pontiac woman accused of maintaining and operating an illegal liquor place was postponed in Municipal Court yesterday until May 9.

Queen E. Phillips, 40, 47 Walnut St., was arrested April 12 in a raid by police vice squad officers on the Walnut Street address.

Jimmy Doolittle Sure Yuri Made His Trip

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—People... places... things... Jimmy Doolittle among those who question whether the Russians really managed to put Maj. Yuri Gagarin in orbit and bring him back.

"There's no question in my mind that they did what they claim," Doolittle told us the other day in Omaha, where he attended a meeting of the board of governors Mutual of Omaha.

"The Russians are funny that way. They'll lie as a matter of expediency. But they won't lie, or, at least, they'll hesitate a long time before lying, if they feel there's a chance they might be caught. You can't lie about an object in space. The world has too many tracking stations.

"Another reason why they had no cause to lie is that they've got the hardware for such an achievement, and they've had it for some time."

Last week Doolittle presided over the 18th reunion of the important group he led against Tokyo and other Japanese cities from the deck of the carrier Hornet. This time the get-together was held in Camden, Ark.

"The optimists of the town say it has a population of 18,000, the pessimists 16,000," Jimmy said. "Bob Hite, who was on the mission, manages the hotel there and put on a good meeting for us."

"Of the 80 who took off from the Hornet, 51 are still alive. Twenty-four showed up for the reunion. Our guests were Adm. Henry L. Miller, who taught us how to get a loaded B25 off the deck in about 400 feet, and Dr. Liu, the Chinese who took care of some of the wounded boys and helped get them away from the Japanese."

MISS DUNNE OKAY

Hollywood is coming in for so many critical clouts these days, most of them deserved, that it was like a breath of fresh air the other night to see and hear Irene Dunne Griffin as she received Omaha's Temple Beth Israel's Humanitarian Award, previously bestowed on former President Harry S. Truman, Adm. Lewis Strauss, George Jessel, Eddie Cantor and others.

Miss Dunne, a member of the U.S. delegation to the U.N. two years ago, spoke with rare distinction and clarity about the aims of the world organization, and what it has quietly accomplished.

Swainson Names Two to Park Commission

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson announced two appointments today to the Mackinac Island State Park Commission.

They were: Mrs. Hugh (Mariana B.) Rudolph, Mackinac Island, succeeding herself, for a term expiring April 12, 1967.

W. F. Doyle, East Lansing, succeeding Henry E. Naegely Jr., Saginaw, term expiring April 12, 1967.

Senate confirmation is required for the appointments.

To her surprise and delight, the committee had made up and showed a half hour sampling of scenes from the five motion pictures which won her Academy Award nominations.

The film earned ovations from the audience and rapt attention from the beautiful wife of Dr. Frank Griffin. "I was fascinated," at all times.

she said later. "I didn't know what I was going to do and say next... I made them so long ago." That spat between Philly and Tony was inevitable. Tony probably was impertinent enough to want to know how he could cut the ribbon opening the cattle show at Ipswich-on-Tipswich if he had to his shirt.

Laud Elmer Wilson for Insurance Work

Elmer G. Wilson, longtime Pontiac insurance agent who was honored here last week for 50 years in the business, also was lauded Tuesday by the South Oakland Association of Life Underwriters at the Berkeley Masonic Temple.

Wilson, who has spent a half century as a representative of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, founded the South Oakland group in 1931.

He retired in 1953, but has remained active as a representative of the company. He now splits his time between his property in Marietta and Florida. He formerly lived in Pontiac, and is the only living charter member of the Pontiac Life Underwriters Association, of which he is a past president.

UAW, at Thursday Meeting, All Set to Map Out Demands

UPI Automotive Editor

Detroit — The United Auto Workers Union observes its 25th birthday Thursday by mapping a new set of demands on the auto industry.

Thursday morning the giant union, founded in South Bend, Ind., in 1936, opens a three-day special convention to spell out what it wants from the auto firms in contract talks this summer.

Thursday night, the 2,000 UAW officials attending the convention, plus some old timers from the union's early days, will gather at Cobo Hall for a Silver Anniversary dinner.

Host for the affair will be UAW President Walter P. Reuther, the only one of the current top union officials who attended the Auto Workers' first convention 25 years ago.

At the time of the South Bend meeting, the UAW had working agreements with only two auto-makers, Studebaker and Nash, and represented only 7,000 workers. Today the union has contracts with thousands of companies and represents 1.1 million workers.

At the 1936 convention, the 200 delegates listed among their demands a guaranteed annual wage (GAW) and a 30-hour week.

Today, the UAW is still trying to achieve those first two goals even though over the years it has pioneered many other new labor goals.

The GAW and the shorter work week will both come up for discussion at Thursday's special convention.

Bentley Will Run for Seat at Con-Con

OWOSSO (U)—Alvin M. Bentley, former congressman from Michigan's 8th District, announced today he is a Republican candidate for nomination as a delegate to the State's forthcoming constitutional convention.

Bentley will run in the 15th Senatorial District, made up of Shawnee, Clinton and Eaton counties. He quit his congressional seat to unsuccessfully oppose Sen. Patrick McNamara, D-Mich., in the 1960 election.

Bentley heads an Owosso manufacturing company and is rated a millionaire.

more men would be needed to do the available work.

The short week, or more specifically 30 hours work for 40 hours pay, is strongly supported by the biggest UAW local—Ford Local 600 at the River Rouge plant, which has 30,000 members.

"Our members aren't interested in a wage increase this year," Local 600 President Carl Stellato said. What they do want, he said, is a shorter work week with no cut in pay.

The special convention, which will formalize the union's demands on the auto industry, also will be urged to press for early retirement at age 60, company-paid health insurance, improved unemployment compensation and better working conditions.

Scholars believe the kingdom of Ethiopia was established when Athens was in its infancy. Homer called the Ethiopians "the furthest of mankind."

WANT SALARY

Reuther has said one of the UAW's key objectives this summer will be a demand that hourly rated production workers be paid a salary just like office workers.

This would be a form of the GAW and is designed, according to Reuther, to give blue collar workers the same antitrust protection enjoyed by white collar workers in business slumps.

Reuther also believes a shorter work week would help lick the unemployment problem since

Low Mail Volume Hurting Ruling to Up Postal Jobs

The recent Post Office Department order limiting work hours for substitute employees, thus creating more postal jobs, is having little immediate effect in Pontiac.

Current mail volume is so low at Pontiac's main post office that no new jobs are expected to become available immediately, but the ruling could create a half dozen jobs by the end of 1961.

The order limits substitute employees to a 40 to 44 hour work week. It is designed to provide more jobs for career substitutes and newcomers.

It is estimated that it will create 664 postal job openings in Michigan this year and some 10,000 nationally.

However, according to Robert J. Featherston, superintendent of mail at the local office, "our volume has dropped sharply in the past few weeks that we hardly have enough work for our present employees."

Lear Planning Modernization

To Spend $3.5 Million on Expansion of Plant in Grand Rapids

CHICAGO (AP) — A $3.5 million modernization and expansion of the Lear, Inc. instrument division at Grand Rapids has been announced by A. G. Handschumacher, Lear president.

He disclosed the development in an address before the Investment Analysts Society of Chicago.

Handschumacher said the project includes a $1,000,000 square-foot addition to the present 15-million instrument division manufacturing plant opened in suburban Paris Township in 1959 and construction of an engineering test facility adjacent to the manufacturing building.

He described it the second step in a long-range, five-year program to center all the division's activities in one location.

Handschumacher said the manufacturing addition, which is expected to be completed before the year end, will permit consolidation of all the instrument division's activities under one roof.

Lear's instrument division, one of six operating divisions in the United States, employs about 3,900 of approximately 4,500 Lear workers in Grand Rapids.

The expansion announcement drew congratulations from Gov. John B. Swainson and Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., R-Mich. Each cited the firm's growth over 20 years and its contributions to Michigan's economy.

Fidel's Gloatathon Will End; 'the Wall' Looms for Captives

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Fidel Castro's regime announced today it will halt the televised parade of captured invaders, who soon may march before his firing squads.

The last public interrogation was set for tonight after a session in which the son of an anti-Castro leader told his captors he was duped about chances of the April 17 invasion but that it was not his father who deceived him.

The son of Manuel Antonio de Varona conceded in a telecast monitored at Key West that he was deceived when told the Cuban people would rise against Castro. He made no reply when asked if he knew "your father has asked for the open intervention of the United States with its submarines, with its invading troops."

The elder De Varona is a member of the Revolutionary Council which coordinated the invasion. Young De Varona, wearing hornrimmed eyeglasses, argued spiritedly with interrogators. He asked them if they felt so certain about a public's support of the Castro regime, why did they not hold an election.

While Cuban legislators peppered the invasion captives with loaded questions before TV cameras, the first airline passengers arriving in Florida since the conflict were weary in expressing themselves as thankful they were able to leave Cuba.

Most of 86 persons who got off a plane at Miami were Cuban nationals. Some of them scurried away from newsmen seeking interviews. Others refused to identify themselves when telling of life in Cuba under active war conditions.

An old man said "I come from hell."

A 14-year-old girl, who said her name was Sophia, clutched a rag doll and told of hearing bombs in Havana.

An elderly man started to talk with newsmen but a woman yanked his arm, shouting "no, no" and pulled him away.

Havana TV quiz witness named Pablo who claimed he was forced to work for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, said an aide of CIA Director Allen Dulles told him the United States would intervene directly in Cuba within 15 days if the invasion failed.

Lawmakers Get More Time to Cross Street

LANSING (AP) — Lansing's new mayor, former State Representative Willard L. Bowerman, has kept a campaign promise to legislators. Bowerman ordered the time on the "walk" signal at the traffic light between the State Capitol and the downtown Lansing business district lengthened from 15 to 20 seconds.

Legislators, particularly some of the senior ones, had long complained they weren't given time enough to cross the street.

Former Representative Louis M. Cramton, 85, of Lapeer, who retired last year, made several speeches on the floor of the House complaining about lack of cooperation from the city in the timing of the light.

Most of them refused to talk for fear of reprisals against relatives still under the dictator's rule.

Another witness said he had been a congressman during the regime of Fulgencio Batista who once fought for Gen. Francisco Franco. He told interrogators the Capuchin Order in Rome authorized him to "perform my spiritual duties" for the invaders.

De Lago's left arm was hanged brought to 42 the total of captives questioned since Friday over the Cuban national television and during the attack on the Cuban south coast.

Candido Mora Morales said he and invaders have been captured.

Mrs. Frank McGregor reported briefly on a recent visit of Oakland County Republican Women to the Michigan State Legislature.

Hostesses were Mrs. J. L. Slaybaugh, Mrs. Harry Brown, Mrs. William L. Graves and Mrs. Lela Luby. Mrs. Clarence Senger and Mrs. Haynes presided at the tea table.

gramming the round and square dances are club officers and their wives, the Keith Armisteads of Elmwood Street (at left) and the Roy MacAjees of Niagara Avenue.

Be Fun to Live With

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Spring and summer not only bring roses, but brides. These seasons with June leading the field, seem to be the most popular ones in which to take the big leap. That is appropriate because June is such a beautiful time of year, with all the world bursting with new life and charm and color.

And marriage is such a continually new way of life that the first small apartment or house market housekeeping seem like play, and the first baby like a doll.

I hope that you always can keep the sheen on your marriage and not let it be dulled by daily routine. Make a fresh start every day. Certainly one way to do this is to keep yourself as attractive as possible.

Always look pretty for him when he comes home from work. Don't impose on him because he is now young and become careless about nails and hair, complexion and silhouette.

OTHER FACTORS

While physical attractiveness is surely important, there are other even more vital factors which are essential to a happy marriage. To-day I will give you a few of them.

Treat him with courtesy, at least as much as you bestow on strangers and acquaintances. Courtesy is so very important when two persons live in the same home and romance is strained by the hecticness and strains of daily life.

If you are jealous, don't show it. This is an admission of inferiority, or feelings of inferiority. Besides, a jealous person looks ridiculous.

Trust him. You would not have married him unless you thought you could do so, and trust usually engenders loyalty.

PRaise HIM

Praise him more than you criticize. There will be plenty to praise if you look for it. Some women begin trying to make their husbands over soon after the wedding ceremony into a man they did not fall in love with in the first place.

A sense of humor is more valuable than thousands of dollars as a dowry. A light touch, a gallant and gay approach to life, smooth the way in a magic manner. Shared laughter forms strong bonds. Be fun to live with!

Be forgiving! He is human just as you are. Be tender! He will need your tenderness just as you will need his. I hope that he will provide you with the same qualities and characteristics.

I'm hearing from women who are thrilled with the figure improvement the 9-day diet has given them this year. Others want copies of the menus they missed. If you are one who missed this easy way to get in shape for summer, you still can send for the 9-day diet booklet. Enclose 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Soviet System Suits Families to a T—Mrs. K

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Nikita Khrushchev believes that life in the Soviet Union for a woman is the road to happiness.

Mrs. Khrushchev, in a letter in McCall's Magazine, said that in Russia the interest of the family and the state "are identical."

"State policy is shaped for our benefit, and this has been tested and proved for every individual in our country by life itself," she said. "State policy is the embodiment of our own desires and aspirations."

Mrs. Khrushchev's letter was in reply to 30 questions submitted by UPI reporter Helen Thomas.

U. of M. Alumnae Win Bowl

The Pontiac University of Michigan Alumnae Club has won the sterling silver bowl presented by the U. of M. Alumnae Council to the club with the largest membership per cent increase during the year.

Pontiac's membership increase was 100 per cent. The Akron, Ohio alumnae club was second with an increase of 72 per cent.

The local club also received a citation for placing second with Battle Creek for a silver bowl presented to the club having the year's greatest numerical increase.

The first club with 34 new members received the honor, Lansing's alumnae club placed third.

The awards were presented at the annual national meeting of the University of Michigan Alumnae Council Saturday at the U. of M. League Building. The day was spent in workshops on presidential duties, special programs, and the awarding of scholarships and service citations.

At the general alumnae council meeting Mrs. George T. Campbell from the alumnae governing board and chairman of the program workshop announced that clubs throughout the country have decided to include in the year's agenda a "University of Michigan Day" and an "Ann Arbor Day" when clubs will visit the campus.

FELLOWSHIP INCREASE
The scholarship committee chairman announced that fellowships honoring Lucy Elliott and former Dear Alice Lloyd have been increased from $70 to $1,000 and will be awarded each year, rather than during alternating years.

Club members learned that the project "University of Michigan's 14th Birthday Party" had netted to date $8,000 which will be deposited in the Alice Freeman Palmer Endowment Fund for a woman's full-time professorship in the university's history department.

The officer candidates for next year were accepted. Lillian Jacobs will serve on the national membership committee; Mrs. Rudolph H. Sell will be vice chairman of the council; and Mrs. Norris A. Host, former council chairman, will assume a place on the National League Board of Governors for a three-year term. Mrs. Sell and Mrs. Host are from Birmingham.

Regent Irene Murphy emphasized the need for added appropriations for the university, adding, "Regents frowned upon higher entrance fees, fearing to bring about in our nation an elite of brains and money which is foreign to American policy and ideals."

Affair to Aid Cerebral Palsy Tots

Proceeds from a card party Thursday, sponsored by Iraq Caldron-Daughters of Mokana, will benefit cerebral palsy children.

The affair will begin at 8 p.m. in Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building. Table favors and handmade aluminum trays for table prizes will be features of the party, along with refreshments and door prizes.

Mrs. Victor O. Bodamer and Mrs. William Kogonchop are ticket co-chairmen. Others planning the event are Mrs. Richard Parsons and Mrs. Fred Crossman, table prizes and favors; Mrs. Wayne Scott, door prizes; Thelma Anderson, Mrs. Mae White, Mrs. Mabel Richardson and Mrs. Evelyn Thomas, refreshments.

'No Soap'

Think we're clean? It's said that some of the Roman emperors bathed as many as seven or eight times a day! Maybe that's because they didn't have the benefit of today's efficient soaps to wash away dirt.

Iraq Caldron, Daughters of Mokana, will stage a benefit card party Thursday evening in Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building. Featured as table prizes will be the handmade aluminum trays above, being readied

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

If I've done nothing else by criticizing the use of scriptural authority as support for the slogan "Spank the rod and spoil the child," I certainly have encouraged biblical research in this country.

Unhappily, I am unable to reply personally to the flood of mail from readers who have found more biblical passages which they advance as justification of uncontrolled whipping of children.

In this space I have already discussed the citations which contain the word "chasten." I now reply to the next most-quoted passage:

"Footfulness is found in the heart of a child; but the rod of correction shall drive it far from him."

Again I call attention to the controlling word in this passage—"correction." It means "putting right" rectification.

It is these readers' right to believe that they can "put right"

a child by the uncontrolled rod. I do not think so.

I think you can reduce a child—or me—to a convenient submission by beating us severely. But I do not think you can "put us right." Not if "right" is with-

Lonely Lassie

GLASGOW, Scotland (U)—The loneliest girl in Scotland, 22-year-old Mhairi Clark, wistfully says she'd really like to dance. But Mhairi is the only resident between the ages of 10 and 35 in the tiny village of Loch Ranza, on the wild isle of Arran.

"All the boys and girls have left long ago to work on the mainland," Mhairi says. "But I don't want to leave my people."

ring our appreciation of the injury we have done you by our offense. Certainly all you would achieve from me would be an overpowering interest in my own self-preservation.

I must claim my right to this opinion as I grant the same right to my angered readers. So there seems no point in continuing this argument over the true meaning of these Bible citations. If everyone had always agreed on the meaning of Holy Writ, Christian history would not be what it is. But nobody can make me see an unbalanced license to whip in these passages.

As to those correspondents who charge me with severity toward the reader who originally claimed biblical dignity for his hearsay slogan, I gladly accept the charge. I wrote that he had angered me. His irresponsibility still angers me.

I shall always become angry at people who parrot hearsay for moral authority—whether they do it by misquoting the Bible, by calling children "bad" without caring what they mean by "bad" or by retailing careless and unthinking gossip.

There are no short-cuts to moral solutions. Slogans can never provide them. This has been and remains the point of my argument. By Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Drive to Enlarge House Falters

But Kentucky Sponsor Eyes Speed-Up; Asks for 34 More Seats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The drive for legislation to raise the House membership from 435 to 469 is off to a faltering start. But the drive's manager, Rep. Frank Chelf, D-Ky., said today he was confident of success. His goal is to prevent 16 states from losing House seats because their population has not kept pace with national growth.

One week ago, Chelf filed a petition which, if signed by 219 House members, would force a vote on his legislation. He acted after the House Judiciary Committee turned down his plea for a hearing and action.

Only 70 have signed so far. "That's about what I expected at this stage," Chelf said in an interview. "It's moving a little slowly but will pick up steam soon. Many state delegations are caucusing and probably will agree soon to sign the petition."

The 16 states to lose House seats in the 1962 election have about 200 representatives. Chelf expects all or most of them to sign the petition.

Only a few signers have been obtained from such big states as New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Illinois and North Carolina, all of which will lose seats in the next Congress unless the size of the House is increased, he said.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The national commander of the American Legion said Tuesday night this country should go it alone to overthrow Fidel Castro in Cuba if it cannot get active support from the Organization of American States.

William R. Burke said the legion fully supports President Kennedy's present Cuba policy. He said it also would support any stronger action found necessary.

The paramount interest of the United States is in its own security," Burke said at a dinner in the Commodore Hotel given in his honor by New York legionnaires.

Furniture Men's Son Sells

The president of one of the city's oldest furniture companies announced today the purchase of interests held by Robert Glenn.

John P. Stewart, president of the Stewart-Glenn Co., organized in 1917, said the company this week acquired the interests held by Robert Glenn, son of one of the founders of the company.

The name of the firm will remain the same.

At the same time, Stewart announced that the transaction will result in the closing of the S-G Warehouse Furniture Sales, 38 Franklin Road. A close-out sale will begin April 6.

No purchase price was disclosed. The company will center all its business in its store located at 1800 S. Telegraph Road, and hopes to increase the floor space of the two-year-old building by at least 50 per cent, according to Addison K. Oakley, manager and secretary of the company.

Glenn said he sold his interests in the company in order to expand the operations of the Autocrat Corp. of which he is president.

Dieting Is Easy in Gourmet Style

If the richly herbed and sauced flavor of wonderful Italian foods is what you crave but you're afraid of the calorie cost, forget your fears.

The chef of the Italian Pavilion, considered by many gourmets to be one of New York's greatest Italian restaurants, has created one of the most palate-tempting vegetable recipes to come our way in many a moon. And what's more, the calorie count of this irresistible delicacy is so low it lets you eat your pasta without a pang of conscience.

Inspired by the development of new low calorie Italian-style dressing, the first low calorie salad dressing with a flavor that can win friends among finicky chefs, this culinary artist has created a recipe for marinated mushrooms that satisfies almost every requirement of lovers of good eating. Heavenly of aroma in the cooking, fabulous of flavor in the eating, it is also extremely versatile in menu application.

Equally delectable hot or cold, marinated mushrooms Italian-style can be served as hors d'oeuvre, as a relish with meats, or as a vegetable course.

Marinated Mushrooms Italian Style
1 pound fresh button mushrooms
1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 cup chicken broth
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 small bay leaf, crumbled
1 teaspoon dried rosemary
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 whole corn
1 teaspoon salt

Wash mushrooms and dry them thoroughly. Place mushrooms in saucepan and add remaining ingredients. Cover, bring to a boil. Remove from heat immediately, stir and let stand for at least 15 minutes before serving. To serve cold, let mushrooms stand in marinade until cool, stirring occasionally. Then chill mushrooms in their marinade.

LEMON-LIME CHIFFON CAKE—Chiffon cake is only 10 years old. Thousands of cooks have made it "from scratch" or from a mix. The newest mix is Lemon Chiffon Cake Mix. Here you see it filled and frosted with pale green lime-flavored whipped cream. Wonderfully refreshing.

It's Gaymer Than a Spring Day

The season is approaching when fresh fruits are at their flavorful best. Even though lemons and limes are available the year round, lemonade and limeade reach a peak of popularity with the arrival of warm weather.

This ever-popular combination, has now found its way into a cake that's as fresh as spring itself. The lime-flavored whipped cream atop the square layer cake completely camouflages the surprise that awaits you when you cut into it. What a delight when you discover the light and tender Lemon Chiffon Cake that's as high and light as sponge cake and as rich as butter cake.

This new exclusive cake mix flavor has just made its debut on the market. You'll find it has the same moist texture, high volume and delicate flavor of a home-made cake.

Lemon-Lime Chiffon Cake
Prepare Lemon Chiffon Cake Mix batter according to directions on package. Bake in two square pans, 9x9 1/4", for 35 to 45 minutes at 350 degrees (moderate). Cool following package directions. Remove from pans. Fill and frost with Lime Filling (below).

Lime Filling: Mix in top of a 1/2 cup butter, 2 egg yolks, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 3 tablespoons lime juice. Cook over hot water 6 to 8 minutes, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cool. Add 1/4 teaspoon grated lime rind and enough green food coloring to give desired shade. Fold into 1 1/2 cups whipping cream, whipped stiff.

Ever Try Curry With Oysters?

People dream of finding a pearl inside an oyster. Perhaps this is why oysters have a special aura of enchantment. Unfortunately, most persons never realize their wish. The lack is not noticed, however, for the delicious and unique flavor of the oyster becomes the dominant interest.

Creamed Oysters captures the flavor of oysters at their best, because they are simmered gently in a cream sauce flavored with exotic curry powder.

A new twist with oysters deserves a new recipe for the rice over which the oysters are served. Here, fresh minced parsley is sprinkled among the fluffy white grains of rice.

Creamed Oysters Over Hot Rice
1 quart rice or instant rice
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup onion, minced
1/2 cup cream
1/2 cup curry powder
Dash paprika
Dash Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 cup buttered hot cooked rice
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Drain oysters, reserving liquor. Melt butter in saucepan. Stir in flour to make smooth paste. Slowly add oyster liquor and cream. Season with salt, curry powder, pepper and paprika, stirring constantly until smooth and thick. Add drained oysters. Bring to boiling point and simmer gently for 20 minutes. Remove from heat and add sherry, Worcestershire sauce and lemon juice. Serve over beds of buttered hot fluffy rice. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Vegetable Casserole Has Onion Cheese Sauce

Blend your left-over vegetables into a delicious casserole with this quick and easy Onion-Cheese Sauce. In a saucepan, melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine and remove from heat. Blend in 3 tablespoons flour and 3 tablespoons onion soup mix, then add 2 cups milk. Return to low heat and stir until thickened. Add 1/2 cup up grated cheese and stir until melted. Pour over left-over vegetables. Sprinkle grated cheese over top and bake 20-25 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

The Great Smoky mountains national park, partly in North Carolina, covers a vast area estimated to be in excess of one-half million acres.

JAM SWIRL COFFEE CAKE—Put the coffee pot on and call in the neighbors for a "kaffe klatch." You have a muffin coffee cake in the oven and it's at its best when served warm. No trouble at all to make with muffin mix.

Malaria is one of the oldest. The Caroline group has more than 500 islands.

Let's All Have Coffee Cake

A visit to a Scandinavian kitchen will always find the coffee pot on the stove and luscious home-baked pastries and coffee breads ready to eat.

This coffee tradition is fast becoming Americanized with the ever-popular coffee break, and modern homemakers are constantly looking for new and easy snacks to accompany their morning coffee.

Here's the answer to add that special something to your next "kaffe klatch." It's a light-as-a-muffin coffee cake with sweet swirls of blackberry jam throughout and frosted with just the right amount of thin white icing.

And you can serve it hot-from-the-oven with just a moment's notice because it is so easy to make from a muffin mix. And it's that quick swirl of jam that adds the extra touch to make it a "kaffe kaka" worth raving about! Here's the recipe as created for

"kaffe tid" in the Betty Crocker kitchens.
JAM SWIRL COFFEE CAKE
Heat oven to 400 degrees (mod. hot). Make Quick Raisin Bran Bread as directed on Raisin Bran muffin mix pkg. Pour into greased 8" pie pan. Dot 1/2 cup blackberry preserve here and there on top of batter. Cut through batter several times with spoon or knife. Bake 20 to 25 min. Cool slightly, then drizzle Thin White Icing (recipe below) over coffee cake.
Thin White Icing: Mix 1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 1 tsp. milk and a few drops lemon juice.

Annual Pontiac Press Fish Contest Opens Saturday

Pike, Bass, and Bluegills Also Eligible; Weight Is Considered

Saturday is an important day for Oakland County fishermen. The trout and pike season opens April 29 and so does the annual Pontiac Press Fishing Contest. The start of the contest has been moved up six weeks over previous years.

The reason is the addition of a new class. For the first time in Press contest history, rainbow trout will become eligible. Northern pike, bass and bluegills are the other categories.

A $50 U.S. Savings Bond will be awarded to the angler bringing in the heaviest pike and black bass before the contest closes Sept. 12, two days after the close of the regular trout season. Bonds of $25 each will be the reward for turning in the heaviest rainbow and bluegill.

Following are the contest rules: 1. The contest will begin Saturday, April 29, and close Sept. 12. 2. Oakland County residents are the only fishermen eligible. 3. The fish must be caught in Oakland County. 4. Fish taken in private lakes, ponds, streams or commercially operated waters are not eligible. 5. All entries must be brought to The Pontiac Press sports department for weighing. Pictures will be made of new leaders in each class or unusual catches.

The entries will be accepted in the sports department 30 a day through Friday from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. and on Saturday from 7 a.m. to noon. No entries will be accepted in this division until the regular season starts June 17.

Bluegills, rainbows and pike become eligible Saturday. There is no closed season on bluegills. Rainbows were added to the contest because of the number of lakes in the county containing this trout. Several streams are also stocked each year. The increasing number of rainbows caught in Oakland County during the last couple of years was another deciding factor.

To give fishermen some idea what has won in the past, here are last year's prize winners: Duane Larrance, Waterford, 12 pound 6 ounce northern pike; Robert C. Yontz, Pontiac, 7 pound 12 ounce black bass; Dick Blom, Holy, 1 pound 5-ounce bluegill. Yontz has won the contest more than once.

No angler can win more than one division.

Plan Archery Banquet
The annual Mid-Lakes Conservation Association's archery league banquet will be May 13 at the Dayton Inn. Trophies will be presented to the winning teams and individuals.

Midnight Prowlers on Area Trout Lakes

About 11:30 p.m. Friday night, boats will begin plowing through the waters of several Oakland County lakes. "This is the place," a husky voice will say. Two soft splashes will indicate that fore and aft anchors have been sent to the bottom, about 20 feet below the keel.

At 12:01 a.m. Saturday, a few minutes later, lines will be dropped over the side and sent to the bottom. Hooks on the ends of the lines will be baited with worms, nightcrawlers, crawfish, wigglers, minnows, salmon eggs or other morsels. Some will use spoons, spinners and flies.

Other fishermen will be slipping through the woods or quietly easing riverboats into position on streams and lakes between 40 miles north of Pontiac. These hardy souls, the vanguard of the 100,000 anglers who will begin appearing at sunrise, will use essentially the same equipment and bait as their brethren in Oakland County.

The 1961 trout season will be officially under way. Because of the opening day tradition, the bulk of the trout fishermen will be on the water.

Special regulations apply at the Bald Mountain, Davisburg and Fenton trout ponds. Fishing hours are from one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset. Only flies can be used and the daily limit is two trout. The fish must be at least 10 inches long.

Streams in Northern Michigan should be in peak condition unless the rain continues. Flies and bait should be used. The fish must be at least 10 inches long.

Shooting Preserves Still Not Prospering

LANSING (AP) — After three years, shooting preserves still aren't catching on too well in Michigan.

Preserve operators wound up another season last month with out shooting business by much over last year.

Most operators, however, are still enthusiastic about their projects. Their numbers are expanding, and so, in many cases, are the size of their operations.

Currently, there are 45 licensed preserves and about 40 in operation. Operators, who in a number of cases are running preserves worth upward of $100,000, are counting on a business upturn in a year or two.

They are basing their hopes on experience in other states, where preserves have been operating longer and where most successful preserves didn't begin to make money until the third or fourth year in business.

Most preserves are closed to the public, open to shooting only on a membership basis or by other special arrangements. Twenty are pay-as-you-go operations available for public shooting.

"Those who are making money seem to be those who are recruiting customers from business and industry," said F. S. Stuever, who looks after the program for the State Conservation Department.

"Those who are looking for the daily fee shooter coming down the road are having a heck of a time getting off the ground," he said.

Most preserves concentrate solely on raising pheasants. Half a dozen or so release ducks as well and a few deal with smaller birds.

Last year, 25,816 pheasants were released and 16,254, or 63 per cent, were shot. A moderate increase was reported this year.

Depending on the size of the preserve, a certain percentage of birds released must be permitted to go free as targets for hunters on public lands.

Shooters knocked down about 3,700 ducks this year, the same as in 1960.

"Michigan hunters don't seem to be inclined so much to pay for their shooting as they are in some other states," said Stuever. "They are willing to spend considerable money to hunt deer, but not to hunt small game."

Michigan's vast public hunting range, considerably larger than most other midwest states, is probably the chief reason, Stuever said.

The legislature took steps two years ago to encourage preserve shooting, lengthening the season so that it could open on Sept. 15 and increasing the percentage of birds that may be shot.

Stuever figures that the next year or two probably will be the years of decision for most operators. Many of those who still aren't making any money at the end of the 1961 season likely will close their gates and look for a more profitable business, he said.

Nesting Season Under Way
The weather between now and June 15 will greatly influence Michigan pheasant hunting next fall.

"The spring nesting period is crucial," says Charles Shick, Michigan State University wildlife specialist. "Cold wet weather can mean many lost nests and a heavy death rate for young birds."

Hens will start building nests soon. They look for covered areas, especially near fence rows. They sit on their eggs for 22 to 24 days before chicks hatch in late May and early June. A few may hatch as late as July.

Each nest usually has 10 to 12 eggs. Nine to 11 of these hatch on the average, but only half of the new chicks survive until fall.

The hen hatches her eggs with no help from her husband.

She raises one brood each summer. If her eggs are destroyed, she usually tries again and again until she has that brood. This often happens when nests are ruined by the first cutting in hay fields.

The hen and her babies stay together until the young are about three-fourths grown. They eat mostly insects.

"The hen's husband is a real gay blade," Shick remarks. "He spends most of his time showing off his fine plumage to his three or twelve wives. Even after the young are hatched, he continues to show off instead of looking after his children and bringing them food."

A cock pheasant establishes his "crowing grounds" in April. He apparently attracts hens to his area by crowing and by flapping his wings to display his beauty. His area ranges from one-half to several acres in size. Other roosters entering this region are usually in for a fight.

"A cock generally visits his crowing ground in the morning and evening throughout the breeding season," Shick says. "He may even defend his ground after the vegetation has been plowed under."

Boys Club Members Try Smelt Dipping

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Writer, Pontiac Press
EAST TAWAS—Members of the Pontiac Boys Club found the fishing to be fair or poor, depending on what they were after, in Northern Michigan last weekend.

The boys traveled to the Alpena area by bus Saturday for some smelt dipping. Sunday they were unloading their fishing equipment here at the state boat dock that reaches out into Tawas Bay.

"The smelt dipping was only fair," said Gerald Larson, the club's executive director, "but I understand we had much better luck than anyone around Tawas."

"The boys dipped two milk cans full. They say the smelt didn't run in this area last night."

Larson watched his charges bundle up against the chill wind blowing inland from Lake Huron before they headed out on the dock in hopes of getting a can or two of perch.

"I promised the boys they could go fishing on this trip," said the director. "The weather isn't the best, but they insisted on holding me to my promise."

About 15 people were dangling worms and minnows in the ice green water when the boys arrived on the dock. Only a handful of perch had been taken. Those in the pails were nice ones, however, measuring 9 to 13 inches.

Boys Club members found the fishing hadn't improved. The smelt run that had materialized earlier in the week in the Tawas River, Whitney Drain (stinging bridge) and at Bear Track stopped Saturday. About 1,000 hardy anglers welded their long-handled nets in these locations Saturday night only to return home with few if any smelt.

The skies turned overcast Sunday afternoon and the temperature began dropping. A small run started up the Whitney Drain about 3 a.m. One Saginaw couple, dipping from shore, took a bucket full about an hour. Most of the fish were females, 6 to 8 inches long.

Only a handful were dipping at the time, but everyone was getting a smelt or two per dip. A stronger run appeared about 11 p.m. Sunday.

Two pike, both loaded with eggs and weighing about six pounds each, found themselves in wire smelt nets. Both were released.

The run is expected to begin tapering off toward the end of this week.

There should be some moving up stream this weekend. Trout fishermen might think about taking a net along. It might keep some of them from coming home empty handed.

Smelt are selling at 10 cents a pound in the area of the Tawas. Suckers being lifted from the Huron River at Omer can be purchased at stream-side for 13 cents per pound.

The sucker run has dropped off, but a few of the big, square nets are dropped into the water each night. Streams flowing into Lake Huron between Omer and Alpena are slightly above mid-summer levels because of the rain. The water is very discolored.

A couple of dry days is all that will be needed to make trout streams low and clear, a condition not seen this early for many years.

Fly fishermen will like these conditions.

Northern, Walleyes State 'Deer King' Faster With Buck Than on Trigger
LANSING (AP)—Michigan's self-style "deer king" was sure enough a fast man with a buck, says the State Conservation Department. But he bought rather than shot his buck last year, the department charged.

Everett E. Tucker, head of the department's enforcement division, said Charles Douglas, 50, of Haslett, is free on $150 bond pending arraignment in justice court at Kingsford, Dickinson County, on a charge of illegal purchase of a deer.

Tucker said Douglas has appeared on television shows and been featured in newspapers as Michigan's "Deer King." He claimed to have shot 33 bucks in 33 years of hunting, Tucker said.

Ray Nord of Hardwood was arrested for selling the deer to Douglas, Tucker said, and admitted the sale for $20. Tucker said Douglas also is charged with illegal possession of a bear carcass. Douglas will be arraigned on the deer charge at Kingsford May 8.

Beetles Are Exhibited
Beetles are featured in a new exhibit at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford.

Thirteen odd and interesting-shaped beetles are displayed which might be discovered in a person's National Invitation Tournament basketball championships.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Coach Joe Lapchick of St. John's has removed three Redmen teams to National Invitation Tournament basketball championships.

Forest Fire Toll Up in State This Year
Michigan's hopes for another record season in forest fire control went up in a puff of smoke during the week ending April 16.

The weekend's assortment of pouring rain and blustering snow came too late to check fires which raged through 1,215 acres during the April 16-16 period. As a result, the state's 1961 fire toll rose to 3,084 acres, some 100 acres above last year's all-time low.

Stuever figures that the next year or two probably will be the years of decision for most operators. Many of those who still aren't making any money at the end of the 1961 season likely will close their gates and look for a more profitable business, he said.

New Packaging Plant to Locate in Rochester.

Area Must Raise $30,000 to Be Certain of Aerosol

By DON FERMOYLE

ROCHESTER — A $700,000 aerosol packaging company will be the first new industry to locate here through the efforts of the Rochester Area Development Corp. (RADCO).

Although negotiations are not yet completed, RADCO officials today reported the proposed acquisition of the custom canning plant as their first major success in a drive to draw new industry to the area.

The exact site of the plant—which would be used for the manufacture of pressurized metal dispensers—will be disclosed at a later date, according to Thurley E. Allen, RADCO president.

"We expect to have preliminary agreements negotiated within 30 days," Allen stated.

RADCO, an organization formed by the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce specifically for the purpose of attracting industrial developments such as the canning plant, now is launching a drive to raise $30,000 in the community.

"There is a requirement by the Small Business Administration that $30,000 be raised in the community," Allen explained. "Approximately $30,000 of that amount already is available."

John Patterson, financial chairman of the plant project for RADCO, said $30,000 in the form of subscriptions was received at the RADCO stockholder's meeting where plans for the proposed company were approved.

Under the plan, the plant would be purchased by RADCO, mortgaged by the Small Business Administration and sold on a lease-purchase arrangement to the proposed Rochester Aerosol Corp.

Operating capital then would be furnished by the new company.

Each subscriber to RADCO stock or debentures will have the opportunity to purchase common stock in the Rochester Aerosol Corp.

MAKING STOCK OFFER

Although $30,000 must be raised in the Rochester area, offers to purchase stock already have come from investors in Detroit, New York and Toronto, RADCO officials said.

Besides giving residents of the community an opportunity for local investment, the plant would provide jobs for about 35 persons and broaden the tax base of the Rochester-Avon Township area.

RADCO spokesmen, who believe that the canning plant will be the first in a series of new industries drawn here through their organization, pointed out that this type of manufacturing concern would diversify the industry of this area.

The metal containers which would be manufactured at the plant are the type used to dispense hair sprays, insecticides and household cleaners.

Other top officials of RADCO are William Mitzfeld, vice president; L. Rex Bebout, secretary; and Neil Hartwig, treasurer.

High school faculty members will be guests of the evening.

PTSA Will Dine, Install Its Officers

The Avondale Parent-Teacher-Student Association will have a combined potluck supper and installation of officers tomorrow at the high school.

High school faculty members will be guests of the evening.

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — Examination of Fire Chief Sam D. Mitchell, charged with embezzling road materials from the Oakland County Road Commission, will be held here at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Justice Court.

Mitchell demanded examination at his arraignment last night before the Peace Court of Cash. Mitchell was released on a $2,500 personal bond.

The fire chief is charged with using county asphalt to make a driveway on his home at 3979 Mitchelldale St.

He is accused of converting more than 20 tons of asphalt material to his own use between May 19, 1959, and Sept. 1, 1960. The material was valued at $1,000.

Mitchell still remains as fire chief and it is expected that the Township Board will take some action in the matter when it meets at 2 p.m. today.

By JOHN M. BRIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration is reported to be considering possible use of military force against the Castro regime in Cuba if other means eventually fail to put an end to the island's pro-Communist rule.

Employment of force as a last resort is said to be of several plans under study here for dealing with the Cuban crisis. Others include the application of political and economic sanctions against Cuba through joint action with Latin American allies.

Some officials believe that as the situation develops following the unsuccessful rebel invasion last week, other American governments might ultimately be willing to participate even in military operations against Cuba. The United States is trying to convince them through diplomatic consultation that Cuba as a Communist base is a threat to the entire Western Hemisphere.

Some of the possible lines of anti-Castro action under consideration by President Kennedy are near final decision.

CONSIDER BLOCKADE
They include:
Naval blockade — In Kennedy's

view this would be an act of war and probably not a very effective move since a blockade is aimed at strangling a nation slowly.

Economic embargo — A partial embargo already is in effect. The greatest single diplomatic disadvantage of a total embargo is that it would subject the United States to propaganda charges of starving the Cuban people. Cubans still can buy foodstuffs and medicines from the United States.

Another anti-Castro operation by Cuban refugees — some authorities think such an action might still be the way out for the United States if the operation could be properly organized and supported on a large scale.

Kennedy reportedly is pleased with the success he has thus far achieved in rallying bipartisan political support for a tough and determined U. S. anti-Castro policy.

The latest evidence of this support came Tuesday from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a Republican party leader, who had just conferred with Kennedy for an hour.

CALLS FOR UNITY
"I think it is time for all Americans to stand united behind the President in support of whatever action becomes necessary to defend freedom," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller expressed the view that the presence of Castro in Cuba, considered in the light of world developments generally, has threatened the security of the United States.

Prizes of carved California wood were presented to them by Warren Taylor, publisher of the Monterey (Calif.) News-Post, chairman of the competition. They were Charles W. Utter, editor of the Western (R. I.) Sun, and his brother George, business manager.

The editor was winner in the under-15,000 circulation category, and his brother, second.

Another New Englander, William F. Lacey, assistant publisher of the Lawrence (Mass.) Eagle and Tribune, winner in the 15,000-30,000 circulation category.

Charles Utter was faced with a photography problem. A ship launching and his deadline came.

His brother's problem was in advertising. A heavy snowstorm reduced the value of a special spring advertising section the year before.

This year, with advertising in a way of a repetition, he sold a similar section by guaranteeing that if snow or rain fell to a certain depth the advertisers would get a free run the next week.

It stayed clear.

His view appeared to give fresh meaning to a statement which Kennedy made in a speech last Thursday to the American Society of Newspaper Editors. He said then that if the inter-American doctrine of noninterference in the internal affairs of another country became merely an excuse for lack of action, the United States government "will not hesitate" to protect the security "of our own nation."

Prior to his meeting with Rockefeller, Kennedy had conferred with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Eisenhower said the count-down should support the President, who has the responsibility for determining policy. Nixon, in advance of his White House call last week, also had spoken of supporting the President.

Words of backing also were relayed from former President Harry S. Truman. Eisenhower's Democratic predecessor, by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. After meeting with Truman in Kansas City Tuesday Johnson said Truman supports a "course of courage" in the handling of world crises.

SEEKS ADVICE
In his talks with the leaders of both major political parties Kennedy is reported to have sought their advice on possible future U. S. actions toward Cuba. He also provided them with information on the collapse of the Cuban rebel assault.

The President also is understood to have discussed with them a number of other world trouble spots, including Laos and its Southeast Asian neighbor, Vietnam. There is increasing fear here that the imposition of a cease-fire in Laos—agreed to by Britain and the Soviet Union—will be followed by an increase in Communist pressure on the pro-Western government of South Viet Nam.

In fact, authorities here are deeply concerned about the outlook for both Laos and Viet Nam. Even with an end to the Laotian fighting, they expect the Communist rebels will use every device of political pressure and subversion to continue their campaign to take over the country.

While the search for a new anti-Castro strategy is occupying much time in the White House and State Department, indications are that Kennedy may be several weeks in coming to a decision on his next move.

The President wants time to develop consultations with Latin American governments. He also wants to allow time for a study on why the Cuban rebel assault failed and how mistakes of that operation can be avoided in the future.

The attack on Cuba was carried out by refugees from Castro's rule. But officials here no longer try to make any secret of the fact that the Washington government approved the operation and had in fact provided training, funds and weapons to make the assault possible.

One evident result is that the Kennedy administration is now publicly committed to the overthrow of Castro's rule. In its view Cuba has become a part of the worldwide Communist machine for conducting attacks on non-Communist nations by means of propaganda, subversion, infiltration and other cold war tactics.
