Major Military Purge Reported in S. Vietnam

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnam's chief of state and leading presidential candidate, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, said today a plan has been drawn for a major military purge of corrupt and inefficient officers, including some generals.

★ ★ ★

One report indicated that 50 military officers including "some generals" will be tried on charges of inefficiency and corruption.

Another account from reliable sources said the shake-up was already under way, with five ranking generals marked for removal or transfer.

One effect of the shake-up is reported to be increasing influence for Northerners in top military positions. This already is a source of friction in the ruling junta.

★ ★ ★

Thieu told newsmen the generals were discussing a plan that will go "from generals to second lieutenants."

He denied that any generals had been fired yet, saying: "We have not taken any decision, but it's our plan."

★ ★ ★

Qualified unofficial sources reported that Maj. Gen. Linh Quang Vien, the minister of security, and Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, the chief of staff of the joint general staff, would be relieved of their military duties and sent abroad as ambassadors.

These sources said Maj. Gen. Tran Ngoc Tam, South Vietnam's coordinator with the Free World Forces Command, and Maj. Gen. Bui Huu Nhon, commander of the Thu Duc military school would leave the army.

A fifth general was relieved of his duties, the sources said, but his identity could not be learned.

Reasons for the shake-up were not immediately made known.

★ ★ ★

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said several weeks ago, however, the armed forces would be overhauled and tightened up from top to bottom.

Thieu said some province chiefs also would be involved in the shake-up but probably not until after the Sept. 3 presidential elections.

"We don't like to disturb the elections," he said.

Most province chiefs are ranking military officers.

COULD NOT SAY

Thieu said he could not say how many officers would be involved in the changes "because it would create some demoralization for others who believe they are."

NEARING COMPLETION—Pontiac's busiest municipally owned parking lot at Saginaw and West Huron has been completely asphalt paved as part of a $41,000 renovating project. Still to come are lighting, trees in the darker squares around the perimeter of the 100-space lot and shrubbery. Improvement costs come from the lot's operation which is about $2,400 net per month. ACCUSED GUNMAN — Detectives escort Candy Michael Hughes (center), 23, of 2123 Willow Beach, Keego Harbor, who was held without bond in Miami, Fla., on four counts of assault with intent to murder. Hughes is a suspect in the sniper shooting that wounded four men. (Related picture, page A-2.)

Shotgun Blast Hits 4 Youths; Area Man Held

Four youths were injured — none seriously — when someone fired a shotgun blast into their midst as they stood near a Pontiac Township intersection late last night.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies later arrested 65-year-old Floyd R. Brian of 2211 Pontiac, Pontiac Township.

TO BE ARRAIGNED

Charged with assault to do great bodily harm, Brian was to be arraigned this afternoon before Pontiac Township Justice R. Grant Graham.

Brian was apprehended in one of the apartments, officers said.

Shot about 11 p.m. while standing off the road at the corner of Pontiac Road and Opdyke were John Reigle, 21, of 919 Spence, Pontiac Township; Charles Yockey, 17, of 715 Cameron; Jay Caldwell, 21, of 110 E. Beverly; and Floyd Schell, 19, of 9416 Whipple Shores, Independence Township.

All were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Deputy Gabriel Kish said he was cruising in the intersection while on routine patrol when he heard the shot and approached the youths to investigate.

Kish called for an ambulance and for more deputies, who joined him in the search of a building at 2211 Pontiac which houses a business firm downstairs and two apartments on the second floor.

Brian was apprehended in one of the apartments, officers said.

★ ★ ★

Six guns — all either rifles or shotguns — were found in his apartment, along with a spent 12-gauge shotgun shell, according to investigators.

'ONLY ONE SHOT'

"There was only one shot fired as far as we know," said Capt. Leo Hazen, chief of sheriff's detectives.

Hazen disclosed that the sheriff's department has received quite a few complaints from residents in the neighborhood about youths being too noisy.

However, a police officer near the scene said this situation didn't prevail last night.

Head of U.S. Nazis Is Killed by Sniper

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—George Lincoln Rockwell, head of the American Nazi party, was shot and killed today by a sniper, Arlington police said.

Police said Rockwell was in a parking lot across the street from the Nazi party headquarters in this Washington suburb when he was shot.

They said the sniper, who fired from the roof of a building, escaped.

Police said they were looking for a man dressed in a trench coat.

Police said the victim was struck in the chest in the 6000 block of Wilson Blvd.

KILLED INSTANTLY

Arlington police officer John E. Mitchell said policemen who rushed to the scene reported the victim was Rockwell, 47, well-known to most of Arlington's police force.

Rockwell apparently was killed instantly by the sniper's bullet.

Arlington police were combing the mixed commercial and residential area for the unknown killer.

★ ★ ★

An ambulance called to the scene remained for 30 minutes while the victim's body lay on the ground following the noon shooting.

FREQUENTLY AT DEMONSTRATIONS

Rockwell frequently appeared around the country leading counter-demonstrations during civil rights marches.

Rockwell also was a frequent speaker before college audiences. His appearances usually brought out pickets and hecklers and often produced controversy over whether he should be allowed to appear.

Warmer Today; Rain Tomorrow

Partly cloudy and warmer is the forecast for this afternoon and tonight.

The highs are expected to reach 82 to 88. Lows will range between 58 and 66.

The cloudy skies will continue into tomorrow with showers predicted. A clearing trend is expected Sunday bringing somewhat cooler temperatures.

The low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 66. The temperature rose to 76 at 2 p.m.

4 Wounded in Florida

Keego Man Held in Snipings

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police in Miami suburbs today were trying to unravel the riddle of a smiling sniper from Michigan while two men lay seriously wounded in hospitals.

★ ★ ★

A young man with a crew cut and piercing eyes who had been described in a Michigan missing persons report as unstable and depressed was held without bond on four charges of assault with intent to murder.

The suspect, Candy Michael Hughes, 23, of 2123 Wiliam Beach, Keego Harbor, was arrested by detectives who kicked in his motel room door after a college student said he saw Hughes reloading his 38-caliber pistol beside a car whose description had been widely broadcast.

Coral Gables Police Lt. Webster Preston said Hughes reportedly had an argument with his family in Michigan before coming to Florida earlier this week.

★ ★ ★

Police said the shootings began about 2:30 p.m. yesterday when K. D. Orr, 34, driving a school board truck, was cut by flying glass. A bullet had shattered his truck windshield.

TRUCKER PARALYZED

Ten minutes later Thomas York, 46, was paralyzed from the waist down when a bullet slammed into the cab of his truck and lodged in his spine.

"Something hit me in the left side," York said, "knocked me over. I thought maybe a tire blew out. I didn't know I was shot."

Levi Anderson, 48, in pain from his wounds, could not talk.

★ ★ ★

The fourth victim was Calvin Joyner, 29, who was nicked once when a man in a car pulled beside him and blasted three shots into the auto.

"He had kind of a smile on his face," Joyner said. "He looked like he was getting a kick out of it."

An off-duty Miami Springs patrolman, Robert Miller, chased the small car with Michigan license plates. Miller said the man only fired at him when he tried to pull alongside and identified himself as a policeman.

Miller got the license number, and Coral Gables police began back-checking.

★ ★ ★

Five hours later, police said, Eric Monaghan, 23, of Washington, D. C., saw Hughes loading a pistol.

"Who are you planning on killing?" Monaghan said he asked Hughes.

RECALLED BROADCASTS

"He just gave me a weird look and didn't say anything," said Monaghan, who said he then recalled the radio broadcasts about the shooting which mentioned the car with Michigan tags.

★ ★ ★

Detectives surrounded the motel and arrested Hughes in his room dressed only in shorts. They said they found a 38-caliber pistol hidden in a bathroom wastebasket.

UAW Strike Vote Lopsided

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers are rolling up overwhelming majorities to authorize a strike against General Motors, Ford or Chrysler in support of new contract demands.

Ballots received from Chrysler UAW members had 36,492 in favor of authorization and 1,532 against. At Ford the margin is 32,976 to 966.

The vote at Pontiac Motor Local 653 followed the trend with 89 per cent voting in favor of strike.

Some 8,000 workers voted yesterday and this morning and tabulations were completed at 11 a.m., according to Local President Wayne Anable.

The UAW has disclosed no figures on General Motors voting, but usually reliable sources report the margin there also is 90-plus per cent in favor of authorizing a strike, if negotiators deem one necessary.

Industrial Giant Henry J. Kaiser Is Dead

HENRY J. KAISER

HONOLULU (AP)—Henry J. Kaiser—founder of a billion-dollar industrial empire spread over 40 countries — died in his sleep yesterday. He was 85.

★ ★ ★

Kaiser was at his oceanfront estate about 10 miles from Honolulu when he was stricken by a circulatory and heart condition.

At his side were his wife, Alyce, whom he married after the death of his first wife in 1951; his son, Edgar; and Edgar's wife.

Kaiser, the founder of a $2.7-billion complex, was involved in a wide variety of interests: giant dams such as Shasta; famed Liberty ships of World War II; the familiar Jeep; the Kaiser health centers; cement; aluminum; steel; chemicals; aircraft and missile components and electronic equipment; radio and television stations; hotels; and the latest, a new community of Hawaii-Kai in Honolulu with a projected population of 60,000.

About the only venture in which Kaiser didn't achieve the success he sought was in making cars.

Shasta Dam marked the beginning of his industrial activity. Kaiser's group lost the $36-million construction contract by $263,000.

Although he had no plant, he submitted a bid on cement at 29 cents a barrel under that of a cement combine.

He won the $7.7-million contract, built a cement plant at Permanente, Calif., and launched Kaiser Cement and Gypsum Corp.

★ ★ ★

Shipbuilding provided the big test for Kaiser, who mastered the "impossible" and red tape in World War II.

25 Indicted in Theft of Travelers Checks

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicted 25 persons—including two men linked to the Cosa Nostra and two women—in connection with the theft of $407,000 worth of blank American Express travelers checks at Kennedy Airport a year ago.

A sealed indictment, opened Thursday, accused the 25 of fraudulently passing stolen travelers checks.

Five of the defendants were arrested by FBI agents, arraigned in U.S. District Court and held in bail ranging from $1,000 to $5,000. Many of those accused had been arrested previously.

The murder of a Manhattan man in upstate New York was linked to the case by federal authorities. John Panarello Jr., 32, was found shot to death in a ditch near Monticello, N.Y., on July 11, was named in the indictment as a coconspirator but not as a defendant.

FEDERAL AGENTS

This indicated he may have been cooperating with authorities in cracking the case. Federal agents said he handled $50,000 worth of the stolen travelers checks.

The office of U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said the theft plot was engineered by members of two Cosa Nostra "families."

★ ★ ★

No one has been accused of the actual theft, and the investigation is continuing. Underworld informers reportedly helped the FBI in the case.

★ ★ ★

Edward Meyer, assistant U.S. attorney, said two of the defendants had close syndicate ties. He described Vincent Potenza, 40, of Manhattan as a button man—lieutenant—for the Thomas "Three Finger Brown" Luchese group, and Maurice Savino, 34, of Brooklyn as a nephew of Carlo Gambino, another Cosa Nostra head.

TWO WOMEN

The women indicted in the case were Carol Rabinow of Brooklyn and Mary Susan Flynn of Manhattan. Both are 23.

Government agents said more than $3,000 worth of the checks were cashed by underworld syndicate passers, $28,000 worth were recovered by the FBI and the rest are missing.

★ ★

Checks were cashed in banks and hotels in New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Denver, Dallas, New Orleans, Miami, Las Vegas, Nev., San Juan, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Meyer said the two women were caught by inspection of a list of the numbers of the stolen checks which was circulated to banks, hotels, gambling casinos and other places by American Express.

State School Needs Put at $200 Million

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Association of School Boards has hung a $200-million price tag on the cost of added money needed by the state's school districts, mainly to meet teacher salary demands.

The figure was mentioned Thursday as the association again called on Gov. George Romney to open the October special legislative session to consideration of more money for the districts.

Walter Averill Jr. of Saginaw, association president, said Romney has admitted there is an educational crisis.

"It is his responsibility to make this call," Averill said.

ROMNEY RAPPED

"A man who is in public life who admits there is a crisis and refuses to do anything about it either is insincere or has some other reasons, perhaps political," Averill said.

Romney has consistently refused to open the special session to the school issue, saying he thought the Legislature was not prepared to give any more money to the schools at this time.

More than 200 school districts still have not signed their teachers to contracts although school opening is less than two weeks away.

CRUCIAL ISSUE

"I think the issue is important enough that he (Romney) would want to stay right here," said Averill.

Averill, a former Democratic state chairman, charged Romney with "talking out of both sides of his mouth," on the issue.

Charles Harmon, the governor's press secretary, commented the governor has made his position clear in the question of opening the session to school aid "and I see no reason to elaborate on his position."

The first child was delivered, Correnti said, at 1:03 a.m., and weighed 5 pounds, 2 ounces. The second arrived at 1:42 a.m. weighing 4 pounds, 7 ounces; the third at 1:45 weighed 4 pounds, 3 ounces, and the fourth at 1:47 weighed 5 pounds, 1 ounce.

UAW Voting Lopsidedly to Allow a Strike

Local unions with 375,000 members at GM, 152,000 at Ford and 95,000 at Chrysler are under orders to complete balloting today and to get results to UAW headquarters tonight.

'OVERWHELMING SUPPORT'

Ken Bannon, UAW Ford department director, described early returns from Ford locals as "another demonstration of the membership's overwhelming support of the collective bargaining program" of the union.

A heavy vote for authorization would not mean necessarily there will be a strike.

The Ford Motor Co. served notice today on the United Auto Workers Union it wants to place a limit on the amount a cost of living formula can add to wages over the life of any new contract.

★ ★ ★

This is one contract clause with which UAW President Walter P. Reuther has said there can be "absolutely no tampering."

CALLED TO DETROIT

Local leaders have been called to Detroit, New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Los Angeles, Baltimore and Buffalo.

The International pays strike benefits of $20 a week to single workers, $25 to married workers without children and $30 to those with children.

The UAW strike fund now totals aproximately $67 million.

★ ★ ★

Discussions continue today at main bargaining tables at General Motors and Ford. Except for subcommittee sessions, however, negotiators at Chrysler have recessed for the weekend.

LITTLE PROGRESS

Both sides agree there has been little progress in almost seven weeks of negotiations.

★ ★ ★

Each side claims the other is dragging its feet.

'Auto Talks Look Bleak'

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Ford Motor Co. Vice President Lee A. Iacocca said Wednesday, "There has been nothing in current auto labor talks which would cause us to be encouraged."

★ ★ ★

Iacocca told 150 newsmen at Lincoln Mercury Division's national press preview of its new cars that reports from the Ford negotiators at the Detroit bargaining table indicated the situation was difficult.

★ ★ ★

The Ford vice president-car and truck group said, "The only thing certain in the labor picture is that our contracts with the United Auto Workers Union run out Sept. 6. Beyond that, nobody knows what the outcome will be."

County Board Votes to Join Metro Government Council

By BOB WISLER

Oakland County's Board of Supervisors yesterday gave unanimous approval to a resolution calling for the county to be a part of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (COG).

About 70 of the 87 supervisors were present for the voice vote.

The resolution authorizes county officers to sign an "intergovernmental agreement" which makes Oakland County part of COG.

Oakland thus becomes the first of six eligible county organizations to join the council, which has no taxing or legislative powers.

★ ★ ★

Before taking the vote the supervisors spent almost an hour discussing the merits of contributing to the upkeep of the organization and of being in an organization that Wayne County of Detroit might dominate.

'RESOLUTION OF INTENT'

Oakland County has been participating in the formation of COG but has up to now been doing so under a "resolution of intent" signifying that it intends to join. Signing of the agreement fulfills the intention.

Any organization belonging to COG can withdraw voluntarily on 90 days notice under the agreement.

Some 150 governmental units have been participating in the formation. COG has a potential membership of 345 cities, villages, counties, townships and school districts in Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Washtenaw, St. Clair and Monroe counties.

★ ★ ★

David Levinson of Birmingham, chairman of the county board's ways and means committee, said it would costs the county about $37,000 during 1968 to belong to COG.

CONTINUED SUPPORT

He said $31,700 of this would be a continuation of support of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission and the Supervisors Inter-County Committee.

During this fiscal year the county contributed $20,700 to the regional planning commission and $11,000 to the SICC.

Levinson said the supervisors will receive back some $10,000 this year which can be used toward COG next year.

★ ★ ★

Both of these organizations will be almagamated into the council of governments.

'BIG GAIN'

One big gain, as pointed out by Levinson and William L. Mainland, Milford Township supervisor and a member of the 33-member COG executive committee, is that such a regional organization will be needed in the future to secure federal money.

They said the federal government will not approve money for projects which go beyond local lines and affect larger regions, such as sewer lines, pollution projects, etc., without first clearing it through a regional agency such as COG.

Royal Oak Mayor L. Curtis Potter, another elected member of the COG executive committee said COG will have a technical staff which can be utilized by any community large or small.

★ ★

Roy Wahl, Pontiac Township supervisor, said he thought the more rural communities would "be swallowed up by the City of Detroit."

Levinson said, "I think that's absolutely wrong" because of the method of choosing representatives to COG.

Mainland said that "if representatives were chosen on the basis of population, Detroit and Wayne County would have control.

"In no situation does Wayne County have a majority of votes," he said.

Several members questioned the value of a "committee system." Much of the work of the council is planned so that committees will handle the bulk of the work with a general assembly taking a vote on all issues.

★ ★ ★

Mainland said that because the general assembly has final approval of all matters and can override the executive committee it is too difficult for any committee to get too powerful.

★ ★ ★

Madison Heights Mayor Lee Walker, in backing the council, said when the organization was first formed he had marked reservations but since the method of representation has been formed "my fears have been allayed."

Road Panel Asks County for $2.1-Million Allocation

The board of Oakland County Road Commissioners, as promised, yesterday asked the County Board of Supervisors to provide $2.1 million for road construction in 1968.

The request — backed by the roads committee of the supervisors board — was turned over to the ways and means committee for recommendations.

Indications have been that the supervisors will be reluctant to allocate the $2.1 million for roads, thus making it necessary to make cuts elsewhere in the county budget.

If, as has been predicted, the issue is taken to the voters the road commission estimates that a tax levy of 80 cents for each $1,000 of assessed valuation would provide the $2.1 million.

★ ★ ★

Disappointing state legislation, which turns over to the commission money in gas and weight tax returns for 1968, prompted the request, Commission Chairman Frazer Staman said.

PACKAGE REJECTED

A tax packsge considered by the Legislature, but turned down, would have provided about $1.2 million more, he said.

Staman, in requesting the county supervisors to allocate the money, said a 1909 state statute obliges the board of supervisors "to raise a sufficient tax to keep any county roads or bridges already built in reasonable repair, and in condition reasonably safe and fit for public travel."

He said that during 1966, 30 county organizations had appropriated money and five counties had assessed millage for that purpose.

★ ★ ★

The road commissioners said a detailed study of county road needs had recommended spending $200 million in the next 20 years to meet all road needs.

"Our entire income from the gas and weight taxes is $6.1 million per year and only $2.2 million per year can be spent on construction," the commissioners said.

"We are rapidly losing ground," they added.

In making the request, road commissioners presented an outline showing how road construction in 1968 would be financed if the $2.1 million were allocated.

★ ★ ★

This calls for another $1.3 million in gas and weight taxes, $1 million received from participating cities, and $675,000 from federal aid secondary funds, to be spent on 1968 construction.

This construction involves only primary roads, the commissioners said. "The local road problem is immense and requires some of our available funds."

Drug Lawsuits Will Await NY Verdict

DALLAS (AP) — A federal judge Thursday ordered no action taken on a $12 million anti-trust suit against the Upjohn Co. of Kalamazoo and four other drug firms until a similar suit against three of the companies is decided.

Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin had filed suit Aug. 4, alleging that the five firms conspired to fix prices on drugs sold to state, county and municipal hospitals.

★ ★ ★

Defendants are Chas. Pfizer & Co. Inc. of Delaware, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. of Virginia, American Cyanamid Co. of Maine, Bristol-Myers Co. of Delaware, in addition to Upjohn.

Chas. Pfizer, American Cyanamid, and Bristol-Myers also are defendants in the New York case.

School District Expects Record Staff of 1,050

BIRMINGHAM — The professional staff of the Birmingham School District will be at its largest this fall with about 1,050 personnel.

★ ★ ★

Some 35 teaching positions remain unfilled as of this week. These posts will be filled for the most part by later hirings and by substitute teachers, according to officials.

On the staff are about 442 elementary and 465 secondary school teachers and 65 administrators.

Of the total 229 are new to the school system and 54 will be in their first year's experience.

★ ★ ★

Housing the influx of teachers is proving a problem. District officials urge the community to notify the schools on any available accommodations. Both small apartments and homes are desired.

NEW DIRECTORS

Two new directors of education have been named.

At the post of director of secondary education will be Dr. Norman D. White of 16083 Kirkshire.

He was formerly director of instructional services at a school district in Kankakee, Ill.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Gerald W. Ellis of 17832 Dunblaine will be director of elementary education. He has held administrative positions in Missouri schools.

TO SUCCEED CORLISS

Dr. Ellis replaces Dr. William Corliss who resigned to become superintendent of Lincoln Park Public Schools.

Architect Firm for Jail Picked

Announcement Made by Supervisors' Unit

The County Board of Supervisors Building and Ground Committee yesterday announced to the supervisors that it has selected an architectural firm for the planning of a new Oakland County Jail.

★ ★ ★

The firm, Giffels & Rossetti, Inc., of Detroit, is known for institutional planning.

The supervisors will make the final determination of the selection of the architect.

Earlier this year, they approved a $40,000 expenditure to determine what requirements will be needed in a new jail facility and to develop a schematic plan, expected to be completed by the architect.

★ ★ ★

Selection of the architectural firm capped a long weeding-out process. The county government originally sent out invitations to 21 architects.

★ ★ ★

Ten firms were interviewed by the board of auditors and, of these, four by the buildings and grounds committee.

Oakland's present jail is 46 years old and generally considered obsolete. It has a prisoner capacity of 250 and this has been termed inadequate by Sheriff Frank Irons.

In other business the board of supervisors:

● Authorized the appointment of James E. Pemberton as deputy Oakland County drain commissioner, effective Sept. 1.

● Authorized transfer of federal grant agreements — for installation of an airport instrument landing system — from the City of Pontiac to the county, now owners of the Oakland-Pontiac Airport.

Authorized signing an agreement with the Michigan Aeronautic Commission, which must approve the grant projects.

● Authorized the county's backing the Richton ($590,000) and Brooklyn ($155,000) relief drains in Pontiac with the county's faith and credit. This is a usual procedure for construction of drains throughout the county.

● Gave final approval to a resolution calling for establishing the normal height and level of Cass Lake. The project will be financed over a five-year period by special assessments.

Exam Put Off for Indicted Horse Trainer

The preliminary examination of a 59-year-old Southfield man, indicted last week by Oakland County Grand Juror James S. Thorburn, has been adjourned to 8:30 a.m. Aug. 30.

★ ★ ★

The hearing for Andrew J. Mavros of 114 First originally was scheduled yesterday in the court of Bloomfield Hills Justice Jack Baldwin.

Mavros, a horse trainer at Hazel Park Racetrack, is charged with two offenses — resisting an officer and obstructing justice.

A 37-year-old Madison Heights man, also indicted by the grand jury, stood mute at his arraignment before Baldwin earlier this week.

★ ★ ★

No examination date was set for Ross Skinner, a schoolteacher charged with conspiracy to accept a bribe and conspiracy to solicit a bribe. He was released on $1,000 personal recognizance.

OCTOBER EXAM

The preliminary examination for Peter J. Bellanca of Detroit, general counsel for the Hazel Park Racing Association, will be held sometime in October before Clawson Municipal Court Judge Bristol Hunter.

★ ★ ★

The hearing originally was scheduled Wednesday in Baldwin's court, but assigned to a different judge at Baldwin's request.

★ ★ ★

Indicted by the grand jury last week, Bellanca is charged with perjury.

DETROIT (AP) — A Wayne State University debating team will travel to Expo 67 in Montreal today for a debate with the University of Massachusetts.

McNamara Backs Bombing Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara declared today no American bombing campaign short of attacks on North Vietnam's cities would alone "force Ho Chi Minh's regime into submission."

And, McNamara said, no one has proposed such a radical approach to ending the war.

★ ★ ★

In a detailed defense of the administration's bombing policies, the Pentagon chief said:

"There is little reason to believe that any level of conventional air or naval action, short of sustained and systematic bombing of the population centers, will deprive the North Vietnamese of their willingness to continue to support their government's efforts to upset and take over the government of South Vietnam."

In Waterford, Number to Call Is 674-3111

All offices in the Waterford Township Hall can now be reached by telephone by dialing a single number—674-3111, according to Clerk Arthur J. Salley.

The only exception is the fire station.

★ ★ ★

The common telephone number became effective yesterday after a new telephone switchboard system was installed in the Township Hall.

The new system is to enable citizens to make quicker contact with the various officials and departments in the building.

25 in 3 Months Under New Law

Colorado Sees Abortion Rise

DENVER (UPI) — Colorado, once threatened with the title of "abortion mecca of the world," has recorded 25 therapeutic abortions during the first three months a new liberalized abortion law, state official revealed yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Although the figure does not appear high numerically, it is 2½ times the number of abortions reported in all of 1966.

Opponents of the controversial measure said the increased number points to the truth of their warnings.

Fetal death records in the Colorado Health Department reveal that the 25 abortions were performed between April 25, the day Gov. John A. Love signed the bill into law, and July 31.

★ ★ ★

The bulk of the abortions, 15, were reported during July. And 16 of the 25 women whose pregnancies were terminated were from out-of-state. Some came from as far away as New York.

AGE RANGE

The 25 women involved ranged in age from 12 to 41. All but one of the abortions took place in Denver hospitals.

The reports showed that 15 of the abortions were performed for psychiatric reasons, two because of rubella (German measles), one because of suicide risk and one because of medical risk.

"On the other six reports, doctors simply listed "therapeutic abortion" as the reason.

Robbers Cool 3T

DETROIT (AP)—Three gunmen herded 31 customers and employes into a meat cooler of a supermarket on Detroit's Northwest Side Wednesday and escaped with $2,500. The manager, Nash Kainaya, 32, was pistol-whipped when he said he did not know the combination to the safe.

Italian City Is Going Red

MILAN, Italy (AP) — They plan to pave the town red in Milan, or at least part of it.

Art experts in the city public works office have decided after considerable study that red paving can bring out the beauty of ancient architecture far better than black asphalt.

So for a starter, Avenue Vittorio Emanuele and San Babila Square near Milan's Gothic cathedral will get a macadam layer made of crushed red stone. Work begins in a few weeks.

11-Day State Fair Opens Today

DETROIT (UPI) — The 118th Michigan State Fair opened in Detroit today promising 11 days of entertainment and displays for both the city slicker and the country boy.

From bubble-gum blowing and husband-calling contests to displays of cherries canned in 1893, the nation's oldest and biggest state fair has something for everybody.

The gates to the fairgrounds at Woodward and 8 Mile Road opened at noon. More than a million visitors are expected between now and the closing date, Labor Day, Sept. 4.

Today's fair bears little resemblance to the September day in 1849 when women in hoop skirts and men in galluses took a break from harvest work, hitched up the mare and gathered for the exhibit of the Michigan State Agricultural Society.

AREA NEWS

* * *

About 10,000 people attended that three-day forerunner of today's fair. Premiums totaling $800 dollars were awarded for articles designed to promote the agriculture and home industries of Michigan.

$142,000 IN PRIZES

This year more than 20,000 entries will compete for a record $142,000 in prizes in the agricultural, livestock, horse show, and community arts divisions.

The fair's theme, "Consumer Meets Producer," is aimed at bringing the city slicker and the country boy, gray flannel and blue denim, closer together.

The entertainment, most of which is free, includes, Diana Ross and the Supremes, Sergio Mendes, Buddy Rich and a three-ring circus.

* * *

Fair officials are hoping that they will have the sixth straight year with attendance over one million. Last year's figure was 1,195,781.

ADMISSION FEES

After today, the gates will open at 8 a.m. each day. Admission is $1.50, with children under 12 admitted free when accompanied by an adult. Before 3 p.m. each day, elderly persons will be admitted for half price.

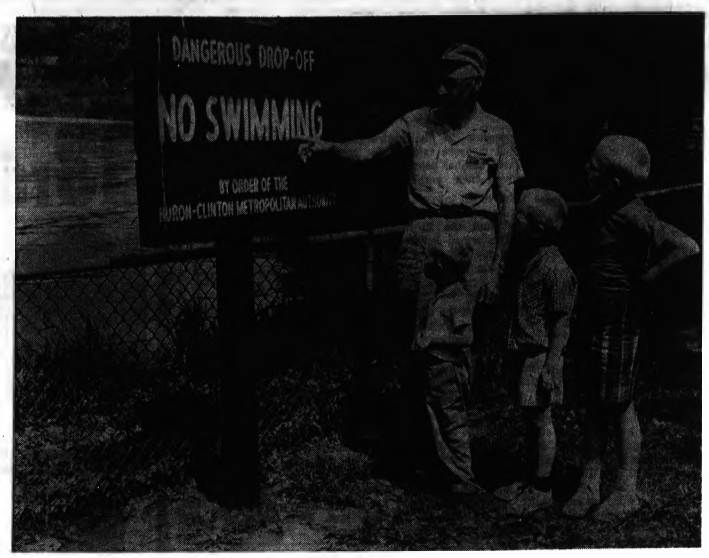
* * *

At the Music Shell on the 164-acre fairgrounds, Sergio Mendes and Brazil '66 appear today and Saturday; Buddy Greco, Buddy Rich and The King Cousins, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday; the New Vaudeville Band, Tuesday and Wednesday; the Sandpipers, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 1; and Diana Ross and the Supremes, Sept. 2, 3 and 4.

An auto thrill show is planned in front of the grandstand today through Saturday.

* * *

The Barnes and Carruthers Circus will appear Monday and Saturday, followed by two days of the Johnnny Cash Show.



TIPS ON LAKE—Children enjoying the facilities at Cass Lake, West Bloomfield Township, get a few safety pointers. Advising them is Clayton Weeks, supervisor at Marshbank Metropolitan Park on the lake. Listening are Doug Sanders, 4, of 415 Marion, Waterford Township, and John Sanders, 6, and his brother, Edward, 9, of 44 E. Newport, Pontiac. The lake and park have been used extensively by families and organizations this summer and will close after Labor Day.

Slated Imlay Fair Is Hailed

IMLAY CITY — The Eastern Michigan Fair due to run here from Sept. 4-9 is touted as being "the best ever."

Kenneth Ruby, fair manager and secretary, said every bit of available space in the fair buildings has been sold.

The number of exhibits is the largest in the history of the fair. Ruby said he would have a $1-million machinery exhibit plus the Eastern Michigan Steam Engine Show.

The harness racing, highlight of the annual event, is expected to draw more than 400 horses from all over the country. The Michigan Colt Stakes will be run Wednesday and Thursday night, and Ruby said he expected that the track record would be broken and lowered this year.

* * *

Interspersed with the racing program are variety shows featuring many name performers including those of the Grand Ole Opry and the Camaro Auto Daredevils.

AGRICULTURAL DISPLAYS

The agricultural displays promise full livestock barns, varied home economic entries, youth exhibits, and vegetable and fruit booths.

Ruby said a display by the Chamber of Commerce will feature the local industries of the area.

"Given a break with the weather, we can't help but beat last year's 100,000 attendance record," Ruby said.

Sand, Gravel OK Hinges on Studies

AVON TOWNSHIP — Approval of a sand and gravel operation on land abutting Sheldon and Tienken roads hinges on studies to be made by the township engineers and the building inspector.

At issue is the request of developer Sidney Weinberger to take out sand and gravel and conduct a land-fill operation on the land before making it the site of a residential development.

Weinberger said he could agree to five stipulations recommended by the planning commission, but that two others were impossible to meet.

In essence the requirements state that the operation be confined during its first phase to 10 to 15 acres in the southwest portion and that plans for all phases of the activity be submitted for approval to proper authorities.

* * *

The points said by Weinberger to be impossible were those dealing with time schedules and phase approval. Technicalities of scheduling remain to be worked out.

Teacher Pact Near

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — The school board and the Brandon Teachers Association reached tentative agreement last night on a new contract. The board approved the pact, but the teachers still have to give their okay for final agreement.

Wixom Postmaster Approved by Senate

WIXOM — The Senate approved yesterday the nomination of Elwood J. Grubb as postmaster of Wixom.

Grubb, 5100 Grand River, has served as acting postmaster since Feb. 19, 1966. Since then, he had taken the civil service exams for prospective postmasters.

* * *

It is customary for those who have not taken a civil service exam before being appointed head of a local post office to serve as acting postmaster for 12 to 18 months.

Grubb also is the Wixom justice of the peace, a position he has held for three years.

2 Scouts 1st in Troop to Become Eagles

WALLED LAKE — Dale Schnepp and Lothair Hardesty are the first members of Boy Scout Troop 164 to receive the Eagle awards.

City Manager Royce Downey presented the awards before a court of honor in the city offices.

* * *

Dale, 14, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schnepp, 1732 Ashton. He has earned 21 merit badges and has served in several positions including patrol leader, senior and junior patrol leader, and presently junior assistant scoutmaster.

* * *

Dale began Boy Scouts at age 11, with Troop 55 of Dublin School, Union Lake. His father is his present troop's scoutmaster.

* * *

Lothair, now a senior patrol leader, has been in scouting since 1960. He served as assistant patrol leader, patrol leader and librarian for a troop in Tecumseh.

Lothair, 16, also attends summer camp each year and has participated in Scout Council leadership training courses. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lou Hardesty, 2360 Keith, Union Lake.

Sale of Addison Township Mansion Stirs Memories

By JEAN SAILE

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — Detroit's society once coveted weekend invitations to the Tudor-style mansion recently purchased by the Riggers Survivors and Pension Fund of Detroit.

Located at 525 Rowland, the 18-room mansion can best be viewed across Shadow Lake from Army Road.

The home for the last 10 years of Dr. Allen Collins, a Detroit orthodontist, it has been on the market since 1960.

Built in 1929 at a reported cost of better than $350,000, it was the pet project of Mrs. Angus Smith, wife of a Detroit auto financier. She now resides in Grosse Pointe.

* * *

Mrs. Smith summons up happy memories of summer weekends filled with swimming and boating pleasure and frosty winter days of skiing and skating on the 247-acre grounds and its four lakes.

'IT WAS LOVELY'

"We generally had 10 or 12 people out for the weekend," she recalls, "and it was lovely."

"I would never have sold it had Mr. Smith not died," she said.

Recalling that an English architect was employed to design the home, Mrs. Smith reported she visited the home every day while it was in the process of building.

* * *

The two-story living room with its hand-hewn oak beams and great chandeliers hanging from the vaulted ceiling, the balconies at either end, and the large English hooded fireplace was to her the prime feature of the house.

EVERY CONVENIENCE

"We put in everything we wanted — every convenience," she recalls.

There are two swimming pools on the property — one to catch the spill-over from the big contoured pool and provide a place for guest youngsters to swim. The Smiths had no children.

The grounds were Mrs. Smith's special delight. A rose garden is still kept up and a rock garden highlighted by a glowing waterfall needs only to be turned on to be brought back to life.

* * *

Many of the shrubs that graced the bent grass lawn down to Shadow Lake were imported from Europe.

WILD GAME

Deer and other wild game frequently availed themselves of the three lakes on the property and of Upper Lakeville Lake which the grounds abut.

Residents of the area recall that a staff of about 15 was employed by the Smiths to keep everything running smoothly.

"I had excellent, excellent help," Mrs. Smith remembers.

Now the great halls of the main house are to become a community recreation center for some 300 retirees.

INDIVIDUAL LIVING UNITS

Paul Allen, business administrator of the Riggers and Machinery Erectors Local Union No. 575, said plans are to construct 100 individual living units about the grounds some time next spring.

The other outbuildings including a guest house, barns and tenant houses are planned as a future hospital.

"We have plans of opening the facility to the public," said Allen. "They tell us there is a need for it, and we contemplate making it available to residents of the area."

* * *

The riggers are a union of workmen who install heavy equipment and machinery in the big manufacturing, refinery and power plants. The Detroit local is 30 years old, Allen said.

Charles Wolfe of Lakeville's Wolfe Realty, which handled the sale, said the purchase price of the property was $250,000.

Dry-Dock Installation Requires State Permit —Lake Orion Official

LAKE ORION — Building inspector Larry Marlin has announced that it is necessary to obtain permits from the State Department of Conservation to install dry docks around the lake.

He was anticipating the lowering of Lake Orion, set this year for Sept. 15 to give home owners a chance to make repairs to beaches and seawalls and to install new facilities.

The Village Charter provides that the lake be lowered once every three years.

A dam gate on M24 will be lowered permitting about eight feet of the water to escape into Paint Creek, Marlin said.

* * *

Marlin said the permit applications are available at the village office. There is no charge.

Aid for Flood Victims

MADISON HEIGHTS (UPI) — The Small Business Administration (SBA) has opened a disaster office here to help the victims of the July 19 flooding in Macomb and Oakland counties.

* * *

Robert F. Phillips, regional director of the SBA, said the loans carry a 5 per cent interest rate and are available to home owners and businessmen who endured losses in the floods.

Michigan Fair Will Be Biggest Ever

A grand and curious institution strikes another note for the survival of traditional fun in a modern world of entertainment with the opening of the Michigan State Fair in Detroit today.

★ ★ ★

The state fair is an event which evokes fond childhood memories for most adults. It's been with us a long time. Television and other modern forms of entertainment seem to have left little if any dent in the lustre of the state fair. It keeps right on drawing big crowds.

★ ★ ★

Not only has the state fair survived, it has prospered. At the 1967 Michigan State Fair for example, there will be more cattle, horses, swine, sheep, poultry, canned goods, cakes, and needlework on exhibit than ever before.

Oakland County has a big hand in it. There are about 150 entries from the Oakland County area.

Some state fairs have kept up with the times with new facilities. The Ohio State Fair, for example, opened in Columbus yesterday amid $1.5-million worth of new fairground improvements.

★ ★ ★

Michigan may, in the not too distant future, find its fair housed in a new, modern multi-million dollar sports and recreation complex on the fairgrounds on Woodward Avenue, including a domed stadium proposed for the site.

Top entertainers have also been on the state fair menu in recent years as an added drawing card for city folk.

The fair, which runs through Labor Day, is an excellent chance for the city dweller to get out and see for himself what's going on down on the farm.

Mechanization Causes Election Problems

Now that so many ballots are counted mechanically on election days, voting results are known that much sooner.

Some of it may be too soon.

News media pass along information so rapidly these days, a close Presidential election race in 1968 might be definitely affected by the final results in eastern states before western polls had even closed.

★ ★ ★

People seem to take delight in "voting for a winner." Today a candidate can carry a group of eastern states and the time lags allow this to be known before the polls in the west have closed. This means a definite percentage of the voters out there can switch "to the winner" and Washington believes a definite percentage does.

Until fairly recently, this was impossible. In fact, the California count often was not announced or finished until the wee small hours of the following day in the east. CHARLES EVANS HUGHES went to bed one night believing he had probably been elected President of the United States, but a late upheaval in California switched the actual result.

Sponsors of a measure in Washington want all voting finished before any results are announced at all. This would mean closing the polls earlier out west or withholding the actual counting until a predetermined hour.

Probably this is a wise and sensible switch.

Students Exhibit Fruits of Higher Education

This item may hearten those who fear that old-fashioned Yankee ingenuity is a thing of the past and that a new generation of listless, long-haired, pot-smoking navel contemplators is about to inherit the Country.

Boys in a certain college dormitory came into possession of an old soft drink machine that was discarded when a new one was installed. They decided to put it to use as a beer dispenser.

They got it to working again, but then were faced with a crucial problem — how to collect 30 cents per unit of the more expensive brew from a machine designed to disgorge a bottle for each dime put into it.

★ ★ ★

The students came up with a simple solution: They loaded the machine with two empty bottles ahead of each full one.

Delegation to Viet Seen as Out for LBJ

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has bowed to pressure but found a way to take some of the load off his own shoulders after listening to 24 days of new criticism about the way things are going in South Vietnam.

MARLOW

Johnson, with an instinct for the middle road, Wednesday night named a 20-man delegation of prominent citizens to watch the Vietnam election.

They will not be supervisors. They will not make a formal report. But they apparently will be free to say what they think individually when they return here after the election Sept. 3.

Since they probably won't all agree, the chances of a continued dispute here look pretty good.

The new load of criticism began to hit Johnson on July 31 when Sen J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., introduced a resolution—the Senate hasn't acted on it yet and perhaps never will — that would greatly reduce a president's power in foreign affairs.

Then on Aug. 10, 21 House Republicans called on the House Foreign Affairs Committe to modify the Gulf of Tonkin resolution, which both houses approved in 1964. It pretty much gives the President a blank check on how he wants to stop Communist aggression in Vietnam.

WARNING SOUGHT

On that same day 57 House Democrats called on Johnson to warn the ruling military regime in South Vietnam that unless it allows a fair presidential election there this country may do some rethinking about helping South Vietnam.

This followed reports from Saigon that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, running for vice president on the same ticket with Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, now head of state and running for president, had said the military junta was already making plans to retain power after the election no matter who won.

And that same day, Aug. 10, the other 10 presidential candidates opposing Thieu announced they would refuse to campaign unless assured by Thieu and Ky there would be an end to "harassment."

★ ★ ★

This was enough for some of the Senators growing ever more unhappy about the war. So on Aug. 11 a bunch of them — led by New York's two Senators, Robert F. Kennedy, Democrat, and Jacob K. Javits, Republican — began calling the upcoming election a fraud, a farce, and a charade.

SUPPORT PROMISED

Five days later, Aug. 16, Johnson tried to soothe the senatorial fears by saying he already had told Thieu and Ky it was vital to keep the elections on the up and up and he said they promised to support the election outcome.

But that didn't soothe Javits who the next day proposed, although the Senate wasn't willing to send anyone to Vietnam to see how things really were, that the elections be postponed a month to give the civilian candidates a "real chance."

Johnson held a news conference Aug. 18 and, in effect, suggested "patience, please" and then challenged Congress to repeal the Gulf of Tonkin resolution if it didn't like what he was doing.

★ ★ ★

And late Wednesday Johnson announced he was sending the delegation of citizens, including some senators, to Vietnam as observers.

Now if the elections turn out sour, nobody can say Johnson was hiding anything.

The Man Who Comes To Dinner

David Lawrence Says:

Russia, China Viet Role Ignored

WASHINGTON — The real story of why the Vietnam war goes on and on, with no sign of peace, isn't being told to the American people. Members of Congress in their speeches avoid it. Neither the White House nor the State Department mentions it.

LAWRENCE

But the truth is that the major enemies of the United States are not being publicly identified before the world. The United Nations, too, though possessed of power fully to publicize the facts, maintains absolute silence.

★ ★ ★

For the enemies of the United States in the Vietnam war are not merely the North Vietnamese but the governments of the Soviet Union and Red China.

They are supplying to North Vietnam billions of dollars' worth of arms and ammunition, planes, anti-aircraft equipment and other weapons of war — along with trained advisers and technicians.

Yet the United States has neither declared a state of war nor formally explained to the world the source of the continuous aggression in South Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Again and again, in the U.S Senate, speeches have been made by well-intentioned senators who insist that the United States should "stop the bombings" and wait for "peace feelers" or "negotiations." Their assumption is that the government in Hanoi has a free hand and can do as it wishes.

IT'S UNREALISTIC

This is unrealistic. For authentic information is certainly available to those same senators about the vast sums which are being spent by the Soviet Union and Red China to prolong the war in Vietnam.

No attempt is being made, moreover, by the United States government, through the press in this country or through friendly governments in Europe, to publicize the nature of the involvement of Moscow and Peking in Southeast Asia.

Why is everybody in the government afraid to speak out? In this country, the idea has been fostered that the Soviets and the Red Chinese must not be criticized, officially, lest they escalate the war.

★ ★ ★

The American people have been led to believe that they are participating in just a local war. Actually, they are engaged in a worldwide conflict, at times euphemistically called the cold war, but with many hot spots in it.

DEFENSIVE WAR

What the United States is really fighting is a defensive war in Asia. If aggression is triumphant there, similar wars would be initiated in this hemisphere, and the interests of this country would be adversely affected.

★ ★ ★

It's strange that there should prevail in America today such an indifference to the real reasons why 12,600 American youths have lost their lives and 77,500 have been wounded in the Vietnam war.

(Copyright, 1967, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

Bob Considine Says:

U.S. Youth Has Its Say on the War in Vietnam

NEW YORK — Few young red-blooded American youths want to grow up to be drummer boys in the war in Vietnam, but others see eye to eye with those conducting the strife.

CONSIDINE

"I think we should not be in the war, because why should we be concerned with people in a different country when the U. S. still needs help itself?" reads a prize-winning letter from 15-year-old Johnny Lockett of Los Angeles in a contest sponsored by the Bank of America.

Another winner, Paul Cullum, a 15-year-old Eagle Scout from Detroit, has a word for President Johnson: "In my opinion the U.S. should make a definite stand on the Vietnam situation.

"Either pull out or escalate. Fighting a 'stalemated' war is not at all good.

★ ★ ★

"Our boys, in my opinion, would like to have the power to overcome the enemy or retreat. I know I would want to go in full force or not at all. The end."

It might very well be, come to think of it.

"I think that it is necessary for the United States to be in Vietnam," wrote Donald Edward Jones, 16, of W. B. Saul High School of Agriculture and Horticulture, Philadelphia, who is headed for Temple University.

"The United States should stay in Vietnam until the war is ended," he wrote, "and South Vietnam has the government the people of that area want.

★ ★ ★

"The coming election for president of Vietnam should prove very interesting. Most of the teen-agers that go to school with me believe that the U. S. should be in Vietnam."

Alan Schrachta, 16, of Chicago: "The war is more political than physical; there is no solid truce or end in sight . . . the only way I see the outcome of the war is not accomplishing anything.

"I don't like saying it but communism will not be or cannot be eliminated or put down for a long time to come."

'Problems of Importance Need Our Full Attention'

The significant problems confronting us today —war in Vietnam, civil rights, etc.—and the important decisions that must be made deserve a thoughtful outlook of our citizenry. If the right decisions are to be made concerning important problems, we must not become sidetracked with problems of no significance.

★ ★ ★

It is disconcerting to find a number of Michigan people inappropriately concerned about what time it is. This matter does not merit the attention it has received.

★ ★ ★

Let us intelligently evaluate the problems which concern us so that we may engage in more profitable discussion, the outcome of which may decide the destiny of man.

Tells Purpose of Group's Washington Visit

Concerning the recent letter about Democratic Republican Independent Voter Education, the purpose of DRIVE is for the people to learn more about politics—how to judge a person to vote for—to learn what our men in Washington are doing for us. We write them three months before we arrive in Washington, D.C. and ask for one hour every two years to meet with us and discuss bills pending and how they felt about previous bills. We are trying to see if the men we voted for are doing the job their constituents expect.

Question and Answer

I'm 14 and would like to know if there are any archery clubs around Pontiac I could join.

RON RITCHIE
157 WEST PRINCETON

REPLY

We could find no regular archery clubs in Pontiac. However, archery programs are offered through the City schools. You can check at your particular school, and if archery isn't offered there, they can tell you the nearest school where you could participate. Pontiac Parks and Recreation is trying to get an archery program started and will let you know if such a group is formed. YMCA may also have such a program in the fall. You can call about the middle of September for information.

Prophet of Hate

London Daily Sketch

(Editor's Note: On July 24 the London Daily Sketch became the first London newspaper to take a stand on the visit to Britain of Black Power Advocate Stokely Carmichael.)

His name is Stokely Carmichael. He is 25. Highly intelligent and highly dangerous.

He is probably the most effective preacher of racial violence at large today.

He is the arch-apostle of "Black Power" in America. He is the prophet of hate between black man and white man.

★ ★

Now Stokely Carmichael has been allowed to propagate his wicked gospel here in Britain:

"I have spoken to your black leaders," he says. "We are going to internationalize the Black Power struggle. We have discussed actions to take in this country."

★ ★ ★

We ask: Why was this man let into Britain?

Only last month, Mr. Roy Jenkins, the Home Secretary, gave his reasons for refusing to allow Mr. James Smeed, an American citizen to enter Britain:

"I considered that it would not be in the national interest because he is giving active encouragement and support to the illegal regime in Rhodesia."

★ ★ ★

What contorted view of the "national interest" bans Mr. Smeed, yet welcomes Mr. Carmichael?

The Home Office refused to go into the case, when we faced them with it yesterday.

But forget for a moment the strangely selective tolerance of our Home Secretary and chew on this one: Why hasn't Stokely Carmichael been prosecuted for the sort of things he has said during his black crusade in Britain?

We quote from the Race Relations Act 1965 (Section 6):

"A person shall be guilty of an offense if . . . he uses in any public place or at any public meetings words which are threatening, abusive or insulting . . . being words likely to stir up hatred . . . on grounds of color, race, or ethnic or national origins."

We quote from the reported remarks of Mr. Stokely Carmichael in Britain last week:

"If the British did not adopt our principles, I would burn down their homes and factories."

★ ★ ★

And yesterday he urged a mainly colored audience at playwright Arnold Wesker's "Centre 42":

"It is time to let the whites know we are going to take over. If they don't like it, we will stamp them out — using violence and any other means necessary."

Well, Mr. Jenkins, are these not sufficient grounds for prosecution — or deportation?

Is there one law in Britain for those who incite hatred against black people and another for those who incite hatred against the whites?

DOWNTOWN AND DRAYTON PLAINS

Canadian Family Tours Russia

By JOE McGOWAN JR.
Associated Press Writer

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A Canadian couple has completed a rigorous drive with their two children the length of the Soviet Union. They report food shortages everywhere except in Moscow.

What food they did find was extremely expensive, according to Simon and Christine Feldman. Their biggest complaint was against a Russian major at a town near the Iran Border, whose actions made the Feldmans and their sons—11 and 5—go without food for 24 hours. Feldman says, "This is one thing I'll never forget or forgive them for.'

* * *

The Feldmans are making a round-the-world trip in a self-contained camper truck made in Britain.

Feldman says in 1963 he retired early from his dressmaking business in Montreal and moved to Miami Beach. He also had trotting horses and toured the circuit with them during season, under the Gallahad Farms Colors.

STARTED TRAVELS

In 1966 they decided to see the world. They started in France and drove south through Europe to Israel, Syria and Jordan. They they went through Turkey, Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Poland, East Germany and into Scandinavia.

They entered Russia at Vyborg, on the Finnish border and drove 3,000 miles through the Soviet Union in 30 days. From Iran they crossed Afghanistan and Pakistan, and from New Delhi were going south to Madras and a ferry trip to Ceylon. They plan to visit Thailand, Malaysia, and maybe Australia, before sailing to Mexico for a winter's stay. Eventually they hope to settle in the San Francisco Bay area.

* * *

"When you travel overland in the Soviet Union you are supposed to stay each night at the Intourist camps," Feldman says. "But the roads are so bad it takes about 18 hours from one camp to another—yet you are not supposed to travel after dark. We did, and no one ever stopped us.

"The only place we found with enough food was the Dollar Shop in Moscow. Food was much cheaper there also. Other places tomatoes were 75 cents a pound and cherries $1.50 a pound, for instance. Potatoes just weren't available, and the meat looked like it had been chewed by animals."

TRAFFIC OFFENSES

Police stopped him several times and demanded ruble fines for illegal parking, speeding or illegal passing. Each time he demanded to be shown the traffic sign concerned and when they could not show it, he refused, successfully, to pay the fines.

"Everywhere in the Soviet Union we saw a lot of drunks on the streets," Feldman said. "It is one of the things that stands out most in our minds.

* * *

"Also, the farther south we went, the dirtier the camps got.

"Trucks were broken down all along the highway. If you picked up all the parts you see along the road you could build your own truck, I think."

FORBIDDEN AREA

Feldman said he was told he could not drive the last short leg from Yerevan to the Iranian border "presumably so we would not see thtir border defenses." They and the van would have to go by train to the border.

They had supper at Yerevan and boarded the train after dark. It arrived at Daulf at 1 a.m., but they slept in thtir compartment until 7 a.m.

* * *

"Then there was a knock at the door and it was the Russian major and two customs officers. They wanted to see our documents. We showed them and then asked where to find the dining car. We were told there was none."

The Feldmans went into the station to find some food but there was no way to change their money for rubles. "The major came back at 2 p.m. and just grunted when we told him we needed something to eat. He left without doing anything." Finally at 4:30 p.m., a Bulgarian chap gave us a loaf of bread," said Mrs. Feldman, who has kept a log of their journey.

FOOD IN VAN

Their van, sealed and placed on a flatcar in a separate train, did not arrive until evening. They knew they had food in the van so asked various people for permission to enter it.

* * *

"We were told we could not, but finally I went to it, broke the seal and we all climbed in and had supper," Feldman says.

* * *

"At 8:30 p.m. the major returned with two customs men, a soldier and an interpreter. They went through everything, even examining our playing cards one by one.

"Then the major ordered us out and I refused. He said everything would have to be inspected again in the morning before we crossed the border and I said that was okay. But they kept shunting the flatcar all night. It was bam, bam, bam—we couldn't sleep."

SECOND INSPECTION

The major returned at 11:15 a.m. next day and the customs men went through all their possessions. Then the van was resealed and the Feldmans and a group of Bulgarian mountain climbers were taken to the border in Jeeps.

* * *

"We had to walk in the heat one-fourth mile from the last police outpost to a bridge which was on the border," Feldman says. "The major led us all, single file, to the bridge, where two Iranian sergeants quickly took the heavy bags from Christine and the two children.

* * *

"I turned to the Russian major, and told him: 'There is the difference between a human being and an animal. These men are human.' "

Air Loss Rate Is Below Korea, WW II

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say the rate of U.S. aircraft losses in Vietnam is lower than those of Korea and World War II. They credit improved flying tactics and new electronic countermeasures.

Military spokesmen contend recent fighter and bomber losses around Hanoi are not out of line with the number of raids being flown there.

So far this week, the United States has lost 13 planes in operations over North Vietnam —a near-record for a single week.

But officers point out that during this period U.S. pilots have staged more than 800 missions involving perhaps as many as North Vietnam's air defenses.

NOT DISCLOSED

The Pentagon does not disclose numbers of individual flights, or sorties, flown over the North.

The military rule of thumb is that each mission involves 3.5 to 4 planes, on the average.

* * *

Communist guns, surface-to-air missiles and MIG fighters so far this year have knocked down U.S. planes at the rate of 1.6 per thousand sorties.

This compares with 2.2 per thousand in 1966, 3.2 in 1965 when the air campaign was launched, 3.5 during Korea and 9 per thousand during World War II.

$1.3 BILLION

To date the North Vietnamese have downed 659 American planes which cost this country an estimated $1.3 billion.

The number of U.S. raids on the North and the number of antiaircraft weapons deployed in North Vietnam each have quadrupled since 1965.

* * *

In 1965, before the Pentagon stopped describing northern air activity in terms of individual flights, the U.S. staged 24,570 sorties over Communist territory.

In 1966, the tempo of raids escalated to 23,575 missions, or roughly 82,500 to 94,300 sorties.

23,000 MISSIONS

So far this year there have been 23,000 missions over the north.

At the same time North Vietnam's defenses have been burgeoning.

* * *

Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff, says the Hanoi-Haiphong area presents "the greatest concentration of antiaircraft weapons that has ever been known in the history of defense in any town or any area in the world."

In 1965 the North Vietnamese had about 2,100 antiaircraft guns, plus 26 to 28 battalions armed with 6 to 8 missiles each.

8,000 WEAPONS

Latest intelligence credits the enemy with 8,000 weapons, supplied by the Soviet Union and Red China. The number of missile units remains about the same—26 to 28 battalions, rotated among more than 150 missile firing sites in North Vietnam.

The surface-to-air missiles have hit 75 American planes in 3,500 attempts. But the long, slender missiles force U.S. pilots into evasive maneuvers and down into intense flak.

Military men often compare the Communist defense with the heaviest antiaircraft concentrations of World War II. The Ploesti oilfields in Rumania, for example, were equipped with 800 to 650 German antiaircraft weapons to meet allied bombers.

North Vietnam's northeast quadrant alone, where Hanoi and Haiphong are located, has 4,400 weapons.

SECURITY REASONS

How has the United States been able to cut losses in the face of this defense?

The Pentagon won't discuss the newest tactics or techniques being used, for security reasons, but says top priority research has been under way in recent months on the air defense problem.

* * *

McConnell told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee a few days ago the decline in plane losses could be attributed to improved electronic countermeasures that confound enemy radar and guidance systems, and to improved piloting maneuvers. He did not elaborate.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, gave a similar explanation earlier. He added that "unremitting pressure" is cutting into the effectiveness of the Communist defense.

1,000 WEAPONS

While officials know of no new types of antiaircraft weapons being imported, the number of incoming antiaircraft guns has increased. More than 1,000 weapons were shipped into North Vietnam in a two-month period in the late spring.

The bulk of the antiaircraft guns are being provided by the Chinese down a rail line extending southwesterly to Hanoi. China has sent in more than 5,000 individual pieces. The Soviet Union has provided nearly 3,000 more. The weapons include 14.5mm, 37mm, 57mm, 85mm and 100mm guns.

North Vietnam's MIG fleet, regarded as a minimal threat, has grown only slightly since American raids on three of the country's major fields last spring.

Sources say Hanoi now has 86 MIGs: 36 Mig 15s and 17s, 14 Mig 21s and 36 others based in China.

JUNE TOLD

In June the MIGs totaled 75, including 32 in China.

The intensification of U.S. bombing assaults on the North can be illustrated by a comparison of missions flown during the good-weather months of 1966 1967.

The missions, with 1967 totals listed first, include:

May 3,237—1,315, June 3,607—2,102, July 3,819—2,902 and August— through Thursday—3,748—3,452.

This week's 12-plane loss compares with 15 planes downed in the week ending last May 23.

Snaps, the poodle is unimpressed at meeting Miss Michigan, Toni Jo Abbenante of Grand Rapids (left). His mistress, Roberta Flynn of Ogemaw Road, is less blasé. Toni Jo made her only appearance in the Pontiac area Thursday evening when she did informal modeling at Winkelman's in The Pontiac Mall.

Michigan's Contestant--Poised, Confident

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

Michigan residents need not be concerned about their representation at the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City next month.

* * *

Toni Jo Abbenante of Grand Rapids, a poised 19-year-old brunette, will serve adequately as Miss Michigan.

Toni made a brief appearance in Pontiac Thursday evening. She is currently ending a two-week tour of Winkelman stores throughout the state. She modeled informally at the Mall store.

When asked how she happened to enter the Miss Michigan contest, Toni said, "I didn't. My sorority sisters at Grand Rapids Jr. College entered me."

After winning that contest and the subsequent state contest for junior college queens, she went on to win the final state title. Now comes the big time.

One of four children, Toni is of Italian descent and shows it with her dark hair and eyes. She is just under average height for girls these days — 5'4½".

Last night she was wearing a shocking pink woolen skimmer that stopped above her knees, but definitely was not a miniskirt. Her shoulder-length hair hangs loosely around her expressive face.

Traveling with Toni is a member of the board of directors of the Miss Michigan pageant committee, Mrs. L. C. Den Hollander of Muskegon.

In response to a remark about the poise shown by her young charge, she said, "Yes, she's delightful to have as a traveling companion."

She went on to say that it is just such poise and personality that judges look for in judging the contests. Sheer physical beauty counts less.

* * *

Toni expects to enter Western Michigan University in January to complete her preparation as a secondary school teacher of speech and dramatics.

Her talent presentation in the Miss America contest will be an original reading written by a woman in Muskegon

Toni is understandably excited about going to Atlantic City.

She has "trunksful of clothes" ready to go, but was bemoaning the fact that an absolutely perfect dress she had seen that morning was too expensive to be considered.

The week at the pageant will be one constant round of changing clothes. The girls' days start around 6 a.m. and rarely end before 1 a.m.

"It's hurry-up and wait," says Toni, the veteran of several contests.

* * *

What is her reaction to having a constant chaperone?

"I don't mind. In fact, I like it. If I get lost, we're both lost and that helps."

Hope Reformed Church in Holland, Mich. was the setting for recent nuptials uniting Janice Lynn Van Lente and Dennis Wayne Catlin.

The bride was attired in floor length white organza over taffeta with scalloped hand-drawn Alencon lace edging the hem and portrait neckline.

A matching lace capette secured her elbow length veil of illusion. She carried ivory and pink sweetheart roses accented with camellia leaves.

Jo Ann Melady of Kansas City, Mo. and Robert Schlett of Holland were maid of honor and best man respectively.

Bridesmaids were Ann Wissink of Holland and Mrs. Douglas Cameron of Flint.

Imply Budget Rather Than a Lack of Funds

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: When one's finances are limited, or at least strictly budgeted, how does one answer such questions as "Why don't you go to dinner and the theater with us next week?"

Or, "That dress would look marvelous on you—why don't you buy it?" I hate to say "I can't afford it," although that is often the case.—Barbara Hunt

* * *

Dear Mrs. Hunt: I agree with you—to say "I can't afford it" implies that either your husband doesn't make enough money, or he's stingy. Far more complimentary to him and face-saving to yourself is to say, "We just didn't put anything aside for that particular thing this month" or "We're sending Billy to camp this summer so I'll wait until Fall for my wardrobe."

These answers imply that you are budgeted, of course, but not actually unable to afford the luxuries mentioned.

INSURANCE

Dear Mrs. Post: I recently became engaged. Who pays for the insurance on the engagement ring? Also, when, if at all, is it considered proper for the bridegroom to call his prospective mother-in-law "mother?"—Phil

Dear Phil: The groom pays for the insurance. He will shortly assume all such responsibilities in any case, and should the engagement be broken and the ring returned to him, there would be no complications.

* * *

The bridegroom, unless he is very close to the bride's mother, does not call her "mother" or any nickname until after the wedding. Sometimes, especially in the case of a long engagement, he does become "part of the family" beforehand, but otherwise it is better if he does not push this intimacy too far.

His Values Mixed Up

Guy's Not Worth All Your Worry

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and overweight. Everyone tells me I have a pretty face, but very few boys bother to look any further. I've had only two dates in my life and was so self-conscious I was miserable. You just can't imagine how much I'd like to be popular and have dates.

ABBY

One night at a party one of the most popular boys in school took an interest in me. I was in heaven. He took me home and we parked on the way and kissed. It was my first kiss. It was wonderful. We kissed a lot and finally I got scared and called a halt.

He said he wanted to see me often, but next time he wasn't stopping at a kiss. He told me to get wise, that any fat girl can be popular if she will just give in a little. I was shocked and demanded that he take me home at once.

He told me to think it over and call him when I changed my mind. That was two lonely months ago, and I've been thinking. Oh, Abby, what shall I do? I don't want to be a bad girl, but I want to be one of the crowd. Shall I pay the price?

FAT AND LONELY

DEAR FAT: The "price" might be more than you're prepared to pay. The boy is clearly thinking only of himself and his selfish gratification. "Fat girls can be popular," he says, "if they will just give in a little." Brilliant! So can THIN girls with the kind of boys who use girls for all they can get and then go on to fresher game.

* * *

He is not for you. And neither is any boy who hands you that kind of line. Don't be surprised if HE thinks it over and calls you to tell you that he has changed his mind. Some boys use this technique to "test" a girl, when he's looking for one he can respect as well as love.

DEAR ABBY: My mother bought an old beat up upholstered davenport from an antique dealer. She paid $45 for it and sent a truck to haul it to her home. It sat in her basement for nearly a year. She started pulling it apart in order to reupholster it herself and she found $1,600 in bills in a yellowed envelope in one of the cushions.

She hasn't told anyone but me about this. Does she have to return the money to the antique dealer or does it belong to her?

NAMELESS IN NEW ORLEANS

DEAR NAMELESS: The money belongs to your mother, unless and until someone turns up and proves that the money is his and that he had hidden it in that davenport. In the meantime, your mother has a pretty soft cushion.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DEE: Generalizations are unfair and unjust, so I will not say that ALL 14-year-old girls are too young and immature to date 18-year-old boys. I shall be more specific: ALL 14-year-old girls whose parents think they are too young and immature to date 18-year-old boys, ARE!

Fashion Choice Unusually Wide for Fall and Winter Seasons

By LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — Fall and winter fashions offer an unusually wide choice this year so do not scrap your wardrobe before looking at the new designs.

Now that the Paris styles have reached Miss and Mrs. Everybody, the question of trends is not on women's minds.

WAIST BACK

The main feature of the winter collections is the return of the waistline. This is a general evolution.

But many houses, including many big-name designers, still show plenty of unfitted figure-skimming shifts, trapeze-shaped flowing lines and swing coats and blown-up backs.

It will be hard for many women to switch from the "free" look to a well-marked waistline and fit.

Skirts flare, and when they don't, fullness is achieved by a bagful of tricks-box-pleating, kilting, sunray and fan-pleating — leaving the hips slim and a boon for fuller figures.

Topcoats flare in a funnel line often cut to stand out, or are circular in the new midcalf lengths.

Rich firm woolens such as meltons, broadcloth and velours are used for these coats.

Tweeds have been revived, with dark brown flecked weaves, and pepper-and-salt gray and black favored. Dior and Nina Ricci go to town on the complete tweed look, including swirling capes or topcoats, suits, stoles and berets.

Tweeds also appear in suits for the hunting season. They step forth complete with sturdy brogues, quilled or feather trimmed hats, a gun or two, and the inevitable turtleneck sweater.

The question of hemlines, though important, does not call the tune. Two schools of thought persist among the pace-setting designers.

MINI LOOK

To the miniskirt school belong Courreges, Ungaro, Cardin for the most part, Esterel and Feraud.

The balance, including Dior, show hemlines brushing or grazing the knees. Kneecaps are often barely visible, but that's definitely for the older woman. The younger set clings to the miniskirt.

Methods vary for bringing down the hemline. One is to bring high boots almost up to the kneecaps.

The French for that is loche-bottes-the top of the boots skim the knees.

* * *

Another way is to concentrate on hemlines for evening. Balenciaga, Givenchy and Cardin cut away the front of the dress to a knee-high level and feature a sweeping back hemline spreading out like a peacock's tail.

Castillo, Balmain and Cardin endorse the zigzag hemline, a good way of solving the thorny question.

Umbrella points are a Castillo trademark and kerchief points appear at several houses.

Velvets have been revived in many different ways. Chanel likes printed panne and printed velvets.

Other houses favor black velvet and use it in college girl styles with white trim or starched cuffs and collars. They are for after five.

Yves Saint-Laurent tailors black velvet suits and decorates them with gold chains.

Chanel uses jeweled gold chain belts on many of her dressy and even tweed suits.

A versatile "weekender" that gives two complete outfits in one, with A-line skirt and tapered slacks for switch-about with the jacket. Superbly tailored of luxuriously smooth flannel, lined with acetate tricot for shape-retaining lines. Newer-look boxy jacket with back side-vents . . . snappy double-breasted effect with mock-pockets. Both at Robert Hall.

Out-and-out sensations that will "make the scene" in a big way this season. Cowl-turtleneck or turtleneck-collared styles with back zippers . . . in Orlon® acrylic knit with "hot licks" of colors striping the shifts round-and-round. Bonded with silky-smooth acetate tricot for shape-keeping lines. Sizes 6 to 16.

Husbands Are Invited to Saturday Event

The Pine Lake Golf Club Niners will have a mixed foursome including husbands of members Saturday at the club. Dinner and cards or dancing will follow the event.

A closing luncheon with election of officers and prizes for past tournaments is planned for Sept. 27.

Kleenex Boxes Have New Look

Most of the products bought in the supermarket go straight from grocery bag to shelf or cabinet.

The cereal box hides behind a door in the kitchen, the toothpaste in the medicine cabinet.

But one product is bought in the store, then used and displayed at home in the same container — the familiar, indispensable box of facial tissues.

To add decorator accents to this disposable paper product for the household, Kleenex tissue boxes have a new look — a soft feminine rose design for the family-size, an elegant Florentine pattern for the regular-size, and a flowing, graceful Spencerian scroll for the dispenser-size.

"The Press" photographer must have said something very profound to young James Richard Gidcumb Jr. judging from the look on this one-year-old cherub's face. Says Separation Aids Marriage

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — A Purdue University marriage counselor thinks separations between a husband and his family may be good for the marriage occasionally.

★ ★ ★

Prof. Wallace Denton, who conducted a series of family life conferences at Air Force bases, observed that separations often "push people out of the rut of daily family routines."

He said it may be good for the wife to wake up in the middle of the night and discover a vast emptiness and — "good for the husband to experience the loneliness of a hotel room."

Case No. C-502

It's All in a Viewpoint

By GEORGE W. CRANE, PH.D, M.D.

CASE C-502: Molly G., aged 24, is an irate wife.

"Dr. Crane," she protested angrily, "I think my husband is very selfish and inconsiderate.

DR. CRANE

"He seems to think that I should always be loving and in the mood for physical affection whenever the mood strikes him.

"But I am often worn out with my housework and the care of our two babies, for the older is barely able to walk.

"Yet he gets angry and scolds me for my lack of ardor. So will you please describe my case in your column?"

BLIND MEN

Most of the trouble in this world is a result of lack of knowing the other person's viewpoint.

You may thus recall the classical story of the five Blind Men of Hindustan who visited their first circus and met an elephant.

Each blind man eagerly ran his sensitive fingers over a portion of that huge pachyderm.

One seized his tusk; another his trunk; a third his tail, a fourth his leg, and the fifth, the elephant's ear.

That night at dinner they were asked what an elephant was like.

"He's a spear," said the first, only to be laughed to scorn by the second, who positively affirmed that elephants were "snakes."

The other three vehemently denied both of these descriptions, insisting that elephants were, respectively a "rope," a "tree" and a "fan."

And these men would have signed affidavits that each was right while his four comrades were entirely wrong!

★ ★ ★

Yet you and I, having seen an entire elephant, realize that each blind man was right as far as his limited experience had extended.

But they simply had not obtained more than a small percentage of the total picture.

And so it is with most of our feuds and divorces and wars!

We may be so sincere and self-righteous that we even go to war to maintain that our outlook is 100 per cent correct!

"Never criticize another man," runs an old Sioux Indian adage, "until you have walked two moons in his moccasins!"

Molly and her husband don't look out upon life from the same viewpoint and that is always true of male vs. female.

But Molly must realize that men are endowed by the Almighty with a much greater gastric appetite, plus a larger erotic hunger, too.

★ ★ ★

Even if she is tired and disinterested in food, Molly knows she dare not stop serving her husband his three meals per day.

Otherwise, he will chew her out, argue and be hostile.

By the same token, a wife must keep her husband's much greater erotic hunger allayed or he will snarl like an angry bear.

And soon he may sample the erotic offerings of an outside paramour, for there are about five million unmarried women eagerly waiting to snare your husband!

Besides, a wife's participation in the erotic realm is largely passive.

Many of them even snore during such an episode!

So it requires much less energy to meet her husband's boudoir demands than his dinner table requests! Wives, get hep!

Researchers are making studies to determine the link between heredity and deafness.

Checked Your Insurance Policy Lately?

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Many young families have all the respect in the world for life insurance. But it seems to me they don't have enough curiosity about it.

MARY FEELEY

When a young wife writes about her family's financial ups and downs, she'll often refer to the fact that her husband carries such-and-such an amount of life insurance to protect them "in case of his death."

Well, certainly such protection is the primary purpose of life insurance. But what else can the policy do for the family — while everybody's alive?

A flexible life insurance policy can be of substantial help all through the years. Many a situation can come up when the place — to turn for help is to the policy the breadwinner carries.

So the more advantageous riders, clauses and special provisions he can incorporate into his contract, the better. Certainly he should know what the possibilities are.

It's a fact that even some people who've carried life insurance for many years forget to remember they might find a solution to some problem right in their insurance contracts. Any good life insurance agent invites all the questions and "what ifs" both husband and wife can think up. This is true whether insurance is being bought for the first time or whether present policies are being reviewed.

Let's bring up a few "happenings" which could occur — so you can check the insurance policies you already have or are planning to buy, and see how you'd stand:

● What if, some years from now, you find your health makes you too much of a risk for an insurance company — but you are still short of providing the family with all the protection you'd planned to give them?

● If your present (or about-to-be-bought) policy includes "insurability" rider, you have a guaranteed right to buy more insurance at specified future dates, regardless of your health at that time.

* * *

● What if you find you can't come up with a premium payment some year (or just plain forget it) — even by the end of the grace period?

● If your policy includes an automatic premium loan provision, the premium is automatically paid from the cash value of the policy.

FAMILY PLANS

● How can the family get in on some insurance themselves, when you take out a new permanent policy on yourself?

* * *

● Some companies will add a family plan rider, at a small additional cost, providing for a small amount of term insurance on your wife to age 60 or 65, and on each of your children to age 21-25 (age varies with different policies). Some family plan policies permit each child, as he reaches 25, to buy five times as much insurance as the rider insured him for, without proof of insurability.

● What if you become permanently and totally disabled before you're 60?

* * *

● A waiver of premium clause included in your insurance policy assures you that in such a situation your policy will remain in effect without any further payments.

● How can you and your wife fit your life insurance into retirement plans?

* * *

● If there's a retirement income provision in your policy, its cash value, built up over a period of time to the usual age of 65, can be applied to providing income payments for life.

Menus for Couple Challenge to Wife

Buying and cooking for two is not easy. It's a challenge to have interesting meals at reasonable cost. Planned leftovers are one thing: monotonous ones are boring.

Roasts for two? Of course. A 3-4 pound roast can be served hot one night, cold sliced the next night, and provide hash or a casserole another night.

* * *

Baked ham . . . buy a one inch slice, bake it the first night . . . use the leftover part for ham a la king another time.

Once a week marketing saves time, energy, and money if you have room to store the food. Buying perishables such as dairy foods and lettuce, to illustrate, must be planned differently. The important thing is to make a marketing plan to fit your situation.

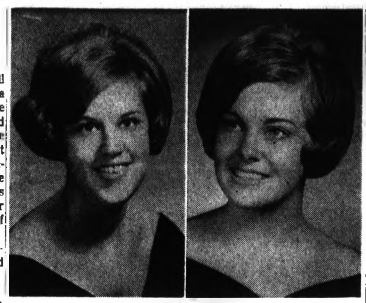
MAKE A LIST

Check the food in your refrigerator and staples on hand. Keep a memo pad or slate on your kitchen wall. Use it for remember-to-buy items. Watch newspapers food news.

Make your list by the groups of foods you need. Foods in markets are usually arranged in similar groups. A well planned list will save you time in the store and prevent overlooking some important item.

Many smart girls with their menu patterns well in mind look for best buys in the market. Then they plan menus around foods they've found at the best prices.

The amount of food you require depends upon how active you are. People who live quiet sedentary lives need less food.



Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Addis Walter of Clarkston announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol Joyce, to Airman 2.C. William Glenn Gillis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Glenn Gillis of Perry Lake Road, Independence Township. The bride elect attended Michigan State University and her fiance, University of Minnesota. Dec. 29 vows are planned. He is presently stationed at Shaw AFB, South Carolina.

The Donald R. Frayers of Beverly Island Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol Lynn, to Michael George Kassarjian, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kassarjian of Royal Oak. Her fiance attended Northwood Institute, Oakland Community College and Santa Monica City College. No date has been set.

A big increase in United States farm exports in 1967 is expected, with a value of over $7 billion compared to $6.9 billion in 1966.

Create Illusions Through Colors

NEW YORK (UPI) — Before you begin to repaint, remember these tips from the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.

Light colors add space to a cramped room and dark colors minimize a large one. If the ceiling seems out of reach, bring it closer with a color darker than the walls.

* * *

In a monotonous square room, a deeper color on one wall will appear to change the shape. Don't forget that color may look different in natural and artificial light, so study it carefully before plunging in.

PONTIAC TELEGRAPH at HURON | DORIS HAYES ROCHESTER | 1968 OAKLAND MALL

Here's a variation on a theme—these two vests look very much alike and yet the one that the boy is wearing is knitted while the girl's vest is crocheted. These vests provide an extra layer of warmth under children's coats and being sleeveless, won't be too bulky. Free instructions are available by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to the Needlework Editor, The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich., 48056, along with a request for leaflet A-301.

Doesn't this charming gentleman look very comfortable and warm in his vest? Since it's hand knitted to his exact measurements, it's no wonder that he looks so well in it. Two generous pockets make for convenience as well. Knitted in oxford grey or natural, this makes the perfect background for a bright, cheerful looking tie. Free instructions are available by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to the Needlework Editor, and request leaflet PK 1898.

Suspenders Hold Baby's Diapers

In hot weather, when plastic plants are uncomfortable for baby and increase the chance of diaper rash, why not let your little one wear diapers only?

It takes almost no effort to pop both diapers and crib sheets into the washer and dryer as often as needed.

And to keep diapers from slipping down make "suspenders" from cotton twill tape and pin these to the diapers — two long strips for shoulder straps, and two short ones across back and front.

Rolled in Ham

Roll cooked asparagus stalks in thin rectangles of cooked ham; wrap in foil and warm in a moderate oven. Serve the asparagus-ham rolls on buttered toast with a piping-hot tangy cheese sauce. Garnish with slices of ripe-red tomato.

The most exciting way we can think of to wear the pants this summer. This border-striped costume made in coolest, silky Arnel jersey—the background white, the stripes in broad sweeps of gold, navy and red. Neckline and sleeves of the diamond front top are edged in navy cording. Part of a larger coordinate group by Country Set.

'Contesters' Really Do Exist—and Win

BETTY CANARY

I was wondering who was winning all those free trips to Florida and the new refrigerators and cameras and stuff in contests and I decided to find out.

Well, what I found out was that occasionally there are lucky people who win after sending in only ONE entry blank they picked up on a drugstore counter. How the entry blank happened to be there is a puzzle to me because one of the first unwritten rules of contesting is Steal Entry Blanks.

You make the rounds of all the supermarkets, etc., and tear off all the blanks on the pad marked "Only one to a customer."

Most contests are won by "contesters." These people devote as much time and energy to a socalled hobby as they would if they ran a fair-sized business.

There are books written about how to win and newsletters sent out to fill one in on all the local as well as national contests. You can buy boxtops and labels and tips. Contesters, who must be counted among the friendliest people in the world, have clubs and hold conventions. They will pool ideas and help each other and welcome new contesters into the fold.

One thing they almost never know is what slogan or jingle won first prize in the national contests. Winners agree (or they don't get the prize) not to divulge it.

I tried my hand at it and among other small items won a silver tray, an electric shoe polisher, two wallets and a camera.

Most contest entries from amateurs are thrown out and haven't a chance of winning, first because people simply do not follow the rules on the blanks, and second, because so many are duplicates.

The really big winners who have new cars every year and a kitchen chockful of electric gadgets have contesting down to a science. They send in hundreds of entries, with the amount of effort and entries gauged to the value of the prizes. They mail entries on a schedule to guarantee that at least one entry gets into the many mailbags pouring into the judging agency.

* * *

Some say big winners are investigated by detective agencies before the big prize is awarded. Therefore, if you put your cousin's name on an entry, fill him in on what he said and when he said it.

Better be sure he's a real kissin' cousin, too. He might not hand over the prize and take the 10 per cent you promised him. He might decide to hog the whole thing.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Just how much beauty repair is permissible when a girl or woman works in an office? Well, it depends somewhat on whether or not her hand is faster than the boss's eye.

In other words, while he will appreciate a neat well-groomed appearance, most necessary repairs should be made in the powder room and they should not take a lot of time. Here are a few guidelines.

Keep a small plastic bag with the essential equipment at the office in a desk drawer.

* * *

When you want to freshen up, go to the powder room. However, do not make this an elaborate time-consuming project. Usually, the areas around the nose and chin, and perhaps on the forehead, are the ones which will need a bit of powder or makeup base.

These are the oilier spots. Do not try to do a complete makeover unless you wish to spend part of your lunch time this way.

Renew your lipstick when it needs doing, but don't do it at your desk unless you are in the room alone. If you have pressed powder in a compact you can take care of the shine on nose and chin and forehead in a moment at your desk, that is, if you are in the room alone.

In most cases, though, it is better to go to the powder room for a few moments even for these small repairs. Someone may pop in the door and nothing looks less business-like and less efficient than cosmetic repairs in an office.

Do not comb your hair at your desk.

* * *

You can stop a run in a stocking with a little wet soap. There are also small containers which hold a product designed just for this purpose.

If you need to you can do a little patchwork on a nail if the polish is chipped, but not at your desk. It's a good idea to keep a bottle of nail polish in your little cosmetic kit.

Be Sure to Stir

If you are chilling that gelatin mixture over ice-cubes and water so it will quickly reach the slightly thickened stage, be sure to stir the mixture frequently so the desired thickening will be even.

Junior Editors Quiz on YAWNING

QUESTION: Why do we yawn?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: As our picture suggests, yawns seem to pass from person to person, probably because we tend to imitate what another person is doing.

Scientists do not know the whole story about yawning. For example, they are not sure what section of the nervous system controls it.

They tell us it is an involuntary reflex, something you do without consciously meaning to. Once started, it's difficult to stop. You can close your mouth but the contraction of muscles goes on.

The purpose of yawning presumably is to get more air into the lungs. It seems to be a warning signal that you need sleep and also a safety measure to keep you awake until you get the sleep you need. It is also thought that the stretching of muscles tends to awaken a person and make his blood circulate better.

People do not look very pretty when they yawn. Probably because of this knowledge, we tend to cover our yawning mouths with our hands. Let's hope we haven't put you to sleep with this article.

GI Comes Up Short...to Try Sky

FORT ORD, Calif. (UPI) — The man who may be the Army's shortest soldier has left this infantry base for retraining as a paratrooper because the Army figures his short legs will be put to better use.

★ ★ ★

Pvt. Robert C. Daly, who is 4-feet-10 at the age of 19, found he couldn't keep up with the taller soldiers on those extended hikes.

"My legs get tired on long marches trying to keep in step," said the 125-pounder.

Daly had been given special permission to join the Army in Denver last December because he said he wanted to go to Vietnam as a tunnel rat to chase Vietcong soldiers from their underground hiding places.

★ ★ ★

But after several months in the infantry he decided he wasn't cut out to be a foot soldier. Daly requested transfer to a job more suited to his size.

"I think I owe something to my country," he said. "I think it deserves what I can give her. But not in the infantry."

The army, perhaps taking into account that the husky Daly was a champion wrestler in high school, issued the transfer orders.

So Pvt. Daly is on his way to Ft. Benning, Ga., hoping to become airborn instead of footsore.

Bank Tellers Prove a Match for Robbers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The world's largest bank had some bad news today for bandits.

★ ★ ★

The first class of gun-toting tellers was graduated by Bank of America. The graduates were nine San Francisco policemen who have taken moonlighting jobs in the banks.

Executive Vice President Alfred R. Zipf said the idea of hiring off-duty policemen arose recently during a luncheon discussion with Police Chief Thomas J. Cahill.

"We have a hard time getting part-time employes in downtown San Francisco," Zipf said. "I read the papers and I know that policemen have to supplement their income with part-time jobs.

"Most tellers are women, and just the presence of a man around the place does a lot of good."

The policemen will not wear uniforms while behind the teller's cages. However, they are required by department regulations to carry their guns at all times, on duty or off.

Fall Enrollment to Be New High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A record 2.6 million teachers and 57.2 million students will be on hand when public schools open next month around the nation.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. Office of Education said that an 8.3 per cent increase in college enrollments is expected, but elementary schools will gain only 500,000 students, 1.4 per cent more than last year, because of a declining birth rate since 1961.

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's commercial and farm flocks produced 141 million eggs during July, seven per cent above the egg production by Michigan chickens in June.

Science Fights Pine-Destroying Beetle

HEADQUARTERS, Idaho (AP)— Out in the remote Canyon Block of the Clearwater National Forest, warm breezes are wafting hundreds of thousands of tiny black beetles on one of the most destructive air raids in the annals of forest warfare.

Swarms of these deadly, boring insects, commonly called mountain pine beetles, are dining on, and breeding in, the tenderbark of the largest single stand of white pine remaining in the United States.

* * *

Only about an eighth of an inch long, the pests stir into activity when the forest temperature warms to 60 degrees, rising in huge formations. They follow a female scout's scent as she seeks out a white pine.

Then they swarm over its bark and bore into the tree to lay eggs for a new generation of tree killers.

SPREAD FUNGUS

Worse still, they spread a blue fungus, deadlier than themselves, before they eat their way out of the crippled tree, leaving it to die.

Rejoining in attack formation, the beetles snif their way to another tree. The cycle goes on and on. In Canyon Block and other white pine forests of the northern Rocky Mountain region, the beetle is killing the equivalent of 200 million board feet of timber each year, enough to build 20,000 homes.

* * *

In an old dairy converted into a field laboratory at Headquarters, a German forest entomologist and two assistants are hard at work plotting a counterattack on destroying the beetle.

QUICK ANSWER

He says he hopes by summer's end to have most of the answers.

Three experiments are being conducted. Probably the most important involves developing a synthetic for the odor emitted by the female scout—or queen—beetle which alerts the swarms to the target tree. If a formula is found to fool the beetles, foresters will use it to lure the insects to traps where they can be liquidated in masses.

Another method is to plant beetles in holes drilled in small white pine logs. This "bait" is suspended in a white pine weakened by ax cuts in its bark. Bait trees are chosen in areas of relatively low beetle infestation and the immediate area can be cleaned of beetles at the sacrifice of only one white pine.

A third experiment is designed to determine why beetles prefer some white pines over others.

BLUE FUNGUS

Blue fungus carried by the beetles actually means faster death for a tree than the boring of the carrier. The fungus spreads to the tree's inner bark, sealing off its nutritional supply line.

Beetles hibernate in winter, emerge from brood trees in the spring, and fly usually until late in August. Aerial spraying is ineffectual, because little of it reaches the lower trunk bark, where the beetles work.

RESEARCH FUNDED

Schonherr's research is financed by the Idaho Cooperative Board of Forestry, Potlatch Forests Inc., Boyce Thompson Institute and other foundations.

"We really have to stop the beetle," he said. "It is killing 5 per cent of the white pine each year. In 20 years it will all be gone unless we win."

Thant, King Dine Despite Protests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary General U Thant paid no attention Thursday to a demand that he should not eat with King Constantine of Greece, who remains on the throne while a military junta runs the country.

Outside U.N. headquarters, demonstrators displayed signs saying, "U Thant don't dine with the 'Fascist' king of Greece" and "U.N.—restore human rights in Greece."

Inside, a U.N. spokesman told reporters Thant had invited about 55 persons to a luncheon Friday in honor of the king and his queen, Anne-Marie.

Calumet Strike Honored

CALUMET (AP) — Some 600 workers remained off the job today at the Calumet Division of Calumet & Hecla, Inc., when members of the United Steelworkers union (USW) honored picket lines by 27 striking employes.

The strike affects laboratory, warehouse, smelter and mill employes at the copper firm's Keweenaw Peninsula complex. Some 600 miners have not yet been affected by the picket lines.

* * *

The 27 workers went on strike Wednesday to back demands for an interim contract with the company to tide them over until next year when they will be represented by USW Local 4312 at negotiations.

The 27 voted earlier this year to be represented by the union, but got permission from the National Labor Relations Board to seek a temporary agreement until they are covered by the steelworkers contract.

PAY BOOST

Both the union and the company have declined comment on the dispute, but one source said the 27 workers were reportedly seeking a boost in pay of 60 cents an hour.

TO WALL STREET WITH LOVE—A flame flickers at the tip of a $5 bill as New York hippies throw their money around during a visit to the nation's financial center on Wall Street yesterday. More than a dozen hippies threw dollar bills onto the floor of the New York Stock Exchange from the visitors gallery and then burned the $5 on the street outside after guards threw them out. They called their activities "a loving gesture." No one was arrested.

Throw Money Away at Mart

Hippies Bring Love to Wall St.

NEW YORK (AP) — Hippies can hardly be regarded as big spenders—they eschew work and begging is their thing—but Thursday they were throwing money away in, of all places, the New York Stock Exchange.

★ ★ ★

Startled clerks, runners and stockbrokers looked up at the visitor's gallery shortly before noon as a shower of dollar bills came floating to the floor. They cheered and scrambled when the bills landed.

"We just want to make a loving gesture to these people," said one of the 15 hippies. "They don't know what money is. They deal in stock certificates."

★ ★ ★

"I think they're nuts," said a woman tourist from Warren, Ohio.

The hippies also tore several $1 bills to shreds and burned a $5 bill.

★ ★ ★

One of the hippies said $1,000 was thrown away, but observers could count only 20 or 30 bills sailing down.

After a few minutes, security guards hustled the hippies out, to cheers and applause from the floor.

State Produce on Display

LANSING (AP) — Michigan farm products will be on display to tempt food buyers at Cologne, Germany, and London, England, this fall, reports the State Agriculture Department.

A booth displaying Michigan-grown apples, cherries and onions will be set up at the Cologne Trade Fair Sept. 30-Oct. 8.

Apples, cherries, onions, peppers, pickles and cauliflower from Michigan will be displayed at the London Trade Fair Oct. 12-20.

The cost of the exhibits is shared by the State Agriculture Department and several groups hoping to promote markets for Michigan crops.

Flint Sleep-In Continues

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A sleep-in protest moved into its eighth day today on the lawn of Flint City Hall although the demonstrators were under a court order not to tear up the grass.

The protest began after the Flint City Commission defeated an open housing ordinance Aug. 14. The ordinance, which would have prohibited discrimination in the sale or rental of housing, was defeated again last Monday.

★ ★ ★

Several city officials Thursday asked Circuit Judge Philip C. Elliott to do something to save the City Hall landscape.

Elliott issued an order barring the demonstrators from playing football, riding bicycles or leaving their sleeping bags on the grass.

Eels Foil Reds

MOSCOW (UPI) — Officials wondered for a time if it was sabotage when a 1.8 mile underwater pipeline of a chemical fiber factory in Daugapavpils, Latvia, was mysteriously jammed. But it was no saboteur, the Tass News Agency reported. More than 1,000 eels somehow had gotten through the pipeline's protective nets.

Aromatic Dream

SHERBROOKE, Que. — An apartment dweller here, Patrick Gauthier, 70, asleep and alone when his building burst into flames, was saved by an extremely realistic dream.

He dreamt that the ham he was to have for dinner was cooking. The aroma became so real he awoke to find his bedroom filled with smoke.

Fairbanks Starts Massive Cleanup

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—After the deluge comes the reckoning—and the race to tidy up before the subzero temperatures of mid-September.

Last week this city of 30,000 wore a dirty brown blanket of water up to 10 feet deep, spilled out of the flooding Chena River. Half the population had fled for their lives. Seven were dead. Damage totaled $150 million to $200 million.

* * *

Today most of Fairbanks looks like a giant back yard, where residents are drying rugs, mattresses, furniture and wearing apparel on clotheslines, fences, posts and rooftops.

Lloyd Teel stood outside his home in the Aurora subdivision and held his hand four feet up the muddy wall from where his feet sloshed in the muck.

WILL REBUILD

"I'm gonna rebuild," Teel said. "And this time the floors are gonna be up here where my hand is, and I'm gonna have walls two feet thick, reinforced with steel."

He was one of thousands who have been returning to the sodden ruins of homes and businesses this week while the devastating floodwaters ebbed away.

* * *

A man in the Westgate district, his basement still flooded, was in despair.

"I'd be better off to leave," said Pete Dunn. "I have $10,000 worth of equity, but I also have $10,000 worth of damage. I figure I'll fix the thing up and move on up a hill."

STORE SALES

Many residents, with furnishings and clothing lost during the week-long nightmare, flocked around stores which offered water-soaked merchandise at bargain prices. One shop was selling shirts for 25 cents each and you could buy a pair of work wants for $2.

As the people began the huge cleanup, many found their houses and shops almost a total loss.

* * *

Only a scant five per cent or so were reported to have flood insurance.

Some low-lying sections remained under water, preventing evacuees from returning. About 1,000 were still homeless and being cared for at flood evacuation centers.

DISASTER LOANS

Hundreds of householders and businessmen had applied for disaster loans.

The federal Office of Emergency Planning estimated that loan applications passed the 500 mark by noon Wednesday—and the lines of those patiently waiting grew by the hour.

Police Set Briefings on N-Attack Economy

EAST LANSING (UPI) —The Michigan State Police will start briefing county officials Sept. 13 on how to administer rationing and price controls in the event of nuclear war.

The briefings, to be held at 12 locations between September and December, will be conducted by the civil defense division of the State Police.

They will deal with the counties' responsibility in keeping the lid on the national economy in the event of nuclear attack. This involves consumer rationing and price and rent controls.

The federal government would take over financial and wage controls.

"The control of resources and economic stabilization in time of national emergency is a problem of extraordinary magnitude which can only be solved by the combined efforts of federal, state, and local governments," said Col. Frederick E. Davids, director of the State Police and of Michigan's Civil Defense.

"All of us are aware that in this nuclear age plans must be prepared to cope with such an attack."

Detroit Bar Loses Permit

LANSING (AP) — The State Liquor Control Commission Thursday revoked the liquor license of a West Side Detroit bar owner accused of violating Gov. George Romney's liquor sale ban during the Detroit riots.

The commission said police, investigating neighborhood complaints on July 28, found about 20 persons drinking behind locked doors in the Ascot bar, owned by Ted Frappier.

* * *

An executive order issued on July 23, shortly after the rioting began, prohibited the dispensing or selling of alcoholic beverages. The ban was lifted after the riots were quelled.

Revocation of Frappier's Class C liquor license will be effective Sept. 25, the commission said.

LBJ's Viet Delegation Plan Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's plan to send a delegation of Americans to South Vietnam to observe that nation's Sept. 3 presidential elections has drawn fire from two Republicans on Capitol Hill.

Rep. Henry C. Schadeberg of Wisconsin said the United States has no more business in attempting to police an election in Vietnam" than the Vietnamese would have in overseeing an American election.

James Pearson of Kansas called dispatch of the delegation an attempt by the President "to satisfy critics of his policy."

Pearson said the observers, including leading U.S. businessmen, labor officials and politicians, won't accomplish anything in determining whether the election is fair because they can't read or speak Vietnamese.

They'll therefore have to rely for guidance, said Pearson, on the ruling military regime — target of congressional criticism for allegedly attempting to rig the elections.

Pearson maintained that while the observers can do no good, they can "serve to promote the natural concern the Vietnamese and others have about American domination and influence in their internal affairs."

Johnson appointed the delegation Wednesday. It will leave for Vietnam Monday and return Sept. 6.

Officer Urges More Negro Guardsmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A regular Army officer who helped command federal troops in the Detroit riots Thursday strongly backed a recommendation that more Negroes be brought into the National Guard.

Maj. Gen. Charles P. Stone, deputy commander of the Detroit task force, said the regular Army forces, which numbered about 40 per cent Negroes, were more effective in establishing good relations with the Detroit Negro community than the nearly all-white Michigan Guard.

* * *

Under questioning by members of a House Armed Services subcommittee, however, Stone agreed that the situation in the riot area had eased by the time the regular Army forces arrived.

The subcommittee is conducting an inquiry into the National Guard's capability to deal with urban riots.

NO ANSWERS

Undersecretary of the Army David McGiffert said the Army is studying a recommendation for increasing Negro participation in the guard but has no answers yet as how to do it.

In New Jersey, he said, at the request of state officials, special permission has been given to increase the guard's strength by 700 places in hopes of filling them with Negroes. The New Jersey effort will be studied to see if it can be applied in other states, he said.

* * *

Three days of testimony by McGiffert, Stone and Lt. Gen. John L. Throckmorton, who headed the Detroit task force, ended with Stone declaring that the unsoldierly appearance of the Michigan Guard during the first days of its Detroit duty was a principal cause for the critical comments its performance has drawn.

In the Senate, Robert Griffin, R-Mich., said the Michigan National Guard should be praised and not criticized for its performance.

Three other senators joined him in tributes to the guard.

Jacoby on Bridge

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

On some occasions it should be easy to see that a squeeze may be developing and to find a lead to break it up.

JACOBY

South won the heart opening in his own hand and led his three of spades. Dummy's jack lost to East's ace and East made the safe (?) lead of a heart. South proceeded to run off five club tricks. He discarded the six of spades and queen of diamonds from dummy.

West was one of those players who might be described as poor but honest. His first discard was the nine of diamonds; his second the three of diamonds and his third the four of diamonds.

All these presented no problem but when South led a heart to dummy West had to make a fourth discard. This turned out to be sheer torture but eventually he played his eight of diamonds like a man losing his last tooth.

South noted all this. He cashed dummy's two high spades; led the seven of diamonds rose with his ace and made his slam.

East was indignant with West. "Couldn't you have played your diamonds in the order 3-4-8-9 and without showing any worry? In that case declarer would probably have finessed and gone down two."

East's criticism was justified but if we were looking for a culprit we would have to choose East.

When East was in with the ace of spades he should have seen that the only way to set the slam would be if West held the king of diamonds and a spade stopper and East should have led a diamond and broken up the squeeze before it had a chance to develop.

Students Plan OU Mass Transit System

When Oakland University planners began to look at tomorrow's transportation problems, they decided to go to tomorrow's engineers.

★ ★ ★

They dropped the task into the laps of undergraduate students in the university's school of engineering.

The question that needed answering was: "How does a small and compact university look ahead to the days when it has to shuttle more than 20,000 students back and forth between a half a dozen campuses?"

It was posed to a seminar class of seven undergraduate engineering students whose single assignment was to draw up a preliminary design of mass transportation system for OU in the 1970s.

★ ★ ★

They suggested an envisionary $13.4-million system of 12 gas turbine-powered vehicles riding on a nine-mile long network of tracks and guide rails between the campus clusters.

OU's planning committee and professional planning consultants had asked for a transit study in conjunction with the campus master plan.

Johnson, Johnson & Roy consultants of Ann Arbor have recommended that the university develop its 1,000 acres into cluster campuses — possibly four to six—rather than one sprawling campus to meet a projected enrollment of 30,000 by mid-1980s.

At present, with an enrollment of about 5,000 students, there is not even a network of campus roads serving this land.

★ ★ ★

A specially designed vehicle, 10 feet wide and 30 feet long with seats for 22 and standing room for 53 more, was recommended by the students.

VEHICLE OPERATION

With a maximum speed of 60 miles per hour, the vehicles could travel alone or in tandem during peak periods for a total capacity of 150. Large doors on both sides would be provided for rapid loading.

The student engineers selected gas turbine instead of internal combustion engines, which they said would produce a high level of air pollution.

An initial transit system would consist of an hourglass-shaped track network of two loops typing the present campus with the second one. A second campus may be developed in mid-1970 about a mile to the southeast.

★ ★ ★

If the student's planning was adopted, the guideways (guide rails) would be sunk into open ditches in the heart of campus areas, both to retain the beauty of the rolling landscape and to muffle the sound of the rolling cars.

VISIBLE RAILS

Elsewhere the concrete-surfaced rails would be at ground level or elevated on a framework of steel I-beams 15 to 25 feet above the ground.

John E. Gibson, dean of the OU School of Engineering and teacher of the class, had this to say about the 199-page published student report:

"It tells us what we ought to look at in more detail," adding that it should be quite useful in two or three years when planners will have made a firm decision as to exactly how the campus area is to grow.

Among the seven students who compiled the report were: Patrick A. Gibson of Detroit, son of a Detroit traffic research engineer; Craig E. Downs, 181 Fredrick, Oxford; and Kenneth H. Goff Jr., 241 Douglas, Bloomfield Hills.

Planners look for the present Oakland campus at the northwest corner of the 1,600-acre property to grow to its ultimate enrollment of more than 12,000 by the mid-1970s.

A similar-sized plateau on Butler Road, about halfway between Squirrel and Adams roads, is considered the likely site for development as a second campus clusters.

Other possible sites for campus clusters are spread about the campus.

Frustrated Bengals Starting Road Trip After 4-2 Setback

Killebrew's HR in Eighth Inning Sinks Bengals

By JERE CRAIG

Another day of frustration behind them, the Detroit Tigers invade Kansas City tonight hoping to reestablish that elusive momentum that could carry them to their first World Series berth in 22 autumns.

The Bengals dropped a 4-2 verdict to Minnesota Thursday afternoon before a crowd of 40,293 — including 24,376 paying customers who boosted the season paid attendance to 1,125,124. This is 831 more than all last year.

Harmon Killebrew's one-out, bases-empty home run in the eighth inning off Denny McLain (now 16-14) snapped a 2-2 tie and enabled the visiting Twins to salvage the final two games in the series after the Tigers had taken the first three to slip past the Twins in the standings temporarily.

Coupled with league-leading Chicago's loss and runner-up Boston's win in other Thursday matinees, the Tiger Stadium result put Minnesota third, a half game out of first, and the Bengals fourth, 1½ behind the leader.

Detroit's loss was its second in less than 20 hours after compiling a five-game winning streak and climbing 14 games above .500 at 69-55 — its best mark since June 6.

Killebrew's homer was his 34th of the season — he leads the major leagues — and only his second hit in the five-game series. The other safety also was a solo circuit clout and came in Wednesday night's 4-3 Twins' victory.

QUICK LEAD

The Tigers grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first inning yesterday as Willie Horton's double eluded Bob Allison in the left field corner and scored Dick McAuliffe from first base.

It took Minnesota only two hitters to tie the game. Allison led off the second with a double deep down the right field line. The big slugger, however, pulled a hamstring muscle going for second base and had to leave the game. Reserve catcher Hank Izquierdo then blooped a two-strike double inside the right field foul line, scoring pinchrunner Sandy Valdespino.

Twins' starting pitcher Dave Boswell dropped a perfect bunt for a lead-off single in the fifth. A sacrifice bunt and Ted Uhlaender's short single to left field preceded Cesar Tovar's sacrifice fly that made it 2-1.

The home team retaliated quickly when the slumping Norm Cash drilled a none on, two-out liner over the lower deck fence in right field for his 17th home run.

Boswell and McLain then each pitched out of man-on-third, none-out situations before Killebrew ended the tie. Rod Carew's two-out double and Uhlaender's single added an insurance run in the ninth off Hank Aguirre.

Al Worthington, 38-year-old Twins' relief specialist, earned the decision (8-8) in relief of Boswell who jammed his shoulder while sliding into third base in the top of the seventh.

BID FAILS

Detroit had runners on first and second with one out in the eighth, but Bill Freehan's long blast to left center was caught at the warning track and pinch-hitter Jerry Lumpe fouled out.

Minnesota — considered by most of the contending managers as the team to beat — moves to Cleveland for a twinight twinbill. California, still 6½ back in fifth place, goes to Baltimore prior to entertaining the Tigers next week in a four-game set.

Manager Mayo Smith of the Tigers has John Hiller starting tonight's 8 o'clock game at Kansas City. The Athletics, plagued by administrative unpleasantness this week, received a rousing welcome home from their fans Thursday and should be inspired for the three-game set with Detroit.

The series opens a crucial stretch for the Bengals. Only four of their next 18 games are at home, and they stand 28-34 away from Tiger Stadium.

MINNESOTA MISPLAY—Instead of picking off Detroit baserunner Bill Freehan (standing), Minnesota Twins' catcher Hank Izquierdo Thursday afternoon succeeded in pulling off first baseman Harmon Killebrew (foreground) who in turn only grabbed a gloveful of dirt as the ball skipped into right field. The Tiger runner advanced to second base on the third-inning play, but was left stranded when Ray Oyler made the third out.

Bada Making Bid for Sixth City Title

A classy field of 41, including the present champion and five other ex-titlists, swings into action tomorrow in the opening round of the 38th annual Pontiac Medal Play tournament.

Among the starters will be Kip Inman, 61, and Fonce Fowler, 65, who captured their first championships back in 1929 and 1930, respectively.

Both are playing well, but both will have to be at their sharpest to challenge defending champion Paul Bada.

The 37-year-old Bada has won the city crown five times, twice in a row, and the long-hitting swinger seldom has any trouble with the 5,689-yard, par-69 municipal course.

★ ★ ★

Should Bada take the title, it would tie him with Mike Andonian for the most victories in the city series. Andonian, whose last victory came in 1962, now lives in California.

The other ex-champions in the starting lineup are Ron Rothbarth (1956), Glenn Harding (1947, 1948, 1950) and Dick Robertson (1964).

Bada fired a one-under-par 137 last year to win the event, coming from behind on the final nine holes to nip Robertson and Avery Burton.

Trailing Robertson by a stroke going into the final nine holes, Bada played the remaining holes in 33 blows — two under par — while Robertson posted a 36.

Robertson, 51, is again expected to offer the strongest challenge to Bada. Robertson is having his finest year on the links. He finished fourth in the National Publinx recently and made it to the semifinals of the Michigan Amateur earlier in the season.

The field of 41 plays 18 holes tomorrow and closes with 18 Sunday.

VICTORY MARGIN — Detroit Tigers' pitcher Denny McLain (17), who has a well-earned reputation of serving up home run balls, reaches for another ball as Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew circles the bases after cracking his 34th homer of the season into the stands in left. Harmon's blow in the eighth inning turned out to be the winning run in the Twins' 4-2 verdict.

Whitelaw-Moses Lead Orchard Lake Tourney by Stroke

Pete Whitelaw of Orchard Lake and Jack Moses of Pine Lake combined for a best-ball 65 yesterday to take a one-stroke lead in the third annual Blue Coat Invitational at Orchard Lake Country Club.

The 65 by Whitelaw and Moses was seven-under-par for the 6,973-yard layout and it left them a stroke ahead of a couple other twosomes — Pete Green and John Collison of Midland along with John Ufner and E. A. Murray.

Ex-Red Wing Skater Asks Permission to Attend Detroit Camp

DETROIT (UPI) — Allan Johnson, who retired from hockey at an early age, has asked permission to attempt a comeback when the Detroit Red Wings open their training camp this fall.

The 32-year-old left winger, who played for the Wings in the early 1960's, was placed on the National Hockey League's voluntary retired list four seasons ago when he decided to become an accountant.

Johnson asked general manager coach Sid Abel for a tryout after playing amateur hockey the past four seasons.

Renda Named PNH Athletic Director

Little Ex-'M' Back in 'Huskie' Post

One of the smallest players to carry the ball on the gridiron at University of Michigan became the athletic director of a Pontiac high school for the second time.

The little gridder was Herc Renda, 49, whose appointment as athletic director at Pontiac Northern was announced this week by PNH principal Phillip Wargelin.

Renda, who handled the track teams at PNH, replaces Elden R. Johnson who moved up to an administrative position.

It marks the second time around for Renda as athletic director in the city.

★ ★ ★

Renda, a native of West Virginia who earned a degree and three football letters at U. of M., came to Pontiac in 1948 as football coach and athletic director at Pontiac Central.

CHANGED JOBS

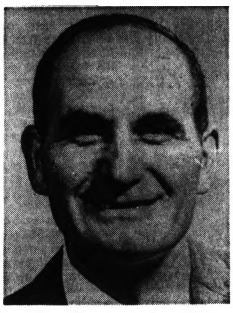
He resigned the high school posts in 1953 and went to Madison Junior High as a teacher. In 1961, he moved to PNH as assistant football coach and head track coach.

Although he tipped the scales at only 158 pounds, the 5-3 Renda was a steady performer at Michigan, playing with such names as Tom Harmon and Fred Trosko.

His first game against Michigan State gave him his biggest thrill on the gridiron. "I caught about a 10-yard pass from Trosko for a touchdown," he said.

After graduation in 1939, Renda eventually wound up in the U.S. Air Force and worked his way from private to lieutenant colonel. He was working in Miami in physical training and special services for the Air Force and rose from private to master sergeant in nine months.

Shortly thereafter, he entered officer candidate school, gained a commission and left active service in 1946 and entered the reserves. He retired last year with the rank of lieutenant colonel.



HERC RENDA

Married, Renda is father of two children, Steve, 18, is entering Wheaton College this fall. Jo Ann 15, attends Madison.

Top Secret Race Car Set in Challenge Cup

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (AP) — Mario Andretti, leader of the U.S. Auto Club circuit, will drive a top-secret Ford Motor Co. racing car in the $40,000 Canadian-American Challenge Cup race at Road America Sept. 3, course officials announced Thursday.

Little detail about the car was disclosed, but it is known that the car is about six inches lower than the Mark IV prototype Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., rode to victory in the 12-hour Sebring run.

Ford officials said the car is an offshoot of the Mark IV but has an open cockpit and other refinements.

Davenport Paces U.S.

MALMOE, Sweden (AP) — Willie Davenport of Southern University led the American entries in an international track and field meet here Thursday with victories in the 100-meter dash in 10.5 seconds and in the 110-meter hurdles at 13.7.

F-Birds Await Opening Game

With the roster trimmed to 40 players, the Pontiac Firebirds open the 1967 regular football season Saturday night at Mt. Clemens where former Pontiac coach Lisle Wells holds the reins.

The game is one of two on the opening night of the Midwest Football League schedule. The Detroit-Downriver Steelers travel to Dayton for the other contest. The Lansing-Flint game set for tomorrow will be played in Flint, Wed., Oct. 4.

Head coach Tom Tracy, starting his first season as Firebird coach, is optimistic over the chances of the young ball club in the '67 MFL race.

Mt. Clemens, however, with a veteran ball club is considered to be an 18-point favorite over Pontiac, having finished the exhibition slate with a 3-0 record and holding all three foes scoreless.

EVEN IN EXHIBITIONS

Pontiac is 1-1 in exhibition play, going into the season opener with a win over Flint and loss to Ypsilanti.

The clash in Mt. Clemens is expected to be a bitterly played contest. Two former teammates, Ron Bishop of Mt. Clemens, and Bill Harrington, recently obtained by Pontiac from Wells, will oppose each other at quarterback.

Mt. Clemens has ex-Canadian pro Jim Willis at fullback with Tony Odneal and Jim Johnson at the halfback slots.

Bill Apisa and Larry Goldsworthy join Harrington in the backfield for the Firebirds, with Sam West holding down the flanker's post.

Pontiac will open its home season Sept. 9th against Ypsilanti, the top challenger in the MFL this year.

TEEING OFF

By FLETCHER SPEARS

A young man who's likely to figure prominently in the Pontiac city championship this weekend married more than just a bride when he said 'I do' a few years ago.

He's Ken McClintock, who carded a 67 to lead the qualifying round last week at Pontiac Municipal Course, and he's the chief challenger among a field of some 40 who will try to take the title from Paul Bada.

McClintock, 28, assistant to the president at the International Screw Company in Detroit, was a reluctant convert to the golfing game. Actually, his father-in-law forced him onto the links.

* * *

Ken's father-in-law is Dick Robertson, 51, one of Michigan's top amateur players, and it's understandable why McClintock decided to play golf.

McCLINTOCK

Robertson and his wife are parents of three girls. Naturally, both wanted a son.

Along came McClintock. He met Dick's daughter, Linda, in high school at Pontiac Central. A marriage proposal followed.

* * *

"If you're going to marry my daughter you're going to be a golfer," said Robertson at the time, although indications were that he would have taken him anyway.

* * *

"I've never played," Ken said at the time. "Well, you'll have to learn," said Robertson.

BRIDEGROOM AGREES

Ken agreed, and when he opend Christmas presents in 1961, there was a set of golf clubs from his father-in-law.

* * *

He wore out that first set of clubs learning how to play, and he's learned well with the help of Robertson, who was fourth in the recent National Publinx and semifinalist in the Michigan Amateur this year.

And when Ken tees up the ball tomorrow in the first round of the 36-hole city championship finals, he'll find himself at odds with his father-in-law.

Also in the field will be Robertson, who won the title in 1964. Linda, Kriss, 5, and Kelly, 7, are expected to be on hand to cheer for both.

SHORT PUTTS

Steve Burrows lives on the right street. Steve, 15, scored a hole-in-one on the 195-yard, No. 5 hole at Highland Hills last week. He carded a 93. Steve lives on Golfer's Drive in Highland.

* * *

That No. 5 hole at Highland proved easy last week. Also collecting aces were Bryson Hart of Milford and Roy Burkhart of Davisburg.

If the hole-in-one has eluded you, have heart. Mary Barber now nearly 60, collected her first last week at Stonycroft Country Club, and the ace helped her to a second place finish in the club tournament.

Six Champs Set for Play in City Golf

Burton, Bada, Jeff Chambers and Robertson are paired for a 2:21 p.m. starting time. Charles Barker, Ken McClintock, Tom Balliet and Rothbarth have a 2:38 tee date.

McClintock, son-in-law of Robertson, is also expected to be in the thick of the scramble for the title. The 28-year-old McClintock fashioned a two-under 67 last week in leading the qualifying field. He carded a 143 to place ninth in the event last season.

Accident Puts Allen on Shelf

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia Phillies' slugging third baseman Rich Allen will be out of action the rest of the season, after accidentally cutting two tendons on his right hand and wrist Thursday night.

The all-star slugger was pushing his car at home here when he accidentally shoved the hand through a headlight, cutting the two tendons and severing a nerve.

He was admitted to the operating room at Temple University Hospital, where two orthopedic surgeons and a neurosurgeon worked on the hand over a period of nearly five hours.

The doctors said Allen's hand would be in a cast at least six weeks and that if the healing was normal, he will not have any difficulty in grasping a bat or ball.

A team spokesman said one of the two tendons controlled the little finger and the other part of the ring finger. He said the ulnar nerve was cut one inch below the wrist.

Midland Falls in Legion Play

CANTON, Ill. (UPI) — Midland took its second straight loss Thursday in Region 5 American Legion baseball.

Midland fell, 7-4, to Lima, Ohio, after dropping a 5-2 game to Owensboro, Ky., in Wednesday's first-round play.

In other action Thursday, Northbrook, Ill., beat Overland, Mo., 10-0; Canton downed Owensboro, 1-0, and Evansville, Ind., defeated Madison, Wis., 3-1.

Hefty Bunt Helps U.S. '9' Advance in World Tourney

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Little Bill Swain triggered a five-run rally in extra innings by running a bunt into a double as North Roseland of Chicago defeated Linares, Mexico, 8-3, Thursday. North Roseland enters Saturday's annual Little League World Series championship game against West Tokyo, Japan.

* * *

West Tokyo took advantage of three walks and a wild pitch in a three-run first inning to defeat Newton-Edgmont (Pa.), 4-1, in the first game of a semifinal doubleheader and became the first Japanese team ever to reach the final of this world series for small fry.

* * *

The Mexicans had tied North Roseland in the last half of the regulation six-inning game with a pair of home runs, but after a scoreless seventh, the Chicago youngsters put the game away with a five-hit, eighth-inning barrage off losing pitcher Juan Paez.

Stanky Bemoans Lack of Hitting

Hurler's Pause Costly as Reds Fall to Dodgers

LA Rallies to Garner 4-3 Win; Astros Nip Braves; Cards Roll

By the Associated Press

Billy McCool hesitated and the Cincinnati Reds were lost.

McCool, working in relief in the 10th inning against Los Angeles Thursday night, waited a moment too long before deciding what to do with Jim Lefebvre's sacrifice bunt and the Reds wound up on the short end of a 4-3 score.

Gary Nolan was working on a three-hitter and leading 3-0 going into the ninth inning against the Dodgers. But three straight hits by Lefebvre, Al Ferrara and Wes Parker followed by two errors tied the score for Los Angeles.

An inning later, Lou Johnson opened with a double. Lefebvre bunted and McCool fielded the ball, looked towards third, hesitated, and threw to first. But Lefebvre beat the play.

An intentional walk to Ferrara loaded the bases and after Parker popped out, Bob Bailey singled Johnson home with the winning run.

In the only other National League games played Thursday, Houston edged Atlanta 5-4 in 10 innings and St. Louis blanked San Francisco 2-0. Pittsburgh's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

LOOKED SAFE

The Reds nicked Dodger starter Don Sutton for a pair of first inning runs and added another in the third. With Nolan breezing, the margin looked safe, and until the ninth, it was.

But Lefebvre opened with a single and Ferrara doubled. Parker's hit brought one run across and Lee Mays high threw on the relay allowed another to score. Then Tony Perez booted a grounder as Parker carried the tying run across.

Doug Rader drove in three runs with three hits and a sacrifice fly for Houston but the hero was Sonny Jackson, whose 10th inning single scored Ron Brand with the winning run.

Brand had been hit by a Jay Ritchie pitch with two out and raced to third on Julio Gotay's double. Ramon Hernandez relieved for the Braves and Jackson singled the winning run home.

Bob Tolan and winning pitcher Dick Hughes stroked ninth inning singles that drove in the winning runs for St. Louis against San Francisco and bet Gaylord Perry.

Tim McCarver singled opening the Cardinal ninth and moved to second on a sacrifice. Julian Javier was intentionally walked and Tolan and Hughes followed with their hits.

Tiger Discard Hurls Shutout at Pacesetters

Boston Tops Senators; California Defeated; AL Race Tightens

By the Associated Press

Eddie Stanky doesn't need Hubert H. Humphrey. And he can get along without Bill Monbouquette, too.

The Chicago White Sox manager held forth at great length after his club was blanked on five hits by Monbouquette Thursday and lost to the New York Yankees 5-0. The defeat dropped the Sox into a virtual tie with Boston for the American League lead.

* * *

Earlier this month, Stanky barred the clubhouse door in Bloomington, Minn., after a game with the Twins, thereby keeping out, albeit unknowingly, the vice president, who, though a Twins' fan, wanted to pay his respects.

Stanky sent a telegram of apology, but when asked about the incident Thursday, said, "Humphrey can't hit. What do I want with him?"

RELEASED BY TIGERS

The White Sox couldn't do much hitting either against Monbouquette, who, after being released by Detroit in May, spent three weeks frustratingly trying to catch on with every major-league team before the Yankees took a chance that has been paying off handsomely ever since.

Monbouquette has pitched well in relief, but in making his first start against Chicago, he was superb. The league leaders managed only five hits and only one of them went out of the infield.

* * *

In other American League games, the Red Sox beat Washington 7-5, Minnesota took Detroit 4-2 and Cleveland edged California 2-1. Baltimore and Kansas City were not scheduled.

Charley Smith, the man who came when Roger Maris went to St. Louis, blasted two two-run homers for the Yankees and the White Sox just couldn't do a thing off the Yankee righthander who reduced Stanky to muttering, "Monbouquette, Monbouquette."

WINNING BLOW

Elston Howard hit his first homer in a Boston uniform, a three-run shot in the seventh inning that led the Sox to within a point of the league lead. Chicago's percentage is .561 to Boston's .560.

Jerry Adair and Jim Landis also homered for the Red Sox who won 10 out of 12 in their current home stand. The Senators scored three times in the ninth before John Wyatt came in to get the final out.

Chuck Hinton hit a homer in the fourth inning for the decisive Cleveland run and Sam McDowell protected it, giving up just six hits to the Angels and striking out nine.

State Open Polo Champion

Orchard Lake Team in 'Swing'

Polo is one of the oldest swinging sports in the world and the Orchard Lake polo club has one of the newest swinging teams in Michigan.

* * *

The Orchard Lake club, which is still in the process of completing its facility at Lakewood Farms, Willow and Lockhaven Roads in Union Lake, has reached the mid-point of its summer schedule with several matches still to be played against some of the top teams in the country.

* *

High point of the polo season thus far for the local riders was the winning of the Michigan Open, July 30, defeating the Kentree polo club in the finals, 11-10.

The number one team in the club is composed of John Mager of Orchard Lake, Jack and Leo Kousin of Union Lake, captain Harold Garian of Highland Park, Jerry Green of Royal Oak and George Benjamin of Walled Lake.

The game with Kentree was tied after every chukker and it was 10-10 after six chukkers. After 30 seconds of sudden death Kousin put in the winning goal for the Orchard Lake win.

LED VICTORY

Garian led the victory with four goals.

* * *

In a season match Aug. 6, at the local club, Orchard Lake again defeated Kentree 10-7.

The Orchard Lake mallet-men have had three road matches the past two weeks losing all three to Darlington, Pa., Beaver Falls, Pa., and Cleveland.

Still on the schedule are matches with Cleveland here this Sunday, at Grand Rapids over Labor Day and a three team match here September 24 against Darlington and Grand Rapids.

Floridian Leads

TORONTO (AP)—Barney Cipriani of Miami, Fla., has moved into first place in the world high diving competition at the Canadian National Exhibition. Scoring 216 out of a possible 270 points Thursday, Cipriani moved five points ahead of Al Gonzales of Atlantic City, N.J.

Regional Softball Title Won by Pontiac Local

A Pontiac team goes gunning for the state Class D softball championship after winning a regional crown in a tense battle against Port Huron last night.

C.I.O. Local No. 594 pushed across four runs in the top of the sixth to take a 9-5 lead and then held off the Port Huron attack to gain a 9-8 victory.

Dennis Diehm, Mel Taylor and Gene Land checked in with a pair of hits apiece to spark the union attack. Port Huron was tagged with six errors.

C.I.O. used five hits and an error for the four in the eighth, the final blow of the inning being a two-run single by Land.

Port Huron gained a 12-10 edge in hitting, but the unionmen played a steady defensive game behind the pitching of Bill Goulet.

* * *

While Pontiac was winning, Waterford's entry in the Class B ranks — Spencer Floors — was eliminated by Port Huron Kentucky Colonels, 3-0.

Pitcher Hal Blosh set Spencer down on three hits while striking out six.

The Colonels gave Blosh all the support he needed with a pair of first-inning runs and they shoved across the final marker in the third. All of the runs scored on errors.

DAY'S OUSTED

Day's Sanitary Service's bid to gain a berth in the state Class C men's softball finals fell one game short at Flint's Kearsley Park.

* * *

The Day's squad trimmed favored Port Huron Bowlerdrome, 7-2, to force a second district championship contest; but the Port Huron team grabbed an early lead and won the nightcap, 4-1.

The Rev. Harold Hughes blanked Port Huron for six innings and the sanitary servicemen erupted for seven runs in the sixth inning to break a 0-0 tie.

Bud Thomason and Tom Studt cracked two-run singles, Dick Cooper lofted a sacrifice fly and John Studt capped the rally with a two-run home run.

Keg Triumph

MONTREAL (AP)—Jim Candelet of Pawtucket, R.I., posted the United States' first victory in the international centennial lawn bowling tournament, defeating Tommy Banks of Britain 21-17. Stephen Norwath and Bill Kaestle, both of East Orange, N. J., downed Jock Thompson and Trevor Toms of Wales 23-22 in doubles match.

2-Ball Tourney on Golf Slate

More than 125 teams in mixed play are expected for the Jess Voorhees Scotch two-ball golf tournament Saturday at Bald Mountain Golf Club.

* * *

A dinner buffet is planned after the event honoring Voorhees, the 93-year-old owner of the club, and Ken Wilson, the long time pro and manager of the course.

Voorhees took over the ownership of Bald Mountain in 1933, and Wilson assumed the job as the club's pro the same year.

Entry fee for man and woman teams is $7.50 for club members and $11.50 for non-member teams. This includes golf, dinner and all prizes.

* * *

Mrs. Zadah DeBolt, former Pontiac women's city champion, is heading the committee, and entries can be made up to registration time at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Grid Call at PNH

Football equipment will be issued Saturday for candidates for the Pontiac Northern High School team. Coach Dave Schmidt said players may obtain the gear at the gym between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Californian Medalist in Amateur Golf

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Bob Smith says it's nice to be Western Amateur medalist and he'd like to win the title again, but the hot-shooting Californian hopes he has plenty left for his first National Amateur next week.

"This is the first time I've ever qualified for the Amateur," said the 24-year-old Sacramento public relations man Thursday after charging home with a 67-69 for a 280, 8 under par.

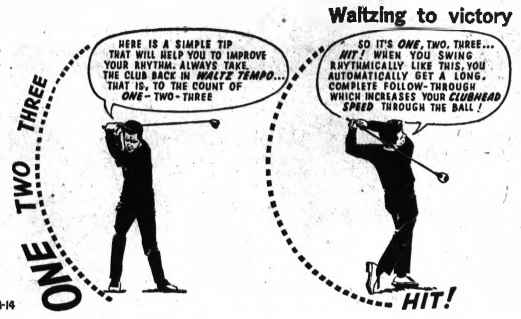
Rodney Horn, 28, of Prairie Village, Kan., who was only four strokes from the top in the 1965 National Amateur, was the hottest shooter on the Milburn Country Club course as he fired 13 birdies in a 67-66 finish for a 283.

Frank Groves of Orchard Lake completed medal play with a 75 for 297.

In the first round of match play today, Smith meets Charles Borner, 21, Lincoln, Neb., who shot 291. Horn meets Bernie Magnussen, 30, of Atherton, Calif., ex-Big Ten champ who shot 294.

GARY PLAYER'S GOLF CLASS:

Waltzing to victory



Young Kansan Shares Tourney Lead

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—Jim Colbert, a bright-eyed young Kansan, took a long, hard look at his position in the $250,000 Westchester Classic Golf Tournament, gulped once and admitted: "I feel a little uncomfortable." Mason Rudolph squinted through his thick glasses, added up his scorecard again and said:

"I feel like I ought to play a couple of more holes. I'm not used to stopping at 66."

* * *

The 26-year-old Colbert, who went to Kansas State on a football scholarship and abandoned it for golf, cut out a careful 66, six-under-par, for a share of the first round lead Thursday with Rudolph and South African Gary Player.

They had a one-stroke lead on U. S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus, Bob Charles of New Zealand and John Schlee, a one-time colonel's orderly at West Point, all at 67.

Locked at 68, just two strokes back, were Lee Trevino, a club pro from El Paso, Tex., steady Frank Beard of Louisville, Ky., who went 84 holes before getting a bogey, Dave Hill and 55-year-old Sam Snead.

INDIFFERENT ROUND

As usual, however, most of the gallery of 17,031 charged and screamed after Arnold Palmer, the all-time leading money winner. And their biggest cheer came when the muscular slammer from Latrobe, Pa., saved an indifferent round with a birdie-eagle finish that got him home with a 69.

In all, 68 of the field of 154 matched or bettered the par 72 at the compact, 6,573 yard Westchester Country Club course, even though a number of them including Nicklaus—complained that the grass in the fairways is too long.

But not Rudolph.

"Maybe it wasn't the best day in the world to play golf," he said. "Windy, a little cold. But I hope nothing changes. Absolutely nothing."

* * *

Rudolph had five birdies, a bogey and an eagle, reaching the par five fifth in two and running in a 35-foot putt.

Player confined his six birdies to a string of eight holes and didn't have a bogey.

"I was feeling pretty homesick when I started out," he said, "but all of a sudden I was playing like a superman. It was an excellent putting round, even though I didn't have a birdie putt of over six feet."

Colbert, a pro for only two years, also had six birdies—two on putts of more than 25 feet—and didn't have a bogey. He just missed on three more birdies, with putts spinning out of the cup on the fifth, sixth and seventh holes.

Nicklaus had six birds and one bogey and called it "a good putting round. I don't have any complaints."

Death Takes Former USC Gridiron Star

MONTEBELLO, Calif. (AP) — Mike McKeever, former football star at University of Southern California, died Thursday night in Montebello Convalescent Hospital.

McKeever, 27, had lain unconscious and in critical condition since he was injured in an automobile accident Dec. 3, 1965.

Mike's twin, Marlin, was a star end of the Los Angeles Rams pro football team. Survivors included Mike's widow, Judy.

Both McKeevers, after their junior year at USC were designated All America in 1959. Marlin was a first team linesman; Mike, a guard, was picked for the third team.

That season Mike had to give up football following a head injury in a game against Stanford. He underwent blood clot surgery then and recovered. But doctors told him to quit contact sports.

Marlin accepted a Ram bid declaring "Mike wants me to play." He now is a tight end with the Minnesota Vikings.

Bobby Dodd in New Role

'Gray Fox' Shedding Pressure

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech's famed "Gray Fox," won't be directing a football team as a player or coach this year for the first time in 45 autumns.

How does the 58-year-old Tech athletic director feel about it?

"There's a great weight off my shoulders," Dodd said in an interview yesterday. "The only thing I've got to worry about is where I want to sit on Saturday afternoons."

* * *

Dodd said, however, that he definately won't be on the sidelines during Georgia Tech's 1967 campaign under Coach Bud Carson.

"You can't watch the game very well from the field, and I certainly won't be down there offering advice to Coach Carson," Dodd said.

"I'll probably sit in the press box for home games, and I'm trying to decide whether to sit in the press box or in the stands for our road games."

PRESSURE EASES

Dodd, who stepped out as Tech coach after 22-years last winter, said the big difference between being coach and serving only as athletic director is the lack of pressure.

"I don't have to worry now about producing a good, winning team," he said. "There's a great weight off my shoulders. I had gotten to the point where I was worrying whether I could produce.

"I still have all kinds of things to do," added Dodd. "But these chores don't worry you."

Dodd, who said he had been either as a player or a coach on Saturdays since 1922," admitted that he still did not know how he would react when Tech's team took the field without him for the first time since he took over as coach in 1945.

"So far I haven't missed coaching," said Dodd, "but when they blow that whistle when we play Vanderbilt Sept. 23, I'm sure I'll feel different.

NO ADVICE

"But I don't plan to make any suggestions to Coach Carson," he said. "When I replaced Coach William Alexander he didn't tell me what to do, and I don't plan to tell Coach Carson what to do."

Dodd's teams posted an average yearly record of better than 7-3 during his coaching career, and he bowed out with a 9-1 season last fall.

Dodd cited coaching pressures and his health as reasons for resigning, and since an operation for prostate trouble last spring he has felt fine.

Waterford Hills Has August Races

The annual August Road Races are slated for Saturday and Sunday at Waterford Hills Road Course.

Among the entrants is Anthony DeLorenzo of Bloomfield Hills, just back from the Watkins Glen 500. He'll be driving a Corvette.

Waterford's point leader Paul Susalie, who last week unofficially cracked his sedan I record, is entered in his NSU-Prinz.

The racing course is located one-quarter mile east of U.S. 10 on Waterford Road. Racing will open at 2 p.m. Saturday and noon Sunday.

Finalists Known in Senior Golf

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Cecil Dees of Glendale, Calif., moved into the finals of the World Senior Golf Championships Thursday by defeating Walter Dowell of Walden Ridge, Ark., 4 and 3 over the Broadmoor East Course.

Dees beat Dowell in the finals last year for the championship.

In the other semifinal match, James Quinn of Kansas City eliminated George Van Niekerk of Lusaka, Zambia, 4 and 3.

Winless Bills Playing Hosts to Philadelphia

Inter-League Clash Kicks Off Weekend of 10 Pro Games

By the Associated Press

Who's afraid of the big bad Bills?

Certainly not Philadelphia's muscular, young Eagles, who came away winners in their first clash with an American Football League club last week and would like nothing better than to duplicate the feat against rugged Buffalo tonight.

The National League Eagles whipped the New York Jets 34-19 in their first inter-league game last week and displayed some fine looking rookies who could make things interesting for New Orleans, Dallas and Washington in the NFL's Capitol Division this season.

* * *

After Tim Brown was tossed out of the game for a first period fight, rookies Harry Jones and Harry Wilson split his running back chores and did an admirable job.

Jones carried nine times for 42 yards and Wilson gained 33 yards on five rushes and caught two passes for 38—one of them a 26-yard touchdown pitch.

Two other rookies—Chuck Hughes and Dan Berry—combined on a nifty 41-yard touchdown off a pass-run option that helped the Eagles wipe out an early Jet lead.

THIRD STRAIGHT

Buffalo, meanwhile, lost its third straight exhibition last week, bowing 13-10 to Boston. This is the first time the Bills have lost three straight pre-season games since 1961, when they dropped four in a row.

So the Eagles, 2-1, going into tonight's game, figure to be favored, but the Bills are always tough at home and it could be a close one.

* * *

The other two inter-league games send the NFL's Washington Redskins against the Patriots at Boston Saturday and the Los Angeles Rams against the AFL's Chargers at San Diego Sunday.

The Houston Oilers meet the Jets at Charlotte, N.C., Saturday night and Denver plays Oakland at North Platte, Neb., Sunday in AFL games.

The NFL schedule has Cleveland at Atlanta tonight; Baltimore at Detroit, New Orleans vs. San Francisco at Portland, Ore., and Pittsburgh vs. St. Louis at Nashville, Tenn., Saturday night; and Minnesota vs. the New York Giants at New Haven, Conn., Sunday.

Houston has managed just 16 points in two losses and must polish its offense against the Jets, who've dropped two straight after blitzing Boston in their exhibition opener.

Trophies Won at Pine Lake

Trophies were awarded in two women's tournaments at Pine Lake this week.

Mrs. Arthur Emery won the Pine Lake Niner's title with Mrs. Clifford Jones taking the runner-up slot.

Mrs. Arthur Emery and Mrs. Jack Habel ran one-two in the Elmer Prieskorn Tournament.

COMPLETE WITH SHOWER — Jory Hinman, the bow man on the America's Cup sloop Intrepid, snaps the jib onto the head stay (left) and is engulfed in spray a moment later. The Intrepid has been competing for the right to defend the cup for the United States against an Australian challenger.

12-Meter Sloops on Lake Michigan

HOLLAND (AP) — Twelve-meter sailing sloops, famed for their performance in the America's Cup racing series, compete this weekend in a miniature running on Lake Michigan of the Atlantic Coast race.

Robert Sligh, vice commodore of the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club which is sponsoring the Great Lakes Cup competition, said the permanent trophy will be given each year to the best 12 meter boat in matched competition in an effort to encourage 12 meter racing on the Great Lakes.

* * *

Only two of the vessels now sail the Great Lakes, the Mitena, at 73 feet the longest 12 meter boat ever built, and the 1938 British built Norsaga, owned by Harry Ziemann of Milwaukee. The Mitena is owned by a Grand Rapids syndicate.

The two vessels will race a triangular course in Lake Michigan off Holland Harbor Saturday and Sunday with two heats of the three-race series planned Saturday.

SEVERAL RACES

The Mitena, sailing for the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club, and the Norsaga, out of the Milwaukee Yacht Club, competed in several races on the Great Lakes this season. Norsaga beat Mitena by less than one minute in the Michigan City race which opened the season. Corrected time for the Queen's Cup race gave Norsaga the nod by one and one-half minutes and less then 7 minutes separated the vessels in the 200-mile Mackinaw race.

* * *

All 12 meter sloops are built to the same basic design such as the Intrepid and Dame Pattie scheduled to meet in the September America's Cup race.

The Mitena, built in 1936, was for a number of years, part of the New York Yacht Club fleet, sponsors of the America's Cup. The Grand Rapids syndicate purchased the sloop from Yale University.

* * *

The Norsaga was the pace boat in 1958 for the Sceptre, the British answer to the 20-year lull in America's Cup competition.

* * *

After the race, the Norsaga remained in American waters, sailing in East Coast races, until Ziemann purchased the vessel and brought her to the Great Lakes this season.

Baseball Chief to Take Action

Commissioner Eyes Kansas City Problems

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert, promising "appropriate action at a late date," has stepped into the squabble between the Kansas City Athletics and their volatile owner, Charles O. Finley.

* * *

Eckert acknowledged Thursday that he had received a request from the Major League Players Association that he hold a hearing on the dispute which has resulted in the firing of Alvin Dark as Athletics' manager and the release of first baseman Ken Harrelson.

* * *

Eckert said, "I am gathering appropriate data on the subject and will take further appropriate action at a later date."

The letter was sent by Marvin Miller, executive director of the players association.

RETURNED HOME

The Athletics, in the meantime, returned home to Kansas City Thursday and were met at the airport by about 1,000 fans, many carrying signs criticizing Finley and backing the players.

* * *

Jack Aker, player representative for the team, said he expected Miller to be in Kansas City in the next few days to discuss the situation. Harrelson was also at the airport, but leaving town to join another American League club, as yet unannounced.

Yacht Intrepid to Defend Cup

U. S. Boat Will Meet Aussie Challenger

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Intrepid, the 12-meter yacht shippered by Bud Mosbacher, defeated Columbia again Thursday and was selected to defend the America's Cup against the Australian challenger, Dame Pattie.

Almost before Columbia's lines were made fast to the dock, the selection committee moved alongside the California yacht and informed owner Pat Dougan and skipper Briggs Cunningham they had bee eliminated from the trials.

* * *

Then, Commodore Henry Morgan, chairman of the committee, went immediately to Intrepid's dock and told Mosbacher his ship would defend the Cup against Dame Pattie in a best-of-seven series of races off Newport starting Sept. 12.

Mosbacher successfully defended the Cup in 1962 as the skipper of Weatherly against the Australian Gretel.

NEVER DEFEATED

The last race in America's Cup competition, which started in 1851, was in 1964 when Costellation beat the British challenger Sovereign. The United States never has lost the Cup.

In posting her 19th victory in 20 trial races, Intrepid crossed the finish line 3 minutes, 51 seconds ahead of Columbia.

U. S. Doubles Duo Deserves Day Off

BROOKLINE, Mass (AP) — Clark Graebner and Marty Riessen, American's last hope to return the national doubles tennis championship to the United States, took a well-earned rest today before resuming action in the 87th annual tournament at Longwood.

The top-seeded Davis Cup veterans powered their way into the semifinals by defeating India's Ray Mukerjea and Mexico's Rafael Osuna 14-12, 6-3, 17-15, in a 2½ hour duel Thursday on a scarred court with the quarterfinals staggered over two days.

Head-to-Head Growling Ends

PEEKSKILL, N.Y. (AP) — Paul Seiler and Jeff Richardson spent half of last year's biggest college football game growling across the line at each other. Now they spend most of their time talking about all the fuss it created.

"We kinda joke around about the game, but we don't really talk about the game itself. There's not much to talk about," said Seiler, now a rookie teammate of Richardson with the New York Jets.

* * *

"We mainly talk about the publicity it got and ask each other what everyone else has asked us about it."

The game, of course, was the battle between Notre Dame and Michigan State, the clash for the No. 1 spot in the country that ended in a 10-10 tie.

Seiler was on Norte Dame's offensive line while Richardson was across from him, on Michigan State's defensive line.

"To the players themselves, that game wasn't much different than any other game," and Seiler, the Jet's No. 1 draft choice. "I had to go out and block Jeff, and he had to try and get through me."

Asked who won that particular battle, the 20-year-old guard chose the diplomatic way out.

"We both played a good game," he said.

As for the criticism the Irish received for settling for a tie by running out the clock, Seiler said:

"When (Parseghian) Irish Coach Ara Parseghian called theh last few plays, that was okay with me because when I was at Notre Dame, I did anything he asked me to do. That's the way I was taught."

DIFFERENT METHOD

In one way, however, Seiler is being taught differently now and that's causing some problems.

"All through high school and college and even at the All-Star game," he explained, "I was taught to block by pushing off on the same foot as the shoulder that I'm going to block with. In other words, if I'm going to block with my right shoulder. I should push off on the right leg.

"But here it's the opposite. If I'm going to block with my right shoulder, I have to push off on my left leg. After doing it the other way for so long, it became a habit. Now I have to learn it so it will become habit the other way.

"Right now I'm not fast enough because I have to think my way through. And when you think your way through, your reaction isn't as fast."

Seiler had another kind of reaction when he learned the Jets had made him their No. 1 draft choice, and the 12th in the first common draft between the two leagues.

* * *

"I was a little surprised," he recalled. "I really didn't know I'd go that high. I hadn't received that much publicity, and I didn't know the pro scouts knew I was around."

Even if they didn't, Jeff Richardson did.

Cardinals' QB Likely to Play Despite Duty

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An Army spokesman says quarterback Charlie Johnson may be able to play for the St. Louis Cardinals. Now the Cardinals have to figure out what to do with Johnson.

Johnson himself said his biggest problem, even if he could play, would be his timing.

"After a long layoff I could lose a lot of finesse and timing," Johnson said at Ft. Sill, Okla. "The main thing is to stay in good condition."

* * *

If Johnson can't stay in good condition and if his timing is off, then Coach Charley Winner might end up benching Johnson in favor of second-year quarterback Jim Hart.

The Washington Star said Thursday Johnson, 28, was found physically unfit to lead troops in combat. The newspaper said Johnson will be assigned to the National Space Administration's research center in Virginia. The Star said he would work civilian hours and should be available for all the Cardinals' games.

'86 Report at 'M'

Wolverines Earnestly at Work

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Football practice began in earnest at the University of Michigan Thursday as 86 candidates for the team turned out for their first double workout.

Coach Bump Elliot said the team's greatest weakness will be in the defensive backfield, where losses through graduation hit hardest.

★ ★ ★

"We lost our entire defensive backfield and we have a total of 17 minutes playing experience returning as a nucleus with which to rebuild," Elliot said.

On offense Elliot started off with Dick Vidmer at quarterback, Ernie Sharpe and Ron Johnson at halfback and Warren Sipp at fullback. All four earned letters last year, although Sipp spent the season playing tight end.

Only one sophomore made Thursday's first squad as Jim Mandich of Solon, Ohio, took over Sipp's tight end spot.

The team went through some light contact drill Thursday and Elliot said he hopes to get some preliminary scrimmages underway by the weekend.

There will be double workouts daily until classes begin next Thursday, Elliot added.

★ ★ ★

Michigan opens its season Sept. 25 against Duke, a new addition to the team's schedule, in Ann Arbor.

Tuna Landed

YARMOUTH, Nova Scotia (AP)—The United States team took the lead on the third day of the International Tuna Cup match Thursday when R. E. Nafziger Jr. of Los Angeles landed a 683½-pound tuna at Cape St. Mary. It was the first tuna landed in the tournament, which began Tuesday, and the first tuna boated at the Cape this year.

KEY TO MSU REPEAT—Quarterback Jimmy Raye is the key player in Michigan State's hope for an unprecedented third Big Ten title in a row, something no conference team her ever done. The Spartans began drills this week at East Lansing.

Spartan Eleven Shopping for 3rd Straight Big 10 Title

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State has taken two Big Ten titles in a row and will be shopping for an unprecedented third this fall.

No conference team has ever managed a triple crown. The goal is well worth shopping at, says Coach Duffy Daugherty.

"It should be a great motivating factor—plus the fact that they also are eligible for the Rose Bowl this year," Daugherty commented.

Quarterback Jimmy Raye is the key player in Spartan planning this fall.

Raye was the practice quarterback when MSU went to the Rose Bowl two years ago. He engineered two touchdowns for the losing Rose Bowl cause and last year led MSU to an unbeaten season and repeat conference title.

"We're better fixed at quarterback now than any time in our recent history, "Daugherty said. "I wouldn't trade Raye for any quarterback in the country."

BREAKAWAY THREAT

Raye is a scrambling quarterback—he gives defensemen fits — and can be a dangerous breakaway runner on the option play.

The remainder of the offensive backfield also looks solid.

Dwight Lee and Frank Waters are proven performers at halfback. Left half Lee was the fourth leading ground-gainer on weight. He is especially valued as a blocking back.

★ ★ ★

Fullback Bob Apisa, bothered by knee injuries most of his playing days at MSU, now seems over his troubles after a corrective operation. Although unable to go full tilt last season he still was second leading rusher.

Defense will be a weak point, Daugherty fears. The weakness was shown when the reserves made 323 yards against the varsity in the spring game.

"We lost eight of 11 starters from our defensive unit, Daugherty observed. "Our big jobs will be to keep our small group of proven players healthy and to piece together one adequate defensive unit."

★ ★ ★

Some change in the defensive tactics can be expected with the loss of such heavyweights as Bubba Smith and George Webster.

"We'll be smaller on defense so we'll have to be faster," said Daugherty.

Another problem will be finding a kicker to replace Dick Kenney, who collected the points by booting them barefoot.

Fall drills start Sept. 1 with a squad of 78 men expected. There will be 25 letter winners from last year's undefeated team.

U.S. Team 5th

PORTOROZ, Yugoslavia (AP) —United States women finished fifth Thursday in group precision jumps from 1,500 meters in the international parachute jumping tournament for the Adriatic Cup. The U. S. team had 1,887 points. The Soviet Union won with 1,945.7.

BOLES AERO TRAVEL TRAILERS

HERE'S WHY!
Every Boles Aero Travel Trailer is pre-engineered to meet the demanding requirements of modern trailer travel. From the chassis up, there are never any last minute modifications or "afterthoughts" added to cause trouble later. Boles Aero Travel Trailers feature an all-aluminum body that is constructed as a self-supporting unit, not dependent upon interior cupboards, cabinets and fixtures for strength and rigidity. In a Boles trailer, cabinets are added after the body has been constructed . . . just like a home!

Trade Moderately Active

Stock Market Heads Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed lower for the fifth straight day in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

* * *

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 4.97 at 893.49, paring its worst loss in the morning.

Analysts saw the decline as a logical consequence of Thursday's penetration of the supposed support level at 900 in the Dow industrials. The line sustained a test on Wednesday but was paper thin the following day.

Prices were lower from the start. Losers outnumbered gainers at a ratio of between 3 to 1 and 4 to 1.

LOSSES VARY

Losses ranged from fractions to 1 or 2 points. Most major sectors of the list declined.

Lower were steels, motors, aerospace issues, electronics, utilities, nonferrous metals, chemicals, oils and drugs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 1.3 at 330.5 with industrials down 3.4, rails up .2 and utilities off .3.

* * *

General Motors, down nearly 2 points, was the worst loser in the auto group. Fear of a damaging strike was increasing as the labor deadline grew nearer.

Prices fell on the American Stock Exchange. Losses of a point or so were shown by Bunker-Ramo, Rath Packing and ANeiex while Sperry Rand warrants, Giant Yellowknife, Hitco and Signal Oil "A" were among fractional losers. Mead Johnson paced the list on volume as it rose nearly 2 points in response to a report of merger with Bristol-Myers.

Plant food costs per pound have fallen since 1950 while farm wages have risen 59 per cent and land costs have doubled.

First Year's Efforts Ending

Briton Sure He'll Find Camelot

By EDDY GILMORE

SOUTH CADBURY, England (AP) —This year's initial efforts to uncover King Arthur's ancient kingdom of Camelot end here Saturday, with the chief excavator scenting success.

"I'm very confident that we're on the right track—even more confident than when we started at Easter," says Leslie Alcock.

* * *

An official of the department of archelogy at University College, Cardiff, Alcock heads a staff of 60 volunteers who began digging for Camelot early this year.

Backed by a research committee headed by the archeologist Sir Mortimer Wheeler, the work will be long, possibly lasting three or four more years. The next period of digging will be spring 1968.

KNOWN LOCALLY

Of this impressive high hill, overlooking the beautiful counties of Somerset and Dorset, Sir Mortimer Says: "Four centuries ago, King Henry VIII's appointed antiquary, John Leland, found that this place was known to local folk as Camelot. Sober-minded historians have hesitated to scorn the ancient belief that, about 500 A.D., there was a veritable Arthur, whether king or soldier of fortune. Now archelogy has given fresh substance to this Arthurian Camelot."

Excavations are limited to summer because Alcock and his volunteers—most of them college students—have university careers.

* * *

"We have achieved the main objectives of our first year's work," said Alcock. These were to examine the fortifications of South Cadbury and to look at the interior of the site for the trace of buildings.

"We've found that these ancient earthen ramparts have a very long history, that over the ages they've been refortified five or six times, he said. "Because of this long and extensive history we have not been able to examine in detail the whole of the story. We've concentrated this year on the post-Roman fortifications. "The last defense on this site is a late Saxon wall, built to defend a royal town and a mint at the time of the Vikings on southern England in the 11th century.

FORTIFICATION UNEARTHED

After examining a stretch of the uncovered wall, Alcock and his volunteers unearthed beneath it a rougher and older fortification.

"We are now able to show that this fortification belongs to the 6th century, that is to say the period of Arthur himself," he continued.

* * *

"We've made enough finds—particularly of pottery and metal objects—to tie down this date quite closely."

In the future he will examine the fortifications more closely. So far only small stretches have been uncovered.

4,000 YEARS

"It's fair to say that we've got 4,000 years of British history represented on this site in terms of pottery, weapons and jewelry and other objects," Alcock said.

"From the Arthurian point of view, I think the most interesting single object has been a small jewel, a gilt-bronze brooch of Arthurian date.

"It's of the type not worn by British ladies but by Anglo-Saxon ladies. This, therefore, from the Arthurian angle, belongs to the enemy.

* * *

"It suggests very strongly that it was captured in some successful Arthurian battle against the Anglo-Saxons."

Another find was the letter "A."

"It's a beauty," said Alcock," and in perfect condition—a perfect gilt-bronze letter 'A'—but I'm afraid it didn't belong to King Arthur." It's believed the "A" came from some votive tablet of the sort often found on temple sites.

In 1966, nearly 13,000 abandoned cars were picked up by the city of Detroit from its streets, or some 40 a day.

Sophia Loren Shows Real Professionalism

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

ROME — The thing about Sophia Loren is: she is a complete pro.

Her kind of professionalism is seldom seen in these times when actresses straggle late onto movie sets, make public appearances in sloppy or outlandish outfits, and give monosyllabic interviews. None of that for Loren. She harks back to the era when stars behaved like stars, because their studios insisted. In Sophia's case, the discipline is self-imposed.

* * *

Take that steamy day in Rome. In an ancient church in the heart of the city, she was playing one of her final scenes for "The Best House in Naples." It was a comedy sequence in which she enacts Mary in a nativity pageant, only to have her halo short-circuit and engulf her in smoke.

HARD WORK

For two hours Sophia sat under the hot lights in her voluminous costume while special-effects men rigged her for the stunt. Then she underwent several takes in which she was lost in smoke and smothered under a coat by actor Mario Adorf.

She retained her cool throughout. Well, maybe she was a little unnerved, because she asked an interviewer to come back the following day for a chat. The next day she was her usual self as she sat in her dressing-trailer and answered all questions.

She was asked about her Hollywood period (1958-60). During that time she supported a number of American stars (John Wayne, Cary Grant, Alan Ladd, Clark Gable) in films that were rarely box office hits. Only when she returned to Italy did she win her Oscar ("Two Women," 1961) and become a star in her own right.

* * *

"But the Hollywood experience was not a negative one," she insisted. "I had the pleasure of working with actors who were accomplished, and I was able to learn English well. Oh, yes, Hollywood was a very positive period of my career, when I was able to study acting, language and gestures.

ENJOYED PARTS

"And I enjoyed many of the pictures. 'Heller in Pink Tights,' while it wasn't a success at the time, was a real gem that now plays the art theaters of Europe. 'Houseboat' was a big hit, and 'Bay of Naples' was successful in America at least.

"'Desire under the Elms' was not a success, and that was disappointing because it was my first picture in Hollywood. The trouble was that the whole thing was shot in a fake way, on a movie set. And yet, Vittorio De Sica said that it was my best film."

Sophia said also that she has no regrets about "A Countess from Hong Kong" despite the critical and commercial drubbing it received in the United States and England.

"Everywhere else it was a great success," she said. "I enjoyed the picture and I found working in it a great experience. After all Chaplin is the foundation of our profession; every comedy gesture was practically invented by him. There were so many things that I learned working with him."

Bizarre Literary Battle Pits Svetlana Against the Soviets

NEW YORK (UPI)—Svetlana Stalin has become embroiled in a bizarre literary battle with the Soviet Union over her memoirs of her dictator father.

* * *

In the latest round, the freckle — faced daughter of Joseph Stalin has fired two salvos against her homeland in retaliation against what she and her advisers think is its campaign to pull the rug from under her $3.5-million book by peddling "pirate" copies and photographs in the West.

The 14 U.S. and European publications that paid a king's ransom for serial rights to her book have been so distressed over photographs from the Stalin family album sprouting around Europe that she called them together recently to give them a bonus interview.

"She wanted to give them their money's worth," a source close to Svetana said.

* * *

At this meeting, UPI has learned, the dictator's daughter accused Soviet officials of breaking into her apartment to take Stalin family photographs from her personal belongings.

DETAILS OF CONVERSATION

Detrail of her conversations will be revealed Sunday.

Miss Stalin came out of seclusion on the farm of U.S. diplomat George Kennan near Princeton, N.J., to accuse the Soviet Union of trying to discredit her book which will appear on the eve of the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, a near-holy event to Communists.

Victor Louis, a Soviet journalist believed by diplomats and correspondents in Moscow to be connected with the Soviet government, made the rounds of European publications to sell Stalin family photographs and articles he wrote based on Svetlana's memoirs.

* * *

These have taken some of the edge off her book revealing the personal life of the dictator.

'PIRATE' COPIES

Louis also unsuccessfully tried to have published cut-rate "pirate" copies of her book, apparently taken from one of two copies she left behind with friends in Moscow and Leningrad.

Some of the photographs show Svetlana in unflattering poses or as a child in the company of the unsavory secret police chief, Lavrenta Beria.

In a counterattack, Miss Stalin, through her lawyers, filed suits to prevent or postpone publication of the "bootleg" memoirs in Israel, the Netherlands, Italy and England.

* * *

Excerpts were printed in Germany despite a court injunction; Miss Stalin has told friends here that those excerpts were not in her original book.

3 MAIN PURPOSES

Experts on Soviet affairs think the Russians launched an anti - Svetlana campaign for three main purposes:

- To punish the defector by trying to ruin the sale of her book.
- To circulate in the West what they claim to be "the original" version of her memoirs. Soviet officials told Americans in Moscow they believed the CIA was doctoring her memoirs with anti-Soviet slanders.
- To postpone or speed up October publication of her book so it would not take attention from Communism's 50th birthday party.

* * *

It is difficult today to judge who is winning the liveliest literary quarrel since the William Manchester book on the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

* * *

A spokesman at Harper and Row, U.S. publishers of Svetlana's book, "Twenty Letters to a Friend," confirmed that the furor over the pirate copies caused the firm to advance the Oct. 15 publication date to Oct. 2, with newspaper and magazine excerpts to appear in September.

STATUE TO STAY—Felix J. Mart Death Spurs Penny Stock Shifts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Penny stocks are scrambling to other Western markets from the deathbed of their true love, the San Francisco Mining Exchange.

The romantic little old lady died Aug. 15, at age 105.

* * *

Since the Gold Rush days she had wooed speculators with a gambler's chance to make a fortune, or lose one. Her's was the lure of gold, silver, copper, uranium at the penny arcade prices of mining companies trying to make a name and a mint.

She died impoverished, almost deserted and in disgrace.

EMPTY BOARDS

But her passing was mourned by a handful of followers. They came for days after the close to sit facing the empty greeh chart boards in room 200 at 256 Montgomery Street.

Thirty-one mining companies stayed until the end, then hurried away to seek listings on exchanges in Salt Lake City, Spokane, Calgary, Vancouver, or Pacific Coast Stock Exchange in San Francisco and Los Angeles, or to establish a market in over-the-counter trading.

On the last day only two brokers remained. Business had dwindled from $8 million in 1956, during a uranium revival, to $2 million last year to $725,000 for the six months this year.

The glamor of the mining exchange began fading at the end of the California gold fever a century ago.

FRANCHISE THREATENED

The death knell was sounded in 1962 by the Securities Exchange Commission, the government agency which policies stock and bond markets. In its first move of the kind, the SEC threatened to lift the mining exchange's franchise.

The SEC charged, among other things, that the exchange was attempting to distribute "substantially worthless" securities; that there were irregularities involving 16 of the 42 companies then listed, and that the SEC had to step in and stop trading in 27 securities between 1934 and 1962.

For five years the exchange fought back. But volume "diminished to the point where further operation is not feasible," said President George J. Flach in announcing that the exchange would close.

Mrs. B. M. Forsyth, gray-haired secretary of the exchange, told an interviewer the exchange faded away because "the young men of today are just not interested."

KNEW HEYDAY

Regular traders were older men; "men who knew the heyday of gold mining from their grandfathers."

Stocks sold on the exchange last year at lows ranging from one cent to $9 a share and highs of three cents to $13.25.

All were speculative, Mrs. Forsyth said. At that moment, the telephone rang. What, the caller asked, could he do now with four mining stocks he bought long ago? Said Mrs. Forsyth:

"You can paper your walls with them."

Tax Court Judge J. Edgar Murdock concurred with the Internal Revenue Service which held that Borge founded the corporation for the principal purpose of evading federal income taxes. Borge said it was formed to give him future financial security apart from any earnings for professional engagements.

Lawn and Garden News

Auburn Hills Campus

Landscape Course at OCC

By JODY HEADLEE
Pontiac Press Garden Editor

Before you read any further, go and look at your front and back yards.

How do they look to you? Are you pleased? Are they adapted to the needs of your family? Do they have evergreen interest to provide winter color and a haven for the birds that stay over?

Are they like beautiful pictures? Does each one have a focal point with all flower and shrub beds subtly leading to that point?

Do you have seasonal color in your flower beds? Is your landscape designed for an ardent gardener or a summer pool watcher?

In short, is your landscape a delight or a disappointment?

If your surroundings fall in the later category, then Oakland Community College is launching at its Auburn Hills Campus a course entitled "Introduction to Landscape Planning" that will be the answer to your dilemma.

During the 15-week course you will be taught the basic principals of landscape architecture.

You will become proficient in the use of drawing tools, introduced to the symbols used in landscape design and draft plans for the small property including a personalized design for your own site.

Taught by Richard S. Nuttall, a Michigan State University graduate who earned both his bachelor and master's degrees at the university, the course will be held Wednesdays at 7 p.m.

The class carries three college credit hours and the tuition is $27.

Registration will take place Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Auburn Hills Campus.

For further information, contact Richard Nuttall, coordinator of the landscape technology program, Auburn Hills Campus.

Other classes that will interest the do-it-yourself gardener and landscaper include: Introduction to Ornamental Horticulture, Introduction to Landscape Gardening and Residential Ground Maintenance.

Professional nurserymen will be interested in the Nursery Practices course.

All carry three credit hours with the tuition $27 for each course.

Some Plants Not Happy Outdoors

Keep Cool, Green Look on Inside Too

As summer approaches we naturally go all out for outdoor living. Water sports and athletic activities occupy us, and even everyday occurrences go outdoors too.

We plan patio breakfasts, garden luncheons and backyard barbecues. Sheltered or open decks become the new "living rooms" and house plants that formerly occupied places of honor inside the home are sent outdoors, too — plunged up to the rims of their clay pots in planter boxes, garden borders, fastened to posts or garage doors — or just moved bodily out to the patio.

But, there are some plants that just shouldn't join the swing to the great outdoors. And, too, the interior of the house shouldn't be forgotten. Enough plants should be maintained indoors to assure a cool green summer look.

Certain of the bark-supported large showpiece green plants — like split-leaf philodendrons — may benefit from a spell outdoors, strictly in the shade, but somehow seem too tropical and indoorsy. So why not use them to advantage where they belong?

* * *

Your dormant fireplace makes an attractive summering place for these large green plants. Or a plain wooden stepladder — painted white — can hold two or three smaller philodendron or pothos plants on different rungs. It's an attractive and novel way to display them.

Ivy — which is used outside as ground or building cover — is a fine indoor summery plant. In small clay pots, trailing ivy on wall sconces can bring coolness to any dining area.

Another of the "indoor" plants is ferns. Display them during summer months in a "double feature" effect. Use one of the new clay pot and saucer hanging baskets and suspend a Boston fern from a curtain rod in front of a bedroom window.

At the foot of the window, pave a white tray with pebbles and place two clay-potted ferns in their matching saucers on the pebble layer. If you water the pebble layer to the base of the clay saucers, you'll supply the needed humidity ferns thrive on.

* * *

African violets when grown out-of-doors become insect-riddled and rain and sun can spot the foliage. So, here's another of the most popular plants that better stay indoors during summer months.

It's a good idea to double-pot the African violets into the next larger size clay pot and line the space between with peat moss during hot weather. You can arrange them on a wicker cart and they'll make a dazzling indoor garden.

Remember that the imaginative use of clay-potted container plants adds immeasurably to your indoor living during the hot weather, and think how nice it is that there are some plants that are so compatible — they're just not the "outdoorsy" type.

New Philodendron Is Discovered

Extraordinary houseplants discovered only recently are the self-heading philodendrons — those that do not climb.

* * *

Botanical explorers have seen these plants in the tropics and have been describing them for many years, but only in 1950 did they appear on the market in this country.

These nonclimbing philodendrons are sometimes especially desirable for decoration because they increase in width rather than in height.

* * *

The term "self-heading" indicates that each leaf is produced from a central crown at ground level as contrasted with the climbers that put out new foliage from the top of a trunk, with each new leaf higher than the one preceding it.

VOLUNTEERS—Mrs. Walter Stock of 97 Union was surprised to find stalks of corn growing in her street side flower bed. "I don't know how the corn seeds got there," said Mrs. Stock. "They probably were dropped by birds. But I just let the plants grow and now one has three ears of corn on it."

Felines Frisk in Rose Beds?

Do cats loitering in your rose garden upset you?

* * *

One rose grower says you are lucky if cats prowl in your garden because they keep out mice and rabbits.

Another says you can discourage cats by spreading cayenne red pepper around the bushes. The cats sniff and depart. Or plant chives between each rose bush.

Black pepper on the beds, says another, will make cats sneeze. And it gets on their paws, which they lick. Pepper won't hurt roses and will dissipate eventually.

Still another gardener recommends leaving cut canes on the ground.

Coleus Plants Are Versatile

You can use coleus plants, with their delicate shades of green, white and red, both as house plants in red clay pots or plunged, pot and all, in shady, sheltered outdoor locations.

Spring brings a variety of these attractive plants to your florists and garden centers.

Created by Man

Nature Solves Problems

Nature, through a process labeled "genetic feedback" by an expert on insects, is solving some of the pest problems created by man.

Disastrous outbreaks of insect pests often occur when man disrupts the balance of nature, a Cornell University entomologist said.

The "genetic feedback" restores the equilibrium and this can be speeded up by development of pest resistant plants, Prof. David Pimentel said at a recent Michigan meeting.

Endangered plants and trees will in time develop resistance to insect attack, Pimentel said. His reasoning:

Pest populations build up when plants are moved from their natural environment. Changes in temperature, moisture, spacing and fertilization associated with cultivation may make a plant less resistant to the same insects it had faced under natural conditions.

When a plant is introduced to a new area, it also may be exposed to attack by insects not found in its original range. In the "genetic feedback" system, the great hunger of the pests is their downfall.

The insects feed heavily at first on susceptible plants and they increase in population.

* * *

The feeding insects destroy most of the plants before they can reproduce, but those surviving are the most resistant and their characteristics are passed onto their offspring.

The process of screening is repeated until the plant population becomes generally resistant, while the insects decline, because they cannot feed as effectively as before.

Pimentel said elm trees would not disappear from America because they are building up genetic resistance to the Dutch elm disease.

Wicker Baskets Perfect for Spring Arrangements

You can give your home a luxurious decorative look at relatively low cost by combining flowers with the rustic quality of wicker baskets.

Wicker baskets may easily be adapted as flower containers. Their rough texture and weaves complement the bright colors and casual beauty of fresh spring blooms available at your local florist.

Tastefully arranged flowers in a basket can provide a change of pace and a pleasing element of surprise in your home decoration.

So, "break out" your baskets of different shapes and sizes, fill them with flowers, and use them in interesting ways — as centerpieces for a luncheon indoors or a patio dinner, as "living pictures" indoors on an unadorned wall, or at an area usually occupied by a somber print or portait.

Arrange flowers for a centerpiece in an open work basket, water the flowers and still keep the basket dry! Here's how:

LINE BASKET

Line the inside of a a basket with foil. Partially fill a metal, glass, or plastic container with water and place it in the basket. Presaturate a commercial foam flower holder and place it in the container so it is surrounded by water.

Then insert flower stems into the holder at any desired angle. Add water daily to the container to keep the foam holder saturated.

A basket on the wall offers an interesting way to use flowers. Using a shallow oval, fan-shaped or round basket, resaturate a foam flower holder with water, cover its bottom and sides with foil, and attach the holder to the basket with wire strung through the basket weave.

* * *

Crush chicken wire over the holder's exposed surface, and insert flower stems into the holder's exposed surface, and insert flower stems into the holder. Then hang the basket with picture wire and hooks just as with a painting. Occasionally remove the basket from the wall to re-water the foam flower holder.

For a fan-shaped basket, try using one Fuji mum at the bottom as the point of interest. Repeat the fan shape, using a few daisies, tips of stock, and sprigs of pittosporum.

For an oval basket, use a downward curve of daisies, fill in with zinnias and marigolds, and outline the design with ligustrum leaves.

* * *

A tiered wicker letter holder, containing sweetheart roses and waxy deep green leaves, would make an excellent addition to a wall nearest a breakfast nook.

ARRANGEMENT

A rough-textured, wicker wine-holder can be used for a flower arrangement with a definite flow — almost like the wine itself.

Try using delphiniums at the basket's either end, with miniature carnations and complementary greens grouped casually in the center.

A tallish raffia basket is a very appropriate container for the long, rangy gladioli or snapdragons.

Arson Charged to Area Man

Accused of Setting Own House Afire

An Independence Township man has been charged with setting fire to his own house.

The suspect, Herbert Brewer, 39, of 4941 Ennismore was released from custody after posting $3,000 bond, according to sheriff's deputies.

Brewer stood mute at his arraignment Wednesday before Independence Township Justice William H. Stamp. His preliminary examination was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Sept. 7.

The fire occurred Monday night and resulted in an estimated $25,000 damage to the home and contents.

★ ★ ★

Independence Township fire fighters fought the fire more than an hour.

Brewer told police he was asleep and alone in the house when the blaze broke out.

It marked the second time in the past eight months that fire has struck Brewer's home.

Police said they did not investigate the first fire which happened in December.

Woman Fined in Waterford Pistol Case

A Jackson woman, who allegedly flashed a loaded revolver at a Waterford Township policeman after she was detained for investigation of shoplifting, has pleaded guilty to a lesser charge.

Kathryn Edwards (also known as Rhoda Brambery), 24, of Jackson entered a guilty plea to a reduced charge of possession of an unregistered weapon in the court of Waterford Township Justice Patrick K. Daly.

Daly sentenced her to three months probation, fined her $68 and ordered her to pay $30 court costs.

Miss Edwards, a former Pontiac resident, had been charged with carrying a concealed weapon and felonious assault, both felonies.

★ ★ ★

The woman and a male companion, Ollie L. Edwards, 19, also of Jackson, became involved in a scuffle June 24 with township Patrolman Wes Sebastian in the J. L. Hudson Co. store at The Pontiac Mall after she was detained for allegedly stealing a shirt.

PULLED REVOLVER

Sebastian managed to disarm Edwards following a struggle.

★ ★ ★

The preliminary examination for Edwards has been set tentatively for Sept. 6 in Daly's court. He is charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

U.S. Jet Lost Over N. Viet

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes drove deep into North Vietnam Thursday, bombing rail and military targets within 18 miles of Red China but losing another F105 Thunderchief jet to Red ground fire, the U.S. Command said today.

The Thunderchief was the 13th American jet reported downed in the air war against North Vietnam this week—one of the grimmest of the year for American fliers—and the 860th U.S. combat plane reported lost striking North Vietnam.

The pilot was listed as missing in action, bringing the week's loss so far to 19 fliers missing with three rescued by helicopters.

Health Planner Unit Created

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney today issued an executive order creating a comprehensive state health planning commission.

The commission will serve as the state's long range inter-departmental health planning agency and will qualify Michigan for federal health planning funds.

★ ★ ★

The executive order also creates a citizens' comprehensive state health planning advisory council to work in conjunction with the planning commission.

Members of the planning commission will include the state health director, state mental health director, state social welfare director, state budget director and the governor's executive assistant for program development.

★ ★ ★

The commission, to operate under the executive office, is empowered to apply for federal planning funds and to hire a staff. Michigan has been allocated $235,000 for this purpose to date by the federal government.

Members of the citizens' advisory council will be appointed later.

Paper Carrier, 10, Hit by Car in Area

A Bloomfield Township boy was struck by a car and injured while riding his bicycle at Quarton and Blandford at 7:40 a.m. today.

★ ★ ★

Taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, was Walter Green, 10, of 5934 Blandford.

Bloomfield Township police said the boy was delivering papers and that a witness saw him cross into the path of an oncoming car. The driver was not cited, police said.

An American Indian's skeleton, believed to be 400 to 500 years old, has been exhumed from a riverbank, which may be the site of an ancient village near West Claremont, N.H.

Urban Leaders Push for Jobs, Housing

By the Associated Press

A call by urban leaders for the government to provide a million jobs for the unemployed and a million decent low-income housing units highlighted the racial scene Thursday.

Meeting in Washington, members of the newly formed Urban Coalition—including big-city mayors and leaders of business, labor, religion and civil rights groups—also urged greater effort in job-training by the private sector.

★ ★ ★

They responded with applause when keynote speaker Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York said America's commitment abroad "should not be allowed to weaken our resolve at home."

Some progress in housing for the military was reported by the Pentagon, which has recently opened thousands of rental units to Negro servicemen in the capital area by wielding an economic bludgeon.

SANCTIONS ORDERED

The number of housing units available to servicemen without regard to color has more than tripled in two months since Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara ordered the first use of off-limits sanctions, Pentagon officials said.

Essentially, the McNamara order says that within a specified radius of a military installation: "If you don't agree to rent to all races, you can't rent to any servicemen."

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere in the nation's capital Thursday, a National Guard general who commanded troops in the 1965 Watts riot said the use of tanks and automatic weapons in quelling street uprisings might increase the riot's tempo rather than quell it.

"If we start escalating the tempo in these riots, the rioters are going to be ready," Maj. Gen. Charles A. Ott Jr., said after testifying before a House subcommittee. "They're going to start killing soldiers."

COURT SUIT

In Newark, N.J., site of one of the summer's bloodiest riots, a federal court suit was filed seeking to take control of the city police department and place it in the hands of a receiver.

The action filed by attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the American Civil Liberties Union charged the police department with "acts of violence, intimidation and humiliation to keep the Negro community in a second-class status."

★ ★ ★

Newark Police Director Dominick A. Spina branded the charges "ridiculous" and said the city's corporation counsel would seek immediate dismissal of the suit.

In New York Thursday night, Negro author James Baldwin charged that the summer's domestic trouble "wears the mask of color. But it really isn't about color. It's about the failure in the middle of the 20th century of all the social and economic arrangements" of American society.

URGES BOYCOTT

Baldwin, who has been abroad finishing a novel, urged a "massive nationwide economic boycott" by American Negroes saying it might cause some sacrifices but adding, "We can't possibly be more deprived than we are already."

The State Department announced in Washington it is revoking the passports of Stokely Carmichael and George Washington Ware, Black Power advocates, on grounds they made an unauthorized trip to Cuba.

★ ★ ★

Ware is in Nashville, Tenn., where he faces state sedition charges and Carmichael is reported in North Vietnam.

State Housing Law Is Sought

Liberal Dems Urge Action by Legislature

LANSING (AP) — A self-described group of liberal Democrats today were to call on the State Legislature to institute "a full-coverage open occupancy housing law" at its fall special session.

The group, which calls itself the Michigan Conference of Concerned Democrats, released a statement asking Senate Minority Leader Ray Dzendzel and House Minority Leader William Ryan, both Detroit Democrats, to insist that such legislation be taken up.

★ ★ ★

It also asked Gov. George Romney to "see that his majority party aid in its passage," during the special session scheduled to begin Oct. 10.

"We deplore Gov. Romney's empty insistence that the Michigan Civil Rights Commission and its vague constitutional mandate are an adequate solution to racial problems," the statement said.

CONSTITUTIONAL

Romney, empowered by the State Constitution to call the special session and name the topics to be considered, has said the constitution already provides for statewide open housing enforcement through the commission.

He has said he believes the quickest way to get statewide open housing is to clear up pending court cases challenging the commission's authority.

★ ★ ★

He asked the State Supreme Court Tuesday to call in one such case now before the Oakland County Circuit Court and rule on it.

The conference statement said the group "deplores the situation that has brought about the resignation of Mayor Floyd McCree of Flint."

HOSPITALIZED

The mayor, hospitalized with a stomach disorder, has threatened to resign in a dispute over the Flint City Commission's failure to enact a local open housing ordinance.

★ ★ ★

"The Michigan Conference of Concerned Democrats feels that our state can no longer tolerate unequal treatment of any of its citizens," the statement said. "Nor can we allow the hatred and violence which are a direct outgrowth of inequality."

Ford Believes Surtax Will Hurt Firms

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II said Thursday he is still in favor of President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate incomes, but said he feels the computation method would discriminate unfairly against some companies.

"In addition to discriminating unfairly against some companies, this feature of the proposed legislation would, in my judgment, have the unfortunate effect of reducing business investment needed for long-term growth," the Ford Motor Co. board chairman said in a telegram to Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

★ ★ ★

Ford was referring to the proposal that the 10 per cent surcharge be computed before allowing for the 7 per cent investment tax credit or for foreign tax credits.

"My endorsement (of the surcharge) was based, in part, on the impression that the income tax surcharge would be a percentage of actual net tax liability as presently computed and would apply uniformly to individuals and corporations," Ford said.

★ ★ ★

Under the proposed means of computation, he continued, "the effective surcharge rate would therefore be higher than 10 per cent for expanding and modernizing companies and for those with foreign investments.

"For these reasons, I do not support the proposed method of computing the surcharge."

Ford concluded, "I remain convinced that a temporary tax increase is necessary at this time," but urged Mills to amend the bill so that the surcharge would be computed from actual net tax liability.

'Detroit Mayor May Change Police Chief'

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit News said today Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh is considering ousting Police Commissioner Ray Girardin.

There was no immediate comment from the mayor or commissioner on the report.

★ ★ ★

The News version was that Cavanagh, pressed by his personal aides to find a new commissioner, might move Girardin into another job as an assistant to the mayor. Girardin was executive secretary to the mayor before Cavanagh named him as head of the police department.

★ ★ ★

In two other developments in city hall news, the paper said Harold Black, the mayor's community development coordinator, also will be moved to another job and Press Secretary James Trainor will retire next July.

★ ★ ★

Trainor, 68, already had three one-year extensions of his tenure as press secretary, but city hall sources said he could not get another extension under city employe retirement policies.

Flint Hunting Girl's Killer

FLINT (AP) — The search continued today for the killer of a 17-year-old Flint girl whose body was found in a creek near downtown Flint.

★ ★ ★

Police said the girl, Linda Vuillemot, apparently was attacked while walking home from a downtown beauty school. They said she had been raped and beaten.

Police conducted a house-to-house check of the area Thursday in an attempt to find clues in the slaying.

Pay Raises Okayed for School Personnel

Raises of 8 per cent for Oakland Schools instructional personnel and about 7 per cent for its clerical staff were approved by the board of education yesterday.

Salary ranges for instructional employes with bachelor's degrees are $6,200 to $9,600 in 10 steps. The old scheduled ranged from $5,800 to $9,000.

Master teachers' salaries will range from $8,700 to $11,200 in 11 steps. They were $6,300 to $10,500.

Department heads and other key personnel except the superintendent and deputy superintendent will receive increases of $1,000 to $2,000.

Salaries for general instructional personnel and special education teachers total about $1 million, more than $76,000 over last year's figure.

Clerical employes generally received a $400 across-the-board raise.

In other business, the board officially started work on area vocational education centers approved by the voters in a millage election in June.

A 15-member Oakland County Vocational Advisory Committee was appointed for one-year to plan four centers, which may cost a total of $6.4 million.

★ ★ ★

A decision on where the first two centers will be built is expected to be made this fall, according to a planning timetable presented by Dr. David Soule, director of vocal vocational education.

CONSTRUCTION

Construction may start on the first two centers next July with completion estimated in August 1969. A third center would be built in 1969 and the fourth in 1970.

British Woman Tops Channel Both Ways

DOVER, England (UPI) — A 27-year-old restaurant cashier today became the first British woman to swim the English Channel in both directions. Two American women have accomplished the feat.

★ ★ ★

Rosemary George waded ashore at Shakespeare Beach, near Dover, after completing a 17-hour, 50-minute swim from Cap Gris Nez, France.

Miss George swam from Dover to Boulogne in 1961.

"This has been my ambition for years," she said. "Now I feel fine."

American swimmers Greta Anderson and Florence Chadwick are the only other women known to have swum the channel in both directions.

Business? or Pleasure?

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The course of true love, never smooth, may soon have to wind through the St. Louis license collector's office.

A city official said Thursday he plans to introduce a bill to the city's Board of Aldermen requiring computerized dating services to obtain business licenses.

A man recently inquired at City Hall about a license for a dating service he planned to establish in St. Louis. Officials were not sure he needed one and they want to remove the confusion.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY HUSBAND, Lloyd L. Bigham, who passed away August 25, 1963.
So many things have happened
Since you were called away:
So many things I shared with you
If you could have only stayed;
I cannot bring the old days back,
Your hand I cannot touch;
But I still have precious memories
Of the one I loved so much.
Sadly missed by your loving wife Edna.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR father, Lloyd L. Bigham who passed away Aug. 25, 1963.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they'll wipe out never;
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
We think of him in silence
His name we often recall;
But there's nothing left to answer
But his picture on the wall.
Just when his life was brightest,
Just when his hopes were best,
God called him from among us
To a home of eternal rest.
Sadly missed by children and grandchildren.

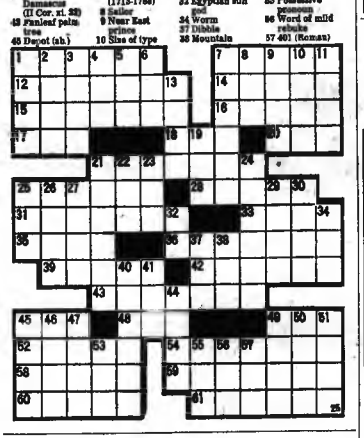
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Court Vote Dates Set by Romney

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has set dates for a special election to fill a Probate Court vacancy in Lake County.

The judgeship was vacated by the resignation of Judge Charles A. Wickens to fill a seat on the Circuit Court bench.

Romney set Sept. 11 as the last date for the submission of nominating petitions, Sept. 14 as the last date for withdrawal, Oct. 10 for a primary, if needed, and Nov. 10 for the special election.

KALAMAZOO (AP) — The famed "Red Arrow" Division of World Wars I and II holds its 48th annual reunion-convention here Sept. 1-4. The event is sponsored by the Red Arrow VFW Post No. 1527 at Kalamazoo.

Hope to Emcee Oscar Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bob Hope will be master of ceremonies again in 1968 for the 40th annual Academy Awards program—his fifth such performance in a row.

Arthur Freed, named Thursday as producer of the program next April 8, announced Hope's election. The comedian also was master of ceremonies in 1945, 1946, 1953 and 1955.

The Office of Health Economics in London reported that the Government's share is rising. In 1965-66 it provided 63 per cent of the money, the pharmaceutical industry gave 27 per cent and trusts and charities, 10 per cent.

Vacation Plans Are Varied ...From NY to Timbuktu

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Where'd everybody go?

Every year some New Yorkers discover that New York City is a great place to go for a vacation—and they stay at home.

Barbara Harris, the Chicago-born star of "The Apple Tree," spent her three weeks right here in town, ogling the new buildings, seeing shows she couldn't see when she was acting, brushing up on her Spanish, and reading 10 books including "Farewell to Texas," "Rosemary's Baby," and "A Horse's Head."

WILSON

Her vacation cost her about $3.80 a day.

But New Yorkers are mostly imaginative nowadays about vacationing and look for distant and exotic places.

My secretary, Barbara Bergstrom, a beautiful New Jersey redhead, hankers to go to a dude ranch (or any other place where there are dudes).

★ ★ ★

Publicist Carl Erbe, who has been around the world 16 times, once backwards, comes from Rock Island, Ill., but is always hunting a new safari spot. He's planning to go to Timbuktu, in Mali, practically in the Sahara.

He became entranced with the prospect of going to Timbuktu when a travel agent pointed out to him that you first go to Dakar, from which place it is "an easy three-day camel ride."

Maurice Uchitel, owner of El Morocco, went to Europe for a month to "case the Riviera" and decide whether he wanted to go there for a longer vacation. He decided he did.

This was the only time I'd heard of somebody prevacationing in contemplation of a vacation.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "I'm already sorry that I got married," says Art Paul. "My bride just offered to cook me a martini."

Military Shake-Up Reported in S. Viet

SAIGON (AP) — A major shake-up was reported under way today among high-ranking generals of South Vietnam's armed forces.

One report indicated that 50 military officers including "some generals" will be tried on charges of inefficiency and corruption.

Another account from reliable sources said that five generals would be relieved of their duties.

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the chief of state, told newsmen that the nation's military rulers are discussing a plan that will "go from generals to second lieutenants."

He denied that any generals had been fired yet, adding, "We have not taken any decision, but it's our plan."

Qualified unofficial sources reported that Maj. Gen. Linh Quang Vien, the minister of security, and Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, the chief of staff of the joint general staff, would be relieved of their military duties and sent abroad as ambassadors.

These sources said Maj. Gen. Tran Ngoc Tam, South Vietnam's coordinator with the Free World Forces Command, and Maj. Gen. Bui Hua Nhon, commander of the Thu Duc military school, would leave the army.

A fifth general was relieved of his duties, the sources said, but his identity could not be learned.

* * *

Reasons for the shake-up were not immediately made known.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said several weeks ago, however, the armed forces would be overhauled and tightened up from top to bottom.

Thieu said some province chiefs also would be involved in the shake-up but probably not until after the Sept. 3 presidential elections.

"We don't like to disturb the elections," he said.

Most province chiefs are ranking military officers.

COULD NOT SAY

Thieu said he could not say how many officers would be involved in the changes "because it would create some demoralization for others who believe they are."

Keego Harbor Man Is Held in Florida Sniper Shootings

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police in Miami suburbs today were trying to unravel the riddle of a smiling sniper from Michigan while two men lay seriously wounded in hospitals.

A young man with a crew cut and piercing eyes who had been described in a Michigan missing persons report as unstable and depressed was held without bond on four charges of assault with intent to murder.

The suspect, Candy Michael Hughes, 23, of 2123 Willow Beach, Keego Harbor was arrested by detectives who kicked in his motel room door after a college student said he saw Hughes reloading his 38-caliber pistol beside a car whose description had been widely broadcast.

Coral Gables Police Lt. Webster Preston said Hughes reportedly had an argument with his family in Michigan before coming to Florida earlier this week.

Police said the shootings began about 2:30 p.m. yesterday when K. D. Orr, 34, driving a school board truck, was cut by flying glass. A bullet had shattered his truck windshield.

TRUCKER PARALYZED

Ten minutes later Thomas York, 46, was paralyzed from the waist down when a bullet slammed into the cab of his truck and lodged in his spine.

"Something hit me in the left side," York said, "knocked me over. I thought maybe a tire blew out. I didn't know I was shot."

Levi Anderson, 48, in pain from his wounds, could not talk.

The fourth victim was Calvin Joyner, 29, who was nicked once when a man in a car pulled beside him and blasted three shots into the auto.

"He had kind of a smile on his face," Joyner said. "He looked like he was getting a kick out of it."

An off duty Miami Springs patrolman, Robert Miller, chased the small car with Michigan license plates. Miller said the man only fired at him when he tried to pull alongside and identified himself as a policeman.

Miller got the license number, and Coral Gables police began back-checking.

* * *

Five hours later, police said, Eric Monaghan, 23, of Washington, D. C., saw Hughes loading a pistol.

"Who are you planning on killing?" Monaghan said he asked Hughes.

RECALLED BROADCASTS

"He just gave me a weird look and didn't say anything," said Monaghan, who said he then recalled the radio broadcasts about the shooting which mentioned the car with Michigan tags.

Detectives surrounded the motel and arrested Hughes in his room dressed only in shorts. They said they found a .38-pistol hidden in a bathroom wastebasket.

Henry J. Kaiser Dead at 85; Headed Industrial Empire

HONOLULU (AP) — Henry J. Kaiser-founder of a billion-dollar industrial empire spread over 40 countries — died in his sleep yesterday. He was 85.

Kaiser was at his oceanfront estate about 10 miles from Honolulu when he was stricken by a circulatory and heart condition.

At his side were his wife, Alyce, whom he married after the death of his first wife in 1951; his son, Edgar; and Edgar's wife.

Kaiser, the founder of a $2.7-billion complex, was born May 9, 1882, at Sprout Brook, N. Y., one of four children of German immigrants.

He started his career as a $1.50-a-week clerk in a Utica, N. Y., dry goods store after leaving school at 13.

There was almost nothing Kaiser did not have a hand in: giant dams such as Hoover, Bonneville, Grand Coulee and Shasta; famed Liberty ships of World War II; the familiar Jeep; the Kaiser health centers; cement; aluminum; steel chemicals; aircraft and missile components and electronic equipment; radio and television stations; hotels; and the latest,. a new community of Hawaii-Kai in Honolulu with a projected population of 60,000.

About the only venture in which Kaiser didn't achieve the success he sought was in making cars.

For 10 years, 750,000 Kaisers, Kaiser-Frazers and Henry Js rolled off the assembly lines. But competition was too stiff.

Kaiser withdrew to concentrate on the Jeep-utility, vehicle.

Shasta Dam marked the beginning of Kaiser's industrial activity. His group lost the $36-million construction contract by $263,000.

Although he had no plant, he submitted a bid on cement at 29 cents a barrel under that of a cement combine.

He won the $7.7-million contract, built a cement plant at Permanente, Calif., and launched Kaiser Cement and Gypsum Corp.

Shipbuilding provided the big test for Kaiser, who mastered the "impossible" and red tape in World War II.

At the peak, Kaiser and his associates operated 58 shipways at seven yards. They built 1,490 ships, roughly 30 per cent of the American production of merchant shipping, during the war.

The first child was delivered, Correnti said, at 1:03 a.m., and weighed 5 pounds, 2 ounces. The second arrived at 1:42 a.m. weighing 4 pounds, 7 ounces; the third at 1:45 weighed 4 pounds, 3 ounces, and the fourth at 1:47 weighed 5 pounds, 1 ounce.

The Fahrenkrogs' other children-three boys and three girls-range from one to nine years of age. The father is an electrical engineer.

Sniper Wounds 4 Area Youths; Suspect Held

Four youths were injured — none seriously — when a sniper fired a shotgun blast into their midst as they stood near a Pontiac Township intersection late last night.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies took an unidentified 65-year-old man into custody at the scene, but said he is merely a suspect held for interrogation.

Shot about 11 p.m. while standing off the road at the corner of Pontiac Road and Opdyke were John Reigle, 21, of 919 Spence, Pontiac Township; Charles Yockey, 17, of 715 Cameron; Jay Caldwell, 21, of 110 E. Beverly; and Floyd Schell, 19, of 9416 Whipple Shores, Independence Township.

All were treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

* * *

Deputy Gabriel Kish said he was cruising in the intersection while on routine patrol when he heard the shot and approached the youths to investigate.

YOUTH SHOT

He said Yockey told him he'd been shot and was bleeding from the face and arm.

Kish called for an ambulance and for more deputies, who joined him in the search of a building at 2211 Pontiac which houses a business firm downstairs and two apartments on the second floor.

The man now in custody was apprehended in one of the apartments, officers said.

* * *

Six guns — all either rifles or shotguns — were found in his apartment, along with a spent 12-gauge shotgun shell, according to investigators.

CHARGES UNCERTAIN

Capt. Leo Hazen, chief of sheriff's detectives, said it is still uncertain what charges will be filed when an arrest is made.

Foreign Aid Is Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, laboring through a marathon 15-hour session, voted early today to slash President Johnson's foreign aid requests by a half billion dollars to $2.8 billion.

Even after a Republican-Southern Democratic coalition pushed through floor cuts of $344 million—and the House accepted earlier committee cuts of $219 million for a total of $563 million less than Johnson asked — the Democratic leadership was able to get the reduced version through by only an eight-vote margin.

The final count, recorded at 3:36 a.m., was 202 to 194. Many members had long since fled the chamber.

Voting for the final version were 150 Democrats and 72 Republicans, while 70 Democrats and 124 Republicans opposed it.

* * *

The difference, mostly in the military assistance section of the legislation, now must be resolved by a two-house conference committee.

Just before passing the measure, the House overturned an earlier 145-141 vote and cut an additional $33 million in technical assistance funds. The Republican move won the second time around, 234 to 163.

Included among the major cuts were $150 million from the development loan program, $72 million from the Alliance for Progress and $25 million from the President's contingency fund.

Another $60 million for support of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was chopped out after members were told they already had authorized the money in a separate bill passed earlier.

Despite the deep cuts, administration forces weren't totally without success.

Staved off were bids to pare $120 million from the support assistance program, and an additional $70 million from the Alliance for Progress.

UAW Strike Vote Is 'Overwhelming'

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers are rolling up overwhelming majorities to authorize a strike against General Motors, Ford or Chrysler in support of new contract demands.

Ballots received from Chrysler UAW members had 36,492 in favor of authorization and 1,532 against. At Ford the margin is 32,976 to 966.

The vote at Pontiac Motor Local 653 followed the trend with 89 per cent voting in favor of strike.

Some 8,000 workers voted yesterday and this morning and tabulations were completed at 11 a.m., according to local president Wayne Anable.

The UAW has disclosed no figures on General Motors voting, but usually reliable sources report the margin there also is 90-plus per cent in favor of authorizing a strike, if negotiators deem one necessary.

Eels Foil Reds

MOSCOW (UPI) — Officials wondered for a time if it was sabotage when a 1.8 mile underwater pipeline of a chemical fiber factory in Daugapavpils, Latvia, was mysteriously jammed. But it was no saboteur, the Tass News Agency reported. More than 1,000 eels somehow had gotten through the pipeline's protective nets.

Fairbanks Starts Massive Cleanup

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—After the deluge comes the reckoning—and the race to tidy up before the subzero temperatures of mid-September.

Last week this city of 30,000 wore a dirty brown blanket of water up to 10 feet deep, spilled out of the flooding Chena Rives. Half the population had fled for their lives. Seven were dead. Damage totaled $150 million to $200 million.

* * *

Today most of Fairbanks looks like a giant back yard, where residents are drying rugs, mattresses, furniture and wearing apparel on clotheslines, fences, posts and rooftops.

Lloyd Teel stood outside his home in the Aurora subdivision and held his hand four feet up the muddy wall from where his feet sloshed in the muck.

WILL REBUILD

"I'm gonna rebuild," Teel said. "And this time the floors are gonna be up here where my hand is, and I'm gonna have walls two feet thick, reinforced with steel."

He was one of thousands who have been returning to the sodden ruins of homes and businesses this week while the devastating floodwaters ebbed away.

* * *

A man in the Westgate district, his basement still flooded, was in despair.

"I'd be better off to leave," said Pete Ioani. "I have $10,000 worth of equity, but I also have $10,000 worth of damage. I figure I'll fix the thing up and move on up a hill."

STORE SALES

Many residents, with furnishings and clothing lost during the week-long nightmare, flocked around stores which offered water-soaked merchandise at bargain prices. One shop was selling shirts for 25 cents each and you could buy a pair of work wants for $2.

As the people began the huge cleanup, many found their houses and shops almost a total loss.

* * *

Only a scant five per cent or so were reported to have flood insurance.

Some low-lying sections remained under water, preventing evacuees from returning. About 1,000 were still homeless and being cared for at flood evacuation centers.

DISASTER LOANS

Hundreds of householders and businessmen had applied for disaster loans.

The federal Office of Emergency Planning estimated that loan applications passed the 500 mark by noon Wednesday—and the lines of those patiently waiting grew by the hour.

Detroit Bar Loses Permit

LANSING (AP) — The State Liquor Control Commission Thursday revoked the liquor license of a West Side Detroit bar owner accused of violating Gov. George Romney's liquor sale ban during the Detroit riots.

The commission said police, investigating neighborhood complaints on July 28, found about 20 persons drinking behind locked doors in the Ascot bar, owned by Ted Frappier.

* * *

An executive order issued on July 23, shortly after the rioting began, prohibited the dispensing or selling of alcoholic beverages. The ban was lifted after the riots were quelled.

Revocation of Frappier's Class C liquor license will be effective Sept. 25, the commission said.

Police Set Briefings on N-Attack Economy

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan State Police will start briefing county officials Sept. 13 on how to administer rationing and price controls in the event of nuclear war.

The briefings, to be held at 12 locations between September and December, will be conducted by the civil defense division of the State Police.

They will deal with the counties' responsibility in keeping the lid on the national economy in the event of nuclear attack. This involves consumer rationing and price and rent controls.

The federal government would take over financial and wage controls.

"The control of resources and economic stabilization in time of national emergency is a problem of extraordinary magnitude which can only be solved by the combined efforts of federal, state, and local governments," said Col. Frederick E. Davids, director of the State Police and of Michigan's Civil Defense.

"All of us are aware that in this nuclear age plans must be prepared to cope with such an attack."

Students Plan OU Mass Transit System

When Oakland University planners began to look at tomorrow's transportation problems, they decided to go to tomorrow's engineers.

★ ★ ★

They dropped the task into the laps of undergraduate students in the university's school of engineering.

The question that needed answering was: "How does a small and compact university look ahead to the days when it has to shuttle more than 20,000 students back and forth between a half a dozen campuses?"

It was posed to a seminar class of seven undergraduate engineering students whose single assignment was to draw up a preliminary design of mass transportation system for OU in the 1970s.

★ ★ ★

They suggested an envisionary $13.4-million system of 12 gas turbine-powered vehicles riding on a nine-mile long network of tracks and guide rails between the campus clusters.

OU's planning committee and professional planning consultants had asked for a transit study in conjunction with the campus master plan.

Johnson, Johnson & Roy consultants of Ann Arbor have recommended that the university develop its 1,600 acres into cluster campuses — possibly four to six—rather than one sprawling campus to meet a projected enrollment of 30,000 by mid-1980s.

At present, with an enrollment of about 5,000 students, there is not even a network of campus roads serving this land.

★ ★ ★

A specially designed vehicle, 10 feet wide and 30 feet long with seats for 22 and standing room for 53 more, was recommended by the students.

VEHICLE OPERATION

With a maximum speed of 60 miles per hour, the vehicles could travel alone or in tandem during peak periods for a total capacity of 150. Large doors on both sides would protect on both sides would be provided for rapid loading.

The student engineers selected gas turbine instead of internal combustion engines, which they said would produce a high level of air pollution.

An initial transit system would consist of an hourglass-shaped track network of two loops typing the present campus with the second one. A second campus may be developed in mid-1970 about a mile to the southeast.

★ ★ ★

If the student's planning was adopted, the guideways (guide rails) would be sunk into open ditches in the heart of campus areas, both to retain the beauty of the rolling landscape and to muffle the sound of the rolling cars.

VISIBLE RAILS

Elsewhere the concrete-surfaced rails would be at ground level or elevated on a framework of steel I-beams 15 to 25 feet above the ground.

John E. Gibson, dean of the OU School of Engineering and teacher of the class, had this to say about the 199-page published student report:

"It tells us what we ought to look at in more detail," adding that it should be quite useful in two or three years when planners will have made a firm decision as to exactly how the campus area is to grow.

Among the seven students who compiled the report were: Patrick A. Gibson of Detroit, son of a Detroit traffic research engineer: Craig E. Downs, 181 Fredrick, Oxford; and Kenneth H. Goff Jr., 241 Douglas, Bloomfield Hills.

Planners look for the present Oakland campus at the northwest corner of the 1,000-acre property to grow to its ultimate enrollment of more than 12,000 by the mid-1970s.

A similar-sized plateau on Butler Road, about halfway between Squirrel and Adams roads, is considered the likely site for development as a second campus clusters.

Other possible sites for campus clusters are spread about the campus.

Ridiculed Hong Kong Rioters

Red Terrorists Slay Comedian

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong Chinese radio comedian Lam Bun died today, a day after Communist terrorists turned him into a human torch, and a terrorist group boasted it had executed him for ridiculing Red rioters and agitators.

Lam's murder was a warning to "others committing similar crimes," said Hong Kong Communist newspapers, quoting the "underground traitor-executing onslaught headquarters."

* * *

Lam's brother was reported near death. The two men were riding in a car Thursday when terrorists, pretending to be highway workers, waved their car to a halt, threw in a bomb, then doused the brothers with gasoline and set them afire.

Lam, who conducted a radio program of biting satire, was the third terrorist fatality this week in the British colony on Red China's southern coast. A bomb killed two Chinese children Sunday.

REWARDS OFFERED

The government has offered separate rewards of $9,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the terrorists involved in either case. Lam's radio station added an $18,000 reward for his killers.

Lam's wife and three small children were taken to a hideout under police guard.

At the border, British Gurkha troops used tear gas for the second straight day to drive back Chinese mobs at the Man Kam To crossing point. The mobs tried twice to remove a wire barrier on the Hong Kong side. Then about 100 Red Chinese troops moved to the border to keep the groups in check.

However, loudspeakers along the 17-mile border carried a warning from Red Chinese soldiers that Chinese peasants must be allowed to continue crossing freely or "action will be taken." They did not say what action.
