Dynamite Explosion Kills 10

52 in Hospitals Following Blast in Oregon Town

Blocks of Warehouses, Many Stores Leveled When Truck Blows Up

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP) — A dynamite truck parked beside a burning building exploded with mammoth force early today. At least 10 persons were known dead.

The blast shattered buildings and spread a raging fire over the downtown area.

Hospitals held 52 persons, at least three of them critically hurt. Physicians and blood plasma were flown from nearby Grants Pass.

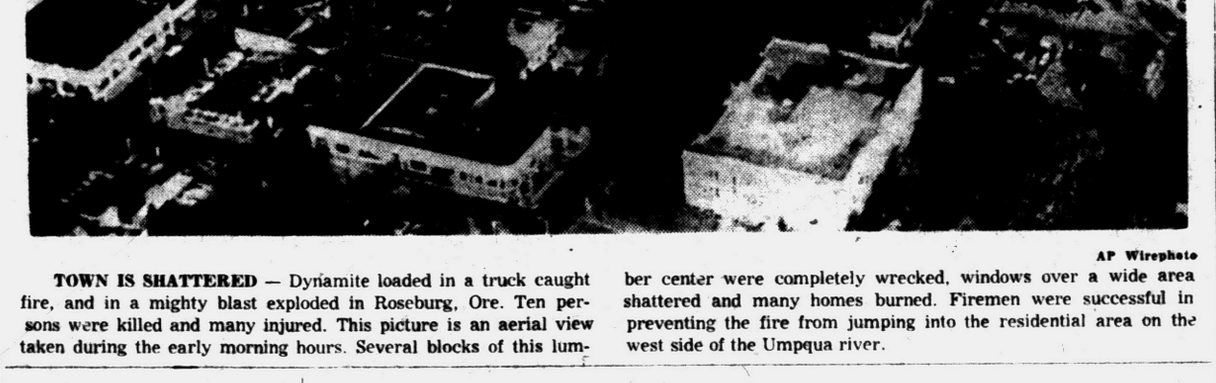

The hospitals reported three bodies. A mortuary said it had four bodies, and fragments of at least one, and perhaps two others.

Only two, Asst. Fire Chief Roy McFarland and Harry Carmichael were identified.

The blast and fire wrecked six blocks of warehouses, small business places and residences.

Debris was spread through another six blocks, including the heart of the business district.

TOWN IS SHATTERED — Dynamite loaded in a truck caught fire, and in a mighty blast exploded in Roseburg, Ore. Ten persons were killed and many injured. This picture is an aerial view taken during the early morning hours. Several blocks of this lumber center were completely wrecked, windows over a wide area shattered and many homes burned. Firemen were successful in preventing the fire from jumping into the residential area on the west side of the Umpqua river.

The fire, fought by men and equipment from as far away as Eugene, 75 miles north, was controlled four hours after the blast came at 1:20 a. m.

There was a crater 50 feet wide and 20 feet deep where the truck, from Pacific Powder Co., Tenino, Wash., had stood.

★ ★ ★

The truck blew up moments after a fire siren had sounded an alarm for a blaze at the Gerretsen Building Supply Co., beside which the driver had parked the truck while he got a cup of coffee.

KNOCKED DOWN

The driver, George Rutherford, Chehalis, Wash., said he was walking back toward it and was knocked down by the blast. He was hospitalized, with injuries believed not critical.

Volunteer fireman Tony Shukle said he was knocked down, blocks away.

"There was fire all over," he said, "the big one and probably four or five small ones."

For a time there was fear that a propane gas storage tank might explode but firemen cooled it with water.

At the height of the fire the six-story Umpqua Hotel's 65 guests and employes were evacuated.

The manager, Dick Smith, said that at his home, two miles away, windows were blown out.

Cloudy and Cool on Saturday; Warmer Sunday

Cloudy and cooler with occasional showers ending tonight is the weatherman's outlook for the Pontiac area. The low tonight will be near 62.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and a little cooler with a high of 78.

For the next five days temperatures are expected to average near the normal 82 high and 62 low.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a. m. was 65. At 1 p. m. the mercury registered 68.

Tax Talks Fold; Solons Go Home

Will Return on 3-Day Week; Hint People May Vote on Issue

From Our News Wires

LANSING—The Legislature started a part time work schedule today as a result of a wide open breach between the House and Senate on the state's tax puzzle.

★ ★ ★

There even was a suggestion the people could be asked to settle the revenue muddle in view of collapse of tax negotiations yesterday.

The referendum idea drew quick fire from Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson who said GOP senators wanted the people "to get them out of the jam they're in."

"The GOP now stands before the people as the party that demands pennies from the people but coddles the corporations," he said.

Most legislators headed home last night and today because the thing that was keeping them in L nsing—talks on taxes—folded.

The Legislature, with only 35 of its 144 members on hand, met for a combined total of eight minutes and did nothing but adjourn.

★ ★ ★

House members, both Republicans and Democrats, insist some form of business profits tax must be adopted. Senate Republicans, with a 22-12 vote control, said they "don't want any part of any kind of a business or corporations income tax."

The reaffirmed Senate stand, just when it appeared settlement might be near, triggered legislative turmoil.

★ ★ ★

"It is a form of obstinacy that is beyond comprehension," said Rep. Louis Cramton (R-Lapeer), referring to the Senate position there should be no new taxes on business.

"I've never seen anything like

It's Not Principle but Money

Anti-Flooding Hopes Dim

By PETE LOCHBILER

The city has an $8,723,000 plan to prevent basement flooding.

But there's little possibility that the plan will be made a reality in the foreseeable future, according to City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Why not?

"Where are we going to get the $8,723,000?" is Willman's parry to that question.

"There's not much reason to think that voters would approve a general obligation bond issue for that much and there's no other practical way to raise the money."

Pontiac voters, he pointed out, haven't approved a general obligation bond issue since the 1954 hospital construction bonds. Opposition to bond issues has been strong since then, sometimes bitter.

★ ★ ★

At one point in the history of efforts to improve the city's drains there was an attempt to finance improvements on a special assessment basis.

Up for a consideration was a proposal to tunnel Pontiac Creek around downtown. That was in 1951 when the cost was estimated at $750,000.

Assessments were to be spread over the entire drainage area served by the creek, the northwest quadrant of the city.

More than 300 property owners overflowed the old city hall, registering the most protests ever against a single proposal.

Intimidated city commissioners quickly shelved the project and have never dusted it off.

"In the first place," says Willman now, "a project of that magnitude should be a city-wide obligation.

"In the second place, first things should come first. Instead of beginning with Pontiac Creek, we should begin with the Clinton River, which is the outlet for the city's storm waters."

A plug or bottle-neck in the Clinton River's outlet causes the flow of storm waters to slow all over the city, he pointed out.

"Eventually the storm waters start backing up and that's what causes the flooding," he explained.

It is conceded, of course, that local flooding is usually caused by local bottlenecks in the storm drain system.

"But if you eliminate one bottleneck, the storm waters simply will start backing up again at the next bottleneck down the line," Willman continued.

"The way to remove bottlenecks is to start at the Clinton River outlet and work upstream."

Convinced that this philosophy was wise, city commissioners authorized an engineering study to improve the Clinton and

New Lights Brighten Downtown

Shock Kills Man Stung by Hornets

A 50-year-old Keego Harbor construction worker died of shock yesterday afternoon after being stung by hornets while at work in Drayton Plains.

William F. Stephens, of 2857 Knowlson St., a member of an Oakland County Road Commission ditch-cleaning crew, was operating a grade-all machine when it disturbed a hornet's nest, Waterford Township Police said.

Stephens was stung "a number of times" while getting away from the ditch, fellow workers told police.

"He went around behind the truck," said John Lawrence, of 6812 Drake Rd., Walled Lake, "and then went around the front and got into the cab. He acted real sick and laid down on the front seat and died."

He was pronounced dead at the scene by Oakland County Deputy Coroner, Dr. L. G. Rowley. Rowley said Stevens apparently had suffered shock from the bites.

★ ★ ★

Stephens is survived by his wife, Thelma; a daughter, Sandra Anna, and a son, Theodore, both at home.

Labor Talk Gets Much Applause

Ike's Appeal for Reform Brings in Many Wires of Approval

WASHINGTON — Supporters of tough labor reform legislation said today President Eisenhower's nationwide TV-radio appeal should provide enough votes for passage of the bill.

Advocates of a milder bill, however, said the address would boomerang and help them because it injected partisanship into the issue.

In the 15-minute speech, Eisenhower called on Congress to respond to an "overwhelming national demand" for a stringent reform law that would end the "national disgrace" of racketeers, crooks and other corrupt elements in labor unions.

The President gave examples of "blackmail" picketing, secondard boycotts and "no-man's land" cases. After each one, he looked directly into the TV lens and declared sternly, "I want that sort of thing stopped. So does America."

The White House said the President has received a "surprising number" of telegrams in response to his appeal for a tough labor bill.

The senders were "virtually unanimous" in support of the President's position. No breakdown on number of telegrams was made public.

He praised a proposed bill by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich) as "a good start toward a real labor reform law. He also pointed out

News Flashes

DETROIT (AP) — Two men held up the Bank of Dearborn in Dearborn today but were captured when their getaway car was involved in a traffic accident.

The gunmen — one tall and one short — appeared to fit the description of the Detroit area's so called three-minute bandits who have been staging quickie bank robberies for the past year.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Attorneys for United States Steel Corp., today rejected a $4,750,000 lump-sum settlement for survivors of 33 crewmen who lost their lives in the sinking of the freighter Carl D. Bradley in Lake Michigan last November.

The rejection was announced by U.S. Steel attorneys Lee Hensley and Wendell Lang, at a meeting with attorneys representing families of the victims.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House announced today that President Eisenhower will go to London about Aug. 28 for an "informal visit" and will proceed to Paris Sept. 2.

Extend Doe Season

HIGGINS LAKE (AP) — The State Conservation Commission today approved an expanded special deer season despite some vocal opposition at an earlier hearing.

Paddlewheel Satellite to Stay Up Over Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Explorer VI satellite is in orbit and will remain aloft for more than a year, National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced at 1 p. m. (EDT) today.

The 142-pound "paddlewheel" satellite was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., at 9:23 a. m. It will reach a peak altitude of 23,000 miles at 3 p. m., directly over South Africa, the space agency announced.

It will reach its low point 140 miles above the earth at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

The space agency had not calculated the point over the earth which the satellite will reach at that hour.

The satellite will take about 11 hours to complete each of its elongated orbits. That is very close to advance calculations.

The satellite had been aimed to climb to 23,000 miles and come back as close to earth as 160 miles.

A spokesman for NASA said the small "kick" rocket attached to the satellite, to provide added speed if necessary at the perigee or low point of the orbit, has not yet been fired.

Triggering the five-pound rocket when the satellite is at perigee would add 50-to-100 miles an hour to the satellite's speed and thus lift its orbit somewhat. The rocket was designed to be fired if the satellite comes too close to earth on an early orbit, that is, under 100 miles.

The new space traveler was hoisted aloft by a powerful Thor-Able rocket.

A brief announcement 15 minutes after the spectacular blast-off said: "The second and third stages of the United States three-stage Thor-Able satellite launching vehicle lanched at the Atlantic missile range has been fired."

If successful, the satellite could open a new era of larger, more advanced space research vehicles.

Launching time was 9:23 a.m. Four minutes later the International Telephone & Telegraph-Mackay monitoring station at Southampton, N.Y., picked up signals from the space traveler. The station classified the signals as good.

The satellite, to be called Explorer VI if it orbits, contained a flying laboratory to investigate many mysteries of space.

The three-stage rocket was aimed at a highly elliptical orbit that would take it as far as 23,000 miles into space and as close as 160 miles to the earth.

Because of this eccentric course, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it will be hours before it can be determined whether the satellite achieved orbit. The announcement will be made in Washington.

Fifteen major experiment devices were crammed into the spheroid-shaped satellite which is 26 inches in diameter and 29 inches long. Its main mission was to study the radiation belts that surround the earth. Knowledge of this potentially deadly radiation is a key to manned space travel.

New Satellite Could Talk to Mars, Venus

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The satellite cast aloft today theoretically is the champion long distance chatterbox of the fledgling space age.

★ ★ ★

It has built-in capabilities of gabbing by radio from distances up to 50 million miles from the earth — or about the distance to Mars or Venus when these planets are relatively close to the earth.

In today's project, the space messenger is not designed to travel such distances. It's only supposed to go as high as 23,000 miles.

But if all goes well with its unusual communications system, the satellite will be the forerunner of much deeper space probes to be launched to the neighborhood of the moon in October — and on the highway to Venus in November.

(The latter shot, even if perfect, could not make rendezvous with Venus because the time would not be right, astronomically. But space scientists figure such a shot would be good practice for the next time that Venus is in favorable position with respect to the earth).

★ ★ ★

One of the reasons that the current satelite shapes up as a long-distance space gossip is this:

The vehicle is equipped to tap energy from the sun for a constant recharging of chemical batteries used to power its radio transmitters.

Warren Store Robbed

DETROIT (AP) — A lone gunman robbed a Warren supermarket of $5,000 in cash and $500 in checks last night. Mrs. Bernice Evans, 22, of Warren, a cashier at the supermarket, said the man pulled open the door of her check-cashing cage and demanded money.

'Mr. K. Should See Military Bases'

McElroy, Soviet Official Disagree on Trip Agenda

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The Soviet ambassador doesn't include U.S. military bases in the list of "many pleasant and interesting places" Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is likely to see in America.

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said Thursday at a news conference it would be constructive for Khrushchev to see some of the bases during his tour here next month.

★ ★ ★

McElroy said he knew the Premier had said he had no wish to see American bases. But McElroy added he thought it was possible that Khrushchev might want to change his mind.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov had a prompt reply. Khrushchev "doesn't usually change his mind," Menshikov said.

★ ★ ★

McElroy, in response to a newsman's question, said the purpose of having Khrushchev visit bases would be more to inform than to impress. He said some American officials like himself have been concerned that a Soviet miscalculation of U.S. military power might result in Soviet military action.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn) today proposed that Eisenhower invite Khrushchev to take a cruise on the atomic submarine Nautilus during his U.S. visit.

"It would be a most exhilarating, enjoyable and challenging experience," Gore told a reporter.

"It would be both recreational and informational for him to cruise in the Gulf Stream off our beautiful coast on the Nautilus."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter briefed the cabinet today on their recent first-hand dealings with the Russians.

Nixon, who ended a two-week tour of Russia and Poland Wednesday, and Herter, who returned from the unsuccessful Geneva foreign ministers meeting yesterday, were on hand for the session at the White House.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower is expected to take Khrushchev to his secluded Camp David retreat in Maryland for informal talks at some point during the Russian leader's visit next month.

This was reported today by well-informed officials who said tentative plans for the Camp David talks are emerging from U.S.-Soviet negotiations on arrangements for the Khrushchev visit, which begins Sept. 15.

Officials said Eisenhower and Khrushchev would have a much better chance to get down to brass tacks in a discussion of cold war problems in the relaxed, private atmosphere of the mountain retreat than at White House meetings.

★ ★ ★

President Eisenhower's close associates said today he appears to be in good physical shape for his forthcoming round of cold-war meetings with world leaders.

The chief executive heads for his Gettysburg farm today to begin an extended vacation. He departs for Europe later this month for talks with allied heads of government before he meets Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower is scheduled to interrupt his vacation for a 24-hour return to Washington to keep some Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning appointments. But he then will go back to Gettysburg for an indefinite stay.

Across the ocean, European nations concerned over the prospect of a "big two" approach to world affairs began a round of talks today designed to insure that their interests will be protected.

U. S. Under Secretary of State Livingston Merchant arrived in Rome to assure the Italian government that the coming exhange of visits between Eisenhower and Khrushchev will not have the effect of dividing the world into two spheres of influence.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano was preparing to report to Parliament on the situation. Reports in Bonn said Chancellor Adenauer's cabinet is seeking a pledge that the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks will cause no weakening of the Western position in Berlin.

Hurricane Dot Vents Fury on Kauai Island

HONOLULU (AP) — A howling hurricane turned the enchanted movie island of Kauai into a mass of devastation today.

It blew down houses, unroofed others, knocked out communications and power, flooded some sections, left roads impassable, cut water supply to some communities.

The rare mid - Pacific storm, known as Hurricane Dot, swirled up on Kauai from the south, hit it with 75 miles-an-hour winds and torrential rain, and moved north out to the open sea where it began to disintegrate.

Damage could run into millions.

World's Champ Ingemar Wants Earnings Account

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—Ingemar Johansson said today that he wanted a full account of his earnings from the June 26 bout with Floyd Patterson by noon Sunday or there would be no return bout on Sept. 22.

The new heavyweight champion made his demand, which he said was an ultimatum, as he returned to his hometown from yesterday's secret meeting with Bill Rosensohn of New York, promotor of the June fight, in Paris.

Sentenced to Prison After Wife's Death

A 20-year-old estranged Pontiac father, who admittedly forced his wife into a death ride last month, today was sentenced to Jackson Prison for 4 to 14 years after serving as his own attorney and telling a tearful story of vain attempts of reconciliation.

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer imposed the sentence upon Delbert Zimmer, of 219 Willard St., after Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr. was granted a motion setting aside Zimmer's January probation for passing bad checks.

Barry said that, in light of the accident, Zimmer was a bad probation risk.

Zimmer's wife, Sophia, 17, was killed July 30 after Zimmer, a former mental patient, dragged her from her apartment at 226 S. Parke St. and minutes later crashed his new car into another at the intersection of Judson and South Paddock streets.

After relating his 20-minute story of how he tried to convince his wife to return to him, Zimmer broke down on the witness stand describing the night of the fatal accident.

He admitted he had drunk four bottles of beer, ran a stop sign, and was driving nearly 60 m.p.h. in a 25 m.p.h. zone before the crash. He said he couldn't apply the brakes when he saw the second car approaching "because I was unfamiliar with the new car."

He told how he cried, "God, please let my wife live" after pulling her body from the car.

Today's prison sentence was on the original uttering and publishing charge leveled against him and his wife last year. Barry said he didn't know whether the manslaughter warrant against Zimmer for the fatal accident would stand.

Zimmer sobbed and wiped tears from his eyes as he told how he "partially forced" his wife into the car "because I was afraid if I stayed around her place the police would arrive and arrest me as a parole violator." He had been ordered by his probation officer, Clarence Simuel, to leave his wife alone.

Under cross-examination Barry asked Zimmer: "Did you ever threaten to kill your wife?"

★ ★ ★

"I might have in anger," he replied hesitantly. "But if I intended to kill my wife I think I could have found a better way."

THEODORE VANDERSTEMPEL

Traffic Engineer Leaving Pontiac

Vanderstempel to Take Similar Post in Saginaw October 1

Theodore M. Vanderstempel, the city's first traffic engineer, is leaving Pontiac.

He will assume a similar post in Saginaw Oct. 1.

Vanderstempel, who has served as traffic engineer in Pontiac since Jan. 3, 1955, will succeed James Federhardt who resigned to go into private business.

Before coming here, Vanderstempel held similar jobs in Chicago and Miami.

During his tenure in Pontiac, Holland-born Vanderstempel was instrumental in the establishment of a large network of one-way streets in the city.

LED CAMPAIGN

He also led a campaign to put safety gates at unguarded railroad crossings as well as assisting in the George W. Barton study to revitalize the downtown area by relieving traffic congestion.

He is a member of the Oakland County Chapter of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers and the Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club.

Another of Vanderstempel's accomplishments was the installation of a progressive street lighting system on Saginaw street.

He also is credited with the installation of "yield right of way" signs at city intersections.

Vanderstempel also has been doubling as Birmingham's traffic engineer on a parttime basis. He lives at 644 S. Bates St.

A successor to Vanderstempel has not been announced.

Support Ike's Appeal for Labor Reform

that his own recommendations still were before Congress.

Eisenhower rejected as too weak a moderate Senate-passed bill and an even milder measure approved by the House Labor Committee. He said neither "will really do the job—to curb the abuses the American people want to see corrected."

Backers of the rival measures gave sharply different assessments of the effect of Eisenhower's address on the House labor reform showdown expected next week.

Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-NC) of the House Labor Committee, who favors the Landrum-Griffin measure, said the "situation looks very good" for approval of that bill.

Landrum said, "I think we are going to win." Griffin said the speech would help "win a battle that the American people . . . cannot afford to lose."

But Rep. Stewart L. Udall (D-Ariz), a leading backer of the labor committee bill, said the Eisenhower speech "plays into our hands" by making a partisan issue of reform legislation.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), chief author of the Senate bill, warned that the Landrum-Griffin measure might cause a congressional deadlock that would kill all reform legislation. He said the measure would "wreck the legitimate union movement."

AFL - CIO President George Meany went on the nationwide NBC radio hookup two hours after Eisenhower to denounce the Landrum-Griffin bill as an attempt to impose punitive restrictions on the entire labor movement because of corruption in some unions. He termed the bill a "blunderbuss."

Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers head and AFL-CIO vice president, said the President had been "taken in" by labor's foes. Reuther asserted Eisenhower had been "given a few catch phrases" to support legislation he does not understand.

The National Assn. of Manufacturers, however, said Eisenhower "has fulfilled an obligation to speak out on the critical need for real labor reform legislation."

Elizabeth and Philip Expect Baby in '60

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II is going to have another baby, her third, probably in January or February.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman announced today that a royal baby is on the way, disclosing the 33-year-old Queen was pregnant during her long and tiring tour of Canada this summer.

The spokesman said the Queen had rejected suggestions that she called off the tour because "she knew the disappointment it would have caused."

The birth will be the first in more than 100 years to a reigning British sovereign. Queen Victoria gave birth to Princess Beatrice in 1857.

Prince Charles, heir to the throne, was born Nov. 14, 1948, and Princess Anne Aug. 15, 1950. Queen Elizabeth's coronation was June 2, 1953.

The Queen returned to London Sunday from Canada. She called in her doctors, Sir John Weir and Lord Evans, the next day. Only then was her pregnancy confirmed, the spokesman said. Since then she has spent nearly all her time resting.

After her doctors confirmed that she was pregnant, the Queen stayed close to home — Buckingham Palace. But Thursday she left for Balmoral Castle, her home in the Scottish highlands, with her husband, Prince Philip, and the children.

The Queen was smiling as she boarded the train for Scotland. She appeared far from exhausted despite the rigors of her 45-day tour of Canada that also took her to Chicago.

After announcing the forthcoming birth, the palace spokesman said: "Her Majesty and Prince Philip are very happy about it."

The Queen has canceled all public engagements. She called off her visit to Ghana, which was to have taken place in November.

A new royal baby will change the line of succession to the British throne.

Princess Margaret, the Queen's 28-year-old sister, is now third in line. She will drop back to fourth.

Ahead of Margaret now are Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

★ ★ ★

The palace did not say where the birth will take place.

A palace statement said: "The Queen will undertake no further public engagements.

Anti-Flood Hopes Bleak, Costs Appear Prohibitive

Pontiac Creek several years ago.

The city's engineering consultants—Jones, Henry and Williams of Toledo—came up with a $12,000 report in 1957.

It recommends widening, straightening and deepening the two channels and embodies the 1951 suggestion—tunnel the two rivers around downtown Pontiac.

Pontiac Creek and the Clinton do a lot of meandering in the downtown area, the report noted, and as a result the flow of storm waters is slowed to a snail's pace.

Cut out the meander, divert the waters through big, gently curved tunnels, and the flow would be speeded up, the report recommended.

The Clinton tunnel would be from a point south of Orchard Lake road and west of Grand Trunk Railroad to a point north of the municipal parking lot north of Auburn avenue and east of S. Saginaw street.

The tunnel should consist of two tubes, each 10 feet in diameter, according to the report. For 1,200 feet of double tube tunnel, it said, the city would have to spend $1,498 000 in construction costs. $108,200 for right - of - way and $191,400 to revise existing sewers, or a total of $1,707,600.

The report also recommends that the city install closed double box concrete conduits—each box 9-feet-6-inches square—at each end of the tunnel, 1,900 feet on the east side and 2,400 feet on the west side.

The total cost for the conduits—including construction, right-of-way and sewer revisions—is estimated at $1,376,400.

The report would treat Pontiac Creek in similar fashion. The creek should be diverted through a double tube tunnel (each tube 10 feet in diameter) between a point west of Oakland avenue and north of Lafayette avenue to a point east of Perry street in the vicinity of School street, the report said.

Total cost for 1,300 feet of tunnel would be $1,464,900, the report estimated.

Double box conduits—running 900 feet east of the tunnel and 3,500 feet west of it—would cost another $1,146,500, the report figured.

Conduits and tunnels would bring the Clinton and Pontiac Creek together just west of Richardson Park, five blocks east of their present juncture under West Lawrence street between Wayne street and Cass avenue.

Not only would Pontiac Creek be shortened by some 1,300 feet, but the Clinton River would be relieved of the Pontiac Creek flow for about 1,900 feet.

The Clinton River tunnel alone would trim 2,000 feet off the distance that river travels in its present loop through the downtown business district.

By diverting the two streams around the business district, "the present stream bed can be reclaimed and future development of the areas will be freed from the restrictions imposed by open stream channels," the report stated.

The conduits would extend the Pontiac Creek improvements as far west as Johnson avenue. Total cost is estimated at $3,108,000.

The conduits would extend the major Clinton River improvements as far west as a point west of Bagley avenue, 600 feet south of Wessen street.

But the report envisions minor improvements to the Clinton from Auburn road on the eastern city limits to a proposed $85,000 flood control dam at the eastern end of Crystal Lake in western Pontiac.

It recommends straightening the channel and widening it to 40 feet from the dam to the conduit. East of the business district, it says, a 28-foot wide concrete channel should be constructed to Paddock street, leading into earth channels 50 and then 60 feet wide, as far as the sewage treatment plant at East boulevard.

HOWARD SUTTON

Name Director of UF Promotion

Howard Sutton Chosen Public Relations Chief for Pontiac Drive

Howard Sutton, 23, of 6149 Cottage Dr., Haslett, has been appointed public relations director of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

The announcement was made today by Leonard Lewis, president of this year's UF campaign.

Sutton, a June 1958 graduate of the Michigan State University School of Journalism, will be responsible for the advertising, publicity and promotion of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

The fund is a central fund-raising organization for 55 health, recreational and welfare agencies throughout North Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

While attending MSU, Sutton was the recipient of the Harry Suffrin advertising award, business manager of the Michigan State News, received the A. A. Applegate Journalism scholarship, and was accepted as a member of Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising fraternity.

Sutton was previously in sales promotion work with the Capital Sales Corp. in Lansing. He will move with his wife and daughter to the Pontiac area.

'Hungry' Youth Arrested Today in Burglary

A 17-year-old youth was held for investigation of burglary this morning after admitting to Pontiac Police that he hammered on the door of the East Side Market at 226 E. Pike St. in an attempt to break into the building.

Larry Rose, who told police he lived with his father at 169 E. Pike St., was arrested early today. Someone passing by the market heard the youth pounding on the store's front door and reported the incident to police.

The youth, however, did not realize how much of a racket he was making, for Rose is a deaf mute.

He was taken into custody by Patrolmen James Bachelor and Raymond Dickinson as he crouched in the doorway of the store.

★ ★ ★

Rose was questioned at the Public Safety Building by the officers. The patrolmen wrote out their queries and Rose replied on paper.

He said he tried to break into the store because he "was hungry."

"I knew it was wrong," he wrote.

The Day in Birmingham

Workmen Installing Gas for New Groves School

BIRMINGHAM — Dirt is flying along both sides of 13-Mile road near Birmingham's new Groves Junior-Senior High School as workmen install a gas line and sanitary sewer.

★ ★ ★

By next week the six-inch Consumers Power Co. gas line should be in place, according to foreman Maurice Morneau, and will run along the south side of 13-Mile road, from a point just west of the school, to Cranbrook Village subdivision.

The line will serve homes in the subdivision as well as the new school which is scheduled to open this fall.

On the other side of 13-Mile road, workmen are digging trenches for an 18-inch arm of the Evergreen interceptor sanitary sewer. It will run from Kennoway circle east to Pierce street with completion planned by October, according to Bill Beaker, field engineer for the Nelson M. Sharrow Excavating Co.

W. Donald Martin has accepted the position of Director of Recreation for Birmingham. He has been program supervisor for the Oak Park Department of Recreation since April, 1958.

Martin is a graduate of Wabash College in Indiana, and received his master's degree in recreation from Indiana University. In addition, he completed a year's recreation internship with the Milwaukee, Wis., Recreation Department, as an appointee of the National Recreation Assn.

★ ★ ★

The new director served as a pilot in the U.S. Air Force from 1952 to 1956. He holds memberships in the American Recreation Society, National Recreation Assn. and the Recreation Assn. of Michigan.

Martin will assume the position on Sept. 8.

Plans are well under way for the annual fashion show to be presented by the Altar Society of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Catholic Church in Beverly Hills.

The fashion show will be directed by the St. Joseph and St. Michael Guilds of the church. The show is to be held at the Birmingham Country Club Sept. 23.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Richard J. Egger of 995 Canterbury Rd., Birmingham, and Mrs. James J. Stone of 1480 S. Bates St., Birmingham, is co-chairman.

Tickets for the show will go on sale in about a week, said Mrs. Egger.

Six Beverly Hills families from the Congregational Church of Birmingham have returned from a week at the YMCA Family Camp near Silver Bay on Lake George in upper New York State.

They are the C. Phillip Bartlett family of 15911 Lauderdale St.; the Clair Du Valls of 15920 Lauderdale; the Robert W. Collins family, 15921 Lauderdale; Donald Conrads, 16155 Beverly Rd.; Frank Spitznagels, 16136 Wetherby St.; and the Jack Marshall family of 5575 Westwood Lane.

Glenn L. Sawyer of 16023 Elizabeth Rd., Beverly Hills has been appointed Detroit sales manager for the Wolverine Tractor and Equipment Co. of Detroit and Grand Rapids.

He has been the company's service director for the past 10 years.

State Tax Talks Fold So Solons Go Home

it in my life," the 83-year-old veteran lawmaker said.

DEMAND BUSINESS TAX

House GOP floor leader Allison Green (Kingston), said negotiations were collapsed "at least for now" and that a tax package without some form of business levy would not get through the lower chamber.

The House had previously approved a package including a surtax on business profits.

House speaker Don Pears (R-Buchanan), said Senate action was a "great surprise."

However, there were indications the apparent united front shown by Senate Republicans wasn't solid.

Sen. Clyde Geerlings (R-Holland), chariman of the Senate Taxation Committee, said he "reluctantly" offered to try to get a 1 per cent corporate profits tax through the GOP caucus.

It was Geerlings who also said legislators have discussed an election for Michigan voters to decide which tax they would take.

Michigan residents voting on a list of taxes "is within the realm of possibility," he said, but added that an income tax would not be on that list.

SET 3-DAY WEEK

The Senate voted to meet every Monday, Wednesday and Friday until there was something to act on. It was expected that a full Senate would be present only on Wednesdays while negotiators worked on the tax problem.

The House took no immediate action in line with the Senate's decision to meet only three days a week.

The rapid fire developments occurred after Sen. Frank Beadle (R-St. Clair) told newsmen the GOP caucus "is not interested in anything in the nature of a corporate profits tax."

Such a tax was a key in one major possibility the six-man House-Senate negotiation committee was studying.

The statement blew the lid off what had been a quiet day in the capitol.

"This thing has blown sky high. We're right back where we were Jan. 14," said Rep. T. John Lesinski (D-Detroit), chief negotiator on the House team.

"We're all done until the Senate comes to its senses," he said. Lesinski had just stalked angrily from the fifth conference committee session.

Picking Up Signals

JODRELL BANK, England (AP) —The radio telescope at the Jodrell Bank Observatory picked up signals from America's paddle-wheel satellite today half an hour after the observatory had been advised by U.S. officials at Cape Canaveral, Fla., that all three stages of the launching rocket fired successfully.

Ideas Greatest Source of Power, Says MSUO Official, Loren Pope

By MAX E. SIMON

Russia's Sputnik served as an "intellectual Pearl Harbor" for millions of Americans who previously were disinterested or complacent about education in the United States.

That observation was made yesterday by Loren B. Pope, assistant to Michigan State University Oakland Chancellor D. B. Varner and former education editor of the New York Times.

Pope was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Pontiac Rotary Club at the Waldron Hotel.

"The man-made satellite whirling through outer space drove home the obvious fact that ideas, and not armies, are the greatest source of power in the world today," Pope declared.

★ ★ ★

Leading educators have been aware of this for years, he asserted, yet their pleas for assistance have fallen largely on deaf ears.

Dismissing general attacks on the overall educational system, Pope said schools in this country today are better than they were 10 years ago.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT

"They're constantly improving, but they're still not good enough," he said.

Pope felt the problem of education was not related to the Russian scientific advances dramatized by the Soviets' thrusts into space.

"Not enough interest and attention is being paid to turning out nourished, healthy minds from our classrooms," he asserted.

The MSUO official rapped the knuckles of the federal government for realizing the importance of technological progress while almost completely overlooking the need for progress in the educational field.

★ ★ ★

"Huge sums have been appropriated to the Labor and Agriculture Departments," he pointed out. "The budget of the U.S. Office of Education has been pitiful."

Pope, who resigned his editorial post with The Times to come to MSUO, said the new university was "a child of destiny."

★ ★ ★

"This is a once-in-a-generation event," he said. "MSUO's opening is the most important happening in your lifetime — for you, your family, this area, and the state," he told Rotarians.

LISTS 5 FORCES

Pope said five important forces are currently shaping the future of education in the United States. He listed these as:

1. The report of James B. Conant, president emeritus of Harvard University, on high school programs. Conant's report, he said, stressed the need for a tougher academic program and more foreign language instruction.

★ ★ ★

Pope called the report "invaluable" because it points out the need for improvements.

2. The Federal Education Law which fixes responsibility on the federal government for the quality of local school programs.

The MSUO administrator called the law one of the most significant ever passed by Congress.

3. Research of philanthropic foundations which are striving to find ways to use teachers and facilities more efficiently.

4. A system of education employed in two New York schools, one in Long Beach, the other in Ossining. Half the day pupils receive work in foreign languages, reading, and writing. Pupils are not grouped by ability and are pushed to the limit of their capabilities.

★ ★ ★

Their remaining time is spent in specialized fields such as music and art.

"It's believed," Pope said, "that since the world is constantly shrinking everyone must be taught to communicate with others as well as possible.

"On the other hand, specialized, intellectual subjects are always excelled in by a few especially competent leaders. In these classes, students are grouped by ability."

5. A plan employed in Boston suburbs where students are grouped in two's and three's, working out their own problems.

"Apparently they advance much more quickly," he said. "Cooperation and mutual support are stressed rather than competition among individuals."

These, and other new theories, Pope said, will probably be introduced into this area by MSUO.

"With advancing technology and the growing sophistication of our society, more and better education must be provided by the schools," Pope said.

"Tomorrow's laborer will be at the level of today's technician."

Pope said that universities should not concern themselves with teaching students the technique of earning a living.

"Train them for life — they'll pick up the tricks of the trade," he declared.

Pope was introduced by Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, Pontiac superintendent of schools. Other guests from MSUO were Varner and Robert Hoopes, dean of faculty.

Battle Creek Quits Mayors' Exchange

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — The Battle Creek City Commission has decided to withdraw from the Mayor's Exchange Day, an annual feature of Michigan Week in which mayors swap cities for a day.

The Commission decided the program was not accomplishing its purpose and has become more of a social affair than a means for mayors to exchange ideas on city operations.

Commissioners saw some possible value in cities of like size exchanging mayors, but opposed indiscriminate swapping through the drawing of lots.

Commissioner Thomas C. McCalla suggested the mayor's exchange program be placed on the agenda of the annual convention of the Michigan Municipal League at Mackinac Island next month.

Coast-to-coast bus service was inaugurated in 1928.

Note Was 33 Years Too Late for Recital

MONROE, Wis. (AP)—Mrs. Leroy Dodge received a letter in which she was asked to confirm what songs she plans to sing in a recital.

The program, it turned out, was held 33 years ago.

The letter apparently had been mislaid by Mrs. Dodge's former music teacher who had written it. A relative found the unsent letter recently and dropped it into a mailbox.

NLRB Disputes 'Legal' Contract

3 Western Teamsters Say Data Not Supplied According to T-H Act

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Legal moves were under way today which could strike down as illegal Teamsters contracts covering thousands of truck drivers in 11 western states.

General counsel Stuart Rothman of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) took the first step when he signed a complaint Wednesday night challenging the legality of the contracts. The complaint was filed by three Union members.

The complaint is against the Western Conference of Teamsters, 105 of its affiliated local Unions and eight big employer associations. It accuses them of enforcing illegal Union shop contracts.

The complaint hinges on whether the western conference is a "labor organization" under the Taft-Hartley Act and therefore must file with the NLRB financial reports and non-Communist affidavits by its officers. The conference has not submitted such data in the past.

Rothman said the contracts contain a provision requiring drivers to join a Teamsters' Local within 30 days after they are hired or lose their jobs. The union shop is permitted by the Taft-Hartley Act only if the labor organizations involved have filed the required data.

Rothman said the contracts also were illegal because they permitted the employers to give encouragement to the Union. He said the firms recommended that new workers become members of the Union and referred them to Union agents.

9-Year-Old Girl Asks, Gets Loan From Banker

TUPELO, Miss. (UPI)—A 20-cent loan for Sandra Vinson, 9, was approved by the Tupelo Peoples Bank & Trust Co. Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Sandra borrowed the money so she could take "a cool swim on a hot day."

Her promissory note requires repayment at the rate of 5 cents a week from her allowance. The bank did not insist on a co-signer.

Her father, John E. Vinson, said Sandra first had tried to borrow the money from him. He said no.

★ ★ ★

"Then all of a sudden I heard her on the telephone talking to the banker," he said.

Contests, Exhibitions, Shows Are Slated

State Fair 'Old Timers Day' Plans Revealed

Senior citizens of Michigan — those 60 years of age or older — will have their special day at the Michigan State Fair once again this year.

Known as "Old Timers Day," it has been scheduled for Sept. 10 at the State Fair Grounds on N. Woodward avenue in Detroit. The fair is scheduled to run for 10 days, Sept. 4-13.

General Manager Donald L. Swanson also announced a continuation this year of free admission to the grounds for the oldsters on Old Timers Day and a big program of contests and events.

Swanson says that when the senior citizens arrive on their special day, they'll find the program geared to their interests and focused at the Music Shell area where there are lots of benches and shade trees.

★ ★ ★

Now is the time to send in entries for the various contests arranged by Harry Weberman, Old Timers Day director. Just write a note saying you would like to enter one or more of the following contests:

Oldest Man, Oldest Woman, Couple Married Longest, Prettiest Hat, Longest Mustache, Baldest Head and the Nimble 60's Crocheting Contest.

There will be five prizes in each category from $5 for the first place to $1 for fifth place.

Rules remain the same except that Weberman states that contestants in the prettiest hat contest who won prizes last year will not be allowed to enter the identical hats this year. The same contestants may enter but they must wear different hats.

LISTS CROCHETING RULES

He also issued a set of rules for the Nimble 60's Crocheting Contest for which the minimum age is 60:

1. Each contestant must have his or her own size 12 crocheting hook.

2. Each contestant should have ample supply of mercerized size 50 crocheting thread.

3. The contestant completing the most scallops in ½ hour is the winner.

The Old Timers Day program will get into full swing at 11 a.m. Old songs by the Retired Workers Choral Group, an exhibition of early American dances, free concerts by the Regimental Band of the Canadian Guards, a free Grandstand Show and the evening's Farm Fun Frolic in the Coliseum are a few of the many events scheduled for the senior citizens.

Blames Woes on GOP Senators

Denies UAW Runs State

LANSING (UPI)—An assertion by a National Assn. of Manufacturers (NAM) official that Michigan is run by the United Auto Workers Union has been termed "the fantasy of the year" by a top Democratic spokesman.

Thomas H. E. Quimby, Democratic national committeeman, referring to remarks by Charles R. Sligh, NAM executive vice president, said:

"Michigan citizens have seen first hand in the past several months how immense is the power of the Republican Senate in controlling Michigan's finances.

"For Sligh to assert that the UAW runs Michigan in the face of the Senate's actions in the last several months is really the fantasy of the year."

Quimby called the NAM official a man "who smears business with his own dirty brush" but agreed with him that businessmen should get into politics.

★ ★ ★

Sligh described Gov. Williams as "Michigan's No. 1 job-killer," before a Holland service club yesterday. He added that businessmen are "going to have to become politicians if they're to have any hope of remaining businessmen."

"I hope," answered Quimby, "more of the great majority of responsible businessmen will get into politics so that business and industry can be rescued from the bad impression created when Sligh speaks in their name."

He said Sligh, a native of Grand Rapids, "goes about the nation on the NAM payroll degrading his own state with false charges."

Meanwhile, Quimby continued, "responsible businessmen are working closely with Gov. Williams through the committee on Michigan's economic future, the Michigan ambassadors program and the economic development commission to carry the tremendous Michigan growth of the 1950s into the 1960s and beyond."

★ ★ ★

Quimby said personal income in Michigan had increased from 800 million dollars a month in 1949 to $1,300,000,000 in 1958 and added:

"This completely refutes the impression Slight tries to create that Michigan is an economic wasteland from which people are fleeing in droves."

Accepts Six Negroes

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Memphis State University yesterday accepted six Negro students for the fall term. They are the first Negroes accepted since university president Jack Smith announced in July that the formerly all-white state-supported school would accept qualified Negroes.

Had Wee Bit Too Much

ILKESTON, England (UPI)—A drunken driver was placed on probation today after confessing he had drunk several bottles of beer on the job and had steered a bit wobblingly on his way home. The offender, whose name was withheld, was a 15-year-old baby-sitter, on a bicycle.

She Predicted Twins; Doctor's Stuck With Bill

HOLLAND, Mich. (UPI)—"I'm going to have twins," Mrs. Charles Telgenhof told her doctor several months ago.

"If you do, I'll deliver them free," said the doctor.

She did—two daughters—yesterday.

"I make the same offer to every woman who tells me early in pregnancy that she's going to have twins," said the doctor, who asked that his name be withheld. "But this is the first time I've ever been stuck."

HENDERSON, Tenn. (UPI) — J. W. Carland reported yesterday that he's playing host to a nest of baby wrens who have traveled 500 miles and still can't fly. The nest is in the florist's delivery truck.

McElroy Wants N-Tests Revived

Will Press for Renewal Following Self-Imposed Oct. 31 Deadline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department wants nuclear weapons tests to resume as soon as possible after America's self-imposed test suspension expires next Oct. 31.

Once the handcuffs are removed, authorities said today, the Pentagon wants to get on with development of a new series of smaller atomic weapons for air defense, battlefield and other tactical uses.

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy said yesterday that his department intends to urge renewal of tests unless there is some sudden, unexpected agreement on a permanent ban in the East-West negotiations at Geneva.

The secretary also lit a fuse on a controversy that is sure to develop next fall when he said he already is searching for ways to prevent military spending from increasing.

★ ★ ★

He said some major aircraft and missile programs conceivably could be eliminated in the budget presented to Congress next January.

In nuclear weapons, McElroy said "It would certainly be desirable to continue testing from the standpoint of weapons development." He said the Pentagon knew there would be "price to pay" when America gave up testing for a one-year period last Oct. 31.

President Eisenhower, on State Department urging, ordered the test suspension while efforts were made to reach agreeement on a permanent ban with provision for fool-proof inspection.

Among these types of nuclear weapons that the pentagon is now interested in perfecting are the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile, the Davy Crocket mortar for the ground forces, new guided missiles for interceptor planes to carry, and even a rifle-launched grenade.

On or Off Vacation, Travel by Television

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP—Whether or not you're on vacation, you can go some places and do some things on television in the coming week — all times Eastern Daylight.

Pick your race track Saturday at 4:30. CBS goes to Saratoga at that hour for the Whitney, a $50,000-added race for four-year-olds and up. At the same hour NBC goes to the Sapling Stakes at Monmouth, the East's first big test for 1959 two-year-olds in a purse of $100,000.

★ ★ ★

Something new and interesting is a dramatized book review program on CBS Sunday at 4:30. On "First Meeting" Allen Drury will discuss his new novel about politics and social life in Washington, "Advice and Consent." An excerpt from the novel will be dramatized.

At 6 CBS News goes to Vienna for a close look at "The Big Red Show: Vienna Youth Festival." This year's festival holds considerably more interest for the Western world since it's the first held outside the Iron Curtain.

★ ★ ★

On NBC at the same hour Herbert Hoover will be interviewed on "Meet the Press" on the eve of his 85th birthday. And at 6:30 on NBC Chet Huntley takes up the same subject of the Vienna Youth Festival.

Monday at 8:30 "Bold Journey" climbs Mt. McKinley, the highest point in North America, via ABC. We seem to recall making this climb with "Bold Journey" last year, but a second trip is recommended.

★ ★ ★

At 10 on CBS "Desilu Playhouse" stars Raymond Massey, David Janssen, and Whitney Blake in "Two Counts of Murder," the 500th drama presented by the program's sponsor. It concerns a tough political boss who takes steps to protect his grandson when the young man is arrested for homicide. This, by the way, is not a rebroadcast.

Surprising to relate, a new series makes its debut on CBS Tuesday at 9. "Adventure Showcase," a half-hour filmed series, offers "Brock Callahan," concerning the partner of a well-to-do decorator who believes that he was murdered, not a suicide, as the police maintain.

★ ★ ★

Peggy Wood and Gloria Vanderbilt costar in "Seed of Guilt" on "U. S. Steel Hour" over CBS Wednesday at 10. This new, live drama recounts how a wealthy family is split by suspicion and accusations as a result of a missing dollar bill.

At the same hour on ABC Archie Moore, world's light-heavyweight champion, defends his title against Yvon Durelle in "The Night Fights."

★ ★ ★

At 9:30 ABC presents "1959 College All-Star Football Game," with the nation's top college football stars of last year playing the National Football League champion Baltimore Colts. Red Grange and Ray Scott deliver the commentary.

Rockefeller Sues for Legal Fee Owed by Ex-Wife

NEW YORK (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller, who made a six-million-dollar settlement on his ex-wife, Barbara (Bobo) Sears Rockefeller, has taken legal action to recover $4,653.06 she allegedly owes for legal services during their marital dispute.

★ ★ ★

Rockefeller asked the State Supreme Court Thursday to order a bank to turn over to him the four-figure amount as her share of a $30,000 fees judgment paid to her former lawyer, Leo C. Fennelly. Fennelly, Mrs. Rockefeller's attorney, sued both her and Rockefeller.

In his motion, Rockefeller asked for the right to take action against a branch of the Chemical Corn Exchange Bank, which he says "has failed and refused" to hand the money over after it had been demanded on a sheriff's order.

Money to Aid Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a resolution pledging the United States to devote part of any money saved from an armaments reduction agreement to works of peace. The resolution now goes to the House.

President Is Urging Good Labor Legislation

President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER made it very clear in his nationwide address Thursday night that he would not be content with a watered down labor bill that absolved union leaders from their actual responsibilities.

★ ★ ★

The President simply asks justice for the members who seem to be helpless when crooks, hoodlums and grafters seize the reins and take control.

This is a strong union area.

Pontiac citizens have a big stake in the enactment of proper labor legislation. They deserve all the safeguards necessary to preserve their rights and their dignity.

★ ★ ★

The President characterizes current conditions as "a national disgrace." It's that bad. The President made plain that the labor legislation is not a partisan issue. It isn't a question of Democrats and Republicans. It's a matter of right and wrong and the preservation of the many from exploitation at the hands of the few.

★ ★ ★

Congress has variously been charged with acting under tremendous pressure from labor leaders who are determined to have the labor bill drawn to suit them. Off stage they advise Congressmen that "they deliver the vote."

Well, do they?

★ ★ ★

The ballots come from the rank and file of union members. The total vote of the bosses wouldn't break the back of a kitten. The union members are the ones to consider. This newspaper earnestly hopes that Senator Hart and Congressman Broomfield will fight for the rights of the members. ("Senator" McNamara will do as he's told.)

★ ★ ★

The President believes the abuses sufficiently important to justify a message to the Nation.

Arab Nations Prevent Refugee Resettlement

Sec. Gen. HAMMARSKJOLD has urged that the United Nations aid to Palestinian Arab refugees be continued until they can be absorbed into the economic life of the Middle East.

For humanitarian reasons as well as out of a feeling of international responsibility the United States has borne most of the cost for the past nine years. However, at the last U. N. Assembly meeting this country indicated that it felt the program was not working out and should be discontinued after 1960.

★ ★ ★

There are about a million of these refugees, 400,000 under 15 years of age, who continue to live in poverty-stricken camps in several Arab Nations. Most are dependent on U. S. aid. It is estimated that between now and 1965 some $1.5 to $2 billion will be needed to feed, clothe and find jobs for those who will work.

★ ★ ★

The great obstacle to solving the problem, of course, is that political leaders in Arab countries want the refugees kept idle in camps as symbols of what they like to call "Israeli persecution." They demand that Israel take back the refugees and give them their old lands. They know that this can't be done. Israel has offered to discuss indemnities but the Arabs refuse to talk about settlement.

★ ★ ★

Arab Nations should admit their own responsibility for the situation and do something to help the refugees find a new way of life. Any agreement for continuation of the program should include a provision for Arab participation in refugee resettlement and self-help.

"They'll Never Believe Me If This One Gets Away"

David Lawrence Says:

Ike Explains Labor-Union Abuses

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has made an extraordinary appeal to the American people to persuade Congress to enact at once legislation that will stop the abuses practiced by labor-Union racketeers.

The President, in his television and radio address, said that the time for the passage of new laws is long overdue. He was careful to point out that he is not asking for anything which would harm legitimate unions or honest labor leaders but for laws that would affect solely those individuals who were engaging in what ought to be legally defined as criminal behavior.

LAWRENCE

Eisenhower made his illustrations simple and direct. He described "blackmail picketing," for instance, which occurs when the workers in a plant have not decided whether they want to be represented by a union or do not want to join a particular union. They are threatened nevertheless with the loss of their jobs.

Their employer's business is damaged, too, as he is coerced into signing a contract with a union that his employes have not chosen as their bargaining agent.

The President, moreover, explained to the American people what a "secondary boycott" really is. Up to now, the team has been regarded generally as part of the boycotting process.

But, actually, it means that companies which buy from or sell to another business are themselves picketed or threatened with injury unless they join in a boycott of the firm with which the union has the original dispute. The other businesses are only innocent third parties, but they are damaged nevertheless by the "secondary boycott" tactics.

LOOKS TO STATES

A third abuse is the so-called "no-man's-land," in which neither the states nor the federal government have been exercising authority over disputes between workers and employers in small businesses. The President favors a specific statement in federal law that the states shall have authority over such matters.

Eisenhower is well aware that a sensational drive is under way on Capitol Hill to kill all legislation dealing with labor-union reform.

The extremists are working skillfully to put so many amendments into a measure as to make it unacceptable to either side. This is a favorite technique of those who want to prevent the enactment of any legislation on a given subject.

But the President is hopeful that the American people will not be deceived by such tactics. It is true that, as a political campaign approaches, the big unions make lists of congressmen and senators who, they tell the voters, are ready to do their bidding on labor-union matters.

The union leaders arrange for generous contributions to the campaign funds of those candidates. Likewise, they battle vigorously against those members of Congress who do not obey their demands.

Under the circumstances, with rumors current that labor unions feel they can count on a majority in Congress to refuse to pass any bills at this session which are opposed by the unions, there was every reason why the President should tell the American people the facts as he sees them.

Eisenhower says that there is a lot of talk about a weak" bill or a "strong" bill, but that he is interested only in an effective piece of legislation and one that will not hurt the collective-bargaining.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Try Decent Diet If You Want to Shake Rheumatiz

"For 10 years my joints have been getting gradually stiffer," writes a Hamilton reader, "and finally became so stiff I couldn't get out of bed in the morning. Once I got into a sitting posiion I couldn't lift my feet off the floor once. My left shoulder and arm ached most of the time. My gums bled every time I tried to clean my teeth."

DR. BRADY

The reader says the trouble came on gradually. That is characteristic of common everyday chronic joint disability. The condition is not inflammation at all, as the misleading name "arthritis" would indicate — arthro meaning joint and—itis meaning inflammation. It is physical degeneration of joint tissues, which, of course comes on insidiously, as the Hamilton man says. It is just too bad he didn't read my column—or if he read it at all didn't think my teachings about nutrition applied to him.

That persistent stiffness that was creeping over him for 10 years was probably just the bad weather or the climate or the dampness to which the man was necessarily exposed, living in the Great Lakes Basin on the western tip of Lake Ontario, to say nothing of iodine deficiency.

If any knucklehead reading this screed is inclined to crack about my life in paradise the past three decades let me say that such degeneration is as prevalent here as it is in any part of the world where people habitually cultivate malnutrition on a namby-pamby diet.

Mr. Hamilton's gums bled when he tried to clean his teeth, he says. I suppose the man used a toothbrush and maybe even some magic detergent that stops tooth decay faster than any other leading brand, although there's still more tooth decay in North America (I'd say Yankeeland, only some Canadians are more English than the English themselves) than in any other country in the world, except possibly England. What the Hamilton man or anybody else with similar trouble should use for cleaning his teeth is just plain toilet soap and tepid water, swished freely but gently through and between the teeth. This is as effective as any dentifrice can be.

Now that the oracle has spoken, let the reader continue:

"I have been using calcium capsules, vitamin B-complex and the iodin ration as you suggest in your rheumatiz booklet. Within a month I had some relief. Now I have no aches or pains at all. Also my gums don't bleed any more.

"My father has been taking the same for his stiff joints and it has helped him also.

"So, once again, thanks. I am very grateful. I find your articles in the paper always interesting."

The rheumatiz booklet to which the reader refers is titled Chronic Joint Disability. For a copy send me 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I believe that the cause of rheumatiz is nutritional deficiency through the years from childhood up to the present, and so the remedy or remedies I suggest are not medicine but the nutritional essentials which the regular diet of most North Americans fails to provide. Of course it would be far better to get these nutritional essentials from a good diet—but that takes more knowledge and gumption than most people have.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Reader Offers Suggestion for City Improvement

After reading about Toledo's malls, I would like to make a suggestion regarding downtown Pontiac's plans to improve itself.

With the winding Clinton River near downtown, it seems possible to make it a center of interest as a park by clearing a strip approximately 100 yards wide within walking distance of all stores. The river banks could be furnished with walks, benches, pools, fountains and a children's play area — a strip of green rural quiet in the midst of the busy city.

'Peace With Ruler Will Escape Us'

Even if we are willing to drop Justice from President Eisenhower's oft-repeated call for "Peace with Justice," we may get Khrushchev but peace with the Kremlin rulers will escape us. Their goal is something quite different. In Article 1, Par. 1, of the Constitution of the Communist International they define it as ". . . the world dictatorship of the proletariat . . . a World Union of Socialist Soviet Republics . . ."

As former President Truman said, "No agreement with the Soviets is worth the paper it is written on." We discovered this at Tehran, Yalta, Potsdam, and most recently at Geneva in 1955.

As the uncommitted nations see us getting palsy-walsy with the Moscow mobsters, may they not take a hint and beat a path to the Kremlin door? Who then will oppose Moscow's objectives?

Alfred Kohlberg

Shows Gratitude for Kindness

As we are soon moving, I would like to publicly thank the assistants and former employes of St. Michael's rectory, under the supervision of the late and great Father Michael J. O'Reilly, for the many acts of love and kindness shown us throughout the years.

The Church on Lewis street will always be Father O'Reilly's monument and greatest masterpiece and should serve as a reminder to his people that he always stood for the highest form of love, kindness and integrity, sometimes not found in these troubled times.

Foreign Aid Executive Sorts His Secret Data

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration has offered double proof of its determination to prevent Congress from forcing it to produce secret foreign aid records.

But the foreign aid chief, James W. Riddleberger, insisted he would make available all information he thought Congress properly could have.

In separate actions Thursday, Riddleberger:

1. Challenged an antisecrecy law by refusing to give Rep. Porter Hardy Jr. (D-Va) requested information about foreign aid in South Viet Nam and Laos.

2. Asked the Senate Appropriations Committee to eliminate a House-passed provision that would cut off funds for foreign economic aid when the administration refused to tell Congress how the program was doing.

In both cases, Riddleberger, who runs foreign aid as director of the International Cooperation Administration, said a constitutional principle was involved — what the Eisenhower administration calls the doctrine of executive privilege.

★ ★ ★

When Congress passed the Foreign Aid Authorization Bill this session, it included a provision to cut off the money if the administration refused congressional requests for information. It was this provision that Riddleberger challenged by refusing Hardy's request.

President Eisenhower signed the bill but criticized the antisecrecy provision. He said there was a "recognized constitutional duty and power of the executive with respect to the disclosure of information," and Congress could not alter that.

Later the House put a similar provision in the appopriations bill, which provides the actual funds for foreign aid.

Riddleberger, while asking the Senate committee to knock out this provision, promised to show candor and cooperation in his dealings with Congress.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Reader Tries to Coerce Editor

Anita's case should be scrapbooked to show the way "pressure" groups try to coerce newspaper editors. And please see how she tried to fabricate a supposed "reason" out of a mere "excuse," which is a fallacy of good salesmanship. Those who fear truth try to choke it by such propaganda tactics. Be glad most editors are not easily stampeded.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-411: Anita B., aged 29, is a Pennsylvania office secretary.

One month after our oldest son George died in the crash of his Cougar jet plane at Glen View Naval Air Station, she wrote to her editor, demanding that he cancel this column.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane has grown cynical since his son's death," she said in her letter.

"Although I used to enjoy his column, it has now become offensive to myself and all the members of my church women's group.

"We have over 10,000 members of our denomination in this area and I speak for them in demanding that you drop Dr. Crane's column."

EXCUSES VS. REASONS

In my courses at Northwestern University on the "Psychology of Salesmanship," I used to warn my students repeatedly to distinguish between "excuses" vs. bona fide "reasons."

★ ★ ★

For example, Anita apparently didn't know that columnists usually prepare their copy 6 to 8 weeks in advance.

So the very articles which she told her editor revealed my cynicism after the death of my oldest son, had actually been written weeks before his crash!

As a female Don Quixote, Anita was just trying to "read into" my copy something from which she could then fabricate an apparent argument for threatening her editor.

You faithful readers know there has been no cynicism in this column because of my son's death. He died Saturday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

And I was in church the next morning to teach my usual Sunday School classes, both at 9:30 a. m. at St. John's Church and at 12:30 in the skyscraper Chicago Temple in the Loop.

Mrs. Crane and our remaining four children were there, too, at both classes. And we've been there ever since and have been constant church attendants for our entire lifetime.

So why did Anita concoct the false statement about my religious cynicism and then try to ascribe it to my son's death?

Her clergyman had "ordered" her to do so! He also urged her to coerce that editor by announcing that 10,000 members of her denomination would all boycott that paper.

★ ★ ★

Notice that Anita says she "speaks for all 10,000."

Do you readers think Anita actually was giving the unanimous opinion of those 10,000?

In an earlier reader poll this column had been rated the highest among all women readers and 2nd highest among the men.

Do you think all 10,000 of Anita's church denomination opposed this practical column on helpful psychology?

According to the Pulliam newspaper survey, 91 per cent of women in Muncie, Indiana, and 86 per cent of men were followers of this column, so the figures in Pennsylvania must be fairly comparable.

Yet that Pennsylvania editor canceled this sound educational column and weakly defended himself in a long letter to the newspaper syndicate by saying he didn't dare offend such a large church denomination.

Actually, he had made no poll of that denomination, and I went back into my past mail input and found over 700 enthusiastic letters of commendation from members of that same church denomination.

★ ★ ★

So I know that Anita didn't speak for those 700, and I doubt if she represented even 5 per cent of her own church group.

Beware about letting "excuses" be dignified into "reasons." That's poor sales psychology.

Steel Management Turns Tables

Industry Makes Demands

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Most years in most industries, labor contract fights follow a simple primitive pattern:

The union asks for more money. Management says no. And away they go.

This year the steel industry, which some think is the bellwether of a stiffening management attitude to come in other fields, brought to the contract table a relative novelty: A demand of its own.

It demanded an end to featherbedding, to inefficiency, to intentional loafing and the spreading out of work, to the practice of insisting that four men do the work of three.

Give us 15 cents more an hour, said the union.

End featherbedding and we'll begin to talk money, said management in effect. A phony issue, said the union.

And the strike of 500,000 steel workers goes on.

★ ★ ★

How real is the issue of featherbedding in steel? How intensive is the problem? What forms does it take?

While being coy about the use of the phrase—it prefers "wasteful work practices" to featherbedding—management insists the problem is big, costly and severe enough to limit its ability to compete in foreign markets.

"It's difficult to tell you exactly how big the problem is because these wasteful practices vary from plant to plant," says William Caples, vice president in charge of industrial relations for Inland Steel and chairman of an industry-wide committee studying the problem.

"But," adds Caples, "there is some of it in every plant. The cost every year to the industry as a whole is considerable. We know the total cost but for purpose of later negotiation we'd rather not make it public now."

★ ★ ★

"If there is so much featherbedding," says Ben Fischer, international representative of the United Steelworkers Union, "how do they explain the fact that since 1937, when steel was organized, the industry has been able to double its production while reducing its work force?"

Caples agrees with the fact and admits that the featherbedding problem in steel is much smaller than it is in railroading, for example. "But that," he insists, "is only because steel management has fought wasteful work practices harder than other industries while getting no cooperation from the union."

Cut, Price Tag, Faulty Headlight Trap Burglar

A cut hand, faulty headlights, and a price tag combined to thwart a burglar in Waterford Township early this morning, according to Pontiac State Police.

Troopers Alfred Biland and Stanley Doubleday said they saw a car driving south on U.S. 10 at Kennett road with only one headlight.

They stopped the driver, identified as Stephen D. Konop, 17, of 4680 Pickering St., Birmingham, near Cass avenue in Pontiac.

"He had a cut hand and blood on his clothes," said Doubleday. "Then we noticed a .22 caliber rifle in his car with the price tag still on it."

"His face was familiar and we recognized him as a suspect in a previous burglary," Biland said.

★ ★ ★

Konop admitted he had broken into two barbershops and a hardware store earlier this morning, police said. Taken from cash registers at Tom's Barbershop, 5854 U.S. 10, and Head's Barbershop, 5825 Andersonville Rd., was $13.78.

★ ★ ★

The gun, valued at about $18 was taken from Al's Waterford Hardware, 5845 U.S. 10. Entry was gained at all three buildings by breaking the glass out of a rear door.

"On his last break-in at the hardware store he cut his hand on glass," Doubleday said. "We found blood on the door and inside the store."

Konop is being held for investigation of breaking and entering in the nighttime. He was on probation for a break-in three months ago which the same two officers handled.

Cars Crash, Trap Eight

Nearby Workers Grab Fire Extinguishers to Put Out Flames

WILMINGTON, N.C., (AP) — Two cars crashed and burst into flames near here Thursday, trapping four women and four children. But three quick-thinking construction workers using a wrecker pulled the cars apart and freed the eight.

One automobile carried the pregnant wife of Col. Francis Gabreski, commander of the Myrtle Beach, S.C., Air Force Base and the top living U.S. air ace.

★ ★ ★

One person was injured seriously in the accident, which occurred about nine miles south of Wilmington on U.S. 17, just 75 yards from the Lincoln Construction Co. The cars were going in opposite directions.

★ ★ ★

Shop Foreman R. P. (Runt) Spivy said he and two workers "grabbed our fire extinguishers and went running" when they saw the flaming cars.

In one car was Mrs. Gabreski, 34; two of her eight children; Gladys Gruenwald, whose husband, Col. Kenneth Gruenwald is stationed at Myrtle Beach; and Georgia Orr, whose husband is Lt. Col. Richard Orr, also stationed at Myrtle Beach.

Festival Dates Are Sept. 4-7

To Choose Romeo Peach Queen Tonight

By LEE WINBORN

ROMEO — The house lights are dimmed, the spotlight is turned to the rear of the auditorium and a breathless hush falls over the audience.

It is the long-awaited moment — the opening of the Romeo Peach Queen contest in which 10 lovely girls are competing for the crown tonight.

The spotlight picks up the first formally-gowned candidate as she starts up the center aisle.

When all the girls are seated on stage the interviews begin.

Each contestant will have her own rooting section, for she is already a queen in her own home town. And her supporters are expected to come to the Romeo Junior High School to cheer her on.

Scheduled to start promptly at 8 p.m., the annual contest is the preliminary event leading up to the 27th Romeo Peach Festival held here over the Labor Day weekend.

Winner of the queen's crown will reign over the four-day celebration Sept. 4, 5, 6 and 7.

★ ★ ★

A panel of four out-of-town judges will pick the title-holder and her two maids of honor. The rest of the candidates will be members of the queen's court and take part in all festival activities.

Local attorney J. Gerald McLean will act as master of ceremonies. Mrs. McLean is contest chairman.

The girls will carry cards bearing the names of peaches as their sole identification during the contest. When the judges have selected the queen and her two attendants, all of the contestants will be introduced.

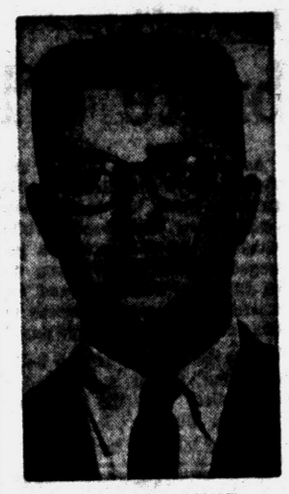

★ ★ ★

Each of the 10 girls will receive the gown she will wear during the coronation ceremony Sept. 6 and in the floral parade on Labor Day. The queen's additional gift this year will be a modeling course at Patricia Stevens Finishling School in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Entrants in the contest, sponsored by the Peach Festival Assn., will be from Ortonville, Dryden, Lake Orion, Oxford, Rochester, Utica, Warren, Waterford Township, Armada and Romeo.

The contest is open to the public free of charge.

TV Star Was Major League Player

Will Celebrate With Baseball Greats

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Chuck Connors, TV's towering "The Rifleman," is back in New York to appear tomorrow in the celebration of "Old Timers' Day"—for baseball greats of the past—at Yankee Stadium.

Everybody knows by now that Chuck once was a major league ball player, though few people were excessively conscious of it at the time he was playing.

As a big-leaguer, both for the then-Brooklyn Dodgers and the Chicago Cubs, he was a man who'd turn cartwheels while rounding the pads after an infrequent homerun—hollering, as he flipped, "Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow creeps in this petty page from day to day."

From the dug-out, when a batter struck out, Chuck is reported to have yelled, "Oh, the whips and scorns of time."

And for his own strike-outs, he reserved even more heart-rending shrieks: "What a foul and muddy-mettled creature I am, peaked like a John-a-dream, unpregnant of my cause!"

★ ★ ★

"I'll tell you something," the raw-boned TV star told a reporter recently during a nostalgic re-visit to his home town of Brooklyn, "I was a great minor league ball-player, but that's as far as I could go. I also was with the Rochester Royals professional basektball team, but I was terrible there too. They just kept me as a tenth man for laughs."

Connors' batting average, for two seasons in the majors, was .231. But he claims it wasn't only unspectacular playing that caused his demise in baseball.

He was an "intellectual failure."

Before getting into baseball, the six-six "Rifleman" was a much sought-after boy athlete—son of a bank guard in New York City. He received an athletic scholarship to Adelphi Academy, and after graduating had scholarship offers from more than 25 colleges. He chose Seton Hall, where he majored in English and impressed Brooklyn Dodgers scouts whenever he left the study hall.

He was signed by the Dodgers in 1942, and almost immediately went into the service for four years. Then began eight years of shuttling around the minor and major league circuits. In winter, he kept fit with the Cuban league.

By 1952, Connors found himself with the Los Angeles Angels, batting .321 and smashing in 23 home runs. "I had proved conclusively that I was not a major league ball-player."

★ ★ ★

But his sense of humor hadn't left him, and while he was contemplating loudly "to bunt or not to bunt, that is the question"—an MGM executive decided to offer Connors a screen test.

Now, at the age of 38, Connors has a house with swimming pool, a beautiful wife he met while playing with the Montreal Royals, four sons and no regrets. He has become an actor ("acting," he defined, "is what Spencer Tracy does") with considerably more future than a 38-year-old ball-player would have had.

He says he wouldn't exchange his career even for—well, Stan Musial's.

Yet he has a nostalgic love for people who represent those frustrating years in his life, when he gamboled round the game but couldn't quite make it. He has taught Musila how to swing and handle a rifle. And he gives Lew Burdette riding lessons.

But it's a good bet that in Yankee Stadium tomorrow, the boy who didn't quite make the grade in baseball will get more requests for autographs than all the game's greats put together.

Tries to Avert Strike Violence

Circuit Judge Talks With Cross Co. Plant and UAW Officials

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — A circuit judge yesterday moved to head off further violence on the picket line at the struck Cross Co. plant by holding a private huddle with plant officials and striking United Auto Workers representatives.

Judge Alton H. Noe of Macomb County said the talks produced some progress.

An uneasy peace lasted during the day as more than a score of state police and county officers stood by. The day before two officers and three strikers were injured on the picket line.

UAW Local 155 has been on strike at the plant since Tuesday in a recognition dispute.

A court order was issued Wednesday to hold the picket line to 20 men and permit employes to enter the plant.

★ ★ ★

The company, which employs 260 production and maintenance workers and 200 salaried workers, has been forced to stop production because of the strike. Cross is one of the country's largest makers of automation machinery.

VFW Will Award First Gold Medal to Labor's Meany

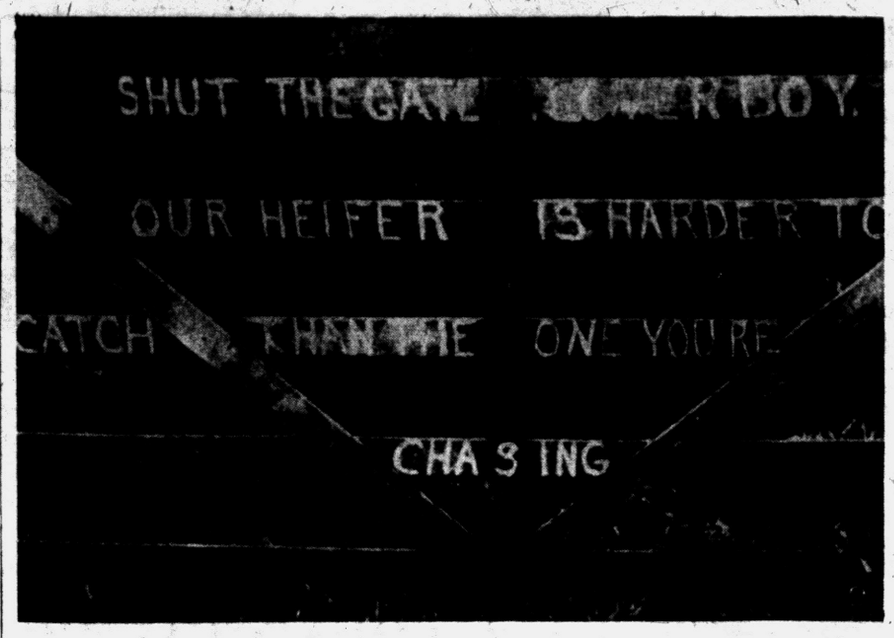

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The Vetrans of Foreign Wars will award its first Americanism Gold Medal to George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

Selection of Meany was announced Thursday by John W. Mahan, VFW president. The medal will be presented at the VFW convention at Los Angeles Aug. 31.

Mahan said the medal will be awarded annually to "an individual who, through his acts during this past year, has distinguished himself in the cause of American ideals."

Meany will be cited for vigorous opposition to communism, Mahan said.

House, Senate OK School Loan Aid Bill

LANSING (AP) — The Legislature has cleared a bill that will open the way for emergency borrowings by hard-pressed school districts.

The bill, given a final okay by both Senate and House yesterday, will permit districts to borrow against state primary school interest fund payments, a special form of state financial assistance on which the first payments is not due until late November.

Districts lack the ability to make straight school aid loans because the Legislature has not yet been able to agree on a 1959-60 school aid formula.

Bobbies to Guard Guards at Buckingham Palace

LONDON (UPI) — London bobbies guarded the guards at Buckingham Palace today

It was the latest move to protect the high-stepping, red-coated, bearskin-hatted guardsmen from an invading army of summer tourists.

British citizens, meanwhile, called for even sterner measures, such as fencing the guards in or the tourist out so they can no longer be "pushed, prodded, and humiliated" by crowds that come to see them strut between posts in front of the Queen's London residence.

The guardsmen always have been plagued with giggling, snickering, camera-clicking tourists. By tradition they can offer no defense but must stand, sphinx-like and unsmiling, even when someone sticks his tongue out at them or sidles up along side of them to pose for a snapshot.

This year, however, has been especially rough on the guards and they have shown the wear and tear. One recently was confined to barracks for kicking an American woman tourist who giggled at him.

Thirty policemen, four of them mounted, were dispatched to the palace yesterday to keep the peace. They were told to stick around until the tourist rush is over.

The bobbies had a tough time coping with the crowds. Several boys broke through the police line to get their picture taken and one nearly tripped a guardsman in the process. Three German tourists tried to snatch a hair from a bearskin hat and were promptly banished.

Kills Two Old People

Madman Was Hounded

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — What prompted Kyrlo Czuprirczuk to kill two men and wound five others? His words and actions indicate a persecution complex motivated the tragedy.

The 51 - year - old displaced Ukrainian and former mental patient went beserk Thursday and fired volley after volley aimlessly from a shotgun and an automatic pistol into a home for the aged. He shouted in his native tongue: "The Communists and Bolsheviks are trying to kill me. I have to defend myself."

★ ★ ★

His wife was quoted as saying that Kyrlo had told her he had overheard the elderly residents of the uptown home for the aged plotting to raise $1,000 to hire a Chicago killer to get him.

Czuprirczuk's second-floor apartment overlooks one side of the uptown home. The buildings are separated by an alley. He sprayed bullets into the home while some 125 of the 180 residents were finishing breakfast.

"Only an act of God prevented this tragedy from being a massacre," said Mrs. Ruth Gerhart, supervisor of nurses at the home.

Czuprirczuk was wounded by police when he refused to give himself up. He was reported in critical condition today.

California Fire Finally Subdued

CRESTLINE, Calif. (AP) — The 12,387-acre San Bernardino Mountains fire is under control after a five-day battle.

The 1,800 fire-fighters won their battle Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

Still ahead is a two-week job of putting out flareups and smoldering embers of timber and brush in the fire's 30-mile perimeter.

Cost of bringing the blaze under control was estimated by the U.S. Forest Service at $350,000.

★ ★ ★

Officials say the fire was deliberately set.

The fire area is 75 miles east of Los Angeles.

Crowd Encircles Apartment Building

CHICAGO (AP) — Some 150 policemen were sent Thursday night to disperse a crowd of more than 3,000 persons near a West Side apartment building reportedly sold for occupany by Negro families.

★ ★ ★

It was the second straght night a large crowd had gathered near the three-story building. No Negro families live in the block or within several blocks. However, there are Negroes living in the Garfield Park district, the location of the apartment building.

★ ★ ★

Police said there were no serious disorders at the scene but that 13 persons had been arrested for failing to obey police orders to disperse. Three persons were arrested Wednesday night on the same charges. Most of those seized were youths. Some 1,500 persons gathered at the building Wednesday night.

Bob Considine Says:

Nixon's Trip Clears Path for Ike

WASHINGTON — What did Nixon's trip prove?

It proved that we have somebody in government who can talk just as tough and knowledgeably as Khrushchev.

★ ★ ★

It proved that the years of communism's Hate Americans program has been a dismal waste of money. It broke a little ice, cleared a path for Ike.

What will the Eisenhower-Khrushchev visits prove?

For Eisenhower it will be opportunity to proclaim intimately to the Soviet peoples that we are every bit as much for peace as they are and every bit as strong or stronger if Big Brother gets tough.

★ ★ ★

For Khrushchev it will be an eye opening look at a thriving system he's stubbornly sure is soon going to fall in his crazy white hat like a ripe plum.

Why did Ike more or less pull the rug out from under Nixon by announcing the Khrushchev visits while Nixon was gathering dope on whether the invitation should be presented?

Leaks out of London, Paris and Bonn. Disgruntlement on the part of Macmillan, De Gaulle and Adenauer, made it imperative to announce quickly that Ike planned to make special visits to them before seeing Khrushchev, and that no deals will be made without them.

Besides, there had to be a bouncy news release to offset the tragic collapse of the Geneva souffle.

★ ★ ★

What will the trip do for Nixon's political fortunes in 1960?

Help them considerably if at that time the convention and the voters want a man relatively tough on communism, able to hold his own at the Soviet-U.S. conferences and realistic enough to know that he can't change things overnight.

★ ★ ★

Did the trip pan out as Nixon expected?

No. He thought it would consist of cutting a ribbon at the American Fair in Moscow, having a private talk with Khrushchev behind closed doors, seeing the sights and buildings of a couple of "closed" cities and reporting to Ike.

As it turned out he got hit on the jaw in the first minute of the fight with Khrushchev, much as Dempsey got popped at the start by Firpo, made a superb recovery when he realized that the Marquis of Queensberry was dead, and gave 'em H—l like a Republican Harry Truman the rest of the way.

What will he warn Ike about, before Khrushchev arrives?

It's a guess, but he'll probably urge him strongly to bone up on everything under the sun connected with the economy of this country and the Soviet Union because Big K. is a walking Univac.

He may urge him to lay off the sweetness and light approach and not get in any philosophical arguments with the man.

He'll surely suggest that the way be cleared for the premier to see as much of the land, the people and the production as time and security permit.

★ ★ ★

Why didn't he do something about our boys the Red Chinese are still holding, six years after the end of the Korean War?

He tried and got nowhere — the same place U.S. Ambassadors Alexis Johnson and Jacob Beam have gotten with their Chinese counterparts since these interminable discussions started four years ago.

★ ★ ★

Wouldn't it have been politically wise for him to make a point of seeing Stefan Cardinal Wyczynski inasmuch as next year he may be opposed for the presidency by Sen. Jack Kennedy?

He made a pitch but was stopped by two forces: The State Department threw up its hands in horror at the very suggestion, and the Cardinal himself sent word that it wouldn't be wise.

Why didn't he insist?

Because the Gomulka government is putting the screws on the Cardinal again.

Why would he praise Gomulka so lavishly when this country would like to see Gomulka run out and, also, in view of his own need for Polish American votes if he gets the nomination?

He was impressed by Gomulka's tough dealing with Khrushchev and others, in the course of which he forced—at the risk of his life — Khrushchev to remove Red Army tanks which were surrounding Warsaw at the time, kick out Russian Marshal Rakossovsky and accept his (Gomulka's) separate road to socialism.

Why did he get tougher on his Moscow telecast inasmuch as he was given an hour carte blanche with no censorship?

There was no need. The Russian people knew what he was saying. If he had gone overboard it would have imperiled Ike's chances of getting on the same pipe.

Could Khrushchev make Nixon President of the United States by saying, "This is the one man I can get along with, work out something with?"

Well . . . it's a thought.

Hopes Mamie Can Accompany Ike to Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon expressed hope Thursday that Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany the President on his good will visit to Russia this fall.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Nixon who accompanied her husband on his two week tour of Russia and the Iron Curtain said: "I think it helps to have a woman along and I hope Mrs. Eisenhower can go. She has such a wonderful personality, she would make a lot of friends."

★ ★ ★

Similarly, the vice president's wife expressed hope that Mrs. Nikita Khrushchev will come to the United States when the Soviet Premier visits here in September. She reported that Mrs. Khrushchev "seemed very anxious to come" to the United States when they talked during Nixon's just-concluded visit to Moscow.

Flint Man's Job Demands Heart and Soul

FLINT (NEA) — Children attending Flint elementary schools in the last 21 years have been lucky.

Many probably are alive today because of the devoted work of a singing cop they encountered with their ABCs.

Beginning in 1938, Lt. Wilburn Legree prodded youngsters from kindergarten to the sixth grade about dangers—from cars, while riding bicycles and while on the playgrounds.

His retirement this fall means future generations won't associate his friendly smile and big voice as part of their growing up.

Legree already knows how much his present charges will miss him. Thousands of letters summed up their views when the youngsters learned of his retirement.

★ ★ ★

One boy wrote:

"Their is something I would like to tell you and that is, I'm sorry that you have to retire because I know you have been a big help to Flint Police force.

"I now belong to the Cody Potrol unit and I'm glad to be in it to. Because now I'm albe to help little children and outher people under full authority . . ."

★ ★ ★

A little girl wrote: "My brother and I will miss you very mush . . ."

Legree really didn't plan to be a policeman. But he needed a job during the depression. He was in his mid-twenties when he began a stenographic job with the Flint department.

This was in 1934 and Legree was waiting for a job with an automobile company. In 1937, still on the force, he persuaded his captain to let him start a school-safety program.

Legree says he was appalled at the mounting death and injury statistics as only a father of a young son and daughter could be. In 1938 he made the first of his now famous visits to Flint elementary schools. But he wasn't known as the "singing cop" until a year later.

As a baritone, Legree sang with church groups and still sings in "The Messiah" each year. His operatic ventures include "The Bohemian Girl" and "Madam Butterfly."

Knowing this musical background a friend suggested Legree use his vocal talents in the classroom.

"I don't know who was more scared the first time," he says. "Me or the audience."

Since that first successful singing effort, Legree developed safety jingles for children. In 1943 he and his wife started a weekly "Singing Cop" safety program on a Flint station.

According to state and national officials, this dedicated policeman's efforts cut child death and injury rates significantly each year in Flint and the effect spread to other communities.

SONGS STILL USED

The safety songs he introduced before thousands of children in classrooms and on the radio still are used in 600 Michigan communities and in 42 states.

School systems in cities in Germany, Australia and New Zealand also use his lyrics to imbue youngsters with good safety habits.

Now 51, Legree says, "My job has been good to me. Working with boys and girls has been a reward, especially in helping save their lives."

He admits his 21 years of safety work may not sound exciting to crime lovers who lean toward activities of the homicide squad. But to him it was a 12-month-a-year job demanding heart and soul. He wouldn't have had it any other way.

Hungarian Girls Have Sights Set on Distinct Type

BUDAPEST (UPI)—The Hungarian youth newspaper "Magyar Ifjusag" reported indignantly on the troubles of a young man who had to keep improving his offer when he set out to find a wife.

The newspaper said that he received only a few replies to an advertisement in which he said: "Young man, firm character, seeks good girl who stays with him in good and bad days."

A slightly better response followed a second ad saying: "Serious, well-situated, young intellectual seeks the acquaintance of pretty, intelligent girl."

However, the newspaper said the young man got a "sackful" of letters when he made a third advertisement read: "Fifty-year-old gentleman with nice apartment and car wants to get acquainted only with really beautiful and young girl."

Wallace and Morley Elects New President

SAGINAW (AP)—The election of Edward O. Crawford as new president and general manager of the Wallace and Morley Co. of Bayport was announced today.

Wallace and Morley, one of the oldest and largest firms of its kind, operates 18 grain elevators in the thumb area. Last month it merged with the Unionville Milling Co.

★ ★ ★

Crawford, 58, succeeds Herman E. Henne, who has retired. Crawford's election by the board of directors was announced by John W. Symons, chairman.

In Order to Avoid Khrushchev

Congress May Adjourn but Fast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may accomplish something congressional leaders are having difficulty doing.

He may speed up final adjournment of the present session of Congress.

While the exact dates for the Soviet leader's visit to the United States and for the adjournment of Congress are indefinite, there is one thing certain. Congressional leaders don't want to be in session when Khrushchev arrives in Washington.

Khrushchev's visit tentatively has been set for about the middle of September. Mid-September also has been mentioned as the likely date for adjournment of Congress, unless a speed-up in the work schedule is effected.

The speed-up now is in the making, and the current adjournment target date is Sept. 5, leaving a respectable interlude between the time members of Congress depart and Khrushchev arrives. To leave a shorter interval might be interpreted by the Soviet people as a deliberate attempt by the legislators to avert a meeting with their chief.

Apparently, avoiding such a meeting is exactly what members of Congress want to do.

They have no heart for a joint meeting of the Senate and the House to hear Khrushchev. The absenteeism might be so noticeable as to create international hard feelings.

Many members feel that it would be inconsistent for them to sit decorously around and listen to a speech by Khrushchev after having spent a large part of their congressional life blasting communism.

AP Wirephoto

KHRUSHCHEV AT NEWS CONFERENCE — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev talked during his news conference in the Kremlin Wednesday, and said he is going to Washington as a man of peace without any sabre-rattling. He promised not to brag about the power of Russian rockets.

There is ample precedent for Khrushchev to be invited to address a joint meeting if Congress is in session when he arrives. While such meetings normally are reserved for heads of state — such as kings, or queens, or presidents — the rule has been waived in the past.

Soften Blasts at Khrushchev

His Path Through U.S. Will Be Paved With Good Intentions

WASHINGTON (AP) — High government officials appeared today to have adopted a policy line of avoiding harsh statements about Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

It is obviously an effort to create a favorable climate, insofar as possible, for Khrushchev's visit here next month. Along that same line was the plea by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, on his return yesterday from Russia, that Khrushchev be given a courteous reception here.

There has been no indication whether or not the White House has passed any word, informal or otherwise, for politeness in remarks about the Soviet Premier.

But the pulling back from criticism sticks out in what has happened to some speeches prepared before the latest whirl of international diplomacy brought plans for an exchange of visits by Khrushchev and President Eisenhower.

One demonstration was an address by Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker to the Assn. of the United States Army. In delivering the speech, Brucker dropped out some sharp words about Khrushchev that were in a prepared text circulated to newsmen in advance.

And, another Army official, Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, made a change in the text of an address prepared for delivery at Storrs, Conn.

French Premier Debre to Inspect Algeria

PARIS (AP)—Premier Michel Debre flew to Algeria today for a look at the military and political situation before it comes up for discussion at next month's U.N. General Assembly meeting.

Debre will be followed to the rebellious territory on Aug. 27 by President Charles de Gaulle—unless President Eisenhower comes to Paris on that date. De Gaulle, who visited Algeria four times last year while Premier, will be making his first visit there as chief of state.

Rep. Dingell Proposes Stiffer Pollution Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill designed to strengthen the enforcement provisions of the federal water pollution control act has been introduced by Rep. John D. Dingell (D-Mich).

Federal enforcement procedures would be extended from interstate waters to all navigable waters upon request of an affected municipality and the appropriate state authority.

Men's Fashions Change With Colleges

A "must" item in most college and high school wardrobes for fall is this natural-color raincoat in one model or another. In this sketch, made at an Ivy League college, it is worn with an Ivy-type paisley sports shirt. Most students prefer the raincoat if it appears slighlty "beat up," in the tradition of dirty white bucks.

Neatness counts among college men in all parts of the country these days. Here is the classic suit and on the right the sports jacket-slacks outfit as sketched at the University of Texas. Most of the improvements in the appearance of young men these days stem from their own preference for neatness and understanding of style.

Ivy League Styling Still Last Word

While with few exceptions Ivy styling characterizes the wardrobes of American college men for fall 1959, students in each section of the country have certain fads and fancies in their dress that set them apart from their brothers in other schools and other areas, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear.

In the northeast, for example, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth, and Amherst students dress very casually and comfortably for classes and for after hours lounging and studying. However, for dates and week-ending, the casual chino and flannel slacks are discarded in favor of suits.

★ ★ ★

Men at Harvard, Columbia and Brown, on the other hand, present a dressier appearance on the campus but they wear suits for town dates. Football weekends call for sports jackets, sweaters and slacks.

Harvard men like the velvet-collared Chesterfield coat for dressy occasions and some wear Russian-type fur hats with fur-collared storm coats for "kicks."

RAIN REVEALING

On a rainy day at Yale all sorts of offbeat headwear show up — 10 gallon western sombreros, Anzac campaign hats, old coconut straws, caps, rainhats and well-seasoned felts.

Tennis sneakers, dirty bucks, moccasins and desert type boots are standard footwear, although the most popular dressy shoe is the plain toe blucher in dark cordovan.

★ ★ ★

In the southeast, men at the University of Virginia are extremely dress conscious. Coats and ties are always worn to class and sport shirts are worn only off the grounds. After classes, slacks, Bermuda shorts, madras shirts and khakis are the rule.

Georgetown men wear trench coats along with the classic balmacaan raincoat. They go for caps and regimental stripe ties in a big way.

OLIVE POPULAR

Students at the University of Georgia like olive shades in jackets, slacks, shirts and accessories. Natural shoulder Ivy-styled suits are their uniform — many with vests to match.

Southern college men are strong for walking shorts and include a heavier percentage of lightweight and wash-wear garments in their wardrobes. Swim trunks are practically a must and classroom wear is much less formal than in colder climates.

★ ★ ★

Midwestern colleges naturally go in for warmer garments. At the University of Wisconsin and the rest of the "Big Ten" country, students go for black-brown houndstooth check shetland jackets which they team with gray flannels.

Dark gray worsted suits with button-down collar oxford shirts are the rule for dates and important weekends.

DRESS CASUAL

At Northwestern, polished cotton slacks are a must, particularly when worn with navy blue blazers. Many of the students favor open-necked oxford shirts in place of sports shirts.

West Coasters are more casual dressers than other American college men but their casual clothes are along conservative Ivy lines.

University of Washington men go for reversible vests.

★ ★ ★

Compared with modes and mores of only a few years ago, the college man of today presents a far more orderly and neater appearance. Although some of this change is due to new college regulations which in many schools require students to wear ties to class, most of the improvements in the appearance of the modern young man stem from his own preferences and understanding.

A campus favorite for fall 1959 is this Indian madras plaid jacket worn with tan cotton slacks as shown in this drawing made at Georgetown University.

10 Tips on Clothes-Care

Young men heading back to college, whether they operate on a limited clothing budget or a liberal one, can profit from tips on clothing care. Clothes properly cared for will last longer and the wearer receives an added bonus because a neat wardrobe gives him that dressed-right look.

Here are 10 tips from the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear to help the college man take care of his wardrobe.

★ ★ ★

1. Always use a wooden hanger for suit jackets and sports jackets. These keep the shoulders in shape and allow any wrinkles to hang out. Hanging a jacket on a bedpost or over the back of a chair will eventually distort it and put unsightly lumps in the fabric.

★ ★ ★

2. Use trousers hangers for suit pants and slacks, preferably the kind that suspend the trousers from the cuffs or bottion to helping the fabrics shed toms. These hangers, in addiwrinkles, help keep the press.

TREE THOSE SHOES

3. Keep shoes polished and when not in use, keep them treed. The wax polish nourishes the leather and prevents cracking. Shoe trees keep shoes in shape—very important for dress-up oxfords.

4. When drying wash-wear shirts, underwear and socks, use a plastic hanger without metal parts. This applies to wash-wear suits, too. Rust stains are difficult to remove.

5. Keep felt hats well brushed. This prevents staining resulting from rain spots.

6. When drying a wet felt hat, improvise a stand for it by snapping brim up and turning down leather sweat band, but don't dry it on a radiator.

★ ★ ★

7. Don't stuff mufflers in overcoat or topcoat pockets. This stretches the fabric and causes a permanent bulge. Fold the muffler and place it in the coat sleeve.

★ ★ ★

8. Always untie neckties. Do not slip tied tie off over your head. Hang ties up to let wrinkles work out, except for knit or crocheted ties. Roll these up and place them in bureau drawer to prevent stretching.

9. Wash fabric or knit gloves on the hand. Turn them inside out and wash reverse side first, then wash again on right side. Dry flat on soft towel. Keep wools away from radiator.

10. Frequent brushings of suits and sports jackets helps keep down cleaning costs. However, if the suit or jacket is soiled with a stain that won't come out when lightly rubbed with warm water, have the garment cleaned immediately. Remember to tell the cleaner what caused the stain.

High Schoolers Alert to Latest Fashion Ideas

High schoolers seem more alert to new fashion ideas than either college men or the grade school set, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, Inc.

The group points out that collegians are bound by tradition to well-established standards of dress while the elementary school group has not yet arrived at an age where their clothing preferences are given too much consideration.

★ ★ ★

The high school set, however, has a situation permitting much more freedom of expression, according to the institute. First, they are at an experimental age, and second, many of them have incomes of their own.

★ ★ ★

Third, though they do follow the leads of their older brothers in college to a considerable extent, high schoolers are not nearly as conscious of the traditions involved in certain dress habits or as dedicated to continuing them.

The high school set's greater freedom of expression, the group points out, is apparent in the way they have taken to some of the new Continental styles, although they have modified them to meet their own particular needs.

★ ★ ★

One of the trends noted is the increased interest in suits shown by young men. No less fond of sports jackets and slacks than before, they are discovering that the suit makes a more appropriate garment for dates and dances. Today, many a high schooler is proudly donning his first "tux" for one of those important school hops.

Waterford Gardeners Hear Talk

The Waterford Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association met at the home of Mrs. Paul Herbst on Lansdowne street Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. H. D. McGinley, the teacher who sponsored the club's attendance at the Conservation Camp at Higgins Lake spoke on "Harmony Between Man and the Soil."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gil Every and Mrs. Eugene Cleland, president of the group, reported on their trip to the recent convention of the National Farm and Garden Association at Mackinac Island.

Mrs. Norman Hill and Mrs. Charles Harrison, co-hostesses, served refreshments on the lawn beside the lake.

★ ★ ★

It was decided to hold a rummage sale Oct. 8-9 at the CAI Building in Waterford.

Last Saturday the group held its annual husbands' dinner, a steak cook-out at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. F. Hoyt of Maceday Lake.

Winter Bumps Will Disappear in Summer

Summer is the time when the lumps and bumps produced by wearing closed shoes disappear. This is due to the happy fact that most of us take to open sandals, even in the city.

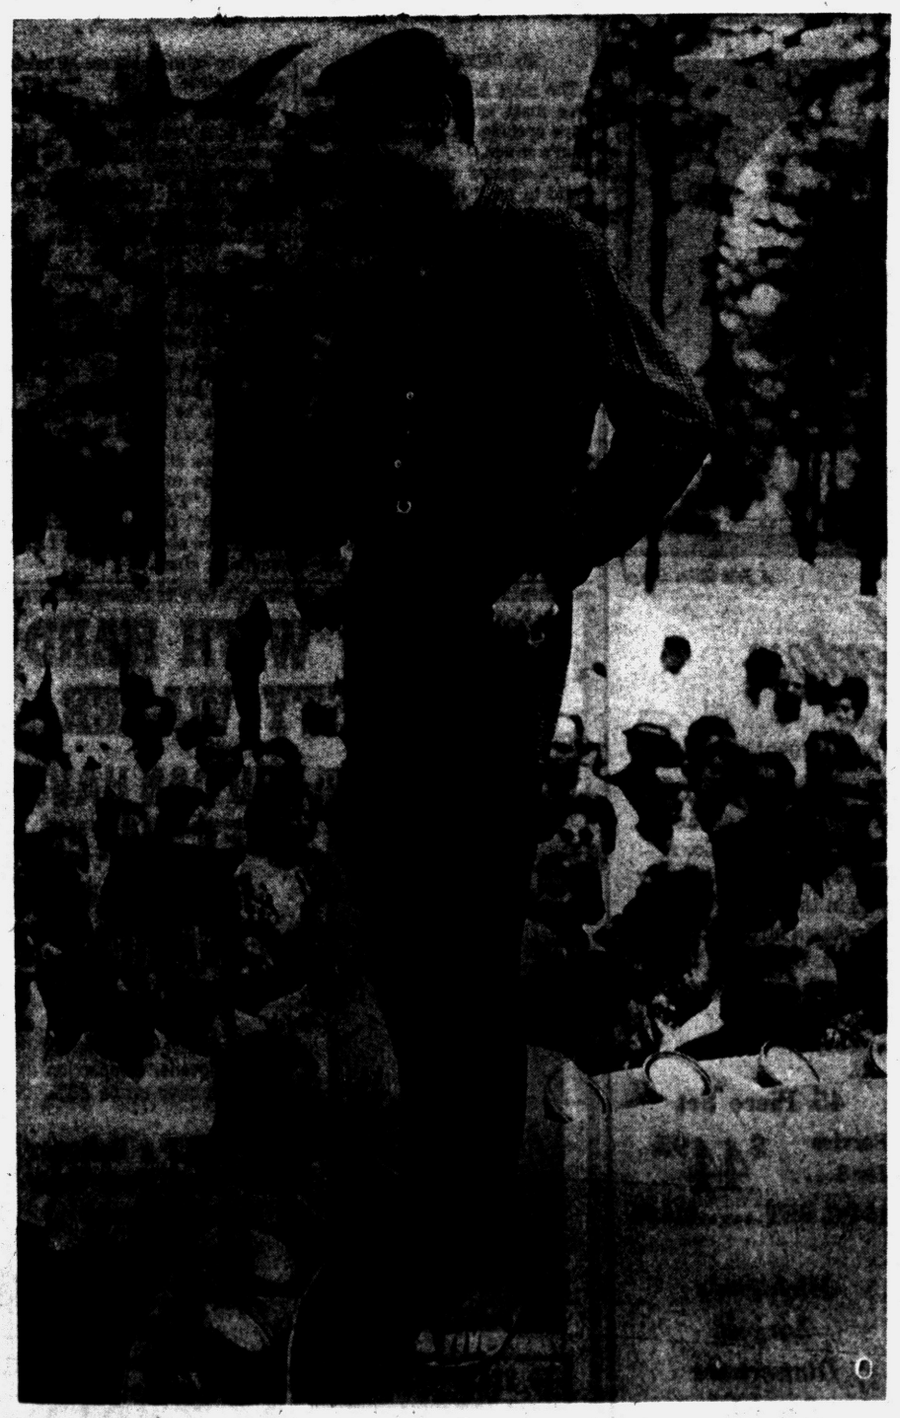

★ ★ ★

When they're given any consideration at all, feet quickly recover from abuse and smooth out. You can help this process along if you like.

When you go to the beach, walk along the water's edge barefoot. The sand acts like a pumice stone in smoothing out the rough spots. It's both healing and soothing. If you're used to wearing high heels, your legs will ache the next day. But this is neither serious nor important and will go away.

★ ★ ★

By autumn, your feet should be pretty, pink and free of bumps.

What Flavor Cigarette Do You Prefer?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If you like to play the gracious host, and your guests sometimes ask for cigarettes, you may shortly find yourself inquiring: "Cinnamon or chocolate?"

Or maybe: "How about trying a new-mown hay?"

★ ★ ★

The prospect of flavored cigarettes was discussed at a news conference Thursday by George Weissman, vice president and director of marketing for a major tobacco company.

"The cigarette industry," he said, "is in the process of a revolution. There is a possibility that the cigarettes we smoked a scant five years ago may become obsolete.

"The American public has let us know they will buy flavor. To that end, many cigarette companies are right now testing cinnamon flavor, chocolate—even new-mown hay."

★ ★ ★

Weissman didn't say when cinnamon cigarettes may appear in stores. But he did report that flavored smokes are being tried out on some 40,000 housewives around the country.

Count Blessings, Not Cards . . . Abby

He's Perfect in Every Way but Forgets Their Anniversary

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I shouldn't feel this way, but I can't help it. I just celebrated my fifteenth wedding anniversary and my husband didn't even send me a card.

ABBY

He's perfect in every way. He doesn't drink, curse or chase. He brings home his pay check in one piece and he worships me and the children. But he says that birthdays, anniversaries and even Mother's Day are "just another day."

I know he loves me, but when I get together with my friends and sisters-in-law and they ask me what he gave me for my anniversary, I am speechless. Am I wrong to feel hurt? "HURT"

DEAR HURT: A woman who is married to a man who "worships" her and the children, doesn't drink, curse or chase and who brings home his pay check in one piece, shouldn't complain when he doesn't make a fuss over her one day a year. Count your blessings. And when anyone asks you what your husband gave you for your anniversary, say, "Fifteen of the happiest years of my life."

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My doctor says I should have a husband, but my boyfriend is in no hurry. I am 29 and my boyfriend is 31 and we have been going around together since 1946. He is working steady and so am I. My hope chest is so full I can't close the lid. My doctor says when I settle down with a nice loving man I will get rid of the pains in my neck. How can I get my boyfriend to set a date for the wedding and keep it? WANTING TO MARRY

DEAR WANTING: A boyfriend who balks at the hitching post after a 13-year courtship is enough to give any girl a pain in the neck. Tell him "Now or Never!" Stalls are for horses.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband is one of those men who never knows anything when I ask him what is new, but when I give him a piece of gossip he says, "I heard that two months ago." I ask him how come he didn't tell me about it and he says, "I didn't think you'd be interested." Now if that isn't grounds for homicide, what is? READY TO SHOOT

DEAR READY: Hold your fire. Your husband is as normal as blueberry pie!

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who borrows my cake pans, pie tins, salad bowls, etc., and never returns them. Right now she has more of my pans and bowls than I have.

We are good friends and trade favors, such as watching each other's kids and marketing for each other. But this doesn't help me get my stuff back.

I am not the nervy type. Can you suggest a way for me to get my property back without offending her. NO NERVE

DEAR NO: If you have one pie tin or cake pan left, bake something you know she likes and take it over to her. Before you leave say, "Would you mind if I removed it from the pan as I have no more at home—which reminds me, while I'm here, Dear, may I please take back those pans and bowls? I could certainly use them." Exit, smiling and triumphant.

Teens Worry About Figures

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
The Question Box

Q. "Could you please answer my question in the Question Box? Well, here goes! I am 14 years old, 4 feet 11 inches and weigh 108 pounds. My measurements are 34 inches, waist 26, hips 36. My stomach sticks out terribly.

"First, am I out of proportion? If so, where? My friends tell me I am overweight. Am I? How much? What can I do about my stomach? I look like I'm four months pregnant."

A. You are a little bit on the heavy side. Don't do anything drastic. Eat a full well-balanced diet but cut out some of the in-between meal snacks. You know what I mean! When the others are having a chocolate nut sundae, for instance, take a soft drink, or even better, fruit juice. Leave off candy bars until you lose about five to eight pounds.

Your measurements are surprisingly good for one of your age. Now, about the tummy. In the first place make a real effort to hold it in. You must remind yourself of this many times each day. I suspect that your posture may not be too good because a protruding abdomen and round shoulders often go together.

Become interested in holding yourself attractively and gracefully, and this goes for all of those your age. Then take abdominal exercises. If you or any other readers would like to have my abdominal slimming exercises, you can have them by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 to Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

Q. "I want to get a knitted bathing suit but I do not think that my figure is good enough. I am 15 years old, 5 feet, three inches tall and weigh 105 pounds. My bust measures 33½ inches, waist 23½ and hips 33½."

You should make a real effort to hold the tummy in.

A. Are you kidding me? Your measurements are absolutely perfect but you are underweight and should make an effort to gain a few pounds, about six, anyway.

Q. "I am 13 years old, 4 feet 10 inches tall and weigh 86 pounds. Am I too thin or fat or anything? My bust measures 30 inches, waist 24 and hips 31½ inches. What about my proportions?"

A. Your weight is just right. Your proportions are absolutely normal for your age. The important thing is to take great care of your complexion now. Don't pick at your face and wash it several times each day with soap and water. Also posture is extremely important now.

Allow Freedom of Choice in Feelings

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

A young advertising man under psychoanalytic treatment was told to entertain an out-of-town client. He was furious. Pacing his doctor's office, he shouted:

"My friendliness is my own to give! Why do I have to show the town to this fool when I've just bought a house in the country to get away from it? I've got better things to do with my evenings than pub-crawling with some guy who can't hold his liquor!! I . . ."

Said his doctor mildly, "Why don't you tell your boss that you have to refuse this engagement?"

By evening his patient found himself thinking much less belligerently of the out-of-town client. So when he met him, he was able to propose a tour of theaters instead of night spots—a program which ended in their becoming friends.

By supporting his right to withhold friendliness from the client, his doctor had made it possible for him to give it. He had made giving it his patient's own choice instead of a compulsion by somebody else.

When we "tell" a child to be kind and unselfish to his brother or sister, we create the same resistance that the young advertising man's boss created in him. The resistance only looks like hate of the brother or sister. Actually, it's hate of having his feelings ordered for him.

Today, we have very little control of external circumstances. We can't make the Russian's behave. We can't change the government's need of big income taxes. We can't reduce the danger of radioactive fallout. We can't park our cars where we want to.

Our actions are continually restricted by everything from "Don't Walk" signs on street corners to the TV repairman's time schedule. So we are becoming very jealous indeed of our right to freedom of feeling.

So are children.

CAN'T ORDER FEELINGS

In a world where they can't run across roads lest they be killed or shout in apartment halls lest they upset the neighbors, they can't stand being told what to feel, too. Our grandparents could order "kindness" from their children because the children's external world still offered them freedom of action. They could stand being told what to feel because so much of their action was unrestricted.

Unlike our youngsters, they could run across roads, jump on wagons and shout their heads off without upsetting the neighbors.

Open Up New Doors to Find Excitement

By RUTH MILLETT

The most fascinating people you ever meet are those who are always opening up new doors to see what's inside.

"It's opened up a whole new world to me," a man who started to learn something about art after years of leaving it to the "longhairs" recently told me.

And just the other day I listened to a couple of housewives who have gone back to college to take a course in understanding the world problems.

Just as interesting as the people who open doors to learn facts are those who open doors to learn new skills. The beginning gardener who wins a prize for her dahlias is just as fascinated with learning everything she can about growing flowers as the person who takes a course in music appreciation.

The most important thing isn't which door you open. It is to have the curiosity and interest to keep on opening them.

Never mind what doors your friends are opening. If the door looks interesting to you, then open it.

If a closer look proves that what's inside isn't as fascinating as you thought it might be, then shut it and look for another door.

The world is full of doors to open. So there's no excuse for anyone to be bored or to quit or to reduce his life to dull routine.

The doors aren't locked. All you have to do to get a look inside is to say, "I'm going to find out about that," instead of, "that's a subject I've always wished I knew something about."

To Break Habit Must Want Result Enough

She's a pretty girl. She is tall and slim with clear skin and naturally wavy dark hair. Her hands are nicely proportioned. And her nails are bitten to the quick.

★ ★ ★

She's ashamed of them and says so. She's so ashamed that she'd like to sit on her hands in public rather than have people look at them. But still she doesn't stop biting them. But she'd like to know how to break the habit. There's just one way: stop. Make the resolution and stick to it. It's much like giving up the smoking habit. It may be difficult but many people have done it.

It's easier to form a bad habit than it is to break one but still, people break bad habits daily. The trick is to want the result enough: beautiful hands or clear skin or a trim figure. Because beauty will not exist for very many years without discipline.

Reviewing a family scrapbook with Mrs. Hazel Burns, right, of Lowell street, is her sister, Mrs. Lena Beach of Inglewood, Calif., whom she has not seen in over 20 years. The sisters expect to be kept on the move attending various get-togethers planned by the family to celebrate the reunion.

Reunion Parties Planned for Visitor

Visiting at the Lowell street home of Mrs. Hazel Burns is her sister, Mrs. Lena Leach of Inglewood, Calif., whom she has not seen in over 20 years.

Mrs. Leach will visit Mrs. Burns for about a week and then journey on to visit other brothers and sisters in the state. The others are Mrs. Minnie Polzin and Clarence Kouts of Lapeer and Mrs. John Banks and Jack Kouts of Saginaw. They also have a sister, Mrs. John Reidle in the state of Washington and a sister, Mrs. Floyd Long of Florida.

On Sunday a family reunion has been planned at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Goodrich of Lapeer. Later in the month another get-together has been planned for Mrs. Leach, as well as for a niece, Mrs. Kenneth Rose, who is arriving for a visit after spending several years in South Africa where her husband is a government employe. This event will take place in Flint.

Scarves Not Substitutes for Hats

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Isn't it in very bad taste to go to church with a scarf tied around one's head, or worse yet, a handkerchief sitting on the top of one's head held in place by bobby pins? I have noticed an increasing number of young people attending church services dressed in this fashion and to me it is very undignified. I would appreciate your opinion on this matter."

Answer: It is in very bad taste. Such head coverings are only excusable when hatless women travelers come upon a church they would like to visit.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My youngest son was married recently. There were two family tables at the reception — one for the bride's family and one for the groom's family. The bride's mother asked me whom I would like seated at our table and I chose our oldest closest relatives to sit with us. I did not include my daughter-in-law at this table as I thought it would be pleasanter for her if she sat with other younger relatives at a nearby table.

"She was very much put out over this and thinks that she should have been seated at our table. Her husband was best man and was of course seated with the bridal attendants. Will you please tell me if I was wrong not to have seated her at the family table?

Answer: You should have explained your thought to your daughter-in-law before telling who you wished at your table, and let her decide for herself at which table she would like to sit.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me what is proper in the following situation: While visiting the parents of a new born baby, coffee and dessert are served. A girl is seated with a man on her right. The cream and sugar bowl are directly in front of the girl. What is the correct thing to do when the man asks the girl to pass the cream, should she pour the cream in her cup first and then pass it to him, or should she pass it to him first?"

Answer: As he asked for it, she should pass the cream to him before helping herself.

Local Sorority Honors Visitor From Arizona

Betty Kruscha of Phoenix, Ariz., a visitor in Pontiac, was guest of honor Thursday evening at Xi Alpha Nu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority's picnic supper held at the home of president, Mrs. Harvey Kerr of Coleman avenue.

Upon leaving the city Miss Kruscha transferred her membership to Xi Iota Chapter in Phoenix where she is now active. In 1956-1957 she was selected from among 400 contestants as "Girl of the Year." Employed as a purchasing agent for the Mesa Public School System, she plans to return to her home next week.

Three other former members from out of town also were on hand to participate in the meeting. They were Mrs. John Sandberg of Roseville, Mrs. George Berg of South Lyon, and Mrs. George Fraser of St. Clair Shores.

Cohostesses for the evening were Mrs. Kerr's new co-officers, Marie McGill, Mrs. Jay Sandow, and Mrs. Elwyn Hall. Mrs. Richard Benham also assisted.

Young Rocky's Fiancee Adjusting

Former Maid to Join Blue-Bloods

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — When Steven Rockefeller brings his family's former maid home from Norway as his bride, he will introduce her to one of the most exclusive circles of bluebloods in America.

There are nearly 30 Rockefellers in the New York social register, including 23-year-old Steven, himself.

★ ★ ★

Some of those who have married into the family trace their ancestry to the founding fathers of the nation. They include two granddaughters of railroad presidents, a congressman's son and an heiress to a $10 million fortune.

Among the girls who have joined the Rockefeller clan through matrimony are graduates of Smith, Wellesley and Vassar, and girls who were introduced to society at formal debut parties.

Ann-Marie Rasmussen, 21-year-old daughter of a Norwegian store-keeper, had completed only two years of high school when she came to America and went to work as the Nelson A. Rockefeller family maid while she perfected her English.

She had never been to a debut party. What little she learned about art she picked up from looking at the Rockefeller family collection and visiting nearby art museums.

★ ★ ★

Despite their wealth, the Rockefellers know how to live simply. John D. Rockefeller 4th, son of John D. Rockefeller 3rd, is living on $27 a month in an unheated college dormitory in Japan, preparing himself for a foreign service career.

His sister, Sandra, now 25, spent a summer working in an English home under a student exchange program after she finished Vassar. Now she is a psychiatrist's receptionist in a Boston hospital.

Nelson's daughter, Ann, is getting along nicely in Chicago on the slim parson's salary of her Protestant Episcopal clergyman husband.

The romance between Steven and Ann-Marie is the second Cinderella story involving the Rockefeller family. The first was the romance of Winthrop, Steven's uncle, and Barbara (Bobo) Sears a coal miner's daughter.

That marriage ended in divorce, and Winthrop since has married Mrs. Jeanette Edris, an old friend and heiress to $10 million.

★ ★ ★

John D. Rockefeller 3rd another uncle of Steven's, is married to the former Blanchette F. Hocker, a Vassar graduate and a former Park Avenue society girl. Their son left Harvard for the ascetic, monk-like life in Japan. Daughter Hope, an honor graduate of Smith, was married last month to a college professor's son.

Steven's uncle Laurance Rockefeller is married to Mary French, a granddaughter of a founder of the Northern Pacific Railway, a sculptress and former Vassar girl and a descendant of a Mayflower voyager. She is chairman of the World Service Council of the YWCA of the U.S.A. Their children are enrolled in fashionable schools.

★ ★ ★

The youngest of the five sons of John D. Rockefeller Jr. is David. He is married to Margaret McGrath, daughter of a Wall Street lawyer and former debutante student at the Shipley school and Chapin. They have six children, aged 6 to 17.

John D. Rockefeller Jr's only daughter, now Mrs. Jean Mauze, has been married three times. She divorced her first husband after 18 years of marriage. Her second husband, a doctor, died. She has two daughters, Marilyn, married to William Kelly Simpson, son of a late congressman, and postdebutant Abby Rockefeller Milton.

★ ★ ★

Steven's mother was Mary Todhunter Clark, of Philadelphia's main line, granddaughter of a banker and of a Pennsylvania railroad president. She attended exclusive finishing schools, studied at the Sorbonne in Paris and is a former Junior League member.

Nelson's son, Rodman, is a credit analyst, married to a former debutante who graduated from Wellesley. Twins Michael and Mary still are in school.

There already is some indication that Ann-Marie is taking all these illustrious pedigrees in her stride. She says that she wants to live simply with Steven in a New York apartment, doing all her own housework.

Swimming Pools Big Hit With Oakland Residents

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Swimming pools — the dream of many and the latest "extra" of new home builders — are bubbling up all over Oakland County, despite its more than 420 clear lakes.

Because the initial cost of a pool, regardless of design, construction or size, is just the beginning, all 10 of the pool owners contacted by this reporter agreed that the first year is the hardest, both mentally and financially.

★ ★ ★

Without rigid enforcement of activity in and around a pool, the owner could become liable for any accident, to say nothing of the mental anguish and frustration that goes with trying to control other peoples' activities.

One of Oakland County's most beautiful new swimming pools is nestled in the bowl-shaped yard of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Martin, 1520 Lone Pine Rd., Bloomfield Township. They figured that necessary "extras" more than doubled the original cost of their pool.

Extending 30 by 50 feet, the kidney-shaped pool is on a level just four steps higher than the big terraced patio back of the house. The sides of the bowl-garden rise dramatically from the pool to a height of some 50 feet all around, assuring complete privacy.

This two-acre area was not always the breath-taking beauty spot that it now is, according to its owners. The Martins had workmen scoop the heart out of a big hill just west of their Early American ranch home.

More than 30 truckloads of dirt were hauled away before actual construction of the poured-slab swimming pool got under way at the base of the hill. Then the trouble started, Mrs. Martin said.

DRAINAGE PROBLEM

Before hundreds of yards of newly laid sod had a chance to get a good hold on the sides of the hill, rain water seeped into the sod and continued down under the new pool, lifting it two inches up out of the ground.

Engineering ingenuity has finally solved the drainage problem and all is peace and quiet around the beautiful pool.

For the Thomas J. Kings of 503 Shirley St., Birmingham, their 30 by 40 foot swimming pool is the heart of their family fun.

Three children, Diane, 12, Chuck, 8, and Timmy, 9, live like "kings" as they swim in 43,000 gallons of sparkling water, sun bathe on a gigantic terrace and have quiet activities in their unique little barbeque house beside the pool.

★ ★ ★

Like the Martins, the King yard was not always the envy-spot of the neighborhood. When the huge bulldozers moved in and began to tear up the lovely back yard, Mrs. King said her heart sank.

Years of careful landscaping and tender care were destroyed in one swoop as the machines crashed through flower beds, bushes and lawn.

Looking back, Mrs. King says the fun and recreation derived from the pool by everyone has "drowned" any unpleasant memories of mountains of mud and other first-year problems.

DESIGNS FILTER

"A thinking man's filter" is installed in the yard of the Gilbert Wolf family at 124 Mont Eagle St., Milford. Employed as head shop engineer at the General Motors Technical Center, Wolf figured he could design his own filtering system and build a pool around the project.

This year—after many hours of thought and backbreaking work the Wolf family and their friends are just beginning to enjoy their large 24 by 40-foot pool.

Wolf's oblong-shaped "do-it-yourself" pool took 600 cement blocks, hundreds of reinforcing steel rods, tons of cement-mix and no end of patience to complete the project. Boys, girls, men and women helped dig and mix mortar to create the popular neighborhood swimming center.

★ ★ ★

The big 20 by 40-foot swimming pool in the yard of the Julius B. Green's summer home at 4580 Woodhull Dr., Independence Township, is filled with happy children and adults every day from mid-June until Labor Day.

This pool is thermostatically heated to keep the water 10 degrees warmer than the air at all times.

SETS 'POOL-ROOLS'

After four years of operation and "unforgettable experiences," Mrs. Green has established a set of "pool-rools" that she firmly enforces. "In fact," she said, "if any newcomer to the pool disobeys established rules, the children themselves clamp down on the new swimmer. It's positively amazing."

The Greens' children, Benson, 8, Burt, 20, Herbert, 22, and Bonnie, 13, wanted their pool and summer home to be just far enough away from home so their Detroit friends and neighbors could enjoy the summer, too.

They have accomplished their purpose by building a combination guest house and dressing room in front of the big pool. There is even an automatic drinking fountain piped outside for protection inside against dripping-wet thirsty youngsters.

★ ★ ★

"There's no pool like an old pool," according to the George Hubbells, who live in the country just north of New Hudson. Theirs is probably the grand-daddy of all Oakland County swimming pools.

Eighteen years ago, George and Roger Hubbell, both engineers, cleared a hill in the heart of the Hubbell orchard, designed and built a big poured-slab pool 24 by 36 feet.

Contrary to most pool owners' theory that the water must remain in a pool all winter — with logs secured for ice expansion — the Hubbell pool is drained each fall, then cleaned and refilled in the spring.

Up on a hill near Oxford, the Benjamin Hazeltons tore down an old tenant house, expanded the basement underneath, built forms and poured one of the most attractive swimming pools in the county.

★ ★ ★

Hazelton is vice president of a Detroit Automobile Show Corp. His pool and all its surroundings reflects the dramatic flair for the original, from the colored lights under the water and the solid fence surrounding the yard to the quaintly laid old brick walk around the pool.

NOVEL DIVING BOARD

One of the biggest attractions of this project is an oversized airplane tube used as a diving board. "It's even more efficient and exciting than a trampoline board," Mrs. Hazelton said.

Another pair of "do-it-yourself" enthusiasts, Dr. E. H. Campbell and his wife decided that after the long winter months it would be a good idea — and good exercise — to dig their own swimming pool. On April 1, the first shovel full was taken out of the front yard of their new $45,000 home in Milford.

★ ★ ★

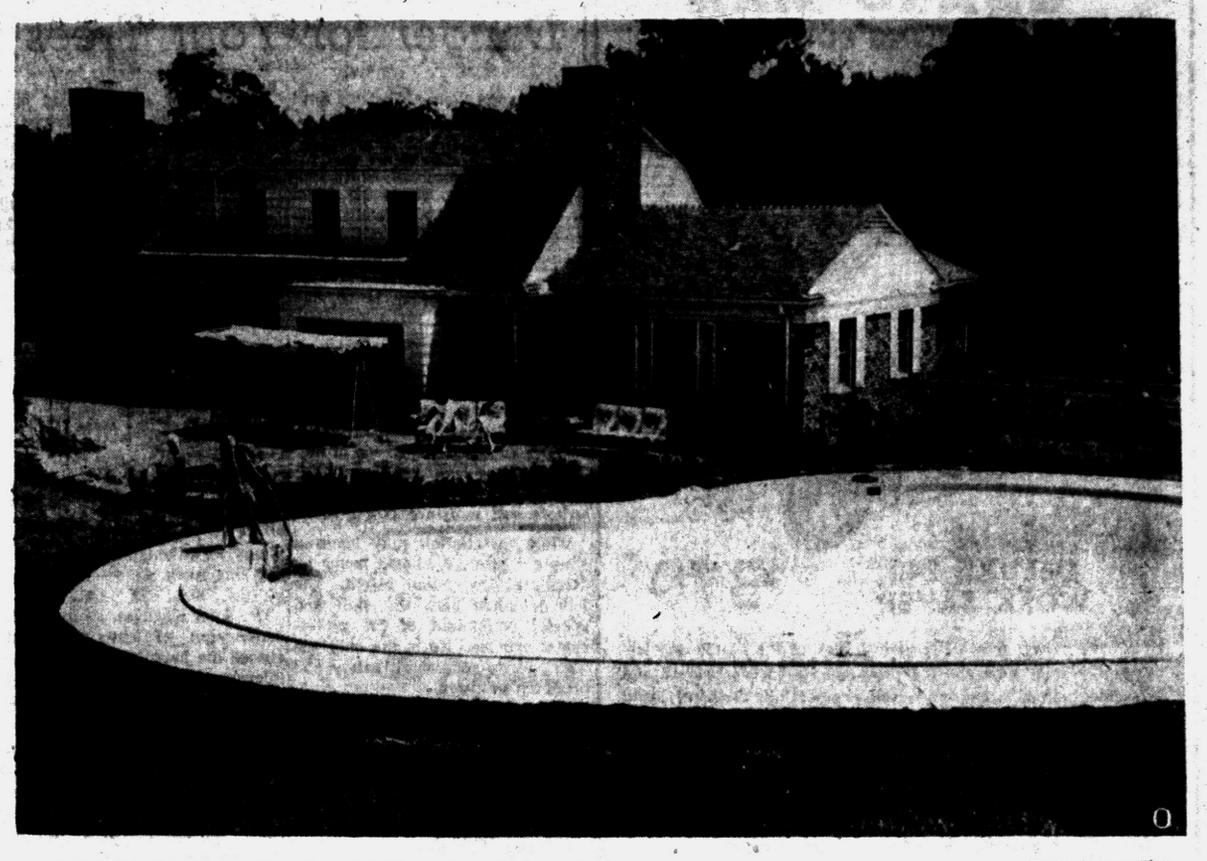

They dug every bit of terra firma out of the huge hole, and now after four months — with each being 10 pounds lighter — a pool company is busy putting wet cement into the steel rods that line the hole.

When the Edward G. Rogers of Novi Township built their pool three years ago, they didn't know about automatic skimmers.

This unit clears all particles from the surface of the pool water, and to "lick this problem" the Rogers have installed a pet turtle named "Herkimer."

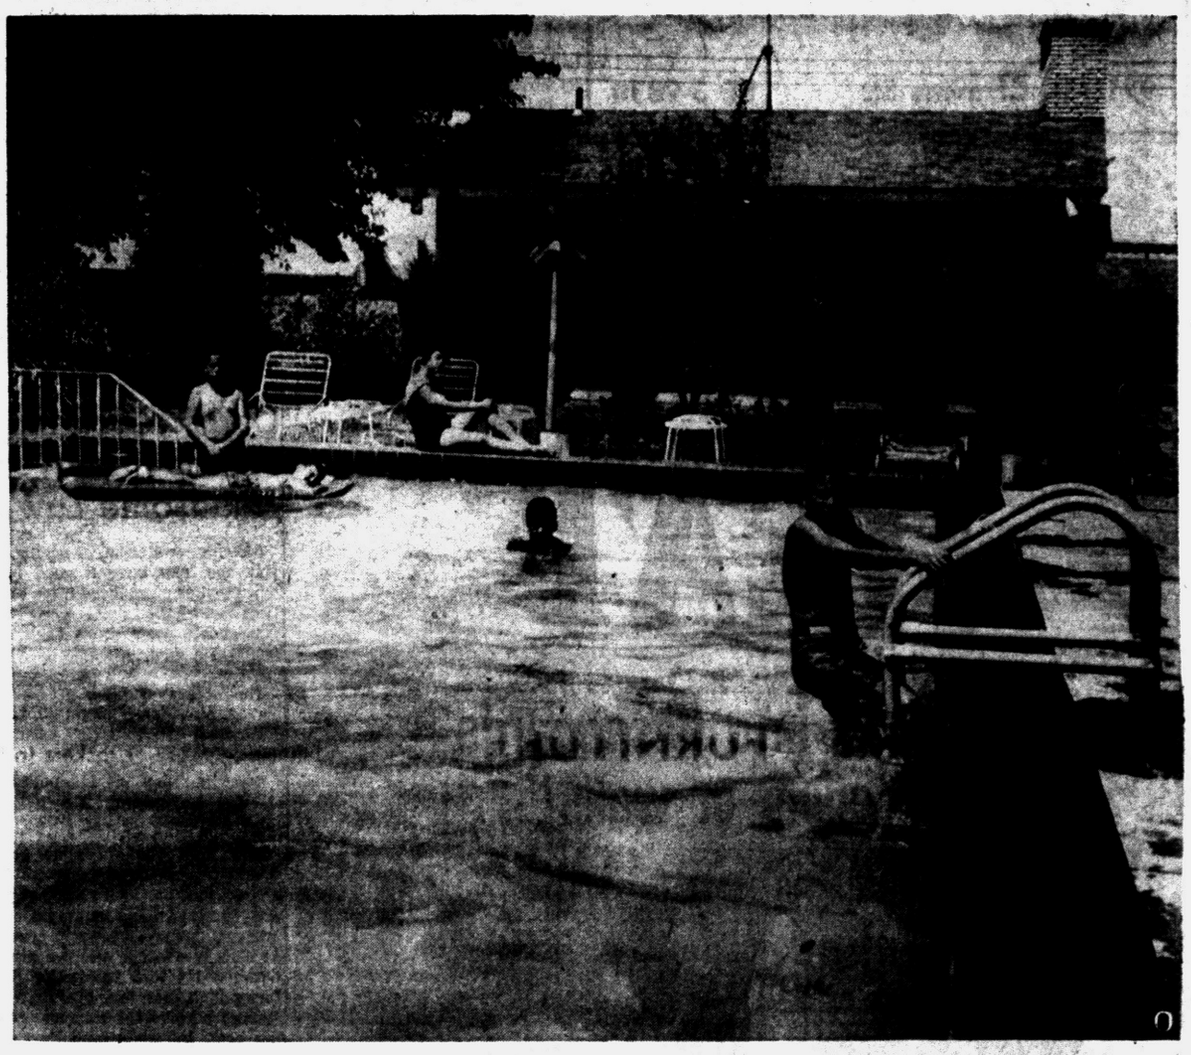

★ ★ ★

The little turtle deftly swims about clearing the top of the water as neat as any machine-made skimmer, and when the children come to play in the pool, Herkimer dives to the bottom of the pool to keep out of their way until the water is again quiet so he can perform a professional skimming job.

FOR BEAUTY AND FUN — One of Oakland County's largest privately owned swimming pools is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Martin at 1520 Lone Pine Rd., Bloomfield Hills. This 30 by 50 foot pool boasts two big underwater lights and a ladder at each end.

NEIGHBORHOOD FUN SPOT — Because neighborhood children are willing to obey "pool-rools" set down by the Julius Greens of Independence Township, the big heated pool is children's recreation center from May until September.

POOL, PATIO AND PLAYHOUSE — These are the facilities that help the Thomas King children live like kings. Their backyard pool at 503 Shirley St., Birmingham, is the heart of their family fun.

PLACE TO LEARN SKIN DIVING — According to skin diving instructor Richard Beckman, a clear swimming pool is the ideal place to begin training. Here, Donald Lawrence gets a few last minute instructions before diving to the bottom of the Gilbert Wolf pool in Milford.

Sentence Woman for Child Desertion

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Mrs. Carol M. Hayes, 34, was sentenced in circuit court yesterday to serve 2½ to 4 years in the Detroit House of Correction for abandoning her four young daughters for 18 days at their home near Chelsea. She was convicted by a jury.

Judge James R. Breakey Jr. said that in his 14 years on the bench he had not seen a more serious exhibition on the part of a parent of a lack of sympathy and love. He said Mrs. Hayes expressed love but did not demonstrate it.

★ ★ ★

The children are being cared for in a foster home. Mrs. Hayes' former husband, Patrick J. Hayes, of Detroit, has petitioned Wayne Circuit Court for their custody.

Settle Jurisdictional Dispute of Unions

NEW YORK (AP)—Settlement of a jurisdictional dispute between two unions over crewmen of Great Lakes ore ships has been announced by an AFL-CIO peacemaker.

The terms were agreed upon by the United Steelworkers of America and the Seafarers International Union.

The pact, announced here yesterday, leaves almost all the unlicensed seamen in the steel union where they were before the dispute broke out this summer.

Diaphragm Most Active

BALTIMORE—In a human body the diaphragm is one of the most active muscles. It completes one-half billion movements within an ordinary lifetime.

Pool Owners Must Enforce Rules Firmly

Without a set of firmly enforced rules, a swimming pool owner leaves himself open to trouble.

The first and most important rule a veteran swimming pool owner adheres to is that a parent (not just any adult) be at the pool with any child under 18 years of age at all times.

Next comes the "no dunking, no pushing, no running, and no horse-play rules." No diving off the board until the head of a previous diver is showing is another. An individual should always ask permission to swim then step into the foot bath before entering a pool.

Most pool owners have special hours scheduled from 2 to 4 p.m. daily and no swimming at all in the evenings, Saturdays or Sudays unless invited by the hosts. This important rule insures the family's privacy.

Although most people prohibit any eating or drinking around the pool area, they usually provide small containers for scraps of paper, or other debris.

At the beginning, which is the hardest time of all, constant supervision and even temporary loss of friendships may result.

However, after rules have been established, every member in the family should see that they are enforced—with absolutely no exceptions.

The result will be a summer full of good clean fun.

That's what the experienced pool owners say.

Runs Drive-In Service on Motor-Powered Raft

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A nautical "drive-in" service for boaters, fishermen and swimmers is now in service on Lake Mendota.

From his enclosed, outboard motor powered raft, Robert Eckles sells hamburgers, hot dogs, coffee and soft drinks. Rails are located on both sides of the craft so boats can pull up for service.

Few Ordinances Exist

Pool Craze Has Problems

With the swing to privately owned swimming pools becoming more popular, township officials in Oakland County are facing many new problems.

★ ★ ★

According to a spot survey made by The Pontiac Press, only two townships in the immediate Pontiac area have adopted ordinances controlling the construction, safety and the owner's investment. They are Bloomfield and Farmington.

Recent state legislation passed in Lansing has general overall specifications providing a certain amount of safety for the owner and those using a pool. However, local townships are rapidly realizing the necessity for more adequate restrictions.

The new state law requires that an individual's property be fenced in when a pool has been installed. The administrative code also requires that plans for all public and semi-public swimming pools must be approved by the State Health Department prior to construction.

Bloomfield Township issued 35 pool building permits since April 1, and 140 since the adoption of its pool ordinance in 1957. Several cities and towns have their own individual ordinances, such as Birmingham. Since that city's law went into effect in 1956, it has issued 26 pool permits.

★ ★ ★

In Pontiac, Building Inspector Carl Alt said there was only one swimming pool in the city that he knows of. There is no special city ordinance governing a pool, and no permits are issued. "Our swimming pools are Sylvan Lake, the Dodge parks and other recreation areas," he said. He added that the city would abide with the state law if pools became popular in the city.

★ ★ ★

Local townships in the immediate Pontiac area now in the process of adopting new swimming pool ordinance include White Lake, Milford, Springfield, Independence, Avon, Pontiac, Commerce and Oakland.

Because of the lack of ordinances governing swimming pool construction, there is no way of determining just how many pools now exist in the county.

However, the Michigan Department of Health reports that construction of new commercial pools was up 65 per cent in the first half of this year, over some period of 1958.

★ ★ ★

There were 38 this year, compared to 23 the first half of 1958.

Commercial pool builders are required to acquire their permits direct from the state health department.

Lightning Poses Great Danger for Your Trees

It may me "one strike and out" when lightning strikes your favorite arboreal pet!

Tree experts point out that lightning may move at the speed of 20,000 miles per second, sometimes creating a bolt a foot in diameter. When this strikes something usually gives — and the victim all too often is a fine specimen tree.

Thanks to modern science lightning hazards can now be safeguarded against almost to the vanishing point. Protection is had by installing one or more copper cables from the top of the tallest trees to ground rods embedded in the soil to a depth where soil moisture is constant.

While installation may seem a simple matter, it should never be attempted by home talent. The job demands both the skill and special equipment of the professional arborist. He is the only one who can do such work safely and properly in trees.

And while he is at it he examines your trees for structural weaknesses and cables and bolts limbs that need attention against the dangers of summer storms.

HITS THE TALLEST

Because lightning usually hits the tallest object on the highest ground, the tallest and finest trees are usually selected for rodding. Each tree so protected automatically establishes a zone of protection for smaller trees nearby.

In ancient times, many people believed that certain trees, such as birch and holly, were immune to lightning while others, such as the oak, "drew" the fatal bolts.

Fact is, of course, that lightning represents the discharge between accumulated negative electrical charges at one point and accumulated positive charges at another point. When these build up sufficiently lightning jumps between them — and all to frequently valuable trees left unprotected then become victims of the storm.

Nursery Seminar Held in E. Lansing

Nurserymen and landscapers from the Pontiac area studied the effect of nematodes on woody plants at Michigan State University this week.

★ ★ ★

Dr. John Knierim, of the M.S.U. department of entomology, discussed the harmful effects of these microscopic plant parasites at the 13th annual Nursery and Landscape Management Conference.

About 150 were at Kellogg Center to hear M.S.U. authorities and others talk on personnel relations, European landscapes and new M.S.U. research developments.

Special-interest groups considered mutual problems relating to landscaping, growing and nursery operation, Christmas tree marketing and garden center operation.

A highlight was a report on foreign developments in the nursery and landscape business by Dr. Donald Watson, of the M.S.U. department of horticulture, based on his recent around-the-world tour.

GARDEN STORES

A post-conference visit, Aug. 5-7, took participants to some of the outstanding garden stores and nurseries in Lake County, Ohio.

The Michigan Association of Nurserymen, and the M.S.U. College of Agriculture, department of horticulture, joined to sponsor this continuing education event.

Correct Mowing Means Improved, Handsome Lawn

Mowing, watering, weeding — you, too, can have a good lawn when you conduct these three practices with the same care that you choose your grass seed and plant food.

★ ★ ★

The ability of lawn grasses to persist in a dense turf ultimately depends on good mowing management.

And the two most important factors in mowing are height and frequency of cut.

How high you cut your grass should depend on the growth habit of the particular grass you are growing. For example, not under 2 inches for such grasses as chewings fescue and rye grass; between 1½ to 2 inches for Kentucky bluegrass and creeping red fescue; not over ¾ inch for creeping bent, Bermuda, and Zoysia.

★ ★ ★

How frequently you cut your grass should depend on amount of growth. But at no time should mowing remove more than one-third of the total leaf surface.

NOT A SUBSTITUTE

Watering is important for growth, but not a substitute for fertilizer and good soil treatment, he emphasizes. When supplementing rainfall, apply enough water to moisten soil at least 5 to 6 inches deep.

Grasses that can best tolerate drought, are Bermuda, Zoysia, buffalo, grama, and the fescues. Grasses that need moisture most are creeping bent, roughstalk bluegrass, carpet grass, and St. Augustine. Kentucky bluegrass is intermediate.

★ ★ ★

The best way to fight weeds and diseases is with a well-managed turf (of best grasses, fertilization, mowing, watering) and then chemicals, if needed. Chemicals are not a cure-all, he warns, and should be used along with good management practices.

Use Strawberry Patch Next Year

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
County Horticultural Agent

How about your old strawberry patch? Has it been the pride of your garden? If this old patch is surprisingly weed free, with very little disease, why not carry it over for another year?

Even though these old plants never bear as well as a new planting, they aren't nearly as much work either.

As soon as you have harvested the last berry, mow it with a scythe, or hay cutter to remove all of the old foliage. Be sure to rake off all the hay and dispose of it by burning or composting.

If the rows are wide and very thick, some sort of "thinning out" is important. Some roto-till out the center of the row, leaving only the young plants along the edge, while others trim back the edges, so only the center remains.

THIN OUT

In any event, the objective is to thin out the plants so only 3 to 4 per square feet remain. If the survivors are too thick, none will bear fruit.

A little fertilizer at this time will bring on a good fall growth of vines. Use a 12-12-12 or similar type as a top dressing after mowing; 10-20 pounds per 1,000 square feet of patch as a broadcast will develop strong plants for next season.

For a revised bulletin on Strawberry Growing, call or write the Cooperative Extension Office and ask for the bulletin "Hints on Strawberry Growing."

Poison ivy and poison oak are both three leaves. Both are equally poisonous. Both grow in woods and brushy areas. Some naturalists are convinced they really are slightly different. Poison ivy usually grows as a vine on trees, boulders, walls, and along the ground. Poison oak usually occurs as a low growing shrub. The branches usually are rather fuzzy.

The leaves are lobed, much like some kinds of oaks. Ocassionally when poison oak grows in wooded areas, it develops as a vine, just as poison ivy will occasionally grow as a low shrub when in full sunlight.

The poison of poison ivy, poison oak and poison sumac, is the same. This poison is a part of the plant sap. In the spring and early summer, when the plant is in full growth, it is most infectious. Many poisons can be traced to direct contact with the plant. Yet we know serious poisons can develop from contaminated clothing.

Often where a prolonged infection occurs, the sufferer is being re-poisoned from contaminated clothing. Pets may carry the poison on their fur for long periods of time, and be a "Trojan Horse," of your home.

Precautions against poisoning should include a knowledge of your enemy. Where poison is a serious threat, drop a card or call the Cooperative Extension Office for a bulletin showing pictures of the various forms.

EASILY DESTROYED

Can these plants be easily destroyed? Until the past year or so, no easy way was known, except digging, pulling or repeated treatments with chemicals. But a new chemical has been marketed which has answered our prayers. This chemical is Amino Triazole.

It is sold under various trade names, so ask your garden supplier for his product to control this weed. It is a powder mixed with water. One application to the leaves during spring or early summer will completely destroy the vines and branches, and will permanently kill the roots.

This chemical causes the plants to turn white and within a month of spraying, the plants will completely die.

Identify Your Plants

The Lead Pencil Manufacturers Association recommends moisture-resistant pencils for marking stakes to identify plants in gardens.

Growth Favors Summer

WASHINGTON—An average child grows more rapidly in the summer months and most slowly during the winter months, according to medical research.

TALL CORN — Although he hasn't had a chance to taste any yet, Barry Hobson, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford E. Hobson, of 1787 W. Auburn Rd., Rochester, is mighty proud of his dad's sweet corn. An unusual 7½ feet high, the corn is still in a nice dark green tassel. Mrs. Hobson says her husband, who planted rather late in the spring, disappears when he weeds the tall corn. She says that they have planted about 10 rows for the last 13 years "but it has never grown like this."

Lie Test Clears Doctor's Wife

Mrs. Warrick Knows Nothing of Husband's Death, Police Say

The wife of a murdered Pontiac doctor was cleared of any connection with the slaying of her husband after she voluntarily took a lie detector test yesterday afternoon at the Redford State Police Post.

Lt. William Nesbitt, commander of the Pontiac Police detective bureau, said the attractive 44-year-old blonde wife of Dr. Carleton Warrick, Joan, was "cleared 100 per cent."

★ ★ ★

Nexbitt said that Mrs. Warrick knew "nothing about nothing" of the murder.

Dr. Warrick, 71, was shot by a gunman July 24 in his office at 24½ E. Huron St. He died the following night at Pontiac General Hospital.

Mrs. Warrick told police she was unaware of the physician's financial transactions. Internal Revenue agents reportedly found an estimated three-quarters of a million dollars in stocks and bonds in the Huron street office.

Mrs. Warrick said her husband gave her $55 monthly for household expenses.

Police were still without a motive or suspect in the two-week old case. The man who found the wounded doctor in his office shortly after he was shot, Lloyd J. Tunnell, 53, of Waterford Township, was cleared after taking a truth serum test Sunday.

Police said that hundreds of leads are being checked out in an effort to solve the baffling case.

"Right now we're not far from where we started," Nesbitt said.

★ ★ ★

Two State Police officers, Sgt. Lynford Smith of the East Lansing Post and Det. John Olepa of the Redford Post, joined in the search for the killer of Dr. Warrick.

Six detectives in the Pontiac Police Dept. are working full-time as the search for the killer continues.

Youth Mob Invades City for Revenge

HUDSON, Wis. (AP) — What Sherriff Norman Anderson described as "a task force" of St. Paul youths stormed into this western Wisconsin community Thursday night to avenge an alleged attack on a Minnesoa youth earlier in the week. At the end of the ensuing fracas, 63 had been taken into custody.

★ ★ ★

Anderson said sheriff's officers and city police, who surrounded the throng at a parking lot, took knives, firearms, wrenches, belts, and makeshift weapons from members of the gang. No one was injured.

The Minnesota youths told officers that a 17-year-old St. Paul youth had been in this little community of about 3,500 population — 17 miles from St. Paul — Tuesday night and had been "beaten up." Formation of the "task force" was begun when he returned home.

Typhoon Moves Toward Japan; Officials Worried

TOYKO (UPI) — High winds and heavy waves battered Japan's Pacific coast today as a typhoon with 108 m.p.h. winds reported at its center moved slowly toward the nation.

An alert was ordered on Japan's southernmost island of Kyushu, already saturated by last month's floods. Authorities feared that additional rain might cause "vast damage."

Firemen were called out to repair levees at Isahaya and Nagata, in the area where floods killed 500 persons in 1957.

Heavy rains already had dumped 5 to 23 inches of water on various points in Kyushu. The heaviest rainfall was reported on Mt. Yanagi in Eastern Kyushu.

U.S. Bills Gov. Long for Use of Guard Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today billed Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana for $4,251 for unauthorized use of National Guard planes.

A Pentagon statement did not specify the trips involved, but presumably one of them was the flight on which Mrs. Long and others took the governor to a Texas mental clinic.

Meet in Exhibition at Boulder Saturday

Lions-Rams Start With Clean Slate

The Detroit Lions and Los Angeles Rams, two of the big 1958 National Football League disappointments, begin their "wipe the slate clean" campaign tomorrow in the first all-NFL exhibition game of the 1959 season.

The Chicago Cards had the first taste of battle on Wednesday when they lambasted Toronto of the Canadian Big Four Football Union, 55-26. Tomorrow's Rams-Lions game at Boulder, Colo., is the first of 39 exhibition games before the season gets underway, Saturday, Sept. 26.

The Rams carried on one of the most extensive house-cleaning campaigns in pro football history. In one sweep last January, they traded their second, third and fourth draft choices, and four varsity performers for halfback Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cards.

General Manager Pete Rozelle figured that Matson was the running power the Rams could have used to beat out Baltimore for the 1958 Western Conference crown. The Rams finished third.

★ ★ ★

"We could use him as a flank end or a defensive back," Rozelle said. Matson is definitely slated to handle the punt and kickoff returns in addition to his ball carrying that netted 505 yards in 129 carries for Chicago last year.

Detroit, with top draft choice Nick Pietrosante at the College All Stars camp, must go with the brittle John Henry Johnson at fullback. Lions coach George Wilson, whose team finished with a 4-7-1 record in 1958 after being world champions the previous year, still feels he has the nucleus of a title contender.

The Rams worked out at Boulder yesterday with Coach Sid Gillman sticking with his decision to use ex-Rice star Frank Ryan at quarterback for the first quarter and have regular signal caller Bill Wade take over the second quarter and finish the game.

★ ★ ★

The Rams will also be without the services of halfback Jon Arnett and Tom Wilson, and end Leon Clarke while end Jim Doran and tackle John Gordy are doubtful Lion participants.

Ralph Guglielmi and Eddie Lebaron hit end Bill Anderson with two touchdown passes last night as the West edged the East in a Washington Redskins intra-squad scrimmage, 30-13

An operation on the knee of Baltimore Colts' linebacker Leo Sanford was termed "satisfactory," but there was no indication at this time if it would cure the chronic ailment.

Hot Putters Share Cleveland Open Lead

Ferrier, Cooper Fire 67s

CLEVELAND (AP) — Long absent and colorful Jim Ferrier was back in the golfing wars today, his potent putter as hot as ever.

★ ★ ★

The Australian-born 1947 PGA champion gave up the tour some five years ago in favor of teaching. He settled in California, made infrequent appearances in the near-Hollywood events and hasn't won a tournament since 1952.

★ ★ ★

But the 44-year-old pitch-and-putt master from Down Under was tied for the top today as the $25,000 Cleveland Open wheeled into the second of four 18 - hole rounds.

Deadlocked with him was 44-year-old Pete Cooper of Lakeland, Fla. Each fired a 67, four under par at Seneca Golf Club's 6,966-yard layout.

The two veteran campaigners—each a pro for more than 20 years—used their putting skill to stave off par and younger opponents. Ferrier had 10 one-putt greens, five birdies and one bogie. Cooper had nine one-putters, six birdies and a double bogie.

Cooper has won nearly $20,000 this year, and Ferrier only $200, as they lead the way toward the $3,500 first prize.

Yost Also Hits Seats in Series Clincher; at Boston Tonight

BOSTON (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, fresh from their latest conquest of the New York Yankees, moved into Boston today for a weekend series against the new-look Boston Red Sox.

Paul Foytack gave the Tigers the edge in the three-game Yankee series yesterday when he pitched a masterful three-hitter and beat the slumbering world champions, 4-0.

It was the strong-throwing righthander's best effort of the campaign and it assured the Tigers of an edge in the season series against the New Yorkers.

Detroit has taken 12 of 17 decisions. Don Mossi and Frank Lary have five victories apiece over the Yanks and this was Foytack's second triumph. He has split even in 20 decisions on the season.

★ ★ ★

All the hits off Foytack were singles and none was the type of base hit that gave the Yankee team a reputation for power. Gil McDougald looped a single to center leading off the third, Bobby Richardson beat out a slow bounder to short in the fourth and losing pitcher Art Ditmar beat out a hit to second base in the sixth.

Home runs by Red Wilson and Eddie Yost eased Foytack's task, although the Tigers did not score until the fifth inning and had Foytack toiling on a one-run margin for seven innings.

Wilson hit a solo home run in the fifth and Yost cracked his in the eighth. The Tigers added two more runs off ex-teammate Duke Maas in the ninth without getting a ball out of the infield.

★ ★ ★

Wilson started it with his third hit, a bunt along the third base line. Wilson stole second on a strikeout and Frank Bolling received an intentional walk. Hector Lopez, who helped the Tigers considerably last trip to Detroit with his fielding, bobbled Coot Veal's slow grounder and the bases were loaded.

Foytack was credited with a hit when his bouncer went so high in the air that Maas could not make a play once he retrieved the ball. That scored one run. Another came home on a force play.

★ ★ ★

This was the 11th time the Yanks have been shut out this year. They had only 10 whitewashings all of 1958. The defeat dropped them back into sixth place, the Tigers taking over fifth by winning two out of three in the series.

White Sox and Orioles Tie 1-1 in 18 Innings

By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox and Baltimore Orioles can put in for overtime pay after struggling through 18 innings — the longest game of the season—with nothing to show for their work except a 1-1 tie, stopped by the curfew law.

Baltimore has a special curfew that permits no inning to start after 11:59, Baltimore time. They just were nicely getting into No. 18 at that time.

★ ★ ★

Hoyt Wilhelm, relieving Billy O'Dell in the ninth, pitched 8 2-3 hitless innings and wound up by allowing only two singles in a 10-inning workout.

Billy Pierce, Chicago's stylish left-hander, had the longest tour of duty of any major league pitcher this season when he worked the first 16 innings. Turk Lown came on to finish.

Wilhelm was thrown out at the plate in the 15th, when the Orioles had three hits. The pitcher was trying to score from second on Billy Klaus' single to left.

★ ★ ★

Wilhelm's knuckleball got Baltimore in a jam in the 18th. A combination of a single by Sam Esposito, a passed ball, an intentional walk and another passed ball by catcher Joe Ginsberg on Wilhelm's knuckler put men on second and third with two out. He worked his way out when Billy Gardner raced back from second base to take Al Smith's blooper in short right.

In the last of the 18th, Willie Tasby singled with one out. He moved to second on an infield out but Walt Dropo bounced out to the pitcher, ending the game.

★ ★ ★

The first hit off Wilhelm was a single by Billy Goodman with two out in the 17th.

The same two clubs had played two 17-inning games earlier in the season. Chicago won both of them, 6-5 on June 4 and 4-3 on July 25. They also played a pair of 10-inning games.

The tie game cut Chicago's American League lead to 1½ games because Cleveland beat Washington 5-2 on Rocky Colavito's two-run homer, in the seventh. It was No. 32 for the Rock, breaking a 2-2 tie and assuring Gary Bell of his 12th victory. Bell's double had given the Indians their first two runs off loser Russ Kemmerer.

Boston had only four hits off Kansas City pitching but made them count for a 4-3 victory. Loe Kiely pitched his way out of a bases loaded jam in the ninth to save Jerry Casale's eighth triumph. Dick Williams and Bill Tuttle of the A's hit home runs.

Tonight's Fight Even

NEW YORK (UPI) — Welterweight contender Gaspar Ortega meets a lusty substitute for a substitute tonight in a TV 10-rounder with Cuban Benny (Kid) Paret at Madison Square Garden.

Although Paret is unranked, his speed and skill are so highly regarded that wagering on the bout is at "even money."

From The PRESS BOX

Al Drake, Red Wilson and Joe Leslie were in the foursome which witnessed John Benser's ace on the 8th hole at Pontiac Country Club. Benser, a state police officer, used his 8-iron on the 135-yard hole and finished with an 87 for the round.

Trims Braves 7-1, Pirates 18-2 Victors

San Francisco Boosts Lead

By The Associated Press

Soon they'll be calling Billy Rigney a push button manager. The fellow who pushed the recall button that brought Willie McCovey back from Phoenix may have won the pennant for the San Francisco Giants.

The Willie firm—McCovey and Mays—did it again Thursday. As a result the Giants are riding high with a full game lead on idle Los Angeles and a two-game edge on Milwaukee after taking two out of three from the Braves.

★ ★ ★

Just to prove the Giants do have somebody else except McCovey and Mays in the lineup, Sad Sam Jones went all the way with an eight-hitter for his 15th victory and shortstop Eddie Bressoud weighed in with a three-run homer in a 7-1 romp over the Braves.

But it was McCovey, the long legged rookie, who got the Giants off winging by driving in the first run. McCovey wound up with two of the Giants' 10 hits. After his first eight days in the majors he is hitting .467 wih 14 hits in 30 at bats. He has hit safely in all seventh straight games since he came up.

★ ★ ★

Mays smashed his 18th homer in the seventh and also chipped in with two singles and scored twice. Jim Davenport and Mays started it off with singles in the first. McCovey's bloop single drove in Davenport and Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly scored Mays.

Pittsburgh went on the biggest hit binge of the major league season, collecting 23 off St. Louis pitching in an 18-2 romp. The Pirates scored 10 in the ninth inning, the most by any National League club this year.

Harvey Haddix breezed along to his eighth victory while Smoky Burgess drove in six runs with five hits including a three-run homer and two doubles. Bill Virdon knocked in five with a three-run homer and a single and Bob Skinner had four singles.

★ ★ ★

Chicago finally snapped its seven-game losing streak with a two-run rally in the eighth that beat the Phillies 4-2. Ernie Banks' double started the spurt. An error by Humberto Robinson, who was the loser on relief, a walk and Bobby Thomson's run-scoring single added up to two big runs. Don Elston, called in when Art Ceccarelli was chased in the eighth, won his sixth on relief.

Five Clinch Berths

Baseball Finalists Settled

Five city baseball teams won their way in division finals with important victories Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Talbott Lumber headed the pack by blanking Pontiac Business Institute 6-0 to clinch the preliminary Class B series. Talbott and Griff's Grill start a best two-of-three set Monday to determine the local entry in state competition at Detroit over Labor Day.

Jim Lowry fired a four-hitter coasting along with an early lead. Frank Johnson, Dick Officer and Ken Senter each had two singles.

Don Nicholie eliminated Lake Orion in Class D in convincing fashion with a 12-0 score. An infield single spoiled a no-hitter for Rich Lamphere.

★ ★ ★

Eleven runs in the last two innings enabled Auburn Heights Boys Club to outlast Independence Township 17-12 in "F". The losers had leads of 7-1 and 9-3 in the game featured by 26 hits and 12 errors. Two of the hits were doubles by Dale Yarger of Auburn.

Roger Hayward and Ron Lewis combined to four-hit the Auburn Boys Club Class F team in a 7-0 B & B Sewer Cleaner triumph. Walt Moore singled three times for two rbis.

In Widget action, Ultra-Stone breezed by the East Side Rockets 28-1 blasting 13 hits while Don Fife was allowing none. Ted Motsinger homered.

★ ★ ★

Finals in the junior classes are set for Sunday afternoon.

Harrison's Wins Class C Honors

A determined Harrison's Grill nine tripped Arro Realty for the 2nd straight night by one run Thursday to win the Class C city playoff championship and a berth in district play.

Relief pitcher Roger Voorhies won his own game in the seventh when he doubled home Ray Newton to end the battle. Newton had singled after one out and advanced to second on a wild pitch by loser Dexter Jarret.

★ ★ ★

Arro led early just as it had Wednesday on a run-scoring single by Dayton Patterson in the 1st. Ron Geiger batted in the equalizer in the 5th.

Buttercup Drive-In stayed unbeaten in "D" by nipping Autos of Europe, 9-8. The losers, who had 12 hits to four for Buttercup, had a 7-run 6th but left the tying and winning runs on in the 7th. Two Auto hurlers gave up 12 walks.

Eagles Hand Second Loss to Pharmacists

Waterford Recreation softball circuit's National league wound up regular season activities last night with one upset. Champion Lakeland Pharmacy was dumped by Eagles 3-1, for only the 2nd loss of the season, in 18 games.

★ ★ ★

Arrows outscored Waterford rally that changed a 7-4 deficit into a victory. Merchants had scored five in the 5th, four on Mike McCullough's grand slam. Norm Tick was the winner on 7 hits, George Bowers the loser, giving up only four.

★ ★ ★

Eagles broke a 1-1 knot in the 5th on a weird play, to score two runs, sufficient to win. With one down and Dick Hobson on 1st, Phil Woods whiffed on a bad 3rd strike. When the Pharmacy catcher recovered the errant ball he promptly threw into far right field. Both runners scored. Jerry Redman was winner, with six strikeouts. Loser Bill Pittman saw his win string snapped at five. Hobson, and Jack Pote (losers) led the batters, with two each.

★ ★ ★

Lakeland Optimists defeated Don's Pure Oil 3-1 in the Little League, Chuck Watson firing a one-hitter.

PUT-IN-BAY, Ohio The Pontiac Yacht Club crew skippered by Don Van Doren won the Interlake Assn. junior sailing championship yesterday.

The victory gives Pontiac the right to represent Interlake and Detroit River Yachting Associations in the Sears Cup series for the North American junior sailing crown Aug. 31 at Noroton, Conn., Yacht Club.

Van Doren's crew, which included also Joan Grey, Dan Rodgers and Tom Van Doren, sailed the last two races cautiously, staying away from competitors and finishing fourth and fifth.

By taking a first and two seconds earlier, Pontiac went into the day's competition with a comfortable lead.

Pan-Am Swim Trials Start

300 Swimmers Vie for Spots on U.S. Squad

Tryouts in MSU Pool to Continue Through Next Tuesday

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The toughest job facing U.S. swimmers and divers in Pan-American tryouts today may be living up to their reputations.

More than 300 athletes will try for a team that will face 21 other nations at Chicago Aug. 27-Sept. 7.

Included in the contenders are men and women who broke six world and 18 U.S. records at the National AAU outdoor meet last month in California.

Finals in three events — men's and women's 110-yard freestyle races and women's springboard diving — were set for today.

Tryouts for the "American Olympics" will run through Tuesday with no contests scheduled for Sunday.

Here are some AAU record-setters who are on hand for the Pan-Am tryouts.

Frank McKinney, Indiana, set a new world and U.S. mark of 1:06.3 in the 110-yard backstroke.

Mike Troy, also of Indiana, world and U.S. record of 2:16.4 in the 220-yard butterfly.

Sylvia Ruuska, 17, Berkeley, Calif., swam a world and American record 5:40.2 in the 440-yard individual medley — and she swims almost any other race too.

Carin Cone, of the University of Houston, bettered the old world and American records by about a full second in splashing the 220-yard backstroke in 2:37.9.

Becky Collins, Indianapolis, world and U.S. mark of 1:11.2 in the 110-yard butterfly.

The men's American record contingent from the AAU: Lance Larson, Los Angeles Athletic Club freestyler; Alan Somers, Indiana distance star; Bill Barton, Indiana medley swimmer, and Ron Clark, Michigan breaststroker.

Diving also will have toop flight contenders and close contention.

Area Angler Lands Nice String of Pike

Fishing every day is easy for William Pettibone, 4090 Mill Lake Rd., Lake Orion.

Pettibone lives just across the road from a very good body of fishing water — Lost Lake — a tributary of Mill Lake. So he fishes every chance he gets, as angling is his favorite sport.

First of the week he landed four nice northerns, running from 22 to 30 inches in length and up to seven pounds in weight. A chub minnow on a spin rig was his equipment. and it was given a real test when he hooked the biggest fish, his tops for the season. "They were hitting hard in about 10 feet of water," Pettibone reported.

Pender to Seek Robinson's Title Next December

The scheduled 15-rounder, announced last night by promoter Sam Silverman, has been set for the first week in December but apparently the exact night has not been determined.

Robinson, whose middleweight crown no longer is recognize by the National Boxing Assn., will be defending his title as far as the Massachusetts commission is concerned, according to Silverman.

Pender, the Brookline fireman, has won eight straight bouts in a comeback string.

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Emma C. Grove, mother of one-time major league pitching star Robert (Lefty) Grove, died Thursday at the age of 87.

Replacement for Martin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cleveland Indians Thursday recalled Billy Moran from San Diego to replace Billy Martin, whose jaw was broken by a pitched ball in the second game of Wednesday night's twi-nighter.

Bennie Sorensen rode the winners of Pimlico's largest daily double on Dec. 1, 1955, when Joymaker and Advice triumphed. The payoff was $5,932.20 for $2.

The first boxing team at Michigan State was formed in 1886.

Hollywood Headlines:

Sen. Javitz' Wife Trying Acting to Ease Loneliness

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Why does a senator's wife leave a busy life to do a walk-on in a movie?

★ ★ ★

THOMAS

The whole thing started, said the pretty brunette, when she had lunch one day in Lindy's in New York City. Her lunch mate was a friend of George Sidney, who was eating there, too. Mrs. Javits told the director she had always wanted to act.

★ ★ ★

"You've got a job!" he replied.

But her yen goes deeper than just the desire to act. It has to do with the life of a senator's wife.

"It can be a lonely life," she remarked. "The campaigning is exciting and fun, but there is little that a wife can share with him.

"Some women can live with loneliness. I think it's easier for the older wives to adjust to it. But for the younger ones — and there are only about a dozen of us—it can be very difficult.

★ ★ ★

"I remember attending a luncheon which Mamie (Eisenhower) gave for the Senate wives and talking to one of the young wives. She was pregnant, and she was miserable about her existence. 'It's too lonely,' she said."

Mrs. Javits has chosen to keep her home in New York City. She goes to Washington for social occasions, and her husband flies home three and four times a week —"congressmen in the east are expected to be at home as much as they are in Washington."

★ ★ ★

She does no entertaining in Washington, but the Javitses maintain a strenuous social schedule at home from September to January, or during the congressional recess. Besides her duties as a senator's wife, she has three young children to look after and campaigns for mental health and the National Arts Fund her husband is sponsoring.

★ ★ ★

Then why does she need to act?

"Because I always wanted to," she explained. "I studied dramatics at the New School of Social Research in New York and with Gertrude Lawrence at Columbia. I even made the rounds of the producers in my early days; I never got one job. But I did work as a production assistant."

She hopes to do radio and TV, but as herself, not in acting roles. "I would have to study again before I would do any more acting," she said.

Grown-Up Margaret Will Wed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Remember that little girl with the freckled face and the braids? Well, she's grown up and getting married Saturday.

Not the little girl who lived next door. But Margaret O'Brien, the child screen star whose wistful charm won millions of fans.

Margaret, now a serene 21-year-old brunette beauty and again a busy actress after an awkward-years absence, weds Harold Robert Allen Jr., 24, a commercial art student.

★ ★ ★

The ceremony will be conducted in St. Martin of Tours Roman Catholic Church. The couple will honeymoon in Hawaii. Upon their return, Margaret plans to continue her career, Harold his studies.

Nixon Fails to Learn of 11 Airmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's talks with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and other Russian leaders failed to solve the mystery of the 11 missing American fliers.

Nixon presumably sought further information about the missing airmen, but his talks shed no new light on the mystery.

There were 17 Americans aboard a C130 which was shot down in Soviet Armenia on Sept. 2, 1958.

The Soviet Union returned the remains of six of the fliers—four identified and two unidentified—but the other 11 are still missing with no word about their fate.

Nonstate Students Spend $45 Million

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Colleges represent a big expense to the state, but they also bring considerable wealth into the state.

★ ★ ★

The current issue of Michigan Alumnus quarterly review estimates that out-of-state students spend $45 million annually in Michigan.

The article, by William F. Dawson, places out-of-state enrollment at 22,000 or 14.9 per cent of the total college enrollment in Michigan.

Camp at Interlochen to Get FM Station

INTERLOCHEN (UPI)—The National Music Camp will have an FM radio station within a year, camp President Dr. Joseph M. Maddy said today.

Maddy said the station will operate as a part of the 160-station network of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

★ ★ ★

Maddy said the station will be non-commercial and will operate on a year-round basis when it goes on the air. Eventually, the National Music Camp, which is now open only during the summer months, also will operate throughout the year, he said.

Interlochen programs are now broadcast over four educational radio stations in southern Michigan.

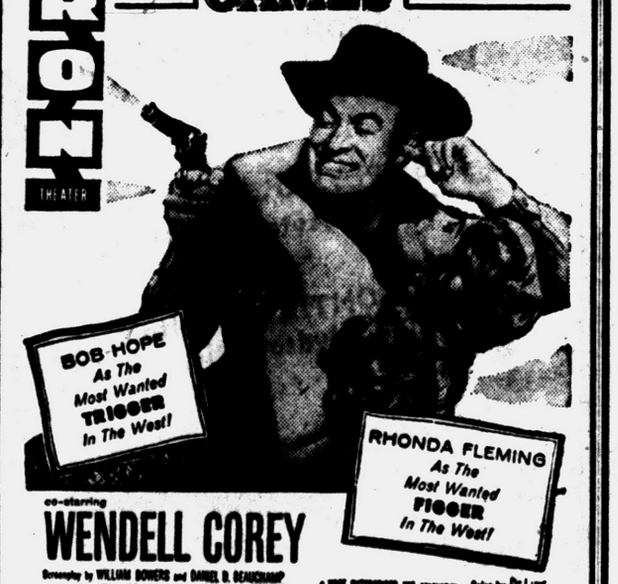

He Switches Chambers

MUSKEGON (AP)— John T. Hay has resigned as secretary-manager of the Greater Muskegon Chamber of Commerce, effective Oct. 15, to become general manager of the St. Paul, Minn., Chamber of Cmmerce.

Steel industries of the United States employ upwards of 660,000 workers.

17 Years Ago It Was Different

Little to Remind Visitor of War at Guadalcanal

(Editor's Note — Seventeen years ago today, U. S. Marines hit the first Pacific beach in the Allied island-hopping offensive against the Japanese in World War II. The place was Guadalcanal and for six months it was Hell on earth. What's it like now?)

HONIARA, Guadalcanal (AP) — Along the main road of this capital of the British Solomon Islands Protectorate, a double row of scarlet poinciana trees gives shade and color to a small-town road full of modern cars, erratic bicycles and dawdling pedestrians.

Modern public buildings, neat houses with gardens of plumeria, brilliant bougainvillaea and annuals make the township gay.

There is little to remind a visitor that on Aug. 7, 1942, U.S. Marines waded ashore on this island to start the long, costly pruning of the Japanese World War II island empire.

Other Pacific campaigns were bloodier. But Guadalcanal was the first. Here the legend of Japanese invincibility was broken. Here occurred some of the Pacific's most terrifying battles in a disease and vermin-filled jungle so thick an enemy could be a yard away — and unseen.

The Marines landed near Tenaru on the northern coast to capture an airfield which the Japanese had nearly completed. They took it with little difficulty, named it Henderson Field, and had it in service within a few days. But the Japanese came back.

★ ★ ★

Bitter fighting followed along the coast from Cape Esperance in the west down toward Aola in the east. Gradually it moved inland with bombing, shellfire, exploding mortars, hand-to-hand combat and the ever-present smell of death.

U.S. transports poured in equipment, more men, machines and supplies. The island was transformed into a tremendous base, which became for a time the nerve center of America's war effort in the South Pacific.

Afterwards the rubbish of war told a silent story all down the coast. Wrecked Japanese transports, Japanese guns, broken Japanese equipment.

The heaps of wartime junk now have been cleared away. An Australian bomb disposal unit has removed most of the unexploded ammunition which littered the foothills on the north coast.

A Qantas civilian transport flies into Henderson Field weekly from Austrailia and New Guinea. Two Australian shipping companies send cargo and passenger vessels to the Solomons about once every six weeks. Some 400 Europeans, 300 Chinese and 1,800 Solomon Islanders make up the cheerful community of Honiara.

Jungle ridges behind the coastal plains have been cleared for housing sites. Behind the houses, traces of old American roads can still be seen winding into the inland hills. But you must go on foot to explore them because the American bridges have broken down — victims of time and the tropics.

Another thing you will not see is the long line of black piers that once jutted out into the sea along the northern coast to receive the supplies for the Guadalcanal base. The sea, the wind, and the teredo worm erased them.

The war is not forgotten. Each year a remembrance day service is held at a cenotaph outside Government House. Flags of all nations who helped win back the Solomons are flown and prayers are said for those who died.

Last year several hundred American tourists came to see the island. Some of them had lost sons here and were afraid that they would see the grim reminder of war. They went away comforted, after seeing the flowers and color of the little town, the beauty of the islands, and the native children who danced and sang for them.

Crop Loss High; City Under Mud

Iowa Area Measures 9 to 11 Inches of Rain Within Six Hours

FORT MADISON, Iowa (AP)—Southern Iowa farmers counted their crop losses in millions of dollars, and the city of Fort Madison struggled to get free of a sea of mud today in the wake of torrential rain and floods.

"We were pretty lucky to get by without any loss of life," said Police Sgt. Virgil Hart, who had been on duty for 36 hours with only a couple hours of sleep.

★ ★ ★

"The water has gone down to the point where people can get back into their homes, but I hate to think of all the mud that must be cleaned up."

★ ★ ★

In six hours Wednesay night this Mississippi River town of 15,000 was drenched with 9.42 inches of rain. Falls up to 11 inches soaked farms and small towns elsewhere in southern Iowa.

Fort Madison was especially hard hit because three creeks running through the city rushed out of their banks, and backed up storm sewers sent water pouring into hundreds of homes.

Among many bridges washed away there were those spanning the creeks here. The northeast part of the city was isolated.

Beer Cache No Longer a Secret

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Someone discovered a cache of beer buried in a dumping ground east of this city Thursday. The word got out. Soon cars lined the road and whole families turned to their joyous tasks with picks and shovels.

Police said a beer distributor reported he had buried the beer because it was unfit for human consumption.

But reports at the scene were that it was buried either because it was flat or because it was 6 per cent beer, which won't be legal in Oklahoma until Sept. 1. Only 3.2 per cent beer is legal now.

A heavy rain belted the area but that only speeded the digging.

No one would say how much beer was buried but it must have tasted pretty good because many were seen drinking it on the spot.

Government May Pay Juror's Laundry Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government probably will pay a Terre Haute, Ind., juror's laundry bill after all.

All O. B. Foster needs, the office of Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind) said, is an order from the judge who presided over a recent gambling trial in Terre Haute.

Foster's wife brought the dirty laundry into the open by complaining to Hartke that her husband had run up a $10 laundry bill in the first 10 days of the trial, and that the government ought to pay it.

Marlon Brando Sr. Trial Set Sept. 17 in Hit-Run

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—Marlon Brando Sr., 64, father of the actor, will be tried Sept. 17 on a charge of misdemeanor hit-and-run driving.

He pleaded innocent Thursday. He was arrested May 3 after a collision with another car.

OK Atomic Energy Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—By voice vote, both the House and Senate passed a bill providing $2,683,029,000 for the Atomic Energy Commission in the present fiscal year. The bill now goes to the President.

Deserter Qualifies for Checks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A man who claims he deserted the U.S. Navy in 1917 bounced into the Social Security office Thursday sporting an ensemble of fancy new duds.

He is 72-year-old Lewis E. Clayburg, who arrived in Oakland, Calif., July 16 and attempted to give himself up as a deserter.

The Navy agreed Clayburg had deserted, but declined to prosecute.

★ ★ ★

It did establish that Clayburg is old enough to qualify for Social Security.

So he got a check Thursday for $1,137 and assurance of $90 monthly.

The story of Clayburg's troubles also got him a $100-a-month job as maintenance man at an apartment house here, so he says he'll just keep the $1,137 in back payments for a rainy day.

Food Poisoning Kills Third Person in Idaho

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Botulism, a rare form of food poisoning, killed another member of a family here Thursday.

Kenneth Nelson, 45, Kansas City, Mo., was the third member of his family to die since they ate from a jar of home-canned beets. His daughter, Wanda, 15, and his stepfather, Aaron Gruwell, 74, die shortly after the family was stricken last week.

★ ★ ★

Nelson's wife, Naomi, 41, remained in critical condition but hospital authorities said they noted some improvement. She was allowed to leave an iron lung Thursday. In its most severe form, botulism paralyzes the breathing muscles.

Two other members of the family, Lavicia Gruwell and Martha Nelson, 4, were reported improving at a hospital here. All were stricken while the Nelsons were visiting at the Gruwell farm. Mrs. Gruwell is Nelson's mother.

Texas Solons Come to Blows Over Khrushchev

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A resolution asking the Texas House of Representatives to declare Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev unwelcome in Texas touched off a brief fist fight between two representatives Thursday.

Veteran Rep. Jerry Sadler popped youthful Rep. Louis Dugas with a roundhouse right after the resolution was voted down. Less than 15 members of the 150-member House voted for it.

★ ★ ★

Sadler, who spoke against the resolution, walked to Dugas' desk and hit him after Dugas remarked, "It looks like Khrushchev has won again, and Sadler, his sidekick."

★ ★ ★

Other House members and employes restrained the two men from striking more blows. They shook hands later.

Chicago Schools to Get Fire Hazard Face Lift

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Board of Education plans to spend more than eight million dollars during 1960 to remove fire hazards in 126 public schools.

The fireproofing program stemmed from the disastrous fire last Dec. 1 in Our Lady of the Angels Catholic School in which 91 pupils and three nuns perished.

Borgnine Denies Aug. 15 Wedding

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Ernest Borgnine says Katy Jurado's announcement in Mexico City that they will be married Aug. 15 is erroneous.

"I am well aware, as is Miss Jurado, that my divorce under no circumstances could become final until Aug. 29," said Borgnine.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Borgnine's petition to have set aside the divorce she obtained from the actor last Aug. 29, comes up for hearing today in Santa Monica Superior Court.

Mrs. Borgnine named Miss Jurado as the "other woman" in her divorce action and said Borgnine had used undue influence in persuading her to get the decree.

Representative Gives Up His Boycott of August

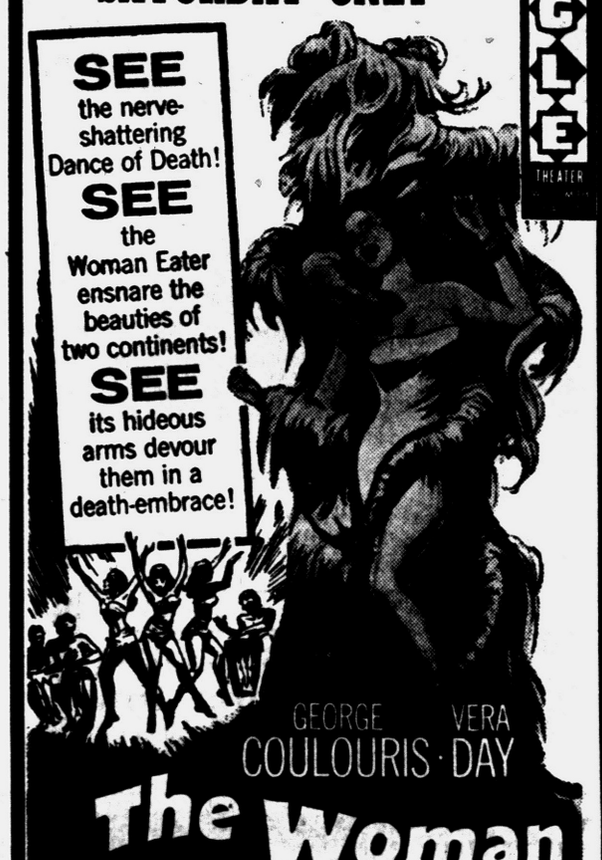

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Noah M. Mason (R-Ill) has given up his 14-year boycott of August.

★ ★ ★

"I quit July 31, no matter what the others do," Mason would say. His contention was that Congress should be able to get its work done by then.

★ ★ ★

But he returned Thursday because of the controversy over the labor bill. "I'm back to line up votes for the strongest kind of a labor bill," he explained. Mason is 77.

Britain Refuses U.S. Request

Won't Put Missiles on 15-Minute Alert, Says London Paper

LONDON (UPI) — The liberal News Chronicle reported today that Britain, despite urging from the United States, has refused "for the moment" to put the U.S. missiles in this country on 15-minute alert.

"This is despite . . . constant statements by U.S. generals that the Thor ballistic missiles in Britain are ready to go to targets behind the Iron Curtain," the News Chronicle said.

The newspaper said Britain is unwilling to ready the rockets for quick action until the bases from which they would fly in case of trouble have formally been declared operational and H-bomb warheads have been permanently fitted to the missiles.

The U.S. magazine Missiles and Rockets reported recently that at least one of Britain's Thor bases is already operational.

The News Chronicle and the Laborite Daily Herald reported that Britain has protested to the United States against the magazine's "publication of secret missile data."

The government declined comment on the report.

McGuire Sisters at Top

NEW YORK (AP) — The McGuire sisters started singing in an Ohio church choir just 25 years ago.

The beanpole-slender youngsters of 1934 now are the highest paid girl trio in show business today, and perhaps of all time.

The one thing most people want to know about them — particularly people who come from large families—is how they settle their quarrels.

BOYLE

The answer is simple. They settle their disputes the same way the U. S. Congress does—by majority rule.

"Our policy is that if two agree on anything the other has to give in," said Phyllis, who acts as spokesman for the girls, although she has the least seniority.

★ ★ ★

"We generally manage to keep out of each other's hair. But occasionally we do have arguments. When we do we speak our piece, take a vote—and forget it.

★ ★ ★

"But we try to avoid the friction that might come from being together too much. On the road we stay in separate rooms, and meet just before the show."

DOROTHY NORMAL

As in any household, each of the sisters has her own chores. Chris, the eldest, picks the wardrobe. Dorothy whom the others refer to as "the normal one," handles the props. She also acted as family treasurer until the trio hired a business manager.

★ ★ ★

They have recorded nearly 300 songs. Teen-age polls rate them the top trio. They have sold more than 10 million records.

★ ★ ★

They started out at $210 a week. This year, one soft drink firm alone is paying them $250,000 — plus all the soda they can swallow — for a year's supply of TV and radio commercials.

They also spend some 20 weeks a year on the supper club circuit. The degree with which their careers interfere with their private lives is the chief cause of disputes with them.

PHYLLIS SINGLE

"I'm single, and like to be on the go all the time," explained Phyllis. "But Dorothy has a husband, and Chris has a husband and two sons. They like to stay at home."

"I'm not so sensitive about that any more, now that my children are older," said Chris. "I've given up on trying to live a planned life. A planned life is an unlived life."

★ ★ ★

Their smash success hasn't turned any of the girls' heads.

★ ★ ★

Here is their reaction to it:

Dorothy—"You're public property. You have no privacy. Your life is not your own."

Phyllis — "You can't take backward steps, but success has proved more than I bargained for. I've learned that success is getting what you want, but happiness is wanting what you get. But right now I'm still riding on cloud No. 9 — and looking for flying saucers."

★ ★ ★

Chris — "Success is something you strive to get, but when you get it you don't have it. It has you."

★ ★ ★

The McGuire sisters have one thing that sets them apart from most entertainers. They pay 10 per cent of their income to an agent — but they also just as regularly give another 10 per cent to the church in whose choir they first sang together as children a quarter of a century ago.

Servants, Thieves Drive Zsa Zsa to New York

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Burglars and the servant problem are driving Zsa Zsa Gabor out of Hollywood, the Hungarian actress says.

She said upon her return from Naples, Italy, Thursday that she is going to sell her home here and move into a New York apartment.

"Now I am going to move forever," she said. "Nowhere in ze world is ze servant problem so bad as it is here. This time when I go abroad I feenish wiz ze servants and what happens? Burglars came and took all those lovely diamonds Rubi (Dominican playboy Porfirio Rubirosa) gave me.

"Servants are probably bad there (New York) but in a small apartment one can get by with a few."

Prowler in Her Kitchen Was Hot but Harmless

BOSTON (AP) — Gussie Simmons telephoned police Thursday that she believed there was a prowler in her kitchen—"there's a loud, rattling noise."

Two patrolmen went to the house and found two hard boiled eggs rattling around in a waterless, red hot pan.

Mrs. Simmons had put the eggs on to boil and forgot them.

Earned Right to Farm

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP)—For 40 years Harold White worked as gardener on the 73-acre farm of Sara Wood McCampbell in Holmdel township. By her will, probated Thursday, White received the farm and the equivalent of $25,000 in cash. "No one else has justly earned the right to own this beloved place," said Mrs. McCampbell in the will. She died last month.

UPI Reporter Gives Close-Up

What Sort of Man Is Khrushchev?

(Editor's Note: The following dispatch is by The United Press International reporter who accompanied Vice President Nixon on his tour of the Soviet Union and Poland.)

By ERNEST BARCELLA

WASHINGTON (UPI)—What is the most effective way of dealing with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev?

How is his health?

What, if anything, will his September visit to the United States accomplish?

What manner of man is the Soviet boss?

These and similar questions are to the fore now that Nixon has returned from his historic journey to the Soviet Union and Poland, and President Eisenhower will play host to Khrushchev next month before going to Russia himself.

★ ★ ★

Nixon brought back with him some up-to-date tips for the President on how to deal with Khrushchev.

The vicep resident was not disclosing any strategy. But the consensus is that, as far as Soviet leaders are concerned, American leaders must get across to them the fact that the United States is strong and that it has the will to use that strength.

One school of thought is that the sweetness-and-light-and sugar approach does not help in dealing with the Russians. This group feels that tough talk should be answered with talk just as tough.

But it also is felt that the situation sometimes calls for smoothing over a point. For example when Khrushchev flexes his "missiles," there is no point in arguing detail and the best answer is to point out that no one could win a nuclear war.

This was demonstrated in Nixon's verbal exchange with Khrushchev at the U.S. exhibit in Moscow. After Khrushchev found that he couldn't bluff or scare his guest, the two men seemed to get along quite amiably.

★ ★ ★

Observers who saw Khrushchev at close quarters publicly and some who saw him in private conversations came to the same general conclusion—he seemed full of rugged stamina, alert and in fine form.

At 64, Khrushchev drives himself unmercifully, and the pace sometimes shows. But everyone seems impressed with his stamina. This reporter had occasion to observe Khrushchev close up a half dozen times. He seemed vigorous, rugged—at times full of bounce.

What manner of man is the Soviet leader? Based on the composite judgment of those who saw him in public with Nixon and the observations of those who participated in private conversations with him, this seemed the general view: in private, he did not seem as impetuous as some have reported previously.

He might make a statement which appeared impetuous, but generally in private, he appeared to be deadly earnest in his give-and-take and relatively even-tempered.

★ ★ ★

From what this correspondent observed of him close up, Khrushchev could be hard as nails in his give-and-take.

Khruschev is a knowledgeable and articulate individual. He never wants for a word and he likes to get in the last word.

People are impressed by his great interest in economic matters generally, his ability to cite statistics where the Soviet Union is concerned and his relatively great knowledge of economic trends in the United States. He is well briefed on his own domestic matters and seems to have done a lot of homework about the United States. He is particularly interested in agriculture.

Some of those who compare Khrushchev to Stalin say that whereas communism was a means of power for Stalin, it is a religion with Khrushchev. One view is that regardless of what he sees in the United States he will see it through Communist eyes and magnify, distort and compress what he sees to suit Communist purposes.

Soybeans Lead Grain Decline

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybean futures led another general downturn on the Board of Trade in early dealings today with setbacks running to more than a cent a bushel.

The grains were down mostly minor fractions with offerings finding slow acceptances.

Some dealers said that with the recent good rainfall generally over most of the corn and soybean producing areas the weather has become a relatively minor factor in futures pricing. Both were described as now in good moisture condition for some time.

After about an hour wheat was unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel lower, September $1.90⅛; corn ¼ to ½ lower September $1.19⅞; oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, September new type contract 68⅜; rye ⅛ to ½ lower, September $1.30½; soybeans ⅝ to 1 cent lower, September $2.14⅝.

Highlights of Nixon's Trip to Be Telecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Television viewers Sunday will see filmed highlights of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's recent trip through Soviet Russia and Poland with Nixon serving as narrator.

There will be showing on both NBC and CBS TV networks.

The NBC program is listed for 7-730 p. m. EDT; the CBS program for 7:30-8 p. m. EDT.

Aides said they understood Nixon would be on NBC "live." CBS planned to record his comments.

The vice president's associates also said he was not planning any extensive talk, but just comments on the various places and scenes in the films.

Space Stocks Retreat Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was uneven in slow trading today as space age issues continue their retreat on prospects of a thaw in the cold war.

some of the oils, utilities, chemicals and electrical equipments made moderate gains.

Steels drugs and rubbers edged off. Airlines, nonferrous metals and aircrafts were mixed.

The Khrushchev - Eisenhower visits apparently still dominated Wall Street psychology as a number of brokers warned a switch out of electronics in view of possible cutbacks or stretchouts in defense contracts.

Zenith fell about 3 while Texas Instruments and Ampex dropped around 4 apiece. General Tire, which has a rocket-making subsidiary, fell more than a point.

General Telephone was a fraction higher in future response to stock split news. Magnavox, despite late news yesterday of a 2-for-1 split, lost a fraction.

Dorfman Lawyer Slams Kennedy

Calls Rackets Group Counsel 'Little Mobster' After Swindle Charge

CHICAGO (UPI) — Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate Rackets Committee, has come under the fire of an attorney for an insurance broker linked by the alleged multi-million-dollar union swindle.

Stanford Clinton, lawyer for Allen Dorfman, yesterday described the youthful Kennedy as a "little monster" with an "insatiable appetite for scandal."

Clinton termed "untruthful in every material respect" a Rackets Committee report charging that teamsters boss James R. Hoffa channeled $3,000,000 in union welfare funds to Chicago mobsters through Dorfman's insurance agency.

Clinton unleashed the attack against Kennedy at an Illinois Insurance Department hearing on whether to revoke Dorfman's insurance license.

The lawyer charged that Kennedy—in his investigation of the giant union, and of Dorfman and his father, union leader Paul (Red) Dorfman — has been "motivated solely by the ambition to get his brother, Sen. James F. Kennedy (D-Mass) elected president of the United States."

Attorneys for the State Insurance Department sought to prove before acting examiner Lawrence A. Berman that Allen Dorfman misappropriated $51,461 that belonged to the Northeastern Life Insurance Co., of Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Negotiations Get Nowhere

Steel Palaver Hopes Cool

NEW YORK (AP) — Cold water was thrown on hopeful expressions about the steel strike today after a morning-long session of top negotiators and a federal mediator.

Positions of the industry and the United Steelworkers Union haven't budged, said the chief federal mediator, Joseph F. Finnegan.

He said "false hopes" may have been raised by earlier comments.

"Of course, it is encouraging when the parties sit down to work out contract language," he said. "But it is a cruel thing to say there has been progress when there has actually been no such thing."

Union President David J. McDonald and R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, and their associates met for 3½ hours with Finnegan. Another joint session was set for Monday afternoon.

Earlier, Finnegan had said he was encouraged by cooperation he is now receiving from the negotiators. But he emphasized he referred only to the "workmanlike way" they are approaching the job, not to any specific gains.

In Washington, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) announced that 29 Democratic senators so far have signed his resolution urging that President Eisenhower "use the prestige and influence of his high office" to try to settle the strike.

The resolution urges the President to meet with representatives of both sides "in order to impress upon them their primary responsibility to the nation to conclude an early and reasonable settlement;" set a deadline for settlement of the contract dispute; and if no settlement is reached within the deadline, appoint a fact-finding board to make public recommendations on terms for settlement.

40-Minute Jump Hurts Jet Pilot

Marine Bails Out at 46,000 Feet and Falls Through Thunderstorm

BEAUFORT, S.C. (UPI) — A Marine Corps pilot bailed out of his crippled jet at 46,000 feet during a blinding thunderstorm and it took him 40 agonizing minutes to reach the earth, it was revealed today.

Lt. Col. William H. Rankin, 39, was hospitalized here with frostbite and an injured hand. Details of the incident, which occurred over North Carolina at about 6 p.m., July 26, were not disclosed until today.

Rankin, who is recuperating in the Beaufort Naval Hospital, was on a routine high altitude navigation training flight when his supersonic jet fighter developed engine trouble.

The World War II veteran said his F8U-1 Crusader was over North Carolina about 50 miles south of Norfolk, Va., when he ejected himself during a thunderstorm.

Rankin, realizing he was at 46,000 feet, said he was forced to bail out because the storm made him lose control of his aircraft.

He estimated the temperature at about 60 degrees below zero when he began his drop. He had to fall free because the parachute was set to open automatically at 10,000 feet.

The Marine Corps officer said he blacked out during his descent, adding it was "like being on a fast elevator — going up and down."

County Deeds Office Says Business Good

Business continued good in the Oakland County Register of Deeds office last month, according to a monthly report released today by Daniel T. Murphy Jr., clerk-register.

Murphy said total receipts for the month came to $21,855 from the handling of 14,619 papers. This compares to $18,380 from 13,649 transactions for the same period last year.

Seven new land plats were recorded, Murphy said, last month.

Last month's totals include 3,137 deeds, 1,493 home mortgages, 6,795 chattel mortgages, 966 photos, 7 bills of sale and 2,221 miscellaneous papers.

National Guardsmen Get Ready for Camp

Some 85 area National Guardsmen will be busy loading cars and trucks tonight for their annual two-week encampment at Camp Grayling.

Then the guardsmen of Company E, 2nd Battle Group, 125th Infantry, will load themselves into two buses, 10 cars and six transport trucks at 5 a.m. Saturday and proceed to join some 8,500 fellow guardsmen of Michigan's 46th Infantry Division and attached units at the training site.

This will mark the first time the 46th Division has assembled in one place since its reorganization under the Army's pentomic concept last spring, according to Capt. A. J. Largent, commanding officer of the local company.

"That means we will get more basic unit training at a high level rather than individual training as has been the case in the past," sid Capt. Largent.

Sgt. Neil South will represent the local unit in competition for the Gen. Wilson Trophy, awarded to the best soldier. South was runner up last year.

Gov. Williams will observe the division in its annual review Saturday, Aug. 15 and will deliver the major address at the traditional memorial services for guard heroes of the past the next morning.

The second week will be marked by participation in a tactical field exercise named "Exercise Mackinaw", Aug. 17-20. Another 1,700 members of Michigan's Air National Guard will undergo training during the same period at Phelps Collins Air National Guard Base, near Alpena.

Airport Fund Nearly Ready

State Lawmakers OK Michigan's Share in Construction Expenses

Funds for Pontiac's $356,000 expansion program at Pontiac Municipal Airport next year were virtually in the bag today.

The House in Lansing completed legislative approval yesterday of a $89,000 allocation to Pontiac. The bill went to the governor for signing.

The money represents the total amount which the city sought from the state in order to attract the maximum amount of federal aid for an expansion program recommended by the Michigan Department of Aeronautics.

The federal aid formula consists of 50 per cent federal funds, 25 per cent from the state and 25 per cent local funds.

The City Commission has already promised to put up its $89,000 next year and Congress included $178,000 for Pontiac in its airport appropriation this year. The 1960 expansion plans are in the hands of the Federal Aviation Administration, which controls release of the federal funds.

★ ★ ★

Big items for 1960 include construction of a $137,000 apron for parking, loading and unloading aircraft in front of the new terminal building and a 1,500-foot concrete extension to the main east-west runway, bringing it to 5,500 feet in length.

Drayton Plains Youth Saves 2 in Scott Lake

Waterford Township Police credited a 17-year-old Drayton Plains boy with saving two of his companions from drowning last night in Scott Lake.

★ ★ ★

The rescued, Joseph Robertson, 17, of 3520 Baybrook Dr., Drayton Plains, and John Moody, 16, of 3844 Lakewood St., Drayton Plains, were treated for shock and released from Pontiac General Hospital early this morning.

Police said the two probably would have drowned if it were not for Ken Holten, of 1354 Whitfield Dr. Holten told officers this story:

Robertson and Moody were in the water while Holten and another companion remained on the beach.

★ ★ ★

"Moody panicked in deep water when his feet sunk in mud on the bottom," said Holten. "I swam out and got him and was giving him artificial respiration when Frenchie hollered he saw Joe lying face down in the water."

★ ★ ★

Donovan said Moody was coming around by that time and Holten left him to pull in Robertson, while he went for help.

Waterford Police and Fire Departments and the Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. answered the call at midnight. They said Holten was working over the Robertson boy when they arrived.

Auto Output Hitting Low Week of Year

DETROIT (AP) — Weekly auto production will hit its lowest figure of the year this week, Ward's Automotive Reports said today.

The trade paper estimated production at 106,095 cars. Lowest previous figure this year was 108,397 cars during the week which included the July 4th holiday. Last week's production totaled 122,518 cars and in the similar week a year ago the figure was 65,614.

Truck production this week dropped to 11,065 units from 20,096 last week and 15,441 a year ago.

Ward's said domestic car production for 1959 now totals 3,948,436 units, up 49 per cent from 1958.

House Whacks Military Funds

But Committee Asks $6½ Million Be Spent in State of Michigan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today criticized Pentagon construction policies as it whacked $278,187,300 from the $1,563,200,000 requested for military building programs for the current fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

The $1,284,012,700 it recommended, subject to House action next week, is about 18 per cent less than the President requested to finance hundreds of construction projects in the United States and abroad.

The committee gave the Air Force $777,066,600 of the 915 million it sought. The Navy's request for 253 million was cut to $188,637,000. The Army's bid for 372 million was trimmed to $272,564,100.

★ ★ ★

The committee approved all funds requested for air defense missile facilities and electronic ground environment facilities, but voted to prohibit the use of funds for Bomarc missile sites in the northwestern part of the country between the Great Lakes region and the Pacific. It said the funds should be withheld until consideration has been given to moving these installations farther north.

★ ★ ★

The committee recommended that $6,447,000 be spent on military construction projects in Michigan for the year which started July 1.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF EARL C. Kilman who passed away 3 yrs. ago today, August 7, 1956.
God in his wisdom has recalled.
A voice we love is stilled
A place is vacant, in our home;
Which never can be filled;
Sadly missed by those who loved him.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY Husband Thomas Robert Thomas (Bob Thomas) who passed away one year ago, Aug. 5.
Do not ask me if I miss him,
For there's such a vacant place.
Oft' I think I hear his footsteps
Or I see his smiling face.
For he left me broken hearted
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they so little know the sorrow
That is in my heart concealed.
—Sadly missed by Wife Evelyn.

Town Comes to Life When Sinatra Arrives

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Our buddy Frank Sinatra, the boy from Hoboken, always livens up our village.

He took 15 dinner guests to the Colony, and then all who could stand were taxied over to the Blue Angel. There they saw his pretty Australian discovery, Diana Trask—and heard a young comic, Ronnie Schell, who kids Vice President Nixon.

WILSON

Schell portrays Ike's secretary, James Hagerty, at a Cabinet meeting "running the country."

Nixon arrives. "Why, Tricky Dicky," exclaims Hagerty, "what brings you to the United States?"

Ike arrives. They know it's Ike from the golf clubs.

"I'm going to put you right where you belong," says "Hagerty" who hoarsely whispers "DICK!"—a signal to Nixon to get out of the President's chair, which he's automatically plopped into.

War is on the agenda. "First, we're going to discuss our offense," says "Hagerty," who adds "then our surrender plans."

Gov. Rockefeller calls to propose a Big Four meeting in Venezuela. Ike accepts, "but first he would like to ask one question: what are the greens fees?" After this everybody clears out for the meeting of the Big Three: Ike, Snead and Hogan.

MEREDITH

Frank, squiring pretty TV actress Judith Meredith, was pestered as usual by his fans. He told Miss Trask, who looks a little like Kim Novak and something like Ava Gardner, that she measured up to all he'd expected.

It's doubtful if in New York he had such idolatry as in Atlantic City where he happened to stamp out a cigaret while singing on stage at the 500 Club.

"Kick that cigaret butt over to me and I'll give you $20," a woman fan of supposedly mature years called over to the bandleader — who complied. She took it away as a Sinatra souvenir.

★ ★ ★

HOT FLASHES: Playwright Paddy Chayefsky, en route to Russia, was detained in Amsterdam. Visa troubles . . . Anna Maria Alberghetti's in town with a gosh-awful hairdo. (the Italian high-fashion style) which in our opinion takes away all her good looks. Yet she likes it—so how come she's still single? . . . Audrey Meadows stole a chair from Toots Shor's closing night, so Toots gave her three more chairs, a table and some glasses, so she could have her own saloon . . . Jack Barry and Dan Enbright won't be happy to hear that some of the TV quiz show grand jury witnesses are blabbing so freely that the headaches will start all over again . . . Denise Darcel's onetime manager, Marcel Ventura, well known in show biz here, was almost killed in an auto crash near London.

EARL'S PEARLS: A lush was complaining about the ridge on his nose made by glasses, and when asked why he didn't get contact lenses, replied, "They don't hold enough beer."

If you can keep your head while all about you are losing theirs, you'll be the tallest drunk in the saloon . . . That's earl, brother.

Olsen Offers Secret Witness

Wayne Prosecutor Says Testimony Will 'Tie In' Trilck to Gambling

DETROIT (UPI)— A "secret witness" is to offer testimony soon that may link former downriver gambling czar Russell Trilck to the River Rouge graft scandal, Prosecutor Samuel Olsen said yesterday.

The witness, who already has given statements under oath, "completely ties in Trilck," Olsen said.

The existence of the witness was revealed yesterday before Common Pleas Judge John W. Connolly.

Chief trial lawyer Raymond J. Deryck told the court he wanted an early examination of Trilck to get the testimony on record.

"We don't know if this witness will be available later," Deryck said.

Olsen, who says he has kept the witness under wraps for several months, will decide Monday whether to bring him into court or wait until a jurisdictional question is settled.

The suburb's graft scandal broke in February when Trilck and seven others, including five River Rouge policemen, were named in graft conspiracy warrants issued by Olsen.

Trilck, then in Florida, began a five-month extradition battle that ended with his forced return to Detroit July 10.

The key witness was not known to Olsen at the time of the February arrests.

"We had a good case on Trilck at the time of the arrests," Olsen said. "But since we found this witness our case against him is much stronger."

Garden Clubbers Clocking Cars (Polite Variety)

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — Local drivers now have to watch out for civilian "speed traps" as well as the more conventional police-operated variety.

Members of the Dirt Daubers Garden Club have begun clocking cars with a stop watch, taking license numbers and obtaining the names of drivers from the police.

Mrs. Bobbye Ashmore, club president, said each speeder will get a "nice note" during the next week.

The War of the Independence began in Massachusetts in 1775 with the Battles of Lexington and Bunker Hill.

Now It's Time for Fans to Plug for 'Omnibus'

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—It is time to rally round the flag, boys. The network schedules for the coming season are ready for posting and there's still no niche for Omnibus.

I have a sneaking suspicion that there is something wrong with a TV system that can't afford to carry its best — its weekly Sid Caesars, its See It Nows and its Omnibuses. (Or is it Omnibi?). There are all sorts of confections in prime time for the Neanderthal set, but except for an occasional Spectacular or Playhouse 90, there is little programming of substance in prime time.

EWALD

NBC-TV has carried Omnibus the past two seasons and last season, dropped a reported $625,000 on the show. There has been much talk of "Omnibus-type" shows for next season on the network, but it seems to me this misses the point.

I'm not even quite sure what an Omnibus-type show is. One of the chief virtues of Omnibus is its avoidance of type.

Over its past seven seasons, for example, Omnibus has investigated such diverse matters as football, Les Paul and Mary Ford, Frank Lloyd Wright, the biography of a fish, La Boheme, Benny Goodman, Grandma Moses, capital punishment, Sam Johnson, Dylan Thomas, minor league baseball, Winslow Homer, the violin, Jonathan Winters, the Kabuki dancers, the Harlem Globetrotters, James Thurber and the Yugoslav Folk ballet.

IT EXPERIMENTS

It has gone up in the air with Amelia Earhart and down in the water with Jacques-Yves Cousteau. It has tackled Shaw, Shakespeare and She Stoops to Conquer.

It has provided work for such relative unknowns as Jimmy Dean, Joanne Woodward, John Cassavetes, Sal Mineo and Janis Rule. It expanded the performing careers of Leonard Bernstein and Joseph Welch.

From this list, something obvious should emerge. It is this: Omnibus is important not only for what it does, but because it's the last shooting match around which tries to experiment. It is a germinal show, a seedbed, a seminal effort from which the rest of TV can draw.

★ ★ ★

It has unloaded its share of bombs, but this is not only to be expected, in a way, it's kind of reassuring. TV is stuffed with play-it-safe shows, muscilaginous gumbo which clogs the channels day after day, all of it concocted from the same pea-brains.

Omnibus tries. It is in there pitching. And it has been pitching for a long time. Perhaps it's about time its fans—to switch the image—went to bat for it.

Backs Medics in Little Rock

Dr. Salk Agrees Early School Opening Won't Increase Polio Danger

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Dr. Jonas Salk joined Arkansas medical experts yesterday in the opinion that opening Little Rock's four high schools early will not subject students to more danger from polio than if the schools remained closed.

★ ★ ★

The School Board announced plans this week to open the four weeks early. It was interpreted high schools next Wednesday, three as a move to beat Gov. Orval Faubus to the punch if he decides to call a special session of the Legislature to try and prevent integration.

Dr. Malcolm G. Taylor, president of the Capital Citizens Council, charged the School Board was "foolhardy" if they opened the schools in the "midst of a polio epidemic."

There have been 105 cases of polio reported in Arkansas since the first of the year, and 37 of them in Pulaski (Little Rock) County. Five have been fatal.

★ ★ ★

But a group of 35 Little Rock doctors, and city and state health officials minimized the danger. A statement by the group of doctors said school opening would decrease polio danger because students would be involved in a quieter routine than on the normal active teen-age vacation schedule.

To Probe Alleged Waste

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) said today his foreign relations subcommittee would recall top U.S. officials in Viet Nam for more questioning about charges of waste and mismanagement in the U.S. foreign aid program there.

Driver Irritates Prisoners

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Prisoners at the county jail refused to volunteer for out-of-jail work details yesterday because, they said, the man who takes them to and from the job "is a poor driver" and "jokes too much."

Indian Dancer Misses With Modern Hoop

ANDARKO, Okla. (UPI) — A young Indian dancer who performs amazing tricks with hoops scarcely larger than his waist had to make an embarrassing confession — he can't "hula hoop."

The boy, Harvey Keyonnie, can easily do such things as double his body, leap into the air and then pull a 26-inch hoop over himself in flight. He can even jump rope with a tiny hoop. But he can't make one twirl around his waist.

The young dancer-acrobat from Steamboat Canyon, Ariz., performs during the summer at Indian City, U.S.A., a tourist attraction near here.

He Demands His Tickets

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Edwin J. Pauley has turned down a compromise in the controversy over tickets to the 1960 Democratic National Convention.

He's sticking to his demand for 5,000 tickets a day. Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles proposed he take 3,133. Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler says 1,500 is all Paule can have.

★ ★ ★

Oilman Pauley is finance chairman of the Los Angeles host committee for the convention. He says the Democratic National Committee agreed to give him 5,000 tickets to help pay off the $350,000 guarantee to bring the convention to Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

Poulson said 17,331 first-class seats will be available in the Memorial Sports Arena for the convention. He proposed that 12,948 seats be assigned for convention needs, 3,133 go to the host committee, and 1,250 to California Democratic organizations.

But Pauley said the seating capacity could be increased to 20,000 although some seats might not be too desirable. Some of the needed extra seats, he said, could be obtained by cutting down the floor space alloted to newspapers, radio and television.

Maria Callas Wants Part

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — American opera star Maria Callas is negotiating a contract to play the leading role in the German film "The Prima Donna," a spokesman for the Gloria Film Company disclosed yesterday. The shooting is scheduled to begin Feb. 1.

Cheese is made in about 500 varieties.

Bees Are for Birds, Not Bees

Bees Bothering Bees

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—As far as the Alon Bees are concerned, bees are for the birds, and will they please leave the Bees alone.

★ ★ ★

Alon Bee, Mrs. Bee and two young Bees call their home "The Bee Hive."

It became one several weeks ago when bees came in through an attic window and began to make themselves at home.

The harassed Bees holed up in two rooms while exterminators routed the unwanted bees.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, Bee reported, they were walking happily through some tall grass when one Bee stepped on a bees' nest.

Mary Bee, 13, was stung three times. Bee counted seven stings.

★ ★ ★

"We'd change our name," he said plaintively, "if we thought it would give us any relief."

Big Peacetime Army Our Watch on Rhine

By BEM PRICE

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—The greatest peacetime field army in U. S. history is standing watch east of the Rhine River.

This is no cream puff army. It is lean, hard and able to fight at the sound of a hostile bolt click.

★ ★ ★

Further, the U. S. 7th Army—five full divisions and three beefed-up armored cavalry regiments—is the only effective ground force extant today for the defense of Central Europe in an atomic war.

Nevertheless, a four-week tour of U. S. military posts in Europe and consideration of the present state of Europe's defenses suggests that the presence of the 7th Army is more political than military.

The 7th Army represents a visible reminder to the Europeans that the United States will not abandon the continent to Soviet aggression.

There are 150,000 men in the 7th Army, equipped and trained to fight an atomic war. They face at least 20 Russian divisions (400,000 men) similarly trained and equipped and 14 Czechoslovakian divisions (170,000 men).

But if United States policy is one of massive atomic retaliation for any act of aggression on the part of the Soviets, then the 7th Army is too large. It wouldn't be needed.

And if the United States anticipated a war in which only tactical atomic weapons would be used, then the conclusion seems equally inescapable that the 7th Army is too small.

BEING REALISTIC

I tried these conclusions on a colonel in operations at U. S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg with the observation that perhaps I was being pessimistic. His reply: "You are simply being realistic."

In any case, Gen. Clyde Eddelman of U. S. Army forces in Europe, said even if the worst happened and war came, "We can maintain our tactical integrity."

★ ★ ★

As the 7th Army is now constituted, there is scant doubt that it could put up a terrific battle, atomic or otherwise. An enemy ground force might go around this army, but it won't go through it.

The 7th Army acts precisely like a front-line army during a lull in the fighting.

All along the 455 miles of Czechoslovakian and East German border the 7th maintains a constant alert.

No more than 15 per cent of the men are permitted on leave at any one time. Thirty minutes after an alert sounds, the 7th can muster 50 per cent of its total strength, 85 per cent in two hours.

California uses 16 per cent of the hired farm labor in the United States, more than any other of the states.

Foy Kohler Readies for Khrushchev Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foy D. Kohler, deputy assistant secretary for European affairs, is in charge of preparations for Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's visit to the United States, state department officials said today.

Kohler, a veteran career foreign service officer, accompanied Vice President Richard M. Nixon on his two-week trip to the Soviet Union and Poland.

Officially Kohler was Nixon's chief escort officer but it is no secret that the No. 2 diplomat in the state department's bureau of European affairs was in fact the vice president's principal political adviser.

Kohler, 50, is known to be a tough minded diplomat. He served twice at the embassy in Moscow in the late 1940s, as first secretary and later as minister counselor.

Dewey to Handle Legal End of Japanese Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — Legal matters pertaining to Japanese trade in the United States will be handled by the law firm headed by former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, it was confirmed Thursday.

A one year contract has been signed between the Japan Export Trade Promotion Agency, a semi-government organization, and the prominent Wall Street law firm headed by Dewey. He was twice the unsuccessful Republican candidate for president.

A spokesman for Dewey said details, including legal fees, were confidential, he emphasized his office would be concerned only with legal matters pertaining to trade brought to it by the Japanese agency.

The Sheaffer Pen Co., largest ink producer in the United States reports that sales of green ink declined 30 per cent in 1958.
