

City, Waterford School Enrollments Pass Projections

Enrollment in Pontiac public schools increased by 653 students during the last year, while that for the Waterford Township School District jumped by 883 students.

Each figure is more than 200 above projections made last spring.

The fourth-Friday tabulations put the Pontiac district's enrollment at 23,455 and Waterford Township's at 17,823.

The head counts, used as the basis for state reimbursement, were made Sept. 30 but not released until this week.

Pontiac's figures are still unofficial — they do not include adult basic education, high school credit evening classes and apprenticeship classes.

BIGGEST JUMP

In Pontiac, the largest enrollment increase came at the elementary school level, which jumped 384 to 14,291. Included in the figure are 2,379 kindergartners, 11,644 first-through-sixth graders and 268 special education students.

Junior high school enrollment totals 5,861, marking a 106-pupil increase. A 47-student increase was recorded at the senior high schools, where the total is 4,673.

Increases in regular classroom enrollments at the junior and senior high schools are greater than reflected in the above figures, but special education enrollments at both these levels fell this year.

Pontiac Central High School, with a 2,147-student enrollment, is exceeding the building's reasonable capacity by 273, according to school officials.

There are 1,925 students at Pontiac Northern High School, which has capacity for 1,802.

Junior high capacities are being exceeded at three schools by a total of 150 pupils. These are Eastern, with 963 pupils; Lincoln, 741; and Lincoln, 1,932.

In addition to Waterford's kindergarten-through-12th grade enrollment, 207 students are registered in adult education credit courses, raising the grand total to 17,236.

Last year, the official count for K-12 enrollment was 16,146. According to school officials, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Two Yanks Get Nobel Prizes

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Two American professors today were jointly awarded the 1966 Nobel Prize for Medicine. They were Dr. Peyton Rous, 87, of the Rockefeller University, New York; and Dr. Charles B. Huggins, 66, of Chicago University Hospital.

Rous was awarded his prize for his discovery of tumor-inducing viruses and Huggins was cited for his discoveries concerning hormonal treatment of prostatic cancer, the awarding faculty of the Caroline Institute.

They share the prize of $500,000.

Rous, a native of Baltimore, Md., received his medical degree from Johns Hopkins University in 1920. Since 1950, he has been associated with the Rockefeller University, formerly known as Rockefeller Institute.

Huggins is a native of Halifax, N.S. He was graduated from Harvard Medical School in 1924 and holds degrees from several schools. He has been at the University of Chicago since 1927. He has been director of the Ben May Laboratory for Cancer Research since 1951.

Huggins is a specialist in studies of the male urogenital tract, cancer of the prostate, and mammary cancer. He is a native of Connecticut, is married and has two children.

VIRUS FIELD

Rous is a world-famed pathologist and specialist within the field of viruses as causative agents of cancer, mode of action of carcinogens, which are factors involved in the invasive growth of cancer, the Swedish Medical College said.

Teen Is Killed Duck Hunting

Lyon Twp. Youth Shot
Accidentally by Pol

A duck-hunting trip by two Lyon Township youths ended tragically last night when one of the boys was accidentally shot and killed as he stood up to fire at a duck.

Dead is Johnny D. Lane, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lane Jr. of 10988 W. Nine Mile.

Brighton State Police said the youth died almost instantly about 6 p.m. when hit in the head with a shotgun blast.

The victim's partner, James H. Deaton, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Deaton of 12913 W. Nine Mile, told troopers the accident occurred when the Lane youth suddenly stood up in Deaton's line of fire.

Young Deaton told troopers Lane was sitting ahead of him in the boat and apparently didn't know Deaton had risen to shoot at the duck.

The mishap took place on Nickwagh Lake, about two miles west of South Lyon in Livingston County.

Israel Claims Syria 'Openly Inciting War'

Asks Security Council
Emergency Meeting
After Filing Charges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The threat of a new Middle East crisis confronted the United Nations today as Israel charged Syria with murders, sabotage and open incitement to war.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban called for an emergency meeting of the Security Council. The 15-nation council was expected to meet tomorrow.

Israel went to the council after a long series of incidents along the Syrian-Israeli border which the Israelis blame on a sabotage organization based in Syria. On Saturday, a land mine explosion killed four Israeli policemen and injured two.

The Syrian government has disclaimed responsibility for the raids, which are the work of a group of Palestine Arab refugees known as El-Azassa storm or El-Fatah — conquest. In retaliation, Israeli planes attacked a Syrian engineering project north of the Sea of Galilee in July.

Israel's chief delegate, Michael S. Comay, submitted the two-point complaint to the council.

THE CHARGES

It charged:

—Acts of aggression committed by armed groups operating from Syrian territory against the citizens or territory of Israel.

—Threats by Syria against the territorial integrity and political independence of Israel.

In Jerusalem, Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol called in the ambassadors of the United States, the Soviet Union and France to repeat the Israeli charges.

Eshkol told the envoys that "recent acts of murder and sabotage committed inside Israeli territory" has been proven.

No Next of Kin Found, So Army Buries GI

WASHINGTON (AP) — For nine days the Army sought to locate any relatives of Spec. 4 John F. Barzan. Failing, it buried him last Friday, the first American victim of the Viet Nam war for whom no next of kin could be found.

The New York native, 40, was buried with simple military honors in the Long Island, N.Y., National Cemetery after the Army made what was described as an "administrative decision" on the rare case.

His mother, the only relative named in Barzan's service file, was last known to be in New York.

"We assumed that she would want him buried there, so we decided on the Long Island National Cemetery," a spokesman said.

If relatives come forward and want the remains interred elsewhere, the spokesman said, the government will arrange it.

ON WORK DETAIL

Barzan, a bachelor, died of heat prostration Sept. 25 while on a work detail of his unit, the 117th Transport Company, near Cap Lai, South Viet Nam.

Records show him as a carman with 22 years military service — including five in the Navy between 1947 and 1952 — who had been in Viet Nam only since February.

In its routine process of notifying next of kin of the dead, the Army sent a personal representative to the only address given for his mother, Margaret D. Barzan of 2461 Amsterdam, N.Y.

She had moved in 1958, leaving no forwarding address. The Army turned to its master enlistment files at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and came up with an address of 3204 28th Ave., Astoria, N.Y.

This, too, proved negative.

State Funds End Delay on OU Facility

A $120,000 state allocation approved yesterday by the Legislature will allow Oakland University to proceed with plans for its Engineering Building.

Awarding of contracts for the $5-million facility has been stymied for a month but now is expected to take place next week.

"The capital outlay increase was necessary because the federal funds available for the project fell short of previous estimates," State Sen. Carl W. O'Brien, D-Pontiac, said.

He noted the increase brings to $3,620,000 the state's share of the project.

The original appropriation was approved by the Legislature as part of the general fund budget this year, O'Brien said.

Viet Progress Said Pleasing

McNamara Predicts
No Change in Policy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, winding up his eighth visit to Viet Nam, said today the rate of progress in military operations during the past year "has exceeded our expectations."

He told newsmen he sees nothing that would indicate a substantial change in the rate of those military operations or deployment of U.S. forces here in the months ahead.

McNamara talked with newsmen after a four-day tour in which he inspected American military centers from the Saigon area to the rugged Marine battlefield on the edge of the demilitarized zone blanketing the border between the two Viet Nams.

U.S. B52 bombers pounded the zone again today, hammering at Communist troops and war supplies massed there in violation of the 1954 Geneva treaty.

Only small ground actions were reported, but U.S. airmen gave North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong no respite from bombing attacks.

Three American planes were reported shot down, one in the north and two in the south.

Forecaster's Dull; Real Wet Blanket

Occasional light rain and a chance of thundershowers may be expected tonight and tomorrow with temperatures a little warmer.

Lows will register 52 to 56 to-night. Highs will reach 56 to 62 tomorrow.

Showers, windy and colder is the outlook for Saturday.

Morning easterly winds will continue at 6 to 14 miles per hour.

The weatherman predicts scattered showers for all of Upper and Lower Michigan through Saturday.

A low of 49 was recorded at 6 a.m. in downtown Pontiac today. By 1 p.m. the mercury had edged up to 57.

Tax-Free Bonds Would Go for Low-Rent Units

Legislators Deal With Five Bills, Two Vetoes,
Several Resolutions

LANSING (AP) — Legislators approved last night a plan to use tax-free bonds to make better housing available for poor citizens — an item which still needs approval from the State Supreme Court.

Then the lawmakers headed back for the campaign trail after a two-day session in which they dealt with five bills, two vetoes and a handful of resolutions.

Senate Democrats were unsuccessful in trying to override Gov. Romney's vetoes of an unemployment compensation bill and a measure to abolish coroners and replace them entirely with medical examiners.

The compensation bill would have eliminated the one-week waiting period before a jobless worker becomes eligible for unemployment compensation benefits.

Romney was unsuccessful in persuading the Democratic-controlled Legislature to act on his full list of 13 areas in which he said action is needed now, but lawmakers did act in four of the 13 areas.

BILL ON DYING LAKES

Besides the low-rental housing bill, the legislators approved measures aimed at reviving dying lakes and at guaranteeing suitable housing for persons displaced by highway construction projects — before the construction could start.

Some lawmakers felt Romney might veto the highway measure.

While favoring aid to displaced families, he said this particular bill is too rigid and "would needlessly jeopardize Michigan's highway construction programs."

Both houses approved a bill regulating investments by life insurance companies and the house agreed on a property condemnation measure aimed at helping the Ann Arbor area bring in a giant federal atomic research facility.

'Mr. Angelo' Key Figure in O'Brien Morals Case

LANSING (AP) — Although he isn't expected to testify at the Justice Court morals trial of State Sen. Bernard F. O'Brien Jr., the mysterious "Mr. Angelo" is the most talked-about person there.

Three Michigan State University coeds have testified that "Mr. Angelo" asked them to engage in sexual intercourse and pose for pictures in the nude—and they have identified O'Brien as the same man.

O'Brien, on the other hand, contends a mysterious stranger named "Mr. Angelo" lured him to a meeting with one of the girls, Marion Lukens, after which she charged him with "soliciting indecent acts."

The trial, before a six-member jury and Lansing Town Justice George J. Hutter, began Monday and was scheduled for two days. It has lasted three and it isn't over yet. The trial is in recess today because of the illness of Hutter's wife. The defense is to resume presentation of its case Friday.

Defense witnesses Richard Price and William C. Hunter, both assistant sergeants at arms of the Senate, testified Wednesday they saw O'Brien in the capitol building at about 11:30 a.m. last May 27.

That is the date and approximate time the prosecution alleges O'Brien was on the MSU campus, about four miles away, making indecent proposals to Miss Lukens.

The charge is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of as much as $100 and up to 90 days in jail.

O'Brien said he will take the stand in his own defense. He is expected to testify that a stranger, giving his name as Angelo, posed as a friend of a senatorial colleague, asked O'Brien to consider hiring Miss Lukens as his secretary.

Troop Plane Crash Kills 5

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — A troop carrier plane from Dyess Air Force Base here crashed and burned in a brushy pasture Wednesday night, and five of the six crewmen were killed.

A passing truck driver, Carroll Brown, pulled the lone survivor from the wreckage on the 6666 Ranch, 75 miles northwest of Abilene. The injured airman was reported in critical condition.

A truck driver told Donald Miller, a gas station attendant, that he witnessed the crash.

"There was a big ball of fire going through the air and then it went out of sight," said the trucker, whose name was not learned.

The crash occurred shortly before 10 p.m. and it took firemen from several towns nearly two hours to put out the flames.

An Air Force spokesman said the plane, attached to the 516th Troop Carrier Wing at Dyess, was on a night navigation flight.

Institute Names Researcher

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Dr. Karl Sax has been appointed to the Distinguished Scholars Chair at Cranbrook Institute of Science.

He and his wife will be the first occupant of the all-electric Thomas Alva Edison House.

While here, Dr. and Mrs. Sax will continue their research on chromosomal aberrations occasioned by alcohol, coffee, some of the antineoplastic drugs and by mutation-producing agents.

Sax will also lecture and write while at the Institute and serve as consultant to the staff.

He has held such positions as biologist at Maine Agricultural Experimental Station in Orono, Me.; director of Arnold Arboretum at Harvard University; Guggenheim Fellow at Oxford University, visiting professor of genetics at the University of California and Sigma Xi National Lecturer.

From 1959 through 1966, he was a visiting professor at the University of Florida, Yale University, North Carolina State College, University of Tennessee, University of Georgia and Cornell University.

James Beresford, chairman of the Institute's Board of Trustees, said that the beginning of the Distinguished Scholar program is a "real plus" for the Cranbrook Institute.

"We feel that Dr. Sax's work on chromosomal aberrations is very important research and we are pleased to be the host location," he said.

The second annual Cranbrook School Alumni Award has been granted to Capt. Peter Dawkins. He will receive the award at a banquet Oct. 28 at the University Club in Detroit.

Dawkins, Cranbrook class of 1955, was chosen as "the alumnus who has made outstanding contributions to his field of endeavor and to his community or country."

An honor student at Cranbrook, Dawkins is the only cadet at West Point to hold four of the academy's top distinctions — brigade commander, class president, football captain and star student. He also received a Rhodes Scholarship and studied at Oxford University in England.

He is currently an instructor in history and social studies at West Point.

He has just returned from a year of active duty in Vietnam where he served as an advisor to the Vietnamese.

Forming Safety Group Is Goal

Formation of a permanent traffic safety committee in Oakland County has been announced as the goal of a luncheon conference scheduled tomorrow at Oakland University.

The safety campaign, called for by a professional staff backed by private and public funds, is expected to be launched with a special noon address by Gov. Romney.

The meeting will be the second general conference of the Traffic Safety Committee in 12 months.

Last October the group met for distribution of seven fact-finding studies.

Target of the studies was the county's traffic death toll, which hit a record high of 201 in 1964, then declined sharply to 164 in 1965.

KICKOFF FOR DRIVE Tomorrow's luncheon is designed to serve as a kickoff for a fund-raising drive to back the committee, according to Bruce Madsen, director of the program.

Madsen, administration specialist for the traffic safety committee at Michigan State University, cited the county's "resource and abilities" as favoring the program's success.

Specific projects included in the program, Madsen said, are study of accident facts and trends; establishing of a master plan of traffic improvement; and rallying of public support for engineering, enforcement and educational activities of traffic officials.

Gems Taken From Area Man in Ohio

A West Bloomfield Township jewelry salesman was robbed of jewelry reportedly worth $35,000 to $40,000 while staying in a motel near Troy, Ohio, yesterday.

Troy Police Lt. Don Linder said a thief took two sample cases loaded with diamonds, pearls and sapphire rings from the room of Rudolph Dornier, Jr., 5574 Abington, West Bloomfield Township.

"The robber forced open the door, grabbed the two cases, a bed while Dornier was in the bathroom," Linder said.

Linder said Dornier worked at the Gold Master Corp. of New York City.

Police in suburban Dorval near the airport said the bags surrounding the mailroom were cut at about 5 a.m. while employees were elsewhere in the building for their lunch period.

They said the bags that were stolen contained bills of various denominations destined to be delivered to chartered banks in Montreal.

School Dropout Trend Concerns All

The times presents no greater challenge to the youth of America than that of attaining educational fitness for the years of economic and cultural fulfillment that lie ahead.

There was a time in this Country when a boy or girl could leave school with a limited education and still have reasonable expectation of building a rewarding career. That, unfortunately, is no longer true.

Tragically, however, an alarming number of our future citizens have slight regard for the value of education, and to a great extent contribute to the economic and social ills besetting the Country, while consigning themselves to lives of frustration and maladjustment.

This year 900,000 youngsters will become school dropouts. This shocking exodus from our school system—the finest in the world—bodes ill for the strength of character and independence of spirit so traditionally American.

To counter this drift from the Nation's halls of learning, President Johnson has launched a national Youth Opportunity stay-in-school drive. Employers and other community leaders are urged to help make the campaign effective.

How can they contribute to it? First, by exerting continuous influence on youngsters to stay in school; or, if they have dropped out, to return to their classrooms. Second, by providing as many school year part-time jobs as possible, especially in cases where such a job might spell the difference between finishing school or dropping out.

Every American adult has a stake in the educational development of the Country's youth and owes it to himself and his homeland to enlist in the President's campaign in furtherance of it.

Food Quackery Feeds on Hopes of the Afflicted

Health nostrums tend to run in cycles. A few years ago radioactivity was the hotbed of quackery. Today it is the old health food fads that put first claim on the dollars of the fearful, the sick in spirit, and the elderly.

The entire spectrum of present day "fads and fallacies" in the health field was explored at the Third National Congress on Medical Quackery held in Chicago last week. The meeting was sponsored by the American Medical Association and the National Health Council.

Warnings will be issued on the health food fads, obesity, nostrums, cancer and arthritis cures, bust developers and spurious psychological counseling on which a gullible public will spend $1 billion this year.

Quackery has been a menace, of course, since the earliest days of medicine. Indeed, the healing arts originated with the priest-magician and the witch doctor. The first recorded prescription for a hair grower was that made up for Queen Ses of Egypt at about 3400 B.C. It was a mixture of dogs' toes, date refuse, and asses' hooves.

The ingredients used today in flimflamming the public are more aesthetically appealing, but the results are still the same.

Prison Death Seen for Last of Nazi Leaders

Sunday marks the 20th anniversary of the execution in Nuremberg of 10 Nazi leaders for war crimes. Another, HERMAN GOERING, had cheated the executioner by taking poison in his cell two hours before he was to have led the death parade.

The 10 corpses were photographed and the pictures published to abort any possible rumors, as in the case of ADOLF HITLER, that they might still be alive. All of the bodies were cremated and the ashes dispersed secretly to prevent their remains becoming a shrine.

The seven other Nazis convicted at Nuremberg were sent to Spandau prison in Berlin to serve prison terms of varying length. Three were released because of illness before their time was up, died shortly afterward. Three others freed on expiration of their sentences (two last month) are alive.

U.S.-Kremlin Deals Analyzed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A seeming Soviet willingness to do business with the United States may be due in part to Red China's setbacks in the struggle for leadership of the Communist world.

This opinion comes from some U.S. diplomats after four exploratory sessions with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko—three with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Gromyko's call on President Johnson.

A year ago Gromyko stayed away from Washington, though he was in New York for the U.N. General Assembly opening. U.S. forces were then going into Viet Nam in a big way, and a seemingly potent Peking was accusing the Soviet Union of conniving with the "imperialist" enemy.

This fall Gromyko agreed to final talks aimed at starting direct U.S.-Soviet commercial air service. He abandoned some earlier objections to a treaty to preserve outer space for peaceful use and he showed interest in a pact to outlaw the spread of nuclear weapons.

U.S. Kremlinologists who see in this a warmup of U.S.-Soviet relations are inclined to give some credit to Mao Tse-tung—for the Chinese leader's Red Guard rampage which has tumbled Peking's prestige inside as well as outside of the Communist camp.

forged so far ahead in the Sino-Soviet rivalry that the Kremlin can shrug off China's charges and feel free to pursue its own foreign policy ends.

Moscow may also have decided, it is said, that Peking would accuse the Soviet Union of conniving with America no matter what Moscow does, and therefore the Soviets must as well enter into deals with the West that suit their interest.

There is another school of thought among Washington experts which fails to find any marked improvement in Moscow-Washington relations at this time.

They say the Kremlin leadership has kept the door open right along for East-West accords which might suit the Soviets. They note Gromyko continued to brand America as the aggressor in Viet Nam, voice support for Hanoi and rebuff peace approaches.

This analysis sees Kremlin policy as partly harsh, partly accommodating toward the West, and pragmatic in dealing with any specific issue. So what issue like a smile from Moscow today on one issue could turn to a frown tomorrow on another. But the differing interpretations do come to one common conclusion: That a wide gulf still separates Washington from Moscow and bridging it will not be easy.

No. 2 Is Trying Harder!

David Lawrence Says:

Social Security Deficit Is Huge

WASHINGTON — The Social Security system has an unfunded deficit of more than $21 billion, but nevertheless President Johnson will recommend to Congress that the benefits to the citizens be increased by at least 10 per cent.

If the government were to limit its benefits to the persons who LAWRENCE are at present paying Social Security taxes and to those who are already retired and receiving benefits, it would require at least $31 billion in excess of future taxes plus the assets of $21.6 billion at present in the Social Security system.

These are the 1962 figures — the most recent available — and it is estimated that the unfunded deficit today is even larger. The federal government, therefore, operates the Social Security plan on the assumption that new workers in the future will bring in more money.

The assets in the present fund of $2.8 billion are only slightly more than one year's benefit payments, and this is why increased payroll taxes have become necessary.

A 22-year-old college graduate who starts working now and retires at age 65 would pay a total of $15,806 in Social Security taxes, while his employer would equal this amount, so that the grand total of $31,212 would be paid for the individual. But, under Social Security, his retirement benefits would total only $25,704, or $5,508 less than the combined taxes paid by the worker and his employer.

ADDITIONAL INCOME

Although it is true that a retired individual is covered by Medicare, it is also to be noted that if the same tax money had been invested by either the employer or the employee or both, there would have been an additional source of income for this purpose, too.

Many individuals are aware that an amount invested at 2 1/2 per cent to be paid to them at age 65 would guarantee them the same monthly benefit as will be paid under Social Security and would cost about $5,196, which is much less than Social Security taxes over the years prior to retirement at age 65.

Some statisticians have figured out that maybe a person would be better off by taking out a private insurance policy. There are some extra advantages in the government plan, such as possible benefits for the family. But the amount of money paid by the new employee and his employer prior to retirement age will in many cases be in excess of what the government does out in the form of benefits.

Now, moreover, as Social Security taxes are going to be increased to offset the rise in benefits, the individual will be paying far more than he will ever receive unless the benefits are increased in the future and the added costs are to be passed on to be collected annually from the next generation.

Bob Considine Says:

Strong GOP Comeback May Mean Jolt for Ho

NEW YORK — One of the several misconceptions under which Ho Chi Minh appears to be laboring is that the defeat next month of a sufficient number of congressional candidates riding LBJ's coattails would mean a declaration of the U.S. war effort in Viet Nam.

A strong GOP comeback on Capitol Hill — and in the 35 governors' chairs which will be filled — could produce the opposite result. By and large, Republican noses are harder than the Democrat's president's on the question of how best to get Ho to holler "uncle."

Recent guidelines laid down by Gen. Eisenhower, Dick Nixon and Gen. LeMay suggest that if they were back in power they would play to "win" much more aggressively than the President thinks is now proper.

Any substantial rejection of Democrats who have their campaigns on total support of the way LBJ is now running the war may put a crimp in the future course of the Great Society, particularly in its massive welfare projects and civil rights aims.

But the only effect it could have on the war would be a strong and perhaps compelling demand that it be vigorously stepped up.

MIGHT TIGHTEN SCREWS

Whether the President and the Democratic majority in both houses of the Congress would yield to demands of this nature is not known positively.

But chances are that if the future of the Great Society legislation was imperiled, the majority would accede and tighten the screws of war a bit more.

The military involved in carrying out LBJ's Viet Nam policy believes it can swing much harder against the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam without serious danger of bringing Red China into the war. This is notably true of the Air Force.

most deeply interests the enemy. Ho has nothing to gain, no matter which way the straws blow. But it is unlikely that he knows this.

What Ho clearly does not sense is that if the election rebuffs the Administration and diminishes its overpowering majority in the halls of Congress it will double rebuff him and the people he has chosen to lead against a patient giant who could swat him like a fly.

Cong Victims of Own Excesses

By RAY CROMLEY
SAIGON (NEA)—Viet Cong sources say their leadership has become worried over the the "rich" peasant. They have since this in part by robbing him and his family. In some places they have levied taxes on him which are greater than the value of his crops. Because he has been terrorized or cannot pay his taxes, he runs away. The Communists then take over these "abandoned" farms and either divide them or rent them out.

The Viet Cong so far have been quite successful in many places with the very poor peasants. They have succeeded in part by confiscating land from the rich and distributing it to the poor at no cost to themselves.

Though in many places they have since raised taxes to high levels, they have convinced many of these poor farmers that if the government comes back they will lose their land. By constant reiteration they have sold them on the idea that it's better to pay high taxes and "own" the land than it is to have no land at all.

When the poor farmer has doubts, the Communists tell him to go look at the national government's official land books. He will see there that his land is still officially in the hands of absentee landlords and others.

In part, the Communists have been victims of their own propaganda. They shouted about the wickedness of all landlords so loudly that local party cells went whole hog and attacked the middle class along with the "rich" farmers.

To the best of their ability, the Viet Cong have driven out

'Black Americans Must Recapture Pride'

Hundreds of years ago when our African ancestors were inhumanly enslaved, they were deprived of their identities, cultures and languages. Still they maintained a deep spiritual sense of pride and dignity that we, their African-American descendants, do not have today.

We must go forth with pride and dignity once again. We must throw off our self-made impotency and racial indifference. These shortcomings are continuing to divide us as a race and are stunting our progress as individuals.

Question and Answer

Isn't there a law that a man arrested for a felony must have a hearing within 10 days of arraignment? Can a case be thrown out if this isn't done? Can the man be arrested all over again?

D. B.

REPLY

Yes to the first question, but the 10-day limitation or the preliminary examination may be waived by the defendant. If it isn't waived and there's no hearing within 10 days, the case can be thrown out, but the man could be arrested again, according to Chief Assistant Prosecutor Plunkett.

He is told that if he is to keep his land, therefore, he must fight the government that "wants to take away from him. He doesn't know what happens to poor farmers when a country is completely Communist, as in Red China or North Korea.

But in many places the VC have already alienated the middle-class farmer. The order from above was not to destroy him, but to take away from him only what he and his family could not farm themselves. In practice, local Communist cadres often treated him as they did the "rich" farmer.

As one Communist administrator of three provinces puts it in a report to his superiors: "Our actions have frightened the middle-class peasant and he has become unproductive. . . . While before it had been easy to mobilize the middle-class peasants to take part in the direct struggle and an average of 300 per village participated in every operation, it is now difficult to mobilize even 50 men."

In rural Viet Nam, the poor farmer traditionally was carried along in bad years and between crops by his landlord — often a small middle-class peasant who owned a little land and farmed some and rented out a place or two. The landlords charged very high rates, but the farmer at least had someone to carry him.

Now, a Viet Cong official reports: "The middle-class peasants no longer lend money to the poor. The poor farmer has become angry with us because he could not borrow money to buy a paddy for planting his crops."

Volunteers Hear Theatre Head

By JANET ODELL

Committee women working on the Meadow Brook Theatre at Oakland University had an opportunity Wednesday to meet the new director, John Fernald, and to hear more of his plans for the upcoming season.

An organization similar to the one that has proved so successful for the Meadow Brook Music Festival has been set up.

Mrs. Charles Adams who with her husband is heading all committees for the theatre venture presided at the meeting.

Prior to that, the women had met Fernald and his staff informally on the stage of the Matilda Wilson Auditorium. Tea was served near the wings.

Chancellor D. B. Varner gave a quick look at the background of the new performing arts project.

He noted that it is closely tied in with the music festival. Oakland University considers that just the beginning of a cultural development for the entire metropolitan area.

The school has assumed a role here unlike that of any other university.

He stressed that the theatre will not be a student operation; that it is a purely professional company. Six key people from the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London are here or are coming to, assist Fernald as staff members.

Fernald was head of the Academy for many years before returning to his native land and Oakland University in July.

"Ventures succeed because good people make them go," Varner concluded.

Fernald told the nearly 100 women present that the new theatre will not have stars.

He prefers the type of company in which all are strong professional actors who have perfect rapport with one another and who play together with the symphony of a musical quartet.

Rehearsals will begin in about four weeks.

"Then I go into purdah," Fernald said, "and have no time for this kind of social life."

This committee method of working may not be the way Fernald is used to getting things done. But he said he is approaching the project with "confident anticipation."

Shortly after this group of women left Wilson Auditorium, drama teachers from three counties were expected to arrive and to hear the same story.

In addition to regular evening performances, Meadow Brook Theatre will present matinees for area high school students.

Season tickets for all performances are now on sale at Oakland University.

Interested individuals who have not received a brochure may contact the theatre by phone at Oakland University or may write directly to the box office there.

The first play will be presented Jan. 3, 1967.

Romeo Will Never Kiss and Tell Even if He Isn't Very Romantic

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have met a remarkable man who does not believe in the delightful practice of kissing for the simple reason that it spreads germs. He is sincere and practices his belief to the fullest. How can a normal man resist the urge to kiss someone he cares deeply for? Surely there must be some temptation!

• Or do you think this is a characteristic to be admired. A victory of intelligence over the emotions? Personally I would risk getting a few delicious germs, but he doesn't feel that way about it. What do you think? Sign this:

KISSABLE BUT UNKISSED

DEAR UNKISSED: I'm all for a clean relationship, but this is ridiculous. A kissless romance, as I see it, is not likely to hatch into anything as intimate as marriage, where it's share and share alike, germs included.

So if that's what you had in mind, kiss this germ-conscious Romeo good-by. And be careful not to breathe on him.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law problem is different from any I have ever seen in your column. She can't do enough for me. When I call and invite her and dad here for dinner she says, "It's too much work for you — come here instead." And she won't take no for an answer. So we go, and she always sends us home loaded with tasty leftovers. She is constantly sending my husband and me gifts.

She sounds perfect, doesn't she? Well, she's far from it. On two occasions I've bought her gifts. She returned both of them and credited them to MY account. She's the most ungracious guest I have ever known.

When I finally got her to come over one afternoon, she sat with her coat on and stayed only a few minutes. She wouldn't even have a cup of tea because she didn't want to put me to any trouble. What on earth is wrong with her?

BEBUILDERS

DEAR BEBUILDERS: She means well, but she has never learned how to accept anything graciously. The burden of gratitude is too heavy for her to say "thank you." I doubt if she'll ever change, so try to understand her.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "UNHAPPY" IN ENGLEWOOD: Your unhappiness appears to be caused not so much by what you don't have as by what your neighbor has. Reflect on it.

Coffee onstage was the preliminary to Wednesday's meeting of the volunteer committees for the upcoming Meadow Brook Theatre at Oakland University. Rubber Heart Use Foreseen in Five Years

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Heart surgeons are predicting that within five years, rubber artificial hearts will be used frequently to save the lives of sufferers from heart disease.

Texas heart surgeon Dr. Michael E. DeBakey wrote a new chapter in medical history by implanting a "half-heart" in a rheumatic heart victim.

The patient died a little more than four days after the historic operation, but death was attributed to a ruptured lung and not the failure of the left ventricle bypass, as the "half-heart" was called.

Since then, comparable operations involving portions of the heart have been performed by medical teams in various parts of the country. A Mexican woman survived the bypass which allowed her weakened heart to rest.

Now, another team of scientists is at work here seeking to perfect a completely artificial heart.

RESEARCH UNIT

They are rubber chemists, engineers, physicists and experts trained in physiology, hydraulics, electronics and other disciplines, working for the research division of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

The company entered the synthetic heart business nearly six years ago when Robert M. Pierson, manager of synthetic rubber research, heard Dr. William J. Kolff of the Cleveland Clinic discuss the clinic's work on artificial heart valves.

Pierson thought since rubber is more like cardiovascular tissue than any other substance, Goodyear could help. Dr. Kolff agreed that rubber might be the answer because it is flexible and expands and contracts like natural tissue.

Their search focused on air-driven designs, one of which closely resembled the human heart. It had the same shape as well as two inner sacs that alternately received and expelled blood by squeezing.

MODIFICATIONS

Successful implants of this first artificial heart were made in animals, but Pierson and Kolff continued to improve their laboratory heart, making a variety of modifications.

Today, six years later, the improved rubber heart is smaller and lighter than its predecessors. Parts of the new model, Pierson explained, are more readily suited to real tissue than earlier prototypes.

Less external instrumentation and control machinery is needed. A new type of fabric used for the chambers above the ventricles promotes rapid build-up of tissue-like surfaces and prevents clotting.

The heart has undergone endurance tests on a mock circulatory system in Goodyear's laboratories of up to 500 consecutive hours.

PUMPING BLOOD

"These tests," Pierson said, "show the heart is capable of pumping blood through a system that simulates the circulatory system of a calf."

COVER SHOT OF NEW MET—The new home of the Metropolitan Opera at Lincoln Center was the subject for the latest "Big Shot"—a series of multiflashbulb pictures taken by Sylvania Electric Products, Inc. This photograph was shot by Joseph Costa with 201 bulbs and is being used on the cover of the Met's program during the 1966-67 season.

'Big Shot' Gets Big Play

By CHARLES E. KURTAK
Project Manager, Photo Lamp, Sylvania Electric Products Inc.
Written for the Associated Press

PHOTOGRAPHY has played an important role in getting the new home of the Metropolitan Opera at Lincoln Center off to a successful beginning.

During the last few weeks, photographs and stories about the Met's new home have been featured in practically every major publication in this country.

It appears the trend is now spreading onto the international press scene.

One photograph that has been taken of the opera house will continue to be of a major importance to opera-goers throughout the coming season.

That is the photograph that appears on the cover of each performance's program.

SUPERCOLOSSAL
The program cover photograph was taken by Joseph Costa for Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., as one of the company's continuing "Big Shots"—a photograph of a supercolossal subject taken with multiple flashbulbs.

Costa has taken other "Big Shots" for Sylvania, including the curtain stage of the old Metropolitan Opera House, which appeared on the program cover for seven years, the Diamond Horseshoe of the old Met, and the USS Antietam.

Big Shots taken by other photographers for Sylvania have included Carlsbad Caverns; Lewiston, Long Island; Chicago Museum of Science and Industry; Horseshoe Curve of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Altoona, Pa.; the New York Stock Exchange; the Great Pyramid of Cheops in Egypt; the St. Louis Airport, and Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

These photographs have required from 36 flashbulbs (Met Diamond Horseshoe) up to 6,000 (Great Pyramid of Cheops), and a lot of time and patience.

on the part of the electrical crews, liaison people, and particularly, the photographer.

COMPANY CONTRIBUTION
Most of them were done because Sylvania wanted to show what could be done with multiple flash.

The new one is the company's contribution to the Metropolitan Opera.

Each "Big Shot" has had to face its own special kind of problems and the latest was no exception.

Since the final result was aimed at publication, deadlines had to be observed all along the way.

MAJOR DIFFICULTY
The major difficulty in facing some of these deadlines was that other developments taking place in the construction of the opera house did not always coincide with the photographic schedule, which Costa and Sylvania tried to maintain.

If the result was to get a photograph of the proscenium arch and the gold curtain, certain things had to first be accomplished—like the installation of a gold curtain.

Therefore, the newness of the opera house complicated the photographic assignments, not only for Sylvania, but all publications who tried to have timely photographs of it.

But as the photographic results have already shown in many publications, the problems were solved admirably.

CAREFUL CALCULATION
From the beginning conception of the new Sylvania "Big Shot," Costa calculated every circumstance required in shooting a multiple flash photograph.

He began with Polaroid test shots to determine camera angles and positions in the maneuvered house.

The extreme "shine" of the interior conditioned Costa's thinking on the positioning of the 201 Sylvania flashbulbs used for the exposure.

Pontiac Man Bound Over

Charged with burglarizing a Pontiac market, a Pontiac man yesterday was bound over to Circuit Court for arraignment Oct. 19 on a count of breaking and entering.

Larry E. Stephens, 23, of 109 Henry Clay was remanded to the Oakland County Jail in $10,000 bond following preliminary examination before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

McCallum adjourned until Oct. 13 Stephens' scheduled examination on a charge of escaping from custody in connection with the same case.

Stephens was apprehended early Oct. 3 by Pontiac police after a break-in at People's Market, 100 Bagley.

He walked out of a detention room at the station minutes after being taken into custody, but surrendered to authorities three days later.

Winds, Waves to Be Forecast

By Science Service
WASHINGTON—Ocean winds and waves throughout the world may soon be forecast more than half a day in advance, thanks to a super-wave-system with a satellite sending an endless stream of data to a huge electronic computer.

Prodigious covering the entire Northern Hemisphere and part of the Southern Hemisphere may be possible within a year, Dr. Willard J. Pierson Jr., of New York University School of Engineering and Science, reported here.

Mathematical techniques for a computer-based system created by Dr. Pierson and a flat-map projection of the world's oceans developed by scientists at Lockheed-California Co., Burbank, are ready to go. What they need is to be fed with accurate initial information.

Trying to make forecasts from present data is like playing the stock market with yesterday's tapes, Dr. Pierson believes.

Class A Powers Clash Friday Night

Vikings, Ann Arbor in 'Dream Game'

Michigan Stadium has been the site of many memorable football contests but nearby Ann Arbor High School field will draw the attention Friday night.

A fan's "dream game" looms when Ann Arbor's Pioneers entertain Walled Lake with coaching milestones, state ranking and perhaps individual recognition intertwined with the spirited hitting of two successful high school teams.

Ann Arbor's fourth-ranked Pioneers (weekly state Associated Press Class A poll) will be favored entering the contest. They won last year's encounter at Walled Lake and have the home field advantage this fall.

Both teams are unbeaten and have potent offenses. But the Pioneers have shown an inconsistency on defense that could be their downfall against the determined Vikings, who are the fifth-rated squad.

Walled Lake has yielded two touchdowns in only one game and its front four of Tom Carl, Ron James, Dave Horton and Mike Richards is a hard hitting unit.

The foursome will have a stern test from the talented Ann Arbor backfield that features quarterback Mark Carrow's accurate aerials and the speedy runs of wingback Bruce Sharemore.

In addition, injured runner Fred Smith is expected back this week and co-captain Dave Beemer handles the other running back duties.

THREAT

Carrow is the real threat, though, both on rollouts and with his passing to slender, shifty split end Tom Conner, a 135-pounder. The Pioneer quarterback is an All-State candidate as the team continues to record the victories.

Walled Lake can counter with a candidate of its own in fullback Gus Maragos, who also is akin to a mighty mite at 5-8 and 180 pounds.

Maragos is complemented by halfbacks Steve Fogle and Russ Herron, both of whom have garnered five touchdowns this year. Rich Schmalz is a fine ball handler at quarterback.

The game also will find Viking coach Dave Smith in quest of his 75th victory at Walled Lake in his 89th game there. Ann Arbor mentor Jay Stielstra will be after his 50th triumph in his 61st contest with the Pioneers.

Game time is 8 p.m. with tickets still available. The field, located directly across from Michigan Stadium, has seating for 7,000-8,000 fans — including 1,000 seats on the visitors' side.

While challenging for state ranking, Walled Lake likely will lose its share of first place in the Inter-Lakes League since unbeaten Farmington will visit puncheon Livonia Stevenson Friday night.

Ann Arbor holds first place in the Six-A League. The Pioneers have a two-year five-game success string, while Walled Lake hasn't lost since its Ann Arbor defeat nine games ago.

PLAY-CALLING VIKING — Walled Lake's quarterback duties in tomorrow night's big invasion of Ann Arbor will be handled by Rich Schmalz. The lanky senior gained valuable experience last season and has propelled the Vikings to 129 points in their last three games.

Skippers Have Slim Title Chance; Huskies Out of Contention

Pontiac Northern and Waterford, both with high Inter-Lakes League football hopes before the season started, try to pick up the pieces against each other Friday night.

Both teams have lost three straight after impressive opening victories and PNH, 0-2 in I-L play, has been eliminated from the title picture.

Waterford opened league play last week and lost a key game to Farmington. The Skippers will have to down PNH, Walled Lake and Stevenson to tie for the crown — providing Walled Lake gets past Farmington.

This will be Waterford's homecoming and the Skippers are expected to be at full strength. However, the same can't be said for Northern, current holder of the Jimmy Dey AMVET Trophy that is awarded each year to the winner of the football game between the two schools.

The PNH backfield has been riddled by injuries.

Dana Coin, the Huskies' triple threat tailback, is a doubtful starter because of a hip injury suffered in last week's loss to Walled Lake.

Tony DeLaRosa reinjured his ankle and is doubtful. Others out of action are Gary Collins and Larry Gilyard. The defensive backfield has been hardest hit.

"We haven't been able to get three boys together for a game since our opener," said Coach Dave Schmidt. "This makes it difficult for our defensive backfield to function properly."

Schmidt said there were no injuries along the line and that it "has been doing a good job."

BIG WEAKNESS

If Coin is sidelined or not up to par even if he is able to play, PNH will suffer in the passing department. And this is one area where Waterford has shown a major weakness.

On the other hand, the Skippers have a better than average passing attack. Halfbacks Steve Golt and Bruce Saffron are the primary receivers of quarterback Bob Thomas' slants.

Sophomore signal caller Brad Potter impressed coach John Moffatt during his brief stints against Farmington and may see more action in future contests.

Another sophomore, center-tackle Bruce Carlson was named lineman of the week and Saffron was tabbed the top back.

Northern won last year, 13-0. Like most PNH-Waterford football games, the one Friday is rated even.

Italians Triumph

MOSCOW, (UPI) — Inter of Milan held Torpedo of Moscow to a scoreless tie before 103,000 spectators in Lenin Stadium Wednesday night to advance to the next round of the European Cup Soccer competition. Inter won the first leg at Milan 1-0.

PCH in Running for Valley Crown

The Saginaw Valley Conference football race is normally a one-team show — Bay City Central.

Not this year. Going into the fifth week of the 1966 season, any one of at least six teams could win the title.

Pontiac Central is one of them.

The Chiefs are 2-2 in the league race, but only one game back of the leaders — Midland, Saginaw Arthur Hill and Flint Southwestern. Those three are 3-1.

All the Chiefs have to do is finish unbeaten and hope for some help from the other teams. That's a big chore, but it can be done.

MEETS SAGINAW

PCH will get started tomorrow night at Wisner Stadium, entertain old rival Saginaw in the 34th meeting between the two.

After Saginaw, the Chiefs face Southwestern and Bay City Central on the road and Flint Central at home in league games.

In the only other SVC game on Friday night, Midland plays at BC Central. Flint Southwestern entertains BC Handy Saturday night. On the nonconference slate tomorrow evening, Flint Central is at Flint Northwestern and Saginaw Arthur Hill plays host to Douglas MacArthur.

The Chiefs are a slight favorite to hand Saginaw its third setback of the season.

PCH has a solid ground game built around fullback Bennie Williams, halfbacks Bruce Turpin and Hardiman Jones and quarterback Lee White.

White's also an able passer and he has a good receiver in Walter Terry, who has caught two touchdown passes.

Baseball Aide Quitting Job?

MacPhail Expected to Join Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—Lee MacPhail was expected to resign today as administrative assistant to Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert and accept the post of general manager of the New York Yankees.

MacPhail, 49-year-old son of Larry MacPhail, a former co-owner of the Yankees, was expected to be named general manager of the American League club at a press conference.

The younger MacPhail, who has been Commissioner Eckert's top aide for the past 11 months, formerly was president and general manager of the Baltimore Orioles. He has been credited with putting together the team that swept the American League pennant and the World Series this year.

He was the Yankees' farm club director before joining the Orioles in November, 1958.

'Head Start' for Rookie

Tom Mack Passes Test

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tom Mack, rookie guard for the Los Angeles Rams, from U. of Michigan, describes his first pro football start last week as a bruising experience.

The 6-foot-3, 245-pound Mack against Detroit, and played the entire game against Roger Brown, a 300-pound defensive tackle.

"The first thing I knew he slapped my helmet so hard it almost took off my head," Mack said Wednesday.

"The idea was to turn my head and throw me off balance," he added. "Then he would grab my shoulder on the same side and try to pull me out of the way."

He must have slapped my helmet at least 20 times during the game and each slap felt like I'd been kicked in the head by a mule.

Frenchman Sets Mark

PARIS, France (AP) — Michel Jazy, the Frenchman who held the world mile record of 3:58.6 before Jim Ryun of Kansas lowered it to 3:51.3 at Berkeley, Calif. last July, set a world record of 4:56.2 for the 2,000 meters Wednesday night.

Bronson Target of Judge's Ire

Defense Lawyer Sides With the Prosecutor

Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson today was bombarded with criticism from Circuit Judge James S. Thibault for the judge's claims is a deliberate delay in pursuing a controversial burglary case.

Arguments on a motion to dismiss the case against Harvey (Raffles of Hollywood) Allen of Oak Park and Charles Fields of Detroit were to be heard yesterday, but neither the assistant prosecutor handling the case nor the defense attorney appeared, said Thibault.

The defense attorney, Carlton Roeder of Pontiac, said this morning that Bronson was not to blame since it was agreed on the record Monday that the hearing would be adjourned from yesterday to today.

Roeder said that the judge was not present at the time since he had to attend a memorial service, but according to his clerk, the judge had said he would agree to any stipulation.

"It isn't true," said Thibault. "A clerk cannot adjourn a case. I'll have to dismiss the case if they don't get into court." Bronson said he was "appalled" at the attacks made on him and his office by Thibault. "As chief law enforcement officer of this county I have strenuously disagreed with Judge Thibault discharging of this case."

Thibault tossed the case out of court in declaring a mistrial against the two men last month on the basis that the charges against them were not defined. Renewed charges were made a week later and the pair arraigned again.

"A possibility exists that these men might be freed because of these erroneous rulings of this judge," said Bronson.

"The so-called delay yesterday was done openly and on the record," he added. "The reason for the delay was the assistant prosecutor's failure to be familiar with the case as was in California on a contested extradition."

Vandals Damage Boys' Club Facility

Vandals caused considerable destruction recently to the Boys' Club of Waterford Township, located on Blaine Island, Waterford Township police learned yesterday.

The front and rear doors were kicked in, two pictures were tipped off the walls and a smashed on the floor and a wall was poured on floors, windows, walls and on a chandelier in the main room.

Blaine Island is located between Macadey and Lotus lakes.

Lynda Bird Seen Flying to Munich to Join Beau

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Lynda Bird Johnson's friends prophesy that she'll follow George Hamilton to Munich in a couple of weeks (he departed over the week-end on a carpet of ferrets). That's increase the likelihood they're on the Merge Verge.

Funny part of Lynda Bird's devotion the other night: While already watching George film a movie "The Jack of Diamonds" in an apartment building at 77th and York, she wanted to break in and see George on the Million Brite TV show. A friend went to some 15 apartments and asked to borrow a TV set for Lynda Bird to watch George. The tenants either didn't care, didn't believe it, or thought somebody was just trying to steal their TV set — until Mrs. Martin Goodfriend opened her door. Mrs. Goodfriend was a real good friend and lent Lynda Bird her set. Anyway, in Broadway language, that's "being hung on a guy."

Irving Berlin gave Irving Hoffman a fresh-caught trout for his dinner. Hoffman was carrying the trout when a friend invited him to dine at the Volin. Hoffman ate chicken pie and left the trout in the checkroom — first time, so far as is known that Volin's fancy checkroom has been to check a fish.

Lower Voting Age Endorsed

Unanimous Approval by County Dem Unit

The Nov. 8 statewide election proposal to lower the voting age to 18 has received endorsement of the Oakland County Democratic Committee.

A movement to gain further support is being led by William T. Roberts of Walled Lake and William Heaton of Pontiac.

Democratic County Chairman George Georgias said the proposal was unanimous approval from members of the committee.

Robert said, "The 18- to 20-year-olds of today are second-class citizens. The 18-year-old is asked to give his life in the service of our country, yet he isn't given a voice in national affairs."

"The 18-year-old is asked to pay taxes, yet he doesn't have a say as to how his tax money is spent," said Roberts. "The 18-year-old vote is long overdue."

Republicans gave their support to the 18-year-old vote when they adopted their platform at the state convention in Detroit in August.

Charged with Nicholson, and arranged yesterday before a U.S. Commissioner in Youngstown, Ohio, was Ernest Holt, formerly of Cleveland.

FBI agents said a detainee has been placed on Nicholson at the federal penitentiary in Terre Haute, Ind., where he is serving a 15-year sentence.
