$250,000 Fire in Oxford

BATTLE OXFORD FIRE — Unidentified firemen from one of 10 departments clamber over fallen bricks to get at the last of flames which destroyed six businesses in downtown Oxford early this morning. Preliminary estimates put the total damage at $250,000.

Six Businesses Destroyed in Early Morning

10 Departments Join in Fighting Flames; 30 Firemen Stricken

By BILL EASTHAM
Assistant City Editor, Suburban

The worst fire in the history of Oxford wiped out six businesses in the downtown area this morning and threatened for a time to destroy an entire block.

Preliminary damage estimates were set at nearly $250,000.

Firemen from 10 departments fought for almost six hours to control the blaze, which was discovered at 2:30 a.m. by Oxford Police Sgt. Ray Westphal.

No serious injuries were reported, but nearly 30 firemen were treated at the scene when they were overcome by smoke.

Completely destroyed by the blaze were the Parrish Insurance Agency and Oxford Office Supply which were located in a building which also contained the vending machine inventory of Kenneth Huff, and an empty building formerly occupied by the Bartlett Paint and Glass Co.

Severely damaged were Oxford Auto Supply on the ground floor of the Masonic Temple, the Oxford Cafe and Bill's Bar.

All are located on the east side of Washington in the first block south of the main four corners.

★ ★ ★

Asst. Fire Chief Claude Rogers said the fire apparently started either in the basement or the ground floor of Oxford Office Supply and was burning fiercely by the time the first firemen arrived on the scene.

FLASH FIRE

"It was a flash fire," Rogers said.

Strong winds from the northwest fanned the flames, causing them to spread through three buildings to the south of the office supply store and insurance agency building.

A mobile crane was brought in from the nearby American Aggregates gravel mine and was used to knock down the front of the insurance building, which was weakened by the intense heat.

An aerial ladder truck was called in from Bloomfield Hills but was not needed.

EVERYBODY HAPPY?—Bonnie Britton, 17-year-old North Farmington High School senior, is all smiles after being named Michigan's Junior Miss Saturday night at Pontiac Northern High School. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Britton, 34234 Northwick, Farmington Township, convey the same happy feeling.

State Junior Miss

Area Girl Wins Crown

"It's just so marvelous, I can hardly believe it," said Michigan's new Junior Miss, 17-year-old Bonnie Britton of Farmington Township.

The 5-4, 120-pound, hazel-eyed, taffy blonde emerged victorious over 28 other candidates from throughout the state Saturday night at Pontiac Northern High School.

Bonnie, a senior at North Farmington High School, now sets her sights on the Junior Miss America Pageant March 19-26 at Mobile, Ala.

Another Michiganite, Patrice Gaunder of Stevensville, won the national Junior Miss contest last year, but Bonnie feels a repeat performance is "too much to hope for."

If she succeeds, it will mark the first time a state has produced back-to-back winners in a national pageant since University of Mississippi sorority sisters Mary Ann Mobley and Lynda Lee Mead managed the feat in the 1959-60 Miss America contests.

THEATRICAL CAREER

Bonnie, who aspires to a theatrical career in the footsteps of her parents who were both Broadway performers until a few years ago, was selected by a panel of six judges.

The field was narrowed to 10 finalists before the four runners-up and Miss Britton were named. It climaxed two days of competition in which contestants were rated on scholastic achievement, character, youth fitness, poise, personality and creative abilities.

First runner-up in the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored pageant was Jill Carter of Lansing. The other runners-up, in order, were Mary Dombrowski of Southgate, Terry Sarapo of Lenawee County and Marcia Blalock of Portage.

★ ★ ★

ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

Misses Eads and Strauss were presented talent and scholastic achievement awards, respectively, by the Jaycee Auxiliary and Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.

Bonnie sang "Wouldn't It Be Loverly," a smash hit from the Broadway musical "My Fair Lady," in the talent competition.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Britton of 34234 Northwick helped her prepare for the number.

Britton, an account supervisor for Wilding Inc., once played the lead role of Emile de Beque in the Broadway production of "South Pacific."

The family moved to Michigan four years ago from New Jersey.

According to Mrs. Britton, Bonnie "has been stagestruck ever since she was born."

Bonnie intends to enroll at the University of Michigan next fall, majoring in dramatic arts and minoring in psychology and Portuguese.

★ ★ ★

She feels the Junior Miss contest will make her a better person and that it may "curb down my talking. I jabber a lot," said Bonnie.

★ ★ ★

For winning, Bonnie received a $1,000 college scholarship and two U. S. savings bonds totaling $525. The four runners-up also were awarded scholarships or bonds.

Winner of the national title will receive a $6,000 college scholarship.

Air Attacks on N. Viet Resumed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)— The United States unleashed its bombers against North Viet Nam today after holding off air attacks for 37 days while vainly trying to bring the Communists to the peace table.

The first waves of U.S. Navy and Air Force planes hit bridges, ferries, barges, warehouse areas and storage facilities well south of the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial area.

Late flights pummeled Highway No. 1, a main artery along the coast, wrecking a truck convoy and destroying a bridge, a U.S. spokesman reported.

The later attacks were centered around Vihn, on North Viet Nam's central coast.

★ ★ ★

BRIDGE HIT

A U.S. spokesman said Navy pilots claimed destruction of a bridge about 10 miles southeast of Dong Hoi and damage to the approach to the Quang Khe ferry landing about 20 miles north west of Dong Hoi.

Bad weather prevented estimates of the damage in other raids.

One Navy plane was shot down as the raiders encountered heavy ground fire. But a U.S. Air Force helicopter rescued the pilot unharmed under machine gun fire.

Resumption of the bombing had been expected for several days because of repeated statements from Washington that the halt in the strikes had failed to bring a favorable response from North Viet Nam.

BOMBING LULL

Allied intelligence reports said the North Vietnamese made use of the bombing lull to rebuild roads, railways and bridges destroyed by U.S. planes in the past year.

Aerial photographs revealed pontoon bridges strung across rivers, and heavy traffic has been spotted moving toward South Viet Nam over the past two weeks.

On the ground, the Viet Cong backed by regulars of the North Vietnamese forces were goaded into action by allied troops who have penetrated Communist hideouts in the central coast-

LBJ Begins New Peace Move in U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson launched a new Viet Nam peace move in the United Nations today immediately after he ordered the resumed bombing of North Vietnamese targets at the end of a 37-day pause.

Johnson told the nation and the world that he ordered resumption of bombing of military targets in North Viet Nam to save lives of U.S., South Vietnamese and allied troops fighting Communist forces in South Viet Nam.

The Reds are reinforced by supplies and men sent from North Viet Nam.

On Johnson's orders, which the President himself announced, U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg then called for an immediate meeting of the U.N. Security Council to hear a report on the collapse of the U.S. peace offensive and to receive a resolution for new diplomatic action.

★ ★ ★

"The end of the pause does not mean the end of our own pursuit of peace," Johnson said in his broadcast statement.

'COULD OPEN WAY'

He added that the resolution could "open the way to the conference table."

Johnson endorsed a weekend peace appeal from Pope Paul VI.

The Pope said neutral nations under U. N. sponsorship might be able to initiate arbitration.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after the President spoke, Secretary of State Dean Rusk gave a more specific endorsement to the papal suggestion.

"A role for neutral countries to explore the possibilities of

Disastrous Blaze Called Worst in Village's History

Veteran members of the Oxford Fire Department said this morning's disastrous $250,000 fire was the worst in the history of the village.

Asst. Fire Chief Claude Rogers estimated the total damage will surpass the $200,000 blaze which gutted the Masonic Temple building on March 4, 1957.

That fire also threatened the same block that was nearly ravaged this morning, but most of the damage was confined to the one building.

★ ★ ★

At that time the Masonic Temple was a three-story building. The third floor was never rebuilt after the fire, however.

★ ★ ★

The ground floor of the temple, containing an auto supply store, suffered severe smoke and water damage this morning, but firemen prevented the flames from spreading into the building.

100 FIREMEN

This morning's disaster took six hours to extinguish by nearly 100 firemen from 10 departments.

The 1957 fire was twice as stubborn, however, requiring nearly 12 hours to be brought under control by over 200 firemen from 16 departments.

The last major fire in the village was Feb. 10, 1964, when the Buechler and Sons, Inc., machine shop was nearly destroyed.

★ ★ ★

Damage in the fire was estimated at $50,000.

New Soft-Landing Try

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has launched Luna 9 toward the moon, Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported today. It apparently was another attempt to make a soft landing on the moon with an instrument package.

Temperature Will Climb

A welcome warming trend has been forecast for the Pontiac area.

The United States Weather Bureau predicts southeastern lower Michigan's winds and occasional snow flurries will diminish this afternoon or evening. A 15 to 20 degree high was expected today.

Tonight will be mostly cloudy with a low of from 6 to 14. Snow and not as cold is the Tuesday outlook with highs in the 20 to 27 degree range.

Wednesday is expected to be colder with snow flurries.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 9. At 2 p.m., the temperature indicator read 20.

Court to Hear Hoffa Appeal

To View Question in Jury Tampering Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to a limited review of James R. Hoffa's conviction in 1964 on jury tampering charges.

In a brief order, the court said it would hear the Teamsters Union president's appeal on one question alone.

That is; "whether evidence obtained by the government by means of deceptively placing a secret informer in the quarters and councils of a defendant during one criminal trial so violates the defendant's Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Amendment rights that suppression of such evidence is required in a subsequent trial of the same defendant on a different charge."

★ ★ ★

Hoffa asked reversal by the court of his conviction. He was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000.

3-YEAR SENTENCES

Three codefendants, each sentenced to three years in prison, filed separate appeals.

Their petitions to be heard also were granted, limited to the one question. The three are Thomas Ewing Parks, Larry Campbell and Ewing King.

Hoffa and the three others were tried in federal court in Chattanooga, Tenn., on charges of tampering with the jury in Hoffa's 1962 conspiracy trial in Nashville.

★ ★ ★

The Nashville trial ended in a mistrial when jurors could not agree.

In his 82-page appeal, Hoffa said his case presented 18 questions for Supreme Court consideration. The Justice Department opposed hearings for the four men.

SKEPTIC IN FLORIDA—For a 2-year-old Floridian, ice is something from the home freezer and Donald Pallone of Jacksonville is skeptical of the off-tree icicle offered by a neighbor, Byron Johnson, 10. The temperature was down to 20 in Jacksonville and ice formed on the mimosa tree in the path of a lawn sprinkler. This method is used for reducing frost damage.

Record Cold, Snow Cripple East Coast

By The Associated Press

Lashed by a storm piling up deep snow, and whipped by violent winds, the East Coast shuddered today in the grip of a record-breaking cold wave extending from Florida to Maine.

The blizzard, and extreme cold in other areas, contributed to at least 75 deaths from highway accidents, fires and heart attacks in 16 states.

The severe storm swept up the coast over the weekend, leaving cold behind and virtually paralyzing travel in major cities of the populous Northeast, including the nation's capital.

Two states struck the hardest, Delaware and Virginia, declared a state of emergency.

Two feet of snow fell in some parts of Virginia and National Guard units were ordered to help clear clogged highways in Delaware.

★ ★ ★

In northern and central Florida, the gigantic citrus crop was threatened by freezing temperatures.

TRAVELERS STUCK

Thousands of travelers were inconvenienced as airports in Washington, New York, Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia and Montreal were "socked in" by conditions that made take-offs and landings almost impossible on ice-caked runways.

Washington struggled under 16 inches of snow — the worst accumulation in the city in 44 years. The storm dumped 12 new inches of snow with four inches still on the ground from a storm a week ago.

Federal government and city employes in the capital were told to stay away from work in the morning except for emergencies. However, Congress was scheduled to meet.

State legislative sessions were canceled in Albany, N.Y., and Annapolis, Md.

DRIVING HAZARD

With driving conditions extremely hazardous, schools were closed in many of the states. At Ithaca, N.Y., about 2,000 Cornell University students were given an extra day to prepare for mid-term examinations.

Icy roads and drifting snow were the main hazard, with visibility cut to zero in many areas. Portions of key state highways were shut down and hundreds of motorists were stranded.

In one of the worst traffic accidents, 40 persons were injured last night in a series of chain-reaction collisions on New York's thruway between Rochester and Buffalo.

Fifteen to 20-foot waves were reported in Narragansett Bay in Rhode Island, flooding low-lying coastal areas. Winds up to 60 miles an hour buffeted some parts of the New Jersey shore.

The cold blast dipped into the Deep South, as temperatures skidded to subzero levels in parts of Georgia. In Atlanta, a reading of three below zero was recorded, a low for the date.

Gas Shutoff Being Probed

FBI, State Officials Hunt Clues at Alpena

ALPENA (AP) — The mercury hovered just above zero in this slumbering northern Lower Michigan city when someone turned off the gas to some 2,000 homes and businesses yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Gas company officials said a man who "knew what he was doing" climbed a five-foot wire fence at a gas pumping station outside the city of 14,000 at 3:30 a.m. and turned off the main valves.

★ ★ ★

FBI and State Police started an investigation.

Some 60 additional servicemen were called in from other cities.

Service was restored to about half the customers by midafternoon.

All were back in service by 8 p.m. except for a few businesses closed yesterday which were restored early today.

★ ★ ★

Harold Lauer, the Alpena manager of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., said tracks in the snow indicated that someone was brought to the station in a car.

Nobody could offer any reason why anybody would want to shut off the gas.

The temperature at Alpena General Hospital dropped to 5 degrees before heat could be restored via an emergency service, a hospital spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

The gas company had to dispatch servicemen to each customer to turn off all gas outlets before the main valves could be reopened, a spokesman said.

CALL AGAIN

Then they had to return to relight pilot lights and turn out the outlets.

Mrs. Lauer, wife of the gas company manager, told a reporter that she didn't have any heat either.

"Ours probably will be the last turned on," she said huddled in her coat. "We're not getting any preferential treatment."

The problem was eased somewhat because many homes still had electric stoves and heaters. In some sections, Consolidated Gas only recently had installed gas heat equipment.

★ ★ ★

Another Alpena couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, said they managed to keep their home comfortable with a wood-burning fireplace.

peace," Rusk told a news conference. "would be entirely agreeable and welcomed by the United States."

Rusk disclosed at the news conference that the United States had made an offer to North Viet Nam to extend the bombing lull if North Viet Nam would respond to Johnson's peace offensive with some gesture of its own.

But the only reaction from Hanoi, Rusk said, were "negative, harsh and unyielding."

★ ★ ★

He declared Hanoi had rebuffed every attempt to move toward peace and that the President's "senior advisers," having first recommended the bombing lull and peace drive, finally recommended that the bombing be resumed.

SAVE LIVES

Johnson said he had ordered renewal of the bombing to save the lives of American, South Vietnamese and allied soldiers fighting Communist guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam.

Those forces are supplied and reinforced by infiltration from North Viet Nam.

He said he had carefully considered the counsel of his advisers.

★ ★ ★

"These advisers tell me that if continued immunity is given to all that supports North Vietnamese aggression, the cost in lives — Vietnamese, American and allied — will only be greatly increased," Johnson said.

LIMIT COSTS

"In the light of the words and actions of the government in Hanoi, it is our clear duty to do what we can to limit these costs."

Operation Masher, the U.S. 1st Cavalry's hedge-hopping push around Bong Son, about 300 miles northeast of Saigon, was heavily engaged for the fifth straight day in a firefight the Viet Cong used as a withdrawal action.

AUTOMATIC FIRE

A storm of automatic fire and mortar shelling struck a battalion of troopers at 6 a.m. and lasted for an hour. A spokesman said the Viet Cong used the barrage as cover to slip out of what could have been a death trap.

Most of them got away but the cavalry troops counted 282 Communist dead after four days of heavy fighting with main force Viet Cong and the 18th Regiment of the North Vietnamese 325th division.

A spokesman said another 200 Reds may have been killed in air and artillery attacks.

★ ★ ★

Masher was joined by Vietnamese government airborne troops who in two days have killed 59 Viet Cong.

SENSITIVE SPOT

Toward the coast, 20 miles west of Tuy Hoa, South Korean marines squeezed the Viet Cong in another sensitive spot when they sent a column out on a new search and destroy mission. The insurgents reacted from three directions.

The marines hit them hard, split them up and claimed 188 killed by body count and a store of weapons seized.

In heavy weekend fighting, military authorities said a large Red force wiped out a government militia unit and a relief force 55 miles south of the U.S. air base at Da Nang.

HEAVY CASUALTIES

A small unit of U.S. Special Forces men with the militia suffered heavy casualties, authorities said.

★ ★ ★

A second relief force that searched the area said all members of the two government units were killed, wounded or missing. There was no casualty estimate.

The 1st Cavalry last encountered the North Vietnamese 325th Division two months ago in the bloody battle of Ia Drang Valley, about 110 miles west of Bong Son.

The cavalry lost 270 killed and 600 wounded in that encounter but claimed an estimated 1,300 Communist dead.

★ ★ ★

About 25 miles north of the cavalry sweep, B52 bombers from Guam hit Red positions where U.S. Marines were pressing a massive amphibious assault begun last Firday.

★ ★ ★

The landing was described as the biggest amphibious operation since the Inchon landing in Korea. News of it was withheld until yesterday for security reasons.

ed to the difficulties of fighting the blaze, causing ice to form on ladders, sidewalks and firemen.

Rogers said his crew was delayed at the start by a broken hydrant valve. He said the valve was apparently frozen and gave way when it was turned on.

Hoses then had to be relocated and hooked up to other hydrants a block on either side.

★ ★ ★

David A. Parrish, owner of the insurance agency, collapsed from a combination of smoke and what was believed to be a mild heart attack.

FIRST AID

He was taken to his home after receiving first aid from a Bossardet ambulance crew, which also treated the firemen.

It appeared the fire had been brought under control about 5:30, when it had damaged only the insurance building, the Masonic Temple and the empty Bartlett building.

It erupted again a short time later, however, and renewed the threat of consuming the rest of the block.

★ ★ ★

It was at this point that the crane and aerial ladder truck were called in.

ROOF DESTROYED

No walls caved in, but the roof was destroyed on the Oxford Cafe, the insurance building and the former paint store.

The auto supply store at the north end of the area and Bill's Bar on the south suffered severe smoke and water damage but did not catch fire.

An apartment above the bar also was heavily damaged by smoke and water.

Jim Sherman, publisher of The Oxford Leader which is adjacent to the bar, said a letup in the wind about 8 a.m. probably saved the rest of the block, which also includes a dry cleaners, theater, offices and the village fire hall.

Not all of the owners of the damaged property could be reached this morning, but it was reported that at least some of the loss was covered by insurance.

School Act Opposition Is Mounting

DETROIT (UPI) — Protestant opposition to Michigan's Auxiliary Services Act for schools mounted over the weekend as the Detroit Council of Churches came out against the measure.

★ ★ ★

The Detroit group, which represents about 800 Protestant churches, joined outstate church councils and civil liberties groups in opposing the law which was passed last June.

The law requires public school systems furnish special services for parochial and private schools.

Among the services are health care, remedial reading, special services for the handicapped and speech correction.

★ ★ ★

"We are opposed to any law or provision which would tend to weaken or fragmentize the public school system," the council said in a statement released by its Christian Education Division.

NOT IN ACCORD

The council, indicating it felt the law was not in accord with the American tradition of separation of church and state, said, "Although we are deeply concerned that no child be denied assistance in matters relating to his health and safety, we do not support the present Public Law 343 which provides that auxiliary services should be provided by local boards of education equally to private and public schools in the state of Michigan."

City Voting Deadline Is Next Week

Residents have until 8 p. m. next Monday, to register to vote in the March 7 city primary, according to City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley.

The city clerk's office will remain open until 8 p.m. the last day of registration.

Mrs. Barkeley pointed out that residents who have not voted or registered in the last two years should register to be eligible to vote.

If one has moved to another district, he should report the change of address by next Monday to be able to vote in the new district.

★ ★ ★

New residents to the city must also register to vote.

Recently the city clerk's office revised the voter rolls, removing 1,568 names. About 500 of these have re-registered.

Elementary School Site Feeling Growing Pains

BIRMINGHAM — School officials already are confronted with "overcrowding" at Evergreen Elementary School—and the building isn't in operation yet.

The building was designed to house 700 pupils, but enrollment stands now at 704.

Youngsters in the Evergreen area are attending other Birmingham schools until the new unit is opened.

School officials are hopeful the building will be completed by March 1.

★ ★ ★

In the meantime, they have taken action to limit the increasing number of pupils who will be assigned to the school.

VALLEY WOODS

The board of education has decided that all pupils moving into the Evergreen district, on and after the day that the building is open for classes, will be registered in the Valley Woods Elementary School for the remainder of the 1965-66 school year.

The Evergreen district is bounded by 13 Mile Road, Telegraph, the southern Birmingham School District boundary and Lahser.

Projections a year ago indicated there would be about 510 pupils in the Evergreen area.

If the area continues to develop at the present rate, there will be about 850 pupils by Sept. 1.

Educators have noted that redistricting will be needed for the area for the 1966-67 school year.

Established in Detroit in 1941, the school was moved to 2190 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills, five years later.

$70,000 Fire Hits Lodge in Oxford Twp.

A predawn fire yesterday caused an estimated $70,000 worth of damage at the Mount Grampian Ski Lodge on Lakeville Road in Oxford Township.

★ ★ ★

Operators of the lodge reportedly plan to resume operation Wednesday even though most of the lodge's interior was destroyed.

Also destroyed in the fire was the entire stock of 300 pairs of skis, boots and poles, and its ticket offices.

Officials said only the restaurant was not touched by the blaze.

★ ★ ★

Firemen from Oxford and Lake Orion and the townships of Metamora, Addison, Brandon and Independence fought the fire for five hours before bringing it under control.

ON THE SLOPES

The fire apparently started in a room containing artificial snow-making equipment while attendants were on the slopes making snow.

Oxford police said the alarm was turned in at 2:20 a.m. by Vern Pilsworth, owner of the ski area.

Lawyer to Run for Judgeship

Son of Circuit Judge to Seek Probate Post

Birmingham attorney Eugene A. Moore announced today that he is a candidate for Oakland County Probate Judge.

Moore, 30, of 1825 Pine, is the son of Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore, a probate judge for 25 years.

In announcing his intent to follow in his father's footsteps, Moore is the second to officially proclaim his candidacy for the $24,500 a year job.

A week ago, W. Cadman Prout, Oakland County's Friend of the Court for 18 years, revealed that he also would seek the newly created third probate judgeship.

A University of Michigan Law School graduate, Moore, has been a practicing attorney for five years and is associated with the Pontiac law firm of Howlett, Hartman and Beier.

IN U.S. ARMY

Following graduation, Moore served in the U.S. Army with the rank of second lieutenant and is currently a captain in the reserve.

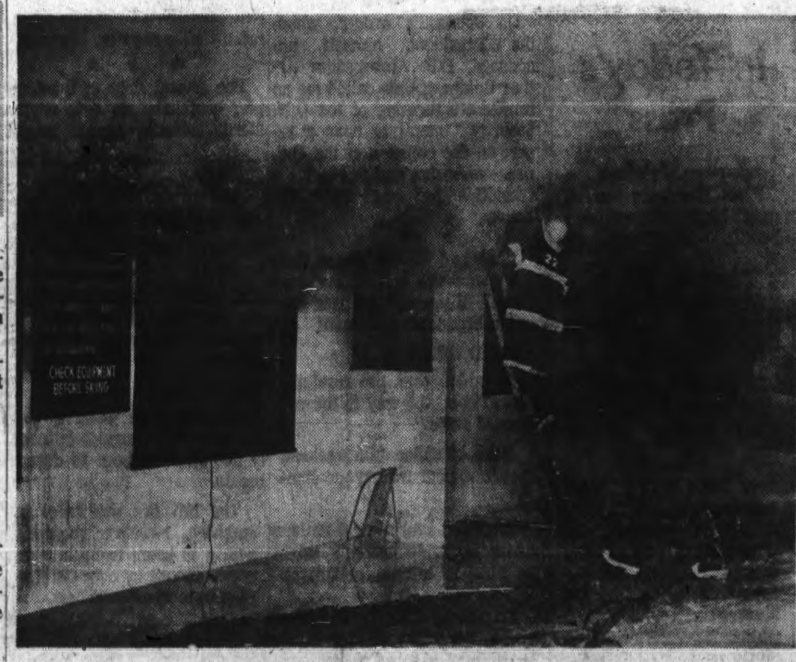

Moore is chairman of the Birmingham Assistance Committee, a director of Camp Oakland, Religious Assistance and Protective Services, Inc., Oakland County Legal Aid Society, and a member of the Birmingham Rotary.

The new probate position was created by the county Board of Supervisors in December following appeals for assistance by Judges Donald E. Adams and Norman R. Barnard. Adams' term expires this year while Barnard's ends in 1970.

SKIING CONDITIONS — HOT! — Smoke engulfs the pro shop and the room containing artificial snow-making equipment at Mount Grampian Ski Lodge, Oxford Township. Firemen from five area fire departments fought the blaze for five hours early yesterday morning before bringing it under control.

USSR Makes Anti-Peking Step

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has taken the first step toward a possible showdown with Peking over alleged delays of Russian aid to North Viet Nam moving across Communist China, informed sources said today.

This seemed to be the intent, the sources said, of a secret memorandum being circulated among the Soviet Union's 12 million rank and file party members accusing the Red Chinese of sabotaging its Hanoi aid efforts.

The document marks the first time the Kremlin has officially acknowledged reports widely circulated in the West that Peking was obstructing the flow of war materials and Soviet specialists to the North Vietnamese regime.

Red China has denied the Russian accusations and countercharged that the Kremlin was conspiring with America to "peddle the Johnson administration peace talks hoax."

The Kremlin memorandum also charges the Chinese with refusing to participate in a worldwide Communist movement to aid North Viet Nam and with rejecting appeals to put aside their differences in the face of escalating "American imperialism" in Viet Nam.

UNIFIED EFFORT

Western observers said that if China and Russia had resolved their bitter dispute and unified their aid efforts a year ago during the escalation of the Viet Nam war, the U. S. effort there would have met tougher opposition.

The Kremlin document, emanating from the party's central committee, will not be published in the Soviet press, but was being circulated privately to get the word to the rank and file party members, sources said.

This method has been used before by Kremlin leaders in the Sino-Soviet dispute as well as on other high policy matters.

Diplomatic observers said the Kremlin may also mount a campaign to isolate Peking in connection with the forthcoming 23rd Soviet Communist Party Congress scheduled for March 29.

CLAIM SUPPORT

The Russians claim they have the support of an overwhelming majority of the 90-odd Communist parties throughout the world which usually send delegations to the congress.

The observers said there were indications that China will not send a delegate to the congress with the result that the international conclave may take the first steps toward exclusion of Peking from the Communist camp.

Minden City Blaze Claims 2nd Victim

Couple Up in the Air; Got 'High' at Wedding

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Aaron Jenkins, 25, and Germaine Cullen 23, were up in the clouds Saturday when they were married in civil ceremonies by Municipal Court Judge Noel Cannon.

The lady jurist married the couple once on the ground and once in the Goodyear blimp "Columbia" about 100 feet above the ground. Jenkins is chief of the lighter-than-air craft's 12-man ground crew.

Bob Hope ought to get some gags out of this:

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, wanted to present the comedian with the key to the city while Hope was in town yesterday to act as master of ceremonies for an eye-research charity benefit.

HOPE

A search revealed the only keys to the city had former Mayor Robert F. Wagner's name inscribed on them.

Aides finally traced down an engraver who could inscribe Hope and Lindsey's names and a suitable legend on a desk set adorned by a small key.

There was one other hitch. Lindsay didn't make it because of a snowstorm.

'Soviets on Trail of Abominable Snowman'

The Russians are on the trail of the abominable snowman, the creature that some say is a descendant of prehistoric man wandering the Himalayan Mountains.

Soviet writer Andronov reports Prof. Chandra Maskey, retired director of the Nepal State Museum, knows of a countryman who keeps a strange mummy that looks like a "dried, near-human creature," that could have been a snowman.

Maskey told Andronov, "What else could leave those gigantic traces on the snow which have been seen by so many."

The professor has promised to investigate further and advise Androvo of his findings.

FIRE HITS OXFORD — Firemen from 10 area departments battled for more than six hours today to control flames which gutted six Oxford business places on South Washington. In the top view, a team of five fire fighters directs a three-inch stream into the Parrish Insurance Agency, which was a total loss. The firemen took to the roof of the building (bottom) in an attempt to prevent flames from spreading. Damage from the early-morning blaze was estimated at $250,000.

Hospital Aided by Foundation

ROCHESTER — More than $100,000 has been given to the Rochester unit of Crittenton Hospital by the Josephine E. Gordon Foundation.

The total of contributions and pledges from the foundation to date was announced today by Ormond S. Wessels, president of the hospital board of trustees.

The donation, in memory of Josephine E. and James A. Gordon, is to be used specifically for the creation of a modern, well-equipped emergency and outpatient department in the new hospital.

Gordon, late owner of the Gordon Baking Co., specified before his death in 1945 that the bulk of his estate was to go into a charitable foundation. The Josephine E. Gordon Foundation was created from his estate.

The gift has been made in payments since 1961 when $5,000 was donated to the hospital.

OTHER PAYMENTS

Since then, three other gifts have been received by the hospital amounting to $47,000 and the foundation has pledged a further contribution of $48,000 for 1966 and 1967.

In addition to serving the total community, the unit is to provide a 24-hour, seven-day-a-week medical service to the students of Oakland University, Michigan Christian College and Oakland Community College.

A. R. Allen, hospital administrator, said that while the three schools to be served with this emergency and outpatient facility have small student health services on campus, this will make it possible for them to economize considerably.

Chancellor D. B. Varner of Oakland University and a member of the Crittenton Hospital Board of Trustees, will aid in development of this program.

TOTAL THUS FAR

More than $165,000 has been collected since the fund-raising campaign was reactivated last October. The second campaign was launched to make up a $620,000 deficit caused by rising construction costs.

Rose Township Yes Vote Means Progress

Voters, please read the facts. A vote yes, Tuesday, February 1, will mean more tax revenue for Rose Township at no cost to you. Taxes in Holly Shores have increased from less than one dollar per occupied site to over $100 per site. Vote yes to keep these needed taxes coming in.

The taxes paid on 50% occupancy in 1965 were over $4,000. 100% occupancy will bring over $8,000, and a vote yes on February 1 will bring over $20,000 in needed tax revenue. Again, no cost to you. This referendum is merely an extension of the existing development and DOES NOT put mobile homes in other part of the township.

MOBILE HOME ELECTION TUESDAY

There are only three major questions and issues in the referendum vote Tuesday, February 1.

1. Why are we voting?

We are voting to change the zoning on a land-locked piece of property adjoining the present existing mobile home subdivision. The zoning is to be changed from industrial (which is completely impractical and impossible on this piece of property) to mobile home residence. (Permanent type.)

2. Does this mean that mobile homes and trailer parks will spring up in other parts of the Township?

No! The only property that is effected by this referendum is the property adjoining the existing mobile home subdivision.

3. What about taxes?

A recent Michigan State University study of mobile home living in 1965 reveals the following:

A. One out of ever five new homes built in 1965 was a mobile home.

B. Mobile homes are assessed higher than single family residence homes.

C. Mobile home owners have less than 1 child of school age for three mobile homes. This is far below the average.

D. Mobile home owners pay the same taxes per thousand as conventional home owners and in addition pay an extra 3% sales tax, a large portion of which goes directly to the county and township school funds. Holly Shores projected 1966 tax is over $8,000.

The Rose Township Progress Committee urges you, the citizens of Rose Township, to examine the facts and above all, we urge you to VOTE YES, Tuesday, February 1.

Evidence Pointing to China Belief in Ultimate War With U.S.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Red China's professed fear of war with America is beginning to sound more genuine, as if reflecting fear that Peking will provoke a U.S. attack — and perhaps a nuclear attack.

All the evidence indicates China expects that the United States sooner or later must get out of Viet Nam, and that in the long run the Communists will dominate all Indochina. It does not want to pay a heavy price, yet the Pekig leadership seems afraid the United States eventually will run out of patience.

★ ★ ★

This apprehension may account for notes of anger and frustration in pronouncements from Peking which suggest the Chinese leadership feels isolated and in danger. Indeed, there are hints that some elements of the Chinese armed forces sought a measure of insurance by means of an approach to Moscow toward reconcilation, so that Moscow's nuclear power might serve as a protection.

★ ★ ★

If there was such a move, it failed. The Chinese Communist party again has slammed the door, blowing the whistle on any among the Red army brass who might have been thinking that way.

WATCH DEBATES

Peking has been paying strict attention to the debates going on in Washington between the "hawks and doves." It expects the "hawks" to prevail and to see the war in Viet Nam extended to Laos and perhaps all of Indochina. It seemingly would consider any U.S. movement in that direction to be an immediate threat to China's own security.

Even if the Chinese leaders feel alone and in danger, they will have none of the Russians. A statement read to a Chinese armed fores conference on political work warned against the "erosion of revisionism and bourgeois ideology of all descriptions" and reasserted the "absolute leadership of the party over the army."

Revisionism is the Chinese epithet for a Soviet policy which Peking now says aggravates the chances of a Chinese-American war because the Soviet leaders, in its view, are busily engaged in helping "the U.S. imperialists."

The statement, delivered by Hsiao Hua, director of the army's general political department, emphasized principles laid down by Defense Minister Lin Piao on how the armed forces should be run.

IN TOP SPOT

Lin, while primarily a military man, is the Communist party's top representative in the armed forces. He has thus passed the word that the party will not stand for any attempt by any military element to make policy or to hold out a tentative hand to the Russians. Lin succeeded Peng Teh Huai as defense minister in 1959, after Peng had advocated making up with Moscow and reliance on Soviet military-technical help.

A dominating theme in Peking propaganda is the danger of war. As a broadcast in the Cantonese language put it, "We are planning all our tasks on the basis of the assumption that U.S. imperialism will forcibly impose a war on us."

Peking accuses Moscow of collaborating with other countries in "a new anti-China campaign." So far as the Chinese leaders are concerned, the Russians are guilty of what Peking calls "the three shams." Those are sham opposition to imperialism, sham support for world revolution, and sham unity."

Peking contends the Soviet leaders forget that "war is the highest form of class struggle and a continuation of politics." The Russians, in the Peking view, should be all-out supporters of all revolutionary wars. Instead, the Chinese imply, Moscow is leaving them all alone with whatever risks are involved in pursuing the highest form of class struggle, in which China is opposed by the United States.

"Armed with the thinking of Mao Tze-tung, closely linked with the people throughout the country and throughout the world, we shall be more than a match for such a thing as U.S. imperialism, and final victory certainly will be ours."

This sort of wolf-at-the-door talk could have several purposes. One might be to provide an excuse to get more production with less complaint out of the Chinese people. Another might be to bolster Peking's own morale and confidence in the face of the nightmare it has conjured up for itself.

State Lawmakers Face Week of Mostly Preparatory Work

LANSING (AP) — Another week of mostly-preparatory work is expected when the Legislature returns tonight.

With Gov. George Romney's State of the State and budget messages out of the way, lawmakers are ready to settle down to the job of shaping state operations.

Spending committees in each house wanted to delve immediately into the fine print of Romney's $944.9 million general fund budget but delays in printing the inch-thick document may delay committee work for about two weeks.

Most likely to stir debate are measures providing for gubernatorial appointment to vacant judgeships and clamping a privacy lid on driving records.

JUDGESHIP MEASURE

The judgeship measure — requiring a constitutional amendment—is in the House, where it was debated at some length last week, then deferred.

There is virtually no disagreement that the present system of filling judicial vacancies with retired judges has not worked. The proposed amendment would restore a vacancy-filling power the governor had before the 1963 constitution.

But some Democrats want to overhaul the constitution all at once instead of sending out reform moves piecemeal. Most Republicans support the judgeship move but oppose other Democratic ideas, such as permitting a graduated income tax.

The driver records idea has stirred both House and Senate. Several House members exchanged angry remarks about driving records last week when Reps. Edward Michalski, and James Del Rio, both Detroit Democrats, proposed a secrecy measure.

VIOLATION POINTS

Records — including a count of violation points — are now open to the public. Michalski said insurance companies should not be permitted to use such records in rating policyholders.

In the Senate, the judiciary committee has reported out a bill which would somewhat close the records. Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, its chief sponsor, acknowledged insurance companies could still check on their clients but said at least the client would have to give his permission.

★ ★ ★

"That at least would give the man an opportunity to tell the insurer where to go if he didn't want his record examined," said Brown.

Brown proposed his bill last year shortly after several newsmen checked legislators' driving records. He, Del Rio and Michalski all have several violations listed.

Romney, who also had violations listed, said last week he's opposed to any lid on the records.

Reds Return Ex-Detroiter to Hong Kong

HONG KONG (UPI)—A former Detroiter who wandered into China earlier this month was returned to Hong Kong yesterday by the Communists.

Officials of the U. S. consulate went to the border to meet Mrs. Beverly Reilly, 38, of Omaha, Neb. and questioned her about her stay of almost three weeks in Red China.

The Communist New China News Agency, monitored in London, said Mrs. Reilly had crossed into Kwantung Province by mistake Jan. 11.

The agency said she had admitted her mistake and had been properly treated during her detention.

Her husband, Robert Reilly, of Detroit, said he had no idea of his wife's activities.

ARE ESTRANGED

They have been estranged for several years, he said.

Mrs. Reilly had worked as a nurse in Detroit in the early 1950s.

She was living in a small village near the Chinese border when she disappeared.

It Seems to Me....

Present Aircraft Increasing—Serious Problems Are Arising

Our terrible traffic tangles are a matter of everyday concern to one and all. However, there's another traffic problem which can become quite as acute and fraught with even greater danger.

I refer to the "wild, blue yonder." Airports are overwhelmed.

★ ★ ★

Statistics show over 2,000 commercial liners are plying the airlanes and the number is increasing. Further, there are more than 90,000 private planes "on the go" and when a majority of these leave the airstrips, confusion results when they decide to settle down again.

Our facilities are inadequate.

★ ★ ★

Chicago has one of the busiest airports in the world and when the planners built the huge O'Hare field, they figured they had a problem solved. Well, they were right—for several months. Right now, Chicago is overwhelmed with aircraft of all descriptions and even on clear days there are times when the traffic is necessarily "stacked up." And landings and departures are too close together.

★ ★ ★

Experts say private ownership can—and will—increase by a percentage that seems too fantastic to set down. In the years ahead, students feel half a million more private planes can easily make their appearance.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac has a direct stake in all this. We're in the second biggest county in Michigan and an air-minded area. What are we going to do:

Sit idly by?

Triple the present airport?

Build a new one to the north?

The first solution hardly seems sensible and the second and third have stern foes around their borders. But then, nearly all growth and expansion have hurt someone.

And that's never sufficient reason for shirking our duties.

Two Choices....

As I poke a furtive and unwelcome nose into divers places, I find a growing belief that we should give our Asian foes the full battlefront treatment.

★ ★ ★

An all-out bombing would probably do one of two things:

End everything now.

Bring World War III.

★ ★ ★

If those are the only alternatives, perhaps further caution is indicated. At one time, people in various strata and circumstances favored our current caution and tentative approach. But as casualties mount and the end is nowhere in sight, there seems to be a shifting sentiment.

★ ★ ★

One good authority told me the "inner circle" expects this thing to last fifteen years. That sounds like international madness or an avowed and leisurely hari-kari.

What do YOU think?

Good Citizenship....

New York's Chase Manhattan bank, one of the largest financial institutions in the world, urges employe participation in civic, State and National affairs. The program is "destined to encourage responsible citizenship." Many years ago General Motors instituted such a program and the general idea is becoming nationwide. GM's comes under the general heading of "Good Neighbors."

Most leading Pontiac institutions encourage this same type of contribution in time and effort.

Wise Observation....

Columnist JAMES RESTON recently observed:

"LYNDON JOHNSON will defend to the death a man's right to oppose him—until the man actually tries."

Touchdown—RESTON.

De Gaulle's Successor?

France's unique and ubiquitous DE GAULLE was outraged when the conservatives deserted him in the last election and almost terminated his "reign." However, the old boy is still comfortably out in front, glaring at the opposition and breathing defiance.

Currently, he's 75 years old.

But who can supplant him?

★ ★ ★

Only this unpredictable firebrand could have nursed France into her current eminence. And it's high time the tri-colors find a competent successor, or France will again become the political battleground with a host of parties running in all directions at the same time.

And in Conclusion....

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Overheard: "Now that they've made the cigarette less irritating, how about the TV commercials?" ..... Once a Managing Editor yanked a story by the late STANLEY WOODWARD from the sports section and ran it on page one. When WOODWARD saw it he stormed: "What do they mean by putting my story on page one instead of the sports section where everyone would see it?" ..... JIM GRELLE has run 18 miles under four minutes—more than anyone else.

Purely personal nomination for an attractive young lady in the area: our own Sharon Fowler Couser.

.....

Did you know 45% of the world's population can't read or write? In more than half of the world's countries, less than 50% of the population between five and nineteen goes to school.....

.... The Democrats are going to keep the Bobby Baker investigation bottled up until after election next fall.....

An only child has never been president of the U. S. (I'm glad I have a sister.)

★ ★ ★

Overheard: "The Watusi is the only dance that wears out your clothes on the inside." ..... Hearing the Batman was one of TV's top-drawing newcomers, I took a peek Wednesday night and vote it in the bottom 3% ..... Ohio's six foot seven inch BILL HOSKET is one of the hottest court performers in all collegiate circles and an "A" student to boot ..... It Takes More Than Blind Faith

David Lawrence Says:

LBJ Economic Report a Gamble

WASHINGTON — President Johnson took a big gamble when he presented his economic report to Congress a few days ago.

LAWRENCE

He decided to be optimistic about the future and to paint a glowing picture of what he describes as "the greatest upsurge of economic well-being in the history of any nation."

★ ★ ★

But suppose the President's predictions turn out to be wrong? He can, of course, blame it all on Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

If the war in Southeast Asia is intensified, the government's expenses naturally will increase by a big amount, and dreams of a "nearly balanced budget" will vanish.

But, on the other hand, if by some means or another a negotiation for peace in Viet Nam begins soon and military operations diminish gradually, Mr. Johnson will win his gamble and go on spending for the Great Society the billions he has already allocated to social welfare.

Most readers of the President's message are left with the impression that everything is going well in the economy anyhow and that America is passing through an unexampled prosperity.

NOT INEVITABLE

Mr. Johnson says that, over the past five years, "we have learned that recessions are not inevitable." But this isn't anything new. There have been plenty of periods in history when the nation has been spared economic reverses for a period of five years.

In the long run, excessive spending by government, failure to balance the budget, and higher and higher wages and prices can produce an inflation which "overheats" and then bogs down the economy.

Already there are some significant developments. Perhaps the most important piece of news in the last five days has been the announcement by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in the Labor Department that the consumer-price index went up 2 per cent in 1965 and that an even bigger increase is due in the year ahead.

NOT BEING CHECKED

There is no sign, moreover, that the factors that have been producing a higher cost of living are being in any way checked.

★ ★ ★

There are few cases in history where a nation which keeps on spending more than it takes in and borrowing money to pay its current expenses year after year has retained the confidence of the business community or the lenders of money. For it is disappointing to note already that for every $1,000 put into savings eight years ago, this sum now will buy only $900 worth of goods or property. This is what inflation really means.

★ ★ ★

A little inflation is not disastrous, but continuous inflation can lead to depression.

Bob Considine Says:

Policy Decisions on Viet Are No One-Man Show

NEW YORK — The charge has been made against President Johnson that he stifles freedom of dissent.

CONSIDINE

His conduct of the war in Viet Nam proceeds without serious debate, it has been said on many sides.

Perhaps I'm reading the wrong periodicals and listening to the wrong newscasts.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., returning from a tour of Viet Nam, told reporters that he believed (as LBJ's critics Barry Goldwater, Curt LeMay and others do) that our military should be given more authority to run that conflict as they see fit.

Ernest Gruening, the Alaska Democrat, has been hammering away at the administration's position for years, now wants legislation which will put service in Viet Nam strictly on a volunteer basis.

★ ★ ★

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Arkansas's distinguished J. William Fulbright, quietly derides the Johnson administration's long-held contempt of the Viet Cong, has said the VC or its chosen representative must be a part of any round of negotiations.

STRONG CASE

Sen. Ted Kennedy has not tended to journey as far away from the straight administration line as has his brother, Robert. But he makes a strong case against what he considers a failure in the conduct of the Vietnamese war, in the current Look.

"The second conflict in Viet Nam — the struggle for the hearts and minds of the Vietnamese people themselves — has not been waged with the same ferocity (as the shooting war)," he complains after a firsthand view.

"There has been no one firm humanitarian policy understood throughout our nation . . . The struggle in Viet Nam has not been one that has produced a concern for the most important element in the Viet Nam situation—the welfare of the people."

★ ★ ★

None of the above gives off the ring of submission to a party line or a dislocation of the due processes of public debate. Nobody seems to be in the act of being throttled. Government by consensus remains completely honorable and democratic.

FULL SWING

It is only when the consensus pendulum fully swings that different polices emerge, either by order of the president or authorized agency, or, as a last resort, by order of the people at election time.

The consensus to date has reflected itself in just about every move we've made in Viet Nam: Escalation, bombing of the North, sanctuary for the North's civilian populations to as great a degree as possible, temporary truces, returns to battle, repeated offers to meet at the peace table.

The pendulum could swing. We called things off in Korea quite abruptly, as did the enemy.

★ ★ ★

The pendulum today has not been locked by any real or tacit White House command.

Club Commends Johnson for Viet Peace Efforts

At the January meeting of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Democratic Club we voted to commend President Lyndon B. Johnson for his efforts in attempting to achieve peace in Viet Nam. In addition, we urge re-evaluation of our program in Viet Nam in light of the 1954 Geneva Accord.

We would also like to encourage President Johnson's continued suspension of the bombing of North Viet Nam.

Suggestions to Reduce Crime and Accidents

With automobile accidents and major crime on the increase, we wonder what has been done to decrease or eliminate either one. We might try something entirely different if our legislators are sincere in wanting to improve these conditions.

★ ★ ★

We might have different bumpers on cars that would avoid damage to both cars on a slight contact and also do less harm in case a person was hit. Our patrolmen might be instructed to be alert for the reckless and dangerous drivers instead of the man who may be driving safely but a few miles over the speed limit, and to use judgment as to the condition of the roads, visibility and amount of traffic at the time. Common sense could be tried, or would this be un-American?

'Let's Be Thankful We Live in America'

Let's forget ourselves, dirty politics, water pollution, who is going to have a college and who isn't, and who is going to be elected. Let's thank God we live in a great country like America and don't have to flee Fidel Castro. Let's give these refugees a chance and stay off President Johnson's back for at least half an hour.

'Area Has a Lot to Offer Our Teen-Agers'

A recent letter made a statement concerning teen-agers frequenting bars and a resulting fatality. It also stated that "the majority of teen-agers feel there aren't enough places to go in Pontiac." The majority of teen-agers and adults respect the law but we will always have with us that small fraction who will defy it at every opportunity.

★ ★ ★

I feel everyone here has more opportunities in every phase of life than in any other part of the State. However, my two daughters were raised in another city and they were so busy they had no time for bars. My two sons are teen-agers and they have no time for bars. The older one works and goes to school four nights a week. Along with several hobbies, he has recently taken up skiing. The young one belongs to school clubs, attends all school dances and games, and has joined the Boy's Club of Pontiac. He likes to play basketball and hockey and has homework and chores to do.

★ ★ ★

Most parents strive to instill a sense of responsibility in their children, to give them a set of values, and teach them consideration for others. In most instances our children do not disappoint us. The minority who misbehave lack imagination and give a black eye to the majority of teen-agers who are good citizens. Please don't lump them together. They are individuals.

Comments on Increase in Insurance Rates

I agree with "Confused Also" on insurance rates. We were billed $4 for insurance against uninsured drivers. With only one driver in the family driving twenty miles daily and never a wreck or ticket, our insurance has doubled in the last seven years. I've never wanted a mink coat, but with insurance and taxes what they are I'll never even see a new cloth coat. But, I know how to beat it—just call my husband another uninsured driver.

Commends Press for Coverage of Activities

As state director of Youth for Christ, I want to commend you on the coverage given the Oakland Youth for Christ. We have some 25 centers in Michigan, 300 across the United States, and over 300 in more than 50 countries outside the continental United States.

★ ★ ★

We appreciate The Press standing by us and giving us coverage from time to time. The direction we take must be geared to the community. We're not interested in building an empire for ourselves, but seeing a community cared for — especially teen-agers. We have no desire to compete with the church, but to complement the work of the local church. As a result, many local churches have joined us and are sharing with us in many ways.

A GRATEFUL CITIZEN AND MOTHER

Replies to Mother's Comments on Teachers

Have Mrs. Martin and many like her ever considered the demands on a teacher? Children ask to do classroom tasks such as passing the milk and papers, and erasing the board. A child may look for some excuse to go to the teacher, perhaps because his mother is so busy with seven other children that this one must find another source of attention in his teacher.

★ ★ ★

The teachers must remain in a room of 30 or more children with numerous colds and illnesses. Lessons must be planned and papers corrected, more often at night than during the day. They must conduct conferences with parents and attend PTA. I have seen from a good viewpoint what a teacher must go through and I wouldn't be one if they were paid twice as much.

MARLENE KIBBIE

In reply to the irate mother's comments on educators:

- A teacher does not spend four years to obtain a "Bachelor of Part-Time Baby Sitting" degree.
- Designated persons are appointed to supervise recesses.
- Passing out papers and milk in classrooms is a way of teaching each child a little responsibility.
- The average teacher is underpaid.

★ ★ ★

If the irate mother claims to know the educator's job, may she come forward and try teaching for a day.

Comments on Resignation of Mr. Barnes

We are glad Mr. Clarence Barnes, Executive Director Pontiac Urban League, has one vote from Bloomfield Hills if he runs for President. I am sure The Press will again run his picture in an editorial and endorse him as they did Barry Goldwater.

★ ★ ★

Did Mr. Barnes speak for the Pontiac Urban League directors made up of leading Negro and white citizens? Is this their attitude? Was Mr. Barnes' published statements the reason he gave his board for resigning from the anti-poverty commission two months before? If Mr. Barnes and the Urban League are against poor people and giving them a chance, why is the Urban League and other United Fund agencies asking for $60,000 in antipoverty money of which over $50,000 goes for salaries. Is this duplication?

★ ★ ★

Mr. Barnes does not speak for the Negro community or the poor people of Pontiac. It is this kind of attitude which you endorse which makes us have pockets of poverty of white and Negro families.

Wonders Why Civilizations Have Perished

The history of civilization would seek to indicate that the people have always been able to overcome all obstacles except those created by their own government. Was it because of limited government or unlimited government?

Readers Discuss Representation of Latins

In regard to Mr. Trinidad J. Martinez' recent letter, Mr. Tom Chavez has been in Pontiac only two and a half years but in that short time he has accomplished more than Mr. Martinez in his presumably 40 years. Mr. Chavez introduced an interpreter system for non-English speaking Latins to obtain drivers' licenses. When a group of Latins were deprived of their rights at a local public establishment, Mr. Chavez called the Civil Rights Commission to ask for help and something was done.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Chavez stated "I represent the Latin American community and sometimes it seems my people are not getting jobs, but before one of them is hired I want to be sure he is qualified." This does not mean that he is the only representative but a representative, and I agree. If there are others well-qualified for this job, where were they when they were needed?

MISS ADELE ESTRADA

Mr. Chavez, I don't need anyone to represent me either. I still can paddle my own canoe.

ED RODRIGUEZ
225 S. JESSIE

In the short time Tom Chavez has been here he has accomplished more than Mr. Martinez has in 40 years. Mr. Chavez has obtained permission for Latins to take driver's license exams in Spanish as long as they can read the road signs. He established English classes for the non-English speaking Latins and orients the new arrivals and helps them obtain jobs. A man like this is an asset.

'Rivalry for World Markets Leads to Wars'

There can be no permanent peace so long as the cause of war remains. Capitalist rivalry for the control of world markets and natural resources resulted in World Wars I and II. This same rivalry is leading to world War III, only the imperialist rivals have changed sides. The former enemies have become allies, and vice versa. Ideologists and individuals are blamed to make the war acceptable but this is not the cause.

★ ★ ★

To establish a permanent peace on this earth the working class must organize along the lines advocated by the Socialist Labor Party. They must organize on the political field to proclaim the socially operated instrument of production services the property of society, and must organize on the economic field to carry on production for use. This economic organization will constitute the basis for industrial democracy. Production for use will eliminate the need and the struggle for world markets.

Either we abolish capitalism or capitalism will abolish us, for it is well known that the contending imperialist rivals possess the means to destroy all life on this earth.

As I watched the "Bob Hope Special," all of my beliefs were brought home to me. Even though I shed tears for those who would soon die for the sake of freedom, I realized they are proud to be there and don't fool themselves as to why. As Bob Hope said, "These men would like nothing better than to give the gift of freedom to the Vietnamese people."

Says Turkey Will Have an Important Role

Down through the ages there has existed a deep bitter feeling between the nations representative of two "points of compass," the East representative of the yellow races of Asia and the West mostly the white races of Europe. Prophecy says the God of Heaven shall set up a kingdom which shall never be overthrown.

Turkey lost her independence as a nation August 15, 1940, and thereafter became known as the "sick man of the East." Turkey will have a very important role to fulfill in the closing events of earth's history. She is now in Europe but will move into Asia and the Holy Lands and at that time there shall be a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation.

★ ★ ★

These are some of the events yet to take place and our present war in the East could easily lead into the Armageddon of nations.

Sukarno, Military Tiff Is Likely

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The setting up of special military tribunals in Indonesia to try elements involved in the Communist-backed attempted coup of Oct. 1 is expected to open another chapter in the power struggle between President Sukarno and military leaders.

Formation of the tribunals was agreed upon by Sukarno and the military over a month ago. They did not fully agree who would stand trial.

★ ★ ★

Initially it was announced in Jakarta that Sukarno entrusted army chief Maj. Gen. Suharto to prepare the lists of defendants. It was implied then that the accused would be subject to the president's approval.

The military announced last week that the first two to stand trial will be Lt. Col. Untung, former commander of a presidential guard battalion who staged the abortive coup, and Njono, head of the once powerful Communist trade union Sobsi. Jakarta radio said the trials will open in February.

'CONFESSIONS'

Both Untung and Njono were arrested shortly after the coup. Extracts of their "confessions" were either leaked or released by their military captors. According to these statements, both accused the Indonesian Communist party — PKI — of masterminding the attempted coup.

Reports circulating in Jakarta then said Untung implicated highly placed Indonesian leaders still in power. This raised speculation whether Untung would be allowed to repeat his charges in a public hearing before the military tribunals.

★ ★ ★

The military has taken the view that those tried before the special courts would be only the Communists who were arrested by the thousands after the attempted coup. Sukarno was not definite on this point. He has maintained that others besides Communists were responsible.

Despite repeated requests by the military, Sukarno so far has not absolved the army of charges, made by the coup leaders, that a so-called "council of generals" was planning to overthrow him.

★ ★ ★

It remains to be seen whether the military will again compromise with Sukarno on other defendants to be brought to trial.

The military on several occasions, although holding a position of strength, avoided a showdown with Sukarno apparently because of fear of repercussions if "the popular image" of the president is eliminated.

Elizabeth Rowston Wed to Alvin H. Cischke

Palms and lighted candelabra formed a background for the receiving line Saturday in the First Congregational Church following the vows of Elizabeth Ann Rowston and Alvin Harold Cischke.

White daisies, centering the reception tables, repeated the blue and white theme for the wedding.

Parents of the couple are the Philip E. Rowstons of Spokane Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cischke of Harper Woods.

LACE ACCENTS

Imported French lace with bands of fine horizontal tucking accented the bride's Empire gown and chapel train of white silk organza over peau de soie. A lace and pearl headpiece cradled her bouffant illusion veil.

★ ★ ★

She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and English ivy.

Mrs. James P. Colando of Ypsilanti attended her sister as honor matron, along with bridesmaids Marilyn Nelson, Chicago, formerly of Pontiac; and the bridegroom's sister, Carol Cischke.

We're Here to Stay

NEW YORK (AP) — Indira Nehru Gandhi's election as India's prime minister is a spectacular example of how far women have come in a world that apparently is growing mellower all the time toward the second sex. Feminists everywhere are hoping it may usher in a new era of women's advancement. As it is, they already are heartened by these recent events:

Justice Elizabath Lane appointed to a high court bench in England, first time for a woman. Dr. A. A. L. Minkenhof sworn in as first woman solicitor general in the Netherlands;

Princess Lalla Aicha of Morocco sent to England as her country's first woman ambassador;

Constance Baker Motley named by President Johnson to be the first Negro woman federal judge in the United States;

Golda Meir, Israel's foreign minister since 1956 and labor minister seven years before that, retiring at age 67, stoutly maintaining that she will keep on working in politics and labor.

The list of important women and their personal achievements goes on, impressively. Room at the top for educated, talented women is expanding all the time. Uncounted numbers of women around the world, though, still face discrimination in work, pay, educational opportunities. Many are deprived of personal and property rights as soon as they say "I do" in whatever tongue they speak.

★ ★ ★

Often the husband has the only say-so about the children. He can legally prevent his wife taking work outside the home. He owns everything. He can divorce her and toss her out without support, keeping the children.

For 20 years the U.N. Commission on the Status of Women has worked hard to help point out a more fair and humane way to the nations in which these rules of family life exist.

KEEPING PEACE

But it is frequently a slippery balancing act to keep peace in the family of nations when proposed changes to improve women's lot runs counter to age-old traditions. The commission believes in the right of people to choose their own spouses, in monogamy, in equal rights to dissolution of marriage, in widows getting custody of their own children. It wants the practice of bride price and child marriages abolished.

AGE FACTOR

Slowly some of the nations are coming around. The biggest hassle at the moment seems to be over the U.N. recommendation of age 15 as the worldwide minimum age for girls to marry. Opposition is serious, and at least one delegate argues that in many tropical countries girls are mature at 12 or 13.

★ ★ ★

In the big cities of the world women may be independent, sophisticated, emancipated. But in the rural areas old customs die slowly.

★ ★ ★

In Japan, for example, where women now have virtually the same rights as their American sisters — at least on paper — the country wife is still subservient to the husband. In remote Yemen women work hard, enjoy no freedoms, often share the household with second and third wives, lack most medical attention because it's not seemly to remove their veils for examination.

CAN'T DENY PROGRESS

Yet looking over legislation enacted in just the last decade you can't deny progress, even where practice lags behind law. Here are just a few, picked at random:

Guatemala: 1956, women given the right of access to public employment. Italy: 1956, women given the right to serve as jurors.

Belgium: 1958, married women allowed to open savings accounts in their own names and dispose of the funds. Federal Republic of Germany: 1958, married women allowed to engage in independent work outside the home without needing husbands' consent. The Netherlands: 1958, women civil servants and public school teachers given the right to continue in their posts after marriage.

★ ★ ★

Sweden: 1959, women given the right to occupy all religious posts in the state church on equal terms with men. Korea: 1960, widows given the right to become guardians of their children without requiring consent of the family council.

Pakistan: 1961, minimum age of marriage for girls raised from 14 to 16. India: 1961, dowry practice abolished. Guinea: 1962, married women given the right to administer and dispose of their personal property and earnings.

Buckle Up For Safety

Seeing Is Believing

DEAR ABBY: My father is the most stubborn man in the world. Nobody can tell him anything. He had seat belts put in our car as soon as they came out, and he gave us kids a big lecture on how we should always use them, but he never uses them himself.

ABBY

When I tell him he forgot to fasten his seat belt, he says he is going only a short distance and it doesn't pay to bother. I have tried to tell him that it takes only a few seconds to fasten a seat belt and it might save his life, but he gets mad at me for speaking up to him. He has a very ugly temper, and I have to be careful what I say to him or I'll end up with a fat lip.

How can a 14-year-old boy tell his father to practice what he preaches?

FOURTEEN

DEAR FOURTEEN: Tell him the National Safety Council estimates that most automobile accidents occur within 25 miles of the victims' homes.

But don't tell him to practice what he preaches or you're apt to get a "belt" in the chops.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My in-laws' religion is against smoking, drinking and playing cards. Ours is not. In the evening we will have a cigarette, and perhaps a drink. And if we have company, we will play cards.

His parents never call, they just drop in unexpectedly, which puts us in an embarrassing spot. My husband expects me and our guests to hide the drinks and cards. I think this is wrong.

Do you think I should do as my husband asks and live this falsehood?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Your in-laws surely must know that your religion does not prohibit smoking, drinking and card-playing. And if they don't, it's time they did.

"Hiding" the evidence, as your husband asks, is degrading and deceitful. And he's probably not getting away with it anyway. Tell him to grow up and act like a big boy.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE PATIENT'S RELATIVE": If you want to help him, let him know that you are confident that he is capable of recovering. Offer no suggestions.

To tell a person who is undergoing psychiatric treatment that all he needs to get well is "common sense," and that permitting his doctor to probe into his early, unhappy childhood is causing his depression, could do the patient more harm than good.

Do not undermine the patient's confidence in his doctor. Simply let him know that you "believe in him," love him, and admire him for his courageous fight to get well.

Takes 'No Thought for the Morrow'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the final story in a four-part series for which area working mothers have discussed their home life and busy schedules.)

By MARGARET BROWN

"God knew I was going to have a large family, so He gave me a sense of humor!"

People often ask Mrs. Neil Smith, today's vigorous part-time student and working mother, "How do you do it?" Her simple reply: "I just live one day at a time."

Mrs. Smith has 14 children.

★ ★ ★

A part-time clerk at Waite's since Christmas, Mrs. Smith, of Gillespie Street, had been employed full-time for the past 15 years in domestic and restaurant work.

"When there are 16 mouths to feed and your husband is paid only every two weeks, you just have to get out and try to make something," said Mrs. Smith.

SIX AT HOME

Only six of her youngsters, ranging from ages eight to 30, live at home now; but Mrs. Smith managed domestic work several days a week when all 14 were at the family table. "Every little bit helped.

★ ★ ★

"I always told my employers, 'I'll work well for you; just don't interfere with me and my kids; if they call here, I need to know.' Sometimes I'd even leave my job and go home if I called the house and got no answer."

As the older children became sufficiently responsible, Mrs. Smith's sitter problem became less acute. "There were a few times when I had to keep one of the older children out of school to babysit," she related, "But I always called their principals to explain and found them very understanding.

BOYS CAN IRON

"One advantage of a big family is that each child becomes pretty self - sufficient," she said. "Even as teen-agers, my boys could cook and iron their own clothes."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Smith's burden is considerably lighter these days. Her husband has retired and helps with the youngsters. She packs lunches and cooks one big meal a day, leaving household detail lists for the family.

★ ★ ★

After work, Mrs. Smith feeds her automatic washer a few loads of clothing, and on days off she handles the remaining housework.

"You should have seen me when all 14 were at home, and there was no automatic washer," she laughed. "I washed Monday to Sunday. And those ironings — all of my children were active in glee club and choir and forever needing white shirts and blouses for concerts."

STILL SINGING

The 15-year-old Smith twins Ellen and Elaine have singing roles in the upcoming PCH "Kiss Me, Kate" production.

A long-time worker in her church, Mrs. Smith recently was named a Baptist Training Union director. Her children have grown up attending Sunday school — "I don't send them; I go with them!" she said smiling.

★ ★ ★

Her eight grown children all have graduated from high school. Henry, 23, is a sociology major at the University of Southern Calif., Los Angeles.

Financial and domestic hardship failed to keep this dynamic woman down over the years.

Since 1943 she has attended PTA conventions regularly and held nearly every office in that organization. Currently, she is serving as vice president at Bethune School and parliamentarian for the city's PTA council.

Mrs. Neil Smith, Working Mother Wonder

She also belongs to the Pontiac Central and Washington Junior High School parent-teacher groups. Mrs. Smith is her block's captain for the new PTA-sponsored Helping Hand Project.

STARTS THINGS

With another Bethune mother, Mrs. William Eloby, Mrs. Smith was instrumental in starting the hot lunch program and a Scout troop at Bethune. "We did a lot of walking," she said. She also worked all last summer on Project Headstart.

★ ★ ★

Among Mrs. Smith's citations for community service is one from the city's school system for ". . . significant contribution to the welfare of the schools and community."

Not long ago she completed an inter-group relations institute at Oakland University.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Now, four evenings a week she attends adult education classes at Pontiac Central to complete 12th grade studies. She hopes to enroll at Oakland Community College. "I'd like to be a social worker."

"How do you manage to keep abreast of the many activities offered in the community?" we asked.

I like to be in the know! I love to read — especially the newspapers, which I really cover well," she said.

★ ★ ★

Asked about the "working mother guilt complex," she exclaimed, "I've never had time to think about feeling guilty; I'm certainly not working because of boredom — just doing what must be done. I find it too hard to sit and wait for those monthly pension and social security checks."

The Smith children are well-adjusted to their mother's work schedule. "They know my job means a few little extras, particularly the girls," she said.

"I've tried never to be too busy for their problems. We really enjoy each other."

When the floor manager at Waite's recently commented on her "bubbly" spirit, she responded, "We all have troubles, but we don't have to wear them on our sleeves."

UN Claims More Women Now in Top Govt. Jobs

In political rights women may be making the most progress. The United Nations lists 112 countries in which women may vote in all elections and run for office on an equal basis with men. About 80 of these gave the franchise to women after 1945.

★ ★ ★

A few have educational requirements for women not asked of men, but only nine countries give women no voting rights at all, according to the latest United Nation's count: Iraq, Jordan, Kuwait, Leichtenstein, northern region of Nigeria, the Democratic Republic of the Congo (but not Brazzaville, which does let women vote), Saudi Arabia and Yeman—where men don't vote either—and Switzerland, except for the cantons of Geneva, Neuchatel and Vaud where they can cast local ballots.

TYPICAL SLANT

"Let them be women, they have plenty to do as it is" is the typical reaction of the tradition - bound Swiss burgher. Switzerland has its suffragettes, but a federation of Swiss housewives call women's vote "this dangerous foreign import" and vow to defend their their country against it.

★ ★ ★

More and more women are being elected to their parliaments and appointed to high administrative posts.

A recent UN survey, in which 54 governments reported, showed that 47 of the countries had had women elected to the national parliament; 23 had held ministers' posts — often of social welfare and housing; 14 had judges of high courts, 14 had women ambassadors.

★ ★ ★

In other areas of achievement, ardent feminists always mention that in the Soviet Union 75 per cent of all medical doctors are women. The Soviets have other recent figures: of every 100 workers in industry, 46 are women; in education and culture it's 62; on public health, 86.

Actually, the statistics on working women generally are pretty impressive:

In the world as a whole 27 out of 100 women work outside the home. One-third of the world's labor force is made up of women. Married women represent more than half of all women in the labor force.

HALF WORK FORCE

The International Labor Organization, associated with the United Nations, says that in Haiti, Thailand and the Soviet Union women comprise almost half the total work force; in North America a third; Latin America a fifth; in Iraq and Pakistan 4 to 6 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Over-all advancement of women is to a large extent dependent on education, and the commission report said: "The percentage of girls obtaining secondary education is still too low in developing countries, and the percentage receiving technical and vocational training is inadequate in in most countries."

Feminists hopefully believe that in the new era that may be coming, continuing education for women will get a large share of the attention.

Art Has Therapeutic Value

Women's Medical News Service

NEW YORK—Fear and apprehension, boredom and loneliness—these are the abominations that must be eliminated from the hospital scene if a patient's recovery is to be speeded.

★ ★ ★

One gracious way to do this is to hang beautiful, colorful paintings on drab hospital walls — in private rooms, clinics, and public areas. This is exactly what a group of enterprising women volunteers of New York's United Hospital Fund started doing some 15 years ago, beginning with a modest number of pictures in just a few hospitals.

HUGE SUCCESS

So successful has the program become that today some 3,000 paintings, both orginal works and reproductions, grace the walls of 75 hospitals and many convalescent homes.

★ ★ ★

Support of the Fund's contention that its picture program contributes to a "favorable atmosphere for recovery," comes from Dr. Howard Rusk, Director of The Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, New York University Medical Center. "All of us, as we go about our daily activities, enjoy good paintings," Dr. Rusk says, "but good painting takes on a new emotional perspective and depth . . . when we are hospitalized. There is a definite therapeutic value in good paintings in hospital rooms . . ."

★ ★ ★

If you're looking for a worthy cause in which to work, art for hospitals is worth considering.

BHHS Slates an Organist

Richard Ellsasser, noted organist, will appear in a concert Wednesday, 8 p.m. at Bloomfield Hills High School.

Ellsasser played the dedicatory concert on the school's organ three years ago. He conducts a master organ class at Interlochen music camp.

★ ★ ★

In September he will open the 67th year of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra with Eugene Ormandy, playing "Fantasy for Organ."

There is a nominal admission charge for the concert.

Some Hints on Buying New Automobile

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Is this the year you've been looking forward to — because you're going to buy your first new car? It's a fine proud feeling. Don't spoil it by hasty shopping. With some 350 models to choose from, you need to do some preliminary thinking.

MARY FEELEY

If there's ever an opportunity for husband and wife to get into an argument, I say this is it. Bat the subject around at home before you start looking—which new car and why? What do you want, versus what do you need?

Ask yourselves — and each other — these questions:

Which will give us the most continuing satisfaction for our money, a compact, an intermediate or a full-sized car? Should it be a six or eight cylinder; two door or four door; station wagon for about $300 more than the same car in a sedan size?

Think about the extras, too — especially the ones which are functional and relatively inexpensive when installed at the factory. For instance: a more powerful battery at an $8 expense, which could prove an asset in winter driving around rolling and hilly country.

A heavy-duty clutch for standard transmissions which might cost you an extra $12 but might prove well worth it; safety features such as back-up lights, padded visor and dashboard, an outside mirror on the driver's left, seat belts for the back seat and windshield washers.

GET DEALER'S SIGNATURE

When the two of you have finally come to an agreement on what you're going to buy, there's another vital step to consider: How are you going to buy it?

There are some pitfalls for the first-time shopper, and even the second and third-time shopper:

Read your sales contract carefully. It will have space for three signatures — yours, that of the salesman and that of the dealer.

Note the provision in the contract that says it is not binding until the deal has been approved by an officer or authorized representative of the company with which you're negotiating — in addition to the approval of the salesman who takes the order.

To protect your rights, the Consumer Frauds Division of the State of New York suggests you do not sign the contract until the dealer also countersigns. If this can't be done at the time you're ready to buy, arrange to come back to the showroom when all three of you can sign.

Unless this precaution is taken, an unethical dealer can use any one of several methods to increase the selling price of the car—above the price originally quoted you. For instance there's the case of a buyer who signed a contract for a new car at $3,000 — but after the dealer had countersigned later, the car cost him $3,300.

Too often, The Better Business Bureau says, the customer pays the extra. If he refuses, he has to complain so loudly he's released from the contract. If this should happen to you, report the full details to the Better Business Bureau in your community.

WATCH TRADE-IN

If you have a car to trade in on a new-car purchase, be alert to a possible unethical trap. Some dealers will give you a factitious trade-in price on your old car — subject to "reappraisal" at the time of delivery.

* * *

The contract says on the back page that the dealer has the right to re-appraise it five to six weeks later, or when you receive delivery of your new car. But assuming your car is in the same condition as when first appraised, he has no right to alter the trade-in price.

To avoid any such "misunderstanding" have this clause eliminated or have written on the front of the contract that the re-evaluation of your trade-in car will not be altered, provided your car has not been in an accident.

The "no money down" arrangement some dealers promote might have appeal to you. Although this is more often a practice where used cars are concerned, it's also used on some new cars. Such an offer may not be as simple as it sounds.

* * *

If you're young, with not much job experience or established credit, you'll find it difficult to avoid having to obtain a separate "second loan" to cover the cost of the normal down payment of 20 to 25 per cent — usually necessary for further financing a car.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

The end of this week will be the midpoint of my Eight-Week Beauty Improvement Plan for many of my readers. If you started later, the midpoint will come a little further along for you.

How much weight you have lost will depend on how faithfully you have followed the menus or counted calories and how regularly you have done the exercises. Of course there are other factors involved, too, such as your metabolism and how active you are physically.

Most of you will have lost at least 10 pounds. However, if you have not, do not be discouraged. Also, if you come to a standstill don't panic! This is a usual part of reducing. Just keep on counting calories and the scales will soon give you happy news again. By now your measurements should have shrunk several inches. Don't weaken. The battle is now half won. If you fell by the wayside start again with new determination.

FOLLOW GUIDE

One way to plan nutritious meals is to follow this daily food guide. It is taken from the United States Government Diet Book which was originally published by the United States Department of Agriculture as "Food and Your Weight."

Milk group: Children under 9 years, 2 to 3 cups of milk — 9 to 12 years, 3 or more cups — Teen-agers, 4 or more cups — Adults, 2 or more cups. Cheese and ice cream may replace part of the milk.

Meat Group: Two or more servings daily of beef, veal, pork, lamb, poultry, fish or eggs. Dry beans, dry peas or peas or lentils and nuts may be used as alternatives occasionally.

Vegetable and fruit group: Have four or more servings daily, including a citrus fruit or other sources of vitamin C — a dark green or deep yellow vegetable—and, at least every other day have the vegetables and fruits to make up the suggested four or more servings.

The bread cereal group: (also cornmeal, grits, macaroni, noodles, rice and spaghetti) four or more servings daily of the whole grain, enriched, or restored kinds. Check the labels. You may not follow this plan every day, but should as a general rule be guided by it. Here is another sample menu for those of you who are following BIP.

SAMPLE MENUS
BREAKFAST

¾ cup oatmeal
1 cup skim milk (8 oz.)
2 teaspoons sugar
1 slice toast with ½ teaspoon butter or margarine

LUNCHEON

Salad of medium-size tomato and 1 hardboiled egg, with ¾ tablespoon mayonnaise
1 small hard roll with ½ teaspoon butter
1 cup of milk (skim)

DINNER

4 ounces tomato juice
Lean beef pot roast — 4 ounces, no gravy or juice
½ cup spinach or other greens
½ cup carrots
Tablespoon butter on vegetables and season with herbs
½ of a medium baked potato, teaspoon sour cream and chopped parsley
Small bunch of grapes
Total calories for day—1135

If you failed to clip the BIP columns and would like to have my complete Eight-Week Beauty Improvement Plan in a booklet send 25 cents plus 15 cents for postage and handling to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

The BIP Kit contains exercises, a calorie chart, beauty hints and a unique wall chart on which you plot your daily progress.

Survey Reveals 'Vet Set' Gals Are Increasing

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—The number of women animal doctors in this country has increased from about 50 in 1956 to more than 300 today, according to a survey by the University of Vermont extension service.

* * *

Dr. James Wadsworth, extension animal pathologist says that the American Veterinary Medical Association receives an average of 500 inquiries a month from schoolgirls and predicts that many of the doubled number of veterinarians needed in the next 20 years will be women.

* * *

Present women veterinarians, he notes, are engaged in both small and large animal practice, research, teaching, and public health. Nearly 60 per cent are in private practice and more than half are married with families.

District 10 of the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs became the state's first district to hold a membership tea Sunday at Birmingham Community House.

Miss Kruizenga said that there are 175,000 members in 5,500 clubs throughout the United States. Among the group's objectives are: improvement of the status of women, youth power emphasis, support of the club's cancer fund and the club insurance program.

Madeline Vick, state membership chairman and assistant director, spoke on "What You Get for a Membership in BPW."

Tea cochairmen were Mary Hostetler and Mabel Spencer, Highland Park and Hazel Park BPWs, respectively.

* * *

Models will include Mrs. Ray Trentham, Mrs. Patrick Petrillo, Mrs. Howard Humphrey, Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. I. A. Crandall, Mrs. James Bates, Sandra Pellitier and Mrs. V. A. Eads.

Experts Tell Gem Values

NEW YORK (UPI) — Clarity in a diamond refers to the absence of carbon spots, bubbles or other natural imperfections, according to gem experts.

* * *

Only diamonds that show no "bubbles" to an expert using a glass that magnifies 10 times can be rated flawless. Most imperfections are so small that the naked eye cannot see them. The beauty of a diamond may not be affected, but the price of the gem is lowered by the imperfection.

Iowa Program Scores Major Breakthrough in Job Opportunities for Blind

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Suppose you were blind and wanted a job as a newspaper reporter, an electrical engineer, a computer programmer.

Impossible, you might say. And most people, including many of the blind themselves, would agree.

★ ★ ★

But, says Kenneth Jernigan, director of the Iowa Commission for the blind, it is anything but impossible.

In fact, in the last six months, a blind person has gone to work as a reporter, another as an electrical engineer, and a third as a computer programmer.

CENTER'S GRADUATES

They are graduates of the commission's Orientation and Rehabilitation Center.

Placing them in these jobs, Jernigan says, represents an important break through in opportunities for the blind who too often are regarded as limited in the jobs they can hold.

★ ★ ★

Jernigan, sightless from birth, holds a different philosophy.

He says: "With proper training and opportunity, the average blind person can do the average job in the average place of business, and do it as well as his sighted neighbor."

PAYING OFF

He says the Iowa program is paying off in job placements and in a breakdown of what he calls historic public attitudes and misconceptions about blindness.

Remodeling now under way will give the Iowa commission the largest library for the blind in the world, Jernigan said.

Jernigan says the commission's training program is aimed at giving the blind:

Alternative techniques of doing things in which sighted people use sight — independent mobility, reading, communication and the activities of daily living.

DAILY LIVING

Confidence in the blind person's ability to perform, with these alternative techniques, in a job or daily living.

The understanding to cope with public misconception that the word "blind" carries with it connotations of inferiority and helplessness.

★ ★ ★

Techniques to develop coordination and confidence include physical training, woodworking for men, using power saws, lathes, reamers and the like, and use of power sewing machines by the women.

"A person who learns to master gymnastic feats and the use of Braille micrometers and power equipment," he said, "gains confidence that he also can learn to run a comptometer or typewriter and master other skills."

Jernigan says his theories about the blind have caused considerable headshaking among administrators around the nation.

★ ★ ★

"They may disagree with our theories," Jernigan said, "but they can't disagree with our results."

U.S. Pushing Lake Cleanup

Tougher Tone Seen Aimed at Industry

CHICAGO (UPI) — Federal and state authorities were expected to get tough with industry today in efforts to keep Lake Michigan from becoming a cesspool.

The authorities reopened a conference to reportedly adopt a timetable for enforcement of rigorous water quality standards.

"We've had our studies, we've listened to industry and now it's time to clean up the lake," H. W. Poston, federal region director for water pollution, told the federal-state conference earlier this month.

It was decided then to recess until today so more study could be given to the proposed standards.

★ ★ ★

The estimated cost of purifying the lake has been placed at $100 million.

KEY PROBLEM

One of the problems is who will pay — the federal government, or the oil and steel firms that line the southern end of the lake, or both.

A report by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) on pollution revealed:

Ten major steel mills, five petroleum refineries and several chemical, paper and food processing industries were in the southern Lake Michigan area.

★ ★ ★

Most of the streams and ditches flowing into the lake there were sluggish or stagnant.

WATER SUPPLIES

Not only were fish and plant life in the lake threatened, but bad taste and smell was occurring in some municipal water supplies.

"This pollution endangers the health or welfare of persons," the report said. It recommended:

Industrial plants take steps to treat such wastes as oil and tarry substances, persistent chemicals that contribute to taste and odor problems, ammonia, phosphorous, suspended matter and highly acidic or alkaline matter.

★ ★ ★

Industrial plants institute permanent sampling programs.

MONITOR SITES

State and local agencies establish quality monitoring stations.

Consolidation of small community faculties into integrated sewer systems.

All sanitary wastes be disinfected.

Nonsmokers Fearful Smoke Will Fill Air

ASCOT, England (UPI) — John Andrews and his wife interviewed 28 women before they found two with the necessary qualifications for jobs as cook and maid.

The chief qualification? No smoking. The Andrews quit smoking four years ago and are so afraid they might be tempted to take up the habit again they didn't want any smokers around the house.

Junior Editors Quiz on ARROWHEADS

QUESTION: How were stone arrowheads made?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Certain kinds of hard stone, especially flint, have such an even grain that curved, smooth chips or "flakes" can be easily knocked off.

This was perhaps the greatest discovery made by primitive man.

It enabled him to chip cutting edges on bits of rock and make knives, axes and scrapers. It was thus possible for him to kill large animals, utilizing their bone, meat and hide.

When, about 15,000 years ago, the use of bow and arrow began, primitive men began to tip their arrows with stone.

At first, such arrowheads were crude, but later were beautifully shaped and finished. Most were made in this way: First, the maker knocked pieces off a flint rock and selected the best-shaped ones.

Then (2) he held a flint in one hand and pressed down on the edge with some kind of point, such as bone or ivory.

A chip of the flint would flake off. Another hit would be flaked off, and another, until a sharp edge was made on both sides of the arrowhead.

Flaking the flint against a resting piece was often done, as it prevented chips from flying up into the face. There are various ways of fastening on the arrowheads. We show one use by the American Indians.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Start an arrowhead collection. They may be bought cheaply or you may be lucky enough to find some. In case you insist on chipping your own out of flint, be sure to wear safety goggles, otherwise tiny bits might jump up and injure your eyes.

It contained two $100 bills, two $50s, two 20s, two $10s, two $5, and two $1s.

New Discovery Now Makes It Possible to Shrink And Heal Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain In Minutes

New York, N. Y. (Special): A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissues all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.

Tests conducted under a doctor's observations proved this so—even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®.

In addition to actually shrinking piles—Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.

Extra Activities Can Spoil School Grades

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

While we have held consistently that learning is the responsibility of the pupil, this by no means covers the whole problem.

DR. NASON

The scheduling of extracurricular activities — whether they be athletics, school plays, student councils or glee clubs—is an administrative responsibility. These activities frequently are allowed to interfere with classroom attendance.

Sometimes a combination of circumstances, all of which should be under administrative control, affect a student's grades adversely. For example, consider the plight of Julia, a ninth-grade student in a junior high school.

Julia is a popular girl. She is active in student affairs and also sings in the glee club. Just prior to the Christmas holidays, meetings of the student council and glee club on two successive days forced Julia's absence from algebra and Spanish classes.

In these two subjects, Julia was barely maintaining a passing grade.

She made an appointment with her algebra teacher for an after-school conference. He limited the conference to five minutes since he had been assigned to the preparation of a holiday program which was consuming all of his out-of-class time.

An algebra examination was scheduled which, it was announced, would count for one-third of the final grade in the course. Thus, Julia was to be tested without the benefit of classwork on some materials.

This series of events was the responsibility of the administrators of the school.

While this actual example is an unusual combination of circumstances, it points up the fact that extracurricular activities can affect scholarship. A student's success in school is measured by his success in the classroom and the grades he receives.

It is the responsibility of the principal to schedule and coordinate out-of-class activities so that they will in no way interfere with classroom work. He is the only person in a position to accomplish this. Neither the student nor the teacher has any control over such schedules.

The student could, of course, avoid participating in out-of-class activities and thus solve that portion of the problem for himself.

★ ★ ★

However, if these activities can be justified and are valuable to the pupils involved, they should be scheduled in such a way that every student so inclined could avail himself of the opportunity without being penalized.

Sharp Rise in Medicare Sign-Ups

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Social Security officials today reported a sharp rise in the number of old people signing up for Medicare insurance against doctors' bills.

The weekly enrollment rate for the optional insurance — known as "Part B" of the Medicare program — has quadrupled since late December.

Even so, there are still nearly 7 million Americans over 65 who have not yet responded to the greatest bargain offer in the history of medical insurance.

And time is running out. Eligible oldsters have exactly two more months — until March 31 —to sign up for coverage. After the deadline passes, they'll have to wait two years to get in.

Regardless of whether a person is insured, if he wants "Part B" insurance, he should sign up now. Any enrollee may withdraw from the program — without charge — until the time the benefits begin next July 1.

EXTRA MONTHS

This course of action would give the undecided three extra months to make up their minds —if they enroll before March 31.

Medicare's basic hospitalization insurance — known as "Part A" — is available free to all Americans over 65. There is no deadline for enrollment.

Those already covered by Social Security will receive their enrollment cards automatically. Others have only to visit, write or phone the nearest Social Security office and obtain a card showing they are entitled to hospital benefits.

★ ★ ★

But "Part B" is a voluntary program, and those who want to participate in it must pay a premium charge of $3 a month. This is far less than comparable private insurance would cost.

CHEAP RATE

It can be offered at a very cheap rate because the government is paying half the cost.

"Part B" provides coverage of house or office visits by physicians; surgeon's fees; hospital services of anesthesiologists and other specialists; X rays; lab tests; radiation therapy; artificial limbs and eyes; home visits by nurses and therapists.

The patient pays the first $50 of all such expenses which he incurs in any calendar year. Thereafter, the insurance covers 80 per cent of the "reasonable cost" of such services.

The uptrend in enrollments is graphically displayed on charts at Social Security headquarters.

During the last week of December, 120,000 enrollment cards came in. During the last week of January, more than 500,000 were recieved.

As of today, Social Security has heard from about 12.2 million of the 19 million eligible oldsters. Response has been 10 to 1 in favor of Part B.

Bad Weather Delays Turk's Trip to U. S.

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Ailing President Cemal Gursel's departure for Washington has been delayed until Wednesday because of bad weather, government sources said today.

Gursel, 72, was to have left today by U. S. Air Force plane for medical treatment at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Man Well-Suited to Sweat Out Problems

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Nature equipped man to sweat out his problems. The human skin contains 2½ million perspiration glands and they can excrete 2½ pints an hour.

BOYLE

The left foot of most people is slightly larger than their right foot. This is because we are a race of left-footed loungers. Even right-handed people tend to throw most of their weight on their left foot when standing at ease. The next time you're at a bar, see if most of the patrons don't rest their right foot on the rail, while balancing on the left.

★ ★ ★

Are you a chronic daydreamer? Well, don't fret about it. Some psychologists believe that those who daydream habitually have a better chance of making their dreams come true because they develop a better insight into their own personality. (My trouble, doctor, is that I have the kind of daydreams which if carried out, would land me in jail.)

WOMEN SMOKERS

Pipe this: Cigarette smoking is increasing more rapidly among women than among men. One reason given for the rise in feminine smoking is that the girls think it helps keep their weight down.

Quotable notables: "You can take no credit for beauty at 16. But if you are beautiful at 60, it will be your own soul's doing"—Marie Stopes.

★ ★ ★

Science has found that you probably are an overly anxious person if you breathe hoarsely and heavily, take deep breaths, and cough and clear your throat repeatedly. On the other hand, you can develop the same symptoms by running for a bus.

Sign in a New Hampshire town: "Drive carefully. Our squirrels cannot tell one nut from another."

AIR MAIL TRIP

The "Father of his Country" may also have been the father of air mail. A letter signed by George Washington reportedly was carried by Jean Pierre Blanchard, a Frenchman, on a 14-mile balloon flight in this country on Jan. 9, 1793.

Prosperity note: The United States now has more than 425,000 taverns in which one can seek emergency help in case of snakebite.

★ ★ ★

Apt definitions: The Catholic Digest describes a night club as a place "where they get away with murder—and you face the charges."

★ ★ ★

At one time or another, practically everything in short supply has been used for money, from oyster shells to shrunken human heads. One of the oddest was a 175-pound circular piece of stone. On Yap, a Pacific island, it would buy either 1,000 coconuts or a wife.

PLAY THE FIELD

Worth remembering: "The trouble with being a bachelor is that, by the time you're played the field, you're too old to make a pitch."

Something new on the market for golfers who like to play in bad weather: An umbrella with a club head at one end.

★ ★ ★

Quickies: A rattlesnake can't read a thermometer but can tell changes of temperature to a thousandth of a degree. Twelve million Americans are injured in falls each year. Fat children often eat less than their slender companions—but also exercise less. You are more likely to get flat-footed if you walk with your toes turned out.

It was Oscar Wilde who observed, "There is only one class in the community that thinks more about money than the rich, and that is the poor."

Burglars Get $4,000

WAY THE BALL BOUNCES—Terry Dill of Austin, Tex., uses field glasses borrowed from a spectator in an unsuccessful attempt to locate his ball in the matted branches of a Cypress tree fronting the 16th green at Harding Park Golf Course in San Francisco yesterday. Dill, competing in the Lucky International tournament, was attempting to hit over the tree. It cost him a stroke and distance for a double bogey on the hole. He carded a 70 for the day for a three-round total of 208, five strokes behind leader Frank Beard.

Wings Jolted Twice in Loss to Chicago

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

DETROIT (AP)—What started out to be one of their best months in years ended with a double setback for the Detroit Red Wings Sunday.

The defending National Hockey League regular-season champions not only are forced to share first place, following Chicago's 5-1 victory Sunday, but will probably have to play the next two weeks without the services of defenseman Doug Barkley.

Barkley, named to the NHL's second All-Star team last week and the only regular Detroit defenseman to play in all of the team's games, was struck in the eye by a stick in the second period.

Surgery was performed Sunday night to close a tear in back of the right eye. Doctors said Barkley would be hospitalized for at least 10 days.

SALVAGED TIE

Alex Delvecchio's goal two seconds before the final buzzer salvaged a 4-4 tie with the Black Hawks Saturday night.

New York bombed Toronto, 8-4, and Montreal moved to within a point of a first place share with a 3-1 triumph over Boston in Sunday's other games.

Toronto downed Boston, 6-3, and Montreal clipped New York 6-2, in Saturday's other games.

"This was the poorest we have looked in a long time," lamented Detroit Manager-Coach Sid Abel Sunday.

"We get a bad break on their first goal (the Red Wings argued that Stan Mikita was offside on his goal-scoring play) and instead of doing something about it we just let down," Abel said.

POWER PLAY

Ken Wharram scored on a power play and ex-Red Wing John Miszuk tallied while the Black Hawks were a man short to give Chicago a 3-0 first period lead.

Chico Maki scored 21 seconds into the second period and Eric Nesterenko capped the one-sided affair with a goal in the third period.

★ ★ ★

Paul Henderson got Detroit's only goal while Chicago was playing two men short midway in the second period.

If the Red Wings have anything to be thankful for after salvaging but one point in the back-to-back games with Chicago, its the fact that they only have five more games with the Black Hawks.

Chicago, which beat the Red Wings eight times last year, holds a 7-1-1 edge in the season's series so far.

The Red Wings won eight and tied two of their 12 games in January.

At New York Sunday, Bob Nevin and Reg Fleming each scored twice as the Rangers beat the Maple Leafs for only the second time in nine meetings.

Jean Ratelle, Jim Neilson, Vic Hadfield and Donnie Marshall notched New York's other goals.

★ ★ ★

Frank Mahovlich scored twice and Kent Douglas and Brit Selby once each for Toronto.

Henri Richard, Gilles Tremblay and J.C. Tremblay netted the Montreal goals in an unusual penalty-free game at Boston.

GLOVE HELPS — The fallen glove of Chicago defenseman Al MacNeil stops the puck during last night's game with the Detroit Red Wings. The Black Hawks stopped the Wings in another fashion, too, beating them 5-1 to tie Detroit for first place in the National Hockey League.

Chiefs Resume Play on Home Floor Tuesday

Flint Southwestern '5' Here to Duel Central in SVC Contest

SAGINAW VALLEY CONFERENCE

	League W	League L	Over-All W	Over-All L
Pontiac Central	7	0	9	0
Saginaw	6	1	8	2
Bay City Central	5	3	6	4
Flint Southwestern	4	3	5	4
Saginaw Arthur Hill	4	3	5	5
Midland	3	5	5	6
Flint Northern	2	5	2	6
Flint Central	2	5	2	7
Bay City Handy	0	8	0	10

"I was glad that we didn't have to play Friday," said Pontiac Central basketball coach Fred Zittel.

"After that big game with Saginaw, we may have been ripe for a loss. It's natural for a team to let down after being so keyed up."

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs get back to the business of trying to win the Saginaw Valley Conference championship tomorrow night when they play an improved Flint Southwestern quintet.

The game will be at PCH with the varsity tip-off scheduled for 8 p.m.

After a slow start, Southwestern had worked its way to third place in the SVC before being dumped by Saginaw, 81-68, last Friday. The Colts had the unhappy task of meeting the frustrated Trojans who had dropped two straight — including the 61-59 loss to PCH — after seven straight wins.

The unbeaten Chiefs, No. 2 rated Class A team in the state, will be after their eighth conference win and 10th overall. Southwestern is 4-3 in the SVC and 5-4 in all games.

GAME BEHIND

Saginaw, a game behind the Chiefs, is home for a game with Flint Central. In other SVC games tomorrow, Arthur Hill plays at Flint Northern and Bay City Central travels cross town to Handy.

"Southwestern always worries me," said Zittel. "Look back at the record and you'll find that they always give us a tough game here at home. We seem to have an easier time at Flint."

The record shows that the Colts have been successful their last two trips to Pontiac and four seasons ago they lost by only two points.

The Colts will be about equal in height with the Chiefs. This is something unusual for the Chiefs who have been giving away an average of an inch or two to Valley foes.

Center Skip Malin and forward Jesse Mangham are the tallest at 6-3. Both have been carrying the Colts scoring load in recent games. Malin has several good moves from the pivot.

Tom Hartman, 6-0, and Roy West, 6-1, have been alternating at one forward spot. Coach Roy McMurray has been using Rick Middleton, 5-10, and Mike Franklin, 5-9, at the guards.

★ ★ ★

Southwestern is not noted for a fast-break attack. The Colts like to work the ball in close before shooting.

They have averaged 62.8 points a game. PCH's potent offense has been producing points at a 74.1 clip while the defense has limited the opposition to an average of 53.7.

Southwestern's defense is above average for SVC teams, yielding 61.2 points per outing.

By the Associated Press

Coach Harry Combs takes his Illinois basketball team to Michigan Tuesday night fully aware someone had better stop the Wolverines soon or forget about the Big Ten race.

★ ★ ★

Michigan hasn't lost a conference game on the road as yet, let alone at home and as the season advances the schedule definitely grows in favor of the Wolverines.

★ ★ ★

Wisconsin had a chance Saturday to sidetrack Cazzie Russell and his teammates, but the Badgers, playing far beyond their ability and catching Michigan in an off game, let it slip away with the Wolverines coming off with a 69-67 decision.

Russell led all scorers with 21 points, but it was a bad day for Cazzie who hit on only seven of 22 field goal attempts and was held to only one goal and seven points in the second half.

KEY REBOUNDS

While Cazzie was getting a bad game out of his system, Oliver Darden came to the rescue. Darden picked off key rebounds in the closing minutes and hit on a couple of clutch baskets to keep Michigan ahead of the inspired Badgers.

Michigan State kept within reach of the undefeated Wolverines with a 77-68 triumph over Northwestern and Minnesota, still in contention, pounded Purdue 91-75 in a sweep for visiting teams.

★ ★ ★

Including the Illinois game, Michigan has five games remaining at home and four on the road. Games at Indiana and at Purdue shouldn't be beyond Michigan's talented reach.

★ ★ ★

In fact, only two contests on the Wolverine schedule appear to be troublesome. Those find Michigan at Iowa Feb. 21 and at Michigan State March 7.

Kentuckian Leading Lucky Golf Tourney

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Top golfers drew a bead on the sharpshooter today as the $57,000 Lucky International Open Tournament finally reached its final round with Kentuckian Frank Beard aiming for a wire-to-wire victory.

The 26-year-old from Louisville, Ky., has led for four days, normally enough to bring a first prize check except that play on the third round was nullified Saturday when rain flooded the greens at Harding Park.

So after a 66-67, the bespectacled southerner came back after the weather-drenched day to card a 70 and go into the finals with a one-stroke lead at 203 over Mike Souchak and two ahead of Ray Floyd.

Nobody shot 206 for 54 holes, but five, including the incomparable Arnold Palmer, were deadlocked at 207. Thirty-three pros were under par for the tournament and nine more were even with the regulation figure at 213 for three rounds over the 6,692-yard Harding Park layout.

Both Souchak and Floyd missed chances for birdies in their third round. The latter missed putts of four feet on both the 16th and 18th holes which would have tied him with Beard had he sunk both.

Floyd's great iron game brought him five birdies on the final six holes of his first nine as on three of them he needed putts no longer than two feet.

★ ★ ★

Souchak dropped birdie putts of four feet on the second hole, five at the sixth and three at the ninth for 33 going out, but could only match par 35 on Harding's inbound nine. He told of missing five-footers at the 10th and 12th and a four-footer at 14th to ruin his bid to go into the lead.

★ ★ ★

The 38-year-old former Duke football player had carded three 68s and each with 33 on the front side and 35 on the backside.

If any of those leading three falter, the five including former National Open champions Palmer and Ken Venturi were poised to strike from the 207 spot. Dave Ragan, Joe Campbell and Tom Weiskopf also started at 207, six strokes under par.

Rules Changed

'Hall' Door Awaits Casey

NEW YORK (AP) — The door to Baseball's Hall of Fame has been thrown open for the immediate entrance of Casey Stengel, former player, manager and, at 75, still the sport's outstanding ambassador.

The news left Stengel virtually speechless, setting a record for the gregarious Old Perfesser.

Stengel found out he would be eligible without the usual five-year waiting period when Ford Frick, who has just retired as baseball commissioner, revealed at the baseball writers dinner Sunday night that the Hall of Fame Oldtimers' Committee has changed its rules.

Stengel sat on the dias as Frick spoke of the new rules and made obvious reference to Stengel without mentioning his name by looking down the table and quipping:

"This is not an announcement of election — but the gates are open."

The gates were opened by the simple expedient of waiving the usual five-year waiting period after retirement. Now the waiting period will be a mere six months for all retired baseball personnel, players, managers and officials, 65 or over.

★ ★ ★

Stengel obviously was embarrassed by the attention accorded him after Frick's announcement.

"It's nice to have it while you're still around," he said, groping for words. "But there are about 50 others who should be in. But at 65 years of age it's a good idea for those rules. I really can't talk about it."

And he said no more.

His records, however, speak for themselves.

Last Call Given for Paddleballers

Registration for the round-robin paddle ball tournament starting next week at Pontiac Northern can be made by calling Elden Johnson, PNH athletic director, at FE 8-4505.

Tomorrow is the deadline for registration.

A round-robin schedule will be used and each player will pay a fee of 50 cents for either singles or doubles.

Cage Star Is Winner of Award

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Bradley, who won practically every honor possible during his years as a college basketball star at Princeton, Sunday ruled over all amateur sport when he was named winner of the 1965 Sullivan Award.

The award, which has been presented annually since 1930, goes to "the amateur athlete who by performance, example and good influence did the most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship during the year."

★ ★ ★

The 6-foot-5, 22-year-old tossed aside a lucrative professional basketball contract to accept a Rhodes scholarship.

He is now enrolled at Worcester College in Oxford where he is studying philosophy, economics and politics.

Track star Ralph Boston was second with 82 first place votes and 707 points over-all. Shot putter Randy Matson finished third with 75 votes and 635 points.

★ ★ ★

Completing the top 10 in the balloting were distance runner Lt. Billy Mills of the U.S. Marine Corps; the late Capt. Ron Zinn, U.S. Army; runner Gerry Lindgren; swimmer Cathy Ferguson; diver Bernie Wrightson; swimmer Dick Roth; and miler Jim Ryun of Kansas.

U.S. Ice Skating Team Has Talented Lineup

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Not since 1960 when the United States last won a title in the World Figure Skating Championships have hopes been so high as now.

Hopes also were high in 1961 when the U.S. team took off for the World Championships at Prague.

★ ★ ★

But all 18 members of that team were killed in a crash of their jet plane that was trying to land at Brussels before going on to Czechoslovakia. The event was canceled.

Late Saturday night at Berkeley Iceland at the end of the 48th U.S. Figure Skating Championships there was hope again for a gold medal in one of the four divisions in the world meet starting Feb. 22 at Davos, Switzerland. And, as a precaution, the 16-member U.S. team won't fly to Europe together.

Scott Ethan Allen, the 17-year-old runner-up in the 1965 World Championships, regained the senior mens title he had lost last year.

Gary Visconti, 20, of Detroit, the dethroned 1965 titlist, placed second to Allen, of Smoke Rise, N.J., who had piled up a large lead in the more important school figures.

Visconti, along with Emmerich Danzer of Austria, pose a threat to the U.S. champ. Allen was the only skater Saturday night to complete successfully a triple maneuver — three revolutions in the air — doing it twice in different jumps.

Billy Chapel, 20, of Colorado Springs, won the third spot on the U.S. team by moving ahead of Tim Wood, 17, of Bloomfield Hills, 13th place finisher last year in the world meet.

Allen's improvement in the compulsory figures which count 60 per cent was matched by Peggy Fleming, 17, of Colorado Springs, who captured her third consecutive senior ladies title.

Miss Fleming, who finished third in the World Championships last year, once again must contend with Petra Burka of Canada, the overwhelming winner in 1965.

Albertina Noyes, 16, of Arlington, Mass., 10th in world competition last year, finished second to Miss Fleming. Pam Schneider, 17, of Lincroft, N.J., finished third and grabbed the last spot for the trip to Davos.

Cynthia, 17, and Ronald Kauffman, 19, of Seattle, who finished sixth at the world meet in 1965, captured the senior pairs title with ease. They were runners-up to the now-retired pair of Vivian and Ronald Joseph, who placed second in the international event.

LOOKS LIKE THE END — This looks like the beginning of the end for welterweight John Mahn of Lake Orion who heads for the canvas. The extended right from Pete Schultz of Oxford in the first round of their fight in the Golden Gloves Saturday night, however, glanced off Mahan's shoulder and as he backed up he went down. Mahan was a unanimous three-round winner of the fight.

O-U Runners Set 8 Marks in Meet

Oakland University runners broke eight school records at the Western Michigan Open Saturday sponsored by the Michigan Track Federation.

No point totals are kept and among the top places in the meet for Oakland were George Walcoff the 60-yard dash in 6.6 and also in the 300-yard dash in 33.7.

Bob Willson placed in the 880 in 2:06 and in the 1,000-yard run in a time of 2:26.5. Gary Cobb went 1:21.1 in the 600-yard ddash and 4:46 in the mile run.

The mile relay team with Tim Kaul and the three listed went 3:41.1.

Next Monday the O-U runners meet U. of D. at home at 7 p.m.

10 Pontiac Glovers Reach State Semifinals

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Experience and poise were absent with the return of Golden Gloves boxing to Pontiac after seven years.

★ ★ ★

But, much to the approval of nearly 1,000 entertained fans in the Pontiac Central gym Saturday night, 10 young glovers won the right to advance to the state semifinals at Grand Rapids on Feb. 9.

★ ★ ★

From that point, the winners will advance to the state finals Feb. 12 in the same Grand Rapids' Civic Auditorium.

Two Oxford cousins, Jim and George Bovee, led the winning boxers in the PCH district eliminations.

Jim, a 135-pounder, and George at 126, each won a pair of fights to gain semifinal berths.

In the opening bout of the night, George won a unanimous featherweight decision over Brad Dalton of Troy and in the 11th bout of the evening he scored another decision against Ken Wilson of Union Lake.

Jim Bovee scored a pair of technical knockouts in the lightweight division. He defeated Paul Brown of Walled Lake at 1:45 of the second round and then scored a TKO over Greg Cleveland in 1:50 of the second round.

FINE STYLE

It was a matter of determination for Jim Bovee in the fact that Cleveland, even though a loser, showed fine ring style in winning a decision over Bill Gustafson of Clarkston earlier in the evening.

With Cleveland, the honors of showing the best boxing poise would probably go to John Mahan who won a unanimous decision over Peter Schultz of Oxford.

In the heavyweight bouts which had the spirited crowd shouting favorably, Denny Weedon, a 292-pound Oxford teenager, scored a second TKO over 195-pound Fred Moore of Pontiac.

Later, he won another TKO over 205-pound Joe Acosta after sending Acosta to the canvas twice in the first round.

Neither Moore nor Acosta could dent the well-protected frame of Weedon who took numerous body punches before forcing his opponents to the ropes and delivering his key punches.

In another heavyweight bout, Jim Hoke, with his nose bloodied, knocked Les Hanspard to the canvas in the second round and took a TKO verdict at 1:42.

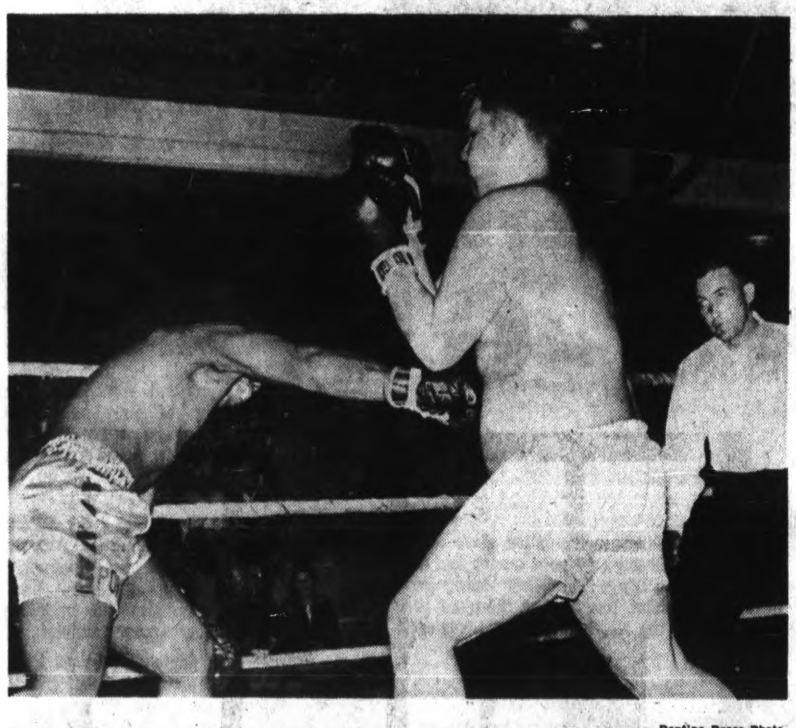

★ ★ ★

Bill Hollis, a middleweight, kayoed Dave Fairbanks at 35 seconds of the first round and Morris Davis needed just 25 seconds to kayo Billy Hall in a lightheavyweight fight.

Pontiac Golden Gloves director Harold Dugan hailed the return of the bouts as a complete success. He said the training center on Perry Street would remain open and that plans are already under way for next year's district tournament.

Referee for the fights Saturday night was Gene Linscott one of Pontiac's better known ex-boxers.

Bout I — George Bovee (Oxford) by decision over Brad Dalton (Troy).
Bout II — Greg Cleveland (Farmington) dec. over Bill Gustafson (Clarkston).
Bout III — Denny Weedon (Oxford) TKO 2nd round over Fred Moore (Pontiac).
Bout IV — Jim Bovee (Oxford) TKO 2nd round over Paul Brown (Walled Lake).
Bout V — Ken Wilson (Union Lake) split dec. over Mel Cook (Pontiac).
*Bout VI — John Mahon (Lake Orion) dec. over Pete Schultz (Oxford).
*Bout VII — Bill Hollis (Pontiac) kayo, 35 seconds first round over Dave Fairbanks (Walled Lake).
*Bout VIII — Morris Davis (Pontiac) kayo 25 seconds first round over Billy Hall (Pontiac).
*Bout IX — Weedon TKO 1:47 2nd round over Joe Acosta (Pontiac).
*Bout X — Jim Bovee TKO 2nd round over Greg Cleveland.
*Bout XI — George Bovee decision over Ken Wilson.
*Bout XII — Jim Hoke (Pontiac) TKO 2nd round over Les Hanspard (Pontiac).
*Winners earn trip to Grand Rapids for semifinals. Also making the trip on the Pontiac team are Bobby Kaiser, flyweight; Jack Meanyweather, welterweight and Gene Buckheister, middleweight.

NO DENT — Denny Weedon, 292-pound heavyweight, takes a right to the midriff from 195-pound Fred Moore but it didn't cause a dent. Refereee on the right is Gene Linscott. Weedon won the bout on a TKO in the second round at 1:30 and later won again to earn a trip to Grand Rapids for the Golden Gloves semifinals, Feb. 9.

The home court in college basketball usually is worth something, which could be just enough to wipe out this week the only two perfect records among major teams.

★ ★ ★

Second-ranked Kentucky, 14-0, travels to Vanderbilt Wednesday night to play the fourth-ranked Commodores, and sixth-ranked Texas Western, also 14-0, heads for Fort Collins, Colo., and a game with Colorado State U. Friday night.

★ ★ ★

Each team won its 14th at home Saturday night, Kentucky crushing Auburn 115-78 and Texas Western whipping West Texas 69-50.

Kentucky defeated Vanderbilt on the Wildcats' court 96-83 a couple of weeks ago, but the return contest could be a lot different.

EYE TOP

The Commodores, 15-2, haven't lost in 10 games at home this season, and another victory could put them on top of the Southeastern Conference race. The Wildcats, on the other hand, have won all five games they've played on the other team's court.

★ ★ ★

Both teams have warm-up games tonight, Kentucky hosting Alabama and Vanderbilt at home in Nashville, Tenn., against Auburn.

★ ★ ★

Of Texas Western's 14 games, only one has been played on the other team's court. In that one, the Miners defeated Arizona State 84-67.

Colorado State hasn't been particularly outstanding over-all this season, but the Rams have won five of six home games and are a big, rugged team that conceivably could beat Texas Western.

AT HOME

Before playing the Rams, though, the Miners play at home Tuesday night against New Mexico State.

In last Saturday's action the first eight of the Top Ten teams played while Kansas and UCLA rested. Two of the teams lost, Dayton trimming fifth-ranked St. Joseph's 79-76 and St. Louis defeating Cincinnati, No. 8, 73-64.

Glinder Torain's tap in with 35 seconds to play was the winning basket for Dayton while Bobby Coles sank three straight baskets and passed off for two more in a second-half spurt that sparked St. Louis past Cincinnati.

Top-ranked Duke won its 13th straight, defeating North Carolina State 84-77. The Blue Devils pulled out the Atlantic Coast Conference triumph in the last five minutes after the game had been tied 17 times.

★ ★ ★

Reserves Joe Kennedy and Warren Chapman each put in two free throws after the final tie at 67-67.

★ ★ ★

Providence, No. 3 came from 10 points behind for an 80-67 victory over Niagara as Jimmy Walker scored 30 points, and Clyde Lee scored 24 points in Vanderbilt's 98-66 triumph over Louisiana State.

Wilson signed a three-year contract with the new American Football League Club Saturday. He said he would hire six assistants.

Wilson, a former Northwestern and Chicago Bear end, had been an NFL coach since 1947. Last season he was an assistant to the Washington Redskins.

TOURNEY WINNERS — Dick Weber of St. Louis, Mo., and Joy Abel of Chicago flash winners' smiles after victories in the All-Star Bowling Tournament yesterday in Lansing. The win in the event was the fourth for Weber, who picked up $15,000 for his efforts. Miss Abel took home $5,000.

Little Bowler Retains Title With Rolloff

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Slender Dick Weber had his fourth big pay day in the National All-Star Bowling Tournament Sunday.

The 130-pound St. Louis resident won his second consecutive All-Star title and his fourth in the last five years to add $15,000 to the $60,545 bankroll he earned in previous All-Star tournaments.

★ ★ ★

Weber tripped fellow townsman Nelson Burton Jr., in the three-game championship rolloff, 684-681. The three-pin difference was the closest margin in the five-years that a three-game series has been used to settle the championship.

Joy Abel of Chicago won the $5,000 top prize in the women's division by defeating Bette Rockwell of Lynn, Mass., 593-538.

MONEY LEADER

It was the 11th time in 14 All-Star appearances that Weber picked up a paycheck. His total winnings easily top the money list. Don Carter, also of St. Louis, is second with $27,000.

Weber and Carter have dominated the tournament in recent years. They are the only four-time winners, but Carter's payoffs were when the tournament was paying much less than it is today.

★ ★ ★

Sunday's four finalists earned their way into the championship rolloffs through a series of eliminations during the first 12 days of the tournament.

The men's starting field of 432 had entries from every state plus Japan, Australia and Canada. There were 260 women competing for the feminine title.

Weber started out as if he were going to make it a runaway, but ultimately needed a flying start in the third game to hold off Burton.

Detroiters Tumble, 117-98

Philadelphia 'Snows' Under Pistons

By The Associated Press

A little more snow might have saved the day for the Detroit Pistons Sunday.

But even the worst blizzard to hit Philadelphia in many years failed to halt the Pistons' game with victory-minded Philadelphia and the Pistons wound up on the short side of a 117-98 National Basketball Association decision.

★ ★ ★

In other games in the NBA Sunday the Boston Celtics regained first place in the Eastern Division by beating New York Knicks 118-115; St. Louis dumped Cincinnati 115-98 and Los Angeles beat Baltimore 136-122.

Irving Kosloff, one of the owners of the 76ers, decided to continue with the scheduled clash after being assured 76ers' star Wilt Chamberlain could get to the game.

HIGH SCORER

Chamberlain did, leading both teams with 38 points and clearing the boards 23 times in the 76ers eighth consecutive victory.

Detroit was never close after starting out with a 5-4 lead two minutes into the first quarter.

★ ★ ★

The 76ers, in a second place tie with Cincinnati in the NBA's eastern division, led the hapless Detroiters 58-51 at the half and moved further into the lead in the third period.

The Pistons, who have lost 37 of their 53 games this season, hit only 37 of 108 field goal attempts. They are in last place in the western loop.

Dave DeBusschere led the Pistons with 18 points and Tom VanArsdale added 17.

Saturday, Boston beat New York 119-107, Cincinnati edged St. Louis 116-115, and San Francisco defeated Baltimore 108-95.

LOST LEAD

The Celtics, who had dropped out of first Jan. 25, built up a 91-74 lead after three periods and then saw the Knicks, led by Walt Bellamy, rally to within one point, 116-115, in the closing seconds. Boston's K. C. Jones was fouled intentionally with two seconds left and made both shots for the final margin.

★ ★ ★

Bill Russell led Boston with 22 points and 27 rebounds. Tom Sanders added 18 points for the Celtics, whose low scorer was K. C. Jones with 10. Bellamy finished with 26.

Cincinnati, in dropping from the top spot, got 33 points from Oscar Robertson and 25 from Jerry Lucas. But the Royals' third high point man, Adrian Smith, netted only eight. St. Louis had five men in double figures, led by Len Wilkens, 25; Zelmo Beaty, 23, and Richie Guerin, 22. Guerin got 14 in the third period when the Hawks built up an 18-point lead.

Groves and Country Day Quintets Remain Unbeaten

Saturday Wins Add to Strings; Huskies Lose

Falcons Outlast Hills; Ann Arbor Rips PNH; Shrine Wins, Again

Birmingham Groves ran its winning streak to 11 in a row while Pontiac Northern took its worse beating of the season.

Groves nipped Bloomfield Hills, 51-47, despite poor foul shooting; while a big first half by visiting Ann Arbor enabled the Pioneers to coast to a 81-51 win at Pontiac Northern.

Country Day of Birmingham whipped host Cranbrook, 70-55, for its night straight conquest. Royal Oak Shrine won its fifth in a row, 65-55, over Royal Oak St. Mary.

Ann Arbor romped to a 52-18 halftime lead at Northern. It was the Huskies' second lowest scoring half of the season. The Pioneers' Higgins had 16 of his 24 points in the first 16 minutes of play.

Northern scored 21 of its points in the last quarter.

Tom Webb hit 17 and Bob Harris 13 for PNH.

FINISH STRONG

Groves dominated the final part of each half against a persistent, upset-minded Bloomfield Hills quintet (6-5). Ace scorer Mike Rafferty produced the key points in the fourth quarter.

With the score tied, 40-40, Rafferty hit for a three point play, Mark Harris added a field goal and Rafferty a free throw for a commanding six-point lead with less than three minutes to play.

Despite missing four charity tosses in the final two minutes and 18 of 29 in the game, the Falcons held off the home team's last tries to get back in the game.

Rafferty had 13 of his game-leading 21 points in the final half. Bruce Hall (12) and Dave Robillard had 22 of the Barons' 26 second-half markers.

Tim Baughman's 23 points paced unbeaten Detroit Country Day School past Cranbrook. The Yellow Jackets built a 42-25 lead in the first half. Jon Pavloff hit 16 points for Cranbrook.

Baughman hit seven of 11 field goals in the opening half.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

In Legal Battle With Braves

Milwaukee After New Ruling

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Milwaukee, the Cinderella of baseball who discovered her prince was footloose and unfaithful, pressed today for an antitrust verdict against the National League before the Braves' scheduled opening day in Atlanta April 12.

Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette, third generation member of a Wisconsin political dynasty, has asked Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller to move the trial date forward to no later than Feb. 21.

Roller ordered attorneys for the league and the Braves to appear at a court hearing today to present any arguments against an early trial.

The National League had announced Friday it would ignore Roller's court order that it be prepared to keep the Braves in Milwaukee this year and be prepared to expand beyond the present 10 teams should the judge hand down such an eventual verdict.

COUNTER CHARGES

The owners voted unanimously to instruct the Braves to proceed with plans to play in Atlanta after 13 seasons in Milwaukee, the city they were once before blocked from abandoning by a court order.

"Open defiance," La Follette said of the league's action.

"More harassment," League President Warren Giles said Sunday after the latest court hearing was set.

Roller handed down his court order for 1966 preparations Thursday. After listening to Braves' requests that the trial, originally set for Feb. 1, be delayed until June 1, he issued a compromise ruling Friday that rescheduled the trial for March 7.

After the league's statement, La Follette asked Saturday that the date be moved forward again and Roller promptly signed an order summoning Braves' attorneys into court today.

The state antitrust suit contends baseball is a monopoly. It accuses the National League of a conspiracy to deprive Milwaukee of the business of baseball.

The suit asks that either the Braves be required to remain in Milwaukee or the National League be ordered to grant the city a replacement franchise, probably through expansion.

COURT ORDER

The Braves are already under a temporary injunction issued by a Georgia court ordering them to honor their 25-year contract to play in Atlanta.

State and Milwaukee County attorneys, who have subpoenaed many of the Braves' records, say that contract includes an escape clause freeing the Braves from their lease if the move is prevented by court action. Upholding the contract, they contend, also means upholding the escape clause.

★ ★ ★

Braves' officials deny there is such an escape clause. Giles said Friday the National League chose to comply with the Atlanta injunction rather than the Milwaukee court order.

The Braves came to Milwaukee from Boston in 1953 and the burghers on the banks of the Menomonee River stormed the stadium gates to set league attendance records year after year before the romance faded and the take at the turnstiles dwindled.

★ ★ ★

The team was halted from going to Atlanta last year by a court order that it play out its lease with the county for use of the public stadium. The antitrust suit was filed last summer while the Braves were still operating within the boundaries of Wisconsin and subject to its state laws.

Federal courts last fall agreed Wisconsin could prosecute its antitrust suit in state courts. The challenge is considered the most dangerous to baseball's traditional immunity from antitrust laws, won in 1922 when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the sport was neither interstate nor commercial in the days before television and transcontinental travel.

The forcing two bid is an integal part of standard American bidding and used by nearly all American bridge players. There is one glaring exception. The top players don't use it.

JACOBY

In the recent team trials 35 of the 36 pairs used weak two bids; the other pair used ACOL two bids. All 36 used the opening two clubs as an artificial forcing bid.

These experts have found that weak two bids are effective and that the artificial two club opening fully handles all forcing situations.

The basic feature of the weak two bid is that the opening bid of two in any suit except clubs shows a good six-card suit and a hand that is a trifle below an opening bid in high card strength.

Today's hand is an example of a good result for the weak two bid.

South opens with a weak two spade call. North has a nice hand but it is obvious to him that there is no game and he passes. South makes two spades right on the nose. He may even make an overtrick if the defense slips, but two spades is a safe contract.

Without the weak two bid South would pass. Maybe North would open the bidding and South might restrain himself and merely bid one and two spades, but the chances are that if North opened the bidding, South would get to three or four spades and go down.

Or maybe North would simply pass and the hand could be passed out. In either case, the result would not be as good as attained by the weak two bid.

What do you do?

A—Redouble. You have nine high card points which represent the balance of power.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You redouble. West bids two clubs. North and East pass. What do you do now?

Say $22 Million Needed to Ease Watts Conditions

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cost of implementing the McCone Commission recommendations to alleviate conditions that sparked last August's Watts riots is estimated at $22 million by city officials.

Mayor Samuel W. Yorty says city administrator Erwin Piper estimated most of the amount could be footed with federal funds for the war on poverty. He said, however, city taxpayers might have to spend $1.4 million yearly if the recommendations are followed.

★ ★ ★

The two most expensive suggestions, Yorty said Saturday, were the hiring of 2,000 jobless persons after individual training, and hiring another 1,500 persons without training. Estimated yearly cost of the first project: $11.7 million; of the second, $8.5 million.

Jelly Bean Bandit Strikes

PUEBLO, Colo. (UPI) — The jelly bean bandit of Parkview Episcopal Hospital is loose again.

Police said the hospital's only jelly bean machine was taken from the ground floor to the sixth floor, where it was broken open and robbed of an undetermined number of pennies.

★ ★ ★

Hospital Supt. Frank Cresbin said because the machine has been tapped several times before, he's thinking about replacing the jelly beans with jawbreakers.

Lincoln Center Drive Tops $165 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — The Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts has raised $165.4 million to build and launch the center — the fund drive going over the top by $4.7 million.

William Schuman, president of Lincoln Center, said Sunday the drive was "one of the largest successful capital fund campaigns in the history of American philanthropy."

Just Too Cold for Tire Traction, Skidding Tests

STEVENS POINT, Wis. (AP) — The National Safety Council ran into problems today in attempts to start its annual skidding and tire traction tests on ice.

It was just too cold.

Test director Gus Whitehurst said temperatures, ranging from a high of zero to a low of 19 below Sunday, made it impossible to prepare the necessary nine acres of smooth, slick ice.

"The water freezes before it can spread out," he explained.

Constituent Mail No Barometer

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Congressmen's mail is an uncertain barometer of public opinion if judged by letters received by Democrat Sen. Philip Hart, which ran 2 to 1 against resumption of bombing in Viet Nam, and the mail received by Republican House leader Gerald Ford, which by 70 per cent "favored stronger action in Viet Nam."

The Grand Rapids Republican in a breakfast with Michigan-in-Washington reporters commented on the recent conference of congressional leaders called by the President for consultation before a decision was made.

Briefed on the military situation, the consensus was to resume bombing but the President asked for secrecy.

However, the White House "leaked the news, and now the President is in a box," according to Ford. A dozen of Democrats publicly disagree with him on this.

Ford, who made his reputation on the House Appropriations Committee and so understands the budget, calls the President's budget "tricky."

CUT DOWN

"Typically, he cut down sensitive requests for programs which the public likes . . . such as water pollution control, school lunch and milk, and land grant college projects . . . which the Congress might restore."

* * *

Ford said "the great new theory of controlled deficits, a greater Gross National Product plus less unemployment" is threatened unless new taxes, always unpopular, are not imposed.

* * *

Admitting the Republicans can not capture the Senate, although expecting to win in Michigan and Oregon at least, Ford predicted a gain of a "minimum of 30 seats in the House" and included the Democrat winners in outstate Michigan in the last Johnson landslide election.

Charges by Nixon Denied

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Baltimore antipoverty officials deny charges by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon that "they've been making a profit out of the poor."

Nixon, in a New York speech Saturday, said 70 per cent of federal antipoverty funds in Baltimore had gone to the program's administrators and not to the poor.

* * *

"I think it would have been nice if Mr. Nixon had had a look at the books in Baltimore," said Richard W. Bateman Sunday.

Bateman is associate director of the city's Community Action Agency.

'MISINFORMED'

"Obviously the former vice president is misinformed," said Stanley Z. Mazer, "and does not grasp the whole concept of the poverty program.

"You can do anything with figures," said Mazer, head of the agency in charge of neighborhood development.

Mazer asked whether "administrators" mean to Nixon the inclusion of the 500 members of the neighborhood Youth Corps or the 35 neighborhood aides recruited from among the poor.

Bateman said that the regional Office of Economic Opportunity had reported the Baltimore program had one of the lowest administrative costs in the country.

The director of Baltimore's Community Action Agency, Parren J. Mitchell, declined comment, saying he wanted to check the figures first.

Says Writer Husband

Actress on Way to Recovery

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "She's coming along amazingly well," said writer Roald Dahl of his wife, actress Patricia Neal, who suffered three massive strokes a year ago.

THOMAS

Dahl, a towering, plain-spoken Englishman, was here to confer with the Mirish brothers on his first screenplay, "Oh Death, Where Is Thy Sting-a-ling," which will be filmed in Europe in late spring. His Oscar-winning wife remained with their four children at home in Buckinghamshire, 30 miles from London.

* * *

"Pat's speech is virtually normal, except for a slight hesitancy," Dahl reported. "Her face is 100 per cent normal. She still has a slight but obstinate limp caused by a weak right ankle. She is taking hydrotherapy every other day, sitting in a pool heated to 96 degrees while the therapist massages her ankle.

* * *

"Her right hand is a little weak as yet, so that her handwriting is a bit wobbly, although she can write and spell perfectly. Her memory is good, except for names.

WORK AT LINES

"She may have to work at memorizing lines when she returns to work. I'd say that right now there is a better than even chance that she will. The chances get better all the time; a month ago I would have said it was only an even chance."

Miss Neal has only a nurse living with the family, which includes two children under 2. The actress is up at 7 to get the older children off to school. She does all the cooking and walks every day to the village to do the marketing. Aside from her physical therapy, she has a reading or speech lesson usually every morning and always in the afternoon.

TRIES SCRIPT

"Pat realizes that she must rise to the challenge I have set for her," said Dahl, "and she is doing so."

His wife is partially responsible for Dahl's turning from his usual craft of fashioning short stories to the writing of a scenario.

* * *

"When we were out in Hawaii while Pat was making 'In Harm's Way,' I thought I might have a go at writing a script," he explained. "I haven't seen many movies, but had read Pat's scripts, and thought I might be able to do it."

The result was "Oh Death etc.," which title came from an English ballad during World War I. That is the period of Dahl's script, which is a suspense story taking place in Switzerland. He was paid handsomely for it — $150,000 — though half of it went to a television director who supplied the basic idea.

* * *

Dahl has previously written a novel and a play, both of them failures. Despite the gold to be found in longer works, he intends to return to his regular function as a short story writer.

"They are difficult and unrewarding financially," he admitted. "It takes me six years to assemble a book of 10 or 12 stories. I never would have been able to afford it if Pat hadn't been working."

'Red Carpet' for Liz, Burton in England

LONDON (AP) — Film stars Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor were received almost like visiting royalty at London Airport today when they flew in from Los Angeles.

* * *

The couple, en route to Oxford to appear in Christopher Marlowe's play "Doctor Faustus," were met at the plane by a chauffeured limousine and whisked to a plush private lounge at the airport.

* * *

Immigration and customs officials came to the lounge briefly, then the two stars were ushered through the terminal.

Burton, sporting a beard, drove away in a small British car with a relative. Miss Taylor, wearing a fawn-colored mink coat, followed in a Rolls-Royce with Swiss license plates.

Nuclear Plane Crash Brings Atomic Age to Spanish Villagers

CUEVAS DE ALMANZORA, Spain (AP) — The shattering collision of two U.S. warplanes miles above the Spanish Coast has plunged the simple people of this Andalusian region into the nuclear age —and left them astonished, perplexed, and fearful.

The crash Jan. 17 of a B52 bomber carrying nuclear bombs and the jet tanker refueling it — likely to become one of the most expensive accidents in U.S. Air Force history — exploded with international repercussions. But it was the quiet little people of the Mediterranean coast, the truck farmers and the fisherfolk, who were affected most intimately.

★ ★ ★

The massive land and sea search for a nuclear bomb still missing has failed to quiet their fears. Whether it has succeeded in other aims remains to be seen.

The U.S. government presumably is anxious to prevent the bomb from falling into Communist hands and to reassure allied governments who may develop fears about U.S. bombers flying over their territory with nuclear bombs aboard.

MIGHT HAPPEN

Although the search sector near this area of 13,000 persons is heavily guarded, it is conceivable that someone might stumble on secret material and hand it over to a Red agent — wittingly or unwittingly.

It is also conceivable that Soviet military men might discover the weapon or its parts.

★ ★ ★

The missing bomb is believed to be 1,000 feet deep in the Mediterranean off Almeria. The Soviet Union operates subs and surface ships in the Mediterranean.

The search seems to have quieted down for the moment, while the searchers wait for the arrival from the United States of two midget submarines which can dive to that depth.

FLIGHTS BANNED

As long as the bomb is missing, it is feared that other countries might follow Spain's lead and ban U.S. nuclear-armed planes from flying over their territories. Once it is found, it is believed other governments will be reassured.

★ ★ ★

Spaniards living in the area complain they were told too little and too late what the crash could mean.

★ ★ ★

"We wanted to help those poor airmen," said one grizzled farmer. "We all rushed to the wreckage. We weren't told until much later that it could be radioactive. I think if it happened again most of us would stay away from the scene.

The big warplanes were no strangers to the village along this bit of Spanish coast. But never had they come into the very heart of the area.

EVERY MORNING

"We used to see them every morning," a farm woman said, as she watched U.S. and Spanish airmen checking through battered wreckage of the big planes. "They were a familiar sight — something new for us. It was a good show watching them refuel, so high we had to strain to see them."

But on Jan. 17 there was no entertainment for the villagers or the fishermen. Just before 8:25 a.m. children en route to a consolidated school near this village heard the crashing of metal in the sky, saw a quick spread of smoke, then four parachutes blossom out in bright white against the brilliant blue sky.

★ ★ ★

Then the rain of wreckage fell, most of it along the shore and across the truck gardens and farms. It missed the school, in which nearly 500 children from the entire area were gathering, by about a mile and a half. No Spaniard was injured by the falling debris nor was there material damage except to tomato and other truck crops for which this rolling, sandy area is famous.

"But when the word spread that the bomber carried nuclear arms — something of which we know little here — there was a quick wave of fear," said the mayor of one village.

WASH EVERYTHING

"Doctors came from Madrid, and they told us to wash frequently and to wash all our clothes to prevent contamination by something we can't see and can't feel. A month's supply of soap and detergent was bought up and used in two days."

Four survivors of the crash were rescued by fishermen and whisked away to a U. S. Air Force hospital near Madrid. Squads of U. S. and Spanish military descended from helicopters and recovered the burned remains of seven other crewmen who died.

★ ★ ★

"Then came new crews — we learned later they were nuclear bomb experts — stern-faced men who went about their work with an air of not wanting to be bothered by our questions," a squat fisherman said. "Even our own officials were too busy to tell us anything. We tried to help with the wreckage — and learned two days later that we should have kept away."

More U. S. airmen came, clearing the wreckage, searching the area and making friends with the quiet people of the region. They quieted much of the fear when they began eating ripe tomatoes from the local gardens — U. S. damage estimators had already promised reimbursement for this year's crop and maybe the next.

STRANGE DEVICES

The searchers brought with them strange instruments and the word spread that one of the dreaded bombs was missing. The villagers and the fishermen endured another flurry of fear, until word came that instruments had located it in the sea and a recovery force of U. S. and Spanish warships was assembled to recover it.

Garrucha, a nearby fishing village of 4,500 persons, is most affected by the sea search. Fishermen are unable to go to sea, and they sit idly in the sun, watching frogmen and diving bells in action off the coast.

★ ★ ★

They, too, were promised prompt reimbursement for fish lost due to the nuclear search.

There were other major repercussions elsewhere.

FLIGHTS STOPPED

There was heavy pressure from the Spanish government to suspend further refueling flights of the big bombers over Spanish territory and waters. The U. S. government announced that orders had been issued limiting such refueling to areas over international waters.

Spain went even further and ordered that no more planes carrying nuclear arms could be flown over Spanish territory.

★ ★ ★

"This accident gives Spain a lot of bargaining power over future agreements with the United States," said one observer. "The sooner it's over and all signs erased, the lower the cost of new understandings should be."

The little people of Cuevas de Almanzora, Garrucha, Vera and Palomares Beach are also anxious for all the excitement to end so they can get back to their normal quiet life.

"But in a way we will be sorry," said one youngster, wistfully, as he watched a group of young U. S. airmen at their tasks. "We are beginning to be old friends already."

Market Is Irregular

Aerospace Defense Stocks Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Aerospace issues and special-situations were strong in an irregular stock market early this afternoon.

The aerospace defense stocks rallied on news of the resumption of U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam. Wall Street, however, was pondering the implications of President Johnson's message that the resumption of air strikes "does not mean the end of our own pursuit of peace."

The overall list was a scrambled affair. Gains and losses intermingled among such groups as steels, motors, oils, drugs, chemicals, electronics, nonferrous metals and utilities. Rails were off a bit on balance after climbing to new highs last week.

Electrical equipments were up slightly.

IN SPOTLIGHT

American Motors, Lehn & Fink and Wallace-Murray were in the spotlight.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .1 at 368.2 with industrials up .1, rails off .5 and utilities up .

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.67 at 987.02.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Up a point or so were O'Okiep Copper, Lamb Industries, Nytronic, American Book, Solitron Devices, Soss Manufacturing, Pyle-National and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading. U.S. Treasury bonds retreated nearly across the board, apparently in reaction to the Treasury's new offering of 4⅞ and 5 per cent notes.

Fight Against Crime in U. S. Is Detailed

'The FBI's Most Famous Cases' By Andrew Tully

By CORENNA ALDRICH

The "perfect crime" has long been an intriguing subject for the honest and dishonest alike. However, there's nothing like the FBI to remove the fascination, and credibility, from that topic.

HOOVER

In "The FBI's Most Famous Cases" Andrew Tully outlines some of the nation's most infamous crimes. Covering the full range of federal violations, these cases include plots so devious and tortuous they would seem impossible to thwart.

★ ★ ★

One such case involved a Nazi spy ring — eight men carefully screened, meticulously trained and rehearsed by Nazi experts in Germany. Before they were landed here by rubber rafts from U-boats, every precaution was taken to insure success of this sabotage team.

Yet within two weeks the FBI had apprehended every member of the group.

★ ★ ★

In another case, a kidnaper was traced through analysis of dirt scraped from the fender of a burned-out car found more than halfway across the country from the scene of the crime.

A newsboy jingling his collection change found a nickel that "sounded funny," and that coin ultimately led to the arrest of Rudolph Abel, the highest ranking espionage agent ever captured by the U. S. during peacetime.

Agents' cognizance of a dry spell in Texas and a dependable airline schedule brought the demise of Machine Gun Kelly.

★ ★ ★

By ceaselessly sifting these infinite and seemingly insignificant details, J. Edgar Hoover's agents close in around federal law violators with an almost eerie accuracy. Unfaltering determination of FBI agents and the relative certainty of apprehension have a profound psychological effect on criminals. It's significant to note the number of men in these cases who turned themselves in after learning the FBI had entered the case.

★ ★ ★

As one of the country's most daring criminals said, "Ever since the FBI got on my trail, I felt like I was walking down a glass sidewalk which might break at any minute. It was a lonely life."

And so it has been for would-be perpetrators of "perfect crime" since J. Edgar Hoover took over the FBI in 1924.

★ ★ ★

Tully's book illustrates why, in an age of skyrocketing crime rates, the FBI has been remarkably successful in curbing the incident of federal violations.

These cases provide fascinating reading and reinforce the profound respect and admiration Americans hold for their chief investigative agency and its director.

LBJ: 1965 Space Feats Brilliant Preface for U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today that American space achievements last year were a brilliant preface to the coming years of stations in space and voyages to the planets.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson said 1965 with its walk in space and the rendezvous of two manned U.S. spacecraft was the most successful year in the nation's aeronautics-space history.

"As our space program continues," the President told Congress, "the impace of its developments on everyday life becomes daily more evident. It continues to stimulate our education, improve our material well-being, and broaden the horizons of knowledge. It is also a powerful force for peace.

"The space program of the United States today is the largest effort ever undertaken by any nation to advance the frontiers of human knowledge. What we are discovering and building today will help solve many of the great problems which an increasingly complex and heavily populated world will face tomorrow.

'GREAT PRIDE'

"The year 1965 — the year of Gemini, Ranger, and Mariner — is a brilliant preface to the coming years of Apollo, stations in space, and voyages to the planets. I have great pride and pleasure in transmitting this remarkable record to the Congress that, through its enthusiastic support, has made possible."

The military space section of the report included this development of space surveillance: research is under way on the best means of determining the physical characteristics of "uncooperating objects in earth orbit" through observation by ground-based radar.

★ ★ ★

And the Atomic Energy Commission's section reported that a third pair of detection satellites launched in mid-July is watching for nuclear explosions in space and is measuring X-ray emission from the sun.

Johnson said more American spacecraft were orbited than in any previous year, and astronauts spent more hours in space than were flown by all U.S. manned spacecraft in previous years — a total of 1,297 hours and 42 minutes in space for 10 astronauts on the five manned Gemini flights.

MANNED HOURS

He said the United States flew more manned hours in space last year than had been flown by Soviet spacecraft throughout the history of their program, as well as by U.S. spacecraft previous to 1965.

"While the United States was building an impressive record as it orbited more spacecraft than any other nation, the U.S.S.R. was far from idle," Johnson said.

"In fact, during the year, that nation almost doubled its earth-orbiting activities over the previous year compared with a 36 per cent increase for the United States," Johnson added.

"The Soviets also showed their determination to speed their space program as they more than doubled the U.S. activity in lunar and planetary exploration during the year."

In Moment From 'Moment' Honor Hits Dick's Dishonor

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The affable Mervyn LeRoy's previewing his latest film, "Moment to Moment," around NY, with the help of ex-British "Goldfinger" gal Honor Blackman . . . who insisted during an interview with me that no press agent be present . . . she wanted "free speech."

WILSON

"Richard Burton," she said, for example, picking on one of my favorite actors, and also hers, "has sold his soul up the river for money. He hasn't practiced his craft in a long time.

★ ★ ★

"We were in a picture about '52. He had such high aims. Then, plunk, he turned so commercial.

"And he used to be so chippy — chips on his shoulder. He had a thing about the working class and coal miners. Actually, he was pretty lucky. He went to Oxford. Not many coal miners do that.

"I didn't like him in 'Night of the Iguana.' England was dissappointed in him, too. Of course, now that he's sold his soul up the river, and has money, probably he will do some good things. I hope so. Dickie can be such a great actor!"

★ ★ ★

Frank Sinatra reported from the Las Vagas Sands that he's still on the wagon since New Year's, and a pal snarled, "O.K. O.K., but just don't advertise it!".

Bill Rigney, mgr. of the California Angels, wanted to show off the new Anaheim baseball stadium to Jimmy Demaret, now golf-proing in Houston, and Jimmy brought him down saying, "You guys still playing baseball outdoors?"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Polly Bergen introduced Van Johnson at the Persian Rm. as 'the only guy with guts enough to wear red sox" — and for once he wasn't wearing 'em. (Van'a date was the ex-Mrs. Alan Jay Lerner) . . . Celeste Holm, touring to publicize the "Cinderella" TV'er, is in an Oshkosa hospital — pinched neck muscle.

Sammy Davis is renting two six-rm. apartments in a plush new East Side building; he'll combine then into one big layout for his family . . . Composer Sammy Cahn got into the act at the Copa to play one of his tunes for Tony Bennett . . . Mike Douglas TV-taped a hilarious show with Fat Jack E. Leonard as Batman and Wally Cox as his young aide Robin.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: We're coming up to April 15, sometimes called Sherlock Holmes Day — 'cause that's when we use our powers of deduction. — Lou Alexander.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The boss does a lot of overtime work and never expects pay for it — and that's how he got to be boss." — Sparta (Ga.) Ishmaelite.

EARL'S PEARLS: If nobody'll talk to you, catch a cold. Then everybody'll tell you what to take for it. Rotary Reel.

Hugh O'Brian reports that Dean Martin celebrated the Chinese New Year, the Year of the Horse: "Dean drank a couple of ponies of brandy." . . . . . That's earl, brother.

Noted Judge to Retire

DETROIT (AP) — Recorder's Judge John P. O'Hara, 75, who has served on the bench since 1953, has announced his retirement effective March 1. In 1954 O'Hara was a one-man grand jury investigating alleged bribery of Detroit policemen by gamblers.

U.S. to Orbit 'Weather Eye'

Will Open Full-Time System for Observers

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — U.S. weathermen, foreseeing the day when storms like the East's weekend blizzard will be forecast two weeks ahead, plan to orbit a Tiros satellite Wednesday to open a full-time system of space-borne weather observers.

★ ★ ★

The 305-pound weather eye, scheduled for a 2:52 a.m. EST blast-off on a sleek Delta rocket, will be followed three weeks later by the launch of another camera-carrying Tiros.

The two weather watchers will form the core of the world's first operational satellite system designed to keep forecasters supplied with pictures of earth's cloud cover on a routine, daily basis.

While scientists prepare Tiros for the opener of the 1966 space launching schedule at the Cape, workers on another pad will be readying America's first unmanned Apollo spaceship and its new Saturn 1B rocket for an important countdown test Thursday.

★ ★ ★

If the countdown rehearsal is passed, engineers are expected to declare the 223-foot vehicle free of the minor bugs that have been plaguing it recently.

CURRENT TARGET

The federal space agency has not announced a launch date for the Apollo, but sources report Feb. 18 is the current target.

It will be the first Apollo shot in the nation's $21-billion drive to send three men to the moon by 1969.

The first three-man earth orbital mission is set for late this year with a similar Apollo and Saturn 1B.

★ ★ ★

If Wednesday's Tiros weather satellite successfully reaches orbit, it will be called Essa 1 after the new Environmental Science Services Administration which now includes the Weather Bureau.

SECOND PROGRAM

The launching will mark the second U.S. civilian satellite program to leave the research and development phase and become operational. The commercial Early Bird communications satellite, heralded the first operational system.

★ ★ ★

Essa 1 will be the 11th Tiros weather satellite orbited by the United States since it pioneered in the use of space to tell man more about earth's weather with Tiros 1 nearly six years ago. Four other Tiros satellites are still in operation.

The Weather Bureau plans to keep at least two of its space weather stations in continuous operation to help meterologists around the world improve daily forecasts.

Tranquilizers Halt Baboons on 3-Day Spree

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Two young baboons jumped across rooftops, through trees and into yards, then fell victim to a tranquilizer gun, after a three-day spree.

★ ★ ★

The 2-year-old animals escaped Friday from the home of Steve Kallestad, who works as a biochemical specialist for a Los Angeles laboratory, officers said.

The two male baboons dined on neighbors' shrubbery, chewed pine cones and chased each other across rooftops — until cornered on a red tile roof in the neighborhood.

★ ★ ★

A veterinarian from the Griffith Park Zoo, using the special gun subdued the baboons Sunday, officials said.

5 Children Saved After Smoke Seen

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Five children were escorted to safety Sunday by a man who had been attracted to their apartment by smoke.

Alfred Godberry, 38, was passing the building when he saw the smoke. Investigating, he found Tyrone Gibson, 13, crying behind a locked door.

★ ★ ★

Godberry smashed the glass door with a hammer and took the boy and Michael and Karen Meeks, 8-year-old twins, and their brothers, Charles, 3, and Antony, 8 months, out of the building. Tyrone was baby sitting with the children while their mother, Bobby Meeks, was at church.

Michigan Snowballs Heading for Texas

HOUGHTON (AP) — Despite weekend temperatures in the high 60s, Southwest Texas State College, President Johnson's alma mater, will hold its annual snowball fight Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

The ammunition for the annual battle will be supplied by students at Michigan Technological University in northern Michigan. Some 200 pounds of snowballs will be flown to San Marcos, Tex., as part of a promotional stunt for Tech's Winter Carnival.

Law Not Impressed

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (UPI) — Authorities booked 20-year-old Gary William Butzer on a charge of supermarket robbery yesterday in spite of his claim that he pulled the job as a release for his creative feelings.

"I just wanted to express myself — to experience the feeling of what it is like to be a holdup man," Butzer said.

Escape Bid by Trio Ends in Failure

WALLA WLLA, Wash. (AP) — About 8:20 p.m. Saturday, three convicts burrowed through a maze of utility corridors to the roof if a cellblock at the Washington State Penitentiary.

The trio climbed onto the roof through a trapdoor, hauling with them a 40-foot length of rope with a prison-made grappling hook on end. They attached the free end to a pipe sticking up out of the roof.

★ ★ ★

Then they hurled the grappling hook and snagged a railing on the prison wall, nearly 40 feet away and 15 feet below. Two of the men slid down the rope to the wall. Guards in two towers saw them and opened fire.

The man still on the roof, Daniel Breen, 21, ducked.

The men on the wall, Burt Orville McBride, 22, and Stephen Courville, 24, jumped about 30 feet to the ground outside. Courville got away. McBride, wounded in an arm and shoulder and bleeding badly, staggered to a house four blocks from the prison. He knocked on the door and asked Hilda Schaeffer to call an ambulance. She did. She also called the police.

★ ★ ★

Today, McBride, who was sent to prison from Seattle for stealing a car, was in good condition in the prison infirmary. Courville, a veteran of short-lived escapes from the prison's minimum security quarters in 1964 and from the King County jail in Seattle in 1961. was captured at Yakima, Wash., about 135 miles northwest of here, at 10:31 Sunday night. Police said he was driving a stolen pickup truck.

Radio Attack Eyed as Hoax

Announcer Refuses Lie Detector Test

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Police are investigating the possibility that a widely publicized attack on a Trenton radio announcer during a live broadcast was a hoax.

★ ★ ★

Police offered to give Robert Goldman, a bearded, part-time announcer for WTTM, a lie detector test to prove to his audience the attack last Wednesday night was not a hoax.

Goldman refused, contending the tests are not always accurate and he considered the offer an insult.

He said last night he was opposed to the tests on principle.

★ ★ ★

"We do not have to prove ourselves innocent in this country," he said.

LIE DETECTOR

A lie detector test is an unconstitutional tactic, he asserted, adding that he would sign a statement attesting to the truth of the incident.

"I wouldn't dare risk attempting a hoax because it would endanger my professional teaching career," he said.

Goldman, 36, is an English instructor at Trenton State College and has been teaching for 10 years.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, Detective Lt. John Seiger was searching for the listener Goldman was talking with on his telephone interview show when two men allegedly entered the studio and attacked Goldman.

TIME LAPSE

Seiger contends there was a lapse between the time Goldman left the microphone asking if he could help two men and the sound of crashing glass as a metal door stop was hurled through a glass panel, apparently striking Goldman and leaving him moaning.

Goldman was working alone in the studio at the time.

Hundreds of listeners heard his moans and cries for help and called police, who rushed him to a local hospital.

★ ★ ★

Goldman said he planned to continue his two-a-day interview show unless "they stop me," adding that he thought "they" were right-wing extremists because it is the only group he has opposed "with any vehemence and frequency."

U.S. Forces in Viet Approaching Peak of Korean War

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military forces in Viet Nam are approaching the peak strength of Americans who fought in the Korean war and may top that total by the end of this year.

Ashore in Viet Nam, according to the most recently announced official figures, are about 197,300 Army, Marine Corps, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard men.

★ ★ ★

But when other forces assigned to fight or support the Viet Nam war from other neighboring locations are added, the over-all total runs up to about 313,000.

At peak strength, in mid-1953 as hostilities tapered to an end, the United States had about 472,000 men deployed in Korea or conducting action from bases and waters in adjacent areas.

350,000 MEN

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Defense Preparedness subcommittee, predicted in a Jackson, Miss., speech Thursday that by the end of this year U.S. manpower in the Viet Nam war very well may be 350,000 to 400,000. He said that he would not be surprised if ultimately 600,000 men were required.

Although President Johnson did not make specific predictions of manpower increases in his State of the Union and budget messages to Congress, he indicated that the American effort in Viet Nam may mount. He has said the United States will provide "whatever forces and equipment are needed."

Pentagon statisticians date U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war from Jan. 1, 1961. At that time there were about 770 American military men in South Viet Nam serving only as advisers. Not until five years had elapsed did the total of U.S. forces "in-country" reach the approximate 197,300 total.

The 197,300 lines up this way: Army 126,000; Navy (ashore) 9,000; Marines 39,000; Air Force 23,000, Coast Guard 300.

★ ★ ★

To this in-country force should be added: about 70,000 aboard ships of the 7th Fleet which launches air strikes and provides shore bombardment; another 8,000 on the island of Guam from where B52 heavy bombers take off on tactical bombing strikes against Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam; about 30,000 in Okinawa where troops move in and out in support of the Viet Nam war; perhaps up to 15,000 U.S. personnel in Thailand who have a role in the Viet Nam war as well as helping strengthen the security of Thailand.

Lull by Cong Not Considered a Reaction to U.S. Peace Bid

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The recent lull in Viet Cong attacks is considered a regular occurrence, not a reaction to the American peace offensive or international pressure for peace.

Knowledgeable observers here and American and Vietnamese intelligence operatives point out that a similar lull occurred last January, and also in January 1964.

★ ★ ★

The pattern of Viet Cong warfare has not changed since the Viet Nam war moved into full gear early in 1963. The Viet Cong slash out at vulnerable targets for a couple of months and then pull back into the jungles.

During 1964 there were several lulls in the fighting. The Viet Cong always came back with greater intensity. Intelligence information indicates that the Viet Cong, backed by increasing numbers of North Vietnamese troops, are preparing for a new series of attacks against isolated district towns, Vietnamese battalions and regiments and maybe some American base areas.

HO'S MOVE

There appears to be no good reason for North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh to have called off his troops to gain some advantage in world politics.

Ho could be expected to follow up any deliberate scaledown in the war with a hint to some third party of what he was doing. There has been no word or sign that the North Vietnamese leader has any intention of altering the momentum of the war.

★ ★ ★

Recent intelligence information indicates that the scale of Communist infiltration into South Viet Nam is continuing as before, with more than 3,000 North Vietnamese troops coming across the border each month.

Observers see no reason why these new North Vietnamese units should immediately plunge into battle. The strategy of "hit when the enemy is weak, disperse when he is strong," has been applied almost unvaryingly over the years by the Viet Cong.

There seems little doubt that the big American buildup in Viet Nam, with the possibility of many more new troops arriving, has given the Viet Cong and Ho Chi Minh plenty of food for thought. The Americans are occupying areas long the sole preserve of the Viet Cong in a bold policy of taking the fight to the enemy.

The Communists may be holding back while they try to figure methods of countering this American threat.

★ ★ ★

U. S. and South Vietnamese units are out looking for the Viet Cong along the central coast. They found elements of the North Vietnamese 18th Regiment despite reports that this and other regiments had moved out of South Viet Nam into Cambodia or Laos.

"Find a regiment, and the division is nearby," is a military truism that has proved right in the past in Viet Nam.

COASTAL AREA

Presumably other regiments that make up North Viet Nam's 325th Division are in the coastal area.

The 37-day suspension of bombing in North Viet Nam gave the Communists plenty of opportunity to rebuild their roads and railways, according to recent intelligence reports.

★ ★ ★

Apparently traffic was flowing fairly freely south from Haiphong and Hanoi. Pontoon bridges have replaced bombed bridges, the intelligence reports say.

Observers expect the lull in South Viet Nam to burst into heavy fighting at any time. The term "lull" is a comparative one. The past two weeks would have been regarded as a period of intensified fighting in 1962-63. But the war is so much bigger that now it is talked about as a lull.

The Viet Cong may be planning some spectacular acts of terrorism. Early last February they attacked the two American installations at Pleiku and blew up an American billet at Qui Nhon.

In February 1964 the Viet Cong bombed an American military theater in downtown Saigon and mined a stadium crowded with American spectators watching a softball game near the Saigon airport.

EVERYBODY HAPPY?—Bonnie Britton, 17-year-old North Farmington High School senior, is all smiles after being named Michigan's Junior Miss Saturday night at Pontiac Northern High School. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Britton, 34234 Northwick, Farmington Township, convey the same happy feeling.

State Junior Miss

Area Girl Is Crowned

"It's just so marvelous, I can hardly believe it," said Michigan's new Junior Miss, 17-year-old Bonnie Britton of Farmington Township.

★ ★ ★

The 5-4, 120-pound, hazel-eyed, taffy blonde emerged victorious over 28 other candidates from throughout the state Saturday night at Pontiac Northern High School.

Bonnie, a senior at North Farmington High School, now sets her sights on the America Junior Miss Pageant March 19-26 at Mobile, Ala.

Another Michiganite, Patrice Gaunder of Stevensville, won the national Junior Miss contest last year, but Bonnie feels a repeat performance is "too much to hope for."

★ ★ ★

If she succeeds, it will mark the first time a state has produced back-to-back winners in a national pageant since University of Mississippi sorority sisters Mary Ann Mobley and Lynda Lee Mead managed the feat in the 1959-60 Miss America contests.

THEATRICAL CAREER

Bonnie, who aspires to a theatrical career in the footsteps of her parents who were both Broadway performers until a few years ago, was selected by a panel of six judges.

The field was narrowed to 10 finalists before the four runners-up and Miss Britton were named. It climaxed two days of competition in which contestants were rated on scholastic achievement, character, youth fitness, poise, personality and creative abilities.

First runner-up in the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored pageant was Jill Carter of Lansing. The other runners-up, in order, were Mary Dombrowski of Southgate, Terry Sarapo of Lenawee County and Marcia Blalock of Portage.

★ ★ ★

ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

Misses Eads and Strauss were presented talent and scholastic achievement awards, respectively, by the Jaycee Auxiliary and Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.

Bonnie sang "Wouldn't It Be Loverly," a smash hit from the Broadway musical "My Fair Lady," in the talent competition.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Britton of 34234 Northwick helped her prepare for the number.

Britton, an account supervisor for Wilding Inc., once played the lead role of Emile de Beque in the Broadway production of "South Pacific."

FROM NEW JERSEY

The family moved to Michigan four years ago from New Jersey.

According to Mrs. Britton, Bonnie "has been stagestruck ever since she was born."

Bonnie intends to enroll at the University of Michigan next fall, majoring in dramatic arts and minoring in psychology and Portuguese.

★ ★ ★

She feels the Junior Miss contest will make her a better person and that it may "curb down my talking. I jabber a lot," said Bonnie.

★ ★ ★

For winning, Bonnie received a $1,000 college scholarship and two U. S. savings bonds totaling $525. The four runners-up also were awarded scholarships or bonds.

Winner of the national title will receive a $6,000 college scholarship.

FBI, State Probing Alpena Gas Shutoff

ALPENA (AP) — The mercury hovered just above zero in this slumbering northern Lower Michigan city when someone turned off the gas to some 2,000 homes and businesses yesterday.

Gas company officials said a man who "knew what he was going" climbed a five-foot wire fence at a gas pumping station outside the city of 14,000 at 3:30 a.m. and turned off the main valves.

FBI and State Police started an investigation.

Some 60 additional servicemen were called in from other cities.

Service was restored to about half the customers by midafternoon.

All were back in service by 8 p.m. except for a few businesses closed yesterday which were restored early today.

★ ★ ★

Harold Lauer, the Alpena manager of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., said tracks in the snow indicated that someone was brought to the station in a car.

Nobody could offer any reason why anybody would want to shut off the gas.

The temperature at Alpena General Hospital dropped to 5 degrees before heat could be restored via an emergency service, a hospital spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

The gas company had to dispatch servicemen to each customer to turn off all gas outlets before the main valves could be reopened, a spokesman said.

CALL AGAIN

Then they had to return to relight pilot lights and turn out the outlets.

Mrs. Lauer, wife of the gas company manager, told a reporter that she didn't have any heat either.

"Ours probably will be the last turned on," she said huddled in her coat. "We're not getting any preferential treatment."

The problem was eased somewhat because many homes still had electric stoves and heaters. In some sections, Consolidated Gas only recently had installed gas heat equipment.

U.S. Bombers Pound N. Viet Targets Again

37-Day Lull Ends as Planes Hit Bridges, Barges and Highway

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States unleased its bombers against North Viet Nam today after holding off air attacks for 37 days while vainly trying to bring the Communists to the peace table.

The first waves of U.S. Navy and Air Force planes hit bridges, ferries, barges, warehouse areas and storage facilities well south of the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial area.

Late flights pummeled Highway No. 1, a main artery along the coast, wrecking a truck convoy and destroying a bridge, a U.S. spokesman reported.

The later attacks were centered around Vihn, on North Viet Nam's central coast.

★ ★ ★

BRIDGE HIT

A U.S. spokesman said Navy pilots claimed destruction of a bridge about 10 miles southeast of Dong Hoi and damage to the approach to the Quang Khe ferry landing about 20 miles north west of Dong Hoi.

Bad weather prevented estimates of the damage in other raids.

One Navy plane was shot down as the raiders encountered heavy ground fire. But a U.S. Air Force helicopter rescued the pilot unharmed under machine gun fire.

★ ★ ★

Resumption of the bombing had been expected for several days because of repeated statements from Washington that the halt in the strikes had failed to bring a favorable response from North Viet Nam.

BOMBING LULL

Allied intelligence reports said the North Vietnamese made use of the bombing lull to rebuild roads, railways and bridges destroyed by U.S. planes in the past year.

Aerial photographs revealed pontoon bridges strung across rivers, and heavy traffic has been spotted moving toward

U. N. Gets LBJ Peace Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson made a new Vietnamese peace bid to the United Nations today a few hours after American bombers resumed air strikes against North Viet Nam.

The renewal of bombing "does not mean the end of our pursuit of peace," Johnson told the nation and the world in a special broadcast.

The President announced that he had directed Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg to seek an immediate meeting of the U.N. Security Council in order to make a full report on the Vietnamese situation and to present a resolution for new action toward peace.

The resolution, the President said, "can open the way to the conference table."

Record Cold, Snow Cripple East Coast

By The Associated Press

Lashed by a storm piling up deep snow, and whipped by violent winds, the East Coast shuddered today in the grip of a record-breaking cold wave extending from Florida to Maine.

The blizzard, and extreme cold in other areas, contributed to at least 75 deaths from highway accidents, fires and heart attacks in 16 states.

The severe storm swept up the coast over the weekend, leaving cold behind and virtually paralyzing travel in major cities of the populous Northeast, including the nation's capital.

It Will Be Warmer --in the 20s, That Is

A welcome warming trend has been forecast for the Pontiac area.

The United States Weather Bureau predicts southeastern lower Michigan's winds and occasional snow flurries will diminish this afternoon or evening. A 15 to 20 degree high was expected today.

Tonight will be mostly cloudy with a low of from 6 to 14. Snow and not as cold is the Tuesday outlook with highs in the 20 to 27 degree range.

Wednesday is expected to be colder with snow flurries.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 9. At 1 p.m., the temperature indicator read 19.

6 Businesses Are Destroyed

By BILL EASTHAM
Assistant City Editor, Suburban

The worst fire in the history of Oxford wiped out six businesses in the downtown area this morning and threatened for a time to destroy an entire block.

Preliminary damage estimates were set at nearly $250,000.

Firemen from 10 departments fought for almost six hours to control the blaze, which was discovered at 2:30 a.m. by Oxford Police Sgt. Ray Westfall.

No serious injuries were reported, but nearly 30 firemen were treated at the scene when they were overcome by smoke.

Completely destroyed by the blaze were the Parrish Insurance Agency and Oxford Office Supply which were located in a building which also contained the vending machine inventory of Kenneth Huff, and an empty building formerly occupied by the Bartlett Paint and Glass Co.

Severely damaged were Oxford Auto Supply on the ground floor of the Masonic Temple, the Oxford Cafe and Bill's Bar.

All are located on the east side of Washington in the first block south of the main four corners.

Asst. Fire Chief Claude Rogers said the fire apparently started either in the basement or the ground floor of Oxford Office Supply and was burning fiercely by the time the first firemen arrived on the scene.

FLASH FIRE

"It was a flash fire," Rogers said.

Strong winds from the northwest fanned the flames, causing them to spread through three buildings to the south of the office supply store and insurance agency building.

A mobile crane was brought in from the nearby American Aggregates gravel mine and was used to knock down the front

Ski Lodge Hit by $70,000 Fire

Equipment Stock Lost in Oxford Twp. Blaze

A predawn fire yesterday caused an estimated $70,000 worth of damage at the Mount Grampian Ski Lodge on Lakeville Road in Oxford Township.

Operators of the lodge reportedly plan to resume operation

Wednesday even though most of the lodge's interior was destroyed.

Also destroyed in the fire was the entire stock of 300 pairs of skis, boots and poles, and its ticket offices.

Officials said only the restaurant was not touched by the blaze.

Firemen from Oxford and Lake Orion and the townships of Metamora, Addison, Brandon and Independence fought the fire for five hours before bringing it under control.

ON THE SLOPES

The fire apparently started in a room containing artificial snow-making equipment which attendants were on the slopes making snow.

Oxford police said the alarm was turned in at 2:20 a.m. by Vern Pilsworth, owner of the ski area.

Blaze Called Worst Ever for Oxford

Veteran members of the Oxford Fire Department said this morning's disastrous $250,000 fire was the worst in the history of the village.

Asst. Fire Chief Claude Rogers estimated the total damage will surpass the $200,000 blaze which gutted the Masonic Temple building on March 4, 1957.

That fire also threatened the same block that was nearly ravaged this morning, but most of the damage was confined to the one building.

At that time the Masonic Temple was a three-story building. The third floor was never rebuilt after the fire, however.

★ ★ ★

The ground floor of the temple, containing an auto supply store, suffered severe smoke and water damage this morning, but firemen prevented the flames from spreading into the building.

100 FIREMEN

This morning's disaster took six hours to extinguish by nearly 100 firemen from 10 departments.

The 1957 fire was twice as stubborn, however, requiring nearly 12 hours to be brought under control by over 200 firemen from 16 departments.

The last major fire in the village was Feb. 10, 1964, when the Buechler and Sons, Inc., machine shop was nearly destroyed.

★ ★ ★

Damage in the fire was estimated at $50,000.

An aerial ladder truck was called in from Bloomfield Hills but was not needed.

ICE FORMS

Ten-dgree temperatures added to the difficulties of fighting the blaze, causing ice to form on ladders, sid3alks and firemen.

Rogers said his crew was delayed at the start by a broken hydrant valve. He said the valve was apparently frozen and gave way when it was turned on. . .

Hoses then had to be relocated and hooked up to other hydrants a block on either side.

★ ★ ★

David A. Parrish, owner of the insurance agency, collapsed from a combination of smoke and what was believed to be a mild heart attack.

FIRST AID

He was taken to his home after receiving first aid from a Bossardet ambulance crew, which also treated the firemen.

It appeared the fire had been brought under control about 5:30, when it had damaged only the insurance building, the Masonic Temple and the empty Bartlett building.

It erupted again a short time later, however, and renewed the threat of consuming the rest of the block.

★ ★ ★

It was at this point that the crane and aerial ladder truck were called in.

ROOF DESTROYED

No walls caved in, but the rof was destroyed on the Oxford Cafe, the insurance building and the former paint store.

The auto supply store at the north end of the area and Bill's Bar on the south suffered severe smoke and water damage but did not catch fire.

An apartment above the bar also was heavily damaged by smoke and water.

★ ★ ★

Jim Sherman, publisher of The Oxford Leader which is adjacent to the bar, said a letup in the wind about 8 a.m. probably saved the rest of the block, which also includes a dry cleaners, theater, offices and the village fire hall.

★ ★ ★

Not all of the owners of the damaged property could be reached this morning, but it was reported that at least some of th loss was covered by insurance.

Await Final Verdict in Trial

Ill Juror Tied to Fate of Drug Developer

CHICAGO (AP) — The fourth and final verdict in the marathon fraud and conspiracy trial involving Krebiozen may depend on the health of a woman juror.

With three of the four defendants already acquitted, the U.S. District Court jury was deliberating the fate of Dr. Stevan Durovic, the developer of Krebiozen, Sunday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Suddenly, juror Lois Clark, 40, suffered an asthma attack in the jury room. She was carried from the courthouse to her hotel room and placed under the care of a doctor.

Defense and prosecution lawyers scheduled a meeting today with Judge Julius J. Hoffman to hear a report on Mrs. Clark's condition.

COULD CONTINUE

If Mrs. Clark cannot continue with the jury, the deliberations could continue with 11 jurors, or a mistrial could be called.

Excitement gripped the courtroom Saturday afternoon when Judge Hoffman called the jurors back to the seats from where they had heard nine months of testimony.

★ ★ ★

The jury foreman then handed forward a slip of paper that acquitted, on all counts, Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, Marko Durovic and Dr. William F. P. Phillips.

The jurors said they were still deliberating the 40 charges against Dr. Durovic, 60, and against the Krebiozen Research Foundation.

CHIEF SPONSOR

Dr. Ivy, 72, is chief medical sponsor of Krebiozen and director of medical research at Roosevelt University. Marko Durovic, 64, is Stevan's brother and a lawyer; Dr. Phillips, 52, administered Krebiozen to cancer patients as a general practitioner.

★ ★ ★

The four were charged with mail fraud and conspiracy in the sale and promotion of Krebiozen. The trial, the longest in the history of Chicago's federal court, began April 28. It ended its ninth month Friday.

★ ★ ★

The acquittals came exactly four days to the minute that the jury began deliberating.

The jurors deliberated for three hours Sunday, then broke for lunch. After they returned, Mrs. Clark had the asthma attack.

South Viet Nam over the past two weeks.

On the ground, the Viet Cong backed by regulars of the North Vietnamese forces were goaded into action by allied troops who have penetrated Communist hideouts in the central coastal plains which had not been disturbed for 15 years.

★ ★ ★

Operation Masher, the U.S. 1st Cavalry's hedge-hopping push around Bong Son, about 300 miles northeast of Saigon, was heavily engaged for the fifth straight day in a firefight the Viet Cong used as a withdrawal action.

AUTOMATIC FIRE

A storm of automatic fire and mortar shelling struck a battalion of troopers at 6 a.m. and lasted for an hour. A spokesman said the Viet Cong used the barrage as cover to slip out of what could have been a death trap.

Most of them got away but the cavalry troops counted 282 Communist dead after four days of heavy fighting with main force Viet Cong and the 18th Regiment of the North Vietnamese 325th division.

A spokesman said another 200 Reds may have been killed in air and artillery attacks.

★ ★ ★

Masher was joined by Vietnamese government airborne troops who in two days have killed 59 Viet Cong.

SENSITIVE SPOT

Toward the coast, 20 miles west of Tuy Hoa, South Korean marines squeezed the Viet Cong in another sensitive spot when they sent a column out on a new search and destroy mission. The insurgents reacted from three directions.

The marines hit them hard, split them up and claimed 188 killed by body count and a store of weapons seized.

more, Boston, Philadelphia and Montreal were "socked in" by conditions that made take-offs and landings almost impossible on ice-caked runways.

Washington struggled under 16 inches of snow — the worst accumulation in the city in 44 years. The storm dumped 12 new inches of snow with four inches still on the ground from a storm a week ago.

Federal government and city employes in the capital were told to stay away from work in the morning except for emergencies. However, Congress was scheduled to meet.

State legislative sessions were canceled in Albany, N.Y., and Annapolis, Md.

DRIVING HAZARD

Wth driving conditions extremely hazardous, schools were closed in many of the states. At Ithaca, N.Y., about 2,000 Cornell University students were given an extra day to prepare for mid-term examinations.

Icy roads and drifting snow were the main hazard, with visibility cut to zero in many areas. Portions of key state highways were shut down and hundreds of motorists were stranded.

In one of the worst traffic accidents, 40 persons were injured last night in a series of chain-reaction collisions on New York's thruway between Rochester and Buffalo.

Fifteen to 20-foot waves were reported in Narragansett Bay in Rhode Island, flooding low-lying coastal areas. Winds up to 60 miles an hour buffeted some parts of the New Jersey shore.

SOUTH FREEZES

The cold blast dipped into the Deep South, as temperatures skidded to subzero levels in parts of Georgia. In Atlanta, a reading of three below zero was recorded, a low for the date.

The community of Russellville in north Alabama reported an all-time low of 24 degrees below zero.

Florida officials described the cold wave as their worst in 30 years and expressed fears that the state's citrus crop might be damaged. Growers on the northern fringe of the citrus belt set out smudge pots. Other crops, such as potatoes and cabbage, were damaged by below freezing readings in many parts of the state.

★ ★ ★

The states and their conditions hardest hit by the storm included:

HARD-HIT AREAS

District of Columbia: Traffic paralyzed in 16 inches of snow, the worst accumulation in 44 years. All public and parochial schools closed. Federal and city employes excused from work for at least part of today. Air, rail and road travel disrupted.

Maryland: Legislative session at Annapolis canceled. Snowfall ranging from 12 to 18 inches with drifts up to seven feet. Gale warnings on Chesapeake Bay. Friendship International Airport closed.

Delaware: A state of emergency declared. Paralyzing cold and drifting snow.

SAVE LIVES

Johnson said he had ordered renewal of the bombing to save the lives of American, South Vietnamese and allied soldiers fighting Communist guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam.

Those forces are supplied and reinforced by infiltration from North Viet Nam.

He said he had carefully considered the counsel of his advisers.

★ ★ ★

"These advisers tell me that if continued immunity is given to all that supports North Vietnamese aggression, the cost in lives — Vietnamese, American and allied — will only be greatly increased," Johnson said.

LIMIT COSTS

"In the light of the words and actions of the government in Hanoi, it is our clear duty to do what we can to limit these costs."

The President asserted that bombing of North Viet Nam was renewed after it was determined that there was no readiness for peace on the part of Hanoi.

Nor has there been any support or understanding from Peking for U.S. efforts to open the door to peace, Johnson asserted.

★ ★ ★

He said that the United States does not regret its 37-day pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam — a pause that ended today. And, he declared:

"The end of the pause does not mean the end of our own pursuit of peace. That pursuit will be as determined and unremitting as the pressure of our military strength on the field of battle . . ."

Birmingham Area News

Elementary School Site Feeling Growing Pains

BIRMINGHAM — School officials already are confronted with "overcrowding" at Evergreen Elementary School—and the building isn't in operation yet.

The building was designed to house 700 pupils, but enrollment stands now at 704.

Youngsters in the Evergreen area are attending other Birmingham schools until the new unit is opened.

School officials are hopeful th building will be completed by March 1.

★ ★ ★

In the meantime, they have taken action to limit the increasing number of pupils who will be assigned to the school.

VALLEY WOODS

The board of education has decided that all pupils moving into the Evergreen district, on and after the day that the building is open for classes, will be registered in the Valley Woods Elementary School for the remainder of the 1965-66 school year.

The Evergreen district is bounded by 13 Mile Road, Telegraph, the southern Birmingham School District boundary and Lahser.

Projections a year ago indicated there would be about 510 pupils in the Evergreen area.

★ ★ ★

If the area continues to develop at the present rate, there will be about 850 pupils by Sept. 1.

Educators have noted that redistricting will be needed for the area for the 1966-67 school year.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The City and Country School of Bloomfield Hills has been renamed for its headmaster and headmistress.

The school now will be called Roeper City and Country School honor of Mr. and Mrs. Geoge Roeper, who founded the institution 25 years ago.

Lawyer to Run for Judgeship

Son of Circuit Judge to Seek Probate Post

Birmingham attorney Eugene A. Moore announced today that he is a candidate for Oakland County Probate Judge.

Moore, 30, of 1825 Pine, is the son of Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore, a probate judge for 25 years.

In announcing his intent to follow in his father's footsteps, Moore is the second to officially proclaim his candidacy for the $24,500 a year job.

A week ago, W. Cadman Prout, Oakland County's Friend of the Court for 18 years, revealed that he also would seek the newly created third probate judgeship.

A University of Michigan Law School graduate, Moore, has been a practicing attorney for five years and is associated with the Pontiac law firm of Howlett, Hartman and Beier.

IN U.S. ARMY

Following graduation, Moore served in the U.S. Army with the rank of second lieutenant and is currently a captain in the reserve.

Moore is chairman of the Birmingham Assistance Committee, a director of Camp Oakland, Religious Assistance and Protective Services, Inc., Oakland County Legal Aid Society, and a member of the Birmingham Rotary.

Comments on Resignation of Mr. Barnes

We are glad Mr. Clarence Barnes, Executive Director Pontiac Urban League, has one vote from Bloomfield Hills if he runs for President. I am sure The Press will again run his picture in an editorial and endorse him as they did Barry Goldwater.

★ ★ ★

Did Mr. Barnes speak for the Pontiac Urban League directors made up of leading Negro and white citizens? Is this their attitude? Was Mr. Barnes' published statements the reason he gave his board for resigning from the anti-poverty commission two months before? If Mr. Barnes and the Urban League are against poor people and giving them a chance, why is the Urban League and other United Fund agencies asking for $60,000 in antipoverty money of which over $50,000 goes for salaries. Is this duplication?

★ ★ ★

Mr. Barnes does not speak for the Negro community or the poor people of Pontiac. It is this kind of attitude which you endorse which makes us have pockets of poverty of white and Negro families.

Readers Discuss Representation of Latins

In regard to Mr. Trinidad J. Martinez' recent letter, Mr. Tom Chavez has been in Pontiac only two and a half years but in that short time he has accomplished more than Mr. Martinez in his presumably 40 years. Mr. Chavez introduced an interpreter system for non-English speaking Latins to obtain drivers' licenses. When a group of Latins were deprived of their rights at a local public establishment, Mr. Chavez called the Civil Rights Commission to ask for help and something was done.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Chavez stated "I represent the Latin American community and sometimes it seems my people are not getting jobs, but before one of them is hired I want to be sure he is qualified." This does not mean that he is the only representative but a representative, and I agree. If there are others well-qualified for this job, where were they when they were needed?

MISS ADELE ESTRADA

Mr. Chavez, I don't need anyone to represent me either. I still can paddle my own canoe.

ED RODRIGUEZ

In the short time Tom Chavez has been here he has accomplished more than Mr. Martinez has in 40 years. Mr. Chavez has obtained permission for Latins to take driver's license exams in Spanish as long as they can read the road signs. He established English classes for the non-English speaking Latins and orients the new arrivals and helps them obtain jobs. A man like this is an asset.

'Rivalry for World Markets Leads to Wars'

There can be no permanent peace so long as the cause of war remains. Capitalist rivalry for the control of world markets and natural resources resulted in World Wars I and II. This same rivalry is leading to world War III, only the imperialist rivals have changed sides. The former enemies have become allies, and vice versa. Ideologists and individuals are blamed to make the war acceptable but this is not the cause.

★ ★ ★

To establish a permanent peace on this earth the working class must organize along the lines advocated by the Socialist Labor Party. They must organize on the political field to proclaim the socially operated instrument of production services the property of society, and must organize on the economic field to carry on production for use. This economic organization will constitute the basis for industrial democracy. Production for use will eliminate the need and the struggle for world markets.

Either we abolish capitalism or capitalism will abolish us, for it is well known that the contending imperialist rivals possess the means to destroy all life on this earth.

'Let's Back the Boys Fighting for Freedom'

As I watched the "Bob Hope Special," all of my beliefs were brought home to me. Even though I shed tears for those who would soon die for the sake of freedom, I realized they are proud to be there and don't fool themselves as to why. As Bob Hope said, "These men would like nothing better than to give the gift of freedom to the Vietnamese people."

Says Turkey Will Have an Important Role

Down through the ages there has existed a deep bitter feeling between the nations representative of two "points of compass," the East representative of the yellow races of Asia and the West mostly the white races of Europe. Prophecy says the God of Heaven shall set up a kingdom which shall never be overthrown.

Turkey lost her independence as a nation August 15, 1940, and thereafter became known as the "sick man of the East." Turkey will have a very important role to fulfill in the closing events of earth's history. She is now in Europe but will move into Asia and the Holy Lands and at that time there shall be a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation.

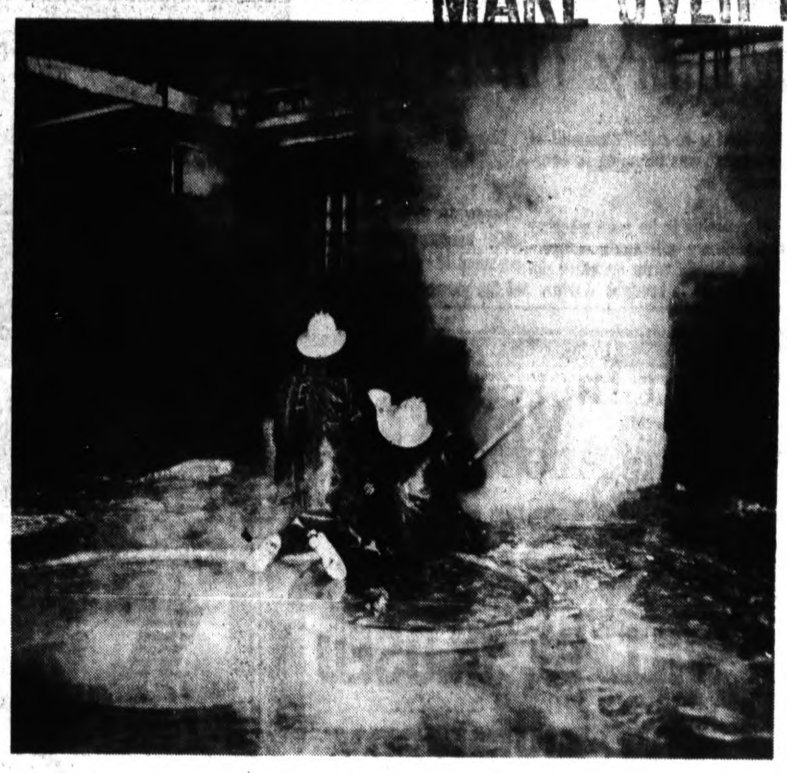

★ ★ ★

These are some of the events yet to take place and our present war in the East could easily lead into the Armageddon of nations.

Junior Editors Quiz on ARROWHEADS

QUESTION: How were stone arrowheads made?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Certain kinds of hard stone, especially flint, have such an even grain that curved, smooth chips or "flakes" can be easily knocked off.

This was perhaps the greatest discovery made by primitive man.

It enabled him to chip cutting edges on bits of rock and make knives, axes and scrapers. It was thus possible for him to kill large animals, utilizing their bone, meat and hide.

When, about 15,000 years ago, the use of bow and arrow began, primitive men began to tip their arrows with stone.

At first, such arrowheads were crude, but later were beautifully shaped and finished. Most were made in this way: First, the maker knocked pieces off a flint rock and selected the best-shaped ones.

Then (2) he held a flint in one hand and pressed down on the edge with some kind of point, such as bone or ivory.

A chip of the flint would flake off. Another hit would be flaked off, and another, until a sharp edge was made on both sides of the arrowhead.

Flaking the flint against a resting piece was often done, as it prevented chips from flying up into the face. There are various ways of fastening on the arrowheads. We show one use by the American Indians.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Start an arrowhead collection. They may be bought cheaply or you may be lucky enough to find some. In case you insist on chipping your own out of flint, be sure to wear safety goggles, otherwise tiny bits might jump up and injure your eyes.

New Discovery Now Makes It Possible to Shrink And Heal Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain In Minutes

New York, N. Y. (Special): A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissues all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.

Tests conducted under a doctor's observations proved this so—even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®.

In addition to actually shrinking piles—Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.

Extra Activities Can Spoil School Grades

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

While we have held consistently that learning is the responsibility of the pupil, this by no means covers the whole problem.

DR. NASON

The scheduling of extracurricular activities — whether they be athletics, school plays, student councils or glee clubs—is an administrative responsibility. These activities frequently are allowed to interfere with classroom attendance.

Sometimes a combination of circumstances, all of which should be under administrative control, affect a student's grades adversely. For example, consider the plight of Julia, a ninth-grade student in a junior high school.

Julia is a popular girl. She is active in student affairs and also sings in the glee club. Just prior to the Christmas holidays, meetings of the student council and glee club on two successive days forced Julia's absence from algebra and Spanish classes.

In these two subjects, Julia was barely maintaining a passing grade.

She made an appointment with her algebra teacher for an after-school conference. He limited the conference to five minutes since he had been assigned to the preparation of a holiday program which was consuming all of his out-of-class time.

An algebra examination was scheduled which, it was announced, would count for one-third of the final grade in the course. Thus, Julia was to be tested without the benefit of classwork on some materials.

This series of events was the responsibility of the administrators of the school.

★ ★ ★

While this actual example is an unusual combination of circumstances, it points up the fact that extracurricular activities can affect scholarship. A student's success in school is measured by his success in the classroom and the grades he receives.

It is the responsibility of the principal to schedule and coordinate out-of-class activities so that they will in no way interfere with classroom work. He is the only person in a position to accomplish this. Neither the student nor the teacher has any control over such schedules.

The student could, of course, avoid participating in out-of-class activities and thus solve that portion of the problem for himself.

★ ★ ★

However, if these activities can be justified and are valuable to the pupils involved, they should be scheduled in such a way that every student so inclined could avail himself of the opportunity without being penalized.

Sharp Rise in Medicare Sign-Ups

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Social Security officials today reported a sharp rise in the number of old people signing up for Medicare insurance against doctors' bills.

The weekly enrollment rate for the optional insurance — known as "Part B" of the Medicare program — has quadrupled since late December.

Even so, there are still nearly 7 million Americans over 65 who have not yet responded to the greatest bargain offer in the history of medical insurance.

And time is running out. Eligible oldsters have exactly two more months — until March 31 —to sign up for coverage. After the deadline passes, they'll have to wait two years to get in.

Regardless of whether a person is insured, if he wants "Part B" insurance, he should sign up now. Any enrollee may withdraw from the program — without charge — until the time the benefits begin next July 1.

EXTRA MONTHS

This course of action would give the undecided three extra months to make up their minds —if they enroll before March 31.

Medicare's basic hospitalization insurance — known as "Part A" — is available free to all Americans over 65. There is no deadline for enrollment.

Those already covered by Social Security will receive their enrollment cards automatically. Others have only to visit, write or phone the nearest Social Security office and obtain a card showing they are entitled to hospital benefits.

★ ★ ★

But "Part B" is a voluntary program, and those who want to participate in it must pay a premium charge of $3 a month. This is far less than comparable private insurance would cost.

CHEAP RATE

It can be offered at a very cheap rate because the government is paying half the cost.

"Part B" provides coverage of house or office visits by physicians; surgeon's fees; hospital services of anesthesiologists and other specialists; X rays; lab tests; radiation therapy; artificial limbs and eyes; home visits by nurses and therapists.

The patient pays the first $50 of all such expenses which he incurs in any calendar year. Thereafter, the insurance covers 80 per cent of the "reasonable cost" of such services.

The uptrend in enrollments is graphically displayed on charts at Social Security headquarters.

During the last week of December, 120,000 enrollment cards came in. During the last week of January, more than 500,000 were recieved.

As of today, Social Security has heard from about 12.2 million of the 19 million eligible oldsters. Response has been 10 to 1 in favor of Part B.

Bad Weather Delays Turk's Trip to U. S.

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Ailing President Cemal Gursel's departure for Washington has been delayed until Wednesday because of bad weather, government sources said today.

Gursel, 72, was to have left today by U. S. Air Force plane for medical treatment at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Rising ⅛ each, Sears, Roebuck opened at 59¾ on 2,000 shares and Radio Corp. sold at 52¾ on 2,500.

Fight Against Crime in U. S. Is Detailed

'The FBI's Most Famous Cases' By Andrew Tully

By CORENNA ALDRICH

The "perfect crime" has long been an intriguing subject for the honest and dishonest alike. However, there's nothing like the FBI to remove the fascination, and credibility, from that topic.

HOOVER

In "The FBI's Most Famous Cases" Andrew Tully outlines some of the nation's most infamous crimes. Covering the full range of federal violations, these cases include plots so devious and tortuous they would seem impossible to thwart.

★ ★ ★

One such case involved a Nazi spy ring — eight men carefully screened, meticulously trained and rehearsed by Nazi experts in Germany. Before they were landed here by rubber rafts from U-boats, every precaution was taken to insure success of this sabotage team.

Yet within two weeks the FBI had apprehended every member of the group.

★ ★ ★

In another case, a kidnaper was traced through analysis of dirt scraped from the fender of a burned-out car found more than halfway across the country from the scene of the crime.

A newsboy jingling his collection change found a nickel that "sounded funny," and that coin ultimately led to the arrest of Rudolph Abel, the highest ranking espionage agent ever captured by the U. S. during peacetime.

Agents' cognizance of a dry spell in Texas and a dependable airline schedule brought the demise of Machine Gun Kelly.

★ ★ ★

By ceaselessly sifting these infinite and seemingly insignificant details, J. Edgar Hoover's agents close in around federal law violators with an almost eerie accuracy. Unfaltering determination of FBI agents and the relative certainty of apprehension have a profound psychological effect on criminals. It's significant to note the number of men in these cases who turned themselves in after learning the FBI had entered the case.

★ ★ ★

As one of the country's most daring criminals said, "Ever since the FBI got on my trail, I felt like I was walking down a glass sidewalk which might break at any minute. It was a lonely life."

And so it has been for would-be perpetrators of "perfect crime" since J. Edgar Hoover took over the FBI in 1924.

★ ★ ★

Tully's book illustrates why, in an age of skyrocketing crime rates, the FBI has been remarkably successful in curbing the incident of federal violations.

These cases provide fascinating reading and reinforce the profound respect and admiration Americans hold for their chief investigative agency and its director.

LBJ: 1965 Space Feats Brilliant Preface for U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today that American space achievements last year were a brilliant preface to the coming years of stations in space and voyages to the planets.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson said 1965 with its walk in space and the rendezvous of two manned U.S. spacecraft was the most successful year in the nation's aeronautics-space history.

"As our space program continues," the President told Congress, "the impace of its developments on everyday life becomes daily more evident. It continues to stimulate our education, improve our material well-being, and broaden the horizons of knowledge. It is also a powerful force for peace.

"The space program of the United States today is the largest effort ever undertaken by any nation to advance the frontiers of human knowledge. What we are discovering and building today will help solve many of the great problems which an increasingly complex and heavily populated world will face tomorrow.

'GREAT PRIDE'

"The year 1965 — the year of Gemini, Ranger, and Mariner — is a brilliant preface to the coming years of Apollo, stations in space, and voyages to the planets. I have great pride and pleasure in transmitting this remarkable record to the Congress that, through its enthusiastic support, has made possible."

The military space section of the report included this development of space surveillance: research is under way on the best means of determining the physical characteristics of "uncooperating objects in earth orbit" through observation by ground-based radar.

★ ★ ★

And the Atomic Energy Commission's section reported that a third pair of detection satellites launched in mid-July is watching for nuclear explosions in space and is measuring X-ray emission from the sun.

Johnson said more American spacecraft were orbited than in any previous year, and astronauts spent more hours in space than were flown by all U.S. manned spacecraft in previous years — a total of 1,297 hours and 42 minutes in space for 10 astronauts on the five manned Gemini flights.

MANNED HOURS

He said the United States flew more manned hours in space last year than had been flown by Soviet spacecraft throughout the history of their program, as well as by U.S. spacecraft previous to 1965.

"While the United States was building an impressive record as it orbited more spacecraft than any other nation, the U.S.S.R. was far from idle," Johnson said.

"In fact, during the year, that nation almost doubled its earth-orbiting activities over the previous year compared with a 36 per cent increase for the United States," Johnson added.

"The Soviets also showed their determination to speed their space program as they more than doubled the U.S. activity in lunar and planetary exploration during the year."
