Kidnaped by Desert Bandits

Iran Pushes Hunt for U.S. Woman

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Government officials said today that troops and police had picked up a paper trail left by a pretty American woman kidnaped by bandit tribesmen who killed her husband and another U.S. aid official.

Government sources said they believed the band of nomads, about 12 in number, had kidnaped Mrs. Anita Houvar Carroll, 35, Issaquah, Wash., to "sell her on the Arab coasts of the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman."

More than 1,000 Iranian troops and police were reported closing in on the bandits fleeing across the Tangeorkh Desert of south-eastern Iran. There was some speculation they might be trying to escape into Pakistan.

Reports reaching the capital from the remote area said the search force had "found little pieces of paper thrown away by Mrs. Carroll as she was forcibly taken away." The reports said the hunters found the paper trail very useful in their pursuit.

The dead Americans, according to Iranian officials, were Mrs. Carroll's husband, Kevin, 37, a Point Four area development adviser for Kerman, Iran, and Brewster A. Wilson, 35, Portland, Ore., a regional specialist for the Near

Gen. Alnaghi Golpiri, police commander in chief, said 700 gendarmes, 400 soldiers and about 100 camel-borne troops on direct orders from Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi were moving in on the bandits.

These forces were converging in three columns from north, west and south through rugged desert country in southeastern Iran, near the Pakistani border.

"A trace has already been found by a unit which started from Tangeorkh eastward," Golpiri said. "If not already arrested, I very much hope the bandits will be taken within the next 48 hours." Iranian officials gave this account of the attack:

100 Dead, Injured in Mexico Blast

Explosions Raze Fireworks Plant, Kill Onlookers

MEXICO CITY (AP)—

Rescue workers dug through a wrecked block of rubble today seeking more victims of two explosions in a fireworks factory that left more than 100 Mexicans dead or injured. Police hunted the factory owner for questioning.

Eleven bodies—four of them firemen—had been recovered late last night. A hundred persons were hospitalized. Many were not expected to live.

Most of the casualties resulted from the second blast which came as hundreds of curious neighbors watched firemen fighting the fire after the first explosion.

Because it was functioning, the factory—in a poor residential district—apparently was empty.

Police said they wanted to question Antonio Joyas Chavez, owner of the factory. Officers said his adjoining warehouse was illegally filled with dynamite and other explosives.

WINDOWS SHATTERED

The factory was less than a mile from Mexico City's International Airport and many windows in airport buildings were shattered.

The sound of the two explosions could be heard over the noise of noonday traffic in the heart of the city five miles away.

Authorities gave this account: Nicolas Lome Munoz, a watchman, saw smoke curling from the factory, located on the Mexico City-Puebla highway which passes the airport, shortly before noon.

He told his wife to call firemen and then tried to halt the spreading flames with buckets of water. The woman was unable to find a telephone.

The first explosion occurred at noon, leveling the plant and damaging nearby buildings. The blast killed the watchman, hurling his headless body 90 feet onto the highway.

RUSH TO FACTORY

Firemen from the airport rushed to the factory and sought to halt the racing flames. Hundreds of curious flocked to the scene and milled around watching the firemen.

Fifteen minutes later the warehouse exploded with a roar that could be heard for miles.

Hollywood Oscars Thrill Movie Makers and Stars

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The movie and TV stars of 1956 were honored last night at the annual Academy Award presentations. Ingrid Bergman, who left Hollywood amid scandal and criticism eight years ago and hasn't returned.

The 42-year-old Swedish star won the Academy Oscar—her second—at its 29th annual awards presentations last night. The prize was for her sensitive portrayal of the bewildered Russian princess in "Anastasia."

Miss Bergman, in Paris, was the star in absentia of ceremonies in which Yul Brynner won the top-actor award for "The King his daughter when she went to Italy and became the mother of a child by Italian director Roberto Rossellini. She later married him.

"Anastasia," which marked her return to American films, had a European locale. Miss Bergman asked onetime costar Cary Grant to accept her Oscar in case she won.

She won an Oscar in 1944 for "Gas Light."

A top studio executive who asked not to be identified said last night that he tried five years ago to cast Miss Bergman in a film, but encountered so much industry pressure he had to drop the plan.

"Now that Hollywood has awarded her its highest honor," he added, "I know that all is forgiven, that she will be welcomed back to Hollywood by the industry—and, I'm sure, by the public."

Reuther Denies Discount Buying

Says He Never Heard of Shefferman, After Probe Testimony

DETROIT (INS)—United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther has accused Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) of "political immorality" and said he had never heard of Nathan Shefferman.

Shefferman, a personal friend of Teamster President Dave Beck, testified before the committee that the only item he recalled purchasing for Reuther was a "left-hand door refrigerator."

However, Reuther replied that the house in which he now lives and the two houses in which he previously lived, along with all the household goods and appliances which he now owns or has owned during the past 21 years, have been paid for "with my personal funds."

In a lengthy telegram to Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate Rackets committee, Reuther said:

"The leadership of the UAW is irrevocably committed to the struggle, in cooperation with other decent trade unionists, to drive every crook and racketeer and gangster out of the American labor movement as we have driven the Communists from positions of leadership and power."

Lapeer Votes Monday on Fluoridation Plan

LAPEER—A proposal to add fluoride to the city water will be on the ballot here Monday. The plan calls for adding from 1 to 1.5 parts fluoride to each one million parts water.

Willman Hears Water Report

Attends Detroit Meeting Hoping to Find Source of Auxiliary Supply

Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman learned today what might be the best possible source for a much-needed auxiliary water supply for the city.

Willman attended a Supervisors Inter-County Committee meeting in Detroit at which the National Sanitation Foundation presented phase one of a water, sewage and drainage survey aimed at solving problems for Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Monroe, Washtenaw and St. Clair Counties.

The manager said the report would be a big factor in the city's decision as to where to seek water supplies.

"We hope the report will clear away some of the hurdles which we have been facing with the two possible sources available," the manager said.

Unionist Heads Home as Solons Recess Hearing

Won't Attend Meeting of AFL-CIO Leaders Slated Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets probes turned today from public to private checking into their charge that Teamster President Dave Beck misappropriated $320,000 of union funds.

While Beck headed homeward to Seattle, Senate staff investigators dug for details that he had refused to provide on grounds his answers might tend to incriminate him.

"We are not through with Mr. Beck," Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the special Senate committee conducting the inquiry told reporters.

Duff Declines to Defend Beck in Rackets Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)—A source close to former Sen. James H. Duff, counsel to Teamsters President Dave Beck, said today Duff still declines to represent Beck in hearings of the Senate Rackets Committee.

This, the informant said, was the gist of a letter the Pennsylvania Republican, now practicing law here, sent the committee yesterday in the midst of its stormy hearings on Beck.

The source said the letter told Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) that Duff considered it would be "inappropriate" and improper for him to represent Beck before the committee, because the investigation of Beck had started prior to Duff's defeat last fall for re-election.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) had left fly some critical comment about Duff's absence from the hearing room.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) also complained about Beck having "counsel in absentia," particularly after Beck testified that it was Duff who advised him to invoke the Fifth Amendment and refuse to testify about alleged misappropriation of $320,000 of union funds.

Dag to Tell Results of Nasser Meeting

Arriving at New York's Idlewild Airport, Hammarskjold said he hoped his talks with Nasser would prove helpful.

Hammarskjold refused to answer newsmen's questions but read this brief statement to the press:

"When I left New York on Tuesday of last week, I went to have informal exploratory talks. I have had such talks in Cairo and only in Cairo.

"My talks in Cairo reached a point at which I felt it would be better to return to New York to continue similar talks in the United Nations. I hope the talks in Cairo will prove helpful, and that the talks here will also be useful."

In Cairo, meanwhile, Nasser's chief political aide Wing Cmdr. Ali Sabry, said in an interview that the Egyptian government "believes Hammarskjold is convinced of the soundness" of Egypt's position on the Suez Canal.

Sabry said Egypt would allow no foreign supervision whatsoever of the canal's operation.

Aides said one of Hammarskjold's first appointments would be with U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and that he would lunch with Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson and Norwegian Ambassador Hans Engen, both of whose nations are members of the secretary general's seven-nation Middle East Advisory Committee.

Hammarskjold was to meet with the full committee this afternoon. The other members are Brazil, Ceylon, Colombia, India, and Pakistan.

Diplomatic sources in Cairo said they believed the agreement included a promise from Nasser not to send Egyptian troops into the Gaza Strip immediately and to take no action regarding Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba.

An Egyptian circular issued after Hammarskjold left Cairo said British sterling and French francs would not be accepted as payment for canal tolls.

It said Danish, Norwegian, Swedish, Belgian, Dutch, Italian or German money would be accepted if it was freely convertible in the European Payments Union.

The Indian rupee was declared acceptable for Indian ships. All other ships the circular said must pay in U.S. or Canadian dollars, Swiss francs or other currencies acceptable to the Egyptian exchange control.

Arrest 3 Men Who Left Farm

Trial to Be Arraigned in Burglary; Sought by Jackson Officials

Three prisoners who walked away from the Jackson Prison farm yesterday are in the Oakland County Jail this morning awaiting arraignment for a breaking and entering charge.

The men, Curtis Gibbs, Richard May and Leo Brake were arrested by Troy patrolmen Robert Mortensen and Raymond Major Jr. about 3:30 a.m. today at Iowa and Dequindre roads in Troy.

Troy police report they apprehended the three men after they checked the car the men were driving because it lacked an outside rear view mirror and the rear window of the auto was steamed.

Earlier, patrolmen had discovered the glass of the front door of the W & B Super Market, 34771 Dequindre Rd. broken. They arrested the three men for investigation of breaking and entering when they found several bags of groceries in the car.

Further investigation showed the men had walked away from Jackson earlier in the afternoon and were driving a stolen car.

Says State to Top 8,500,000 by 1957

ANN ARBOR (U.P.) — Michigan's growth will leap from its present 7,000,000 to between 8,500,000 and 9,000,000 persons in the next 10 years, a Michigan Bell Telephone Co. official says.

H. E. Crampton, Bell assistant vice president for business research, writing in the Michigan Business Review, said he foresees personal income in the state increasing during the period by about 600 million dollars.

By 1966, personal income of adults will average about $3,915 compared to $3,143 today, said Crampton. He said for the state as a whole personal income should rise from $15,400,000,000 last year to 22 billion dollars in 1966.

able to come out of this clean and white 100 per cent" if he gets a chance to testify in a court. He said he expects to do so because of his income tax troubles with the Internal Revenue Service.

Beck said he would not attend a meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council, which has been called Friday to consider his repeated use of the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination.

A code of ethics adopted by the council early this year calls for expulsion of any labor official who uses the amendment to avoid answering questions about union affairs.

Beck remained outwardly confident but disinclined to talk, when he left Washington for Seattle by commercial plane this morning.

Beck brushed aside most questions from newsmen and went quickly to his seat.

Asked whether he was happy to be leaving Washington he replied no, and added that he was hurrying home primarily because of the illness of his wife. Asked whether his opinion of politicians had changed, Beck laughed and asked "What do you think?"

McClellan announced he expects about a two-week recess before the committee resumes hearings.

Cornerstone Laid for Safety Building

Many future occupants of the Public Safety Building yesterday felt a little closer to moving into their new home as the cornerstone was laid at the $875,000 structure on East Pike street.

Making up a crowd of more than 100 chilly spectators were members of the Pontiac Police and Fire Depts., as well as representatives of the Municipal Court. All watched Mayor William W. Donaldson apply the mortar with a chrome trowel, and see the cornerstone lowered in place.

Jack A. Fredman, contractor for the building, located just north of the City Hall, promised police, fire, and municipal court personnel they will be in their home by July 1.

The edifice, constructed from capital improvement funds, will house the police department, fire department administrative offices, and two courts with offices for judges and lawyers. It will also have on the second floor the city's first jail.

INTRODUCES GROUP Mayor Donaldson introduced his fellow commissioners during yesterday afternoon's brief ceremonies outside the flag-draped Pike street entrance of the building. Former commissioner Harcourt S. Patterson also was introduced.

City Manager Walter K. Williams, Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, Fire Chief John F. Schroeder, Municipal Judges Maurice E. Finnegan and Cecil B. McCallum, and architect Leo J. Heenan, who designed the building, spoke briefly.

Overseer of the event was a seven-foot statue of Chief Pontiac given to the city by Lee Anderson.

Many Found Less Critical

Re-Appraise Heart Attacks

DUARTE, Calif. (INS) — The medical profession has reappraised the heart attack and has discovered that some of them are no worse than a bad cold.

Dr. Myron Prinzmetal, a Los Angeles heart specialist, told about it at a meeting at the City of Hope Medical Center yesterday.

He said that the formerly held view that all coronary artery attacks immediately threaten the life of the patient has been abandoned.

He said that he and his associates concluded that mild attacks, producing only a small scar tissue in the heart, do not require long and expensive treatment.

To test the theory they produced small infarcts (scar tissue areas) in the hearts of experimental animals.

The results confirmed the theory. In fact, the infarct areas turned out to be stronger than normal heart muscle.

So some 23 patients, most of them young doctors, who had suffered mild heart attacks, were given a program of only two weeks in bed, instead of the six weeks that formerly had been prescribed. Then they were sent back to work.

Prinzmetal said that contact has been maintained with only seven cases, but with these there has been no new attack and no other signs of trouble.

MEMO FROM CAESAR

Teachings Intrigue Rome

Tiberius Caesar to Pontius Pilate. . . .

Greeting:

Your agent Junius' report to my mother on the teachings of Jesus of Nazareth has been making the rounds in Rome. And, I must say, it has stirred up more interest in the fashionable circles than it has among our sages and religious leaders.

The latter, I am afraid, are more interested in their temple politics than in any stimulating new thought.

In the private homes, it is another matter. The wealthy patrons, who have poets and philosophers read their works at banquets and soirees, have devoted as much as a full evening to a recitation of Junius' report and a discussion of its contents.

Most of the disputants contend that mortal human beings would have to be much more nearly perfect than they are to follow the precepts of the Nazarene teacher. But Livia has taken up the cudgels for him. She insists that as an ideal to be striven for, his beliefs could have a powerful effect on both morals and manners.

She pointed out that if accepted on a national

Wives of Police Forgive Hubbies, to Aid in Election

Although they were denied the right to become an auxiliary to their husbands' organization, the wives of the Pontiac Police Officers, known as the POW's, have consented to forgive and help out their husbands.

At the request of Herbert C. Cooley, President of the Pontiac Police Officers' Association, the ladies said "they would help their husbands carry out the final stages of the campaign for civil service for Pontiac Police officers which comes to a vote Monday."

Cooley said at a special campaign meeting last night that the women agreed to carry on a telephone campaign Friday through Sunday, as well as helping out near the polls on Monday.

After three ballot votes which included two ties and one stuffed ballot box, the association earlier in the month voted to deny their wives the request to organize an auxiliary. Since then the wives met and decided to organize anyway for a social purpose. They call themselves the Pontiac Police Officer's Wives.

AMEND BOARD

The vote, it secured Monday, would amend the trial board section of the City Charter and place the police along with the city firemen under a code based on state civil service laws.

Capt. Charles Evans, acting secretary of the Pontiac Municipal Employees Joint Council said the council voted unanimously to endorse civil service for the Pontiac Police Department.

This council is composed of representatives of the Pontiac Municipal Employees Association, the Pontiac Fire Fighters Association, Local 100 GCEOC (Government and Civil Employees Organization Council), and the police association.

Dynamic producer Mike Todd, accepting the best-picture award for "Around the World in 80 Days," his first picture, said, "This is especially wonderful for me because it's my first time at bat."

Quinn told reporters he was so surprised at his victory that: "I feel just like Harry Truman."

In an acceptance speech which Miss Malone said later she couldn't recall, she dedicated her Oscar to her 16-year-old brother, Bill Maloney of Dallas. A lightning bolt killed him in 1954 on a golf course.

Brynner, 41, born on the island of Sakhalin near Siberia of Mongolian and Romanian parents, won his Oscar in his second starring picture. The shaven-headed actor accepted the award from wild-haired Italian star Anna Magnani.

The most awards went to "The King and I." Beside Brynner's, it scored in five minor categories. Next was "Around the World in 80 Days," with five Oscars.

A surprise winner was the song "Que Sera, Sera" (Whatever Will Be, Will Be), written by Ray Evans and Jay Livingston.

Arraign Hoffa Tomorrow; Expected to Stand Mute

DETROIT (INS) — Teamsters Union Vice President James R. Hoffa of Detroit reportedly will stand mute when arraigned in Washington tomorrow on federal bribery charges.

The court automatically enters a not guilty plea when an accused person stands mute. The mute plea will enable Hoffa, at the proper time, to attack the jurisdiction of the court and its right to issue the warrant under which he was arrested. He would be recognizing the jurisdiction of the court if he pleaded guilty.

Gas Strike Hits Northern Ohio

Pickets Halt Deliveries From Toledo Terminal; Wages Chief Issue

The 29-day gasoline strike moved outstate today when Detroit pickets moved into Toledo and Bryan, Ohio in an attempt to stop deliveries to this area.

A spokesman for a Toledo Shell Oil Co. terminal said the pickets had not stopped operations, but he added that the company does not plan further deliveries into Michigan at this time.

Pontiac and Detroit area service stations have relied heavily upon independent and outstate deliveries since the Oil, Chemical, and Atomic Workers Union Local 11-389 struck eight major suppliers of gas and fuel oil here.

These deliveries have enabled most motorists to get their normal tank-fills.

Chief issue in the dispute in wages. The OCAW is negotiating for new contracts with the companies, to include 23-cents hourly wage boosts.

William Flower, Toledo representative of the union, said other terminals there are threatened by strikes.

Reportedly, the Detroit strike is part of a national effort by the union to win new contracts that include substantial pay hikes.

Bargaining sessions were scheduled with Socony Mobile Oil Co. today and with Texaco representatives Friday. Other struck companies are Standard, Pure, Sinclair, Gulf, Shell, and independent Aurora, supplier for Speedway 73.

Three incidents of violence occurred yesterday as pickets in Detroit attempted to stop deliveries. No one was reported injured.

Absentee Ballots Must Be Secured by 2 on Saturday

Saturday at 2 p.m. is the deadline for Pontiac voters to secure absentee ballots for Monday's biennial spring election.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans said the clerk's office in the City Hall, 35 S. Park St., would open especially Saturday for last-minute voters who will be unable to go to the polls Monday.

The election of seven to state posts, three Supreme Court justices, and a local issue on the Police Officers Ass'n's move for civil service, makes up Monday's ballot.

Wilson Rejects Move to Shackle Newsmen

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson today rejected a recommendation that newsmen be required to go before grand juries to tell the sources of information "leaks."

The cabinet member also turned down a suggestion that military interviews should be banned unless they have official sanction.

In a formal directive accepting some recommendations of the committee on classified information headed by the former assistant defense secretary, Charles A. Coolidge, Wilson made no mention of the grand jury treatment for newsmen.

But in a supplemental comment, he declared he has had "serious reservations" from the beginning about the suggested practice.

Wilson accepted the Coolidge group's proposals for "stem" proceedings against government officials who "leak" unauthorized information damaging to military security.

U. of M. Professor Talks on Eye Cancer

ANN ARBOR (U.P.) — A University of Michigan eye specialist says parents of a child who has cancer of the eye "should be urged to discontinue having children."

Dr. Harold F. Falls, Associate Professor of Ophthalmology, said yesterday the disease retinoblastoma (eye cancer) presents "perhaps long-run impairment to the genetic makeup of future generations."

He said an adult who as a child survived the disease "should make a decision about sterilization." It is definitely known, he said, that such a person could transmit the disease to half his children.

Dr. Falls gave his views in an interview in the Michigan Journalist, student newspaper.

Retinoblastoma appears in children between the ages of two months and four years. A child who has the disease must have one or both eyes removed to live.

Quarton Traffic Study Shows Conditions 'Bad'

BIRMINGHAM — Commissioner Carl Ingraham, has requested a traffic study in the Quarton School area on Birmingham's west side. Ingraham reported conditions as he found them last Monday and labeled them dangerous and ridiculous.

He said a one-way traffic sign used only during school hours was placed in the center of the street and was ineffective. Ingraham said he saw several cars drive around the sign and continue in the wrong direction.

"The sidewalk in front of the school," he said, "looks like a sign-makers convention. I never saw so many signs in one place—nor so many violations."

"Cars were parked all along by signs that said parking was prohibited. I also saw several drivers make U turns which again according to the signs was not allowed in that block."

In asking city manager, Harold K. Schone, to investigate the conditions, Ingraham declared he felt the signs increased the danger to children rather than lessen it.

"I know," he said "we can not have a policeman on duty at all of our schools. I also know traffic

Japanese Star Tabs U.S. Men as 'Very Fast'

HONG KONG (INS) — Japanese film star Shirley Yamaguchi on the subject of men, Western style vs. Eastern: "American males are very fast. They don't waste time on anything."

"Japanese and Chinese males are kind of bashful. They have more courtesy and take more time to come to conclusions in many matters, including love."

The beautiful Shirley arrived in Hong Kong today from the U. S. to make two movies.

News Flash

LONDON (INS) — Britain announced today it will free archbishop Makarios, Cypriot Nationalist leader exiled a year ago to the Seychelles Islands in the Indian Ocean. Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd said the 43-year-old prelate would be free to go anywhere in the world except Cyprus. He also announced that the British are willing to grant a safe-conduct from Cyprus to Gen. George Grivas, British-trained Greek officer who reportedly is "Dagheles," the leader of the Greek Cypriot underground organization EOKA.

Huron Hotel Sold; Plan to Remodel

The Huron Hotel, for more than 50 years a downtown Pontiac landmark, has been sold for an undisclosed price.

Purchased in 1953 by Joseph Salf, 35 Cherokee Rd., from the Riker estate it has now been sold to a partnership headed by Charles Gersten, 288 Ottawa Dr.

Gersten plans to completely remodel and renovate the 33-room structure. The lobby will be enlarged and new furnishings are planned in each room.

The Huron will be mainly a residential hotel, with some transient trade.

The sale was handled by Partidge Realty of Pontiac.

Realignment Necessary in Hospital Planning

Pontiac's hospital situation is following hectic lines.
It's almost a revival of the ancient "in again, out again, Finnegan."
Both St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and the City's General Hospital are desperately in need of more facilities. You have only to spend a few days in either as a patient or visitor to see the tremendously overcrowded conditions.
The area is woefully short.
The situation is critical.

Both institutions have been making plans for expansion and both agree that when their respective additions are opened, the area will STILL be short of services. The sufferers are the people. They're the victims and they pay the penalty.

It seemed unwise to have both hospitals campaigning for funds at the same moment, and so a group of interested Pontiac citizens got together to study this problem along with several other capital fund drives that were at hand.

These citizens weighed all the evidence and then stated it as their belief that St. Joe should put on a direct campaign for funds, while the City Hospital would probably fare better if the matter were put to a vote of the people and the money raised that way.

Thus, things have been moving along towards preparing a drive for St. Joseph's. This has required considerable preliminary planning for the original architect's drawings were predicated on an eight million dollar deal which not one business man in all Pontiac believed the city could even approach. Hence this will have to start anew. The revised goal is three million dollars.

Also, the attitude of top industry is vitally important as a drive for three million dollars could only succeed if a very substantial donation were promised from these quarters before the drive in general was launched.

In the meantime, the City General Hospital finds itself in a sorry predicament. It asked the voters for three million dollars to build and equip an addition and then the board took the money and expended the entire sum for walls and enclosures, leaving the furnishing undone. This was bad judgment on the part of the committee and in our opinion was inexcusable.

But that's where we stand.
The committee has provided walls and that's all. If you drop, dive or are thrown off the back end of a boat in mid-ocean, you're in the water, no matter how you got there.

The next move is to get out. And that's about where the City Hospital stands. Reviewing the errors of the past won't affect the current situation, and we must look the facts squarely in the face as they exist today.
The hospital needs more money. It needs it immediately.

Otherwise, this institution practically stands gaunt and empty and is of little good to anyone. It's just a blob. Hence, it appears that the city voters must grant the additional money necessary to complete the job. The hospital board has figured out no alternative, except to stage a public drive, but with St. Joe having a rightful precedent here, no one entertains much hope for two public campaigns.

There we are.

We have a City hospital in a state of incompletion and St. Joe's having the nod to stage a drive as soon as practical. If the two overlap, probably both will suffer. Thus it would appear as though the best way out of a bad situation would be to let the city have the right of way first for its bond issue in May and then stage St. Joe's drive at a later date . . . perhaps a year from now when all business prospects should be better than they happen to be at the moment. The current period is not too happy a moment for the biggest drive ever undertaken in all Pontiac history.

The Man About Town
There's Only One
No Other Oakland County
in Entire United States

Defeat: What isn't bitter if you don't swallow it.

Today is Oakland County's birthday. Soon after the first settlement in the area now comprised in Oakland County in 1817, and the migration from the east started, the Territory of Michigan was laid out into proposed counties. It was decided that just north of Wayne there was to be a county 30 miles square, and its residents were asked to submit a name.

After some consideration, it was decided to give it the name of "Cadillac," in honor of the French military officer who founded Detroit over a century before.

It was not until the delegation appeared before the Territorial Legislature in Detroit in 1819 that it was decided to name the new county for the great oak trees that abounded in its primeval forests.

The area's greatest friend in its early days was General Lewis Cass, who in 1820 was Territorial Governor of Michigan. He somewhat frowned on the name first decided upon, because Cadillac was a Frenchman, and the memories of the British-French war were still fresh. So, when the official organizational act was passed at Detroit that created the new county on March 28, 1820, it was given the name of "Oakland."

Our early residents liked Lewis Cass so well that they named our largest lake after him, and Elizabeth Lake in honor of his wife.

Now, 137 years after the organization of our county, there are 3,068 counties in the 48 states in our nation, and many more in our territorial possession. But among them all there's only one with the name of "Oakland."

There's a big difference between Russian Communism and Chinese Communism, according to

Dr. James T. Cheng, Medical Superintendent at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, and China will never allow Russia to push it around. Dr. Cheng is a native of China and held some high positions in that nation.

The United States is the greatest exporter of petroleum products—and you may be surprised to learn that Venezuela is second greatest among the world's nations.

A communication with a Pontiac postmark, and signed, "Don't You Feel the Same?," chides the judgment of the National Liars' Club for always overlooking in their annual award the champion lie of them all: "Once upon a time there was a man who understood women."

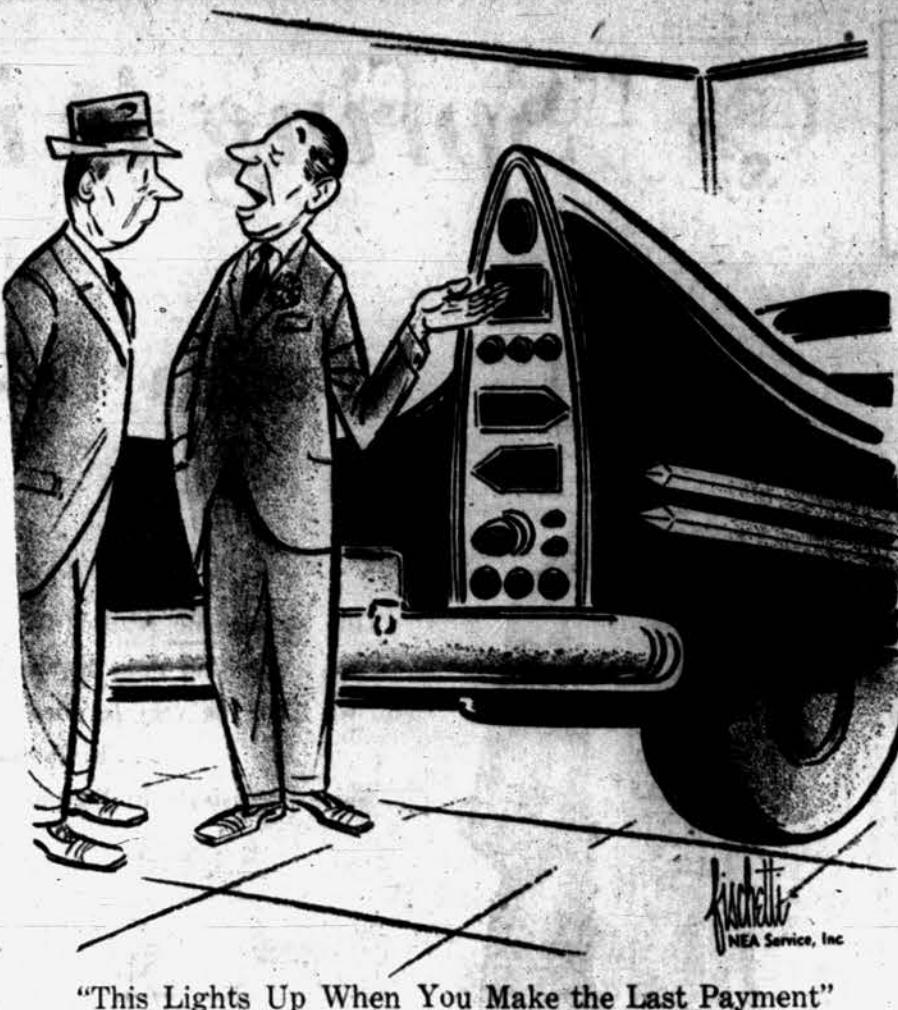

Since you've undoubtedly contributed your share to the amount, you'll be interested to learn that a comparatively new industry has passed the $300 million mark in our nation. According to that reliable paper,

Chemical Week, we bought 120 million gallons of anti-freeze solution for our cars this winter at the above cost.

U. S., Britain Answer Red Threat

LAWRENCE

Soviet Russia from starting a third world war.

Not all the news of what transpired at Bermuda has come out because much of it concerns military planning for defense, but the three most important results of the Eisenhower-Macmillan meeting now may be stated as follows:

1. The United States and Great Britain have answered Premier Bulganin's recent threat to use guided missiles against Britain. Guided missiles will be made available by the United States for the first time to England's military forces to use in protecting themselves.

2. The United States, for the first time also, becomes an active and cooperating partner in the military planning to be done by members of the Baghdad Pact—namely, Britain, Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Pakistan, two of them bordering directly on the Soviet Union.

3. The United States and Britain see eye to eye at last on the wisdom of keeping Communist China out of the Security Council of the United Nations.

There are no secret understandings or agreements between America and Britain, but there are attitudes reflected in the recent discussions which can be of far-reaching importance in world affairs.

Thus the British government does not intend to change its own policy, which recognizes the Peiping government, but at the same time no effort will be made by Britain to back Red China's effort to replace Nationalist China on the U.N. Security Council.

British officials have made it clear that they now better understand America's position and, judging by the way the Afro-Asian bloc has been behaving inside the U.N., the British do not see that the cause of the free world will be aided hereafter by letting Communist China become a permanent member of the Security Council.

This is a gratifying development to Americans. While the British still hope for an abatement of some of the severe restrictions on trading with Red China, they do see the wisdom of keeping the Peiping regime out of the Security Council. For, after all, the U.N. itself in 1951 formally declared Red China an aggressor and nothing has been done since by the Peiping government to atone for its many international crimes.

LIL ONES

The sending of guided missiles to Britain by the American military establishment is of transcendent importance. Premier Bulganin on Nov. 5, 1956, wrote to Prime Minister Anthony Eden denouncing the British-French military action in the Suez area, and adding:

"In what position would Britain have found herself if she herself had been attacked by more powerful states possessing every kind of modern destructive weapons? And there are countries now which need not have sent a navy or air force to the coasts of Britain but could have used other means, such as rocket technique."

This was widely interpreted at the time as meaning that, if the British and French didn't withdraw their troops from the Suez area, the Soviets might feel justified in using rockets or guided missiles against London and Paris. What the Soviets could threaten once, they might threaten to do again. But the British and French have had no guided missiles for defense. Hence the United States has agreed to provide them to Britain at once, and it is hinted that France also will get them soon.

So, while there is much in the press about the friction in local areas like the Middle East, the big developments are in the military position of the Soviet Union as against the western powers.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Try B-Complex Vitamins as Heart and Nerve Tonic

Among the thousands of doctors whose tolerance, not to say affection, I have alienated by my teachings, is the famous specialist who protested in the paper against teaching that people with weak heart can get along without digitalis.

Medical notions about the remedial value of digitalis have changed since the herb, foxglove, was introduced by Dr. William Withering in England in 1785. Withering learned about it from an old woman of Shropshire, who told him the herb was very good for dropsy.

In the next hundred years most doctors decided digitalis was a heart stimulant and that it somehow strengthened the heart and acted as a heart tonic. Some doctors considered the drug depressing.

Today many doctors seem to consider digitalis especially beneficial in the heart irregularity or disorder known as arrhythmic fibrillation.

Some doctors accept without question the view that digitalis improves nutrition of the heart muscle. If this is true it would be logical to assume that digitalis is a heart tonic, that is, something that improves function.

TRY VITAMIN TONIC
As nearly as I can learn from study and experience, the only real heart tonic we have is vitamin B complex. In the CVD booklet (35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) I tell how to substitute B-complex with iron and manganese for digitalis, either abruptly or by gradual withdrawal of the digitalis if you're afraid to discontinue it immediately.

Scores of digitalis habitues have not only overcome the habit but at the same time gained better health and vitality than they have experienced for years by tapering off.

For instance, once a day take a dessertspoonful of the pleasant liquid form of B-complex with iron and manganese as described in the CVD booklet. This is a good general tonic for child or adult, and being nutritional, not medicinal, it may be continued indefinitely or discontinued at will.

A week or so after starting it, begin taking your daily dose of digitalis in the snifter of tonic. Day by day use one drop less of digitalis or, if you are an extremely timid soul taper off at the rate of a drop a week.

Either way, if you get your daily ration of B-complex-iron-manganese, you'll presently realize that you are in fine fettle. And why not?—the B-complex-iron-manganese is not only a heart tonic but also a physiological nerve tonic.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady. If a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Use Golden Rule, Not Rule of Gold

Discuss this story about Satan's banquet hall, at Sunday School. Notice how selfishness means the focus of attention is on self. But selfishness indicates the focus is on others. Analyze yourself and your neighborhood. Which people are motivated by the Rule of Gold and which by the Golden Rule?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case U-340: Satan is probably familiar to everybody old enough to read. He is said to rule over Hades.

One day a famous visitor arrived, so Satan was showing him around. They entered a vast banquet hall where the tables were groaning beneath the load of tempting foods.

But the diners, who sat along both sides of the long tables, were unable to eat.

For they were splinted around both elbows, which prevented their bending either arm. Thus, nobody could bring any food to his mouth.

So they sat, drooling but starving with food only a few feet away.

"Why don't you help each other?" burst out the visitor. "The table is narrow so if each of you would feed the fellow across from himself, then you could both enjoy the feast."

Angry one of the banqueters turned to the visitor and replied:

"What? Do you think I'd help

Readers Give Their Ideas About Waterford Situation

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Regarding this controversy over Waterford ticketing, it seems like a few childish adults got ticketed and want help licking their wounds.

Having lived just off the Dixie for three years, I say thank goodness we've moved. I had to send my children along that road to go to school and there have been times when I actually dreaded sending them. And to go about ordinary driving tasks is extremely risky.

If the poor people who lost a few dollars would only realize that the people here can breathe a little easier and feel their children are a bit safer. We have had a ticket by these same "unfair tactics" and paid it, thanking God someone is finally doing something about it. If the Township can make money cleaning up a mess like this, then more power to them.

While the violators are losing money, we are saving life, limb and property. Keep it up, boys.

Mrs. W. J. Terry
Drayton Plains

There is no justice to the way they catch you in Waterford, from 35 mile zone to 45, then back to 35. The State should set a speed limit through there.

Our governor gets $20,000, Mayor Cobo $25,000, while two county justices get $29,000 and $39,000. Why not put them on a straight salary?

J. M. K.

The recent disclosure of the large sum earned by a Waterford justice indicates intelligent citizens need to know more about the duties and regulations of this job. Why doesn't the office pay a salary commensurate with the hours on the job? Why should money collected from law-breakers go into private pockets? Do all counties handle the payment to justices in the same manner? How can this be changed?

We also need articles about the duties of other Township offices and qualifications of each candidate. We are a poorly informed lot as we cast our ballot at the April election.

Waterford Resident

The recent articles about Waterford sure rattled me, especially since I have always said I'm not a "party" man. I'm glad there are some newspapers that are not afraid to expose the truth or we would never know anything. I feel the daily paper is your greatest investment. It's your only real source of information on government, etc.

Don't be led around by the nose. Think it all over, everything. This is your township and mine. Get out and vote April 1. It's your duty.

Waterford Taxpayer

Some of the reactions I've heard to the Waterford situation make me laugh. People object to ticket money going into township pockets and say the township shouldn't get rich at violators' expense.

There's nothing dishonest about the way Waterford is conducting business. It just happens they're making good money at it, and what's a better way to make

This little story shows us that evil promotes self-thinking. It is a synonym for selfishness.

Generosity, however, turns our attention outward upon others in a kindly fashion. It causes us to share. It makes us think of the other fellow's welfare, too.

Here on this earth, we can divide people into two vast groups.

One is influenced by the Golden Rule.

The other is motivated primarily by the Rule of Gold.

Perhaps you recall the story of Silas Marner who was a selfish hermit, with scarcely a friend in the village.

He kept to himself and let the rest of the world go by. After he arrived home from work at night, he would prepare his frugal meal in silence and then eat it all alone, without even a cat or dog to share his food.

Then he entertained himself the

When You're Feeling Low, Go Below

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — When your world has gone awry, your stomach sour, your job dull and your girl to another guy, there is only one way for you logically to go. It is down.

"And you'll love it, man," says John Tassos, squirming with a thrill, a thrill, an itchy under-shirt or something. "Once you've gone down, you'll never want to come back to the warmer world of colder humanity."

In his ambiguous way, Mr. Tassos is recommending that everybody who is disturbed with the vicissitudes of life and love take to The Underwater World — which, incidentally, is the name of a book he wrote — and commune, in peace with the fish.

The hobby, sport or art of "skin-diving" is not only the fastest growing active pastime in the U.S., but it is also one of the few escapes from the telephone.

"Unless you are stupid enough to install your own short-wave phone system in your headgear, as I was," he says, beating his palm relentlessly against his forehead, "you are completely out of contact with people and in the presence only of the gentle monsters of the sea." (Or the creek, pond, river or gravel pit; all are recommended for the owner of the mask and flipper.)

SLAVE TO WET WORLD

Tassos began skin-diving as a beachcomber in the Florida Keys after World War II, long before the craze started, and now is such a slave to the wet world that he sometimes goes down to a nice reef and snoozes on the rocks.

"Not only restful," he says, "but fun. You can watch the people of the outside world make fools of themselves."

He cites many instances of fishermen whose lines dangle hopelessly into his underwater world, while thousands of fish gaze at the bait with disinterest and drift away.

"Once in a Biscayne Bay, I was loading around on a piece of coral and a charter fishing boat dropped anchor," he recalls.

"Seven lines were dropped down, hooked with shrimp. The area was loaded with overboarded snapper. You never saw such bloated fish—there's so much natural food on the reefs, not one of them was hungry."

FISH WERE BORED

"About 15 minutes went by, and the lines were raised. They came down again hooked with conch. The fish, frankly, were bored."

"Presently, the lines went up again and came down with slivers of mullet. I think by this time the fish were just disgusted, having to duck the bait as they swam around."

"It was great fun, visualizing the frustrations in the upper world when the anchor and lines were raised, and the fish and I were left alone again."

In more than 10 years of diving, Tassos — an advertising executive whenever he comes up — has tried about everything. He's uncovered sunken treasure, collected shells, bashed sharks' heads, made friends with countless friendly porpoises and frequently speared his own dinner.

Now he's reached the sedentary stage, which may be the best fun after all. He takes photographs under water, and simply rests — his attitude being that you don't have to knock yourself out to look at fish. They're curious by nature, and sooner or later they'll swim up to look at you.

Only trouble is that once in awhile Tassos gets lonely. So, with a view toward a future underwater pal, he is training his 3-year-old daughter to wear a mask in the bathtub.

Motorist Pays for Speed With Gasoline Greenbacks

DETROIT (NEA) — If you're a heavy-foot-Harry on the accelerator you're paying the road with gasoline greenbacks.

In other words, if you want to improve your car's mileage get the lead out of your right foot when you drive.

This is the conclusion of studies of gas economy by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and General Motors.

PT & T's motor vehicle supervisor A. A. Keefer set out to save $40,000 per year by getting an extra mile out of every gallon of gas used in his fleet of 1,000 passenger cars. He started out seeking a mechanical solution but ended up achieving his goal with courses in economy driving techniques.

BASED ON NEED

GM's study was based on the need to explore means of improving driving economy to keep pace with the demands for more engine performance.

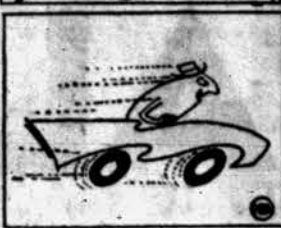

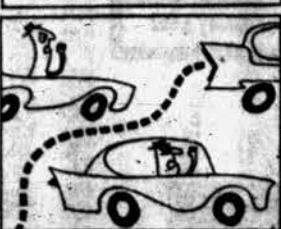

Keefer got on to his solution when records showed that mileage on the same cars varied according to the driver. The most common driving fault was racing away with the flash of the green light. He explains:

"On one test we did just this and averaged eight miles per gallon. Repeating the test using less speed when leaving the signal we averaged 15.3 miles per gallon and took only seven seconds longer to cover the same mile."

THE GM REPORT EXPLAINS:

ENGINE FUEL
"In fast acceleration or racing the engine, all carburetors have a system of injecting additional fuel into the intake manifold to increase the air-fuel mixture briefly to provide the added surge."

Maintaining a steady speed and making minimum use of brakes are two more gas saving discoveries. In gas economy competition drivers remove their right shoe so their foot will be sensitive to maintaining even pressure on the gas pedal.

On the use of brakes the PT & T report explains:

"When you have to use brakes you waste the energy it took to get you moving and that means wasted gasoline."

CONDEMN SPURTS
Both GM and PT&T studies came up with a condemnation of "jack rabbit" driving. "Every time you speed up to get to the other lane you over-use the accelerator pump and it pumps gas right out the exhaust, using as high as 30 per cent needless fuel," the PT&T study reports.

Just plain speed is a boggish gas eater. For example, a car capable of 30 miles per gallon at 30 miles per hour gets 15.3 miles per gallon at 60 mph and only eight miles per gallon at 70 mph. A GM expert explains:

"The engine doesn't lose efficiency at higher speeds as many people think and thus eat more gas. The real consumer is wind resistance. The horsepower necessary to overcome wind resistance goes up as the cube of the speed. For example, if you double your speed the horsepower requirements goes up eight times. This is basic aerodynamics."

SHIFT PROPERLY

Proper shifting and use of the clutch can be another big gas saver. Shifting in to high too soon puts a strain on the engine, causing gas to be wasted. Delayed shifting is also bad. At 20 mph, for example, second gear used 20 per cent more gasoline than high.

Automatic shifts are designed to make most efficient use of this factor.

A big gas eating habit is slipping the clutch to hold the car on hill stops. Using the brake instead of the clutch in one controlled test a PT&T driver added 3.4 miles per gallon.

Needless idling is another gas gobbler.

GM's study revealed that low tire pressure, incorrect wheel alignment and engine in improper tune were among the most important mechanical causes of poor gas mileage.

The experts estimate that if a driver observes these gas-saving rules the can improve his mileage more than 30 per cent in some cases.

New Yorker Portrays Great Blizzard of '88

This is the 4th in a series in which some of the great disasters of the last 75 years are told through the eyes of those who survived them.

By JAMES L. MCGALLEN
INS Staff Writer

"It was a sight to see — a whopper!" That's the way 87-year old Edward Engel describes the great blizzard which hit New York on Monday, March 12, 1888.

Sitting in his home at Forest Hills, Queens, where he is living in retirement, Engel — a former New York deputy sheriff — recalls "as if it were yesterday" that legendary blizzard.

It raged in New York City for 36 hours, and spread fanwise over a wide area: up-state New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland, leaving death and destruction in its wake. It crippled such cities as Baltimore, Washington and Pittsburgh as well as New York.

EXACT TOLL UNKNOWN

The blizzard caused a loss of life variously estimated at 200 to 400 and property damage of from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. It is impossible to give the exact toll.

Engel was 15 years old at the time and lived with his parents Mr. and Mrs. John L. Engel, Manhattan. He worked for a downtown shipping firm.

"At 6:30 that Monday morning my mother woke me up," Engel related. "She said, 'Get up, Ed. I'm afraid you can't get to work because of the snow storm.'"

Engel peered out a window. Huge snow drifts were piled high against nearby buildings. Snow, whipped by a 75-mile an hour gale, whirled about in blinding masses. The thermometer was down around zero. The storm had begun late the night before.

"We had a big wooden shovel," Engel recalled. "I tunneled a path through the snow drifts and made my way to the elevated station at 29th and Third Avenue."

"Trains on other 'L' lines weren't running. But on this line along came a train of five cars, drawn by a small coal locomotive."

"We got as far as Chatham station, where the line veered off toward city hall. The train came to a dead stop and the conductor shouted, 'all out!' I walked along the railroad tracks to city hall station. There, I couldn't see any steps down to the street, the snow was so high."

"So I sat down and slid, as if I were on a toboggan. I got to work all right but many others in our shipping firm didn't."

Engel had a hard time getting home that night. Stories circulated about deaths and injuries but news was hard to get. It was several days before the average person learned the full extent of the damage.

BOWERY REVELS

Engel chuckled as he told how the bums of the Bowery took advantage of the blizzard. He recalled that each morning horse-drawn trucks, laden with kegs of beer came down to the Bowery to supply the saloon trade.

"The day of the blizzard the beer trucks got stalled in the snowdrifts," said Engel. "The drivers unhitched the horses and left the trucks standing in the streets."

"Out from the flop houses came the bowery bums. They rolled kegs of beer into basements. It was so cold the beer was frozen. But that didn't stop them. They built a fire, thawed out the beer, and had the time of their lives."

Neighborhood stores were forced to suspend business because they couldn't get deliveries of meats, groceries and other supplies. Wagon couldn't get through to the big milk depot at 48th street and Lexington where fluid milk was sold at three to five cents a quart.

Only the most daring ventured on the streets as the storm raged. In some places the drifts were twelve feet high. Stray cats and dogs lay frozen in hallways and alleys. Some people crossed the frozen East River on the ice.

CITY IN DARKNESS

When night came many of the city's streets were plunged into darkness because the lamplighters were unable to make their rounds to light street lamps. Oil lamps burned dimly in homes.

"Up and down the middle of Broadway poured a strange procession of coaches, hacks, cabriolets, coupes and cabs, with here

"A more fantastic procession of boots. Among the bold ones women. In most schools there was no attempt to go through the usual exercises." The storm died down somewhat Tuesday afternoon. By Wednesday noon it abated.

And Edward Engel remembers: "In all my 87 years I never saw anything like the blizzard of 1888."

Soviet Letter Warns Norway

Bulgarian Tells NATO Ally Reds Will Strike Hard if War Comes

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The Soviet Union is widening and stepping up its word battle with its Scandinavian neighbors.

The latest blast was directed at Norway, a 3,500-word letter from Soviet Premier Bulganin warning the Norwegian government against allowing NATO to establish atomic bases in Norway. The letter spoke of fearful retaliation in the event of war.

Finland, Sweden and Denmark all have come in for Soviet attention recently. Norway and Denmark are members of NATO; Sweden and Finland are not. However, Norway and Denmark do not permit foreign troops to be stationed inside their borders.

In his letter to Norwegian Foreign Minister Einar Gerhardsen, Bulganin said Norway is chiefly valuable to NATO "because its territory borders the Soviet Union"—for 120 miles in the Far North.

Bulganin said NATO planned to equip West Germany and other armies with nuclear weapons and asserted U. S. combat teams with nuclear weapons will be sent to a number of countries.

"They (NATO) are least of all interested in the fate of Norway in case of war," Bulganin wrote.

"But the Norwegian people, especially the working class, cannot be indifferent to the bases," Bulganin declared the Soviet Union wants peace but will take the "most energetic measure in order to inflict a destructive blow against aggressors and also against the bases which are located near our borders."

The Norwegian Foreign Office had no comment.

Propose Ferries as Tourist Service

LANSING (AP)—Three Republican senators have proposed continuation of the Mackinac Straits ferry operation as a sight-seeing service after completion of the straits bridge in November.

Sens. Elmer R. Porter of Blissfield, Clarence F. Graebner of Saginaw and Perry W. Greene of Grand Rapids filed a bill to assign the S. S. Straits of Mackinac for this purpose.

Under their proposal, the boat would ply between Mackinac City, Mackinac Island and St. Ignace. It would carry no vehicular traffic.

MOTHER GOOSE — 4

"Jack and Jill went up the hill
To fetch a pail of water.
Jack fell down and broke his crown
And Jill came tumbling after."

Jack and Jill lived in a little French village where there was no running water in the houses. Everyone in the village had to climb to a well on top of a high hill for water. The climb up the steep hill with an empty pail was bad enough, but it was even more difficult to lift a full pail off the well curb and start down the rocky slope.

Nearly every day someone slipped and fell on the way down and had to return to the well to refill his pail. That's what happened to Jack and Jill on their unlucky day. Both were carrying the heavy pail when they fell and tumbled down the hill.

Legend says that Jack vowed after the fall to invent a hoisting machine to carry the pails up the hill and the water down. He did this and became the village hero.

Here is a chance for you to act out this Mother Goose rhyme. Paste the picture on cardboard and color with crayons. Cut out the parts carefully. Put a string through the two holes at the top and hang the picture over a table so the edge rests on the flat surface. Cut long slits at A and B. Put tab B in slot B and, reaching behind the picture, slowly move Jack and Jill up the hill.

At the top, slip the figures out and put them behind the hill. Read the verse slowly, then slip tab A into slit A and pull Jack and Jill down the hill.

Scientists Attracted by California Trees

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Following the suggestion of a Swedish scientist, chemists of the United States are viewing the giant trees of California with a clinical interest today.

Professor Holger Erdtman of the Royal Institute of Technology in Stockholm advances the theory that Sequoia sempervirens, the coastal redwood of Northern California, must have some very unusual chemicals to attain such great size and lifespan.

Among the 1,500,000 acres of redwoods in the Redwood Empire are many "Moby Dicks" of the forest which are more than 2,000 years old; there are others which flourish despite great fire scars; and there are windfalls among them, known as "Reincarnation Trees" from which as many as 22 new trees are growing.

In discussing the longevity and the hardness of the redwood trees, Professor Erdtman theorized the trees might have some chemicals that are effective insect repellants.

Rare Antelope Skeleton Found in California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 3-million-year-old antelope skeleton has been discovered in southern California.

Dr. Theodore Downs of the Los Angeles County Museum says the species is so new to scientists that they haven't given it a name yet.

The prize find was made by two oil geologists while mapping the Gorman area for a petroleum company.

Dr. Downs estimates that the antelope was a creature of the Pliocene Period and guesses that it was a plains animal similar to today's pronghorn antelope although not nearly as large.

"This one was about the size of a medium dog," he says.

3 Pites Unite World Stars at Prague 'Olympian' Nuptials Held

PRAGUE (INS)—Olympic champions Olga Fikotova and Harold Connolly were wed in three separate ceremonies yesterday, touching off a hands-across-the-Iron-Curtain celebration by the excited people of Prague.

The pretty Czech discus thrower and the Boston hammer tosser were trapped for a while in a mass of well-wishers. One policeman said 15,000 persons were jammed into Town Hall Square and inside the Catholic and Evangelical Churches, scenes of the religious ceremonies.

Police were called out to maintain order and at least one spectator fainted. At one point the press around the couple was so great that Olga's parents were unable to proceed with plans to observe some of Czechoslovakia's old wedding customs.

Another custom, placing a horse collar around the bridegroom's neck, was broken by Olga. She snatched the horse collar from Connolly's neck, saying she did not want to be his "boss."

FAIRY-TALE ROMANCE
Several enthusiastic wedding guests said the romance of the Czech and the American, which began at the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, was like one of Bohemia's cherished fairy tales.

To a reporter, it was also reminiscent of last year's wedding in Monaco.

Connolly, 25, and Olga, 24, were married repeatedly when they arrived at the 14th century Town Hall for the civil ceremony by a Communist official, and when they later went to the Catholic Church of San Tyn and the Evangelical church of San Salvador.

Security for You

Railroad Retirement Closely Tied to SS

By RAY HENNEY
Associated Press Writer
Railroad workers, like federal employees, have their own government retirement program set up by special laws.

But, unlike the Civil Service retirement system, the Railroad Retirement program is closely tied to Social Security.

For example: A railroad worker is guaranteed that in no case will he get less in benefits from Railroad Retirement than he would if his railroad service were covered by Social Security. And, a railroad worker who has not put in 10 years of railroad service isn't eligible for benefits under the Railroad Retirement System, but his work record is transferred to Social Security.

In many ways, the operation of the Railroad Retirement System parallels the Social Security program:

PAYROLL TAXES
Railroad Retirement is supported by payroll taxes on the worker and his boss. The tax is 6 1/2 percent (vs. 2 1/4 for Social Security) for both employers and employees and the tax can't be refunded when the worker leaves the railroad industry.

The taxes are collected by the Internal Revenue Service, and the money goes into the Railroad Retirement Fund of the U. S. Treasury. The funds are invested in government bonds at interest. If not needed immediately to pay benefits.

The Railroad Retirement Board keeps a record of each railroad worker's service and earnings under the employee's Social Security number. This number is used by employers in reporting the worker's earnings and service to the board.

Like Social Security, the size and kinds of benefits open to a railroad worker are based on the number of years of railroad service and the wages he received for that service.

To a degree, the benefits of the Railroad Retirement program are similar to those of the Social Security system, except that more benefits and more liberal payments are generally available to the railroad worker. The better railroad benefits are due to the higher taxes paid by the railroad worker and his boss.

Here's a comparison as an example:

When a railroad worker retires he is eligible for an old-age annuity at 65, if he has 10 years of railroad service, or at age 60, if he has 30 years of railroad service.

FOR WOMEN
Under Social Security the age of eligibility for retirement payments is 62 for women and 65 for men, no matter how long a person has been covered by the Social Security system.

The Railroad Retirement program also provides a more liberal disability payment set up than Social Security, and there are two types of disability payments.

A railroad worker who is totally disabled is eligible for an annuity at any age if he has 10 years of railroad service and he's permanently disabled for all regular work.

Under Social Security, the period of work required to be eligible for disability payments is less, but payments can't be made to anyone under 50.

A railroad worker who's unable to perform his regular railroad job because of a disability, but not necessary other types of

Seek to Convert TB Hospitals

A resolution which may convert more than 300 tuberculosis hospital beds for greatly-needed space for the mentally retarded, is expected to be introduced to the House of Representatives in Lansing today.

Backed by Pontiac Rep. Leslie

H. Hudson and six other representatives, the resolution proposes the closing of the 105-bed Copper Country TB Sanitarium at Houghton and the 200-bed Southwestern Michigan TB Sanitarium at Kalamazoo.

As stated by Hudson, the closing of the two state institutions is made possible by the declining need for tuberculosis facilities in the state due to the decrease in the number of cases.

"With the closing of these two sanitariums we would still have 300 vacant tuberculosis beds in Michigan," Hudson said.

He added that the state could save from $800,000 to $1,000,000 by the closing.

The Pontiac representative said the 215 patients there would be transferred to other partially-filled state and county TB facilities.

Hudson commented that such half-empty hospitals, like the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanitarium, "operate more efficiently if they are filled."

"The patients could be transferred to other hospitals in the vicinity without undue inconvenience and without retarding recovering of patients," Hudson pointed out.

"Our underlying thought," he said, "is to convert the two hospitals for housing the mentally retarded."

'Immature' Driver No. 1 Traffic Danger

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Safety experts in Los Angeles, center of the world's heaviest traffic, say that a child's mind in an adult body is the nation's No. 1 highway killer.

A panel of safety experts at the Los Angeles Transportation club has concluded that the motorist who had "matured physically but not mentally" is the worst menace on the highways.

The panel also said:

"Bad attitudes due to emotional disturbances, family upsets, worry and highway frictions are the biggest cause of traffic accidents."

Soviets Study Skies at Center Near Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has established a new observation center 50 miles from Moscow to work on the program of the international geophysical year.

Here, says an announcement from the USSR Academy of Sciences, special cameras have been constructed and new equipment set up to study the skies and especially the northern lights.

Towboat Telescopes to Pass Low Bridges

CHICAGO — A towboat with a double-telescoping, or three-stage, pilot house has made its appearance on the nation's inland waterways.

It will operate on the Mississippi and Illinois rivers as well as on the inland waterways of the Chicago area.

The novel-type retractable pilot house is made necessary by the large number of low bridges on the Calumet-Sag channels, the Chicago Sanitary and Ship Canal, and the upper Illinois Waterway system. The diesel boat has 1,800 horsepower.

7 Million Birds Banded in U.S. Since 1909

WASHINGTON — The banding of birds was started by the American Bird Banding Association in 1909. The society was eventually incorporated into the United States Fish and Wildlife Service.

More than 7,000,000 birds have been banded in this country. Information on longevity, migration, and paths are culled from the bits of metal put on birds' legs.

Volunteer Firemen Receive Real Test

BARBOURVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — Volunteer firemen took advantage of an early opportunity to impress their teacher with what they had learned in a West Virginia University extension course on firefighting.

They were listening to a lecture by Lt. Robert Myers of the Huntington Fire Dept. when the alarm sounded.

After the blaze at a restaurant was extinguished, Myers said his "students" did an excellent job.

Meets Red Attacks With Speed, Truth

Lodge One of First for Ike

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Henry Cabot Lodge, handsome product of two of Boston's oldest and most honored families, has put to good use as U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations his experience as a newspaperman and an army officer.

In his five years at the U. N., Lodge has operated on the principle that Soviet attacks must be answered promptly and decisively with the truth.

Often, his weapon is ridicule. Recently he brought a roar of laughter from the public galleries and a flush of red to the usually impassive face of Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov when he branded the Russian's charge that the "Eisenhower Doctrine" could lead to a new world war "a gigantic cock and bull story."

Kuznetsov's discomfort increased as Lodge added that the U. S. would support assembly debate on the item since "any delegation, including the Soviet, is free to make a fool of itself."

Among non-Communist U. N. diplomats Lodge is trusted and respected. And the fact that he is known to have President Eisenhower's "ear" has added importance to his speeches and his behind-the-scenes activities.

Lodge played a leading role in convincing Gen. Eisenhower to seek the GOP nomination in 1952 and was Ike's campaign manager. The time he devoted to the Eisenhower campaign was considered one factor in his own defeat for re-election to the Senate seat he had held since 1936 — with four years out for service as an Army officer in North Africa and Europe.

As might be expected of a Cabot Lodge, Henry attended Harvard, class of 1924. Then came his newspaper years — on the old Boston Evening Transcript and the New York Herald Tribune.

Thirty-one years ago this summer he married Emily Sears. The couple has two sons, George Cabot and Henry Sears — and five grandchildren. His younger brother, John Davis, is a former governor of Connecticut and currently U. S. ambassador to Spain.

His grandfather, the first Henry Cabot Lodge, who was Senator from Massachusetts for many years, was instrumental in keeping the U. S. out of the League of Nations.

There's Charm in Lonely Isles

Man's Search for Room, Raw Materials, Bases, Reveals Unique Spots

WASHINGTON — In a world of overcrowded cities and streets, there are still many lonely spots. Some desperately need more people for the survival of dwindling communities.

For other islands scattered over the Pacific, the Caribbean, and Indian Ocean, remoteness from travel lanes is itself the charm.

Some faraway isles are famous for seafaring adventures, like Pitcairn of the Bounty mutineers. Others, such as Easter Island, with its giant stone heads, are haunts of ancient cultural mysteries. Some hint of buried treasure, like Crooked Island in the Bahamas, Gough in the South Atlantic, and the Macaos off the China coast.

Oceania, in fact, is the least densely settled of the globe's major divisions. Its aggregate land area holds five persons per square mile, compared to 149 for the continent of Asia and 212 for Europe.

ISOLATION YIELDS SLOWLY — Like the seas' outer islands, the great desert areas, the marshy tundras and icy expanses of polar regions, and the deep jungles and rain forests of the tropics are all near-blank spots on the world's population map.

Yet many of the most inhospitable regions have begun to show signs of life in recent years as man has reached out for more living room, more raw materials, and distant points at which to plant bases for far-flung air and sea lines.

New oil towns — equipped with modern housing, schools, and air-conditioning plants — have sprung up, for instance, in once empty deserts of Saudi Arabia and other Near East lands. Deep in the green jungles of the Amazon headwaters of South America, smoke curls up from pioneer iron, copper, lead, and other mining operations.

Permanent weather posts and research stations dot Far North country from Alaska and Canada to the eastern shores of the Siberian Arctic.

The current International Geophysical Year, a program of scientific research and exploration in which more than 50 nations are taking part, will add much to knowledge of areas once considered too dry, wet, hot or cold to tempt settlement. A dozen nations have set up bases in Antarctica for history's greatest assault on that empty frozen continent.

OIL REFINERY AT HAVANA — Eventually, they hope the crude will flow out of Cuban wells. Confidential geological reports indicate huge reservoirs of black gold and big syndicates are being formed for new explorations.

No One Is Discouraged by Dry Wells as Oil Fever Grips Island of Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (NEA) — A violent epidemic of oil fever grips this huge, green, alligator-shaped Caribbean island.

Tough, big-pawed oil field hands from all over the world crowd Cuba's cheap, colorful, open-front bars swapping reports and rumors of big strikes and deep, dry holes. In the fancier bars where frozen daiquiris flow freely at a buck a throw, the talk among the New York financier types is all of big oil stock deals, confidential geological reports indicating huge reservoirs of black gold and of big syndicates being formed for new explorations.

Flying over Cuba's green-carpeted plains and hills you can spot the unnumerable tiny patches of cleared ground with the familiar drill rig in the center, surrounded by tiny sheds and trucks. Rough roads cut to these patches from the main highways.

The virus responsible for this oil fever was planted on May 1, 1954, when a wildcatter poked an ancient drill through salty crust formation in a south central section of the island. It drew Cuba's first oil from a sedimentary formation.

It's called the Jatibonico field and is estimated to contain about a million and a half barrels. This is a drop in the oil can compared to the estimated reserves in Iran or Venezuela.

But the significance of the strike is the fact that the type of oil that the Jatibonico field is producing — and its geology — indicates there is probably a lot more oil where that came from.

And the big hope, of course, is that Cuba will eventually become a world source of oil on the scale of Iran or Venezuela.

Ever since the May 1 strike, increasing millions of dollars worth of manpower and equipment have been thrown into the feverish search for the oil which is believed to exist in great abundance beneath Cuba. The past year, for example, close to a half a million feet of holes have been drilled.

When the closing of the Suez Canal interrupted the flow of oil from the Middle East a newly-frantic interest developed in oil prospecting here not equalled anywhere else in the world.

The fact that all of this expensive searching has not produced a major new strike since the Jatibonico discovery does not dampen the enthusiasm of the companies footing the bill, nor of the men in the fields who continue to drill dry holes.

Every new piece of geological information being discovered as a result of all this effort contributes to the belief of experts that huge reserves of oil do exist here.

These experts include the best geologists from Standard Oil of Indiana, Shell, Standard Oil of New Jersey and other of the world's top oil companies.

Practically all of Cuba and the off-shore areas have now been staked out by the big firms. The Cuban government has cooperated in this effort by creating a body of petroleum legislation favorable to the companies.

The experts point out that other major oil strikes around the world were preceded by the same extensive, costly and sometimes frustrating effort now being expended in Cuba.

A further indication of the confidence which all of the big oil firms have in the eventual discovery of huge oil reserves here is the construction by Shell, Esso and Texaco, this year of major new refineries here at a cost of nearly 100 million dollars.

At first the plants will refine the crude oil imported from the U. S. and elsewhere for the needs of the island. But eventually, it is hoped they will be refining Cuba's own crude.

Housewives' Union Fails to Get Support

SUPERIOR, Wis. (AP) — Two Superior men who attempted to organize a housewives' union have reported to Chief of Police Arthur Buchanan that they spent $50 on postage and supplies and failed to get a single application for membership.

The one dollar registration fee was to have entitled members to the privilege of sending two written grievances to a board of review.

Chief Buchanan said the woman who asked police to investigate the promotion scheme told him she, personally, wasn't interested in joining as she had been married 40 years and figured there was no point in "asking for a change in conditions at this late date."

Much Lumber Used

WASHINGTON — About 1,250,000 board feet of lumber—enough to build 125 average-size new homes—were used to construct the stands and other temporary structures near the White House and Capitol for the presidential inauguration.

Labor Must Clean House or All Be Smeared'—Carey

WASHINGTON (INS)—President James B. Carey of the AFL-CIO electrical workers declared today that organized labor must "clean house soon or we will all be smeared."

He denounced the racketeering element in the labor movement in the keynote address at a conference of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department on Administration of union health and welfare funds.

Carey is a member of the AFL-CIO Executive Council which will meet Friday to decide whether to take action against Teamsters' President Dave Beck for invoking the fifth amendment at Senate racket hearings. He did not refer to Beck or any other labor leader by name. However, Carey recalled testimony before the Senate committee that a special consultant for the health and welfare fund of the West Coast Teamsters had received $300,000 a year for his services.

The AFL-CIO leader added: "Let's be frank with one another. The plundering of health and welfare funds by phony labor leaders and their broker friends has apparently run into millions of dollars."

"Any union officer who misappropriates any union welfare money is a traitor to the labor movement. More than that, he is a traitor to humanity."

Carey recalled that the old CIO some years ago ousted the Communist element from its ranks, and said trade unions are now "in a life and death struggle against racketeers, crooks, thieves and gangsters..."

He said: "What comes out of this fight will determine the future of democratic unionism...

"For our own protection it is absolutely necessary that we denounce and renounce such characters pretty soon or we will pay a terrible price for permitting ourselves to be associated in the public eye with these phonies and criminals."

"I say this bluntly and indignantly. Either we clean house soon or we will all be smeared, either we rid ourselves of this contamination or the disease will corrupt the life blood of the entire labor movement."

Carey declared that for every crime brought to public attention there may be others "equally bad" that escaped disclosure.

He said he knew of one broker, in close connection "with some misguided union officer," who obtained $350,000 in commissions over a four-year period at a total premium amounting to $2,500,000.

The electrical workers president said he had heard recently of "one unscrupulous one-time union leader who quit the ranks of organized labor, turned broker and is now earning $40,000 a year."

He added: "There can be no justification for these vultures feeding off the hard-earned dues of working people."

Bob Considine Says:

Bettor Insists Beaters Are Better

NEW YORK (INS)—People . . . places . . . and radio plays . . . Pat Lynch, the New York Journal-American's crack racing editor, was accosted by a New York friend in the paddock at Gulfstream the other day.

"Pat, I like that horse over there in the next race," the guy said. "But I want to be sure about one thing. I like a jockey that beats a horse. Does this boy measure up?"

Pat scratched his Florida tan reflectively and answered, "Well, he beat his wife with a bottle last week. You got that much going for you . . ."

There's a wonderful group around New York called the Veterans' Hospital Radio Guild.

It has the memory of an elephant. It can remember 'way back to World War II and the Korean War, and recall that boys got hurt in those actions and still are lying in hospitals. Not too many remember such things.

The VHRG was started nearly a decade ago by a couple of warm-hearted show people named Jean Tighe and Carl Rigrod. It has 300 on its roster, including about 50 hard-core regulars.

VISIT HOSPITALS

They devote evenings and long weekends to visiting the nine vets' hospitals in the New York area, not so much to entertain but to fight through the cloying ennui and pain and persuade the men themselves to provide entertainment for other veterans.

They get the vets to put on shows, on tape, to be played later as boys call for them. They supply the equipment, scripts, directors and the tender patience.

They don't even have a station wagon in which to lug the necessary gear, but go by subway, bus, or walk. (P.S.—Anybody got an old wagon he's throwing away?)

Well, not too long ago a unit of the VHRG — after a hard day's work at regular jobs—made a long trip to a Brooklyn hospital and learned on arrival that the veterans there wanted to do "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial."

All were mental patients.

The special service officer okayed the request. Doubleday and Co. came through with permission to use the script free. A

Winner Certain to Be Brunette

All 7 Final Contestants for Mrs. Michigan Title Fit Description

DETROIT (P) — Whoever the winner is, "Mrs. Michigan" is bound to be a brunette housewife. The seven finalists chosen this week all fitted that description.

The Mrs. Michigan winner will be picked in competition next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in Detroit to compete in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., May 2-14, for the Mrs. America title. The Michigan finalists are:

Mrs. Mary A. Weitzel, 37, and Mrs. Charlotte D. Clark, 28, both of Detroit; Mrs. Beverly Jane Gordon, 28, Wyandotte; Mrs. Roberta Harper Lawrence, 37, Ann Arbor; Mrs. Nancy Gaines, 39, Grand Rapids; Mrs. Donna M. Holmstrom, 32, Muskegon, and Mrs. Anneliese Anderson, 30, Traverse City.

The seven will be judged on their performance in a variety of tests including supermarket shopping, ironing a shirt, sewing an apron, preparing a complete dinner for judging by five home economists on taste and appearance.

They will also appear on a television show where they will be interviewed, a test of appearance, poise and ability to express oneself. A perfect score would be 180 points.

Pad Filters Sound

NEW YORK — An ear pad has been developed that will block out high-frequency noises while still permitting the human voice to pass through, its manufacturer says.

EQUALED NOLAN

As the rough edges of the play were rehearsed away it became apparent that the psycho playing Queeg was giving a performance as good as Lloyd Nolan, who did it on the Broadway stage, or the late Humphrey Bogart, who graced the film version.

But the show was never recorded, for reasons perhaps unique in the annals of such endeavors. Just

surrounding next month's International Trade Fair.

If Toshio Ogatsu were caught doing 15 years ago what he's now doing in North Bergen, N. J., the FBI would have closed in with guns blazing. Toshio, a fine Japanese gentleman, is toying around with several tons of explosives at the International Fireworks Co.

He is in charge of the Japanese Export Trade Recovery Office's contributing to certain festivities surrounding next month's International Trade Fair.

There will be a 300-foot-high Niagara spectacular, Mt. Fuji erupting, a huge goldfish with waving tail, flags of 60 nations, vast peacocks strutting about and so forth.

The demonstration will be shot off from a barge in the Hudson at 190th street, April 15, and should afford Toshio an opportunity to write a glowing report home to his sons, who are the 13th generation of Ogatus in the firecracker business.

The Ogatsu people became Japan's biggest name in fireworks just 20 years before the birth of George Washington, whose fireworks were later to dazzle the British.

Urge 25-Foot Lots for Chicago Homes

CHICAGO — The Chicago Building Authority has been urged by George Ramsey, city building commissioner, to use the unwieldy 25-foot lots, pentiful in the city, as sites for single-family homes.

He designed and built on one such lot a three-bedroom, one-family residence for about $12,000 and moved his own family in to test it.

Ramsey contends such homes would not overcrowd schools, tax sewer and water lines, or require other extra facilities. The City is studying the plan to determine its workability.

Oklahoma Lady Guards Box Full of Lady Bugs

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Mrs. M. H. Bain had bags under her eyes today she could blame them on 240,000 lady bugs.

Her husband kept the insects in a box in the house until he could take them to his farm. Bain said the bugs were bought in Phoenix, Ariz., and were to be put in his alfalfa field to kill harmful insects.

Mrs. Bain said she checked the box frequently during the night to be sure none escaped.

Meet to Debate Merger

DETROIT (INS)—Officials of the Detroit and Wayne County Federation of Labor (AFL) and the Wayne County CIO Council were scheduled to meet today in another effort to work out plans for merging the two labor groups.
The AFL and CIO effected a top-level merger 16 months ago. The state groups have held only one previous meeting, in November, on the merger question.

Only Local Issue on April 1 Ballot

Voters to Decide Fate of Trial Board at Polls

The life of the 25-year-old Police Trial Board hangs in the balance April 1 when Pontiac voters go to the polls.

A move by the Pontiac Police Officers Assn. has placed the only local issue on the ballot for voters to decide upon in the statewide biennial spring balloting.

Briefly, the issue will decide whether the trial board should be eliminated and replaced by civil service for the police officers.

One-half of the original jurisdiction of the board, adopted April 7, 1932, was chopped off in 1939 when voters approved 3,990 to 2,667 to exempt city firemen.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans predicted a light turnout of around 6,000 for Monday's vote. In the 1955 biennial balloting, 10,393 voted. Association members last November began their drive to replace the trial board. They charge Police Chief Herbert W. Straley exercises undue influence over it, and that it lacks rules of procedure and discipline of officers.

The board's membership of which was increased to seven last December by the City Commission — denies the allegations.

Police officers hope to follow city firefighters and come under the State Civil Service Act for Firemen and Policemen. They have been under it for 16 years.

Officers say they will have more job security and the right to appeal disciplinary actions to the Circuit Court under civil service.

City commissioners in December refused to place the decision on the ballot by commission initiative. They said they would back the board because they had appointed its members.

Officers then circulated petitions after 90 of the department's 114 officers voted for the change. Twelve voted against the move and 12 did not vote.

The favorable approval of the issue, which will amend the City Charter, will establish a three-member board of civil service commissioners to handle "appointment, employment and promotion" of policemen, as well as firemen.

The change has the backing of the Pontiac Fire-fighters Assn., according to Herbert C. Cooley, police association president.

A second local issue slated for an April decision was pulled off the ballot by action of the City Commission. It was to allow a $300 maximum fine for violation of certain city ordinances.

Hassle Precedes Firing

Senate Refuses to Confirm Public Service Unit Head

LANSING (AP)—William R. Hart, former Saginaw mayor, has been fired as chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission through Senate refusal to confirm his appointment.

Hart, 41, had been serving from Jan. 9 when he was named by Gov. Williams.

Led by majority Republicans, the Senate gave Hart only 12 favorable votes on a motion to confirm, five short of the number required. Fourteen senators opposed him. Four, all Republicans, passed their vote.

Sen. Edward F. Hutchinson (R-Fennville), Senate business committee chairman, said his group could not endorse Hart because he lacked a statutory qualification for the job.

Hutchinson said that at the time of his appointment, and until last week, Hart served simultaneously as chairman of the Saginaw County Democratic Committee. The statute prohibits dual service in a political party capacity.

Sen. Clarence F. Greabner (R-Saginaw), who represents the district in which Hart resides, said the appointment was personally objectionable, and that Hart had "no qualifications for the job."

The appointee was warmly defended by Sens. George C. Stech (D-Mt. Clemens) and Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit). Sens. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) and Charles O. Feenstra (R-Grand Rapids) said they heard he was doing a good job.

Nichols voted for confirmation. Feenstra passed his vote. Besides serving as mayor, Hart also was a Saginaw councilman for several years and was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Congress last November. He is an attorney.

Political Parties Hit Low Ebb

Personalities Dominate Election, Says Feikens to Ann Arbor Audience

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The former chairman of the Republican party in Michigan says he believes political parties have hit a low ebb in influence over the voter.

John Feikens, who retired last month as state GOP leader, said Tuesday night that personalities now dominate politics.

He was speaking before the University of Michigan chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

He cited the last election and the overwhelming majorities scored by President Eisenhower and Governor Williams.

"Political parties, by their trend to partisanship, are losing out," Feikens said. "The big city organizations took a clobbering in the last election and are on the way out."

Feikens told the Michigan audience that the Democrats seem to have more dynamic personalities than the Republicans.

"I shudder when I think about all the young Democratic governors such as Governor Williams," he said.

Feikens explained that Wayne county, a traditional Democratic stronghold, is a "more issue-type oriented group" which can survive. The only thing that can defeat strong individual charm is an issue, Feikens said.

Feikens urged mutual action between public administrators and politicians. He said such a policy would result in greater understanding for the voter.

Feikens said the Republican party would have more direct control over its county chairman if they were picked by delegates to the state convention. The present system calls for selection of county delegates by county conventions.

Youth Assists Sheriff by Finding Stolen Goods

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Donald Mabius, 12, is proving quite a help to the sheriff.

On his way home from an ice skating pond here, he spotted a safe in a ditch. He told his father, who notified the sheriff. Investigating, deputies found a sledge hammer apparently used to burglarize the safe.

Almost in the same spot on May 4, 1955, Donald found $629 worth of postage stamps and 1,676 blank money orders stolen from a nearby branch post office.

'Big 3' to Bypass Canal if Nasser Is Tough?

WASHINGTON (INS)—Official sources said today the Big Three have agreed on a plan to circumvent the Suez Canal if a satisfactory agreement cannot be reached with Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The strategy, according to the sources, is an American product and Britain and France have agreed completely with it.

Sources said this strategic plan was hammered out by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles during their conferences with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in Bermuda last week and French Premier Guy Mollet in Washington last month.

Although some practical details have not been completed, sources said the Big Three strategy follows these lines:

The only way to negotiate the Suez situation at this time is through United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold who returns from his Cairo talks with Nasser tomorrow.

If Nasser's counterproposals for running the canal are not too far away from the United Nations principles and ideas of the western powers, then the Big Three will attempt through Hammarskjold to soften the Egyptian position.

However, if Nasser completely rejects the idea of insulating the canal from the politics of all nations and turns down the western proposal for running the canal by splitting tolls with the U.N., then the three allies will allow their ships to use the canal on Nasser's conditions.

But the Big Three will then immediately rush plans to reduce Western Europe's dependence on the waterway. These plans include:

1. Build a gigantic pipeline network through friendly Mid-East countries to bypass the canal.
2. Speed up construction of giant tankers which would pass around the continent of Africa instead of using the waterway.

3. Develop atomic energy plants in Western Europe on a "crash" basis to reduce the amount of oil fuel needed.

The three western countries have reluctantly concluded that they cannot boycott the canal regardless of what Nasser does. U.S. and French shippers would probably register their vessels under other flags to escape government restrictions and Britain alone could not maintain a boycott of the canal. The tactical details for this grand strategy will be worked out, sources said, after Nasser's intentions are reported by Hammarskjold to the Big Three when he returns to New York.

Can't Smell Gas Fumes, They're 32 Miles Off

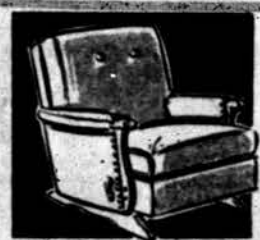

DELAFIELD, Wis. (AP)—The local fire ladders would have saved themselves time if they'd made their last telephone call first. They spent hours answering frantic calls from various parts of the community each reporting a strong smell of gas. Finally the frustrated firemen, finding no trace of a leak, called the gas company. Yes, they were told, there was a break in a pipeline. But it was 32 miles away as the wind blew.

ATTENTION PLEASE!

Will the man who gave his name to a Waterford Township Police Officer concerning an auto accident on Friday, December 30, 1955, at 2:00 p. m., corner of Telegraph and Elizabeth Lake Rd., please reply to Raymond Brown, c/o Box No. 31, Pontiac Press.

Accolades Honestly Won

Oscar No Easy Triumph for Top Stars Ingrid, Yul

By LEE BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Ingrid Bergman, Hollywood's prodigal daughter, realized a supreme triumph last night when she won moviedom's highest accolade seven long years after her torrid romance with Roberto Rossellini echoed around the world.

The tall blonde Swedish actress heard the good news in her suite at the Hotel Raphael in Paris. The time was 8 a.m. for Ingrid, the winning of her second Oscar (the first was for "Gaslight" in 1944) meant a great deal more than just another golden statuette to decorate an Italian masterpiece.

It meant a sentimental and moral victory over those who castigated and denounced her for her fateful love affair with the Italian film director that resulted in the out-of-wedlock birth in 1950 of her son, Roberto.

The 40-year-old star, who is performing in the stage play "Tea and Sympathy" in Paris, once said she never would return to the United States. But just two months ago she made her first trip back in seven years to accept the New York Film Critics Award.

She was so joyously received at the time that she said she may "some day" return to Hollywood "if there's a film I must do that requires an American background."

CONDEMNATION HURT

As a result of the Rossellini affair and the public condemnation that followed, the actress reached a depth of desperation from which she has only recently emerged.

In her darkest hours she was haunted and hounded by the curious, denounced by ministers of the gospel, condemned by women's organizations and abused by her one-time friends.

"I didn't know how much I could take," she confessed. "If people had been deliberately trying to drive me crazy, they couldn't have done a better job."

From an adored and worshipped movie queen, Ingrid Bergman plummeted into a sea of degradation, bitterness and anguish. No public figure ever had been so pilloried or so tormented.

KEPT FAITH

Through it all, she kept her faith—in herself, in her husband, in her children and in her great talent.

And through her talent she has risen again to the dizzying heights of public acclaim.

As for Hollywood, it was by turns shocked, sympathetic and critical of her trek down the primrose path. But it never stopped loving her.

When told of her victory, Gregory Peck, one of her ex-leading men, reflected the opinion of many in the film industry when he said: "She gave an excellent performance. Her personal life is none of my business. I have great affection for her and I respect her professionally for her acting ability."

And Director Mervyn LeRoy declared: "She is a great actress with a great heart. She never should have been persecuted the way she was. 'Every human being—it they are human—makes mistakes.'"

(Tomorrow: Ingrid bloomed into acting career despite family objections.)

Students 'Big Business' for MSU Area Stores

EAST LANSING (AP)—Students at Michigan State University spend nearly 12 million dollars a year in nearby communities, the MSU Bureau of Business Research calculated today.

The survey estimated the average student has about $51 a month in spending money after he pays for his room, board, tuition and books.

Based on last fall's enrollment of 19,125 students, this adds up to $975,375 a month in spending money or more than $11,700,000 a year, the bureau said.

(Here is the first of three articles on the new "King of Hollywood," Yul Brynner, who won the Academy Award for his role in "The King and I." This article describes the regal aura which has surrounded his stage and film career in America, but which was only a dream in his lean early years of show business apprenticeship.)

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The crown of the new "King of Hollywood" rests on a head which is very bald, but very happy today.

The presentation of the Academy Award to Yul Brynner for being the best actor of 1956 was a tribute to one who has worn many diadems in stage and screen roles, but the "Oscar" was the climax to all the crowns and accolades.

"The Oscar means the most to me because it was given by a vote of the professionals in show business," Brynner said. "You can't fool them. They know."

His triumph was the direct result of portraying the fierce majesty of the King of Siam in "The King and I," but also resulted from an American stage and screen career which has been kingly almost all the way through.

STARTED ON BROADWAY

The 41-year-old, athletic and slightly imperious actor was first introduced to the rich trappings of stage royalty when he played the part of a prince as co-star with Mary Martin in "Lute Song" on Broadway.

Then came his smash success as the brawny, fiery monarch in "The King and I" on Broadway, a role he filled four years.

Hollywood Producer Cecil B. De Mille saw Brynner on the New York stage in 1933 and was so impressed with his regal authority that he turned to his secretary and said, "I have seen a king."

De Mille installed Brynner as the majestic pharaoh "Rameses the Great" in the motion picture "The Ten Commandments," where he represented the might of empire, as opposed to the might of God, represented by Charlton Heston, who played Moses.

In Brynner's latest film, "Anastasia," his rank is no higher than that of a general, but he hobnobs with royalty and wins the hand of the Princess Anastasia, played by Ingrid Bergman.

NOT ALWAYS ROYAL

But it was not always royal for Brynner, in private life or show business. His early life was as exotic as some of the roles he has brought to life, but not nearly as plush.

He was born in 1916 on the northern Japanese island of Sakhalin, the son of a Mongolian father, Boris Brynner, and a Roman gypsy mother. He was reared in Paris by his maternal grandmother and broke into show business very modestly at the age of 13 by singing in bars for tips.

Soon he joined a band of singing trapeze artists, but tired of it and joined a circus troupe to perform on the flying trapeze.

ENDED CIRCUS DAYS

A near-fatal fall ended his circus days, but he had made up his mind that show business was his life, and he went into apprenticeship—without pay—with a French theatrical company. He continued singing in night clubs to support himself.

Rejected by the French army because of the effects of his circus fall, he went to visit his father in Peiping in 1940. There he might indeed have lived like a king because his father had become a very wealthy merchant.

But Brynner heeded the call of the stage and went to America, where he soon became a citizen. He worked for the U.S. Office of War Information during World War II and in 1943 plunged into television, eventually becoming a highly paid director.

Then came his stage and movie successes; and his swift rise as make-believe royalty prompted his valet to wisecrack:

"First you were a prince, then you became a king. Next you'll be a god and then you'll retire."

(Next: "All my life has been a struggle," Brynner says.)

Company Ruled Unfair in Worker's Dismissal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A National Labor Relations Board examiner says the Grand Rapids Plating Co. Inc. used unfair labor practices in discouraging membership in the United Auto Workers' Union.

Trial examiner A. Bruce Hunt said in announcing his finding yesterday, that the firm fired Robert Suttrop on June 21, 1956 because of Suttrop's union membership and activities.

Hunt recommended to the NLRB that the firm reinstate Suttrop and reimburse him for loss of earnings.

The plant employs 160 employees. The UAW started a campaign to organize the workers in May of 1956.

House Seeks Budget Cuts; Considers Tax Extension

WASHINGTON (INS) — The House prepared new attempts today to cut President Eisenhower's budget and at the same time vote a 15-month extension of corporate and excise taxes.

The excise tax bill cleared the Senate yesterday. The House previously passed a similar bill but it extended the taxes only for another year.

However, House leaders are understood to be willing to vote the Senate version so the bill can be rushed to the President for his signature before the taxes expire Sunday night.

Meanwhile, a Republican-Southern Democratic coalition prepared to slice more chunks from President Eisenhower's requests to run the labor and welfare agencies, even though the President criticized their zealous trimming as "fatuous and foolish."

Rep. John Fogarty (D-RI) noting that nearly all Republican members were voting for the cuts told them: "Either you are deserting the President and his cabinet or else he is deserting you."

The economy bloc not only is ignoring the President but its own appropriations committee in cutting the budgets for the two huge departments.

In two days the House has failed to finish even the labor department part of the bill as the economy group insisted on taking something out of every section.

The President asked for just under 400 million dollars for the labor department and related agencies. Last week, the appropriations committee cut this by more than 21 million dollars. So far the House has taken off another 15 million.

The request for the welfare department totaled more than two and one-half billion dollars. The committee cut 100 million dollars from this.

Most of the money cut from the labor department came out of the bureau of employment security, which administers the unemployment compensation program.

Fogarty who is in charge of getting the committee bill through the House called the economy bloc cuts "phony" and warned Congress will only be forced to put up the money later if the cuts stay in.

Jet-Atomic U. S. Navy Guards 5,000 Miles of Shoreline

(This is the second of three articles in which the civilian secretaries of the armed forces report to the American people on the role of the Army, Navy and Air Force in the U.S. policy of preserving peace through strength.)

By SECRETARY OF THE NAVY CHARLES S. THOMAS
WASHINGTON (INS) — In this jet-atomic era, the sun never sets on our far-flung United States Navy.

At this very moment, our ships are in every corner of the globe, serving the cause of peace, helping to prevent the outbreak of war, showing our American flag and representing the ideal of freedom it stands for to many lands and many climes.

Our Seventh Fleet guards the far Pacific from the Japanese sea to the South China sea. Over its shoulder, it keeps a watchful vigil over the narrow Straits of Formosa.

At the South Pole, a small group of American ships is working hard preparing for this year's international geophysical year. In the Philippines, in Hawaii, in the south and north Atlantic and in the Caribbean are groups of American ships.

PEACE BULWARK

In the Mediterranean, our powerful Sixth Fleet is a bulwark for peace in that troubled area. In the Persian Gulf, American ships are likewise stationed.

The purpose of these far-flung fleets is as unchanged today as it was one hundred eighty years ago: The American Navy's only reason for existence is to control the seas; to use them for our purposes and in case of war to deny their use to any enemy.

The importance and place of our Navy today for the maintenance of peace and the defense of the free world can be described by a few key words:

ENCIRCLE GLOBE

First, it is an operating, sea-going Navy. As I said earlier, our fleet encircles the globe today.

Second, it is a ready Navy. This instant-readiness was dramatically demonstrated during the recent Suez crisis when the bulk of our fighting Navy put to sea in a few hours time. Our Navy is ready now to carry out any mission that it is given.

Third, it is a versatile and flexible Navy, capable of performing many tasks in many areas. It is not a one-weapon, one-war, one-strategy navy. It can be used for as simple a purpose as evacuation, as was the case during the recent hostilities in the Middle East.

DETERS WAR

It can be used for deterring war, as has been the case for several years in the Formosa Straits. It can be used in limited wars, as was the case in Korea. In short, our Navy is essential in any type of war whether it be small or large, local or global, conventional or atomic.

Fourth, it is a mobile navy. It can move to any area of the globe in a very short time. One part of a fleet can augment and strengthen another. Fleets can concentrate or disperse.

Fifth, it is a progressive and forward-looking navy. It has an imaginative and bold research program which is designed to maintain our supremacy at sea against all threats. Our Navy, for example, leads in exploration of Antarctica. It has a predominant role in "Vanguard," the launching of the earth satellite. Our Navy is the world's leader in upper air research and oceanic research, both of which are vital to the future of our country. The Navy has pioneered in nuclear propulsion.

MODERN NAVY

Finally, it is a modern navy. It is adapting itself as rapidly as possible to the newest and most modern weapons: Missiles, atomic power, jet aircraft and nuclear weapons.

The backbone of the American Navy is the aircraft carrier which we like to call a mobile airbase, for that is exactly what it is: A moving airfield at sea which has all the things a land-based airfield has plus mobility. It has two runways, hangars, maintenance facilities, storage and supply facilities, and personnel accommodations. It can carry nearly a hundred of the most advanced high-performance aircraft.

In conclusion, the value and need of a modern and adequate and ready Navy can perhaps best be understood if one imagines the shoe on the other foot. Consider our plight if the United States had no Navy and no seapower, while a potential enemy had our Navy.

In this unhappy situation, the United States would be isolated completely. Our almost 5,000 miles of coastline would lay exposed to amphibious attack. Our coastal and inland cities would be exposed to either carrier aircraft attack or missile bombardment.

Our citizens working and traveling overseas, our investments abroad, our transoceanic bases, our armed forces stationed in other lands—all these would be isolated and cut off. We would be doomed to fight every battle over and on our own homeland—something we have never had to do before. (Next: The U.S. Air Force)

Can't Cite Engineer as Reckless Driver

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—A railroad engineer can't be cited for careless driving of a locomotive in Cheyenne.

That's what Municipal Judge Maxwell Osborn ruled in dismissing a careless driving charge against John Elliott and F. H. Singleton, engineer and conductor of a train which had collided with an automobile.

An attorney for the railroad men argued that the city ordinance on careless driving applies only to "vehicles" and cited another statute which specifically exempts locomotives from being classed as "vehicles."

Australian Car Plant to Employ Automation

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—A new $22,250,000 British Motor Corporation factory being built at Sydney will use automation in the manufacture and assembly of automobiles.

Company officials said that when the factory begins operation about the middle of 1957 the manufacture of cylinder blocks will be done entirely by automation.

Propose Study of Townships

Group Would Suggest Changes in Laws for Growing Areas

LANSING (AP) — The legislature has been asked to set up a special study group to cope with the problems of townships, particularly those in metropolitan areas which recently have experienced great population growth.

An interim committee of five Senate and five House members was proposed for the job yesterday in a resolution filed by Sen. Haskell L. Nichols of Jackson and Elmer R. Porter of Blissfield, both Republicans.

The committee would, along with other chores, prepare a recommended reorganization of laws governing townships. The basic statutes in this area date from 1846.

Porter and Nichols observed that townships adjoining metropolitan centers face steadily increasing demands for services that were not contemplated when the main body of township law was written.

In a second proposed resolution, Sen. Robert E. Faulkner (R-Columbia) urged that bills be evaluated by lawmakers with a view to their effect on the business climate of the state.

He called on the legislature to ask the governor to instruct department heads in the executive branch to do likewise in their discretionary actions and in promulgating administrative rules.

Faulkner said it is "critically important for the state to maintain a good climate for business and industrial growth."

Hold Village Marshal, Allege Statutory Rape

ITHACA (AP) — Edwin Severy, 26, village marshal of Pewamoo in Ionia County, was arraigned in Ithaca justice court yesterday on a charge of statutory rape involving a 15-year-old girl.

Severy demanded examination. Justice of the Peace B. L. Case set April 3 for examination.

Severy was held in the Gratiot County Jail here in lieu of $3,000 bond.

Fast-Growing Areas Benefit Would Alter Tax Rebates

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's fastest growing communities would come in for a bigger share of sales tax money under a bill introduced into the legislature yesterday.

Its sponsor is Rep. John T. Bowman (D-Roseville), who contends his district, Macomb County, is proportionately the fastest growing county in the nation.

Bowman said his plan would affect about 70 municipalities which have suffered most because the sales tax rebate system is based on the 1950 federal census. Some cities are as much as four times larger, than they were seven years ago but still are getting sales tax rebates for their 1950 population, he pointed out.

Here's how Bowman's plan would operate:

Officials in any burgeoning community could order a special census to be paid for by the local government. If the census comes up by at least 20 per cent since the official 1950 census, the community would qualify for a rebate.

The amount would be determined by multiplying the per capita rebate made by the state to local governments by the number of residents over and above the 20 per cent increase.

Payment would be made from an allocation from the state's general fund.

Bowman, who submitted similar measures without success in 1955 and 1956, said many growing communities find it difficult to maintain adequate police and fire protection and provide other public services because they don't have funds to keep pace with growing populations.

Detroit Bar Robbed; Police Nab 2 Suspects

DETROIT (INS) — A Detroit bar was robbed of more than $700 today by two gunmen who were in such a hurry they overlooked nearly $11,000 in a backroom safe.

Two suspects were arrested by police less than 30 minutes later. A pistol and $776 was found on one of the men. They are Llevan Washington, 29, and Mickel Hites Jr., 25.

George Schultz, 50, owner of the bar, said the bandits entered the establishment shortly before closing time.

About 65 per cent of all upholstery leather produced in the United States is used in automobiles.

Senate OKs Bill to Extend Taxes

Expect House Action on 15-Month Provision in Today's Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Only House acceptance of a Senate amendment was needed today to complete action on a bill to extend three billion dollars of annual business taxes to July 1, 1958.

The House was expected to act during the day to accept the 15-month extension voted by the Senate rather than the one-year limit it had passed. The administration has approved the 15-month provision.

President Eisenhower must sign the bill into the law by Sunday or the rates on corporation income and excise taxes will drop automatically Monday.

The Senate passed the bill by voice vote late yesterday after seven hours of debate in which all attempts to add special relief provisions were beaten.

The moves which got the most support were designed to aid small business. Although they lost, advocates of such relief said today they believed the debate had advanced their cause and that some tax benefits for little businessmen might well be enacted this session.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), chairman of the Senate Small Business Committee, told a reporter, "I feel we have made tremendous progress."

Sen. Thye (R-Minn.), senior Republican on the Small Business Committee, said in a separate interview he had been assured by the White House and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey an effort would be made to send up some small business relief proposals this year.

The Senate passed a 15-month extension of the taxes so that Congress would have more time to consider the matter in the 1958 session. Eisenhower had asked a year's extension.

The bill continues the top corporation income tax rate at 52 per cent, instead of the 47 to which it would drop Monday, and keeps in effect the present excise levies on autos, auto parts and accessories, cigarettes, liquor, wines and beer.

In addition to rejecting relief for small business, the Senate defeated proposals to cut the depletion allowance on oil and gas income, and moves to eliminate the 3 per cent excise tax on freight and the 10 per cent levies on passenger fares and domestic furs.

Hikes Teachers Pay

CHEBOYGAN (AP)—The Board of Education has increased teaching salaries for next year by $200. The range will be $3,750 to $4,900 for degree teachers, depending on the time taught in the Cheboygan system.

John Knight Eyeing Top Spot Via Senate?

By JOE HAAS

MIAMI, Fla.—Florida in general, and the Miami area in particular, are going after big things in a political way. Spurred on by the fact that Eisenhower carried the state, this city is making a bid for the 1960 Republican national convention, and has the auditorium to accommodate it in a satisfactory manner.

It is generally felt locally that John S. Knight has his eye on the presidency. The tone of his great Miami Herald is changing from one of support for the present administration to an extremely critical attitude.

The political dopesters point out that Knight can qualify to run for U. S. Senator, on quick notice, in any one of four states, Florida, Illinois, Michigan or Ohio, and use that as a steppingstone for the job.

Just now it appears most likely that he would oppose Potter in the Republican Michigan primaries next year, should Potter seek another term.

The fabulous Florida East Coast is closing its biggest winter season. This is especially true of that section below the frost line.

In the ultra-fabulous Miami and Miami Beach area, which quite rightfully lays claim to super tops in winter resorting, there were several times when the newspapers stated "there isn't a vacant room tonight."

The various hotel and motel agencies, whose function it is to find vacancies for latecomers, were sending people to Havana by air, to make the flight back the next day. A Detroit couple whom we met said they were commuters to Havana every night for two weeks, then rented a penthouse.

In the multi-billion hotel industry that faces, or nears, the ocean for upwards of 20 miles, the higher priced places often have vacancies, in spite of the fact that they've gone all out in expensive special attractions for the entertainment of their guests.

A typical case is the colossal Fontainebleau, where we spent a week last winter just to make a study of the system. 'Twas worth it, although their service is so good it gets painful and monotonous, and our bankers have been shaking their heads at us ever since.

Now starring at the Fontainebleau is that highly controversial thumper of the piano keys, with his candelabra and brother George, dimples and infectious smile, and perennial talk about his love for his family—especially his Mom—backed up by the most energetic force of press agents that ever cluttered up a pay roll.

As his fame wanes, in spite of all efforts, he springs a new one—and I fall for it—in that his continuous manifestations of his family love, especially that for his mother, has done more to make him famous than anything he professes to be able to do with the black and white keys.

That's what has made him a sort of idol among middle-aged women in more nations than our own. Think it over.

FEWER HOTELS GOING UP
Inflated real estate values along the ocean are making radical changes in building. The number of topflight hotels erected the past year was much smaller than for several years past.

Very few now are under construction, and the number in the blueprint stage is practically nil. The change is to motels of one or two-story in height, and built more inland, on less expensive land, and where there is plenty of room for parking and landscaping. Dozens of them already are in operation, many with appointments and prices above that of most of the hotels.

A syndicate of New York, Detroit and Chicago capital announced plans this week to spend $30 millions on such motels in the Miami area this year. Their land options run over the $10 million mark.

Plugging for a year round business now is the prime objective of both hotel and motel resort owners here. Lower Florida's springs and autumn always are delightful, and the summer heat never is oppressive. The rates are about one-third of those in winter.

Miami's homestead tax exemption law, enacted to attract northerners here in its early days, now is having serious kickbacks. With a large part of the real estate tax free, a great burden is placed on other property.

This makes it difficult for the city to maintain a public improvement program quite essential to its progress. And one can imagine what would happen to an official who dared propose a repeal of the exemption law. 'Twould be political suicide.

Night spots, both in Miami and Miami Beach, make every effort to run along the same pattern as those in New York. Seating is by advance reservation in most places but many hang out signs that no reservation is necessary.

The spotlight night rendezvous run from nine o'clock until dawn, with the biggest crowds around midnight. Most of the shows are continuous, with the star artists appearing about every two hours.

The variety of people we meet on a trip like this runs the complete social gamut, from the run-of-the-mine individuals, like ourselves, to those who'd have you think they are quite extraordinary.

A typical example was the couple from Baltimore, next to us at Key West for one day. They were in a terrible hurry, "because his business interests at home were so heavy and would be headed for the dogs if he didn't get back soon."

However, as they drove away I noticed another reason—the Maryland license plate on their 1951 Cadillac said, "Exp. 3-31-57." Which reminded me that I have a deadline date with Uncle Sam on 4-15-57.

A former Oakland County girl, now employed in a Miami clearing house where such things are handled, tells me that the lower priced hotels and motels have less trouble with one feature of their business than those in the higher priced brackets—bouncing checks.

East coast areas are waging a war against phony realtors who subdivide swamps, of which Florida has more than any other state in our nation, and sell building lots in them to northerners, for his retirement, but couldn't find his lot. He says it was even too swampy for alligators—which too swampy for alligators—which who came here to build his home we have in Oakland county, you know.

Roller Skating Proves Popular With Airmen

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (U)—Roller skating and horseback riding have partially replaced those dreaded pushups in the basic training program at Lackland Air Force Base.

Under a new program, trainees can elect to spend 10 hours of the required 28 hours of physical training and calisthenics roller skating to the music of an organ at an air-conditioned rink or they can take a go at horseback riding.

The idea has been greeted enthusiastically by the airmen. "These boys go for it big," said

Heinie Mueller, civilian operator of the rink and stable. "Some of them are becoming marvelous skaters." Entire flights sometimes take their skating lessons together.

Mueller said the rink cost $200,000 and was completed Jan. 21. He said it was privately financed in return for a 10 year lease from the federal government.

The stable, with 41 horses saddled and ready to go, hasn't proved as popular as the roller skating rink.

"No business," said W. C. Taylor, as he surveyed the stable he manages for Mueller. "They all go skating."

Tuna Boat Sinks, Crew of 12 Saved

PANAMA (U)—The U.S. Caribbean Air Command's rescue center in the Canal Zone said today the tuna boat Helen S. of San Diego, Calif., sank in the Pacific off Panama yesterday. All 12 crewmen were rescued.

The first message received at the rescue center said the boat was sinking fast 50 miles southeast of Jicarita Island and that the crew was taking to a lifeboat.

Two planes sent from Albrook Air Force Base in the Canal Zone remained over the area until the tuna fishermen were picked up by another tuna boat, the Mary Joe out of San Pedro.

The speeding fine amounted to man was held up until he paid $59 and the balance included running a red light.

Underwater Camera Shoots 3 Miles Down

WASHINGTON — The Navy has developed an underwater camera that has a normal working depth

Boys Cast Aside Their School Books, Live Life of Huck Finn for Six Months

OKLAHOMA CITY (U) — While their parents thought they were in school every day, two young boys lived a Huckleberry Finn life for 6½ months "exploring and sitting" and watching the sky.

The heaven they built for themselves at their "secret" cave was shattered yesterday and they were to be enrolled in school today.

Police discovered Ora Lee Linville, 14, and his brother Jerry, 13, sitting beside a cheery camp fire in their cave yesterday morning. The cave, located in a creek bank near Southeast High School, was near a playground.

"We spent the mornings exploring," Ora said. "Then we'd build a camp fire and eat lunch. In the afternoons we'd just sit and watch the sky or the creek until school was out and then we'd go back home."

Sometimes they would hike into the country—if the day was warm. Their mother thought the boys had enrolled in school last September. They admitted it was a touch-and-go situation keeping mom and dad fooled.

"When mother asked for our report cards we told her we had lost them or that the school wouldn't give them to us until we paid a fee," Ora Lee said. The family moved here recently from Chickasha, Okla., and weren't familiar with the grade card system.

He said other things also had to be explained such as not bringing books home or not having any home work.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Linville, said the first time they knew the boys had not been at school was when a police car brought them home.

FROM CONGO TO THE CONGA — These three chimps, in a Parisian circus, give their interpretation of international affairs with this conga line. Chap at right wears the Stars and Stripes and British Union Jack to symbolize the Anglo-American alliance. Marienne, representing France, seems to be losing her mob cap and the Cossack-type fur cap of the leader, representing Russia, is also slipping.

Party Politics Prevents Action

Port Development Plan Has No Authority, Says Chairman Harlan

ALVINSTON, Ont. (U) — The Michigan state committee set up to control port development in the St. Lawrence Seaway Project is being hindered by party politics, C. Allen Harlan of Detroit, chairman of the committee, said last night.

Harlan came here to address the annual Easter seal banquet of the Rotary Club.

His subject was "This Changing World", which dealt mainly with the current struggle of North America to express itself culturally to the rest of the world.

Later, he said in an interview that his seaway committee "is still just a paper committee."

"I was appointed by the Governor of Michigan to head a committee to advise small towns and cities on the lake front of Michigan what to do and not to do regarding the seaway," he said.

"We planned to spend $50,000 in Detroit alone to figure out what expansion of port facilities is necessary."

"The Legislature, however, has not yet given us any authority to act. Party politics are involved. This means that although the Great Lakes will be on the map as an important seaway by 1939, the city of Detroit has not yet done a single thing to prepare for what is expected to be a tremendous boost in shipping."

Low Pay Sabotaging Health Aid?

Says Lab Tests Unreliable

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

AP Science Reporter

ST. LOUIS (U) — A high percentage of certain laboratory tests on your health are wrong or not good enough, a doctor declared today.

The test results partly and sometimes vitally influence the treatment your doctor then gives said Dr. Lewis Smith, a pathologist from Dallas, Tex.

The main reason for poor tests is very low pay usually given medical technologists — the doctor's helpers who run the vital laboratory tests, Dr. Smith told the American Academy of General Practice.

He said too many are paid less than secretaries or typists. The result is too few good technologists and insufficient training.

Dr. Smith said a national survey finds 14 per cent of medical technologists make less than $46 a week; 35 per cent get $58 to $70; 25 per cent $70 to $80; and only 8.5 per cent get more than $80.

Good standards demand a medical technologist have at least two years of college and at least one year of training in a special medical technology school, the doctor said.

Dr. Smith reported a three-state survey some years ago showed 42 to 62 per cent of tests for specific blood measurements were "not satisfactory" — outside the bounds of acceptable accuracy.

These included tests for anemia, for blood sugar, blood salts, for nitrogen in uremia or blood poisoning, and for blood plasma proteins.

Laboratory tests partly determine whether a doctor decides to give a blood transfusion—which can be costly and not without hazards—or start other treatments. Dr. Smith declared erroneous or not-too-accurate laboratory reports "can be responsible for a major number of prolongations of illness and some deaths."

WORLD'S BIGGEST: The Bingham open pit mine, 30 miles from Salt Lake City, produces 30 per cent of the nation's annual yield of newly mined copper and 10 per cent of the world's annual supply. There are 175 miles of railroad tracks on the various bench levels of the mine.

Utah's Copper Bowl--World's Largest Pit

BINGHAM, Utah (AP)—"Man," said the tourist, "Dig that crazy golf divot."

And crazy it was, man, for the tourist stood on the lip of the world's largest open pit copper mine, one and three-quarters miles across and 2,210 feet deep.

For the statistically minded: The mine produces more than 13 billion pounds of copper a year.

The mine has produced, in 51 years, enough copper to encircle the earth at the equator with a solid band one inch thick and more than two feet wide, or about 13 billion pounds.

The pit is so big engineers keep track of its changing face with aerial photographs.

If the bench levels were covered with bleachers, all the people in Utah and Texas could be seated comfortably.

The average grade of ore now being mined is only .82 per cent copper. Ore containing as little as .4 per cent copper is processed.

with material below that grade going to the dump heaps.

Sixty years ago such poor grade ore was considered useless. But Jackling developed a process for mining the low grade counts for more than 60 per cent of the world's copper production.

The mining process begins by blasting. More than six million pounds of dynamite are used in the pit each year.

Through a series of careful tests, engineers decide if the blasted material has enough copper to be worth processing.

Electric shovels load the material into side-dump railroad cars. The shovels weighing from 200 to 250 tons, load a 100-ton ore car in about seven minutes with dippers taking 10 to 14 tons of material at a bite.

If the material contains enough copper, it goes to the mills. If it doesn't it is hauled to the various outlying waste dumps.

The copper concentrate goes from the mills to a nearby smelter where anode copper is produced. The anodes contain 98 per cent copper.

From the smelter the anodes go to a refinery at Garfield, where the copper reaches 99.96 purity and is cast into marketable shapes and is sold to a variety of customers.

For the entire mine-to-refinery operation, the Utah Copper Division employs 6,300 men. During 1955, the expenses for payrolls, taxes, supplies, freight and other items totaled nearly $4 million, dollars—a major factor in the economy of Utah.

How long before the mine peters out? Well, that's a tough question to answer.

Kennecott is plowing millions of dollars back into research and new equipment in efforts to increase efficiency. The company says it has turned literally millions of tons of waste into ore, thus greatly lengthening the life of the mine.

U.S. to Restudy Chinese Trade

May Permit Partners to Relax Barriers on Non-Strategic Items

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is expected to restudy its policy of asking 'free world' partners to hold firm against non-strategic trade with Communist China.

Assurances that the United States would take a new look at the East-West trade question reportedly were given British leaders during the Bermuda conference between President Eisenhower and Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan.

But there still is reported to be strong sentiment among top U. S. officials against any relaxation of trade barriers with Communist China.

An authoritative source said that before any possible change is made in the current policy there would be consultations between the Eisenhower administration and congressional leaders.

Odor of Polish Strong, Alcohol Proves Stronger

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mrs. Alberta G. Reed, 38, of nearby Bridgeville, testified in Criminal Court yesterday at her drunken driving trial that she wasn't drunk when two patrolmen stopped her car.

Why, she said, the officers had not smelled liquor on her breath—they smelled a "heavy" coat of nail polish she had applied about an hour before being involved in a minor accident.

The arresting officers were asked to smell a bottle of nail polish and whether it had the odor they sniffed when they arrested Mrs. Reed. Both replied negatively. Mrs. Reed was convicted and fined $200.

Cabbie Gives Back Purse With $2,000

NEW YORK (AP)—An honest taxi cab driver is $100 richer today, and a California woman feels she is a good judge of character.

Mrs. Alice M. Morris of Los Angeles left her purse containing $2,000 in the cab driven by Louis Firester, 43, Brooklyn.

Firester took the purse to a police station and Mrs. Morris was located at a hotel.

Arriving at the station house, Mrs. Morris said: "I knew that the bag would be returned because the cab driver had an honest face."

She gave Firester two $50 bills.

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—An access street off the Ventura-Ojai Freeway needed a name. City Engineer Edward J. Sheehy told the City Council there was room on the map for a short name only.

The Council deliberated, came up with Rex St., approved it by voice vote.

Police Force Has Klink

HAMILTON AFB, Calif. (AP)—A new member of the Hamilton AFB air police force is Sgt. Joseph C. Klink.

Finds Missing Garage; Brother-in-Law Took It

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Reynolds have found their missing garage.

Reynolds reported his two-car garage stolen Tuesday. Andrew

Todd, Mrs. Reynolds' brother, said he had understood Reynolds to say he could have the garage if he paid the moving bill.

Reynolds returned from work to find the structure gone. Todd said yesterday he sent over some men to dismantle the garage and move it. He said he'd foot the bill.

WHERE WRIGLEY'S USE TO BE

Philadelphia OKs Portrait of Former Mayor Clark

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — They're going to hang that disputed portrait of Sen. Joseph S. Clark among the familiar faces of other Philadelphia mayors after all.

The painting has had a dubious status since March 16.

That was when it was delivered to Mayor Richardson Dilworth's reception room and some of the mayor's official family and a smattering of art experts got first peek at the work of the sometimes unorthodox Franklin C. Watkins.

An "Oh, my God" was wrung from Dilworth as he gazed glassily at what associates told him was a likeness of his long-time friend and Democratic colleague, elected senator last fall after four years as mayor of Philadelphia.

Others were anguished too, and there was an outcry that "It ain't so much like Joe as it's like Hamlet." That impression was created by the pose, as dissimilar to the usual picture of an illustrious ex-mayor as a bust of Mozart is unlike the craggy contours of Casey Stengel. "It isn't traditional," cried the critics, pointing to the folded arms, the downcast eyes.

"That's the way I saw him," asserted artist Watkins, "and that's the way I painted him." Clark himself, said, "I am content with it."

Watkins had his champions as well as his deriders, but neither their voices nor Clark's own sentiments were strong enough to keep the portrait from being turned with its face to the wall. Later, however, there was some relenting and the portrait was placed in what was described merely as "a temporary location."

Watkins, paid $2,000 for his work, yesterday offered to take back the portrait but only "to save the Philadelphia Art Commission embarrassment." But the commission said, no, adding that if anybody had been embarrassed it wasn't the commission.

"If I were engaged to do it again," Watkins made clear, "I would use the same approach." The commission agreed and adopted a resolution reaffirming its approval of the painting.

All that remains is for the commission, which is held responsible for such matters, to pick a permanent spot for the portrait in the gallery of mayors from colonial times onward. And to soothe the outraged sensibilities of the painting's detractors.

The Danish West Indies, now known as the Virgin Islands, were ceded by Denmark to the United States in 1916 for 25 million dollars.

Blonde Hears Facts on Frying of Eggs

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A 19-year-old blonde arrested in an apartment with two men on bank robbery charges said she didn't know the meaning of "aiding and abetting."

U. S. Commissioner C. O. Lindquist explained that the charge would apply "even if all you did was fry an egg" for the bank robbers.

Wool Output Gains

AUCKLAND — New Zealand's wool clip for 1956 represented 10 per cent of the world's total output, compared with 8 per cent before World War II.

Roller Skating Depicted on Stamps of 2 Nations

NEW YORK — Roller skating has been depicted on stamps only three times: a 1953 issue by the day Republic of San Marino and two 1952 Portuguese stamps.

The San Marino stamp shows a girl skating on a rink against a mountain background; the Portuguese depict men playing roller hockey.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Elbridge Durbrow, new American ambassador to South Viet Nam, left last night to assume his new post.

Repents After 25 Years

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mrs. Alfred Davies said she got a $50 gift certificate, good at the John Wanamaker department store, in the mail. With it was a note from a person who took the money from her purse 25 years ago while she worked in the store's shoe department.

Know the Fish Before Starting to Cook It

Although the flavor, texture, appearance and size of fish varies according to the variety, the basic rules for fish cookery are few, and easy to follow.

Cook fish at low temperatures just long enough so it flakes easily and falls away from any bones. This helps keep fish moist, and brings out its delicate flavor.

As a rule, fat fish, such as salmon, white fish, and lake trout are most desirable for baking and broiling, because their fat will keep them from becoming dry.

Lean fish, such as cod, halibut, perch, haddock and pike are preferred by some for poaching and steaming, an excellent way of preparing lean fish is to wrap it in aluminum foil and bake it for 30 minutes at 350 degrees. It leaves no fish odor, and the moisture is sealed in, so basting is not necessary. Lean fish can be baked open if basted frequently.

Both lean and fat fish are well suited for frying.

It Looks Like Spring

A tasty before-dinner drink in the non-alcoholic category can be made as follows: To four cups chilled apple juice add two tablespoons lime juice. Pour into glasses; garnish each with lime slice. Yields six to eight servings.

PEAR CARDINAL — Fruit continues to be more popular as a dessert all the time. In the above picture ripe, fresh Anjou pears have been poached in a vanilla syrup. The crimson sauce poured over the top has a dash of lemon juice and maraschino cherry juice or grenadine syrup for an unusual flavor.

Poach Pears in Syrup; Top With Crimson Sauce

There is many a recipe served to Queen Elizabeth but among the few she has chosen as her favorites is a dessert featuring fresh pears and known as Pear Cardinal. The original recipe had a very complicated and detailed method of preparation so for simplicity's sake, and for the sake of the unassisted homemaker of today, the recipe has been simplified though still retaining the original idea and basic flavors.

Ripe, fresh Anjou pears are ideal for a dessert of this type. Pared and poached in a vanilla syrup. Anjous become evenly tender and creamy white. They hold their shape well and unlike other fruit, do not become mushy as they cook. Pears are picked before they are fully ripe so that the texture can mature gradually and become smooth and free from grit cells.

Pear Cardinal takes its name from the crimson sauce that is poured over the top. It is a combination of fruit-flavored red jelly as a base, with a dash of lemon juice for tartness and maraschino cherry juice or grenadine syrup for an unusual subtle flavor. The complete dessert, comprising a delicately flavored Anjou pear topped with Cardinal sauce, is a work of art—with most of the work taken out of it. Served chilled, each one complete on your finest dessert plates and accompanied by a dish of sour cream, you will be chosen Queen for an evening among your family and your guests.

PEAR CARDINAL
3-4 fresh Anjou pears
2 cups water
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
Sauce
1 cup or 12 oz. jar strawberry or other red jelly
1 tablespoon 1 min. juice
1 tablespoon maraschino cherry juice or grenadine syrup
Peel pears, leaving stem on. In shallow saucepan, mix together water, sugar, vanilla and salt. Heat to boiling point; add whole pears and simmer 20-25 minutes or until pears are tender. Turn pears occasionally in syrup holding by stem. Remove from heat and let pears cool in syrup. Chill.

Prepare sauce by heating jelly, lemon juice and maraschino cherry juice or grenadine syrup in top of double boiler over boiling water. Heat until smooth; stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and chill.

To serve, place on pear upright in each serving dish. Spoon sauce over top and serve with sour cream. Serves 5 or 6.

Ham 'n' Cranberry Mix

Brown slices of boiled ham slightly in skillet. Place a slice of ham on each slice of buttered toast. Top with a slice of cranberry sauce. Sprinkle grated sharp American cheese over all. Arrange on broiler pan. Place under broiler to melt cheese. Serve immediately.

CORN MEAL BISCUITS

CORN MEAL BISCUITS

Yield: 12 biscuits

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2¼ teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup yellow corn meal
¼ cup shortening
¾ cup milk

Sift together flour, Baking Powder, and salt into a mixing bowl. Blend in corn meal. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk all at once. Stir lightly with a fork, just enough to moisten all the flour. Knead gently about ¼ minute on lightly floured board. Roll dough ¼ inch thick. Cut with 2-inch cutter. Place on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in a 450° F. (very hot) oven 12 to 15 minutes.

Serve Breakfast Egnog

Here's an idea for those people who have little appetite at breakfast time—the ones who fade before lunch! First, a glass of fruit juice, then a delicious and energizing egnog—goes down easy! For each serving add 2 teaspoons real New Orleans molasses and 1 cup of milk and there's breakfast-in-a-glass, rich in the one vital element—iron—that milk lacks, but that molasses has to give.

Egg White Is Base of Gingerbread Trim

Mock whipped cream makes a good topping for spicy gingerbread. Beat one egg white at high speed until foamy, and gradually add 1-3 cup sugar and the juice of one lemon. Beat until stiff. While beating, slice one large ripe banana and add it to the egg white mixture. Beat until it stands in peaks.

Decide Banana Use by Stage of Ripeness

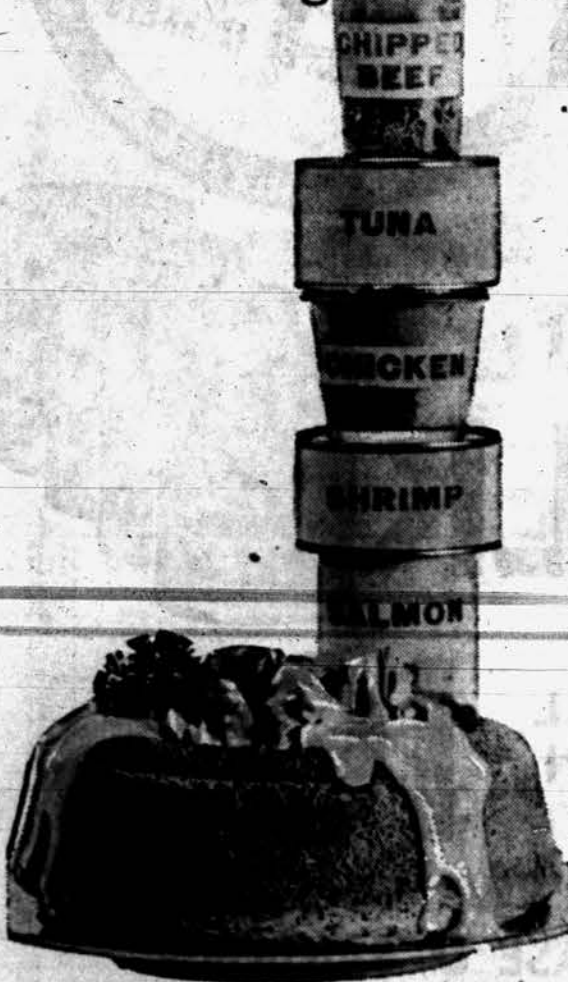

Reasonable prices and excellent quality describes the good supplies of bananas in local markets. Add bananas to the fruit bowl and use them at any meal.

If bananas are tipped with green they are just right for baking whole. If they are golden yellow, they are good to peel and eat or use in cakes and breads. Brown flecked skin indicates that bananas are fully ripe, really best for eating.

If bananas are green tipped when bought, try this suggestion made by the Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Ripen them quickly by leaving them in a tightly closed bag at room temperature.

Put your pet filling in a Flakorn Ring-A-Round and make a hearty meal...

You'll never believe what hearty elegance tuna, chicken, meat or seafood fillings can have until you try nesting them in a golden Flakorn corn bread ring. Quick and easy to prepare, it's a tempting 1-dish dinner you can mix in minutes.

But remember—ONLY Flakorn's exclusive 12 oz. pack gives you the extra-measure mix it takes to make the generous family-size servings you need.

For muffins, corn breads, casseroles, breakfast treats too—no other mix can make so much, so easy!

Frozen Foods and Mixes Make News Today

By JANET ODELL, Pontiac Press Home Editor

It's time again to talk about new foods that are appearing on the horizon. But before we mention anything specifically we should like to talk about one problem.

Usually we hear about new foods before they are on the grocers' shelves. Often we get samples. Sometimes we show a picture and give a recipe for the new product. At other times we merely mention it in an article like this.

Once or twice we have been disappointed that a sample we liked never turned up in the store. That was the case with Lemon Flake Cake. Saturday a reader called to say she couldn't find the macaroni mix we had recommended.

Independent grocers often will have the newer items before the chain stores do. We found the above macaroni mix in a neighborhood store, whereas the chain store we patronize did not have it. We think that grocers should know what we want to find in their stores. If enough people ask for any one item, any enterprising store man will stock it.

Last week we received a sample of a chocolate cake with chocolate bits in the mix. We have not had time to try this one. But watch for it. We believe it is scheduled for national appearance in April.

Have you noticed some of the new frozen food items? We think an earlier article mentioned the seafood mix that contains french fried scallops, fish fillets (fish and potato cakes), fish sticks, shrimp and sea clams. You may also buy a package of fish's chips, ready to heat and eat.

Another frozen mixture is a mixed fruit. This is a combination of peaches, sweet cherries, tart cherries, raspberries, boysenberries and white grapes. It is useful as a fruit cup, a topping for desserts or ice cream or as a salad, with or without gelatin.

O. FOR AN ARTICHOKE The new frozen food we're waiting for is the package of artichoke hearts. We learned to like them at the last Food Editors' conference. They're wonderful in a salad with french dressing. Our advance publicity suggests also serving them as a hot vegetable or fried crisp and brown. Natives of the lands around the Mediterranean Sea, these artichokes are now grown in California.

Those of you who have freezers should plan to restock meat at this time. With the unusually large supply of grain-fed beef in the stores, you should get some good buys.

By summer, beef will cost more. If you have stashed away some steaks for summer meals on the outdoor barbecue, you'll be patting yourself on the back. Some pork is also on the budget price list.

Don't forget that eggs are most abundant and cheapest right now.

Of course, one of the outstanding virtues of wool jersey—in suit form or any other form—is its wrinkleproofness. The ease with which it withstands the rigors of packing and being worn for long stretches makes it an ideal travel-too. Those of you who like to freeze them should do it now.

The newest instant coffee on the market claims true coffee flavor and aroma. This company claims is the result of incorporating a flavor-protecting inner seal of aluminum foil in the jar cover.

Have you ever wished you had individual dishes in which to bake a certain recipe? The next time this happens, make your own little dishes out of aluminum foil. You can shape larger "casseroles" of two thicknesses of the foil. No sticky baking pans to wash; just toss them all out into the rubbish. Try this recipe for a crabmeat dish.

Shape 8 crab shells from double-thick squares of aluminum foil.

Tear off 7-inch lengths of foil; fold in half cross-wise.

By folding and crimping, bring the two longer sides in toward center to shape a cup 2½ inches wide by 3¼ inches deep. Bring two ends together; crimp so that at least 1 inch sticks out to simulate crab shells.

Make Macaroni Ring for Creamed Eggs

A Macaroni Ring is ideal to serve with creamed eggs or vegetables during Lent. Add 2 teaspoons salt and 4 ounces elbow macaroni to 3 cups boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly to 2 minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in saucepan. Stir in 2 tablespoons enriched flour and ¼ teaspoon salt. Add 1½ cups milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Pour white sauce into 2 beaten eggs.

Rinse macaroni with warm water and drain well. Fold macaroni and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley into sauce mixture. Pour into well-greased 9-inch ring mold and set in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

3-Ring Gadget Fine for Broom Closet

Just what every broom closet needs—a hanger made of tough plastic, with three rings for holding mop and broom handles in place. Each ring is reinforced with rubber, keeps the handle in a vertical position, and won't let it slip or slide.

When not in use the rings fold back parallel with the wall. This gadget is nice to look at—in yellow, red, green, or blue—and is easy to keep clean.

Prepare Duck a La Spanish

Add an unusual and delicious note to your next dinner party with duck prepared Spanish style. The duck is simmered in a tastily seasoned sauce of chicken stock, sherry, tomato and for the special touch in color and flavor, chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives are added.

This delectable dish needs but a green vegetable and perhaps a bowl of fluffy rice plus a simple dessert to make a memorable dinner.

Spanish Duck

1/2 cup olive oil
1 tablespoon paprika
1 1/2 pound duck, quartered
1 medium-sized onion, chopped
1/2 cup all-purpose flour
2 cups chicken stock or bouillon
1/2 cup dry sherry
1 medium-sized tomato, sliced
1/2 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives

Paprika
Combine oil and 1 tablespoon paprika; mix well. Add duck and cook until browned on all sides; remove duck. Add onion to drippings and cook 5 minutes. Add flour and mix well. Gradually add chicken stock or bouillon and sherry and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Add tomato, olives and duck. Cover and cook over low heat 1 hour, or until duck is tender. Sprinkle with paprika. Serves 4.

Molasses Sweetens Oatmeal Bread

A moist loaf of good flavor and texture; any leftover will be wonderful for ham sandwiches.

Molasses Oatmeal Bread

1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup rolled oats (regular or quick-cooking)
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup light or dark molasses
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 package dry active yeast
1 cup warm (near 105 degrees) water
2 1/2 cups sifted flour

Stir boiling water, rolled oats, shortening, molasses and salt together until shortening melts; cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast into warm water; stir until dissolved; stir into lukewarm rolled oats mixture. Add egg; beat with a spoon until blended. Stir in flour gradually until blended and place in lightly greased bowl.

Cover and chill 2 hours. Shape chilled dough into loaf; place in a greased loaf pan (9 1/2 by 5 1/2 by 2 1/2); cover. Let rise in warm place (80 to 85 degrees) until doubled in bulk (about 2 hours). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour.

SEA GODDESS SAUCE — Here's a wonderful sauce to serve with sea foods of all kinds. In this instance it is served with ready-cooked scallops. The sauce is a tangy combination of herbs, spices and sour cream. We're sure you can keep it in the refrigerator.

Serve Sharp Sauce With Sea Scallops

Does Lent mean a succession of drab, tasteless meals in your house? There's no need for monotony in Lenten meals — and you don't have to be a whiz in the kitchen to provide a varied, palatable bill of fare.

There's a tempting variety of sea food in the market these days — fresh, frozen, and ready-cooked. But even the most popular sea foods can pall if they're served the same way every time.

Take scallops, for instance. The classic method of preparing this popular Atlantic Ocean shellfish is deep fat frying. With the advent of the breaded, heat-and-eat variety, more and more people are finding scallops a quick, easy meal . . . and a natural for Lent.

SEA GODDESS SAUCE
1 garlic clove
3 tablespoons minced anchovies
1/2 cup ketchup
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup tarragon wine/vinegar
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup finely chopped parsley
Salt and coarse black pepper

Grate or mince garlic very fine. Combine with remaining ingredients in the order given. Chill thoroughly. Serve as an accompaniment to frozen ready-cooked sea scallops, heated according to package directions. Makes about 2 cups, or 8 servings.

Figs Flavor Peach Salad

Canned peach halves and cottage cheese are renowned as salad companions. Give them a new flavor by adding canned Kadota figs. Add a little of the syrup from the peaches, some mayonnaise and chopped nuts to the cottage cheese. Arrange drained peaches on salad greens, and heap with the cottage cheese mixture. Top with two or three halved figs.

Canned Salmon Makes Bisque Ideal for Lent

Meatless luncheons or suppers are easy on the Lenten budget and easy on the cook, too, when a new twist is given an old soup.

A bisque, for example, is a hearty fish soup, without a meat stock base, that is made to order for such meals. In the following recipe, Beatrice Cooke, a home economist, uses economical canned salmon as the foundation for a nourishing, zestfully flavored soup. Chunks of meaty salmon and parsley sprigs float on top the rich milk, cream and butter broth.

Salmon-Tomato Bisque

2 tablespoons butter
1 small onion, grated
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1 cup coffee cream
1 cup milk
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1 8-ounce can red salmon, drained
Salt and pepper to taste
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

Cook onion in butter; stir in flour. Add cream and milk and cook until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in tomato sauce, salmon, and seasonings. Heat thoroughly.

Serve in soup bowls, garnished with sprigs of parsley and a few flakes of salmon. Makes four servings.

Don't Penalize Non-Dieters!

CHICAGO (INS) — If yours is a house divided between those who need to watch weight and those who don't, there are ways to keep both happy at the same meal.

Steer clear of serving main courses that must be sauced before coming to the table. Instead, serve broiled or baked meats, poultry and fish and provide gravy separately for those who aren't counting calories.

That goes for vegetables, too. Use lemon juice or herbs to flavor vegetables so they can be eaten as is. But on the side, serve melted butter or even fancier sauces for non-dieters.

Most calorie counters eat fruit and it can add zip to meals as an appetizer, as a salad or as a dessert without adding poundage. One of Chicago's fashionable restaurants suggests fresh pineapple rings filled with orange and grapefruit sections, topped with a strawberry, as an appetizer that pleases both sides of the weight fence.

Charlotte Dunn, a food specialist at the University of Wisconsin, says most women rely on fruit salads to keep down weight but forget that the dressing can be their undoing. The solution, said Miss Dunn, is a tasty, low-calorie dressing made by stirring two tablespoons of lemon juice slowly into two tablespoons of milk and then blending in 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Fresh or canned fruits (drained) can come to the table prettily with a topping that looks like whipped cream but isn't so fattening. This is made by beating 1 1/2 cup dry skim milk solids, 1/2 cup water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon sugar and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, until stiff.

Open Can of Apples for Crunchy Dessert

About 20 minutes is all that's needed for this crunchy apple dessert.

Combine 1 pound 4 ounce can of unsweetened sliced apples, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/4 teaspoon salt in a 1-quart baking dish. Top with 3 slices lightly toasted enriched yeast-raised bread cut in small cubes. Drizzle with 1/4 cup honey. Bake at 400 degrees 20 minutes until bubbly. Serve warm with cream.

Brown sugar can be substituted for granulated sugar in a boiled frosting. If you use brown sugar, you can omit the cream of tartar because the acid in the brown sugar does the same job.

Make List at Home Before You Shop

Do some arm chair shopping before going to the grocery store, suggests the Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Read food ads and do some comparing, then make a list.

Thinking time at home will save shopping time.

Leave room on the list for a change of mind after arriving at the grocery. One cut of meat may look like a better value in the store than the one decided upon at home. Another vegetable might look fresher.

Serve With Dessert

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Spread round crackers or salted crackers thickly with butter, cover with crumbled nut glaze. Broil a few seconds, keeping your eye on them, and then serve hot with icy cold fruit for something special.

SANITARY and SNOWY WHITE

It is easy, and so wise, to sanitize children's clothes when you wash. Use Roman Bleach, the triple-action bleach that sanitizes as it whitens and removes stains. Get this health-protecting benefit without extra work. Always use Roman Bleach. You'll see the difference.

Good Fish Calls for Tasty Sauce

Everyone enjoys fish if it is time. So try this seashore fish platter of fried fish served with a variety of sauces. Many enthusiasts settle for fried fish every day. You'll say it's a brand new experience; it's certainly not ordinary. Keep these tricks in mind when trying the fish: Use a pan large enough to not crowd the fish, otherwise they will steam and not acquire a tempting golden brown. Use salad oil in the pan. Oil can stand the high heat better than other fats which may burn.

Lemons are essential to fish so when you serve this fried version, be sure to include wedges of lemon for each person to squeeze over this piscatorial delight.

SAUCY FISH FURBELOWS — In this season of extensive fish eating it is good to have a variety of sauces to serve with it. Lemon wedges are always perfect to decorate the platter. Shown in the small shell dish is a sauce made with mayonnaise all dressed up.

Seashore Fish Platter

4 cups cornmeal
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
4 small whole fish
1/2 cup salad oil

Combine cornmeal, grated lemon peel, salt and pepper in a paper bag. Wash fish, dry, and shake, one at a time, in paper bag. Heat salad oil until very hot; fry fish, first on one side and then on the other, until golden brown; drain on paper towels. Arrange on bed of coleslaw and serve with lemony sauce.

Lemony Sauce
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon chopped sweet pickle or relish
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup fresh lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon curry powder

Combine all ingredients and allow to stand to blend flavors. Serve with fried fish.

Western Coleslaw
4 cups shredded cabbage
2 oranges, peeled and cut in chunks
1/2 cup fresh lemon juice
1/2 cup salad oil
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 small onion, chopped (1/4 cup)

Combine all ingredients and toss lightly.

Olive Lemon Sauce
1/2 cup onions, chopped
1/2 cup stuffed olives, chopped
1/2 cup fresh lemon juice
1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 small onion, chopped (1/4 cup)

Saute onions and olives in oil until onions turn golden brown; add remaining ingredients and stir until well blended. Serve hot with broiled fish.

Caliente Sauce for Shellfish
1/2 cup butter, melted
1/2 cup fresh lemon juice
1/2 cup catsup
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Sugar to taste

Mix in small saucepan and heat just below boiling point. Serve separately in individual bowls or pour over fish.

Cranberries Color Creme

It's the Cranberry Sauce in a recipe that gives a dish that very special party-look. When the ruby red sauce is mixed with a base of cream cheese or cream you're sure to have a pink tinted dessert.

Frozen Cranberry Creme was voted the Best Cranberry Dish of the year. By a rolling majority this party pink frozen dessert won the title.

In case you haven't tried the winning Cranberry Dessert recipe, better try it today.

Frozen Cranberry Creme
1 (3-oz.) pkg. cream cheese, softened
1 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup vanilla
1 lb. can whole cranberry sauce

Whip softened cream cheese until fluffy. Beat sugar and vanilla into cream. Gradually add to cream cheese, beating until smooth and creamy. Fold in cranberry sauce. Freeze in refrigerator. Makes 6 servings.

Enriched flours are those regular or self rising flours to which certain B vitamins, iron and (sometimes) calcium have been added in specific amounts.

Baby Custard Pudding Fills Boston Cream Pie

Bake plain white or yellow cake from your favorite cake mix. Allow cake to cool. Split one of the layers in half to make 2 thin layers. Between these layers, spread 1 cup baby vanilla or orange custard pudding. Cover top with chocolate icing. Serve in pie-shaped pieces. The remaining cake layer may be cut in half and frosted with a favorite icing next day — useful idea for the small family that goes for a different dessert daily.

White flour should be sifted before measuring; dark flours should be stirred lightly with a fork instead.

Top Ham Crust With Vegetables

Here's a new recipe you will make once—then again next week.

It's an easy, tasty and nutritious main dish... with a bit of that different quality you yearn to introduce into your cooking. Deviled ham is baked between two layers of pie crust... this is topped with a cooked vegetable and dribbled with easy mushroom sauce. A king-like combination of flavors!

Perhaps rolling pie crust has been a discouraging experience for you. If so, this recipe provides a good time to try the new instant mixing method in pie crust making. This new method adds hot water to pie crust mix instead of cold milk.

Substituting hot water, the dough absorbs the liquid quickly, with little mashing and mixing necessary. Your resulting pastry is so pliable it can be easily rolled—or even patted into a round.

This quick way to perfect pastry will open many doors to new recipes with flaky crusts. Start with deviled ham pastry:

Deviled Ham Pastry
2 sticks Homogenized Pie Crust Mix
One 4 1/2 oz. or two 3 oz. cans deviled ham

Mix as directed on package. Roll half of dough into a 10" circle. Use large plate for guide in trimming to perfect circle. Place on baking sheet.

Spread deviled ham evenly over crust. Roll other crust to same size circle. Prick crust thoroughly, then fit over other crust. Bake 12 to 15 minutes at 475 degrees until golden brown.

Serve in wedges topped with cooked asparagus or broccoli. Spoon mushroom, cheese, or egg sauce over vegetable. Serves 6 to 8.

To make a stiffer and whiter baked custard, use two egg whites instead of one whole egg; or to make a more tender, deeper yellow custard by using two egg yolks instead of one whole egg.

Mrs. Adams Has Plenty of Interests

Wife of Ike's Aide Says That 'It's Fun to Be Busy'

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON — Like many wives of top government officials, with a crammed schedule of official and social engagements, Mrs. Sherman Adams still manages to devote a good share of her time to her family, her private interests and her hobbies.

The gentle-mannered, alert wife of the President's top assistant admits she probably has her fingers in more pies than she should, but she is blessed with an energy, enthusiasm and efficiency of which her New England forbears would be proud. Besides, she says, "it's fun to be busy."

Currently, she is wearing many hats. She's publicity chairman of an exhibit of needlework, designed and executed for the Washington Cathedral by a group of nationally prominent women, to be held April 13 through 15.

She helped organize and is vice chairman of the Washington Cathedral Needlepoint Committee sponsoring the project.

She has designed an enchanting needlepoint cushion for the bench in the cathedral bride's waiting room, as well as kneelers for the Bethlehem Chapel, and has encouraged a group of White House wives to come to her home every Monday to work on other needlepoint.

Among these are the wives of Brig. Gen. A. J. Goodpastor, White House staff secretary; Murray Snyder, assistant secretary of defense; Harold Stassen, special assistant to the President, and L. Arthur Minnich Jr., assistant staff secretary.

CLUB WORKER
Mrs. Adams, a member of the Congressional Club since her husband served a term in the House before becoming governor of New Hampshire, is a member of its program committee.

In the studio she fixed up in her home, a handsomely remodeled barn and mill, the stone part of which dates back about 150 years, she has invited a group of friends to share painting lessons once or twice a week.

Mrs. Stassen and Mrs. Snyder are in the group along with Mrs. Carlos Romulo, wife of the Philippine ambassador; Mrs. Percival F. Brundage, wife of the budget director, and Mrs. Robert Madison.

Many of the paintings in her home are her copies of masterpieces in the National Gallery, done to "learn techniques."

Original art also adorns and gives personality to her home, like the tiles topping her coffee table which chart and highlight the course of an Adams trip abroad.

7 GRANDCHILDREN
With her lively gray eyes, slender figure and youthful freshness, it is hard to believe Mrs. Adams is a grandmother of seven. Their names are engraved on gold bracelet discs.

Her eldest daughter, Mrs. William S. Freese of Pittsfield, has presented her with four grandchildren; another daughter, Mrs. William M. Hallager of Scarsdale, N. Y., with three.

An unmarried daughter, Sally, teaches school in Stamford, Conn., and a son is a sophomore at Dartmouth.

Label Garden Items

It is a good idea to mark garden items with labels so you will know what is growing when it starts up. You may protect stakes and labels with shellac.

Getting set for the big dance is this tiger made by Gamma Chapter members. Shown wielding the paintbrush is Mrs. William Doerr (left) of Rosedale avenue assisted by Mrs. William G. Frank-enfield (center) of St. Joseph street and Mrs. William Reuter of Argyle ave-nue.

Patsy E. Kelly Becomes Bride in Double-Ring Rite

First Congregational Church was the setting for the Friday wedding of Patsy E. Kelly and William A. Stoloff. The Rev. Malcolm Burton performed the 8 o'clock double-ring ceremony.

Patsy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fidler of Third avenue. William is the son of Mrs. Monica Dipsinski of Oster road and Anthony Stoloff of Franklin road.

A ballerina-length gown of net and lace over taffeta was worn by the bride. She carried Amazon lilies and carnations. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, belonging to the bridegroom's mother.

Joseph Adamczyk served the bridegroom as best man. Steve Anna seated the guests.

maker suit with black accessories. Mrs. Dipsinski chose a navy blue dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow carnations.

Following a reception held at the home of the bridegroom's father, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip through northern Michigan.

Fabric Combines Dacron, Flax

NEW YORK (NEA)—Vacationing now in sunny spots and looking forward to summer at home are separates in a traveling fabric made of dacron and flax.

This new combination provides a fabric that's firm and crisp, with a slubbed texture. (Flax is the fiber from which linen is woven.)

Fontana Sisters Use Rich Colors

'Independent Sleeve' New

ROME (INS)—The fabulous Fontana sisters, who designed the lovely wedding gown of Margaret Truman, turned to the Renaissance for 1957 inspirations.

The rich palette of colors took their names from that period's great artist—Raphael red, Tintoretto white and Titian black.

New features were a square or straight decollete and "independent sleeves" riding freely on the arm, barely attached to the bodice at chest height.

The new Fontana silhouette is a sheath—but a sheath made of soft chiffon that clings to and flatters the figure.

Other materials much in evidence were georgette, pique, organdy and trimmings of velvet. One cocktail coat of black faille had three velvet "belts"—at the chest, waist and hips.

Summery morning and afternoon dresses came in shaded prints and polka-dots. The dots were of different shades of the same basic color.

A more sophisticated cocktail ensemble consisted of a black sheath dress worn underneath a white pleated coat with a large, square stiff collar.

Suits generally featured straight skirts and high collars. They came in black, navy and white.

The length of the skirts remained unchanged—half-way between the heel and the knee for day and afternoon wear, floor-length for formal evening gowns.

For evening gowns, too, the Fontana sisters presented the "wheat pleat". It is a heavy criss-cross at the back of the skirt, the pleats growing out of the center much in the way an ear of wheat grows from the stalk.

Club Panel Discusses 'Evaluation'

Mrs. Arthur Vernon, vice president, presided at the Tuesday evening dinner meeting of Pontiac Toastmistress Club held at Hotel Waldron. Mrs. Louis Davidson served as toastmistress and Mrs. P. Eugene Miller as topicmistress.

A panel on "Evaluation" was conducted by Mrs. Milton Freet, with Mrs. Evelyn Cole, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Clayton Rule serving on the panel.

Speakers for the meeting were Helen Lapsch and Gertrude Foley. Mrs. Cole served as tall-talker, Mrs. Orben Wilkins, timekeeper, and Mrs. George Gaches and Mrs. Robert Sutton, critics.

Mrs. Robert Bunce will be an alternate for Council Four, of which Pontiac Toastmistress Club is a member, at the speech contest being held in Toledo April 6. Council Four will be host to the Northeast Regional Conference to be held in Detroit May 17-19.

Yellow Lifts Spirits

If you're depressed and want to make merry, a yellow hat will give your spirits a lift. Yellow, so fashionable this spring, is the color of love, affection, friendship and gaiety.

White, Pastel Felts Pretty When Fresh

Featherweight white or pastel felt hats look right only when kept as fresh as when they first emerged from the tissue paper.

To remove soil, rub very lightly over the surface of the felt with very fine sandpaper. French chalk or a stick "spot eraser" rubbed in and later brushed out will remove grease spots.

About seven of 10 young people of high school age in the U.S. are enrolled in regular high school classes.

fashioned of transparent "erin." Hats for dress-up wear are prettier than ever. The clinging silks and floating chiffons of spring dress fashions are echoed in millinery. Lovely spring turbans are draped from chiffon, organdy and even sheer silk blossoms.

Frilly lingerie cottons—nylon embroidery, cotton lace and Swiss embroidery—make delightful little sailors, toques and profile caps to dramatize suits and dresses with lingerie collars.

Gracefully tilted picture hats are fashioned of transparent "erin," lacy straw, tulle, organza or tulle flower stems.

Give Tinted Hair Regular Care

In these days of wide acceptance of hair tints, many women want to keep up the illusion that their hair is not getting gray. This means doing a hair-coloring job (or having it done professionally) long before the gray starts showing an inch wide along the part.

Like most beauty tasks, hair coloring carries its rewards and its responsibilities. It's easy to become careless and to decide that you can "get by" another week or 10 days with the same old coloring job. Don't give in to the temptation.

Remember, too, that it's a good idea to have your hair and scalp treated for dryness at a salon every few months if you use a hair tint regularly.

Many beauty specialists agree that nothing has been discovered that will cleanse the normal, healthy skin the way soap and water will do it.

Women's ORT Aids Unfortunate Local Group Helps in Teaching Skills and Trades

With the slogan "ORT Aid Lasts a Lifetime," local members of Women's American Organization for Rehabilitation Through Training spend many hours aiding people through their knowledge of various skills.

For the past several years, Mrs. Jerome Varon of Ottawa drive, financial secretary of the local group that is affiliated with the Huntington Woods Chapter, has designed and made complete wardrobes for dolls. Proceeds from the sale of the dolls are used to further the group's purpose.

The prime purpose of ORT is to rehabilitate the uprooted, to free the impoverished and the dislocated from dependence upon charity, to help man to help himself—by teaching him a skill, a trade.

While serving the individual in need of rehabilitation, the program likewise serves the needs of community and nation.

The program of ORT has operated uninterruptedly for 77 years. For the last 30 of these years, Women's American ORT has rendered vital and progressively increasing assistance to the operational program of its parent body. Schools provided by the organization are open to everyone.

White Sofa Practical

Even the whitest sofa can look new for years to come, if upholstered in nylon over foam rubber filling. Nylon does not hold or retain dirt which can be routed easily by "shampooing" with thickly beaten soap or detergent suds. Just wash the surface with a well-lathered sponge, rinse with a clean sponge, and let it dry.

WCTU Gathers

Mrs. E. H. Stimer spoke on "Present Day Legislation and the Women of the WCTU" at the Tuesday meeting of Pontiac Unit, WCTU. Mrs. Roy Fostender presided at the meeting held at First Presbyterian Church. A paper was read by Mrs. Joseph Galen.

Shows Feature Latest in Fashions

Fashions shows, which were shown at Pontiac High School Wednesday evening by Arthur's, haven't been forgotten in the Pontiac area. Last night two women's organizations sponsored shows with styles for milady for spring and summer.

"Fashions for the Career Girl" derising the mature half - also figure. Suits emphasized the Dutch Boy look and featured capes on collars. Capes were also shown on coats and dresses. The suit dress was shown as an excellent outfit for the working woman, good for the office and after-five engagements. Small "theater furs" were also presented. A striking silhouette shown was a black and white giant plaid dress of silk and cotton fashioned with a Dutch boy bodice and a full skirt of unpressed pleats nipped in at a tiny waist.

The show was sponsored by the Women's Committee of the Oakland County Chapter of American Institute of Banking.

The finale was the presentation of a bridal party. Appliqued lace adorned the white acetate taffeta gown worn by the bride. Her attendants wore mint green under sheer white.

DALLAS FASHIONS
Waterford Township Republican Women's Club sponsored styles from the De'Cor Shop with summer fashions right out of the heart of Dallas.

Nardis of Dallas showed spring costumes, too, but lived up to the Southland's latest Texas "brag" of dressing up the shirtwaist.

Models wore the tailored shirtwaist and the slay front shirtwaist. California was represented, too, in the casual good look coming from the West Coast.

After-five and cocktail dresses for all ages will delight any woman.

Hats were an important part of the fashion showing from De'Cor. One large white hat with beautiful pink roses was a show stopper. Another white straw, accented with cherries on the brim, delighted many.

Completing the show were bridal fashions from Alicia's Bridal Salon. Both the short and formal lengths were featured, as were tiaras and small crown headpieces.

Mrs. Jerome S. Varon of Ottawa drive displays the doll with a complete wardrobe that she designed and made herself. As secretary of the local Women's American Organization for Rehabilitation Through Training, Mrs. Varon spends a great deal of time furthering the work of the group. The doll is being displayed this week in a local store window.

Flowered Hats Lead for Spring

For Easter and after, flowerful brimmed hats are beautiful. Young off-face bretons and rollers filled with blossoms are tipped back in face-framing halos.

Picture hats, worn level just back of the hairline, have rippling brims and wreaths of blossoms. Large, oval picture hats, prettily tilted, have graceful brims veiled with maline and tender flowers.

Bonnets of exotic straws (bal-buinal, shantung and toyo) have deep-sided brims cut away over the brow or long profile brims, dipping forward at one side.

The materials of spring hats are refreshing. Felts are wonderfully smooth and soft. Printed silks, cottons and sheers, linens, laces, alpaca and shantungs are also significant.

Fine Life Can Arise From Ashes

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The sciences of psychology and psychiatry are doing a good deal to help us to better self-understanding.

But, like all relatively new sciences, they are pretty generally misunderstood. And in the hands of some people, they offer beautiful excuses for a lifetime of self-pity.

"The little child needs love," one woman told me — and she's typical — "but I didn't have love when I was little. My parents hated each other and resented me and as a result my emotional growth was stunted."

Then she went on to prove, thoroughly, that she had used this as an excuse for an embittered and loveless life.

Here she is, in her mid-30s, still blaming everything on those early years. Unfortunately, there are a great many people like her.

I discussed this recently with Laurens van der Post, the writer whose books have always made a very deep impression on me.

NEVER DEVELOP
He pointed out, quite wisely, that unless we can face and incorporate into our lives the fact of our early unhappiness, we can never develop and mature.

Using the lack of love as a reason for perpetual misery is a sign of immaturity.

Instead, face the fact that it has taught you much, that it has given you understanding of all unloved people, that it has heightened your awareness and sensitivity.

You can build a glorious life on the ashes of the past.

Actually, the capacity to love can be developed, like any other capacity. Once you decide to start giving out love, you will receive love in return.

HOUSE PLANTS
I know a woman who raised herself from a miserable, embittered, ingrown and loveless life by means of a window sill of house plants.

She became so interested in them that she tended them with great love. They began to blossom and to return her love; so to speak.

Then she got a kitten, learned how to love it and the kitten showed its affection for her. Later, she took a volunteer job, in a foundling hospital, learning to care for the babies and the unmarried mothers.

Her capacity for love was given so much exercise that she began to participate in life with a vigor almost unbelievable.

And now she is a happily married woman with a score of friends. She's much too busy to remember the fact that her parents did not love her; in fact, had deserted her!

Next time you find you are excusing yourself because "nobody loved me when I was young," remember that it's never too late to love. And to give love is to get it, automatically!

May Keep Gift Intended for Shower

Party Canceled So It's Not Necessary to Offer Present

By EMILY POST

A woman writes as follows: "I was invited to a shower which was being given for my neighbor's daughter. I bought her a very nice present. One afternoon while I was in the midst of wrapping the present, my neighbor dropped in to see me.

"She admired the gift and I said that it was for Mary's shower. She said Mary was very lucky to be getting such a beautiful present.

"A week before the shower was to have taken place, the bride's brother passed away and the shower was postponed. The bride was married very quietly and I have heard nothing more about the shower. My husband and I sent her a wedding present.

"What do I do about the shower present? Since the bride's mother saw it and knows I bought it for her daughter, am I obliged to give it to her anyway, or may I keep it and give it to someone else?"

Answer: Since the shower was called off and considering that you gave the bride a wedding present, there is no obligation to give her an extra present.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is head of a large company and is often asked by business acquaintances to put their names up for membership in certain clubs.

"He does not think that some of these men who ask him to do this will fit in with the other members and does not feel that he can put their names up for membership. Will you please tell us how he can tactfully handle this situation?"

Answer: Your husband might explain to these would-be members that he has found that to put a man's name up requires more time and work than he can afford to give and that he has therefore made it a rule never to propose anyone.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My niece recently adopted a baby. I wrote her a note telling her how happy I was to hear the news and giving her my best wishes. I addressed the note to my niece alone and did not include her husband. I am being criticized for this. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?"

Answer: Although it would have been kinder to have written that you were glad to hear "your and John's news," you should not have been criticized for omitting him.

Go Easy on Those 'Harmless' Leftovers

Snack Lunch May Boost Calories

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many people think of lunch as a completely unimportant meal. The woman in the home may eat anything which happens to be left over. Even those who are interested in nutrition, and take great care when planning breakfast and dinner, often just snack without thought at noon.

In some ways this is not a bad idea. If you eat an adequate breakfast, with cereal, fruit juice, eggs and toast with coffee or milk, you get many of the essentials for fine nutrition. Then if you plan a well-balanced evening meal, with fresh vegetables, meat, fish or fowl, salad and potatoes, you are not going to have any serious deficiencies.

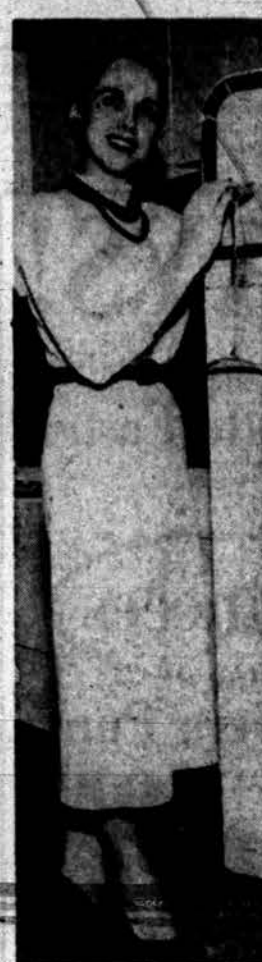

You can consume a light lunch and with benefit to your figure. However, WHAT you eat at lunch can make a big difference in both your appearance and your nutrition.

Luncheon provides a splendid opportunity to cut down on calories and build up on health. You can build up your vitamin and mineral and protein intake and still keep your calories low.

For instance, you could have a medium slice of lean meat and a tomato and cottage cheese salad or a tomato and hard-boiled egg salad (if you did not have eggs at breakfast), and a cup of vegetable soup; or a serving of salmon and a fresh fruit salad with milk; or a lean beef or chicken sandwich; a glass of buttermilk and an apple or orange.

FINE OPPORTUNITY

The mid-day meal gives you a wonderful opportunity to add to the health values in your diet, an opportunity you should not miss. It is important also to remember that the little leftovers from the icebox, which seem so harmless, often are packed with calories.

The distribution of your calories among daily menus is an individual matter. Depending on your habits and tastes. However, I feel sure that the "two-meal-a-day" routine is a mistake.

You will experience fatigue and unnecessary hollowness when using this plan, and are likely to consume more than the allowed calories at the evening meal because you will be so hungry.

Progress of Pontiac Discussed

BPW Club Hears Talks on Community Development

A community progress report, based on answers to some 30,000 questionnaires, was discussed for the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday evening. The club met for dinner at the Hotel Waldron.

Speakers were John Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, and John Riley, promotion manager of The Pontiac Press.

Pontiac will have many opportunities in the near future to grow in stature to the proportions of a major metropolitan city, Mr. Riley remarked. "In meeting this challenge and being prepared to fully take the leadership and shoulder the obligations, Pontiac must take progressive actions now."

The proposed arterial highway, blighted area clearance, remodeling of downtown areas and the completion of our traffic and parking plans are all phases of this progress to be accomplished.

The objectives of the Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Downtown Pontiac Association were outlined for members, and the effect on our future economy of accomplishing these objectives was presented by Mr. Riley.

Data obtained by the Oakland County Planning Commission, University of Michigan School of Business "Better Business Survey" is the basis for much of the advance thinking and planning, Mr. Riley concluded.

Mr. Hirlinger pointed out the uses and capacities of the proposed civic auditorium and meeting rooms which it is hoped will be dedicated May 15, 1961, at the Pontiac Centennial Celebration.

Our program calls for action not just talk," Mr. Hirlinger remarked. "During the past year many decisions have been made. An auditorium for Pontiac is not a luxury it is a necessity if we are to enjoy cultural and community life in Pontiac."

Keeping Slim After Diet Defeats Average Woman

She Has to Admit That the Price of Slenderness Is Constant Hunger

By RUTH MILLETT

On the cover of a recent issue of Vogue magazine in big letters were the words "How to stay 10 pounds thinner."

The eye-catching come-on should have gotten attention. How to stay 10 pounds thinner is the average American woman's dream.

Though countless women struggle toward that goal, few achieve it.

For most it is an off-again-on-again struggle, this fight to keep right on through the middle years.

It doesn't take superhuman effort for a woman to lose 10 unwanted pounds. In fact, she can hardly keep from trying since each year brings some new fad that all her friends are talking about.

EACH NEW DIET

Such is the power of feminine faddishness that she practically has to try each new diet to be in the social swim.

And sticking to it until she loses a few pounds isn't really too difficult, not when she can compare notes with all her friends.

It's keeping the weight off that the average woman can't seem to manage.

And so in a few months after a seige of strenuous dieting she is usually right back where she was. And there she stays until a new diet comes along, promising to give her the figure she has the moral strength to achieve, but not to maintain.

I didn't bother reading the Vogue article because I know what most women eventually admit to themselves. The only way for a woman to stay 10 pounds thinner, year in and year out, is to make up her mind that she will always have to be hungry.

It's such a grim conclusion that women fight against accepting it.

Though straight, the new look is not rigid. Pleated skirts and easy jackets soften the straightness. When a silhouette is not only practical but fashionable, it's wise to adapt in different fabrics: Wool to chiffon.

'Silent Police' Back at Work

Citizens Raise Clamor Over Their Removal in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Six "silent policemen" have been ordered back to duty in suburban White-mars Township.

James J. Lawler, state highway secretary, so directed yesterday, thus reversing a recent strict interpretation of a state law.

The law specifies that "silent policemen," metal figures big as life and set out in school safety zones, must wear regulation blue and other suitable trappings of authority. And they must not bear a speed limit marking. Otherwise, in the state's views, motorists are confused or indifferent or perhaps even resentful.

When the signs were removed by highway officials last week White-mars residents raised a protest that carried all the way to the state capitol in Harrisburg. They argued that although their silent policemen were in reality the images of schoolgirls, the effect was no less salutary than that of the men-in-blue figures. They said, too, that the reminder, "speed limit 15 m.p.h.," painted across the front of them, also helped to reduce the number of accidents.

Boat Builder Runs Aground on Low Ceiling

PLATTSBURGH, Neb. (U)—Cecil McKnight built a boat. He built it in a small basement room at the Plattsburgh High School. Cecil got due attention as he fashioned the frame and a full measure of "Bet you'll never get it out" and "Want us to tear out the wall" kidding.

Said Cecil: "I have it figured to the last inch. If I turn the 53-inch beam sideways, I can make the door, a corner, a hall, the stairs and out the front door with ease."

Came the day this week when the frame was complete. Then the trial run. Out the door went the boat and into the foyer turn. Then—crunch! The boat was aground on a forgotten shoal, a small wall offset in the foyer. Cecil was most red-faced.

For he is the industrial arts instructor and an expert in carpentry. Ditch the boat?

Nope. Cecil gathered his class and said:

"Boys, this proves you can never be too sure of your figures. Remember a man who does not profit from his mistakes is a fool indeed."

Back to the shop went the boat to remain for a time as Cecil's "object lesson."

"You know," said McKnight with a shake of the head, "my wife's 'I told you so' is what really hurts the most."

CRUISING IN OVERDRIVE — Relief from bumper-to-bumper traffic jams may be found in this new flying gadget called an "aero-cycle." Still in the experimental stage, it is shown in a test flight in New York City. According to Look Magazine, the aerocycle can travel for 150 miles at 65 miles an hour. It is steered by leaning in the direction you want to go, while holding on to the handlebars.

Case to Test Law on Mixed Parentage

BALTIMORE (U)—A Baltimore judge has taken under advisement a test of an old Maryland law making it a crime for a white woman to bear the child of a Negro.

The state's miscegenation law, which dates back to 1715 or possibly further, was challenged for the first time yesterday. Atty. John J. O'Connor Jr. pleaded for dismissal of an indictment charging a 20-year-old white girl with illegally bearing a Negro baby.

O'Connor said the ancient statute is no longer applicable because "it was conceived in the hatred and hostility of a slave era."

Lists Jail as His Home to Attendants at Hospital

DALLAS (U)—A man wounded in a street brawl was asked for his home address by hospital attendants and police.

"The county jail," he replied, and would say no more.

Circus Takes to Road Again, but Minus Tent

SARASOTA, Fla. (U)—The circus takes the road today, but being left behind are such familiar sights as the big top and the gaudy circus personnel trains.

Instead, a streamlined version of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey sets its sights on New York and a spring tour.

Performers and workers are to travel on a regular passenger train. Only the animals are setting out on the gaily painted circus cars.

Other circus folks already are on their way northward in private autos. Still others, particularly European performers, will join the circus in New York. Circus equipment is being carried in trucks.

John Ringling North, president of the circus, thought up the idea of a new styled circus after the show folded its tent in mid-season in Pittsburgh last July.

North's plan is to have the circus play in coliseums, inside large buildings and at larger fairs.

Diogenes, Socrates Win Judgments in Court

BURBANK, Calif. (U)—Diogenes and Socrates had their day in court, and both won decisions. Diogenes Volkman of North Hollywood got a judgment in an unlawful detainer suit in Judge Leonard Hammer's court. He recovered some real estate. Socrates Chrisopheris of Los Angeles was cleared by Judge Raymond Reid of a charge of running a boulevard "bop" in Burbank March 5.

Gain to Run Monday

Stays on Slate Despite Mistake

Farmington Supervisor Won't Let Past Error Change Plans

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Albert Gain, township supervisor, will be a candidate in the April 1 election despite a doubt raised yesterday.

State officials revealed this week that Gain had falsified his voter registration card by swearing that he was born in Portland, Maine, his actual birthplace, they said, was England.

Assistant Secretary of State Billie Farnum confronted Gain with immigration records showing that the latter had entered this country legally Nov. 19, 1943 from Canada, where he had moved as a boy.

Previous to his legal admission to the U.S., Farnum said Gain had, after World War I, come into the country illegally several times, working in lumber camps in the Dakotas and on construction jobs in eastern states.

Gain was quoted as saying: "I liked Portland because it was a beautiful town and its people were friendly," so he adopted it as his home.

Gain was granted citizenship in 1944 while serving in the U.S. Navy.

Of his false registration Gain said, "Yes it's true. It was a stupid thing to do but I guess I just didn't think about it. I had thought of Maine as my home for so long that I just put it on my registration and signed it. I have always considered myself an American citizen. I'm not ashamed of it, but it was a mistake."

Disclosure of the "mistake" has caused considerable consternation among Republican candidates.

Frank Stevenson, Gain's Democratic opponent, and also a naturalized citizen from Canada said no attempt will be made by his party to use Gain's mistake as political ammunition.

Gain was appointed supervisor last August by the township board. He was previously employed by the township as building inspector.

Lake Michigan is 21 feet below the level of Lake Superior, 8 feet above Lake Erie, and 334 feet above Lake Ontario. Its elevation is approximately the same as Lake Huron.

Janet Duckert Wed in Methodist Service

DRYDEN — Janet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Duckert, and Harold Harbar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harbar, repeated their marriage vows at an 8 p.m. candlelight rite in the Methodist Church Saturday.

The double ring service was read by the Rev. Stephen Chapko, before an altar decorated with palms, candelabra and baskets of white gladioli, in the presence of 250 guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar in a floor-length gown of chauntilly lace over net and stain. The fitted bodice was fashioned with long sleeves, and a jeweled belt. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a band of red pearls. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white mums.

Marion Ellsworth was the maid of honor and JoAnn Duckert, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid.

Library Support to Be Decided

Walled Lake Voters Asked to Approve New Proposal

WALLED LAKE — Voters of this city will decide Monday whether Walled Lake assumes support of the Community Library located in the Ramsey Building.

Up until now, the library has been operating on a volunteer basis. Donations of books and money enabled the library to open its doors to the public on Aug. 4, 1956.

Cost to the individual taxpayer will be determined on a basis of $1 per $1,000 valuation; if the proposal is approved by voters.

According to Mrs. Margaret Hughes, chairman of Library Board, the present library will be eligible for state aid if it receives city-tax support.

Mrs. Hughes also pointed out that the library would be expanded considerably to meet the city's needs, if the proposal is approved.

OXFORD — Mrs. Fred Skibowski has been chosen to head the Oxford Music Club for the coming year. The group met recently at the home of Mrs. Ray Forman.

Tarpaulin Airlift Gives Cover to Exposed Machinery

U.S. Official Acts Fast as Roof Falls In On French

By BEN PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fred Sacksteder was vice consul of the United States at Lyon, France, in 1955.

Until Sept. 1 of that year, life had been fairly routine — visas, import-export licenses, looking after lost or wayward Yanks.

But on that day Sacksteder, now serving in Washington, had an opportunity to demonstrate the payoff of the State Department's careful selection of each Foreign Service officer, this government's eyes, ears, right arm and backbone overseas.

Lyon, a heavy industrial center, was subjected to a severe storm. Hailstones shattered nearly every skylight in town. Millions of dollars worth of machinery was exposed.

Sacksteder said in an interview, "The consul was out of town when I got a call from the French asking if we could contact our military and obtain canvas tenting for covers."

"We started an airlift of tents and tarpaulins. Then we hauled it in by truck. In all we provided about 500,000 square feet of canvas. In Lyon it was a Page 1 story. The tone of those stories was that 'other countries may talk of what they do for us. The Americans act.'"

Often humdrum, the life of an FSO does have its dramatic and dangerous moments. Since the department was founded in 1789, some 75 FSOs have lost their lives, some in earthquakes, some in shipwrecks and some by bullets and bombs.

On Nov. 1, 1948, the Bamboo Curtain descended before the American consulate at Mukden, China, headed by Angus Ward. The staff was imprisoned, threatened, accused of being spies and finally deported. Ward himself was beaten by a Chinese servant trying to curry favor with the Communists. Despite 28 days of intensive questioning, Red-style, none of the staff members cracked.

In the State Department's command setup, which closely parallels that of the armed services, the FSO is under constant scrutiny. His personnel folder is examined by experts yearly. If he is classified with the bottom 10 per cent in proficiency for three consecutive years, he is fired.

His beginning salary is between $4,300 and $5,350 a year, depending upon marital status and background. He can look forward to promotion about every two or three years and possibly the title of career minister at a salary of $17,500. If he becomes a career ambassador his salary will be $20,000. The job of an FSO is varied.

In 1954 a committee headed by Henry M. Wriston, former president of Brown University, examined this setup and found that among 197 FSOs with more than 20 years experience, 67 per cent had not served more than three years in this country.

"Men immersed continuously in other societies," the report noted, "inevitably tend to lose touch with the circumstances and attitudes that shape policy at home."

This observation cut two ways. Men here permanently could not fully understand foreign problems.

Wriston's committee recommended a merger of the two services and a rotation system. This recommendation is being carried out under Deputy Undersecretary Loy Henderson. Ideally an FSO will come home for duty after every six years overseas.

Hubby Seeks Cure So Wife Can Talk

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Peggy Crawford, a drugstore saleslady, was somewhat puzzled by a customer who came in asking for a cure of laryngitis.

Noting the man's voice was clear and not at all hoarse, she asked:

"Do you have laryngitis?"

"No," the man shook his head. "It's my wife. She hasn't been able to say a single word for several days."

Contrary to most husbands who would be happy with such a situation, this fellow insisted on a cure for his wife's ailment. "It's so quiet around the house I'm getting lonesome," he said.

Pet Shop Owner Sells Crickets for Hearts

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The proprietress of a pet store here announces that she is now prepared to "provide crickets for hearts."

Mrs. Ann Simington said she has laid in a stock of the cheerful critters. She is asking $1.98 up per cricket and the price includes a bamboo cage.

Mrs. Simington said crickets are not easily caught and that it takes a sharp eye to outwit them.

Librarian Happy Again

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — Miss Muriel Perry, librarian, was so happy to get the books that had been missing since 1948 that she issued the long-term borrower a new card and forgot about the 7-year fine.

Check Good Buys in Veal and Frozen Foods Now

Spring is here, and as usual the weather is unpredictable. Yet every homemaker can predict the food that goes into her weekly market basket. Family likes, current food supplies, and the amount of money there is to spend assist her in this prediction. A close look at present supplies and market conditions are a guide to better choices for the family says the Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

EGGS—Eggs are big news this month. There is a plentiful supply, prices are low, and they are just the dish for versatile Lenten meals. Two large size grade A eggs for 7 to 9 cents make a perfect substitute for a serving of meat, fish or poultry.

When choosing eggs, the shell color is not a reliable clue to flavor, quality or food value. Both brown and white eggs are "sisters under the skin." There may be a difference in price, and if so the lower priced eggs will be the better buy.

MEATS—In the red meat department most retailers report veal prices about the same as last week or a little lower, beef and pork the same or higher, and lamb costs up several cents a pound.

The amount of bone and waste should be considered when choosing meats. Cost per serving is a better guide than price per pound. A variety of meat cuts average about the same price per serving, so shoppers may pick those that fit the family's appetite.

For about 30 cents per person, look for a roast of veal from the leg, shoulder, loin or rump. A blade chuck roast of beef fits this same price bracket.

Several pork cuts vary from 15 to 20 cents per serving. Picnics, Boston butt, rib and loin end roasts, and some featured canned hams wear these reasonable price tags this week.

Large supplies and attractive prices are keeping fryers, turkeys and stews in the limelight. Larger portions of meat to bone make the turkeys a better buy than stewers or fryers when they are listed at the same price per pound.

Fresh Lake Erie perch, frozen fillets of cod, haddock and ocean perch, and frozen halibut steaks are economical choices from the fish counter.

FROZEN FOODS—Another sign of spring is the many sales of frozen foods. Extra freezer space might well be filled with the family's favorite brands of frozen fruits and vegetables.

The most plentiful items top the list in cost value. Peas, corn, and spinach at about 15 cents for a 10-ounce package average about 5 cents a serving. Strawberries lead the frozen fruit parade and many stores are offering frozen juice concentrate at real values.

FRESH PRODUCE — Potatoes, onions, and carrots are wise selections in flavor and economy.

Changes in price and quality are evident on some items. Increasing supplies are accompanied by slightly lower prices on fresh asparagus and cucumbers. Celery quality is improving.

Another way of getting the day's Vitamin C is to serve a half grapefruit or one fresh orange. For a simple dessert or a luscious fruit salad, combine citrus with apples and bananas.

Speaker 'Not Missed'

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Gov. Cecil H. Underwood, cut off by an engineer after completing his prepared text but before starting extemporaneous remarks "to fill out" his allotted radio-television time, said later: "No one missed anything."

Airlines Expanding Fast

No Longer a Death Warrant

Modern Studies of Angina Give Patient, Doctor Hope

"Only one generation ago," notes an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association, "the diagnosis of 'angina pectoris' was tantamount to the issuance of a death warrant."

The progress achieved by medical scientists during the last thirty years in their intensive search for new weapons against disease is dramatically reflected by the radical change in the attitudes of both laymen and doctors towards angina—a painful heart disease.

Today, the terror with which angina was so recently regarded has been replaced by the knowledge that the condition can be successfully treated. The Journal editorial sums up the change in thinking this way:

"The patient is more confident and the physician more optimistic because both believe that angina pectoris is not a hopeless condition."

Properly speaking, angina pectoris, which literally means pain of the pectoral (or breast) muscle, is a term describing a symptom rather than the underlying disease. The symptoms are caused by a constriction of the arteries that feed the heart muscle with oxygen-bearing blood. The pain is not always confined to the heart or chest, but may be felt as spreading into the left arm and shoulder, neck, or upper stomach. Medical scientists have not yet solved the puzzle of what causes this disease to develop. But they have learned how to control the pain so that patients can lead relatively normal lives.

Among the drugs that have made this possible, according to the Journal editorial, are glyceryl trinitrate (commonly called nitroglycerine) and pentaerythritol tetranitrate. The latter drug, which is known to doctors as Peritrate, has been described in a report published by the American Medical Association's Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry as appearing to be the "most effective" of the long-acting nitrates. Nitrates are salts which have been widely used for their dilating effect on the arteries.

The success doctors have achieved in both relieving and preventing anginal pain and the strides that are being made toward better understanding of arterial disease both promise significant new achievements against angina pectoris in the near future.

"Thirty years hence," the Journal editorial predicts, "it is likely that enzymes, hormones, and other perhaps yet unidentified biochemical agents will make angina pectoris a truly rare condition."

Cambodia has adopted, in Phnom Penh, a two-year development program as a pilot plan for a subsequent four or five year plan to start long-term economic growth.

Oakland County Coach-of-the-Year... guided the Chiefs to their 1st Saginaw Valley Conference crown and an overall 14-1 record... their perfect 10-0 league mark was only the 3rd time in history that a Valley champion had gone unbeaten... now in his 11th year at Pontiac, Van Ryzin received a heavy majority of votes for this honor.

LARRY HUGHES, Walled Lake... 6-4... senior... 18... extremely agile and quick for his size... led his team to an Inter-Lake Conference co-title and a 15-1 record... strong rebounder... Oakland County's top scorer with 337 points in 15 games for a 22.4 average.

DAVE PETERS, Rochester... 6-0... senior... 18... very nimble... frequently controlled backboards against taller foes... his one-handed jump shot, one of the finest in the area, led Falcons to 14-2 season... Oakland's No. 2 scorer with 348 points for a 21.7 average.

HUDSON RAY, Pontiac... 6-5... senior... 18... one of the best prep "giants" in Michigan... although he posted a creditable 13.8 scoring average, his greatest value was in a defensive capacity... a tremendous rebounder... "Goose" has one semester of basketball eligibility remaining.

LEROY PARKS, Clarkston... 5-5½... junior... 17... the "mighty mite" of the All-County team... clever dribbler, deft ball-handler, deadly outside shot... helped his team gain Wayne-Oakland Conference co-title and 12-3 record... scored 257 points, including 117 free throws.

EARL MCNEAL, Ferndale... 6-0... junior... 16... called by coach Roy Burkhardt the Rallsplitters' finest player since Harry Lauder... scored 253 points, a new school record, and shot 39½ per cent from the floor... tallied 38 points against Birmingham on Feb. 22... tops as a play-maker.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

For many years, area bowlers mumbled about having to travel around the state to enter tournaments of any consequence.

Except for organizational tourneys or outstate meets which very often appeal only to the veteran tournament bowler, the average Pontiac area bowler has become a contented league-nighter.

"Bowling around here needs a boost," was getting to be a common expression. Leading bowling figures agreed a stimulant would help the sport here.

The Press is now attempting to provide that stimulant with the Bowlerama which starts next week.

A tournament which would give every individual man or woman bowler a chance to participate together yet for their own respective prize list at the smallest entry fee possible is the objective The Press.

Moreover, The Press especially has the desire to do what it can in creating area interest in this fast growing sport.

The Press and the proprietors have made financial concessions for the success of the Bowlerama. It now rests with the bowler.

The Bowlerama can grow annually into a big backyard affair, or it can fizzle into another file for the morgue.

Any bowler, regardless of average, can walk off with one of six guaranteed prizes in the men's and women's division. Other prizes will be based on percentage of total entries.

The response thus far has been good, but the final tally is all-important. The deadline is Sunday.

DITTO FROM THE PRESS BOX

One of the finest and most genial players on the Detroit Tiger squad is second baseman Frank Bolling.

Right now Bolling has boosted his spring season batting average to .414. It could be just a spring flurry of hitting, but from the opening day at Lakeland we were impressed with his hustle.

Bolling is our nomination for the player to watch this season.

Sports Car Rally Sunday Afternoon

The Pontiac Sports Car Club has announced plans for a business meeting and rally beginning Sunday at 12 noon at Foster's Garage. Trophies will be awarded for the top three finishers in the two-hour driving rally. Last Sunday's prizes went to H. Helms and V. Morency, 1st place; Oliver Owens and Brenda Lehman, 2nd place; and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dawe, 3rd.

Braves Combine Pitching, Hitting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Manager Fred Haney has said all along that if his pitchers and hitters ever decide to get together his Milwaukee Braves will be mighty tough to beat for the National League pennant.

They missed by only one game last year when a few hits in the right spots at the right time could have changed the complexion of the pennant race, in which the Braves frittered away a solid lead in the closing weeks.

And at the start of this season's exhibition games it appeared as if Milwaukee was up to its old tricks. But the Braves suddenly caught fire, winning six of their last eight games.

Yesterday they combined the ingredients that make a pennant contender as they beat the Cincinnati Redlegs 12-6. Warren Spahn, bell cow of the mound staff with a 20-11 record last year, allowed only six hits, one of them a homer by Bob Thurman, in seven innings.

The Milwaukee hitters backed up his southpaw slants with 14 hits, including two homers by Joe Adcock—one a grand slammer—and another by Hank Aaron, the National League's No. 1 hitter last year. It was Aaron's sixth homer in the last 10 games.

Johnny Kucks also turned in a fine pitching chore in holding the St. Louis Cardinals to four hits as he went the route. But the world champions dropped a 1-0 decision to the Cardinals. A double by Del Ennis and a triple by Hobie Landrith in the second provided the working margin for Herm Wehmeier and Larry Jackson.

Move to Close Pimlico Balked by Legislature

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (U.P.) — Pimlico will be old Pimlico for another year.

The plan to close the track which has been in Baltimore since 1870 didn't even get out of the starting gate at the Maryland legislature.

The Senate finance committee wouldn't even bring the third move since 1947 to the floor. It sent it to the legislative council, a "study" group which meets between sessions.

There's nothing to prevent Pimlico from being closed, of course. But that wouldn't net the owners any money beyond the real estate. Its 40 racing days and the famous Preakness race also are worth a lot.

Fleck Is Club Pro

Rochester GCC Operates

The new ownership of the Rochester Golf and Country Club, formerly Brooklands, began operations of the Auburn road course last weekend with Jack Fleck as its pro.

The club received its royal initiation in its second day of operation last Saturday when Bob Soronen of Berkeley fired an ace on the par-3 145-yard 4th hole. It was the first hole-in-one of the area this season. Soronen had a 51 for the round.

The corporation which purchased the club is headed by several area men and among the stockholders are Ted Kroll, last year's top money winner among the pros and Doug Ford.

Allen's Motion for Dismissal Denied by Judge

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — A U.S. district court judge yesterday refused to dismiss a $35,000 defamation suit against Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen, retired University of Kansas basketball coach.

Allen's motion for dismissal was denied. No date has been set for the trial.

Harry D. Henshel of New York, an AAU official, filed the suit, alleging Allen damaged his reputation. Henshel objected to a speech Allen gave here Dec. 19, 1955, when Allen criticized the AAU for suspending Wes Santee, a former K.U. Miller.

guest pass each time they attend or sign for a 'Y' membership. Prerequisites for this course are the ability to pass the 'Y' shark tests or their equivalents, the most difficult of which is the 440-yard swim. Knowledge of all swimming strokes is required.

This course will be held each Wednesday night for eight weeks from 7:30 to 9:30 under the guidance of Mann, assisted by Fred Honeycutt. Both are 'Y' Aquatic Leader Examiners. Additional information may be obtained by calling Mann at the YMCA, FE 5-6116.

Olympic Swimmers Take Spotlight in NCAA Meet

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. — Two meet record time of 18:05.9 and then went on in the Olympics to set a world record of 17:52.9. Ellison's best time this season is 19 minutes flat.

The best competition of the meet is expected when Michigan's Dick Hanley and Indiana's Bill Woolsey, both members of the U.S. relay team which finished second in the Olympics, hook up in the 220-yard duel. They swam a dead heat at this distance in a dual meet and Hanley won the Big Ten title by less than an arm's length. The same pair will clash in the 440 freestyle.

Yale's 19-year-old sophomore sensation, Tim Jacko, and Indiana Olympian Dick Tanabe are due to meet in the 100-yard butterfly and 200-yard individual medley with exciting results.

Herb Fisher, who finished second aboard Head Play in the 1933 Kentucky Derby won by Don Mende and Brokers' Tip, has a stable of horses at Gulfstream Park in Florida.

Southfield Board Asks Further Study

Attorney Disputes Justice's Charges

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — Justice of the Peace Edward A. Elsarelli charged misappropriation of funds by the township board have been tabled for further study.

Appearing before the board, Fanny Adams, Elsarelli charged that 1.) salary raises given to the supervisor, clerk and treasurer in April, 1935, were illegal because they had already started their terms of office, 2.) that fixed car allowances for elected and appointed officials are improper, and 3.) three appraisers working for the township were hired illegally.

With regard to the hiring of appraisers, Dell said he could find no objection, saying "the township board created no offices or officers; there are hired job holders."

Adams' Counsel Strikes Back

Attacks Doctor's View Drugs Indicated Intent to Kill Widow

LONDON — Defense counsel for Dr. John Bodkin Adams today launched a move to discredit the testimony of a star prosecution medical witness who asserted Adams' treatment of a rich old woman patient showed "murderous intention."

Adams, 58, is accused of fatally drugging the 81-year-old woman, Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, to share in her estate.

Testifying for the prosecution, Dr. Arthur H. Douthwaite, senior physician at London's famous Guy's Hospital, was asked yesterday for his opinion of the massive doses of heroin and morphine that Dr. Adams prescribed for Mrs. Morrell.

"The only conclusion I can come to is that the intention was to terminate her life," Dr. Douthwaite said.

The defense today offered medical records to show Mrs. Morrell was given nightly injections of morphine in Cheshire even before Dr. Adams took her case.

Chief defense counsel Geoffrey Lawrence asked the prosecution expert whether the "field of condemnation that you are spreading from this witness box" includes the doctor who treated Mrs. Morrell before Dr. Adams took the case.

"If that treatment was for the stroke, yes," replied Dr. Douthwaite.

"Good gracious me!" exclaimed the defense attorney.

Mrs. Morrell died in November, 1950, two and a half years after she suffered a stroke. Dr. Adams signed the death certificate recording cerebral thrombosis. Her body was cremated.

Marquette Dad Sues City for Son's Injury

MARQUETTE (AP)—The father of a 9-year-old boy who was burned in an accident two years ago has filed a $343,079 damage suit against the city.

Eugene Swanson of Marquette said yesterday in the suit that his son, Keith, was burned when he came in contact with highly charged wires at a power substation on the grounds of St. Luke's hospital March 5, 1955.

Swanson contended the boy has lost the use of his hands. He asked $312,485 for the boy's mental and physical sufferings and $30,393 for medical expenses.

Swanson alleged negligence on the part of the city.

Recreation Plan to Be Voted On in Independence

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—Taxpayers in Independence Township will be asked to vote on the Recreation Program Proposition at the Spring election next Monday. The levy of 37½ cents per $1000 valuation will cost each tax paying family approximately $1.25 for two years.

Because of the steady growth in the population of the township which has been estimated to be 97.2 per cent since April 1950, it is felt that a recreational program is vitally needed.

A planned program of playground activities for young children, skilled activities such as baseball, archery for the older group, swimming instruction and supervision for all children are among activities considered.

This program will be administered by a Recreation Board which would be appointed by the Township Board.

He was taken to Pontiac General Hospital with a fractured left arm and face lacerations. Hospital attendants report his condition is good this morning.

Students to Get Crossing Guard

But Whitmer Disallows Demands by Parents for Bus Service

A compromise between the Pontiac School System and a parents group was reached yesterday concerning youngsters who cross Woodward and South Blvd. to reach the Wilson School.

The parents and the principal, Glenn M. Husted, had asked the Board of Education for a guard at the intersection used by more than 200 children several times a day. They also requested bus transportation for those pupils living a mile or more from the school which is at 511 S. Sanford St.

Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent, pointed out to the group that granting the request for transportation would "open the door" to similar requests from all parts of the city.

This cost would fall on local taxpayers exclusively, Whitmer said, since state aid is not provided for transporting students within a city.

He did agree that a guard would be provided at the crossing on a trial basis, to see if it corrected the safety hazard which the parents said existed.

Also at the conference were J. and A. S. Levey, director of transportation for the school system.

Lake Orion Artist at Detroit

Blind at Birth, Girl to Give Concert

By LAOMA SANFORD
Lake Orion Correspondent

LAKE ORION—A recital at Detroit Bible Institute on Saturday by 20-year-old Lucille Stanback is an accomplishment seldom accomplished by a student blind and partially paralyzed at birth.

Daughter of the Jess Stanbacks of Lake Orion, Lucille, in addition to her accomplishment with the piano, plays the accordion, writes poems (two of which she will present at the recital), composes hymns and has written instrumental.

Lucille's mother studied braille before her daughter learned to read, and became a teacher of the blind to learn their problems. Lucille has no braille books, her mother reads to her and she types her work on a braille typewriter.

Lucille attended public schools and graduated from Central High School in Detroit with honors. She is now an honor student at the DBI where she is majoring in Christian education and music.

The girl, who is the music pupil of Mark Wessel of Greahard Lake, will include in her 8 o'clock recital, eight classics on the piano, one of her compositions, "All in Fun," and two poems.

The event is endorsed by the Lake Orion Lion's Club whose tribute to the determination of a members feel this program is a mother and daughter.

Possible Suicide by New Yorker

Find Student's Body by Apartment House in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — The possibility of suicide is being weighed in a police inquiry into the death of a young New York man whose broken body was found in front of an apartment house on San Francisco's Telegraph Hill.

Homicide inspectors said available evidence indicated that Charles Clement MacMillan, 23, a student of City College of New York, may have jumped from the roof of the three-story apartment building. His battered body, with the head bashed in, was discovered last night.

A brother, John Clement MacMillan, told San Francisco police by telephone from New York that Charles had disappeared from home last Thursday after having talked of self-destruction during recent weeks. The brother quoted the student as having said he was "depressed" before he vanished.

John further related that their widowed mother, Edith, 52, was called to the telephone in New York yesterday and asked to accept a collect call from San Francisco. Not knowing who was calling, since she had received no word from her missing son, Mrs. MacMillan declined to pay the long distance collect charges and the call was not completed, John said.

The brother added that Charles was a veteran of the Korean War and had been attending CCNY as a physics major.

Cost of Education Doubles Since '40

WASHINGTON 48—It costs about twice as much to send a boy or girl to college now as it did before World War II.

An Office of Education Survey, made public yesterday, showed that the expenses of an undergraduate student in private colleges average about $2,000 a year. In 1939-1940, the average annual cost was $1,023.

For students in public colleges, the average annual costs now total $1,500 as compared with $747 in the 1939-1940 period.

The survey covers such expenses as tuition, books and supplies as well as room and board, clothing, travel and recreation.

Hollywood Headlines

Martha Hyer Combines Brains and Film Glamor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD 48—Bob Hope's new leading lady is a green-eyed, honey-haired Texan who has proved that brains are no drawback for a glamor girl.

She is Martha Hyer, 27, a Fort Worth girl who graduated from Northwestern University at 20 with high honors. She has written magazine stories and collects paintings—has a Utrillo, Renoir, Dufy and two Vlamincks.

But she's no square. Considering her assets, it's no wonder she's on her way to top stardom.

Martha's career has been booming in the past year with leading roles opposite Rock Hudson, Tony Curtis and Van Johnson. Her biggest break comes next month when she teams with Frank Sinatra in "The Mirror." "Trouble in Paris."

"Just think—I get Hope, Paris in the spring and 27 dresses by Balmain," she said dreamily.

Her climb to success hasn't all been easy. She arrived here six years ago after graduating from college and enrolling at the Pasadena Playhouse, spawning ground for many a star. Her discovery was a long-distance affair.

Singer Ella Logan was entertaining troops in Germany, met Martha's father, Col. Julien Hyer, 15th Army judge advocate. Proud Papa told of his daughter's hopes, and Miss Logan cabled her agent to help Martha along. The result: a contract at RKO.

She didn't do much more than Tim Holt Westerns there and was dropped after two years. Divorced in 1953, she resumed her career with "Abbott and Costello Go to Mars." But after "So Big" and "Sabrina," U-I signed her and her career started to build.

"Naturally, I was impatient in the early days," she remarked. "But I realize I was too young. Now I look more mature, and I'm in a fortunate position. Most of Hollywood leading men are over 35 (she's being kind) and they require leading ladies who do not look too juvenile, yet are still young."

Woman, 81, Beaten, Says Her Son Did It

NEW YORK 48—A 51-year-old man is charged with felonious assault in the beating of his 84-year-old mother.

Mrs. Mae Amory was taken to Bellevue Hospital yesterday with a fractured skull and multiple injuries. Her condition was described as critical.

She had been living with her son Fremont Amory, an architect, for about a year in his Manhattan apartment.

At first the frail mother denied her son had beaten her during an argument. Later, however, she told police: "Yes, he did it. I wanted to protect him. I didn't want him to be hurt."

RISE FROM THE RUINS—In sharp contrast to the bombed-out buildings surrounding it rise the ultramodern lines of this new Catholic church in the British sector of West Berlin. It reflects the reconstruction boom which promises to make the ravaged city the most architecturally advanced in the world.

Housewives List Men Who Are Most, Least

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"We ordinary kitchen mechanics (housewives) would like to express our own oohs and ahs about the sexiest males," said a communique from Mrs. Phyllis Carter, from Toledo, O., which is out in God's country.

The housewives rule the world. Kitchen Mechanics, Inc., was nothing to brush off, Mrs. Carter was their spokesman. She picked the 10 Most and 10 Least Sexy from TV and the movies. Here they are, with her comments:

Most: "Peter Graves, George DeWitt (really loaded), Perry Como, Pat Boone (brings out the mother instinct), Peter Lawford, Charles Bronson, Aldo Ray (husky type), Bob Crosby (the type you wish your husband was like sometimes), Dean Miller, Rock Hudson."

Least: "Jonathan Winters, Jackie Gleason, Arthur Godfrey, Ken Carson, Henry Morgan, Michael Wilding, Elvis (he's obnoxious), Jeff Chandler, Warren Hull, George Burns." To one or two of these, she added: "Ugh!"

So there, kitchen mechanics—and now let's talk about girls ... but, hey, whatever happened to Clark Gable?

Kathryn Grayson fainted after m. c.'ing the Jackie Gleason TV show last Saturday and was found in a heap on the floor in her dressing room by Mrs. Edward Slotkin (Shirley Eder), a close friend visiting her from Detroit. She blacked out on stage and didn't remember doing the last song. Suffering a virus and high temperature, she'd been warned not to do the show but felt she must go on. Jackie Gleason helped revive her. A few hours later she was resting quietly but under doctor's care.

Vice Pres Nixon told 1,000 guests at the Radio-TV dinner in Wash'n that he'd meet the world's most famous leaders. Turning to Hugh O'Brian, he added, "But when I tell my girls I've seen Wyatt Earp, only then will I be a hero to them. ... Tom Ewell says with all the fuss'n' about whether Marilyn Monroe'll be in it, nobody cares who'll play the brothers Karamazov in "The Brothers Karamazov."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL ...

Lillian Roth says her April 2 cafe date in Las Vegas will be her last. ... Rock Hudson, in Rome, asked Julie London to accept his Oscar—if and when ... The Dukes in Las Vegas will feature 50 strippers and nudes (Ben Blue, starring, says he'll keep his clothes on) ... Congress will investigate the oil tanker holdings of Aristotle Onassis, who owns the Monte Carlo casino ... Singer Shirley Leigh will appear in a B-way musical.

Raymond Massey's son Daniel is getting screen test offers ... Eddie Bracken formed a company to make rockets and missiles.

EARL'S PEARLS ... Remember when history was made at half the price it costs today?

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Radio Comic Bill Kemp says those faster-than-sound planes are handy: "If I tell a story I don't like, I can have a plane shoot it down before it reaches Chicago." ... That's earl, brother.

Red China Plans to Boost Industry

HONG KONG 48—A Japanese business leader just back from Peiping today said Red China plans to double its investment in heavy industry over the next five years.

Koichi Yoshino, head of an 11-man trade delegation from Osaka, said Red Chinese officials told him 30 per cent of the country's imports under the next five-year plan beginning Jan. 1, 1958, will be invested in heavy machinery and other equipment.

He said Japan will not be able to make any long-term trade agreements with Peiping unless the embargo imposed by the free world on shipping strategic materials to Red China is lifted. The ban was clamped on during the Korean War.

In Washington, an authoritative source said the United States, which took the lead in the embargo, was willing to reconsider restrictions on nonstrategic trade with Red China.

450 Below Zero Coldest Reading?

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — One of the coldest spots in the United States is here in a laboratory at the University of Virginia. Minus 450 degrees Fahrenheit is not unusual.

Dr. John W. Stewart induces temperatures close to absolute zero with liquid hydrogen or helium under fantastic pressure and then examines the effect of the temperature pressure on certain solids.

His research is of value to astronomers making calculations on the theory that the interiors of the planets Jupiter and Saturn may be made up of solid hydrogen or helium.

The pressures applied are as much as 20,000 times the normal sea level pressure of the earth's atmosphere.

Garfish May Be Used to Control Bluegills

MEMPHIS—The garfish, a remnant of a prehistoric fossil family and the bane of both commercial and sports fishermen because it preys on game fish, may yet have a definite use in fishing waters.

An experiment is being made to see whether gars can control bluegills, which often are so prolific they become stunted in overcrowded lakes.

Plan to Revise Guide to Historical Literature

NEW YORK — A revised edition of the "Guide to Historical Literature," the first since the original publication in 1931, will be prepared soon.

The American Historical Association says the revised guide will provide a "standard instrument for serious students of history seeking to learn their way around in the literature of any of the major fields."

Western Film Idol Turns to Ranching

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — George (Pete) Morrison, once the idol of western movies in the silent film days, is now a Jefferson county rancher.

Morrison admits he gets quite a kick out of television but never goes to the movies any more.

"They run some of my stuff on TV once in awhile," Morrison says.

Before he became a star, Morrison was a stunt man and double for some of the biggest names in silent films, including William S. Hart, Harry Carey, Hoot Gibson, Wallace and Noah Berry, Ramon Navarro and Reginald Denny.

Morrison appeared in more than 125 westerns and serials during two decades of silent movie-making.

Grains Sputter, Turn Lower

CHICAGO (U)—Grain futures started higher on the board of trade today but the uptick lacked steam and prices dipped somewhat on profit taking.

Losses were fractional in most cases, with soybeans showing a little more strength than wheat or corn. The extremely tight supply situation is causing buying in beans.

There was some export news to bolster buying in both wheat and soybeans. Hedge selling by elevator interests depressed corn.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 lower, May $2.23 1/2, corn 1/4 to 1/2 lower, May $1.32, oats unchanged to 1/4 lower, May 72, rye unchanged to 1/4 higher, May $1.28 1/2, soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 higher, May $2.42, and land 3 cents a hundred pounds lower to 2 cents higher, May $14.52.

Earnings

NEW YORK (U)—President Leonard H. Goldenson reported to stockholders yesterday that the income of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters Inc. for 1956 was $3,000,000, compared with $2,500,000 in 1955.

LORAIN O. (U)—Net income of The Lorain O. Co. rose 2.7 per cent in 1956 over 1955 and net sales were 33 1/2 per cent higher. Net sales for the year ended Dec. 31, 1956, were $4,300,000, compared with $3,974,000 in 1955.

PORT HURON (U)—Muelser Brass Co. reported earnings for the first quarter of the fiscal year of $200,000, equal to 83 cents per common share compared with $180,000 or $1.21 a share in the same quarter last year. Sales for the quarter ended Feb. 28 were $1,200,000, against $1,100,000 in the year ago period.

DETROIT (U)—Murray Corp. of America reported a profit of $2,000,000 for the six months ended Feb. 28, or $1.10 a share. The company's earnings for the same period in 1956 were $1,800,000, or $1.00 a share.

Dearborn-in-Florida Up for Vote Monday

DEARBORN (U)—Dearborn, Detroit's largest suburb, must decide soon on an offer of free land in Florida for a proposed retirement village.

Harold A. Keats, Florida contractor who offered the city 1,000 acres 30 miles inland from Ft. Pierce, said yesterday "if Dearborn doesn't grab this offer I'll look for another town that will."

Voter approval and a court test on the legality of the proposed retirement village are holding up plans for the project. The city votes on the question Monday.

The land Keats is offering is part of a 10-square-mile parcel he owns.

"The land is high, dry and worth a potential two million dollars," Keats said. "I'm no philanthropist," he added, "a retirement village would increase the value of the whole parcel."

Dearborn city officials have proposed establishing a Florida town as a place for Dearborn residents to retire.

U.S. Opposes Block Booking of Films for TV

WASHINGTON (U)—The government moved today to ensure television viewers a better selection of Hollywood movies for their late evening entertainment.

The Justice Department said it is seeking to prevent television stations from being subjected to the "block booking" system that was declared illegal for movie theaters in 1938.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. said a civil action filed against Loew's, Inc., in New York yesterday charges the company with forcing TV stations to accept large quantities of old MGM pictures to get the ones they want.

In many cases, the Justice Department added, Loew's required the TV outlets to take more than 700 pictures from the MGM backlog or get none at all.

The films were released for television by Loew's, owner of MGM, a year ago but have been screened in only a few areas.

Edison Says Mining May Hurt Power Plant

LANSING (U)—Detroit Edison Co. spokesmen say salt mining by a new process may be undermining footings of a huge $2.5 million dollar power plant in River Rouge.

The spokesmen, appearing before a state House committee, urged passage of a bill to regulate the mining operation and hold operators responsible for damages to adjacent property.

Representatives of the salt industry denied Edison's charge and said no remedies are required until actual damage can be proved.

Eastern Strike Stops Trains

Commuters Depend On Alternate Rail Service in New York Area

NEW YORK (AP)—Trains of the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad stopped operating at 7 a.m. today, signaling the start of a strike affecting some 65,000 daily commuters between New York and New Jersey.

A walkout by five unions of nonoperating employees hit commuters in New York and Newark, Hoboken and Jersey City, N.J.

Herman A. Stuchman, trustee of the bankrupt H&M, late yesterday appealed again to the National Mediation Board in Washington for a presidential fact-finding board. Such a move would delay strike action for 60 days. There was no immediate response to Stuchman's plea.

Other railroads planned extra service during the rush hours. The Erie and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, which share ferry depots at Hoboken and Manhattan, increased their ferry service.

The Pennsylvania Railroad augmented its service between Newark and Pennsylvania Station, Manhattan.

The Jersey Central stepped up its ferry runs between Jersey City and New York.

Bus companies made plans for accommodating more passengers. Unions involved represent telegraphers, electrical workers, signalmen, car men and about 100 members of the Transport Workers Union in nonoperating jobs. They have demanded wage increases of 25¢ an hour over a three-year period. The company has offered an 8½ cent-an-hour wage raise in a one-year contract. Present wages range from $1.98½ to $2.36 an hour.

House Kills Plan to Probe U.S. Credit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Proposals for an investigation of the nation's credit and money structure appeared today to have been sidetracked indefinitely.

The House yesterday killed a Democratic-backed resolution which would have authorized an inquiry under the direction of Rep. Patman (D-Tex.), long a critic of administration "hard money" policies for restraining inflation.

In the wake of the 225-17 vote against the Patman proposal, Republican leaders said they saw little prospect of any kind of an investigation now—even an independent commission type of study suggested by President Eisenhower.

Democratic leaders were less positive, but agreed there was no immediate prospect of action. A member of the House Banking Committee, which would have had jurisdiction over the Patman inquiry, said the Eisenhower proposal would never win committee approval to bring it to the floor.

To Show Children's Art

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Described as the most comprehensive showing of children's artwork ever seen in this country, 200 paintings from 40 countries will be exhibited at the University of Michigan April 4 through 30. Alexander Picken, instructor in art education, said the paintings show "the similarity of interest of children all over the world."
