U. S. Blimp Escorts Mayflower

APPROACHING PROVINCETOWN — A U. S. Navy blimp escorts the Mayflower II as the Pilgrim replica was 50 miles south of Nantucket Island, en route to Provincetown, Mass. Note crewmen atop masthead under the American flag.

With a Coast Guard Assist

'Land Ho' for Mayflower

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (INS)—Mayflower II sighted the American mainland today at the conclusion of her historic crossing of the Atlantic, and headed for Provincetown Harbor at the end of a towline.

The replica of the original ship which cast anchor in Provincetown waters 337 years ago sighted land about the same time that watchers ashore spotted her under full sail, and proceeding at a speed of about five knots.

But threats of squalls and thunderstorms led Capt. Alan Villiers, skipper of the doughty little craft, to accept a tow from the Coast Guard Cutter Yankton, at a point about 23 miles from Provincetown.

Capt. Villiers had promised in a radio message that he would reach port today, even if it had to be at the end of a towline.

Provincetown Harbor and the town were in holiday mood, and thousands were posted at vantage points to catch a glimpse of the 180-ton galleon.

Capt. Villiers and his crew of 33 trimmed 13 days from the "record" set by the original Mayflower. The modern version required 53 days for the zig zag crossing of the Atlantic. The original Mayflower sailed from Brixhan, England, Sept. 6, 1620, and arrived in Provincetown Nov. 11.

STAYS OFF SHORE

Mayflower II remained well off shore after crossing the Nantucket shoals, west of Nantucket lightship. She headed well up outside of Pollock Rip lightship, far to the eastward of Stone Horse lightship, groaning its famed foghorn because of a patch of fog drifting up from Vineyard Sound.

Capt. Villier's square - rigged ship was well escorted. Two blimps, a destroyer, a Coast Guard tug, the Coast Guard training vessel Eagle and assorted fishing vessels and "press yachts" churned along in the motley armada.

The convoying vessels remained to leeward of the Mayflower II so as not to blanket her from the wind. She needed every puff to make the five knot speed at which

Alert to Emergency Dispersal

Warships of 18 Countries Await Review at Norfolk

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The warships of 18 friendly nations rode easily at anchor today, awaiting review by their top military officials but alert to the unexpected—an emergency dispersal.

Possible withdrawal of the greatest armada in recent peacetime history even figured in the operational plans of the Navy in this concentration of 111 ships of 17 foreign nations and the United States.

"Of course a dispersal plan is in effect," said Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet and official host of the review, "but the concentration in the area is within the allowable tolerances as far as ships of the United States are concerned."

This reference, in an interview, was to Wright's plan for allowing no more than an accepted maximum of capital ships in a given restricted area at one time.

The 111 ships — 78 of them American — rode smartly at anchor in full dress flags and bunting, awaiting the steam-by of the three reviewing ships, the guided missile cruisers Canberra and Boston and the tactical command ship Northampton.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson was in the Canberra as chief reviewing officer and representative of President Eisenhower. With Wilson in the main reviewing ship were Adm. Wright and Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Oh Men, Oh Women

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The language barrier is causing some headaches here for Navy shore patrol officers trying to keep tabs of the activities of sailors from ships of 18 nations participating in today's international naval review.

C.W.O. A. R. Lucas said many of the foreign sailors can't readily spot the important difference between doors labeled "men" and those labeled "women."

Caution Urged in Arms Talks

Dulles Slows Stassen Following Complaints of Allied Governments

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles is reported to have advised disarmament specialist Harold Stassen to adopt more cautious tactics in private negotiations with the Russians.

ALLIES COMPLAIN

Dulles acted to meet vigorous backstage complaints by British, French and some other European governments against Stassen's private meetings with Valerian Zorin, Soviet representative in the London disarmament talks.

Informed officials said there was also some feeling within the State Department that the disarmament chief has "raced ahead of his instructions."

What annoyed the Europeans especially was Stassen's move in presenting to Zorin informally a 23-page summary of disarmament possibilities. This was not an official Western proposal but papers aimed at acquainting the Soviets with possible Western thinking on the problem.

Some Europeans also expressed the view that Stassen might fall into a Soviet propaganda trap.

Responsible authorities said Dulles and Stassen now are in complete agreement on the need for being exceedingly careful in talks with the Soviets. They agreed that a united allied front must be presented.

Over-all, Dulles is reported to feel that Stassen is doing an outstanding job.

City Manager Now Involved in Police Hassle

Believe Willman Serves as 'Clerk' in Funneling Any Charges Forward

The dispute between Police Chief Herbert W. Straley and the Police Officers Assn. took a new twist last night, and included City Manager Walter K. Willman in the hassle.

City Attorney William A. Ewart last night told the City Commission and some 10 officers that if any charges are to be made against the chief, Willman must be the first to receive them.

Commissioners last Tuesday asked an opinion after they were criticized by a former member of the old Police Trial Board for not taking action.

Ewart further ruled that if the city manager fails to pass along the charges to the satisfaction of the association, members may then present grievances to the new Civil Service Commission.

After last night's meeting, Ewart added that this appeal would be "subject to court review whether they have this right."

NO PART IN FIGHT

Commissioners learned from the opinion that they have no part in the battle of words between Straley and the officers.

The opinion said that a 90-day "bar" would prohibit alleged violations 90 days or older from being filed against the chief.

Ewart pulled the scattering of rulings from the Civil Service Act which he termed "indefinite on several points" and "vague in a number of particulars."

Police, Paul L. Merideth, said he agreed with Ewart's interpretation of the law, except on the point whether Willman has any discretion as to what to do with the charges.

"He has no discretion in this act, so to speak," Merideth said.

The city attorney later denied he said the manager had any discretion in the matter.

He agreed with Commissioner Floyd P. Miles that the city manager simply serves as a "clerk" in funneling any charges forward.

Ewart opined that the Civil Service Commission holds the right to make any investigations.

Willman commented, "I think that, as director of public safety, I should have the opportunity of examining any charges before they go to the civil service commission."

Liquor Group Urges Williams to Kill Tax Bill

LANSING (AP) — A new appeal to veto the school aid bill providing for higher taxes on whisky and cigarettes has been directed to Gov. Williams by the Michigan Table - Top Congress.

Earl Hebert, executive director of the organization of liquor retailers, said approval of the bill would "tend to aggravate a growing problem in the state regarding moonshining and bootlegging."

The school aid measure would put a four per cent excise tax on whisky.

Hebert said in a letter to the governor that per capita collection of taxes on distilled spirits in Michigan already is far above that in the neighboring states of Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio.

The governor has said he will disclose on a statewide telecast Thursday night whether he will sign or veto the school aid bill.

Jimmy Dorsey Dies in Hospital

Bandleader Had Been Under Treatment for Cancer of Lung

NEW YORK (AP) — Bandleader Jimmy Dorsey died today in Doctors Hospital.

Dorsey, 53, entered the hospital about a month ago.

Cause of death is believed to be cancer of the lung.

He was a brother of Tommy Dorsey, also a bandleader, who died last November.

Hart at CAB Hearing

LEADOFF MAN — Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, of Birmingham, was the first man to testify as the Civil Aeronautics Board yesterday began the Michigan portion of its Great Lakes air service investigation in Lansing. More than three dozen cities in the state have named delegations to appear at the three day hearing. Most are out to win CAB approval for improved or additional airline service, or both.

City Faces CAB Today on Air Service Appeal

Three representatives of the city were in Lansing today appealing for commercial airline service for Pontiac Municipal Airport before the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The often-postponed hearing is being attended by Homer D. Hoskins, manager of the airport, City Attorney William E. Ewart, and John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

On the hearing is expected to hinge heavily whether the local field will get "feeder-line" service, Hoskins said.

"We will stress public convenience and necessity as our major and number one need," he said yesterday.

The manager pointed out that an answer will probably not be handed the city "for six months or longer." "The demand is so great for airline service in the country," he said, "that the CAB cannot handle all the requests any faster."

He added that it would be the CAB that would designate which airline would bring service here.

A move has been underway to get the airlines in Pontiac since a 4,000 east-west runway, opened last October, made it possible for larger passenger planes to use the field.

Postpone Atomic Test

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) —A 48-hour postponement has been ordered for the atomic test explosion scheduled for today.

Fair, Cooler Seen for Area Tonight

Fair and cooler is the prediction for the Pontiac area tonight with a low of 50 - 54 degrees.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and warmer with chance of scattered thundershowers and thunderstorms late tomorrow. The high temperature is forecast for 80.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 61. The thermometer registered 75 at 2 p.m.

Emperor's Horse Dies

TOKYO (AP) — Emperor Hirohito's favorite white horse, on which he was photographed countless times before and during World War II, died May 28 at the age of 23, it was learned today. School Board Aspirant Needs 277 on Petition

Given 3 Days to File Signatures to Challenge Schimmel's Victory

A recount of the ballots in Monday's Pontiac school board election was demanded late last night by Lloyd R. Ludy, who lost by a scant 12 votes to Louis H. Schimmel.

Ludy called Vern L. Schiller, board treasurer, last night to state that he wanted a recount.

Schiller informed him that he had three days in which to file a petition signed by 10 per cent of those who voted in Monday's election, under the state law governing school elections.

The three-day period begins after the board has officially canvassed the vote, which will be done tonight.

RECOUNTS RARE

School officials have received an attorney's opinion on the recount procedure because such recounts have been almost unknown in Michigan.

Schiller said a recount in Lansing this year was, to his knowledge, the first in recent state history.

If the proper petition is filed with the board in time, the board is obliged to appoint a committee of four of its members, a majority, to conduct the recount, Schiller said.

By law, he added, the ballot boxes are kept sealed for 30 days after the election and are presently sitting in the board's store room.

William Downes, a Ludy supporter, yesterday asked Oakland County Prosecutor Fred C. Ziem to impound the ballots, but was refused.

ANY PRECINCT OPEN

Recount petitions can be limited to any precinct indicated by the petitioner, the board's attorney has stated. Ludy told Schiller he wants only Washington, Bagley and Jefferson precinct recounted. Washington went 4 to 1 for Schimmel.

A counter-petition can be filed within 24 hours after the original petition, the attorney said, if Schimmel wants some other precincts recounted.

In commenting on the matter, Schimmel stated today, "If there is going to be any recount, let's recount the whole school district not just three precincts."

A $5 deposit must be made with the board for each precinct to be recounted.

Ludy's narrow defeat Monday was the closest school race in the memory of Pontiac school officials. His running mate, William H. Anderson, lead the four-man field, with 1,568 votes. Ludy received 1,324 votes, as against Schimmel's 1,336.

In all 2,769 persons voted, which means Ludy will need 277 signatures on his recount petition.

He has until Saturday night to file.

Launches Informal Campaign for Support

Ike Hosts House Republicans at Breakfast

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower, back in good health, courted House Republicans from "A" to "C" today with a bacon and egg breakfast launching an informal campaign to win support for his embattled legislative program.

Several of the Congressmen took occasion to bring up the need for budget paring and at least one, Ohio's Clarence Brown, got in a dig at the school aid program advocated by Mr. Eisenhower.

Brown reported to newsmen on the White House steps:

"I told him Ohio was against the school aid program — just said that in Ohio if we voted for that bill, we would all get hung."

Mr. Eisenhower, beginning his first full day back on the job after his stomach upset, looked in the pink of health. He ate a breakfast of poached eggs, orange juice, toast and decaffeinized coffee.

HAD MISERABLE DAY

Chatting with his guests, he commented smilingly:

"Really, I had a miserable day Monday — gee, was I miserable."

The breakfast opened a series of such morning sessions Mr. Eisenhower will hold in the next two or three weeks, entertaining every Republican member of the House and Senate. The guest list today ran from E. Ross Adair of Indiana to Robert J. Corbett of Pennsylvania, in alphabetical order.

Mr. Eisenhower circulated among the tables, chatting with small groups. The breakfast of scrambled eggs, bacon, sausage, sweet rolls and orange juice was served buffet style.

Many of those present confined their conversation to social chit-chat, avoiding any controversial topics. The President chatted at length about his herd of Black Angus cattle to one group.

Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, House GOP whip, said the breakfast accomplished its purpose of bringing the Congressmen "in a little closer touch with the President."

Says Ike 'Jovial, Happy'

President Eisenhower appeared "in excellent health, jovial and happy," this morning, said Rep. William S. Broomfield, of Royal Oak, after breakfasting with the chief executive.

"The President had a good appetite as he ate breakfast of poached eggs, toast and honey, coffee and orange juice," said Broomfield, who sat at Mr. Eisenhower's table as the President conversed about major issues facing Congress.

Mr. Eisenhower discussed foreign aid and the defense budget, federal aid to education, and post office department pay raises, Broomfield said in a telephone call to The Pontiac Press.

Woman's Story Gains Support

Statements Back Plea of Self-Defense in Shooting of Husband

Statements taken yesterday supported the story of a Waterford Township mother that she fatally shot her estranged husband in self-defense during a gun duel Saturday night, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem says.

Mrs. Kathryn O'Neil, 27, who is recuperating in Pontiac General Hospital from a pistol wound in her left side, has said she shot her husband, Willis, 42, with a shotgun after he broke into her home at 1260 Eason Rd. and began firing a .38 caliber pistol at her.

Statements were taken yesterday, Ziem said, from the woman's father, Edward Rockwell, of 5344 Tubbs Rd.; her two children from a previous marriage, Kathie Kelly, 8, and Fred, 7; and from her neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Waddie Ellis, 1268 Eason.

Rockwell confirmed that he had loaned his daughter the shotgun Saturday night because her husband had threatened her life. The two children, Ziem said, stayed in their bedroom until the shooting was over.

The Ellises confirmed they heard the sound of glass breaking as O'Neil, a real estate agent of 3636 Shaddick Ave. apparently broke into his wife's home. They added they heard five shots in quick succession, which authorities believed were the four shots fired by O'Neil and the one shot fired by Mrs. O'Neil.

Mother, Baby Injured in City Auto Accident

A mother and her one-month-old son were treated and released from St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital yesterday following an accident at Bagley and Diston streets.

Mary Ann Briscoe, 20, of 52 Vermont St., and the child Ronald were passengers in an auto driven by Leonard Briscoe, 21, husband and father, who admitted, Pontiac police said, he was driving on the wrong side of the street when his auto struck a truck head-on.

Driver of the truck was Levy Cadell, 35, of 57 Bagley St., according to police.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

In what direction does a tornado usually travel? How fast does it move and why does it sometimes skip from place to place over the face of the earth?

Most of the experts agree that tornadoes usually form along a line squall, traveling in an easterly direction. They often move as slowly as a frontal system, just twenty or thirty miles an hour, though the whirling of the circular winds may measure up to 100 m.p.h. or more.

Therefore, as a general rule, if you are west of a suddenly sighted tornado funnel, chances are it won't pass over you.

Because the tornado forms over a low cloud, it touches the earth only when it extends far enough to come in contact with the land below. Winds in the area are usually highly erratic and may shift the height of the cloud frequently, thus moving the end of the funnel up and down—causing it to skip about the countryside, coming to earth at various places, miles apart.

As far as is known, a motorist in a modern car can always outrun a tornado if he can drive directly away from the funnel, even if it is traveling the same course, behind him. A speed of sixty or seventy miles an hour might be required.

2 Trucks, 2 Cars Tangle on Telegraph

A four-vehicle accident, involving a tractor pulling a trailer, another truck, and two cars, occurred at Telegraph road and W. Long Lake road in Bloomfield Township Tuesday afternoon.

Injured were John H. Little, 37, of 3185 Franklin Rd., Bloomfield Township; and Learner Barger, 56, of Idaho, who was riding with Little.

Barger is listed by hospital officials as in "fair" condition, and Little was released after treatment of minor injuries.

Schulert told deputies the trailer jackknifed as he hit the brakes and swung into the side of Little's car, forcing it into the path of the truck driven by Sol R. Greenwald, 37, of 4136 Kendall St., Detroit. Both Little's car and the truck then ran off the road, hitting a parked car belonging to Robert V. Borah, of 5330 Crooks Rd., Birmingham.

Teamster Official Faces Trial Today

The indictment stemmed from Brewster's refusal to present union records and answer questions before the Senate Investigations subcommittee Jan. 19. Brewster contended the subcommittee had no authority to question him.

John K. Pickens, one of Brewster's lawyers, said he intended to ask again for a long continuance of the trial. Federal Dist. Judge John J. Sirica previously had rejected a similar motion.

Pickens has contended that "mass publicity" in connection with the Senate Rackets Committee's investigation of the Teamsters Union makes it impossible to get a fair trial now.

While refusing to testify before the Investigations subcommittee, Brewster subsequently appeared before the Rackets Committee and testified for five days.

U. of M. to Honor Three High Officials

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Three top officials from the fields of government, industry and education will be among those to be presented honorary degrees at the University of Michigan's 113th commencement exercises Saturday.

Honorary doctor of laws degrees will be presented to Postmaster General Summerfield; Ernest R. Breech, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., and the commencement speaker—Northwestern University President J. Roscoe Miller.

Man Thinks Prosecutor Should Be His Attorney

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Juan Carrillo Ortiz, arraigned before Judge Robert S. Tullar on narcotics charges, was asked if he had an attorney to represent him.

"Mr. Castro is going to be my attorney," said Ortiz, nodding toward Raul H. Castro, the county prosecutor.

The judge explained: "Mr. Castro is county attorney. He's probably going to try to put you in the penitentiary."

Ortiz asked the judge to appoint another lawyer for him.

Broomfield Sponsors Action

New School Aid Bill Near

Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) plans to introduce in the House of Representatives an alternate proposal for federal aid to education.

Broomfield announced his intention following a conversation today with President Eisenhower, whose reaction to the proposal was "favorable, if present legislation is killed on the floor."

BOND ISSUE BACKING

Broomfield said in Washington, D. C. that his bill would call for federal funds to back local school district bond issues.

This proposal, Broomfield said, is similar to legislation he once sponsored as a Michigan State Senator. It was passed by the Legislature in Lansing in 1955.

The present federal aid bill has met strong opposition in Congress, Broomfield pointed out, particularly from the South, which fears mandatory racial integration would go hand in hand with any direct federal funds.

"In case this bill is defeated on the floor within the next few weeks," Broomfield said, "some other proposal should be available, that would be attractive to both North and South."

At a breakfast discussion with the President and other Republican members of Congress this morning, Broomfield said Eisenhower was "utterly opposed" to federal government control of schools.

He said Eisenhower looked upon federal aid as a temporary program, to be terminated when emergency situations are relieved.

AID BILL MUST PASS

The President repeated his insistance that some type of federal aid legislation must be passed this spring, Broomfield added.

Broomfield said he intended asking Pontiac School Board President Louis H. Schimmel to aid in drafting the bill.

Schimmel, who helped draft the 1955 Michigan legislation, is "the best expert that we've got on this subject," Broomfield said.

Bonding companies, Broomfield explained, would find school bonds more attractive if the federal government guaranteed interest and payments on them.

Federal funds would be available to the so-called distressed school districts, where more money for building and operating costs is desperately needed on the one hand, but at the same time taxes are at a peak and bonding provisions exhausted.

U.S. Raps Soviet Mideast Proposal

WASHINGTON (INS) — The United States publicly accused the Soviet Union today of waging a campaign of "treat and intimidation" in the Middle East.

The charge was contained in a note delivered to the Russians Tuesday and released today.

The note was a reply to a proposal by the Soviets on April 19 for a four-power declaration renouncing the use of force in the Middle East that was sent to the U.S., Britain and France.

The U. S. rejected the Russian suggestion as "unnecessary" and said:

"Opposition to the use of force in the settlement of disputes anywhere has been and continues to be a cardinal element of the foreign policy of the United States."

Officials said that the U. S. reply was similar but not identical to notes also handed to the Soviet Ministry of Foreign Affairs Tuesday by Britain and France rejecting the Russian Middle East "peace plan."

Hoffa Wire-Tap Trial Moved to September

NEW YORK (AP) — The trial of James R. Hoffa, ninth vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and two others on charges of conspiring to tap telephones in the Detroit headquarters of the Teamsters' Union, postponed to Sept. 23 by Federal Judge Edmund L. Palmieri.

Hoffa was indicted last May 14 with Owen Bernard Brennan, president of Teamster Local 337, and Bernard Bates Spindel, professional wire-tapper. They pleaded innocent last May 21 and were released in $2,500 bail each.

New Vernor Contract Ends 5-Week Strike

DETROIT (AP) — A five-week-old strike against Vernor Ginger Ale, Inc., ended last night.

Striking members of Local 297 of the United Beverage Workers Union ratified a new contract and voted to return to work immediately. Production and deliveries in the Detroit area have been at a standstill since May 3.

James Vernor Davis, company president, said members of the local ratified a three-year contract, it included company payment of increased hospitalization costs.

Rebel Teamsters to Settle for 'Hoffa -- Nobody Else'

Pickets were demanding "Jimmy Hoffa and nobody else" today as they walked into their second day of picketing in front of the hall of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 at 1410 S. Telegraph Rd.

The pickets, numbering around five, said they would settle for an open meeting with Hoffa in order to air their grievances, "and nothing else."

They charge that local officers and business agents, Hoffa's Detroit office, and the Teamsters International have consistently refused to listem to them.

"DOOR ALWAYS OPEN"

Leaun Harrelson, president of Local 614 under Hoffa's 3½-year trusteeship, said yesterday: "Hoffa's door—when he is in Detroit—is always open to anyone."

The pickets, reportedly with a strength of 2,000 behind them, seek an election from among the rank-and-file members, and the end of Hoffa's trusteeship.

They say they will continue their march "during business hours of the local until we get what we want."

Harrelson and other officers charge the pickets with being ex-members of the local, "with self-seeking desires."

The picketing, which began yesterday, is the latest in the move by the rebelling teamsters to oust Hoffa since he was appointed top trustee in October of 1953.

Earlier this year they wired Sen. McClellan's labor racketeering committee asking a probe of Local 614. This is still pending, it has been reported from Washington.

IN FINE SHAPE

Arends commented with a smile: "I don't think he ate as much as some of us who got a free breakfast—but he certainly was in fine shape."

White House press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the three physicians who attended Eisenhower during this latest illness had concluded it was due to "overindulgence in some types of food." To put it another way, he had not been sticking to the diet on which he was put after his 1955 heart attack.

The doctors did not single out the blueberry pie he had for dinner Sunday, or any other specific kind of food. Hagerty said they had in mind "some richer foods" than he should eat, and larger portions than were advisable.

The overindulgence, Hagerty said, went on for four or five days prior to the stomach upset. During that period Eisenhower had meals at the White House, aboard the aircraft carrier Saratoga, and at Burning Tree Golf Club in nearby Maryland.

Mayflower Tugged Into Provincetown

Provincetown's reception committee hoped to make the Mayflower's stay as long as possible, but a radio message from Capt. Villiers indicated that he wanted to wind up the Provincetown ceremonies in a hurry. This includes a health and immigration inspection.

Only a small group of Provincetown officials were to set foot on her oaken decks for re-enactment of the signing of the Mayflower compact, and then Mayflower II bustles off for Plymouth across Cape Cod Bay.

Meanwhile, in Plymouth, feverish activity developed with the tidings that Mayflower II had made a landfall, spotting the Great Hill at Chatham at dawn. This is the highest point of land on the most easterly portion of Cape Cod.

Plymouth became a rallying point for tourists, hucksters, Mayflower descendants, Indians, delegations, and public officials, with costumed local citizenry in floppy Pilgrim costumes.

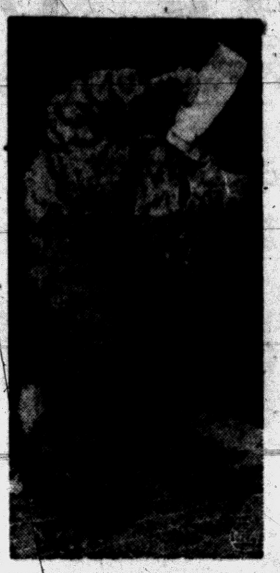

As the Mayflower enters Plymouth Harbor it is planned to fire a cannon salute from the yacht club, have a choir singing the national anthem on Cole's Hill and have a procession of costumed Mayflower descendants led by Ellis W. Brewster, ninth lineal descendant of Elder Brewster, march to the Plymouth Rock.

Brewster will welcome the first shallop load from the Mayflower, including Capt. Villiers, and Warwick Charlton and Richard Lowe, the British owners of the vessel. Also in the first shallop load ashore will be 17-year-old Joseph Meany Jr. of Waltham, the only American in the crew, Stuart Upham, the builder and Jeffrey Wixstead, the first mate.

Gov. Foster Furcolo will be the first public official presented to Capt. Villiers, and in his group will be Chief White Feather, a descendant of the Wampamogs chief, Massasoit.

Tomorrow is designated as greeting day. Friday will be unloading day when the boxes of special cargo, consigned to various merchants at premium prices, are taken off the vessel and dispatched to the consignees. Saturday is scheduled as Indian day, and Sunday is religious day.

State Turncoat Ready to Leave Communist China

HONG KONG (AP)—The U.S. consulate general today said American turncoat Andrew Fortuna of Ionia, Mich., is leaving Red China Saturday.

Fortuna was one of 21 U.S. soldiers captured in the Korean War who refused repatriation after the fighting stopped in 1953. Seven of the 21 previously returned to the United States and one died in Red China.

The most recent returnee was Samuel David Hawkins of Oklahoma City, who crossed into Hong Kong last Feb. 27.

The Defense Department ordered dishonorable discharges for all the turncats Jan. 25, 1954. The Supreme Court subsequently ruled that because of this they could not be prosecuted for their actions while in the armed forces.

Fortuna told an interviewer in 1955 he had been brought up in a poverty-stricken area of Detroit.

"We often did not have enough food in the house," he said, "and I saw breadlines in the streets. In the prison camp where I had time to think I wondered and puzzled what had caused all that.

"Marxist philosophy solved my basic problems."

She Flees Aflame, Dies After Beating

GAINESBORO, Tenn. (AP) — A woman who ran a rural grocery-service station died yesterday after telling police she was beaten, splashed with gasoline and burned by an unidentified man and woman.

Mrs. Clifford Holloway, 51, said the man and woman awakened before daylight at her home near the store.

She said the intruders asked for gasoline, hit her over the head to force her to open the store, then splashed gasoline around the store and on her.

Mrs. Holloway ran screaming to the house, woke her husband and son, and put out the flames on her hair and clothing with bedclothes. The son took her to a hospital while the husband fought the flames in the store.

Holloway said he knew of no motive for the attack and that nothing was missing from the store except the gasoline.

The Day in Birmingham

Postpone Rezoning Action on 3 Bowers Street Lots

BIRMINGHAM—After a lengthy discussion Monday night, commissioners postponed action on the Harold Turner request to rezone three Bowers street lots to permit the storage of new automobiles.

Represented by attorney George Cram, Turner has asked a Business B zoning on property now classified as single family. Planning board members recommended a denial of the request, in view of their proposed development for a larger area.

They have suggested Business C, those types of businesses which do not require on-premises storage of goods, as the most desirable for the section.

Cram questioned the validity of their "area zoning," saying that to the best of his knowledge Birmingham has no master plan and therefore lacks the right for this type of rezoning.

Asked if his client would comply with requests for a wall at the rear of the property, Cram said that was Turner's intention, along with the erection of a chain link fence to enclose the entire area.

He declined to comment when asked if he thought his client would consent to setting his lot line in 10 feet from the rear boundary, to permit an alley. An alley plotted there some years ago, has been vacated by the city. Cram also said he could not guess whether or not Turner would agree to "limited Business B," and hold to a restriction of using the three lots only for storage purposes.

"I will contact my client and report to you next week," Cram told commissioners.

Frogman's Ex-Wife Can't Identify Body

LONDON (INS)—Mrs. Margaret Crabb failed to identify the headless corpse of a frogman as her former husband, colorful underseas expert Lionel (Buster) Crabb.

Failure of the identification attempt did not rule out the possibility the body was that of Crabb, who disappeared nearly 14 months ago after diving in Portsmouth Harbor near the anchorage of visiting Russian warships.

Mrs. Crabb, former wife of the naval hero, visited Bognor Retis morgue in Chichester and examined the remains of the decapitated, handless body which was found Sunday.

Plan Ceremony to Mark Rule of 'King' Strang

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's only absolute ruler and "kingdom" will be remembered on Sunday in a simple ceremony at Charlevoix's city dock.

The dock looks out toward the misty Beaver Islands over which "King" James Jesse Strang ruled from 1847 to 1856.

The colony was an offshoot of the main Mormon center at Nauvoo, Ill., and was established when Strang had a falling out with other elders.

The ceremony will see a historic site marker placed at the Charlevoix dock by the Michigan Historical Commission.

This occasion also will pay tribute to Strang as the publisher of the Northern Islander, the first daily newspaper north of Traverse City. The little print shop where it was published still stands at St. James on Beaver Island, once the capital of Strang's Mormon kingdom.

Strang was assassinated by some of his own followers on the dock at St. James in 1856. The slayers were given sanctuary on a U.S. naval vessel. The Mormon kingdom was scattered by lack of leadership and hostility of the non-Mormon Irish "mainlanders."

Efforts are being made to preserve the historic print shop. Dr. Lewis Beeson, secretary of the Michigan Historical Commission, said the campaign is being carried on by the recently formed Beaver Island Historical Society, a statewide group headed by Archiell Joseph Roy of Pontiac and Russell P. Hoffmann of Plymouth.

Waterford High Program Tonight to Graduate 302

Waterford High School will graduate 302 seniors in commencement ceremonies at 8 p.m. tonight, on the school athletic field.

Major speaker will be Dr. Charles L. Anspach, president of Central Michigan College. He will be introduced by Waterford Schools Superintendent William Shunck.

Diplomas will be presented by Mrs. Donald Adams, board of education president, and Bill Cox will deliver the valedictorian speech for the graduates.

The Rev. Arvid Anderson, of Christ Lutheran Church, will give the invocation and benediction and music will be played by the high school orchestra.

Watch, $61 Stolen

An $80 watch and $61 in cash were stolen from the home of Robert Albright, 134 Summitt St., sometime Monday night or Tuesday morning. The thieves apparently entered an unlocked rear door, Pontiac Police report.

Temple 94, Birmingham Pythian Sisters, will hold their final meeting of the season in the Community House at 8 p.m., tomorrow.

Members of the Franklin Cemetery Assn. are planning an outdoor 1 p.m. luncheon Thursday at the home of Mrs. Floyd Beardslee, 725 E. Square Lake Rd. Their annual sale of potted plants will be held at this time.

Mrs. Alfred J. LaBelle, 22860 West 13 Mile, will open her home Monday for the monthly meeting of the Rotary Ann group of Birmingham. The meeting, a 1 p.m. luncheon, will have Mrs. Ruth Shain, head of the International Relations Class, speaking on "Current Events of Interest."

Martha L. Bemis of 1989 Crosswick Rd. received a bachelor of science in home economics degree from Purdue University held recently. Awarded certificates from Western Michigan University were Nancy Mikelson of 22445 10½ Mile Rd., two year secretarial certificate; and Richard Stiffler of 1316 Villa, a two year retailing certificate.

JOHN S. MITCHELL

Statistician with the General Motors Sales Division since 1919, John S. Mitchell, 60, of 4660 Burnley Dr. died in the New Center building yesterday of a heart attack.

He had an engineering degree from the University of Wisconsin and was a member of the Bohemian Music Club of Detroit.

He is survived by his wife Flora G. and one daughter, Mrs. John J. Fernlund of Lansing. Service will be held at 3 p.m. Friday from Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. with burial in White Chapel Cemetery.

Sees Tourist Boom Throughout State

LANSING (AP) — Barring bad weather, 1957 is expected to be a bangup year for tourist business in Michigan.

The outlook, as sketched by Robert J. Furlong, chief of the State Tourist Council, is based on a sharp upturn in inquiries from prospective vacationers.

Furlong said requests for literature and vacation aids were up 47 per cent over a year ago at the council's Lansing office.

He predicted that close to 10 million persons would vacation in the state, including more than half from outside Michigan boundaries, and spend a total of 625 million dollars.

Early field reports bear out the bright prospects, he said, pointing toward a 5 to 10 per cent increase in vacation income for the state's third largest industry.

Last year, unfavorable weather cut into vacationing activity. Furlong said it rained 39 days in July and August.

Pending Girard Ruling to Have Historic Effect

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON — A federal district judge began work today on what will lead to an historic ruling—whether American servicemen may be turned over to foreign courts for offenses committed while on duty overseas.

District Judge Joseph McGarraghy took under advisement the case of Army Specialist 3.C. William S. Girard after a long drama-packed hearing yesterday. A ruling is expected next week.

Technically, the hearing was on the issue of whether to grant a writ of habeas corpus recalling Girard to a Washington courtroom to testify as to the facts of his alleged killing of a Japanese woman scavenger on a firing range in Japan on Jan. 30.

But McGarraghy, top government legal experts, and a battery of topflight volunteer attorneys for Girard, all agreed that the case had implications far beyond that of a mere writ of habeas corpus for a single soldier.

INDICATES ISSUE

McGarraghy indicated he believes the issue for him to decide is whether Girard has a constitutional right to be tried by an Army court-martial rather than a Japanese court.

The judge promised a prompt decision but allowed Girard's attorneys until Friday to file additional citations of previous cases and legal decisions to complete their case.

The district court decision—regardless of whether it upholds the government of Girard's contention that he should not be tried in Japanese courts—is virtually certain to be appealed.

RAPID ACTION

Because of the importance which the government attaches to the case in international relations, and the precedent it will set, rapid action is expected in appealing.

Defense Attorney Joseph S. Robinson said if the decision is adverse he will try to go directly to the Supreme Court and bypass lower appellate courts.

The Girard case is new in U. S. legal history. Only since World War II has the United States stationed any considerable number of troops in other nations during peacetime, and in previous situations, servicemen facing criminal charges overseas were clearly off duty and away from military reservations at the time of their alleged acts.

The government conceded that the 21-year-old Illinois soldier was on active duty when he fired an empty shell casing from a grenade launcher which hit and fatally wounded an elderly Japanese woman collecting scrap metal.

But there is dispute whether his action came in official performance of duty. The Defense Department said it was not, and used this as a basis for giving Japan the right to try him.

Joseph S. Robinson, a Girard attorney, argued that the U.S.-Japanese status-of-forces agreements were never submited to the Senate for ratification.

Without specific treaty authorization, Robinson said, the executive branch of the government "has no power to turn over to a foreign power any of our citizens."

Released After Handing Over 3 Guns in Home

Stork Club Owner Arrested by Police

NEW YORK (AP) — Stork Club owner Sherman Billingsley voluntarily surrendered to police on 5th Avenue last night only a few steps from his plush night spot. He was picked up on a charge of felonious assault with a gun.

A house painter filed a complaint earlier alleging that the 57-year-old night club proprietor pulled a gun and chased him and fellow workers off the stoop of the Billingsley residence.

Billingsley appeared in Night Court with his attorney Roy Cohn. Cohn was counsel for the Senate Internal Security subcommittee when it was headed by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Billingsley was released in Cohn's custody after agreeing to hand over to police three guns he kept at home. He is to appear in Felony Court today.

The arrest was the latest in a series of difficulties for Billingsley. Pickets have been parading outside the Stork Club for some time in a dispute involving waiters and kitchen help. This has led to several court cases.

Beskin told police he and five other painters had been working at the Austrian consulate on East 69th Street. At noon they took out their lunch boxes and parked on the porch of Billingsley's residence next door.

Beskin said Billingsley came to the door and ordered the men off the stoop. He quoted Billingsley as saying: "My daughter is due to get home from school soon, and she will get nervous if she sees a group of men on the stoop."

Beskin said Billingsley then pulled a gun out of his pocket. He didn't point it at anyone, said Beskin, but the men scrambled off the stoop.

Police went to the Billingsley residence and to the night club after receiving the painter's complaint. They failed to find Billingsley at either place.

Then they set a watch on the club.

Later, Billingsley arranged to surrender.

Cohn said later that Billingsley had been made nervous by continued threats of one kind or another.

"Today (Tuesday) over the telephone he received several threats," said Cohn, "and when he saw a group of men on his stoop he didn't know what to make of it."

Claim Water Damage

TAIPEI (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists claimed their patrol vessels hit and damaged a Communist gunboat and a "larger type war vessel" last night in a two-hour engagement off Matsu Island. The announcement said Red artillery on the mainland fired fired more than 100 rounds but the Nationalist ships were not hit. The Nationalists said the Communist ships were set afire and fled.

9 Dead in Heat Wave

CIUDAD ALEMAN, Mexico (AP)—Dehydration resulting from the current heat wave has killed nine children and sent 28 others to the hospital in the last three days in Ciudad Aleman and two nearby towns in the Papaloapan River Valley of Veracruz state.

The temperature has soared to more than 111 degrees.

Union Leader's Charges Denied

Three Firms Brush Aside Allegations by Meany of 'Corruption'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three companies have brushed aside allegations by AFL-CIO President George Meany that the firms' welfare plans provide examples of "corruption and malfeasance."

One of the three—General Electric—took a return whack at Meany, saying he "has made himself ridiculous in his unwarranted charges as a result, presumably, of his being misled" by James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, which has contracts with GE.

"We hope," GE said in a statement, "this is not just a carefully timed attempt to discredit reputable companies in order to divert the spotlight from the current unfavorable disclosures on activities of some union officials before other Senate committees."

Meany made his charges yesterday in testimony before a Senate Labor subcommittee. He asked that proposed legislation requiring disclosure on welfare funds be applied to management-operated funds as well as those administered by unions.

The labor leader then listed four cases which he said demonstrated "corruption and malfeasance" in management-handled welfare funds.

In addition to General Electric, Meany listed Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., which serves many Boston area communities; the Reed Glass Co. Inc., Rochester, N. Y., now in bankruptcy; and an unnamed West Coast firm.

Food Poisoning Fells 120 Arizona Workers

HAYDEN, Ariz. (AP) — At least 120 men working on a new smelter in this central Arizona town were hospitalized today with food poisoning.

The men were sent to hospitals in half a dozen surrounding towns. None were reported critically ill.

Doctors traced the illness to box lunches given workers at a construction camp run by the contractor.

Heaton Honored for Ike's Surgery

He's Cool When Heat's On

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

The surgeon's steady hand and the soldier's calm bearing have stood Dr. Leonard Dudley Heaton well, whether in the carnage of Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, on Pearl Harbor day or in the predawn pressure of emergency surgery on the President of the United States.

And to these qualities of surgeon and soldier Maj. Gen. Heaton, Medical Corps, U.S. Army, can add those of statesman and public relations expert.

Tall, sunburned, sturdy and bespectacled, the 54-year-old commandant of Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, D.C., was head man of the surgery team that performed the abdominal operation on Dwight D. Eisenhower at 2:59 a.m. Saturday, June 9, 1956.

It was an operation he had performed many times before. But the pressure of the moment, the sudden surprising ailment that felled the nation's chief executive, must have reminded him of the unexpected hours of Pearl Harbor.

COOL, COLLECTED

And less than 12 sleepless hours after the President's surgery, the cool and collected Heaton strode into the oven-like heat of a news conference to give details of the dramatic surgery to the news media and public.

At the end, as at the start of the almost hour-long conference at which some 60 reporters fired questions at him as TV and newsreel camers ground, Heaton appeared to be the coolest, perhaps the calmest person in the room.

For his outstanding work after the Pearl Harbor attack, then Maj. Heaton was awarded the Legion of Merit. Monday, just one year after his surgery on President Eisenhower, Heaton received the Distinguished Service Medal for his treatment of the President.

Heaton is a medical graduate of the University of Louisville, Ky., and has been on active duty in the Army since his graduation in 1926. A native of Parkersburg, W. Va., he is married to the former Sarah Richardson and they have one daughter, Sarah Dudley Mayson, who is married to an Army officer.

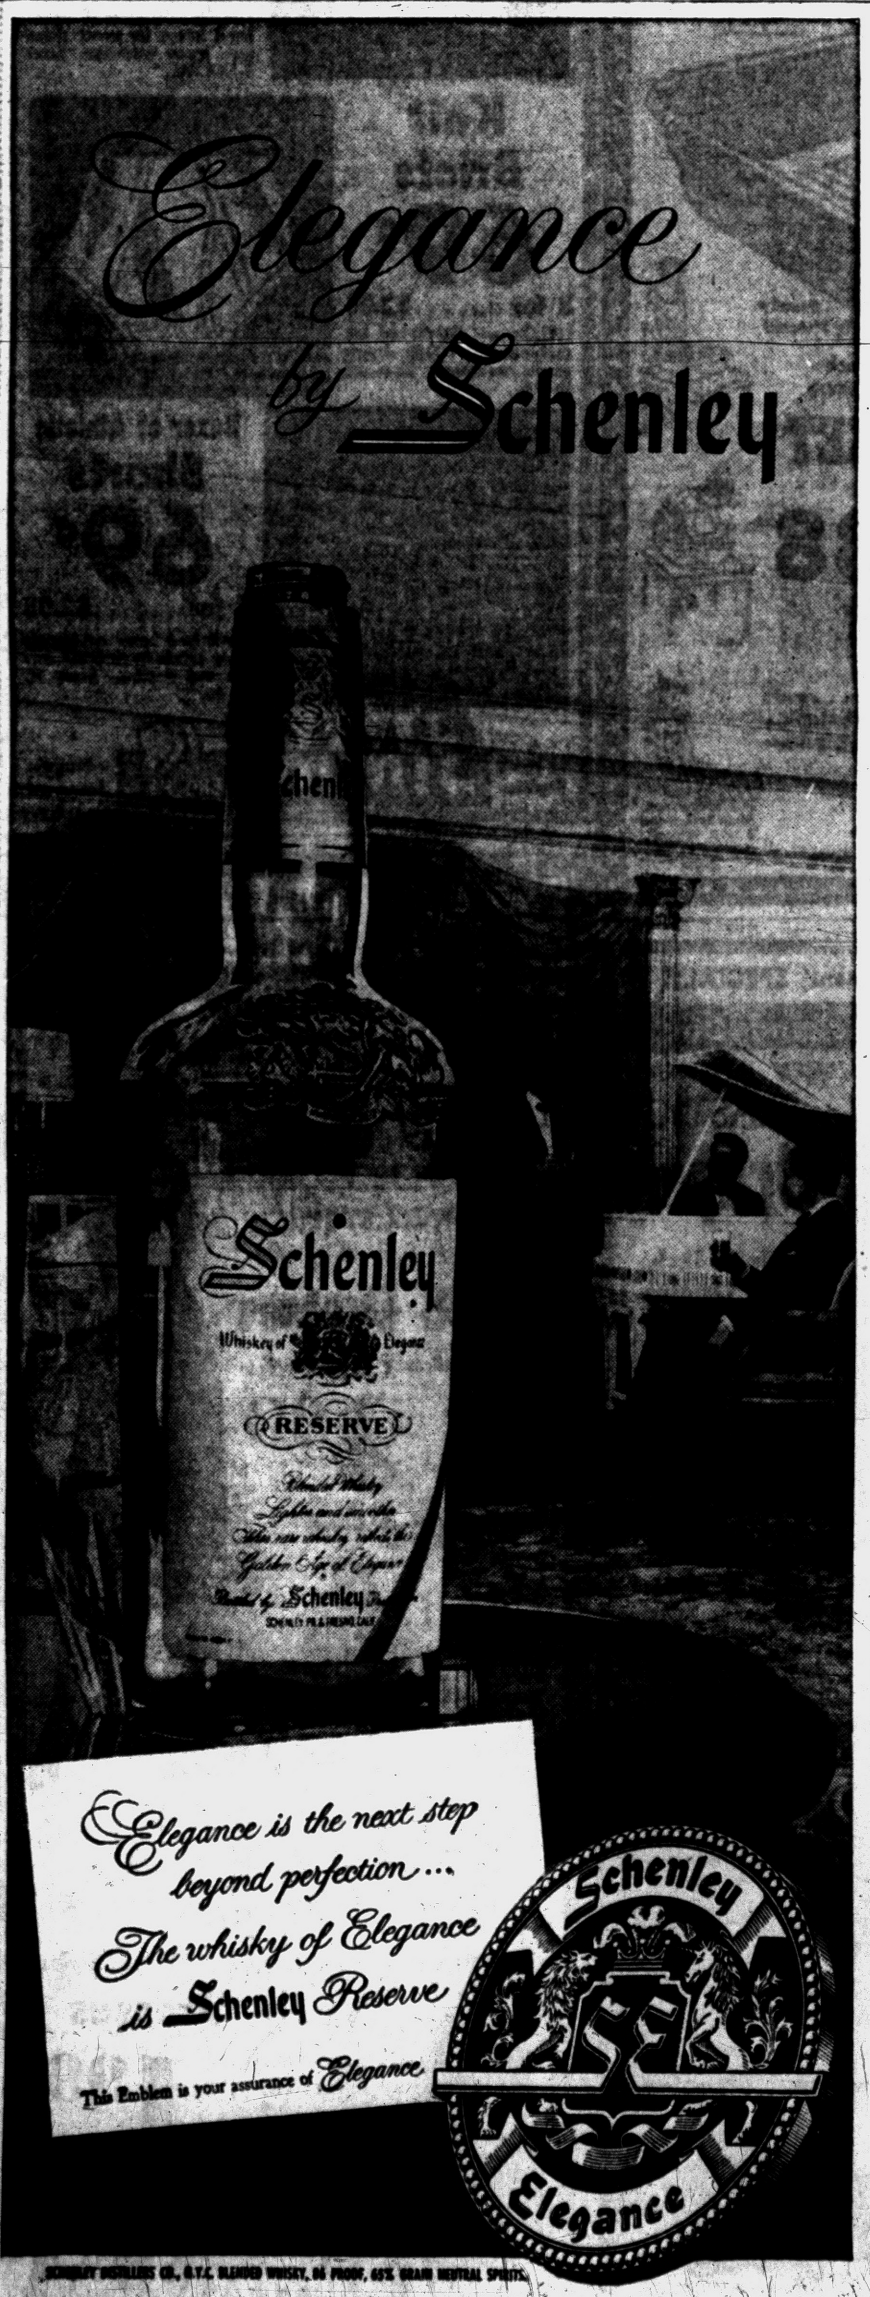

Modern Baby Carriage Gives Bumpless Ride

NEW YORK — A new bumpless baby carriage has been developed by a New York concern, which says a compressed-air cylinder gives infants a smoother ride.

The manufacturer claims that when his carriage comes to a curb, a hinge device on each side of the chassis lets the two front wheels down to the lower level while the carriage body stays parallel to the ground.

When the lower level has been reached by the rear wheels, the compressed-air cylinder on the axle returns the front wheels smoothly to normal riding position.

Bob Considine Says:

Stock Market Is Tops in Timidity

NEW YORK (INS — Everybody knows what is the shortest measurable length of time. It is that period that passes between the microsecond the light turns green and the bum behind you honks his horn.

We now have an additional discovery. What is the most timid big thing alive? An elephant cornered by a mouse? Nope. A whale challenged by Nautilus? Nope.

It's the stock market. It shrank a billion dollars in the first couple of hours after President Eisenhower's stomach gave off a growl. It sloughed off three or four times that much during the ileitis operation of a year ago. And it dropped a colossal $14,000,000,000 after the heart attack of '55.

It must be said of the market that it is resilient, if you're patient enough (or well covered enough) to let it get off the canvas and stand up straight again.

It's something like Primo Carnera used to be, when he was a fighter. Almost any blow could send him sprawling like a huge, toppled redwood. But he'd usually get up, bloody, grasping blindly at the ropes, and paw back.

But the market's allegy to "boo!" is a reaction that is in odd contrast to the tremendous wealth and well being of the nation.

It's turbulence in the face of any Eisenhower illness is, to boot, a mark of the man's continued personal popularity and standing as a leader in spite of the rough time he has had with Congress over his budget.

NO FRIEND OF PIE

John Foster Dulles may indeed be the greatest secretary of state in American history, as the President once suggested. But he's no friend of blueberry pie. It was he who named that great American delicacy as the culprit in the President's latest illnes.

The Blueberry Pie Trust should demand equal time on the air.

Dulles may have brought the blueberry pie business to the brink. And that's a pity. It's a fine pie, more American than, let us say, apple or cherry.

It seems to me that Dulles missed a great chance to get in a little anti-Russian propaganda in his eagerness to diagnose the precise cause of the President's trouble. He should have blamed it on a bowl of bortsch.

If "The Jimmy Stewart Story" is ever filmed, Hank Bloomgarden, now winner of $100,000 "and change" on Jack Barry's NBC quiz "21," should get the role.

Looks like him, talks like him, has the same manner.

NOT A REPLICA

Mayflower II has been constantly called a "Replica" of the ship that brought the Puritans to Plymouth in 1620. Actually, it isn't.

No paintings or sketches exist of the original Mayflower, nor are there any design charts showing its construction. Its beginning and end are shrouded in the folds of history.

Some authorities say that it took part in the engagement against the Spanish armada; others scoff at this. Some say it was sold at a ripe and leaky age to a rich English farmer who dismantled it for the lumber; others disagree.

It is similar to a type of galleon then in use, but it will suffice until the real one shows up.

But who can figure out his son? Gil Hodges of the Dodgers scored both runs in the 2-0 victory of his team over the Yankees in the 1955 World Series — Brooklyn's first championship.

There were so many young fans gathered around his suburban home when he arrived from Ebbets Field that police had to be called to clear the block.

Gil, badly mauled by autograph seekers, stumbled into the safety of his home. His young son looked up from the TV set and said, "Pop, you missed it."

"Missed what?" the great hero asked.

"Captain Midnight," the boy said. "It just ended."

Small Turnout of Voters Elects Board Members

In all elections where four men run for two offices, it follows two must be disappointed.

There can be no other result.

However, there's a third result in this election that is fully as disappointing to the city in general as the results must be to the two defeated candidates.

Ninety odd per cent of the voters "neglected" to go to the polls.

They were too indifferent.
They didn't care.

This is naturally a tremendous disappointment to those who took the time and pains to make the trek to the polls. A democracy can only work well when the will of the majority prevails. Any time the preference of a tiny handful decides the issues, it is a denial of the original intent of the Constitution makers.

We extend our congratulations to the two winners. They finished first in "open combat."

Robert B. Oliver, who has served 16 years with long hours and a fine record of faithful service, deserves the applause of the community as he steps aside.

Co-operative Planning Bolsters Baghdad Pact

After the Suez attack last fall, Arab and Moslem members of the Baghdad Pact refused to attend meetings if Britain were invited.

The recent session in Karachi, Pakistan, however, found Britain's Foreign Minister Lloyd and Field Marshal Templer meeting with the Prime Ministers of Pakistan, Iraq, Iran and Turkey. The United States was represented by Deputy Undersecretary of State Loy Henderson and Gen. Nathan Twining as observers.

While the United States is not a Pact member, probably for diplomatic reasons, for over a year it has been a member of this defense alliance's Economic Committee and has now become associated with its Military Committee.

A few months ago, in line with the Eisenhower Doctrine, we contributed $12.5 million to the alliance. To this has been added substantial grants from Britain and Pakistan.

At the meeting the Economic Committee made ambitious plans. A communications system linking member nations is to be established. It is planned to connect the railways of Pakistan with those of Iran, Iraq and Turkey.

The primary idea, of course, is to strengthen the "northern tier" defense of the Middle East against Russia. Of as much importance will be the beneficial effects of the projects on the entire economic development of the area.

Better communications will promote trade, the sharing of technical knowledge and co-operative planning. This should result in breaking down barriers which have held back these countries for centuries.

US. Still Wonders When V. P. Steps In

President Eisenhower's recent upset stomach is another reminder that, despite the urging of both the President and Attorney General Brownell, legislation to deal with the problem of the Presidential disability has not been taken up.

In view of the President's past record of illnesses it seems that a clear cut line should be established as to when the Vice President takes over, and for how long.

The Constitution does not state clearly what constitutes inability of a President, or who is to determine when Presidential inability exists or ends.

In the case of President Eisenhower it is not only his normal responsibilities that are at stake, but he also has personal powers that affect not only the security of the Union but of many other nations.

To date a House Judiciary subcommittee has held hearings on the various proposals without reaching any conclusions.

With a world leader that commands the respect that President Eisenower does, it seems that immediate action should be taken to clarify any fog that now exists in this very important matter.

"The car was parked in front of the entrance to the cemetery and I thought the owner was dead," a man charged with car-theft told the court. —News item. Anybody that inept at lying should stick to the truth.

Again the Russians are advocating disarmament. Their idea of meeting the Western world half-way on disarmament may be expressed thusly: "We'll unload our gun if you'll throw yours away."

Coming to County

State Recognition to Be Given Historical Sites

Soon coming to Oakland County is the Michigan Historical Commission

in its project of marking historical sites that have more than a local significance. Under this plan the first spot to be so designated here is the end of the old canal at Rochester state park.

A century and a quarter ago the Territory of Michigan was in the throes of a commercial canal building system. One of the most important of these projects was a canal from Lake St. Clair through Pontiac and on to Lake Michigan, to follow the course of the Clinton River through most of its early stages.

It was built as far as the present site of the Rochester state park, being discontinued because of the coming of the railroad and steam transportation. Its course is still plainly evident.

Working in conjunction with the state commission are the

Oakland County Historical Foundation

Oakland County Pioneer Society

who hope that other sites in this area will be similarly recognized.

Just over the line in Genesee County the up and coming

Village of Goodrich

Old Settlers' Week

which includes the dedication of a new post office. A note on the official invitations says: "Special courtesies to our Oakland County neighbors."

My ever alert Milford correspondent sends word that the

"Imagine That! Whistle-Stopping Already!"

David Lawrence Says:

British May Foster New Munich

WASHINGTON — Sometimes the biggest news is invisible, glossed over, or minimized because government itself doesn't speak out about the dangers of what is happening contemporaneously. For something very alarming has just happened that could be one of the steps which would force a world war on the American people in the next decade.

LAWRENCE

The question might well be asked out of bitter experience—are the free nations today preparing to arm the enemy and will they not thereby accelerate the time when a third world war may sweep the globe?

The decision on the part of Great Britain to break faith with the United States and seven other nations by relaxing the embargo on trade with Red China is a sensational development. It is unquestionably a turn of affairs which spells a weakening of the position of the free governments in the "Cold War."

Hitler bought his arms from British colonies and territories and kept supplying his munitions stockpile up to almost the very month when the second world war broke out in 1939. The Allies paid for that mistake—in human lives lost.

British merchants kept on trading with the enemy through nearly three years of the first world war at the same time that American trade with neutral countries was being interfered with by the London government. This prolonged the conflict and the casualty lists.

Had there been an economic embargo against the dictatorships as the League of Nations proposed in the 1930s, there would never have been a second world war. Had the British ceased their trade with the enemy earlier than they did in the first world war, the conflict would have been terminated sooner.

HISTORY REPEATED?

Now is history to repeat itself? For the sake of material gains, are the Red Chinese to be industrialized so that they can become a menace to Japan, to the Philippines, to all of Southeast Asia as well as to Indochina and perhaps India?

The British are eager to send goods to Red China which they declare are not "strategic." But this, nevertheless, will relieve the shortages that the Red Chinese must overcome in order to concentrate on articles of a strategic nature. It will also ease Russia's present burden in supplying Red China.

The Red Chinese do not have an abundance of foreign exchange with which to buy any substantial amounts from the British but they will substitute goods of a higher strategic priority for war purposes which they need badly.

This is the biggest victory which the Communists have won since the "Cold War" began. It has spread nervousness throughout the Far East and it could easily lead to such a crumbling of the situation as to add materially to the cost the American taxpayers eventually will have to bear to defend the American line from Japan to the Philippines.

SIMILAR TO MUNICH

Now the Asian nations see Great Britain weakening on the embargo and observe also lots of people in America talking naively about going along with that decision as a "practical" matter. It is also so reminiscent of Munich and the pre-war days when many people thought you could "do business with Hitler."

LI'L ONES

"This is going to take the pressure off us two."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Began in 1888 to Hammer on Subject of Smoking Evil

A Boston reader writes:

"We have been followers of Wm. Brady, M.D., ever since World War I. We believe we owe our excellent health and vite to your teachings. But now our son, a specialist in the ——— clinic, laughs at us when we quote Dr. Brady.

DR. BRADY

"He says Dr. Brady died many years ago and his name is now used . . . To settle the bet, please tell us when you began writing for the papers and whether you are the original or maybe a son or grandson . . ."

Your son is too credulous. If he or anyone else can produce any evidence to show that any other Wm. Brady, M.D., than myself has written or published in newspapers or elsewhere pieces, articles, lessons, or treatises on personal health, before or since World War I, I'll supply him with $100 worth of textbooks of his own choice.

My first newspaper article was an essay which appeared in the Ontario County Times, exclusively, on or about Christmas, 30 years before World War I, on a subject which was comparatively safe to write about then. The gist of it was as follows:

CIGARETTES 'WORST'

"I think cigarettes are the very worst things anyone can smoke. Those who use them will not grow a bit, and they will smoke off into the air all the money they can earn . . . I have heard of many men who had to go to the asylum by using so many of them."

On Dec. 23, 1938, the Ontario County Times-Journal sent me a clipping from the paper of that date, in which my essay was quoted, and asked me to express my views on cigarettes, 50 years later. I still thought and still think cigarettes are the worst things anyone can smoke.

From all I have been able to learn about the effects of smoking, I believe cigarette smoking is most harmful, cigar smoking is less harmful, and pipe smoking least harmful.

I believe the injurious effects of smoking are mainly due to carbon monoxide anoxia and that nicotine is not a significant factor.

Whether smoking causes or contributes to the development of cancer of lung, bronchial tube, throat, mouth or lip, I don't know.

But there is no doubt about the effects of smoking upon the heart, the arterioles, the oxygen-carrying function of hemoglobin (red coloring matter in the blood), and constant supply of oxygen to vital brain and nerve cells.

Interrupt the supply of oxygen to vital brain cells for a few seconds, and that is the end.

Restrict the supply for a period of months or years, by keeping the blood partially saturated with carbon monoxide (which crowds out oxygen) and you have the makings of thrombo-angiitis obliterans (Buerger's disease) or angina pectoris or coronary thrombosis or amblyopia (impairment of eyesight) or acquired color blindness or peptic-ulcer complex.

In every case of serious ill effects from smoking that I have seen, the victim had smoked excessively.

Moral: Anyway, don't make a hog of yourself.

'Father's Disabled but Not Enough'

After reading several articles about social security and what to do if you're disabled, I might say it isn't as easy as it appears. My father worked 24 years for General Motors and paid into social security gladly. After suffering a thrombosis some years ago, which left him partially paralyzed, and a fractured hip two years ago, which required a steel pin insertion and left him on crutches, GMC has retired him at 57. Anyone knows GMC won't retire a man at 57 if he isn't disabled.

However, the social security board says he isn't disabled enough to draw disability. Form after form has been filled out by doctors, yet the board says he isn't disabled, that there is certainly some work he can do. Why then, doesn't the board set up an office and find the work? My father is . . .

Frustrated Female

Calls Civil Service for Police a Flop

Civil service in the police department is a complete flop. The City Manager and Chief have no control over their men. It belongs with the trial board. What a joke.

Men work for one authority and are answerable to another. An army of 100,000 soldiers under that set up could be massacred by an army of 10,000 that had normal discipline.

What does the trial board know about the day to day ability and work of the men? The Pontiac taxpayers were sold a bill of goods when the police officers pulled that one out of the hat.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Discusses Biblical Personalties

Phyllis asks a very logical question about Moses vs. his older brother, Aaron. Scrapbook this case for discussion in your Bible class next Sunday. The Bible is full of personality problems and is the best textbook of psychology that has ever been written. I got far more of my psychology from it than from my Yale and Northwestern University courses.

B YDR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-309: Phyllis B., aged 29, is the vivacious mother of Jimmy and Bobby, whom we described yesterday.

"Dr. Crane, as I look back to my two older brothers, I find that they almost perfectly fit into your description of yesterday.

CRANE

"For my oldest brother was shy, saved his money, and didn't talk much, while the next brother was sociable, popular, and rather careless about his obligations and debts.

"But I am a Sunday school teacher so I have wondered about Moses. His older brother Aaron was the talker, while Moses was shy and apparently an introvert.

"How do you account for their differences? Are they just the exception to the rule?"

MOSES VS. AARON

Well, Aaron was actually not the eldest child, for Miriam was the oldest in the family. And she must have been five or six years of age when Aaron was born.

Then Aaron came along and five years later, Moses was born. So Aaron was actually the second child in the sequence for five years, and thus developed some of the typical extrovertive traits of that second youngster.

Besides, Moses was adopted by Pharoah's daughter, so Moses grew up much as an "only" child.

And the eldest child is really an "only" child until his next sibling is born, so oldest sons and only sons have much in common.

Aaron thus was a talker, while Moses was shy and tongue-tied. Moses had stage fright and begged off when God told him to go before Pharaoh to demand the freedom for the Hebrews.

Finally, God instructed Moses to ask his brother Aaron to accompany him as his "mouthpiece," a job for which Aaron was well fitted.

POLITICIAN AARON

While Moses was on Mt. Sinai talking with God and obtaining the Ten Commandments, Aaron was left to handle the people.

They decided they wanted some excitement and demanded that Aaron make them a golden calf as a god.

Like the typical politician, Aaron consented, for he preferred to stick with the crowd.

Moses would have stood his ground and died defending his ideals, but Aaron shrugged his shoulders and decided if the mob wanted a golden calf, he'd let them have it, just to retain his job as leader.

Later, Miriam got jealous of Moses. She talked Aaron into joining her revolt, for Aaron was more inclined to be a "joiner," as is typical of extroverts.

By the way, you Bible scholars may recall that Miriam resented the fact that Moses married an Ethiopian woman.

Miriam thus believed in segregation, so she incited Aaron to join her in trying to usurp the leadership of the Israelites.

Aaron went along, as a typical politician, until God afflicted Miriam with leprosy for her jealousy.

Then Aaron changed sides, and again got behind Moses. Read the 12th Chapter of the book of Numbers in your family Bible for the full account of Mriam's revolt.

Moses is described as being very meek, but he had the fiery zeal of the typical introvert. So he resented the mistreatment of one of the Hebrews by the Egyptian taskmasters.

Moses went to the support of his fellow countryman and slew the Egyptian. Aaron, as an extrovert, would probably have tried to talk the Egyptian out of his cruelty or would tactfully have looked the other way.

Fading Liberals Eye Next Move

Canada's Ruling Group Ponders as Two Parties Lack Majority

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's Liberal Cabinet headed into Ottawa today to decide what is expected to be its short-lived future.

The Conservative victory — 110 seats to 103 for the Liberals — in Monday's general election left both parties without a majority in the 265-member House of Commons.

It also left St. Laurent with several possible courses of action, but most observers believed he would resign later this week and advise Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey to call on Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker to form a government.

St. Laurent could continue in office until Parliament is convened, but he could not win a vote of confidence without support from the 25 Socialist members. That support seemed highly unlikely.

St. Laurent also could defer his resignation until after the official election returns are filed, or he could call for a new election to break the parliamentary stalemate. Legal experts said the latter course probably could be challenged as unconstitutional.

The probable course appeared to be formation of a government by Diefenbaker, a breathing spell to permit his Cabinet to get acquainted with their new jobs and then a summoning of Parliament to hear the Conservatives' proposals on legislation.

Pot-O-Gold Has $1,200 for Your Right Answers

Pot-O-Gold is now holding $1,200 in store for the person who successfully solves this week's puzzle. You could do a lot with that much money if it were suddenly dumped into your own pocket. Why not try your luck?

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. Entries must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his answers in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securly to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 54 must bear a Tuesday, June 18, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Missile Tracks Low Targets

'Hawks' Will Surround Major Cities in Army Defense Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army today took some of the wraps off its Hawk guided missile system designed to track down and destroy low-flying enemy aircraft.

The Hawk, a weapon 16 feet long and 14 inches in diameter, will be used to guard key city and defense areas, such as New York City and the Washington-Baltimore area. It may also be adapted for use by the Army and the Marine Corps in the field.

Success of the Hawk system is directly tied in to recent developments in radar capable of tracking low-flying objects. The Hawk will complement the much larger and longer-ranged Nike which is designed for use against aircraft in the upper altitudes.

The Army said it has started selection of sites around New York and Washington.

In its fixed-place version, each Hawk battery will require about 40 acres. To reduce land requirements and increase the safety factor, Hawk missiles will be stored underground.

The Raytheon Manufacturing Co., has been given a production contract for the Hawk. Development missiles were produced at Raytheon's Andover, Mass., plant.

The Northrop Aircraft Co. of California is the major subcontractor for the new missile.

Norwegians to Process Data Gathered in Arctic

OSLO — All meteorological data gathered throughout the arctic during the International Geophysical Year will be processed and appraised at a center to be opened this summer at the Meteorological Institute in Oslo.

The work will be handled by a team of Norwegian meteorologists. The center will receive daily radio reports on observations at arctic research stations operated by Norway, Sweden, the United States, and Russia. After processing, the reports will be forwarded to the I.G.Y. world center in Geneva.

ARTHRITIS OR RHEUMATISM?

READ THE FOLLOWING TRUE STATEMENTS TAKEN FROM TESTIMONIALS FOR O-JIB-WA BITTERS. THESE ARE BUT A FEW FROM THOUSANDS OF SATISFIED CUSTOMERS.

MRS. KNACK—FLINT—"I have read in the Bible how God created herbs for the service of man, and after trying other medicines, I know that nothing compares with O-Jib-Wa Bitters for arthritis."

MRS. DANIELS—WAYNE—"For what O-Jib-Wa has done for me, I'll sing its praises from the house top. Arthritis formerly hurt me so bad I almost fainted from the pain."

MR. BENJAMIN—WEST BRANCH—"I'm 78 years old and thanks to O-Jib-Wa Bitters, my arthritis is gone, and I'm able to do all my own work around the house."

MRS. ST. PETER—KINGSFORD—"My knees were swollen to about twice their normal size, and pained so I could hardly walk. I took O-Jib-Wa, and haven't been bothered since."

MR. SIMONS—KALAMAZOO—"Your wonderful herb medicine began to help me in about a week. My trouble was diagnosed as arthritis, so I know first hand how much it can help a person."

MRS. STANDRIDGE—FLINT—"I'll recommend O-Jib-Wa Bitters as long as I live, as before using it, arthritis pained me so fiercely, it often made me cry."

MRS. WOJCIK—DETROIT—"I was ready to believe that there was no help for rheumatism and arthritis, but now know different, as O-Jib-Wa certainly does what they say it will."

MR. CARRIVEAU—GRAYLING—"My wrists were stiff and swollen so badly that I could hardly use my hands. After years of suffering, O-Jib-Wa gave results in just 10 days."

MRS. BROWN—OWOSSO—"For a lady of 83, I'm in really wonderful health. Before using O-Jib-Wa, I couldn't climb stairs or walk a block."

MR. AGENTA—DETROIT—"Before using this amazing medicine, I couldn't put my arms behind my back to put my coveralls on."

MRS. COX—BATTLE CREEK—"O-Jib-Wa Bitters did more for me in just two weeks, than everything else I tried put together over the past 25 years."

MRS. SLY—DETROIT—"Everyone I have ever talked to who has tried O-Jib-Wa, has found this medicine all they claim it to be. I personally know this to be true, for it sure made me better."

MRS. NEWCOMB—JACKSON—"Before I discovered O-Jib-Wa, I thought I would spend the rest of my life in a wheelchair."

MRS. TAYLOR—LOWELL—"I'm certain that anyone trying your medicine for rheumatism, arthritis or stomach trouble will soon see why I praise O-Jib-Wa so highly."

MR. PROCTOR—GRAND RAPIDS—"I tried many other medicines and treatments before O-Jib-Wa, and am sorry now that I wasted both time and money. Before using your medicine, I was barely able to dress myself or even walk."

MR. STURBS—DEARBORN—"After suffering for such a long time, it's great to be up and around again. I'm so thankful for what O-Jib-Wa did for me."

Elmer Avoids Baldies' Club

BY ELMER WHEELER

I was really washing my hair these days.

Somehow or other I felt that maybe my doc had something in the fact that clogged pores can cause hair to fall out.

Anyway, I was hopeful.

That is, until one day I got a note from the United Bald Heads of America!

You think I'm kiddin'?

I'm not. There is such a society, and they even have sizzling sales slogans, to wit:

United Forever in Holy Bonds of Baldness.

No Dandruff for Me.

Can you beat that?

I asked Peter J. Michael, the hair researcher, about this and he told me it was true.

He said members often act like they do at A.A. meetings. They get up and give testimonials to bolster each other's morale.

IT WAS FASHIONABLE

No wonder the Egyptians ruled out hair and shaved their heads. That was highly fashionable in those days and certainly ruled out phobias and shocks to men upon finding they were bald. You never knew who was bald and who wasn't.

Anyway, it was my turn to see the doc on another phase of possible curable baldness. The discussion today was on emotional causes of baldness.

It seems emotional upsets can cause holes in the hair, like mine; huge patches of hair will fall out almost overnight.

A rundown physical condition can cause the hair, as well as other parts of the body, to run down and destroy itself.

Mental health is equally important. After the stock market crash in 1929, men turned white-headed overnight, and many had nervous ailments that caused them to lose their hair as well as their savings.

Fortunately, as they overcame their worries, their hair returned. This is one of the curable types of hair losses, my doc said.

He had a suspicion that the moth spot in the back of my noggin was not just wear and tear or old age, but due to a nervous condition. He gave it a fancy name.

He told me that perhaps I had been worrying too much, under a nervous strain, pushing too hard, or that the shock of finding my hair line was receding so upset my mental balance that the hole appeared.

"You'd perhaps just have had a normal V if the patch hadn't showed up. Let's work on the patch."

MENTAL ATTITUDE IMPORTANT

He told me my mental attitude was important. "That part of the psychosomatic treatment you'll get later on if we find you are a permanent baldy."

It seems negative thoughts and emotions such as hate, anger, fear, worry, self-pity can cause frustration in the system and mind that so upset our glandular self, that anything can happen.

"Note if you will," he said, "the average business executive. He has fuzz on his head as he gulps down donuts and coffee, reads the paper, rushes off to an office and begins to excite his system."

Being young, said my doc, he can get away with it for the time being; then suddenly he gets ulcers, indigestion, heart trouble, high blood pressure, and his hair reacts to these upsets and starts thinning itself out.

"United Forever in the Holy Bonds of Baldness."

On the other hand, pointed out the doc, note the hair of an out-of-doors man. It is often very ample and shiny and glossy, and even if it is thin, it still looks healthy as fine silk.

Now the doc doesn't mean in the least that cowboys have more hair than salesmen or purchasing agents; but that many a man who suddenly quieted down, took things easy, began to have better-looking eyes and complexion.

That in many cases, if he were not possessed with the bad gene, his hair not only improved in texture but in quantity, and that certainly if he had one of those nervous hair-falling deals, his hair returned.

I had more hope.

I'd settle down and quit worrying about my hair. About other things. I'd give this emotional idea a good whirl, for what had I to lose? Certainly, not more hair.

I left the doc flying high as a kite. I spoke sweetly to everybody I knew. I smiled.

I tried not to worry about anything.

When the sheep dog came up for a pat, he got it instead of a boot into the yard.

He wouldn't annoy me any longer. I'd even run my fingers though his hair to prove it, just as an alcoholic sits a bottle in front of him and doesn't drink just to prove he has hold of himself.

Frisco Visitors Get Rare Look at City Folks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The entire school-age population of Sawyers Bar, deep in the heart of mountainous Siskiyou County, moved in on San Francisco yesterday to see life in the big city.

The 11 youngsters, from 7 to 11 years old, were accompanied by W. H. Battershell, the only schoolteacher at Sawyers Bar, and by Mr. and Mrs. David Russell, Mrs. Sam Wallace, and Mrs. Earline McBroom, school trustees.

Only two of the children had ever been on a train before the trip here and they didn't remember details. At Oakland they took the ferry for the transbay trip to San Francisco—another first.

Not one had ridden a streetcar, an elevator or an escalator. They never before had seen a ship, or the ocean.

The zoo and the famed playland on the city's ocean beach pleased them the most.

Sawyers Bar, settled by gold prospectors in 1850, now has a population of 51. Its adults put up the money to show the kids what a city looked like after Battershell made the suggestion.

This Life Isn't Filled With Up's and Down's

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A teacher in a nursery school reports she had to teach one of her pupils how to walk up and down stairs.

She said the child always had lived in a one-story house and never had become acquainted with a flight of stairs.

Air Force Tests Monster Missile

Streaks Two Miles Up, Then Explodes in Sky; Identified as Atlas

MISSILE TEST CENTER, Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP) — A monster missile streaked two miles straight up yesterday, then exploded. Thousands of spectators were confident they had seen the Atlas take its first step toward intercontinental — and perhaps interplanetary — flight.

The test apparently miscarried. The Air Force in its terse announcement said the missile itself blew up shortly after it was launched.

The Air Force and the Defense Department wouldn't say it was the Atlas. They wouldn't call it anything but "a missile," or say directly how it measured up to expectations.

However, the cigar-shaped skyrocket was identified as the Atlas by informants whose past statements have proved 100 per cent accurate.

The Atlas was brought here a few days ago by special truck convoy from San Diego, Calif., site of its manufacture. On hand for the firing were representatives of Convair Corp. and General Electric, which built the intercontinental ballistic missile. Observers who have seen previous versions of rocket blasts said this was not like any they'd seen.

The missile rose and burst in a fireball at 2:38 p.m. Ninety minutes later an Air Force spokesman said: "A missile was fired at the Air Force missile test center's Cape Canaveral launching site today. Shortly after the launching the missile exploded. There were no casualties."

Previous firings had been announced only days before.

Ask Implementation of Geneva Actions

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam today announced it has called on Britain and Soviet Russia to "take necessary and effective measures" to insure implementation of the 1954 Geneva agreements ending the Indochina war.

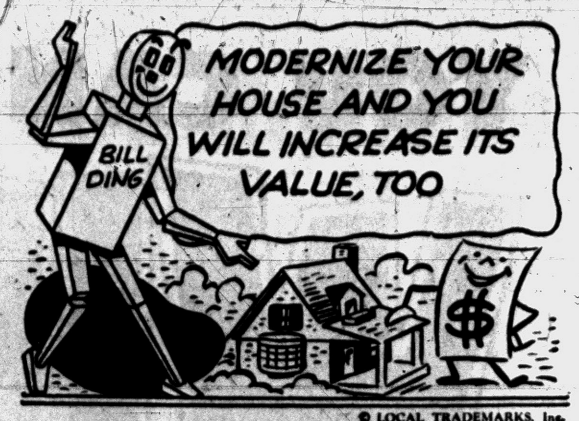

Hanoi radio broadcast the text of a note it said Foreign Minister Pham Van Dong sent June 8 to the two nations which were cochairmen of the Geneva conference.

The note accused South Viet Nam of trying, with United States help, to "sabotage implementation of the agreements."

Cigarette Said Cause of $125 Fire in House

A cigarette left on a kitchen window sill was the cause of a $125 house fire early this morning, according to Pontiac firemen.

They were called to the home of Charles Smead, 752 Monticello St., about 2 a.m. today to extinguish the blaze.

Oakland Big Brothers Meeting

Oakland County's Big Brothers will meet tonight, on the lookout for more big brothers.

The organization is a non-profit one, devoted to helping boys — those who have been in trouble with the law or close to it.

At the annual spring meeting in the Oakland County headquarters, 29 Orchard Lake Ave., a big question will be how to meet the expanding need for the organization's unique services.

The theory behind the Big Brother program is that a boy in trouble needs a friend to help overcome anti-social behavior.

The Big Brother gives mature advice, companionship and most of all—friendship.

Friendship is such an important factor, that the orgaization's cardinal rule is each Big Brother has only one boy to look after and no more. That way, each boy feels that his Big Brother is his and his alone.

The number of men volunteering to act as Big Brothers has increased from six, when the group was formed three years ago, to 44 nowadays.

But more are needed if the group's work is to go forward, said William Clark, executive secretary.

Volunteers of any profession, occupation or employment are welcomed to make queries at Clark's office during the coming months, he said.

The Oakland County Chapter is affiliated with Big Brothers of America, and is a Pontiac Area United Fund agency that serves all Oakland County communities.

Hold Three Men in Kidnap Plot

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The grandson of a prominent South Carolina educator is one of three men in custody for allegedly plotting to kidnap the 4-year-old son of a Clinton, S.C., banker and hold him for $350,000 ransom.

Arrested were Thomas D. Jacobs, 59; Jobie Shelton, 28; and William T. Hill, 60. Jacobs, now employed as a printer, is the grandson of Thomas P. Jacobs, founder of Presbyterian College in Clinton.

Chief J. P. Strom of the State Law Enforcement Division said the arrests were made Monday.

Strom said police learned of the kidnap plot four months ago and since that time the scheme has been under "surveillance."

He would not divulge how police first got knowledge of the plot.

Authorities said the men would be charged with conspiracy to kidnap.

The intended victim, Chief Strom said, was Robert M. Varice Jr., son of the president of a Clinton banking firm.

Leaps, Doesn't Look

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Louis Ater, 50, an elevator repairman, thought he was in the basement when hejumped into an elevator shaft. He wasn't. He was on the first floor. Now he's in the hospital with a fractured hip.

Announce Deadline for Tax Payments

The payment deadline for second quarter 1957 estimated tax of individuals and for the second half of corporation taxes for 1956 has been set for Monday, June 17, a two-day extension necessitated because the regular deadline, June 15, falls on Saturday.

The Internal Revenue Service also points out that individuals liable for filing a declaration of estimated tax for 1957 for the first time on June 17, must pay one-third of the estimated tax.

June 17 is also the deadline for filing income tax returns for calendar year 1956 for U.S. citizens abroad; domestic corporations whose records are abroad or whose principal income is from U.S. possessions; nonresident alien individuals (other than residents of contiguous countries), nonresident foreign corporations, and all other foreign partnerships and corporations.

Court Orders Civilians Freed

Court-Martials Barred for GI Dependents Overseas

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Supreme Court in a far-reaching decision has ruled that civilians accompanying U. S. armed forces overseas cannot be court-martialed and ordered that two service wives convicted of murder be freed.

Their 6-2 decision reverses a 5-3 high court verdict handed down last year.

The ruling of the high court that court-martial of civilians is unconstitutional makes 450,000 dependents of service men and civilian employees subject to laws of foreign countries unless Congress acts to return them to the U. S. for trial or sets up special American civilian courts aboard.

The test came in the cases of two women who killed their husbands overseas, both in 1953.

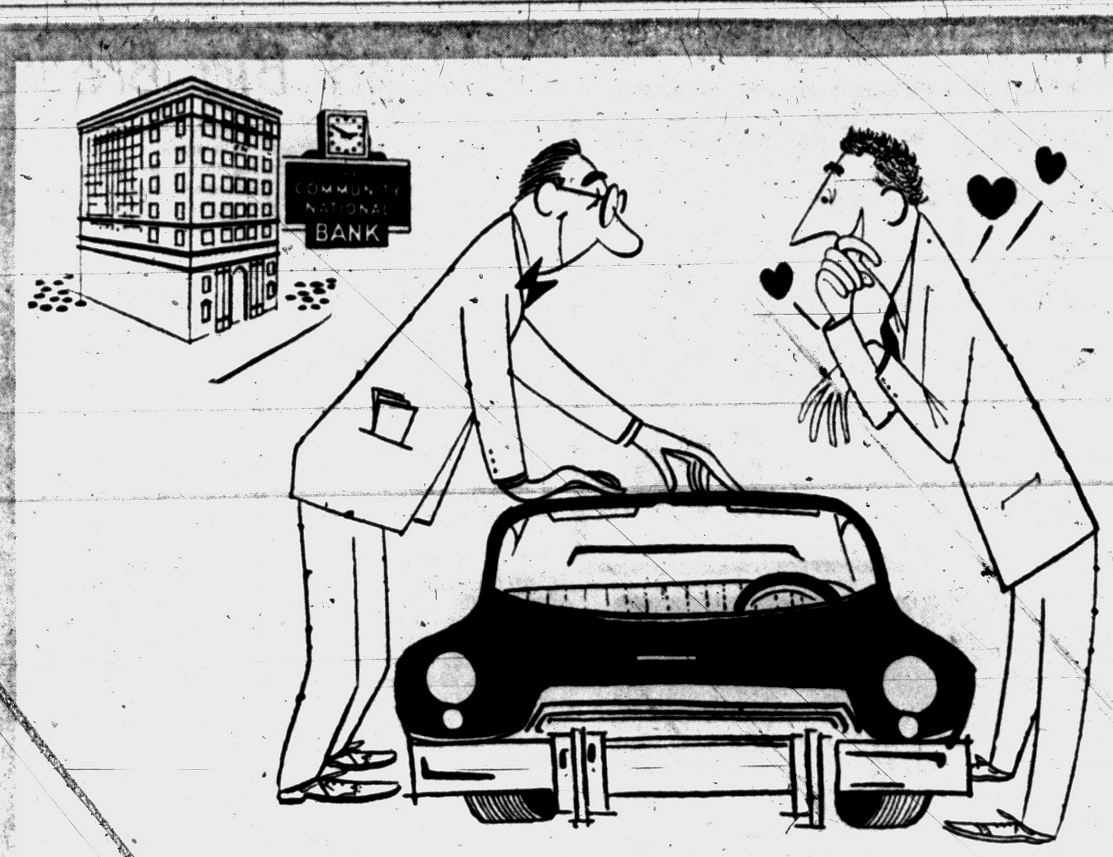

Mrs. Clarice Covert of Atlanta, Ga., was found guilty by court-martial of the ax slaying of her Air Force husband, Sgt. Edward E. Covert, at an English air base. A review board granted her a new trial. She was brought to Washington, D. C., to await the new court-martial. She went to court and a Federal District judge ruled that "a civilian is entitled to a civilian trial." She is presently free on bond.

In a companion case, Mrs. Dorothy Krueger Smith, daughter of retired Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger, was found guilty by court-martial of the fatal stabbing of her husband, Army Col. Aubrey Smith, in Japan. She is serving a life sentence at the Alderson, W. Va., women's reformatory.

Mrs. Smith lost in District Court her challenge of the court-martial procedure. Because it involved the same issues as the Covert case, the government agreed to bypass the circuit court appeal and bring it to Supreme Court.

The majority of the Supreme Court said: "Ours is a government of divided authority on the assumption that in division there is not only strength but freedom from tyranny. And under our Constitution, courts of law alone are given power to try civilians for their offenses against the United States."

John-Priscilla Family Line Never Broken

NEEDHAM, Mass. (INS)—John and Priscilla Alden, with the "Why don't you speak for yourself" ironed out, founded what amounts to a modern-day dynasty.

The marriage of John and Priscilla, whose romance still stirs the sentimental side of all Americans, was blessed with 11 children—the last, David, born in Duxbury in 1646.

From David, in an unbroken genealogical line, comes charming, freckled Priscilla Alden, who lives in Needham.

Today she is really Mrs. Allison Ringer, mother of three children and wife of an insurance company executive.

Speaking of the Alden descendants, Priscilla said:

"We all belong to the society known as the Alden kindred of America, Inc., and, when we can, attend the yearly meetings held in Duxbury on the first Saturday in August. They come from all over the nation, these Alden descendents, and meet in the historic John Alden House—It's quite impressive."

Waterford Woman to Study at Wayne

Mrs. Mary M. Burrell, of 4565 Horseshoe drive, Waterford Township, has received a scholarship to the Human Relations Workshop at Wayne State University this summer.

The supervisor of nurses in the Pontiac department of health, Mrs. Burrell is a graduate of Indiana University and has done graduate work at Indiana, Yale and the University of Michigan. In addition to her nursing work, she is a member of the PTA and works with the Oak Park schools.

She received the scholarship through the Edgar DeWitt Jones Scholarship Fund of the Detroit Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The workshops are conducted on a national basis and deal with problems of intergroup tensions.

Last 'Fabulous Dorsey' Has Played Final Note

NEW YORK (INS) — Jimmy Dorsey, one of the great bandsmen of America for 30 years, died in Doctors Hospital today after a prolonged illness. He was 53, and his death followed by only seven months that of his brother, Tommy, second part in one of the most famous brother "combos" in the field of popular music.

Jimmy, who was reported to have taken very hard the loss of Tommy, who died from choking on a food particle in his Connecticut home last November, was reported to have suffered from cancer of the lung. No official cause of death was given immediately, however.

SHATTERED BY DEATH

Friends said Tommy's sudden death "shattered" Jimmy, whose weight since he entered the hospital early this year was reported to have dropped to 90 pounds.

He first was hospitalized on Jan. 4, for what was described as removal of a wart on his left lung. His agent, Tino Barzi, said the condition was fairly common among musicians and "not serious."

Early in February, however, Jimmy entered the hospital again and his illness was announced as the flu. Since then, according to friends, he had "wasted away."

CARRIED ON

Following Tommy's death Nov. 26, Jimmy carried on in the tradition of show business and completed an engagement at the Hotel Statler in New York, where he and Tommy were appearing with the orchestra they had led jointly in recent years. Then Jimmy took the group on tour, and it was while the orchestra was appearing at Wichita, Kas., that Jimmy became ill.

Long before Tommy's death, he and Jimmy had patched up the differences which had kept them feuding over the years. Both "T.D." and "J.D." as they were billed said they had "mellowed" when they formed their combined dance band in 1953.

But their frequent battles over the years were part of the folklore of show business. The brothers even kept up the running fight in the early 1930's while they were riding high with their own bands after being top soloists with other orchestras. The battle came to a head on Memorial Day, 1935, during a stand at the Glen Island Casino in New Rochelle, N. Y.

COMPLAINED OF TEMPO

Jimmy complained that the tempo set by Tommy was too fast and they quarrelled bitterly. Tommy finally stalked off the bandstand, vowing to organize his own band and make it "twice as good as Jimmy's."

They formed serparate orchestras within a short time. Tommy took his band on one - night stands and finally shot up to the big time with such recordings as "Marie" and "Song of India."

Jimmy struggled along for several years until his swing music caught on. His band's recordings of "Green Eyes," "Maria Elena," "I Understand" and other hits toppled all competitors in 1941 with a 4,800,000 sales total.

STEADY SELLER

Jimmys swing version of "Green Eyes" still is a steady seller despite the modern-day competition of rock 'n' roll and calypso music.

The nimble - fingered bandmaster reached his peak in the late '30s and early '40s with his brand of swing music. "Swing is a rhythm, not a volume," he once said. "Though many bands play otherwise, swing can be performed quietly. We specialize in swing and I've never heard my outfit compared with an anvil."

The brothers healed their rift after their father, Thomas Dorsey Sr., died in 1942. A self-instructed musician who led the brass band in Mahanoy City, Pa., — where Jimmy was born on Feb. 29 in the leap year of 1904 and Tommy in 1905—Dorsey taught his two sons to play.

BEGAN YOUNG

The elder Dorsey began their musical education when Jimmy was eight and Tommy was six. Their sister, Mrs. Mary Lisella, has reminisced that the house was always a "musical bedlam."

In 1922, the brothers organized their first jazz band, labelling it "The Wild Canaries." The next year they joined a "hot" Scranton, Pa., group called the "Scranton Sirens," with Jimmy on the clarinet and saxophone and Tommy on the trombone.

The Dorseys then moved on to New York to try their luck and landed spots with such top-ranking bandleaders as Vincent Lopez and Paul Whiteman.

Lopez recalls that the Dorseys were feuding even when they joined his outfit as sidemen.

"They'd been in big music just long enough for Jimmy to develop a reputation as a fast man with his fists—apt to turn a rehearsal into a free-for-all," he says. "Tommy promised to see to it that his brother stayed out of fights. So I signed both of them and soon learned that when Jimmy did fight, it was usually with Tommy."

The bandleader was married in 1927, but Mrs. Jane Dorsey obtained an uncontested divorce in Los Angeles in September, 1949, charging cruelty. The couple had one daughter, Julia.

Hal Boyle Says:

Plentiful Parking Made '90s Gay

That you have about 2,500,000 pores in your body, or some 3,000 to the square inch.

That while somebody has already tipped you off that no two fingerprints are identical, you probably didn't know that no two stomaches are shaped exactly alike. But they sure do look alike from the outside.

That if you want to be different from your neighbor, take up Buddhism. There are only 60,000 Buddhists in the United States.

That in 1895 there were only four automobiles registered in this country. No wonder they called 'em the "Gay Nineties" — no parking worries.

That Americans now spend more than $250,000,000 annually on special baby foods.

That you breathe more than 23,000 times daily and inhale 438 cubic feet of air.

That the first king and queen ever televised were George VI and Queen Elizabeth of England, on June 10, 1939, at the New York World's Fair.

That you will have spent more than 20 years asleep if you live to be 70.

Expect $625 Million From State Tourists

LANSING (AP) — Vacationers will spend 625 million dollars in Michigan this year, the State Tourist Council estimates.

Robert J. Furlong, Council chief, said the prediction assumed favorable weather.

In 1956, 39 days of rain in July and August cut down vacation traffic and held tourist spending below 600 million dollars, he said.

The tourist industry is the state's third largest.

An insurance company tells us that a woman driver, demanding payment for an accident, flatly stated, "A lamp post bumped brazenly into my car, damaging it seriously in two different places". . . . "And all the time," says Comedian Will Jordan, "the Russian secret weapon was—vodka!" —Earl Wilson.

From that alone you'd discover an important fact: how much more automobile you get in this Buick that's priced so close to the smaller cars.
But in your heart you know you want even more:
You want action. You want fun. You want lift and life and response. You want to feel absolute master over your going and stopping.
So try this Buick—just try it.
It drives and rides and brakes and steers and handles like no other car you've ever known before.
It has a brilliant new V8 engine—like silk with the flow of Niagara.
It has a spectacular new Dynaflow*—instant and smooth to the infinite.
It has powerful new brakes, new roadability, a new precision in its handling.
But the total feeling you get from all this is far, far more than words can bring you.
Come in, sit behind the wheel, and see for yourself why this great buy is the dream car—the hit of the year—to drive.
No Other Car Has All These New Features
Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow gives unsurpassed smoothness plus new instant response even without switching the pitch
Powerful new brakes give surer, quicker, straight-line stops to match Buick's new performance
Cradled bodies with sleek new lowness and full headroom and legroom
Low-sweep styling has flair without freakishness
Wide-frame chassis with new rigidity, new low gravity-center, gives superb roadability and full road clearance
Full-length drop-center torque tube drive braces rear-end assembly, imparts ride stability, enables use of soft coil springs at rear wheels

Alan Goes Back to Crime With Role in 'Chiselers'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Give Alan Ladd one of those steely-eyed, stiff-upper-lip detective or Western roles, and he's at his best. And this is exactly what he's getting in "The Chislers," the Albert Conroy novel in which he'll play a detective in today's modern crime jungle for Joe Pasternak and Sam Katz at Columbia.

It's a story right up Alan's street — which "Boy on a Dolphin" was not. Despite the fact that Alan didn't like this movie any better than some of the critics, he should weep. He made $275,000 cold cash from it plus making love to Sophia Loren.

About "The Chislers," Alan says, "It's the best crime story I've had since 'Gun for Hire' " — the hit which started Alan on the road to fame.

Dean Martin telephoned me from Pittsburgh, jubilant that he had raised close to $900,000 for the multiple sclerosis drive in New York. While he was in Pittsburgh, he also went on a telethon to raise money.

What Dean didn't tell me himself was that he so endeared himself to people that they stopped him on the streets to thank him.

He has finally decided to join Marlon Brando and Monty Clift in "The Young Lion," and he'll leave for Europe on the 18th to start the picture. He has turned down offers as high as $200,000, but he feels this role is right for him.

RETURNING HOME

Rosemary Clooney and Jose Ferrer return the end of this week from London where Jose has finished the Dreyfus story, "I Accuse." Rosie will come on to the coast to see the children, but Jose will headquarter in New York to start rehearsals for his Broadway musical, "Captain's Paradise."

Jose will write the book with Al Morgan, who authored "The Great Man," and Rosemary has been asked by the producers to play one of the femme leads. She won't be able to do any rehearsing until after the birth of her third baby in the early fall.

Mary Fickett, who impressed me as Bing Crosby's divorced wife in "Man on Fire" will be a real-life bride in five weeks when she finishes "Christmas in Paradise" at UI.

She's flying to New York to marry stage actor Alan Shayne, whose biggest Broadway break was the male lead in "Mad Woman of Chaillot." He has also toured with the Katharine Cornell and Maurice Evans repertoire companies.

Bride or not, something tells me that Mary will be back in Hollywood before long. The boys at UI say she's every bit as good in "Christmas in Paradise" as she was in Bing's picture.

FLYING TO EUROPE

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Kim Novak flies to Europe July 14. She'll go to Rome to visit Count Bandini's family, returning in time to attend the premiere of "Jeanne Eagels" in New York.

George Raft had Jack Kearns, former manager of ex-heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, in tow at Romanoff's. Kearns said he has had several talks with Jack. Too bad he didn't make up his mind about playing in Dempsey's life story before the script was written without him.

Lauren Bacall waited for four hours for Irving Lazar to escort her to the Billy Wilder party. Irving was taking a walk near his home when a motorcycle cop collided with his derriere. He was taken to a hospital and given a complete checkup.

Anna Maria Alberghetti's entire show will be recorded at the Cocoanut Grove by Capitol. She'll sing her regular program, "It's You I Love," "I Could Have Danced All Night," "A Most Unusual Day," etc.

Provincetown All Astir Over Mayflower II

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. — (NEA) — Beneath its Cape Cod calm, Provincetown, first stop of Mayflower II on her voyage to American shores, is astir with an excitement it hasn't known since Jeremiah Cushing came back from Harvard with his sheepskin in 1676.

The sea-girt tip of Cape Cod, where the Pilgrims of 1620 first stepped ashore on American soil, has been a whaling town, became a famous summer resort and grew into the country's No. 1 art colony. Now it's a ringside seat for the first glimpse of Mayflower II.

Beneath it all, the historic, picture-postcard fishing town remains the home of hard-headed fishermen who take the spotlight without blinking. In diesel-engine draggers they fish the Banks off the outer shores as have Provincetown men for 300 years; they mend their nets on the wharves as they always have — but now they're talking about Mayflower II.

Despite the fact Provincetown was almost by-passed for the return of the Mayflower, there has been less debate over the arrival here than there has been in Plymouth.

That town's government has gone all-out for the reception, and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has spent $277,000 to dredge a channel and anchorage basin for the Mayflower. Now they are irked at the fact that the vessel is to be taken to New York within two weeks of its arrival and berthed there all summer as a tourist attraction.

GREETER — Capt. Manuel Zora will lead fishing fleet to welcome Mayflower to Provincetown

Some state legislators have even hinted at action to impound the Mayflower at Plymouth until "every parent and child here has a chance to see it."

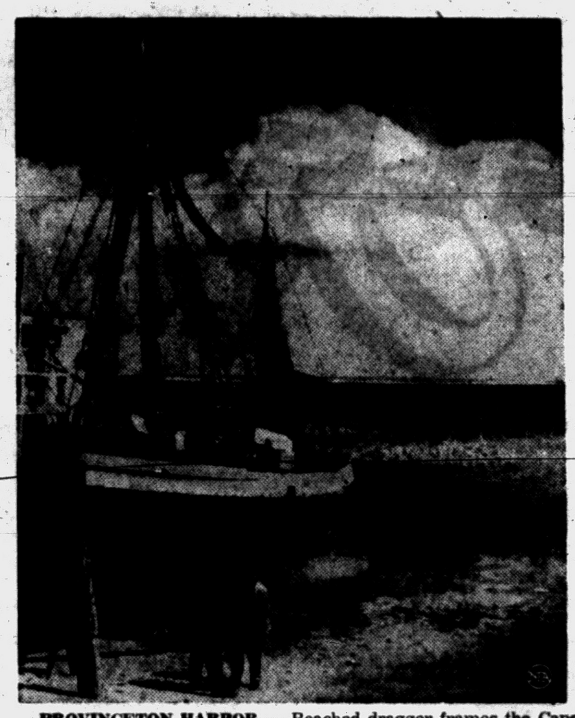

Whatever happens, the Mayflower II eventually will be returned to Plymouth for permanent mooring in a lagoon near a Pilgrim vilage now being planned as a replica of the one first erected in 1622.

BUOY READIED

In Provincetown, meanwhile, a buoy painted with a big red "M" tosses in the harbor. It is a mooring laid down to save Capt. Alan Villiers the trouble of letting go and weighing his unwieldly anchor gear patterned after that of the original Mayflower.

At this anchorage the crew of Mayflower II will re-enact the signing of the Mayflower Compact, called "the first charter of American democracy," signed here by the first Pilgrims in 1620. Provincetown town fathers will read it later with solemn ceremonies outside Town Hall.

Thousands of Cape Codders from the 15 Cape towns, plus visitors from every part of the country, will invade Provincetown and adjoining Truro, whose sweep of hills command a view of the harbor where the second Mayflower will anchor.

PROVINCETON HARBOR — Beached dragger frames the Cape Cod waters where Mayflower II will make first U. S. stop.

It was here the Pilgrims spent their first five weeks on American soil. Here was born the first white child in New England, Peregrine White. In Truro, the Pilgrims found their first fresh water on North America and the stores of Indian corn from which years later, were to come "the great golden cornfields of Iowa and Nebraska."

Side by side with the Portuguese who first arrived in 1875, dwells the largest concentration of Mayflower descendants anywhere in the country. Most of Cape Cod was settled by Pilgrim stock — and they haven't moved away.

Contacts Mayflower II

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I. (AP)—The swordfishing vessel Theresa reported last night it went so close to the Mayflower II Monday its crew could have jumped aboard the Pilgrim ship Replica. Theresa crewmen said one of the Mayflower's crew leaned over the side and shouted: "Are the Indians friendly?"

Dairymen Seek Milk Price Hike

By LEE WINBORN

Newly elected officers of the Dairy Farmers Cooperative Association of Michigan were authorized yesterday to negotiate for a higher price for Class I (drinking) milk or call a strike if their demands are not met.

The strike resolution climaxed a special annual meeting held in the National Guard Armory in Owosso.

Some 200 dairy farmers representing 19 counties gave DFCA directors their approval to start negotiations with the creameries for a "cost of production plus reasonable profit."

The officers will demand that the price of Class I milk be set at $5.50 per hundredweight for August and September and $6.00 thereafter.

TAKE ACTION

"If these agreements fail, the board is empowered to take strike action and call on all dairy farmers and their organizations to join in making the demand effective," the unanimously approved resolution read.

The group's action was sparked by remarks made by a Wisconsin Cheese processor, John Gurtner, who urged dairy farmers to launch a "do-it-yourself" program.

Gurtner is secretary treasurer of the recently formed National Dairymen's Association. He said that he and fellow NDA officers had made two trips to Washington seeking assistance for the milk industry but reported that the dairy farmer could expect "no help" from the Department of Agriculture.

Gurtner offered a Stabilization Plan which would establish a floor price for manufactured or surplus milk. With this platform to work from, dairy farmers could bargain for higher price for Class I milk.

"He who controls surplus, controls price," the NDA officer said urging individual farmers to join the national organization designed to put them on the same economic level as industry.

Michigan Woman Killed in Turnpike Accident

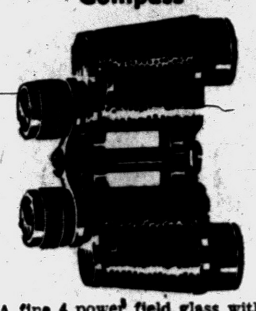

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—A Michigan woman was killed early today when a car hit the rear of a truck on the Ohio Turnpike.

She was Mrs. Olive Harrington, 52, Johannesburg, Mich., a passenger in the car driven by her 28-year-old son, Milton.

It was the 13th death on the turnpike this year, compared with seven through June 1956.

Waterford Police Tag 79 Motorists in May

Waterford Township Police issued 79 traffic tickets in May.

A report submitted by Police Chief Frank Van Atta to the township board last night showed Justice of the Peace Willis D Lefurgy handled 38 of these, while Justice Donald E. Adams had 37.

There were 22 arrests and the seven patrolmen on duty answered 700 calls. They reported 60 accidents and the six police cars were driven 16,879 miles.

Creativity Fits Into Modern World

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The wise people of any age adjust to the climate of their age, while the fools deplore everything and wish to go back to the past.

Whether we like it or not, this is the age we live in. We might as well find satisfactory ways of operating within its framework.

I think of this when people bemoan the mechanical aspects of today, the loss of the creative arts and crafts.

"Let's stop buying bread," one woman said to me recently, "and go back to baking our own. It's so much more creative."

Well, then, why doesn't she grow her own wheat and grind it between two old stones?

BACK TO STONE AGE

We could be much more "creative." I suppose, if we went back to the Stone Age and made our own knives out of old pieces of flint.

But most of aren't that silly. Most of us prefer to find our own creativity without reverting to the dim past.

I think of this, too, when I see swarms of clerk-typists working in huge organizations or pouring out of the doors at 5 o'clock like a swarm of bees.

All day long they've been pounding a typewriter or adding figures or filing pieces of paper. The company is so huge that none of them can see the forest for the trees.

Should they, then, resign and go to the woods and grind their own corn?

My experience has been that some are downright wrong for this kind of work. They will usually find that fact out and change to a more creative kind of work.

Others will settle happily into the routine, finding a creative outlet after hours.

SORT OF BORING

That's what Betty K. has done. Betty writes: "My job is sort of boring, but I'm not the ambitious type that wants to blaze new trails. My roommate is and has gone into a much more exciting field.

"But I like the routine of my job, the security and comfort.

"On the side, I've taken up hand-weaving. It's such fun. I've learned to make perfectly beautiful things and I get a real sense of achievement from it.

"And now people are asking me to make scarves for them — and they pay for them, too."

If you're interested in the field, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you my list of good books on the subject.

Violet Reid became the bride of Louis DiCea Jr. Saturday at St. Vincent de Paul Church. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Reid of South Shirley avenue are parents of the bride, and Louis' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis DiCea, also of South Shirley avenue.

MR. and MRS. LOUIS A. DiCEA JR.

Violet Reid, Louis DiCea Wed in Church Ceremony

The Rev. Joseph Immel of St. Vincent de Paul Church officiated at the Saturday wedding of Violet Reid and Louis A. DiCea Jr. The couple was married at an 11 o'clock service attended by 200 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Reid of South Shirley street are parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis DiCea, also of South Shirley street, are the bridegroom's parents.

For the service, the bride chose a gown of white lace over taffeta. Her fingertip veil was secured by pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade arrangement of carnations and stephanotis, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Ray Ryver of Detroit was maid of honor and Janet Reid, sister of the bride, served as bridesmaid.

DRESSED IN BLUE

Attending the bridegroom were Ray Ryver of Detroit as best man, and Don Williams, cousin of the bride; Jim Reid, brother of the bride; and Frank DiCea, brother of the bridegroom, as ushers.

FEET IN THE SUN

Pedicures are a routine part of our good grooming today, and at this time of year our feet are doubly important. If you have been a little lax about this part of your beauty routine now is the time to make a new beginning. A pedicure is much easier to do than a manicure. In the first place you have both hands to work with. Toe nails are filed straight across. If they are ingrown, cleave a little nick in the center, soak feet in warm soapy water, push back the cuticle very gently with an orangewood stick, clip only rough, ragged places. Apply polish the same shade as your fingernails or a shade darker, rub a piece of pumice over callous or rough spots. A gentle massage of the feet will give big rewards. Not only in feeling better, but it helps you to relax.

Sally Elaine Roth and Richard L. Slade were married Saturday at United Presbyterian Church. Parents of the bride are Harold Roth of Fenmore street and Mrs. Helen Peifer of Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Slade of Fourth street are Richard's parents.

MR. and MRS. RICHARD SLADE

Sally Elaine Roth Weds Richard Leonard Slade

A gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle was worn by Sally Elaine Roth for her marriage Saturday to Richard Leonard Slade at the United Presbyterian Church on Joslyn avenue.

A small collar and long fitted sleeves were features of the fitted bodice, and the gown's bouffant skirt extended into a chapel sweep train. A white orchid on a prayerbook completed the ensemble.

All the attendants were gowned alike in ballerina-length chiffon. Dana's gown was yellow, and she carried a bouquet of yellow feathere carnations.

The bride's other attendants, Gloria Crane and Mrs. Ralph Monroe, were gowned in blue and pink and each carried matching bouquets of feathered carnations.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Slade of Fourth street. His uncle, Ralph Monroe, was his best man. Ushers were Floyd Monroe and William Moore, uncles of the bridegroom, and Truman Lamphere.

For the reception, held in the church parlors, Mrs. Peifer chose a rose lace dress and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Mrs. Slade wore a dress of lilac lace with white accessories and a pink carnation carsage.

Chrome Wall-Ovens Are Eye-Catchers

If you're planning a new kitchen, the new chrome wall-ovens undoubtedly have brought a new gleam to your eye. They come in a satin finish, a bright finish, and a combination of both. No matter which surface you choose, it's no trouble to keep it shining. Simply swab it inside and out with plenty of hot soap or detergent suds after each use.

Many women had been sponsored by a club group, some had been urged by their husbands and children to try for the title while yet more just thought it would be fun.

All husbands were questioned very carefully about how they felt about the project. A woman cannot do a good job of being Mrs. America unless her husband is cooperative. Mrs. America had to go to New York immediately and must be away from home about 23 weeks out of the coming year.

Couples also were questioned earnestly about who was taking care of the children during their absence and what arrangements they would make in case the wife became Mrs. America. A lot of mothers and mothers-in-law were pinch-hitting here.

Then as I have written before the contestants were questioned concerning their participation in community life.

AMUSING THINGS

Many amusing things happened during these interviews. One man was asked if his wife is a good cook. He was a tall, lean guy and he answered, "People call me Mr. No-Muscles and wonder how I can be so thin if my wife is a good cook. I don't know the answer to that because she is a wonderful cook."

When a mortician was asked if he approved of his wife's entrance into the contest, she spoke and said, "He will be the LAST one to let you down."

One woman who had wanted to enter for fun told us that she kept waiting to ask her husband for his approval until she could catch him JUST right. She waited almost a week before the perfect moment arrive.

When she asked him, he replied, "Sure! Go ahead! You couldn't win Mrs. Myrtle Avenue." Myrtle avenue is the street they live on and is four blocks long. That husband must have gotten a jolt because his wife was one of the most attractive finalists.

WONDERFUL SPIRIT

There was a wonderful spirit among these young couples. I am sure that there were some bitter disappointments but they did not show.

I was so happy to learn, after the contest, that the women had taken a secret poll to decide who they would like to have win. Isn't it wonderful that they had chosen the same woman we did? It shows that Mrs. America has a lot more than physical attractiveness.

If you would like my leaflet "The Most Attractive You," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 72 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Bicycling Is Wonderful Exercise and Enjoyable."

Married Saturday were Diane Gail Madsen and Thomas Gerald Livingston. Diane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice B. Madsen of Tacoma court. Thomas is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. William Curran of Ortonville.

MR. and MRS. T. G. LIVINGSTON

Thomas Livingston Takes Diane Madsen as Bride

Before an altar decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and snapdragons, Diane Gail Madsen became the bride of Thomas Gerald Livingston Saturday morning in St. Michael Church.

Diane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice B. Madsen of Tacoma court, and Tom is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. William Curran of Ortonville.

ASSISTS BRIDE

Joann Stewart served as matron of honor. Her gown of pink taffeta was accented by a white lace overskirt and matching lace jacket. She carried a white satin parasol filled with pink carnations.

Marjorie Madsen served her sister as junior bridesmaid. Kathryn Borer was the bride's other attendant. Their gowns were identical to that of the honor attendant. They also carried white satin parasols filled with pink carnations.

Rod Beckett performed the duties of best man. Seating the guests were Kurt Killaine and Hayden Bilyeu.

BREAKFAST FOLLOWS

A wedding breakfast immediately following the ceremony was held at Devon Gables, and an 8 o'clock evening reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

When the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Virginia Beach, the bride changed to a pink linen suit with pink accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

What's New in Potatoes?

Potato chips are not the only kind of processed potato women are using these days, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The government reports that one out of every six pounds of potatoes served by homemakers these days is in some processed form.

In frozen products, french fries are the most popular but women also are using puffs, dice, patties, potato soup and whipped potatoes out of the freezer.

Long Soak—Slow Cook—Good Dish!

Mrs. Conway Adds Bits of Bacon Rind to Pot of Beans

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

We haven't had a receipe for baked beans for a long time. This one from Mrs. Robert Conway makes a pot of beans that is brown and crusty on top but not deep brown all the way through.

Mrs. Conway is a new officer of the Commerce School PTA. This year she has been kindergarten room mother. She belongs to St. Ann's Guild of her church.

Sewing and gardening are her leisure time activities. She says gardening isn't a hobby; "it's work!"

BAKED BEANS
By Mrs. Robert Conway

1 pound northern navy beans
1 tablespoon soda
2 teaspoons salt
6 tablespoons sugar
5 tablespoons bacon drippings
Pieces of bacon rind

Soak beans in cold water for 18 hours. Add enough water to cover, put in soda and salt and simmer until beans are tender. (Skins will crack).

Put beans in casserole or bean pot. Add sugar, drippings and bits of bacon rind. Bake in slow oven 1½ to 2½ hours or until crusty on top. Serve with gingerbread. Serves 6-8.

To remove green grass or foliage stains from washable fabrics, you rub with hot soap or detergent suds. Then launder as usual in hot suds and rinses.

Units Gather in the Homes of Members

Women's Groups of Church Conduct Meetings

Women's Association groups of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church met last week in members' homes and at the church.

Mrs. Gerhart Barnhart of Savoy drive entertained the Eleanor Van-Lierop Group, with Mrs. Robert McCormack assisting with the dessert luncheon. Taking part in the program were Mrs. McCormack and Mrs. Lexie Williams. The group sewed cancer pads.

Eleanor Creswell Group members met at the Cadillac avenue home of Mrs. Betty Henry, with Mrs. Mary Sears assisting. On the program were Mrs. William Bray and Mrs. LeRoy Koch.

Mrs. John Martin instructed members in the sewing project, making pajamas for youngsters at the Oakland County Children's Home.

TOPIC DISCUSSED

The Rev. Theodore Allebach and Grace Cowley served as moderators during a discussion on "Temperance" at the Mary Jo Curry Teenage Group meeting held at the church.

The Ann McGeough Group met in the Dorcas Room of the church, with Mrs. Walter Napersky as program chairman. Mrs. Carl Buckner served refreshments.

Mrs. Thomas Hegwood of North Merrimac street entertained the Lucille McBane Group, with Mrs. Allebach assisting. Mrs. James Talmadge and Mrs. Donald Upton took part in the program.

Touch of Rouge Lightly Applied, Adds Beauty

Rouge is the part of makeup that most women apply with least skill. In recent years, there has been a great vogue for going without it.

It's true that teenagers usually do not need rouge, but beyond teens there are few women with such flawless skins that they can afford to be without a touch of rouge.

When it's used properly, it takes away the tired and tense look that many middle-aged women have. Generally, cake rouge is best for oily skins and cream or liquid rouge for dry skins.

But whichever you use, apply it lightly and blend it carefully, either with your fingertip or with a cotton puff. Always powder over rouge, when you've finished applying it, to give a lightly veiled effect.

Remember, though, that too much rouge ages a woman. Use it sparingly.

Chiffon Flannel Comes to Fare

Chiffon flannel is decidedly to the fore in ensembles of dresses with capes or short jackets.

The fabric looks fresh and neat as always in the softly shaped demi-fitted sheaths, the dress with pleats, and the newly significant coat dress.

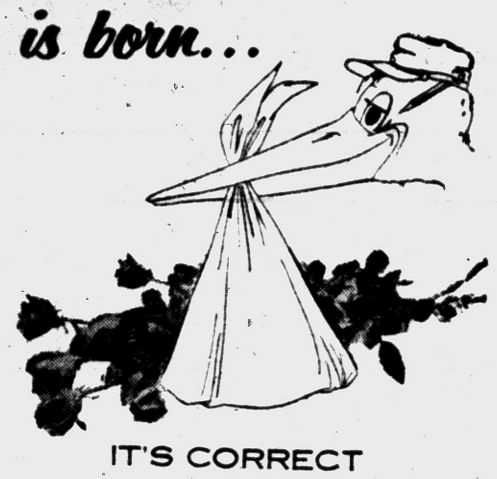

There are splendid examples of this trend in yarn-dyed gray. Both pearl gray and navy flannel are seen in jacket costumes that merge daytime dresses featuring shirtwaist tops with smart capes, and styled jackets of straight cut or bloused back.

White striped flannel is also seen throughout the wool dress market.

Father's Day Isn't All It's Cracked Up to Be

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Father's Day's a-coming in and what are us kiddies gonna give Daddy for Daddy's Day?

Daddy here suggests that while neckties are very nice gifts, what any father would like to have is: His own way for just one day.

Once upon a time, Father dear was the lord of the home, but today Father's a doormat, hen-pecked and child-pecked, a chauffeur and phone-answerer for the teeners, an old slob who dresses funny, a gent who ought to be making more money so we can live at a better address.

Let's take Father's Day itself.

By rights he should be let sleep till 3 p.m. when his wife serves him breakfast in bed with a vase containing one perfect sweetheart rose.

Instead, Father dear is wakened by the doorbell at 8 a.m. "You get it, you've got clothes on," says Mommy sleepily, lying in her teeth because he's naked.

Well, well, what hath the Postman wrought!

It's a special delivery air-mail letter from one of Mommy's friends and there's 6c due on it, and you hardly ever carry 6c with you when you're in a towel.

Father dear, a tower of streng't, decides to bring breakfast in bed to Mommy since he's such a true-blue sterling boy.

"The tomato juice is all r-i-ght," says Mommy, condescendingly, "but where are the seasoning—the salt, the Worcestershire, the vodka?"

"Oh, not the camera bit again!" comes a concerted wail. "I'm not going. I've had it."

"But it's Father's hobby," points out Father dear.

"Father's an idiot, but if we're careful everybody won't find out," says Mommy.

"Only those that meet him," says Slugger dear.

That's why Father's Day is so wonderful. It gives us such a fine understanding and appreciation of how the other members of our family are going to keep on running you. Happy Father's Daze!

Senate Revives Soil Bank Plan

Sharp Vote Switching Marks Long Session on Farm Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A marathon Senate session and some sharp vote switching gave the administration's soil bank program a new lease on life today and provided hundreds of millions of dollars for payments to farmers.

The Senate unanimously passed last night a $3,668,972,157 farm money bill and sent it back to the House. But the 78-0 passage vote came only after several close tests of strength on specific issues during a 13-hour session.

Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) called the Senate back into extra-hour duty today with two more annual appropriations bills to work on.

One would provide $5,378,224,800 for 20 miscellaneous government agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1. The other carries $2,885,290,781 for the Labor and Health, Education and Welfare departments for the same period. Neither was expected to arouse much floor controversy.

Over-all, the Senate farm bill action was a broad victory for the Eisenhower administration's farm policies, although key issues still are subject to a Senate-House compromise.

Detroit Youth Called Mentally Ill

DETROIT (INS)—A 13-year-old boy who admitted knife attacks on three women faced confinement today to a mental institution.

A panel of six psychiatrists appointed by Probate Judge Nathan Kaufman has found Robert Klucha mentally ill.

Judge Kaufman has instructed the court clinic to file a petition with Probate Court asking that Robert be committed to an institution.

The judge also refused to release the boy to his parents pending the commitment hearing.

Robert was arrested after he stabbed Mrs. Delores Bredau, 35, injuring her critically. After his arrest, the star athlete and "ideal" student confessed attacks on two other women.

Storms Batter Midwest Area With Rain, Hail

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Late spring storms, with tornadic winds, heavy rain and hail, continued to pound broad areas in the mid-continent today in the wake of yesterday's damaging turbulent weather.

Strong winds and heavy hail accompanied squall lines in parts of the central plains and the middle Mississippi Valley during the night. The most violent weather was reported in eastern Kansas, but damaging storms also hit south and south central parts of the state, central Missouri, and sections of Oklahoma, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

Funnel clouds and tornadoes were reported in the storm belt. Winds were clocked at 80 m.p.h. at Hoisington, Kan., and hail pelted the area. There were no casualties reported in the violent weather in Kansas, northern Oklahoma and Missouri.

Although the severe weather diminished in the central plains, storms continued in the middle Mississippi Valley. Tornado and severe thunderstorm warnings were posted for the southern third of Illinois throughout the early morning hours.

New Officers Lead Advisory Council

The control of the Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council officially changed hands yesterday as old officers met for the first time with newly-elected officers.

Fred V. Haggard, outgoing President, turned over the reins to Judge Clark J. Adams.

Other new officers meeting at the Waldron Hotel were Mrs. S. V. Sekles, vice president; Mrs. Neil Wasserberger, recording secretary; and Carroll Osmun, treasurer.

The officers reviewed the council board meeting.

Boy Causes Damages

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Police said Tuesday a 6-year-old boy has admitted causing $500 damage at a home here. Deputy Sheriff William Robinson said the boy broke up several valuable antiques and other pieces of furniture. He said the boy could give no reason for his action.

West Germany's new conscription law will be effective late in 1957. It provides for 18 months' service in the army, which will reach its maximum of 500,000 by 1958.

Toledo Becomes Weekend Golf Capital

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

TOLEDO, Ohio — This bustling city has become the country's golf capital for the coming weekend as the nation's greatest names among the pros and amateurs bid for one of the world's coveted titles—champion of the U. S. Open.

A large portion of the field of 128 professionals and 34 amateurs has toured the 34-36—70 layout of 6,919 yards at Inverness Country Club for the past few days, tuning up for the tournament with various reactions.

Everyone has been tossing around names of their favorites. There have been grumblings over the changes in the course layout, and the city itself has put up the "no vacancy" sign as motels and hotels reported a mad rush for living quarters.

Predominant favorite is the "old pro" himself, Ben Hogan, who is hoping to become the first five-time winner of the Open in history.

Sentimental favorite is Slammin' Sammy Snead, winner of more than 100 top tournaments including the British Open, three PGA's and three Masters, who in 16 attempts in 21 years has yet to claim the Open championship.

Demaret's best came in 1948 when he finished as runnerup to Hogan.

Michigan's 12-man representation in the tournament is led by three top area pros, including 1955 Open champion Jack Fleck, now co-owner of the Rochester Golf and Country Club.

Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills Country Club and Bob Gajda of Forest Lake Country Club, along with Chick Harbert of Meadowbrook, Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Bill Nary of Wayne, Reggie Myles Jr. of Detroit, Joe Zakarian of Detroit and Lou Powers of Detroit are the other pros making their bid.

Amateurs Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oak, Harold Brink of Grand Rapids and Gene Woodard of Lakepointe complete the Michigan contingent.

Horvath, who was the first alternate in the Michigan Sectional qualifying, became an entry when Bob Babbish decided against entry in favor of the Pine Lake Invitational also going on this weekend.

Max Evans, teaching pro at Rochester, the next alternate in line was still hopeful of becoming an entry in event another of the qualifiers drops out before tonight.

The low 50, including ties, will play the finals Saturday. This is the third engagement in the 57th Open championship for Inverness. In preparation for the tourney, there were 22 changes made in traps, there are 19 different new tees and the fairways have been narrowed to an average of 35-yards.

Snead, who has had considerable success at Inverness in several four-ball tournaments, was first to criticize the layout changes, and thus the pros figure 285 is the score which will carry the holder to the 1957 championship.

Admission prices for the Open are $4.00 on Thursday and Friday and $6.00 on Saturday, the final day. A playoff Sunday will cost $4.00.

Television time is being arranged for the finals Saturday for two hours between 4:00 and 6:00 p.m.

TEST FOR 162 GOLFERS — This is the layout of Inverness Country Club in Toledo which is where 162 pro and amateur golfers will start the 57th National Open Championship of the U. S. Golf Association. Dr. Cary Middlecoff is the defending champion. There are 12 contestants from the Michigan Qualifying Section in the tournament. The finals will be played Saturday.

150-Man Field Looms at Flint

Large Entry List May Force Qualifying for Carling Golf Test

FLINT (AP)—Indications of a field of more than 150 players today emphasized the possibility of a qualifying round for the Carling Open, June 20-23 at the Flint Golf Club.

Tony Anthony, assistant PGA tournament manager, said that the field is expected to the largest of the season among PGA-Co-sponsored events.

In event a qualifying round is necessary it will be played on Monday, June 17. Entries now are being accepted at Flint Golf Club from all pros and from amateurs with a handicap of two or less. The entry deadline is Friday.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Mike Andonian, Pontiac High math teacher who takes time out every once in awhile to grab a few headlines in a golf tournament, admits it can be quite frustrating at times to have one's desires hampered because of time, money or other problems.

The 31-year-old state Publinx champion likes to teach, in fact he's presently working on his Master's degree at the University of Michigan.

But he also loves to play golf and figures he will play the game "as long as the legs hold up."

Winning his second straight Michigan Publinx title last week came as no surprise to many golf enthusiasts.

Last year he won it in medal play and this year he did it in match play. "I like medal play better, but I was confident I could do well in this year's match tournament," he said.

It has been often heard among some of the area pros and leading amateurs that Mike could be a consistent winner if he toured the circuit in the pro ranks.

"I figure I've got a lot of golf ahead of me, and I'd like to try the pro circuit for six or seven years, but not at this time," he commented.

"What I'd like to do more than anything is to play a couple of summer circuits as an amateur," he added, "because as an amateur I could get into more tournaments than as a pro."

For Mike this is a fond dream, but his first responsibility is to his family, which includes three children, and with this in mind, it appears pretty difficult for such dreams to materialize.

Playing a few circuits as an amateur would actually be the test tube of his decision to turn pro, but Mike doesn't want to talk that far ahead. He modestly admits he hasn't played the amateur tourney field enough to prove he could do well as a pro.

Mike, however, has a few plans laid. He figures that with his regular teaching job, a part time night teaching position, and a good summer job for a couple of years, he might be able to save enough to take one big fling at a summer amateur circuit.

If this fails Mike could always go into the golf coaching field in college, and he would be happy as long as he stays close to the game.

In fact one college we know of did make an overture to get him as golf coach. Mike claims there was little to it, but does admit he turned down what was just a "casual feeler" so as to stay in the Pontiac school system.

What it really means is, that he hasn't given up on his first and utmost desire of playing that circuit.

Mike knows one thing, it will not be this summer. He will be working with GM Truck and Coach as part of a program between the company and school system for using teachers in certain jobs.

So, until Mike decides that the little glass pig is fat enough, we will have to be content on reading about the Pontiac math teacher as associated with just one title—State Publinx Champion.

Famous Golf Shots

Nelson Beat Wood on Long Eagle Shot

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Byron Nelson can still see that ball as it winged its way to the fourth green of the Philadelphia Country Club in 1939. It was one of the great shots in golf history—one that won for Nelson the National Open championship.

Lord Byron, the tall Texan, was leading Craig Wood in the second playoff for the title. Denny Shute had been eliminated in the first.

Nelson was one stroke ahead but he felt he had to be better than that to beat the brilliant Wood for his first big championship.

Byron's drive on the 460-yard par 4 hole carried 240 yards. Nelson then took out his 1 iron and let fly. The ball traveled almost on a line and didn't waver in its flight. It landed on the green 12 feet from the cup and rolled in for the eagle that gave Nelson a 3-stroke lead.

That's the way it ended—Nelson 70, Wood 73.

"In the course of the tournament my irons were very good and it was here that I got the reputation of being a good long iron player. I hit the pin six times during that tournament.

"I made a sensational shot, in my own mind, in gaining a tie with Wood in the first playoff. It was on the 18th green and I had a 10-foot putt against a cross-grain with an 8 or 9-inch break that I had to make. Well, I made it, tied Wood and then in the second playoff came that eagle.

"We parred the first hole but Wood went ahead on the second when his second shot was just six inches from the pin. But Wood 3-putted the third hole and I went one ahead with a birdie. So we reached the fourth hole where I made what was mechanically the finest shot of my career. But I shall never forget that putt—the one that I feel really led me to the championship," said Nelson.

Almost Stopped Jones

Cruickshank, 62, Still Trying in U.S. Open

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Bobby Cruickshank, wee son of auld Scotland who at 62 is still good enough to play in the National Open, lives in the memory of the day he almost wrecked the career of the great Bob Jones before it started.

"I don't know what would have happened if I had beaten Bobby that day at Inwood in 1923," fondly reminisced the balding, graying Pittsburgh pro today. "But I know if I had won I would have played in more Opens because I would have been automatically qualified.

"As for Bobby, I don't know what might have happened to him."

Jones recalled in his memoirs that had he not beaten Cruickshank in an 18-hole playoff that afternoon at Long Island after the two had tied at the end of 72 holes he might have given up the game in utter discouragement.

Although still quite young, 21, Jones had suffered through seven years of frustration without a major championship. He was beginning to despair when he finally beat Cruickshank at Inwood, winning the first of his 13 U.S. and British national championships.

"I had to sink a five-foot putt on the final hole to tie Jones at 296," Cruickshank recalled. "In the playoff we were all even going to the 18th green. I remember Jones hit a tremendous two-iron shot to the green, one of the finest I ever saw, to get a par four. I took a six and he beat me, 76 to 78.

This is the 28th Open for the little Scotchman, who came to this country from Edinburgh while a young man and ultimately became a companion of Walter Hagen and Tommy Armour.

In the tournament as an alternate from Pittsburgh, he is the oldest player in the field, outdating Gene Sarazen, who is 55 and who played in the first Open here in 1920. Still a spry man with a beautiful swing, Cruickshank shot 147 in the 36-hole qualifying.

Birdie a Good Prophet; Bucs Trip Reds 2 in Row

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manager Birdie Tebbetts figures as a first-class prophet in that chummy National League race today, but he'd feel a lot better if his Cincinnati Redlegs made him a liar real quick.

"This," said Birdie frequently of late, "is going to be some race. Any of maybe five teams could take it. And just about anybody can beat you."

And now the Pittsburgh Pirates, more of a "nobody" than most anybody, have whipped the Redlegs two in a row — after losing 15 in a row to Cincinnati — and have trimmed their first place edge to a half game.

The five-hit pitching of Bob Purkey, who never had beaten the Redlegs in his life, helped bring an 8-1 victory for the seventh place Pirates last night and left Cincinnati just four percentage points ahead of Milwaukee. The Braves jumped into second place with a 7-2 job on the Brooklyn Dodgers, who slipped to fourth, 1½ games behind, with their fourth defeat in a row.

Fifth place St. Louis, two games shy, won their seventh in a row with a 5-2 decision over the third place Philadelphia Phillies, who remained a game behind Cincinnati.

The Redlegs, who rode into the lead with an 11-game sweep of their last Eastern swing and eventually built up a 15-game streak on the road, now stand only 3-9 on their current trip through the East and have lost 11 of their last 15 road games.

Lefthander Don Gross, who built an 8-0 streak going back to 1955 with his fourth victory this season, hasn't won one since, dropping his third as the Pirates took off on a 13-hit spree. Six of the hits went for extra bases and Gene Baker and Bill Mazeroski each had three safeties. The Redlegs pulled the NL's first triple play of the year, but did little else. Their run was unearned. Purkey, 5-4, walked none.

Bobby Thomson, whose home run beat the Dodgers in the 1951 pennant playoff, walloped his eighth career grand-slammer as the Braves broke a 1-all tie with a five-run fifth for Ray Crone's third victory.

Joe Adcock also homered for the Braves, who tagged 11 hits while handing Roger Craig a third defeat. Gino Cimoli and Roy Campanella homered for the Dodgers. It was No. 237 of Campy's career, a National League record for catchers. Gabby Hartnett held the mark in 20 seasons with the Cubs and Giants.

'Spit Ball' Craze in Little Leagues

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — There is no organized baseball in Lubbock but the city did get into a big baseball controversy.

Charleston Pitcher Purchased by Tigers

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today announced they have purchased pitcher John Tsitouris from their Charleston farm club in the American Assn.

A righthander, the 21-year-old Tsitouris has a 7-4 record at Charleston. He has pitched eight complete games.

To make room for Tsitouris, Tigers said bonus southpaw Jim Brady will be sent to Augusta of the South Atlantic League on 24-hour recall after today's game with the Baltimore Orioles. Brady, whose bonus designation can be removed today, pitched only six innings last year and hasn't been in a single game this season.

Ace at Bald Mountain

William Carie, 2389 Walnut road, Pontiac, fired a hole-in-one yesterday at Bald Mountain Golf Club while playing in the Baldwin Rubber League. Carie aced the 170-yard 17th hole with a 9-iron. He was accompanied by Arnold Osta, Jack Laury and Paul Carie, his brother.

Yanks Close In on Hose

White Sox Bow, 3-2

NEW YORK (INS)—While the Chicago White Sox show signs of going into their annual collapse and Al Lopez frets about his team's lack of runs, wily Casey Stengel just winks and says, "they're still the team to beat."

That's just the Yankee manager's way of applying pressure to a team that hasn't done too well under tension in the past.

The world champions nipped the White Sox, 3 to 2, last night to reduce Chicago's league lead to four games. Stengel means to sweep the series and cut the Pale Hose lead in half.

Bobby Shantz and Bob Grim, whom Stengel calls his "bread and butter" men, held the White Sox to eight hits, with Shantz getting credit for his seventh win in eight decisions.

Lopez, who says his White Sox "just can't seem to make any runs," said the turning point of the game was when rightfielder Dave Philley was slow handling a base-hit by Mickey Mantle. Lopez said if Philley had charged the "clean single," the fleet Yankee centerfielder would not have been able to stretch the blow into a double.

Mantle, who hit his 16th homer in the first inning off Jim Wilson, scored on Moose Skowron's single following the fifth-inning double. The run was the Yank's margin of victory. Yogi Berra, who played left field, scored the other Yank run in the first inning.

The White Sox have lost four of their last five games.

The Cleveland Indians came from behind with four homers to beat the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 6, and take over third place while Detroit dropped a 4-to-1 decision to Baltimore. Washington at Kansas City was rained out.

Ted Williams' three-run homer helped the Red Sox Construct a five-run lead but it disappeared as Roger Maris, Jim Hegan, Bobby Avila and Chico Carrasquel all homered for the Indians. Cal McLish won in relief and Ike Delock lost the same way.

Marked Decrease in Horse Doping

Speaking at the annual convention of the National Assn. of State Racing Commissioners yesterday, Dr. Herculson said of 87,442 horses examined last year 52 showed signs of being drugged.

The incidence is only half of what it was seven years ago when systematic reporting of examinations was adopted, he said.

Pesky Orioles Slap Tigers, 4-1

DETROIT (AP) — Paul Richards never hesitates to make changes — sometimes in such wholesale fashion a player may find himself in as many as three different positions in the same game.

But the former Detroit Tiger catcher, who now doubles as field manager and general manager of the red-hot Baltimore Orioles, will be remembered — at least for a while — by the Tigers for the change he didn't make.

Richards stuck with lanky Connie Johnson in the first inning of last night's encounter at Briggs Stadium after the right-hander had given up a home run to Charlie Maxwell, a single to Ray Boone and a double to Al Kaline. And Richards' decision — though his faith in Johnson wavered enough to have a relief pitcher heating up in a hurry — paid off in a 4-1 Baltimore victory before 18,513 spectators.

In a rare treat for the official scorer, Richards started and finished the contest with the same players in eight of the nine positions. Another base hit, or possibly a base on balls, would have finished Johnson in that opening inning when Detroit scored its only run.

But J. W. Porter struck out and Harvey Kuenn forced a runner on a tap to the mound, leaving runners at second and third. The Orioles snapped back, finishing Bill Hoeft in the seventh inning with a three-run splurge featuring rookie Jim Pyburn's first home run of the year.

Hoeft lasted seven innings and it marked the fifth straight time the big lefty, who won 20 last season, has failed to go the distance. He has finished only one of his nine starts. Hoeft had managed to stay out of trouble — with the assistance of the Tigers' 57th and 58th double plays — by spacing four hits until the seventh.

The Tigers' most successful pitcher, Jim Bunning (5-1) was to oppose Billy Loes in the second of a three-game series today. Loes has a 5-3 record.

A $200 FIASCO — This fiasco between Tom Sturdivant (47) of the Yankees and Ray Boone of the Tigers the other day cost each player $100 today. American League president Will Harridge made the fines for the Sunday scuffle in which both were ejected, and a team riot nearly resulted.

Ready by July 18

Score May Resume Work

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pitcher Herb Score "should be able to resume his baseball workouts July 15," according to the specialist treating the star southpaw's injured right eye.

That means it probably will be August before Score will be in condition to return to the baseball wars from which he was shelled May 7 by a line drive off the bat of New York Yankee Gil McDougald.

Dr. Charles I. Thomas examined Score's injured eye yesterday afternoon for the first time in two weeks. Score had been visiting at the home of his uncle in Hagerstown, Md., and returned Monday night.

The doctor found in his testing that "Herb's conditon is greatly improved, and his eye has responded well to the medication prescribed for him."

Score said he expected to leave tomorrow or Friday for his mother's home in Lake Worth, Fla. He plans to stay there until July when he rejoins the Indians.

The injury to the strikeout artist, 24 last Friday, was diagnosed as a swollen retina. It takes a long time to heal. Whether or not he will be able to see as well as he could before the accident is something only time will tell, but indications point toward full or near full recovery, doctors say.

Women Golfers Open 'Quarters'

Berridge Long of Marshall College, five-time women's amateur champion of West Virginia, was defeated yesterday by Marcia Rand of Ohio Wesleyan, 1 up in 19 holes.

Miss Rand today meets one of three qualifying round medalists, Ann Rutherford of Penn State. Also surviving yesterday were Merian Bailey of Northwestern and Judy Bell of Arizona. Both tied Miss Rutherford in the qualifying round with three-over-par 79s.

Golf rules for 1957 will be no different than for 1956.

Bucs Sign Young Hurler

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates today announced the signing of James Vogelgesang, a righthanded pitcher-outfielder to a contract with the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League.

Vogelgesang, 21, of Canton, Ohio, was graduated from Mt. Union College, Alliance, Ohio. He had a four-year pitching record of 30-7.

to Auto Club

Never in the history of Automobile Clubs has any Club grown as much as this Automobile Club of Michigan in May. More motorists paid dues and joined as new members in May than ever did anywhere before in any single month, (49,000).

Why? Simply more people know that the shelter, safety, advantages, privileges and protection of Automobile Club membership is one of the great and modern needs of automobile ownership, as normal to your motoring as tires or gas.

Why don't you get aboard?

'57 Press Fish Derby Opens Saturday

By H. GUY MOATS

Slow, spotty early season pike and bluegill angling on Oakland county lakes probably will work out very well for prospective entries in the 1957 Pontiac Press "big fish derby." This highlighted, 3-way, summer-long contest gets under way at 12:01 a.m. Saturday, June 15. It winds up Labor Day, Sept. 2.

Start of this venerable event coincides with the opening of the state's black bass season. At this time entries will also be taken for the other two divisions of the "derby." Because both pike and bluegill seasons are already in effect, fishermen trying for awards, will have had some good workouts. However, no fish taken prior to start of the bass season is eligible.

Rewards for the winners are $50 United States Savings Bonds. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be provided.

All fish must be taken on hook and line in an Oakland county lake. Fishermen MUST BE FULL TIME Oakland county residents. Summer residents are ineligible, as are Pontiac Press employes and their families.

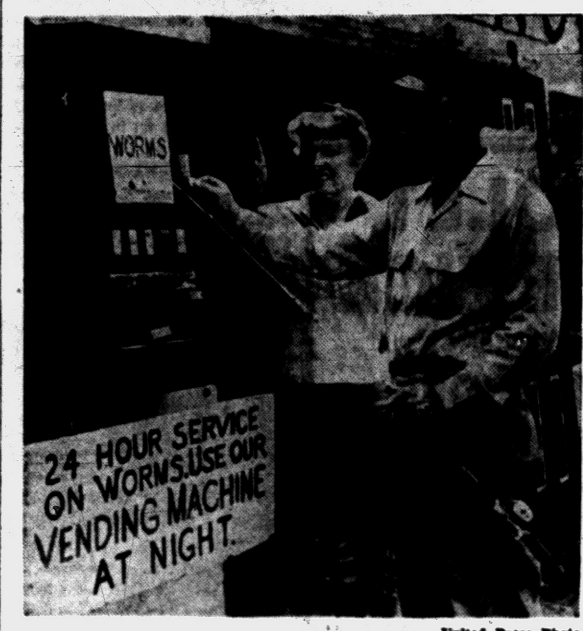

Weight only will be considered in judging entries. All weights must be "live weights." However, length and girth of fish should be listed when entries are made. Type of lures used and the lake where the fish was taken, are other pertinent facts which should be provided.

Wherever possible entries must be brought to The Press sports department for weighing, checking, photographing. Where fish cannot be brought in immediately, weight slips, signed by a store operator after weighing fish on state approved scales and signed by another disinterested person, and the fisherman, must be provided. Entries may not be filed after 12 noon, Saturdays, or on Sundays.

• ★ ★ ★

Any fish cleaned prior to entry, is excluded.

BAIT VENDER — Eastlake, Ohio, fishermen no longer have to quit fishing because there is no bait handy. There is a vending machine (above) ready 24 hours a day, dispensing night-crawlers at 10 for a quarter and red worms at 18 for the same price. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Linc are getting a supply after the store had closed for the day.

'Bassers' Get Innings

Season's Start Only 3 Days Away

By JACK PATTERSON

Warm water anglers who have had to listen to tall tales of trout fishermen for the past six weeks will get their turn at bat come Saturday, or more exactly, midnight Friday, when large and small-mouth bass become legal quarry throughout the state. Given any break in the weather a good many thousand fishermen will be afloat Friday night, on just about any body of water big enough to float a boat, from the tiniest of ponds to the Great Lakes. In fact, boat liveries in the hot spots such as Saginaw Bay have had their fleets reserved in some cases, many weeks.

PATTERSON

Why all this fuss about bass? Well, except for muskies, which aren't much of a problem other than in Lake St. Clair, bass are the only warm water game fish we've got.

To the panfish and pike enthusiast bass are the gamest fish that swim.

Of the two species the small-mouth is the finest, in fight, appearance, habits and edibility. He likes clear water and clean sand or rock bottoms. He likes minnows and worms and a variety of hardware and the days are about gone when a select army of anglers fished for him exclusively with huge and colorful wet flies.

All but a handful of today's breed of fishermen would gape slack-jawed if you asked them to name half a dozen "standard" bass patterns. Pity too, because the big flies work as well as they ever did.

Though present in a good many inland lakes the small-mouth is best sought in the shallow reaches of the Great Lakes. We include St. Clair as a G. L.

When we talk about bass locally we generally mean largemouths, whose chief claim to fame is chronic hunger and/or ill temper which drives them to take a whack at most anything. They are capable of a good light-tackle fight, too. There is no best way to tackle largemouths. They'll eat anything smaller than themselves. In spite of that sometimes they can be hard to come by. Of the hundreds of available lures and the dozens of live items we could use as bait, there are three we depend on. For deepwater fishing a small shiner on a long leader, drifted, is probably the best of all. If we HAD to catch a bass at mid-day or under other unfavorable circumstances, we'd sink or swim with a drifted minnow.

For general casting purposes a silver flatfish would be our standby. Other fishermen like other colors. We like silver.

Pioneer Riders Hold 1st Leg on Club Relay Series

With more than 130 horses and riders taking part in a day-long series of varied events, Michigan Pioneer Saddle club's first western horse Show was a successful venture, club officials reported today. An audience of about 500 witnessed the colorful spectacle, in which riders wore the usual western garb.

Highlighted feature was the first 1957 inter-club relay race, in which four area saddle clubs took part. Pioneers' trio of Bill Johnson, Carl Bower and Sandy Wells turned in a 49.2 seconds time to win.

Others finished as follows: 2nd Michigan Rangers Saddle club (Carol Lowes, Sally Gray, Fred Robinson); 3rd Dixie Saddle club (Vern Geck, Verne Arkand, Allan Vance) and 4th, Huron Valley Saddle club (Skip Book, "Doc" Book, Frank Duke Jr.) Teams meet four more times in the summer's series.

High-point trophies were awarded Bucky Williams (Lindy), Tom and Sandy Wells of Birmingham. Latter were for junior events, Tom collecting 11 points, Sandy 7. Del Munson's mount, Penny, and Jill, ridden by the Wells pair, were the busiest horses in the show. Munson won two events, the speed and action and open ride and lead, both aboard Penny.

Winners:

Forest Fire Losses Reduced in Michigan

ing the last week as rainfall in many part of the state eased critical conditions.

During the week, 12 fires burned a total of 18 acres of state and private forests and grasslands, bringing the damage total for the year to 5,069 acres.

MINNEAPOLIS—Minnesota's 11-11 basketball mark in 1955-56 was the poorest ever turned in by a team playing under the direction of Coach Ozzie Cowles.

Replace Lost License

Fishermen are reminded that a lost or destroyed fishing license can be replaced for 50 cents by any license dealer.

In order to obtain a duplicate permit, an affidavit must be signed stating that the original license was lost or destroyed.

Duffy Again Heads Event

Preparations for the 40th annual Detroit Horse Show are nearing completition today, with appointment of committee heads. The state's biggest horse show will open June 25, at Bloomfield Open Hunt club. It will run through June 30, according to Ernest A. Jones, vice president in charge of public relations.

These are: G. Fred Morris, general vice chairman, R. E. Lawlor, finance, F. Moses and R. Kuschell, classes, obstacles and courses; Ernest A. Jones, public relations; Paul Foley, programs, James F. Pedder, advertising; H. L. Kohlmeier, vehicle exhibitions; Wendell Smith, stabling; Merrill O. Bates, trophy selection and presentation; Charles E. Carey and Washburne Wright, admission and boxes; G. F. Master, ring and grounds; Mrs. Paul Foley, senior entertainment and Mrs. J. F. Moses, junior entertainment Joseph N. Monaghan was appointed counsel.

Lives Off the Dogs

Handling Hounds Good Business for RO Man

At 32, Hahn has been a professional "hound handler" and trainer of show dogs for the past two and a half years.

Why should people hire Hahn to handle their own pet? It works out much better for some owners, says Hahn, unless they are active breeders or trainers themselves.

"It's quite expensive for owners to travel all over the country for shows. They get the same thrill sitting back and receiving the ribbons and medals," he said.

Hahn handled up to six dogs at one time. "A handler can't do good work with more than six dogs at one time," he said.

"Some people would rather not even come to local shows with their dogs," he says. "We had a dog once that wouldn't work if his owner was there. He'd keep looking around to see his master. In fact, in one case, the owner came to two shows out of nine — and the dog failed both times."

Good 'Opener' Promised State's Bass Fishermen

ALL OUTDOORS (INS) — An excellent "opener" has been promised to Michigan's anxious army of anglers to be out enmasse Saturday for the state's most sought after fish — black bass.

After Saturday morning, every species of fish in the state, except sturgeon in some waters, will be a legal catch.

The season on largemouth and small-mouth bass runs from June 15 to Sept. 8 in trout streams and lakes and until Dec. 31 in all other waters. Of course, the minimum size is 10 inches and only five a day are permitted.

For those starry-eyed fishermen who may hook into a record bass here are the official records: Montgomery Lake in Georgia yielded a 22 pound largemouth in 1932, and Dale Hollow Reservoir, Kentucky, was the home of an 11 pound record smallmouth taken in 1955.

Judging by pre-season bass catches on experimental lakes in Oakland, Manistee and Washtenaw and Livingston counties fishing should be tops. Bear, Pontiac and Whitmore lakes have been giving up some whoppers. These experimental waters have no closed season on any species of fish.

Conservation officers in the lower Michigan area agree that bass will still be on or near their spawning beds. You'll find them most active late in the day or very early in the morning. The sunrise hours are usually better.

Hunting Army Increased in '56, Game Take Lower

LANSING — Hunters bagged approximately 1,126,000 pheasants, 1,487,000 cottontail rabbits, 300,000 ruffed grouse and 492,000 ducks during Michigan's 1956 small game seasons, according to preliminary information from the Conservation Department's annual post card poll of hunters.

Small game hunters also took an estimated 932,000 gray and fox squirrels, 283,000 snowshoe hares, 14,000 geese, 40,000 woodcock and 209,000 raccoons.

Final license sales returns are not in, but current estimates place the total of small game hunters last season at 759,000—an increase of about 10,000 over the 1955 season. Despite this general increase, hunting pressure was lighter on some individual species, particularly waterfowl, grouse and cottontails.

Hunting success last season generally was slightly below 1955 levels, but better than 1954. Decreases from 1955 were recorded last year in the pheasant, rabbit and waterfowl kills, but the total bag for each of these species was higher than 1954 levels.

Meanwhile, sharp increases were evident in the number of squirrels and raccoons taken last season. The squirrel kill jumped from 657,000 in 1955 to 932,000 last year while the raccoon kill advanced from 163,000 to 209,000.

LANSING — Earl Morall's 13.8 yards per pass in 1955 for Michigan State was a national mark.

Sturgeon in Pond

LANSING—Two sturgeons have been placed in a pond at Paris state fish hatchery near Reed City and can be viewed by visitors to the station.

A sturgeon formerly was kept in the pond and proved to be very popular with visitors, but was lost in a flash flood at Paris last year.

Pine Lake Has 8th Annual Meet

'Unknown' Seeks Title
Ursua to Battle Macias

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Here's a boxer, fighting for a world championship on Saturday night, whom you've never seen on television.

Chances are that if you don't live in the Philippines or in California, you haven't even heard of him.

The stocky little fellow, with the crew-cut black hair, sometimes described as a watch fob Rocky Marciano, battles Mexico's Raul Macias over the 15-round route at the Cow Palace for the National Boxing Assn. version of the world's bantam title.

And despite the fact he isn't among the more publicized fighters, Ursua isn't being taken lightly as a challenger. Standing 4 feet 11 inches, the little guy won seven of his eight fights since coming to the United States in July. He squared the only loss by stopping his foe in the fourth round of their rematch.

Grace-Neilson to Defend Title in Invitational

Bob Babbish Bypasses National Open to Play in Area Tourney

A star-studded field of two-man teams, headed by defending champions Joe Grace and Howie Neilsaon, will take part in the 8th annual Pine Lake Invitational golf tournament Thursday through Sunday at Pine Lake Country Club.

Grace, the young Notre Dame star from Detroit Golf Club, and Neilson, who plays his golf out of Pine Lake, teamed up to win last year's selective drive-alternate shot event.

Victory by Grace and Neilson broke a two-year reign by the Tom Draper-Perry Byard tandem. Draper will miss this year's tourney, but Byard has joined forces with Ralph Ellstrom to form another powerful entry.

Pettibone and Nettle are back in the fold, along with the surprise entry of Bob Babbish and Bill O'Brien. Babbish qualified for the National Open last week, but is passing up the Toledo trip to do his swinging at Pine Lake.

Among the other standout teams are Harry Martin and Tom Lowery, Tom Sheehan and Bud Gould, Blaine Eynon and Dave McHarg, Tom Newell and Earl Thompson, and Randall Ahern and his son Tommy.

Glenn Harding, the golfing insurance salesman, and Dick Robertson, who reached the 3rd round of the state publinx tournament last week, are Pontiac's best hopes for a team championship.

There is a total of 112 entries for the Pine Lake tourney, which gets under way tomorrow with 18-hole qualifying rounds. The qualifying trials will divide the field into seven flights of 16 teams each.

The top 16 teams in the qualifiers will comprise the championship flight.

Match play in all flights begins Friday. Single 18-hole matches are slated Friday and Saturday, followed by the 18-hole semfinals and finals on Sunday.

Drayton Game Postponed

Tuesday night's scheduled Waterford League softball game at Drayton Plains between Weldon-Thrifty and Emmanuel Baptist was postponed due to rain and wet grounds. League action resumes tonight.

Jersey Bowler Opens Tourney With 300 Game

CHICAGO (AP) — Lindy Faragalli of Paterson, N.J. yesterday opened a "bowling stars" tournament with a bang by rolling a perfect 300 game and series of 835 and 781.

Faragalli collected $14,100 for his superlative effort and defeated Johnny King of Cleveland and Dick Weber of St. Louis. King had a 699 series and Weber, 758.

The tournament runs for 10 days and will be shown on television film this fall.

Wet Grounds Delay City League Slates

Wet grounds caused by yesterday afternoon's heavy hain forced postponement of last night's four-game City League softball card at Beaudette and North Side parks as well as the single City League baseball game at Wisner Field.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Baseball at Wisner

Two New Pools Available in Birmingham Program

Record number of entries are expected to participate in the summer swimming program sponsored by the Birmingham Department of Recreation.

With two new pools now available, the eight week summer schedule includes swimming Monday through Friday, June 24th, to August 16th.

In the past only Barnum pool was used in the program, however, this year the new indoor-outdoor Birmingham High pool and the Derby Junior High pool will be used. Barnum will be used as 3rd pool only if necessary.

For the summer there will be five different sessions daily at each pool, and special sessions will be held in the evenings. Tuesday night is adult swim night. Wednesday and Thursday will be family night and Friday teen night.

Last Representative

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Carolee Ebertse of Grand Rapids Junior College, was beaten in her first round match in the women's collegiate golf tournament yesterday. Miss Ebertse, Michigan's only representative, lost to Judy Bell of the University of Arizona, 4 and 2.

Intrigued With 'Honker' Families

An unusually large number of Canadian geese must have returned to Oakland county lakes, (or have remained here over winter).

Either surmise would account for the many reports of families of Canadas on numerous county lakes. The sight of a pair (or pairs) of proud, stately geese parading their families to goslings on the still chilly waters of a lake is always one to evoke admiration.

Among householders enjoying the presence of geese and goslings are Mr. and Mrs. William Mercer, 4145 Windiate, Clarkston. Mrs. Mercer reported "it has been a thrilling experience to watch and feed these beautiful birds." The geese were undisturbed by the many persons who went to see them, and rested unafraid on the Mercer lawn.

Another who reported (Tuesday) seeing gander, goslings and goose on Sylvan Lake was Bud Harris, 2630 Garland. Harris has seen the family each morning, lately.

CHAMPAIGN—Michigan has defeated Illinois in football only two times within the span of the last seven conference seasons.

Pastrano Is Beaten by Backwoods Belter

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Roy Harris, undefeatd backwoods belter, moved through his own blood to an upset decision over high ranking Willie Pastrano last night and planted himself right on the doorsteps of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Harris, the school teacher from little Cut and Shoot, Tex., whipped Pastrano, the fast-moving No. 3 rated man from New Orleans, before a Texas record crowd of 10,000 that paid $46,962.50.

Oxford Star Galba CMC Most Valuable

MT. PLEASANT — Wally Galba, of Oxford, Central Michigan College's third base standout, has been named the team's most valuable player by his teammates.

Galba hit at an even .300 clip, third best among the regulars, but it was his ability to hit in the clutch which earned him the coveted award. He sparked Central to its 1st interstate title.

Slingshots Now Legal Weapons

Slingshots are now legal hunting weapons. Gov. Williams' signature to a recent bill did the trick. There are many slingshot experts in Michigan, who welcome the move.

The bill also outlawed use of .22 rimfire rifles for deer, requires bows to be broken down, or cased any time while transported by auto. Previously the law applied only from March 1 to Oct. 1. Other regulations dealing with firearms were extended to cover bows as well.

No Trade for Schoendienst

Braves, Giants Unable to Agree; Even With 4 Players Tossed In BROOKLYN (AP) — The pennant-starved Milwaukee Braves, striving desperately to plug a weakness at second base, admitted today they had reached an impasse in their efforts to wrest Red Schoendienst from the New York Giants.

A club official disclosed a Braves' proposal of four players for Schoendienst had been rejected by the Giants and added that a New York counter proposal was, in turn, vetoed by Milwaukee.

"The four players we offered were pitchers Gene Conley and Joey Jay, infielder Danny O'Connell and outfielder Wes Covington," the official said. "I think that was a pretty good offer for just one guy. Darn good, in fact. But they said 'no.' They said they'd be willing to let us have Schoendienst if we threw in Bob Buhl instead of Conley.

"As much as we'd like to have Red, we just can't see giving up a top flight pitcher like Buhl for a 34-year-old guy. Pitching is our chief asset but it would no longer be if we gave up Buhl."

Dodge matches reserve power against truck "C" and truck "F" in this test for safer passing ability. All three are comparably equipped and loaded with 1000 lbs. A skilled test driver is behind each wheel. Here's the flag, they're off!

Dodge takes an early lead and at 30 m.p.h. is widening the gap. Truck "C" and truck "F" are straining to deliver their peak performance. But that Dodge 204-hp. V-8 keeps gaining easily. Its added power means less wear, fewer repairs, too.

In just one quarter mile Dodge is five lengths ahead of truck "C", seven lengths out front of truck "F". And this is but one of a complete series of actual road tests that prove Dodge the outstanding value of the low-priced three.

● Your Dodge truck dealer has proof that Dodge leads in many ways. Come in . . . see other certified test-photo sequences . . . and take a demonstration ride!

Bear Nine Favored to Win NCAA Crown

OMAHA (AP)—Penn State will try tonight to put a stop to the battering California's Bears have been handing to the rest of the field in the NCAA College World Series.

But the odds are the Bear bats and the strong armed pitching the West Coast club has shown will again be too much and the series will be over with California owning its second championship.

California last night eliminated Iowa State 9-1. The Bears spotted the Iowans a run in the first innings and played dead until the top of the sixth, when the Bears bats came to life for eight runs.

Penn State nipped Notre Dame 5-4 to stay in the running.

Junior Legion Loop Under Way

Several changes were made today in previously listed opening games for the 18th District Junior American Legion baseball circuit.

Pontiac and Milford open the season tonight at Milford, as announced originally. Clawson at Rochester, Birmingham at Berkley are set for Friday night, while Milford (Huron Valley Boys' Club) meets Birmingham there on Sunday at 2 p.m. Also, on Sunday, June 16, Rochester comes to Pontiac, and Berkley is at Clawson in afternoon contests.

First round (which ends July 14) winner will go to Owosso for the Zone No. 3 tourney. State tourney is set for Battle Creek, Aug. 24-26.

The group (minus one member), is the Oakwood Mounted Drill Team, captained by Peg Hales (center, holding U. S. flag). It has appeared at area race tracks, and makes its next showing at the coming Rochester 4-H show. Others in the two squads are (to right of Capt. Hales — with team banner) Darlene Muszynski, Pat Dwyer (pit man), June Feldmann, Barbara Jones, Marilyn Feldmann, Sandy Wells, Mary Taylor and Esther Kellogg. Home base for the team is H-Bar-L ranch, 3165 Davis Lake road. Team was pictured at the Pioneer show, in which most members took part in individual events.

Stan Calls It 'Luck'

Musial Ties NL Mark for Consecutive Games

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The ever modest Stan Musial called it "luck" last night when he tied the National League mark for consecutive games played. But a look at the record stamps him as the second most durable player in the history of the game.

Only the late Lou Gehrig ranks with slim built Musial for durability. Gehrig played in 2,130 consecutive games for the New York Yankees to earn the title of "Iron Man" of baseball. Musial has been in the lineup of the St. Louis Cardinals in 2,192 of the club's 2,229 games since he joined the team some 14 years ago.

"You have to be lucky to do something like this," said Musial last night after he played in his 822nd consecutive game to tie the league record set by former Pittsburgh first baseman Gus Suhr from Sept. 11, 1931 to June 4, 1937.

"I've been fortunate not to have any serious injuries that would sideline me. I go out there and play every game and the fact they have all come in succession as they have is secondary to me."

Thinking back to all the games played in the string, Musial said the closest he came to being out of the lineup was in August, 1955. He was hit on the left wrist by Brooklyn's Johnny Podres.

Stan told manager Harry Walker he could play when the club arrived in Pittsburgh the next day. But the Cardinals' skipper, worried that his star might aggravate the injury, was cautious.

Walker asked the umpires if Musial were named in the starting lineup would that make him an official part of the box score. Told it would, Walker listed Musial, but inserted a pinchhitter for him when he came to bat in the first inning. Never one to criticize the decision of a manager, Musial said nothing, but he felt that the well intentioned Walker was a little overzealous in this case.

The last time Musial missed a game because he was unfit to play was in early May, 1951, when the team was stricken with a flu epidemic. He was out for one game.

Liberty, Brethren Win

Liberty Baptist and Church of the Brethren were winners in Pontiac Church League softball games last night.

Joe Blackshere pitched a five-hitter and Jesse Lawrence doubled in the tying and winning runs as Liberty defeated Christian Missionary Alliance, 4-3. Brethren downed First Presbyterian in a loosley-played contest, 10-7.

900,000 Workers Added to Labor Rolls

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government reports that 900,000 persons—mostly housewives and students—were added to the nation's work force in May, bringing total employment to 65,200,000.

Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks and Labor Secretary James Mitchell said in a joint statement that most of the increasew as due to the employment expansion in agriculture and construction.

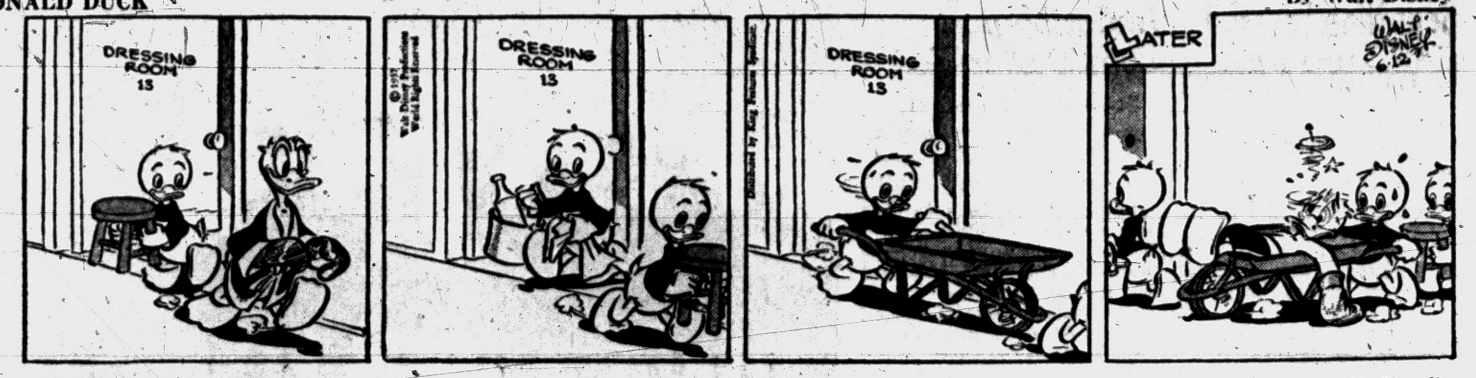

Factory employment, on the other hand, decreased for the fifth straight month. The May level of 16,700,000 was 120,000 less than in April and down by half a million since December—about twice the usual decline for this period.

Total employment was "not significantly" changed from that of a year ago, even with the substantial employment increase during May.

Farmington to Get Detroit Water

FARMINGTON — The Farmington Township Board last night approved the signing of a contract with Tate and Hirn, Detroit engineers in connection with a proposed water system for dry areas of the township.

The engineering firm will make detailed surveys, draw plans and specifications, and perform other services necessary to the planning and construction of a water system. Their fee will be 4½ per cent of the total cost of the project.

The proposed system is to be financed by a $2,300,000 bond issue. However, this figure includes engineering fees, legal fees, first year's interest on the bonds as well as construction and other costs. Fees of the engineering firm will be based only on actual costs of the system.

It is expected that approximately $1,361,000 will be raised by revenue bonds. The remainder to be paid by seven special assessment districts.

Stevenson believes that the project can get under way by next December, bringing Detroit water to the 8,000 residents of the area by next summer.

In separate action the board agreed to employ an assistant tax assessor, a firm of certified public accountants and appointed William E. Fredericks to the police force.

Wheat Tabs Cut by Profit Taking

CHICAGO (AP)—Unfavorable crop weather firmed wheat and corn futures prices in early Board of Trade dealings today, but profit taking cut wheat prices before trading was an hour old.

Wheat moved upward fractionally on reports of heavy rainfall, hail and high winds in the southwestern winter wheat belt, where an effort is being made to get the harvest in full swing this week.

Heavy rain also fell in the corn belt. This will further delay corn planting in some areas. However, traders said it will be beneficial to corn already planted.

Near the end of the first hour old style wheat was ⅛ to ¼ lower, July $2.01¼; new style wheat ⅛ to ⅜ lower; July $2.01⅝; corn ¼ to ½ higher, July $1.28¼; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, July 63¼; rye ¾ to 1 cent lower, July $1.15¼; soybeans unchanged to ⅜ lower, July $2.31⅝; lard 5 to 8 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $12.67.

Advances Bring Active Trading

Key stocks were up from fractions to around a point. There were a few with slight losses or unchanged.

The market posted a new high for 1957 yesterday after three weeks of slight readjustment following the prolonged advance from the February lows. Continuation of reassuring news about President Eisenhower's health provided additional cause for confidence following the sharp break early Monday on word of his stomach upset.

Oils, steels and selected issues did well but there was nothing of an exceptional nature in the advance. Gulf Oil and Philips Petroleum were ahead major fractions. Youngstown Sheet was up around a point. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem Rose slightly.

Du Pont added about a point. International Business Machines opened with a gain of 6¾, but pared around 2 points from this in later trades.

9 Insurance Men Receive Awards

In presenting the awards, Merritt Hill, general manager of Ford Tractor and Implement Division, noted that Americans are lucky to have individual life insurance attention, in contrast to countries where compulsory security is imposed by the government. He said Americans thus are "names and persons," not "numbers and holes in cards."

Nikemen's Wives Form Social Club

COMMERCE — Recently organized Nike Enlisted Men Wives' Club held their third meeting in the Army Mess Hall at the D. Battery 504th AAA missile (NIKE BATTALION) here.

Officers elected were Mrs. Villie Amicone, president; Mrs. Marge Myer, vice president; Mrs. Vi Williams, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Ginger Schelp, social secretary.

Tentative plans were made for future meetings, to which all personnel will be invited.

Holly Council Votes

HOLLY—The annexation of nearly 300 acres to the eastern limits of the village has been voted by the common council. This includes the site of the new school buildings now under construction.

The council was divided on the proposition which now must have the approval of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors. If the proposition goes through it will be the first addition to the village limits since Holly was incorporated as such 92 years ago.

French Crisis Nears Its End

Coalition Cabinet Led by Bourges-Maunoury Expected to Be OK'd

PARIS (AP)—France's three-week-old political crisis approached its end today. A coalition cabinet headed by Maurice Bourges-Maunoury was virtually certain to win approval of Parliament.

The 42-year-old member of the middle-of-the-road Radical Socialist party was to appear before the National Assembly this afternoon with a request for investiture as France's youngest premier since 1883 and the successor to Socialist leader Guy Mollet.

Bourges-Maunoury, who served under Mollet for 16 months as defense minister, pledged his Cabinet would continue the last government's basic foreign policy of strong support for NATO and the European integration movement and of tough action against the Algerian nationalist rebels.

Presumably he will modify the proposed tax increases on which Conservative deputies voted Mollet out of office.

Already assured of near-unanimous support from the Socialists and his own party, Bourges-Maunoury seemed likely to roll up between 300 and 350 votes on the Assembly ballot. At present, 298 is a majority in the Assembly.

Bourges-Maunoury also had pledges of support from the liberal Catholic Popular Republicans (MRP), the conservative Independent Republicans and several middle-road splinter groups.

Major problems awaited the new government. Urgent measures are required to halt the outward flow of foreign exchange, to pay for the campaign against the Moslem rebellion in Algeria and if possible, to find a settlement of the Algerian problem.

Walter Sewell in Romeo

Elect Board Head

ROMEO—Walter Sewell of Washington was elected president of the Romeo Board of Education last night following the canvas of Monday's annual election. New board secretary is Philip A. Berthlaume and treasurer, Dr. Ralph G. Renwicke, both of Romeo.

The E. J. Kahmann Co. of Port Huron will receive the contract for general construction of the building. His bid was $407,696. Others to get contracts will include the John E. Green Plumbing and Heating Co. of Highland Park, mechanical trades, $163,810; Baltimore Electric, $55,500; Canton China Co., kitchen equipment, $24,984; and Republic Steel Berger Division, metal lockers, $8,385.

The contracts for homemaking and laboratory equipment will be awarded at a later date, school officials said.

After preliminary arrangements are made the general contractor will begin construction, aiming at a 365 day completion date.

Group Plans Bake Sale, Lawn Social

WALLED LAKE—The woman's association of the Lakes Presbyterian Chapel held its first evening meeting in the chapel recently.

Election of officers took place with: Mrs. Roy Thompson, president; Mrs. John Yeats, vice president; Mrs. Munroe Reilly, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Tom Wilson, recording secretary and Mrs. Donald reed, treasurer.

The first project of the association will be an ice-cream social and combination bake sale from 6-9 p.m. June 21 on the Chapel lawn.

This event will climax the summer session of the Daily Vacation Bible School with the children giving a short program in the early evening.

Proceeds of the social and bake sale will go toward the preparation of a meal at the White Lake Presbyterian Summer amp. Everyone has been invited to attend.

Upset Stomach Upset Mart

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Lives there a man who has never had an upset stomach?

But when one particular man eats the wrong delicacy for dinner a flash flood of selling hits the stock market. And businessmen here and abroad ponder what President Eisenhower's indisposition, if it had proved serious, could do to business prospects.

Fortunately the hysteria was quickly over and calmer judgments took over the rule of the stock and other markets.

CONFIDENCE IS KEY

The answer appears to lie in that fragile thing—confidence. And in the dread of any period of uncertainty. And in the underlying and still current puzzlement as to which way business is really going. At the moment it is in delicate balance which confidence is maintaining and uncertainty could tilt.

The way a piece of blueberry pie shook up the stock market brings up the basic question of how strongly are business trends tied to any uncertainty in Washington—even when that momentarily uncertainty involved the most powerful man in the world.

Many businessmen hold that the health of industry and trade in this country is strong enough to survive any joggle to confidence caused by the indisposition of a popular president.

WEIGHTY JOB

But the weight of the presidency is great in these troublous times. The battle of the budget is nearing the crucial stage in Congress. Hanging fire are many international negotiations—all the way from disarmament to specific tariff questions affecting a handful of firms.

So the stock market reacted first and reflected later. Observers of the stock market scene report that this time most of the selling appeared to be by the professionals—the in-and-out traders trying to cash in paper profits that uncertainty might hreaen. tt The great mass of stockholders, the people all over the nation who have a few or many shares tucked away in strong boxes, sat tight.

Businessmen mostly waited to see and took the long-term view.

GM Thinking Big in Comeback Bid; Major Face-Liftings Planned for '58

DETROIT (NEA) — There's only scant evidence that anything special cooks on the executive's 14th floor of the big General Motors building.

The well-controlled traffic into President Harlow Curtice's super plush office is a bit heavier. Vice presidents assistants and secretaries respond a shade more promptly to his call and emerge from his presence with only slightly deeper furrows on their brows than usual.

CURTICE UNRUFFLED

Curtice, however exudes the same smiling, urbane, well-dressed, well-briefed confidence today, with GM controlling only about 46 per cent of the U.S. passenger car market, as he did during those periods when GM claimed up to 53 per cent.

What cooks on the 14th are GM's elaborate plans for recapturing at least half of the market, all tied up with GM's gigantic up-coming 50th anniversary celebration.

The contrast between GM's well-financed "comeback" plans and the desperate survival tactics being fashioned in the somewhat shabby executive offices of Studebaker-Packard in South Bend, Ind., gives a good insight into the high-pressure character of the auto industry today.

S-P's president, Harold E. Churchill, a young, vigorous, up-from-the-ranks type, is trying desperately to save his firm. He'd probably settle for two or three per cent of the market.

He took a salary cut of $4,000 last year as a personal effort to reduce costs and now gets $60,000 per year.

Curtice gets more than 10 times this salary. And just about every problem Churchill faces seems stacked against him at about this ten to one ratio.

GM's big talented styling department has come up with a line of 1958 models which are reported to be the most changed and attractive cars GM has ever put out.

Chevrolet and Pontiac will be completely new. Buick and Oldsmobile, which have suffered most in sales this year, will be radically face-lifted. And Cadillac will have some major changes.

MORE FUEL INJECTION

New air suspension systems will be a major GM innovation. A bigger offering of the super-peppy fuel injection engines will be made. A host of new gadgets and gimmicks will be available. Push-button shifting in the center of the steering wheel is reported on some makes.

Curtice's advertising budget for GM last year was just about a quarter of a billion dollars. This year, for promoting the 50th anniversary, it's likely to be larger.

Churchill has far less than a tenth of this ad budget, although his goals are admittedly more modest. All he wants is to get S-P in the black, and points with some pride to his progress during the past year.

The first quarter of this year S-P lost only $2,498,357 on sales of $58,517,005. During the same period a year ago the company lost $14,311,173 on $107,012,182 sales.

It's not so easy to pinpoint Curtice's pecific goals. GM's first quarter sales were up to $3,077,000,000 from $3,065,000,000 during the same period last year. But GM's net income dropped to 93 cents a share, from $1.01 for the comparable period.

One thing that Churchill has 10 times more of than Curtice is advice. Most of it comes from big, confident Roy T. Hurley, president of Curtis-Wright, Corp., which directs the operation of S-P under a management agreement.

Together they came up with three low-priced Scotsman models, a two-door, four-door and station wagon to sell for $1,776, $1,826 and $1,995 respectively. They will be the lowest-priced U.S.-made cars to be offered in '58 models.

PACKARD DIES

S-P prestige car offering will be the Packard Hawk. It actually marks the death of the Packard because the Hawk is a mixture of Studebaker and German Daimler-Benz features.

Daimler-Benz cars will be sold by S-P dealers in an effort to bolster the shaky dealer organization. If S-P survives this year it's likely that more and more D-B engineering and styling will get into the S-P line. S-P will make a D-B truck engine this year in the U.S. as the first step in the alliance of the three firms.

The only thing which Curtice and Churchill share 50-50 for the '58 market is confidence.

Slate Sunday Horse Show

Rochester 4-H Group Plans Twenty Events for Public

ROCHESTER — The 4-H Trailblazers will give a horse show on Sunday beginning at 10 a.m. at the Clarence Gile farm on Hamlin road, ¼ mile west of Rochester road.

Twenty events will be held, including two special attractions. Trick riders Sally White, Barbara Damm and Hardey Allen will perform and the Oakwood Mounted All-Girl Drill Team will go through its exercises.

Trophies and ribbons will be given. Horses are expected from Lapeer, Mt. Clemens, Port Huron, Milford and other outlying areas.

Judge for the day will be Gene Hale. There will be bleachers for the spectators.

Pontiac Man Gets Two New Positions

John K. Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lynch of 479 Orchard Lake Ave., has been appointed management representative to the Boeing Airplane Company and head of the West Coast office of Burns and Roe, engineering firm at Seattle, Wash.

Dorene F. Dobat Wed to Clarence E. Whitbey

The 7:30 p.m. Saturday ceremony was performed by Rev. G. MacDonald Jones before 200 guests. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Dobat of 45435 Van Dyke Ave., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Whitbey of Willow Springs, Mo.

MRS. CLARENCE E. WHITBEY

The bridal gown of imported silk peau de soie, trimmed with beaded lace, had a portrait neckline with short sleeves and fitted bodice. The waistline extended in a scalloped fashion over the hips, and was embroidered with tiny pearls and appliqued lace, as was the full princess front panel. The skirt flowed into a cathedral train.

A fingertip illusion veil was secured by a crown of tiny seed pearls and sequins. For her bouquet, the bride carried a cascade arrangement of pink phalaenopsis with ivy and stephanotis.

Mrs. Richard Dobat, sister-in-law of the bride, was maid of honor, with Jackie Lemp of Mt. Clemens and Mae Whitbey, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids. Roberta Kay Stewart was the flower girl.

Brother of the bride Richard Dobat was the best man, while John Brabenec of Mt. Clemens and Ralph Dobat of Rochester, cousin of the bride, seated the guests.

Folk-Delannoy Wed in Imlay

Couple Makes Plans for Home in Romeo After Honeymoon

IMLAY CITY — Suzanne L. Folk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Folk, became the bride of Roger J. Delannoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Delannoy, in the First Baptist Church Saturday evening. Rev. David Evans performed the candlelight ceremony in the presence of 200 guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over tulle and satin. Her fingertip veil was secured by a double crown of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid surrounded by white carnations arranged on a white Bible.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. Paul Field, matron of honor, Lea Delannoy, bridesmaid, and Sherrie Lyn Field, junior bridesmaid.

Leon Gibbard served as best man and Lee Delannoy was groomsman.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. After a honeymoon to South Carolina, the couple will live at 375 S. Main St., Romeo.

Walter F. O'Malley was a lawyer for the Brooklyn Dodgers before he became president of the club.

COUNTY CUTLINES

ELIZABETH SCHEUERLEIN

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin A. Scheuerlein of Oxford announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Donald P. Jones. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wenzlaff of Dartmouth road, Rochester. An October wedding is planned.

Bible School to Start

DAVISBURG — The Vacation Bible School at the Methodist Church here will be held from June 17-28. Children from four to 12 years old may attend the classes to be held from 9:15 to 11:45 a.m.

Handwork, games, songs and bible stories will make up the program.

At Bethany Baptist Church

Nancy S. Stockford Wed

COMMERCE — Bethany Baptist Church was the scene of a candlelight ceremony read by Dr. J. I. Chapman, uniting in marriage Nancy S. Stockford and Walter Wetzel Saunders Saturday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Stockford of Commerce Lake and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Walter Saunders of Huntington, W. Va.

The bride's white Chantilly lace and tulle gown over satin was fashioned with a Queen Anne collar and full skirt accented with panels of lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion was secured by a pearl-trimmed lace crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of white shattered carnations.

Mrs. John Salitsky of Pontiac, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, with Jay Marie Capogna as junior bridesmaid. Sarah Goodman of Pontiac and Betty Lou Spencer of Milford were the bridesmaids with Andrea Ellen Stockford, niece of the bride, as flower girl.

Ringbearer was Jorde Niceley, cousin of the bride, while James Stockford, brother of the bride, acted as best man. Ushering were John Salitsky of Pontiac and John Franks of Ohio.

A reception followed the ceremony at the VFW Hall in Keego Harbor. The pair will make their home in Fort Monroe, Va., where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Army Medical Corps.

MR. AND MRS. W. W. SAUNDERS

Imlay Will Offer Summer Class in Car Training

IMLAY CITY—Students in the Imlay City High School who are eligible, will have an opportunity to take a driver education course this summer.

This will make it possible for them to complete the requirements for their certificates in a three-week period rather than the usual 19 weeks during the school year.

First of the three classes this summer will start Monday. With classroom work conducted from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m; with the remainder of the day devoted to behind-the-wheel training. Richard Steudle of Capac is the instructor.

Avon Lens Club Plans Outing for Thursday

Plans were formulated for the picnic on Thursday at the Avon Township Park Pavilion, beginning at 6:30 p.m. The Grosse Pointe Cinema League members will be guests, and all members are requested to bring families and friends, rain or shine.

Turkey produced 259,000,000 pounds of tobacco in 1955 compared with 224,400,000 pounds in 1954 and 257,400,000 pounds in 1953.

Casualties Fail to Reveal Trend

All the Fatalities Have One Thing in Common: Unhappy Advertisers

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Sponsor magazine reports that 39 of the 114 sponsored television shows on the three major networks this season are going off the air.

On the casualty list are 19 which bowed in during the season now drawing to a close. The 20 others have had at least two seasons. Since Sponsor compiled its lists there have been well-founded rumors of other removals.

It is futile, however, to try to draw profound conclusions from the types of new programs that have failed in 1956-57. The casualty rate, only a bit higher than last season's, does not indicate any great revolution brewing in TV programing.

For each fallen soldier of the television rating wars a dozen strain to leap forward and take the casualty's place.

The fact that the highest loss was suffered in the category of action-adventure shows does not mean that that type of program is on the wane. To the contrary, there will be more action-adventure shows than ever next season.

Some of the axed shows were pretty bad ones. Some were very good. All of the failures have not been of craftsmanship or skill. But all the failures have been commercial. That is, they have failed to hold their sponsors.

Sponsors base their judgments on two factors: (1) whether the show sells the product advertised; and (2) its audience rating against the opposition.

Among this season's casualties were some which suffered from the basic cause of every casualty everywhere: they were simply in the wrong places at the wrong times.

CHAPTER 15

I was scared as I walked across the yard to where Gene Dillingham waited. I would be a liar if I said anything else. But it wasn't the kind of fear I'd felt that morning when I saw Nela Mathers get away and knew I must face Sarah Pardee with the job I had set out to do not done at all. I'd had a sense of hopelessness then, of absolute frustration, but not now. I could do something about this.

Sarah sat in her wheel chair behind me. Dogbone and Curly King were standing beside the corral gate. Now, apparently realizing what was happening, they started toward us.

Suddenly I felt good. I hated Gene Dillingham. I had every reason to hate him. A flash of memry reminded me of a half dozen indignities I had suffered at his hands.

Gene Dillingham had reason to hate me, too. He was probably jealous of me as he had been jealous of everyone who had meant anything to Joe Pardee. But it must have been far worse after Joe's death when Sarah had made me foreman and half-owner of the ranch. He was nat a man who could swallow his pride, so he had waited, hoping he would have the satisfaction of seeing me fail. But I hadn't, and now this was all that was left.

We were twenty feet apart when he ran toward me. I stopped, my fists cocked in front of my face. He started a blow from his knees, but missed and swung off balance. I caught him squarely on the point of his jaw and knocked him flat on his back.

After that I was a little crazy. Landing the first blow gave me an advantage, and I could not afford to let up. Dillingham would kill me if he could, or break an arm, or gouge my eyes out. Because I couldn't let any of those things happen, I was an animal, fighting like an animal, without rules, without any sense of sportsmanship or decency. I wanted to live.

Dillingham got to his hands and knees, a little dazed. I kicked him in the face, knocking his head up, and he fell sideways. I jumped on him, my knees thudding into his belly, and I hit him with my fists, anywhere I could and as often as I could, driven by the knowledge that he was bigger than I was, and stronger, and that I had to win now if I won at all.

I hurt him at the start, and slowed him down. Even then, he came close to finishing me. He got his arms around me and squeezed, smothering my blows so that they had no authority. I thought that my lungs would explode and that he was going to break every rib in my body.

From a long way off I heard Curly's yell: "Bust out of it, Will! Bust out of it!" I squirmed and twisted, using my elbows and fists and boots, but I accomplished nothing. We rolled over and over on the ground, dust rising around us in a thick cloud.

I couldn't break out of his grip. He was too strong, too heavy. He wasn't trying to hit me. He was willing to take any punishment I could give him, which wasn't much. We rolled over until I was on top. I slammed my head down as hard as I could. I got him on the nose and flattened it and brought a gush of blood. His grip went slack, just for a moment, but long enough for me to break lose.

I rose to my feet and backed away, trying to get my breath. He'd have had me if he'd held on another ten seconds, and I think he knew it. He was on his feet at once, spat out a mouthful of blood, and rushed at me. I kept backing up, still laboring for breath, but it seemed a long time before I got it. During that time I did nothing except duck and block his blows if I could, and keep going back. He got one through to the side of my face and I went down, but I was up again before he could fall on me.

I was tired and sick and hurt, and for several tortured seconds I wasn't sure I could stay on my feet. But he was hurt too. Blood flowed from his battered nose in a steady stream. Still he kept pushing and I kept retreating. I took no chances until I had my wind back. That was where he made his mistake. He thought I was hurt worse than I was.

I reversed my tactics, suddenly and without warning, and stood my ground. I hit him solidly on the side of the head, a little too high to flatten him; I nailed him in the stomach with my left. I smashed through his guard to his face again and knocked him back on his heels, but only for a moment; then he had his balance, and we stood that way, swinging as hard as we could, getting hit in order to hit.

He slammed a right to my jaw that almost finished me. If he had landed it in the first of the fight, he'd have knocked me cold, but now much of the steam was gone from his punches. Still, it started the ground to spinning and I went back again, intent only on staying on my feet. Then my head cleared and we were at it again.

I was so tired that it was a great effort to swing a fist. Then my numbed brain realized that he was as badly off as I was. We had fought ourselves into a state of exhaustion, our faces masses of cuts and bruises. My left eye was closed. Both of his were puffy.

Suddenly I stepped back. He held his fists in front of his face and shoved his head forward, peering as if trying to find me. I came in, as fast as I could, but I suppose I was actually slow; I cracked him on the jaw and he went down, slowly, sort of rocking forward, and fell on his face. I backed up and stood against a cottonwood, the sound of my breathing an ugly rasping noise to my own ears, so tired I could not have stood up by myself.

"Come here and get his gun, Dogbone," Sarah called. "Bring his horse, Curly. Lift him onto the saddle. Don't ever come back, Gene! Do you hear?"

Only then did I realize he had not been knocked out. I just hadn't hit him hard enough. I was too far gone to have the strength. His hatred and desire to hammer me into blood pulp were not enough to keep him fighting. He'd quit.

He got to his hands and knees and stared at the house, trying to see Sarah. Dogbone came with the gun belt and wrapped it around the saddle horn. Together Curly and the Ute boy got him into the saddle.

He left, riding like a sack of wool, almost falling out of the saddle at times; and it came to me that it was not over and that it would not be over until Gene Dillingham was dead. That was the last thing I remembered clearly. My knees were rubber. Now they gave and I slid to the ground, the bark of the tree raking my back as I founght to hold myself upright, and failed.

When I came to, I was in bed in the house. My body was one great ache. I could not take a deep breath. One eye was still swollen shut. As I lay on my back and thought about it, I wasn't sure I had actually whipped Dillingham. Or if I had, it had been by a very small margin.

"Will."

I had not realized until then that Sarah was sitting beside me. Slowly and painfully, I turned my head. She had been crying again.

"Is it bad, Will?"

"No."

"I should have fired him the day I made you foreman," she said sadly. "Ben Sawhill was right. I was afraid I'd make an outlaw out of him, but he's an outlaw now, isn't he?"

"Yes."

I wondered what would happen to Gene Dillingham. I wished he were dead. He was not a man to forget he had been humiliated. He would strike back at me or at Sarah, or both of us. If he picked up his friendship with Merle Turner again, he might even throw in with the colonists.

Will feels the power of Kathy Morgan's fury: "Sarah has you wound around her little finger. Everybody in the valley knows it but you. She names the song and you sing it." Continue "Gunlock" here tomorrow.

Report Wave of Vandalism Striking Pontiac Parks

A wave of vandalism has struck Pontiac's parks this year, according to David R. Ewalt, director of the Parks and Recreation Dept.

"This malicious destruction of property is costing the city some $5,000 annually to repair or replace equipment," he said.

He added that the city's seven parks are being left in unsightly condition by users. "Many don't even bother to use the trash containers," Ewalt said.

Parks personnel are finding windows smashed in comfort stations, picnic tables upset or tossed in the river, upset trash containers, and many tables stacked one upon the other.

Ewalt warned that the extra money paying for this destruction is taking away funds which might be used for further improvements.

He asked that persons call his department or the police if acts of vandalism are witnessed.

6 County Men Joined Marines Last Month

Six Oakland county men, including two from Pontiac, enlisted in the U.S. Marines during the month of May for periods of two or three years, according to the Marine Recruiting Substation in Pontiac. They were flown immediately to San Diego, Calif., for 12 weeks of recruit training.

The remaining four are Richard Dean Sutherland, 3460 Watkins Lake Rd., Waterford Township; Tommie Trulen Bridges, 4776 Midland St., Drayton Plains; John William Cobb, Holly, and John Mitchell Loeser, Berkley.

Upon completion of recruit training they will be transferred to Camp J. H. Pendelton at Oceanside, Calif., for five weeks of individual combat training. This will be followed by a 15-day leave before being assigned to an official post or technical school.

Census Bureau to Study Employment in Pontiac

Employment facts will be collected from sample Pontiac families this week by the Census Bureau in its current population survey, according to supervisor John E. Tharaldson, of the bureau's regional office in Detroit.

The sample survey is taken nationwide to provide an estimate of employment trends and situations for use by labor, industry and government.

Piggins Views Draft

DETROIT (AP) — Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins told close friends Tuesday he will "seriously consider" their efforts to draft him as a candidate for mayor. He said he will decide decide within two weeks.

Eyes Are the Thing for Safest Driving

Since 90 per cent of a motorist's decisions are based on vision, eye examinations required to obtain a driver's license should be modernized and standardized throughout the United States by enabling legislation, according to Dr. George Harkless, member of the Motorist Vision Committee of the Michigan Optometric Association.

The Pontiac optometrist spoke to the Traffic and Safety Committee of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce recently.

He pointed out visual difficulties are one of eight major causes of auto accidents and, therefore, the state organization is stressing the ideal of national visual standards for motorists.

In his report to the local committee, after attending a meeting in Flint this week, he said one state does not require a vision test, only 18 test ability to judge distances and 39 check color vision.

Another needed standardization concerns retesting, Harkless claims.

"Michigan is one of the few states which requires a vision test when licenses are issued or renewed," he said.

A recent survey in Connecticut proved most people do not realize they have a vision defect. Of the 44,000 applicants for licenses, 20,000 had visual defects and only 4,400 wore glasses, Harkless reported.

The Pontiac optometrist stressed "the driver's eyes are paramount and he should have his eyes checked regularly for the safety of himself and others."

Kitten Saves Actor From Snake Bite

Cochran said he was walking through a geranium patch at his home in Coldwater Canyon when his 9-week-old kitten Terrible Touhy dashed in front of him to pounce on a four-foot rattlesnake. The snake struck the cat, knocking it over.

The actor said he went to get a gun, but the snake was gone when he came out. The cat, bitten between the eyes, was given first aid at an animal hospital. It will recover.

Bus Drivers Get 2-Year Contract

7-Cent Pay Increase Brings Company Hint of Possible Fare Hike

Agreement has been reached on a new two-year contract between a union of city bus drivers and Pontiac City Lines Inc., according to E. W. Dreasher, transportation superintendent of the company.

Some 40 drivers, members of Local 1079 of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street Electric Railway and Motor Cocach Employes of America, lost out in their fight for a 20-cent pay hike.

In addition, drivers received added vacation benefits ranging from one week after one year up to three weeks after 15 years.

Dreasher hinted that the company might raise bus fares to meet the drivers' pay boost. He earlier said the 20-cent hike would force the company our of business.

Both sides have been bargaining sporadically for a new pact since the old one expired March 31.

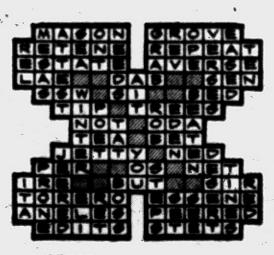

The company has maintained normal operations throughout the often-deadlocked negotiations.

Wayne Man Drowns When Flipped Into Ditch

DETROIT (AP) — John Blaharski, 34, of Wayne, was killed yesterday when his five-ton tractor flipped over, hurling him into a water-filled ditch in Romulus Township.

Doctors at Wayne County General Hospital said Blaharski, the father of three youngsters, suffered a skull fracture, but apparently had died of drowning.

LEANING TOWER

ANSWER: The famous Leaning Tower of Pisa, in Italy, doesn't fall over because it is balanced so well.

It was built over 800 years ago. When it was partly finished, the builders saw that it was beginning to lean because it had been built on sand that was giving away. They changed their plans, to place most of the weight away from the leaning side.

In spite of that, the tower has leaned more and more through the years. Now, if you drop something from the very top, it will land 17 feet away from the base. If it leans too far it will fall after all, but engineers are figuring out how to stop this. The tower is 179 feet high, made up of eight floors.

FOR YOU TO DO: A famous scientist, Galileo, used the Tower for an experiment that you can try yourself. Take two marbles of the same size and shape, but not of the same weight. Drop them both at the same time and you will see they both hit the ground at the same time, even though one weighs more than the other. You may color the picture above.

Ingrid's Irked: Newsmen Won't Leave Her Alone

PARIS (INS)—Ingrid Bergman is confused.

"I don't know what to do," the beautiful Swedish-born screen and stage star confided ruefully.

"If I talk a lot to reporters, none of it ever appears in the papers," she complained.

She then charged petulantly that "if I don't say anything they make up something themselves and I see things I never said spread all over the page."

In recent weeks, Miss Bergman has been busily denying reports that she planned to divorce her husband, Italian film director Roberto Rossellini, so that he could marry an Indian artist, Mrs. Sunali Das Gupta. Rossellini is now in India making documentary films.

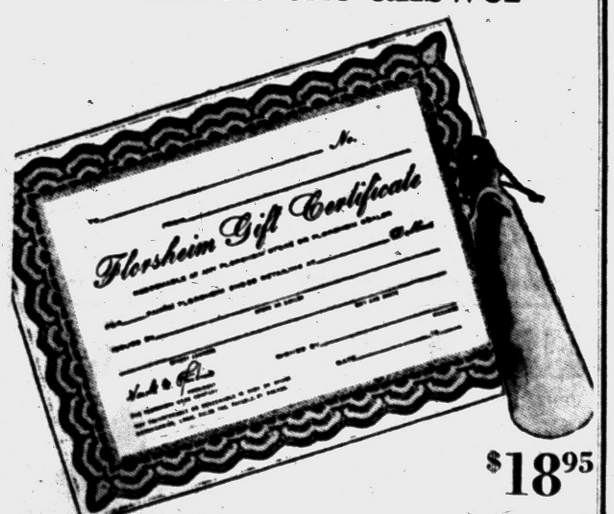

In the last few days, she has been calling "utterly ridiculous" a printed report that she would settle in England to make pictures.
