Heart Lights Up With Age

You Are Glowing Older

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO — Birthdays truly make your heart glow.

The older you get, the more your heart will actually shine or fluoresce if exposed to ultraviolet or black light.

It shines more because "age pigment" accumulates in living cells of the heart. This pigment is a strange and perhaps very significant fact in the puzzle of why and how we grow old and die.

The pigment shines with a kind of orange light when the heart is inspected with ultraviolet light.

The age pigment concentrating in human hearts, nerves, brains and muscles is being investigated for clues to aging.

NOTED IN EXHIBIT

The story is told in an exhibit today to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

The age pigment was first noticed many years ago. Main goals now are in trying to isolate and identify it, and determine what it means.

Where the pigment comes from and why are also still unknown. It doesn't seem to be correlated with heart failure, or any particular disease.

State Hospital Yule Drinking Party Alleged

5 Attendants Ordered Suspended Until Probe; Brutality Also Charged

Five Pontiac State Hospital attendants are charged with staging a Christmas eve all-night drinking bout that awoke a ward of mental patients.

One source accuses the revelers of brutality against one of the patients who walked in on the party in the middle of the night.

The five were suspended Friday pending an investigation which began early this morning. Their names are being withheld by hospital authorities until action is taken, probably sometime tomorrow.

A hospital official said alcoholic beverages are not allowed in the buildings or on the grounds and that no staff Christmas party was sanctioned or scheduled.

The hall where the incident took place bisects a ward of about 35 non-violent patients. They reported the behavior of the attendants, all on duty during the midnight to 8 a.m. shift, to a floor supervisor early Friday.

TELLS OF ABUSE

A source regarded as "reliable," said the five abused a patient who interrupted their activities.

According to the informant, the attendants stripped the man of his clothes, threw the garb in one can and the victim in another.

Hospital Superintendent Dr. Walter H. Obenauf denies the brutality took place. He issued this statement:

"On Christmas Eve, five attendants allegedly were drinking while on duty. During the night, one patient heard the noise and thought it was time to get up.

"He was told to undress and return to bed as it was not yet time to get up.

"The day male nursing supervisor, Wendt Roblin, was advised of the infraction of hospital rules when he came on duty Friday morning by patients in the hall where the alleged drinking took place.

"Several patients complained the men were drinking and there was a lot of noise.

"These five men have been suspended. An investigation is being held and appropriate action will be taken."

Briefer Stays in Hospital to Be Studied

DETROIT (AP)—The Michigan Hospital Service (Blue Cross) plans a pilot study next year to learn whether hospital costs can be cut safely by discharging patients early and providing them with home nursing care.

Dr. Edwin L. Harmon, service medical director, said Blue Cross hopes to save an average of 10 days hospital care and $29 a day on each of the 300 patients who volunteer for the year-long study.

The Visiting Nurses Assn. will be in charge of the home-care program and will be reimbursed by Blue Cross.

Highland Park General, Oakwood, Sinai and St. John hospitals are participating in the study as is a selected employe group at a Detroit factory.

In addition to nursing, patients in the study will have available such services as laboratory tests, X-rays, electrocardiograms, drugs and dressings. Social workers and physical therapists also will be available.

People to help with sick room housekeeping will be provided with Blue Cross and the patient's family sharing the cost. Home-care days will not be counted against a patient's eligibility for hospital care under the Blue Cross contract.

Dr. Harmon said a similar pilot project in New York conducted over a five-year period resulted in state laws allowing home care to be made a permanent part of the Blue Cross program.

President Also Plans Confab on U.S. Defense at Augusta Tuesday

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that a mid-May summit conference in Paris will be satisfactory to the United States.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty mentioned May 16 as probable. But he said a definite date depends upon consultations now in progress with France and Britain.

Eisenhower's decision on mid-May was reached in a telephone conference with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in Washington.

Herter, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission and seven other officials are flying down from the capital Tuesday for what Ha called "a general discussion with the President of the international and defense field, including the nuclear program for 1960."

That was broad enough to cover talks about an expected extension of the U.S. ban on nuclear tests. This has been in effect 14 months and expires Dec. 31 unless the administration acts to retain it.

In London, Britain appeared to be swinging over to a mid-May summit meeting despite Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's reported perference for May 4.

British informants said the Western Allies probably will suggest a date — possibly May 18 or 19 — to the Soviet Union within the next 48 hours.

2 Detroiters Die, 25 Ill—Bad Food

Scattered Attacks Have No Connection, Claims Homicide Detective

DETROIT (AP) — Two women died and 25 persons, including eight children, were stricken ill with food poisoning in Detroit Sunday.

The dead were Anna Kahanak, 61, and Isabella Tait, 79.

Nineteen were admitted to hospitals, and six were treated and released.

Detective Sgt. Dave Harris of the Homicide Bureau said there was no reason for general alarm.

"There was no connection between the scattered attacks," Harris said. "In each case the troubl seemed to stem from food that had spoiled or that hadn't been properly prepared."

Only one had eaten in a restaurant.

AFTERNOON MEAL

Mrs. Kahanak was one of nine persons who fell ill six hours after eating a noon meal in her home. Mrs. Tait was one of three stricken ill after eating chili sauce "which didn't taste right."

Ten persons became ill after eating sandwiches at the home of Albert Ferguson. Four persons were stricken after eating turkey and dressing at the home of Charles Belch.

Sara Shaffe, 63, of suburban Ferndale, was admitted to a hospital shortly after eating liver and onions at a Detroit restaurant.

Farewell, Delightful Springtime

Gray skies will continue to hover over the Pontiac area although the weatherman promises more seasonal weather late today and tomorrow.

Hazardous driving warnings were posted for northeast and northwest lower Michigan with predictions of freezing rain and sleet for the area tonight. The mercury is expected to drop to a low of 28 tonight.

Snow flurries are forecast for Tuesday with a high expected of 39.

A warm air mass pushing northward from the Gulf of Mexico had sent temperatures soaring the last few days.

Temperatures will average near the normal 26 to 34 degrees for the next five days and the normal low of 8 to 20. Precipitation will average one-tenth to six-tenths inches with occasional snow.

Easterly winds recorded at 10-20 miles this morning will shift to northeast by tonight and northeast to north Tuesday.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was recorded at 39 degrees. By 2 p.m. the mercury read 36.

Anti-Nixon Drive Falters

Press Rocky for VP Bid

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was under strong pressure today to accept the number two spot on the GOP ticket in 1960 while Democrats viewed his withdrawal from the presidential race with hopeful optimism.

At the same time, in Concord, N. H., an original Rockefeller presidential backer today launched an anti-Nixon drive in New Hampshire but failed to marshal support from other Rockefeller supporters.

Retired Federal Judge Albert Levitt, 72, invited Chairman William G. Saltonstall of the "Draft Rocky" committee to join him in "another fight against Nixon."

But Saltonstall promptly rejected the invitation, saying his interest had been in drafting Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination, not in defeating Nixon.

Saltostall, headmaster of Phillips Exeter Academy, said he thought Rockefeller had made a "good decision" in withdrawing from the race during the weekend, but admitted he was personally "quite disappointed."

'I'LL WAIT AND SEE'

"I will wait and see what happens," he said. "I have no plans to actively participate in this presidential campaign."

A contest had been shaping up for the state's March 8 primary, the first in the nation, when Rockefeller withdrew.

Rockefeller became the overwhelming favorite for the Republican vice presidential nomination with his announcement Saturday that he was bowing out of the presidential race.

OPEN DOOR NOW

Republican quarters viewed the move as an open door to the White House for Nixon.

Democrats claimed Rockefeller's withdrawal boosted their chances for capturing the presidency in 1960. They said Nixon would be an easier candidate to beat than Rockefeller.

A nationwide survey by United Press International indicated Rockefeller would be under ever

A Crown for Carolyn

Death Takes Pontiac Christmas-Card Girl

Carolyn Carr died today, after winning her fight to live until Christmas Day.

The 11-year-old leukemia victim, whose desire for Christmas cards touched the hearts of hundreds in the Pontiac area, succumbed to the fatal blood disease a few minutes before noon in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

CAROLYN CARR

At her bedside was her mother, Mrs. Dolores Carr, 54 N. Jessie St.

Death came in a peaceful way to end her long, frequently painful and overwhelmingly one-sided battle against the dread childhood affliction.

Hospitalized twice before in the past 14 months, Carolyn entered the hospital for the last time a week ago today. In critical condition, she remained in an oxygen tent 24 hours a day, and received frequent blood transfusions.

Sympathizers had sent the girl nearly 4,000 Christmas cards since last Monday, most of them arriving before Christmas Day.

They also sent such gifts as dolls and stuffed animals, and these were presented to Carolyn Saturday and Sunday.

Carolyn was in a coma most of Christmas Day and her parents decided to let the holiday itself pass by without calling it to the little girl's attention.

The Boys Club of Pontiac on Wednesday gave Carolyn a floral crown and the title of Christmas Queen of Pontiac.

Although funeral arrangements have not been made, it has been decided that the crown will rest on the girl's coffin.

Carolyn's father, Earl B. Carr, is a Pontiac Motor Division employe. The Carrs have six other children.

County Political Leaders Split on Ford's Chances

Reports that a Michigan congressman's chances for the Republican vice presidential nomination improved with Nelson Rockefeller's explosive withdrawal from the top spot, brought both hot and cold reactions from Oakland party leaders today.

Saying he would continue to "go all out" for Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Grand Rapids was Oakland County Congressman William S. Broomfield, who said he was the original instigator behind the "Ford-for-vice-president" move.

But Arthur G. Elliott Jr., county GOP chairman from Pleasant Ridge, was cool and noncommittal to what he thought of Ford's chances now that the New York governor suddenly pulled his hat from the presidential ring.

Elliott said he had some "private opinions" about Ford which he wished not to be printed.

On the subject of Vice President Richard Nixon, now apparently the lone GOP presidential contender, Elliott said, "It was the sentiment throughout Oakland County that a vast majority of people were strongly in favor of Mr. Nixon's candidacy."

He then generalized on the subject of who might join with Nixon on the ticket.

"It's vital to the affairs of our country that the vice president candidate should be the number two representative of his party," Elliott said. "I'm sure at the convention in Chicago Republicans will make a selection based on that premise."

On the other side of the political fence, Carlos G. Richardson, chairman of the Oakland County Democratic Committee, said Republicans would be wiser to come up with a ticket with Nixon "not on it at all."

Agreeing that Rockefeller's an-

Rescues Parents, Cousin Knocked Out by Fumes

A Pontiac couple and their 12-year-old nephew escaped death this morning when they were apparently overcome by fumes from an improperly ventilated gas hot water heater.

They were discovered at 4:45 a.m. by the couple's 26-year-old son when he returned home after spending the evening with friends.

Rushed by firemen to Pontiac General Hospital were Jose Flores, 53, of 730 Vaught St., a Pontiac Motor Division factory worker; his wife, Benita, 50; and their 12-year-old nephew, Arnold Ocoha.

They were admitted for treatment of acute carbon monoxide poisoning.

All three persons are in satisfactory condition.

The son, Jose Flores Jr., a General Motors Truck and Coach Division employe, discovered his father and cousin unconscious in the living room and his mother in the bathroom.

The elder Flores said they they must have been overcome sometime shortly after midnight.

At first it was believed that the victims were overcome by fumes from a gas stove in the kitchen but a check by Consumers Power Co. workers disclosed no leaks. The stove, however, was turned on.

Firemen then traced the fumes to the hot water heater.

Michigan Economist Sees Record Production

Speaks of Full Employment During 1960

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances are good for full-employment prosperity in 1960, a Michigan economist told the American Economic Assn. today.

Paul W. McCracken, University of Michigan economist, made the prediction in an address prepared for delivery to a joint session of the economic group and the American Statistical Assn.

These are two of the 12 organizations holding simultaneous annual meetings here at the Conference of Allied Social Science Associations. Some 7,000 economists, statisticians and others are attending.

McCracken said total production may climb to a record total of about 510 billion dollars. This would mean a gain of about 30 billion dollars over the 1959 rate and implies a drop in joblessness to about 4 per cent of labor force.

McCracken, a former member of President Eisenhower's council of economic advisers, said three threats exist to attainment of the goals. He listed them as:

1. The possibility of another long steel strike after the Taft-Hartley injunction expires late next month or a settlement generally regarded as inflationary."

2. A shortage of credit. McCracken predicted that tight money will "not seriously jeopardize the expansion," but said interest rates may go even higher.

3. An excessive rise in prices. There is a prospect of some inflation in 1960, he said, but probably not more than 2 per cent in the cost of living index.

This, the economist said, "would not be a bad performance for the third year of a vigorous expansion."

The decade of what has been called the golden sixties will bring some additional problems along with the promise of high prosperity based on growing population and widening markets, McCracken said.

The foremost one, he indicated, is that the number of people maturing and needing jobs will increase sharply.

As against the average of about 900,000 new entrants to the labor force annually in past decade, he said, the average will be nearly 1,300,000 a year between now and 1965 and more than 1½ million annually from 1965 to 1970.

Knudsen Envisions Bright Year

"A continuance of the sales trend set during 1959 should make the coming year one of the brightest in Pontiac Motor Division history," S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and Pontiac general manager said today in a year-end statement.

"The past year, a most rewarding one for Pontiac, has seen our car forge ahead in sales to the top of the medium price field," Knudsen stated.

"Initial sales of the 1960 Pontiac constituted the best introduction period ever experienced. Barring any repetition of the recent steel shortage, deliveries of our new models should continue to increase," he said.

"The business outlook for the months ahead is excellent. Production is hitting peak levels in an effort to 'catch up' with a tremendous backlog of new car orders from Pontiac customers," he added.

"Rising income and employment and a high level of consumer confidence are among the guiding factors for a prosperous New Year," according to Knudsen.

Fourth More in State

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau reports Michigan's population rose 24.9 per cent from April 1, 1950, to July 1, 1959. The bureau estimated Michigan's population climbed from 6,371,776 to 7,960,000.

Road Deaths Chill Holiday Spirits

22 Lose Lives in State Traffic

Fog, Rain, Snow Lethal Combination That Dulls Luster of Tinsel

Traffic	488
Fires	42
Miscellaneous	72
Total	602

By The Associated Press

The nation's three-day Christmas holiday apparently cost subthis year than in comparable Christmas weekends of recent years.

The total—under 500 as delayed reports of fatalities between 6 p.m., Thursday, and last midnight were tabulated—was roughly 15 per cent less than the 609 lives claimed in 1955, and smaller than the 523 of 1953.

Like this year's holiday, those of 1955 and 1953 also were three-day observances.

The National Safety Council, which had estimated before the holiday that 530 deaths might be expected, pointed out that the current toll came with 71 million cars in operating condition—25 per cent more than in 1953 and 12 per cent more than in 1955.

Michigan's traffic death toll over the 78-hour Christmas weekend totaled 22 persons and topped by one the number killed last year when the holiday lasted a day longer.

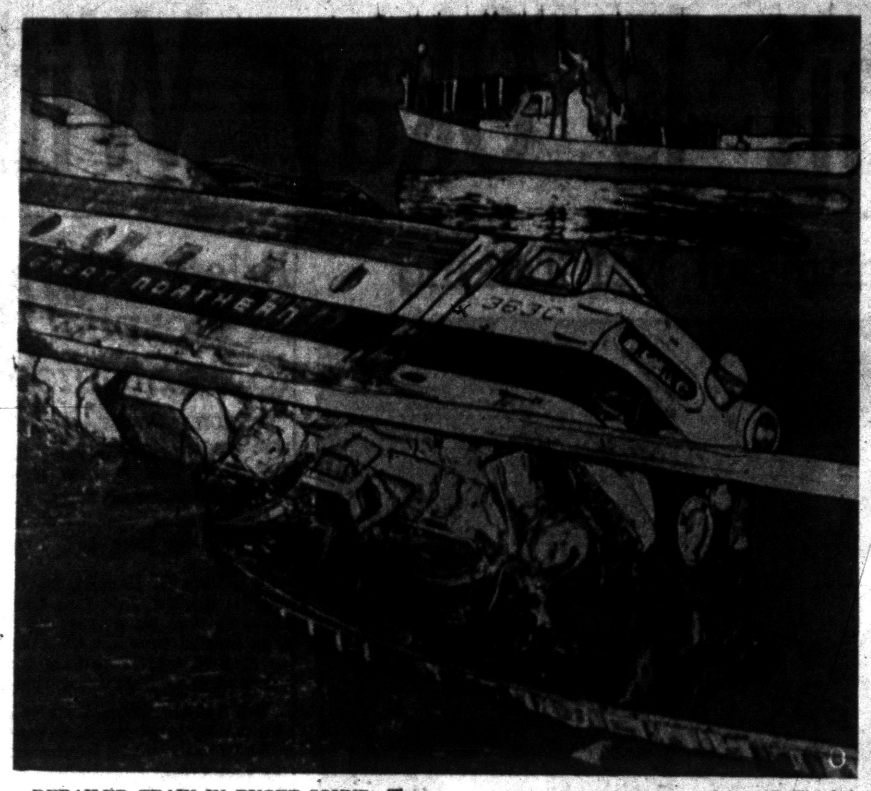

Fog, drizzle, rain and snow combined with heavy traffic to make a lethal combination over most of the period.

Twenty persons were killed in separate accidents. Four of the dead were pedestrians.

In addition to the traffic dead, two persons died in fires and eight were killed in miscellaneous accidents. The dead included a 6-year-old girl who burned to death in a Monroe area fire and four persons killed when a leaky furnace flue spewed deadly carbon monoxide fumes into their Detroit home.

The staggering toll, however, far exceeds the number that would be killed on the highways during a non-holiday weekend period of the same length at this time of year. The council estimated 370.

Moslem Nuptials for the Daughter of Harold Ickes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Djahangir Boushehri and the former Elizabeth Ickes, married in both Episcopal and Moslem ceremonies, honeymooned in New York today before leaving for Europe and Iran.

The 18-year-old bride is the daughter of the late Harold L. Ickes, secretary of interior under Presidents Roosevelt and Truman for 14 years.

The two ceremonies were performed Sunday. First, Boushehri, son of a prominent Iranian family, and Miss Ickes were married in simple episcopal rites at her family home in Olney, Md., 20 miles from here.

Two hours later, they were married with traditional Moslem rites at the Iranian Embassy in Washington.

Troy Man Dies After Collision

Other Driver Injured in Two-Car Accident in Shelby Township

A 78-year-old Troy man died last night in St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens, of injuries suffered in a two-car accident in Shelby Township Saturday afternoon.

Dead is Thomas A. Smith of 6083 Blackwall St. He was taken to the hospital with chest injuries and facial cuts.

Also hospitalized was the driver of the other car, Grover J. Powell, 61, of 5686 Cherokee Rd., Washington Township. Powell suffered fractured ribs and is in critical condition today in the Mount Clemens hospital.

He told Shelby Township police he stopped at the intersection of Auburn and Ryan roads, and pulled out into Auburn road, after seeing the way apparently was clear, and was hit by Smith's car.

Smith told officers Powell pulled out in front of him and their cars collided.

Investigators stated that the fog had made driving hazardous and that statements would be taken today in the Macomb County Prosecutors office from witnesses and Mrs. Powell.

Mrs. Powell, postmaster of the village of Washington, was thrown clear by the impact and suffered only minor bruises.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission to Consider Two Charter Amendments

BIRMINGHAM — Proposed charter amendments providing for the appointment of a constable and a two-year residence requirement for municipal judges will be presented to the City Commission this evening.

Presently, the charter states that a constable be elected to a two-year post rather than appointed.

The two-year residence requirement for judges has been drafted because the charter is not clear on the subject as it now reads.

Should the Commission decide to present the amendments to the voters, it will take at least a three-fifths vote by the Commission to place the issues on the April 4, 1960 ballot.

The proposed charter amendments are a result of a suggestion by Commissioner Florence Willett in September to review the present requirements for municipal judge and the election of the constable.

Registration for the winter series of the Craft and Hobby classes at the Birmingham Community House will begin Jan. 4.

The classes will include bridge, creative pottery, dancing, enameling, first aid courses, flower arranging, gardening, interior decorating and magazine writing.

There also will be classes in millinery, painting, Russian, sculpture, sewing and slipcovering.

The courses range from 5 to 10 weeks with fees of $5 to $20.

Roy E. Brown

Service for Roy E. Brown, 80, of 338 Greenwood Rd., will be held at St. James Episcopal Church tomorrow at 2 p.m. Burial will be at Roseland Park Cemetery.

Mr. Brown died Saturday after a long illness.

He was the founder and chairman of the board of the Brown Art Corp., Detroit.

Mr. Brown was a past master of the Birmingham Lodge No. 44 F&AM, a charter member of the Birmingham Hi-Twelve Club and a member of the Adcraft Club.

His body is at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Arther I. Philp, Berkley; Mrs. Sherman L. LaMeasure, Mrs. Shirley Hadas, both of Birmingham; and Mrs. John McAlpine, Stillwater, Minn.; one son, Roy E. of Cincinnati, 15 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Henry Streeter

Service for former Birmingham resident Mrs. Henry Streeter, 86, of 52455 Ihla St., Rochester, will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Funeral Home. Burial will be in Royal Oak Cemetery.

Mrs. Streeter died after a long illness Saturday at the home of a daughter.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Herbert Moore of Rochester and Mrs. Ralph Williams of Detroit, and three brothers.

Frank R. Hiscock

Service for Frank R. Hiscock of 820 Purdy St., will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Oak Hills Cemetery.

Mr. Hiscock died Sunday after a long illness.

He was a retired gardener for the George G. Booth estate, Bloomfield Township.

Milton H. Fegley

Service for former Birmingham resident Milton H. Fegley Sr., 59, was held at 1:30 p.m. today at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Funeral Home. Burial was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Mr. Fegley died Wednesday at Boynton Beach, Fla., following a long illness.

He had been living in Boca Raton, Fla., the past three years since his retirement as district salesman for the LaSalle Steel Co., Detroit.

He was a member of the American Society for Metals and the Lost Lake Woods Club.

Surviving besides his wife Gladys are two sons, Robert S. and Milton Jr., his mother, Mrs. John S. Fegley of Clarkston, two grandchildren, five brothers, Vaughn of Birmingham, David and John, Clarkston, Paul and Ross of Indianapolis; and two sisters, Mrs. Martin Quinn and Cornelia Fegley of Detroit.

Mighty Earth Slides Tip Train Into Water

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Two massive earth slides in the space of 20 minutes pushed part of a crack 13-car passenger train into Puget Sound 12 miles north of here Sunday.

Ten persons—six of them crew members—were injured, none seriously.

The Great Northern Railway's Empire Builder, bound for Chicago with 188 passengers aboard, was about 30 minutes out of Seattle when the first slide struck. It derailed a four-unit diesel locomotive.

Twenty minutes later, with help already on the scene, another slide again slammed into the diesel units.

It carried the diesel units and a baggage-mail car out into the Sound. A mail-dormitory car was left teetering on a seawall.

Strung out along the tracks were six other cars, all derailed but still standing upright. Four pullman cars and a diner stayed on the tracks.

Coast Guard vessels based here had reached the scene before the second slide struck. Four train crew members ran for their lives and managed to scramble into a Coast Guard boat only seconds before the earth, mud and debris rumbled across the tracks.

GRAFTON, W. Va. (AP) — Two Baltimore and Ohio railroad trains were derailed in West Virginia Sunday.

The 13-car National Limited was en route from St. Louis to Baltimore with 326 passengers when both locomotives and six cars left the track about 17 miles east of here. Ten passengers were treated at hospitals and released. Traffic was not interrupted.

A New York-to-St. Louis freight of 282 cars jumped the rails five miles west of Sistersville on the Ohio River.

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Saboteurs wrecked a mail train in Northcentral Ceylon Sunday night injuring 30 persons.

The train was derailed as it passed through Vavuniya, scene of rioting last year between rival Sinhalese and Tamil groups.

The government proclaimed a state of emergency in the spring of 1958 in an effort to halt bloody fighting between the Sinhalese majority and the Tamil minority over disqualification of Tamil as an official language. Hundreds were killed, much property burned, and many places looted.

Ike to Kick Off GOP Fund Drive

75 Dinners on Jan. 27; Detroit to Hear Percy, Morton Announces

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower will be the star of a list of top speakers at 75 simultaneous "Dinner With Ike" meetings throughout the nation Jan. 27, kicking off a Republican fund-raising drive.

Eisenhower will speak in Los Angeles.

Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton announced yesterday the following Michigan speakers and the sites:

Detroit, Charles Percy; Flint, Charles S. Thomas; Lansing, Kevin McCann; Jackson, Dr. Keith Glennan, National Aeronautics and Space Administrator; St. Joseph, Gov. J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware; Saginaw, Federal Aviation administrator E. R. Quesada;

Muskegon, Asst. Secy. of Commerce Henry Kearns; Battle Creek, Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse; Ishpeming, Earl Eisenhower, and Port Huron, Robert McIntosh.

Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield of Flint, Mich., will speak at Boston.

Bus Riders Urged to Tell About Killer

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) — Police appealed today to the frightened passengers of a No. 8 bus to come forward and tell what they could about the blood-stained man who boarded the bus shortly after a killer decapitated a YWCA girl last Wednesday.

British newspapers took up the cry and tried to shame the 59 still-silent passengers into speaking up. They called the killer the most sadistic in the annals of British crime and said no one was safe as long as he remains free.

So far only one passenger and the conductor have told police of seeing the man who boarded the bus near the YWCA but neither knew where he got off. He was stained with blood so badly no one would sit by him or occupy the seat after he left.

Conductor Bill Humphreys said the man offered his fare in a blood-stained hand but refused to give his destination.

The most valuable information thus far came from Mrs. Evelyn Peake, 27, who told police she saw the killer suspect waiting for the bus near the YWCA, slumped against a wall.

She said he explained his blood stains by saying in an "educated voice" "I had a fall. I'll be all right when I can get on a bus."

She described the man as "about five foot seven with fair, curly hair and wearing a hip-length American type jacket."

The killer attacked friendless, unemployed 29-year-old typist Stephanie Baird, apparently with a bag of stones, then beheaded her with a pen knife.

Political Leaders Split on Rep. Ford

nouncement over the weekend enhanced Ford's chances for the vice president nomination, Richardson declared Republicans would have a "stronger ticket" with Rockefeller "on top."

"I think Nixon is a lot weaker than some people think," the county chairman said.

Nixon, according to Lawrence B. Lindemer, state Republican chairman, has the 1960 GOP presidential nomination sewed up now.

About Rockefeller's dropout, Lindemer said, "One effect it has on Michigan is that it increases the chances of Ford for the vice presidential nomination. We are going in with Gerry as a favorite son and now his chances are much better than those of the average favorite son."

FINE TICKET

Broomfield, who introduced Ford as a "brilliant leader" at a "Ford for VP" kickoff dinner in Detroit earlier this month, said the Nixon-Ford ticket would make "one of the finest the Republicans could come up with."

Should national party leaders start a drive to have the first-term New York governor settle for the second spot—which he has insisted he would not take—Broomfield said this wouldn't diminish his push for Ford.

Rockefeller probably sensed on his recent political pulse crusade around the country that Nixon was out in front and then withdrew, Broomfield theorized.

He said he thought it better for the party that they enter the convention "united" behind one candidate. Richardson, on the other hand, said it was better for the country to have competition in any primary.

increasing pressure from within the Republican Party to accept the number two spot on the GOP ticket.

Some Republican stategists believe a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket would be almost unbeatable.

However, Rockefeller has repeatedly stated that he would not accept a bid to run for the vice presidency. He stated as recently as last Saturday that he would not "at any time entertain any thought of accepting" the vice presidential nomination.

USUALLY MEANS IT

Rockefeller's apparently adamant stand on the issue could disrupt hopes for a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket. Rockefeller has a reputation for meaning what he says.

New York State Republican Chairman Judson Morehouse calls this Rocky's secret weapon. In a world of political double talk he means what he says.

A large proportion of GOP leaders have refused to believe Rockefeller's Saturday declaration. The UPI survey disclosed that 17 top Republicans in 28 states named Rockefeller their favorite choice for the vice presidential nomination.

Many ignored Rockefeller's rejection of the number two spot. Some said they believe he would accept "if the honor were offered."

Others felt that an overwhelming demand for the Nixon-Rockefeller ticket would find the New York governor "available."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) summed up the general reaction of the Democratic Party when he said "Rockefeller's announcement nailed down the GOP presidential nomination for Nixon."

Other Democrats twitted the Republicans for their lack of contenders and underscored the Democratic position of having at least five potential presidential contenders.

Ike Okays May 16 for Summit Parley settled finally before he leaves next week for a flying tour of Africa, had favored May 4 as the opening day of a summit meeting, responsible sources reported.

But British ambassadors in Washington and Paris — Sir Harold Caccia and Sir Gladwyn Jebb — are understood to have reported sentiment in those capitals favorable to a date in mid-May.

The Western Allies had proposed a summit conference April 27. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev countered with a suggestion of April 21 or May 4, as the Western date would conflict with the Soviet May Day celebration.

May 4 was unsatisfactory to the British because it would interfere with a British Commonwealth meeting.

Asked about reports that May 16 already has been agreed upon by the West, Hagerty said he knew nothing of that. But he said he knew of no obstacle to that date, so far as the West is concerned.

In Paris, the newspaper France-Soir said today the Western Big Three seem to have agreed to propose May 16 to the Soviet Union for the start of the Paris summit conference.

France-Soir said it had learned of the date from informed sources in Paris. Official sources here had no confirmation.

In Moscow, the leading Communist newspaper reported today that agreement to hold an East-West summit meeting next year is being viewed in the United States as victory for Soviet diplomacy.

IMMENSE SATISFACTION

Pravda said in a dispatch from New York that millions of Americans greeted with "immense satisfaction" Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's Christmas Day announcement of his readiness to attend a summit meeting.

It said many American newspapers admitted, though indirectly, that the agreement on a top-level meeting in Paris is "a new victory for Soviet diplomacy which believes personal contacts between heads of government to be the best means of settling disputes."

Beverly Hills Man, Wife Crash Victims

A Beverly Hills man and his wife were killed Saturday in a two-car collision 12 miles northwest of Marysville, Ohio.

The couple were Herman W. Rath, 57, and his wife, Esther, 59, of 18356 Bedford Rd.

Rath had been a state sales representative for the Latrobe Steel Co., Warren, the past 12 years.

Service for Mr. and Mrs. Rath will be at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Foth Funeral Home, Toledo. Place of burial is as yet unknown.

Church Youth Meet to Dispel Delinquency Tag

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's capital was invaded today by nearly 12,000 teen-agers from all parts of America, here to prove that there is no necessary link between the words juvenile and delinquency.

The young people, who arrived by special trains and chartered buses, will participate in a three-day convention sponsored by Youth for Christ International (YFC).

YFC is an interdenominational Protestant organization which conducts programs of Christian evangelism among teen-agers, particularly the four million U.S. high school students who are not members of any church.

Evangelist Billy Graham, who began his career as a member of the Youth for Christ staff in 1945, will speak to the teen-agers at the closing rally of the convention Wednesday.

No Business Planned

Although a regular Waterford Township Board meeting has been scheduled for 7:30 tonight, there will be no business of importance, according to Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson and Clerk James Seeterlin.

Mother of Lions Executive Anderson Dies at 87

Mrs. John Anderson, 87, mother of Detroit Lions president and general manager, Edwin J. Anderson of 235 Harland Rd., Bloomfield Hills, died yesterday at her home in Rockford, Ill. Burial will be Wednesday at Rockford.

Blizzards Clog Highways

Winter Punches Midlands

By United Press International

The nation's midlands took a one-two punch from winter today that stranded holiday motorists along snow-clogged highways and planted a four-engine airliner on a sod runway.

There was more bad weather to come. Blizzard conditions were forecast for eastern Nebraska and South Dakota, western Iowa and southwestern Minnesota.

A storm dumped eight inches of snow in Nebraska and Missouri and left a trail of winter misery which dipped into the Texas Panhandle.

The new storm will bring four or more inches of snow, the Weather Bureau said, and it will be driven by winds up to 50 miles per hour.

A United Airlines plane with 39 passengers aboard made an unscheduled landing at Council Bluffs, Iowa, at midnight, when the pilot lost momentary contact with the neighboring Omaha, Neb., airport. The passengers waded off the field but the airline anticipated difficulty in moving the DC6 off the 3,000-foot bogged sod.

Freezing rain was predicted for upstate New York into New England and in northern Wisconsin and lower Michigan, bringing hazardous driving conditions.

At Maryville, Mo., there was eight inches of snow on the ground and it was still snowing at 8:45 a. m., EST. The highway patrol brought stranded motorists into town and all motels and hotels were jammed. Except for snowplows and cinder trucks there was no traffic moving along highways in the area.

While winter drove hard at much of the Midwest, in some states it was almost like spring.

In the eastern Ohio valley into the Middle and South Atlantic states there were unseasonably warm temperatures — in the 50's — and in Chicago Loop shoppers and workers walked with overcoats unbuttoned. Warmth and rain erased most of the white Christmas.

Heavy fog shut down three airports in the New York area today and slowed road traffic.

International and La Guardia airports closed down at 5:30 a. m. EST. A half-hour later Newark, N. J., Air Terminal also halted all flights.

Nine automobiles were involved in a chain collision in heavy fog on the New Jersey Turnpike. At least seven persons were injured.

Judge Who Legalized Picketing Is Retiring

DETROIT (UPI)—Circuit Judge Robert M. Toms, who first ruled that peaceful picketing was legal in Michigan, is retiring Thursday.

Toms, 73, has served on the bench for more than 30 years. He recalled that in 1898 the state Supreme Court ruled there was no such thing as peaceful picketing.

The decision stood until 1930 when Toms repudiated the Supreme Court ruling in the Crawford laundry case. His decision never was appealed.

Bird Can't Halt Driver of Speeding Ambulance

DENVER (UPI)—A pheasant smashed through the windshield of an ambulance speeding a heart patient from Hudson, Colo., to Denver yesterday, but the driver — despite cuts — managed to keep control of the vehicle.

He radioed the state patrol for help and continued the run to Commerce Town where a patrolman took over.

The pheasant crashed through the windshield, spraying glass, blood, and feathers.

Sweepstakes Winner Eases Church's Burden

LUDINGTON (AP) — Because a horse named Oxo galloped home a winner of the Irish Sweepstakes at Aintree, England last March, and a parishioner held a ticket on him, the financial burden of the Ludington Community Church has been eased.

C. Dale Bannon won $140,700 when Oxo rambled under the wire at 10-to-1. And Saturday, the 48-year-old oil company distributor donated $30,000 to help the church pay for a recent addition.

A few weeks ago, Bannon gave $10,000 to the Timber Trails Boy Scout Council. He is a member of the council and a leader of the Community Church scout troop.

James E. Rice, 22, was thrown from his car when it crashed into a tree after he lost control of the wheel. He suffered multiple internal injuries and acid burns on his head and face from a spare battery.

The accident occurred on 11-Mile road near Newport road, and was reported immediately by a passerby.

Area Officers Break Up Teen-Age Drinking Party

Waterford Township police, assisted by the Oakland County sheriff's department and Keego Harbor police, broke up a teen-age drinking session at 11 p.m. Sunday after a neighbor complained of a noisy party.

Raiding police found some 40 teen-agers in a cottage at 561 Grixdale St. Empty bottles were strewn throughout the cottage and some had been thrown through the windows.

The cottage is owned by Alfred A. Smith of 279 Royal Oak St., Royal Oak, grandfather of one of the youths, Alfred Smith 17, of 490 N. Evansdale St., Bloomfield Township.

The grandfather told police he knew nothing of the party, but young Smith said his mother, Mrs. Shirley Smith, knew of the party.

Five police cars transported the teen-agers to the Waterford Township police station, where officers called parents of the youths. All were released.

Two boys escaped through a window in the men's wash room at the police station before officers had a chance to get their identification.

Surprise, Surprise— That's Key Reaction to 'Won't-Run' Rocky

WASHINGON (AP) — Delight and dismay, depending on the political viewpoint, greeted Nelson A. Rockefeller's weekend announcement that he wouldn't be a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination. But above all the reaction was surprise.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who now appears unopposed for the Republican nomination next year, kept his own counsel. He was said to be astounded by Rockefeller's Saturday announcement in Albany, and at first would not believe it.

Nixon praised Rockefeller and said he still would play a key role in the Republican Party. But he said the Rockefeller announcement would not speed up his own plans for a formal announcement of his own that he will seek the nomination. He refused to talk about possible running mates.

IKE SILENT

President Eisenhower made no comment.

A thread that ran through the comment from Republican leaders across the country was the hope that Rockefeller would reconsider and run for vice president on the Nixon ticket. But the New York governor turned that idea down.

Democratic comment generally took the line that the Republican party was in control of conservatives, that Rockefeller appeared too liberal for them.

Rockefeller's backers expressed their disappointment. New York State GOP Chairman L. Judson Morhouse said it was bad news to millions of people he said "are firmly convinced that Nelson Rockefeller can provide leadership with the vision, decision and action so essential to our nation in the fateful years ahead."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), another Rockefeller supporter, said he has "a tremendous future ahead of him" and added, "I hope that he will still see his way clear to take the vice presidential nomination, which would make a sure-winning ticket."

In this he agreed with a Nixon backer, New Jersey GOP Chairman Carl Erdman. "Our opinion polls," Erdman said, "have shown Nixon is preferred by New Jersey Republicans over Rockefeller 76 per cent to 20 per cent. Nixon for president and Rockefeller for vice president would be an absolutely unbeatable team."

SEES DEM WIN

Other comment:

Former Federal Judge Albert Levitt of Hancock, N.H., who started Rockefeller for president movement in New Hampshire: "The nomination of Nixon by the Republicans in July will mean a victory for the Democratic Party. Most of the voters who wanted Rockefeller will not work for the election of Nixon."

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa), former Republican national chairman: "It shows the Republicans can compose their differences and move as a united party."

Gov. Christopher Del Sesto of Rhode Island, a Republican: "I'm generally opposed to an elected official not serving out his term of office. I think Rockefeller ought to devote another three years to New York state."

Meade Alcorn, Republican national committeeman from Connecticut and former national chairman: "I predict there will be an overwhelming demand at the national convention that Rockefeller accept the vice presidential nomination."

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH): "Rockefeller is to be commended for placing obligation to citizens of New York above whatever personal ambition he might have."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY): "It will be good news for all Republicans that Governor Rockefeller will continue to participate in national Republican policy development notwithstanding that he will not be a candidate."

Drunk Drivers Jailed

DETROIT (AP)—Five motorists who were convicted of drunken driving over Christmas were sentenced in Detroit traffic court Saturday to jail terms ranging from 10 to 90 days. Five others accused of drunken driving will be tried later.

Inland waterways of the U.S. carry about 15 per cent of the transportation load.

Prince Charles Reads of Nativity, Touches Mother

WEST NEWTON, England (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II bowed her head with emotion Sunday night as her son and heir stood at the altar of a 15th century church and made the first official public utterance of his royal life.

The voice of 11-year-old Prince Charles was clear and composed as he read one of four lessons from the Bible at the annual service of nine carols in the Church of St. Peter and St. Paul, in this village near the royal family's Sandringham estate.

While his mother, his father Prince Philip, his sister, Princess Anne, 9, and other royal relatives looked on, Charles held the Bible firmly and read the passage from St. Matthew about the coming of the Three Wise Men to Bethlehem.

Queen Elizabeth, who is expecting her third child early next year, seemed close to tears as the young prince spoke.

French was chairman of the firm of Brooke, Smith, French and Dorrance. He was born in Three Rivers and attended the University of Michigan before moving into the advertising business in Detroit in 1916.

He is survived by his wife Natalie, a son, Sherwin, and a daughter, Mrs. Jack Bennett of Rolling Hills, Calif.

De Gaulle's Brother Dies After Surgery

PARIS (AP) — Because of mourning for his younger brother, President Charles de Gaulle today canceled receptions he had scheduled this week.

The 62-year-old brother, Pierre, died in the American Hospital in suburban Neuilly Saturday night after heart surgery.

Pierre de Gaulle was a banker, an army officer in both world wars, and took an active part in politics between the wars and after World War II.

He retired from political life in 1955 and since then had been active in insurance and investment firms.

Scientist's Mother Dies

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Baroness Emmy von Braun, 73, mother of U. S. rocket scientist Wernher von Braun, died in a hospital here Sunday night after an operation. The nature of the operation was not announced.

Art Firm Founder Dies

DETROIT (AP)—Roy E. Brown, 80, founder and board chairman of the Brown Art Corp., died here Sunday. He was a native of Kalamazoo but had lived in the Detroit area for more than 50 years.

Departure From Iceland Pleasing for Everyone

Early next year the U.S. Defense Department will withdraw one battalion combat team of 1,200 men now guarding NATO installations from Iceland for reassignment. Some 4,000 Americans, mostly Air Force personnel at the Keflavik Air Base, radar stations and a naval facility, will remain.

Stationed there under a 1951 treaty with Iceland, a NATO partner, these men help guard the Atlantic Seaway to the Arctic. In 1956 Iceland formally asked NATO to withdraw American troops from the airbase by Feb. 1958 and even suggested the base itself was unnecessary. The Hungarian uprising a few months later caused a change of mind.

Duty in inhospitable Iceland is far from pleasant. Some Americans have served their year without leaving the bleak base. Suspicious of strangers, Icelanders restrict passes to 130 nightly and the uniformed men must be out of town by 10:30.

Under these conditions naturally there are morale problems and difficulties with the Icelandic government. They are by no means one-sided although Iceland's small Communist party blames Americans.

While withdrawal will remove one source of irritation, it will not weaken defense. Missile development as well as expansion of the Distant Early Warning (DEW) line will offset the change in Iceland.

Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force Chief of Staff, stressed this when he told a NATO conference that "adjustments in types of units and redisposition of military forces would accompany changes in strategic concepts" brought on by developments of missiles.

Reservists' Time, Work Bring Cheer to Children

In the hurried hours of our modern day life with its increased leisure and entertainment, it gets tougher and tougher to get people to give what they have the most of—time.

Most citizens will part with money for a worthwhile project before they will spend any of their own time on it. That's why the Naval Reserve Center's annual project of repairing toys to bring Christmas to children of less fortunate families is so wonderful.

The men of the center do the repair work themselves, and it's a loving task. This past holiday, they had received even more broken toys, and were able to bring that many more sparkles to the eyes of youngsters who faced a bleak Yuletide. In their own traditional message of accomplishment — Well done, Pontiac Naval Reservists.

U.S.-Japanese Treaty Stresses Partnership

Early this year a Tokyo district judge ruled that the presence of American troops in Japan was illegal and violated its constitution.

The matter then was taken to the supreme court which recently reversed the decision. American troops in Japan, says the court, are for Japan's own protection and in no way violate the "no war" clause in its constitution.

Under that clause Japan renounced war as a sovereign right and with it all land, sea and air forces or other war potential in order to prevent future Japanese aggression. A noisy pro-Communist minority has kept the government from attaining the parliamentary two-thirds majority needed to eliminate from the constitution the unconditional antiwar clause.

The court ruled that Japan has the "inherent right of self-defense" as recognized in the United Nations Charter and that treaties ratified by parliament are "political matters" not subject to judicial review.

Premier Kishi will be in Washington next month to sign a revised alliance. Sec. Herter has stressed the fact that the new treaty is being negotiated between two equal and independent nations and that the stationing of U.S. troops in Japan henceforth would be determined by mutual consultation.

This statement coupled with the supreme court's action has strengthened Premier Kishi's hand in dealing with leftist groups and with his country's growing prosperity and strength in the Far East.

The Man About Town

'Paula' Is Found

A Child Imbued With the Real Spirit of Yuletide

Swapping: A favorite diversion in the days following Christmas.

The Paula who sent a donation to the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, to be used to restore the health of some child there, is the daughter of of 3421 Mann Road. The identification was made through a neighbor who thought it "sounded just like Paula."

Her mother states that the whole plan was Paula's own idea. The child now feels very grateful that she acted in the true Christmas spirit and that a worthy child has received the benefits of her benefaction. Paula is a pupil in the fourth grade. The world needs more Paulas.

If you're keeping that Christmas tree for a post Yuletide showing, you'll be interested in what of Clarkston reports. She phones that it will not "moult" if you dump some plant food into the water in which it stands.

A belated Santa Claus letter comes from

with a Rochester postmark. It says: "I know you will not get this in time, but you didn't bring me what I wanted last year."

Now 76 years of age,

John M. Kellner

of 70 Washington St., commenced work as a cash boy in the Detroit city hall when ten years old, at $5 a week; was pipe organ pumper in a Battle Creek church 64 years ago, and in 1945 retired after being with the Grand Trunk Railway for 47 years.

In spite of the weather bureau or any other reports, the ice on none of the lakes in the Pontiac vicinity is safe for skating.

Friends up Fenton way have nominated

Miss Mary Surine

of that village as the champion quilt piecer. Now 76, in the past ten years she had pieced 50 quilts, some with miles of hand sewing.

Prize winner in a safety slogan contest:
Safety's principle is your interest.

A pair of squirrels are raising hob around the home of

Mr. and Mrs. August Deemster

of Waterford. They're quite reckless in chewing holes in the house and garage. When a piece of tin is nailed over any of these holes, they chew another beside it.

"Regardless of what any non-skid preparation may do to the chrome on our cars, let's have more of it," phones of Drayton Plains, who thinks we have too much chrome anyway — "and it's cheaper than hospital or funeral director bills."

Verbal Orchids to -

Dr. William A. Sears
of 161 West Howard St.; 85th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Arnett of 320 North Lake Angelus Road; golden wedding.

Orland Fessenden
of Bloomfield Hills; 80th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin S. Weaver of Sylvan Lake; golden wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Munson

There's a Moral Responsibility, Too . . .

David Lawrence Says:

Don't Count Rocky Out for 1964

WASHINGTON—Governor Rockefeller never had a chance to win the 1960 nomination for the presidency on the Republican ticket. But the same circumstances that put him out of the race this time could win the nomination for him in 1964 or 1968.

LAWRENCE

For the New York governor gave the impression in speeches on his western tour recently that he was still disassociating himself from the Eisenhower administration. It was the wrong tactic to pursue in the recovery year 1959. The main issue, of course, of the 1960 campaign is sure to be approval or disapproval of the Eisenhower administration's record.

Vice President Nixon, on the other hand, has managed to create the image of a man closely identified in almost every respect with the incumbent administration.

Governor Rockefeller's advisers, many of whom are of the so-called "liberal" school, apparently thought the line for him to take was one that would appeal to so-called "independents," especially Democrats.

But the latter don't constitute the majority of a Republican national convention, and it's to the delegates at the convention rather than the electorate as a whole that a pre-convention candidate must direct his appeal in public speeches.

DO THEY LIKE IKE?

The coming campaign itself has to be fought on whether the record of the Eisenhower administration is to be approved or repudiated.

One can already hear the President telling the voters that Dick Nixon is experienced in national governmental affairs, that he is familiar with every aspect of administration policy at home and abroad, and that if the American people want continuity they can get it only by electing the Republican nominee.

For the President to say the same thing of Governor Rockefeller, however, would have been difficult, especially since the latter had indicated in some of his recent speeches that he doesn't go along with the administration on certain policies.

Eisenhower, of course, has a natural pride in his own eight-year record and will wish to get a favorable verdict on that record from the American people. If times are good, the voters will not wish to change administrations. Continuity of foreign policy will be especially emphasized.

The voters who call themselves Democrats outnumber the Republicans by about seven or eight percentage points in the North, but while many Democrats will not wish to vote the Republican ticket they will, in effect, be doing the same thing by staying at home on election day. It's the stay-at-home, relatively contented, and in many instances indifferent Democratic voters who will help elect the Republican nominee.

If, however, economic conditions change between now and next November on the domestic front and the foreign situation takes a turn for the worse due to any mistakes the administration might make, the country would be in a mood to change administrations.

But under such circumstances it would not want a man who merely had expressed polite differences with the Eisenhower policies but would prefer a candidate who had presented himself as an articulate and vigorous opponent with a completely alternative program.

Dr. William Brady Says:

'Irrigation' Just Starts That Old Vicious Circle'

Several readers have complained lately that they fail to understand why I write about colon derangement (incorrectly called "mucous colitis") and yet hold that real colitis, amebic, infectious or ulcerative is not a suitable subject for a health column. Some of these readers say other doctors who quack it in the newspapers seem to be less squeamish . . .

DR. BRADY

Now let me tell you why I make with the yak about colon derangement, yet decline to hold forth on colitis. Colon derangement is a functional disorder which may happen to anybody who acquires morbid notions about "regulation" or the bowel, "autointoxication" or intestinal "toxemia" or "mucous-producing" foods or "internal baths."

In the nineteenth century and the first quarter of the present century physicians confused colon derangement with colitis. The victim of colon derangement would be just as likely to have real colitis as anyone else, perhaps more likely, but nevertheless it is unfortunate that even the recognized medical authorities in the past failed to distinguish colon derangement from colitis.

From McCarrison's Studies in Deficiency Disease, published in London and reproduced by photolithography by Lee Foundation for Nutritional Research, Milwaukee 3, Wis. (I forget the price of this classic), I quote:

"One of the most constant results of food deficient in vitamins is colitis. It is so frequent that it may rank as a cardinal sign of vitaminic deficiency. It may arise as a result of the absence of vitamin B alone, although it was more frequently encountered in subjects deprived of vitamins in general . . . from long-continued use of deficient foods from childhood onwards."

In Brady's Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene (for a copy send me 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) the author states that —

"Mucus secreted by the colon in normal or excessive quantity is not in itself harmful in any way, nor poisonous to the individual in any circumstance. On the contrary it protects the lining of the bowel from irritation . . ."

The irritation, too often, is by enema, "internal bath," bowel wash or colon irrigation—unnatural interference. The poor soul who cultivates the "internal bath" habit sets up a vicious circle—the more he interferes the more mucus secreted and the more mucus secreted the more frequently the poor soul irrigates . . .

This is a ridiculous situation, but people with the "mucous colitis" obsession are hard to teach. They know so much that isn't so.

There's always an excellent chance of restoring to good health victims of the "mucous colitis" obsession who are still capable of learning elementary physiology and nutrition, although Sir Robert McCarrison, M.D., D. Sc., LL.D ended the chapter on colitis with a gloomy note:

"Too often in later life dietetic treatment causes improvement only to a certain point beyond which no further alleviation occurs."

Well, anyway, you can't say I didn't warn you.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Drivers Become Irritated When I Follow the Law'

Every time, and it's frequent, I have to stop for a light at Cass Avenue and Orchard Lake, drivers around me get very put out because I stop at the white line where the law says to stop.

I was stopped there once by an officer, and I wasn't angry because I knew I was wrong. I'll bet they could find a lot of drivers without licenses at that spot.

I'll bet police officers have just as rough a time as school teachers these days. My thanks to them both. What would we do without them?

Praises Personnel of Local Hospital

We too often neglect to say thank you for everyday services in our hospitals. I was recently a patient on the maternity floor at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, and all the personnel were exceptionally pleasant and happy to take care of our every need. 'We're Paying Here for Steel Pay Hike'

I'd like to quote a few sentences from the Business Digest and Forecast for Mr. McDonald and his steel union to consider.

"Millions of labor union members . . . the best paid work force in the world . . . are constantly striking for higher pay, more holidays, shorter hours, free insurance, "coffee breaks," and generally for more money for less work.

"American goods are being priced out of competition in world markets; foreign, lower priced goods are flowing into the U. S. and causing unemployment here. Other nations are now taking gold home and reducing the value of the dollar."

As Wendell J. said, this means our cars cost more and more and cheaper foreign cars are taking a bigger percentage of the market all the time. In the long run, Pontiac auto workers are paying for all this with lost work and less wages.

'Soviet Democracy Is the Answer'

The greatest single thing in the whole world to give the biggest impetus to peace would be a revolution in Russia and the establishment of a democracy where the people vote and rule like they do here. Then the leaders couldn't possibly take the 200 million to war with lies and deceit. World peace would be guaranteed for a century to come.

'Mrs. Brill Lacks Logical Argument'

Mrs. Brill asks why churches should be exempt. She goes on to specify benefits to health, research and education if such revenues were forthcoming. She says church members are uneducated and superstitious.

If, in rebuttal to such taxation, church members were to close the doors of their many fine schools and turn over to public authority their student bodies for further education, what possible benefits would accrue individual taxpayers?

Local statistics show the annual cost per grade and high school student at approximately $250 per capita, so would the tax dollar collected equal or exceed total annual cost to absorb students attending religious schools? From a purely dollar and cents viewpoint, her reasoning shows a considerable lack of logic.

'Is This Correct . . About Rejections?'

Is it true that the current generation is so unfit that the army rejects between a third and a half of those they examine? I've heard that twice and it's hard to believe teen-agers have gotten so far out of condition. They tell me many rejections are on account of the mental side. Who knows the answer to so important a question?

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Case Records of a Psychologist:

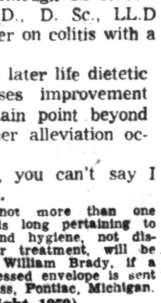

Explains Vital Statistics Figures

Alan's question should interest all of you adult readers, for most folks imagine that modern medical discoveries have helped old folks live far longer than was true 100 years ago. Notice the actual facts below. Send this Case Record to your elderly parents or grandparents.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case D-437: Alan B., aged 19, is a college sophomore.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I notice that our lifespan has been increasing steadily, due to modern medicine and good diet.

CRANE

"But do our old folks actually reach more advanced ages than those who lived 100 years ago? My grandfather lived to be 102, yet he was born way back in 1830.

"So what are the facts about old age? and how can we stretch our lifespan?"

LONGEVITY FACTS

Earlier this year Dr. Charles M. Crowe had a new book published under the title "Getting Ready For Tomorrow."

Apropos of Alan's question, Dr. Crowe mentions that back in 1850, a man who was 60 years of age could expect to live 15.6 additional years.

And in the year 1953, a man aged 60 could expect to live 15.8 years longer, so you can readily see that elderly people are not showing much increase in lifespan, despite modern medical care.

"Yes, Dr. Crane, but how do you medics explain the fact that our average length of life nowadays has risen to almost 70?" you may ask.

Well, most of that lengthening of the "average" lifespan is due to eliminating the death of babies or children in early grade school.

About 100 years ago scarlet fever and typhoid, as well as diptheria and other contagious ailments cut a terrible swath among the youngsters.

But if they managed to survive til adulthood and then reached the age of 60, they were quite immune to most diseases, so they could expect to live almost as long as 60-year-olds today.

"But, Dr. Crane," Alan objected, "doesn't the early diagnosis of cancer and its modern treatment help extend the lifespan of current old folks?

"And what about insulin for the diabetics? Plus better food and more uniform heating, as well as the antibiotics to prevent pneumonia?"

Alan is quite correct in suggesting that these medical aids have added many years to the lifespan of older folks.

But those gains apparently are almost completely offset by the ravages of tobacco as regards lung cancer and especially heart trouble.

Furthermore, the automobiles are killing almost 40,000 per year, not to mention almost 2,000,000 yearly cripples, many of whom have their lives shortened by such injuries.

As a result, the middle aged folks in 1960 have very little chance of living much longer than the middle aged people in 1860 when Abraham Lincoln was first elected president of the U.S.A.

But if you men and women of this generation wish to extend your lifespan, then stay slender; avoid tobacco and liquor; and drive your cars with great care.

Moreover, stay active as long as possible. Resist the modern "siren" of an easy chair in front of the TV set, for your legs atrophy from long sitting and soon you become bedfast.

Also, stay active in your neighborhood church, for spiritual tonics are just as vital to the health of elderly folks as liver and iron therapy.

Team up with God Almighty so you can ask Him to take over the night shift for you, and you will sleep like a baby, without tranquilizers or sleeping pills!

Subway Strike Looms in N.Y.

New Year's Revelers May Be Stranded in Times Square

NEW YORK (AP)—Four thousand transportation workers have authorized a strike aimed at halting all subways and buses in the city the minute 1960 arrives.

Such a strike could create a monumental jam of revelers in this city famous for its Times Square New Year's Eve throngs.

Members of the Transport Workers Union packed the Manhattan Center Sunday to unanimously endorse the strike.

However, the TWU has never before struck the subway system. It has threatened to often and has taken countless strike votes. The union last stopped the operation of private bus lines in 1953. But it was another union—the Motormen's Benevolent Assn., now merged with the TWU—that conducted an eight-day subway strike in December 1957.

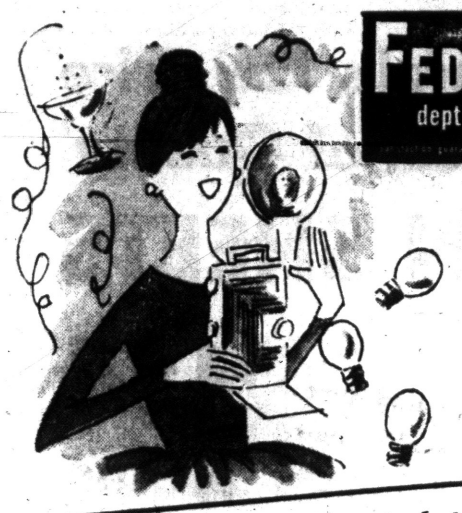

A special committee set up by Mayor Robert F. Wagner meets today with representatives of the union, the Transit Authority and seven private bus lines to try to avert a strike. At the same time, another committee of the city department heads meet to talk about how to handle such a strike should it come.

Long-Range Cold War Planning Called Vital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A private research organization warns that America's failure to engage in long-range planning for the cold war with Russia could lead to one of the great tragedies of world history.

The National Planning Association said the failure of both government and private groups to prepare for the future was a basic weakness. It said the nation has failed to develop its full strength both at home and abroad.

The association made public yesterday a policy statement advocating more long-range planning in 12 areas, including national security, farming, health and education, natural resources and labor

Girl Survives Crash of Plane Killing 3

RUSTON, La. (AP) — Virginia Arnold, 11, was in critical condition today from injuries suffered in a plane crash that killed her parents and a brother.

The family's private plane plunged into a field Sunday near Sibley, 15 miles northeast of here, killing Mr. and Mrs. Obert G. Arnold Sr. of Duncan, Okla., and their son, Obert Jr., 20.

James Dugdale, a farmer, found Virginia still strapped in her seat about 15 yards from the wreckage.

Aid Will Be Based on It

U. S. Housing Chief Calls Inter-Urban Plans Vital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal housing chief has called for intercommunity urban planning to head off a trend toward "muscle-bound metropolises with stranded suburbs, overtaxed to maintain minimum service."

Housing Administrator Norman P. Mason, in making the plea, also announced that his agency will base its aid to communities on the degree of areawide cooperation shown by the individual localities.

This policy, Mason said, is in accord with the 1959 Housing Act which authorized 20 million dollars to help state and urban planning activities. Mason said it directs that such grants "to the maximum extent feasible, cover entire urban areas having common or related urban development problems."

How this will be implemented was explained in a separate statement by Federal Urban Renewal Commissioner David M. Waters. He said states applying for planning assistance to smaller towns will be required to show that such planning will embrace the total urbanized area, including fringe areas and adjoining localities.

Metropolitan, state and regional planning proposals must encompass unified planning for the area involved rather than only portions of it, Walker said.

Such planning also must cover the basic essentials for sound urban development. This includes comprehensive land use studies to guide residential, commerical and industry expansion and projections of necessary public works — such as streets, throughways, schools, sewer, water and recreational facilities.

Congress has allocated 20 million dollars for urban renewal planning. About nine million has been committed and appropriated. Another two million has been appropriated for the current fiscal year that started July 1. States or communities must match the federal grants.

"It is estimated that in the next decade our urban population will increase by another 30 million persons," Mason said. "Unless we prepare now to handle this influx properly, we can destroy the very benefits that urban living offers."

Mason said that properly directed urban growth can enrich the growing communities of home owners "but failure to recognize the urban challenge can undermine it."

Failure, he said, will mean "declining central areas which are the prime energy source for employment, cultural, and distribution facilities for the entire area; and with mounting municipal costs and crime and delinquency rates."

The Pacific ocean comprises about one-half of the world's water surface, is larger than the entire land surface, and covers about one-third the entire area of the globe.

Father Rescues Four of Family

But Fails to Save Girl as He Uses Truck to Snatch Fire Victims

MONROE (AP) — Warren Krause backed his dump truck against his burning home in nearby Exeter Township yesterday and managed to rescue his wife and three of his children. A fourth child died in the flames.

The fire victim was six-year-old Gay Krause.

The 36-year-old father was awakened by smoke and flames to discover the two-story house ablaze. He failed in an initial attempt to reach a second floor bedroom where his daughters, Trudy, 7, Joy, 4 and Gay, were sleeping.

Krause managed to carry a son, Ronald, 4, to safety from a living room couch where he had been sleeping, then returned to carry his wife, Eva, outside.

Krause, who is in the house wrecking business, backed his truck against the burning home, climbed atop it and smashed a window on the second floor. He crawled inside, handing down Trudy and Joy to his wife. But smoke and flames kept him from reaching the other girl.

Gay was found by firemen lying on the floor of her bedroom.

Says Injunction May Be Sought to Hold Vets Fund

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI)—An injunction may be sought to prevent use of the Veterans Trust Fund as a means of easing Michigan's cash crisis, Grand Traverse Circuit Judge Charles L. Brown said today.

Brown, chairman of the board of the trust fund, said he had heard there was a possibility action would be started by a chartered veterans organization or as a taxpayers suit.

Brown, an Air Force reserve colonel, said his board might consider action but emphasized he could not speak for the board until it meets on the matter, possibly in Detroit next week.

Willkie's Brother, 65, Succumbs in Rest Home

OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP)—Herman Willkie, younger brother of the late Republican presidential nominee, Wendell L. Willkie, died today at a rest home where he had been a patient six years. Willkie, 65, had been ill since he was stricken in Berlin in 1952 while on a State Department mission.

A former meat packing and distilling industry executive, Willkie spent 17 years of his life engaged in government work. A native of Elwood, Ind., Willkie had a home in Indianapolis where his widow, Helen, and their four children now live.

Estimate State Income Up 11 Per Cent Over '58

DETROIT (UPI)—Business Week Magazine today estimated total personal income in Michigan for 1959 at $18,424,000,000, an increase of 11.3 per cent over 1958.

The magazine also predicted total personal income in Michigan for 1960 would reach $19,935,000,000 an increase of 8.2 per cent over 1959.

Fog Cloaks Burglary Outbreak

With heavy fog masking their activities, burglars in Pontiac were busy over the holiday weekend.

Fourteen reports of break-ins were received by Pontiac Police Saturday and Sunday.

Someone broke a window in an attempted burglary of Mandalari's Market, 402 Central St. Nothing was reported missing.

Lee Foster, 354 S. Marshall Blvd., reported that someone entered his home and stole a wallet containing $46. Foster told police his wife had left her key in a door.

Samuel Storey, 365 S. Anderson St., reported someone entered his home through an unlocked door and stole an electric razor valued at $35 and a wallet containing $20.

Someone broke a window to enter the Foster Kilby Supply office, 837 Auburn Ave. An unused cash drawer was pried open, but nothing reported missing.

The Perry Friendly Market, 1220 N. Perry St., was entered. It has not been determined what is missing.

Mattie Fitzgerald, 401 S. Jessie St., reported someone broke into her home. Although nothing was found missing, the intruders smashed two vases and caused $150 in damages.

The City Beverage Co., Inc., 117 Turk St., was entered. It has not been determined if anything is missing.

An undetermined amount of change from vending machines was taken by thieves who broke into the Leading Engineering Corp., 350 S. Sanford St.

Amos Hodge, 431 Central St., reported a break-in at home. Nothing was missing.

Thieves who broke into the Cut-A-Way Market, 71 Auburn Ave., took five cases of wine, 50 cartons of cigarettes and $25 from a cash register.

The Hamilton Grocery, 388 Franklin Rd., was burglarized and $49 worth of cigarettes and $8 in change stolen.

Roscoe Zimmer, 219 Willard St., reported his home burglarized. The intruders took a purse containing $75 and a camera valued at $20.

An undetermined amount of change and cigarettes was taken by burglars who broke into the Downtown Car Wash, 88 N. Perry St.

The Pontiac Select-A-Drink office at 16 Ivy St. was broken into by burglars who took a safe. It contained no money.

Noted Southern Figure Is Dead

Phillip Fox, 72, Fought for Ku Klux Klan Reins; Jailed 9 Years

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Phillip E. Fox, a spectacular and at times sensational figure in the public affairs of both Texas and Georgia, is dead at 72.

Fox was active with Dr. Hiram Wesley Evans in a struggle for control of the old Ku Klux Klan in the early 20s. In what was described as a bitter personal feud, he walked into the Atlanta, Ga., office of Capt. William Coburn, also a Klan leader, and fatally shot him.

The slaying caused a national sensation.

Fox received a life sentence and served nine years in prison at Milledgeville, Ga., before Eugene Talmadge, then governor, paroled him in 1933. A year later he received a full citizenship pardon from Gov. E. D. Rivers.

Fox died Sunday night of a heart attack.

Sticking With France

NOUMEA, New Caledonia (UPI) —The tiny South Pacific islands of Wallis and Futuna have voted 94 per cent in favor of remaining an integral part of the French Republic, unofficial returns showed today.

Celery Seized by FDA for Too Much Pesticide

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) recently seized "a number of shipments" of celery produced by a grower who used too much pesticide on his crop, it was disclosed yesterday.

FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick did not identify the grower except to say he has some large plots of celery in Florida.

Larrick said the grower "will not dare" ship more celery unless he removes the excess pesticide.

3 Strong Earthquakes Reported in 18 Hours

WESTON, Mass. (UPI) — Officials at Weston Observatory of Boston College today reported three "strong" earthquakes during an 18-hour period.

At least one of the quakes occurred near the Kamchatka Peninsula in Siberia, on the Pacific coast of the U.S.S.R.

Judge Still Has Faith in His Shock Treatment

MARSHALL (UPI)—Despite two boys who slipped a second time from the straight and narrow, Circuit Judge Alfonso A. Magnotta is still convinced that solitary confinement on bread, milk and vitamin pills is a good way to rehabilitate young law-breakers.

"You can't expect a miracle in every case," Magnotta said today, but "I'm convinced that the program is sound and will work out in the great majority of cases."

Magnotta said he planned to continue the solitary sentences and that "I think we'll be able to achieve rehabilitation in at least 75 per cent of the cases. That's a pretty good batting average."

The judge said he was "disappointed, naturally," that two of the youths he sent to solitary for brief terms instead of to prison had fallen back into the arms of the law.

But he said that perhaps these two cases would be beneficial in the long run since they might convince other youths that second offenses will be dealt with sternly.

Magnotta has sentenced a total of 15 youths to solitary on bread, milk and vitamin pills and seven of them are still serving the sentences.

Magnotta, 46 and father of nine children, said he believes that a short spell in solitary can help jar a youth into thinking about where crime will lead him. Also, he said, one of his main concerns is keeping young people, who are capable of rehabilitation, out of prison if possible.

Magnotta said he has received a great deal of mail from all over the United States and from Europe and Canada about the sentences he has imposed and that "about 95 per cent of the people support me."

However, at least one group does not support the judge. The Michigan Area Council of Liberal Churches has protested to the State Supreme Court about the solitary sentences, contending they are cruel and unconstitutional.

Magnotta handed out his first solitary confinement sentence to Richard Babic, 17, last September, shortly after taking office in August.

Babic was released late in October and thanked the judge for being lenient and giving him a chance to avoid prison.

But then last week, Babic was back in court for stealing a car and breaking into four offices.

Maknotta scolded him for ruining an opportunity to "become an upright citizen" and jolted him with a 7½ to 15 year term in prison.

Sails Junk Across Pacific

EUREKA, Calif. (UPI) — A happy-go-lucky ex-British Colonial Service agent has piloted a 36-foot junk on an incredible one-man voyage from Hong Kong to the mouth of Humboldt harbor here.

Brian Pratt, 22, said that he had no problems on his 71-day, 7,000 mile journey until he almost reached the entrance to the bay. There he says he ran "plum out of fuel."

A startled Coast Guard lookout spied the red and black vessel wallowing in heavy seas Friday shortly after sunset and sent out a ship to tow in the craft.

Platt said it was the first time he had dropped anchor or tossed out a line since departing from Hong Kong.

He explained that his voyage originated in Singapore, from which he departed in a yacht. He had decided that he "served long enough" in the Colonial Service and thought that he might like to work in Canada.

He sailed to Hong Kong, but was dissatisfied with the relatively easy method of transportation. It was here that he spied the sturdy teakwood junk. It had been built in January 1959. He purchased it, added an auxiliary engine

"I never had any worry," the sun-tanned adventurer told newsmen. But he went on to point out that "I lost the mainmast 600 miles north of Midway. The sea was rough and the foremast went over off the American coast." The four-masted vessel was not equipped with any lifeboat, although it carried two life buoys.

He praised his vessel, named the "High Tea." "I never would have lost those masts except that the strong China fir masts all come from Communist China and I had to get ones of second-hand Australian timber. A mast has to bend in the wind, you know. These didn't."

The first land he spied after two months and 9 days of sailing was Trinidad Bay, some 150 miles north of original target of San Francisco.

Electronic System 25 Years Old

Michigan Pioneered in Wirephoto

By The Associated Press

Wirephoto—sending pictures over telephone circuits—has signaled two "firsts" for Michigan newspapers.

In 1935 the Detroit News was a part of the first national wirephoto network, operated by the Associated Press.

Ten years later nine Michigan newspapers formed the first state wirephoto network in the nation. It still is the only one in Michigan.

Now there are 25 such state networks. Combined with the AP's national network, they form the greatest medium in the world for exchange of news and feature pictures.

The Kalamazoo Gazette published the first Associated Press wirephoto ever sent on a state network. The picture showed U. S. troops in Hanover, Germany. That type of picture was common in the spring of 1945, the closing days of the war in Europe.

But this picture was unusual in that it hit the streets in Kalamazoo only a day after it was made.

Detroit had been on the national network since it started in 1935. But there were no state networks and papers outside of Detroit received their pictures by mail or bus, a slow process.

Then the Associated Press, eight Booth newspapers and the Detroit News got together to set up the first state network. J. K. Walsh, then editor of the Kalamazoo Gazette; Ralph Bastien, then vice president of the Booth group, and Carl Saunders, editor of the Jackson Citizen-Patriot, were among the key men in establishing the network.

The network formally opened July 10, 1945. But the Gazette showed it could be done with the test equipment April 20 of that year.

At first the network could only handle pictures sent from Detroit. The bureau there received the pictures from the national network and relayed them on to the state points. Negatives only could be received, which meant the negatives had to be developed at each paper and prints made from them.

Each paper had to be alerted to a transmission and the picture was sent through the paper's switchboard on telephone lines used only for the specific time of the picture, the way a long distance phone call would be made.

Strides were rapid. Now most of the papers receive the pictures on AP photofax machines, which give them a print ready to use. The picture is received automatically. No one needs to tend the machines.

Now there are 13 transmitters scattered around the state at network points. The AP also maintains transmitters at Benton Harbor, Sault Ste. Marie and Escanaba to speed the flow of pictures from those areas to member papers. The AP leases permanently wires used only for sending pictures.

Under the AP's cooperative system, if a photographer at the Port Huron Times Herald, for example, makes a good picture, he would send it on the state network. If the picture was of wide enough interest, it could also go to the national network. In the same way, papers in Michigan which belong to the Associated Press can receive pictures from all over the country.

Al Stull, an original wirephoto operator here, mused about one of the first attempts to send pictures on the network from a point outside of Detroit.

"I remember in the fall of 1945 when we first tried sending from out in the state. We had the telephone company rig a special, temporary circuit so we could send from Ann Arbor. We loaded up a truck with the equipment and hired two guys to drive it out there.

"They were supposed to arrive Friday so we could set the thing up and test it and teach the people there how to use it, then transmit football pictures Saturday.

"The truck didn't arrive Friday. It broke down on the way. They got in about midnight and left the truck at the police station. The police called the paper Saturday morning and we got the equipment set up in time and transmitted six or seven pictures. It worked fine."

Frank Nevers was sent to Detroit in the fall of 1945 as a newsphoto editor. He said he felt the constant increase in the exchange of pictures by the newspapers on the network was the main indication of the growth of the facility.

Nevers said the prison riot at Jackson in 1952 was "the highlight of the state network operation. It was a major step in wirephoto expansion."

During the riot, he said, AP photographers at the scene transmitted pictures for the AP papers. Many newspapers sent their own photographers to the scene. They sent pictures back to their papers on the network, and many were made available to all the papers.

"We transmitted close to 100 pictures," Nevers recollected.

Walsh, now retired and living in Galesburg, said "I wanted the network and I pushed for it. I remember we had a lot of technical problems at first but we had faith in the network and it proved we were justified."

The original newspapers on the state network were the Detroit News, the Ann Arbor News, the Bay City Times, the Flint Journal, the Grand Rapids Press, the Jackson Citizen-Patriot, the Kalamazoo Gazette, the Muskegon Chronicle and the Saginaw News.

All of those are still on the network and new additions are the Detroit Free Press, the Detroit Times, The Pontiac Press, the Port Huron Times Herald, the Battle Creek Enquirer and News, the Lansing State Journal, the Midland Daily News and the University of Michigan Department of Journalism.

Craftsmanship

The Cadillac motor car for 1960 is the end product of the world's most skilled craftsmen. It is, as all Cadillac motor cars have always been, built to quality standards—never to price alone. To this end Cadillac has conceived and developed a score of precision-building techniques. A recitation of all would fill volumes. But, you will begin to learn what they mean to the Cadillac owner when you take the wheel. And you can do so this very day, for your Cadillac dealer now has his normal complement of cars. Try it very soon!

The Value of A GOOD CREDIT RECORD

The value of having a good credit record is far more than just being able to borrow money. Today it is both a privilege and a necessity for most people — It is extended as a courtesy and a convenience to those who protect their record by buying only what they know they can pay for and paying as agreed. A record of how you pay your credit accounts is kept by the Credit Bureau. It's an open book available to all Credit Bureau members — If your record on file is good, you will find it easy to establish your credit with new people, even in different cities — It's a mark of character in business circles — It pays to keep this record good.

Michigan Soon Will Ask for More Water Projects

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) said Saturday the Eastern states will challenge the West's formerly undisputed claim to a lion's share of the federal public works budget.

The dry West historically has recognized the importance of water and built multi-million dollar dams and storage facilities to husband the priceless commodity.

"The water-rich states have not been careful in guarding their treasure," Hart said, adding that hearings conducted by the Senate Select Committee on National Water Resources indicated an increasing awareness of the need for water control measures.

The East never will need or ask for the vast sums required in the "dry or high regions," Hart said, but for help in establishing small watershed control management projects. He said the new demand cannot replace money earmarked for arid Western areas, but must be an added expenditure.

He said that many Eastern states must be educated to the need for pollution control measures. Much of this will be privately financed, Hart predicted, with industry carrying perhaps a larger share of the load than local, regional or federal governments.

Industry increasingly demands assurance of a steady supply of water before locating in a given community, he said. He quoted the President's Materials Policy Commission which as early as 1952 anticipated that "by 1957, water supply may be the most important factor affecting industrial location."

Irrigation, once associated almost wholly with the West, is being used more and more in the east to supplement rainfall, Hart said. In Michigan alone, he said, the increase has amounted to about 10 per cent a year.

"It may come as a shock to find that Eastern states like Michigan must do something about their water supply," he said. "But no one who has looked ahead at our future supply and demand figures has any doubt whatsoever that water needs will not be met unless significant development measures are taken."

Fear, Hope Mushroom From the Fateful Fifties

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Staff Writer

In three more days, a decade ends and history turns the page on the 1950s.

It is a long page, packed with spectacular, terrifying and heartening developments. It records new concepts swiftly brought to reality, radical changes, new visions of the future, sharp breaks with the past. And it is marked by two clearly defined characteristics, shadow and light.

The shadow: A hydrogen bomb incinerated an island in 1953. A Russian rocket capable of carrying such a bomb accurately hit the moon in 1959. Rocket-armed submarines, powered by the atom, prowled unbelievable distances without surfacing.

The Free World established launching bases for intermediate missiles around the world. The Russians replied that they have the ICBM, capable of reaching any spot on earth — and that they are mass-producing it on assembly lines.

Newspaper headline of Oct. 2, 1952: "Stalin Says War Is Inevitable Between Communism and Capitalism."

The light: Atomic reactors began generating electricity for homes and factories. Medical science swept forward in giant strides with the Salk vaccine, new drugs for mental illness, isotopes and other weapons in the battle against cancer.

Nations — although political enemies in some instances — pooled efforts in the greatest study of the physical earth ever conducted. The centuries-old dream of a united Europe came closer to reality.

Europeans formed the Iron and Steel Community in 1952, Euratom in 1958, and the common market patterns of 1959.

Apparently reversing the policy of his predecessors, Nikita Khrushchev said in 1959, "Let us disarm and compete in peaceful coexistence."

LIGHT AND SHADOW

Light and shadow: Red China, openly aggressive, bathed Tibet in blood. The Dalai Lama fled and told his story to millions of horrified Buddhists in the Orient. Chinese troops invaded Indian border points.

The result of these actions — sharp anti-Chinese or anti-Communist reactions in nations previously friendly. A similar pattern developed in the Middle East.

Arab nations, previously drifting toward the Communists, were angrily accusing Russia and Red China of subversion and meddling by the end of the decade.

Marshal Tito pulled Yugoslavia out of the Communist bloc. But his was still a Communist government, standing somewhere between the authoritarian East and the free West.

MENACING CHINA

While the Russians talked peace at the end of the Fifties, Red China became steadily more menacing. Did this signal a split between Moscow and Peiping?

Or was it because the second Five Year Plan had not achieved its production goals, because the Chinese peasant was still hungry and miserable, and because a phony "enemy" was needed?

Western Europe, with American money priming the pump, rebounded from the thin post war years to burgeoning prosperity.

By 1959, the increase in per capita income in West Germany was $371 a year, in the United Kingdom $360 a year. (In the United States, $530 annually.)

Japan's industrial production more than doubled the figure for the previously great base period, 1934-36. The output of machinery quadrupled, chemicals tripled, electric power doubled. Japan became the leading ship builder in the world.

But in the under-developed nations of the Orient, the Middle East and Latin America, the annual increase in per capita income was less than $10 a year. Standards of living improved little, if at all.

POPULATIONS CLIMB

Hunger and illiteracy, aggravated by the "population explosion," lay heavily over vast areas of the earth.

Demographers estimated the world's population at 2.8 billion in 1959. They predicted it would reach 6.3 billion by the end of the century.

Red China boasted that a census taken in 1954 showed the population at 601,912,371. It was increasing by 12 million a year.

At that rate, there would be more than a billion Chinese on earth before the end of the century. China grew steadily hungrier.

United Nations experts said more than half the people in the world, over 10 years of age, are illiterate.

The gap between the rich nations and the poor was rapidly — and dangerously — widening.

Scientists visualized using atomic energy for increasing food production in hungry countries by irrigating their arid land. They visualized "cattle of the sea," a method in which edible fish would be bred, corraled, and marketed exactly like livestock.

They looked to the day when weather would be controlled, through drawing cold air from the poles and warm air from the equator, again to increase food production and alleviate the penalties of poverty.

"Our age," said the historian Arnod Toynbee, "will be remembered, not for its horrifying crimes or astonishing inventions, but because it is the first age since the dawn of history in which mankind dared to believe it practical to make the benefits of civilization available to the whole human race."

WONDERS WITHIN REACH

Thus, in these 10 years, the single most startling fact emerged, a reality clearly spelled out in the shorthand of science:

Today, technology can spread universal death or provide universal abundance. It can make tomorrow unbelievably bright or the most horrible since time began.

The Fifties were more than a decade. They were an age.

For Americans, what kind of an age?

Six months after the dawn of the decade, the Cold War turned hot, confronting Americans with a new set of brutal realities.

Before dawn on June 25, 1950, six North Korean infantry divisions, armed and trained by the Russians, attacked South Korea. They poured across Parallel 38, an artificial border, and swept southward.

Immediately, President Truman ordered American land, sea and air forces into action. Only five years after the end of World War II, Americans were dying again on foreign battlefields — for reasons and principles not clearly understood at the time.

By Thanksgiving, the war was "won." The North Koreans were shattered. American soldiers standing on the Yalu River, looked at Red China on the opposite bank. Other units were within 25 miles of the river.

Suddenly, hordes of Red Chinese burst from concealment in the savage, forbidding mountains. Four days later, the 8th Army was in full retreat.

V-E Day and V-J Day, the ecstasy and relief, were ashy memories now.

The shock of events in Korea, and a dispute in high places, then touched off the "Great Debate" in the United States.

In April, 1951, Truman suddenly recalled Gen. Douglas MacArthur. The Senate opened "An inquiry into the military situation in the Far East and the facts surrounding the relief of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his assignments in that area."

The hearings lasted seven weeks. They filled 3,000 pages.

The "Great Debate," however, raged far beyond the halls of Congress. It covered much more than the dismissal of Gen. MacArthur.

So the Fifties began as the Age of Anxiety.

To some degree, the label is still accurate for this decade. But American reaction to the shocks that followed suggests that another term may be equally appropriate.

The Korean War exposed the naked menace of the Communist powers. There was to be no real peace in the world, only varying degrees of tension.

Very soon, too, Americans would discover that the United States had become vulnerable to hideous injury from Communist weapons.

HARD FACTS FACED

In the Fifties, they faced up to these facts. They were to be subjected to anxieties, alarms and stresses for years. No easy formula for security, no swift and simple solution to the problems of the Cold War would be forthcoming.

It may well be that historians will mark this painful period, this dawning awareness of complexities and perils, as the beginning of America's Age of Maturity.

Shock followed shock in swift succession.

In another war, the Communists engulfed the French fortress at Dien Bien Phu and northern Vietnam went Red. Communist guerrillas controlled large areas of Malaya and the Philippines. The menace deepened all over the world in the early Fifties.

Far worse, the illusion of American military superiority, through sole possession of the A-bomb, vanished quickly. The Russians developed that weapon and the H-bomb.

Part of this swift change, it appeared, was the work of spies and defectors who obtained access to American nuclear secrets. Some were Americans. What diabolical force had so perverted their loyalty?

Then came two great disappointments.

DEATH OF STALIN

On March 5, 1953, Josef Stalin died. Four days later, the late John Foster Dulles, secretary of state, cautiously suggested that changes in the Soviet government might improve prospects of peace. But nothing changed under Malenkov or Bulganin.

In July 1955 President Eisenhower attended a Summit Conference in Geneva. It ended on a note of bright optimism. But the "Spirit of Geneva" soon evaporated.

New and frightening terms came into common use, "fallout," "Strontium 90," "massive retaliation," "massive deterrents."

Leading scientists disagreed flatly over the danger-level of radioactivity in the atmosphere from testing nuclear weapons. Who could you believe? In any case, what could you do?

SOVIETS STEAL MARCH

On Oct. 5, 1957, Russia shot the first satellite into outer space. Moscow had publicly announced, four months earlier, that preparations were complete for this spectacular feat. Inexplicably, however, the statement went unnoticed in the United States.

In some cases, the immediate reaction bordered on hysteria. What was wrong with American intelligence? Why had Washington failed to prepare the people for this psychological shock? What was the status of American rocketry? What were the military implications of the satellite?

"Sputnik," "Lunik," "orbiting" and "blast-off" became household words.

So, in the Fifties, began the Age of Space. On Jan. 31, 1958, with Explorer I in orbit, the United States entered the new age.

Not long afterward, Khrushchev began to talk tougher. "We will bury you," he said. The successful moon shots showed the accuracy of the guidance systems in the Russian rockets. "Our rockets will fly automatically," he said. In 1959, he delivered what Americans interpreted as an ultimatum on Berlin. He set what looked like a deadline.

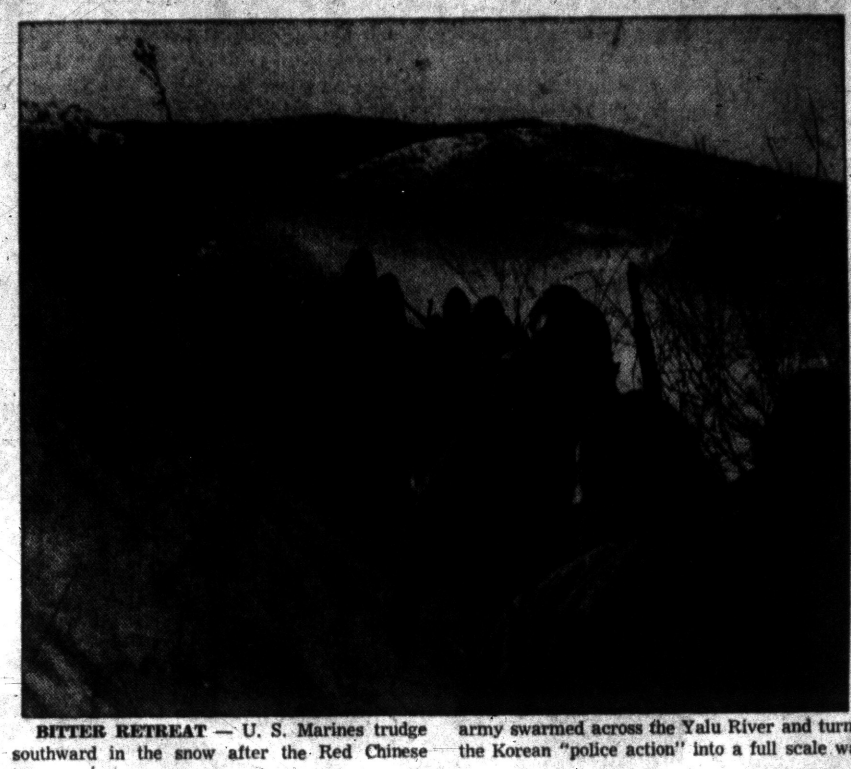

"We will not budge an inch on Berlin," President Eisenhower replied. Far from panicking, Americans approved.

Khrushchev came to the United States on a visit. One sign that met his eye said, "We don't always agree with you but we want peace with you." Americans treated him neither as an enemy or a friend.

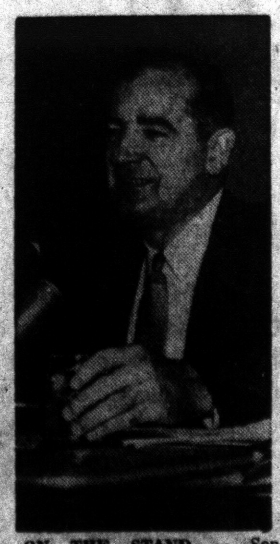

Here, surely, was the Age of Maturity. Americans had learned to live with threats and anxieties. They accepted the penalites of leadership. They stood willing to negotiate, but not for peace at any price.

WHAT'S IN STORE? — With the Department of Commerce census clock showing the estimated U. S. population for the last second of 1959, this montage shows a family ready for the Sixties.

BITTER RETREAT — U. S. Marines trudge southward in the snow after the Red Chinese army swarmed across the Yalu River and turned the Korean "police action" into a full scale war.

ON THE STAND — Sen. Joseph McCarthy testifies during "Army-McCarthy" hearings in 1954.

This was one of the most important developments of the Fifties, the beginning of America's Age of Maturity in world affairs.

In terms of internal affairs, the Fifties constitute one of the angriest, most strife-torn decades in American history since the Civil War.

A great and lacerating conflict swirled around the nation's schools. The struggle between labor and management produced the longest steel strike in history.

The old issue of public versus private ownership of electric power came back into the arena. Juvenile delinquency, while difficult to measure with precision, apparently reached an all-time high in this decade.

And a wracking, agonizing issue began to form in the very dawn of the Fifties.

On Feb. 9, 1950, a burly, black-haired man stood on a public platform in Wheeling, West Va., and said to his audience, "I hold here in my hand . . ."

He was Sen. Joseph Raymond McCarthy of Wisconsin.

The paper in his hand, he said, contained a list of Communists "working and making policy" in the State Department. He said the secretary of state knew these people.

For five years, from that winter day in Wheeling to a roll call in the Senate at the end of 1954, McCarthy was seldom far from the center of the American stage, moving in the hot spotlight of terrible controversy.

In this period, new terms came into the American lexicon—McCarthyism," "guilt by association," "loyalty risk," "Fifth Amendment Communist."

McCARTHY'S THEME

His main theme, boiled down, was that "traitors" in government were shaping the policies of the United States. It carried fearful implications by reason of the timing.

This was the period, the early Fifties, when spies were being caught and convicted of passing American weapons secrets to Russia, when Russia acquired the big bombs, and when the Communist menace was becoming hourly more apparent.

McCarthy never pinpointed the number of "known Communists" he said were in the State Department. At various times, he cited figures ranging from 57 to 205, with other totals between.

It was McCarthy's methods that shocked and infuriated many Americans. Many others, however, felt the end justified the means.

NEW STORM GATHERS

The McCarthy story had not yet ended before the next great storm began rumbling over America.

On May 17, 1954, the Supreme Court handed down a ruling in the case of Oliver Brown v. the Board of Education of Topeka. Chief Justice Warren wrote in his opinion:

". . . We conclude that in the field of public education the doctrine of 'separate but equal' has no place. Separate educational facilities are inherently unequal."

The court said desegregation should take place "with all deliberate speed."

The decision was unanimous.

Soon afterward, de-segregation lawsuits began to be filed in courts in the Southern states. Judges, legislators, school boards, and millions of parents pondered the problem.

State Legislatures wrote "pupil placement" laws and laws empowering the governors to close the schools where a Federal court ordered integration.

In Arkansas and Virginia public schools actually did close their doors. The name "Autherine Lucy" appeared in newspaper headlines across the land.

National guardsmen escorted Negro children to a school in Sturgis, Ky. A Baptist clergyman in Clinton, Tenn., was beaten when he took a group of Negro children into the high school.

The great climax came in a pleasant city in Arkansas.

"Little Rock" today is more than a name, it is a milestone.

The most violent chapter in the story began Sept. 4, 1957, when Gov. Orval E. Faubus ordered units of the Arkansas National Guard to surround Central High School in Little Rock to prevent Negro students from entering.

After court orders, a Faubus-Eisenhower conference, and mob riots, federal troops entered Little Rock Sept. 24.

They rolled in trucks across the bridge at dusk.

There were bayonets on the rifles. Whether live ammunition was in the magazine, they wouldn't say. They wouldn't answer any questions. "I don't care to discuss it, mister," a paratroop sergeant said, crisply.

FIXED BAYONETS

It was an incredible sight. And the next day, Sept. 25, was even more incredible — troops advancing on the crowds with bayonets at the ready, driving people from lawns and porches, a man with blood streaming down his face.

Southerners were outraged. But mail, telegrams and a long distance telephone call showed the depth of feeling in the North as well. The phone call came from a woman in Cincinnati, a total stranger.

"What would happen," she asked, "if some of us came to Little Rock and escorted those children into school?"

"There's a good chance that you'd get killed."

"If that's what it takes to show them," she said, "perhaps it's time for some of us to get killed."

As of today, Little Rock still stands as the fever-pitch point in the fearful struggle. But the story is far from ended.

Figures compiled by the Southern Education Reporting Service, which describes itself as "an impartial fact-finding agency," show an estimated total of nearly three million Negroes enrolled in public schools in 17 Southern and border states and the District of Columbia.

Of these, the report indicates, about 24 per cent are now in "integrated situations."

This controversy, which began in the Fifties, goes on into the next decade and perhaps even longer.

LABOR AND MANAGEMENT

The Turbulent Decade saw the McClellan Senate committee uncover corruption in labor and management relations and brought lurid disclosures of the misuse of union funds.

Dave Beck, erstwhile president of the Teamsters, was indicted for embezzelment in 1957 and sentenced to prison in 1958. New labor legislation, the Landrum-Griffin bill went into the books, the first since the Taft-Hartley law of 1947.

The Dixon-Yates electric power contract and Hell's Canyon Dam in Idaho symbolized the struggle over the ownership of the sources of power production.

But meanwhile, the Atomic Energy Commission and the Duquesne Light Co. jointly put into operation a nuclear power plant at Shippingport, Pa. A number of smaller reactors, largely for experimental purposes, went into operation.

In Illinois, New York, Massachusetts and Michigan, atomic plants with capacities of 100,000 kilowatts and more were under construction.

IKE'S ILLNESSES

President Eisenhower's three illnesses brought another grave problem into public attention.

The Constitution provides that the vice president shall assume the duties of the President in case of his death, disability, resignation or ouster.

It does not, however, spell out how a decision shall be reached that he is incapable of carrying out his duties, nor who should make the decision.

On March 3, 1958, James Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced that Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon, and Atty. Gen. Rogers had worked out a three-point formula under which the vice president would take over the presidency, if necessary.

But it did not clear away all legal doubts.

"I don't see how he (the vice president) can exercise the powers and duties without taking the oath as President," said Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex). "Once he takes that oath, he is the President."

Americans came to the end of the Fifties with more of everything, more wealth, more cars, more schools and churches, more gadgets, more babies — and more self-doubt — than ever before.

A vague shadow of uneasiness spread across the land.

"There is an overwhelming feeling here that somehow we have lost our way," wrote James Reston, Washington correspondent of the New York Times. "Nobody seems to know just how or why, but everybody feels that something's wrong."

Children from 9 to 12 years of age show greater nervousness and have more fears, anxieties and worries these days than in past years. That is the opinion of many of approximately 1,300 educators who have worked with children of those ages during the past four years.

Contrasting today with the 1930s, Dr. Charles Frankel, professor of philosophy and sociology said, "Our society has met many great challenges and quite successfully in other years. But today it is drifting and has no sense of purpose."

Again and again, observers of the American scene spoke of "drift" and "a lack of a sense of purpose."

How to explain this?

"We have been too much absorbed, I feel, in the mere enjoyment of a prosperous life behind our defensive curtain of nuclear power," said Secretary of State Herter.

But did this "defensive curtain" permit Americans to feel secure?

DANGER UNDIMINISHED

"It (The United States) is approaching a peak of danger the like of which has never been experienced by a great nation . . . mortal peril from an avowed enemy who is constantly growing stronger," wrote Oskar Morgenstern in "The Question of National Defense."

Were Americans worrying about an apparent unravelling in the moral fabric of their society at the end of the Fifties?

On a single day, New York newspapers published on their front pages (1) news of TV quiz rigging, (2) discovery of widespread graft in short-weight sales of meat, (3) two reporters fired after one admitted a hoax, (4) an investigation of "payola" to disc jockeys.

Time and again, children committed senseless and horrifying crimes. When asked why, they replied. . . . "I don't know. I had an impulse." Youth gangs killed members of other gangs. A sharp rise in juvenile delinquency appeared to have taken place in the latter part of the decade.

Yet young Americans were staying in school longer and going to college in greater percentages. The Census Bureau said that in 1940 the average American finished 9.3 years of school. In 1957, the figure had moved up to 11.3 years College enrollment jumped.

America presented astonishing contrasts as the Fifties came to an end—

Commentators noted the apparently widespread decline in morality.

Yet millions more Americans were going to church at the close of the decade. The total membership in 1950, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish, was 81,862,328 — or 54.2 per cent of the population. In 1959, it was 109,557,741 — or 63 per cent of the population, and the highest ratio in American history.

A cult of bearded "beatniks" arose, wearing robes and sandals, writing odd ball poems, indulging in easy sexuality.

MARRYING EARLIER

Yet young Americans were marrying early and settling down to raise larger families than their parents had. By 1959, the median age for marriage was 22.2 years for men, 29.4 years for women.

Life insurance statistics showed that between 1948 and 1958, the number of families with four children or more increased by 58.6 per cent, the number with three children rose by a spectacular 67.5 per cent!

The Gross National Product, total value of all goods and services produced, was 284.5 billion dollars in 1950. It hit an estimated 481 billion dollars for 1959.

Yet America was spending only about 5 per cent on schools.

The budget for national security more than tripled, moving from 13 billion dollars in 1950 to an estimated 45.7 billion today. This was less than 10 per cent of the GNP. (Estimated Russian outlay for defense: 25 to 30 per cent of the GNP.)

Television—until the "rigging" disclosures — stressed quiz shows, Westerns and gunplay.

The "private eye" also dominated paperback novels. Bosoms on the jacket, and unadorned sex inside, appeared to be the reason why books became best-sellers.

Yet, Dr. Grayson Kirk, president of Columbia University, pointed to an opposite trend in American culture. He said:

CULTURE BOOMS

"We may not agree on the canons of good art but we are more interested in it than ever before. We have more exhibitions to see, more galleries to frequent.

"More newspapers devote columns and pages to discussions of art . . . Has there ever been a time when so many Americans were interested in good music?"

Architects, artists and city planners frequently complained, "With All America's wealth, we seem to be able to afford everything but beauty."

Yet some 100 American cities mapped plans for revamping their downtown areas. Said Architect Edward Durell Stone:

"This need, bred in despair, may result in beautiful, park-like downtown areas, free of automobiles, with cars parked around the periphery.

"It may be that in the Fifties we have seen the start of a renaissance in the arts of this country."

So the paradoxes appeared in the many-sided mirror of the nation.

Two other great currents were running.

One was toward "Suburbia." By the end of the decade, an estimated 47 million Americans — one in four — were living in areas which could be called neither "country" nor "city."

The other was toward a society which, if graphed, would look like an onion. The majority of Americans were in the middle-and upper-middle income groups. So the center of the graph bulges. Minorities of rich and poor constitute the top and bottom. Some analysts called it a "classless society."

Statistics indicated the contours.

WELL DISTRIBUTED PROSPERITY

More than 41 per cent of all American families were earning over $5,000 a year. The New York Stock Exchange said 12,490,000 people owned publicly-held stocks, of whom 77.3 per cent had a "household income" of $7,000 annually.

The comparable figures for 1952 were 6½ million people who owned stocks. Opportunities for higher education opened for many more Americans, not only through increased income but through grants and scholarships; about one-third of the men and women of college age were actually attending college. There were many such barometers.

Out of these two characteristics, "Suburbia" and the burgeoning middle class, came another trend — toward uniformity. It appeared in dress, in tastes, in outlook, the emphasis on personal security, the packaged thought.

Americans described it in "The Man in the Grey Flannel Suit." "The Organization Man," "The Crystal Palace," "The Status Seekers." A 1959 wisecrack circulated—

"The way to achieve status is to own a bigger power lawn mower, and a smaller foreign car, than the guy next door."

This was America at decade's end, big rich, physically comfortable — and uneasy on many counts, uneasy about national security, national morality, the challenge of Communist societies.

In Washington, one American voiced the gnawing feeling that beset so many. Said George F. Kennan, former U.S. ambassador to Russia, and student of foreign affairs:

"If you ask me, as an historian, let us say, whether a country in the state this country is in today, with no highly developed sense of national purpose, with the overwhelming accent of life on personal comfort and amusement . . .

"If you ask me whether such a country has, over the long run, good chances of competing with a purposeful, serious and disciplined society such as that of the Soviet Union, I must say that the answer is 'No.' "

At the end of the Fifties, had America come to that dangerous turning point so often visible in the history of civilizations?

LITTLE ROCK RIOTS — This violent scene occurred near Central High School the day before federal troops rolled into town. Victim of the attack was Alex Wilson, a Negro reporter.

Abby Says:

Magazines Feature Smut Because It Sells So Well

DEAR ABBY: Like most teen-agers, I like to read magazines. Well, I have just returned from the newsstand. Have you seen what is put out for us to read? "I Learned About Sin From My High School Teacher. And, We Went Steady One Night too Long." Also I Was Chased by a Love-Wild Girl, and I'm Going to Marry the First Man I See!

ABBY

If it is true that teenagers are headed for the dogs, I think adults who print such magazines are pushing us in that direction. Not only are those magazines not fit to be read, but they give others the wrong impression about teenagers. Abby, what can be done?

DISGUSTED TEENAGER
(Columbus, O.)

DEAR DISGUSTED: Three cheers for you! The only reason a commodity remains on the market is because there is a demand for it. SOMEBODY must be buying this trash. If you and enough like-minded teenagers refuse to buy these magazines, they will disapper in a hurry. Don't blame the people who publish them. They don't care if it smells as long as it ell.

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter-in-law who is driving me crazy. She is a great one for talking. But each sentence she utters ends with a ripple of laughter whether she is talking about somebody's funeral or planting tulips. Any suggestions?

NERVOUS WRECK

DEAR NERVOUS: Your daughter-in-law is probably nervous too. People whose EVERY sentence ends with "a ripple of laughter" need sympathy, not criticism.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for advising mothers to keep their children at home when they come down with a "light" case of measles.

If only mothers realized the terrible injustice they are doing to others (especially to women in the early stages of pregnancy) when they allow their youngsters with measles to roam the neighborhood.

Because a little neighbor girl came to our house with a "light" case of measles, I lost the baby I wanted so much.

Perhaps I was lucky. Many women who have contracted German measles early in their pregnancy give birth to babies who are blind, deformed and mentally deficient. There are NO "light cases" of physically or mentally defective babies.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FIVE FOOT TWO, EYES OF BLUE": You have already said "I DO"—so DON'T!

You're Not Actually Wrong

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Last week my newly married son and his bride invited me and a few very close friends of mine to their house for an evening. My daughter-in-law had a dish of candy and another dish of assorted salted nuts on the coffee table for the guests to help themselves. However, none of them seemed to be doing this, so after awhile I got up and passed the dishes around to them. I understand my daughter-in-law has criticized me for doing this and resents my action very much. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

Answer: There was nothing wrong in what you did. But it is easy to see how a young bride, trying to be perfect in her new role of hostess, might resent any action that seems to imply that she needs prompting—especially by her mother-in-law.

Dear Mrs. Post: There is a young woman working in the same office building that I do whom I see quite often riding up and down on the elevator. I am very much attracted to her and would like to get to know her. Would it be proper for me to speak to her some morning or evening when we meet?

Answer: Strictly speaking, no; but you might say a simple "Good morning," and then if she answers and this becomes a daily habit, a few words about the weather, but only with some encouragement from her, might be the beginning of a friendship.

Dear Mrs. Post: The other day I went to the beauty shop to which I always go, for a permanent wave. My regular operator was busy when I arrived and so she asked one of the other girls to shampoo my hair while she finished her other customer. I would like to know if I should have given her a separate tip?

Answer: Yes.

Canned Pears Shimmer in Cool Green Gelatine

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Perhaps you are looking for a green salad to serve. We think you'll like this one from Mrs. Robert Voltmann. There's just a hint of ginger in it to contrast with the smooth taste of the pears.

Mrs. Voltmann is a musician. She is active in church work; loves to cook; and enjoys sewing.

UNDER THE SEA SALAD
By Mrs. Robert Voltmann

1 package lime gelatine
1½ cups boiling water
½ cup juice from canned pears
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vinegar
2 cups diced canned pears
2 packages (3 oz.) cream cheese
½ teaspoon powdered ginger

Dissolve gelatine in hot water. Add pear juice, salt and vinegar. Pour ½-inch layer in loaf pan. Chill until firm. Chill the rest to the syrupy stage. Place in a bowl of ice and whip to the consistency of whipped cream.

Cream ginger with cheese. Fold in whipped gelatine, then pears. Pour over layer of firm gelatine. Chill until set and serve in slices on lettuce. Serves 6.

No 'Message' for Youngsters, Just Joy

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Wilbur was a pig who enjoyed life hugely. When he learned that his owner planned to turn him into pork chops and bacon, he squealed and wept. His friend Charlotte, the spider who lived over the barn door, was moved by his plight.

All night with her spinnerets she labored to create the first of the miracles that were to save his life from murder-bent humans.

In the early morning when her web was still asparkle with dewdrops, the farm folk came out into the barnyard to read the message she had woven into its center. The message said "SOME PIG."

She is the heroine of E. B. White's "Charlotte's Web," the only modern children's classic I know about.

It's the only one I know about because it's the only modern book the children I know talk to me about. Or more properly "sputter" to me about.

They are generally so incoherent with remembered delight in it that they sound like this: "Shut up, let me tell her . . . No, 'Some Pig' WASN'T the second message . . . Oh, you never get anything straight . . . Will you shut up? . . . let me tell . . . It me tell . . ."

Thus, when some grownup promoters of juvenile books offered to produce a writer of them for me to interview, I said, "E. B. White, please." And how E. B. White explained his secret was this:

"My aim in writing is to instruct myself for I feel I am most in need of it. I also write to amuse myself for I am in need of that, too.

Many books fail because the author sets about trying to instruct children. He thinks of himself as addressing them from an elevation."

Naturally then, "Charlotte's Web" contains no social message, no sneaked-in information on the problems of forest conservation, missile manufacture, Peru's economy.

Its author doesn't use his book to instruct in the guise of telling a story.

He just wrote a story about a pig who didn't get killed because animal slaughter makes him sad, just as Hans Christian Andersen wrote one called "The Fir Tree" because the sight of dying Christmas trees in gutters made him sad.

White is able therefore to communicate his own delight in Wilbur's saved life to children.

Yes, this is a tip for a gift book for young readers. I don't like to think of children denied the permanent possession of "Charlotte's Web."

Most elm tree varieties can be grown from seed.

Rabbi Hershfield Officiates at Temple Beth Jacob

Judith Dickstein Marries Henry R. Winkelman

Rabbi Nathan Hershfield officiated at the ceremony Saturday in Temple Beth Jacob uniting Judith Dickstein and Henry R. Winkelman in marriage. Assisting Rabbi Hershfield were Rabbi Sherwin Wine of Detroit and Rabbi Sanford Saperstein of Merrick, Long Island, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dickstein of Chippewa road are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Leon G. Winkelman of Detroit and the late Mr. Winkelman.

Silk faced peau de soie fashioned the ivory bridal gown which swirled into a chapel train, giving the back of the skirt the Dior influence. Above the Empire cummerbund, Alencon lace trimmed the sabrina neckline and cap sleeves.

The gown was complemented by long, tapered ivory kid gloves and fingertip veil of tulle held by a crown of Alencon lace faced with peau de soie. Mounted on the bride's confirmation Bible was a spray of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy. A graduated single strand of pearls and matching earrings were worn.

Attendants in American Beauty peau de soie carried cascade bouquets of white and American Beauty carnations, accented with white ivy.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth Dickstein of Pontiac. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Sidney Dickstein of Hazel Park, Mrs. John Winkelman of Yonkers, N.Y., and Mrs. Fred Winkelman of Southfield. Junior attendants were Rhonda Syde of Flint and Andra Winkelman of Detroit.

Stanley Winkelman was his brother's best man. Ushers were Dr. Kenneth Dickstein, Fred Winkelman, John Winkelman and Sidney Dickstein.

A graduate of the University of Michigan School of Music, the bride is affiliated with Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music sorority. The bridegroom is a graduate of Cranbrook School, attended Wharton School of Finance and was graduated from U. of M.'s School of Business Administration. His fraternity is Phi Epsilon Pi.

After the dinner reception, the new Mrs. Winkelman changed to a blond sheer wool fitted suit with a Queen Anne collar of natural mink. Matching accessories were worn with the white orchids from her bridal bouquet.

Following a honeymoon in Montego Bay, Jamaica, the couple will live in Detroit.

Out-of-town guests attended from New York, Chicago, California and Philadelphia.

Mrs. Dickstein chose a honey shade ribbon-over-lace sheath dress and matching shoes for her daughter's wedding. An orchid was mounted on her white beaded handbag. Peacock blue silk brocade with a side drape fashioned Mrs. Winkelman's sheath dress, worn with matching shoes. She carried a gold kidskin bag topped with a corsage of camellias.

While this New York community was lighted with natural gas June 5, 1825, gas did not come into general use until about the 1888s.

MRS. HENRY R. WINKELMAN

GLORIA E. EVERETT

Gloria Esther Everett was graduated Dec. 18 from the University of Elkhart, Elkhart, Ind., as a laboratory and x-ray technician. She has accepted a position as medical laboratory technician in the Kresge Medical Center at the University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor. The parents of Miss Everett are the Rev. and Mrs. Myron Robinson Everett of Baldwin avenue. Rev. Everett is pastor of the Baldwin Avenue United Brethern Church and president of the Pontiac Pastors' Assn.

Barbara Dee Marriage Told by Parents

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Dee of Livonia announce the marriage of their daughter, Barbara Helen, to David Lee Scese, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Scese of North Perry Street.

The bridegroom's uncle, the Rev. Milton Davis, of Minerva, Ohio, read the Nov. 7 service in Martha Mary Chapel at Greenfield Village, Dearborn.

Mrs. Donald A. Dee of Dearborn attended her sister-in-law, William G. Streffon of Dearborn was best man. Guy V. Barnett of Pontiac and the bride's brother, Donald, seated the guests.

The World War II fleet of victory ships were given names of cities, towns, colleges, famous persons and some of them were also named for members of the United Nations.

Wed Saturday at Grace Methodist Church in Marquette were Nancy Sorenson, daughter of the Clyde Oliver Sorensons of Marquette and William Marshall McGuire, son of the Rev. and Mrs. William Marshall McGuire of Eileen drive.

MRS. WILLIAM M. McGUIRE

Pastor's Son Marries in Christmas Setting

Evergreens against a white-padded chancel rail created a holiday setting for Saturday vows of Nancy Sorenson and William Marshall McGuire in Grace Methodist Church, Marquette.

Pine trees strung with tiny blue lights flanked the all-white altar which held tall vases of chrysanthemums and pompoms.

Daughter of the Clyde Oliver Sorensons, of Marquette, Nancy has been living on Catalpa drive in Berkley. The bridegroom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. William Marshall McGuire of Eileen drive.

Rev. McGuire, assisted by the pastor of the church, read the double-ring candlelight rites.

Seed pearl applique outlined the scalloped neckline of the bride's gown of white Italian delustered satin with chiffon velvet trim. From a gathered bustle in the back, defined by hip detail, fell the full skirt which swept into a chapel train.

A fingertip veil of pure silk illusion was secured by a Swedish crown of seed pearls. White Fuji mums arranged in a cascade and a strand of white seed pearls completed the bride's ensemble.

In identical sheath gowns of white lace over white taffeta, were honor maid, Jane Whitton of Berkley and bridesmaid Shirley Segerstrom of Marquette, former classmates of the bride. They wore small crowns with short veils and held cascade bouquets of radiant blue chrysanthemums and pompons.

Ray DaFoe of Flint stood as best man. James Brian and Robert Murphy of Pontiac seated the guests.

Decorations for the reception followed a white and blue theme. The bride's mother wore an aqua shirtwaist style dress and corsage of pink roses. Mrs. McGuire chose a toast-shade lace jacket dress, and corsage of blue mums.

After a honeymoon in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the couple will live on Chestnut Hill drive, Birmingham.

The bride, a graduate of Northern Michigan College, was affiliated with Beta Omega Tau sorority and Kappa Delta Phi honor society. She teaches music in the Bloomfield Hills Elementary Schools.

Her husband is principal of the new Bloomfield Hills Junior High School. He is an alumnus of Olivet College, Ill., and the University of Denver.

Dad Gets Short End of Yule Post-Mortem

By RUTH MILLETT

A lot of fun has been made of the kind of unimaginative presents the man of the family usually finds under the Christmas tree . . . the weird looking neckties, the inevitable shirts and socks, the gadgets that fall under the "it's - just - what - I - needed - what - is - it?" classification.

But in all fairness to mama and the kids, dad is not easy to shop for.

To begin with, he doesn't give any hints. Ask him outright what he wants and he is sure to say, "Anything at all," or "I haven't thought about it but I'll let you know." Sure, he'll tell you — but not until after Christmas.

Then he has a way of never using any gift that is the least out of the ordinary or the least-bit glamorous. He'll strut around in the new smoking jacket a few times, but he'll probably never be caught in it again. At least he wears the prosiac shirts and socks.

But the thing that really makes dad such a poor person to buy a gift for is that if there is something he really wants, he goes down and buys it for himself.

How many wives have had to take back a perfect gift because dad went out and bought the thing for himself?

Maybe that's because men have been stuck so often with unimaginative gifts that they can't believe that, for once, they'll get the one thing they really want.

What it all boils down to is that mama fares better than dad in the gift department, not because he is more imaginative than mama at picking gifts, but because mama is smart enough to make sure that dad knows just what to buy her, and she is willing to wait for an occasion to get it for free.

What Steeds Will Michigan Gladiators Mount for Votes?

By DALE ARNOLD

LANSING (UPI)—The stuff of which political campaign issues are made is sometimes obvious, sometimes unexpected and occasionally silly.

The candidates aren't known yet for the 1960 Michigan campaign but one of the issues will be taxes and who caused the trouble in Michigan which pushed the Legislature into 11 months of wrangling.

There will be others but the pros of both parties have loaded their oratorical guns with much powder on this issue.

One of, if not the main issue last year, was forced by the GOP candidate for governor, Paul Bagwell.

The university speech professor hounded Gov. G. Mennen Williams with charges that Williams' high tax policies drove industry from the state at the expense of jobs.

The issue troubled Williams and even prodded him to lose his temper on one public occasion, an exceptionally rare thing.

The issue was born in a House Labor Committee hearing nearly four years ago when a Bay City shipbuilder said he lost a contract to a Louisiana firm by the margin of the difference between the two states' unemployment compensation costs.

It started GOP strategists compiling figures on costs of doing business in Michigan. By Democrats' admission it was a strong issue for Bagwell to arm himself with for the campaign.

Issues aren't always drawn so far in advance.

Paul Weber, Williams' 10-year-press secretary, recalled the "case of the $45 shoes," which the late Albert Cobo leaped on in his 1956 campaign against the governor.

A Detroit News reporter's story that Williams wore $45 shoes in the campaign was quickly made an issue by Cobo who also told that Williams had foot trouble, therefore the high priced footwear.

Weber indicated Cobo might have done better with the issue but by saying Williams had foot trouble instead of stressing the fact the rich Governor wore shoes too expensive for others, "lost the whole sore foot vote."

Bagwell grabbed up one issue spontaneously in the last campaign when he sided with mining interests trying to get a lease for exploration in the Porcupine Mountains State Park in the Upper Peninsula.

Bagwell was pushing the economic climate theme and said the lease could well lead to much needed jobs in that part of the state. Most popular opinion favored leaving the park in its natural state and the lease request was later dropped.

Sometimes issues become conspicuous by their absence, especially in retrospect, as in the Bagwell-Williams fight when neither side talked much about taxes.

Both indicated the state was heading for financial trouble but the tax idea — the main theme of the legislative hassle — didn't crop into campaign oratory.

One political issue-former said both sides probably were afraid to say the answer to money troubles was more taxes — always an unpopular stand and dangerous to a man seeking public office.

He Likes Australia

Yankus Not a Bit Sorry

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI)—Stanley Yankus, former Michigan chicken farmer who left the United States in protest against government agricultural controls, said today he and his family are happy in Australia.

"We're not the least bit sorry we came here," Yankus said. "We find the cost of living cheaper, we have essential things and plenty of food."

For Christmas, Yankus, his wife and their two sons had a traditional Australian dinner, roast lamb with mint sauce, peas and potatoes.

Yankus said his wife's most difficult job was adjusting to Australian cooking ingredients.

"For instance, the Christmas cookies she made were spoiled because molasses here is different from that used in the United States," he said.

Yankus said his sons, Russell, 13, and Dennis, 12, had to work harder in school after switching at midyear, but they now are more advanced than they would be if they were in Michigan.

Yankus works as a clerk in the Pope Electrical Products factory. The family lives in an attractive, new pastel-colored house in Kirkealdy, near the beach.

Probe Death of RO Man, 71

Was Acquitted in 1950 of Mercy Killing; Found in Laundry Tub

ROYAL OAK — Police here are continuing their investigation today into the death of Eugene W. Braunsdorf who was acquitted in 1950 of the mercy killing of his crippled daughter.

Braunsdorf, 71, of 407 N. West St. was found Christmas Day slumped into a water-filled laundry tub of his home.

Police at first said he apparently toppled into the tub after suffering a heart attack, but an autopsy was inconclusive.

Braunsdorf was acquitted in May, 1950, in Detroit of the mercy killing of his invalid daughter, Virginia, 29, who was afflicted with spastic paralysis from birth.

He allegedly picked her up at a sanatorium on the pretext of taking her to a dentist and shot her to death. He shot himself five times, but lived to face trial for murder. A jury acquitted him on grounds of temporary insanity.

Braunsdorf, once a bass violinst with the Detroit Symphony, said at the time he worked four jobs at once to earn the money needed to care for his daughter. He said he believed he was dying of cancer and would leave Virginia unprovided for.

After being acquitted, Braunsdorf lived quietly with his wife, dealing in real estate.

Says Russian Leadership Key Is Enthusiasm

CHICAGO (UPI)—T. Keith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said yesterday Russia is outstripping the United States because of enthusiasm and dedication rather than a superior education program.

"No matter how great our past technological leadership," he said, "the nation whose citizens are willing to work to develop their own capabilities to the utmost through education is the nation which will win and maintain leadership in the world of tomorrow."

Glennan spoke to the Tau Beta Pi engineering society at a meeting held in connection with the 126th annual gathering of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

'Didn't Stand a Chance'

Told Rocky to Drop Out

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's withdrawal from the presidential race apparently resulted from the counsel of some of his closest advisers who told him he didn't stand much of a chance.

A source close to Rockefeller said some of his organization had been pessimistic for several months about his chances of successfully opposing Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination.

Others within the organization felt Rockefeller might overtake Nixon, but it would mean an all-out campaign in several state primaries. These apparently advised Rockefeller to make the necessary effort.

Rockefeller reportedly sought the opinions of a small group described as his "political family."

These include Francis Jamieson, chief public relations counselor to the Rockefeller family; George L. Hinman, GOP national committeeman; Roswell P. Perkins, former counsel to the governor, and others.

More Beef on the Hoof

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—The numbers of beef cattle in the United States increased 56 per cent, or more than nine million head, since the end of World War II, according to Herrell F. de Graff, Cornell University professor who directed the survey. He credited improved blood lines and feeding practices.

Iraq Troop Moves Seen Due to Unrest

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Reports of unrest sweeping southern Iraq roused speculation today that Premier Abdel Karim Kassem may be moving troops into the area to counter a threat of revolt rather than to launch any move against Iran.

Iraqi tradesman crossing the border from Basra into Iran said opposition to Kassem's regime is mounting, with tribesmen arming farmers and other civilians for an open revolt. There was no way of determining the accuracy of the reports.

One merchant said a demonstration had been staged against Kassem in the Iraqi village of Amereh and anti-Kassem leaflets distributed.

There were reports also of new Iraqi troop movements west of the frontier above Khorramshahr.

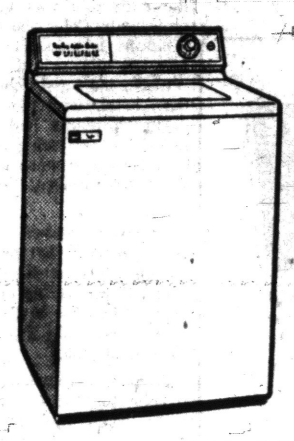

Pick Stewart, Hepburn

NEW YORK (AP) — Movie critics polled by a film industry newspaper have picked Audrey Hepburn and James Stewart as the top stars of 1959. Polled by the Film Daily, the critics selected Miss Hepburn for her role in "The Nun's Story" and Stewart for his role in "Anatomy of a Murder."

Sections of the first transatlantic cable are still in use.

De Gaulle May Test Strength Again Soon

By ELIE MAISSI

PARIS (UPI)—The new year may see a new test of strength between President Charles de Gaulle and the restive French Parliament, sources close to the President have predicted.

The sources said De Gaulle feels lawmakers have reverted to their rambunctious performances of the old Fourth Republic and are threatening his programs for the "salvation" of France.

As a result, De Gaulle is considering calling some sort of popular referendum that would put further curbs on Parliament and put an end to what he regards as "sniping" by deputies, they said.

De Gaulle currently has a 432-man majority in the 552-member national assembly, which includes 210 members of the Neo-Faullist Union for the new republic, 120 independents, 45 Algerian deputies and 57 Popular Republicans.

His government has yet to come even close to being defeated on a confidence vote.

His Algerian "self-determination" policy was approved Oct. 16 by a vote of 441 to 23. A censure motion on his banning of pensions for able-bodied war veterans polled only 109 votes Nov. 28.

Nevertheless, many members of the majority have broken ranks to protest privately and publicly against his policies.

A concerted parliamentary campaign by members of the majority compelled him to change his bill for increased state aid to church schools. A similar campaign actually forced him to withdraw a bill intended to surpress gradually the home-distilling of alcohol.

Deputies also made known their opposition to his policy of granting independence to the African members of the french community if they so desired, and his invitation to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to visit France in March.

The sources said De Gaulle does not contemplate dissolving the Parliament and calling new general elections. They said he may decide to crack down through an amendment to the constitution.

Article XVI gives the President the right to "take the measure imposed by circumstances"—including dissolution of Parliament—but only when the Republican institutions, the territorial integrity or the carrying-out of international commitments are gravely and immediately menaced."

CUT OFF DEBATE

Certainly, De Gaulle does not want to remove these restrictions. But the sources said he may have in mind a change that would cut off parliamentary debate on any subject for the remainder of the session once it had come to a vote.

The sources said the deputies are not happy with their reduced lot under the De Gaulle constitution and a showdown may come soon.

Men who held high offices under the Fourth Republic and have kept in the background during the early days of the Fifth Republic are beginning to show their heads again.

All of them remember De Gaulle's remarks at a press conference in October 1958: "We have put powerful brakes on past confusion. It is to be hoped that the new Parliament will be satisfied with the powers given it under the constitution."

More and more deputies are said to feel that these powers are nonexistent.

Los Angeles Beak Count Strictly for the Birds

LOS ANGELES (UP) — A special census is being held in a 15-mile area of Los Angeles today.

It's for the birds.

Its part of an annual birdcount taken each year by Audubon units.

Last year 148 species were counted in Los Angeles.

Mackinac Bridge Remains Solvent

ST. IGNACE (UP)—The Mackinac Bridge Authority remains solvent despite a drop in revenues this year, Chairman Prentiss Brown said Saturday.

Gros revenues for 1959 are estimated at $4,761,700 with 1,244,627 vehicles crossing the bridge over the Straits of Mackinac. This compares with $5,132,958 in revenues and 1,390,390 vehicles in 1958.

Brown said, "The traffic attracted to the bridge by its newness and the dedication publicity made 1958 a banner year. Experts tell us that 1959 was a more normal year, and that we can anticipate steady growth in both traffic and revenues from here on."

Brown said the authority is meeting interest requirements and funds are being set aside in reserve for eventual redemption of bonds.

Business economists estimate illness and premature death in the United States result in an annual economic loss of about $10 billion.

Raps U.S. Use of 'Experts'

Solon Says Civilians Paid Royally Although Government Has Own

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. H. R. Gross says the government is spending millions of dollars for the advice of outside "experts" when there are plenty of federal workers who could do the job just as well.

And on top of this, the Iowa Republican complains that the private firms are using their federal fees to lure away the government's own specialists.

Gross, who has set himself up as one-man guardian of federal spending, said that virtually every department of the government has its own personnel pool. But, he said, an increasing number are hiring outside management experts.

"They're hiring consultants to tell them what to do with their personnel," Gross said. "The government is one of the best customers these business experts have."

Last year, he said, Johns Hopkins University reported receiving 25 million dollars in federal research contracts and grants.

"And you can bet they're cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts," Gross said.

He said the efficiency-promoting organizations hire their "experts" away from the government, "using federal government money to compete for personnel."

Congress also forks out millions for outside advice, Gross said.

Cabinet Gives Ike Trip Globe at Yule Present

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower's Christmas gift from his Cabinet was a crystal map of his December trip to Europe, Asia and Africa.

An oval plaque of solid crystal, six and one-half inches wide, carries a map of the area covered. His flight routes are marked by dotted lines.

The clear crystal also is engraved with the President's initials — "DDE" — and the date of the trip.

The plaque is mounted on an ebony base with a silver medallion inscribed: "With the affectionate regards of his Cabinet."

Chrysler May Pace Market

Aluminum Auto Engines by June?

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT — Chrysler Corp. may offer aluminum engines in some of its cars by June and definitely will offer them on its 1961 models with six-cylinder engines, auto industry sources say.

Chrysler developed the new slant-ed six-cylinder engine it uses in its Valiant, Plymouth and Dodge so it could be cast of either iron or aluminum.

It hoped at first to cast this engine in aluminum for its 1960 model cars, particularly the Valiant, and could have had it ready in time for introduction on the Valiant, sources say.

But some Chrysler engineers felt it was not wise to bring out the engine on a hurry-up basis, particularly because the corporation already was making one major engineering change in its 1960 models, unitized body construction.

Many Chrysler engineers still are particularly anxious to get a jump on the rest of the industry in bringing out a water-cooled aluminum engine, however, and they are pressing for introducing it in the middle of the current model year as a running change, sources say.

CHRYSLER AHEAD

At the moment Chrysler is ahead of the rest of the industry in development of an aluminum engine because its new six-cylinder iron engine can be converted easily to aluminum.

The other companies are hot on the trail, however, and Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac all are expected to offer water-cooled, aluminum V-8 engines on their 1961 models.

J. Donald Shircliff, Great Lakes reginal automotive sales manager for Reynolds Metals, recently stated publicly that he believed every major auto manufacturer would have at least one line of aluminum engines within three years.

He said he expected four of the aluminum engines to appear within the next two years and three were scheduled for introduction in 1961.

Automotive engineers, however, say Shircliff is too conservative.

They say Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Valiant, Plymouth, Dodge Dart and possibly Dodge will have aluminum engines on their 1961 models and every American-made car—except possibly Lark and Cadillac, will have an aluminum engine by 1962.

A spokesman for Aluminum Corporation of America (Alcoa) said his company is involved in more than 10 programs aimed at developing aluminum engines for passenger cars.

Unlike the aluminum engine on the Corvair, those planned for the future will be water-cooled in the same manner that current cast iron engines are.

Aluminum engines offer the motorist a large weight saving and greater dissipation of heat, both of which contribute to greater gasoline economy.

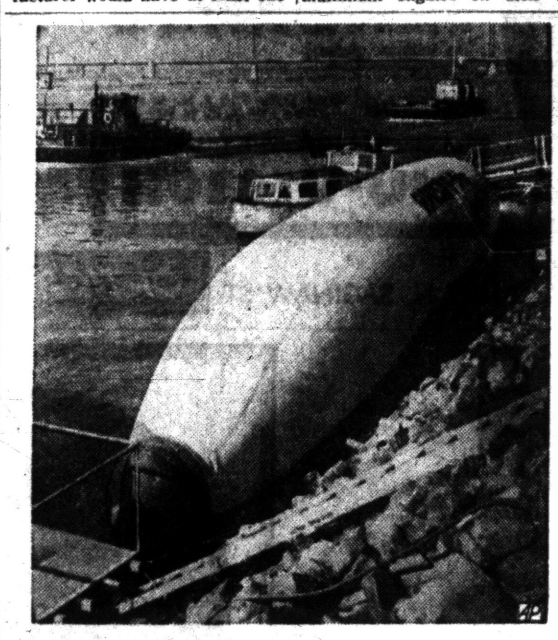

These attributes have led more than one auto company to try to experiment with an aluminum engine. Pierce-Arrow tried it in the 1920s, Pomeroy in 1923 and Marmon in 1930, Franklin in 1922, but none was successful.

The main problem was that aluminum was too expensive. It took new casting techniques to cut its cost. There were some problems about its strength and chemical reactions it touched off, too.

Special antifreeze had to be developed because old types reacted chemically when they came into contact with aluminum.

But both the auto and aluminum industries feel these problems have been licked now and all companies are racing full speed ahead toward aluminum engines in all types of cars.

Evacuate Town as Blast Looms

Tug Explodes by Barge Loaded With Gasoline; One Man Missing

CRESCENT CITY, Calif. (AP) —For three hours it was touch and go in this north coast harbor town.

A tug boat exploded next to a barge loaded with 800,000 gallons of high octane gasoline.

When the peril ended Sunday, one man was missing and believed dead, another was burned. Four were pitched into the bay by the force of the morning blast.

The downtown district of Crescent City a community of 2,750, was evacuated. Fishing boats, tied up during the holidays, lifted anchor. Many carried local residents.

The blast had the force of an earthquake in the waterfront area. It was felt as far away as Brookings, Ore., 30 miles to the north.

Britons See Nixon In as '60 Chief

LONDON (AP) — British newspapers said today the withdrawal of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller from the presidential race makes Vice President Richard M. Nixon almost a certainty for the White House in 1960.

The Washington correspondent of the London Times rated Nixon's chances of becoming the next U.S. president as "pretty high."

More than ever with Rockefeller's retirement, said the Daily Express, Nixon looks to seasoned observers like the next occupant of the White House.

"Has Nelson made Nixon a present of the White House?" said the Daily Mail's headline. Mail Correspondent Don Iddon wrote from New York, "With his pretty wife, Pat, his charming children, he makes a splendid picture of the family man ideally suited for the White House."

But Iddon added that Rockefeller's withdrawal was being hailed also by the Democrats "because the Democrats believe Nixon is a more vulnerable target than Rockefeller."

To Charge Parolee in Shotgunning of 2

HOWELL (UPI) — Formal charges were expected to be lodged today against a murderer on parole who admitted the shotgun shooting of two youths.

Robert L. Gipson, 28, Chelsea, admitted wounding the two at a Pinckney drive-in restaurant Saturday night after earlier scuffling with one of them.

Danny Haynes, 21, Gregory, was in critical condition and Delose Coffey, 19, Howell, was in fair condition at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Gipson, on parole from a Kentucky prison where he served 10 years for murder, said he shot the two because Haynes "had picked on me all day, called me bad names and slapped my face."

Joseph Stalin, born in 1879, was the son of a cobbler.

Informers Have to Stand in Line

Police State Terrorism Rampant in Cuba

(Editor's Note: Miami Herald reporter James Buchanan was expelled from Cuba last week by the Castro government. He was given a 14-year suspended sentence after conviction by a military tribunal of "concealing information" about an interview with an anti-Castro fugitive. Buchanan, imprisoned for 12 days without charges, was tried on the 13th day and released on the 14th. This is the first of his thought-provoking reports on Cuban justice under Fidel Castro, released exclusively through The Associated Press.)

By JAMES BUCHANAN
Miami Herald Staff Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—If you're uncertain but concerned about the road the new Cuba is taking, come with me inside one of Fidel Castro's secret police jails.

Let me introduce you to some of the Cuban citizens who have lost their liberty, their property, and may lose their lives — because of a "crime" we in the United States wouldn't recognize.

Their crime?

Nothing more than being accused of anti-Castro activity or displaying anti-Castro sympathies.

Not all the stories I heard night after night lying in a secret police cell block are true, of course.

Some were deliberately planted by cell "stool pigeons" to gain my confidence and see if I'd confide my thoughts about Castro's new regime.

But the stories I'll relate of neighbor spying upon neighbor in a campaign of fear and suspicion are the ones I have been able to check and authenticate since leaving my Cuban jail.

Cuba isn't yet a police state, but the network of spies and jails is being organized in a pattern that threatens to smash the hopes and prayers of thousands of Cubans.

I first began to know and love Cuba and her people two years ago, when a tyrant named Fulgencio Batista held an iron grip on the island and two Castro brothers were trying to rally support in the hills of Sierra Maestra.

Eighteen months ago I lived as a newsman in those hills with Raul Castro and his troops — heard them talk of their dreams and ideals.

I was on hand in happy Havanna last New Year's Day, when Batista at last had fled and the people prepared to welcome a new leader with hope in their hearts.

MORE POPULAR

During the past 12 months I have visited Cuba often as a reporter and noted an increasing concern that she may have traded one dictator for another, though a much more popular, one.

That concern was emphasized during those first few hours after my arrest on Dec. 10, after I had found and interviewed Austin Frank Young, an escaped anti-Castro adventurer before Cuban authorities knew his whereabouts.

I sat and waited for what I expected to be my early release.

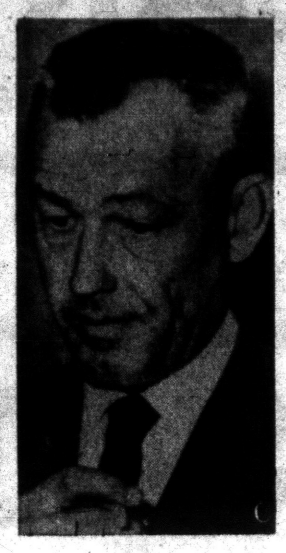

As I waited, I got the shock of tactics once used by German SS police under Adolf Hitler getting a replay in this Cuban secret police headquarters just 90 miles from Key West, U.S.A.

I saw long lines of informers patiently waiting, as they did night after night, to tell stories about their neighbors to Castro agents.

I saw a 14 year old boy thrown into my cell and confined for four days, because a woman had accused someone with a similar name of being a member of the hated "Tiger" army, the private strong arm of ex-dictator Batista.

I watched tears come to the

eyes of once respected businessmen-prisoners, as they saw their property confiscated by the government because they had spoken out of turn about the Castro regime.

Let's look first at the case of 14-year-old Armando Cruz Gonzalez. His name was supplied by a woman informer and his address given as a certain block in downtown Havana.

YOUNG TIGER

Armando was picked up at home and tossed in our cell. His protesting parents simply were told Armando had been a longtime member of Batista's Tigers.

I look at our cellmate Armando and wondered. He was a scared, fuzzy-cheeked 14-year-old.

For four days he was in our cell. No charges. No attorney. No visitors. And no questioning by police.

Finally on the fifth day, he was released.

"We have been unable to find your accuser," secret agents told him simply.

There are other, more frightening cases I'll discuss later.

But as I looked at Armando I wondered — does Fidel himself know how far his subordinates have gone in carrying out his every emotional whim?

It did not make me bitter, only disturbed that the men the world had hoped could lead Cuba from the tyranny of Batista are feeding their revolution with the old fires of hate and distrust.

They are fires that are starting to kill free speech, cripple the free press, and may set Cuba back where she was in 1958 under Batista — afraid to talk, afraid to listen, afraid to act and almost afraid to live.

Predicts Cold Shoulder to Gas Tax Hike Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A chilly reception in Congress was predicted today for any administration request to hike federal gasoline taxes by another half cent a gallon next year.

The American Automobile Assn (AAA) said the extra levy would be proposed in January as part of a plan to raise the tax eventually to five cents a gallon from the present four cents. It said the second half-cent increase would be asked later.

Frederick T. McGuire Jr., president of the motorists' organization, noted that Congress boosted the tax by one cent at its last session and pledged an all-out fight against any further increase.

He predicted Congress would cold shoulder a new request.

But Who Knows How Mighty the Dollar?

Inflation Fears Shiver Insurance

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Inflation is the bogey man of every one holding fixed-dollar life insurance. How much of the necessities of life will its dollar value purchase when called upon?

It's also a worrisome thing to those who sell life insurance. Their prospects ask: Should I put my savings into other forms of investment which might roll with inflation's punches and thus preserve their purchasing power? And the competition for these savings is great today.

Life insurance companies and the Institute of Life Insurance have given top priority to the fight to ward off further trimming of the dollar's value. That this decline, now called creeping inflation, has been going on in recent months is shown in the cost-of-living index.

The dollar's weakness more than offset the climb in average per capita income in 1958, says the Commerce Department. So, on average, citizens were a little less well off than before when it came to spending their bigger intake.

Even worse off were those living on their pensions or their husband's insurance, whose dollar income didn't climb with the average.

Thus life insurance companies find themselves competing with mutual funds and common stocks and real estate, all touted as hedges against inflation, and with the emergence in their own ranks of variable annuities — insurance backed by reserves invested in stocks and offering payments based on returns from stocks.

Few question the worth of the Institute's fight to keep the dollar strong. But one life insurance official takes up the cudgels for the permanent value of life insurance.

Charles H. Schaff, executive vice president of Massachusetts Mutual Life, suspects a lot of time may be wasted in guessing how the dollar will rank in the future.

He jibes at insurance's competitors this way:

"Whether you buy stocks or bonds or mutual funds, or put your dollar in a savings account, or hide it under a mattress, the dollar may be worth 50 cents or 75 cents or 100 cents or 200 cents 10 years from now."

Sellers of mutual funds or real estate won't buy this argument for a minute. But Schaff contends that the belief in hedging with stocks is based on a shaky premise. He says there have been many periods when stock values fell while the cost of living rose.

He also argues that stocks can't hedge against depression, however they may fare in periods of inflation. He cites the 1920's when men cashed out or borrowed against their life insurance to make a killing in the stock market or to hedge against inflation. The market and the hedge collapsed, but the fixed dollars of life insurance didn't vary.

Anyway, that's how he sells insurance.

Colts Rule NFL Again After Routing Giants, 31-16

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts, counted out of the race by many after three losses in their first seven games, are the world champions of professional football again today.

They clinched the title for the second straight year yesterday by staging an inspired 24-point fourth quarter, routing the Eastern Division champion New York Giants, 31-16. Last year the Colts defeated the Giants in the playoff 23-17 in a sudden-death overtime period.

Colts quarterback Johnny Unitas, voted the pro football player of the year, proved to a capacity crowd of nearly 60,000 in Memorial Stadium and televiewers in 44 states that he deserved the honor. He threw two touchdown passes and ran for a third. It was the 39th straight game he has thrown a scoring heave. His own touchdown was the winner.

Still, it was the defense on both teams that shone.

During that wild last period, when Giant quarterback Charley Conerly was trying to get New York back in the ball game with long passes, the Colts secondary picked off three interceptions.

"Their defense made all their points for them, not the offense," said Giant coach Jim Lee Howell. "Both defenses were better than the offensive teams."

If there was a single crucial play for the Giants, Howell reasoned, it was in the third quarter when New York, on the Colts 26, decided to go for a first down on a fourth-and-one situation. The Giants were leading 9-7 at the time.

Halfback Alex Webster tried to barrel through his right tackle spot, but the Colt line surged in on him en masse. Baltimore took over the ball on downs.

"The team seemed to go down a bit after that," Howell said, "though they never stopped trying."

Weeb Ewbank, a beaming, satisfied soul, also credited that play with being an important one.

"I think holding them like that fired us up," the Colt coach said.

That they were. Unitas and Lenny Moore were the key men in an 86-yard, 10-play drive that produced the Colts' touchdown early in the fourth quarter to put them ahead 14-9. A Unitas to Moore pass and run play moved the ball to the New York 12. A few plays later the versatile Unitas rolled out to his right and scored from the four standing up. From then on the Colts were home free.

It was the same great Unitas-Moore combination that clicked for the first quarter touchdown that gave the Colts a 7-0 lead. This score—on a 60-yard play—came the first time the Colts had the ball. Unitas faked a handoff to Alan Ameché and then, from his own 40, fired the ball to Moore. Fleet Lenny took it on the New York 38 and sped all the way for the score.

The Giants started out impressively. A 22-yard pass to Kyle Rote and a 22-yard run by Frank Gifford got them quickly into Colt territory. But Conerly was caught 18 yards behind the line by rushing defensive end Gino Marchetti, and Don Chandler punted over the goal line.

New York got going again late in the quarter on a beautiful draw play, with Mel Triplett shooting down the middle for 28 yards to the Colts 17. Then came a break that could have had some influence on the outcome.

Conerly barely overshot Rote in the end zone. Rote dived for the ball and fell. Colt halfback Johnny Sample, a step behind, fell over Rote, and his knee hit Rote's chin, inflicting a mild concussion. Rote was back in action midway in the third quarter.

The Giants worked the ball down to the three-yard line before the Colt defense stiffened and threw Gifford and then Conerly for losses back to the 17.

Pat Summerall came in then and kicked the first of three field goals which kept the Giants in the thick of it until the roof fell in that last quarter.

Summerall's second three-pointer was hotly disputed by the Colts. They contended the boot, from the 31 just before halftime, was off the mark, and that referee Ron Gibbs was not in position to see it accurately. But that protest ended as most usually do, and the Giants were within a point of the Colts.

New York played the Colts off their feet during the third quarter—Baltimore didn't get a first down until the period was almost over—but the Giants were unable to muster more than a third field goal. Summerall's last effort was a comparatively short 15-yarder climaxing a drive that started on the Giants' 14.

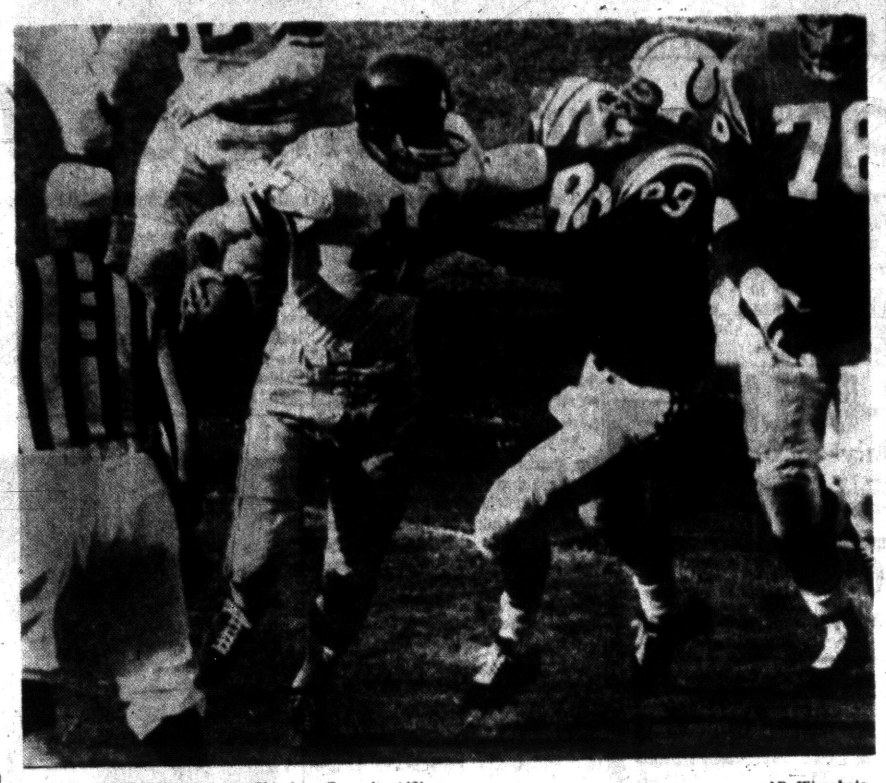

After the Colts had taken the lead, Conerly tried to get the Giants downfield with a 25-yard pass aimed at Rote. But little Andy Nelson grabbed the pigskin and ran it back 16 yards to the Giants 14. After one plunge by Ameche, Unitas lobbed a corner pass to Jerry Richardson for all the scoring the Colts would need.

Conerly, still hoping to pull it out, fired two more long ones. Sample got in the way of both of those, however. The Maryland State scatback returned one of them 42 yards for a touchdown, literally fighting his way for the the last three yards while two Giants tried to drag him down. Sample returned his second interception 34 yards before he was racked up.

The Giants finally managed to dent the Colts goal line with a 32-yard pass from Conerly which end Bob Schnelker caught about two yards inside the end zone. But there were only 32 seconds remaining, and the issue had been decided.

The statistics were much closer than the score. New York chalked up 16 first downs to Baltimore's 13, and outrushed the Colts, 113 yards to 73. Baltimore had a slight edge in passing, with Unitas completing 18 of 29 tries for 264 yards, and Conerly completing 17 in 38 tries for 250 yards. None of Unitas' heaves was intercepted, and neither team fumbled.

CONERLY RUSHED — Charley Conerly (42), New York Giants' quarterback, is grabbed by Gino Marchetti, Baltimore end, as he attempted to pass in the first period yesterday. Conerly couldn't get the ball away and he was dropped for a 20-yard loss with Gene Lipscomb of the Colts (76) helping on the play.

Ewbank Likes His 'Old Men'

Happy Baltimore Coach Praises Defensive Line

BALTIMORE (AP)—"Those old men did a fine job," chuckled Weeb Ewbank.

The stubby Baltimore coach, still glowing over the 31-16 victory his Colts racked up over the New York Giants yesterday for the National Football League championship, was referring to his defensive line.

He was thinking, no doubt, of pre-season comments — fortified by a mid-season slump—that age had robbed the Colt forward wall of its brilliance.

But on the money play yesterday it was "the old men" who put the stopper on the surging Giants and helped turn a tense defensive struggle into a rout.

Leading 9-7 in the third quarter, New York was on the march and threatening to break the game wide open. With fourth down and inches to go on the Baltimore 26, quarterback Charley Conerly called on Alex Webster for a line smash in an effort to get a first down.

Webster plunged towards the middle and tried to dive over the battling linemen. He met an unyielding mass and wound up in the arms of All-Pro end Gino Marchetti (age 32) and tackle Ray Krouse (also 32).

"I think holding them like that fired us up," said Ewbank.

"The team seemed to go down a bit after that," agreed Giant coach Jim Lee Howell.

In the last quarter, when the Colts exploded for 24 points, Conerly threw three intercepted passes — compared with four he had thrown all year in 12 regular season games—under pressure from the Colt line.

Besides Marchetti and Krouse, it included All-Pro tackle Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, who's pushing 29, 34-year-old tackle Art Donovan and 30-year-old end Don Joyce.

Ewbank noted that Colt quarterback Johnny Unitas, who tossed two touchdown passes and scored on a four-yard end sweep, also was under pressure by the Giant defense. He was smeared seven times for losses totaling 56 yards, compared with 45 yards lost by Conerly on five breakdowns in New York pass protection.

"We wanted the ball," explained Ewbank. "I stressed to John he shouldn't throw until he was ready.

"But I believe his caution led to the victory. He had no interceptions and I believe that was the key to the game.

"I told him not to throw until he had someone clear. The Giants were forcing him and he just had to eat the ball. I think that eventually paid off for us."

Unitas, the Pittsburgh Steelers cast-off voted the Pro Football Player of the year, seconded this appraisal.

"The Giants did a great job on our receivers," he said. "I had time to throw but no one could get clear."

On this point, All-Pro end Raymond Berry paid high tribute to the Giant guardian who prevented him from catching more than five passes for 68 yards.

"Dick Lynch is as good as they say he is," Berry declared.

How does this Colt team compare with the one which beat the Giants 23-17 in the sudden-death overtime thriller for the 1958 championship?

"Not as good," said Giant tackle Dick Modzelewski.

"We faced a much better club last year," said Modzelewski. "But you can't take it away from them. They're champs."

Donovan, apparently still nettled by pre-game remarks attributed to the Giants, took special satisfaction in the Colt victory.

"They shot their mouths off all week," said the 10-year NFL veteran, "and we played football today."

AP Wirephoto

POSTS TUMBLE — They said it couldn't be done. The Baltimore Colts decided this year to put their goal posts in cement so their fans could not carry them away. But this was what happened after yesterday's Colt victory over the Giants. Today only the holes remain where the goal posts once stood.

Pistons' Defeat Helps Lakers' Coach Save Job

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — If the job of Minneapolis Lakers' coach John Castellani no longer is in jeopardy today, he can be grateful to the bounty of the injury-riddled Detroit Pistons.

The Pistons lost to the Lakers in Detroit Saturday 108-105. They obliged again yesterday at Minneapolis, losing by a 119-109 margin.

The two losses brought Detroit's winless streak to five — the longest string of defeats since Red Rocha took over as coach. The Pistons have won only three of their last 15 games.

Both of the Minneapolis games were nationally televised.

Until meeting Detroit, the Lakers had won only three times in 14 starts. Castellani, who is in his first year as Minneapolis' pilot, has been under fire for his team's poor showing.

But Elgin Baylor and company may have settled the coaching issue — at least temporarily.

Baylor was the Minneapolis wheelhorse in both games. He paced the Lakers with 28 points yesterday as the teams evened their season series at four victories apiece. The victory also lifted the Lakers to within one game of the Pistons in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn.

Gene Shue of Detroit took high man honors with 30 points. He made good on 9 of 18 field goals and 12 of 12 free throws.

Detroit never led, although it managed a 72-72 tie in the third quarter.

Colt Field Goal Was Mistake; Planned on Pass

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore's last three points were supposed to have been six in Sunday's 31-16 pro football championship victory over the New York Giants.

They got the three on Steve Myhra's 25-yard field goal, which Coach Weeb Ewbank had planned to be a fake.

"I wanted Ray Brown who held the ball to throw a pass to Gino Marchetti," Ewbank said afterward. "I wasn't trying to pour it on, I just wanted to see Marchetti score a touchdown.

"But Brown didn't hear me when I yelled to him. So we got the field goal instead."

New York Coach May Switch to Houston of AFL

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — Tom Landry, defensive genius of the New York Giants' coaching staff, is expected to hook up with the Houston club of the new American Football League within a week.

The 35-year-old graduate engineer from the University of Texas is slated to confer with Houston club representatives this week about a coaching position and the announcement will be made at that time.

Landry, the slender, balding genius greatly responsible for the Giants' comeback as a National Football League power, would neither confirm nor deny his reported switch to the new circuit following Sunday's 31-16 victory by Baltimore over New York.

A reliable source, however, told United Press International that Landry would join the Houston club, and Landry himself admitted he will meet with "some people shortly."

WRONG — This is what happens to the other fellow when body English is not confined to a bowler's own lane.

KNOW RULES
By BILLY WELU

Knowing the rules will help your game and increase your bowling enjoyment.

Some are complicated and seldom invoked. These you need not be concerned with, but there are some you should know from the start. The first is common courtesy, which covers a multitude of sins, but generally speaking boils down to:

Control your temper. Don't be a heckler. Don't be a braggart or moaner.

Give the bowler on your immediate right the right of way. Confine body English to your own lane.

Keep the approaches clean. Use your own ball. Be a good sport.

For higher scores and the avoidance of arguments, always observe the foul line. I once lost an important match by fouling on one delivery.

You can never be too careful or too cocky.

Canadiens Get Busy and Beat Red Wings, 3-1

Montreal Boosts Lead Over Runnerup Detroit to 10 Points

DETROIT (AP) — For 46 minutes last night the Detroit Red Wings proved equal to the Montreal Canadiens. But it was the last 14 minutes that counted.

The Wings and Canadiens played fast, close-checking hockey — the kind you usually see in the Stanley Cup playoffs — until the final period. Then the Canadiens went to work, pulling out a 3-1 victory and widening their National Hockey League lead over the second place Detroiters to 10 points.

After two scoreless periods, Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion fired a 10-footer past Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk at 6:21. A little more than a minute later, Phil Goyette deflected the puck past Sawchuk again for a 2-0 lead.

Goyette scored from close-in. Junior Langlois' 50-footer deflected off Goyette's skates and into the cage.

Jack McIntyre, a little-used forward who seems to get more goals than some of Detroit's regulars, put the Wings back into the game. He took a pass from Barry Cullen and spoiled a shutout bid for Jacques Plante with a short blast.

Then, with the game in its dying moments, Henri Richard added a little frosting to the cake. Sawchuk was pulled from the Detroit nets to give the Wings more firepower up front.

Richard picked up a loose puck at the blue line with no one between him and the unmanned goal. He fired his 14th goal of the season and the 100th of his career.

Detroit's Gordie Howe drew a blank again. It was the seventh game in a row he has gone without scoring — his longest goal famine in five years.

Detroit coach Sid Abel offered a terse description of the outcome.

"They (the Canadiens) made their own breaks tonight," Abel said. "I think they play us better here than in Montreal."

The Canadiens haven't lost on Olympia ice in their last 13 appearances. This was their 10th victory in that string.

Toronto pulled within a point of the slipping Wings with a 6-3 triumph over the New York Rangers. George Armstrong scored two goals for the Maple Leafs. Dean Prentice got two for New York.

Bobby Hull tallied his third hat trick this season, accounting for half the Chicago Black Hawks' scoring in a 6-1 conquest of Boston. The victory moved the Hawks into a fourth-place tie with the Bruins.

WING DEFENSE DOWN — Montreal Canadien Don Marshall (top center) finds Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk out of position as he takes a shot at the open net in the second period of their game in Detroit last night. He failed to score on the play. Henri Richard (16) of Montreal is at the left with Wing Red Kelly (4) and Jim Morrison (2) watching the play. Montreal won, 3-1.

Dodgers' Rise Also Big Feature of Year

Yank Collapse '59 Baseball Highlight

NEW YORK (UPI) — The old champs went crashing down and a whole set of new heroes rose to claim baseball's top prizes in 1959.

The Los Angeles Dodgers climaxed the greatest rags-to-riches drive in history to win the National League pennant in a post-season playoff with the Milwaukee Braves and then went on to beat the Chicago White Sox in a six-game world series as a fitting climax to an unpredictable year in which:

— The mighty New York Yankees collapsed like a house of cards, languished in the American League cellar for the first time in 19 years and wound up in third place — their worst finish under manager Casey Stengel.

— The White Sox gave Chicago its first American League championship since the 1919 Black Sox' scandal.

— Harvey Haddix, 34-year-old Pittsburgh Pirate left-hander, pitched a perfect game for 12 innings and lost in the 13th inning, 1-0.

— The "Continental League" announced the formation of a third Major League with founding cities in New York, Denver, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Toronto and Houston and then signed 78-year-old Branch Rickey as its first president.

— Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, two of the greatest hitters of all time, hit .255 and .254 respectively.

— A rookie named Willie McCovey came out of nowhere to spark the San Francisco Giants' late-season pennant battle with an unbelievable succession of clutch hits.

— Rocky Colavito of the Cleveland Indians equalled a big league record by hitting four homers in one game and Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers tied another mark by striking out 18 batters in one game.

But if one man epitomized a season dominated by new faces it was Larry Sherry, a 24-year-old rookie pitcher who did not join the Dodgers until June 30 but who dominated the world series as few men before him had. Unknown to most baseball fans despite a substantial contribution to the Dodgers' pennant victory, Sherry saved the Dodgers in the first game of the playoff and also appeared in all four of Los Angeles' World Series' victories.

The supremely confident, almost cocky, manner in which Sherry strode out of the bullpen to perform his heroics seemed to symbolize a season in which young men with everything except reputations tended to shoulder aside the game's older heroes.

Celtics Roll On to No. 15

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics still are rolling toward the National Basketball Assn.'s consecutive game winning streak. But the budding streak of the St. Louis Hawks has come to an end.

The Celtics, who have lost only four of their 32 games, ran their winning streak to 15 games last night by downing the Cincinnati Royals 122-111. The record of 17 was hung up by the old Washington Capitols.

The Hawks, leading the Western Division by 7½ games, had their string snapped at six games Saturday when they dropped a 117-104 decision to the Syracuse Nationals.

Minneapolis' Lakers posted two victories over Detroit, winning 108-105 Saturday and 119-109 Sunday. In the only other game over the weekend, the New York Knicks turned back the Philadelphia Warriors 122-116 Saturday but still remained deep in the Eastern Division cellar.

The Celtics' 15th straight came despite a 41-point performance by Cincinnati's Jack Twyman.

Opening Rounds Start at 17 College Events

23 Hoop Tournaments on Tonight

By The Associated Press

Twenty-three, count 'em, college basketball tournaments are carded for tonight with practically every top team in the country involved in the big ones.

Six tournaments got under way last Saturday, and the other 17 start tonight.

In Los Angeles, the final of the first annual Los Angeles festival could wind up in a replay of last March's NCAA championship game between California and West Virginia.

The Bears have won 22 games in a row, the longest winning streak among major schools. They run head-on into Illinois (5-0) in their first game. West Virginia (8-0), led by All America (Broken Nose) Jerry West, plays Stanford.

The other two openers match Southern California against Northwestern and UCLA against Michigan.

At Raleigh, N.C., the Dixie Classic starts with Utah (8-0) favored to break a 10-year stranglehold by North Carolina schools. The Utes play Duke in the first round. Wake Forest tangles with Holy Cross, North Carolina State meets Dayton and North Carolina is matched against Minnesota in the other games.

Other major tournaments getting under way tonight include the All-College at Oklahoma City, the Blue Grass at Louisville, the Southwest Conference at Houston, the Hurricane Classic at Miami and the Motor City at Detroit.

Four other big ones, the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, the Holiday Invitational at Providence, the Richmond Invitational at Richmond and the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, start tomorrow.

In New York, they still are marveling at Oscar Robertson's fantastic 47 points in Cincinnati's 96-56 rout of St. Bonaventure Saturday in the first round of the ECAC Hoiday Festival.

Big O and Co. meet St. Joseph's of Philadelphia in the semifinal tonight — the same club they smothered, 123-79 earlier in the season. There isn't much doubt that he can improve on his record-breaking output.

"He's just absolutely fabulous," enthused Donovan. "We double-teamed him and triple-teamed him, but couldn't hold him."

St. Joseph's advanced with an 84-70 triumph over Manhattan. The other semifinalists are Iowa, which turned back St. John's (NY) 91-84, and New York University, 78-68 victory over Dartmouth.

Two finals are on tap for tonight. Wisconsin meets Canisius for the Queen City title at Buffalo, and Evansville plays Wittenburg for the Evansville (Ind.) Invitational Championship.

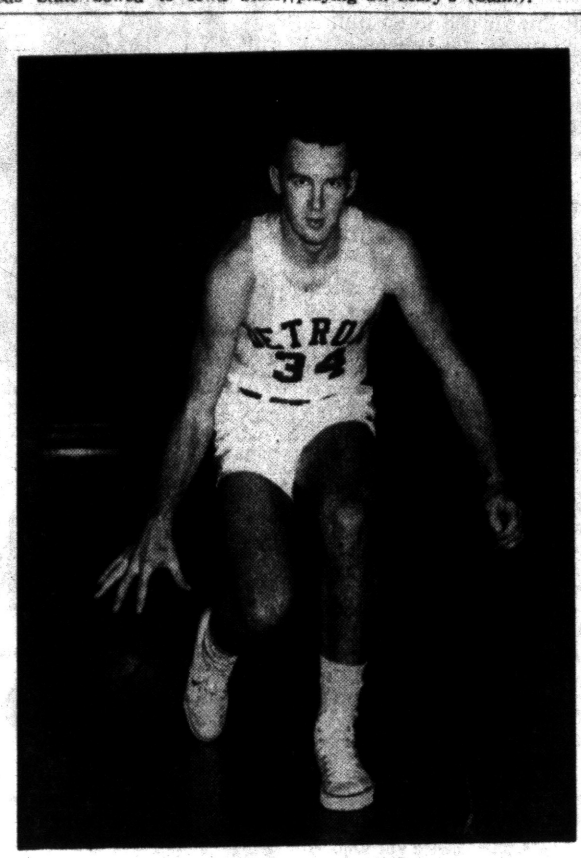

Wisconsin advanced at Buffalo with a 95-82 triumph over Boston College, while Canisius halted Pitt 89-82.

The Far West tournament at Corvallis, Ore., goes into the semifinal with Oregon State, winner the past three years, taking on Idaho and Washington State going against Oregon.

First round play also will be completed in the big eight tournament at Kansas City, where Missouri plays Oklahoma and Kansas meets Oklahoma State. There will be a new champion in this event because defending champion Kansas State bowed to Iowa State, 74-73, in overtime Saturday. This, incidentally, was the first time Kansas State ever has lost in the first round of the 14 years of the tournament.

The West Coast Athletic Conference Tournament at San Francisco also will complete its first round with Santa Clara matched against Pepperdine and Seattle playing St. Mary's (Calif.).

IN TOURNEY — Former Walled Lake High School star athlete, Larry Hughes, who was The Press "Outstanding County Cager" in 1956, will be at the guard post tonight for U. of D. in the opening round of the Motor City basketball classic. Hughes is a junior and one of the top scorers on the team last year.

Western Michigan vs. Valparaiso in Opening Game Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit, pursuing national recognition, plays the double role of host and favorite tonight as the eight annual Motor City Basketball Tournament gets under way.

But the Titans will have to be much sharper in the battle for their fourth Motor City championship than they were Saturday night in turning back Buffalo 87-55. That was the only Michigan college basketball game over Christmas holiday weekend.

The Motor City opens with western Michigan, loaded with homegrown sophomores, facing Valparaiso. Detroit, ranked 17th nationally and paced by the scoring duo of Dave DeBusschere and Charlie North, clashes with New Mexico in the other first round game.

The championship will be decided tomorrow night.

Michigan, winner of last year's Motor City crown, appears in the Los Angeles Invitational tournament — also beginning tonight. The Wolverines meet UCLA in the first round.

Michigan State, 11th ranked but loser of its last two games after winning four in a row, will be at Butler.

Western Michigan takes a sophomore-dominated team which already has improved on last season's record into the tournament.

The Broncos can credit much of their improvement to Bob James of Battle Creek, Ron Robinson of Muskegon Heights, Ron Emerick of east Detroit, Bob Bolton of Battle Creek, Earl McNeal of Ferndale and Tom Woodruff of Grosse Pointe.

James and Robinson have been the big guns in making the Broncos' attack go. Both are sophomores.

All told, there are 23 Michigan players on the four teams.

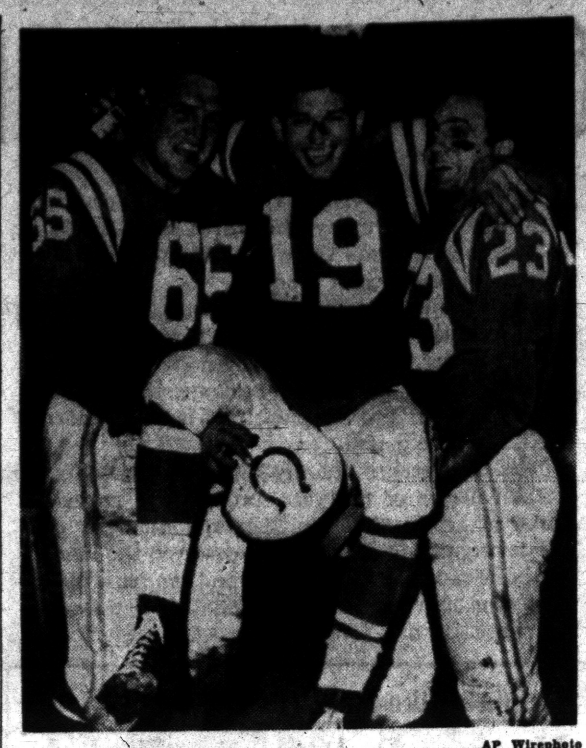

Valparaiso, off to a slow start this year, has two Michigan players on its roster in Tom Orton of Detroit and Terry Callaway of Dearborn.

New Mexico is the lone tournament team without a Michigan man in the lineup. The Lobos enter the tourney with only a passable record this season.

Detroit, now 7-1 for the season, was away off form in its victory over Buffalo State—despite the 32-point spread. The Titans showed the results of a layoff since their last start Dec. 20. Their only defeat was to powerful Indiana the night before.

North provided the little smoothness in the Detroit attack. The 6-5 sophomore enjoyed his best game of the season. He racked up 31 points on 10 of 13 field goal attempts and 11 of 12 free throws. The scoring outburst brought his total to 200 points for eight games.

Two other Michigan schools — Michigan Tech and Lawrence Tech —make tournament bows tonight. Michigan Tech engages in the Technology College tournament at Rochester, N. Y., against Pratt (NY). Lawrence Tech is entered in the Christmas tournament at Akron, Ohio.

HERO OF CHAMPS — Johnny Unitas, Baltimore quarterback is hoisted to the shoulders of his teammates Steve Myhra (65) and Carl Taseff (23) in the dressing room after the Colts whipped the New York Giants, 31-16, for the National Football League title.

Others Bow; Fenton Play Starts

Troy in Tourney Victory

Two basketball tourneys involving Oakland County high school teams resume and two others get started tonight on a busy holiday program.

Troy was the only county team to win as play began Saturday in meets at Center Line and Livonia Bentley. Area school Fitzgerald also was successful.

The Fenton event, featuring four Wayne-Oakland quintets, and the Chelsea Invitational begin tonight. South Lyon is the only local entry in the latter.

Troy was matched against Willow Run in what could be the feature of the Center Line tourney. The Colts belted Warren 70-53 while Willow Run was drubbing Clawson 81-50. Fitzgerald dumped L'Anse Creuse, 49-35.

Bud Acton swished 31 and Rick McKinnon 18 leading Troy. Gary Boss had 18 for Clawson in defeat. Phil Morgan's 15 paced Fitzgerald to its 5th straight triumph. Center Line tripped Lutheran East, 59-40.

Clawson and Warren opened today's program at 5 p.m. L'Anse Creuse-Lutheran East and Fitzgerald-Center Line were to complete the slate.

Southfield makes its debut at Bentley tonight against Jackson at 7 in the opener of a twin-bill.

Farmington was handed a 63-32 walloping by Inkster Roosevelt and Berkley bowed 55-40 to the host school Saturday.

Holly, Bloomfield Hills, Milford and Brighton will be representing the W-O at Fenton. South Lyon opposes Brooklyn at Chelsea.

U.S. Poloists Losers

LIMA, Peru (AP) — A U.S. polo team, composed of the captains of four colleges, lost its first match in the Challenge Cup competition Sunday. Canete beat the U.S. 9-4.

City Skaters Win 4 Events

300 Compete at Rolladium

More than 300 roller skaters from the Great Lakes region are participating in the two-day five-state regional invitational meet at the Pontiac Rolladium.

Capacity crowds filled the local rink yesterday to watch their skaters compete in five divisions—juvenile, junior, novice, intermediate and senior.

Pontiac skaters won four weekend events.

Free-style, dance, pairs fours and speed skating are the events being held in this 3rd annual affair at the city arena.

All speed events will be run tonight. Other events scheduled today include novice men's and ladies' figures, intermediate men's and ladies' figures, novice pairs, juvenile dance, novice ladies' singles, novice men's singles, senior dance, senior pairs and Esquire dance.

Sunday's results:

Soccer Crowd Mobs Detroit Into Loss

BEADLING, Penn. (UPI) — Soccer fans here take the game so seriously that they turned a win by Detroit's Saint Andrew Scots into a loss to Beadling.

The Scots were leading, 4-2, when fans started a riot and officials called the game, giving the Scots the win.

But the crowd mobbed the officials and forced them to continue play after removing a Detroit player. Beadling punched over three goals to grab a 5-4 win.

Detroit protested the decision, which eliminated the Scots from the National Amateur Soccer Cup playoffs.

Thief Overlooks 10 Rose Bowl Tickets

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Someone stole the souvenir watch presented by the Tournament of Roses Assn. to Fred Marsh, assistant coach of the Wisconsin football team.

But the thief overlooked something even more valuable — 10 Rose Bowl tickets also in Marsh's hotel room here at the time of the burglary.

Tournament officials later learned of the theft and gave Marsh a new watch.

Michigan Netters Out of Orange Bowl Play

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Entries from Michigan were just spectators today as the finals of the Orange Bowl International junior tennis championships got underway.

Jane (Peachy) Bartkowicz, Hamramck, Mich., was the last of four contenders from Michigan to be eliminated from the tourney. She was defeated yesterday in the semi-finals of the girls 13 and under class.

In Saturday's matches, Dick Colby, Kalamazoo, and Francisco Castillo and Chuck Brainard, both of Hamtramck, were eliminated in the boys 13 and under class.

Big Bowl Games Attract 500,000

By United Press International

An estimated 500,000 fans and the nation's TV-quarterbacks will see college football ring in the New Year this week with one of the most attractive bowl programs in history.

Syracuse's meeting with Texas in the Cotton Bowl and Louisiana State's rematch with Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl top a menu of nine games between Thursday and Saturday. Syracuse, the only major team to go through the season unbeaten and untied, is defending its national championship against a once-beaten opponent. L.S.U. and Mississippi will replay the South's "game of the year" and the winner undoubtedly will claim the national title if Texas upsets Syracuse.

Syracuse is a 12-point choice and Mississippi a 6½-point pick with Wisconsin a 6½-point choice over Washington in the Rose Bowl and Georgia an 11-point Orange Bowl favorite over Missouri in the "big four" of the Jan. 1 schedule.

The action begins on Wednesday when North Texas State (8-1) plays New Mexico State (7-3) in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., and winds up Saturday with the East-West Shrine Game at San Francisco and the Gator Bowl meeting between Arkansas (8-2) and Georgia Tech (6-4) at Jacksonville, Fla.

Syracuse is heavily favored on the strength of 10 straight victories during which it averaged 39 points a game and led the nation in virtually everything except untied shoelaces. The Orange's big line also paced the nation on defense—a key factor in the Cotton Bowl because the Texas offense is built chiefly on a running game.

L.S.U. beat Mississippi, 7-3, on an 89-yard punt return by Billy Cannon in the fourth period of their Oct. 31 regular-season game. But Mississippi seemed the stronger team at the close of the season and ranked second in the nation while L.S.U. was rated third.

The biggest crowd of the week—100,000—will see Wisconsin (7-2) oppose Washington (9-1) in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., and 78,000 will be on hand in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., to watch Georgia (9-1) take on Missouri (6-4).

Georgia rolled to the Southeast conference title with a 7-0 record while the experts were watching L.S.U. and Mississippi. Missouri drew the big eight's Orange Bowl bid because Oklahoma was ineligible to go for a second straight year.

Presbyterian (9-1) vs. Middle Tennessee State (9-0-1) in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., and Prairie View A&M (8-2) vs. Wily (Tex.), also 8-2, round out the Jan. 1 card.

Wisconsin Is 6-Point Pick Over Huskies

Neither School Has Ever Been Winner in New Year's Classic

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — An element known as desire may decide the outcome of the Wisconsin-Washington game in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

So it appeared today as the rival squads headed into the final, exacting drills for the annual encounter.

Wisconsin remains a six-point favorite, but the Huskies have impressed everyone since their arrival on the scene with their business-like approach.

Certainly no recent West Coast team has exceeded Washington in this department.

"We came down here to win," says the Husky coach, Jim Owens, and there hasn't been a moment in the Washington camp at Long Beach that this dedicated attitude has wavered.

Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn has been no less determined personally. But there is a thought by unbiased observers that the Badger squad might be taking this as just another football game.

Actually, both teams might be termed squads with a mission. Wisconsin in one appearance and the Huskies in four have yet to win in the Rose Bowl.

Wisconsin is the only Big Ten loser in the series with the now extinct Pacific Coast Conference since the series was inaugurated in 1947.

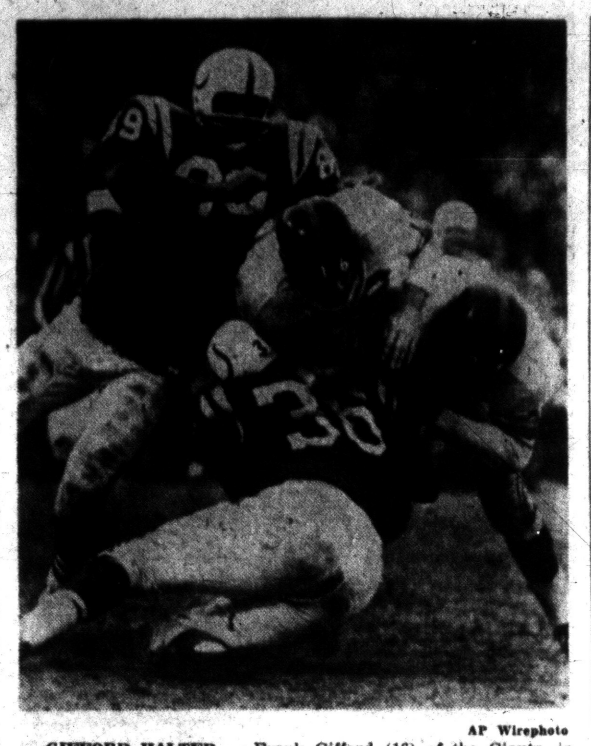

This would appear to provide ample reason for a Wisconsin crusade.

But Bruhn said this sore point has not been played upon as a pep talk to his squad.

"But," he added, "I think the kids are well aware of the record. It's been mentioned back home."

Meantime Owens has cancelled all extracurricular activities for his Washington team after a Sunday practice which the coach termed "horrible."

3 Spartans Tops in 'Star Games

Big 10 Gridders Shine

Big Ten gridders, including a trio from Michigan State, played key roles for two of the three winning teams in Saturday's post-season All-Star games.

Spartan linemen Don Wright and Paul Rochester turned in terrific showings and Purdue's Ross Fichtner was named the game's outstanding player as they paced the Blue to a 20-8 triumph over the Gray.

Larry Bielat of MSU engineered a touchdown drive and scored himself in a 21-6 National All-Star win over the Southwest in the Copper Bowl at Tempe, Ariz.

The North defeated the South 27-17 at Miami, Fla., in the other contest.

At Montgomery, Ala., the Blue jumped off to an early lead and held it all the way aided by a hard-charging line made up largely of Big 10 boys.

Doug Asad of Northwestern and Boilermaker Len Wilson tallied Blue six-pointers as the victors piled up 375 yards rushing and passing to 165 for the Gray.

All-America guard Bill Burrel of Illinois shared MVP honors with Ron Mix of Southern Cal at Tempe. Burrell had two big pass interceptions. Richie Lucas of Penn State and Angelo Coia of USC matched Bielat's tally.

Southwest coach Frank Kush of Arizona State blamed his team's beating on a lopsided system for picking players. He says things will be different next year pointing out the Nationals could draw from the entire nation.

Joe Caldwell starred in what he says will be his last game in sparking the North at Miami. He intends to make the Army his career.

The Cadet hit 13 of 20 passes for 169 yards and a touchdown in the game with buddies Bill Carpenter and Bob Anderson among his targets. A strong defense prevented the South from ever getting much of an aerial game going.

Ernestine Russell Weds

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Ernestine Russell, 21, Canada's top woman athlete, and high school baseball coach John Carter, 22, were married here during the weekend.

The wedding took place in the St. John's student center chapel at Michigan State University.

Adams Declines to Comment on Landry Reports

HOUSTON (AP) — Bud Adams, owner of the Houston team in the American Football League, declined comment Sunday on reports that he had hired Tom Landry as coach.

Adams indicated, however, that he was trying to contact Landry, defensive coach of the New York Giants of the National Football League.

Landry was en route to his New York home from Baltimore, where the Giants lost to the Colts in the NFL championship game.

Wins 10-Mile Run

CHICAGO (AP)—Hal Higdon of the University of Chicago Sunday won the 10-mile holiday run sponsored jointly by the National Road Runners Club and the university. His time was 48:51.9.

Body Found in Sack, Question Englishman

TANGIER, Morocco (AP) — An Englishman was held today for questioning in the slaying of a 19-year-old American girl whose body was found sewn in a sack in a forest near Tangier.

Police identified the girl as Helen Muller. In New York City, Henry Muller said his daughter Helen, a former student at Hunter College, sailed in mid-October for a trip abroad and he received a letter postmarked Tangier. She was traveling alone.

The Briton, William Moore, is under guard in a hospital, where he was taken after slashing his wrists.

Bob Crosbys Trying to Save Their Marriage

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—The Bob Crosbys ar together again, hopeful of saving their 21-year marriage.

"We had a very happy holiday," Crosby said Sunday night. He told newsmen that he and his wife, June, dined together Christmas Day and attended church Sunday.

The couple separated after an argument last month. Mrs. Crosby told police at the time that her husband came home in an angry mood and pushed her. She said Crosby was stabbed in the arm and chest when she grabbed a letter opener to defend herself.

Crosby's version was that his wife had fallen when he attempted to disarm her.

The couple have five children — aged 8 to 19.

To Show Czech TV

NEW YORK (AP) — Television station WNTA plans to start showing TV films made in Czechoslovakia next month as part of the U.S.-Soviet Union cultural exchange program. WNTA producer Lester Wolff said Sunday American TV films will be shown in Czechoslovkia.

TREAT FOR AN 'EXTRA' — One of hundreds of horses used in the spectacular land-rush scene of "Cimarron" gets a sugar treat from actress Maria Schell, on location in Arizona. Anne Baxter, left, is dance hall queen Dixie Lee. Maria plays heroine Sabra Cravat in the new film version of the Edna Ferber story. Glenn Ford, shown with the ladies, has the role of Yancey Cravat.

'Devil Told Me to Stab Them'

Police Hold Mother for Murdering 2 of Her Children

YORK, Pa. (AP)—"The devil told me to stab my four children and my husband," a 39-year-old woman told state police.

They arrested Pauline E. Amspacher Sunday on charges of murdering her infant son, Jackie, 9 months old, and her eldest child, Jean, 6. Each was stabbed several times in the chest.

Mrs. Amspacher's husband, Sylvester, 62, a laborer, told police his wife awakened him Sunday morning and said Jackie was dying.

He found the boy bleeding. A few minutes later she said he heard Joan whimpering and saw his wife coming from the girl's bedroom with a paring knife.

The Amspachers' two sons weren't harmed.

Mrs. Amspacher was held without bail after a hearing at which a psychiatrist recommended that a sanity commission examine the woman.

How Could He Forget to Give That Lecture?

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—The students waited for the lecture by Maksim Stern but the lecturer on the faculty of the local medical college didn't show up.

Somebody called Stern's home but he was found in the Academy of Science building, having forgotten the lecture.

Thieves Flee Unopened Safe in Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — Thieves who broke into the Lake Orion Lumber Co. and carried the safe out behind a shed where they pried off the dial netted nothing for their trouble.

After trying to jimmy the lock, they apparently were scared off before getting the safe open, according to Police Chief Neal Leonard.

The break-in was discovered by the night watchman who found the basement window broken early Saturday morning. The building is located at 215 S. Broadway St.

Local police are continuing their investigation today.

Jakarta Trial of Ex-GI Opens

Miami Pilot Charged With Flying Bomber for Indonesian Rebels

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The trial of Allan Lawrence Pope, Miami pilot charged with flying a bomber for Indonesian rebels, opened today but was quickly recessed until Jan. 2 to consider defense protests.

The 31-year-old American was stern faced but otherwise outwardly indifferent as he was brought under guard before an Indonesian air force court-martial for the trial that could mean a death sentence.

Pope, who flew combat missions in the Korean War, was captured May 18, 1958, after his B26 was shot down over the Banda Sea during the uprising in Sumatra and the Celebes.

Four charges were lodged against him. They were helping enemies of the state and carrying arms and ammunition, each of which carried a maximum death sentence, and rebellion against the state and killing Indonesian nationals. The latter two carry maximum sentences of 15 years imprisonment.

Pope's Indonesian lawyer, appointed by the court, challenged the validity of the trial. He also protested he had not been given time to prepare his case since the English translation of the charges was delivered to him only two days ago. He also raised other points concerning the Geneva Convention on Prisoners of War.

The presiding judge ordered the recess after the prosecution pleaded for time to reply to the defense objections.

Skinny Crawl Through

MIAMI (UPI)—The prisoners remaining in the Miami jail may wish they had gone on diets. Fifteen pint-sized inmates crawled to freedom through an 11-inch wide air conditioning vent Saturday. Officials said their fellow inmates were too big to squeeze through.

Hollywood Headlines:

Shavian Letters Sleeper Keeping Aherne Awake

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I've been working my fool head off," says Brian Aherne, "all because I got involved with a sleeper."

From the British-born actor, I learned that there are also sleepers on the stage. The term has long been used to designate modest movies that achieve unexpected success — "Marty," "Champion" and the like.

THOMAS

Aherne wasn't looking for anything like a long run after he finished 15 months in the road company of "My Fair Lady." The producer wanted him to sign on for another five years at a fine salary.

"I couldn't possibly," he said. "If I had stayed with the show any longer, I would have lost my health, my wife, my family. It was absolutely exhausting. I don't understand how Rex Harrison was able to do it for two years in New York and one in London."

Aherne limped back to Hollywood to marshal his forces. Then he received a call from his longtime costar, Katherine Cornell. She said a talented man named Jerome Kilty had put together the correspondence between Mrs. Patrick Campbell and George Bernard Shaw for a reading.

"We suddenly discovered we had a hit on our hands," said Aherne. "None of us ever suspected it. We thought it was something that might go over in academic communities. So it was booked as a concert through Sol Hurok.

"We were scheduled a year ahead to play big college auditoriums and one-nighters; the tickets were already sold. We can't even get into New York until March."

He had just returned from a week of one-nighters in the Pacific Northwest. The troupe travels in a land cruiser, a large bus with galley and bunks — "There are no trains any more, and the planes don't make short hops." He was leaving to resume the tour in Washington, D.C.

The schedule is a back-breaker, but the players can be heartened that such shows are breathing life back into the road, sadly ailing until this season.

Catty Christmas Gift Makes for Black Yule

GUILDFORD, England (UPI)—Mrs. M. J. Cater gave this description today of what happened after a friend gave her a black cat for Christmas:

"An hour afterwards I tripped up and bruised my shin and in the next five hours I broke two cups, left my purse on a bus, had a quarrel with my mother-in-law and tore my stocking."

Bob Considine Says:

Ike, Nixon Open New Frontiers

NEW YORK — This, of course, was the first year in our history that a President and a Vice President made foreign tours anywhere nearly as farflung as those undertaken by Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Nixon.

Their separate trips were of incalculable aid to the prestige and understanding of the United States. Their freedom of movement, the places they visited, the things they said, the boons they openly or tacitly promised, heralded a historic change in American foreign policy.

In hardly half a year — he died in May — the policy of John Foster Dulles was reversed to such a degree that at year's end it smacks of the policy of a secretary who might have lived and died before Pearl Harbor or Fort Sumter.

Mr. Eisenhower has delegated to Mr. Nixon more authority and more dignity of office than any president before him allowed a vice president.

He has sensibly made the vice presidency the next most important job in government, a far and useful cry from the not-too-fantastic image of the vice presidency drawn by Victor Moore as Vice President Alexander Throttlebottom.

Yet, to a reporter who covered both Nixon's trip to Russia and Poland and Eisenhower's recent one to 11 nations it was interesting to note the chasm that still divides the two posts — from the standpoint of importance.

The world bows to the president of the United States, but it feels it can still calp its veep on the back.

Nixon was literally assaulted by Khruschev on the first day they met in Moscow. Earlier the same day he was the victim of a vicious double-cross when his efforts to help buy some tickets to the American exhibition for a group of Moscow workers boomeranged into a frontpage story in which a worker charged that he tried to demean the workers and accentuate their poverty.

FOUGHT BACK

Khruschev was downright insulting. Only the fact that he is the ablest political scrapper that his party possesses kept Nixon from being knocked out.

Once he sensed that Khrushchev was dead serious, and was out to make him admit the fallacy of America's world posture, Nixon's head cleared and he fought back with great skill and impact.

As the vice president's trip progressed, he was systematically subjected to the best-planned worst-executed heckling I've ever seen. "Workers" approached him wherever he was led, even in the bowels of a copper mine near Sverdlovsk, and confronted him with such puzzlers as "when will your imperialistic forces be withdrawn from Germany?" — and "have your scientists any conscience about poisoning the atmosphere with strontium-90?"

Nixon would stop and with great earnestness attempt to answer carefully trained actors, or party workers, who had little knowledge of the very questions they had been trained to ask.

On the other hand, the greatest defenerce was shown the President as he swung through Rome, the Vatican, Ankara, Karachi, Kabul, New Delhi, Agra, Teheran, Athens, Tunis, Toulon, Paris, Madrid and Casablanca. His visits were all but visitations. It was said that his was almost a Messianic welcome.

HAD IT MADE

In truth, no Messiah ever had it made as well as Ike. He engendered downright rapture in countless millions of persons strikingly different in their ways of life. Men of impressive stature in the world — and as different in race and training and philosophy as, say, the Pope and Nehru — met the President with respect and open pleasure.

There were no taunts, no pickets, never a barbed word in an editorial. In Italy the rains and winds and erosions of nine years had failed to erase completely the blotched old wall signs reading "Eisenhower — another Kesserling" and the Communists who put those signs there when Ike was head of Shape fought now to bid him welcome.

The prospect of his being accosted by a leader who demanded explanations of U.S. policy, or of being pestered by a heckiner, were unthinkable. For him to have been humiliated or threatened as Nixon was during his Latin American trip, well, that would have been many leagues beyond unthinkable.

Two trips . . . as different as night and day. But alike as two peas in the basic spirit that prompted them: The nation's slow awakening to the fact that it must tell its good-hearted story from the lips of its most important elected officers — not from those of career diplomats or even a minister as sincere and dedicated as Mr. Dulles.

Honeymoon in Israel

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Seymour Halpern (R-NY), 45, and his bride, fashion coordinator Barbara Olsen, 26, will honeymoon in Israel before returning to Washington for the opening session of Congress Jan. 6. They were married Sunday in a private ceremony here. It was the first marriage for both.

Corn Futures Firm in Light Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Corn futures developed a little firmness but other grains and soybeans were steady to weak today in early dealings on the Board of Trade.

Soybeans and rye slipped major fractions of a cent on scattered liquidation but trade was light all around.

Wheat steadied on word that Colombia had bought 373,000 bushels of hard over the weekend and that Turkey has asked offers on more than a million bushels for acceptance or rejection tomorrow.

Trade was somewhat more active near the end of the first hour with wheat ⅛ to ¾ cent a bushel lower, March $2.03; corn ¼ to ½ higher, March $1.13½; oats ¼ to ½ higher, March 75⅞; rye ⅜ to ¾ lower, March $1.28 and soybeans ¼ to ½ lower, January $2.11¼.

$1,000 Fire Damages Home in Lake Orion

LAKE ORION—Fire of undetermined origin caused about $1,000 damage to the Robert D. Chrisman home at 600 Heights Rd. here at 7:45 p.m. Christmas Day.

The blaze burned a hole in the living room floor, and embers dropped into the basement, setting fire to an upholstered chair and some laundry.

The Lake Orion Fire Department brought the blaze under control in about half an hour.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Oakland at their offices, 2420 Pontiac Lake Road, Pontiac, Michigan, until 9:30 o'clock, a.m., Eastern Standard Time, January 14, 1959, and will be publicly opened and read at 10:00 o'clock, a.m. of the same date for furnishing the following:

6 months requirements of "100 level" or better Auto and Truck Tires and Tubes, of the following brands: Firestone, U. S. Royal, Goodyear, General and B. F. Goodrich.

Information, bidding blanks and specifications may be obtained upon request. Bids must be made upon Oakland County Road Commission bidding forms.

All proposals must be plainly marked as to their contents.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to waive defects and to accept the proposals that in the opinion of the Board, is in the best interest and to the advantage of the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Oakland, Michigan, and of the County of Oakland, Michigan.

Ingham Sheriff Charged Again

Cited for Drunk Driving Second Time This Year; Leaves for Rest

LANSING (AP)—For a second time in three months Ingham County Sheriff Willard P. Barnes was charged today with drunk driving.

Barnes resigned as president of the Michigan Sheriffs Assn. in October after he was charged but before being convicted in the earlier case.

Jack Warren, county prosecutor, authorized the new warrant against the five-term Republican sheriff after a weekend of study of reports on the incident last Thursday.

Coroner Dorwin Hoffmeyer was designated to serve the warrant. Barnes was reported by his wife "up north" for a two-week rest on a physician's advice.

She said he couldn't be reached. Warren said Barnes was apprehended by State Police the afternoon before Christmas but was not jailed because a sheriff legally can be arrested only by a coroner.

Trooper Ralph Warnstrom stopped Barnes on a county road southeast of the Michigan State University campus after running down a complaint that a drunk driver was in the area.

Warnstrom reported to Warren that the sheriff "appeared inebriated," that his speech was slurred, his eyes were blurred and that there was liquor on the front seat of the car.

Barnes was convicted of drunk driving Oct. 27 by a Williamston Justice Court jury. He was ordered to pay $100 fine and $125 costs or serve 30 days in jail. The case is on appeal to Circuit Court.

Youth Still Unconscious 6 Days After Accident

Cyrus W. Osborn, 18, of 125 Martell Dr., Bloomfield Hills, remained unconscious today at Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital, Detroit, for the sixth consecutive day since his car crashed on the Lodge expressway in Detroit.

Being chased by a Detroit police car for speeding, the youth lost control of his car and it crashed into a utility pole, flipping over several times.

Market Uneven With Trend Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved unevenly in moderate active trading early this afternoon.

The trend was slightly higher on balance but most price movements were narrow and indecisive except for a handful of special situations.

Ampex continued under heavy selling pressure in continued reaction to last week's news of a development at General Electric which looms competitively to its tape recording business.

Steels were a bit higher on balance despite discouraging news about the steel strike impasse. Utilities and mail-order retails were on the firmer side.

Aircrafts, rails and building materials and tobaccos were generally lower.

Ampex plummeted about 9 points. General Time, which soared 26¼ last week, was down 5 points or so on profit taking, reducing an early loss of about 9.

Zenith, Texas Instruments, Goodyear and Minnesota Mining were off about 2 apiece. Philco and Raytheon dropped fractions.

Martin Co. was up fractionally following news of a $22,600,000 missile contract. Hupp Corp. continued active and rose another fraction. The firm announced some acquisitions.

U.S. Borax advanced about a point following word that earnings for the past fiscal year were triple the previous year's.

General Motors picked up about a point while American Motors declined a point or so. U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Jones & Laughlin were fractional gainers.

Attorney 'Best Actor'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The movie industry publication Film Daily has named Boston attorney Joseph N. Welch as the best supporting movie actor of 1959. Welch, Army counsel in the 1954 Army-McCarthy Senate hearings, was cited yesterday for his role as a judge in "Anatomy of a Murder."

Ford Sees Top Quarter in History

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Division will deliver more new cars and trucks in the final quarter of this year than in any similar three months in division history, a Ford Motor Co. official predicted today.

J. O. Wright, company vice president and Ford Division general manager, forecast that by the end of 1959 Ford dealers will have delivered more than 1,800,000 vehicles.

He said daily sales of cars and trucks from the Oct. 8 introduction of 1960 models through the second 10 days of December have averaged 6,167 units per selling day.

Wright also predicted that the division's first quarter production schedules next year will be the highest in history and 35 per cent over the same 1959 period. He said Ford already has produced more than one-half million 1960 models, including some 93,000 Falcons.

Cigarettes Had King-Sized Year

And King-Sized Brand Took Top Sales Honor for First Time

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's cigarette companies had a king-sized year, increasing sales to an all-time record 453 billion cigarettes and boosting a king-sized brand to the best-seller spot for the first time.

Business Week magazine's annual survey of cigarette sales showed they were up 3.8 per cent from the previous year. The magazine said it appeared the industry's prospects are "the brightest in several years."

"The cancer scare, while causing occasional ripples in the stock market, seems to have lost its deterrent effect on smoking," it said.

"Probably the biggest problem facing the industry is the profusion of sizes, shapes and varieties of brands."

The new top-selling cigarette was Pall Mall, replacing Camel, which had led sales figures for 10 years.

Pall Mall registered a 10.3 per cent increase, the magazine said; Camel also increased sales, however, for the first time in eight years, by .8 per cent, to rank as second favorite. Third through sixth places in sales stayed with the same brands as last year: Lucky Strike, which showed a decrease in sales; Winston, which showed an increase; Kent and Chesterfild, both of which showed decreases.

The biggest gain in sales was shown by Salem, a mentholated, filtered king-size smoke, with a 38.5 per cent sales gain which jumped it from 10th to 7th place in the rating.

Business Week said all of the companies showed bigger earnings per share than the previous year, with a combined record high of 272 million dollars profits after taxes.

The magazine estimated that 35 million men smoked an average of 24 cigarettes a day and 24 million women smoked an average of 19 cigarettes a day.

Workers Reject Steel Proposal

McDonald Reports Poll Runs 95 Per Cent 'No' on Firms' Offer

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A union straw vote shows that 95 per cent of the steelworkers polled are against accepting management's "last offer" to settle the steel dispute, union president David J. McDonald said today.

McDonald said the latest count in a union survey shows 57,000 favor rejecting of the offer and 2,800 voting to accept it.

The union leader said he assumed a government-run secret ballot vote among the 500,000 steelworkers on the companies' final contract proposal would "closely follow" the results of the postcard poll.

McDonald spoke to reporters after discussing procedures for this afternoon's public hearing to be conducted by President Eisenhower's fact-finding board.

MEET SEPARATELY

The board stepped back into the marathon dispute today by meeting separately with Union and management officals in advance of the hearing.

Asked how separate negotiations on a company-by-company-basis were progressing, McDonald replied:

"They are getting nowhere."

He said there seemed to be "a lot of acrimony" in the bargaining discussions.

The President's three-man board, headed by Dr. George W. Taylor, met separately with McDonald and other members of the Union's four-man bargaining team.

2-Car Collision Hurts 5

9 Injured in City Traffic

Nine persons were injured in Pontiac auto accidents Saturday and Sunday.

Five were hurt in a two-car accident at noon Saturday at the intersection of Oakland avenue and Johnson street.

A car driven by Maury Powers, 38, of 18 Tacoma Ct., collided with one driven by Elwin L. Hale, 32, of 6767 Snowapple Dr., Independence Township.

Four persons in Powers' car were treated for minor injuries and released. They were his daughter Sheila Ann, 4, son James, 2, wife Mary Lou, 31, and Beverly B. Ritchie, 43, of 8396 Golfside Dr., Commerce Township.

Hale's three-year-old daughter Karen was also treated and released.

Hale's car was moving south on Oakland and Powers' auto west on Johnson when the accident occurred.

Howard M. Linsenman, 20, of 26 Hilismont St., was treated for bruised ribs and released from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after his car struck the rear of one driven by Wayne R. Freed, 18, of 34 Hovey St.

Freed was preparing to turn off Saginaw onto Turk street when the accident occurred at 11:15 a.m. Saturday.

Linsenman told police his car went out of control on the slippery street when he applied the brakes.

A 49-year-old woman, Alva D. Freed, 514 Rowland St., was struck by a truck while crossing Cass avenue near Huron street at 3:25 p.m. Saturday.

She told police she did not see the truck approaching because of heavy fog. The truck was driven by Duane R. Field, 25, of 1317 Alhi St., Waterford Township.

She was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital for treatment of a fractured leg. Her condition is satisfactory.

Thomas Bennington, 35, of 71 Omar St., was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital for treatment of a neck injury when his car was struck in the rear by one driven by Harry A. Cundy, 62, of 474 E. Kennett Rd. His condition is satisfactory.

Bennington had stopped for a light on N. Perry street at Madison avenue when the accident occurred at 3:40 p.m. Saturday. Cundy told police his vision was obscured by fog.

Alberta Broadnax, 48, of 318 Central St., was treated for minor injuries and released from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital this morning after the car in which she was a passenger went out of control, striking a parking sign and hitting a tree at 520 S. Paddock St.

The driver, James Calvin, 32, of 590 California St., told police he did not see the road curve. The accident occurred at 1:55 a.m.

Two Detroit Thefts Appear Pro Jobs

DETROIT (AP)— Two weekend burglaries in which jewels and furs valued at $25,000 were stolen gave police a theory today that a gang of skilled professional jewel thieves is operating in Detroit.

Police said about $13,000 worth of furs and jewels was stolen last night from the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bankel of 16950 Normandy.

Kellner said the burglars were believed to be the same who stole $12,000 worth of jewelry at the home of Aubrey H. Ettenheimer of 4040 Outer Drive West Saturday night.

Three Treated for Hurts in Pontiac Twp. Crash

Three persons were treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released yesterday morning after being injured in a two-car collision at South boulevard and Adams road, Pontiac Township.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies identified the injured as Willard Riegel, 46, and his wife Frances, 39, of Escanaba, and Addie City, 19, of 2332 Tyler, Detroit.

The Detroit girl was a passenger in the car driven by Robert S. Dabish, 17, of 748 Lawrence, Detroit. He was not hurt. Deputies said the accident occurred in a heavy fog.

8 Imprisoned in Packing Tiff

Carried Firearms on Return to Struck Plant Reopened Today

ALBERT LEA, Minn. (AP)—Eight workers were jailed for carrying firearms on their return to work at the struck Wilson & Co. meat packing plant, reopened today after a martial law shutdown.

A ninth man was in custody at the plant and officers said he, too, would be jailed.

There were no disturbances, however, as workers streamed into the plant grounds with only four pickets standing by.

Police confiscated five shotguns, two rifles, seven pistols and a hunting knife as they searched cars. Some of the weapons were loaded.

The nine men are held for contempt of an earlier restraining order issued in a state District Court. The order dealt with conduct of pickets and workers, and the number of pickets permitted at the plant gates. The men were not named.

None of them is from Albert Lea or Freeborn County, which were under martial law for 16 days until today, officers said.

The plant resumed operations under protection of National Guardsmen, sent here 2½ weeks ago to quell picket line violence.

The United Packinghouse Workers of America Union had only token pickets at the gates as cars carrying nonunion workers streamed into the plant's grounds this morning.

Martial law in Albert Lea and surrounding Freeborn County was lifted at midnight by Gov. Orville Freeman in compliance with the court order that reopened the plant.

The Guardsmen were kept on duty, however, to help local police to keep the peace that has been undisturbed since the two days of rock-throwing demonstrations Dec. 9 and 10.

Their main job was to enforce a district court order issued before martial law was declared. The order signed by Judge John Cahill prohibited more than four union pickets at any plant entrance or more than three persons congregating outside the gates.

Look for Dog That Bit Boy; Offer Reward

An eight-year-old Clarkston boy will have to undergo a long and painful series of preventive shots against rabies unless a dog which bit him Dec. 18 is found before Friday.

The boy is Edward Thomson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thomson, 6488 Church St., Independence Township.

Doctors wish to examine the dog to determine if it is rabid.

Edward was bitten on the lip by the dog on the Clarkston elementary school playground. The animal is a tan boxer with a white spot on the forehead.

Mrs. Thomson today appealed for any information on the dog's whereabouts. Her phone number is MA 5-1025. A reward is offered.

Wrigley Stores Moving Headquarters to Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — National headquarters of ACF-Wrigley stores, Inc., will be moved from Oklahoma City to Detroit Jan. 4.

The Detroit offices will be in the First National Bank Building in Cadillac Square.

Prevent Explosion in Gas Pump Blaze

The quick action of Waterford Township firemen late Saturday afternoon probably averted an explosion at the L.H. Cole Gulf gasoline station, 2520 Pontiac Lake Rd.

With the station closed for the day, one of the gasoline pumps caught fire due to a faulty wire connection, firemen said.

An unidentified person called the fire department. Within minutes the firefighters had arrived and extinguished the flames. They estimated damage at $150 to the pump.

The station is leased to co-partners James Fahner and Harold Cox of Detroit.

Quit, He Tells Castro

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore), one of Fidel Castro's staunchest U. S. supporters, has advised the Cuban leader to retire if "you can't be an effective prime minister."

Real TV Tale Tops Imagined in Drama

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Loretta Young, whose TV show specializes in soap operas, produced a real life story during the holidays that tops any script she's done on video.

The dramatic star bought a story from Mrs. Madeline Conley, wife of a Covina, Calif., truckdriver, that begins shooting Jan. 4.

The Conleys have adopted five children, all under the age of seven. Two of them are handicapped American boys. The other three are Korean girls, Vicki Sue and Marcy Jo, both 6, and Kimberly Ann, 4.

An $82 weekly paycheck supports the Conley family and provides them with a three-bedroom tract house. When bills are paid, including astronomical doctor and hospital bills for operations for their adopted sons, there isn't much left for food and clothing. But Mrs. Conley has found a way to help support the family. She has become a TV writer and made actresses of the girls.

"All three of my daughters have appeared on Miss Young's show in the past," she said happily. "But this new one is something special. My little Vicki is going to star in her own life story.

"Vicki came to us about a year ago. She was a Korean street girl from the time she was 2½ years old. Her American GI father deserted Vicki and her baby brother after their mother died. Vicki strapped her brother to her back and joined a street gang of other Eurasian children.

"They lived in an abandoned farm building on the outskirts of Seoul by day, and during the night the older ones came out to steal.

"Vicki was 5 years old when the police finally caught her. She and her little brother were sent to separate orphanages over there and we've never been able to locate him."

A frightened, skinny, wild thing when she came to the Conleys, Vicki now is a gentle-mannered little girl with shoe-button-bright eyes and a dazzling smile. She has put on weight, learned a smattering of English and loves to perform before the TV cameras.

"The TV people paid me $300 for her story," Mrs. Conley said. "It is the first thing I've ever written. And they'll pay Vicki Sue more than $300 for acting out the role.

"All that money will help keep our family going, and keep us all together. Coming at this time of year it's as if this is all the hand of the Lord."

Storms Rip Europe, Add to Holiday Toll

LONDON (UPI)—Storms and gales buffeted Europe today from Scandinavia to Italy, adding to the Christmas weekend death toll of 248 lives in automobile accidents, avalanches and floods.

France, with 71 holiday fatalities, headed the list of hard-hit nations. The death toll reached 40 in Britain, 29 in Italy, 22 in Austria and 20 in Germany. Dozens of other victims died in holiday accidents.

Gales swept Britain and the Automobile Associates warned motorists to "exercise extreme caution, otherwise there is a danger of being turned over."

Two Spend Night Without Shelter on Mountaintop

BUENA VISTA, Colo. (UPI) — Two young lowlanders from Texas couldn't understand why anyone worried about them when they spent the night without shelter in near-zero temperatures on a Colorado mountain.

Woodrow Hassinger and George Koch, both 18, of Dallas, built a fire to keep warm Saturday night near the 10,500 foot summit of Silver Cliff Mountain. They made their way down the slope early yesterday.

A search party had set out late Saturday to find them after a third youth, Larry McCrary, 18, a student at Arlington State College in Texas, reported his buddies stranded.

"We weren't in any trouble," said Hassinger, a Texas A&M student, "We were both real warm, and after we got a fire started it was real comfortable."

THEY COULDN'T WAIT FOR SUMMER — John Mattern, 18, of Des Moines, got this 17-foot canoe for Christmas. He couldn't wait to try it, so he and his father, Dr. John Q. A. Mattern, hauled it upstream and paddled 12 miles back to town on the Des Moines River. It took them two hours through fog, mist and freezing weather.

Looks Like Another Big Year in Florida

By EARL WILSON

MIAMI BEACH — Florida is expecting a big year this year. Florida is always expecting a big year this year, according to Californians — and sometimes it gets one.

But despite the kidding, this is a place to get away from those New York snows. Christmas was over and Santa Claus was in the hospital suffering from sunstroke. Some of the beautiful carhops had sun-blistered knees . . . the form-fitting, shortie-sized Miss Santa Claus outfits they wore through the holidays came just below their thighs.

WILSON

To us damyankees, the New Year's and Christmas holidays in hot weather have always seemed amusing. There's a kind of laziness here that gives you a different feeling than you get in New York, Chicago or St. Louis.

We went out to Tropical Park. People lounged in the club house and watched the races on television, while relaxing in an easy chair with a drink and exclaiming, "This outdoor life is wonderful for you."

But the forward look of Miami Beach as we steer into the '60s is healthy. Your average price for a single room in a luxury hotel in season, with a terrace, is $50 a day (I can remember the cheap old days when it was only $37 a day). This is $2 an hour to be in a room which you're supposed to be out of, because if you're in it you must not know anybody.

You really should be out at a cabana somewhere, indulging in the big outdoor sport, which is comparing money, especially this year's stock market killings. The women wear mink over their mink.

Out on one of the causeways we saw a sign:

"We Honor Diners Club, American Express and Hilton Credit Cards—"Also Cash."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN NEW YORK . . .

Edd (Kookie) Byrnes was with model Brenda Sammis . . . Drummer Buddy Rich, a heart attack victim, arrived in N.Y., was rushed to the hospital . . . Are the Charles Van Dorens planning a move to Paris? . . . Gene Tierney earned a bonus from her Topeka employers for her heavy Christmas sales . . . Liberace'll earn 25Gs a week for his four-month British tour . . . Doris Day and Marty Melcher are bidding for Cole Porter's handsome Massachusetts estate.

Meanest Thief Takes Canister

Newton Fund Is Swelling

LAKE ORION — The fund for Dale Newton is swelling despite the theft of a nearly-filled canister from Woodward's Party Store Saturday, Stanley Sweet, fund chairman, said today.

The meanest thief in town took the canister which contained nearly $50 for the injured youth — the largest amount collected in any of the local stores, Sweet said.

The fund was established for young Newton, 19, to help pay his hospital and other expenses. He faces permanent paralysis from the waist down as a result of a gunshot wound suffered in a gas station holdup Nov. 30.

When told about the fund, the injured Highland Township youth said it gave him a feeling of "true happiness" to know that people care enough to contribute toward his care and treatment.

CLOSE TO $200

Sweet said that the contributions now total close to $200, with donations coming from as far away as Detroit.

Sweet went to Pontiac General Hospital to see Newton just before Christmas and found him cheerful and optimistic about the future.

The youth said he was looking forward to learning an occupation he could handle and also was elated at the news that he was going to be a father, Sweet said.

In addition to use of the canisters, Postmaster Arthur H. Wietschat is accepting mailed donations for the injured youth.

Slate Lie Tests in Two Slayings

Husbands Shot, Lovers Held; Police Doubtful of One Confession

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (UPI) — Floyd E. Hargrove, 34, who admitted the sniper slaying of a scoutmaster and to having an affair with his wife, was to take a lie detector test today because police doubted his oral confession.

Also scheduled for a lie test in the fatal Christmas Eve shooting of Charles Clark, 35, Mentor, Ohio, was his wife, Lois, 30, an attractive former model, and three other men with whom she told police she had had affairs.

It was doubtful, however, that Mrs. Clark would take the test scheduled at Shaker Heights police station, because she was placed under sedation all day Sunday due to her nervous condition.

Identities of the other three men scheduled for the test were not revealed.

Hargrove, a truck driver and divorced father of five, Saturday admitted to the shooting. He at first refused, then agreed to take a lie test.

But a deputy in Sheriff William B. Evans' office said Hargrove has not signed a written confession.

Men Could Be Slaves to Robots

CHICAGO (UPI) — "Thinking machines" are becoming so efficient that the machine could end up dominating man, a noted scientist warned yesterday.

Norbert Wiener, one-time child prodigy who graduated from Harvard at 18, told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that if such machines are not used properly, dangerous economical and social problems could result.

"Many people have poo-poohed the dangers of machine techniques, and they flatly contracted the early prediction of Samuel Butler (an English author) that the machine might take over control of mankind," Dr. Wiener said.

"If the machines become more and more efficient and operate at a higher psychological level, the catastrophe foreseen by Butler of the dominance of the machine comes nearer and nearer."

Dr. Weiner declared the idea was false that "nothing can come out of a machine that has not been put in it."

"This is often interpreted as asserting that a machine which man has made must remain continually subject to man," he said. "The problem is very close to the great problem of slavery."

Hungarian Refugee Count Is Found Dead

NEW YORK (UPI)—The body of Count Geza Esterhazy, who fled Red Hungary in 1957 and came to the U.S. four months ago, was found by police Saturday night in the East River.

Officers said the 70-year-old count apparently had fallen from the New York University research yacht where he lived and worked as a $100-a-month caretaker.

He was reported missing Dec. 18 by his daughter, the countess Elvira Esterhazy.

Want Ad Receipt

LONDON (UPI)—An ad in today's London Times was headed "Shoplifter," and read, "C. and A. Modes Ltd. acknowledge the receipt of 25 pounds conscience money."

It Wasn't Santa Claus Who Arrived, Daddy-O

NEW YORK (UPI)—Detectives yesterday arrested five girls and five young men at a party which they said began Christmas Eve. All were charged with possession of narcotics.

The password to get into the apartment, police said, was "Santa Claus is here, daddy-o."

TV News and Reviews

As Fidgety Fifties Pass, New, Old Stars Recalled

(Editor's Note: This is the first of two columns on TV in the '50s and in 1960. Today—Fifties, farewell.)

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Congress provided a neat frame for marking off the first full decade of television.

The 1950s began with a congressional crime investigation that helped make the public, if nothing else, more TV-conscious and ended with a congressional "rigged quiz" investigation that, if nothing else, helped make TV more public-conscious.

Between these hearings came thousands of TV shows that produced new heroes, habits and hankerings. Video-tube heroes of the decade include Pat Boone, Ernie Kovacs, Jack Paar, Dick Clark, Tom Poston, Steve Allen, Dave Garroway, Captain Kangaroo, Desi and Lucy, Howdy Doody, Sam Levenson, Jim Garner, Jim Arness, Efrem Zimbalist Jr., Edd Byrnes, Ricky Nelson, Craig Stevens, Robert Horton, Bill Cullen, Audrey Meadows, Edie Adams, Polly Bergen, Richard Boone, Tony Randall and Art Carney.

The same decade, and often the same shows, saw many show business veterans make the switch to TV: Bob Hope, Groucho Marx, Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, Loretta Young, Perry Como, Red Skelton, Victor Borge, Danny Thomas, Ed Sullivan, Garry Moore, Dinah Shore, Cliff Arquette, Ralph Edwards, Bob Cummings, Walter Brennan, Ed Wynn and Fred Astaire.

NEW COMEDY

New production empires evolved: Talent Associates (David Susskind), Four Star (Pick Powell), Desilu. New writers developed: Paddy "Marty" Chayefsky, Rod "Patterns" Serling, James "Little Moon of Alban" Costigan. New comedy: Sid Caesar, Jonathan Winters, Shelley Berman, Mike Nichols and Elaine May. Dancers: Shirley Maclaine, Barrie Chase, Marge and Gower Champion, Peter Gennaro.

Anyone for memories? It's easy to recall such events as Mary Martin's "Peter Pan," Faye Emerson's gowns, Max Liebman's sputtery spectaculars, Pat Weaver's magazine concept ("Today," "Home" and "Tonight"), Studio One-Philco-Kraft-Producers Showcase dramas, Omnibus, Leonard Bernstein, the TV debuts of Disneyland, Ginger Rogers, Noel Coward, Ethel Merman, Gina Lollobrigida.

But do you remember these items? Jackie Gleason breaking a leg on stage during a show? Ken Murray's shows? Lucille Ball's pregnancies—one on TV's "I Love Lucy," the other in real life? Miss Ball saying she would retire in 1956? Ethel and Albert? John Baragrey? Zoo Parade? The first coast-to-coast telecast — Kentucky Derby, 1952? The team of Jimmy Durante and Margaret Truman? Mr. Peepers? The political campaigns of '52 and '56 (with delegates "Joe Smith" and "R-o-m-a-n-y, Romany")?

Remember when CBS-TV's New York outlet yielded to parental pressure and stopped showing westerns during evening hours? Back in '51. Remember when NBC-TV tried to take away from CBS-TV the "$64,000 Question" by offering the sponsor a better time slot? ('55). Remember when CBS dropped Jack Paar? And when NBC-TV and then ABC-TV dropped "The Voice of Firestone"? And Godfrey dropped his friends? ('53, '54, '55, etc.)

Remember the first top winner on "$64,000 Question," a Marine captain? And the last big winner of laughs on a filmed series, an Army sergeant named Bilko?

As the decade ends, we find the bread-and-butter shows—westerns, private eye and clusters of situation comedies—occupying most of TV's buffet, with the "specials" sprucing up the party. But as they once said in a small metropolitan ball park, in another decade, wait 'til next year.

Tomorrow—What's Next?

Death-Car Driver Irate

SHIZUOKA, Japan (UPI) — Secondhand dealer Katsu Miki, 36, arrested eight times before for driving without a license, complained in an appeal to Shizuoka District Court today that the one-year sentence given him for the hit-run death of a pedestrian while driving recklessly was "undue heavy punishment."
