Kennedy Opens Wheat Sale; Russ Says 'We're Buying'

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said today "We're going to buy" American wheat. He also called for "some practical steps" to follow up the East-West agreement on the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

Gromyko talked briefly with reporters as he began a series of Washington conferences with U.S. leaders. He met with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and with President Kennedy.

The Soviet Envoy's White House call comes just about a year after his last visit on Oct. 18, 1962, just before the Cuban crisis. Kennedy later accused Gromyko of having falsely denied then the Soviet shipment of atomic missiles to Cuba.

But the atmosphere was different today, warmed by Kennedy's approval of huge U.S. wheat sales to the Soviet Union and a final, formal exchange of test-ban treaty ratifications which brought the pact officially into force at noon.

Gromyko declined comment on the wheat deal except to say: "We're going to buy it. The United States is going to sell."

As for the treaty outlawing all except underground nuclear tests, he said: "This treaty is a good one. We think that the spirit of the treaty must be developed through some practical steps."

Gromyko reserved details on what "practical steps" he had in mind for discussion at his sessions with Kennedy and Rusk, but prospects were brightened by the spreading thaw in the cold war.

CONGRESSMEN SAY

In Washington, congressional leaders said today President Kennedy intends to apply his Soviet wheat sale policy to other surplus commodities, perhaps including dairy products.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., told newsmen he "wouldn't be surprised" if other deals involving feed grains and cotton are "in the works." Kennedy gave his approval yesterday to a "one-shot" $350-million U.S. wheat sale to the Soviets.

Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges said, meanwhile, he understands a Soviet purchasing mission already is en route to the United States, presumably to begin detailed arrangements for the wheat deal.

President Kennedy gave the green light for the private sale of millions of bushels of American wheat to the Soviet Union and other Communist bloc countries yesterday afternoon at his press conference.

★ ★ ★

He made it clear that the grain was for use only in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe—not in Cuba.

Landslide Hits Water, Causes Boiling Wave

Six Towns Wiped Out in Alpine Catastrophe; Little Left Standing

From Our News Wires

LONGARONE, Italy — More than 4,000 persons were feared today to have been swept to their deaths when a massive landslide poured a 300-foot-high wall of water over a dam onto the sleeping villages of an Alpine valley.

Millions of tons of water spilled over the lip of the dam last night, poured into the valley, wiped out villages, and caught thousands in their beds. The effect of the landslide into the reservoir behind the dam was like that of a stone dropped into a teacup.

The dam itself was not collapsed by the rushing water, but a part of its crest on the right side crumbled under the shock of the wave. The concrete structure, highest arch dam in the world, held firm except for the minor damage along the top, although officials first had believed that it had collapsed and hurled the water into the valley.

The disaster was triggered by the landslide that plopped into the reservoir behind the 860-foot Vajont Dam at 10:43 p. m. (4:53 p. m. Pontiac time) yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The force of the landslide was so great that it registered on several Italian seismographs as an "earth movement." Officials believed that the shock registered at the observatories was that of the landslide itself, rather than that of an earthquake setting off the disaster.

SHATTERED VILLAGES

Rescue officials estimated that more than 4,000 persons died in half a dozen shattered villages.

Three hundred bodies had been recovered by dawn

Four towns with more than 6,000 residents virtually were wiped out and two hamlets on the edge of the reservoir disappeared in the catastrophe.

The biggest and hardest hit of the towns was Longarone, with a population of 4,600.

Surviving officials there estimated their dead at 1,500 to 1,700. The community was virtually leveled into a barren, rock-strewn stretch of sand and mud. The vanished hamlets were St. Martino and Viaspesse.

★ ★ ★

Vice Prefect Carlo Prestamburgo said Cadissago, Rivalta and Pirago, with a total population of 1,500, were wiped out. Several other villages including Castellazo, with 1,000 inhabitants, were flooded. The level of the Piave's upper reaches rose 16 feet.

BODIES SCATTERED

Bodies tumbled and turned in the flood toward the Adriatic through this area of normally green cattle pastures, vegetables, fruits and red wines.

Some bodies were found in the mud ashore. Countless others were buried deep under rocks and sand.

Aside from its town hall on high ground, Longarone virtually was wiped out when the water rushed upon it shortly before midnight.

Correspondents found the townsite flattened like a beach.

A man sitting on a boulder spoke as if in a daze.

"My family was wiped out — destroyed," he said. "I was in Belluno, working. Then I came home. I don't recognize anything. We were living here—or maybe there. I don't know."

Marie Tennysen is now at the Stylist's Beauty Salon, 18 East Rutgers, off Baldwin. FE 4-5522.

AERIAL VIEW — The 873-foot-high Vaiont Dam failed to contain a massive wave caused when an Alpine landslide fell into this reservoir. Millions of tons of water gushed over the top, smashing into sleeping communities in the northern Italy area. Thousands are feared dead.

$10 Million in Heroin Seized at Border

LAREDO, Tex. (UPI)—Customs officials today seized an estimated $10 million worth of almost pure heroin, the largest narcotics haul ever stopped at the Mexican border. They arrested a Montreal, Canada, couple.

The heroin was found buried in the springs underneath the back seat of the couple's car.

Officials said they arrested a couple identified as Michel Caron, 33, and his wife, Ida, 30.

William D. Kilman, assistant regional customs supervisor from Houston, said they confiscated about 30 pounds of the illegal narcotic.

"I am certain that this is a syndicate operation," Kilman said.

He described the haul as the largest ever made on the Mexican border, and one of the 10 biggest ever confiscated in the United States.

He said he believed the heroin came from Europe and was being routed through Mexico.

Kilman said preliminary tests showed the cache was 95-98 per cent pure.

The drug is diluted before being sold on the illegal market to addicts.

The heroin was seized during a routine search by Customs Inspector Herman Scheer and Agricultural Inspector James E. Ragsdale.

The narcotic was found in 27 half-kilo containers. A half-kilo weighs about 1.1 pounds.

Officials said the Caron couple had been in Mexico City for about six days before they began their trip back to the United States.

News Flash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said today that Army Sgt. Jack E. Dunlap who committed suicide last July had been suspected of possible security violations. The statement was in response to inquiries about a Washington Evening Star story which said Dunlap received $60,000 from Russia for passing secret information.

Detroit's Mafia Rulers Named by Police Head

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

WASHINGTON — Joseph Zerilli is the most influential figure in the ruling council of a Detroit Mafia organization which reaps a $150-million-a-year harvest from illegal enterprises, Police Commissioner George C. Edwards said today.

Testifying before the Senate Investigations subcommittee, he designated Peter Licavoli, William (Black Bill) Tocco, Angelo Meli, and John (Papa John) Priziola as the other members of "The Dons" — the Detroit Mafia's council.

Edwards said the Mafia, operating in the underworld by means of murder, fear and corruption, had also infiltrated 98 legitimate businesses worth an additional $50 million.

Chairman John L. McClelland, D-Ark., recalling testimony by underworld informer Joseph Valachi on syndicate "bosses" in New York, asked Edwards whether there was a boss on the Detroit police commissioner's chart showing 63 Mafiosi of Sicilian extraction and 18 underworld associates.

Edwards replied that Detroit authorities have not had the "asset" of a Valachi—"somebody from within the mob"—to tattle on the hierarchy. He said, he could not say "with certainty who is the top dog."

He quickly added, however, that he believes Zerilli, over the years, has had "the greatest continuing influence." Zerilli, he said, also seems to represent the Detroit area in national Mafia matters.

Top members of the Mafia, he said, live in swank suburban areas in homes costing upwards of $50,000. Of the top 16, he said, 10 live in Grosse Pointe Park, three in Grosse Pointe Woods, one in Gross Pointe Shores and two in Florida.

The Grosse Pointe area, on Lake St. Clair, is where many of Detroit's wealthier citizens have homes.

Edwards is a former associate justice of the Michigan Supreme Court. He has been nominated by President Kennedy to be a judge of the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and is continuing his police work pending Senate action on the nomination.

Pontiac Parade Will Mark Fire Prevention Week

Firemen and equipment from a score of area communities will parade in downtown Pontiac this evening to highlight Fire Prevention Week now in progress.

★ ★ ★

The parade will begin at 7 p.m. and is expected to last about one hour. The line of march will start on Saginaw at Pike and proceed north to Oakland and Clark.

Area high school bands will provide music while precision drills will be by three local marching units.

Operation Forces Mac to Resign

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan announced today he would not be able to lead the Conservative party at the next general elections.

Macmillan's announcement was read to the annual conference of the Conservative party by Lord Home, foreign secretary.

The prime minister, who underwent a successful operation for removal of his prostate gland in London today, said:

"It is now clear that, whatever might have been my previous feelings, it will not be possible for me to carry the physical burden of leading the party at the next general elections."

The elections must be held by October 1964.

Macmillan's announcement was contained in a letter written yesterday.

"If the operation, which I am to undergo tomorrow, proves successful, it is clear that I will need a considerable period of convalescence," the letter said.

"I would not be able to face all that is involved in a prolonged electoral campaign.

"Nor could I hope to fill the tasks of prime minister for any extended period, and I have so informed the queen."

Olympic Ace From Pontiac to Carry Torch on Final Leg

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

Pontiac's Hayes Jones, 1960 Olympic medal winner, will be the last runner to carry the U.S. Olympic torch when it reaches Detroit tomorrow morning.

Jones will climax a cross-country run of 14 days and 2,571 miles by anchoring the more than 400-member relay team when he hands the gas-fueled torch to Mayor Jerome Cavanagh at approximately 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Cavanagh will take the torch with him to Baden-Baden, West Germany, when Detroit makes its bid next week for the 1968 Summer Olympic Games.

★ ★ ★

The torch is winding through southern Michigan cities this afternoon and tonight. It will be carried through Battle Creek, Charlotte, Lansing, Jackson, Ann Arbor, Ysilanti, Wayne and Inkster before reaching Detroit.

The torch will reach Lansing some time this evening and Gov. George Romney plans to greet the man who is carrying it at the time.

★ ★ ★

But he told newsmen today he does not plan to run any distance with the torch himself.

"I might embarrass the racers," he said. "They've been running for a while and I'd be starting fresh."

Capital newsmen had figured Romney's penchant for physical exercise and his strong support for Detroit landing the 1968 Olympic Games would make such a demonstration "a natural."

UNIFIED EFFORT

The feat is a united effort by the U.S. to dramatize the Motor City's bid in competition with Buenos Aires, Mexico City and Lyon, France.

In another development, it was learned that the Michigan Legislature will, after all, be represented at Baden Baden.

Sen. Haskell Nichols, R-Jackson, chairman of the Legislative Olympic Committee, revealed he had dispatched Sen. Kent Lundgren, R-Menominee, to the site of the International Olympic Committee meeting.

Lundgren, Nichols said, would be the only legislator present.

LAST LEG — The 14-day Olympic torch relay from Los Angeles to Detroit went into its final 24 hours this morning in Kalamazoo. Gerald Bocci of Detroit is carrying the torch, followed by two carloads of runners. The 400 runners being used include 17 from Detroit and five from Flint.

Youth Guilty of Girl's Murder

James G. Gostlin, 20, of Novi, was found guilty of first-degree murder by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury shortly before noon today.

★ ★ ★

The jury returned its verdict 20 minutes after being charged by Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem, ending the trial which began yesterday morning.

Gostlin was charged in the hammer slaying of 11-year-old Shirley Husted of 2299 Austin, of Novi, last Dec. 19.

He was returned to the Oakland County Jail without bond to await sentencing Nov. 5.

TEARFUL ACCOUNT

Highlighting earlier testimony was a tearful account of the crime by the girl's mother, Mrs. Wesley Husted.

Later, Dr. Abraham Tauber, a Pontiac psychiatrist, testified that he didn't think Gostlin intended to commit murder when he went to the Husted home, but that he was sane.

After turning himself in last December, Gostlin admitted entering the Husted home, killing the girl, beating her father and kidnapping and twice raping her mother, state police said.

Fair and Warmer Tomorrow; Cool Trend Saturday

Sunshine and a few shadows with temperatures a little warmer, the high near 78, is forecast for the Pontiac area tomorrow.

Tonight will be fair and mild the low falling to about 52.

The outlook for Saturday is slightly cooler and fair all over the state. Morning southerly winds at 5 to 12 miles per hour will continue.

Fifty-two was the low recording in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. The reading was 74 at 2 p.m.

Flaws, Safety Stall Sub Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy disclosed today that completion of 31 atomic submarines—all those currently under construction—has been delayed because of more stringent safety inspection as well as flaws in workmanship.

All naval shipyards and private yards now building such subs are involved, it said.

"No estimate of the loss in time and money is available," the Navy said in response to an inquiry.

* * *

Earlier this week, Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the Navy's top atomic expert, said, "We are holding up atomic submarines" because of substandard contractor performance. He also said inspection by private builders was below par.

QUALITY OF WORK

Rickover did not mention the quality of work being done at naval shipyards.

Asked about Rickover's statement, the Navy said, "Some delays are being encountered in the nuclear submarine construction program."

* * *

A significant part of the delay, the Navy said, is traceable to a new technique of inspecting submarine parts by ultrasonic means rather than the less exact method of using X-rays to look for flaws.

* * *

The ultrasonic technique has come into use since the loss last spring of the atomic submarine Thresher after it had undergone extensive overhaul at the Portsmouth, N.H., naval shipyard.

BAD EQUIPMENT

"In addition, instances of deficiencies in equipment and workmanship are delay factors," the Navy said.

The statement did not go into detail, but said "all submarines not yet commissioned are involved for varying periods" and that it is happening at naval shipyards and the yards of contractors building nuclear subs for the Navy.

* * *

"It is expected that the contractor will pay the costs to the extent that deficiences are determined to be their responsibility," the Navy said.

* * *

E Botulism Suspect in More Death

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — More death and illness may be laid to botulism, killer food poisoning.

* * *

Tennessee state troopers raced at speeds close to 100 miles an hour today to relay a fresh supply of type E antitoxin serum over the 200-mile route from Knoxville to Vanderbilt Hospital here.

Doctors said this came only hours before the hospital's growing list of botulism victims threatened to deplete the meager local supply of the serum.

FOUR DEATHS

At least four deaths in recent days, two in Knoxville, Tenn., and two in Kalamazoo, Mich., have been traced to the rare type E botulism. There are now 10 persons being treated in Tennessee for the malady.

* * *

Medical authorities say that three other deaths here since Saturday might have been due to botulism, since all the victims had eaten suspected smoked whitefish. Investigations of these deaths are either incomplete or impossible, since in some cases no autopsy will be allowed.

* * *

All three deaths were diagnosed at the time as being due to other maladies.

PACKING RENEWED

H. J. Dornbos & Bros., Grand Haven, Mich., packers whose smoked whitefish has been linked to the botulism outbreak, was authorized by state officials to resume processing of frozen fish.

J. L. Littlefield, director of the Michigan Agriculture Department's Food and Standards Division, said the work will be done under his direction. The plant had closed Monday to permit authorities to investigate.

However, Harold Dornbos, plant owner, said smoking operations would not resume "until we are at the bottom of this whole thing."

Judge Praises Grant for Center

"A tremendous step forward" was the enthusiastic reaction of former Probate Court Judge Arthur E. Moore yesterday to news of a federal grant for construction of a children's village in Oakland County.

Judge Moore, now on the Circuit Court bench, fostered the concept for a village, diagnostic and service center for underprivileged children in the county more than a year ago.

* * *

Plans for the village were revealed by Judge Moore last fall. He proposed the county provide nine types of buildings on the 50-acre "campus."

Total cost of the entire project over a period of years would be $2.6 million. The initial units will run $646,000 on a matching fund basis with the federal government.

The county will receive $323,000 under the accelerated public works program to finance half the cost of first units of the unique village, it was announced yesterday.

James W. Hunt, director of county children's services, said first units would consist of a special services facility and two rehabilitation cottages.

The special services building would house about 40 emotionally disturbed children, according to Hunt, who need to be separated from neglected youngsters.

He said this facility would probably be the most expensive unit in the village at a cost in excess of $300,000 and would be single-story and house boys and girls in separated areas.

SIX COTTAGES

Rehabilitation cottages would accommodate about 30 children each. A total of six such cottages are planned for the village eventually.

The county board of supervisors has acquired a site for children's village just west of Telegraph roughly opposite the county offices.

The federal grant for beginning on the village came just as the board of supervisors was readying plans to shift youngsters from overcrowded Children's Center to a remodeled section of the medical care facility.

* * *

The architectural firm of Harry M. Denyes Jr., Associates, Inc., of Pontiac, was hired Monday by the board of supervisors to study the medical care facility to make room for the children.

The juvenile affairs committee, which has pushed for children's village, had opposed spending funds for a temporary solution when new facilities were needed.

As late as yesterday morning, the committee had mapped plans to press the board of supervisors for the village. The committee had not received a final answer on its request for federal funds.

ORDERLY PROGRESS

Abraham Brickner, committee chairman, said the village was planned so orderly progression will occur to take care of all county's juvenile program, except Camp Oakland.

* * *

The village, he said, some day may consist of six rehabilitation cottages, a school, two units of special services, and separate housing for neglected children.

Construction on first buildings must get under way within 120 days, according to accelerated public works regulations.

Romney to Appoint Insurance Overseer

LANSING (UPI) — A new state insurance commissioner will be named tomorrow to replace Democrat Sherwood Colburn, Gov. George Romney said today.

Colburn's term expires tomorrow.

Romney said the new appointee could not take office, however, until the Senate confirmed the appointment. The governor said he has interviewed "several men" for the post.

Colburn, 35, Oak Park, was named to the post late in 1961 to replace Frank Blackford.

American Wins the Nobel Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — A Nobel Peace Prize was awarded today to scientist Linus Carl Pauling, a U.S. foe of nuclear tests who long has been a center of controversy in his own land.

It is the second Nobel Prize for the professor of chemistry at the California Institute of Technology. In 1954 he won the chemistry award for his research into the forces that hold molecules together.

The Norwegian Nobel committee announced Pauling will be handed the prize for 1962. No award had been announced for that year.

The 1963 peace prize will go to the International Red Cross committee and the League of Red Cross societies.

Dr. Pauling's prize amounts to 257,219 Swedish kroner ($49,465) the two Red Cross groups will share the 1963 prize of 265,000 kroner ($50,961).

Painter to Depict State's History

BIRMINGHAM — Michigan's colorful history will be depicted in a series of oil paintings by Birmingham artist Robert A. Thom.

Thom, 6160 W. Surrey, has been commissioned for the work by Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Best known for "A History of Pharmacy in Pictures" and "A History of Medicine in Pictures" which he did for Parke-Davis and Co., Thom is working with a Michigan historian on the present work.

Now engaged in research for the project are Thom and F. Clever Bald, director of the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.

WRITE TEXT

Bald will write the text to accompany each of Thom's paintings.

Thom will produce about six paintings a year until the project is completed. Michigan Bell, however, will begin displaying the work as soon as feasible.

The paintings will be exhibited at schools, libraries, museums and public ceremonies throughout the state, according to William M. Day, Michigan Bell president.

* * *

The first canvas will record Michigan as it appeared 11,000 years ago during the age of mastodons and ice.

OTHER ERAS

Other pictures will depict Michigan's history through the eras of the Indians, fur traders, massacres, logging, mining, farming and auto manufacturing.

Thom was founding president of the Bloomfield Art Association and one of the founders of the Birmingham Arts Council. He is now serving his second term as president of the Community House.

The internationally known artist was trained at the Institute of Fine Arts in Columbus, Ohio. He worked in the art departments of the Detroit Edison Co. and Chevrolet Division before starting his own commercial art studio.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stutz will be installed as worthy patron and worthy matron of Birmingham Chapter No. 220, Order of the Eastern Star, next Wednesday night.

The 8 p.m. open installation will be held at the Birmingham Masonic Temple, 327 S. Woodward.

Says Project Director

'No Renewal Indecision'

Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates said last night that there is no indecision in the city's urban renewal planning staff as indicated Tuesday night by Mayor Robert A. Landry.

"We have been working very closely with developers," Bates said in answer to questions of Civic Improvement Advisory Committee members, meeting at city hall.

"There has been some modification in the R20 project plan, but we are in basic agreement and are working in the same direction as the city's appointed redeveloper."

Charles L. Langs of Waterford Township was named by the City Commission in April to prepare architectural drawings and line up developers for urban renewal lands.

EXCLUSIVE RIGHTS

Under the contract agreement, Langs has exclusive rights to redevelopment on urban renewal lands for one year, subject to commission approval of redevelopment proposals.

Landry said in a speech Tuesday night that Langs had been "met at every turn of the road by indecision on the part of some of our planners."

Bates emphasized last night that "what we put on the land today must be a lasting benefit to the city for many years to come.

"Otherwise, we will be defeating the purpose of urban renewal. Mr. Langs is in agreement with this."

MISUNDERSTANDING

He said there may have been some misunderstanding on small points.

"In the process of planning," he said, "we have kicked around many ideas, but this doesn't mean we are undecided or at odds over basic plans for the redevelopment of urban renewal lands."

* * *

He said the city is ready now to sell property and some proposals are already being reviewed by the Federal Housing Administration.

England Won't Permit Soviet Plane to Refuel

LONDON (UPI)—The Foreign Office said today it has refused permission for the Soviet airliner carrying cosmonaut Col. Yuri Gagarian to Mexico to land in Prestwick, Scotland, for refueling.

* * *

A spokesman said a note was delivered to the Soviet Embassy in London this morning explaining that permission was being refused because the Soviet Union does not allow similar reciprocal facilities for British planes.

West Coast Judge Unclogs Calendar

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — "You may not go along with me," the judge said to the attorney, "but I believe it would be a waste of time and money to go on trial. I don't see how a jury would come in with a verdict for you."

The speaker was Andrew J. Eyman, presiding judge of the San Francisco Municipal Court. It was a pretrial hearing of a minor auto damage suit, a procedure Eyman instituted 18 months ago as a means of speeding the course of justice.

So far, it's had spectacular results.

In January, 1962, the court had such a backlog of cases that it took 14 months for one to come to trial.

"And then in many cases there would be a settlement after only a few witnesses were called," Eyman said. "This cost a lot of money in jury fees and the costs of running a court."

The pretrial hearing is used in California superior courts. But it had not been tried in municipal courts, which handle damage suits up to $5,000.

Eyman began bringing opposing counsel before him in advance of trial for some "Dutch uncle" talk. He listens to a brief outline of their cases, offers a candid opinion of their merits and tries to coax them to settle out of court.

In the first year of the experiment, Eyman settled 265 cases. This year he's been averaging some 30 a month.

By unclogging the court calendar, the time it takes for a case to come to trial has been cut in half, to about seven months.

In the aforementioned case, Eyman told the attorney for the plaintiff, victim of a "fender-bender" type accident, that a two-day trial would cost the public about $350.

GOOD BUSINESS

"It's a case of what's good business," the judge said. "How about settling for $325? This would give you a $50 fee, with no risk of a trial that probably will end up with you getting nothing."

Opposing counsel said "it's okay by me," and the attorney for the plaintiff agreed to take it up with his client.

"They'll settle," the judge remarked out of court later. "I can always tell."

On that day, Eyman whirled through a half dozen cases in less than 90 minutes. In one instance he gently took an attorney to task over the rights and duties of citizens.

"Just because we have the power to demand a jury trial," he said, "we should give thought as to whether it would be conscientiously just. In this case it doesn't seem to be."

Eyman currently is breaking in other judges on the pretrial hearing technique.

Scotch Pup Bays Like Beagle Pals

NEW CANAAN, Conn. (UPI) — A local family bought a young Scotch terrier from a kennel that specialized in beagles.

Because the Scotty had grown up with the hounds, all his life he never barked like a Scotty — he always bayed like a beagle.

Palmer G. Bundy

PALMER G. BUNDY, who passed away Tuesday, will be remembered by the many who associated with him as an especially energetic, successful man.

★ ★ ★

With his own hands, and a well-developed business sense, "BILL" BUNDY established one of the outstanding construction firms in the area. He was a sort of one-man gang when it came to tackling a job.

BUNDY

Over the years as a result of his personal drive his firm built a number of schools and business concerns in Oakland County and the surrounding area.

Unlike many of his contemporaries BUNDY was a big man physically. But his strength was something he used in his busy and full life. When he was not on the job he still longed for physical activity.

★ ★ ★

With his many cronies he hunted and fished in hard-hitting virile fashion. On the golf course, score was secondary. "BILL" wanted to crunch the ball 300 yards off the tee. And he could do it.

★ ★ ★

In recent years he turned his capabilities to farming and was an active cattle breeder. "Bill" disliked a false impression and lived more by the humorous type of compliment and kindness.

His special type of energy will be missed and a grand guy has left our midst.

Some Must Renew Vote Registration

Effective with the adoption of the new State constitution, Jan. 1, 10,000 of Pontiac's registered voters could become ineligible to vote. That is, unless they do something about it.

Under the present constitution, a voter must vote or be re-registered every four years to preserve right of ballot. But the new constitution reduces this time-provision by half.

As a result, nearly a fourth of the City's 37,000 voter registrations will be invalid with the new year.

Area citizens who have not registered or voted since Jan. 1, 1962, should immediately renew their registrations at clerks' offices of the various local governing units.

Although valid registration and exercise of voting right is the duty of every patriotic American, the local and national issues coming before the electorate in 1964 are of such paramount importance that no one should fail to be qualified to cast his vote.

★ ★ ★

The need to be properly registered and qualified to vote is particularly emphasized by the importance of, and widespread interest in, the Jan. 13 special election on amendment of the city charter for change of procedure in election of city commissioners.

"Obey that impulse," as a long-ago advertiser exhorted, and register now.

Fire Prevention Week Sounds Timely Alert

One of nature's forces rates top billing as filling the dual role of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

It is mankind's great boon on one hand and a source of malevolent fury and destruction on the other.

It is fire.

To keep the citizenry conversant with the damage and loss from carelessness in the use of it, President KENNEDY has proclaimed this week as Fire Prevention Week.

★ ★ ★

Fire safety is the theme of the observance, with Pontiac's Mayor ROBERT A. LANDRY adding his proclamation to that of the President's.

Property loss resulting from fires in 1962 was over $1.5 billion. Pontiac's own loss was $204,985, a figure already surpassed this year.

★ ★ ★

Sounding the alarm at this season is most timely. With building and dwelling heating equipment again in service after several months' inaction, a careful check of fitness should be made. And at the same time it wouldn't be a bad idea to have an inspection of cooking and heating appliances and electric circuits and outlets.

This is also the time that rubbish fires become numerous. Removing debris from cellars, attics and closets will pare extensive fire loss from that source.

And a final warning that could well be sounded daily is that one of the main causes of fires is carelessness in the handling of matches, and smoking. Matches should be kept where small children cannot reach them and, as Fire Chief James White warns, "If you value your life, don't smoke in bed."

★ ★ ★

Let's keep fire our friend. It's a bad enemy.

Goldwater Habit: Removing Shoes

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Perhaps psychologists can read special significance into this bit of intelligence: Conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater invariably removes his shoes during closed sessions of the Senate Preparedness Committee.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

The shoes are of the loafer variety, and can therefore be kicked off without stopping to unlace them. This is fortunate, since the GOP presidential front-runner shares with Democratic second-term presidential candidate John F. Kennedy the misery of a bad back.

Barry and JFK also shared the same back doctor — Dr. Janet Travell — until the President removed her from private practice by naming her the first woman White House physician.

Although Dr. Travell still holds the title and office, most of her duties have quietly been shifted to Dr. (Rear Admiral) George Burkley, who oversees the White House dispensary and travels with the President.

In an administration noted for its "planted leaks," one of its best kept secrets is why Dr. Travell, once the darling of the entire Kennedy clan, has somewhat slipped from royal grace.

Goldwater, meanwhile deprived of Travell's stellar talents, must content himself with a local back doctor whom she recommended, but if by chance he should replace JFK in the White House, Dr. Travell is probably the only staff fixture who would be asked to remain.

The Arizona Senator is not, however, without some influence. The sight of his bestockinged feet has so affected fellow Sen. Margaret Chase Smith that she now slips out of her own trim pumps whenever meetings of the preparedness subcommittee are in progress.

BARRY AND MAGGIE

Barry and Maggie, who are being talked up in some quarters as a potential Republican slate for '64, have more than shoes and the committee in common.

Both sit on the Senate Armed Services Committee, and both hold high rank in the Air Force Reserve. In the Senate seniority system, Maggie outranks Barry, but when in military uniform she must salute first.

Barry is a major general and Maggie a lieutenant colonel.

Both share one compelling political conviction: the Kennedys must go in '64.

David Lawrence Says:

Senate Rights Bill Is a Threat

WASHINGTON — The citizen reads in his newspaper that the Senate Commerce Committee has reported a bill which, if enacted into law, would bar racial or religious discrimination in hotels, motels, restaurants, theaters, retail stores and almost every other place of business serving the public.

LAWRENCE

At first glance, this looks like a worthy measure. For who really believes that racial or religious discrimination in public places is, in itself morally justified?

But this very proposal strikes at the heart of constitutional government in the United States.

There isn't the slightest constitutional basis for the passage of such a bill, in fact, the Supreme Court of the United States has never stretched the so-called "commerce clause" of the Constitution to uphold any measure even remotely resembling the bill just reported to the Senate by its commerce committee.

Almost every American who doesn't believe that "the end justifies the means" and who feels that, no matter how grave the injustice, it should be cured only by constitutional means will find himself wondering whether the action of the Senate committee indicates a trend toward an abandonment of the safeguards of the Constitution.

He will ask himself whether "mobocracy" — or "street demonstrations" plus threats — has intimidated members of Congress and caused them to support a measure which most of them know in their hearts is not constitutional.

There is a way to correct any injustice done any group in the community if present constitutional provisions do not apply. It can be done by amending the Constitution.

This requires a two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress and ratification by three-fourths of the states. The argument is made that this process is too slow and that it's quicker to appoint judges who will rewrite the constitution by judicial opinion.

But the courts would thereby usurp a power they never really were granted by the Constitution. The courts are authorized to "interpret," but not to rewrite, the Constitution.

IMPORTED PARTS

Is there any article or produce today which is sold in any store or business which doesn't have parts of materials that were obtained from other states?

No such broad claim to jurisdiction has ever been made before. A senator quipped the other day that even birth control to hold down population could be forced on the public at any time merely by claiming that the diapers or safety pins used by babies had been shipped in interstate commerce.

Incidentally, restrictions which are ostensibly proposed so as to ban racial or religious discrimination in "public accommodations" would also give the federal government power to regulate hiring and firing.

It may certainly raise questions as to whether "seniority" privileges in labor unions can hereafter be sustained for they are a form of discrimination as between workers.

And, if the "commerce clause" gives the federal government a right to sit in judgment on certain questions of discrimination as between persons who buy from or work for businesses whose products have been obtained in whole or in part from other states, then labor unions could eventually find themselves under strict government regulation and supervision of all their operations.

There is, of course, no constitutional basis for such intervention.

The more the Senate bill is examined, the more it will be found to involve a revolutionary change in the American constitutional system.

Bob Considine Says:

Spectacular Lunch Breaks Highlight Vatican Council

ROME—The most spectacular lunch-break on view these days is that participated in by the Fathers of the Church who are attending the second session of Vatican II, the Ecumenical Council.

Promptly at 12:15 p.m. each day, the guards push open the great doors of St. Peter's and out they come, abbots, bishops, archbishops and cardinals, impelled by the same stomach growls that afflict ordinary mortal laymen. They carry no pails, lunch kits or thermos jugs.

CONSIDINE

They are gowned in magnificent purple and crimsom robes and lacey cassocks that reach to the old stones underfoot. (Some of them will introduce resolutions to knock off such raiment, for keeps, before the present session ends about Dec. 20.)

Together, they blend into a luminous flood as they stream from the ancient dam that is the Basilica. They have St. Peter's Square to themselves each day at this time, like a vast stage for the play of their gastric juices.

Police have cleared it of sometimes irreverent Romans, camera-bristling tourists and, of course, the press.

THE GETAWAY

Then the getaway. It's something to see. To date, no Prince of the Church has been seen scootering off to his pasta aboard a Vespa or Lambretta, sacerdotal robes flying behind him.

But just about every other type of surface transportation is used to whisk the more than 2,200 prelates to luncheon each day.

The thieves of Rome are happy about Vatican II. It promises to bring them great reward—material rather than spiritual, alas.

The other day a visiting Dominican Father was approached by an obvious follower of St. Dominic, dressed in the striking black and white of the great preaching Order.

Could he have a quiet word with the visitor in yon alley?

Visitor said sure.

PULLED A GUN

So the two stepped into the alley and the homegrown "Dominican" promptly pulled a gun from under his robes and relieved the visiting father of 10,000 lire.

Bishops have been warned to watch their rings and pectoral crosses, particularly the former. At least one bishop has had his ring pulled off his finger by a dip who professed to want to kiss it.

There's still a lot of missionary work to do around the Eternal City.

Dominus vobiscum.

Says TV Show Portrays Distorted Image of Nurses

In view of the vast coast to coast audience exposed to the television series "The Nurses," the Detroit and Tri-County League for Nursing feels it must air its views on this particular program.

★ ★ ★

It is the opinion of the league that this series consistently portrays a distorted image of the role and conduct of the registered nurse and the student nurse. Moreover, it feels that announcing this program as "a series from the lives of women in white" is improper. It is fiction and not documented.

We realize that incidents must be dramatized to attract a TV audience. Even so, we feel the public misconception created by "The Nurses" is harmful to the profession and threatens the public's trust.

The public should know that the registered nurse has far more on her mind than the handsome young doctor on the psychiatric ward or the after hours get-together with the blue-eyed intern.

★ ★ ★

Admittedly nurses, too, have personal problems, but not in the preponderance the TV series would lead one to believe.

Writer Clarifies Mistake in Article

I would like to clarify an error in the article about Mark Twain's attack on Christianity in the Oct. 7 issue of The Press.

I hope the error was made by a UPI reporter and not by the late Samuel Clemens. The doctrine of the Immaculate Conception deals with the singular privilege of the Blessed Virgin Mary to be conceived free from original sin in the womb of her mother, Saint Anne. It has nothing at all to do with the virgin birth of Christ.

Task Force Will Prepare Report on Why U.S. Youth Is Flabby

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and a lot of other Americans are worried about the bad showing made by so many young men tested for military service.

Last year a few over 300,000 reported for initial draft examinations. Virtually half of them were found unqualified for service. Nearly a fourth flunked fairly simple mental tests.

This is enough to alarm anybody, and Kennedy has set up a high-level task force to prepare a program for the guidance, testing, counseling, training and rehabilitation of those who don't measure up.

★ ★ ★

The task force is to make a preliminary report the first of next month and a final report by the first of the year.

Bad as the situation is, those undertaking the study can find rays of hope.

One is in the experience of the Army with illiterates in World War II, referred to by Kennedy in announcing the new effort.

The Army set up special training units for men who couldn't read or write, and trained 300,000 of them. Of these, 85 per cent passed the courses and went on to serve as soldiers.

A sampling of these once-illiterates showed that a fourth of them rose to the rank of corporal or better, and a considerable number won decorations.

Another encouraging study is reported by the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

What Policies Is Goldwater FOR?

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Much of Sen. Barry Goldwater's support for the Republican presidential nomination is coming from people who are "antis"— violently against something or other.

EDSON

This has always been considered a sign of political strength and voter appeal in American campaign history.

People who are "anti" existing situations and policies usually are better political workers than those who have to support an administration in power and seeking re-election.

Any time you can get a good political reform movement going to throw the rascals out, it is hard to beat, particularly if the programs of the ins aren't working very well.

Unquestionably, Goldwater has made his reputation as an effective member of a minority party. He has goaded the Democratic administration often and loud.

This has aroused enthusiastic support from like-minded individuals all over the country and built up the senator's following. But when former President Eisenhower recently wrote that "I am unclear on precisely what Senator Goldwater's views are," he may have spoken for many others.

People know what Goldwater is against. But they have trouble listing the policies he is for. And a political candidate needs a positive platform as well as a negative program if he is to create the image of a constructive statesman and not just a critic.

Eisenhower in his copyrighted New York Herald Tribune statement put the specific questions on which he wants all Republican candidates for 1964 to go on record:

How to strengthen ties with U.S. allies? How to maintain adequate defense? How to promote full employment? How to reform the tax structure? How to bring government expenditures in line with revenues? How to check the massive accumulation of federal power? How to achieve equal rights for all? How to provide presidential leadership? How to restore trust in government?

Goldwater, noting these questions, expressed puzzlement that Eisenhower didn't know where he — Goldwater — stood on them. But a re-examination of the senator's recent speeches fails to shed much light on his positive policies though the list of things he is against is long.

He is against the Kennedy administration for "irresponsible spending, questionable defense policies and dubious foreign relations." He is also against:

- Co-existence with international communism," and even against having diplomatic relations with Russia.
- The test-ban treaty and disarmament.
- Peaceful trips to the moon. He is against relegating military functions of space to second place.
- Political and economic power of sometimes corrupt and sometimes grafting heads of the great labor unions." He would ban nationwide collective bargaining.
- Fair employment practices (FEPC) and the proposed public accommodations provision in civil rights law.
- Pentagon policy declaring segregated areas near military posts off limits to the armed forces.
- Extending federal power in the field of education "at a heavy, unwarranted cost to the taxpayers."
- Medicare under Social Security, but would give tax credits or deductions to cover medical costs.
- Most welfare programs and farm subsidies.
- The far left, liberals and Americans for Democratic Action. He has refused to denounce the far right.

If these views expose Goldwater's weaknesses they are also his source of strength among like-minded people.

Bodies of 12 Yanks Recovered in S. Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The bodies of 12 Americans killed in crashes of two U.S. Marine helicopters Tuesday were recovered late yesterday, military authorities reported.

It was the heaviest loss of American lives in one operation since the United States started its military buildup in South Viet Nam in late 1961.

Aboard the two H34 helicopters were four Marine officers, five enlisted men, a Navy doctor, and two Navy hospital corpsmen. The bodies were being taken to Da Nang, a coastal city where the Marine helicopter squadron is based.

* * *

A military spokesman said the cause of the two crashes is under investigation by a team flown into the area yesterday. One unconfirmed report said the helicopters collided in the air, but military authorities said they had received no information to support that idea.

SEARCH MISSION

The two helicopters were on a search mission for a Vietnamese Air Force plane that crashed in a dive bombing attack earlier Tuesday, 50 miles southwest of Da Nang.

The Vietnamese plane carried an American officer and a Vietnamese officer. They are listed officially as missing.

A ground party reached the second crashed helicopter this afternoon and the bodies of six occupants were found at the site, spokesmen said. They said the craft was found to have burned on impact.

BROKEN IN TWO

Ground searchers earlier had reached the wreckage of the first helicopter which crashed in the river. It was broken in two pieces and the bodies of six occupants were found in rugged terrain.

Military spokesmen here said first reports indicated no bullet holes had been found in the helicopters, but that extensive damage to the crafts made it difficult to determine for certain.

* * *

The area has been heavily defended by the Communist Viet Cong, who turn withering ground fire on planes there.

Michigan ranks as third in the U.S. in production of copper ore. Since 1845 it has furnished almost 25 per cent od the total output of copper in the United States.

Mme. Nhu Says JFK Lulls U.S. People on Commies

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu says that if she were President, Kennedy she would "inform the people" about the Communist danger "instead of being inclined to lull them into a false sense of security."

* * *

She made the statement in answering a question after her first speech of a 21-day tour of the United States.

The sister-in-law of President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam spoke to more than a thousand persons at an Overseas Press Club luncheon Wednesday.

QUESTION PERIOD

During a 1½-hour question period, she was asked what she would do if she were president of the United States to insure defeat of the Viet Cong Communist guerrillas in her country.

"I think that panic is very bad," she replied, "but life can be good and pleasant fear, without panic, if one knows that mentally, morally, one is prepared—that the whole people around us is prepared to meet the greatest danger of the times—communis.

"So the first step would be then—inform the people instead of being inclined to lull them into a false sense of security."

She said those were only "impromptu" thoughts but she "may find other solutions afterwards.

FATHER FIRED

In reply to another question she said her father, Tran Van Chuong, was dismissed as South Vietnamese ambassador to the United States before he could resign.

Mrs. Nhu said the government at Saigon considered at a 2 a.m. meeting a "challenging" cable from her father, from whom she is estranged, and sent him a reply that his mission was finished.

Chuong told a questioner that his daughter's version "is certainly not true."

He said his cable protesting government policy against Buddhist opponents was sent Aug. 16, and he resigned Aug. 22 before he received a cable dismissing him. He added that his departure was called a resignation in the South Vietnamese newspapers of Aug. 23.

Chuong, who has called his daughter "power hungry" and has shunned her since she arrived here Monday night, plans a speaking tour of his own in the wake of her coast-to-coast tour. He has been booked to speak Oct. 19 at the University of Nebraska; Oct. 25 at the University of Missouri, Oct. 29 at Boston University in Middletown, Conn., Oct. 30 at Wesleyan University, Oct. 31 at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass.

Kennedy Tax Cut Hearing Starts Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

SOUNDINGS: The Senate Finance Committee begins public hearings Tuesday on President Kennedy's $11-billion tax reduction bill and for a while, at least, will hear little but praise for the measure.

* * *

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon will lead off for the administration witnesses who will be heard during the first week. The tune is less predictable when nongovernment witnesses appear, beginning Oct. 22.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said Wednesday he could not predict how long the hearings might run.

PROBE: President Kennedy's Consumer Advisory Council is mapping a study of recent price increases in steel, electrical equipment, aluminum and heavy chemicals.

In announcing the inquiry, the council showed no alarm. The price rises, it said, have not yet been reflected in the consumer price index and do not appear to constitute an immediate inflationary threat.

* * *

Still, the committee said it planned the study in order to determine whether such increases appear to be justified from the consumer point of view.

AT HOME: The Irish are descending on the White House where John Fitzgerald Kennedy, one of their own, lives.

Wednesday it was 137 promoters of Irish goods, next Tuesday it is Irish Prime Minister Sean Lemass.

The promoters had a gay time, marred not a bit by the yapping on the White House lawn of an Irish wolfhound, the latest addition to the Kennedy canine corps. Kennedy extended handshakes and autographs.

"It was quite overwhelming," said E. Jerome Mahony of Blarney, County Cork.

* * *

On Tuesday the setting will be formal—a black tie dinner for Lemass who arrives in the United States on Friday. About 90 guests will be on hand as the President reciprocates for the dinner the prime minister gave him last June when Kennedy visited Ireland.

Autos Strike Deer

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Last year, the Wisconsin Conservation Department recorded 4,483 deer-auto collisions.

Asia contains about 30 per cent of the total area of the world and about one-half the world's population.

Washington fisheries produce about five-ninths of the total supply of salmon for the United States.

EXTINGUISHING AN EXTINGUISHER — It was Fire Prevention Week in Chantanooga, Tenn., but all didn't go well. A demonstration of how to use a fire extinguisher yesterday ended with a federal employe holding an out-of-control device in which someone had left out a gasket.

Various Drugs Cause Different Reactions

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

Analgesia means absence of sensibility to pain.

★ ★ ★

Anesthesia means absence of all feeling or sensation. 3 cubic centimeters (approximately one-half teaspoonful) of a 5 per cent solution injected into a vein anesthetizes the patient long enough for a short operation in about half a minute.

Of course any anesthetic is analgesic, but many analgesics are not anesthetics.

For the excruciating spasms of pain that characterize tic douloureux (doo-loo-ro) — trigeminal neuralgia (5th cranial nerve) — the fastest relief is obtained from inhaling 1 cubic centimeter (approximately 15 drops) of trichlorethylene.

This is obtainable only through the physician, who must give explicit instructions for its use.

5-MINUTE DRUG

Morphine, the alkaloid or active principle of opium — tincture of opium is laudanum, camporated tincture of opium is paregoric, and diacetyl-morphine is heroin — is an analgesic effective in five minutes after hypodermic injection or in fifteen to twenty minutes after it is taken by mouth.

Cocaine is used only as a local anesthetic, never for relief of pain. Procaine (Novocain) is a synthetic. It is safer than cocaine.

Aspirin, acetanilid, phenacetin, antipyrin and aminopyrin are the slowest and mildest analgesics. Acetanilid is phenylacetamide. Phenacetin is acetophemetin. Aspirin is acetyl-salicylic acid.

DANGEROUS PRODUCTS

These coal tar products are all dangerous, but aspirin is the least dangerous.

Acetanilid and phenacetin are ingredients in scores of neuralgia, headache, neuritis, arthritis, rheumatism, upset stomach, "cold," grippe, influenza, fatigue, "nervous strain," lumbago, sciatica and dysmenorrhea nostrums, for customers who think the medicine is harmless if you survive the dose.

Slowest, mildest and safest analgesic is in fact so slow, so mild and so safe that we seldom regard it as analgesic at all — at least when it is taken by mouth.

★ ★ ★

Physicians, however, know that it is remarkably effective as an analgesic when given intravenously, that is, injected directly into a vein, for emergency relief of severe colic, such as that of stone in kidney or ureter, gallstone, poisoning by black widow bite or scorpion sting, and the colic of lead poisoning.

This analgesic is calcium.

FAMILIAR ACHES

Among the more familiar aches and pains that calcium in a high calcium diet prevents or moderates are the leg or arm cramps that strike in the night or very early morning in tetany, an ailment which is quite common although generally not recognized as tetany, in mature adults.

Headache both "nervous" headaches and seizures of migraine and the aches and pains of "rheumatism" are also prevented or moderated.

An adequate daily intake of calcium, in such high calcium foods as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, evaporated milk, dry milk powder, cheese, egg yolk, green leafy vegetables, peas, beans, lentils, nuts, peanuts, dried figs, olives; or a daily calcium and vitamin D supplement for the ordinary diet prevents or moderates a good many aches and pains which are not amenable to any reasonably safe analgesic medicine.

Don't take my word for it. Take your quart of milk a day and see.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

3,757 Buildings Set for Fallout

EAST LANSING (AP)—The State Office of Civil Defense reports it has approved 3,757 buildings with a capacity of more than two million persons for use as public fallout shelters.

★ ★ ★

The survey program now is 81 per cent complete, said State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs, Michigan civil defense director.

Of the buildings surveyed, 2,425 have been marked and 2,087 both marked and licensed for use as fallout shelters. In 678 cases, use of the buildings was either refused by the owners or deemed impractical.

Buildings marked or both marked and licensed will provide shelter for 1.5 million persons. Licensing of the marked buildings is continuing.

EMERGENCY SUPPLIES

Stocking of federal survival supplies, which go to licensed shelters only, has reached the point where supplies now are available for 750,000 persons.

The supplies include preserved food and containers for water sufficient to last two weeks. Medical supplies and sanitation kits also are provided.

★ ★ ★

The Army Engineer Corps is planning to update its survey program to determine if additional suitable shelters can be located.

JFK Names Oct. 16 'U.S. Prayer Day'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has proclaimed Oct. 16 as the national day of prayer, and urged every American to pray for a "full measure of dignity, freedom and brotherhood for all citizens."

The President expects to attend church services as usual, on that day, the White House said.

"Let each of us, according to his own custom and his own faith, give thanks to his creator for the divine assistance which has nurtured the noble ideals in which this nation was conceived," the proclaimation said.

"Most especially, let us humbly acknowledge that we have not yet succeeded in obtaining for all of our people the blessings of liberty to which all are entitled.

"On this day, in this year, as we concede these shortcomings, let each of us pray that through our failures we may derive the wisdom, the courage, and the strength to secure for every one of our citizens the full measure of dignity, freedom, and brotherhood for which all men are qualified by their common fatherhood under God."

New Jersey Machines Gather Fare, Plus Tip

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) —Toll collection machines, it seems, are collecting more money than human toll collectors.

New Jersey Turnpike Toll Director, John P. Lesher has advised turnpike officials that motorists-rushed by honking horns while fishing for the 15-cent toll charge — have been dropping quarters into the new automatic coin hoppers.

Saginaw Man Killed

SAGINAW (AP)—Grady Holmes, 37, of Saginaw was killed yesterday when his car collided head-on with a truck and two other cars. Police said he was driving on the wrong side of a Saginaw street. Eight people—including his five children—were injured in the crash.

It's Official: '63 Was Bigg est Year for Auto Industry and Pontiac

DETROIT (AP)—It's official now . . . The 1963 model run was the biggest in the history of the U.S. automotive industry.

Pontiac, while capturing third place in the industry again, set a new model-year record with 590,071 vehicles. The earlier record was the 1955 model year when 554,090 were produced. duced.

Final figures compiled by the Automobile Manufacturers Association showed that U.S. auto plants turned out 7,339,992 passenger cars during the 1963 model run. This eclipsed the old mark of 7,146,119 set in the 1955 run.

The 1963 total was over 650,000 ahead of last year's figure.

Pontiac Division's share was 458,581 Pontiacs and 131,490 Tempests. That compares with 378,740 Pontiacs and 143,193 Tempests a year ago.

Chevrolet retained its position as No. 1 builder as it built 1,593,257 standard size Chevrolets during the '63 run, while its biggest competitor, the Ford Galaxie, settled for 845,292.

FOURTH YEAR

It marked the fourth consecutive year in which Chevrolet held down the No. 1 production spot. It last yielded the leadership to Ford in 1959.

The AMA figures, which generally are conceded to be the official ones for the industry, were released just as the 1964 model production and sales year was swinging into high gear.

The U. S. auto industry has scheduled more than 800,000 units to be built this month and numerous reports of strong sales around the country led many observers to believe that the 1963 model year record would not last very long.

The AMA figures, for passenger car production in U. S. auto plants for the 1963 and 1962 model years, included:

Verdict Due on College by Year End

A decision is expected before the end of the year on where a proposed $30-million osteopathic college will be located in Michigan, it was announced in Grand Rapids today.

A site selection committee of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons is slated to inspect possible sites in Pontiac Friday.

They toured some 25 locations in Grand Rapids today.

★ ★ ★

William J. Farrell of the Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce said the committee expects to choose a site by the end of the year and spend about 16 months in design work.

CONSTRUCTION

It would mean construction wouldn't begin before 1965. Pontiac has been listed as a top contender for the college.

A decision on the site had previously been expected sometime this month.

The committee will meet with local civic leaders, city officials and administrators of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Other cities seeking the proposed 80-acre college are Muskegon, Battle Creek, Lansing, Detroit, Flint and Saginaw.

German News Work Touchy Business

BONN (UPI)—The reporting of news has itself become news in West Germany.

In recent incidents:

—A West German television producer came under a barrage of eggs thrown by two angry subjects of a recent program.

—An East German Communist radio news editor was arrested in West Germany for allegedly endangering the state.

—Another West German television reporter was almost lynched by refugees from Breslau who thought he reported too favorably on the Communist Polish administration of the city.

The victim of the egg-throwing already had lost a producer's contract because of pressure from Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic Union.

Despite all that, there is no form of censorship in West Germany. Foreign correspondents find officials easier to reach here than in most capitals, and the German daily press is competitive and controversial.

The weekly press in addition delves deeper than that in most other western countries.

The eggs were aimed at Gerd von Paczensky. Two Croatian refugees drove halfway across Germany, from Bonn to Hamburg, to make this form of protest against a Paczensky report on the fist, knife and bomb fights among Yugoslav refugees and temporary workers in this country.

The Communist under arrest was George Grasnick, chief editor of the Deutschlandsender (Radio Germany) in East Berlin.

Grasnick was arrested while in West Germany covering the trial of a fellow traveler convicted of slandering leading officers of the armed forces.

Spokesmen for the office of the federal prosecutor general say the arrest had no connection with the trial.

Grasnick, they said, is suspected of endangering state security because the radio station of which he is chief editor aims its broadcasts at West Germany, inciting the people here to "class war."

He is thus doing the things for which the Communist party was banned in West Germany nine years ago, said the spokesmen.

He is liable to arrest and trial here, they added, because the result of his criminal acts would be dangerous to West Germany.

West Germany lets any German enter or leave it at will. Any Communist official newsman, saboteur or whatever from East Germany may come here freely. The West German theory is that there is but one Germany.

But the Communists say there are two German states. They have an iron curtain around their area. Only approved representatives of the regime can cross it.

No West German newsmen are permitted to live in East Germany, and only a few are allowed to make short visits.

The West Berlin Association of Journalists protested the Grasnick arrest, saying this would make it even more difficult for the few Western newsmen allowed to enter East Germany.

Officials of the Bonn Ministry for Justice said the problem was that, under existing law, the prosecutor general is required to arrest and prosecute such people as Grasnick, even when it is politically a mistake.

Thresher Families Face Future of Loneliness

Editor's Note—The nuclear submarine Thresher sank six months ago with the loss of 129 men. How are their families facing the future, the heartbreak and loneliness?

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—They put on a valiant front—the families of the Thresher men—but the heartbreak they suffered still shows through.

The Navy's underwater pride and joy, the nuclear submarine Thresher, sank with the loss of 129 men during a test dive 220 miles off Boston six months ago today.

Since that day, April 10, the submarine has been waterlocked only a mile and a half out of reach—the depth of the water at her Atlantic grave.

★ ★ ★

Ashore, a girl, 3, scribbles a childish note and asks her widowed mother to mail it to daddy. The mother answers kindly and fights the tears.

A boy, 6, reminds his mother that daddy has been away to sea an awfully long time and asks when is he coming home. The mother tells a visitor she awaits the day the boy will understand.

In another home in the Portsmouth area, a 3-month-old boy his father is never to see gurgles, unknowing of tragedy. He was born three months after his father went down.

AP Photofax

THEY CARRY ON—One is missing from this seemingly happy family picture—that's Michael J. DiNola, who was a second lieutenant aboard the nuclear submarine Thresher, which sank in the Atlantic six months ago. The tragedy claimed 129 lives, leaving many families like the DiNolas without a husband and father.

150 FATHERLESS

Loss of Thresher left 150 fatherless children. Aboard the submarine were 16 officers, 96 enlisted men and 17 civilian technicians.

There is no bitterness among the widows and children.

At a trim ranch home in Portsmouth, Mrs. Walter Jack Noonis says her two sons and two daughters, ranging in age from 2 to 10, keep her busy "but there's this terrible loneliness about the time of the day your husband is supposed to be coming home.

"At first you tell yourself this is another sea trip which will end, but you can't make yourself believe it, especially when your son asks when is daddy coming home this time."

Noonis, a native of Detroit, was chief radioman with 17 years of Navy duty behind him.

Before going on his last trip, Noonis built a family room between the garage and the kitchen of his home. He adorned the knotty pine walls with pictures of Thresher, the ship's plaque and charts of seas he had traveled. His pretty blonde wife has changed nothing in the room.

RECALLS PAST

In Rye, N.H., Mrs. Michael J. Di Nola—her husband was a lieutenant commander—took a breather from the strenuous effort her five small children require and recalls the past six months.

★ ★ ★

"With five small children, I knew I had to face up to the facts and make my adjustment quickly. I found the answer in keeping busy.

★ ★ ★

"The neighbors were absolutely terrific. With their guidance, I bought this expanded bungalow. We used to rent across the street.

"The neighbors painted the outside. I did all the interior painting and put up the wallpaper myself. Now we're enlarging the garage."

She's still active in Navy affairs.

"It's the way Mike would have wanted it," she says. "The Navy was his whole life since his days at Annapolis. I met him on a blind date while he was a midshipman, and I was doing graduate nursing work in New York, his home city."

Gathered around her were her five children: Donna, 16 months; Matthew, 2½; Debra, 3½, born a year to the day after Matthew; Mark, 7, and Michael Jr., 9, "the image of his father."

Mrs. Di Nola says she can be brave except when Debra writes her daddy little love notes.

Richard Roy Desjardins II was born last July 27. His father was a civil engineer at Portsmouth Naval Shipyard.

The infant's sisters, aged 6 and 9, know their loss, but like their mother find strength and comfort in church and friends. Their church is just down the road from them in Kittery, Maine.

★ ★ ★

Their mother says "the wishes of a merciful God must be respected. When a man's book is filled he must go. There is no room in my heart for bitterness or self-pity."

The families of the 112 Navy men received a death gratuity of six months' pay. In addition, they receive $112 a month plus 12 per cent of base pay. Many of the men also carried national service and commercial life insurance policies.

★ ★ ★

The children of the Navy men are eligible for college scholarships which can be drawn from the Dolphin Fund—a private fund in Norfolk, Va., administered by the Navy.

MEMORIAL FUND

The 44 children left by the civilians lost on Thresher will be eligible for scholarships from a special memorial fund established through public subscription and being administered by Old Colony Trust Co. of Boston.

★ ★ ★

Thirteen of the civilians lost were employed by the Portsmouth naval shipyard and the other four by private contractors.

★ ★ ★

The families of the men who came under the jurisdiction of the shipyard received insurance benefits twice their annual salary, which ranged from $5,500 to $11,150.

Their widows also receive monthly payments from the bureau of employes compensation up to 75 per cent of the men's pay.

Mexican Farm Program Up for House Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee yesterday cleared for a House vote next week a Senate-passed bill to extend for one year the Mexican farm labor program.

The original program was launched in 1951. Under it, Mexican farm workers are imported into this country to work on United States farms. The House earlier this year had defeated a bill to extend the program for two years.

I-75 Built Quickly, After Long Planning

By JIM DYGERT

Build a freeway? Nothing to it.

That's the way it looks, from the dramatic speed with which two strips of earth were transformed into a spanking new concrete freeway east of Pontiac in the seemingly amazing time of only two weeks.

Moving at a pace of a mile a day, construction workers from Pierson Contracting Co. of Saginaw began Sept. 16 and by the end of the month had installed enough concrete to form four divided lanes of I-75 freeway from E. Walton to Auburn.

That just about completed their job, leaving only some concrete work at the Mt. Clemens Road bridge and some finishing up chores.

But it's all an illusion, that easy speed.

★ ★ ★

Laying the concrete is only part of it, though it's the part that most impresses the eye with visible progress.

MONTHS SPENT

Actually, it climaxes months, even years, of planning, engineering, property negotiations and purchases, clearing the way, leveling, grading and a host of other tasks that must be done before concrete is poured.

In fact, the work by the men from Saginaw fitted as planned into the new freeway's construction schedule.

The highway, from Walton to 11½ Mile Road in Madison Heights, will be open to traffic by the end of November, only two weeks later than originally scheduled, according to State Highway Department District Manager James Boyd.

OTHER WORK

Concrete lanes for the freeway from Square Lake Road to Livernois also have been completed. Work from Livernois to 11½ Mile Road is underway.

Five contractors share the job between Auburn and 11½ Mile.

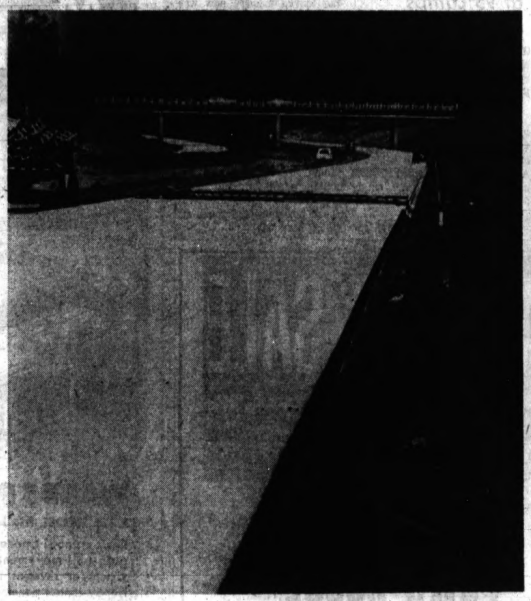
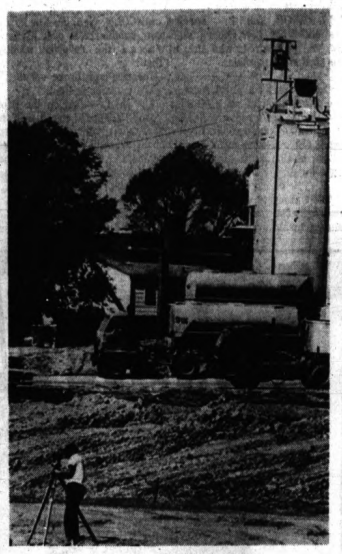
When the new stretch is opened, it will give motorists uninterrupted freeway travel from 11½ Mile Road and Stevenson Highway to the Upper Peninsula.

TO DISAPPEAR SOON — The sign separating the closed portion of the freeway under construction east and south of Pontiac from the open freeway heading north toward Flint is scheduled to come down at the end of November, opening the highway to 11½ Mile Road.



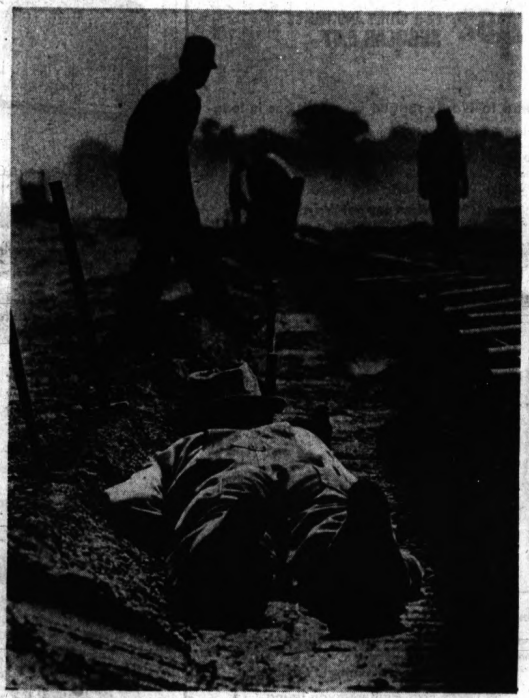
Pontiac Press Photos by Edward E. Noble

END RESULT — Workmen apply finishing touches to newly poured concrete forming the northbound lane of I-75 freeway near East Walton east of Pontiac.



BUSY SCENE — Equipment used by the concrete contractor stands at the ready. At rear is a tank in which cement is storcd. In the foreground, a surveyor from the State Highway Department checks newly installed concrete to make sure it conforms to blueprints.

SMOOTHING THE WAY — Cecil Hunt (left) operates a machine that scrapes away dirt and smoothes the base for the soon-to-follow concrete. A truck driven by Lloyd Boeve follows along scooping up the dirt deposited on the road's shoulder by Hunt and hauls it away.



LINING UP THE ROAD — Joseph Durbin may appear to be lying down on the job, but it's his job to lie down. He's sighting along the stakes marking the edge of the concrete road to be laid to make sure they are lined up. Marvin Nadeau is ready to move any stake that Durbin finds out of line.

OCCUPATIONAL HAZARD — Passing trucks stir up clouds of dust that envelope the scene as construction workers make final preparations for pouring concrete. Walking into the swirling dust are Cecil Hunt (left) and foreman Jim Ralph.

LAYING DOWN THE ROAD — Men and machines combine to pour concrete in the shape of a road. The machine at the left mixes concrete and pours it into a spreader followed by a third piece of equipment that evens the surface. Men at the left, Homer Adams and Fred Hawes, touch up the end product.

SETTING THE FORMS — After the stakes marking the roadway's edge are lined up, Marvin Nadeall drives them into the ground while Jeff Bouchard prepares to set up along the stakes the steel forms that hold the concrete in place until it hardens.

Gas Pumper Packs Pistol

BURRTON, Kan. (AP) — Service station owner Ken Coburn startles many motorists who stop at his station for gasoline.

★ ★ ★

Coburn packs a pistol most of the time while at work. He explains that it's a hobby with him.

A former professional marksman, Coburn keeps pistols handy at his station so he can practice shooting during idle moments.

★ ★ ★

"Too many people fail in business because they don't mix any showmanship with it," he adds.

Holdup Falls Apart as Thief Gets Drop

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—The holdup man, handkerchief over his face, waved the revolver silently. Then:

The revolver broke open.

The cylinder fell out.

The shells rolled on the floor.

John Grasmick, co-owner of the liquor store which was the scene of the robbery attempt, ran from behind the counter and grabbed for the man. But the thwarted thief escaped and ran.

Content of fat consists of about 9.7 per cent water.

New Zealand Values Visitors at 95 Lambs

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — An American visitor to New Zealand is worth 190 cases of apples, or 95 fat lambs, or three-and-a-half bales of wool.

★ ★ ★

The Government Publicity Division told of the analysis that valued an American — in terms of foreign exchange. It said 169 Americans recently spent 16 days in New Zealand and spent, on an average, 190 New Zealand pounds ($530) each.

That's the value of those apples, lambs, or wool on the export market.

The statement said U.S. visitors have increased seven-fold in the last decade.

The tourist industry now was the sixth biggest earner of overseas exchange.

Easy Come, Easy Go

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Thieves didn't go to much trouble to break into the Cozy Nook restaurant, and their loot didn't amount to much either.

★ ★ ★

They merely reached in through a window. But they netted only a few pennies from a cash box and three books of trading stamps.

With Goldwater

JFK Sees '64 Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaking as an expert on such matters, President Kennedy thinks that Sen. Barry Goldwater can win the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Whether the Arizonian does or doesn't, Kennedy told his news conference yesterday, "We are going to have a hard, close fight in 1964." He added this has been his impression for months.

Kennedy said that on the basis of his experience in 1959, when he was fighting an uphill battle for the Democratic nomination, he thinks Goldwater can make the grade. Goldwater, of course, says he isn't even running.

★ ★ ★

"I think it is possible for him to do it," Kennedy said. "But he has a long road to go, recalling the situation in . . . October 1959. I think Sen. Goldwater has a trying seven or eight months (ahead) which will test his endurance and his perseverence and his agility."

CLOUDY ON VIEWS

A reporter noted former president Dwight D. Eisenhower had written recently that he was unclear about Goldwater's views on some major issues.

Kennedy replied that he thought Goldwater "has never been particularly deceptive" and "has made very clear what he is opposed to and what he is for."

The President didn't resist jabbing at both Goldwater and Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★

He said that the senator had been speaking frequently "and he is saying what he thinks as of the time he speaks."

★ ★ ★

"I have gotten the idea," he said. "I think former President Eisenhower will, as time goes on."

WON'T TELL NOW

Kennedy rejected an invitation to announce now that he is seeking a second term, a quest about which almost no one has any doubt. He said, with a smile, he thinks he can wait longer next year than he did four years ago to announce his intentions.

★ ★ ★

In response to a question, Kennedy said it was still early to outline the 1964 issues. It would be time next year, he added, to "decide whether the United States is better off economically than it was before, and whether our position in the world has improved and whether our prospects for peace are greater and whether we are making progress at home and abroad."

Take Nail Out of Head; Headache Goes Away

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Doctors here said today they removed a two-inch nail which has been driven into the top of seaman Michael Fish's head as a "black magic cure for headaches."

★ ★ ★

Fish, 40, refused to talk about the "cure," but doctors said that, had it gone in another eighth of an inch, it would have killed him.

Luther Burbank produced the Shasta daisy in eight years by cross-pollinating three varieties of the plant, two English and one Japanese.

November Draft Total Set at 61 for County

Oakland County draft boards will provide 61 of 641 inductees during November, Col. Arthur Holmes, state director of Selective Service, announced.

★ ★ ★

All inductees will be at least 22 years of age except for volunteers.

★ ★ ★

The quota by local boards: No. 65, 7; No. 66, 5; No. 67, 5; No. 321, 1; No. 323, 12; No. 328, 19; and No. 331, 12.

Boy Gets 30 Lickings

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Douglas Meisner, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meisner, made a lucky purchase when he bought the 50-millionth ice cream cone sold by the Friendly Ice Cream Co., which has 78 stores in Massachusetts and Connecticut. He was presented with a certificate good for a free cone every day for a month.

Ike Ends Silence, Calls Desegregation Decision 'Correct'

Editor's Note: What is former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's opinion of the Supreme Court's 1954 landmark decision ruling out school segregation? In this interview with Associated Press reporters, Eisenhower breaks his public silence of more than nine years and says what he thinks of that hotly controversial decision.

By JACK BELL And MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Associated Press Staff Writers

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, speaking out publicly on the matter for the first time, says the Supreme Court's 1954 decision outlawing public school segregation "is morally and legally correct."

* * *

He expressed this conviction in an interview with Associated Press reporters at his office on the Gettysburg College campus.

As President, Eisenhower repeatedly declined to say whether he thought the court's controversial ruling was right or wrong, good or bad.

NO DIFFERENCE

For example, at a news conference Sept. 5, 1956, Eisenhower said: "I think it makes no difference whether or not I endorse it (the court decision). The Constitution is as the Supreme Court interprets it, and I must conform to that and do my very best to see that it is carried out in this country."

* * *

During the interview here, Eisenhower said in response to a question: "I just say I believe the decision expressed the intentions of our Constitution and therefore is morally and legally correct."

On other matters the former president:

Called on President Kennedy to couple any tax cut with a pledge that—barring some "great emergency declared by Congress"—federal spending would be held to a specified level.

TAKE LEAD

Replied "No, I do not," when asked whether he thinks Republicans in Congress should be taking the lead in seeking to cut foreign aid.

The following is the text of the interview:

Question: While you were president you repeatedly declined to say whether you thought the Supreme Court's decision on school segregation was right or wrong, a good decision or a bad one. Now that you are no longer in office, do you care to express an opinion on that?

* * *

Eisenhower: I think there is no question about the legality and the propriety of the decision of May 54, as I recall. It was a vote of 9 to 0. The Southerners on the court participated in that decision.

I just say I believe the decision expressed the intentions of our Constitution and therefore is morally and legally correct.

DELIBERATE SPEED

Q. As for how it should be done, are you talking about the court order calling for desegregation "with all deliberate speed?"

A. As a matter of fact, that plan looked to me like a very good one because they left it to the locality to make the plan. When you come to arguing about the legalities, where do the responsibilities of the court and of the Congress meet? I don't know. I don't even comment on that particular area. But I say the decision, itself, was undoubtedly correct.

* * *

Q. Your successor has been facing some of the same severe problems that you did in this civil rights field. Given the same set of general circumstances which you faced in having to call out troops in Little Rock, and those which faced President Kennedy in the use of troops in some of the Southern states, would you hope that any future Republican president would follow the same course in such circumstances?

A. It depends on the circumstances. As far as I know, no Republicans took off against the use of troops in Birmingham or Montgomery. If you remember some of the things that were said about me when I used them at Little Rock, you will quickly perceive that there was little bipartisanship operating at that moment.

NO DEFIANCE

I was determined that no governor, no matter what his power or political strength, was going to defy a properly issued order of a federal court, and that is all there was to it. It could have been on race relations or on a strike. It could have been on anything in the world. And I said, "We will take the necessary steps."

Since emotions were high down there, I took the National Guard away from the governor's control, and I could have used that. But this means that in these circumstances a National Guardman would be enforcing the law against his brother. This was a bad thing. I wanted no disorder, and I knew that I could count on outside regular troops to be disciplined. They went, and there were no deaths; as a matter of fact, not even a single serious injury.

SHOULD IT WAIT?

Q. Do you think that Congress ought to act on the tax bill this year, or should it wait until it sizes up President Kennedy's new budget next year?

A. A number of suggestions have been made to do something specific about the expression the President used—"to bring the expenditures under better discipline, or better control."

* * *

So any purpose of delay ,I think, is to get expenditures under control.

If a president announced that under no circumstances — unless there was a great emergency declared by Congress—would he approve the expenditure in any year more than some specified amount, I would think that was proper.

IN FOREFRONT

Q. Do you believe Republicans in Congress ought to be in the forefront of those who are cutting foreign aid?

A. No, I don't. I happen to be one of those people that believe we ought to spend for the mutual security program what we need to spend.

* * *

The reform I would like to see is this: to get a long-term congressional authorization, certainly five years. Take a look at it every year so you know where you are going. . . . If we could have a permanent figure of somewhere near $4 billion, I believe we could do a job that could be very good for the world and, above all, for ourselves.

Q .You mean level off aid at that figure?

LEVEL IT OFF

A. Level it off. This problem is going to be with us for a long time, make no mistake.

Q. In this general field of aid, the governments of the Dominican Republic and Honduras have been toppled. Do you approve withdrawal of recognition from the junta-installed governments?

* * *

A. It used to be that recognition had nothing to do with approval. But President Wilson was the first, I think, to equate recognition of a new government with tacit approval.

Now it is sort of mixed. Sometimes you say we acknowledge that this man is in control, therefore that is recognition. Other times we don't do that.

FROM CASTRO

Q. You withdrew recognition from Castro, too.

A. Yes. Finally you get into such a position that if you continue recognition, you are just subject to insult, and the only thing you can do is not to recognize them.

* * *

I do not, under present conditions, favor withdrawal of recognition of these junta countries. But if any should develop into the Castro pattern, I not only would withdraw recognition, but I would try to take measures to stop that development.

Castro talked about free elections and all of that kind of thing when he was carrying on his revolution. It took a lot of time to realize what a ruthless dictator he had become.

* * *

Q. On the Cuban situation, do you have any ideas or recommendations on what our government might further do than it is doing now to counter the Castro regime?

A. No, I don't. I assume that the government is staying just as close with the Organization of American States as it possibly can. What I would really spend effort on right now would be to solidify a better union there and gain a better consensus.

* * *

In this way we could really bring them all together in some kind of protective screen to the point where the OAS would draw a line and say we would go so far and no further. I think it would be a very useful thing to do, and it may be going on. I don't know.

State to Study Driver Program

LANSING (AP) — A seven-senator committee with a $2,500 budget will investigate the effectiveness of Michigan's driver education program in public schools.

The Senate yesterday adopted a resolution by Sens. Garland Lane, D-Flint, and Stanley Thayer, R-Ann Arbor, calling for the study.

Their resolution says a recent statistical review "shows that the rate of youthful accidents were little affected by such courses."

* * *

The two have been nominated to the Senate Committee on Committees, along with Sens. William Milliken, R-Traverse City, Robert Vanderlaan, R-Grand Rapids, Charles Youngblood, D-Detroit, Charles McManiman, D-Houghton, and Arthur Dehmel, R-Unionville, to make up the committee.

Russian Couple Must Be Tried, Judge Decides

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal judge has ordered a Russian couple accused of spying to stand trial Nov. 4, rejecting their plea of diplomatic immunity.

Judge Leo F. Rayfiel refused yesterday to dismiss the indictment against Ivan D. Egorov, 41, and his wife Aleksandra, 39, saying that Egorov's duties with the United Nations Secretariat were entirely non-diplomatic in character.

The Egorovs, were arrested in New York City by FBI agents July 2. At the same time another couple using the names Joy Ann and Robert K. Baltch, were picked up in Washington, D.C., by federal agents.

* * *

The four, who will be tried together on charges of conspiracy to commit espionage, face a possible death penalty if convicted.

State Unit Gets Trophy

LANSING (AP)—The Camp Grayling unit of the headquarters detachment of the Michigan National Guard has been awarded the Pershing Trophy for the highest figure in the guard small-arms qualification firing last year in the 13-state Fifth Army area. The unit also won the state trophy for the best Michigan score.

30 Days to Better Grades—XXII

'Vertical' Courses Start With a Concept

By THE READING LABORATORY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Association

In our last chapter we talked about history—how it moves and flows and how your studying must take this into account—how you develop a broad overview of history then fit each smaller detail into the bigger movement.

Today we've lumped together sociology, psychology, political science or civics and economics. Why do you think we did that?

Can you see what they have in common, and how they differ from history? Stop for a minute and try to figure it out for yourself.

And while you're at it, where should we place English literature — does it fit with today's groups?

* * *

Have you figured it all out? If you haven't, keep on reading. English literature, of course, fits in with history, rather than with sociology and the other ones we'll be talking about here.

Unless you're taking advanced courses in literary criticism, your English (or American) literature course is actually a history of literature.

You're not learning how to write poetry, or really, what makes great poetry, but you're learning who wrote what and when he wrote it.

The development of history (and the history of literature) is, in a sense, a horizontal one. It flows and progresses from one point to the next, from one century to the next.

But the development of sociology, psychology, political science and of economics is a vertical development.

These subjects construct concepts and then develop those concepts. Some illustrations will help.

CONCEPT OF GROUP

Sociology defines the concept of group. The definition is (with variations) "an agglomeration of persons with a common basis for action."

From this general concept, one can work down (vertically) to regional groups, or people that live in the same geographic area, then to purposeful groups, or people who are working to achieve a common end (perhaps they're organizing a charity drive, or working in the same office, etc.).

Or to take a slightly different tack, you could define group awareness. (Are you as conscious of your "membership" in a city as you are of your membership in a social club?) And then you could move on to the concept of interaction between groups.

In the same way, psychology might define defense mechanisms as unconscious techniques for dealing with, or avoiding, stress in our lives. Again, from this general concept, you can work down to various types of defense mechanisms — obsessive-compulsive, phobias, withdrawal, etc.

* * *

Economics, after defining, for instance, the Law of Diminishing Returns will apply the general law to specific cases, e.g., will a progressive tax structure (one that hits the higher income brackets harder than the lower brackets) discourage business investment?

What's the best way of handling these subjects? You've probably figured it out. When you overview the unit or the chapter, or even when you're you're listening to the lecture, you have to get the definition of the general concept that's being dealt with.

* * *

Only after you've understood the general concept of "group," or "defense mechanism," or "government by compact," only then will you concern yourself with details and the particular applications of the concept.

Don't get tied up in details until you know what you're talking about.

Service Set for First Negro in State Senate

DETROIT (AP) — Service will be held Saturday for Charles A. Roxborough, long-time Detroit attorney and civic and political leader. Roxborough, 75, died Tuesday after a short illness.

He was the first Negro ever elected to the Michigan State Senate, serving as a Republican in 1931-32. He was a former member of the old Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission, the Detroit House of Corrections Commission and the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

Lush Imperial Valley Was Once Desert Killer

EL CENTRO, Calif. (UPI) — In the 18th Century the Spanish conquistador Juan Bautista De Anza called it Jordana delmuerta — the journey of the dead.

A century later, the desert wasteland between the Colorado River and the distant Pacific had claimed its toll in the bleached bones of many a Forty-Niner.

* * *

With the arrival of Colorado River water in 1901, a group of hardy pioneers started transforming the desert into what the Imperial Valley is today — a vast expanse of irrigated farms and ranches where crops and cattle thrive on a scale unparaleled in the southwestern United States.

Now, Southern California's Imperial Valley stands on the threshold of another era of development — oil and minerals.

The presence of oil under the valley has long been a matter of conjecture among the farmers and ranchers, but it has only been in recent months that long years of exploration by a small number of independent oilmen have begun to bear fruit.

'MIDDLE EAST'

Van Huisen, who was bitten by the oil bug in his native Michigan and has been in the valley since 1953, described the area as the future "Middle East of North America" in oil potential.

Van Huisen, who has sunk four wells up to now, estimates that oil reserves underneath the valley may total more than 30 billion barrels.

His estimate is backed up by the unpublished but intense exploration activity now being conducted by the major firms, local sources estimate the major companies have more than 300,000 acres of valley land already under lease.

There are about one million acres of leasable land in Imperial County.

Some 20 wells are scheduled for completion befors the end of the year.

Tests so far indicate the presence of a high gravity oil, a good economic product requiring very little refining.

* * *

The possibility of high grade mineral deposits underneath the valley floor was discovered more or less by accident.

Mineral bearing brine was uncovered in a well drilled by O'Neill Geothermal, Inc., a Midland, Tex., firm.

The well, located near Niland close to the Salton Sea was sunk to tap underground steam that could be used to generate electricity.

* * *

Shooting from the earth at a high velocity the brine, according to a report compiled by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, was found to contain a large percentage of potash and varying amounts of copper, silver, iron, gold and other heavy metals.

Young GOP Chief, Senator in Tax Clash

LANSING (AP) — A sharp exchange between the head of the Senate Tax Committee and the president of Michigan's Young Republican Club yesterday marked the end of legislative public hearings on Gov. George Romney's fiscal reform program.

The combined Senate and House Tax Committees also heard representatives of the League of Women Voters and the Association of University Women support a statewide income tax.

Romney's proposal for optional tax deferrals for some retired persons drew opposition from about ten retired persons, many of whom called for outright homestead tax exemptions for retirees.

★ ★ ★

The outburst came when Robert Dethmers of Lansing, president of the Young Republicans Club and son of State Supreme Court Justice John Dethmers, criticized what he called recently - introduced "spur-of-the-moment tax reform plans.

NOT HASTY

Sen. Clyde Geerlings of Holland, head of the Senate committee, assured Dethmers his plan for local option county income taxes was not conceived in haste and admonished the Young Republican for seeming to back whatever plan Romney came up with.

Said Geerlings, an outspoken foe of statewide income taxes:

"I don't want a picture of Gov. Romney, or Swainson, or Williams or President Kennedy attached to legislation — I want to judge a piece of legislation on its own merits."

★ ★ ★

Geerlings said he was concerned because people in his own district have urged him to accept the governor's proposals simply because Romney — the first Republican governor in 14 years — stands behind them.

UNIFORM PROCEDURES

Both Mrs. Dale Bock of the Women Voters and Mrs. Edward Latulip of the University Women advocated instituting uniform property tax assessment procedures while supporting personal income taxes.

Mrs. Bock expressed support also for local option taxes and urged legislators not to impose limits on state or local taxes. Mrs. Latulip said her organization neither supports nor opposes local option taxes.

Montgomery Shepard, president of the Berrien County Abstract and Title Company, opposed the state income tax and declared that previous public meetings were "packed in favor of the income levy.

Citing low state unemployment rates and recent state deficit reductions, Shepard claimed "there is no reason for a radical change in the state tax structure at this moment."

Frisco Cables Need Repair

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — To tourists from everywhere, San Francisco's cable cars are a must when visiting the Golden Gate city.

So much so, that the cable system pulling the cars over San Francisco's hills is all worn out.

★ ★ ★

Oral L. Moore, chief utilities engineer, said Wednesday the system would be idled and overhauled next spring at a cost of $252,000. He said the system was installed before 1900, some of it as early as 1880, and no work other than maintenance has been done on it.

Confident Despite Foes

Romney Ends Fiscal Hearings

BATTLE CREEK (UPI)—Gov. George Romney closed his tax blitz of the state yesterday on a confident note and said he feels he sold his tax package to a majority of the 7,200 persons who attended his meetings in 24 cities.

"I'm sure if the people who attended these meetings could vote there would be overwhelming support of my program, Romney said, after addressing a mixed crowd of 250 college students and senior citizens at the Battle Creek Community College Auditorium.

Romney was met with a wide range of reactions on the final day of the blitz which started in Detroit six days earlier with controversy over the homestead deferral.

His morning meeting in Lansing, although well-attended by oldsters, was quiet and uneventful. Questions which dealt with the deferral were mainly presented by younger persons and legislators.

HEAVY CHARGES

Romney, however, was hit with some heavy charges when he moved on to Jackson, supposedly the birthplace of the Republican party in America.

A Jackson businessman, Edwin Small, called the income tax, "a monster, traditionally pushed by the Democrats. Republicans can expect, and deserve, better than this by the Republican leadership," Small, vice president and general manager of the Dowlen Corp. said.

Small concluded a prepared statement with, "I encourage you to reconsider solemnly the disastrous effects your tax program will have on the state." Small said he is a Republican, but does not represent any particular group.

When Romney tried to answer Small's charges, the businessman got up and started to walk out. Romney called him back and said, "I let you present your side now it is only fair for you to stay and hear mine. Please sit down and let me finish," Romney said.

NOT PARTISAN

Small sat — but only for a minute. When Romney said the income tax was not a partisan issue, that it had been urged by every Republican president since Lincoln, Small walked out amidst boos.

Another Jackson resident told Romney, "I didn't know you were in favor of an income tax when I voted for you."

Romney repeated he had long been on record supporting an income tax and again said, "I am not concerned by the personal political consequences my tax program might have. I am doing and will continue to do what I think is right."

"I did not get into this office for political gain," he said. "In fact this is one of the saddest positions I have ever held."

★ ★ ★

In Battle Creek the situation was entirely different. Several persons prefaced questions with, "I want to congratulate you on your forthright position," or "I am impressed with your tax program" or "I want you to know that I support your program."

Senior citizens who had questions on the homestead deferral ended up thanking Romney for clearing the issue up. One said, "I'm sure you do a good job of it. I admire the way you have gone about this."

Another senior citizen told Romney, "I don't understand the income tax program, but according to your record, I'll go along with you. I've told my two representatives to go along with you and that's all I can do."

★ ★ ★

When Romney was asked why he hadn't included a ceiling on an income tax in his proposed program, he said, "I didn't include it in my message to the legislature because I've got to work out a program with the legislature and I need a few things to work with.

★ ★ ★

"I would be very happy to see a limitation set. I am not opposed to it in any way."

Thief Syd Is Critical

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A burglar took $29 worth of phonograph records, coins and a table radio from a San Francisco flat Tuesday night and left the following typewritten note for his victim:

"In all my 30 years as an honest, hardworking burglar, seldom have I came across as miserable a haul as this. You people ought to leave some cigarets around for guests. You ought to be ashamed of yourselves. Meditate on this, friends: Everything which I leave behind isn't even worth stealing.

"Til later, Sydney the burglar."

The largest demand for electric light bulbs is for those in the 60 and 100-watt sizes, used chiefly in households and business establishments.

Milkers estimate it requires 340 to 350 squirts during the milking process to yield one gallon of milk.

Junior Editors Quiz on CATS

QUESTION: Why do kittens have rough tongues instead of smooth ones like their mothers?

Answer: Perhaps the young person who asked us this question has had a hand licked by a kitten but not by an older cat's tongue.

The truth is, Jan, that all cats, old and young, male and female, have rough tongues. This is a characteristic shared by all members of the cat family, wild and domestic alike. If you live with a cat in the house you soon learn how important the rough tongue is to them.

There are few animals which have as much instinct for cleanliness as a cat. Cats take great delight in caring for their furry coats. How a cat loves to have its coat brushed!

This removes loose hairs, and stimulates the oil glands in the hair, giving the cat the same kind of comfortable feeling you get when your own hair is brushed.

About once a day a healthy cat will moisten its paw with its tongue and use this to wash her face. Then she will lick as many parts of her body as she can reach. Here, the rough tongue is of great value, acting as an efficient hair brush.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: To find out how rough the cat's tongue is, put a little cat food on your hand and let a cat lick it. Also, watch a cat's general expression when you brush her coat gently—she'll find ways to express her appreciation.

Plump Widow Most Likely to Land Second Husband

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions:

Plump widows have the best chance of landing another husband—because their suitors, who usually are middle-aged, figure they are good cooks.

England Church Allows Women to Hold Services

LONDON (AP)—The Church of England agreed Wednesday that women should be allowed to conduct some services and preach sermons. They will be licensed as lay readers, not priests.

The decision shocked some bishops and bachelor priests but it went through the convocation of Canterbury after two days of debate.

Canon law must be revised so the women can take up their duties. Since the Church of England is the national established church, Parliament must approve.

Future of Nehru, India Uncertain With China at Border

Editor's Note—Reporter William L. Ryan, on a tour of Asia, has reached Southeast Asia after visits to Pakistan and India. This is one of several dispatches expected in the next month.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

BANGKOK, Thailand — Warily all Southeast Asia eyes the Red Chinese forces squatting along the border of India.

It looks like a political squat. But, as they say in this area, who wants to predict what the Red Chinese will do?

Those troops have an impact, whether or not they are on the move. Their potential for mischief is enough to set in motion forces which are changing the course of Asia's cold war politics.

Among many in Southeast Asia, India's dilemma is viewed with a certain amount of grim satisfaction. There is not much love for the Indians among their neighbors to the east.

Inside India, Prime Minister Nehru remains strong and keeps a firm grip on his Congress party, despite burgeoning restiveness.

In the eyes of other Asians, India is not quite the same India, and Nehru is not quite the same Nehru since last October, when the Chinese attacked and humiliated Indian troops. The event had strong impact in the rest of Asia.

Nehru, the man who had deplored reliance on arms, the man who once embraced the Chinese propaganda slogans of peaceful coexistence and noninterference, turned for arms to those he had called colonialists and imperialists.

CHINA IS SINNER

True, Nehru and the Indians considered the Chinese the only sinners and still welcomed the support of the Soviet Union. But was India now in a position to call herself nonaligned? Was she not aligned with the West in opposing the great Communist power in Asia?

Nehru says he was the major target of that Chinese attack. He indicates it was an attempt to destroy him as the dominant figure of nonalignment in Asia. He will not agree that they succeeded, but his attitude suggests his experience has been bitter.

He was a much different Nehru from the one I had seen on other occasions. His eyes were puffed and his features reflected strain. He looked all of his 73 years.

Nehru's health is a matter of concern in New Delhi. Ever since the October crisis he has been working long hours, cutting down his rest, constantly occupied by the heavy duties of the prime ministry, the foreign ministry and the leadership of his far-flung Congress party.

Nehru suffered setbacks at home as well as in foreign policy. He was defeated in several prestige by-elections and set back on some of his reform measures.

Today there is ferment in the Congress party, especially among younger men on their way up. Nehru shook up his Cabinet, requiring half to resign and devote themselves to party organization work. He now has a Cabinet he can consider more pliable, but the best talent and the most gifted politicians are out of it.

NEHRU'S SUCCESSOR

Inevitably, there is speculation about who will succeed Nehru, and already there is much maneuvering and countermaneuvering going on.

There will be no second Nehru, no single towering figure who will command such a wide audience in the world. The successor is likely to be a politically orthodox moderate, concerned primarily with India and only secondarily with world problems. He is likely to be a man who will provide India with transition from the leader who brought independence in 1947 to a leadership which will be less sensitive to the memory of British rule.

Without such a dominating figure as Nehru, it will be more and more difficult to keep the Congress party from splintering.

The two most prominently mentioned as possible successors are Morarji Desai, an Indian version of the conservative banker type, whom Nehru recently removed as finance minister, and Lal Bahadur Shastri, a birdlike man who is an expert politician. Shastri recently was removed as home affairs minister and assigned to labors in the party vineyards, where his strength is growing.

For Asia, Nehru's departure or decline as a leading spokesman for what has been called neutralism will have considerable impact. There seems to be no one on the horizon at the moment to fill such a vacancy, even though a man like Indonesia's President Sukarno might aspire to it.

GREAT FRIENDSHIP

The United States has a great backlog of friendship in India, and at the moment is at the peak of its popularity there. But popularity is a fragile thing and events can turn the tide in another direction.

The effect of a series of events may be eventually to isolated India, cut her and her 460-million people adrift from her Asian neighbors and turn her ever more inward to her own internal affairs and her own immediate border problems with neighbors Pakistan and Red China.

★ ★ ★

This could open opportunities for the 200,000-strong Communist party of India, now the second largest in Parliament.

Cleaner Accused of Having Fire Set at Rival's Store

DETROIT (AP)—The owner of a chain of dry cleaning shops in Detroit was charged yesterday with hiring a 17-year-old boy to set fire to a competitor's establishment.

Named in the arson warrant in Recorder's Court was Earl Radcliffe, 39, who operates nine stores.

He is accused in a fire which caused an estimated $50,000 damage to a competitive self-service establishment last year.

★ ★ ★

Detroit police said the warrant grew out of a statement by James W. Wood, 17, who was first arrested in the burglary of the Isaac Newton School in Detroit.

The boy told the prosecutor's office Radcliffe had paid him $5 to set the fire.

Kennedy Sees Gromyko on 'Frictions'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy meets today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko for a review of East-West "frictions" designed to lessen the danger of war by miscalculation.

The 3 p.m. session (Pontiac time) will be their first since the dramatic confrontation a year ago at which Gromyko stoutly maintained that Soviet weapons in Cuba were purely "defensive," unaware that Kennedy already had photographic proof of the missile buildup.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk held a warmup session with Gromyko earlier today. They also held several long talks earlier this month in New York.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy told his news conference yesterday he believed that "what has happened" since his Oct. 18, 1962 meeting with Gromyko "will lessen the danger of a military clash."

TENSION EASERS

He obviously had in mind the forced withdrawal of the nuclear missiles from Cuba, relaxation of Red pressure on Berlin, and signing of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

The President pointed out, however, there still were many important issues on which Russia and the United States differed.

"As we don't want these disputes and frictions to escalate into military clashes, it is worthwhile to have consultations," he said.

★ ★ ★

The Rusk-Gromyko meetings already have shown that despite the more cordial East-West climate, there is no foreseeable prospect of a major breakthrough on such explosive issues as Berlin, Germany and European security.

UNTOUCHABLE PROBLEMS

Both sides, in fact, have shown a willingness to steer away from the more flammable problems in an effort to avoid a turn for the worse in relations at this time.

Rusk is understood to feel that Russia is so preoccupied by her bitter break with Red China, heightened by fear that Peking may soon develop a nuclear bomb, that the Kremlin is in no mood to get into any hard bargaining with the West.

Kennedy said yesterday that Russia had given no sign of wanting to accept his proposal, in a speech to the United Nations last month, that the Soviet Union and the United States undertake a joint effort to reach the moon.

★ ★ ★

He said the "matter may come up" at today's session with Gromyko, but "I must say we have had no response which would indicate that they are going to take us up on it."

The President discouraged the idea of any joint declaration to formalize the Soviet - American agreement in principle not to put atomic weapons into orbit.

Cuban Mission Hit With Egg 'Bombs'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three New Jersey men, believed to be Cuban refugees, were arrested last night for bombarding the Cuban mission to the United Nations with dozens of egg shells filled with red paint.

Police said the three apparently had drawn out the yolk and white of the eggs with a needle and filled the shells with the paint.

The cause of the egg-throwing was not immediately determined, police said.

Joseph Kennedy Visits Son at White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former ambassador to Britain Joseph P. Kennedy is visiting his son, the President, at the White House.

The elder Kennedy, ailing since he suffered a stroke Dec. 19, 1961, arrived yesterday aboard the family plane, the Caroline, accompanied by his niece and companion, Ann Cargan of Boston.

The Defense Department has announced plans to close or reduce activities at 330 bases and installations — 72 overseas and 258 in the United States.

Top JFK Aide Divorced in July, His Wife Reveals

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) —Ted C. Sorensen, President Kennedy's top White House aide, has been divorced since last July and his former wife, Mrs. Camellia P. Sorensen, has been living in Madison for two months.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Sorensen confirmed last night they had been divorced in Fairfax, Va., on grounds of mutual separation. She said they had been separated around the time of the 1960 Democratic National Convention, but would not elaborate further.

She said Sorensen has been paying alimony and making support payments to their three sons — Eric, 11, Stephen, 9, and Philip, 8 — who are enrolled in Madison schools.

"I like it here — it's a good place to bring up children," Mrs. Sorensen said. She said she has no plans to remarry and probably will settle here permanently.

Kennedy Meets Africans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy meets today with two African leaders, Prime Minister Hastings K. Banda of Nyasaland and Premier Cyrille Adoula of the Congo (at noon).

Kennedy Denies Insubordination Charges Against CIA

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says speculation that the Central Intelligence Agency has bucked administration policy in South Viet Nam is "wholly untrue" and does the CIA an injustice.

* * *

At his first news conference in nearly five weeks Kennedy also confirmed Wednesday that John Richardson has been transferred from his old post as chief of the CIA mission in South Viet Nam. He called Richardson "a very dedicated public servant" and he gave no reason for the transfer, nor said where Richardson would serve.

* * *

The early-evening session with 258 reporters also produced:

A restatement of official opposition to military coups in Latin Ameirca, coupled with rejection of the idea of using American military might to thwart them. Short of the use of force, Kennedy said, the United States was powerless to prevent recent coups in Honduras and the Dominican Republic.

A disclosure by Kennedy that the Soviet Union has made no response to his Sept. 20 proposal that this country and the Soviets mount a joint expedition to put a man on the moon by 1970. Kennedy said the subject might come up at a late-afternoon conference with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

GREAT MISTAKE

An assertion that it would be "a great mistake" to reduce the 40-hour work week.

A statement that the administration is watchfully concerned about recent price increases in steel, aluminum, heavy chemicals and electrical equipment.

* * *

Kennedy was asked to discuss reports that the CIA played an independent role in South Viet Nam and clashed with Pentagon and State Department policies. He said this was "wholly untrue" and unfair.

* * *

The President said he studied the record of the past nine months and found nothing to indicate that CIA "has done anything but support policy."

At another point, however, Kennedy conceded officials have differed about policy in South Viet Nam. But now, he said, "I know of no disagreement on what our basic policies will be and what steps we will take to implement it."

Kennedy also talked at length about domestic politics. He got started when asked if he expected Goldwater to be the GOP presidential candidate next year.

He replied: "I think he can do it. I think it is possible for him to do it. But he has a long road to go."

EXPECTS FIGHT

While declining to announce his candidacy, Kennedy said he expects "a hard, close fight in 1964." And he expressed hope that voters will conclude at election time "that the economy is moving ahead. That we are substantially stronger militarily, that the chances of war have been reduced over Berlin and perhaps in other areas."

But he said it would be premature for him to make such claims this far in advance of balloting.

Launch Probe in Fatal Flood

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI)—The Department of Mines began a full-scale investigation today into a freak flood which killed at least six persons and left more than 6,000 homeless.

* * *

A suburban area three miles wide and four miles long was inundated yesterday when the sides of an American-owned tin mine collapsed following a week of monsoon rains.

Police said six bodies had been recovered today, including four children. All the victims were Chinese. An unconfirmed press report said there were eight dead.

The mine, owned by the Pacific Tin Consolidated Corp. of New York, was a huge open pit filled with water for suction dredge mining.

* * *

When the walls gave way shortly after noon yesterday, a wall of brown water swept into the low-lying southern suburban area of the Malaysian capital.

Barnett Says Textbooks Are Political

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Gov. Ross Barnett charged yesterday that a high school textbook's example of faulty phrasing has political undertones.

Barnett asked the state textbook purchasing board to eliminate the book, "English in Action, Course Two," from Mississippi's schools.

He referred the board to page 412 of the book's sixth edition. The page contains instructions against needless repetition in sentence construction and exemplifies this grammatical evil with the sentence:

* * *

"In my opinion, I think world government is necessary and attainable."

STUDENTS KNOW

Alert 10th graders immediately see that either the "In my opinion" or the "I think" should be dropped.

Barnett objects to the sentence for political reasons. "This book teaches world government," he said.

The governor pointed out that the poor sentence example in the sixth edition was substituted for one in edition no 5 which read:

"George Washington is still respected, admired and honored at present."

J. C. Tressler is listed as author of the fifth edition. Tressler and Henry I. Christ were authors of the sixth. The book was printed by the D. C. Heath Publishing Co. of Boston.

Burning Conditions Worse in Michigan

LANSING (AP) — Dry weather and a low water table have caused hazardous burning conditions in southern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula, the State Department of Conservation reports.

* * *

The department yesterday banned burning permits in nine southern Michigan counties, and a spokesman said that increasing winds could add to the fire danger.

Counties in which burning permits were canceled were Branch, Calhoun, Eaton, Hillsdale, Ingham, Jackson, Lenawee, Livingston and Washtenaw.

Goldwater to Attend Ike's Birthday Party

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A big Republican fund-raising dinner, to commemorate the 73rd birthday of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, will be held here next Tuesday.

Eisenhower's birthday actually falls on Monday, Oct. 14, but will be celebrated by his Washington fans on the following day. At least one GOP presidential hopeful, Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., has accepted an invitation to attend the $75-a-plate affair.

Needed Refuge Water Comes From Dry Creek

TORRINGTON, Wyo. (AP) — State officials are trying to find water for a new waterfowl refuge 20 miles southeast of here.

They announced plans today to divert water from a stream called Dry Creek.

Love, Life, Death

Tragedy Chronicled

LOWELL (UPI) — A 22-page diary of estranged love, murder and, finally, suicide was the last will and testament of Lewis A. Darling.

"I wish to be buried with the children next to me . . . the kids are asleep, I hope they don't wake."

★ ★ ★

These were the last words written by the 30-year-old Muskegon construction worker. His pencil fell off the page onto the front seat of the car as carbon monoxide fumes killed Darling and two of his children — Kimberly Jane, 4, and Lewis Mark, 3.

Found with the bodies in his 1937 Chevrolet yesterday morning were 22 pages of awkwardly scribbled notes. They explained his reasons for killing the children and taking his own life on a lonely Kent County road near here late Tuesday night.

"Myself and children can't stand no more hurts. Dorothy and Bill gets to keep my son, Roger Lee, as their own."

ADDRESSED TO WIFE

The suicide notes, written over a two-hour period while Darling cruised along back-country roads, were addressed to his wife, Sherry.

They were married just last July. She left him three weeks ago and took a job as a waitress in a Lansing hotel restaurant.

"Why didn't you come back? This wouldn't have happened," the notes said. "I love you, Sherry. Jane is crying, she wants her mommy."

★ ★ ★

Sherry was not the mother of the two children, but the grief-stricken woman said, "If only he had stopped drinking, I never would have left him."

Darling, whose odyssey lasted two hours, finally parked the car some 50 miles from his home. He waited for the children to fall asleep, strung a piece of tubing from the exhaust pipe to the inside of the car and let the fumes enter.

"I feel awful," the notes said about 11 p.m. "The car is filling with gas."

The boy was found lying on the floor of the back seat, his head atop a pillow and a Bible lying nearby. The girl and the father were in the front seat.

★ ★ ★

"I went to church a few days ago," Darling's notes said. "I got saved."

Darling purchased the tubing in a Muskegon hardware store after staying home from a highway construction job he was working on. "It wasn't something I thought of on the spur of the moment," he wrote.

He had two other children — Roger Lee, 2, and Daniel Dean, 14 months old. The mother of all four tots is Mrs. Carol Kerberlin of Lansing, who divorced Darling in May. Custody of the three oldest children was awarded to the father.

Darling had left Roger with some Muskegon friends, William Lindgren and his wife, Dorothy. Lindgren, a fellow construction worker, said Darling "was in good spirits" the day of the tragedy.

Woman Killed in Plane Crash

MONTAGUE (AP)—A 47-year-old Montague woman was killed yesterday when her four-passenger Cessna 172 crashed at a nearby airport only minutes after her husband had made a safe landing in his own plane.

Killed was Mrs. Anna B. Klaus. Her husband, Walter, operates Chimont Machine Products of Montague.

Police said Mrs. Klaus had flown her husband to Grand Rapids earlier yesterday to pick up his plane — also a Cessna 172 — which was being repainted.

Klaus flew his plane back to Montague with his wife following in her own plane. He had landed at the Fred Ottiger Airport about five miles north of here and was watching his wife's plane approach the landing strip, when, he said, it hit a high tension power line and flipped over.

Crash Near Jackson Kills Man From Ohio

JACKSON (AP) — Dr. William Freyhof, 72-year-old Cincinnati, Ohio, physician, was killed last night when an auto, driven by his wife, Mary, 63, was rammed by a loaded cattle truck on U.S. 127 near Jackson.

Mrs. Freyhof was injured critically. A passenger in the truck was reported in fair condition.

Red Chinese Loan $50 Million to Algeria

ALGIERS (AP) — The Algerian Government announced Wednesday night it received a no-interest loan from Red China for the equivalent of $50 million. It did not say in what currency the loan would be granted.

Last month Algeria obtained a pledge of a $100-million loan from the Soviet Union.

Only Preteens Need Ask

Why Do Gals Dig Frankie?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sooner or later, if you are the father of growing children, there will come a time when they will start asking you delicate questions.

If you are an experienced father, you will handle the matter in one of the following ways:

You will say "Sorry, I haven't time to answer that now. I think we're having an air raid." Or you will say "That's a good question. Why don't you go ask your mother?"

WEST

There may be moments, however, when all escape hatches are closed. Such was the case at my house some time ago when my daughter, who is teetering on the brink of 13, became curious about something she saw on television.

Her mother was not at home at the time and there wasn't an airplane in the sky. So, back to the wall, I found myself trying to explain Frank Sinatra.

Whenever you are explaining Sinatra to a preteen-ager you have to choose your words very carefully. Otherwise, you might say something that will cause her in later life to turn against baritones.

On this evening, Sinatra was appearing as a guest star on somebody's program, and my daughter was puzzled by the conversation he was having with the host.

"Why do they keep asking him about girls? she said. "He looks like he is almost as old as you are."

"I like to think," I replied, "that women still find me attractive."

"Don't make jokes," she said. "I'm serious. Every time I see him on television they are kidding him about girls. It doesn't make sense.

"Why not," I said. "Many girls go for Sinatra in a big way."

"You're putting me on."

"No I'm not. It's true. Ask your mother when she gets back. She goes for Sinatra."

"I'm talking about girls," my daughter said. "I don't know a single girl in my class who thinks he's cool."

"Listen," I said. "I can remember when girls your age used to line up for blocks to get in a theater where Sinatra was singing. Every time they saw him they would moan and tear their hair and scream 'Frankie!' "

"That must have been before I was born."

"Yes," I admitted, "I guess it was."

"But why are they always asking him about girls now?"

"Be quiet for a minute," I said. "I think I hear an air raid siren."

John Tyler was the first vice president elevated to the presidency by the death of the President. He took office on the death of William Henry Harrison.

National Apple Week

Apple Cookery Is Toothsome

APPLE MUFFINS

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Johnny Appleseed left a wonderful legacy to Americans. Although there are few trees of his planting still left, the descendants of those trees are. Apples have become a favorite American fruit. This is National Apple Week.

Here in Michigan we're blessed with an abundance of apples. The crop is a little smaller than in 1962, but it is entirely adequate. And modern methods of storage keep apples coming to our tables twelve months of the year.

Our first recipe is for delicious coffee cake that was served at a brunch in Chicago last week. The recipe makes two cakes so you'll have one for the freezer.

Apple Coffee Lace

1 package active dry yeast or 1 cake compressed yeast.
¼ cup water
1 cup milk, scalded
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons shortening
1 teaspoon salt
3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 egg

★ ★ ★

1 No. 2 can unsweetened apple slices
1 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup bottled lemon juice
½ cup raisins

★ ★ ★

2 tablespoons milk
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar

Soften yeast in warm water. Combine milk, shortening and salt; cool to lukewarm. Add 1 cup of the flour; beat well. Beat in softened yeast and egg. Gradually add remaining flour to form soft dough.

Turn onto a floured surface and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in a greased bowl, cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled, about 1½ hours. Divide dough and roll out to make 2 rectangles 14x8 inches. Place on greased baking sheet.

Combine apple slices, brown sugar, cornstarch, lemon juice and raisins; cook until thick. Spread half down center of each piece of dough. At sides of dough cut 2 inch strips, cutting from edge to within ½ inch of filling. Take a strip from each side and cross them in center over filling. Continue to lace strips, tucking under the last strips.

Cover and let rise until double, about 30 minutes. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Combine milk and confectioners' sugar. Brush over warm lace for a smooth, even glaze.

Muffins for breakfast are no trick if you get them ready for the oven the night before.

Apple Muffins

1 cup sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon apple pie spice
¾ cup instant or regular whole wheat cereal
¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 cup grated raw apple (about 2½ medium apples)
1 egg
½ cup milk
3 tablespoons salad oil or melted shortening
1 teaspoons granulated sugar

Heat oven to hot (400 degrees). Grease muffin tins on bottom only.

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and spice. Mix in cereal and sugar. Sprinkle apples with a few tablespoons flour mixture. Beat together egg, milk and salad oil. Add to dry ingredients all at once. Stir until part of flour is moistened. Add apples. Stir until most of flour is moistened.

Fill muffin tins ⅔ full.* Sprinkle tops with sugar. Bake 20 minutes or until golden brown.

Yield: 12 medium muffins or 24 small muffins.

These muffins may be refrigerated overnight before baking. They may also be frozen after baking. To thaw, heat in foil wrapper in hot oven (400 degrees) 20-25 minutes or until hot.

Of course you've made some applesauce from this season's harvest. If there's just one cupful left, you can treat the family to turnovers for dessert tonight. Sharp cheese goes as well with these as with apple pie.

Applesauce Turnovers

1 cup applesauce (homemade is best)
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
Dash salt
Pastry for double crust pie

If applesauce is very juicy, drain in strainer placed over a bowl. Combine applesauce, lemon rind, cinnamon and salt.

Divide pastry into 6 equal parts. Roll out each part on a lightly floured pastry cloth or board large enough to cut into a 5-inch circle with a coffee can lid.

Spoon some of the applesauce mixture onto half of the pastry circle. Make slits in the other half of the circle, then fold slit side over applesauce side.

Moisten inside edges with water and seal by pressing edges together with the tines of a floured fork.

Place on an ungreased baking sheet and bake in a 450-degree (hot) oven until lightly browned, 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 6 turnovers.

Oriental Sauce Marinates Chops Before Broiling

These chops are given a marinade that's popular in Hawaii.

Teriyaki Pork Chops

4 pork chops, ¾ inch thick (about 1 pound)
2 tablespoons soy sauce
4 ¼ teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon minced crystallized ginger
1 small clove garlic, crushed

Trim all but ¼ inch of fat from around chops. In a shallow dish mix together the soy sauce, sugar, ginger, and garlic. Spoon marinade over chops and allow to stand in it about 1 hour.

★ ★ ★

Place chops on a rack in broiler pan. Broil slowly until brown on one side; brush with marinade; turn to broil other side. Brush with remaining marinade just before removing from broiler.

Allow about 25 minutes total broiling time; cut a slit near the bone to make sure meat is white through. Makes 4 servings.

★ ★ ★

NOTE: Use a Japanese-type soy sauce for strongest flavor. Rinse ginger in hot water to soften before mincing.

Out to Crack Road Woe

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—Ever wonder what causes concrete pavements to crack when exposed to freeling and thawing conditions?

Researchers at Penn State University are attempting to solve that puzzle. Their findings may have nationwide bearing on the cost and life expectancy of highways.

Highway departments and aggregate producers from all over are browing materials for the study.

Dutch Cheese or Cottage— It's Great

Schmierkase, Dutch cheese, pot cheese, cottage cheese — whatever you call it — these glistening white curds of cheese lend nutrition and beauty to many a meal.

Although it may not look like it, cottage cheese is enough like meat nutritionwise to be a substitute for it.

That's a good reason for making cottage cheese the basis for an attractive, easy-to-fix, hearty salad during warm weather. Place a scoop each of cottage cheese and potato salad close together on a lettuce-covered luncheon plate.

Arrange slices of cheese and cold meat alternately around the two mounds. Serve with toast and your family's favorite dressing for an all-in-one dish.

Versatile treats for breakfast, snacks, or dessert are pancakes filled with cottage cheese.

Grind Liver 'n' Bacon for Loaf

Need a change of pace for these bright fall evenings? Try baked Liver 'N' Bacon Loaf. A new idea for an old favorite with most — a new approach to an old problem for some — a delicious, and nutritious, dish for all.

The back-to-school crowd requires the support of extra-good food at the evening meal. This loaf, good either hot or cold, will give them what they need in appetizing form. Let canned tomato sauce soften the meaty flavor a bit and watch the forks fly.

A pour-over of the Smoky Mushroom Sauce will dress the pleasant, crumbly texture of the loaf most appropriately with bright color, good tomato flavor, and needed moistening.

Serve with sunny corn bread, seasoned mashed potatoes, and frozen string beans. These good foods in strong contrasting colors will present a lively invitation to dinner to your teenager, family members of more tender years, and oldsters, too. Try it — with a smile!

NEW WAY—Liver 'n' bacon loaf, with blending and saucing provided by canned tomato sauce, presents a lively invitation to dinner on a bright fall evening.

Liver 'N' Bacon Loaf

1½ pounds beef liver
Boiling water to cover
2 slices bacon
1 medium onion
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon marjoram
1 egg, beaten
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
½ cup broth
2 additional slices bacon, if desired
1 onion, for ring slices, if desired

Place liver in saucepan; cover with boiling water and simmer for 10 minutes. Drain; reserving broth. Put liver, bacon, and onion through a food chopper. Mix with seasonings, egg, crumbs, tomato sauce, and enough broth to form loaf. Press into loaf pan.

Place 2 slices bacon over top, if desired. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. If desired, garnish with onion rings. Makes 6 servings.

Smoky Mushroom Sauce

1 tablespoon pure vegetable oil
1 (4-ounce) can sliced mushrooms, save liquid
¼ cup chopped onion
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
Dash Smoke salt
1 teaspoon brown sugar

Saute mushrooms and onions in oil until golden. Add mushroom liquid and remaining ingredients; simmer 10 minutes. Serve as an accompaniment to liver 'n' bacon loaf.

Can Your Soup Beat Navy's

Are you a good cook? "Operation Beansoup VII" is under way and for the first time everybody is invited into the act. The United States Navy wants to find out if Navy cooks really make the best bean soup in the whole world or whether the honors belong somewhere else.

Up until now the alert went out from the Pentagon in Washington exclusively to officers and enlisted men on ships at sea and shore stations around the globe. Now the general public is invited to join the fun.

This year the contest, co-sponsored by the Memphis Council of the Navy League and the Commercial Appeal, is offering $500 in prizes for the best Navy bean soup recipe, including a cash award from the Michigan Bean Shippers Association. Prizes are also being awarded for the most interesting story concerning bean soup and the best black-and-white photograph of the preparation or serving of Navy bean soup.

Deadline for entries is October 12.

* * *

Final judging will take place on Navy Day, October 27. Entries must be recipes for servings of six and be typed or hand-printed on one side only of a single sheet of paper with entrant's name, address and occupation. Contest address is Operation Beansoup VII, Navy, Memphis, Tenn.

Modern Waldorf Salad Will Please

Liberties are taken with an old-time salad recipe, but these are all to the good!

Cantaloupe Waldorf Salad

2 cups diced cantaloupe
1 cup diced apples
1 cup diced pared peaches
1 cup diced celery
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
2 tablespoons French dressing
½ cup coarsely broken pecans
Lettuce and mayonnaise

Mix together the cantaloupe, apples, peaches, celery, lemon juice and French dressing; cover; refrigerate and allow to marinate for 10 to 15 minutes. Drain off excess dressing. Add pecans and mix lightly.

"Boy—look, Dad! We're havin' French Toast for breakfast! And it's round!"

Schafer's Round n' good makes French Toast cheerier than ever. It looks so different, like a happy full moon . . . and cuts into half-moons and wedges. Tastes different, too, because Schafer's bakes it in closed double pans that lock in freshness and flavor. Round slices make a clean fit for all your favorite sandwich fillings—bologna, hamburger, tomatoes, onions and what-have-you. Look for Round n' good at your grocer's and put variety on your table. Serve Schafer's.

Appetizing Breakfast Breads Call for Lemon Juice

What "is the size of a large plum, resembles a small orange, and is exceedingly sour to taste"?

According to the ancient Chinese, it was the "li-mung" — the lemon.

Lemon juice was as popular 1,000 years ago as it is today. In fact, two bottles of lemon juice were presented as a gift to a Chinese Emperor in 971 A.D.

Recipes utilizing the modern day bottled lemon juice were featured on the menu at an "Historic Brunch," sponsored by the Real Lemon Company at the Newspaper Food Editors Conference.

Lemon Sticky Buns were one of a variety of appetizing lemon-tanged breakfast breads served. They are made with hot roll mix, glazed with brown sugar, butter and bottled lemon juice, and sprinkled with pecans.

Lemon Sticky Buns

1 package hot-roll mix
¼ cup soft butter
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon mace or cinnamon
½ cup sugar
½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup butter
¼ cup bottled lemon juice
½ cup chopped pecans

Prepare hot-roll mix according to directions. Cover and let rise. Turn out onto a floured surface; knead about 1 minute. Roll to a 24x10-inch rectangle. Spread with soft butter. Sprinkle with ¼ cup sugar and mace or cinnamon. Roll lengthwise and seal edge; cut into 1-inch slices.

Combine ½ cup sugar, brown sugar, ¼ cup butter and bottled lemon juice; bring to a boil and cook until slightly thickened, about 5 minutes. Spoon into 24 muffin pans; sprinkle with pecans.

Arrange slices, cut side down, over mixture. Let rise until double, about 35 minutes. Bake in 375 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Let cool slightly and invert on rack; remove pan. Makes 2 dozen.

Another lemony hot bread is the following muffin.

Sugar 'n Spice Muffins

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
¾ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup shortening
1 egg
½ cup milk
¼ cup bottled lemon juice
⅓ cup melted butter
1 to 2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon.

Sift dry ingredients (flour, sugar, baking powder, soda, salt); cut in shortening. Mix egg and milk. Add to flour mixture and bottled lemon juice. Stir to moisten. Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full. Bake at 450 degrees for 20 minutes.

Combine melted butter and 2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice. Mix ½ cup sugar and cinnamon. Remove muffins from pan and dip hot muffin in butter mixture. Roll in sugar and cinnamon. Makes 12 2¼-inch muffins.

Sharp Sauce Is Standby for Franks

In a very popular restaurant in New York City, a favorite on the menu the year around is Frankfurters with Mustard Sauce.

A recipe for the mustard sauce was worked out in a famous test kitchen. It is given here with the suggestion that it can be served either hot or cold. Served cold, it is excellent for up-grading picnic hot dogs.

Mustard Sauce

1 tablespoon corn starch
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon cayenne
2 tablespoons corn oil
1 cup milk
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon vinegar

Combine corn starch, sugar, dry mustard, salt and cayenne in saucepan. Mix in corn oil, then gradually blend in milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils. Remove from heat.

Mix egg yolk with vinegar. Gradually stir into hot mixture. Cook 1 minute, stirring constantly. Serve hot or cold with meat or fish. Makes 1 cup.

Brief Baking Time for Cereal Cookies

These should make a hit with the young set.

Cornflake Crisps

4 cups cornflakes
½ cup coarsely chopped pecans
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup sugar
⅓ cup molasses
⅓ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces

Put cornflakes and pecans into a large mixing bowl; reserve. In a saucepan, stirring constantly, bring butter, sugar and molasses to a full boil; remove from heat; stir in chocolate until melted. Pour mixture over cornflakes and pecans, mixing well as you do so.

Drop slightly heaped tablespoons of the mixture, several inches apart, onto ungreased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 6 minutes. Cool slightly before removing to a wire rack. Makes about 3 dozen.

The University of Michigan was the first large state institute to be governed directly by the people of the state, in 1817.

Bit of Ginger Spices Lemon Frozen Cream

Refreshing tangy dessert for a hot summer day.

Frozen Lemon Cream

1 cup milk
1 cup cream
1 cup sugar
Grated rind and juice of 2 lemons
2 to 4 teaspoons ginger

In a mixing bowl, stir together the milk, cream and sugar until sugar is entirely dissolved; stir in ginger. Set the bowl in the freezer or pour the mixture into a refrigerator tray and freeze it until it is mushy.

Add grated lemon rind and juice, beat well with a rotary beater; freeze again for 2 hours. Beat again thoroughly and return the cream to the freezer to stiffen and store. Makes 3 pints.

To store, Frozen Lemon Cream may be packed in a plastic container and covered tightly.

Note: For a slight subtle taste of ginger, use the smaller amount; for more distinctive ginger taste, increase the amount.

Check Quality of Ingredients for Pickles

What are the trouble spots when making pickles? The Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer suggests you check these:

First vinegar. Vinegar in grandmother's day was only 3 percent acetic acid compared with 4 to 6 percent today, so if you are using old recipes your pickles may be very sour. Use clear strong vinegar. Most prefer cider vinegar but white distilled vinegar may be used if you want to keep such vegetables as cauliflower and onions white.

Next salt. Pickling recipes call for pure granulated salt. Table salts have chemicals added to prevent caking. These chemicals may interfere with the pickling process.

Soft water is best for pickling. Waters high in lime may prevent proper acid formation. It makes no difference if the sugar used is cane or beet sugar. Sugar is sugar.

If pickles turn soft, the usual cause is that the brine was too weak or the vinegar was not strong enough.

The most important part of pickle making is the cucumber. Be sure it is fresh, crisp and green-and not overmature. Avoid bruising the cucumber, and after the cukes are picked, be prompt in getting those pickles processed.

It's Built-In Nest Egg

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)— When the B. W. Riley family returned home from their vacation they found a new resident has moved in during their absence. A pigeon had built a nest inside the attic exhaust fan and deposited one egg in it.

You'll Find Meat Cuts for Autumn Grilling

This is National Apple Week which is observed each October when apple supplies are at their peak. About 15 per cent of the annual apple crop will be marketed in Octobr against 10 per cent in September, reports the District Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

Seasonal meat and poultry supplies afford plentiful choice this week and "Indian Summer" suggests outdoor cooking. If you are looking for main course foods for outdoor feasting, T-bone and porterhouse steaks are at special prices in some stores this week.

Some families might choose a thick sirloin which yields more meat per pound. Country style ribs, made from the rib-end pork roast, or fryers may be your barbecue choice.

HAVE A ROAST

If you plan to cook inside, perhaps the roasts featured in many stores will satisfy your family. If you wish to braise meat in moist heat with a lid on, the beef chuck or round steak are cuts to consider. If you wish to roast meat in dry heat with no cover, then look for sales of beef standing rib or pork Boston butt, loin or picnic cuts.

You can expect seasonally supplies of pork to contiue, so keep pork in mind during the weeks ahead. Beef production during the next two months is likely to be 8 to 10 per cent larger than last fall. And there are more fryers than a year ago at this time.

A comparison of egg prices shows that small size eggs are now the best value from a standpoint of cost. This week, small eggs are 33-35 cents per pound compared to large eggs at 38-40 cents per pound.

Of course you don't buy eggs by the pound, and your family may not want small size eggs. But chances are that small children might prefer small eggs and they can be used with ease when cooking. Three small size eggs will provide the same volume in recipes as two large size eggs.

Recent rains and unusually hot weather on the West Coast will influence the quality and price of fresh vegetables you buy from that production area. You'll probably notice this difference in lettuce and tomatoes.

Cabbage, dry onions, potatoes, and squash seem especially abundant at this season.

SQUASH

Michigan markets may offer as many as five varieties of fall squash. Most homemakers recognize the acorn or table squash for its acorn shape and dark olive green skin so easy to spot.

- The butternut squash is 8 to 10 inches long and 4-5 inches in diameter at the bulbous blossom end. It is easy to recognize for the skin is smooth and tan or creamy buff in color.
- The delicious squash is top shaped and weighs 6 to 9 pounds. It may be dark green with lighter green strips or reddish orange with green blotches at the tip.
- Buttercup squash is turban shaped, circular flattened with a "Turks Cap" formation at the blossom end.
- The Hubbard squash is largest of the fall variety. Since it usually weighs 12-14 pounds, most retailers cut it into piecs and sell it by the pound.

Regardless of the squash you buy, you will find the yellow flesh high in vitamin content. Boil it, steam it, or bake it, or make it into pie.

LOW CALORIED PIE — Fresh pears, room-ripened to juicy goodness, provide the basis for a marvelous new fruit pie for fall. The pears, which are left uncooked and therefore must be juicy ripe, are sliced into a baked pie shell and topped with a tantalizingly sweet and delectable red cherry glaze.

Steak Is Way Out in Front as Favorite Meat of USA

Take a survey of favorite foods, and you will find that steak always comes out a winner. Through the years steak has made a name for itself as a symbol of good eating. Here is the story behind the names for this popular meat, as reported by the American Meat Institute.

Steak comes from an old Saxon word, "steik," meaning "meat on a stick." The Saxons and Jutes who lived in what is now Denmark brought their skills as cattlemen and some of their tame animals when they conquered Great Britain. They favored broiled beef and cooked it on a pointed stick over a campfire, anticipating our cookout by some 16 centuries.

Some credit the origin of sirloin to the English. Legend has it that a British monarch became so enthused with the meat that he pulled out a sword and dubbed it "Sir Loin." The less romantic tell us that sirloin comes from the French word, "surlonge," i.e., over the loin.

The French gave us the expression, filet mignon meaning small steak. Filet means a piece of meat without bone; mignon means small, petite. Chateaubriand was named for the French viscount, writer and statesman of that name who lived during the Napoleonic era.

There are a number of tales of how the porterhouse steak received its name. The most generally accepted story is that a proprietor of a New York porter and ale house in the 1800's satisfied an overflow of customers by cutting through a sirloin roast to produce steaks.

NEW CUT

The local butcher had never heard of sirloin being used for anything but roasting but met the new demand for the cut and called it porterhouse after the ale and porterhouse in which it originated.

The club steak, from the rib end of the short loin, obtained its name because its convenient size made it a frequent choice of clubs and restaurants. The steak that adjoins the club steak is named after its T-shaped bone.

Even though there are only about 90 pounds of broiling this easily prepared, flavorful steaks in a 1,000 pound steer, meat seems to have made quite an impression on our vocabulary and menu preferences.

Fruit Tower Can Be Made Hours Ahead

The warm weather transfers the fun of entertaining to the outdoors. For a festive supper party in your own backyard, plan foods that are delightful in looks as well as taste. If many of the preparations can be made ahead of time, you'll be ready well before the guests arrive.

Build a molded tower of fruit and cheese for a center-of-attraction salad with make-ahead convenience. The base of this Blue Cheese Fruit Tower is a velvety blend of mellow American blue cheese, mayonnaise, lemon juice, and sour cream.

The blue cheese layer, dotted with walnuts, serves as a built-in dressing for the cranberry-mandarin orange layer on top.

BLUE CHEESE FRUIT TOWER

Fruit Layer

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 (11-ounce) can mandarin orange sections
1 (1-pound) can whole cranberry sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cheese Layer

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 4 ounces)
½ cup dairy sour cream
1 cup mayonnaise
¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup broken walnut meats

For fruit layer, soften gelatin in ¼ cup syrup from mandarin orange sections. Dissolve over hot water. Add orange sections with remaining syrup, cranberry sauce, and lemon juice. Pour into deep 1½-quart mold and chill until set.

For cheese layer, soften gelatin in ¼ cup cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Mash blue cheese well with fork and blend until smooth with sour cream, mayonnaise, and lemon juice. Add to dissolved gelatin; mix in walnuts. Pour over fruit layer and chill until firm. To serve, unmold on bed of crisp greens.

Creamed Sauce, Mushrooms Dress Chicken

A rangetop skillet dish that's just right for two couples.

Mushroom Chicken

2 ½ pound ready-to-cook broiler-fryer, cut up
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 can (6-ounces) broiled whole mushrooms
Evaporated milk, undiluted
Medium sherry

Coat chicken with a mixture of the flour, salt, pepper and paprika. Brown well in butter in a large skillet; cover and cook until tender, turning as necessary—30 minutes or longer. Remove chicken and keep warm.

Add liquid drained from mushrooms to skillet; stir over low heat to get up browned particles. Remove from heat. Add enough undiluted evaporated milk (½ to ⅔ cup) to make a thin sauce; strain, if you like, and return to clean skillet.

Add mushrooms and sherry to taste; heat but do not boil or sauce will curdle. Replace chicken in skillet and serve. Makes 4 servings.

Heat Meat Slices in Tomato and Onion Sauce

In France, "rechauffe" means a method of reheating left over meat. Beef Rechauffe is delicious served over hot buttered noodles. Or, mold the noodles into a ring and fill the center with Beef Rechauffe.

Serve with buttered green beans, tossed salad and berry tarts for a delightful "planned-over" meal in the French style.

Beef Rechauffe

1 cup sliced onions
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cans (10¾ ounces each) condensed tomato soup undiluted
1½ tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Dash crushed rosemary
¾ pound cooked beef, thinly sliced (2 cups firmly packed)

Saute onions in butter. Add soup and remaining ingredients; cover; simmer 20 minutes to blend flavors. Serve over hot buttered rice or hot buttered noodles. Makes 6 servings.

Pear Pie Has Good Taste Minus Sugar

For the benefit of weight watchers, this handsome, eye-catching pie has been calorie-trimmed to but a fraction of its usual calorie count. In place of sugar, the economical, calorie-free sweetener, Sucaryl, has been used to provide natural tasting sweetness.

PEAR PIE WITH CHERRY GLAZE
(Low-Calorie)

2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 1-pound can red sour cherries
7½ teaspoons Sucaryl solution
3 cups ripe fresh pear slices
1 9-inch baked pie shell

Place cornstarch in saucepan. Drain cherries, adding water to liquid to make 2 cups. Stir into cornstarch. Add 4½ teaspoons of the Sucaryl. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thick. Place sauce in bowl. Add cherries. Cool.

Arrange uncooked pear slices in baked pie shell. Sprinkle with remaining 3 teaspoons Sucaryl. Spoon cherry glaze over pears. Chill until set.

Makes 6 servings. Each serving contains 215 calories; 3 grams protein; 6.5 grams fat; 38.5 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 376 calories.

Nectarines Flavor New Ice Cream

It's so easy to make "Jiffy Nectarine Ice Cream" that a child could put it together. But the delectable flavor would lead a person to believe that a lot of work goes into this refreshing summer dessert.

All you need are five ingredients: Fresh nectarines, lemon juice, sugar, whipping cream and packaged instant vanilla pudding mix. The nectarine skins will strip off easily if you cover the fruit with boiling water for about a minute.

Jiffy Nectarine Ice Cream

3 or 4 fresh nectarines
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup sugar
2 cups whipping cream
1 package (3¾ oz.) instant vanilla pudding mix.

Blanch, peel and cut nectarines from pits; put through sieve or whiz in blender until smooth. Mix in all remaining ingredients. Whip, or whiz in blender until smooth.

Turn into 1-quart refrigerator tray; set control to coldest and freeze until set about 1 inch from edges. Turn out into chilled bowl and beat with rotary or electric beater until smooth.

Return to refrigerator tray and freeze until firm. Makes 1 quart.

Stuffed Ham Under Glaze

Stuff ham steaks with corn bread and pineapple, then bake and glaze them. This new recipe gives menues novelty, fresh interest.

STUFFED HAM SLICES

2 center-cut ham slices, about ½ inch thick
Whole cloves

Stuffing

One 8¾-ounce can crushed pineapple
2½ cups coarsely crumbled corn bread
1 cup dry bread cubes
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup finely-chopped celery
½ cup raisins
¼ cup buter or margarine, melted

Glaze

2 tablespoons firmly-packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard

Heat oven to slow, 300 degrees. Place one ham slice on rack in shallow roasting pan. Stick whole cloves around edge of other ham slice.

Drain 2 tablespoons juice from crushed pineapple; reserve for glaze. Combine crushed pineapple with remaining ingredients, tossing until combined.

Lightly press stuffing evenly on ham slice in roasting pan. Top with second ham slice. Bake in preheated oven, 300 degrees, about 45 minutes.

For glaze, combine the 2 tablespoons reserved pineapple juice with the brown sugar and dry mustard.

Fortress-built homes, called "Nuraghi," which date back to the Bronze Age, are big tourist attractions on the Mediterranean island of Sardinia.

Theft Is Child's Play

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Police investigating a burglary at a local hobby shop doubt that the culprit is a hardened criminal. The store was broken into by way of a window and total loot was 10 paper dolls worth 10 cents each.

The National Council of Churches, formed in 1950, consists of members from 33 denominations embracing over 34 million parishoners.

There are 10 million Americans suffering from some form of heart disease, with 900,000 deaths attributed to the ailment each year.

Woman on Commission

JACKSON (AP)—Miss Marguerite Steensma, Jackson's first woman city commissioner, was installed last night. She was named to fill out the unexpired term of her late brother, Paul J. Steensma, who died last month. The term expires Jan. 1.

Cleric: Nostalgia a Hindrance

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — AP SPECIAL REPORT

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, one of the world's foremost religious leaders, says "perhaps the greatest thing standing in the way of producing the kind of civilization all men of good will want is that many Americans look back to the good old days which can never return."

* * *

Dr. Blake, for 12 years chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church, believes that those times are gone for good because "of the population explosion and the necessary urbanization that a modern industrial economy has forced on us."

* * *

Dr. Blake, whose firm stand on certain issues, especially racial ones, has landed him at times in controversy, said in an interview:

"It is the kind of conservatism which bases its resistance to change on such nostalgia that is the most dangerous kind of conservatism.

* * *

"The church is for the conservative who would preserve the best of the ancient values, but must resist every conservative who prates about ancient values as a smoke screen to protect his own selfish advantages."

GROWING STRONGER

Dr. Blake is a member of the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches; chairman of its Division of Relief and Refugee Service; a member of the general board of the National Council of Churches, and formerly its president.

* * *

"Our church organization is growing stronger. At the same time, however, thoughtful Christian leadership is fearful that the people in church are not really affected by the Gospel so much as they are affecting the programs of the churches," Dr. Blake said.

* * *

For example, he continued, "the church doesn't seem to be very clear in its witness against luxury and materialism.

"All Americans, it would appear, tend to take it for granted that success is measured by income."

"And in the civil rights area, for further illustration," Dr. Blake said, "The question is whether so clear a Christian position as justice, freedom and dignity for all minorities can really become the program of our local churches.

CHIEF CRISIS

"The chief crisis in our nation just now clearly is the one concerning racial relationships. It is my hope that the churches of America will see in what is sometimes called the Negro problem an opportunity to witness to Christianity in such a way that not only will civil rights and justice be accorded to the Negro community, but also that in the process the church itself will be renewed and become clearly relevant to the actual problems of American life."

* * *

It was in this area of civil rights that national attention recently was focused dramatically upon Dr. Blake. Along with certain other churchmen he placed himself in the middle of a Maryland civil rights demonstration and was arrested.

Dr. Blake, 56, has long been one of the most vigorous advocates of Christian unity. In December 1960 he proposed a union of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Methodist Church and the United Church of Christ.

* * *

"It was the dilemma of stronger church organizations and the apparently less influence on the decisions of their members that made me propose that union," he explained.

* * *

"Our present free enterprise in religion does have the effect of strengthening the churches organizationally, but it tends to make people think of their church as a purely voluntary organization which they'll support if they like, leave if they don't.

WEAKEST ASPECT

"Probably the weakest aspect of church life in America," Dr. Blake went on, "is that the church is prone to forget that its primary mission is always to the poor, to the disadvantaged, to the outcast.

* * *

"The task of the church is to keep hitting hard at the wrongs of unemployment, bad housing, job insecurity and the insecurity of the aged, for what these things do to people. And it is up to the economists and the politicians to work out concrete ways to achieve what clearly are our Christian goals."

* * *

Dr. Blake said he is much concerned over some of the reaction to the recent Supreme Court decision banning the required reading of Bible passages and the recitation of prayers in the public schools.

* * *

"A great many Christians apparently believe that the elimination of Christian observances from the public schools necessarily means that society and the nation itself have rejected the religious tradition which is basic to our life," he said.

* * *

"My own conviction is the revitalized and relevant churches will do more to preserve our civilization than compulsory ceremonials in the schools."

Queen, Top Family Honored by Farm Bureau

Winners of Awards Named at Group's Annual Banquet

Oakland County Farm Bureau members last night were introduced to the new Miss Farm Bureau and Farm Bureau Family of the Year at the group's annual banquet and business meeting.

Some 150 saw Pam Oslin, a 17-year-old student at Walled Lake High School, accept the corsage recognizing her as this year's Miss Farm Bureau.

The Keith Middletons of 2610 Stoney Creek, Oakland Township, were selected Farm Bureau Family of the Year. They were awarded a plaque for their outstanding farm achievement.

Pam, a 4-H member for the past five years, is also secretary of the Agriculture Club at her school.

In addition to her main hobby, which is showing and taking care of her horse, Pam has studied piano for four years.

* * *

She also takes an interest in sewing, beef raising, electrical apparatus, cooking and gun safety.

Pam is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Oslin, 41900 13 Mile Road, Novi Township.

TO STUDY AT MSU

After graduating from high school, she plans to study animal husbandry and business at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

"This is so it will help me get my own farm started after I get out of college," she said.

As Miss Farm Bureau, Pam will represent Oakland County at the annual Michigan Farm Bureau convention in East Lansing, Nov. 11.

* * *

There she will compete for the state title with girls representing other Michigan counties.

NEW DIRECTORS

Besides honoring Miss Farm Bureau and the Middletons, those attending last night elected new directors for the coming year.

Chosen to serve on the board were James Vantine, 490 Hadley, Brandon Township; William Scramlin, 3694 Jossman, Groveland Township; Ralph Schlusler, 6821 Drake, Walled Lake, Wallace Chamberlain, 811 Letts, Lake Orion; and Mrs. William Scramlin.

Featured speaker of the evening was Allen Rush, Farm Bureau district director. His home is at 65040 Dequindre, Washington Township.

In another portion of the business meeting, Mrs. Vernon Hutchings, 1625 Hadley, Brandon Township, was honored for her success as chairman of last year's membership drive.

* * *

Mrs. Hutchings brought the number of families enrolled in the club to a record high, 1,204.

Pontiac Press Photo

TOPS IN COUNTY — Named the family of the year by the Oakland County Farm Bureau, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Middleton last night received a plaque from Mrs. Vernon Hutchings (left) a member of the group's public relations committee. The Oakland Township couple, who live on a 360-acre dairy and potato farm, have five children. Both are active in community and farm-related activities.

IRENE REMBACH

A June wedding is being planned by Irene Rembach and Bruce Lane Fagan. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Joseph Rembach of 5180 M87, Holly Township, and the late Mr. Rembach. Her fiance is the son of Howard L. Fagan of 117 Railroad, Holly, and the late Mrs. Fagan.

Jaycees Favor Romney's Tax

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — The Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce will adopt a resolution endorsing Gov. George Romney's proposed fiscal reform program at the Jaycee annual Fall Board conference here tomorrow and Saturday, a spokesman said.

The Jaycee spokesman said support for Romney's plan will come at the general board of directors meeting Saturday morning at Mount Clemens High School.

Richard H. Headlee, 33, Bountiful, Utah, national Jaycee president, will be the principal speaker at the weekend meeting expected to attract more than 500 members and their wives.

The spokesman said adoption of a state vehicle traffic code is also expected by directors. The code would urge uniformity of Michigan highway signs and markers.

Headlee scheduled a press conference at 4 p.m. today at the Detroit Press Club to discuss the Jaycees stand against Medicare, federal aid to education and President Kennedy's domestic Peace Corps.

Middletons Have History of Farm Service to County

The Keith Middletons were born and reared on Oakland County farms.

In fact, except for the seven years Mrs. Middleton spent as a youngster in Avon Township, they have been lifelong residents of Oakland Township.

Their 360-acre dairy and potato farm, where they milk 65 Holstein cows, is at 2610 Stoney Creek.

* * *

The Middletons are no novices at award winning, for they have taken their farming seriously and have long been involved in community service.

RECEIVE PLAQUE

The plaque they received last night as the Farm Bureau's family of the year will take its place among other trophies in their home.

Middleton last year was named Oakland County's dairy farmer of the year by the Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

In 1959 he received the state 4-H alumni recognition award.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Middleton, who have five children, have maintained steady interest in 4-H work. A 4-H Club leader for 23 years, Middleton is now president of the Oakland County 4-H Leaders Association.

4-H LEADER

Mrs. Middleton has been a 4-H leader for 12 years.

* * *

Their son Tom, 18, is the county's 4-H king for 1963. The eldest son, 22-year-old Bill, is married and works on the family farm with his father.

Larry, 21, attends North Central Michigan College at Petoskey; Carolyn is a freshman at Lake Orion High School; and John is in the seventh grade at St. Joseph School in Lake Orion.

* * *

Middleton, a Farm Bureau member for 22 years, is past president of the East Orion group and past county board member.

HOLDS POSITIONS

He serves as treasurer of the Oakland County Soil Conservation District, director of the Oxford Co-op Elevator, president of Dairy Herd Improvement Association No. 2 and member of the Michigan State Extension Service's agricultural advisory council.

He is treasurer of the Lake Orion Community School Board and has served as president of the local PTSA.

Mrs. Middleton has been a member of the East Orion Extension Group for 21 years. She also belongs to the Lake Orion Women's Club and was a delegate to the Lake Orion Youth Center board as well as to the PTSA council.

* * *

The family belongs to St. Joseph Catholic Church in Lake Orion.

Road Fatalities—1,337

EAST LANSING (UPI) — State police provisional reports today showed 1,337 persons died in highway accidents this year through yesterday. The count at the same time last year was 1,224.

Orion Twp. Step Closer to New Library Facility

ORION TOWNSHIP — The township drew $12,000 closer to a new library here Tuesday when it accepted Community National Bank's offer to buy the old facility on Lapeer Street, Lake Orion.

Township Supervisor John Lessiter said architects are presently working on final plans for the new library to be constructed on a 40,000 square foot site on Lapeer Road across from Buckhorn Lake.

Expected to cost an estimated $100,000, the one-story structure will have 4,788 square feet of floor space, occupied by a work room, meeting room and one large room for reading and book storage.

* * *

Architect for the project is Louis G. Redstone of Detroit.

FEDERAL GRANT

In addition to the $12,000 from the old library, a $50,000 grant from the federal government's Community Facilities Administration will help meet the cost.

Other funds have been raised through accumulation of the half-mill township tax.

Work is scheduled to begin by the first of next year, Lssiter said today.

The present library facilities will remain open until the new structure is completed.

* * *

The township purchased the land for the new library after the roller rink, which formerly occupied the site, burned down.

'HAVE THE FUNDS'

"We have practically all of the funds for the building on hand right now," Lessiter said.

"The library board has been working toward this for quite a few years," he added.

Library board members are Mrs. Margaret Slater, president Mrs. Eula Abbey, secretary; and members Mrs. Helen Chapin Mrs. Maude Becker, Mrs. Aurora Robinson and Mrs. Mary Scribner.

Missile Employes Will Vote on Union

DETROIT (UPI) — Production workers at a new Detroit-area missile plant will vote either to accept or reject the United Auto Workers (UAW) as bargaining agent with the company Oct. 22.

* * *

The National Labor Relations Board announced yesterday the vote will be taken at the Ling-Tempco-Vought plant in Sterling Township.

An early election date was made possible when the missile company entered into a voluntary election agreement with the UAW. If the company had not given its consent, the NLRB would have called a formal hearing before acting on the union's petition for the vote.

"Our records indicate about 70 workers will be eligible to vote," said Jerome Brooks, acting Detroit regional director of the NLRB.

* * *

"To be eligible, a worker must have been on the company's payroll prior to Oct. 7."

* * *

The company, which opened operations here during the summer, plans to employ more than 600 workers by 1964.

Last June, union workers at the Chrysler missile plant complained that L-T-V was offering them sharply reduced wages and fringe benefits.

Some workers said L-T-V's wages were $1 an hour lower than the prevailing auto wage rates and fringe benefits being paid by Chrysler.

Supervisor Forces Reversal

Avon Twp. Abolishes Job Board

AVON TOWNSHIP—Supervisor Cyril E. Miller forced the Township Board to do a smart "about face" last night.

Confronting them with legal opinion, he convinced the board to abolish the two-week-old Employment Board of Review which he so vehemently opposed when it was first formed.

Miller told the board that under the State Constitution it had no right to establish any committee which had more power than the board itself.

* * *

His stand was based on a letter from Joseph Parisi, executive director of the Michigan Township Association. In it, Parisi said the state attorney general has previously ruled such a committee was unconstitutional.

WANTS TO RESCIND

After reading the letter, Miller asked the board if it wanted to rescind the resolution which established the review board.

Trustee William E. McCullough suggested that the motion should be amended, limiting the committee to an advisory status.

"In all my experience, I have never seen any committee which had power over a board," Miller exclaimed.

* * *

"With the responsibility I have, I don't see why I can't have some authority," he added. "If you want to be supervisors you should try to be elected as such, but don't try to run this township from the board."

HE DISAGREED

When the supervisor told board members the entire controversy stemmed back to his dismissal of Building Inspector Lawrence Porter, McCullough disagreed.

"This was not the whole reason," he said.

After the heated discussion, the board voted unanimously to abolish the committee.

* * *

At the last regular board meeting, a motion by McCullough passed, with Miller dissenting, which established the grievance board.

The four-man group consisted of Township Clerk Mrs. Thelma Spencer and trustees Wayne Holman, Lyle R. Knapp and McCullough.

Miller later said the action "challenged my authority to make personnel changes." He called the move a threat to "the integrity of local government."

He said the disagreement between the board and himself was based on his July 22 dismissal of Porter. Four weeks after Miller's move, the board voted to reinstate the building inspector.

After a heated debate on the matter, Miller and the board agreed to accept the recommendation of the state attorney general, on whether the board could overrule the township supervisor in this case.

To date, no decision has come down from Lansing.

Closing out discussion of the issue last night, the board agreed to a special meeting at 4 p.m. next Wednesday.

* * *

Township Attorney Lewis R. Bebout will be on hand to guide the session, which is to deal with the legal duties and rights of township employes and board members.

NEWS OF THE AREA

New Building to Replace Old Rochester Eyesore

ROCHESTER — A new commercial and office building will replace a long time "eyesore" in the village, the old St. James Hotel, which was torn down last December.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Watson Jr., 1213 N. Main, have purchased the 40- by 150-foot hotel site on the southwest corner of Main and West University.

Announcement of the sale closes a chapter on the property which was marked by a legal battle over village condemnation of the 115-year-old structure before it was ordered razed.

* * *

The old weather-beaten frame building was demolished under an agreement with representatives of the Lottie C. Smith estate.

Action to raze the building as a hazard to health and safety was begun in January 1961 after a county health officer and village officials inspected the structure and found it dangerous.

The Watsons plan to erect a two or three-story building which will be completely air conditioned, have a full basement and elevator.

If the three-story structure to be known as the Watson Building is built, it will be the tallest in town.

It also will be the only one completely air conditioned and having an elevator.

PLANNED USE

The first floor is planned for retail use. The second and third will contain professional and office space.

Depending on whether the building is two or three stories, it will have approximately 12,000 to 15,000 square feet of rental space.

Architect is Robert C. Smitha of Rochester. Milton Weaver, Inc., is the leasing agent and also handled the sale. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Watson, a local insurance broker of the Watson Mutual Agency, said today his agency office will be moved into the new building when it is completed sometime next summer.

As a member of the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors, Watson expressed confidence that the structure "will be a fine addition to the downtown commercial and shopping area" of the village.

On Music Curriculum

Teachers to Gather

SOUTHFIELD — Schools of Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair counties will send approximately 300 teachers to a music curriculum program here Oct. 18.

The meeting will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Southfield High School.

Every area of the school music curriculum is to be covered during the program, according to Bernard Leshley of Rochester, chairman for Regions 6 and 7 of the Michigan Education Association.

* * *

Among the music educators to participate are Dr. Eugene Troth and Dr. Marguerite V. Hood of the University of Michigan; Dr. Richard Percy and Lawrence Barr, Kalamazoo; Dr. Warren Joseph, Eastern Michigan University; Miss Martha White of Michigan State University; Dr. Wilbur Peterson of Wayne State University; and Dr. Walter Collins, Oakland University.

"Music for Everyone, Music for Daily Living" is the title of the morning session, while the afternoon session will deal with "Music for Future Teachers, Music for Vital Living."

In addition to speakers and panelists, there will be a large choir from Southfield High School directed by Vincent Kochenderfer and another from Rochester High School under the direction of Frank Irish.

A group of folk singing girls from Berkley High School called the "Note-ables" will also appear with William DeMaria directing.

An 11:30 a.m. luncheon in the cafeteria is being planned by Jean Blauvelt of Royal Oak, newly elected music chairman.

Kenneth Ish of the Birmingham school system is in charge of musical and audio-visual equipment displays.

Students Burn Monk in Effigy

U. of M. Demonstrators Rap U. S. Viet Policy

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Three University of Michigan students burned a Buddhist monk in effigy yesterday in protest against a campus demonstration concerning United States policy in Viet Nam.

Some 200 students had gathered outside the university library to hear two speakers assail U.S. policy.

Along came three other students carrying a cloth dummy and signs. The signs had obscene words scrawled around a picture of Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu, sister-in-law of Ngo Dinh Diem, president of South Viet Nam.

* * *

The three, two boys and a girl, carried the dummy into the crowd, then tossed it on a sidewalk. The effigy was soaked with lighter fluid and set afire by the girl.

* * *

A note was pinned to the dummy, saying it was a Buddhist monk.

Romeo Fire Causes $3,000 Home Damage

ROMEO —Fire early yesterday at the home of Mrs. Jacob Schenk, 297 Ewell, caused an estimated $3,000 in damages before it could be brought under control.

Starting near the furnace, the fire was first noticed by a neighbor. Police said most of the damage was caused by smoke.

Wallet Spared Rocky Ending

SILT, Colo. (AP)—Keith Randall lost his billfold while working at a rock-crushing plant, and it vanished under tons of rock.

Hours later, a steam shovel dumped a big load of rocks on a conveyor belt. There the billfold was — headed into the whirling crusher jaws.

★ ★ ★

Another worker grabbed it out in time, with Randall's money and papers intact.

Waterford Parents to Get Math Course

A series of eight meetings designed to help Waterford Township parents better understand the school system's elementary mathematics program will begin Monday at Pierce Junior High School.

Robert Scrivens, mathematics consultant for Waterford Township Schools, will conduct the weekly 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. sessions.

The first four meetings through Nov. 4 will be for parents of children in the following schools:

★ ★ ★

Adams, Cooley, Donelson, Drayton Plains, Grayson, Houghton, Lotus Lake, McVittie, Pontiac Lake, Schoolcraft, Waterford Village and Williams Lake.

The second series of four meetings from Nov. 11 through Dec. 2 will include parents of children attending the school district's other 12 elementary schools.

Ham Radio Operators Elect New Officers

Richard Dengate, 9669 Hadley, Clarkston, has been elected president of the Oakland County Amateur Radio Society. Dengate, whose call letters are K8SWO, succeeds Carl Hester.

Other new officers are Lowell Barrager, vice president Robert Suding, secretary Joseph Zabelski, assistant secretary Wayne Garrett, treasurer; and Fred Garchow, assistant treasurer.

The latest of the deep sea research vehicles is the "Deepstar." It is self-propelled and can work two miles below the surface.

Area Bars, Stores Fined for Violations

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has fined three area bars and two stores for violating state liquor laws.

★ ★ ★

Ordered to pay fines of $150 each for selling to minors were Fetter's Grocery, 5177 Cass-Elizabeth Lake, and Evergreen Grocery, 53011 Shelby, Rochester. A seven-day suspension also was placed against Evergreen, effective Oct. 28.

★ ★ ★

Dell's Inn, 3481 Elizabeth Lake, was fined $100, and Palms Inn, 2258 Dixie, and Bud and Lou's Tavern, 417 Auburn, $150 for allowing minors to consume alcohol on the premises.

★ ★ ★

The Palms and Bud and Lou's also received seven-day suspensions, effective Oct. 10 and 28, respectively.

MAKING COMEBACK—Actress Rochelle Hudson, back in Hollywood after a few years' absence, hasn't changed her opinion of her hometown of Claremore, Okla. "It still stinks," she says, repeating what she said 30 years ago when the remark helped make her one of the most talked-about actresses of the day.

'Home Town Still Stinks'

Insult Boosted Starlet's Career

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Some years ago — 30, in fact — a beautiful movie starlet was interviewed at the end of a strenuous day in the publicity mill of New York City.

THOMAS

What did she think of her home town of Claremore, Okla.?

"It stinks," she replied. The words were heard around the world. They helped make Rochelle Hudson one of the most talked-about movie actresses of the day.

"You'd think I had uttered blasphemy," she recalls today. "The studio was on the phone for me to come home before I said anything else. I received a mountain of mail, half of it condemning me and half patting me on the back for saying what I thought about my home town.

★ ★ ★

"Will Rogers, who was also from Claremore, phoned me and said, 'You're absolutely right—the place does stink.' You see, there was sulphur in the water. If you know what sulphur smells like, you know what I mean."

Rochelle is back in Hollywood after a few years and going back to work. "I'm not hungry, but I'm available," she said.

MORE MATURE

Her beauty is more mature but still as attractive as when she appeared in "Are These Our Children," "Imitation of Life," "Judge Priest" and "The Mighty Barnum." She got her feet wet again in "Straitjacket" with Joan Crawford. Today she was doing a "Day in Court" for ABC.

Rochelle admitted that one of her hazards in selling herself as an actress is the replay of her old movies on television.

★ ★ ★

"Last week they played 'Curly Top' with Shirley Temple and I just died," she said. "Producers see those old pictures and say, 'She must be in a wheelchair by now.' They don't stop to realize that I started in the business when I was 13."

Her career flourished in the 1930s, then she quit for an assignment with naval intelligence.

RESUMED CAREER

Since the war, she has intermittently resumed her career—she was in a brief television series, "That's My Boy." She has also taught corporations in the art of communication. Recently she returned from overseeing her 10,000-acre ranch on the Mexican border south of Tucson.

She has been back to her native Claremore in recent years.

"Yes," she said, "it still stinks."

Yacht Bearing First Lady Is Safe in Storm

SCORPIOS ISLAND, Greece (UPI)—The luxury yacht Christina, carrying Jacqueline Kennedy on a Greek-island cruise, arrived here today following a delay apparently caused by storms in the Ionian Sea.

The yacht dropped anchor at this small private island at 7 a.m.

Local fishermen were already busy catching fish and lobsters for the First Lady and her party.

The Christina had orginally been expected here yesterday afternoon. Maritime officials said it probably put into harbor somewhere to wait out storms which have whipped the sea for the past 24 hours.

Mrs. Kennedy was expected to come ashore sometime later today.

Scorpios Island, like the Christina, belongs to Greek shipping millionaire Aristotle Onassis.

He is transforming it into a "private paradise" like rival shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos' "Eden Island."

Dock Workers Reject Offer

Canada Longshoremen Stay on Seaway Strike

MONTREAL (AP) —Angry Canadian longshoremen yesterday rejected the proposals of a federal mediator to end a six-day strike in key St. Lawrence Seaway ports that is slowing the movement of Canadian wheat to Russia.

Some 2,000 of the strikers meeting in Montreal turned down a proposed 10-cent hourly wage increase for each year of a three-year contract. They then formed flying squads and cast off the mooring lines of three ships which had docked since the start of the strike.

Police eventually eased the strikers away from the docks.

★ ★ ★

Police arrested 14 of the strikers and charged 12 of them with trespassing on National Harbors Board property. The other two were taken into custody for possessing offensive weapons, a pair of cargo hooks.

The ships cut loose moved to anchor in the river. Altogether there were 69 vessels in the harbor.

While the ships, some of them slated to carry wheat to Russia under Canada's record-setting sale, lined up in Montreal and Quebec City, the longshoremen appealed for sympathy strikes in the ports of St. John, N.B., and Halifax, N.S.

Talks held by Judge Rene Lippe, the federal mediator, aimed at settling the strike were adjourned last night, but were to resume today. Neither management nor the longshoremen would comment on their progress.

The longshoremen now earn $2.33 an hour plus 29 cents in fringe benefits. Sources said they would accept the proposed 10-cent increase, but want no more than a two-year contract.

Hollywood Will Go to San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Hollywood film will be shown at the San Francisco Film Festival for the first time in its seven-year history.

Carl Foreman's film, "The Victors," will be shown out of competition on opening night, Oct. 30, festival officials said Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Foreman wrote, produced and directed "The Victors" with an international cast that includes television's Dr. Ben Casey, Vincent Edwards.

The picture depicts Americans in Europe.

98-Cent Crime Nets 1-5 Year Sentence

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP)—For a 98-cent theft, Albert R. Walker is going to prison for one to five years.

The sentence was passed by District Judge George Kempf after Walker, 51, was convicted of taking 12 soda pop bottles from a cafe. Walker's past record was considered.

The 1856 "flying eagle" one-cent piece, if in perfect condition, would be worth about $750 to coin collectors.

Martin Agronsky, speaker at the opening session of Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall Wednesday morning, came in the back door of the Huron Theater. With him are Mrs. Aleck Capsalis (center) and Mrs. S. V. Sekles, both of Ottawa Drive.

At Town Hall

News Analyst Speaks

By JANET ODELL

"Crises aren't what they used to be."

Martin Agronsky, radio and television news analyst, used this statement as his point of departure Wednesday morning at Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall.

* * *

Referring to a recent speech of President Kennedy in which Kennedy stated that policies have lost the black and white clarity of simpler times, Agronsky tried to explain the United States foreign policy.

* * *

He said that the United States sits in a sort of paradoxical box in a number of countries throughout the world.

We don't approve of the policies of the governments in power. But they are a bulwark against the threat of communism.

And unless we want to abandon our principles of letting other countries determine their own government, we have to accept them as they are.

* * *

Agronsky went on to say that these are not simple times, but "terribly dangerously hopelessly complicated times." However, he added, resenting them won't make the complications go away.

* * *

In an optimistic vein, Agronsky pointed out that memorable progress has been made toward peace in the last few months. He is in favor of the nuclear test-ban treaty.

* * *

He feels after a recent visit to Moscow that the Russian people sincerely want peace as badly as we do.

* * *

Agronsky advised his Town Hall listeners to let the government in Washington know how they feel. No one, he said, can afford to be anything but an interested citizen, nor uninvolved.

Town Hall members arrived promptly and in good spirits. This trio includes (from left) Mrs. William Beattie, West Iroquois Road; Mrs. L. E. Howlett, James K Boulevard; and Mrs. Leo Donaldson, Sylvan Lake.

Men go to Town Hall too. In the rear is Floyd Salow, Tilmor Street. Front left is Henry Houstin, Birmingham, and right, Standish Sibley, Oriole Road.

Mrs. Paul Gorman, Genesee Avenue (right), sold tickets in the lobby for the Nov. 8 appearance of Meredith Willson and Rini, his wife. Mrs. DeLisle Wilson, Dick Avenue is the buyer. The Willson concert, a bonus feature of the Town Hall series, is open to the public.

Clerk Deserves to Get the Air After Foul Crack Like That

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I went together to buy an air conditioner.

While my husband was establishing credit, the salesman asked me when he could come out and measure our window for the conditioner.

ABBY

I told him it wouldn't be necessary, that my husband would install the machine himself. The clerk then said, "Your husband wouldn't have to know about it, would he?"

I was surprised and shocked, and told my husband about it when we got home. He was so outraged that he went right back to the store and confronted the salesman with what I had told him.

When my husband returned, he was angry with me! The clerk told my husband he was just being funny.

And my husband believed the clerk. What do you make of this?

WRONGED

* * *

DEAR WRONGED: The clerk was just being funny, huh? I think hubby should have told the store manager that his sales force needed air conditioning, and meanwhile he was taking his business elsewhere.

Such a wiseacre clerk could get the businessman into a peck of trouble.

DEAR ABBY: We have a very large family. Our brother recently went to the hospital for a serious operation.

His wife told the whole family that he didn't want any of his brothers, sisters, or even his mother or father to visit him for a while. All he wanted was his wife and children.

We felt bad, of course, but stayed away. After two weeks, our brother went home. His wife still insisted he didn't want any company.

Finally, our mother went over to his house, rang the doorbell, and practically forced her way into the house.

When her son saw her, he said, "Were you waiting to read in the papers where I had died before you came to see me?" Mom almost fainted.

FIVE BROTHERS AND FOUR SISTERS

* * *

DEAR BROTHERS AND SISTERS: Say nothing. The truth will reveal itself in time.

DEAR ABBY: When a fellow asks you out on a date, why does he say, "Where do you want to go?" This makes me uncomfortable as I expect my date to have the evening planned since he did the asking.

How does a girl handle a situation like this? I usually say, "I'll go anywhere you want to go." But then I feel like such a dummy.

NO IDEAS

* * *

DEAR NO IDEAS: Why feel like a dummy? I think you're smart. The young man knows the limitations of his pocketbook.

If he sincerely wants to please you, he should offer a few suggestions and let you make the final decision.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WORKING FOR PEANUTS": Why should the boss shell out more when he is on to all the monkey business in his office?

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby in care of The Pontiac Press.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Automatic Cleaning Oven Is Perfected by G.E.

Almost ten years of research were needed to make the homemaker's dream of automatic oven cleaning a reality.

General Electric Company has perfected an oven which cleans itself and will be available in four new ranges by Nov. 1.

* * *

This new range was demonstrated last week to food editors in Chicago. Its operation is simple and effective.

BURNS SOIL

The cleaning process is done automatically with the oven door closed. Temperatures of 700 to 800 degrees burn off the accumulated soil, leaving even the remote corners perfectly clean.

With heavy soil only a bit of ash, about as much as one might get from a single flick of a cigarette is left in the oven for removal with a paper towel.

* * *

This oven has been thoroughly tested both in the laboratory and in homes. It called for the development of special controls, a new enamel finish, special metal for the racks and special insulation.

The automatic cleaning operation requires about eight cents worth of electrical power and adds from $75 to $100 to the original cost of the range.

No more oven cleaning! General Electric's new automatic oven cleaning system is illustrated above. In about two and a half hours the dirty oven at the left became the clean one at the right. The system operates with the oven door closed and without added compounds or chemicals.

Officers Chosen

Officers for Group I, Order of the Eastern Star, were elected recently in the home of Mrs. Orville Cummings on North Saginaw Street. Mrs. Frank A. Parks was cohostess.

Incoming president is Mrs. Uno J. Skytta; Mrs. Robert C. Calvary, vice president and Mrs. Fred Kline, secretary.

Velvet May Stretch

Velvet will start spanning the fashion seasons. The young Washington elegants have started the trend of pastel-printed velvets for spring.

Local Women Assist at Show

Area garden club members will be among hostesses when District 1, Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, presents the 9th successive exhibition of table settings and flower arrangements.

The Charles W. Warren and Company will open its Detroit salon for the exhibit, to the public, Oct. 16-19. Hours daily are from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"Touch of Ceremony," this year's theme, is planned to develop the modern concept of creative entertaining.

Featured among some 100 flower arrangements will be lighted wall niches, vignettes, poolside buffet tables and more formal settings for receptions and holiday festivities.

Mrs. Wallace M. Morgan, president of Better Home and Garden Club, Pontiac, has asked Mrs. LeRoy D. Hecox, Mrs. Joe D. Duffield, Mrs. Alfred Rothweller, and Mrs. William Sovey to assist.

Members of the Dirt Gardeners Club of Pontiac who will serve as hostesses are the president, Mrs. Chester Dlugoszewski, with Mrs. Orville Proksch and Mrs. Howard Kratz, both of Rochester.

Chairman of the event, offered to the public without charge, is Mrs. Keith B. Willoughby of Farmington, director of District I. Mrs. John F. Hering of Grosse Pointe is coordinating the show.

Warren's will again present an award which will be inscribed as a gift to the National Council of State Garden Clubs headquarters in the Missouri Botanical Gardens, St. Louis.

Women Hold Fall Meeting

The Women of Unity held their October meeting at the Pontiac Unity Center on North Genesee Tuesday evening.

Present officers who will continue for the coming year include Mrs. George Bodell, director; Mrs. R. Elliott Thorp, secretary and Mrs. Don Newman, treasurer.

Hostesses assisting Mrs. Bodell during the social hour were Mrs. R. E. Johnston and Mrs. Gordon Moats.

Plans were made for a spring bazaar.

The next meeting of the group will be November 12.

Mark Path for Pleat With Soap

Here's a handy trick to help keep skirt pleats and trouser creases sharp.

Before ironing a freshly-laundered garment, trim a bar of soap to a narrow edge or point. Use this to mark the full length of the crease or pleat on the wrong side. Then press as usual.

Lions Happy With Ex-Spartan

Williams Climbs Grid Ladder

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

If anyone wants to talk about going up the ladder of success in football, step by step, Sam Williams, defensive end of the Detroit Lions could tell a pretty good story.

Many football players might have called it quits at one of the bottom rungs of the ladder, but Sam always managed to try for one more step just at the time it appeared he was ready to slide all the way down.

★ ★ ★

It was just a chance he took in going to Michigan State University where he knew he'd be the "old man" of the squad if he made it. He was drafted by the Los Angeles Rams only on a hunch in 1956, even before playing a college varsity game.

In each instance, Williams put his best foot forward, made the big step with an outstanding performance to keep his climb intact. No one is now happier than Detroit Lions' coach George Wilson.

When the Lions obtained him from the Rams prior to the 1960 season, it was just a "token" deal. Defensive back Jimmy David was ready to retire and the Rams wanted the rights to his contract so as to help them with their defensive secondary and groom him as a coach.

SAT ON BENCH

In 1960 and 1961, Williams was just a spell man at linebacker and defensive end. After the 1961 season when Detroit and Cleveland got together for the big trade involving Milt Plum, Danny Watkins and Dave Lloyd for Jim Ninowski, Hopalong Cassady, and Bill Glass, the original "Fearsome Foursome" of the Lions was broken up with Glass gone.

Lloyd was figured to be Glass' replacement and Williams the backup man. When the final cuts were being made prior to the '62 opener, Williams was mentioned most often as the one who would get the ax.

By the third game of the season at Baltimore, Williams was in the starting lineup and moved into the four-man unit of the Lions' vaunted defense line with Darris McCord, Alex Karras and Roger Brown.

★ ★ ★

All three of the linemen came through with safeties in 1962 but Williams did better. He had two touchdowns for the season, one on a pass interception and another on a fumble which he carried into the end zone.

BEST GAME

Against the 49ers last week, as the Lions were winning 26-3, Williams made quarterbacks Bob Waters and Lamar McHan "eat" the ball four times personally and helped out on three other occasions.

"There's one guy who has been doing real great job for us," said Wilson after the 49ers game, "he's been a real consistent performer since moving into the spot a year ago."

Not considered the "brute" as defensive linemen go, Williams depends more on his quickness and moves in getting into opposing backfields.

★ ★ ★

With the Lions hurting in morale as well as position in the Western Division following two thumpings at the hands of the Packers and Bears early this season, Williams decided it was as much his responsibility to help boost the Lions morale as any of the players, coaches or captains.

"I can see we've been hurting with injuries and if I'm any kind of a player in this league, I have to realize the extra effort I have to make and I'm in this league to stay, until I'm ready to quit," said Williams.

Pessimism isn't part of Williams' attitude. Always yelling encouragement, he talks about winning even when losing is most apparent.

This optimistic attitude is really his story of success, since he started out at Michigan State as a freshman in 1949. He wasn't intent on going out for football and riding the bench at MSU. He decided to enter the Navy, get a little older, put on a little weight, and gain some experience.

He did this for five years in the Navy, played service ball and before he re-entered Michigan State in 1957 he had Rams' scouts convinced he might be worth the risk of being a draft choice, three years before his graduation.

He was State's captain, All-America and top player in 1959 but, the Rams were in a bad spot that season and they weren't ready to give a 23 year old "rookie" to much of a chance to prove what the press clippings said about him.

"What do we want with a washed-up rookie," said one of the Lions when they heard Williams was obtained from the Rams. They accepted the idea at the time that David's retirement was inevitable and Williams was just part of a "token" trade.

That attitude changed quickly in 1962 when the Lions were making their strongest challenge to the Green Bay throne. Today at 32, Williams is just starting to look ahead to the top three or maybe four steps in the ladder before calling it quits to concentrate on the restaurant he owns in Lansing.

He incidentally still finds it enjoyable to hustle up dinner menus with the experience he gained as a Navy cook and as a restaurant management major at Michigan State.

If and when the Lions do come through with a divisional title while Williams is still around, he wants to be sure to cook up the victory feast, for the championship game and afterwards.

STEPPING HIGH — Former Michigan Stater Sam Williams has become a solid member of the Detroit Lions' defensive unit after shuffling around with the Rams and Lions for three years. Coach George Wilson lauds Williams at defensive end praising the 6-5 ex-Spartan as one of his most consistent players.

AP Photofax

NET BOUND—The puck slips past Chicago goalie Glenn Hall (1) and reaches the mouth of the net for a score for New York Ranger forward Earl Ingarfield (10) after stealing the disc from Howie Young (2). The Hawks still won, 3-1, in Chicago Stadium. They play the Red Wings in Detroit tonight.

Detroit Plays Black Hawks at Olympia

NHL Head Campbell to Hand Star Winger Hart, Ross Trophies

DETROIT (AP) — Prolific-scoring Gordie Howe will receive two awards tonight, then skate in quest of new accolades as the Detroit Red Wings open their National Hockey League season with the Chicago Black Hawks at Olympia Stadium.

★ ★ ★

NHL president Clarence S. Campbell will hand the 35-year-old Howe two trophies — the Hart, for being the league's most valuable player last season, and the Ross, for topping all scorers in the 1962-63 campaign.

Howe won both awards five times before. His next goal is the career scoring record of 544 goals, set by Maurice Richard, now retired from the Montreal Canadiens.

Howe needs only five more goals to surpass Richard. He figures he'll do it early this season, his 18th with the Wings.

Detroit, which went to the Stanley Cup finals last season, is pinning its NHL championship hopes on Howe and such other veterans as goalie Terry Sawchuk, Alex Delvecchio, and Parker MacDonald.

★ ★ ★

The Red Wings will have three new players on the ice, including Art Stratton, who probably will center on the line with Howe and MacDonald. Other newcomers are center Ted Hampson and defenseman Ron Ingram.

Ingram came to Detroit in an off-season trade for Howie Young, who shattered the NFL penalty record in a Red Wing uniform last season. Young spent 273 minutes in the penalty box.

He will play against his former teammates as Chicago's fifth defenseman.

WANTS RECORDS

Gordie won't be content if and when he breaks the Rocket's goal output, although it's no secret it's the record he wants most of all.

"I want to play at least 20 seasons," he said the other day.

Stratton, a 6-foot-1, 170-pound center led the American Hockey League with 70 assists last season.

In the exhibition campaign, he proved an able playmaker with 18 points on 14 assists and four goals.

Bob Jones Era Recalled as Ryder Cup Play Nears

ATLANTA (AP) — Professional golf stars of the United States and Britain clash Friday in the 15th biennial Ryder Cup series in an atmosphere dominated by the greatest amateur of them all—Bob Jones.

This is Bob Jones home, and he still is king—not only to his worshiping neighbors but to the present-day giants of the game.

Arnold Palmer is terrific, Julius Boros is an amazing physical specimen at 43 and Peter Alliss of England is one of the all-time stylists. But all of them look to Jones as the emperor.

"Bob Jones is marvelous—an ideal of golfers everywhere," said Alliss. "I am sure he is revered as much in Britain as he is in the United States.

Jones, now 61, confined to a wheel chair by a crippling illness but still keenly interested in the sport which he helped popularize throughout the world, has attended every dinner honoring the Ryder Cup teams.

When captain Palmer sends his U.S. team against the invaders Friday at 8 a.m. EST in the first of 32 matches covering three days, Jones is almost certain to be in the gallery.

As honorary chairman, he will follow play in an electric cart or listen to developments from the club house lawn—"by ear," as he puts it, in referring to the cheers and groans of the gallery.

Bob Jones was born in a modest bungalow which once overlooked the course. It was on this same East Lake Country Club course that he took his first swings as a boy at his father's elbow.

It was here that he refined his game between travels while playing in 31 major championships in Britain and the United States between 1916 and 1930, winning an unequaled 13 national crowns.

The Ryder Cup competition, won by the United States 11 of 14 times and never lost on American shores, opens with eight foursome matches. These will be followed by eight best-ball matches Saturday and 16 individual contests Sunday.

100-Mile Race Sunday

DETROIT (AP) — A field of about 50 late model auto racers is expected for Sunday's 100-mile Midwest championship at the Michigan State Fairgrounds. Wayne Bennett, late model point champion at Flat Rock speedway, heads the list of Detroit-area entries. Don King of Flint is another leader among 38 racers entered.

Chicago 6 Bombs Net in 3-1 Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Billy Reay, making his Chicago coaching debut, says the Black Hawks started off their National Hockey League season with a bang—and opposing goalie Jacques Plante will vouch for it.

The Hawks scored a 3-1 victory over the New York Rangers Wednesday night before 14,651 screeching, horn-tooting, paper-throwing fans in Chicago Stadium.

★ ★ ★

The masked Plante, six-time Vezina Trophy winner during his nine years with the Montreal Canadiens, was making his first league start in the nets for the Rangers.

40 STOPS

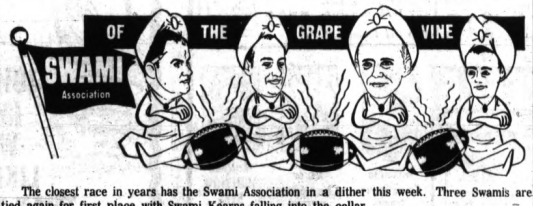
He was banged so hard that he was required to make 40 stops.

Plante could be considered the hero of the game even in defeat. While he was being stampeded the 33-year-old netminder suffered a cut over his left eye and the game was held up 20 minutes in the final period while he had seven stitches taken in it.

★ ★ ★

The only Ranger goal came in the first period as Chicago took a 2-1 lead. Earl Ingarfield stole the puck from Howie Young in front of the Hawk net and beat Hall from close in.

Bill Hay, McKenzie and Ron Murphy were Chicago's scorers.



The closest race in years has the Swami Association in a dither this week. Three Swamis are tied again for first place with Swami Kearns falling into the cellar.

But, take note, you grapevine pickers. Each week the cellar dweller has jumped into the lead, so beware Swamis Vogel, Craig and Spears.

The upsets of Pontiac Northern, West Bloomfield and Clawson rocked the Swamis last week. Look for more of the same this week.

'M' Goes Behind Closed Gates

ANN ARBOR—The University of Michigan football team practiced inside closed gates today in preparation for Saturday's clash with arch-rival Michigan State.

It marked the first time since before last year's contest with Minnesota that coach Bump Elliott conducted a secret practice.

Elliott is expected to give the one-touchdown underdog Wolverines some new offensive patterns built around quarterback Bob Chandler's passing.

AP Photofax

MSU MIDDLE—Former all-staters Don Ross of East Lansing covers the ball with Steve Juday of Northville calling the signals for Michigan State as the Spartans prepare for the battle with Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday.

Chandler, an emergency substitute for injured quarterbacks Frosty Evashevski and Bob Timberlake in last week's 26-13 loss to Navy, has won the starting job against MSU. Against Navy, Chandler completed nine of 10 passes in the second half including two touchdown heaves to end John Henderson.

★ ★ ★

The Wolverines can breathe a little easier about its punting for the game.

Capt. Joe O'Donnell, the team's punter, was back in his grid togs Wednesday and that means he'll probably play against MSU.

DOUBTFUL

A head injury in the Navy game made it questionable whether the big senior guard from Milan would get a crack at MSU.

Michigan got in trouble with O'Donnell out of the lineup last Saturday. Sophomore Frank Stagg came in to punt with Michigan in the hole in the second quarter, and he got off a 15-yard kick that gave Navy the ball on Michigan's 33.

The Middies marched right in for their first touchdown.

About 2,000 tickets were left on Wednesday. A sellout of 101,001 is considered a sure thing.

Belinsky Changed Man?

Bo First to Sign '64 Pact

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bo Belinsky, picked by many as the athlete most likely to succeed in getting traded without really trying, turns out to be the first man the Los Angeles Angels have signed for 1964.

Belinsky, in fact, is the first player in the major leagues to come to terms for next season. And nothing could put Bo more hilariously out of character than getting something done early.

★ ★ ★

Until very recently, Belinsky was just about certain he'd be traded this winter. And if they didn't trade him, he figured, they'd perform so much surgery on his salary he'd be exempted from the Federal income tax.

To his stark amazement, he discovered Wednesday that the Angels are dropping neither him nor his wages.

★ ★ ★

"It's a gas," he said. Belinsky achieved wide public notice last year on two counts. When he pitched a no-hitter against the Baltimore Orioles, he became famous. But when his social engagements kept him from getting home before the morning paper, his employers became furious.

★ ★ ★

This year Bo pitched no no-hitters and many multiple-hitters. He lost seven of his first eight decisions and was optioned to Hawaii in May. He resisted. The Angels cut off his salary.

Central Seeks Scoring Punch

Pontiac Central, still seeking the key that will unlock the chains binding its offense, will tangle with another Saginaw Valley threat Friday at Wisner Stadium.

The Bay City Handy Wildcats will provide the 8 p.m. opposition and will expect PCH to play the part of a gracious host.

The Wildcats were rated highly at the start of the season, thanks to a big line returning but opening losses to powerful Midland and Flint Central left them at the proverbial gate.

Handy bounced back and squared its overall mark last week with a victory over Saginaw, and now expects to drive upward in the SVC in the closing weeks.

The Chiefs could be a stumbling block. They must come up with some scoring punch, however, since only one touchdown has been recorded in their opening four losses.

The sophomore-studded lineup used by coach Paul Dellerba has shown flashes of talent; but the inexperienced defense has had too much of a burden to work under, continually being on the short end of the score.

BACKS HURTING

Injuries have hampered Dellerba's efforts to knit a unified backfield for more than one game. Only one of the original four that began the season may start Friday.

Ken Seay, the most reliable runner, has a tender ankle and will probably see limited duty. With quarterback Bob Wiggins lost for the year, Jerry Murphy has taken over the signal calling and passing.

Sophomore Jimmy Gaiters appears a sure starter at a running slot, while Carl Williams may fill in for Seay. Esjaye Whiters or Jim Crump has first call on the third position.

Whiters will be used as a flankerback. Other Murphy passes will be aimed at end Dave Edwards and Jan Anderson. Ed Collins will handle one terminal slot on running plays.

Last week's trimming by Flint Central left the Chiefs with some pass defense problems. The secondary has received attention in practice this week.

* * *

Other conference clashes Friday will have Bay City Central meeting Saginaw Arthur Hill and Flint Central playing Flint Southwestern with both of the Centrals favored to remain unbeaten and tied for first place.

Midland, in third place, will risk its title hopes at Flint Northern Saturday night.

WEEK'S BEST — The Back of the Week according to the Associated Press is Navy's Roger Staubach who turned in a sparkling performance against Michigan at Ann Arbor last week when the Middies won, 26-13. His passing percentage this year is 78 per cent.

Navy Star Looks Before Throwing

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—What makes Roger Staubach the greatest in a long line of fine Navy quarterbacks?

"He doesn't have a favorite target," Coach Wayne Hardin offers as one of the major answers. "He hits whoever he sees open. He looks over the whole field."

Navy has a fine crop of receivers and Staubach, the nation's passing and total offense leader, sprinkles his aerial shots among them with cool impartiality.

He had nine receivers in the Middies' opening 51-7 rout of West Virginia, nine in a 28-0 victory over William and Mary, and eight in Navy's 26-13 defeat of Michigan last Saturday.

Ed Orr, the flanker back on the starting unit, naturally leads all others. He has gathered in 11 Staubach passes for 125 yards and one touchdown. Starting fullback Pat Donnelly has caught seven for 113 yards and reserve end Neil Henderson ranks third with four for 106 yards. Three other ends and six backs have also caught Staubach passes.

BIG PERCENTAGE

Altogether, Staubach has completed 55 of his 77 pass attempts, a phenomenal 78.2 per cent, for 614 yards and three touchdowns.

The 6-2, 190 pounds Cincinnati junior also has a fine pair of legs which enable him to elude charging linemen and scramble out of a jam if he finds no one open.

He has run for 175 yards and two touchdowns in 46 carries. He shakes off the effects of a hard tackle like a fullback.

"He would be great on defense, if we'd let him play," his coach says. "He's tough."

"Roger stands apart from all quarterbacks I've ever seen," Hardin adds. "He has all the assets wrapped up in one individual—running, passing, ball handling."

But his ability to find and hit pass receivers is his greatest asset, the Navy coach believes.

"Most quarterbacks—ours in the past included—have a primary target, but Staubach doesn't throw unless he has a pretty good chance to complete it. We knew when he took a 15-yard loss against Cornell last year rather than throw that he would be a good one."

It was sophomore Staubach's first starting game and Navy's fourth time out. He wound up the season completing 68.4 per cent of his pass attempts and came within 117 yards of the Naval Academy total offense record of 1,348 yards set in 1955 by senior George Welsh, a Navy quarterback who ranked as the finest before Staubach.

Staubach pits his skills this Friday at Dallas against Southern Methodist, whose crashing end play effectively throttled Air Force quarterback Terry Isaacson in a 10-0 upset last week.

If bold Roger measures up to previous performances, the Mustangs will be clutching air. Otherwise, Navy could be sunk.

Northville Fullback Takes County Scoring Lead

A 20-point outburst last Friday by Northville's Ron Rice shot the galloping Mustang into the Oakland County scoring lead as the grid season reached the halfway mark.

* * *

The senior fullback is in the midst of a scoring spree that began three weeks ago.

* * *

Rice started his surge by trotting for 14 points as Northville downed Clarenceville, 14-6, Sept. 20, and he came back with a 33-point performance against Holly the following week.

The big fullback's point total now stands at 67, with Skip Miller of Milford running second with 58 points.

Miller, the scoring leader during the first three weeks, was held to eight points in Milford's win over West Bloomfield last week.

Halfback Don Wells scored 30 points as Royal Oak St. Mary routed Waterford OLL last Sunday, 33-0, and moved from 21st to third in the race.

Newcomers on the Oakland County scoring ladder this week are Ken Holder (20th) of Troy, John Baumann (12th) of Royal Oak Kimball and R. Wingate (14th) of Emmanuel Christian.

AREA SCORING

Dwight Lee and John Mack continue to run 1-2 among area scoring leaders.

Lee, with 19 points, and Mack, with 6, led New Haven to a 40-7 win over Dryden Wednesday.

* * *

Deckerville's Doug Bowerman made the biggest climb last week, picking up 14 points to run his four-game total to 45.

Detroit Pistons Ask Waivers on Walter Dukes

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons basketball team asked waivers on 7-foot center Walter Duke Wednesday and signed Dave DeBusschere, who leads an athletic double life.

Dukes, who had been with the Pistons since the National Basketball Association team came to Detroit in 1957.

The 6-foot-6 DeBusschere was a Chicago White Sox baseball pitcher this year. The former University of Detroit athlete was a Piston rookie last season.

Charley Wolf, the Pistons coach, said DeBusschere "got a pretty fair pay increase," because of his showing as a rookie.

"He gave the ball club a big lift," Wolfe said. "We won 31 of 61 games after he became a regular last Nov. 28."

The Pistons open the NBA season here against the Philadelphia 76ers Oct. 16.

'Stilt' Finds Support

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain got only 26 points but was joined in the double figures by five teammates as the San Francisco Warriors downed the Los Angeles Lakers 105-97 in an exhibition National Basketball Association game Wednesday night.

"9 out of 10 come back again for Nationwide car insurance"

It's habit-forming.

. . . and here's why:
It's because we give cash savings to safe drivers.
Because we have round-the-clock, cross-country claims service.
Because we give extra savings to drivers who insure two or more cars with us.
Because we give added medical protection free to drivers who equip their cars with seat belts, and use them.
Because over half of all our claims are paid within 24 hours after proof of loss. Two-thirds within 72 hours. How about Nationwide for your car?

NO STOPPING — New Haven's All-State candidate Dwight Lee (19) slips away from a Dryden tackler and heads downfield for considerable yardage. Lee, the top scorer in the area, accounted for three touchdowns as the Rockets won their fifth straight game, 40-6. Dick Powers (32), Dryden linebacker, approaches the New Haven ace runner at the right.

New Haven Rips Dryden, 40-6

Countdown in Thumb League

The countdown for New Haven's run at the Southern Thumb League crown reached "three" Wednesday as the Rockets blasted Dryden, 40-6.

The win gave the Rockets (5-0) sole possession of the league lead, pending the outcome of the Memphis-Anchor Bay tilt Friday night.

New Haven has three games to play and a Memphis victory Friday would set the stage for a showdown between the two next week on the Rockets' home field.

SOLO SHOW

Area scoring leader Dwight Lee put on a one-man show as the Rockets riddled the Dryden defense which had given up only 29 points in four games.

Lee scored three touchdowns and added an extra point to run his scoring total to 31 points. In addition, he passed for one touchdown and two extra points.

The Rockets grabbed a 6-0 lead midway in the first quarter and broke the game open with a 20-point outburst in the second stanza. Rocket reserves added single scores in each of the final two quarters.

Lee started the ball rolling early when he fired a 35-yard scoring pass to halfback Richard Chennault. A few plays later, he picked up a Dryden fumble and raced 35 yards for the second score to stun Dryden's Homecoming crowd.

CAPS DRIVE

Lee ended a 64-yard drive late in the second quarter with a 13-yard run around right end and closed the first-half rout when he picked off a pass by Dryden quarterback Tom Sterner and raced 45 yards to paydirt.

★ ★ ★

The other half of New Haven's halfback combination, John Mack, entered the scoring act in the third period when he picked up a Dryden fumble and carried it 53 yards for a score.

Dryden countered late in the fourth quarter when Sterner turned right end for eight yards to complete a 61-yard drive.

"We were just out-gunned," Dryden coach Bob Mason commented. "Our kids were up for the game, and we played good, hard ball."

New Haven used the speed of Lee and Mack to turn the corners against the slower Cardinals. The Rockets were careful to avoid the interior of Dryden's line which was anchored by 280-pound Fred Yorks.

County Delegation Asks Holly Area for Game

From Our Wire Services

HIGGINS LAKE — An Oakland County delegation appeared before the State Conservation Commission yesterday at Higgins Lake and asked that about 2,000 acres in the Northeast portion of the Holly Recreation Area be primarily set a side as a game area.

Frank Lawrence of Pontiac, representing the Michigan Council of Conservation Clubs, said hunters are being squeezed out of the area by those primarily interested in recreation.

J. J. Rhoades, representing Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, said although the area should be mostly for game management it could also be used by those interested in oth-

"multiple use" facilities without special designations for portions.

Arnold Whitney, Lapeer city manager, asked that the commission consider setting aside an area in the Lapeer state game area, including Long Lake, for recreation use. Whitney said the area would get intensive park use and was especially needed for campers.

Michigan's elk herd is expanding with a population explosion and needs control by a limited shooting season, the state conservation commission was also told.

The commission is not expected to take action to make elk legal game this fall. The report by Ralph Macmullan, head of research for the department's game division laid the groundwork for a possible experimental season next fall.

Macmullan reported the population of the main herd in the Pigeon River state forest area now is estimated at 3,000. The herd is increasing at the rate of 15 per cent a year he said.

If the present Elk boom continues, pointed out commission chairman Stanley Cain of Ann Arbor, this will mean a population of 6,000 elk within five years and 12,000 by 1973.

James Rouman, executive director of the Michigan united conservation clubs, said his group was ready to propose a bill to the 1964 legislative session asking that the conservation commission be given discretionary powers over the elk herd.

BRIGHT MOMENT—One of the few bright spots in Dryden's loss to New Haven yesterday afternoon was the pass catching of end Denny Hilliker (88). Here he is stopped after short gain by the visitors' defensive halfback Tom Mansion (23). The Cardinals' Homecoming game—moved to Wednesday due to the district teachers' meeting this week—was spoiled as the home team lost its third league game in four starts.

Will Return for '64

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds coaching staff has been rehired for the 1964 season, President-General manager Bill Dewitt said today.

Wings Trade for Godfrey

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Red Wings have veteran defenseman Warren Godfrey back again.

Detroit acquired Godfrey yesterday from the Boston Bruins in a trade for defensemah Gerry Odrowski less than an hour after the Wings announced Odrowski and goalie Hank Bassen had been suspended for failure to report to the Wings' Pittsburgh farm club.

Godfrey reported to the Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey league at Buffalo in time for last night's opener.

Godfrey, 32, is a veteran of 11 years in the National Hockey League, seven of them with Detroit. Odrowski, 25, has spent three years in the Detroit system.

California Prix Lures Top Sports Car Racers

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—The big guns of auto racing start practice sessions today in preparation for Sunday's 20-mile Grand Prix for sports cars at Riverside International Raceway.

Stars of the international race circuit entered in the $35,000 event include 1963 Indianapolis winner Parnelli Jones; Scotland's Jim Clark, who has already clinched the 1963 Grand Prix world driving championship; 1962 world Grand Prix champion Graham Hill; all-around contender Dan Gurney, and Mexican expert Pedro Rodriquez.

WORLD CHAMP

They'll compete over the twisting, 2.6-mile course with drivers like two-time Indianapolis winner Rodger Ward; John Surtees, who has won the world championship four times; Roger Penske, the defending champion at Riverside, and hard-driving Augie Pabst.

Jones and Jim Clark, who finished 1-2 at Indianapolis, are both members of the Frank Arciero racing team.

Clark will drive a Lotus 19, while Jones is scheduled for a lightweight Lotus 23.

Also entered in the sixth annual race is the world's No. 2 driver, Richie Ginther, who will pilot a Porsche Spyder. Ginther was second at Watkins Glen, N.Y., last week in the Grand Prix of The United States. Graham Hill won that race.

* * *

Rodger Ward will drive a new Cooper-Chevy. He and Parnelli Jones are tabbed as chief rivals to British drivers Jim Clark and Graham Hill. It will be Ward's fourth outing in the Riverside Grand Prix.

Qualifying races are Saturday, with consolation and grand touring races preceding the Grand Prix Sunday.

Decision on Rochester Title Bid Near

Falcons Meet Fitzgerald in Oakland A Tilt

Coach Says Team OK Physically, Mentally; 2nd Place at Stake

Rochester's bid for the Oakland A League crown will get its strongest test to date when Fitzgerald's Spartans come to town for a Friday night contest.

The Falcons, coached by Gene Konley, are 2-0 in league competition, and a win Friday would move the team into second place in the loop race; or a win coupled with a loss by Troy would give the Falcons sole possession of First place.

Other Oakland A games have Clawson at Lake Orion, Madison at Troy and Warren Cousino at Avondale.

The Falcons could take the crown without any help if they can get past Fitzgerald, Clawson, Lake Orion, Troy and Avondale in that order.

Such a performance is considered unlikely by Konley. "I don't think anyone can go through seven league games without being beaten," Conley said.

The Falcons first task, however, is to get by Fitzgerald, a team which spanked Clawson 27-13 last week and knocked the Trojans from fifth to 13th in the Class B prep football poll.

TAKING AIM

"We're ready mentally," Conley said, adding that the Falcons will "try to throw the ball against the Spartans."

* * *

With the exception of fullback Jerry Sullivan, the Falcons are physically sound. Sullivan bruised a knee two games ago and Konley said he definitely will not see action Friday.

Fitzgerald stayed on the ground in upsetting Clawson last week and Rochester is expecting a similar attack.

AVONDALE AT WORK

Avondale's Yellow Jackets returned to the practice field this week for a refresher course in blocking and tackling.

And those two fundamentals will be needed if the Yellow Jackets are to avoid the dubious distinction of becoming Warren Cousino's first varsity victim.

Warren Cousino Patriots, sporting an 0-4 record, have shown steady improvement and gave league-leading Troy a scare before falling 20-14 last week.

The Yellow Jackets, with one win in four decisions, were racked by Lake Orion last week, 40-7, and Crowell, displeased with what he saw, sent the team through blocking and tackling drills this week.

ORION ON SPOT

Lake Orion can take over fourth place in the league race with a victory over Clawson Friday night.

Coach Frank Kownacki, sharply critical of the Dragons' mental attitude in losing their first three games, praised the team's spirit in their 40-7 win over Avondale last week.

The Dragons may have licked the mental problem in the Avondale game.

Battered Skipper 11 in Tough I-L Test

A banged-up Waterford Township eleven will try to get back into the thick of the Inter-Lakes League race with a home contest against Berkley Friday night.

Other Inter-Lakes' tilts have Farmington at Walled Lake and Pontiac Northern entertains Southfield in a Saturday night contest.

Waterford's Skippers are 0-1-1 in league play, and against Berkley, they will be facing one of the top defensive units in the league.

Coach Stu Thorell was on hand last week to watch the Bears dismantle Pontiac Northern and came away impressed.

"They looked tough," Thorell said. "I knew they had a good defense, but it was surprising what a good offense they had," he added.

DOUBTFUL LIST

Several of the Skippers are nursing injuries, adding to Thorell's problems. "We have quite a few injured and won't know until Friday night if they can play. Have to see how they come along."

Listed on the doubtful starting list are Mike Lewis, inside linebacker, Tom Hoke, defensive safety, Lee Keiser, halfback and Dale Jones, tackle. Another performer who has been missing since the season started is end Chuck Sickles. He suffered a foot injury and his return remains in doubt.

The Skippers were forced to settle for a tie with Farmington last week, although they moved the ball freely through the Falcon line.

* * *

Thorell was experimenting this week in an effort to give the Skippers some scoring punch. "We've been working with wide plays," the coach said, adding "but I don't know for sure what we'll go with Friday night."

HOLLYWOOD FINISH

Walled Lake has been on the verge of defeat two weeks in a row, but on each occasion, the Vikings have come up with a Hollywood finish to stay unbeaten in league play.

The Vikings wrote the first Hollywood script two weeks ago when they pushed across a late score to down a stubborn Berkley squad, 7-0.

And last week they held off a strong Southfield eleven to win 19-18.

W-O Contenders Facing 'Must' Clashes in Race

Five Wayne-Oakland grid squads will risk their title chances Friday and only two are assured of staying in the chase.

Clarkston and Northville both have posted three wins without a loss and could lose Friday night without forfeiting their hopes for the W.O football title.

Defending co-champion West Bloomfield, Brighton and Milford all have lost once and cannot afford another setback. Nor would a tie enhance their chances.

Clarkston will journey to Holly for a contest with the Broncos who have not won in the circuit this season. But the rivalry between the two schools precludes any possibility that the potent Wolves can relax.

Northville, meanwhile, will have a dual showdown when Milford comes to town Friday night. The contest is a must game for the visiting Redskins, and Northville needs a victory to stay atop the pack (or tied with Clarkston's Wolves).

OTHER DUEL

In addition, the home team's Ron Rice will come face-to-face with Milford's Skip Miller, who is his chief threat for county individual scoring honors.

* * *

Rice has totaled 67 points this year to top all area scorers. All of them have come in the last three contests. Miller led the race earlier but now is runner-up with 58.

West Bloomfield will entertain Brighton Friday in another "must" game. Both have to win or forget about any championship notions. The only loop loss for each has been at the hands of Milford.

The other defending co-champion, Bloomfield Hills, finds itself still looking for win No. 1 in the circuit after three fruitless starts. It will visit also winless Clarenceville.

West Bloomfield's loss last week at Class A Milford cost the Vikings some ground in the weekly Associated Press Class B poll, but they remain the only league team rated in either Class A or B.

* * *

Clarkston, the loop's only unbeaten school over-all, has won four straight games, but has not commanded many votes in the Class A poll to date. It will meet a Class B opponent this week before jumping into the big portion of its slate, starting with Brighton next week.

Vaulting Star on Way for Olympic Rehearsal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — World record pole vaulter John Pennel and other United States athletes left San Francisco Wednesday by plane for Tokyo where they will compete in an International Sports Week. It starts Friday and lasts through next Wednesday.

Pennel, from Northeastern Louisiana State and Miami, Fla., has vaulted 17 feet, ¾ inch.

The Sports Week is a rehearsal for the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

First Place Deadlock Among Touch Gridders

The Red Raiders moved into a tie for first place in the men's division in the Waterford Township Touch Football League with a 14-0 decision over the Dusters Wednesday evening.

* * *

The winners, with a record of 1-0-1, picked up their first score in the second quarter when Steve Ryeson intercepted a pass and ran 13 yards.

* * *

In the boy's division, the Puds took over the league leadership by downing previously unbeaten Champs, 26-0, while the Ramrods and Fast-Backs were battling to a 12-12 tie.

Seventy-one fouls were called when Kentucky and Auburn played a basketball game in 1954.

News From Around the World

N-Test Ban Doesn't Stop Japan-U.S. Defense Efforts

TOKYO (AP) — The U.S.-Japanese security consultative committee held its fourth meeting today and agreed that the limited nuclear test ban treaty is no cause for slowing down defense efforts.

★ ★ ★

Japanese Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira told a news conference after the three-hour meeting that the United States and Japan hold "absolutely identical views" on this matter.

U.S. REPRESENTATIVE

The United States was represented by Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander in chief of the Pacific command, and Edwin O. Reischauer, ambassador to Japan.

★ ★ ★

Reischauer said the possibility of a Chinese Communist nuclear test had been discussed, including possible dates. But when asked what dates had been mentioned, Reischauer replied, "It is too vague to talk about it."

DARJEELING, India (AP)— Red China increased its troop strength about 60 per cent along India's Northeast Frontier during the past four weeks, informed sources said today. There was no official confirmation of the reports.

★ ★ ★

The increases were in military posts along the Brahmaputra River just north of the Northeast Frontier, where Peking launched one of its main offensives last year against India.

TROOPS INCREASE

In New Delhi, Prime Minister Nehru told a news conference Wednesday Communist troop concentrations on the Indian-Himalayan border are larger than before last year's attack. But he said he does not believe Peking will launch an offensive in the near future because of the world situation.

WEST MEON, England (AP)— The ashes of Guy Burgess, renegade British diplomat, have been buried in an English country churchyard. Only West Meon's rector, the Rev. John Hurst, and three of Burgess' relatives were at the ceremony. The ashes were interred in the grave of Burgess' father. Burgess defected from the British foreign office with Donald MacLean in 1951 and died in Moscow six weeks ago.

Wildcat Strike Ends at World's Fair Site

NEW YOK R(UPI) — A wildcat strike which threatened to hold up construction of pavilions at the World's Fair site was settled last night.

The two-day walkout was staged by members of Local 282 of the Teamsters Union protesting a court injunction ordering them to stop picketing an independent trucking contractor using nonunion labor.

Fewer than 12 supply trucks showed up at the fair grounds yesterday police said. As a result, an estimated 1,800 of 6,500 workmen on the site were idled because of the shortage of construction materials.

Dog's Ambition Was to Sing at the Opera

BOURNEMOUTH, England (UPI) —Boo Boo, a 130-pound Pyrenean Mountain dog, broke up the Sadler's Wells production of "Carmen" last night when he bounded on the stage and added his howls to the operatic arias.

★ ★ ★

The singers and the audience broke up in laughter — except for Boo Boo's owner, Robert Watts, who hustled the dog off the stage and took him home in a taxi. Watts said Boo Boo somehow followed from his home to the theater.

Despite Firm Business Outlook

Stock Market Decline Persists

NEW YOR K(AP) — The stock market headed downward early today after a shaky opening. Trading held a steady pace but was a bit slower than yesterday.

Most major stock groups including steels, motors and airlines dipped into the minus column. Sugar stocks retained a slight upside edge while savings and loan holdings companies shaded lower in the face of possible stricter federal regulations.

Wednesday's late decline was blamed by market analysts on the spread of selling from high-flying issues to blue chips. It looked as though the move was continuing.

More Wall Streeters believe there will be further price declines before the market heads upward, despite the firm over-all business outlook. Again their was no single news factor responsible for the setback.

At noon the Associated Press 60-stock average was off .2 at 277.2 with industrials down .4, rails, up .1 and utilities down .2.

Chrysler, one of the best performers this year, dropped around 2 while GM was off more than 1. Other major automakers fell fractions.

Big steel companies were down fractions except Bethlehem, which was about unchanged. Rails gave up earlier gains to show small losses. Airlines and oils also were small losers.

Utilities and metals were irregular.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange continued, mixed in quiet trading. Syntex, up 8 Wednesday, picked up another 3.

Bond prices changes were narrow in light early trading.

Pilot Blamed in Air Crash

Errors Ruled Cause of November Deaths

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) today blamed the 26-death crash of an Eastern Air Lines DC7B at New York's Idlewild Airport last November on faulty technique by the pilot — who ironically was one of aviation's leading air safety crusaders.

Commanding the flight, No. 512 from Charlotte, N.C., to Idlewild, was Capt. Edward J. Bechtold.

A 43-year-old veteran pilot, he had represented the Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA) in scores of accident investigations and who had appeared before congressional committees testifying on various air safety problems.

★ ★ ★

The CAB's report on the Nov. 30, 1962, accident which 26 of 51 aboard survived, said the probable cause "was the technique employed by the crew during abandonment of the approach under fog conditions not adequately reported."

The report did not single out any specific agency or individual for the responsibility of inadequate weather reporting, which involved failure to transmit a late fog warning to the plane as it approached the airport.

Nor did it offer any explanation of why neither Idlewild's approach control center nor the control tower failed to inform the flight that visibility on the runway it was about to use was virtually zero.

RELUCTANT

No CAB "pilot error" verdict was ever written more reluctantly than this one, because Bechtold had worked with the CAB's own bureau of safety on many accidents.

Nevertheless, the report said, two cockpit errors were committed that resulted in the crash when Bechtold encountered the unexpected fog and attempted an abortive "go-around."

The CAB said he did not pull the nose up high enough ("additional aircraft rotation" was the technical phrase used), and he did not use sufficient power to keep airborne.

Grain Futures Move Steady to Lower

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures were steady to lower in an active mixed trade on the board of trade today.

President Kennedy's announcement that the United States will sell about $250 million worth of wheat to Russia and its satellites caused profit taking in the futures market.

Traders said they believe the recent steady advance in wheat and other grains, mainly as a result of the expected Soviet wheat deal, may have been overdone and the trade now is inclined to adopt a stop, look and listen attitude for the present.

'64 Economy Buoy

Autos Lift Boom Hope

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Prospects of a third big auto sales year in a row are giving the strongest supporting arguments for those who see 1964's entire economy soaring to new highs.

DAWSON

There's that nice cushion that such high-geared production in the auto industry will give to others, their suppliers—steel, aluminum, copper, glass, plastic and fibers. And payrolls of all concerned add to consumer purchasing power.

★ ★ ★

Also there's the spreading influence of a larger number of cars on many other phases of American life, that can be translated into dollars. More cars spur the growth of more shopping centers, restaurants, motels, drive-in movies, factories, and even banks. They also lead to the building of more highways, parking lots and garages. And increasing collections of traffic fines add to many a local government's revenues.

All of this flow of cash eventually furnishes still more persons with additional personal income. This in turn makes that many more dollars available to buy more cars.

Much of the prolonged high level of car sales now setting a record for duration and dollar volume has been attributed to the steady increase of total personal income. An affluent society tends to put car ownership—or at least a monthly payment equity—high on the list of benefits of alluence.

HIGH VOLUME SALES

But some also note that this continuing high volume of auto sales runs at a higher rate than does the increase in individual incomes and thus must reflect a change in the American way of life. Cars are claiming more of the extra dollars than are most other things.

And that may be why the car market is not becoming saturated, as some had feared a few years back. The worriers noted that the number of U.S. families owning cars stayed at about 75 per cent of total population. This would seem to limit sales to population growth. But it isn't working that way.

★ ★ ★

"The demand for automobiles is growing, and at a rate considerably faster than either population or income," report the economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York. "The reason: More and more U.S. families are buying not one, but two, three, and in some cases, four or more cars."

A few years back ownership of two cars by one family was considered a status symbol. Now it is more likely to be viewed as a necessity. For status purposes you must go to three cars, and in some communities to four.

car. Today there are 12 million. families owning more than one

This seven-fold gain compares with a rise in personal incomes of 1½ times while the suburban population (the big sales market) was doubling.

CAR POPULATION RISES

The bank economists note that the car population is now rising by about 2½ million units annually and foresee the day when there'll be one for every adult and for a good fraction all teenagers.

Today's way of life more and more is built around the car. Husbands have one to get to work. Wives have one to shop. Teenagers use still another for dates while their parents are out in another to attend P-TA meetings, to discuss the problems of teenage dating.

★ ★ ★

Looking ahead, car makers and bankers who finance ownership like to talk of the day when there'll be a different car for each occasion. One car will be earmarked for work, one for family errands, another for sport, still another for formal outings. Then there could be one designed for long trips while another could be made just for city living.

Then the traffic jams should really be out of this world.

Jones is on the Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield public relations staff, and is past president of the Detroit Academy of Advertising Arts.

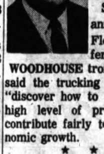
Four area auto industry executives are serving on the general committee planning the Society of Automotive Engineers congress and exposition to be held at Detroit's Cobo Hall in January.

They are Robert Anderson, 995 S. Glenhurst, Birmingham, director of product planning for Chrysler Corp, and H. F. Barr, 25620 Meadowdale, Franklin, of General Motors engineering staff.

Also serving are H. C. MacDonald, 1621 Club Drive, Bloomfield Hills, chief engineer of Lincoln-Mercury Division, and J.W. Shank, 19100 Warwick, Birmingham, of Chrysler body engineering.

The extensive SAE show will include technical sessions and speeches, and displays of vehicles and equipment.

Richard C. Woodhouse, GMC Truck and Coach Division general sales manager today urged more sophisticated management techniques by truck fleet operators.



WOODHOUSE

Speaking at the annual Truck Fleet Owner Conference in Detroit, Woodhouse said the trucking industry must "discover how to achieve a new high level of productivity" to contribute fairly to national economic growth.

★ ★ ★

He urged "scientific transportation management" to cope with the population growth and shifts, with resulting heavier load on truck routes.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I am a widow, no dependents, aged 37. Have steady employment and a moderate cash reserve. Near the peak of the market I placed an approximately equal amount of funds in American Home Products, Borden, Florida Power, General Tire and Talcott. I purchased for long-term investment. All issues except Talcott have made some recovery. What would you suggest?"

D. H.

A) It's unfortunate that the timing of your purchases was wrong. However, in the long run it probably won't matter too much.

You have, I feel, four basically good stocks, and I would stay with all issues except Talcott. Common share earnings for Talcott are currently running nearly 20 per cent behind a year ago. Although Talcott probably will make an earnings recovery in the years ahead, it may be slow in developing.

For a replacement at this time, I suggest Texas Utilities, which has an excellent growth record and good prospects for the future.

★ ★ ★

Q) "I am nearing retirement and thinking of the years beyond that date. What do you think of my holdings: Barber - Greene, Futterman Corp., Mobile Gas Service, Pepsi-Cola General Bottlers, and West Ohio Gas? I am particularly concerned with Futterman." C. C.

A) You are wise in planning ahead. I feel, however, that some changes in your investment program will help.

First, I concur in your concern over Futterman Corp. and believe it should be sold. It just isn't the type of issue that is suitable for you.

As to the others, West Ohio Gas probably offers you the greatest safety, but earnings have been virtually unchanged for many years.

There is nothing basically wrong with most of your other stocks. However, I suggest that you concentrate your future purchases in well-known companies of good quality that have a proven record of stable growth. Some of these would include such issues as Continental Oil, Coca Cola, American Electric Power and Consolidated Foods.

Racial Roundup

Birmingham Heads for Crisis

By United Press International

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. was moving toward another racial crisis today.

Mayor Albert Boutwell and the City Council last night rejected an ultimatum by Negro leaders that desegregation demands be met or racial demonstrations would be resumed.

City Councilman John Golden said the demands represented "a gun at out heads and I resent it." Boutwell said he wouldn't dignify the ultimatum with a reply.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and other Negro leaders had demanded that Birmingham hire 25 Negro policemen and begin talks aimed at upgrading other city jobs for Negroes. Negro leaders had said that rejection of the demands would bring immediate massive demonstrations.

At Plaquemine, La., Negro leader Ronnie Moore said he wired Washington for federal intervention yesterday after police used tear gas and an electric cattle prod to disperse Negro demonstrators.

A tear gas grenade was thrown from a car into a small group of Negroes at Charlotte, N. C., yesterday. Two girls and two boys were overcome by fumes but were not seriously hurt. Police said the act apparently was a prank rather than a racial incident.

● ALBANY, Ga. — More government witnesses were to testify today in the trial of civil rights leader W. G. Anderson on a federal charge of conspiring to obstruct justice by leading a boycott against a white grocer who served on a federal jury.

● GREENVILLE, S. C. — Furman University, founded by a Baptist leader who believed God favored slavery, has become the first private college in South Carolina to drop its color barrier.

The board of trustees has adopted a resolution that "all qualified applicants" for admission be considered.

● WASHINGTON—A program to train more Negroes and other members of minority groups for U.S. diplomatic jobs was unveiled yesterday by the Ford Foundation and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Negro James Meredith, whose entrance at the University of Mississippi touched off rioting last year, said here yesterday he had applied for admission to the university's law school.

● ORANGEBURG, S. C. — Mrs. Gloria Rackley, leader of the Orangeburg integration movement, said someone identifying himself as A Ku Klux Klansman telephoned her yesterday with a death threat.

● CHARLOTTE, N. C. — A ministers' meeting today will open the annual convention of the North Carolina chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Opening lead—♣K

By OSWALD JACOBY

When you use the artificial two no-trump response to a major opening as a bid forcing to game in partner's suit, opener's jump to game is his weakest rebid and announces a hand so weak that he would have raised an invitational limit raise to three.

JACOBY

The next weakest bid is three no-trump which merely shows a sound opening bid. The rebid of three in his own suit shows a hand big enough to be interested in a slam while bids in any other suit are slam tries that show a singleton or void.

Almost any partnership would manage to get to six spades with the North-South cards, but the Jacoby two no-trump response makes the bidding particularly simple.

South is definitely interested in a slam after the two no-trump response has forced to the spade game. He starts proceedings by bidding three clubs that shows both his club singleton and a good hand.

That three-club bid is enough for North to take full control. He uses the Blackwood four no-trump to check for aces. South shows two aces and North places the contract at six spades. He knows that there is an ace missing and there is no reason to think about seven.

How could South have shown a club void on this sequence? Easy enough! He would have jumped to six hearts over his partner's four no-trump to show two aces and a void.

Firm Dedicates Power Station

New Consumers Plant Named for Top Exec

Consumers Power Co. dedicated its second generating station this year with ceremonies at its newest coal-burning, steam-electric generating station, the James H. Campbell Plant at Port Sheldon.

★ ★ ★

The Campbell Plant, named in honor of the company's 53-year-old president, is located about 30 miles west of Grand Rapids.

Campbell is a former Pontiac resident and graduate of Pontiac Central High School.

Placed in operation a year ago, the plant is ranked among the ten most efficient coal-burning steam stations in the United States.

MORE ELECTRICITY

A company spokesman said this means the plant gets more electricity from a pound of coal than almost any other electric plant in the nation.

The Campbell Plant has a total generating capacity in its first unit of 265,000 kilowatts—enough to furnish the power needs of an average city of 300,000 people.

The plant increases Consumers Power Co.'s total electric generating capacity by over 10 per cent, up to 2.8 million kilowatts.

★ ★ ★

"Considering the recently negotiated power pool agreement between Consumers and Detroit Edison," a spokesman said, "the new Campbell plant effectively becomes an additional source of low cost power for the Michigan power pool."

Ex-President of Metamora Bank Dies

★ ★ ★

Mr. Rossman of 990 S. Lapeer Road, was also past president of the Metamora school board, former member of the Oxford Township Board and a past director of the Oakland County Sportsmans Club.

He was a member of the Oxford Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Minnie; four sons, Vennice and Abraham, both of Oxford, Edwin of Pontiac and T. C. Rossman of Hollywood, Fla.; six daughters, Mrs. Maude Riley of Clarkston, Mrs. Georgiana Wortman of Lapeer, Mrs. Loraite Teays, Mrs. Dorothy Willobee and Mrs. Shirley Conners, all of Oxford, and Mrs. Mae Coulter of Miami, Fla.

Also surviving are 24 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

Service will be 2 p.m. Saturday at Bossardet Funeral Home. Burial will follow in Farmer's Creek Cemetery.

State Police Nab Woman in Robbery

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP — Romeo State Police last night apprehended Mrs. Judith Smith, 23, of Dearborn on suspicion of taking part in yesterday's gunpoint robbery of Mrs. Adam Leese, 7760 24 Mile Road.

Police said Mrs. Leese, 60, was awakened in her home about 4 a.m., by a woman at the door who claimed she wanted to use Mrs. Leese's phone to report car trouble.

Mrs. Leese showed the woman to the phone. She told police a man then entered the house, pointed a rifle at her and demanded her money.

★ ★ ★

After she turned over $225, the couple tied her in the bedroom. Mrs. Leese reported the theft after she freed herself about 7 a.m.

Her husband works nights at GMC Truck & Coach Division, Pontiac.

Educators Take Tour of County's System

Some 42 delegates to the annual conference of county and intermediate unit superintendents of the National Education Association journeyed to Pontiac yesterday.

The educators, who are attending a four-day conference in Detroit, toured Oakland schools for two hours.

The object of the visit was to view an "intermediate school district in operation," a spokesman for Oakland Schools said.

A closed-circuit television demonstration highlighted the visit. In addition, county school officials explained their special education program and outlined the areas in which Oakland schools works with the county's 30 school districts.

County Supt. William J. Emerson, who is also president of the Michigan Association of Intermediate School Administrators, was co-host for the conference.

Unemployment in State Off During September

DETROIT (UPI) — Unemployment in Michigan during the month ending Sept. 15 dropped by 103,000 over the previous month, the Michigan Employment Security Commission reported today.

The MESC said unemployment for the period totaled 113,000, or 3.9 per cent of the labor force. The total labor force was 2,911,100 and nonfarm employment was 2,710,200.

Fire Damages Bar in Pontiac

A fire in a Pontiac bar yesterday caused an estimated $3,000 damage to the building and contents.

The blaze at the 48 Club, 848 Woodward, started shortly before 7 p.m. when a french fryer in the kitchen overheated, according to firemen.

The fire in the one-story block building, owned by Anastasia Challis and operated by Cy Lockhart and William Smith, was put under control in less than an hour by firemen.

Scouts, Explorers Set for Camporee

Boy scouts and explorers of the Ottawa District will hold their annual Paul Bunyan camporee tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday in Lyon Township.

Camp will be set up Friday night at a site on Fairland off Pontiac Trail, between 12 Mile and Silver Lake Roads.

On Saturday, there will be contests in log rolling, sawing and chopping. The scouts will break camp after church services Sunday morning.

★ ★ ★

Murray Tait, 33215 Raphael, Farmington, camping chairman for the district, is responsible for the organization of the camporee.

Saigon Claims Killing of 64 Cong Guerrillas

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The government announced today 64 Communist Viet Cong guerrillas were killed and two captured when they briefly overran a strategic hamlet in Binh Dinh Province, 270 miles northeast of Saigon Tuesday.

The report said a force of Vietnamese rangers recaptured the hamlet, one of more than 8,000 fortified villages constructed by the government to combat guerrilla terror tactics.

Man Struck by Car; in Fair Condition

A Bloomfield Hills man was injured yesterday morning when he was hit by a car at Glenwood and Kennett.

In fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital is Lloyd DaFoe, 58, of 80 E. Square Lake.

The driver of the car, Roger Lewis, 19, of 7641 Pontiac Lake, said DaFoe ran into his path from in front of a truck.

★ ★ ★

Both told Pontiac police that the truck blocked their vision.

Civic Improvement

Committee Dwindles

By DICK SAUNDERS

Active members of Pontiac's Civic Improvement Advisory Committee (CIAC) are in a minority, and they're not happy about it.

At the group's October meeting last night, several members suggested steps ranging from better advance notice on meetings to taking CIAC appointments out of the hands of the City Commission.

One member even questioned the committee's purpose.

★ ★ ★

"Are we just a phony committee set up to get urban renewal funds?" asked Keith Hills, vice chairman of the District 6 delegation.

"We are a phony committee if we fail to function," answered E. Eugene Russell, chairman of the CIAC.

"To be an effective committee, people must be here and be interested in working," Russell added.

ALWAYS PROBLEM

Active membership has always been a problem in the several advisory committees organized in Pontiac in recent years.

Some 24 members of the 75-member committee showed up last night. Attendance has never topped 50 at any meeting since the new CIAC was organized last March.

The CIAC is a vital part of Pontiac's workable program for community improvement, which must be approved annually by federal officials in order to keep urban renewal grants coming in.

Members are appointed by commissioners, with 10 appointees from each district.

Charles Nasstrom of 502 E. Mansfield suggested "maybe appointment by district is too restrictive.

"We need more active people and better attendance. Possibly commissioners could appoint more people on a city-wide basis.

"Let's face it," Nasstrom added, "commissioners appointed their friends to the committee. I think the commissioners and their friends knew this and some of the people knew from the start they wouldn't attend meetings."

Russell said there "isn't anything in our bylaws that says members must be appointed by the commission."

He suggested that "since much of what we do is close to urban renewal, maybe appointive power could be taken out of the hands of commissioners and put under the city's urban renewal director."

"We might get a few more interested people that way," Nasstrom agreed.

Jesse O. Young, vice chairman of the District 4 contingent, asked "Why not let members recommend appointees?"

Young, a St. Joseph Mercy Hospital employe, said, "We've only had a few people come from District 1, yet I could name four or five people working at the hospital who would like to join and work." He said they lived in District 1.

He said he wasn't just criticizing one district. All districts showed poor attendance.

Russell said he would talk over the situation with commissioners and report back at the next meeting, slated for Nov. 13.

Card of Thanks 1

I WISH TO THANK OUR FRIENDS, relatives and neighbors, the Ladies Guild of the Oakland Ave. Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Allebach and the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home, for their kindness to us during our bereavement in the loss of my Husband. Mrs. Charles A. Shearer.

WE WISH TO THANK THE NEIGHBORS and friends for their acts of kindness, and the floral offerings, the Rev. E. E. Winters, the D. E. Pursley Funeral Home and all those who assisted in any way in our recent bereavement of our mother. The family of Nancy Crane.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF LENA E. Fagerlie, October 10, 1962. Sadly missed by husband Joe, children and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF JOSEPH L. Boncher who passed away five years ago today, October 10, 1958.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
—Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF GUY W. James, who passed away October 10, 1954.
The rolling stream of life rolls on.
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile
Of the one who once sat there.
Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren.

BIRD BRAIN? — "Smokey Joe," a small blackbird, takes a pencil firmly in his beak and appears to be ready to scribble a bit on a textbook in Benton Harbor's Chadwick School. Joe was found last summer by Jackie Emanuel (center) who made a pet of the bird. Watching are Ervin Smith and Becky Bordon. Jackie thinks Joe fell from his nest.

Show Biz Fortune Wheel Spinning for 1963 Find

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Every Broadway season produces a new star. That great roulette wheel of Show Business spins 'round and 'round and on whose name it will stop, nobody can guess—but somebody unknown on Labor Day is a celebrity by Memorial Day. Who'll it be this year?

WILSON

Janis Paige, starring now in "Here's Love," was talking about this, because seven years ago she was starring in "The Pajama Game."

"I went to Ernie Adler's salon to get my hair done. The girl who understudied me said that one of the other understudies was trying to get tickets for Hal Wallis to come in. I gave her my house seats since she couldn't get any . . ."

That was Shirley MacLaine, of course, understudying Carol Haney who'd cracked an ankle, and getting a Hollywood contract, in 1956. . . . A couple of seasons ago it was an unknown named Barbara Streisand who stood out and is now "one of the hottest properties," as the agents say.

Who'll it be now? Could it be Joan Copeland who's going on in "Tovarich" until Viiven Leigh returns? 'Round and 'round the wheel goes. Waiting for it to stop is part of the excitement of being a reporter covering Show Business.

Jack Paar bought a radio station, WWTW, in Mount Washington, N.H. Its studio is in Maine and its transmitter in New Hampshire, it has a potential 4-million audience from Maine to Canada, with FM . . . The Allen & Rossi comedy album's booming. (Marty's been reading the papers and says "Today's debutantes don't come out—they're carried out") . . . Peter Cooke of "Beyond the Fringe" is reported marrying his long-time British gal friend, Wendy Snowdon . . . A Broadway producer is in a jam at the Atty. General's office for raising money for a show that never got produced . . . Gal agent Mickey Harmon, biggest in Long Island, moved to Broadway.

★ ★ ★

The Midnight Earl . . .

The Frank Sinatra-Lena Horne benefit shows at Carnegie Hall were among the season's biggest musical events. Frank, mentioning his Cal-Neva Lodge (where the state border cuts across the hotel,) said kiddingly, "It's the only place where you can walk a girl across the lobby—and get locked up for violating the Mann Act."

Vivien Leigh phone friends here that she'll leave London soon to rejoin "Torvarich" . . . Sandy Koufax signed with the Wm. Morris office for personal appearances . . . Richard Nixon attended Bobby Morse's final "How to Succeed" performance, and suggested places for Bobby to see in California (He'll be movie-making there) . . . Composer Jule Styne and his wife Maggie announced at the Little Club they'll have a baby in the spring . . . Milton Berle's former manager Irving Gray is now managing comic Alan Gale.

★ ★ ★

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Taffy Tuttle says she's trying to break her boy friend of a bad habit—eating alone.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The reason they bestow crowns on some pin-up queens is that they can't find enough costume to pin a medal on.

EARL'S PEARLS: The best thing to give the man who has everything is—a hardluck story. . . . That's earl, brother.

Waterford Confab on Incorporation

The Waterford Citizens Action Committee for Incorporation (WCAC) will hold a public information meeting tonight dealing with the Nov. 5 cityhood election.

Slated for 8 p.m. at the Stringham School, the meeting will be the fifth sponsored by the WCAC to acquaint voters with election issues.

Tonight's speakers will be Dr. John Naz, WCAC chairman; Robert Dieball, Waterford Township planning director; and Donald Oakes, a municipal planning consultant.

The citizens committee will continue to hold weekly information sessions until the election.

Detroiter Is Elected

TORONTO (AP) — Dr. Robert Coleman of Detroit is the new president of the Great Lakes Society of Orthodontists. He was elected yesterday at the 34th annual conference of the society, which represents about 500 orthodontists in Michigan, Ontario, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

Consumer Group to Eye Big Industry Price Hikes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Advisory Council plans to investigate the current pattern of price increases in several major manufacturing industries, including steel, aluminum, electrical and heavy chemicals.

In a statement, the 11-member council said yesterday that the price boosts were "in the face of idle manpower, unused productive capacity and a general pattern of falling unit production costs and rising profits."

Once New Zealand's economy was based on wool, meat and dairy products. Now the newest industry, aluminum smelting, will be the biggest in the country.

Judge Sets Payment at 14 Cents Per Week

SWINDON, England (UPI) — Frederick Stevens was ordered yesterday to pay off a 38-pound ($106) time payment debt on a set of encyclopedias — at the rate of one shilling (14 cents) per week.

★ ★ ★

The judge said he had no choice but to make the order, but criticized the encyclopedia salesman for high pressure activities. "The only way I can express my sympathy with you is to make them wait for their money," the judge said.

Electron radiation, widely used in laboratores, is now available commercially for the sterilization of pharmaceutical and food products or other purposes.

Cooling Sunspots Allows Space Assault

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Several nations are planning an all-out assault on the mysteries of space in 1965, which has been labeled International Quiet Sun Year—when there will be a minimum of sunspot activity.

The coordinated effort will be the first since International Geophysical Year in 1957-58, an active sunspot year.

This period produced the first earth satellites, sent aloft by Russia and the United States.

One program planned by the United States for 1965 is PIQSY—probe for International Quiet Sun Year. PIQSY spacecraft will measure magnetic fields, meteoids and radiation out to a distance of 18 million miles from earth.

* * *

Data will be compared with that gathered in IGY and subsequent, more active solar years.

Heavy Responsibility

HOUSTON (AP) — Police here are used to becoming custodians for strange, lost and stolen articles, but a recently acquired addition weighed them down a little. It was a 150-pound tombstone found in a local park, which bore the inscription "Rest In Peace."

Students Look to Vocations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University students generally consider vocational training and career preparation at the top of their list of goals important for a college to emphasize.

* * *

That finding was made in a survey of OSU freshmen and senior students.

Faculty members surveyed generally agreed that the most important goal of a college education is providing students with a general education and appreciation of ideas.

New York state ranks first in the production of talc and gypsum.

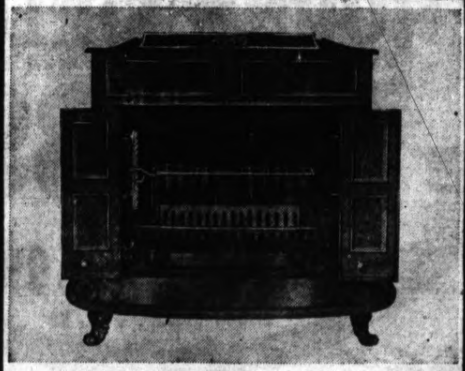
FRANKLIN STOVES

ORIGINATED IN COLONIAL AMERICA
By BENJAMIN FRANKLIN



Wonderful for amusement and family rooms, lake homes and maintenance of early Colonial decorating decor. Fireplace benefits, appeal and comfort at a fraction of fireplace costs.

Benjamin Franklin himself is credited with originating the Franklin stove far back in 1745. Ever since, and continuing to today, its unique performance properties are being recognized and put to use. Far more efficient than a fireplace, but imparts true fireplace coziness and appearance with its wide open front. Holds fire for long periods. The flat top area provides for the coffee pot and cooking utensils; the open fireplace area for barbecuing and open fire broiling.

Hundreds Perish in Flood

Reaction Varied

Go Signal On for Wheat Sale

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has given the green light for the private sale of millions of bushels of American wheat to the Soviet Union and other Communist bloc countries.

★ ★ ★

He made it clear that the grain was for use only in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe—not in Cuba.

His decision, which in so many words he said was just good business for the United States, drew both sparks and cheers.

The reaction ranged from Democratic Sen. Strom Thurmond's denunciation that it amounted to "arming our enemy," to Vermont Republican Sen. George Aiken's view that "the deal should prove beneficial to both the United States and the people of the purchasing nations."

★ ★ ★

In announcing his decision at his press conference Wednesday night after weighing both the political and economic problems involved, the President noted that more such transactions may be in the works.

Related Stories, Page B-13

The Soviet bloc countries, he said, "may also, wish to purchase from us surplus feed grains and other agriculture commodities," and he added:

"After consultation with the National Security Council, and informing the appropriate leaders of the Congress, I have concluded that such sales by private dealers for American dollars or gold, either cash on delivery on normal commercial

Edwards Tells Power of Mobsters in Detroit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police Commissioner George C. Edwards of Detroit told Senate crime probers today that Mafia mobsters gross $150 million a year in his city from rackets and have "infiltrated legitimate businesses worth a minimum of another $50 million."

Despite this and 69 gangland murders counted in the Detroit area since 1927, he said, "it is the cleanest and least racket-ridden big city in the country."

Edwards said the Detroit Mafia structure appears to be "similar to and directly connected with" the nationwide crime syndicate called Cosa Nostra which mobster-informer Joseph Valachi described in five days of testimony to the Senate Investigations Subcommittee.

★ ★ ★

He said his estimates of the hoodlums' big money take were "very conservative."

OWN INFORMATION

Firmly, Edwards told the subcommittee he was talking from information his men have developed themselves in the years-long fight against organized crime, not on the basis of anything learned from Valachi.

He said neither he nor his police have even interviewed Valachi.

Edwards said the Mafia seeks to build a false front of legitimacy to mask its infiltration of the business world.

Neatly dressed gangsters, leading outwardly respectable lives, are used for this purpose, he said. He called them "Jekyl and Hyde characters" who wield great power.

★ ★ ★

In fact, the commissioner said, most of what he was telling would come as a shock to the average Detroiter, who is little aware of the gambling, narcotics and prostitution rackets pushed by the Mafia which, he said, hasn't hesitated to try to bribe the police.

FOUR REASONS

Edwards said the criminal conspiracy he described exists in large measure because of four things — public complacency, murder, political influence, and outright corruption.

He listed them in that order and said public complacency is probably the most important. He added that was one reason he saw value in the subcommittee hearings.

Edwards said "just plain fear" is used to keep people "in the netherworld of crime" from ever testifying against higher-ups.

★ ★ ★

As for political influence, he said it is "not easy to spell out." He said the top syndicate leaders are sophisticated people and don't generally "back public officials anymore" but find front people who will get campaign contributions into the hands of influential figures.

In this way, he said, they get someone "close to the seat of power who can put in a good word."

Mac Has Successful Operation

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan announced today he would not be able to lead the Conservative party at the next general elections.

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today underwent a successful operation for the removal of his prostate gland.

A hospital bulletin said there were no complications after the hour-long operation and that his condition was excellent.

Macmillan, 69, entered King Edward VII Military Hospital on Tuesday night after experiencing severe pain during a Cabinet meeting.

Word of the successful surgery was flashed to Blackpool, where Macmillan's Conservative party is holding its annual conference and discussing the makeup of leadership to lead it into next year's general election.

POLICE GUARD

Well-wishers gathered around the hospital, which now has a police guard.

A brief hospital bulletin said: "The prime minister has had his prostate gland removed. There were no complications and his condition throughout and at the end of the operation was excellent."

Grain Probably Will Be Stored

Soviets Seem to Need Supplies for Satellites

From Our News Wires

Western observers speculated today that Russia might use U.S. wheat for reserves or to fulfill export obligations to the satellite nations of Eastern Europe.

The observers said Russia probably has bought enough foreign grain already to meet its own requirements for this year.

★ ★ ★

They said President Kennedy's announcement at his news conference yesterday is likely to be greeted by the Soviet government as a sign of American sincerity in lessening cold war tension.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev recently disclosed that 8.6 million tons of wheat were purchased from Canada and Australia. Another 400,000 tons were received from communist Romania.

The Soviet people were told this morning about President Kennedy's authorization of the sale of American wheat to the Soviet Union. Khrushchev's admission of purchases in the West came in a speech in which he blamed the weather for ruining the harvest.

During a recent farm tour, he advocated a massive campaign to revolutionize the mineral fertilizer industry in Russia. He said hundreds of thousands of rubles (normally worth $1.11 each) must be invested.

In this way, he said, the Russians could "beat the weather" and would not have to face another serious grain shortage.

2,924 Flee Red Rule

BONN, Germany (AP) — A total of 2,924 East Germans fled to the West in the first nine months of 1963 despite the Berlin Wall and border death strips, the Refugee Ministry reported yesterday.

FARM QUEEN — Pam Oslin, 17-year-old Walled Lake High School student, began her reign as Miss Oakland County Farm Bureau at last night's annual meeting of the organization. The youngster hopes to attend college and then establish a farm of her own. (See related story and picture on Page C-8).

Judge Cheers Grant for Children's Home

"A tremendous step forward" was the enthusiastic reaction of former Probate Court Judge Arthur E. Moore yesterday to news of a federal grant for construction of a children's village in Oakland County.

Judge Moore, now on the Circuit Court bench, fostered the concept for a village, diagnostic and service center for underprivileged children in the county more than a year ago.

Plans for the village were revealed by Judge Moore last fall. He proposed the county provide nine types of buildings on the 50-acre "campus."

Total cost of the entire project over a period of years would be $2.6 million. The initial units will run $646,000 on a matching fund basis with the federal government.

The county will receive $323,000 under the accelerated public works program to finance half the cost of first units of the unique village, it was announced yesterday.

★ ★ ★

James W. Hunt, director of county children's services, said first units would consist of a special services facility and two rehabilitation cottages.

The special services building would house about 40 emotion-

Pontiac Champ Will Finish Run

Olympic Torch Due in Detroit Tomorrow

From Our News Wires

Pontiac's Hayes Jones, 1960 Olympic gold medal winner, will be the last runner to carry the U.S. Olympic torch when it reaches Detroit tomorrow morning.

Jones will climax a cross-country run of 14 days and 2,571 miles by anchoring the more than 400-member relay team when he hands the gas-fueled torch to Mayor Jerome Cavanagh at approximately 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Cavanagh will take the torch with him to Baden-Baden, West Germany, when Detroit makes its bid next week for the 1968 Summer Olympic Games.

★ ★ ★

The torch is winding through southern Michigan cities this afternoon and tonight. It will be carried through Battle Creek, Charlotte, Lansing, Jackson, Ann Arbor, Ysilanti, Wayne and Inkster before reaching Detroit.

UNIFIED EFFORT

The feat is a united effort by the U.S. to dramatize the Motor City's bid in competition with Buenos Aires, Mexico City and Lyon, France.

In another development, it was learned that the Michigan Legislature will, after all, be represented at Baden Baden.

Sen. Haskell Nichols, R-Jackson, chairman of the Legislative Olympic Committee, revealed he had dispatched Sen. Kent Lundgren, R-Menominee, to the site of the International Olympic Committee meeting.

Lundgren, Nichols said, would be the only legislator present.

Marie Tennyson is now at the Stylist's Beauty Salon, 18 East Rutgers, off Baldwin. FE 4-5522.

Landslide Hits Water, Causes Boiling Wave

Bodies Are Scattered Throughout Valley in Italian Catastrophe

By WILLIAM MAIRANI

BELLUNO, Italy (AP)—A massive Alpine landslide plunged into a deep, four-mile-long reservoir last night and hurled a wave across the Vaiont Dam upon sleeping villagers in the Piave River valley. Hundreds perished in the boiling flood.

Three hundred bodies had been recovered by dawn and U.S. Army authorities who hurried to help said Italian sources estimated there were 3,000 dead.

★ ★ ★

Four towns with more than 6,000 residents virtually were wiped out and two hamlets on the edge of the reservoir disappeared in the catastrophe.

Through it all, the 873-foot-high concrete dam—the world's third highest—apparently stood intact. It is part of a hydro-electric complex.

Reconnaissance by a squadron of four U.S. helicopters led by Maj. Harvey C. Mayse of Wenatchee, Wash., refuted initial reports that the dam had collapsed.

HUGE OVERFLOW

"The landslide that plunged into the reservoir apparently caused a huge overflow," Mays said. "From the air, the dam appeared to be in one piece."

The biggest and hardest hit of the towns was Longarone, with a population of 4,600.

Surviving officials there estimated their dead at 1,500 to 1,700. The community was virtually leveled into a barren, rock-strewn stretch of sand and mud. The vanished hamlets were St. Martino and Viaspesse.

★ ★ ★

Vice Prefect Carlo Prestamburgo said Cadissago, Rivalta and Pirago, with a total population of 1,500, were wiped out. Several other villages including Castellazo, with 1,000 inhabitants, were flooded. The level of the Piave's upper reaches rose 16 feet.

BODIES SCATTERED

Bodies tumbled and turned in the flood toward the Adriatic through this area of normally green cattle pastures, vegetables, fruits and red wins.

Some bodies were found in the mud ashore. Countless AERIAL VIEW — The 873-foot-high Vaiont Dam collapsed under pressure of heavy rains and sliding earth last night to hurtle millions of tons of water on sleeping communities in northern Italy. (Another picture, Page 2).

Only Steeple, Tree Withstood Torrent

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—"The sight was just simply terrifying," the pilot said as he stepped from his plane after flying over the Vaoint Dam disaster. He shuddered and controlled a sob.

"I have never seen anything like it—not even in horror dreams," said Dino Menardi, 42.

Menardi and two companions flew over the scene of disaster shortly after dawn.

Brushing tears from his eyes, Menardi told this tale of horror:

"As we came in over the town of Longarone—4,600 residents—I could not see a single house standing, or any one of the town's three big churches. I believe everyone in the town must have been trapped in their homes while sleeping.

"All I could see was a bell tower and a tree sticking up about a meter—three feet—above the water. Where I used to see the lovely vineyards and orchards all I saw were huge boulders. They looked like they had been polished by a huge file, a rasp.

"You know, Longarone normally is way, way above the level of the Piave River, but the terrible tide must have shot more than 100 meters in the air.

FLATTENS HAMLET

"It flattened a hamlet of 100 houses called Pirago near Longarone. Only the church bell tower is standing at Pirago. Large pine trees and beeches planted more than 25 years ago in the area are just gone.

"The valley—about four milometers wide at Longarone—looked like a horrible desert.

"But what astonished me most was the sight of the place where two hamlets—each with about 80 houses—were no longer visible. They were gone.

Menardi said he flew over the area for several minutes at low altitude.

Fair Is Forecast for Area on Friday

Sunshine and a few shadows with temperatures a little warmer, the high near 78, is the forecast for Pontiac area tomorrow.

Tonight will be fair and mild the low falling to about 52.

The outlook for Saturday is slightly cooler and fair all over the state. Morning southerly winds at 5 to 12 miles per hour will continue.

Pontiac Parade Will Mark Fire Prevention Week

Firemen and equipment from a score of area communities will parade in downtown Pontiac this evening to highlight Fire Prevention Week now in progress.

★ ★ ★

The parade will begin at 7 p.m. and is expected to last about one hour. The line of march will start on Saginaw at Pike and proceed north to Oakland and Clark.

Area high school bands will provide music while precision drills will be by three local marching units.

Says Project Director

'No Renewal Indecision'

Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates said last night that there is no indecision in the city's urban renewal planning staff as indicated Tuesday night by Mayor Robert A. Landry.

"We have been working very closely with developers," Bates said in answer to questions of Civic Improvement Advisory Committee members, meeting at city hall.

"There has been some modification in the R20 project plan, but we are in basic agreement and are working in the same direction as the city's appointed redeveloper."

Charles L. Langs of Waterford Township was named by the City Commission in April to prepare architectural drawings and line up developers for urban renewal lands.

EXCLUSIVE RIGHTS

Under the contract agreement, Langs has exclusive rights to redevelopment on urban renewal lands for one year, subject to commission approval of redevelopment proposals.

Landry said in a speech Tuesday night that Langs had been "met at every turn of the road by indecision on the part of some of our planners."

Flaws, Safety Stall Sub Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy disclosed today that completion of 31 atomic submarines—all those currently under construction—has been delayed because of more stringent safety inspection as well as flaws in workmanship.

All naval shipyards and private yards now building such subs are involved, it said.

"No estimate of the loss in time and money is available," the Navy said in response to an inquiry.

★ ★ ★

Earlier this week, Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the Navy's top atomic expert, said, "We are holding up atomic submarines" because of substandard contractor performance. He also said inspection by private builders was below par.

QUALITY OF WORK

Rickover did not mention the quality of work being done at naval shipyards.

Asked about Rickover's statement, the Navy said, "Some delays are being encountered in the nuclear submarine construction program."

★ ★ ★

A significant part of the delay, the Navy said, is traceable to a new technique of inspecting submarine parts by ultrasonic means rather than the less exact method of using X-rays to look for flaws.

The ultrasonic technique has come into use since the loss last spring of the atomic submarine Thresher after it had undergone extensive overhaul at the Portsmouth, N.H., naval shipyard.

BAD EQUIPMENT

"In addition, instances of deficiencies in equipment and workmanship are delay factors," the Navy said.

The statement did not go into detail, but said "all submarines not yet commissioned are involved for varying periods" and that it is happening at naval shipyards and the yards of contractors building nuclear subs for the Navy.

★ ★ ★

"It is expected that the contractor will pay the costs to the extent that deficiences are determined to be their responsibility," the Navy said.

★ ★ ★

The Polaris missile firing and attack type submarines are being built at two naval shipyards — Portsmouth and Mare Island, Calif.—by four contractors: Newport News Shipbuilding Co., Newport News, Va.; Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., at Groton, Conn.; New York Shipbuilding at Camden, N.J., and Ingalls Shipbuilding at Pascagoula, Miss.

terms, should not be prohibited by the government."

DIDN'T SPECIFY

Kennedy did not specify how many bushels and how many dollars would be involved in wheat sale.

However, Hubert H. Humphrey, assistant Senate Democratic leader, who was among congressional leaders briefed by Kennedy before his announcement, said the authorization cleared the way for wheat sales of $350 million to $400 million.

As administration officials portrayed it, he wheat deal would lighten the U.S. taxpayer's load by trimming some $200 million off the government's surplus grain storage costs.

Although many Republicans condemned the sale, reaction often cut through party lines.

For example:

HUMANITARIAN

Sen. Frank Carlson, a Kansas Republican, said the sale in payment for gold "is in the interests of the United States as it reduces our wheat surplus, it improves our balance of payments, strengthens domestic wheat prices, reduced the taxpayers' carrying cost of our present surpresent surplus and is the humanitarian thing to do."

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, assistant Senate GOP leader, said "in recent weeks, West Germany, Canada, Australia and other nations have sold huge amounts of wheat and flour to the U.S.S.R.

"Why should we board our own vast, costly, almost unmanageable, government - owned grain surplus by refusing to sell at the going world price, part of that surplus to the Soviet Union for gold?"

But Democratic Sen. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio figured that Kennedy's action went beyond the law.

"The President has decided to sell grain to Red Russia at a subsidized price even though the Congress declared a policy that grain may be sold at subsidized prices only to friendly nations. The law now specifically states that Red Russia is an unfriendly nation."

Trial for Murder Moves Quickly

The first-degree murder trial of James G. Gostlin, 20, charged with the hammer slaying of 11-year-old Shirley Husted of Novi, appeared headed for quick completion today.

★ ★ ★

The trial opened yesterday morning before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Senior Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry called six witnesses to the stand as the prosecution rested its case by midafternoon.

Gostlin's court appointed defense attorney, John O'Brien, called one witness Dr. Abraham Tauber, a Pontiac psychiatrist, to the stand before yesterday's session was recessed.

★ ★ ★

He planned to call another doctor to testify today.

After surrendering voluntarily to Dearborn Police, Gostlin admitted entering the Husted home at 2299 Austin, beating the girl to death with a hammer, beating her father and kidnapping her mother, according to State Police.

He also admitted raping the girl's mother, Mrs. Wesley Husted, and earlier raping his 11-year-old niece, state police said.

Mrs. Husted brought tears to the eyes of women jurors yesterday as she recalled the events of the evening when the crime took place last Dec. 19.

★ ★ ★

Gostlin was ruled mentally competent to stand trial at a sanity hearing Aug. 2.

Dr. Tauber testified yesterday that he didn't feel Gostlin intended to commit murder when he entered the Husted home, but that in his opinion, Goslin was sane.

England Won't Permit Soviet Plane to Refuel

LONDON (UPI)—The Foreign Office said today it has refused permission for the Soviet airliner carrying cosmonaut Col. Yuri Gagarian to Mexico to land in Prestwick, Scotland, for refuelling.

A spokesman said a note was delivered to the Soviet Embassy in London this morning explaining that permission was being refused because the Soviet Union does not allow similar reciprocal facilities for British planes.

that "what we put on the land today must be a lasting benefit to the city for many years to come.

★ ★ ★

"Otherwise, we will be defeating the purpose of urban renewal. Mr. Langs is in agreement with this."

MISUNDERSTANDING

He said there may have been some misunderstanding on small points.

"In the process of planning," he said, "we have kicked around many ideas, but this doesn't mean we are undecided or at odds over basic plans for the redevelopment of urban renewal lands."

★ ★ ★

He said the city is ready now to sell property and some proposals are already being reviewed by the Federal Housing Administration.

others were buried deep under rocks and sand.

Aside from its town hall on high ground, Longarone virtually was wiped out when the water rushed upon it shortly before midnight.

Correspondents found the townsite flattened like a beach.

A man sitting on a boulder spoke as if in a daze.

"My family was wiped out—destroyed," he said. "I was in Belluno working. Then I came home. I don't recognize anything. We were living here—or maybe there. I don't know."

"I had friends who lived here—or there—I don't know," she said.

She said she and her family woke up feeling the ground temble under their home.

American Wins the Nobel Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — A Nobel Peace Prize was awarded today to scientist Linus Carl Pauling, a U.S. foe of nuclear tests who long has been a center of controversy in his own land.

It is the second Nobel Prize for the professor of chemistry at the California Institute of Technilogy. In 1954 he won the chemistry award for his research into the forces that hold molecules together.

The Norwegian Nobel committee announced Pauling will be handed the prize for 1962. No award had been announced for that year.

The 1963 peace prize will go to the International Red Cross committee and the League of Red Cross societies.

Dr. Pauling's prize amounts to 257,219 Swedish kroner ($49,465) the two Red Cross groups will share the 1963 prize of 265,000 kroner ($50,961).

Painter to Depict State's History

BIRMINGHAM — Michigan's colorful history will be depicted in a series of oil paintings by Birmingham artist Robert A. Thom.

Thom, 6160 W. Surrey, has been commissioned for the work by Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Best known for "A History of Pharmacy in Pictures" and "A History of Medicine in Pictures" which he did for Parke-Davis and Co., Thom is working with a Michigan historian on the present work.

Now engaged in research for the project are Thom and F. Clever Bald, director of the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.

WRITE TEXT

Bald will write the text to accompany each of Thom's paintings.

Thom will produce about six paintings a year until the project is completed. Michigan Bell, however, will begin displaying the work as soon as feasible.

The paintings will be exhibited at schools, libraries, museums and public ceremonies throughout the state, according to William M. Day, Michigan Bell president.

★ ★ ★

The first canvas will record Michigan as it appeared 11,000 years ago during the age of mastodons and ice.

OTHER ERAS

Other pictures will depict Michigan's history through the eras of the Indians, fur traders, massacres, logging, mining, farming and auto manufacturing.

Thom was founding president of the Bloomfield Art Association and one of the founders of the Birmingham Arts Council. He is now serving his second term as president of the Community House.

The internationally known artist was trained at the Institute of Fine Arts in Columbus, Ohio. He worked in the art departments of the Detroit Edison Co. and Chevrolet Division before starting his own commercial art studio.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stutz will be installed as worthy patron and worthy matron of Birmingham Chapter No. 220, Order of the Eastern Star, next Wednesday night.

The 8 p.m. open installation will be held at the Birmingham Masonic Temple, 327 S. Woodward.

ally disturbed children, according to Hunt, who need to be separated from neglected youngsters.

He said this facility would probably be the most expensive unit in the village at a cost in excess of $300,000 and would be single-story and house boys and girls in separated areas.

SIX COTTAGES

Rehabilitation cottages would accommodate about 30 children each. A total of six such cottages are planned for the village eventually.

The county board of supervisors has acquired a site for children's village just west of Telegraph roughly opposite the county offices.

The federal grant for beginning on the village came just as the board of supervisors was readying plans to shift youngsters from overcrowded Children's Center to a remodeled section of the medical care facility.

★ ★ ★

The architectural firm of Harry M. Denyes Jr., Associates, Inc., of Pontiac, was hired Monday by the board of supervisors to study the medical care facility to make room for the children.

The juvenile affairs committee, which has pushed for children's village, had opposed spending funds for a temporary solution when new facilities were needed.

As late as yesterday morning, the committee had mapped plans to press the board of supervisors for the village. The committee had not received a final answer on its request for federal funds.

ORDERLY PROGRESS

Abraham Brickner, committee chairman, said the village was planned so orderly progression will occur to take care of all county's juvenile program, except Camp Oakland.

The village, he said, some day may consist of six rehabilitation cottages, a school, two units of special services, and separate housing for neglected children.

Construction on first buildings must get under way within 120 days, according to accelerated public works regulations.

New Zealand Values Visitors at 95 Lambs

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — An American visitor to New Zealand is worth 190 cases of apples, or 95 fat lambs, or three-and-a-half bales of wool.

★ ★ ★

The Government Publicity Division told of the analysis that valued an American — in terms of foreign exchange. It said 169 Americans recently spent 16 days in New Zealand and spent, on an average, 190 New Zealand pounds ($530) each.

That's the value of those apples, lambs, or wool on the export market.

The statement said U.S. visitors have increased seven-fold in the last decade.

The tourist industry now was the sixth biggest earner of overseas exchange.

SECOND TRY — Heiress Gamble Benedict Porumbeanu and her attorney, Eugene Curti, leave court after a second unsuccessful reconciliation hearing in her divorce suit at Zurich, Switzerland. Curti said she is determined to press for divorce from Andrei Porumbeanu, 37-year-old Romanian-born ex-chauffeur.

Junior Editors Quiz on CATS

QUESTION: Why do kittens have rough tongues instead of smooth ones like their mothers?

★ ★ ★

Answer: Perhaps the young person who asked us this question has had a hand licked by a kitten but not by an older cat's tongue.

The truth is, Jan, that all cats, old and young, male and female, have rough tongues. This is a characteristic shared by all members of the cat family, wild and domestic alike. If you live with a cat in the house you soon learn how important the rough tongue is to them.

There are few animals which have as much instinct for cleanliness as a cat. Cats take great delight in caring for their furry coats. How a cat loves to have its coat brushed!

This removes loose hairs, and stimulates the oil glands in the hair, giving the cat the same kind of comfortable feeling you get when your own hair is brushed.

About once a day a healthy cat will moisten its paw with its tongue and use this to wash her face. Then she will lick as many parts of her body as she can reach. Here, the rough tongue is of great value, acting as an efficient hair brush.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: To find out how rough the cat's tongue is, put a little cat food on your hand and let a cat lick it. Also, watch a cat's general expression when you brush her coat gently—she'll find ways to express her appreciation.

Plump Widow Most Likely to Land Second Husband

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions:

Plump widows have the best chance of landing another husband—because their suitors, who usually are middle-aged, figure they are good cooks.

BOYLE

It's a good bet that a man who habitually wears only pinstriped suits is a con man, a junior diplomat, or suffers from a superiority complex.

The most suspicious people in the world are authors, bankers and drugstore cashiers.

If you need taxi money home, the easiest person to borrow it from is a waitress over 40.

★ ★ ★

Does the girl love you? Put a piece of light thread on the arm of your blue suit. If she notices the thread and doesn't bother to pick it off — well, you'd better brush her off pronto, and look for another girl.

Men who carry their wallets in their inside coat pocket rarely reach first for the restaurant tab, and usually have few close friends.

It has been years since I've seen a woman blow her nose with a handkerchief. But when they want to make a real show of tears, they always pull out a handkerchief to cry into.

OLD BROWN BOTTLE

Drugs that come in fancy two-tone capsules are all right for the younger generation, but older people seem to get more benefit from a medicine if it tastes bitter and is poured into a tablespoon from a dull brown bottle.

Nurses have fatter legs than stenographers, but they don't get half as many runs in their stockings.

Before marriage a girl tells a man his bow ties make him look boyish. After marriage she informs him they make him look silly.

The hardest word for most people to spell accurately is "accommodate."

★ ★ ★

A cat will come and rub against your legs before it is fed. After it has eaten, the ungrateful creature has nothing to do with you.

If you listen to a drunk long enough, sooner or later he will brag about what a wonderful mother he had. Liquor turns everybody into a child again.

The easiest sucker for a salesman is another salesman. If a man can sell anything, he also can be sold almost anything.

Nobody ever changed his church as the result of a religious discussion at a cocktail party.

A male mosquito is a vegetarian and does not bite.

England Church Allows Women to Hold Services

LONDON (AP)—The Church of England agreed Wednesday that women should be allowed to conduct some services and preach sermons. They will be licensed as lay readers, not priests.

The decision shocked some bishops and bachelor priests but it went through the convocation of Canterbury after two days of debate.

Canon law must be revised so the women can take up their duties. Since the Church of England is the national established church, Parliament must approve.

this is the official Lion Linebacker boot . . . endorsed by the National Football League, and made especially for us in France. It's a beaut of a boot — with a snug fleece lining and resilient waterproof soles, to keep you warm to the tips of your toes even when the snow is swirling up in the stands. The uppers are supple leather, the front is zippered, and we have it in sizes 7 to 12, in black. The modest price: 12.95

Despite Firm Business Outlook

Market Holds Irregular Course

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market held to an irregular course early today in fairly active dealings.

Price changes were generally narrow except for a number of special situations. No single group of stocks showed much of a movement although saving and loan holdings command rails were up a little in many cases.

Market analysts were watching closely to see if yesterday's biggest decline of the month would be continued. The feeling among these experts is increasnigly leading toward a further period of lower prices before another upswing, despite the firmness of the overall business picture.

* * *

Among the savings and loan issues Wesco Financial, Gibraltar Financial, United Financial of California and Financial Federation were all down small fractions. Trans Western Financial gave up nearly a full point.

AVERAGE DECLINES

Yesterday the Associated Press 60-stock average declined 1.0 at 77.4.

* * *

American Stock Exchange prices also were mixed at the start. Off fractions were Data Control, Molybdenum and New Jersey Zinc. Higher were Aurora Plastics and Kratter. Occidental Petroleum was unchanged.

Bond prices were mixed.

Pilot Blamed in Air Crash

Errors Ruled Cause of November Deaths

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) today blamed the 26-death crash of an Eastern Air Lines DC7B at New York's Idlewild Airport last November on faulty technique by the pilot — who ironically was one of aviation's leading air safety crusaders.

Commanding the flight, No. 512 from Charlotte, N.C., to Idlewild, was Capt. Edward J. Bechtold.

A 43-year-old veteran pilot, he had represented the Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA) in scores of accident investigations and who had appeared before congressional committees testifying on various air safety problems.

* * *

The CAB's report on the Nov. 30, 1962, accident which 26 of 51 aboard survived, said the probable cause "was the technique employed by the crew during abandonment of the approach under fog conditions not adequately reported."

The report did not single out any specific agency or individual for the responsibility of inadequate weather reporting, which involved failure to transmit a late fog warning to the plane as it approached the airport.

Nor did it offer any explanation of why neither Idlewild's approach control center nor the control tower failed to inform the flight that visibility on the runway it was about to use was virtually zero.

RELUCTANT

No CAB "pilot error" verdict was ever written more reluctantly than this one, because Bechtold had worked with the CAB's own bureau of safety on many accidents.

The bureau even sent a wreath to his funeral and FAA Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby wired the widow his personal condolences.

Nevertheless, the report said, two cockpit errors were committed that resulted in the crash when Bechtold encountered the unexpected fog and attempted an abortive "go-around."

The CAB said he did not pull the nose up high enough ("additional aircraft rotation" was the technical phrase used), and he did not use sufficient power to keep airborne.

Grain Futures Move Steady to Lower

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures were steady to lower in an active mixed trade on the board of trade today.

President Kennedy's announcement that the United States will sell about $250 million worth of wheat to Russia and its satellites caused profit taking in the futures market.

Traders said they believe the recent steady advance in wheat and other grains, mainly as a result of the expected Soviet wheat deal, may have been overdone and the trade now is inclined to adopt a stop, look and listen attitude for the present.

'64 Economy Buoy

Autos Lift Boom Hope

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Prospects of a third big auto sales year in a row are giving the strongest supporting arguments for those who see 1964's entire economy soaring to new highs.

DAWSON

There's that nice cushion that such high-geared production in the auto industry will give to others, their suppliers—steel, aluminum, copper, glass, plastic and fibers. And payrolls of all concerned add to consumer purchasing power.

* * *

Also there's the spreading influence of a larger number of cars on many other phases of American life, that can be translated into dollars. More cars spur the growth of more shopping centers, restaurants, motels, drive-in movies, factories, and even banks. They also lead to the building of more highways, parking lots and garages. And increasing collections of traffic fines add to many a local government's revenues.

All of this flow of cash eventually furnishes still more persons with additional personal income. This in turn makes that many more dollars available to buy more cars.

Much of the prolonged high level of car sales now setting a record for duration and dollar volume has been attributed to the steady increase of total personal income. An affluent society tends to put car ownership—or at least a monthly payment equity—high on the list of benefits of alluence.

HIGH VOLUME SALES

But some also note that this continuing high volume of auto sales runs at a higher rate than does the increase in individual incomes and thus must reflect a change in the American way of life. Cars are claiming more of the extra dollars than are most other things.

And that may be why the car market is not becoming saturated, as some had feared a few years back. The worriers noted that the number of U.S. families owning cars stayed at about 75 per cent of total population. This would seem to limit sales to population growth. But it isn't working that way.

* * *

"The demand for automobiles is growing, and at a rate considerably faster than either population or income," report the economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York. "The reason: More and more U.S. families are buying not one, but two, three, and in some cases, four or more cars."

A few years back ownership of two cars by one family was considered a status symbol. Now it is more likely to be viewed as a necessity. For status purposes you must go to three cars, and in some communities to four.

car. Today there are 12 million. families owning more than one

This seven-fold gain compares with a rise in personal incomes of 1½ times while the suburban population (the big sales market) was doubling.

CAR POPULATION RISES

The bank economists note that the car population is now rising by about 2½ million units annually and foresee the day when there'll be one for every adult and for a good fraction all teenagers.

Today's way of life more and more is built around the car. Husbands have one to get to work. Wives have one to shop. Teenagers use still another for dates while their parents are out in another to attend P-TA meetings, to discuss the problems of teenage dating.

* * *

Looking ahead, car makers and bankers who finance ownership like to talk of the day when there'll be a different car for each occasion. One car will be earmarked for work, one for family errands, another for sport, still another for formal outings. Then there could be one designed for long trips while another could be made just for city living.

Then the traffic jams should really be out of this world.

U. S., Britain, Russia Deposit N-Ban Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representatives of the United States, Britain and Russia deposited instruments of ratification of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty this morning, paving the way for the treaty to take effect at noon.

* * *

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Ambassador David Ormsby-Gore, and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin did the honors at a State Department ceremony matched by similar ceremonies in London and Moscow.

Rusk, Ormsby-Gore and Dobrynin each hailed the treaty in separate statements as a step toward world peace that they hope will be followed by other steps.

Business Notes

What the future holds in visual recording and projection developments were predicted by audio-visual specialist Arnold R. Jones, 672 Linda Vista, yesterday at a film industry convention in New York City.

* * *

Jones is on the Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield public relations staff, and is past president of the Detroit Academy of Advertising Arts.

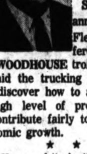
Four area auto industry executives are serving on the general committee planning the Society of Automotive Engineers congress and exposition to be held at Detroit's Cobo Hall in January.

They are Robert Anderson, 995 S. Glenhurst, Birmingham, director of product planning for Chrysler Corp, and H. F. Barr, 25620 Meadowdale, Franklin, of General Motors engineering staff.

Also serving are H. C. MacDonald, 1621 Club Drive, Bloomfield Hills, chief engineer of Lincoln-Mercury Division, and J.W. Shank, 19100 Warwick, Birmingham, of Chrysler body engineering.

The extensive SAE show will include technical sessions and speeches, and displays of vehicles and equipment.

Richard C. Woodhouse, GMC Truck and Coach Division general sales manager today urged more sophisticated management techniques by truck fleet operators.



WOODHOUSE

Speaking at the annual Truck Fleet Owner Conference in Detroit, Woodhouse said the trucking industry must "discover how to achieve a new high level of productivity" to contribute fairly to national economic growth.

* * *

He urged "scientific transportation management" to cope with the population growth and shifts, with resulting heavier load on truck routes.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I am a widow, no dependents, aged 37. Have steady employment and a moderate cash reserve. Near the peak of the market I placed an approximately equal amount of funds in American Home Products, Borden, Florida Power, General Tire and Talcott. I purchased for long-term investment. All issues except Talcott have made some recovery. What would you suggest?"

D. H.

A) It's unfortunate that the timing of your purchases was wrong. However, in the long run it probably won't matter too much.

You have, I feel, four basically good stocks, and I would stay with all issues except Talcott. Common share earnings for Talcott are currently running nearly 20 per cent behind a year ago. Although Talcott probably will make an earnings recovery in the years ahead, it may be slow in developing.

For a replacement at this time, I suggest Texas Utilities, which has an excellent growth record and good prospects for the future.

* * *

Q) "I am nearing retirement and thinking of the years beyond that date. What do you think of my holdings: Barber - Greene, Futterman Corp., Mobile Gas Service, Pepsi-Cola General Bottlers, and West Ohio Gas? I am particularly concerned with Futterman."

C. C.

A) You are wise in planning ahead. I feel, however, that some changes in your investment program will help.

First, I concur in your concern over Futterman Corp. and believe it should be sold. It just isn't the type of issue that is suitable for you.

As to the others, West Ohio Gas probably offers you the greatest safety, but earnings have been virtually unchanged for many years.

There is nothing basically wrong with most of your other stocks. However, I suggest that you concentrate your future purchases in well-known companies of good quality that have a proven record of stable growth. Some of these would include such issues as Continental Oil, Coca Cola, American Electric Power and Consolidated Foods.
