Big Four Find Agreement on Major Issues

Cooler Over the Weekend

Forecast Sees Scattered Rain for Local Area

Thunderstorms Lower Pontiac Temperature to Expected 88 High

Heat-groggy Pontiac-area residents tumbled to close wide-open windows at 4 a.m. today as thundershowers dumped a quarter-inch of rain, bring cooling relief from the continued heat wave.

The slight relief will remain throught the weekend, with more scattered showers predicted for today. Skies will clear tonight, and tomorrow the weatherman says it will be fair and cooler. Sunday's high will be in the 84-88 degree range, and today's predicted high is 88-92.

Although this morning's showers dropped the mercury but four degrees, they cleared the humidity which made sleeping difficult for residents across the country.

The mercury hit a high of 94 degrees in downtown Pontiac yesterday. The city's respite from the stifling heat won't be shared by the rest of the eastern third of the nation which has also suffered from high temperatures every day this month.

The northeastern states, already wilted by the hottest day of the year yesterday, were in line for more discomfort today, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

In New York, today's high temperature was expected to approach the year's record 96.8 degrees yesterday. In parts of the nation's largest city, thermometers registered 100 degrees.

Elsewhere it was even hotter. In South Wales, near Buffalo, N.Y., the mercury hit a broiling 114 degrees. In Plainfield, N. J., it was 102 and Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 101.

Philadelphia chalked up 100 degrees, equaling the record for the date. And Boston roasted in 91-degree heat.

The Midwest, meanwhile, was welcoming the cooler and less humid air which extended over Minnesota and the Northern Great Lakes region. The cool front is expected to reach the Ohio River valley tomorrow morning.

Low temperature reading in Pontiac this morning was 72. Reading at 8 a.m. today was 78 degrees. The 2 p. m. temperature was 86.

Mackinac Ferry Strike Averted

Trans-Straits Operation Continues as Workers Agree to Arbitrate

ST. IGNACE (AP)—The threat of another strike by crewmen of the state-operated Straits of Mackinac ferries appeared over today with a weekend tieup averted. All five ferries were reported operating on schedule between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City.

* * *

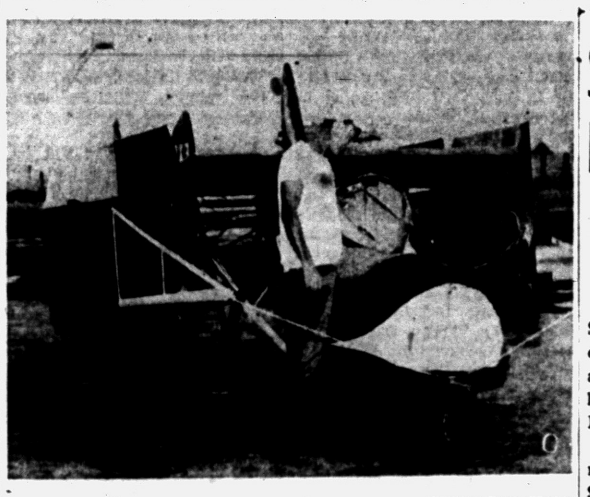

Russell Van Avery, a spokesman for the non-union civil service crewmen, said a majority of the 296 officers and men who operate the vessels appeared "ready to go along" with a $220,000-a-year offer by the State Civil Service Commission.

The crewmen shut down the ferries last weekend for 16 hours in a dispute over wages and overtime. The walkout stranded a peak load of vacation-bound motorists on both sides of the Straits.

In Lansing, Lawrence L. Farrell, executive secretary to Gov. Williams, said Van Avery told him in a long distance telephone conversation that "there will be no shutdown of the ferries as far as employes are concerned."

Gangway – Here Comes Auto-Plane

Highland Man Up in Air Over His Converti-Plane

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Pontiac Press Correspondent

Starting with an airplane motor and wings from a crashed plane, Dewey Bryan, 33, of 597 Skinner avenue, Highland, has just completed a contraption that is equally at home on the highway or in the air.

When crazy drivers get him down, he just pulls into the nearest airport, rigs his wings, and takes to the blue yonder.

Bryan assembled the mechanism in his basement garage, at a cost of approximately $250. It took 3½ years to complete, he adds.

State officials were puzzled how to classify the flying mixture. But licensed pilot Bryan finally got auto plates for the highway travel, and another license for airborn maneuvers.

Clipping along on the highway at a neat 45 miles per hour, the vehicle is capable of 65 miles per hour aloft. According to its owner, he gets 28 miles to the gallon from the Continental motor.

Bryan, who is married and the father of three girls, has worked at the Milford proving grounds

Cue-Ball Clipping Sends Pair to Jail

DETROIT (AP) — For a cue-ball clipping of a 12-year-old boy's head, two men will spend the next 10 to 20 days in the Detroit House of Correction.

Marcel Rancourt, 36, was given 20 days and Francis Canning, 27, 10 days by Municipal Judge George T. Martin in suburban Dearborn yesterday. They were accused of clipping to the scalp the head of Tom Goodman, 12, son of the landlady at their rooming house.

Tom said he went to investigate a disturbance in the pair's room and they dragged him inside, telling him his hair was too long and proceeding to clip it.

Senate Passes Foreign Aid Bill

Restore Almost Whole Ike Measure Previously Slashed by House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sizzling Senate-House conference on foreign aid was in prospect today after the Senate restored practically all the House cuts in President Eisenhower's bill.

The Senate stayed in session more than 12 hours to pass the $3,205,841,750 measure yesterday, giving the President one of his important victories of the 1955 session. The final passage vote was 62-22.

The senators voted to restore $567,100,000 of the slashes made by the House in the bill, granting Eisenhower all but $60,800,000 of the sums he requested for U. S. friends throughout the world.

Defeated in the long debate were six separate attempts to make sharp cuts in the bil. All these votes cut across party lines but, reversing the traditional party lines but, reversing the traditional party roles on foreign aid, more Republicans than Democrats backed the President on the key tests.

The conference on the bill probably will be held next week. Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz), floor manager for the bill in his branch, told a reporter today "We're going to stand pat on exactly what the Senate voted."

Some of the House managers insist they will not grant a penny of increase beyond what their branch originaly voted — $2,638,741,750. This compares with Eisenhower's request of $3,266,641,750.

Senators Vote Yes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan's senators, Potter (R) and McNamara (D), voted with the majority yesterday as the Senate passed the foreign aid appropriation bill, 62-22. Potter was among 30 Republicans voting in favor and McNamara was among 32 Democrats.

Cordell Hull, 83, Statesman, Dies; Suffered Stroke

'Sire of United Nations' Was Secretary of State in Roosevelt Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cordell Hull, former secretary of state whom many hailed at "the father of the United Nations," died today. He was 83 last Oct. 2.

Death came at 9 a.m. at the U. S. Naval Hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md. The elderly statesman had been taken there last March 26 after suffering a stroke in his Hotel Sheraton-Park apartment. He had another stroke yesterday.

Hull had long been in poor health suffering from high blood pressure and ailments of old age.

In 1951 he suffered a cerebral thrombosis and was desperately ill for many months. Friends despaired of his life, but he made a good recovery and left the hospital to live in his hotel quarters.

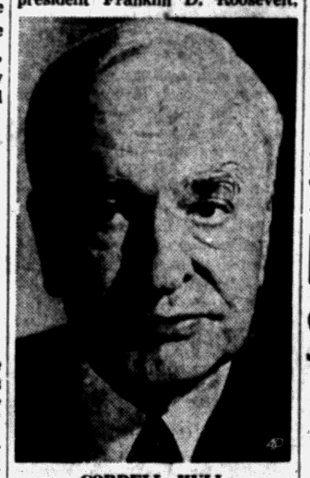

Mrs. Hull died in March 1954.

Until his stroke in March, and aside from periods of critical illness in recent years, Hull had maintained an interest in national affairs.

As the original sponsor of the reciprocal trade program, going back to his days in the Senate, Hull had been especially interested in U. S. trade policy and had closely followed the ups and downs in Congress of pending legislation to carry on the trade program.

The funeral will be held at National Cathedral and Hull will be buried there. Mrs. Hull is buried there.

Hull, as secretary of state in three administrations of the late president Franklin D. Roosevelt, held the post longer than any other man in the nation's history—from March 1933 to November 1944.

CORDELL HULL

Illness forced his retirement in World War II.

He was awarded the Nobel Peace prize in 1945 in tribute to his efforts to develop a plan to banish war. These efforts led to creation of the United Nations.

Born in a log cabin in Tennessee, Hull spent his whole adult life in public service. He was in Congress for 24 years—22 in the House and 2 in the Senate—before he became secretary of state. Before that he was first a state legislator and later a circuit judge in Tennessee.

Miss Sweden Wins Crown

MISS UNIVERSE, 1955 — Hillevi Rombin of Sweden wears her royal crown and robe after she was named Miss Universe at Long Beach, Calif., last night. She is a tall blonde—5 feet 7—who speaks five languages. She won from a group of five finalists that included Miss El Salvador, Miss Ceylon, Miss Germany and Miss Japan.

Speaks 5 Languages

Miss Sweden Runs Away With 'Universe' Contest

The judges, true to form, picked a short-haired blonde, but there was little else they could do—blonde, blue-eyed, 21-year-old Hillevi Rombin was just that beautiful.

But the race was a close one—Miss El Salvador, blonde Maribel Arrieta, was only a few points behind. The other runners up were—in this order, Ceylon, Germany and Japan.

For Miss Sweden—one of the biggest girls in the contest at 130 pounds—the title means a host of prizes, most important of which is a $250-a-week contract at Universal-International Studios.

"This is one girl that I think we can really do something with, movie-wise," a top U-I official said.

Starting Monday, the new Miss Universe will start work in "The Benny Goodman Story" at U-I. When told of this, she exclaimed happily:

Hilevi is a college graduate and hails from the town of Upsala, about a half-hour's drive from Stockholm. It is Sweeden's greatest university town and Miss Universe is a representative citizen. She speaks five languages.

How many beauty contest winners can speak five languages? She is fluent in German, French, Spanish, English and her native tongue.

Ford and Bolt Set Early Pace

PGA's Medalist Leads Ulrich; Middlecoff 1 Down at 9 Holes

Medalist Doug Ford, and Tommy Bolt, another popular favorite, held leads but Dr. Cary Middlecoff was down at the 9-hole mark of their 36-hole matches today at Northville's Meadowbrook CC, in the National PGA golf tourney.

* * *

Ford continued his great play and took a 4-up edge over Wally Ulrich with a hot 4-under par 31 front nine. Ford dropped birdie putts on the 3rd, 5th, 6th and 9th greens for his lead.

* * *

Meanwhile Bolt and U.S. Open champion Jack Fleck were both over par, but Tommy held a 1-up lead at the turn. Fleck 3-putted the 2nd hole, but got it back when Bolt 3-putted the 4th green. Fleck's putter failed again on the 8th, where he 3-putted to go 1-down.

End of Parley Slated Tonight at Last Meeting

Foreign Ministers Get Problem of Settling European Problems

GENEVA (INS)—The Big Four "summit" leaders wound up six days of cold war negotiations tonight with agreement on ways to seek settlement of major East-West issues and find a road to real peace in the atomic era.

The government leaders arranged a final plenary session for 6:30 p. m. (1:30 p. m. EDT) to make the conference closing official. It was expected the final session would be devoted to closing statements by the Big Four leaders.

After day-long bargaining, compromise and French mediation, the Big Four leaders reached the following agreements:

1—To let the Big Four foreign ministers tackle the German unification and European security problems — nerve centers of the cold war in Europe—at a meeting in Geneva next October.

2—To send opposing disarmament plans to the United Nations disarmament subcommittee for a new attempt at settlement when the subcommittee meets in New York Aug. 29. Among the plans that will be considered is President Eisenhowers bold proposal for a U.S.-Soviet exchange of military "blueprints" and an "open-skies" arrangement for aerial reconnaissance.

Agreement also was reached on developing East-West contacts.

President Eisenhower was scheduled to leave Geneva for home shortly after 8:00 p.m. (3 p.m. EDT).

Secretary of State Dulles arranged to fly home at 6 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT).

SOVIETS HAPPY

Leonid Ilyichev, spokesman for the Soviet delegation, said before the final plenary meeting that the conference "has come to a victorious end."

A British spokesman said: "Agreement has been reached on all points. The party is over."

First official word that the procedural deadlocks had been resolved came from James Hagerty, President Eisenhower's news secretary.

He said he was announcing the agreement on all points in behalf

Fall From Car Fatal to Mother

Mrs. Eula Wheatcroft Dies in Hospital After Motoring Mishap

A 30-year-old expectant mother, out for a drive with her husband and two children, was killed last night when she fell from the family car about a mile north of the city limits.

The woman, Mrs. Eula H. Wheatcroft, of 1820 Hillside Dr., died in Pontiac General Hospital an hour after the mishap at Joslyn and Lake Angelus Rds.

Her husband, George T., told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies he was driving at 40 m.p.h. when Mrs. Wheatcroft suddenly asked him to stop the auto.

"Before I could stop, the door was open and my wife fell from the right front seat," Wheatcroft, a Pontiac Varnish Co. employe, told deputies.

The two children, Cheryl, 8, and Sandra, 5, corroborated their father's statements, deputies said, adding that Mrs. Wheatcroft "reached over and opened the door."

The family had gone for the drive following a party celebrating Cheryl's 8th birthday. Mrs. Wheatcroft was expecting another child in five months. Her husband said she had been in good spirits.

Wheatcroft said he and his wife each had three bottles of beer before the party.

Heat Wave Underlines Water Problem Facing Area

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

Water — the so-vital necessity with a thousand daily uses—is becoming a bigger and bigger problem in the whole Southeastern Michigan area including Oakland County.

The current heat wave has underlined the fact that there just isn't enough of the life-giving fluid available.

Many communities have had to impose strict water-conserving laws.

Pontiac has been safe so far. City officials took steps in the past two years to develop new underground sources and keep old wells in the best condition possible.

But City Manager Walter K. Willman has repeatedly pointed out that the only long-range solution is developing an outside source, probably from one of the Great Lakes.

STEPS TAKEN

Steps have been taken to get such a program under way by officials who fear this area's growth and prosperity will be seriously curtailed if the move is put off much longer.

They have voiced sentiments similar to a statement by Willman, "If we have to wait 10 years for more water, there might not be anybody left in Pontiac," he said.

A six-county water survey has been agreed on by representatives of Oakland, Wayne, Monroe, Macomb, Washtenaw and St. Clair Counties.

The work will probably be done in several phases, according to George N. Skrubb, director of the Oakland County Plan Commission.

The area to be served by a pipeline will have to be determined, and what future needs will amount to in that area.

Then individual local water systems must be analyzed to decide how big a portion of forseeable needs they will be able to provide.

DETAILED PLANS

An engineering firm will then be required to make detailed plans for the system — determining where the intake will be located and where the pipe or pipes will run.

Then a cost estimate can be made from results of the engineering study and costs allocated proportionately among communities who will participate.

"Most persons who have studied the problem are of the opinion that the project will pay for itself once it is constructed from revenues obtained by selling water," said Skrubb.

"The big obstacle is obtaining money to cover the initial cost of getting the system into operation.

"Once the area to be included is determined, then the governmental units involved will have to get together on the method of financing they will use.

"When this is decided, legislation could be prepared, if needed, to provide the necessary machinery."

Edward Conner, of Wayne County, who heads the Supervisors Inter-County Committee making the initial survey, has said the project could be completed in two to three years, if pushed. Mayor Howard K. Kelley, of Royal Oak, chairman of the Oakland water group, agrees with Conner.

Police Order Vending Halt

Officers Told to Stop Sales by Unlicensed Street Peddlers

Pontiac police yesterday were ordered to halt ice cream sales by street vendors because none of the vendors has been licensed under a new city ordinance.

Chief Herbert W. Straley told his men to issue violation citations to such vendors and to order them "to desist in their vending and selling" until they have been issued a peddler's license.

The order applies to all street vendors under the peddling ordinance, but especially ice cream sales, the chief said.

"Just the fact that some may have applied for a city license does not give them the privilege of operating on the streets until the city license has actually been issued to them," Straley asserted.

The action followed notice from City Clerk Ada R. Evans that to date no licenses had been issued by her office.

Parolee Shot Dead in Holdup Attempt

DETROIT (AP)—Leonard B. Reichert, 28, paroled only 23 days ago from Southern Michigan Prison, was shot to death last night in the attempted holdup of a patent medicine store run by a retired Detroit policeman.

Louis E. Estes, a former police lieutenant, said he shot Reichert to death with a gun he carries inside his shirt. A clerk, her husband and two customers witnessed the shooting.

Estes said Reichert pulled what looked like an automatic pistol and was marching toward the cash register when he drew his own gun, whirled and fired. Wounded, Reichert staggered through the door. He was struck twice by two of four bullets fired through the doorway by Estes.

In a pouring rainstorm this morning, Bryan drove his device to the airport, and bolted on the car's wings in a hangar. His flight was limited to an altitude of 10 feet local airport authorities, but he took off into the wind, and traveled the length of the field.

"This was my first test flight from a real airfield, but I still don't know just how high she'll go," mused owner Bryan after the test hop. "Ill just have to find out soon!"

Propose Trade With Russians

Senators Would Okay Non-Military Materials for Shipment to Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sens. Russell (D-Ga) and Young (R-ND) said today that if Russia moves to lower the Iron Curtain, as proposed by President Eisenhower, the United States should consider shipping the Soviets needed food supplies.

Eisenhower called at the Geneva conference yesterday for a lowering of the East-West barriers against exchange of information, travel and trade. His proposal was endorsed by British Prime Minister Eden but there was no immediate official Russian reply.

Russell, who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he would continue to oppose shipment of strategic materials to Russia, but added:

"We could send them cotton goods, for instance, and butter and other food products. It has always been my belief that trade will do a great deal toward promoting international good will."

Young said that "if the Russian attitude continues as it is and there is a change for the better in international relations, there is no reason in the world why we should not exchange nonstrategic materials with them."

However, Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) said he thinks such trade should come only after the Soviets agree to withdraw from the satellite countries and "not try to spread communism throughout the world."

Slippery Prisoner Flees Guard on Foot

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP)—Canadian police today pushed a widespread manhunt for a slippery fugitive from a Michigan prison who escaped yesterday as he was being transferred from jail to a nearby courthouse.

Still handcuffed, Ernest C. Hollands, 24, formerly of Ottawa, bolted away from guard William Curley and sprinted into an alley, leaving Curley badly outdistanced.

"He was just too fast for me," said Curley.

Holland was serving a 15-year term for armed robbery in Michigan when he escaped last April while being led from Wayne County Jail to a courthouse. He was arrested here June 17 by Detective Robert Smith, who recognized him as a fugitive, and was being held for Michigan authorities.

Jackson Inmate Remains Silent

Declines Discussion of 31-Year-Old Murder Committed Locally

A 55-year-old Jackson prison inmate yesterday refused to talk about a murder which three witnesses claim they saw him commit here 31 years ago.

Saint Helm, convicted of manslaughter here in 1919 and second degree murder in New York in 1927, was questioned about a third killing by Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor William E. Lang.

Helm, who comes up for parole next month, is said by the three witnesses to have stabbed Mrs. Cora Wickware, 22, to death here April 14, 1924 while on parole from a manslaughter conviction five years earlier.

Helm escaped arrest here following Mrs. Wickware's slaying, but committed another murder in 1927 in Albany, N. Y., of which he was convicted. He was returned here in 1952 and placed in Jackson as a parole violator on the original manslaughter count.

The doctor, who examined Mrs. Wickware's body, and coroner, who conducted an inquest, are dead and the prosecutor's office now faces a difficult task in legally establishing she died of unnatural causes. Such proof is vital to a murder case.

Helm told Lang yesterday he has "nothing to say" about the Wickware murder. Prosecutor Fredeick C. Ziem said he will press a search for records of the croner's inquest which might form the basis for a new murder charge.

The work of the Big Four in Geneva was considered successful, although no concrete agreements on basic issues were reached.

Such agreements had not been expected. President Eisenhower had said—and other Big Four leaders had made it clear they felt the same—that the Geneva conference was designed to reduce cold war tensions and find a path to world peace.

The President will brief congressional leaders fully at the White House Monday morning, however, and report to the American nation by radio and television Monday night.

Sicilian Village Threatened by Etna Lava Flow

The glowing red river, 15 feet high and 150 feet wide, was still some four miles from the center of Fornazzo but only 2,500 feet from outlying houses.

Milo, another village a mile away, also was in the path of the lava.

Mt. Etna, Europe's 10,705-feet, highest volcano, began overflowing four days ago from a crater 1,000 feet down the northeast side. Last night the lava picked up speed as it coursed through the orchard and vineyard land of the Valley of the Ox, in which Fornazzo lies.

Fornazzo's 800 resients clustered in the streets until long after midnight. Volcanologists told them there was no imminent danger, however, and authorities said there was no need to evacuate the townfolk.

SPEED MARK — Donald Campbell of England broke the world's water speed record today at Ullswater Lake, England. He set a new mark of 202.32 miles an hour in his turbojet Bluebird. The old mark of 178.4 miles an hour was set by an American, Stanley Sayres, three years ago.

Senators Clash on Talbott Probe

Solons Split Sharply Over Hearings on Air Secretary's Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sharply disagreeing senators meet behind closed doors today to decide how far to carry their investigation of Secretary of the Air Force Talbott's outside business interests.

Among items for discussion was Talbott's offer to quit as a special partner in Paul B. Mulligan and Co. of New York if the senators think such action would help the Air Force. Talbott has insisted, however, that his interest does not conflict with his Air Force duties.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee's inquiry erupted into a bitter, public row yesterday, which its members may thresh out in this closed door session.

One of them, Sen. Mundt (R-SD), contended in advance of the session that the subcommittee has "become a 'leak' factory and a smear machine," with Talbott its victim.

* * *

He said "leaks" of the subcommittee secrets "have dragged Mr. Talbott's name in public, and yet no one has yet made a charge against him."

A major issue before the senators is whether to call Talbott back for more public questioning about his relations with the Mulligan company, an efficiency engineering firm which pays Talbott upwards of $50,000 a year.

Talbott swore Thursday his associations with the company re- "clean" and "not improper." He insisted he never has used his Pentagon office improperly to seek business for the company.

Hold Father of 3 Killed in Home Fire

DETROIT (AP) — The father of three small children fatally burned in their Northville Township home Thursday night was held today as a police witness and probation violator. Sheriff's deputies said they were not satisfied with his account of the fire.

Loren J. Montgomery, 31, a factory machinist, was taken into custody late yesterday. Deputies said he admitted having five beers prior to the blaze that destroyed his home near suburban Plymouth.

Deputy Frank Van Wulfen said Montgomery was released on probation from Ypsilanti State Hospital where he was committed for seven months on charges of molesting a child in 1951. As a probationer, Van Wulfen said, Montgomery was not supposed to drink.

Montgomery said he and the children who perished were asleep when the fire broke out. The children were Connie, 8; Calvert, 5, and Rebecca, 4.

Steeplejack Killed

DETROIT (AP)—A young steeplejack-painter disregarded warnings of a helper yesterday and fell six stories to his death while working on the General Motors Building. Joseph Skirchak, 29, died at Ford Hospital an hour after the mishap.

Sun-Powered Model Auto to Be Seen at Powerama

One of the features of the forthcoming General Motors Powerama in Chicago will be a "sun-powered" model automobile.

The GM display is scheduled for August 31-September 25, in a 1,000,000 square-foot area on Chicago's lakefront near Soldier Field.

The 15-inch "sunmobile" has 12 photoelectric cells which convert light into electric current. The current powers a tiny electric motor, which propels the car.

The photoelectric cells are made of selenium, an element which has the property of converting light into electric power. In the "Power for Progress" demonstration, light from electric lamps will simulate sunlight.

Demonstration of the "sunmobile" will give Powerama visitors a glimpse of a possible power source of the future. GM officials emphasized that solar power has no practical application in the auto industry at present.

GM is presenting the admission-free Powerama to dramatize the importance of Diesel and aircraft power in our modern economy. Hugh earth movers, dump trucks, oil drilling rigs, a cotton gin, sawmill, Navy submarine, Army tanks and airplanes will be on view, along with scores of other exhibits.

A highlight of the show will be the introduction to the public of the revolutionary lightweight train designed by and built by General Motors, at the request of American railroad officials.

The "Power for Progress" will also give visitors dramatic and easy-to-understand demonstrations of the fundamentals of Diesel and gas turbine engines.

The Day in Birmingham

Child Readers at Library Sky-Minded This Season

BIRMINGHAM—There are few landlubbers at Baldwin Public Library, for this summer interest is focused on the "Spaceman's Reading Club," a contrivance of Kathleen Piket, children's librarian.

Miss Piket explained that as each child enrolls, he is given an outline of the planet system, the first step in his adventures into outer space.

Next, he reads a book of his choice, and is rewarded with a cut-out of the sun, which he adheres to his map. Miss Piket said that the reason the sun is given first is because it is around that great celestial body that the earth and all other planets rotate.

"As he continues, he will visit various planets," she said, with each one representing a different type of book found in the library.

There's a special bonus when more than one of the same type of book has been completed by the same child.

Miss Piket already has 267 enrollees but sky-minded readers from the third grade up may still enroll in the fun-making activities, which will last until August 19, she said.

Detroit Truck Driver Wins Recess on Plea for Lesser Charge

FLINT (AP) — A municipal court examination of Kenneth Kuzner, 30, accused of shooting three persons to death July 12 in a bar, has been adjourned until Monday.

Judge Dale Showley ordered the recess yesterday after Kuzner's attorney asked the first degree murder charge against his client be reduced to second degree.

Edward Dobreff argued the prosecution had failed to establish a first degree case.

Kuzner, a Detroit trucker, is formally charged with first degree murder in the death of Said Farah, 28, member of a prominent Flint family.

Farah, his wife, Jeannine, 26, and Mrs. Margaret Cross, 37, of Flint, were shot to death when Kuzner opened fire on them as they sat in a bar. Another member of their party, James R. Dollars, 26, also of Flint, was wounded critically.

Kuzner was arrested 45 minutes after the shooting in his truck outside a bar north of Pontiac. His explanation was that the laughter of the two couples irritated him. He had never before seen any of the four.

Witnesses described the shooting at yesterday's hearing.

Russian Farmers Claim They Want to Go to Church

AMES, Iowa (AP)—A member of the Soviet farm delegation declared that he and other Russians touring Iowa will go to church on Sunday if they are invited.

Alexander Tulupnikov, the Russian with uncombable hair and insuppressible sense of humor, gave a live television interview—the first granted by any member of the Russian group—last night.

* * *

Tulupnikov said in his statement which he read before cameras at the Iowa State College Station WOI, that he strongly believes that Iowans are the same as the people of Russia.

Tulupnikov, who is a Soviet agricultural economist, held a unique seminar yesterday at Iowa State College. He answered a number of questions put to him by faculty members for the school and students.

* * *

He declared that since the war in the Soviet Union he had not been able to obtain American agricultural brochures and booklets and books issued by Iowa State College and other agricultural schools and experimental centers.

Adlai Bares Woes to Stricken Senator

HOUSTON, Tex., July 22 (AP) — Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, (D-Tex.) hospitalized from a heart attack, has received this letter from Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate:

Dear Lyndon: I am sitting on my little farm recuperating from bronchial pneumonia. They are making hay out here. But now the tractor has broken down; the hay truck is broken down; the hay wagon has collapsed, dumping 50 bales of hay in the middle of the driveway, and my farmer has lacerated his arm on a hay hook. Besides, it is hot. I think I will just go back to bed, cough for a while and take it easy. And that would be the best thing you can do, too. Cordially, Adlai."

Will Gentry looked over his bowed head at Timothy Rourke, and neither of his two best friends knew what to say to him at the moment. Rourke finally picked Lucy's note up and studied it again with narrowed eyes, then shook his head helplessly.

"Blessed if I can decipher any secret message in it. Listen, Will. Don't you have an ex-Army Intelligence officer on your staff whose supposed to be a whiz at cryptograms and codes?"

"Nuts to your expert," said Michael Shayne wearily. "I've told you Lucy is no expert. Anything in here is meant for me alone. Calling me Dearest Boss wouldn't mean anything to your code expert. He'd have no way of knowing she hadn't written me hundreds of love letters in the past . . . any more than Switzer knew it.

"Whatever she was trying to say, she had to put so Switzer would accept it as perfectly normal under the circumstances. But she had to trust me to get . . the nuances and put them together logically." He got up angrily and went to the wall cupboard for another glass.

"Better go easy on the brandy," cautioned Gentry. "If you are so certain there's something hidden in her letter, you need a clear head to find it."

Michael Shayne laughed jarringly. "Maybe that's what's the matter with us. The more you apply logic, the less you rely on inner knowledge. On hunches. Time and again in my own life, I've suddenly known something was true. I didn't know how I knew it. It just was."

Shayne paused, glaring at Will Gentry in defiance. "It's here, Will." He struck the sheet of paper with his fist.

"She calls me Boss," he reminded the two men harshly. "She says it's her last love letter when she never wrote me a love letter before. She writes 'we girls'." His harsh voice made a parody of the two words.

STUDIES LETTER

"There are a dozen more examples as you read on," he continued fiercely. " 'Do not do anything to hurt this man!' And mazuma! A word Lucy would never normally use. And then the corny ending, of course. 'Please, please realize, Mike, that I love only you—even to the very end.' "

Shayne lifted his glass, still staring down at Lucy's letter. His features tightened suddenly as his gaze fixed on the letter. In a choked voice he demanded of the other two: "Is there a Saltair Street in Miami?"

"Yes, I'm sure there is, Mike. One of those streets far out in the Northeast section that cross Biscayne Boulevard and deadend against the bay."

Shayne whirled on Gentry. "The Northeast section! From Hugh Allerdice's story, that's about where Switzer ditched Arlene Bristow." He snatched up the telephone and shoved it at the chief of police.

Though Rourke had never experienced a faster ride out the Boulevard than he had that night, there were already three radio cars clustered together in front of the boarded mansion on Saltair Street where it came to a dead-end against Biscayne Bay when they arrived.

Searchlights were turned on the isolated house, and as Shayne pulled up behind the police cars, two uniformed men came around from the bay side of the house each supporting a slender feminine figure.

Shayne leaped out and ran forward to catch Lucy Hamilton in his arms away from her uniformed rescuer. Her face was streaked with dirt and tears.

"It's all over, Angel. Relax. You're okay."

"I knew you'd find me, Michael! I knew you would. I kept thinking . . . when he reads my letter . . . as soon as he reads my letter . . . he'll know. But it was so long, Michael! I didn't know when he'd show you the letter. I didn't know how long we'd have to wait. And the air was getting worse all the time."

'IT'S ALL RIGHT'

"It's all right," Shayne reassured her gruffly. "It's ended. I did get the letter, and I finally did figure it out. Nothing else matters now. It was clever of you, Angel."

"Too clever for me to figure out yet," said Rourke aggrievedly, trotting along beside them with the letter in his hands. "Give me the dope on it fast, Mike. I got maybe 20 minutes to get a story in the early edition. How did Lucy put it in . . . and how did you figure Saltair Street on the bay from this note?"

Shayne grinned down at Lucy and said, "It must have been plenty tough figuring out the right words on the spur of the moment while Switzer was watching you. I told you and Will," he went on blandly to Rourke, "that a dozen things in the letter made me realize Lucy was trying to point the way for me.

"The pay-off was her phrase, last love letter. And to the very end. Add those up to the other curious words I pointed out that Lucy wouldn't normally use: Boss, mazuma. Phony words or expressions for Lucy to use."

"You said all that back in your apartment," Rourke reminded him impatiently. "But how do they add up to tell where we found her?"

"The last letter of each line," said Shayne. "Beginning with the S on Boss and reading down, 'Saltair Street dead end!' Go write your story, Tim. I'm taking Lucy home."

Restoration of Freedoms Promised in Argentina

One can't help wondering what are the reasons behind Argentine President Peron's promise of greater freedom for the people and the possibilities of fulfillment.

Doubt and skepticism are natural in view of the fact that only recently the dictator had to call on the army to suppress a navy revolt. There also are other factors leaving questions as to the "new era."

★ ★ ★

After having stirred up agitation against the Catholic Church which led to his excommunication, Peron suppressed violence against the church and made overtures to the Vatican. Though he rid himself of some Leftist advisers, the president took no stern action against navy rebels and finally came forward with his program for restoration of constitutional government.

He declared an end to the state of war, a form of martial law which had prevailed since 1951. He also gave up the presidency of Argentina's dominant Peronist party, the party he organized after first seizing power.

It remains to be seen whether that program becomes a reality. Peron's actions will speak louder than his words. Meanwhile it should not be forgotten that behind his promises is the threat that if these restored freedoms menace his regime, repressive measures will be reinvoked.

The record of the recent past suggests that there is a question whether he would be allowed to take such action even if his position should be menaced. Indications are that he has had to submit to the will of conservative forces in the army as the price of being allowed to remain in the presidency.

Dangerous Economy

A report by the Citizens' Advisory Committee on the Food and Drug Administration expresses justifiable concern over the reduction of operating funds for this important department.

Among FDA's duties is the protection of the public against poisonous materials in food and unsanitary conditions in food processing. It also must guard against food and cosmetics adulteration, false and misleading food claims, dangerous drugs and misbranded and deceptive packaging.

All this, of course, vitally affects every home in the Nation. Yet the committee's report says FDA is understaffed and underequipped for its work. As a result it is unable to cope with the growth in population and the increase in the number of food and drug plants.

Our population has climbed 30,000,000 since 1941. But we now have fewer food and drug inspectors than we had then. At the present rate of inspection, the statistics show, that among all food plants any one would be inspected no oftener than once in 60 years.

The Chicago inspection area, which includes Michigan, Wisconsin, northern Illinois and northern Indiana, now has only 17 inspectors. As a result of the cut in FDA's legal staff from 20 attorneys in 1950 to 12 today, criminal prosecutions no longer are current.

Members of the advisory committee are outstanding figures in the fields of food and drugs. The clear implication of their report that these operating economies are dangerous, cannot be ignored without grave risk.

Car License Slogan Should Be Dropped

There is logic and common sense on the side of a tentative proposal that the slogan — Water Wonderland — be omitted from Michigan's 1957 auto license plates.

★ ★ ★

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare, a committee studying the operations of his department favors this action. It also has been recommended by the National Safety Council and because plates will have to be slightly smaller to fit new car designs. The Secretary added that the current trend is away from advertising and slogans on plates.

In our view this new trend will prove a boon to law enforcement officers. Unfortunately, it didn't develop soon enough to permit removal of the slogan from the 1956 plates. These now are being produced at the State Prison of Southern Michigan at the rate of 30,000 a day.

From the moment the idea of a license plate slogan was proposed this newspaper objected to it as a needless interference with police work. Nothing should be allowed to reduce the visibility of license plate numbers.

It's a moot question as to whether the Communists are themselves softening up or trying to soften up the Free World.

The People's Business

Readies Campaign

Williams All Set to Jump Into Presidential Arena

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING—The Capitol this summer is experiencing its longest doldrums in about nine years—but it's the lull before the storm.

• • •

The storm will break when, as and if Gov. Williams opens his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination. It will be augmented, if he decides to shoot for the White House, by Republican attempts to regain control of the State House.

Williams is in Lansing little this summer, but that doesn't mean he's sitting on the porch of the summer mansion at Mackinac Island and letting the breeze toss his graying locks.

If he spends more than two days running on the island you can post a bulletin that he has a summer cold.

• • •

In between his perpetual appearance at centennials and county fairs, Williams is sweating out a campaign platform and trying to stick in a post here and there across the nation for the political fences he would need in a presidential race.

CALLS FOR ACTION

He has every state agency under instructions to come up with a program of dramatic action for the 1956 legislative session. He is fishing for out-of-state speaking appearances with all the frenzy of a maiden lady watching the years slip by—and he is talking highways and safety like a county road engineer.

• • •

The first part of the program, the instructions to state agencies to shoot the works with legislative proposals, appears to be designed to let Williams offer a sensational program to the Legislature in January which will capture the popular imagination and show Williams as a man of vision and action.

Such a program could, of course, be headlined around the nation, Williams thinks, as a selling point when he goes to the national Democratic convention.

His second move, national speaking engagements, has already brought him some good and some bad publicity.

• • •

He entered the field of foreign policy recently in a speech at Cornell University with a carefully drafted address which indirectly rebuked the Eisenhower administration for ignoring, as Democrats say, the plight of peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

WOOS MINORITIES

This was well calculated to show American minority groups that he is on their side in wanting to rescue their homelands from the Soviets.

• • •

And let no one forget that the depth of the Southern animosity is probably the biggest stumbling block to Williams' presidential ambitions.

All indications are that it will be highways—highway expansion and highway safety.

• • •

Educational expansion may well be the second string to Williams' national campaign bow—but his advisers concede that this is so complex and difficult a problem that it probably cannot be fashioned into a major campaign issue.

Clashing Interests Exposed at Geneva Big 4 Meeting

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

GENEVA (AP) — The Big Four summit conference has proved to be just like meetings at lower levels in one critical respect.

After all the smiles, handshakes and the glowing generalities about world peace, there had to come a point at which the interests of the leaders at the table finally clashed headon.

That is the point of decision—like the third act of a cowboy drama just before the hero rescues the girl from the villain's clutches.

That moment of crisis arrived at Geneva, as veteran diplomats expected it would, in the closing hours of the meeting.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, according to Western officials, played a key part in bringing it about.

The showdown was inevitable.

* * *

Sooner or later somebody had to get down to brass tacks. President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Eden, Premier Faure and Bulganin assigned that tedious task to their foreign ministers. Yesterday and last night the foreign ministers locked over the problem.

Their over-all job was to prepare a set of orders which the heads of government could then jointly issue to them for further negotiations in the months ahead.

The ministers had to decide whether they should go to work first on the problem of unifying Germany, as Eisenhower, Eden and Faure had proposed, or whether they should begin with proposals for creating a New European security system, as Bulganin has insisted.

* * *

Bulganin and Molotov want to get all European states into a single big nonaggression treaty and destroy the North Atlantic Alliance. Then, Bulganin has said, they will be willing to see Germany unified.

Western leaders think they want to isolate Western Europe from American power, opening it as was after World War II to Communist conquest.

Eisenhower, Eden and Faure want a unified Germany first. They are willing to give Russia new security safeguards and a demilitarized East Germany to get that.

But they will not destroy NATO nor weaken all of Western Europe. And they do not want to grant the security safeguards until the time Germany is unified.

* * *

As the foreign ministers wrangled yesterday, Molotov for the first time at this conference revived the perennial Russian proposal that both East and West Germany be invited to the foreign ministers' meeting tentatively agreed on for next October.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign secretary MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Pinay—whose governments have persistently refused to recognize East Germany—rejected Molotov's demand. But the Russian kept coming back to it.

Several Western delegates said Molotov was much more difficult to deal with than Bulganin. Possibly he thought the same thing about Dulles, Pinay and MacMillan.

* * *

Lines of conflict had been sharply drawn and both sides were holding firm. But diplomatic history shows that such times of crisis do not necessarily wreck a conference nor render it a failure. sometimes one side gives in. Sometimes a compromise formula is found.

It has become reasonably clear one of the Russian aims at Geneva is to keep East-West talks going for months or years. They want a breathing spell from the cold war, a cooling-off period during which they would not have to arm so heavily and could concentrate on solving home front problems.

It looked like a safe bet that whatever the summit meeting decided, one result would be more conferences—and doubtless more moments of stubborn deadlock.

Smiles

Summer camps will soon be opening so the kids can be sent away for their parents' vacation.

Some married women think that the only taste a man has is in his mouth.

The best light on what keeps you in a bad humor can be found through a little reflection.

The courageous man doesn't know when he's licked—unless he's married.

Unlike an automobile, a man doesn't make less noise when he's well oiled.

There'd probably be less teenage crime if more parents knew more about how to lose their patience.

Two Lights Change Before Drivers Let 'Great Grandmother' Cross Street

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature

I am 84 years old and the other day I met a situation which I wish someone would solve.

When the light turned green, I started across the street. An automobile started making a right turn and honked for me to get out of the way. Well, I stood still and let it pass. Then another followed. Then another and another. Finally the light turned red.

This happened two times and I was still standing there. On the third light, I simply walked straight across the street and paid no attention to the first car and he either had to wait for me or kill me. Well, he waited and here I am.

But how am I to cross safely?

'Gator May Be Scouting Sites for Southern Pals'

I'm not particularly bothered by that alligator around Lower Long Lake. After all, what's one alligator — especially when it's 14 miles from where I live.

But I am bothered by something else. This spell of weather may start a steady migration of Florida 'gators in this direction. Can't you visualize a 1200 mile line of plodding alligators heading for red hot Oakland County?

This current chap may be just an advance scout that has located a new frontier for the southern beasties.

Grateful Sailors Build Miraculous St. Anne's

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Tuesday, July 26 is the anniversary of the death of the Virgin Mary's mother, St. Anne, whose famous church at Beaupre, in Quebec, is known to hundreds of thousands of Americans and Canadians. This shrine, known as "the Lourdes of the New World," attracts vast crowds of pilgrims from both countries, particularly at this time of year.

In 1650, when the little French colony of Quebec was in its earliest beginnings, a group of Breton sailors built a tiny frame church in honor of St. Anne at the place where the town of Baupre now stands. They did this because they had been caught in a vicious storm at sea and had vowed that if St. Anne would bring them safely to land they would build her a sanctuary at the spot where their feet should first touch the earth.

Only a few years later (in 1658) the people of the village began the construction of a new and larger church, and it was then that the first of St. Anne de Beaupre's miraculous cures took place. A local man, Louis Guimont, twisted and aching with rheumatism, came and painfully placed three stones in the foundation. He walked away in perfect health. Since that time there have been thousands of healings at this shrine.

MIRACULOUS DISCOVERY

The body of St. Anne is said to have been miraculously discovered in the 9th Century at Apte, France, when a young boy who had never uttered a word in his life suddenly spoke and said, "Here lies the body of Anne, Mother of the Blessed Virgin Mary." Behind this story lies the legend that St. Paul the Apostle had removed St. Anne's body from its original grave and carried it to Rome. Pope Clement shortly afterward entrusted the body to the Bishop of Apte, who buried it at the place where it was found 800 years later.

A part of the body, however—a finger—is housed in the Beaupre church, and will be exposed there today as it is every year on St. Anne's Day.

THE BLACK FAST

Thursday, July 28 is the ninth day of the Jewish month of Ab, the darkest day of the Jewish year. Almost every calamity that has ever befallen the Jews has happened on the 9th of Ab, or within a day or two of it. So this unhappy day has come to be called the Black Fast, although its real name is simply the Fast of Ab.

There is a legend that says that the 9th of Ab was marked out by God Himself as a day of woe and misfortune to come. While the children of Israel were still wandering in the wilderness they sent messengers ahead to reconnoiter the Promised Land of Canaan. When the messengers brought back discouraging reports about how difficult it would be to conquer the land, the people were afraid and cried out, in spite of God's promise. Because of their distrust God said, "I will make this an eternal day of mourning for you." This happened on the 9th of Ab.

There has been reason to believe that there was a special curse on this day. The destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple by Nebuchadnezzer, the second destruction of the rebuilt city and Temple by the Roman Titus, the final failure of the Jewish Army to retake Jerusalem, the expulsion of the Jews from Spain—all these catastrophes and many more have happened on or about the 9th of Ab.

A good housekeeper never knows what outrageous interruption will turn up next. The patron saint of all housewives once had to stop her work and go and tie up a dragon because all the men of the community were too timid to deal with the monster. That saint was Martha, the sister of Mary and of Lazarus, whom Jesus raised from the dead.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Mother's Treatment of Child in Public Reveals Raft of Bad Personality Traits

Don't think I am exaggerating when I describe Timmy's mother. I am quoting the incident verbatim. And you teenagers can profitably study this case, despite the vulgar language, just to realize the wide differences among American in this year 1955 A.D.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

The mother reluctantly tossed her cigaret aside, for we have a city ordinance forbidding the use of cigarets in Chicago department stores.

Soon Timmy was tired and lifted his arms toward his mother hoping she'd pick him up. But she just slapped his hand, irritably.

Timmy then turned toward his grandmother, but she gave him a shove against the counter, and his whining increased.

* * *

"Why don't you wait on somebody who already knows what she wants?" demanded the mother in a loud voice, but the clerks paid no heed for they were occupied.

Timmy meanwhile reached up his arms toward his mother.

"Shut up you little b. . .d!" his mother angrily exclaimed. "I wish I had never set eyes on you. And if you don't stop whining, I'll slap your face good."

A few moments later she slapped him sharply across the mouth

TEST FOR MOTHERS

The reason I am giving you this true case, uncensored, is to show you the wide differences in mothers that exist throughout our land.

We celebrate Mother's Day in May, but many mothers are not good mothers. Even if Timmy's mother were tired herself, that was no excuse for repeatedly striking a weary toddler and using such crude language on him.

* * *

For when a mother uses such vulgar vocabulary among other women, you can be pretty sure her language is far worse at home when she is having a quarrel with her husband.

My one brief contact with this mother would enable me to write a very detailed character sketch.

I could fill in a lot of things that might not be prudent to mention herein, for all experienced doctors have seen the gamut of human personalities, ranging from the scum to the cultured, Christian types of mother.

BAD ENVIRONMENT

And these bad homes where bad parents use bad psychology, are the chief cause for juvenile delinquency.

Although I didn't see this mother using liquor, do you think the odds are in favor of her being a tavern habitue?

Do you think this mother is a virtuous woman or one who has been unfaithful to her husband?

Did she belong to the Girl Scouts or Campfire Girls in childhood?

Did she attend Sunday school regularly?

* * *

If she has older children of school age, does she belong to the PTA.

Do you think when her children are grown, they will fondly remember her with candy or flowers on future Mother's Days?

What is the likelihood that she is a divorcee?

Those are just a few of the pertinent questions that you can probably answer with a high degree of accuracy, just from this one brief episode that I have described.

To see what good parents are really like, send for my 200-point "Tests for Good Parents," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

Use them for PTA discussion periods.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Athlete's Foot Cleared Up in Days, Reader Reports

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Answers and Questions

Truly like magic, in two or three days, the recipe in your pamphlet on athlete's foot cured a condition I had tried vainly to cure for ten years.—(P. D.)

Answer — Thank you. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing for the pamphlet on Foot Itch.

If a person drinks three or four cups of tea a day will it harm the kidneys? I formerly drank only coffee, but have switched to tea. Some of my friends say . . . (M. K. J.)

Answer — Have another cup with me and tell your friends to quit kidding.

* * *

I have just read your C V D booklet. I think it is very good. I am 34 years old and have angina pectoris.—(Mrs. S. V.)

Answer—If you were not a lady I'd say "Tell that to the Marines," but I must admit that according to some medical authorities genuine angina sometimes occurs in a person under 35. I hope you accepted my advice about the use of nitroglycerine without prejudice. Regular practice of the natural breathing exercise as described in How to Breathe is almost as good for one with angina as regular use of nitroglycerin, as described in Little Lesson 2, CVD. For either booklet send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

* * *

Answer—Please remember I didn't make the references. Readers did. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet The Iodin Ration. In any event it can do no harm, and if it makes you think your hair doesn't look so gray, there will be no extra charge.

Answer—It might be more embarrassing if it came in short pants. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet Stage Fright.

Thanks mainly to the teaching in your "Little Lesson." I have kept pretty well in the eight years since I learned I had diabetes, and have yet to receive a dose of insulin.—(E.J.)

Answer—Thank you. For Little Lesson 23, Training for Diabeter, send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Unable to use shoulder for nearly a year—so painful and stiff.—(H. L. W.)

Union Army Routs Rebels in Mock Civil War Fray

ANN ARBOR (AP)—With Michigan soldiers leading the way, a brigade of Union Army troops took a battle and the Civil War right out of the general's hands.

The Michigan men, members of the 11th Michigan Volunteer Infantry, turned a "demonstration" into a rebel route at Chattanooga, sending the gray-uniformed men fleeing down Missionary Ridge.

Their story is told on a broadcast by University of Michigan radio stations WUOM-FM and WFUM-FM at 8:15 tonight. It is part of a seven part series.

The Michigan volunteers were drawn from Three Rivers, St. Joseph, Sturgis, White Pigeon, Centreville, Quincy, Burr Oak Morenci, Coldwater and Bronson.

Here's what happened. The Confederate forces were strongly position along Missionary Ridge, overlooking the city of Chattanooga.

REBELS GIVE GROUND

Both attacks found the going tough. The well entrenched rebels were giving ground begrudgingly, inch by bloody inch. Their artillery raked the Union troops.

* * *

As a diversionary move, General Grant sent the 11th Michigan and other units to stage a "demonstration" in the center of the line.

Under Capt. Patrick H. Keeganof, Deerfield, who had just taken over command from Major Benjamin Bennett of Burr Oak, the Michigan men moved into position with other units.

Slowly they began their advance, digging "Johnny Reb" out of their entrenched positions at the bottom of the ridge, under the gleaming eyes of rebel cannon.

Gradually, the rebel troops began to race for the top of the ridge and the safety of their cannon. The rebel cannoneers, meanwhile were afraid to fire into the Union ranks for fear of hitting their own troops.

The Union troops, apparently all on their own and contrary to General Grant's plans, decided the safest place to be was chasing the rebel troops, and avoiding rebel cannon fire.

MICHIGAN LEADS

Led by the Michigan 11th, they clambered up the hill. Sgt. James W. King, a quartermaster sergeant of Lansing, was the first trooper on top of the ridge.

* * *

The momentum of the Union advance carried them 20 miles past the Confederate lines, tearing the center of the rebel defenses.

The Michigan 11th had six casualties: five enlisted men and Maj. Bennett. They in turn captured 639 prisoners, five cannon and split the Confederate army in half.

An observer later wrote of this charge in 1863, "After the battle of Chattanooga . . . the Confederacy never had a chance."

It was a military lesson against positioning men at the foot of a ridge or hill. And it came as a surprise to General Grant to later gained his initial obective: to throw the rebels out of Tennessee.

DAY CAMP—6

A Puppet Pirate

Why not make a puppet at your home day camp?.

Boys and girls living in ancient Greece played with puppets, so when you make yours remember what a long history is behind it.

Some puppets are like stuffed dolls with joints and are worked with a string. These are called marionettes. They are often large and finely made with beautiful costumes. They act out plays in actual little theaters and a great deal of skill is needed to operate them.

Some puppets are called hand puppets. They slip on your hands like gloves, with your fingers and thumb moving the head and hands of the puppet. The Punch and Judy plays in England use this kind.

Slip the arms behind the shoulders of the coat, put the tab on the head inside the collar, put the legs behind the skirts of the coat. Then insert the brass fasteners in the round holes and bend them back.

Now your pirate can bend his head sideways, and move his arms and legs in every position. If you bend both legs at right angles he will sit down for you.

You can use your pirate for acting out stories. Be sure to make your voice deep and booming when you talk for him.

Air Force Ordering More Jet Fighters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has followed its recent action to speed up jet bomber production with a similar order applying to two faster-than-sound jet fighters.

A new directive issued yesterday called for accelerating the turnout of F101 twin jet all weather interceptors and F104 light weight fighters with money already approved by Congress.

* * *

The Air Force, which has been tight-lipped about most details of these two advanced fighters, has confirmed that both types have flown faster than sound, whose speed at sea level is about 750 miles an hour.

There have been reports the F104, made by the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., Burbank, Calif., has attained speed twice that of sound. The F101 is made by the McDonnell Aircraft Co., St. Louis.

Order Airmen Not to Wear Leather Shorts

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — Many young Bavarians wear leather shorts, called lederhosen, in summer. They're considered cool and comfortable.

Lots of American GIs and airmen stationed in Germany thought so, too. They started wearing lederhosen in off-duty hours.

But the U.S. Air Force doesn't like to see its knees in public places. It has banned lederhosen.

The leather pants head a list of what the well-dressed airman should not wear in public. Also taboo are blue jeans, cloth shorts, sweatshirts, T-shirts and zoot suits.

Airmen, says the order, "will refrain from wearing attire which borders on the sensational."

The U.S. Office of Education estimates that there will be a 12,293,000 increase in public school enrollment in 1960 compared with 1950.

These Precautions May Help You Avoid Fakers!

1. Deal only with firms whose dependability can be established by intelligent inquiry.
2. Be sure the salesman represents the company he claims to represent.
3. Don't sign papers before you understand the terms and conditions of the sale.
4. Before you sign, be sure that the name and address of the firm is printed on the contract.
5. If promises are made verbally, be sure that they are presented in substance in the contract.
6. Retain a copy of the contract.
7. When you are satisfied that the job is completed, only then should you sign a completion certificate.
8. Pay your bill by check or money order made out to firm. Don't pay cash to a salesman unless you get a bonafide receipt bearing the name of the company he represents.
9. Compare price quotations with those of other firms.
10. Beware of inferences that because a loan is insured by a Government agency the agency guarantees material and workmanship.

New In-Law Says Name Incorrectly

Family Resentful of Bride's Deliberate Mispronunciation

BY EMILY POST

A sister writes: "My youngest brother was married recently and his wife pronounces our family name (her new name) differently than we do. When pronounced correctly it sounds foreign (which it is) but she has anglicized it.

"I, as well as the rest of my family, resent this very much and feel that she is ashamed of the name. I am married and no longer carry this name, but am still proud of it.

"When introducing this sister-in-law to strangers, must I introduce her by the name she calls herself and thereby mispronounce my family name, or do I pronounce it correctly? I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: Very definitely you should pronounce it correctly.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband will be starting his professional career as a chiropractor very soon. We wish to send out announcements to relatives, friends and acquaintances, and would like to know just how to word them. Will you please help us?"

Answer: Dr. So and So has taken offices at such and such a place and will receive patients between such and such hours.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening the young lady who was dining with me in a restaurant had to leave the room to telephone and I merely stood up until she had left the table.

"Afterwards a remark she made was pointed enough to tell me that she would have expected a gentleman to walk out of the dining room with her."

Girls Have No Right to Invite Boys

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Maybe it's the heat that works up wrinkles in the brow! These days if it's not one thing it's another. Everybody's personal life seems to be on the rocks.

The boys are too languid to lift a finger. Girls dream in vain that they'll get all dressed up and go posh for their benefit.

Temperatures and patience are short. Words are said in haste and regretted at leisure. It's sticky hot and rugged on sweet dispositions.

So puzzles crop up like freckles. But puzzles, thank goodness, are easier to get rid of. Take this one, for instance.

"Dear Miss Woodward: My girl friend and I like two boys who are very good friends. So one Saturday we asked them to go on a picnic and to the drive-in with us and we had a wonderful time.

"Then we two girls were invited to a wedding reception, so we asked the same boys to go with us. One said he'd go if the other would.

"That prompted my girl friend to say, 'Never mind, we'll ask someone else.' So right away they both said they'd go.

"Later I was talking with my boy friend and he said that both boys had been invited to another wedding and he didn't think the other boy would go on our invitation.

"So it was left like that, and we're wondering if we should call them to find out for sure whether they're going with us, or not?"

Answer: Unless you two girls had a very special brand of wedding reception invitation, you're expected to come alone. Provisions have not been made for all odd girls to bring along strange escorts.

Had your hostess wanted you to invite a friend of your own, she would have made it quite clear. That would make it a special deal.

So, since you girls spoke up and issued invitations you had no real right to give, you'd better say nothing further about it and begin to hope fervently that your boy friends go to that other wedding.

In fact, if they bring up the subject themselves, you'd better say that you've made other arrangements in the meantime and you'll see them some other night. Then get busy making plans for that other night.

Life should be simple in the summertime, not complicated by fancy tricks that lead to more fancy tricks. Take things calmly and easily, and don't boil over. That's my advice to this girl.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I like him, but I'm afraid he likes another girl. Everybody is telling him how I feel about him, so he ought to know it by this time.

"And now he's playing hard-to-get. Should I do the same? When I see him he says 'Hi' and that's all. And I usually see him every day; he lives near me.

"Should I try to start a conversation with him? Who should say 'Hi' first anyhow, the boy or the girl?"

Answer: The unfortunate and bitterly cold fact would seem to be that the boy you like can't be bothered. Despite all the rumors of your mad devotion, he isn't smitten in return.

In fact, the less he has to do with you the better. It happens that way sometimes. And it may excuse his brevity of conversation.

However, you needn't let it deter you too much. But don't think playing hard-to-get will impress him. He'll just think that you're over your craze and maybe say, "Thank goodness."

Go right on speaking to him every day. Add more to "Hi" and turn it into a conversation. But keep it casual. Friends ought to be able to talk together without boiling over or turning on the ice.

* * *

Don't make any obvious plays get by you without talking to you. And since he's shy on words, speak up first yourself. In time he may get used to the sounds of your two voices, and start the duet himself.

Jeanette Marie DeClerck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. DeClerck of North Roselawn drive, became the bride of Phillip A. DeConick this morning in St. Vincent de Paul Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony DeConick of Walled Lake. The couple will honeymoon in northern Michigan.

MRS. PHILLIP A. DeCONICK

* * *

Jeanette Marie DeClerck Wed in Morning Service

A princess style bridal gown of rose pointe lace over satin was worn by Jeanette Marie DeClerck this morning for her marriage to Phillip A. DeConick.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. DeClerck of North Roselawn drive and Phillip is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony DeConick of Walled Lake.

The lace jewel neckline of the bridal gown was filled with illusion and the bouffant skirt was designed with a scalloped band of pleated nylon tulle and rose pointe lace. The pleated tulle was carried out in the headpiece of lace and pearls, which secured her veil.

She carried a prayer book and an arrangement of sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

The Rev. Donald Koontz, of Visitation Church of Detroit, performed the 10 o'clock wedding ceremony in St. Vincent de Paul Church before an altar decorated with arrangements of white stock, gladioli, roses and blue and white carnations.

WEARS YELLOW

Mrs. Robert Rosenbaum of Chicago was matron of honor wearing a yellow dress of crystallette fashioned with ballerina length skirt. The empire waistline was topped with a pleated bodice with cutout sleeves and Peter Pan collar. A matching jacket was worn with the dress and she carried a colonial bouquet of turquoise shattered carnations.

* * *

Other attendants were Mrs. Kenneth Hahnefeld of Walled Lake and Mrs. Charles DeClerck of Drayton Plains. They wore similar gowns of turquoise crystallette and carried colonial bouquets of yellow shattered carnations centered with turquoise flowers. Each attendant wore a headpiece of tiny imitation flowers surrounded by net.

Kenneth Hahnefeld of Walled Lake served as best man. Charles DeClerck of Drayton Plains and Charles Prue were ushers.

A breakfast was held immediately following the ceremony at the Amvets Hall on Oakland avenue. A reception will be held this evening.

NAVY AND WHITE

The bride's mother wore a navy dress trimmed with white lace and a white lace hat. Her corsage was of pink glamelias. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a beige lace dress with beige hat and brown accessories. Yellow glamelias formed her corsage.

When the couple left for a honeymoon in northern Michigan the bride was wearing a turquoise and black dress topped with a linen jacket and a white corsage. They will reside in Walled Lake. He is a student at University of Detroit.

Swim Suit Care Helps Good Looks

Now is the time for swimming. And no one knows it better than today's teen-ager.

Many are lifeguards and counselors, many are enjoying one of their last carefree summers by entertaining themselves around town. Some will be at resorts and camps where swimming is a daily activity.

The care given suits between dunkings can greatly lengthen their lives and keep their looks up to par. Chlorine, salt, sun lotion, sand and perspiration can damage fabric if left in.

Before leaving the beach or pool, unless you're wearing your suit home, rinse it out in clear water and roll it in a towel. Don't wring or twist it because sand can injure and cut the fabric.

LAUNDER SUIT

When you get home, launder your suit if it's at all possible. Build up a good lather of soapsuds in warm water and squeeze them through the fabric.

Use a soft brush to remove grimy spots. Work with the weave or grain of the fabric and don't rub it against itself.

Rinse well, squeeze and roll in a towel. Then shake out wrinkles and hang to dry. Dry fitted suits inside out and hang skirted suits by the trunks. White cottons go in the sun, colored suits in the shade.

Tiny Perfume Flasks Ride Nicely in Bag

Take your choice: drown yourself in perfume in the morning to retain a touch of scent in the evening or apply it lightly all during the day.

Putting on more during the day is the choice anyone would make, unless she relishes bowling over the bus driver on the way to work.

This means a purse perfume bottle that is absolutely leakproof and nearly crush-proof. In many cases, it also means transferring, with funnels, perfume from big to little bottles.

Now comes a selection of four favorite scents by a French manufacturer that can be bought right in the little bottle to begin with. For those who accessorize their pocketbooks with the same loving care and good taste that they do their dressing tables, this is a boon.

If you wash your hair at night, don't go to bed with it sopping wet. It will lose its luster very quickly this way.

IF "cute" type bride—

Miss T. B.—"The little girl look" is individual with perky little bows, picturesque necklines and delicate skirt motifs. Here hand-clipped, chantilly-type lace over wide rows of blush satin and scattered satin bows accenting chapel-length skirt.

Egg-white will remove chewing gum from anything, including hair, without leaving a trace.

Vivid Shades Spark Sets This Autumn

PARIS (INS) — When this autumn falls, you can plan to combine odd sweaters and cardigans into striking twin-sets.

* * *

Advance autumn sweater fashions, now being shown in Paris, indicate that same-shade sweater-sets will be rather flat and toneless after the summer holidays. The new models will be in two different colors, or at least have some trim of another color.

A pink sweater, for example, with a pink-edged black cardigan. Beige will be blended with brown and charcoal-grey with lighter grey.

Patterns of pin-stripes, horizontal, will be more fashionable than the unadorned sweaters and cardigans. A black and white pin-striped sweater may be worn with an all black cardigan, or a black and grey striped may be worn over a simple gray sweater.

The classic sweater and matching cardigan will have slightly dropped shoulder seams and narrow, long sleeves which won't be "pushed-up" any more.

* * *

For sportswear, a new idea will be to wear a short-sleeved fitted sweater with a high neck under a loose pullover with a wide and deep V neck. The under sweater will be visible from the V-necked pullover, like a bib. A white sweater worn under a big red over-sweater is one typically striking combination.

Gardening Hobby Develops Into Job

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I have always loved gardening," a reader writes, "and now I have an excellent part-time job in a nursery, waiting on customers and selling them trees and shrubs. And in addition to the fun and satisfaction, I make a nice salary."

* * *

"When I was first married, I had my own garden. I had no training at all, but I learned by experience. It was my big hobby while the children were little.

"Also, of course, I did flower arranging for the woman's club and was always on the garden committee. In my own garden, I experimented with all kinds of plants and got really good at it.

"Next, of curse, I got acquainted with our neighborhood greenhouse owner, since I was a good customer of his.

ASKED TO WORK

"One day, he asked if I could help out on a part-time basis during his busy season.

"I did, at a very low salary, and loved it. After that, he kept calling on me when he was rushed and I kept learning more and more about the field.

* * *

"Then, out of a clear blue sky, he announced that they were expanding and starting a huge nursery. He said he wanted me to be a regular employe, on a part-time basis, and that he would pay me a salary.

"On top of that, he promised to give me a percentage of the sales. He said that my enthusiasm for the plants and shrubs was so tremendous that people couldn't resist buying and that his sales had never been so good as when I was handling them.

"The funny part is, I never felt like I was selling—the stuff is so beautiful, I feel that I'm doing people a favor!"

* * *

People think of job-hunting as a grim, businesslike process, but actually, it frequently comes about from pleasant social contacts.

If you deal with any shops or tradesmen as a customer, and they know and like you, you might think of them as potential employers if you ever want a job!

Martini Diminutive by Sylvan Rich

Dress Lines Are Scaled for Shorties

Sylvan Rich Offers High Style to Girls 5-5 or Under

Miss "5-foot-5 and under" has a real friend in designer Sylvan Rich who creates truly flattering clothes for women of below average height, shorter waistlines and fuller hips.

Observe the lengthening line of the bodice, traced by rickrack trim; the darts gently shaping the figure through the mid-section; the skirt made of four gores, tapered to eliminate any bulk where it is softly gathered to the lowered waistline.

The sleeves are brief and eased with gussets while the simple neckline is coolly cut in Vs.

For luncheons and afternoon bridge on the club terrace, you'll enjoy wearing it all summer long, made in one of the beautiful new cottons and trimmed with gay rickrack or braid; in faille or silk crepe with satin or velvet ribbon trim, it will be a perfect late day dress for fall.

Kathleen Shields Marries Herman J. Nelson Today

MRS. HERMAN J. NELSON

Our Lady of the Lake Church at Waterford was the setting this morning at 11 o'clock for the marriage of Kathleen Shields and Herman J. Nelson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Shields of Drayton Plains and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman S. Nelson of Lochaven road.

Two hundred guests witnessed the ceremony performed by the Rev. F. J. Delaney before an altar decorated with white gladioli. Marie Borkowski, aunt of the bridegroom, was soloist.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of French lace and nylon tulle. The shirred tulle bodice was overlid with a scalloped lace motif which fashioned the neckline. Her finger tip veil was held by a headpiece of lace and pleated tulle, embellished with seed pearls.

She wore pearl earrings and a single strand of pearls and carried an arrangement of white roses and stephanotis.

AQUA GOWN

Marilyn Schmidt of Port Huron was maid of honor. She wore an aqua gown of embossed crystallette featuring princess lines and ballerina length skirt. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations.

* * *

Other attendants were Mrs. Gary Shields, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Paul Mitchell and Shirley Taylor. They wore gowns identical to the maid of honor's and carried arrangements of red roses and white carnations. Patty Seeterlin wore a yellow taffeta dress for her duties as flower girl. Mark Shields, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Donald Nelson served as his brother's best man and seating the guests were Lewis Shields, brother of the bride, Don Seeterlin and Philip Christos.

WEAR LACE

Mrs. Shields wore an aqua lace dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Nelson chose a light blue lace dress with white accessories.

When the couple left for a honeymoon to Niagara Falls and Canada the new Mrs. Nelson was wearing a light blue cotton cord suit with white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will make their home in Birmingham.

Mattresses Need Surface Washing

NEW YORK (INS) — Mattress surfaces need cleaning once in awhile, even if they are protected by a washable zip-on cover. Follow these steps to make the job fast and effective:

1. Vacuum top, bottom and sides to remove loose dust.

2. Attack spots or stains first. Scoop "dry" soapsuds (made by beating soap and water into a thick, meringue-like lather) onto a sponge or brush and scrub the spot vigorously. Keep the suds fluffy so that moisture will not penetrate the ticking. Remove suds with a cloth wrung out of warm water as soon as they begin to die or show soil. Repeat with fresh suds and rinse until the spot is gone.

3. Then sponge the dry soapsuds lightly and quickly over a small section of the mattress. Rinse twice with a warm cloth wrung out of warm water. Repeat in overlapping sections until all surfaces and sides of mattress are clean.

4. Dry as quickly as possible by placing the mattress in the direct line of an electric fan or air current.

Velvet Makes Extra Elegant Pillow Cover

NEW YORK (INS)—A combination of practical do-it-yourself know-how and luxurious velvet can add an extra-elegant and very feminine touch to a bedroom.

Velvet's a fabric that makes most women practically purr with delight at its smooth texture and pretty colors. A recent display of Chenev fabrics showed a few easy-to-sew accessories to feminize the boudoir.

For example, a decorative scatter pillow covering was shown with a harlequin pattern in four velvet colors—bright pink, light blue, emerald green and lime. The cover was sewn in a square and then folded over a triangular pillow.

The teenaged temptress of the household might like a pillow in her school color, or that of her boyfriend. The velvet display featured a circular pillow in crimson, with an huge felt "H" sewn on front and back.

There was also a velvet-covered waste-basket in shocking pink.

MOMS Group Holds Meeting

Pontiac Resident Leaves to Teach in Izmir, Turkey

The American Collegiate Institute of Izmir, Turkey is the destination of Miss Esther Carhart. She will teach there next year under assignment of the American Board of Congregational Christian Churches.

Izmir was formerly known in Bible times as Smyrna which will add to the interest for Miss Carhart who is the daughter of George Carhart of Hadsell Rd.

This will not be Miss Carhart's first overseas experience for she taught for 10 years in the American School for Girls in Lovetch, Bulgaria, under the Methodist Board during a period which covered World War II.

Although born in Massachusetts, most of her childhood and youth was spent in New Castle, Pa., and here in Pontiac, where her father was a YMCA worker.

She was educated at Ohio Wesleyan University receiving her B.A. degree in 1934, and her M.A. from New York University. In addition she has taken special courses at Western Michigan College of Education, the University of Washington and Central Washington College of Education.

Prior to going to Bulgaria Miss Carhart worked with Girl Scouts in Michigan and upon returning to the United States in 1947 she served with the Wesleyan Service Guild in New York City and as a teacher and counsellor at Clear Lake Camp, Battle Creek Public Schools before going to her latest teaching post in Beaver, Wash.

She sailed on the SS New York of the Greek Line, yesterday and expects to land in Bremerhaven, Germany, going from there by auto across Europe to Turkey.

Indonesian Says Moslems Convert to Christianity

An Indonesian church leader declared in New York last week that Christians in his country are converting more Moslems than any other nation in the world.

Hundreds are being brought into the church each year and the number is expected to continue to grow, declared the Rev. Simon Marantika, of Djakarta, executive secretary of the National Council of Churches of Indonesia. Mr. Marantika is in the U. S. for the month of July as part of a two months round-the-world tour of conferences with church leaders.

More than half a million new members have joined the country's 20 Protestant churches since the Republic gained its independence from the Dutch in 1949, Mr. Marantika said. Many, though not the majority, he added, were former Moslems. Protestant Christians number about four and a half million out of a total population of 80 million, of whom an estimated 90 per cent are Moslems.

Confident Living

GI Knows How to Feel Real Presence at Will

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Not long ago, on the West Coast, I met a soldier with whom I had corresponded when he was in Korea. He's not the kind of boy whom you would think of as engaging in regular correspondence with a minister. As a matter of fact, he's a little on the rough side—but he's very real and there's no nonsense about him. I like him tremendously.

DR. PEALE

I first heard from him after someone had sent him some of my columns. He wrote me that he'd read them. He said there wasn't much else around to read; so he had made a thorough study of these columns. In one of them the point was made that God can be with you at all times, right by your side. He'd been brought up as a churchgoer, but he really couldn't believe anything as "preposterous" as the notion that God could be right beside him or anyone else.

Then, one night, he was in the lines assigned to a lonely guard outpost, only yards from the enemy outposts. "Frankly," he told me, "I was scared to death. I was cold and couldn't get warm. I was filled with fear. The next man was quite a distance from me and I couldn't talk to him. I couldn't even smoke. And then I happened to think about the idea of God's presence with a human being. So I thought I'd practice your suggestion and see if there was anything to it."

"So I talked to the Lord and said, 'Can it be true that You can be with anybody, really with them, just like another man from my outfit here by my side?' I stood there and talked with the Lord. I didn't actually pray. I just talked to God like he was in that foxhole with me.

FELT GOD NEAR

"What do you know? All of a sudden, right there, in that cold, inky black night, I felt Him. It was just as though there was another human being with me. I could almost touch Him. And from that minute on, I felt peaceful and not nearly so scared and lonely."

It was two years after this that I saw him and I asked, "Do you still feel the Presence?"

"Not all the time," he answered, "but I know how to feel Him. I just forget everything else and tell Him that I need Him. I admit to Him how bad I am, and how much better I want to be. I just ask Him to come and be with me, and then I know He is with me."

Here was a big, tough young man. But I could see a light shining in his eyes. I knew that what he had experienced about God could keep him forever master of his fears.

The late Ernie Pyle, that great war correspondent, told the story of how, in World War II, a storm periled the assault landing at Salerno, Italy. The flagship's chaplain asked permission to lead the men in prayer that God be with them to still the waves. The commanding officer smiled indulgently, but gave permission.

The men prayed and, at zero hour, the storm subsided and the landing was made successfully. There was no doubt in the minds of those men that God had been beside them that night. And who can say that He wasn't?

The greatest of all antidotes for fear is the faith that God is with you wherever you go and whatever you do. That promise is spelled out clearly in the Bible and you can read it for yourself in the Book of Isaiah: "Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee, yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of My righteousness."

Men in every generation have been made courageous over their fears by faith in the Presence.

Canada Mining to Hurt Eskimo

Labrador Bishop Warns Against Rapid Growth of Native Exploitation

MONTREAL (RNS)—Mining development in Northern Canada will bring chaos instead of civilization to the Eskimo unless he is carefully conditioned, Bishop Lionel Scheffer, Vicar Apostolic of Labrador, warned here.

The Montreal-born Oblate, who will leave soon for a two-month tour of the northern sector of his 35,000-square-mile jurisdiction, said "the Eskimos are not yet ready to be assimilated, and they must not be abruptly pushed into our way of life."

Warning mining companies against exploiting the Eskimo, he noted that the latter is "child-like" without any conception of the value of money, and the idea of "saving is beyond his ken."

Bishop Scheffer said he hoped that through an increased mission program, the Eskimo people can be adequately educated and equipped to meet the immediate challenge civilization will bring.

On his visit by plane, canoe, dogsled and automobile from Hudson's Bay to the northern tip of Ungava, he expects to contact some 2,000 Eskimos.

The prelate, in an interview here, said the "Eskimo is a simple man only in the non-complexity of life. His mind is alert and quickly grasps the meaning of things with proper guidance, but if left to fend for himself he cannot be expected to understand the new environment."

The Eskimo has lived much the same for the past 500 years and even the introduction of machinery and modern methods probably won't change him perceptibly for another 50 years, Bishop Scheffer said.

Thousands Go to Communion in Rio Today

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Thousands of Roman Catholic men received communion early today in the climax to seven and a half hours of continuous services at the 36th International Eucharistic Congress.

A midnight Mass preceding the communion was celebrated by Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York. He spoke before an estimated 150,000 persons in Congress Plaza. The celebration of the Mass was Cardinal Spellman's only official duty during the Congress, which opened Tuesday.

There was no estimate of the number of men who received communion, but 200 priests spent an hour 10 minutes carrying out the service.

A special communion for women was held Thursday. Confessions from 50,000 children were heard yesterday in preparation for communion today.

Speaker, Tea, Picnic Are Announced

The Rev. Robert W. Hoover Jr., son of the assistant pastor at Newman A.M.E. Church will preach Sunday at 11 a.m. The congregation has returned to the new church at 14 Auburn Ave. for services.

From 4 to 7 p.m. Sunday the Pastor's Aid Board will have a silver lawn tea and children's fashion show at the home of Mrs. John Womack, 630 Ditmar St. Mrs. Edward Harper is president.

Plans are in the offing for the annual church picnic which will be held at a park in Toledo on Aug. 13.

About 96 per cent of the physicians in the United States are men.

Baptist Conclave Closes Sessions With Graham Talk

LONDON (AP)—The 50th anniversary conference of the Baptist World Alliance closed last night with an appeal by American Evangelist Billy Graham to remain true to the Baptist faith.

Graham told about 45,000 persons in Arsenal Stadium the next five years may be "the most tragic or the most glorious in history."

"Intellectuals and scientists are at the end of their tether in struggling with problems which beset the world," Graham said.

* * *

"God can use this crowd of Baptists."

The evangelist urged his listeners to remain orthodox and simple, practice evangelism and humanitarianism and strengthen the church. Graham, who works with other Christian denominations in his evangelistic endeavors, spoke last night as an ordained Baptist clergyman.

* * *

Dr. Theodore F. Adams, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Richmond, Va., who was elected president of the World Alliance for a five-year term, preceded Graham to the platform. He said he would devote his presidency to an effort to add 10 million more Baptists to the present 20 million.

Eisenhower Day Busy in Geneva

State Matters, Lunches, Conferences and Golf Keep Ike on Move

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

GENEVA (AP)—President Eisenhower is keeping busy as a beaver during the summit conference, but he still manages to crowd in a few practice golf shots daily to help keep fit.

This week of top-level meetings of the Big Four has given the President one of his heaviest schedules since he took office. Despite the pace, he still looks quite chipper.

Out of bed at 7, he breakfasted half an hour later with his son John, an Army major who is an aide to his father during the conference. Then the President received his customary daily briefing on intelligence data, reports on congressional activity and a summary of U.S. newspaper editorial reaction to Geneva developments.

About 9:15 a.m. Eisenhower went to his office near the chateau where he and Mrs. Eisenhower are staying. There he worked on correspondence and other government business.

Then came half an hour's relaxation with the golf clubs.

A few minutes later guests began arriving for a luncheon the President and Mrs. Eisenhower gave for Swiss president and Mrs. Max Petitpiere and other Swiss government officials.

The luncheon lasted until 3:10 p.m. Eisenhower then conferred with Rockefeler and other delegation members in preparation for the day's meeting of chiefs of government. The President was given a report on the morning meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers.

The session with Eden, Soviet Premier Bulganin and French Premier Faure lasted an hour 15 minutes.

After it, Eisenhower hurried off —late—to a garden party at his villa. After dinner Eisenhower talked with Dulles by telephone and arranged a breakfast meeting with him for today.

Shortly before 11 p.m. he went to bed.

Lodge Again Named to Head UN Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House today announced the makeup of a 10-member U.S. delegation President Eisenhower intends to nominate for the 10th session of the U.N. General Assembly, opening in New York Sept. 20.

These nominations are subject to Senate confirmation.

Heading the delegation would be Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., this country's ambassador to the U.N.

LADY AND LOVE — Walt Disney gives the dogs their day in "Lady and the Tramp," Technicolor and CinemaScope cartoon feature now showing at the Oakland Theater. The sparkling musical score is composed by Oliver Wallace and songs are by Peggy Lee and Sonny Burke.

Hollywood Headlines

Johnny Carson Expected to Become Big Hit on TV

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Last year the boy most likely to succeed in TV was George Gobel. This year it appears to be Johnny Carson.

Carson is a slender, good-looking young man with an uptilted nose and a casual comedy manner. When his Thursday night CBS show premiered four weeks ago, most critics compared him to Gobel.

That appears to be his fate. When he arrived for a luncheon chat, the man in the next booth was—George Gobel.

* * *

"It was inevitable that I would be compared to George," observed Johnny. "From now on, any comedian who doesn't do a violent kind of comedy will be called 'another Gobel.'

"It has always been that way. When a new personality comes along, critics need a point of reference. A James Dean is compared to Marlon Brando. A Mamie Van Doren is automatically called another Marilyn Monroe.

"Im sure when Gobel was first getting started he was called another Herb Shriner."

Carson hooted at the idea that such stars as Gobel are overnight successes. He pointed out that Lonesome George is merely reaching a larger audience with the comedy talent he exhibited for years as a child hillbill star, Army entertainer and night club comic.

* * *

Johnny was another early starter. He was born 29 years ago in Corning, Iowa, which he admits is no place for a comedian to come from. He was one of those life-of-the-party lads who could do funny routines and ventriloquism. But he made it pay off.

"I toured all over the Midwest with shows," he recalled. "Often we would do the show on the back of a truck bed. After you've entertained those audiences, you can face anything."

After a wartime Navy hitch, he worked for radio stations in Nebraska, then decided to tackle Hollywood. His Carson's Cellar was a hit on radio and prompted his current 26-week network deal.

Sheriff's Sale Roster Includes Big Python

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Sheriff H. T. Williams has a sheriff's sale coming up but he says he refuses to touch one item on the list.

It's a nine-foot python which kills its food by crushing rather than by bite.

A Melbourne man obtained a deficiency decree against a man who lives in Malabar on an unpaid debt for $1,000. One of the items on which the attachment could be paid was the snake.

Maurice Plans to Watch TV Like an American 'Keed'

By EARL WILSON

PARIS—"I weel be 68 on the twelfth of September when I am crosseeng to America," Maurice Chevalier said.

"Telleveeshun was just begeening when I left America in '47," the old gray songbird went on with a nostalgic smile. "I'm going to watch yor TV in New York like an American keed!"

MAURICE

"I would be very proud if New York weel accept me as just a grand old timer," he said.

"So put me down as just a Frenchman of good weel. I am not in politics!"

"Eet was after I came back that I heard the visa to America was refused." He looked across the open-air tiled garden with sadness.

"Because I was supposed to be leaning to the left," he shrugged. "Wheech is not true because I am not leaning on any side at all!

"You have some nervous people in France. Or maybe they just said these theengs because they couldn't hurt me professionally.

"In New York they know I am not going down streets like this" — he held a hand up over his head — "or meeting people in cellars."

So he got the visa without even an investigation.

"I'm not for anybodee and not against anybodee. I'm just a singer of songs wheech I have been for half a century."

He'll do an NBC-TV color spectacular Dec. 4, some other TV for Don Sharpe, possibly a Las Vegas appearance, some records, and arrange for a Hollywood movie with Billy Wilder in a year — "when I weel be 69."

A pianist off somewhere began tinkling Chevalier's "Louise." Chevalier smiled.

"I weel sing that, but everything else weel be new. To depend on nostalgia, eets like beeing on your knees begging for applause."

"I've never had much pipes. Anybody sings better than I. If I depend on my pipes, I was bitten from the start.

He got up to go and meet Carpentier — these two men of an era that our children don't even remember. A waiter came up.

★ ★ ★

"Lewk!" Chevalier exclaimed to me. "I'm so American that the waiter asks for my autograph in English!" He walked out erectly and even jauntily, a French boy hoping to make good again on Broadway.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "These days," says Murray (Admiral) Metzger, "conversation is that yawn during the TV commercial." That's earl, brother.

Raschi Knocks Ex-Mates Out of 1st Place in AL

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Vic Raschi, the New York Yankees' one-time ace "stopper," turned in another great clutch-pitching performance last night and knocked his former teammates out of first place in the American League.

The 36-year-old Raschi often was called on by Manager Casey Stengel when the Yanks needed an important victory in rolling to five straight world championships.

* * *

Last night Manager Lou Boudreau of the Kansas City Athletics desperately needed a victory for his slump-ridden sixth-placers, in the throes of a 10-game losing string.

Raschi didn't let him down. Although he tired after eight innings and retired from the game, the serious-minded righthander who has little to say, got credit for a 3-1 victory over the Yanks.

The Yanks, who now have lost 12 of their last 17 games, gave up first place to the Chicago White Sox by two percentage points. Chicago downed Boston 10-7.

It's the first time New York had been out of first place since May 21, except for one day, June 18.

"Don't ask me any questions about the Yanks," said Raschi after the game. "I'm pitching for Kansas City now. I was never worried and felt like I was on top all the way."

* * *

The reserved Raschi, picked up by the A's after the St. Louis Cardinals gave him his unconditional release early this season, showed no outward elation as his back-slapping teammates congratulated him.

Raschi was rapped for 10 hits. But he was tough in the clutch, stranding 12 Yankee base runners, in scoring his third win of the season against three losses.

Another ex-Yankee Tom Gorman, preserved the win for Raschi holding the Yanks scoreless in the ninth.

Harbert, Burkemo and Snead Out; Middlecoff Now Rated PGA Choice

By H. GUY MOATS

The 1955 National Professional Golfers Assn. championship is going a-roaming out of Michigan. Where it will settle is a moot question—to be resolved during the next three days at Medowbrook Country Club at Northville.

Last hopes of keeping the PGA title in the "Water Wonderland" faded out Friday afternoon when the defending king, Meadowbrook's home pro, Chick Harbert, lost a heartbreaker to the veteran Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C.

Chick was sidelined, 1-up when his shot to the green on the final hole barely made the carpet. He failed to drop the 20-foot putt the short pitch left him, while Palmer had a 10-footer and could win, even with two putts, to halve the hole.

Prior to Harbert's retirement, Wally Burkemo, Franklin Hills' fine match play star, lost another tough encounter, leaving only Harbert of the state's contingent.

Wally was turned back by Dr. Cary Middlecoff, who now is generally regarded as "the pro to beat" rest of the way. The Memphis, Tenn., dentist came through with some of the best golf of the tourney—as did Burkemo—to beat Wally, and then go on to eliminate wise-cracking Bill Nary of Reno, Nev., 3 and 2.

Tempo of Middlecoff's play was pin-pointed on the 10th and 11th holes. He dropped a 20-footer on each. The birdie on the 11th gave him a 3-hole edge that he never again relinquished.

Straight and long off the tees, the slim Cary was never far off on the greens. His putting was at times sensational, but performed in such a relaxed manner as to appear almost casual, like on the 11th.

Cary's tee shot lay 20 feet in front of the pin. Nary was to the right, 10 feet away. Middlecoff came up, looked over the layout, started back to his ball.

"Hey, Doc," piped up Nary. "Why the heck don't you make a match out of this thing?"

A grin crossed Middlecoff's face as he lined up the putt. "OK, Bill" he said and proceeded to dunk the ball as the big gallery applauded. "Always glad to oblige," he added.

Slammin' Sammy Snead, 3-time king of the PGA, suffered from putter trouble in his important test with steady-going Tommy Bolt. Snead trailed at the turn, 1-down, after making a grand recovery from the rough, and over a deep trap at the right of the 9th green. He barely made the green, but his long putt was too short.

Sam also had some gallery difficulty, but course marshalls ironed that out quickly.

He finally lost out, on the 16th, with Bolt 3-up.

The colorful Bolt, relaxing after his win over Snead, opined he would be the next PGA champion. "I saved this tournament by belting him (Snead)—so it just has to be mine. If I didn't stop him, he'd have gone on to take it all. No one else could beat him but me." His "pitchout" on the 16th put the Slammer out of the running.

Among other name players now just some more spectators, are Dave Douglas, beaten by smooth Jackie Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., 8 and 6 for the day's most lopsided count; veteran Vic Ghezzi who lost to Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., in his 1st PGA trial, 1-up in 23 holes; that perennial contender, Gene Sarazen, 53-year-old 3-time PGA champion, who bowed to Shelley Mayfield, 4 and 3; Freddie Haas, beaten 2-up by Fred Hawkins of W. Chicago, and Ted Kroll, loser to medalist Doug Ford, 2 and 1.

Of the 64 that started "Black Friday's" two 18-hole rounds, only 16 remained last night. They began the bitter grind of 36-hole matches today. There will be 8 left Sunday, 4 on Monday and the last 2 match shots Tuesday for the coveted crown.

Today's play began at 9 o'clock. Afternoon round was set for 1:30.

National Open champion Jack Fleck was still very much in the title picture. His play was getting better, as he steadied down to defeat Jay Herbert 2 and 1.

Two of the day's matches went into extra holes. Ed Furgol, former Open champ, and former Oakland County golfer, beat Gus Salerno 1-up in 20 holes, and the Ghezzi-Mayfield match of 23 holes, went the other overtime match.

Upper bracket—Lew Worsham defeated Ray Hill 2 and 1; Mike Pavella defeated Jim Browning 4 and 3; Marty Furgol defeated Tony Holquin 1-up on a 10-foot putt on the 18th green.

Lower bracket—Brien Charter defeated Lionel Hebert 1-up; Claude Harmon defeated Eldon Briggs of Saginaw, 2 and 1; Wally Ulrich defeated Len Wagner, 1-up.

Today's matches—top bracket—Palmer vs Worsham; Bolt vs Fleck; Middlecoff vs Pavella; Marty Furgol vs Jack Burke. Lower bracket—Charter vs Fairfield; Mayfield vs Harmon; Ed Furgol vs Hawkins; Ulrich vs Ford.

Wiffi Captures Women's Title

Wins Michigan Honor in First Try for Crown

Shoots Sub-Par Golf to Defeat Pine Lake's Sally Sharp

In her first try for the Michigan Womens' Amateur golf title, Wiffi Smith, who plays out of the St. Clair River CC, yesterday defeated Birmingham's young star, Sally Sharp, 6 and 5 to take home the crown.

Wiffie, who hits 'em far and has a fine all-around game to go with her booming tee shots, fired sub-par golf at Sally in yesterday's final round over Oakland Hills Country Club. She closed out the match on the 13th with a 2-footer.

The transplanted national junior champion, who came to Michigan only this spring, from North Carolina, was 3-up on Sally at the turn of the 18-hole match. She carded a 36.

Wiffi defeated a former titlist, Pat Devany, to reach the title round. Sally did the same thing, retiring Mrs. C. U. (Betty Courtright) Wilson in her 1st match, Friday morning. Wiffi stopped Pat, 5 and 4, and Sally was 1-up on Betty.

Both finalists are believed to have been the youngest in the tourney's history, Wiffi is probably the youngest ever to win the title. Each is 18 years old. Sally plays out of Pine Lake.

'Chip Shots' From PGA

Bolt Ranks With the Best of Golf's Match Players

By JACK SAYLOR

NORTHVILLE — Golf fans in these parts think first of Chick Harbert and Wally Burkemo when great match play golfers are mentioned, but it is time some attention was given Tommy Bolt.

Bolt, of course, is far from being an unknown, but he is thought of primarily as an outstanding medal player—which he is. His unbelievable 60 in last year's Hartford Open attests to that.

But the 36-year-old Southerner has also come into his own in the head-to-head combat of match play. Two years ago at Birmingham, Tommy won his 1st round match before losing, 1-up, to Jackson Bradley.

Last year at St. Paul, he ousted Sam Snead, 1-up, in the quarter-finals, then lost to the eventual champion, Harbert, 1-up, in the semis. After gaining the 2nd round when Al Watrous defaulted, Bolt again downed Snead Friday, 3 and 2, in a mechanical and psychological masterpiece.

Bolt jokingly called his shot on Snead after discovering that Snead was his 2nd round foe. "Sam," he drawled, "I've got your reservations all made for White Sulphur Springs tonight."

After taking a 1-up lead on the 1st 9, he made it 2 holes when the Slammer was twice trapped, then missed a short putt on the 10th. Bolt salvaged a half on the 12th although he hit his 1st 2 shots into the rough and his 3rd into a trap.

Tommy holed a 20-footer to go 3-up on the 14th, but lost one by 3-putting the 15th. He nailed Snead in spectacular fashion on the 16th. Both players put their 2nd shots into traps beside the green.

Snead, with a bad lie, flicked out beautifully within 3 feet, but Bolt exploded to the green and the ball rolled right in the hole for a sensational birdie, the hole and the match. Bolt is linked with Cary Middlecoff and medalist Doug Ford as the hottest favorites in the tourney as play began for the "sweet 16" this morning.

* * *

It happened on the 2nd hole, but Briggs did not call him. When it occurred again on the 5th, the rule was invoked and Briggs won the hole. His victory margin in the match was 1-up.

When the Cincinnati Redlegs defeated Johnny Antonelli on June 21, it marked the 1st time they had beaten the Giant southpaw in nine starts.

3 Southerners, 'Oldster' Vie for Links Title

Bisplinghoff, Merrins, Robbins, Welsh Remain in Western Tourney

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—With defending champion Bruce Cudd on the sidelines, the Western Amateur golf title was up for grabs today and three young southerners and a 35-year-old attorney were reaching for it.

The week-long marathon rolled into the 36-hole semifinals with medalist Don Bisplinghoff of Orlando, Fla., taking on Eddie Merrins, Meridian, Miss., and Alex Welsh, of the host Rockford Country Club, facing Hillman Robbins, Memphis.

Robbins, 1954 National Intercollegiate king, disposed of Walker Cupper Cudd, 8 and 6, in yesterday's double round quarter-finals.

Welsh, the group's oldster and six-time Rockford City champion, mowed down Jim Tom Blair of Jefferson City, Mo., 7 and 6.

Merrins, recent winner of the Colonial Invitation and former National Jaycee champion, took a see-saw 2 and 1 decision over Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex.

All four winners were low scoring qualifiers in the 72-hole medal competition that decided the match-play bracket.

They maintained their scoring pace. Robbins was two under par for the distance in his match with Baxter, Welsh one under, and Bisplinghoff and Merrins even.

4 Hits for Kuenn

Ray Boone Makes Quick Recovery, Belts 2 Homers in Rout of Nats

DETROIT (AP)—The 90-plus heat that benched Ray Boone Thursday had no apparent ill effect on the Detroit Tiger 3rd baseman yesterday.

Boone hit two home runs and added a single, driving in four runs as the Tigers defeated the Washington Nationals, 11-3.

The two homers were Boone's 14th and 15th of the season. His performance boosted his batting average to .294—69 points above his June 1 mark. It ran his hitting streak to 14 games.

Harvey Kuenn kept the Tigers' 15-hit show rolling merrily along with four straight singles that lifted his season mark to .323.

Fred Hatfield and Bill Tuttle were the only two Detroit regulars who failed to connect against three Washington pitchers.

Ned Garver, who went the distance for Detroit, gave up nine hits, including two homers, in posting his 9th victory against nine losses.

Boone led off the 3rd inning with his 1st home run. He connected again in the 6th with Al Kaline and Earl Torgeson on base.

Detroit's big inning was the 2nd. Tigers scored five runs on a double by Frank House, singles by Torgeson and Kuenn and a stolen base and wild pitch.

Singles by Kuenn, Kaline and Torgeson accounted for the last Detroit run in the 6th before Boone capped the Tiger scoring with his three-run homer into the lower leftfield seats.

Robinson Shows Old Form in Beating Rocky

Bout With Bobo Seen for Ex-Champ After Split Decision Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, fit as a fiddle and raring to go, figures he's ready to bid for the middleweight championship he gave up three years ago for the song-and-dance business.

The 140-fight veteran, punching with both fists, got off his knees Friday night in the Cow Palace ring to pound out a 10-round decision over No. 1 contender Rocky Castellani in the top effort of his comeback bid. A crowd of 8,230 which paid $39,819 greeted the split decision with ringing applause.

Robinson, a 2-1 underdog at the bell, earned the nod from Referee Jack Downey and Judge Frank Carter by 56-54 scores. Judge Jack Silver had Castellani the winner by the same score. The Associated Press card showed Robinson on top, 57-53.

"If that's the way that judge saw it, it's okay by me," a grinning Robinson said in the dressing room later. "I was in good shape, and I'll get better."

What's next?

* * *

Only once did Robinson falter. In the sixth round Castellani caught him with a left hook and a straight right to the head. Robinson made a three-point landing on his knees and one hand, then straightened up and took a nine-count on both knees. Castellani was on him immediately in his own corner, but Robinson fought his way out and knocked Rocky to the floor momentarily near the end of the round. There was no count.

Ortiz Scores KO

MEXICALI, Mex. (AP) — Manuel Ortiz, former world bantamweight champion, knocked out Memo Valero of Baja California, Mex., in the third round of a scheduled 10-rounder at the Mexicali softball field Friday night.

Strong Bullpen Is Chisox Salvation as Marion's 9 Takes Over 1st Place, as Yankees Bow to KC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the Chicago White Sox are her to stay, Manager Marty Marion can bow low to his relief pitching. The Pale Hose seldom have had it so good.

Twelve victories in the last 16 games have got the Go-Go Sox going, yet Marty's starters have managed only four complete games in the surge.

It's been the bullpen boys who have kept Chicago within reach for late rallies—and who have made early leads stand up.

It was that way again last night when the Sox thumped Boston 10-7 and took the American League lead by two percentage points over the New York Yankees. The Yanks were made fully aware of their plight after losing to Kansas City 3-1 after the A's had lost 10 straight.

* * *

The Sox belted Boston for five runs in the first and five in the third. Still, Marion had to go to the relief staff, calling in Mike Fornieles and Sandy Consuegra and finally Morrie Martin to pull it off.

Fornieles did all right after replacing Jack Harshman when Boston scored three in the third, until the Red Sox mustered four in the seventh. Consuegra misfired for a change, too, but Marion's knee-deep in reliefers.

Walt Dropo was the big man for Chicago, which moved back into first place after a 24-hour stay June 18. He doubled for two runs in the first and lined a two-run single in the third.

Elsewhere in the American League Cleveland stayed two games behind the leaders with a 2-0 decision over Baltimore and Detroit plastered Washington 11-3.

Brooklyn upped its National League lead to 14½ games with an 8-4 romp over runner-up Milwaukee; New York's Giants defeated Cincinnati 6-3 in the 14th inning; Pittsburgh drubbed Chicago 3-1 an St. Louis stopped Philadelphia 8-1 after the Phils had made it 11 in a row by winning the first game of the twi-night twin bill 6-3.

The Yanks, who had led the American League since May 21 except for Chicago's teaser in June, were knocked over by a pair of former mates—Vic Raschi and Tom Gorman. Raschi won it, his third, giving 10 hits but stranding 12 in his eight innings.

Cleveland got just four hits off Jim Wilson, but won anyway on Al Smith's fourth-inning homer and a sacrifice fly by Hank Foiles in the seventh after singles by Al Rosen and Ferris Fain. Herb Score won his ninth, with relief, and fanned five to run his strikeout total to 147.

The Cardinals scored three times in the third to snare the nightcap after the Phils had matched Brooklyn's 11-game string—longest in the majors this season.

Rookie Gail Harris' homer with two on in the fifth extra inning sent Cincinnati to its sixth straight defeat while lifting the Giants to within a game and a half of Milwaukee. Marv Grissom won in relief.

Warpath Wins Again

Warpath, a 6-year-old driven by Don Hall, became the 1st horse to twice in a row win the $10,000 Michigan Pacing Derby, last night was 2:04, a second slower than he paced the mile in winning in 1954. Rex DeSota was 2nd and Mighty Brewer 3rd.

Waterford Legion 9 Faces Uphill Fight in Tourney

The 18th District (Oakland County) representative played Livonia at 10 a.m. this morning with the loser bowing out of the tournament.

Waterford eliminated Imlay City, 9-2, after bowing to Flint Buick in the first game Friday, 9-1. Saginaw whipped Imlay, 14-3, and then beat Livonia, 6-5. Saginaw and Flint were to play this morning.

Waterford ran into 1-hit pitching by Flint's Jim Moore, who fanned 15 in the opener. In the afternoon game, a belated ruling gave Waterford the game by forfeit since Imlay City did not have a 12-man squad as the rules specify, but by that time the county nine already had beaten Imlay on the field.

New Contemporary at Home in Pontiac

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

Burton L. Kampner, a recent graduate of the University of Michigan School of Architecture, designs rhythm, music and color into that five syllable word—contemporary. From a visit to one of his homes, we are sure that in his professional vocabulary, "contemporary" is pronounced with a very soft, but quite distinct "c."

A case in point is the new redwood and white brick contemporary on Illinois Ave. which Kampner designed for Dr. and Mrs. Harry Arnkoff and their two young daughters.

Measuring 40 by 70 feet, from the roadside the nine. high clerestory windows and those of the lower California contemporary height belie the full wall of 7 by 3 foot glass panels of the parallel wall. This fenestration overlooks a beautiful, formally landscaped lawn and rose garden.

Although designed and built for a city lot, occupants of the house are never conscious of either auto or pedestrian traffic. Neither does sound come through the vertical walls of redwood. Additional sound control is derived from the acoustical tile ceiling which is studio sloped.

ILLUSION OF SPACE

The living section of the house—completely free of separating partitions—gives the illusion of infinite space. Illusory accomplices are the clerestory windows (only glass in the house which admits sun); and the two end walls of natural Japanese ash applied in large rectangles to alternate the grains.

The four walls of this section of the Arnkoffs' home are done in as many different materials—creating an interesting texture pattern. One wall is in windows—another in wood paneling—a plastered and painted wall in the same champagne tone as the carpeting and paneling and one wall of the island kitchen unit is in white brick.

FRUITWOOD FINISH

A subtle wood treatment has been used on the piano—walnut with a fruitwood finish—and this produces a beautiful foil for the Japanese ash background. This same wood is used for the unusual tables and cabinets of the room.

The family room, located at the opposite end of this wing, has an identical ash paneled wall. Floor tile is in Granada gray and extends through the kitchen unit as well.

Color treatment in furnishings has just the proper note of restraint that keeps bright hues from being too bright. Turquoise, used for the upholstery on the long wall divan, a combination in an Indian stripe of deep purple, mauve and turquoise covers two occasional chairs and a soft purple and white tweed for a lounge chair and hassock.

FAMILY ROOM—Young Susan and Diane Arnkoff play Monopoly on the floor of the family room. Note the alternating grains of the Japanese ash panels placed on the end walls which are studio ceiling type. Colors for this room are turquoise, deep purple, mauve and black and white with the floor in Granada tile.

LIVING ROOM — Champagne and the palest of pink provide the color key for this gracious room. The walnut piano is treated to a fruitwood finish and this same wood is used for the other furnishings in the room. The coffee table is topped in Belgian red Travertine marble and the lamps are white shaded with brass bases.

ARNKOFF FOYER — Walled in vertical panels of redwood to match the exterior of the Dr. Harry Arnkoff home on Illinois, the foyer gives the illusion of being part of the outside. Slate has been used for the floor.

Two conversation provoking tables—one a Long John Coffee table measuring 60 inches and made of natural walnut with sap streaks preserved and another a mobile server in mahogany with an ermine finish which can perform the dual role of room separator and server—are placed in this family room. Black Micarta covers the tops of this server.

The kitchen, the ultimate in efficiency does not sacrifice beauty for its practicality. Countertops are in a pale pink and the cabinet work is maple with a driftwood finish. Satin finish brass pulls highlight the woods.

Wanting to match the dishwasher door to the cabinets, Mrs. Arnkoff said they sent the door to the manufacture with a sample of the driftwood and the result is a dishwasher door identical to the cabinets.

A power room, in charcoal gray and champagne with gold is adjacent to the entrance hall and the other off-hall room is Dr. Arnkoff's study.

BLACK AND WHITE

This is a striking room all done in black and white. Bookcases and cabinets built into the wall have a bit of brown added to the color and the divan used in this room is covered in black and brown tweed. A collector of mechanical banks, Dr. Arnkoff has an impressive grouping of rare samples of this art displayed in his study.

In the bedroom wing—which can be separated with sliding doors—are the master bedroom suite, the two girls' bedrooms and two bathrooms.

The master suite has its own dressing room completely lined with closets and bureaus. Also it has its own bathroom and the entire three rooms are done in shades of blue with a pair of bench cushions in deep sea green the only non-blue color notes.

In the bedroom, the blue of the carpeting and walls is picked up in the draperies with a floral pattern in a still deeper shade of the same hue. Spreads for the pearwood maple beds with their Oriental pearl finish are in Cotilion taffeta.

All of the closet doors in the Arnkoff home are folding birch panels. And all bathrooms have glass heat panels in the walls.

"Strictly for the girls" are the other two bedrooms. Young Susan's room has pale pink walls and marionette print draperies with furniture in a soft tobacco finish; Diane's room is in pink and white with gay white butterflies flitting across her draperies.

Interesting feature, too, of the Arnkoff home, are the mechanical devices which include an electronic air cleaner (removes all dust, bacteria and pollen from the air), and an air conditioning system.

J. W. Rattner of the Highland Building Company did the construction work on the Arnkoff home and the landscape architect was Lawrence Smith of Birmingham.

Businessmen Adapt Lawn Ornaments to Advertising

By STEVE ELLINGSON

You never can tell what might happen because of a column in the newspapers. Last year, when we pictured our lawn ornaments, we thought they were mostly for youngsters. And they were, kids all over the country made them. But they weren't the only ones interested in these little animals. You'd be surprised at the places where they turned up. People everywhere sent us pictures showing the uses they had made of them.

* * *

For example, the little cow was placed on dairy trucks from coast to coast. He's been fastened on barns, mail box stands and countless other places where cattle are raised.

The little pig, a snooty little fellow, went on the walls of meat markets for decorations. He's also placed on the walls of restaurants where only hi-class pork is served. And of course, pig raisers have him all over their farms. What could be better for a station wagon ornament? Some Sunday School classes put wheels on this little fellow and made a toy out of him for orphanages.

The half-witted duck — he was perhaps the most popular. You may have seen him in bars, hunting clubs and on children's toys. One girl we know, who likes to work with copper, made a plaque of him.

Veterinarians liked the little dogs and used them on the walls of their offices. Lots of mothers made them for the walls of children's rooms. Apparently kids like them as well as pictures. That's probably why the whole group has been used for decorations in toy stores.

TO EACH HIS OWN

The little squirrel went wherever there were nuts for sale, some were used to decorate trucks, probably to warn people to drive carefully. Lumber merchants like the lawn ornament idea because it creates a use for small pieces of plywood which would otherwise be burned and wasted.

The rooster was used by poultrymen and those in the egg business. Others placed the different ornaments on gates to sparkle up the entrance to their homes. So you see how it was — our lawn ornaments were used in countless places, other than what we had originally planned for them.

I should mention at this point, NBC's television actress and America's do-it-yourself queen, Dawn Oney, doesn't come with the assortment. We thought she looked mighty pretty, so asked her to be in the picture.

After that you paint over the tracings exactly the way the pattern shows, and your lawn ornament is finished. It's that simple. It had to be, if it wasn't we couldn't have done it ourselves. And remember, copper may be used rather than wood.

To obtain the full size patterns shown, send 20c for any one ornament listed below, or you may save 40c by sending $1 for all of them. Send your coin to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, California.

About half the two billion dollars given private charity in the United States each year goes to charity rackets, says the Twentieth Century Fund.

Detroit Architect to Attend Meet, Give Address

Harvey Campbell, executive vice president of the Detroit Board of Commerce, has accepted an invitation to address the Michigan Society of Architects at the Twelfth Annual Midsummer Conference of the Society.

The get-together will be held Aug. 4, 5 and 6, at the Grand Hotel, Mackinac Island. Campbell's timely address will spotlight the coming developments of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Leo J. Heenan, Pontiac architect, reports that delegates and guests will arrive at the Grand Hotel for registration on Aug. 4. He said there will be 400 state architects attending.

If you coat ordinary wire insect screening on the outside with white paint it will make it more difficult for people to see through from the outside but won't bother your vision from the inside to outside.

Apply Stain Sealer

If you plan to paint over a surface that has previously been stained, first apply a stain sealer to prevent any possibility of the stain "bleeding" through the new coating.

Cracks in Stucco Can Be Mended by Special Patch

Stucco, as some of you probably know, is a coat of cement-mortar applied to the outside walls of a house to make a weather-proof covering. It can be applied over rough masonry or over stucco wire lath which can be nailed to wood sheathing.

A properly applied stucco will last and last and last and last but sometimes cracks appear here and there. The cracks are often just in the top coat of the stucco—usually the complete covering consists of three coats.

Cracks of this type aren't much to worry about. They are not much bigger than a hair and are easily filled with paint when and if the stucco wall is painted.

Structural cracks—those that run right through the thickness of the stucco—are something else again. They allow moisture to get in back of the stucco and cause all sorts of trouble including damp interior walls. They should be patched immediately.

First, use an old screwdriver or cold chisel and a hammer to cut out the crack so that it forms an inverted V with the inside of the crack being wider than the outside. Dust out any loose stucco and wet down the sides of the crack with plenty of water. For patching you may either use a ready-mixed stucco compound of a mixture of one part Portland-cement and three parts sand.

The ready-mixed patching compound can be purchased in various colors which helps if the wall has been previously painted.

Home Cooling at No Expense

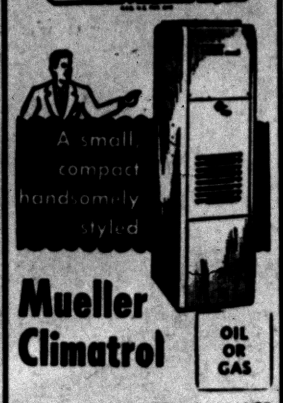

Experts Suggest Ways to Reduce Unpleasant Summer Temperatures

If you've been caught in the middle of summer with your home cooling system down and out — or you didn't install an air conditioning system or attic fan — you don't have to get hot under the collar.

Here are some emergency, cool - it - yourself tips by a temperature control expert. First of all, say the air conditioning controls experts, check the west side of your house. Studies of air conditioned homes show that proper use of window shades or venetian blinds on west facing windows can cut the amount of cooling needed indoors in half.

When awnings are installed, only one - third as much cooling capacity is needed. New types of solar screens can contribute a one-sixth reduction in cooling requirements, apart from what awnings or shades do.

It's too late to increase your planting around your house—which absorb a tremendous amount of heat — but hold back on trimming the shubbrey you have. And by keeping your lawn grass long, lush and green you'll absorb additional heat that might have bounced off a bare lawn toward your home.

3-Bedroom Homes Shown at Hy-Haven Development

Hy Lieberman, president of the Hy Standard Builders, believes that one of the greatest needs on the housing market today is the three bedroom home below the $12,000 price tag. His answer to this demand is in the new Hy-Haven Development on Sashabaw road in Drayton Plains.

* * *

Offering more than 1,200 square feet of living area, each home is built on a 100-foot lot in a community of 200 homes where there will be paved streets and side drives and a community water system.

MAPLE KITCHENS

A 23-foot living room, kitchen with utility room, dining area, bathroom and three bedrooms are included in the floor plan of these homes. Natural maple kitchen cabinets, 10 big storage closets closets and fully tiled baths are other features of the homes.

Open for public inspection, models of the two elevations shown above are on display in Hy Haven.

Cheap Grade Floors Used for Cottages

There is a grade of hard maple flooring which will lay a serviceable floor in summer cottages, attics, storehouses, farm buildings and playsheds.

It is nice wood to work with, and it is recommended to the amateur floor-layer looking around for inexpensive hardwood flooring.

In laying the floor, some cutting may be necessary, but the challenge to the do-it-yourself "technician" has its satisfactions— a utility hardwood floor at the bargain price level.

The National Bureau of Standards says wood shingle roofs have a life expectancy 43 per cent greater than asphalt shingle roofs.

Herb Window Boxes Add Scent to Home

Readers of Sarah Orne Jewett's American classic about village life in Maine, "The Country of the Pointed Firs," will never forget the marvelous descriptions of herb growing.

Modern homemakers are overlooking one of the enduring pleasures of gardening if they aren't familiar with the scents, tastes and lovely blooms of herbs.

Why not plan a small herb garden right outside your kitchen window? If you're lucky enough to have a kitchen window-wall, a small indoor garden is practical. You'll need a waterproof surface around the indoor garden. Use a practical yet decorative material like ceramic tile which can blend with the rest of the kitchen design. Herbs will do unbelievable wonders for the commonest of foods.

Kitchen Stoves Built of Hardwood Plywood

Use straight-grained, knot-free lumber. The base frame consists of two 60-inch and two 72-inch pieces of 2 by 4-inch lumber, cross-lapped and fastened with 4-inch carriage bolts. Make two 54-inch ladders, using 1¼-inch dowels for rungs, pinned in place with 6-penny finishing nails.

Fasten the upright ladders to the base with two 4-inch bolts at each joint. The top ladder is 60 inches long and 27¼ inches wide. Fasten it in place with two 3¼-inch carriage bolts at each joint. Counter-bore the holes to recess the nuts.

Disguise Defects With Quick Paint Camouflage Job

It seems that there are some homes in this country that are not exactly things of beauty. Some have chimneys much too massive for the size of the house to which they are attached.

Some houses are too tall and have several different kinds of siding that give the impression that the house was built by about five different builders who weren't talking to each other. Well, if you plan to paint your house this year, you can get rid of a lot of the flaws of exterior design as you paint.

For example, if the chimney is too big, paint it the same color as the siding. This will camouflage the chimney so it won't be too noticeable. If your house is too tall, stain the roof a darker color than used on the exterior walls and if it's a two story house, paint the trim around the upper windows a darker color than the siding.

If your house has many different kinds of siding, wood, brick, masonry block and stucco, paint them all with the same color paint. It will make them appear as one material and eliminate that broken up surface. If you have dormer windows on your house and they are either too big or poorly designed, paint them the same color as the background so that they will blend into it.

Many older homes have windows of all different sizes and shapes that produce a very strange effect. The remedy here is to paint the window trim and sash the same color as the siding. If these windows are fitted with outside shutters, either remove them or paint the same color as the siding.

Little Expense Here

Hotel owners report that there is little or no maintenance expense connected with wood paneling. An Ohio hotel owner, who had wood paneling installed in his hotel rooms five years ago, comments typically that these rooms "look the same as if they were finished yesterday." Hotel rooms with plastered walls are said to require touching up or repainting every year or so.

Interior Walls in Bad Condition Can Be Repaired

One of the minor headaches in redecorating are those interior walls that have been badly treated in the past. They are covered with rough heavy coats of paint that would be almost impossible to remove not to mention areas where the paint has chipped or where it has cracked.

* * *

If you attempt to brush on another coat of paint over walls in this condition, the net result will be about the same as before you painted.

What you can do, however, is to use a finish that will take advantage of the poor quality of the wall finish and which can produce an attractive job.

Such a finish is plastic paint which is a rather thick type of paint which you apply with a brush and which can then be textured either with a special brush or with your fingers or a sponge.

This type of finish will completely hide the flaws in the wall and while a textured walls is somewhat more difficult to keep clean than a perfectly smooth one it will at least be a big improvement over what you had to start with.

STIPPLE EFFECT

Another suggestion is to give the wall a stippled effect. This is done by brushing on a coat of wall paint and then, before the paint is hard, jabbing over it with a stippling brush. This brush has rather rigid bristles and aside from covering up any brush marks, the stippling will also hide a good many other evils.

The only disadvantage to these two finishes is that once they are on you are stuck with them unless you are prepared for an extensive sanding or scraping operation.

But on the other hand, to prepare the old wall for a smooth finish would also require this amount of work.

Frame House Refuge

Civil Defense officials suggest seeking shelter on the first floor of a frame house would cut exposure to atomic radiation by 50 per cent. For mass sheltering, these officials say one answer may be miles of trenches along main roads—plain dirt trenches covered with boards.

Exhaust Fans Help Decrease Excess Humidity

Moisture Condensation Causes Paint Peeling, Blistering Damage

By HUBBARD COBB

So far in this little series on blistering and peeling outside wall paint we have brought up the fact that this condition is due to moisture and the cause of the moisture in most cases in condensation—moist air inside the house flowing through the interior wall surface and turning into water when it strikes the cold siding. Once the wood under the paint film is damp, you can expect trouble.

Today we are going to discuss various means of reducing condensation by either reducing the moisture content of the air in the house or by getting this moist air out of the house before it can cause trouble.

Humidity is strange stuff in that it takes it only an instant to distribute itself evenly throughout all the air in the house. For example, if you put a saucepan full of water on the range so that the water boils, the steam coming out of the pan will distribute itself at once throughout the house so that the entire air in the house will show an increase in humidity.

Therefore, we can't allow any room in the house to be the source of increase moisture whether it be the bathroom, kitchen, laundry or basement.

One of the most effective ways to remove excess water from the air at the source is with exhaust fans. For examle, a fan in the kitchen or bathroom will push this moisture out of the house before it has a chance to get the rest of the house air.

The same thing holds for a basement that has a tendency to become damp at certain times of the year. If you hang wet wash to dry in the basement, then it should be fitted with an exhaust fan and if you have a clothes dryer this too should be vented to the outside so that the moisture given off as the clothes are dried won't add to the water content of the house air.

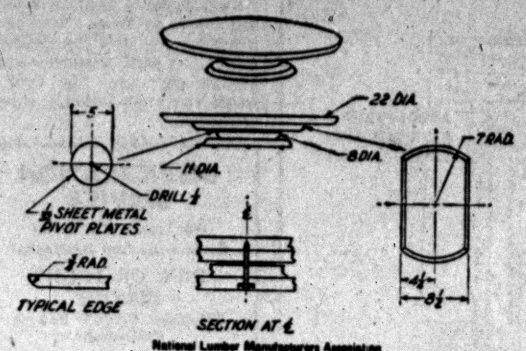

We must also check to see that devices such as gas heating equipment are properly vented for unless they are, they'll add water to the air. In some cases, too many growing plants indoors can be the cause of excess moisture. We'll have more on this next week.

New Wood Cabinet Helps Sale of Home

If you want to sell your home or rent your apartment in a hurry, install natural wood cabinets in the kitchen, the National Lumber Manufacturers Association advises.

Home builders and apartment developers in all sections of the country give natural wood kitchen cabinets a major share of credit for the quick sale and rental of their properties.

In a number of apartment projects, wood cabinets originally were chosen for their ability to withstand the abuse of successive tenants. As things turned out, the fashion appeal and warm friendliness of the cabinets proved to be an equally important factor.

Lazy Susan Made Simply by Following Directions

Use finish lumber ¾-inch thick. First, glue up panels. Shape the panels, making three discs: 22 inches, 11 inches, and 8 inches in diameter. The oblong piece is 8" by 14 inches, with the ends rounded on a 7-inch radius. Round the edges of all pieces, as shown.

Center the oblong piece on the under side of the tray and glue it in place. Center the 8-inch disc on the 11-inch disc and glue the two pieces together.

When the glue has set, bore a center hole 3-16-inch in diameter and 1¼ inches deep in the bottom of the tray assembly. Bore a ¼-inch hole through the lower assembly. Finish the wood parts with stain and varnish.

Ceramic Tile Surfaces Effect Double Purpose

A worthy suggestion for adding some esthetic appeal to the small, modern house, often barren in appearance, is to surface the exterior with quietly colorful ceramic tile in patterns of small, complementary units.

It's practical, too, because tile is fireproof, waterproof and remains unaffected by weather changes. Just by surfacing a couple of front exterior panels, the whole home can be given new life.

Economy Still Essential Idea Despite Boom

Although these are flush times with incomes at record levels, savings are still wisely considered essential by families everywhere. One of the best economies that can make is in the proper selection of proven building materials for their new home.

That new home is probably the biggest family investment. Although the design should be efficient and the style modern, the basic materials going into a home count most by way of long-range economy.

Well-seasoned, high-grade lumber, now more readily available than during the postwar building boom, should be used. Paint that is specifically designed for exterior use is a "must" for outside the house. Plumbing and wiring materials should always be of proven quality. In the long run, it makes more sense to restrict the size of your home than to skimp on good materials.

Surfacing materials inside the house, especially the bathroom and kitchen, should have proven durability. Life-lasting ceramic tile, for instance, is a recognized quality product for bathrooms and kitchens.

Paint Conceals Cracks

If your painting jobs involves hiding cracks, rough or patched plaster, or dry-wall seams, you might try using a texture paint. It's thicker than regular paint, is brushed on and then stippled with a brush or sponge.

All-Tile Bathroom Can Be Hosed Down

If floors and walls are surfaced in a waterproof material like tile you can hose down the entire area in a jiffy and let the water run off in a floor drain.

When remodeling either room, plan for such an installation. It will save a lot of back-bending effort. With tiled surfaces you don't have to worry about where the water goes. Use a mop or cloth to wipe the surfaces dry. In most cases that's all you need to keep tile looking bright and fresh

This is how atomic home heating and cooling system would work. This design by the Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers would provide hot water for heating, washing and driveway snow melting, as well as chilled water for summer cooling. The cooling unit would work on principle of gas refrigerator.

Atomic Heating – Cooling Plants Being Developed

Is there a place in your home for a little invisible, splitable atom? There'd better be!

Atomic heating plants with summer cooling system are just around the corner. They'll cost you just $50 a year to operate, says an expert.

And you'll build your house with plastic, subjected to atomic radiation to make it stronger than steel. Will this replace lumber?

As for that pesky bomb, which wipes out cities when it splits the infinitestimal atom, a Yale university expert says basement bomb shelters will soon become as standard in the design of our houses as bathrooms and kitchens.

* * *

All we are waiting for when it comes to economical home heating and cooling is a new discovery of a large source of fissionable material, says Robert E. Ferry, general manager of the Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers. So get out your Geiger counters and go hunting.

Ferry was speaking at the recent 40th anniversary meeting of his industry at Absecon, N. J. He said that all of the parts needed for an atomic home heating and cooling plant are now available on the market, except for the small atomic reactor to replace fuel.

* * *

This missing unit, hermetically sealed in lead and about twice the size of an automobile battery, should cost about $300, according to Ferry. It would be good for six years and then would be replaced. Net cost: $50 per year; no chimney; no ashes; no waste energy.

The rest of the workings are so well known that you could install such a plant in a house for about $1,500, says Ferry.

* * *

STRONGER THAN STEEL

The potential strength of plastic has been demonstrated with a new hammer now on the market. It has a brilliant red handle made of plastic reinforced with fiber glass. This handle is stronger than steel, yet it has the resiliance and shock absorbing quality of hickory.

With this strength attained by blending plastic and fiber glass, the possibilities of the new alchemy of gama radiation are fabulous.

Architectural Forum recently explored the prospects of such radiant-treated plastic for the benefit of designers and engineers. It concluded that today's bulky posts and beams, serving as ribs of a building, will be reduced to a mere fold or seam in the skin of the wall.

Douglas Haskell, editor, summed up: "Tomorrow's structure may be typically all skin. Its skin may become its shell and its interior columns. Even its windows may be simply transparent patches of its skin . . ."

* * *

In the meantime, the threat of that atomic bomb and its gargantuan relative, "H," hangs over our houses. Lincoln H. Lippincott, director of safety for Yale University, says "the Yucca Flat tests have emphasized the protection given by basements against atomic bomb blasts and radiation."

Lippincott told a Boston meeting of the New England Building Officials Conference that a basement bomb shelter of proper design should have an added outside exit for rescue.

Well, if the atom can rescue us from the cost of building chimneys and from the biggest part of our annual fuel bills maybe we can afford to pay our diplomats enough to rescue us from misuse of the atom.

Cut Pattern First

When applying linoleum or laminated plastics to a kitchen sink counter, it's a wise idea to cut first a paper pattern to fit and then use this to cut the linoleum or plastic to the correct size. Heavy wrapping paper is good for the pattern.

Home Additions Made by Owner

Modern Householders Improve Own Property by Themselves

Not so many years back about all the average homeowner ever got around to building was maybe a bird house or a sand box for the kids.

* * *

Now people are a good deal more ambitious and think nothing of building a partition, an enclosed porch or maybe even an addition to their homes.

Now this sort of work is not very difficult, if you have the ordinary skills, but there are certain standards of construction that you should follow to insure a solid structure and one that can be insulated, sheathed and covered over with interior and exterior siding with a minimum of waste.

The standard lumber to use for vertical studding is the 2x4 inch and these should be placed either 16 or 24 inches on center. The center in this case is the narrow 2-inch edge. Studding should be nailed at the bottom to a 2x4 inch plate which rests on the subfloor or sill with the wide face facing up and down.

USE TOP PLATE

At the top of the studding two 2x4 inches are used to form a top plate. Where you have an opening for windows and doors, the studding around these should be doubled and you should use horizontal pieces of studding (doubled) placed horizontally to form the top and bottom of the rough window opening. For door openings you only need them at the top.

The floor joists which support the floor are made of 2 in. x 6 in. stock or better depending on the span. Your local lumber dealer can advise you what size stock to use here depending on the span. These joists, like the wall studding, are spaced 16 in. on center.

For rafters—the boards that support the roof, 2 in. x 6 in., are adequate in almost all cases although on short spans such as porches, 2 in. x 4 in., are often used. Here again keep your spacing at 16 in. on center. Much of the strength of framing is the result of good fits between the various members so be sure that your cuts are smooth and level.

* * *

Also be sure that each joint is adequately nailed and don't use so many nails that you weaken the joint because the wood has split.

Industry Is Farming on Rural Plant Site

WEST UNION, Ohio (AP)—When an industrial giant steps into a rural area, it may don some of the garb of the farmer. Since starting its 5,000-acre jet engine testing center in Adams county, General Electric has become conservationist, forester and tobacco farmer.

Company officials decided to bring the land back to its best as an example of what might be achieved under sound conservation and reforestation.

"We are sharecropping the tobacco acreage at the site," says Robert D. Knies. "We are going to plant hay on cultivated hilltop land that has been eroded badly."

Fire lanes have been cut on existing timber areas. Other areas will be planted to trees.

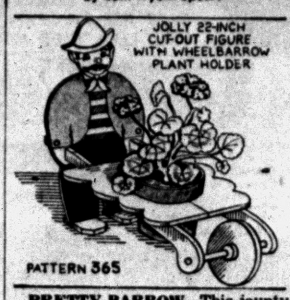

Kitchen Cabinet Colors Blend With Decorating

Because of the choice of colors in which many steel kitchen cabinets are now being finished, there is a shade to suit every woman's decorating taste. Cabinet hues combine harmoniously with most of the colors used by appliance manufacturers. The warm tones created by one steel cabinet maker not only mix with all appliance colors but go together in interesting combinations.

Air-Conditioning 'Ton' Explained by Engineer

If you've been confused about what the engineers mean when they refer to the cooling capacities of air conditioners in "tons," here's an explanation by heating engineers.

Simply speaking, they say, a "ton" of refrigeration means cooling equivalent to that obtained by the melting of a ton of ice in 24 hours. For the average-size residence two to five-ton capacities are adequate. Large custom-built homes may require as much as ten tons.

Wire Brush Cleans Paint-Full Bristles

About the best way to remove paint from the base of paint brush bristles is to comb it out with a wire brush. There are special brushes made for the job but an ordinary wire brush with bristles set fairly close together will do the trick. Run the comb with the bristles—not against them.

Don't Paint Over Wax

Never try to paint over a surface that you know or suspect has wax on it. First remove all traces of wax with turpentine or one of the products prepared especially for the purpose.

Planning Board Has 1st Report

Geer Associates Call Site North of 6th St. Satisfactory Location

ROCHESTER—A zoning change in Rochdale Subdivision was discussed and favorable first reports were heard on the proposed community center site north of Sixth Street, in the Avon-Rochester-Oakland Area Planning Commission meet this week.

David Geer, of Geer Associates, Bloomfield Hills, said it was the opinion of his organization that the proposed 12 acre site was very satisfactory as to central location, fitting well with the Park system along Paint Creek.

They advised that attempts should be made to obtain the Higbie property north of the New York Central Railroad and west of Elizabeth Street.

Geer added that five acres would be needed for public buildings, leaving about six acres for landscaping.

A letter received from the Parke, Davis Co., complimented the commission on the Highway Thoroughfare Plan, relative to properties owned by Parke Davis east of Rochester. They stated that members had done a good job in laying out the proposed highway and thoroughfare through this property.

Max Hartwig was present, requesting a change in zoning from residential to commercial for lots 10-15 of Rochdale, in Avon Township. A number of residents in the subdivision were present protesting this change. Clarence J. Cadieux, President of Rochdale Association, acted as spokesman for the group. He stated that he felt it was the desire of the persons present that the zoning be left unchanged.

A communication from Donald C. Baldwin, Supt. of Rochester Community Schools, stated that the Board of Education passed a resolution at the last regular meeting asking the commission to recommend that the zoning of these lots remain residential.

Hartwig asked to go on record in stating that the property in question would be rendered useless unless the zoning was changed from residential to commercial, due to deed restrictions that stated they would be used expressly for a shopping center. Hartwig also stated that if the zoning was changed to commercial, the proposed use would be of a commercial type, but he did not know the specific use at this time.

The Zoning Ordinance of Avon Township went into effect a year before the recorded date of Rochdale restrictions. The Planning Commission disapproved of the change of zoning at this time. Their decision was based on all available information.

City Aids Policeman by Moving Town Line

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Police Officer R. H. Wallace had his new house in the suburbs about half built when he learned about a civil service regulation.

The rule is that city employes cannot live outside the city. Wallace's new house was more than a mile beyond Austin's limits. He asked the City Council for help.

This week the council stretched its annexing arm out one side of Manchaca road more than a mile, circled Wallace's lot, then returned down the other side of Manchaca Road. Now Wallace's house is "in the city."

Rising Gasoline Tank Floating, Not Booming

Firemen discovered it was a case of floating, not explosion. A water main had broken, flooding the subsoil around the nearly empty 12,000-gallon tank, which naturally started rising—right through the concrete.

Martin-Soule Ceremony Performed in Romeo

ROMEO — A double - ring ceremony united Shirley Soule and William Martin Edwards in marriage at the First Baptist Church here recently.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Martha Soule and the late Mr. Soule and William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards.

In a traditional setting of palms, candelabra and baskets of white gladioli, carnations and daisies, the young couple exchanged their vows in the presence of 250 relatives and friends.

Shirley approached the altar gowned in imported lace over taffeta with long lace sleeves and a skirt of nylon net and tulle over taffeta, ending in a train. Her necklace of pearls was a gift of the groom, and she carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Assisting the bride as maid of honor was Shirley Roe of Chicago. Bridesmaids were Thelma Edwards, sister of the groom, and Violet Soule, sister of the bride.

Best man was Howard Shields, and seating the guests were Robert Dahlgren of Cadillac, Stanley Edwards, brother of the groom, and Arthur Soule, brother of the bride.

Capital Shows New 'Viscount'

Newsmen Get Preview of Fast, Turbo-prop Passenger Plane

Press City Editor

Southeastern Michigan newsmen were given a preview of Capital Airlines' new turbo-prop transport —the English-made Viscount—yesterday at a press showing at Willow Run Airport.

Capital will be the first U.S. airline to operate jet propeller planes in passenger service when its Viscounts go into scheduled service next Tuesday.

Manufactured by Vicers - Armstrong, Ltd., Viscounts have set 34 official and unofficial speed records. Renowned as a fast, luxurious airplane, the Viscount also has many new safety features, including anti - skid brakes.

Capital purchased its first thre Viscounts June 3, 1954. At that time, an option on an additional 37 was taken. This option was exercised Aug. 11, 1954, at which time an option for 20 more Viscounts was granted. On Dec. 1, 1954, the latter option was taken up, making a fleet total of 60 purchased.

The over-all cost, including spare engines and parts, amounted to $67,500,000.

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. will resume new contract negotiations with the CIO United Auto Workers Monday.

The talks were recessed last Monday to allow the union to study the company offer.

Neither side has disclosed details of the offer. It was reported however, to parallel closely the contracts negotiated by the union last month with Ford and General Motors.

The Ford and GM pacts provided for a layoff pay plan, increased wages and pensions and other benefits estimated to cost 21 cents hourly for each employe.

Father Coughlin Living Quietly

By WAYNE KLEIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

ROYAL OAK (UP)—The Rev. Charles Edward Coughlin, the Catholic priest who once stirred millions by radio each Sunday afternoon, now is serving quietly as a parish priest in the same Shrine of the Little Flower where he originated his radio talks.

The same energies he once devoted to stirring up millions in the turbulent 1930s have gone into making his parish one of the finest anywhere.

But Coughlin himself lives quietly. He doesn't talk to newsmen, he doesn't grant interviews. His statements now are confined to those from the pulpit. In those he still gets fiery at times in advising his parishioners.

It no longer is the "poor parish" he talked of over his radio networks. The school is one of the best looking and biggest in the state. The probable estimate of the church and school's worth ranges upwards of $5,000,000.

It is thought of so highly in the Detroit area that persons seeking to sell their homes consider it an asset to advertise "Shrine Parish" in describing the home.

Coughlin, now 64 years old, was sent to Royal Oak in 1926 by Detroit Bishop Michael J. Gallagher. The bishop decided Coughlin was the man who could establish a parish in Royal Oak, a community which had much anti-Catholic feeling at the time.

He made his first radio broadcast in October of 1926, seeking funds for his shrine. His first broadcast brought in five letters with contributions. By 1930, he was broadcasting over a network of 18 stations and a network finally picked up his talks.

About that time he switched his subject from seeking contributions for his "poor parish" of some 50 families. The depression had struck the nation. And the radio priest switched his subject to politics and world affairs, leveling his broadcasts at Russia, prohibition and Wall Street and international bankers.

When his network contract was dropped, he formed a private radio chain. In 1936, he finally drew a rebuke from the Bishop. It was after he called the late President Roosevelt a "great liar and betrayer." From then on his influence declined. The start of World War II drew a curtain over his political life, just as the lean depression years had created the stage for it.

Now the parish, located in the booming suburban area which has grown by leaps and bounds in recent years, is made up of middle-class families. Visitors in the city often go to the shrine, which is unique and beautiful.

Others, passing down busy Woodward Avenue glance half-curiously at the church. Many just vaguely remember Coughlin. Some 15 years after his decline as a national figure, he remains only a dim memory to many people.

The church he built as a parish priest promises to remain a better-remembered monument to him than the Sunday radio broadcasts which once were a well-known part of American life during the turbulent 1930s.

Hay Fever Season Coming

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

Run, shoot, and hide are the three main defenses for hay fever sufferers.

Pollen from ragweed is the main cause of hay fever. Some half million pounds of it are released into the air each August and September.

Some parts of the nation have very high pollen counts, others low counts, or are even free of the rehumy stuff. A free pamphlet, "Hay Fever Holiday," compiled by the Pollen Survey Committee of the American Academy of Allergy, lists the average pollen count found in some 600 cities, towns and resort areas of the United States, parts of Canada, Alaska and Mexico. A copy can be obtained from Oren C. Durham, Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago, Ill., who is committee chairman.

* * *

Generally speaking, as the accompanying map illustrates, airborne pollen is heaviest in the intensely tilled area of the Mississippi Valley, and lightest in the area west of the Cascade Mountains in Oregon and Washington.

Pollen counts are low in many areas of California, in the deserts and forests of the Rocky Mountains and in the inter-mountain states of Idaho, Utah and Nevada; in the central Adirondacks, southern tip of Florida, in the woods of Maine, New Hampshire, northern Minnesota, and extreme northern Michigan.

* * *

Next to ragweed, the heaviest load of pollen spread through the summer and fall air comes from two closely similar weed families: Chenepods and Amaranths. Among the chenepods are Russian thistle and firebrush. Amaranths include Palmer's amaranth and western water hemp. These pollens are concentrated in the middle states, as the map indicates.

Allergists estimate 10 to 15 per cent of hay fever and asthma are caused by molds and spores from grasses and leaves or dead vegetation. These molds, mainly Alternaria and Hormodendrub, are most widespread in the spring and again in the fall, but produce a low but steady number of spores through the summer.

Through skin tests, physicians can tell you exactly what pollens or molds you are allergic to, then give you injections of extracts of the offender to build up your resistance. This method often protects people even in high-pollen areas.

* * *

Antihistamines and other drugs can bring some relief, but it is best to consult your physician about which ones you should use, and how often you should use them.

The last few years have brought onto the market a number of air-cleaning and filtering devices to remove pollens from air being brought into a room. Some employ filters to block out pollens and dirt, others remove the pollens by electrostatic means. They vary in price.

In World War I a huge mine field containing more than 70,000 mines was laid from the Orkney Islands of Great Britain to the coast of Norway by England and the United States in an effort to control submarines.

Cowboy 'n' Indian Thriller Due on Television Soon

Bert plays "Smokey Joe" in the first such series to glorify instead of horrify our early American redskins. Keith Larsen stars as Brave Eagle.

Dick VanDyke on Wednesday night's Godfrey summer sub premiere was a fresh breath of imaginative creativeness in the dull rut of TV comedy . . . Dick uses what you might call comedy of observation, utilizing such targets as new cars and your pet dog to perceptive impressionistic success . . . He's one of the newly arriving "civilized" young comedians, wearing a Brooks suit, a college senior's demeanor and an intelligently lunatic attitude toward modern fuss and foibles . . .

In direct contrast to an old-style night club imitator, George DeWitt, on the same show, who once showed promise and even some wit in his imitations which haven't changed except to lose their humor.

NEW LAINE SHOW

The show is caller "Frankie Laine Time" presents that mule-trainman in a conventional variety format evidencing less of a creative freshness than a magnificent grasp of the obvious in the old rules laid down by Max Liebman in his early Ceasar-Coco capers. . .

Shirley Melaine danced and Duke Ellington played some of his superior compositions.

Frankie Laine was better at singing than reading lines from cue cards, but struck a neatly honest note when he donned his spectacles, suggesting false pride might come before a fall into the orchestra pit if he tried to hide his myopia . . .

Almstadt said Henning's companion, Joseph Burrell, 31, of New Haven, made a separate oral confession.

Deportation Off for GI's Child

Immigration Rulings for Official Entrance Must Be Obeyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four-year-old Jane Edith Thomas of Dayton, Ohio, is safe from deportation, but the Immigration Service says it wants the Italian - born girl's American father to qualify her for citizenship.

* * *

Immigration Commissioner J.M. Swing said yesterday no action would be taken "to deport this little girl" who was born in a U.S. Army Hospital in Trieste while her father, Leslie Thomas, was stationed there. He married an Italian national.

It was disclosed several days ago that Immigration Service officials have said Jane is in the United States illegaly because of a technical provision in the law. But they also said she can stay in this country permanently if she leaves by Sept. 30 and then returns on an immigrant visa.

* * *

In his statement, Swing indicated he still expects Thomas to take steps under procedure which permits an American citizen to apply to the State Department for a permanent resident visa for his child, then go to Canada and obtain the visa at the nearest U. S. consulate. Swing said this could be done in a one - day trip to Canada.

'Phoney' Ticket Racket Smashed

Detroit Police Arrest Sellers of Counterfeit Field Day Ducats

DETROIT (AP)—Police today claimed to have smashed a ring which planned to peddle $10,000 worth of bogus firemen's field day tickets.

Harold Goheen, 30, a former Detroit fireman, and Robert A. Reynolds, 29, a member of the fire department, were held for investigation in the swindle. Two other men were sought. One was said to be a fireman.

Goheen, who resigned last March from the department while facing charges of being absent without leave, was arrested last night after he approached a fireman acquaintance and offered to sell him several of the bogus ticket books. The fireman called police.

Police said the books were excellent counterfeits of the legitimate tickets good for the field day Aug. 6-7. Officers said each book contained 50 tickets selling for 50 cents each.

Charge Murder Suspect Despite Many Loose Ends

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Burton W. Abbott has been formally charged in the kidnap-slaying of 14-year-old Stephanie Bryan, but authorities said today there are still many loose ends in this strange case.

In a brief preliminary hearing yesterday, Municipal Judge Louis J. Hardie continued the arraignment of the one-lunged accounting student to July 29.

Abbott has denied from the outset that he knew anything about the disappearance of the Berkeley High School girl last April 28. Now, under instructions from his lawyer, he has stopped talking.

* * *

He was arrested Wednesday night after the girl's decomposed body was found near the Abbott family's cabin in Trinity County 200 miles north of Berkeley.

Alameda County Prosecuting Atty. J. Frank Coakley, who yesterday filed a murder complaint against Abbott declared "We have ample evidence that Abbott killed Stephanie Bryan." The complaint was signed by Stephanie's father.

Abbott's wife and brother talked to him briefly today at the hearing. The brother, Mark, an efficiency expert at the Alameda Naval Air Station, conversed with an FBI agent. There was no indication what they talked about.

* * *

Mark contends—as does Burton Abbott's wife, Georgia—that Burton is too weak physically to have done the violent things that Stephanie's killer presumably did — overpower her in Berkeley, take her 200 miles north to Trinity County, bludgeon her or strangle her (the coroner says she could have died either way) and then haul her body 335 feet up a steep ridge and bury her in a rocky manzanita thicket.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UP) — Assets of state-chartered building and loan associations in Kentucky increased more than $15,000,000 during 1954 and totaled $123,945,022.64, the state banking department said.

Mother Clears Cop in Shooting

Officer Kills Her Son in Self-Defense Move When Making Arrest

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The mother of a youth who was shot and killed by a policeman last night said the officer "was within his rights," investigating police reported.

* * *

Mrs. Vera Connors, 37, mother of Arthur Dawson Roberts Jr., 19, witnessed the shooting by Patrolman C. B. Killean last night after she had called police with the message: "He's going to kill us."

She referred to herself and the boy's stepfather, Ronald Connors, 42, at whose home the tragedy occurred.

Mrs. Connors told Detective Lt. R. C. Grundish the boy was visiting and asked for a bottle of liquor. Grundish quoted the mother as saying she refused and the youth left the house and returned with a gun.

* * *

Grundish said it appeared that Killean fired in self defense when the boy then pointed the gun at him.

Operator of Drive-in Draws Fine for Minor

Lloyd W. Strong II, operator of a drive-in restaurant at 2156 Cass Lake Rd., Keego Harbor, yesterday was fined $100 plus $25 court costs by Sylvan Lake Justice J. J. Leavy for illegally employing a minor.

Strong was charged with employing a 16-year-old girl who had no working permit, according to Grace Olsen, deputy inspector for the State Department of Labor.

Minors under 18 years old must have working permits, she explained. With permits, those between 16 and 18 can work until 10 p.m. Minors 14 and 15 years old can work until 9 p.m., if possessing permits.
