

Board of Canvassers to Meet Monday on DST Issue

LANSING (AP) — The Board of State Canvassers will meet Monday to decide if Michigan must jump its clocks ahead an hour to Daylight Saving Time.

The State Supreme Court yesterday passed the hot time issue back into the hands of the canvassers.

Seven court members were unanim-mous in lifting a previous order preventing the canvassers from passing on the validity of petitions seeking to put the Daylight Saving Time issue on the November 1968 election ballot.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has ruled that the instant the canvassers certify the petitions as valid, the state automatically must go on Eastern Daylight Time.

Certifying the question for the ballot, Kelley ruled, will suspend the law exempting Michigan from federal daylight time.

Michigan was exempted by a measure passed by the Legislature and signed by the governor earlier this year.

Mrs. Esther Waite of East Lansing, canvassers board chairman, said she and State Election Director Robert Montgomery tried in vain last night to round up a quorum of the board to meet and make a decision today.

Three board members met yesterday morning — even as the high court was hearing oral arguments on the issue — to certify results of the special House election in the 75th District.

They, scattered to their homes by noon, however, not anticipating the fast action by the Supreme Court.

All four board members will be on hand for the Monday meeting, Mrs. Waite said.

Other members of the bipartisan board are Mrs. Zoe Burkholz of Benton Harbor, Alfred Fortino of St. Louis and Nathan Conyers of Detroit, newly appointed by Gov. Romney.

Women Look to Congress

War on Junk Mail Begun

Angered over rising postal rates and the large amount of junk mail they receive, a group of Rochester area women have undertaken a campaign aimed at easing both situations.

If the plan is successful, U.S. congressmen can expect to see a mountain of junk mail dumped on their Washington doorstep someday in September.

"We're collecting it from all parts of the county," said Mrs. William Tym-kow, vice president of the Avon-Rochester chapter of the Oakland County Democratic Women's Federation, whose members initiated the protest movement.

"We are hoping to get tons of junk mail to prove our point," she added.

A number of chapter members are planning to travel to Washington to personally deliver the unwanted mail, according to Mrs. Tymkow.

"If Congress is going to raise rates, let it be on junk mail," she said.

Postal rates have been raised recently and shortly they will go even higher on personal mail, said Mrs. Tymkow, yet, junk mail continues to be privileged and sent by the millions of pieces each day at the same low rate that it has always enjoyed.

Anyone can join in the protest, she said, by saving all their unopened junk mail and depositing it at Democratic headquarters at 1700 N. Telegraph, Bloomfield Township, or the South Oakland County Democratic office in Berkeley at Coolidge and Catalpa.

"If they can't drop it off, I'll travel anywhere to pick it up," said Mrs. Tymkow, 47555 Dequindre, Avon Township.

Buick Open Race Is Turning Red-Hot

GRAND BLANC — A red-hot race was developing here today as the leaders teed off in the third round of the $100,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament over the 7,126-yard Warwick Hills Country Club.

Bob Goalby and Tommy Aaron, the 36-hole co-leaders with two-under-par 142s, were sharing the lead with four other players after the first three holes of today's round.

Along with Goalby and Aaron in first place were Callaghan Al Gelberger—current national PGA champion—Texan Terry Dill, Hugh Royer of Georgia and Kermit Zarley of Seattle, Wash.

Gelberger and Royer birdied two of the first three holes after starting at even par 144; Dill and Zarley each birdied the first hole to tie for the lead.

BIRDIE ON FOURTH

Homero Blancas of Texas then made it a seven-way tie with a birdie on the fourth, but bogeyed the fifth.

Frank Beard of Kentucky joined the leaders with a second-hole birdie as Royer fell back with a bogey on the fourth.

More than 9,000 spectators turned out before noon today despite a definite threat of showers.

Lightning Kills Boy, Injures 3

A 10-year-old Bloomfield Township boy was killed and three other youths were injured — two of them seriously — when struck by lightning yesterday afternoon at Dodge No. 4 State Park in Waterford Township.

The dead boy was identified as Robert Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans O. Rose of 6677 Timber Ridge, Bloomfield Township. He was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

The victim's brother, James, 12, is listed in serious condition at the hospital. Listed in very serious condition is Robert LaFontaine, 17, of Detroit.

Also struck by lightning was Daniel Brown, 17, of Ferndale. He is listed in fair condition at the hospital.

The two Rose brothers were together with their mother, Carmen, and a younger brother, Paul, 7, at the west end of the beach. The other two youths were in the center part of the beach when the incident occurred, according to state police.

UNDER TREES

Both groups were under trees waiting for the storm to end, state police said.

Mrs. Rose and her youngest son also were knocked unconscious momentarily by the impact, according to witnesses. Neither required treatment.

The lightning-thunder burst, which struck at about 1:30 p.m., made "the whole ground shake," according to lifeguard Gary Gutman, 18, of Detroit.

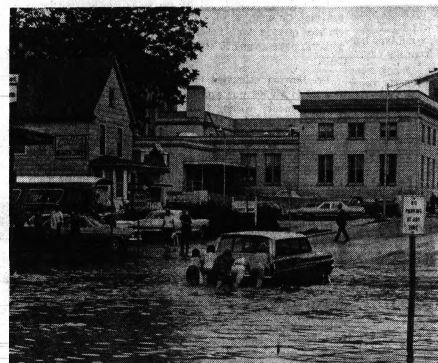

SPENCER TRACY

Kent Lake Drowning

A 16-year-old boy drowned in Kent Lake, Kensington Park, early today while wading in a non-swimming area, according to park police.

Officers said the body of Harold Steele of Detroit was recovered in nine feet of water near the shore of Old Canoe Island about 9:35 a.m. by lifeguard George Johnston. Steele died about 9 a.m., police said.

Power Failures, Flooding Are Widespread in Area

Lightning, which swept across Oakland county yesterday afternoon in a sudden rainstorm, knocked out scattered power lines, struck houses and killed a 10-year-old boy.

Power failures and flooded streets were widespread in more than a dozen area municipalities during the storm in which 1.5 inches of rain fell in winds of 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Most electric service was restored within three hours, spokesmen for Detroit Edison and Consumers Power Companies said.

About 1,600 customers served by the electric companies in Pontiac had power cut off at 2:15 p.m.

Lightning struck a two-story brick house in West Bloomfield Township, causing $17,000 worth of fire damage, fire officials said. The house was occupied by John Wade, 2820 Pine Lake.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

One boy was killed and three others were hospitalized when they were struck by lightning in Waterford Township.

A Detroit Edison spokesman said a large section of Pontiac, bounded by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Company tracks on the north and west, Arlene on the east and Montcalm on the south was affected.

About 800 customers, including Pontiac Northern High and Madison Junior High schools, were out of service. Rochester police report that their radio transmitter was blown out for about six hours.

Rainy Weekend Seen

Skies will be partly overcast with showers and thunderstorms on the agenda throughout the state over the weekend. Temperatures will continue warm.

Today's south to southwesterly winds at 12 to 22 miles will be briefly higher in showers today diminishing tonight.

Measurable precipitation probabilities in percent are today 50, tonight 60, tomorrow 50.

The low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 66. The mercury had climbed to 89 by 2 p.m.

Nasser to Stay as President

CAIRO (AP) — Gamel Abdel Nasser advised the Egyptian National Assembly today he is bowing to "the will of the people and will stay on as president of the United Arab Republic."

Nasser said he would stick to the post until Egypt "erased all traces of aggression."

Deputies jumped from their seats and roared approval as Speaker Anwar Sadat announced the news of the Arab leader's decision to a special session of the Assembly.

Sadat said Nasser was unable to make the announcement himself because huge crowds shouting for his return to power were blocking his way to the Assembly building.

"We do not accept anybody, but Nasser as our leader," the speaker told the assembly, repeating a slogan that had echoed through the canyons of metropolitan Cairo all night long.

VOICE OF MASSES

In a message read by the speaker to the 360-man Assembly, Nasser said: "The voice of the masses is an order that cannot be disobeyed. Therefore I decided to stay in my place."

"I will stay in the post where the people want me to be until the time when we will be able to erase all traces of aggression. But after that period the decision should be made in a general plebiscite."

Tens of thousands milled in the streets close to the Assembly building during the nighttime meeting.

Israelis Closing In on Syrian Troops

WITH ISRAELI FORCES, Syria (AP) — A giant Israeli strike force began closing its pincers on Syrian troops inside Syria today and brought death and destruction to two gun-studded hills which the Israelis say terrorized Israel's northern Galilee for 19 years.

"They ran like rabbits when they saw our campaign hats," said a young Israeli lieutenant, fingering the barrel of a sub-machine gun still warm from hours of night fighting.

By dawn today the two hills — Tel Azaziat and Tel Hamra — had been wrecked by a combined Israeli tank and artillery assault.

Blackened steel girders twisted over a clump of dead Syrian soldiers around a Soviet-made mortar.

Some of the destruction appeared to have been caused by exploding Bangalore torpedoes which the Syrians had used for two attacks on kibbutz settlements earlier in the war.

MT. HERMON

Machine guns were clattering in the foothills of Mt. Hermon, the highest Syrian peak on the three-bordered junction with Israel and Lebanon.

Pontiac State Set as Surgical Center

Pontiac State Hospital will begin operation July 1 when it formally begins operation as a central surgical facility for three other state mental health hospitals.

Dr. Donald Dawson, director of medicine and surgery, announced the "central surgery" designation yesterday.

Pontiac State, which in the past year has reorganized its medical service into a 352-bed unit, is to provide central medical service for Northville, Ypsilanti and Newberry State Hospitals, according to Dr. Dawson.

Authorized by the state legislature along with an appropriation of up to $400,000, the surgery program represents a new concept in treating medical problems of the mentally ill, explained Dr. Dawson.

"The psychiatric patient does get sick," said Dr. Dawson, pointing out that the physical as well as mental ill must receive optimum treatment.

HIGH CALIBER PHYSICIANS

He said the new concept of medical service is being applied first at Pontiac State because of the university calibre of the physicians in the community.

"Our progress here would not have been possible without that," he added.

The state appropriation is to be used to add equipment and some 48 medical staff positions, which includes the supporting services of the various technicians.

Keyed to the new "central surgery" role of Pontiac State Hospital is affiliation with two general hospitals, Pontiac General Hospital and William Beaumont, Royal Oak.

These affiliations will provide the program with four full-time resident residents and a consulting staff in surgery of some 20 surgeons, explained Dr. Dawson.

Speaking of mental health hospitals in general, Dr. Dawson pointed out that the new program meant an end to the "infirmity" type medical service prevalent in mental institutions.

Pontiac State launched a reorganization of its medical service last July, establishing a 352-bed unit. Seventy of these beds are to serve as surgical beds for the new program.

The medical service reorganization was tied to the hiring of five full-time physicians, according to Dawson.

UNITS SET UP

Also set up was an 87-bed medical geriatric unit, an 80-bed diabetic unit, a 40-bed chronic disease unit for non-geriatric patients and 75 "open" beds.

Dr. Dawson estimated that $35,000 to $40,000 was expended to remodel existing facilities, to accommodate the 352-bed medical service area.

Commenting on the future for the "central surgery" program, Dr. Dawson said hospitals would be added on the basis of Pontiac State's "ability to serve."

He said a second phase of the program, which currently has a timetable of the 1968-69 fiscal year, would involve an estimated $1 million remodeling of the hospital's acute medical care facilities.

A spokesman for the St. Louis Archdiocese reported that his doctor said death came peacefully at 5:45 a.m.

The cardinal had suffered two heart attacks since entering DePaul Hospital Monday.

He said the bandits took his wallet, containing some $110 in cash, and his pants valued at $15, then fled on foot.

Queen Marks 41st Birthday

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II celebrated her 41st birthday today with traditional military pomp and pageantry on London's Horse Guards Parade. Bright sunshine flashed on the breastplates and drawn sabers of her household cavalry.

The queen, in scarlet tunic of the Grenadiers, rode the brown gelding Noddy to take the salute. She was accompanied by her husband, Prince Philip, in the uniform of colonel of the Welsh Guard.

This is the official celebration of the queen's birthday, which really is April 21. It is celebrated in June for chances of better weather and to give tourists a show.

Two Guardsmen went down under the heat and their high fur hats and were carried off before the queen arrived. None fainted during the ceremony.

Hanoi Electric Plant Bombed by U.S. Jets

SAIGON (AP) — Jet warplanes from three U.S. aircraft carriers bombed an electric plant in Hanoi today in addition to targets on the city's outskirts. One plane was lost, U.S. spokesmen said.

The planes, from the Constellation, Bon Homme Richard and Enterprise, flew through a hail of groundfire from the defense network known as the "Iron Triangle." The Communist air force offered no battle although "the raids were successful," a headquarters spokesman said.

One Navy F8 Crusader was shot down by the heavy Communist fire, the spokesman said. The pilot is missing.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported from Hanoi that three U.S. planes were downed.

RED MORTAR ATTACK

The raids against the heartland of North Vietnam followed hard on the heels of a bloody Communist mortar attack early today against five U.S. and South Vietnamese installations around Pleiku. The attacks left 26 dead, including two Americans, and 121 wounded.

The bombed thermal power plant is only 1.1 miles from Hanoi's geographic center. The power plant has been raided twice before.

The Crusader was the 570th plane reported downed over North Vietnam.

Aside from the mortar assaults, however, the week-long slowdown in ground fighting continued. U.S. aircraft also flaw strikes against rail facilities in North Vietnam and struck widely scattered targets in South Vietnam.

NO SIGNIFICANCE

In Saigon military sources said they saw no significance in the hull in fighting. They pointed out that periods of intense combat often have been separated by periods of minor skirmishing.

The raids on the Red capital area were the first in three weeks. The last previous strike close to Hanoi was on May 22 when planes hit a military barracks six miles from the city.

There had been reports, never officially confirmed, that U.S. warplanes have been avoiding Hanoi and Haiphong in favor of supply targets elsewhere.

Governor Opposes Entry Into Assassination Probe

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Gov. John J. McKeithen said yesterday he thinks state government should stay officially out of the investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy.

The New Orleans Metropolitan Crime Commission had asked Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion to look into reports of a bribe and intimidation of a witness by two of Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's investigators.

Garrison Novel, wanted by Garrison as a material witness, withdrew yesterday his multimillion-dollar federal damage suit against Garrison and his financial backers.

Novel's New Orleans attorney Steve Plotkin, said Thursday the move was necessary to prevent Novel's returning to Louisiana to give an oral deposition in the case and thus becoming subject to arrest by Garrison.

U. S. Dist. Judge James A. Conmisky ruled earlier that Novel had to make the deposition to Garrison's lawyers in New Orleans.

REFER TO STORY

An organizer of "Truth and Consequences," a group giving financial support to Garrison's probe, said $9,032 of $9,418 raised for the investigation has been spent.

The crime commission, headed by former FBI agent Aaron Kohn, referred to a story in Newsweek magazine which said two investigators tried to bribe Alvin Beaubouef, a former roommate of the late David W. Ferrie.

The story said the two men offered Beaubouef $3,000 and a job to fill in the facts about the alleged conspiracy to kill Kennedy.

Garrison has denied the report.

The article said Beaubouef said he knew nothing about the alleged plot involving Clay L. Shaw, Jack Ruby, Lee Harvey Oswald and Ferrie.

The Waterford Township Board is slated to receive an engineers' report Monday night on bids opened earlier this week for construction of a sanitary sewer project.

Five firms submitted bids for the project. However, the apparent low bid of $155,887 exceeds the estimated construction cost my more than 1 per cent and, consequently, the project may have to be re-bid in accordance with Public Act 188.

The project consists of installation of more than one mile of sewers and house leads on parts of Marion, Elizabeth Lake, Voorhees, Chadwick and Colrain.

In other business, the board is scheduled to receive a report from the Oakland County Department of Public Works concerning the township's cost share of the proposed Clinton Oakland Sewage Disposal System.

Also the board will discuss the proposed purchase of a $33,000 billing machine for the treasurer's office and a proposed switchboard telephone system for township hall.

Even If He Retains Leadership

Nasser to Lose Much of His Power

By The Associated Press

Gamal Abdel Nasser rose to power and Arab prominence on a wave of Arab bitterness at the Western world. Now, in the ashes of Arab disillusionment, much of this power and leadership must slip away from him no matter how the Cairo crisis in leadership is resolved.

Nasser was a hero — one of the few on the Arab side — in the first Palestine war between Arabs and Jews. He so distinguished himself on the Faluga front in Palestine that fellow officers dubbed him "Tiger of Faluga."

To Egyptians he was El Ri-yees — the boss. Many an Arab looked on him as a new Saladin, the reincarnation of the legendary 12th century Arab hero.

The shattering military defeat suffered by Egypt this week's brilliant 15-year career as the outstanding figure of all Arab-

LEADERSHIP QUALITIES

Nasser had innate qualities of leadership. He was a man of personal courage. He had been the first man of his battalion to be wounded in action — a bullet in his shoulder — in the 1948-49 war against the Jews. He returned to the fray and fought furiously. He won high decorations from the man he hated most — King Farouk of Egypt. In Palestine, even while the war was on, he plotted with fellow officers to bring down the corrupt monarch in Cairo.

Nasser founded and led the secret Free Officers Movement. As an obscure 34-year-old military man, he planned and directed the coup of July 23, 1952, which forced Farouk to abdicate. A gentle major general named Mohammed Naguib took over as figurehead leader, but Nasser pulled the strings.

He became deputy chairman of the Revolutionary Command Council, minister of interior and deputy premier. In April 1954, he dropped the pretense, pushed Naguib aside and became premier himself. Naguib ever since has remained under house arrest in Cairo. Nasser became the one-man ruler. He proclaimed Egypt a republic and became its president. Through Arabdom, his rise was hailed as the end of colonialism in Egypt after four centuries under foreign rule: first Turkish, then French and British.

"I have given the Egyptian people dignity," he proclaimed. In turn, the impoverished masses of Egypt gave him fanatical adoration.

Nasser was all-Arab, unlike many Egyptians who are part African. He was born Jan. 15, 1918, at Beni Mer, in upper Egypt's Assiut Province. His family and ancestors were what Arabs call "people of the soil" — farmers. His father, however, became a postal clerk in Cairo and sent young Gamal to school there.

Nasser was enrolled in a military academy in 1937 at the age of 19 and was graduated as a second lieutenant in the infantry in July 1938. He joined the 3rd Battalion of Musketeers and at the outbreak of World War II was stationed in Alexandria, then at the El Alamein area.

Thereafter he spent two years on duty in what was then the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

After study and graduation with distinction at the military academy in Cairo, Nasser was married in 1944. Five children — three sons and two daughters — were born of the marriage.

Once Nasser took over as Egypt's new leader, the complete "liberation" of the country from the remnants of colonialism became an obsession with him. He worked systematically to drive the British out of the Suez Canal Zone, where the British held sway for 72 years until 1955.

Nasser preached pan-Arab nationalism, Arab unity against the West and Israel, and was felt by many to have had ambitions to expand Egypt's territory and to master to much of the Moslem world in the Middle East and Africa.

At the same time he had ambitions for Egypt. His regime was responsible for attempts to reclaim desert to help feed Egypt's crowded millions, and for the concept of a high dam across the Nile at Aswan, which would reclaim millions of arable acres. Rebuffed by the West in this dream, he turned to the Russians, got their help and had it near to realization before his last military adventure.

Bids Opened on Hamlin Drain Project

Six bids on the Hamlin Drain project, ranging from $930,506 to $1,157,825, were opened yesterday by the drain committee of the County Board of Supervisors and turned over to engineers for evaluation.

Low bidder on the drain serving Bloomfield Township and the City of Pontiac was the Greenfield Construction Co.

The drain committee will meet again in about a week to award the contract.

Original bidding on the project was done last winter, and the contract was awarded to Seymour Wisniam Corp. on a proposal of $799,000.

The contractor withdrew, however, when sale and delivery of bonds was not accomplished by the April 8 date specified in the contract.

Rebidding was authorized by the drain committee May 25.

the watch that works perfectly down to 660 ft.

Deep-sea divers and skin divers say there is just one perfect watch for them: The Rolex Submariner.

The Submariner resists pressure down to 660 ft. underwater. Tests proved that innumerable deep-sea dives did not affect it. This is because its precision movement is enclosed in a special Oyster case. Extra-luminous minute, hour and second hands make it easy to read in the twilight of deep waters, and a special revolving bezel makes it possible for a diver to check his decompression time clearly. The Submariner is self-winding . . . the ideal watch for everyone who dives, sails or swims.

Aviatix Due in Miami Tonight

Memorial Flight Is Under Way

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—A pretty Michigan housewife took off in a vintage airplane today, hoping to complete the round-the-world flight on which aviatrix Amelia Earhart disappeared 30 years ago.

Mrs. Ann Pellegrino, 30, of Saline was scheduled to arrive in Miami tonight. She arrived in Fort Worth last night in her 30-year-old Lockheed Model 10 Electra, a sister plane to that flown by Miss Earhart.

Mrs. Pellegrino, a touse-haired blonde in a red windbreaker and blue slacks, looked enough like Miss Earhart to be her daughter as she left Oakland, Calif., yesterday, to officially begin the flight.

After stopping for fuel in Tucson, Ariz., she continued to Fort Worth to spend last night. Today she plans to fly to Miami, with a stop for fuel in New Orleans, La.

She will be accompanied by a three-man crew as she follows the same course flown by Miss Earhart. She plans to depart from New Guinea at exactly the time of day on July 2 as Amelia did on her 1937 flight to Howland Island.

"I am 30," she said, "the plane is 30 years old and this is the 30th anniversary year of Miss Earhart's flight. That's a lot of coincidences."

She was accompanied by Air Force Col. William Payne, her copilot, and Lee Koepke, her mechanic. Koepke purchased the plane and rebuilt it in 1961. Her navigator, William Polhemus, Ann Arbor, will join the party in Miami.

After leaving Miami — she hopes on Sunday — the plane will head to Brazil, Africa, India, New Guinea, Howland Island, Honolulu and back to Oakland, probably about July 7-8.

Mrs. Pellegrino flew to Oakland from Detroit, but already was a day off her schedule because of weather conditions. A forced overnight stop was made Wednesday at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

FATAL FLIGHT

Mrs. Pellegrino began making plans for her air trip after reading Fred Goerner's book, "The Search for Amelia Earhart," which speculated Miss Earhart's fatal journey ended somewhere near the Marshall Islands.

"We are aware of the navigational difficulties faced by Miss Earhart and her navigator and believe we can show that their route of flight could only have been to Howland," said Mrs. Pellegrino. "Our hope is to write finish to a chapter of American aviation which has long been a subject of controversy."

A plea of innocent was entered and Judge Joseph E. Maher remanded him to jail in lieu of $2,000 bond.

The Calder sculpture was found Thursday in a trash can at the institute by Willis F. Woods, the director. Woods also found Bieri in the men's room, where he was arrested, police said.

CALLS PLACED

Police said Bieri had earlier placed calls to museum officials offering to ransom the Calder piece and two other works that had been stolen from the museum.

The other pieces were a tempera on-wood painting, the "Angel of the Annunciation," by an unknown Austrian artist, and a bronze nude, "Virtue Triumphant over Vice," by Giovanna DaBologna.

The painting was stolen on May 1, and the nude has been missing since 1948.

Bieri's calls were traced to a phone booth in the institute, leading Woods to Bieri in the men's room.

'Blood All Over Me' — Speck in Interview

CHICAGO (UPI) — The day to you? I'm trying to cooperate. after eight nurses were killed in their South Side town house dormitory, Richard Speck woke up "with blood all over me," according to newly released court records.

Circuit Court Judge Jerbert C. Paschen yesterday made public accounts of interviews between Speck and three different psychiatrists.

The interviews contained a great deal of incriminating evidence against Speck, including his statement that "I killed 16 people with this crime — the eight girls and my family."

During one of the interviews, Speck told a doctor, "I don't remember the day it happened. But I had blood on my hands when I woke up. . . I must have done it."

However, the court records also showed that Speck apparently told a contradictory story to public defender Gerald W. Getty.

"He (Speck) claims that he was not there (in the murder house)," Getty said at a hearing in Paschen's chambers. He tells me that if anyone identifies him they are wrong. He has denied to me . . . that he never perpetrated the offenses."

BASED ON SUPPOSITION

Getty said it was because of these statements that he decided to seek an acquittal for Speck, based on the supposition that there was reasonable doubt as to the killer.

But Dr. William Norcross, medical director of the House of Correction Hospital where Norcross interviewed Speck shortly after he was captured, quoted the lanky drifter as saying:

"Look doc, why should I lie to you? I'm trying to cooperate. I'm convinced that I'm the killer. I admit that. Why should I lie about the rest?"

The testimony was placed in Circuit Court records during a pretrial hearing on defense motion to suppress all statements made by Speck while he was in custody.

MATERIAL WITHHELD

In releasing the transcript, Paschen said the material had been withheld to prevent influencing jurors in Speck's trial on charges of stabbing and strangling the nurses in their town house apartment in Chicago last July 14.

A jury of seven men and five women convicted Speck April 15 on eight counts of murder and on Monday Paschen sentenced him to death in the electric chair. Speck is scheduled to die Sept. 1.

Court Upholds Florida Claim of Seminoles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Seminole Indians, losers in a bloody battle more than a century ago that ended with their eviction from their Florida homeland, have scored what could be a very profitable victory in court.

A U.S. Claims Court ruled Friday the Seminoles have established their legal ownership of almost all of Florida.

The court said the Indians must be paid for 32 million acres—a decision that could cost the U.S. government about $40 million. The court's unanimous decision still could be appealed to the Supreme Court.

When the United States got Florida from Spain in 1821, the Seminoles hunted and fished over most of the land. They were forced to occupy a reservation of 1.5 million acres two years later and awarded $152,500 for the 28 million acres they lost.

INDIANS REBELLED

The Indians rebelled when the government later tried to move them to an Oklahoma reservation. Joined by runaway Negro slaves, they battled federal troops for seven years, killing 1,500 U.S. soldiers.

No treaty ever was signed. But 3,824 Seminoles and Negroes finally were sent to Oklahoma while other Indians fled into the Florida Everglades. An estimated 1,300 Seminoles now live there.

The government argued the Indians originally owned only a small part of Florida. But the Claims Court said actual possession need not be proved to show they had rightful title to most of Florida.

Son Is Slain, Man Quizzed

PORT HURON (UP) — The St. Clair County Sheriff's Department was today questioning the father of a Fargo man, who was found shot to death last night.

Authorities said sheriff's deputies and officials from the prosecutor's office would determine what charge, if any, would be filed against the man later today.

The victim was identified as Wade Laney Jr., 37, of Fargo. His father, Wade Laney, was picked up for questioning last night, after the shooting was discovered.

Authorities would reveal no details of the shooting, pending further investigation.

Role in Triggering Mideast War Suspected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Information supplied to Egypt by the Soviet Union evidently exerted an important influence on President Gamal Abdel Nasser's decisions to make the military and political moves last month which helped trigger the Middle East war crisis.

Nasser himself tended to corroborate this in his resignation speech yesterday when he said Moscow had told Egyptians of an Israeli "scheme against Syria."

U.S. officials had received information earlier, apparently from intelligence sources, that a Soviet warning to the Arabs had served to stir their excitement over what Americans had regarded as more or less normal tensions.

U.S. officials had suspected also that the Syrian hostility toward Israel, expressed in persistent border raids this spring, possibly had received Communist encouragement.

KREMLIN ROLE

This raises the question of the Kremlin role in the early days of the crisis—and U.S. officials are divided in their assessment.

Some believe the Soviets deliberately stoked the crisis out of growing Israeli-Syrian tensions. Others see the Soviet strategy as exploiting whatever they could to boost their influence in the Middle East and weaken America's.

But officials agree the Kremlin apparently did not want the war which broke out Monday after the sequence which saw Egypt and Syria move forces toward the Israeli frontier after Nasser's ouster of the U.N. force and proclaimed blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba.

The Soviet wound up using the hot line to Washington and voting in the United Nations for a cease-fire.

Nasser said in his speech both President Johnson and the Soviet government asked him on May 26 to refrain from beginning any war. But he also confirmed that information supplied by the Soviet Union had figured in his policy decisions.

"In the middle of May," Nasser said, "there was a plan by the enemy to invade Syria. There was ample evidence of this. Our friends in the Soviet Union informed a parliamentary delegation visiting Moscow that there was a scheme against Syria."

"We felt we should not tolerate this, as a duty to Arab brotherhood, and for security purposes."

With the war virtually over, signs now are that Washington and Moscow again will pursue divergent courses in the Middle East following their brief togetherness in U.N. voting.

Some unconfirmed reports had Soviet arms on their way to Egypt even during the fighting. The Kremlin in past years supplied an estimated billion dollars worth of weapons to Egypt and an equal amount to its other Arab friends.

U.S. agricultural exports during 1967 are expected to total about $7 billion.

Area Voters Face School Issues

Monday is an important day for Oakland County residents and taxpayers. It's election day in school districts throughout the County. We have the opportunity to select our school board members and decide some school tax issues. We should all exercise that right.

In the Pontiac School District there will be seven candidates vying for two board positions. In the Waterford Township School District, 11 are running for three board seats. In both Pontiac and Waterford, as well as all other districts in Oakland County, voters will be asked to approve or reject a half-mill tax levy for building four area vocational education centers.

This is an important proposal worthy of careful consideration.

If approved, it would cost taxpayers an additional 50 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation. The money raised by this levy would be used to build a center in each quadrant of the County. Each center would supplement vocational and technical education curriculums in every high school in Oakland.

Once built, the centers would be operated on county, state and federal funds; not local school district money.

The only cost to school districts would be that of transporting their students to the nearest center. Proponents of the vocational centers say they are needed because school districts are financially unable to provide programs necessary to keep pace with industry in our rapidly changing technological society.

If built, the centers would offer courses in such fields as auto mechanics, data processing, electrical trades, electronics, health services, mechanical occupations, machine shop, off-machine repair and welding.

Aside from the vocational education millage issue in all districts, there are separate millage proposals to be decided in the Troy, Holly, Avondale, Oxford, Romeo, Dryden and Clarenceville school districts.

The tax proposals in Troy and Holly have probably drawn most attention. The Troy School District is asking for a one-year tax levy of $7 per $1,000 of assessed property value to retire current school district debts and continue present programs.

In Holly, voters will decide a 10-mill tax package — continuation of a current $7 per $1,000 of assessed valuation tax levy plus an additional levy of $3 per $1,000 which school district officials say is needed to prevent a deficit and maintain present programs.

The point of it all is that regardless of how you vote, you should cast a ballot Monday. There are too many important matters on the ballot to pass up this election. It would be a shame to see these proposals decided by only a slim minority of the voters in our respective school districts.

Pontiac Symphony Orchestra Merits Big Hand

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra has rung down the curtain on another successful season—the 13th since this fine organization was formed.

Under direction of FELIX RESNICK for the past seven years, the Symphony has each year strengthened its role in the cultural life of the community.

RESNICK

The 48-year-old conductor, who also serves the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra in similar capacity and is a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, has created a noteworthy musical medium whereby music enthusiasts may find an outlet for their talent while providing entertainment for appreciative audiences.

Personnel of the orchestra of 65 is largely amateur, although a core of professionals give it artistic balance, and is composed for most part of those now in other walks of life who have had previous orchestral experience.

Additionally, some 15 students of exceptional musical skill are found among those who each year qualify for the orchestra in pre-season auditions that are open to all.

A 1966-67 innovation that won wide acceptance was the adoption of the "family plan" for three of the program's eight concerts. Under the plan, the entire family, regardless of size, is admitted for a flat price of $2.

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra is truly a "home industry" and worthy of the patronage and support of the area citizenry.

U.S., Russia Must Rebuild Arab Ties

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON—The Johnson administration and the Soviets now will pat themselves on the back — a pat well deserved — for preserving enough sanity in the Middle East frenzy to avoid a world war.

But even as they pride themselves both must take a deep sight and recognize themselves to the fact they have a lot of work to do, years of it, to try to win friends and influence people among the Arabs all over again.

The Soviet Union has a head start but not exactly a 100 per cent report card.

As the crisis mounted, the Soviet Union said it supported the Arabs but this didn't amount to more than denouncing Israel when the war began and the Israelis climbed all over the Arabs.

And after the fighting started and the U.N. Security Council wrung its hands over the wording of a cease-fire resolution that all 15 council members could agree upon, the Soviets insisted on one that would help the Arabs.

In the end the Soviets backed down, settled for the simple cease-fire, and left the Arabs in a humiliating position. They're not likely to forget that the Soviet Union, which said it supported them, didn't in the show-down.

The Soviets, for their part, probably are disgusted with the Arabs for being zany enough to get mixed up in a war they couldn't fight. On this point the Soviets will have to do some self-examining.

Their own intelligence system — which should have known how unready the Arabs were for war — must have failed, with the result that Moscow stuck its neck out on the side of the loser before the fighting began.

The United States did a soft-shoe dance as the temperature went up in the Middle East, trying to maintain a neutral position, but stumbled over what it meant by neutral while there were denunciations of the United States, who thought the United States would remain neutral if Israel was in danger of elimination by the Arabs.

COOKED UP MYTH

The Arabs showed their resentment of the United States by cooking up the myth that U. S. and British planes attacked their oil refineries, by mob scenes around U. S. Embassies, by cutting off diplomatic relations and by threatening to shut off oil supplies for the Western powers.

So, while the Arabs can't avoid feeling let down by the Soviets, it was against the United States they expressed their resentment. This alone will make it harder for the United States to patch things up.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Of the many stories of faith to come from the American Leprosy Missions, Govind Patel's is one of the most inspiring. His faith carried him through one of the deepest despair man can know.

A successful cloth merchant and high caste Hindu in his home town in central India, he was devoutly religious. Then tragedy struck; the symptoms of leprosy appeared. He turned over his business to his college educated sons and daughter, and left home to spare them disgrace. His condition, when it became known, ruined the girl's marriage plans. She and the sons renounced him and sent word that they considered him dead.

For a year, Patel wandered from one holy place to another, looking for help. When all seemed hopeless, he heard of the Naimi Leprosy Hospital at Allahabad near the Ganges River, where he had gone to die.

A Christian doctor at the hospital gave him hope and dignity for the first time. He learned his condition could be cured and that surgery and physiotherapy would help regain the use of his hands and feet. Patel, in gratitude, offered his services as a hospital attendant. "There is nothing too menial for me to do to help a fellow sufferer," he said.

Patel also learned of a higher power of healing than that in the treatment room. Each morning he can be seen at prayers in the lovely white Christian chapel and at services on Sunday.

Confident Living:

You Can Accomplish Your Goals

BY NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Nobody ever achieved anything who did not consistently build himself up in his thoughts, telling himself until he believed it as fact that by his own abilities he could accomplish his objectives and goals.

Never build a case against yourself in your own mind because the DR. PEALE mind tends to develop the thought-image that it holds.

Build a case for yourself and it has a big chance of coming to pass as imagined.

President Calvin Coolidge spent a summer vacation in the Black Hills. He always attended Sunday services and a Secret Service man was sent out ahead to find a church for the President.

Early on a Sunday morning he located a small church where a young man, whom he took to be the janitor, was dusting pews and setting hymn books in place.

"Good morning," he said, "I would like to speak to the minister."

"I am the minister," the young man answered.

"Do you usually have a large congregation?" the Secret Service man asked.

"Not very big, just a few farmers. You see I'm only a student preacher here for the summer. Don't know much about preaching," he smiled, "but if you would like to stay for services I'll do the best I can. This is my first Sunday."

"I'll be here all right," the other replied. "You see, I've come to tell you that President Coolidge and his official party will worship with you this morning."

The young man's face turned alternately red and white. His teeth all but chattered. "Oh, no, President Coolidge couldn't be coming to this church! I can't do it," he gasped.

The Secret Service man put his arm on the young man's shoulders. "Listen, son," he said, "this President of the United States is a plain and simple man. Anyway, he may not hear anything you say for when he goes to church all he does is think about his mother."

"You just get up there in the pulpit and give it all you've got. You can do it. And I'll be pulling for you."

The young pastor looked at his watch. "I've got two hours," he said and he rushed to his room. He had prepared in advance seven sermons to cover the seven Sundays he would be preaching in this little church.

He picked the best points out of the seven and put these together to make one sermon. Fearfully and tremblingly he delivered his sermon.

Afterward the Secret Service man patted him on the shoulder and said, "Boy, I knew you could do it! You know what the President told me to tell you? That it was the best sermon he has heard in a long while, and since he is going to be here for six weeks he will be in this church every Sunday to hear you."

If ever again the young minister was haunted by feelings of inadequacy, which attack each of us at times in life, he could remind himself that, when you have to come through, you can do it. Remember that the good Lord is on your side and gives you strength equal to your responsibilities.

Retirees Take Joke Seriously

By DAVE BURGIN
WASHINGTON (NEA)

U.S. protocol chief James Symington just may have something to put an end to, or at least to curtail, all these books and memoirs which give away government secrets.

No wadays, Symington says, it seems about every retiring government worker heads straight for a publisher hoping to cash in on the inside story explosion.

Symington proposes House Bill 970 to protect national security. Basically, it would offer retired government workers a subsidy not to publish their memoirs.

Authors would just tell a federal commission set up by the bill how much publishers had offered for the book. The government could then decide whether it wanted to make a higher offer to them to preserve security.

'More Careful Sp... Could Ease Tax Burden

The only answer politicians have to every problem is "raise the taxes." They warn that we will have to resort to a severe austerity program unless taxes are raised again. Big deal! Things have been getting more austere at my house each year as taxes go up. I am all for some rigorously-practiced thrift in government, whether local, state or national. If we could erase some of the wasteful and dishonest practices at all governmental levels, the taxpayers' burden could be eased considerably.

What is needed is an aroused public demanding that Senators and Representatives say no to outlandish projects, not only in other districts but in their own back yards. I'm willing to try it. Won't others join me?

'Let's Request Constitutional Convention'

Why is Governor Romney so opposed to a national constitutional convention to add amendments to the Constitution? What is so terrible about letting the people decide what they want for the Nation? Maybe if there was a convention there would be a reversal of the trend toward the harboring of criminals and people could walk the streets without feeling they are hurting someone's "rights" if they resist an attack.

Only two more states need to request a convention before Congress must call one. I hope Michigan will be one of those states. Write your Congressman and the Governor and urge them to request the convention.

Has Good Word for Plan to Aid Smokers

Recently a five-day plan for smokers was conducted, sponsored by the Seventh Day Adventist Church. This was a free service and two fine doctors donated much time and effort to aid those who wished to break the smoking habit but could not do it alone. As a heavy smoker for 30 years and one who has tried unsuccessfully to stop many times, I can vouch for the success of this plan.

A Junior Editor's Old Call for August Is Highest of '67

THE FRIGTON (AP) — The U.S. Army has gone up again and may have to stay there for at least the next few months.

"The men drafted two years ago when the Vietnam buildup began are now getting out," a Selective Service spokesman said.

He suggested that could be one reason for the Pentagon's announcement Friday that the August quota would go up to 29,000 — largest call-up since last year — from 19,000 in July. All the August inductees are earmarked for Army service.

For the same reason, he indicated, the quotas may have to remain high unless enlistments take care of the needs, the needs go down, or Reserves are called up.

FEBRUARY 1965

The draft call was at a low point in February 1965 — 3,000. But it more than doubled for March of that year to 7,900. It kept going up to 40,200 by December of that year.

AUGUST 1965

In August 1965, the call-up was 16,500. That was boosted to 24,400 for September, a 48 percent increase.

A similar increase from the 29,000 set for this August would put the September quota at nearly 43,000. But the call-up has been as high as 40,000 only three times since the war in Vietnam began: December, 1965, 40,200; May, 1966, 40,600; and October, 1966, 49,200.

Hong Kong Strike Fizzles

HONG KONG (UPI) — A massive general strike called by Communist "antisuppression" committees for all Hong Kong public facilities failed to materialize today. In a mid-night raid, police arrested 25 movie house employees for putting up wall posters.

Two Communist newspapers had published reports that a general strike against military and government medical services, the marine department, the water works and post office departments would begin today. Private British-owned enterprises were also included in the strike call.

However, government authorities reported the only strike today hit a private dairy farm.

In the raid on the movie house, police tore down wall posters criticizing the Hong Kong British government and seized recording and amplifying equipment. All 25 employees of the Kowloon Theater were arrested.

Jericho's Walls Fall for Israelis

JERICHO, Israel-occupied Jordan (AP) — They fought another battle of Jericho and the walls came tumbling down with hardly a shot being fired.

An Israeli motorized column chased retreating Jordanian armor down the main road east from Jerusalem Thursday, and swinging toward the city on the banks of the Jordan River. Then they waited for Israeli planes to do a modern version of the tactic used by the great Jewish general, Joshua.

Joshua's men marched around the walls and then shouted them down: psychological warfare before the term was invented.

This time Israeli air force planes swooped over town, dropped a few bombs to frighten the inhabitants and flew away. The city fell so quickly that today there was none of the traditional debris of war in it.

'ON TO AMMAN'

"If the army would let us, we'd go on to Amman," said a young man.

After Jericho had been secured, there was a brief incident. Palestine refugees, whom the Israeli believe were members of the Palestine Liberation Army, staged a counterattack from the refugee camp north of the city. The Israelis fired back, forcing them back at once.

Along the 25 miles of the Jerusalem-Jericho highway, where a road was built with American aid, lay the burned or overturned carcasses of some 30 to 40 Jordanian trucks, tanks and weapons carriers of British and American manufacture.

The road leads to the Jordan River, running into the Dead Sea. There is a small, shaded picnic site where Jesus was baptized. Today it was deserted.

But Hebron, southwest of Jerusalem and long a hotbed of agitation against Israel by Palestine refugees, was occupied by bus loads of young Israeli troops. They had been CAPTURED LEADER—Reies Lopez Tijerina, 40, leader of a group of Spanish-Americans claiming rights to millions of acres of land under old Spanish land grants, was captured early today near Albuquerque, N. M. He is shown here being escorted into the Santa Fe city jail where charges against him include assault with intent to commit murder.

Mideast Evacuees Arrive in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 300 Americans, most women and children, have arrived here by plane from the Middle East with hundreds more expected to be flown in today.

A Trans World Airlines jet landed yesterday at Kennedy Airport with 166 persons aboard, mostly children of military dependents from Libya. A number of nurses took charge of the youngsters.

Also arriving at Kennedy were about 150 women and children, families of U.S. employees of the Arabian American Oil Co. in Saudi Arabia.

Most of the adult travelers carried few belongings, and few would give any information about themselves.

MAKE TROUBLE

"After all," said one woman, "our husbands are still there, and we wouldn't want to say anything to make trouble for them."

There was a lot of vandalism against Americans," another peaceful people. They were just woman said. "But the Arabs are aroused by the radio."

New Mexico Rebel Caught at Roadblock

BERNALILLO, N.M. (AP)—Reies Tijerina, object of a giant manhunt which included tanks and the National Guard, was arrested with two other men at a state police roadblock south of Bernalillo today.

Tijerina is the leader of the militant Spanish-American group which allegedly raided a rural northern New Mexico courthouse last Monday, shot two police officers and took two other men as hostages.

Tijerina, 40, who had vowed to fight to the end, was armed with a loaded .38-caliber automatic but offered no resistance when arrested by three state police. He was taken to Santa Fe and jailed under heavy guard.

Officers said that with Tijerina in the car were his son, Hugh Reyes Tijerina, 19, and Uvalde Velasquez, 47, Youngville, N.M., an employee of the anti-poverty Home Education Livelihood Program—HELP. They also were jailed.

TELEPHONES POLICE

A service station operator at San Ysidro, northwest of Bernalillo, telephoned state police dispatcher Frank Wallace at Albuquerque that a car stopped and the driver bought $2 worth of gas. The operator said he saw a man who he believed was Tijerina get out of the car and get a drink of water from a hose.

Wallace dispatched state police Lt. Jess Sosa and officers Arthur Sedillo and Tony Gonzales to the scene and they made the arrests at 12:47 a.m.

In announcing the arrests, state police Chief Joe Black said, "That's a jewel that dropped out of the setting. And we picked it up."

Tijerina's car was headed toward Albuquerque, about 20 miles south of Bernalillo, where Tijerina maintained headquarters before going into hiding.

FOLLOWERS AT LARGE

Still at large were several of Tijerina's followers, including a brother, Cristobal Tijerina, and Baltazar Martinez, who officers said took the two hostages from the courthouse. The hostages were not harmed.

After the raid, during which more than a dozen gunmen occupied the Rio Arriba County courthouse for an hour and held about 25 persons captive, state police and guardsmen chased them from Tierra Amarilla into the hills east of the tiny community of Canjilon.

A search by about 500 men of a 2,500-square mile area of the Carson National Forest this week failed to turn up any of the most wanted leaders of the group, which is called the Confederation of Free City States. The group contends its members are heirs under old Spanish land grants to millions of acres in the Southwest.

The courthouse raid followed by minutes a court appearance of seven members of the group on charges of extortion and unlawful assembly. The charges stemmed from their threats of an armed showdown regarding their land claims.

A Junior Editors Quiz About OLD IRONSIDES

QUESTION: Did "Old Ironsides" really have iron sides?

ANSWER: "Old Ironsides" is a nickname for one of the most famous ships in American history: the U.S. frigate Constitution.

Frigates were fighting ships of the general shape shown by the silhouette above. Fast and light, they could carry from 30 to 50 guns and were well able to represent the dignity and importance of the new nation on the high seas.

The Constitution, 204 feet long, was launched in Boston in 1797. From the start, this was a remarkable successful ship. During 1803 and 1804, the Constitution battled the Barbary pirates in the Mediterranean Sea and was undamaged.

During the War of 1812, the Constitution won a tremendous battle with the British Guerriere and became world famous. Seeing cannon balls bouncing off the American frigate's sides, an English sailor is supposed to have exclaimed: "Her sides are made of iron!"

Actually, iron was not used on warships' sides until later. The Constitution's sides were made of oak, a remarkably strong wood. This wonderful old frigate is still preserved at the Boston Navy Yard.

Calls for Senate Action

Reuther Decries 'Antilabor Terror' in Texas

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther called Friday for Senate action to end "the brutality and terrorism against American farm workers and their families along the Rio Grande Valley of Texas."

Reuther sent a telegram to U.S. Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., chairman of the subcommittee on migratory labor, demanding full rights for striking agricultural workers.

"Most of the quiet, peace-loving farm workers there now have police records," Reuther wrote. "But their only crimes have been as a result of daring to hold a picket sign in front of a struck farm corporation."

"For this, they—men, women and children—have been beaten, jailed, released only under exorbitant rates of bail and then jailed again on the vaguest of charges. Trials are unheard of."

Reuther told Williams of the case of a UAW representative, Pancho Medrano. Medrano, Reuther said, "was beaten by Texas Rangers, jailed and released two days later only after posting bond in the amount double the maximum fine of his alleged offense."

"Their only crime," Reuther said of the farm strikers, "is that they protest their status as slaves to rent to wealthy farm corporations at wages of from 40 to 60 cents an hour."

Danish Rite Is Scheduled for Princess

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Today is the day a pretty Danish princess marries a young French aristocrat in what she had hoped would be "a normal Danish wedding."

The bride is Princess Margrethe, 27, the future queen of Denmark. She is the eldest of three daughters born to King Frederick IX, 68, and Princess Ingrid of Sweden.

BRIDEGROOM

The bridegroom is Count Henri de Laborde de Monpezat, a handsome French ex-diplomat. A former Roman Catholic, he became Lutheran to become the prince consort of Denmark. He will be 33 Sunday.

Bishop Erik Jensen, who accepted the bridegroom into the Danish Lutheran Church, the established state church since 1536, will marry the couple in a small portside church.

Among the 400 guests expected to attend are all the crowned heads of Europe, except Queen Elizabeth II of England and King Constantine of Greece.

The Greek monarch is staying home to avoid possible demonstrations in Copenhagen against the new Greek military regime. Queen Elizabeth will be represented by Princess Marina, duchess of Kent.

Most of the 4.5 million Danes will watch the wedding on television. But at least 150,000 of them plus 10,000 tourists are expected to line the winding streets of downtown Copenhagen to see the bridal couple drive from the church to Fredensborg Castle, where a gala dinner is to be staged in a huge tent.

NO SECRET

"It is no secret that the royal bride wants the wedding to be held as most Danish weddings go," said Bishop Jensen.

At midnight Friday Count Henri formally changed his nationality to Danish, a precondition for marriage to the heiress to the throne.

Another change comes during the ceremony, when he changes his name from Henri to the old Danish "Henrik" and his title from count to prince of Denmark.

Four Colandos Have Names on EMU List of Graduates

By JEANNE NELSON

Things may have sounded a bit repetitious today at Eastern Michigan University's graduation exercises. With four Colandos accepting degrees, it's bound to cause some confusion.

Brothers, James and David, sons of the Carl P. Colandos of Dick Street, received their sheepskins, along with their wives LaNetta Rowston Colando and Barbara Olds Colando.

Parents of the young women are the Philip Rowstons of Burning Tree Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Olds of Pioneer Street.

The four young adults were all graduated from Pontiac Central High School, of where their romances blossomed. Jim and LaNetta were married first, just before he started freshman studies in college.

FULL TIME

With Jim carrying a heavy load of credits and working a full time shift at Ford Motor Company, LaNetta found time for a college education too.

Even motherhood didn't deter her from the role of student.

"Five-year-old Christian should get some kind of recognition too," adds his mother, "he was wonderfully cooperative throughout everything."

This fall Chris starts his own academic career in kindergarten.

With his mom and dad both teaching in area schools and eight-month-old brother, Kevin contented in his nursery, Chris will be all set for this new adventure.

Jim plans to continue the heady pace he has become used to.

After teaching every afternoon, he'll commute to Michigan State University to begin postgraduate studies.

Today is a double celebration for David and Barb who also plan to teach in the area this fall.

The special day holds a double meaning for her—her 21st birthday. Dave is just proud of his young wife who has earned her degree in only three years.

CLOSELY KNIT

The four young people lived in the university's married housing units. This proximity and the usual lack of funds has had much to do with keeping the four closely knit.

Saturday evenings meant many a wild game of pinocle for them and listening to records.

The David B. Colandos will receive their degrees along with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Colando.

Laura Causbie Is Honored Guest

Two recent showers have been given in honor of Laura Causbie, who will speak her vows with A-3C Don Brundage on June 17.

A miscellaneous shower was held at Memorial Baptist Church cosponsored by Mrs. Cora Backus and Mrs. Frank Larson, and attended by many friends of the bride.

Cobostesses for a kitchen shower in the Glenwood Street home of Janice Buehr Tuesday, were Mrs. Marshall Causbie and Mrs. Darrel Cran-dall.

Mothers of the bride-elect and her fiancé were present.

Meeting on Monday

There will be a meeting Monday at 1 p.m. for members of the United Church Women of the First Presbyterian Church in the church.

Christian Colando, age 5, and his brother eight-month-old Kevin will be in the rooting section when their parents, the James P. Colandos receive degrees from Eastern Michigan University today. Chris had an early introduction to campus life.

Ask Mom to Look Objectively at Growing Ticklish Problem

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 years old and my mother will not let me shave my legs. It seems every girl at school—shaves her legs and some even slip behind their mothers' backs to do it. I don't want to go against my mother, but I wish she'd let me. The kids at school call me "Square," "Odd ball," etc. I pretend I don't care but I do. And anyway, my knee socks don't go together with all my clothes. So what should I do?

HAIRY: If you want to shave your legs because all the other girls do, it's not a good enough reason. If you are really "hairy," ask your mother to take a good look at your legs and to be reasonable.

What a pity that when a girl reaches the age where her legs need shaving, her mother is at the age where she needs glasses.

DEAR ABBY: I have been keeping steady company with a girl who is 24. I am 26 and we have a lot in common. We've talked about getting married but that's about as far as it's gone.

She says you never know a person until you live with them, and she doesn't want to get married until she is SURE it will last. She suggested that either I move in with her, or she move in with me for about three months.

That way we can find out for sure how we get along. My folks drive up here to see me every once in awhile as they live only 80 miles from me, and I am sure they wouldn't approve of that kind of set up.

Actually, I am not so sure I do myself. In a way it makes sense, but in another way it doesn't. Can you help me straighten out my thinking?

DEAR FIFTY: Tell her you aren't that kind of a boy. If she wants to live with you, she'll have to marry you.

Slave By-Law Vote

The Pontiac Chapter No. 228 of OES will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the Roosevelt Temple on East Lawrence Street. A change in by-laws will be voted upon.

JUDY ANN WEAVER

CONFIDENTIAL TO H. G. B. IN HUNTSVILLE, ALA.: Yes, I have a booklet on How to Have a Lovely Wedding, but the best advice I can offer a bride is,

"See your doctor (and preferably a gynecologist) for a physical checkup and authoritative answers to all your questions before marriage."

If birth control is desired, it should be planned before the wedding. This includes Catholic girls, too, as the rhythm method should be clearly understood to be successfully practiced. (Too many young wives, who had planned on working a few years while their husbands finished college, discover to their horror that they got pregnant on their honeymoon.)

The engagement is announced of Judy Ann Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fenton S. Weaver of North Holcomb Street, Independence Township, to Ronald C. Bentley.

He is the son of the Ralph E. Bentleys of Rochdale Street, Avon Township.

Survival Test
for Astronauts

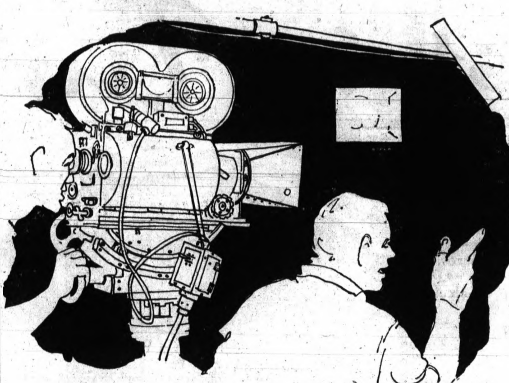

PANAMA (UPI) — Twenty-two U.S. astronauts will be down to earth and living off it next week.

The U.S. military command for the Canal Zone said the men will be pitched into the rugged Panamanian jungles for a week of survival training.

"The training period requires the trainee to fly to a selected site then make his way to another site living off the jungle and eating whatever he can, such as snakes and plants," a command spokesman said.

The command did not identify the astronauts.

The survival trainees go into the jungle unarmed except for a knife.

Awards Given at Festival

Collegians' Films Exhibit Talent

By PHILIP R. WERDELL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — This year's National Student Film Festival distributed its awards to college students making clever, talented and very professional films recently. The results are interesting.

The festival showcased a pool of talent capable of future big league film production. But to those familiar with university film activity and the opportunities offered to students of film, this very professionalism, this refusal to dig below the underground or rise above the triteness of Hollywood cinema, was an unexpected disappointment," said Art Wiener, cultural affairs director of the National Student Association (NSA), which sponsored this and last year's festivals.

This year's festival judges apparently were more sympathetic to experimental work than had been previous festival critics. The first prize winners were "further out," wilder, than those taking lesser awards in the individual categories.

"But the judges' sympathy towards experimentalism was somewhat in vain, since none of the films was a truly new experience," said Wiener.

"Match Girl," the winning film in a dramatic category, is obviously the more experimental of the two films selected for awards. The story concerns an aspiring young actress who finds dreaming about life more fulfilling than living it.

FILM'S GOAL

The film hoped to project a study in monotony, underscoring the shallowness of the girl. The only problem is that it bores its viewers to death in the process.

The second place in the dramatic category went to "Fareforward Voyager," a UCLA entry by Sterling Norris. The story here is straightforward and lucid. It exhibits the clarity so absent in the first-place winner.

The voyager is a woman going to meet her second lover, after having lost her first when he tried to escape from East Germany. Afraid of losing the second, too, the woman decides not to meet him after all. Unfortunately, the woman's emotional reactions to situations are not dealt with in depth, so her "cop out" at film's end strikes the viewer as phony.

"Comparing these two films, the tragic irony of the student film becomes apparent," said Wiener.

LACK COMMAND

"Film students attempting to deal with dominant contemporary themes lack command of the media, while producers of slicker student films too frequently concern themselves with the safest and least challenging topics."

The judges gave three prizes in the documentary category.

The award winner, "Riff 65," was made at NYU by Eric Camiel. Riff is an American Indian boy growing up in Harlem. In the very smooth lingo of the streets, Riff and his neighborhood friends relate Riff's background and character.

The film shows us more about Riff than his friends tell us, however. Riff bounces along the screen, climbing fences, buildings and electrical wires.

Original music complements his acrobatics. He is last seen climbing into an old school building. He tears desks apart and smashes windows. The film ends and the credits begin, but the sounds of Riff smashing windows continue.

The film receiving a certificate of merit was "The Season" by UCLA's Donald McDonald. "Season," the most popular of the winning films, shows the commercial exploitations of Christmas in southern California. Children give their impressions of what Christmas means to them. Their references to the birth of Christ are contrasted with the annual Christmas parade in Los Angeles, complete with cheerleaders, clowns, cowboys, unicyclists, a horse on roller skates and a Hallelujah chorus performed by a brass band.

A priest then talks about the spiritual meaning of Christmas, specifically the religious significance of the fir tree.

So we meet the California Christmas tree huckster. He has his gimmick, the colored Christmas tree. They come in red, blue, black, pink, orange, white and "green for poor people." Last year black was the big color he tells us. Next year it will be orange.

There is even a half-and-half tree, red and white. "You have to have something to grab 'em."

The second National Student Film Festival indicated that student interest in film is widespread and intense. Close to 150 films from dozens of colleges throughout the country were entered in the 1966 National Student Film Awards Competition.

WINNERS REPRESENTATIVE

The winning films, including those mentioned here and others, comprised a representative sampling of the most interesting work done by American students in film.

The award-winning films will be put together in a collection for distribution by the National Student Association. The collection should be ready for distribution this fall.

The winning films of the first National Student Film Festival are currently being distributed by NSA. For information, write USNSA, 2115 S St., N.W., Washington, D.C.

Detroit Teacher Wins Mott Fellowship

A Detroit junior high school teacher who is concerned with such expressions as "he threw the ball" by youths from disadvantaged backgrounds is the winner of the second annual $10,000 Mott Fellowship in English at Oakland University.

The award recipient, Robert L. Donald, will spend the academic year at Oakland beginning with the fall term setting up a pilot study for a language laboratory program at Detroit's Sherrard Junior High School.

He is head of the English department at Sherrard and formerly taught English for six years at Northeastern High School in Detroit.

Mott Fellowships are supported by the C. S. Mott Foundation through the Mott Center for Community Affairs, at OU.

They bring a junior high or high school teacher of English to the university campus to work with faculty of the OU Department of English and School of Education and with faculties of Education and selected high schools, literature or composition to junior and senior high school students.

Mideast in Turmoil

Orioles Hand New Twin Boss 11-2 Licking

Kayce Shuts Out
Indians Twice; NY
Outlasts Chicago

By The Associated Press
The Baltimore Orioles wasted no time teaching Cal Ermer the facts of American League life.

Ermer, the new manager of the Minnesota Twins, climbed into a uniform only 20 minutes before the game time Friday night and then watched the Twins absorb an 11-2 loss at the hands of the Orioles.

Frank Robinson slammed a three-run homer, his 17th of the year, and Boog Powell had a three-run shot as Baltimore jolted four Minnesota pitchers for 14 hits.

TRIBE BLANKED

In other American League action, Kansas City shut out Cleveland twice, 2-0 and 6-0; Boston nipped Washington 8-7; New York pushed a run across in the 10th inning to edge Chicago 2-1 and California blanked Detroit 4-0.

Ermer was named manager of the floundering Twins Friday afternoon after President Cal Griffith dismissed Sam Mele. He flew in from Denver, where he had managed the Twins' Pacific Coast League team for the last 2½ years, and made it in time for Friday night's game.

He had hardly found a spot for himself in the Minnesota dugout before the Orioles hopped on Dean Chance for three unearned runs in the first inning.

Robinson doubled home a run in the fifth and then put the game out of reach with his three-run homer in the sixth. He then shot in the three-run eighth and clinched the Orioles' assault.

SHARP RELIEFER

Moe Drabowsky, who struck out Bob Allison with a bases-loaded, choking off the Twins' threat in the fifth, worked 4 2/3 innings of scoreless relief for his fifth straight victory. Chance, 9-3, was the loser.

Chuck Dobson and Jim (Catfish) Hunter, hung the double shutout on the Indians for Kansas City.

Dobson outduelled Steve Harlan, who allowed only two hits in the opener. Harlan had pitched six hitless innings before Ramon Velez's leadoff triple broke the spell in the seventh. Two outs later, Jim Gosger homered, accounting for both Kansas City runs.

SAM ROUTED

The A's routed Sam McDowell with a six-run first inning in the opener. Harlan breezed with a six-hitter. The big blow came in the second when Jim Gosger homered, accounting for both Kansas City runs.

Carl Yastrzelski and Joe Foy tagged two homers apiece for the Red Sox, who overcame an early 6-2 Washington lead.

John Wyatt relieved winner Jose Santiago with the tying run at third and none out in the ninth and pitched out of the jam, preserving the victory.

Reggie Smith, also homered for Boston and Frank Howard connected for the Senators.

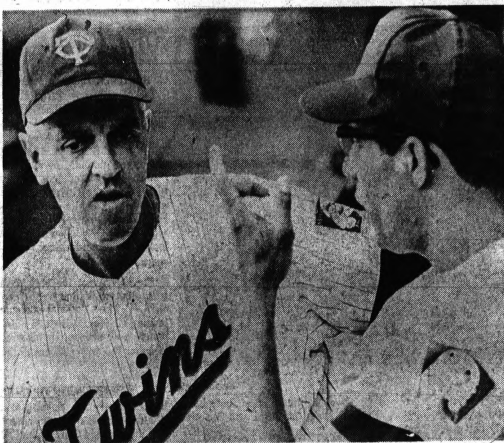

Horace Clarke singled Steve Whitaker across with the Yankees' winning run in the 10th inning against Chicago. Whitaker had singled and moved to second when pinch hitter Dick Howser was hit by a pitch.

Floyd Gains Draw in 10-Round Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Floyd Patterson, temporarily stalled in his desire to recoup the heavyweight title, says he wants a rematch with Jerry Quarry, and Quarry agrees—after a long rest.

Patterson, the soft-spoken, two-time heavyweight champion, fought back gamely from two second-round knockdowns Friday night to salvage a draw with the younger Quarry.

Most ringside observers thought Patterson's rally was worth to win, while the crowd, heavily weighted in Quarry's favor, roundly booed the verdict. Only the fighters seemed willing to accept the decision.

PREGAME DISCUSSION — Cal Ermer (left), veteran minor league baseball manager, talks with Minnesota shortstop Zoilo Versalles Friday night before Ermer's debut as the Twins' skipper, replacing the fired Sam Mele. Baltimore ruined the occasion, however, with an 11-2 rout of the Twins.

Pistons' Strawder Joins Pittsburgh

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Strawder, the Detroit Pistons' 6-foot-10 center, signed a contract with the Pittsburgh entry in the American Basketball Association Friday, and the Pistons said they would sue.

But just who they'll sue—Strawder, Pittsburgh or the ABA—was not immediately determined, said Ed Coil, the National Basketball Association Club's general manager.

ATTORNEY WORKING

Coil said team attorney George Gallant had been contacted in New York and any decision on who to sue would be made by Gallant.

Gabe Rubin, president of the Pittsburgh club, announced earlier that Strawder, a former All-American at Bradley University, had signed a one-year contract for the ABA's initial 1967-68 season. Coil said Strawder had not signed a 1967-68 NBA contract.

NOT REVEALED
Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

The 26-year-old Pistons center is the first NBA player signed by Pittsburgh.

A defensive specialist, he averaged 13 rebounds a game as the starting center for the Pistons last season. Offensively, he averaged 10 points a game.

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Rick Barry will play for the Oakland team in the new American Basketball Association next season, the Times-Picayune said in its editions for Saturday.

A story by sports writer Ed Staton quoted an unnamed official of the fledgling ABA as saying the 6-foot-7 Barry, who played in 1966-67 with the NBA San Francisco Warriors, would sign a three-year contract for $100,000 and receive liberal real estate holdings from Oakland.

Bruce Hale, father-in-law of the Warrior star, was recently hired to coach Oakland.

Hale coached Barry at Miami, Fla., University, where he led the nation's major college soccer in 1964-65 and was an All-America selection.

Tigers Lose, 4-0;
Jim Northrup III

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers don't know what's worse, George Brunet or the mumps.

In fact, the Tigers don't know what cost them Friday night's 4-0 loss to the California Angels. It could have been Brunet — or it could have been the mumps.

The mumps sidelined Jim Northrup from Friday's game. And with their third leading hitter back in Detroit, the Tigers lost.

The loss may not have been strictly medical. The fine three-hit pitching of Brunet, who has earned respect as a "Tiger Tamer," also played a major part.

Brunet's performance broke a nine-game losing streak for him. It also cost Detroit a chance to take a bigger lead in the American League pennant race, after second-place Chicago lost to New York 2-1 in 10 innings.

LOS NINE
Brunet, who helped California beat Detroit on opening day and then lost nine straight games, raised his record to 2-9 for the season. Both wins have come against Detroit.

"I lost my rhythm during the losing streak," Brunet said. "But I got it back Friday night. I have to come in more overhanded with the ball, and that's what I did."

All three hits off the south-paw were isolated singles, by Denny McLain, Don Wert, and Dick McAuliffe.

McLain, the Tiger starter and loser, gave up a run in the second inning when Jimmie Hall walked and scored on Bobby Knopp's double to left center.

The Angels made it 2-0 in the third when Jose Cardenal singled, advanced to third on a second sacrifice, and scored on a single by Hall.

LITH HOMER
In the fifth, Cardenal singled and Don Mincher hit his 11th home run of the season to end the scoring.

Bone Victim of Cutdown

2 Share Top in Buick

By FLETCHER SPEARS

GRAND BLANC — A fellow who's never won and a hot-tempered veteran shared the top spot in the $100,000 Buick Open as the third round opened today at Warwick Hills.

Bob Goalby, 36, who battles himself and the fans as much as he does the course, checked in with a 73 to go with his open ing round 69 for a 142 in holding onto a piece of the lead.

With Goalby at 142 is 30-year-old Tommy Aaron, a Walker Cup star in 1959-60, who carded a 70 yesterday after bagging an even par 72 on Thursday.

Thunderstorms followed by electrical storms brought a one-hour delay early in the afternoon but it didn't dampen the enthusiasm of some 12,000 fans who plodded around the rain-soaked course.

Just a stroke behind the leaders was the threesome of Keim Zierley, Terry Dill and Frank Beard, and sharing the sixth spot at 144 along with three others was former champion Julius Boros.

CHAMP SHARP

Defending champion Phil Rodgers, after an unimpressive opening 75, came in with a two-under-par 70 over the 7,126-yard layout yesterday to stay in the running at 145.

The field was trimmed to the low 70 plus ties following the 36 holes and among those remaining was Sam Snead of West Virginia at 147.

Only two Michigan players managed to survive the cut which lepped off these at 151 or more.

State players making the grade were Oakland Hills' Mike Souchak (150) and Dave Hill of Jackson (147).

Among the victims of the cuto-down were Pontiac's Gene Bone (152), Jim St. Germain of North-

DETROIT (AP) — The Washington Whips play the undefeated Detroit Cougars in a United Soccer Association game Sunday night.

The Cougars tied their first two games this season and won their last outing.

Detroit's starters at the University of Detroit Stadium have not yet been determined.

However, player-coach John Colrain will be available after sitting out the last two games. He was suspended May 28 for allegedly slugging a lineman in Boston.

High scoring center forward Trevor Thompson will also be on hand. Thompson, who scored 42 goals in Ireland last season, has yet to play this season in the United States.

LEADER LEAVES TROUBLE BEHIND—Colo-gar Bob Goalby blasts from a sand trap yesterday at Warwick Hills Golf Course while touring the Buick Open course in 73 to slip into a tie with Tommy Aaron at 142. Goalby, from Palm Springs, Calif., had a 69 Thursday to lead after the opening round of the annual pro golf extravaganza near Grand Blanc.

Pro Golf Dispute Moving Near War

GRAND BLANC (AP) — The sniping battle between the Professional Golfers Association and the PGA executive board of a proposed $200,000 tournament to be sponsored by Frank Sinatra.

The board said the match would fall too close to the Bob Hope $100,000 Desert Classic and might damage the Hope tournament.

Ford said the penalty for fining the PGA tournament could be no more than a $100 fine.

Howe, 39, injured the elbow in a collision with Eddie Shack of the Toronto Maple Leafs during a game in March.

GRAND BLANC (AP)—Ken Judd of Linden, Mich., easily won the title of hardluck guy in the second round of the Buick Open Friday when his five iron on the short 17th took one bounce into the cup, rolled around and came out to rest three inches away.

That short distance cost him a new convertible which tournament sponsors had posted for a hole in one.

CHICAGO (AP)—Two stars from Lamar Tech of Beaumont, Tex., Mexican Davis Cupper Jaime Subirats and Sherwood Stewart, will clash for the singles title in the NCAA College tennis tournament today.

Top-seeded Subirats, No. 1 Mexican Davis Cup player, eliminated unseeded Steve Turner of Long Island University 6-3, 6-3.

No. 6 seeded Stewart, like Subirats a junior at Lamar Tech, gained the finals at 1 p.m. EST, Saturday, with a 6-2, 6-2 conquest of eighth-seeded Fred Suesmann of Long Beach, Calif., State.

GOT MUMPS—But the Tiger star still found it hard to believe when Angels team physician Dr. J. V. Ransinski told him "you've got the mumps" on Thursday.

Northrup will miss the entire three-game weekend series with California because of the mumps.

And it's tough for Tiger manager Mayo Smith with his No. 3 hitter, with a .312 average, on the bench.

The Tigers will try to make up for Friday's loss tonight when Earl Wilson, 8-4, goes against Jerry Wilhelms.

The late Philip Hal Sims was probably the greatest auction bridge player. He also was mighty good at contract except that he liked to bid his alarms by the quickest possible method. Of course there wasn't much science to the game in JACOBY Hal's day and even today we see nothing much wrong with his jump to six diamonds over his partner's two no-trump. Hal made little ceremony about dummy play. He won the heart lead with his ace and put his ace of diamonds on the table.

East showed out and West remarked, "If I'd known that you held both the ace and king of trumps I would have doubled you."

Hal looked over the hand for a second and replied, "Maybe you will be glad that you didn't." Then Hal proceeded to make his contract.

He was lucky to do so after the bad trump break but without that break he would have had no problems at all. It wasn't down with mirrors but just by playing that West would have to follow to three leads of each side suit.

Hal led a club to dummy's ace and ruffed a club. Then he led a heart to dummy's king and ruffed a heart. Then he played out three rounds of spades, stopping in dummy.

At this point Hal was down to four trumps and West held three trumps and either a club or a heart. It was up to Hal to decide which suit the other card was in but East had helped Hal out. East had played the four of hearts at trick one and dropped the three of hearts under dummy's king.

GOD IS ALIVE!

The divine Principle — the basic cause which is God — is as vital and active on man's behalf now as when Christ Jesus healed in Galilee. Don't just accept this on faith... you can prove it for yourself. You can prove that an understanding of God can transform a person's whole life... his character, his health and his sense of purpose. Ralph W. Cassano, C.S.B., a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak on this subject in a lecture called "Is There a God?" Admission is free, everyone is welcome.

At Mandon Lake Observes 20th Year

The Rev. Dorr Fockler will mark his 20th anniversary as pastor of Mandon Lake Community Church, 915 Round Lake, Union Lake, tomorrow.

Pastor Fockler came to the congregation on June 11, 1947, when the church was known as the First Community Church of Mandon Lake. The Sunday School at that time consisted of 40 pupils.

During his ministry the congregation has grown to a family membership of 286 and a Sunday school enrollment of 480 members.

The congregation constructed a new auditorium in 1961 and the name of the church was changed to the present one.

Contributions include giving to the support of eight missionaries in the field and active involvement in the surrounding community.

Young people are encouraged to join the Christian Service Brigade for Boys and Pioneer Girls. These groups are patterned after Girl and Boy Scouts with additional training in religion.

Women of the church work in the Ladies' Guild, Joy Missionary Society and Berean Class. Men participate in the weekly luncheons of Men of Faith.

A graduate of Pontiac Central High School, Pastor Fockler continued his education at Moody Bible Institute and Wayne State University. During this time he had a student pastorate at Stoney Creek Church near Rochester.

Brick And Batten Trilevel Of Mr. And Mrs. Troy Crowder Is Situated On Hill Top Site In Avon Township

Original Art Accents Home

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Lack of time rather than lack of things to do plagues the creative Troy Crowder family of Avon Township. Fourteen-year-old Greg casts his spare time vote for music; Mrs. Crowder, ceramics; and Mr. Crowder, painting.

Tucked away in the hall off the family room is the "heart" of this home, the hobby studio. It is here that partially finished paintings and ceramic pieces await completion and final graduation into the decorating scheme of the contemporary trilevel.

On the lower level, the family room looks out on the stone-banked patio and the ever popular bird feeder that attracts pheasants and the smaller song birds, not to mention a cawing crow or two.

Above the room's brown and black sofa hangs a collection of original art by both Mr. and Mrs. Crowder. The iron framed lamp table serving the sofa features a mosaic top of brilliant hued Mexican tiles in reds, gold, orange and black. It is another example of Mrs. Crowder's many creative talents.

The colors are repeated in the round shag before the white brick fireplace hearth. An interesting driftwood piece discovered at Flat Head Lake in Montana dresses the fireplace face.

BREAKFAST BALCONY

Five steps lead from the relaxation center to the informal dining area dominated by a round pedestal table and white swivel chairs. The room's abstract draperies of blue and turquoise on white introduce a color change of pace that is carried through the kitchen.

The clean cut contemporary theme of the formal living and dining rooms is emphasized by a neutral background including the beige sculptured carpeting, beige boucle draperies and off-white walls.

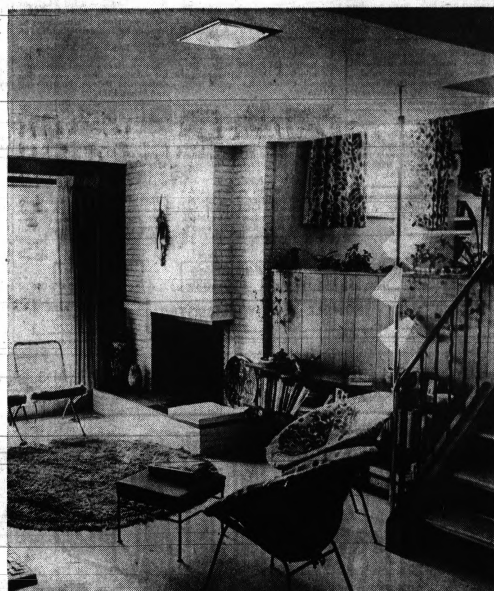

Throw pillows of olive green, white, blue and a patterned blue, green and white spark the brown and black tweed sofa before the picture window.

Flanking the room's walnut stereo are matching walnut guest chairs with black leather seats.

Vacation House With Circular Core

Unusual designs are generally more acceptable in vacation houses than year-round residences. Where informality is the keynote, conventional construction often is not necessary and, in some cases, is not desired.

If drama is a requirement for a vacation home, this design offers the ultimate. It's a show-place for the family that wants something highly individual—a large circular core with four wings projecting beyond.

Actually, it's like an auto wheel, with the hub containing the lounge and the tire portion containing the bath, a refreshment bar nook, the front foyer and a porch.

The four-wings house three bedrooms, each with a private "sleep-out" porch, and a dining room and kitchen.

The circular lounge is 23' in diameter, with a sunken conversation pit, including a circular seat and an open log-burning area.

Design G-92, a vacation house with four wings attached to a wheel-like core, has a large lounge with a sunken area in the center, a dining room, a kitchen, a foyer and three bedrooms, with a habitable area of 1764 square feet. Each of the three bedrooms has its own porch. Over-all dimensions are 65' 4" by 65' 8".

FLOOR PLANS: While these floor plans might at first glance appear to be a new kind of game, a study of them will show that they include a room layout which affords a variety of features, including areas of privacy, and relaxation as well as dining comfort.

Try Shades for Windows

Here's an eye-filling treatment for a double-hung window attractively framed with traditional beaded window casing.

Have window shades made of a brightly colored, patterned fabric. Specify reverse-roll shades to fit inside the window casing.

Then paint the casing, window sash and grill white, but repeat the shade's main color for the beaded section of the casing.

Two Waxes Help Homemakers

There are two basic kinds of buffing. Polishing wax, on the floor waxes: self-polishing and the polishing type. Self-polishing wax comes in liquid form and has little odor.

Spread on floors, it dries to a shiny finish that requires no buffing. This type of wax requires buffing, but it gives you maximum protection and longer-lasting luster. Liquid polishing wax cleans as you apply it so no scrubbing or mopping is necessary.

If you use self-polishing wax, the floor must be cleaned and rinsed before application.

DELUXE INFORMALITY: The family or guests approaching this uncommon house could not help but feel the vacation atmosphere it is intended to convey; the architect has taken special care to see that its dramatic design does not interfere with practical living.

tion of the house could have a flat roof, with the circular fireplace raised to that level, should the prospective owner desire to eliminate the sunken effect. (Some families with children feel that a sunken area is not practical.)

The interior walls, like the exterior, are finished in stained wood for the minimum in maintenance. The ceiling is slightly pitched and is pierced with four triangular sky domes.

Consider the effect of being able to look up at the blue sky; the sunlight and moonlight shafts that would stream in; and the interesting visual pattern that would be formed on a rainy day.

With maximum separation between the three bedrooms offer privacy not often available. Guests would feel more comfortable.

Even the porches, which are entered through sliding glass doors in the bedrooms, are fenced and screened off from one another. The bedroom adjacent to the large bath has direct access to it.

The bath has another interior entrance to it as well as an exterior door. This outside entrance is excellent for restricting sand - tracked floors, dripping bathing suits, etc., to the bathroom.

An oversized shower stall is directly at the door for duck-in-duck-out use.

FOUR WINGS

One of the four wings includes a dining room, unusual in summer homes and cottages, and a U-shaped kitchen.

The latter has a counter-unit hot water heater and a washing machine, with a side door leading to an outdoor terrace for fresh-air dining.

Incidentally, the dining room could double as a sleeping space in an emergency.

The exterior rendering shows this house located near a body of water, a typical setting for a vacation home, with the basic plan built on a concrete slab.

Varying site conditions might dictate different construction treatments, which could be handled by a competent contractor at the location.

There isn't much doubt that this is a house that some persons will consider "way out."

But neither is there any doubt about its livability for the vacationing family that likes to spend its time off in a frank atmosphere of complete relaxation.

A flagstone planting box trimmed with metal makes an attractive room divider and adds beauty to a home.

Cooling Dependent on Nail Power

The cost and efficiency of air conditioning depends to a surprisingly large extent on the nail holding power of lumber.

A snug enclosure is essential for proper cooling which depends, in turn, on the cohesive power of the structural framework which holds the house together.

The framework is formed with lumber. It is important to specify a wood species with good natural nail holding strength. The lumber should also be properly seasoned and pre-shrunk before being surfaced to final size.

Nails will not loosen in pre-shrunk lumber as they do when unseasoned framing dries in service.

Finish Paneling With Oil Mixture

Resawn solid board paneling can be finished with a mixture of half boiled linseed oil, half turpentine.

Or use a pre-mixed cabinet furniture oil product.

Long Distance House Hunt

House hunting is usually a family affair, but when a sudden out-of-town move is in the offing, it's frequently up to the man of the house to do the prospecting.

To depend on one's memory in reporting back to the family is usually a risky business, says Burnham Van Service, interstate movers. The features of a house tend to be confused with others seen, and it is difficult to remember all the key facts about each house after seeing several.

Keep detailed written records on each house and its surroundings as the real estate agent takes you around. These include address and location, price and mortgage terms.

Bring along a camera to take a photo of the house, it will give you a family a better idea of what you are talking about.

Also, make a note if the price quoted seems high, fair or low. Is the neighborhood excellent, good or poor?

KIND OF HOUSE

What type of house is it — ranch, colonial, Cape Cod, bungalow? Is the appearance very nice, nice or poor? Did you find it in excellent, good or poor condition?

List each room and put your comments after each. Then put down what kind of heat the house has.

What are the taxes, distance to school, church, bus station, stores? Does the home have a garage? One or two car? Attached or detached?

If you plan an interstate move and have to do some house hunting beforehand, a free booklet containing handy forms to put down information on houses you visit is available. For a copy write to Real Estate Book, Burnham Van Service, P. O. Box 1125, Columbus, Georgia 31902.

As America's Wide Open Spaces Shrink

Japanese Design Influences Architects

The Japanese have long been recognized as one of the thriftest and most ingenious races of builders.

Their architecture displays a unique mastery in utilization of the limited resources of their islands. Space and materials are conserved to a remarkable degree without sacrifice of aesthetic virtues.

Largely, this has been the result of simplicity of design — plus an astute awareness of the decorative potential of the wood structural form.

The delicacy of line and detail which characterizes so many Japanese buildings is functional as well as eye-appealing. With a minimum of space consumed by the physical parts of the building, maximum foliage is available for family living.

Likewise, elaborate visual impact is achieved by extremely simple means. The noted Japanese masterpieces show little artificial adornment. For the most part, they are decorated by structural materials which support them — sweeping ceiling beams under the upstair roof, wood decking, exposed columns, posts and rafters.

FUNCTIONAL DESIGN

At first glance, this would seem to be of little more than artistic interest to America where wide open spaces and abundant resources present a sharp contrast with conditions in Japan.

But our "open spaces" are shrinking as the population expands and building and real estate costs have increased. As a nation, we can no longer afford the luxury of over-elaborate design. Hence, the original Japanese concept is exerting an increasingly strong influence in the United States.

According to the Southern Pine Association, U.S. architects have demonstrated imagination and skill in blending the best features of the Japanese and American styles.

While the new American architecture has a feeling of freedom and expansiveness, it is conservative in the use of space and materials. It is also warm in appearance and delightfully natural.

Close analysis of modern American technique reveals the essence of design simplicity. Most of our newer churches are built with glued laminated lumber arches or beams under a sweeping canopy of wood roof decking. The exposed wood structure forms the interior decor.

Plank-and-beam homes offer impressive studies of functional streamlining. The great strength of this simple roof system is the key to efficient space utilization. There is a minimum of partitioning, maximum living space, freedom of movement and vision. The warm, handsome look of exposed ceiling beams creates

Decorator Style
Creates Interest for Entrances

During Spring "Fix-Up" time this year, homeowner interest in screening has been excited by the introduction of architectural decorator design in aluminum screened combination doors, according to the Insect Wire Screening Bureau. Coupled with recently introduced colors in aluminum screening, a combination door this spring can lend decorator appeal to a home.

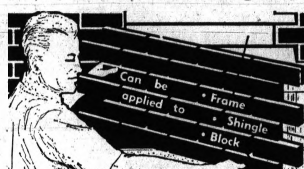

The most popular of the distinctive designs appears to be the so-called cross-buck, white enamel aluminum, combination door with acrylic coated gray aluminum screening, according to three major national manufacturers.

The colonial cross-buck design harkens back to the traditional oak cross section support in doors of the 19th century. It marks a major departure from the standard mill or anodized bright aluminum finish of combination doors popular for the past 15 years.

Second only the cross-buck in homeowner acceptance, according to the Insect Wire Screening Bureau, has been the black baked enamel "carriage" combination door, featuring the acrylic coated green or gray aluminum screening.

SUMMER'S COMING — Following approved steps for proper pool maintenance will assure a season of safe swimming in sparkling clear water. Some of the most important steps are shown here.

(Top left) ... Pools should be vacuumed at least once a day, and more frequently on windy days or when swimmer load gets very heavy.

the pool surface reduces the work of the filter and automatic skimmer.

(Top right) ... Inexpensive test kits provide a safe, sure method of determining that the chlorine level in the pool water are just right for proper disinfection, and not too high to cause swimmer discomfort.

(Bottom right) ... A beautiful pool properly maintained and landscaped can be the center of a safe, enjoyable summer of frolicking in clear, sparkling water.

Won't Be Long Now

Prepare Pool Now for That First Dip

With warm weather approaching, many pool owners are casting long looks at their home swimming pools, wondering when the first dip will be possible.

Operators of outdoor public and commercial swimming pools are right now initiating a program preparing their pools for the first signs of warm weather. According to John S. Manville, manufacturer of Celis filter aids, taking the proper safety and maintenance steps will assure a pleasant, trouble-free summer of frolicking in clear, sparkling water.

First remove any protective winter covers from pool and equipment. If pool was drained, sweep inside and surrounding areas clean of debris and dirt. Then inspect exposed surfaces to determine if cracking of walls or floor has occurred or if painting or refinishing is needed. Examine all valves, controls, and pipes for obvious deterioration.

If all seems proper, turn on water to fill empty pool. Again controls, and pipes for leakage. Dried packings and gaskets may cause minor seepages that will stop by themselves as they absorb water and expand. If not, tightening with a wrench or replacing packing will be necessary. If any major leaks are observed, turn off the water and call for professional help.

While pool is filling, check filtration equipment for operational readiness. Follow the manufacturer's recommendations for cleaning and cleaning necessary prior to putting your pool filter into operation, which can be done as soon as water reaches the filter intake pipe. Start up filter in accordance with manufacturer's recommendations.

CLEAR WATER

Most modern filters are of the diatomite type and proper pre-coating of filter elements with filter aid will assure efficient operation and crystal clear water. If any major leaks are observed, turn off the water and call for professional help.

For example:

- Arrange that an adult be present whenever children are in for a swim. In the case of neighborhood kids, make certain that no small children will be allowed unless accompanied by an adult.
- Be sure that swimmers stay out of the pool for at least an hour after meals.
- Have a like preserver handy — even an inflated inner tube is fine.

A high fence around the pool will protect wandering lots — and possibly save you from negligence charges. Keep the gate closed whenever the pool is not in use.

NIGHT LIGHTS

Electric lights in the pool area make night swimming safer, help prevent falls into the pool.

Discourage roughhouse activity.

ties, as well as any play that does not belong in an area with slippery conditions underfoot or water nearby. This could include ball playing, other than water polo, and the like.

Make certain that your pool is marked as to water depth in prominent places. And then take steps to make each user, especially small ones, aware of how deep he may go before the water level becomes of concern.

The simple step of taking a six-foot length of wood and marking off on it the heights indicating the same marking on water depth will help individual children determine how deep they can go. It is surprising how often even older children are not aware that water four feet high will come to their chests.

Now for the first dip ... if the weather is warm enough.

Depending upon the frequency with which the pool is used, the temperature, and the efficiency of chlorination and pH control, most pool filters will require cleaning at three to ten day intervals. Filter cycles can be extended by proper care of the pool.

Frequent hand skimming, if an automatic skimmer is not installed, and vacuuming will ease filter load, and careful control of algae by chemical treatment will cut operating expenses.

Filter should be run so that the pool water is completely filtered every 18 to 24 hours. Diatomite is not expensive, and the cost of proper filtration will be small compared with the pleasures of swimming in water as clear and inviting as a mountain spring.

A cardboard lamp base may be made from the tube that comes in a roll of lineolium. Weight tube with lead weight and cover with colored plastic or paint.

Western Wood Gives Early American Look

Abraded western hemlock. Early American siding has been added to U.S. Plywood Corporation's wide line of textured sidings.

Western hemlock, a uniformly fine-textured wood, is straight grained and comparatively free of ring shake.

Because the heartwood color is light reddish brown with an inconspicuous growth ring, there is less contrast between sapwood and heartwood than is found in western red cedar or Douglas fir, the company reports.

The new siding is available in 5-ply panels, 5/8" thick. Grooving pattern is 1-1/2" wide by 1/4" deep, 12" on center.

Faces are abraded and both face and back are treated with Woodlife, U.S. Plywood's water-repellent preservative. Panels are available 4x8, 4x9, 4x10 and 4x12.

By 1970, 100 million of the U.S. population will be under 25 years of age.

Mobile Home Handbook Out

Anyone who has ever considered mobile home living or is now planning to purchase a mobile home will find the 1967 edition of Mobile Home Life an entertaining and informative handbook to this exciting dimension in home ownership.

The 64-page annual, just issued by the Mobile Homes Manufacturers' Association, is written to aid the potential buyer with a variety of articles to interest and inform. Many of the stories are illustrated by handsome four-color photographs.

Included among the features are personal experiences of mobile home owners, advice from industry experts on how to select the best mobile home dealer and best mobile home community, and information on financing and insuring a mobile home.

One highlight of the yearbook is "Mobile Home Living Across the U.S.A.," a photo feature designed to pictorially explain the many aspects of mobile home living.

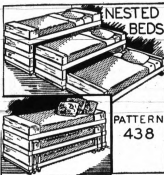

"Five Minutes from Campus" by Michele and Richard Goebel, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., relates how college students enjoy the comforts and economy of mobile home living.

A reprint from The American Statesman, Austin, Texas, reveals how a senior citizen living alone discovers many pleasures in her mobile home way of life.

Future Kitchen Is Marvel Laden

Appliance manufacturers predict some startling features for kitchens of the future.

Among them are: ovens that disappear into the countertop when not in use; a dishwasher that polishes silver; an automatic fruit and vegetable peeler attached to the waste disposal; concealed sink faucets, and a refrigerator compartmentalized into drawers for handier storage.

SPACE-SAVING BEDS are just the thing for a summer camp or for the children's room. Pattern 438 gives directions and list of materials for making three beds that slide under the other. All take standard-size mattresses. This pattern is 35c. It also is one of four patterns in Packet 66, Beds to make with Hammer and Saw — all for $1.

Charge Dropped

DETROIT (AP)—Recorder's Judge Vincent J. Brennan has dismissed an assault and battery charge against Craig A. Smith, 41, millionaire land developer. He was accused of assaulting Mrs. Jeanne Kruger, 47, a receptionist, who said she didn't wish to prosecute Smith. The incident occurred May 19 in a doctor's office during an argument over use of a telephone.

BEDE'S MAP, 27-feet-long, unrolled here on a wing, appears on a continuous roll inside the cockpit.

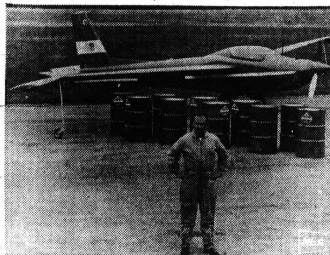

A New 'Lone Eagle' for '67

A number of planned objectives have been set for James Bede's solo nonrefueled flight around the world in a single-engine converted sailplane. One is fulfillment of a lifelong dream for the 34-year-old Cleveland aeronautical engineer. But the long flight may also be a proving ground in the study of human and equipment endurance over the 24,800-mile trip.

SUPPORT WHEELS shown in the test flight above protect the 65-foot wing span from damage during take-off. The craft carries 565 gallons of fuel, shown below, for the nonstop trip from Cleveland to Cleveland, around the globe. The flight is expected to take about 6 1/2 days, with Bede catching two-hour naps before being awakened by an alarm system. The cockpit, below left, will provide room for him to stretch out, and even to push-ups for exercise. Space officials are interested in seeing how a man of average physical condition can withstand the rigors of extended flight.

Viet USOs Get Lots of Mail, Ask for More

SAIGON (UPI)—"Hi there," writes a young lady from Harper Woods, Mich., in a neat round hand on a sheet of loose-leaf notebook paper: "My name's Marie. What's yours?" About 1,000 letters from Americans who want to cheer the soldiers arrive in Vietnam USOs every week and more are welcome.

As might be expected, the most desired are from young ladies who enclose snapshots. But letters from all sorts of Americans are read eagerly.

Some GIs say they are so lonely that even collection letters from the finance agency over the armed forces radio network.

She says the troops want to get columns clipped from newspaper sports pages and snapshots.

PERFECT LETTER
She cites as a "perfect" letter one written by a housewife in Mundelein, Ill.:

"This morning as I look out my kitchen window the absolute tranquility of the scene reminds me that it is not such in all corners of the world."

"Oaks standing tall stretch their bare limbs toward a very bright blue sky. The birds are rounding up for that one last good meal before the trip south, flying in flocks, high and low, circling a bare field. The last bloom of the garden has given up and the warm late fall sun shines down, giving the appearance that all has been brushed with gold."

The Mundelein, Ill., housewife, who corresponds with scores of American men here, wrote to Mrs. Krause of her reaction to the letters she was receiving in reply.

"I really can't help but feel this way on occasion. I feel like I am getting a real GI 'snow job.' But most of the letters are so sincere and the men seem so terribly lonely and often just plain lost within themselves."

7 Plead Guilty in Local Raid

Seven men arrested on gambling charges yesterday following a raid by the Pontiac Police Department's vice squad all pleaded guilty to their assignments in Municipal Court.

The raid occurred at 756 Young at about 3 a.m., according to police.

The occupant, Arthur R. White, 25, was sentenced Monday for maintaining and operating an illegal gaming place. He posted $100 bond.

Russell Lilly, 34, of 2671 Marlinton, Waterford Township, also faces sentencing Monday for aiding and abetting an illegal gaming place. He furnished $300 bond.

Fixed $25 for loitering in an illegal gaming place were Huston L. Young, 24, of 88 Mechanic; Edward T. Ponder, 27, of 34 Steinbaugh; James R. Menz, 30, of 17 E. Fairmount; Charles W. Kavo, 24, of 289 E. Pike; and Howard R. Smith, 36, of 279 Flint, Brandon Township.

UF Goal Is Set

MONROE (AP)—A $312,000 United Fund goal, largest ever for Monroe County, was announced Friday. The goal is 11 1/2 per cent higher than the 1966 goal of $279,738.

Unique Preschooler Program Shows Results

By DICK KLEINER
West Coast Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — The class was over and it was time to go home. The 15 little boys and girls were laughing as they helped put away the toys and straighten out the nursery schoolroom. They all went out to the bus except one girl, whose mother would be along soon to pick her up.

She helped one of the teachers put the chairs upside down on the desks.

"She couldn't do that a few months ago," said Mrs. Belle Dubnof. "She just was unable to figure out how to turn the chairs over and put them on the desk. Now see how easily she does it."

The Dubnof School for Educational Therapy is one of six schools in Los Angeles County where a preschool program for three-to-five-year-old children from needy homes—who are thought to be retarded is under way. It is a unique program. As far as is known here, there has never been an attempt to work with retarded children at such an early age. There are 32 children in two classes here, and the county-wide program embraces 229 children in 15 classes. They all come from homes where the income is under $4,000 a year and they are all disturbed in some way.

DIDN'T TALK

"These are children," says Mrs. Dubnof, "who are typical in one way or another. Most of the 32 had no speech when they first came here—just grunts, and some not even that."

Now they all speak. Some more than others, of course, but every one has at least a little speech. Most are now toilet-trained, and only a few were when the classes began here last October. Many, like the little girl who put the chairs up, have shown startling improvement.

LEARNING TO TALK—Irene Bronner, speech therapist in the pilot program at the Dubnof School for Educational Therapy, uses a paper snowman to hold the attention of a class. At the beginning of the program, few of the 32 students could talk; now they all do.

Duke's Birthday Greetings 'Cheery' With Home Woes

By EARL WILSON

SOMEWHERE IN TEXAS — "Duke" Wayne was in a big hotel suite, between Fort Worth and Dallas, with a small hand towel around his neck, for the makeup they were plastering on him for local TV coverage.

He wasn't wearing his glasses. They were hanging from the V of his sports shirt, held there by the ear shaft of the spectacles . . . and just as I was noticing this handy device, he got a call from his wife Pilar in Hollywood to tell him, among other things, "Happy 60th birthday."

WILSON

Then John Wayne, grandfather of 13, and father of a year-old daughter, got the bad news that also revealed his domesticity.

"Ethel has the chicken pox!" His face clouded. "The baby has an earache! That's enough for one woman . . ."

Finishing, he continued to stride about the suite. A waiter brought him a drink. "Here's to six-6," he said, lifting a glass. Just about everybody loves the Duke, but now he's taking on an extra stature, as sort of a folksy kiddier of serious things like $7,000,000 movies which some Hollywood minds think you should never get frivolous about.

We were there for the premier of "The War Wagon" and later the Duke said:

"It created a furor at Universal. They showed it in the morning. And in the afternoon, they burned the studio down."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: G. E. Rosenblatt learned about a candy-flavored thermometer. It's for hypochondriacs with a sweet tooth.

(The Hall Syndicate, Inc.)

"See that girl?" Mrs. Dubnof pointed out a cute thing with pigtails. "When she started, she would only show us the top of her head. Now she tests out with an IQ of 126." Many of them, it turns out, are not retarded at all. Through growing up in "a culturally disadvantaged home," they became disturbed. Others had undiagnosed physical disabilities.

SCARY HISTORIES

The case histories are frightening. There is the blue-eyed blond boy whose parents both deserted him, leaving him with a 79-year-old grandfather. Then the father took a loan on the furniture and didn't pay and all the furniture was repossessed.

There is the girl who couldn't talk and nobody could blame her. She had been through three foster homes and often wound up in the hospital, beaten and, on at least one occasion, burned.

There is the little girl who suffered from echolalia—she could speak plainly but only echoed what she heard. Her father got his kicks out of saying dirty words and listening to her repeat them.

Without this program, Mrs. Dubnof believes, they would all have wound up in institutions. But, through professional care, many will be able to enter regular school when the proper time comes.

"Now," says Mrs. Dubnof, "they have a chance."

Progress comes slowly. With a child who bites and kicks and throws tantrums, progress is when he asks for a toy and doesn't object when he doesn't get it. With a child who hides in the locker, progress is when he gets angry.

And progress is when the parents—or whoever looks after the child—begin to treat him with love and understanding.

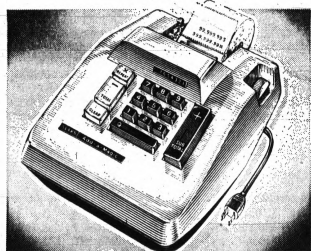

"These children," says Mrs. Dubnof, "are often looked on as a reward for the parents' own sins, as a cross they must bear. Many of them come from homes where there are eight or 10 children. If they show signs of abnormality, they are treated badly."

"We are making them ordinary children."

Board of Canvassers to Meet Monday on DST Issue

LANSING (AP) — The Board of State Canvassers will meet Monday to decide if Michigan must jump its clocks ahead an hour to Daylight Saving Time.

The State Supreme Court yesterday passed the hot time issue back into the hands of the canvassers.

Seven court members were unanimous in lifting a previous order preventing the canvassers from passing on the validity of petitions seeking to put the Daylight Saving Time issue on the November 1968 election ballot.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has ruled that the instant the canvassers certify the petitions as valid, the state automatically must go on Eastern Daylight Time.

Certifying the question for the ballot, Kelley ruled, will suspend the law exempting Michigan from federal daylight time.

Michigan was exempted by a measure passed by the Legislature and signed by the governor earlier this year.

Mrs. Esther Waite of East Lansing, canvassers board chairman, said she and State Election Director Robert Montgomery tried in vain last night to round up a quorum of the board to meet and make a decision today.

Three board members met yesterday morning — even as the high court was hearing oral arguments on the issue — to certify results of the special House election in the 75th District.

They scattered to their homes by noon, however, not anticipating the fast action by the Supreme Court.

All four board members will be on hand for the Monday meeting, Mrs. Waite said.

Other members of the bipartisan board are Mrs. Zoe Burkholz of Benton Harbor, Alfred Fortino of St. Louis and Nathan Conyers of Detroit, newly appointed by Gov. Romney.

War on Junk Mail Begun

Angered over rising postal rates and the large amount of junk mail they receive, a group of Rochester area women have undertaken a campaign aimed at easing both situations.

If the plan is successful, U.S. congressmen can expect to see a mountain of junk mail dumped on their Washington doorstep someday in September.

"We're collecting it from all parts of the county," said Mrs. William Tym-kow, vice president of the Avon-Rochester chapter of the Oakland County Democratic Women's Federation, whose members initiated the protest movement.

"We are hoping to get tons of junk mail to prove our point," she added.

A number of chapter members are planning to travel to Washington to personally deliver the unwanted mail, according to Mrs. Tymkow.

"If Congress is going to raise rates, let it be on junk mail," she said.

Postal rates have been raised recently and shortly they will go even higher on personal mail, said Mrs. Tymkow, yet junk mail continues to be privileged and sent by the millions of pieces each day at the same low rate that it has always enjoyed.

Anyone can join in the protest, she said, by saving all their unwanted junk mail and depositing it at Democratic headquarters at 1700 N. Telegraph, Bloomfield Township, or the South Oakland County Democratic office in Berkeley at Coolidge and Catalpa.

"If they can't drop it off, I'll travel anywhere to pick it up," said Mrs. Tymkow, 47855 Dequindre, Avon Township.

Crash Kills Youth From Pontiac Twp.

A 20-year-old Pontiac Township youth was killed early today when the car he was driving went out of control on Mount Clemens.

Pontiac police said Jerel F. Prozkinski of 2075 E. Walton was killed instantly about 4:30 a.m. when the car skidded sideways some 200 feet and smashed into a tree near Palmer Drive.

John Clymire, 23, of 805 St. Clair, a passenger in the vehicle, escaped serious injury, police said.

Israel Ready to Stop War, U.N. Security Council Told

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel reported to the Security Council today that Gen. Moshe Dayan, its defense minister, had agreed to accept any hour for a cease-fire set by the United Nations in consultation with Syria to halt that phase of the Middle East war.

The word came to the 15-nation council as it received reports also of deep penetration into Syria by Israeli troops and Israeli air attacks around the capital of Damascus.

Later Secretary General U Thant said the U.N. truce chief had fixed 12:30 p.m. EDT as the hour for ending hostilities.

Israeli Ambassador Gideon Rafael gave the council a report on a meeting in Tel Aviv between Dayan and Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, head of the U.N. Palestine Truce Supervision Organization.

Rafael said Gen. Bull would establish contact with the Syrians on the hour to be set and that Israel would provide him with the necessary assistance in the way of communications and transport.

The reports from U.N. observers in Syria reached the council piecemeal during a meeting that began before dawn in an effort to bring an end to Middle East hostilities.

The Soviet Union, after breaking relations with Israel, warned the council it must halt what the Russians consider Israeli aggression or face "an extremely serious situation."

The Soviet Union sought condemnation of Israel by the 15-nation council.

These were the early major developments before the council, summoned into an urgent session at 4:32 a.m. EDT.

• Israel reported that Gen. Moshe Dayan, the Israeli defense minister, was negotiating in Tel Aviv with Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, head of the U.N. Palestine Truce Supervision Organization, on an end to hostilities with Syria.

• Secretary General U Thant relayed Israeli reports that Israeli troops and aircraft were in the vicinity of Damascus, but denying the Syrian capital had been under air attack.

Lightning Kills Boy, Injures 3

A 10-year-old Bloomfield Township boy was killed and three other youths were injured — two of them seriously — when struck by lightning yesterday afternoon at Dodge No. 4 State Park in Waterford Township.

The dead boy was identified as Robert Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans O. Rose of 6677 Timber Ridge, Bloomfield Township. He was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

The victim's brother, James, 12, is listed in serious condition at the hospital. Listed in very serious condition is Robert LaFontaine, 17, of Detroit.

Also struck by lightning was Daniel Brown, 17, of Ferndale. He is listed in fair condition at the hospital.

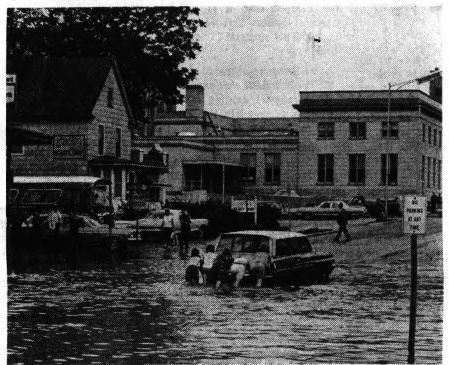

The two Rose brothers were together with their mother, Carmen, and a younger brother, Paul, 7, at the west end of the beach. The other two youths were in the center part of the beach when the incident occurred, according to state police.

UNDER TREES

Both groups were under trees waiting for the storm to end, State Police said.

Mrs. Rose and her youngest son also were knocked unconscious momentarily by the impact, according to witnesses. Neither required treatment.

The lightning-thunder burst, which struck at about 1:30 p.m., made "the whole ground shake," according to lifeguard Gary Gutman, 18, of Detroit.

Power Failures, Flooding Are Widespread in Area

Lightning, which swept across Oakland county yesterday afternoon in a sudden rainstorm, knocked out scattered power lines, struck houses and killed a 10-year-old boy.

Power failures and flooded streets were widespread in more than a dozen area municipalities during the storm in which 1.5 inches of rain fell in winds of 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Most electric service was restored within three hours, spokesmen for Detroit Edison and Consumers Power Companies said.

About 1,600 customers served by the electric companies in Pontiac had power cut off at 2:15 p.m.

Lightning struck a two-story brick house in West Bloomfield Township, causing $17,000 worth of fire damage, fire officials said. The house was occupied by John Wade, 2820 Pine Lake.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

One boy was killed and three others were hospitalized when they were struck by lightning in Waterford Township.

A Detroit Edison Spokesman said a large section of Pontiac, bounded by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Company tracks on the north and west, Arlene on the east and Montcalm on the south was affected.

About 800 customers, including Pontiac Northern High and Madison Junior High schools, were out of service.

Rochester police report that their radio transmitter was blown out for about six hours.

Rainy Weekend Seen

Skies will be partly overcast with showers and thundershowers on the agenda throughout the state over the weekend. Temperatures will continue warm.

Today's south to southwesterly winds at 12 to 22 miles will be briefly higher in showers today diminishing tonight.

Measurable precipitation probabilities in percent are today 50, tonight 60, tomorrow 50.

The low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 66. The mercury had climbed to 86 by 1 p.m.

Nasser to Stay as President

CAIRO (AP) — Gamel Abdel Nasser advised the Egyptian National Assembly today he is bowing to "the will of the people and will stay on as president of the United Arab Republic."

Nasser said he would stick to the post until Egypt "erased all traces of aggression."

Deputies jumped from their seats and roared approval as Speaker Anwar Sadat announced the news of the Arab leader's decision to a special session of the Assembly.

Sadat said Nasser was unable to make the announcement himself because huge crowds shouting for his return to power were blocking his way to the Assembly building.

"We do not accept anybody, but Nasser as our leader," the speaker told the assembly, repeating a slogan that had echoed through the canyons of metropolitan Cairo all night long.

VOICE OF MASSES

In a message read by the speaker to the 360-man Assembly, Nasser said: "The voice of the masses is an order that cannot be disobeyed. Therefore I decided to stay in my place.

"I will stay in the post where the people want me to be until the time when we will be able to erase all traces of aggression. But after that period the decision should be made in a general plebiscite."

Israelis Closing In on Syrian Troops

WITH ISRAELI FORCES, Syria (AP) — A giant Israeli strike force began closing its pincers on Syrian troops inside Syria today and brought death and destruction to two gun-studded hills which the Israelis say terrorized Israel's northern Golan for 18 years.

"They ran like rabbits when they saw our campaign hats," said a young Israeli lieutenant, fingering the barrel of a sub-machine gun still warm from hours of night fighting.

By dawn today the two hills — Tel Azaziat and Tel Hamra — had been wrecked by a combined Israeli tank and artillery assault.

Blackened steel girders twisted over a clump of dead Syrian soldiers around a Soviet-made mortar.

Some of the destruction appeared to have been caused by exploding Bangalore torpedoes which the Syrians had used for two attacks on kibbutz settlements earlier in the war.

Area Voters Face School Issues

Monday is an important day for Oakland County residents and taxpayers. It's election day in school districts throughout the County. We have the opportunity to select our school board members and decide some school tax issues. We should all exercise that right.

In the Pontiac School District there will be seven candidates vying for three board positions. In the Waterford Township School District, 11 are running for three board seats. In both Pontiac and Waterford, as well as all other districts in Oakland County, voters will be asked to approve or reject a half-million tax levy for building four area vocational education centers.

tricts are financially unable to provide programs necessary to keep pace with industry in our rapidly changing technological society.

If built, the centers would offer courses in such fields as auto mechanics, data processing, electrical trades, electronics, health services, mechanical occupations, machine shop, office machine repair and welding.

Aside from the vocational education millage issue in all districts, there are separate millage proposals to be decided in the Troy, Holly, Avondale, Oxford, Romeo, Dryden and Clarenceville school districts.

The tax proposals in Troy and Holly have probably drawn most attention. The Troy School District is asking for a one-year tax levy of $7 per $1,000 of assessed property value to retire current school district debts and continue present programs.

In Holly, voters will decide a 10-mill tax package — continuation of a current $7 per $1,000 of assessed valuation tax levy plus an additional levy of $3 per $1,000 which school district officials say is needed to prevent a deficit and maintain present programs.

The point of it all is that regardless of how you vote, you should cast a ballot Monday. There are too many important matters on the ballot to pass up this election. It would be a shame to see these proposals decided by only a slim minority of the voters in our respective school districts.

This is an important proposal worthy of careful consideration.

If approved, it would cost taxpayers an additional 50 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation. The money raised by this levy would be used to build a center in each quadrant of the County. Each center would supplement vocational and technical education curriculums in every high school in Oakland.

Once built, the centers would be operated on county, state and federal funds; not local school district money.

The only cost to school districts would be that of transporting their students to the nearest center. Proponents of the vocational centers say they are needed because school dis-

Pontiac Symphony Orchestra Merits Big Hand

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra has rung down the curtain on another successful season—the 13th since this fine organization was formed.

Under direction of FELIX RESNICK for the past seven years, the Symphony has each year strengthened its role in the cultural life of the community.

RESNICK

The 48-year-old conductor, who also serves the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra in similar capacity and is a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, has created a noteworthy musical medium whereby music enthusiasts may find an outlet for their talent while providing entertainment for appreciative audiences.

Personnel of the orchestra of 65 is largely amateur, although a core of professionals give it artistic balance, and is composed for most part of those now in other walks of life who have had previous orchestral experience.

Additionally, some 15 students of exceptional musical skill are found among those who each year qualify for the orchestra in pre-season auditions that are open to all.

A 1966-67 innovation that won wide acceptance was the adoption of the "family plan" for three of the program's eight concerts. Under the plan, the entire family, regardless of size, is admitted for a flat price of $2.

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra is truly a "home industry" and worthy of the patronage and support of the area citizenry.

U.S., Russia Must Rebuild Arab Ties

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON—The Johnson administration and the Soviets now will pat themselves on the back — a pat well-deserved — for preserving enough sanity in the Middle East frenzy to avoid a world war.

MARLOW

But even as they pride themselves both must take a deep sigh and realize themselves to the fact they have a lot of work to do, years of it, to try to win friends and influence people among the Arabs all over again.

The Soviet Union has a head start but not exactly a 100 per cent report card.

As the crisis mounted, the Soviet Union said it supported the Arabs but this didn't amount to more than denouncing Israel when the war began and the Israelis climbed all over the Arabs.

And after the fighting started and the U.N. Security Council wrung its hands over the wording of a cease-fire resolution that all 15 council members could agree upon, the Soviets insisted on one that would help the Arabs.

IN THE END the Soviets backed down, settled for the simple cease-fire, and left the Arabs in a humiliating position. They're not likely to forget that the Soviet Union, which said it supported them, didn't in the show-down.

The Soviets, for their part, probably are disgusted with the Arabs for being so easy to get mixed up in a war they couldn't fight. On this point, the Soviets will have to do some self-examination.

Their own intelligence system — which should have known how unready the Arabs were for war — must have failed, with the result that Moscow stuck its neck out on the side of the loser

Confident Living:

You Can Accomplish Your Goals

BY NORMAN VINCENT PEALE
Nobody ever achieved anything who did not consistently build himself up in his thoughts, telling himself until he believed it as fact that by his own abilities he could accomplish his objectives and goals.

DR. PEALE

Never build a case against yourself in your own mind because the mind tends to develop the thought-image that it holds. Build a case for yourself and it has a big chance of coming to pass as imagined.

President Calvin Coolidge spent a summer vacation in the Black Hills. He always attended Sunday services and a Secret Service man was sent out ahead to find a church for the President.

Early on a Sunday morning he located a small church where a young man, whom he took to be the janitor, was dusting pews and setting hymn books in place.

"Good morning," he said, "I would like to speak to the minister."

"I am the minister," the young man answered.

"Do you usually have a large congregation?" the Secret Service man asked.

"Not very big, just a few farmers. You see I'm only a student preacher here for the summer. Don't know much about preaching," he smiled, "but if you would like to stay for services I'll do the best I can. This is my first Sunday."

"I'll be here all right," the other replied. "You see, I've come to tell you that President Coolidge and his official party will worship with you this morning."

The young man's face turned alternately red and white. His teeth all but chattered. "Oh, no, President Coolidge couldn't be coming to this church! I can't do it," he gasped.

The Secret Service man put his arm on the young man's shoulders. "Listen, son," he said, "this President of the United States is a plain and simple man. Anyway, he may not hear anything you say for when he goes to church all he does is think about his mother."

"You just get up there in the pulpit and give it all you've got. You can do it. And I'll be pulling for you."

The young pastor looked at his watch. "I've got two hours," he said and he rushed to his room. He had prepared in advance seven sermons to be given the seven Sundays he would be preaching in this little church.

Afterward the Secret Service man patted him on the shoulder and said, "Boy, I knew you could do it! You know what the President told me to tell you? That it was the best sermon he has heard in a long while, and since he is going to be here for six weeks he will be in this church every Sunday to hear you."

If ever again the young minister was haunted by feelings of inadequacy, which attack each of us at times in life, he could remind himself that, when you have to come through, you can do it.

Remember that the good Lord is on your side and gives you strength equal to your responsibilities.

Retirees Take Joke Seriously

By DAVE BURGIN
WASHINGTON (NEA) — U.S. protocol chief James Symington just may have put an end to, or at least curtail, all these books and memoirs which give away government secrets. Now a days, Symington says, it seems about every retiring government worker

Of course, Symington tells it as a joke. The kicker is, we've learned, that more than a few retiring government workers have taken him seriously, wanting to know what chances the bill has of passing.

Musical excerpts from America's favorite art form, Broadway musical comedy, highlighted a recent dinner given by President and Mrs. Johnson.

"It's my vintage," Defense Secretary McNamara said after the band and singers had completed renditions of songs from the most popular musicals.

"There was a song for everybody here."

Vice President Hubert Humphrey's favorite, he told those nearby, was "I'm a Cockeyed Optimist" from South Pacific.

"There's a line in it which sums up my feelings about the world: '... and I'm stuck, like a dope, with a thing called hope, and I can't get it out of my heart.'"

Those close to President Johnson say privately that the President does indeed have a sharp wit. However, one never knows whether his funny barbs are meant for laughs or to make a serious point.

Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt, we hear, found himself in such a spot during his White House visit the other day. The prime minister, quite familiar with some of the President's idiosyncrasies was hit with a punline that left him not knowing whether to laugh or offer condolences.

"And this is the East Room," LBJ said. "It is the room where some Americans indulge in something that is very close to an old Australian blood sport."

"But here in America we call it a press conference."

Voice of the People:

'More Careful Spending Could Ease Tax Burden'

The only answer politicians have to every problem is "raise the taxes." They warn that we will have to resort to a severe austerity program unless taxes are raised again. Big deal! Things have been getting more austere at my house each year as taxes go up. I am all for some rigorously-practiced thrift in government, whether local, state or national. If we could erase some of the wasteful and dishonest practices at all governmental levels, the taxpayers' burden could be eased considerably.

What is needed is an aroused public demanding that Senators and Representatives say no to outlandish projects, not only in other districts but in their own back yards. I'm willing to try it. Won't others join me?

'Let's Request Constitutional Convention'

Why is Governor Romney so opposed to a national constitutional convention to add amendments to the Constitution? What is so terrible about letting the people decide what they want for the Nation? Maybe if there was a convention there would be a reversal of the trend toward the harboring of criminals and people could walk the streets without feeling they are hurting someone's "rights" if they resist an attack.

Only two more states need to request a convention before Congress must call one. I hope Michigan will be one of those states. Write your Congressman and the Governor and urge them to request the convention.

Survival Test for Astronauts

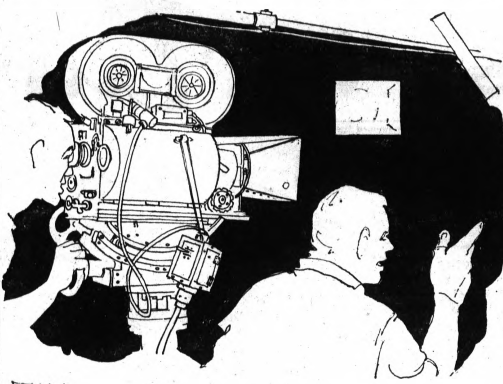

PANAMA (UPI) — Twenty-two U.S. astronauts will be down to earth and living off it next week.

The U.S. military command for the Canal Zone said the men will be picked into the rugged Panamanian jungles for a week of survival training.

"The training period requires the trainee to fly to a selected site then make his way to another site living off the jungle and eating whatever he can, such as snakes and plants," a command spokesman said.

The command did not identify the astronauts.

The survival trainees go into the jungle unarmed except for a knife.

Awards Given at Festival

Collegians' Films Exhibit Talent

By PHILIP R. WERDELL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — This year's National Student Film Festival distributed its awards to college students making clever, talented and very professional films recently. The results are interesting.

The festival showcased a pool of talent capable of future big league film production. But "to those familiar with university film activity and the opportunities offered to students of film, this very professionalism, this refusal to dig below the underground or rise above the triteness of Hollywood cinema, was an unexpected disappointment," said Art Wiener, cultural affairs director of the National Student Association (NSA), which sponsored this and last year's festivals.

This year's festival judges apparently were more sympathetic to experimental work than had been previous festival critics. The first prize winners were "further out," wider, than those taking lesser awards in the individual categories.

"But the judges' sympathy towards experimentalism was somewhat in vain, since none of the films was a truly new experience," said Wiener.

"Match Girl," the winning film in a dramatic category, is obviously the more experimental of the two films selected for awards. The story concerns an aspiring young actress who finds dreaming about life more fulfilling than living it.

FILM'S GOAL

The film hoped to project a study in monotony, underscoring the shallowness of the girl. The only problem is that it bores its viewers to death in the process.

The second place in the dramatic category went to "Fareforward Voyager," a UCLA entry by Sterling Norris. The story here is straightforward and lucid. It exhibits the clarity so absent in the first-place winner.

The voyager is a woman going to meet her second lover, after having lost her first when he tried to escape from East Germany. Afraid of losing the second, too, the woman decides not to meet him after all. Unfortunately, the woman's emotional reactions to situations are not dealt with in depth, so her "cop out" at film's end strikes the viewer as phony.

"Comparing these two films, the tragic irony of the student film becomes apparent," said Wiener.

LACK COMMAND

"Film students attempting to deal with dominant contemporary themes lack command of the media, while producers of slicker student films too frequently concern themselves with the safest and least challenging topics."

The judges gave three prizes in the documentary category.

The award winner, "Riff 65," was made at NYU by Eric Camiel. Riff is an American Indian boy growing up in Harlem. In the very smooth lingo of the streets, Riff and his neighborhood friends relate Riff's background and character.

The film shows us more about Riff than his friends tell us, however. Riff bounces along the screen, climbing fences, buildings and electrical wires.

Original music complements his acrobatics. He is last seen climbing into an old school building. He tears desks apart and smashes windows. The film ends and the credits begin, but the sounds of Riff smashing windows continues.

The film receiving a certificate of merit was "The Season" by UCLA's Donald McDonald. "Season," the most popular of the winning films, shows the commercial exploitations of Christmas in southern California.

Children give their impressions of what Christmas means to them. Their references to the birth of Christ are contrasted with the annual Christmas parade in Los Angeles, complete with cheerleaders, clowns, cowboys, unicyclists, a horse on roller skates and a Hallelujah chorus performed by a brass band.

A priest then talks about the spiritual meaning of Christmas, specifically the religious significance of the fir tree.

So we meet the California Christmas tree huckster. He has his gimmick, the colored Christmas tree. They come in red, blue, black, pink, orange, white and "green for poor people." Last year black was the color he tells us. Next year it will be orange.

There is even a half-and-half tree, red and white. "You have to have something to grab 'em."

The second National Student Film Festival indicated that student interest in film is widespread and intense. Close to 150 films from dozens of colleges throughout the country were entered in the 1966 National Student Film Awards Competition.

WINNERS REPRESENTATIVE

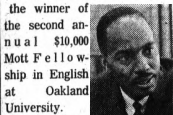

The winning films, including those mentioned here and others, comprised a representative sampling of the most interesting work done by American students in film.

The award-winning films will be put together in a collection for distribution by the National Student Association. The collection should be ready for distribution this fall.

The winning films of the first National Student Film Festival are currently being distributed by NSA. For information, write USNSA, 2115 S. St., N.W., Washington, D.C.
