Blanket-Wrapped Form Found by Pontiac Man

Officials Theorize Girl Was Slain by Sex Fiend on Day of Kidnaping

By AL LOWMAN

The stabbed and strangled body of 7-year-old Barbara Gaca was found yesterday afternoon in a lonely West Bloomfield Township garbage dump and lover's lane.

One of Michigan's most intensive searches ended when a railroad section hand found the body wrapped in an army blanket in a wooded area near Halsted Road and Pontiac Trail.

An autopsy performed last night at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital indicated the Detroit schoolgirl had been slain on the same day as her abduction.

Dr. Richard E. Olsen, examining pathologist, said she had been raped. Fifteen stab wounds were found in the girl's chest and back. Finger bruises on her neck indicated she had been strangled, Olsen stated.

Authorities theorized the girl's body was placed in the dump before the snow last Friday. They said no trace of snow was found under the body when it was removed.

In his autopsy, Dr. Olsen stated Barbara's body showed evidence of freezing.

Barbara's body was positively identified at about 8:15 last night by her father, Frank, a Detroit postman, and her grandfather, Frank Sr., at the hospital.

For sheer brutality and sadism, the murder stands almost unequaled in Michigan history, according, to police.

The body was found at about 2:20 p. m. amid a tangle of rusted tin cans, old boards, and rotting garbage by Grand Trunk section hand Rufino Zamora, 28, of 666 Ojista St., Pontiac. He was working with three other men near where the tracks cross Halsted road.

Zamora, a naturalized U. S. citizen from Mexico, spotted the Army blanket in the dump about 150 feet south of the railroad. His curiosity led to the gruesome discovery.

He reported his discovery to foreman William K. Davidson. Zamora, Davidson and the other two members of the crew ran 250 yards east to the home of Mrs. Mary Smelser, 46, of 4975 Halsted Rd.

She phoned the Oakland County Sheriff's Dept., where the information was relayed to State Police of the Pontiac Post.

In a matter of minutes, at about 3:10 p. m., a terse message from the scene said: "This is the girl." The 8-day hunt was over.

Within a half hour, hundreds of police and reporters from Pontiac, Detroit, West Bloomfield Township, Orchard Lake and Wolverine Lake converged on the roped-off area.

Among the first on the scene were State Police Detective Charles Leaf and Robert C. Miller, chief investigator for the Oakland County Prosecutor's office.

Both said tire tracks led to within 10 feet of the body. They were visible along the entire length of the sandy lane leading west from Halsted road.

The body, lying face down, was covered with a nearly new Army blanket, Miller stated.

"Ten feet east lay her blue snowsuit, about 10 feet farther on was her blue and red babushka and 90 feet farther on lay her zippered pencil case," Miller stated.

"It looked as though her abductor threw the articles from a car window as he drove in, but the body appeared to have been carefully placed," Miller said.

Leaf reported that the snowsuit had apparently been slashed with a knife on the right side near the front. The cut was about seven inches long, he estimated.

There were other belongings scattered about the scene.

A rosary, a school pad with "Barbara Gaca" written on it, and school papers, were found.

Barbara was wearing the same clothes worn when she disappeared the morning of March 24, while on her way to Assumption Grotto School near her home at 14102 Faircrest, Detroit.

Her dress and undershirt were bloodsoaked in front and on the back. A short-bladed knife was believed used in stabbing the girl 10 times in the chest and five times in the back. Three of the 3-inch-deep wounds penetrated the heart, and one the lungs.

The dump where the body was discovered is only a quarter of a mile from Pleasant Lake where the Gacas have spent two summer vacations.

And the spot is only a mile east of the Proud Lake Recreation Area where 90 Milford schoolboys conducted a search yesterday. The area was combed after a car was spotted there bearing the same description as the one in which Barbara was believed abducted.

A search of the neighborhood was started immediately by Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, led by Sheriff Frank Irons, and by State Police and Detroit detectives.

Every resident was scheduled to be questioned in the hope of finding someone who might have seen a green car in the area within the past few days.

Police theorized the murderer may be familiar with the area be-

Chicago Tribune Chief Dies This Morning at Farm Home

CHICAGO (AP)—Col. Robert Rutherford McCormick, 74, colorful editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, died early today.

He had been in failing health for several years but remained active in his work until early last month.

Death came at his farm home west of Chicago at 2:47 a.m.

McCormick, who gained the title of colonel from World War I service, was the key man in a publishing organization which owns the newspapers with the largest circulations in the United States—the Chicago Tribune and the New York Daily News.

He stepped into an executive post at the Tribune in 1911, when it had a daily circulation of about 200,000. Last September the Tribune had a daily circulation of 802,058 and a Sunday circulation of 1,392,384.

He had a long and active career. He shaped the policies of the Tribune, largest standard-sized newspaper in this country, which each day proclaims itself on Page 1 as "the world's greatest newspaper."

The Tribune fought federal prohibition, ferreted out medical quacks, argued against foreign involvements and opposed entry of the United States into World War II right up to Pearl Harbor.

It was a constant critic of the Democratic administrations of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman—and it brandished its broadsword at many Republicans too.

The 6-foot-4 colonel had a knack for capsuling his views in succinct statements, such as this one, made on his return from a 1948 visit to Europe:

Grief-Stricken Father Makes Final Identification of Barbara's Body Here

It was a heart-rending, hope-shattering task that faced Frank Gaca last night, but he knew it had to be done.

He had to be sure the little girl found in a lonely West Bloomfield Township rubbish dump was his 7-year-old daughter Barbara.

He arrived at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with his father, Frank Sr., and the Rev. Father Joseph F. Ryder, of Assumption Grotto Church.

It was 8:15, nearly 5½ hours after the girl's body was found wrapped in an army blanket by a railroad section hand.

Officials urged the grief-stricken Gaca, a Detroit postman, to let his father make the final identification.

But Gaca insisted.

He had to see . . . he had to make sure.

Perhaps the ravaged little body was not that of his daughter—there was still a chance.

As detectives led him toward the door, behind which lay the truth, an officer said: "Brace yourself, this is going to be tough."

Ninety seconds later, Gaca, his father, and the Rev. Ryder emerged from the room.

It was Barbara.

There was no doubt now. The ravaged body, stabbed 15 times, strangled and raped by a sadistic killer, was Barbara. His little brown-eyed Barbara, who only last Thursday morning kissed her mother goodby for the last time.

Gaca, his face mirroring the pain only he and his wife can know in this hour, hurried from the autopsy room, past the pitying eyes of reporters, policemen and nurses.

His only words were halting and choked: "I hope she didn't suffer—I hope they catch the one who did it."

The search had ended. All that remained now was to return home to his wife and three remaining children.

Hundreds Dead, Missing in Philippine Earthquake

MANILA (AP)—Violent earthquakes rocked the southern Philippines today, causing possibly hundreds of deaths and untold damage.

The Philippine News Service reported "hundreds" dead or missing in the Tugaya district alone of Lanao province. Earlier PNS said there were 164 confirmed deaths in four districts of that province.

For nearly eight hours the earth trembled and shook. The ground split open. Sand and hot water were reported issuing from cracks in the ground. Some houses toppled into Lake Lanao.

Hardest hit was the palm-tree-studded belt of northwestern Mindanao, second largest island in the archipelago. The first heavy shock hit the area at 2:15 a.m. Thereafter a chain reaction of tremors set in, leaving the earth on Panay, Negros, Samar, Cebu, Leyte and Bohol islands.

The Philippine Red Cross said the death toll appeared largest at Lake Lanao on Mindanao. Coastal towns to the west were devastated. Houses crumpled, churches collapsed and the power failed.

To Back Fluorine Vote 'Against'

This is another reminder to Pontiac voters of the wording of the fluoridation issue on the ballot at next Monday's election.

The ballot reads:

"Shall the ordinance prohibiting the addition of fluorides to the public water supply of the City of Pontiac be adopted?"

So, if you are in favor of fluoridation, vote "Against the Ordinance." If you oppose fluoridation, vote "For the Ordinance."

Saginaw Doctor Blames Fluoride and Cites Cases

Charges Poisoning Was Caused by Water That Had Been Treated

Four anti-fluoridation speakers addressed about 90 persons in the Pontiac High School Auditorium Thursday evening.

Dr. William P. Martzowka of Saginaw was the principal speaker. He outlined the fundamental principles on which he has opposed fluoridation of public water supplies.

These he listed as the precipitation of calcium by the fluorides and consequent loss of calcium from the body; the principal of stress and strain which is associated with the phenomenon of fatigue, and slow elimination of fluorine from the body.

He declared that loss of calcium from the body tissues causes many disturbances leading to diseases of the heart and kidneys, tetany, etc.

He likened the principle of stress and strain to that of building materials, where a beam may sag after a long period of time. He said that even a small amount of poison remaining in the human body over an extended period may bring about similar results, producing the characteristic phenomenon of fatigue. He said that elimination of fluorine from the body is shown to be slow by the fact that he has seen cases where fluorine was still being eliminated several months after the person had been taken off the use of fluoridated water.

He also cited experiments on rats conducted by Alfred Taylor in Texas in which he said the toxic effect of fluorine was demonstrated. He said that five grams of fluorine would kill a person within a few hours.

Dr. Martzowka said: "If one part per million of fluoride is a small dose of poison, then it follows the laws of stresses and strains, previously mentioned. If a patient drinks 1 milligran per quart per day, in 40 years his kidney must eliminate 2.92 lethal doses. If it is unable to do so, storage takes place in the body. The kidney will gradually fatigue.

"Dr. Alfred Taylor's 'life span' experiments would fall in line with this. He found that mice, who were given fluoridated water to drink, had their life span shortened by 9 per cent."

His first case was one in which he said mental disturbance and a feeling of collapse was evident, also numbness in the fourth and fifth fingers. Although these symptoms had been noted for a year, he said this case cleared up in two months after the patient had substituted pure water for the fluoridated water.

The second case was a 76 year old woman who showed evidence of dropsy from her knees to her ankles. He said that by diluting the fluid in her body through drinking pure water, her symptoms were relived.

Dr. Martzowka described his third case as a woman with very high blood pressure, 320 over 160 at the start. He said she reported symptoms of headache, vomiting over considerable periods of time, with stomach trouble extending over three years, and a very low back ache. He said she recovered in five months after being taken off fluoridated water, her blood pressure dropping to 260 over 120.

He reported the fourth case was one worked up at Harper Hospital by a group of specialist. He said it was a boy who suffered from convulsions. He said the patient had two bad upper incisor teeth, and showed slides of these teeth. He said the patient had as many as 28 convulsions in one day.

He reported an operation was performed looking for a brain tumor, or adhesions, but that these were not found. He said this case finally was diagnosed as tetany, due to deprivation of calcium, and that the doctors concluded that fluorine was a contributing cause.

Knows of No Case

Health Official Questions Claims About Poisoning

"We know of no one who has been made ill by our water supply."

This was the reply of Dr. Garland Weidner, M. D., M. P. H., Saginaw City Health Officer, regarding claims of Dr. William P. Martzowka of Saginaw and Dr. George Waldbott of Detroit that they knew of several individuals who had suffered from fluoride poisoning.

"We know of certain individuals who have claimed to have been made ill," continued Dr. Weidner, "but the proof that is given in their cases is absolutely unsupported by any reasonable evidence.

"If there were any actual harm, those of us interested in public health would be the first to wish to take recognition of it."

Referring to last November's election at which Saginaw voters halted fluoridation of that city's water supply, Dr. Weidner said:

"The fluoridation of Saginaw city water was put to a vote and lost out by 228 votes out of 23,840 persons voting.

"The opponents of fluoridation fall into several well organized groups, some of which are represented by national organizations which endeavor to interest local people. The nationally organized opponents are:

"1. The drugless healers who oppose scientific medicine.

"2. Those who have drug products to sell which they think they can promote better if we do not reduce tooth decay by fluoridation of water supplies.

"3. Certain publication houses which sell anti-fluoridation literature.

"4. So called religious groups which are opposed to scientific medicine.

"The outside groups apparently furnish the ammunition and the local opponents carry on a directed attack."

Finds Body on Dump in West Bloomfield

cause the dump is in such an out-of-the-way place. They believe the girl was slain elsewhere and possibly transported to the dump in the trunk or rear seat of a car.

Detroit detectives said the girl may have known her abductor and entered his car willingly. None of her possessions was found in the area where the abduction was believed to have taken place.

Mrs. Smelser told police her dogs were nervous about 5 p.m. Wednesday and she had to calm them. A report that a child's scream was heard in the area at about 9 p.m. Monday is also being investigated.

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said the case now is under the jurisdiction of local officials, pending determination of where the actual murder took place.

"We are cooperating in every way with Detroit and State Police and if the slaying took place elsewhere than this county, they (Detroit police) will have jurisdiction," Ziem stated.

Ziem, Sheriff Frank Irons, State Police of the Pontiac Post and Detroit authorities held a meeting at 2 p. m. today in the office of Wayne County Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien.

This morning, crime laboratory experts were checking plaster casts of the tire tracks found on the lane leading to the dump and molds of a large footprint found near the body.

Most authorities have expressed belief that the man they are looking for will have a previous record as a sex deviate.

Police also were checking a report by Mrs. Donald Bishop, 39, of 6575 Walnut Lake Rd., about one-third mile from Halsted.

She reported seeing a "dark green car" parked in front of her home at "about 10 or 10:30 p.m." the night of Barbara's disappearance. She said the auto, a shiny late model, left after about five minutes.

The woman, whose husband works nights in Detroit, stated that an unidentified man had been hanging around her home from July to Labor Day last year. She said he fled when she called police, but she reported he was the same man she saw the night of the girl's abduction.

Shocked by the brutal rape-slaying, members of the State Legislature today were studying a proposal calling for the death penalty for any adult who commits murder or kidnaps or rapes a child under 12 years old.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Lynn O. Francis (R-Midland) only minutes before Barbara's body was found.

If passed, the proposal would be submitted to voters at the 1956 fall election.

Thus ends the search for Barbara. But perhaps an even more intensified manhunt has been started for her killer.

Meanwhile messages of sympathy began pouring in to the bereaved Gaca family. But one treasure they will cherish more than any condolence will be these words scrawled in their little daughter's childish hand on one of the papers found in the dump.

They were part of a test in which she was supposed to use the word "angel" three times. They read:

"I love an angel.
"I want an angel.
"I have an angel."

Pontiac Deaths

Fred A. Anderson

Word has been received of the death of Fred A. Anderson, 66, of Port Huron, a former resident of Pontiac. He died Wednesday after several months illness.

Ares, embracing Mindanao, reported there were 164 confirmed dead in Lanao province and 15 missing.

A Philippine News Service dispatch from Iligan reported earth fissures measuring as wide as a foot in some places. The tremors caused landslides.

The news service said 10 persons were hurt at Iligan and a waterfront office building there slid into the sea.

From Ozamis City (Misamis), a town of 35,262, an estimated one million dollars in damage was reported. At least 2,000 were homeless there.

Sun, Not Showers Marks April Debut

Weatherwise, today was a pretty good April Fool's Day. Despite earlier predictions for cloudy skies and rain, the sun continued to shine and all shower forecasts were canceled.

Although yesterday's temperatures of 34 to 63 were high enough to spread a good deal of spring fever around, the mercury really outdid itself this morning when it jumped from 42 at 6 a.m. to 59 by 10 o'clock. At 2 p.m. the thermometer reading was 68.

In a five-day forecast, the U.S. Weather Bureau said today that temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees above normal, the normal high being 52, normal low 34. After Monday it will turn a little cooler with some showers expected Monday and Tuesday.

White Monkey Report Suspicious on April 1

CHICAGO (AP)—A telegram from Florida sent Director Robert Bean of Chicago's Brookfield Zoo into a state of high excitement last night.

Signed by Alton Freeman, operator of a rare bird farm at Miami, the telegram notified Bean that a "white spider monkey with baby blue eyes"—a rare animal, indeed—had been shipped to Brookfield.

Then Bean reread the dispatch, noted that April 1 was listed as the arrival date and commented:

"I think this is monkey business."

City Traffic Engineer Presents First Report

Benefit Movie Scheduled by Firemen's Association

BIRMINGHAM—The second annual benefit performance for the Uniformed Fireman's Assn. of the Birmingham Fire Department will be held Thursday, April 14, it has been announced.

The benefit film showing, which raises funds for the family welfare and recreation fund of the department, will be at the Birmingham theater, with 50 cents admission.

Two performances are scheduled, at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., and tickets will be sold on street corners by uniformed firemen Saturday and April 9.

The show, more than two hours in length, will feature "Broken Arrow," with James Stewart and Jeff Chandler. Six cartoons and free popcorn for youngsters are also planned.

General chairman Capt. Joseph Collins said the theater is donated by the Detroit Theater Co., and the projectionists also will donate their time for the benefit.

Capt. Collins urged interested residents not to call the fire department for information, since this might clog the fire telephone lines.

Operation Toothbrush, scheduled originally for March 26 and canceled because the weather kept prospective customers off the streets, is being held tomorrow. Some 40 Exchange Club members will hawk their wares at street corners, banks, shopping center and grocery stores all day to raise funds for the Oakland County Camp for Underprivileged Children.

Aid for the camp is a new project for the club. Harry Aten, vice president, is chairman of the project.

Approximately $800 already has been contributed to the fund in pre-sale days, and members assessed themselves at their weekly meeting Tuesday to make up any deficit arising from the weather-blitzed campaign tomorrow. Workers hope to get funds to send 100 boys and girls to camp.

Choral music, both old and new, will be presented by the Monmouth Illinois College Choir at a concert at 8:15 p.m. today in the social hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

Thirty-four singers in the choir are on a four-state tour of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio. James Dunn, director, will be assisted in special numbers by two other members of the college faculty, Heino Loyal, violinist, and Elaine Cray, pianist.

The varied program will include sacred numbers, spirituals and selections from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

Rotary's Golden Anniversary celebration will start Sunday when the 222nd district meets at Cranbrook. Forty-one clubs will register. A buffet supper, services at Christ Church, and subsequent work sessions are scheduled, with special activities for women of the group.

Monday evening John Fisher of CBC, Toronto, will address a banquet to be held in the Engineering Building of Pontiac Motor Division, Pontiac.

Mrs. Maria A. M. Cotcher

Service for Mrs. Maria Amelia Myrtle Cotcher, 85, of 2012 W. 12 Mile Rd., Royal Oak, will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., with burial in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Cotcher, a former Birmingham resident, died yesterday. A member of the First Presbyterian Church, she is survived by six nieces and nephews. Her husband Harlow died in 1947.

Safety Patrol Boy Receives Award at Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM — Beverly School sixth-grader James Ruhly, 11, received an "Award of Merit Certificate" today for outstanding service as a safety patrol boy.

The youngster, captain of the safety patrol, receives the award from the Automobile Club of Michigan for "behavior beyond and above the call of duty." Principal Malcolm Ferguson nominated him.

James is honored for aiding a little girl who couldn't find anyone at home for lunch. He bought a snack for the girl. He also received notice for preventing a youngster from crossing a busy highway to get his schoolbooks, which he had forgotten.

The patrol boy mounted his bicycle and got the books himself.

Canada Adding More Tongues to Its Repertoire

MONTREAL (AP)— Canada is a combination of French and English-speaking peoples. Both languages are official and in many places are used with equal facility.

Figures advanced in Parliament, nowever, indicate that both the French and the English are going to have to move over and give a bigger share of room to people called New Canadians. These are refugees and other immigrants.

* * *

A Winnipeg MP told Parliament that when Canada had its first census 84 years ago, British origin residents numbered 60.5 per cent, French origin 31.1 per cent, others 8.4.

Four years ago the census figures were 47.9 per cent British origin, 30.8 per cent French, 21.3 per cent other groups.

In another 44 years, at the end of the century, trends should project this ratio, the MP said, to 32 per cent British, 30 per cent French, 38 per cent others.

Measles in Seasonal Upswing in Michigan

LANSING (AP)—The State Health Department said today 1,000 cases of measles a week are being reported in Michigan.

Based on past experience, the disease will probably reach a peak toward the end of May and fall off sharply by the end of June, the department said.

As of March 25, some 11,000 cases had been reported in Michigan, the department said. This compares with 11,789 at the same date last year.

The United States has 95 movie theater seats for every 1,000 of population.

One Forgot to Duck

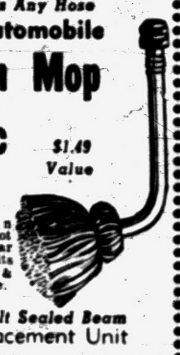

SEOUL (AP)—More than 60,000 duck eggs arrived today from Holland. Only one was broken. The eggs, contributed to the Korean people by the Dutch Committee of Inter-Church Aid, were rushed to hatcheries.

Huge Water Show Planned for Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A huge water show, which its sponsors hopefully suggested might some day rank with the Mardi Gras and the Tournament of Roses as a national spectacle, will be staged in Detroit in August.

It will be known as the Detroit International Aquarama with plans for it to become an annual affair.

The project received official backing from the city yesterday. It will be staged on the Detroit River Aug. 20-28.

Features will include the silver cup speed boat races, canoe and sailboat races, parades and water float processions.

Woman to Head Passport Office

Frances G. Knight, 49, Wants Better Pictures to Adorn Visas

WASHINGTON (AP)—A blue-eyed strawberry blonde who thinks something ought to be done about those horrible passport pictures will take charge of America's passport affairs 30 days hence.

She is Frances G. Knight, who doesn't mind acknowledging she's 49 — perhaps because she looks younger.

Miss Knight was the personal choice of Mrs. Ruth B. (Ma) Shipley to succeed her as director of the State Department's Passport Division.

* * *

Miss Knight's days with the government date back to 1934 and cover a variety of jobs. A native of Newport, R.I., she took a journalism degree at New York University and did graduate work at Columbia University.

She speaks French, German and Czechoslovakian. She has visited all 48 states, Hawaii and 34 foreign countries. In private life, she is the wife of Wayne Parrish, editor and publisher of American Aviation Publications, Inc. They have no children.

* * *

Miss Knight said she has no intention at present of making any changes in the Passport Division.

In fact, her only complaint was about those little pictures attached to the front pages of passports.

"Most people are good looking," she laughed, "but you'd never know it from these pictures. I've seen a lot of passports in my day and—my goodness!"

FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 1955

Five Traffic Fatalities Spoil City's Fine Record

Here are facts that should disturb every motorist and pedestrian in Pontiac.

In the first quarter of this year five persons have lost their lives in traffic here and the city's fine safety record has been spoiled.

The 1955 death total already is as great as for the entire year of 1954. As a result Pontiac, which had climbed from 38th to 15th place in the National Safety Council's list of 85 cities, has dropped to the bottom.

Obviously something should be done about this. That something can be done is shown in a statement by Chairman Haskill of the Chamber of Commerce safety committee.

According to Mr. Haskill, carelessness was the cause in at least four of the five deaths. In only one instance was wintry weather a factor. It also is worth noting that two of the victims were pedestrians.

★ ★ ★

We're convinced that Pontiac can do much better than this. In the past ours has been a much safer city than these figures show and we can make it so again in the future.

Let every one of us, whether pedestrian or motorist, watch his step or his driving.

Neely's Attack on Ike in Deplorably Bad Taste

If Sen. Neely isn't in his own party's doghouse, it isn't his fault.

Certainly, the West Virginian's savage personal attack on President Eisenhower was in inexcusably bad taste. It could not have earned him less than the disfavor of every fair minded Democrat and disapproval of every right thinking American.

In truth, Sen. Neely deserves both censure and pity. Censure is due him for the petty politics he displayed at the UAW-CIO convention. He is to be pitied for the ignorance he showed there in publicly questioning the sincerity of the President's religious convictions.

We can't believe that the majority of the American people shares Sen. Neely's criticism of the Eisenhower foreign and domestic policies. Nor is it conceivable to us that they would back his disapproval of the Chief Executive's enthusiasm for fishing and golf.

Sen. Neely has been in Washington long enough to know that anyone occupying the man killing office of the Presidency should get all the health building recreation possible. He also should realize what Colorado Republican Senator Allott said of the President:

"Any man who is President of the United States and by his example of church attendance calls the attention of the people to the need of devotion, is doing a lot more for his country than a man who can find nothing better to criticize."

Junk Mail Discontinued

If proof were needed that protests get results, consider junk mail.

As of midnight March 31 the so called junk mail service ended by order of Postmaster General Summerfield. That is, it ended for city and small town folk. It will be continued for residents of rural routes and post office box holders.

Though many who protested junk mail may not realize it, this service was started for a second time on August 21, 1953, in the hope of reducing the postal deficit. Instead of doing that, however, junk mail was found to have increased the third class deficit.

A similar experiment was instituted in 1933 by Democratic Postmaster General James A. Farley. It was abandoned after a six months trial. The service to rural routes and boxholders which is to be continued, was started in October, 1934.

As far as the public is concerned, this disappearance is a welcome development. It comes at a time when the Administration is trying to persuade a reluctant Congress to raise all postal rates to wipe out the staggering annual deficit.

★ ★ ★

Contrary to popular misconception, newspaper publishers don't oppose adequate postal rates. Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, urges publicity on a "proper cost ascertainment" for all types of mail.

As he points out, the attitude of most publishers is that they want no subsidy and are willing to pay a reasonable rate based on the facts.

That long has been the view of this newspaper.

The Man About Town

Drawing to a Close

A Few Days Remain for You to Make Bid for That $250

Promptness: What may mean $250 to you if you follow the instructions given below.

Votes already received in the MAT Baseball Contest cover a range of 36 American League players. The prize of $250 in U. S. Savings Bonds goes to the person submitting the closest answer to the following:

What player who has been at bat at least 25 times will be leading the American League on the night of Saturday, April 30, and what will be his batting average?

There is little more than a week left for you to send in your entry. It must be received in the Pontiac Press office by noon on Saturday, April 9. Every member of your family can compete, but each entry must be on a separate piece of paper.

The 36 players who already have received votes, with estimated batting averages ranging from .333 to .687, follow: Avila, Bauer, Berra, Boone, Busby, Carresquel, Doby, Evers, Fain, Finigan, Fox, Goodman, Hatfield, Jensen, Kaline, Kell, Kiner, Kuenn, Mantle, McDougal, Minoso, Mitchell, Noren, Piersall, Porter, Rivera, Rosen, Skowron, Smith, Tuttle, Vernon, Wertz, White, Williams, Woodling and Yost.

Perhaps you have another choice which if he should win would give you but little competition for the $250. Anyway, better send in your entries at once, and watch the proceedings that may make you $250 richer.

His Long, Long Trail

David Lawrence Says:

Speculation About War Could Prevent Disaster

WASHINGTON — Just a little more than 13 years ago a high official of the United States government held a background conference with a number of Washington newsmen. He told them diplomatic negotiations with Japan had virtually ended, that the next step was anybody's guess and that it looked to him like war. Ten days later came the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Now what was the duty of the American press and particularly of the high official in those ten days? He was the undersecretary of state, Sumner Welles, who was known to be in the inner councils of the President. He was not then to be quoted or identified as the source:

Supposing the rule which President Eisenhower announced to his press conference this week had been in effect as an order from the government — that officials should not speculate even in private talks with the press about the possibility of war. The blame for failing to ward off the Pearl Harbor attack would have been clearly on the Washington government because of its effort to keep significant news developments from the people.

As it was, despite the fact that some news articles reflected what Welles had said, a lot of wishful thinking was being done those days by everybody, including some high military officials who were so convinced that Japan would not attack that they didn't even take the trouble to order the American fleet to leave Pearl Harbor and never sent a mobilization order to cause the Navy to go on a war basis.

The psychology everywhere else in Washington, aside from the news conference with Welles, was one of complacency. This attitude cost the lives of 3,000 American boys at Pearl Harbor — mostly in the U. S. Navy.

Admiral Carney, chief of naval operations, told a group of newsmen and broadcasters at a private dinner here a week or so ago some facts about the way the Communist Chinese are developing their military buildup for a possible attack on Quemoy and the Matsu islands. The understanding was that he was not to be quoted.

In accordance with custom and tradition, he was merely giving the newsmen a briefing on the capabilities of the Communist Chinese.

But today Admiral Carney is being singled out as the goat. The President tells a press conference that he deplores speculation on the possibility that war might break out in mid-April or at any other time in the Far East. The secretary of defense is clamping down on all talks by military men to the newsmen on current problems.

A blackout of news from military sources would be a dangerous thing for the American people. Yet Eisenhower, apparently influenced by a political opposition in Congress, is taking the position that there should not be any speculation about the possibility of any warfare in the Far East.

Had there been more speculation in December 1941, General Marshall, intimate friend of Eisenhower and chief of staff of the Army at the time, might himself have been alerted to the possibilities of war and might not have been out horseback riding at a crucial time, and might not have permitted a vital message to Pearl Harbor to go by the slower method of telegraph when a telephone was available.

The government was asleep largely because the press was not more alert in December 1941. There wasn't enough speculation about the possibility of war. There was too much soft-pedaling then.

Any theory that wars can be prevented and the enemy lulled into inaction by failure to print the news of what the enemy may be doing — or what we know he is doing in the way of a buildup — could be very dangerous to American boys in the Far East. Admiral Carney is very directly concerned, as it will be his sailors and airmen who will bear the brunt of any attack if one comes.

Just what has been the effect thus far of the speculative stories about war? A few editorials have been written in influential newspapers advocating retreat — that the offshore islands be given up and that America announce her intention not to defend them. Conversely, in Congress Senator Kefauver has accused the administration of containing a group of advisers who are "plotting and planning to bring such a war about whatever the risks."

Publication of the speculative stories could produce alertness and prevent another Pearl Harbor. It is understandable why American military intentions should be withheld from publication, but it is incomprehensible why facts about the Communist buildup and possible intentions should be suppressed or a ban put on speculation about them.

Doctor Retracts Report Condemning Boric Acid

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Now that most people with a fair knowledge of and interest in the promotion of health and vite are getting or trying to get an adequate daily ration of sunshine (ultraviolet) vitamin D, popular magazines are no longer warning the public about the hypothetical dangers involved in taking "too much" Vitamin D. How much "too much" would be the science experts never indicated.

The daily ration of Vitamin D I recommend, in the pamphlet "Young Folks and Old Folks," available on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope, is a little less than one would get in a fluid ounce of standard cod liver oil. Indeed, before the discovery of vitamin D by McCollum and his associates in 1922, a minimum daily ration of one fluid-ounce (two tablespoonfuls) of standard cod liver oil was generally satisfactory treatment for chronic rheumatiz — but that was before "arthritis" became the rage among gullible customers with joint disability.

If you are subject to joint disability of over a year's standing, it can do you no harm to read "Calcium and Rheumatiz," likewise available — inclose 10 cents in addition if you want both pamphlets.

A year or two ago, Drs. R. B. and A. Goldbloom reported in "Journal of Pediatrics" a case of boric acid poisoning in an infant resulting from the use of borated talcum powder. The doctors thought enough boric acid to poison the baby had been absorbed through raw spots in the skin. They added that they had found 109 similar cases reported in other medical journals throughout the world.

That was enough. The "science" writers and editors zealously warned the public against further use of borated talcum, boric acid solutions, boric acid ointments. Gee whiz, what fools these doctors be—they have been using saturated solution of boric acid as an all-round cleansing, soothing, mildly antiseptic lotion for sore eyes etc., for nearly a century, and they never suspected the stuff was poisonous until the hasty experts published their report.

A year or so after the Goldbloom report was published one of the authors (R. B. Goldbloom) published in the same journal a retraction of the original allegation.

Russell Fisher, M. D., Henry Freimuth, Ph.D., Kathleen O'Connor, B. S., and Viola Johns, M.D. remind us (J A MA 2-5-55) that boron is widely distributed in fruits and other foods, and that human organism constanly absorbs and excretes it.

Four ounces (half a glass) of orange juice might contain 1.68 mg. of boron, equivalent to 9.6 mg. of boric acid (approximately one-sixth of a grain), and this fact renders the usual chemical determination of the presence of boric acid in the urine invalid—though many "scientific" reports of alleged boric acid poisoning from alleged absorption through the skin have rested on such "proof."

As I would say, one has to be constantly on guard against being bamboozled when reading current medical authorities—these "scientifics," as Lum would say, seldom have the courage or honesty to acknowledge and correct an error, as Dr. Goldbloom did.

Relax, everybody. There will be no change in the chapter on Boric Acid in The Medicine Cupboard. For this No. 14 Little Lesson send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Don't Be Misled by Chronic 'Aginners,' Says Pontiac Mother, Back Fluoridation

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Isn't it queer that opponents of fluoridation have to go all the way to California to find a dentist to write against this proven health measure? And then they had to use a man who has been a "problem child" to his fellow dentists for years, not just on fluoridation, but on many occasions.

It is the same way here. Many of the leaders in opposition here have been the leaders in opposition to school bond issues, to an addition to the city hospital and other progressive measures.

Some individuals are just naturally against progress, and seem to feel that "what was good enough for Dad is good enough for me." Let's not be misled by these "aginners," but vote to protect our children's health.

Pontiac Mother

An article by Dr. Monroe compared the fluoridation issue to smallpox vaccination and other means to combat virulent diseases of epidemic nature. He stated that we went through the same turmoil for smallpox vaccination, diphtheria immunization, pasteurization of milk, chlorination of water, etc.

Now I did not live in 1721 when he claims smallpox vaccination was so violently opposed, but I have lived through the era of diphtheria immunization, pasteurization of milk, water chlorination, and I have been unaware of any organized opposition to any of these health measures.

Diphtheria immunization is not compulsory and pasteurization of milk consists of no "doping." Where water chlorination is necessary to control bacteria, I have seen no opposition. However, when we are advised to change good, pure, well water for that from an old mill pond, no amount of chlorination could make the people of Pontiac drink it.

Comparing a disease like smallpox with tooth decay is absurd, since the latter is not contagious nor of a fatal nature. We realize that bad teeth can cause serious trouble, but it is not in any way of epidemic nature, or does it require the drastic measures of such diseases.

At one time, health authorities considered addition of iodine to water, because so many people lacked iodine in their systems, but decided that it could prove harmful for some, so they advocated using it in salt and according to their doctors' instructions. This is the way it should be with sodium fluoride.

N. G. S.

Adding iodine to the public drinking water for prevention of endemic goitre (thyroid disease) was advocated by the U.S. Public Health officials some 25 odd years ago. Those in favor of it were just as sincere, just as certain that they were right as those good people who today claim fluoridation will do good rather than harm.

This iodine program was started in several towns, including Rochester, N.Y., but soon medical researchers found that iodine could do much harm to some people drinking it in that form. That discovery put a sudden stop to the foolishness of dosing everyone with iodine. Now iodine is added to salt; those wishing it can buy it for a few pennies extra.

Iodine, an element of proven need to the body, could not be administered through the water supply. Is it reasonable to advocate using fluorine, a much more poisonous element in everyone's drinking water?

Many medical authorities already are finding people who have been harmed by this addition of sodium fluoride to water. If you are oposed to fluoridation, vote "Yes!"

Reading all the letters in the Press on fluoride, pro and con, I cannot help but express myself. I am an organic gardener, 47 years old. That already explains that we use no poison of any kind, not even to control the pests that might be found in the average garden.

I was taught when a child, that poison would kill you or make you very ill. I was also taught to eat a well-balanced diet, and above all the proper use of the old fashioned tooth brush. I have had one cavity.

My children, now 12 and 15 years of age, have been taught likewise. They will refuse cheap candy and eat very little sweets of the best, but are heavy on raw fruits and vegetables. We have never lived where fluoride has been added to the water.

Neither of the children have ever had a cavity. This is proof enough for me that dental caries do not have to be controlled by poisoned water, but rather just a little more discipline at home.

A well-balanced diet, a full measure of discipline, and Christianity will work wonders for both body and soul.

I have been amused to read so many varied opinions both for and against the fluoridation of Pontiac water. I decided to investigate the claims both for and against it. I discovered that there were many communities that had fluoridated their water and kept records of the effects of fluoridation.

Beyond all question, in those communities where the water was fluoridated for a number of years, the children had less decayed teeth than other comparable communities which had no fluorine in their water.

I did not discover a single community, which had fluoridated its water, where any individual became ill because of the fluoride. Almost 100 per cent of all scientists, physicians and dentists were convinced through practical tests that fluoridated water helped the children's teeth from decaying and that there were no harmful effects to children or adults in the communities which had a concentration of fluoride of one part per million.

Among the opponents of fluoridation, I was unable to find any renowned dentists, physicians, or scientists. If we dentists, and physicians in your community are eager to have Pontiac water fluoridated for our children's sake, why not you—our patients?

Don't forget we will be drinking the same water and I can assure you if there were any harm in the concentration of fluoride we will use—I would not want to drink it—so you, too, should know that it is perfectly safe.

In answer to the Pontiac Press editorial of March 23, I wish to speak for the group opposing fluoridation and say, that at no time have they said or intimidated in any way that decaying teeth are unimportant. In fact, we, and the doctors opposing fluoridation, have advocated a better health program which would promote both better teeth and general health by asking that doctors and parents pay more attention to correct diet, good dental care, eating less sugar, starch and refined foods.

We are not in any way ignorant of and certainly do not prefer to forget the poisons from decaying teeth. However, we do not believe it is necessary to use another poison to offset this condition, because it can be corrected without.

We believe that parents will be more inclined to neglect the care of their children's teeth if they rely on the alleged claims the advocates of fluoridation make.

Olivia Hoyt

204 Pioneer Drive

Editor's Note — Unfortunately Miss Hoyt cannot speak for all those who oppose fluoridation. Some of the others have spoken for themselves. Some have very definitely indicated that decaying teeth are unimportant. They have said so in telephone calls to the Press, as has been previously indicated in this column.

Fluoridation opponents should make up their minds. They are arguing on both sides of the issue.

Some argue that fluoridation is too expensive. The answer to that argument is that it costs only about ten cents per person per year.

Some argue that you should not do it just because it is cheap. The answer to that is that fluoridation has been proposed not just because it is cheap, but because it is the safest and most effective way to protect children's teeth.

Just talk to some of the parents in Grand Rapids and find out how pleased they are with the results there, and the fact their children have good, sound teeth. Next question, folks.

Pontiac Father

I got a big giggle out of the article against fluoridation which quotes a Dr. Waters who is a member of the dental society in Coronado, Calif. That's only 2,500 miles from Pontiac and that makes quite a trip to dig up an opponent. The distant doctor quotes figures that are 25 years old. Fancy that, my friends.

Let's stick with closer authorities and some who only go back to 1951—since that time all fluoridation opponents are flat on their backs gasping for air.

O. H.

One Saturday morning I tried to drink a cup of coffee that tasted like it had poison in it. I investigated and found it to be in the water. So I called the city water works and had it tested. Yes, it was too strong with chlorine.

I asked why, and the answer was, "Maybe there became a pocket of it on one of the streets nearby. Or maybe people weren't using so much water on those days." I believe I could have bleached a shirt out in it.

Will fluorine be mixed in the same way? Who knows? It might be.

Margaret Stevens

I have followed the controversy about fluoridation with great interest and concern and some of the letters, including the editorial of March 23, prompt me to add my humble opinion. Those who so enthusiastically endorse fluoridation are, of course, interested in the preservation of our children's teeth, which is commendable. But, there is another side to the question of great importance which also should be considered.

That is, the very possible harmful effects on elderly people and those who suffer from allergies and sensitivity to drugs. We are told that fluoridation will be helpful only to children up to eight or nine years of age.

Those children comprise only one-eighth of our population and it is not fair to force mass medication or mass poisoning on the other seven-eighths to their possible detriment, especially when it is still an unproven fact that it is beneficial to children's teeth.

Ten years is not a long enough time really to prove the effects of a drug or chemical as we have learned in recent years with some of the wonder drugs.

We have long boasted about Pontiac's pure water.

Let us keep it pure as God made it. When you go to the polls next week read your ballot carefully to be sure you are voting for the best interests of the people—against fluoridation.

Interested Old Lady

Will some fluoride enthusiast please quote us the total cost of the entire fluoridation program? Why is this never mentioned? We are, indeed, fortunate to be allowed to hear from "outsiders." They call it a cruel deception to imply that for ten cents a year we will get the same dental protection which now costs us around $26.

Respected dental authorities say fluoridation only benefits children up to the age of ten years and does no good for adults. How then can it be called a "nutritional factor?" A legal court called it a "foreign non-nutritive substance."

Noted chemists warn that they have proof and evidence of the damage it has done to health in many cases. Scientists state there is a great deal of difference between natural fluorine and the man-made chemical substitute. Influential professors and

The Life of Christ—23

Death on Cross to Prove Jesus Son of God

(As Bishop Sheen expressed it, in yesterday's installment of "The Life of Christ," the purpose of the Transfiguration was to strengthen Christ's Apostles for the impending blow of His death. This knowledge of Christ's future glory was to sustain them for Calvary. In this installment Bishop Sheen also alluded to Our Lord's telling of the Parable of the Vineyard. Under figure of speech, Christ was saying that a special Providence which protected and defended His people against all enemies, should have prompted them to be grateful. But it did not!)

By BISHOP FULTON J. SHEEN

Our Blessed Lord under this symbol, reminds His hearers of the melancholy fact that He will receive but little reverence from mankind. Rebuffs and injuries and insults would be the greeting extended the Beloved Son of the Heavenly Father.

Within three days of the telling of the story, it came true. The accredited keepers of His vineyard who cast Him out of the city onto a hill that was used as a dump, contrived to put Him to death. Man can thwart God's purpose at least for a time, but as Augustine said: "They slew Him that they might possess, and because they slew, they lost."

Later, He tells His enemies that they will not come to recognize Who He is, until He has been crucified.

"When you have lifted up the Son of Man,
You will recognize that it is Myself you look for,
And that I do not do anything of My own impulse,
But speak as My Father has instructed Me to speak."

Only after the Crucifixion will they know what He spoke. The Crucifixion would not be the last in the series of failures. It would be the revelation of His glory, and would cause a reaction in men's minds concerning Him, when they finally had placarded Him outside of the city's gates. The Cross and the Crown would be the truth to the most obtuse and bigoted, "that I am that what I say I am." The forecast here is the conversion of His enemies as a result of His Death and Resurrection.

When a man is leading a great social movement, the worst thing that can happen to him is to die. But He said the cross is the condition of drawing men unto Himself. If He were merely a man, the Cross to Him would be His scaffold. But as the Eternal Son of the Father, it would be a throne. If He were a martyr, His Death would be defeat; but if He is God, it will be a victory. If He were a man, the Cross would be a repulsion; being God, it would be a world-wide attraction.

If the message that He taught had come only from a man, its chief emphasis would have been placed by His followers not on the Cross, but on the Mount of Beatitudes. It is singular that those who miss His Divine message are always the ones that insist upon the Mount of Beatitudes.

If He were only a man, Christians would have drawn a veil over those hours of Calvary, and would have stressed solely the wisdom of the Teacher and the majesty of the King. Instead of this, true Christians boast of that which must have appeared as a failure to human eyes.

If Our Lord had come to this earth and had been fenced in by all the comforts of life, and after teaching the true theory of pain, had died on a soft bed, He might have been honored as a great Teacher, but He would never have drawn man to Himself. Nowhere does He say: "Obey a code," but rather, "Follow Me."

Everything said about His sufferings and death, revealed that He voluntarily committed Himself to some great task to which His Father had given Him, and that task was first and foremost the delivery of mankind from the burden of sin. His death was as the fulfillment of Divine purpose in which His Will was One with that of the Father; His words and acts are those of One who knows what He is doing and why He must do it.

Men are called to participate in the fruits of His death. Man's attitude is not to be passive toward this redemption. The obedience to His Father's Will is His own, but since He presents it as the Son of Man, it is also a representative obedience. It is the obedience which men ought to offer to God, and which they should offer, did they fulfill the obligations of sonship. Representing men, He offers that obedience in their name and for their sake, with the intention that they should identify themselves with it, and so offer themselves.

He intended that men should participate in the self-offering and appropriate the power of His surrendered life. His redemptive service is not intended to be a work wrought apart from men; it is rather a work into which they are permitted to enter, in such a way that what He does on their behalf, becomes a very vital factor in their approach to God.

80 YEAR OLD MAN SAYS: CRAMPS AND STIFFNESS GONE AFTER THREE YEARS OF SUFFERING

Mr. Wray F. Evans, 231 Hill Street, Lansing, adds his testimonial to the thousands of satisfied Michigan people who are glad to tell others of the benefits received from O-JIB-WA BITTERS.

"For about three years, I suffered constantly with cramps and stiffness in my knees. Walking was quite painful, as I could hardly bend my knees and my joints were quite stiff. Any work where it was necessary for me to kneel was especially difficult. After seeing O-JIB-WA BITTERS advertised so much, and praised so highly by so many people, I decided to give it a trial. It took nearly a month before I saw much results, but then my knees began to limber up, and since then, the cramps and stiffness hasn't bothered me. I noticed that O-JIB-WA BITTERS has helped my appetite, too, as when a person gets my age, appetities sometimes get poor and people don't eat like they should. I'm 80 years old and feel fine, and give your O-JIB-WA BITTERS all the credit it deserves. Anyone suffering with the pains of cramps and stiffness should try this wonderful medicine. I'm sure it will help you as much as it has helped me."

Hal Boyle Says:

Omar Bradley Knows Cost of War

NEW YORK (AP)— Life holds a busy serenity today for Omar Nelson Bradley, who nearly ten years ago led American ground forces to victory in Europe.

At 62 the graying general of the Army, no longer assigned to active duty but still available to a bugle call, is holding down more jobs than at any time in his career.

The erosion of time has touched "Brad" but lightly. He is as erect as ever. He weighs 178 pounds, only five more than when he left West Point in 1915.

"But my wife, Mary, says can't brag about that—the weight isn't in the same places," he said cheerfully.

* * *

The five-star general stepped down as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in August, 1953. He ended then the 12 tensest years of his life—four spent on the battlefield, eight in Washington as veterans administrator, Army chief of staff, and the nation's top military chieftain.

"I was glad to get out from under the pressure in Washington," Bradley recalled. "So was Mary. She shared the pressure. But I was afraid of a letdown."

There wasn't any letdown. After swearing in Adm. Radford as his successor, Brad went out and played the best game of golf in his life. Three days later he reported for duty here as board chairman of the Bulova research and development laboratories.

In Europe Bradley directed the attack of 1,200,000 men, the largest force under a field commander in American history. Now he supervises 43 defense projects, many requiring precision craftsmanship on tiny arming, safety and timing devices on secret guided missiles.

Summarizing the military picture today, Bradley said soberly:

"We're not where we thought we'd be 10 years ago when the war ended. We had high hopes then of peace for a long time to come.

"But we have had to go on rearming for our own protection, since Russia won't disarm.

* * *

"I don't think many people today question the necessity of our going into the second world war and the Korean situation.

"Some even have advocated a preventive war against Russia. I don't think that would answer anything. We'd be doing ourselves the very thing we are trying to prevent—aggression.

"I'm afraid if we have an atomic war there might not be much of anything left."

To forge the great battle victories in Europe it fell to Bradley to give orders for missions that inevitably led thousands of men to death or injury. I asked him if he ever received any bitter letters.

"Never," he said quietly. And into his eyes crept a wish—the wish nobody ever would send him a bitter letter. Few men know the price of war better than Omar Nelson Bradley. No man could want another war less than he does today.

MSC to Display Farm Equipment in Giant Exhibit

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State College will aim at assembling the most complete display of farm and home equipment ever shown in this country for an exhibit this summer.

Sixty acres of outdoor exhibits will be shown on the campus Aug. 15 through 20. In addition, indoor exhibits will be housed in the auditorium, stadium, demonstration hall and Agricultural Engineering Building.

More than 300 exhibitors will participate and the college hopes to draw a quarter of a million visitors to the display.

An hour and a half long pageant daily will dramatize the development of labor-saving machinery for farm work.

The pageant will show development of tillage of the soil from use of a crooked stick to the latest in farm machinery. The development of the farm home from the sod hut to the modern farmhouse also will be shown.

For women visitors, an auditorium display will trace the development of labor-saving home machinery.

House Unit Clears Way for Billion in Shipbuilding

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee today cleared the way for House action probably April 18 on a bill authorizing a $1,300,000,000 shipbuilding program next year.

The measure includes authority for a fifth 60,000-ton supercarrier and three additional atomic submarines.

Challenges Blue Laws

FLINT (AP)—The People's Appliance and Furniture, Inc., of Flint has asked for an injunction in Genesee Circuit Court against the city and a new ordinance forcing the closing of business on Sunday. Judge Philip Elliott has ordered Flint to show cause by 10 a.m. Friday why he should not grant the injunction forbidding enforcement of the blue laws.

TO PASS ORDINANCE STOPPING FLUORIDATION

WHY?

1. DETROIT—More Than 80 Doctors Petition Governor of Mich. asking that fluoridation in Michigan be stopped. With more and more doctors opposing this movement why experiment with Pontiac Citizens?

2. GRAND RAPIDS—25% Increase in Dentists, Since Fluoridation started in 1945. Population increase only approx. 14%. Does this indicate a 70% reduction in dental care of children's teeth?

3. FRANCE—Dental Society Rejects Fluoridation Germany—research shows no relationship between fluorides in water and amount of dental cavities. (Deutsch, Zahn, Zeitschrift.-52) Switzerland's Dr. T. Gordonoff claims sodium fluoride effects thyroid conditions. Sweden refuses fluoridation.

4. MANY CITIES Trying Fluoridation Vote It Out (investment in equipment a total loss). A few of these cities are: Saginaw, Mich., San Diego, Calif., LaCrosse, Wis., Greensboro, N. C., and Sheridan, Wyoming.

5. 500 OTHER CITIES Reject Fluoridation Including Lansing our State Capital; Flint; Glendale, Calif.; Seattle, Wash.; Atlantic City, N. J.; Cambridge, Mass. and others.

6. COST FOR PONTIAC Nearly One-Quarter Million Dollars for first ten years. (exact estimate from city manager is $214,000). If additional wells are added, this will increase costs even more. Why invest money into this questionable venture?. Why not use surplus funds for water and sewer lines, sidewalks, streets, etc.?

7. FLUORIDATION IS MASS-MEDICATION, Administering Chemicals to everybody alike, regardless of individual weaknesses. When the benefit to teeth is questionable, why risk your families' health? What about people with kidney disease, heart ailments, cancer, diabetes, arthritis and nervous disorders, as well as others that will suffer from allergic reactions?

8. SODIUM FLUORIDE Is Definitely a Poison, Even When Diluted to one ppm. It will cause mottled (discolored) teeth in 10% to 12% of children drinking it through childhood.

Students Cram for Exams as Easter Vacation Approaches

Finals coming up for parochial schools keep students' minds pretty much on the business end of things, but plans for dances and shows pop up here and there at St. Michael and St. Frederick as well as Pontiac High.

ST. FREDERICK

Everything was all study and no play early this week as students readied themselves for quarterly exams yesterday and today and report cards Monday. One bright aspect of it all was the thought of their Easter vacation which begins next Wednesday.

A new motto in beautiful red and silver letters on the front bulletin board in the senior room: "What does it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose his soul?" It has brought the realization of their big step into the world even closer to thoughts of busy seniors.

Experiencing the feeling of well-known celebrities this week were seniors, as they began autographing and passing out graduation pictures, received on Tuesday, to classmates and admirers.

Beware, everybody! Margaret Carry's at it again. This week, instead of match box holders, Margaret is selling bunnies made of soap and wash cloths. They're real cute and different. Having sold one to practically every senior girl, Margaret's about to set her net for everyone else. Good luck and good netting, Margaret.

Seniors were once more darkening the walls of both the city and school library this week to polish off and rewrite any last minute details for term papers which were turned in Wesdnesday. These students will now join their comrades in thinking up ideas for Archdiosean Development Fund essays.

Seniors were busy all week studying and rehearsing the parts of the Mass they will sing at midnight on the eve of Easter Sunday.

Mr. Donald Zwickey, drafting supervisor from the school offices in Detroit visited St. Fred's Wednesday to check techniques and accomplishments of first and second year drafters.

Time was taken out from classes Wednesday for a meeting and discussion on the by-laws of the Student Council which is up for ratification. A final decision on the outcome will be posted next week.

The juniors, realizing that Easter is right around the corner and April 12 atop it, could be found doing anything from cutting tickets and painting posters to making decorations and fixing check tags this week. Anything other than that resembling dance talk could not be gotten from the busy bees.

ST. MICHAEL

"Going, Going, Gone!" was the speal of co-auctioneers, Mart Keller and Honor Duross, at the Mission auction Wednesday. Highest priced articles raffled was a fortune-telling 8-ball which went to the freshmen for $13. With generosity like that the freshmen are sure to be very successful. Highlight of the auction was the coveted "little black book" purchased by Andy Anderson to add to his collection.

Wednesday's C.S.M.C. meeting was highlighted by the awarding of certificates to those students who attended the convention at Notre Dame last summer.

With a tear and a wave, St. Mike's students waved fond farewell to athletic director Fr. Roman Narkun this Tuesday as he was transferred to St. Louis the King of Detroit.

St. Mike's has due reason to be proud of their basketball team and coach as exemplified by the letter recently received from an official who refereed two of St. Mike's games, one win and one loss. The letter stated that the sportsmanship and courtesy of our players was beyond reproach and certainly a credit to our city.

On display in the trophy case this week are pictures of the basketball team in uniform with the many trophies acquired this year. Orders for the photos will be taken by the cheerleaders.

In a special interview with coach Robert Mineweaser, I was able to obtain "secret information" of the forthcoming Athletic Banquet which will be given in honor of all Shamrock athletes in May.

The only information divulged now is the fact that many of Michigan's most noted sports personalities will be present and that an evening of good food and entertainment is promised.

Socially speaking, Michaelites are getting down to the hard work on the soon-to-come C.Y.O. Wild West Show. Every Friday evening finds Michaelites in the hall raising the rafters with "Davy Crockett," "Clementine," and many others.

The "Throbs," a junior club, initiated a new member, Judy Marintette this week. The welcoming was held at the home of Shirley Fox. Cokes and chips were served to the group after the ceremony.

The "M. J.'s," also a junior group, declared Tuesday as M.J. Day. They all came attired in orange shirt-blouses, grey skirts and scarves. It was agreed that the girls were fashion personified. Another club, The K's, a sophomore organization, heralded the beginning of spring by sporting lovely narcisses corsages trimmed with pale orchid ribbons. Although the weatherman doesn't want to cooperate with the calendar, these sophomores do.

With football and basketball well over, St. Mike's heralded the track and baseball teams this week as prospective players signed up.

Cheerleaders and basketball players will enjoy an evening "on the school" soon. Tickets to the Globetrotters - College All Stars game were presented to them this week.

With final exams and report cards looming in the near future, Michaelites buckled down to serious study this week in preparation for the tests.

PONTIAC HIGH

Things at Pontiac High are beginning to fall into the spring schedule as the student body started on their second lap of the semester and second marking period.

Plans for spring concerts are under way by the various musical departments as daily one can hear the band rehearsing for their 28th annual concert to be held April 14.

The vocal department is hard at work, too, preparing for their annual Spring Concert May 5 and 6. Participating in this will be the combined boys and girls glee clubs, selective girls glee club, ensemble groups and the A Capella Choir.

The fencing club had reason to be proud this week after walking off with the boys individual trophy and two of the top three places in the state last Saturday. Art Schulz captured second place behind Bud Hill of Lapeer, with Bob McDonald coming in third. Both were awarded medals for their achievements. Pontiac High also received the revolving trophy which goes along with top honors.

The school whose representatives win the most number of points in the top three places in state competition is awarded the trophy. This season is the first year for Pontiac High fencing club, and thus marks the first year fencers have entered competition representing Pontiac High. Also representing PHS were Marcia Thomas and Vici Micu who fenced in the semi-finals of the girls' pools.

Wednesday the student body was treated to an assembly presented by the Augustana Choir. Assembly-wise, also, seniors who were named to National Honor Society will be initiated into the society at an assembly Tuesday in the PHS auditorium, with the 10B and 12A students attending along with parents. Speakers for the event will be Leah Mae MacNutt representing scholarship; Jim North, leadership; Phyllis Law, service and Burton Belant, character, with Esther Diem giving the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Seniors are making payments for the senior boat trip which will be May 20, while juniors this week started purchasing tickets for the J-Hop, to be held April 30.

PHS students Jim Jolly, Willie Edwards, Bob Everson and Richard Clark will represent Pontiac High at the United Nations Mock Assembly today and tomorrow at Hillsdale College. The schools attending each represent a different country, with PHS representing Iran. Delegates will debate "The Admission of Red China to the United Nations."

Iama Hook, adviser for the Latin paper, the Epistolae Scholae, announced the Easter edition which was sold early this week made a profit of $100, all of which will be contributed to various charities.

Weekly co-recreation for PHS students started yesterday in the girls' gym, with all interested in playing volley ball present.

Winners in the spring Forensic Contest were chosen last week, with the top three in the five entries named. In humorous speaking Patricia Fambro, Burton Belant and Leonard Barry were chosen. In dramatic interpretation, winners were Joyce Owens, Charlotte Stark and Elizabeth Davie. Winners in declamation were Garth Johnston, Willie Edwards and Jim Jolly, Bob Everson, Richard Clar and Roger Anderson were top in extemporaneous speaking. Alternates for the respective divisions were James Patton, Connie Mapes, Sally Maier, Caroline Holland.

These winners will compete in the Saginaw Conference Tournament April 14.

Radio Workshop shows for the coming week will be "Nature's Travelers," "Easter Treat," and "A Man Without a Country."

Head of Marygrove Speaks at St. Fred's

Sister Honora, president of Marygrove College, will be featured speaker at St. Frederick's Parent-Teacher meetin at St. Vincent de Paul Hall April 4th at 8 p.m.

Parents of juniors and seniors will be honored guests, and freshmen and sophomore parents are also invited.

His Excellency Bishop Zaleski will give juniors and seniors their report cards and following that, Sister Honora will discuss "The Value of Higher Education, "emphasizing the qualities of leadership needed in young people today.

Anyone interested is welcome.

Two Vessels Afloat After Bay Collision

CAPE MAY, N.J. (AP)—A Navy destroyer escort and a freighter that collided in Delaware Bay last night came apart from each other early today and both were reported out of immediate danger.

Two persons, both aboard the De William T. Powell, were injured. The Powell awaited the arrival of tugs from Philadelphia while the freighter Mormacspruce was also at anchor but able to proceed under its own power.

* * *

Damage to the Mormacspruce was only superficial, Cmdr. William B. Jackson, public information officer for the 4th Naval District, said in Philadelphia, but the Powell suffered a 10-foot-square gash in its rear starboard (right) side. A propeller shaft was extensively damaged.

The injured were S.1.C. Ronald A. Parker, Bridgeport, Conn., and Fireman Stephen Oswald, 20, Newark. Both were brought ashore to Burdette Tomlin Hospital.

The Powell was carrying 204 men —mostly reservists on a training cruise to the Caribbean.

The vessels stayed hooked together for several hours.

Find Missing Boy, 12, Sleeping in Gas Station

DETROIT (AP) — A 12-year-old schoolboy who ran away three days ago was found today sleeping in a vacant gasoline station.

Police returned Ettore Rasera to his parents. The boy said he has "just been playing around" since he skipped school last Monday. He said he had lived on cupcakes until his allowance ran out last night.

THE LITTLE BLUE DUCK — An Easter Story — BY WALT SCOTT

Your Atomic Future

Europeans Have Stronger Incentive to Develop Peacetime Atomic Power

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — "The Europeans particularly are very sophisticated in the atomic energy field. They don't need our secrets to make progress."

When he made this statement in a recent speech, Dr. Lawrence J. Hafstad was director of reactor development in the Atomic Energy Commission. He went on to say:

"Furthermore, they (European nations) have a great deal more incentive to be serious about this field than we have in this country."

* * *

Hafstad was not talking about atomic weapons.

He was talking about using atomic energy for industrial purposes.

The United States is only beginning to move in this field. Until last fall, when a new Atomic Energy Act was passed, the U.S. government held a tight atomic monopoly. Now private industry is preparing to spend millions on atomic energy applications. The results may change the face of America.

But is the United States keeping pace with other countries in peaceful uses of the atom?

* * *

The European cable has been crackling with meaningful news—

The Russians say they already have built reactors for oceangoing vessels, locomotives and automobiles. They hint at atomic devices for powering aircraft.

Marshal Tito has announced Yugoslavia is now "in a position directly to undertake work toward generating nuclear power."

But the biggest step of all, so far, appears to have been taken in Britain.

* * *

Last month, the government announced a 10-year program for atom-generated electric power. It will spend 840 million dollars for 12 central power stations with a planned capacity of nearly two million kilowatts.

This action gives meaning to Hafstad's observation that Europeans have "a great deal more incentive."

Because conventional electric power is expensive in Britain. In the United States, it is cheap. Hence, if atom-generated electricity should cost 10 or 12 mills per kilowatt in Britain, that would still be good business. But the American, who is probably paying 6 mills per kilowatt for ordinary electric power would ask, "Why pay twice that much?"

* * *

Beyond that, the United States has vast reserves of coal, oil and natural gas; they are nonexistent or running thin in Britain. So national policy also provides more incentive.

But the implications go much further than mere domestic economics.

They affect you, directly, in two ways.

One comes under the heading of cold war.

Look around the world. Most nations are power-starved. In Asia, particularly, teeming millions of people in China, India, Indonesia, Indochina and Korea are struggling to build industries. But they have the problem of getting power.

The answer throughout the Far East—and no less the Middle East—may very well be "the atom."

* * *

Suppose the Russians come forward with offers to build nuclear reactors for these nations, to provide them with the original fissionable fuel, and the technicians to teach them? Powerful and practical propaganda or not?

And in the field of international trade:

At this point, few countries have the knowledge and facilities to build their own reactors. They will shop for them in foreign markets as they do now for steel mills and aircraft.

* * *

A spokesman for a New York engineering firm, Babcock and Wilcox, said recently the company has had more than 800 inquiries from abroad about reactors. The figure, from one firm, gives some idea of the gathering momentum of the whole atom program.

Next August, in Geneva, Switzerland, 84 nations will meet in a great "atoms-for-peace" conference. The United States plans to set up an actual reactor. Russia may do so also, although Moscow has not yet requested authorization from the Swiss.

From this conference may come the answer to the question: Who's ahead in the big international atom sweepstakes? Dr. Hafstad has warned that the Europeans will be "very aggressive."

Tomorrow: An engagement is announced.

May Draft Call for 10,000 Men Bared by Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army today issued a draft call for 10,000 in May—2,000 more than the April quota.

The May call compares with 11,000 in February and March. It brings to 1,898,430 the total number drafted or earmarked for induction since the resumption of Selective Service in September 1950.

* * *

The Army monthly draft calls are increased or decreased in line with the number of men who voluntarily enlist or re-enlist for additional tours of duty.

One reason the Army cut the April quota to 8,000 was that it had a rush of volunteers in January.

Many youngsters enlisted then to get into service before expiration of GI educational and other benefits at the end of January.

In February the Army took in 26,414 men, of whom more than 15,000 were re-enlistments or volunteers.

The January voluntary enlistments were the greatest since World War II. There were 25,660 first-time volunteers and 10,819 re-enlistments.

Rhode Island is 48 miles long, 37 miles wide, but has 400 miles of coastline.

Rev. Robert Garner Quotes Chemist's Letter

The Rev. Robert Garner, head of the Citizens Fair Government League, has asked the Press to publish the following statement regarding fluoride experiments in Texas:

"During the course of extensive experiments on cancer with other compounds," states Mr. Garner, "Dr. Alfred Taylor, a research biochemist, University of Texas, noted that fluorine salts given to cancerous mice shortened their life span. He gave the State Health Department his tentative results in a report which he definitely stated was not final. A copy of a letter on hand by Dr. Taylor brings out some important points.

"In this letter Dr. Taylor states, 'As you probably are aware, we became involved in the fluoridation problem as a result of experiments set up to test the possible anti-cancer properties of sodium fluoride.

" 'Two experiments involving a total of 67 mice in the control and experimental groups were completed. The results indicated that the animals on the treated water developed cancer earlier than the controls. There was no change in the incidence of tumors in the two groups.

" 'I took these results to the State Health Department and stated that I thought they might have some implications for the fluoridated water program. I also stressed the need for keeping these data confidential since it would require many more experiments before they could be regarded as valid.

" 'I suggested that it would take a couple of years to carry out the additional experiments. I innocently thought that the backers of fluoridation would be glad to receive these data and would initiate research of their own to as to make sure the public was protected from a possible health hazard.

" 'However, the Texas State Health group, under the leadership of Dr. Edward Taylor, immediately became concerned with how they could invalidate the lead we had discovered. In doing this, they talked to someone who leaked a garbled account to the newspapers.

" 'Dr. Leake, Dean of the University Medical School at Galveston, is very much in favor of the fluoridation program and when these newspaper accounts were spread over the state, he stated in a letter to Dr. Edward Taylor, of the State Health Department, that our research should never have been made public since it was preliminary in nature and he did not believe there were any contradictions to the use of fluoridated water. A copy of this letter was sent to me. I know of no other statement by him in this regard.

" 'The reports of the open hearing (Delaney Committee of Congress—1952) contains our results with seven experiments involving 281 mice.

" 'Recently we have completed a further series of experiments in which the mice were given a nonfluorine diet bringing the total number of experiments to 16 involving 645 mice. The results, which have a high order of statistical validity, indicate a shortening of the lifespan of the mice drinking the fluoridated water of about 9 per cent.

" 'Incidently, while most of the " 'Incidentally, while most of the effort of my group is devoted to cancer and virus research, we are continuing experiments of the effect of fluoridated drinking water and some very interesting leads have developed. Unfortunately very little research is under way in this field in other laboratories.'

"To counter Dr. Alfred Taylor," continued Mr. Garner, "dental authorities refer to mortality statistics which are highly inadequate; to work by Fleming in which high concentrations of fluorine (20ppm) were used at which concentration it is a poison to all living tissue; and to cancer research by Bittner and Armstrong which is of little value since it deals with a small group of only 31 control mice. As yet there is no indication that any attempt has been made to duplicate the work of Dr. A. Taylor by the Public Health Service."

Mediators Offer Aid in Contract Parley

DETROIT (AP) — The State Labor Mediation Board have offered General Motors and the CIO United Auto Workers its assistance in contract negotiations.

The offer, a formality, acknowledged the union's recent notice to GM of its desire to negotiate a new contract including a guaranteed annual wage.

George Bowles, state board chairman stressed in letters to the union and company that it is board policy to permit managements and unions to "settle their own affairs" but that in event mediation were necessary the board was ready to aid.

"Bonanzagram"

Have Fun! Win $100!

"Bonanzagram" is an exciting new puzzle in which the Pontiac Press offers both fun and a $100 cash prize. BUT before you try your hand at "Bonanzagram" be sure and read the rules at the bottom of this page. Solution will appear in the Press April 8.

Claim Check

Below is a duplicate of the "Bonanzagram" entry you send in to contest headquarters. It is ESSENTIAL that you fill it in and save it until the correct solution to "Bonanzagram" No. 4 is published Friday, April 8. Unless you do so, you will be unable to collect the prize if you should send in a winning [redacted]. Check the rules below for [redacted] details.

Bonanzagram No. 4

The sheriff of Gulchtown found a paper nailed to his door one August morning. It was smudged and almost unreadable, but the sheriff recognized it as a taunting challenge from his old enemy, the bold outlaw whose picture was on the other side of the sheet, over the announcement of a large reward offered for his capture. The sheriff managed to decipher the message, mounted his horse and rode out of town to intercept the robber and gain the reward. Can you, too, figure out the message?

How To Play 'Bonanzagram'

Solve the "Bonanzagram" by filling in all the missing letters, as indicated by the underscores, in the message. Insert only one letter above each underscore. Many clues to the missing letters are hidden in the story, or anecdote, accompanying the message. Clues may also be found in the message itself, and, in a few cases, the contestant's general knowledge should provide the correct letter. The contestant will note that the message is unpunctuated. Punctuation as well as words must be correct for a winning solution.

When properly filled in, the "Bonanzagram" will spell out a clear message that will conform in every way with the clues. In many cases it will seem that more than one word would be the correct one. That's part of the fun! You should weigh the clues and select the BEST possible word in each case.

How to Submit Entries

1. After solution is completed, "Bonanzagram" should be clipped and pasted to a two-cent postcard with your name and address.

2. Entries will be received at the Pontiac Press office, 48 W. Huron St., until 5 p. m. Tuesday, April 5. Mail entries must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday, April 5 for Bonanzagram No. 4. Address "Bonanzagram, % Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

3. Entries may be mailed in envelope but contestant's full name and number of puzzle must be printed in upper left corner of address side of envelope.

4. Copies of the Press need not be purchased to enter. Facsimiles made by hand and corresponding as closely as possible to the original "Bonanzagram" printed in the Press will be accepted but are limited one to a family. Mimeograph, duplicator or other unofficial mechanical reproduction is forbidden.

How to Collect the Prize

The entrant must work out and keep duplicate solution as a claim check. When the solution is published in the Press, he should compare his "claim check" with the published solution, and, if his claim check is identical, he should call in person with his claim check at the Press office, 48 W. Huron St., before 5 p. m. on the Monday following publication of the solution.

If a winner cannot call at the Press office in person, he should mail his solution to "Bonanzagram Editor." Postmark on this letter must be not later than 5 p. m. the Monday after publication of the answer. Correct answers are void unless the contestant reports his claim by the deadlines listed here.

About Eligibility, Information, Etc.

1. Anyone is eligible for the "Bonanzagram" contest except employes of the Press and members of their immediate families. (Immediate family means all those living in an employe's household.)

2. No question as to winners will be answered by phone.

3. The Press will award a prize of $100 to the winner of each weekly "Bonanzagram." If more than one winning answer is received, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the $100 will be added to the next week's prize. If the winner is a subscriber of record to the Press a $20 bonus will be added to the $100.

4. Only one winning entry from a family will be eligible for the prize.

5. The Press retains the right to correct typographical errors.

6. Judges' decision will be final and contestant's submission of entries indicates acceptance of these rules.

7. No liability is accepted for entries that fail to reach us.

8. The Press reserves the right to alter rules and/or discontinue the contest at its discretion.

Voice of the People Letters

doctors condemn the program as heartless.

A renowned allergist personally investigates cases of fluorine "poisoning." A highly regarded Detroit attorney questions the position of the A.M.A. on this matter.

Certainly, no individual should be forced to swallow something to which he objects. Unlike fluoridation, vaccination requires a signed permission for each child. What else can you term it but "mass medication?" Is the Press going to call all these experienced men of integrity "fear, smear campaigners?"

"Sherlock"

If the fluoridation issue goes through, I wonder if the citizens' money will be wasted as in spending over $1,000,000, as I understand it, getting water from Dawson's Mill Pond, then later on the project was dropped.

Does it not seem probable that when some doctors are against fluoridation, it could be dangerous? Cities having fluoridation say that it cuts tooth decay—couldn't this reduction be caused from eating fewer sweets?

Vote wisely, don't be a human guinea pig! Let the people who want it take it in pill form. Don't force it on people who don't want or can't drink fluoridated water!

A Thinker

Early studies revealed that the element fluorine, occurring naturally in drinking water as fluorides, has an inhibiting effect on dental caries when such water is consumed from early childhood throughout the formative period of the teeth.

Not only are the deciduous and permanent teeth of children benefited by the occurrence of natural fluorides in the drinking water during tooth formation, but the teeth of adults also have an appreciable lower incidence of dental caries by reason of prolonged periods of residence in communities where fluorides occur naturally in communal water supplies. This fact was demonstrated by a survey made by Russell and Elvove in Colorado.

The average number of the decayed, missing, and filled permanent teeth was about 60 per cent lower in Colorado Springs, with a high concentration of fluoride, than in Boulder, with a low concentration, for each age group through the age of 44 years.

Boulder natives had lost three or four times as many teeth from dental caries as had natives of Colorado Springs.

It is the considered opinion of the Michigan Department of Health that the benefits derived from using a water containing an adequate amount of fluorine lasts throughout life.

Evelyn Joyner, R. N.
93 Osceola Drive

Colorado Springs, a town with 2.6 ppm fluorine in water is quoted by pro-fluoridationists to prove that a high amount of fluorine benefits even adult teeth. An article in the September, 1954, Michigan State Journal reveals some startling contradictory information.

It points out that at St. David Ariz., where fluorine content ranges from 1.6 to 4 ppm, decay in children is low but as they reach adulthood dental troubles spread so rapidly that more than half of young adults from 24 to 26 years of age have false teeth.

In view of this and other indications of harm from fluorides, the only logical vote is "Yes" to pass the ordinance prohibiting fluoridation.

Survivor

Opponents of fluoridation have charged that not enough research has gone on to justify fluoridation of water. Yet more than 5,000 fluoridation research projects have been carried on.

Among this long list are experiments on rats, dogs and mice to determine the calcium-fluoride relationship, experiments on mice who were fed high amounts of fluoride and research on people to determine the high proportion of fluoride that is excreted.

Other experiments have dealt with studies of blood samples of cows and humans ingesting fluoride, studies showing amounts lost through kidneys and the skin, experiments on animals whose kidneys had been damaged by uranium exposure to show effect on excretion.

Other research was on dogs to find how much fluorine was stored in bones. Also on humans who inhaled air having low concentrations of fluorine, on rabbits to determine effect of kidney ailments on ability to excrete fluoride. Also studies on chicks, guinea pigs, swine, sheep and cows to study effect of fluorides on growth.

Other experiments were to find effect of drinking fluoridated water on middleaged and elderly, relationship of climate and fluoridation, fluoride content of food and plants, and amounts of fluoride which might be extracted from foods cooked in fluoridated water.

John D. Monroe, M. D.
Director of Health for Pontiac and Oakland County

I have had direct contact with large quantities of full strength sodium fluoride powder for 25 years. Every time I mix and fill a batch of insecticide, I consume more fluoride than a person could get in a year from drinking fluoridated water. I have never felt any ill effect.

From my own experience I definitely believe that it is beneficial to the teeth as long as there is a tooth left. In fact, I believe that it is beneficial to the entire body structure. And I am sure that it is not cumulative.

If some of these writers would just use their pencil and paper to do a little simple arithmetic, they would realize the silliness of some of these scare theories. I am a non-resident Pontiac taxpayer. To reject fluoridation would be penny wise and dollar poor.

58-Year-Old Guinea Pig

The statements made by a local hospital pathologist, Dr. Marra, were interesting, but unfortunately there is much classified medical literature to contradict his claims. He asserted, regarding fluorine ingestion, that "In the amount suggested for a fluoridation program it has been repeatedly shown that no storage occurs except in the teeth," and "In communities where natural content of fluorine in water is many times that of the recommended fluoridation program, storage of the element has not been demonstrated elsewhere in the body."

According to research findings of at least four different investigators, Roholm, McClure, Dean, and Rapp, fluorine storage occurs in many other parts of the body. Fluorine is stored in a large degree in the teeth, as stated, but it is found in bone, and to lesser degrees in the kidneys, liver, spleen, muscles, and heart.

In the Newburgh, N.Y., area (fluoridated) studies show a higher concentration of fluorine in placental tissues than do similar specimens from non-fluoridated areas.

One authority, Rapp, claims a higher percentage of fluorine will be retained in the body if fluorine is given in small multiple doses in place of fewer doses of large amounts.

If you are opposed to fluoridation, vote "yes" on that proposal.

Proposal No. 3 Opposed by Janette C. Bathum

All property owners should be alarmed about Proposal No. 3, a constitutional amendment to be voted on April 4, to give the school authorities unlimited power to tax and levy on property. This by-passes the law that gives only property owners right to vote on bonds to raise money.

I quote Proposal No. 3 exactly as worded on the ballot. "Amendment to the Constitution proposed by the legislature to authorize the state to borrow not to exceed $100,000,000.00 to loan to certain school districts and to authorize the levy of taxes without limitation as to rate or amount for the payment of certain school bonds issued prior to July 1, 1962."

The power to tax is the power to destroy and seven years of this will destroy many property owners.

'A Taxpayer' Itemizes Citizens' Debt to State

The people of Michigan owe to the state the following: $660,737,176 for municipal, city, school, county, village and township; $203,911,000 for soldiers' bonus and hospitals; $109,450,000 for highways including Detroit expressways; $99,300,000 for the Mackinac Straits Bridge; $5,140,000 for State Office Building; $15,608,000 for Michigan State College; $12,828,000 for University of Michigan; $12,568,335 for State colleges of education; $2,400,000 for College of Mining & Technology; $80,000,000 for Korean War Bonus.

We may have to pay $186,000,000 for Detroit-Saginaw toll road; $210,000,000 Detroit toward Chicago toll road; $500,000,000 General highway, demanded by Gov. Williams; $6,100,000,000 for Michigan's share of proposed national highway program.

Interest alone has reached almost $120,000,000. Now, Pontiac must add to this $3,000,000 in hospital bonds and the State $100,000,000 if proposal passes to allow State to borrow for schools and of course if proposal passes to fluoridate our water supply, we add a few more thousand.

If proposed roads, State and National materialize our State debt will zoom to 10 billion dollars for a population of 7 million and that includes you, babe in arms. So what do you owe, Mr. and Mrs. Michigan, when you add your share of national debt of $275 billion?

Ambulance Delayed by Army Red Tape

WINCHESTER, Mass. (AP)—Army regulations tied up a disabled Army ambulance for two hours yesterday.

The ambulance broke down while it was carrying an ailing soldier from a visit to his home to the Ft. Devens hospital.

The driver found the trouble to be a defective fuel pump. A replacement could have been obtained at the corner gasoline station, but such purchases are forbidden by Army regulations.

A second ambulance had to be sent from Ft. Devens to Winchester, about 35 miles to take soldier Richard Beck the rest of the way.

THE EASTER STORY—5
Peter Sleeps in the Garden

After the Last Supper Jesus and his disciples went to the Mount of Olives. He left the disciples to wait for him in the Garden of Gethsemane. He took Peter and John and James with him farther into the garden. Peter told Jesus he would die for him and Jesus said Peter would deny him three times before the morning came. He left the three disciples to go off alone to pray. When he came back, they were asleep. He asked them if they could not even keep awake one hour with him. Two more times he went away and came back to find them asleep.

This is the fifth of 12 stories on Easter. Each story's picture is drawn like a stained glass window. You can look at your church's windows for ideas on how to best color this series.

Tomorrow: Jesus is betrayed.

Law Student Still Trying

BOSTON (AP)—David Pollard, 60-year-old steamfitter, has lost his 14th bid in 30 years to become a lawyer. The Massachusetts Supreme Court yesterday turned down his plea to be allowed to take an oral examination only to practice law. He contended his poor handwriting had handicapped him in the written tests.

Even Elephants Sick on Stormy Pacific Trip

SEATTLE (AP)—The freighter Hawaiian Craftsman had such a stormy voyage even the elephants got seasick.

The Matson ship docked yesterday after a six-day crossing from Honolulu. Aboard were three elephants, three horses and nine trained pigs of the Ward-Bell indoor circus.

"Man, were those animals sick," said Third Officer M. R. Armbrust, Portland, Ore. "We were rolling up to 35 degrees."

18th District WCTU Holds Spring Institute

Nineteen WCTU Units from the 18th District gathered at the First Methodist Church of Royal Oak for an annual spring institute.

The Mary Morton Unit of Pontiac sang several songs for those gathered at the recent meeting for the morning session. Mrs. Eva May Rowley of Drayton Plains was song leader and Mrs. John Veneman accompanied them at the piano.

Brochures containing temperance information approved by the National Organization of the WCTU were distributed by Mrs. Frank Deaver, chairman of the department of character building. They are used to guide the program for the continuation of the education work.

Actiyities of the collective unions were covered in a report given by Mrs. John J. Little, honorary president of the 18th district. The noontide prayer was offered by Mrs. Paul Haven.

The afternoon session opened with the showing of a motion picture, "The Choice Is Yours," by the Rev. Paul S. Durham of Royal Oak.

Mrs. Deaver reported on work done among the disabled soldiers and sailors living in hospitals within Michigan.

Christian citizenship affairs were covered by Mrs. Eleah Patten, state Christian citizenship director. She stressed the need of giving more attention to intelligent voting.

A resolution, read by Mrs. Archie Leonard stated that the WCTU Federation does not support any legislation enacted to lower the voting age from 21 to 18. The WCTU moved to adopt the resolution. Mrs. Leonard is president of the Ella Irish Union of Farmington.

Mrs. Joseph Green, president of the 18th district, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. H. Parker Tagshold, president of the Second District, who spoke on "The Margin of Safety."

The history and origin of the adoption of the white ribbon bowknot as the badge and emblem of the WCTU was reviewed by Mrs. Ruth Townsend.

She explained that in earlier years a WCTU burial service was prepared by Mrs. Cornelia Moats, former evangelistic superintendent of Michigan.

A large bow of white ribbon combined with a spray of greens with the gold letters, WCTU, on one streamer was adopted as a tribute to a deceased member.

Mrs. Townsend demonstrated the accepted way of making the bow. The significance of the arrangement is that it is the emblem of mortal and immortal life, bound together by white, signifying God's love for the human race.

A friendship circle was formed by members as they repeated the benediction.

Demand for Ideal Performance Often Results in No Performance at All

Save Money Through Use of 'Shorts'

By HUBBARD COBB

A few months ago we made the important discovery that you can save a good deal of money these days when you buy lumber by purchasing the lower grades of wood which sell considerably less per foot than the select grades.

While these lower grades may contain knots and other blemishes, the wood is perfectly solid and is just as good as the higher grades for many building jobs, especially if it is to be painted.

Well, the other day a friend of ours called to say how much money he had saved on a project by using "shorts". Shorts, in case you didn't know, are the small odd lengths of lumber that result when the lumber yard has to cut up some boards to fill a special order.

Needless to say, shorts come in all widths and lengths up to about seven feet. If a board is eight feet or over in length it's no longer considered as being a short and therefore there is no reduction in price.

Some lumber yards make a practice of trying to get rid of their shorts by sorting them out according to size and placing them in special bins.

Some yards just toss them into a big pile and if you want some you just have to hunt until you find the right size in length. But no matter how you get them you'll save a good deal of money and because of their length, be able to toss them into your car and not have to depend on the yard for delivery.

So the next time you have a building job where you'll need lumber under eight feet in length, consider the advantage of buying shorts.

Write Note if Employer Requests It

Secretary Must Make It Personal Message From Him

By EMILY POST

A secretary presents her problem in the following letter: "Is it proper for me to write thank-you notes for my employer? His wife died recently and he thinks that I am the one to write people to thank them for flowers and other kindnesses.

Since I am his business secretary and in no way connected with the family, I think this is somewhat outside of my province. I would be glad to take care of these notes for him but I am afraid the people will think it curious for an outsider to thank them. I don't want him to be criticized."

Answer: Most people are very lenient at such a time and no one will be likely to criticize your employer if you write his notes.

It is quite customary for someone very near to the person in deep mourning to take care of this detail, and after all, a man's personal secretary is certainly closely associated with his concerns.

You of course explain that Mr. Employer is ill but wants you to tell them how deeply he appreciated (or how much he was comforted by) their kindness (or their sympathy). In other words, the note must take a personal message sent by him and not be a note of thanks from you.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has been asked to give his cousin away. She has no father and he is her nearest male relative. Will you please tell me what, if any, obligations my husband has in connection with this position?

Answer: None, except to take the bride from her house to the church, walk up the aisle with her and answer "I do" when the clergyman asks, "Who giveth this woman in marriage?"

Dear Mrs. Post: We have no maid and I always follow my guests to the front door, but never know whether I should then open it for them or let them open it for themselves.

Answer: Open the door for a woman but let a man (if you are a woman) open the door for himself. Naturally if the locks are complicated you would perhaps say, "Let me do it, it is rather hard to manage."

The complete severity of the most basic of clothes is captivatingly illuminated by the addition of a brilliantly inspired pearl and gold collarette. There are matching cuff and earclips.

Response to Perfection Most Always the Same

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Yesterday Mrs. K., miserable with a bad cold, cleaned her 12 ground-floor windows. She had to drive herself to this unnecessary labor.

For Mrs. K. lives out of unknow fear that any weakness in her, moral or physical, will somehow be punished. And she washed her windows out of the same motives that used to compel martyrs to avert God's wrath by torturing themselves.

She is, of course, just as intolerant of weakness in others. For example, when her daughter Grace leaves her bed untidily made, Mrs. K. pursues the subject for hours.

If Grace scorches a cooking pot, tells a lie, loses money or in other ways renders less than a perfect performance, her mother cannot release herself from fascination with these sins.

This fascination is as useful to Lrs. K. as it was to the martyrs. However, though it supports her sense of virtue, it's been very hard on Grace. As a result of it, she has become a most incompetent girl.

Her bedroom is always in chaos because she cannot maintain it in the perfect order her mother requires. She leaves the scorched pot in the sink because no scouring could erase her mother's memory of the scorch. She makes no effort to repay the money she's continually borrowing from Mrs. K. because repaying it would only revive new criticism of her need to borrow.

Thus, Grace is in perpetual flight from correction of her faults. The demand for ideal performance from her has ended in no performance at all.

Grace deals with this absence of real performance in the only way she can. She imagines herself giving the ideal ones.

For example, though her school record is mediocre, she will assure you that she's going to win a college scholarship. Overweight, she's always publicly pledging herself to diets she cannot keep.

Last summer, fired from a file clerk job after two weeks, she met this hard reality with her customary dreaminess. Grace was not fired; she had resigned. A friend of an uncle had said something about a much better job. She spent the rest of the summer in idleness expecting it to come through.

Hers is the inevitable response of children to perfectionist parents. Driven by these parents' contempt for imperfect accomplishment, the children give up trying for any — and maroon themselves in grandiose dreams which require no effort than can be criticized.

What such parents need is examination of their fear of punishment for ordinary human weakness. We do not have to spend our lives abusing ourselves to prove that we're good to anybody.

Butterscotch Cookie Is Crisply Good

Mrs. Schulte Chills Rolls of Rich Dough in Refrigerator

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Small children and cookies make a perfect combination. Four small children will eat lots and lots of cookies, so Mrs. Gordon A. Schulte of Cooley Lake often makes them. You're sure to like her Butterscotch Refrigerator cookie recipe.

Before her marriage Mrs. Schulte was a newspaper woman in Michigan and in California. She takes a keep interest in the work her artist husband does.

Mrs. Schulte's only outside activities are in connection with the church. She is vice president of her guild and hospitality and publicity chairman of the general guild.

BUTTERSCOTCH COOKIES
By Mrs. Gordon A. Schulte

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
Salt
2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ teaspoon soda
½ cup broken nutmeats

Cream butter or margarine, add sugar and egg. Add dry ingredients which have been sifted together. Add nuts and vanilla. Form into rolls and chill several hours. Slice ⅛-inch thick. Bake at 425 degrees for 5-10 minutes, until delicately brown. Makes about 4 dozen. They keep well.

Be Careful of Posture in Mid-Years

No one who's ever done it feels that the homemaker is "unemployed." And by the time she's raised a couple of kids and given up on expecting her husband to move the sofa six inches, a woman begins to think of herself as a dray horse.

Women in the middle years ought to guard against being a beast of burden for any reason. This is the time when one ought to realize one isn't as resilient as formerly.

Take these posture precautions in your housework as faithfully as you take vitamins and you'll guard against disaster as well as making yourself less fatigued at the day's end.

Let your legs bear the burden when you must lift something heavy. Don't reach over. Sort of sit or squat and let your legs push you up.

Carrying two equal packages is easier than carrying one heavy one. Get your groceries divided in two parcels and carry them close to the center of your body.

When you bend over, bend from the hips, not in the back.

Work on counters and tables that are the right height for you. If they aren't, saw legs off or get footstools or phone books or cushions to get you comfortable.

The average guy has relatives; the wealthy have heirs.

Follow Intuition - - - Toward Success

By ANNE HEYWOOD

This age we live in has been characterized in many ways as the Age of Anxiety, the Age of Insecurity, the Age of this and the Age of that.

But sometimes it seems to me that it is the Age of Lack of Confidence in our own Intuition. We refuse to believe our own inner convictions, we listen to this expert and that expert, we read statistics, and many times our own inner voice was right all along.

Take, for example, two people I know. The first is a man, who is now, in his fifties, assistant to a vice president of a large corporation.

He does a wonderful job, and ought to have been promoted to vice president years ago. And yet he is still just an assistant, and will probably always be. Why is this?

He explained it sadly:

"A long time ago, when I first began here, I thought it would be a good idea to study law at night. I wanted to, and I felt strongly that it would enhance my chances of success.

But the man I worked for then did not think so. He said it was a lot of nonsense, that if I stuck in the job I'd learn more law than most lawyers, so I dropped the idea.

"This original boss was eventually replaced by another man, my present boss, and this man believes that a law degree is a requisite to being made a vice president.

So I'm stuck, and it's too late now to get my law degree, and I've been by-passed time after time in favor of men who did study law. Should have followed my own inner conviction."

The second case is a young woman, whose first job, as secretary, was in a brand new firm. It was in a new field, and somewhat risky, or so all her friends said. She had been promised a good job if she stuck it out, but the first few years were pretty upsy downsy.

"I felt extremely sure the firm would succeed," she told me, "but it was a little rocky, and all my friends told me I'd better get out before the crash.

So I listened to them, and moved to a so-called safer field. I'm still a secretary, but the girl who took my place ten years ago in the 'risky' job is now advertising manager, and making about ten times as much as I am."

If you have a very strong feeling that a course of action is right, try to ignore, or at least study carefully, all the indications to the contrary. It just might possibly be that you are right!

IF you want tall look—

Follow news out of Paris . . . one-color look with jewelry, gloves, hats, shoes, even parasols, keyed to matching dress color.

Miss T. L.—The blended color look from head to toe is excellent for the short figure. Daytime tan gamut from palest natural tone to dark brown is a favorite now. Palest lemon white to tangerine will be attractive for hot weather.

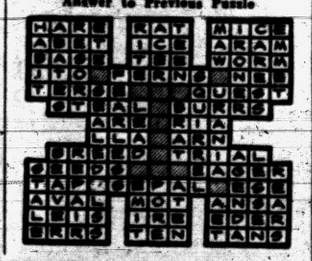

The host and hostess who are giving a large party should, after they have greeted the guests at the door, mingle with the guests, saying just a few words to each instead of spending a long time with any one small group.

"Keep circulating" is a good rule for a host and hostess at a large party.

Sweater Is Useful

Interchangeable with a blouse: the white wool sweater, cut like a blouse, banded at the waistline; endlessly useful in a wardrobe.

Mrs. John W. Sanders is production manager, Mrs. Albert Wolf is holding lines, Mrs. E. A. Schirmer, properties and Mrs. Stephen F. Booth is in charge of costumes.

Sets have been designed by Mrs. James Maunders and constructed by S. Gordon Saunders Jr., and Mrs. Benjamin Micou is in charge of make-up.

REBECCA TRIBBLE

A June wedding is planned by Rebecca Tribble, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Tribble of Raeburn street, are announcing her engagement to Gene Sumner. He is the son of Mrs. Annie Mae Sumner of North Saginaw street.

Newest Style Comes From Joan of Arc

Ready to eclipse the tousled Italian-boy haircut's would-be successors in the Easter parade is Joan of Arc's simple, smooth, barely-curved page boy hair-do.

The reason for the page boy's sudden ascendancy, is that Ingrid Bergman has made a tour of Europe looking her loveliest in it.

Created several years ago by Fred Fredericks, chief hair stylist of the Max Factor studios, for her Hollywood Joan-of-Arc role, this hair-do was revived by Miss Bergman for her "Joan at the Stake" homecoming appearance in Sweden; was also taken over by her for personal wear.

In adopting this casual, easy-to-manage hair-do, Fredericks says, the star set a mark for fashionable women to shoot at in every city she visited on her triumphal sweep through Europe.

This page boy, calling for longer, brush-smoothed hair, is grooved into a simple cap-like arrangement. Here's the answer, according to Fredericks, to the Spring's demands for fuller, thicker hair. The need, he points out, is to balance the new, slim silhouette in clothes.

What kind of style is this world-charmer? Let its creator answer your question. Fredericks also tells you how to cut and set it:

Not so long or so cupped under as the page boy style of ten years ago, this new one clears the collar at the back of the neck. It tapers in length gradually from a thickly-cut bang in front to a smooth, silky sweep from the crown in back. At the ears, it starts turning under with a barely perceptible curve.

To achieve this curve, use an old-fashioned curling iron, barely heated. Or you can roll up the ends of your hair so they'll bend—like a fish hook.

But if you prefer using the rolling method of ten years ago, use a head roll of firm cotton, string-tied to your head. Before anchoring this device, push hair above it and wet hair. Then, with the prop in place, brush wet hair snugly down against the roll, and work ends just barely under with a rat-tailed comb.

Junior Musicale to Meet Sunday

Matinee Musicale will meet at the home of Mary Shadley on Ottawa drive Sunday at 3 p.m. Student League will be held at the home of Santhy Annas on East Iroquois road, while the Junior League will meet at the home of Karen Bowman on Draper avenue.

Normalee Braid will be hostess to the Senior League at her home on Rosewood avenue. Following these meetings there will be a rehearsal for the chorus which will be singing at the convention in May. This rehearsal will be held at Santhy Annas' home. Mrs. Charles Buck is chorus director.

Couple Speak Vows in Maryland Rite

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bailey Jr. of North Edith street are announcing the March 24 marriage of their daughter, Marilynn Curtis, to A.2C Texal Andrew Beltz. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beltz of Poplar street.

They were married in Frederick, Md., and will make their home in Washington, D. C., where he is stationed at Andrews Air Force Base.

While her little Michigan friends have been bundled up in snow suits and boots, Carol Ann Ferrer poses in her favorite South Florida attire—a bathing suit. She was photographed with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Ferrer in Fort Lauderdale while visiting her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Ethan B. Cudney. The Cudneys returned to their home on Marlborough drive this week. The Ferrers live in East Lansing.

Jane Steinhelper Feted

Mrs. Cliff Mason, Mrs. Douglas Menzel and Mrs. Anthony Osler were hostesses Wednesday evening at a miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Jane Steinhelper.

The affair was held in the Osler home on Garland avenue.

Jane will become the bride of David C. Grover on April 23. She is the daughter of the John Steinhelpers of South Genesee avenue, and he is the son of Mrs. John Hendry of Woodstock road and Verne W. Grover of Duluth, Minn.

An arrangement of yellow and white flowers, flanked by white tapers, centered the refreshment table.

Guests were Mrs. Steinhelper, Mrs. Curtis Flath, Virginia Flath, Mrs. Al Miller, Judy Miller, Mrs. Tyrus Menzel, Mrs. Carl Opland and Mrs. Glenn Moses.

Others were Mrs. Robert Phillips, Mrs. Douglas Menzel, Mrs. Floyd Smith, Mrs. Richard Jorgenson, Mrs. Harry Setter, Mrs. Carl Seiser and Mrs. Cliff Mason.

Cover Up Outdoors

Extremes of hot and cold weather are bad for your hair. Cover it when out-of-doors at such times.

No Russian Boards

Hot news from Moscow! There's a famine of ironing boards there. The simplest sorts with flimsy pads cost $10 each. No wonder Soviet women prefer to work in factories.

Girl Scouts to Register for Camp

Girl Scouts of the Northern Oakland County Council may register until May 1 for Camp Sherwood. After this date, registrations if the camp is not filled to capacity, will be opened to other girls.

For the first time Camp Sherwood is offering a new "Counselor in Training" program to train girls who have reached their junior year in high school. They need not be Girl Scouts to be eligible.

This four week training session will begin June 28 and it will take a two year period to complete the course. Further information may be had by calling the Pontiac Girl Scout Office.

Theater Party Follows Session

A theater party followed the luncheon given Thursday by Wisner School PTA, for 90 members of the school service squad. Community singing was led by Mrs. Donald Weiss; following the luncheon held in the school gymnasium.

Mrs. William J. Thomas was general chairman for the affair, with Jane Danton serving as mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Irving Cocking and Mrs. Ariel Davis, homeroom representatives, planned the luncheon.

Committee members were Mrs. Russel C. Bell, Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mrs. Morris Cucksey, Mrs. Lawrence LaBair, Mrs. Robert Schmude, Mrs. Hugh Cooper, Mrs. Paul Webster and Mrs. Leonard Saari.

Ford Fires 15, Gives 26 Layoffs at Monroe

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. has fired 15 employes and given layoffs to 26 others for their part in last Wednesday's work stoppage at the company's parts plant at Monroe.

The company said the men left their jobs without authorization and without having filed a grievance.

Ford said the walkout voilated the company's contract

Clubwomen Installing New Leader Today

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. C. E. Walker of Sturgis was to be installed today as president of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs at the group's annual convention.

She has been a clubwoman for 21 years. She was president of the Sturgis Women's Club, president of the southwestern district and served as state financial secretary and state vice president.

Purchase of a 10-room $42,000 brick home in Ann Arbor was recommended yesterday by the site committee for Girlstown, Inc., a project of the state federation.

The home would be used as a refuge for girls in need of rehabilitation.

Clubwomen were told their organization should be prepared to provide $30,000 annually for the program.

Names Extension Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson has approved the appointment of Paul A. Miller of East Liverpool, Ohio, as director of the extension service in Michigan. The appointment takes effect today. Miller succeeds D. B. Varner, who has been named vice president of Michigan State College.

Vaccine Evaluators Still Writing Report

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The scientist correlating the findings of the Salk polio vaccine field tests at the University of Michigan says the vaccine evaluation center is "still writing" its report.

Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., head of the evaluation center, has scheduled two news conferences to discuss the vaccine. The first will be held tomorrow and the final one April 12. Both will be held in Ann Arbor.

University officials have backed Dr. Francis' refusal to give advance information on the vaccine.

Pictures Show Tragic Ending to Gaca Family's Long Vigil

Shocking Discovery Halts Laborer's Leisurely Stroll

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

Spring's first warm sun cheered a Grand Trunk Western Railroad section crew yesterday as the men plied oil cans along a swamp-lined section of track south of Upper Straits Lake in West Bloomfield Township.

It was the type of day which first stirs summer's green blossoming of life.

Rufino Zamora strolled off the tracks for a brief respite and picked his way 100 feet eastward through the brush.

He came upon an old dump, out of place against the multi-colored spring landscape.

Zamora spied an oddly shaped bundle wrapped in an army blanket.

Curious, he lifted a blanket edge and recoiled in stark terror. Spring and life were banished. The bundle was the crumpled body of 7-year-old Barbara Gaca.

While foreman William K. Davidson went to phone police, Zamora and the two other section men recalled newspaper accounts of the kidnaping of the Detroit girl March 24 and "thought it must be her."

"I kept thinking about my five little girls and wondering how I would feel if one of them were lying there."

Zamora, 28, repeated his account several times last night as a parade of newsmen and photographers filed into his home at 666 Ojista Ave.

"If it were my daughter I think I would be crazy," said the citizen of two years duration who immigrated here from Mexico in 1942.

"The blanket, it had blood on it. I saw her blue coat and her snow pants. My daughters won't have to wear their snow clothes any more this year."

He proudly displayed his naturalization papers saying "when one sees a little girl like that, one thinks her killer should be punished badly.

"But this is a good country and has good laws. I think the law will decide what to do with him."

The continual flash of cameras and flow of questions puzzled Zamora. "Why do you take my picture? I was the man who found that the little girl was not alive.

"But maybe there is some good in finding her. The parents they will not have to be searching for her for the rest of their lives not knowing.

"I remember about another little girl who was killed like that," (Kathleen McLaughlin, 9, found Feb. 17 less than four miles from yesterday's scene). "What makes a person do that? Can't the doctors and the police find a way to stop it? All the citizens should help.

"Before I found her I was thinking how pretty this country is in the springtime. The little girls they should play on such a day.

"When one is old, he must worry. But the children should always be happy."

"... it had blood on it."

"... this is a good country."

"... kept thinking of my girls."

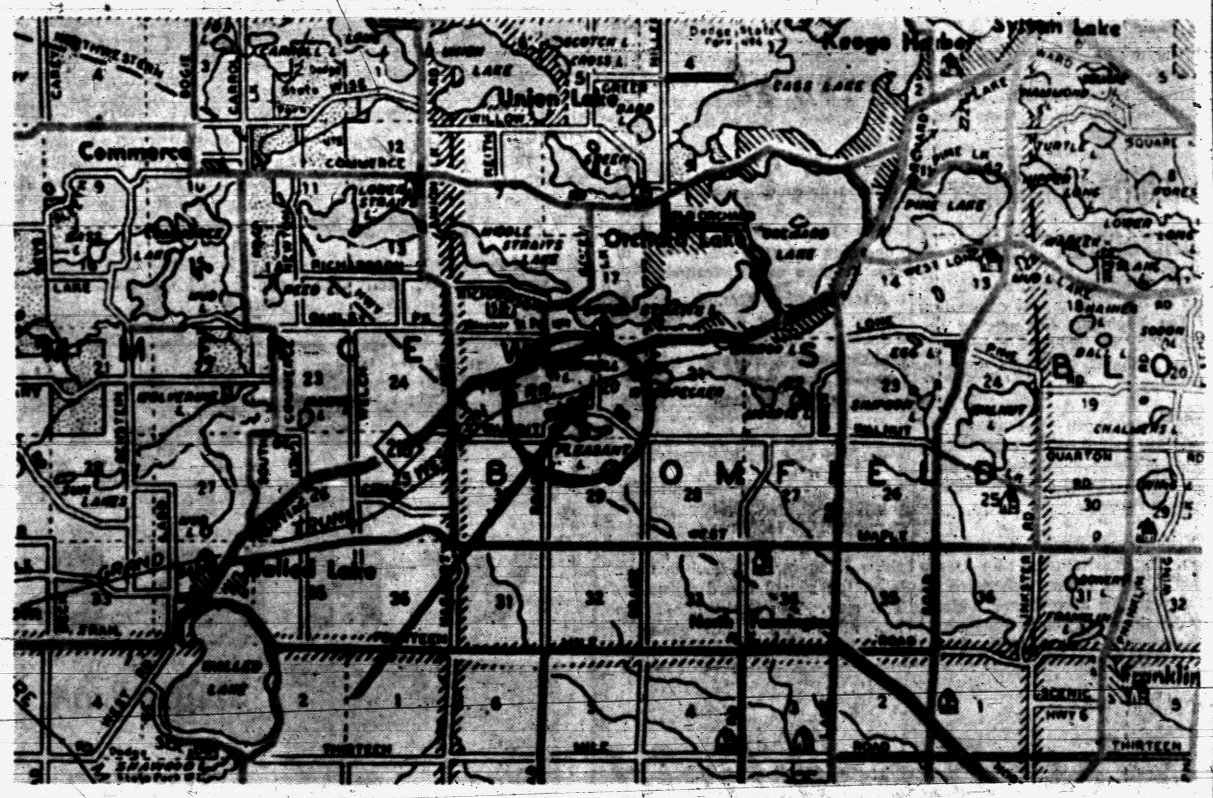

"... children should be happy."

COMB AREA FOR CLUES—Detroit detectives and Oakland County Sheriff's office personnel comb the area where Barbara's body was discovered. At upper left is the dirt road, leading from Halstead Road, which the killer apparently drove down to reach the old, unused dumping grounds.

SITE OF DISCOVERY — A circle and arrow point out the spot just east of the Grand Trunk Railroad tracks off Halstead road in West Bloomfield Township where Barbara Gaca's body was found by a Pontiac railroad hand. The scene is less than four miles from the Farmington Township woods where 9-year-old Kathleen McLaughlin was stabbed and stoned to death Feb. 17. Orchard Lake police had been making a regular check of the old dumpsite where Barbara was found, but did not in recent days, thinking the dirt road leading to it was impassable.

Barbara's Murder Third Within Year

The sex-slaying of 7-year-old Barbara Gaca was the third slaying of a young girl in the Detroit area in less than a year.

Barbara's body was found less than four miles from a Farmington Township woods where 9-year-old Kathleen McLaughlin was found in an ice-covered pond with her head bashed in and stab wounds in her back.

Kathy's death Feb. 17 followed that of 4-year-old Marion Jo (Cookie) Zobrovitz by only a little more than nine months.

Both the McLaughlin and Zobrovitz girls were victims of teen-aged slayers.

Call Slaying Wicked, Vicious

By JOSEPH K. SFAIR

Still shocked by the memory of Kathy McLaughlin's tragic death, veteran policemen today were terming 7-year-old Barbara Gaca's murder the most wicked and vicious they had yet encountered.

An autopsy report released to police late last night revealed that blond-haired, brown-eyed Barbara had been criminally assaulted, strangled and stabbed 15 times in the chest and back.

Many of the 50 policemen at the scene of the West Bloomfield dump, where her tiny body was found wrapped in an army blanket, were at times led away by their own thoughts—momentarily straying from the processes of their minute investigation of the area.

Some were thinking about the horrible terror the child endured during her last moments. And others were remarking, "I've got a kid at home about her age... you know how that makes you feel."

One officer just stood and stared ... he was awakened to the reality of the grim scene by smacking sounds of his right fist socking into his left palm.

The scene was a dump, littered with tin cans, stained paper boxes and garbage — an incongruous place for the little girl who should have been in the familiar, protective atmosphere of her second-grade classroom in the Assumption Grotto School.

An imposing reminder of that was her white - beaded rosary found only two feet from where she lay. It was a small rosary..., the kind that children in parochial schools are taught to pray with and ask for divine help and pure guidance.

School papers, some bearing her childishly-scrawled name at the top and a plastic pencil bag were found scattered about. Her royal blue snow-suit, which had been described in detail many times during the search, hastily dumped near her. And a blue and red babushka her mother had tied under her chin before sending the child off to school, had been unknotted and dropped close to the body.

A number of curious persons flocked to the scene and mothers in the vicinity of the secluded spot near Halsted road and Pontiac Trail were expressing theories of the murder, with their children at their sides pressed close to them.

None of the residents in the area, however, could tell police whether any suspicious cars or persons were seen entering the area, known to police also as a lovers lane.

But they feared someone familiar with a "secret little road" leading into the dump and the edge of a wooded area — had left Barbara there.

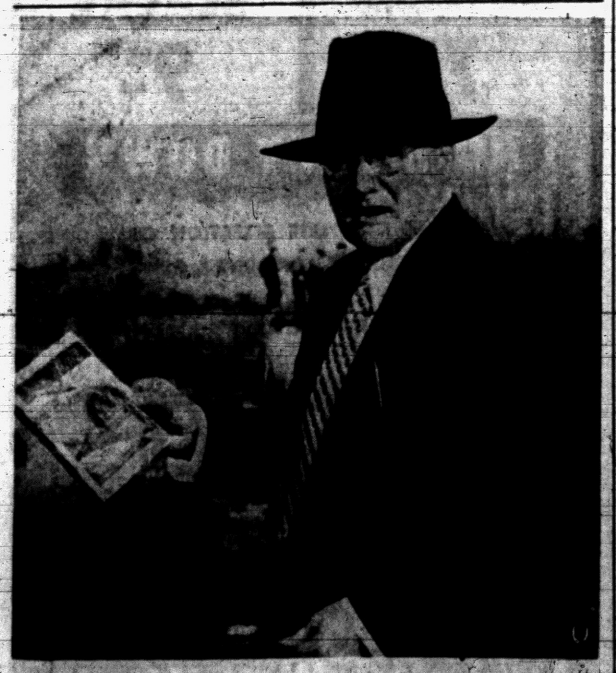

"It's pretty dark around here at night and we've had reports about peeping toms. But what are we going to do? This girl's murderer was a clever person and probably never will be found," a mother of three children, living in the area, said.

Police think they have the answer, though, but they admit it's a tough job — one that society will have to brace itself for.

"Incarcerate every known sex deviate there is—don't wait until they commit something like this before sending them to prison or a hospital," was a policeman's answer last night.

Authorities are wondering how long Barbara's body was lying in the dump before she was discovered by railroad workmen. They also want to find out where she was killed.

Only a maniac—a madman still at large—can answer those questions.

BARBARA'S PENCIL BOX—Found near her body was a pencil box which the 7-year-old carried when she kissed her mother goodbye March 24 at their Detroit home and headed for her second grade classroom. The reminder of happy school days is held by a Detroit policeman.

CORONER VIEWS BODY — Deputy Oakland County Coroner Dr. Harry L. Riggs (with light hat) is shown the body of Barbara Gaca before it was removed from a West Bloomfield Township dump to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for an autopsy.

Snowy Road Delayed Finding Barbara's Body

Barbara Gaca's body might have been found sooner if snows hadn't made the road leading to the dump where it was found appear almost impassable.

Orchard Lake Village police said they ordinarily check the dirt road two or three times a week because it is a known "lovers' lane."

Passing by it earlier this week, officers decided it was too snow-covered for a car to enter and passed up their usual check.

Disappearance of Barbara Touched Off Intense Hunt

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

In the week since brown-eyed Barbara Gaca was last seen alive by a schoolmate on a Detroit street, hundreds of police officers and volunteers joined in a futile search for the second grader.

The FBI even joined in the hunt after a note from Toledo demanded $25,000 ransom for her return.

The pert 7-year-old was last seen alive—positively—a week ago yesterday morning when an Assumption Grotto School classmate saw her, apparently heading for school.

When Barbara failed to return home for lunch, her mother, Rita, 29, became worried and called school officials. They said the girl had not arrived for classes that morning. They had assumed she was home ill.

Police, notified at 12:32 p.m., quickly organized one of the most intensive searches in Detroit history. Block-by-block, they scoured a 6-square-mile section of the densely populated East side.

Fifty rookie policemen joined a 200-man police posse which continued the search of houses and alleys into the night.

By Friday morning, police were almost certain she had been taken out of the precinct. But the search continued, with Barbara's father, Frank, a 31-year-old postal employe, joining in.

Then police learned that at 1:30 a.m. Friday, a Warren Township filling station attendant had sold gas to a man driving a green car. Inside the car, he said, was a "frightened girl," who seemed to answer Barbara's description.

With Saturday came two developments which hampered the search: a heavy snowfall and the first of hundreds of crank tips and phone calls.

Despite the snow, 1,000 Boy Scouts began combing the area near Barbara's home. In Macomb County, 25 Mt. Clemens postmen searched the area and checked gravel pits east of Mt. Clemens.

Detroit police picked up two men. One answered the description of the driver of the mystery car. The second was reported to have molested a 10-year-old girl Friday.

—The search went on through Sunday and as the spring sun melted the snow, hopes for finding some trace of the girl rose, then faded with the sunset.

Hopes soared again Monday when a message crudely constructed from newspaper headlines arrived at the Gaca home. "Barbara alive. Will contact later," it said.

Police released all suspects that day and said they were starting from scratch.

New leads came from police in Springfield, Ill. and a waitress in Flat Rock. Both proved worthless.

Tuesday, the FBI stepped into the case when a $25,000 ransom note was mailed from Toledo and signed "Impatient Man."

Police soon dismissed the note as the work of a crank, as they had a telephone message which stated that Barbara would be released on a downtown Detroit corner "in five minutes."

Detectives checked a report Wednesday that a young girl, with her mouth gagged, had been seen in a green sedan in Monroe. Like the others, it proved fruitless.

After checking out the last of 612 tips, officials early yesterday put out a state-wide teletype alarm for James G. Burns, a 41-year-old factory worker wanted by Cleveland police for questioning in the criminal assault of a child March 18.

Burns is still sought.

Later in the day 90 Milford High School students joined Oakland County Sheriff's deputies in probing the nearby Proud Lake Recreation Area.

Within a mile of where their painstaking search left off, a railroad section hand, taking a break from his work, lifted the edge of an army blanket and found Barbara Gaca, dead.

Finding Body Recalls Similar '23 Experience

Finding a body is not a new experience for William K. Davidson, foreman of the section crew which yesterday discovered the remains of 7-year-old Barbara Gaca.

Davidson, 59, recalled that in 1923 his crew came upon the badly mutilated body of a man lying across the tracks. "A train had backed over him in a snowstorm," Davidson said.

When little Barbara's body was found, Davidson said, he was about a half-mile away working with Frank Jones, one of the three others in the crew.

"I saw Rufus (Rufino Zamora) walk off from where he was working with Hoover Ammons. I guessed he just wanted to rest a little and I didn't pay much attention.

"Then I heard Ammons holler and saw him start running up the tracks toward us. I started up my motor car and started down the tracks figuring something had happened.

"Then he told me Rufus had found a little girl in a blanket. I reversed the car and went to a house near Halsted road and the tracks where I phoned the State Police right off."

Davidson, who lives at the Square Lake Trailer Camp in West Bloomfield Township, said the crew had been through the same section Monday on a track patrol but hadn't stopped.

"Nobody would ever have noticed the body if Rufus hadn't walked over to take a rest," he said.

Finding Body Rules FBI 'Out of Case'

DETROIT (UP) — FBI officials said today the discovery of Barbara Gaca's body in Oakland County "definitely rules us out of the case."

But the officials said all FBI facilities, including its identification laboratory and files, will be made available to local police in an effort to help trace the girl's slayer.

District Director Fred McIntyre said the FBI had no jurisdiction in the case because the girl was not taken across state lines.

PHONED TRAGIC NEWS — Mrs. W. E. Smelser, of 975 Halsted Rd., flashed news that the missing girl's body had been discovered to police yesterday. A railroad section foreman informed her that one of his men had found the blanket-wrapped remains 250 yards from her home. Mrs. Smelser, who has four children herself, said she had observed no car traveling into the abandoned dumpsite in recent days.

Blaze Damages Homes, Garages

Fire Department Probe Seeks to Find Origin of Conflagration

Fire department officials are conducting a two-pronged probe in a fire yesterday afternoon which destroyed one northwest Pontiac garage, severely damaged three others and slightly damaged two homes.

* * *

Chief John F. Schroeder said today investigators were seeking the origin of the blaze which left standing only the brick corners of a garage at 38 Neome Dr. and damaged extensively adjacent garages at 42 Neome and 197 and 199 Omega Rd.

The fire also singed the house at 38 Neome and set ablaze the roof of a house at 215 Ogemaw. The roof fire was quickly extinguished.

Schroeder said damage was probably around $6,000 to $7,000.

All four garages were burning when firemen arrived, he said. Five pieces of fire-fighting apparatus, manned by 20, were at the scene, some for three hours.

* * *

Consumers Power Co. and Michigan Bell Telephone Co. crews rushed to the scene to repair wires downed by the flames. Firemen had to steer clear of sizzling power lines before Consumers linemen cut off the power.

* * *

Schroeder said his office was also investigating a complaint that the first fire engines didn't arrive until 25 minutes after the first call had been put in.

He said he believed the first call was made to the Waterford Township Fire Dept., adding that the investigation would establish the exact time the call came in and when the equipment left the fire stations.

Police Answer Call on Gang Fight Here

Five Pontiac Police patrol cars and three motorcycle officers last night quickly responded to several telephone calls which said a gang fight, involving about 80 youths, was in progress at S. Sanford St. and E. Wilson Ave.

Police said they found only a handful of youths in the area, who had been witnessing a fight by four boys. Police dispersed the youths and ordered them to go home.

Officers patrolled the area several hours afterwards, fearing trouble could develop following a dance which was being held in a nearby school. Police explained they were unable to obtain any "concrete information" about the rumored gang fight.

Sandstorm Hits 7 Plains States; Damage Heavy

DALLAS, Tex. (INS) —The worst sandstorm of the year swept northern and western Texas, southeast New Mexico and southern Oklahoma with dense clouds of black, choking dust early today.

The raging storm has inflicted heavy damage to farmlands, closed businesses and schools, snarled ground and air transportation and cut communications in seven great plains states.

Moving southeastward with winds up to 62 miles an hour yesterday, the dust-laden winds lashed across Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

Light rain or snow accompanying the grimy clouds turned some areas into clogged quagmires.

At Amarillo, Tex., residents exclaimed, "It's raining mudballs," as snow mingled with the dust.

Visibility drooped to zero in La Junta, Colo., and Dalhart, Tex., and many other communities reported similar conditions.

The howling winds ripped up precious topsoil, causing great damage to wheat and other crops and rangelands.

Schools were forced to close in 12 communities in southeastern Colorado and many businesses were shuttered throughout the affected areas.

Cars, trucks and buses were slowed by drifting dust and poor visibility at many points. Traffic came to a virtual standstill in the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandle.

Airline pilots reported that a curtain of dust rose five miles in the sky, causing many planes to avoid the region.

Royal Oak Resident to See Nuclear Test

ROYAL OAK — Arthur F. Bassett of Royal Oak, chairman of the Civil Defense Committee of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, will attend an atomic explosion test at Mercury, Nev. tentatively scheduled for April 26.

Known as "Operation Cue," the test is regarded as most important for civil defense planning, and could bring recommendations for types of construction and equipment to minimize damage.

The test will involve home structures, commercial buildings, trailers and storage equipment. It is expected to show the type of damage from nuclear explosion on such structures, and also upon metals, appliances, heating systems and various materials going into the makeup of buildings.

With the appointment recently of the 15-man U. S. civil defense committee which Bassett heads, the real estate association indicated its plan for cooperation with civil defense authorities.

About 57 per cent of all the world's telephones are in service in the U.S.

Nightly Shows Begin Monday

Admission to Be Free at Auburn School's Lengthy Performances

AUBURN HEIGHTS—The PTSA of Avondale High School in cooperation with the high school will present "Pilate" a passion play in five acts, Monday through Wednesday evenings next week at the Avondale High School auditorium.

Performances will begin each night at 8 p.m.

The play, a two and one half hour presentation in full costume, will depict the events leading to the crucifixion of Jesus of Nazareth.

Thousands of tourists from the country make the annual pilgrimage to see a similar drama enacted in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

A 40 voice choir under the direction of Patricia Weigle will sing, accompanied by Mrs. William Sullivan at the piano.

Roscoe Crowell, principal of the high school, and Mrs. Atwood, who is president of the PTSA, have expressed hopes that this will be the best endeavor of the community.

Eight hundred free tickets have been made available for each evening, and may be secured from high school students or members of the PTSA.

Matthew A. Vance of Washington is the producer and director of the production.

Special settings have been made, depicting the outside of the fortress of Antonio in Jerusalem, by Roy Sell, art teacher.

Two hundred local merchants, professional men and residents have underwritten the cost of the performance, which is free.

The drama begins with the betrayal scene when Judas bargains to betray his Lord, and ends with the final trial scene before Pontius Pilate.

PARENTS GRIEVE FOR DAUGHTER — Frank Gaca, 31, and his wife Rita, 29, saddened by the news that their daughter Barbara, 7, missing for a week, was found dead. Her body, apparently a vicious slayer's victim, was found wrapped in a blanket near a railroad siding in West Bloomfield Township.

Three Circuit Judges Order Recall Election at Carver

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP—The three Oakland County Circuit Judges yesterday ordered a recall election to determine who will hold two disputed places on the George Washington Carver School Board.

* * *

The petitions for recall were filed by board member James E. Harrison against board members Mrs. Loretta Baker and Chester Carter.

Harrison heads a two-man minority on the board. His efforts have been supported by a Citizens Improvement Committee claiming reforms are needed in the school's administration.

Attorneys for Mrs. Baker and Carter yesterday called some 20 witnesses who said they had not realized they were signing recall petitions.

They said they had understood the petitions were for reopening the school, which was closed at the time, or to allow the students to bring home school-owned books.

In explaining the ruling validating the petitions, Presiding Judge George B. Hartrick said, "The heading was there and all signers could have determined the petition's nature. It was regular on its face and the signatures were genuine.

"We might as well tear up the the statute governing referendums if a person is allowed to sign something one day and change his mind the next."

No date has been set for the recall voting as yet, said Judge Hartrick.

Donate for Kindergarten

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Dorr Davis of Charlotte are donating $25,000 for the erection of a kindergarten room at the Southridge Elementary School in Charlotte, the school board announced Thursday. The Southridge School has all facilities now except a kindergarten.

English Teachers Start 2-Day Parley at MSC

EAST LANSING (AP)—The impact of television, newspapers, pocket books, radio and magazines on the teaching of reading will be studied by midwest college and high school teachers of English today and tomorrow at Michigan State College.

More than 100 English instructors from Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Iowa, Wisconsin and Kentucky will attend the conference.

New Boat Plant Planned

MENOMINEE (AP)—A new boat building plant is planned by the Thompson Boat Mfg. Co. at Peshtigo as a result of the $250,000 fire last weekend. The company, which makes upwards of 5,000 boats a year, is continuing operation. The fire burned out its finishing department.

Request for Investigation in Price War Is Delayed

A "true bill of complaint" asking the governor to request a grand jury investigation of state "dairy interests" which was supposed to have been submitted in Lansing yesterday has not yet been filed.

William Keasey, secretary manager of the Michigan Retail Food Dealers Assn., told the Pontiac Press today he spoke with Gov. G. Mennen Williams' secretary yesterday and presented verbal charges about "illegal" discounts to large supermarkets by the dairies.

He added:

"Before the day is over, I'll be with an attorney to draft a written form of this true bill. I don't want to be quoted on any charges until an attorney drafts it."

Keasey said he learned in Lansing yesterday that "the governor wants the facts on paper."

Weasey also said he was in conference this morning with "some dairy operators."

"I think I've got something in the making," he said. "But I can't tell you about it yet."

Keasey thus hinted the association might be coming to some agreement with the dairies concerning discounts and rebates the independent merchants claim the dairies are giving chain stores and even some independents.

To bring public opinion to bear on their charges, 45 members of the Oakland County Food Dealers Assn., affiliated with the state group, cut milk prices to 29 cents a half-gallon three weeks ago.

County Deaths

Mrs. Charles Cassidy

CLIFFORD — Service for Mrs. Charles (Ruth) Cassidy, 50, of Clifford, will be held at 4 p.m. today at the Wachtenhauser Funeral Home, Alpena, with burial in Evergreen Cemetery there. Her body was taken to Alpena by Marsh Funeral Home of Marlette. Mrs. Cassidy died Tuesday.

Surviving are her husband; one brother, Omer Turnbull of Alpena; and a sister, Mrs. Jack Kuzenski of Essexville.

Achievement Day Planned

Lincoln Junior High Is Location Chosen for Annual Event

The annual Spring Achievement Day of 4-H Clubs in Oakland County will be held tomorrow at the Lincoln Junior High School in Pontiac.

Exhibits are being set up today, and judging and open house to the public are scheduled for tomorrow.

Open to the public beginning at 2 p. m. Saturday, the program includes a display of projects, entertainment, and a dress review.

Of the 20 finalists modeling clothes they have made, one or two will be selected to represent the county at a State contest later.

More than 1,500 boys and girls are expected to participate, according to Jack Worthington, County 4-H agent.

A square dance demonstration is also scheduled for the event. Eight Michigan State College students will perform the dances.

Oakland Housing Gives Land

Start GOC Post in West Bloomfield

MILFORD — A fund raising campaign to raise $500 for construction of a new Ground Observers Post in the area between Pontiac and Milford, is being sponsored by Commissioners of the Village of Orchard Lake.

The new post will be located about 200 feet north of the water tower at West Acres just off East Commerce road and will be known as the West Bloomfield Ground Observers Post, according to Mrs. Melvina Eberle, Civilian Volunteer Coordinator of Oakland County.

The Oakland Housing Corp. with William Yaw, chairman, has given government officials permission to erect a post on corporation property, in a space of 50 by 200 feet, for parking four cars, plus the building site.

All labor for erecting the building, and providing parking space will be volunteer work, and already the Orchard Lake Commission have pledged full support to the project.

A contract was drawn up yesterday by Pontiac attorney Clark Adams, assuring the Oakland Housing Corp. that proper care of the area would be maintained, otherwise the site would revert back to the donors.

Walter Sackett, Milford engineer, has volunteered to draw up plans for the new post, and lay specifications for the landscaping and parking space.

Officials plan to have the building completed by April 15, as the staff has been organized, and instruction is now in progress.

Nine women from West Acres are meeting today at the home of Mrs. Eberle for an orientation luncheon. They will visit the Milford GOC Post, which has been lauded as one of the most outstanding posts in the country.

The new Bloomfield post will be patterned after the one in Milford, Mrs. Eberle said.

John Warren is the Civil Defense Director of West Bloomfield Township, and heading the staff as supervisor is Mrs. Wilbur Chynoweth. Chief-observer is Mrs. E. R. Labadie. There is an assistant for each day of the week, and they are: Mrs. Frank Bowles, Mrs. D. P. Whittcomb, Mrs. Martin Chamberlain, Mrs. W. T. Irons, Mrs. R. T. Hancock, Mrs. A. M. Hendershot and Mrs G. R. Merkle.

Union Lake House Gutted by Flames

UNION LAKE — Fire which gutted the single story frame dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Smith of 7354 Hardsty Circle yesterday caused damage estimated at $10,000.

The Union Lake Volunteer Fire Department was assisted by the West Bloomfield and Commerce Fire Departments in fighting the blaze.

A neighbor turned in the alarm at 3:15 p.m. Neither of the Smiths were at home at the time.

ELIZABETH R. GRAVILLA

Mr. and Mrs. Roman Gravilla of Drayton Plains announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Rose, to Mervyn James Weber. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Weber of South Josephine avenue. The couple will be married June 25.

County Calendar

Drayton Plains

The Building Fund Committee of the First Baptist Church of Drayton Plains will sponsor a fish fry from 5-8 p.m. Saturday at the church, 3716 Bushaw Rd. The affair is open to the public.

Wheat in Good Shape

Excellent Year Is Forecast for Pontiac Area Farmers

By JOE HAAS

Farmers in the Pontiac area have every reason to look forward to a good year. The hired help situation looks better than it was in 1954.

While their production is largely dependent on future moisture conditions, they are assured of an overall price increase on some commodities, and all agricultural income should hold its own.

The drouth of last autumn gave wheat a poor start. It even caused some farmers to surrender their wheat acreage, and hold their fields over for spring crops. This makes the wheat acreage considerably below last year.

HAAS

Wheat has generally gone through the winter in excellent shape. It was feared that the lack of snow would not give it proper coverage, but it generally is emerging in as good condition as usual at this time of the year. Recent snows have added a needed moisture.

John Trocke, assistant county agriculture agent says the freezing nights and thawing days, now current, are causing some wheat to lift out of the ground, especially on low soil. This also is true of forage crops.

He also asserts that some of the fields prepared for wheat last fall, and not planted on account of the drouth, will be sown to barley this spring. This brings about a renewal of this crop here, as its raising had quite largely been discontinued in this area.

Trocke suggests a top dressing of nitrogen on winter crops at this time. It will help them in catching up to their usual sc' edule.

An early spring is the prime need of most farmers. They did very little fall plowing, and the holdover for spring crops is quite negligible. Sandy soils already are about ready for plowing, but the heavy clay loams and low lands need a few more warm days.

The lack of moisture last fall and through most of the winter had one good effect—it held down land erosion to a marked degree, and left hilly fields in shape for early spring work.

Absence of snow also made it possible for the farmers to get into their fields and distribute their natural fertilizer as it was accumulated. This is a vital adjunct to soil conservation.

The generally open condition of the winter was easy on stock feeding and most farmers had plenty of silage and hay and other dry feeds to pull them through. This has meant more substantial milk checks.

The acreage of oats this year largely depends on how soon the soil is in condition to prepare the ground and sow the crop. Last year was a bad one on oats here. Farmers are urged to use only certified seed.

While corn will again be the principal spring planted crop, the acreage in this area will not be as large as last year, mostly on account of allotments. This drives the farmers to other spring crops.

All government and other reports indicate that the price on potatoes will be about the same as last year. A decreased acreage is expected here, as the current income from them do not make potatoes a money crop.

While the raising of beans has showed a steady decrease in this area in recent years, it will show a comeback this year on account of the corn and wheat allotments. The northern tier of townships comprise the only Oakland County area where beans are raised in any quantity.

Clover and other forage crops went through the winter in excellent shape, which is particularly good news to the farmers, as they appear to be assured of at least a 6 per cent increase in the price of milk.

Although other sections of the nation have had all fruit buds badly frozen, no damage in that respect has resulted here, but the late spring frosts may cause some concern. Buds now are maturing in good shape.

Prospects of an early spring are found in the fact that the ground already is so open that more soil tests are being made at the local agricultural office than ever before at this date.

With proper moisture conditions, the farmers of this area should have as good a year in 1955 as they did in 1954.

Pruning Trees Pays Dividends

Too-Thick Foliage Darkens Streets, May Lead to Crime

Trimming trees along city pavements also trims expenses, accidents and crime.

Though pruning can be done any time of year, a good time is right now.

If the job is put off, heavy leafed branches can provide summertime hazards, according to H. I. Spellacy, tree expert. Thick foliage cuts off rays of street lamps, makes sidewalks dark paths where lurking figures are not easily seen. Crime flourishes in the shadows but shuns the well-lit thoroughfare.

Low hanging branches and heavy foliage obstruct the view of motorists, sometimes even cut off overhead traffic lights. The result is more traffic accidents.

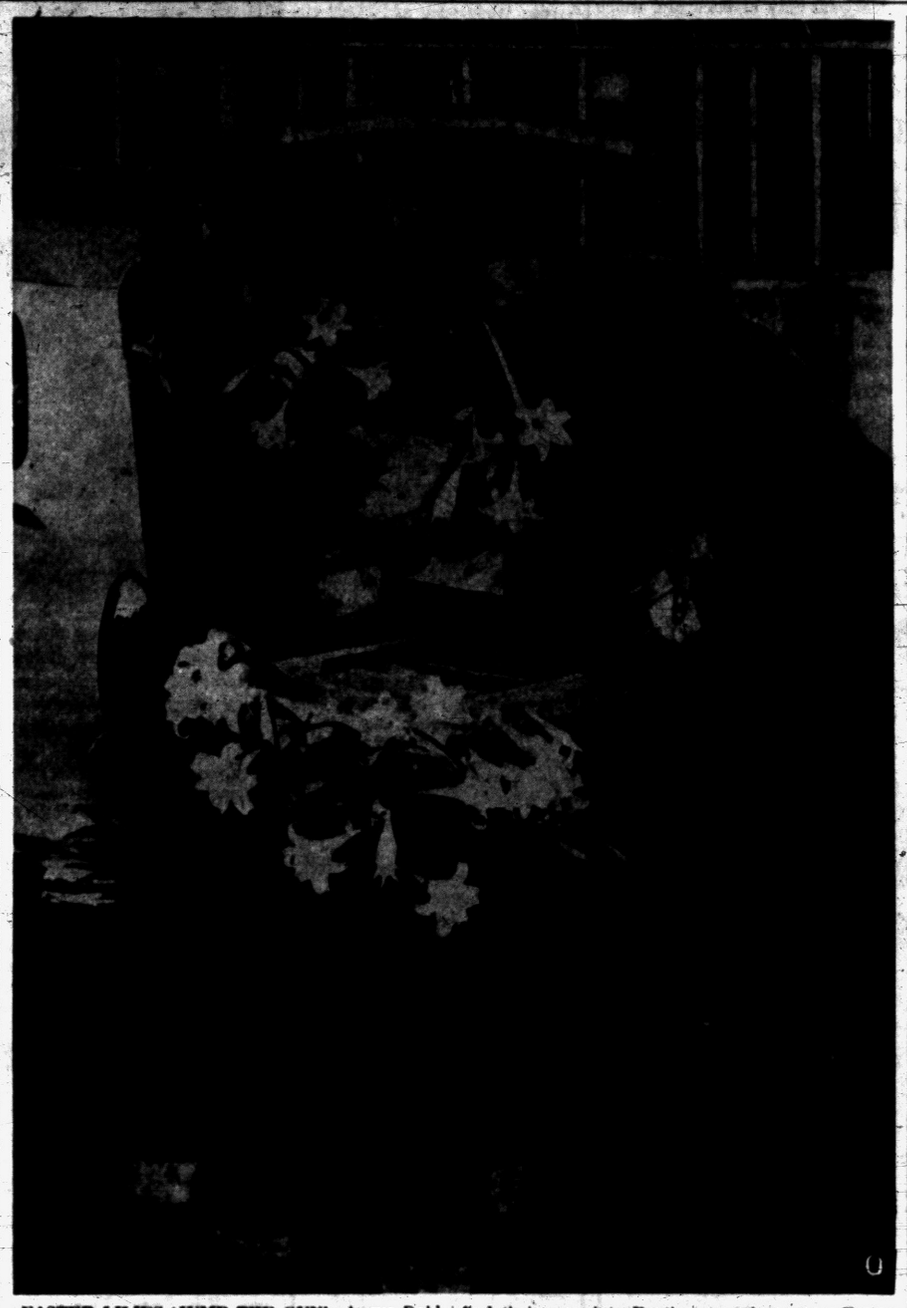

Pedestrian accidents also are boosted by unpruned trees. Dead branches frequently break. They should be removed before they drop on passersby, leading to injuries and possible damage suits. Less dangerous but even more of a nuisance are the sagging limbs that slap pedestrians in the face after every rain.

Where tree branches hang over sidewalks, a 10-foot clearance is needed to assure clear passage for pedestrians in all kinds of weather. Branches over the street should be at least 15 feet or more high in order to avoid trucks. Trees should be pruned to allow at least one-block visibility for all traffic lights.

Adequate pruning will more than pay for itself by the extra street lighting and safety it provides during the leafy months ahead.

Try Cover Plants

Where shade or soil makes for a poor lawn, replace with shade-loving ground covers. This also cuts down mowing chores.

EASTER LILIES 'JUMP THE GUN'—Angus Dahlman, owner of the Rochester Greenhouses in Rochester, staged a preview of what is in store a week hence by allowing the photographer to get a shot of group of misbehaving lilies that decided to bloom ahead of schedule. Thousands of such plants will find their way into Pontiac area homes on Easter. When their fragile blossoms and delicate fragrance have ceased to grace the family living room, they can be replanted outside. There they will bloom again in the fall.

Demonstration Set Saturday

Fruit Pruning Methods to Be Shown at 10 A.M. Meeting in Pontiac

Back yard fruit growers, as well as commercial farmers, will have a chance to see a demonstration of tree pruning and discuss spraying problems at a meeting scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday at Pontiac State Hospital.

Karl D. Bailey, district horticultural agent, will show how to prune overgrown apple trees to a size that allows them to be easily trained. He also will demonstrate training of two and five year old apple trees.

Information on pruning grapes, as well as peach and pear trees, also will be available.

Bailey and John Bray, assistant Oakland County agricultural agent, will answer questions on small fruits production, spraying and other orchard problems.

This will be the final pruning demonstration of the season.

Petunias Won't Last Through Winter Cold

Petunias, while listed as perennials, are grown as summer annuals. They are raised from seeds sown indoors in spring or outdoors as soon as the soil becomes sufficiently warm and they bloom all through the summer.

At the end of the season they are pulled up and discarded.

Start With Seedlings Grown Indoors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If you go to seed while the chill winds blow outside, the early sprout in your seed flat or flower pot will give you a bigger charge than a magnum of champagne.

Some gardners favor growing indoor seedlings for the head start as well as being able to choose a larger variety than usually available in nurserys.

With seed flats or pots, sterilized soil, and a good growing location with warmth, moisture and air ciriculation and light, you're gardening while the winter wind blows into spring.

Be guided by your regional conditions and the seed packet directions for planting time.

If you use seed flats or small boxes, sow the seed in rows. Spiral sowing is recommended for pot plantings.

To get good germination, you need quality seed, moisture, air and proper temperature. Sow seeds thinly and cover lightly with sand or sandy soil. Water well. The best way is by sub-irrigation. If you water from the top, use a fine spray.

Tiny seeds, such as petunias, should be sprinkled atop the soil, pressed into the surface and left uncovered.

Good practice after planting is to cover the soil surface with newspaper to prevent quick evaporation of moisture. The paper should be removed after the seeds start to sprout.

When the seedlings show first true leaves, transplant to larger quarters or outdoors to prevent overcrowding and disease. Before transplanting, water the bed well a few hours before the operation. Try to transplant on acloudy day for best results. Also, try to keep the soil around the roots of the seedlings. If it falls off, in transplanting, keep a mud solution handy into which to dip the roots.

A big advantage of raising your own seedlings is the variety which you can plan in your garden. Actually, for all practical purposes, it's easier to get seedlings from a nurserey to plant in the ground at the proper time.

But nurserymen have but a small variety of plants from which to choose flowers or vegetables.

There are so many interesting varieties of each species of plant that being your own nurseryman is an adventure.

Remember the limits of your garden, however. If you plan to carry a dozen tomato plants through to fruiting, you usually can buy 12 plants for about 50 or 60 cents. You're going through a lot of trouble to plant a whole seed packet in a seedflat and then give the excess away. The same theory applies to flowers.

Basic planning is the root of all good gardening practice.

MSC Name Change Keeps Solons in Stew

LANSING (AP) — College name changes continued to boil in the Michigan Legislature today.

After a slightly tense hearing yesterday on a bill to change Michigan State College to Michigan State University, the Senate Judiciary Committee decided it would not consider the bill until next Thursday. The hearing was attended by officials of MSC and the University of Michigan, which opposes the change.

Rides Bright Pink Elephant

Marilyn Stops Music at Ringling Circus

NEW YORK (AP) — The band stopped playing at Madison Square Garden Wednesday and 18,000 circus fans held their breath. Then they exploded into tumultuous applause.

It was not a tight-rope artist or a smart equestrienne that stole the show in the 1955 circus opening.

Movie queen Marilyn Monroe rode onto the sawdust arena on top of a huge elephant, painted bright pink for the occasion. She wore a specially designed black-and-white leotard (a form-fitting circus costume) and black net stockings, and blew kisses left and right.

* * *

The cavernous Garden, with its maze of ropes and guy wires suspended from the rafters, nearly shook from the ovation.

Then the band picked up again and the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey "greatest show on earth" went on.

The opening night attraction this year was the "dream circus," produced by showman Mike Todd for the benefit of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

* * *

It featured comedian Milton Berle as the ringmaster and a number of other television and film greats, led by blonde Miss Monroe on her pink elephant.

A procession of multicolored floats and glittering costumes portrayed "Celestial Calendar Cavalcade."

Notable among them was "Halloween," with actress Martha Raye riding on top of a pumpkin float. Following the float was the quintet of Charles Addams cartoon personalities, led by the eerie "Vampiria."

Artificial snow fell on the sawdust as the "Christmas" float paraded with blonde ice queen Sonja Henie sitting on a mass of white fur.

But all the regular circus standbys, some of them "for the first time in this country," were there too.

Equestriennes Marion Seifert and Ndia Houcke danced to the rhythm of carioca on their horses.

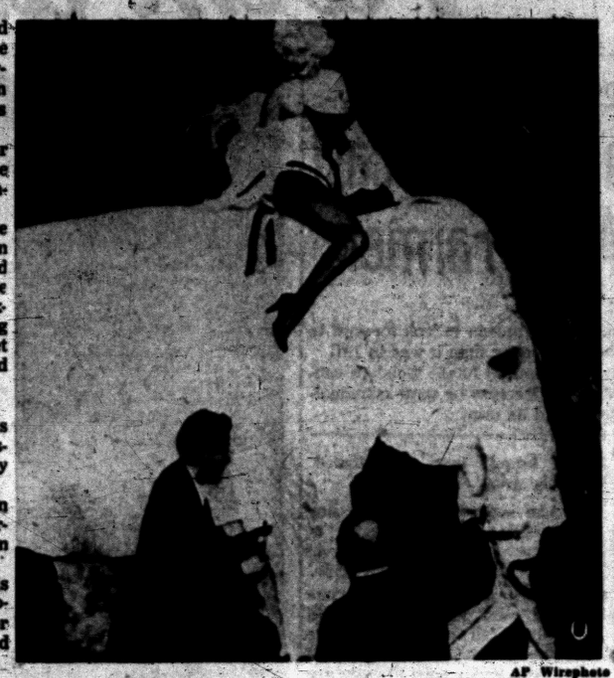

Blonde Ilonka Karolyi split the air above her mount which she brought from Belgium.

* * *

Tonito, "world's youngest forward somersaulting virtuoso," balanced precariously on the tight wire to the rhythm of a tango.

And Otto Giebling and Emmet Kelly, master clowns, went through their same acts.

The circus will stay here until May. Then, with its hundreds of performers, stagehands, animals, with its 74,000 yards of canvas, 25,000 feet of cable and 76 miles of rope, it will embark on a national tour which will probably last until December.

Reveals Cost of Fluoridation

Cooley Claims Price to Be Less Than Pack of Cigarettes a Year

Several persons have asked about the cost of fluoridation in Pontiac. Dr. Roy V. Cooley, city commissioner, has given the Press the following statement covering this question:

"Recently there have been many conflicting reports as to the cost of fluoridating our city water. Mr. Willman, our city manager, released the following information to our city commission when the plan of fluoridation was proposed.

"The amount of fluoride in the natural water supply would have to be increased 60 per cent. The current estimated cost for annual operation other than an initial investment for buildings, meters, piping changes and equipment is $14,800.

"This amount includes the cost of chemicals, labor and maintenance. In other words this cost to an average consumer would be less than a package of cigarettes.

"The cost of fluoridation of urban water was given careful consideration by the city commission before this plan was adopted. Most people however can readily appreciate the anticipated benefits not only dollar-wise but in health."

Lincoln-Mercury Plant Sets Up Second Shift

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has announced plans for a 1,000-man second shift operation at its Lincoln-Mercury plant at Metuchen, N. J.

Addition of the new shift will bring the plant work force to 3,000.

The company also said March sales of Lincoln-Mercury cars increased more than 25 per cent over those of the comparable 1954 period.

If You're Superstitious Why Not Pick Up Pins

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I don't know whether you're superstitious—but when I drop a comb, I must step on it quickly.

A very dull superstition—like picking up pins . . . though Broadway has one fascinating yarn about a superstitious fellow named Paul who picked up pins for years, finally making a big impression on the president of the company.

★ ★ ★ ★

"Pick up a pin, and you'll have good luck all day," Paul said.

Paul didn't have fancy superstitions like Broadway stars such as Janis Paige, who won't whistle in dressing rooms. (Before making a record, Gordon Jenkins always pours a glass of water over the sheet music).

Paul just picked up pins. Oh, he had a safety charm he wore on trips, and always put his right shoe on first.

Walking through the big midtown establishment where he was a clerk, Paul often paused to pick up a pin.

Nobody ever noticed. But Paul always had good luck.

★ ★ ★ ★

One morning—THE morning—the vice president noticed Paul picking up a pin. He mentioned it to the president.

Things happened! The president's secretary hustled to Paul's desk and said, smilingly, that the president wished to see him.

★ ★ ★ ★

"Paul," said the president—the vice president was there, too, to get some of the credit—"I don't think anybody else in our company was ever thrifty enough to pick up pins. How many do you suppose you've picked up in your years with us?"

"Oh, a few hundred," Paul replied.

"You're too modest!" boomed the president. "Anyway, we're sorry this went unnoticed so long. Paul, you should get something for this."

★ ★ ★ ★

Paul stammered that he didn't really want anything for it.

But the president put an arm on Paul's arm. The vice president, from the other side, put an arm on Paul's shoulder.

"Yes, sir!" exclaimed the president—and he was most emphatic—"an employe of a large jewelry store who picks up pins deserves something."

Paul got 10 to 20 years.

Steve Allen Likely to Play King of Swing

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The big problem in bringing the "The Benny Goodman Story" to the screen is getting an actor to portray Benny. Now it's practically set for Steve Allen, if he can wangle his sponsors into bringing his NBC-TV show, "Tonight," to the coast . . . and it looks favorable.

His manager, Jules Green, is in California now working out a deal with producer Aaron Rosenberg, and so far the bespectacled humorist, who is also a fine musician, is number one on the list.

With all the money made by "The Glenn Miller Story," Universal-International is spending the bankroll on this one, too.

★ ★ ★

Glenn Ford, a hot boy at MGM these days, gets another goodie in "Fearful Decision," a suspense story which has been presented twice on television on the U. S. Steel Hour and will be repeated a third time in May.

In case you didn't catch the show, scripted by Cyril Hume and Richard Maibaum, it's the story of a millionaire whose 7-year-old son is kidnapped and held for $500,000 ransom. In a daring counter move, he states that if his boy is not returned unharmed, he will double their amount and spend $1,000,000 in reward to catch the criminals.

Nicky Nayfack will produce this with Glenn who has MGM's "Interrupted Melody" and "Blackboard Jungle" to his credit.

I've been doing more reading than usual these evenings and one of the books I enjoyed the most was "The Deliverance of Sister Cecilia," the dramatic story of a nun's escape from behind the Iron Curtain.

There have been many rumors that it was sold to this and that studio, but before any motion picture company makes it, Claudette Colbert will star in it on Climax on television May 19, after she appears in "Private Worlds."

The insidious way the Communists work to stamp out religion in the countries they conquer is all brought out in this really remarkable book.

Robert Taylor and his nine-year-old stepson, Michael, met for the first time in London and it was a case of mutual admiration.

Michael has been separated from his mother, Ursula Thiess, for some years for one reason or another. First, because she couldn't get a visa for him and then he was sick and couldn't make the trip. Michael learned a welcoming speech in English with which to greet his famous stepfather.

Ursula is bringing her little boy home to Beverly Hills over the weekend, where she will await the birth of the Taylor's expected baby. Michael's sister is already here.

Bob will join his family the moment "Quentin Durward" is finished.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: At the Plymouth House, Joan Crawford was having dinner with Milton Rackmil. She said she had worn a $30,000 white mink coat all day for her picture at Columbia.

Sam Alessi, one of the owners of the Plymouth House, sang "Tik a Tee, Tik a Tay" for Joan. He has just made a record of it and it sounds like a hit.

Lex Baker planed out for Greenwich to be at the bedside of his father, socialite Alexander Crichlow, who is seriously ailing in a hospital there. From New York, he goes to the Virgin Islands for "Away All Boats." Lana Turner, busy on fittings for "Dianne," will join him later in the islands.

Start Vote Canvass on Texas Schools

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — An official canvass of the vote in the Irving election which last Saturday abolished the independent school district was set today.

After the canvass, County School Supt. L. A. Roberts will name three trustees to administer the schools as a common district.

Saturday's election was called after supporters of Dr. John L. Beard, Irving superintendent who was fired, petitioned for it. It abolished the old independent district and ousted the school board.

Petitioners will ask a new election, they said, to recreate the school district and elect a new school board.

Czech Diplomat, Kin Sheltered in Britain

LONDON, (AP)—A Czech diplomat and his family were sheltered by authorities "somewhere in Britain" today while the government pondered whether to grant them political asylum.

Richard Sedlacek, former commercial attache of Communist Czechoslovakia's legation in Damascus, Syria, arrived at London Airport last night by air from Beirut, Lebanon, with his wife and 5-year-old son. He left his Damascus post and went to Beirut early this week to ask British officials there for asylum. He told newsmen in the Lebanese capital that his country was becoming a Soviet colony and he wanted his son to grow up "in an atmosphere of freedom."

Boy, 3, Shocks Mother With Climb Over Roof

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—Tommy Foley, 3, crawled out of his second-story bedroom window onto the roof of his house. Then he made his way up to the peak of the 40-foot gable and started to crawl back down the steep roof.

"Don't move another inch," shrieked his horrified mother as she discovered her son's predicament. She called the fire department which brought the boy down, crying.

EXAMINE GIRL'S CLOTHES — A reporter questions Inspector Tom Maxon, of Detroit Police, as the officer inspects some of Barbara Gaca's clothing. The box lying on her bloodstained and ripped coat contained her rosary. Behind Maxon, a State Police trooper examines the girl's snowpants. The three are grouped beside a roped-off area around the trash pile where the victim was found.

Williams Asked to Leave House

Governor Gets Ousted During Row on Delays in Highway Talks

LANSING (AP)—The governor of Michigan was asked to leave the House of Representatives yesterday while talking to reporters in the rear of the chamber.

The affair occurred in the midst of a dispute between Gov. Williams and Rep. Emil A. Peltz (R-Rogers City) over who could be blamed for failure to meet for highway talks.

Rep. Andrew Bolt (R-Grand Rapids), assistant speaker, looked back at the group around the governor and said:

"I wish the press conference would move to the cloak room."

Williams led the group into the cloakroom, immediately behind the chamber, and finished the press conference there.

Peltz and Democrats had been bickering for days in an attempt to arrange a meeting with Peltz and Williams on the highway dispute.

The governor said he had heard that Peltz claimed settlement of the highway dispute was being delayed because the governor was too busy campaigning to meet with legislators on the issue. Peltz denied making any such statement.

"Any inference that a highway program has been delayed because legislators could not meet with me is utterly false," Williams said in a statement.

60 Millionth Visitor to TVA Is State Man

NORRIS (AP)—A retired Michigan farmer en route home from a Florida vacation visited Norris Dam today to become the 60 millionth visitor at a Tennessee Valley Authority installation.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Knapp of Blissfield, Mich., walked into the Norris Dam powerhouse at 9 a. m. TVA officials immediately notified Knapp he was the 60 millionth person to visit one of the agency's dams or steam power plants.

The authority said the figure was based on registrations plus "conservative estimates" by its public safety personnel.

TVA has opened to visitors 18 dams on the Tennessee River and its tributaries and seven steam plants either completed or under construction.

Norris Dam, on the Clinch River, is about 25 miles northwest of Knoxville.

Diem Wooing Another Enemy

South Viet Nam Chief Seeks to Bolster His Embattled Government

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Ngo Dinh Diem sought today to bolster further his embattled government by wooing another wavering leader of the private armies seeking his overthrow.

The American-supported Premier also was reported preparing to announce formation of a new nonpartisan government excluding from the Cabinet the Hoa Hao and Cao Dai religious sects, which oppose him. They have held four seats each in the present government.

Saigon passed another calm night as the Binh Xuyen society—third of the South's dissident, privately armed groups—and the government stuck to their precarious truce.

Business returned to normal in the capital today for the first time since the Binh Xuyen staged Wednesday's brief revolt that cost 26 lives. Taking advantage of the lull, Gen. Paul Ely, French commissioner general for Indochina, sought to harden the truce he had arranged into something more permanent.

Found Buried in Sand

MONTELLO, Nev. (AP)—Railroad worker William Bird reported a shack built sometime ago near a desert sand dune by Benjamin F. McGee, a 75-year-old recluse, had disappeared. Sheriff J. C. Harris went out with digging equipment and uncovered the crushed shack from under 500 tons of sand. Inside was McGee's body. The sheriff estimated he had been dead since a windstorm March 10.

Train Runs Wild

Canadiens Crush Bruins for Place in Cup Finals

MONTREAL (AP) — Polishing off the Boston Bruins 5-1 last night to wind up their Staley Cup semi-final series the Montreal Canadiens took on a mite more confidence today as they prepared to meet the powerful Detroit Red Wings in the final of hockey's annual classic.

The crippled Bruins never threatened seriously in the 5th game and the Montrealers romped along to their easiest victory in taking the series four games to one.

Jackie LeClair sparked the Montreal attack with two goals and the others were scored by Dickie Moore, Floyd Curry and Jean Beliveau. Canadiens had set up a 4-0 lead midway through the 2nd period when Lorne Ferguson counted for the Bruins.

The 1st two games of the best-of-seven final will be played in Detroit Sunday and Tuesday. Teams then move to Montreal ice for the next two games, April 7 and 9. Later dates, as necessary, have not yet been announced by the National Hockey League.

Canadiens were in command all the way last night and once they began running up the count the Bruins' hopes were shot. In the final period the Boston attack sagged to a new low and the Montrealers, adding one more goal, coasted along to an easy triumph.

LeClair opened the scoring early in the 1st period when he deflected Doug Harvey's blue line shot past Henderson, and Moore counted 11 minutes later on Beliveau's rebound from a few feet out.

Curry took Ken Mosdell's pass to make the count 3-0 at 7:55 of the 2nd period, beating Henderson with a high shot to the corner of the net. LeClair scored his 2nd goal at 11:18, whipping in a backhander on Marshall's goal-mouth pass.

Boston's single goal came at 15:52 when Ferguson gathered in Bill Quackenbush's short forward pass inside the blue line and fired a backhander that caromed into the net off the goal post.

Beliveau ended the scoring at 8:14 of the 3rd period with a screaming slapshot that went between Quackenbush's legs.

Penalties figured in two of the goals. Bruins were short Leo Labine when Moore scored Montreal's 2nd goal, and the Canadiens were minus Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion when Ferguson scored for Boston.

Entering the cup final for the 5th consecutive year, Canadiens have bettered their own record of four straight, set last season when they lost to Detroit in the deciding 7th game in overtime.

The Canadiens leave Friday night for Detroit so the players will have a full day's rest there before tackling the Red Wings. Coach Dick Irvin said he may have to reshuffle his lines, using Bert Olmstead on a penalty-killing line instead of lightweight Donnie Marshall.

Irvin's only prediction was that "the series will be tough and we will do our best."

Maurice (Rocket) Richard, suspended for his wild outburst in Boston March 13 by NHL president Clarence Campbell, made an appearance on the ice in street clothes between the 2nd and 3rd periods. He was given a tremendous ovation by the crowd of 13,594.

Richard, along with Geoffrion and Beliveau, was the recipient of a gift by a manufacturing firm.

Harris Discounts Rumors of Bosox Seeking Boone

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Manager Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers says a report published in Boston that namager Joe Cronin was trying to get Tiger 3rd baseman Ray Boone for the Red Sox is "one of those silly rumors you often hear at this time of year."

"I know nothing of an offer for Boone from Cronin or from anyone else," Harris said.

"Anyway,' he added, "we are not interested in a trade for Boone as he figures to be our best power hitter."

The report appeared yesterday in the Boston American and The Traveler.

The stories gave no details of the offer but said that Tiger officials were mulling over the deal.

Acording to the two papers the big hurdle to mount was Boone's popularity with Detroit fans. The 32-year-old right hander has been one of the best-liked players at Briggs Stadium since being dealt to Detroit in 1953 from Cleveland where he was jeered by the fans while a shortstop from 1948 until 1953.

The American reported that Cronin and Harris had a conference Wednesday.

Reportedly dangled as bait in the swap was Billy Goodman, the .310 lifetime major league hitter who is in a peculiar position with the Red Sox.

Goodman has proved a fine 1st baseman but the Sox have men available for that position in Harry Agganis and Norm Zauchin.

Detroit has only Wayne Belardi to back up Ferris Fain at 1st if Fain is kept out of play with his ailing knee.

Goodman has been playing a lot at 2nd base but some observers don't believe he has the arm to handle outfield relays and doubleplays.

Boone, a strong hitter, has batted over .300 in his major league career at Boston's Fenway Park with its inviting left field wall. His overall average, however, is .274.

Continued worry over whether slugger Ted Williams will return to play another year with the Sox and the need for more righthand hitting are said to be major factors in the reported offer.

State Solons Attack Horse Racing Setup

Wagering, Non-Profit Corporations Hit by Smith, Morris

LANSING (AP) — Horse racing came under fire from two directions in the Senate today.

Sen. Donald E. Smith (R-Owosso) said he would introduce legislation to outlaw parimutuel betting on horse races.

"I'm sick and tired," Smith said, "of the states hypocrisy. The state takes millions of dollars from horse race gambling, but won't let a veteran's club conduct a bingo game or a raffle."

Smith said he notified the Senate State Affairs Committee that if it reports out a race track bill now before it he will try to tack the gambling ban to it.

The bill before the committee would reduce the number of race tracks in the Metropolitan Detroit area from four to three.

At the same time, Sen. Carlson H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) filed a bill to deny a race track license to any non-profit corporation which is entitled to exemption from state taxes, or to any applicant who proposes to operate a race track for the benefit of such a corporation.

This was aimed at an announcement that the Michigan Racing Association plans to lease its track in Livonia to a youth charity organization and then operate racing for a fee.

Cranbrook Bows for 5th Time on Southern Trip

Cranbrook's baseball team suffered the 4th defeat of its current southern tour as against two victories Thursday as Danville High School of Danville administered a 12-1 lacing.

Crane pitchers Pete Bedford and Dave Campbell yielded 11 hits and issued 9 walks as the Virginia club grabbed a 7-0 lead in the 1st three innings and coasted home.

Bosox Option Seven Players, Start North

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — One of the last acts of the Boston Red Sox before breaking camp to head north was to option seven players to their Louisville farm club.

The Sox start a barnstorming trip tomorrow ending with an April 10 pre-season exhibition with the world champion New York Giants at Fenway Park.

Outfielders Neil Chrisley and Al Van Alstyne, third baseman Frank Malzone and pitchers Truman Clevenger, Al Schroll, Al Curtis and Joe Trimble were sent to Louisville.

85 Others Hopeful

Five Champions Remain in AAU Wrestling Test

AMITYVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—One defending champion and four other ex-titleholders were still in running for National AAU wrestling titles today but so were 85 others of the original field of 101.

Two sessions of grappling at the Amityville Memorial high school yesterday eliminated only 11 of the original field of 101. The competition is being conducted on the bad mark system which permits a contestant to remain in the tourney until he has accumulated five bad points. Three are given for a defeat and one for a victory by decision. The only way a competitor can escape being charged with a bad mark is to pin his man.

Bill Kerslake, 289-pounder from Cleveland, opens defense of his heavyweight crown today after drawing a bye yesterday. He's favored over six rivals to become the first wrestler in history to win both the freestyle and Greco-Roman three straight years. The Greco-Roman competition is scheduled for Sunday.

Ex-titleholders who'll continue in today's competition include George Creason, unbeaten Syracuse freshman who won the 114.5-pound title at the age of 17 while a junior at nearby Mempham High School. He's seeking the 125.5 title as a representative of the Long Island Grapplers.

Newt Copple, Lincoln, Neb., used car dealer wrestling for the New York A.C. is after the 147.5 title after carrying off top honors in '48, '52 and '53.

Jim Sinadinos, Michigan State sophomore who won the 136.5 pound championship in 1953, is one of the two wrestlers in his division with a perfect mark. He won two matches by falls yesterday as did Motoichi Motohashi, Japanese star.

Dr. Melvin Northrup, 47-year-old San Francisco Olympic Club representative, is after his fourth title. He pinned his only opponent yesterday in the 160.5-pound division.

Packers Sign McCants, Former Lion 'Draftee'

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Towering defensive tackle Howard McCants, the Detroit Lions' 4th choice in the 1954 draft, has been signed by the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

McCants, who at 6-feet-8½ is one of the tallest men in pro football, was a three sport star at Washington State College.

After being drafted by Detroit last year he went to Canada to play with the Toronto Alouettes. He was released by Toronto last September and then also released by Detroit on waivers.

Vernor Area Expected to Be Park Lands Soon

The James Vernor estate north of Lapeer is not yet public land, but will almost certainly be open to public use in a few months, conservation department reports.

Probate court of Oakland county approved state purchase of the 3350-acre tract last week. However, until final legal arrangements are worked out, the land remains as private property and is not open to public use.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) The 14-year-old daughter of a nine-times national champion shared honors with three other young titlists crowned in the National Figure Skating Championships last night.

Pert Maribel Y. Owen teamed with Charles Foster, 20, of Boston, to capture the junior pairs title with a three-minute free skating performance on the Broadmoor ice.

Other titlists are Carol Wanke, 14, New York City, in the novice women's division, and Jim Short, 17, Los Angeles, in the novice men's class.

Tenley Albright of Boston and Robert Lee Brewer of Pasadena, Calif., took early leads in Senior Women's and Junior Men's competition. Finals in both events will be held tonight.

Women's Sweeping Skill Handy for Curling Game

BOSTON (AP) — There are times when some women much prefer using a broom to a vacuum cleaner.

Such a case occurred when women from several states came here to show their highly developed broom sweeping skill. They were members of teams playing in the women's national curling championships.

The ancient Scottish game requires broom wielders to ease the flight of a polished stone over ice into a scoring circle.

Gordon Beats Salas

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Jordan of Los Angeles, 134½, successfully defended his California lightweight championship last night against Lauro Salas, Los Angeles, 127¾. Jordan gained a split decision at the end of 12 rounds at the Olympic Auditorium before 7,000 fans.

Adams Is Glad Wings' Foe Is Montreal Club

Says Detroit Sure to Be 'Up' for Canadien Series

DETROIT (UP)—Manager Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings said today he's glad his team will oppose the Montreal Canadiens for the Stanley Cup and he wasn't April fooling.

The Canadiens qualified to meet the Red Wings in the best-of-seven championship series starting Sunday night at Olympia by downing the Boston Bruins, 5-1, last night.

"We always get up better for the Canadiens than for any other team," Adams said. "and there won't be any chance for overconfidence with Montreal as our opponent."

Finish of the Montreal - Boston semi-final series brought to a halt a brief Red Wing vacation. Detroit earned an extra two days of rest by polishing off the Toronto Maple Leafs in the minimum four games while the Canadiens needed five to dispose of the Bruins.

Adams assembled his Red Wings at Olympia today for a short workout. The team was to travel to a Toledo hideout following the drill, where they will await Sunday's opener of the championship round. Detroit also will host the 2nd game Tuesday night.

The Red Wings will carry a 13-game winning streak into the series with the Canadiens, only one short of the National Hockey League record of 14 straight victories posted by the Bruins a quarter of a century ago.

However, the Red Wings expect a much tougher time from the Canadiens than they had with the Maple Leafs in the semi-finals.

Montreal was Detroit's most troublesome regular season opponent. The teams split 14 games, each winning four at home and three on the road.

Irish Setter Field Trial at Highland Area

Irish Setter Club of Michigan will again hold its annual licensed spring field trial for Irish setters, Sunday, April 17 at the Highland Recreation Area.

Entries close Friday, April 15. Judges for the event are Cash C. Patterson and Norm Ellis.

For further information owners may contact Fred Tetreau, chairman, at Farmington 0743W or Mrs. Thomas S. Moffat, secretary, ORlando 3-6163 in Pontiac.

Next regular meeting of the club will be held at the VFW Hall in Hazel Park, April 14. Following the business session a "white elephant" sale is planned for the evening program. Owners, or those interested in Irish setters are invited to attend the 8:30 p.m. meeting.

Cubs Like Arizona

MESA, Ariz., March 30 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs today renewed their option to hold spring training in Mesa in 1956 and signed a new pact extending the option on the Rendezvous Park site through 1961.

GOP, Democrat Baseballers Train for Annual Contest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress members are ready to take up where major leaguers left off in Florida spring baseball training.

Sixty-two members who hope to play in the annual game between Democrats and Republicans move into Daytona Beach, Fla., this weekend for six days practice during the Easter recess of Congress. The game will be played in Washington June 7.

Wives and children are going along. They'll make the total count 208.

The game is a five-inning affair. It is played in Griffith Stadium, home of the Washington Senators of the American League. There's a lot of other fanfare on the side.

The Republicans never have won.

At Daytona Beach, the congressmen and their families will be the guests of the Daytona Beach Chamber of Commerce which picks up the tabs for food and lodging.

Michigan congressmen making the training trip are Democrat Lesinski and Republican Cederberg.

Breen Wins 1,500-Meter

Ford Konno, Michigan's Jack Wardrop to Tangle in AAU 220-Yard Free Style

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Picking up from where they left off in the National Collegiates last week, Ford Konno, Ohio State's powerhouse from Hawaii and Jack Wardrop, Michigan's Scot, battle it out today for the 220-yard freestyle title in the National AAU men's indoor swimming championships.

* * *

Konno is the defending champion; but Wardrop has licked him in both the Big Ten and National Collegiate (NCAA) meets, and is favored to score a grand slam tonight, perhaps in world record time.

The 20-year-old Wardrop posted a 2:03.4 on March 4 at Columbus, Ohio, bettering Konno's listed international mark of 2:04.7 registered Feb. 27, 1954 in the same pool.

* * *

They'll both be in top physical shape. Both passed up the 1,500-meter grind which opened the three-day meet last night. In Konno's case, it meant sacrificing the defense of one of the three titles he won here in 1954 to protect his 220-yard spring crown.

Wardrop is also entered in the individual medley today, another event in which he specializes and is the world's champ. Jackie won in the world record time of 4:41.7 here a year ago. Since then he has been clocked in 4:41.

* * *

The meet got off to a good start last night when George Breen of Cortland (N.Y.) State Teachers added the National AAU 1,500-meter title to his Eastern crown. The 19-year-old Buffalo, N.Y. lad, turning his fastest equivalent to the metric mile, splashed across the finish line in 18:52.4.

In addition to the 220-yard spring and the 400-yard individual medley, four other events are scheduled today, with trials this afternoon and the finals tonight.

* * *

They are the 220-yard breaststroke in which Dick Fadgen of Woonsocket, R.I., and North Carolina State is the defending champion; 100-yard backstroke, with Oyakawa of Ohio State and Hawaii, the favorite to repeat his 1954 success; the 400-yard freestyle relay and the one-meter dive.

Sparrow, Barkeley Listed With Top College Cagers

Final major college basketball statistics, released this week by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, show two former Pontiac High School athletes high among the list for season individual performers.

Guy Sparrow, who concluded a brilliant career at the University of Detroit, ranked 29th on the individual scoring list with 600 points in 26 games for a 23.1 average. A total of 62 players in the country averaged 20 or more points per game.

Sparrow ranked 10th in average rebounds per game with 18.8 on a total of 489 rebounds. However, in the percentage list, Sparrow took 21.8 per cent of all rebounds in the games in which he appeared to rank 4th in the nation behind Charley Slack of Marshall, All-America Bill Russell of San Francisco and 7-footer Don Boldebuck of Houston.

Alan Barkeley, who still has another season eligibility at Western Michigan College was high among the leaders in free throw accuracy. He made 127 out of 161 attempts for an excellent 78.9 per cent. The leader was Scott of West Texas at 89.5 per cent.

Three players averaged over 30 points per game to lead the nation including Darrell Floyd of Furman (35.9), Buzz Wilkinson of Virginia (32.1) and Robin Freeman of Ohio State (31.5).

Off-Season Jobs Lure Dublinski and Mains

TORONTO (UP) — Promise of good jobs during the off season was Toronto's "ace in the hole" which prompted quarterback Tom Dublinski and tackle Gil Mains to bolt the Detroit Lions.

Both Dublinski and Mains admitted they received a larger salary for signing with the Toronto Argonauts but doubted they would have made the jump if off-season employment hadn't been included in the package offer.

HARD LUCK — Pitcher Bobby Shantz, the most valuable player in the American League during 1952, was hit on the head by a line drive and carried from the field during a Kansas City A's spring practice game at West Palm Beach, Fla. This is the 2nd time in the past three years that the tiny southpaw has been injured.

Reports From Training Camps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—Manager Lou Boudreau received encouragement yesterday from the Kansas City A's two top southpaw pitchers.

Alex Kellner cut loose with his fast ball for the 1st time this spring and Bobby Shantz returned to action after being hit in the head by a batted ball Tuesday. Boudreau has been counting on both to overcome arm ailments that cut their effectiveness last season.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Hank Sauer, Chicago Cubs 36-year-old power hitter, says he feels like a rookie now that he is back in his familiar left field position.

Sauer also is doing all right at the plate, driving in 10 runs, clouting two homers and clicking for a .303 average in nine games.

NEW ORLEANS—Virgil Trucks and Sandy Consuegra will be the Chicago White Sox pitchers for both road and home openers, manager Marty Marion said today.

Trucks will hurl the season inaugural at Cleveland April 12 and Sandy will face the Kansas City A's in the Sox home opened at Comiskey Park April 14.

Marion also said that Al Brazle, veteran St. Louis Cardinal pitcher who was signed by the Sox as a free agent and then released this week, had been placed with Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League.

HOUSTON, Tex. — Cleveland Indin ppitchrs have been giving up in clusters, big clusters. But coach Mel Harder is not alarmed. He expects his staff to look bad at first.

Why? Because he does not allow them to throw curves or "freak" pitches until their arms get stronger. "Our pitchers," he explains, are "basically fast ball pitchers."

Because exhibition game batters are not "ready for freak pitches or breaking stuff yet." he believes his club could win with them.

Ft. Wayne Boy Aids Nats Against Pistons

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Syracuse Nationals used a Fort Wayne boy to turn their home-court whammy on the Pistons and take a first-game lead in the National Basketball Assn. championship best-of-7 playoff.

Syracuse was struggling to overcome a 75-71 deficit in last night's tension-packed fray when young Dick Farley, who lives in Fort Wayne, sank a rebound and netted two foul shots to spark the Nats to an 86-82 victory.

No April Fool Joke About Way Pros Blast Par

Maxwell, Haas at Top in Wilmington Test; 32 Break 72

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Today is April Fool's day but there was no kidding about the going manner in which the touring golf professionals rolled out their big guns for another assault on par in the 2nd round of the Azalea Open Golf tournament.

Billy Maxwell, 25, chubby 1951 National Amateur champion from Odessa, Tex., and Fred Haas, 39-year-old one-time national intercollegiate champion from Claremont, Calif., were the big bombers in yesterday's opening round that saw par 72 for the 6,795-yard Cape Fear Country Club course bettered by 32 players and matched by eight others.

Maxwell and Haas shared the 1st day lead at 65 in the chase for top money of $2,200 in this four-day $12,500 event, but they couldn't afford to relax.

Pressing them were eight 1st day 69 shooters, nine who posted 70 and eight others with 71.

Sharing the interest with the feats of the top two were a hole in one by Gene Littler, 1953 amateur king from Palm Springs, Calif., and a double eagle by Ted Kroll of Utica, N. Y., who is fighting to get the berth still open in next week's Augusta, Ga., Masters tournament.

Two shots behind Maxwell and Haas at 67 were Jim Turnesa, Briarcliff, N. Y.; Mike Souchak, Durham, N. C.; the year's No. 1 money winner with about $11,000; Jack Fleck, Davenport, Iowa, and Doug Ford, Kiamesha Lake, N. Y.

The eight men at 69, four off the pace and a shot behind Littler, included U. S. Open champ Ed Furgol of St. Louis and Eric Monti of Los Angeles, winner of the Miami beach Open Sunday.

Vejar, Graham in TV Rematch

Billy Near Retirement, Chico Hopes to Move Towards Title

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Young, ambitious Chico Vejar has another 10-round date tonight with Billy Graham, the ring veteran who once almost had within his grasp the world welterweight championship Chico yearns for.

The bout will be telecast and broadcast by NBC at 10 p.m. EST.

It was five years ago that Graham, after working his way into a shot against Kid Gavilan for the title, missed the crown in an explosive, controversial split decision.

That's when Graham was in his prime. Now he's 32, slow and balding, trying to convince himself he'll quit after just one more. He had retirement in mind before he met Vejar March 4 in Madison Square Garden.

Chico won that one, in another split decision, but Graham decided he wanted more.

Indoor Pro Net Tests Reach Semi-Final Stage

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dick Gonzales, Francisco Segura, Carl Earn and Frank Kovacs move into the semifinals of the Indoor Pro Tennis Championships here tonight.

Top-seeded Gonzales of Los Angeles, seeking his third straight triumph in the annual Cleveland event, drew a first-round bye last night then defeated Frank Parker of Evanston, Ill., 21-15, 21-13. The tournament is being scored like table tennis—single service, 21-point sets and switch of service every five points.

Giants Try Hearn Today

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The New York Giants, jolted as Cleveland clubbed Sal Maglie for 8 runs and 10 hits in 3 1-3 innings yesterday, will start with Jim Hearn against the Tribe today. Hearn currently is Manager Leo Durocher's No. 4 choice off his comeback this spring.

Lopata's Hitting OK

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The hitting of Stan Lopata, the Phillies veteran catcher, hasn't been affected by the experiment which has him playing left field in exhibition games.

Lopata, now wearing eyeglasses and sporting a new batting stance, banged out three hits yesterday as the Phillies lost to the Boston Red Sox, 6-4. Afield he played errorless ball.

Air of Finesse Covers Exhibition Tilts

The Associated Press

Exhibition baseball almost had the air of championship competition about it yesterday, what with managers giving strategy a good workout and pinch hitters and relief pitchers getting the spotlight.

* * *

Four of the games were decided by one run, including a 3-2 decision by the Milwaukee Braves over the Brooklyn Dodgers as rookie Al Facchini broke up a 2-2 tie between the two National league contenders with a pinch single in the eighth.

With less than two weeks remaining before opening day, there was only one game that had more wallop than finesse. That was a 14-11 comedy won from the world champion New York Giants by the Cleveland Indians. Among other things, there were 18 ground-rule doubles, caused by an overflow San Antonio crowd of 11,649, and a short skirmish in which Umpire Lon Warneke, onetime Gas House Gang pitcher, pushed a local peace officer off the field.

* * *

Brooklyn and Milwaukee were neck and neck until Facchini, up from Corpus Christi of the Big State League, dropped his shot into left with the bases jammed. The hit came off Tom LaSorda who came on after Ron Negray had walked three with one out. LaSorda, a lefty, fanned pinch hitter Andy Pafko before running into Facchini.

* * *

Mickey Vernon lined a two-out pinch single in the eighth to score the winning run in Washington's 4-3 triumph over Cincinnati.

Lino Donoso, a left-handed reliefer, got the job done for Pittsburgh in a 6-5 success against Baltimore by fanning Hal Smith with the bases full in the ninth.

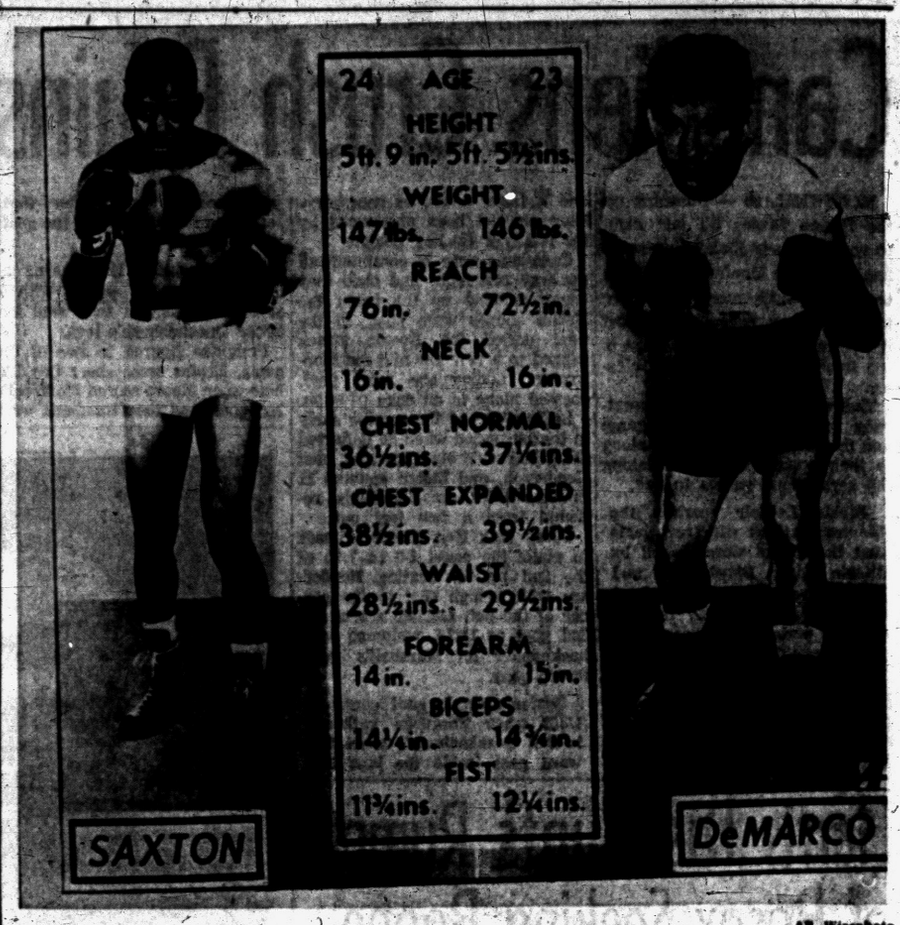

Bob Tiefenauer pulled a similar pitching trick for the St. Louis Cardinals, working out of a jam with his knuckler after the Chicago White Sox had loaded the bases with none out in the eighth. Rip Repulski's 10th-inning single gave it to the Cards 3-2.

The Red Sox ganged up on Rookie Jack Meyer for all the runs during the first six innings against the Philadelphia Phillies before veteran Murry Dickson set down nine Boston batters in the final three frames. Boston won 6-4.

The Giants and Indians each had 9 of the 18 automatic two-base hits in their 25-hit slugfest that also had five errors. Cleveland clubbed Sal Maglie for eight runs and 10 hits in 3 1-3 innings. Ralph Kiner hit a two-run homer for the Tribe. Willie Mays and Al Dark did the same for New York.

* * *

The crowd caused Umpire Ed Runge to rule interference in calling a Giants fly an out in the eighth. That led to an argument between Runge and manager Leo Durocher of the Giants. And when the cop tried to butt in, Warneke pushed him out.

Nats Count on Sievers to Supply Homer Punch

WARE SHOALS, N. C. (INS) — The Washington Senators are banking today on Roy Sievers, a weak-armed outfielder but a brute at bat, to be their "muscle" man this season.

Despite the fact that Sievers compiled a feeble .232 batting average last season, the Senators are convinced that it will be up to him to provide their long ball punch on a club that isn't distinguished for home run hitters.

There is justification for the belief. Sievers last year blasted 24 home runs to set a new Washington record and was one of seven American League sluggers to swat in 100 runs or more.

His home run record was even more noteworthy because of the fact that the 28-year-old St. Louis native was swinging away in a home park where he was confronted with a left field wall 388 feet away.

Sievers himself is optimistic that he can fatten his batting average this year. He concedes he was going for bad pitches last season when he struck out 76 times — a mark only exceeded by Cleveland's Larry Doby and New York's Mickey Mantle.

He also contends that he can overcome the disadvantage of his widely-advertised poor throwing arm. Sievers explains it this way: "I know I'm not going to throw many runners out but I try to make up for the bad arm by charging ground balls and getting my throws away quicker. Toward the end of the season last year, they weren't running on me."

Old Cuts Important

Resistance to Bleeding May Decide DeMarcos Chances at Welter Crown

BOSTON (AP) — Tony DeMarco's chances of winning the welterweight boxing title from champion Johnny Saxton tonight depend largely on whether the local slugger can prove he's not a bleeder.

The healed knot of cartilage over DeMarco's left eye and the chin a sparmate cut last December could be decisive in the 15-round battle for the 147-pound crown.

The Boston Garden fight will not be televised or broadcast.

DeMarco, No. 3 challenger, has escaped eye cuts in his past five bouts covering 32 rounds. But in his warmups for a schedued December meeting with Joe Miceli, he was gashed along the ridge of his chin and the fight was canceled.

Since then he's had a 10-round nontitle draw with lightweight champion Jimmy Carter, from which he escaped unscathed.

Paddy Demarco opened a cut over Tony's left eyebrow in October 1953, which Wilbur Wilson and Carlos Chavez resliced. Stitches were required in each case. Tony has been unbeaten in 16 bouts over the past 21 months but the cuts have given him some bad moments.

Of four setbacks in DeMarco's 43-fight professional career, two came on technical knockouts because of bleeding.

"They tell me he cuts easily and bleeds pretty freely," Saxton said with more than passing interest when he arrived in town.

But DeMarco's manager Rip Valenti says those days are gone:

"Sure Tony got cut but he's learned a little about defending good fighters have been cut early in their careers but after they learned a litle about defending themselves they never got cut again."

* * *

It will be the first title defense for Saxton, the 24-year-old New York Negro, since winning the championship from Kid Gavilan in Philadelphia last October. His two intervening engagements were a split decision over Ramon Fuentes and a loss to Middleweight Ron Delaney.

Odds range from 12-5 to 2-1 on the champion only a week after they had been 6-5 and pick 'em.

Babe Joins Brother

HALLANDALE, Fla. (AP) — Ira (Babe) Hanford, recently retired from the jockey ranks to become an owner and trainer, is planning to join forces with his brother, Carl, at the end of the Florida racing season. They will race under the name of Hanford Brothers.

State 'Recovers' Marl Hit-Lake

LANSING — Michigan may have found the answer to its increasing problem of fishless, marl-bottom lakes.

Marl is a grayish earth material of heavy lime content. Where the water chemistry of a lake shifts so marl begins to develop, all vegetation is soon smothered. Such lakes become fish deserts. An estimated 10 per cent of the lakes in southern Michigan are in some stage of marl development and the problem is increasing.

But conservation department research shows that the solution might lie in underwater farming.

Institute for fisheries research workers started a test on North Lake, the Rifle River area, in 1953. The lake bed was marled over and supported little fish life.

Gunny sacks filled with peat moss, underwater plant seeds and other "anti-marl" materials were placed in patches around the floor of the lake. Soon, seeds in the sacks began to sprout.

The crucial test came the next year, but the underwater farm plots came through with flying colors. The plants not only survived but produced seeds and began to spread their roots through the marl. In this sort of lively community, fish could once again take hold.

This year, a full-dress test of the experiment will be made in Fish Lake 10 miles southwest of Hastings. About 2000-3000 bags of anti-marl fertilizers and seeds will be placed in the lake, the work to start in mid-April.

Complacency Gone, Yanks Picked as AL Champs

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Despite Cleveland's record-breaking 111 victories in 1954 and the addition of Ralph Kiner, the sobered New York Yankees will bounce back to win the American League pennant in this writers' opinion.

The Yankee "complacency" of a year ago, given as the reason for Vic Raschi's sale, is conspicuous by its absence. The shock of missing plush World Series checks, plus the Indians' four-day "swoon" against the New York Giants gave the Yanks food for thought during the long winter months.

Not that "complacency" caused the Yanks' defeat. Cleveland's solid pitching staff with Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia and the fine hitting of Larry Doby and Bobby Avila exploded the Yanks' dreams of a sixth straight pennant.

* * *

During the off-season, the Yanks acquired Bob Turley, the league strikeout king, from Baltimore in that nine-for-nine deal. Although Turley has been wild in the exhibitions, it still is possible that this swap will win the 1955 championship for the Yanks.

Manager Casey Stengel now has a rebuilt pitching "Big Three" of Whitey Ford, Bob Grim and Turley with a potential "sleeper" in Johnny Kucks, a lanky young right-hander just back from the Army. Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle are the nucleus of the club with powerful Bill Skowron at first base ready to move toward stardom. Shortstop is Stengel's main problem with Billy Hunter, Gerry Coleman and Phil Rizzuto available.

It should be a close race with New York and Cleveland running one-two or two-one all the way. The Tribe has solid power in Al Rosen, Vic Wertz, Doby and Kiner. They have added Herb Score, the sensational young lefty from Indianapolis, to their strong pitching staff. Still the club is just ordinary defensively and slow.

The race between New York and Cleveland probably will come down once more to their ability to beat the second division clubs. Last season, the Indians massacred everybody except the Yanks and Chicago White Sox. They broke even in the season series with the Yanks and Sox to account for 22 of their 43 defeats. Boston won only two games of 22 from Cleveland and didn't beat them once at Fenway Park. Baltimore took only three from the Tribe and Washington and Philadelphia (now Kansas City) only four each.

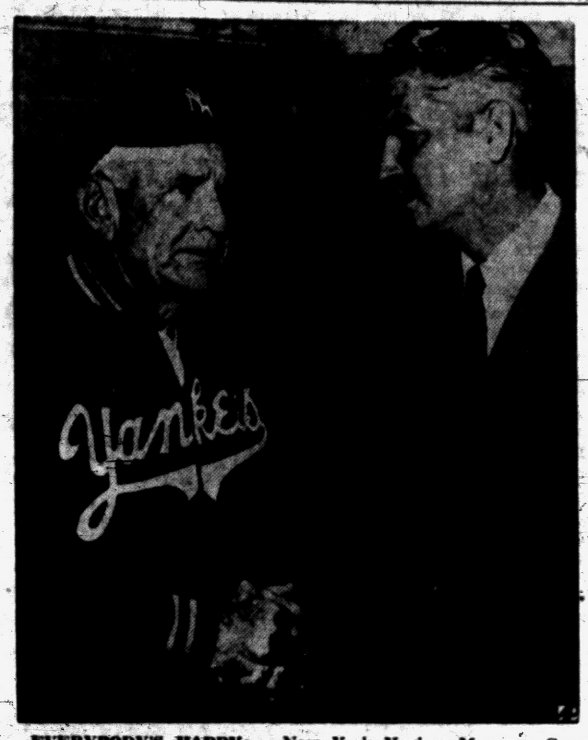

* * *

Although Marty Marion, one of six new managers in the league, talks of his White Sox winning, they look like a third-place club which will need terrific seasons by Virgil Trucks and Billy Pierce and some lusty slugging by Walt Dropo and Minnie Minoso to challenge.

Detroit and Boston, both rebuilding with youngsters, should fight it out for fourth, followed by Washington, Baltimore and Kansas City.

Here's the way it looks from here, barring trades and injuries, before opening day:

1. New York
2. Cleveland
3. Chicago
4. Detroit
5. Boston
6. Washington
7. Baltimore
8. Kansas City

EVERYBODY'S HAPPY — New York Yankee Manager Casey Stengel and St. Petersburg Independent photographer Branan Sanders shake hands at St. Petersburg, March 28 ending the rhubarb over the recent exhibition game incident. Stengel expressed regret and Sanders agreed to withdraw charges of assault and use of obscene language.

White Skies Is Favorite as NY Turn Season Starts

NEW YORK (AP) — Racing fans flocked back to Jamaica today as the 196-day New York thoroughbred season got under way, with 14 horses entered in the $25,000-added Paumonok Handicap, one of the country's greatest tests for sprinters.

* * *

Probable favorite for the 6-furlong dash is William M. Wickham's White Skies, 1954 champion sprinter, who won the Paumonok a year ago, and never has lost a stakes race at Jamaica. The sprint star has won seven consecutive New York stake races.

White Skies, now a 6-year-old, hasn't raced since last July 5 when he copped the $62,000 Carter Handicap at Aqueduct. He'll have to display all of his oldtime brilliance, for there is some pretty speedy opposition in today's lineup.

* * *

Furthermore, White Skies must carry 130 pounds, the same as last year when Eddie Arcaro just managed to get him under the wire for a nose victory over Laffango. Arcaro will be aboard again, seeking his fifth Paumonok victory, which would tie him with the late La Verne Fator for the greatest number of victories in this traditional opening day event.

Next in the weights, and probable second choice in the wagering, is Maurice Sims' Blessbull, with 119 pounds. Blessbull won the Inaugural and Palm Beach Handicaps at Hialeah, and finished second to Ezio in the Lincoln Downs Inaugural Handicap March 5. He will be ridden by Jack Skelly.

* * *

The famed Calumet Farm, which hasn't raced in New York since 1952, has entered Mark-Ye-Well, 118. C. V. Whitney's Cold Command, who finished third in last year's Paumonok, tries again under 113 pounds.

Others entered are Beau Gar, 107; the E. M. O'Brien entry of Galdar, 105, and Brisuet, 108; King Ranch's On Your Own, 106; Duc De Fer, 115; Bobby Brocato, 113; Full Flight, 113; Bold Man, 110; Revolt, 110; and Lotus Eater, 107.

Courtney's Play Marks Chisox' Training Work

Lane Calls Spirited Performance 'The One Bright Spot'

TAMPA (AP)—The brightest spot in the Chicago White Sox picture this spring, says General Manager Frank Lane, has been the spirited play of Clint Courtney, the bespectacled and belligerent catcher he picked up during the winter in one of his multiplayer deals with the Baltimore Orioles.

It was thought for a time, with some reason, that Lane acquired Courtney strictly as trading material, inasmuch as the Sox already had an established catcher in Sherm Lollar, but it is evident that he has no such thought now. The stubby backstop from Louisiana, finally given a chance to play with a contender, is making the most of the opportunity.

"I'd say he is the one bright spot of the whole training season," Lane said. "He's made several plays that my manager Marty Marion says were as great as any he ever saw. In fact, Marty tells me that if I can get him a whole club of Courtneys and Jim Riveras he'll promise me a pennant. He says if you had nine who played the game as hard as they do, some of them couldn't help being great."

As it happens, Courtney and Rivera were the special pride and joy of Rogers Hornsby when the Rajah, now apparently washed up for good in the big show, was managing in the minors. Courtney knocked in 79 runs for him at Beaumont in 1950 and employed his ready fists to help maintain discipline on the club.

The following season Rivera played the outfield for Hornsby at Seattle and led the Coast League with a hitting mark of .352 while stealing 33 bases. Hornsby said, after the Sox bought Rivera for $65,000, that he was the only player in the game today whom he would be willing to pay his way in to see.

Jim hasn't quite lived up to that flowery notice, but he remains one of the principal cogs in the White Sox machine and both Lane and Marion feel this could be the year he attains real stardom.

MSC Matman Wins 1st Match in AAU Event

AMITYVILLE, N. Y. (UP) — Four former national champions, including one from Michigan State led the way into the 2nd day of freestyle competition today in the National AAU wrestling championships.

Jim Sinadinos, a Michigan State sophomore, and Dr. Melvin Northrup of San Francisco each turned in impressive victories in yesterday's opening matches. Sinadinos, who won the 136.5-pound title in 1953, pinned Ed Maloney of the Boston YMCA in 3:50 with a headlock, and Northrup, a former three-time champion, pinned Ralph Doherty of New York at 4:07 with an iron cross.

Booth Gets Letter

Cadet Dan Booth, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Booth, 4901 Commerce Road, Pontiac, was awarded an intramural basketball letter at Wentworth Military Academy for the past season, it was announced by Capt. John Readecker, athletic director.

Breen Letter Winner

Probably the first Pontiac boy ever to win a major college foils letter, Gerald Breen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Breen, today was listed with five others from Michigan State college. Gerald took part in the recent national fencing tournament at East Lansing.

U. of M. Keeps Track of Its Grid Leaders

ANN ARBOR — If you ever wonder what happens to University of Michigan football captains when their competition is over — here's a brief rundown on the most recent ones, plus the current leader: 1951 captain Bill Putich, now in the service, is a business school graduate who plans to re-enter the insurance field; Merritt Green, 1952 leader, is nearing completion of his law school course; Captain Dick O'Shaughnessy of the 1953 team is in the medical school and 1954 leader Ted Cachey plans to enter the law college in the fall. Ed Meads, 1955 captain, is planning to enter the dental college.

Neighborhood Boys

NEW YORK — Pitchers Johnny Antonelli and Sal Maglie are the only front-line members of the New York Giants who were born in that state. Both come from the northern patr of the state.

2 Area Cagers Win UM Frosh Numerals

Two Oakland County area cagers were among the basketball award winners named recently at University of Michigan.

Winning freshman numerals were Howard Christie of Birmingham and Robert McKeough of Romeo. Nineteen other freshmen were honored. Among 9 varsity letter winners was Ron Kramer of East Detroit.

Collegians Set New Record for Scoring, Cut Foul Total

NEW YORK (AP) — With the aid of the "bonus" free throw — or perhaps because of it—college basketball scoring hit its all-time high during the 1954-55 season and fouling dipped to its lowest level in six seasons.

Final NCAA Service Bureau statistics for major college basketball, released today, showed an average two-team total of 145.3 points a game during the past season and an average of 37.8 fouls called in each game.

The previous scoring high was 138.0 points a game in 1953. Last year the figure dropped to 137.9, the first decrease since the center jump was eliminated in 1938. The all-time low in personal fouls was 36.9 a game in 1948 and the high 44.9 in 1952.

New records for shooting accuracy also were set as the major college players made 36.9 per cent of their field goal attempts and 66.5 per cent of their free throws, as compared to 35.4 and 65.2 last year.

For the third straight year, Furman won the team scoring championship with its third record-breaking feat. The Paladins, first major college team to reach the 90-point level for a full season with 90.2 in 1953, raised that mark to 91.7 last year and to 95.3 during the past season. Connecticut also broke the 90-point barrier with 90.1 for 25 games.

San Francisco, the National Collegiate champion, won the defensive title, allowing an average of only 52.1 points a game in 29 contests, including the NCAA tournament. Oklahoma A&M, top defensive team in 15 of the past 19 seasons, finished with a 53.3 allowance.

George Washington and Wake Forest filed new records for field goal and free throw accuracy. George Washington hit 47.6 per cent on free throws was the best of four marks which beat the old record of 73.0 by Texas in 1948.

Spartan Nine Loses to Wake Forest Team

WAKE FOREST, N.C. (AP)—Wake Forest collected four runs in the first inning and added another in the 4th yesterday to hand Michigan State College its 2nd loss, 5-4, in seven exhibition baseball games.

MSC's Chuck Mathews knocked a solo home run in the 3rd inning. The Spartans picked up their remaining runs in the 5th inning on two walks, a triple by George Smith and asingle by John Matsock.

Spartans were to play camp Le Jeune Marine Base today.

Detroit Bowlers Take 2nd Place in ABC Tournament

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Michigan and Indiana bowlers took the spotlight in yesterday's shooting in the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

A Detroit team, led by Joe Morys, just missed taking the lead in the open division and moved into second place with 3,012, three pins behind the front-ranking Howard Clothes of St. Paul, Minn. The Motor City team posted games of 1,025, 1,036 and 951.

Morys' 718 series topped the Detail Tool and Machine Co. team's total with games of 208, 288 and 222. His 288 was the highest single game in team competition in the tournament, and his series total was the second 700-plus since firing started last Saturday.

In addition to the second-place change, the Copp Music Center team of South Bend, Ind., rolled into third place with a 2,959 score. The South Bend club gained impetus from Mike Pasalich's 277 opening game. Pasalich started with nine straight strikes, spared and then picked up another strike.

Vautherot's Insurance, also of Detroit, got started a little late or it might have passed everybody. The team shot a blistering 1,081 final game, highest of the tournament to date, after opening with scores of 884 and 974.

Evers Compiles Amazing .500 Mark at Plate

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Hoot Evers, aging Oriole outfielder of whom the Red Sox, Giants and Tigers despaired last season, is the leading Baltimore hitter in 32 exhibition games with an amazing .500 batting mark.

The 34-year-old Evers, who hasn't had a really good season since 1950 when he batted .323 for Detroit and led the league in triples with 11, hit 4 for 4 yesterday as the Birds lost to Pittsburgh, 6-5.

No Upsets in NCAA Boxing

Spartans' Odom Moves Up in 147-Pound Class in College Meet

POCATELLO (AP) — Knockout punches and upsets were scarce yesterday in the first frantic day of the National Collegiate Boxing Tournament, but two San Jose State College sluggers scored kayos.

All individual champions back from last year advanced without mishap.

Leading the champions into today's semifinals was Seiji Naya of the University of Hawaii. Scoring repeatedly with a slicing left, Naya outpointed the Pacific Coast 125-pound champion, Eddie Olson of Washington State College.

Other titlists who avanced were Vince Palumbo, 132 pounts, Maryland; John Granger, 139, Syracuse, and Herb Odom, 147, Michigan State.

Undermanned UM Track Team Battles Stanford

Sprinters Left Home, 880 Ace Pete Gray Is Sub-Par

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan will take a badly crippled track team to meet the Stanford Indians in an outdoor dual meet at Palo Alto tomorrow.

Coach Don Canham said yesterday sprinters John Vallotigara and Bob Brown will be left home because of injury and sickness. Vallotigara has suffered a leg injury and Brown has come down with an attack of glandular fever.

In addition, half miler Pete Gray is recuperating from an appendectomy.

Gray will accompany the team, Canham said, but probably only run in the relay.

"The Indians have two victorious meets under their belt and have just too much of an early season advantage on us," Canham said. "If we could only meet them a week later we might have a chance to beat them."

If Michigan loses, it will be the Wolverines' first dual track meet defeat since the end of February 1954 when Illinois upset Michigan by three points in an indoor event.

Michigan meets Fresno State College April 5 and Arizona State College at Tempe April 9 on the western tour.

'Autorama' Starts Today at Armory on 8-Mile Road

DETROIT (UP)—The third annual "autorama," billed as Michigan's largest hot rod, sports and custom car show, begins a three-day run tonight.

The show, sponsored by the Michigan Hot Rod Association, will be held in the National Guard Artillery armory at Eight Mile Rd. near Greenfield.

"We have an entirely new show this year and are avoiding repetition of cars from previous years in the various classifications," chairman David Bogdan said.

Association president Jim Irvine said funds from the show would be used for construction of a drag-strip for the 37 clubs in the MHRA.

Gola and Collegians Aim to Even Series

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — All-America Tom Gola brought the College Basketball All-Stars into his home town today, hoping to square the series with the Harlem Globetrotters.

The collegians narrowed the Trotters' margin to one game, 4-3, by taking both ends of an afternoon - night doubleheader in Richmond, Va., yesterday. The All-Stars won the matinee affair 61-57 with Niagara's Ed Fleming and Fordham's Ed Conlin the offensive aces with 17 and 16 points, respectively.

The score at night was 85-82. This time Gola, who tallied only 10 points in the afternoon, dropped in 24. But 10 points by Notre Dame's Jack Stephens in the last period enabled the collegians to come from behind and win.

Senators to Try Roig

WARE SHOALS, S.C. (AP)—Tony Roig, most recently a second baseman and once a pitcher, is the latest member of the Washington Senators to get a tryout for the still unsettled shortstop post.

Manager Chuck Dressen is dissatisfied with the performances of rookie Bob Kline and Jerry Snyder. The Senators have been trying to negotiate a deal with other clubs, but so far have had no luck.

Winter's Toll of Deer Light

LANSING (AP)—Despite its snowy exit, winter has apparently taken a smaller toll of Michigan's deer than was originally anticipated.

Harry Ruhl, chief of the conservation department game division, estimates the loss for the entire state at less than 5,000—certainly not serious for a herd of some 500,000.

So far, conservation department workers have verified reports of 80 starved deer. Of course, there may be many more lying undiscovered.

Finding out how many more there are is the object of the biggest conservation department starvation survey yet, to begin in about two weeks.

Six four-man teams will comb 1,500 strips of land throughout the northern part of the Lower Peninsula in an effort to get the most accurate estimate of starvation losses in department history.

The survey areas, each 2½ miles long, have been selected scientifically by conservation department game men assisted by Michigan State College survey experts.

The survey teams can tell whether a deer has died from starvation by checking its bone marrow. The redder the marrow, the more likely it is that the deer starved to death, since a reddish cast indicates most of the fat in the marrow was used up.

"We hope to have the survey completed and the results compiled by May 1," Ruhl says. "If we don't find many dead deer on the areas we've selected, we'll have to extend the survey."

Last blast of winter in the Lower Peninsula sent deer back into their yards (or winter ranges) for about four days, Ruhl said. Now they have broken out of the yards again and will probably stay out.

In the Upper Peninsula, winter continues to confine the deer to their yards, and starvation can be expected to take a heavier toll.

Ruhl scotched stories that deer are hard to spot in the north country.

"One of our men made a three-hour flight from Traverse City over Antrim, Kalkaska, Wexford, Grand Traverse and Missaukee counties,' he said. "He spotted 400 deer—all west of U.S. 27 in an area we don't consider our best deer country.

Chicago, NY Ring Teams Split Matches

CHICAGO (AP) — Well-conditioned amateur boxers battled to a 4-4 team title deadlock in the annual Intercity Golden Gloves bouts between Chicago and New York last night.

The big show drew a crowd of 13,439 at Chicago Stadium and the fans had a great time, especially booing a decision of one fight.

For 1 minutes the throng hooted when James Archer, a rugged 20-year-old longshoreman from New York was awarded a split three-round decision over Willie Morton, stubby U.S. Air Force fighter on the Chicago team.

One of three Minnesota deer hunters was successful in 1954.

Marciano on Coast to Train for Bout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rocky Marciano arrived last night to resume training for defense of his heavyweight boxing crown against England's Don Cockell on May 16.

Rocky said he expected Cockell to go for his nose, but said he wasn't going to worry about it.

"If I worried about protecting my schnoz, I'd fight a defensive fight, and that's not good."

Tomorrow he goes to camp in nearby Calistoga. His wife and 2½-year old daughter join him there Monday.

Yanks Face Minors

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The New York Yankees open a weeklong stand against minor league pitching today, a situation that doesn't figure to help get the hitters ready for the American League season. The Yanks play Atlanta of the Southern Assn. today.

Spooner Tests Arm

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Karl Spooner, the young rookie who hurled two shutouts at the tailend of the 1954 season for Brooklyn, puts his sore arm to the test today against Milwaukee. Spooner said the arm no longer hurts, but Manager Walt Alston has him down for three innings at the most.

Cow Palace Awaits GOP

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — San Francisco knows well the terrors of crowd panic (e. g. the gold rush of 1849, the great fire of 1906, the Liberace concert of 1955). So already it is girding for the GOP convention of '56.

Hotels treasure their reservations books like jewels, waiting for the go-ahead from the Republican National Committee. Chinatown shopkeepers are figuring ways to wangle imports from the homeland. Bartenders are dreaming up victory cocktails. And the greatest, costliest activity of all is taking place in the monstrous arena called, drolly, the Cow Palace.

This drum-shaped structure of creamy concrete is where the Republican elite and their elephants meet come August, next year.

The management is well equipped to handle the elephants, this being the local showcase for circuses, bullfights and livestock shows. But people are more of a problem.

About 900 horse stalls must be ripped out to make room for caucus parlors, newsrooms, TV and radio centers, collapsible bars and removable ladies' lounges.

A seven-foot-high wire fence which now encloses the 6½-acre building must be raised to 12 feet. To discourage Democrat spies, presumably.

A special new restaurant will be installed to feed 400 hungry Republicans at one sitting, and there'll be 4,000 new chairs to rest 8,000 Republican legs.

Air conditioning presents no problem. San Francisco is air-cooled by nature.

Altogether, the renovations and additions to the Cow Palace—which San Francisco snobs prefer to refer to as "Bovine Gardens"—will cost between $300,000 and $800,000. Manager Nye Wilson isn't being more explicit than that on the theory that you can't count your blueprints until your funds have been hatched. And until the state legislature speaks up and forks over, construction must wait.

"You can be sure, however," Wilson assures, "everyone will be as comfortable as the tenor of the meeting permits."

The Cow Palace, which is a 15-minute breeze from midtown San Francisco along a broad new freeway, is divided into three sections: The arena itself, 104-feet tall, with 16,834 seats, and standing and shuffling-around room for 2,000 more; flanked on either side by a great horse-stall area, which will be denuded of horses.

At the front of the arena, which seats 4,000 more than the Chicago amphitheater which sheltered and sweltered the last Republican National Convention, there is a rodeo bucking-horse chute. This fixture will be replaced by a stage, from which me may expect bucking and whooping of a different nature.

Behind the stage will be built-in control rooms for color and black-and-white television cameramen, and, according to Wilson, there'll even be somewhere "a special box for that girl who sells refrigerators—what's her name?—Betty Furness."

The admissions offices, just inside the entrance, will be turned into a bar and lounge, and there will be nine or 10 other bars scattered appropriately about the premises. Also within easy stumbling distance will be four hot dog stands, two milk bars, one hot-sandwich shoppe, a cafeteria, and a deluxe restaurant for the homburged.

Directly outside the entrance there is a drive-in theater for the bored, a golf driving-range for the athletic, and hundreds of cattle, sheep and swine barns for the nature-lover.

Obviously no stone or horse stall is being left unturned in the ambitious plan to convert the 13-year-old Cow Palace into a politician's home away from home. Let's all get in there and give 'em three cheers. Ready?

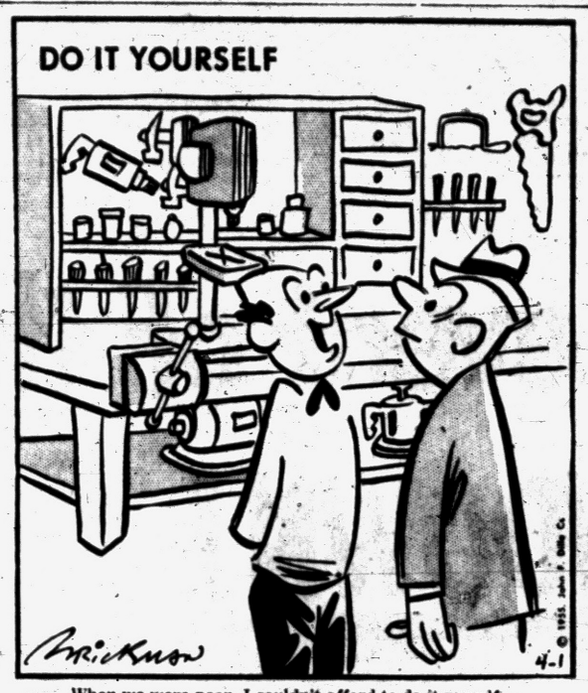

"Moo! Moo! Moo!"

(Tomorrow: Miss Battelle wends her way through San Francisco's exotic Chinatown at night.)

Grains Sliding Down Slowly

CHICAGO, April 1 — Grains slid downward slowly on the Board of Trade today as reports of moisture outweighed dust storms as a market influence.

The market took its cue from wheat. At the start the bread grain had losses ranging to around a cent. In subsequent dealings wheat was unable to rally. Oats made momentary resistance to the selling pressure and then got in line with the rest of the market.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅞ to 1¾ lower, May $2.13⅝; corn ⅝-1 cent lower, May $1.43¾; oats unchanged to ½ lower, May 70½; rye to 1¼ lower, May $1.02½; soybeans 1¼ lower to ¾ higher, May $2.50½; and lard 5 to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $12.70.

Fluoride Is Blamed by Saginaw Doctor

He said this patient was put on bottled water and began to improve.

Rollin Severance, Saginaw industrialist and one of the leaders in the fight against fluoridation in that city last fall when fluoridation was voted out, was another speaker.

He analyzed and commented on statistics from Grand Rapids and Kent County, and made comparisons with Grand Rapids and the rest of the country. He presented a mass of statistics, using death rates from cancer, heart disease and diabetes, and combined death rates.

His statistics showed, he declared, marked increases in death rates in Grand Rapids and higher rates there than in other parts of the country.

He also presented a chart on death rates in Newburgh, N. Y., where fluoridation has been under way, indicating increased death rates there.

The Rev. John Safron, Detroit attorney and pastor, pronounced the invocation and also spoke during the program. He gave a summary of the anti-fluoridation argument, taking the stand that when the authorities disagree on any question involving health it would be the part of wisdom to move slowly, and not jump at conclusions.

The fourth speaker was Dr. Harold Carlson, a Detroit physician.

Dr. Carlson spoke briefly. He noted the various conflicting contentions on both sides of the fluoridation question and declared that in his opinion the desirability of fluoridating public water supplies has not been proved.

"It's still an experiment," he said, "and it should not be used so long as it remains strictly an experiment."

Dr. Carlson stated that fluorine can exist on fruit and vegetables as the residue from insecticides, as well as naturally occurring fluorine in the food. In many industrial areas, he added, the air can contain fluorine.

Fire Destroys Hotel in Tawas City Today

TAWAS CITY (AP)—Fire swept the Barnes Hotel in Tawas City today as some 25 to 30 guests fled to safety.

Two firemen suffered minor injuries, one form tyling glass and one from smoke inhalation. Early estimates placed the loss at over $60,000.

The roof of the 2-story building collapsed some four hours after a passing truck driver reported the blaze at 4 a.m. Fire departments from Tawas City, East Tawas and Oscoda, all resort towns north of Bay City, answered the alarm. They were aided by a pumping unit from Wurtsmith Air Force Base at Oscoda.

The blaze for a time threatened the nearby city jail before it was brought under control. Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Common Stock Shares Bonus Mailed by GE

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. — The General Electric Company is mailing a bonus of 177,400 shares of its common stock, which would cost about $9,000,000 in today's market, to approximately 43,000 present and former employes under its G-E Employes Savings and Stock Bonus Plan.

Participants in the plan also have recently received checks aggregating $1,283,000, representing the accumulated income earned on the stock since 1949.

Employes and former employes also received U. S. Savings Bonds costing approximately $15,400,000 which they had left on deposit with the company since 1949.

Arrests of people under 18 years old in the United States have increased 430 per cent since 1950.

Algeria Proclaims State of Emergency

PARIS (AP)—To combat a continuing wave of guerrilla terrorism in Algeria, the National Assembly early today ordered a state of emergency clamped on that North African territory.

The measure will increase the power of authorities to deal with the independence - seeking outlaws although it is not as extreme as martial law. Persons arrested for certain offenses may be tried by the military.

UAW Nearing Close of 1955 Convention

CLEVELAND (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers neared the end of its annual convention today with delegates pledged to an all-out campaign to win the union's guaranteed annual wage demand from the automobile industry.

Walter Reuther, president of the CIO and the UAW, predicted "we are going to meet powerful foes on the field of battle" when bargaining begins next week with General Motors and the following week with Ford. But, he said, "we shall not fail."

The UAW is committed to strike to back up its demand for the year-around pay plan, plus improved pensions and higher wage rates.

Foreign Exchange

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP)—Foreign exchange rates follow (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents):

Stock Market Mostly Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mostly higher today in early dealings.

The rise was fractional but a few issues pushed their gains to around a point. Losses were small.

Buying appeared to be timid. Yesterday's market also was slightly higher with the Associated Press advance of 60 stocks up 30 cents at $158.80.

Better performing division in today's market included steels, motors, radio-televisions, electrical equipments, railroads, and oils. The aircrafts and airlines were mixed.

A lot of emphasis was placed on individual issues. Colorado Fuel & Iron was active and higher, deep rock oil pushed up around 3 points, while Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton was slightly lower. That stock has been at the top of the most active list for six straight sessions at generally higher prices.

Anaconda Copper had a block of 6,000 shares up 1 at 59¾. International Telephone 5,600 up ⅜ at 28⅛. General Dynamics 1,500 off ⅜ at 76¾, and Childs Co. 5,900 unchanged at 4.

Grand Rapids Completes Experiment

U.S. to Cut Contribution to Fluoridation Program

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The federal government is reducing its contribution to the city of Grand Rapids for fluoridation of the city's drinking water.

W. L. Harris, city utilities superintendent, said the city has received around $20,000 a year from the government for purchase of sodium fluoride since water fluoridation began here in 1945.

This contribution will be cut in half starting in July, according to Harris.

He said the mfove is a recognition of the fact that Grand Rapids essentially has completed an experiment which was due to last 10 years. The government, however, wishes to maintain its relationship with the city for at least another five years to watch results, Harris added.

"In order to maintain the same conditions, which have been in effect for the 10 years, the federal government has offered to continue with some financial contributions," he said.

A less expensive chemical would be used in the fluoridation if the city were to continue alone, Harris stated.

Grand Rapids was one of the first cities to try fluoridation of city water as a measure to prevent tooth decay. The U.S. Public Health Service conducted tests among school children here which established success of fluoridation as a preservative of youngster's teeth.

Actual outlay in Grand Rapids by the government on fluoridation work comes to much more than the money spent on purchase of sodium fluoride. The government has maintained a staff of technicians to watch the experiment.

The government has agreed, Harris said, to continue its contribution to Grand Rapids for purchase of sodium fluoride at half the prior rate so the city will continue to use this chemical and thereby keep all the factors present when fluoridation was experimental.

Otherwise, Grand Rapids would use a substitute chemical, sodium silica fluoridee which, Harris said, is cheaper and just as effective.

Fluoridation of drinking water is now widespread in the United States and foreign lands. Medical authorities say it is highly effective in reducing tooth decay, especially in young children, although there have been many dissenters.

The U.S. Public Health Service has hailed fluoridation as the most notable public health measure since chlorination of drinking water to prevent typhoid fever.

35,000 Go on Strike at U.S. Rubber Plants

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 35,000 CIO rubber workers struck at midnight last night against the 19 plants of the U.S. Rubber Co. in a dispute over terms of a master contract. Wages were not an issue.

The company and the CIO United Rubber Workers had been negotiating here for a new contract covering hours, working standards and holidays. The old contract expired at midnight.

Box Yields Surprise

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Larry Christmas asked at a tavern for two empty cigar boxes to keep trinkets in. At home, he found one box contained $500. When he took the money back, tavern operator Carl Weillman explained he'd given Christmas his cash box by mistake.

Milk Drinking Triples

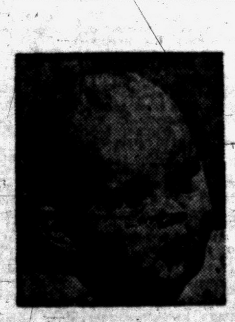

UNION CITY (AP) — Union City schools report they have more than trebled their students' drinking of milk by taking advantage of the federal school milk subsidies. The drinking of milk by students increased from 7,000 half pints to 25,000 a month.

FCC Refuses Review of WJR Flint Permit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission has refused to reconsider its grant of a permit to WJR, the Goodwill Station, Inc., for a new channel 12 television station in Flint.

The commission yesterday denied petitions filed by the Trebit Corp. and W. S. Butterfield Theaters, Inc., for reargument of the case and a stay of the grant to WJR which was awarded a permit May 14, 1954.

Employment Rise Expected to Continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The auto and steel industries probably will set the pace for a moderate rise in employment which the Labor Department predicted will continue through mid-May in most of the nation.

Basing its report on a survey of employers' hiring plans, the department said yesterday the rise will be more gradual than that of the last several months. But it said the gains are expected in all except 16 of the country's 149 major industrial centers.

Labor surpluses have been reduced in most of the cities since Jan. 1, the department said.

Here Is Correct Answer for Third Bonanzagram

The code expert in the Customs Office figured out the note on the smugglers in this way:

This is how he figured it out: DANCER COMING — not DANGER but DANCER which ties up with SOMEONE WITH BALLET. SALE (not MALE because the dancer is female, as specified in the last sentence of the note (WILL TAKE PLACE AT AMSTERDAM. Tip-offs on jewel smugglers usually come from the sellers of the jewels, and this case is no exception.

If the smugglers had been taking PLANE, the phrasing would have been FROM Amsterdam and not AT Amsterdam. Actually, since they bought the jewels on Friday and arrived on Saturday they did travel by plane, but they may have crossed the Channel and flown from England. The Customs men would have covered all incoming flights.

PROBABLY RINGS (that's fairly obvious) with FIRE OPALS. FIRE OPALS are valuable girasols which give out fire-like reflections, and this is more to the point than FINE OPALS (which might be taken for granted as they are worth the risk of smuggling) or FIVE OPALS—the informant might not have known how many stones were involved but the chances are that there were many more than FIVE.

SMUGGLER WILL ARRIVE SATURDAY IN CAST. Yes, it's a plaster CAST that is the smuggling trick mentioned in the introduction. There is plenty of evidence of this idea farther on in the note. TROUPE TO BE MET BY FENCE—the last letter of TROUPE was probably left out as a spelling test, and FENCE, a receiver of stolen goods, is obvious.

But the gems were not hidden in CERTAIN SHOES—the CAST was a much cleverer hiding place. The writer, however, has reason to believe that CERTAIN SHOPS (those used as outlets by the FENCE) SOLD OTHER JEWELS SNEAKED IN BY THE SAME GAME. This trick has been played before (see OLD TRICK later on) and the Customs Office has missed it.

DANCER COMING, SOMEONE WITH BALLET. SALE WILL TAKE PLACE AT AMSTERDAM FRIDAY, PROBABLY RINGS WITH FIRE OPALS. SMUGGLER WILL ARRIVE SATURDAY IN CAST. TROUPE TO BE MET BY FENCE. BELIEVE CERTAIN SHOPS SOLD OTHER JEWELS SNEAKED IN BY SAME GAME. SUSPECT GEMS CONCEALED IN PASTE BEFORE BINDING ARM. SEEMS TO BE OLD TRICK. ALIBI MAY BE BROKEN WRIST. PATCH OVER HER EYE IS FAKED TOO.

MISS TERRY

SAME GAME is more logical than SAME DAME because the smuggling gang wouldn't have the same person wear the cast—that would make it too easy to spot. Nor would LAME DAME fit in because the cast was on an ARM and not a leg.

SUSPECT GEMS CONCEALED (this fits better than CONGEALED which means "frozen") IN PASTE—THIS IS, OF COURSE, the PASTE made of Plaster of Paris which is used for casts. BEFORE BINDING ARM. BINDING is better than WINDING for a bandaging process, and ARM ties in with the WRIST mentioned toward the end of the note.

ALIBI MAY BE BROKEN WRIST. Indeed the dancer may have a real injury, the better to confuse the Customs Officers. PATCH OVER HER EYE IS FAKED TOO. This last tip made it easy to spot the smuggler. The code expert first wrote WRIST WATCH OVER HER, and ended up with DYE IS FADED TOO.

But he realized that this did not fit so well with the ALIBI mentioned; they would claim that an accident had injured the dancer's WRIST and EYE.

The signature is MISS TERRY, evidently a pun to conceal the mysterious writer mentioned in the introduction.

Jelke Convicted on Vice Charge

Young Oleo Heir Could Draw Up to 40 Years for Call Girl Racket

NEW YORK (AP)—Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke, handsome young oleomargarine heir, was convicted today for the second time on cafe society vice charges.

He could draw up to 40 years in prison. Sentencing was set for April 28. Two years ago he was sentenced to three to six years on his first conviction, which was reversed on appeal.

The first trial jury recommended mercy. The second jury did not.

Jelke was continued free in $45,000 bail after the jury of 10 men and two women reported its guilty verdict at 1:16 a.m. after more than 10 hours deliberation.

* * *

He was convicted on two counts of compulsory prostitution—the legal term for the offense. The Charges consisted of:

1. "Enticing, inducing and procuring" Pat Ward, now 21, to lead the life of a prostitute.

2. Attempting to do the same with Marguerite Cordova, 26, former night club hatcheck girl.

Chief defense counsel George Washington Herz told newsmen he would not discuss possibility of an appeal at this time.

* * *

Jelke, who had paced the court corridors during the jury's deliberation, paled as the verdict was announced. The 25-year-old playboy was visibly shaken as he stood at the defense table facing the jurors. He did not take the witness stand at either trial.

Real Estate Board Meets Here Monday

Members of the Pontiac Real Estate Board will meet Monday in the Waldron Hotel with the brokers division convening at 5 p. m. and the regular meeting scheduled to begin at the dinner hour.

Edward A. Maier, secretary of the board said today that the following topics will be discussed: matters pertaining to the grievances and ethics of the board; public housing; resolution of the state committee covering real estate laws; a proposed tri-county sales clinic between the counties of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb and the promotion of an essay contest.

Abstract Art to Be Shown at Cranbrook

"Visions in Abstract Expressionism," showing the nationally popular style in current art, will be held April 2-17 in the Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries, Bloomfield Hills.

Exhibit pieces, selected by Fred Mitchell of the academy staff, include sculpture by Julius Schmidt and paintings by Harry Colman, Joyce Dillman, Noah Klingelsmith, Adele MacLeod, Bert Munzner, Frank Okada, Philip Seitz, Joan Velligan and Keith Whitmore.

Though each of the 10 artists represented has an individual approach, all agree that "certain areas of human emotion can be communicated directly by colors, lines and forms arranged intelligently on canvas, without imitation of objects familiar in the everyday world."

Beginning April 5, Cranbrook Galleries will resume regular hours: 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily except Mondays, when closed.

Social Security OK'd for Elective Officials

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's Legislature has decided that elective state officials should be brought under federal social security—but not without a Senate fight.

The resolution approved by both chambers instructs the State Administrative Board to negotiate a contract with the federal government to give social security benefits to state officials, appointees of the governor, legislators and other employes not covered by a pension system.

To Battle Elm Disease

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—This city intends to spend $6,000 on a spring program of saving its 3,000 elm trees. The expenditure, for spraying against the Dutch elm disease, is defended partly on grounds it would cost $150,000 to remove the trees if ruined by the disease.

Mrs. Wagenshultz Faces Arraignment

An Oakland County Circuit Court appearance is slated April 5 for the 19-year-old driver of a car which crashed headon with another on M24's "Slaughter Hill" last Dec. 5, resulting in the death of five Oxford residents.

Mrs. Erlene Wagenshutz was bound over yesterday on an involuntary manslaughter charge by Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib.

She will be arraigned before Circuit Judge George B. Hartwick at 9:30 a.m. April 5, said Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Homer G. Gerue.

Mrs. Wagenshutz is charged with driving in "a careless, reckless and negligent manner . . . under influence of intoxicating liquor (at) an excessive rate of speed."

Billy Graham Notes God's Work in Glasgow

GLASGOW, Scotland (INS) — American evangelist Billy Graham told an audience of more than 16,500 persons last night that he had never "been in any city in the world where God has done so much."

The U.S. revivalist said he is going to compile stories of the changed lives he heard about in Glasgow. Some of the stories, he said, are almost unbelievable and added he would tell them sometime.

Last night's service produced the largest number of converts so far. The 595 persons swelled the overall total of converts in the current crusade to 4,318.

There's Method in All That Music Madness

Mood of Show Set by Theme

Recognition Value Calls Viewers Back to Set, Musical Director Says

NEW YORK (AP) — The theme music on most television shows has a purpose beyond setting a mood for the program.

It's also intended to summon you back to your set in case you've wandered away and forgotten that it's time for the program to start.

* * *

"It heralds by its recognition value what's coming on," explains Raymond Scott, musical director of Your Hit Parade. Scott is composer of the NBC show's opening and closing tunes, Be Happ and So Long for a While.

"The more haunting the theme the better the recognition value," he declares. "It also generates a feeling of interest and psychologically sets the stage for the program. A happy theme denotes a happy program."

* * *

Some TV theme music becomes popular on phonograph records. Examples include the Dragnet theme by Walter Schumann and the more recent Medic theme composed by Victor Young.

Hillsdale Official Dies

HILLSDALE (AP) — Louis Clyde Parshall, 69, former purchasing agent and a long-time employe of the Battle Creek Sanitarium, died in Hillsdale. Parshall moved in 1933 from Battle Creek to Hillsdale where he was office supervisor of the Board of Public Works.

Conservatives Showing Gains

British Party Backers Are Jubilant as Early Returns Come In

LONDON (AP)—Conservative party supporters were jubilant today as their candidates tallied big gains in early returns from county council elections.

Although the voting was unusually light, trends were watched closely because of speculation that Prime Minister Churchill's government may call a general election this year.

* * *

With the count completed in 32 of London County's 42 polling districts, returns last night showed the Conservatives so far had unseated 14 Laborites on the local Council. The counting was expected to be completed today.

Despite the Conservative gains, the Laborites were still assured of control in London. The 32 districts decided gave Labor 63 seats, the Conservatives 33. In the last Council election in 1952, the Laborites won a total of 87 seats to 32 for the Conservatives.

Hospital Gives Couple Pre-Paid Daughter

LYNWOOD, Calif. (AP) — John White, 29, picked up his wife Jimmie Ruth and his new daughter Holanda and paid the bill at St. Francis Hospital yesterday.

But before he could leave, the hospital refunded his money.

Why?

Sister Christine, head of the hospital business office, explained: "It was just a gesture on the part of the hospital to help out a young couple who had just had their ninth child."

NICE NYLONS — The lace that trims a glamor gal's undies comes out into the open, daintify trimming her nylons. Legs belong to Actress Kim Novak.

Council Defends Recovery Law

Reform Group Opposes Repeal; Act Applies to Old Age Aid Recipients

LANSING (AP)—The Citizens Research Council said today Michigan's old age assistance recovery law is not a matter of penalizing those drawing public aid but a matter of "taxpayers vs. heirs."

The council, a non-profit civic reform group, criticized annual attempts to repeal the law.

"Michigan does not have a lien law," the council said. "A lien law places a claim against the recipients' property at the time assistance is given, although the claim, generally, is not exercised until his death.

"Michigan's law, the council said, "enables the state to seek reimbursement for assistance granted, from the estates of recipients, before the deceased's property enriches an heir."

Repeal of the state lien law in 1937 led to a 29,175 increase in the old age assistance case load, the council said. Passage of the recovery law in 1947 led to a drop of 2,980, it said.

"Potential heirs," the council said, "may be inclined to support their older relatives, if they realize they may not inherit the entire estate . . . Why should the heirs, who may have contributed nothing, have a prior claim to that of the state?"

Demonstrators' Blasts Jolt British on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—British authorities were expected to order strong police measures today in the wake of six predawn explosions set off by demonstrators demanding union of the crown colony island with Greece.

There was speculation a state of emergency would be proclaimed.

The latest flareup over the explosive Greek-Cyprus issue occurred when five masked men dynamited the Nicosia broadcasting station. They fled by car, scattering leaflets warning, "If our oppressors do not give us liberty, we can take it with our own hands and blood."

Would Furlough Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Curtis (R-Mo) has proposed a constitutional amendment requiring senators and House members to take a two-year leave after 12 consecutive years of service. After the leave, they could return if re-elected. He said the plan would get long-time members out of "a fascinating rut."

'Right to Work' Inching Ahead

Law Now Adopted by 18 States; Similar Bill Vetoed in Kansas

CHICAGO (AP)—A drive to establish "right-to-work" laws in new states this year apparently has had very limited success.

The legislation, which bans union shop contracts, was adopted by Utah, bringing the list of states which have the law on their books to 18.

* * *

A similar bill in Kansas was vetoed by Gov. Fred Hall and a move to override the veto was defeated. However, the Senate tacked the same bill on an administration - backed labor relations measure Wednesday despite the governor's announcement he will veto the legislation if it includes the right-to-work amendment.

The "right-to-work" laws have been a primary target of organized labor leaders who contend they raise a barrier to effective union security. The measures have been backed principally by industrial and business interests.

* * *

Labor efforts to nullify the legislation in states which already have it were completely unsuccessful in this year's legislative sessions. The laws are on the books of agricultural states of the plains area and others in the South and Southeast.

Proposals for laws banning the union shop are pending in Ohio, Missouri, Colorado and Michigan, where they have little apparent chance of passage. Such efforts were killed in Idaho, Indiana, Massachusetts and West Virginia.

Perry Como Will Change Networks Next October

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Perry Como switches from CBS radio and television to NBC next October in a 12-year deal.

NBC and Como's agent announced the network change yesterday, and said the singer would be starred in a one-hour nighttime variety show. Terms of the new contract were not disclosed.

Hunger Strike Ended

MANILA (AP)—A four-day hunger strike by 144 Chinese ordered deported from the Philippines was ended yesterday after the Chinese Embassy agreed to work for their early repatriation to Formosa. The men and women, some held for six years, protested against failure to do anything about their long detention.

Appoint Gen. Whitney

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) —Former Air Force Col. Robert Whitney, of Lexington, Mass., was appointed federal civil defense coordinator yesterday for the Continental Air Defense Command.

Reds Hit Berlin With Truck Tax

Move Seen as Result of Paris Pact Approval by West Germany

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany put an eight million dollar a year tax raise into effect today on truck traffic between Red-encircled West Berlin and West Germany.

A rush of truckers trying to make the 110-mile run through the Soviet zone before the midnight deadline piled up for miles at either end of the road last night. Nine hours later police reported traffic was flowing smoothly.

The new levies boost taxes as high as 220 marks ($56.36) for a round-trip truck haul between Berlin and West Germany. The Communists said the money is needed to keep the highway in repair.

West Berlin officials called it an economic blockade in retaliation for West German ratification of the Paris pacts on German rearmament.

U.S. officials in Washington said last night that the Western Allies would not be blackmailed into paying stiff highway taxes to the Reds. A State Department announcement said Allied representatives were talking over "what measures may prove necessary to assure the flow of goods to and from the city of Berlin."

Trucks carry about half the flow of goods in and out of Berlin.

Crimp Pinball Craze

TOKYO (AP)—Police tilted Japan's 42 million dollar a month pachinko pinball craze today. They banned automatic feed machines which shoot little metal balls in a steady stream. Still legal are the manually operated, one-ball-at-a-time machines.

NEW AIDE — Dillon Anderson, who will become President Eisenhower's special assistant for national security affairs today, poses in Washington. Anderson, a Houston, Tex., attorney, succeeds Robert Cutler who is returning to his former position as head of a Boston, Mass., bank.

18 U.S. Newsmen Start Moscow Tour

MOSCOW (AP) — Eighteen American newspaper and radio representatives set forth today on a sightseeing tour of Moscow.

The group, members of the 1955 editors' tour of Europe and the Middle East, arrived by plane last night from Warsaw. They expect to remain in the Soviet capital for five days.

After a conference with U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, they planned to tour Moscow and its environs.

Owosso No Longer Labor Surplus Area

OWOSSO (AP) — Owosso leaves the list of labor surplus areas today.

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich) said yesterday U. S. Department of Labor reports showed unemployment in the city down one-third from a year ago.

Brisk hiring in the electric motor industry, plus the fact that two new plants are being built here and a third is planned, were said to be contributing factors in the Labor Department decision.

Ann Arbor RR Plans New Yard at Owosso

OWOSSO (AP) — The Ann Arbor Railroad plans to build new switching yards east of Owosso next week.

The yards will contain four main lines each with a capacity of 100 freight cars, and four auxiliary tracks.

The new yards will enable the company to make up long freight trains there instead of in the smaller yards in Owosso and will eliminate long trafic tie ups at railroad crossings here.

Fire Station Burns

URBANA, Ohio (AP)—The roof was burned off nearby Woodstock's volunteer fire department headquarters last night, but a fireman saved the engine and water tank by driving them from the building.

Famous Trichologist Tells Truth About Saving and Improving Hair

This new method of home treatment for saving and growing thicker hair will be demonstrated in Pontiac, Michigan, Sunday ONLY, April 3, 1955. These private demonstrations will be held at the Pontiac Hotel on Sunday ONLY, April 3, 2 p. m. till 9 p. m.

CHICAGO (Special)—In an interview here today Mr. E. V. Safranski, internationally famous trichologist and director of the Millard Hair and Scalp Specialists said "There are 18 different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

GUARANTEED

"The Millard firm, recognizing that most people are skeptical of claims that hair can be grown on balding heads, offer a guarantee," Safranski said.

Once a person avails himself to the Millard treatment his skepticism immediately disappears. To insure this we offer this guarantee: "If you are not completely satisfied with your hair progress at the end of 30 days your money will be returned."

HOPELESS CASES DISCOURAGED

First the Millard specialists are quick to tell hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. But the "hopeless" cases are few. Only if a man is compleetly, shiny bald is he in this lost category.

If there is fuzz, no matter how light, thin, or colorless, the Millard people can perform wonders.

Every one is given a complete, private examination to determine the condition of his scalp, and cause for his hair trouble.

FREE EXAMINATIONS

This examinations is very thorough and highly technical, it requires 20 to 30 minutes. There is no charge for this examination and no appointment is necessary. After examination he is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost.

After starting treatment, he makes regular reports to the Millard firm in Chicago, and a trichologist will reutrn to check his progress periodically.

To spread the opportunity of normal, healthy hair to the thousands who are desperately looking for help, the Millard firm is sending specialists to various cities throughout the United States to conduct examinations and start home treatment.

NO CURE-ALL

"We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness," Safranski emphasizes. "If there is fuzz, the root is still capable of creating hair and we can perform what seems to be a miracle."

There is one thing Safranski wants to be certain every man and woman knows. If a recession appears at the temples or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it should be given immediate attention.

HAIR FOR LIFETIME

"If clients follow our directions during treatment, and after they finish the course, there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives," Safranski said. "Our firm is definitely behind this treatment, it all depends on the individual client's faithful observation of a few simple rules."

HOW'S YOUR HAIR?

If it worries you call Trichologist J. D. Welch at the Pontiac Hotel in Pontiac, Michigan, on Sunday ONLY, April 3, 2 p. m. to 9 p. m. The public is invited. You do not need an appointment. The examinations are private and you will not be embarrassed in any way.
