ROCK KILLS TRUCKER — Frederick E. Beck, 40, of Wayne was killed instantly by a rock thrown from an overpass through the windshield of his truck on the U.S. 23 expressway, six miles south of Flint early today. State Police believe the slaying is a result of continuing violence in the strike of steel haulers and that Beck's truck was mistaken for a steel truck.

Riots May Develop Into War—Romney

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (U) — The riots in Detroit, Watts and other areas of the country are "a few early skirmishes" which could develop into a war, Michigan Gov. George Romney said last night.

But the governor said he saw on his recent tour of the big city slums "the broad outlines of a strategy for a new America beginning to emerge."

Romney, an unannounced candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential

Berets' Airdrop Surprises Reds

SAIGON (UPI) — American Green Berets, in a rare combat jump, parachuted into Communist-controlled central highland jungles to set up a border base near a Cambodian airfield the North Vietnamese are using to resupply their troops by air, it was learned today.

The air drop apparently took the Communists by surprise. The U.S. Special Forces and their tough Montagnard strikers met only a few scattered snipers.

UPI correspondent Robert Kaylot, a former paratrooper, jumped with them.

U.S. headquarters declined to comment, but the secretly planned operation was based on intelligence reports that confirmed for the first time the North Vietnamese were landing planes at the old French airbase known as Le Rolland to resupply Communist troops in the area.

The air base is four miles from the border and about 110 miles north of Saigon. The Special Forces began building their camp across a strategic infiltration route two miles on the South Vietnamese side of the border.

State Trucker Killed; Strike Link Is Probed

PITTSBURGH (U) — A truck driver in Michigan was killed today by a rock that smashed through his windshield from an overpass. Five other trucks were hit by rocks or gunfire in Ohio and Pennsylvania as the tempo of violence picked up despite attempts to find a solution to the steel haulers strike.

The Michigan man was killed on U.S. 23 just south of Flint. His big rig veered off the highway, bounced across a ditch and into a field.

The driver, Frederick E. Beck, 40, of Wayne, was hauling animal parts to a soap factory in a flatbed but a state trooper said it could easily have been mistaken for a steel load in the darkness.

An investigation was started to see if the fatal accident was connected to the violent strike by maverick Teamsters trying to force their union to get them a better contract. If the connection is confirmed, it would be the first death caused by the seven-week-old strike that has almost completely stopped the highway movement of steel.

No one was injured in the four incidents on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

A man lying in ambush behind a bank near Everett fired on two trucks with a shotgun, shattering the right windshield each time. The drivers managed to keep the trucks on the road.

ROCKS THROWN

Two other trucks were hit by rocks pitched from an overpass, also near Everett. Windshields were smashed both times.

In Ohio a night rider in a green car passed a tractor-trailer on U.S. 30 near Hanoverton and fired at the cab. The shot hit the mirror brace and the driver, Clarence Helm, 42, of Canton, was not hurt.

North Vietnam Invasion Story Is Disaffirmed

WASHINGTON (U) — A senator's assertion that U.S. military leaders are pushing hard for a U.S. invasion of North Vietnam has drawn a Pentagon statement that no invasion is being considered.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said in an interview yesterday: "There is no question but that there is increasing pressure on the President for an invasion."

Hartke told the Washington Evening Star that such an invasion would include neighboring Laos as well as North Vietnam since the military regards all of Southeast Asia as a "theater of war."

Earlier in the week the Indiana Democrat told the Senate it's well known that plans for such an invasion have been drawn up for a long time.

Asked for comment on Hartke's charge, Pentagon spokesmen issued this statement: "No consideration is being given by the Department of Defense to an invasion of North Vietnam."

SENATE DEBATE

The war continued Friday to generate Senate debate, with Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas, calling for what he termed a new policy of decisiveness to end the fighting. "Instead of vacillation we must have victory," said Tower.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a persistent war critic, said his differences with the President won't stop him from backing Johnson for reelection.

Farmington Twp. Man Killed in Gravel Slide

A Farmington Township man was crushed to death yesterday afternoon at a West Bloomfield Township gravel pit when a dirt bank slide pinned him against a front-end loader.

William C. Vaughn, 33, of 33897 Colfax, Farmington Township, was standing in the pit at Hiller and Willow roads between the bank and dirt loading machine when "several tons" of dirt crushed him, according to police.

He was removing dirt fill for Douglas Schroeder Contracting Co., 2900 N. Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake.

Reuther quit last February as an AFL-CIO vice president and executive council member. He later gained authority from his 1.5 million members to pull the union out of the federation whenever he wants.

SURPRISE MOVE EXPECTED

High labor officials believe he will use the forum of the AFL-CIO's convention to do it, probably in a sudden surprise move.

"Whatever he does will be dramatic," said one source.

Reuther used the tactic of complete surprise in announcing his resignation from the AFL-CIO hierarchy eight months ago.

Then Reuther issued an escalating barrage of anti-Meany criticism on

Phantom Announcer Has Fun at the Airport

LONDON (UPI) — The London Airport phantom struck again today. It caused a fuss, but it was all in fun.

Somehow, the phantom found a way to plug into the airport's loudspeaker system.

"The plane standing at platform three will land at London Bridge, Charing Cross and Waterloo," railroasts in London, he announced in calm, unburied words.

Baffled airport authorities said a few days ago the phantom announced: "Owing to technical trouble, there will be a three-hour delay on the flight to New York unless any passenger can supply us with an elastic band."

Cost to County of Court Setup Is Feared

By JIM LONG
The reorganization of Michigan's lower court system could cost Oakland County as much as $1.5 million, a State Senate committee meeting in Pontiac was told yesterday.

The financial problems posed by the new county courts were briefly outlined by Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Auditors, one of 24 persons who testified before the judiciary committee.

Murphy said this preliminary estimate was based on the current $1 million expenditure required to operate the nine circuit courts in the county.

The committee hearing was the last in a series of meetings held throughout the state in the last two weeks as a means of airing the views of governmental officials on the court system.

The opinions and recommendations will be used by the committee in preparing a bill that will be introduced in the legislature when it convenes a special session called by the governor next week.

Preliminary proposals have been drafted both by the House and Senate Judiciary committees, and while not dissimilar in content, no one expects that they will be completely acceptable.

COMPLEX PROBLEM

Following yesterday's six-hour hearing, committee members, headed by senators Robert Richardson of Saginaw, chairman, and L. Harvey Lodge of Waterford Township, vice chairman, admitted that at this point the only thing that is certain is that they face a complex problem.

The problem arose with the adoption of the new state constitution in 1963 which abolished the office of justice of the peace, effective Jan. 1, 1969.

At first, plans were made to have the new courts take over only the work of the justices, but as studies were made it became evident that a more uniform

Open-Housing Issue Stirs Lansing Sleep-In and March to Capitol

LANSING (AP) — As Gov. George Romney awaits a for-will see fit to put an open housing open occupancy proposal, a group of Flint youths have special fall legislative session, begun a sleep-in in the Capitol said Woody Eberly, 23, president of the Flint organization, Young People's Community Council.

About a dozen Negro and white youths, in their late teens and early twenties, who said they were from Flint gathered with blankets and sleeping bags in front of the Capitol Friday night.

Another Genesee County civil rights group, Housing Opportunities Made Equal Inc., HOME, mustered forces for a march to the Capitol.

CAN WORK TOGETHER
"We want to prove that young people, both black and white, can work together and accomplish some good," he said of the planned sleep-in.

The council was formed after a similar sleep-in in support of an open housing ordinance in Flint earlier this year.

Romney told newsman Friday that before he decides whether to put open housing on the legislative agenda, he will listen to proposals from the New Detroit Committee and confer with legislative leaders.

"I am for an open housing program in Michigan that can be effectively enforced at the earliest possible date," Romney said. The governor said he expected the proposals by Thursday. The lawmakers convene Tuesday.

More than 40 state, county and local organizations have indicated support for the rally and march, a HOME spokesman said. Listing among them the Michigan Anti-Defamation League, the Jewish Labor Commission, the NAACP and its youth council, the Democratic State Central Committee and the United Auto Workers Union.

"We hope the rally and march to the Capitol will show the governor and the people of Michigan that many individuals and groups are concerned about open housing," said Lois Craig, a member of HOME's executive committee.

Blasts Wreck Three Texas Ambulances

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—Explosions at five-second intervals last night wrecked three ambulances of the only firm providing such service in Texarkana, but police said no injuries were reported.

Investigators said there was a strong odor of dynamite after the blasts and they found shrapnel by fuses to each vehicle. A semi-residential neighborhood about 11:30 p.m.

Richard Bricher, owner of the city-licensed ambulance service, was sheriff of Miller County, on the Arkansas side of Texarkana, until his defeat in last year's election.

Bricher said he could think of no reason for the dynamiting unless it was really stemming from an arrest during the two terms he was sheriff.

Polio Victim Rescues Tot

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — A young man crippled by polio dragged and clawed his way to the aid of a little boy who he rescued from strangling by a back yard gym set, doctor at Omaha Children's Hospital said today.

The physicians credited Arlan Greve, 26, with saving the life of Dean Alexis Zerbe, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Zerbe and grandson of upper-level U.S. Diplomat U. Alexis Johnson, now ambassador to Japan.

Leaning on a pair of crutches, Greve looked out the back window of his home Thursday and saw the motionless body of little Dean Alexis in the backyard of the Zerbe home.

Greve, a laboratory technician at Nebraska Methodist Hospital, had yelled for help but got no response. He made his way through the yard to a wire fence which separates the Greve and Zerbe properties.

Greve, a polio victim 15 years ago, threw his crutches over the fence and then leaned backwards on the fence until his weight plunged him into the yard.

Greve clawed his way up the gym set and freed the tangled jacket hood and the boy from the set.

'Can't Believe Parents
Deserted Son Again'

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (AP) — A marina operator says residents of this area can't believe Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thorne abandoned their minor, retarded son, Ricky, 16.

Wellington Welsh said Thursday there's more here than meets the eye. They're not that kind of people.

"They are old friends in the district. They are well-liked, awfully nice people. No one here can believe it."

The Thornes have been accused by a juvenile court judge in Miami of abandoning their son for the second time, although no charges have been brought.

"Frankly, the county would like to see the state take over the entire operation of the courts," said Murphy. We don't want it. If we are just tossed this responsibility it will be a burden that the taxpayer can't afford."

One problem that concerned testifying officials, particularly Bloomfield Township Justice of the Peace Alice Gilbert, is the swift change that will be required from the justice system to the district courts.

2 Economists Feel Surtax Is Necessary

Two economists at local colleges both feel President Johnson's proposed but floundering 10 per cent surtax on income is necessary if federal expenditures keep rising.

The surtax issue continues to be muddled as the federal House Ways and Means Committee has formally increased the President's tax increase bill until he and Congress agree on a sizable spending cut.

Dr. Theodore O. Yntema, world renowned economist who is a visiting professor at Oakland University, called for the United States to get out of Vietnam and to cut expenditures.

He added, however, that he thought a tax increase was inevitable even with spending cuts.

"We only need a tax increase because we don't get out of Vietnam," remarked the former Ford Motor Co. vice president. "It should never have been necessary in the first place."

COST TO FAMILY
Yntema estimated that this country's expenditures in Vietnam are costing each American family $500 per year.

Mrs. Christine E. Harris, assistant professor of economics at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Township commented:

"I feel as long as we continue our expenditures in Vietnam or expand them when our economy is already at full employment that it is necessary to have additional taxes or cut other federal expenditures."

"Otherwise we will end up having inflation which is very hard on those people with fixed incomes."

She advised that there are two things the federal government can do now: raise taxes or cut other governmental expenditures other than the Vietnam war.

President Johnson has said that unless Congress approves his tax increase the American people will be forced to pay out immeasurably more money through painful inflation.

Mr. Johnson asked for the 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes to curb a federal budget deficit that he has said could reach $20 billion without it.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, Arkansas Democrat and Ways and Means chairman, insists that a $7-billion to $10-billion spending cut is a minimum requirement to help reduce the deficit. Many consider this politically if not actually impossible.

Other economists have claimed that the tax increase could cause new unemployment and hurt auto sales while doing relatively little to hold down prices.

The OU group will stay in the city of Guanajuato, Mexico City.

Lawlessness and the Public—6

Quality Police Force Is Responsibility of Citizens

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the sixth in an eight-part series on crime and its impact on the public and law enforcement.)

to term improvement of the city police as simply desirable.

It said: "The most dramatic and vital service shortage in our city is found in the police department."

The report went on to cite figures showing that 10 years ago the size of the Pontiac police force was identical to the force (117 officers) at a time of the report.

WORK LOAD GROWS

Adjustments have since been made that will allow an additional four men.

However, the department's work load has increased by 70 per cent over the 10-year span, according to the report.

"Additional burdens," it said, "include the equivalent loss of from five to seven full-time officers as a result of the more recent court practice which requires the policeman's time in court."

Recommended by the subcommittee was a strengthening of the department by a minimum of 14 officers in fiscal 1967 and by a minimum of 10 men in both 1968 and 1969.

Describing the suggested allotments as modest, the subcommittee pointed out that five officers on the payroll are required to assure that one be on duty at any given time.

Also noted was that, on one hand, police vehicular equipment is inferior as a result of stringent budgets and, on the other, "income-producing" equipment such as radar cars cannot be fully utilized because of the manpower inadequacy of the force.

In addition to the simple conclusion that enough policemen aren't available in Pontiac to deal with the volume of crime, city police Chief William K. Hanger submitted that severely restrictive budgeting retards the quality of the existing force.

First, he said, salary levels are not conducive to drawing large numbers of applicants. Thus, standards cannot be significantly raised, for this would make a smaller percentage of a small pool eligible.

Secondly, with the level of pay for a better, larger, more manpower available for the field efficient police force.

Whatever the price, in terms of higher taxes or the sacrifice of other city-financed services, it must be paid if these ends are to be achieved.

There is a higher price, many The city must be willing to believe.

Cease-Fire Line Hardening

Egypt to Evacuate Suez Area

By ALEX EFTY
Associated Press Writer
SUEZ, Egypt — The Suez Canal cease-fire line separating Egyptian and Israeli forces appears to be hardening day by day into a fortified international border.

Thousands of Egyptian civilians a day are streaming westward away from the canal, and Cape of Good Hope at less cost than smaller vessels able to fit through the waterway.

The canal's closing hurts Egypt more than any other nation. Egypt's canal revenues last year were $225 million.

Furthermore, as long as the cease-fire line stands at the canal, Israeli oilmen plan to produce at least 5 million tons of high-grade crude oil a year from captured oil fields in the Sinai Desert.

LONG-TERM APPROACH

Egyptian Vice Premier Aly Sabry underlined his government's long-term approach to the problem in a speech this week.

"As for the Suez Canal Authority," he said, "workers will be transferred elsewhere and installations and equipment will also be transported to other places gradually."

Sabry described the evacuation as "a forced migration of all citizens whose stay is not essential and shifting of all industries from the zone to other governments."

With Egyptian forces dug in the west bank and Israelis camped on the east, the canal has been the scene of repeated shelling in violation of the cease-fire.

BOMBING CHARGES

Sabry accused the Israelis of bombing Egyptian residential areas to terrorize the people and create difficulties for the government.

News Analysis

Egypt plans to evacuate up to 250,000 persons and all factories from the frontline area vulnerable to Israeli guns.

The evacuation order, coming four months after the U.N. sponsored cease-fire that ended the June 5-10 war, proves the Arabs do not expect a quick settlement, informed sources say.

The evacuation also diminishes hopes of reopening the Suez Canal, closed to shipping since early June.

SUBSTITUTE ROUTES

The 103-mile canal linking the Mediterranean Sea with the Gulf of Suez and the Red Sea, is still considered an important international trade route. But many shippers, forced by the long closing, have found substitute routes.

Oil companies that depended on the canal heavily are planning supertankers that can carry huge cargoes around the Israeli authorities charge that Egyptian batteries have fired first.

'Russia Stole Jackpot During Mideast War'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The World War II commander of the Arab Legion says the Soviet Union has stolen the jackpot in the Middle East and now holds the pistol to the head of Western Europe.

The Russians the chance—after 200 years of trying—to establish their fleet in the Mediterranean. L. Gen. Sir John Glubb said Friday night in a speech to the English Speaking Union. Glubb said the Soviet Union warned Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser that Israel to fight the United States, he said. "No sooner did the trouble begin than Moscow got on the line to Washington to say that they did not want trouble." He said the Soviets knew that Egypt would be defeated but the Soviet fleet was not sent to support Nasser anyway.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Actress Sue Lyon was awarded $225,000 by a Superior Court jury yesterday for injuries sustained in a 1965 traffic accident.

The actress' mother, Sue Karr Lyon, 62, won $42,000 in the suit.

Miss Lyon, 21, who played the title role in the film "Lolita," claimed injuries to her knee would impair her dancing ability and screen career.

The judgment was against Lynch Motors, Inc., and Roderic J. Tichnor, 67, a real estate developer who drove the second car involved in the crash. Miss Lyon said Tichnor caused the accident by making a U-turn on the highway. The auto firm owned the car Tichnor drove.

Actress Returns After Moscow Flight Rejected

Susan Oliver, whose hopes for solo flight to Moscow ended in Copenhagen, returned to New York yesterday aboard a commercial jetliner.

Miss Oliver, who took off from La Guardia Airport Sept. 21 piloting her single-engine Aero Commander, had hoped to go on to Moscow from Denmark but was refused permission by Soviet officials.

Her toughest stretch in the flight was going in and out of Greenland, she said. "It was thrilling dodging those two mile-high glaciers, and you're all alone."

First Negro Homecoming Queen at College

Marlene Jackson, a Negro, was crowned homecoming queen at Thiel College yesterday, becoming the first person of her race to be so honored in the Greenville, Pa., school's 101-year history.

Miss Jackson, 19, of Philadelphia, is one of 11 Negroes—six boys and five girls—in Thiel's student body of 1,200.

When her selection was announced at a dance in the gym, the student body responded with a five-minute ovation.

Miss Jackson, a junior majoring in chemistry, commented, "I don't know what to say—I can't believe it."

Actress Corinne Calvet Files for Divorce

Actress Corinne Calvet filed for divorce in Los Angeles yesterday from Albert C. Gannaway Jr., her husband of one year.

Miss Calvet, 42, and Gannaway, 47, a director-producer, were married in Las Vegas Sept. 16, 1966, and separated one year later. They have no children.

In her Superior Court suit, the actress said Gannaway had caused her "mental suffering and anguish." She asked for support, claiming she does not have sufficient money or property to maintain herself.

Profits Stoke Economic Boiler

There has been too much disparagement of the role of profit, too much inference that it is selfish gain.

If people investing their savings in productive enterprise did not want a return on their money, if the average person holding a job were able to get along on hard work and no pay, if the grocer provided free food, and if local state and Federal governments demanded no taxes, profit might not be needed.

We would live like the birds. Under such circumstances, it is not likely that much would be done.

In the same way, builders of productive enterprises have to produce a useful product or service that people want to buy at a price that will return a fair profit to the owners of the business.

Profit means success to a business in terms of its being able to meet its payroll, pay its taxes, provide jobs and attract investment money in order to expand and develop its ability to produce the kind and quality of goods that a growing nation needs.

The competitive, private enterprise, free-market economy developed in the United States has outproduced every system in the world. In our amazing economic system, profit "makes the mare go," and it always has. Without it, we would lose our independence, self-respect and freedom.

Schoolman Drops Plea to Stall Dropouts

The superintendent of schools in a small mountain town in North Carolina made a speech the other day that has caused quite a stir in the community and made Page One of the newspaper.

It was a plea for more financial help for the high school student who isn't a scholastic hotshot, has little or no hope of going to college, and who desperately needs a little ready cash if he is to acquire skills that will enable him to "just make a living" in today's complex world.

"Most scholarship programs," his listeners were reminded by Superintendent Hugh Randall of the Hendersonville public school system, "are aimed at top-ranking high school seniors who are headed for college. And this is fine.

"But how about the senior who isn't top-ranked and who needs, say, $250 upon graduation to take a machine course in a technical school, or to learn how to become a painter, or to become skilled at some other job?"

Wouldn't it be better, asked the educator, to help this boy than to have him panic and drop out of school to take an unskilled job in the belief this is his best bet to make a living?

Randall pointed out that high school graduates earn an estimated $63,000 more in a lifetime than dropouts. And then he applied this clincher:

"There is no better investment for banks, businessmen or educators than to develop a future tax-paying average citizen instead of a future welfare client. Think it over."

Who Says There Isn't Strength in Numbers?

What happens when 42 exuberant teen-agers get into a 6-foot-5 elevator at one time?

The elevator gets stuck between floors, for an hour and a half — at the 16th floor level of a Chicago skyscraper.

That's what happens!

The boys and girls had been attending a dance in the Chicago Board of Trade building, and naturally they wanted to see how many of them could get into the elevator.

A building guard discovered their plight and called the building engineer, who rushed 50 miles to the rescue from his suburban home.

You can bet those shook-up kids will never overcrowd an elevator or anything else again, right?

Wrong. ELEVEN of them piled into ONE automobile as they left the scene of the incident.

And someone who saw them said, "Kids will never learn," right?

Right. It was the shook-up building engineer who said it. And you have a hunch he was right, right?

Right.

LBJ Indicates Political Control Slips

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Johnson called a sudden news conference in his White House office. In itself this wasn't unusual. He has done it before. This time it was his purpose that was unusual.

When he recalled in reporters Thursday day he wanted to complain about what Congress is and isn't doing. Other presidents have done that when they got steamed up enough.

But for Johnson to do it — the obvious purpose being to enlist public understanding of his problem by providing a fill-in on congressional behavior — was a pretty good indication he is no longer the master politician in full control.

He had a lot to complain about. Congress has been dragging its feet. Last January when he sent his budget to Congress, asking $136 billion to run the government, he included 14 major appropriations bills.

After nine months in session Congress still hasn't finished with 10 of the 14 bills. But Johnson was complaining also about the congressional fever to cut what he asked allowed in some instances it voted more.

DEPARTURE FROM PAST In addition, he asked for an income tax boost as one way of heading off inflation. But Congress hasn't done anything about it and, at the rate it's going isn't likely to, preferring to cut spending.

But this public complaining isn't the way Johnson in the past would have tried to bend Congress to his will.

While he was in Congress and since becoming President, Johnson has been one of the greatest political engineers in history in manipulating and maneuvering the men in the Capitol to get what he wanted.

In short, he hardly would have handled his problem the way he did Thursday. For instance, all through 1965 he never stopped praising Congress which did a prodigious job of legislation that year.

FIERY SPIRIT LACKING Neither Johnson nor Congress is showing the fiery spirit they had two years ago when full American involvement in the war was just beginning.

Johnson has quieted down a bit from the earlier years when he showed almost an eagerness to get on television with statements to the public. For one thing, he probably found out he is not at his best or most convincing on television.

But, whatever his reason for less eagerness for the TV screen, Johnson has shown a strange reluctance about answering his critics in public.

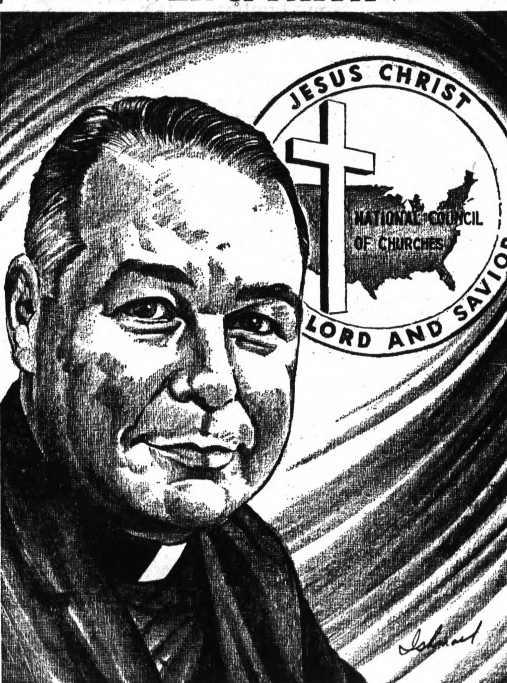

Those who know him have heard him say, when asked why he didn't do far more in answering of his critics instead of letting them monopolize the public mind, that he had already done plenty of answering.

This attitude seems to assume that the public has a longer memory than it can possibly have when the critics are saying something practically every day, getting more heated as they go.

His Vietnam talk last Friday night — the reason for finally deciding to make it is not yet known — was apparently the result of realizing he had better start talking.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

The Rev. David J. Bowman, S.J., will speak to groups on ecumenism at any given opportunity. His faith has guided him into one of the most exciting phases of religion in the mid-Twentieth century, the ecumenical movement.

Father Bowman is the first Roman Catholic elected to the executive staff of the National Council of Churches. His work is a consequence of the Second Vatican Council's approval of Catholic participation in the ecumenical movement.

He works with Protestants, Anglicans, Orthodox and Roman Catholics in the Faith and Order Department. Faith and Order proclaims the oneness of the church of Jesus Christ and the obligation of all Christian groups to manifest that unity.

"We have all experienced ecumenical living in our own neighborhoods," Father Bowman says. "Faith is a gift through the revelation of God and Christ. It cannot be made to order, it cannot be prefabricated."

Confident Living:

Think Success to Be Successful

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

You can think yourself to failure or you can think your way to success. Belief is a form of thought. All the believing you ever do is done in your mind.

You can disbelieve yourself into a frustrated existence or you can believe yourself into a successful life. It is up to you. DR. PEALE

We do not half realize the power of thought — either to destroy or to create. Thoughts actually are forces. You can't see them but they are substantial nevertheless. Thoughts are dynamic powers.

Think negative thoughts and you thereby activate negative forces, drawing back to yourself negative results. Like attracts like.

Send out hate and you get back hate. Send out fear and you get back fear. Send out defeat and you draw defeat to yourself. Conversely send out positive thoughts and what comes back? Positive results, of course. You defeat yourself, or you gain victories, by the thoughts you think.

A young woman came in tears to ask if I thought her father a "bad man." I said, "No, your father is not a bad man. He is just a man who handled himself badly."

The father, an officer in a small town bank, had a social climber wife. She wore clothes with a flair — and a woman who wears clothes well usually wants more of them. Also, she had ambitions to be a leading socialite in town. So she harassed her husband for more clothes, bigger house, better cars, furs and what have you.

The financial pressure on this man became acute. He didn't have that kind of money but had invested in the frantic hope of improving his situation. Despite being a banker, however, he didn't do well and soon found himself in trouble — deep financial trouble.

He was a moral man who would never think of dishonesty. But he did think of it and that tripped him up. One night a thought flashed up in his consciousness: "You have easy access to money. You could use a little. You would not be stealing it — just using it temporarily to handle pressing personal obligations. You could put it back before the bank examiners came and nobody would know the difference."

But he knew this thought was very wrong — stupid, in fact — and he repulsed it forcibly.

At this point he was sovereign over himself, over his actions. His mind was acting as judge.

So the banker repulsed the dishonest thought. A few nights later, working alone late at the bank, he found the thought had come again — "Just borrow for awhile." Again he repulsed it, but not quite so forcibly this time.

Night after night the same thought advanced upon him. His repulses were becoming less and less forceful — and finally one night the thought had grown so strong and beguiling that the man's fingers reached out and performed the act which his mind had been building up.

As so often happens the first step in the wrong direction leads to another step, and another. The thought is always ancestor to the deed.

The inevitable happened. His "borrowing" was found out. This poor fellow is now serving a 20-year term in the penitentiary. Not a bad man; just a living demonstration of what happens when a man takes a bad thought, nurses it — and lets it grow until it takes over and destroys him.

All destructiveness, all failure, originates in thought! And all creative, powerful living likewise originates in thought!

So get a good thought, build it up, develop it. Get a faith thought, make it grow. Don't let it stop on a minimum level. Let it take over. Make a giant of it, and it will make a giant of you.

Cabbage Prices in 26,911 Words

By DAVE BURGIN

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When President Kennedy took office, one of the first things he did was instruct cabinet members who had reports for him to get to the point.

"Lincoln needed only 260 words to write the Gettysburg Address," the late president was fond of saying. Or, "The Ten Commandments contains only 300 words."

The present administration, however, apparently likes things spelled out.

How else can you explain a Department of Agriculture order setting price on cabbages in 26,911 words?

Initial reaction was stunned silence. The handful of men and women on the House floor and in the press gallery were witnessing a shocker.

Rep. John H. Buchanan Jr., a clear-cut Republican from Alabama, rose slowly and said, "I announce my total

'City Golf Course Costs Not Paid by Taxpayers'

D. R. White asks why taxpayers support the City golf course. The answer is they don't support it. The golfer supports the course with greens fees. The course helps support the public parks and donates free golf days to school teams and teen-agers all summer. Senior citizens get free golf four and five days a week all season.

If all the money taken in was spent on the golf course we could have watered fairways and a decent clubhouse to replace the building now called a clubhouse. Golfers pay $3 weekdays and $3.50 weekends for three or four hours pleasure. How would a taxpayer like to pay that much to enter a city park?

It would pay to know the facts before griping about something. D. R. White should take up golf. He might enjoy it.

Comments Continue on Teaching Problems

When do teachers find time to teach respect, reason and responsibility to students? How can students respect a teacher who is not always in the classroom, or one who sometimes falls asleep during classes? How do teachers expect to reason with students when some teachers don't know the meaning of the word? If teachers spent more time in the classroom, students would learn more and be easier to get along with. I graduated from high school in 1963 and I can stand behind my convictions.

DAVID M. MYRE

When will people like "Fed Up" and certain editors realize that we get only what we pay for? We are not attracting the "Best" into the teaching profession and staff many classrooms with teachers of substandard qualifications. A teacher shortage only exists because there is little to attract and hold good teachers.

Thousands choose not to remain in teaching because they can do better in industry or because they get fed up with watered down educational programs caused by lack of funds and public apathy. Many fine teachers are not willing to leave a profession to which they are dedicated.

Perhaps we can attract and hold good teachers by giving our support to improve educational programs and salaries. Kids are our most valuable resource and deserve the best educational facilities staffed with good teachers.

F. S. OXFORD

I am starting my twelfth year of trying to "teach children to read" and long ago arrived at a conclusion that if a person does not want to learn, he will not learn. Don't blame teachers because high school graduates can't read. Blame the system which advances kids through grade after grade because the "boy is too big," or "the girl is too old," or "the building is too crowded," ad infinitum.

and unqualified support for President Johnson."

Buchanan paused, then added, "Let the record show that I think the President's high ability is exceeded only by the President's charm and perspicacity."

After another pause, Buchanan cracked the quiet by explaining he was talking about Miss Cathy Johnson, an Alabama girl who'd been elected President of Girls' State.

LBJ Again Pleads for Surtax

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Congress appear as far apart as ever over taxes and spending cuts with one key Republican questioning whether the President really wants higher taxes.

In his second major appeal in as many days for approval of his 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes, Johnson said Friday that price increases as much as 5 per cent and a home building slump are in store for the nation unless a tax increase wins congressional approval.

But Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior GOP member of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said: "It almost begins to look as though there is a question whether the President really wants a tax increase. It seems to me he would be trying to find ways of accommodation rather than widening the gap by his adumbration."

Despite a new round of verbal blasts Friday over taxes and spending cuts, the basic positions of each side remained basically the same although Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Finance Committee seemed to stiffen the terms by demanding future as well as present economies in government.

SPECIFIC CUTS

The ways and means committee is demanding specific spending cuts of $5 billion and has shelved the surcharge plan pending a spending agreement with the Johnson administration.

Johnson has said he will detail cuts after all appropriations bills are approved by Congress.

The President asked officials of the Federal Home Loan Bank System meeting at the White House to talk up the need for a tax increase.

Admitting it's unpopular to ask for more taxes for an unpopular war, Johnson said both taxes and Vietnam nevertheless must be faced reasonably and nonpolitically.

BIG JUMP IN PRICES

Without higher taxes, he added, the country faces a 4 to 5 per cent jump in prices in the next year and an even larger increase in 1969 with rising interest rates and home-building slumping.

Home financing is a prime purpose of the Home Loan Bank System.

Johnson on Thursday restated

his tax and spending position at a news conference.

There were these other developments in the latest weeks-long battle over taxes and spending: —Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., said his House Appropriations Committee expects to cut another $5 billion in appropriations but probably can't cut $10 billion, the level needed to slice spending by $5 billion in the current fiscal year.

—Charles L. Schultze, Budget Bureau director, commenting on Mills' call for greater economy in government, said the trend of federal spending under Johnson has been down in relation to the nation's productive capacity.

—There is no easy road to a responsible budget—tempting as such a mirage may sometimes appear," Schultze said in a statement. "A responsible budget can be achieved neither by unspecified wholesale slashes nor by hastily conceived additions."

—Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee, called Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to a Tuesday hearing to explain a freeze on construction of military family housing, part of an over-all freeze on new military construction projects.

EDDY GILMORE

Pulitzer-Prize Newsman Is Dead at 60

LONDON (AP) — Eddy Gilmore, an Associated Press correspondent who covered war and the Stalin era in the Soviet Union, won a Pulitzer Prize and married a lovely Russian ballerina, died of a heart attack Friday night at his home. He was 60.

"He winned and dined with kings," said a friend in Gilmore's home town, Selma, Ala., "but he kept us informed."

Gilmore's witty good humor showed through even during the grim days in Moscow, where he served as bureau chief. Based in London after the death of Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin in 1953, he was widely known for his reporting on the lighter side of life.

The balding, mustached writer, whose Southern accent survived his travels to many nations, was stricken at his country home at East Grinstead at midnight after a day's work at the London AP bureau.

BEGAN AS CARRIER

Roswell Falkenberg, publisher of the Selma Times-Journal, recalled that Eddy Lanier King Gilmore began his career by delivering that newspaper.

Gilmore wrote for The Atlanta Journal from 1929 to 1932, then for the Washington Daily News before joining the AP in Washington in 1935.

In the Soviet Union, he witnessed the darkest days of the defense against Hitler's invasion armies in World War II. His Pulitzer Prize, in 1947, was for "a distinguished example of telegraphic reporting on international affairs." He got Stalin to answer a series of questions and reported: "Premier Stalin expressed today his conviction that neither the nations of the world nor their armies were seeking another war, and affirmed his confidence in the United Nations as 'a serious instrument' for preserving peace."

Meanwhile, he carried on a romance with Tamara Chernaushova, a dancer, at a time when foreigners were considered at best potential spies and Russians who had contacts with them possible traitors.

In these circumstances, Tamara was banished. Then a friend of Gilmore, the late Wendell Wilkie, the 1940 Republican presidential nominee, interceded at the Kremlin, where he was an unofficial goodwill ambassador during the wartime alliance.

Coho Fishermen Ignored Warnings, Witness Says

MANISTEE (AP) — A Coast Guard witness says he counted 30 boats sailing past the red pennant signifying small craft warning before a Lake Michigan squall that claimed the lives of seven Coho salmon fishermen.

Boatwain's Mate I.C. Wesley E. Davis, officer in charge of the Frankfort Lifeboat Station, testified Friday, at the second day of a Coast Guard hearing, that the fishing boats passed his station in Frankfort Harbor between 8 a.m. and noon on Sept. 23 as it fell the storm warning.

Davis added that, "Only two of the over 40 boats that were beached during the storm were from Lake Michigan counties."

Davis said many of the fishermen were from inland cities and the Detroit area and were apparently unfamiliar with Lake Michigan.

Paul Hadley, boating administrator in the Michigan Conservation Department, said one of the reasons for the high loss of life was "failure of the people to wear lifesaving devices."

'Protect Hanoi From China'

FLINT (AP) — Harrison Salisbury, assistant managing editor of the New York Times, suggested Friday that the United States guarantee North Vietnam protection from Red China if negotiations are begun to end the Vietnam war.

In an interview with Radio Station WFDF in Flint, Salisbury called his suggestion "a radical and novel approach."

Salisbury said Hanoi is concerned that Red China may intervene and keep the war going if negotiations start. He said he feels that Red China has been restrained by Hanoi from entering the war thus far.

Last December and January, Salisbury made a two-week visit to North Vietnam and filed reports from Hanoi.

ENJOIN RUSSIA

He said the United States should try to get the Soviet Union to join in guaranteeing Hanoi protection if negotiations start.

When he was in Moscow last summer, Salisbury said, he found Russians considered a war between Russia and China "a real genuine possibility."

"The risk of war with China and Vietnam is getting more and more dangerous as we bomb along China's border," he said in the interview.

Strikebound Kroger Sells Perishables

DETROIT (AP) — Bargain hungry housewives flocked to 10 strikebound Kroger supermarkets Friday to take advantage of low prices in meats and other perishable items as the stores sought to clean their shelves.

Bacon at 35 cents a pound, compared to the usual price of 70 cents, and small eggs at 23 cents a dozen, compared with the regular 45 cents, were typical of the bargain prices.

"We are closing the stores just as fast as we sell out the perishables," said a Kroger spokesman.

The firm's 105 stores in an eight-county area around Detroit were struck Sept. 28 in a contract dispute involving 1,600 workers. Only 10 of the stores are still open.

Local 876 of the Retail Store Employees Union said worker demands averaged 80 cents an hour over the life of a proposed three-year contract but it did not disclose current pay scales.

Kroger obtained a court injunction Thursday limiting to five the number of pickets at any of its stores still in operation. The company charges that the pickets have been sprinkled in some of its parking lots but the union denied any knowledge of the incidents.

As the strike threatened to spread to other Kroger stores in outstate Michigan, the firm advertised its meats, fruits, vegetables and other perishables at prices anywhere from 25 per cent below normal prices.

A rush of housewives followed with bargain items being grabbed off the shelves in a hurry.

Newspaper Exec Stresses Service

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A Knight Newspapers executive told the 50th annual University Press Club of Michigan meeting Friday that public service campaigns are replacing sensational crusades to boost circulation.

J. Montgomery Curtis, a former director of the American Press Institute, and now a vice president in charge of development for Knight Newspapers, was a speaker at the meeting attended by 160 club members.

Softhearted Banker Jailed

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. (AP) — A former banker must spend six months in prison because he wouldn't collect debts from his friends.

If someone couldn't repay a loan, the banker just marked the note paid, then juggled the bank's books to cover the shortage, Judge Elmo B. Hunter said in U.S. District Court Friday.

The defendant, H. Howard Backs, 44, former executive vice president of the Excelsior Springs State Bank, had pleaded guilty to manipulating bank funds and making false entries in bank records.

A reporter to Judge Hunter placed the bank's shortage at $400,000 to $500,000, but said Backs didn't take a single dollar for himself. The report said the bank has written off $258,000 in bad debts so far.

Wheels of Danish Cheese Decorate Buffet Reception

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Chicago. Cheese, cheese, cheese, cheese—all Danish. As it has done for a number of years, the Denmark Cheese Association closed the Food Editors' Conference with a reception.

This year it took place in Chicago's delightful bit of Denmark, the Kungsholm Restaurant, and celebrated the 800th anniversary of Copenhagen.

Great wheels of all the cheeses we have come to know were mounted above the buffet table.

On the table were all the favorite traditional dishes: herring, lox, fish puddings, liver paste, meat balls, other meats, pastries, jellied salads and a towering birthday cake made of almond paste. There was even chocolate covered cheese.

The restaurant is rich in Danish tradition and our hosts were true representatives of that hospitable country.

As guests of the R. T. French Company this noon we heard Maurine B. Neuberger, the former senator from Oregon speak.

She is the chairman of the Citizens' Advisory Council on the Status of Women and newly appointed to President Johnson's Consumer Advisory Committee.

STANDARDS

"Maintaining standards depends on the three-way team of government, business and the consumer," she said. The government has never intended to set itself up as a complaint department for citizens. If you have a complaint, she advised, take it up with the store or company involved.

Mrs. Neuberger is not completely happy with the new packaging law. She worked for months before its passage, gathering testimony, and thinks it should be stricter.

"Cents off is still being practiced," she explained. "There is no apparent reason for odd-ounce packages except to confuse the consumer. Coffee is always sold by the pound, liquor by the pint or fifth. But you cannot buy a pound of rice today."

She suggested that consumers check the amount in any package that suddenly changes its shape or that is badly advertised as "new" when the product had been around a long time.

Competition should keep prices down, but it sometimes puts them up."

Breakfast with the makers of Farberware was buffet style. One of their interesting new products is an electric skillet with a steam insert.

COMEDY RELIEF

Pillsbury exhibited great understanding at their session, billed as "modern baking with refrigerated fresh dough," by limiting their discussion of the product to five minutes. The next half hour was given over to Milt Kamen who kept us weak with laughter as he told one funny story after another — most of them about food.

If there ever was a TGIF day, it's the Friday when we weary food editors pick up our toys and go home, glad to be facing a normal work week. But it's been fun.

Musicale Presents 'Sister Angelica'

The Pontiac Tuesday Musicale will present its first program of the season Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in Central Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

Puccini's "Sister Angelica" which was written in the later romantic style, but which reflects somewhat the modern insistence on realism, will be presented by the Birmingham Musicale Opera Ensemble.

Mrs. Richard C. Royal will sing the title role. She received her musical education at the College of Music of Cincinnati, and has been guest soloist with the Charleston, W. Va. Symphony prior to her area work as soloist at Central Methodist Church and Kirk in the Hills.

The production is under the direction of Alice Engram.

Members of the Musicale have spent over 700 hours in preparing the presentation, including rehearsals, planning sessions, set-building and sewing of costumes.

COMMITTEE

Chairman of the day will be Mrs. J. F. Radenbaugh. Assisting will be Vera Basset, Mrs. B. J. Habel, and Mrs. L. S. Salathiel.

Others are Mesdames: E. L. Phillips, R. V. Thurston, O. H. Lundbeck and M. M. Alward.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard Bandy Barker of Bloomfield Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Gay, to John Wright Ingraham, son of Harold Gillette Ingraham of Dedham, Mass., and the late Mrs. Ingraham. Miss Barker is a graduate of University of Michigan and her fiancé holds degrees from Harvard University and is completing doctorate work at New York University, School of Business Administration. Nov. 18 vows are planned.

Banting Cure Kills Twiggy Emulator

HALMSTAD, Sweden (AP) — An 18-year-old Swedish girl who wanted to look like her ideal, threadlike British model Twiggy, died a living skeleton in hospital here following a self-imposed "Banting cure," doctors reported today.

The girl died of undernourishment, complicated by pneumonia, after she had become afflicted by a psychic disorder that made her refuse food. She weighed only 45 pounds at her death, said doctors who treated her in this southwest coastal town.

The girl and four of her schoolmates who also idolized Twiggy decided last New Year's on a Banting cure of their own. The Banting cure, named for William Banting, a London undertaker, consists of avoiding mealy, oily or saccharine foods.

Sculptured mahogany hands — created by Mrs. Jean Smith (right) expressly for donation to Western Michigan University in honor of a former teacher, Lydia Siedschlag, will be unveiled in the lounge of Siedschlag Hall on Western's campus tomorrow. Maria Jackson (left) contributed a dedicatory verse which will be included in the inscription. Both women are teachers at Pontiac Central High School; Mrs. Smith in the arts and crafts department and Miss Jackson, English.

Honors Teacher With Sculpture

From five pieces of mahogany laminated together, Pontiac Central High School artist-teacher Jean Smith has created a smoothly beautiful symbol of the creativity of another artist and teacher, Lydia Siedschlag. Miss Siedschlag was active on the art faculty of Western Michigan University from 1921 until 1958, retiring at that time to become art consultant to the university in the decorating of new buildings.

A native of Pontiac, Mrs. Smith studied under Miss Siedschlag at WMU and remains a deep and lasting admiration for her former teacher.

The wood sculpture was begun last March. It was created for Siedschlag Hall at WMU. Hands were chosen to show how Miss Siedschlag "holds creativity in her hands."

A verse by Maria Jackson, English teacher at Pontiac Central High School, will be inscribed on the plaque.

Miss Jackson has collaborated with Mrs. Smith on other occasions in the creation of dedicatory verses. Also a native of Pontiac, Miss Jackson has taught at Pontiac Central High School for eight years.

The plaque will be affixed to the oak and marble base, designed by Mrs. Smith and built for her by an uncle, retired carpenter-contractor Carl Van den Bergh of University Drive.

The sculpture will be presented to the university at an unveiling ceremony Sunday at 2 p.m. in the lounge of Siedschlag Hall.

Red Cross Unit Upped Service Over Past Year

The second annual meeting of the Southeastern Michigan Chapter, American National Red Cross was held Thursday at the Chapter House, Detroit.

Chapter chairman, S. F. Leahy, of Orchard Lake, spoke of the past year's accomplishments and thanked the many thousands of volunteers who made its accomplishments possible. During the past year, the local Red Cross Service to Military Families assisted 30,715 families, an increase of 6,000 over the previous year.

The Blood Program collected 81,000 pints of blood which was used as both whole blood transfusion or made into blood fractions. Certificates were issued to 74,853 individuals who had completed instruction in first aid, water safety and small craft courses taught by Red Cross.

OFFICERS

Leahy was re-elected chapter chairman. Other officers elected for a second term of office were: first vice chairman, Chester E. Blanton; second vice chairman, Carleton C. Patterson, Jr. of Birmingham; third vice chairman, Dr. Lloyd R. Hirth, of Utica, secretary, Mrs. Philip H. Oakey, treasurer, Roderic V. Wiley, of Birmingham; counselor, Louis J. Colombo, Jr., of Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Francis Smith, volunteer chairman for the "Adopt A Clubmobile" program, reported on this, the chapter's newest project.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Cecile Dumbrique of Waterford, who has recently returned from a Red Cross tour of duty in Vietnam as a clubmobile unit director.

Chamber Ensemble Performs at OU

The Nieuw Amsterdam Trio, one of the world's most noted Chamber Ensembles, will appear Monday at Oakland University's Wilson Hall at 8:30 p.m.

In well over 400 performances the Trio has firmly established itself as one of the most distinguished and successful chamber groups before the public today. It has been called "the best of its kind."

Its vibrant and deeply musical interpretations of the classical, romantic and modern Trio literature have been enthusiastically acclaimed by critics and the public everywhere. The Trio performers are Edith Mocsanyi, pianist; John P. Pintavalle, violinist; and Heinrich Joachim, cellist.

Edith Mocsanyi, founder and pianist of the Nieuw Amsterdam Trio, is a native of Vienna. She graduated from the Master class of the Viennese Academy of Music under the world famous pianist, Emil von Sauer and studied subsequently with Leonie Gombrich.

Toured extensively throughout Europe and the Near East as the pianist of the Koffmann Trio, the Georg Steiner Trio and the cello-piano duo she had with Ernst Neumann. In this country she performed as a soloist and the pianist of many leading Chamber Music Organizations.

Since 1955, she has toured extensively with the Nieuw Amsterdam Trio coast-to-coast as well as abroad.

TOURED EUROPE

Heinrich Joachim made his debut at the age of seventeen in his native Berlin and thereafter toured all over Europe. In 1935, he emigrated to Guatemala City where he became Professor of Cello and Director of the Conservatory.

In the United States, Mr. Joachim was first cellist of the New York City Symphony under Leonard Bernstein. Later he joined the New York Philharmonic under Mitropoulos and Stokowski. He appeared repeatedly as soloist with the Baltimore Symphony and other orchestras.

Subsequent to his New York recital he toured throughout the Continent and Europe as soloist and as member of various Chamber groups including the Dartmouth String Quartet.

John Pintavalle was born in Allentown, Pa., and made his debut at the age of ten with the Philadelphia Civic Orchestra. He became a scholarship student of Alexander Hilsberg at the age of twelve and studied later with Lea Lubowitz at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia and with Oscar Shumsky at the Juilliard School of Music in New York.

Pintavalle performed as a violinist with such noted groups as the Philadelphia Orchestra under the baton of Eugene Ormandy and the Musica Aeterna Orchestra. He has also concertized widely as a soloist and performed frequently on radio, television and Voice of America programs.

A limited number of tickets are available at the Festival office, Oakland University.

A concert of chamber music including selections by Beethoven and Brahms will be given Monday at 8:30 p.m. at Oakland University's Wilson Hall, by the Nieuw Amsterdam Trio. Shown in rehearsal are (from left) Heinrich Joachim, cellist, Edith Mocsanyi, founder and pianist of the group, and John P. Pintavalle, violinist.

See Mother While Husband Works Until He Changes His Viewpoint

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I went with John (fake name) for four years and my mother hated him. In fact she told me she would rather see me dead than married to John. Well, when I became a girl I married John against my mother's wishes and you should have heard the terrible things she said about him. I couldn't even put it in this letter. She did her best to ruin his reputation.

Now that we are going to have a baby my mother is trying to make up with John. John says he will never set foot in her house and if she wants to see me or the baby she will have to come here during the day time while he is not at home. My mother even wanted to have a birthday party for me, and John said I could go if I wanted to, but he wasn't going.

What can I do, Abby? I can't blame John for feeling the way he does, but she is still my mother and this is making it awfully hard on me.

JOHN'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If in time John finds it in his heart to make peace with your mother—and I hope he does, fine. But until he does, continue to see your mother while John's at work.

DEAR ABBY: I feel so silly—a grown woman with three children asking for help with this problem, but here goes. I have a sister who brings her friends to my home to give them what she laughingly calls "The 50-Cent Tour."

I wouldn't mind so much if only she would give me a little notice, but she has brought people over here as early as 9 in the morning when my beds are unmade and I'm looking a wreck, sorting laundry.

I do have a nice home, Abby, but it's not always in condition for inspection. Don't you think my sister should give me a chance to fix it up before showing it off? How can I get this across to her without getting her angry with me?

DEAR DROPPED: You sound like the type who would greet unwelcome guests at the door with a big smile and open arms, and then wonder why they continue to drop in on you. If you haven't told your sister to PLEASE call in advance so you can set a mutually convenient time for her "50-cent tour," I suggest that you put in your two cents.

DEAR ABBY: My son is 11 years. He is a very shy and protected child. He sleeps in the same room with his 10-year-old sister and I tuck them both into bed every night.

The boy knows nothing of the facts of life and I think it is time he was told. Shouldn't his father be the one to tell him? I will be glad to tell the girl when the time comes, but I think a father should tell his son.

His father says the boy is much too young to have his head filled with things like that and to give him time yet. How much time should I give him?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: First, about your sleeping arrangements. Your son should have his privacy and your daughter hers. Even if one of them has to sleep in the kitchen or the hall—or on the floor.

It doesn't matter who tells a boy (or girl) the facts of life as long as they are told as soon as they become curious. New Approach in the Bowery

Things Look Up for Derelicts

NEW YORK (AP) — Things are changing for Bowery derelicts.

The change is not in the grime-windowed flophouses where some of them sleep or in the taverns where many go to drink, but in the approach taken by authorities in dealing with these homeless men. At the end of this month a new experimental program is scheduled to begin which may alter the way police and welfare officials handle the 6,000 derelicts who live on or near the Bowery.

Starting Oct. 31, two-man teams consisting of a plainclothes patrolman and a reformed alcoholic or Bowery room clerk will daily comb the streets for derelicts to offer them medical help.

Now the men are either left to themselves or arrested on charges of loitering or obstructing traffic and put in jail. The practice of arresting derelicts as drunks was successfully challenged in state courts recently.

DEVELOPED BY INSTITUTE

The new $500,000-a-year effort is being developed by the Vera Institute for Justice, a private nonprofit organization, and its budget will be financed by various federal, state, local and private groups.

It is called the Manhattan Bowery Project and its purpose, said Herbert Sturz, its principal architect, "is to develop a decent and workable alternative to dealing with these men by the usually unsuccessful cycle of arrest, trial and jail."

Sturz, executive director of the institute, does not believe that the project will rehabilitate large numbers of men but hopes it will remove the burden of dealing with them from the system of criminal justice.

"I feel it will be a success if we find a civilized alternative to the expensive and wasteful way we presently deal with the derelicts," he said.

The program will be voluntary. "We are going to go out and ask the derelicts lying in the street whether they want medical help. If they don't want to come, they don't have to. They also will be free to leave the program at any time," he said.

Many officials who have worked with derelicts did not believe a voluntary program would work, but during a brief test on the Bowery last year 12 of 15 men approached by institute workers accepted the offer of free medical aid. The men will be taken to a 50-bed infirmary located on the fourth floor of the city-run Men's Shelter at 8 E. 3rd St. where they will be washed, deloused, and given a medical examination.

A round-the-clock staff will include five registered nurses, five practical nurses, five nurses' aides, five correctional officers, three case workers, eight Urban Corps workers and physicians from St. Vincent's hospital.

Walled Lake Nips PNH, 21-20; Skippers Tie, PCH Loses

Vikings Again in I-L Lead After Exciting Grid Battle

By JERE CRAIG

The product was the same but the manufacturing process differed noticeably from previous attempts Friday night as Walled Lake outdusted Pontiac Northern, 21-20.

An estimated 1,000 fans watched one of the season's hardest hitting, best played prep football games in the county as the host Vikings (4-0) assumed their customary role atop the Inter-Lakes League grid race.

PNH (3-1) made its strongest showing in the annual series that has never found the Huskies in the winning end of the result. Since the 9-6 loss, in 1961, Northern has been beaten by at least three touchdowns every time out against the Vikings.

But last night's game pitted two nearly even squads who were fired up. The Huskies moved to a quick 10-0 lead and had the upper hand most of the first half.

Walled Lake struck hard and fast in the third quarter, however, and PNH didn't have enough time to recapture control of the action.

Penalties hurt the winners while Northern hurt itself with fumbles and intercepted passes. However, three missed open field blocks actually spelled defeat for PNH.

Leading 13-7, the Huskies received a break when Sandy Seay grabbed an errant Walled Lake aerial at the PNH four-yard line and broke free down the sideline. But Greg Fogle leaped over Jim Collins' intended pass-clearing block to knock the defender out of bounds and save a touchdown.

In the third period after Walled Lake moved to a 21-13 edge, Barry Webb sped down the sideline with the ensuing kickoff to the Vikings' 47 where Bill Welch made the stop as the final defender.

Then with 32 seconds remaining and the Vikings clinging to their one-point final margin, Webb picker up Fogle's punt at the PNH one-yard line, broke loose to the right and needed one block down the sideline but cut back inside and was downed at the Northern 38.

The scoreboard clock went off on the play, leaving the players and fans in confusion, but the power was restored and 23 seconds remained.

The Huskies completed one pass for a first down, then time ran out before they could set up another foray into Walled Lake territory.

The Huskies began the game with a rush, driving 65 yards in 15 plays with yardage. Dana Coin booted the PAT. Coin then added a 35-yard field goal the next time PNH had the ball, setting up the scoring opportunity by passing to Ken Jahnke for a first down at the winners' 20.

Mark Loveland recovered a Northern fumble to give Walled Lake its first scoring change. Dan Rafferty guided the Vikings in from the PNH 23, covering the final 16 yards himself. Bob Zaebst ran the conversion.

Northern retaliated by moving 74 yards to the homesters' 10 before Coin booted a 28-yard field goal.

Walled Lake moved 68 yards with the second half kickoff. On the 13th play, Rafferty hit Welch with a 16-yard pass. The receiver made a sprawling catch

PPK Entries Compete

Local finals of the Punt, Pass and Kick contest will be held tonight at Wisner Stadium in conjunction with the Pontiac Firebirds-Dayton Colts football game.

The local contest by John McAuliffe Ford and the Pontiac Optimists, will have five finalists in each of the six age groups competing.

The winner will then go into the regional championship during a Detroit Lions' football game.

Must Game for Firebirds Tonight

The Pontiac Firebirds will have several reasons for playing their best football tonight against the Dayton Colts at Wisner Stadium.

The F-Birds will be out to prove that last week's 19-13 win at Dayton was no fluke; they will be trying to keep their title hopes alive in the NFL race and a crowd of 4,500 including a number of prominent football people will be out to just across the goal line, and Steve Gebala broke a tackle to sweep left end for the go-ahead PAT.

A pass interception by Greg Wendell regained the ball for the Vikings at PNH's 36. Fogle capped a five-play, one-play drive by darting across the goal from the nine. He ran the decisive extra point by breaking a tackle on a sweep.

With quarterback Rafferty running the option play expertly, Walled Lake dominated the ground offenses. PNH had a balanced attack but didn't have ball control in the final half, losing the ball on two fumbles and two pass interceptions.

KEY POINT — Fullback Bob Zaebst (36) of Walled Lake roars into the end zone with the Vikings' first conversion point last night against Pontiac Northern. The Vikings needed all three PATs in a 21-20 Inter-Lakes League conquest.

DRIVING FOR YARDAGE — Hard-running Greg Fogle (dark jersey) of Walled Lake strains for extra yardage as Pontiac Northern defenders Jim Collins (41) and Bob Wright combine to make the tackle after a 13-yard gain for a first down. The Walled Lake griders taped red "Ns" on their helmets as a psychological tactic against the visiting Northern squad. The home team won, 21-20.

QB Rose Sparks Brother Rice Win

Quarterback Bill Rose sparked Brother Rice to a big 20-6 victory over Detroit Catholic Central last night.

After Brother Rice had taken a 7-0 lead on Kevin Keating's 57 yard run, Rose passed to Mike O'Clair for the point.

Catholic Central scored before the half ended and it was 7-6 at intermission.

In the fourth quarter, Rose plunged two yards and passed to Lynch for the point to make it 14-6.

The Warrior QB wasn't finished yet however. He went 85 yards from scrimmage to complete the Brother Rice scoring.

Jim Massey's 2 yarder accounted for the Catholic Central touchdown.

Rice now stands 3-1 and Catholic Central is 2-2 in league play.

Captains Tumble, 33-0

Kettering's Captains had an off night and it proved costly as a visiting Port Huron Northern squad extracted a 33-0 victory last evening.

"They were flat," said coach Jim Larkin, who had watched the Captains lose a heartbreaker to a strong East Detroit team last week, 12-6.

The Port Huron squad pushed across a pair of quick touchdowns and the badly-shaken Captains couldn't halt the flow of six-pointers.

The visitors had a 14-0 lead with the game only five minutes off, with one of the scores coming after a Captain fumble deep in their own territory.

Waterford's Skippers, Falcons Thrill Fans With 32-32 Standoff

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Let no one sour you on high school football. The kids aren't paid to play but they're entertaining.

Waterford and Farmington staged one of the zaniest shows of the season last night as they combined for 10 touchdowns and four extra points and split 'em right down the middle in a 32-32 standoff.

It was the Inter-Lakes League opener for the Skippers of Waterford (0-0-1), who still have an eye on the long championship while the tie left the Falcons with an 0-1-1 mark in conference competition.

After a routine first half during which Farmington built a 13-6 lead, both squads threw defense out the window and staged a scoring spree that left some 2,000 screaming fans a little disappointed that no one could win.

The game looked like the team that had the ball last would win the game, but the seconds ticked away with Farmington at the Waterford 30-yard line.

RALLY TO TIE

The Skippers showed the home fans some scrap as they battled from behind twice to tie the game, the final time at 32-32 with just 56 seconds left in the game.

Neither coach singled out any player for defensive recognition, but neither would have any trouble picking out the offensive stars of the evening.

For Farmington, it was quarterback Dan Wolfman, while junior quarterback-halback Mike Sheldon paced the Skippers.

Wolfman, a speedy, 5-10, 165-pounder, directed coach Bob Mistelet's shotgun offense to perfection and came up with the finest night of his prep career.

Wolfman scored four touchdowns, rushed for 240 yards, completed 6 of 16 passes for 89 yards, and as a defensive halback, he helped on numerous tackles and intercepted two passes.

SCORES THREE TDs

Sheldon, the No. 2 quarterback in coach John Moffat's plans, scored three times from long range, twice in the final period, and he finished with 111 yards in just five carries.

Sheldon outtraced the Falcons defense on two of the touchdowns runs and waited behind a wall of blockers after hauling in a pass from quarterback Brad Potter for the other six-point.

Game honors, however, have to go to Wolfman.

COLLECTS PATS

Bruce Hamilton added his first of three PAT boots and Port Huron led, 7-0.

The Captains took the kickoff and promptly fumbled the ball away at their own 20-yard marker.

That's all Burnell needed. He covered the 20 yards in a hurry and let halback Walt Gary carry it over for the final five yards.

The generous Captains were at it again in the second period. This time

Kettering bobbled the ball on its own 25 Port Huron defenders received it.

Five plays later, Gary waltzed over from the four yard line to put the visitors in front at intermission, 20-0.

ICING ON CAKE

It was just icing on the cake in the third stanza as halback Jim Dahike scored on runs of 4 and 12 yards.

The setback was the third straight for the Captains and left them with a 1-3 mark and prospects of the worst record in the school's short history.

There's nothing easy on the Kettering schedule. Next is Utica Stevenson, which is no pushover, and then the Captains will have to contend with Roseville, Pontiac Northern and Waterford.

It was Port Huron's third triumph in four decisions, the only loss coming in a 26-19 squeaker against Roseville last week.

Chiefs Handed 20-13 Setback by Saginaw 11

Special to the Press

SAGINAW — Those road woes continue for Pontiac Central's Chiefs.

The Chiefs journeyed to Saginaw last night and were ambushed, 20-13 marking their fourth straight setback in road uniforms since 1966.

The host Trojans jumped in front in the opening period, 14-0, and fought the Chiefs in the second half to run their record to 2-1 in Saginaw Valley Conference action and 3-1 over-all.

For the Chiefs, it was their second loss (1-2-1) in four league starts and virtually eliminated them from the league race.

Hard running by 200-pound fullback Bill Badger plus a blocked punt led to Saginaw's first two touchdowns.

The first Trojan score came on a 10-yard punt by Badger which ended a 72-yard march during which the big fullback put the ball in scoring territory with a 47-yard run. Tom Deveaux added his first of two PAT kicks and Saginaw led, 7-0.

Moments later, the Trojans blocked a Pontiac Central ball and recovered the ball at the PCH five-yard line.

SNEAKS OVER

Three plays later, quarterback Ben Halter sneaked over from the one to give the Trojans a two-touchdown bulge.

The Chiefs took charge in the second period and came close to tying the game.

Taking advantage of a blocked Saginaw punt, the Chiefs moved 10 yards with Hardman Jones going the final yard for the touchdown. Mike Prince's PAT was wide, his first miss of the season.

Saginaw applied the clincher in the fourth, driving 80 yards on a march that consumed much of the third and part of the final stanza. The payoff was a seven yard scamper by Deveaux.

A big play in the scoring drive was a four-and-three call at the Saginaw 49. The Trojans, in punt formation decided to pass instead, and the ball fell incomplete, but PCH was slapped with an interference penalty and Saginaw had new life with a first down on the Chiefs' 35.

Central moved 70 yards in 15 plays for its other six-pointer, the payoff coming on a 13-yard run by Jones.

Quarterback Larry Froede set up the touchdown with a 41-yard pass to Prince that carried the ball from the PCH 30 to the Saginaw 29.

In another contest, Clawson scored on long plays to whip Lake Orion, 27-0.

Romeo's Clyde Cushingberry started the scoring in the first period when after a short punt, he scored 22 yards to the Rochester 22. Four plays later he went in from the 10 yard line and it was 6-0.

With 2:28 in the half, Rochester moved 54 yards in five plays the key play being a 33 yard

Marr went the final 15 yards on the 6th play of the series to score.

In the fourth period, Jeff Nowels took a 22 yard pass from Scally and Marr rambled 59 yards for the final TD.

Rochester's defense stiffened in the second half as Romeo managed only one first down, gaining 14 yards rushing and 15 passing during this time.

Clawson's Bill Weckley, started the romp of Orion by going 71 yards in the first quarter and Tom East added the point by running.

Rod Holonen took a 37 yard pass play from Mike Heist and Paul Rajala ran 23 yards for the final Clawson touchdown in the 4th stanza.

WRONG-WAY RUN by Troy Back

5 TD Passes by Carriere

Wrong-Way Run by Troy Back

Madison tightened its hold on the Oakland-A race by routing newcomer Utica, 32-7, while Troy found the Avondale Yellowjackets an easy foe last night, 26-6.

The most excitement came in the final seconds of the Troy-Avon game when Troy's Rick Simpson intercepted a Carriere pass and ran the wrong way.

Avondale was passing from its own end zone and Simpson had only to fall over the goal line for the score as he took the ball about the two.

Instead he started racing down the field and had to be knocked out of bounds by his own teammate, Gordy Rasch at the 25 as the game ended.

Derrick Carriere hit on 15 of 18 passes for all five touchdowns for Madison. He netted 315 passing yards.

The 155 pound senior hit Tim Blach for four of the TD aerials for 48, 20, 17 and 21 yards. The other went to John Havrelo.

Utica scored in the second period when Gordon Schwartz ran 147 yards to make the score 14-0.

Terry Morgan pass to Lynn Quallmann for 16 yards after a recovery of a fumble on the Avondale. Jim Kauffman made it 7-0 for Troy.

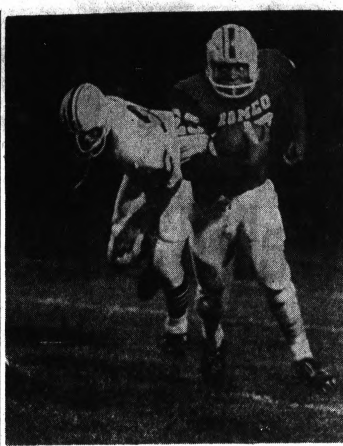

Bill Stelmack went 13 yards and Mitchell converted to make it 14-0 in the first period.

In the third quarter Quallmann passed five yards to Morgan and Peters ran the point, and in the final quarter Curt Gillespie went 46 yards and he ran the point as well.

Greer sank three foul shots in the final six seconds to seal the victory. Philadelphia's fifth in six games.

Detroit, which led 56-47 at the half and 84-40 at the three-quarter mark, outshot the 76ers 47-39 from the floor but hit only 12 of 23 foul shots while Philadelphia cashed in on 32 of 53 from the foul line.

John Tresvanti, Jimmy Walker and Dave Bing all fouled out for Detroit, topped by Dave Debusschere who had 19 points and 24 rebounds.

BULLDOG ON LOOSE — Romeo's Clyde Cushingberry made some big chunks of yardage with his running last night, but it wasn't enough to stop Rochester from scoring a 19-6 victory over the Bulldogs. He had the first touchdown of the game for Romeo.

Milford Dumps Barons From Title Contention

By JERE CRAIG

Clarkston and West Bloomfield kept pace with each other in the Wayne-Oakland League race by chalking up a pair of victories last night.

Clarkston edged Holly, 13-7, while West Bloomfield was defeating Northville in a high scoring battle, 34-26.

Dick Johnson passed and ran for the Clarkston tallies, hitting Tom Bullard for 24 yards in the second quarter and then converting the point for a 7-0 lead.

A pass interception set up the Holly touchdown and Hayes went the final 21 yards, and then kicked the point to tie it, 7-7.

In the final quarter, climaxing a 60 yard drive, Clarkston scored with Johnson going the final five yards. The big play in the drive was a 14 yard dash by Steve Parker.

Robb Brennan fired three touchdown passes for West Bloomfield while Joe Andrews tossed for two and ran one for Northville.

Brennan's passes were to Tom Carter for four yards, 58 yards to Terry Conner and 28 yards to Tim Brennan.

Gary Hahnfeldt went one yard and Rod Arnsden went 15 yards for the other Laker touchdowns.

Andrews tied the score at 7-7 with a 52 yard run in the first quarter for Northville as Cayley converted.

After the Lakers made it 20-7, Berry Deal went 28 yards and it was 20-13 at halftime.

Northville got the last two touchdowns of the game with Bob Hubbard and Gregg Carter taking the passes from Andrews.

Clarkston stands 4-0 for the season and 3-0 in the league while West Bloomfield's only non-league loss was to Waterford.

Defending champion Bloomfield Hills Andover joined three other Wayne-Oakland League hopefuls who will have to settle for spoiler roles after Friday's results.

The speedy Redskins from Milford took over sole possession of third place in the W-O by outgunning the defending champ, 33-21, yesterday afternoon.

Holly, Northville and Andover shared third place with Milford at 1-1 prior to Friday, but only the Redskins could win and stay in close pursuit of unbeaten Clarkston and West Bloomfield (3-0).

The ballhandling and passing of quarterback Bob Cinar, plus speedy leather totting by Dave Dennis and Bob McFarland spelled defeat for Hills.

Operating behind a smoothly functioning offensive line, Cinar had time to make frequent two fakes and then hand off to the third runner.

In passing situations, Cinar rarely had to hurry his passes and he connected on 8 of 15 for 116 yards and two touchdowns to Doug Powers (25 and 36 yards).

McFarland also scored twice, plunging over from the one and sweeping in from the Hills' 12. Dennis added the other six-point for the Redskins by dashing 30 yards, Matt Parridge kicked three PAT's.

Fullback Skip Harris' pass in interception started Milford to its first touchdown. He ran 22 yards and it was 1-0 to the winners.

The Redskins needed five plays to go the 59 yards.

Later in the second quarter, Milford drove 72 yards in 7 downs after stopping the Barons at the 28. The visitors' taking the passes from Andrews.

Clarkston stands 4-0 for the season and 3-0 in the league while West Bloomfield's only non-league loss was to Waterford.

Mott Defeats W. Fitzgerald

Halfback Dave Capello scored two touchdowns to lead Warren Mott to a 26-12 victory over Wayne Fitzgerald last night.

Capello went 5 yards in the first quarter and one yard in the first stanza. Quarterback John Crowell went five yards and Dennis Santo 47 yards for the other Mott tallies.

Fitzgerald scored with 14 seconds to play in the half when Jerry Cooper passed to Ron Bills 9 yards.

Wayne John Glenn made it 2-0 and pushed Birmingham Groves into an 0-2 record in the Northwest Suburban League by downing the Falcons, 19-14 last night.

Glenn scored twice in the first half when Steve Taschke went four yards and Chuck Morris plunged one yard. Groves came back to make it 13-7 at halftime when Rick Wiggins ran 20 yards with an intercepted pass.

Both teams tallied in the fourth quarter. Tim Hubbard took a 20 yard pass from Tim Wozny for Glenn and Ron Douglass raced 45 yards on a boot leg play for Groves.

Steve Chudik kicked both points for Groves.

FRAZIER CHANGES MIND; MAY JOIN RING ELIMINATION

PHILADELPHIA — Joe Frazier's "family" has had a change of heart about the elimination tournament to determine a new heavyweight champion.

When promoter Mike Malitz first proposed the tournament, Frazier's backers, the 200-plus Covelley Corp., said in effect "no way could happen to a hot property when the WBAI dropped their boy from No. 1 in the ratings after the tourney was given a cold shoulder."

A back injury to Oscar Bonavena, the Argentine heavyweight who slaughtered Carl Mildenberger of Germany in a first-round turnkey fight, has reopened the door to Frazier, unbeaten winner of 17 straight bouts.

Greer Paces Comeback to Beat Pistons

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Hal Greer scored 31 of his 32 points in the second half as the Philadelphia 76ers came from behind to beat the Detroit Pistons 110-106 Friday night in a National Basketball Association exhibition game.

Detroit held a 106-100 margin with 1:52 to play when the 76ers rallied behind Greer, Lucius Jackson and Chet Walker to take a 107-106 lead with 20 seconds to play. Walker, who had only two field goals, made the go-ahead basket.

Greer sank three foul shots in the final six seconds to seal the victory. Philadelphia's fifth in six games.

Detroit, which led 56-47 at the half and 84-40 at the three-quarter mark, outshot the 76ers 47-39 from the floor but hit only 12 of 23 foul shots while Philadelphia cashed in on 32 of 53 from the foul line.

John Tresvanti, Jimmy Walker and Dave Bing all fouled out for Detroit, topped by Dave Debusschere who had 19 points and 24 rebounds.

Bell Rings Victory Goal for Boston

Cards' Pitcher After Big Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Nelson Briles, 10-2 record as a starter. His over-all record was 14-5. "A big game has more meaning for me," Briles said Friday. "I would rather pitch in the bigger games because it brings out the best in me. I think any good athlete thrives on a big game. It gives him self satisfaction and pride."

The Cardinals' Cal. resident says a Series game is like any other start. He has to "concentrate on not making any mistakes and play them as they come." "The importance of this game won't affect me to the point where I'll be erratic."

CHECKS BATTERS

Going over the list of Boston's hitters Briles was asked if he feared Carl Yastrzemski, the Boston slugger with a two-homer display in the second game.

STANDING BEHIND

"One ball player can't fear another. Fear or worry really isn't the right word," the dark-haired pitcher said. "Respect is a better word. You just have to be more careful when you pitch to somebody like him."

STANDING BEHIND

Standing behind the batters cause as the Cardinals worked out, Briles didn't think he was lucky to have drawn a start in roomy Busch Stadium.

THE PARK DOESN'T MAKE ANY

"The park doesn't make any difference to me. A home in Fenway Park would probably be a home here."

SURPRISE OF SEASON

But Houston, the surprise team of the season and now No. 2 in the nation, looks for much tougher going against North Carolina State in the Astrodome.

THE WALLPAPER, (3-0), IS NOT ranked nationally, but did receive votes in the latest Associated Press poll.

"THEY'RE IN THE 'OTHERS' CATEGORY

now," the Houston coach Bill Yeoman said. "We've been there, too, and we know how they feel. They'll be coming at us with everything they have."

BUT IT'S QUESTIONABLE WHETHER

that will be enough to offset the explosive power of the Cougars, who have averaged 40 points a game in winning three straight, and lead the nation in offense with a 488.7 yard per game average.

THE INDIVIDUAL STANDOUTS ARE

halfback Warren McVea and quarterback Dick Woodall. McVea is averaging 8.6 yards rushing and three touchdowns for the season. Woodall has completed 16 of 31 passes in Houston's three games for 435 yards and six touchdowns.

THEY HAVE PLAYED ONE COMMON

game for — Florida State. Houston defeated the Seminoles 33-10 while North Carolina State turned the trick 20-10.

PAUL LOWE HAS BEEN SUSPENDED

indefinitely without pay and fined $1,000, said Gillman. "This young man just seems to feel we have rules for the squad and separate rules for him. We just will not work that way."

THE RAIDERS, WHO KNOCKED OFF

Kansas City last week, have just will not work that way."

ST. LOUIS (AP) — GARY BELL,

unlike his Boston Red Sox pitching sidekick, Jim Lonborg, is shying away from any predictions, even in jest. But he has one big goal in today's third game of the World Series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

BIDDING THEIR TIME — Two unidentified baseball fans have the protection of an umbrella as a light rain falls during the Boston Red Sox's workout in preparation for today's scheduled third World Series game. Busch Stadium in St. Louis is expected to be hit by frequent showers today.

Boston Pitcher Hopes to Make Biggest Effort

Right-hander Has 12-8 Records Since Joining Red Sox in June

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Gary Bell, unlike his Boston Red Sox pitching sidekick, Jim Lonborg, is shying away from any predictions, even in jest. But he has one big goal in today's third game of the World Series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I haven't had any dreams and I'm making no predictions," Bell said Friday before a Boston workout at Busch Stadium. "I'll just be glad to give up twice as many hits as Lonborg."

Lonborg, of course, fired a one-hit, 5-0 shutout to square the Series at a game apiece in Boston Thursday. He also had predicted jokingly that he would throw a no-hitter against the heavy-hitting Cards.

"I'm going to sit down with Jim and go over the St. Louis lineup," Bell said. "This will be a real big one for me. I really want to win. I'm going to give it all I've got."

Bell, who ran and shagged flies in the outfield after show-ers lifted for a brief period in early afternoon, fears rustiness the most.

"I've pitched only eight innings in the last 10 days or so," he explained. "I hope it doesn't affect my control. I want to be sharp."

TAPERED OFF

The 30-year-old right-hander, owner of a 13-13 record, including 12-8 since being acquired from Cleveland in early June, tailed off late in the season as the Red Sox won the American League pennant in a hectic four-team scramble.

His last victory was on Sept. 21, when he lasted 6-13 innings in Boston's 6-5 decision over the Indians at Cleveland.

Back home in the final week, he went four innings, losing to the Indians. The next day he finished the last two innings as Boston suffered another defeat by Cleveland.

Cepeda Finds Tough Hitting Against Sox

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer ST. LOUIS (AP) — In 10 seasons in the National League, Orlando Cepeda of the St. Louis Cardinals is hitting .309. In 16 games against the American League, Cepeda is hitting .075.

Cepeda's unexplained slump in competition with the other league is the primary concern of the Cardinals, who went into today's World Series game with Boston tied at one game each.

Cepeda, whose .325 average and 111 runs batted in have made him the leading candidate for the Most Valuable Player award, has failed to get a hit in seven times at bat in the first two games of the Series. In fact, he hit only one ball out of the infield.

NOT CONCERNED

"I don't know what it is, but I'm not concerned," the Cardinals' first baseman said Friday after a rain-punctuated round of batting practice on the Series' day off.

"I got three, four games to go. I have confidence that tomorrow I'm going to get hits. I hit the good couple of times yesterday, but I didn't get a base hit."

Someone asked if maybe the Red Sox had a good scouting report on him.

"They haven't pitched me any different than anyone else," the 30-year-old slugger replied. "We have some better pitching in the National League. I've been playing in the National League 10 years. They should know how to pitch to me."

Jets' Strong Offense Tests Oakland and Defense

By The Associated Press

The irresistible force meets the immovable object at Shea Stadium tonight, when the high-powered offense against the unbeaten Oakland Raiders, who have the best defensive statistics in the American Football League.

Something, it would seem, will have to give.

Namath had a banner day, passing for 415 yards and completing 23 of 39 passes.

Three receivers — Emerson Boozer, Don Maynard and George Sauer — all gained more than 100 yards each. The first time that's happened in the NFL this season.

It was the second straight Sunday that Namath has passed the opposition into submission. Two weeks ago, it was Denver and 399 yards gained on his strong right arm.

Namath's hot hand has carried the Jets into the top spot in passing and total offense. New York is averaging 320.3 yards per game through the air and 416.3 in total offense.

Neither Denver nor Miami presented the defensive problem that Oakland poses for Namath and the Jets.

The Raiders, who knocked off Kansas City last week, have just will not work that way."

They have a 36-hole score of 139, five-under-par, over the aged St. Andrews Old Course. A field of 19 including 11 U.S. pros, is shooting for the $55,000 first prize.

Brewer fired a 70, with consecutive birdies also at the 13th and 14th holes. Casper, the 1966 U.S. Open champion from Peacock, Calif., had a 71.

The two leaders had a two-stroke edge over a four-man mixture of Americans and British tied at 141. They were Gardner Dickinson of Lost Tree Village, Fla., 68-73; George Archer, the towering ex-cowboy from Gilroy, Calif., 69-71; Peter Alln, veteran British Ryder Cup member, 70-72; and Brian Barnes, 22-year-old Englishman, 68-73.

Billy Casper (68-71-139), Gardner Dickinson (68-72-141), George Archer (68-71-141), Peter Alln (69-71-142), Brian Barnes (68-73-143), Dave Stockton (69-72-144), Don Thomas (69-73-145), Bobby Nichols (69-74-146), Alvin Baker (69-75-147), Doug Sanders (69-76-148), Bert Weaver (69-77-149), Ronnie Hawkins (69-78-150), Roberto Blazquez (69-79-151), and Peter Butler (69-80-152).

DAMAGES FILED AGAINST BOXER

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A $300,000 damage suit against Thad Spencer, world heavyweight boxing champion contender, is on file in Alameda County Superior Court.

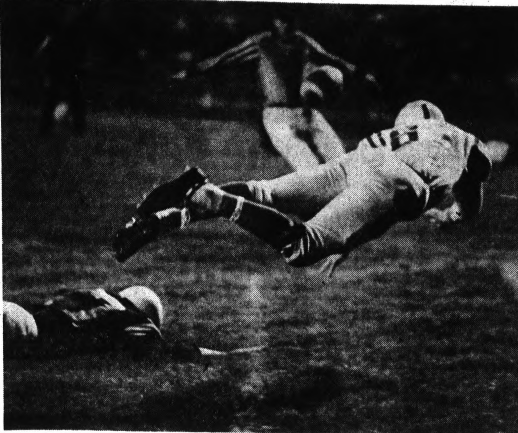

The suit, filed Thursday by Willie E. Frazier, a bartender, alleges Spencer beat Frazier Aug. 31 at the Oakland bar where Frazier works.

Frazier says $200,000 general and $100,000 punitive damages.

Titans Host to FOLS at Wisner Sunday

How bad or how good is Pontiac Catholic's football team? Before the season started, the team looked like a winner. After its first game, a 26-6 setback, it looked like a loser.

Suddenly, the Titans of Pontiac Catholic look like a team capable of living up to their pre-season billing as the team to watch in the Northwest Parochial League.

"We're coming along," said coach Mel Larsen following the Titans' upset victory over St. James last Sunday. "We just have to win the rest of them."

Obviously, the Titans are not as bad as they looked in that loss to Royal Oak St. Mary in their opener. But are they as good as they looked in a 36-19 win over St. Rita and that nod over St. James?

ANSWER SOON

Time will tell and the answer should come tomorrow when the Titans play host to strong Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows at Wisner Stadium.

A loss and the Titans are out of the title picture. They know that, and the same goes for FOLS. Both are a game behind unbeaten Orchard Lake St. Mary (3-0).

The Titans have a lot going for them in quarterback John Guilleau, a good passer who pulled the squad out of a hole with some runs Sunday after the passing situations broke down.

BACKFIELD HELP

And helping Guilleau in the backfield are speedy Tim Boyer and power-running fullback Jim Benham.

If the Titans get past FOLS, and that's a big "if," then come St. Francis de Sales, OLSM and Waterford OLL. Wins tomorrow and next Sunday would set the stage for the showdown at OLS Oct. 22.

Other games on the Northwest schedule tomorrow have Waterford Our Lady of Lakes entertaining St. Rita, while Royal Oak St. Mary plays host to St. Rita.

Given a dry field, OLSM could have problems with St. James in its role as host Sunday.

Quarterback Dave Burt of St. James likes to throw the ball and he has some good receivers. The big signal-caller had trouble on the muddy Wisner field last week against the Titans, but the field at OLSM is in good shape and could be tailor-made for Burt and his passes.

Fullback Mike Cyman has been the big gun in the OLSM arsenal. He has scored four touchdowns, and he's dangerous both as a runner and receiver.

Waterford OLL, after three straight losses, could get back on the win column this week against winless St. Rita. The loser gets sole possession of the league basement.

Miami Routs Tulane, 34-14

Key Games Under Arc-Lights

By Associated Press

Top-ranked Southern Cal is a solid favorite over Stanford, but Houston expects a severe test from unbeaten North Carolina State Saturday night in two of the top games on the national collegiate football stage.

The weekend action got underway Friday night in rain-soaked Miami, Fla., where the Miami Hurricanes poured over four second-half touchdowns and whipped Tulane 34-14 for their first victory of the season.

Quarterback David Oliver, ineffective in upset losses to Northwestern and Penn State, ran for one touchdown and passed for two more, leading the Hurricanes back from a 14-0 flashy halfback O. J. Simpson

7 halftime deficit in the Orange Bowl.

MOUNTS COMEBACK

Miami mounted its second-half comeback after a teeming rainstorm subsided. Bobby Duhan had sent the Green Wave ahead with scoring sprints of seven and 27 yards.

Most of the top-ranked teams were in action this afternoon—in direct conflict with the World Series — but South California, Tech and No. 10 Texas Tech had their games scheduled under the lights.

Alabama, a long-time power but No. 9 this year with a 1-0 record, playing Mississippi, 1-1, effective in upset losses to Northwestern and Penn State, at Birmingham Kickoff was scheduled for 4:30 p.m., EDT.

Auburn, Highland Win

Auburn Hills and Highland Lakes each posted cross-country victories last night in different meets.

Auburn Hills paced a 5-team meet at Kellogg CC in Battle Creek by edging Concordia 36-27. Kellogg was tied for third with Glen Oaks with 88 points and Monroe finished last with 115 points.

At Highland Lakes, the host

Oakland Community College school tallied 32 points to win over Delta College with 34 and Jackson CC with 61.

Bob Campbell of Kellogg was the individual winner in their meet, while four ex-Pontiac Northern runners, Lawrence Carter, N. Z. Bryant, Bob Harris and Bruce Gibson led the Auburn Hills scoring.

Carter was second and Bryant 6th, followed by Harris in 7th place. Auburn Hills is now 8-4 for the season.

Randy Derfield of Delta led the meet at Highland Lakes in a time of 17:00 while John Stevens was third, Dave Maun fourth and Craig Owen fifth for the host team.

Highland Lakes is now 7-1 for the season.

Raiders Throw Tackle on Mingling Gunman

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A bushy-haired stranger mingled with members of the Oakland Raiders American Football League team Friday as they were boarding a bus for San Francisco International Airport.

He walked to the rear, started emptying his pockets and asked the Raiders if they would like to play cards or shoot dice. A kidding reply apparently angered him and he produced a .32 caliber automatic and began waving it wildly.

Halfback Howie Williams and linebacker Gus Otto reacted quickly. Williams snatched the gun from the stranger's hand; Otto tackled him and wrestled him off the bus.

Already behind schedule, the bus pulled out before the incident could be reported to police.

But a hotel clerk called the police and the bus was halted at the Bay Bridge toll plaza. Williams turned the gun over to police who found it contained five live rounds.

A search is under way for the gunman. The Raiders reached the airport in time to catch their plane for New York where they play the New York Jets Saturday night.

Halfback Howie Williams and linebacker Gus Otto reacted quickly. Williams snatched the gun from the

Packers Invading Lions' Den

From Our Wire Services
Anyone who ever saw Joe Schmidt play middle linebacker for the Detroit Lions knows that he is not a 90 per cent guy. He is full blast.

Schmidt was ambivalent when his Lions tied the world championship Green Bay Packers 17-17 in the season opener at Green Bay, a great moral victory for a team which won only four games last year, but a tie nevertheless.

"We tied the first time," Schmidt said after a final work-out Friday. "This time it will be a matter of 100 per cent football, 100 per cent of the time."

Schmidt, in the first year of a five-year contract, has turned a so-so offensive line into one that is blocking for the best rushing offense in the National Football League.

"Our offense has shown tremendous improvement," said

Schmidt. "It should be a great help to our defense."

MUST WIN

The Lions, 1-1 after three games, must beat the Packers, 2-1, if they hope to make a race of it in the Central Division of the National Football League.

Most likely Zeke Bratkowski will start at quarterback for Green Bay because of season-long injuries suffered by regular packer signal-caller Earl Morrall.

The Lions have no serious injuries going into the game. Rookie halfback Nick Eddy, out since a preseason knee injury sidelined him, has had the cast removed from his leg but isn't expected to play.

A crowd of 57,000 fans is expected for the kickoff in a game marking the Lions' 40th NFL battle. The Lions have a record of 197 victories, 185 losses and 17 ties. Against the Packers, Detroit is 26-3-3.

NEW LOOK

The new look Washington Redskins, who haven't seen the championship light in 22 years, attempt to take a giant step closer Sunday when they host the Dallas Cowboys in a battle for a share of first place in the Eastern Conference's Capitol Division.

The Redskins, who last won a divisional championship in 1945, have always been an outstanding passing team, but have added that long absent ingredient—a running attack—this season and the end result has proven to be a well balanced, high scoring unit.

The Cowboys, who go into the game with the same 2-1 record as the Redskins, have been plagued by injuries all season, particularly to their defensive backs. Mel Renfro, the Cowboys' free safety, is a doubtful starter and Dallas Coach Tom Landry will be forced to

Official Doubts Games Boycott

Discrimination Absent Says de Capriles

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP)—The U.S. Olympic committee has not been approached about discrimination against Negro athletes, one of its officials says.

Miguel de Capriles, chief of the U.S. Olympic Committee Mission, said during a news conference at New Mexico State University Friday it would be a great mistake for Negro athletes to boycott the 1968 Olympic Games at Mexico City.

"Our history, certainly in the Olympics, on participation of all people in regard to race and creed is so clearly self-evident it's ridiculous to put any credence upon any discriminatory situation," he said.

"It would be a great mistake if they did, and I don't think they will," he said. "It would be perfectly stupid to take a position of that kind. We've always had Negro participants." Some West Coast athletes say there might be a Negro boycott because of alleged discrimination.

Dr. Jose Sanz, president of the Mexican Olympics Committee, estimated 9,000 participants from 125 countries are to compete in the games at Mexico City. He said 3,000 newsmen and about 60,000 tourists are expected.

Tickets to sporting events will be sold on a first-come basis, but Sanz said there would be adequate housing and tickets.

Prep 'C' Gridders Sharp on Offense in Taming Foes

By the Associated Press
Manistee Catholic, the No. 7-ranked Class C high school football team, has a disconcerting habit of allowing its opponents 20 points a game and beating them anyway.

That's how it's been in four games so far, including Friday night when Manistee Catholic clobbered Shelby 53-20. In other games this season, Manistee has won 25-20, 63-20 and 60-20.

Galesburg-Augusta, tops in Class C, played its reserves most of the game after the first quarter and still couldn't help slaughtering Fenwick 64-0.

Battle Creek Central, ranked No. 1 in Class A, also blanked its opponent, East Lansing, 19-0, holding East Lansing to only 41 yards on offense.

Top-ranked Saginaw Buena Vista in Class B used two triple-threat runners in beating Briegport 54-12. Gary Gerken and David Tulliver each scored three TDs, all on runs.

The Pittsburgh Steelers travel to Cleveland tonight in a game that could possibly see the winner tied for first in the Eastern Division's Century Division. Both the Steelers and the Browns have 1-2 records. And both teams are having their problems at quarterback.

REGULAR OUT

Regular Steeler quarterback Bill Nelson is out for an indefinite period with an injured knee. Frank Ryan has been substituted with sprained ankles but threw for three touchdowns in the first Cleveland victory last week, 42-7 over New Orleans.

The undefeated Los Angeles Rams go for their fourth consecutive triumph when they host the San Francisco Forty Niners. The Rams, who have allowed only two touchdowns from scrimmage this season, are 14-point favorites over the Forty Niners, who were routed 41-7 by Baltimore last week.

Johnny Unitas leads Baltimore, also undefeated in three games, against the Chicago Bears 1-2. Unitas, off to one of his best starts in years, leads the league in passing with 65 completions in 103 attempts for a league high 63.1 percentage.

Young Jim Hart, who had his best day as a pro last week against the Lions, heads St. Louis 2-1 against the Minnesota Vikings, winless in three games while Norman Snead, second in passing to Unitas, leads Philadelphia 2-1 against winless Atlanta 0-3.

The New York Giants attempt to even their records at 2-2 when they meet the New Orleans Saints, seeking their first NFL victory after three consecutive losses.

Living Room's Imported Italian Lavabo Has Circulating Fountain

Hints Of Lavender Accent Blue Ceramic Lamp Over Walnut End Table

Two Decorating Styles Share Spotlight

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
Early American and modified Mediterranean styles complement each other in the informal and formal areas of the Bernard Salvatore quadlevel in Waterford Township.

Assisted by the decorating staff of Coach House Colonial Furniture, Waterford Township, the Salvatores selected a wall background of white, carpeting in shades of blue and green, and white dracorn draperies with floral accents in shades of blue and olive for the formal living room.

The imported Italian lavabo dominating the side wall is balanced by a massive turquoise ceramic table lamp.

Serving the room's dark blue sofa are matching walnut cigarette tables. A heavy tortoiseshell candlestick with a brown candle centers one table; a grape arrangement in a pedestal compote and an ashtray highlight the other.

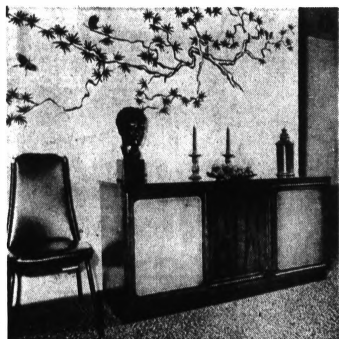

The textured oil by Lisi, hung above the sofa, depicts the interior of a Roman cathedral in shades of black, blue and lavender.

RUSTIC BEAUTY

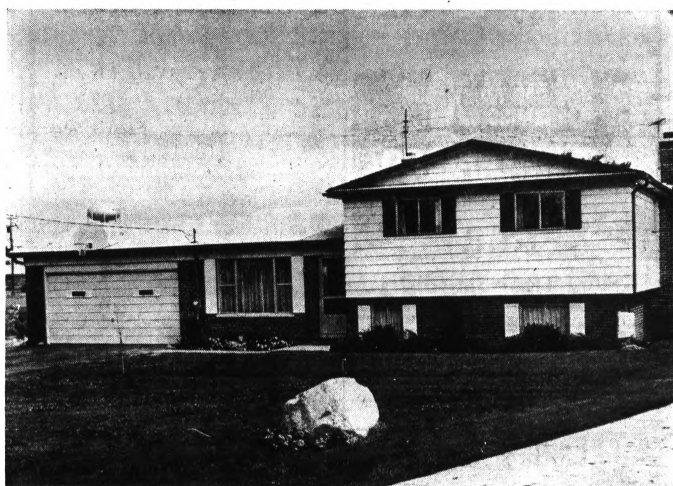

As the mood swings from formality to informality in the nearby family room, the decorating theme switches to the more rustic beauty of dark-stained pine and homespun fabrics.

Gold fighting cocks are mounted on the white Norman brick fireplace in the walnut paneled room.

Delight of the Salvatores' five children is the white polar bear rug centering the oak parquet floor.

Asphalt Tile Wears Well in Entrance

Compromise is sometimes the best solution in home decorating problems. Clearly, a resilient floor covering is best while the youngsters are growing up but you long for an occasional touch of carpet.

So why not install long-wearing, easy-to-clean asphalt or vinyl asbestos tile and use area rugs?

Decorators have decided that it is very chic to have vinyl asbestos tile hard-use areas, such as entrance halls, in a marbleized design that harmonizes with the living room carpet.

Other home designers suggest filling major rooms in neutral colors and using small brightly-colored rugs for accent. One dramatic style is a black-and-white checkerboard floor spiced with scatter rugs.

A major advantage of a resilient tile floor, whether it is through-chip, marbleized or embossed design, is that it doesn't date.

Such floors wear well at least 20 years. In that length of time home fashions change drastically — but these floors look well with any style decor. That's a big consideration when budgeting a big-cost item such as flooring.

When building a garden bench use 2x3s on edge with pieces of lath as spacer blocks.

Local Realtor Supports Bill

Support of federal legislation which would aid in halting use of the mails in the fraudulent sale of land was expressed recently in congressional testimony by the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Bruce J. Annett, president of the Pontiac Board of Realtors, said recently.

The bill (S. 274) would authorize the Post Office Department to stop the use of the mails upon evidence of a material representation of a material fact in advertising the sale of land or any other commodity. Wording of the proposed measure would make it clear that the intent of the person making deceptive statements is irrelevant to the enforcement of law. Currently, intent to defraud on the part of the advertisers must be proved before the Post Office can act.

Explaining the reasons for NAREB's support of federal legislation, the NAREB spokesman before the Senate committee said, "While a state can effectively regulate subdivisions within the state or advertisements placed in the state, the state has no power to police the mail that enters or leaves its boundaries."

According to Annett, NAREB's interest in the bill stems from its long-standing concern with the problems of fraudulent land sales by mail.

"Fraudulent land sales not only reflect on the real estate profession as a whole, but are a violation of Articles 3 and 4 of our Association's Code of Ethics."

He pointed out that the Code declares, "It is the duty of the realtor to protect the public against fraud, misrepresentation, or unethical practices in the real estate field. He should endeavor to eliminate in his community any practices which could be damaging to the public or to the dignity and integrity of the real estate profession."

Simple Steps to Follow

You Can Fix Annoying Shade

Window shades can be annoying as well as a means for achieving privacy. Sometimes they wind up without reason, offering no privacy at all. Other times they refuse to roll up at all.

Any part of a window shade is easily repaired or replaced. While complete shade replacement is not terribly expensive, sometimes a simple repair can be made with no expense. Should you replace a shade, salvage the parts from the old roller. They can be useful for later repairs.

Understanding how a shade is constructed makes it easier for you to repair.

The shade is fastened to a wooden roller with staples, tack or tape.

Inside the roller is a coil spring with a dowel inside. At one end of the roller is a stationary pin. At the other is a flat, rotating pin. Metal end caps protect the parts.

Tiny pawls fit into slots at the end with the rotating pin. The force of rotation releases the pawls which in turn causes the spring to raise the shade. When you stop the shade's movement the pawls drop into place and lock the roller in that position.

Now — when a shade doesn't roll up, what do you do? Increase the spring tension by pulling the shade down a few turns. Then remove the roller from the brackets and roll up the shade tightly. Put it back and try again. If the tension is now too great, remove the roller and unwind the shade a couple of turns.

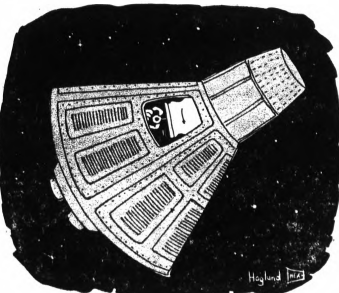

Check the pawls to see if they are stuck. They drop in place by gravity. If lubrication seems in order, use graphite, not oil. Oil becomes gummy, picks up dirt.

They spring may be broken if these measures fail. Get a new roller.

A shade that snaps up for no reason has a spring that is too tight. Roll the shade to the top, remove roller from brackets, unroll halfway by hand and replace.

A shade that falls or wobbles is easily corrected. Sometimes the stationary pin is bent. Straighten with pliers or replace with a nail of about the same size.

Loose brackets should be re-mounted with screws instead of nails.

A broken window shade can be annoying when you want some privacy.

Why Not Rent Clothes Dryer?

Winter is on the way, complete with snow, ice and wind. They might make skiing fun, but have you ever really enjoyed standing knee-deep in snow while you hang your clothes to dry on the backyard line?

A clothes dryer can solve your laundry problem throughout the winter — and in all seasons, if you like. If the boss of the budget says "Nay!" to buying a dryer, consider renting one this winter on a trial basis.

Many Maytag dealers throughout the country will be happy to install a dryer in your home. Use it for a period of time. Most merchants will apply part of the rental fee toward the appliance's purchase.

If you're not happy with the dryer, the dealer will take it back. But chances are when spring rolls around, you'll be wondering how you ever got along without a dryer before.

You will have found it's especially useful for permanent press garments. (Who likes to iron?) It helps make other clothes more fluffy and easier to iron.

It protects your clothes from falling snow, rain, damaging winds, sun-fading and rowdy little children. It has saved you the work and time of hanging up clothes in the backyard, running to check if they are dry and laboriously taking them down from the line.

And think of the pin money you'll save in clothespins.

If you are moving a short shade to a larger window, reset the brackets closer together. Or extend the pin by pulling it out slightly or replacing with a long nail of the same thickness.

Moving a wide shade to a slightly narrower window is again accomplished by working on the fixed-pin end of the roller. Take off the fabric and cut the end of the roller where the fixed pin is. Replace the pin and end cap. Use tacks, staples or tape to refasten shade to roller.

The shade itself should be trimmed by stretching it out on a flat surface, measuring, marking with a straight edge and cutting with scissors.

If the shade rolls up crooked, shade from roller. Drop the edge of the shade a trifle lower on the side toward which the shade runs. Refasten.

4th Annual Realtor Forum Thursday

The role the automobile has played in the suburban explosion and a capsule view of present real estate market conditions throughout the five-county metropolitan area will be two important features of the fourth annual Realtor Forum Thursday.

Roy D. Chapin, Jr., chief executive officer of American Motors Corporation, will analyze the comeback plans of the re-kindled AMC and the auto industry's outlook for 1968. Chapin's talk, entitled "Personal Mobility and Home Ownership," will also trade the role played by the automobile, offering increased mobility, and its direct correlation to the suburban explosion.

Included in the 11 "minute men" who will report on real estate activity in the five county area plus a forecast of future plans are Bruce Annett, president, Pontiac Board of Realtors; Lillie L. Smalley, president, Rochester Board of Realtors; Earl Fernalis, president, Birmingham Board of Realtors; Richard S. Elsen, president, Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors.

More than 1,000 Realtors, salesmen and others interested in the growth of the metropolitan community are expected to attend the half-day Forum, to be held at the Roma Hall of Livonia, starting with breakfast at 8:30 and lasting until shortly before noon.

Also on the program will be George Bockl, Milwaukee Realtor and author of the best-selling book, "How to Use Leverage to Make Money in Local Real Estate." Bockl's topic will be "Sales Stimulation and Personal Motivation."

PUBLIC INVITED

"Because of the widespread interest of the subjects to be discussed, we are inviting the public at large to attend this year's sessions," Frank Ingram, general chairman, announced. Priced at $3, including breakfast, tickets may be obtained from any realtor office.

Sponsor of the Forum is the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Real Estate Boards, of which Earl G. Klein, Jr., Dearborn Realtor, is chairman.

Forum committee chairman Frank Ingram of Royal Oak was assisted by Milton Weaver of Rochester, vice chairman;

Pop Planter for Geraniums

Put together a pop or planter from an old cardboard box, sprayed white, and stenciled in black geometric patterns or painted with large colorful flowers.

If you line the box with aluminum foil, add individual clay-potted geraniums, petunias and fill the spaces between with sphagnum or peat moss, you'll have a thoroughly modern planter to brighten any party table setting.

Asbestos Floor

You can count on an easy-to-install vinyl asbestos floor lasting at least 20 years. And it won't ever look "dated." This is one home product designed to harmonize nicely with any style decor.

Limelight on Turnkey Program

Special attention will be focused in October on the so-called "turnkey" program — construction of low-income dwellings by private builders under purchase agreements with public housing agencies.

Spacing Tips for Wood

To achieve even spacing between deck boards when building a new wood patio, use eighth inch-thick spacer blocks or double-headed nails driven into one edge of each deck board.

Use Rustless Fastenings

Always use aluminum, stainless steel or hot-dipped galvanized nails and fastenings for outdoor structures such as fences, decks, arbors and patio roofs.

Representatives of the Department of Housing and Urban Development and affiliates of the National Association of Home Builders will be meeting at six cities across the nation this month in a massive effort to attract more builders to a program that has taken on new urgency as a result of disorders in several cities during the summer.

A joint committee charged with expediting existing turnkey projects and stimulating future commitments has been formed by the government department and the trade association.

NAHB representatives are Marvin Gilman, of Wilmington, Del.; Herschell Green, of Miami; Fred Herndon, of Durham, N. C.; Ralph Shirmeyer, of Ft. Wayne, Ind.; and Joseph A. Singer, of Philadelphia.

Named to the committee by HUD were Joseph Burstein, chief counsel, and four other members of the department's Housing Assistance Administration.

Nearly 30 per cent of the land in 12 western states is in old-growth sawtimber, belying the cry that America is losing its timber resource. An even larger area is in new growth sawtimber, and the West is growing more trees than it harvests.

WHAT IS KLINGELHUT FACE BRICK SIDING?

It is the Multi-Purpose Brick Siding that does so many jobs — BETTER

Since 1928, Klingelhut brick is genuine, individually made, kiln-fired brick of standard dimensions except that it is 1 1/2 inch thick. It is bonded to its insulation by an exclusive process, developed by Klingelhut. This produces an insulation equal to 4 inches of blown-in insulation — or 4 feet of solid brick.

State Guard Division Gets Aide to Chief

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. George Romney yesterday named Col. Robert T. Williams of Grand Rapids as the new assistant division commander of the 46th Infantry Division of the Michigan Army National Guard.

Williams, 50, replaces Brig. Gen. Noble O. Moore of Marshall who retired last August after 30 years of service in the military.

The new assistant division commander gives up command of the guard's 2nd Brigade, a selected reserve force unit.

Williams, who is a veteran of more than 26 years of military service, also will move up in rank as a brigadier general.

He began his military career as a private in 1941 and received several awards during World War II, including the bronze star. He rose to the rank of captain during the war.

Williams joined the Michigan National Guard in 1948 and since then has held various command positions.

Banker Quits EMU Board

YPSILANTI (AP) — J. Don Lawrence, president of the National Bank of Ypsilanti, has resigned from the Board of Regents of Eastern Michigan University because of a conflict of interest ruled by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

Lawrence, who submitted his resignation Sept. 29, was the first of three EMU regents to resign, it was learned Friday.

HIPPIE FUNERAL — Hippies carry a boxlike coffin and a hippie on a stretcher through streets of San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury district yesterday during a thing called "Death of the Hippie — and Birth of Free American." It started yesterday morning when a large group of hippies greeted the sun to start a three-day wake for the death of the hippie movement in Haight-Ashbury. There was no schedule of services. Nobody really expected that the hippies would vanish from the San Francisco scene after the wake and "funeral."

Bomber Explodes in Nigeria; 3 Killed

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer
LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — A bomb-carrying plane exploded low over a residential suburb of Lagos early today, killing three crewmen, damaging two embassies and narrowly missing the home of a U.S. oil man.

There was no official report of where the twin-engine DC3 came from, but it was assumed to have been from Biafra, the secessionist Eastern region with which Nigeria has been fighting a civil war since July.

Flying at 300 feet, the plane appeared to have been on a course toward the Dodan barracks, where Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, head of Nigeria's military government, has his home.

Reflections ARE FUNERAL CHAPEL SERVICES RELIGIOUS?

Many families are in doubt if it is proper to hold the funeral service of their loved one in the funeral home chapel or from the church. When the deceased was an active member of the church attended during life and the family desires, then the service should be held from the church.

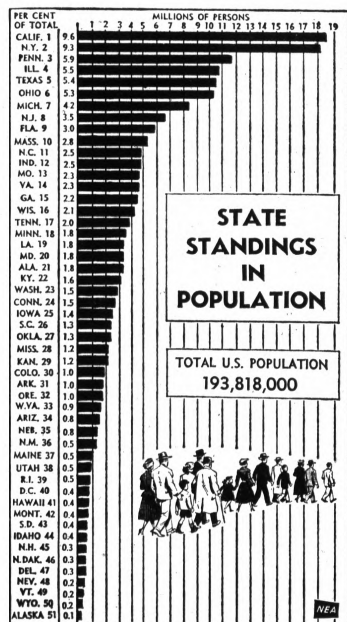

M.E. SIPLE

Should you wish to hold the funeral service in the funeral home chapel you will find your answer in St. Matthew, Chapter 18, Verse 20 "For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them. We are prepared to serve all faiths and creeds."

Wilson Bares His Thoughts on Current Nudity Vogue

By INTERVIEW ERL WILSON
 HOLLYWOOD - I interviewed Kim Novak in a long canary yellow form-fitting nightgown. It was the first time I'd ever worn one.
 Excuse me, I see by these notes that Kim was in the form-fitting nightgown, not me. But with everybody going undressed in pictures nowadays, the interviewers will have to go naked, or they will be conspicuous. So just try to imagine the N.Y. Times man, or woman, showing up nude to interrogate the star, who is in a similar condition.
 "I'm in love," Kim said, hugging herself in her long canary yellow nightgown, bating her false eyelashes.
 She had extended her very soft cheek to be kissed when we met and I had said, "Umm, you taste good."

WILSON

"With Joel Thomas," Kim explained, crushingly. "He's tall and dark and has these sideburns that go down into a beard. I couldn't stand him when we met in Carmel." (Where he has a restaurant.)

"He was always so egotistical. Sometimes he wouldn't say hello to me. It was in New York that we got together. It was my boy friend's ex-girl friend who got us together."

"I beg your pardon? Your present boy friend's ex-girl friend got you together?"

Kim giggled wickedly in her long canary yellow nightgown. Kim doesn't need silence, by the way.

"You see, Joel used to go with Carol Hill, my girl friend. They broke up and Carol got together with Al Schatman, Harry Belafonte's guitarist. I was writing songs with Al, Al and Carol got together and got married. Then they thought Joel and I should get together because they knew what we both dug."

"So when are you getting married?"
 "I don't know whether I'll ever get married again," Kim beamed. "But..."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP
 Author Mickey Spillane said at L'Etoile none of his fictional characters will ever drink cognac or wear a mustache, "because I can't spell those words." Eddy Arnold's now fourth top record-seller of all (after Bing, Elvis, the Beatles) ... Judy Garland wants Rip Taylor to tour with her revue.

Kate Smith'll do a series of one-nighters, for the first time ... Edgar Bergen said at Gallagher's he's changing his image - playing a murderer in "Rogue's Gallery" ... "Belle de Jour," the Venice Film Festival winner that had censor trouble in Europe, will be shown uncensored here.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: They mentioned a dull character: "He's slow about everything - in fact, he's just starting to get spring fever."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The proud man counts his newspaper clippings, the humble man his blessings." - Bishop Fulton J. Sheen.

EARL'S PEARLS: The only thing a miniskirt does for some girls is make them taller from the knees down.

Theodore Bikel, who just finished "Sweet November," says he has to keep busy: "After all, when I'm out of work, it's in ten languages!" ... That's all, brother.

Educational TV Rebuffed Firm Asks $3 Million on Network Rebroadcasts

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A $3-million damage suit was filed Friday in Superior Court by the company which tapes Carol Channing's television show.

The three networks indicated, however, that they had no objection to exchanging with NET up to three minutes of discussion programs. The three networks currently have such an arrangement among themselves.

In a letter to Westin rejecting his proposal, Richard Salant, CBS news president, questioned whether it would be desirable "to encourage what should be an exciting and promising alternative service to feed off the very broadcast service to which it is supposed to be an alternative."

The proposal "raises many troublesome problems both of mechanics and of basic concepts," he added.

Westin refused to comment on the rejection. "It answered my proposal and I have no comment," he said.

The proposal to rebroadcast excerpts of network reports was made at a meeting of the Radio and Television News Directors Association in Toronto last month by Av Westin, the laboratory's executive director.

The three networks indicated, however, that they had no objection to exchanging with NET up to three minutes of discussion programs. The three networks currently have such an arrangement among themselves.

The news divisions of the Columbia Broadcasting System has rejected a proposal by the lab, an affiliate of National Educational Television, to rebroadcast excerpts of news, analysis and reports from network newsmen.

Spokesmen for the American Broadcasting Co. and National Broadcasting Co. indicated Friday that their news divisions would also turn down the proposal.

The laboratory, set up under a $10-million Ford Foundation grant, was established as an alternative to commercial television. It would produce a series of two-hour news and cultural affairs programs to be shown every Sunday from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. starting Nov. 5.

Open-Housing Issue Stirs Lansing Sleep-In and March to Capitol

LANSING (AP) — As Gov. George Romney awaits a formal open occupancy proposal, a group of Flint youths have begun a sleep-in on the Capitol lawn.

About a dozen Negro and white youths, in their late teens and early twenties, who said they were from Flint gathered with blankets and sleeping bags in front of the Capitol Friday night.

Faith-Healer, Sick Meet in Philippines

MANILA (AP)—A large group of ailing and infirm Americans and Canadians reportedly had their rendezvous with a Filipino faith-healer in a well-guarded beach resort in northern Luzon today.

The Philippine Medical Association reported the meeting as it watched the activities of Antonio Agapao, a grade-school dropout and self-made "doctor."

"I am for an open housing program in Michigan that can effectively enforce at the earliest possible date," Romney said. The governor said he expected the proposals by Thursday. The lawmakers convene Tuesday.

More than 40 state, county and local organizations have indicated support for the rally and march, a HOME spokesman said, listing among them the Michigan Anti-Defamation League, the Jewish Labor Commission, the NAACP and its youth council, the Democratic State Central Committee and the United Auto Workers Union.

"We hope the rally and march to the Capitol will show the governor and the people of Michigan that many individuals and groups are concerned about open housing," said Lois Craig, a member of HOME's executive committee.

Agapao said nothing could be done to prevent anyone from seeking a cure from Agapao but that the local board of medical examiners could obtain a court injunction to stop him from administering treatment because of his previous conviction.

He said the patients from the Detroit area, who flew to Manila Thursday night accompanied by six relatives and friends, reportedly were paying Agapao $500 each.

"We strongly suspect that they were conned by their own countrymen," Marcos said. The Manila Times said in an editorial, "In any country where the medical laws are rigorously enforced because of the interest of legitimate physicians, quack doctors would be either in jail or in retirement instead of dealing away with their dangerous and hocus-pocus."

Detroiters Killed

RICHMOND (AP) — Harold Abbott, 25, and Raymond Ebbets, both of Detroit, were killed Friday when their pickup truck struck a concrete overpass abutment on I-94 eight miles north of Richmond. Police said Abbott was driving the car.

Friends Back New Courts Could Cost Ex-Troy Couple County Up to $1.5 Million

'Can't Believe Parents
Deserted Son Again'

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (AP) — A marina operator says residents of this area can't believe Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Thorne abandoned their mule, retarded son, Ricky, 16.

Wellington Welsh said Thursday "There's more here than meets the eye. They're not that kind of people."

"They are old friends in the district. They are well-liked, awfully nice people. No one here can believe it."

The Thornes have been accused by a Juvenile Court judge in Miami of abandoning their son for the second time, although no charges have been brought.

Welsh said the Thornes have not been at their cottage on San Souci (Without Care) Island, about 22 miles from here, for the last two days. He refused to take reporters there.

A LOT OF TROUBLES

He said the Thornes went through a lot of trouble trying to raise Ricky, now reported at a home for exceptional children at Nanaraja, Fla.

"You just can't control him," Welsh said. "If he wants to go for a walk in the bush, he goes. If he wants to go for a walk on the beach, he goes."

"Knowing them (the Thornes), people up here would sooner believe that they were sort of given reason to believe that they did what they did, now the state would have to look after him."

Ricky was found abandoned at Miami International Airport two years ago, with three cents in his pocket. Thorne, a manufacturer-executive, and his wife were then living in Troy.

A type of system could be placed in operation if municipal courts also were eliminated.

Presently this is the basic plan, being pursued by both the House and Senate committees, but the chief factor that is causing the most opposition from municipalities.

A large segment of those testifying yesterday were city officials objecting to the abolishment of the municipal courts.

Their main argument was that cities would lose revenue derived from fines.

"We realize the purpose of a local court is not to provide funds, but the fact is that it does, and we have come to depend on this revenue," said Charles Clippert, a Birmingham City Commissioner and attorney.

Shirwin Birnkant, city attorney for Pontiac, as most other lawyers testifying agreed that establishing a district court was a sound idea, "but eliminating municipal courts is an unnecessary act."

SUGGESTS OPTION

He suggested that cities be given the option of eliminating their municipal courts and becoming the part of the district, or simply being permitted to bolster their power to meet the standards of a county-wide system.

If their power was increased, municipal courts perhaps could be phased into the district court system at a later date, a possibility that has been advanced by Lodge to overcome opposition at this time from municipalities.

Another alternative facing legislators, said Lodge, is one fashioned after the Illinois court system, whereby all lower courts were abolished, and the judges appointed in districts under the control of the State Supreme Court.

The Michigan plan now being petition for such a probe.

Meadow Brook Review

'Earnest' Starts Slowly, Ends Wildly

By DON BRAUNAGEL

Meadow Brook Theatre's second season got off to a rough start last night. Fortunately, things improved considerably with the second act of "The Importance of Being Earnest" and the third act of the comedy was a Wilde success.

An early stiffness on stage and in the audience marked the first act, with many of the play's funniest lines being poorly delivered or drawing little response.

But the acting smoothed out, the audience warmed up and the rapport was there for the big finish.

The play, Oscar Wilde's masterpiece, is a spoof of high society, romance, snobbery, the clergy—in short, just about everything.

BOWING WILD OATS

The plot, such as it is, concerns two friends—upper-crust Englishmen, one from the city, the other from the country—who each sow wild oats in the other's area, usually under the pretense of visiting a relative or sick friend.

Complications set in when one wags the other's cousin then sees his ward romanced by his friend. Unfortunately, they both use the same name—Earnest, what else?

The brilliance of the play is in its language. Scattered throughout are such inverted clichés as "Her hair has turned quite gold with grief" and "Divorces are made in Heaven" along with twisted aphorisms like considered abolishes the lower courts, but the district judges would be elected in their areas.

COONSIDERED DISTRICT

Oakland County is considered a district under the pending proposal and would be allowed to elect 22 judges from eight sections.

Exactly who will be responsible for paying for the operation of the courts has not been determined.

"It just makes sense that all the money going into the county courts should be used for the administration of the courts, and not filtered off," Murphy told the committee.

"Frankly, the county would like to see the state take over the entire operation of the court system," said Murphy. We just don't want it. If we are just tossed this responsibility it will be a burden that the taxpayer can't afford."

One problem that concerned testifying officials, particularly Bloomfield Township Justice of the Peace Alice Gilbert, is the swift change that will be required from the justice system to the district courts.

"The eight weeks from the time of the election (of district judges in November 1968) to the time the courts become operational is not adequate for a smooth transition," she said.

State Should Probe All Contracts—Hare

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare has asked that a possible grand jury probe of the State Highway Department be expanded to include all contracts that must be considered by the State Administrative Board.

Gov. George Romney and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who previously disagreed on the advisability of a grand jury investigation, Hare said they would decide by Thursday whether to petition for such a probe.

2 Economists Feel Surtax Is Necessary

Two economists at local colleges both feel President Johnson's proposed but floundering 10 per cent surtax on income is necessary if federal expenditures keep rising.

The surtax issue continues to be muddled as the federal House and Means Committee has formally shelved the President's tax increase bill until he and Congress agree on sizable spending cuts.

Dr. Theodore O. Yntema, well-known economist who is a visiting professor at Oakland University, called for the United States to get out of Vietnam and to cut expenditures.

He added, however, that he thought a tax increase was inevitable even with spending cuts.

"We only need a tax increase because we don't get out of Vietnam," remarked the former Ford Motor Co. vice president. "I should never have been necessary in the first place."

COST TO FAMILY

Yntema estimated that the nation's expenditures are costing each American family $500 per year.

Mrs. Christine E. Harris, assistant professor of economics at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Township commented:

"I feel as long as we continue our expenditures in Vietnam or expand them when our economy is already at full employment that it is necessary to have additional taxes or cut other federal expenditures."

"Otherwise we will end up having inflation which is very hard on those people with fixed incomes."

She advised that there are two things the federal government can do now: raise taxes or cut other governmental expenses other than the Vietnam war.

President Johnson has said that unless Congress approves his tax increase the American people will be forced to pay out immeasurably more money through painful inflation.

Mr. Johnson asked for the 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes to curb a federal budget deficit that he has said could reach $28 billion without it.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, Arkansas Democrat and Ways and Means chairman, insists that a $7-billion to $10-billion spending cut is a minimum requirement to help reduce the deficit. Many consider this politically if not actually impossible.

Other economists have claimed that the tax increase could hurt new unemployment and cause auto sales while doing relatively little to hold down prices.

LBJ Again Pleads for Surtax

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Congress appear as far apart as ever over taxes and spending cuts with one key Republican questioning whether the President really wants higher taxes.

In his second major appeal in as many days for approval of his 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes, Johnson said Friday that price increases as much as 5 per cent and a home building slump are in store for the nation unless a tax increase wins congressional approval.

But Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior GOP member of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said: "It almost begins to look as though there is a question whether the President really wants a tax increase. It seems to me he would be trying to find ways of accommodation rather than widening the gap by his adamance."

Despite a new round of verbal blasts Friday over taxes and spending cuts, the basic positions of each side remained basically the same although Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the ways and means committee seemed to stiffen the terms by demanding future as well as present economies in government.

SPECIFIC CUTS

The ways and means committee is demanding specific spending cuts of $5 billion and has shelved the surcharge plan with the Johnson administration.

Johnson has said he will detail cuts after all appropriations bills are approved by Congress.

The President asked officials of the Federal Home Loan Bank System meeting at the White House to talk up the need for a tax increase.

Admitting it's unpopular to ask for more taxes for a unpopular war, Johnson said both taxes and Vietnam nevertheless must be faced reasonably and nonpolitically.

BIG JUMP IN PRICES

Without higher taxes, he added, the country faces a 4 to 5 per cent jump in prices in the next year and an even larger increase in 1969 with rising interest rates and home-building slumping.

Home financing is a prime purpose of the Home Loan Bank System.

Johnson on Thursday restated

his tax and spending position at a news conference.

There were these other developments in the latest weeks-long battle over taxes and spending:

—Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., said his House Appropriations Committee expects to cut another $5 billion in appropriations but probably can't cut $10 billion, the level needed to slice spending by $5 billion in the current fiscal year.

—Charles L. Schultze, Budget Bureau director, commenting on Mills' call for greater economy in government, said the trend of federal spending under Johnson has been down in relation to the nation's productive capacity.

—There is no easy road to a responsible budget—tempting as such a mirage may sometimes appear," Schultze said in a statement. "A responsible budget can be achieved neither by unspecified wholesale slashes nor by hastily conceived additions."

—Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee, called Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to a Tuesday hearing to explain a freeze on construction of military family housing, part of an over-all freeze on new military construction projects.

EDDY GILMORE

Pulitzer-Prize Newsman Is Dead at 60

LONDON (AP) — Eddy Gilmore, an Associated Press correspondent who covered war and the Stalin era in the Soviet Union, won a Pulitzer Prize and married a lovely Russian ballerina, died of a heart attack Friday night at his home. He was 60.

"He wine and dined with kings," said a friend in Gilmore's home town, Selma, Ala., "but he kept us informed."

Gilmore's witty good humor showed through even during the grim days in Moscow, where he served as bureau chief. Based in London after the death of Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin in 1953, he was widely known for his reporting on the lighter side of life.

The balding, mustached writer, whose Southern accent survived his travels to many nations, was stricken at his country home at East Grinstead at midnight after a day's work at the London AP bureau.

BEGAN AS CARRIER

Roswell Falkenberg, publisher of the Selma Times-Journal, recalled that Eddy Lanier King Gilmore began his career by delivering that newspaper.

Gilmore wrote for The Atlanta Journal from 1929 to 1932, then for the Washington Daily News before joining the AP in Washington in 1935.

In the Soviet Union, he witnessed the darkest days of the defense against Hitler's invading armies in World War II. His Pulitzer Prize, in 1947, was for "a distinguished example of telegraphic reporting on international affairs." He got Stalin to answer a series of questions and reported: "Premier Stalin expressed today his conviction that neither the names of the world nor their armies were seeking another war, and affirmed his confidence—in the United Nations as a serious instrument for preserving peace."

Meanwhile, he carried on a romance with Tamara Chernaushova, a dancer, at a time when foreigners were considered at best potential spies and Russians who had contacts with them possible traitors.

In these circumstances, Tamara was banished. Then a friend of Gilmore's, the late Wendell Wilkie, the 1940 Republican presidential nominee, interceded at the Kremlin, where he was an unofficial goodwill ambassador during the wartime alliance.

Most Solemn Jewish Holyday

Yom Kippur Opens With Chant

Yom Kippur or the Day of Atonement, the most solemn Jewish holyday, will be marked in all parts of the world beginning at sunset Friday and continuing through Saturday.

The evening service opens with the haunting strains of the Kol Nidre chant. With its hallowed music, an air of deep solemnity enters the synagogue, to remain throughout the evening and through all the next day's service.

It is a supplication for forgiveness.

Yom Kippur's purpose is the spiritual improvement of each individual.

In their synagogue worship on this day, Jews examine their inner selves. They humbly confess to the pride and self-interest that have marred their devotion to God, and pray for atonement.

They will have atoned completely, Judaism teaches, provided they repent sincerely of their offenses against God, and provided that, before they entered the synagogue, they made full amends for all offenses against their neighbors.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Included in the worship for

RABBI PHILIP BERKOWITZ

RABBI ISRAEL GOODMAN

RABBI ERNST CONRAD

Yom Kippur day is a memorial service.

It is a time set aside for recalling departed relatives, reciting prayers in their memory, and for drawing inspiration from their lives.

The Day of Atonement services approach their end in the late afternoon with a prayer, that in Hebrew means "closing of the gate."

The name harks back to the ritual of Yom Kippur in the ancient Temple in Jerusalem, and to the swinging shut of the huge gates of the Temple when the sun began to set and the ceremonies were drawing to a close.

SOUND SHOFAR

The final event of the day is the sounding of a long, sustained note on the quaint wind instrument of Bible times, the ram's horn or shofar, which in those olden days was also heard during the Atonement service.

Yom Kippur follows the Jewish New Year by 10 days. It is the climax of the period of prayer and meditation known as the Ten Days of Penitence.

TEMPLE BETH JACOB

Rabbi Philip Berkowitz, spiritual leader of Temple Beth Jacob, 79 Elizabeth Lake, will conduct the Kol Nidre service at 8:30 Friday evening.

Yom Kippur will be observed throughout the day on Oct. 14.

Rabbi Israel Goodman of Congregation B'nai Israel, 143 Onelda will sing the Kol Nidre at the 6:45 p.m. service Friday.

Services will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday with a sermon entitled "Joy of Repentance." At 11 a.m. the rabbi will speak on "From Tears to Laughter."

A memorial service will follow at 11:30.

Children will gather for worship at 3 p.m. The day will close with the blowing of the shofar at the 6 p.m. service.

NEW TEMPLE

High Holy Day services of the New Temple will be held at the Birmingham Unitarian Church, Woodward and Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills.

Yom Kippur services will begin at 8:30 p.m. Friday. Rabbi Ernst J. Conrad will conduct the service at 10 a.m. on Oct. 14.

The religious school children will worship at 2 p.m.

Services are set for 3 p.m.; and memorial at 4:30 p.m. The closing service at 5:15 p.m. will end with the blowing of the shofar.

The sermon and discussion topic for Yom Kippur is "The Task of Turning."

FASHIONS — Carolyn Walker of 219 Crystal Lake walks down the aisle of New Bethel Baptist Church wearing a dress she will model in the Fall Fashion Review from 4 to 6 p.m. tomorrow. Mizzi Reed of 310 Whitmore waits her turn as she leans over the end of a pew. Lisa Hirsch of 282 S. Pardock (back) will also be among those modeling fall fashions. Mrs. Ann Williams, supervisor at the Oakland County Children's Home, will be guest speaker.

Wheels of Danish Cheese Decorate Buffet Reception

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Chicago. Cheese, cheese, cheese, and all Danish. As it has done for a number of years, the Denmark Cheese Association closed the Food Editors' Conference with a reception.

This year it took place in Chicago's delightful bit of Denmark, the Kungsholm Restaurant, and celebrated the 800th anniversary of Copenhagen.

Great wheels of all the cheeses we have come to know were mounted above the buffet table.

On the table were all the favorite traditional dishes: herring, lox, fish puddings, liver paste, meat balls, other meats, pastries, jellied salads and a towering birthday cake made of almond paste. There was even chocolate covered cheese.

The restaurant is rich in Danish tradition and our hosts were true representatives of that hospitable country.

As guests of the R. T. French Company this noon we heard Maurice B. Neuberger, the former senator from Oregon speak.

She is the chairman of the Citizens' Advisory Council on the Status of Women and newly appointed to President Johnson's Consumer Advisory Committee.

STANDARDS

"Maintaining standards depends on the three-way team of government, business and the consumer," she said. "The government has never intended to set itself up as a complaint department for citizens. If you have a complaint, she advised, take it up with the store or company involved."

Mrs. Neuberger is not completely happy with the new packaging law. She worked for months before its passage, gathering testimony, and thinks it should be stricter.

"Cents off is still being practiced," she explained. "There is no apparent reason for odd-ounce packages except to confuse the consumer. Coffee is always sold by the pound, liquor by the pint or fifth. You may not buy a pound of rice today."

She suggested that consumers check the amount in any package that suddenly changes its shape or that is boldly advertised as "new" when the product had been around a long time.

Competition should keep prices down, but it sometimes puts them up."

Breakfast with the makers of Farberware was buffet style. One of their interesting new products is an electric skillet with a steamer insert.

COMEDY RELIEF

Pillsbury exhibited great understanding at their session, billed as "modern baking with refrigerated fresh dough," by limiting their discussion of the product to five minutes. The next half hour was given over to Milt Kamen who kept us weak with laughter as he told one funny story after another — most of them about food.

If there ever was a TGIF day, it's the Friday when we weary food editors pick up our toys and go home, glad to be facing a normal work week. But it's been fun.

Musicale Presents 'Sister Angelica'

The Pontiac Tuesday Musicale will present its first program of the season Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in Central Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

Puccini's "Sister Angelica" which was written in the later romantic style, but which reflects somewhat the modern insistence on realism, will be presented by the Birmingham Musicale Opera Ensemble.

Mrs. Richard C. Royal will sing the title role. She received her musical education at the College of Music of Cincinnati, and has been guest soloist with the Charleston, W. Va. Symphony prior to her area work as soloist at Central Methodist Church and Kirk in the Hills.

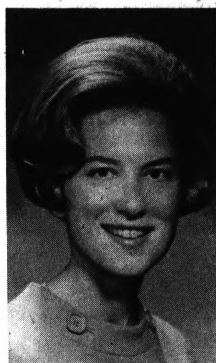

The production is under the direction of Alice Engram.

Members of the Musicale have spent over 700 hours in preparing the presentation, including rehearsals, planning sessions, set-building and sewing of costumes.

COMMITTEE

Chairman of the day will be Mrs. J. F. Radenbaugh. Assisting will be Vera Bassett, Mrs. B. J. Habel, and Mrs. L. S. Salathiel.

Others are Mesdames: E. L. Phillips, R. V. Mesdames, O. H. Lundbeck and M. M. Alward.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard Bandy Barker of Bloomfield Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Gay, to John Wright Ingraham, son of Harold Gillette Ingraham of Dedham, Mass., and the late Mrs. Ingraham. Miss Barker is a graduate of University of Michigan and her fiancé holds degrees from Harvard University and is completing doctorate work at New York University. School of Business Administration. Nov. 18 vows are planned.

Banting Cure Kills Twiggy Emulator

HALMSTAD, Sweden (U) — An 18-year-old Swedish girl who wanted to look like her ideal, threadlike British model Twiggy, died a living skeleton in hospital here following a self-imposed "Banting cure," doctors reported today.

The girl died of undernourishment, complicated by pneumonia, after she had become afflicted by a psychic disorder that made her refuse food. She weighed only 45 pounds at her death, said doctors who treated her in this southwest coastal town.

The girl and four of her schoolmates who also idolized Twiggy decided last New Year's on a Banting cure of their own. The Banting cure, named for William Banting, a London undertaker, consists of avoiding mealy, oily or saccharine foods.

with the Baltimore Symphony and other orchestras.

Subsequent to his New York recital he toured throughout the Continent and Europe as soloist and as member of various Chamber groups including the Dartmouth String Quartet.

John Pintavalle was born in Allentown, Pa., and made his debut at the age of ten with the Philadelphia Civic Orchestra. He became a scholarship student of Alexander Hilsberg at the age of twelve and studied later with Lea Luboshutz at The Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia and with Oscar Shumsky at the Juilliard School of Music in New York.

Pintavalle performed as a violinist with such noted groups as the Philadelphia Orchestra under the baton of Eugene Ormandy and the Musica Aeterna Orchestra. He has also concertized widely as a soloist and performed frequently on radio, television and Voice of America programs.

A limited number of tickets are available at the Festival office, Oakland University.

Sculptured mahogany hands — created by Mrs. Jean Smith (right) expressly for donation to Western Michigan University in honor of a former teacher, Lydia Siedschlag, will be unveiled in the lounge of Siedschlag Hall on Western's campus tomorrow. Marla Jackson (left) contributed a dedicatory verse which will be included in the inscription. Both women are teachers at Pontiac Central High School; Mrs. Smith in the arts and crafts department and Miss Jackson, English.

Honors Teacher With Sculpture

From five pieces of mahogany laminated together, Pontiac Central High School artist-teacher Jean Smith has created a smoothly beautiful symbol of the creativity of another artist and teacher, Lydia Siedschlag.

Miss Siedschlag was active on the art faculty of Western Michigan University from 1921 until 1958, retiring at that time to become art consultant to the university in the decorating of new buildings.

A native of Pontiac, Mrs. Smith studied under Miss Siedschlag at WMU and retains a deep and lasting admiration for her former teacher.

The wood sculpture was begun last March. It was created for Siedschlag Hall at WMU. Hands were chosen to show how Miss Siedschlag "holds creativity in her hands."

A verse by Marla Jackson, English teacher at Pontiac Central High School, will be inscribed on the plaque.

Miss Jackson has collaborated with Mrs. Smith on other occasions in the creation of dedicatory verses. Also a native of Pontiac, Miss Jackson has taught at Pontiac Central High School for eight years.

The plaque will be affixed to the oak and marble base, designed by Mrs. Smith and built for her by an uncle, retired carpenter-contractor Carl Van Bergh of University Drive.

The sculpture will be presented to the university at an unveiling ceremony Sunday at 2 p.m. in the lounge of Siedschlag Hall.

Red Cross Unit Upped Service Over Past Year

The second annual meeting of the Southeastern National Chapter, American National Red Cross was held Thursday at the Chapter House, Detroit.

Chapter chairman, S. F. Leahy, of Orchard Lake, spoke of the past year's accomplishments and thanked the many thousands of volunteers who made its accomplishments possible.

During the past year, the local Red Cross Service to Military Families assisted 30,715 families, an increase of 6,000 over the previous year.

OFFICERS

Leahy was re-elected chapter chairman. Other officers elected for a second term of office were: first vice chairman, Chester E. Blanton; second vice chairman, Carlton C. Patterson, Jr. of Birmingham; third vice chairman, Dr. Lloyd R. Hirth, of Utica, secretary, Mrs. Philip H. Oakley; treasurer, Rodere V. Wiley, of Birmingham; counselor, Louis J. Colombo, Jr., of Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Francis Smith, volunteer chairman for the "Adopt A Clubmobile" program, reported on this, the chapter's newest project.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Cecile Dumbriege of Waterford, who has recently returned from a Red Cross tour of duty in Vietnam as a clubmobile unit director.

Business Women Plan Their Week

The week will wind up with a 50th anniversary banquet at the Lansing Civic Center on Oct. 21.

Hostesses for this meeting were Mrs. Gordon Rice, Helen Kinney, Mrs. Frank Derbyshire, Mrs. Grace Olson and Mrs. B. F. Griffin.

Guests included Barbara Graves, an exchange teacher in the Pontiac schools from England, and Ethel Bassett.

Chamber Ensemble Performs at OU

The Nieuw Amsterdam Trio, one of the world's most noted Chamber Ensembles, will appear Monday at Oakland University's Wilson Hall at 8:30 p.m.

The program will include Beethoven's Trio Op. 70, No. 1, D Major (Ghost), Op. 87, C Major.

In well over 400 performances the Trio has firmly established itself as one of the most distinguished and successful chamber groups before the public today. It has been called "the best of its kind."

Its vibrant and deeply musical interpretations of the classical, romantic and modern Trio literature have been enthusiastically acclaimed by critics and the public everywhere. The Trio performers are Edith Mocsanyi, pianist; John P. Pintavalle, violinist; and Heinrich Joachim, cellist.

Edith Mocsanyi, founder and pianist of the Nieuw Amsterdam Trio, is a native of Vienna. She graduated from the Master class of the Viennese Academy of Music under the world famous pianist, Emil von Sauer and studied subsequently with Leonie Gombrich.

She toured extensively throughout Europe and the Near East as the pianist of the Koffmann Trio, the Georg Steiner Trio and the cello-piano duo she had with Ernst Neumann. In this country she performed as a soloist and the pianist of many leading Chamber Music Organizations.

Since 1955, she has toured extensively with the Nieuw Amsterdam Trio coast-to-coast as well as abroad.

TOURED EUROPE

Heinrich Joachim made his debut at the age of seventeen in his native Berlin and thereafter toured all over Europe. In 1935, he emigrated to Guatemala City where he became Professor of Cello and Director of the Conservatory.

In the United States, Mr. Joachim was first cellist of the New York City Symphony under Leonard Bernstein. Later he joined the New York Philharmonic under Mitropoulos and Stokowski. He appeared repeatedly as soloist

A concert of chamber music including selections by Beethoven and Brahms will be given Monday at 8:30 p.m. at Oakland University's Wilson Hall, by the Nieuw Amsterdam Trio. Shown in rehearsal are (from left) Heinrich Joachim, cellist, Edith Mocsanyi, founder and pianist of the group, and John P. Pintavalle, violinist.

See Mother While Husband Works Until He Changes His Viewpoint

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I went with John (fake name) for four years and my mother hated him. In fact she told me she could rather see me dead than married to John. Well, when I came of age I married John against my mother's wishes and you should have heard the terrible things she said about him. I couldn't even put them in this letter. She did her best to ruin his reputation.

Now that we are going to have a baby my mother is trying to make up with John. John says he will never set foot in her house and if she wants to see me or the baby she will have to come here during the day time while he is not at home. My mother even wanted to have a birthday party for me, and John said I could go if I wanted to, but he wasn't going.

What can I do, Abby? I can't blame John for feeling the way he does, but she is still my mother and this is making it awfully hard on me.

JOHN'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If in time John finds it in his heart to make peace with your mother—and I hope he does, fine. But until he does, continue to see your mother while John's at work.

DEAR ABBY: I feel so silly—a grown woman with three children asking for help with this problem, but here goes. I have a sister who brings her friends to my home to give them what she laughingly calls "The 50-Cent Tour."

I wouldn't mind so much if only she would give me a little notice, but she has brought people over here as early as 9 in the morning when my beds are unmade and I'm looking a wreck, sorting laundry.

I do have a nice home, Abby, but it's not always in condition for inspection. Don't you think my sister should give me a chance to fix it up before "showing it off"? How can I get this across to her without getting her angry with me?

DEAR DROPPED: You sound like the type who would greet unwelcome guests at the door with a big smile and open arms, and then wondered why they continue to drop in on you. If you haven't told your sister to PLEASE call in advance so you can set a mutually convenient time for her "50-cent tour," I suggest that you put in your two cents.

DEAR ABBY: My son is 11 years. He is a very shy and protected child. He sleeps in the same room with his 10-year-old sister and I tuck them both into bed every night.

The boy knows nothing of the facts of life and I think it is time he was told. Shouldn't his father be the one to tell him? I will be glad to tell the girl when the time comes, but I think a father should tell his son.

His father says the boy is much too young to have his head filled with things like that and to give him time yet. How much time should I give him?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: First, about your sleeping arrangements. Your son should have his privacy and a girl daughter hers. Even if one of them has to sleep in the kitchen or the hall—or on the floor.

It doesn't matter who tells a boy (or girl) the facts of life as long as they are told as soon as they become curious. Try to cultivate a relaxed family atmosphere so that if either of your children has a question he will not hesitate to ask. (P.S. And tell your husband to hurry with his "facts" or it will be like giving a fish a bath.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO WONDERING IN WORTHINGTON: "Age" doesn't mean much with some fellows. They'll take anything from two to toothless.

Living Room's Imported Italian Lavabo Has Circulating Fountain

Hints Of Lavender Accent Blue Ceramic Lamp Over Walnut End Table

Two Decorating Styles Share Spotlight

By JODY HEADLEE

Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Early American and modified Mediterranean styles complement each other in the informal and formal areas of the Bernard Salvatore quadlevel in Waterford Township.

Assisted by the decorating staff of Coach House Colonial Furniture, Waterford Township, the Salvatores selected a wall background of white, carpeting in shades of blue and green, and white dacon draperies with floral accents in shades of blue and olive for the formal living room.

The imported Italian lavabo dominating the side wall is balanced by a massive turquoise ceramic table lamp.

Serving the room's dark blue sofa are matching walnut cigarette tables. A heavy tortoiseshell candlestick with a brown candle centers one table; a grape arrangement in a pedestal compote and an ashtray highlight the other.

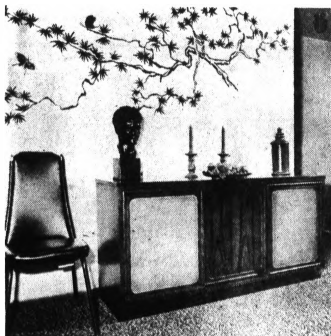

The textured oil by Lisi, hung above the sofa, depicts the interior of a Roman cathedral in shades of black, blue and lavender.

RUSTIC BEAUTY

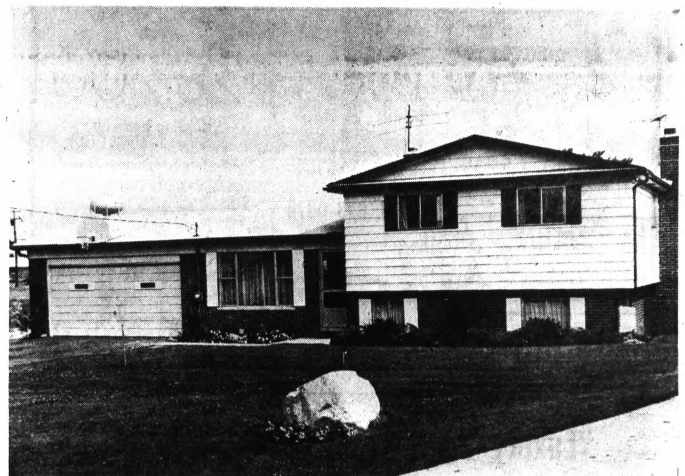

As the mood swings from formality to informality in the nearby family room, the decorating theme switches to the more rustic beauty of dark-stained pine and homespun fabrics.

Gold fighting cocks are mounted on the white Norman brick fireplace in the walnut paneled room.

Delight of the Salvatores' five children is the white polar bear rug centering the oak parquet floor.

Asphalt Tile Wears Well in Entrance

Compromise is sometimes the best solution in home decorating problems. Clearly, a resilient floor covering is best while the youngsters are growing up but you long for an occasional touch of carpet.

So why not install long-wearing, easy-to-clean asphalt or vinyl asbestos tile and use area rugs?

Decorators have decided that it is very chic to have vinyl asbestos tile hard-use areas, such as entrance halls, in a marbled design that harmonizes with the living room carpet.

Other home designers suggest tiling major rooms in neutral colors and using small brightly colored rugs for accent. One dramatic style is a black-and-white checkerboard floor spiced with scatter rugs.

A major advantage of a resilient tile floor, whether it is through-chip, marbled or on-bossed design, is that it doesn't date.

Such floors wear well at least 20 years. In that length of time home fashions change drastically — but these floors look well with any style decor. That's a big consideration when budgeting a big-cost item such as flooring.

When building a garden bench use 2x4s on edge with pieces of lath as spacer blocks.

Local Realtor Supports Bill

Support of federal legislation which would aid in halting use of the mails in the fraudulent sale of land was expressed recently in congressional testimony by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, Bruce J. Annett, president of the Pontiac Board of Realtors, said recently.

The bill (S. 274) would authorize the Post Office Department to stop the use of the mails upon evidence of a misrepresentation of a material fact in advertising the sale of land or any other commodity. Wording of the proposed measure would make it clear that the intent of the person making deceptive statements is irrelevant to the enforcement of law. Currently, intent to defraud on the part of the advertisers must be proved before the Post Office can act.

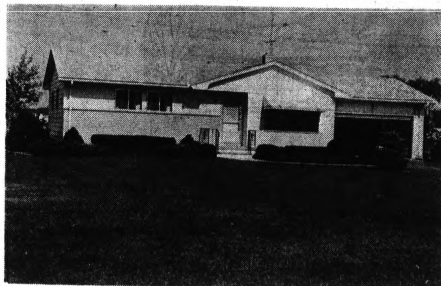

Explaining the reasons for NAREB's support of federal legislation, the NAREB spokesman before the Senate committee said, "While a state can effectively regulate subdivisions within the state or advertisements placed in the state for out-of-state developments, the state has no power to police the mail that enters or leaves its boundaries."

According to Annett, NAREB's interest in the bill stems from its long-standing concern with the problems of fraudulent land sales by mail.

"Fraudulent land sales not only reflect on the real estate profession as a whole, but are a violation of Articles 3 and 4 of our Association's Code of Ethics."

He pointed out that the Code declares, "It is the duty of the realtor to protect the public against fraud, misrepresentation, or unethical practices in the real estate field. He should endeavor to eliminate in his community any practices which could be damaging to the public or to the dignity and integrity of the real estate profession."
