Teamsters Aid Milk Boycott in Tennessee

By the Associated Press

The National Farmers Organization maintained the pressure of a 25-state milk boycott today and, with the help of the Teamsters union, shut off the flow of milk to homes and stores in much of Tennessee.

As the 13th day of the boycott began, the NFO claimed a major success in its campaign to increase by 2 cents a quart the price paid to farmers for their milk.

That was in Minnesota, where the NFO said 13 dairies handling 235 million pounds of milk yearly had signed contracts on NFO terms. In Wisconsin other signings were rumored, but not confirmed.

Two independent dairies serving the Pontiac area today report they have plenty of milk on hand and all deliveries are being made.

FIRMS

The firms are Nye Dairy, 585 Oakland, Pontiac, and Porritt Dairy, 1758 Clarkston, Orion Township.

Many of the states affected by the boycott reported a lull in picketing and acts of violence over the Easter weekend.

In Chicago the Pure Milk Association reported deliveries of milk to the city's wholesalers had been reduced by only 5 or 6 per cent and that milk supplies remained adequate in all stores. No price increases were reported. The association represents Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana farmers supplying milk to the Chicago market.

The situation was reversed in Nashville, Tenn., where the combined action by NFO pickets, Teamsters and members of the Meat Cutters Union forced processors to curtail operations, kept milk off store shelves and halted home deliveries. Nashville milk processors serve some 1.5 million residents of Middle Tennessee and south central Kentucky.

DELAY

Lawyers for the Teamsters Union delayed the enforcement of an injunction against the milk withholding action in Chancery Court at Nashville by petitioning for a U.S. District Court order in their favor. A hearing on the motion was set for today.

More than 300 NFO, Teamsters and other pickets appeared early today at major dairies in Nashville and a dairy spokesman said milk would be delivered only to hospitals.

★ ★ ★

Pickets also appeared at dairies in several Pennsylvania communities early today.

Sixteen NFO pickets appeared at Abbot Dairies in Philadelphia, announced they had been recognized by the Teamsters, and told police they would not allow milk trucks to enter or leave the plant. An Abbott spokesman said the Teamsters were not supporting the NFO.

PICKETS

Pickets appeared at midnight at major milk processing plants in four other Pennsylvania counties. A spokesman for the NFO said pickets would remain "until we get the job done."

Some 90 million motor vehicles were in use as personal transportation in the U.S. in 1965.

TANKER SPLITS — An aerial view shows the 61,263-ton American tanker Torrey Canyon splitting in two today on the Seven Stones Reef off Land's End, England, spilling more oil toward the beaches of southwest England. The two halves lay about 25 yards apart with the bow at an angle of 40 degrees to the stern section.

U.S., N. Viets Both Lose Jet

Ground War Erupts; 7 Yank Copters Hit

SAIGON (AP) — American airmen smashing deep into North Vietnam shot a Communist MIG17 from the skies Sunday while the ground war erupted with sharp fighting from the 17th Parallel to the Mekong Delta.

One U. S. jet went down over the North, but the pilot was saved. Communist ground gunners in the South downed three American helicopters and badly shot up four more.

★ ★ ★

A series of Red assaults and mortar barrages in the delta, including one attack on the U. S. airfield near Can Tho, brought out a blazing display of U. S. ground, sea and air power. The guerrilla attacks were met with fire from helicopter gunships, shots from river patrol boats and a rain of bullets from lumbering C47 transports mounting guns that can each spew 6,000 rounds a minute.

★ ★ ★

The air battle over North Vietnam took place during a strike on the Son Tay Army supply point 23 miles west of Hanoi, the first time the installation has been reported bombed. It contains half a dozen ammunition bunkers and a string of barracks.

38TH MIG KILL

A flight of eight Soviet-designed MIGs jumped the U.S. raiders, and an Air Force F105 Thunderchief turned into the marauders and shot one down. It was the 38th MIG kill claimed by U.S. fliers in the war, in contrast to 10 U.S. planes shot down by North Vietnamese pilots.

The Thunderchief that went down over the North was hit by ground fire just above the demilitarized zone, the Air Force said. It was the 497th U.S. plane reported lost over the North. Hanoi radio claimed three U.S. planes were downed Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force spokesman said that despite continuing bad weather, U.S. pilots hit North Vietnam with 98 missions Sunday.

The fighting in the delta centered near Can Tho, 50 miles southwest of Saigon, and was another sign of the mounting war in that vital area, which grows much of the nation's rice and holds most of her people.

142 VC KILLED

Supporting South Vietnamese troops, a flight of helicopters in Vinh Long Province. Three were shot down, four were badly damaged. Two Americans were killed, two were missing and 12 were wounded. But South Vietnamese headquarters said 142 Viet Cong were killed in the action.

★ ★ ★

Late Sunday night the guerrillas struck again with 40 mortar rounds fire on the airfield west of Can Tho, causing no damage, officials reported, and a series of attacks on river outposts manned by South Vietnamese militia.

Flareships circled the Can Tho area throughout the night, casting an eerie light over the rice fields and isolated battles.

Commission Opposition to Amendment Sought

BIRMINGHAM — The city manager will ask the commission tonight to oppose a state amendment to the Home Rule City Act on initiative and referendum.

Manager Robert Kenning will present reasons for the opposition at the 8 p.m. meeting. He points out the proposed change is in contradition to present charter policy.

His contention is that calling for a popular vote on items of finance, zoning or handling of personnel, would be harmful.

Kenning claims "emotional" appeals would interfere with sound zoning policies and that it would be possible for employes to gain remuneration "which the community could not afford . . ."

Also on tonight's agenda is a report by City Assessor Clark H. Hagstrom on the 1967 roll.

SHOWS INCREASE

His report says the valuation shows an increase of over $18 million, due mostly to the adjustments asked in state law bringing property assessments up to 50 per cent of cash value.

He determines the equalization factors of 1.1 last year will be an even 1 this year.

Some 21 appeals were heard by the board of review on the new assessments, he reports.

★ ★ ★

Building Official Richard B. Schlosser has also prepared a report in which he indicates 17 signs in the city appear to be nonconforming with proposed sign rules.

Kansas City Firemen Vow Full Walkout

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Firemen are continuing with plans that will leave Kansas City virtually without fire protection by Tuesday morning. They are seeking higher wages and shorter hours.

Stanton Gladden, a battalion chief and president of the Fire Fighters Local 42, said two more men in each company would take sick leave today. About sixty reported sick Sunday in the first move toward a walkout.

★ ★ ★

Gladden said all other men supporting the move will report they are sick Tuesday. In a similar dispute last summer, only a handful of firemen opposed the union.

Mayor Ilus Davis said the city has a plan of action if the walkout becomes complete. He wouldn't disclose the details.

"We don't deal in threats," the mayor said.

Last summer, at the city's request, the National Guard was called out to protect the fire stations, although firemen remained on duty during that dispute.

★ ★ ★

The climax will come during the city election Tuesday, in which the 12-member city council and a mayor are elected.

Charles Shafer, attorney for the firemen's union, is a candidate for councilman, a post he formerly held.

Gladden has accused the present council of failing to keep its promises. The union has urged defeat of the council majority in the election.

Mayor Davis, seeking reelection, said the "threat to stop fire protection, carried out, would be an irresponsible and vicious attempt to blackmail the voters."

S. Viet Council Jumps Gun on the New Constitution

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's armed forces council decided today to put the country's new constitution into effect on Saturday.

A communique issued after a day-long meeting of the council also announced national elections on Sept. 1 for president, vice president and the senate. The lower house of the National Assembly will be elected Oct. 1, the communique said.

★ ★ ★

The brief communique also reported that the council's 46 generals and colonels had voted their confidence that the national leadership committee, the ruling junta, would "maintain stabilization to bring about the democratic organizations."

There was no mention of presidential candidacies of chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu or Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. Both are known to be interested in the top position in the elected civilian government.

ACCEPTED IN FULL

The council said it would "accept in full the draft constitution by the constituent assembly voted on March 18, 1967, and will promulgate this said constitution on April 1, 1967."

This moves up the constitutional timetable more than a month. It was to have been put into effect by May 3.

It returns South Vietnam to government under a constitution for the first time since the overthrow of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem on Nov. 1, 1963. Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, nullified virtually all that charter's provisions for representative government and civil liberties.

The new constitution provides for an independent judiciary and a two-house legislature under a modified presidential form of government much like those in South Korea and France.

TWO VOTES

Informants said the armed forces council needed two votes to approve the constitution as written. Some military leaders feared that it did not provide a sufficiently strong executive branch.

Sources in the U.S. Embassy said Monday that Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had urged the Vietnamese leaders not to present a military candidate for president at the same time they approved the constitution to avoid intensifying regional rivalries.

★ ★ ★

'Schools Need Income Tax'

State Board Member Asks More Money

LANSING (AP) — A member of the State Board of Education has asked legislators to pass a 3 per cent state income tax and to appropriate for schools some $71 million more than the $823 million recommended by Gov. George Romney.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Leroy Augenstein, a Michigan State University biophysicist now in his first term on the board, said public schools need another $55 million, colleges require another $13 million to avoid major tuition increases, and community colleges should receive an additional $3 million.

★ ★ ★

"Most of these increases are needed just to keep up with inflation and enrollments," Augenstein said in a letter to legislators. "Only a small 1 per cent improvement factor is included.

★ ★ ★

"The major exception to this pattern is the $25 million recommended for the K - 12 program to reduce the pupil-teacher ratio."

45th IN NATION

"Unfortunately, Michigan now ranks 45th in the nation in average K - 12 class size," Augenstein wrote. "It will require similar increases to that proposed for each of the next three years to bring Michigan up to the national average."

★ ★ ★

Augenstein said a 3 per cent personal income tax is needed to provide the additional $71 million. Romney has proposed a 2½ per cent tax.

Sex Slayer From City, 3 More Escape

A confessed murder rapist from Pontiac is among four men reported to have escaped last night from the Ionia State Hospital.

State Police said Donald V. O'Brian, 40, was in a group that sawed its way through prison bars and fled the institution while other inmates attended a movie.

O'Brian was found guilty in 1953 of the July sex slaying of Mrs. Hallie O. Perkins, 55, whose body was found in a vacant lot on the city's North Side.

He was also named in a warrant charging him with the rape of a 16-year-old girl and was linked by police with attacks on four other women in that year.

He was captured in September 1953, when two men raced to the aid of a woman O'Brian was assaulting.

SEXUAL PSYCHOPATH

Following his arraignment on a charge of first-degree murder, a team of psychiatrists declared O'Brian to be a criminal sexual psychopath.

Commitment to the state hospital at Ionia followed.

Escaping with O'Brian, police said, were William Hayes, 41, and Daniel Grzywinski, 28, both of Detroit and sentenced for taking indecent liberties, and Don Ringler, 34, sentenced from St. Joseph County for assault to commit murder.

Charges Face Unknown Pair

Suspects in Holdup Refuse to Give Names

Warrants charging two men with armed robbery and assault with intent to murder were to be sought today by Birmingham police.

The men, as yet unidentified, have been held in the Oakland County Jail since their capture following a holdup of Adams Pharmacy, 1955 Woodward, Saturday night.

Their fingerprints have been taken to Lansing for identification by the Michigan State Police.

Police say the pair, who have refused to give their names, also robbed Uhan's Variety Store, 1475 Baldwin, Pontiac, earlier Saturday evening, and may be responsible for several other holdups in the area in the past week.

★ ★ ★

The loot from both robberies was found in the getaway car, stolen from Flint, after it was stopped on Riverside near Norwood in Beverly Hills by Bloomfield Township auxiliary patrolman George W. Arnold.

OFFICER SHOT AT

The driver of the car gave up without resistance but the passenger fired one shot at Arnold.

The bullet missed its mark when it glanced off the car roof.

The passenger surrendered when Arnold returned two shots.

★ ★ ★

Police were alerted when Edward Gresnick, 317 Charlotte, Royal Oak, a clerk in the pharmacy, slipped out of the store to a nearby gas station.

CAR FOLLOWED

When the bandits fled the store, two attendants from the service station followed the getaway car until Arnold caught up with it.

In both robberies, only one man took part in the actual robbery.

Approximately $760 was taken from the cash register at Uhan's and $500 from nine customers, while about $425 was stolen from the pharmacy.

OU Student Awards Will Honor PCH

Pontiac Central High School will be doubly honored tonight when Oakland University presents academic awards to 221 university students and to outstanding secondary schools.

The Pontiac school captured both awards given annually to secondary schools whose students place highest academically at OU.

It is the first school to do so in the four-year history of the awards program.

The honors are for freshman academic achievement, based on the highest standing group of five members of the freshman class and senior academic achievement, based on the highest standing group of three OU graduates.

★ ★ ★

HONORED

★ ★ ★

Birmingham Seaholm High School will receive honorable mentions in both secondary school award categories. Pontiac Northern will get an honorable mention for freshman academic achievement, and Walled Lake School will be among those in the senior category.

Caught With Pants Down

ROYAL OAK (UPI) — A motorist accused of indecent exposure was captured at the end of a 100 - mile - an - hour chase yesterday by police from six cities when he tried to escape on foot but was tripped up as his pants kept falling down.

★ ★ ★

Three squad cars were wrecked and four policemen suffered minor injuries in the 25-mile chase through southwestern Oakland County.

The man, whose name was withheld by police, was held today on charges of indecent exposure, felonious driving and resisting arrest.

Police said the man leaped into a car and sped off after he was spotted standing without pants on a city street.

Two squad cars collided and a third ran into a pole as police joined in the chase through Royal Oak, Ferndale, Hazel Park, Madison Heights and Clawson.

The man, who police said was driving his mother-in-law's car, was arrested when he finally jumped from the auto and tried to escape on foot through a field.

OCC's Program for Police Certified

The basic police training program under way at Oakland Community College since March 6 has been certified by the Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council, according to OCC President John E. Tirrell.

★ ★ ★

Trainees who meet the minimum employment standards of the council and successfully complete the prescribed courses will receive a training certificate upon their graduation April 14.

★ ★ ★

Noel C. Buff, executive secretary of the council, said that municipalities which have gone on record stating they will adhere to council standards will be eligible for reimbursement of up to one-half of salaries and living expenses of trainees.

'Love-In' Easter Innovation

By the Associated Press

Youth had its fling over the Easter weekend, mainly at several East and Gulf Coast resorts, to climax their holiday vacations. But it wasn't all rioting and arrests as the Mod set staged a West Coast "Love-In" and a Manhattan "Be-In."

Police heaved sighs of relief Sunday as more than 40,000 collegians headed back to classes, leaving some beaches strewn with beer cans and other debris.

At Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the bulk of 30,000 college boys and girls began a mass exodus to various campuses. There were 500 in the young army of revelers arrested for drunkenness, rowdyism, loitering and interfering with police activities from Thursday through Sunday.

Early Sunday, 16 youths were arrested by Fort Lauderdale police after they pelted officers with firecrackers. A van taking them to jail burst into flames but the driver quickly opened the door and averted serious injury.

BAN ON BEER

The visiting young people at Daytona Beach, Fla., found that local authorities eliminated seaside boistering with a ban on beer-drinking on the beach.

At Biloxi, Miss., an Easter Sunday rain put a damper on the rollicking activities of some 10,000 college students.

"It seems to have taken the cool out of them," a Biloxi policeman said.

Before the rain, however, 85 youths had been arrested on such charges as disorderly conduct, destroying property, drunken driving, interfering with highway traffic and indecent exposure.

DAMAGE

Police Chief Louis Rosetti said, "It's a mess. They've been breaking windshields of cars, tearing up lawn chairs, and tearing down piers to build bonfires."

On Saturday, police cleared the beach of beer-swigging students as Rosetti announced: "We're not letting them camp on the beach."

★ ★ ★

At Ocean Drive Beach, S.C., several hundred college and high school students began rioting Saturday midnight. By the time the fracas was broken up at 2 a.m., a policeman had been cut by a broken bottle and some 150 students were in jail.

In Hollywood, Calif., early Sunday about 500 teen-agers became unruly as they left the International Teen Fair. They were tossing bottles and rocks at passing cars when police closed in. Fifteen were arrested but there were no injuries and little property damage. Another 500 youths attending the affair took no part in the melee.

LOVE-IN

At Los Angeles, 4,500 bearded and miniskirted hippies gathered at Elysian Park Sunday for a "Love-In."

"Christ is here with us, baby," said Peter German, who helped organize the encampment. "So is Buddha."

★ ★ ★

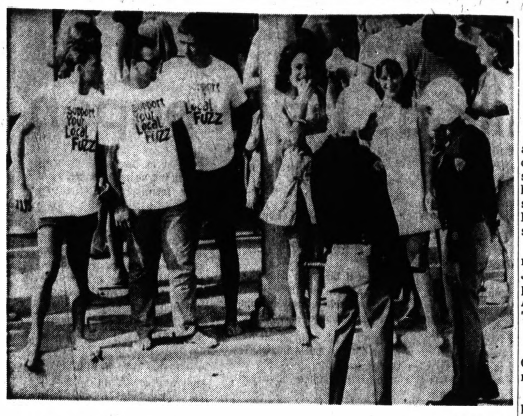

Sounds at the gathering included mainly bongo drums, bells, guitars, and group singing. Some recited poetry and made speeches. The only problem was the giant traffic jam around the park.

In New York's Central Park, 10,000 members of the beard-and-sandal crowd staged the city's first "Be-In," featuring love and "happenings."

The girls wore painted faces (such as "love" printed across the forehead) while a number of the boys were bare-chested and barefoot under sunny skies.

Some flew kites, others played marbles, a number slept, and an even greater number just watched.

One group of about 1,000 demonstrated good fellowship about every 15 minutes or so by joining hands in a "love circle."

MORAL SUPPORT — The motto worn by these students, waiting to cross a street in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., yesterday, held true in contrast to the disturbances and clashes between students and police on Friday and Saturday.

Latin Resolution Stalled

Senators Balky on Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics of his Vietnam policies are making President Johnson squirm a bit before handing him a resolution of Latin aid support he wants to take to the Punta del Este hemispheric summit conference April 12-14.

They already have stalled the measure to the point where Johnson will not have it in his pocket when he entertains Latin American ambassadors at his Texas ranch this weekend.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has scheduled its next hearing on it for April 3.

Johnson has been on the telephone to Senate friends haranguing them to get action. Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen reported a 30-minute conversation in which Johnson urged him to rally GOP support for the resolution.

'RECOMMENDATION'

As it stands, the resolution, passed by the House, would have Congress "recommend" that the United States provide financing for Alliance for Progress educational and economic programs on a matching basis with Latin American nations. It also would put Congress on record for support of a common market for the area.

★ ★ ★

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee raised the point that this was the kind of advance commitment Congress gave the President in the Tonkin Gulf resolution in 1964, which Fulbright contends Johnson used to expand the Vietnam war.

Some senators who have seen their protests against intensifying the war bounce off the White House without seeming effect, joined Fulbright to peck away at the current resolution although one war foe, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., is sponsoring the measure.

While they apparently already have succeeded in making the President uncomfortable, the group indicates it doesn't really intend to deny him some resolution.

'NOT SUBSTANCE'

Fulbright repeatedly has said he is only objecting to "procedure, not substance." He wants individual Latin aid programs checked with Congress and not put into effect by presidential order.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., has challenged Johnson's contention that about $1.5 billion can be added to Latin American aid without cutting back on domestic programs. He objects to the "blank check" aspects of the administration's original proposal.

★ ★ ★

"The whole concept is fallacious though undoubtedly it's done with good intentions," he said.

The critics are expected to push to say that Congress "supports" President Johnson's proposal so long as aid is given "in accordance with constitutional processes."

'EMPTY WORDS'

It will be up to Johnson to decide whether this represents more than the "empty words" Secretary of State Dean Rusk said would be worse than no resolution at all.

Meanwhile Sunday, U.S. officials made available preliminary figures showing that overall Latin American economic growth in 1966 was less than half the target of the Alliance for Progress.

Work Slowdown Threatened in NY Firemen's Pay Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — The head of the AFL-CIO Uniformed Firemen's Association says that on Thursday or Friday the city's 10,500 firemen will start a work slowdown, responding only to fire calls and emergencies.

Gerald F. Ryan, association president, said Sunday the union's delegate assembly would meet today to set a date for starting the partial work stoppage designed to pressure the city in a pay dispute.

The firemen have been working without a contract since last July. They are demanding the annual base pay for top-grade fire fighters be increased by $2,000 to $10,500.

John J. Cassese, president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, said Sunday that off-duty policemen would begin picketing City Hall Thursday. The PBA is bargaining jointly with the firemen and has also threatened a slowdown.

Cassese has said the police will not strike.

Both he and Ryan appeared on WCBS radio "Let's Find Out" program. They said the only way to avert the threatened slowdowns would be for Mayor John V. Lindsay to meet with them.

Lindsay refused to comment on the dispute Sunday.

Firemen voted last Monday to turn down an increase of about $1,100 recommended by a fact-finding panel, and authorized both the slowdown and a strike referendum.

Ryan, in a separate appearance on "Page One" over WABC-TV, said the mail ballot would take 2½ to 3 weeks to complete.

NFO Defies Brother Organizations

Bitter Civil War in State Has Milk as Its Weapon

By ED BLUNDEN

The "milk war" is a civil war, pitting farmer against farmer, neighbor against neighbor, with all the bitterness and hostility that type of conflict always engenders.

It's the National Farmers Organization (NFO) against the Michigan Milk Producers Association (MMPA).

Complicating the tussle is the fact that the dairy farmer often belongs to both groups. There is, however, a difference.

Blunden

The NFO, acting more and more of late like a trade union, is an organization of farmers to battle for their common benefit. Meantime, the MMPA is a cooperative firm that primarily markets milk furnished by the group's members.

Members of the NFO want to get $6.50 per hundred pounds milk instead of the going rate of $5.50 — a hike that would cost the consumer an extra 2 cents a quart.

NFO farmers claim they are living a marginal existence at present prices. They say if prices aren't raised they will be forced out of the dairy business.

(This is no small matter, because even a relatively small 25-cow operation involves about a $100,000 investment. Anyone in Oakland County thinking of going into the business to replace the possible dropouts should be reminded that 40 acres of ordinary farmland in the northern part of Troy was recently sold to that city for $3,500 per acre.)

NATIONAL IN SCOPE

The NFO is national in scope and the MMPA is a state organization.

The NFO was involved in a meat-withholding tactic a few years ago. The success of that venture is a matter of speculation, though meat prices have since gone up.

No effects in the present milk action were discernible as of today, with sources claiming plenty of milk on hand.

★ ★ ★

The NFO keeps its membership secret and no one is saying how many belong. However, estimates in Oakland and Lapeer County put the number as high as 50 per cent of the farmers.

DUAL INTEREST

Most of these men are also members of the organization they are opposing in the current dispute, the MMPA.

The latter outfit was organized in 1916 and is operated under state and federal laws. Some 8,500 out of 10,000 dairy farms in the state belong. The rest are co-op or independents.

News Analysis

The MMPA handles sales agreements for members. All officers and officials must be bona fide dairymen.

★ ★ ★

The organization has the power to raise or lower prices.

HERE ARE REASONS

Here's why:

The farmer milks his cows. A tank truck transports the milk to a dairy or to a shipping depot, such as the one in Imlay City.

The central MMPA office in Detroit makes agreements with dairies to sell them so much milk for either bottling or processing and ships it to them.

★ ★ ★

All buyers must pay the same price, whatever is set by the organization.

NO STAKE

Thus, the individual farmer doesn't own his own truck and can't easily seek other markets. He normally also has no stake whatever in the dairy that packages and presents the milk to retailers.

So a farmer in Imlay City could go to the store and buy a carton of his own milk that was shipped to a Detroit dairy, processed, then shipped all the way back for retail sale.

Not only that, but the same milk may be in two different types of packages with separate brand names.

★ ★ ★

Question: If the reports on dumping and destroying of milk are true, why is there no milk shortage?

NO LETUP?

Officials at MMPA claim they are getting as much milk as ever — 9.6 million pounds a day, statewide.

Even if this isn't true, they have an ace up their sleeve that will relieve any consumers worried about shortages.

About 70 per cent of all milk is for bottling and drinking. The rest is used for processing into such foods as cheese, ice cream, candy, etc.

Officials admit they could, if they had to, suspend sales of milk for processing. Thus, the NFO would have to hold back at least 30 per cent of all the milk being produced in the state before the public would begin to feel an immediate squeeze.

FEDERAL ROLE

The federal government is also involved in the milk business, though not nearly so much as in other farm products such as wheat.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. sets a milk minimum price which varies from region to region. The minimums are set on an average-price structure which is complicated, but they do show that Michigan milk is cheaper than in Ohio.

However, it is about 10 per cent higher than in Milwaukee. And the "actual" price paid in the "dairy state" is said to be about 20 per cent lower than in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Cheap Wisconsin milk has already made deep inroads on the western border of Michigan, reports indicate, so if Michigan milk prices were raised unrealistically, it might pay Wisconsin dairymen to ship it here.

School Space Milford Topic

MILFORD — A special meeting will be held by the Huron Valley Board of Education Thursday to discuss a critical school housing situation expected next year.

Residents are being invited to express their views at the 8 p.m. meeting at the high school. Following the public discussion, the board will hold a formal board meeting to make a decision.

The space shortage is expected the first half of the next school year until a new elementary school is opened in December.

Several possibilities are being studied to ease the situation including a three-day alternating week at the junior high schools and half-days for elementary schools.

★ ★ ★

Also being considered is the housing of all junior high school students at Muir Junior High on half-day sessions and freeing Highland Junior High for elementary pupils.

The elementary children would then be moved to the new elementary school when it is completed in December.

MIGRANTS MARCH — A group of Mexican-American migrant workers and some supporters presented petitions in Lansing Easter Sunday asking legislation for better living and working conditions. Gov. George Romney was not in the Capitol, but Lt. Gov. William Milliken accepted the petitions.

Migrants Present Plea for Help

LANSING (AP) — More than 800 Mexican - Americans, migrant laborers and their sympathizers gathered before Michigan's State Capitol Easter Sunday in a plea for help.

The scene resembled a Mexican fiesta, but the crowd was deadly serious.

★ ★ ★

A small group started marching from Saginaw on Good Friday to present a petition of grievances. They held rallies and gathered added marchers and supporters along the way.

"Governor, our feet are sore," began the petition to Gov. George Romney. "Some of us have walked more than 70 miles to tell you about our problems.

PLEA FOR HELP

'Help us, governor. Help us to be treated as human beings. Help us, governor, to endure the abundance which God has given America."

The list of grievances included pleas for a minimum wage for migrant workers, the right of collective bargaining, a change to allow them to collect welfare benefits, better housing and working conditions and better education for their children."

★ ★ ★

Romney, who does not conduct state business on Sunday because of his religious beliefs, was not there to receive the marchers.

Lt. Gov. William Milliken promised to present the petition to Romney today.

ASSURANCE

Milliken assured the demonstrators, "The governor will give you his full and fair consideration."

Nearly a dozen of the marchers walked the entire distance from Saginaw, carrying a heavy wooden cross draped in white satin to commemorate Easter.

They held American and Mexican flags, and banners depicting the Virgin of Guadalupe—revered saint of Mexico.

Hand-lettered signs carried such slogans as "Viva La Causa," "Human Dignity for Migrant Workers" and "Chicken Coops are for the Birds."

One sign, chiding Romney, asked "George Where are You?"

"This is the most orderly demonstration I've ever seen," commented a Capitol guard.

Trial Due on Novi Home Rule Vote

NOVI — A vote to incorporate as a home rule city will not be rescheduled by the Village Council until after a trial on the village's right to do so.

The trial, for which no date has yet been set, is the result of a suit filed by a village citizen's committee which is attempting to have Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn's recent ruling upheld as "valid, conclusive judgment."

Thorburn recently ruled that as an already incorporated entity, the village is not bound by a state statute requiring 500 persons per square mile to incorporate as a home rule city.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer, at a recent hearing set aside his previous ruling that the village is not entitled to hold an incorporation vote because it does not meet the state statute.

According to village attorney Howard Bond, Beer stated that no written orders had been signed on his previous ruling and that all his rulings "were held for naught."

'BREAKDOWN'

"Everything that happened to stop the election, such as the injunction, shouldn't have happened," said Bond. "It was all the result of a breakdown in communications."

The injunction to stop the vote was sought by Novi Township officials.

Following Beer's ruling last month denying the vote, an April 4 election was called off.

A pretrial hearing on the issue will be held April 6.

Man Kills Girl, Self to Evade Capture

PRINCETON, W. Va. (AP) — Police said today a young man, wanted on a burglary charge, shot and fatally wounded his 13-year-old sister-in-law hostage before killing himself.

State police had tried to coax Warren R. Clapps, 23, of Princeton out of a barricaded basement in the girl's home, then used a tear gas grenade hoping to flush him out with the girl.

Clapps, an unemployed handyman, then fired a bullet from a 32-caliber pistol into Shirley Proffitt's head and put a bullet in his own temple, police said.

"No one ever dreamed it would happen like that," said State Police trooper C.F. Little. "He was sitting in the basement cool as a cucumber, holding the girl in front of him. We promised him the world to get him to let her go. When we put the tear gas in there — bang-bang — it was over just like that," Little said.

The shooting occurred shortly after 1 a.m. Sunday and young Shirley died at 9 p.m. in Bluefield Sanitarium, near this community in southwestern West Virginia.

Little said Clapps barricaded himself in his father-in-law's basement, with Shirley as a hostage after State Police arrived with the warrant for his arrest. He was wanted in connection with an $800 burglary that occurred two weeks ago.

"We talked to him for an hour or longer trying to get him to come out," Little said. "But he wouldn't listen. We thought the tear gas would do it, but it just set him off."

Bats in Belfry Wellcome Guests

LONDON (AP — English parish churches which have bats in the belfry — or anywhere else — are invited to call the London Zoo.

The Wellcome Institute of Comparative Physiology, which is engaged on a program of research into the behavior and reproductive physiology of British bats, offers to clear unwanted bats from churches in the London area and give them a good home.

2 Bandits Escape After Wild Chase

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Two bandits who eluded police from six departments in a wild, Hollywood-type chase early yesterday were the object of a manhunt through Southeastern Michigan today.

The chase began when an off-duty policeman, Charles Fojtik, spotted four men robbing Mr. and Mrs. Don Clowe in the parking lot of an Ann Arbor restaurant. He chased the men in his car and radioed for help.

The four crashed through police roadblocks and fired at their pursuers. One Ann Arbor officer was injured when the bandit's car began heading head-on with another auto during the chase but required only first aid.

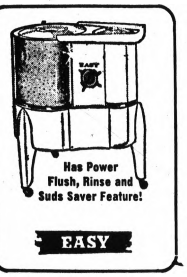

Two of the four were captured without resistance when they abandoned the car about three miles north of Ann Arbor. The other two fled into a field and finally eluded police who continued the search of the area today.

FBI Report Is Lurid Reading

The FBI's Uniform Crime Reports for 1966 just released are not recommended for light bedside reading.

As have similar past reports, the current ones paint a nationwide picture of steadily rising crime in all categories.

HOOVER

The four areas of violent crime are up a composite 11 per cent over 1965, while crime against property (burglary and auto theft) rose by the same percentage.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover noted that the up-trend in crime was no respecter of geography — the four regional divisions of the Country running a close race. The southern states were high with a 13 per cent increase, the northeastern group low with a 9 per cent rise.

★ ★ ★

Significant statistics shown in the reports indicate the sharpest rate of increase, 14 per cent, was experienced in cities with less than 10,000 inhabitants. The suburbs were next with a 13 per cent jump over a year ago, followed by a big-city average of 10 per cent and rural areas with 7 per cent.

The local crime picture reflects an equally menacing image. Pontiac's over-all rate for 1966 rose 15 per cent over 1965, while the first two months of 1967 reveal a shocking 19 per cent jump in major crime for a comparable period of last year.

Other important findings show a 1 per cent drop in police arrests of adults, excluding traffic offenses, but an alarming 9 per cent increase in arrests of teen-agers.

★ ★ ★

Countrywide, solution of the Crime Index offenses stood at 56 per cent for the year. Solution of murders was high with 89 per cent, property offenses low with 21 per cent.

In pointing out that serious assaults where a gun was used showed a sharp jump during 1966 (23 per cent), the FBI director reiterated the need for adequate Federal firearm legislation.

★ ★ ★

One would be hard put to exaggerate the gravity of the grip that crime has clamped on the United States. But since the sickness is increasingly prevalent in the adolescent sector of the population, it underscores the imperative need for united programs by parents, schools and social agencies that promise remedial effect.

Culture's Storehouse Triumphs Over Disaster

The city of Florence is busy refuting BYRON'S epithet ("Ungrateful Florence!"). A measure of her gratitude is the mission on which Mayor PIERO BARGELLINI departs on Tuesday. The 69-year-old writer and art historian will spend 20 days in the United States to report on the recovery of Florence and the part in this played by American contributions.

★ ★ ★

The miracle of Florence is the product of native courage and hard work, supported by about $200 million in grants and loans, public and private, foreign and domestic. Much of it came from the United States. Young Americans are among the students from half a dozen nations who are being paid about $3 a day to scrape mud and oil from book pages and catalogue cards.

★ ★ ★

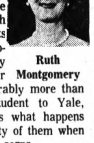

The books are the final stage of the miracle, and their restoration will go on for at least a decade. Otherwise, visitors this spring and summer will find the treasure city of art and learning virtually unchanged. The rush of Easter tourists on which Florence annually banks found reopened all but 31 of the 259 hotels in the city and province that closed because of November flood damage.

"The tourists are the key to everything," says Mayor BARGELLINI, "for the artisans, the merchants, the hotels, and for the general economic health of the city." In 1965, the last year for which figures are complete, tourists—243,000 of them Americans —spent $74 million in Florence.

Union Follows Up Job Training

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — One of the major criticisms leveled at the war on poverty is its lack of follow-up.

Ruth Montgomery

A flagrant example is the Job Corps. Despite the fact that each enlistee costs taxpayers approximately $9,000 per year, considerably more than sending a student to Yale, no one knows what happens to the majority of them when they leave the corps.

The opposite is true of a training program conducted here for the past year, without fanfare, by the Building Service Employes International Union (AFL-CIO), through a grant by the Labor Department's Manpower Training Division.

Mike Nash, the youthful director, knows exactly what has happened to everyone of his 144 graduates to date. He personally placed them with employers, and all but fourteen who returned to the battle are employed at from 17 to 43 per cent more than their pretraining wages.

Nash is the first to admit that their starting wage of $1.75 an hour is "no great shakes," but he says this tops Washington's going rate for a building custodian by 50 cents an hour.

★ ★ ★

The trainees in the unique school run the gamut from human derelicts to high school graduates, and in age from 21 to 62 years. Dropouts in the Job Corps average 25 per cent, but at Nash's training center absenteeism is held to a phenomenal four per cent.

$43 A WEEK

During the 13-week training period, enrollees are paid $43 a week, plus five dollars for each dependent up to six.

Nash tailors the curriculum to the individual student, devoting two of the eight hours a day to remedial education ranging from simple reading lessons for the unlettered, to English and math for high school dropouts.

Weekly lectures and group discussions run the gamut from consumer education and alcoholism to Negro history and foreign policy.

★ ★ ★

All trainees are taught the proper way to clean various types of floors, and what tools to use. Those with higher aptitude are also trained to make minor plumbing, carpentry and electrical repairs.

CUSTODIANS

With this added skill, some of the graduates earn $2.75 an hour as maintenance custodians.

Every three months, the school holds graduation services, which are thronged by the men's families, and such pride and gaiety prevail that one observer declared, "You'd think you were at Harvard!"

After the graduates move into the work force, they receive regular newsletters, and many of them telephone Nash to report on their progress.

Smiles

Every man has a goal, even the bum whose goal is to drift aimlessly through life.

What's The idea, Asking Angels To File Flight Reports?

David Lawrence Says:

Bundy Criticism of Rich off Base

WASHINGTON—Sometimes the American people read in the newspapers excerpts from a public statement by a prominent man, but they don't always learn the answer to criticisms he makes.

A case in point is the recent report by McGeorge Bundy, president of the Ford Foundation and former special adviser to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

LAWRENCE

Bundy criticized "the American rich, old and new," for their "relatively slow and feeble giving" to education.

Most people, however, do not have available the facts on the subject and are therefore unaware that in 1965 individuals and corporations donated more than $10 billion to charity, and gave a substantial amount of it for educational purposes.

Contributions for all causes in the year 1965 totaled $11.3 billion, according to the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel, Inc.

★ ★ ★

Its report shows that foundations gave $1.125 billion, but corporations and individuals, including bequests through wills, donated a total of $10.175 billion.

FURTHER BREAKDOWN

A further breakdown of all the 1965 contributions reveals that 17 per cent — or $1.921 billion — was given for education.

A special survey was made by the Council for Financial Aid to Education, Inc., of contributions for the 1964-65 school year.

Its report discloses that individuals gave 44.8 per cent and corporations, 14 per cent — or a total of 58.8 per cent. Foundations contributed 28.7 per cent. The remaining 12.5 per cent came from religious denominations and other sources.

★ ★ ★

There is nothing in any of the tabulations to indicate that either businesses or wealthy individuals have failed to contribute in a generous way to education in America.

CONTRIBUTING HEAVILY

The figures indicate clearly that corporations and individuals connected with large and small businesses are contributing heavily to education and welfare causes.

Bundy's remarks will come as a surprise indeed to the persons actually engaged in fund-raising throughout the United States who are collecting each year a huge proportion of their funds from persons of higher-than-average incomes.

Every year the newspapers tell of large sums going into newly formed foundations through the bequests of businessmen.

The tax laws, of course, provide that such gifts are not subject to huge levies. A tax as high as 77 per cent is imposed on big estates which are left to individuals. Money without limit, however, can be bequeathed to a nonprofit institution and is not subject to inheritance taxes.

A Sodom and Gomorrah on San Francisco Bay?

SAN FRANCISCO — Either San Francisco has become America's Sodom and Gomorrah or the industriousness of local newspaper reporting is improving.

CONSIDINE

For example, every last town in the land now has its quota of young misfits and their spineless sycophants who find narcotics a prime balm for life's real or imagined wounds.

But only in San Francisco, local newsmen reveal, will you find a marijuana pusher who gives trading stamps.

A dismayed sheriff's deputy named Guido Battagila led a raid the other day on what we used to speak of, in shocked whispers, as a den of iniquity. It is now a "hippie pad."

★ ★ ★

This one was just across the water in Marin County, a beautiful area that generally attracts somewhat more stable citizens.

'FILTHY PAD'

Nineteen precocious freaks, including six girls, were handcuffed and carted to the dubious rehabilitation offered by the county jail in San Rafael.

Battaglia called the bacchanalian barn a "typically filthy beatnik pad . . . dirty, filthy. The kitchen was a mess, the toilet was full and hadn't been working for a week.

Not a word about society's blame in all this decay. Not a single salute to these victims of such grim American folklore dictums like, "cleanliness is next to godliness," "Early to bed, early to rise, etc.": "A stitch in time saves nine": "As the twig is bent, etc.," and, of course, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their potty."

★ ★ ★

Battaglis saw them as a bunch of disgraceful, disreputable young bums and bumesses. Even said so, which naturally offended those who were still coherent.

"Put it in the paper that we're clean," yelled a particularly soiled bearded type.

WE'RE CLEAN

He was a fellew, it is believed.

"All of us have broken away from our families," said someone reporters agreed might be a girl. "We're here because we want to be happy, and our parents want us to be happy."

My friend Jack Rosenbaum of the Examiner tells of an arrogant custodian of the general delivery window at the main post office who refused to surrender John Smith's mail to the person who demanded it.

★ ★ ★

"You're a woman," the custodian said. Furious, John Smith went home and changed into his business suit, took off his lashes, erased his rouge and lipstick and returned to claim his mail.

Don't get me wrong. I love San Francisco. I just wish its abundance of good reporters would move somewhere else.

Reader Can See No Gain for Those Dumping Milk

Don't think for one minute that people who are dumping out all this milk are going to gain by it. With so many going hungry and children needing the milk that is wasted, God will surely punish those responsible. They will have to answer for it at the Judgment Day.

I would hate to be one of them.

'System for Replacing Blood Seems Unfair'

It is outrageous that Pontiac General Hospital charges a patient two pints of blood for the first pint used and then a pint for a pint. If a person wants to donate blood because his hospital bill is high enough, he should only have to replace what has been used, and not an extra pint.

★ ★ ★

I realize that blood supplies are low but this setup isn't fair.

Suggests Elderly Write to Representatives

Sennate Martin's letter stated he and his wife are unable to get aid for the disabled because he draws some insurance. They seemed to be getting along pretty well when getting a small amount from the State. Now he has been dropped from the State rolls and they are not getting by as they should. Both are disabled.

I believe if more elderly people would write the director in the community in which they live or their representatives, they could be reinstated.

Religious Leaders Cause Reader to Wonder

I wonder about ministers and the heads of our churches. Some are devoted and practice what they preach, but I've yet to see one minister living in what is considered the "lower class" home, to see one driving a used automobile, wearing an inexpensive suit, or his wife and children wearing hand-me-downs. What makes ministers' wives any better than others who work to supplement the family income? Do their children need a full-time mother any more than ours?

'Urge LBJ to Shorten War and Save Lives'

Do you think Communists will make peace as long as they think they can win; that the war would end if Russia would quit supplying North Vietnam with war materiel, or that Johnson is really trying to end the rich man's war? Do you realize we are losing more and more lives overseas and that a four-cent post card to LBJ for less restriction on bombing and blockading Haiphong will shorten the war and save many lives?

Tells Disadvantage of Setting Clocks Ahead

Will some people never learn that we have been on Daylight Saving Time since WW II? The people voted to set the clocks ahead an hour and leave them. We live in the Central Time zone and are using Eastern Time. If that isn't Daylight Saving Time, what is? If clocks are set ahead, a lot of small children have to wait for a school bus in the dark. Who wants children or teen-agers out in the dark?

Costly 'News'

Nashville Banner

Rep. E. Y. Berry, R-S.D., the other day, lashed out at the bureaucratic practice of hand-delivering news releases to members of Congress.

He emphasized that it was a needless expense, the type which, in sum total, magnifies the cost of government.

★ ★ ★

Said Berry: "Bureaucracy has some strange aspects, but the strangest is one which has recently been adopted by the various bureaus of having their supposed news releases hand-delivered to congressional offices. The most interesting part is that the delivery is made one or two days after the release has already been carried by the news media."

★ ★ ★

He pointed out that since the time element was not a factor these "handouts" could be mailed and thus save thousands of dollars and a lot of manpower which could be put to more effective use.

The objective of hand-delivery, of course, is to make lawmakers feel they're getting a "hot scoop" on issues involved.

Back in 1962, the then Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare — Anthony J. Celebrezze — sent a multi-page telegram to Congressional members at a cost of several thousand dollars. The issue involved wasn't hot, but merely pending.

★ ★ ★

Amazing was the fact that HEW headquarters is located only about four blocks from points of delivery!

If Mr. Berry can be instrumental in stopping such silly antics and disregard for taxpayers' dollars, he will have performed yeoman service for those who have to dig down to pay for it all.

Don't Merge

Buffalo Evening News

President Johnson's habit of playing his political cards close to the vest has clearly backfired in the case of his proposal to merge the Commerce and Labor Departments.

This one was sprung out of the clear blue sky in his State of the Union message two months ago.

But now, while he is still personally sold on the idea and full of preachments as to why it ought to be done, the President has rather meekly withdrawn it for further study by his Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy.

He is thus admitting, in effect, his earlier failure to build any proper groundwork for the merger before suddenly springing it on a surprised business and labor community, and an even more surprised Congress and public.

So now he'll start again as he should have started the first time — with a task force study.

Cold efficiency may well argue for pooling all labor-business functions in one department, but the public needs to feel that every major economic-interest viewpoint has effective Cabinet-level representation argues at least as eloquently for keeping Labor and Commerce separate.

★ ★ ★

So while we're glad that the President has pulled back his half-baked merger proposal for further study, we would rather see it routed to a quiet burial than have to anticipate its revival after a high-powered behind-the-scenes sales campaign.

Space Dollars' 'Spin-Off' Seen

Technology Reaps Gains in Other Fields

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thanks to all that money and effort we're putting into the exploration of space, we can now have revolving apartment houses and gold-coated window panes on earth . . .

★ ★ ★

And pocket-size computers. . .

And watches that not only wind themselves but generate electricity . . .

And a switch, operated by eye movements only, which enables you to turn off the television without getting up. . .

★ ★ ★

And six-legged walking machines which can take an invalid over curbs and other obstacles a wheelchair couldn't negotiate . . .

TECHNOLOGY

And foldable helicopter repairing computers, and hundreds of other devices, tools, and techniques — in fields ranging from national security to domestic welfare and international politics — stemming from space program technology.

These examples were listed in the fourth annual report to Congress by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) on socially beneficial "spin-offs" or "fallout" from the space effort.

The spinoff theory says in effect that hard-won ability to do great things in one field of endeavor more than likely will be usable in other not necessarily related fields.

★ ★ ★

Take that seismometer designed to withstand a crash-landing on the moon and still send information back to earth about activity in the lunar insides.

POTENTIAL VALUE

Dropped in some remote area of earth, this device, NASA told Congress, "has large potential value as a means of monitoring underground nuclear tests."

An "automatic living - cell analyzer" for recognizing life on Mars can be used to count a human being's blood cells on earth.

Suppose we had a nuclear disaster here at home. This device could provide "almost instantaneous blood counts" reflecting the amount of radiation damage suffered. Thus it could "identify quickly those who could be saved."

★ ★ ★

The 52-page report cited many less grim illustrations of "practical results from the NASA space program."

WHIRLING EXAMPLE

Consider this whirling example of spin-off:

"Thanks to an idea borrowed from NASA launch-facility design, San Diego is to have a complex of nine circular buildings, 18 to 24 stories high, that will revolve every three hours, providing all tenants with a full panoramic view."

The six-legged walking machine for invalids or cripples was suggested by a contraption designed as an instrument carrier for automated exploration of the rugged moon.

★ ★ ★

And so on.

About those gold-coated window panes. NASA found out that a thin gold-spray could control absorption of solar heat by spacecraft instruments and astromauts' helmets. A transparent gold coating only four-millionths of an inch thick, it said, "reflects more than 60 per cent of the heat energy normally penetrating windows."

★ ★ ★

"This," the agency said, "reduces costs for air-conditioning, shades, and draperies."

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The newest in the line of missiles to be recast as space vehicles (among others are Atlas, Redstone, Titan, Scout) is the Minuteman 1 ICBM, aided by a solid-propellant fourth stage.

An ironic possibility is that the new Air Force booster might find NASA its chief user, since the USAF satellite program is at present amply supplied with Atlas missiles.

Sheppard Trial Film Will Star His Lawyer

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Remember when lawyers used to do all their performing in courtrooms? Now they're appearing on their own television shows—Melvin Belli—plugging their best sellers on radio and TV-Louis Nizer—and portraying themselves in movies—F. Lee Bailey.

It is Bailey who concerns us today. The fast rising star of criminal law came to Hollywood for a news conference to announce that he would star as himself in "The Sheppard Murder Case" for Paramount.

The studio, which dearly loves news conferences, gave this one in a dining room of the studio commissary. About a hundred people were there. But it turned out that some were ringers.

Howard Koch, last year's studio boss and now a Paramount producer, was asked what he was doing there. "I don't know," he admitted. "All the producers and directors were invited to attend."

PRINCIPAL FIGURES

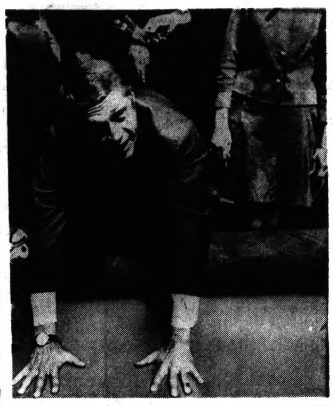

The principal figures of the news conference arrived and sat before microphones at a table with a backdrop of the studio's Alpine trade mark—legend: "It's happening at Paramount." Robert Evans, the onetime actor who now heads the studio, saluted "the bold and dynamic determination" of attorney Bailey in securing an acquittal for Dr. Samuel Sheppard, the Cleveland osteopath who had previously been convicted of murdering his wife.

Brad Dexter, the former actor whose career as a producer flourished after he saved Frank Sinatra in the surf at Hawaii, vowed that "The Sheppard Murder Case" would not be an "exploitation picture." Dexter is producing the film, Sidney Furie is directing.

The subject would be "treated on the highest possible dramatic level," said Dexter, who introduced Bailey as "one of the giants today in American law."

Bailey, 33, is of slightly less than medium height, perhaps not tall enough to become a leading man. His brownish hair recedes at the temples, but that could be fixed with a hairpiece. He has rugged good looks that would make him suitable for character work, particularly as a lawyer.

The Bostonian began by declaring the whole Sheppard case had been an outrage and the worst miscarriage of justice in 30 years. He added that the average citizen has little protection against conviction if he happens to be a "notorious defendant."

State Income Tax Battle Is On

By JIM NICHOLS

LANSING (AP) — The great tax battle of 1967 is on!

Beginning possibly today in the Senate and conceivably this week in the House, all other business is to be laid aside while legislators decide whether to pass an income tax, what the rate, if any, should be, and what other changes should be made in the state's tax structure.

★ ★ ★

Gov. George Romney wants a revenue - increasing package of some kind passed by both houses of the Legislature this week. He is not likely to get his way.

Sen. Emil Lockwood of St. Louis, leader of the upper chamber's Republican majority planned to try today to move Romney's complex tax package —reported from committee only last Thursday—ahead of all other items on the general orders (free-wheeling debate) portion of the Senate calendar.

HOPES FOR DEBATE

In the House, Republican Floor Leader William Hampton said he hoped the chamber would take action on some other important measures before getting into the tax package. But he added he hoped to start debate on fiscal reform this week.

The Senate has 48 committee-reported bills awaiting action on general orders so far and the House has 55. More arrive each legislative day.

In the House, bills up for debate are such major issues as implied consent for suspected drunken drivers, a delay in the state Medicaid program, a ban on ballot write-ins, Sunday liquor sales and municipal excise taxes on amusement admissions and hotel and motel charges.

In the Senate, even major non-tax bills are going to have to wait. "We're going to get fiscal reform out of the way first," Lockwood says.

REASONS AGAINST

Here are some of the reasons why Romney isn't expected to get a tax program approved by the Legislature and laid on his desk this week:

- The House is behind its schedule. Delayed first by a battle over who should organize the equally divided chamber, then by political conventions, then most recently by the death of Democratic Leader Joseph Kowalski, the House has already had to plead with the Senate for two deadline extensions.
- There are too many issues, possible amendments and diverging views involved in a major tax overhaul to permit a majority in either house to reach total agreement without a lengthy fight.

Car Alerts Man to Garage Blaze

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP)—A station wagon parked in an attached garage at the home of Austin Prewit here sounded its own fire alarm when a short developed in the electrical system.

The blaring of the horn alerted Prewit, who rushed to the garage and, with the aid of a police officer, pushed the blazing vehicle from the garage. Firemen extinguished the blaze.

THE VERY BEST SERVICE IN THE WORLD FRETTER'S

Reads Like a Spy Thriller

Scientists Plot War on Bugs

EAST LANSING (AP) — The plot involved use of daggers, radiation, poison, imported killers and possibly even fake radio messages.

But it wasn't the latest spy thriller episode. It was an entomology conference.

★ ★ ★

The 500 men who discussed these violent measures were scientists trying to figure out the best ways to rub out the insects that destroy millions of dollars worth of food and ornamental plants each year.

Even auto paint came into the plotting. Scientists have found it attracts strawberry beetles and can lure them into traps.

IN BRISTLE FORM

The daggers would take the form of bristles in wheat and other grains. Dr. John Schillinger of Michigan State University reported that bristles make it too uncomfortable for the cereal leaf beetle to settle down on a grain leaf to lay eggs.

Bristly grain varities are available. Scientists now are cross breeding grain plants in in an effort to develop commercially acceptable bristly grains, with high yield and quality.

★ ★ ★

Patrick A. Brennan and Orlo K. Jantz have tried radiation on the beetles and found it reduced the percentage of eggs hatched to one-tenth of normal reproduction.

But, they told fellow entomologists, much more research is needed on this weapon.

Those farmers using beetle poison — chemical sprays — must act as soon as they find a few beetle eggs on grain leaves in infestation areas, said Jantz and Marcus T. Wells.

"If spraying is delayed until damage becomes evident, it's probably too late for effective control," Wells added.

★ ★ ★

Michigan already has imported some killers to deal with the European elm bark beetle, which spreads Dutch elm disease. The disease costs Mchigan residents more than $8 million a year for spraying, removal and replacement of elms.

The killers are half-inch wasps which appear very active in searching out bark beetles, and which reproduce three times as fast as the beetles, said Douglast Valek.

'MOST SPECIFIC'

Dean L. Haynes and James W. Butcher said the wasp is "most specific"—it won't harm other organisms, including humans.

"We released about 10,000 of these parasites last year and hope to release 50 to 100 times that number this year," Haynes said. "If the wasp is successful in reducing bark beetle numbers just a few per cent per year, we will consider it very effective."

★ ★ ★

If Dr. Philip Callahan's guess is right, controlling many insect pests some day may be not much more difficult than turning on a radio.

Callahan, who works at the U.S. Agriculture Department's experienment station at Tifton, Ga., said he has found that moths, and possibly other insects, have antennae which work like tiny radio aerials.

SERVES AS LURE

The antennae, he said, are tuned to the short infrared wavelengths of radiation. Scientists should be able to duplicate these wavelengths and lure the insects into traps, he speculated.

Moths send out radiation signals by vibrating their wings, he said, and "theoretically, these radiation wavelengths could be picked up by another moth over a mile away."

★ ★ ★

Natural vibrations of molecules in certain chemicals, Callahan said, send out the radiation that leads moths to the right plants on which to lay their eggs.

Some "radio" messages apparently already mislead moths, he added.

★ ★ ★

A candle flame gives off complex infared and microwave frequencies, which would explain why a moth will fly to certain death in a candle flame, he said.

Water Flow Is Lubricated

By Science Service

LONDON — More efficient central heating and longer range naval torpedoes may result from experiments with "lubricated" water.

Friction between flowing water and solid bodies has been reduced up to 40 per cent by addition of certain substances such as guar gum and poly-ethylene oxide in concentrations of less than 100 parts per million.

★ ★ ★

Lubricated water might allow the use of smaller, more inexpensive pipes for central heating, or faster circulation with bigger pumps, according to researchers at the Heating and Ventilating Research Association, here.

★ ★ ★

One problem is that present lubricants break down under heat and repeated circulation.

Prisoners Buy Easter Dress for 'Loan Girl'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Teresa Lynn Thompson, a 5-year-old girl left at a Nashville finance company by her mother who said she couldn't take care of the child, had her new Easter frock Sunday.

Teresa's blue eyes were matched by the dress bought Saturday, with $16.30 raised by prisoners at the State Penitentiary here. She also received an Easter basket.

★ ★ ★

After the finance company garnisheed her mother's wages at a local factory the mother sent Teresa to the finance company Thursday, with a note saying: "Here is my baby, since you took my check, you can take care of her 'til I'm able to."

★ ★ ★

The finance company manager turned the child over to juvenile court authorities, who placed her with a great-aunt, pending a hearing April 11.

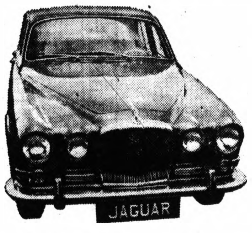

LSD Dangerous, Says FDA Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Persons who take the hallucinogenic drug LSD for kicks of curiosity are running grave risks, the cheif of the Food and Drug Administration warns.

★ ★ ★

"I wouldn't take it on a bet," Dr. James L. Goddard said Sunday in an interview. "It is one of the most dangerous compounds I know of and I certainly hope that none of our employes who are working in this field have taken it."

'Dulles Alone on Saving Viet'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former assistant to President Dwight D. Eisenhower tabs John Foster Dulles, then secretary of state, as probably the only top government official who believed in 1954 there was a chance to save South Vietnam from the Communists.

But another official recalls that even Dulles said, "Our chances of saving the situation there are not more than one in 10."

* * *

The comments were published in the spring issue of "University, A Princeton Quarterly." They are taken from a collection of 275 interviews with persons who knew the late Dulles.

Lt. Gen. Andrew Goodpaster, a staff assistant to Eisenhower, told of Dulles' thinking soon after the 1954 French defeat at Dien Bien Phu and subsequent partition of Vietnam into the Communist north and non-Communist south.

INITIATED MISSION

"On studying this over, Mr. Dulles thought that it (South Vietnam) was perhaps not quite down the drain. Everyone else, I think, felt that it was. He felt that there might be something in this that would be worth trying to salvage, trying to sustain."

Goodpaster said Dulles initiated a mission in November 1954 to see "whether a viable military position could be created in South Vietnam.

* * *

"So far as I know, it was Mr. Dulles who came up with that. At least he brought it up to the President, the two of them talked it over. They thought that there might be some possibility in it, that it was at least worth giving it a try, rather than just write the thing off, which had been the disposition until that time."

* * *

The mission was undertaken by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, retired Army chief of staff. Collins quotes Dulles as offering the one-in-10 assessment.

Urban mass transit systems, such as buses, trains, etc., lost some 45 per cent of the number of users between 1950 and 1960.

Train Conductor Fatally Injured

DUNDEE (AP) — A railroad conductor was fatally injured Sunday when he was run over by a Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad freight train at a switch yard just north of this Monroe County community.

The victim, Earl E. Marsh, 56, of Owosso, was reported missing by the freight train crew shortly after it left the yard early Sunday. Marsh's body was found on the tracks.

Monroe County Sheriff's men said he aparently was run over by the freight when he slipped and fell while attempting to board the moving train.

1,500-Pounder Lost

Hippo Herman Has Searchers at Sea

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Lost: one 1,500-pound hippopotamus, color gray, strong swimmer, goes by the name Herman.

That was the quarry today of police and circus personnel who believe Herman is missing at sea.

Herman disappeared Saturday from his cage in a circus tent on the beach. Attendants said he was especially fond of dips in the Pacific surf.

"It seems almost unbelievable that a 1,500-pound hippo could get lost," said Sgt. John L. Smith, "but it happened."

TAKE A DIP

The latest theory is that Herman decided to take an unsupervised dip in the sea, and may still be swimming, many miles from shore.

* * *

"Those animals can swim for miles and miles," Smith added.

"Why, we'll probably find Herman lolling in the surf off Catalina (25 miles at sea)."

* * *

They also enlisted Herman's cage-mate, an elephant, in the search. They hoped Herman would respond when the elephant bellowed along the shore. He didn't.

Smith said police had received responsible reports that Herman was spotted in the water.

AAUW Units Work for Women

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

High school graduates get college scholarships with relative ease. There are a number of grants and fellowships for college graduates to go on for their master's degrees.

Beyond that point, the obtaining of money for advanced study gets more difficult — especially if you're a woman.

SINCE TIME BEGAN

It's the same old story. Women simply haven't achieved equality in the educational field.

There is a bright spot in the picture.

For 79 years the American Association of University Women has been giving fellowships to women.

In 1888-89, the first award of $350 was given to Ida M. Street for graduate study in English at the University of Michigan.

Since that time, 2000 more women have received AAUW fellowships. This includes 999 American women and the rest from foreign countries.

FOUR UNITS

Money for these fellowships comes from the local branches. There are four in the Pontiac area: Pontiac, Union Lake, Waterford and Rochester.

Each year the local branches contribute to the national fellowship fund.

In 1965-66, over half a million dollars was raised. The funds include a million dollar endowment established in irrevocable trust.

Two of the four branches have benefit events scheduled for early April.

Union Lake sells stationery throughout the year and Rochester sponsors a children's theater, an adult theater party and an art fair.

★ ★ ★

On April 5, the Waterford AAUW is sponsoring a card party at First Federal Savings of Oakland. The theme for the 7:30 p.m. event is "More dollars for fellowships."

★ ★ ★

General chairman is Mrs. Gordon Earhart, assisted by Mrs. F. Hugh Warner, Mrs. William Svenkeson, Mrs. Don Tatroe and Mrs. Morton Jacobs.

Tickets are available from any of the above or at the door.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac AAUW is again having a used booksale at The Pontiac Mall. Dates are April 6, 7 and 8, with hours the same as the stores in The Mall.

Fellowship chairman, Mrs. Harry Hahn, is also booksale chairman.

★ ★ ★

She is assisted by Mrs. Francis MacDowell, Mrs. Jessie Snyder, Mrs. Robert Oliver II, Mrs. Amy Carlson and Marguerite LeCocq.

Awards for the 1967-68 year will soon be announced. Fifty American women will receive stipends from $3000 to $5000 each.

PREREQUISITES

These women must all have their doctorate degree or its equivalent in scholarly achievement; or must have fulfilled all requirements for the doctorate except their dissertation.

There is no restriction on age, place of research, or field of work, except that awards are not made in the creative or performing arts.

★ ★ ★

Another 50 fellowships will be given to women from foreign countries. The first one was given in 1890-91.

Since that time, women from 69 countries have come to the United States for advanced study. Each now receives $2500 for living and incidental expenses, plus all tuition costs.

★ ★ ★

These foreign women are free to study for any advanced degree that has social significance in the advancement of the welfare of the people.

Each applicant must return to her own country after studying here.

★ ★ ★

Two foreign AAUW fellowship holders are studying at the University of Michigan. One, Dr. Valeria Cavazzuti of Italy, was a guest last August in the Hammond Lake home of the John K. Vanderlinds.

★ ★ ★

The general public is not aware of this tremendous aid to women's education.

★ ★ ★

But the national organization received the Distinguished Service Award of Institute of International Education in 1964 for outstanding contribution to international education and understanding.

Ex-Priest and Former Nun Are Wed

PEWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — "It was a very inspiring service," said the Rev. LeRoy Andersen, of the brief, 15-minute, ceremony Saturday in which Edmund Kurth, 35, Pewaukee, a Roman Catholic priest, and Shirley Weis, 34, a former nun, were wed.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Mr. Andersen, pastor of Galilee Lutheran Church here, said only a small number of persons attended the service. He confirmed that he officiated, but declined to say where or when the ceremony was held.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Mr. Andersen said he could not disclose where the couple went after the wedding.

★ ★ ★

He also said he was not at liberty to reveal what occupation Kurth planned to take up.

Kurth had said earlier he assumed the wedding would mean excommunication.

★ ★ ★

He had been a Milwaukee Catholic high school teacher and a member of the Palatine Fathers.

★ ★ ★

The bride, the former Sister Fredalene, had been working as a Chicago public school teacher.

WCTU Meets

Members of the Pontiac Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in the First Church of the Brethren for a cooperative dinner.

Frank Gombolay, riding master and equestrian professional at Bloomfield Open Hunt, will speak and show films of last summer's show at the Thursday family buffet. Member and horseman, Stanley M. Humphrey will introduce the speaker.

Cartoon Tells Story

Not Clear on Big Picture

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There appeared in the Boston Record-American a picture of President Johnson, dressed in his pajamas, bathrobe, and bedroom slippers, dropping a letter in the mailbox. The letter was addressed to Dear Abby.

ABBY

Will you please print his letter and answer?

Very Truly yours,
MRS. I. A. (Everett, Mass.)

DEAR MRS. I. A.: That was no picture, lady — that was a cartoon! And it was drawn by a man named McNamara. Fred, that is.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a 15-year-old boy who has always been a good student, an outstanding athlete, and was never a problem. We want him to have a healthy interest in girls, but listen to this:

I found a note on his bureau from a neighbor girl who is his age, but a little too advanced for him, I fear. In her note she said he had made her feel "wanted" and "needed" and she wanted to show him how much she "loved" him, so would he come to where she would be baby-sitting on Friday night?

★ ★ ★

I don't mind telling you that his father and I are plenty worried because we think that is where he went last Friday night. How should this be handled?

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You can't isolate your son from aggressive females who are "a little too advanced for him." But if you and your husband have a good parent-son relationship with him, you can alert the boy to the pitfalls of such a situation, and therefore make him better equal to handling them.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I sent out 36 invitations to a cocktail party. There was a large RSVP on the invitation, which everyone who is over 12 years old should know means, Please Respond.

Out of the 36 invitations, only 22 responded and 28 showed up. I don't know what happened to the rest.

★ ★ ★

After the party someone to whom I had sent an invitation, but neither responded nor showed up, claimed he didn't receive my invitation.

He said I should have known when he didn't respond one way or the other he didn't get it, and it was my place to call him up and find out why I hadn't heard from him.

Abby, when a person sends out RSVP invitations, is it her place to follow them up with telephone calls? If I am wrong I'll apologize.

BUGGED HOSTESS

DEAR BUGGED: Once in a blue moon an invitation will be lost in the mail, but it is not the hostess' place to follow up RSVP invitations, although in desperation some do. Failure to acknowledge RSVP invitations is inexcusable.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NAMELESS IN CRAWFORDSVILLE, INDIANA: Any woman who tells her husband to go sleep with the dog — and gets away with it — has no problem. But her husband has!

Traffic Judge Is a Lady Who Turns on Charm

NEW YORK (NEA) — Would you believe a traffic judge who wears a size 3? Or a size 5 if the manufacturer cuts skimpy?

Blonde, petite Judge Noel Cannon of the Los Angeles Municipal Court often has to find her clothes in the children's department of a store.

"See," she said in her New York hotel suite, holding up a baby-blue dress with a white collar, for all the world just what you'd see at a Sunday School party. "I bought this in the children's section."

★ ★ ★

She's a fashion - conscious judge. She is even having her judicial robes redesigned by movie designer Donfeld.

"I'm not being vain or silly," she protested, holding up her regulation court robe and pointing to the wide shoulders. "These robes were all designed for men. I look like a fullback in them."

"Don't you think this will be nice," she asked, "when Donfeld gives it natural shoulders and moves the tucks down further on the sleeves so they will fall gracefully?"

★ ★ ★

Judge Cannon works in pink chambers furnished in antique white and gold leaf. She furnished them at her own expense.

She puts her official X on documents with a blush-pink ostrich plume pen.

"The rooms were bilious green when I took them over," she recalled. "And they smelled of tobacco and moths."

"Judicial Cannons" is the title of a column the judge writes for a legal newspaper and she frequently takes verbal potshots at her own profession, not omitting herself.

★ ★ ★

"My critics," she recently wrote, "attribute my new haircut to unsuccessful brain surgery."

But, although wolf whistles are bound to follow a girl who looks like Judge Cannon, she is sincerely devoted to her work in traffic.

One defendant, passing her in the corridor, asked: "Baby, what's a nice girl like you doing in traffic court?"

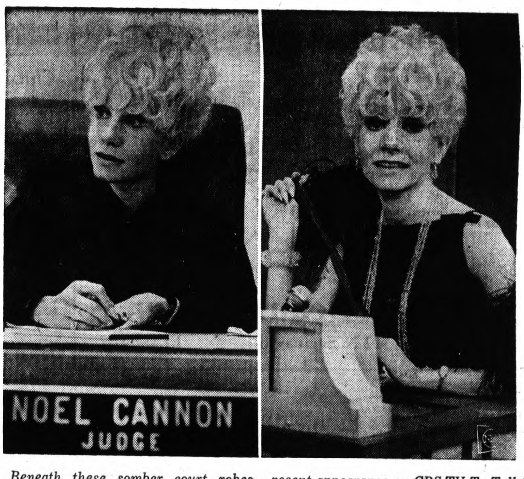

A little later he learned that "Baby" was on the bench.

When Noel Cannon sits in court, guilty offenders, as part of their sentence, are obliged to stay after court to see a 20-minute color film on the hazards of tail-gating, the chief cause of accidents on the freeways.

"They're reluctant to stay," she said. "But I'm sure that film has saved many lives."

She strongly believes that traffic court should be televised and, as senior traffic court judge, she recommends this be done with unseen cameras, so there will be no disruption.

"The solution to highway carnage," she said, "lies in public education. TV is a powerful and painless educational device."

Beneath these somber court robes (left) beats the heart of a glamor girl. Traffic Judge Noel Cannon of the Municipal Court of Los Angeles wears black lace and ostrich feathers (right) for a recent appearance on CBS-TV To Tell the Truth. And the glad rags aren't just for the show. The judge, when off duty, is a very fashion-conscious lady.

Building Plan Unrealistic at This Time

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: We want to build a home which will cost about $18,000. Our payments will be about $135 a month, with insurance. The house will be air - conditioned so our electric bill will be a little higher than usual.

MARY FEELEY

My husband makes $750 to $800 a month, with take-home pay $600 or more.

We're in our early 20's, and have two small children. Our biggest expense is the car payment of $100 a month.

Do you think we could afford this house? Several of our close friends are building in the same price range, and we want to do something soon.

M.S., Rockingham, N.C.

Dear M.S.: I don't think you should even consider such a project until that $100 a month car payment is off your back.

Take a look at the following figures, cites as estimates in mortgage guides: monthly payments to amortize a $17,000 loan for 20 years, $121.80. This assumes a $1,000 down payment.

Then, of course, 3 to 5 per cent of the price of the house must generally be allowed for insurance and taxes, which could bring monthly payments up to at least $166 for an $18,000 home.

You're young enough to wait a while before building; then you can accumulate a larger down payment than the above example presupposes. Spend the waiting time investigating mortgage arrangements and interest rates available, and give some thought to the period of time most advantageous to you in repaying such a loan.

Maintaining property invariably proves more expensive than a first-time home owner expects it to.

* * *

Dear Miss Feeley: In 1952 I started buying Series E bonds for my grandson. Should I cash them now and re-invest — or can these bonds continue another seven years bearing interest?

B.R.S., West Nyack, N.Y.

Dear B.R.S.: It's reasonable to expect that there will be another 10-year extension. The present one ends in 1972 — so that these bonds may very well still be earning interest in 1973.

* * *

Dear Miss Feeley: If I give $100 to a granddaughter going to college, can I deduct it as a gift on my income tax?

E.L.W., Naples, N.Y.

Dear E.L.W.: No, this type of gift is not considered a deduction on income tax.

* * *

Dear Miss Feeley: You advised a veteran's widow recently that she couldn't have an income exceeding $1,800 and still get a pension. The limit is $1,400. I know because I have been getting my $50.40 every month now for some time, being a widow of almost 20 years.

Faithful Reader, Detroit

Dear F. R.: Your pension was obviously set up under the system in effect prior to July 1, 1960. All widows or children of veterans who were on the pension roles as of June 30, 1960, had the choice of continuing to receive $50.40 a month with an income limit of $1,400 under the old system, or coming under the current system.

Under the current system, a widow can receive a pension if her income does not exceed $1,800. However, the amount of the pension if her income is from $1,200 to $1,800 is $27 a month.

Store in Open Air

Furs and leather goods should never be stored in plastic bags. Such items need air or they will dry out, become brittle, and, in the case of furs, shed hair.

Jungle prints in the most brilliant explosions of color are converting today's fashionables into jungle beauties. Here a swinging dress, direct descendant of a native mu-mu swings in today's fashion tempo, in a print available by-the-yard for the woman who whips up her own fashions. The colors, an outpouring of the hottest pink, orange, green, gold and purple, bloom in giant tropical shapes on smooth cotton, exclusively at Singer Centers where fashion fabrics are sold. Costs less than $2 a yard. McCall's pattern 8402.

Tri-County Council

Organizations Cooperate

More than 20 major public and voluntary health, education and social service organizations of Wayne, Oakland Macomb Counties are joining together to organize the Tri-County Family Planning Council of Metropolitan Detroit.

Meeting regularly for the past six months, an Ad Hoc Committee for a Family Planning Council thoroughly investigated the feasibility of such a Council. As a result of these meetings, interest and enthusiasm was evident.

The decision was made to organize and to send invitations to organizations in the tri-county area whose programs in any way encompassed the goals of the Council.

OBJECTIVES

The purpose and objectives of the Tri-County Family Planning Council are to promote efficient and effective programs in the following areas of concern:

1. Staff education and communication
2. Development of resources
3. Sex education
4. Pre-marital instruction
5. Conception control services and information
6. Problems of infertility
7. Genetic counseling
8. Health services for mothers
9. Problems of unwed fathers and mothers

In addition, the Council will collect and disseminate factual information about training, research, information and advisory srevices in the aforementioned areas of concern.

* * *

It is expected that interagency cooperation and interchange of ideas and information will help to avoid duplication of services and uncover gaps in service.

Member agencies, as a result of increased demand for family planning services and information, have been facing new and unusual problems.

The Tri-County Family Planning Council, by its avowed purpose of sharing knowledge and experience, will be a highly effective asset to the tri-county area. It is anticipated that better quality and quantity of services will result.

* * *

Metropolitan Detroit continues to be a leader in the field of developing new community services and resources. This is the first Family Planning Council in the country.

Other states and local communities are watching with great interest Detroit's progress in developing cooperation and interaction of organizations to improve community services.

ELECTED

Mrs. Harry R. Hiltner was named chairman, pro tem and Mrs. Louis Levine, recording secretary, pro tem.

The next meeting of the Tri-County Family Planning Council is scheduled for April 7.

A program committee, headed by Sylvia Peabody, is developing recommendations for the organization's first year of operation, Mr. Hiltner said.

All organizations and agencies, public and private, school and church, who are concerned with any phase of family life, are invited to write:

Her Actions in Matter Are Wrong

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: For nearly a year I've been doing volunteer work to help the patients at a nursing home. All are elderly but in good health, so there are no restrictions on their diets.

I wanted to do something nice for these people last Christmas, so I spent a whole day making and decorating several batches of extra special cookies and candies. (I might add that the home is privately owned and it changed hands during this last month.)

* * *

When I presented my gift for the patients to the new owner, she snapped at me, "You ought to know better than to bring such garbage to the patients. Next time bring money, as you should have done this time." I was deeply hurt and depressed. I can't afford gifts of money for so many persons, much as I'd like to do so.

I shall go back and continue to help the patients in any way I can, but I know of at least a dozen volunteers who have discontinued going to this home because of discourtesy on the part of the management.

Abuse is pretty hard to take when you are giving your time and efforts for others. I'd appreciate knowing if it is "out of line" to take food to a nursing home, as the owner implied. — Mrs. Meyer

* * *

Dear Mrs. Meyer: I am shocked at the rudeness and stupidity of the owner of the home, and doubt that she is a fit person to be in charge at all. If such discourtesy continues, surely she will lose her patients as well as her volunteer helpers!

Your gift of home-made cookies and candy was in the best of taste and nothing is more appreciated than something that is made by the donor. A gift of money requires no effort and is a lazy way out, except in special cases.

Do continue to do what you can for the patients in the home. They will need your help more than ever now that this person has taken over.

Case No. B-526

Rate Your Sweetheart

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-526: Pauline P., aged 17, is the high schooler who wanted to elope.

But I coaxed her into rating herself and also her boy friend on the "Rating Scale for Sweethearts." He rated "Very Poor."

DR. CRANE

This famous test was developed by confidential interviews with over 1,100 couples who were planning to get married.

"What do you admire most in your boy friend?" I would ask the girl.

* * *

"Why do you love him? Why does he please you and make you want to get married?"

Then the girl would state the good points in her fiance.

After jotting down her specific reasons, I then reversed my query.

* * *

"Is there anything about him," I began, "which you don't like?

"For example, if you could change him without arousing his anger, would you eliminate any of his traits that may now irritate you?"

Whereupon the girl would usually mention several items that she disliked in him.

Then I'd take the second girl and ask her the same questions.

* * *

Obviously, many of the good points (merits) often were repeated, as were the bad traits or demerits.

So I compressed the virtues by selecting the 50 most commonly mentioned merits of engaged men.

And I also boiled down the thousands of criticisms to the 50 most common demerits.

TRIVIAL, IMPORTANT

Some of these were trivial whereas others were very important, so I "weighted" the more crucial items by giving them 5 points or even 10 points credit.

Remember, too, that each girl was asked about her specific boy friend whom she was engaged to marry and not about boys in general.

* * *

And the same was true when I later quizzed each engaged male about the girl he had picked for his wife.

The girls listed as demerits such items as the following:

Too possessive and jealous.

A "Mamma's boy."

Boasts about his affairs with other women.

Frequently borrows money or sponges" on his friends.

No time sense. Stays too late even when he knows the girls must be up early next morning to get to her job.

Among the merits, were such items as:

A steady worker or good student.

Polite to girl's parents and friends.

Fond of children.

Ambitious — works or studies on his own time to get ahead.

Mixes well with people.

Has a good sense of humor and can laugh at himself.

A sensible auto driver; not one who speeds to excite his companions.

Regular attendant at church.

Neat in appearance and well shaved — not a beatnik.

Generous with his money but not a show-off splurger!

Uses good English and writes interesting, jolly letters.

Considerate of his parents and sisters.

* * *

Send for these "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, for they help you check blind infatuation and thus are excellent insurance against divorce!

Listen Parents---You Gotta Fight Back

By BETTY CANARY

Everyone is starting a collection of some kind, usually with the idea of finding something more camp than the next guy — which isn't very camp when you get right down to it. Anyway, I'm collecting, too. Quotations.

It may not be camp, but I think it will be useful.

CHOSEN ONES

Of course, I'm not collecting just any old quotations. I am specializing in those from girls who are elected Princess, Queen or Miss.

My prize to date is from Miss Oklahoma when she was elected Miss American of 1967. (I didn't believe it before . . . that they won with talent and brains as well as beauty. But, it's true. This girl has brains.)

She said, as the crown came down, "Without mom and dad I'd never be here!"

This clipping is definitely going to be useful. I plan on whipping it out when the first of our five kids looks at me during an argument and says, "I didn't ask to be born, you know!"

* * *

Of course, most parents don't really believe THEIR offspring will EVER snarl at them, "I didn't ask to be born." But lots of mothers say the question is not will they say it, but, when will they say it. And, I always like to be prepared.

* * *

One of the best comebacks I've ever heard to this staement was one a neighbor of mine gave her eldest daughter. "Well, my dear," she said to Sandra, "you aren't exactly what I had in mind those nine long months, either."

Betty Canary, our bright new columnist, presents a delightfully humorous philosophy toward life that will be enjoyed by everyone. She shares her hilarious adventures as the mother of five, her keen commentary on everything from fashion to flying, in a clever, modern column.

Of course, this kind of retort doesn't win a parent any popularity contests, but it usually gets the desired result . . . it ends the conversation.

* * *

At our house, the furthest we've got so far in accusation-hurling is Cissy yelling, "You don't LUV me!" Now, I always hug her and explain that if I did not love her I wouldn't bother punishing her . . . I wouldn't care how she grew up.

* * *

Frankly, I think this is the only way. However, I don't expect her to understand it. Somehow it can't make much sense to a child to hear you say "I love you . . . therefore I'll spank you or take away your TV privileges."

HAD DOUBTS

I don't know about you, but when my mother spanked me and cried and said, "This hurts me more than it does you," well, I did NOT believe her.

* * *

The really amazing thing is how so many brilliant writers and artists dwell upon the fact that they had such miserable childhoods. I try to keep this in mind when I am being mean to my kids.

* * *

After all, I am probably helping them develop into really creative personalities.

Anyway, it's not all one-sided. Maybe THEY have a rotten childhood, but there's a reason why that record by a mother singing to her son was a best seller a few months back.

"Marvin," she wails "you're a rotten kid!"

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A. I am 14 years old, and there is a lot of disagreement about what time a 14-year-old girl should start to bed as a habit, not on special occasions. What do you think?

A. Judging by the experience I had with my 14-year-old girl, starting to bed and getting there are two different things, not to mention going to sleep. There may be a time lapse of an hour or more.

The important thing is to get 9 or 10 hours sleep. Ten is better. You need this for health and for good looks. Start to bed in time to get there in time to sleep for 10 hours.

Also, start soon enough to wash your face with soap and water, brush your teeth carefully and brush your hair. If you want to listen to radio or read a little while before going to sleep, count that time in also. The important thing is to get those 10 hours.

* * *

Q. I want to reduce my hips. I also have the problem of constipation. Will the same lems?

A. Any exercise is probably some help but abdominal exercises are the most effective ones for constipation. Include two or three hip slimming exercises and two or three abdominal exercises in your routine.

The following one is also splendid for correcting constipation.

Lie on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting at your sides. Bend your left knee up close to the abdomen. Grasp the knee with your hands and pull back gently. Return leg and arms to starting position. This time bend the right knee up, grasp and pull back. Return to starting position.

Do this slowly. If you will lift your head from the floor each time you bend your knee and lower it to the floor each time you straighten your leg, you will be firming your neckline at the same time.

Tint Starches

Use bluing to tint the starch with which you starch dark blue or black cloth, and clear strong tea to tint starch for brown. By using this method, there will be no white starch showing on dark-colored garments.

Spadea Designer Pattern

A coat dress to make in so many different fabrics for differing occasions; the original from Rodriguez was of silk shantung, a perfect concoction for a theatre evening.

The neckline which stands away slightly is topstitched and that stitching continues down the front to the hem where there is a pleat. Side front seams end at the pockets and pull the dress into its lovely shape. The back is nipped in with corded trim at the waist.

Make this dressy and/or sporty from these fabrics: lightweight wool, raw silk, crepe, linen and cottons. Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit. See chart for size best for you.

Removes Rust

Use equal parts of cream of tartar and salt to remove rust stains from pots. Wet stained spot and spread mixture on thickly and place in the sun for awhile. Wash then as usual.

No need to worry about what's thrown into decorative waste receptacles any more. Line them with the new heavy duty plastic garbage bags and they'll stay fresh and clean. The convenient tear-off bags are leakproof and will not tear when wet. To empty basket, just gather plastic bag top and throw away.

Article Appears

"Cubism and the Early American Modernist," an article by Abraham A. Davidson, assistant professor of art history at Oakland University, appears in the recent quarterly edition of the Art Journal, published in New York City.

Romania's Red Ties on Skids

By United Press International

Diplomats in Moscow predict steadily worsening relations between Romania on the one hand and the Soviet Union and the other Warsaw Pact powers on the other.

Romania is expected to boycott the increasing number of Warsaw alliance sessions as it did one earlier this month.

Relations became even chillier aftre Romanian Communist party leader Nicolae Ceausescu's two-day visit to Moscow last week produced an almost icy communique reflecting a lack of agreement on a common policy towards West Germany and Red China.

At one point the Romanians seemed to be baiting the other Warsaw Pact members. They gave VIP treatment to visiting former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who was denied a visa for Poland and snubbed in Moscow and Prague.

Philippine troubles: The Philippines intends to press its claim to ownership of the tiny North Borneo state of Sabah, referendum or no referendum.

Foreign Secretary Narciso Ramos said he would send observers to the election next month but observers in Manila said this did not mean he would accept the results.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos, meanwhile, had twin troubles at home — a possible rice shortage and communism.

He has refused to buy rice from Aisa, South America and the Middle East at prices above the $170 considered the average market rate.

And in Luzon the Communist Huks are reported planning a campaign this year to elect their own men to office at village and provincial levels.

ANOTHER FRENCH VETO: Diplomatic sources in London say French President Charles de Gaulle will try one way or another to again block British entry into the European Common Market.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson was reported planning to make his pitch after May 1, but gloomy reports of continued de Gaulle intransigence reaching London might make him delay.

TECHNOLOGICAL GAP: The Common Market countries are preparing a drive to close the technological gap between their industries and those of the United States.

Proposals for an action program have been drawn up in Brussels and are expected to be approved by member nations before the end of the year.

One of the main proposals is for new laws permitting "continent - sized" firms in Europe. This is currently hampered by restrictive laws in each country.

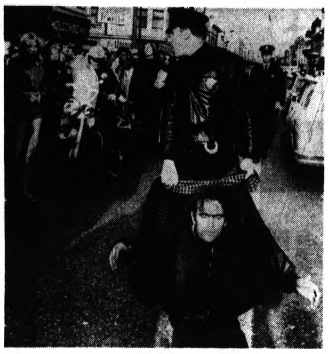

INDONESIAN CHANGES: The biggest job ahead for acting President Suharto of Indonesia is economic stabilization of the country.

The rupiah is beginning to stabilize and tourism is picking up but the biggest headache is arranging creditor financing for a nation heavily in debt.

Meanwhile, former President Sukarno is still isolated at Bogar and is expected to be asked to move out shortly, probably to live somewhere with his latest wife.

Suharto has not moved into any of the presidential palaces and apparently does not intend to.

His own home is far from austere — it has an indoor waterfall.

IT'S A DRAG, MAN — "Hippies" in the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco created quite a traffic jam with their own versions of an Easter parade. Several of the traffic blockers were dragged off to jail in a similar fashion to the one shown above. Thousands of sightseers crowded into the district to watch the happenings.

Soviets Allowing Baking of Matzoth for Passover

MOSCOW (AP) — Continuing its relaxation of one restriction on the Soviet Union's 3.4 million Jews, the Soviet government is allowing the baking this year of more matzoth, the unleavened bread eaten at Passover.

Jewish sources said Jews in Moscow, Leningrad, Odessa and Riga are expected to have enough matzoth for the April 25 holiday. They lacked information on other Soviet-Jewish communities.

★ ★ ★

Until 1961 matzoth was sold in state stores although Orthodox Jews said it lacked rabbinical approval. In 1962 and 1963 communal baking of matzoth was possible without oficial permission.

In 1964 authorities closed the only Moscow bakery making matzoth, saying it was a fire hazard. Jews went short that Passover. In 1965, possibly as a result of changes following the ouster of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, official permission was given to Moscow Jews to bake matzoth. Last year two bakeries were licensed. And this year there are three.

ENOUGH FOR ALL

The sources said the three bakeries will be able to make 220,000 pounds of matzoth, enough for the estimated 30,000 Jewish families in Moscow that want it. Moscow has some 500,000 Jews but the rest don't observe religious traditions.

UFO Photos Questioned by Experts

DETROIT (AP)—Experts say there is reason to doubt the validity of a series of photographs of an unidentified flying object made by two boys last January, the Detroit News reported Sunday.

In a copyrighted story, the News said the experts have removed the sighting from the list of credible reports of UFOs.

★ ★ ★

A team of experts had been able to make photographs almost identical to the ones the boys made, said Dr. J. Allen Hynek, the Air Force's chief expert on UFOs.

Hynek, chief technical researcher for the Air Force Project Blue Book, which was created to investigate reports of UFOs, said the duplicate photographs were made with the same type of camera the boys used, on the same spot and under the same conditions.

STICK TO STORY

But the boys stuck to their story when questioned by the Associated Press.

"We saw something out there and we took pictures of it," said Grant Jaroslaw, 15. "I don't know what it was, but it was there. It was real."

★ ★ ★

Grant and his brother, Dan, 17, said they took the pictures Jan. 9 from their back yard, bordering on a bay of Lake St. Clair in Harrison Township.

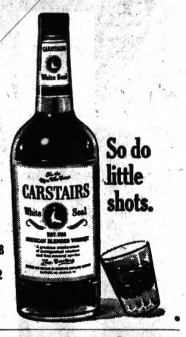

The News reported that the duplicate photographs were made using a small, saucer-shaped object that was hung from a swing bar with a fishing line. The News said the photographer reported the line did not show in his pictures.

The new photographs throw "reasonable doubt on the sighting," Hynek said.

"It removes the sighting from serious consideration, as far as I'm concerned."

HAS 'EM ON CLOUD NINE—When Liz Orr, a 25-year-old brown-eyed, honey-tanned blonde flies her kites on the Miami beach, she always draws a crowd. It so happens she's a professional kite flyer who sells her kites for $6 apiece. With each sale goes a personal demonstration. On good days she makes up to $360, she claims.

Professional Kite Flier

She Has Electric Effect

An AP News-Picture Package

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — In 1752 Benjamin Franklin flew a kite in a thunderstorm and nearly got struck by lightning. In 1967 Liz Orr flies a kite in the Florida sunshine and the effect is also electric.

For Liz is a 25-year-old brown-eyed, honey-tanned, 35-24-34 blonde who wears a tiny purple bikini and works on the white sand beaches.

She's a professional kite flier. Guests at the Fontainebleau Hotel's cabanas, usually mesmerized by the subtropic sun, snap to life when Liz bounces out with her bundle of hawk-shaped dueling kites. The males pay close attention as she demonstrates how to unfurl and rig the kites into flying shape.

MUST BUY ONE

The hitch is you have to buy a kite to fly one. They're $6 a piece. You can get one very similar for $1 at your corner drugstore. But you don't get Liz to show you how to fly it.

"On good days, I sell four or five dozen," she said. "You figure it out."

★ ★ ★

When the breeze is blowing, Liz works seven days a week from noon till sundown, guiding her red and black kites around the tops of palm trees and the glistening white towers of resort hotels.

Lots of her customers, she insists, are older couples who take the kites home to their children. But not all.

NO QUESTIONS

"One of the first things I learned," she said, "was not to ask the men about the boys they said they were buying kites for. Too many of them said, 'uhh...well...' and I stopped asking."

Liz, a 5-foot-4 115-pound native of St. Louis, got her job a month ago through a want ad. She graduated from college with a teacher's degree, but has never been before a classroom. She spent six months as an airline stewardess, but "I didn't like being a flying waitress."

★ ★ ★

Liz said she may fly kites indefinitely. "I'm just going along with the current."

Italy City Gets Lion's Head

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — A small lion's head torn from the famous Ghiberti doors of St. John's baptistry in the November flood was returned Saturday to city officials.

The bronze doors, with precious gilded bas-reliefs, were thrust open by the force of the floodwaters Nov. 4. Five panels and several other small heads fell to the pavement. All the panels and one other head were recovered and are being restored.

The lion's head was given to a city councilman by a man who did not make his identity known.

The 15th century doors by Lorenzo Ghiberti were once described by Michelangelo as the "gate of paradise."

Geology Field Trip Elimination Mulled

EAST LANSING (AP)—Eleven Midwestern colleges are studying ways to give geology students the benefit of field trips without taking them outside the classroom.

★ ★ ★

The Committee on Institutional Cooperation—the Big Ten universities and the University of Chicago—received a $50,335 National Science Foundation grant to support work on the new program.

★ ★ ★

The program will make use of videotapes, motion pictures, color slides and other aids in an effort to cut down the number of costly field trips usually needed to give students close observation of geological processes.

when your credit union cuts a melon, the dividends go just to you.

Credit unions aren't in business to make big profits. They're in business to serve their members — and these members own the business. So all the earnings go back to them.

Credit unions pay generous dividends on savings. But dividends aren't the only advantage a credit union offers. All qualified members also get life insurance as an extra dividend at no extra cost.

Loans, too, are insured for all qualified members. If you die or are totally and permanently disabled, the loan is paid up in full. Insurance and assurance . . . they help explain why over a million persons in Michigan are now credit union members. Shouldn't YOU belong?

Junior Editors Quiz on PIPE ORGAN

QUESTION: How basically does a pipe organ work?

* * *

ANSWER: Pipe organs use a very ancient musical principle to produce sound by blowing air through pipes. In older days, this air was blown in by pumpers working a bellows (lower right).

Nowadays an electric motor spins a blower which supplies air to a wind chest under the pipes where it is held under pressure waiting to be used.

The player sits at an organ console separate from the pipes (lower left). When he presses a key on what looks like a piano keyboard, an electric connection releases air from the wind chest. The air blows up into the correct pipe for that note, making the sound.

Sound is either produced by the whistle principle, with the air striking a sharp edge in the front opening, making a column of air vibrate — or the air may start a reed vibrating inside the pipe.

Many organs now are built which produce sounds electronically, using radio tubes and amplifiers. These are not true pipe organs. They have advantages, but produce a somewhat different quality of tone.

Quakers Ask to Run Philadelphia City School

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Can the teaching flexibility of a private school, the benefits of family participation and support by tax funds combine to provide high-quality public education?

A group of Philadelphia Quakers think so and have asked the Philadelphia school system to let them form a nonprofit corporation to take over one of the city's public schools to try to prove it.

* * *

The group's leader, Stephen G. Cary, explained Sunday night in an interview that the group hopes to "lift achievement levels above the very deplorable level at which they are now in (city) schools.

"Also, we hope we can encourage white families who have left the area to come back to send their children to this school because of the very high level of education offered," Cary said.

What might at first sound like a pipe dream is based on some very sound educational principles, said Cary.

He outlined these plans: First, the school would be staffed adequately to avoid the high pupil-to-teacher ratio of many city schools.

Teachers from private schools would be brought in to aid in special subject fields. Curriculums would be adjusted to meet pupils needs rather than some general standard.

Finally, the school would attempt to involve parents in all levels of education instead of having them merely as observers.

NO PROBLEM

While Cary's committee is made up of members of the religious Society of Friends (Quakers), the church-state problem would not be involved, he said, because the corporation formed to operate the proposed model school would be nonsectarian and include non-Quakers.

Recently, he said, Philadelphia's newly appointed superintendent of schools, Mark Shedd, appointed a committee to explore the Quaker proposition.

Cary said his group is ironing out details of the experimental project and is examining the legal aspects of "operating the school on a contract basis."

Would this type education cost more? "We do not expect features in it to be more expensive, but we hope to prevent expenses from getting so badly out of line that it wouldn't be useful as a pilot project," Cary said.

Reporter Robbed

DETROIT (AP)—Hal Schram, a sportswriter for The Detroit Free Press, was back on the job today after recovering from a beating at the hands of two men who robbed him of $100. Schram said he was attacked early Saturday outside his apartment house in midtown Detroit.

Midnight Stroll

Toddling Toddler Rounded Up

CHAFFEE, Mo. (AP) — Amy Hopkins went for a stroll around midnight Saturday.

Amy is the 17-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hopkins of Centerville, Iowa. The family was visiting relatives over the Easter weekend.

* * *

She was discovered toddling down the street, about four blocks away, by Richard Steimle. He called his wife and they started a house-to-house canvas in an effort to locate the parents. Finally he called police.

Meanwhile, the Hopkins' discovered that Amy was gone. They searched the house, then went outside.

Hopkins saw a police car, asked for help, and was quickly driven to the Steimle home.

"I couldn't believe she had been gone for any length of time," Hopkins said. "I kept thinking we'd go back into the house and find her in a closet some place."

500 Will Air Use of Crime Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 500 law enforcement officials, judges, professors and state legislators will confer Tuesday and Wednesday on how to implement more than 200 recommendations made by the National Crime Commission.

It will be the first opportunity for a broad-based critique of the 352-page report, issued last month after more than 18 months of work by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice.

* * *

The report contains thousands of statistics and adds recommendations on topics ranging from alcoholism to development of a national strategy to fight organized crime.

The commission believes one of its most important findings—the result of a survey of 10,000 representative American households—is that throughout the nation "there is far more crime than ever is reported."

CALL FOR CHANGES

It found there are more than twice as many aggravated assaults and larcenies of more than $50 as are reported, half again more robberies, and, in some areas, "only one-tenth of the total number of certain kinds of crime are reported to the police."

The recommendations call for changes in police operations, schools, prosecutors, employment agencies, social workers, prisons, housing authorities and probation and parole officers.

* * *

When the report was issued nearly 40,000 copies were distributed free to state legislators, mayors, police and court officials, news media, congressmen and others concerned with law enforcement.

An additional 10,000 were printed for sale to the public at $2.25 each. The government printing office reports that about 8,000 have been sold and that it has already made a second printing of 10,000.

HEAVILY FAVORED

James Vorenberg, a Harvard University law professor on leave to be executive director of the commission, said comments he has received so far "run 19 to 1 in favor of the report and its recommendations."

But he added there has been "some minor criticism from the far left and perhaps a little stronger from the far right."

* * *

In the field of narcotics, for example, some critics have suggested that the United States adopt the British system of registering addicts and supplying them with whatever narcotics they need.

The commission recommended staff increases for the Bureau of Customs and Bureau of Narcotics and involuntary commitment of addicts.

EMPHASIS ON TREATMENT

But the commission believes that the emphasis should be taken off punishment and placed on treatment.

There also have been suggestions that the commission should have recommended a change in the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution to permit police wider latitude in questioning suspects.

* * *

The commission found, however, that while "every restriction that is placed on police procedures by the courts make investigating crimes more difficult. It is also evident that police procedures must be controlled somehow.

A key court decision in questioning of suspects was the Miranda case. The Supreme Court ruled that interrogation in the isolated setting of a police station, without counsel, constitutes informal compulsion to confess.

As if in answer to those who would amend the Constitution to make station house questioning constitutional, the commission said. "It is too early to assess the effect of the Miranda decision on law enforcement's ability to secure confessions and to solve crimes. But this and other decisions do represent a trend toward findings by the judiciary that previously permitted police practices are unconstitutionally offensive to the dignity and integrity of private citizens."

* * *

In a statement Sunday night, Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va., chairman of a newly announced Republican task force on crime, said Congress should try to clarify Supreme Court rulings on rights of accused persons. He said the crime commission had failed to make proposals to end what he called a confused situation.

Team Trophy in Bridge Won by Columnist

CLEVELAND — (NEA)—Jim Jacoby, 33, coauthor of the "Win at Bridge" column carried regularly in The Pontiac Press, won the cherished Vanderbilt Trophy Wednesday night in Seattle after a week of torrid team play at contract bridge.

The victory was the second Vanderbilt for young Jacoby, who, two years ago, teamed with his father and column coauthor Oswald Jacoby, won the prestigious cup at the spring nationals in Cleveland. The competition is sponsored annually by the American Contract Bridge League. The ACBL Bulletin terms the Vanderbilt "the most coveted team championship in U. S. bridge tournament play."

In the quarterfinals, Jim Jacoby's team defeated Oswald's team, much to the elder Jacoby's glee.

"He's going to take away the No. 1 position from me one of these days," Oswald said. "That's his goal and I'm proud of him. He's improving his position all the time, and now ranks approximately 20th nationally."

★ ★ ★

Oswald Jacoby, who has won the Vanderbilt a total of seven times, and who has been called "the winningest bridge champion in America," won his first Vanderbilt Cup in 1931, before Jim was born. He wrote the popular "Win at Bridge" a number of years before being joined by Jim as coauthor two years ago. The column now is carred by nearly 400 metropolitan newspapers with a combined circulation of more than 11 million.

BRIDGE STUDIO

Jim Jacoby is a partner in a bridge studio, a lecturer, author and instructor. His most recent book, also titled "Win at Bridge," was coauthored with his father and was published late in 1966 by G. P. Putnam:

★ ★ ★

The younger Jacoby lives in a suburb of Dallas with his wife and young son. Captain of his Vanderbilt Trophy team was Lewis Mathe, Los Angeles. Other members were Ron Von Der Porten, San Francisco; Mike Lawrence, Berkeley; Lewis Stansby, Oakland; and Robert Nail, Houston.

India on N-Pact Signing: Security First

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India will sign a nuclear nonproliferation treaty only after it is satisfied its own security is guaranteed against "nuclear attack or nuclear blackmail," Foreign Minister M. C. Chagla told Parliament today.

Replying to questions, he said India had now come "under the continuing menace of a country (Communist China) which has already exploded an atom bomb and we will certainly bear in mind this vital factor."

Chagla said India "is in the unique position of haying the capability of exploding an atom bomb but at the same time of placing itself under a self-imposed ordinance of not making the bomb.

Historical Topic

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Richard D. Mudd of Saginaw is to talk about "The Escape and Capture of John Wilkes Booth" Wednesday at the Detroit Historical Museum. Dr. Mudd is the grandson of the doctor who treated Lincoln's assassin.

Tide Tourists Disappointed

PARIS (AP) — Thousands of tourists flocked to the Channel beaches in Normandy and Britany today to see effects of one of the greatest tides of the century.

★ ★ ★

Unsettled weather and poor visibility disappointed early arrivals. No spectacular discoveries of wrecks or ancient villages were reported in the early hours of the day as the tide rolled back, baring hundreds of square miles of mud usually covered by water.

10 Cyclists Hurt in Detroit Riot

DETROIT (AP)—Ten persons were injured, one of them critically, in a predawn Easter riot involving some 75 members of four motorcycle clubs, police said Sunday.

Officers arrested 26 persons, including four women.

★ ★ ★

Hospitalized were Robert McGuire, 25, of Anchorville; Frank J. Rydock, 28, of Royal Oak; and Erik Semble, 24, of Rochester. McGuire was reported in critical condition with a gunshot wound in the stomach.

Police said the fight started when about six members of the Highwaymen Motorcycle Club tried to crash a party attended by members of the Centaurs, Outlaws and Knights of the Road clubs in Northeast Detroit.

VARIETY OF WEAPONS

The motorcyclists used pipes, bottles, bricks, cue sticks and at least one gun, police said.

★ ★ ★

Those arrested were from Detroit, Roseville, Dearborn Heights, Warren, Highland Park, Mt. Clemens, Garden City, Fraser, Grosse Pointe Woods, Utica, Algonac and Livonia.

In the two years from 1962 to 1964, the interstate highway system took 39,000 urban acres off local taxrolls.

Negro Draft Burden Immoral, Dangerous

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG, JR.
Executive Director of The National Urban League

The Selective Service System is about to be revised. A presidential commission recommended broad changes in the way young men are drafted into the armed forces and the President has indicated that he will follow their suggestions.

YOUNG

Under the proposed draft system, the youngest age group — 19-year-olds — will be selected first. They will be chosen by means of random selection, sometimes called a lottery.

When the number of men needed is filled, those not selected will be dropped to the bottom of the list to make room for the new crop of 19-year-olds. Deferments too, will be sharply curtailed.

The system of random selection is especially important because it will introduce into the draft what it has most often lacked — fairness.

The present draft often works in discriminatory fashion.

* * *

President Johnson said as much in a recent press conference: "I think unquestionably in the field of the Selective Service boards and the draft machinery, as in the general machinery of government at all levels, that there has been discrimination against minority groups."

At present, almost one out of every three Negroes who meets the Army's standards is drafted, but less than one out of five qualified white youths is drafted.

Every year almost 2 million men reach draft age, but the Army drafts only a fraction of that number.

To allow the burden to fall disproportionately upon minority groups is immoral, unfair and dangerous.

* * *

This is especially true at a time when the nation is at war. When induction into the armed forces may mean death or maiming in a far-off land in the midst of a bloody war, it is intolerable for minority groups who share least in the benefits of our society to share most in the burden of defending it.

MUCH OF FIGHTING

As anyone who watches televised newscasts or sees photos in the newspapers knows, Negroes are doing much of the fighting in Vietnam.

Although only 11 per cent of the population is Negro, 14.5 per cent of the U.S. Army in Vietnam is Negro.

In some of the line companies, the proportion is far higher, as reflected in the fact that Negroes comprise 22.4 per cent of combat deaths.

The role of our Negro fighting men is perhaps best typified by Spc. 6 Lawrence Joel, who recently received the nation's highest military honor, the Medal of Honor, at a White House ceremony.

HEROISM

Spec. Joel received the award for extraordinary heroism during an attack on his company's position by superior forces.

Almost everyone in the lead squad was killed or wounded in the attack, and Spec. Joel, a medic, treated the wounded men while still under fire.

After being wounded twice, he still dragged himself across the bloody battlefield to treat more men. Even after his supplies ran out, he continued to help his comrades, saving one man's life by placing a plastic bag over a chest wound to congeal the blood.

Plastic Tooth Implants Eyed

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Promise for humans who have had trouble eating corn on the cob with the old - fashioned type of false teeth is held out by a report on plastic tooth implants.

Dr. Milton Hodosh, a dental surgeon of Brown University, Providence, R. I., who heads up a huge research project for the National Institute of Dental Research, Bethesda, Md., reports excellent results with a plastic called polymethylmethacrylate.

Examinations have revealed no jawbone resorption or damage to gum tissues by implantation of the plastic tooth in baboons, in original sockets.

"If findings continue to be encouraging," Dr. Hodosh says, "we foresee the application of the plastic tooth implant to human oral rehabilitation."

* * *

Esthetically the teeth are satisfactory, and functionally they appear to work well.

Dies of Injuries

In North Oakland

Phone Books Given Out

Distribution of the new 1967 telephone directories has started in the north Oakland County area, Michigan Bell Telephone Co. said today.

Included in the distribution are North Area directories which now include the subscribers in the Clarkston, Lake Orion and Oxford-Leondard exchanges for the first time.

Charles B. Woodhead, public relations manager for the Pontiac district of Michigan Bell, said the listings for these communities are now consolidated into the North Area directory which is distributed in most of Oakland County.

This will make more listings—both Alpha and Yellow Pages—available to more customers, Woodhead explained.

★ ★ ★

"With a community of interest developing at a steady pace between the above exchanges and the rest of Oakland County it was decided this would be the appropriate time to include these communities in the larger suburban directory," Woodhead said.

It will take two weeks or more to complete the distribution of 460,000 North Area directories which will go to subscribers in 54 Oakland County communities.

★ ★ ★

Telephone customers who need one or both of the other two are white pages directories — East and West-Downriver — may obtain them by calling their local Michigan Bell business office.

Bag Is Nearly Fatal to Child

DETROIT (AP) — A mother ripped a plastic bag from her daughter's head Sunday, shortly after the four-year-old child had taken it from her Easter basket and pulled it over her head.

"I arrived just in time," said Mrs. George Zeabari of Detroit. "Her face was light blue, her lips purple. I pulled the bag off and splashed water in her face and she revived."

★ ★ ★

The bag, used as a liner for the basket of candy, was marked with a warning to keep it away from small children.

1 Dead, 3 Boys Missing in Crude Raft Adventure

NEW YORK (AP) — Four Staten Island boys, three of them brothers, set out for adventure Saturday afternoon aboard two homemade rafts. The body of one was found Sunday, and the search goes on for his three companions.

★ ★ ★

Harbor police conducted grappling operations Sunday night in Lower New York Bay, but to no avail. The search continued today by police launches and a helicopter.

★ ★ ★

The body of Michael Belillo, 12, was found by a neighbor searching along South Beach with a flashlight early Sunday. The body had washed ashore.

Missing are Michael's brothers, Lindy, 11, and Larry, 4, and their companion, James Manis-calco, 10.

MISSING

Beverly Belillo reported her sons missing about 7:30 p.m. Saturday when they failed to return home.

★ ★ ★

Police were told by 11-year-old James Harrison that the four youngsters had made two rafts — one from an old bulkhead and a smaller one from driftwood lashed together.

HELPED

"I helped them roll the rafts to the water," said the Harrison youth. "Michael and Jimmy got on the big one, and Larry and Lindy on the small one. They started drifting out. When they got to the end of the jetty (about 300 feet) Larry slipped into the water, Lindy pulled him back again, and they kept on drifting."

★ ★ ★

Both rafts were found Sunday by police launches in the Prince's Bay area, five miles offshore.

Quakers Defy U.S., Give Medical Aid for N. Viets

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly 40 Michigan Quakers defied the federal government Sunday as they gave $1,400 to Canadian Quakers to buy medical supplies for North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

The money was presented to the Canadian Friends Service Committee at a Detroit home. Later the Michigan Quakers marched across the Ambassador Bridge — linking Detroit and Windsor, Ont. — and gave the Canadians a Bible containing a symbolic $1 bill.

★ ★ ★

The Bible was open to the passage: "If your enemy is hungry, feed him. If he is thirsty, give him drink."

The Quakers termed their action "a Christian act of love."

VIOLATION

The Treasury Department had warned that the donation would be a violation of the Trading with the Enemy Act and the Export Control Act.

★ ★ ★

A leader of the Michigan Quakers, Gilbert S. Hamilton, Dearborn, said the Treasury Department had refused permission for the donation in January on grounds that distribution of the medical supplies among North Vietnamese could not be supervised.

★ ★ ★

"We don't believe that any government has the right to regulate humanitarian relief—even when there is the possibility that such relief may fall into the hands of the enemy," Hamilton said.

★ ★ ★

Other leaders of the Michigan group were Mrs. Polly Lee, a Waterford resident and librarian in Pontiac, and Mrs. Kenneth Boulding and Darrell LaLone, University of Michigan graduate students.

Meanwhile, in Buffalo, N.Y., some 300 pacifists, mostly Quakers, crossed the Peace Bridge into Canada Sunday bearing some $100 worth of medical supplies for shipment to North and South Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Conviction under the acts cited by the Treasury Department could result in 10-year prison terms and $10,000 fines.

★ ★ ★

Hamilton said the possibility of prosecution "naturally worries me. I've got a wife and two small children.

"But I feel the demands of conscience take precedence."

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Funeral services were scheduled today for Louis W. Orlove, 68, who spent nearly 50 years in the movie industry before retiring in 1961.

He died Saturday of complications from abdominal surgery.

He held a similar position with 20th Century-Fox from 1959 until his retirement.

★ ★ ★

Beginning his movie industry career at the age of 16 as an electrician's helper here, Orlove held several movie jobs before going to work for MGM.

1967 Road Map Is Culprit in Case of Missing Lake

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (AP) — "Bring back our lake!" cried East Jordan Mayor Betty Robertson.

The official 1967 Michigan State highway map fails to include an eight-mile long stretch of Lake Charlevoix and the 22-mile-long Jordan River.

★ ★ ★

An ice fisherman discovered the oversight, and took the matter to the town council of East Jordan, located at the tip of where the lake is supposed to be.

Charlevoix later joined the protest.

★ ★ ★

The State Highway Department said the error would be corrected next year.

Gen. Westmoreland Will Speak to AP Group

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, is to address the annual luncheon of the Associated Press on April 24.

Paul Miller, president of the Associated Press, announced Saturday that Gen. Westmoreland has accepted an invitation to speak to AP members.

* * *

Mr. Miller, president of the Gannett Newspapers, said:

"The directors of the Associated Press invited Gen. Westmoreland to give Associated Press members and guests a first-hand report on the war in Vietnam. This he has consented to do.

ANSWER QUESTIONS

"The general will speak 15 or 20 minutes. Then he will answer questions from the floor. Special arrangements will be made for floor microphones to facilitate the questions."

Gen. Westmoreland will arrive in New York by air the evening of April 23 and depart for Saigon shortly after the luncheon.

The annual luncheon of members with Mr. Miller presiding, will be held in the ballroom of the Hotel Waldorf Astoria in New York. There will be a number of special guests not only from the United States but from foreign countries.

The annual meeting of the Associated Press will attract about 1,500, including publishers and editors and broadcasting executives from every state and nearly every city.

The session will open at 10 a.m. and feature a panel discussion by Sen. Charles H. Percy and Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. on the Vietnam war. Associated Press Director Benjamin M. McKelway of the Washington Star will preside. The senators will discuss the Vietnam war and its future and will answer questions from the floor.

After the panel discussion, the regular Associated Press annual meeting will be held, including election of directors. Then will follow the luncheon.

* * *

Described as "a soldier's soldier," the 6-foot, 180-pound Gen. Westmoreland manages by dint of a hard-driving 60-hour week to stay in close contact with his troops while serving as the architect of U.S. strategy in Vietnam and close confidant of President Johnson.

He received his fourth star June 20, 1964, when he took over command of all U.S. Forces in Vietnam from Gen. Paul D. Harkins.

* * *

Westmoreland was born in Saxon, S.C., where his father was a textile plant manager. He attended the Citadel and Charleston Military College before entering the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, from which he was graduated in 1936.

LOVE IS THE THING—These people were among the 4,500 who participated in an all-day "love-in" at Los Angeles' Elysian Park yesterday. The conclave was called to exhibit a desire for love instead of hate in the world. Songs, poetry, reading and speeches—and little else—were the main attractions.

Two Biologists Use Parts, Assemble Complex Virus

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Two biologists report they have assembled a live virus more complex than any ever artificially built before.

Dr. Robert Edgar and Dr. William Wood of the California Institute of Technology reported their virus, labeled T4, was built up from parts of incomplete viruses manufactured by bacteria.

* * *

They said T4 — which resembles the shape of a hypodermic syringe and is only 1-100,000th of an inch long — can't reproduce itself without help from the bacteria it normally infests.

It reproduces itself by squirting a chemical combination called DNA, deoxyribonucleic acid, into the host bacteria.

DNA, a key part of the virus' nucleus, carries the genes, o molecules that supervise heredity. Injection of the virus' DNA into the bacteria cell destroys the host cell's own DNA and forces the cell to manufacture about 100 new viruses. The host cell then breaks open, releasing the newly found viruses to attack other bacteria host cells.

Edgar reported he found a way to alter the viruses so they cause the host cells to make only unassembled virus parts. This, he said, was accomplished with heat and chemicals that inactivate some of the 100 genes on the virus DNA.

When certain virus genes are made inactive, he explained, the host cells make no virus heads, or they make no tails when certain other genes are made inactive.

But when these incomplete virus parts are mixed in a test tube, he said, they assemble themselves to become complete viruses capable of reproducing to another host cell.

Opening lead—♣ 4

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Jim: "How about discussing opening leads this week?"

Oswald: "Fine. There are two parts to every opening lead problem. You have to choose the suit and then the card in the suit. In addition, your lead should take into account the final contract and all bids made on the way."

JACOBY

Jim: "There are certain general rules. We have the old fourth best of your longest and strongest suit as a lead against no trump."

Oswald: "Today's hand shows that lead at its best. West opens his fourth best spade. Declarer wins. Declarer wins a cheap trick but he has to go after diamond finesse loses and East returns a spade to give West four spade tricks."

Jim: "West could have obtained the same result if he had opened any one of three small spades. The reason you lead fourth best when you do lead a small card is to give your partner a count later on. Of course you also help declarer but, in general, the defense gains more by giving information than it loses."

Oswald: "This fourth best rule has the merit of being generally understood in all bridges circles. Still, there is no need to follow it religiously. If you want to open a fifth best or even a third best on occasion you will worry declarer. Just make sure that you don't worry your partner a lot more."

Jim: "This low spade lead was automatic this time. On the other hand if the contract were six no-trump it might well be best strategy to lead some other suit and wait for two spade tricks."

Oswald: "Or, if you did open a spade against six no-trump, you might lead the ace. You would be trying for two spade tricks, not four."

Ex-TV Exec Tells of 16 Years at CBS

NEW YORK — "Because television can make so much money doing its worst, it often cannot afford to do its best," Fred W. Friendly remarks early in a book, published today, about his years in the news and documentary phases of that business.

Toward the end of his "Due to Circumstances Beyond Our Control . . ." he says: "Television's downfall is that it discovered a direct circuit between its box office and its production centers."

Between the two utterances, he recounts 16 years with the Columbia Broadcasting System during which he and the late Edward R. Murrow were at the helm of "See It Now" for seven years and in which he guided, in association with Murrow and others, "CBS Reports" for seven more. The result is an inside look—with a point of view.

Friendly spent his last two CBS years as president of its news division.

★ ★ ★

He resigned in a dispute with management after it declined his pleas to televise live the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's hearing on Vietnam on Feb. 14, 1966, at which George F. Kennan was to testify.

'SYSTEM DECIDED'

Instead, CBS put on a mid-morning fifth rerun of "I Love Lucy" and eighth rerun of "The Real McCoys."

Asserting that "the system made the decision" more than any one executive, he writes: "Of course, the truth was that if we'd had a sponsor willing to pick up the bill for the Vietnam hearings or if the soap operas' sponsors had agreed to stay with us, there would have been no problem . . .

"I do not think that I am being naive in my belief that the decision was clearly one of business over journalism, of dollar-editing over the professional judgment of an entire news organization."

★ ★ ★

One of the book's disclosures: "A magnificent irony known to only three or four people is that if 'See It Now' had had survived for another six months, it . . . might have prevented part of the disgrace and himiliation of the television industry in the documentary expose of "the whole nasty mess."

They were interested in conducting their own investigation and the man said he'd use his good offices to see if time could be arranged—"See It Now" was, by then, not a weekly or monthly schedule, wake of the quiz scandals."

TIPPED OFF

The scandal broke in 1959, after a contestant convinced a congressional committee he had been forced to lose to Charles Van Doren.

However, in 1958, Friendly writes, one of their associates, now dead, told him and Murrow there was reason to believe the big-money quizzes were rigged and asked if they were interested in doing a

★ ★ ★

They never heard from him, Friendly writes "until long after the wreckage of the quiz shows had stunned everyone."

The associate "told me that the lawyers had stopped it: 'They said it would have been in bad taste'."

OBSERVATIONS

Among the observations are these:

● "Network radio is, I have always believed, about as secure as Arthur Godfrey's health; CBS, the nearest proximation to a bonafide radio system network, may well vanish with his retirement.

"But at this writing I am convinced the death rattle of network radio is more than a murmur . . ."

● In discussion about "balanced" documentary hours and objectivity in reporting, Murrow remarked that all arguments are not equal, and once asked: "Would you give equal time to Judas Iscariot or Simon Legree?"

● The Kennan broadcast decision: "Whatever bitterness I feel over my departure is toward the system . . . the fact that I am not sure what I would have done in these circumstances, had I been chairman or president of CBS, perhaps tells more clearly than anything else what is so disastrous about the mercantile advertising system that controls television, and why it must be changed."

● Murrow's departure from CBS in 1961: "The day he walked out of that cluttered studio complex in Grand Central for the last time, he was walking into an eased exile from a profession he helped invent."

VERSATILE PAIR—Clark Waterman of Flint has switched from full-time metalwork, typified by the pitcher he holds, to painting, an example of which, in chartreuse, black and turquoise, is on the wall. His wife holds a piece of her prize-winning pencil and collage style, which has given way to new forms.

Work Changes Radically in Year

Flint Artist Couple Free to Wing at Will

By S. GORDON GAPPER
Flint Journal Arts Editor

FLINT (AP) — In a huge, homemade, wire - and - wicker cage at one end of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Waterman's large living room, two parakeets disport.

The rest of the sparsely furnished room — there's a rocking chair with half a rocker missing — could convince you that artists live here. But there is something especially symbolic about the cage and the birds.

★ ★ ★

In giving two tiny birds the luxury of space to fly in, the Watermans are saying something about their own life as artists. Living within the bounds of art, they nevertheless feel free to wing at will.

Waterman, 29, and his 23-year old wife, who exhibits under her maiden name of Elin Martens, hit the Flint art scene about this time last year by walking off with a first prize each in different sections of the Flint Institute of Arts' annual show.

SOMETHING FRESH

Waterman's metal pitcher and Miss Martens's eerie penciled collages were taken as signs that something fresh was afoot in Flint art.

A year later, their work is entirely different. From his specialty, metalwork, Waterman has switched enthusiastically to painting and, in particular, sculptured painting, "topographical" or "top" painting—painting on frames that jut out from the wall.

His wife has ventured far from the cobwebbed art of a year ago and now needs lots of floor space in which to build her "environmental sculpture."

Waterman's shift of gears reflects the atmosphere of the art department of Flint Junior College. He joined the faculty in September 1965 to teach art metal and two- and three-dimensional design. His teaching of two — dimensional designs, he says, led him into the current experiments in painting.

He is, in effect, working along with the students. The "philosophy" of the department, he says "allows you to grow, as well as them."

The department's "attitude," he said, "doesn't exist in written form. It's one you feel. It's an attitude of freedom. You're allowed to go off on your own in your teaching direction."

He recommends any would-be artist go to college and get an art degree, because it is in the intellectual atmosphere that the student is exposed to everything that is going on in art.

He enjoys the FJC faculty life, he added, because of the constant discussion — "verbalizing," they call it these days — about art.

OVERTONES OF SOCIETY

Waterman's new paintings are of the flat - color, hard - edge variety, with occasional illusions of three dimensions. They have overtones of our mass production society, he feels.

The couple's studio is a second-floor room, a brush flick away from the DeWaters Art Center studio. Taking up, it seems, half the space is the huge box - like frame on which his test canvas, as yet unpainted, is stretched.

"This will really come out of the wall and hit you," he said. It will actually jut out about 5 feet, with "crawl space" underneath.

Mrs. Waterman makes use of what she calls illusionary space. It's a matter largely of how you use your paint on the "sculpture." Anyway, both seeing and sitting on her chairs adds to the experience, and that is her intention.

Large Cities Need District Centers—Prof

By Science Service

NEW YORK—Some 400 neighborhood centers, funded directly by the federal government and completely under the control of local residents — not city governements — are needed to alleviate the riot potential of U.S. cities, according to psychologist Louis S. Levine, visiting professor at Yeshiva University here.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Levine's studies on the racial crisis, conducted primarily in San Francisco, will form the basis of a discussion, "Can Race Riots be Prevented?," in Washington next week at the annual meeting of the American Orthopsychiatric Association. His paper was published in the Association's Journal for March.

He noted increased Negro impatience and anger when civil rights laws and poverty programs do not produce immediate concrete changes in daily living. Thus the need to give ghetto residents control over centers that provide more than the usual welfare and employment services.

Dr. Levine estimated initial cost of the centers at $2 billion, a sum equal to next year's entire War on Poverty budget.

★ ★ ★

Such centers, however, would be a new major focus of the poverty program.

Director Sargent Shriver has called them "crucial" and the budget provides $120 million for medical, legal, "personal" and other services.

★ ★ ★

The Department of Housing and Urban Development would pay for the facilities.

Soviets Claim Sky Hook Idea

Four U. S. Scientists Are Accused of Theft

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The Russians, known for inventing things first, have come up with another one. And as usual, the Americans have been cast as the villainous idea-thieves.

But what makes this case unusual is the idea in question. The prestige of inventing the sewing machine or the television set might be worth arguing about, at least status-wise, but imagine a sky hook — a satellite 22,000 miles out in space, lowering a cable all the way down to the ground to hoist things back into orbit!

This was the idea published in the journal Science last February by four U.S. scientists who have now been accused of "theft" in the Soviet newspaper Pravda.

The Russians argue that the credit should go to a man named Yuriy Artsutanov, who, says Pravda, thought it up six years before as a graduate student.

★ ★ ★

It was impossible for the U.S. scientists to be unaware of the Russian development, according to the Pravda article, since a U.S. publication, Astronautics, has said that several organizations in this country translate and publish "every line" on the space sciences appearing in the Soviet press.

Flow of Visitors to Japan Is Up

TOKYO (UPI) — The flow of foreign visitors to Japan continues to show an annual increase. The Japan national tourist organization said Saturday 432,937 foreign visitors, including 240,146 tourists, visited Japan last year.

Americans still head the list of foreign visitors with 51 per cent of the total.

Last of Studies on N-War Effects Received

(First of a Series)

By DICK KLEINER
West Coast Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—The Atomic Energy Commission, which should have the last word on such things, has just received the last of 22 studies made for it by the Rand Corp. on the biological and environmental consequences of nuclear war.

Since this work has not been classified, the results can now be divulged publicly for the first time. They don't make light bedtime reading.

The studies were designed to give the AEC — and other interested governmental agencies, such as the Office of Civil Defense—some idea of what might happen to our nation as a result of a nuclear war.

Just as important, they were intended to show where further research was needed before conclusions about how we would fare in such a war could be reached. It would appear we still have a lot to learn.

★ ★ ★

The over-all work is not conclusive. Most of the reports indicate that more work is needed before absolute conclusions can be reached.

It is no surprise, or relief, to learn that a nuclear war would be a tremendous catastrophe. But, as project leader Robert D. Specht says, "Previous studies have been very excitable literature. Our work is, in some areas, more optimistic. In others, however, it is more pessimistic."

The Rand Corp., is a nonprofit research organization supported primarily by the Air Force. Its staff of scientists does research for the Air Force and other governmental organizations, such as the AEC, NASA and the Advanced Research Projects Agency, an impressive group.

Several years ago, the AEC asked Rand to find out what the United States, or what was left of it, would be like after a nuclear war.

★ ★ ★

"The object of the program," Specht wrote in one of the preliminary reports, "is to contribute to national security policy by developing a better understanding of what nuclear war might do to mankind's health and living environment and of the management of the biosphere after a nuclear attack."

DIFFERENT DEPARTMENTS

Rand is divided into many different departments — everything from aero-astronautics to systems operations. Once the AEC contract was announced, the departments set to work.

Over the ensuing two years, the individual studies began trickling in. The last of the 22 is now in the AEC's hands and some conclusions can be reached.

What resulted was everything from a 20-page study on "Estimation of Fire Damage to Non-Urban Areas from Nuclear Attack" to Norman Hanunian's monumental 228-page work, "Dimensions of Survival: Postattack Survival Disparities and National Viability."

The scientists studied everything from the ability of pine trees to withstand nuclear attack to the possibilities that there might be an epidemic of the black plague as a result of nuclear war.

NO SUMMATION

No over-all summation was made. Each of the 22 studies has to be considered by itself and any general conclusions reached are those of the reader, not Rand, or so advises Rand.

Some conclusions are inescapable. Taking the optimistic ones first:

There seems to be no great danger of a vast fire sweeping over the nation, consuming all before it. Nor does there appear to be the possibility of devastating floods.

There is some indication that the fittest have the best chance of survival, thus hastening the rebuilding process.

But, balancing those theories, are these:

A nuclear war will kill millions outright and more millions will have their lives appreciably shortened because of it.

Even those who escape immediate injury or death will be in danger, because of one chilling fact—of all living things on this planet, the ones most resistant to nuclear war are disease germs.

2 Find Evidence of Egyptian God

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The Polish press agency reports that two Warsaw Egyptologists have discovered a previously unknown Egyptian god.

Existence of the god, called Haraus or Araus, was found by Dr. Anna Swiderek and Zbigniew Borkowski while examining a series of papyrus scrolls at Warsaw University.

West Isn't Warming to Thermometer Look

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All right, men, at ease. Smoke if you wish. This may take quite a while.

The reason I have called you all together is to outline the situation, which now stands roughly as follows:

WEST

● The United States, on the one hand, is currently seeking to deport to Iran a topless fashion model named Yvonne D'Angers whose measurements are 44-21-36.

● On the other hand, the United States has welcomed and is currently enriching to the tune of maybe a million dollars an English fashion model named Twiggy whose measurements are 31-22-33.

There is, let me make clear, no apparent connection between these two developments.

What we are dealing with here is not a conspiracy, in the ordinary sense of the word.

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless, it clearly indicates just what we members of the save-the-bosom society are up against.

MORE GAUNT

For a number of years now, fashion models have been becoming progressively more gaunt — sunken eyes, hollow cheeks, attenuated rib cages, bony hips and spindly legs.

If they were horses, we would have to shoot them.

Figuratively speaking, the hourglass has been replaced by the thermometer.

★ ★ ★

Even so, we could hardly have foreseen the advent of Twiggy.

THERE'S A LIMIT

Living as we do in a finite world, we always assume there is a limit to everything.

At 31-22-33, we have extremism carried to incredibility.

A girl could get a better shape than that by using her zip code as a pattern.

Unfortunately, the 31-22-33 ratio is not something we can blame on the "new math."

TOO MUCH MOMENTUM

Twiggyism has picked up too much momentum to be turned back now.

Her picture is being featured in most of the leading fashion magazines. She is commanding queenly fees for appearing in style shows.

Someone is even making a movie of her life — all 17 years of it.

CROWDED ICE — Detroit goalie Roger Crozier stands knock-kneed after making a save against Chicago Black Hawks' Dennis Hull (10) and Ken Wharram (17) in last night's game at Detroit Olympia. Red Wings' Gary Bergman (2) moves in to give Crozier some help. Detroit won, 4-2.

Psychology, Power Mixture Produce 4-2 Wings Victory

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings mixed psychology with power for a 4-2 victory Sunday night over Chicago in the National Hockey League.

The psychology was in Bryan Watson's harassment of Bobby Hull, the league's top scorer. The 13,383 fans roared as Watson tangled with Hull and kept the Chicagoan from getting a single shot on goal in the game.

In other NHL games, Montreal defeated Boston 6-3 and New York whipped Toronto 4-0.

"I'll put Watson on Hull again when we play Chicago on Tuesday" said Manager-Coach Sid Abel.

★ ★ ★

Whenever Hull skated onto the ice, Abel sent Watson out to guard him. A hectic second-period brawl between Hull and Watson landed Hull in the penalty box for 10 minutes on two major penalties. Watson was charged with a two-minute minor.

FREE-FOR-ALL

The free-for-all held up the game for 10 minutes. It finished when Detroit's Howie Young once the penalty king of the NHL—skated in to restore peace and ended up warding off Hull's punches, then wrestling the husky superstar to the ice.

"I'm happy with the way I played," said Watson. "I was told to keep on Hull and that's what I did."

Hull refused to comment on the fight.

"Watson's not worth talking about," said Chicago manager Billy Reay.

The champion Black Hawks fired only 11 shots at the Detroit goal in the final two periods.

Most of Detroit's power was supplied by veteran Dean Prentice, who scored the first and last Red Wing goals.

He tied the score at 1-1 when he took a pass from Floyd Smith in front of the Chicago net and poked the puck past Chicago netminder Dennis DeJordy at 5:47 of the first period. Dennis Hull had opened the scoring for Chicago on a power-play goal when the game was only 39 seconds old.

★ ★ ★

Prentice's second goal at 17:39 of the final period put the game on ice for Detroit, giving them a 4-2 edge.

Detroit actually won the game in the last two minutes of the second period on goals by Floyd Smith and Bruce MacGregor. With Hull in the penalty box for slashing Watson, Smith backhanded the puck into the net at 18:35 after a wild scramble in front of the Chicago goal.

MacGregor notched the winning goal when he took an Ullman pass and sailed the puck over DeJordy's right shoulder with 10 seconds left to play in the second period.

ERASE LEAD

The two tallies wiped out a 2-1 first period Chicago lead. Penalty-killer Eric Nesterenko had given the Black Hawks the lead at 17:55 of the opening stanza when he seized a puck at mid-ice, skated in alone on Detroit netminder Roger Crozier and drilled the puck past him.

Another fight broke out on the Chicago bench in the waning moments of the game when an assistant trainer tangled with a Detroit fan.

★ ★ ★

"The guy was spitting at our trainer," said Reay. He refused to name the trainer.

"For a game with nothing at stake (Chicago has wrapped up the NHL championship and Detroit has been eliminated from Stanley Cup competition) it was the wildest thing I've seen," said Jim Zappalani, a veteran Detroit fan.

OTHER GAMES

But the other NHL teams came no closer to settling the question of who will end the season in second place. Montreal, New York and Toronto are separated by only one point.

The Canadiens slammed in five goals within six minutes during the third period as they beat Boston. The Victory stretched Montreal's unbeaten streak to eight games lifting the team to a second-place tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs, who were shut out 4-0 by the New York Rangers.

With only three games left to play in the regular season, Toronto and Montreal are tied for second place, with 71 points each, and New York is only a point behind.

Outlook Bright for Potent UCLA Five

Bruins Breeze to 79-64 Win Over Dayton

NCAA Championship Third in Four Years for California Squad

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — You can take Coach John Wooden's word for it, UCLA will be looking for more trophies next year.

Wooden made the prediction Saturday night after the Bruins won their third NCAA crown in four years, beating Dayton 79-64.

Is this the start of a dynasty?

"We have a fine ball team and we'll have all our men back," Wooden said with a grin. "We couldn't accomplish any more."

★ ★ ★

Wooden was asked if there was any time during the season that he was scared.

"About 30 times," he said, referring to the number of games the Bruins won.

PRAISES LEW

Wooden also praised his center, Lew Alcindor, saying "he is a tremendous force defensively. He sets the tone for us."

Wooden said he never is concerned about Alcindor's shooting because "he is a tremendous psychological advantage for us. He blocks shots and he keeps down the other team's shooting average."

★ ★ ★

Alcindor confirmed earlier reports that he will not play in the Pan American games this year.

"I have to work this summer and I think I've had enough basketball for now," the 7-foot-1● sophomore said.

There have been reports that Alcindor was unhappy at UCLA and might leave.

"Everywhere you go you find something you don't like," he said. "Right now I'm at UCLA — and that's where I'm going to stay."

★ ★ ★

Dayton Coach Don Donoher blamed his teams loss on its impatience.

"UCLA forces you to do things you don't want to do," he said. "I was pleased with our defense but we just had too many offensive problems."

Donoher said he didn't expect his club to come this far, adding "this is the third year in a row we've been knocked out by the No. 1 team."

Olympic Stars Lost in Swim

EAST LANSING (AP) —A splendid crop of new swimmers is emerging to represent the United States in the 1968 Olympics, says Charles McCaffree, the Michigan State swimming coach.

"The new ones already are starting to knock off our 1964 Olympic champions," McCaffree said. The coach reached the verdict after reviewing the upset-studded 44th annual NCAA Swimming Championships, concluded Saturday night at MSU.

Stanford emerged as the collegiate swimming power of the nation, taking its first meet title with six first places and a high of 275 points.

USC SECOND

Defending champion Southern California, winner of the last four NCAA meets, was second with 260 points.

Indiana upheld Big Ten conference honors by coming in third with 249 points. The Big Ten swimming titlists piled up their points on victories in the 100-yard and 200-yard backstroke events by Charlie Hickcox and a sweep of the one-meter and three-meter diving by Ken Sitzberger.

The rash of record-busting saw 10 American and 12 NCAA and NCAA meet records bettered, plus two American and one NCAA marks tied.

Michigan State's Gary Dilley, defending champion in both backstroke events, never before had been beaten in his speciality in a collegiate meet.

Tall men dominated the meet. Hickcox, from Phoenix, Ariz., is a sophomore and stands 6-foot-3. Greg Buckingham, 6-4 junior from Atherton, Calif., was a three-time gold medal winner for Stanford's Indians. Buckingham won the 500-yard freestyle, the 200-yard freestyle and swam the anchor leg on the 800-yard freestyle medley relay team.

Mike Burton, a 5-9 sophomore from UCLA, beat out Buckingham by nearly a pool length in the 66 laps up and down the MSU tank. Burton's time of 16:17.5 broke his own American, NCAA and NCAA meet record of 16:27.3 last year.

The standout example of a former Olympian being bested was Buckingham's beating of Don Schollander of Yale in the 200-yard free style.

Schollander, winner of four gold medals in the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo, was runner-up in that race. He didn't manage a single first place in the meet.

Buckingham's winning time of 1:41.3 erased the former American record of 1:41.7 by Schollander in 1965.

Redhot Brewer Eyes Masters Golf Crown

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — "I think I can win the Masters — that's the one I really want," Gay Brewer said today after making a travesty of par in winning his second straight Pensacola Open Golf Tournament.

"I'm playing well. I feel I have a good chance at Augusta. I'm going all out for it."

IT WENT IN — From the expression on Gay Brewer's face, it looks like he's just missed a putt. He took the title by a whopping six strokes with 262.

Cards Whip Detroit, 6-2

Tiger Starters Roughed Up

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Detroit Tigers starting pitchers have looked a little shaky in the last three games, but the relief pitching has been shaping up.

Mickey Lolich was the loser Sunday, giving up four runs and seven hits in five innings as the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League beat the Tigers 6-2 in exhibition baseball.

But Hank Aguirre came in for two scoreless innings. He allowed only one scratch hit and struck out two without walking a man.

Orlando Pena finished the game, allowing two runs on three hits.

"I had a good breaking ball," said Aguirre. "My arm feels good. My fastball was working good."

IS PLEASED

Manager Mayo Smith said "Aguirre looked real good. I'm very pleased with him."

He said, however, Lolich's control was off although he got the ball up on them. He pitched real good in the first inning."

Denny McLain, Earl Wilson and Lolich, expected to be three of the four starting pitchers, all have had a bad time in their last starts.

"I'm not concerned about it right now," Smith said. "If it were to continue, yes. But not right now."

He said Al Kaline, hit by a thrown ball during the warmup Saturday, has a sore shoulder and won't play against the Mets at St. Petersburg tonight.

Pena didn't seem worried about his pitching "I felt O.K.," he said. "Maybe I need a little more work."

Lolich set the Cards down in order in the first inning. But in the second, Orlando Cepeda doubled, the next two flied out, but Julian Havier homered to left, Del Maxville singled to right, and winning pitcher Ray Washburn doubled to left, driving in what turned out to be the winning run.

Lolich gave up another run in the fourth when Mike Shannon singled, Javier doubled and Maxville hit a sacrifice fly, bringing Shannon home.

Coaches to Discuss Cage Rule Changes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — When the basketball rules committees goes to work today, it will have in hand the sentiment of coaches on the personal foul rule.

The National Association of Basketball Coaches voiced their disapproval of the rule which disqualifies a player after five fouls.

The foul rule was discussed before the coaches' meeting adjourned Saturday.

Several coaches brought up the experiment in the Philadelphia Public High School League in which play was permitted for three years without a disqualifying rule for fouling.

★ ★ ★

Edward T. Steitz of Springfield College said there had been enough discussion on stalling tactics to indicate the subject would come before the rules committee.

Steitz said it was important that the committee proceed in restraint to avoid mistakes.

City Class 'A' Five Loses in Flint Meet

A chilly fourth period sent Pontiac's entry in the Class A Michigan Recreation Public Agency basketball tournament crashing to defeat Saturday.

The local Booth Homes squad rolled up an early lead, but Flint Avery found the range in the second and fourth frames and posted a 74-64 verdict in the district phase of the tourney at Flint St. John's Community Center.

Booth, which defeated Amigo for the city title last week, jumped off to a 17-6 lead in the first frame, but Avery came back with 28 in the second period to deadlock the game (34) at intermission.

A 14-13 advantage gave the Pontiac quintet a lead after three quarters, but Avery let loose with another 28-point outburst in the final quarter to sew up the decision.

Chuck Phillips paced the Pontiac attack with 20 points, 10 of them in the final frame. Scott Maentz gave Phillips some help with 18 markers.

Bob Armstead (19) and Willie Taylor (17) led the winners.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Australian Rod Laver scored a convincing 6-3, 6-3 victory over Spain's Andres Gimeno Sunday to take the singles title in the $150,000 Planters Pro Tennis Challenge Cup.

The southpaw's powerful ground strokes and well placed volleys earned him $3,000 top prize money and his fourth consecutive title on this year's American circuit.

Equals Record in Relay Meet; Chiefs Third

Flint Central Paces Record-Setting Field at Eastern Michigan

Two things suspected in advance were confirmed Saturday night in the Huron Relays at Eastern Michigan University.

(1) Pontiac Central's Bill Tipton still is the best of the state's prep hurdlers, and (2) Class A track squads in Oakland County are hurting for sprinters.

Tipton, defending state champion outdoors, stepped over the 65-yard high hurdles in 7.8 seconds to lead PCH to third place. His time equaled the record set in 1959 by Farmington's Rex Cawley.

Flint Central, led by two basketball players who were competing for the state Class A cage crown a week earlier, took team honors in the indoor meet with 48 points. Flint Northern was second with 39 and PCH posted 34.

Freels Bacon of Flint Central high jumped 6-6 to break the record by an eighth of an inch. The former standard was set in 1957 by PCH's Hudson Ray.

The Indians' Herb Washington tied the 60-yard dash mark with a time of 6.3.

Oakland County schools were blanked in this event and Pontiac Central's fifth place showing in the 880 relay was the only ray of sunshine for area 100 and 220 enthusiasts.

Eight records were tied or broken.

Flint Northern's shuttle hurdle quartet tied a record (28.8). Record breakers were Flint Southwestern's Lavern Miller in the long jump (22-10½), Ann Arbor's distance medley relay team (10:45.7), Jerry Klyop of Elyria, Ohio, in the pole vault (13-8½), and Mt. Clemens sprint medley team (3:40.7).

Forrest Jennings of Hazel Park won the mile in 4:32.6 with Pontiac Northern's Mark Kay second and PCH's Joe Dickie fourth. Mel Cole of PNH was third in the high hurdles and high jump.

Earl Polk of the Chiefs was third in the pole vault.

Chicago's Soccer Team Starts on Wrong Foot

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The 2,242 people who watched the first National Professional Soccer League game in Oakland now know that the world's most popular sport has a way to go in the United States.

They turned out Saturday and saw the California Clippers beat Chicago 2-1 on an accidental, wrong-way goal by the Spurs' Joe Haverty. Fortunately for him, it was just an exhibition contest.

In general, the passing was poor, the goal shooting off and the teamwork almost non-existent.

"I thought we weren't bad when you consider that the Spurs have players of 14 nationalities," said Chicago Coach Alan Rogers. "With different styles of play and language barriers, it takes time."

BUMPY FIELD

The game also was played on a bumpy, cold and damp Frank Youell Field. The Clippers eventually will move to the more modern Oakland Coliseum.

Haverty's wrong-way goal came 31 minutes into the second half. He had scored only one minute before for Chicago, the right team.

MSU Lacks Clutch Hits

Spartans Tie Army; 'M' Wins Two

By the Associated Press

The bases were loaded twice, but Michigan State still lacked the clutch hitter who could pull the Spartans through to victory.

So MSU ended with a tie and slightly less than a split of a weekend series in its spring baseball tour.

★ ★ ★

MSU, which faces Duke at Miami, Fla., today, played to a 3-3 tie against Army Sunday. The Spartans were trying to recoup from a 2-1 loss to Miami on Saturday. Their season record is now 4-3-1.

In other college games over the weekend, Michigan swept a doubleheader from Arizona at Tucson Saturday, 7-1 and 5-3.

Central Michigan also took a doubleheader, whipping Union University 11-3 and 9-3 at Jackson, Tenn.

Aussie Yacht in Command of Challenge

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Dame Pattie, with Jock Sturrock at the helm, is in a commanding position to become the Australian yacht that will challenge the United States for the America's Cup off Newport, R.I., in September.

★ ★ ★

Sturrock sailed Dame Pattie to her second victory in two days over Gretel, sailed by Trygve Halvorson, Sunday, winning by 4 minutes, 59 seconds over the 24.3-miles race.

★ ★ ★

There will be five more races between the two yachts to determine the challenger to the United States, the last ones to be held off Newport late in August and early in September.

★ ★ ★

Sunday, Sturrock, a master in the 12-meter yacht competition, easily outdistanced Halverson, who is Australia's outstanding ocean racing skipper by not as familiar with the smaller crafts.

Elliott Pleased by 'M' Gridders

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Coach Bump Elliott, happy with his Michigan football team's first scrimmage, continued to put his Wolverines through spring practice paces today at Ann Arbor.

★ ★ ★

Elliott termed Saturday's first full scrimmage "a good workout with some real hard hitting."

★ ★ ★

He said he was especially pleased with the work of junior Warren Sipp of Akron, Ohio, at fullback. Sipp played tight end last season.

'Y' Girls Lose Swim Verdict

Local Tankers Score in One Division

Pontiac's YMCA girls' swimming team took one of three divisional decisions but dropped an over-all 167-87 verdict of Briarwood Swim Club of Sarnia.

The local swimmers captured the junior division title, 41-39, after dropping the midget (57-28) and prep (71-18) contests.

Cheryl Randall (20-yard free-style) gave Pontiac its lone winner in the midget class, while Shelley Gray took the 40 and 100 yard freestyle events in the junior class.

Sue Cucksey won the 40-yard breaststroke in the junior division, and the 160-yard medley relay team of Margaret Pohl, Amy Stiel and Misses Cucksey and Gray also produced a first.

Tribe's Ace Lefty Draws Praise

By Sociated Press

The verdict on Sam McDowell may not be final for a couple of months yet, but the Chicago Cubs think they see the jury coming in.

McDowell, of course, is the fireballing Cleveland left-hander who was supposed to make everybody forget about Sandy Koufax. He ran into arm trouble last year and had a mediocre season.

But Sunday, with the opening of the major-league baseball season just a little more than two weeks away, McDowell went six innings against the Cubs at Scottsdale, Ariz., and gave up not so much as a single hit.

The Indians had a little trouble scoring themselves, but finally pushed across three unearned runs in the eighth inning and added another in the ninth, then withstood a Chicago challenge and won 4-3.

In all, Sudden Sam struck out six and walked one in the Cleveland triumph. The Cubs' runs all came in the ninth, two of them on Ron Santo's two run homer in his first appearance since being spiked on March 17.

OTHER GAMES

In other exhibition games Sunday, Baltimore beat Los Angeles 3-1, Kansas City edged Houston 5-4, California blanked San Francisco 5-0, Philadelphia outslugged Atlanta 10-9, the New York Yankees bounced Cincinnati 9-3, Pittsburgh and Washington tied 5-5 in 15 innings, the Chicago White Sox beat the New York Mets 4-3 in 10 innings, Minnesota blasted Boston 7-1 and St. Louis beat Detroit 6-2.

* * *

Cleveland's Dick Radatz set the Cubs down without a hit in the seventh, but Jim Stewart broke the spell in the eighth with a two-out pinch single off Vince Romo.

Dave Johnson knocked in two runs for the Orioles with a double and two singles in the victory over the Dodgers at Vero Beach, Fla. Dave Duncan drove in two runs, one on a homer, for Kansas City as the Astros fell at Cocoa, Fla.

George Brunet set San Francisco down on two hits in six innings in the Angels' triumph at Palm Springs, Calif. Tom Satriano had three hits and two runs batted in for California.

Two balks by Charlie Vaughan sent in the tying and winning runs for Philadelphia at Clearwater, Fla. The Phillies blew a 7-2 lead before coming back for the victory.

Faulty Putting Proves Costly

HONG KONG (AP) — A troublesome putter cost England's Brian Huggett the Hong Kong Open golf title Sunday and gave Peter Thomson of Australia the victory in the $12,000 tournament.

Thomson and Huggett were tied at 273 after the regulation 72 holes and went into a sudden death round. Both parred the 400-yard par-4 first hole.

Then, after his drive fell 35 feet from the cup on the par-3 179-yard second hole, Huggett ran into trouble. His first putt was two feet short and his next missed by two inches.

Unfinished Business Delays Celtics in NBA

By the Associated Press

The San Francisco Warriors and the St. Louis Hawks now are getting ready for the battle for supremacy in the National Basketball Association's Western Division, but the Boston Celtics surprisingly have a little unfinished business in the East.

★ ★ ★

The Warriors, who won their third straight playoff victory from Los Angeles Sunday, 122-115, play the Hawks in the Cow Palace Thursday night in the opener of their series.

REST OF SCHEDULE

But the Celts, who had beaten New York 21 times including two recent playoff triumphs, were upended by the Knicks 123-112 in Boston and the series moves back to New York Tuesday.

Philadelphia won its playoff series from Cincinnati with a 112-94 third-game victory Saturday while St. Louis disposed of Chicago with a 119-106 triumph in its final game in the preliminary Western Division series.

The rest of the schedule between St. Louis and San Francisco has the second game on the Coast Saturday and then it's back to St. Louis for the third game on April 5 and the fourth game on April 8.

If additional games are needed, the fifth will be at San Francisco on April 10, the sixth at St. Louis on April 12 and the seventh in San Francisco on April 14.

★ ★ ★

Rick Barry led the Warriors Sunday with 37 points, and the Lakers sorely missed Jerry West, out of the game with a broken finger. Elgin Baylor had 37 points for Los Angeles.

Willis Reed had 38 points for the Knicks and dominated the boards in the upset. Cazzie Russell had 24 points and Walt Bellamy added 23. John Havlicek had 29 for Boston.

UCLA Baseball Team Triumphs in Round Robin

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — The Riverside Invitational Collegiate Baseball Tournament closed with the UCLA team topping the grueling six-day round robin action.

★ ★ ★

Brigham Young tied with UCLA at six victories and one loss in the tournament, but was awarded second place because of a loss to UCLA.

Mississippi State, locked in third place before the final game, squashed Ohio State Saturday night, 11-4.

Mississippi was 5-2 for the tournament and Ohio State ended 2-4-1.

Wyoming placed fourth, tying Yale with a 3-4 record and Yale was fifth, because of a defeat by Wyoming.

Ohio State was next, followed by the University of California at Riverside and Washington was last.

Detroiters Keep Hockey Crown

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The Detroit Teamster 247 hockey team won its second straight national bantam hockey championship Sunday night with a 4-2 triumph over the Edina, Minn., Jaycee team.

Starring for the Teamsters were Mark Howe, 11, and Marty Howe, 13, sons of National Hockey League star Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings.

Drivers Retain African Safari Racing Prix

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The gruelling 3,000-mile 15th East African Safari was won today by a Peugeot fuel-injection 404 driven by Tanzanians Bert Shankland and Christpoher Rothwell, last year's winners.

They roared to the finish at Jamhuri Park here at about 7 a.m. with only 59 points lost in the hectic four-day marathon into both Tanzania and Uganda.

★ ★ ★

They promptly announced next year they would attempt the hat trick. If successful, they will be the first to win the Safari three times.

Only 10 points behind on the scorecard and almost certain to be second — though they arrived at the finish a few minutes ahead in the last lap — were Nairobi Rally aces Vic Preston and Robert Gerrish in a Ford Lotus Cortina.

Florida Kegler 6th in Tourney Singles

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Bob Mangus of Largo, Fla., shot a 674 series Saturday and took sixth place in regular singles section of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

The 37-year-old factory worker rolled games of 223, 193 and 258 but failed to threaten Les Zikes, Sr., of Chicago, who leads the division with 702.

Mangus also took seventh place in regular all-events with 1887. Dennis Wright of Milwaukee still dominates the category with 1933.

Oxford Wins Oar Title With U.S. Help

LONDON (AP)—Oxford, with two former Yale men in its eight, led from start to finish Saturday and won the 113th rowing of the British varsities boat race from Cambridge.

Oxford set the pace over the twisting 4¼-mile Thames River course and won easily by 3¼ lengths in 18 minutes, 52 seconds.

The Dark Blues from Oxford were 5-4 favorites at the start, and the odds increased when they won the toss and chose the south side of the river.

HEAVIEST CREW

Cambridge, with the heaviest crew ever in this classic race at an average 194 pounds, was expected to make the early running. But Oxford got away first and never was headed.

★ ★ ★

In the Oxford crew was the biggest man ever to row in the 112 years of the race—Jonathan Jensen of Orinda, Calif. Jensen, a 6-foot-4 blond of 216 pounds, was at No. 4. John Bockstoce of Hartford, Conn., a mere 6-2 and 196 pounds, was in the bow.

Both the Yale men are freshmen as far as Oxford is concerned.

★ ★ ★

Jensen, 23, rowed for the junior varsity while at Yale. He is studying Oriental languages and philosophy at New College, Oxford.

Bockstoce, studying for a bachelor of literature degree in ethnology at St. Edmund Hall, Oxford, contended for a place in the U.S. rowing team for the 1966 world championships but was eliminated. He is a former U.S. schoolboy sculling champ.

When he isn't rowing, Bockstoce spends most of his time studying Eskimos. As a Yale student, he spent two winters with them, mastering their language.

Court News Stalls Advance

Stock Market Turns Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed early this afternoon. An advance melted on news that the Supreme Court had held up the $6-billion merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad.

Although more stock showed plus signs than minuses, the popular averages were lower due to weakness in blue chip rails and industrials.

★ ★ ★

Central sank half a dozen points on news of the court ruling but halved the loss in later dealings. Pennsy sank 5½ points on the news but trimmed the decline to about 2½.

Selling spread to other sections of the list, however, with the result that the averages converted early gains to losses.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .72 to 875.95 after showing an early gain of 1.95.

The background of economic news was mixed although the trend to easier money continued as several other banks cut their prime interest rate to 5½ per cent from 5¾ per cent.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .8 at 323.5 with industrials off .1, rails off 1.6 and utilities up .1.

Prices were generally higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Goldfield continues active, edging higher. Syntex fell nearly 2 points while Flying Tiger and Vernitron slumped about 1½. Utah Idaho Sugar advanced nearly 2 and Southern Gulf Utilities rose more than a point. Mary Carter Paints "A," Peruvian Oils & Minerals and Technicolor were fractional gainers.

Red Fisherman Fine Awaited

U.S. Officials Set to Get $10,000 Today

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) —U.S. authorities are awaiting payment of a $10,000 fine assessed against the captain of a Soviet fishing vessel seized in U.S. territorial waters.

Leonid Kushchenko, 29, of Vladivostok was convicted Saturday of violating U.S. fishing waters and was jailed when he was unable to pay the fine.

★ ★ ★

The prosecutor, U.S. Atty. Richard McVeigh, said he expected the fine to be paid today, and when it is he will ask the Ciast Guard to return Kushchenko to his trawler.

The vessel was seized last Wednesday off Alaska's Shumagin Islands within the nation's newly set 12-mile fisheries zone. The 178-foot ship and its cargo of shrimp was towed by the Coast Guard cutter Storis to Kodiak but was released late Saturday. However, bad weather kept the SRTM 8-457 from returning to the Soviet fishing fleet until Sunday afternoon when the Storis escorted the trawler 12 miles outside the U. S. fishing zone.

SECOND SEIZED

This was the second Soviet ship seized this month for fishing in U. S. waters. The first was on March 2, inside Alaska's three-mile limit, and the skipper, Nicolai Zernov, was fined $5,000 and freed. The fine was paid two weeks later.

Coast Guard Cmdr. George W. Hardy Jr., captain of the Storis, said 14 other Soviet fishing vessels were in the area where Kushchenko's trawler was turned loose.

★ ★ ★

When Kushchenko appeared before U.S. District Judge James von der Hdydt Saturday, he said through an interpreter: "I ask you to consider that the Soviet government respects the sovereignty of the United States government, and that I will be severely punished for my violation."

The judge found Kushchenko guilty after the Soviet captain pleaded no contest, as Zernov did earlier.

MAXIMUM FINE

Kushchenko's fine was the maximum. The judge could have sentenced the Soviet skipper, who is married and the father of two, to prison and ordered his trawler and its cargo confiscated.

When Judge von der Heydt sentenced Kushchenko, he said he had received "a great deal of public advice on the sentence in this case." He apparently referred to calls by Alaska's U. S. senators and Gov. Walter Hickel for the most severe penalty.

★ ★ ★

Sens. Ernest Gruening and E. L. Bartlett, D-Alaska, said, "It is clear the Russian government is either indifferent or condones the violations."

Gruening added, "The offense was worth more than a $10,000 fine. It is no inducement to stop others from poaching. It is a mistaken effort at appeasement and a betrayal to our fishermen. There is nothing in a fine of this kind that will stop foreign encroachment."

Supreme Court Delays Merger of 2 Railroads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court held up the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads today.

Justice Tom C. Clark, announcing the 5-4 decision, said the merger should be delayed until the Interstate Commerce Comission determines the fate of smaller railroads.

Clark made it clear the court was not passing on the validity of the merger, the biggest corporate union in the history of American business.

Delay had been requested by the Justice Department and by nine other railroads.

The proposed $6-billion merger had been under study and discussion by the Interstate Commerce Commission for some 10 years. It approved the deal last April, saying the merger could "fall apart" by delay.

Theater Awards Get Place in Spotlight

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway rolled out its best red carpet Sunday night to present the Tony awards for theater excellence and take its place among the national spectacles of the motion picture Academy Awards and television's Emmys.

As motion picture and theater star Lauren Bacall put it:

"It's damn well about time."

The hour-long 21st annual Tony award presentation, televised nationally from the Shubert Theater by the American Broadcasting Co., was the best show on Broadway Sunday night — all other Broadway theaters were dark for the holiday.

★ ★ ★

The musical, "Cabaret," and an English play, "The Homecoming," scooped up half of the 16 silver medallions.

Barbara Harris of "The Apple Tree" and Robert Preston of "I Do! I Do!" took the top awards for musical performances and Beryl Reid of "The Killing of Sister George" and Paul Rodgers of "The Homecoming" took medallions as top stars in straight drama.

SUPPORTING HONORS

Tonys for supporting roles went to Joel Grey and Peg Murray, both of "Cabaret"; and to Marian Seldes of "A Delicate Balance" and Ian Holm of "The Homecoming" for supporting dramatic roles.

Other awards to "Cabaret" went to producer Harold Prince, librettist Jose Masteroff, composer John Kander and lyricist Fred Ebb, sharing the medallion for the best musical; to Prince for his direction; to Kander and Ebb for the best score; to Patricia Zipprodt for costuming; Boris Aronson for scenic design, and Ronald Field, choreography.

"The Homecoming" took the Tony for the year's outstanding drama, shared by author Harold Pinter and producer Alexander H. Cohen, and for direction by Peter Hall.

Red carpeting was rolled out along midtown Manhattan's West 44th Street between the Shubert Theater and Sardi's across the street, for each Tony recipient to use in crossing from the theater to the restaurant to meet the press.

Each dutifully recited the watchword of show business award winners:

"I am just so happy and I would like to thank all the people who made this possible. . ."

But each seemed happy that the Tonys had become a national affair rather than the intimate little gathering that had characterized the presentations for the past 20 years.

Teacher's Case to Be Weighed

Suspended After Use of Controversial Play

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit school officials today planned to review the case of a teacher who was suspended after using a play in which a 15-year-old girl was cast as a prostitute.

The play, "A Thousand Leaders Among You," which is about life in urban slums, has been presented at seven Detroit area churches within the past year.

★ ★ ★

Arnold A. Meier, regional school superintendent, said Leslie Biederman, 24, a teacher at Jefferson Junior High School, was suspended last week after discussing the play with his students.

"Mr. Biederman was relieved of his duties because he would not refrain from using the material in his classrooms until a ruling could be made on the matter," Meier said.

'REFERENCES TO SEX'

Meier said the play had "numerous instances of profanity and references to sex."

"The matter of casting a student as a prostitute and having them in roles approaching a man is objectionable," Meier said. "There is a state law that prohibits the use of profanity in public, private and parochial schools."

★ ★ ★

The author of the play, Hugh Whipple, 41, a Wayne State University instructor, said two words, "damn" and "hell," were written into the play by a Jesuit priest who wanted the dialogue to "sound realistic."

Meier said the controversy "all boils down to a question of whether the school board has control over the teaching materials used in the schools."

NO OBJECTIONS

Meier said none of the parents had objected to the play.

Mrs. Susie McCarrol, vice president of a group of parents of Jefferson students, said, "There's nothing vulgar about the play."

★ ★ ★

Another parent, Mrs. Mildred Matthews, said she played the part of one of the play's prostitutes.

"The play is about urban renewal and how it affects people's lives," she said. "It is not a dirty play and it doesn't have anything in it that the children don't already know."

Whipple said his 15-year-old daughter, Rhonda, has played the part of one of the prostitutes.

College Course Covers Cuisine

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Students in a unique course at Del Mar Technical Institute are coking their way through college.

They are enrolled in a two-year program in restaurant management offered by the local the Texas Restaurant Association.

The course, only one of its kind in Texas and one of but a few such courses in the nation, aims at the over-all management concept.

In addition to the preparation and cooking of food, the students get a speaking knowledge of all phases of the food service business including keeping books.

Food produced in the Food Training Center's kitchen is sold in the cafeteria that serves the campus.

Klan Drive Apparently On in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan apparently has begun a recruiting drive in Detroit.

Cards offering information about the Klan have been popping up in the city and suburbs.

Detroit police say the cards may be a hoax by students, but the Michigan Director of B'nai B'rith's Anti-Defamation League says Klan activity is on the upswing in the nation's fifth largest city.

"We have received a reliable report that there has been a significant increase of Klan organizational activity in the Detroit area," said Richard Lobenthal of the league.

"It ranges from the brazen distribution of business cards to the covert activity of private meetings are semi-secret contracts," he said.

'NO VIOLATION'

The cards found by residents read: "God and Country. United Klans of America, Inc. Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. Anyone Interested In Affiliation with above Organization Write to P.O. Box 124, Dearborn, Michigan."

Harry Wetzel, a U.S. postal inspector, said the cards violated "no law that we're aware of."

United Klans of America, the largest of the Klan groups, is headed by Robert Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Ursula Finds NY Rudeness Close Second to the French

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I am always bragging about America," said the thoroughly delectable Ursula Andress.

"I am always complaining how cold and rude the French are, and how courteous the Americans are. I wanted to show Jean-Paul" — that's her far-from-secret love Jean-Paul Belmondo — "how friendly they are in New York.

"And I find they are even ruder here!"

★ ★ ★

They had left the St. Regis for a hamburger and beer — a couple of great international movie stars dressed for an afternoon walk. They found a New York pub which had exactly nobody in it. Belmondo was wearing a turtleneck sweater.

WILSON

"Could we have a table?" Ursula asked . . . "Go downstairs," she says she was commanded. And Belmondo was told, "You will have to take off your coat" . . . "Why?" . . . "A gentleman has to take off his coat, and besides, you have to go downstairs" . . . "Why?" . . . "You have no tie."

"I think we had better leave," Ursula said to the boss.

"I had a cold and I called the pharmacy for some pills," Ursula said. "They said, 'We have no one to sound out for pills!' Rudeness we cannot accept.

"I know," Ursula, a native of Switzerland, said, "that it's probably no fun being a waiter. But if I'm employed to serve, I think I serve somebody without being nasty.

"I don't like to get up at 6 o'clock in the morning and go to makeup, and work all day, but I don't say 'Go to hell' to everybody."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Joan Crawford's hobbling around on crutches, nursing a broken ankle. She'd slipped on a sheet spread over the polished floor of her apt., which was being painted. No cast or hospitalization required — and she still looks chic.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A waiter at Norby Walters described a customer: "He reminds me of a couple of entertainers — Dean Martin when he drinks, Jack Benny when he tips."

EARL'S PEARLS: Taffy Tuttle boasted she can operate all kinds of office machinery — the coffee machine, the cigaret machine, etc.

Marty Ingels, who worked on TV with Phyllis Diller, told her, "I hear your hair's just been set — what time does it go off?" . . . That's earl, brother.

Dedicated Man, Piano Get Credit

Life Looks Up for Boy With Brain Damage

NEW YORK (AP) — Living with Scorpio Maranez in a cramped tenement apartment, his mother says, used to be like "living in a wind tunnel with a pilotless jet plane."

★ ★ ★

"He was jumping here and there and never sat still," recalled Mrs. Nocilo Maranez. "It wasn't funny. It was pathetic."

★ ★ ★

Today, things are different for the mother and her brain-damaged, hyperactive son, now 9 years old. They still live together in the upper East Side apartment, but in the last 18 months a great change has taken place in Scorpio.

A dedicated man and a piano, she said, wrought the change.

WORDS LIKE GRUNTS

"Scorpio couldn't say but a dozen words when we met Mr. (Richard) Weber. And I was the only one who could even understand these few words. They were more like grunts to other people."

Today, Scorpio is reading on a third-grade level, can read complicated sheet music and play the piano, solve third-grade arithmetic problems, read and print words and is gradually being welcomed by neighborhood children his age.

★ ★ ★

Weber, a 39-year-old bachelor, former name band musician and an associate professor of education at Trenton State University, taught Scorpio to read and play music on the piano through a simplified system he devised two years ago while working on his doctorate in music at Columbia University.

★ ★ ★

"It's not just a case of teaching a brain-damaged child to play a piano or a horn," Weber said. "It uses the music as a motivator for development of reading and writing and other skills."

NO HELP OFFERED

Mrs. Maranez said she had taken her son "from one agency to another and from one hospital to another for help.

"But none was offered. They said Scorpio's brain damage was so severe that he was untestable and could never be even classed as trainable."

One specialist after another had recommended that she put the boy in an institution.

Weber was looking around for "the hardest challenge I could find in a kid" to test his method of teaching and was steered through a teacher friend to Scorpio.

"He was just about as hyperactive as you could get and not be ordered into restraint," Weber said.

NEAR EXPULSION

The first time the boy met Weber, Mrs. Maranez said, Scorpio was on the verge of being expelled from a special school because he was failing to progress. "He used to run around knocking lunch trays out of people's hands and pulling down shades and all kinds of things," she said.

As the music lessons progressed, she said, Scorpio became more subdued, began to learn to strike the right keys marked with colored numbers and started to take an interest in the printed word.

★ ★ ★

Scorpio recently summed up his relationship with Weber: "He takes me out to eat now and he got me a piano for home. I'm good now. I get 100s in my tests and the teacher likes the way I behave."

Brain's Work Is Divided Up

Different Parts Deal With Color, Shape

By Science Service

NEW YORK — A computer "trained" to tell what a person is seeing by analyzing his brain waves has revealed that a person perceives color and shape with different parts of his brain.

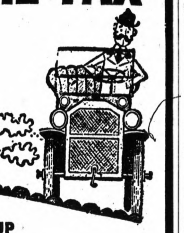

The finding was made by projecting a variety of colored light patterns hundreds of times on a screen in front of subjects whose brain waves were being fed into a computer.

The slides used included such patterns as small red dots on a black background, one big green spot on an all-red slide changing into an all-green one.

A team of scientists from Rockland State Hospital, Orangeburg, N. Y., found a "one-to-one correspondence" between the patterns on the screen and the subject's brain waves as he watched.

After the same color-configuration combination had been recorded about 200 times, the computer was able to integrate the brain wave patterns to a point where anyone looking at the brain traces could tell which patterns were produced by the various visual stimuli.

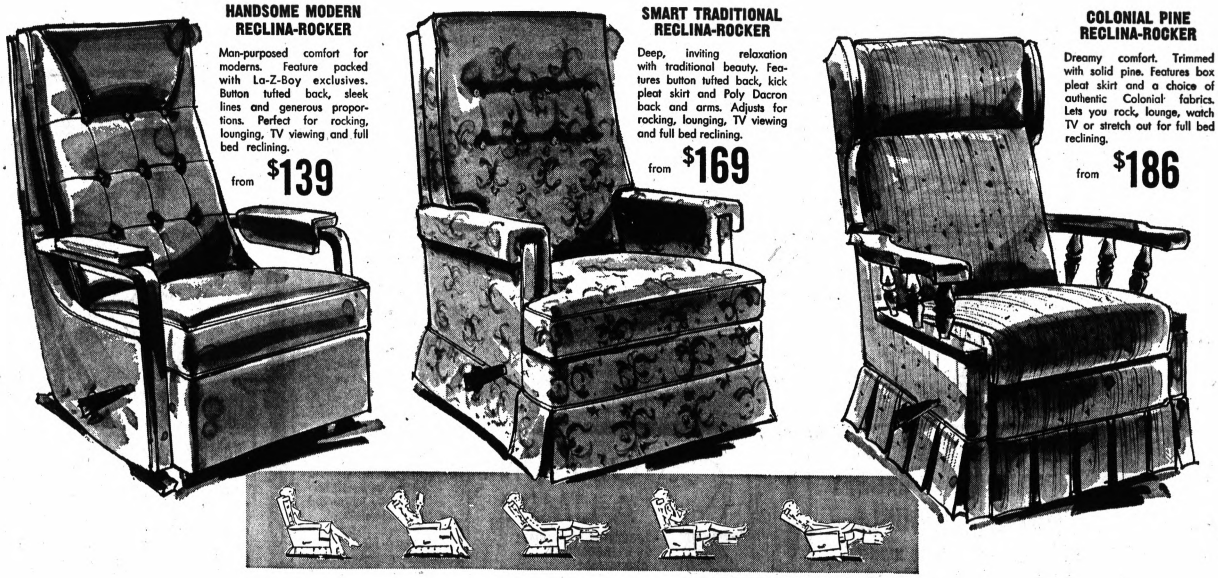

What the scientists were trying to do was to determine which parts of the brain respond to different characteristics of what a person is seeing. They measure how change of color, brightness or shapes affect brain wave traces taken electronically.

Senate Unit Urges Lifting of Bombing Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee today urged officials to lift bombing restrictions in the Vietnam war. But President Johnson gave his figurative embrace to a senator newly converted to administration war policy.

The critical survey came from the watchdog Senate Defense subcommittee headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., which sent four investigators to South Vietnam last fall for a check with U.S. commanders and combat units.

The panel said the cost of tactical air operations in Vietnam, including restricted bombing of targets in North Vietnam, "has been heavy for the limited gains achieved.

The air raids over North Vietnam have made it more costly for the North Vietnamese to wage aggression, but it has been through the sacrifice of many American lives and aircraft losses extending into billions of dollars."

★ ★ ★

But Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., just back from Vietnam, maintained yesterday that the bombing should continue under present circumstances, then said Johnson had praised him for presenting his views and had asked for a personal meeting.

DISSENTING VOICES

Meanwhile Democratic Sens. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania advocated a trial halt in bombing to test Soviet intentions on peace talks while Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said this would be dangerous.

The defense subcommittee's report was the second of six that Stennis has promised as a result of an investigation of the war by the panel.

A Defense Department statement published as part of the censored report protested that the Senate findings were "in important respects marred by errors of fact and inference."

But the Pentagon made no denial of the subcommittee statement that "selection of targets to be struck in North Vietnam is still controlled in large measure from Washington. The striking forces must operate outside of certain prohibited areas and to the exclusion of specific targets."

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a member of the subcommittee, said in a separate report on his December visit to the war theater that U.S. pilots want to be free to hit airfields in the North.

The United States "continues its policy of not employing with maximum effect its conventional air and sea power against the more meaningful targets in North Vietnam," Symington said.

Churches Are Filled; Mercury Hits Record

Alleluias to the risen Christ rang out from choirs and sanctuaries yesterday morning as thousands dressed in their new Easter finery filled Pontiac area churches to overflowing.

The weatherman joined in the celebrating by pouring sunshine on worshipers from sunrise to sunset yesterday.

He brought temperatures to 75, a record high for the day, at 2:45 p.m. The previous high for March 26 was 74 in 1908.

Temperatures will continue mild through Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The average high is expected to be six to 10 degrees above the normal high of 48 to 50 and low of 27 to 32.

THURSDAY SHOWERS

Precipitation for the period is expected to total about one-tenth of an inch in showers about Thursday and Saturday. Showers and drizzle forecast for today will end tonight.

The weatherman predicts partly cloudy and cooler tonight with the low falling to 32 to 37.

The high will reach for the upper 50s tomorrow. Skies will be partly cloudy.

Winds west to northwesterly at 8 to 18 miles today will diminish tonight.

★ ★ ★

A balmy 55 was the low thermometer reading prior to 8 a.m. The 1 p.m. reading was 52.

Oil-Slick Seas Split U.S. Ship

LAND'S END, England (AP) — The giant American tanker Torrey Canyon lay split in two on the Seven Stones reef today, spilling more oil toward the beaches of southwest England that already were being ruined.

★ ★ ★

The stern appeared to be slipping slowly from the reef into deeper water.

See Picture, Page A-2

The forward section lay listing to port with only the high bows clear of the onrushing waves.

BLANKETS HORIZON

A sea of oil stretched to the horizon toward the Scilly Isles to the west. Near the English Coast it broke up into long fingers surrounded by shimmering stretches where the film was thinner.

An armada of fishing boats pushed through the oil patches spraying detergent, trying to spread and sink the oil.

More than 70 miles of coastline, from the Lizard to Newquay, have been polluted by the advancing oil. In places, the oil slick is ten inches thick. Gales forecast today threatened to spread the black carpet to most of Britain's South Coast.

Taubman Asks for Extension on Center Tenants

A. Alfred Taubman, designated redeveloper for downtown Pontiac, has asked for an additional six months in which to obtain two major tenants for his proposed shopping center.

★ ★ ★

Extra time to gain lease commitments was formally guaranteed Taubman under terms of an agreement he signed with the city last Sept. 27.

The original six-month period expired today.

A letter received by City Manager Joseph A. Warren confirmed Taubman's intention of extending the time allotment.

★ ★ ★

Expiration of the original period follows by some three weeks a stiff protest filed against the Taubman plan by a local citizens committee.

'CONTRARY TO REGULATIONS'

Earlier, on Feb. 22, Housing and Urban Development (HUD) officials in Chicago ordered the city "not to proceed further with or convey any property" covered by the Taubman plan.

City officials were told at that time the agreement with Taubman constituted "an exclusive option" to downtown property, contrary to HUD regulations.

Taubman and Mayor William H. Taylor both said they were "unperturbed" at the HUD action and expressed optimism over the redevelopment proposal.

★ ★ ★

Taubman further said then he had "a very strong interest in concluding deals" on or about mid-April.

Further word on status of the agreement has yet to be received from the HUD office.

VP in Geneva for N-Spread Pact Push

GENEVA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived at this center of world negotiations today with an argument he is expected to carry to the allied capitals of Europe: The urgent need for a treaty to curb the spread of nuclear weapons.

The vice president said during a brief airport ceremony at the first stop on his two-week European tour that the negotiations for a nonproliferation treaty are a "life-and-death issue."

The vice president is making the first extended swing through Western Europe by a top administration official since the late President John F. Kennedy's 1963 trip.

He will discuss a variety of problems with foreign leaders and U.S. officials in six countries.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey's mission comes at a time of some friction in U.S.-European relations, partly due to U.S. efforts to seek agreement with the Soviet Union in such areas as nuclear nonproliferation.

CHIEF AIM

U.S. officials said one of the chief aims of the vice president's trip is to assure European leaders the United States is not subordinating its European interests to a desire for East-West agreements.

The nuclear negotiations have been recessed for six weeks to give the United States more time to try to convince its allies — particularly West Germany — to accept the proposed treaty.

West Germany and other industrial nations fear the treaty will have an adverse effect on their development of nuclear power for industrial purposes.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey, arriving in Switzerland after a seven-hour flight from Washington, told a small early morning gathering at the airport that the nuclear as well as the Kennedy round trade and tariff talks could show the way toward "peace and progress in the world."

U.S. AMBASSADORS

Humphrey was scheduled to discuss the nonproliferation and trade negotiations today with U.S. Ambassadors William C. Foster, William Roth and Michael Blumenthal.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey in his travels to the Netherlands, West Germany, Italy, Britain, France and Belgium also has the mission of stressing the need for prompt action on the Kennedy round trade negotiations being conducted in Geneva.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. trade act, authorizing the U.S. role in the negotiations, expires June 30, and U.S. officials note there have been increasing protectionist sounds coming from Congress.

Problems of Suburbia Examined

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Much has been said of urban problems — decay of the big city. But, what of suburbia, the area once heralded as providing "room to roam" for growing families. The Pontiac Press presents the first of three stories on "Suburbia Revisited.")

By JEAN SAILE

A decade or more ago, people began a mass migration from the cities to suburbia.

They were positive they'd find a more unhurried way of life, greater individuality, the freedom of country ways, and "a nice place for the kids to grow up."

There were several items, however, they didn't take into account.

These included:

- Driving time from home to work on roads often inadequate for the traffic volume.

★ ★ ★

- The crowding of what had once been pleasant, roomy subdivisions.
- The frustration of a clogged septic tank or a well that refused to produce water.
- Inadequate school and recreational facilities to meet the rising population.

QUESTIONS ASKED

Some of them began to move, some migrated farther into rural areas and others returned to the city.

The movement caused village and township governments to ask questions:

How far will a man drive to work each day?

How many people in a small community before that urban "hemmed in" feeling is reproduced?

★ ★ ★

How willing are people to pay for such services as water and sewer, police protection, better schools, a library and hospital facilities?

What quality of such services will be supported?

Obviously some planning was needed. Several firms sprang into existence to extend help to suburban communities.

★ ★ ★

As farmland gave way to subdivisions, growth in suburbia was often painful and more frequently haphazard.

VARIETY OF PROBLEMS

In northern Oakland County, for example, there exists populous large-city-sized communities, such as Waterford Township; small resort communities; still rural areas amid large subdivisions; and tiny villages untouched by the heralded flight to the suburbs.

Professional planners saw a variety of problems.

Lake communities, afflicted with a hodgepodge of summer and winter residential areas, unrestricted commercial zoning and lack of industrial land for a long-term tax base, were prime targets of the planners.

★ ★ ★

But so, too, were the relatively unspoiled open areas.

'OPEN FEELING'

Planners felt that a carefully adhered-to program could keep that coveted "open feeling" while still accommodating a doubling or tripling of population.

They had to keep in mind that several of the county's municipalities lie directly in the path of the megalopolis forming between Toledo and Bay City and that others were bound to catch the spill-over from the heavily built-up area.

But planning, itself, had to be initiated by the varying municipal bodies.

★ ★ ★

Some of them — feeling the winds of change — have jumped on the bandwagon immediately. Others more remote and smaller in size have been slower to react.

JOIN IN

With the idea that "Had Detroit had a planning commission back at the turn of the century, it wouldn't now be faced with the problem of slum removal and reconstruction of its downtown area," the smaller communities joined in.

For most of them, the next step to mission was the hiring of professional planners for the preparation of a master plan.

And that's where the federal government entered the picture. The people in Washington became aware that good community planning is necessary and consequently made funds available to areas through its 701 Planning Program.

The funds must be matched one-third by the local communities, but it has been largely federal funds that have financed the many master plans of Oakland County municipalities.

MASTER PLAN

The master plan was the key to the next step — consideration of urban renewal — Again financed for the most part by the U.S. government and investigated by several county communities.

Only Pontiac, Rochester, Hazel Park and Royal Oak Township have so far actively engaged in urban renewal, while planning and survey projects to that end are being carried out in Madison Heights and Walled Lake.

For the more open areas where renewal on a concentrated scale has not yet been called for, the master plan has been the prime aid to zoning guidance.

★ ★ ★

But more than that, such plans take into consideration every phase of community life.

Teamsters Aid Milk Boycott in Tennessee

By the Associated Press

The National Farmers Organization maintained the pressure of a 25-state milk boycott today and, with the help of the Teamsters union, shut off the flow of milk to homes and stores in much of Tennessee.

As the 13th day of the boycott began, the NFO claimed a major success in its campaign to increase by 2 cents a quart the price paid to farmers for their milk.

That was in Minnesota, where the NFO said 13 dairies handling 235 million pounds of milk yearly had signed contracts on NFO terms. In Wisconsin other signings were rumored, but not confirmed.

Two independent dairies serving the Pontiac area today report they have plenty of milk on hand and all deliveries are being made.

FIRMS

The firms are Nye Dairy, 585 Oakland, Pontiac, and Porritt Dairy, 1758 Clarkston, Orion Township.

Many of the states affected by the boycott reported a lull in picketing and acts of violence over the Easter weekend.

★ ★ ★

In Chicago the Pure Milk Association reported deliveries of milk to the city's wholesalers had been reduced by only 5 or 6 per cent and that milk supplies remained adequate in all stores. No price increases were reported. The association represents Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana farmers supplying milk to the Chicago market.

The situation was reversed in Nashville, Tenn., where the combined action by NFO pickets, Teamsters and members of the Meat Cutters Union forced processors to curtail operations, kept milk off store shelves and halted home deliveries. Nashville milk processors serve some 1.5 million residents of Middle Tennessee and south central Kentucky.

DELAY

Lawyers for the Teamsters Union delayed the enforcement of an injunction against the milk withholding action in Chancery Court at Nashville by petitioning for a U.S. District Court order in their favor. A hearing on the motion was set for today.

More than 300 NFO, Teamsters and other pickets appeared early today at major dairies in Nashville and a dairy spokesman said milk would be delivered only to hospitals.

★ ★ ★

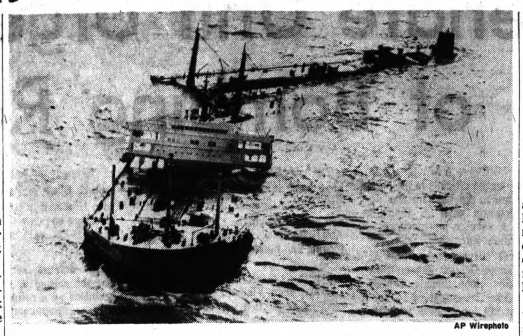

Pickets also appeared at dairies in several Pennsylvania communities early today.

Sixteen NFO pickets appeared at Abbot Dairies in Philadelphia, announced they had been recognized by the Teamsters, and told police they would not allow milk trucks to enter or leave the plant. An Abbott spokesman said the Teamsters were not supporting the NFO.

PICKETS

Pickets appeared at midnight at major milk processing plants in four other Pennsylvania counties. A spokesman for the NFO said pickets would remain "until we get the job done."

Some 90 million motor vehicles were in use as personal transportation in the U.S. in 1965.

TANKER SPLITS — An aerial view shows the 61,263-ton American tanker Torrey Canyon splitting in two today on the Seven Stones Reef off Land's End, England, spilling more oil toward the beaches of southwest England. U.S., N. Viets Both Lose Jet

Ground War Erupts; 7 Yank Copters Hit

SAIGON (AP) — American airmen smashing deep into North Vietnam shot a Communist MIG17 from the skies Sunday while the ground war erupted with sharp fighting from the 17th Parallel to the Mekong Delta.

One U. S. jet went down over the North, but the pilot was saved. Communist ground gunners in the South downed three American helicopters and badly shot up four more.

★ ★ ★

A series of Red assaults and mortar barrages in the delta, including one attack on the U. S. airfield near Can Tho, brought out a blazing display of U. S. ground, sea and air power. The guerrilla attacks were met with fire from helicopter gunships, shots from river patrol boats and a rain of bullets from lumbering C47 transports mounting guns that can each spew 6,000 rounds a minute.

★ ★ ★

The air battle over North Vietnam took place during a strike on the Son Tay Army supply point 23 miles west of Hanoi, the first time the installation has been reported bombed. It contains half a dozen ammunition bunkers and a string of barracks.

38TH MIG KILL

A flight of eight Soviet-designed MIGs jumped the U.S. raiders, and an Air Force F105 Thunderchief turned into the marauders and shot one down. It was the 38th MIG kill claimed by U.S. fliers in the war, in contrast to 10 U.S. planes shot down by North Vietnamese pilots.

The Thunderchief that went down over the North was hit by ground fire just above the demilitarized zone, the Air Force said. It was the 497th U.S. plane reported lost over the North. Hanoi radio claimed three U.S. planes were downed Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force spokesman said that despite continuing bad weather, U.S. pilots hit North Vietnam with 98 missions Sunday.

The fighting in the delta centered near Can Tho, 50 miles southwest of Saigon, and was another sign of the mounting war in that vital area, which grows much of the nation's rice and holds most of her people.

142 VC KILLED

Supporting South Vietnamese troops, a flight of heilcopters troops, a flight of helicopters in Vinh Long Province. Three were shot down, four were badly damaged. Two Americans were killed, two were missing and 12 were wounded. But South Vietnamese headquarters said 142 Viet Cong were killed in the action.

Late Sunday night the guerrillas struck again with 40 mortar rounds fire on the airfield west of Can Tho, causing no damage, officials reported, and a series of attacks on river outposts manned by South Vietnamese militia.

Flareships circled the Can Tho area throughout the night, casting an eerie light over the rice fields and isolated battles.

A fleet of four smal lriver patrol boats, each with three machine guns and a grenade launcher which can hurl 40 rounds per minute, swept up the Bassac River to help one embattled post.

Commission Opposition to Amendment Sought

BIRMINGHAM — The city manager will ask the commission tonight to oppose a state amendment to the Home Rule City Act on initiative and referendum.

Manager Robert Kenning will present reasons for the opposition at the 8 p.m. meeting. He points out the proposed change is in contradition to present charter policy.

His contention is that calling for a popular vote on items of finance, zoning or handling of personnel, would be harmful.

Kenning claims "emotional" appeals would interfere with sound zoning policies and that it would be possible for employes to gain remuneration "which the community could not afford . . ."

Also on tonight's agenda is a report by City Assessor Clark H. Hagstrom on the 1967 roll.

SHOWS INCREASE

His report says the valuation shows an increase of over $18 million, due mostly to the adjustments asked in state law bringing property assessments up to 50 per cent of cash value.

He determines the equalization factors of 1.1 last year will be an even 1 this year.

Some 21 appeals were heard by the board of review on the new assessments, he reports.

★ ★ ★

Building Official Richard B. Schlosser has also prepared a report in which he indicates 17 signs in the city appear to be nonconforming with proposed sign rules.

OU Student Awards Will Honor PCH

Pontiac Central High School will be doubly honored tonight when Oakland University presents academic awards to 221 university students and to outstanding secondary schools.

The Pontiac school captured both awards given annually to secondary schools whose students place highest academically at OU.

It is the first school to do so in the four-year history of the awards program.

The honors are for freshman academic achievement, based on the highest standing group of five members of the freshman class and senior academic achievement, based on the highest standing group of three OU graduates.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Birmingham Seaholm High School will receive honorable mentions in both secondary school award categories. Pontiac Northern will get an honorable mention for freshman academic achievement, and Walled Lake School will be among those in the senior category.

Kansas City Firemen Vow Full Walkout

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Firemen are continuing with plans that will leave Kansas City virtually without fire protection by Tuesday morning. They are seeking higher wages and shorter hours.

Stanton Gladden, a battalion chief and president of the Fire Fighters Local 42, said two more men in each company would take sick leave today. About sixty reported sick Sunday in the first move toward a walkout.

★ ★ ★

Gladden said all other men supporting the move will report they are sick Tuesday. In a similar dispute last summer, only a handful of firemen opposed the union.

Mayor Ilus Davis said the city has a plan of action if the walkout becomes complete. He wouldn't disclose the details.

"We don't deal in threats," the mayor said.

Last summer, at the city's request, the National Guard was called out to protect the fire stations, although firemen remained on duty during that dispute.

★ ★ ★

The climax will come during the city election Tuesday, in which the 12-member city council and a mayor are elected.

Charles Shafer, attorney for the firemen's union, is a candidate for councilman, a post he formerly held.

Gladden has accused the present council of failing to keep its promises. The union has urged defeat of the council majority in the election.

Mayor Davis, seeking reelection, said the "threat to stop fire protection, carried out, would be an irresponsible and vicious attempt to blackmail the voters."

S. Viet Council Jumps Gun on the New Constitution

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's armed forces council decided today to put the country's new constitution into effect on Saturday.

A communique issued after a day-long meeting of the council also announced national elections on Sept. 1 for president, vice president and the senate. The lower house of the National Assembly will be elected Oct. 1, the communique said.

★ ★ ★

The brief communique also reported that the council's 46 generals and colonels had voted their confidence that the national leadership committee, the ruling junta, would "maintain stabilization to bring about the democratic organizations."

There was no mention of presidential candidacies of chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu or Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. Both are known to be interested in the top position in the elected civilian government.

ACCEPTED IN FULL

The councils aid it would "accept in full the draft constitution by the constituent assembly voted on March 18, 1967, and will promulgate this said constitution on April 1, 1967."

This moves up the constitutional timetable more than a month. It was to have been put into effect by May 3.

It returns South Vietnam to government under a constitution for the first time since the overthrow of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem on Nov. 1, 1963. Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, nullified virtually all that charter's provisions for representative government and civil liberties.

The new constitution provides for an independent judiciary and a two-house legislature under a modified presidential form of government much like those in South Korea and France.

TWO VOTES

Informants said the armed forces council needed two votes to approve the constitution as written. Some military leaders feared that it did not provide a sufficiently strong executive branch.

Sources in the U.S. Embassy said Monday that Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had urged the Vietnamese leaders not to present a military candidate for president at the same time they approved the constitution to avoid intensifying regional rivalries.

★ ★ ★

Most of South Vietnam's military leaders are refugees from North Vietnam. Southern civilian politicians accuse them of trying to maintain themselves in office.

Judge to Set Rules for Trial

Guides, Security for Shaw to Be Disclosed

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Judge Edward Haggerty Jr. was expected to announce press guidelines and security measures today for the conspiracy trial of Clay L. Shaw, the man indicted in Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's investigation of President Kennedy's assassination.

Judge Haggerty said Saturday the public was entitled to know what was going on, but the defendant is entitled to a fair trial. "As you know, this is a very serious problem. The freedom of the press is not absolute," the judge said.

The date of Shaw's trial has not been set.

Haggerty, who was selected to preside at the Shaw trial last week by drawing, said he definitely would allow artists to draw sketches during the hearing. This was not allowed during Shaw's preliminary hearing presided over by Judge Bernard Bagert.

★ ★ ★

As to credentials, Haggerty said, "I can say that the individual passes for spectators for the hearing won't go. The press may not have to go through the same process."

RETURNS TODAY

Shaw, retired managing director of International Trade Mart, was to return to New Orleans today after a four-day visit to the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The Orleans Parish county grand jury indicted Shaw for conspiracy last week after hearing the state's star witness, Perry R. Russo. Russo testified that he heard Shaw, the late David W. Ferrie and Lee Harvey Oswald plot the assassination.

Caught With Pants Down

ROYAL OAK (UPI) — A motorist accused of indecent exposure was captured at the end of a 100 - mile - an - hour chase yesterday by police from six cities when he tried to escape on foot but was tripped up as his pants kept falling down.

★ ★ ★

Three squad cars were wrecked and four policemen suffered minor injuries in the 25-mile chase through southwestern Oakland County.

The man, whose name was withheld by police, was held today on charges of indecent exposure, felonious driving and resisting arrest.

Police said the man leaped into a car and sped off after he was spotted standing without pants on a city street.

Two squad cars collided and a third ran into a pole as police joined in the chase through Royal Oak, Ferndale, Hazel Park, Madison Heights and Clawson.

The man, who police said was driving his mother-in-law's car, was arrested when he finally jumped from the auto and tried to escape on foot through a field.

They're Burglar's Best Friends, Too

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Gus Crittenden's two crime deterrents were taken by a burglar who crawled through a window of his home, he told police Sunday.

The loot: a pair of German shepherds, also known as police dogs.

OCC's Program for Police Certified

The basic police training program under way at Oakland Community College since March 6 has been certified by the Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council, according to OCC President John E. Tirrell.

★

Trainees who meet the minimum employment standards of the council and successfully complete the prescribed courses will receive a training certificate upon their graduation April 14.

★ ★ ★

Noel C. Buff, executive secretary of the council, said that municipalities which have gone on record stating they will adhere to council standards will be eligible for reimbursement of up to one-half of salaries and living expenses of trainees.

Charges Face Unknown Pair

Suspects in Holdup Refuse to Give Names

Warrants charging two men with armed robbery and assault with intent to murder were to be sought today by Bimingham police.

The men, as yet unidentified, have been held in the Oakland County Jail since their capture following a holdup of Adams Pharmacy, 1955 Woodward, Saturday night.

Their fingerprints have been taken to Lansing for identification by the Michigan State Police.

Police say the pair, who have refused to give their names, also robbed Uhan's Variety Store, 1475 Baldwin, Pontiac, earlier Saturday evening, and may be responsible for several other holdups in the area in the past week.

★ ★ ★

The loot from both robberies was found in the getaway car, stolen from Flint, after it was stopped on Riverside near Norwood in Beverly Hills by Bloomfield Township auxiliary patrolman George W. Arnold.

OFFICER SHOT AT

The driver of the car gave up without resistance but the passenger fired one shot at Arnold.

The bullet missed its mark when it glanced off the car roof.

The passenger surrendered when Arnold returned two shots.

★ ★ ★

Police were alerted when Edward Gresnick, 317 Charlotte, Royal Oak, a clerk in the pharmacy, slipped out of the store to a nearby gas station.

CAR FOLLOWED

When the bandits fled the store, two attendants from the service station followed the getaway car until Arnold caught up with it.

In both robberies, only one man took part in the actual robbery.

Approximately $760 was taken from the cash register at Uhan's and $500 from nine customers, while about $425 was stolen from the pharmacy.

Big Overhaul of Pacification in Viet Starts

SAIGON (AP) — A major overhaul of the American effort to aid pacification of the Vietnamese countryside was under way today to further trim duplication and lack of coordination.

★ ★ ★

Some Vietnamese sources voiced concern over reported eagerness in Washington for quick results. The latest program to win over the peasantry to the government side is showing signs of progress after a series of defeats, and, the sources said, it could be damaged fatally by pressure for speed and rapid expansion.

★ ★ ★

The final form of the new American command structure in pacification is still being worked out in Washington, U.S. officials said. Sources said Robert W. Komer, a special assistant to President Johnson, will replace outgoing Deputy Ambassador William Porter as head of the civilian part of the pacifiction program. Komer has recently been concentrating on pacification problems.

REPLACEMENT?

Porter's nominal replacement in the embassy is Eugene Locke, a Texas oil man who was ambassador to Pakistan. Whether Locke will have a pacification role is not clear here. That probably will be announced after the current talks in Washington involving most of the new men in the top U.S. civilian slots in Saigon.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is being replaced by Ellsworth Bunker.

Komer is considered here a take-charge man who is well acquainted with pacification problems. He also is regarded as a man who demands quick results and has an abrasive personality.

'Love-In' Easter Innovation

By the Associated Press

Youth had its fling over the Easter weekend, mainly at several East and Gulf Coast resorts, to climax their holiday vacations. But it wasn't all rioting and arrests as the Mod set staged a West Coast "Love-In" and a Manhattan "Be-In."

Police heaved sighs of relief Sunday as more than 40,000 collegians headed back to classes, leaving some beaches strewn with beer cans and other debris.

★ ★ ★

At Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the bulk of 30,000 college boys and girls began a mass exodus to various campuses. There were 500 in the young army of revelers arrested for drunkenness, rowdyism, loitering and interfering with police activities from Thursday through Sunday.

Early Sunday, 16 youths were arrested by Fort Lauderdale police after they pelted officers with firecrackers. A van taking them to jail burst into flames but the driver quickly opened the door and averted serious injury.

BAN ON BEER

The visiting young people at Daytona Beach, Fla., found that local authorities eliminated seaside roistering with a ban on beer-drinking on the beach.

At Biloxi, Miss., an Easter Sunday rain put a damper on the rollicking activities of some 10,000 college students.

"It seems to have taken the cool out of them," a Biloxi policeman said.

Before the rain, however, 85 youths had been arrested on such charges as disorderly conduct, destroying property, drunken driving, interfering with highway traffic and indecent exposure.

DAMAGE

Police Chief Louis Rosetti said, "It's a mess. They've been breaking windshields of cars, tearing up lawn chairs, and tearing down piers to build bonfires."

On Saturday, police cleared the beach of beer-swigging students as Rosetti announced: "We're not letting them camp on the beach."

★ ★ ★

At Ocean Drive Beach, S.C., several hundred college and high school students began rioting Saturday midnight. By the time the fracas was broken up at 2 a.m., a policeman had been cut by a broken bottle and some 150 students were in jail.

In Hollywood, Calif., early Sunday about 500 teen-agers became unruly as they left the International Teen Fair. They were tossing bottles and rocks at passing cars when police closed in. Fifteen were arrested but there were no injuries and little property damage. Another 500 youths attending the affair took no part in the melee.

LOVE-IN

At Los Angeles, 4,500 bearded and miniskirted hippies gathered at Elysian Park Sunday for a "Love-In."

"Christ is here with us, baby," said Peter German, who helped organize the encampment. "So is Buddha."

★ ★ ★

Sounds at the gathering included mainly bongo drums, bells, guitars, and group singing. Some recited poetry and made speeches. The only problem was the giant traffic jam around the park.

In New York's Central Park, 10,000 members of the bearded-and-sandal crowd staged the city's first "Be-In," featuring love and "happenings."

The girls wore painted faces (such as "love") printed across the forehead) while a number of the boys were bare-chested and barefoot under sunny skies.

Some flew kites, others played marbles, a number slept, and an even greater number just watched.

One group of about 1,000 demonstrated good fellowship about every 15 minutes or so by joining hands in a "love circle."

Her Actions in Matter Are Wrong

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: For nearly a year I've been doing volunteer work to help the patients at a nursing home. All are elderly but in good health, so there are no restrictions on their diets.

I wanted to do something nice for these people last Christmas, so I spent a whole day making and decorating several batches of extra special cookies and candies. (I might add that the home is privately owned and it changed hands during this last month.)

★ ★ ★

When I presented my gift for the patients to the new owner, she snapped at me, "You ought to know better than to bring such garbage to the patients. Next time bring money, as you should have done this time." I was deeply hurt and depressed. I can't afford gifts of money for so many persons, much as I'd like to do so.

I shall go back and continue to help the patients in any way I can, but I know of at least a dozen volunteers who have discontinued going to this home because of discourtesy on the part of the management.

Abuse is pretty hard to take when you are giving your time and efforts for others. I'd appreciate knowing if it is "out of line" to take food to a nursing home, as the owner implied. — Mrs. Meyer

Dear Mrs. Meyer: I am shocked at the rudeness and stupidity of the owner of the home, and doubt that she is a fit person to be in charge at all. If such discourtesy continues, surely she will lose her patients as well as her volunteer helpers!

Your gift of home-made cookies and candy was in the best of taste and nothing is more appreciated than something that is made by the donor. A gift of money requires no effort and is a lazy way out, except in special cases.

Do continue to do what you can for the patients in the home. They will need your help more than ever now that this person has taken over.

Case No. B-526

Rate Your Sweetheart

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-526: Pauline P., aged 17, is the high schooler who wanted to elope.

But I coaxed her into rating herself and also her boy friend on the "Rating Scale for Sweethearts." He rated "Very Poor."

DR. CRANE

This famous test was developed by confidential interviews with over 1,000 couples who were planning to get married.

"What do you admire most in your boy friend?" I would ask the girl.

★ ★ ★

"Why do you love him? Why does he please you and make you want to get married?"

Then the girl would state the good points in her fiance.

After jotting down her specific reasons, I then reversed my query.

★ ★ ★

"Is there anything about him," I began, "which you don't like?

"For example, if you could change him without arousing his anger, would you eliminate any of his traits that may now irritate you?"

Whereupon the girl would usually mention several items that she disliked in him.

Then I'd take the second girl and ask her the same questions.

★ ★ ★

Obviously, many of the good points (merits) often were repeated, as were the bad traits or demerits.

So I compressed the virtues by selecting the 50 most commonly mentioned merits of engaged men.

And I also boiled down the thousands of criticisms to the 50 most common demerits.

TRIVIAL, IMPORTANT

Some of these were trivial whereas others were very important, so I "weighted" the more crucial items by giving them 5 points or even 10 points credit.

Remember, too, that each girl was asked about her specific boy friend whom she was engaged to marry and not about boys in general.

★ ★ ★

And the same was true when I later quizzed each engaged male about the girl he had picked for his wife.

The girls listed as demerits such items as the following:

Too possessive and jealous.

A "Mamma's boy."

Boasts about his affairs with other women.

Frequently borrows money or sponges" on his friends.

No time sense. Stays too late even when he knows the girls must be up early next morning to get to her job.

Among the merits, were such items as:

A steady worker or good student.

Polite to girl's parents and friends.

Fond of children.

Ambitious — works or studies on his own time to get ahead.

Mixes well with people.

Has a good sense of humor and can laugh at himself.

A sensible auto driver; not one who speeds to excite his companions.

Regular attendant at church.

Neat in appearance and well shaved — not a beatnik.

Generous with his money but not a show-off splurger!

Uses good English and writes interesting, jolly letters.

Considerate of his parents and sisters.

★ ★ ★

Send for these "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, for they help you check blind infatuation and thus are excellent insurance against divorce!

Metal Deflects

If you want the contents of a pot to boil quickly, never leave a metal spoon in it. Metal deflects the heat, lengthening the time to reach the boiling point.
