H-Bomb Found off Spain Coast

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP) — U.S. Navy experts at dawn today began the delicate job of raising the lost American H-bomb from the Mediterranean floor after a midget submarine's pictures indicated it had been found.

The two-man sub Alvin on Wednesday photographed what official sources said was "undoubtedly" the bomb five miles off the southern coast of Spain and 2,500 feet below the surface.

Using the sub's mechanical arms, the Alvin's crew was expected to try to attach cables to the bomb so the powerful crane aboard the LSD Fort Snelling could lift it slowly to the surface.

Officials said it might take as much as three days for Rear Adm. William Guest's Task Force 65 to bring the deadly device up from the depths.

Reliable sources said the bomb lay on the slope of a 70-foot hillock, exposed to strong currents which some feared could sweep it into a new location.

The nuclear weapon, missing since the crash of a B52 bomber on the Spanish coast two months ago, was reported apparently intact — indicating no lethal radioactive leakage in the water.

The Alvin's underwater camera photographed an object partly shrouded in a gray parachute, and official sources said there was no doubt it was the bomb.

CARRIED CHUTES

The B52's bombs had been equipped with chutes of that color, in contrast to the white chutes worn by crewmen.

U.S. Ambassador Angier Biddle Duke scheduled a news conference today, presumably to announce the find, but canceled it.

"When we have positive identification and recovery," an embassy spokesman said, newsmen will be told.

I-696 Route Gets Backing

County Unit Favors 10-11 Mile Corridor

The Oakland County Road Commission has pledged its support to the state highway department's plan to build the I-696 freeway in the 10-11 Mile road corridor at the earliest possible date.

★ ★ ★

"A delay could easily result in the complete abandonment of an east-west freeway in this corridor, in which case it would be a tragedy of immeasurable proportions," the three member commission said.

The remarks were contained in a letter presented to Gov. George Romney and Howard Hill, chairman of the highway department.

The meeting was called by Romney in hopes of resolving the objections to the plan by officials in five communities in south Oakland County.

The road commissioners, Robert O. Felt, chairman, Frazer W. Staman and Sol D. Lomerson, said "a delay of several years to determine a new route would be not only extremely unfortunate but would only result in additional costs to all concerned and would also cost many needless lives and accidents."

PROBLEM GROWS

They noted that while the I-696 route has been under study for 10 years, the traffic problem continues to increase at an even higher rate than was anticipated.

The traffic on 10 Mile and 11 Mile roads combined is about 35,000 vehicles a day, the commission said.

"Even if these existing roads were expanded at considerable expense to the cities and counties (Oakland and Macomb), it would only be possible for them to carry up to 60,000 vehicles a day," the commission added.

★ ★ ★

"In only 14 short years, the traffic for this corridor is estimated at 115,000 or more vehicles a day.

'TWICE AS LONG'

"Without a freeway, only one half of the 1975 needs will be met and it will take at least twice as long to travel this corridor with about four times the accident hazard."

Cavanagh Tour of State Hinted

Decision on Senate Bid Is Due Tomorrow

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's press aide declined to confirm or deny last night the Detroiter plans a whirlwind weekend aerial tour of the state in search of Democratic support for the U.S. Senate.

The Detroit Free Press reported Cavanagh will make such a tour "to open his campaign against G. Mennen Williams."

Cavanagh has called a 10 a.m. news conference tomorrow to announce whether he will take on the six-time former governor who resigned as U.S. assistant secretary of state for African affairs to seek the Senate seat Democratic Patrick V. McNamara is relinquishing.

"I cannot confirm or deny the (newspaper) report," said Jim Trainor, the mayor's press secretary.

"There will be nothing one way or the other until after the Saturday announcement."

GRIFFIN OPPONENTS

Rep. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., has announced as a candidate for the Republican nomination. He has two primary election opponents.

Cavanagh has been billed for weeks to speak tonight in Muskegon at a seminar on urban problems.

The Free Press reported that "presumably Cavanagh will take his (weekend) airborne campaign to the Upper Peninsula, west, north and central areas of the state."

Cosmonaut Had Similar Experience

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet cosmonaut Alexei Leonov said today his space walk—man's first — caused his six-ton Voskhod spacecraft to begin rotating unexpectedly.

The trouble apparently was similar to the difficulties experienced by Gemini 8 astronauts Neil Armstrong and David Scott, though not nearly as severe.

Leonov told the story in answer to a listener's question on a Radio Moscow broadcast on the first anniversary of his flight with Pavel Belyayev.

Asked if there had been any unforseen difficulties or dangers during his walk in space, Leonov said, "Of course there were."

★ ★ ★

"The first difficulty I experienced was when I was nearly out of the ship and stood on the edge of the lock chamber," Leonov said. "At this moment the ship suddenly started to rotate.

WAS A SURPRISE

"This came as a surprise to me. Down on earth we had trained for every emergency, but not for this, since we had thought that my weight of 176 pounds would have no effect on a six-ton ship.

"Yet my weight caused the ship to rotate."

Leonov said he "quickly got used to this and even took advantage of it for my own purposes."

Leonov stayed outside his Voskhod 2 spacecraft for 20 minutes on March 18, 1965, the day of the launching.

LAST SPECTACULAR

It was the last manned Soviet space spectacular.

In addition to Leonov's historic walk in space, Voskhod 2 made the first landing of a spaceship by manual control.

The manual landing was believed to have been made necessary by a failure of the automatic system.

Leonov and pilot Belyayev stayed aloft 26 hours and made 18 orbits of the earth.

Pair in Hawaii Well Despite Space Ordeal

Gemini Tape Studied to Find Reason for Craft's Sudden Spin

HONOLULU (AP)—Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott rested in Hawaii today as U.S. scientists probed into why Gemini 8 gyrated wildly in space, forcing the flight to be cut short.

The homeward-bound astronauts, returning by jet plane, paused in Honolulu briefly after a flight from Okinawa.

Scientists centered their attention on what happened when a radio command was sent to turn on a tape recorder in the Agena satellite to which Gemini 8 was docked.

While docked, Gemini 8 started tumbling crazily and Armstrong, the command pilot, had to fight for control.

★ ★ ★

NO ILL EFFECTS

Showing no ill effects, they ran down the gangplank of the destroyer USS Leonard F. Mason in blue navy hospital robes.

Despite the hair-raising termination of the flight and their emergency splashdown, they were pronounced in excellent shape. Their only problem was some seasickness while the capsule bobbed around for nearly three hours, waiting for the destroyer.

On their arrival in Hawaii, Rear Adm. Henry S. Persons, who commanded the Pacific Recovery Force, placed red carnation leis around the necks of Armstrong and Scott.

★ ★ ★

Before they left Hickam for a rest at Tripler Army Hospital, Armstrong and Scott were greeted by another astronaut, Air Force Col. Frank Borman.

HAD COMPANY

Walter M. Schirra Jr., a Navy captain who had been with Borman in Hawaii, flew to Okinawa and made the return trip with the pair.

Armstrong and Scott were due at Cape Kennedy tomorrow morning for three days of extensive flight debriefings that may shed some light on the trouble that caused the first emergency landing in the U.S. man in space program.

★ ★ ★

The two astronauts were "disappointed that they had not carried out all the objectives of Gemini 8 but were pleased with the space rendezvous and docking maneuver involving the Agena rocket," Schirra said.

"I would say they also had the

Romney Lists 2 Conditions on Legislative Pay Boost

LANSING (AP) — Reports circulated among legislators today that a pay study commission would recommend boosting House and Senate salaries by $5,000 — but Gov. George Romney said he would require two conditions before signing any pay raise bill.

Romney said legislators should be prohibited from practicing for pay before any state agency and should also provide raises for the unclassified heads of major state departments.

"These must be included for any such pay measure to receive any consideration from me," he declared at a news conference.

Romney said he did not mean to imply that a legislator could not make inquiries of state agencies for his constituents — "but he shouldn't accept pay for that."

Romney said that instances of legislators practicing before state agencies — for whom they set budgets — was a "much greater conflict of interest than the Eugene Power case."

RESIGNATION

Power resigned as a University of Michigan regent last week after the attorney general ruled his microfilm firm did enough business with the school for it to be considered conflict of interest.

Only yesterday the House rejected amendments to a bill which would have essentially carried out Romney's conflict of interest suggestion.

The pay raise believed to be settled on by the study group would hike salaries to $15,000 and leave expenses at $2,500.

Including their expense allowance, Michigan legislators at $12,500 are the highest paid in the nation.

RESOLUTION

The commission was created by a Senate resolution, with half its members appointed by the Senate and half by the governor upon Senate request.

Romney said there was nothing wrong with the citizen study group approach to the pay raise situation, but said he would not have initiated such a commission himself.

James K. Pollock, commission chairman and a University of Michigan political science professor, is to report to Gov. Romney next Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Pollock declined comment on the $17,500 report.

There was speculation public disclosure of the commission's recommendations might be withheld until next month and the increase be taken up during general debate over a record $950 million general fund budget.

SENATE STALL

The House approved a $5,000 annual pay increase for legislators last spring, but the Senate backed off, and, with Gov. Romney, decided to ask an independent commission study.

The $5,000 increase would boost them to the $17,500 level of Detroit city councilmen.

Lucky Feeling Was Justified

Area Family Winner in Irish Sweepstakes

"I think you're going to win," Mrs. Lee R. Schatz told her husband last month after he bought a $3 ticket on the Irish Sweepstakes.

"I've got the same feeling," replied Schatz, who lives at 2515 Lakeville, Addison Township and works for the National Twist Drill & Tool Co. in Avon Township.

Yesterday the couple received word via Western Union that Schatz's ticket had returned 441 English pounds for each dollar bet.

At the going exchange rate of $2.78 in American currency for each pound, the 42-year-old Schatz hit the sweepstakes jackpot for $3,677.94—before taxes.

Although Uncle Sam may take as much as 22 per cent of the winnings, Schatz and his wife aren't complaining.

PAY THE TAXES

"Lee says the first thing we'll do is pay our taxes," Mrs. Schatz said.

The good news did not come, however, without a brief moment of fear at the Schatz home.

"When I got the call that we had a Western Union message," said Mrs. Schatz, "the first thing I thought of was bad news.

"Our 19-year-old son, David, is serving on an ammunition ship off the coast of Viet Nam.

"I had been kind of depressed all morning and when the call came, I thought, 'Oh boy.'"

The couple also have four other children, ranging in age from 13 to 24.

State Lawmakers Vow to Square Unpaid Taxes

LANSING (UPI) — Admitting failure to file federal income tax returns, two repentant state legislators have vowed to make good next week on a total of about $5,400 in unpaid taxes.

State Sen. Basil W. Brown and State Rep. James Bradley, both Detroit Democrats, said yesterday they are ready to square themselves with the Internal Revenue Service.

Both have been negotiating their tax troubles with the IRS since January.

Brown admitted failing to file federal income tax returns in 1963 and 1964, and said he owes about $1,700 plus interest and penalties.

Bradley said he failed to file in 1964 and owes about $3,700, including interest and penalties.

Although each disclaims knowledge of the other's tax problems, the two lawmakers tell similar stories of being unable to pay because of heavy debt. They denied any criminal intent or any effort to cover up the shortages.

IRS CONFIRMS

A. M. Stoepler, district director of the IRS in Detroit, confirmed the men failed to file returns. He said court action might be taken if warranted by the facts.

The two lawmakers said there has never been any discussion of criminal action against them in their talks with IRS officials.

Mercury Climbs to 67; Cooler Weather Is Due

Sixty-seven, a new high for the season, was recorded in downtown Pontiac at 4 p.m. yesterday.

Showers forecast for today are expected to end tonight with colder temperatures moving in. Lows tonight will fall into the high 30s.

Mostly cloudy and colder with a high of 42 to 44 is the prediction for tomorrow. Fair and somewhat warmer is the outlook for Sunday.

Southeasterly winds at 15 to 25 miles per hour this morning will shift to westerly this evening and northwest at 10 to 20 miles tomorrow.

7 Candidates Fail to File Expense Data by Deadline

Seven candidates in the March 7 city primary had not filed campaign expenses as of the deadline yesterday, according to city and county officials.

★ ★ ★

There were 23 candidates involved in six district primary elections. Sixteen had filed expenses statements by the deadline.

Those not filing campaign expenses by the deadline were Samuel J. Whiters, William A. Garling, Gerald Kehoe, Loy L. Ledford, Jack F. Prasil, Joseph Singleton and Curtis L. Webb.

Whiters, 53, of 453 Harvey filed his statement this morning.

None of those who did file exceeded the maximum amount allowed for campaign expenses in the state election laws.

STATE LAW

State law requires expense statements to be submitted to the county election clerk within 10 days after a primary.

The practice in Pontiac has been for candidates to submit their statements to City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley, who in turn files them with the county office.

According to state law, those who have not submitted a report of their expenses will be notified and asked to do so. Ten days are allowed for filing statements after notification.

★ ★ ★

Expense statements filed for two incumbents, Wesley J. Wood and James H. Marshall, showed the largest primary campaign expenditures.

TOTAL SPENT

A total of $303.74 was spent in behalf of Wood's candidacy, while $304.90 was spent for Marshall.

One expense statement totaling $2,378.72 was filed for a slate of candidates.

Citizens for a Better Pontiac spent funds in behalf of the six incumbents, but did not exceed the legal expense limit.

★ ★ ★

Under state election laws candidates and campaign committees are each allowed to spend $40 for every 1,000 votes cast for governor in their district in the last presidential election, or not less than one-fourth of the annual salary for the elective post being sought.

★ ★ ★

Thus, committee expenses or a candidate's own expenditures could not exceed $325 each, which is one-fourth of the annual salary for a City Commissioner, the higher of the expense limits.

Two candidates in their expense statements reported no personal expenditures. These were Leslie H. Hudson and Robert C. Irwin.

Bobby Talks on Racism at Ole Miss

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy tells a University of Mississippi audience today that America "must create a society in which Negroes will be as free as other Americans. But the problem is no longer just a Southern one," he says.

In a speech prepared for a law school forum, Kennedy said "racial injustice and poverty, ignorance and hope for world peace are to be found in the streets of New York and Chicago and Los Angeles, as well as in the towns and farm lands of Mississippi."

★ ★ ★

"There are still many problems confronting the South," the New York Democrat said. "But that which is Southern about them is far less important than that which is American."

"You have no problem that the nation does not have," Kennedy told the students. "You share no hope that is not shared by your fellow students and young people across the country. You carry no burden that they too do not carry.

NEW SOUTH

"This is the reality of the new South. This is the meaning of the modern Southern revolution. And you are its heirs."

Kennedy's scheduled appearance on the Mississippi campus prompted what officials described as the most extensive security precautions since 1962, when James H. Meredith became the first Negro knowingly enrolled in the university.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy, attorney general at the time, ordered in federal marshals. Eventually 20,000 troops put down the campus riots that broke out after Meredith enrolled.

Army Seizes Control in Indonesia

SINGAPORE (UPI) — The Indonesian military seized control of the government in a smooth - working 12-hour coup today, purged the cabinet of pro-Communists elements, and placed President Sukarno under heavy guard behind a ring of tanks.

★ ★ ★

Radio Jakarta announced the shake-up, the latest in a continuing series of maneuvers for government control that began with an attempted coup last Oct. 1.

Lt. Gen. Suharto arrested 15 cabinet ministers, including Foreign Minister Subandrio, and set up an interim cabinet of former ministers that gave control of Indonesia's press, radio, communications and other vital services to the military.

It appeared to be the end of the line for Subandrio, who forged Indonesia's links with Communist China and who was accused by student demonstrators of plotting with Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to turn Indonesia into a Chinese outpost.

★ ★ ★

Suharto's announcement of the arrest of Subandrio and his action in ringing Sukarno's palace with troops was taken to protect them from the "anger of the people," he announced in a broadcast.

FORCED UPHEAVALS

Student demonstrations had forced several upheavals in the Indonesian government. Only Thursday the students gave Sukarno a 48-hour ultimatum to get rid of Subandrio and other pro-Communists or face mass civil disobedience.

Diplomatic sources in Singapore said it appeared the army had finally became fed up with Sukarno's reported intrigues, bluffs and maneuverings. Even with today's action, Sukarno was expected to remain as president, but in name only.

He had reasserted his leadership earlier this week and Suharto acknowledged his presidency. But in the early stages of today's action Suharto sent tanks rumbling toward Sukarno's Merdeka Palace in Jakarta —with the guns pointing at the palace itself.

CONTROL PROBLEMS

"As we see it now, they had control problems while they were docking, and this was complicated by a rocking motion. They were not able to isolate the trouble, and they decreased their rate of speed to a point where they could separate from Agena."

Schirra said the control problems were "solved at the expense of a considerable amount of control fuel, and so we had to terminate" in the emergency recovery area.

The blackened, scorched Gemini 8 capsule remained on the deck of the destroyer under a protective cover. The Navy was to package it and ship it back to the United States in a few days so NASA officials can give it a close inspection.

★ ★ ★

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration yesterday played to newsmen tape recordings of the conversations between the astronauts and the ground.

CRITICAL PERIOD

They covered the critical three-hour 20-minute period from the moment the ground learned of the trouble to the start of the reentry to earth.

The space agency earlier refused to let newsmen hear the tape, explaining they feared there would be misinterpretation of some of the conversation.

When the tape was played it provided the story of the harrowing experiences of the astronauts as Armstrong fought to free Gemini 8 from the Agena and to stop it from rolling violently.

★ ★ ★

It was a story of Armstrong remaining calm in a dangerous situation and taking his place beside the other U.S. astronauts who have used their judgment to save space missions.

FIRST INDICATION

The tape recordings show that the first indication the ground had of trouble was when Gemini 8 swept out of a communications blackout and made contact with the tracking ship coastal sentry Quebec in the Pacific.

The ship radar detected that the Gemini had separated from the Agena—less than 30 minutes after linking up with it in an historic space feat.

A controller aboard the ship immediately asked the astronauts if they had separated. Armstrong, in a strong, calm voice, replied:

★ ★ ★

"We have serious trouble here. We're tumbling end over end."

WILD GYRATIONS

He reported Gemini 8 was gyrating wildly.

"It's rolling and we can't turn anything off," Armstrong called down from space.

Something went wrong with the spacecraft's main jet thruster control system and Armstrong had to switch to an emergency system that finally enabled him to stabilize the craft after a 30-minute battle.

★ ★ ★

The emergency system is normally used only for the vital reentry maneuver. With Gemini's fuel running low, mission control center in Houston, Tex., evaluated the situation and ordered Armstrong and Scott to return to earth as soon as possible.

MADE REPORT

After Armstrong stabilized the craft, he was able to report some of what happened to the ground station at Hawaii.

State Selective Service Headquarters in Lansing today announced an April draft call of 245 men for Oakland County.

The quota is part of 2,018 Michigan men scheduled for induction into the Army next month.

The call, while the lowest since last October, represents an increase over last month, when the county quota was canceled.

The 75 remaining men will come from the board in Royal Oak.

Wayne County was highest among the state's counties in quotas with a total of 1,096 men.

Wants Concrete Sewage Tanks Installed

Health Unit Tells Oxford Rebuilding Plan

Oxford businessmen whose buildings were damaged in a Jan. 31 fire were given a means of getting back into business yesterday. Whether they utilize the opportunity remains to be seen.

★ ★ ★

The health committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors agreed unanimously to let the business people rebuild if they would install concrete holding tanks for sewage disposal.

★ ★ ★

Owners of the four establishments damaged by the fire had been using cesspools for this purpose.

When they applied to the health department for rebuilding privileges after the fire, the department issued denials because the cesspools were considered inadequate.

As a matter of policy, the health department does not condemn occupied buildings even though sewage disposal is known to be inadequate.

Health committee member Herbert A. Smith, supervisor from Madison Heights, suggested the holding tanks.

Alternatives were limited because the building sites lack sufficient space to install septic systems and the village has no sanitary sewer system.

In any case, state law requires the business places to connect to a sanitary sewer system if one is installed in the future to serve the village.

The resolution passed by the committee would require each of the building owners to install 1,000-gallon holding tanks behind the buildings.

They would also be required to have the tanks pumped out monthly by either a licensed septic tank cleaning firm or the County Department of Public Works.

Clarence Durbin, another committee member and a supervisor from Southfield, said that the tanks would cost about $130. Pumping is expected to cost from $15 to $20 monthly.

OWNER UNDECIDED

David Parrish, one of the building owners, said after the committee meeting that he was undecided whether to install a holding tank.

He said that his cesspool system was an adequate disposal system.

"It's as good or better than those used by my neighbors who are still in business," Parrish said.

★ ★ ★

"I may try to find another building," he added.

THINK IT OVER

E. Wayne Converse, the only other building owner present at the meeting, also said that he would have to think the proposal over before deciding to install a tank.

Committee members viewed the holding tanks as a temporary solution to sewage disposal problems. County health director Dr. Bernard D. Berman concurred.

They agreed also that construction of a sanitary sewer system was the ultimate answer.

★ ★ ★

"The problem rests squarely with the village," said Cyril E. Miller, supervisor from Avon Township and chairman of the health committee.

Strong Winds Lash Rocky Mountain Area

DENVER (UPI) — Chilly gale force winds whipped across the Rocky Mountains yesterday, kicking up dust storms and driving snow that caused three deaths and injured 10 other persons in auto pileups.

Winds gusting 50 and 60 miles an hour also downed power lines, toppled trees and mangled planes at an airport where one small craft was tipped over while trying to take off.

Sentence Teen in Fatal Knifing

An Oxford Township youth was sentenced yesterday to 1-15 years in the state prison at Jackson for a fatal stabbing last summer.

Richard Hartwick, 17, immediately appealed his conviction of Feb. 8 and was released on a continued $5,000 bond pending outcome of the action.

Hartwick, 167 W. Drahner, was found guilty of manslaughter by a circuit court jury of six men and six women following a 3½ day trail.

He had been charged with second degree murder in the killing of Russell Richards, 24 of 66 King Circle, Orion Township.

The knifing occurred behind a bar in Lake Orion Aug. 16.

Condemnation Proceedings Get OK

The Waterford Township School Board last night authorized the administration to begin condemnation proceedings for acquisition of a proposed school site on Prentice Road.

The 10-acre site has been earmarked to accommodate a $594,000 elementary school in the Crescent Lake area, an integral part of the proposed $13-million building program.

According to school officials they have been unable to reach a purchase agreement with the owner through private negotiations.

The owner reportedly is willing to sell the whole parcel of about 280 acres, but not part of it.

★ ★ ★

Presently vacant, the land is regarded as the only suitable site in the Crescent Lake area to build a school.

COURT PETITION

The school attorney will be asked to file the petition in Circuit Court. Hearings will follow.

Under plans of the proposed building program, construction of Crescent Lake School would this summer and be completed by September 1967.

The school would be the key to the proposed phasing out of two other elementary schools — Lambert and Waterford Center.

★ ★ ★

In other business, 10 school employes — five cafeteria managers and five custodial leaders — informally requested they be recognized as a bargaining group.

REPRESENTED

They want to be represented by Metropolitan Council No. 23, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, AFL-CIO.

The board took no action.

Also last night, the board voted to pursue the idea of area vocational education schools after hearing a report by board member Eldon Rosegart.

★ ★ ★

Rosegart is a member of a steering committee currently studying vocational education needs in Oakland County.

Prospective schools have been mentioned for seven areas. Waterford Township has tentatively been grouped with the Huron Valley and Walled Lake systems.

Representatives from local districts will further discuss the matter next Thursday.

In other business, the board heard a curriculum report on secondary schools.

The report was presented by Roy J. Alexander, coordinator of secondary schools, and principals Jerome Weiser of Crary Junior High School; David Freeman of Mason Junior High School; James Fry of Waterford-Kettering High school; Dr. Gene Megiveron of Waterford Township High School, and assistant principal Richard Higginbotham of Pierce Junior High School.

★ ★ ★

Alexander summarized the report, listing three objectives of staff members: belief in all people, dedication to service to youth and commitment to excellence in its broadest sense.

The board authorized the administration to hire an accounting supervisor at a salary ranging from $7,000 to $8,000.

★ ★ ★

Nine teaching contracts and two resignations were accepted by the board.

$150 Fire Damage at Waldron Hotel

Three engines and a ladder truck from the Pontiac Fire Department responded to an alarm late last night at the Waldron Hotel, 36 E. Pike.

★ ★ ★

Assistant Chief Charles Marion said flames were confined to a single room in the hotel.

Damage to contents was estimated at $100 and to the building at $50.

Cause of the blaze, which apparently started in some curtains, was not immediately known.

KIEV, U.S.S.R. (AP) — The Ukraine, a region of the Soviet Union which has its own membership in the United Nations, has named Dmitry Belokolos foreign minister, an official announcement said today.

To Replace Retiree as Coordinator

The Waterford Township Board of Education last night appointed Maurice D. Pelton, 35-year-old Michigan State University instructor, as coordinator of elementary schools.

Pelton will succeed Dr. Marshall Jameson, who plans to retire July 1.

Formerly a teacher and elementary school principal in Birmingham, Pelton also has served as director of elementary schools at Wooster, Ohio.

PELTON JAMESON

A member of numerous educational organizations, Phi Delta Kappa, Rotary International and the Methodist Church, Pelton expects to receive a doctorate degree at Michigan State this summer.

★ ★ ★

Jameson, who has been coordinator of elementary schools in Waterford Township since November 1963, plans to move to California.

PLANS TO WRITE

The 57-year-old educator will devote part of his time to writing books, according to Waterford Township school officials.

The author of four books dealing with elementary school education programs, Jameson came to the Waterford Township schoool system from Grosse Pointe where he was an elementary school principal for 15 years.

Attracting New Industries

Commerce Twp. Lives Up to Its Name

By PAT McCARTY

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Did someone say "Commerce?" A community really living up to its name is this one, which in the last five years has welcomed 23 new industries.

Many of the plants which have been here longer are expanding — doubling, tripling and quadrupling their sizes.

"In the next five or six years you won't recognize this township," said Supervisor Thomas C. Tiley. "The potential is here."

* * *

Tiley is a firm believer in the axiom that a community's progress is tied to the tax base provided by industry.

43 PLANTS

Commerce Township is building just such a base and now boasts some 43 plants which turn out a variety of products from plastic toys to plans for gas turbine engines.

The area is feeling the metropolitan push as firms look farther afield for room for expansion.

People, too, are looking for homes with more space and are settling in new subdivisions and apartment developments here.

* * *

Industry and residents, in turn, are causing a need for more businesses and services—all of which contribute their share to the boom.

BACK TO INDUSTRY

Tiley notes it all goes back to industry.

"If you haven't got manufacturing in your territory, you'll tax the people so high they'll move out," he said. "Residences by themselves don't pay for a reasonable tax base."

According to tax experts, residences contribute 80 cents of each $1 the government spends in services to those homes.

* * *

On the other hand, industries pay $1.40 in property taxes for each $1 of service received.

FOR BENEFIT

"Manufacturing, as we've got it, is purely for the benefit of the schools and township," Tiley said.

He sees little correlation between the effects of the population explosion and the industrial boom in the township, noting that few of the plants move far enough to warrant their employes' relocating and that many hire people who already live in the township.

However, figures published by the economic research department of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce show a cause-and-effect relationship between industrial development and other growth indicators in a community.

* * *

The department estimates that 100 new factory jobs bring 359 persons into a community, including 91 more schoolchildren.

PASSENGER CARS

Those 100 jobs also will increase the number of passenger cars by 97 and generate employment for 64 persons in nonmanufacturing jobs while causing the establishment of three more retail operations and boosting personal income by $710,000.

The 23 firms which have located here since 1960 employ some 515 persons, and most are continuing to hire workers.

The assessed valuation of industrial property in the township more than doubled from 1960 to 1965, jumping from $758,850 to $1,655,300.

During the same period, the assessed valuation of commercial property went from $969,140 to $1,486,550 and of utilities from $787,400 to $1,265,000.

ENTIRE TOWNSHIP

With the township assessing at about 25 per cent of market value, the assessed valuation of the entire township in 1960 was $13,123,590.

The 1965 figure — $17,850,550 — is expected to jump nearly $2 million this year, Tiley said.

The approximately 600 acres zoned for industrial development are in the southeast portion of the township, and most of the plants moving here have located along West Maple and Haggerty.

* * *

There are three factors holding back full-scale industrial development — the lack of community sewer and water facilities and the uncertain timetable for extension of Northwestern Highway into the township.

KEEPING TABS

"It will be five to 10 years before we have water and sewers," Tiley said, commenting that he is keeping tabs on the progress of lines which eventually will reach into the township.

For four decades, western Oakland County has waited for word on the extension of Northwestern.

The State Highway Department's schedule now calls for contracts to be let April 1, 1970 on the construction of the six-lane highway from I-696 to M59.

* * *

Proposed to be started in 1975 is I-275, a north-south access route cutting through the middle of the township.

The local unit also is doing its part to help industry.

Tiley said the Township Board is setting aside funds to construct the township's third fire station, a $90,000-$100,000 facility.

It is to be built on Welsh Road, in the heart of the industrial zone.

* * *

"It will give those plants the protection they need," he said. "That will be money well spent as far as the township's concerned."

INQUIRIES SPORADIC

Tiley said that inquiries about industrial sites are sporadic.

"I've had six or eight people here in the last 10 days," he said recently. "Then I might go for a month with none."

The supervisor said there has been no organized campaign to attract industry to the area.

* * *

"It's just gotten around that Commerce Township is a good place to come," he said.

ONE GROUP

One of the groups responsible for getting that word around is the Walled Lake Chamber of Commerce.

Spearheading much of this effort have been two former chamber presidents, E. A. (Del) Jones and Thomas G. Weisheit Jr.

Jones is administrative assistant at American Paper Bottle Co., one of two Ex-Cell-O Corp. subsidiaries in the firm's Walled Lake technical center. Weisheit is owner of Tom's Furniture and Appliances in the city.

* * *

Weisheit attributes much of the unit's success to having a permanent chamber office which can be contacted during the day.

SPEEDY FOLLOW-UP

A speedy follow-up on routine inquiries is essential, he said.

"These guys in industry buy property quicker than the ordinary person buys a hat," he said. "They're a sharp bunch of people. They know what they're looking for."

For example, in 1962 the chamber received a form letter from a Pontiac real estate broker attempting to get leads on industrial sites.

* * *

NEW HEADQUARTERS

As a result, Walled Lake Manufacturing Co. built a new headquarters on West Maple. Within a year, the firm had constructed another building and leased it to Valcomatic Products Division of Valeron Corp.

Late last summer, Walled Lake Manufacturing moved across the street, leasing its old building to Gay Toy Corp.

Valeron, meanwhile, built two plants on Haggerty, leased another west of its original building and now is operating five plants here.

"All that from one routine inquiry," Weisheit said.

RANGE OF SKILLS

He listed as one of the area's attractions "the availability of a wide range of skills."

"Within five or 10 miles, you have a complete cross-section of the labor market," he said.

Weisheit also noted the area has a high percentage of prime vacant land, a stable and relatively low tax rate and the proximity of both railroads and I-96.

* * *

Like Tiley, he bemoaned the absence of sewer and water lines.

LOSING A FIRM

The city is losing one firm, Mills Products Inc., because of this deficiency, he said.

The chamber now is backing plans for a joint Novi-Walled Lake sewage system.

Both Tiley and Weisheit were certain the Mills building will not be vacant long.

The calls are continuing to come in.

Pontiac Press Photos

GROWTH CONTINUES — Among firms contributing to the economic growth of Commerce Township is Dedoes Industries, which is building this plant so it can move its operation from Berkley. The $120,000 building on the northwest corner of Ladd and Maple straddles the boundary between Commerce Township and the city of Walled Lake. The firm is erecting the 120-by-120-foot structure on a 100-acre parcel of property it owns there.

PART OF PRODUCTION LINE — Foreman Donald McManman of Livonia checks the work of Betty Wegg, Clawson, at the Valcomatic Products Division of Valeron Corp. The plant at 2750 E. West Maple is one of five the corporation operates in Commerce Township. Valeron employes about 168 persons at its Valcomatic and Valenite Metals Division in the township.

Plan Meeting on Land Prices

AVON TOWNSHIP — Residents upset by the Highway Department's low appraisal of their property will meet tonight with State Rep. Robert J. Slingerland, D-Lake Orion, to try to get a better price for their land.

A spokesman for the residents said the Highway Department has offered property owners prices "far below the going rate of real estate" for their homes and land.

The expressway, which is to extend from Pontiac to Utica, will displace several homes and private properties along the way.

The new road will run parallel to the present M59, lying three-quarters of a mile north of the old road as far as Livernois, where it swings southward to Rochester Road.

It will then continue east at a point three-quarters of a mile south of the present road.

MORE MONEY

Residents claim they are not trying to block the expressway, they merely want a better price for their land.

They have reportedly been given two dates by which they must vacate their homes, one in July and one in October.

Property owners are to prepare a written physical description of their land for discussion with Slingerland tonight.

Several residents have reportedly retained attorneys, and are prepared to go to court if necessary to get what they feel is a fair price.

The meeting is to be held at 8 tonight at the Rochester Golf and Country Club, 655 Michelson.

I.T.A. Reading System Topic for PTA Talk

ROCHESTER—Philip Hilaire, reading consultant for Oakland County schools, will discuss the I.T.A. reading program at the 8 p.m. meeting Monday of the McGregor School PTA.

The Initial Teaching Alphabet system is presently being used in several of the district's first grade classrooms.

Also on the program will be an explanation of the board of education's proposed $7.3-million bond issue. The building program, which voters will be asked to approve on April 25, will be explained by board members Mrs. Gail Kemler and Norman May.

Election of officers for the 1966-67 school year will be conducted during the business meeting.

A bake sale will be held following the meeting.

South Lyon School Plans Are Halted

SOUTH LYON — Growing discontent with the architectural firm planning the construction of the new high school and improvement of other educational facilities has brought proceedings on the matter to an abrupt halt.

What started out as an occasion for joy last June — the approval of a $2.7 million bond issue for a long-awaited high school — has turned into a sad affair, according to school officials.

"We are definitely dissatisfied with the whole thing," said Wilford W. Heidt, board president.

"The board feels that the architects have been spoon-feeding us."

Heidt said that when the architects wanted money, they came to the board, but when they wanted answers, they turned elsewhere.

Prior to the board's decision to place a bond issue on the ballot last June, the architects, O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach of Birmingham, had estimated costs for a new high school at slightly less than $2.36 million.

ADDITIONAL MONIES

The additional monies included in the bond issue were to be utilized for improvement of other buildings.

Since that time, not only has the estimated cost of construction risen but also some of the building plans have been altered.

Early this month the firm revealed to the board that certain bids it had received showed an amazing rise in estimated costs.

They offered figures illustrating the cost of construction in square feet at the time of the original estimates, and what the cost may be by the time construction is actually started.

NEW ESTIMATES

The new estimates resulted in a base bid of $2,447,251 for the construction of the high school alone. The firm said this would not cover all portions of the high school, but suggested several alternates could be added later.

The eventual cost of the school could possibly exceed $3 million before construction is completed, according to school officials.

If the school board used all the funds raised from the June bond issue, they could not complete the high school or begin any other improvements, Heidt said.

* * *

The original plans called for the construction of a new high school, expansion of the junior high school, improvement of New Hudson school and paving of the parking lot at the Sayre school.

Last month the board had been prepared to wait until more funds were available before taking bids on the school contract.

Some members were prepared to scrap the plans entirely.

The board finally decided to wait and accept bids on the project.

This week the board reconsidered the matter once again and decided to call for a public hearing on the affair.

"We had a little discussion this week regarding the discussion of bond needs. It was suggested that we go to the people and tell them how much we need and why we need it," said Heidt.

The members decided to ask the people whether they should begin construction on the high school now or wait for an election to gain approval of an additional bond issue.

The public hearing has been set for April 1.

Samuel Bailo has suggested the people also be told how the new bond issue would affect taxation.

The current 7-mill levy would not have to be increased, according to the board, but it would require a perpetual extension of the levy until the loan was paid off.

New Minister to Be Installed

ROCHESTER — The University Presbyterian Church will install its new minister, Rev. Alfred T. Davies, Sunday at the 9:30 and 11:15 a.m. services.

Participating in the installation will be George Cobb, moderator of the Detroit Presbytery; Dr. Robert Yolton, executive of the Michigan Synod; and Rev. MacKay Taylor, minister of the Northminster Church in Birmingham.

Others will be Rev. James M. Campbell of the Detroit Industrial Commission and Rev. Ben Tallman of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Rev. Davies comes to Rochester from Columbus, Ohio. He was educated at Davidson College, Princeton Theological Seminary and Oxford University.

He has had one book published in addition to numerous articles and sermons.

Royal Oak Park Unlikely as Future OCC Campus

Prospects of Oakland Community College acquiring a Royal Oak park as a future campus site dimmed considerably last night in a joint meeting of the OCC board and the Royal Oak City Commission.

Heading a delegation of some 25 Royal Oak officials and residents, the city's Mayor Curtis Potter summed up the city's sentiments at the outsets.

"For $305,000, you can forget Elks Park," he said

Potter commented after Dr. John E. Tirrell, OCC President had reviewed the college's development to date and its interest in acquiring another location in the Royal Oak area.

Tirrell then referred to the fact that the college board of trustees had eyed the 47-acre Elks Park at 13½ Mile, one mile east of Woodward, and had it appraised at $305,000.

DOUBTS CHANCES

Potter then pointed out that the city had evidenced strong opposition against the land sale and said the proposal wouldn't have "a chance in the world to pass in an election."

Since the land is designated for park use, its sale would have to be authorized by a vote of the people.

OCC Board Chairman George Mosher said that the $305,000 figure merely represented an appraisal, not an offer. "The price could be negotiated," Mosher said.

* * *

The conversation then turned to other possible sites in the Royal Oak area.

A POSSIBILITY

OCC Treasurer Vernon M. Fitch suggested that Rackham Golf Course on 10 Mile west of Woodward might be a possibility if the I-696 route passes through the layout.

Potter then mentioned the 10 Mile-Main urban renewal area might be considered and also suggested Beaumont Hospital property, south of the hospital.

The Royal Oak delegation expressed general interest to the host OCC board that the Royal Oak area would welcome a campus site.

City Commissioner Mrs. Barbara Mitchell said the area would be ideal because of the available public transportation.

She said she knew of some OCC students who dropped out of school because of the transportation problem to the existing campuses.

No further meetings were scheduled between the two groups.

Tirrell said after the meeting that the board probably would take another look at a proposed campus site in Berkley's civic center.

$6-Million Loan Requests Authorized by Trustees

Oakland Community College trustees last night authorized the administration to file application for separate federal loans totaling $6 million.

If the loans are approved, the college would pay only a three per cent interest rate.

Federal funds would make up the difference between this and the market rate for tax-exempt loans.

James Hobson, OCC vice president, business, said that the interest saving on $6 million would be $840,000, assuming a 4¼ per cent loan market.

* * *

The college will apply for a $5-million loan for the first phase of the Auburn Hills Campus now in the planning stage. This loan and other funds needed for the project would be repaid through general obligation bonds.

* * *

A $1-million loan is sought for the student activity building on the Orchard Ridge Campus. Revenue from building services would retire this debt.

FEDERAL GRANT

Also last night, the board applied for a $750,000 federal grant for the second phase of the Orchard Ridge Campus.

has already been approved for the first stage of construction but has not yet been released.

In other action dealing with finances, the board authorized the administration to apply to the State Municipal Finance Commission for $800,000 in tax anticipation notes and to accept these funds only if necessary to meet obligations.

* * *

Also in the realm of finance, the board accepted a $961 check from the Archdiocese of Detroit's Fund for underprivileged children to cover tuition for 20 Detroit students who attended OCC last semester.

* * *

Hobson said that the tuition was earmarked for payment by a Detroit antipoverty unit for youth opportunity which was never funded.

College OKs Plan; Seeks New Architect

The Oakland Community College Board of Trustees last night accepted the master plan for the Auburn Hills Campus and then indicated it would change architects.

Board members agreed to allow Detroit architect Suren Pilafian until April 15 to complete final details of the master plan and terminate the contract then.

Pilafian was retained for the master plan only. Schematic and working drawings must still be prepared before work can proceed this fall.

An out-of-state architectural firm will visit the college this weekend at the invitation of the board, presumably to discuss completing the architectural work.

* * *

While expressing satisfaction with Pilafian's work, the board has been concerned about the timetable for the project and wants to accelerate it.

21 BUILDINGS

Pilafian's plan calls for 21 buildings with a total of 597,000 square feet of floor space to accommodate 7,000 students.

Work on the first phase, about half the total project, is slated for completion by September 1968.

ALPENA (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard and the Civil Air Patrol today resumed a search for a missing twin-engine plane piloted by a Tennessee man.

Gemini Stars in Space, Then Flops

The United States space program that was progressively leading to a manned moon landing before the end of the decade suffered a setback Wednesday when Gemini 8 came a cropper, causing termination of its mission during the seventh of a scheduled 15-orbit flight.

Liftoff of both the Agena satellite and Gemini went flawlessly as did the docking maneuver joining the two after 6½ hours of split-second timing.

Trouble developed, however, 30 minutes after link-up, necessitating disengagement of the two spacecraft and ended after 10½ hours the projected three-day flight-program that included more docking exercises and a two-hour walk in space by one of the astronauts.

To what extent, if any, the Gemini misadventure may retard our moon-landing timetable cannot be assessed until its precise cause is ascertained.

But, as so often happens, technological malfunction may pay future dividends by leading to corrective measures that themselves accelerate progress and advance the total design.

Astronauts Neil Armstrong and David Scott need indulge in no self-disparagement over the failure of Gemini 8 to achieve fully its objectives. They executed an unprecedented feat in the docking maneuver and subsequently acquitted themselves heroically in coping with their crippled spacecraft and bringing it down exactly on target.

★ ★ ★

America salutes its valiant spacemen as space planners pull out all stops to pick up the lost time resulting from incompleteness of the yield of space phenomena Gemini was to provide.

Edwin C. Klotzburger

The executive echelon of General Motors Corp. suffered a severe loss when death claimed EDWIN C. KLOTZBURGER at the untimely age of 59.

Mr. KLOTZBURGER joined the corporation 43 years ago in a clerical capacity with the Chevrolet Division and by dint of unflagging zeal in performance of his assignments rose to the rank of GM vice president in charge of the Body and Assembly Group.

Industry can ill spare seasoned executives such as Mr. Klotzburger nor the community his warm and co-operative personality.

A multitude of personal friends and industry associates sorrowfully bow to the inevitable as they mourn the passing of an estimable and exemplary figure.

Bad News Filters Through Bamboo Curtain

Whether in personal affairs or those on national level, it is a natural tendency to see ones' own weaknesses in any situation while attributing maximum strength to adversaries.

Until recent times when events have clearly shown defects on their own domestic fronts, Communist powers have well employed this psychological weapon in subverting and seizing control of other countries.

It is news, therefore, when one of the Red regimes — China, in this case—lets its hair down and admits for home consumption that everything isn't just fine and dandy.

Things have not been going well for Red China lately. Beginning with a setback in Algeria nearly a year ago, Peking has taken a licking in its designs on India, flopped dismally in the attempted takeover in Indonesia, shown no forceful action in the Viet Nam situation and seen their man in Ghana, President Kwane Nkrumah, given the pitch.

By way of rationalization of the reverses suffered by MAO TSE-TUNG and company is a recent story in the official Peking Peoples Daily, summarized in two paragraphs:

"The imperialists and reactionaries invariably use the most brutal means to suppress the revolutionary movements of the people of various countries . . .

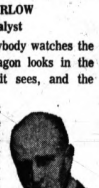
"Thus, victory in struggle is frequently intermingled with reverses and advance in movements with retreat."

It is becoming increasingly clear that the fire-breathing Red dragon is no match for the "paper tiger," the image of the United States that Chinese leaders have been wont to paint.

All Eyes on the Red Dragon

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Everybody watches the Red dragon, the Red dragon looks in the mirror and likes what it sees, and the future shudders.



MARLOW

All through these past few months in the debate about the war in Viet Nam there has been one overriding concern: that Red China might step in, involving the United States in a massive land war in Asia.

The Johnson administration, to calm fears that through any helter-skelter tactics it may stumble into war with Red China, has tried to spread assurance that it would conduct the Vietnamese war with restraint.

This puts the United States in the position of fighting a war with one hand tied behind its back. But the Johnson administration has to worry about Red China and American public opinion, too.

This business of keeping the Americans guessing is an inexpensive weapon for the Chinese since they know, as President Johnson knows, the last thing this country wants is a land war with a nation with 700 million people, like Red China.

★ ★ ★

It could fight the war at home. The United States could never match it in manpower and would have to transport men and weapons halfway around the world to fight at all.

NUCLEAR WAR HAZARD

The United States could, of course, demolish Red China and its people, by using some of its nuclear weapons. That might be even more hazardous.

At that point Russia, even though it has split with Red China, might feel compelled to assist it, get into the war, and use its own nuclear arsenal against the United States. The result would be chaos for mankind.

But the Red Chinese have even a better weapon than making the Americans worry about a war with Peking now. That's time.

★ ★ ★

Red China has suffered a number of recent reverses in its zeal to spread communism; in the East, in its split with Russia and Communist Cuba, and in Africa.

CAN ENDURE SETBACKS

But it can endure these. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara recently predicted that within two or three years Red China would be capable of launching a nuclear attack of its own on countries within 700 miles of China.

★ ★ ★

The best hope this country and the non-Communist nations of Asia have for indefinite peace is that in 10 years or so the present aged, rigid Red leaders of China will no longer be in power and that their younger successors will have a more reasonable attitude toward their neighbors and the world.

'Me Get In There? I'm Just The Manager!'

David Lawrence Says:

DeGaulle Sinks French Prestige

WASHINGTON — France has lost more prestige throughout the world by virtually ordering American forces to leave the country than can possibly be regained through its policy of detachment.

LAWRENCE

Not merely in the United States but around the globe, the move is regarded as a step toward the breaking-up of the alliance which has hitherto been the main bulwark in Europe against a Soviet aggression.

The announcement, moreover, just made that the Soviet Union is ready to conclude a treaty of alliance with France at any time now has raised fears as to the ultimate fate of Western Europe.

While there is inside France a large Communist party, with a substantial political influence in the national assembly, no French president or premier in 20 years has shown any signs of wishing to get closer to the government in Moscow.

It is plain that Moscow is happy about President de Gaulle's proposals to drive American forces out of France.

★ ★ ★

The talk about abolishing the Warsaw organization, however, is not realistic, because, while it is possible for the Soviets to go through the motions of winding up the Warsaw organization in Eastern Europe, a military defense system embracing Communist-bloc countries will nevertheless continue to form an integral part of the Soviet Military front in Eastern Europe.

Already American public opinion is beginning to be reflected in speeches in Congress deploring the de Gaulle policy as an effort to weaken the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

De Gaulle, in effect, argues that all troops and bases in France should be commanded by Frenchmen and that an integrated NATO force with an American at the top is wrong.

★ ★ ★

If, however, there should be a third world war, airpower — and particularly nuclear weapons — would doubtless be the most important factor. This means that the United States, which has a complete arsenal of nuclear weapons, naturally must retain command of all the armies allied in defense of Europe and control any potential use of such weapons.

MILITARY TERMS

It is conceivable, of course, that de Gaulle hasn't been thinking in military terms but only of his own nationalistic ambitions and that he may not have really calculated the damage that might ensue by virtually ordering American forces out of France at this time.

Sooner or later the military facts will penetrate the minds of Frenchmen, and they will not long tolerate the insecurity that a demoralized NATO would create for France.

This is why there is an undercurrent of feeling here that eventually the French people themselves will deal with de Gaulle's erratic policies and reaffirm their desire for a continued alliance with the United States and the retention in France of American commanders and forces as long as the Communist threat has not been completely removed.

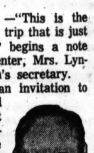
Lady Bird's Outing Plans Appear a Bit Too Far Out

NEW YORK —"This is the wild and woolly trip that is just right for you!" begins a note from Liz Carpenter, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's secretary.

Enclosed is an invitation to join Lady Bird (for $275, that is) on her two-day visit to the Big Bend National Park in southwest Texas April 2-4.



CONSIDINE

Mrs. Stewart L. Udall is going to be along, too, as well as just about every star in Who's Who in Women's Journalism except Shirley Povich of the Washington Post. Shirley will still be covering the baseball training camps.

According to a prospectus, here are some of the goodies in store for Mrs. Johnson:

- A day-long float trip down the Rio Grande by rubber raft.
- Three meals prepared by the Odessa, Tex., Chuck Wagon Gang (an organization of businessmen who enjoy outdoor cooking as a hobby).
- The planting of a tree by Lynda Bird.
- A serenade by the Chordsmen, San Antonio barber shop chorus.
- And three Mexican dinners.

Two Give Views on Communist Candidates

I don't believe your editorial on Communist Party candidates was accurate. You stated ". . . there won't be two schools of thought on Communist candidates." That is a rather naive and presumptuous statement.

★ ★ ★

By ruling out Communists we'll be left with Americans such as judges who don't pay taxes, congressional aides like Bobby Baker, and presidential aides like Jenkins. Elected officials who are careless in picking their aides might be worse than Communists.

PAUL A. LANDRUM

As I read Monday's editorial on Communist Party candidates I was deeply impressed by your courage and grateful for your American patriotism. If we had more of this moral stamina in Washington, there would be no pinks, punks, and Commies on American ballots next fall — or ever.

Opinions Differ on Execution in Viet Nam

The blood of our sons flows on the battlefields of Viet Nam. Parents are being told to send their sons to the battlefield to defend a people who are totally alien to the western mystique and who, if left to themselves, could probably work out their own destiny without interference from the "Great White Father" in Washington.

Bobby's Game

The Arizona Republic

Sen. Robert Kennedy doubtlessly expected to be repudiated by the administration when he suggested that Communists be given a share in any South Vietnamese government.

And no doubt he expected his remarks to stir controversy among the majority of American voters, who — according to every available poll — favor the administration's policy of refusing to recognize the Viet Cong.

Why, then, did Kennedy — whose brother, JFK, once said that popular front governments held little promise for U.S. interests — raise his proposal?

Almost surely, the reason is that the ambitious Bobby Kennedy has begun his race for the White House in 1972. And, after exhaustive calculations and consideration, he is convinced that the surest way to get there is by currying favor of the powerful political left.

★ ★ ★

But neither Bobby Kennedy nor anyone else can reach the White House with support of the left alone.

Therefore, as 1972 approaches, we can expect to see Kennedy make his move toward the broadly - based center, hoping that meanwhile the moderates will have forgotten that he endorsed giving blood to the Viet Cong and came out for a coalition government with the Communists.

This may be good politics in helping to ease Bobby Kennedy's path to the White House. But it is a reckless and cynical game which disregards the freedom of the helpless, tortured South Vietnamese, and which betrays all that American GIs are fighting and dying for in Southeast Asia.

Great Potential

Flint Journal

People in charge of the Nation's space effort are already debating what new world to conquer after we reach the moon. The answer may be right under their noses — the earth.

If some of the technological momentum generated by the race into space could somehow be switched over to the race between population and resources here on earth, a lot of the anxieties about both of them might be removed.

One scientist thinks it can be done. Speaking before a recent meeting of the American Astronautical Society in San Diego, Dr. Peter A. Castruccio, director of IBM Federal Systems Division's advanced space programs, listed a few things satellites could be designed to do.

Besides the much - talked-about possibilities of forecasting and controlling weather, they could:

- Discover tillable land below them as they scanned the world in their orbits.
- Conduct geological surveys to locate new sources of fuel and minerals.
- Examine crops by means of infrared techniques to spot diseases which are invisible from the ground.

★ ★ ★

- Map the seas, locating concentrations of fish and edible seaweed.
- Map snowfields and glaciers as possible sources of water. Also, detect underground streams, which are estimated to carry 3,000 times as much water as known surface rivers.

Any one of these satellite services could more than repay the vast investment that has been made in space research.

Junior Editors Quiz on CARROTS

QUESTION: Do carrots help your eyesight?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Certainly not in the fanciful way our artist has suggested in our upper picture.

However, when used as a food along with the group of other foods shown, carrots are a definite value in keeping your eyes healthy and sparkling, like those of the happy little girl in the center.

The reason for this is that carrots and the other foods shown provide carotene, which the body can use to produce an extremely important material called Vitamin A.

Vitamins are complicated substances which must be present in our bodies if we are to stay healthy and well. There are a number of different kinds.

is to strengthen their ability to adjust to various light con-

The special help which Vitamin A gives to the eyes is to strengthen their ability to adjust to various light conditions, enabling us to see things at night as well as in the daytime.

Vitamin A also helps in the production of new body cells and so is extremely important to children.

Please don't get the idea that carrots or the Vitamin A foods alone are all you need to keep healthy; you must have other kinds, too.

Nutritionists say that a well-rounded diet, with a number of different foods, is important, so as to provide all the vitamins and other substances which are necessary.

FOR YOU TO DO: Besides being healthful, carrots have a delicious taste. Many people enjoy eating them raw; you might like them that way too. Try one and see.

Stanton Man Killed

GREENVILLE (AP)—Wayne E. Hallock, 41, of Stanton, was killed Thursday in the collision of his auto and another just north of Greenville's airport.

Position Outlined by Ferency

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — "I may be the only man ever elected governor who never announced his candidacy," State Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency said Thursday night.

His statement drew laughter from Kent County Democratic County Women's Club, for whose meeting he was principal speaker.

★ ★ ★

"Until I am convinced I've got the support of the party, I'm not going to announce my candidacy," he said, becoming serious.

Ferency reported a petition drive in behalf of his candidacy for governor is at the same point now as it was last January. He said he had agreed to formation of a Citizens for Ferency movement and added it could raise up to $500 for petition and campaign purposes.

He said petitions are in circulation.

LACK OF ENTHUSIASM

In background, he explained that last December he felt it had become apparent there was a lack of Democratic enthusiasm and interest in opposing Republican Gov. George Romney.

It was at that point, he said, that he agreed to the formation of the citizens group in his behalf.

★ ★ ★

Asked at one point: "Are you going to be our next governor?" Ferency replied:

"I've felt that based on Romney's record, we could defeat him. I've always felt we could do the job if we had a better vote getter."

CAVANAGH'S BID

Questioned regarding Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's possibly entry in the Democratic senatorial race, the chairman said: "I can't speak for Mr. Cavanagh. He doesn't consult with me."

"Most people think he will announce for the Senate race on Saturday. If he does, it will be a two-man race. The Democratic party will be neutral."

★ ★ ★

He declined to predict the outcome between Cavanagh and six-times former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, an already announced senatorial candidate, but said he thought it would be an exciting primary in which candidates would conduct "an educational instead of damaging" campaign.

Firemen Leave Funeral

BENZONIA (AP) — Benzonia Township volunteer firemen jumped up and left a funeral for their dead chief, Willard M. Carmien, at Beulah Lutheran Church last Tuesday. They knew a siren which had sounded wasn't a salute to Carmien, but a call to duty.

Learning Program Is Gaining Steam

Pontiac Press Photo

DISCUSS PROGRAMMING — John R. Heckerl, director of Waterford Township School District's Learning Improvement Center, discusses programming of the $123,000 federally financed project with teacher Mrs. Mary Beth Davison. With use of tape recorders, children will be asked to distinguish likenesses and differences of words and sounds.

By HUDSON WILLSE

Waterford Township school officials proudly refer to their federally financed Learning Improvement Center as a "preventive-type program."

Specifically designed for 516 pupils in kindergarten through third grade experiencing learning difficulties, the $123,000 program is in its infant stages but gaining momentum, according to Director John R. Heckerl.

According to Heckerl, the program is geared to pupils "not doing well in regular classrooms."

"We want to know why they aren't doing well," said Heckerl, "but we won't know why until we study them closely."

* * *

Thus far, Waterford teachers have recommended more than 800 pupils for participation in the program which will be largely devoted to language arts.

CONFERENCES

Herkerl's staff is currently meeting with teachers from 26 public and three parochial schools for 20 to 30 minute conferences on each pupil referred to the program.

They even provide substitute teachers to take over the classrooms when conferences are held.

"We may find out that some of these children don't have learning disabilities to a degree that would warrant direct contact," observed Heckerl.

"Most of the children referred so far are having difficulty in language arts areas," he volunteered.

STUDENT TEST

The pupils recommended for the program also are being tested in their schools. Recommendations subsequently will be made by Heckerl's staff.

The center will provide help in two different ways:

- Small group and individual teaching focused on the pupil's specific disability.
- Supplying supplementary materials to help reinforce a pupil's reading program.

Heckerl predicts about 200 pupils will require small group or individual attention "at one time or another."

These pupils with more severe learning disabilities expectedly will be transported to the learning center daily in mobile units.

45 MINUTES

Heckerl said 45 minutes a day will be devoted to more educationally disadvantaged pupils.

"It's important to see them on a regular basis and consistently," stressed Heckerl.

Services to be offered by the center should help to promote improvement in five areas, he added.

- Academic achievement.
- Self-image of the child.
- The child's attitude toward school.
- Educational and vocational aspirations.
- Mental and physical health.

Heckerl and his staff believe it is important to attack a child's problem early in his school career before problems multiply.

* * *

Nonetheless, the program could be expanded in future years to include pupils from upper elementary grades.

PRIMARY AIM

A chief aim of the program is to help the classroom teacher cope with these pupils.

"Although we work with the children," said Heckerl, "the teacher still has full responsibility for them. She's still the key figure."

A variety of approaches will be used to remedy a child's learning difficulty, noted one of Heckerl's staff members.

* * *

What has failed in the past will not be repeated.

STAFF OF SEVEN

Heckerl heads a staff of seven, consisting of six specially trained teachers and a secretary.

The 31-year-old Northville resident said a psychologist and social worker are needed to complete the team.

"We will also eventually need a consulting psychiatrist," said Heckerl, who previously employed at Hawthorn Center in Northville since 1958.

Temporarily situated at the old Webster School building, 8100 Pontiac Lake, the center will be located at Riverside Elementary School, 5280 Farm, when the addition to that school is completed.

Mid-April is the target date for moving the operation to Riverside where about eight offices will be used for the Learning Improvement Center.

The six teachers recently completed an eight-week program at the Oakland Schools Board of Education, directed by Dr. Lawrence Gold, director of the reading clinic.

They studied diagnosis and treatment of reading difficulties, learning theories and motivation, working with children from Lake Orion and Pontiac twice weekly.

The teachers are Jerome P. Midtgard, Mrs. Eileen Earhart, Mrs. Carla Acord, Mrs. Nancy Lambert, Mrs. Rose Evarts and Mrs. Mary Beth Davison. Mrs. Joann Beedle is Heckerl's secretary.

The amount of funds granted for the program was based on the 1960 census which showed that 516 school children in the township came from families with annual incomes less than $2,000.

Two of the rare species of wildlife found in the Everglades National Park are a turtle called the loggerhead, which lives to be more than 700 years old and deposits eggs the size of table-tennis balls, and the wood ibis, the only type of stork found in the United States.

Voting Places Listed for School Election

Voting places have been set for the Waterford Township School District's special election March 28.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the following eight precincts:

Precinct 1 — David E. Grayson School, 3800 W. Walton.

Precinct 2 — Donelson School, 1200 W. Huron.

Precinct 3 — Waterford Center School, 1021 Airport.

Precinct 4 — Schoolcraft School, 6400 Maceday Drive.

Precinct 5 — Pontiac Lake School, 2515 Williams Lake.

Precinct 6 — Monteith School, 2303 Crescent Lake.

Precinct 7 — Leggett School, 3621 Pontiac Lake.

Precinct 8 — Stringham School, 4350 Elizabeth Lake.

Voters will consider two questions:

- $13-million bond issue to finance construction of new buildings and improvements and additions at existing schools.
- Extension of the current 15-mill operating levy to 16 mills for a five-year period from 1969-73.

* * *

Any registered elector can vote on the millage question, but only registered electors who are also property owners can vote on both the millage and the bond issue.

There are only three fully accredited undergraduate schools of naval architecture in the country—at Long Island's Webb Institute of Naval Architecture, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the University of Michigan.

OCC Candidates to File by May 13

Candidates for the Oakland Community College Board of Trustees must file nominating petitions by May 13.

All six seats on the board will be at stake in the June 13 general school election.

* * *

The present trustees are the original office holders. They were elected in June 1964, when voters approved establishment of the college.

$100,000 Loan Is Approved

A temporary loan for $100,000 to help relieve a cash shortage was approved last night by the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees.

The board authorized the hospital administrator to secure the loan "at the best possible interest rate."

A hospital spokesman said this was the first time since 1961 the hospital has had to borrow funds.

It was reported to the board last night the hospital has a cash shortage because Blue Cross has not yet made its final 1965 payment.

The loan is to be paid back as soon as the hospital receives the settlement, estimated at $150,000, from Blue Cross.

State House Shelves Move to Fingerprint Would-Be Legislators

LANSING (AP) — A proposal to fingerprint would-be legislators was shelved in the House Thursday. Along with it went a move to bar lawyer-legislators from practicing as attorneys before state agencies.

Gov. George Romney had recommended such a ban, and Atty. Gen Frank Kelley ruled the Legislature can impose such a ban if it wishes.

★ ★ ★

The two proposals were in amendments proposed by Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D-Detroit.

★ ★ ★

They would have been added to a bill requiring all legislative primary election winners to file with the secretary of state an affidavit that they never have been convicted of subversion or of a felony involving a breach of the public trust within the previous 20 years.

ON VOICE VOTE

The amendments were killed on a voice vote and the bill was sent back to committee.

The bill was introduced last year after a legislator was charged with income tax fraud and found to have borrowed the reputation of a well-known attorney with the same name. The former lawmaker, Daniel West of Detroit, still is being sought by authorities.

★ ★ ★

Interest in stiffened lobbying laws and a legislative code of ethics was heightened this year after Kelley obtained warrants charging a lobbyist with embezzlement, and following reports that lawmakers had received hints of campaign contributions in return for support of a bill.

In an opinion Thursday, Kelley said lawyer-legislators are not prohibited by the Constitution or law from practicing before state agencies, but added the "Legislature could consider this matter, if it wishes, as a matter of public policy."

ETHICS BILL

Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, predicted the Legislature would pass a legislative ethics bill this year, but said he did not favor the ban on the activities of the 27 attorneys now serving in bouth houses.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Daniel Cooper, D-Oak Park, objected to the fingerprinting proposal.

★ ★ ★

"Now it's fingerprinting, next it'll be mugging (photographing)," he said. "Normally, we reserve this kind of treatment until after a man is suspected of a crime, not on the off-chance he might be guilty.

"Legislators go on trail every two years (in elections), and they face opponents who are sure to dig up anything out of the past that would disqualify that legislator.

Mass-Produced Laser Eraser Could Put Stenos on Beam

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Now they're saying the laser (in theory, at least) can wipe out a typist's spelling mistakes as easily as (in theory, at least) it can wipe out enemy missiles.

Mass produced, the stenographer's laser eraser could (in theory, at least) be marketed for 25 cents. It not only would be far cheaper than the missile melters of past speculations but it also (in theory, at least) would be as useful in the home as in the office.

This latest claim for the miracle-working potential of the laser was made at a meeting here of the Optical Society of America.

Lasers are the wondrous electronic devices that produce light beams of purity, power, and precision a million times greater than of ordinary light.

The first laser was made in 1960. Since then laser light has been used to:

- Burn tiny holes through diamonds and metals.
- Weld detached retinas in the eye without surgery.
- Provide extremely accurate guage of both distance and time.
- Bounce light off the moon like radar but with far greater resolution.
- Transmit power and voice and television for short distances.
- Produce truly three-dimensional photographs you can see around.
- Give the military a successful new range finder.

But what actually has been done with laser beams is a drop in the bucket compared with what scientists say (in theory, at least) can be done.

For example, a laser light beam could (in theory, at least) accommodate 80 million television channels.

It could give the blind a substitute for eyes by means of a hand-held device which translates light-determined distances into sounds of varying pitch.

It could provide eavesdropper-proof point-to-point-to-point communications between individuals on the battlefield, in space, or even in a hotel ballroom.

Current and potential uses of lasers were discussed by Profs. Charles H. Townes of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Arthur L. Schawlow of Stanford University, who together in 1958 published the first theoretical paper which led to creation of lasers.

The cheapest lasers now sell for $295. But a 25-cent laser is a possibility.

What would you use it for? The best use the scientists could think up under questioning was as an eraser.

A laser beam (in theory, at least) would evaporate the ink of a misplaced letter but would not damage the paper, because white paper reflects light.

Considering the number of stenographers who can't spell, this use of laser light is not the least important of imaginable chores.

Conversations Help Speaking Betterment

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

Dear Dr. Nason: Our 13-year-old, eighth-grade junior high daughter is inarticulate and feels a great inadequacy in expressing herself orally. We have suggested to her that she read aloud into our tape recorder, listen to herself and try to correct her pronunciation, for that is quite careless also.

DR. NASON

I have discussed with her guidance counselor at school the possibility of courses or classes she might take to improve her elocution and diction and choice of words in expressing herself.

We wonder if you might have any ideas, as we are sure that other young teen-agers must need outside assistance in improving their ability to express themselves.

L.F.M., Union, N. J.

* * *

Ease in verbal expression, once lacking, is usually not developed in a formal classroom setting. Nor is it readily developed in sessions with a tape recorder during which the attention is on articulation and pronunciation.

A better approach would be informal conversation sessions with a kindly, understanding individual — a neighbor or a retired teacher who could give your daughter the opportunity to discuss a variety of things including, of course, the subject materials she is confronted with in school.

Do not expect sudden improvement. However, results should be evident in three or four months.

* * *

Dear Dr. Nason: We have three sons; one each in the sixth, fourth and third grades. How can you make them do their homework on their own? My husband spends a lot of time with them and I feel as though I were going to school again myself.

I am disgusted and so is my husband. Despite our help, the teachers tell us they could do much, much better. Do I have to punish them? If so, would you please give me something concrete to do by way of restricting them.

I feel very inadequate in this, as I had no discipline as a child nor did any of my brothers or sisters. We were always allowed complete freedom.

U.A., Riverton, N. J.

* * *

Although you, along with your brothers and sisters, received no punishment, you obviously were disciplined. Perhaps merely because your parents expected you to carry out your duties at home and at school and make good grades, you did so.

Don't expect your boys to automatically follow in your footsteps. Put them on their own and let them know what is expected of them.

You and your husband should stand firmly together and give whatever moral support the boys may need until they develop habits of personal responsibility.

(You can write to Prof. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press Questions of wide interest will be answered in his column.)

Reuther Gets Romney Reply

Union Asked to Back Water Cleanup Bills

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney yesterday asked United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther for immediate union support for water pollution control legislation pending in the legislature.

* * *

But it would be some time, and take some study, before the state could launch the comprehensive $830-million control program urged by the union chief, Romney said in a letter.

Romney's request was in answer to a letter last Friday in which the union leader urged "prompt action and leadership in obtaining the necessary financial resources to achieve the abatement and control of the pollution of our waters."

* * *

In a letter to Reuther, Romney asked support for bills that would:

—Grant tax exemptions for industrial waste water treatment facilities.

—Appropriate $87,000 for comprehensive water planning, to be matched by nearly $200,000 in federal funds, "to permit us to gain precise factual information on our interstate waters."

* * *

—Commit the state to the principal of financial assistance to local units of government, starting with a $1 million appropriation this year.

YEARLY COST

Reuther said the $3 billion cleanup would require the state to spend $64.3 million a year between 1967 and 1980, with the federal government contributing 40 per cent of the cost, the state and local governments contributing 30 per cent each. To clean up eastern Michigan alone, Reuther said, would cost $1.7 billion.

* * *

"Regrettably, to begin with," Romney said, "precise factual information is not available which would adequately identify both the total financial magnitude of the job that lies ahead for the state on both interstate and intrastate waterways."

Malaria Drug Tested in Viet

By Science Service

A new antimalarial drug, found effective against the resistant strains prevalent in Viet Nam, is now being tested on American servicemen there.

High hopes for the drug, called DDS for diaminodiphenylsulfone, were voiced by Col. William D. Tigertt, director of the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research, Washington, D.C.

Walter Reed and the University of Chicago collaborated on the search for the drug.

DDS has been used for some time against leprosy. Scientists knew the drug had some effect on malaria but bypassed it for chemicals more active against those types dominant during and after World War II.

When the resistant strains appeared some five years ago in South America and Southeast Asia, research began for a new preventive.

REDISCOVERED

The university-army project rediscovered DDS as an antimalarial agent during experimentation on volunteer inmates at the Stateville branch of the Illinois State Penitentiary in Joliet.

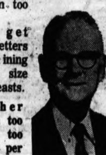
Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Worries About Bust Size Usually Inflated

Q—I am 16 and small-busted. If anything can be done about this, I hope it can be done now, before I'm too old.



BRANDSTADT

A — I get many letters complaining about the size of the breasts.

Whether they are too large or too small, 99 per cent are actually within the normal range and would not be considered unusual by anyone except the possessor.

Some girls are slow starters and at 16 do not yet have their full breast development, so I would advise you not to panic, especially since little can be done about it except plastic surgery and that is often unsatisfactory.

Techniques and materials for this purpose are being improved but are still far from ideal.

It has been truly said that enlarging the breasts is not a bona fide one-way ticket to social success.

Your best course is to work on developing a radiant personality and forget about your alleged handicap.

After all, none of us is perfect.

Q — I am a widow, 53. Five years ago my left breast was removed, followed by X-ray treatments.

Ever since then my left arm has been swollen and tender. What can be done to make it more comfortable?

A — Your arm has enlarged because, in removing the breast, the lymphatic vessels draining your arm were also removed.

Normal drainage is usually reestablished after four or five months but may take longer.

Make sure your sleeves are loose at all times and avoid wearing rings or bracelets on your left side.

Keeping your left arm elevated as much of the time as possible and moving your fingers and wrists vigorously several times a day will aid in establishing normal drainage.

Sit beside your dressing table at night, elevate your elbow on a few books, then, keeping your head erect, brush and comb your hair with your left arm.

Start slowly and increase the exercise a little each day. Gradually use fewer books for support.

These and other exercises have helped many others like you and are described in "Help Yourself to Recovery," which you can get by writing to the American Cancer Society (521 West 57th St., New York, N.Y. 10019) or to the local branch in your city.

Q — I have a skin condition that my doctor says is mycosis fungoides. Is it serious? Is there any cure for it?

A — This is a slowly evolving malignant skin disease that is characterized by multiple tumors of widely varied appearance. The cause is unknown.

Early treatment with X ray will sometimes cure it.

Viet Bombers Hit Cong Near Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — Government dive - bombers swooped over the rooftops of Saigon today and pounded a Viet Cong position less than two miles from the capital's Chinese quarter. The explosions awakened many residents of the city.

A U.S. military spokesman meanwhile reported today the Communist death toll in battles with U.S. and Australian troops sweeping war Zone D northwest of Saigon has reached 335.

Twenty Viet Cong bodies were found today by 173rd Airborne Brigade troops, part of a 10,000-man allied task force pushing into the Zone D jungle behind heavy air and artillery support.

The operation, called Silver City, began March 8. With the paratroopers are the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and the Royal Australian Regiment. Allied casualaetlties to date are reported light.

Fifteen civilian refugees were killed and four wounded today when a Viet Cong pressure mine exploded on a road near Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon.

The mine blew up less than a mile from the scene of similar blasts last month which killed 54 Vietnmaese civilians.

Four Vietnamese air force Skyraiders slashed out of the early morning sun today to bomb and strafe a Communist target about 1-¾ miles south of suburban Cholon.

The planes were seen from the downtown section as they roared over the target.

A military spokesman said U.S. Air Force and Navy planes yesterday flew 47 missions over Communist North Viet Nam. Air Force pilots knocked out approaches to a bridge 50 miles southwest of Hanoi in the day's closest raid to the Communist capital.

Yanks in Asia Will Get Lighter Rifles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of U.S. infantrymen and other troops in South Viet Nam will be relieved of heavier, long-range rifles and given a lightweight weapon rated better for short ranges.

As a result of Westmoreland's request, 100,000 more M16 rifles are being manufactured to replace M14 rifles in the hands of many U.S. fighting men in Viet Nam and to supply South Vietnamese and South Korean troops there as well.

The M16, weighing about four pounds less than the M14 when fully loaded, has been distributed to paratroopers, Special Forces, and men serving with the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division.

But infantrymen in the 1st Infantry Division and other ground units have been carrying the M14 which some veterans of the jungle fighting contend is not as well suited for the Viet Nam war.

The M16 fires a bullet only half as heavy as the M14 and is effective at a shorter maximum range than the M14.

KILLING POWER

However, the M16 has a much faster muzzle velocity which gives it considerable killing power at relatively short range.

Science Quiz

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: Surface tension.

NEEDED: Two dishes of water, two table tennis balls, and a small piece of soap.

DO THIS: Place a ball on the surface of the water in a dish, and it will move to the nearer side of the dish and cling to the dish. Mix some soap in the water in the other dish, place the ball on the water surface, and it will remain in the center of the dish.

HERE'S WHY: The water molecules attract the ball and the dish. This effect, surface tension, can be seen as the curved shape of the water surface, drawing No. 1.

The double effect of the surface tension causes a small force to pull the ball to the nearest side of the dish.

Soap in the water greatly weakens the surface tension, so the curving effects are not noticed. The water surface will appear flat, as in drawing No. 2, and there will be insufficient force to pull the ball to a side.

A collection of the "Science For You" experiments is in book form under the name "Science Circus." It is on sale in bookstores, or may be ordered from Bob Brown, the author, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Demands Stir Trouble

India's Sikhs Making Mark in Politics

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — They are India's best farmers, best soldiers, best mechanics and, to Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's woe, among its best political agitators.

These are the Sikhs, 10.5 million stick-together followers of a vigorous 500-year-old religion and philosophy that wins them a larger spot in India's political sun than their numbers would warrant.

* * *

The Sikhs are a proud people who give the impression they stand a little taller and straighter than anyone else.

Sikh men are distinctive with their turbans, full beards and their lust for a robust, sportsman's life. The women wear leggings topped by a knee-length skirt and blouse. That makes them among India's most striking females.

MAKING MARK

But it's in politics that the Sikhs are making their mark these days.

* * *

Like her father, Jawaharlal Nehru, and her predecessor, Lal Bahadur Shastri, Mrs. Gandhi is finding her rule of India enormously complicated by Sikh political demands.

* * *

Sikh leaders threatened a major political push against Shastri in September but postponed it when the India-Pakistan war erupted. They entered the fighting with gusto, forgetting their quarrels with New Delhi.

Now, old banners and slogans are being shaken out once more.

SMALL COMMUNITY

The Sikhs fear their relatively small community will be swamped by India's 470 million other citizens and the nation's many religions and cultures. They want their distinctive identity legally recognized.

As a first step, the Sikhs want a Punjabi-speaking state in northwest India composed of the Punjab, where most Sikhs live, and parts of neighboring Rajasthan, Himachal Pradesh and Kashmir states.

* * *

India's most powerful political group recommended last week that the government form a new state, based on language lines, to satisfy the Sikhs' demands.

The Working Committee of the governing Congress party asked the government to create a new state "out of the existing state of the Punjab" with Punjabi as the official language. The recommendation is almost certain to be accepted.

Up to now, New Delhi has always resisted the plan, seeing it as a prelude to a demand for autonomy or even independence. But in recent months communal tension in the Punjab has been building.

Mrs. Gandhi, like Nehru and Shastri, has feared that to give in to the Sikhs would unleash a score of separatist movements among other minority groups that form the Indian union.

* * *

It remains to be seen if she can find a formula for Punjab that will be acceptable to the Sikhs. Right-wing Hindu groups, firm backers of Hindi as the national language, have resisted the demands. There is likely to be trouble whatever Mrs. Gandhi's course.

Once his demand for a Punjabi speaking state was met, Fateh Singh, the strongest Sikh leader, cooperated with Mrs. Gandi's government in trying to keep tempers in check.

TROUBLE ERUPTED

However, trouble erupted when the right-wing Hindu group Jan Sangh, which demands that Hindi be India's national language, violently tested the partition of Punjab. Riots broke out in the state and briefly in New Delhi.

Looters and arsonists clashed with police in many Punjabi cities, revealing a coordinated plan of attack on the government's authority.

Although Fateh Singh kept his warrior like people in check for the most part, some direct Hindu-Sikh clashes occurred. Many Jan Sangh leaders were arrested, and police also picked up Tara Singh, the Punjab's second-ranking Sikh leader and Fateh Singh's rival in Sikh politics.

* * *

Tara Singh, it was charged, permitted his followers to demonstrate against the partition plan. This Sikh faction declared the plan did not go far enough and that nothing but "self-determination" would satisfy the sikhs.

RELIGIOUS DISCIPLINE

Things run pretty much the way the Sikhs want, and religious discipline holds the community together. Sikh leaders can, and do, turn out thousands of their followers for a smartly dressed parade — whenever a demonstration of their strength and unity is deemed necessary.

The Golden Temple, like all Sikh temples, is a center of Sikh life. Free meals and lodging are available to all who need them.

"You will never see a Sikh begging," Ssingh once said. "and we are not begging now."

In dealings with the New Delhi government, he tends to speak of Sikh "demands" — not "requests."

School Buses in Two Wrecks

Each Carried Pupils; No. Serious Injuries

Two school buses, each carrying pupils home from school, were involved in accidents with automobiles late yesterday, but Oakland County Sheriff's deputies reported no serious injuries.

* * *

A bus owned by the Walled Lake School District was struck from the rear about 4:15 p.m. in Commerce Township by a car driven by Marr W. Gray, 16, of 1209 Applewood, White Lake Township.

Joseph D. Lareau, 42, of 4660 W. Pontiac Trail, Orchard Lake, driver of the bus, told deputies he had stopped on Union Lake Road near the intersection of Marshalsea when the collision ocurred.

The number of students on the bus was not reported.

* * *

BUS STOPPED

The bus, driven by Eleanor I. Hayes, 35, of 2414 E. Highland, Highland Township, had reportedly come to a stop on East Highland near Harvey Lake Road when struck from the rear.

The Scott girl told deputies she didn't see warning signals flashing on the bus until too late to avoid the collision.

Man Recalled Who Sold Vote— Conscientiously

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Msgr. John Dudine, pastor of the Church of St. Elizabeth, spent his early years establishing missions in a Kentucky county which took its politics very seriously.

One year, he recalls, both Democratic and Republican partisans paid the same man $2 to vote their ticket.

Later, both parties discovered what had happened and sought out the man for an explanation.

"How did you vote?" they asked.

"The way I always do," the man replied. "I voted according to my conscience."

MERIDA, Mexico (UPI) — Honeymooning Princess Beatrix of the Netherlands and her husband, Prince Claus van Amsberg, arrived yesterday on the remote Caribbean island of Cozumel.

The royal couple went to the village owned by former Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos. They had been expected for several days.

Pontiac Symphony and OU Chorus Rehearse for Concert on Tuesday

Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Noble

The Robert Brocketts of Clawson share an interest in music. He teaches music in Mount Clemens. They posed for The Press photographer Tuesday night before rehearsal of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

Brothers named Button—Donald of Metamora with his French horn and Robert of Ortonville with violin—are regulars who enjoy their sessions with the symphony.

Strings, strings all over. Pausing for a moment are Birmingham father and son, Paul (left) and Howard Engard. Father is a charter member of the orchestra; son has two years behind him.

Members of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra and the Oakland University Chorus have undertaken an ambitious work for performance Tuesday evening at Pontiac Northern High School.

They will present "Carmina Burana" by Carl Orff as the second part of the program.

Prometheus Overture by Beethoven and Simple Symphony for stringed orchestra by Benjamin Britten will be played before intermission.

Concert time is 8:30. Tickets are available at the door.

Beverly Patton, South Tilden Street, is a student at Pontiac Central High School.

Regulars with the Pontiac Symphony since its beginning are these violinists. Seated are Robert Peterson, Winkleman Drive, and Mrs. A. M. Bookstein, Ferndale. Standing is George Eckroth, Birmingham. Both men teach music in the Pontiac schools.

George V. Cripps, professor of music and director of the chorus at Oakland University, goes over some music with a choir member, Ivy Merrell of Orchard Lake. The OU chorus will sing with the orchestra Tuesday evening at Pontiac Northern High School.

Rules Are Changed for Wedding News

No engagements are announced less than a month before the wedding date.

WEDDING PICTURES

While The Press prefers to receive wedding stories and pictures before the event, pictures will be accepted not later than two days after the ceremony (that is, Tuesday for Saturday weddings).

For out-of-town weddings, this deadline is extended.

The Pontiac Press makes no promise to use every picture submitted but some printed mention of the event will be made.

NO CHARGE

There is no charge for editorial space, but it cannot be reserved. No promises can be made regarding size of picture nor its position.

All pictures are kept for two months, then discarded. They may be called for any time after publication.

Don't Shout Is Advice to Woman

By the Emily Post Institute

Question: I live on the second floor of a private house. The front door is always kept locked. Whenever anyone rings my bell I go to the top of the stairs and call out, "Who is it?" rather than go all the way down only to find it is someone soliciting or trying to sell something.

If it is someone I know, I then, of course, go down and let him or her in. I have been told that this is very rude. May I please have your opinion?

A: I know that calls from salesmen and other solicitors are a continual annoyance, but I'm afraid I must agree with whoever criticized you, because your calling out loud enough to be heard by someone outside your door on the ground floor, could conceivably be very annoying to the other people in the house.

★ ★ ★

Question: My husband and I were asked to be godparents to one of twin boys. We, of course, intend to give him a present.

We would like to know if we should also give a present to the other twin who will have a different set of godparents.

Answer: You are only obliged to give a present to your own godchild, but if you wish, there is no reason why you may not give a small present to the other child as a token of your affection.

Keep Letting Off Steam

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and I have just started keeping a diary. I used it to let off steam, thinking no one would ever see it but me.

Well, when I came home from school one day I thought my mother acted strange. She denied that while she was looking for something else, she accidentally came across my diary, which I keep hidden.

ABBY

She said she wasn't the least bit curious about its contents, but while moving it she bent one of the pages with her long fingernail, and while straightening it out she saw the word "battle-ax." And wondering who I would call a "battle-ax" she read that page. I had written some horrible things, Abby, because I was awful mad at her at the time, but I really didn't mean them.

She said the feeling was mutual, and from now on I shouldn't depend on her for anything. I do love her, Abby, and I feel just terrible. What should I do?

UNSTEAMED

DEAR UNSTEAMED: Every mother should know that there are times when her children could cheerfully wring theirs.

Letting off steam as you did in your diary was no crime. Everyone is entitled to his private thoughts. I hope your mother will forgive and forget, should. Perhaps she, too, spoke in anger and haste.

★ ★ ★

My advice to you is to keep "letting off steam" in writing. But not in a diary. Use scratch paper, and destroy it immediately.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What does one do when a couple drops in at precisely the time for our favorite TV show? It is a half-hour afternoon program. My husband, who will be 90 next summer, says, "Next time I am going to turn it on anyway." Wouldn't that be rude?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Greet your callers with, "Hello, you are just in time to watch our favorite TV program with us. Sit down." Then watch the program.

Satire at OU Starts Today

The wacky satirical review "Over the Counter," praised by nearly every Detroit area critic, opens the eight - day Oakland University Fine Arts Festival today at 8:30 p.m. in the OU Little Theatre.

Described by one critic as "a sort of local 'That Was the Week That Was' show," Over the Counter had a successful 36-week run at the Vanguard Theatre in Detroit before going on the road last month.

★ ★ ★

The show pokes light-hearted fun at human foibles and current events. Its material is changed continually to stay abreast of the news.

Henry K. Martin, whose credits as a performer include stints at Phase II, Saints and Sinners, and the Living Room in New York, plus a number of off-Broadway and Detroit productions, produces, directs, and heads the cast of four

Lobster Pie Is Made With Crumb Topping

A Birmingham secretary won the 1966 Queen of the Kitchen contest, sponsored by Detroit Edison. Here is her recipe:

LOBSTER PIE

By Mrs. Brook Noon

2 cans undiluted frozen shrimp or lobster soup
½ cup sherry (optional)
2 packages (12 oz.) frozen rock-lobster tails OR 2 cans lobster
1 teaspoon paprika
3 tablespoons crushed potato chips
2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
½ cup bread crumbs

Heat soup in top of double boiler with sherry. Stir to break up. Add lobster meat. Turn into four lightly greased individual baking dishes.

Combine remaining ingredients and sprinkle over pies. Bake at 375 degrees 10-15 minutes, or until well heated. Garnish with parsley, or as desired.

This dish may be cooled and refrigerated for as much as 24 hours before baking; increase baking time; or freeze unbaked. Serve with rice pilaf and green salad. Makes four servings.

Dean to Detail OU Program

To Talk at Syracuse on Adult Education

Lowell Eklund, dean of Oakland University's division of continuing education, will discuss OU's recipe/cal and continuous alumni education program at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N.Y., Monday.

★ ★ ★

The program is based on the premise that much of today's knowledge will have to be continually relearned, replaced, updated or unlearned to meet the swift changes of today's technological world.

"Oakland's plan," said Eklund, "is founded on the simple truth that education is a lifelong journey, rather than a destination reached with the obtaining of a degree."

A cooperative program, it combines undergraduate orientation, employer-alumnus liaison, counseling and information service to keep alumni alert to professional and business trends.

★ ★ ★

Gary Woditsch is the university's director of alumni education.

Youth Guilty of Assault in Man's Knifing

A 19-year-old Pontiac youth yesterday was found guilty by a Circuit Court jury of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder.

★ ★ ★

The verdict was returned against Ronnie P. Kester of 89 Oakhill in connection with the stabbing of Arthur S. Swartz, 21, of 67 S. Princeton.

Swartz was stabbed in the chest during a fight at the Italian-American Club Dec. 11, 1965.

Judge Frederick C. Ziem will sentence Kester April 5.

★ ★ ★

On Monday, Kester and another prisoner in the Oakland County Jail failed in an attempted escape.

POSSIBLE LIFE TERM

Kester faced a prison term up to life if he had been convicted of the prosecution's charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

★ ★ ★

The offense he was found guilty of carries a sentence of not more than 10 years.

Fight Charge Exam Waived

Two Pontiac youths were bound over to Circuit Court yesterday for arraignment March 23 after they waived examination on charges of interfering with a police officer.

★ ★ ★

Joe E. Smith, 18, of 381 Ditmar and Maxwell J. Jones, 17, of 544 Going were released from court custody in $500 personal bond.

Smith, however, was returned to the Oakland County Jail, where he is serving a 30-day sentence for conviction on a charge stemming from the incident in which he and Jones allegedly assaulted two Pontiac policemen.

Smith was convicted of creating a disturbance and Jones pleaded guilty to drunk and disorderly in a Feb. 28 scuffle with the two patrolmen.

★ ★ ★

Patrolmen Larry K. Feneley, 28, of 11 Gene and Freeman L. Stalions, 28, of 6660 Manson, Waterford Township, testified the two youths attacked them as police took Jones into custody at a downtown store.

★ ★ ★

Both policemen were injured in the fray and required medical attention.

Canadian Group Wants Tolls Removed

OTTAWA (AP) —Abolition of all tolls on the St. Lawrence Seaway, improved navigation on the St. Lawrence River, and facilities to speed ship traffic in the Welland Canal were urged Thursday by the Dominion Marine Association.

John McGiffin, association president, said the shipping fleet on the St. Lawrence and in the Great Lakes last year broke previous traffic records and moved more than 195 million tons of iron ore, grain, coal and limestone alone.

★ ★ ★

He said in his annual report to the association that improvements still are needed to increase traffic and promote greater safety.

SORE LOSER—Catcher Joe Torre of the Atlanta Braves and his teammates knocked off Chicago's White Sox yesterday, 2-0, but Torre lost a personal battle with umpire Harry Wendelstedt in the sixth inning. Wendelstedt called a third strike on Torre, who promptly dropped the bat at Wendelstedt's feet in disgust. The umpire just as promptly tossed Torre from the game dispite his pointed objection.

Shrine vs. Rouge in Semifinals

Successful Cage Coach Never Played Game

By FLETCHER SPEARS

A fellow who never tried the game as a player is leaving a solid impression as a coach in the state high school basketball tournament.

The fellow is soft-spoken Martin Foley, a product of Fenton High School and University of Detroit.

Foley, now 32, was a football star in high school and and college, but he seldom toyed with the round ball.

As a coach, however, it's a different story, because tonight, Foley will guide the Knights of Royal Oak Shrine into action against perennial champion River Rouge in a semifinal clash of the state Class B tournament at Lansing.

★ ★ ★

Martin never brags. He seldom has a lot to say, but reaching this point in the state tournament is a high point in his six-year career as a coach and the results have left him bubbling over with the joy that goes with a winner.

15-5 RECORD

The Knights have won 15 times in 20 outings, and going into tonight's game, they've won six tournament games.

★ ★ ★

About River Rouge, Marty says: "They're great. We've seen them twice."

Are the Knights scared? "No. They want to play them (River Rouge) more than anyone else," says Marty.

Marty, a 170-pounder, was a standout on the gridiron for the Fenton team which went undefeated in the 1950 season. And he maintained the same reputation at U. of D.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, Marty took some time off to journey over to Fenton to talk with his former coach, Ivan Williams — a man for whom he has great respect — and to get a few notes from Fenton basketball coach LeRoy Decker on the Rouge quintet.

Decker has traveled the tournament trail often at Fenton, but he was sidelined by Holly in the district this year.

COACH CALLED

More than anything else, Martin's trip to Fenton was to see Williams, who called him earlier in the week before his quarter-final clash with Marysville.

★ ★ ★

"His call was one of the greatest things that ever happened to me," Marty said. "He told me: 'I know you're going to beat Marysville, so I'll see you in Lansing Friday night.'"

Marty and the Knights did beat Marysville, 66-59, so he'll get a chance to keep the date with Williams in Lansing.

Against Rouge, Martin and the Knights will have their hands full.

The Rouge squad has won the title five years in a row and owns a string of 47 straight victories in tournament competition.

Under Foley, the Knights won the district championship in 1960 and were ousted in the regionals. In basketball, this represents the Knights' finest hour. For Marty, too.

Gene Bone Pro

Area's Newest Course---Bay Pointe

One of Pontiac area's latest additions to the growing family of golf courses wound up with a name and one of the state's leading professional golfers today.

The new Oakland County course is Bay Pointe Golf Club, a public layout located at Union Lake and Richardson roads in Union Lake.

Taking the post as head professional is Pontiac's Gene Bone, winner of the 1965 Michigan Open held at Flint.

Bone, 34, had a brief fling on the Professional Golfers Association tour before taking a job at Warwick Hills near Grand Blanc.

He later moved to Southfield as head pro at Lancaster Hills, a post he left to take the job at Bay Pointe.

FIRST VICTORY

In winning last year's Michigan Open, it marked his first victory in tournament play, state or national, and he won in a big way, defeating Walter Burkemo of Detroit by a whopping 11 strokes.

★ ★ ★

The Bay Pointe course is owned by Ernest Fuller.

Construction on the 6,700-yard, par 72 layout began last summer and Bone said the course should be open by May 6.

A clubhouse is now under construction and Bone said they were hoping for a completion by the first of June.

★ ★ ★

Part of the course is built around Middle Straits, which provides the golfer with a water hazard on two holes.

Red Wings Thankful for Bruins

Fourth Place Detroit Wins 4-2 Decision

Delvecchio, Bathgate, Prentice Score Goals; Bassen in Nets

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's defending regular season National Hockey League champions have little hope of finishing higher than fourth but can be thankful that the Boston Bruins are still in the league.

★ ★ ★

Alex Delvecchio notched a pair of goals — the last one with 17 seconds remaining as the Bruins were caught without a goalie — to lead the Red Wings to a 4-2 triumph in the only NHL game played Thursday night.

It was the 11th victory in 14 games with the Bruins. Another game ended in a tie, giving the Red Wings 23 of a possible 28 points to account for more than a third of their total points.

The triumph also brought Detroit's record over the Bruins to 62-23-13 over the past seven seasons.

★ ★ ★

Andy Bathgate, regaining his eye after a 36-game scoreless drought, and Delvecchio got first period goals for the Red Wings, who fired 19 shots at goalie Ed Johnston in the 20 minutes.

THREE GOALS

Ex-Bruin Dean Prentice put the Red Wings three goals up before former Detroit defenseman Al Langlois scored twice to breath new life into the Bruins.

The Bruins, out-shot 30-9 in the first two periods, peppered nine shots at Hank Bassen in the final stanza in a vain effort to get an equalizing goal.

Bassen was a last-period replacement for Roger Crozier, who was given a rest by Manager-Coach Sid Abel.

★ ★ ★

Langlois was penalized at 19:19 of the final period and Delvecchio got the insurance marker for the Red Wings when the Bruins pulled Johnston in favor of another forward.

The victory moved the Red Wings three points back of third place Toronto, but the Maple Leafs have played three fewers games.

Celtics Hold Celebration

DETROIT (AP) — With a name like the Boston Celtics, it was unlikely — at least on St. Patrick's Day — that the Detroit Pistons would have much of a chance for victory.

They didn't.

The Celtics, gunning for their 10th straight Eastern Division title in the National Basketball Association, exploded in the second half to upend the Pistons 128-103.

★ ★ ★

In other NBA games, Philadelphia downed New York a 116-106 and San Francisco defeated St. Louis 116-112.

BREAK TIE

Detroit held its own against Boston until John Havlicek broke a 62-62 tie with a basket in the third quarter. Then Havlicek and Sam Jones got hot and propelled the Celtics into a 95-80 lead going into the final 12 minutes.

In the spurt, Havlicek tossed in 12 of his 32 points and Jones managed 10 of his 20. Bill Russell chipped in 19 points while blocking numerous Detroit shots.

High Curve Irks Monbo in 1-0 Win

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Some guys aren't happy on payday. It seems to be that way with Bill Monbouquette, the Detroit Tigers righthander, who combined with Denny McLain to blank Cincinnati 1-0 on three hits Thursday.

"I'm hurrying on my curve," complained Monbouquette. "It's coming in high — way too high. They'll pound it all over the lot."

The Reds pounded it for a single and a double, hit respectively by Leo Cardenas and Mel Queen in the eighth with two out.

POP FLY

With the potential winning run on second, Monbouquette got pinch-hitter Gordy Coleman on a pop fly to Ray Oyler at short.

Even with all that and four strikeouts, the gritty righthander still wasn't satisfied.

"I don't feel right on the mound," he said. "I keep slipping and my curve is getting away from me."

KO'd Boxer in Coma; Earned $7 for Fight

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Boxer Pat Casey, 21, who suffered a brain injury in a fight at a private club Wednesday, was in a deep coma today at the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital.

Casey, a lightweight, was knocked out by unbeaten Neville Kennedy at the South Sydney League's Club.

Casey received $7 for the bout. He underwent an emergency brain operation Thursday.

Louisville 'Lip' Buttoned

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay said today, "I'm not talkin' about nothin' but fightin'" but apparently he was not speaking of fighting in the Army.

The Louisville Lip was somewhat subdued after his draft board Thursday rejected a request for a change in his draft status from 1A.

Edward Jacko, Clay's attorney, indicated Clay would appeal the decision on grounds of "religious beliefs." He had 10 days to do this after receiving an official notice of the classification.

Koufax, Drysdale Sign Movie Pacts

By the Associated Press

In his movie debut Sandy Koufax will play a detective sergeant. If he gets his man, he'll be doing better than Buzzie Bavasi.

Bavasi, the general manager of the holdout-plagued Los Angeles Dodgers, lost two of his men Thursday, at least for the start of the season, when Koufax and teammate Don Drysdale signed contracts with Paramount Pictures.

Bavasi should have such fortune — signing his two star pitchers.

★ ★ ★

But now, instead of heading for spring training where they would work the winter out of their arms, they will head for a movie studio where they will work the frogs out of their throats.

"I guess that settles it," Bavasi said upon hearing that Koufax and Drysdale will make "Warning Shot" with David Janssen for two weeks starting April 4.

NO ESCAPE

The players' attorney, William Hayes, said there are no escape clauses in the contracts, which means the pair will miss the start of the season April 12.

Drysdale, who will play a television commentator, and Koufax are three-week holdouts who originally sought three-year contracts calling for $500,000 each. They said Wednesday they had made alternate proposals but declined to reveal details.

★ ★ ★

Hayes, meanwhile, said the hurlers, who won 49 games between them last year, have been offered a 10-week tour of Japan starting in mid-June. It would pay in six figures plus a percentage of the gate at exhibitions and clinics.

Speaking of exhibitions, the Dodgers could use a clinic themselves — on hitting. The winless world champions broke a 19-inning scoreless string but still lost their fifth straight, a 4-3 decision to St. Louis.

Jim Lefebre's three-run homer in the ninth inning snapped the string, but reliever Dennis Aust ended the game by getting pinch hitter Tommy Davis to hit into a double play.

ONE HIT GAME

Three Atlanta hurlers put together the best pitched game of the day, combining for a one-hit, 2-0 shutout over the Chicago White Sox. Ken Berry got the only hit, a third-inning single off Denny Lemaster. Ken Johnson and Joe Cisterna held the Sox hitless through the last five innings.

San Francisco remained the only unbeaten team, clobbering California 13-1 behind a 20-hit attack. Rookie catcher Bob Barton lashed a double, a triple and two singles while Gaylord Perry, Joe Gibbon and Lindy McDaniel stymied the Angels.

★ ★ ★

Minnesota, on the other hand, finally won a game after seven losses. The American League champion Twins downed the New York Yankees 5-1 with Harmon Killebrew and Don Mincher hitting successive homers in the second inning.

Boog Powell cracked two homers and Frank Robinson and Sam Bowens one each as Baltimore thumped Washington 7-2, while Tom Reynolds homered in the ninth, lifting Kansas City past Pittsburgh 3-2, and Rusty Staub belted a three-run homer in Houston's 7-2 victory over Boston.

★ ★ ★

Roberto Pena rapped six hits as the Chicago Cubs trimmed Cleveland 8-6, and Philadelphia battled the New York Mets to a 15-inning, 3-3 deadlock.

Aging Snead Early Leader in Citrus Golf

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Sam Snead, feeling comfortable as an old slipper, knows he'll have to hustle today to keep his two stroke lead going into the second round of the $110,000 Citrus Open Golf Tournament.

"But I figure it'll give the younger fellers something to shoot at," he said in his easy Virginia drawl.

The veteran of too many tournament wars to remember drew an early start in Thursday's first round with the "dew sweepers," and came home with an early lead of 33-33—66. It stood up as the younger and stronger players failed to match his performance.

JOKING MOOD

Snead, who turns 54 May 27 and who has won more than 116 titles since going professional in 1937, joked with newsmen after finishing his round.

This startled some. Many a reporter has felt the ire of Snead in his less jovial moods.

But Snead has a tough field of competitors opposing him in this 72-hole event.

★ ★ ★

The field includes the Big Three — Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus — as well as 47 of the top 50 money winners on the circuit and eight winners of tournaments on the winter tour this year.

Of the Big Three, only Nicklaus, who set a course record of 64 in Wednesday's pro-am event, came in under par. He shot a 36-34 — 70 over the 6,873-yard, par 35-36 — 71 Rio Pinar Country Club course to tie with six others for fourth place.

The field of 143 professionals and a single amateur will be cut to th elow 70 scorers and ties after today's round.

The field is shooting for first prize money of $21,000.

MSU Extends Duff's Pact

Daugherty's Contract Goes Through 1971

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State has extended Duffy Daugherty's assignment as head football coach through the 1970-71 school year.

★ ★ ★

Daugherty's football Spartans, not expected to show much in 1965, went undefeated and held top spot in the national rankings until their 14-12 loss to UCLA in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

In 11 previous seasons, his MSU teams won 63, lost 34 and tied 3.

★ ★ ★

Daugherty is in the second year of a five-year appointment as head coach. Thursday's action by the MSU Board of Trustees added two years to that appointment.

★ ★ ★

Daugherty is not under an ordinary contract. He has full academic tenure, as do most of MSU's varsity coaches. The trustees' action merely is an statement of his specific assignment within the university.

Clarkson Edges Denver to Gain Ice Semifinals

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — John McLennan fired home a 20-foot shot with just over four minutes left to give Clarkson a 4-3 victory over Denver in a semifinal game at the National Collegiate Athletic Association hockey tournament Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

The triumph sends the Knights into the NCAA hockey finals Saturday night against the winner of Friday night's semifinal matching Boston University and Michigan State.

McLennan's goal, coming just after a face-off when he took a pass and maneuvered in front of the goal, capped a third period comeback by Clarkson.

Two Detroit Keglers Among PBA's Top 16

TOLEDO, Ohio AP)—A pair of Detroiters were among the top 16 after Thursday's 24-game preliminaries of the Professional Bowlers Association's $40,000 Buckeye Open. Bob Strampe trails leader Bill Tucker of Los Angeles by 43 pins with 4,934 pins.

Illness Breaks Into Kentucky Lineup

Violets in NIT Finale

NYU Helped by Hunch

NEW YORK (AP) — 'Twas St. Patrick's Night in the National Invitation Tournament so maybe an itinerant leprechaun led Bruce Kaplan to the hunch that made him the hero of New York University's 69-63 semifinal victory over Villanova.

★ ★ ★

The Violets meshed and made it to Saturday's championship against Brigham Young after Kaplan asked for and got the job of guarding Villanova's explosive Bill Melchionni in the final minutes Thursday night.

Brigham Young had reached the finals by whipping Army 66-60 in the opener of the double-header before a capacity crowd of 18,499 at Madison Square Garden. Most of the Cougars said they'd prefer to play Villanova in the title game but Kaplan and the Violets weren't about to oblige them.

★ ★ ★

NYU had suffered through an eight-minute scoring famine in the first half and left the floor trailing 32-27. "Our tempo was off," said Coach Lou Rossini. "We are taking bad shots."

Worse than that, NYU star Mal Graham, who had passed the 1,000-point career plateau early in the game, was in foul trouble with three personals.

Graham's backcourt partner, Richie Dyer, who had been guarding Melchionni in the first half, also had three personals.

★ ★ ★

But the Violets battled back with sophomore Charlie Silen and Kaplan sparking them and led 59-50 with seven minutes left when Graham finally fouled out.

CUT LEAD

Two minutes later, Dyer drew his fourth personal with NYU's lead down to four. Then Kaplan made his move.

"I asked the coach to let me guard Melchionni after Dyer got his fourth. I knew if I could keep the ball away from him, we'd be all right," said Kaplan.

★ ★ ★

"I wasn't trying to rebound or help out anybody else. I just concentrated on him. I played in his shirt," Kaplan grinned.

Melchionni didn't get another point. There were moments when he stood chest to chest with Kaplan and seemed content to let his teammates handle the ball and take the shots.

Steve Kramer, who played the last 17¼ minutes with four personals, was the hero for Brigham Young. He scored four points in the final 35 seconds that ended Army's hopes and gave the top-seeded Cougars their victory.

Baseball Line Drive Causes Fatal Injury

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — An 18-year-old boy was killed Thursday when struck in the head by a line drive at a tryout for a high school varsity baseball team, police reported.

The victim was identified as Louis J. Lise, 18, a student at New Rochelle High School. Police said he was standing on the edge of McKenna Field talking to Coach Thomas Walsh when the ball hit him.

Wildcats Duel Duke Tonight

Utah Quintet Meets Texas Western

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Kentucky, a thin favorite, may have to bust up its starting line-up for the first time this season tonight when it takes on Duke in what could be the key game in the NCAA basketball championships.

Texas Western plays Utah in the second of the semifinals, with the survivors meeting Saturday for the national title copped the last two years by UCLA.

All of the semifinalists but Texas Western continued to complain of injuries and illness after their final tune-ups Thursday night, and the health, spirit and aggressiveness of the team from the far reaches of West Texas switched a lot of sentiment to the Miners.

★ ★ ★

"We've got no complaints," said Texas Western Coach Don Haskins. "We're all healthy and we're ready to go. Everybody but me, maybe. I've got a headache. And if that's our biggest problem, well, we're ready."

TOP RANKED

Not so Kentucky and Duke, the two top-ranked teams in the country whose match-up makes for one of the top games of the season. Kentucky, No. 1, is 26-1 for the season. Duke, No. 2, is 25-3. The winner of their semifinal is generally expected to take the title.

★ ★ ★

Each has a major health problem, however. Duke's top scorer, Bob Verga, was released from the hospital Thursday morning after a bout with tonsilitis and is expected to be at less than full strength.

And Kentucky starter Larry Conley, a 6-foot-3 cornerman, is a doubtful starter after a touch of flu.

★ ★ ★

"Right now I don't know if he'll start, and he doesn't know," said Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp. "He's pretty weak and he's got a bad rattle in his chest. Even if I can start him, he won't play much."

Two Waterford Quintets Battling for 'C' Crown

The battle for the Class C basketball title in Waterford Township's recreation program will come to a close Monday night when league coleaders Lakeland Pharmacy and Buckner Finance collide at Kettering High School.

Lakeland pulled into a tie for first last night by handing Buckner an 84-54 setback. The victory avenged an earlier Lakeland loss to Buckner and set the stage for the rubber game Monday at 8:10. Both are 8-2.

Lakeland rolled to a 32-27 lead at halftime and coasted to victory. Jim Spadafore tossed in 25 points and teammate Bob Peoples collected 20 to spark the win. Jerry Paul paced the losers with 15 markers.

In other games, Zilka Heating (4-5) moved within a game of third place by downing Ryeson's (5-5) Market, 58-51, and Wayne's Service (3-7) shoved Bundy Built Homes (1-9) a little deeper into the cellar by posted a 67-56 verdict.

★ ★ ★

Ryeson's and Zilka meet again Monday at 6:55, preceding the Buckner-Lakeland game, and Bundy takes on Wayne's at 9:25.

LEADS ATTACK

Marty Everett sparked the Zilka win with 19 points while Mike Duff picked up 23 in a losing cause for Ryeson's.

Wayne's Service, down 33-30 at halftime, outscored Bundy, 21-3 in the third quarter to break open a close game. Jim Hoke led the attack with 29 points. Randy and Bob Parsons collected 18 and 17, respectively, for the losers.

Professional ice hockey — a sport with almost a fanatical fan following — is taking a back seat in Rochester, N.Y., to bowling.

Hockey was pushed aside politely, but firmly, Feb. 23rd when the War Memorial Building (home of the American Hockey League's western division-leading Rochester Americans) was turned over to the American Bowling Congress.

The ABC has been busy since then preparing the 40 lanes and other necessary facilities for its 1966 tournament. The action will commence tomorrow in the annual, prestige-packed meet.

Before the tourney and related Masters Tournament end in late May, many bowlers from Pontiac and Oakland County will make the 6-7 hour drive to the western New York State metropolis.

For some it will be a return drive since the 1956 ABC Tournament was also in Rochester. Over the years, local bowlers have been loyal participants in one of bowling's biggest shows.

Mitch Calbi, Pontiac Music store owner, will compete in his 33rd consecutive ABC meet when he goes to Rochester next month at age 70.

Nor is the fact a pro hockey team is being forced to move—the Amerks are finishing the season in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens (the home of their parent organization)—anything new.

Last year at St. Paul and in 1960 at Toledo, the ABC Tournament forced relocations late in the ice hockey season.

CROWN CHAMPS

The champions have been certified and crowned from the sixth annual Dublin Doubles at Cooley Lanes last month.

Brothers Jim (of Detroit) and Jerry (Union Lake) Owczarski found their 1392 handicap total worth $200 and a trophy to each of them. Jerry had 608 and Jim 586 for their actual totals.

Fred Russell, Drayton Plains, and Sid Harris, Southfield, took second place with 1360 total; Don Likens and Terry Strange of Pontiac were third; while Union Lake's Don Robinson Sr. and Jr., finished fourth.

Another Union Lake pair, Bob Clark and Dan Herron, rounded out the duos shooting 1300s.

Almost 300 entries competed in this year's tourney, the largest tournout for the Dublin Community Center's annual action.

FATHER-SON

Airway Lanes is taking entries for its fifth annual Father and Son-Doubles Tournament. Entry blanks are available at the house and at some other bowling establishments in the area.

Anyone may enter in the appropriate preps, majors, juniors and adults divisions, but all bowlers must be sanctioned. These certifications may be purchased at Airway prior to competing Sunday March 27th.

Squads are planned for 10 a.m. and 11:30 a.m., and more will be added if necessary. A 70 per cent handicap based on a 400 scratch team total will be granted. The maximum spot is 130 pins.

A $5 entry fee per team will be assessed. Trophies will be given to the approximately top 10 per cent of the teams.

Women Keglers Set for PWBA Tourney

Two of 1965's leading scorers in the Pontiac Women's Bowling Association's annual tournament will be trying to repeat their victories Sunday at Howe's Lanes.

Amy Rose of Pontiac, whose 606 actual series carried her to the handicap singles crown, and Rena Collins, Pontiac, who won the handicap all-events prize, will compete this third weekend in the 33rd annual women's city tournament.

Nora Jones of Rochester fired a 630 actual and 711 total the first weekend for the singles lead. Lila Johnson, Washington, holds the all-events handicap lead with a 1951 last weekend.

She also is a member of the leading handicap doubles team — with Maggie Lange of Washington — which has a 1305 total. This surpasses first-weekend leaders Peg Carter, Pontiac, and Norma Conley, Clarkston, by 102 pins. They now are fourth.

NEW TITLIST

A new team champion will be crowned this season. The defending titlist, Milford's Ye Olde Hotel, couldn't crash the top five handicap totals last Saturday although four other teams did.

Only Amberwood Kennels of Pontiac, the first weekend pacesetter, remained. Highland's Pat's Beauty Shoppe gave the leader a scare but fell 13 pins shy of the 2938 front-running total.

Ella Irwin of Pontiac now holds the all-events actual lead with 1648, Dorothy White of Rochester, last year's winner with 1687, fell far short of that total the opening weekend.

This is the largest PWBA city tournament; it will run weekends through Sunday April 3rd at Howe's.

A Bit of Ireland as River Turns Green in State

OWOSSO (AP)—The Shiawassee River turned a bright green Thursday for at least a two-mile stretch through Owosso.

Of course, Thursday was St. Patrick's Day.

What caused the green color, City Manager Neil Jackson wasn't sure, nor was he any more certain about who might have been responsible.

But Jackson said the coloring didn't appear harmful to fish or wildlife. A few samples were taken for analysis.

LOT OF HEART — Donald Webster, 13, a student in physical education classes at Kalamazoo's Milwood Junior High School, has only one leg but it hasn't dampened his enthusiasm for sports. He plays them all, sometimes with the aid of an artificial leg, sometimes with crutches. But basketball — his specialty — he plays without any support. At left he shows his shooting technique to coach Carl Burress. At right he is dribbling. He lost the leg to a bone disease.

KALAMAZOO (AP) — When Donald Webster filled out a physical education class form at Milwood Junior High School last fall, a space marked "list all handicaps" was left blank.

His teacher, Carl Burress, noticed what he thought was an oversight and handed the form back to Donald. The husky 13-year-old penciled in "broken leg."

Burress didn't say anything. He just watched the boy pick up his crutches and move off. Donald's right leg was amputated just below the hip five years ago.

★ ★ ★

Donald plays touch football, soccer and baseball with the aid of his crutches. He plays basketball without them.

Burress said Donald was one of the leading scorers in Milwood's intraumral basketball this winter, played tenacious defense and rebounded with the rest of the boys.

He hops up and down the court, dribbling, passing and shooting with dexterity, Burress said, adding:

"Don has a good chance of making our eighth grade team next year."

He said Don gets no special consideration on the court because defenders have to work hard to stop him. His best shot is a one-handed set, lofted with the left hand. But he can dribble with either hand.

HE PUNTS

In touch football, he plays end and punts. He moves out for passes with his crutches, discards them to catch the ball and hops up the field on one leg.

The crutches are needed more when Don punts. He drops the ball, steadys himself with his wooden supports, and booms left-footed punts down the field.

★ ★ ★

Don, still growing, has had four artificial legs fitted but his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Webster St., said he seldom wears them.

"He hardly ever wears the artificial leg," says Mrs. Webster. "The only time he's worn his present one was to a dance at the school several weeks ago."

BREAKS LEG

Don broke his right leg in 1961 when he slipped and fell on the ice. Subsequent tests revealed the youngster had osteogenic sarcoma of the femur, a bone disease doctors said would eventually prove fatal if the leg was not amputated.

The Websters decided on the amputation but did not tell Don.

After the operation, he awoke from the anesthetic and demanded to know: "Whare's my leg?"

★ ★ ★

Webster painfully explained the decision to his son, an athletically inclined youngster from the time he was old enough to walk.

The boy thought it over for a few minutes, then said:

"How about a game of checkers, Dad?"

Western Skiers Post Victories

WINTER PARK, Colo. (AP) —Western boys and girls finally cracked New England's domination of the Nationla Junior Ski Championships by winning all the top honors in Thursday's downhill races.

★ ★ ★

Boys from the West, led by Jamie Lenon of Kalispell, Mont., swept the top 10 places in their downhill while Kiki Cutter of Bend, Ore., and Karen Budge of Jackson, Wyo., were 1-2 in the girls' race.

★ ★ ★

Slalom and cross country events were on today's program after near-blizzard conditions swept Winter Park, Thursday following a week of unseasonably mild weather. The downhill race start was delayed two hours by gusts of 60 miles an hour.

★ ★ ★

Lenon won the boys' downhill in 1:20.69 followed by Dick Nielson, Tahoe City, Calif., 1:20.88.

Dallas Golfers in Team Lead

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dallas teams held the lead today in the second round of the sixth annual Champions Cup Invitational Golf Tournament.

David (Spec) Goldman, 56, a finalist 32 years ago in the U.S. Amateur, and Barry Rodd, fired a four-under-par 67 Thursday but it was only good enough for a tie with another Dallas team of Lum Foster and Bob Rawlings.

Two-time national amateur champion Deane Beman teamed with Bill Buppert of Martinsville, Va., for a one-over par 72.

Three Golfers Tied

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Carol Mann, Marilynn Smith and Mickey Wright are tied for the lead with five-under-par 68s in the opening round of the $10,000 St. Petersburg Women's Open.

Scoring Honors to Fife

It's no coincidence that four members of the Pontiac Press All-County basketball team also led the county scoring parade during the 1965-66 season.

★ ★ ★

The four are Dan Fife of Clarkston, John Canine of Hazel Park, Roger Peltz of Royal Oak Kimball and Rick Ziem of Waterford. They finished in that order in the scoring race.

Fife, Clarkston's talented junior, topped all scorers with a 33-point-a-game average through 16 games.

The 6-3 Fife, who saw action at every position for the Wolves sometime during the season, collected 182 field goals and 165 free throws for a total of 528 points.

★ ★ ★

It was the shooting of Fife that helped Clarkston produce an 11-5 record and a third place finish in the Wayne-Oakland League race.

BEST SEASON

Canine, sporting a 27.9 average, led Hazel Park to second place in the Southeastern Michigan Association and to a 14-2 record, best in the school's history.

★ ★ ★

Canine finished with 447 points, six ahead of Kimball's Peltz, who wound up with a 27.5 average in 16 outings.

Ziem, with an average of 24.0, set a game scoring record at Waterford with 44 points in his final outing, and he passed the 1,000-point mark during the campaign to establish an all-time scoring record for the Skippers.

★ ★ ★

In all, 11 cagers wound up the season with averages of more than 20 points a game.

Joe Burks of Bay City Central paced the Saginaw Valley Conference scorers with a mark of 24.2.

Repeats as All-Oakland Swimmer

Kimball's Webster County's Best

Pick any one of at least six individual events and Royal Oak Kimball's Doug Webster could take the honors as the top swimmer all the way.

For the second straight year, Webster repeats as the choice of county swimming coaches as "Oakland County's Outstanding Swimmer" with the award to be presented by The Press.

The honor would even hold true on a statewide basis for the Kimball senior who was the only swimmer in Michigan to break the 4-minute mark in the 400 freestyle.

He was the first to do it two years ago and during the state meet last weekend he went 3:51 in the prelims and 3:49.4 in the finals.

As in the past, Seaholm and Kimball dominated the All-County voting by the coaches, but four other schools were represented in first team voting.

DETHRONED

Seaholm, dethroned after four years as state champion by Battle Creek Central, had one of the finest freestylers in the state in Bob Kircher, who joined the Maples as a transfer from Chicago at the start of the school year.

★ ★ ★

Kircher eliminated past Oakland County records in the 50 freestyle held by three ex-Maples Tom Couple in 1963-64, Jim Elliott in 1960-61 and Pete Sintz in 1957-58. They had the time of 22.9.

Kircher went 22.2 in the state meet and he also was one of three to eliminate the old time in the 100 freestyle. His 49.1 was second in the state meet, but it also broke the 1963-64 mark of Tom Couple in 50.0.

Kimball junior Read McCarty, an outstanding distance event swimmer backs up Webster on the All-County team, leading the 200 freestyle voting and second in the 400 freestyle.

Southfield's Ralph Yager has been the season-long butterfly ace in the county with his best time of 55.7 even though Webster had a recorded time of 55.3.

★ ★ ★

Ferndale placed Don Kiddle in the backstroke with a 59.0 and Pontiac Northern's Carl Hiller took the breaststroke position with a 1:05.6 as his best time of the year.

Hiller finished 6th in the state meet with a 1:06.6.

State diving champion is Hazel Park's Rod Ostrand, who replaced Seaholm's Paul McGuire on the first team. McGuire was second in the state and on the second team in the county.

REPEAT HONOR—Royal Oak Kimball's Doug Webster was named for the second straight year as Oakland County's Outstanding Swimmer. The top swimmer in the state, Webster received the unanimous vote of the coaches of the county and is recipient of The Press award for the honor.

MAPLE NATORS — Bob Kircher (right), Birmingham Seaholm's state champion freestyler, was the top vote-getter in the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle events on the All-Oakland County swim team. Teammate Bill Kennedy (left) was right behind Kircher in the 100-yard voting and he was picked also as a member of the Maples' 400 freestyle relay team.

Vikings Dominate Mat Team

By FLETCHER SPEARS

It was a good year for the 'Vikings' in Oakland County high school wrestling action this year.

The Vikings of Walled Lake and the Vikings of Hazel Park landed three spots apiece on the All-Oakland County Wrestling Team selected this week by a vote of county high school wrestling coaches.

Pontiac Northern captured two of the 12 berths on the team, Pontiac Central landed two and Royal Oak Kimball and Waterford Kettering picked up one apiece.

In all, 10 seniors, a junior and a sophomore made the first team, while underclassmen dominated the second squad — seven juniors, four seniors and a freshman.

The county coaches also piled a couple of more honors on the Walled Lake team.

COACH HONORED

Coach Rich Schneider, who guided the team to its first unbeaten season, was a near-unanimous choice for the Coach of the Year award, and John Hellner, the Vikings 138-pounder, wound up with the Outstanding Wrestler Award after fashioning a 31-1 record through the 1965-66 season.

★ ★ ★

Schneider, 33, a graduate of University of Michigan, is just winding up his seventh year at Walled Lake, and in those seven years, his teams have compiled a 65-19-2, won-lost-tied record.

Hellner, who finished third in the 138-pound class in the state Class A tournament, suffered a cracked rib in his first match at the state meet. Schneider, unaware of the injury, let him continue and he won his next three before bowing in the semifinals.

Second in the balloting for the Outstanding Wrestler Award was Pontiac Northern's Bruce Tippin (154 pounds), who earned the honor last year.

★ ★ ★

Tippin captured the 154-pound berth on the first team, and he's one of the two repeaters on this year's team. The other is Walled Lake's Roger Nicolay (112).

ON 1ST TEAM

Making the squad along with Hellner and Nicolay was teammate Rick Russell, a 103-pounder and the lone junior on the team.

Hazel Park's outstanding sophomore, Mark Davids, earned the nod of the coaches in the 95-pounder's division. Other Parkers landing first team berths were Steve Butash (120) and Bill Kunze (165).

Joining Tippin on the first team from PNH was Troy Bell (heavyweight), who was runner-up two weeks ago in the state Class A tournament at East Lansing.

Pontiac Central is represented on the squad by Cecil Powell (127) and Dan Rodriguez (145).

★ ★ ★

Don Hook of Kettering took the 133-pound position, and Royal Oak Kimball's Jim Gallery was a solid choice in the balloting for the 180-pound position.

Overlooked Quintet Stirs Title Hopes

SCOTTVILLE (AP) — The Scottville Spartans, overlooked by the state's basketball experts, headed for Lansing today in quest of the tiny Class C school's first state basketball title.

A caravan of cars, carrying the team, some parents and fans, headed for the state capitol this morning following a pep rally at the high school. Scottville meets L'Anse in the semifinals tonight.

"People are really excited," said Coach Duane Ingraham. "We had 1,000 tickets and all but forty were sold Thursday night."

SMALL HAMLET

Scottville is a Mason County hamlet of 1,200 persons, nestled along US10, just east of the Lake Michigan sand dunes at Ludington.

Mason County has eight high schools. Two of them, Freesoil is the other, have made it to the semifinals. Freessoil, a Class D School with a 22-1 record, has lost only to Scottville.

Ingraham, in his seventh season as head coach, said this is the first time his team has ever made it to Lansing.

★ ★ ★

"We made it to the quarterfinals a couple of times in the mid-fifties but lost out," he said.

Scottville raised eyebrows in the district tournament with back-to-back victories over tough Shelby and defending Class C state champion Muskegon Christian.

Then the Spartans upended Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart, No. 4 in the final Associated Press poll, to win a regional title.

★ ★ ★

Scottville, now 22-2, lost to Shelby, and Ludington, a Class B school, during the regular season.

Without drawing a bye, the Spartans racked up seven straight tournament victories.

"We've never drawn a bye in the tournament since I've been here," said Ingraham, "and that includes two years as reserve coach."

★ ★ ★

Scottville, with 407 students, has a well-balanced club. The leading scorer is forward George Hankwitz, with a 20-point average. Center Warren the tallest boy on the team at 6-foot-3, gets 15 points a game and Tim Stephens about 14. The guards, Kelly Noel and Bruce Falconer, average nine points each. Top reserves are Jack Anderson and Bob Wheeler.

Ingraham, like most coaches, wasn't too concerned about his team not being ranked in the polls.

★ ★ ★

"It actually helped us out," he said. "We were always the underdog and the fellows wanted to prove we could win. It gave us momentum."

Loop Coaches Choose Top Skiers

During the high school skiing season the comment was heard from some coaches that the best talent currently was in the 9th, 10th and 11th grades.

Proving their point, the representatives of the 13 Mount Holly Prep Ski League members voted five of the 12 all-league team berths to juniors and sophomores.

★ ★ ★

Four of the six boy's places went to underclassmen. Five seniors were named to the six-member girls' squad; however, more than half of the 19 honorable mentions weren't 12th graders.

Heading the list of first-team selectees are sophomore Tom Carter of West Bloomfield and senior Debbie McNair of Waterford Township. They were the individual champions in the annual league meet as they led their respective schools to team titles.

Carter edged Southfield junior Gary Sayers — whose sister Nancy, a senior, also was chosen — by one-half second in the cumulative time standings at the League meet.

Bloomfield Hills lost the boys' team title by .4 of a second although senior Scott Thornley finished third individually. Waterford, Southfield and Walled Lake rounded out the top five teams.

The other all-league boys chosen were sophomore Bob Trepp, Kettering, junior Glen Petaja of Rochester, and senior Tom Webster, Waterford.

SOPH NAMED

In addition to misses McNair and Sayers, Nancy Goodwin of Ferndale, Cheryl Smith of Hills, Betsy Shuler of West Bloomfield and Bev Cobb of Southfield were the girls honored. Only Miss Shuler, a sophomore, isn't a senior.

Misses Cobb and Sayers helped Southfield to second place in the team standings, 6.5 seconds behind WTHS. West Bloomfield, Ferndale and Walled Lake completed the top five girls' squads.

Ferndale's Miss Goodwin was the individual runner-up in the league meet, missing Miss McNair's winning time by .2 seconds. Miss Shuler was third.

Also at the coaches' Rotunda Inn dinner meeting, Southfield's Jim Mills was selected president succeeding Pontiac Central's John Zimmerle. Sally Lynne Eckwall of Berkley was reelected treasurer.

MHSAA Keeping Watch on Cage Incident Probe

From Our News Wires

LANSING — The Michigan High School Athletic Association is keeping a close watch on an investigation of a brief fracas that followed East Detroit's 71-56 high school basketball victory over Detroit Mumford Wednesday night at Ypsilanti.

Seven East Detroit students were injured in the fight. None was hospitalized.

★ ★ ★

"The state association is not directly involved at the moment," said Director Charles E. Forsythe. "But we will follow closely the investigation that now is under way."

He gave no indication what action, if any, might be taken.

The fight broke out as some 4,000 fans left Bowen Fieldhouse on the Eastern Michigan University campus following the Class A quarterfinal contest. It was the first night game played by a Detroit Public School League team this season.

SEMIFINAL GAMES

East Detroit (22-0) will be facing an enemy from its own area in the 8:30 Class A semifinal game tonight at Jenison Fieldhouse, meeting Ferndale, which has built up an 18-3 mark.

Ann Arbor will put its 18-3 record on the line in the 7 p.m. opener against Grand Rapids Catholic Central, a team which has shown strongly in tournament play and has a season's mark of 19-2.

River Rouge, 21-3, will get a spirited Class B test from Royal Oak Shrine, 15-5, in a game at Lansing Everett and Grand Rapids East Christian, 15-8, will take on a tough northern contender, Ishpeming, 19-3, at Lansing Waverly.

In Class C, Scottville, 22-2, will meet L'Anse, 19-2, at the Lansing Civic Center at 7 p.m. and Flint Holy Redeemer, 29-3, will battle Middleville, 22-0, in the second game at that site.

The strong Class D field, with a composite record of 72-3, will find Covert, 24-0, matched against Freesoil, 22-1, at Lansing Gabriels at 7 p.m. and Trout Creek, 24-0, meeting Flint St. Mary, 22-2, at Lansing Sexton at 7 p.m., also.

Landscaping Is Important

It is an often-encountered phenomenon that grounds can make the home. Even a modest house can be highly attractive when it is set among planned shrubbery, on a well-tended lawn and under stately trees.

* * *

Conscientious landscaping can be accented with the placement and design of walkways, patios and arbors by carefully planning the colors and materials

* * *

Materials such as unfinished woods and unglazed ceramic or quarry tile, for example, will blend naturally with any landscaping technique.

'Star' Phlox

An unusual form of the easily-grown, multi-hued annual phlox is that called "star" phlox.

The petals of each little bloom are pointed at the tips instead of gently rounded, thus giving the effect of myriad stars.

A selected strain is, appropriately, called Twinkle.

These delightful small flowers are sometimes of a single color, sometimes patterned with one color on a ground of a second hue. Always they're delicately fragrant.

'Posy Punch' Is Very Easy to Prepare

Stephanie is setting the table for the party she is giving for members of her club. She has just unmoulded the centerpiece for the punch she is going to serve her guests, along with sandwiches and cookies.

Doesn't the punch look pretty with the flowers in the iced centerpiece? Stephanie calls it "posy punch" and it's very easy to make.

First Stephanie borrowed from her mother a fluted copper mould. In the bottom of it she arranged a few flowers from the garden.

Flat flowers, especially pansies and daisies, look best on top of posy punch, but Stephanie used what she found in the flower bed, sweet alyssum around a flattish aster.

After she had mixed her favorite combination of fruit juices for the punch, she poured just a very little bit of the punch into the mould, just enough to cover the flowers.

FREEZE MOLD

Then she carefully set the mould in the freezer and left it until the posies were frozen tightly into the punch.

She poured a second layer of punch, about an inch deep, on top of the flowers, taking care not to loosen them from the bottom of the mould because she did not want them to float. Then back to the freezer went the mould.

After this layer of punch had frozen Stephanie filled the mould with punch and let it freeze once more.

The remainder of the punch was chilled in the refrigerator and she poured it into the shining glass bowl just before she unmoulded the frozen punch and posies.

Can you imagine how surprised her friends will be to see such pretty posy punch?

They'll surely ask Stephanie how she made it and copy this new and easy way to decorate the punch and the table when they next entertain friends.

PARTY TREAT — Stephanie has just slid from the mould into the punch bowl the flower-decorated, frozen centerpiece which turns ordinary punch into special, but easily made, Posy Punch.

Yard Tips Save Time and Energy

Here are some tips that will reduce the time and energy expended on care of your yard and lawn.

The suggestions are based on research by a large producer of lawn equipment.

- Use gentle landscaping curves. Avoid sharp corners to make mowing easier and to provide a pleasing design.
- Avoid unnecessary trimming by using brick mowing edges between lawn areas and plant beds, walls and fences.
- Make mowing easier by keeping all areas, including terraces, walks and driveways, flush with lawns.
- Use low maintenance ground cover in places difficult to mow.
- Elevate high maintenance plant beds for easy care, and group high maintenance plants together.
- Use gravel strip under roof drip lines to eliminate wasted effort at growing plants underneath.
- Provide low maintenance plantings for hedges and beds, such as yews or privet hedge.
- Provide ground covers beneath fruit, seed and nut trees so the droppings will be hidden from sight.
- Use ample mulch to reduce weeding.

Control Weeds in Springtime With Chemicals

Now is the time to control weeds in the lawn so you'll have a weed-free lawn this summer.

Spray with 2, 4-D or spread a granular form of the same chemical over the infested areas.

Remember that granular weed killers must be applied to moist leaves so they will adhere.

All spraying should be done on a windless day lest the spray drift to nearby ornamentals which are as readily killed as broadleaved weeds by a chemical which does not discriminate between them.

The few weeds not controlled with 2, 4-D alone usually will succumb to a combination of 2, 4-D and 2, 4, 5-T.

Ask your garden supply store operator for such a material.

'Trouble With Books: So Many of Them'

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Miles College's annual book day participants heard, of all things, that the trouble with books is there's so many of them.

The number of books in the world doubles every 17 to 23 years and libraries are bursting at the seams, said Dr. Caryl Parker Haskins, president of the Carnegie Institution in Washington, D.C.

Negroes Roam Near Riot Area

Extra Police on Duty; Watts Remains Quiet

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Small bands of rock-throwing Negro youths roamed the streets of Pacoima in the suburban San Fernando Valley for more than three hours last night. The riot-scarred Watts area on the other side of the city remained quiet.

"Unusually large numbers" of Negroes were on the streets of Watts until the early hours of this morning, police said, but no major incidents were reported. Temperatures rose into the 60s.

Pacoima and Watts are about 30 miles apart, and contain large numbers of Negro residents.

One 16-year-old youth was arrested in Pacoima on suspicion of battery against a policeman. Several car owners reported their windows had been shattered by rocks.

★ ★ ★

Extra police sped to the scene and dispersed several groups of 10 to 15 persons. A 10 p.m. curfew — normal for Pacoima — sent the unruly teen-agers home early.

MAIN TARGETS

Authorities said most of the targets of the rock tossers were Caucasian motorists. Streets in the area of mixed business and residential structures are poorly lighted.

Police remained in control of the Pacoima situation, preventing it from mushrooming into a major disturbance such as last Tuesday night's rioting in Watts where two persons were killed, 25 were injured and at least 56 suspects were arrested.

Thirty-four persons died and 900 were injured in a devastating riot in Watts last August.

By JACOBY & SON

Four spades by South is such a normal contract that almost any pair in the world would get there with no trouble at all.

JACOBY

The play does not appear too complicated either. West has an automatic heart lead and continuation. South ruffs the third heart and will draw trumps with two leads.

At this point there will be a parting of the ways. Many players will attack clubs and go down one when the club finesse loses.

Experts will try something else. They will play out three rounds of diamonds. Some will cash the ace first; others will lead to the king but the whole plan of campaign will be to leave West in the lead with the third diamond.

If West does gain the lead there will be no need to worry about the club suit. If West leads a red card, South gets a ruff and discard. If West leads a club South loses no club trick.

This plan won't work against a really great player in the West seat. This really great player will suspect what is going on and will counter South's nasty plan by getting rid of his queen and jack of diamonds on the ace and king.

This will allow East to win the third diamond trick with the ten, whereupon East will be able to lead a club with perfect safety.

Of course great expert West will have a lot of explaining to do if it turns out that his partner holds the jack of clubs instead of the ten of diamonds. In that case his brilliant diamond plays will have cost him the game but things like that happen to experts. There is just no such animal as the perfect bridge player.

Wants Local Answers to Urban Problems

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Urban problems should be solved locally, says the president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Robert P. Gerholz. He told a community development seminar, "people think because there is a new Cabinet department on urban affairs, we're going to get all the answers on urban problems from Washington."

"We've had the Agriculture Department for a long time, and farm problems are far from being solved," he said.

Misguided Marine, Aiming Rapidly Toward Self-Destruction, Finally Got Message

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 21st in a 40-part series by famous and unknown persons on how faith in God changed their lives.)

By THOMAS DAWSON
Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Ski was in trouble again. During my four years in the Marine Corps, I'd never met a man with more genius for stumbling from one scrape into another.

DAWSON

Ski—the nickname we gave him because of his Polish name—stood just 5-foot-4, a pint of dynamite.

Quick tempered, foulmouthed, a heavy drinker and a restless woman-chaser, he seemed bent on destroying himself in an effort to prove he was a real man.

To put it bluntly, a lot of guys determine a soldier's virility by how much he can drink, how loud he can swear and how many women he can seduce.

* * *

From the beginning, Ski was out to prove his manhood on all three counts. I admit I was tempted in these directions too, particularly when I saw that popularity quickly came to Ski, whereas my restraints were viewed suspiciously.

STANDARDS

My parents had raised me to follow certain specific standards. Was I going to stick to them — or forget them now that I was away from home?

I didn't drink, not from moral convictions so much as the fact that I had always been active in sports and felt that alcohol would handicap me.

As for seducing women, this does go against my beliefs.

* * *

Furthermore, I'd always been interested in missionary work. My mail contained so much mission literature that my buddies began asking me whether I had joined the Marines or entered a monastery.

TAUNTING

The razzing went on all the time, and Ski was a master at it. He'd come in just before lights-out, glance over at my bunk and taunt, "Say your prayers yet, Mac?"

"Not yet," I'd reply. "I was waiting to see if there was anything you wanted me to ask for."

"Yeah. Get me off guard duty tomorrow night."

One night when we were aboard an aircraft carrier in the Mediterranean, my section got shore leave to spend the evening in Rapallo on the Italian Riviera.

When I returned to the dock for the launch trip back to the carrier, I saw that Ski was drunk and aching for a fight.

If he tried to board ship in that condition, he'd land in the brig. I finally stepped up to him and said, "Okay, Ski, cool it."

His fist shot out at me; I ducked and then let him have one hard on the jaw. I crouched and he collapsed over my left shoulder just as we arrived at the carrier.

* * *

With Ski draped over my shoulder, I ascended the gangplank, saluted the ship's ensign with my free hand and requested permission for two Marines to come aboard. It was granted.

CONTINUES

The razzing continued after that episode, but it was not nearly as vicious. Ski kept it up, too, but I noticed that wherever we were stationed, he managed to find a bunk near mine.

I noticed too, that he began to flip through the mission magazines I kept on my seabag and to eavesdrop when the guys talked religion.

Ski's serious trouble began six months before we both were to finish our Marine hitches. We were in Puerto Rico.

* * *

One night Ski got roaring drunk and pulled a knife on a cop who tried to quiet him. Ski lost his PFC stripe, was put on six months probation and confined to camp.

DRUNK AGAIN

Two weeks before his sentence was up, Ski went over the hill into town and got drunk again. A couple of us hunted him down and slipped him back on the base undetected.

Still drunk, the crazy guy hiked into the base commander's office and told him off about the corps. This was suicide.

My commanding officer ordered me to take Ski to the doctor for a sobriety test. I was to bring him back later for further punishment.

* * *

Ski flunked the sobriety test, but good. As I walked him to the brig, I could see that Ski was sobering fast and realized the trouble he was in.

WHAT NOW?

"What'll I do now, Tom?" he asked.

I stopped a quick reply and studied him.

"Ski, ever since you entered the corps, you've been trying to prove something. Instead of becoming a man, you've become a fool. Why don't you wise up and zip your lip? Stand tall in front of the C.O. and take what's coming to you."

He dropped his eyes. "It's my tongue. I can't control it."

HELP NEEDED

"No, you can't. You need help, Ski. What do you think God is for?"

"God won't get me out of this," Ski said helplessly.

"Maybe God won't get you out of it," I said, "but He can get you through it. This afternoon, ask Him to keep you silent, whatever the C.O. throws at you."

* * *

I waited outside the C.O.'s office. I heard him chewing Ski out in the best Marine tradition. I didn't hear anything else.

OUT OF OFFICE

Then Ski came out of the office.

"Restricted to the base indefinitely," he said, relieved.

Suddenly, he smiled at me, and without another word started back to quarters. But I thought I saw something else, walking away between the rows of tents — someone besides a little guy with his shoulders squared and his head up. I thought I saw a man.

Maybe it was just the beginning of a man, and maybe it's too early to tell, but one thing we can be sure of: God made us men, and only He can make real ones.

Next — Richard H. Schneider, Chicago publicity man, tells how he learned that he had to take a stand when he knew he was right.

LENTEN GUIDEPOSTS

Report Covers College Unrest

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A University of California has produced a report, stemming from widely publicized student unrest, that may have a far-reaching influence on higher education.

Ten months in the making, the report deals frankly with the problems of alienation and loneliness that beset many students on this campus of 27,000 students. It includes an unvarnished portrait of "student nonconformists" who contributed to the turmoil.

* * *

"Instead of the whisky of their parents, many of these students prefer to use marijuana," it said.

The report makes 42 recommendations, all of them in some way aimed at removing barriers that separate the student from the teacher in a university that is among the largest in the country.

NEW RAPPORT

"Implicit in the whole report," said Dr. Charles Muscatine, chairman of the nine-man special committee, "is the quest for new rapport between the faculty and the student." He and other committee members spoke at a news conference Thursday.

The student demonstrations, sparked by a "free speech movement," reached their height two years ago when students staged a sit-in at Sproul Hall, the university administration building.

The committee report is advisory only. Its first recommendation, to come before the Academic Senate next Tuesday, would set up a board of educational development, to "stimulate and promote experiments in education and seek funds to support them."

Cigarette Smuggling Booms in the East

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Like a scene from a 1930 movie, a truck is waved down by police on an isolated highway and contraband worth thousands of dollars is confiscated.

But the scene is far from entertaining to Maryland and New York tax authorities, who say a booming multimillion-dollar business in untaxed, smuggled cigarettes bound for New York has caused major revenue losses.

★ ★ ★

Edward F. Englebert Jr., head of Maryland's Sales Tax Division, says running bootleg cigarettes, purchased for $1.85 a carton in North Carolina, has burgeoned into a "mammoth operation to rival the old days of Al Capone."

He says the tough types who drove the truck in the films have been replaced by mild-mannered novices — including women — who apparently have been assured that Maryland's misdemeanor law aimed at combatting such traffic is not stringent. Example: the first man convicted last month received a suspended sentence and a fine.

TAX RAISED

It began when New York raised its cigarette tax, bringing the price of a pack to 45 cents in some places, much more than the price in North Carolina — or even Washington, D.C.

Since last summer, Maryland State Police and tax authorities have confiscated more than 50,000 cartons of cigarettes being hauled in everything from the largest tractor vans to private cars. And they estimate that this represents only a small percentage of total traffic.

★ ★ ★

Englebert pleaded with the current session of the Maryland Legislature to make Maryland's law tougher.

"It's beyond belief what's going on in this business," he told lawmakers. He said New York's loss last year was an estimated $25 million in taxes on smuggled cigarettes. He said some of the cigarettes are sold in Maryland, resulting in more than $750,000 in lost tax revenue.

MOST OF TRAFFIC

There is no cigarette tax in North Carolina. And Englebert said most of the traffic comes from there.

Frustrated tax agents, working with Maryland State Police, now must spot some small traffic violation or other excuse to stop vehicles suspected of carrying northbound smokes.

★ ★ ★

Recent examples include a faulty muffler, no light shining on a license plate, a windshield wiper check, and other minor excuses.

The law prevents searching a closed van unless tax authorities have a "good reason" for suspecting contraband, according to State's Atty. Elmer Thompson, whose Eastern Shore area has been the scene of several arrests.

'GOOD REASONS'

Some of those "good reasons" have been provided by agents sent from Maryland to spy on sources of supply in North Carolina, said Englebert.

Thompson said those arrested usually say about the same thing:

"They tell us they hocked everything but the baby's crib to household goods just to make one cigarette-purchasing trip to North Carolina. Or else they tell us they were just hired to drive one trip."

Englebert described the illicit traffic as "worse than prohibition" of the 1930s.

"The attitude today seems to be that a package of cigarettes is just a package of cigarettes," he said. "Who cares where it came from? But I tell you this is backed by organized crime — and it's getting bigger every day."

INTERSTATE TRAFFIC

Englebert said North Carolina has no law to prevent such interstate traffic because there is no cigarette tax.

"They just don't care down there. Why should they? They manufacture most cigarettes; they make money; they don't care where they're going."

★

Conviction under present Maryland law could mean fine of $25 for each carton and up to five years of imprisonment for maximum sentence. But jurists have been reluctant to go this far. The law prohibits carrying more than one carton through the state or more than two packages into the state by a resident.

Englebert said legislators seemed to balk at the "idea of catching the little guy with a few cartons, then taking away his citizenship and the other things that go along with a felony conviction."

★ ★ ★

"But while the problem has become his number one headache, he still manages to joke about it:

"We'd like to throw up a smoke screen across the tobacco roads of Maryland so heavy that not even a regular could filter through."

Not all Arabs live in tents. That is true only of the estimated 78 per cent of the population who are Bedouins.

Over-All Trading Moderate

Stock Mart Extends Recovery

NEW YORK (AP) — Aerospace issues, rails and airlines grew stronger as the stock market extended a cautious recovery into the third straight session early this afternoon.

Over-all trading was moderate, but more active than yesterday when the session was quietest in four months.

★ ★ ★

Small as the general improvement was, the market was making its best upside showing since it began its precipitous decline following the Feb. 9 high.

The general list was irregularly higher at best. Scattered strength was apparent among electronics, office equipments, photographic issues, drugs and nonferrous metals.

LITTLE HIGHER

The trend was a little higher among steels, motors, utilities and building materials.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.0 at 343.2 with industrials up .5, rails up 1.2 and utilities up .8.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.83 at 921.15.

Among the big "bread and butter stocks," American Telephone, Jersey Standard and U.S. Steel were about unchanged while General Motors and Chrysler added fractions.

SHOW GAINS

Anaconda rose more than a point and International Nickel and du Pont nearly a point each.

Prices were generally higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. A. M. Castle was up about 2. Gains of a point or better were made by Stanley Aviation, Sel-Rex, Alloys Unlimited, Flying Tiger and General Super Markets.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged in light dealings.

Grant to Aid OU Program

Alumni Education Plan to Be Expanded

Oakland University yesterday received a $185,000 grant from the Kellogg Foundation.

★ ★ ★

The grant is for continuation and expansion of OU's experimental alumni education program.

It was accepted by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees.

The grant is to be administered over a three-year period by the university's division of continuing education. The program was established in 1963 under a Kellogg grant.

★ ★ ★

Since its inception, the experimental program has been concerned with providing a systematic plan for lifetime education of the alumnus, wherever he may be located.

NATIONWIDE INTEREST

A sharp departure from the usual college alumni program, the OU experiment has attracted nationwide attention.

According to Gary Woditsch, program director, more than 180 colleges and universities have requested information on the alumni education program.

A new feature of the program under the grant will be an information dissemination system, employing the latest computerized library science technologies.

★ ★ ★

Woditsch said the system will generate for alumni a weekly listing of abstracts of current literature related to their specific interests.

VARIED SELECTIONS

The alumnus will be able to request complete documents, selective bibliographies or information on available course programs.

OCC Faculty Elects Agent

State Board Expected to Certify the Results

Oakland Community College instructional personnel voted 84 to 10 yesterday to designate the Oakland Community College Faculty Association as its exclusive bargaining agent.

The State Mediation Board is expected to certify the election results today.

Officials of the faculty association have called a general meeting for Wednesday to outline a bargaining procedure in future meetings with college officials.

The OCC Board of Trustees last night authorized the administration staff to meet with the faculty association in preliminary discussions.

Board members, however, withheld formal recognition of the association as exclusive bargaining agent pending certification of the election.

An election to determine a bargaining agent for noninstructional employes is expected to be scheduled in April.

Pope Eases Rule on Marriage to Non-Catholics

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI eased restrictions today on mixed marriages between Roman Catholics and others.

The Pope issued a long-awaited document bringing changes in one of the most sensitive areas affecting relations between Roman Catholicism and other faiths.

★ ★ ★

One important change allows a non-Catholic minister to take part in the wedding of a Catholic and a non-Catholic before a Roman Catholic priest. The minister will be able to give the couple his blessing after they have exchanged their marriage vows.

Common prayer also will be allowed at the ceremony, with the priest, the minister and the newlyweds praying together.

Bid to Raise National Debt Ceiling Is Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department expects to ask Congress in May to raise the legal ceiling on the national debt again — possibly to a record $334 billion.

★ ★ ★

The request, even if it doesn't go that high, is certain to touch off another round of criticism on and federal spending. It usually does.

Unless Congress acts — and it always has in the past — the debt ceiling will drop on July 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year, to its permanent level of $285 billion.

The present temporary one-year ceiling is $328 billion but the actual debt is about $4 billion less than that — $323.7 billion as of the close of business March 14. The Treasury, however, says it can handle the debt more efficiently if it has a little operating room.

Actually, no one knows for certain just what would happen if Congress refused to accept any extension in the temporary ceiling and permitted the legal limit to drop to $285 billion.

Congress always has gone along with the Treasury's request although it has sometimes given the administration less of an increase that was sought. The Treasury last year requested, for example, an increase to $329 billion but got $1 billion less. Failure to act could, of course, force the Treasury to halt all borrowing immediately and probably would mean default on some obligations within several weeks.

★ ★ ★

The formal request is expected to be transmitted to Congress between May 1 and 15 and, at the hearings to follow, Treasury officials also expect to discuss the 4.25 per cent ceiling on government bonds which mature in five or more years.

Democratic members of the Senate-House Economic Committee earlier this week said it would be a serious mistake to remove this long-standing ceiling. But Republican committee members disagreed, and said lifting of the 4.25 per cent ceiling would permit what they called noninflationary, long-term government financing at lower interest rates than are now possible through short-term notes.

Series E and H bonds, the type sold to the public, are subject to the 4.25 per cent limit. Last month the government raised the rate on series E and H bonds from 3.75 to 4.15 per cent.

2 Green Youths Rescued From Chicago River

CHICAGO (AP) — Two youths were fished from the Chicago River on St. Patrick's Day dripping wet — and dripping green.

One youth, Robert Brown, 17, of Chicago, fell in. His companion, John Dizel, 20, also of Chicago, calmly laid aside his shoes, watch and wallet and jumped into assist Brown.

Then they couldn't get out.

They were treading the chilly waters, dyed in observance of the holiday, when three ambulances, two fire trucks, a fireboat and a police car arrived to help them out.

WSU Receives Grants

Bird Watcher Sights Filchers

NILES, Ill. (AP) — "A little old lady with binoculars" is adept at identifying more than just birds in spring migration.

Police yesterday credited one with helping capture two Philadelphia men wanted on burglary charges.

The men were identified by police as John J. Terry, 45, and Leo Dougherty, 40.

The police said the men had been arrested earlier in the week after "a little old lady looking out her window with binoculars" had seen two strange men come out of a nearby apartment.

After they had gotten into a car, she noted the auto license number, then called police.

The men were charged with burglary of $200 in cash, a wristwatch and a revolver. Police said they were wanted in Philadelphia, New Rochelle, N.Y., and Macon, Ga.

Move to Pack Tax Unit Fails

LANSING (AP) — An effort failed Thursday to pack the Senate Taxation Committee so it would favorably report on a tax bill said to benefit metropolitan areas.

But Acting Committee Chairman Sen. Stanley Rozycki, D-Detroit, the target of the packing attempt; said he still was open-minded on the measure and would call further committee meetings to consider it.

The bill in question would require the State Tax Commission to use straight line depreciation schedules for industrial machinery and equipment.

Last year the commission introduced so-called accelerated depreciation schedules, which governments in industrial areas said cost them millions of property tax dollars.

EARLY DECLINE

Accelerated depreciation permits the owner of equipment to write off a greater proportion of its value in its early years of use so that its taxable value declines much like the value of an automobile—quickly at first, then slower.

Straight line depreciation requires an equal amount of value to be written off each year.

The bill, approved by the Senate, is now in the Senate Taxation Committee, where it needs four votes to win approval.

AIM FOR $2 MILLION — The Beach Boys expect to earn two million dollars in 1966. The singing group includes three brothers, a cousin and an honorary relative.

Beach Boys Ride the Crest on Incoming Wave of Cash

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The family that sings together can grow rich together, as in the case of the Beach Boys.

There are five of them: three brothers Brian, Dennis and Carl Wilson; a cousin, Mike Love; and an honorary relative, Alan Jardine, who went to school with the lads in Hawthorne, California.

THOMAS

"We had a lot of musical get-togethers when we were growing up," recalls Brian Wilson, spokesman and musical mentor of the Beach Boys. "Our dad was a songwriter who had a number recorded by Lawrence Welk and did all right with some other songs. We were always singing and playing guitars."

One thing led to another, and the Beach Boys expect to be earning a total of two million dollars in 1966. Other families should be so lucky.

CHATS ABOUT SUCCESS

Brian arrived for a chat about the group's phenomenal success. He is a serious chap of 23½ years, tallish, overweight, with a rebellious mop of brown hair that is not as kempt as the Beatles'.

His seriousness was partly due to the fact that he has been in the process of creating the Beach Boys' magnum opus, a new album called "Pet Sounds." It has already been 4½ months in the making and isn't finished yet.

* * *

"This will be a new plateau for us," said Brian. "It will be the most carefully produced album ever made, and I want each number to be absolutely the best. That's why it has taken so long."

His labors carry the blessing of Capitol Records, which has profited enormously from the Beach Boys. They have clocked one gold record, "I Get Around," and six gold albums, meaning that total sales on each album totaled more than a million dollars.

SURFING CRAZE

The Beach Boys rode the crest of the surfing craze that struck the nation's teen-agers a few years back. Actually, only Dennis Wilson was a bona fide surfer, but the boys presented a fresh, California-style appearance that caught the youthful fancy. They wore white pants and striped shirts and put forth a thumping guitar beat that seemed akin to the rhythm of the waves.

"We started with the surfing image," said Brian, "but now we feel it's time to expand our image. We're going for a wider audience with more diversified songs, and it seems to be working.

* * *

"Every day an older audience is creeping in. Now when we give concerts, the age range is more between 20 and 26 than teen-age."

The Beach Boys spend a third of their year playing concerts hither and yon, but Brian does not often accompany them. He stays home and concocts new numbers for the albums, which are the backbone of their enterprise.

* * *

He also calls the shots on career matters. Beach party-type pictures are out, although they did one early in the game. They are also bearish about television appearances. "Most engineers don't know how to mix the sound for singing acts," Brian explained. "So why go on TV and risk destroying the whole scene?"

Sex Program for Youngsters

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — The questions that children ask about sex are being answered in a kindergarten and elementary school pilot program that has the backing of parents.

The project in the Landing Elementary School has worked out so well that it will be extended throughout Long Island's Glen Cove School District.

* * *

"It's based on the fact that children seem uncomfortable with their growing bodies, and they ask questions that their parents can't seem to answer," said Rose Daniels, the nurse-teacher in charge of the program.

Mrs. Daniels and school Principal Mary Kellar developed the program three years ago after parents had sought help in coping with the questions that trouble a young mind.

SMALL GROUPS

"It began in small group meetings with parents," said Mrs. Kellar, "and eventually was put into the school in all levels from kindergarten to the fifth grade."

The philosophy behind the program, says Dist. School Supt. Albert R. Brinkman, is: "Sex is something you are, not something you do."

* * *

Mrs. Kellar said the material is not given to the children in formal instruction. Instead, she said, it is presented more in a consultation manner as Mrs. Daniels visits the classes on other school health matters.

Midlander's Rites Set

MIDLAND (AP) — Funeral services were held today for Albert Reed, Midland County drain commissioner for the last 13 years. Reed died Wednesday of a heart attack. He was 48.

Lynda Bird to Celebrate With Actor

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor George Hamilton introduces President Johnson's daughter Lynda Bird to his friends in the society and movie worlds this weekend at a cocktail party and intimate dinner celebrating her 22nd birthday.

* * *

One hundred friends, including the cream of the international movie crop, were invited to Hamilton's 39-room mansion overlooking the Beverly Hills Hotel and Sunset Boulevard for tonight's cocktail party.

He also arranged a dinner party for 12—all intimates — for tomorrow night to help Lynda Bird mark her birthday.

Both affairs were to be held in the mansion built in 1919 by silent film star Douglas Fairbanks Sr. Sources describe Grey Hall as a "breathtakingly lovely" chateau furnished in antiques collected by Hamilton.

* * *

BOBBY DARIN

Last night the young couple attended the Cocoanut Grove of the Ambassador Hotel, where they were entertained by singer Bobby Darin, a friend of the actor.

It was the second weekend in a row that the young couple has been together. Last weekend, Hamilton was a guest at the LBJ Ranch in Texas.

Lynda's close friends insist she is in love with Hamilton, but White House sources emphasize she is just "having fun." Lynda says she "respects and admires" Hamilton, but ducks questions about possible marriage plans.

* * *

Invited to tonight's party were a number of society friends and such celebrities as Eddie Fisher, Glenn Ford, Natalie Wood, Van Johnson, Polly Bergen, Hugh O'Brian, Jim Mitchum, Janet Leigh, Laurence Harvey, Sam Goldwin Jr., Elke Sommer, Tony Martin and his dancer wife, Cyd Charisse, and Bobby Darin and his wife, Sandra Dee.

* * *

Fromer White House news secretary Pierre Salinger, who served Presidents Johnson and Kennedy, also was invited, as was Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson.

An 800-year-old Spanish monastery was transported across the ocean and reassembled in North Miami, Fla.

Cowboys Win Case on Antismog Bill

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Arizona House of Representatives has approved an antismog bill but only after amending it to make sure the cowboys still can build campfires while branding cattle.

Without the amendment, lawmakers warned Thursday, cowboys without special antismog permits wouldn't be allowed to heat the branding irons.

The amendment was approved by a 30-20 vote.

Union Perils Telecasting of President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Technicians for two television networks are threatening to black out presidential broadcasts because military personnel and private contractors have been allowed to preempt some of their work, the Washington Post reported today.

Spokesmen for the AFL-CIO National Association of Broadcast Employes and Technicians have told the American Broadcasting Co. and National Broadcasting Co. that presidential policies have clearly breached their contracts, the Post said.

* * *

Technicians for the Columbia Broadcasting System belong to another union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The Post quoted Harry G. Schleggle, director of network affairs for NABET, as saying that private contractors have been brought in to set up lighting and public address systems and that Army Signal Corps technicians have been operating amplifiers.

POINT OF ORIGINATION

The union's contract with the networks calls on its members to handle all technical work at the "point of origination."

"After two years of frustration," the Post quoted NABET President Eugene Klumpp as having written to ABC and NBC officials, unions members "will not accept or handle any feeds" at the White House.

* * *

According to the Post, Schleggle said that any blackout is unlikely until after NABET leaders meet with officials of the networks and the IBEW on Wednesday to ask them to join a united front against White House policies.

Comedian Knotts Divorced by Wife

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Comedian Don Knotts, 41, was divorced by his wife, Kathryn, yesterday and a Superior Court judge ordered him to pay $338,400 in alimony during the next 14 years.

Knotts, the jittery deputy in the "Andy Griffith" television series, stayed out nights and often was absent from home for several days, his wife testified. She said this caused her to be nervous and to need medical aid.

Mrs. Knotts, married to the comedian for 18 years, was granted custody of their children, Karen, 11, and Thomas 9.

LBJ Hopeful of '66 Trip to Europe After Relations Among Western Allies Improve

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is reported hopeful of making a trip to Europe when relations among the Western allies clear up perhaps later this year.

★ ★ ★

For the time being, however, he is said to have put aside all thought of planning such a trip because of uncertainties in the Western Alliance.

★ ★ ★

These uncertainties arise from French President Charles de Gaulle's decision to pull French troops out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, put an end to U.S. bases in France, and require removal of NATO military headquarters from France.

★ ★ ★

U.S. officials report that de Gaulle has not given them any time schedule, but French officials have been quoted as saying he wants to carry out his program this year.

★ ★ ★

If Johnson goes to Europe this year it probably will be in late summer or fall. He apparently has thought of the trip as a goodwill mission for strengthening allied ties.

The President met with top aides on the NATO question Thursday night. The White House gave out no details on the session.

★ ★ ★

Listed at the meeting were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Undersecretary George W. Ball, John M. Levy, assistant secretary for European affairs, and Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance.

★ ★ ★

Also on hand were Charles E. Bohlen and Dean Acheson, the White House said. Bohlen, U.S. ambassador to France, was called back to Washington for the current consultations. Acheson, former secretary of state under President Harry S. Truman, has been working as an adviser on the NATO question.

Rebuilding Plan for Oxford Told

Oxford businessmen whose buildings were damaged in a Jan. 31 fire were given a means of getting back into business yesterday. Whether they utilize the opportunity, remains to be seen.

The health committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors agreed unanimously to let the business people rebuild if they would install concrete holding tanks for sewage disposal.

Owners of the four establishments damaged by the fire had been using cesspools for this purpose.

When they applied to the health department for rebuilding privileges after the fire, the department issued denials because the cesspools were considered inadequate.

As a matter of policy, the health department does not condemn occupied buildings even though sewage disposal is known to be inadequate.

Health committee member Herbert A. Smith, supervisor from Madison Heights, suggested the holding tanks.

★ ★ ★

Alternatives were limited because the building sites lack sufficient space to install septic systems and the village has no sanitary sewer system.

STATE LAW

In any case, state law requires the business places to connect to a sanitary sewer system if one is installed in the future to serve the village.

The resolution passed by the committee would require each of the building owners to install 1,000-gallon holding tanks behind the buildings.

They would also be required to have the tanks pumped out monthly by either a licensed septic tank cleaning firm or the County Department of Public Works.

Clarence Durbin, another committee member and a supervisor from Southfield, said that the tanks would cost about

Astronauts Rest in Hawaii

AP Photofax

Scientists Hunt Causes Behind Gemini 8 Spin

Tape Record Studied for Details of Linkup When Crisis Began

HONOLULU (AP)—Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott rested in Hawaii today as U.S. scientists probed into why Gemini 8 gyrated wildly in space, forcing the flight to be cut short.

The homeward-bound astronauts, returning by jet plane, paused in Honolulu briefly after a flight from Okinawawa.

Scientists centered their attention on what happened when a radio command was sent to turn on a tape recorder in the Agena satellite to which Gemini 8 was docked.

While docked, Gemini 8 started tumbling crazily and Armstrong, the command pilot, had to fight for control.

★ ★ ★

NO ILL EFFECTS

Showing no ill effects, they ran down the gangplank of the destroyer USS Leonard F. Mason in blue navy hospital robes.

Despite the hair-raising termination of the flight and their emergency splashdown, they were pronounced in excellent shape. Their only problem was some seasickness while the capsule bobbed around for nearly three hours, waiting for the destroyer.

On their arrival in Hawaii, Rear Adm. Henry S. Persons, who commanded the Pacific Recovery Force, placed red carnation leis around the necks of Armstrong and Scott.

★ ★ ★

Before they left Hickam for a rest at Tripler Army Hospital, Armstrong and Scott were greeted by another astronaut, Air Force Col. Frank Borman.

HAD COMPANY

Walter M. Schirra Jr., a Navy captain who had been with Borman in Hawaii, flew to Okinawa and made the return trip with the pair.

Armstrong and Scott were due at Cape Kennedy tomorrow morning for three days of extensive flight debriefings that may shed some light on the trouble that caused the first emergency landing in the U.S. man in space program.

★ ★ ★

The two astronauts were "disappointed that they had not carried out all the objectives of Gemini 8 but were pleased with the space rendezvous and docking maneuver involving the Agena rocket," Schirra said.

"I would say they also had the

I-696 Route Gets Backing

County Unit Favors 10-11 Mile Corridor

The Oakland County Road Commission has pledged its support to the state highway department's plan to build the I-696 freeway in the 10-11 Mile road corridor at the earliest possible date.

★ ★ ★

"A delay could easily result in the complete abandonment of an east-west freeway in this corridor, in which case it would be a tragedy of immeasurable proportions," the three member commission said.

The remarks were contained in a letter presented to Gov. George Romney and Howard Hill, chairman of the highway department.

The meeting was called by Romney in hopes of resolving the objections to the plan by officials in five communities in south Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

The road commissioners, Robert O. Felt, chairman, Frazer W. Staman and Sol D. Lomerson, said "a delay of several years to determine a new route would be not only extremely unfortunate but would only result in additional costs to all concerned and would also cost many needless lives and accidents."

PROBLEM GROWS

They noted that while the I-696 route has been under study for 10 years, the traffic problem continues to increase at an even higher rate than was anticipated.

The traffic on 10 Mile and 11 Mile roads combined is about 35,000 vehicles a day, the commission said.

"Even of these existing roads were expanded at considerable expense to the cities and counties (Oakland and Macomb), it would only be possible for them to carry up to 60,000 vehicles a day," the commission added.

★ ★ ★

"In only 14 short years, the traffic for this corridor is estimated at 115,000 or more vehicles a day.

'TWICE AS LONG'

"Without a freeway, only one half of the 1975 needs will be met and it will take at least twice as long to travel this corridor with about four times the accident hazard."

Selfridge Crash Kills an Airman

Jet Bomber Burns After Takeoff Failure

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—A B57 jet bomber skidding to a flaming stop short of frame houses on suburban North River Road brought death to an Air Force navigator and seriously injured the pilot yesterday.

It failed on takeoff at Selfridge AFB, tore from a runway into soggy ground and burst into flames. It never got off the ground and burned within base fences.

Some 10 hours afterward, Steward AFB at Newburgh, N.Y., identified the dead flier as 1st Lt. Earl Boggs, 25, of Tulsa, Okla., a father of four sons. His widow, Betty, also survives.

Stewart also identified the seriously burned pilot as Capt. David W. Evans, 38, of New Kensington, Pa., a member of the Air Force since 1946. His wife and three children live at Newburgh.

★ ★ ★

The plane was assigned to the 4713th Defense System Evaluation Squadron at Stewart AFB, and was one of four scheduled to act as targets in a simulated air defense scramble from Selfridge.

NOT OPERATIONAL

The plane was not operational as a bomber, Selfridge said, adding that the crash cause would be determined by a board of inquiry.

Three of five fire trucks dispatched to the blazing plane bogged down in soft ground at the end of a runway and were unable to reach the plane.

Cavanagh State Tour Is Hinted

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's press aide declined to confirm or deny last night the Detroiter plans a whirlwind weekend aerial tour of the state in search of Democratic support for the U.S. Senate.

★ ★ ★

The Detroit Free Press reported Cavanagh will make such a tour "to open his campaign against G. Mennen Williams."

Cavanagh has called a 10 a.m. news conference tomorrow to announce whether he will take on the six-time former governor who resigned as U.S. assistant secretary of state for African affairs to seek the Senate seat Democratic Patrick V. McNamara is relinquishing.

"I cannot confirm or deny the (newspaper) report," said Jim Trainor, the mayor's press secretary.

★ ★ ★

"There will be nothing one way or the other until after the Saturday announcement."

GRIFFIN OPPONENTS

Rep. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., has announced as a candidate for the Republican nomination. He has two primary election opponents.

Cavanagh has been billed for weeks to speak tonight in Muskegon at a seminar on urban problems.

This is sponsored by the Muskegon Area Development Council and the speech billed as nonpolitical.

★ ★ ★

The Free Press reported that "presumably Cavanagh will take his (weekend) airborne campaign to the Upper Peninsula, west, north and central areas of the state."

★ ★ ★

E. J. Stewart, identified as the chairman of the "Cavanagh Committee in Muskegon," was quoted as saying: "If the mayor hadn't run, he would have let down a lot of Democrats who hold the primary previous."

Midget Sub Locates H-Bomb 5 Miles off Spanish Coast

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP) — U.S. Navy experts at dawn today began the delicate job of raising the lost American H-bomb from the Mediterranean floor after a midget submarine's pictures indicated it had been found.

The two-man sub Alvin on Wednesday photographed what official sources said was "undoubtedly" the bomb five miles off the southern coast of Spain and 2,500 feet below the surface.

Using the sub's mechanical arms, the Alvin's crew was expected to try to attach cables to the bomb so the powerful crane aboard the LSD Fort Snelling could lift it slowly to the surface.

Officials said it might take as much as three days for Rear Adm. William Guest's Task Force 65 to bring the deadly device up from the depths.

Reliable sources said the bomb lay on the slope of a 70-foot hillock, exposed to strong currents which some feared could sweep it into a new location.

The nuclear weapon, missing since the crash of a B52 bomber on the Spanish coast two months ago, was reported apparently intact — indicating no lethal radioactive leakage in the water.

The Alvin's underwater camera photographed an object partly shrouded in a gray parachute, and official sources said there was no doubt it was the bomb.

The B52's bombs had been equipped with chutes of that color, in contrast to the white chutes worn by crewmen.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Ambassador Angier Biddle Duke scheduled a news conference early today, presumably to announce the find, but canceled it.

DELAY NEWS

"When we have positive identification and recovery," an embassy spokesman said, newsmen will be told.

Observers said diplomatic courtesy may make it preferable for the announcement to come from the Spanish government.

U.S. officials said no pictures would be permitted of the bomb, its parachute or recovery operations because of the highly secret nature of the weapon.

The bomb was one of four aboard the B52 when it collided with a jet tanker from which it was refueling over the southern Spanish coast last Jan. 17.

SEVEN KILLED

Seven of the 11 men aboard the two planes were killed; four survivors were pulled from the sea.

Three of the bombs were recovered on shore. One of the Spanish fishermen who rescued the survivors reported he saw "a funny gray parachute with half a man hanging from it" fall into the sea.

Im-PRESS-ive

Be on the lookout for tomorrow's top stories that are expressly stressed to impress readers of The Pontiac Press:

- Dedication of the new Congregational Church in Bloomfield Hills, built on a hilltop using modern architectusal designing.
- Results of the semifinals of the state basketball tourney.
- Expected announcement by Detroit's Mayor Cavanagh of his decision on running for the U.S. Senate.

County Truck Limits to Be Lifted Monday

Beginning at 6 p.m. Monday, spring load restrictions will be removed on all Class A roads in Oakland County.

Truckers desiring additional information may contact Tom Kennedy, county weighmaster, at the Oakland County Road Commission office, 2420 Pontiac Lake.

Lucky Feeling Was Justified

Area Family Winner in Irish Sweepstakes

"I think you're going to win," Mrs. Lee R. Schatz told her husband last month after he bought a $3 ticket on the Irish Sweepstakes.

"I've got the same feeling," replied Schatz, who lives at 2515 Lakeville, Addison Township and works for the National Twist Drill & Tool Co. in Avon Township.

Yesterday the couple received word via Western Union that Schatz's ticket had returned 441 English pounds for each dollar bet.

At the going exchange rate of $2.78 in American currency for each pound, the 42-year-old Schatz hit the sweepstakes jackpot for $3,677.94—before taxes.

★ ★ ★

Although Uncle Sam may take as much as 22 per cent of the winnings, Schatz and his wife aren't complaining.

PAY THE TAXES

"Lee says the first thing we'll do is pay our taxes," Mrs. Schatz said.

The good news did not come, however, without a brief moment of fear at the Schatz home.

"When I got the call that we had a Western Union message," said Mrs. Schatz, "the first thing I thought of was bad news.

"Our 19-year-old son, David, is serving on an ammunition ship off the coast of Viet Nam.

"I had been kind of depressed all morning and when the call came, I thought, 'Oh boy.'"

The couple also have four other children, ranging in age from 13 to 24.

State Lawmakers Vow to Square Unpaid Taxes

LANSING (UPI) — Admitting failure to file federal income tax returns, two repentant state legislators have vowed to make good next week on a total of about $5,400 in unpaid taxes.

State Sen. Basil W. Brown and State Rep. James Bradley, both Detroit Democrats, said yesterday they are ready to square themselves with the Internal Revenue Service.

Both have been negotiating their tax troubles with the IRS since January.

Brown admitted failing to file federal income tax returns in 1963 and 1964, and said he owes about $1,700 plus interest and penalties.

Bradley said he failed to file in 1964 and owes about $3,700, including interest and penalties.

Although each disclaims knowledge of the other's tax problems, the two lawmakers tell similar stories of being unable to pay because of heavy debt. They denied any criminal intent or any effort to cover up the shortages.

IRS CONFIRMS

A. M. Stoepler, district director of the IRS in Detroit, confirmed the men failed to file returns. He said court action might be taken if warranted by the facts.

The two lawmakers said there has never been any discussion of criminal action against them in their talks with IRS officials.

Solon Pay Hike Support Hinted

LANSING (AP)—Reports circulated among legislators today they likely will be recommended for $5,000 pay raises by Gov. George Romney's special study commission.

This would boost their salaries to $15,000 and would bring the yearly take to $17,500, including a $2,500 annual expense allowance.

James K. Pollock, commission chairman and a University of Michigan political science professor, is to report to Gov. Romney next Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Pollock declined comment on the $17,500 report.

There was speculation public disclosure of the commission's recommendations might be withheld until next month and the increase be taken up during general debate over a record $850 million general fund budget.

Mercury Climbs to 67; Cooler Weather Is Due

Sixty-seven, a new high for the season, was recorded in downtown Pontiac at 4 p.m. yesterday.

Mostly cloudy and colder with a high of 42 to 44 is the prediction for tomorrow. Fair and somewhat warmer is the outlook for Sunday.

Southeasterly winds at 15 to 25 miles per hour this morning will shift to westerly this evening and northwest at 10 to 20 miles tomorrow.

7 Candidates Fail to File Expense Data by Deadline

Seven candidates in the March 7 city primary had not filed campaign expenses as of the deadline yesterday, according to city and county officials.

★ ★ ★

There were 23 candidates involved in six district primary elections. Sixteen had filed expenses statements by the deadline.

Those not filing campaign expenses th edeadline were Samuel J. Whiters, William A. Garling, Gerald Kehoe, Loy L. Ledford, Jack F. Prasil, Joseph Singleton and Curtis L. Webb.

Whiters, 53, of 453 Harvey file his statement this morning.

None of those who did file exceeded the maximum amount allowed for campaign expenses in the state election laws.

STATE LAW

State law requires expense statements to be submitted to the county election clerk within 10 days after a primary.

The practice in Pontiac has been for candidates to submit their statements to City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley, who in turn files them with the county office.

According to state law, those who have not submitted a report of their expenses will be notified and asked to do so. Ten days are allowed for filing statements after notification.

★ ★ ★

Expense statements filed for two incumbents, Wesley J. Wood and James H. Marshall, showed the largest primary campaign expenditures.

TOTAL SPENT

A total of $303.74 was spent in behalf of Wood's candidacy, while $304.90 was spent for Marshall.

One expense statement totaling $2,378.72 was filed for a slate of candidates.

Citizens for a Better Pontiac spent funds in behalf of the six incumbents, but did not exceed the legal expense limit.

★ ★ ★

Under state election laws candidates and campaign committees are each allowed to spend $40 for every 1,000 votes cast for governor in their district in the last presidential election, or not less than one-fourth of the annual salary for the elective post being sought.

★ ★ ★

Thus, committee expenses or a candidate's own expenditures could not exceed $325 each, which is one-fourth of the annual salary for a City Commissioner, the higher of the expense limits.

Two candidates in their expense statements reported no personal expenditures. They were Leslie H. Hudson and Robert C. Irwin.

NAACP Event Slated at OU

Export-Import Bank Director Will Speak

The Oakland County Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) will hold its annual Freedom Fund Dinner next Friday at Oakland University.

★ ★ ★

Hobart Taylor Jr., a member of the board of directors of the Export-Import Bank of Washington, will address an estimated 350 persons.

Congressman Billie S. Farnum, D-19th District, will introduce Taylor at the 7:30 p.m. dinner at the Oakland University Center.

A native of Texas, Taylor spent most of his adult life in Detroit. He is a former assistant Wayne County prosecuting attorney and corporation counsel.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson appointed Taylor associate counsel to the president in 1964. Two years earlier he had been appointed by President Kennedy as executive vice chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity.

RESIGNED POSITIONS

Taylor resigned both positions when President Johnson named him to the bank directorship last August.

Tickets for the dinner are available from Mrs. Alonzo Harris, 36 Crawford, general chairman of the dinner, or Mrs. Otis Ferguson, 431 Lynch, first vice president of the County NAACP Chapter.

Proceeds from the dinner will be used for NAACP programs both locally and nationally.

Bobby Talks on Racism at Ole Miss

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy tells a University of Mississippi audience today that America "must create a society in which Negroes will be as free as other Americans. But the problem is no longer just a Southern one," he says.

In a speech prepared for a law school forum, Kennedy said "racial injustice and poverty, ignorance and hope for world peace are to be found in the streets of New York and Chicago and Los Angeles, as well as in the towns and farm lands of Mississippi."

★ ★ ★

"There are still many problems confronting the South," the New York Democrat said. "But that which is Southern about them is far less important than that which is American."

"You have no problem that the nation does not have," Kennedy told the students. "You share no hope that is not shared by your fellow students and young people across the country. You carry no burden that they too do not carry.

NEW SOUTH

"This is the reality of the new South. This is the meaning of the modern Southern revolution. And you are its heirs."

Kennedy's scheduled appearance on the Mississippi campus prompted what officials described as the most extensive security precautions since 1962, when James H. Meredith became the first Negro knowingly enrolled in the university.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy, attorney general at the time, ordered in federal marshals. Eventually 20,000 troops put down the campus riots that broke out after Meredith enrolled.

Army Seizes Control in Indonesia

SINGAPORE (UPI) — The Indonesian military seized control of the government in a smooth - working 12-hour coup today, purged the cabinet of pro-Communists elements, and placed President Sukarno under heavy guard behind a ring of tanks.

★ ★ ★

Radio Jakarta announced the shake-up, the latest in a continuing series of maneuvers for government control that began with an attempted coup last Oct. 1.

Lt. Gen. Suharto arrested 15 cabinet ministers, including Foreign Minister Subandrio, and set up an interim cabinet of former ministers that gave control of Indonesia's press, radio, communications and other vital services to the military.

It appeared to be the end of the line for Subandrio, who forged Indonesia's links with Communist China and who was accused by student demonstrators of plotting with Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to turn Indonesia into a Chinese outpost.

★ ★ ★

Suharto's announcement of the arrest of Subandrio and his action in ringing Sukarno's palace with troops was taken to protect them from the "anger of the people," he announced in a broadcast.

FORCED UPHEAVALS

Student demonstrations had forced several upheavals in the Indonesian government. Only Thursday the students gave Sukarno a 48-hour ultimatum to get rid of Subandrio and other pro-Communists or face mass civil disobedience.

Diplomatic sources in Singapore said it appeared the army had finally became fed up with Sukarno's reported intrigues, bluffs and maneuverings. Even with today's action, Sukarno was expected to remain as president, but in name only.

He had reasserted his leadership earlier this week and Suharto acknowledged his presidency. But in the early stages of today's action Suharto sent tanks rumbling toward Sukarno's Merdeka Palace in Jakarta —with the guns pointing at the palace itself.

CONTROL PROBLEMS

"As we see it now, they had control problems while they were docking, and this was complicated by a rocking motion. They were not able to isolate the trouble, and they decreased their rate of speed to a point where they could separate from Agena."

Schirra said the control problems were "solved at the expense of a considerable amount of control fuel, and so we had to terminate" in the emergency recovery area.

The blackened, scorched Gemini 8 capsule remained on the deck of the destroyer under a protective cover. The Navy was to package it and ship it back to the United States in a few days so NASA officials can give it a close inspection.

★ ★ ★

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration yesterday played to newsmen tape recordings of the conversations between the astronauts and the ground.

CRITICAL PERIOD

They covered the critical three-hour 20-minute period from the moment the ground learned of the trouble to the start of the reentry to earth.

The space agency earlier refused to let newsmen hear the tape, explaining they feared there would be misinterpretation of some of the conversation.

When the tape was played it provided the story of the harrowing experiences of the astronauts as Armstrong fought to free Gemini 8 from the Agena and to stop it from rolling violently.

★ ★ ★

It was a story of Armstrong remaining calm in a dangerous situation and taking his place beside the other U.S. astronauts who have used their judgment to save space missions.

FIRST INDICATION

The tape recordings show that the first indication the ground had of trouble was when Gemini 8 swept out of a communications blackout and made contact with the tracking ship coastal sentry Quebec in the Pacific.

The ship radar detected that the Gemini had separated from the Agena—less than 30 minutes after linking up with it in an historic space feat.

A controller aboard the ship immediately asked the astronauts if they had separated. Armstrong, in a strong, calm voice, replied:

★ ★ ★

"We have serious trouble here. We're tumbling end over end."

WILD GYRATIONS

He reported Gemini 8 was gyrating wildly.

"It's rolling and we can't turn anything off," Armstrong called down from space.

Something went wrong with the spacecraft's main jet thruster control system and Armstrong had to switch to an emergency system that finally enabled him to stabilize the craft after a 30-minute battle.

★ ★ ★

The emergency system is normally used only for the vital reentry maneuver. With Gemini's fuel running low, mission control center in Houston, Tex., evaluated the situation and ordered Armstrong and Scott to return to earth as soon as possible.

MADE REPORT

After Armstrong stabilized the craft, he was able to report some of what happened to the ground station at Hawaii.

OWNER UNDECIDED

David Parrish, one of the building owners, said after the committee meeting that he was undecided whether to install a holding tank.

He said that his cesspool system was an adequate disposal system.

"It's as good or better than those used by my neighbors who are still in business," Parrish said.

★ ★ ★

"I may try to find another building," he added.

THINK IT OVER

E. Wayne Converse, the only other building owner present at the meeting, also said that he would have to think the proposal over before deciding to install a tank.

Committee members viewed the holding tanks as a temporary solution to sewage disposal problems. County health director Dr. D. Bernard concurred.

They agreed also that construction of a sanitary sewer system was the ultimate answer.

★ ★ ★

"The problem rests squarely with the village," said Cyril E. Miller, supervisor from Avon Township and chairman of the health committee.

April Draft Call 245 in County

State Selective Service Headquarters in Lansing today announced an April draft call of 245 men for Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

The quota is part of 2,018 Michigan men scheduled for induction into the Army next month.

The call, while the lowest since last October, represents an increase over last month, when the county quota was canceled.

The two countywide boards based in Pontiac will call a total of 78 men, Pontiac's single board is scheduled for 29, and Farmington's quota is 65.

★ ★ ★

The 75 remaining men will come from the board in Royal Oak.

Wayne County was highest among the state's counties in quotas with a total of 1,096 men.

Little Judy Is on Road to Recovery

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Eight days ago, five-year-old Judy Lynn Funsch was wheeled into an operating room for five hours of heart surgery. Doctors were not optimistic over her chances for survival.

Today, the pretty brown-eyed blonde appeared on the road to recovery, although not completely out of danger. She will remain under intensive cardiac care for at least another week in the University of Michigan Hospital.

By the end of the month, Judy may be back home where she will soon start living a normal life for the first time since she was born. When she entered the hospital, Judy weighed just 28 pounds.

Judy's father — Clarence Funsch of Genesee Township, near Flint — has ended a bedside vigil and returned to work at a General Motors plant to help pay the medical bills.

Among those who sent their best wishes was singer Frank Sinatra. A hospital spokesman said Sinatra telephoned twice to find out how Judy was progressing and sent the parents a wire which said simply: "Keep the faith."

One well-wisher in Alaska offered to send Judy a Husky pup. A man in Texas shipped a huge stuffed lion to the hospital. A couple in Lansing forwarded a bottle of Holy Water they said was from Lourdes, France.

★ ★ ★

Many even enclosed money for Judy, ranging from 50 cents to a $20 check, although the Funsches said they don't want and don't need charity.

STILL ARRIVING

"Altogether, I guess there was more than $50," Mrs. Funsch said. "One day we received 112 letters and telegrams, the next day 258, then another 200 — and they're still coming in," Mrs. Funsch said.

Because Judy was born with a heart problem, medical bills piled up rapidly over the years. The girl was hospitalized 17 times with pneumonia, and last week doctors removed an obstruction in a vein bringing oxygenated blood from a lung to the heart.

Mrs. Funsch has been working as a nurse's aide at St. Joseph's Hospital in Flint to supplement the weekly pay of about $118 Funsch gets as a metal finisher at an auto plant.

★ ★ ★

Surgeon's fees, special duty nurses at $75 a day, medication, drugs, anesthetics and other hospital costs are expected to run the bill for last week's operation and recuperation to more than $3,000. Most of the expense is covered by medical insurance.

★ ★ ★

An auto company's blood bank and the Red Cross pitched in to provide the 14 to 16 pints of blood required during Judy's open heart surgery.

MUCH KINDNESS

"We'll never be able to thank everybody personally for their kindness," said Mrs. Funsch.

★ ★ ★

"It was wonderful of these people to take the time to give us their moral support and to say special prayers for Judy."

Sentence Teen in Fatal Knifing

An Oxford Township youth was sentenced yesterday to 1-15 years in the state prison at Jackson for a fatal stabbing last summer.

Richard Hartwick, 17, immediately appealed his conviction of Feb. 8 and was released on a continued $5,000 bond pending outcome of the action.

Hartwick, 167 W. Drahner, was found guilty of manslaughter by a circuit court jury of six men and six women following a 3½ day trail.

He had been charged with second degree murder in the killing of Russell Richards, 24, of 66 King Circle, Orion Township.

★ ★ ★

The knifing occurred behind a bar in Lake Orion Aug. 16.

Hartwick was sentenced by Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

MAKE OVER PAGES / Attracting New Industries

Commerce Twp. Lives Up to Its Name

By PAT McCARTY

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Did someone say "Commerce?" A community really living up to its name is this one, which in the last five years has welcomed 23 new industries.

Many of the plants which have been here longer are expanding — doubling, tripling and quadrupling their sizes.

"In the next five or six years you won't recognize this township," said Supervisor Thomas C. Tiley. "The potential is here."

* * *

Tiley is a firm believer in the axiom that a community's progress is tied to the tax base provided by industry.

43 PLANTS

Commerce Township is building just such a base and now boasts some 43 plants which turn out a variety of products from plastic toys to plans for gas turbine engines.

The area is feeling the metropolitan push as firms look farther afield for room for expansion.

People, too, are looking for homes with more space and are settling in new subdivisions and apartment developments here.

* * *

Industry and residents, in turn, are causing a need for more businesses and services—all of which contribute their share to the boom.

BACK TO INDUSTRY

Tiley notes it all goes back to industry.

"If you haven't got manufacturing in your territory, you'll tax the people so high they'll move out," he said. "Residences by themselves don't pay for a reasonable tax base."

According to tax experts, residences contribute 80 cents of each $1 the government spends in services to those homes.

* * *

On the other hand, industries pay $1.40 in property taxes for each $1 of service received.

FOR BENEFIT

"Manufacturing, as we've got it, is purely for the benefit of the schools and township," Tiley said.

He sees little correlation between the effects of the population explosion and the industrial boom in the township, noting that few of the plants move far enough to warrant their employes' relocating and that many hire people who already live in the township.

However, figures published by the economic research department of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce show a cause-and-effect relationship between industrial development and other growth indicators in a community.

* * *

The department estimates that 100 new factory jobs bring 359 persons into a community, including 91 more schoolchildren.

PASSENGER CARS

Those 100 jobs also will increase the number of passenger cars by 97 and generate employment for 64 persons in nonmanufacturing jobs while causing the establishment of three more retail operations and boosting personal income by $710,000.

The 23 firms which have located here since 1960 employ some 515 persons, and most are continuing to hire workers.

The assessed valuation of industrial property in the township more than doubled from 1960 to 1965, jumping from $758,850 to $1,655,300.

During the same period, the assessed valuation of commercial property went from $969,140 to $1,486,550 and of utilities from $787,400 to $1,265,000.

ENTIRE TOWNSHIP

With the township assessing at about 25 per cent of market value, the assessed valuation of the entire township in 1960 was $13,123,590.

The 1965 figure — $17,850,550 — is expected to jump nearly $2 million this year, Tiley said.

The approximately 600 acres zoned for industrial development are in the southeast portion of the township, and most of the plants moving here have located along West Maple and Haggerty.

* * *

There are three factors holding back full-scale industrial development — the lack of community sewer and water facilities and the uncertain timetable for extension of Northwestern Highway into the township.

KEEPING TABS

"It will be five to 10 years before we have water and sewers," Tiley said, commenting that he is keeping tabs on the progress of lines which eventually will reach into the township.

For four decades, western Oakland County has waited for word on the extension of Northwestern.

The State Highway Department's schedule now calls for contracts to be let April 1, 1970 on the construction of the six-lane highway from I-696 to M59.

* * *

Proposed to be started in 1975 is I-275, a north-south access route cutting through the middle of the township.

The local unit also is doing its part to help industry.

Tiley said the Township Board is setting aside funds to construct the township's third fire station, a $90,000-$100,000 facility.

It is to be built on Welsh Road, in the heart of the industrial zone.

* * *

"It will give those plants the protection they need," he said. "That will be money well spent as far as the township's concerned."

INQUIRIES SPORADIC

Tiley said that inquiries about industrial sites are sporadic.

"I've had six or eight people here in the last 10 days," he said recently. "Then I might go for a month with none."

The supervisor said there has been no organized campaign to attract industry to the area.

* * *

"It's just gotten around that Commerce Township is a good place to come," he said.

ONE GROUP

One of the groups responsible for getting that word around is the Walled Lake Chamber of Commerce.

Spearheading much of this effort have been two former chamber presidents, E. A. (Del) Jones and Thomas G. Weisheit Jr.

Jones is administrative assistant at American Paper Bottle Co., one of two Ex-Cell-O Corp. subsidiaries in the firm's Walled Lake technical center. Weisheit is owner of Tom's Furniture and Appliances in the city.

* * *

Weisheit attributes much of the unit's success to having a permanent chamber office which can be contacted during the day.

SPEEDY FOLLOW-UP

A speedy follow-up on routine inquiries is essential, he said.

"These guys in industry buy property quicker than the ordinary person buys a hat," he said. "They're a sharp bunch of people. They know what they're looking for."

For example, in 1962 the chamber received a form letter from a Pontiac real estate broker attempting to get leads on industrial sites.

* * *

Weisheit immediately telephoned a local realtor for specific information.

NEW HEADQUARTERS

As a result, Walled Lake Manufacturing Co. built a new headquarters on West Maple. Within a year, the firm had constructed another building and leased it to Valcomatic Products Division of Valeron Corp.

Late last summer, Walled Lake Manufacturing moved across the street, leasing its old building to Gay Toy Corp.

Valeron, meanwhile, built two plants on Haggerty, leased another west of its original building and now is operating five plants here.

"All that from one routine inquiry," Weisheit said.

RANGE OF SKILLS

He listed as one of the area's attractions "the availability of a wide range of skills."

"Within five or 10 miles, you have a complete cross-section of the labor market," he said.

Weisheit also noted the area has a high percentage of prime vacant land, a stable and relatively low tax rate and the proximity of both railroads and I-96.

* * *

Like Tiley, he bemoaned the absence of sewer and water lines.

LOSING A FIRM

The city is losing one firm, Mills Products Inc., because of this deficiency, he said.

The chamber now is backing plans for a joint Novi-Walled Lake sewage system.

Both Tiley and Weisheit were certain the Mills building will not be vacant long.

The calls are continuing to come in.

GROWTH CONTINUES — Among firms contributing to the economic growth of Commerce Township is Dedoes Industries, which is building this plant so it can move its operation from Berkley. The $120,000 building on the northwest corner of Ladd and Maple straddles the boundary between Commerce Township and the city of Walled Lake. The firm is erecting the 120-by-120-foot structure on a 100-acre parcel of property it owns there.

Plan Meeting on Land Prices

AVON TOWNSHIP — Residents upset by the Highway Department's low appraisal of their property will meet tonight with State Rep. Robert J. Slingerland, D-Lake Orion, to try to get a better price for their land.

A spokesman for the residents said the Highway Department has offered property owners prices "far below the going rate of real estate" for their homes and land.

The expressway, which is to extend from Pontiac to Utica, will displace several homes and private properties along the way.

The new road will run parallel to the present M59, lying three-quarters of a mile north of the old road as far as Livernois, where it swings southward to Rochester Road.

* * *

It will then continue east at a point three-quarters of a mile south of the present road.

MORE MONEY

Residents claim they are not trying to block the expressway, they merely want a better price for their land.

They have reportedly been given two dates by which they must vacate their homes, one in July and one in October.

Property owners are to prepare a written physical description of their land for discussion with Slingerland tonight.

Several residents have reportedly retained attorneys, and are prepared to go to court if necessary to get what they feel is a fair price.

The meeting is to be held at 8 tonight at the Rochester Golf and Country Club, 655 Michelson.

School Buses in Two Wrecks

Each Carried Pupils; No Serious Injuries

Two school buses, each carrying pupils home from school, were involved in accidents with automobiles late yesterday, but Oakland County Sheriff's deputies reported no serious injuries.

* * *

A bus owned by the Walled Lake School District was struck from the rear about 4:15 p.m. in Commerce Township by a car driven by Marr W. Gray, 16, of 1209 Applewood, White Lake Township.

Joseph D. Lareau, 42, of 4680 W. Pontiac Trail, Orchard Lake, driver of the bus, told deputies he had stopped on Union Lake Road near the intersection of Marshalsea when the collision ocurred.

The number of students on the bus was not reported.

* * *

BUS STOPPED

The bus, driven by Eleanor I. Hayes, 35, of 2414 E. Highland, Highland Township, had reportedly come to a stop on East Highland near Harvey Lake Road when struck from the rear.

* * *

The Scott girl told deputies she didn't see warning signals flashing on the bus until too late to avoid the collision.

The accident occurred in Highland Township.

Architects Blamed

S. Lyon School Plans Halted

SOUTH LYON — Growing discontent with the architectural firm planning the construction of the new high school and improvement of other educational facilities has brought proceedings on the matter to an abrupt halt.

What started out as an occasion for joy last June — the approval of a $2.7 million bond issue for a long-awaited high school — has turned into a sad affair, according to school officials.

"We are definitely dissatisfied with the whole thing," said Wilford W. Heidt, board president.

"The board feels that the architects have been spoon-feeding us."

Heidt said that when the architects wanted money, they came to the board, but when they wanted answers, they turned elsewhere.

* * *

Prior to the board's decision to place a bond issue on the ballot last June, the architects, O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach of Birmingham, had estimated costs for a new high school at slightly less than $2.36 million.

ADDITIONAL MONIES

The additional monies included in the bond issue were to be utilized for improvement of other buildings.

Since that time, not only has the estimated cost of construction risen but also some of the building plans have been altered.

Early this month the firm revealed to the board that certain bids it had received showed an amazing rise in estimated costs.

* * *

They offered figures illustrating the cost of construction in square feet at the time of the original estimates, and what the cost may be by the time construction is actually started.

NEW ESTIMATES

The new estimates resulted in a base bid of $2,447,251 for the construction of the high school alone. The firm said this would not cover all portions of the high school, but suggested several alternates could be added later.

The eventual cost of the school could possibly exceed $3 million before construction is completed, according to school officials.

If the school board used all the funds raised from the June bond issue, they could not complete the high school or begin any other improvements, Heidt said.

The original plans called for the construction of a new high school, expansion of the junior high school, improvement of New Hudson school and paving of the parking lot at the Sayre school.

PREPARED TO WAIT

Last month the board had been prepared to wait until more funds were available before taking bids on the school contract. Some members were prepared to scrap the plans entirely.

The board finally decided to wait and accept bids on the project.

This week the board reconsidered the matter once again and decided to call for a public hearing on the affair.

* * *

"We had a little discussion this week regarding the discussion of bond needs. It was suggested that we go to the people and tell them how much we need and why we need it," said Heidt.

ASK PEOPLE

The members decided to ask the people whether they should begin construction on the high school now or wait for an election to gain approval of an additional bond issue.

The public hearing has been set for April 1.

Samuel Ballo has suggested the people also be told how the new bond issue would affect taxation.

The current 7-mill levy would not have to be increased, according to the board, but it would require a perpetual extension of the levy until the loan was paid off.

This week the board drew the line on another rising cost factor when it voted down a motion to pay the firm $1,556 for costs of materials incurred during operations at the site of the present high school.

The materials were more than those called for in the architectural specifications, according to the board and not authorized by school officials.

The board voted not to pay the charges "because it is not an error or omission of the board."

Also on the program will be an explanation of the board of education's proposed $7.5-million bond issue. The building program, which voters will be asked to approve on April 25, will be explained by board members Mrs. Gail Kemler and Norman May.

Election of officers for the 1966-67 school year will be conducted during the business meeting.

India's Sikhs Making Mark in Politics

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — They are India's best farmers, best soldiers, best mechanics and, to Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's woe, among its best political agitators.

These are the Sikhs, 10.5 million stick-together followers of a vigorous 500-year-old religion and philosophy that wins them a larger spot in India's political sun than their numbers would warrant.

* * *

The Sikhs are a proud people who give the impression they stand a little taller and straighter than anyone else.

Sikh men are distinctive with their turbans, full beards and their lust for a robust, sportsman's life. The women wear leggings topped by a knee-length skirt and blouse. That makes them among India's most striking females.

MAKING MARK

But it's in politics that the Sikhs are making their mark these days.

Like her father, Jawaharlal Nehru, and her predecessor, Lal Bahadur Shastri, Mrs. Gandhi is finding her rule of India enormously complicated by Sikh political demands.

* * *

Sikh leaders threatened a major political push against Shastri in September but postponed it when the India-Pakistan war erupted. They entered the fighting with gusto, forgetting their quarrels with New Delhi.

Now, old banners and slogans are being shaken out once more.

SMALL COMMUNITY

The Sikhs fear their relatively small community will be swamped by India's 470 million other citizens and the nation's many religions and cultures. They want their distinctive identity legally recognized.

As a first step, the Sikhs want a Punjabi-speaking state in northwest India composed of the Punjab, where most Sikhs live, and parts of neighboring Rajasthan, Himachal Pradesh and Kashmir states.

* * *

India's most powerful political group recommended last week that the government form a new state, based on language lines, to satisfy the Sikhs' demands.

The Working Committee of the governing Congress party asked the government to create a new state "out of the existing state of the Punjab" with Punjabi as the official language. The recommendation is almost certain to be accepted.

Up to now, New Delhi has always resisted the plan, seeing it as a prelude to a demand for autonomy or even independence. But in recent months communal tension in the Punjab has been building.

Mrs. Gandhi, like Nehru and Shastri, has feared that to give in to the Sikhs would unleash a score of separatist movements among other minority groups that form the Indian union.

* * *

It remains to be seen if she can find a formula for Punjab that will be acceptable to the Sikhs. Right-wing Hindu groups, firm backers of Hindi as the national language, have resisted the demands. There is likely to be trouble whatever Mrs. Gandhi's course.

Once his demand for a Punjabi speaking state was met, Fateh Singh, the strongest Sikh leader, cooperated with Mrs. Gandi's government in trying to keep tempers in check.

TROUBLE ERUPTED

However, trouble erupted when the right-wing Hindu group Jan Sangh, which demands that Hindi be India's national language, violently tested the partition of Punjab. Riots broke out in the state and briefly in New Delhi.

Looters and arsonists clashed with police in many Punjabi cities, revealing a coordinated plan of attack on the government's authority.

* * *

Although Fateh Singh kept his warrior like people in check for the most part, some direct Hindu-Sikh clashes occurred. Many Jan Sangh leaders were arrested, and police also picked up Tara Singh, the Punjab's second-ranking Sikh leader and Fateh Singh's rival in Sikh politics.

* * *

Tara Singh, it was charged, permitted his followers to demonstrate against the partition plan. This Sikh faction declared the plan did not go far enough and that nothing but "self-determination" would satisfy the sikhs.

RELIGIOUS DISCIPLINE

Things run pretty much the way the Sikhs want, and religious discipline holds the community together. Sikh leaders can, and do, turn out thousands of their followers for a smartly dressed parade — whenever a demonstration of their strength and unity is deemed necessary.

The Golden Temple, like all Sikh temples, is a center of Sikh life. Free meals and lodging are available to all who need them.

* * *

"You will never see a Sikh begging," Ssingh once said, "and we are not begging now."

In dealings with the New Delhi government, he tends to speak of Sikh "demands" — not "requests."

Scoring Honors to Fife

It's no coincidence that four members of the Pontiac Press All-County basketball team also led the county scoring parade during the 1965-66 season.

★ ★ ★

The four are Dan Fife of Clarkston, John Canine of Hazel Park, Roger Peltz of Royal Oak Kimball and Rick Ziem of Waterford. They finished in that order in the scoring race.

Fife, Clarkston's talented junior, topped all scorers with a 33-point-a-game average through 16 games.

The 6-3 Fife, who saw action at every position for the Wolves sometime during the season, collected 182 field goals and 165 free throws for a total of 528 points.

★ ★ ★

It was the shooting of Fife that helped Clarkston produce an 11-5 record and a third place finish in the Wayne-Oakland League race.

BEST SEASON

Canine, sporting a 27.9 average, led Hazel Park to second place in the Southeastern Michigan Association and to a 14-2 record, best in the school's history.

★ ★ ★

Canine finished with 447 points, six ahead of Kimball's Peltz, who wound up with a 27.5 average in 16 outings.

Ziem, with an average of 24.0, set a game scoring record at Waterford with 44 points in his final outing, and he passed the 1,000-point mark during the campaign to establish an all-time scoring record for the Skippers.

★ ★ ★

In all, 11 cagers wound up the season with averages of more than 20 points a game.

Joe Burks of Bay City Central paced the Saginaw Valley Conference scorers with a mark of 24.2.

Move to Pack Tax Unit Fails

LANSING (AP) — An effort failed Thursday to pack the Senate Taxation Committee so it would favorably report on a tax bill said to benefit metropolitan areas.

But Acting Committee Chairman Sen. Stanley Rozycki, D-Detroit, the target of the packing attempt, said he still was open-minded on the measure and would call further committee meetings to consider it.

The bill in question would require the State Tax Commission to use straight line depreciation schedules for industrial machinery and equipment.

Last year the commission introduced so-called accelerated depreciation schedules, which governments in industrial areas said cost them millions of property tax dollars.

EARLY DECLINE

Accelerated depreciation permits the owner of equipment to write off a greater proportion of its value in its early years of use so that its taxable value declines much like the value of an automobile—quickly at first, then slower.

Straight line depreciation requires an equal amount of value to be written off each year.

The bill, approved by the Senate, is now in the Senate Taxation Committee, where it needs four votes to win approval.

AIM FOR $2 MILLION — The Beach Boys expect to earn two million dollars in 1966. The singing group includes three brothers, a cousin and an honorary relative. They are (from left, top) Mike Love, the cousin; Brian Wilson; Carl Wilson; (bottom) Al Jardine, and Dennis Wilson.

Beach Boys Ride the Crest on Incoming Wave of Cash

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The family that sings together can grow rich together, as in the case of the Beach Boys.

There are five of them: three brothers -Brian, Dennis and Carl Wilson; a cousin, Mike Love; and an honorary relative, Alan Jardine, who went to school with the lads in Hawthorne, California.

THOMAS

"We had a lot of musical get-togethers when we were growing up," recalls Brian Wilson, spokesman and musical mentor of the Beach Boys. "Our dad was a songwriter who had a number recorded by Lawrence Welk and did all right with some other songs. We were always singing and playing guitars."

One thing led to another, and the Beach Boys expect to be earning a total of two million dollars in 1966. Other families should be so lucky.

CHATS ABOUT SUCCESS

Brian arrived for a chat about the group's phenomenal success. He is a serious chap of 23½ years, tallish, overweight, with a rebellious mop of brown hair that is not as kempt as the Beatles'.

His seriousness was partly due to the fact that he has been in the process of creating the Beach Boys' magnum opus, a new album called "Pet Sounds." It has already been 4½ months in the making and isn't finished yet.

★ ★ ★

"This will be a new plateau for us," said Brian. "It will be the most carefully produced album ever made, and I want each number to be absolutely the best. That's why it has taken so long."

His labors carry the blessing of Capitol Records, which has profited enormously from the Beach Boys. They have clocked one gold record, "I Get Around," and six gold albums, meaning that total sales on each album totaled more than a million dollars.

SURFING CRAZE

The Beach Boys rode the crest of the surfing craze that struck the nation's teen-agers a few years back. Actually, only Dennis Wilson was a bona fide surfer, but the boys presented a fresh, California-style appearance that caught the youthful fancy. They wore white pants and striped shirts and put forth a thumping guitar beat that seemed akin to the rhythm of the waves.

"We started with the surfing image," said Brian, "but now we feel it's time to expand our image. We're going for a wider audience with more diversified songs, and it seems to be working.

★ ★ ★

"Every day an older audience is creeping in. Now when we give concerts, the age range is more between 20 and 26 than teen-age."

The Beach Boys spend a third of their year playing concerts hither and yon, but Brian does not often accompany them. He stays home and concocts new numbers for the albums, which are the backbone of their enterprise.

★ ★ ★

He also calls the shots on career matters. Beach party-type pictures are out, although they did one early in the game. They are also bearish about television appearances. "Most engineers don't know how to mix the sound for singing acts," Brian explained. "So why go on TV and risk destroying the whole scene?"

Sex Program for Youngsters

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — The questions that children ask about sex are being answered in a kindergarten and elementary school pilot program that has the backing of parents.

The project in the Landing Elementary School has worked out so well that it will be extended throughout Long Island's Glen Cove School District.

"It's based on the fact that children seem uncomfortable with their growing bodies, and they ask questions that their parents can't seem to answer," said Rose Daniels, the nurse-teacher in charge of the program.

Mrs. Daniels and school Principal Mary Kellar developed the program three years ago after parents had sought help in coping with the questions that trouble a young mind.

SMALL GROUPS

"It began in small group meetings with parents," said Mrs. Kellar, "and eventually was put into the school in all levels from kindergarten to the fifth grade."

The philosophy behind the program, says Dist. School Supt. Albert R. Brinkman, is: "Sex is something you are, not something you do."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kellar said the material is not given to the children in formal instruction. Instead, she said, it is presented more in a consultation manner as Mrs. Daniels visits the classes on other school health matters.

Lynda Bird to Celebrate With Actor

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor George Hamilton introduces President Johnson's daughter Lynda Bird to his friends in the society and movie worlds this weekend at a cocktail party and intimate dinner celebrating her 22nd birthday.

★ ★ ★

One hundred friends, including the cream of the international movie crop, were invited to Hamilton's 39-room mansion overlooking the Beverly Hills Hotel and Sunset Boulevard for tonight's cocktail party.

He also arranged a dinner party for 12—all intimates — for tomorrow night to help Lynda Bird mark her birthday.

Both affairs were to be held in the mansion built in 1919 by silent film star Douglas Fairbanks Sr. Sources describe Grey Hall as a "breathtakingly lovely" chateau furnished in antiques collected by Hamilton.

★ ★ ★

BOBBY DARIN

Last night the young couple attended the Cocoanut Grove of the Ambassador Hotel, where they were entertained by singer Bobby Darin, a friend of the actor.

It was the second weekend in a row that the young couple has been together. Last weekend, Hamilton was a guest at the LBJ Ranch in Texas.

Lynda's close friends insist she is in love with Hamilton, but White House sources emphasize she is just "having fun." Lynda says she "respects and admires" Hamilton, but ducks questions about possible marriage plans.

Invited to tonight's party were a number of society friends and such celebrities as Eddie Fisher, Glenn Ford, Natalie Wood, Van Johnson, Polly Bergen, Hugh O'Brian, Jim Mitchum, Janet Leigh, Laurence Harvey, Sam Goldwin Jr., Elke Sommer, Tony Martin and his dancer wife, Cyd Charisse, and Bobby Darin and his wife, Sandra Dee.

Fromer White House news secretary Pierre Salinger, who served Presidents Johnson and Kennedy, also was invited, as was Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson.
