Canada Insisting on News Control Over Gouzenko

But Sen. Jenner Says Spy Information Must Go to Congress

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada stood pat today on its insistence that U. S. officials may question Igor Gouzenko about Soviet spying only if the Dominion government keeps complete control over publicity of any resulting evidence.

That threw the international tussle over efforts of the U. S. Senate internal security subcommittee to interview Gouzenko into at least a temporary stalemate.

Gouzenko is the former code expert at the Russian Embassy here who turned against the Soviets in 1945, enabling Canada to uncover a vast Red espionage network which apparently branched into the United States.

Gouzenko now lives under an assumed name in a little village "somewhere in Ontario," under protection of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The U. S. Senate subcommittee, digging into ramifications of the explosive Harry Dexter White case, has tried twice to get Canadian permission to talk with Gouzenko.

Yesterday the Dominion government said "yes"—but under conditions the subcommittee chairman, Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), didn't like.

Canada announced officially that anyone designated by U. S. authorities could question Gouzenko — provided (1) he is willing (2) the meeting is confidential and under Canadian auspices, and (3) Canada retains the right to say evidence or information obtained shall remain secret or be made public.

Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson laid down the conditions in a note to the State Department and in a long, heartily applauded speech in Parliament.

In Washington, Jenner objected to the terms and hurried off a letter to Secretary of State Dulles asking him to keep on negotiating with Canada.

Jenner wrote that he felt the subcommittee "could not receive evidence vital to the security of the United States, and the United States alone, and commit itself not to make it available to Congress if necessary." In effect, that would be making it public.

The only official reaction here was in the polite language of diplomacy. Pearson told a reporter that his government naturally would weigh carefully any new communication on the subject from Dulles.

"I wouldn't want to say more until I saw the communication," the foreign minister said, "but we came to our decision only after very careful consideration."

Another Canadian authority on foreign affairs likewise said a new U. S. note would receive due consideration, but it would be difficult for the Canadian government to change its attitude.

Storms Wrack Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—New snow and rain storms gripped Turkey today. At least four dead were reported.

Order of the Day on Korean Front Is Thanksgiving

PANMUNJOM (AP) — America's traditional day of Thanksgiving today took precedence over work on plans for a Korean peace conference and the stalled Communist campaign to woo home prisoners of war who have refused repatriation.

The ponderous and complicated armistice machinery was at a virtual standstill for the Thanksgiving Day holiday. Diplomats trying to arrange a peace conference took the day off.

For thousands of American troops, South Koreans and U.N. forces there were prayers, big turkey dinners and holiday entertainment.

There was something special, too, for 22 Americans who have refused to go home.

The Indian Command, which guards unrepatriated prisoners, said the Chinese Communists supplied chicken, eggs, fish, pork, beef and candy for Thanksgiving dinner.

The food was shared by 1 Briton and 328 South Koreans who the Reds say have chosen communism.

There were no church services in the North Korean camp housing the 22 Americans.

Communist interviews with Chinese and Korean prisoners are stalled by Red refusal to accept Indian rules for speeding up the program. Deadline for completing the interviews is Dec. 23.

Ike Is Carving 39-Pound Bird

Dinner to Be at Seven So Son John Can Join Family at Augusta

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower, like the heads of thousands of other American families, honed a carving knife today for use on the traditional Thanksgiving turkey.

In the President's case, he was ready to apply the knife to a 39-pound prize gobbler and to parcel out shares with all the trimmings to his son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, and his three grandchildren.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower deferred dinner until 7 p.m. (EST) because the major is having an earlier turkey feast across Georgia at Ft. Benning, where he commands the 1st Battalion of the 30th Infantry Division.

The Chief Executive and Mrs. Eisenhower, vacationing here until Sunday, arranged to attend Thanksgiving services at the Reid Memorial Presbyterian Church. Services begin at 10:30 A.M., EST.

Dinner tonight will be in the Trophy Room of the Augusta National Golf Club, close by the new "Little White House" built by fellow club members for the President. The family will be joined at dinner by a few old friends.

On the menu in addition to the traditional turkey with oyster dressing will be fruit cup, yams, cranberry sauce, green vegetables and pumpkin pie.

Late yesterday, newsmen accompanying the President from Washington were his guests at his new vacation home.

When they arrived, Eisenhower was on the lawn in front of the 1½ story white brick cottage known as "Mamie's Cabin" for the first lady.

He had a motion picture camera and was concentrating on filming the house, with Mrs. Eisenhower on the front porch.

He swung the camera around, trained it on the arriving news photographers, and remarked with a grin:

"You fellows get over there so I can take a picture of you for a change."

Takes a Lot of Help to Do This Job Right

ROKs Demand Unity by Jan. 27

Rhee Government Calls for Joining of North and South—or Else

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — South Korea warned today it still expects the peninsula to be unified by Jan. 27 — or else.

Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tae cautioned the ROK government "might do something which the world will know about" if the delayed and still uncalled Korean peace conference fails by that date.

Pyun refused to reveal what action his government may take if Korea is still split by communism and democracy on the deadline date. However, guarded ROK statements have threatened South Korea may reopen the war if the peace parley fails to give the nation one government by Jan. 27.

"If there should be no achievement by then," Pyun said, "we might do something which the world will know about. I cannot tell you what it is."

Pyun's warning came after reports that U. S. Envoy Arthur H. Dean was preparing an ultimatum to deliver to Communist diplomats in an attempt to speed summoning of the conference.

Dean has been meeting with his Red counterparts for nearly five weeks in an attempt to arrange the unification parley, but the negotiators have made little progress.

Labor Group Lauded

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — President Eisenhower's assistant secretary of labor told the International Labor Organization today that his administration regards the ILO as the "greatest single agency of international action that exists."

Says Union Official Made Loan to Start Truck Line

DETROIT (AP) — Testimony that a Minneapolis trucking line was started partially with a loan arranged by the AFL Teamsters Union chief there was in the records of a House labor and education sub-committee today.

James McNelis of the Red Truck Line testified last night that $3,500 of the money with which he acquired the business came on a loan arranged by Sidney Brennan, Minneapolis Teamsters boss and an international vice president of the union.

McNelis admitted several checks made out to Brennan and marked for "repairs" or "advertising" were in partial payment of the loan. He conceded he used this method to keep anyone from knowing Brennan had an interest in the Red Truck Line.

But he heatedly denied a suggestion by William McKenna, subcommittee counsel, that the checks were Brennan's cut of the business.

McNelis, on questioning, said he borrowed $23,304 of the money with which he acquired the trucking firm from Charles Kiewel, a Minneapolis brewer, but he denied Brennan had anything to do with arranging it.

And it generated a racket of a different kind as it adjourned its night session until Friday. Blustery Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich) set it off.

Hoffman asked Smith whether the group was going to investigate reports which Hoffman claimed to have from employes of Studebaker Corp. that they were being forced to buy Studebaker cars.

Smith said such an investigation was outside powers granted the subcommittee.

"That's nonsense," snapped Hoffman. "Some big shot in Washington is trying to force us to call it off."

Death Toll at 19 for Thanksgiving

17 Killed in Traffic as Wintry Weather Makes Driving Hazardous

By UNITED PRESS

Wintry weather made driving hazardous in many areas today as millions of motorists set out on Thanksgiving jaunts, and icy streets were blamed for several of the holiday's first tragedies.

Latest tabulation showed that 17 persons had been killed in traffic accidents since 6 p. m. Wednesday. Two other persons died in miscellaneous accidents to bring the total to 19.

Rain and snow flurries that were general over most of the eastern half of the country last night and early today stopped or subsided except in the area from the Mississippi to the Alleghanies and south to Kentucky.

But the National Safety Council feared the midwest flurries and the moisture left by the storms in other areas would leave highways slippery death traps.

The council does not issue a prediction of the expected number of deaths Thanksgiving because it is only a one-day holiday.

At Pampa, Tex., doctors said that 22 persons who became violently ill after eating a Thanksgiving dinner yesterday were expected to recover.

Man Is Located After 22 Years

Paper Finds Vanished Tennesseean in Texas With Ex-Secretary

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Nashville Tennesseean reported today it had located Thomas C. Buntin, member of a socially prominent Nashville family who disappeared 22 years ago, living in Orange, Tex. as man and wife with his former secretary who dropped from sight with him. Both had long since been declared legally dead.

The Tennesseean in a copyrighted story from Orange said Buntin and the former Betty McCuddy of Russellville, Ky., had been living under the name of Thomas D. and Betty Palmer.

They had raised a family of six, four daughters and two sons. One daughter presented them with a grandchild last October, the other is expecting a baby momentarily.

When Buntin, an insurance man, disappeared in September 1931, he left a wife and three sons in Nashville. She is now married to Louie Phillips, president of the Broadway National Bank of Nashville. The sons are Thomas C. Buntin, 31, Nashville commercial artist; Rogers C. Buntin and Daniel C. Buntin, the latter two in their late 20's.

Buntin was 28 at the time of his mysterious disappearance; Miss McCuddy 22.

Last Nov. 6 the New York Life Insurance Co., which had been forced by court order to pay a $50,000 life insurance policy on Buntin seven years after his disappearance, disclosed it had found him but declined to say where.

It was then that the Tennesseean took up the search which ended in locating the couple who now live in a white frame house at 1001 Orange St., in the small southeast Texas citrus center.

MIGs Reported Over ROK Isle

Allied Source Charges Foe With Flying Near U. N. Airfield

SEOUL (AP) — A highly reliable Allied source said tonight enemy aircraft have caused frequent night alerts at an Allied airfield on an island off the west coast of South Korea.

The island is Paengyong.

The information came from a man who had been stationed on the island. He identified the aircraft as Russian-built MIG jets.

He said the MIGS had been sweeping near the United Nations island and "have been causing frequent night alerts."

Asked for further information on the report, 5th Air Force Commander Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson said:

"No comment."

The island is northwest of Inchon and just a few miles off the coast, well within sight of land.

During the war it was an important Allied base.

Never during the Korean War was it confirmed that MIGS—the sleek swift opponents of Allied Sabre jets—ventured south of the 38th parallel. Some other Red planes were spotted over South Korea, however.

During the shooting war, pounding attacks by Allied fighter-bombers prevented the Communists from basing MIGS south of the Yalu River. MIG bases were in Manchuria.

Since the armistice July 27, however, many MIGS have been reported at bases in North Korea.

Loot Taken From Truck Parked in Danvers as Guards Drank Coffee

BOSTON (AP) — A former convict, his wife and their former student son were under arrest today in connection with the second largest cash robbery in the nation's history—the $681,000 theft from a parked armored car in March 1952.

The FBI identified them as George D. O'Brien, 43; his wife, Margaret, 42, and George Jr., 20, a third-year student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The father was charged with the theft of property belonging to a Federal Reserve bank. His wife and son were charged with receiving stolen property.

FBI agents arrested the mother and father last night in their one-family house in a middle-class neighborhood of Wollaston, Mass., a community on Boston's south shore. The son was arrested on the M. I. T. campus in Cambridge, Mass.

The armored car, belonging to the United States Trucking Co., was robbed on a bright forenoon while parked on a busy square in Danvers, Mass., a residential town 20 miles north of Boston.

An unknown number of men drove up and rifled the armored car while its three guards were having coffee in a nearby drugstore.

It was the biggest armored car robbery in the nation and was topped only by the $1,219,000 Boston Brink's counting room robbery of January 1950, as the nation's largest cash haul.

Police Chief Raymond Kerwin of Danvers said an FBI agent told him that agents had recovered some bills whose serial numbers matched numbers of the stolen currency.

Kerwin said it had not been generally known that investigators had the serial numbers of the stolen money.

A next-door neighbor of the O'Briens, Arthur L. McGilvray, 33, said the FBI had asked him to keep an eye on their activities since the O'Briens moved into their new white colonial home from a Dorchester, Mass., tenement district last January.

The elder O'Brien was held in $100,000 bail after Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward Hassan told U. S. Commissioner Peter J. Neligan, presiding at a special night session, that the government contended O'Brien was a participant in the robbery.

The younger O'Brien was ordered held in $5,000 bail. His mother was released in $1,000 bail on her personal recognizance, because she has two other children, aged 4 and 6, to care for. A hearing will be held Dec. 9.

Hassan told the commissioner that the son and mother had received funds from O'Brien that were "knowingly taken from the armored truck in Danvers."

The FBI said the elder O'Brien served two terms in Massachusetts State Prison from 1934 to about 1940 on charges of larceny and breaking and entering.

Nation Hits New Income and Production Levels in '53

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board said today the nation lifted itself to a new level of good living in calendar 1953.

In its monthly bulletin, the Reserve Board predicted that gross national product—the total value of all goods and services produced—will total about 368 million dollars this year.

That is a record, both in terms of dollar value and the outpouring of production, and is 5 per cent more than last year.

Personal income will also set a record this year, the board said, at about 285 billion dollars, 6 per cent over the previous record set last year.

Farm income was about the only downward line on the board's charts of economic conditions from January to December in 1953. The report said the income of farm proprietors has "declined markedly" and is back at the postwar low reached in 1949, about 16¼ billion dollars.

The board divided the year into a winter and spring boom period, followed by a gradual letdown in the summer and fall.

Ewan Clague, head of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said yesterday the nation's inflationary period appears to be at an end. He said the bureau's index of living costs, at a record high in October for the fifth straight month, may decline in the coming winter months.

Since midyear, the Reserve Board said, businessmen have slowed the growth of their inventories, which resulted in fewer new orders and has been the chief factor in the slight economic downturn—about 1 per cent—since the spring high.

"The year as a whole will be one of substantial achievement in terms of utilization of manpower and industrial resources, additional productive capacity, higher consumer standards, and over-all stability of prices," the board said.

"Since midyear, however, demands have eased and some declines have occurred in output and employment."

Some other highlights of the board's report on 1953:

1. "Average wholesale prices have been remarkably stable . . . consumer prices have increased steadily, . . . but in October were only about 1 per cent higher than a year ago."

2. "Federal expenditures for national security programs are estimated to be only moderately larger this year, accounting for about one-seventh of total output. . . state and local government purchases will be in record amount, about 7 per cent larger than in 1952."

3. "For the full year, business outlays for fixed investments—construction of facilities and dur-

Masonry Blamed for Fire Replaced; Other Chimneys in Area to Be Inspected

BIRMINGHAM — Building inspector Jack Walker has revealed that the defective fireplace which caused a fire at 2788 Pembroke Nov. 11 has been replaced by the contractor, and several more will be repaired.

The contractor is furnishing a list of homes on which the mason whose workmanship was faulty worked, and they will all be inspected at once, Walker added.

"Of 20 chimneys we've inspected so far, several need patching, and for safety sake, I think we'll check all the chimneys in the subdivision," he said.

Praising the cooperation residents of the area have shown, Walker explained that the inspection is a simple matter of studying the interior of the chimney with a strong spotlight, and would be accomplished with a minimum of disruption to householders.

A faulty flue joint which allowed flames to ignite insulation was the cause of the first fire, according to Fire Chief V. W. Griffith.

Performances of "Rapunzel and the Witch" will be given at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Birmingham Theater, for vacationing school youngsters.

The tale of the fairy princess locked in the tower and rescued by a prince, will be given by the Children's World Theater of New York and is being sponsored by Children's Theater here.

Thanksgiving Day

Over and above the many blessings we Americans enjoy there is a special reason today for prayers of thanksgiving to the Father of all men.

The fighting in Korea is over and the shedding of the blood of our youth has stopped. It may be a long time before we can get from the Communists anything more than this armed truce.

But that and our many other domestic and foreign problems are far from unbearable. It is enough to know that after three years of frustrating combat with its ever growing casualty lists, American homes across the land no longer are receiving tragic telegrams.

Besides this gift of an end to blood letting, we Americans should pause today to give thanks for many other blessings shared by all 160,000,000 of us. Not only should we give thanks for our unparalleled material well-being but for our priceless privilege of American citizenship.

At the same time we should rededicate ourselves to the protection of all the rights, freedoms and opportunities that citizenship guarantees.

One paragraph of President Eisenhower's Thanksgiving Day proclamation crystallizes the meaning and spirit of this traditional observance in these words:

"... Let all of us in accordance with our hallowed custom foregather in our respective places of worship and bow before God in contrition for sins, in suppliance for wisdom in our striving for a better world and in gratitude for the manifold blessings He has bestowed upon us and upon our fellow men."

We have received so much, give us one more thing — a grateful heart.

Hiss Again Denied Parole

It is extremely unlikely that there will be any public disagreement with the Federal Parole Board's second refusal to release Alger Hiss from the Lewisburg, Pa., prison.

Hiss began serving a five year term in March, 1951, after his conviction on a charge of perjury. The former State Department official had escaped trial on a more serious count of treason only because of the Statute of Limitations. He was found guilty of lying after he denied having transmitted secret Government documents to the Russians.

On November 24, 1952, his first application for parole was rejected by the Board. But it automatically was scheduled for reconsideration this week. Providing he gets the usual good behavior allowance, Hiss will be eligible for release November, 1954.

We know of no reason why he should be freed before that time.

Young man, don't run after women. You can stroll along leisurely and get mixed up with more of them than you'll know what to do about.

Eyeopener for India

There are increasing sings at Panmunjom of Communist eagerness to find a face saving way out of the propaganda disaster their Operations Persuasion has created.

Part of the price the Reds are paying for the privilege of forced interviews with Communist POWs who don't want to go home, is the disillusionment of General Thimayya.

The chairman of the repatriation commission and commander of neutralist India's troops has learned a lot about Communism and clearly doesn't like what he has learned.

On more than one occasion he has shown that his patience with the Reds is about exhausted. Already he has cut short some interviews that were being pressed to the point of mental torture and has described some Communist methods as absurd.

As a result Thimayya and his troops have become the prime targets of Communist rage. They accuse the Indians of mistreating and murdering prisoners and many other crimes.

Back of these attacks, of course, is the poor showing the Reds have made in Operation Persuasion. So far only three per cent of the Chinese and North Koreans interviewed have agreed to go home. Many others have showed violently that they preferred exile to life in their Communist homelands.

Perhaps even more important uropagandawise is the new view of Communism gained by Gen. Thimayya and his troops. They have seen first hand the difference between the Reds' words and deeds. In the long run that may prove to be the West's greatest propaganda victory.

With reference to the Brownell performance, many who horned in on the act at first soon sneaked back into the wings.

"The earth is not a perfect sphere," says an astronomer. There seem to be strong indications that it also isn't a perfect anything else.

The Man About Town

Saving Indian Lore

Pontiac Man Making Tape Recordings of Their History

Daffynition

Opportunity: Something often not recognized because it is disguised as work.

Now dividing his time between Pontiac and Hulbert,

Kenneth Slater

has a hobby of tape recording Indian lore. One of his most recent is the story told by

Joe John,

106 year old Northern Peninsula Chippewa, of Indian life dating back for a century, and covering Hiawatha. This old Indian is regarded as the hereditary chief of the Sault Ste. Marie area. In recognition of Mr. Slater's work, the Chippewas are to make him a chief next spring. During the summer he operates a landing craft on the Tahquamenon River.

Any old resident will tell you that our winters are getting milder and shorter. In the closing years of the last century Pontiac young people could usually depend upon skating on the lakes on Thanksgiving.

"It could not have honestly gone any other way," says

Ed. Graybiel,

Pontiac High School football coach, in commenting on the decision of the conference directors that puts Michigan State in the Rose Bowl.

My Lansing scout sends word that it is certain Oakland County will loom big in making up the Democratic slate for next year's state election. It is claimed that a big majority of his party feels that can have anything he wants, and will endeavor to delegate who is to run for any top office he doesn't want. Hence, if he has ambitions to become Michigan's first four-term governor, he will endorse either of Pontiac, or

Clark J. Adams

Philip A. Hart

of Birmingham, to make the run against

U. S. Senator Homer Ferguson

for the latter's office. And if Williams himself wishes to try to unseat Ferguson, he will endorse either Adams or Hart for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Another new word is coming into use. It is meaning mighty good to the taste.

Losing two fingers in a corn picking machine a few days ago, it looked like a dismal Thanksgiving for of Oxford. But his worries were somewhat relieved when a score of his neighbors turned out and completed picking his 72 acres of corn.

Modestly assuming credit for help in getting their bucks, superintendent of Pontiac Lake recreational area, says many local deer hunters sharpened their sights at his rifle range before going north.

John H. Reagan,

Perhaps one of the auto makers is going too far back in calling its 1954 station wagon the "Conestoga." It takes quite a pioneer to remember the original Conestoga wagon, found on many farms.

African violets blooming outdoors on Thanksgiving Day are reported by

Mrs. Johnson White,

who has several in her garden in Elizabeth Lake Estates.

Mrs. Parry Says 'Hats Off' to People Protecting Country; Let's Be Thankful

He Dislikes Thought of 'Non-Aggression Pact'

The Greenlease kidnap case and the Russian A-H bombs are the top stories of the day.

Without minimizing the heinous aspects of the kidnaping there is a tragic lack of realism in our approach to dealing with the Russian bombs. After all, the kidnapers played for a paltry (by comparison) two-thirds of a million dollars and kidnaped one child from one home.

The perpetrators of threat from the other kidnaped an empire and for ransom demand the destiny of a race . . . and we threat with them, even to the extent of considering a "non-aggression pact." Certainly there must be something wrong with our moral awareness.

We should not think of a non-aggression pact with them. We shouldn't consent to their presence in the United Nations any more than we should invite the kidnapers to speak in our schools and churches.

We should permit their embassies in our country no more than we should invite those criminals as dinner guests in our homes.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness, full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers.—Romans 1:29.

Multitudes think they like to do evil; yet no man ever really enjoyed doing evil since God made the world.—Ruskin.

Just A Smile

That's Why

Adam and Eve were naming the animals of the earth when along came a rhinoceros. "What shall we call this one?" asked Adam.

"Let's call it a rhinoceros."

"But why a rhinoceros?"

"Well, because it looks more like a rhinoceros than anything we've named yet."

Wrong Number

A film star spent a weekend at a New York hotel. On leaving, he presented the manager with a huge box of flowers, saying:

"These are for the telephone operators."

"What a nice compliment," said the manager.

"Compliment — don't be a fool," retorted the film star. "It's a wreath. I thought they were dead."

McCarthy Criticizes Ike Administration in Strong Bid for Political Prominence

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy has not only offered himself as a national political issue, but has contradicted President Eisenhower and is attempting to force Eisenhower's hand in foreign affairs.

The Wisconsin Republican Tuesday combined a television-radio reply to former President Truman's blast at "McCarthyism" with his strongest bid yet for political prominence.

McCarthy was left on the sidelines when the Eisenhower administration through Atty. Gen. Brownell accused the Truman administration of laxity in ridding the government of Communists.

This was the charge McCarthy had been making for years. But once Brownell made it, it was the Senate's subcommittee on internal security—headed by Sen. Jenner, Indiana Republican—which picked up the ball and ran with it, not McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Last night McCarthy must have disillusioned anyone who thought he would stay in the wings while Brownell's sensational accusations were being examined and investigated.

From the time he took office last January Eisenhower has avoided any public head-on clash with McCarthy—even when the senator tried to block the president's nomination of Charles E. Bohlen as ambassador to Moscow.

If Eisenhower hoped a collision with the senator could be avoided indefinitely, he has learned differently, for McCarthy Tuesday night criticized not only the Democrats but Eisenhower's administration as well.

The contradiction of Eisenhower—

In a recent news conference Eisenhower expressed a hope that Communists-in-government would not be an issue in the 1954 congressional elections. Tuesday night McCarthy, in recalling this statement, said:

"The raw, harsh, unpleasant fact is that communism is an issue and will be an issue in 1954."

As a rallying point and national issue himself—

McCarthy said: "If the American people agree with Truman that what he calls McCarthyism is bad, that it is wrong to dig out and expose traitors, they have a chance to get rid of me as chairman of the investigating committee by defeating any Republican up for reelection."

Criticism of the administration and attempt to force Eisenhower's hand—

McCarthy called on the people to threaten with defeat at the polls their elected officials—this would include Eisenhower and members of both parties in Congress—if they didn't stop aid for any ally "shipping sinews of war to the enemy (Red China)."

He slammed Truman and the Democrats, as was usual and to be expected, for not getting Communists out of the government faster. And he said in this field the Republicans had done "infinitely" better. He pointed to 1,456 "security risks" fired under Eisenhower.

But then he said he wanted to look at where the Republican administration's batting average was what he called "zero."

He pointed to John Patton Davies—diplomat still in the government after McCarthy's long efforts to get him out.

Then he turned to "failure of my party to liquidate the foulest bankruptcy of the Democrat administration." He cited a Chinese Communist announcement, after the truce-signing, that American fliers shot down over Manchuria would not be released.

At the same time, he said, American allies, getting American aid, are trading with the Chinese Communists. How to force the Red Chinese to give up the fliers? His solution: shut off trade with them.

McCarthy said:

"You can say to those whom you have elected to man the watchtowers of this nation, Democrat and Republican alike: 'you will be taken down from those watchtowers if you continue to take money from my paycheck today and send it to any of those allies who are in turn shipping the sinews of war to the Communist enemy.'"

McCarthy's 30 minutes on television and radio was not sufficient time for him to deliver the full speech he had prepared, but he said he stood behind the full test.

Case Records of a Psychologist

When You Feel Confident Your Strength Grows

Jack was an athletic young man who suddenly found his muscles turning to water. And it was due to fear. When we think positively and have confidence, our muscles actually are far stronger than we are fearful, as the hypnosis experiment described below will clearly prove.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case J-352: Jack J., aged 20, was a member of my crew of tree surgeons when I was a young man.

For I worked for a couple of years as a tree surgeon and headed up a gang of half a dozen athletic workers.

Jack was a newcomer to the organization. The first day on the job he had shinned up a tall elm with his pruning saw fastened to his belt.

But just as he was about to throw his leg over the fork in the tree, he looked down. And he grew panicky.

"Help, help!" he yelled, "for I can't hold on," and before we could go to his rescue, he dropped about 30 feet to the ground, spraining his ankle.

Actually he had plenty of strength available, but his fear robbed him of it.

If he had hugged the tree only moderately, the friction of the rough bark against his work shirt, would have stopped his descent. But Jack was so scared he was practically powerless.

If you think positively and feel confident, your strength is actually greater than when you feel deflated or afraid.

This fact was specifically proved by an interesting hypnosis experiment in England where a group of soldiers were giving a handgrip test.

Before they were hypnotized, they were told to grip the machine as hard as they could. Since they were competing with each other, they did a good job and averaged 101 lbs.

Then they were hypnotized. Now they were told that they were weak and feeble. Under this negative attitude, they were then urged to grip the machine as strongly as possible.

And they averaged only 60 lbs.! But notice what happened next, for they were now told that they were strong, powerful, Herculean.

And with this positive mental attitude, their handgrip averaged 140 lbs! Note that this was almost 40 per cent higher than their best possible strength when they were in the normal waking state.

"But, Dr. Crane, where did that extra strength come from?" you may ask.

Well, we know the muscles didn't grow bigger and stronger by an increase in the number or size of the muscle cells.

So that great power was there all the time! But in the normal waking state, when these men were competing, their attention was diverted somewhat.

In hypnosis, however, they concentrate their attention. For they were momentarily deaf and blind and insensitive to other stimuli. So there was less draining of their attention into other channels.

And that's why mothers, when semi-hypnotized by danger to their youngsters, often perform feats of strength that they can't duplicate under normal conditions.

Positive thinking correlates with confidence. Negative thinking is a twin for uncertainty and fear.

One reason why the New York Yankees and the Notre Dame football teams are so successful is because they "feel" successful. A long tradition of winning thus helps promote future winning.

So think good, wholesome thoughts. Look for virtues in yourself and in others, instead of fearfully analyzing your body for aches or ailments.

Join a church, too, for that extroverts your thoughts upon other people so you forget self, as Silas Marner did after little Eppie arrived.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Let's be thankful that America's taxidermists are stuffing turkeys, and themselves.

Let's be thankful this is Thursday in America instead of tomorrow some place else.

Let's be thankful about our form of government. Even though it takes some peculiar shapes.

Let's not worry over any parallel that doesn't run through your dining room.

And that no matter how many birds run for mayor of New York only one gets elected.

Be thankful that Pennsylvania Avenue is like a bowling alley. And both congress and the White House take turns being the head pin.

Be thankful we have cast our bread on the waters without emptying the bakery. Just running short on labels.

Be thankful the Democrats and Republicans pulled a preview of 1954 on the first Tuesday after the first wash-day in November. It's because of that Tuesday we have this Thursday.

If you cannot think of anything to be thankful about just be thankful it's no worse. Nobody is entirely independent who sends his laundry out or takes his dog for a walk.

Once again be thankful this is America.

We don't claim democracy is the perfect form of government. All we claim is it's as close as you can get.

Every Person, Young and Old, Requires Three Big Glasses of Milk Each Day

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Some practitioners who have little practical knowledge of the normal daily vitamin requirements of children and adults still dismiss requests for advice with the offhand assurance that any one who has a varied, well balanced diet gets all the vitamins the body needs from fruits, vegetables, etc.

R. H. A. Plimmer, noted British nutrition authority, doesn't think it is quite that easy.

"There is no justification" asserts Dr. Plimmer, "for the statement so often made that white bread eaters get enough vitamin B from the rest of a mixed diet.

"The chief natural supply of this vitamin is in the seeds of plants, and if the germ and bran are removed from our staple cereals in the milling, the vitamin B is removed."

Prof. Geo. R. Cowgill, American nutrition authority put it this way:

"If the American people continue to use (refined) wheat and sugar in amounts currently consumed, one would have to consume tremendous and impossible quantities of the protective foods —milk, green vegetables, fruits in order to secure the amount of vitamin B1 which has been lost in the past century as a result of refinement in the milling of wheat" etc.

The head drummer for the best advertised "clinic" sought to dampen the enthusiasm of some of the ordinary doctors, in regard to correcting nutritional deficiency, by publishing an article in a popular magazine, in which he said that a doctor with a very large practice, among the better class of people in this country, would see in a year only two or three cases in which he could consider nutritional deficiency a factor.

That was probably true—a patient would have to present the classical signs and symptoms of full-fledged rickets, scurvy, beri beri or pellagra before the old timers in the "clinic" would recognize nutritional deficiency.

Among the "better class", the well-to-do people of this country two nutritional deficiences are almost universally prevalent, namely, calcium deficiency due to inadequate daily consumption of milk and vitamin B complex deficiency, due to excessive consumption of refined carbohydrate — particularly white flour and white sugar.

Correction of these deficiencies is simple: Let every person, young or old, take not less than 3 glasses (1½ pints) of milk or the equivalent in milk products daily; and restore to the diet the staff of life—freshly ground whole wheat flour in place of refined white flour.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self addressed envelope is enclosed.

Charge Principal With Assault for Spanking Student

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP) — A high school principal was charged with assault and battery after he spanked one of his students.

M. G. Anderson, head of North Side High School, was accused in a warrant obtained yesterday by A. G. Neely, father of the 14-year-old pupil, Randolph Neely.

Neely said his son yelled while seated in a school bus Nov. 13 and Anderson took him off the bus and whipped him with a tennis racquet. The boy's finger was so badly cut it required a stitch, the warrant stated.

Anderson said young Neely "let out a war-whoop" while he was talking to the students.

"I asked him to come to my office. There I used a table-tennis paddle and do not deny that I whipped him, for he needed it."

A hearing will be held Dec. 5.

ORTONVILLE — Service is pending for Alfred D. Smith, 73, of 1680 State Park Rd., who died Wednesday at his residence after a year's illness.

Surviving besides his widow, Ida May, are a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Spallas, of Ohio; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Ella Sines of Pontiac and a step-son, Harold Ames of Indiana. A sister, Mrs. Ella Miller and a brother, Adolph of Pontiac also survive.

SPARE THAT BIRD—Three-year-old Cindy Debault vents her opposition to the axing ideas of Mike Cool by bawling loudly and looking the other way. The large turkey, a Kissimmee, Fla., Lions Club idea, was set up to mark Thanksgiving. The bird stands 10 feet high and the sculptor figures there'd be 500 pounds of holiday dinner there if she were real instead of papier-mache.

Red Peace Plan Up Before U. N.

65-Nation Committee Votes Today but Defeat Is Expected

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N.'s 60-nation Political Committee aimed for a vote today on Russia's 1953-model peace plan amid predictions that it would meet the same defeat accorded similar Soviet proposals in the past.

Scheduling a meeting despite the U.S. Thanksgiving holiday, the committee was first slated to hear a last ditch appeal from Russia's Chief Delegate Andrei Vishinsky for approval of the plan the assembly and its committees have rejected year after year.

Vishinsky reportedly had a 30-page speech ready, filled with blasts against the United States and other opponents of his plan.

The United States has urged the U.N. to junk Russia's latest proposal for easing world tension and suggested that the Soviet Union could clear the air herself if she gave up "seeking the violent overthrow of the U.S. government."

The five-point Russian plan would have the assembly: (1) ban atomic, hydrogen and other weapons of mass destruction; (2) recommend a big-power arms cut of one-third in a year; (3) recognize that bases of one state on another's territory, threaten peace; (4) urge the Security Council to effect the elimination of such bases, and (5) call on all governments to scrap war propaganda.

The United States contends the first four points are merely a re-echo of old Soviet proposals which the assembly has found unsound and says the fifth point has been taken care of by assembly resolutions.

France and other major powers have urged Russia to withdraw its proposal and not waste the committee's time by forcing it to vote on something it doesn't want.

Speaks at Walled Lake High

Arabian Studying at UM Lauds Student Exchange

WALLED LAKE — "There can be no peace without understanding," an Arabian exchange student told a Walled Lake High School speech class Monday.

Bahjat B. Khleif, a native of Nazareth, Palestine, pointed to exchange fellowships as a positive aid to international understanding.

He said such programs enable students to live in other countries long enough to gain a knowledge of the people and their philosophy and to be able to return and interpert other people's ideas for their countrymen.

Khleif, a student at the University of Michigan, spoke before Mrs. William Duckwitz's high school class. He was introduced by H. J. McVey, chairman of the Walled Lake Rotary exchange student program.

Rotary scholarships are available for American students to live and study in nearly every country except those behind the Iron Curtain. Prerequisites are a knowledge of the language of the country and a place in the upper fourth of the student's high school class.

Klaus Volkholz, a German exchange student and member of the speech class, was chairman for the meeting.

Fluoride Treatment Set for McConnell

Pontiac Public Schools' mobile fluoride treatment center will move to McConnell School next week to start treating the teeth of a new group of youngsters.

Decay - preventing treatments were recently given students of Longfellow and Central schools.

Josephine Seely, health services coordinator for the school system, said second grade pupils of McConnell and Wilson schools and second and third grades of St. Trinity Lutheran and St. Frederick schools, whose parents have paid the $4 fee, will be treated at McConnell starting next Tuesday.

A parcel post service was established in the United States for the first time January 1, 1913.

Bar Misses Telephone When Callers Leave

CHICAGO (AP)—The two men who walked into Joseph Glickin's South Side tavern last night didn't buy anything — they said they just wanted to make a long distance telephone call.

One of the men, carrying a shopping bag, entered the phone booth. His companion stood in front of the door. Twenty-five minutes later they left.

A few minutes later a customer went into the booth to make a phone call. He complained to Glickin: the telephone, plus the coin box, had been removed from the wall.

Stork Has No Regard for Parking Regulations

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Jerome Ammerman got a traffic ticket last week for parking overtime in front of the Kaiser Foundation Hospital here.

Yesterday, Oakland Traffic Fine Clerk Charles Bock received from Ammerman by mail:

Prisoners in Knoxville Are Holiday-Minded

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Knox Count jail was crowded with more than a hundred prisoners—far above par—today. City jail was just about empty.

Word got around that the county planned a Thanksgiving menu of turkey and trimmings.

City jail offered the usual black coffee and bologna sandwiches.

Rhee Unlikely to Start Scrap

U. S. Officers Believe Korean Fighting Is Over but See Division

TOKYO (AP)—Top American officials in the Orient are convinced there will be no more fighting in Korea unless something touches off World War III.

At the same time, they see little chance now for peaceful unification of Korea since the treaty signed this week between Red China and North Korea in effect moved China's border southward almost to Parallel 38.

South Korea's President Syngman Rhee has threatened to order his 16 American-trained divisions northward unless a peace conference makes progress toward uniting his country by Jan. 27—six months after the Korean armistice was signed.

But generals and diplomats who have visited Korea during the past month say Rhee will not reopen the war.

They cite these reason for their belief:

1. Rhee has been told the United States will withdraw its forces from Korea if he rekindles the war.

2. ROK forces have only enough ammunition for six days if the United States shuts off the quartermaster supply faucets.

3. Rhee wouldn't risk losing almost a billion dollars in U.S. aid.

The only thing that would make the U.S. troops go into action in Korea again would be for the Communists to start shooting. In that case American doughboys, sailors and airmen would fight again.

But the fighting would not be restricted to Korea, top officials say.

There is no doubt now, in the minds of Far Eastern observers, but that North Korea is a sattelite of Red China.

Prisoners coming home from the camps in North Korea reported the destruction of the country.

It will take a lot of aid to rebuild North Korea—a lot more than it will to rebuild South Korea. The United States has already promised Rhee nearly a billion dollars.

Rhee's greatest love is his country. No one in authority here expects him to turn his back on a billion dollars.

able equipment—may be about 5 per cent above the record of 1952."

4. The increase in business inventories "is likely to approximate five billion dollars, as compared with three billions in 1952."

5. Spending for non-farm residential construction has declined about 10 per cent during the year. The total number of housing units started will be about 1,100,000, about the same as in 1952 and 1951.

6. Funds for mortgages, tight earlier in the year, have become more plentiful.

7. Purchases of new automobiles have accounted for the bulk of the year's increase in spending. Passenger car output in 1953 is estimated at 6,100,000, second only to the record of 6,700,000 in 1950.

8. Spending for clothing and shoes, up sharply in 1952, fell off in 1953. Dollar outlay for food and beverages rose at a much slower rate. A sharp reduction in retail beef prices helped raise the per capita meat consumption to 151 pounds, 5 per cent above 1952.

Report Lowest Car Output Since 1952

DETROIT (AP) — The trade paper Automotive News today said November motor vehicle output will amount to only 357,500 cars and 76,500 trucks, due to model changeovers and Thanksgiving Day suspensions.

In passenger car output this will be the lowest since August 1952, and in trucks the lowest since last June.

The pape rsaid, however, that December prduction will rise to 304,000 cars and 97,000 trucks.

Automotive News noted that several car makers will remain closed on Friday and Saturday following the Thanksgiving Day shutdown.

This week's output in the United States is estimated at 52,414 cars and 17,107 trucks. Last week 79,710 cars and 24,497 trucks were produced.

The wildcat once was a sacred animal in Egypt.

41 State Cities Use Fluoride

Communities by a 4 to 1 Margin Treat Water to Combat Tooth Decay

DETROIT (AP) — Fluoridation of water supply to combat tooth decay has been adopted by a margin of nearly four to one among Michigan's leading communities.

A recent State Health Department survey shows 41 Michigan cities with populations totaling 900,000 now add fluorides to their water.

Grand Rapids, first in the state to add fluorides to its water supply in 1945, has experienced excellent results with the program. The Health Department reported half of the city's 6-year-old children free of tooth decay and a marked decrease was noted in the severity of decay found.

In 12 other Michigan cities, including Jackson, Ann Arbor, Benton Harbor, Monroe, Buchanan, St. Joseph, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo and Muskegon, fluoridation has been in effect for various periods of time since 1951.

The success of their program is undetermined because of the brief period of time involved.

But fluoridation projects sometimes encounter unusual opposition.

The city of Saginaw has had a fluoride program since 1951 by action of the City Council. The project has the endorsement of the Saginaw County Dental society although the County Medical Society hasn't taken an official stand.

In the past year, however, a group known as the Fluoridation Research Committee has come forth with active opposition. They claim the program amounts to "mass medication" and is of no proven benefit.

The program's opponents implied that cancer, heart disease, kidney disease and other ailments are inducted by fluorine. They alleged that fluoride amounted to poisoning drinking water and charged its use in other cities led to miscarriages hardening of the arteries and ill effects on the aged.

These arguments dispute endorsement of fluoridation by the American Medical Association, the National Research Council, the American Public Health Service, the American Dental Association and unqualified endorsement by the U. S. Public Health Service.

See Yule Tree Prices at Level With Last Year

LANSING (UP)—Michigan Christmas trees are moving to market in about normal volume. This means there should be no great fluctuation in prices over last year.

C. A. Boyer, chief of the State Agriculture Department Plant industry division, said today that all indications are that the normal 3,000,000 trees will be cut in Michigan Forests and tree plantations.

Of the total, 2,000,000 will be exported to other states, if this year follows the pattern of recent years.

3 Missing in Plant Blast

BISHOPTON, Scotland (UP)—Three workmen were reported missing after an explosion early today blasted an underground nitroglycerin plant at the Royal Ordnance Factory here. At least three other men were injured.

Man Dies in Detroit After Walking Into Bus

DETROIT (UP)—A man identified by police as Walter Friedberg, 50, Detroit, died in Receiving Hospital early today shortly after he walked into the side of a Greyhound bus in downtown Detroit.

Russell E. Huber, 29, Lincoln Park, who drives between Detroit and Willow Run Airport, told police he heard a "thud" while rounding a corner. He said he stopped the bus and found the victim lying on the pavement.

Grand Haven Lights Up

GRAND HAVEN (UP)—The depression is finally over for Grand Haven's boulevard lights. Bulbs installed during the early 1930s as an economy move have been replaced with new ones of nearly doubled candlepower.

MSC Student Named

DETROIT (UP) — Jack Sholom Subar, 20, a Michigan State College student from East Lansing, has been named to represent Michigan colleges at the 58th Congress of American Industry in New York, Dec. 2-4. The congress sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers will be attended by 48 other students and 3,000 businessmen.

Is TV Emcee for Excursion

Has Many Successes on Stage; Now Enjoys Directing Work

NEW YORK — Burgess Meredith is the emcee of Excursion, the Ford Foundation TV-Radio Workshop's series for young people.

He was born in a suburb of Cleveland, Ohio, where his father was a physician. He was educated at the choir school of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, and Hoosac Preparatory School at Hoosick Falls, N.Y., and at Amherst College, where he spent a year working his way.

In December 1929, Meredith joined Eva Le Gallienne's Civic Repertory Company in New York as an apprentice actor.

He made his first appearance on Broadway in 1933, when he played in "Little Ol' Boy," a drama of reform school life.

After that came another Broadway success in "She Loves Me Not." His appearance in this play attracted the attention of NBC scouts, who assigned him the title role in the Red Davis radio series.

Among Meredith's notable stage successes was the star role in Maxwell Anderson's "Winterset," a triumph he repeated when the play was filmed.

A performer of exacting precision, he wondered if his ability would appeal to children.

There was nothing to worry about. The warm, direct approach is still best whether the audience consists of adults or children.

Meredith is best known for roles which make use of his expressive voice and face, his great understanding of people.

Perhaps the one that suited him most was Ernie Pyle, the courageous little newspaperman, in "The Story of Ernie Pyle."

But in recent years Meredith has turned his attention to directing as well as acting.

He directed "The Man in the Eiffel Tower" for the films, a stage production of Shakespeare's "Macbeth" this summer in Bermuda, and Nathaniel Benchley's "The Frogs of Spring" this Summer on the straw-hat circuit prior to a Broadway run.

In 1948 Meredith married Kaja Sundsten, who was a dancer with the New York City Ballet. They have two young children, Jonathan and Tala, and make their home in Mt. Ivy, Rockland County, N.Y.

Tokyo 'Quake Catches Burglar With the Loot

TOKYO (AP)—Last night's earthquake apparently struck just as a burglar was making off with $2,000 worth of expensive cloth from a Tokyo shop.

Owner Kiyokichi Nakamura found 59 bolts of costly silk and wool brocades tied together ready to haul away. When the quake hit the burglar apparently was so frightened he left behind not only the cloth but his kit of burglar tools.

U. S. Army Tug Raised From Pusan Harbor

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—A 200-ton U.S. Army tug which capsized and sank in Pusan Harbor Sunday was raised today.

A Filipino cook, Espirdian Nufable, drowned when the tug sank while towing a freighter.

WALTER REUTHER

K. of C. to Fete Walter Reuther

CIO President Will Get Plaque at Dinner for Fight Against Reds

A dinner honoring Walter Reuther, president of the CIO, for his fight against communism will be given Saturday by Knights of Columbus Council 600 at its club rooms on South Saginaw street.

Among the honored guests present for the affair will be Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Bishop Alexander M. Zaleski, pastor of St. Vincent De Paul Parish; Wilfred T. Connelly, Detroit, K. of C. state treasurer; Mayor Arthur J. Law, and Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of a plaque to Reuther by Robert J. Landry, grand knight of Council 600.

Toastmaster for the evening will be the Rev. Raymond Clancey of Sacred Heart Parish in Detroit, former president of the Association of Catholic Trade Unionists for the Detroit Archidocese.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by calling FE 2-5312.

Crosswalks Painted to Aid Pedestrians

Sure, it's a long way down to the corner when you are in the middle of the block and you want to get across the street. And it looks like such a short jump straight across.

But, that short jump is likely to scare two people half to death—the driver of that car you thought was a long ways off—and yourself.

Mixing two-footed lightweights and four-wheeled heavyweights in the same traffic ring is an unfair battle at best. That's why crosswalks are painted at intersections to give the pedestrian his own place to cross.

When you cross in the middle of the block the motorist is not expecting you—and you may be hidden by a parked car.

Spankings Will Curb Crime, Says Judge

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—U. S. Dist. Judge Edgar S. Vaught appealed today for a return to "hickory limb justice" to curb juvenile crime.

Judge Vaught suggested the old fashioned remedy just before sentencing 11 persons, mostly teenagers, to a total of 19 years in prison on a variety of charges.

"There is such widespread disregard of the law," he declared, "particularly by youths from 17 to 21, that imprisonment doesn't seem to do any good.

"There just is no proper substitute for the old-fashioned woodshed where the shingle was used for something besides covering the roof."

Flying Dream Realized, Even With Handicap

RICHMOND, Va., (AP)—When Sammy Gregorio was just a youngster back in Philadelphia, his one ambition was to learn to fly.

All that seemed over at the end of World War II. For Sammy was injured so severely that his legs were paralyzed and his arms were rendered virtually useless.

Sammy couldn't even walk with crutches but he still wanted to fly.

In the summer of 1952, Sammy began visiting a local airport and the manager, Hunter Jones, finally agreed to see if he could help.

With the aid of specially constructed gadgets to make it easier, Sammy began flight training. He achieved his dream yesterday—a solo flight.

The world's speed record on a bicycle was made on an American-made bicycle. Alfred Letourner rode a mile in 33.05 seconds, or at the rate of 108.92 miles per hour.

Crude oil as it comes from the earth is a mixture of many thousands of different compounds. It rarely is used in its original state but is refined, or separated, into products, of which the major ones are gasoline, light and heavy fuel oil, kerosine, lubricating oils, wax, asphalt and coke.

MUSEUM PIECE—Visitors to New York's fire-fighting museum gaze at "Big Six," one of first double-deckers used by city's fire department. Engine, built in 1840, was called "Big Six" because of its size in comparison with small gooseneck engines of the day.

October Retail Sales Hold Level Pace

WASHINGTON (AP)—Retail sales were about the same in October as in September, the Department of Commerce said today.

After allowances for seasonal differences, October retail sales totaled $14,105,000,000. This is about 100 million dollars less than in October, 1952.

Durable good sales picked up about one per cent in October, with little or no change in sales of non-durable goods.

Retailers of jewelry, general merchandise and automobiles reported seasonally adjusted sales increases in October of two to three per cent over September. Gasoline service stations and clothing stores reported October sales declines, seasonally adjusted, of two to three per cent, compared to September.

Cat Adopts Bunny

ROCK MILLS, Ala. (UP)—A cat belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anglin adopted a baby rabbit when her six kittens were drowned during a cloudburst.

No Matter Where You Itch, Don't Scratch

CHICAGO (UP) — If you itch, don't scratch, a doctor warns.

Itching may be caused by anything from dandruff to diabetes, and it can spread or camouflage real trouble if you scratch, according to Dr. Joseph D. Wassersug, of Quincy, Mass.

"Doctors may disagree on many points regarding the nature or treatment of itching skin diseases," he wrote in Today's Health. "But on one point they are unanimous. Don't scratch!"

Canadian Police Guard Gouzenko

Man Who Exposed Spy Ring in 1945 Changes Name and Residence

TORONTO (AP)—Ivor Gouzenko is a mystery man whose children don't know their real name.

Gouzenko was a wartime code clerk in the Russian Embassy at Ottawa. In 1945 he fled from the embassy and turned over 105 secret documents to the Mounties (the Royal Canadian Mounted Police). These documents exposed a Communist spy ring in Canada. Gouzenko's testimony brought the conviction of 11 men and women on spy charges.

Since the trial he has lived under assumed names with the protection of the Mounties. Few persons have been able to get through to him. Last summer Blair Fraser, an editor of Maclean's magazine of Toronto, told of seeing Gouzenko. He gave this report:

Gouzenko has lived in six different dwellings during eight years under at least two false names. His own children do not know their own name and probably never will. Because of the children he cannot now change his identity again. They are 10 and 8, too old to be told without explanation why they have a new name.

Each of Gouzenko's new identities was chosen with care. He was supplied with a new country of origin, to explain his heavy foreign accent.

He was given a passport, birth certificates for himself, his wife and children and also a carefully concocted biography which he memorized. All its details correspond with Gouzenko's present age, skills, aptitudes and general situation.

Red Spy Probe Hit by Justice Douglas

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court says current Red spy probes are "a campaign of hate and suspicion" for "a miserable political advantage."

"We are condemning men and women on the basis of hearsay," Douglas declared in an address to the Friends (Quaker) Committee on National Legislation.

"A Communist," he went on, "one with Communist affiliations, one with leftist tendencies, a Socialist, a liberal, or just a plain Yankee who does not like this business of the witch hunt and who shouts his protest—these are all put in the same classification."

Douglas said America's prestige in foreign countries has declined and that this can be traced "to the disrespect we have shown the rights of man here at home."

Douglas added, however, that "any witch hunt bothers the conscience of America" and predicted that Americans will "not let the fever of passion and distrust possess us for long."

New Bathing Suit Keeps Non-Swimming Girl Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—It may be a shock to the life guards, but there now is a bathing suit whose manufacturers claim it will keep a non-swimming girl afloat.

It was demonstrated here yesterday by a pretty model who floated like a cork while smiling like a pretty model.

The manufacturer's representative wasn't talking about the substance that makes the suit bouyant.

There are no unsinkable suits for men yet, he said.

British Guiana Is Treasure of Rich Ores and Forests

WASHINGTON — Political unrest has focused world attention on Britain's only possession in continental South America — British Guiana on the South Atlantic coast between Venezuela and Dutch Surinam.

The colony of 80,000 square miles in an under-developed tropical treasure house, says the National Geographic Society.

Coastal areas produce rich crops of sugar and its profitable by-product, rum. Inland, guarded by thick jungles, are potentially wealthy deposits of gold, diamonds, aluminum ore and possibly oil.

Britain is a comparative newcomer to Guiana. The Dutch began trading there around 1585 and were soon joined by the French, who still hold French Guiana to the east of Surinam.

England's early interests were in Surinam. They ended when Surinam was exchanged with Holland for Nieuw Amsterday, better known today as New York.

In 1740, however, a few English planters from the West Indies established themselves in what is now British Guiana, and British privateers 40 years later made good their interests by force of arms.

Retaken by the French for their Dutch allies, Guiana eventually was ceded to England in 1814-15, when the Napoleonic Wars ended.

So impenetrable was the hinterland that no one surveyed it, and for years Venezuela and Britain argued over the boundary. The United States brought about a settlement at the beginning of this century by threatening to invoke the Monroe Doctrine.

Content with the coastal belt and its sugar, British settlers long left interior Guiana to the aboriginal Carib and Arawak Indians and to a few hardy Europeans who paddled up the steaming rivers for gold, alluvial diamonds and balata, the wild jungle rubber.

In 1937, however, Britain began continuing efforts to develop the whole country.

Georgetown, the colony's capital, is known to Americans who serve at the Air Force's nearby Atkinson Field, a facility obtained in the "destroyers-for-bases" deal of World War II days.

The population is over 400,000. Nearly half are descendants of East Indians imported after the abolition of slavery to till the sugar fields. Only five per cent are Europeans.

Geographically, Guiana has three belts: low coastal plains with thick jungle; savannahs where livestock thrives; and farther inland still, mountains. Rivers thus far are the land's chief highways.

Should forest resources be developed, Guiana will produce a wealth of greenheart, mora and wallaba—all building lumber—as well as precious cabinet woods.

Lumbermen will have to accustom themselves to fauna that includes jaguars, vampire bats, manatees, hugh boa constrictors and some of the most poisonous snakes in the world, including the dreaded bushmaster.

Metal Lack Risks Air Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee, pondering testimony that lack of titanium may cost the United States military leadership in the air, has arranged to hear from Secretary of the Air Force Talbott on Friday.

Titanium is a light, heat-resisting metal much in demand for jet aircraft manufacture.

Brig. Gen. Kern D. Metzger, chief of the Air Force Production Resources Division, testified yesterday present production in the United States is 2,000 tons a year, though a goal of 22,000 tons annually had been set for 1956.

He said there is "no assurance that we can build the aircraft needed even if production plans were met and that a second best force "is no air force at all.

Historic Records on File

NEW YORK (AP)—Recordings of historic events in New York City, including City Hall receptions of the last 20 years and speeches by presidents and mayors, are to have a new permanent home. Space for the discs is being prepared in the Raymond V. Ingersoll Memorial Library in Brooklyn, and "anyone with a serious purpose" may have access to the records.

Young and Old Get Lots of Fun on Bicycles

Wheel away that child's gift problem.

According to a survey of retailers by the Bicycle Institute of America, 40 per cent of American bicycles purchased as gifts during the year are bought in the six weeks before Christmas.

Four and five-year-olds will need a 16-inch (wheel diameter) bike. Six and seven-year-olds take a 20-inch bike.

Boys and girls from eight to ten will be comfortable on a 24-inch wheel, and those from 11 on up should have a 26-inch adult wheel.

All American bicycles have adjustable seats so the bicycle can "grow" with the child, and be used for many years.

The younger children need not wait too long any more for their first bikes, because first-timers' bikes come with extra demountable "outrigger" wheels which keep them in balance until the youngsters learn how to handle themselves on a two-wheeler.

From the angle of safe operation, the most recent figures available from the National Safety Council indicate there has been a 50 per cent reduction in serious bicycle accidents during the past 10 years.

And this despite the fact that the number of bicycle owner-riders increases each year, and at present numbers some 21 million persons in the United States.

Plan for Those Stocking Gifts in Good Season

'Twas the day before Christmas,
And all through the house
Not a creature was stirring because they were all downtown shopping for small gifts to fill the stockings that would be hung with care in a few hours.

Last-minute gifts never do fill the bill—let alone the stocking—and, according to one buyer for a national department store chain, there's one sure way to beat this problem.

Keep a list. Every time you think of good stocking gift or read about one or see one, write it down.

Check the bathroom closets. If you notice that the men need new razors, make a note of it. New shaving cream? Extra deodorant? List it.

Watch Sis carefully. If her lipstick needs a refill, there's a stocking gift. And junior can probably use a new key ring or a selection of shoe laces. Or a pocket comb.

Pick Book Gifts Discriminately

Giving Yuletide Tomes Can Open Vistas of New Worlds

This year, this dialogue will be repeated dozens of times before the Christmas list has been checked off:

QUESTION: Shall we get cousin Fred a book?

ANSWER: No. He's got a book. But psychologists and educators declare that reading is the doorway to new worlds. And what better time than Christmas to give a gift of a new world?

Take your book-buying tip from book stores. They break their ware down into age groups, subject matter and technique. If you do the same for your gift list, you'll come up with a book that's a winner.

And so for cousin Fred who is 53 years old and sure he's got the answer to the world's political ills, you'll get the latest word of non-fiction from the current events department.

A book is a natural gift for a book collector. But sound advice from experts is: DON'T! Chances are the collector knows more about his library than you. And if his tastes run to first editions printed in the Belgian Congo, your gift is going to be expensive, if not impossible to find.

More than even is the bet that you'll wow the younger set with a gift for the library. And according to the Children's Book Council, there's a wild field to choose from.

The kids' taste these days, the Council says, runs to science: biology, chemistry, physics and electronics.

Both boys and girls, according to surveys, go for history and social studies. It's best, though, to give out-and-out biographies or recommended historical fiction rather than history texts that smack of the classroom.

Children who are growing into teens begin to show their own personalities more strongly. You can tell if Patricia Anne is ready for romance; or young Danny for poetry.

But for teenagers, young adults or for the whole family, experts say, it's the reference work that is the most valuable standby, an atlas, a dictionary, a thesaurus, a book of familiar quotations should be a solid addition to any household library.

British Scientists Urge Fluoridation

CHICAGO (UP) — A team of British scientists has asked Britain to put fluorides in its public water to help prevent tooth decay, according to the American Dental Association.

The ADA Journal said four British scientists spent an "extensive" three-month investigation in the United States and Canada before urging adoption of fluoridation in their country.

Their recommendations were put in a recent British government White Paper, the Journal said.

"Should the recent recommendations of four eminent health authorities from Great Britain be adopted reasonably soon," the Journal said, "the dental health of British children, beginning at least with the next generation, will be considerably better than that of their fathers."

Model Railroads Hold Spotlight

Complete Sets or Extra Equipment Welcome on Christmas Morning

With the dawn of Christmas across the nation, living rooms will again become train yards; dining-room tables, trestles; and the best carpet a road-bed for young trackwalkers (and their fathers.)

Model railroading, running on schedule and household electric current, is more than just feet of tracks and engines drawing cars.

Model towns, loading platforms, stations, passengers and freight add to the realism of the tiny roads, and are sure-fire gift pleasers.

Intricate control panels and transformers make fine presents for the lad or lass whose train set has plenty of cars and track.

New thrills in electric trains include a railroad trestle set with molded abutments that resemble girder construction. There's a miniature miners' work train with a worm-drive electric-powered handcar and three tipple cars. The cars can be loaded with coal or ballast. A new device now makes it possible for a locomotive to pull 40 cars up a 35-degree grade.

New to junior railroading, too, is a "corkscrew" roadbed that can replace nearly 200 feet of track cluttered floor with a spiral, compact right-of-way.

Developed by the A. C. Gilbert Company, the "corkscrew" can be put together by any industrious dad. And it makes a good gift for apartment dwellers or folks with limited play area at home.

Volumes of Fun Are Represented in 'Do It' Books

Adults who've been dismayed by the speed with which 8-to-12-year-old children skim through a new book that's intended to insure hours of quiet behavior will have special interest in a new read-it-and-do-it value found in juvenile activity books. They feature colorful stamps to be pushed out and pasted at frequent intervals in the text.

This play focus is found to insure much more careful reading and adds considerably to the time span of children's interest.

"American Inventors," for example, by I. A. Lewis, dramatizes stories of famous American inventions, from the steam engine and the cotton gin of colonial times to the atom smasher and television set of today.

A book full of stamps of autos, illustrating the development of the horseless carriage, is another popular volume.

TWO-GUN COWBOY OUTFIT—This one has a new twist. Rubber knee pads, vulcanized to denim cloth, make for longer, tougher wear.

America's traditional Christmas dish is turkey, but other lands have different favorites. Germany, France, Ireland and Scandinavia favor goose; Italians like eels; Spaniards and Mexicans want lamb, and Cubans savor roast pig.

Famed Idaho Hills Lure Prospectors

MOSCOW, Idaho (UP) — The famed Idaho hills of gold rush days still hold interest for part-time prospectors, according to A. W. Fahrenwald, dean of the University of Idaho's College of Mines and director of the Bureau of Mines and Geology.

"We have received between 700 and 800 mineral samples every year since the depression," Fahrenwald reported. "Although the number remains about the same the kinds of samples and the questions asked about them vary from year to year."

In the depression men hunted gold until they could find jobs. Strategic metals were the goal of the mineral-hunters during World War II. Today the $10,000 bonus offered by the Atomic Energy Commission for uranium discoveries lures prospectors. Gold and silver are virtually forgotten.

Newly discovered deposits of kyanite, a high-grade silicate used in the manufacture of porcelain for sparkplugs, and monazite in rock form also attract today's prospectors.

The chirp of a cricket which is barely an inch long can be heard for almost a mile.

New Christmas Toys Accent Future Careers of Children

For 45 million Americans who refuse to go to work and insist on attending elementary school, Christmas toys this year accent the "growing-up" theme.

According to Robert B. M. Barton, president of the Toy Manufacturers of the U. S., star billing in the nation's toy department goes to toys that have been designed to develop children's aptitudes and help them prepare for useful professions.

And hand in hand with "career" toys are child-size kits and tools that follow adult America's rusl to "do it yourself."

No longer will "Chicken Little" be able to tell mama that the sky is falling down. For mama will have given her a "fix-the-sky-yourself" kit for Christmas.

In opening the door to careers and vocations, toyland is keeping pace with grown-up scientists. Miniature atomic defense devices have taken the place of guns, tanks and planes modeled after Korean War equipment.

Atomic defense trucks with a siren-friction motor, and a ray gun, a rocket tracker and a civil defense set with a sounding beam are some of the new additions to toyland's defense equipment.

Three-D scenery is featured for train sets. Motor cars with super streamlines, stratoplanes, and new developments in space guns and space ports are ready for Christmas, 1953 style.

However, the cowboy and his range-riding equipment still are far ahead on the best-seller list with girls' enthusiasm for horses and six-shooters boosting volume to record highs.

New thrills in the "toys that prepare for careers" category is a conductor kit complete with tickets, punch, whistle, play money, a train arrival schedule, and conductor's hat.

Catering to little girls is a new Junior Nurse convertible four-wheel bike that provides a shoulder-strap bag full of first-aid essentials, an apron and a a nurse's hat. The bike frame expands so that it can be used for three-to-seven-year-olds.

There's a complete miniature pet shop for the first time.

And a new thrill for youngsters with TV-producer ambitions is an authentic miniature of a night-location TV truck complete with revolving spotlight.

Practical props for the young grocer are provided by a fiberboard supermarket equipped with shelves, miniature packages, and authentic tomato soup special-display material.

There is a wide variety of indoor gardening sets keyed to farm themes, and scale-model farm implements, too, are being featured, as well as several lines of large tractors for children to pedal.

There's a new cake-baking set, based on popular-brand mixes and frostings, for nursery cooks.

New idea is kits for the six-to-10-age group is a "wonder-weaver with a "tidy yarn dispenser" which partitions the generous allotment of 40 yards of wool into neat plastic compartments, according to colors. It's made of hard maple, guaranteed snag-proof and has no metal parts.

New in highway engineer toys is a bucket loader that operates exactly like the life-size construction job behemoth.

A de luxe kiddie shoe shine kit has a red enameled footrest and doubles as a bank.

Playroom architects will be able to produce "just like real" buildings in their model city with plastic and brick building kits which include many types of structural parts.

Simplified magic sets make the career of prestidigitator practical for the kindergarten set.

A refrigerator truck and a supermarket supply truck are added to the list of wheel toys that exactly reproduce specialized commerical vehicles.

New fire-fighting equipment provides a scale-model hook and ladder with cast aluminum ladder that extends upward four feet.

Basic training for junior decorators is provided with doll-house kits which include wallpaper, rugs and furniture.

Tool kits for the small fry include everything needed for simple household repairs.

Junior will get training in changing tires, too, with one of the new take-apart miniature cars.

And, among the more practical training kits, is a complete plumber's outfit. It supplies a plumbing truck with a built-in tank, 35 tools that can easily be forgotten, and all the pipe needed to install a bathtub with running water.

There's even a jack, wrench, hacksaw and pipe with connecting elbows, T pipes and all the other accoutrements a master plumber needs.

Shortage of Nurses Still Deemed Acute

CHICAGO (UP)—There still is a shortage of well-trained nursing and technical personnel, according to the American Medical Association's Council on Medical Education and Hospitals.

The number of nurses and technicians is increasing, the council said, but an acute shortage still exists.

Additional facilities, training programs and personnel will be required to meet the existing shortages as well as the anticipated demands of the future, the council said.

Although there were 225,613 graduate nurses employed in 1952 in hospitals registered by the AMA, compared to 216,047 in 1951, there were only 100,595 student nurses, compared to 103,527 in 1951.

Milwaukee Road Builds Biggest Switching Yard

CHICAGO (UP) — The world's largest switchyard—it will handle 3,600 railroad freight cars every 24 hours — is nearing completion by the Milwaukee Road at Bensenville, Ill.

J. B. Kiley, president of the railroad, said the yard will cost $5,500,000. It will have 70 classification tracks. Each track can carry from 52 to 102 cars when the yard is jammed with freight cars being sorted and made up into train groups.

Every freight car arriving in Chicago on the Milwaukee will be switched to the new yard.

The cars will be classified by being pushed up ramps by diesel locomotives to a crest where a trainman will push buttons that will send each car down the proper classification track.

One feature of the new yard will be that a trainman in a tower 30 feet above the tracks can operate "retarders" controlling speeds of the freight cars once they are released by the diesels.

French Are Traced in Dakota Diggings

PIERRE, S. D. (UP)—Archeological excavations have produced evidence that the white man may have been in the upper Missouri River basin as early as 1700.

Dr. Wesley R. Hurt of the University of South Dakota said excavations of old Indian settlements near Pierre have uncovered artifacts which indicate French traders may have been in the region between 1700 and 1725.

The earliest documented record of white men being in the region is a lead plate found on a Missouri River bluff at Fort Pierre, S. D.

It was placed there March 30, 1743, by the Verendrye brothers and claimed the region for France.

Bob Considine Hopes:

Subjects of Bermuda Talk Are Made Available Early

NEW YORK (INS) — What are they going to talk about at Bermuda? Vishinsky says that Eisenhower, Churchill and Laniel are going to cook up new threats to peace-loving Russia and her satellites. But the principals either don't know their agenda or aren't talking just now.

The hope is that whatever is discussed and agreed upon will be turned over to the public as quickly as possible. There are still aspects of the World War II political conferences filtering into print in dribs and drabs. The shockingly cynical division of power decided upon by Churchill and Stalin in one of their conferences, Roosevelt's sick performance at Yalta, and Truman's refusal to halt planned withdrawals of U. S. troops from land they had won, have come to light in Churchill's memoirs. And there will be other revelations when Truman's memoirs appear.

The British Information Services, an agency of the British Government, forwards to us a paper called "possible topics at Bermuda," by "a political correspondent." It must reflect the official British attitude toward the forthcoming talks by the big two and a half.

"It will be very largely a stock-taking meeting, a joint appraisement of the world situation as it is at this present moment, a consideration of the right lines of policy to be taken if the muddle is not to get worse, and, if possible, is to be cleared up somewhat," says this unidentified pundit, a firm conservative one suspects.

The British want to know whether there should now be a new approach to the central problem of relations with the Communist countries, and, if so, what it should be. There are, of course, sharp differences of opinion about the menace of Russia and such satellites as China, in Washington and London.

In all probability, both Eisenhower and Churchill will put great pressure on Laniel to accelerate the French Assembly's ratification of the Western German Army. The French have been holding it up ever since they, with fine and perhaps traditional inconsistency, proposed such an army.

"The German Federal Republic cannot be simply waiting indefinitely for its acceptance as an equal and sovereign partner in the comity of the West European nations," writes the anonymous tipster on British plans. It might have been added parenthetically that Eisenhower has been burned up, as a military man, by the machinations which have deprived his dreamed-of-European Army of its most potent infantry force, the 12 divisions the non-Communist Germans want to contribute.

Then there is recognition of China, and what to do about the war in Indochina, which is killing off the best young French officers as fast as they can be turned out by St. Cyr, and which we are underwriting in money. And the ominous hostility between Israel and Jordan. And, of course, the dispute between Italy and Yugoslavia.

One of Eisenhower's jobs unquestionably will be to instill in Sir Winston and the French Premier some clearer understanding of America's fear of Communist military and political aggression. Churchill, who would have preferred a conference made up of himself, Eisenhower and Malenkov, will be out to expand a beachhead which the British view about the recognition of Red China has already achieved in Washington.

He is almost certain to illuminate what the British feel is an appalling inconsistency in our stand against Red China. The British operate on the premise, they say, that diplomatic recognition of the party in power in a country doesn't automatically mean approval of the party's methods.

They don't want immediate recognition of Red China in U.N., but feel it is the only thing to do when, if the Korean political conference succeeds. They say "you recognize Russia and don't approve of communism, don't you? Then why not China?"

Trade with the Communist countries, dear and necessary to Britain's welfare, also will be an important topic at Bermuda. So, on occasion will be golf. The mid-ocean club, scene of the deliberations, sits smack-dab in the center of one of the world's most enticing golf courses.

Christmas Eve Custom: Wish on a Holly Leaf

KENT, O. (UP)—Turn over a new leaf — holly, that is — if you want your Christmas wishes to come true.

It's an ancient Christmas Eve custom, according to historians of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

Place tiny pieces of lighted candle on holly leaves. Then float them in a tub of water—one for each wish. If the leaf floats, that wish will come true. If it sinks, you're sunk.

MERRY MONSTER—Meet "Gus the Mirthful Monster." He's the "flying laboratory" plane at the Bendix Aviation Corp.'s Baltimore plant. Radio engineers gave him his eyes and nose—which are specially designed 1,000-watt landing lights being used in experiments.

Candles are burned in a church at Christmastime as a symbol of enlightenment.

'Caws' Too Real, Upset Ground Hog

ROARING SPRING, Pa. (UP) — Game Protector R. F. Turley claims he was "attacked" by a ground hog recently, probably because his crow calls were so realistic.

Turley was crouched behind some bushes just after he had given out with a volley of loud "caws." Out came a groundhog which headed right for him jumped against his leg and then turned and disappeared.

Turley found the animal's freshly dug hole. He theorized that it may have been "trying to drive me away from the vicinity of its den because crows kill young groundhogs."

Heart in His Work

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) —Officer Edd Ruckman, of the stolen livestock detail of the Fort Worth Police Department, reported theft of a horse from his pasture near town. He was assigned to the case.

Suspended Trains May Replace Buses in Detroit

DETROIT (UP)—Detroit is thinking about going for the monorail.

It's only a thought so far, however.

The monorail is an electrically operated, multiple-unit train which is suspended from a single overhead rail.

Detroit's Rapid Transit Commission, an advisory group, disclosed today it has written to the West Coast monorail manufacturers for information.

The monorail is said to have first been built in Germany's Ruhr Valley.

Los Angeles, whose traffic problem is said to be as bad as if not worse than Detroit's, is reported considering one.

Charles P. Bugent, chairman of the transit commission, said a monorail could provide Detroit's "most economical solution."

However, doubts were expressed by Leo J. Nowicki, general manager of the Detroit Street Railway System (DSR).

Many people dislike riding over a bridge, he said, adding there might be objection to "riding in a gondola 12 feet or more above the street."

CROCODILE CATCHER—Bearded Able Seaman Patrick Spendlove, of Derby, England, isn't as brave as he looks. He and other crew members of the frigate Bigbury landed at Portsmouth with the little monsters they brought back from British Guiana. (The baby "crocs" are stuffed.)

Exotic Spices Fill Ohio Shop

Expert Has Imported, Sold Pure Seasonings for 58 Years

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP) — For 58 years Henry N. Wyckoff has been unwrapping parcels from exotic places and releasing tantalizing odors in his little shop in nearby Chagrin Falls.

He is one of the few men left in the United States specializing in the importation and treatment of spices and the 500-fragrance interior of his store is famous among cooks and gourmets throughout the nation.

Purity is the central stem of his business. He gets his spices directly from the country in which they are produced — pepper from India, celery seed from France, licorice roots from Spain, cinnamon bark from Indochina.

He cleans and processes them carefully, guarding against accidental impurities or the concealed substitution of inferior products.

If they need grinding and blending, he does it right in his place of businesss, in a machine he has used continuously since he started.

As preparation for his business, Wyckoff graduated from Hiram College in 1895 with a chemistry degree. Then he took an apprentice course in his father's pharmacy and spent three years making a door-to-door check in 40 cities explaining what he proposed to do.

The result was a solid business that has never wavered.

"I could have sold the business scores of times," he said. "But purchasers only wanted to make money and deprive customers of true spice glory by mixing in impurities."

Brains, Brawn Both

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (UP)—The University of North Carolina says that of the 800 some athletes winning varsity athletic letters here since 1933, more than 60 were Phi Beta Kappas.

Smelly Business: Selling Dog Scents

CUMBERLAND, Maine (UP) — Walter L. Arnold, 59, is in the scent business.

The former guide and trapper sells dog scents to 3,000 customers.

Arnold explains his odd business: "The scents are to keep Rover from cutting out after the wrong game. Say you're rabbit hunting and the dog persists in chasing deer.

"Well, you make a muzzle out of a rag soaked with deer scent and put it on Rover. He associates deer scent with a muzzle and—chances are—never chases another deer."

Vandals Disable Car

ANSONIA, Conn. (UP)—When Walter J. Yazluk of Seymour returned to his parked automobile, he found: The air had been let out of the four tires, the valve pins were removed, two windshield wipers were broken, the gas tank cap was missing, and the headlights were turned on. Then the battery went dead.

Every state in South America, except Chile and Ecuador, is touched by Brazil's long borderline.

Three Railroad Men Get 50-Year Service Pins

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — Three like to talk about "the good old days' but agree things are better now, received their 50-year service pins in a ceremony here this week.

They are Edward M. Shannessy, engineer, and Charles M Freeman, conductor, both of Grand Rapids, and station agent Gail McFarland of Martin. Hone of them is thinking of retiring.

Reds Cut Post Offices

HONG KONG (UP)—Red China's communications are so inadequate because of military needs that general orders have gone out from Peiping sharply curtailing parcel post service, says the pro-Nationalist newspaper Wah Kiu Yat Po.

Cooks Should Be Thankful

Freezers, Cans, Packages Help Thanksgiving Work

NEW YORK (UP) — Cooking methods have come a long way since our Pilgrim mothers, but not far enough to take all the work out of the Thanksgiving dinner.

The experts say the traditional feast may be prepared in four to seven hours — thanks to the can opener, the deep freeze, ready-to-serve foods temperature-controlled ranges and automatic dishwashers.

The Pilgrim housewife needed 48 to 72 hours. If hubby were busy with the harvest, she shot, cleaned and dressed the turkey.

She ground the corn meal, made the hominy, grew pumpkin for the pie, and picked the cranberries.

One home economist says today's housewife has more conveniences than her Pilgrim sister, but doubts if she is any better off than the housewife of 50 or 75 years ago.

"Our grandmothers didn't have all the labor savers," said Florence Brobeck, home economist and cookbook author. "But they had something else—help from cousins, aunts and the children."

"Now," she said, "a woman's lucky if she can get hubby to pile the dishes in the dishwasher."

The Pilgrim housewife cooked the turkey and other fowl in the chimney "oven," and the process took all day.

Fruit or pumpkin pie was baked on a shovel in the fireplace; and if sweet potatoes were available, probably were roasted in ashes.

In 18th century Colonial days, the time for roasting and baking was about three times that required with today's temperature-controlled ranges.

With the large Colonial homes, a separate building housed the kitchen where the wood (later coal) ranges were kept going day long. Pies were baked ahead of the big day; hams, turkey and other fowl, and fruit cakes all took long hours.

And then came modern appliances and foods ready or almost ready to serve.

The homemaker now can have prepared virtually all the holiday meal at her leisure, stored it in the freezer, and have nothing more to do on the big day than heat it, set the table, and serve.

Cranberry sauce and pumpkin come out of a can. Or pumpkin pies may be bought from the local bakery. Rolls need either a few minutes more of baking, or a mere warming up. Turkeys come ready to stuff, stuffing comes ready to use.

Test kitchen supervisors say the time required to prepare today's feast is no more than the time required to cook the turkey. A 12 to 16-pound bird, for instance, is roasted four and one-half to five hours. And, while it's baking, you can prepare the rest of the meal.

"That is," said one home economist, "unless your menu is mighty elaborate . . . and there are four or five children tugging at your skirts."

Fremont School Bonds Get Commission OK

FREMONT (UP) — Arrangements have been completed with the sale of $575,000 in bonds for expansion of the school system. Voters approved the program and tax increase Nov. 2.

School officials hope that construction of additional classrooms to existing buildings may be finished by next fall. A new elementary building is scheduled for completion in 1955.

Taxes Paid 98 Per Cent

HASTINGS (UP)—Payment of 98.3 per cent of the 1953 municipal tax, a sum amounting to $119,432, has been reported by treasurer Jessie Gray. The $1,921.02 plus penalties will be spread on the winter tax roll.

Plows Into Barricades

GRAND HAVEN (UP)—Grand Haven and Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad police are investigating the placing of two barricades on C& O tracks here Sunday night. A qfreight plowed through both obstructions without derailing and woth only minor damage to the locomotive.

Ferguson to Speak

TRAVERSE CITY (UP) — Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich) will be the principal speaker Dec. 5 at the annual meeting of the Cherryland Rural Electric Co-operative. The co-op has some 4,500 members in the Northwestern Michigan area.

Light Will Add to Holiday Fun

Modern Materials Offer Wide Variety of Ideas for Decorations

Spend a little time, exercise some ingenuity, and you can create original decorations and inviting patterns to make this season the lightest and brightest ever.

Laboratories have a Santa's sack full of hints that any family can use to add season's cheer to its home.

Right on top of the pack is a suggestion for cheery, illuminated set-pieces made of translucent foam plastic, which may be purchased at your nearest variety store or florist's shop.

From the easily-worked material cut out a jolly Santa or a set of Christmas bells, and decorate the piece with ribbon and holly.

Place a 40-watt bulb in a porcelain socket behind the decoration, and a usually-somber front hall will be given a warm, welcoming glow.

The mantel, too, will blend into the Yuletide decor if it is decked out with colored-cardboard evergreens. With holes punched in the trees, and vari-colored cellophane pastel on the back of each piece, a small bulb behind the tableau will create a fairy forest for your holiday pleasure.

The low-watt bulb can also be used to add a gossamer pattern of color in any dark corner or hall. Set behind a vase filled with white branches, spruce sprays and Christmas-tree balls, the bulb will provide a Christmas bouquet of light at the touch of a button.

These behind-the-scenes lighting effects are easily achieved by the home handyman.

He merely secures a porcelain socket to a small block of wood, uses any light bulb the color and intensity of which is most pleasing to the eye, and connects the cord to a nearby outlet. Here's cheer—"light"-hearted cheer, for this season, and next, as the basic lighting unit can be used again and again.

SEMI-FAN ARRANGEMENT — White Christmas branches, trimmed with balls and combined with graceful spruce sprays, is strikingly silhouetted by light behind vase.

Here Are Some Shortcuts for Your Yule Shopping

Whether you love to go shopping or hate it, a knowledge of shopping short-cuts is indispensable at Chirstmastime. Especially so if the bulk of your holiday buying must be sandwiched into one or two trips to town, and you don't have a minute or a step to squander.

To make the whole job painless as possible, the two most important rules—which everyone knows (but few observe)—are these:

A. Have a list and know pretty much what you're looking for before you leave the house.

B. Do your Yuletide shopping as early in the season as possible.

These rules, however, are not, by any means, the whole answer. Here are a dozen additional pointers that will save you much hustle and bustle.

1. Do your browsing at home, instead of in crowded stores. Newspapers, provide a treasure-chest of gift ideas..

2. Have a definite plan. Map your shopping trip ahead of time so you won't have to retrace your steps.

3. Eliminate your sitter problem, if you have one, by making a deal with a neighbor who also has small children.

4. Avoid the busiest shopping hours. There are less-crowded days during each week, even in Christmas season, and less-crowded hours each day.

5. Shop by phone whenever this is possible. There are probably more items on your list that you can order sight unseen than you think there are.

6. Make use of your charge accounts, and your favorite salespersons.

7. Take advantage of department store gift-mailing services. Most stores offer attractive wrappings and, for a slight extra charge, will do a special wrapping and mailing job.

8. Don't fear duplication. There is no reason why several persons of the same age or interests on your list won't like the same gift.

9. If you can't make a quick decision on any particular gift, write down its sales number or description. If you decide later on to take it, you can then order it by phone and save an extra trip.

10. Save the sales slips on everything you purchase, and file them neatly at home.

11. Save your energy by buying your "carry-homes" last. Plan your shopping schedule so that packages you have to take home are purchased near the end of the trip.

12. If you're clever at sewing, or a hobby, explore the possibility of making some gifts yourself.

Gifts for Teenage Boy

1. Harmonica, with instruction book.
2. Slipper socks.
3. Turtle-neck sweater.
4. Professional dancing lessons (ballroom).
5. Set of encyclopedias.
6. Fool-proof camera.
7. Tennis racket.
8. Model kit.

Thanksgiving Day in Korea Could Have Been So Fine

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

The tragedy of Korea is that it could stand as a monument to world peace. Instead, it must stand as a continuing symbol of frustration and strife.

A particular irony, for Americans is the season of the year.

Special Envoy Arthur H. Dean asked the Communists for a Thanksgiving Day recess in the diplomatic discussions to arrange a Korean political conference.

"We wish," he said, "to worship with the people of Korea and to give thanks to Almighty God for our manifold blessings and to pray for guidance in these talks."

And, he might have added, to ask forgiveness for man's shortcomings.

Almost obscured now in the daily Communist name-calling, the stalling and the propaganda blasts are the purposes of the conference which Dean went to Korea to arrange.

The conference was to arrange a permanent peace for Korea, troops and a free and unified Korean nation.

Originally it was to have started Oct. 28. Now, if it ever is to start, it will be in the dim, unpredictable future.

Meanwhile, new problems arise from an unworkable time-table and each day makes more unlikely the dream of a united Korea.

A highlight of the situation was this week's announcement of a 10-year economic assistance pact signed between Red China and the North Korean Communist government.

The Chinese said they had written off North Korea's war debt and in addition would advance North Korea some $317,000,000 in the next four years. Illustrating the permanent nature of the agreement was a corollary plan to operate an airline linking North Korea, China and the Soviet Union.

About two months ago the Russians announced a similar aid program for North Korea. The Russains said they would advance about $250,000,000 in aid and would reduce, but not forgive, the North Korean war debt.

That Red China probably cannot carry out its promises of machinery, communications equipment and other supplies in which she herself is in desperate need is, in this case, beside the point.

The sad point is the unyielding nature of Communist plans for the Korea of the future which in their eyes must be totally Communist or forever divided.

Thus by necessity the United States must go ahead with its own plan to spend nearly $1,000,000,000 in the next four years for the rehabilitation of South Korea.

Yet what a monument to peace it could be if, despite a bitter war, these vast sums could be spent in a united effort on railroads and airlines which would run the length of a free Korea whose agriculture, industry and people acted as one.

Then, with the promise of what a peace in Korea could hold, the whole world could observe Thanksgiving.

Gadget Presents Wow Everyone

Join Knick-Knack Line and Buy Extra Gifts for Whole Family

Few things are more intriguing to male and female, young and old, than a tricky gadget, useful or otherwise. So be sure to include a sprinkling of such items in your Christmas gift selection, as regular gifts for friends or as "extra" gifts for family members.

Measuring up in every way is a doodad called a brow light. Perfect for the home handyman or motorist, this item fits around the head—you don it just like a cap—and focuses a beam of light wherever the wearer looks.

And how about a card shuffler? You insert the playing cards, twirl a crank, and—slap-slap—the cards are shuffled.

Fairly well-known by now, but still sure to make a hit, is the phone light. A small lamp with a rectangular base that is set beneath the telephone, it's excellent for night use when someone phones with a message.

One model operates by push-button, another can be connected so that it lights each time the phone is lifted.

A good gadget for the sportsman, serviceman, or any man or little boy whatever, is a new cutlery set that folds into one plastic handle.

Looking somewhat like a pen knife, the set contains fork, spoon, knife and can and bottle opener. And the whole thing slides apart so that the implements may be used individually.

Another pocket gadget that will please any gimmick-lover is a small-size, pen-shaped stapler. Just slip off the cap and it's ready for use.

Sure-fire also for salesmen, traveling men, doctors, teachers, students and housewives are a telephone pencil that sticks to the phone by megnetism; a combination paper weight and cellophane tape dispenser; and a novel letter opener that slices open an envelope as you pull it through a slot in the device.

To brighten up the household, there are several colorful light-switch plates made of durable plastic.

Numerous gadgets are available for the energetic "do-it-yourself" fans, among them a handy guide for painting which protects adjoining areas from smears when you're dashing away at window frames and baseboards.

Mine Detector Finds Air Relic

Locates Site of the First Plane Hangar, Built by Wright Brothers

KITTY HAWK, N. C. (AP)—Modern mine detectors helped pinpoint the exact spot where the Wright brothers built the nation's first airplane hangar 50 years ago.

The National Park Service disclosed today that its regional archeologist, Dr. J. C. Harrington, and historian Frank Barnes used a mine detector after they were unable to find, under the shifting sand, any indication of the Wright camp.

The service said the two men knew the approximate area and slung the detector back and forth, near Kill Devil Hill, until it registered the presence of metallic objects.

They dug into the sand and found rusted nails, spikes, tin cans and traces of household utensils.

"A careful study of the rusty items told the searchers they had located the Wright brothers' 1903 camp," a service news release said.

The Park Service this week started to rebuild on the site the two wooden sheds which served as hangar and kitchen-bunkhouse.

When the reconstruction is completed, the site will be roped off and the buildings locked until Dec. 14, the first day of a four-day celebration of the 50th anniversary of powered flight.

Only 2,902 Convictions

Hint Traffic Offenses May Be Higher Than the Number of Violators Arrested

This is another in a series of articles on Pontiac's traffic safety based on local police records and the National Safety Council's report for 1952.

By JOSEPH K. SFAIR

In view of records of leading cities and local accident experience, Pontiac should have expected 5,880 convictions for moving hazardous traffic violations in 1952, according to the annual report by the National Safety Council.

Because a Pontiac Police Department report indicated that only 2,902 convictions took place, the council's summary concludes that more people may have committed violations than were arrested.

"This very low conviction rate might suggest some deficiency in the traffic function, or in court support of it," the report points out.

Such low rates stem from one or a combination of the following conditions, it suggests:

"1. Poor police work in arrest decision or evidence assembly or presentation.

"2. Inadequate police-court liaison.

"3. Ticket-fixing, or

"4. Failure by courts to realize or meet their accident prevention potentials."

The per cent of investigated accidents resulting in arrests was 70 as compared to a recommended minimum of 55.

Ordinarily, the council claims, this would indicate a commendable degree of enforcement initiative against accident violators if all arrests were based on firm evidence.

"But instead, when considered in perspective with the extremely low conviction rate of 25 per cent accident arrests, it suggests serious trouble in the enforcement process as applied to accidents," the report warns.

The council recommends a 95 per cent conviction rate for accident arrests.

Also arrest rates on known hit-run accidents fell below recommended level. The 49 per cent conviction rate in hit-run arrests made in 1952 was below the 75 per cent recommended.

The report states that 213 convictions on specific driver intoxication charges, compared to the 129 reported by Pontiac, would be required to rank the city among leading cities.

Expansion in use of chemical tests beyond the 21 per cent of arrests toward the 100 per cent coverage recommended would help toward further enforcement.

The council cited in its report some variations from standards adopted by the American Bar Association in the Pontiac court procedures.

These standards have received the approval of the President's Highway Safety Conference and have been embodied in the 16 resolutions on traffic courts adopted by the conference in 1951.

The report calls attention to the fact that complete statistics were not furnished by the courts as requested and that the analysis is not intended to be all-inclusive in pointing out deficiencies. The report also says that it is not intended to serve as a survey of the present needs of the traffic court.

(Although Pontiac does not have a traffic court, all traffic cases are handled in Pontiac Municipal Court.)

The council's survey notes particularly that the Pontiac court did not establish the schedule of penalties used in the Pontiac Police violations bureau.

It further states that Pontiac judges did not increase penalties for second and third offenders and that the schedule penalty does not provide for mandatory court appearance after the third or fourth offense of moving or non-moving violations.

As for the court's progress, the report states:

"There were no improvements reported in 1952 as to traffic court procedures and practices.

Despite this conclusion, the council has placed Pontiac court ninth from the top among 81 cities. In 1951 Pontiac Municipal Court was ranked only 31st.

Enlistments in Paratroops Reopened Here

Enlistments in the paratroops, the Army's airborne corps, have been reopened, according to Sgt. P. R. Moore in charge of Pontiac's Army and Air Force recruiting station.

Paratroop ranks have been closed for about three months, Moore said. Men interested in volunteering for a three-year tour of duty can obtain further information at the station.

Television Talk Is Cause of Rift

Say Wisconsin Senator Criticized Ike in Speech Against Truman

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that top White House staff members were "hopping mad" about Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's (R-Wis) television—radio speech.

A Washington dispatch to the Times by James Reston said the staff members would not comment officially, but unofficially they Tuesday night:

1. He received time on the air to criticize former President Harry S Truman and ended up by criticizing President Eisenhower as well.

2. He sought to make himself, rather than President Eisenhower's legislative program, the central issue in the 1954 congressional campaign.

3. He distorted the case of John Paton Davies, career State Department diplomat, although he knew the facts in that case as well as did Undersecretary of State W. Bedell Smith, who gave them to him under oath.

4. He demonstrated more clearly than ever before that he was not prepared to follow the President's lead either in fighting the Communists at home or in the strategy against them in Communist China.

The story said one White House aide described the speech as "a declaration of war against the President," and it added:

"Others put their criticism more mildly, but there seemed to be general agreement that the speech marked one more crisis in the stormy relations between the white House and the junior Republican senator from Wisconsin."

McCarthy and Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev), the story noted, have been criticizing the Eisenhower administration for keeping Davies on the government payroll. They have charged that Davies recommended putting Communists in key spots in Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

The story said Smith, the undersecretary of state, "finally went before them and declassified some top secret information in order to set this charge straight."

"He told them," Reston wrote, "that a decision had been taken to use some Communists as counter-espionage agents and that Mr. Davies had been asked to recommend several men who might handle the job.

Airplane View of Waterford Community

First Two Settlers Located Where Saginaw Trail Forded the Clinton

The first white settlers in the Waterford community were Alpheus Williams and Archibald Phillips. In 1819 they located where the Saginaw Indian Trail forded the present Clinton River. This stream then was known as the Huron River.

A dam was constructed across the river and power generated in that way to drive a saw and grist mill which were operated there for the better part of a century.

The community was platted in 1845 and several houses then erected. The tavern was a stopping place for the horse drawn stage coaches on the trail between Pontiac and Flint.

The Waterford post office was established in 1835, and the mail came by stage from Pontiac until in the 1880's when the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad came near Waterford.

The first school was built in 1840. Several business places were opened by that time and a church and other public buildings followed soon after.

For a great many years the Waterford community made little progress. The Saginaw Turnpike, now the Dixie Highway, succeeded the Indian Trail, but was little more than a couple of sand ruts. It carried little travel after the railroad was built.

But with the coming of the auto era and the paving of the four-lane Dixie Highway, the community took on a remarkable growth, and now has a progressive spirit in keeping with the times.

Although there is a population of several thousand with an area much smaller than many Oakland County cities, Waterford remains unincorporated, although there is a growing sentiment to become a city.

Located in the township of the same name, and not far from the geographical center of Oakland County, the community is under the jurisdiction of the township board.

Plan Yule Party

Music Can Help Relax Taut Nerves

Music therapy can help cure fast-paced, over-wrought Americans of insomnia.

Although music has the power to calm frayed nerves, it must be of the right type to promote sleep. Just as improper bedding—lifeless pillows, sagging bedsprings, and lumpy mattresses—keeps the muscles too taut for slumber to take hold readily, the wrong kind of music keeps the emotions too keyed up to allow the individual to be wafted to sleep on the wings of song.

What type of music is appropriate to induce slumber? Music with lower tones—round, rich, and voluminous—tends to relax the individual, while "bright," high tones which vibrate on the eardrum faster should be avoided as they stimulate the nervous system.

As for instruments strings and woodwinds are the most soothing. Brasses are too exciting. The rhythm instruments—drums, tympani, guitar, or string bass—create patterns which make either bright or soothing music.

However, the person who decides to try the music cure should not make the mistake of confusing a somber, depressing piece with a quiet, relaxing one. For instance, "Ase's Tod," a German song about Ase's death, and other melancholy themes stimulate by depressing people and upsetting their equilibrium so that they can't sleep.

Can't Go Wrong

When in doubt about what jewelry to wear, remember that pearls are always right.

The Thanksgiving turkey is only a symbol of the many things we have to be thankful for today, according to Dorothy Wilson, daughter of the Thomas H. Wilsons of Clarkston. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Beaudette of West Huron street.

Machines Ease Work of Sewing

Chances are that, like most of today's brides, you are sold on doing-it-yourself as a good way to fight the battle of the budget—and you know that sewing is one of the most effective ways of doing-it-yourself. But you may wonder if sewing is a job that you can do.

Sewing is no longer the laborious process it was in Grandma's day. Now modern sewing machines do all the work for you. Operating a machine is as easy and natural as typewriting or driving a car. So don't hesitate to invest in a sewing machine.

And a sewing machine is definitely an investment—not a purchase. In constant use, it pays for itself by saving you the cost of labor on anything you sew.

You can make your own clothes, draperies, curtains, bedspreads and slipcovers for your first home, and even monogram your trousseau linens.

And now it is possible to achieve a truly professional look to all your sewing. The machine does all the finishing work—once done by hand—as easily and quickly as it does straight sewing.

However, a sewing machine saves you money only if you use it efficiently, often, and with imagination. To do this you should know how to sew and how to use every feature of your machine—so lessons are part of the bargain.

You must also make it easy to sew in a comfortable, accessible working area, and you should enjoy sewing.

Personalize Gift

It takes only some glue and colored yarn to make a Christmas gift wrap really special with a monogram. Wrap the box without a bow. Sketch the recipient's initials on with pencil, and then trace over the penciling with a liquid glue. Attach colored yarn to the glue and let it dry.

This girl is applying a cream made especially to combat chapping and roughness. She will also rub a bit on her elbow to soften that often neglected area.

Wrap Gift Bottle in Silver Bell

Want to try a new way of wrapping bottles? Try this suggestion and you'll have the bottle wrapped in a Christmas bell of pleated foil paper.

Cut a circular piece of cardboard about eight inches in diameter, place it on the paper and stand the bottle on the cardboard.

Judith Wolverton Speaks Vows in Evening Wedding

MRS. ROBERT G. THOMPSON

A waltz-length gown of Chantilly-type lace over white satin, with a matching lace jacket, was the wedding dress worn by Judith Faye Wolverton Wednesday evening when she became the bride of Robert Gerald Thompson.

A Barrymore collar and long sleeves ending in points highlighted the jacket, and a Dutch cap of tulle and satin held her veil.

She carried a satin muff decorated with miniature red roses and a white orchid.

The Rev. Elwood Dunn performed the 8 o'clock ceremony in First Christian Church before 275 guests.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon V. Wolverton of Ivy stret, was attended by Leona G. Pace. Her gown was of yellow lace and net over taffeta, fashioned with accordion pleats down the front of the skirt.

Her colonial bouquet of yellow and rust-colored chrysanthemums and roses complemented her headpiece of yellow chrysanthemums and ivy.

H. Donald Ridgley was best man for Robert, who is the son of Mrs. Joena North of North Josephine avenue.

Seating the guests were Floyd Reynolds and Robert Dunn.

Receiving guests in the church parlor, the bride's mother wore a gown of mauve lace over taffeta with navy and pink accessories and a corsage of orchid chrysanthemums and pink roses.

A suit of pink silk with brown accessories was worn by the bridegroom's mother, and her corsage was of white chrysanthemums and pink roses.

Nila Tompkins sang the bridal recital for the double-ring ceremony.

On their return from northern Michigan, the new Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will reside on Fox road.

Machine stitch rows of ribbon horizontally at both edges onto marquisette skirt, easing in the fullness of the ribbon at one edge. Space the ribbon rows 1¼ inches apart.

Plastic Tile Walls Have 3-D Realism

Something new for walls is vinyl plastic tile with a bamboo pattern that has a realistic three-dimensional appearance. You can apply it yourself on any smooth, dry wall with a specia adhesive.

Flowery Look Will Rate Tops for Springtime

NEW YORK (INS)—Fake flowers, printed on fabrics or blossoming in relief above them, will be the hot-from-the-hothouse style news for spring.

Designers, who are keeping their spring fashion secrets to themselves so far, haven't been able to keep this one from slipping out. The fabric people have been noising the news all over the place.

The floral print look—in chiffons, cottons, silks—is one look that will be seen in all the better couturier collections.

But there'll be the added elegance of fabrics which are appliqued with flowers, quilted with flowers, or hand-painted with posies. These will be even bigger, for all times of day and for most all occasions.

How

No one would think of driving a 1937 car if he could afford a later model, although there may be days when he doesn't even climb behind the steering wheel. Yet, according to statistics, one out of every five people in the United States today is using a 16-year-old mattress at an eight-hour stretch daily.

Even top quality bedding is not guaranteed to last a lifetime. Yet, obsolete bedding is still being used in many homes simply because no one thought to replace it.

To provide a good night's sleep that enables all of one's tired muscles to relax, a level, resilient mattress is a must.

Working People Should Give Thanks for Today's Good Job Opportunities

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Every Thanksgiving Day of my life, I pause and give devout thanks that the job market is not the way it was when I came out of college.

Nowadays, all of us who are hale and hearty and want to work can find a job—some kind of a job.

That was not true back in 1935. Girls with college degrees, and rapid shorthand and typing, and years of good experience, had to look for months and months to find a job, even if they were attractive and bright and energetic.

If they were very, very lucky, they might find one at $28 a week.

And they worked under the constant strain of knowing that if they did one small thing wrong, or not fast enough, they could be replaced by hundreds of applicants, in five minutes.

These conditions were especially hard, I think, on the mothers. Their children, the grown ones, went out into the world, only to be rebuffed and turned down and discouraged.

Their husbands lived in constant terror of losing their jobs.

Many of the mothers have confided to me that it was an awful experience, seeing those they loved working in strain and tension and terror—or not working at all.

Sometimes I think we take our present good luck too much for granted.

Young people will whine and complain because they can't get the dream job, at $60 a week in a glamorous office, right after school.

"My stenography is 80 words a minute," such a girl told me yesterday, "and they say I'm not worth more than $50 to start."

She had her pick of dozens of good jobs when her skills were nothing to speak of—but she was complaining and feeling very injured about the conditions.

Young mothers will weep because their husbands have to take additional courses, or travel, or start at a modest salary, yet I can remember the days when such girls wouldn't have been able to get married at all "until he gets a job," and that "until" sometimes stretched out for years.

And girls who are already set in good jobs will too often do just enough to get by.

"They'd be hard put to it to replace me," they say, "so why knock yourself out"

My suggestion to all such people is to clip out a copy of the want ads from their most recent Sunday paper, and take it with them to the library.

There, if they'll look up the same section in the paper from the year, say, 1933—they may find that they have a good deal to be thankful for—and nothing at all to complain about!

Hubby Says Wife Rude to Visitor

Criticizes Her for Leaving Him Alone With Caller

By EMILY POST

A young wife writes me: "A business acquaintance of my husband's—a man I had never met—dropped in one evening to see my husband. My husband ushered him into the living room where I was seated and intrduced him to me.

"As the conversation was mostly about buisness matters and people I did not know, after about 15 minutes I excused myself, said good night and left the room. Afterwards, my husband told me that I was very rude to the visitor. Was I really rude?"

Answer: If they were having a serious business talk, then you would have been quite right to leave. If they were merely talking casually, it would certainly have been more courteous had you stayed.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married at an 11 o'clock Nuptial Mass, but will not be dressed in bridal clothes; instead I am going to wear either an afternoon dress or a suit. The bridegroom and best wan will wear business suits.

Is it true that because I am not wearing bridal clothes I cannot send out formal invitations, and that they must be written by hand? Also, are ushers absolutely necessary to seat the guests?

Answer. I do think that an engraved invitation suggests a bride in bridal dress, but it is not a hard and fast rule and depends more upon the number of guests you are inviting to the wedding.

It is not necessary to have ushers unless the church will be fairly well filled and acquaintances might help themselves to the family pews.

Dear Mrs. Post: In an office situation, does a secretary wait for her employer to open the door for her if they both happen to be going through the door at the same time?

Answer: The one who happens to be first opens the door—whether it is she or he—and goes through.

Soap Does Other Tricks Besides Washing Ears

Soap and water are a steady twosome, but individually they also serve the housewife well.

Water, of course, is essential for drinking and cooking, as well as cleaning.

But there are many unexpected uses for soap.

A damp bar of soap will pick up bits of broken glass. Later the slivers so dangerous to handle can be shaved off with a knife and safely discarded.

Candles coated with soap will last all through a cozy supper-for-two — and longer without smoking or dripping. Let them dry in candle holders before lighting.

Banish the nuisance of a creaking floor by working moist soap into cracks between the boards.

And a sticking, squeaky drawer can be made to slide easily and quietly by rubbing the tops of both sides and the under surfaces with soap.

A patch of moist soap will stop a sudden gas pipe leak until a repairman can be hastily summoned to remove the danger.

Soap bubbles also will tattle-tale on locations of leaks in a damaged inner tube, garden hose or gas pipe.

Moving heavy equipment, such as refrigerators, can be made easier by soaping the surrounding floor.

After the current has been turned off, a broken light bulb can be removed from the socket by pressing a bar of damp soap into the broken ends of the bulb.

Lubricate nails or screws with soap to make them easier to drive into wood or plaster.

One disadvantage of outdoor cooking can be eliminated by spreading a thin film of soapsuds on the bottoms and sides of pots and pans. Later, soot will wash off readily with the soap.

Rules to Follow in Cleaning Stove

NEW YORK (UP) — A clean range is a more efficient range. Soap and water, plus a mild abrasive, are enough to keep oven racks clean. Use a non-abrasive cleanser to keep chrome shiny.

If fruit juices or other substances spill over, saturate a cloth with household ammonia, place it over the spillage, and let remain overnight. The ammonia loosens the soil, making it easy to remove with a damp cloth or spatula.

Cracking will result if you wash the enameled surfaces of your stove while they are hot.

Republican Club Hears Speakers on Civil Defense

J. R. Stilt of the city of Pontiac Personnel Department and Sgt. Clayton Randolph of the Police Department were guest speakers of Pontiac Republican Women's Club Monday afternoon.

"Be Prepared" was the theme of their presentation, and they showed a film on civil defense.

Mrs. William Randall of Royal Oak spoke on the importance of passing the Bricker Amendment, and Mrs. Janette Bathum reported on citizenship. An outline of important government events in the United States was given by Mrs. Frank McGregor.

Plans were discussed for a Christmas party and dinner for the boys at Judge Moore's ranch near Oxford and Mrs. Albert Kohn was named head of donations.

The group will meet with the county federation for a Christmas party at Birmingham Community House Dec. 3.

Hostess for the Monday meeting was Mrs. Frank Clemens of North Marshall street.

Industry Big User of Platinum Metals

Industry is a far larger consumer of the rare platinum metals than the jewelry business, contrary to popular opinion.

These six white sister-metals—platinum, palladium, iridium, rhodium, ruthenium and osmium—are used for such industrial purposes as: production of synthetic fibers, nitrates for fertilizers, high octane gasoline for automobiles, vitamins for health, electrodes for spark plugs, and electrical contacts for the millions of relays required in the telephone system.

Odd-Jobs Apron Is Easy to Wash

Women really do odd jobs around the house. That's why an apron has been created with pockets to seven tools—"dainty" objects like a wrench, screw driver, and pliers.

You handywomen will be cheered not only by the mad cartoons sprawled across the front of the apron, but by its washability.

You'll get it pretty soiled on som of those odd jobs, so keep the soap suds flowing.

House Gift Idea Benefits Family

NEW YORK (INS)—There's a new "family-to-house" trend in Christmas gifts.

More and more families are using the Christmas season to chip in for "presents" 'to beautify some part of their homes.

Instead of presenting the bathroom scales to mother, you present them to the bathroom. That gives everybody a chance to use the scales, and it enables the whole family to redecorate a room without much expense individually.

Bathrooms and kitchens are the most economical "gift" recipients. For bathrooms, gift ideas include new towel racks, hooks, "squeeze" bottles and jars, new shelves, make-up trays, towels, hamper, curtains, colored paper sets, scales, massagers or even a new toilet seat.

Alpha Sigma Nu Holds Election of New Officers

Mrs. B. H. Ogden was elected president of Alpha Sigma Nu sorority when the group held a dinner meeting Monday evening at Carrie Lee Tearoom in Birmingham.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Howard Looney, vice president; Mrs. William Looney, secretary Elena Bajari, historian, and Mrs. T. P. Robertson, treasurer.

Mrs. Ogden introduced Mrs. Arthur Selden, guest speaker, who presented the highlights of her recent trip to Europe. She supplemented her talk by displaying treasurers she collected in the many countries she visited

The nominating committee included Miss Bajari, Mrs. H. W. Diekman and Mrs. Lloyd Moseby.

Olive Huntley was welcomed as a new member and Mrs. P. A. Smith and Mrs. Harold MacLaughlin were guests. Gifts of toys were contributed by members for the children at Pontiac General Hospital.

Mrs. Russell Evans extended an invitation to the sorority members, their husbands and their friends to attend a Christmas party at her Lake Angelus home on Dec. 14.

Ward Off Colds With Food, Rest

The cold season soon will be in full swing, as telltale sneezes, sniffles, and coughs already reveal. In addition to its accompanying discomforts, a cold is thoroughly deglamorizing for, obviously, no woman looks her best with puffy eyes, a red nose, and rough, dry skin.

To look and feel her best, therefore, she should strive to avoid the all-too-common common cold. Since no fool-proof preventive has yet been discovered, she sould keep her resistance high so that she will be less susceptible to the pesky virus.

To provide her body with the ability to ward off colds, she must follow a well-balanced diet and make certain that she receives adequate rest nightly.

It's well to remember that what one eats, not just how much, is the secret of good nutrition. The same holds true for adequate rest — it is not just how long one sleeps, but how well.

The natural food of the white bass includes minnow, worms, insects, larvae, mollusks, crawfish and crustaceans.

Fabulous Colors Are Displayed

Unique Motifs Also Are Emphasized in These Materials

Five new hand prints and a new handwoven silk from India have been introduced to the Knoll international collection of textiles.

The new patterns represent varying scales and are further enhanced by a fabulous selection of colors coordinated by Eszter Haraszty. In these new designs, Miss Haraszty has chosen to use surprising combinations of clear colors, brought together to subtly create rich tonal qualities.

"Geecha" silk from India is a handwoven, handspun natural silk with a beautiful luster and texture, smoother than its companion "India Silk," already in the Knoll collection. Since this fabric is woven by hand, it is sold in 4, 8 and 12-yard lengths, 50 inches wide.

"Citronnade" by Jacqueline Iribe of France is a fresh gay hand print on cotton with circles of lemon slices on finely textured background. Colors are bright: Black on white; white on black; yellow, black and white; light gray, white and black; green, white and black; blue, white and black. It is also 50 inches wide.

"Pythagoras" is by Sven Markelius of Sweden. Sweden's leading architect and recently consulting architect to the United Nations building, he has selected triangles and presents them in a multiplicity of colors and triangle forms on a natural linen.

There are approximately 11 colors in each combination, spanning the spectrum range, with Spectrum Blue (from violet to lime), Spectrum Red (from electric pink to yellow) and Spectrum Yellow (from rust to pale yellow). Each of these combinations is set off with a dark gray and white accent band. Fifty-two inches wide.

"Lazy Lines" is by Astrid Sampe of Sweden. Mrs. Sampe, Sweden's foremost textile designer, takes colored vertical stripes and puts them on heavy imported linen. The stripes are interrupted with a vertical linear stripe and diamond pattern.

Colors are warm and mellow; Black, brown, tan on white; charcoal, slate, light gray on white, dark green, yellow, olive on white; orange, ochre, yellow on white; charcoal, red and slate on white. Fifty-two inches wide.

"Shogi" is by Dennis Lennon of England. The Shogi from Japanese architecture is the inspiration of this design of broken horizontal and vertical stripes, handprinted on linen.

It is available in black on white, black on natural; black on yellow; black on paprika red, white on charcoal. Fifty inches wide.

"Diamonds" is by Albert Herbert of the U. S. A new interpretation in color has created a totally new design. Close-together tones are used on a linen background: Pine and emerald green, red and orange; navy and black; tan and hazel brown, turquoise and blue, yellow and citron; charcoal and slate gray. Fifty inches wide.

Avoid shoulder-wide collar and let the deep narrower shawl collar slim-neck and bosom. Vertical skin arrangement best.

Miss B.—Choose unbunchy collarless necklines for dresses and elongated shawl collars for your coats. "Slightly shorter" is the answer on length, and you want vertical lines in your furs.

Swimming Suits Will Plunge but Not in Water

NEW YORK (INS)—Swimsuits will plunge—but will their wearers dare to?—this year.

They will have V (for very vitalizing view) backs.

That's the word that reached New York from the California fashion creators, who are known for their trend-setting sportswear.

The comeback of the V-back, which sometimes exposes a woman as much as an inch below the waist, usually means that a higher, built-up look must be achieved in the front, to make them swimmable.

These are laws of nature and architecture.

So a few high-fashion resort suits this winter, and a great many moderately priced suits next summer, will be made with high halter necklines, with built-up straps, with built-in bras and so on.

To make up for the nudity of the back, the waist-down portion of swimsuits will be generally slightly longer and fuller than it has been in recent style seasons.

The most popular pants part of suits are expected to be made like fullish, elastic-hemmed bloomers, or like little boy's shorts. This, say the California designers, is to the flattering advantage of women with heavier hips and thighs.

The peacock flounder has periscopic eyes, which it raises or lowers at will as it lies hidden in the sand off Bermudan waters.

Pointers for Successful Cherry Nut Cakes

If you have trouble with cherries and nuts falling to the bottom when you make cherry nut cake, you might check on these pointers. Your recipe may not have enough flour to give sufficient body to the cake. The cake must have body enough to hold the weight of the cherries and nuts.

Another possibility is that the "fruits" aren't cut fine enough. Dredging them in a little flour helps to hold them suspended in the cake.

Make an extra quantity of Spanish rice; use part of it one day, use the rest of it the next day as a stuffing for green peppers.

Pork Chops Go With Fall Days

Pork chops go with fall days. Here are some tips on pork chop buying to help you the next time you are at your market.

Your meat retailer has several types of chops to fit various cooking needs.

The prized chop is cut from the center of the pork loin. You can compare this to beef's T-bone steak. The bone structure forms a "T" similar to beef T-bone so it is easily identified in the display case.

A second chop is the rib chop. This is excellent for serving with a stuffing. Have the chops cut thick, then, using a sharp knife, cut down along the bone and into the meat.

Fill the resulting cavity with a bread and onion stuffing or with a fruited combination. As the meat cooks it automatically seals the stuffing in the chop.

Pork shoulder chops or steaks are a third choice. They are especially good for cooking and serving over a casserole such as scalloped potatoes or Spanish rice.

You'll often find them retailing for several cents per pound under the center-cut loin chops.

Braising is the method of preparing all of these pork chops. This means they are browned first, then covered closely and cooked slowly until done.

This may be either on top of your range or in a moderate oven (350).

Pineapple Ring Dessert

Wondering what to serve for dessert when the bridge club comes? Here's a suggestion: Arrange broiled pineapple rings on sponge-cake squares and top with hot caramel sauce and a fluff of whipped cream. Plenty of calories in this one, but it tastes awfully good!

Meat Pinwheels Feature Crisp Cornmeal Dough

Here's a new meat dish that's easy to make, thrifty, good to eat, and pretty as a picture. Its cornmeal biscuit dough has an interesting crisp texture and its fillings are delicious.

You can use leftover baked ham or ordinary hamburger; roll it up jelly-roll fashion.

Ham or Beef Pinwheels

1½ cups sifted flour
½ cup cornmeal
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
⅔ cup milk
Ham or beef filling

Sift dry ingredients together into bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk, mixing only until dry ingredients are dampened.

Turn out on floured board and knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to 10x12-inch rectangle. Spread with filling.

Roll up like jelly roll, starting with 12-inch side. Cut into inch-thick slices and place on greased shallow pan.

Bake in very hot 450-degree oven 12 to 18 minutes, or until lightly browned. Serve at once. Makes six servings, two pinwheels apiece.

Ham Filling

2½ cups ground cooked ham
⅓ cup light cream or evaporated milk
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons pickle relish

Mix all ingredients together well.

Beef Filling

¾ pound ground beef
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup chili sauce
¼ cup finely chopped onion

For Cooking Squash

To cook squash cut in half and scoop out seeds and strings. Cut into 2 or 3-inch pieces and pare off outside skin. Cook, covered, in small amount of boiling water until tender — 25 to 30 minutes. Mash or press through sieve. Squash may be steamed or cooked in pressure cooker if desired.

SHRIMP CREOLE—Chafing dish cookery makes entertaining easy and fun. Creole shrimp is a colorful dish that you will find yourself serving often. Buttered rice is the perfect food to serve with the shrimp.

Shrimp Creole Goes With Rice

The shrimp creole can be made in the chafing dish while the rice is cooked on the surface of the range. Chopped green pepper, onion and celery are cooked in melted butter until tender, then condensed tomato soup and vinegar are added.

The shrimp are added at the very end, and the creole is cooked just until the shrimp are warmed through. Either canned, fresh or frozen shrimp can be used.

After the rice has cooked, heap it in a serving dish and decorate with several pats of butter. Butter melting on a piping hot dish of rice makes it a tempting sight as well as making it taste good.

Shrimp Creole

½ cup finely chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped celery
1 medium sized onion, chopped
¼ cup butter
1 can condensed tomato soup
1 teaspoon wine vinegar
2 cups shrimp, canned or fresh
1 recipe oven steamed rice

Cook green pepper, celery and onion in blazer pan of chafing dish in the butter. When vegetables are tender, add tomato soup and vinegar. Simmer 10 minutes. Add shrimp and heat thoroughly.

Serve over a mound of oven-steamed rice. Or prepare the dish in a saucepan and serve over the rice. Serves six.

Oven Steamed Rice

1 cup rice
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter

Wash rice thoroughly to remove starch. Drain well. Put water in 1½-quart casserole, add salt and then rice. Mix, add butter, and place cover on casserole. Place in 425-degree oven and bake 45 minutes. Serves six.

Kitchen in Tip-Top Order Eases Holiday Cookery

Is your kitchen ready for all the holiday cookery coming up?

There still is time to revamp your meal preparation center so that getting huge festive dinners and party foods for Thanksgiving, Christmas and the New Year will be a pleasure, not a chore. Here are some tips on getting the kitchen ready for its big season.

1. Have plenty of work surfaces of easily cleaned material like clay tile installed adjacent to the sink, the range and the refrigerator. These are the primary activity centers of a busy kitchen, and the installation will not take long or be costly.

2. Get that new refrigerator you've been wanting, and be sure it is large enough to accommodate all the regular foods, as well as the holiday fare. If you prefer to postpone this purchase, take a good audit of your present refrigerator and clean out all the non-essentials stored there and plan the interior carefully for holiday foods.

3. Be sure the range is in excellent working order if you cannot replace it at the moment.

4. A good investment, not only for the holidays but all year 'round is a kitchen "island" on wheels that is surfaced in stainproof material and has plenty of storage space under the top. You can move this adaptable piece of kitchen equipment easily from job to job. And it will come in handy at carving time.

5. Rearrange your storage system so that all the utensils, dishes and holiday meal ingredients will be well located, within easy reach.

6. Put up a bulletin board and use it. Plan the whole season's meals carefully and note down "things to do" and "things to buy" on the bulletin board. This saves last-minute details that usually make preparation of turkey dinners a hectic affair.

Memories Held by Pumpkin Pie

Pumpkin pie time is not just another season on the calendar of foods. It is a state of mind. For there is a comforting goodness about this autumn favorite that speaks of home, hospitality, and a host of memories.

Dozens of variations have come from the "receipt" handed down from our Pilgrim mothers, but most of us go back to the traditional spicy pumpkin custard—not too much pumpkin, a minimum of sweetening, the right amount of spicing.

And who are we to say whether you should use a light hand for the golden-toned filling or a heavier touch to the spice cans for the deeper cinnamon brown!

But the crust should be flaky and free of sogginess, the filling firm but quivery as in any fine custard-type pie, the temperature—when served — somewhere around comfortable room heat for pleasant eating. Never hot, never really ened or deadened by the degree of heat.

Here are some little tricks that make for perfect pumpkin pie, plus a recipe for pie crust made with evaporated milk that's tender, flaky, and does away with soggy-crusted pumpkin pies.

Milk-Made Pie Crust

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
1½ teaspoons lemon juice or vinegar
⅔ cup undiluted evaporated milk

All ingredients should be cold. Sift flour with the salt. Cut in the shortening using pastry blender or two knives, until shortening is size of large peas. Stir lemon juice or vinegar into the milk. Add milk all at once to the flour mixture and stir quickly but thoroughly.

If a little more milk is needed before shaping up into a ball, add a tiny bit at a time until all the flour can be held together in the dough. But go easy!

Wrap in waxed paper and allow to stand two hours or longer before using. This will make two single crusts or one double-crust pie.

3 Wheat-Free Recipes for Turkey Stuffing

If you are on a wheat-free diet you may still have dressing in your Thanksgiving turkey. Here are three recipes for stuffing the bird, none of which contains any wheat.

Cornflakes Stuffing

4 cups cornflakes, rolled
4 teaspoons sage or poultry seasoning
4 teaspoons salt
½ onion, chopped
2 tablespoons meat drippings
Chopped giblets
¼ cup water

This second dressing is a milder one and contains no poultry seasoning.

Rice Dressing

2 cups cooked rice
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

The third dressing is flavored with pork sausage.

Wheat-Free Poultry Dressing

3 cups cooked rice
½ pound pork sausage
½ teaspoon sage

Finely diced, fully-ripe bananas may be diced and folded into griddle cake batter. Serve with crisp bacon or frizzled ham and maple syrup.

Harvest Cones Brim With Fruit

A cornucopia pastry horn filled with a cranberry-apple mixture makes a real horn of plenty for holiday entertaining.

Harvest Cones

1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 package pie crust mix
2 cups cranberries
2 peeled apples, sliced thinly

Combine sugar, water, cranberries and apples. Cook slowly without stirring until cranberry skins pop open and apple slices are soft, about 10 minutes. Cool sauce while preparing pastry.

Make pastry according to package directions. Roll out thinly into large rectangle one-eighth inch thick and cut into 4-inch squares. Place 2 tablespoons cool cranberry mixture in center of each crust section.

To make cornucopia cone: Bring lower corner of pastry square up to center of square; bring left upper corner down to center of square. Overlap these edges slightly and moisten with cold water to seal.

Prick pastry with tines of fork. Place on baking sheet and bake 15 minutes in hot oven (450). Aluminum pastry horns may be used for shaping, if desired.

Tips on Lemon Torte

Possibly you're one who likes to make Lemon Torte, but has trouble baking it so the egg-white topping is crisp and not soft like a meringue. Always bake the egg-yolk cake mixture and meringue at the same time. The egg-white meringue should be spread on before the baking is started, not put on the hot cake batter. When cool, serve it with lemon filling and whipped cream.

DOUBLE-DECKER SALAD—This salad made in two layers has all sorts of interesting food in it. The bottom layer has cottage cheese and canned sliced peaches, flavored with curry; the top layer is tuna and rich black olives. Sounds wonderful!

Try Serving Baked Fresh Carrots

For a change in the way you serve carrots to your family, try these baked carrots. Carrots are always abundant at this time of the year.

Baked Fresh Carrots

Scrub fresh carrots and rub lightly with shortening or bacon fat. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes or until tender when tested with a knife. For large carrots, slice open lengthwise. Serve hot with salt, pepper and butter or margarine, like a baked potato.

To speed the usual meat loaf mixture and cut oven heat time bake as individual meat loaves by packing into muffin pans.

Small Turkeys Plentiful for Thanksgiving Dinner

There are several festivals we share with people in other lands. But Thanksgiving is our own special celebration, a holiday that is typically American. So we celebrate in our own fashion, with good delicious foods, simply cooked and good to look at.

Turkey is traditional at this time so we give it full attention. Our Thanksgiving turkey fortunately is in good supply, especially the junior miss size—the Beltsville Maryland type grown for the small family.

From the research kitchens of a national margarine company come some hints on preparing this prima donna of the Thanksgiving table. If you choose the popular 8 to 12-pound size turkey (ready-to-cook weight), you will allow approximately 4 to 4½ hours in a slow oven (325).

For a larger bird, say 12 to 16 pounds, you'll need 4½ to 5 hours in a slow oven (325). When you get a frozen turkey, follow carton directions for defrosting, but always cook promptly once it is defrosted.

With a fresh turkey, wipe the outside with a clean, damp cloth, then rinse the cavity with cold water and dry thoroughly. If your butcher did a good job, it won't be necessary to remove and odd bits of lung or kidney, but it's always a good idea to check.

Stuff your turkey just before roasting, and allow 1 cup stuffing per pound of ready-to-cook weight. Don't pack stuffing in tightly — it expands during cooking.

Because turkey meat is on the dry side, rub it, after stuffing, with creamed margarine. Place it breast side down in a shallow roasting pan, and cover with clean cheesecloth. You'll have your oven preheated, of course.

Keep the cheesecloth moistened with melted margarine and turn the bird breast side up when it is about three-fourths cooked. You can tell when it's done by moving the drumstick. If the leg joint gives readily or shows signs of breaking, it's time to serve.

A last word of warning, never, never let your turkey stand around at room temperature after the meal is over. Keep it in the refrigerator, preferably covered with waxed paper.

Pistachios, Pine Nuts Lend Exotic Touch

Like a touch of the exotic in your company menus? Then use pine nuts or pistachio nuts in some of your dishes. Brown the pine nuts lightly in butter and serve over fish fillets. Or stir them into fluffy cooked rice and serve with lamb kebabs or a roast of lamb.

Use the pistachio nuts in a cream cheese spread and then smooth into the cavities of celery stalks; cut into one-inch length and serve as a first course or with a salad.

Double-Deck Salad Mold Jam-Packed With Flavor

Salad recipes and pictures have been few and far between these fall days. We are glad then to have a new salad to give you.

This one has such an interesting combination of flavors that it should please everyone. Do try it soon.

Double-Decker Tuna Salad

Top deck first:

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup boiling water
1 can (7-ounce) solid-pack tuna, drained and flaked
½ cup sliced ripe olives (about 6 large)
½ cup sliced celery
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons grated onion

Sprinkle gelatin over cold water; let stand five minutes. Add boiling water; stir until gelatin dissolves. Fold in remaining ingredients.

Pour into oiled 1½-quart ring mold or 9x5x3-inch loaf pan; chill until firm.

Lower deck:

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 No. 303 can (about 1 pound) sliced peaches
1 container (8-ounce) cream-style cottage cheese
1 to 2 teaspoons curry powder
½ teaspoon salt

Sprinkle gelatin over cold water; let stand five minutes. Heat three-fourths cup syrup drained from sliced peaches. Add boiling syrup to gelatin; stir until gelatin dissolves.

Blend cottage cheese, curry powder (amount depends on your family's taste), salt and diced peaches. Carefully spoon mixture over firm first layer; chill one to two hours, or until firm.

Unmold on chop plate; garnish with water cress, black olives and additional peach slices, if desired. Serve with mayonnaise or salad dressing. Makes about six servings.

'Dagwood' Makes Hit With Hungry Males

A he-man "Dagwood" makes a hit after the card game, or anytime the males in the household clamor for eats. Have them already lined up on a cooking tin, or shallow pan, in the refrigerator.

Spread bread slices with layer deviled ham, top with layer canned baked beans. Overall place a slice processed cheese and a tablespoon chili sauce, or a thin slice tomato. Slide under broiler for 5-7 minutes soon as the gang begins asking for food.

Goldenrod Eggs Make Tasty Dish for Children

Goldenrod eggs are easy to prepare and small fry love this dish. Cook several eggs until they are hard, then slice the whites in thin slivers and add them to a cup of medium white sauce.

Heat and pour over crisp toast; now rub the hard-cooked yolks through a sieve and let them garnish the dish. This amount will be enough for two or three servings.

Quick Holiday Idea for Confection Treat

This is a quick idea for a confection treat. The directions are quick and easy to follow.

When cooled, the candy can be cut into Christmas trees or stars and used as gay Christmas decoration. Cut in other shapes for other holidays:

Cook ¼ cup butter and ½ pound marshmallows over boiling water until syrupy, stirring frequently. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla flavoring, beat thoroughly. Put 3 cups oven-popped rice cereal in greased large bowl.

Pour marshmallows mixture over cereal, stirring briskly. Press into greased shallow pan. Cut into squares or fancy shapes, when cool.

Tuna-Rice Tops Fried Eggplant

Do you want to know the secret of preparing real Spanish rice? It lies in one simple process: Lightly browning the rice in fat before you ever add the tomato sauce.

It's this little trick that gives the nutty flavors connoisseurs of Spanish rice hold in such esteem.

Spanish Rice With Tuna, Eggplant

⅓ cup bacon drippings or butter or margarine
¼ cup thinly sliced onions
½ cup diced green pepper
1½ cups precooked rice
1¾ cups hot water
2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 7-ounce can solid pack tuna, drained and flaked
1 medium eggplant
1 egg, well-beaten
1 tablespoon water
Fine cracker crumbs
Shortening
Parsley

Melt fat in saucepan or skillet. Add onion, green pepper and rice; cook and stir over high heat until lightly browned. Add water, tomato sauce, salt and pepper. Mix well.

Bring quickly to a boil. Cover tightly and simmer 10 minutes. Add tunafish and heat thoroughly.

Meanwhile, wash and peel eggplant. Cut into slices about one-half inch thick. Sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste. Mix egg and water.

Dip eggplant slices into egg mixture, then into cracker crumbs. Brown both sides in shortening over medium heat. Drain on absorbent paper.

Arrange eggplant on platter and top each slice with a mound of the rice. Garnish with parsley. Makes four servings.

Quick breads with sugar in them will usually have a browner crust than those that do not; sugar, through its tendency to caramelize, aids browning.

The Book of the Dead probably is the oldest book in the world. It consists of religious texts which, according to old Egyptian faith, were designed to guide and protect the dead as they wandered through the lower regions.

America's official Christmas tree is located in General Grant National Park, California. It is 267 feet high.

Tree Doctor Makes Emergency Calls

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Even a tree doctor has to get out of bed at night to answer emergency phone calls.

Urban L. Throm, requires a special night phone listing to handle the scores of "hurry-over" calls he receives both in summer and winter.

Throm says people worry about their trees almost as much as they do about their own aches and pains — and often demand even quicker attention for their trees. He says they don't hesitate to call in the wee hours after they find their favorite spruce or oak sagging in misery after some storm damage or insect scourge.

Even in summer, when you think things would be smoothest, the elements take their toll. Most frequent summer emergency "surgery" involves trees struck by lightning during electrical storms.

But the Davey tree expert's busiest night season is the winter when sleet and wind damage repairs make the doc think he can't see the forest for the trees.

It's Your Own Fault if You Stumble on Chair

SALT LAKE CITY (UP)—The Utah Supreme Court has ruled that a man who breaks his toe by stumbling during the night into a chair left out of place by a motel operator does so because he fails to turn on the light and is not entitled to collect damages.

In writing the decision, Justice J. Allan Crockett pointed out that most persons have collided with chairs during the night because they neglected to turn on a light, so are well aware that it is a dangerous practice to navigate in the dark.

Helicopter Makes the Congo Healthier

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) —James R. Patterson of the United Aircraft Corp. says Belgian officials hold the helicopter second in importance only to medical men in making Leopoldville in the Belgian Congo a healthful place to live.

The 'copter is used extensively in spraying large areas of the jungle with insecticides, he said. The sprayings have been so effective that malaria has been reduced to 8 per cent contagion among native children. Before World War II the rate was closer to 100 per cent.

Vandals Hit Cemetery

SALEM, Ore. (UP) — Vandals pushed over 28 tombstones and broke two others in St. Luke's Catholic cemetery at Woodburn, north of Salem.

Queen Elizabeth to Make 6 Months' Tour of World

LONDON (UP) — Queen Elizabeth leaves London Nov. 23 in a chartered stratocruiser en route to Bermuda on the first leg of a trip around the world, the longest tour ever made by any ruling sovereign.

For six months the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, will travel the far-flung colonies, possessions and dominions on which the sun never sets—Jamaica, Fiji, Tonga, New Zealand, Australia, the Cocos Islands, Ceylon, Aden, Uganda, Malta and Gibraltar.

These trips will "show the crown" to the diverse peoples of the Empire as the British Navy has always shown the flag.

Behind her the Queen will leave a Council of State to rule in her stead. It is expected to include Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Margaret, the Duke of Gloucester, the Princess Royal and the Earl of Harewood.

If the Duke also is killed or incapacitated the regency bill is expected to provide that Princess Margaret will act as regent until Prince Charles becomes of age.

A large group of court officials and personal attendants will accompany the Royal couple.

The stratocruiser is scheduled to stop at Grander, Nfd., for refueling. It will reach Bermuda, Nov. 24 and the next day the royal couple will fly on to Jamaica where they will spend the following two days.

On Nov. 27 the Queen and Duke will embark in the 15,900-ton Shaw-Saville liner Gothic. The Gothic is leaving Britain in advance of the Queen's plane take-off to make the rendezvous at Jamaica. It will carry most of the royal party.

The Queen's accommodation is at the aft end of the boat deck, furnished with personal belongings from the Royal Palace to lend a homelike look.

The Queen will spend 25 days at sea, the longest journey of her life so far, before the liner reaches Fiji, Dec. 17.

Christmas will be spent in New Zealand and on Christmas day the Queen will give the traditional radio talk to the empire from Government House, where she will stay.

On Jan. 30 the royal party will embark in their ship at the Bluffs and sail for Sydney where they are due Feb. 3.

It will be the first time a reigning sovereign has ever visited Australia so the Queen and her husband will undertake an exhaustive tour of the various states, flying thousands of miles to backwoods districts.

On April 1 the Gothic will leave Freemantle for the Cocos Islands where the Queen will spend April 5. They will reach Ceylon five days later and remain there until the Queen's 28th birthday, April 21, leaving from Colombo for Aden where they will arrive six days later.

The Gothic will return to Britain from this port.

On April 27 the Queen and the Duke will fly from Aden to Uganda to complete the tour they were making in February, 1952 when the death of King George VI called them home.

There will be a one-day stop at Gibraltar May 10 before the royal yacht reaches Portsmouth on May 15 and the royal party heads for London by train.

Smoke Dreams Can Be Real

Old Standbys or Odd Gifts Are Available in Wide Price Range

Have you a smoker on your Christmas list? The odds are pretty good that you do. And if so, you can delight this person and ease your shopping tasks by catering to his smoke-dreaming habits.

The nicest thing of all, of course, is the fact that smokers' gifts are available in wide price ranges, and can be fitted to almost every budget.

Certain gifts are old standbys. A cigarette smoker is sure to welcome a carton of his best-liked brand; a cigar fancier will go for a favorite box of stogies, and pipe smokers can always use new pipes or a can of good tobacco.

Other gifts are more unusual. A good example is a new type of ash tray, designed for television viewers.

The tray itself glows in the dark, so the user won't miss with any ashes, and the base is a pliable "bean bag" that balances firmly on chair arm or knee.

Another article with a different touch is a personalized cigar humidor, with matching ash trays. Humidors can be purchased in a variety of fine materials, among them hand-tooled leather.

In lighters, there are models to fit almost every smoker's taste. And even if the person you're buying for already has a pocket lighter, you can be sure of wowing him with a fashionable table model.

If you wish to present a really impressive gift, you might consider a complete table set of lighter, oval-shaped tray and matching cigarette urn, all in silver plate.

Or a new "hostess tray" ensemble in which table lighter, humidor and ash tray are combined with coffee set, brandy warmer and ice bucket.

For your favorite cigar smoker, there are dozens of striking cigar cases to choose from, in leather, chrome and other finishes. You'll bring on a grin of pleasure, also, with a small leather pocket kit containing a cigar clipper.

Giving a pipe? Be sure to get the right one. Take a look at the smoker's collection to determine his favorite stylings. Or, when in doubt, consult the merchant.

Pipe smokers on your list should be especially happy with a new white briar that's designed for use with dark suits and evening wear. And there's a pipe rest that's shaped like a deck chair.

A thoughtful touch to add when purchasing smokers' accessories is to have the item personalized, wherever this is possible.

Ash trays, lighters, cases, humidors, and pipe stands — even boxes of match folders — are all available in monogrammed or initialed styles, and the lettering does much to lift the gift from the "ordinary" class.

Tom and his father, Floyd Kent, both Pontiac realtors, attended meetings of the National Association of Real Estate Boards in Honolulu, following the organization's national convention in Los Angeles.

Gadgets for the Motorist Will Prove Most Welcome

A person who does a lot of driving or takes obvious pride in his car is an extra-easy gift target at Christmas.

Give him something to spruce up his auto, or to make his driving easier and safer, and he'll thank you many times over.

So many folks have come to realize this that the neighborhood gas stations and auto accessories stores have become specialized gift stores.

Stop off there on your shopping tour and chances are you'll be amazed at the array of useful gifts, in a wide range of prices, that are on display.

If you check first to see if the person you're buying for needs any of them, old standbys such as tires, bumper jacks, mirrors, hood ornaments, repair kits and seat covers are certain to be welcomed.

But even more suitable as presents are the so-called auto "gadgets" — practical devices of clever design that add to motoring pleasure, and often contribute to safety.

One item is a safety light that plugs into the cigar lighter. Equipped with an extra long cord to reach any part of the car, it will come in mighty handy the next time a motorist friend has a breakdown at night.

Four other items which make good gift suggestions (and, remember, there are dozens more) are as follows:

A watch that mounts on the steering wheel and winds itself automatically as the wheel is turned.

A little magnetized box, for holding an extra key, which can be stuck to any hidden part of the car.

A cigarette dispenser which holds a pack or more of cigarettes and releases one lighted, at a touch.

An upholstery brush with built-in rubber squeegee for window washing and a brass blade for scraping the windshield.

One word of warning: There are some items — like animal tails, baby shoes, plastic birds, spring-mounted ornaments, etc. — that obstruct the driver's vision and thus, may be dangerous.

Nail-Keg Chest for Silverware Is Novel Gift

If you've got the time to make-and-give a gift, there's a novel idea waiting to become reality at your touch.

It's a treasure chest for the safe storage of silver hollowware and it will be welcomed by a bride who is building her silver service, or a housewife who cherishes her present collection.

The basic unit of the chest is a large, hardware-store variety of nail keg. But a lining of silver cloth and a gay outside decoration turns it into a useful storage unit that also will undoubtedly serve as a fascinating conversation piece.

Silver cloth as a lining will prevent tarnish and eliminate the need for routine polishing. It's a heavy brown cotton flannel impregnated with particles of silver which intercept tarnish-causing sulphur from the air.

Household cement will fasten the cloth to the inside of the keg. And a circular metal tray, the same diameter as the keg's opening, will serve as a sturdy cover. The tray should be lined with silver cloth, too.

Gifts for Whole Family

1. Outdoor grill or barbecue unit.
2. Personalized door mat.
3. Imported bamboo place mats.
4. Bathroom scale.
5. A movie projector.
6. Family shoe-shine kit.
7. Selection of unusual jams or jellies.
8. Tickets to a play or movie, or dinner out.
9. Magnetic bulletin board, with memo pad, pencil, etc.
10. Black cast aluminum sign, with the family's name in gold, for hanging on the porch or by the gate.

Children in Holland and Belgium are always careful to set out some straw and carrots to accommodate St. Nick's hungry white horse.

Goats Take Over Island Near California Coast

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A zoologist has disclosed that Gaudalupe island off the Lower California coast, once a lush paradise, has been turned into almost barren waste by a herd of wild goats.

The disclosure was made by Dr. Thomas Howell, University of California at Los Angeles zoologist and member of a recent expedition to the island 200 miles south of San Diego.

Dr. Howell said naturalists who explored the island in the late 1800's reported a luxuriant vegetation. Now the island has only two sparse groves of cypress trees and palms, he said.

Seven types of birds peculiar to the island now are extinct, and other will gradually disappear as the vegetation continues to be destroyed, according to Dr. Howell.

The university zoologist believes the goats were introduced to the island in the early 1800's by whalers as a fresh meat supply for future cruises.

Dr. Howell said the voracious animals may eventually eat themselves into destruction. They are destroying the vegetation which traps water from island fogs, he said, thus eliminating their own water supply.

Gifts to Sparkle Christmas Morn

Jewelry, at All Price Ranges, Will Fill Out Holiday Needs

For all the sparkle that is Christmas, and the tinkling laughter of children that is holiday, diamonds are still a girl's best friend.

Precious gifts are in the very tradition of Christmas, and jewelry is always high on the list of cherished presents. And under thousands of Christmas trees this year — as in the past — will sit thousands of little velvet boxes silently singing their precious greetings.

Little children go for the sparkle. You can take a roaring thank you if you give a growing-up girl a novel pin of Mazp from the cosmetic jewelry counter.

She'll wear it to mud-pie parties with the same pride her mother would wear the Star of Hope diamond to a coronation.

A pair of earrings, a set of glittering scatter pins, a brooch —all if them inexpensive—should please any girl.

Her father, by the same token, is a fall guy for fancy cuff links or tie clip. It's probably the one dash of sporting life he allows himself. But you'll have to buy it for him. He'd never do it for himself.

For men, Swank has put out a sports set that features a rifle tie clip and wild duck cuff links. On the dressier side, they've got a gold set sparked by a colored stone of red or blue.

Shields, too, has a clip-and-links set in a "Gay Nineties" design done in enamel that pictures ancient autos.

These are merely a clue to the jewelry designs for men. For the most part, though, men's needs are simple and traditional. It's a good idea to stay away from tiaras and necklaces, no matter how out-of-doorsy the design.

But if you're choosing for a girl, it's another matter.

Nearly every combination of every color, gem and fitting are on display at your jewelers.

Just for the record, though, here's a quick look at your store window for a starting point.

A jewel-paved pin-and-earring set in ruby and rhinestone solitaires set on a bright golden three-dimensional base.

A tassel pin of pearls interspersed with fat rondels and other shaped brilliants. Matched earrings are of the long, thin variety. (It's by Trifari.)

A cylindrical necklace of topaz and rhinestone rondels with simulated oblong pearls. The bracelet repeats the cylindrical motif; the earrings repeat the gems. (This one is by LaTusca.

Photographs are perennial favorites on Christmas gift lists. And rightly so, for they're especially welcomed by loved ones, and enjoyed countless times in years to come.

This type of gift is particularly appropriate for a young girl to give to her boy friend, or vice versa. Or for a serviceman to give to his family. But its usage has few limitations.

Why not, for instance, arrange a date with a photographer and have a group photograph taken of the entire family of a friend.

Group photos of this type are always treasured, but few families actually get around to having one taken.

When presenting photographs as a gift, it's always wise to present one or two wallet-size prints in addition to a large, framed print. Most persons like to carry their favorite photos around with them and display them to friends and acquaintances.

Toy Buyers Have Chance to Provide Lasting Benefit

The Christmas shopper with children on his list holds a precious opportunity in his hands, according to Dr. Grace Langdon, child development adviser to the American Toy Institute.

Shopping for toys, says this doctor, is an opportunity to provide children with lasting benefits as well as immediate delight.

Here are dos and don'ts suggested by Dr. Langdon:

DON'T be afraid to give boys and girls the same kinds of toys. Boys like dolls, too, in their pre-school years.

Girls like things to pound and hammer just as boys do. Give children things that they like and enjoy, and forget whether they're girls or boys.

Take care not to pick the toy you like, instead of what the child is apt to like.

DON'T pick a toy for a child to grow up to—get one that fits him now. He will lose interest in it before he grows to it.

Don't buy toys that are too easy to play with. They bore a child and he soon throws them aside.

Don't expect the little child in the family to use the toys of the older ones. He needs his own, the older ones need theirs.

DON'T get toys for a city apartment that can only be used in wide-open spaces.

Give a child a balance in his assortment of toys—some for active play, some of imitative, some for creative—he needs them at the same time for he has a variety of interests.

Don't constantly fuss at a child about taking care of his toys. Get good, sturdy ones, then let him use them.

While a child needs plenty of variety in toys, it is a good idea to keep rotating those available to him. Especially for a little child, put some away, then bring them out later. They'll be eagerly accepted, and played with once again.

Many of the customs observed at Christmas predate Christianity. They derive from pagan celebrations which attended the winter solstice, the time o year when winter days begin to lengthen, about Dec. 22.

Adult 'Do-It-Yourself' Fan Spreading to Toys

The adult "do-it-yourself" movement has inspired hosts of toys for Junior.

There's a TV engineering outfit with a large size TV panel, play-picture tube and other basic parts with how-to-do-it directions.

For small gardeners there's a truck with a built-in water tank designed to aid large-scale watering of plants. And a painter's truck reproduces in miniature the paraphernalia needed for house painting.

A new construction kit provides painting equipment as well as plans and building materials for a church, a barn, and a house.

Careless Packing May Delay Gifts by Mail

There's nothing more annoying, or needless, at Christmas time than to cart a large bundle of gift packages to the post office and then have one or two rejected when they fail to meet postal regulations.

To avoid this irritation, it's wise to consult your local post office ahead of time, especially before wrapping anything large, to acquaint yourself with the rules.

In general, packages you send parcel post (fourth class) must be packed in sturdy, tight containers and wrapped with strong cord and paper. No rattling is allowed.

Give Children Clothing Gifts

For Toddlers' Presents That Aid Parents Are Practical, Best

Christmas may be the "Children's Holiday," but no law stops gift-givers from being practical. And what goes under the tree can easily be new clothes.

For infants and crib-size youngsters, the gift is probably best that aids the parents. Baby blankets, carriage covers, diaper service and bunting can serve as a "family gift."

But if the children are older, clothing becomes a delicate problem. It's a rare youngster who runs outside on Christmas morning to tell his friends: "Oh boy! I got six suits of underwear."

Solution to the clothing-gift problem is largely a matter of disguise. Everday play clothes, for example, can be cowboy suits or space-travel outfits.

For growing-up children, though, it's another matter. You'll become a hero if you give junior his first real rubber boots or a bow tie like Uncle Ed wears or a checked vest like the ones the college boys wear.

Young ladies, growing into their social years, go for frilly, starchy party dresses. And the more grown-up the dress, the more valuable your gift becomes.

But it's wisest to consult with the parents of the child for whom you are buying.

Your young friend may not need the outfit you would buy. And his parents might object to having him in grown-up clothes. Most little girls, of course, have already a basic wardrobe and a word from their parents can save you shopping time.

The problem presented by footwear gifts is a question of health and safety. Although little girls will sparkle over a pair of patent leather, shiny, new high-heeled shoes, their parents may object. Consult with the grownups first.

Keep new fabrics in mind. Longer-wearing, washable, tear-resistant yarns are used widely in children's play and dress-up clothes. It's an added gift of economy if you make sure the things you buy will stand up.

The whole idea, according to leading clothing stores, is to make a run-of-the-closet outfit a little different for Christmas morning junior will dash outside to tell his friends:

"Oh boy! I got six suits of underwear and they've got my INITIALS on them."

Don't Overlook Your Pet Store as a Gift Shop

One of the brightest gifts you can give a family, whether they have children or not, is a household pet.

A singing bird, a friendly puppy, a purring kitten can cheer up any hearth. Even a bowl of goldfish or guppies will bring life into a home.

But, according to doctors and veterinarians, there are several checks you should make before you visit your local pet shop to select a gift.

With at least 25 million Americans suffering from allergies, make sure your gift pet will not be an offender. Most common allergies are to cats, long-haired dogs, rabbits.

Be careful of giving animals to homes where children are very young. The jealousy between the two can result in unhappy — and sometimes dangerous — relationships.

Don't give pets that need house care to families who are not at home during the day. This can be ranked as one of the ties to animals.

Pulpit Record Set by Tennessee Pastor

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Just because a man is 91 years old and his suit is prety well worn is no reason to quit filling pulpits, says the Rev. Robert F. Rogers.

So Roger's four sons got together and bought the preacher the only birthday present he said he wanted—a new suit. Not just one suit, but a wardrobe.

The Missionary Baptist minister says he has walked, ridden horseback and "buggied" over most every rural section within a 100-mile radius of Chatanooga during the past 50 or so years.

"I guess,' he said, 'I've wor n out more shoe leather and buggy seats getting to my churches than any man in these parts."

High School Marriages

DALLAS (AP)—Of approximately 20 thousand students in Dallas junior and senior high schools 72 are married, Dr. W. T. White, superintendent, said records showed.

The teen-agers include 56 girls and 16 boys.

Rejects Scented Kitty

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—A young man wanted to ship a pet baby skunk. The Havre express agent Carl Nessett first said, Sure," and only then remem"b'-ered to as whether the kitty had been de'scented. Her, "No,' brought the agent's reply—

"No, sir! You can't ship him that-a-way. Please get him out of here!"

Martin Luther is credited with having brought the first Christmas tree indoors more than 400 years ago.

PETTICOAT FEVER—The style is back, with yards of ruffles and the rustle of femininity. Lingerie, a very personal gift, should be selected with propriety. New sheer, strong fabrics make it a useful gift.

Beautiful Lingerie Rates High in Gifts for Women

If there were to be a count of the remarks made over newly-opened Christmas boxes, the highest tally would go to:

"Ohhhh, I love beautiful lingerie and never buy it for myself."

And in that comment lies the cue to women's gifts at Yuletide.

The girl probably does not live who cannot be made to feel like a pampered princess with a gift of lingerie. And years ago it was only the princess who could afford to own — and launder — what is now available to all in nightgowns, pegnoirs, petticoats, slips, panties, bedjackets, pajamas.

Nylon garments are available with nylon lace trimmings, nylon net, embroidery, velvet. In this fabric, everything washes easily and dries quickly.

Aside from luxury items, useful gifts of clothing can be attractive, too. A new, lightweight raincoat; a sports shirt a pair of casual gloves; a woolen skating cap can bring the same "ohhh" from your lady.

In buying women's clothes, it's a good idea to stay away from the outfits that require definite measurements unless you know them exactly.

Many stores have gift certificates that will enable the lady to choose and fit her clothes at her leisure — after you've paid for them.

But for the woman whose measurements you know, whose tastes and style you understand, the Wool Bureau has come up with two ensembles that can serve as guideposts to your Christmas choice.

The weskit, skirt and shirt ensemble of lightweight wool tweed is new this year. It's a striped and flecked design in navy with white, red and powder blue. The skirt is in matching powder blue.

U.S. Army Has Pacific Fleet

68 Vessels of Ryukyus Command Serve Chain of Islands

NAHA, Okinawa (UP)—The U. S. Army operates one of the busiest fleets in the Pacific.

The Ryukyus Command Fleet—though one of the smallest in the world—is doing a big business in supplying food, clothing, gasoline and oil and other vital supplies to military installations on Okinawa and to other islands in the Ryukyus chain.

The fleet — a 68-vessel Army Transportation Corps flotilla with home port here — also includes large tugs used for berthing ships at Naha Harbor and White Beach, for making ocean tows and aiding ships in distress in the China and Philippine seas.

The ships are operated by soldiers and American and native civilians. They ranged in size from 20-foot J boats used to carry passengers and light cargo to 200-foot LSM's (landing ship, medium) which carry tanks and other vehicles.

The fleet is under supervision of Lt. Col. Edward A. Jaggie of Damont, N. J., who formerly was connected with two well-known United States commercial steamship lines.

The fleet has repair and maintenance equipment for making all kinds of ship repairs as well as annual overhauls.

Assigned to the fleet also are Army deep sea divers who can raise to the surface any ships which go down in the harbor.

YOUNGER SET — Little girls will learn chores and help Mother with new miniature housekeeping toys. This one has mop, pail, soap and piece of flooring to be cleaned.

Toys Encourage Better Habits

Designers Offer Help to Parents in New Holiday Offerings

From at least one spot under the Christmas tree comes evidence that this is "Be Kind to Parents Year."

Come Christmas, Santa will deliver a variety of "good habit" toys, involving ingenious techniques devised to add fun value to such basic activities as toothbrushing, tidy eating, and careful ablutions.

Tackling the deplorable and nearly universal habit of youngsters to drop used towels on the floor, one toy designer offers a gay tiger whose teeth serve as a clamp to hold the towel.

Shining up the shoes of all members of the family should become fascinating to Junior with a new shiny red bootblack's kit that's also a bank.

A merry clown camouflages the toothbrush-toothpaste-glass combination that youngsters find so easy to overlook, and a good-habit chest gives a gay toy motive to a junior-size medicine chest that can be secured to the bathroom wall alongside the family's first-aid cabinet.

Keeping the nursery clean will qualify as a number one play activity with a new kit which includes mop, pail, scrubbing brush and all the accessories needed to keep floors spic and span. This kit also includes a roll of linoleum.

To encourage more enthusiastic co-operation from the younger set at bedtime, there's a blinky-eyed animal that doubles as a bedside lamp.

And a child-size shopping cart filled with miniature grocery packages is intended to cultivate juvenile eagerness to help mother bring home the groceries.

Bull in Sheep's Clothing Literally—No Bull

ROCKY HILL, Conn. (UP) — Pinky's pals are going to call him a bull in sheep's clothing come winter. And that's exactly what he will be.

The young bull, born hairless, will wear a tailor-made sheepskin coat to keep him warm, his owner said.

Tourists Visit Fiji

NEW YORK—The Fiji Islands to many people may mean one of the world's remote spots to which few but intrepid adventurers and explorers go. This is a misconception. Last year Fiji proved a quite popular place with tourists, since 3,000 American travelers visited "the gem of the Pacific."

Warm Fall Bad Business for Heating-Oil Industry

NEW YORK (AP)—June-in-November temperatures have brought price cuts to many users of home heating oil. But oil industry spokesmen say the reductions won't last.

Price cutting has been confined for the most part to the densely populated Eastern states where Indian summer held on longest. Autumn temperatures in the area, oil company weather experts say, have been "the highest on record."

Warmer-than-average weather also put a strain on the fuel oil price structure in the industry's huge Midwest market, but prices held firm. And just as the oil men figured it would, the weather finally turned colder.

A change in the price of heating oil, either way, usually has little home heating plants are thermohomeheating plants are thermostatically controlled. When it gets cold, the oil burner kicks on automatically. Most people set their thermostats at the comfort level. They don't elect to freeze just because the price of a gallon of oil has jumped a quarter of a cent nor do they see any point in overheating the house when prices move lower.

Of far greater impact on sales volume is the weather itself. A change of just one degree in average temperature on a winter's day can mean a difference of hundrds of thousands of gallons in the nation's daily consumption of home heating oil.

Oil industry statisticians who make it their business to keep track of such matters tells us that the American winter isn t what it used to be. According to a recent Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) study, contemporary winters are about four per cent warmer than the winters of 50 years ago. And, says Jersey Standard, judging from such natural phenomena as shrinkage of glaciers, migration of fish and northward recession of timber lines, there's every reason to believe future winters are likely to be milder still.

As for the current heating season, there are optimists in the industry who maintain that despite record high temperatures in wide areas of the nation during the past two months, the average weather during that period in the country as a whole has not been as warm as it was last year.

The industry's own statistics show, however, that total inventories of heating oil are substantially higher than they were a year ago. In mid-November, stocks of light fuel oil (exclusive of kerosene) at refineries and bulk terminals, in transit and in pipelines, totaled nearly 134 million barrels, according to the American Petroleum Institute. This was a gain of 15 million barrels or 13 per cent over the year-ago total of 119 million barrels.

The build-up of heating oil inventories at refinery storage tanks and elsewhere continued until the week ended Nov. 14, when stocks on hand dclined for the first time this season. As fuel oil inventories mounted, so did stocks of gasoline. You can't refine one without refining the other.

Gasoline stocks on hand Nov. 14 totaled 145 million barrels compared to 144 million the previous week and 123 million in mid-November last year.

While three or four weeks of numbing cold would be welcomed by oil men, nobody in the industry wants a white Christmas. What's desired is a winter that's dry as well as cold, with roads free of snow and ice and conditions generally favorable for weekend motor trips.

"That would be an ideal combination," one New York oil man said. "Unfortunately, it rarely happens."

HISTORY comes alive—Children will like scale model kits. This one's "The General," famous Civil War locomotive. Pieces are plastic, numbered for easy assembling.

Hobby Kits Give History a Lift

Scale Models Recreate Famous Scenes From Days Long Past

Toys and hobby kits that scale history down to model size seem slated for a big play this Christmas.

Sants 1953 pack contains a generous sprinkling of build-it-yourself kits, made to order for youngsters' enjoyment. There are, among others, kits for construction of Civil War locomotives, 18th-Century coal stoves, Colonial tester beds, Salem rockers, and Pennsylvania Dutch wardrobes, (ideal for dolls with old-fashioned ideas).

Transportation rolls right under the Christmas tree in the form of every type of early American transportation, from the surrey-with-the-fringe-on-top, to the Stanley steamer.

The General, famous battle locomotive of Civil War days, is featured in a kit with 60 all-plastic numbered pieces along with an all-plastic set of its Confederate opposite number, a hand-car that figured in the battle of the rails. Both these scale models are designed to run on O-gauge track when assembled. A leaflet is included giving the history of these famous Civil War models.

Young collectors, 1953 vintage, have a zealous, accurate appreciation of the fine points of antique vehicles and other Americana that used to be strictly the concern of adult antiquarians.

Collectors' items such as an authentic scale-model prairie schooner are featured in the stores. A Springfield freighter and a ranch buggy — large enough for real play activity, are also available.

Booklets telling the history of these pioneer vehicles are included with the toys.

There's growing enthusiasm, too, for models of old time sulkies, buggies and coaches and for models of all the early day automobiles, all reproduced for play in authentic scale-model detail.

There's a boom in period furniture for playroom and doll house use. For dolls there's a complete bedroom set in Colonial style including a tester bed for a big doll.

And the line of old-time coal and wood stoves with cast-iron pots and coal scuttles is another phase of the revivial of early Americana in toy form.

Pontiac Man Appeals $20,000 Judgment

Martin L. Freeman, 57, of 525 Harper St. appealed to the Iowa Supreme Court Tuesday to reverse a $20,000 damage judgment against him as the result of a traffic accident.

George B. Harms, 34, of Hooper, Neb., was awarded a $20,000 judgment against Freeman by a Crawford County district court. A truck owned by Freeman and driven by Clinton Ridgeway swerved into the path of his truck, Harms said.

Freeman says the accident happened Feb. 17, 1951, near Denison, Iowa.

Harms filed suit for damages to his truck and livestock and work time he lost as a result of the mishap.

Try Whole Solubles as Diet for Poultry

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP)—Poultry at Montana State College are going on a whale of a diet.

It's an experiment to determine the value of feeding whale solubles. Such solubles may have a factor yet unknown that may increase the size of chickens and turkeys. Dr. E. R. Halbrook of the MSC poultry department explains that fish solubles have many of the B complex vitamins. The experiment seeks to find out whether whale solubles can be substituted for fish solubles.

U. S. people use about 55 times as much oil per capita as do the people of Asia and Africa.

Include Affection in Your Christmas Gift Wrapping

It's all a matter of care. For the thought and sentiment that go into giving some small item at Christmas can be as heartfelt as the love represented by a far more costly gift.

And the love that goes into the gift should be reflected in the wrapping.

It needn't be expensive and it's fun to experiment. All that's needed is a little imagination plus a few cents' worth of material.

Dip into your box of costume jewelry for decorations and utilize the discards.

Nearly everyone has odd pearls, broken bits of jewelry with brightly colored stones or stray earrings that can be used effectively on little packages.

Sequins from the dime store, from an old cocktail dress or from a discarded evening bag go a long way in glamorizing a gift.

These are sprinkled on the sticky side of cellophane tape for a bedazzling multicolored effect and used just like ribbon on the package.

Don't throw away your broken Christmas tree ornaments — wrap in paper, crush them under a rolling pin and use them the same as sequins on the adhesive side of transparent tape. All this adds up to a totally unexpected and exciting look in gift wrapping.

Choose papers in jewel tones. The new opaque metallic papers in silver, gold, and rich shades of red, green and blue make an effective background for many decorations.

For novelty touches, crepe paper lends itself admirably for odd shaped boxes — so do gold lace doilies.

Don't be afraid to experiment. Among your working materials include tiny Christmas tree balls, a length of tinsel, glass beads, gold stars, cellophane tape with holiday designs, short lengths of left-over ribbons in various colors and widths and whatever else pleases your fancy.

Wrapping for a pair of earrings may be topped by miniature butterflies, for instance. These are made by fashioning the wings from two widths of transparent tape, fastened to florists' wire and dipped in glitter and sequins.

A tiny jewelled fan for a small box takes the spotlight. It is made simply by edging a small strip of crepe paper with cellophane tape, allowing half the gummed side to extend beyond the edge of the crepe paper. Dust with sequins and glitter, then pleat into fan shape.

Cat Ignores Nearby Fish

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—You can put Inky the cat right beside a bowl of goldfish or a cage of canaries and he won't even lift an eyebrow—much less a paw.

His owner, Miss Virginia Hastings, operates a pet shop and Inky has lived there most of his life.

Church Bulletin Board Proclaims 'It's a Boy'

CINCINNATI (AP) — The bulletin board in the church yard usually gives the time and date of services and the text of the sermon. The Rev. Ritchard Lyon, pastor of the Price Hill Baptist church, however, recently put it to a new use.

"It's a Boy," the bulletin board announced. The only other printing was the minister's name, and the following:

Parking in Rear."

Ranchers Lasso Bear, Kill Him With a Rock

LEWISTOWN, Mont. (AP) — John Stanley, a rancher, found a new way of killing bear. It was branding time on the ranch when the cowboys spotted a brown bear among the cattle. They lassoed the animal from opposite ends, then a helper, Dave Matovich, killed the roped bear with a stone.

The trio estimated the bear weighed 500 pounds.

Bandits Bind Youth, Rob Filling Station

Two armed bandits robbed a Farmington Township filling station of $132 last night after they tied up the 16-year-old attendant and locked him in the station's restroom.

The Birmingham High School youth, Arlie Latham Jr., of 2080 Draintree Rd., Walnut Lake, told Oakland County sheriff's Detective Mahlon France that he was left in charge of his father's station, while his parents were away.

"Two men walked in and said they ran out of gas and wanted some to carry back to their car," the youth said. "Then one of them pulled a gun on me and tied me up."

Latham said he remained in the rest room for one hour, fearing the men were still there. He said he finally managed to unlock the door although his hands were still tied.

The filling station is located at 31620 Northwestern Hwy.

Queen in Jamaica for 3 Busy Days

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UP) — Queen Elizabeth II arrived in Jamaica today for a crowded three days of ceremonies and presentations.

The American-built Stratocruiser carrying the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh to the second full-fledged stop of their six-month world tour arrived at the former pirate port of Montego Bay after a five-hour flight from Bermuda.

The royal couple immediately began a journey along roads lined with gaily-dressed natives excited over the first visit by a reigning monarch. Triumphal arches vied with brilliant tropical flowers and gaily-colored shirts, skirts and bandanas along the 120-mile route to Kingston, capital of the island colony.

Truck Kills Schoolboy

SAGINAW (UP)—Lupe Escamilla, 7, of Route 3, Chesaning, was hit and killed by a truck yesterday in front of his home. He had just gotten out of a car that brought him from school and ran out behind, according to sheriff's men, into the path of a truck.

Cites Need of Survey to Relieve Drought

DETROIT (UP) — Southeastern Michigan's drought points up the need for a survey of bringing in water from Lake Huron, Rep. Bloomfield (R-Royal Oak) says.

Broomfield mentioned the drought in Lenawee, Monroe and southern Washtenaw Counties in discussing his proposal here yesterday.

Broomfield's original proposal was to survey the possibilities of piping Lake Huron water into Oakland County to relieve a water shortage in that area.

DOREE GREEN — What the socks turn into amazes her.

Men's Socks for Christmas

Will Make 40,000 Dolls of All Kinds for Needy Kids Overseas

NEW YORK (NEA) — Twenty thousand pairs of plain white men's socks are going to be among the most welcome Christmas gifts this year. They're going to needy children in parts of the U. S. and overseas.

If you can't quite figure how a needy child will welcome a man's socks, you haven't seen what American youngsters can do with a man's sock.

They literally doll them up—a few cuts, a little cotton stuffing, some clever needle work, a rubber face on top, and suddenly, a doll-sized doll.

This is the third year that the Save the Children Federation and a magazine (Seventeen) have sponsored their Christmas Doll Contest. And this year, American teenagers will produce 40,000 dolls for needy kids, turning a dull Christmas into a doll Christmas.

Through the cooperation of 47 department stores throughout the U. S., teenagers buy a doll kit for 25 cents. Inside is a man's sock, a rubber face, a sheet of directions and an entry tag. The top of the sock—the ribbed part—is cut off to become the arms, the toe of the sock becomes the head and the doll sits down on what was once the sock's heel. Confusing, but it works.

The doll-maker then tries to devise an ingenious costume, to fit one of three categories for prizes — either a baby doll, a fashion doll or a character doll.

Regional contests are held, and the 150 regional winners are sent to New York for final judging.

Doree Greene, who looks barely past her teens herself, runs the contest and daily unpacks cartons of stuffed socks at her office.

The judges automatically reject anything that looks store-bought, so all these are home-made from the sock out.

For hair, most of the contestants use yarn, but there were some with real hair and others with feathers and thread and fur and anything else that looks hair-like.

Despite the fact that they all start with the same little rubber face, the resultant dolls all seem different. Some of the girls stuff them a little fuller than others, producing fat dolls. Some add freckles or mustaches and some change the original blue of the eyes to brown.

After the contest, all the dolls will be sent to little girls who are, currently, doll-less. Most will go to France, Italy, Greece, Finland, Lebanon, Western Germany, Austria and Korea and parts of rural U. S. They'll 'all get where they're going by Christmas.

The average piece of beef in the United States travels about 1,000 miles from producer to consumer.

Men Like Items for Casual Wear

Jerseys and Sweaters Rate High on List Certain to Please

For thousands of gift shoppers each December, men are the hardest of all to check off the gift list with something appropriate, according to one nationwide shoppers' service.

And one solution to the problem, this service continues, is to give a man a present that will make him say:

"I've wanted this for a long time, but I'd certainly never have bought it for myself."

One good item to consider is the new short-length robe known as the cocktail jacket. It would be sheer luxury for the man-of-the-house to slip into this comfortable, new short-length wool robe.

Cut with the customary shawl collar and tiebelt, these jackets extend to just below the hips. A typical handsome version is in a check, navy and light gray, with the navy repeated in the cuff and collar trim. (Handsome paisley prints are a good choice for a man who likes color.)

Wool flannel in a tattersall (small squares) pattern or sheer wool challis, printed in paisley or sports motifs, are the best choices.

Such a vest will help set the mood for casual weekend activities or just a stroll in the park. Simple stripes, reflecting the fancy waistcoat's 18th century origin, are shown in silk, and small embroidered patterns are scattered over vests made of linen.

A fancy vest is also a fine gift for a young man, but don't let the youthful nature of the fancy vest prevent you from giving one to Dad.

One of the warmest gifts is a muffler. This year your man can be made to forsake the usual dark, solid-color muffler by giving him a plaid or a lighter solid color. Plaids are given new color treatment in mufflers this year—shades that have not been thought of in the past are combined with new richness.

There's probably a collection of single gloves in the wardrobe of one man out of three, which makes gloves another good gift idea. Gray mocha gloves are considered the proper dress glove, but they are cold, if unlined. Look for a pair with light wool fabric lining.

Another plus for any man's wardrobe is a casual wool sports shirt for leisure wear. When making your selection, choose a color combination that will permit it to be worn with a sports coat as well as alone.

Cosmetics Have Personal Touch

Wide Variety Is Offered in Clever Packaging for Holiday Season

Cosmetics and grooming preparations, as Christmas gifts, are now so popular with men and women alike that you almost can consider them traditional remembrances.

As for men on your list, it's actually quite fortunate that someone thinks to give them fine aftershaving lotions and dashing colognes as Christmas presents. Even though they like and can use such items, they rarely think to buy them for themselves.

Special Yuletide packages are available in a wide range of prices.

As usual, the items for women are presented in all sorts of attractive containers, ranging from satin-lined music boxes to comical, simulated snow men.

One new package, designed to please a little lass or a big one, is a gay, natural-color straw handbag which contains sachet powder, toilet water and bath oil.

Another kit that's widely popular holds toilet water, soap and talcum in a true copy of an Early American sewing box, topped with a dainty red pin cushion.

For women who love to find cosmetic surprises in their Christmas stockings, stick colognes, lipsticks, bath salts, hand lotions, purse perfumes, dusting powders, nail enamels and many other items have been especially designed as stocking-stuffers.

You'll find them in attractive small packages, shaped like Christmas bells, Santa Clauses, candles, reindeer, Christmas trees, etc.

Equally attractive are the grooming preparations for men, in containers that are humorous, ruggedly masculine, or practical.

Most popular, of course, are the inexpensive packages of shaving necessities. Several firms put out Christmas boxes of aftershave lotion and shave cream. Just learn his favorite brand and your gift will put him in a lather of pleasure.

If you want to spend a little bit more, you can give him a de luxe "beauty" chest—a handmade box lined in scarlet—that he can use later on to hold handkerchiefs, cuff links, tie pins and shirt studs.

The chest contains lotion, talcum, cologne and mug of shaving soap, all in cream-colored, pottery-type bottles decorated with decals of blue Clipper ships.

A nice gift for men and women both is a set of shower soaps. One set offers three egg-shaped cakes, each of them decorated with amusing, colorful faces, and attached to a long neck cord. The cord keeps the soap always handy so you don't have to hunt or stoop down for it.

Make Own Decorations With Christmas Kit

NEW YORK (UP)—Christmas decorations may be made at home with a new kit containing several colors of glitter crystals and a tube-pen for applying the necessary adhesive to packages, ornaments, and ribbons.

The tube, used like a fountain pen, provides a controlled flow of the vinyl adhesive. It will bind the glitter to glass, paper, wood, cloth and metal.

An AMA Journal editorial reported that their contributions have passed $3,000,000.

The American Medical Education Foundation, which helps collect the money, sent a check in July for $1,044,602.47 to the National Fund for Medical Education, which disburses aid to the schools.

Hiram W. Jones, Chicago, executive secretary of the foundation, said a check for $640,682.90 was sent in 1951 and another for $778,019.41 was sent in 1952.

Bandits Bind Youth, Rob Filling Station

Two armed bandits robbed a Farmington Township filling station of $132 last night after they tied up the 16-year-old attendant and locked him in the station's restroom.

The Birmingham High School youth, Arlie Latham Jr., of 2080 Draintree Rd., Walnut Lake, told Oakland County sheriff's Detective Mahlon France that he was left in charge of his father's station, while his parents were away.

"Two men walked in and said they ran out of gas and wanted some to carry back to their car," the youth said. "Then one of them pulled a gun on me and tied me up."

Latham said he remained in the rest room for one hour, fearing the men were still there. He said he finally managed to unlock the door although his hands were still tied.

The filling station is located at 31620 Northwestern Hwy.

Queen in Jamaica for 3 Busy Days

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UP) — Queen Elizabeth II arrived in Jamaica today for a crowded three days of ceremonies and presentations.

The American-built Stratocruiser carrying the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh to the second full-fledged stop of their six-month world tour arrived at the former pirate port of Montego Bay after a five-hour flight from Bermuda.

The royal couple immediately began a journey along roads lined with gaily-dressed natives excited over the first visit by a reigning monarch. Triumphal arches vied with brilliant tropical flowers and gaily-colored shirts, skirts and bandanas along the 120-mile route to Kingston, capital of the island colony.

Truck Kills Schoolboy

SAGINAW (AP)—Lupe Escamilla, 7, of Route 3, Chesaning, was hit and killed by a truck yesterday in front of his home. He had just gotten out of a car that brought him from school and ran out behind, according to sheriff's men, into the path of a truck.

Cites Need of Survey to Relieve Drought

DETROIT (AP) — Southeastern Michigan's drought points up the need for a survey of bringing in water from Lake Huron, Rep. Bloomfield (R-Royal Oak) says.

Broomfield mentioned the drought in Lenawee, Monroe and southern Washtenaw Counties in discussing his proposal here yesterday.

Broomfield's original proposal was to survey the possibilities of piping Lake Huron water into Oakland County to relieve a water shortage in that area.

DOREE GREEN — What the socks turn into amazes her.

Will Make 40,000 Dolls of All Kinds for Needy Kids Overseas

NEW YORK (NEA) — Twenty thousand pairs of plain white men's socks are going to be among the most welcome Christmas gifts this year. They're going to needy children in parts of the U. S. and overseas.

If you can't quite figure how a needy child will welcome a man's socks, you haven't seen what American youngsters can do with a man's sock.

They literally doll them up—a few cuts, a little cotton stuffing, some clever needle work, a rubber face on top, and suddenly, a doll-sized doll.

This is the third year that the Save the Children Federation and a magazine (Seventeen) have sponsored their Christmas Doll Contest. And this year, American teenagers will produce 40,000 dolls for needy kids, turning a dull Christmas into a doll Christmas.

Through the cooperation of 47 department stores throughout the U. S., teenagers buy a doll kit for 25 cents. Inside is a man's sock, a rubber face, a sheet of directions and an entry tag. The top of the sock—the ribbed part—is cut off to become the arms, the toe of the sock becomes the head and the doll sits down on what was once the sock's heel. Confusing, but it works.

The doll-maker then tries to devise an ingenious costume, to fit one of three categories for prizes — either a baby doll, a fashion doll or a character doll.

Regional contests are held, and the 150 regional winners are sent to New York for final judging.

Doree Greene, who looks barely past her teens herself, runs the contest and daily unpacks cartons of stuffed socks at her office.

The judges automatically reject anything that looks store-bought, so all these are home-made from the sock out.

For hair, most of the contestants use yarn, but there were some with real hair and others with feathers and thread and fur and anything else that looks hair-like.

Despite the fact that they all start with the same little rubber face, the resultant dolls all seem different. Some of the girls stuff them a little fuller than others, producing fat dolls. Some add freckles or mustaches and some change the original blue of the eyes to brown.

After the contest, all the dolls will be sent to little girls who are, currently, doll-less. Most will go to France, Italy, Greece, Finland, Lebanon, Western Germany, Austria and Korea and parts of rural U. S. They'll all get where they're going by Christmas.

The average piece of beef in the United States travels about 1,000 miles from producer to consumer.

CASUAL WEAR FOR MEN—It leads the Christmas list this year, according to fashion experts. Two examples: At left, a black, dark green and gray check jersey for informal dress. At right, an ombre weskit sweater that starts out gray and deepens to blue. The vest on the chair is red and black check flannel.

Men Like Items for Casual Wear

Jerseys and Sweaters Rate High on List Certain to Please

For thousands of gift shoppers each December, men are the hardest of all to check off the gift list with something appropriate, according to one nationwide shoppers' service.

And one solution to the problem, this service continues, is to give a man a present that will make him say:

"I've wanted this for a long time, but I'd certainly never have bought it for myself."

One good item to consider is the new short-length robe known as the cocktail jacket. It would be sheer luxury for the man-of-the-house to slip into this comfortable, new short-length wool robe.

Cut with the customary shawl collar and tiebelt, these jackets extend to just below the hips. A typical handsome version is in a check, navy and light gray, with the navy repeated in the cuff and collar trim. (Handsome paisley prints are a good choice for a man who likes color.)

Wool flannel in a tattersall (small squares) pattern or sheer wool challis, printed in paisley or sports motifs, are the best choices.

Such a vest will help set the mood for casual weekend activities or just a stroll in the park. Simple stripes, reflecting the fancy waistcoat's 18th century origin, are shown in silk, and small embroidered patterns are scattered over vests made of linen.

A fancy vest is also a fine gift for a young man, but don't let the youthful nature of the fancy vest prevent you from giving one to Dad.

One of the warmest gifts is a muffler. This year your man can be made to forsake the usual dark, solid-color muffler by giving him a plaid or a lighter solid color. Plaids are given new color treatment in mufflers this year—shades that have not been thought of in the past are combined with new richness.

Some of the different greens and dark browns found in rugged tweed fabrics are used in plaid patterned scarves that will brighten any man's appearance. A doubly-appreciated gift would be a cashmere, or wool and cashmere scarf, particularly in the natural tan shade.

There's probably a collection of single gloves in the wardrobe of one man out of three, which makes gloves another good gift idea. Gray mocha gloves are considered the proper dress glove, but they are cold, if unlined. Look for a pair with light wool fabric lining.

Another plus for any man's wardrobe is a casual wool sports shirt for leisure wear. When making your selection, choose a color combination that will permit it to be worn with a sports coat as well as alone.

Utah Favored to Dump BYU in TV Contest

Passing Offense Will Feature Game Between Teams From Rockies

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Utah, skyline Conference champion, rated a strong favorite today to trounce Brigham Young University in the nationally televised (NBC) college special for Thanksgiving Day football fans.

Brigham Young, holding seventh place in the eight-team Skyline league, has won only two games this season against six losses. It has one tie and its conference mark is 1-4-1.

Utes have a perfect league record of four victories and an overall mark of seven triumphs against two defeats.

A crowd of 20,000 was expected for the contest, starting at 3 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Passing may be a big factor in the game. Both teams, which use modified T formations, are known for their aerial tactics.

Utah quarterback Don Rydalch has completed 68 out of 14 tosses for 879 yards. The Brigham Young quarterback, LaVon Satterfield, has passed 92 times, completed 34 for 568 yards.

The Utah club also has a potent ground gainer in fullback Don Peterson who ranks second in the conference with 648 yards in 122 carries.

Two of the league's four best pass catchers, however, play for BYU. They are ends Marion Probert, No. 1 in the league with 22 passes for 326 yards, and Dewey Brundage, No. 4 catcher with 14 aerials for 192 yards.

BYU has a good starting team but lacks reserve strength.

Utah clinched its third consecutive Skyline crown this season. Over the years it has lost only one game out of 28 played against Brigham Young.

Lions' Spotlight on Layne

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—The "boo birds" get another crack at Bobby Layne, quarterback of the Detroit Lions, when the Lions meet the Green Bay Packers today in their annual Thanksgiving Day game in Briggs Stadium.

Starting at 11 a.m. (EST), the game will be televised into 95 cities in the East, Midwest and South.

Lions, 13-point favorites, will be trying to hold first place in the Western Division of the National Football League. Layne will be trying to silence his critics.

Layne has been a controversial quarterback, to say the least. Many Detroit fans feel that he is not a top quarterback, and that the team would do better with a different signal-caller.

Others, meanwhile, feel Layne is the key man in the Lions' attack, and without him the team wouldn't click.

At any rate, when his name is announced over the public address system in Briggs Stadium, it's usually accompanied by a chorus of cheers and boos—mostly boos.

This is, in a way, difficult to understand. Layne is the club's leading passer. That's understood. He does all the passing.

But he's also the leading runner on the team, and that's an oddity for a quarterback. Layne has rushed for 306 yards, compared to 268 for Bob Hoernschemeyer and only 215 for Doak Walker, both teammates.

The Layne controversy flared so hot that a local television station asked its viewers to send in their opinions of Layne. They divided the factions, rather cleverly, into the "Layne lovers" and the "Bobby booers."

It's not likely that this proved anything—except perhaps sell a few more television sets—but it certainly focused additional attention on Layne. His every move will be watched.

Layne has completed 95 of 215 passing attempts for a .442 percentage. He's gained 1,580 yards and tossed for 12 touchdowns. Fifteen of his passes were intercepted.

So there you have it. Are you a "Bobby booer" or a "Layne lover"?

Longhorns and South Carolina in 'Big' Battles

Texas Shoots for Share of SW Honors Against Aggies

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK (AP)—Football fans who once feasted on a fat Thanksgiving Day schedule were left with only a few traditional bones to pick today.

Just Texas and South Carolina from the top 20 teams will be busy. The Longhorns from Austin shoot for at least a share of the Southwest Conference title in their annual battle with Texas A&M at College Station.

At the moment Texas is tied for the league lead with Baylor and Rice who play each other Saturday. The conference winner plays host in the Cotton Bowl. The runnerup could probably go to the Gator Bowl if it wanted to. Texas ranked seventh in the nation, is favored over the Aggies by a couple of touchdowns.

South Carolina, the only team to beat bowl-bound West Virginia, should wind up its best season in years with a decision over Wake Forest at Charlotte, N. C. The Gamecocks rank 15th in the latest Associated Press poll.

The nation's television fans get their first look of the season at the game as it's played in the Skyline Conference. The attraction will be the University of Utah, unbeaten in league play in 12 games, against Brigham Young at Salt Lake City. Game time is 3 p.m., EST.

The East offers a pair of traditional games—Cornell vs. Penn at Philadelphia and Colgate vs. Brown at Providence, R. I. Penn will be playing its only Ivy League foe of the season and is favored by at least two touchdowns. Brown hasn't beaten Colgate since 1949 and probably won't today. This is a morning game.

Penn's contest will be the last for George Munger as head coach.

The "military classic of the South" between Virginia Tech and Virginia Military Institute looks like one of the closest contests. The winner will clinch the Virginia "Big Six" title. The series dates back to 1894.

Detroit and Wichita wind up their Missouri Valley seasons at Wichita and Wyoming, paced by Joe Mastrogiovanni, rates the nod over Denver at Denver in another Skyline Conference game.

Th College of the Pacific entertains Utah State, Mississippi Southern is at Chattanooga and Miami of Ohio at Cincinnati.

Bitter Aggies Meet Longhorns

Seeks to Salvage a Win Over Favorites to End Losing Streak

COLLEGE STATION, ex. (AP)—Texas Aggies, bitter and angry over a 4-game losing streak, telescope their football campaign into a slashing 60 minutes against hard-riding Texas today in an effort to salvage the season and at the same time kick their arch enemies out of the Southwest conference race.

Victory over the mighty Longhorns would be the sweetest yet and would ease a lot of aches and pains in Aggieland.

But Texas, scenting unexpected glory—a tie for the conference title—is a solid favorite to slam the Aggies for the 13th time in 14 years.

Texas can clinch part of the title by erasing its deep rival in this big game of the year for both teams—and it might mean a spot in the Cotton Bowl. What happens at Houston Saturday when Baylor and Texas fight it out will tell whether the Longhorns are to be around on Jan. 1.

'Open Door' Policy

Munn Now Says Coast Press Gets Even Break

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State coach Biggie Munn today declared he was planning to have an "open door" policy on practice sessions for his Rose Bowl football game.

Munn said West Coast writers would get the same break on practice sessions as those from the Midwest and other parts of the country.

This reverses the policy of other Big Ten schools to make the trip recently and also reverses Munn's recent announcement that only home team writers would be allowed past the practice gates.

Munn said he had not yet worked out definite plans "but hoped to arrive at a solution which will be satisfactory to all."

"We have to get a job done, so some practice sessions will be closed, so I mean closed to everyone — Midwest as well as Pacific Coast press," Munn said.

"But others will be declared open to all accredited press representatives who care to attend. The pattern remains to be worked out, but my idea right now is to have three or four sessions a week open to the press."

"I see no reason to discriminate against any regional section of the press," Munn declared. "What goes for one group will go for all.

"I have many fine friends among the West Coast sports writers, radio and TV men," Munn said. "I want to welcome them around just as much as our Midwest press group.

"Through my association with the West Coast men while coaching the east team in the past two East-West Shrine games, I established the friendliest kinds of contacts. These I wish to continue."

Fast-Punching Chavez Defeats Canadian King

Unanimous Decision Moves Coast Fighter Nearer Title Scrap

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fast-punching Eddie Chavez of San Jose, who beats lightweight champions but wears no boxing crown, was a step closer to a title bout today following his impressive 10-round win here last night over Arthur King of Toronto.

The poker-faced California Mexican gave Canadian champion King a severe going over at Winterland Arena in a nationally televised fight.

In the same arena last January, Chavez chalked up a 10-round decision over the world's title holder, Jimmy Carter, but the latter's crown was not at stake.

There was no argument as to the winner between Chavez, 136½, and King, 137. The referee and two judges were unanimous in awarding the decision to 23-year-old Chavez. The Associated Press also had him out in front.

California scores 11 points to the round. Judges Eddie James and Very Bybee called it 58½ to 51½, while Referee Ray Flores saw it 57½ to 52½. The AP also had it 57 to 52½.

Florida Tracks Assist College Student Funds

Jai-Alai, Dog Races Also Contribute to Scholarships

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida colleges can give thanks today for horse and dog racing and jai-alai which last year brought them $367,216 and should net even more in the coming season.

Tropical Park opens the horse racing season tomorrow and the first three days of its operation are earmarked for the benefit of colleges.

Opening day, offering the $10,000 inaugural handicap at five and a half furlongs, is expected to bring out some 12,000 to 15,000 for the nine race program. A portion of the day's profits will go to the University of Miami, under the law setting up charity days.

Saturday's proceeds, earmarked for the University of Florida scholarship fund, also should bring in a sizeable sum. The $7,500 De Soto handicap is the feature attraction.

On Monday, proceeds from Tropical Park will be earmarked as Hialeah's contribution to the University of Florida scholarship fund. Hialeah asked for two scholarship days at its own track but the supreme court said the law prohibited scholarship days in the rich middle of the racing season.

The scholarship fund, administered by the state board of control, has received $885,145 from racing in the four years it has been operated under the law passed in 1949.

Williams Has Replaced Mize as Homer King

'Splinter' Has 337 Round Trippers to Lead Kiner in Career Statistics

NEW YORK (AP)—Now that Johnny Mize has settled back into baseball's pipe and slippers fraternity, Ted Williams has taken over as the major leagues' home run king, with Ralph Kiner close behind.

Williams has 337 homers. He hit 13 last season after his return from Korea. Kiner, who clubbed 35 in 1953, has a total of 329, figures compiled by The Associated Press showed today. Mize walloped 359.

Stan Musial, not usually regarded as a distance hitter, ranks third in the lifetime statistics among active players. He has 257 homers, including the 30 he hit during the last campaign.

Wings, Leafs Clash Tonight at Olympia

DETROIT (UP) — Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs battle it out at Olympia tonight for 2nd place in the National Hockey league.

Thanksgiving clash will mark the first time in 91 games that the Red Wings take the ice without Bob Goldham. The veteran defenseman has an infected cut on his arm and doctors ordered him sidelined until the wound heals.

Sixth Place Teams in IHL Arousing Interest

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sixth place clubs seldom create any excitement in a nine-team loop, but they are today in the International Hockey League.

The Marion, Ohio, Barons and Louisville Shooting Stars, tied for sixth spot, are in the midst of winning streaks. But Toledo, also tied for sixth, has played five games without a victory.

Barons' parent club, Cleveland of the American League, sent three players to Marion, winners in four of their last five games.

Streaks Ended in NBA Action

Hawks Beat Ft. Wayne for First Victory in Ten Starts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 10-game losing streak and a six-game winning streak in the National Basketball Assn. were at an end today after a night of upsets.

Milwaukee's low flying Hawks, who hadn't won a game since they surprised Minneapolis in the season's opener, outlasted the Fort Wayne Pistons 64-58. Don Sunderlage, one-time Illinois star, scored 24 points in the Hawks' second victory in 12 games.

At Boston the Baltimore Bullets won their third game in 12 starts, trimming Syracuse 66-58 in a possession battle and the Boston Celtics defeated the New York Knickerbockers 96-84.

The Knicks had won six in a row but they couldn't find an answer to the high scoring talents of Easy Ed MacAuley, who got 28 points, and Bob Cousy, who contributed 20.

Baltimore spread its scoring among 10 players with Jim Fritsche getting 11 points to top the list. The Bullets led all the way.

Penn-Cornell Tilt Today 'Swan Song' for Munger

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — George Munger ends 16 years of coaching University of Pennsylvania football squads today as the Quakers meet traditional rival Cornell at Franklin Field.

The tough, "Suicide" schedule Penn played this fall was its only losing season under Munger. The Red and Blue defeated Vanderbilt, Penn State and Navy, but lost to California, Ohio State Michigan, Notre Dame and Army.

Cornell enters its 60th contest with Penn as Ivy League champion with a 4-3-1 record but Penn is favored by 14 points to beat the Big Red for the 42nd time. Cornell has won 15 times in the series and tied twice.

Although ending his career as coach, Munger is staying on at Penn to become head of its department of physical education.

79-Year-Old Hopes to Get Another Moose

LUNENBURG, Nova Scotia (AP)—Each year since he started hunting 70-year-old W. S. Sarty has bagged his deer limit. He still has one ambition, however, "to get another crack at a moose before I'm too old to travel."

This year Sarty kept his deer hunting record intact by getting his limit of two, each with one shot on the same day.

"That was nothing at all," says Sarty. "I like deer hunting but you take moose hunting — that's the sport."

Unfortunately for Sarty, moose hunting has been banned in Nova Scotia for many years.

Duck, Goose Hunting Season Ends in State

LANSING (AP)—Today is the last day for hunting ducks, geese and other waterfowl in Michigan, and the long Indian summer has seriously held down the kill.

Conservation department observers reported that the mild, pleasant fall was ruinous for waterfowl hunters.

Migrating birds need cold, blustery weather to send them into the marsh edges for shelter and also into the hunters' guns.

In good weather, waterfowl "raft up" in open water and are virtually impossible to get at.

Observations show there has been no lack of ducks, but bad hunting conditions have held down the take.

Titans Can Clinch Title Share Today

WICHITA, Kan. (UP)—Detroit's Titans will gain a share of the Missouri Valley Conference title if they whip Wichita in a holiday gridiron clash today.

A Detroit win would throw the conference championship into a tie between the Titans and Oklahoma A & M, a team which Detroit downed 18-14 earlier in the season.

Coach Dutch Clark reported that his players are in top shape for their season finale.

Son of Former Major Leaguer Is Top Lineman

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Bill Walker, son of a former big league baseball player, is on his way to becoming one of the best big time college football players.

Walker was picked the Associated Press lineman of the week for his play last Saturday, against Alabama although it is his first year of varsity football at Maryland.

His father, Joseph, put in six seasons off and on with the St. Louis Cardinals about 25 years ago as a first baseman.

Stopping Giel Rated MSC End as Real All-America

NEW YORK — One All-America makes another. "Don Dohoney has had many great days," says Biggie Munn of Michigan State, "but his best was against Minnesota this season when this fine end led the way in stopping Paul Giel as he hadn't been stopped before. Giel gained no more than 23 yards on 20 tries, was thrown for repeated losses by Dohoney.

"Against Michigan, Dohoney personally broke up a scoring drive with the score 14-6 in our favor that might have changed the entire complexion of the game. He threw carriers for two straight losses when Michigan had a first down on our six."

Don Dohoney

Dohoney proves an end does not have to demonstrate that he is a superlative pass catcher to attain All-America stature.

"His pass catching record isn't phenomenal," adds Coach Munn, "but that is because he has been used little as a receiver. His down field blocking made him more valuable as an aid to pass receivers."

Dohoney is among the many extraordinary combatants who with the departure of the platoons quickly showed that they could go both ways. He was a truly great defensive end as a sophomore and junior, when Michigan State played exclusively two-platoon.

"This fall he made the best adjustment of anyone on the team," testifies Professor Munn.

Dom DiMaggio Gets Release From Bosox

BOSTON (AP) — Bespectacled Dom DiMaggio today received, at his own request, his unconditional release from the Boston Red Sox.

The Sox said waivers had been obtained, at Dom's urging from all major league clubs.

DiMaggio, one of baseball's best fielders in his time with the Sox, quit baseball in the spring after getting a late start because of illness.

He has gone into business in Lawrence, Mass.

3rd Period Splurge Wins for Rangers' 6

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York Rangers take on the Boston Burins tonight in the 2nd game of a home and home series with a chance to move within three points of the 4th place in the National Hockey League.

In the only game last night Rangers cut Boston's 4th place lead to five points with a 5-3 victory.

New York rallied for three goals in the 3rd period as Wally Hergesheimer broke a 3-3 tie at 9:48 of the final stanza. It was the 1st goal in three games and 7th of the season for the pint sized forward.

Fumbles on Snowy Field Costly in 18-0 Setback

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—The Falls City, Neb., high school football team would like to know if anybody can tie this:

It went into its final game unbeaten. The field was snowy.

Falls City fumbled 10 times, losing the ball each time. It also lost the ball game 18-0.

Manager Ed Hanlon led the Dodgers to pennants in 1899 and 1900.

Biggie's Book Doesn't Tell How to Stop Spartans

EAST LANSING (AP)—There's a new book out that UCLA coach Red Sanders should find interesting.

Its entitled "Michigan State's multiple offense" and the author is football coach Biggie Munn of the Rose Bowl-bound Spartans.

The book is chocked full of text, pictures and diagrams explaining Michigan State's many-pronged offense.

"The only thing he doesn't tell," one coach complained, "is how to stop Michigan State."

The book is dedicated "to all the players with whom I have become associated in football, men with courage and faith and red-blooded enough to play in a wonderful game of physical combat."

Contest Suggested for Irish, Maryland

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A March of Dimes official proposes a charity football game between Notre Dame and Maryland, the nation's No. 1 and 2 teams.

Dan Marovich, March of Dimes western fund-raising chairman, said he wired the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame and Harry C. Byrd, president of Maryland, yesterday asking them to give serious consideration to the proposal.

He wants the game in California's Memorial Stadium at Berkley. He didn't suggest a date.

Eyes Receiving, Punt Crowns

Two Individual Titles Can Provide Georgia Consolation for Poor Season

NEW YORK (AP)—Two different individual championships can provide Georgia with some consolation for a miserable football season when it ends its campaign against Georgia Tech Saturday.

Jack Carson is holding a slim lead in pass catching and Zeke Bratkowski, who is trying to overhaul Stanford's Bob Garrett for the national title in major-college passing, is also a hot contender for punting honors, NCAA Service Bureau statistics revealed today. Despite these individual performances, Georgia has lost seven of its 10 games.

Carson has caught 45 passes for 663 yards. College of Pacific's Ken Buck, who ends his season today against Utah State, has 44 for 622. No other contender is still active.

Bratkowski has a 42.6-yards-per-kick average for 48 punts and has been one of the busiest kickers in the country. It takes 25 punts to qualify for the title, and on this basis, Bratkowski is trailing North Carolina's Dick Lackey, who has 43.9 for 27 boots. Also in the running is the defending champion, Southern California's Des Koch, with a 43.9 mark for 19 kicks. He'll have to kick at least six times, and maintain his average besides, against Notre Dame Saturday if he is to be a factor.

Other individual department leaderships are far from settled, too, even on Thanksgiving Day. Veryl Switzer, of Kansas State, has covered 457 yards with punt and kick-off runbacks, but he's due to be overtaken by Notre Dame's Johnny Lattner, now third with 428 but with two games to go.

Lattner also seems a cinch for the kick-off runback championship, since he has 331 yards on only eight returns, an amazing 41.4 average.

The country's two top offensive backs, Paul Larson of California and Garrett, are one-two in pass interceptions. Garrett has picked off nine, Larson six.

Johnson Will Miss First Muskegon Cage Season in 26 Years

MUSKEGON HEIGHTS (AP)—For the first time since 1927-28 veteran coach Oscar E. (Okie) Johnson will miss the Muskegon Heights high school basketball season.

Johnson, suffering from a back injury, is expected to undergo an operation that will keep him quiet until spring.

The Heights board of education today announced that C. P. Zeigler, a former Muskegon coach and currently a teacher and director of the city recreational program, will serve as head basketball coach during Johnson's absence.

Zeigler was an assistant on the Heights football coaching staff the latter part of the season after Johnson was injured domonstrating to his players how to throw a block.

Johnson "attended" his team's last three games this fall by way of a bedside radio.

INS Names Kline to All-Midlands 11

Pontiac's Dave Kline, quarterback at University of Detroit, was named Wednesday by the International News Service to the all-midlands football honor squad. Players from the Big Seven and Missouri Valley Conference make up the team.

With Kline in the backfield are Oklahoma's Larry Grigg, Veryl Switzer of Kansas State and Earl Lunsford of Oklahoma A&M.

On the line are ends Gary Knafelc of Colorado and Max Boydston of Oklahoma, tackles Buddy Gillioz of Houston and Jerry Minnick of Nebraska, guards J. D. Roberts of Oklahoma and Terry Roberts of Missouri and center Krt Burris of Oklahoma.

Carries Deer Easy Way

DUNSMUIR, Calif. (AP) — Hunter A. W. Burger wounded a deer on Mt. Bradley, trailed it for miles and found it dead on the outskirts of town. Burger was tired and his car was far, far away. So he called a cab, loaded in the deer and was driven home.

Only three pitchers who began the 1951 season with Cincinnati are still with the Redlegs—Ken Raffensberger, Herm Wehmeier and Frank Smith.

Halt Classes to Celebrate Trip to Coast

MSC Officials Study Plans for Jan. 1 Test at Pasadena

EAST LANSING (UP) — Classes were suspended at Michigan State College Wednesday as students and professors alike celebrated selection of the Spartan football team as Big Ten representative in the Rose Bowl grid classic Jan. 1 against UCLA.

President John A. Hannah granted the holiday as reward for good behavior by students Sunday night when the news of Michigan State's Rose Bowl berth touched off a loud but orderly campus demonstration.

The holiday served to extend the normal Thanksgiving recess and most students headed homeward early, leaving the campus all but vacated. Classes will resume next Monday.

Meanwhile, athletic officials continued to work on plans for Rose Bowl participation.

"This is all new to us, of course, and we are learning something new every minute," declared athletic director Ralph H. Young. Young said he has conferred by telephone with Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, Big Ten commissioner, and Pacific Coast Conference officials. However, no details have been worked out yet on when coach Biggie Munn's 44-man Spartan grid squad will start Rose Bowl practice sessions, or when the team will move to Pasadena.

In addition, Young said plans still are indefinite about how many tickets, Michigan State will get and how they will be distributed to students, alumni, and fans.

"We hope to be able to make some definite announcement about the Rose Bowl plans about Dec. 1," Young said. "Possibly we will know about the ticket situation next Monday."

Despite pleas that Spartan boosters withhold ticket requests until plans are announced officially, hundreds of early-bird applications poured in, and sports department telephones jangled constantly with inquiries.

L. L. Frimodig, business manager for the athletic department, and Fred Stabley, sports publicity director for Michigan State, returned late Wednesday from a two-day visit to Wisconsin and Illinois where they conferred with other Big Ten officials on details of the Pasadena trip. In addition, Warren Burt, Spartan ticket manager, went to Ann Arbor Tuesday to discuss ticket handling procedure with University of Mjchigan officials.

Tony Trabert was ranked No. 1 by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association early in 1952. Last January he was unranked and later won the National singles title.

Quail Season Is Cut

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Conservation Commission has cut the bobwhite quail season from its usual 52 days to 36 and the daily and possession limit to six birds.

Two years of drought caused a decrease in the number of quail. In 1951, hunters were allowed a daily bag of 10.

Swimmer's Fine Showing Traced to His Endurance

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Everyone knows physical fitness plays a large part in the success of athletes but Thomas Kirk Cureton Jr. tells what makes some of them tick in his "Physical Fitness of Champion Athletes." (University of Illinois Press, $10).

For instance, in writing about John Marshall, the Australian who won the 1951 indoor 200-yard AAU freestyle swimming championship as a member of the New Haven Swim Club, Cureton says "His remarkable performances are due mainly to his endurance based upon his extraordinary heart, flexibility, and relaxation in his racing pace."

Marshall explains his success, in spite of some deficits, by the fact that he never uses maximum exertion, but that he tries to hold the pace without any slackening.

Incidentally, his heart, writes Cureton, is larger on the right side than on the left. His oxygen intake while swimming was the highest of 25 swimmers put through a series of analytical tests.

Don Raleigh of the New York Rangers is the lightest player in the National Hockey League. He weighs 148 pounds.

Bozanic, Han Not Expected to Start Saturday

Leahy's Usual Quartet Ready for Annual Tilt With Southern Cal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern California's Trojans take a virtual holiday today, awaiting a Thanksgiving noon dinner and the later arrival of Notre Dame for their annual intersectional game Saturday.

All was relatively quiet on the USC campus, with only an informal limbering up drill slated for the athletes.

Coach Jess Hill said the squad is in fair shape for the Irish, although several are still hampered to some extent by a variety of bruises and pains suffered in the UCLA battle last week.

Coach Frank Leahy sent word that he would lead off with his usual starting eleven, with Ralph Guglielmi at quarterback, Joe Heap and Johnny Lattner at the halves and Neil Worden at fullback.

Hill said yesterday he does not expect either co-captain-quarterback George Bozanic or fullback Harold Han to take the field. Bozanic has been progressively hampered by torn cartilage in his right knee — a high school injury aggravated early this season—plus a weak right ankle.

Han injured his foot weeks ago in the California game, in which he scored two touchdowns.

The SC coach said Landon Exley will start at quarter and Addison Hawthorne at full. Halfbacks Aramis Dandoy and Lindon Crow will be on duty as usual.

Dandoy has taken things cautiously in workouts this week after taking a bad head cut—apparently from a headgear that slipped when he was tackled—but will be ready for the Irish.

Notre Dame has one more game to go, with Southern Methodist University Dec. 5, while USC winds up its 1953 season Saturday.

Trojans have been beaten twice and tied once, while the Irish were nudged out of the top spot in the national rankings last week when they came from behind to tie Iowa, 14-14.

Ninety-thousand or more fans are expected to see the game if the weather remians clear.

Hoople Finally Plays It Straight to Pick Cadets

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Hail and farewell, zillions of gentle readers!

With the games of today and this weekend, we reach the end of the gruelling season. I must confess your correspondent feels completely brain-washed after grappling with 3-dimension figures all these months.

May I ask you to bear with me for the slight errors committed by my astrological colleagues, Dr. Etienne Nussbaum and Prof. Pierre Ziobotny. You rejoiced when I gave you upsets that stunned the nation and confounded my rival prognosticators.

In today's predictions I name few upsets. Mostly it is a straight card. My Rock-ribbed special is, of course, Army over Navy by a single point.

Now for the rest of the predictions:

Today—Penn 27, Cornell 7; Colgate 20, Brown 7; Detroit 20, Wichita 6; Tex. 21, Texas A. and M. 14; So. Car. 21, Wake Forest 14.

Nov. 28—Boston U. 20, Wm. & Mary 14; Army 21, Navy 20; Fordham 20, Villanova 13; Notre Dame 27, So. Calif. 20; Holy Cross 27, Boston Col. 13; Duke 14, North Carolina 7; Georgia Tech 27, Georgia 13; Auburn 14, Alabama 6; Arkansas 20, Tulsa 14; Florida 26, Miami 13; Oklahoma 34, Okla. A. and M. 13; La. St. 27, Tulane 13; Rice 20, Baylor 14; Tennessee 20, Vanderbilt 6; Tex. Christian 20, So. Methodist 14; Colo. 19, Colo. A. and M. 13.

Van Fleet Helps Get Army 'Up'

Back on 1914 Cadets, Ex-Korean Commander to Speak at Rally

While the team tapered off to light workouts Gen. Van Fleet, a back on the unbeaten 1914 West Point eleven and recent commander of the 8th Army in Korea, helped tune the cadets to fever pitch for Saturday's contest.

The football squad worked on the plains in a field closed to prying eyes by a temporary canvas wall. It was evident to those admitted to the enclosure that the preparations were very special.

Linemen dived into blocking dummies with banshee cries of "Eisenhauer" or "Gattuso"—the names of the Navy men they'll be facing in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium before 102,000 customers.

'Shoe', McDaniel Boost Winning Mark

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—Jockey Bill Shoemaker and trainer R. H. McDaniel jumped their world win records for one year to 454 and 196 respectively at Bay Meadows yesterday.

Shoemaker had two winners, Mr. Bam $3.50 and Fighting Jane $6.40, both trained by McDaniel. The trainer also saddled Sierra Grey $5.60, ridden by Bill Pearson.

Imbros, winner of three stake races at Hollywood Park last summer, is the probable favorite in today's $10,000 added San Jose Handicap for 3-year-olds at 6 furlongs.

Annual AP All-State 11's Will Be Named Tuesday

DETROIT (AP) — Tony Branoff . . . Leroy Bolden . . . Duncan MacDonald . . . Ellis Duckett . . . Don Dohoney .

All top football stars, both in high school and college.

We know these players as standouts with both Michigan and Michigan State. Yet, it was only a few years that they were honored by winning berths on the Associated Press' all-state high school teams.

But what about the stars of the future, the current high school players? Who are they? Where will they come from?

Next week, the Associated Press' will announce for the 13th year its all-state teams.

El Centro, California Invites MSC to Train

EL CENTRO, Calif. UP — The El Centro Chamber of Commerce has invited Michigan State's Spartans to train here for the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena New Year's Day.

Chamber manager William G. Duflock said he has told Spartan coach Biggie Munn this would be an ideal training site because the desert location is only 225 miles from Pasadena. He said he would send a representative to East Lansing, Mich., to discuss the proposal if Michigan State is interested.

The usual speed of common birds in flight is about 25 miles per hour.

LYNX BAGGED — Two dogs joined forces in treeing this 25-pound Canadian lynx, held by Elmer Gregg of McCarron, Mich., who killed the animal near his home. The lynx apparently had been in a trap at one time because all but one of its toes on the right hind leg was missing.

U. S. Chemist Belgian Cage Team Member

GHENT, Belgium (AP) — An American chemist, now studying here to become a doctor, is playing with the "Hellas Basketball Club" of Ghent. It is one of this country's best teams.

The youth is 24-year-old Martin Berger of Newark, N. J. He came here recently with his wife and daughter to study medicine at Ghent University.

Berger's father, a former professional basketball player, taught him the game. The medical student played with Rutgers as well as the St. Louis and Pittsburgh University squads when he was in the states.

Ducks' Speed Hard to Check

The next time somebody tells you he knows how fast a duck or goose flies, you can be sure of one thing: He's just guessing.

It's very strange, says a current issue of a national sports magazine, that in this scientific age we have been able to measure the sped of light as it streaks along at 186,000 miles a second, and yet still be in the dark about just how fast our waterfowl fly.

However, the scientists do have an advantage. You can always get all the light you need for an experiment. But just how would you go about clocking a Canada Goose?

Even if you were all set to do your chasing by car, plane, or train, the waterfowl would likely be flying somewhere else—or not at all.

The article lists the speed of some waterfowl which were recorded at widely different times and places and under various flight conditions:

Here are some of the birds and speeds mentioned:

1. The Goldeneye at 50 m.p.h. recorded from a train in New York.
2. The Mallard at from 46 to 60 m.p.h. at various places and times.
3. The Pintail at from 52 to 65 m.p.h. recorded from a train in Arizona.
4. The Green-winged teal at 68 m.p.h.

And this last one may really surprise you:

5. The Canvasback at 72 m.p.h. recorded from a plane in California.

CASE—Poor Body Balance.

High at the Foul Line—If you are troubled with finishing straight up at the line, so you drop or dump the ball, chances are you are carrying the ball. No swing. No push-away at the outset. You've got to have it. Only then will your body fall into a natural, comfortable crouch. The illustration shows the right and wrong approach. If you carry the ball, the result (upper arrow) is an upright finish. No slide. Forced delivery. Dumped ball. Body in proper balance (lower arrow), ball drops into swinging slot. Lower arc produces slide finish, follow-through. Push ball away at a start, and allow weight of ball to drop body into relaxed position. Practice it. It will pay off. Make bowling easier. More fun. Improve scoring.

Seixas' Injured Knee Jolt to U.S. Davis Cup Hopes

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE (AP)—The United States' hopes of winning the Davis Cup received a jolt today when Wimbledon Champion Vic Seixas turned up with an injured knee.

The U. S. team doesn't swing into Davis Cup play until Dec. 17 at Brisbane against either Belgium or India in the inter-zone final but should the injury prove serious it would hamper Capt. Billy Talbert's plans for rounding his American squad into condition.

Seixas was scheduled to meet Bill Gilmour, Australian junior champion, in the opening round of the Victorian Championships today but awaited another examination before deciding whether to pass up the tourney or request a postponement of the match.

The Philadelphian, who with Tony Trabert of Cincinnati will carry the United States hopes in Davis Cup play, pulled up lame in a practice match yesterday.

The Victorian tournament is the last major test before the Davis Cup inter-zone and challenge round matches. India meets Belgium at Perth starting next Thursday. The winner takes on United States with the victor challenging Australia at Melbourne Dec. 28-30.

Cookie Resigns Coaching Post With Dodgers

Lavagetto Also Denies Report He Will Manage Montreal Farm

OAKLAND, Calif. (INS)—Harry "Cookie" Lavagetto confirmed today that he has resigned as a Brooklyn coach but denied a New York report which said he would become manager of Montreal, part of the Dodger baseball farm system.

Lavagetto is expected to join the Oakland club as a coach under manager Chuck Dressen who quit Brooklyn after the World Series in a contract row.

"I talked with the Brooklyn office Monday," Lavagetto reported, "and nobody said anything to me about going to Montreal. So I don't figure the deal is on.

"I decided to resign when reporters began calling me about the Montreal report. It made me mad when I didn't know anything about it. Would I still take the job if it were offered to me? No, I wouldn't."

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Top question of the last basketball season, "just how good is Clarence (Bevo) Francis?", comes up for the start of a second review tonight when Bevo and his Rio Grande teammates open the 1953-54 season against Erie Tech.

Bevo's first target of the new year is the Memorial Auditorium single-game scoring record of 42 points, set by Larry O'Connor of Canisius College last season against John Carroll.

Mountaineer 11 Named to Face Georgia Tech

Southern Teams Tangle in Sugar Bowl Contest on Jan. 1

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—West Virginia will match its powerful offense and reluctant refense against Georgia Tech's speedy backfield in the Sugar Bowl here New Year's Day.

The West Virginians, who were selected yesterday for their first major football bowl game, are leading the Southern Conference in four statistical departments.

Georgia Tech's colorful Engineers, selected Monday for their tenth bowl appearance and their third in the Sugar Bowl, have rolled up slightly better than 298 yards per game in 10 outings and have a game left with Georgia in the season finale Saturday.

West Virginia, beaten only by South Carolina in a completed nine game schedule, holds top place in the Southern Conference in total offense, total defense, rushing offense per game and rushing defense per game. The edge in both offense and defense statistics indicate the Mountaineers have a well-balanced team.

The Sugar Bowl committee made its selection of West Virginia shortly after indicating it would wait until after Saturday's games. But the announcement came with little surprise since West Virginia and Texas Tech were regarded as the top plums for an opponent for Georgia Tech.

The West Virginians placed five men on the Associated Press all-Southern Conference team, headed by its All-America quarterback candidate, Fred Wyant. Fullback Tony Allman, also named to the conference's select team, is called by Coach Art Lewis as the "greatest blocking fullback I've ever seen, pro or college."

Wyant and Allman will spearhead the West Virginia attack against Coach Bobby Dodd's Southeastern Conference leaders in the 20th Sugar Bowl. But Dodd, whose Tech team has won seven games and tied one in ten starts, has some aces of its own to test West Virginia's widely-praised defense.

In halfbacks Leon Hardeman and Billy Teas, Tech has two of the fastest backs in collegiate football.

The two lines seem equally matched.

St. Louis Fighter Faces State Champ

Bascom has bounced in and out of the heavyweight rankings. In the past year he was stopped by Ezzard Charles and Dan Bucceroni, lost a decision to Floyd Patterson and drew with Tommy Harrison.

Dr. John Thomas Fowkes, 86, has been a practicing physician for 62 years, a druggist for 56 years, town of Orleans health officer 50 years, practicer of optometry for 42 years, and a married man for 64 years.

Dr. Fowkes isn't taking on any new duties, but when asked about his old patients, he grinned and replied, "Can't get rid of 'em."

History Book Reminisces Over Movies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Holiday time affords a chance for reading, and mother and fathers of the land will get a nostalgic charge out of a new book on the silent screen.

Putnam has just published "A Pictorial History of the Silent Screen," and it is jammed with memories for those who can recall the roaring 20s and before. I don't go back that far, but here are some interesting notes I gleaned from the book:

Thomas Edison, who developed movies in 1889, thought they were a novelty that would soon wear off . . . Among early film players: Annie Oakley (the real one), Buffalo Bill, Eugene Sandow, Ruth St. Dennis, James J. Corbett . . . Tom Mix was a marshal in an Oklahoma town until a picture company came to the place. He started his film career in "Ranch Life of the Great South West."

The first Western star was Bronco Billy Anderson, who still lives in Hollywood . . . First epic: Italian-made "Quo Vadis," which ran 22 weeks in New York at $1 top (1912) . . . Among the early titles: "Ivanhoe," "Prisoner of Zenda," "Julius Caesar," "Three Musketeers," "Billy the Kid." Which proves that there's little new in the movies.

Leon Trotsky was a bit player with Clara Kimball Young in "My Official Wife" (1914) . . . Theda Bara Made 40 pictures for Fox in three years. Real name: Theodosia Goodman . . . Highest salary paid up to 1915 was $40,000 to Billie Burke for five weeks' work.

But in 1916 Charlie Chaplin drew $675,000 for the year . . . Talk about present day epics. D. W. Griffith's "Intolerance" took 20 months to shoot and ran three and a half hours on the screen . . . Ben Alexander was a child star in Griffith's "Hearts of the World (1918). He's now more famous as Joe Friday's sidekick on "Dragnet."

Tallulah Bankhead's first professional appearance was in a movie, $30 a Week" in 1918 . . . and Clifton Webb was playing opposite Barbara La Marr in "Heart of a Siren" in the early 20s. Oh, Mr. Belvedere!

Big three attractions of 1923: "The Virginian," "10 Commandments," "Covered Wagon." And in 1953, Paramount is again planning to make all three . . . Big money for big names: Red Grange got $300,000 for one picture in 1926 . . . Pint-size Mickey Rooney was appearing with Colleen Moore in "Orchids and Ermine" in 1927 . . . Clark Gable was an extra in the first "Merry Widow," filmed in 1925.

Parking Meters Get Cosmopolitan Coins

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP) — H. L. Hughes thinks collecting foreign coins is a "downright problem" but he can't stop.

The collection he holds as city comptroller contains 165 pieces representing 35 different nations which motorists have jammed into parking meters here.

"They are probably souvenirs that someone would like to keep but placed in the meter by mistake," Hughes said.

He pointed out that most coins run higher than the meter price but that does not help much in getting rid of them. He said a bank has offered to buy them at half price, but he has not decided what to do.

Hawaiian Lad Finds His Loyalty Divided

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Three years ago Buddy (Kekilapuale) Young came to Kansas City from his native Hawaii to attend school. While attending the University of Kansas City he got lonesome for Hawaii and returned to the Islands.

Soon after his return, he began to long for Kansas City. Back he came, got a job and enrolled again at the university. He graduated in 1952 and then went back to Hawaii. Yes, he got lonesome again for Kansas City and came back. He decided he never would be able to make a final choice.

His solution?

Young found a job with a travel agency here and conducts tours to Hawaii four times a year.

'Silly Goose' Is Silly Statement

Big Birds Tend Sheep, Do Superior Job as Sentries

Washington — How silly is a goose? Not silly at all, say farmers and sportsmen, who should know.

At least two farmers, living at widely separated places in the United States, have ganders they claim tend sheep, says the National Geographic Society. In each case, the big bird leads the flock to water, then returns it to pasture.

The talents of geese as sentries are well known. Excited gabbling of Rome's sacred geese from their home in the Temple of Juno atop Capitoline Hill roused the Eternal City's defenders in time to rout the barbarain Gauls who invaded Italy in 390 B.C.

"Watchdog" geese were sent last summer from Suffolk, England, to Nairobi, capital of British Kenya in East Africa. They were bought by a settler to give the alarm in case of Mau Mau attack.

Across the world in Malaya, the British high command early in 1953 announced that goose sentries were being stationed in pens around villages threatened by Communist guerrilla raiders.

Like their domesticated brothers, the free, high-flying wild geese that go honking down the sky at season's turn rate high in intelligence. Canada geese, snow geese, blue guees, brants all carefully inspect the ground for possible danger before landing, and while feeding, post sentinels.

Most American barnyard geese are descendants of the European and Asiatic graylag.

The best for watchdog duty is the big and powerful Chinese goose, suspicious of strangers and possessed of a voice rivaling a Parisian taxicab horn in penetrating resonance.

Because they are finicky and selective about their food, geese are excellent at weeding crops. Hundreds of thousands of them tend cotton fields, nurseries and blueberry and strawberry patches from Texas to New Jersey.

Their employers claim they eat crab grass, Bermuda grass and even saw-edged Johnson grass without even touching the cotton plants, berries or young trees. For lawns, however, they are not recommended.

A farm goose is still a valuable bird when prowlers do not threaten and the harvest season is over. Feathers and down are marketable, and roast goose for Thanksgiving or Christmas rivals the turtion.

Hal Boyle Says:

Miles Standish Returns, Has Dinner With Wilbur

By HAL BOYLE

HOMETOWN, U.S.A. (AP)—Let us suppose that Miles Standish, military leader of the Pilgrim Fathers, miraculously returns to life to spend Thanksgiving in a modern American city.

The doughty captain, dressed in Pilgrim garb, rubs his eyes, looks around and demands:

"Where are all the Indians?"

His odd raiment draws no attention whatsoever, as everybody figures he is advertising a restaurant and just forgot to put on his sandwich boards.

Miles steps into the street. A passing car knocks him sprawling to the pavement.

"Devil's chariot!" shouts Standish. He lifts his blunderbuss and shoots out the tires of three more cars before he runs out of ammunition, and retreats to the curb, where other pedestrians break into cheers and shake his hand.

One of them is Wilbur Peeble, America's average husband, who decides to take Miles home for a free meal, although he thinks the old boy is a bit balmy.

They go by bus, and the driver wants to call a cop when Miles puts a shilling in the box.

"This guy claims he's Miles Standish," explains Wilbur.

"I don't care if he's Robert E. Lee," said the driver, "he don't pass counterfeit money on my bus." Wilbur gave the driver a buck to quiet him.

"What are we playing—charades?" asked Trellis Mae Peeble, when she opens the door.

"Capt. Miles Standish, at your service," says the soldier.

"Yeah, and I am Priscilla," jeers Trellis Mae.

"You are?" asked the captain, uncertainly. "My, Priscilla, you look so much older—and you have indeed put on weight. You used to be such a pretty wench."

"Take this old bum out of here," yelps Trellis Mae, turning to her husband.

Well, Wilbur finally soothes her, settles Miles in a living room chair and calms him with a dry martini, which the captain laps eagerly, murmuring:

"My, when did we get these in the colony?"

"A bounteous repast," says Miles later, when he is seated at the Thanksgiving dinner, and as he wolfs his way through the turkey Trellis Mae mutters, "Why the poor old bum is really hungry. He acts like he hasn't eaten for three hundred years."

When Wilbur switches on the TV set Miles takes one look at the screen and then rushes over, his blunderbuss upraised, ready to club it. He is talked out of this and then watches it, falling asleep during the program and waking up and cheering when the beer commercials come on.

"Help me with the dishes," says Trellis Mae. And before going into the kitchen, Wilbur switches off the TV set and hands Miles a newspaper to read.

When they return, Miles points at the date on the newspaper and demands:

"Is this verily the year 1953, and are all these accounts of the doings of the world as chronicled in this gazette true, or merely devil dreams?"

"Oh, they're true," says Wilbur.

Miles immediately puts on his tall hat, shoulders his blunderbuss marches to the door, opens it, and asks:

"Will you direct me to the nearest seacoast?"

"Why?" says Wilbur.

"I want to board the Mayflower," says the captain, "and sail away. If you see any Indians, give them my apologies. I didn't know how it would all turn out."

Trouble Looms in Hiking GIs' IQ

Solons, Draft Officials Apt to Oppose Higher Mental Limits

WASHINGTON (UP) — A proposal under study by the Pentagon to hike the mental qualification for men entering the service today appeared headed for congressional and selective service opposition.

The idea—based on the theory that the growing complexity of modern warfare requires greater brain power on the part of servicemen—has been advanced within the Defense Department. Some have argued that the services should be more selective in their manpower since their overall strength is being trimmed.

Assistant Defense Secretary John A. Hannah, who indicated he personally has reservations about the plan, emphasized that it is still in the "study" stage. He said the Army, Navy and Air Force will make known their views next month.

The proposal will probably run into opposition in Congress which would have to approve it. Sources said Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey would also be opposed.

Hannah said he wants to be sure the armed services are making the best use of the lower mental groups and not shunting brighter men into unskilled jobs simply because they are easier to train.

He said he also wants to weigh the savings the services claim would result from higher mental standards. Hershey and some others contend the services already are "too selective."

At present about 10 per cent of all draftees and enlistees are rejected for military service on mental grounds. The new proposal would raise the cutoff point, thus boosting mental standards.

Men, not women, wear veils among the Tuareg tribes of the central and western Sahara. Night and day the male nomads wear long cloths wound around head and face, leaving exposed only the eyes and tip of the nose.

Brazil Oil Industry Stepping Up Pace

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP)—While the Chamber of Deputies debated whether foreign capital should be permitted to take part in the search for oil, Brazil's National Petroleum Council reported increased activity.

The council said that in the first three months of this year it started drilling operations at 21 sites, completed 18 wells and struck oil in 16 of them.

In the same period of 1952, the council said, 13 wells were started, and 12 completed. Ten were producers.

The council said that in all of 1952, it completed 64 wells, struck oil in 44 of them, and gas in two.

Grand Trunk Sees Surplus

Railroad Foresees Net of $163,769 for Year's Operations

Grand Trunk Western Railroad Co. expects a net surplus of $163,769 for 1953 operations due to the high level of business during the first seven months of this year, according to S. J. Massey Jr., Grand Trunk vice president and general manager.

This compares with a deficit of $1,605,740 in 1952.

Massey told a semi-annual meeting of company directors in Detroit this week that an all-time record in business was chalked up in March and May of this year because of stepped-up production automotive and other plants.

Revenue during those two months was highest in the history of Grand Trunk Western, Massey said.

During the first nine months of this year, operating revenues totaled $47,178,000, an increase of $5,837,000, or 14.40 per cent over the corresponding period of 1952. Operating expenses amounted to $37,365,158, an increase of $2,071,771, or 5.8 per cent; and net revenue from operations was $9,812,842, which was $3,865,229 more than the figure for the same period of 1952.

Leonard J. Walsh, 3770 Sashabaw Rd., Drayton Plains, has been appointed to the sales staff of Wyeth Laboratories, Philadelphia pharmaceutical concern, according to Stuart V. Smith, vice president. Walsh, who was formerly associated with the Eaton Manufacturing Co., was graduated from Olivet College this year. His headquarters will be in Detroit.

Consumers Power Co. today announced a net income of $20,536,369 after preferred dividends for the 12 months ended Oct. 31, as compared with $16,535,514 for the same date in 1952. Earnings for the 12 months ended Oct. 31 were $3.02 per share on 6,794,362 shares of common stock outstanding. The earnings for the same date in 1952 were $2.68 on 6,176,693 shares.

John C. Milleer, district manager of the Detroit office of the Bridgeport Brass Co., has been appointed assistant sales manager of the company Mill division with headquarters at the home office in Bridgeport, Conn., according to Austin R. Zender, executive vice-president. Miller, who lives at 3852 Oak Hill Road, Birmingham, has been district manager of the Detroit office since Dec. 1, 1949.

Foul Play Ruled Out in Socialite's Death

WISCASSET, Maine (AP)—Investigators report that an intensive probe has "failed to substantiate further in any way the theory of foul play" in the death of Mrs. S. Maynard Moran, New York City socialite who disappeared from Monhegan Island last July.

"Nothing has been turned up to point the slightest suspicion toward any individual" in connection with the death of the 49-year-old former model, Lincoln County Atty. J. Blenn Perkins said last night.

Perkins made his statement shortly after a grand jury which considered the case concluded three days deliberations with no indictments.

Mrs. Moran, whose body was found at sea three weeks after her disappearance, was last seen alive when she went for an evening walk along 100-foot cliffs at the southern tip of Monhegan.

The county attorney said last month that he suspected foul play on the basis of a pathologist's report indicating that Mrs. Moran died of a skull fracture "caused by blunt force to the top of the head."

Pretty Teenagers, Boy Friends Block Traffic

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Irate home owners are trying to figure out how to cope with two teen-age girls who, they say, have turned West Eubanks street into another Times Square.

The girls, daughters of Atty. Harry T. Hudson Jr., unfortunately are beautiful. That's not unfortunate for them—but it has the neighbors howling.

"It's a dead end street on that block," complained Mrs. Kenneth Klaffke in Traffic Court. "Cars going down there create a traffic jam so thick they can't turn around and have to back out. Our block is two blocks long. Sometimes they have two blocks."

The case came to Traffic Court when Mrs. Klaffke signed complaints of reckless driving and operating a car without a muffler against Billy Jack Early, 19, one of the ardent suitors.

Hudson appeared in court to defend the youth, maintaining the judge shouldn't penalize "just one boy when there are probably 50 others who have been just as responsible for getting the neighbors upset.

"My daughters have too many friends I guess," Hudson declared. "But anybody who is the father of two pretty teen-age daughters knows it's impossible to maintain a normal household."

He unburdened himself to Judge James Demopolos. "This younger generation is completely uninhibited," he said. "They just drop in at any time and they stay until you ask them to leave. We've got a 9:30 p.m. curfew at our house but that apparently doesn't solve the problem."

After listening to the problems of managing two pretty daughters for more than an hour, Judge Demopolos continued the case for two weeks.

"Glad I don't have two daughters," mumbled the stumped jurist.

The nighthawk is related to the whippoorwill.

CINEMASCOPE SCREEN HERE—The modern miracle of CinemaScope has come to Pontiac.

Above is a view of the huge new screen which has been installed at the Oakland Theater here, in preparation for the showing of the overwhelming Technicolor spectacle, "The Robe," on Dec. 9, and all future CinemaScope productions.

The Miracle Mirror Screen, as it is called, has a concave surface which is 42 feet wide—nearly three times the dimension of the old-style screen—and achieves life-like reality and infinite depth. This new marvel of the movies eliminates entirely the use of the old-style "3-D" glasses.

For films other than CinemaScope, about 30 feet of the Miracle Mirror will be used, employing special projector lenses. The first picture to be shown in this manner will be "All the Brothers Were Valiant," which opens today at the Oakland and stars Robert Taylor, Ann Blyth and Stewart Granger.

Indian Working for Law Degree

Charlie Is Freshman at New Mexico University on Tribal Scholarship

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—The Navajos have a big investment in 21-year-old Charlie De Jolie, and he doesn't intend to let his people down.

Charlie, who spoke only his native tongue until he was eight, is a freshman at New Mexico University, attending on a $1,300 annual scholarship granted by the tribal council.

It's been a long haul—this determined drive for an education so he could help his people. And the climb isn't over.

"I plan to get a master's degree," he says. "And then I may study for a law degree. I am thinking seriously about law, for I believe that as a lawyer I could do the most good for my people."

He left his family near Kaibeto, Ariz., turned from the traditional family livelihood of sheep raising, and enrolled in the Tuba City, Ariz., Indian School.

There he began learning English. In 1946, he transferred to the Albuquerque Indian School where he maintained such a high scholastic average that he was granted an all-expense scholarship to Phillips Exeter Academy in New Hampshire in 1949.

He won many honors there, among them a prize in American history, a wrestling trophy, letters in that sport, cross-country running and la crosse. The faculty voted him the school's most popular student.

He even visited Harvard to help out in anthropology classes. "The students were getting acquainted with the Navajo linguistic system" he explains, "and I helped them learn the pronunciation of Navajo words."

Auto Industry Uncertain About Sports Car Market

DETROIT (AP) — The American market for sports model cars still is an unknown quantity to the nation's auto makers.

Most car builders have brought out sports models or have them planned for early introduction. But the car makers going into the sports model field are doing so for competitive reasons or for promotion reasons alone.

Chevrolet's sports car is in production. It is a plastic body unit called the Crovette. Ford reportedly is planning a sports model for some time next year. Chrysler does not think there is a large volume market for sports cars and is making no plans to produce them.

These three makers represent the big volume field in the auto industry. They account for considerably more than half the car market with their lower-priced models.

But because of the uncertainty regarding the sports car market, only limited volume is being undertaken or planned. Chevrolet will make 10,000 Crovettes in 1954. Ford is said to be planning 15,000 of its sports models.

Ford hasn't admitted it has a sports model in prospect. However, Chrysler's president, L. L. Colbert, is authority for the assertion that it has. "You'll hear about it later," he says.

Oldster Fells Tree—Uses Wood for Casket

TISHOMINGO, Okla. (AP)—Douglas Brashier, 84, felled a big walnut tree on his land. He hauled the logs to a mill, and then took the lumber to a friend in Denison, Tex., who fashioned a casket.

"They think I'm pretty silly to want a casket," he smiled, "but I just tell them the time to prepare for war is during peace."

Taxi Drivers in Tokyo Even Beat Frenchmen

TOKYO (AP)—Who says Paris taxi drivers are the wildest in the world?

Not Michel Gordey, author of the Paris best seller "Visa For Moscow."

This visiting Frenchman said today with a resigned sigh:

"All I can do when I take a taxi in Tokyo is to squeeze myself into a corner of the seat and pray to God for my safety."

On the Line to Russia

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio said today a long distance telephone service linking tientsin and major cities in Russia opened last week.

The Entire Family Will Enjoy Reading This Cute Christmas Story:

"SANTA AND THE FLYING PUP"

It isn't easy for a puppy to learn to fly like Santa's reindeer. Even Santa himself can't teach him how.

Willie the pup wanted to learn ever so badly. His friends, Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little thought they could help, but they failed.

It was Henrietta, the poor little girl Willie left to find adventure in Santa Land, who finally gave Willie the answer.

In Memoriam 1

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY Dear Husband Herbert L. McCall, who passed away one year ago Nov. 26, 1952
I have lost my Soul companion,
A life linked with my own,
And day by day, I miss you Dear
As I walk through life alone
My Hearts still aches with sadness
My eyes shed many a tear,
God alone knows how I miss you,
And your voice I can not hear
Sadly missed by his wife Alpha McCall.
