

Ex-Flint Official Becomes New City Manager

Mayor Insists on Loop Road Use in Winter

Miffed by Letter From State That Highway
Won't Be Done Soon

Mayor Robert A. Landry last night told city administrators to "tell the State Highway Department we're not going to spend the winter without using the perimeter road."

Landry was angered by a letter from the highway department announcing that the east leg of the highway, from South Saginaw to East Huron, would not be paved in time for use this winter.

The letter also outlined an estimated $4,000 in extra costs which would be required to open the highway from Mount Clemens Street to Cass this winter.

Speaking for himself, not the commission, Landry said, "I'm not the least bit satisfied with the contents of this letter."

"We're going to be using that road this winter, paved or unpaved, if at all possible."

ADOPT RESOLUTION

His remarks came after the commission adopted a resolution deleting plans from this year's program for a $10,000 temporary crossing of the Clinton River north of East Huron.

The crossing would be necessary before the road could carry traffic uninterrupted from South Saginaw to points north and west of the river. City Engineer Joseph E. Nepling recommended the resolution on the basis that the crossing would be useless unless paving was to be completed this year.

Landry asked Nepling, "Didn't the original contract call for use of the perimeter road this winter?"

Nepling said that the contract didn't actually require that all pavement be laid by winter, but that at one time last summer the highway department estimated pavement would be in place and open to traffic from South Saginaw to Oakland by this winter.

City to Ask Romney Aid for Industry

City officials last night said they would appeal to Gov. George Romney "for some aid in protecting industry in Pontiac."

The move came after Commissioner Milton R. Henry objected to the purchase of Baldwin Rubber Division plant by a New York liquidation firm.

Henry said he didn't want to see the plant close its doors.

"We can't permit it to go out of business. This city should get up and fight," he said.

ASKS COMMITTEE

"I suggest we attempt to set up a committee to sell stock through public subscription to buy the plant and keep it operating," he continued.

Mayor Robert A. Landry suggested the city contact Romney's office "and take any other action necessary" to keep the industry operating here.

A motion by Henry to that effect was unanimously adopted.

KEY GATHERING — Gov. George Romney met with 44 key Democratic legislators yesterday for a discussion of fiscal reform plans. After a 3½-hour session, they agreed to hold future meetings of the same type.

Dems, GOP Plan Strategy for Tax Reform Showdown

LANSING (AP) — A desperate effort to bring Gov. George Romney's income tax bill to a showdown floor vote in the House was being mapped today as Republicans and Democrats fought for political advantage on a dying tax reform program.

A group of House Republicans said they would attempt, in a GOP caucus, to have the bill reported out of the Tax Committee and sent to the floor.

The caucus originally was set for 11 a. m., then postponed until 1:30 p. m., as the result of an apparent argument among GOP leaders in a closed door meeting with Romney.

House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, emerging at 12:30 p. m., told newsmen he had "no comment" on the meeting and said he would return for further talks with Romney in the afternoon.

When asked whether there would be a House GOP caucus, Green said "possibly."

The effort appeared to have as its main purpose the salvaging of propaganda value by preventing Democrats from blaming the GOP for killing tax reform.

READY TO QUIT

If Democrats refuse to lend bipartisan support to the bill on the floor, Republicans said they will be ready to quit and go home.

In their much-publicized meeting yesterday, Gov. Romney and Democratic legislators were looking for solid ground for compromise on tax reform — but they bogged down in a quagmire of words.

In a 3½-hour meeting, the governor and 45 members of the opposition battled and argued.

gued, hurried charges and countercharges.

The result — as far as tax reform itself is concerned — was inconclusive.

MORE UNITED

La. Gov. T. John Landry told newsmen that Democrats are "more united than ever behind fiscal reform" as a result of the talk.

Romney who had earlier predicted yesterday would be the "decisive day" on tax reform, said he wasn't sure how to assess the meeting.

Savers Get Christmas Bonanza

A bonanza of $1,501,490 is going into the pockets of over 15,000 area Christmas Club savers now receiving their payoffs.

These statistics were reported today by Community National Bank, Pontiac State Bank, First Federal Savings of Oakland and major credit unions with the club plan.

Community National Bank reports it is paying out $713,853 to some 8,500 club members.

Pontiac State Bank lists 1,849 savers who will receive $410,504. First Federal of Oakland has 1,084 Christmas Clubbers dividing a total of $99,541.

Among credit unions reporting are Pontiac city employees, $66,000; Oakland County employees, $62,000; GMTC employees, $60,000; Pontiac telephone employees, $45,000; Pontiac State Hospital employees $34,600; Pontiac Co-Op, $8,000; and Body Crafters, $2,000.

SLIGHTLY HIGHER

The banks and savings and loan institutions report total Christmas Club payments about 5 per cent higher than last year.

Other Woman in Murder Trial

'Thompson Offered
Me an Apartment'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The dark-haired wife of a truck driver testified today that murder defendant T. Eugene Thompson had dinner and lunch with her several times and once offered her an apartment.

"I told him I was not interested," she was told, "I was mad," said Mrs. Jacqueline Olesen, the so-called "other woman" in the case of the St. Paul slaying charged with plotting the slaying of his heavily-insured wife.

But Mrs. Olesen later said, clenching her teeth as she answered—that she had met with Thompson after she married her present husband in 1962.

Thompson listened without flinching to the first really sensational aspects of the trial, now in its third week. He appeared to concentrate on the testimony.

PHONES THREAT

Also testifying was the woman's husband, Ronald, who said he once called the Thompson home and warned he would "get him" if Thompson did not stop seeing his wife.

Up to the mid-morning recess, Mrs. Olesen had made no reference to nights in motels or trips with Thompson, as charged in the opening statement by prosecutor William Randall.

Thompson, 35, is charged with planning the murder of his heavily-insured, 34-year-old wife last March 6.

Randall said "seven important links" will tie Thompson to the slaying—the links including trysts with another woman, insurance arrangements to remove a telephone and watchdog from the house, and arrangements to "shop" for a killer.

To Take Over Monday

By DICK SAUNDERS

The City Commission last night hired Robert A. Carter, former Flint city manager, to the top administrative post in Pontiac.

Carter will take over as Pontiac city manager Monday morning, filling the office left vacant since the suspension of former City Manager Robert A. Stierer Aug. 5.

Commissioners voted 6 to 0 in favor of Carter's appointment, that provides an annual salary of $15,500. Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. abstained from voting.

Carter, 47, resigned from his $20,800-a-year job last February at the request of a majority of the nine-member Flint City Commission.

He had been city manager for four years in Flint, where the average tenure of city managers is about two years.

His resignation was due partly to the election of political opponents to the Flint commission in November 1962 and partly to an alleged land fraud scheme concerning one of his appointees.

Claude O. Darby was appointed by Carter as special agent for the city in the acquisition of right-of-way for the proposed Port Huron-to-Flint water pipeline.

Darby allegedly sold land to the city for $75,000 that he knew had originally been purchased for $42,000.

When the $33,000 profit was discovered, Carter arranged for Darby to repay the $33,000 difference to the city.

CHARGED DARBY

State Police subsequently charged Darby with obtaining money from the city under false pretenses on a land deal.

Darby, who maintains he is innocent, was granted a change of venue and the case is still awaiting trial in Detroit.

Carter was cleared of any connection with Darby in the alleged fraud but resigned under pressure stating that he "thought it was time for a change."

In choosing Carter for the Pontiac post, Mayor Robert A. Landry said that he hadn't appointed a committee of civic leaders to screen applicants, as originally planned, because it would have delayed satisfying the city's need for leadership.

HAVE SERVICES

"It is of tremendous importance that we have the services of a city manager now . . . because of all the public improvement and urban renewal projects underway."

"We received 11 applications for the job," Landry noted. "Very few had any managerial ability or background and most wanted a two-year contract."

The City Charter prohibits hiring a city manager on such a contractual basis.

Landry said that Carter's background and experience was far greater than any of the other applicants.

Since his resignation, Carter has purchased an interest in a motel in Lansing and had planned to take over as resident manager of the motel when it is opened next month.

"I'll have to rearrange things a bit," he said on accepting his new job. "I may have my wife manage the motel or hire someone else to do it."

Carter is married and has three children and seven grandchildren.

A native of Flint, he was a city commissioner from Flint's ninth ward, serving three two-year terms from 1948 to 1954. He didn't seek reelection to a fourth term.

PARLIAMENTARIAN

Carter was considered a first-rate parliamentarian on the commission.

While on the commission, and before assuming the city manager's post in Flint, Carter was prominent in the United Auto Workers union.

An employee of the AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors Corp., Carter was elected president of the AC Flint UAW Local 651 in 1947.

He also held the presidency of Flint's AFL-CIO Council and was unsuccessful candidate for president of the International UAW in 1944.

UAW DIRECTOR

Carter was elected director of UAW Region IC, covering the Flint-Holly-Lansing area, in 1951.

He was reelected director in 1953 and 1955 and in 1957 he won an unprecedented fourth term.

As a labor leader, Carter was very active in the Flint Red Feather program. He was one of a few labor leaders responsible

ROBERT A. CARTER

Will Read, Charter, Go Hunting

Robert A. Carter will spend the next four days reading Pontiac's City Charter and looking for a lack.

"I'm coming down to Pontiac Wednesday to pick up a copy of the charter. Then I'm going deer hunting," he said in his Flint home late last night.

Carter, 47, had just learned of his new job as Pontiac city manager.

Carter said he would read the charter in between attempts at bagging some northern Michigan deer.

EQUALLY AROUSED

He seemed equally aroused by both prospects — the job and the hunt.

Carter summed up his philosophy of municipal government this way:

"The manager is the administrator; the commission is the policy maker."

"As the elected policy-making body, if the commission wants something done, it should tell the manager to do it."

"If the manager feels it is not the right thing to do, then he should present the commission with facts supporting his position."

"If the commission still wants it done, the manager then has two choices. He can do it or resign."

"The manager should follow the recommendation if it is just a matter of judgment."

"If it's a matter of principle, he should resign."

"As an afterthought," he added, "If a manager doesn't have the confidence of the commission, he leaves anyway."

Warnings of Snow Flash Over State

Winter's on its way. Heavy snow warnings were posted for parts of five states, from Michigan to Maine.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said as much as 10 inches of snow may accumulate in sections of Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Maine by late today.

Cloudy with a few light showers mixed with snow at times is the forecast for the Pontiac area tonight and part of tomorrow. Temperatures will dip to 35 tonight and rise to near 45 tomorrow.

Thirty-six was the lowest temperature in the downtown area preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer reading was 36 at 2 p.m.

11 Per Cent of Country Off Limits

U. S. Restricts Satellite Envoy Travel

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move to curb spying, the United States has put some 11 per cent of the country off limits to envoys of Soviet satellite nations. In the past, these diplomats were allowed to travel freely.

The new orders, explained in diplomatic notes Tuesday, also kept in force travel restrictions on Soviet citizens, although some new areas were opened and others closed.

About 26 per cent of the country is off limits to Soviet travelers and a like percentage of the Soviet Union is off limits to American travelers.

The new restrictions—which don't apply to tourists—came after the Defense Department had insisted that the travel of the various diplomatic representatives of Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria be restricted.

Many of them, defense officials argued, were flagrantly peering about in sensitive military areas and probably feeding information to Moscow, whose own envoys are barred from the areas.

The U.S. counties listed as off limits in the notes were carefully selected after several months of argument between the Defense and State Departments. The State Department is unwilling to have the military restrict travel to tourists.

In the past, representatives of Hungary and Romania had to give advance notification of travel beyond Washington and New York, even though there were no areas forbidden to them. Under the new regulations they no longer have to give this notice.

As for the Soviet Union, the regulations only revise a 1961 list of closed areas; opening up some which were formerly closed and closing others, but keeping the total off-limits area at approximately 26 per cent of the United States.

Every state but Delaware has at least one county closed to the Russians.

OPEN STATES

For the satellite diplomats, Delaware and Georgia are completely open, and a footnote says that travel to Alaska and Hawaii may be permitted upon request.

As an example of the differences within states however, 31 of Illinois' counties are off limits to Russians, but only 11 are closed to satellite envoys.

The only Russians exempted from the restriction are those employed by the U.N. Secretariat and visitors under the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program.

In case of the satellites, on the other hand, only diplomats are banned from the closed areas.

Release of Prof Demanded

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Foy Kohler today demanded the immediate release of Prof. Frederick C. Barghorn, Yale University professor held by the Russians on spy charges.

The ambassador spent 15 minutes with Valerian Zorin, deputy foreign minister. He also demanded the right to see Barghorn and to have the charges against him given in detail.

In a brief statement, the embassy said the ambassador "registered a strong protest at the completely unwarranted arrest and detention of Professor Barghorn and the unjustified long period of time between his arrest and the notification of the American Embassy by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs."

The foreign ministry announced the arrest of the visiting professor yesterday, said it took place several days ago but gave no other information.

County, City on Ban Listing

Pontiac and Oakland County were among the areas in Michigan declared off limits to Soviet satellite citizens yesterday by the State Department.

Detroit, Dearborn and Lansing were among the 63 exceptions listed in new travel restrictions on Soviet satellite citizens. They could still visit these spots.

Eastern European diplomats are barred from Alpena, Bay, Calhoun, Chippewa, Macomb and Marquette counties, according to the State Department restrictions.

In addition, this same list holds true for Soviet citizens, who also are barred from Alger, Arenac, Berrien, Charlevoix, Clare, Dickinson, Eaton, Emmet, Gladwin, Ingham, Isabella, Kent, Keweenaw, Leelanau, Mackinac, Midland, Muskegon, Ottawa, Saginaw, St. Clair, Schoolcraft and Wayne counties.

Iraqis Quell Coup Attempt

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iraq's Ba'ath Socialist party government yesterday battled down a bloody attempt at revolution today believed led by an ousted minister.

After a morning of combat, including jet plane attacks on Baghdad's residential palace and the Al Rashid military camp, the capital was reported quiet at 1 p.m.

Premier Ahmad Hassan El Bakr and Defense Minister Mahdi Saleh Ammash appealed over Baghdad Radio for unity, warned against "Ba'athists killing Ba'athists" and promised "all problems will be solved."

Commanders of army divisions pledged their allegiance to the government.

STRONG MAN

The leader of the attempted coup appeared to be tough, gun-packing Ali Saleh El Saadi, until Tuesday the deputy premier, information minister and reputed Ba'athist strong man. He suddenly was dropped from the leadership of the Iraqi Ba'ath party command in a reshuffle announced just before the coup attempt.

Snow Turns UP Roads to Slush and Puddles

City Manager Named

bic for organized labor becoming an active participant in the program.

Carter was elected president of the Flint Red Feather Fund in 1957, after serving as vice president and member of both the board of trustees and executive committee.

He also served as a member of the Board of Managers of Hurley Hospital, Flint's municipal hospital, from 1956 to 1958.

As city manager, Carter was proud of his efforts to advance Flint's water supply and sewage disposal programs.

He was also instrumental in leading a group of civic leaders in helping to settle a 1958 labor dispute between Flint City Coach Lines and bus drivers, which resulted in a two-year contract.

His greatest disappointment was the inadequacy of city-operating funds to provide more wage improvements for city employees.

INCOME TAX

Before resigning, Carter proposed an income tax to boost the city's tax revenues. The tax proposal was rejected by voters.

New President for Cancer Unit

William G. Wright, director of special education for Pontiac schools, last night was elected president of the North Oakland County Unit of Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Wright succeeds outgoing president, Dr. Glenn W. Byhne, who received special recognition during the annual meeting at Waldron Hotel for his six years of service to the unit. He is moving to Ohio.

Elected vice president was James E. Henderson, M.D., 765 Oakleigh, Bloomfield Hills. Mrs. Ray C. Kingsbury, 2469 Silver Circle, Waterford Township, was elected secretary, and Mrs. A. Philip L. Francis, 1663 Kingsmere, Avon Township, treasurer.

Dr. Edwin DeJongh was named the unit's representative to the Cancer Foundation board.

TRUSTEE BOARD

Joining the North Oakland unit's board of trustees are Charles P. Richardson, Mrs. Walter Ludwig, Mrs. William Burlingame and Dr. Charles R. Herring.

An award for outstanding cooperation during the April education crusade was presented to The Pontiac Press. Other awards went to the Lake Orion Review, Holly Advertiser and radio station WPOP.

Also cited for work on the crusade were A. C. Girard, who served as chairman, and Mrs. Frank W. Prather, who was women's chairman.

Thanked for their efforts were branch crusade chairman Mrs. Gordon Frain, Mrs. Leslie Howey, Mrs. Lindford Owen, Mrs. Maynard Kiser, Mrs. Harold Johnson and Mrs. Edward E. Barrett.

Special recognition was given Mrs. H. Edwin Scott, unit volunteer for 10 years. Fifteen-year pins were awarded Mrs. Kingsbury and Mrs. Milo McLintock.

City Manager Now Official Film Judge

Pontiac City Commissioners voted 6 to 1 last night to have the city manager review "certain motion pictures now being shown in this city" under terms of a 1916 city ordinance.

The 65-year-old law is titled: "An Ordinance Prohibiting Shows and Entertainments Manifestly Tending to Promote Crime, Immorality and Indecency and Providing a Censor."

Last night's action means that the city manager will look at art or adult movies to be shown at the Forum Theatre, 12 N. Saginaw, and okay them before they are shown.

The resolution resulted from objections from the Greater Pontiac Evangelical Ministers' Fellowship and the Salvation Army concerning the content of some of the films.

The ordinance would prohibit children 12 years old and under to be in the theater after 8 p.m. without an adult, and youngsters 16 and under from attending "during regular school hours."

Commissioner Milton R. Henry objected to the action and cast the lone vote against the resolution.

"As long as the State Board of Censors passes a motion picture, we have no power to censor it," he said.

Mayor Robert Landry, who had earlier asserted that "the morals of our youth deserve the best protection possible," pointed out also that "no city ordinance can supersede state law."

Drifts From Peru to Samoa

Sailor, 70, Tells of Sea Ordeal

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Beset by storms and with his raft's rudders gone, William Willis, 70, said today he "went through hell" on his four-month raft ride from Peru to Samoa.

"The New Yorker told his ordeal in a talk with reporters at Apia, on the West Samoan island of Upolu, near the town of Falealea where he landed Monday on his planned 12,000-mile drifting voyage to Australia.

Willis said the rudders started to break up 500 miles out from Callao, Peru, his launching point July 4.

He said he thought of returning to Ecuador to make another raft, but it was too late because he then was drifting at the mercy of the winds and current.

MADE WORSE

"Not one man in a thousand could go through such hell and survive," he declared. "Things were made much worse with the thought that when the rudders went I might never make land."

Willis spent days hanging over the stern trying to fix the rudders. When he got the chance he made notes on the voyage and snatched what sleep he could on the pitching deck. He could not seek shelter in the cabin because it was crammed with food supplies and equipment.

Many times the decks were awash in stormy seas, he said, but the two family cats he brought along for company always managed to scramble to safety.

He said he would continue to Sydney, Australia, another 2,500 miles away, when repairs are complete on his raft although the hurricane season is near in this part of the world.

"I'm not really worried," he said. "As soon as repairs are finished I'll be on my way."

The veteran sailor said that after 130 days at sea "I'm looking forward to spending a few nights in comfort at a hotel."

He planned to have his 33-by-18-foot raft-named "Age Unlimited"—towed to Apia, six miles from Falealea, for repairs. Then he plans to continue his voyage to Sydney.

Zoning Board of Appeals Backs Up Tree Houses

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Is the tree house or play house in which a child creates his make-believe world in fact a structure at all?

This question and its implications consumed the major portion of the 3 1/2-hour meeting of the Bloomfield Township Zoning Board of Appeals last night.

In the first case, involving an elaborate tree house constructed in and around an apple tree at the Arthur Jones Residence, 6705 Indianwood, the board decided to assume that it was a structure as defined in the township zoning code and therefore fell under board jurisdiction.

With this, the board ruled the tree house was not in violation of any township restriction.

PLAY HOUSE

About an hour later, board members found themselves facing a similar problem in the form of a play house Robert N. Swed is attempting to build for his daughter.

It would be located on the empty lot which he owns behind his house on the corner of Bloomfield and Oakland.

Here the decision was to let the play house be constructed and stand for two years. The limit was set to insure that the play house was not to be converted into a tool shed.

The decision that the matters were even suitable for board consideration was based on Township Attorney Thomas Dillon's opinion — voiced over the telephone — that tree houses and play houses should be treated as accessory buildings in residential areas.

DOUBTED INTERPRETATION

The board of appeals joined the township planning commission in doubting this interpretation.

Supervisor Homer Case will seek a written opinion from the attorney.

At any rate, objections to the buildings in question were based on subdivision and deed restrictions. Both complied with the township ordinance regarding accessory buildings.

Chairman Henry L. Newman noted that persons charging infringement on their property rights should take the matter to a civil law court.

ENOUGH WOES

"See your neighbor, but don't come to us," he said, adding that the board already had enough problems with the year-old zoning ordinance.

Case noted that requests for the township to enforce deed restrictions are rapidly increasing.

"It's just not any of our business," Newman said. "This is not a neighborhood fighting ground."

He expressed amazement that over 40 persons had objected to the construction of a child's play house. The petitioners argued that the issue was not the play house but rather the precedent being set which would allow construction of tool sheds and the like.

Board members emphatically stated that they were setting no precedent.

Plans for a new country club in Bloomfield Township were presented to the township's zoning board of appeals last night.

The 234-acre site is between Wing Lake and Franklin roads, a quarter-mile south of Maple.

Earl A. Gilford, promoter of the project, ran into a technical snag at last night's meeting.

He was required to have the signatures of 100 per cent of the persons owning property within a 150-foot radius of the site and of 51 per cent of those holding property within 1,000 feet.

FORGOT SIGNATURES

Gilford, of 4600 Charest, Waterford Township, said he had obtained the necessary signatures, but had neglected to bring them to the meeting.

Meanwhile, two or three signers indicated they had changed their minds. The board tabled the request for permission to build until its next meeting.

Gilford, who proposes to manage the golf and athletic club himself, estimated cost of the project at $400,000.

Included would be a clubhouse, nine-hole golf course, tennis courts, three acres of athletic field, swimming pool and basketball courts.

MEMBERSHIP LIMIT

With a membership limit at 200, Gilford said he now has 200 applications. The name of the club would be decided by the membership at the time of incorporation.

Gilford plans a three-member board of directors for the non-profit corporation, consisting of himself, his wife and a distinguished professional bookkeeping company.

Building Workers Grab Jewel Haul

carted off at least $250,000.

When police discovered the hijacked car, it contained about $2 1/2 million in loot, including 15 gold bars.

BOASTED IN BAR

Monday night, a construction worker boasted in a bar about the windfall in jewels. An eavesdropper tipped police.

About the same time, another construction worker told a private detective that he had seen one handiworkman a briefcase in a bellie at the demolition site. The detective found the jewel-laden briefcase and called police.

Officers searched the site further yesterday. They came up with still more jewels, and began pumping water from the basement of one partially demolished building, thinking some of the loot might have been tossed there.

Besides Cunningham, of Floral Park, Queens, and Rossi and Lee, both of Brooklyn, police also arrested construction men James P. and John T. Joyce, Brooklyn brothers aged 24 and 23, respectively. All were charged with criminally receiving stolen property. Rossi also was charged with grand larceny for moving the hijacked car.

City Firemen Risk Lives Needlessly in 1 of Every 7 Alarms

By JIM LONG

One out of every seven times a Pontiac fireman responds to an alarm he risks his life in vain.

These are the false alarms answered by the department — 318 through October of this year, $3 last month alone.

The department responded to 2,175 alarms between Jan. 1 and Oct. 31.

Most of the false alarms come from the outside fire-police emergency telephone boxes in the south side of the city.

BIG PROBLEM

"False alarms are a big problem in Pontiac, just as they are a headache for every fire department across the country," said Fire Chief James R. White.

A false alarm proved fatal to a Detroit fireman Sunday. The truck he was riding was involved in an accident.

"I can't recall a Pontiac fireman getting killed on a false alarm," White said, "but we have had some close ones."

In an attempt to prevent a recurrence of the Detroit tragedy, the Detroit Fire Commission ordered all trucks to stop at all traffic lights.

TOO MUCH TIME
"I can't go along with that," said White. "Our purpose is to move as fast as possible. Too much time would be lost if we waited for each signal to turn green."

"The first three minutes are the most important to us," White said.

White said that there is a standing order in the Pontiac department not to exceed three miles an hour, however.

"Studies have shown that speeds above this make little difference in arriving at a fire," White added.

MAKE NOISE
"I believe the trucks should make all the noise they can and use as many lights as possible."

In Detroit, the trucks will be able to use red flashers but no sirens in responding to evening alarms under the fire commission ruling.

White said the main danger comes when equipment from two or three fire stations converges on a fire.

"Each believes they have the right of way and are not expecting another fire truck to come through an intersection."

ELECTRONIC SWITCH
An electronic switch in the central fire station controls the traffic lights on Pike and on a stretch of Saginaw.

The signals are turned red in all directions and the fire

Temporary Position

Supervisors Will Eye Post for Murphy

County supervisors will meet tomorrow to consider creating a new, temporary position for Daniel T. Murphy, former county clerk - register.

Murphy was forced to resign earlier this month when he was appointed chairman of the County Board of Auditors effective Jan. 1.

In effect, he was promoted right out of $13,500 salary for this year as clerk-register.

Pontiac has one of the best and most efficient fire alarm systems in the nation, according to White.

He admitted, however, that when it was first put into operation in April 1962 there was a rush of false alarms for two or three months.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM
"After we conducted a public educational program and the novelty wore off, the number of false alarms reduced considerably," he said.

The Pontiac fire alarm system, installed by the Michigan

JUDGE APPOINTMENT
County judges are expected to fill the post within the next few days.

The appointment will last until a new clerk - register is voted in during the next county elections.

The election date has yet to be decided by the State Legislature under Michigan's new constitution.

Detroit firemen want this system abandoned and replaced with the modern telephone equipment.

"The dispatcher doesn't have to hear a voice," said White. "Seconds after the receiver is off the hook we are on our way. It is an alarm to us and we can't take a chance."

ONE TRUCK
"In this case, though, we only send one truck."

"When a person phones in a 'fire' report, the first fireman at the scene uses the alarm box to tell the others when it is a false alarm and they can return."

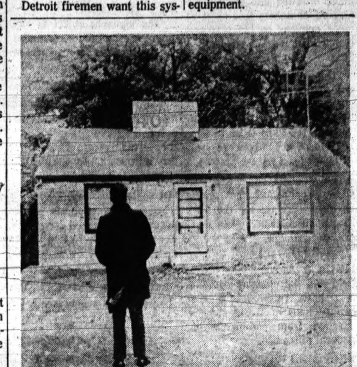

White said that 90 per cent of the fire alarms come from private telephones "but the added protection from outside alarm boxes is still needed."

Detroit's fire alarm system is the type used by Pontiac until the telephones were installed. When the handle is pulled in the fire alarm box a paper tape at the central station is punched with holes corresponding to the number of the box.

Argue Oxford Street Zone

OXFORD—Some 20 local residents crowded into the Village Council chambers last night to voice opinions on the proposed rezoning of part of Washington Street.

The council in addition to presenting the zoning issue at the public hearing, authorized Village Manager Michael Kilgore to tell Lake Orion to forget about a joint sewage system—at least for the present.

The second reading and possible adoption of the zoning changes were set for the Nov. 26 council session.

Both Village Planners, Villan-Leman & Associates of Southfield and the planning commission have recommended that two portions of Washington be rezoned from commercial to general office use.

PROPOSED CHANGES

In addition to the proposed changing of a small portion on North Washington, which drew no opposition last night, the rezoning of that part of South Washington between Dennison and Crawford on the west and Broadway and Holy Cross Lutheran Church on the east.

The planners object to any more commercial construction on Washington as it is part of a state highway.

They also contend that offices would be less objectionable to the surrounding residential area.

Presently most of the property in question is occupied by homes.

OWNERS ARGUED

Some of the property owners argued that if zoned for offices, the area would turn into a slum district before owners could sell.

Others contend that the houses there are presently in good shape, and owners would keep them that way.

After two hours of discussion on the issue the council turned to the subject of sewers.

Councilmen resolved to set up a series of hearings to inform the people "what has been going on and what they can expect."

$1,200 LEVY
"I don't want to vote a $1,200 levy on my neighbors," Village President Allen E. Valentine said today.

At the sewage hearings, the council would answer questions on cost, the time factor and facilities proposed.

"We want to give the people a chance to ask questions and voice their own ideas, too," Valentine said.

"We'll also see what their reaction is to the plans," he added.

FINANCIAL ASPECT
The village has been working with Donald Ringler, deputy director of the county's Department of Public Works, determining the financial aspect of the proposed system.

Preliminary plans for the sewers, submitted by consulting engineers Johnson & Anderson of Waterford Township, have already been approved by the council.

A unique type of spray irrigation treatment plant is proposed.

Oxford has received three deadline extensions from the Housing and Home Finance Agency for submission of plans for the proposed $226,000 system.

Rec Area Okayed in Farmington

FARMINGTON — Youngsters here will have their "magic square."

Site for the recreational facility has been determined, with the board of education agreeing to a compromise proposed by Farmington Acres Subdivision residents.

The 150-foot by 150-foot square will be built by the city on the northwest corner of the Flanders Elementary School playground, 32600 Flanders.

Neighbors had raised objections to the original proposal of locating the square in the southwest corner.

CAN BE FLOODED
It will consist of two tennis courts and basketball courts which can be converted to a dance area or flooded in the winter for ice skating.

In approving the compromise, the school board required that a satisfactory screen be provided between the recreation area and the school parking lot and that a sidewalk be constructed to join the two.

The school board has authorized borrowing $375,000 in anticipation of state aid. To meet payrolls the money will be borrowed early in December.

Looking toward Monday's $5-million bond issue vote for school construction plus two operational millage requests, board members have been increasing their PTA appearances.

EXPLAINED PLANS

They also explained plans at the dedications of two new Farmington Township schools this week. East Junior High, 25000 Middlebelt, was dedicated Sunday and High Meadow Elementary, 30175 High Meadow last night.

Miss Ellen B. Lang will describe her work as nursing superintendent of the 225-bed St. Joseph's Hospital in Detroit. She serves under the United Church of Christ.

A native of Australia, Miss Lang is one of the few nursing superintendents helping to operate a large hospital without benefit of hot running water or a laundry.

Another unusual feature is that in accordance with local custom, relatives and friends move right into the hospital with the patients. As a result the wards are overcrowded, noisy and full of confusion.

FIRST VISIT

During her present tour in the United States — her first visit to this country — Miss Lang is traveling extensively to become acquainted with church life in America.

She will return to India in the spring.

Following a brief business meeting, mothers and fathers will be able to make the rounds of their children's classes. Each period will last from five to seven minutes.

Parents will have the opportunity to meet their child's teachers and also become acquainted with the texts and type of work being done. The junior high is located at 2900 Waukegan, Auburn Heights.

Program chairmen of local districts in concert are urged to accompany their presidents and delegates to the open meeting.

State Farm Bureau OKs 39 Resolutions at Parley

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan Farm Bureau delegates yesterday approved 39 proposed resolutions and voted down only one — a recommendation for research on the effects of cloud seeding on rainfall.

Among the more controversial resolutions considered at the organization's 44th annual meeting were motions concerning farm labor, statewide fiscal reform and state school aid.

A minimum wage for farm labor was opposed in a resolution that also called for greater farmer responsibility in the improvement of health and sanitation standards for seasonal farm labor housing.

The resolution commended the farm labor management committee of the Michigan State Horticultural Society for efforts toward enabling farmers to handle their own management problems.

TAKE INITIATIVE
It also recommended that Farm Bureau members take the initiative to improve labor conditions on their own farms, and opposed "the assignment of greater responsibility for recruitment and placement of farm labor to the Employment Security Commission."

"We oppose the practice of the commission the resolution continued, 'of forcing unskilled laborers on growers of specialty crops in Michigan, such as cucumbers, fruits, etc. This practice works an undue hardship on the producers of these crops.'"

The organization's resolution on statewide fiscal reform called for immediate action on the issue and endorsed a state income through repeal and lowering of tax to replace revenue lost through repeal and lowering of other taxes.

The bureau's school aid resolution called for a study of the present state aid formula, "to determine if the formula should continue to be based on the single factor of property valuation.

INCOME LEVEL

The resolution noted "the formula in many states contain factors such as income level of the community, sparsity and density patterns and property values."

In a resolution concerning local courts, the bureau noted that the new state constitution requires the legislature to establish a new system of local courts.

The constitution also provides that no judges or justices shall be paid from the fees of his office nor shall his salary be measured by fees.

The resolution said "financing should be principally through the collection of fees as provided by law. However, local judges should be paid on a salary basis as constitutionally required."

Delegates also approved an amendment that would allow the defendant in a traffic offense case to present his case at the initial hearing rather than simply pleading guilty or not guilty.

Firm's Pledge Boosts Fund for Hospital

MILFORD — Spurred by a $5,000 pledge from Skutumpah Manufacturing Co., the Huron Valley Community Hospital fund drive has reached the $62,000 mark in contributions.

The Milford firm's pledge was presented by J. W. Getzler, president, and Edward Chey, major gifts chairman, yesterday.

During the month-old industrial fund drive, solicitors have received pledges totaling $15,000.

Milford's clergy also has responded to the plea of the fund raisers for help according to a drive spokesman.

The $2 million goal includes $1.8 million for construction of a 100-bed hospital and $175,000 for the first 90 days of operation.

Romeo Passes Nuisance Law

Council Strikes at Excessive Noise, Dirt

ROMEO—No excessive noise, odors, dust or dirt!

These are just a few of the areas covered in a general nuisance ordinance adopted by the Village Council last night.

The new ordinance was deemed necessary to place controls on certain annoyances in the village not included in the previous ordinance.

The matter was brought to a head recently by complaints of residents living near the Romeo Building Materials Co. on Sisson.

GRIEVANCE LIST

They had a series of grievances against the company which they said were hazards to public health and safety. The firm since has agreed to make certain improvements to help solve the problems presented.

But the council, faced with the possibility of similar complaints, again decided to enact a general nuisance ordinance.

Under the new law, controls also will be placed on excessive heat, light, vibration, glare, air pollution, soot, ashes, litter, snow and ice. Certain vehicular traffic on Sunday also will be forbidden.

Miss Holiday Qualifying Tonight

ROCHESTER — The magic hour is fast approaching for the 23 girls who are candidates for the Miss Holiday crown here.

Their ranks will be reduced over half at a qualifying tea tonight at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Sorenson Jr., 404 W. Third.

Ten of the contestants will be picked during informal screening at the social event to compete as finalists in the Miss Holiday Pageant Dec. 7.

Acting as master of ceremonies during the pageant will be Jerry Booth, popular Detroit and Windsor television personality who lives in Rochester.

PROPOSED SHOPPING CENTER — A 110,000-square-foot K-Mart Center is to be the nucleus of a shopping complex at Maple and Stephenson, Troy, if the City Commission goes along with the plan. In addition to the main K-Mart store, the developers, Frazier Werbe Co., plan K-Mart food

Troy Planners on Rezoning: One Down, One for Study

TROY — Faced with requests to recommend rezoning for two proposed shopping centers last night, the planning commission denied one and resolved to study the other with planning consultants Villan-Leman & Associates.

Jerome C. Hirsch, representing the Tracey Land Co., requested that the planning commission recommend rezoning a 70-acre parcel on the northeast corner of Liversols and 15 Mile.

Presently the area is zoned for residential, but an earlier recommendation of the planning commission, to rezone most of the land to light industrial, goes before the City Commission at a public hearing Monday.

Last night the planning commission turned down the request and voted to stick with its earlier decision.

To accommodate the proposed center, the land would have to be zoned for general business.

NO COMMENTS
Although Hirsch could present no firm commitments from builders, he said a motel, professional offices, stores, a drive-in theater, bowling alley, restaurant and apartments are planned for the site.

Asked about developing the sight for industrial use, Hirsch said he hadn't considered it.

The developer is expected to appear at Monday's public hearing, in the high school City Commission against zoning the area to light industrial.

Part of the land in the corner section is recommended for business, but not enough to contain facilities planned by the developer.

The second request put before the planning commission last night was from the Frazier Werbe Co. John P. Frazier Jr. and Robert K. Werbe presented their plans for developing a 33-acre site on the southwest corner of Maple (15 Mile) and Stephenson.

After reviewing the developer's plot layout, the commission tabled the issue until its Nov. 20 session, and agreed to give the plan more study.

The Frazier Werbe Co. proposes a 110,000-square-foot K-Mart Center as the nucleus of the shopping complex.

Six to 12 other smaller retail stores would be added after completion of the K-Mart.

WITHIN 10 DAYS

Construction of the store would commence within 10 days after approval of the City Commission, according to the developers.

Parking facilities at the center would accommodate 2,000 cars. Some 400 persons would be employed by the stores proposed there.

Frazier and Werbe have worked individually on many local and outstate shopping centers and have just recently joined to form the Frazier Werbe Co.

They are requesting rezoning of the property from its present light industrial use to general business.

PTA Council to Meet at Board Building

Instead of meeting at one of the member schools, the Oakland County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations will hold its session next Tuesday at the Oakland County Board of Education building, 1200 N. Telegraph.

A four-part program explaining the functions of the facilities will be presented by staff members, according to Mrs. A. R. Dahl, council program chairman.

Registration begins at 7:30 p.m., followed by the business meeting at 8.

Mrs. J. E. Frankenberg, council president, will preside. The newly revised council by-laws will be presented for adoption during the business session.

TO SPEAK
During the program Dr. Kenneth L. Brown, deputy county school superintendent, will speak on the "Structure of the Intermediate Unit."

Dr. Paul Thoms, director of special education, will present an overview of special education in the county.

U.S.-Europe Tariff Dispute

Geneva Talks About Your Pocketbook

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In Brussels and Geneva, developments are under way which eventually will affect the pocketbooks of more than 185 Americans and more than 172 million Europeans.

Eventually, the outcome could affect the price of such widely diverse items as an Italian necktie in Kansas City and an American frozen chicken in Munich.

In Geneva, a panel of experts appointed by an organization bearing the formidable title of General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) is attempting to arbitrate the so-called "chicken war" between the United States and the six nations of the European Common Market.

The United States charges that Common Market levies against American frozen chicken literally has frozen American poultry producers out of the community.

It sets the loss at $46 million. The Common Market claims the loss is $119 million.

And, unless the Common Market community makes some sort of amends, the United States threatens retaliatory tariffs on two dozen or more items imported from Europe.

MORE THAN CHICKEN

At stake is much more than the frozen chicken market. The United States annually sells to Europe more than a billion dollars worth of agricultural goods.

And the fear is that a high protective tariff system eventually could bar a large portion of that total from Europe.

The Geneva arbitrators may come up with a decision this week.

For the future of the Common Market, and its ultimate hopes for a politically united Europe, the problem under study in Brussels is even thornier.

COMMON POLICY

Foreign ministers of West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg are attempting to agree upon a Common Market agricultural policy.

French President Charles de Gaulle, with ambitions to make France the breadbasket of Europe, has hinted he may pull out of the Common Market altogether unless agreement is reached by the end of the year.

De Gaulle's chief political strength lies with the French farmer, who grows increasingly unhappy as he is caught in a squeeze between falling prices for his bumper crops and steadily increasing costs.

De Gaulle's chief opposition is the West German farmer. German agriculture is less efficient than the French, but enjoys the most government protection of any in Europe. In West Germany, the farmer also is a potent political force.

And, unhappily for the German farmer, any agreement on a common policy must come at his expense.

A current proposal would aid the French farmer but is estimated to cost German farmers $140 million a year.

The chances for agreement before the end of the year seem small indeed.

But upon agreement also hinges the chance for success for even more important negotiations scheduled for May 1964. This is the meeting of GATT nations at which the United States hoped to negotiate across-the-board tariff cuts up to 50 per cent.

One way or another, it affects every pocketbook in the U.S. and Europe.

Man, 21, Mute on a Charge of Armed Robbery

Charged with the armed robbery of a Pontiac market, Jerry Barnes, 21, of 20 Park yesterday stood mute at his arraignment before Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondoro. Barnes is accused of holding up the Fairway Food Market, 1220 N. Perry, with a sawed-off shotgun and taking $300 from a cashier Oct. 31.

No trial date was set. Unable to meet $10,000 bond, Barnes was returned to the county jail.

2 Youths on Bail
in City Break-In

Two youths were released on $500 bond each yesterday following their arraignment in Municipal Court on charges of breaking and entering a Pontiac gas station.

The pair, Ronald Kester, 29 Oakhill, and Boyd Gilbert, 27 Matthews, both 17, waived a preliminary hearing and were bound over for arraignment in Circuit Court Monday.

They appeared before Judge Maurice Finnegan yesterday.

$36,000 in Jewels
Found Near Theft Site

GROSSE POINTE WOODS (AP) — About $36,000 in jewels taken in a $50,000 jewel robbery were found yesterday in the back yard of a home four blocks from where they had been stolen Monday, police said.

The jewels were taken from the home of Ralph C. Wilson Jr., owner of the American Football League team, the Buffalo Bills.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Martin W. Jacobsen, 33, a San Francisco auto mechanic, was arrested yesterday for trespassing on the Golden Gate Bridge, although both driving and walking are permitted on the span.

The California Highway Patrol said Jacobsen trespassed because he climaxed a night on the town by sleeping on a girder of the bridge about 100 feet above the ground.

Dem Bigwigs Eying County's Vote Trend

Changes in all areas of social reference—economic, religious, racial—continually tax the interpretation of national political leaders in reevaluating the voter patterns thus formed.

Currently the trend that has politicians burning midnight oil is the rising political power of suburbia.

With populations of the Nation's metropolises declining for the most part, the heavily Democratic alignment of the urban centers is being diluted as correlative suburban growth takes on conservative coloration.

Locally, analysts credit the suburban vote for the election of Gov. ROMNEY last fall as other GOP aspirants were defeated.

Although Oakland County has more Democratic voters than any other Michigan county except Wayne, party chieftains are concerned about the growing trend of suburbanites toward political independence and conservatism. Indeed the reelection of Sen. Philip A. Hart is no longer considered certain, despite party dominance of statewide elections in recent years.

It is this significant political straw in the wind and to apply national force to the local scene that brings the President's brother, Sen. EDWARD M. KENNEDY, to Pontiac Friday as speaker at the Democratic Congressional Dinner.

Indonesia Buys Jets—With U.S. Aid Money!

In case you are keeping a dossier on the vagaries of the U. S. foreign aid program, the testimony from a closed-door hearing before a House Appropriations Subcommittee should add to its bulk.

The testimony pertains to Indonesia, which is in economic shambles despite foreign aid since 1946 amounting to $881 million.

The country's factories lie idle for lack of spare parts, roads go unrepaired and harbors clog with silt.

As the saying goes, "Chaos is organized." Only Communist-coddling President SUKARNO's 400,000-man military force seems to thrive.

Along with members' blood pressure, the subcommittee raised the fact that Sukarno's luxury-loving government had purchased three jet airliners, for $20 million only a day before the United States granted Indonesia a $17-million "emergency" loan. The loan, Assistant Aid Administrator Seymour J. Janow told the subcommittee, was to help the "general stabilization of Indonesia's economy."

Aid officials, Janow lamely explained to the storming subcommittee, had not known about the airliners when the loan was negotiated. By the way, how is your blood pressure?

Number of Hunters to Hit All-Time High

They're off and running. The hunters are off, that is, and the deer are running.

Prospects are that a half-million ninetails will invade the happy hunting grounds for the deer season that opens Friday. This would break the all-time record of 468,623 hunters set in 1959.

Conservationists fix the deer herd about as plentiful as last year and in pretty much the same localities, since the white tails do not venture far from their home grounds.

Roscommon County has since 1936 held first place as the heaviest-hunted Michigan county, yet hunters in this area make an average kill every year.

Explaining the seeming contradiction, a deer specialist says that it supports the principle that up to a certain point the more deer that are taken one year the more the herd will produce the following year.

There have been 146,000 permits issued for shooting does or fawns in 46 food-shortage and crop-damage sections. These hunters are expected to take about 60,000 deer. In addition, buck hunters will likely account for an equal number of antlered specimens.

Along with best wishes for good weather and good fortune for all hunters, The Press combines a life-saving admonition to drive safely and to hunt safely. Don't let bad luck mar a good buck.

Nixon Left Door Part Way Open

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon has stopped for short of eliminating himself from consideration as the Republican party's choice for the presidential nomination.

He could do it in one, simple, positive sentence: "I am not a candidate for the presidential nomination and I will not accept it if the convention offers it to me or tries to draft me."

Instead, he has limited himself to saying he is not a candidate for the nomination, which can be interpreted as saying he will not actively campaign for it between now and the 1964 convention.

That's a long way from saying he would not accept the nomination or like to have it. Last month in an interview the magazine U. S. News & World Report asked him the question directly: Would he accept the nomination if drafted?

He said: "I shall not be a candidate in '64 and that answers all questions of that type. There can be no draft unless a man stimulates it or encourages it. My statement that I shall not be a candidate means there can be no draft."

It does not necessarily mean any such thing. The fact that he did not actively seek the nomination does not prevent the convention, if deadlocked on others, from seeking a way out by turning to him.

While he says he is not a candidate, he has been urging Republicans in all sections of the country not to commit themselves yet to any would-be candidates. His reason is said to be that it's too soon to know what will happen.

THEY'RE ONLY TWO

As of now there are only two candidates in sight: New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater. Rockefeller has already announced his candidacy. Goldwater is expected to in January.

Both men have said they thought Nixon was acting like a candidate.

A month ago Nixon said he hoped there would be nothing on the record between then and the convention to indicate he favored one candidate over another.

While such reticence would avoid adding splits in the Republican party, it would also avoid making enemies for him among the followers of the candidate in case the convention finally did turn to him.

For a man not seeking the nomination, Nixon has been talking a lot. He explains that, too.

"At this time I believe I can best serve both the Republican party and the nation as an independent, constructive critic of the Kennedy administration policies rather than as a candidate."

This does have some advantages, of course; just in case the party in the end wanted to pick him.

In speech against the administration he would be talking to the same people as the issues as the candidate, thus providing a chance for comparison between him and them.

Sort Of A Double Ring Ceremony

David Lawrence Says:

Dems Not Responsive to JFK

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy would be overwhelmingly defeated if the presidential election were held today and the standards of judgment and the system prevailing in other English-speaking democracies — such as Canada or Great Britain — were applied.

For the Democratic party, which holds 67 per cent of the membership of the Senate and almost 60 per cent of the House of Representatives, has failed after more than 10 months of continuous sessions to pass the legislative program proposed by its titular leader, President Kennedy.

The truth is the chosen representatives of the Democratic party have been unwilling to use their clear majority of votes to adopt the recommendations of the President, either because the voters of the country do not like or because the legislators have themselves mistakenly interpreted the wishes of the people.

When a party in power under the parliamentary system fails, it is customary for the nation to turn that party out of power in an election called whenever the voters really demand it.

Under the American system, there is no such way to fix responsibility. It cannot be determined immediately whether the President is at fault for having failed to exercise effective leadership within his party.

Nor can it be determined for two years after an election whether Congress has really been heeding the voices of the citizens in disapproval of the President's policies or whether the Democrats in Congress have misconstrued the wishes of the people in holding up many of the measures proposed by the executive branch of the government.

A COALITION It has often been argued that, in the United States, a president who cannot control his own party in Congress can look to the opposition party to gain enough votes so that a coalition will form a majority and adopt his program.

But the fact is that an unorganized coalition of Republican and Democrats in both houses of Congress has actually emerged on several controversial questions as an opposition majority to block passage or demand substantial changes in pending measures before they can even be considered for passage.

The Democratic party in Congress today, moreover, not only possesses a clear majority but controls every committee in both houses. In committees, too, a combination of two parties can block action and actually is doing so today in many instances. So, for all practical purposes, the coalition majority is, in effect, repudiating the policies of the Democratic party leader—President Kennedy.

In other countries, this repudiation would be accepted as sufficient reason for asking the country by its votes to decide at once whether a new prime minister should be chosen from the opposition party or whether the existing majority party should be given a vote of confidence and permitted to keep its leader or select a new one from its own party.

PEOPLE DECIDE Thus, the people do the deciding, and they hold the incumbent party or its leader responsible.

Bob Considine Says:

King Humbert Is Owner of Controversial Shroud

NEW YORK — There, but for the wrath or grace of God, depending on how you feel about such things, stood the King of Italy, Humbert II. He looks something like Jimmy Roosevelt.

We were in his suite on the 42nd floor of the Waldorf. The head of the House of Savoy was receiving Bennett Cerf, Random House publisher, and N. Y. Journal-American columnist, Paul McCormick Lapolla, two priests of the Redemptorist Order, and John Walsh, author of "The Shroud," one of the most fascinating books to emerge since the shower of Dead Sea Scroll tracts.

His Majesty, as Humbert II is addressed, was delighted to receive a copy of Mr. Walsh's book. He asked that the author, publisher, etc., etc., photograph it, and promised to read it at the earliest opportunity. Humbert's interest in it is plain: He owns the shroud in question.

Christ had at least one friend, Joseph of Aramathea. There is a legend that Joseph, who had extensive interests in the tin mines of England in the early part of the first century, took Jesus there with him on a number of occasions during Christ's early years — which some scholars believe may be one reason why there is no Biblical account of Christ's life for the years leading up to his ministry.

What is generally accepted is that Joseph of Aramathea did take responsibility for the body of the dead Christ.

He appeared before Pontius Pilate with his request, and when it was granted he had the body of Christ taken down from the cross, and prepared for burial in one of his (Joseph's) own burial enclosures, hard by Calvary.

It was the custom of the time to wrap dead bodies in a shroud, and this was done. Mr. Walsh's book is an absorbing examination of whether that shroud exists today; whether it is indeed the same bit of cloth that rests in a silver casket above the altar of the Cathedral of St. John in Turin, Italy.

It came into possession of the House of Savoy, Humbert's strain, in the 1500s, from the descendant of a Crusader who had found it — and perhaps plundered — in the Holy Land. I asked him if he would send The Shroud to the New York World's Fair, where it could take its place beside Michelangelo's immortal Pieta.

"I am having trouble having it moved to Rome so that it can be seen by the Fathers of the Ecumenical Council," said Humbert.

Letter on 'Degeneration' Prompts Youth's Reply

Mr. Csiki, who wrote about the degeneration of youth, should take a look at all teen-agers and see the percentage of good against the bad.

I know that all the older generation does not think of us in this way and I'm sure other teen-agers know this, too. Of course, there are some narrow-minded and stubborn teen-agers, too, who cannot "see our elders for dirt," but it's a small percentage.

I feel sorry for Mr. Csiki and his kind that haven't any faith in us. They have been proven wrong before and will be again, by the largest percentage of teens.

'Remember—Man Is Animal, Also'

The controversy about the humanity of hunters is amusing—especially the humanity part. Man has failed to identify himself correctly—namely, that he is only an animal himself. And when you add Christian after that, to justify common slaughter of helpless life, that man mistakenly labels lesser life, then it is downright criminal.

A VOP writer says that God created wildlife to be harvested. I am curious to learn just when he last conversed with God? How can he reconcile the kind and merciful God, the church teaches, with a deity that thirsts for helpless lives in the slaughter pens of the world? My desire is to see the human hunters being hunted by other human hunters. That should provide real sport. Regarding the leather animals provide, I would suggest using human skin. But I suppose that "Happy Hunter" wouldn't care to donate his.

'Clinton River Shows Signs of Pollution'

I have read articles about the effects of detergents on our drinking water and of the pollution of our streams. This is nothing new.

However, I didn't believe it was so close. I wish people would look at the Clinton River on Pontiac Lake Road. It has the familiar foam on it. I have lived in Waterford Township for five years and this is the first time I have seen a sign of pollution. In the Highland Home Estates, the people are throwing bottles, cans and garbage in the river! It's a mess!

Recently the water level has dropped considerably. If the people of Waterford Township can show no more interest in their properties than this, then I guess we do not deserve to become a city.

'It's Inhuman to Kill Animals for Food'

Go your merry way—some day your conscience will catch up with you.

"Live and Let Live" stated that the desire to kill any living creature is beastly. Only those on the lower planes of spiritual development could possibly harbor such thoughts. They brag about getting their buck, etc. The buck isn't their property.

Many of man's ailments are caused by eating meat. An insurance company in England has lowered the rates for all vegetarians. They, the non-meat eaters are stronger, live longer and are free of the diseases common to flesh eaters. Think that one over.

Apportionment

The Boston Herald

No one will quarrel with the Justice Department's contention that Congressional districts ought to be substantially equal in population.

Nor, since the Supreme Court has ruled that districting questions are a proper subject for court review, can the department be faulted for asking the highest tribunal to enforce its egalitarian theory as a Constitutional mandate.

But the judicial approach to this kind of reform is a clumsy one. There is an easier way, and the department should look to it.

George Galloway points out in his authoritative "History of the House of Representatives" that Congress itself for many years told the State Legislatures how to draw district lines. The 1872 apportionment act, for example, provided that the Congressional districts should contain "as nearly as practical an equal number of inhabitants." And some such language appeared in all apportionment acts through 1911.

We don't suggest that the Justice Department withdraw its amicus brief to the court. We do suggest that it sponsor appropriate legislation, too.

Plan Needed

The San Diego Union

The good neighbor policy, announced three decades ago to govern our relations with Latin America, was designed to emphasize the dignity of each nation, to generate mutual respect and to foster co-operation upon which to build a hemispheric community.

There has been a deterioration of this relationship in recent years, fostered by hate rather than friendship. Fortunately, such groups are in the minority although they daily gain strength from communism. The time has come for a re-examination of this country's Latin America policy.

James S. Copley, chairman of The San Diego Union and other newspapers, has outlined steps. The course of action was spelled out in Mr. Copley's address in New York, where he became the 20th recipient of the Americas Award for his efforts to improve understanding in our Western Hemisphere.

Mr. Copley makes these points: 1. Keep our promises to Latin America as faithfully as possible. Present efforts in Congress to reduce total foreign aid imperil pledges we made in helping to establish the Alliance for Progress. "One way to attack this problem might be to treat hemisphere aid as a separate item from other foreign aid," he said. "Then, if other aid programs are badly administered, and suffer popular resentment, the Latin American program will not be punished."

2. Fight corruption at all levels, but do not insist upon unrealistic social and land reforms. Corruption breeds hopelessness among people. Mr. Copley cited the possibility of Latin American "pioneers" being encouraged to create new farmland, rather than unrealistic chopping up of present farm units.

3. Relinquish increasing fact-finding missions to Latin America. "Too often," he said, "reporters see evidence that decisions are made in Washington where the facts have not been clearly determined by careful field study."

4. Emphasize again that spirit which motivated our Latin America attitudes in the 1920s. "This is to view each of our countries as a proud individual, who does not want anyone trying to run his life for him," said Mr. Copley. "It is to view those countries as comrades-in-arms for a better world, in which each country, large and small, has its own vital role to play, and its own traditions to uphold."

In the event the world becomes embroiled in war, the Americas will have to stand shoulder-to-shoulder to preserve freedoms. They must also stand together in peace.

Cambodia Neutrality Meets

Is U.S. to Blame for Rejection of Aid?

TOKYO (UPI) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, may have based his decision to renounce U.S. aid on what he considers American coolness toward his small nation's neutrality, observers here said today.

Norodom, 51-year-old ruler of a Southeast Asian nation about the size of Missouri, announced yesterday in his capital of Phnom Penh that all American aid to Cambodia would cease Dec. 31 and said he would bring in three to five Communist Chinese experts to help organize nationalized industry.

U.S. aid to Cambodia this year is estimated at $29.2 million.

He had announced Monday that the state was taking over the import-export business and would nationalize Cambodian banks as of the end of next June as part of his program of "advanced socialism."

ALTERED POSITION

Observers here pointed out that Norodom has altered his position often in the past and said the latest move does not necessarily mean Cambodia is moving into the Communist camp.

Relations between Cambodia and the United States have become increasingly strained since September 1962, when President Kennedy in effect rejected Norodom's proposal for an international conference to guarantee Cambodia's neutrality.

Kennedy said he felt that official letters from interested countries in support of Cambodia's independence would be more effective and said he would be glad to sign such a letter for the United States.

Norodom, in an indirect reply said he was tired of "very friendly, very sugary letters" and indicated he might appeal to the Soviet Union or Communist China for help.

$10-MILLION AID

American military aid to Cambodia is running about $10.4 million this year and includes about 60 American military advisers on the scene. Economic aid, in a program that has been praised by both U.S. and Cambodian officials, is $18.8 million.

The United States spends more than the total annual aid to Cambodia every three weeks in neighboring South Viet Nam where assistance in the fight against Communist guerrillas has been estimated at $1.5 million a day.

U.S. aid to Thailand on the West is also far greater than the amount allotted Cambodia.

This is one of Norodom's chief complaints. Cambodia has been quarreling with Thailand and South Viet Nam for many years.

In 1961, Norodom broke diplomatic relations with Thailand following a series of border incidents and said, "American military aid, in effect, does not permit us to defend our liberty and independence except in the unique case when we are attacked by the Communists, who in the present case do not menace us."

"The United States, Thailand and South Viet Nam wish to kill us," he added. The price suspended relations with South Viet Nam this year.

He has warned that Cambodia would not hesitate to "join the Socialist bloc" if it were necessary to avoid "the conquest of our country by Thais and Vietnamese."

Norodom repelled an invasion by Communist Viet Minh guerrillas in 1954 and said in 1958 that he would rather die than permit Cambodia to be taken over by Communists.

What're We Made Of?
Not Sugar and Spice!

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UP)—What are we made of?

Not sugar and spice and everything nice, say the molecular biologists.

And the sugar and spice rhyme isn't the only theory of the structure of man that these scientific pioneers have exploded.

Molecular biology is a relatively new science which in the short space of little more than a decade has made impressive contributions to man's understanding of what makes the human body tick.

UNCHARTED AREA

But even these impressive advances have only placed scientists on the fringe of a vast and largely uncharted area of knowledge.

Four scientists yesterday gave a group of science writers a brief guided tour of this fringe area and tried to indicate where some of the unexplored paths might lead.

Where did this new knowledge come from and what might it mean?

Much of this knowledge resulted from a series of technical and theoretical discoveries which gave scientists a far deeper view of cell structure than they had ever before had.

ELECTRON MICROSCOPE

One of the more significant technical discoveries was the electron microscope which became a practical scientific tool only about 10 years ago.

As Dr. Don W. Fawcett of Harvard explained it, this microscope — capable of magnifying 200,000 times, or enough to expand a human hair to the width of a giant redwood tree — enabled scientists to peer inside cells and for the first time see what were the similarities and differences in structure between the vast numbers of cells composing the human body.

Coupled with such technical discoveries as the electron microscope were theoretical discoveries concerning the structure of molecules which is great numbers and variety compose the individual cells.

Jackson, Mich., Eyes Its Own Racial Woes

(EDITOR'S NOTE — One day it happened — an outbreak of racial violence in Jackson, Mich. Associated Press staff writer Junius Griffin of New York, a Negro, turns the spotlight on Jackson, to find out why racial upheaval came to this Michigan city and what whites and Negroes think about it.)

By JUNIUS GRIFFIN

JACKSON — Long ignored racial tensions suddenly exploded in a rock-throwing student riot here to the embarrassment of this southern Michigan city, once an underground-railroad depot for fleeing slaves.

The clash outside the ultra-modern $5-million Parkside High School on Sept. 18 impelled both white and Negro citizens to ask themselves:

Why did it happen here?

"All of a sudden, Jackson was starting at its own ugly face and was being forced to admit that despite our looking down our noses at Birmingham, the races have not been living in beautiful harmony," Harley B. Grimsley said in an editorial in the Citizen Patriot.

On the streets of Jackson today, whites and Negroes are discussing their problems, wondering how they can prevent another outburst—in a city of 8,000 Negroes and 42,000 whites.

SOUTHEAST SECTION

Jackson's Negroes live in the southeast section of the city. They claim it is impossible for them to rent or buy dwellings in other parts or in the suburbs.

Although no race restrictions involve public accommodations, almost no Negro ventures out of his neighborhood to use recreational and other social facilities.

Asked what started the "Parkside incident" a Negro girl replied:

"Rumors were flying that there would be a fight in the parking lot after school. The police were there, but they were not standing near the white students. They were near us."

Some of the students shouted, "This isn't Alabama."

CRITICIZED NEGROES

But after the incident, Rollin Green, of the local chapter of the NAACP, criticized the Ne-

RESTRAIN STUDENT — Police officers restrain a student outside the Parkside High School in Jackson, Mich., Sept. 18, when a rock-throwing student riot broke out at the end of the school day. The incident has impelled citizens of both races to ask, "How did it happen here?"

gro students, saying, "you have got to forget your fads, act like Americans, dig for your jobs, quit dancing and fighting."

"It is not a Negro problem, but a community problem," said a Negro minister, the Rev. Polk Williams. "Many Negro youths feel that if they could be understood more, their problems would be solved."

But a Negro grass roots sampling by this reporter found some resentment of some ministers and civil rights leaders.

"I have been in this community for almost 30 years," said John Hurd, 41, an unemployed machine operator, "and I represent a so-called civil rights leader who doesn't associate with me socially going downtown and saying he represents me."

ESPECIALLY RESENTFUL — "I am especially resentful of some of them who haven't been here for more than four years."

Asked if he felt his unemployment resulted from discrimination, Hurd said no and explained:

"If a Negro is qualified for a job in Jackson, 9 times out of 10 he will get the job."

Hurd said "The Parkside incident" started when "someone called some one else a 'nigger,' and got out of hand when police showed up at the school in white helmets and carrying nightsticks."

BECAME RILED

"Both the children and parents became riled at the way the incident was handled. It was a bad day for Jackson."

Police chief R.V. Gray, who led a contingent of 15 uniformed and plainclothes officers at the school in an effort to disperse the crowd, said he resorted to a fire extinguisher after warning the crowd to disperse. He said he aimed the hose below the waist of the youths and sprayed about 15 or 20 of them.

Alfred Pryor, president of the Jackson junior NAACP, criticized Gray for the use of force in handling students.

"They pull out a club, draw it back and threaten you."

"If we don't get respect from the police, how can we respect a police officer?" Pryor asked. But Fred Paschal urged Negroes who complain about the city's handling of Negro problems to attempt to change officials through their votes.

"But you can't vote if you're not registered," he said. Less than one-third of eligible Negro voters in Jackson are registered to vote.

Indecision and indifference more than anything else mark the efforts to ease racial tensions in this city hailed by many of its citizens as the birthplace of the abolitionist Republican party. The Republican National Convention met here in 1858.

Parkside students of both races have been meeting in group sessions since the incident to explore human relations among themselves.

The Citizen Patriot summed up the situation editorially:

"We—as a community, have been kidding ourselves. We say that Birmingham 'can't happen here.' No, it can't; at least in that degree. But we still have a problem, a deep and serious problem."

"Now, at long last, it is out in the open . . . on top of the table . . . in every living room . . . in every place of business . . . in every pulp and every church congregation."

Rail Officials Consent to End of Merger Talks

KANSAS CITY — Merger talks between officials of the Chicago Great Western and Soo Line railroads have been ended by mutual agreement, the presidents of the railroads announced yesterday.

The decision to end discussions that had been going on for about 10 months was made by Leonard H. Murray, president of the Soo Line Railroad Co., and Edward R. Teidy, president of the Chicago Great Western Railway Co.

English Music Is Topic of Talk

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL
An "English Musical Journey" was the topic of Dr. Walter Collins' talk at the November meeting of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicals at Grace Lutheran Church.

Dr. Collins, the head of the Music Department at Oakland University, spent a year in England on a Fulbright scholarship doing research into the life and music of Thomas Weelkes, Elizabethan composer.

His talk was a series of reflections on his experiences in discovering and organizing this music.

Although Weelkes' madrigals are well known to musical historians, his motets and other religious compositions have been buried in uncatalogued niches of ancient English libraries but various voices of each composition are scattered throughout England and abroad.

Tracking down these various sources is somewhat like a musical detective story. Dr. Collins spoke of the various "clues" that a modern musicologist must seek.

In order to put them into understandable form for the modern musician, he must deal with music having no tempo marks, he must take into consideration that pitch varied at that time, and note values were longer, that the words were not written over the notes they were intended to accompany, that no indication of what instrument was to play the music or what voice sang it, was ever given.

Furthermore, there was no conductor's score, and if there had been, there would have been no signs indicating how fast or slow, or how loud or soft.

Dr. Collins gave a picture of musical England in Weelkes' day, of the importance of the Church Choir School to the boy who wanted an education, of the importance of the church organist who wrote the music to fit the Gothic edifice of the time. Dr. Collins is writing a biography of Thomas Weelkes which he hopes to finish this winter.

He speaks in a charming and often humorous way and is skillful in the art of simplifying difficult concepts so that they are readily understandable.

In comparing our musical values with those of England, Dr. Collins feels that we in the smaller cities of America have much higher standards than in English cities of comparable size. He cited the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra as being of much finer calibre than can be found in larger English cities.

Rental Business Brings Some Strange, Oddball Customers

By GAY PAULEY

UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — If you don't own it, rent it. This slogan could be applied to almost anything from wigs to yachts, in these days of the booming rental service business.

If you have the money, you can rent the ballroom of a hotel, an art collection for your own enjoyment or to impress your friends, a milk coat, the decor as well as the caterer for a party, even a wedding gown and bridesmaids' dresses.

The rental business turns up some oddball information about its customers — there was, for instance, the man in Great Neck, N. Y. who feared that traffic would block him from making a plane, rented an ambulance to speed him to Idlewild Airport.

This was one of assorted side-lights on rentals which a New Jersey manufacturer of home cleaning products turned up when he researched the field before opening rental centers for his floor and rug care machines.

The firm (Glamorene, Inc., Clifton, N. J.) produced these unusual case histories.

A Chicago office machine service rented a typewriter to a would-be author, but the machine was returned because the man claimed it did not inspire him.

A Long Island man rented a watchdog from a kennel, but the dog broke loose and returned to the kennel. While the man was at the kennel to pick up the dog again, his house was robbed.

A Providence, R. I., man, annoyed with a neighbor's child practicing the saxophone, rented a sax also — to get even. He became a musician and now teaches the youngster next door how to play.

A television repairman rented a motel room in Albany, N. Y., found that the television set needed service and took care of it. When he checked out, he handed the room clerk a repair bill for the same amount as his room charge.

In Chicago, a night club stripteaser sued a costume rental firm when the zipper on her costume failed to work and she lost out on an audition.

A woman in Toledo, Ohio, rented a tent for her son's camping trip, but when he returned with poison ivy, she refused to pay the rental charge.

WON PROPOSAL — A Los Angeles woman rented a wig and won a marriage proposal.

For his son's birthday, a Trenton, N. J., man rented a pony to give the youngster and his playmates rides. The renter demanded that the stable owner reseed his lawn after the wreckage from pony and party.

In a movie contest, a Brooklyn theater offered $100 to the first person who could open a lock with a key. The theater rented the lock from a hardware store and gave away hundreds of keys to patrons.

The first person in line opened the lock. He was the teenage son of the hardware store's owner.

When a part of Manhattan suffered a power blackout due to the demand for electricity during a heat wave, a woman considered the time her rented air conditioner was not in use. She deducted 17 cents from the monthly rental charge.

Garden Club Hears Speech on Candles

Candle arrangements will be discussed by Mrs. Robert Beesley at the 8 p.m. Thursday meeting of the Pine Lake Estates Garden Club.

Mrs. Beesley is a member of the Valley Woods Branch of the Women's National Candles Club. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William Grubb of Orchard Lake.

Co-hostesses for the meeting are Mrs. William Sharkey and Mrs. Robert Thoren.

Or Inform Pal's Husband

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I loaned a friend $200 to help her out of a jam with a finance company.

Her husband didn't know anything about it, and she was afraid to tell him. To date she hasn't paid me a cent.

I asked her once about six months ago and she said she would get it for me, but she never did. I have some bills coming up and could use the money.

I am not charging her interest, and I didn't ask for her IOU. Both she and her husband are working and it wouldn't be a hardship for them to pay me.

Should I ask her husband for it? I'd like my money without taking legal action.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: Your friend, not her husband, owes you the money. Tell her she must begin repaying you or you will be forced to tell her husband.

And if she makes no effort — shoot the works. Your friendship is probably shot anyway.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about people who neglect to respond to an RSVP invitation?

I cannot make the necessary plans for my wedding unless I know how many people to expect. Is it proper to telephone them and ask if they are coming or not?

Or should I assume by their failure to reply that they are not coming?

BEWILDERED BRIDE

DEAR BEWILDERED: As a last resort, telephone! Some people expect you to assume that, because they did not officially decline, they will be there. You would simply not believe the number of people who ignore an RSVP.

DEAR ABBY: I am 23 and have been married for three years. My husband is 25 and we have two children, a year apart.

I love my husband, but here is my problem: He likes to look at magazines with pictures of sexy-looking women in them and it hurts me until I am sick inside.

I am not ugly, Abby, but I can't compete with those women. He doesn't buy the magazines, he just borrows them from his buddies.

He knows how much it hurts me, but he says I am just being silly — that all men look at that stuff. Do they, really? Is my husband normal?

I couldn't feel worse if I had caught him with another woman. Please help me.

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Most men won't pass up a chance to look at a "sexy-looking" woman (or a picture of one).

If your husband openly enjoys it occasionally, and obviously he does, I wouldn't call him "sick." He is possibly a bit immature, but he's normal.

DEAR ABBY: I work and draw a good salary. My problem is one of my bosses. While he is a flirt with all the girls, he singles me out. If there is a disagreement, he takes my side.

I have ignored him for a long time, but I feel attracted to him. I am married and so is he. I only think about him when I am around him.

I love my husband and can't understand why I am attracted to the boss. I don't intend to let this go any further as I am decent and respect my marriage.

Should I leave my job? Or will I get over this feeling in time. I've never encouraged him, but the feeling is there.

DEAR IN: If you can't see the handwriting on the wall, you need glasses. Quit your job.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press, for Abby's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Bathroom May Turn Creative With New Terry Toweling

Terry toweling is one of the oldest weaves known... and it's one of the most practical and durable. Today, however, changes have been made.

Instead of a few pallid pastel shades to select from, the homemaker has a galaxy of hues and pretty patterns in bath towels... and they are practically an invitation to turn your bathroom into a bower.

New towel offerings highlight designs of varied nature... roses, with the look of hand embroidery; grilles with a sophisticated elegant look; rhododendron blossoms in luscious colorings; an eyelet lace in monotone shades, etc. A bathroom lends itself to detail touches that give theme and character more easily than most rooms. Most often, in concept, it will follow the rest of the home's decor.

For example, a bathroom in an early American home would probably take shutters over the windows, grooved plywood to cover cabinet doors, and brass hardware, plus a towel design to carry out the warm, cozy atmosphere.

For a bath in a home with Japanese overtones, matchstick blinds might be used at the windows; a gracefully detailed Japanese wallpaper in cool pale colors, plus harmonizing towels.

The Victorian influence can be carried out in the bath area, too... with soft pastel colorings, elegance in design in the shower curtain and towels, and perhaps wall-to-wall carpeting.

Since most bathrooms are usually small, they're a good area for experimenting with color you've never used before. You may discover that these colors give you such a lift that you'll want to use them in other rooms as well.

The bath is a spot for the do-it-yourselfer to add decorative touches without undertaking a full remodeling job. Even the neophyte can take advantage of the now widely-available materials... scrubable wallpaper; attractive accessory hardware; waterproof counter surfaces, etc.

Even if you aren't a courageous handyman, the bounty of towel designs now on the market can still be used to give a new look. Since there is usually little space for purely decorative knickknacks, the towels, which combine practicality and decorative-ness, serve a dual-purpose.

The sparkling colorings and designs of printed towels are just as absorbent as plain white... much more fun to own... and will add new color and importance to the area.

When you set out to buy towels, there are certain guideposts you can use to be sure you are getting the most satisfactory type for your needs.

The best towels, of course, are made from fine-nylon terry cloth. The underweave serves as the backbone of strength, so be sure it's firm and close. Check the loops, since these are an important factor of absorbency.

The sparkling colorings and designs of printed towels are just as absorbent as plain white, much more fun to own, and will add new color and importance to the bathroom area. This Spanish grille design in a scroll type motif is available in monotone colorings of rose, gold, blue, avocado green, and charcoal on snow white. The set includes a bath towel, hand towel, finger tip, washcloth and bath mat.

Safety Conference Invites All Groups

All organized women's groups in the state of Michigan have been invited to send representatives to the 34th annual Michigan Safety Conference Nov. 20. A reception for club presidents will be held at 2 p.m. in the northwest office center of Michigan Bell Telephone Company in Southfield.

One of the items on the agenda will be the start of the 2nd annual Mrs. Safety Award contest which was originated by the women's and rural divisions of the conference a year ago.

The year-round program of this group is to interest every local and state women's or parent-sponsored organization in the need for increased safety education and accident prevention. To that end, programs in home, schools, in traffic, in public places, in farm and rural and in child safety are hope for.

Groups unable to attend the conference are asked to contact the Michigan Safety Conference Headquarters office, P.O. Box 1136, Lansing, Michigan, for further information about the divisional activities of the Mrs. Safety Award contest.

Half Think President's Decision Unfair

Bachelors Are Called Scapegoats in Draft

Gilbert Youth Research, Inc. The great debate these days among draft age young men has little to do with such earth shaking matters as the course of the Viet Nam conflict or of the U.N. negotiations.

Instead it concerns something far more personal — the justice and practicality of President Kennedy's dictate that married men should not be drafted.

Of the 663 men, 18 to 25 years old, with whom we talked, almost exactly one half thought the President's decision unfair.

This shouldn't be too surprising because we intentionally limited our survey, with few exceptions, to unmarried men not yet engaged.

More than a third said that they were going steady, but none had set a wedding date. Twenty-eight per cent of the group said the new ruling might influence them later on marriage; two fifths said they just didn't know.

The pros and the cons of the situation, are being argued on every basis from loftiest idealism to most obvious practicality.

"I disagree with the whole idea," said Barry D. Cramer, 20, of Phoenix.

BOTH FIGHT "Both men and women have fought all through history to make this country what it is today. Why shouldn't a man, single or married, fulfill his military obligation?"

But Bobby J. Dedman, 19, of Sandusky, Ohio, argued "It always has been a man's duty to protect his country, and this duty can be carried out with less pain and to greater advantage without family responsibilities weighing on one's mind."

"Bachelors are the ones who lose least if killed in battle," added Hugo William Walter Jr., 18, of Farmingdale, N. Y.

"I think we should all serve our country when we are needed," countered Daryl K. Abbott, 18, of Greencastle, Ind.

Naturally the argument soon popped up that such a ruling as the President's would hurry young men into marriage.

As Peter Sobie, 19, of Boston put it bluntly, "There are some individuals who will use this law to avoid military service."

"It may rush a lot of guys in to marriage that aren't ready for it," commented Joseph Cameron, 20, of Detroit.

"In five years when divorce rates go up and homeless children start raising the welfare taxes, they will see that this is a big mistake," said Jack L. Boas, 21, of Lafayette, Ind.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS There were other considerations too.

Jim Rutherford, 18, of Minneapolis was echoing many comments when he said "married men should stay home and support their families."

Another Minneapolis man, Robert Scott, 19, proposed that fathers of children should be exempt but not childless married men.

"If a person is married, he can't make ends meet on an armed forces salary," said George Black, 18, of Baton Rouge.

"I do feel," said Stuart Hazan, 18, of Hewlett, N. Y., "that the term of service for the married man should be shorter."

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice:

"We hear about napped fabrics so much and read about it so often, could you please give us the names of fabrics that have a nap, or have to be treated as such?" Mrs. F. E.

Dear Mrs. F. E.:

A truly nap fabric is one that has a hairy or downy surface and is smooth to the touch in one direction and rough in the other. These fabrics must be cut in ONE direction with the smoothness running down.

Typical napped fabrics include wool broadcloth, camel's hair, duvety, suede cloth, fleece, fur cloth, canton flannel, satins and cashmere. Fabrics with a one way plaid, one direction prints, must be cut in one direction.

Velvets, velours, corduroy, panne velvet, have a pile which is also directional. This could be cut in either direction, however you must cut your entire garment the same. You will have a richer, deeper color if you cut these pile fabrics against the nap.

"Dear Eunice:

"As often as you have mentioned diagonal weaves in fabrics, I have cut out my coat and the lines on one sleeve go up and down, on the other they go across. I am disturbed to say the least, what did I do wrong?" Mrs. M. H.

Dear Mrs. M. H.:

With diagonal women fabrics, you cannot use a raglan sleeve pattern without this happening. Your best bet, if this bothers you, is to choose a pattern with set-in sleeves and no collar.

I must tell you however, that I have seen coats that retail for hundreds of dollars where the diagonal coats show up exactly as you describe.

Seems that when you buy your clothes, you don't notice these things, but when you make your own, you are much more aware of these irregularities. Actually, in a muted diagonal weave where two colors aren't involved, it wouldn't be noticed and the overall effect would be beautiful.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

"How discouraging to get out last winter's coats and find they just don't fit your kiddies! If you knit, how about making knitted cuffs to match or contrast their coats? Besides having the very latest in styling, you can prolong the life of the coat for another winter.

If the length is beyond lengthening, cut it off and make a can-coat out of it. You may also want to knit a scarf, hood, or cap to match the knitted cuffs."

(This sounds like it might end up cuter than the original!)

Mrs. Ivan Yetter, Ft. Wayne, Ind., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing Board for this bit of advice.

"Dear Eunice Farmer:

"I have been noticing some costume room suits and some of the dressier ones have the Chinese ball buttons made out of heavy braided cord instead of self-fabric. Can we make these too?" Mrs. B. W. W.

Dear Mrs. B. W. W.:

I am happy you noticed this, often I think of these things and then forget to tell you about them. Yes, your Chinese ball buttons may be made out of most any kind of woven cord. You can get some lovely ones in the drapery departments. You can match many colors and they would truly be handsome.

Since this type of cord unravels so easily, you will have to tie the ends very tightly with thread before proceeding to make the buttons. Also, may I suggest you make a sample first before making your buttonholes. They take up more space than you would imagine.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY: Revers: The revers is the front part of your jacket that rolls back (in other words, the lapels). The lapel is found in garments with a notched collar or a shawl collar.

If you haven't sent for my leaflet "Spaghetti Straps and Rope Belts" you will want to do so immediately because you will also find directions for making the very popular Chinese ball buttons. Please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents with your request and mail to Sew Simple in care of The Pontiac Press.

Which Clothes Need Professional Cleaning?

Every wash-day the housewife separates hand washables from machine washables, lights from darks... on some items she uses special additives like chlorine bleach, starch or fabric softener... and her soap or detergent varies with the delicacy of the fabric.

Your drycleaner does much the same thing classifying the clothes he cleans. In the case of drycleanables, the housewife has a decision to make, too - whether her things require complete professional drycleaning service or if a "dryclean only" process, either by a professional or self-service, would be sufficient.

The National Institute of Drycleaning suggests there are three categories of garments which ought to be given the complete professional treatment. They are stained clothes, fragile items and clothing that requires finishing and pressing.

Most stained garments should be sent to the professional, because most spots require special treatment they don't get in the cleaning machine. Usually special chemicals and equipment the housewife doesn't have are needed.

Male Reader Shares Ideas

Repainting Canisters

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I am one of your male readers. My wife wanted her old metal kitchen canisters repainted but they had such a lovely pattern it seemed a shame to cover it.

I took petroleum jelly and a child's paint brush and carefully went over the pattern and then sprayed the canisters a fresh color.

After they were thoroughly dry, I carefully removed the petroleum jelly from the designs, then washed the canisters with warm water and the designs are perfect.

If any paint remains around the edges of the design, remove it with an orange stick.—JOE

DEAR POLLY—No one seems to send any hints for college students so I am passing along a few of mine. A small plastic paint bucket is ideal for lathering shampoo, rinse and dusting powder to the shower.

It also prevents breakage of glass bottles while showering. This bucket is also a perfect size for washing out small pieces of lingerie or cleaning combs and brushes.

In between times, it can be used to store hair curlers or other small things.

These buckets come in a variety of colors so they can be pretty as well as a practical addition to a dorm room.

Because it is not always easy to leave the busy campus and shop for cards in town, I take a supply of greeting cards with me. This way no birthday need go by for lack of time to buy a card.—ANN

DEAR POLLY—I personally love to wear a veiled "whimsy" instead of a hat but my problem was storing them so they stayed in good shape.

Hats go in boxes but whimsies always need a little touch-up before wearing. This is a nuisance when you are in a hurry.

I have discovered that mine stay in very good shape if I keep them over a tall narrow lampshade. You can put one on top of another to save space.—N. D.

Mrs. Arnold Hillerman is ticket chairman.

College Chief Asks Overhaul

'Extend Years to 5;
Delay Specialization'

CHICAGO (AP) — A major overhaul of college education, extending it from four years to five and postponing specialization until graduate school, was proposed here yesterday by a university president.

Francis H. Horn of the University of Rhode Island said the education of broadly informed citizens can no longer be accomplished in the traditional four years.

Undergraduates should not be required to study some particular field in depth, Horn said, particularly "if such depth is at the expense of exposure to and understanding of some of the humanities, including the fine arts, the social sciences and the natural sciences."

ART, ANTHROPOLOGY

"The student," Horn added, "should be introduced to as many areas of the arts and sciences as possible. He should not have to miss either chemistry or Shakespeare, art or anthropology."

Horn made his proposals in a speech at the annual meeting of the Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

Another of Horn's proposals appears certain to cause a furor in academic circles:

"I see an end to the tenure principle," he said, "admittedly after a hard battle."

"Tenure" is the academic phase for job security. After a college teacher reaches a certain level or status—it varies from institution to institution—it is almost impossible to fire him.

'Action' Slowed Down

Nevada Jail Gambling Fades

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—Gambling, condoned inside the Nevada State prison since its opening 100 years ago, is being "phased out."

New rehabilitation programs have been started to take the place of cards and dice, and prison authorities have become increasingly sensitive about it.

Nevada State is the only penitentiary in the country to allow open gambling.

"Why don't you fellows write about Alcoholics Anonymous, or our 'high school' projects," lamented prison guard Capt. Orville Jackson. "These are the real stories of the prison. We've had enough bad publicity about the gambling out here."

NEWSMEN FORBIDDEN

Warden Jack Fogliani has given orders to prohibit newsmen from any longer seeing the rough, blanket and sheet-topped gaming tables and their crude operation inside the prison walls.

Capt. Jackson said prisoners will not be allowed to gamble inside the new maximum security buildings now under construction — they will hold about 230 of the present 450 prisoners.

If caught gambling, he said, inmates will be sent back to the maximum security cells which will house the more dangerous prisoners.

"Actually," he asserted, "gambling here now is peasant. When I first got this job five years ago it was big stuff. Now there are hardly any who gamble and most of it is nickel and dime business."

Asked if trouble among the inmates was one of the reasons for the proposed cutback in gambling, Jackson said:

TROUBLE ABSENT

"No! You hear of all the trouble at the other prisons across the country. Well we haven't had a black eye in the prison for at least six months."

The five games are operated separately by prisoners. Inmates can play anything from poker to dice, usually bankrolled by prisoners with the most money. There are no slot machines. Brass coins are used for prison money.

For the last year, the biggest operator has been an ex-bawdy house owner, Joe Conforte, 37, who hires other prisoners to deal the games while he watches over the "action."

Conforte, a known "high roller" before he went to prison on an attempted extortion conviction, will lose his concession however when he is released (Nov. 18) to start serving a term in federal prison for income tax evasion.

NO CHEATERS

Cheating is almost unheard of. "Can you imagine a card shark trying to cheat other card players who know their way around. Can't you just see what would happen?" said one prison official.

Most recent complaints came when local clergymen expressed concern there was no place to carry on religious services on Sunday in the prison.

Atty. Gen. Harvey Dickerson, one who questions the value of gambling at the correctional institution, said, "It seems incongruous to me that you can have wide-open gambling on Sunday, but have no room for church services."

Since then room has been found for services. A chapel is under construction.

Junior Editors Quiz on PLASTICS

QUESTION: How is fiberglass made?

ANSWER: Fiberglass may take the form of soft fibers, which you can twist and which feel like silk and yet which actually is glass.

The delicate fibers can be spun together, making a thread which can be woven into cloth. When combined with liquid plastics such as the polyester resins, an exceedingly strong substance is produced.

Though light, this may be as strong as some kinds of steel. Such a type of fiberglass is being used by the boys in the picture.

They have covered the bottom of their boat with plastic resin and are laying fiberglass cloth pieces over it. More resin will go on top. A boat treated in this way will not leak or rot.

Fiberglass is made by melting glass materials into balls like marbles. These are checked for impurities and melted again.

From this, glass fibers are run out of minute holes in a container. Twisted together, these made threads which can be spun into cloth. In another method, jets of steam draw out long fibers which make a mass called fiberglass wool. Fiberglass has other uses than for boats. For example, many kinds of electrical insulation are made from it.

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can find some other common uses for this remarkable modern material. Your fishing rod may be fiberglass.

U.S. Will Ask 'Peter Pan' Block of Probe

Alabama Grand Jury Eying Car for King

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Justice Department appealed to the nation's second highest federal court today in another attempt to block an Alabama grand jury probe of government transportation furnished Negro leader Martin Luther King Jr.

Government attorneys were scheduled to present their arguments before the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals this afternoon.

The government filed an appeal with the circuit court, which ranks just below the U.S. Supreme Court, yesterday immediately after Federal District Judge Daniel H. Thomas of Mobile, Ala., refused to grant a temporary restraining order halting the grand jury probe.

Three judges sitting as the circuit court here agreed to accept the case. The panel included Chief Judge Elbert L. Jones, of Jacksonville, Fla., and district Judge Frank Johnson of Montgomery.

Thomas issued his denial following 10 minutes of arguments by government attorneys who contended the grand jury investigation was part of a larger pattern of attempted intimidation of prospective Negro voters in Dallas (Selma) County, Ala. Thomas scheduled a full hearing in the case for Dec. 5 at Selma.

The government asked specifically for a temporary restraining order forbidding six Dallas County officials, including a judge and grand jury foreman, from using the grand jury to "harass, frustrate and obstruct" federal officers in the county.

Several top Justice Department officials have been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury today in Selma to tell what they know about the government transportation given King in Alabama last month.

The department twice denied and then admitted that King, was driven in a government-leased car from Birmingham to Selma last Oct. 15 to attend a civil rights rally. The department said it had based its denials on the false statement of a department attorney who has resigned.

Man Shoots Self in State Police HQ

EAST LANSING (AP) — A man brought in for questioning shot himself yesterday in state police headquarters here.

Sgt. Carl Harrison identified the man as Joel L. Cooper of Charlotte. He was listed in good condition at a hospital.

Cooper pulled a 38-caliber revolver from his coat and wounded himself, Harrison said. Cooper was to be questioned on the complaint of a Lansing Township woman who said a man threatened to hurt her if she did not buy photographs he was selling.

Drunk Charge Levelled at Genesee Official

FLINT (AP) — Accused of drunkenness after police said he resisted arrest, Ivan W. Crawford, 30, chief assistant Genesee County prosecutor, pleaded innocent yesterday.

Police said they had to subdue Crawford by force Sunday when he resisted arrest as he was leaving a dance. Crawford was freed on $100 bond pending trial Nov. 21.

Charge 1, Seek 2 in Night Bank Theft

TRENTON (AP) — One youth was charged and two others were being sought yesterday in the theft of a bag containing $2,000 from a night depository at the Flat Rock Branch of the People's Bank of Trenton.

FBI agents said Thomas Tipper, 16, of Flat Rock, charged with robbery, took a money bag containing the money from a deposit box. They said the bag had not been properly deposited. Agents quoted the boy as saying he had gone to deposit receipts from the Flat Rock Service Station where he works, left the bank, told two friends about the bag and returned with them to get it.

Youth Mute in Car Theft

A 17-year-old Independence Township youth on probation for burglary was arraigned in Circuit Court yesterday on a charge of possessing a stolen car.

Robert E. Van Kleek of 4555 Retick stood mute before Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondero, who ordered the youth to stand trial.

Second Try Successful for Suicide

LANCASTER, Calif. (UPI) — Sheriff's detectives said a man identified as John Birmingham, 52, tried to commit suicide yesterday by jumping in front of a train not far from his home at nearby Rosamond.

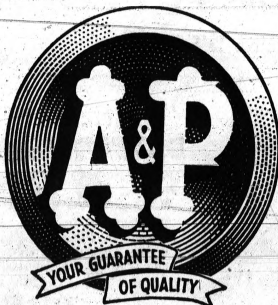

That attempt failed, investigators said, but a few hours later he succeeded in a similar attempt near this desert community northeast of Los Angeles.

A 17-year-old boy who had picked Birmingham up as a hitchhiker said Birmingham saw a train approaching and yelled: "Stop the car! I want to jump in front of the train."

The boy tried to persuade Birmingham to stay in the car, but he said the man jumped from the moving auto and hurled himself into the path of the Southern Pacific freight train.

The train's wheels severed his body.

Red Claims Job Moving Hurts Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet planning official says that workers quitting one job and moving to another are costing the country 100 million working days and $8.6 billion a year.

Personnel turnover was running as high as 80 per cent a year in some plants and averaged 20 to 25 per cent in Siberia, said S. Batsychev of the State Committee for Professional Technological Training in an article in the Literary Gazette. Soviet workers were freed of rigid laws binding them to their jobs May 11, 1956. Premier Khrushchev hinted last year that new laws might have to be passed once again restricting workers' rights to change jobs if the situation worsened.

Effect of Viet Coup Should Be Felt by Easter

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The full impact of South Viet Nam's military coup on the anti-Communist war here is expected to show itself by Easter, U.S. officials said today.

Defense authorities reported on Tuesday a "moderate favorable trend in the morale and determination" of South Vietnamese troops in the two weeks since the overthrow of the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

But they said there is no basis for judgment yet on whether the ousting of the Diem government has altered the complexion of the war to suppress Communist guerrillas.

Knowledgeable officials told The Associated Press that the pattern should become clear by Easter—after about six months.

Critics had contended South Viet Nam could not win against the Communists until the Diem government was replaced by leaders more responsive to the needs of the country's 14 million people.

There have been suggestions that the United States had a hand in the overthrow, but defense officials replied with a terse, "no," when asked whether they had any advance knowledge that the coup was coming.

A top ranking group of U.S. officials will go to Honolulu next week for a one-day meeting with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. Paul D. Harkins, U.S. commander in South Viet Nam, in an effort to assess the impact so far on the war against the Reds.

Leading the Washington post to the Nov. 20 conference will be Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, presidential aide McGeorge Bundy and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Defense experts said the Communists apparently were unaware of the coup for about 72 hours and thus did not take advantage of the situation.

This was blamed on what officials said was their poor communications and command and control channels.

In the backwash of the coup, these authorities said, there was a considerable upsurge in Communist activity, but of a diffused nature.

Operations of the South Vietnamese army fell off about 30 per cent during the three or four days of the rebellion which was centered in Saigon, authorities said.

Since then, however, the Vietnamese army has resumed its offensive and the level of activity has crawled back up to what it was last summer, defense officials said.

Actor's Body Found After 8-Day Search

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—"Forgive me, Hoss," I guess Connie meant more to me than I knew. I killed the only thing I ever loved. Give all our well meaning friends the best. And tell them I'll meet them in hell."

This note, to an unidentified "Mike Quinn," was found on the body of actor Hugh D. Pryor, found Monday in the desert 55 miles north of Las Vegas, a bullet hole in his chest, a 22-caliber pistol in his hand.

Thus ended a manhunt begun eight days ago with the shooting of Mrs. Jacqueline Pryor — nicknamed Connie — at the home of friends in Pasadena, Calif.

Officers said the 32-year-old actress, after an argument with her husband last Tuesday at their Hollywood home, went to her friends' home. Pryor, 38, burned their home in his rage, then followed his wife to Pasadena.

'YOU'RE DEAD'
The friends said Pryor was further enraged when his wife refused to go with him. They said he told her: "Tonight I've burned all my bridges behind me. I burned my house, but you needn't worry about the cat. You're a dead woman."

Then he shot her twice in the head and once in the side, and fled, they told police.

He's Kind of Short, but Game

Prince Charles Near Fifteenth Birthday

LONDON (AP) — The Prince of Wales, heir to the British throne, will be 15 Thursday. He is definitely on the short side, but has one of the longest names and titles going.

In full it is: His Royal Highness Prince Charles, Philip Arthur George, knight of the Garter, Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, Duke of Cornwall, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick, Lord of Renfrew, Lord of the Isles, the Great Steward of Scotland.

Schoolmates and family call him Charlie.

NOT CHARLIE

The closest anyone has come to officially calling him Charlie was when his mother, Queen Elizabeth II, announced her first-born would be known as Charles.

To this, Princess Margaret is reported to have quipped: "From now on I suppose I'll be known as Charlie's aunt."

The Prince of Wales may be shorter than the average boy of 15, but he is growing fast at the tough Scottish school, Gordonstoun, where he is a sophomore. Gordonstoun students learn among other things to sail, navigate and rough it. It's no institution for effete young men.

NOT INTERESTED

For a while it appeared the future king was more interested in the arts than in rougher, more masculine pursuits.

At that period Charles excelled in painting, drawing and music. He even took an interest in cooking and baked several cakes.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS

That was about the time when plans to send Charles to Eton were shelved, and Gordonstoun was selected instead.

The prince is a good horseman, an excellent sailor and a fine shot with a gun.

CHERRY BRANDY

Last June, he hit the headlines when he was caught knocking back a cherry brandy in the bar of the Crown Hotel at Stornoway on the bleak Scottish island of Lewis. The incident received nationwide attention, and the majority of Britons probably smiled in sneaking approval.

Wherever he goes he is recognized, and people often wave to him. Invariably he waves back.

Charles is going to be a handsome young man. He has a great shock of hair. His eyes are as blue as a jay bird's back. His longer than average eyelashes contribute to his good looks.

HE GETS AROUND

At 15, the present Prince of Wales is not lost in the company of young ladies. But royal circles say there is definitely no one particular girl in his young life.

He is avidly interested in photography and cars. He is too at Windsor and Balmoral castles.

To older generations this should bring back nostalgic smiles. The last Prince of Wales doing the night clubs as a young man, liked to sit in with jazz bands. On the drums too.

TOUGHENING-UP PROCESS—England's Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, has been undergoing some rough training at Gordonstoun School in Scotland. Charles turns 15 Thursday. At left he is practicing his polo game, at right, he's in London.

Auto Jumps Curb, Rams, Kills Girl, 6

DETROIT (AP)—An automobile rammed over a curb and pushed over a six-year-old girl and injuring her two companions.

Killed was Vivian Williams. Hospitalized were Leon Boyd Jr., 7, and Tyrone Holloway, 6. Police said the youngsters were on their way home from school when they were struck by a car driven by Mrs. Lillian McFall, 55, of Detroit.

Sukarno Names Himself Premier of Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno named himself premier of Indonesia today, apparently to take tighter control of the day-to-day government operations.

Sukarno, who is president for life, revived the premier's post. It had been abolished in 1959 when Sukarno reimposed the 1959 constitution. The president also abolished the post of first minister, which had replaced the premiership in 1959 as the chief government post below the presidency. First Minister Djuanda Kartawidjaja died Nov. 7. His deputy, Dr. Johannes Leimena, had been acting first minister.

Pope John's Physician Succumbs at Age 81

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP)—Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini of Bologna, who treated Pope John XXIII during his fatal illness, died today. He was 81.

Pope John named him his personal physician last November, and he was with the pontiff through the final four days of crisis that preceded his death June 3.

Waterford Approves Retirement at 65

A policy calling for employee retirement at age 65 was adopted last night by the Waterford Township Board.

Youth Admits Fatal Alarm

'Only Rang Fire Box for Something to Do'

DETROIT (AP) — A court hearing was scheduled today for a 15-year-old boy who, police said, told of turning in a false alarm that figured in the death of a fireman because he "just wanted something to do."

The youth, Maurice Fountain, was picked up yesterday by a team of fire department arson squad agents. They called him out of his public school classroom.

The search started Saturday night when Fireman Albert J. Booth was killed and five other men were seriously injured in a collision between a fire truck and a private car on Detroit's East Side. The fire truck had been answering a false alarm.

Arson bureau agents said Fountain at first denied the offense, but admitted it in the presence of his school counselor.

PROBLEM BOY

Fountain was described as a "problem boy" by authorities.

Arson Bureau Capt. Lawrence F. Amprin said the boy gave details which confirmed information supplied by a companion. One detail, Amprin said, was that Fountain ran to the scene of the crash with companions, found one of the injured firemen having trouble breathing, and unbuckled his heavy fireman's coat to help the man.

Fountain was taken to the Wayne County Juvenile Home pending a preliminary hearing before Judge James H. Lincoln.

Capt. Amprin said he believed Fountain turned in the alarm as he and four companions were walking home from a neighborhood house party Saturday night. Amprin said Fountain lagged behind and pulled down the alarm, then ran up and didn't tell his companions. He said one youth told investigators he saw Fountain pull the alarm.

Fountain's foster father, Grover Lee Fountain, 58, a factory worker, said the boy is the son of his wife's niece and has lived with his family since he was four months old.

A report from the Wayne County Clinic for Child Study showed Fountain has been suspended from two schools during the past year for maladjustment.

Effective next Jan. 1, the retirement policy applies to all township employees excluding elected officials and members of boards or commissions.

It will immediately affect only one employee, Carl Walton, chief building inspector, is now 70 and will be required to retire when the policy becomes effective.

The retirement plan provides that an employee who reaches 65 may apply to the Township Board for extended employment until age 68.

RETIREE AT 81

Previously the township had no retirement age limitation.

Herbert McCulloch, an electrical inspector, retired last month at age 81.

In other business, the board authorized an increase of $1,000 in the annual retainer of Township Attorney Paul Mandel.

Trustee Loren Anderson cast the lone dissenting vote on the pay hike from $3,000 to $4,000, which he termed substantial.

MORE WORK?

Anderson questioned whether there would be an increase in the volume of required legal work to warrant the higher retainer. The added $1,000, not provided in the 1964 budget, will be taken from water department funds.

Most board members felt that Mandel's work load would increase substantially next year due mainly to pending water contracts.

The board also adopted a revised mileage allowance plan for employees who drive their own cars on township business.

A rate of 10 cents per mile was set for the first 400 miles driven in a month. The new policy specifies seven cents for the next 600 miles and five cents for over 1,000 miles per month.

The township had been paying a flat rate of eight cents per mile.

In other business, the board set Nov. 25 as the date for a street-light hearing for residents on Hatchery between Grandview and Airport.

Board members agreed to study the alleged downgrading of commercial property values on Dixie Highway at the request of Donald White, former trustee on the board and a real estate man.

White appeared at the meeting and said that values had slumped due mainly to a general poor appearance along Dixie.

Bishop, 101, Stops Age With a Law

DETROIT (AP) — Methodist Bishop Herbert Welch, who passed the century mark more than a year ago, has a philosophy about living to a ripe old age. He calls it the Welch Quadrilateral Law of Longevity.

Welch, attending the two-day national council of the Methodist bishops in Detroit, put it this way: "First, moderation in work whenever circumstances permit; second, a prohibition of worry; third, a little play; and fourth and most important, a trust in God."

Welch, born on Nov. 7, 1862 — the day President Lincoln relieved Gen. George McClellan of command of the Army of the Potomac in the Civil War — was ordained in 1890.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT

He served in numerous churches until 1905, when he was made president of Ohio Wesleyan College — now a university. He was made a bishop in 1916 and served in Seoul, Korea, and in Japan.

After 12 years in the Orient he was named bishop of Pittsburgh, then bishop of Shanghai and Central China.

He retired in 1936, but was recalled to serve as bishop of Boston for four years before retiring for the second time.

"I thought I had it made this time," he said, "but they made me chairman of the Methodist Overseas Relief Committee. I made my final retirement in 1948."

Asks NASA Center in South State

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) was invited yesterday by University of Michigan President Harlan Hatcher to locate a proposed $50-million electronics research center in southeastern Michigan.

In a letter to Francis B. Smith at NASA's Langley Research Center at Hampton, Va., Hatcher said the U. of M. will submit a proposal next month outlining reasons why the center should be located in Michigan.

Smith is head of a NASA survey committee which will consider sites for the center.

Hatcher said the U. of M. proposal will "detail the uniqueness of the state's university-industrial research activity, the concentration of educational facilities — particularly at the graduate level — the excellence of transportation and communications and the competence and the experience of our engineers and scientists."

Hatcher added that a site visit would be welcomed.

Southerners have good reason for preferring turnip greens to spinach. Department of Agriculture people say turnip greens lead spinach in most nutrients.

MISSING COED—Judith Williamson of Albany, Calif., has been missing since Oct. 29 when she left home on a bus for the Berkeley campus. The FBI has joined the case. Her umbrella was found in the next county.

66 Candidates Begin State Police Training

EAST LANSING (AP)—State police enrolled 66 candidates for trooper training at the East Lansing headquarters yesterday with graduation scheduled Jan. 8.

Graduation of the new trooper class is expected to bring state police close to their authorized strength of 1,159. The troopers will take six months of field training following graduation.

Hoffa, 7 Others to Face Court

CHICAGO (UPI) — Federal Court Judge Richard B. Austin yesterday set Feb. 3 for the trial of Teamster President James R. Hoffa and seven other men on charges of fraudulently conspiring to obtain $20 million in loans from the union pension fund.

Austin denied a defense motion for dismissal of the charges on grounds that the government was subjecting Hoffa to "unnecessary delay, harassment, embarrassment . . . and the humiliation and stigma of wrongdoing which is being held over his head . . ."

Austin's action came as the U.S. Supreme Court was rejecting at Washington a Hoffa appeal and clearing the way for his trial on a Tennessee jury tampering charge.

The eight men are also accused of diverting $1 million from the Teamsters' Central States Pension Fund for their own use.

Boat Proves Author Has Midas Touch

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Leonard Wibberley, a writer of the adventurous sort, dived down for a look at the sunken 55-foot yawl he had just purchased for salvage.

"She was trying to sail, sitting there on the bottom, with the sea for a wind," said Wibberley. "She went down with all her sails set, and they were billowing out from the current."

"In a rage of sentiment, we said, 'Let's raise her.'"

Wibberley spoke squatting on

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS SPECIAL REPORT

the deck of the yawl Emerald as she floated proudly in King Harbor, the injuries that sank her patched, and the promise in the wind that she is soon to sail again.

SALVAGED SHIP
How Wibberley and three other amateur ship salvagers bought a 55-foot yacht for $500—and raised and saved her—is a lesson for anyone who thinks sentiment a poor guide to investment.

But it probably surprised Wibberley less than anyone else. He has had his share of luck, and knows exactly how it is made.

Nine years ago he quit his job as a newspaperman and waited for his novel, "The Mouse That Roared," to sell. It was an improbable tale of a tiny European principality's war victory over the United States.

"I had been out of work about three months, and the neighbors, without my knowledge, were slipping groceries into the house," Wibberley recalled. "Then it sold for $29,000. We quickly called together all the neighbors and had a wonderful party."

50 BOOKS

Since then Wibberley has written more than 50 books, grown a luxurious beard, expanded his family to six children, and bought two yachts.

On one, a 40-footer, he plans to sail with his family next year to the South Pacific. The other is the resurrected yawl, the Emerald.

She went down one Friday last June when a heavy surge pushed her into the King Harbor breakwater off Redondo Beach. The passengers stepped off onto the breakwater as the yawl slipped down in 50 feet of water.

The insurance company was anxious to sell her—for two reasons: anyone buying her would assume the responsibility for her, and professional salvagers thought it would cost most of the $20,000 for which she was insured to try and bring her up.

PRETTY BOAT

Wibberley and three skindivell and Don Siverts, bought her for $500, on the bottom, and planned just to break her up for salvage until they went down and saw how pretty she looked.

The Emerald is a sturdily built old J. Murray Watts design laid down in San Francisco in 1924. She would cost $50,000 to reproduce today. Her teak toping friends, Bob and Bill Meislre and oak ribs weren't hurt by the water, but she had to be brought up quickly.

Wibberley, 48, is an amateur skindiver; his associates run a skindiving shop. It was Bill Meislre who thought of a skindivers' solution. "Let's hang inner tubes on her," he said,

"and fill them with air from scuba tanks."

They bought 140 used inner tubes for $1 each and spent three days diving down, using oxygen units for their own air, filling the tubes with air from similar tanks.

"It took 250 bottles of air," said Meislre. "Then, the Tuesday after she sank, Bob and I were down on the deck, filling tubes, when it began to gradually get lighter. Suddenly the water disappeared and we were on the surface, looking at each other in amazement."

It cost them $4,700 for shipyard repairs to the damaged planking. They spent more on a 100 h.p. diesel engine, and will probably have $12,000 invested by the time the interior paneling is replaced. "We've already been offered $17,500 for her," said Meislre.

Salisbury Steak Recipes Piled High

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

I knew you'd come through! From the time the paper came out on Friday until the present writing, I've been literally deluged with recipes for Salisbury Steak.

Many thanks to all who took the trouble to find a recipe and send or call it in. I was interested that several of you said you had searched through as many as 25 cookbooks.

A reader from Auburn Heights told me we had published a recipe for Salisbury Steak a few years ago in a syndicated column from the Associated Press food editor. The origin of the name was given at that time.

In late Victorian days a Salisbury-chopping machine was used to grind meat and other foods. Evidently someone ground up some beef, made it into patties and invented Salisbury Steak. It is NOT simply hamburger patties as some cookbooks insist.

Naturally, there were duplications in recipes! Below you'll find four different ways of making Salisbury Steak.

And I'll be calling all of you for one of your favorite recipes for the regular recipe column.

Again, my thanks.

SALISBURY STEAK
By Mrs. Richard E. Jacobs
1 1/4 pounds ground beef chuck or rump
1 1/4 teaspoons salt
dash of pepper
2 teaspoons grated onion
1 egg, beaten melted butter or margarine
Combine all ingredients except

Other Cuts of Beef

When buying beef, remember that a steer is not all steak. Of the 455 pounds of retail cuts, only 14 per cent are the most popular steaks — Porterhouse, T-bone, club and sirloin. Another 10 per cent is round steak. Eight per cent of the beef carcass is rib roast or steak, and 5 per cent is rump roast. The chuck accounts for 19 per cent of the carcass while 24 per cent is made into ground beef, stew meat and other miscellaneous cuts.

Ever add minced green onions (scallions) to hamburger beef?

cept butter or margarine, mixing thoroughly but lightly.

On a greased shallow baking pan mold the meat in the shape of an oblong or oblong steak, making it about 1 1/4 inches thick, squaring edges. Brush top and sides with melted butter and place in 450-degree oven.

Bake 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake an additional 25 minutes. Brush with butter once or twice during baking. Slide carefully onto hot platter, using pancake turner. Slide carefully onto hot platter, using pancake turner. Serve with tomato sauce or more melted butter.

Ernie Spencer submitted the following recipe, saying it had been used in a local restaurant at one time.

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1 beaten egg
3 slices white bread
1 can (No. 2) tomatoes
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper
1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Dip bread in water and squeeze it out tightly, then break into small crumbs.

Combine all ingredients and form into patties. Broil 5-7 minutes on each side and serve with gravy made from condensed mushroom soup.

This may be baked with the mushroom soup at 350 degrees for 40-45 minutes.

Number three comes from a Clay County Arkansas cook book
1 1/2 pounds lean ground beef
1/2 pound lean ground pork
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup rolled oats
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 cup milk or tomato juice

Mix all ingredients and form into 8 patties. Brown in hot fat. Remove meat from skillet and add 2 tablespoons flour to fat. Mix until smooth, then add 1 cup water, 1 bouillon cube and 1/2 cup dry sherry (optional). Return meat patties to sauce and simmer over low heat until done.

And finally a quickie that uses canned mushroom gravy
1 1/2 pounds ground beef chuck
1/2 cup soft bread crumbs, soak in 3/4 cup milk
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon finely grated onion

Mix and form into patties. Broil until done and serve with canned mushroom gravy.

Stuffed Onions Are Savory

When a simple main dish such as hamburgers or frankfurters is on the menu agenda, give it a lift by serving "Savory Stuffed Onions." Ripe olives, cheese and perky seasoning turn the onions into a gourmet delight.

When serving ripe olives on a relish tray, roll them lightly in salad or olive oil to make them glisten.

Savory Stuffed Onions

1/2 cup ripe olives
6 large onions
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash thyme
Dash black pepper
Dash cayenne pepper
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
1/2 cup grated American cheese

Cut olives into small pieces. Peel onions and boil in salted water until tender; drain and hollow out centers. Mix olives, bread crumbs, seasonings and butter. Chop centers of onions and add to olive mixture. Fill onions with mixture; place in baking pan and top with cheese.

Bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 10 to 15 minutes, or until lightly browned on top and cheese is melted. Makes 6 servings.

LAMB SHANKS — Lamb Shanks... one of the featured cuts in the presentation given by the American Lamb Council for food editors attending the recent annual food editors' conference.

Rich and savory, Lamb Shanks Canterbury is a hearty, economical dish that's as delicious to eat as it is colorful and attractive to serve.

Inexpensive Lamb Shanks Are Marinated First in Wine

"The said the knights of King Arthur's Roundtable feasted on the best the land had to offer. But even the more sumptuous could not compare with every day fare Americans enjoy today. Like lamb, for instance.

When you bring the lamb home from the market, remove the paper, place the meat on a plate and cover the top loosely with a piece of waxed paper. This allows air to circulate around the lamb.

Pre-packaged meat from the self-service counter may be kept as it is if it will be stored no longer than two days. This is the recommended storage time for all cuts. However, ground lamb should always be used within twenty-four hours after you have purchased it.

Lamb can be frozen for a short time, up to two weeks, in its pre-packaged wrapping but, if you wish to store it longer in a regular freezer, wrap it closely in moisture-vapor-proof paper such as freezer paper or aluminum foil. The freezer temperature is always below zero degrees Fahrenheit and can be kept for six to seven months.

If you wish to freeze chops or patties, place waxed paper, or pieces of foil between the meat slices so that they will be easier to separate for cooking. Then wrap the whole package with aluminum foil or special freezer paper.

It is best to let smaller cuts of lamb thaw before cooking but larger cuts like roasts can be cooked as they come from the freezer. Use the low temperature recommended for all meat cookery and just remember to allow a longer cooking period for frozen cuts.

Nutritionally, lamb is an excellent source of high quality body-building protein... rich in minerals and B-vitamins so valuable for good health. But it's lamb's delicious flavor that makes it such a universal favorite the year-round.

Meaty, lean lamb shanks are reminiscent of that grand and glorious past—the Age of Chivalry. Lamb Shanks Canterbury is a dish worthy of a king's taste.

Lamb Shanks Canterbury
1 cup soy sauce
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup sherry wine
1/4 cup anise seed (tied in cheesecloth)

6 lamb shanks (about 1 pound each)
2 tablespoons salad oil
2 1/4 cups water
1/4 cup cornstarch
Hot cooked noodles or rice

Combine soy sauce, sugar, sherry and anise; pour over lamb and marinate overnight.

Drain lamb and brown on all sides in hot oil in large skillet; drain off drippings. Add marinade with spice bag; bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes. Add 3 cups of the water; cover and simmer 1 hour or until lamb is tender; remove lamb and keep warm.

Mix cornstarch with remaining 1/4 cup water; stir into skillet. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and boils one minute; remove anise. Serve lamb and sauce over noodles. Makes 6 servings.

Baked Onions

Count on medium-size onions baked in a covered casserole baking at least an hour in a moderate oven. You can add a little stock to the bottom of the baking dish and dot the onions with butter or margarine. Salt, pepper and paprika will make a trio of good seasonings.

This new kind of plastic food wrap clings but doesn't fight back.

Rolls out easily, cuts off clean. Seals in freshness like the expensive one, yet costs no more to use than wax paper.

ALHAMBRA, Calif. (U)—When Mr. and Mrs. Burns Baker Jr. saw their front yard sink into a subterranean hole over the weekend they didn't know what to think. There was the lawn—18 feet down.

"An old Indian or Spanish well, maybe?" they thought.

"Nope," said city officials yesterday. Just an old cesspool. And state law requires the Bakers to fill it.

Waterford Youths in County Custody

Two Waterford Township youths, who admitted stealing two cars last weekend before being apprehended by Monroe County sheriff's officers, yesterday were turned over to county juvenile authorities pending a hearing.

One of the two admitted being involved in some recent break-ins in Waterford Township, according to police who brought the youths back from Monroe.

The pair stole a car last Friday night in Royal Oak, then stole another near Monroe the next day when the first developed engine trouble, according to police.

Monroe sheriff's officers apprehended them in the second stolen car after a chase at high speed.

Reasonable Exchange Sought

City-County Unit Explores Airport Trade

A city-county subcommittee toured Pontiac Municipal Airport yesterday to see what the city has to offer in a proposed swap of the facility for county-owned property in Pontiac.

No decision was reached. Members of the subcommittee agreed to explore further the possibility of a trade at their next meeting. Subcommittee Chairman Robert F. Jackson is to set the date for the meeting.

Meanwhile, airport manager Homer Hoskins was to produce some figures representing the city's investment in the airport in Waterford Township.

City Commissioner Charles Harmon, a member of the subcommittee, said earlier the commission would be willing to turn the airport over to the county in a reasonable exchange.

WIDER RESPONSIBILITY—He said the airport, which was established "due to the foresight of city commissioners as far back as 1926," should become a county responsibility because it is serving a much wider area than the city.

City officials say the city is unable to invest several million dollars required for the future development of the airport, in accordance with a master plan based on the area's airport needs.

The need for a new, major north-south runway and an improved instrument landing system has been established by airport engineers.

Whether the county will agree to expand Pontiac Municipal Airport, or develop its own recently-acquired Allen Airport in Orion Township into a major terminal instead, remains to be seen.

AIRPORT NEEDS—The aviation committee of the County Board of Supervisors is preparing a study of future airport needs of the area in order to reach a decision.

The committee is scheduled to meet with the County Planning Commission Tuesday to continue laying groundwork for the study.

They hope to determine the scope of the study before placing it in the hands of engineering consultants.

County-owned property in Pontiac that could be involved in a trade for Pontiac Municipal Airport includes the former courthouse site at Saginaw and Huron, a five-story office building at 1 Lafayette, and 75 vacant acres in the northern sector of the city.

White Lake Market Fined for Violations—The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has fined a White Lake Township market a total of $200 for violations of two liquor laws.

The Pontiac Lake Market, 8240 Highland Road, was ordered to pay $150 for selling a minor and $50 for allowing an employee under 18 years of age to sell or deliver alcoholic beverages.

Area Doctor Killed as Car Strikes Truck

A West Bloomfield Township physician, Dr. Robert A. Anderson, was killed yesterday when his car struck a truck on M59 near Mount Clemens.

Anderson, 46, of 2388 Middle Belt, was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens, following the 3:14 p.m. accident just west of Orlando Road.

The truck driver, George W. Hurst, 48, of 341 Tecumseh, Clawson, told Macomb County sheriff's deputies that Anderson crossed over the center line and smashed into the side of his trailer. Hurst was not injured.

Anderson's body is at the Sawyer Funeral Home, Berkley.

Goldwater Sees Public Pressure Behind Foreign Aid Slashes

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater sees pressure from a "rather fed up" America behind congressional slashes in President Kennedy's foreign aid bill—and he thinks the cuts should be bigger.

But although the Arizona senator tied into the administration's aid program Tuesday night, he said he is taking Kennedy's advice on another subject: presidential politics.

Goldwater's Chicago outing was his first since New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller declared himself a candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Want to Buy FDR Yacht?

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — For sale: a 72-foot yacht, used by Franklin D. Roosevelt for "official inspections" of the state barge canal—with a few "non-political" speeches along the way.

Inspector II, a 38-year-old luxury vessel owned by New York State since 1930, has been declared surplus property. The conservative lawmaker said he still hasn't decided when state is advertising for bids and will sell it Nov. 20.

Roosevelt took several cruises on Inspector II during his second term as governor, 1930-32. FDR laughingly described the cross-state waterway trips as official inspections. It was his practice to stop at communities along the route to stump for his programs.

or whether he'll enter the race. He said Rockefeller's timing will have no impact on his own. Goldwater has set Jan. 27—the last day for filing in the Illinois presidential primary—as his deadline.

WON'T HURRY

"There's no need to hurry it up or slow it down," he said at a news conference.

"In fact," said Goldwater, "the best advice I've had on it came from President Kennedy. And he said don't get in too soon. So I go to the experts."

Goldwater told some 1,400 Chicago businessmen "the average American is rather fed up with foreign economic aid."

Price Is High on Freedom

SHEFFIELD, Ala. (AP) — A 40-foot leap to freedom Monday from the second floor of the city jail into a clump of bushes was too much for escapee Sherman Chappell, 40. He turned himself in Tuesday.

"Here I am, come and get me, and take me to a doctor,"

"What we see is a deliberate attempt by the Congress to reflect the attitude of the people,"

DEBATE BILL

The Senate is debating a bill authorizing $3.7 billion in foreign aid. Kennedy sought $4.5 billion.

In New York Friday, the President appealed to Congress not to scuttle his program "in an outburst of petty irritation and frustration."

he said. "It's often said we can see the light pretty quick, but it takes a while for us to feel the heat."

2 Lane Highway Begun

LANSING (U.S.—The State Highway Department has a started survey work on a 41.2-million project to build a two-lane highway from the east end of the I-75—Savoy Air Force Base in Marquette County to U.S. 41 south of Skandia. Work on the 7-mile stretch is scheduled to start late next year. It will be financed by Air Force funds.

Odd Forms of Candidate

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — The day of unemployed cabbies, retired street sweepers and other unknown winning elections simply through political flukes may yet dawn in Congress.

Revelations about conflict of interest in high places are producing a wave of revolution which could lead to voter demands for a "property test" for political candidates.

Since all but a handful of our present lawmakers refuse to divulge their net worth and investment portfolios, the electorate might respond by choosing only impoverished newcomers who, lacking even a bank account, are frank to admit it.

Being poor is no assurance of honesty, but some such drastic turnover in Congress might result in the passage of stringent laws requiring that the income taxes of government officials be made a matter of public record.

This correspondent has just returned from a two-week auto tour of the grassroots.

Practically everyone we met, on learning that we were from Washington, spoke angrily of the questions of ethics raised by the Bobby Baker case, the "how" of resigned Navy Secretary Fred Korth, of Texas, the disclosure that the late Senator Estes Kefauver while probing the drug industry was investing heavily in drug stocks, and other congressional shenanigans.

What, they wanted to know, has happened to "the land of the free and the home of the brave?"

There is little question but that the once bright "image" of Congress is badly tarnished. CAN'T UNDERSTAND

It is difficult for hard-pressed, heavily-taxed Joe Doakes to understand why a do-little, foot-dragging Congress, wracked by sex scandals and conflict-of-interest revelations, should even be thinking of a $10,000 annual pay increase for its members.

The fact that Bobby Baker was a protégé of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and an intimate of the late Senator Robert Kerr is prompting a rash of questions in the hamlets. The most frequently heard were these: "Is the Justice Department investigation of Baker and Texas Korth an attempt to 'get' Johnson? Has anyone probed the possible conflict-of-interest of Senator Kerr who, born to poverty and continuously in high public office his last twenty years, died a multimillionaire?"

Reds Arrest Family for Hoarding Goods

MOSCOW (AP)—Police in the Kazakhstan town of Uralsk have arrested a family found to be hoarding 30,000 rubles ($33,000) worth of goods, Lestvitsa reported today.

The report said the Korshak family had stockpiled up one ton of grain, one and a half tons of flour, 772 pounds of sugar, 148 pounds of butter, 631 lengths of cloth, 242 bedspreads, blankets and tablecloths, 65 women's dresses, 62 overcoats, dozens of pairs of shoes, 284 pieces of soap, 107 roofing tiles, 120 aluminum spoons and large quantities of cement.

"Was it any less ethical for Kefauver to buy drug stocks while investigating drug firms than for Kerr and other oil-rich lawmakers to vote for heavy oil depletion allowances on income taxes?"

STRING PULLING

"To what extent do legislators with private law firms and business interests pull strings for, and vote the interests of their clients?"

"Was Secretary Korth unusual in using executive department stationery to further the business of the bank from which he was on leave?"

"Why should Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz write letters asking lobbyists to buy $100 tickets to a reelection campaign dinner for Democratic Senator Harrison Williams?"

No one — let's face it — bankers for the kind of political fluke which sent to Congress Randall S. Harmon, a nonentity who then charged taxpayers for the front porch of his house, Indiana, however, as an "office."

It is obvious, however, that a man with no income other than his government salary is easier to keep tabs on than a man of substance, and voters gracefully

"retired" Harmon at the next election.

Senator Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., has made a step in the right direction by proposing that any congressional pay raise be conditioned by the requirement that service in Congress become a "full time job for both members and employees."

Keating also backs proposals by Democratic Senators Joseph Clark and Stephen Young requiring that legislators disclose their private wealth and business portfolios.

The "establishment" is almost solidly against such frankness, but the time may not be far off when irate voters will take matters into their own hands.

If, so, it may then be as hard for a money-loving rich man to get into Congress as into "The Kingdom of Heaven."

SUDS BURY SUDBURY — No, these aren't snowdrifts. They're piles of suds formed at the Old Grist Mill on grounds of famed Wayside Inn in Sudbury, Mass. The condition was blamed on household detergents draining into Hop Brook, then being aerated into suds by the mill, still used to grind flour.

Anybody Can Take a Shot at It

Try Virus Tennis; It's Catchin'

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — In case you hadn't noticed, the season of winter sports is almost upon us once again.

Snow, with a gay halo, a large segment of the population will be participating in skiing, bobbleheading, ice skating, curling, afternoon naps and that most popular of all winter games, virus tennis.

Evidence extracted from hieroglyphics — and from fossils of the Philocene period indicates that man has been playing some form of virus tennis since before the dawn of history.

And believe me it requires real dedication to begin playing before dawn.

IST WITH RULES
In view of these findings, I cannot properly claim to have invented virus tennis. I believe the record will show, however, that I was the first to formulate written rules of procedure, tactics and ethics.

It might fairly be said that I am to virus tennis what Abner Doubleday was to baseball. But I doubt anyone will say so.

In my household, we do not ordinarily hold our first virus tennis tournament until after Thanksgiving. This year, however, we opened the season early to accommodate my father, who recently came to visit us.

My father lives in a climate that is still rather balmy at this time of year. He mistook the brisk autumn weather here as a sign of winter and began clamoring for a game.

GUEST PASS

He being senior among us and a guest at that, it seemed only right that we permit him to throw out the first virus.

Pairings for the first round pitted my father against my 13-year-old daughter, who is the top-seeded player in my family. It was an interesting match.

Being an old-timer, my father does not play the so-called "big game" favored by the younger set. That is, he does not try to blow his opponent off the court.

He is, however, a dogged retriever and can come up with viruses that would pass right by the average player.

SHOT FOR SHOT

Once my daughter adjusted to his style of play she was able to match him shot for shot, which included one penicillin and two streptomycin.

My daughter then served to my wife, who lobbed a virus in my direction even though I had not planned to enter the tournament.

Sportsman to the end, I came out of retirement and engaged in a spirited match with my younger daughter, who is just learning the game but who has picked up a lot of pointers at school.

Before you could say "pneumonia," we were all in mid-season form. All except my 2-year-old son.

He is too young to play, so he acts as "virus boy." He chases all of the viruses that the other players miss.

Japan Student Wields Knife

NARA, Japan (AP) — An excited Japanese student carrying a fruit knife in his pocket jumped in front of West German President Heinrich Lübke today, shouting, "Take me back to Germany."

Japanese police grabbed the youth and he did not touch Lübke, who is on a state visit to Japan.

Police said the youth told them he planned to cut his own finger in a gesture of appeal to the president to help him get to Germany.

He was identified as Tsukasa Hagihara, 21, of Tenri University.

The incident occurred as Lübke was shaking hands with students who welcomed him to the Todaiji Temple in Nara. The president took no notice of the disturbance.

Northern, Central Ready for Clash

Rival Coaches, Students in Pep Talk at Luncheon

By JERE CRAIG
"All I can say is Central, we're ready!" the attractive young girl from Pontiac Northern told the gathering.

"I think you'll see one heck of a game," the slim Pontiac Central quarterback announced. The scene was the weekly Kiwanis Club luncheon at the Hotel Waldron Tuesday afternoon.

The program concentrated on Friday night's first annual grid meeting between Pontiac Northern and Pontiac Central at Wisner Stadium.

Speakers included PCH coach Paul Dellerba, Northern mentor Bob Dingman, team leaders Jerry Murphy of PCH and Don Weyer of PNH, and head cheerleaders Sharon Norberg of the Huskies and Carolyn Gaensbauer of the Chiefs.

The program was arranged by club member Louis Crew and Dr. Lee Haslinger of the Board of Education with the intent of encouraging interest in the intra-city clash and, also, good relations between the two schools.

STRESS IDEA

Both Weyer, a halfback at PNH, and Miss Gaensbauer, whose vivacious smile reflected the Central spirit, stressed the latter point in their brief talk to the members and guests.

"The students look up to the football team and follow the example of sportsmanship shown by the players," Weyer commented.

Miss Gaensbauer summed up this attitude with her closing remark: "A rivalry must be keen, but it must be friendly."

Both coaches were high in their praise of their own squads and the upcoming foe.

Northern's Dingman expressed pleasure with the ability of the Huskie team to bounce back from adversity and with its spirit.

He also added that his staff could do nothing but commend the spirit shown by PCH this season. Dingman concluded that spirit and enthusiasm probably will go a long way in deciding the big clash.

ENTHUSIASM

The Chiefs' coach Dellerba, after threatening to go "deer hunting" the night of the game, praised the PCH squad's determination and willingness to work despite a winless campaign to date.

He commended the PNH eleven on its power plays up the middle and its backfield speed.

Dingman of Northern later revealed his team has several minor injuries that may force some lineup changes for the contest at Wisner.

Game time is 8 p.m. Friday. Tickets are on sale at the two high school offices, Osman's Men's Wear and Northside Sporting Goods Store.

The advance tickets are $1.25 per adult and 75 cents per student. The advance sale will close at 5 p.m. Friday. The stadium ticket sales will begin at 6:30 p.m.; an increase of 25 cents per ticket will be in effect at the stadium.

The PCH student body is also expected to unveil its new cheer block section at the game. The group will dress alike and sit together behind the team bench and may perform as a unit during breaks in the action.

PROTECTS FLANK—Pontiac Central end Dave Houts will have the responsibility of keeping Pontiac Northern runners from circling his defensive left end position Friday night. The two teams will resume their intra-city rivalry at 8 p.m. on the Wisner Stadium turf.

Canadian Lass in Jump Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Gail Ross of Canada, up on Thunderbird, won the Grand Prix of New York—the final international jumping event—Monday night as the 80th edition of the National Horse Show wound up an eight-day run in Madison Square Garden.

West Germany, although not in the running in the Grand Prix of New York, cleaned up just about everything in the Garden except the hot dog stands. They won the team championship with 125 points to 72 for the United States, 63 for Canada, 27 for Ireland and 22 for Argentina.

Miss Ross, Bill Steinkraus of Noroton, Conn., the U.S. top rider, and the Hon. Diana Connelly-Carew of Ireland.

76ers Knock Off Ex-Philadelphia 5

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia fans gloated today over their National Basketball Association team's victory, although it came at the expense of an old Philadelphia favorite—the Warriors.

The Philadelphia 76ers—formerly the Syracuse Nationals—defeated the San Francisco—formerly Philadelphia—Warriors 106-102 Tuesday night in an overtime battle between transplants. It was the only game scheduled.

Hal Greer's short jump shot with 33 seconds left in the overtime proved to be the winning point, although Ben Warley sank two free throws in the final eight seconds for the 76ers.

Philadelphia had led by as much as 16 points in the regulation game but Warrior Willie Chamberlain, originally a Philadelphiaian, tied it up at the buzzer.

land, all went clean on the first round of the Grand Prix of New York, which involved 12 fences.

In the 10-barrier jumpoff, Miss Connelly-Carew, up on Barrymore, had 7½ faults—one refusal, one knockdown and one-half fault for going over the time limit of 45 seconds. Steinkraus, second out of the gate on Sinjon, clobbered the fifth jump, and he finished with four faults.

Then came Miss Ross on Thunderbird. They lost stride at one point and Thunderbird virtually scrambled over the jump. The odds made her 10 to 1 that they wouldn't make it. But they were clean and won the event.

TOP U.S. RIDER

Steinkraus was the leading U.S. rider with 20 points, finishing in a three-way tie for third with Tom Gayford of Canada and Miss Ross. Frank Chapot, Coach Bert Dene-mo's No. 2 rider, had 18 points. Bill Robertson of Dar-en, Conn., who did not ride in all the classes, had eight points and Mary Mairs of Pasadena, Calif., had six.

Forward Pass Gains Favor on College Grids

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's major college football teams have passed a milestone—statistics show they are making more than 40 per cent of their yardage with the forward pass for the first time in history.

Statistics released today by the NCAA showed the colleges averaging 40.1 per cent of their yardage on passes. The previous high mark was 39.6 per cent last season.

Utah State continued to lead the nation in total offense with a 40.3 per game average and also topped the scoring lists at 35.3 points a game. Nebraska was the rushing leader, with 278 yards per game. Tulsa slipped past Baylor into first place in passing, with 233.3 yards per game.

Fighting Irish Aided Mich. State Coffers by Renewing Series

EAST LANSING (AP)—The fortunes of football make Duffy Daugherty favored to beat up an old buddy when Michigan State plays Notre Dame here Saturday.

The ties between the two universities always have been close—particularly since Notre Dame agreed to start scheduling MSU again in 1948. This gave State a big money lift in its ambitious stadium, expansion program.

The two teams previously had not played since 1921, when the Irish won 48-0.

Michigan State has won 10 of 13 games since the modern series revival, including the last seven in a row. The most recent Irish win was by a narrow 20-19 score in 1954.

The Spartans now have vaulted the fourth ranking nationally on a 5-1-1 record. Notre Dame, with a 2-5 mark, has dropped out of sight in the national standings.

Whenever news was dull, a lot of sports writers would find a story by reviving the rumor that Irish Daugherty might jump to take the head coaching job at Notre Dame.

This persistent report has been killed by the announcement that Daugherty has been guaranteed the MSU head coaching job for at least another five years.

Michigan State can't help but be looking over its shoulder Saturday while taking on Notre Dame at Spartan Stadium. MSU, the conference leader, has to mark time in the Big Ten this week before meeting Illinois in the season's finale.

The two teams chasing MSU have conference games this Saturday—Illinois with Wisconsin and Ohio State with Northwestern.

BEST RUSHER

Bill Wukli, a sophomore halfback from Muskegon, is the best rusher for the Irish with 298 yards. Marty Oleksy, a senior linebacker from Flint who plays both guard and tackle, won't be able to perform because of a knee injury.

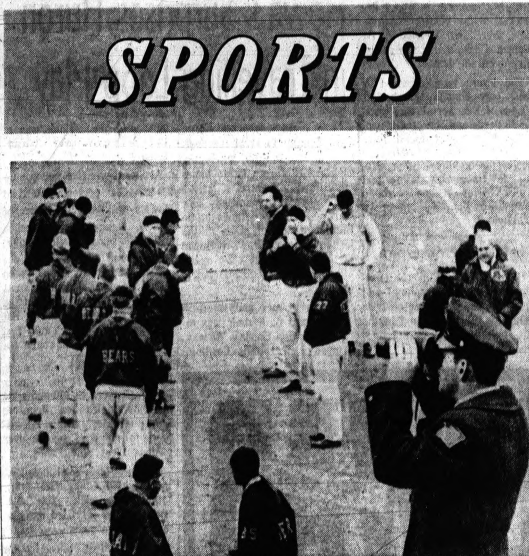

Irish advance man Charlie Callahan reported that coach Hugh Devore, has particular respect for Michigan State fullback Roger Lopes and halfback Sherm Lewis.

"Our scouts tell us that Michigan State will be the best running club we've met this season," Devore was quoted as saying.

Michigan State was at top physical strength after Joe Begeny threw off a knee sprain picked up against Purdue. Begeny plays linebacker and also occasionally spells Lopes at fullback.

Cool Weather Ace

The cool weather did not discourage the golfing founders of the Detroit Golf Club, Ray Gantley, Joe Koren and Bob Willis last week at Bald Mountain. Willis particularly enjoyed it when he ached the 172-yard 14th hole during a round of 36.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE?—When the Chicago Bears worked out at Wrigley Field yesterday for this Sunday's important National Football League clash with the Green Bay Packers, there was a strange figure observing the workout. The binoculars and "uniform" indicate a possible spy; but is he spying for the Packers or is he looking for Packers agents hidden around the ball park?

Packers Given Edge by Chicago Coach

CHICAGO (UPI)—George Halas' view of his Chicago Bears game against the Green Bay Packers Sunday was bleak today from every angle except the final result.

"We can win," he said, "but the odds are against us."

"We must play our best game of the season, and much better than we did in our first game with them, when we played our best game previously this year. We've got to have an even greater effort Sunday."

The Packers and Bears share first place in the Western Division of the National Football League, each with an 8-1 record, but the Packers have an eight game winning streak following their 10-3 defeat by the Bears in the season opener.

"They're a better ball club than they were at the beginning of the season," Halas said.

"We've seen films of their last two ball games, but I expect them to come up with something new, and I don't know what it will be."

Halas shunned comment on whether the Bears were a better team now than for their first meeting with Green Bay, but he said that with Ronnie Bull, Willie Gailmore and Charlie Byrnes all ready for action at the running halfback spot, the Bears might have some opportunities for surprise too.

LAUDS FORT

"Let's not build up our great strength," he said.

"The Packers have the edge on past performance. They've won two straight championships. They've beaten us five of the last six games. That's an indication of their over-all strength."

"And psychologically, they'll be promoted emotionally for their best performance of the season because they want to prove that our beating them the first time was a mistake."

Halas' only rosy thought was that the Bears would be at their healthiest point of the season for the match. But Halas feared the worst. "Any mistake can have a bearing on the outcome of the game," he said, "let's as well as ours. But this game, while it's the most important one we've played so far, isn't the whole season."

'Gip' Spirit Missing in Irish Camp—Leahy

By The Associated Press
"Win this one for the Gipper!"

What's that? That's what's wrong with Notre Dame football, says former coach Frank Leahy.

The volatile Leahy blamed the present-day Notre Dame football players for taking the spirit of the Gipper out of the Fighting Irish, in a talk at a quarterback club in Daytona Beach, Fla., after watching Pittsburgh "humiliate" Notre Dame 27-7 last Saturday.

"The spirit of Notre Dame, the tradition of Knute Rockne, the Four Horseman, George Gipp . . . were treasures at South Bend," said Leahy. "One reason for it was that those boys genuinely desired to represent the Fighting Irish and their fans."

"It was completely selfish. There was no personal glory, no personal aggrandizement."

"For some reason, that feeling does not exist today."

Gipp is one of Notre Dame's legends. He was a great football player and a great team leader.

In a typical performance, against Army in 1920, he accounted for 124 yards rushing, 96 passing and 112 running back kicks. He was named to the All-America team.

Gipp's love for the game was so great that it cost his life. In 1920, on the verge of pneumonia, he left a sick bed to play against Northwestern. Notre Dame won 33-7. A few weeks later, at the age of 23, Gipp was dead.

LEFT LEGACY

By Gipp left coach Rockne a legacy.

Before he died he told Rockne to tell the team, "sometime when the going is really tough to win just one for the Gipper."

In 1928, Rockne did. And Notre Dame beat Army 12-6.

Leahy admits he doesn't know why that spirit has vanished from Notre Dame.

"I plain don't know the answer, except that they are probably not in the best shape," he said. "They are getting beaten in the second half. Physically, they leave a lot to be desired."

Michigan End Out of Action

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Another of Michigan's sophomore football players has been lost for the remainder of the season.

End Jeff Hoyne of Chicago, injured last Saturday's upset victory over Illinois, is recovering from knee surgery at University hospital.

The Wolverines will miss Hoyne, who is listed as the number two right end behind Bill LaFrance.

Before the season started, the Wolverines lost one of their most exceptional prospects when halfback Rick Sygar suffered a broken leg in a practice session.

The loss of Hoyne means more playing time for sophomores Tom Mack and Steve Smith who move up in Michigan's plans as the Wolverines prepare for Saturday's Big Ten Game with Iowa.

Bandits Take Touch Crown in 12-6 Win

The Motor Mart Bandits climaxed an unbeaten season last night by clinching the Parks and Recreation Department's Men's Touch Football League title with a 12-6 verdict over the Misfits.

Two first-half touchdown tosses by Bill Herrington produced the win.

On the winners' first play from scrimmage, the quarterback tossed to Dan Dropps on a 30-yard play for six points. The Bandits had received a short punt to set up the score.

Paradoxically, the Bandits only had one more chance with the ball in the opening period while the Misfits had it for eight plays.

Midway through the second quarter, Herrington connected with Tommy Dabbs for a 15-yard scoring play.

Dabbs took the second half kickoff to the Misfits 15-yard line, but Earl McKee intercepted a pass at the one-yard line to kill the threat.

The losers then drove for their only six-pointer. A Pat May-to-McKee aerial was good for 15 yards and the touchdown. The Misfits threatened later but the hand-charging defensive line of the Bandits—Steve Szabo, Mel Nuss, Ray White and Chuck Graves—kept too much pressure on their foes' offensive backfield.

Lefties in Golf Open

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI)—More than 100 professional and amateur golfers will tee off here today for the first round of the 72-hole National Left-handed Open.

MAYBE NEXT—Stan Kurzman eyes a poster depicting past Bowlerama hand-picked and actual champions with thoughts that maybe he can fill a spot left vacant for 1963. Kurzman could be a strong contender for the Actuals Invitational title since he bowled a 729 actual series last week, the highest in Bowlerama history. Kurzman entered the competition with a 195 average from last season.

Howe's Surprises Huron in Travelling Loop Play

Howe's Lanes surprised Huron Bowl Sunday to steal the spotlight in the Pontiac Travelling Classic League's visit to Montclair Bowling Centre.

The defeat permitted slow starting Primrose Lanes to tie Huron for fourth place in the league. Idle 300 Bowl remained in first place with a 3-0 mark, although having two matches to make up.

Airway Lanes and Wonderland Lanes built their logs to 5-1 with win Sunday. Airway topped Fairgrounds Bowling, 12-6, and Wonderland was a 13-4 winner over Sylvan Lanes.

Al Swansey's five points on a 220-223-634 performance led Howe's to its 12-10 upset of Huron. It was only the second win of the season for the former, while Huron lost its second.

Tom Augello's four points on a 223-214-617 showing almost offset Swaney's efforts, but the latter had support from Hal DeLongchamp (210) and Ron Rothbarth (211) that made the margin.

DUAL THREAT
Ivan Craycraft's 216 and a 214 by Ed Angles led Primrose Lanes (formerly Dixie Recreation) to an 11-4 success over winless West Side Lanes.

Airway had good balance, too, as Ed Gibbs (225-618), Jim Kirkpatrick (222) and Bob Hudson (212) led the win over Fairgrounds.

Wonderland was paced by Jim Sherwood's four points on 202-228-621. Roy Moore earned a bonus point with a 213 game; while Chuck Williams bowled 215 for the losing Sylvan team.

The other match saw host Montclair fall to Cooley Lanes, 12-7, despite a 228 by young Tom Mayes. Jack Ashton had 222 and four points for the winners, and Ron Pennell had a 219 and Vince Spencer a 215 for the victorious side.

The circuit travels to Howe's Lanes this week to begin action on Sunday.

BOWLING

A 667 by Al Kopitzki led the way in the Northwood Lanes Senior House League last Thursday. He hit games of 245 and 213 in his series.

Birmingham Drug, however, took three points from Kopitzki's team to remain a point behind league leading Michigan Machine Rebuilders.

Joe Kiley's 253 was the top game and helped Torrence Oil to a victory.

Last week in the Ball and Chain Mixed League at Auburn Lanes Bonnie Stuckard rolled a 231 game and 555 series.

The Lake Orion Men's "A" circuit at Royal Recreation last week posted a 687 (258-230) for Gail Brown, and Edward Martin rolled 226-211-646.

John Casper's 232-616 was tops last Wednesday afternoon in the Pontiac Central High School Bowling League at West Side Lanes. Susan Cox had 201-523 among the girls.

In West Side Lanes' Independent Ladies League that same night, Laura Gilbreth bowled 230 and Mary Robertson had 241-821.

At Airway Lanes the Airway Kings & Queens loop's Fred Brocius' 240-561 and Mable Bush's 209-512 topped the league action last Friday. Turkey winners included Brocius, Bob Sutton, Bill Cody, Marley Wilton and Joe Filka.

The Eagles Travelling League made its once a month appearance at Airway last Sunday. Mert Aemisegger of the Rochester Eagles No. 1 team led the participants with 613.

Another Elizabeth (Vallins) rolled a 541 in the Huron Bowl Friday afternoon Ladies Matinee. Viola Rolse had 519.

In last week's Rolling Pin League action at Huron, Mary Wood came up with a 514. Shirley Grulke had a 214-517 duo and Beatrice Hudson came in with 204-623 totals in the Huron Hi-lo's circuit.

HOWE'S TRIO
A couple of near matching triplets were in the news at Howe's Lanes recently. Dan Somerville posted a 156 trio for See's Extinguisher team in the Dixie All Star League.

A makeup match Sunday for the Howe's Friday Mixed League saw Jack Topham roll a 158 threesome.

Jim Debow's 210-244-624 led the Dixie All Stars last week. Chris Nicholas had 221-223 in the Dixie League and came back with 211 for high game in the Monday Night Men's Doubles last week.

Dorothy Hawn's 205-561 was high in the Ladies Doubles Classic and Jo Gohl had 203-548.

Leaders Seek Halt to Skid

The Wolverine Entertainers will be striving to prevent any further backsliding in the Huron Bowl Wednesday Nite "A" League when action resumes tonight.

They will meet the fourth place Team No. 14 tonight after having their lead trimmed to six games last week. Mike Samardis Jr. had 297-671 but it couldn't prevent the Entertainers slipping for the second straight week.

Mike Bowers of Tempin Barber Shop led the action with a 588 series. Joe Foster had a 683 for Triple XXX.

200-Pounder Leads Press Contest

Deer Season Slows Production

The state's economy has started to slow.

Deliveries to construction sites are taking longer and many will cease altogether by the week end. Automobile production, setting records almost daily, will slacken.

The productivity of Southern Michigan will definitely decline by this weekend. Northern Michigan will become a boom area.

Before anyone in this sector begins to worry about a recession they should understand that this is an annual malady.

It's deer hunting time and about 250,000 hunters will be in the woods Friday. This number will swell to around 400,000 over the weekend is over.

EARLY OPENER

The vanguard went into the western Upper Peninsula last Saturday for the first of Michigan's two opening days. For those who failed to down a deer, there will be Friday's second opening day in the remainder of the state.

Others who have been biding their time waiting for the season below the Straits started north yesterday and today. The army will swell as the week progresses with the heaviest concentrations going forth Saturday.

The harvest is expected to be good. Conservation Department officials are predicting a kill of around 90,000 with 80,000 being bucks before the season ends Nov. 30. Holders of antlerless deer permits are expected to take the rest of the total.

The Pontiac Press' annual Big Deer Contest is off to a big start.

The first entry and leader was a 200-pound buck taken at 11 a.m. Sunday by James Krouse, 2377 Bloomfield, near Chatham in the Upper Peninsula.

All residents of the county are eligible to compete for the $150 in savings bonds which are awarded to the hunter entering the heaviest buck.

All entries must be weighed on state approved scales. The weight slip must contain the signature of the person weighing the deer, a witness and the hunter. The buck must be brought to The Press.

Pictures will be taken of all new leaders and deer with unusually large antlers.

Krouse, who is handicapped by the loss of one arm, downed his deer with 180-grain bullet from a 30-06.

"I was sitting when the buck came running into the clearing," Krouse related. "For some reason he stopped in the middle and I dropped him."

FOG, RAIN, SNOW

Upper Peninsula hunters have been bothered by fog, rain and snow. The snow they want, but the other two elements have been more prevalent.

Temperatures have been averaging 10 degrees above normal above the Straits.

Calls Shot; Takes First in Contest

For two straight pheasant seasons Perc Secord has called his shots on large roosters.

The Pontiac barber, said, a year ago: "I've spotted a new leader for your contest; I'll bring him in one of these days."

Secord, a noted table tennis player, was good to his word. A few days later he entered a 3-pound 10-ounce ringneck that led the contest for a couple of days.

A week ago Tuesday he commented while clipping hair:

"There's another large bird where I like to hunt. I think I'll go out and get him tomorrow and win The Press contest."

On Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 4 p.m. Secord downed a 3-pound, 14-ounce bird that proved to be the heaviest entered in this year's contest. It was also the lightest winner in the last six years.

UNDERESTIMATED

"I don't think he's (pheasant) big enough to win," said Secord when he entered it last Thursday.

The large bird was taken near the intersection of Brown and Giddings roads northeast of Pontiac. He shot last year's brief leader in the same area.

A $50 savings bond will be awarded to Secord.

Andrew Thorpe of Oxford bagged a 40½-inch ringneck the second day of the season west of Oxford and this entry was never seriously challenged.

Thorpe will receive a $25 bond for entering the longest ringneck.

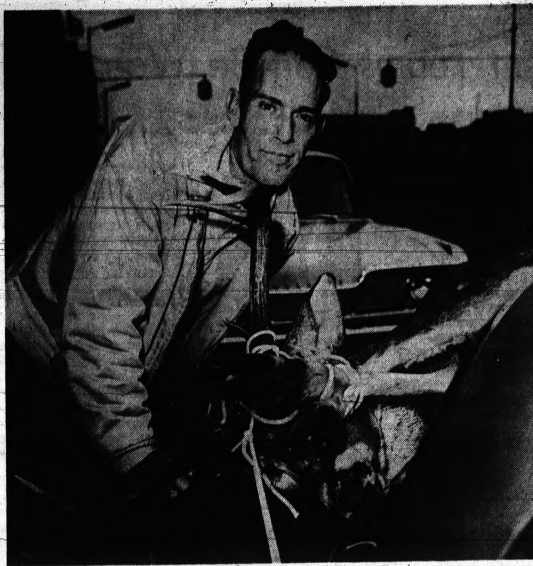

Lower Michigan is going through what the Upper Peninsula received last weekend. The weathermen haven't been able to determine what will await hunters Friday through Sunday and later.

National forest rangers, who are in the field constantly, list the Udall Hills near Manistee and the Malby Hills between Rose City and Minn as two of the better places for deer in the northern LP.

Oakland County will feel strong hunting pressure this weekend.

Pontiac Press Photo

FIRST ENTRY — James Krouse, 2377 Bloomfield, became the first deer hunter to enter a buck in this year's Pontiac Press Big Deer Contest yesterday when he checked in with this 200-pounder taken near Chatham in the Upper Peninsula Sunday morning. The nine-point rack has a 22½-inch spread, but only weight is used to determine the contest winner.

White Tail Survey Set

The Conservation Department is asking deer hunters to cooperate in its surveys during the firearm seasons.

One way they can do this is by pulling into the department's roadside biological checking stations for a few minutes to have their deer examined.

Each hunter's deer will be aged and studied for various factors, including antler development, to aid in forming a general picture of the herd's physical condition this year.

These checks will also reflect range conditions and pinpoint trouble areas where whitetails are short of food.

The department's roadside stations will be located at the Straits of Mackinac and near Standish on US-23, Birch Run on I-75, Alma on US-27, Howard City on US-131 and White Cloud on M-37.

In another call for cooperation, hunters are urged to contact the department if they kill any collar-marked deer.

Hunters 'Sentenced'

"The Department also advises that hunters gunning for bucks in the 46 antlerless hunting areas do not need special permits."

This sentence from a wire service story in last Friday's Pontiac Press has caused some confusion among hunters. Most of those phoning The Press Sports Department and area conservation officers interpreted the wording to mean that "any deer" could be taken in the 46 areas without a special permit.

The sentence was rewritten from a Conservation Department release which reads as follows:

"Sportsmen do not need special permits to hunt bucks in this year's 46 antlerless deer shooting areas or other parts of Michigan, according to the Conservation Department."

"Letters reaching the department in recent days reveal that some unsuccessful applicants are afraid they cannot hunt in these areas with friends and relatives who did not receive permits."

"Their failure to get permits simply means they are not allowed to shoot antlerless deer."

Still confused? Try this:

1. Go hunting where planned. If you have an antlerless deer permit it means that you can shoot a buck or doe whether it is an adult, yearling or fawn.

2. IF YOU DO NOT HAVE AN ANTLERLESS DEER PERMIT, restrict your gunning to bucks with antlers three inches or better in length.

Bear Tough to Drag From Woods

LANSING (AP) — Bagging a bear and dragging him out of the woods isn't easy.

If the weather holds good, however, more than 1,000 hunters will come back with the bonus of a bruin this deer hunting season.

Trouble is, a cold snap will send the bears into hibernation.

The best advice for the hunter who really wants bear steaks and a rug is to try the Upper Peninsula.

There were 1,185 bears shot last year. These included 660 shot during the deer season above the Straits and 290 during the regular season in the northern Lower Peninsula.

The remainder were shot in the early bear seasons with a few taken by bow and arrow hunters.

For those who hunt with the idea of only going after a buck, gun experts advise that the average deer rifle can easily handle a bear.

Most bears are shot at close range. Hunters sometimes literally stumble over them, as bears often bed down in the open, in a small gully or under a brush pile.

A hunter is allowed only one bear a calendar year on his deer license.

BLAZE AWAY

"Once in a while a hunter will surprise a family of bears and blaze away and kill them all," said F.W. Stuewer, conservation department game expert. "That is strictly illegal. But then they will usually claim self defense."

Actually, the bear is usually more frightened than the hunter. Most will take off at a lumbering gallop when they see a human. An exception might be when a hunter gets between a mother and her cubs.

Bears that hang around garbage dumps and picnic grounds are likely to be the most dangerous. They think they are smarter than the average bear and lose some of their fear of humans.

Stuewer advises the hunter to think twice whether he really wants the bear before shooting. An adult male will weigh about 300 pounds and some big fellows go up over 400 pounds.

"A grown bear is a clumsy thing to drag out of the woods," he said.

A bear should be dressed out and cooled quickly as the meat doesn't keep as well as venison.

If you are thinking of a bear rug or robe, taxidermist costs are considerably higher than for a deer.

The Conservation Department figures there are between 7,000 and 8,000 bears in Michigan but adds this is only a "guesstimate."

With the human population boom, they predict, bears will eventually disappear from the Lower Peninsula — as did wolves.

The normal Lower Peninsula range for bears is about down to the dead stream swamp in Muskegon County. Occasionally they wander even farther south and one was spotted in the St. Johns area a few years ago.

There is only one verified human killing by a bear in modern times.

The tragedy happened in 1948 in the Raco area, west of Sault Ste. Marie. A three-year old girl was dragged from the porch of a cottage and killed by a rogue bear that was later tracked down and shot.

No Retirement in Sight

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — This is the kind of life Leon Chandler has led—

He went directly from college to a career of fishing for pay. He's only 38 and isn't thinking of retiring. Just what would he retire to?

He is vice-president of a company that makes fishing lines and as such he has visited virtually every lake and stream in the United States and many throughout the world.

He's just returned home from an international fair at Poznan, Poland, where he represented 30 American firms and the fishing gear they make.

Fishing in Poland, as in the United States, is the country's greatest participant sport.

There are these differences. In the U.S. fishing must compete with golf, bowling, tennis, motoring and TV watching for the angler's time. In Poland there are few if any distractions.

Besides that, a successful Polish fisherman eats better. Meat is scarce.

Producer Sam Katzman

He Makes 'Cheap' Films Pay

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — "Look — I'm a Woolworth guy, not a Tiffany man," said Sam Katzman, explaining his worried look.

What made Sam worried? The master of the quickie was shooting an Elvis Presley picture for $1,700,000.

"A lot of money," he said, shaking his bald head. "Elvis himself costs $500,000, plus $100,000 studio overhead on his salary — don't ask me why. Then you've got $300,000 to $400,000 overhead on production costs, which means I got to make the picture for $700,000. Listen, I can do it."

Sam was sitting hard by the set of "Kismet" Cousins. "I'm here from the first shot in the morning until the last one at night," he explained. "Got to keep things moving along. Okay, let's shoot it!"

Gene Nelson lined up a shot of Elvis — playing a dual role in a blonde wig — and a flock of curly mountain girls.

"See that forest scene," said Sam. "Most producers would have shot it on location, where they'd run into bad weather and sit around all day. Me, I shoot a week at Lake Arrowhead and the rest here at the studio, where I can control things."

"We've been shooting four and a half weeks and we finish tomorrow," the producer explained. "We're two hours behind schedule, and I'm worried. Let's get moving!"

Katzman gave some hints of his operation between verbal nudges to the film crew.

EYE ON CHARTS

"I keep an eye on all the record charts, hunting for the latest rage," he said. "Rock 'n' roll, that's that — that's my meat. 'Rock Around the Clock' was a good one; made it for $300,000 and it grossed $4 million."

"I had a script all ready for the bossa nova on my desk. I made 'Hootenanny Boogie' in nine days for $25,000 and it is going to do $2 million worldwide."

"MGM called me up and said we want you to do a folk music picture. I told them I just happened to have a script on my desk. I made 'Hootenanny Boogie' in nine days for $25,000 and it is going to do $2 million worldwide."

The studio was so impressed that he was given the Presley opus. That put Sam in the unenviable position of a million-plus picture. For 20 years he had made action or exploitation films at Columbia, filming them at rock-bottom prices for inevitable profits. Now the Columbia bosses yearn for his return.

OVERHEAD, OUCH

"There's overhead on everything," he groaned. "You use a piece of stationery and it's charged to your picture. Even at lunch you're supposed to eat in a special area where they put tablecloths on the table and charge you 25 cents extra. I fool 'em. I eat where there are no tablecloths."

"But the picture will be all right. Elvis is worth what he gets. No Presley picture has earned less than $4 million. I don't mind paying actors what they're worth."

His worried look returned as 10 minutes had gone by without the camera turning. "What are we waiting for?" he shouted. "Shoot it!"

DEER, IT'S A COW — Bossy can fend for herself during deer season with the help of this sign, owner Marion E. Masters of Aurora, Mo., hopes. It's a moo — question if she will survive the udder folly when the hunters horn in, however. Masters plans to high-tail it.

Go On, Speak Your Mind; (Just Keep It to Yourself)

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Now is a good time to pep up on your double-talk.

Double-talk enables you to be honest with yourself while still putting the healing balm of the spoken word on the small vanities of others. As a guide, here are some examples:

"Daring, that new dress fits you like a glove." And believe me, the glove I had in mind is a cat's mitt.

"What's a pretty dame like you doing in a joint like this, baby?" The older they are, the better they appreciate this line.

"George, what in heaven's name ever gave you the idea that I thought you were homely?" Ugly, yes — but homely, never.

"And now let me show you some interesting color slides. Grace and I took of the Grand Canyon way back in 1947. If that won't bore you into going home, I don't know what will. After all, J. P. you're the big chief, and I know I'm just one of the Indians. And how I'd love to sink a tomahawk into your big thick skull!"

GRAVY STAIN

"Don't worry about it a minute, Henry. I'm sure it won't leave a stain." If you had to spill the gravy, you clumsy idiot, why didn't you dump it on yourself?

"It seems to me you've been with our organization long enough. Osgood, for us to address each other on a first name basis." That ought to flatter the little pipsqueak enough so he won't ask me for a raise for another year.

"Glad to hear from you. What can I do for you?" Whatever it is, the answer is no.

"Despite the step-up in the competitive situation, the management looks forward with confidence to a brighter prospect in 1964." Or we'll be taking in each other's laundry for a living, boys.

QUIT KIDDING

"You're right, Mr. Ample. They are making our size 44 jackets a trifle snugger this year." Why don't you quit trying to kid yourself, Fatso, and go ahead and buy a size 46?

"This car's the best bargain in the lot. Confidentially, we got it from a little old lady who had driven it only 750 miles." She sold it to us after running into two trucks.

Rocky Makes Dixie Foray

Will Address Editors at Florida Conference

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York today brings his presidential hopes into Florida where Republican leaders favor Sen. Barry Goldwater for the 1964 nomination.

Rockefeller makes a noon address to members of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association — many of whom don't feel he stands a chance of getting the GOP nomination.

The one-day trip to Florida was Rockefeller's first campaign venture outside New England since he formally announced his candidacy last week.

CAN'T ATTEND

Goldwater also has been invited to address the APME but the Arizona senator was unable to attend.

Rockefeller will be greeted at Miami International Airport by Marcus Kyle, chairman of the Dade County Republican Committee, which has endorsed Goldwater.

Florida GOP Chairman Tom F. Brown, an ardent Goldwater supporter, won't see Rockefeller. Brown said he had to be at Tallahassee for a meeting of the governor's election committee.

Right now, Goldwater is the predominant favorite of people I have talked to," Brown said. "Undoubtedly there is some Rockefeller sentiment in the state, but it hasn't been noticeable."

Fifty of the first editors to arrive here were polled Monday on their views of the Republican race.

A 2 to 1 majority thought Richard M. Nixon would be a compromise nominee, after a convention deadlock between Rockefeller and Goldwater.

Only eight editors thought Rockefeller could defeat President Kennedy.

He Flipped Into Office

Nicholasville, Ky. (AP)

The Jessamine County Election Commission resorted to an ancient method to decide the winner in the 5th District magistrate's race.

Republican John D. Fajf and a Democratic incumbent Nellie Stinnett wound up in a tie in last week's election with 244 votes each.

At an election commission meeting yesterday, three flips of a coin determined the election outcome. Pain called tails on the third flip and won.

Death in Spinning-Car

Passenger Not at Fault in Air Crash

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal Aviation Administrator Naebe E. Halaby said yesterday an "unfortunate interpretation" was placed on remarks in which he implied that a passenger bore some responsibility for the death of 16 persons in an airliner crash at Denver July 11, 1961.

Halaby made the remark Sunday in a radio interview while discussing the Federal Aviation Agency's (FAA) drive to improve emergency evacuation routes for commercial transports.

The FAA chief cited the crash of a United Airlines DC8 at Denver's Stapleton Field. The plane was making an emergency landing after failure of its hydraulic system, swerved off the runway and burst into flames.

"The situation in the cabin was confused," Halaby said on the program. "One of the passengers volunteered without any training or procedure to sort of keep everyone in their seats. And the result was that some 16 people died unnecessarily."

INTERPRETATION POSSIBLE

In a statement issued by the FAA yesterday, Halaby said he "did not mean to suggest that any individual was responsible for the death of 16 persons, although such an interpretation, possibly if two sentences in the transcription are taken from the context."

Halaby emphasized that he meant the deaths were unnecessary because of the general confusion in the cabin, not because of the actions of one passenger.

Man Dies in Accident

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Nigel H. Young, 55, of suburban Kent County was killed late yesterday when his car veered off a road northwest of here and struck a house. Kent County sheriff's deputies said no one was in the house at the time.

COMPROMISING SITUATIONS

Police said they found more than 3,000 pictures of Julie with men in compromising situations. They also found a detailed diary.

Corner Inchebald adjourned the inquest to Dec. 10 after hearing evidence from the pathologist.

Love Priestess a Drug Victim

Barbiturates Caused Death of 'Baby Doll'

LONDON (AP)—Sleeping pills killed the "baby doll" girl of Britain's newest sex scandal, and police are still investigating her double life to find out why.

A pathologist testified Tuesday at a stormy inquest into the death of Julie Miller, 24, the center of a blackmail ring, that barbiturate poisoning caused her death 11 days ago. She was found sprawled across a four-poster bed in a country mansion just as guests were arriving for a party.

Cornerer Ralph Inchebald started the inquest by disclosing that police had received threats while pursuing blackmailers reportedly involved with Miss Mooley.

He said a letter received by police boiled down to "a stupid and clumsy attempt to interfere with and intimidate officers in the execution of their duty."

INVOLVES ELITE

Police have disclosed that some highly placed people may be involved as blackmail victims.

Nothing indicates they are as highly placed as those in the Profumo scandal, which reached into the government and the peerage. But police said Julie's victims included civil servants, army officers, businessmen and show business people.

By day the 24-year-old Italian-born girl was a dentist's assistant. By night she frequented fashionable West End spots.

Police said she placed advertisements in newspapers for a certain type of raincoat. The brand name was a tipoff to people with strange sexual tastes.

Ex-Flint Official New City Manager

Mayor Insists on Loop Road Use in Winter

Miffed by Letter From State That Highway Won't Be Done Soon

Mayor Robert A. Landry last night told city administrators to "tell the State Highway Department we're not going to spend the winter without using the perimeter road."

Landry was angered by a letter from the highway department announcing that the east leg of the highway, from South Saginaw to East Huron, would not be paved in time for use this winter.

The letter also outlined an estimated $4,000 in extra costs which would be required to open the highway from Mount Clemens Street to Cass this winter.

Speaking for himself, not the commission, Landry said, "I'm not the least bit satisfied with the contents of this letter."

"We're going to be using that road this winter, paved or unpaved, if at all possible," ADOPT RESOLUTION

His remarks came after the commission adopted a resolution directing plans for this year's program for a $18,000 temporary crossing of the Clinton River north of East Huron.

The crossing would be necessary before the road could carry traffic unimpeded from South Saginaw to points north and west of the river.

City Engineer Joseph E. Nepling recommended the resolution on the basis that the crossing would be useless unless paving was to be completed this year.

Landry asked Nepling, "Didn't the original contract call for use of the perimeter road this winter?"

Nepling said that the contract didn't actually require that all pavement be laid by winter, but that at one time last summer the highway department estimated pavement would be in place and open to traffic from South Saginaw to Oakland by this winter.

City to Ask Romney Aid for Industry

City officials last night said they would appeal to Gov. George Romney "for some aid in protecting industry in Pontiac."

The move came after Commissioner Milton R. Henry objected to the purchase of Baldy Rubber Division plant by a New York liquidation firm.

Henry said he didn't want to see the plant close its doors.

"We can't permit it to go out of business. This city should get up and fight," he said.

ASKS COMMITTEE

"I suggest we attempt to set up a committee to sell stock through public subscription to buy the plant and keep it operating," he continued.

Mayor Robert A. Landry suggested the city contact Romney's office "and take any other action necessary" to keep the industry operating here.

A motion by Henry to that effect was unanimously adopted.

LOT OF LOOT—New York detective Jacob Rosenfeld examines about $200,000 worth of jewelry—part of some $3 million stolen in a bungled daylight robbery on Manhattan's West Side last Friday—after its recovery yesterday. The gems were recovered from five construction workers.

Five Building Workers Play 'Grab Bag' With Jewel Haul

NEW YORK (AP)—The bandits who pulled off Manhattan's $3-million jewel robbery apparently netted not one carat. A group of construction workers found the stolen gems in a hijacked car and, police said, it was like playing grab bag in King Solomon's mines.

No one may profit from the biggest jewel theft in the nation's history. Chalk that up to an incompetent getaway driver and a talkative worker.

Five construction men were arrested last night. Police said they recovered about $250,000 worth of the loot from the five. Some of it was buried on a Gettysburg, Pa., farm only about a mile from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's home.

Yule Savers Reap Benefits

$1.5-Million Bonanza in Christmas Clubs

A bonanza of $1,501,496 is going into the pockets of over 15,000 area Christmas Club savers now receiving their payoff checks.

These statistics were reported today by Community National Bank, Pontiac State Bank, First Federal Savings of Oakland and major credit unions with the club plan.

Community National Bank reports it is paying out $713,853 to some 8,500 club members.

Pontiac State Bank lists 4,840 savers who will receive $410,504. First Federal of Oakland has 1,084 Christmas Clubbers dividing a total of $99,541.

Among credit unions reporting are Pontiac City employees, $66,000; Oakland County employees, $62,000; GMTC employees, $60,000; Pontiac Telephone employees, $45,000; Pontiac State Hospital employees $34,000; Pontiac Co-Op, $6,000, and Body Crafters, $5,000.

SLIGHTLY HIGHER

The banks and savings and loan institutions report total Christmas Club payments about five per cent higher than last year.

Credit unions, most of which have used the club plan only the past few years, report total savings about 20 per cent greater than 1962.

House GOP Hoping to Get Tax Showdown

Republicans, Dems Fight for Advantage on Dying Program

LANSING (AP)—A desperate effort to bring Gov. George Romney's income tax bill to a showdown floor vote in the House was being mapped today as Republicans and Democrats fought for political advantage on a dying tax reform program.

A group of House Republicans said they would attempt, in a GOP caucus, to have the bill reported out of the Tax Committee and sent to the floor.

Their effort appeared to have as its main purpose the salvaging of propaganda value by preventing Democrats from blaming the GOP for killing tax reform.

Romney and Republicans had cast blame on the Democrats, and the Democrats have blamed Romney and the Republicans, in recent days, for bringing tax reform to the brink of oblivion.

READY TO QUIT

If Democrats refuse to lend bipartisan support to the bill on the floor, the Republican said, they will be ready to quit and go home.

In their much-publicized meeting yesterday, Gov. Romney and Democratic legislators went looking for solid ground for compromise on the floor, but they bogged down in a quagmire of words.

In a 3½-hour meeting, the governor and 45 members of the opposition battled and argued, hurled charges and countercharges.

The result—as far as tax reform itself is concerned—was inconclusive.

MORE UNITED

LI Gov. T. John Lesinski told newsmen that Democrats are a "more united than ever behind fiscal reform" as a result of the talkathon.

Romney who had earlier predicted yesterday would be the "decisive day" on tax reform, said he wasn't sure how to assess the meeting.

It had heavy advance billing because it was arranged after a series of letters between Romney and Democratic leaders as a way of determining whether there can be bipartisan support for tax reform.

ROBERT A. CARTER

Junketeers Go Home—1st Class

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional junketeers who took the headwater of the House restaurant with them to Paris and London have flown home early on a tailwind of criticism.

Like their trip, their arrival last night was first class. A fleet of 20 Air Force station wagons and drivers were on hand to chauffeur them home from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., where an Air Force jet landed them.

Also on hand to greet the party—10 congressmen, eight of their wives, two senators' wives, and seven staff members—were newsmen and photographers. However, there were reports the newsmen were not entirely welcome.

An Air Force officer who preferred not to be identified said a request had come from the plane that the newsmen and photographers be kept from the landing area.

NOT IMPEDED

A base public information officer, however, said "no effort on anybody's behalf was made to impede any media."

There was not much effort to help, either, in efforts to pry loose an official list of those on the trip. But a congressional source, said Rep. Wayne L. Hays' hometown aide, Parnell Anderson, Flushing, Ohio, was also one of the party. Hays, an Ohio Democrat, headed the delegation.

Newsmen zeroed in Hays and headliner Ernest Petinaud, who Hays said served as a messenger for the delegation in Paris.

With Hays at his side, Petinaud told reporters he saw nothing wrong with his going along to the parliamentarians conference of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris and would be "ready to do it again tomorrow."

Petinaud in Paris had told an interviewer "the only reason congressmen can object to me coming to Europe is that I'm colored."

HE'S A NICE GUY

Hays said he picked Petinaud, rather than some congressional staff member, because he is "a nice guy and I thought he deserved a break."

When the first waves of the criticism reached him in Europe Hays was quoted as saying "congressmen who made an issue of this are cheap-skates. One of the reasons I chose Ernest for this trip is that he is a Negro."

Petinaud, who said he understands but does not speak French, said he received $27 a day for expenses the days he actually worked as a messenger. Hays said the expenses for the eight-day stay in Paris were paid out of U.S. counterpart funds—foreign credits of the United States that must be spent overseas.

Before leaving the air base, Petinaud noted he had been on vacation and said philosophically, "I was off anyway." He goes back to work at the House restaurant today.

Taylor Abstains in 6-0 Ballot

By DICK SAUNDERS

The City Commission last night hired Robert A. Carter, former Flint city manager, to the top administrative post in Pontiac.

Carter will take over as Pontiac city manager Monday morning, filling the office left vacant since the suspension of former City Manager Robert A. Stierer Aug. 5.

Commissioners voted 6 to 0 in favor of Carter's appointment, that provides an annual salary of $15,500. Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. abstained from voting.

Carter, 47, resigned from his $20,800-a-year job last February at the request of a majority of the nine-member Flint City Commission.

He had been city manager for four years in Flint, where the average tenure of city managers is about two years.

His resignation was due partly to the election of political opponents to the Flint commission in November 1962 and partly to an alleged land fraud scheme concerning one of his appointees.

Claude O. Darby Sr. was appointed by Carter as special agent for the city in the acquisition of right-of-way for the proposed Fort Huron-to-Flint water pipeline.

Darby allegedly sold land to the city for $75,000 that he knew had originally purchased for $42,000.

When the $33,000 profit was discovered, Carter arranged for Darby to repay the $33,000 difference to the city.

CHARGED DARBY

State Police subsequently charged Darby with obtaining money from the city under false pretenses on a land deal.

Darby, who maintains he is innocent, was granted a change of venue and the case is still awaiting trial in Detroit.

Carter was cleared of any connection with Darby in the alleged fraud but resigned under pressure stating that he "thought it was time for a change."

In choosing Carter for the Pontiac post, Mayor Robert A. Landry said that he hadn't appointed a committee of civic leaders to screen applicants, as originally planned, because it would have delayed satisfying the city's need for leadership.

HAVE SERVICES

It is of tremendous importance that we have the services of a city manager now... because of all the public improvement and urban renewal projects underway.

"We received 14 applications for the job," Landry noted. "Very few had any managerial ability or background and most wanted a two-year contract."

The City Charter prohibits hiring a city manager on such a contractual basis.

Landry said that Carter's background and experience was far greater than any of the other applicants.

To Read, Hunt Next 4 Days

Will Peruse Charter, Try to Bag a Deer

Robert A. Carter will spend the next four days reading Pontiac's City Charter and looking for a buck.

"I'm coming down to Pontiac Wednesday to pick up a copy of the charter. Then I'm going deer hunting," he said in his Flint home late last night.

Carter, 47, had just learned of his new job as Pontiac city manager.

Carter said he would read the charter in between attempts at bagging some northern Michigan deer.

EQUALLY AROUSED

He seemed equally aroused by both prospects—the job and the hunt.

Carter summed up his philosophy of municipal government this way:

"The manager is the administrator; the commission is the policy maker."

"As the elected policy-making body, if the commission wants something done, it should tell the manager to do it."

"If the manager feels it is not the right thing to do, then he should present the commission with facts supporting his position."

"If the commission still wants it done, the manager then has two choices. He can do it or resign."

"The manager should follow the recommendation if it is just a matter of judgment."

"If it's a matter of principle, he should resign."

As an afterthought, he added, "If a manager doesn't have the confidence of the commission, he leaves anyway."

Chicago Man Charged in Candle Fire Deaths

CHICAGO (AP)—James Carter, 33, was charged with involuntary manslaughter Tuesday after police said he knocked a candle to the floor because it was hampering his view of a television set, and caused a fire.

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice:

"We hear about napped fabrics so much and read about it so often, could you please give us the names of fabrics that have a nap, or have to be treated as such?" Mrs. F. E. Dear Mrs. F. E.:

A truly nap fabric is one that has a hairy or downy surface and is smooth to the touch in one direction and rough in the other. These fabrics must be cut in ONE direction with the smoothness running down.

Typical napped fabrics include wool broadcloth, camel's hair, duvetyne, suede cloth, fleece, fur cloth, canton flannel, satins and cashmires. Fabrics with a one way plaid, one direction prints, must be cut in one direction.

Velvets, velours, corduroy, panne velvet, have a pile which is also directional. This could be cut in either direction, however you must cut your entire garment the same. You will have a richer, deeper color if you cut these pile fabrics against the nap.

"Dear Eunice:

"As often as you have mentioned diagonal weaves in fabrics, I have cut out my coat and the lines on one sleeve go up and down, on the other they go across. I am disturbed to say the least, what did I do wrong?" Mrs. M. H.

Dear Mrs. M. H.:

With diagonal women fabrics, you cannot use a raglan sleeve pattern without this happening. Your best bet, if this bothers you, is to choose a pattern with set-in sleeves and no collar.

I must tell you however, that I have seen coats that retail for hundreds of dollars where the diagonals show up exactly as you describe.

Seems that when you buy your clothes, you don't notice these things, but when you make your own, you are much more aware of these irregularities. Actually, in a muted diagonal weave where two colors aren't involved, it wouldn't be noticed and the overall effect would be beautiful.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

"How discouraging to get out last winter's coats and find they just don't fit your kiddies! If you knit, how about making knitted cuffs to match or contrast their coats? Besides having the very latest in styling, you can prolong the life of the coat for another winter."

If the length is beyond lengthening, cut it off and make a car-coat out of it. You may also want to knit a scarf, hood, or cap to match the knitted cuffs."

(This sounds like it might end up cuter than the original!)

Mrs. Ivan Yeller, Ft. Wayne, Ind., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing Board for this bit of advice.

"Dear Eunice Farmer:

"I have been noticing some costume room suits and some of the dresser ones have the Chinese ball buttons made out of heavy braided cord instead of self-fabric. Can we make these too?" Mrs. E. W. W.

Dear Mrs. E. W. W.:

I am happy you noticed this, often I think of these things and then forget to tell you about them. Yes, your Chinese ball buttons may be made out of most any kind of woven cord. You can get some lovely ones in the drapery departments. They can match many colors and they would truly be handsome.

Since this type of cord unravels so easily, you will have to tie the ends very tightly with thread before proceeding to make the buttons. Also, may I suggest you make a sample first before making your buttonholes. They take up more space than you would imagine.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY: Revers: The revers is the front part of your jacket that rolls back (in other words, the lapels). The lapel is found in garments with a notched collar or a shawl collar.

If you haven't sent for my leaflet "Spaghetti Straps and Rope Belts" you will want to do so immediately because you will also find directions for making the very popular Chinese ball buttons. Please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents with your request and mail to Sew Simple in care of The Pontiac Press.

Man Shoots Himself in State Police HQ

EAST LANSING (U—) A man brought in for questioning shot himself yesterday in state police headquarters here.

Sgt. Carl Harrison identified the man as Joel L. Cooper of Charlotte. He was listed in good condition at a hospital.

Cooper pulled a 38-caliber revolver from his coat and wounded himself, Harrison said. Cooper was to be questioned on the complaint of a Lansing Township woman who said a man threatened to hurt her if she did not buy photographs he was selling.

Drunk Charge Levelled at Genesee Official

FLINT (U—) Accused of drunkenness after police said he resisted arrest, Ivan W. Crawford, 36, chief assistant Genesee County prosecutor, pleaded innocent yesterday.

Police said they had to subdue Crawford by force Sunday when he resisted arrest as he was leaving a dance. Crawford was freed on $100 bond pending trial Nov. 21.

Charge 1, Seek 2 in Night Bank Theft

TRENTON (AP) One youth was charged and two others were being sought yesterday in the theft of a bag containing $2,600 from a night-depository at the Flat Rock Branch of the People's Bank of Trenton.

FBI agents said Thomas Tipper, 16, of Flat Rock, charged with robbery, took a money bag containing the money from a deposit box. They said the bag had not been properly deposited. Agents quoted the boy as saying he had gone to deposit receipts from the Flat Rock Service Station where he works, left the bank, told two friends about the bag and returned with them to get it.

Youth Mute in Car Theft

Second Try Successful for Suicide

LANCASTER, Calif. (UPI)—Sheriff's detectives said a man identified as John Birmingham, 52, tried to commit suicide yesterday by jumping in front of a train not far from his home at nearby Rosamond.

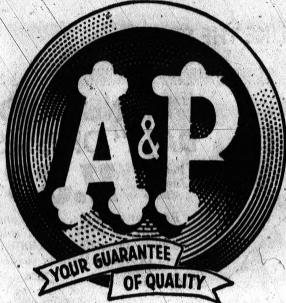

That attempt failed, investigators said, but a few hours later he succeeded in a similar attempt near this desert community northeast of Los Angeles.

A 17-year-old boy who had picked Birmingham up as a hitchhiker said Birmingham saw a train approaching and yelled: "Stop the car! I want to jump in front of the train."

The boy tried to persuade Birmingham to stay in the car, but he said the man jumped from the moving auto and hurled himself into the path of the Southern Pacific freight train.

The train's wheels severed his body.

Effect of Viet Coup Should Be Felt by Easter

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The full impact of South Viet Nam's military coup on the anti-Communist war there is expected to show itself by Easter, U.S. officials said today.

Defense authorities reported on Tuesday a "moderate favorable trend in the morale and determination" of South Vietnamese troops in the two weeks since the overthrow of the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

But they said there is no basis for judgment yet on whether the ousting of the Diem government has altered the complexion of the war to suppress Communist guerrillas.

Knowledgeable officials told The Associated Press that the pattern should become clear by Easter—after about six months.

Critics had contended South Viet Nam could not win against the Communists until the Diem government was replaced by leaders more responsive to the needs of the country's 14 million people.

There have been suggestions that the United States had a hand in the overthrow, but defense officials replied with a terse, "no," when asked whether they had any advance knowledge that the coup was coming.

A top ranking group of U.S. officials will go to Honolulu next week for a one-day meeting with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. Paul D. Harkins, U.S. commander-in-South Viet Nam, in an effort to assess the impact so far on the war against the Reds.

Leading the Washington group to the Nov. 20 conference will be Secretary of Defense Robert

S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, presidential aide McGeorge Bundy and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Defense experts said the Communists apparently were unaware of the coup for about 72 hours and thus did not take advantage of the situation.

This was blamed on what officials said was their poor communications and command channels.

In the backwash of the coup, these authorities said, there was a considerable upsurge in Communist activity, but of a diffused nature.

Operations of the South Vietnamese army fell off about 30 per cent during the three or four days of the rebellion which was centered in Saigon, authorities said.

Since then, however, the Vietnamese army has resumed its offensive and the level of activity has crawled back up to what it was last summer, defense officials said.

Actor's Body Found After 8-Day Search

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—"Forgive me, 'Boss,' I guess I never meant more to me than I knew. I killed the only thing I ever loved. Give all our well meaning friends the best. And tell them I'll meet them in hell."

This note, to an unidentified "Mike Quinn," was found on the body of actor Hugh D. Pryor, found Monday in the desert 55 miles north of Las Vegas, a bullet hole in his chest, a .22-caliber pistol in his hand.

Thus ended a manhunt begun eight days ago with the shooting of Mrs. Jacqueline Pryor — nicknamed Connie — at the home of friends in Pasadena, Calif.

Officers said the 32-year-old actress, after an argument with her husband last Tuesday at their Hollywood home, went to her friends' home. Pryor, 38, burned their home in his rage, then followed his wife to Pasadena.

"YOU'RE DEAD"

The friends said Pryor was further enraged when his wife refused to go with him. They said he told her: "Tonight I've burned all my bridges behind me. I burned my house, but you needn't worry about the cat. You're a dead woman."

Then he shot her twice in the head and once in the legs and fled, they told police.
