

2nd HUD Exec Gives Approval to Pontiac Plan

A prominent official in the office of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has flashed a "go-ahead" signal for the comprehensive $100-million Pontiac Plan.

He's the second high HUD official in a month to visit the city and express approval of the development concept for the 27 acres of vacant downtown urban renewal land.

Yesterday's visitor was Kenneth Wilcox, planning director for the HUD 10-state regional office in Chicago. On Jan. 20, the city was visited by Thomas Kilbride, director of the same office.

In Wilcox's estimation the plan was sound, he said, and the full cooperation of the Chicago office in implementing it was pledged.

He met with the City Commission and staff members yesterday afternoon. The commission was urged by Wilcox to go ahead with some first steps — selling some of the land.

James L. Bates, city planning and urban renewal director, told the group he had been contacted by two agencies interested in purchase and development of two portions of land.

The sale could take place and construction begin as long as the developers

Downtown Group Backs Stadium Bid

The board of directors of the Downtown Pontiac Business Association unanimously endorsed the Pontiac site for the proposed domed stadium, association President Jack Simon said today.

The board is preparing a letter of endorsement for the city's suggested site located near I-75 and M59.

Simon said the Pontiac site offers land availability and easy access and is the center of a highway network near a large population center.

"Economically, it would be great for Pontiac if the proposed stadium were constructed here," he added.

County Taxing Units Get Edison Letters of Protest

Detroit Edison Co. has sent letters of protest to taxing units in Oakland County regarding the levy of nonvoted taxes over the 15-mill limitation.

A spokesman for the company said this morning it was his understanding that the company has 30 days in which to file suit to make the protests valid. He said he did not know whether such a suit will be filed.

The letter sent out to local governmental units by C. P. Allman, Edison's manager of taxes, read: "The 1968 property taxes paid herein are paid involuntarily and under protest for the reason that said are illegal and void." The State

WORK PILES UP — Pontiac's rubbish collectors will have a lot of catching up to do when their strike against the city ends, as garbage and rubbish continues to pile up at residents' homes. Workers in most city departments have been on strike since Friday.

City Bargaining Recessed

Firemen Set News Confab

A spokesman for the Pontiac Fire Fighters Local 367 announced at court that a news conference was to be held at 2 p.m. today at Holiday Inn, 1801 S. Telegraph, Bloomfield Township. No details were disclosed.

By L. GARY THORNE
Assistant City Editor—Suburban

Fatigue and lack of progress at the bargaining table have forced a 24-hour recess today in talks between the city and three employee groups embroiled in a five-day-old labor dispute.

State Labor Mediator Leonard Bennett adjourned negotiations about 2 a.m. after the fourth consecutive night of continuous bargaining failed to bring any noticeable break in the dispute. The talks will resume at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Two unions—Local 100, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees and the Pontiac Municipal Employees Association—remain on strike. Members of a third union, Pontiac Fire Fighters Local 376, returned to work Sunday under a court order, after staging two walkouts. Garbage and trash continued to accumulate in Pontiac at the rate of 4,000 homes per day — the number of homes serviced for collection by a full force of blue collar workers.

Negotiations resumed about 7:30 last night, although both sides met again behind closed doors with Circuit Judge Philip Pratt in the afternoon. Pratt declined comment on the series of conferences.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., who canceled last night's regular City Commission meeting so as not to jeopardize the talks, addressed union negotiators briefly at the start of last night's sessions.

Taylor, who was accompanied by District 5 Commissioner Robert F. Jackson, cited the commission's confidence in its negotiating team and told the unions the negotiations "were extremely important to the welfare of the community."

There was a definite slowdown last night in the speed of the negotiations, which are being held at the Holiday Inn, 1801 S. Telegraph, Bloomfield Township. At one point, it took more than two hours to set up a session between the city, Local 100 and the PME.

The city and the fire fighters met just once during the entire evening. Much of the slowness was due to the mechanics of getting everyone assembled in one spot.

Although there were some advance predictions of a break in the talks last night, it did not occur as negotiators appeared grim at times and always weary.

Nothing came out of the meetings with Pratt except an announcement to resume negotiations. Pratt granted the back-to-work order sought by the city, which forced firemen to return to their jobs after their first walkout at noon Friday.

The temporary order covers only the firemen. No hearing has been held to determine the order permanent. Violation of the order could bring a heavy fine for the firemen.

The city had asked for $25,000 per day in compensatory damages and $500,000 in punitive damages in its brief filed Friday in Circuit Court.

Firemen are seeking parity pay with policemen at $10,300 after July 1, while the city has offered $9,900. Local 100 and the PME have sought a 35-cent across-the-board pay hike plus an added five cents in fringe benefits. The city reportedly has offered 30 cents.

Peekaboo Sun Has Its Head in Clouds

The sun will dart in and out among the clouds through Friday, but no precipitation is forecast.

Partly cloudy and a little cooler, with the low near 20, is tonight's forecast.

Partly cloudy and pleasant, the high heading for 40 is tomorrow's prediction, and Friday's outlook is cloudy with little temperature change.

Winds northwesterly at five to 12 miles per hour will continue tonight and tomorrow.

cloudy 30 degree was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury warmed up to 38 by 2 p.m.

Charges Filed in Italy

ROME (AP) — Gen. Giovanni de Lorenzo, ousted two years ago as head of Italy's national police, is accusing the men who brought him down of violating state secrets and misusing official documents. He filed charges yesterday against 12 generals and eight other Italians.

Quarterback, Green Bay Packers

In case you are not a sports fan, the Green Bay Packers are a professional football team. They are one of the fabled teams of the game with a history of excellence going back to 1919.

When my wife, Cherry, and I came up from the University of Alabama in 1956, all eager and excited by the prospects of my being quarterback on so illustrious a team, the Green Bay Packers had fallen upon some dismal days, but the season of 1958 was absolutely the bottom. Out of 12 games, we tied one game and won just one. Ten losses: sheer disaster.

In December our coach resigned. The danger signals were up for me and I knew it. I hadn't exactly sparkled out there on the field.

And then the lightning struck!

We were a squeamish group who gathered to meet our new coach and general manager that day in 1959.

"WE'RE GOING TO WIN"

"Gentlemen," Coach Vince Lombardi said that day, "We're going to have a football team. We are going to win some games. Do you know why?"

"Because you are going to have confidence in me and my system. By being alert you are going to have confidence in me and my system. By being alert you are going to make fewer mistakes than your opponents. By working harder you are going to outexecute, outblock, outtackle every team that comes your way."

Nixon Strips OEO of 2 Key Programs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon told Congress today he is stripping the Office of Economic Opportunity of two major programs — Head Start and the Jobs Corps — and delegating their work elsewhere.

In a special message, however, Nixon promised to keep OEO alive as an "incubator" for experimental programs bearing on the antipoverty campaign.

And he called for a national commitment aimed at "providing all American children an opportunity for healthful and stimulating development during the first five years of life."

During his campaign for the presidency, Nixon described Head Start as "one of the programs that deserves continuing, and could even be accelerated." But he said the Jobs Corps should be eliminated, declaring, "This is one program that has been a failure."

PRESCHOOLING PROGRAM

Effective July 1, the popular Head Start program, to offer summertime preschooling to deprived youngsters, will be delegated to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

On the same day, responsibility for the Jobs Corps, which seeks to train school dropouts and unskilled jobless youths for gainful employment, will be delegated to the Labor Department.

The President proposed no new legislation in his message but promised that before June 30 "I will send Congress a comprehensive proposal for the future of the poverty program, including recommendations for revision and extending the act itself beyond its scheduled 1970 expiration."

The Nixon administration is reported mulling over the prospects of special tax breaks for both big business and the average housewife to enlist them as volunteers in the war on poverty.

OEO VALUE PROVEN

Nixon, while critical of some aspects of administration of poverty funds, said OEO has proven "the value of having in the federal government an agency whose special concern is the poor."

While describing it as "a valuable fount of ideas and enthusiasm," he said one of his aims is to free the agency of responsibility for carrying out regularized programs so it can place "greater concentration of its energies on its innovative role."

One of his major aims, he said, will be to improve the effectiveness of management of the various programs.

He said he intends to continue the role of community action agencies and hopes these will begin doing more "in fostering community-based business development."

STATE, LOCAL VOICE

He said he also wants to give state and local officials a voice in implementing antipoverty programs — a source of recurrent difficulty in the past.

In discussing Head Start, Nixon described the program as "still experimental" and said he simply doesn't know at this point if it has been effective.

He went on to suggest that studies might shed the program must be expanded, rather than curbed, if it is to do its job. At that point he pledged himself to supporting federal help for youngsters during the first five years of life.

Various ideas are being suggested these days in connection with the antipoverty program.

Ash Wednesday Marked in Area

By MARY ANGLEMIER

Pontiac Press Church Editor

Thousands of Oakland County residents were up before sunrise today to attend Ash Wednesday services. Others will attend evening services.

Those of the Christian faith are gathering in small country churches, and city churches and chapels throughout the world to ask forgiveness for what they ought not to have done, and for failing to do what they should have done.

Ash Wednesday is the first day of Christianity's 40-day season of Lent, a period of self-examination and discipline in preparation for Easter which falls this year on April 6.

In Roman Catholic churches and some Episcopal churches the priest or pastor will dip his thumb in consecrated ashes and place the mark of the cross on foreheads of worshippers.

The idea of ashes as a symbol of penance comes from the Jews. In the Old Testament men "sat in sackcloth and ashes" to show deepest possible sorrow, either for their own misdeeds or for misfortunes that had befallen them.

Ashes are made by burning palms left over from last year's Palm Sunday. The custom of putting an ash mark on the forehead is supposed to have been introduced by Pope Gregory the Great, late in the sixth century.

Traditional services are held locally in Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran churches.

A number of other Pontiac-area congregations are holding dinner programs and study classes.

ASH WEDNESDAY — The Rev. Robert L. Meyer marks foreheads of parishioners with ashes at St. Benedict Catholic Church at 7:45 this morning. As he places the mark of the cross on the forehead he intones "Thou art dust and to dust thou shalt return." Ash Wednesday begins the 40-day Lenten season which ends at midnight, Holy Saturday, April 5.

Senate N-Pact Hearing Previews ABM Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee appears to be steering toward prompt approval of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty while at the same time laying more groundwork for a hardened criticism of antismissile defense.

Its questioning of Secretary of State William P. Rogers yesterday made it clear that in the minds of critics of the controversial Sentinel antiballistic missile system the defense project and the nuclear treaty are tightly entwined.

Rogers rejected the view that immediate deployment of the Sentinel system would run counter to U.S. pledges under the nonproliferation treaty. The committee recessed today. But it was a foregone conclusion that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird would face the same criticism of the Sentinel when he goes before the committee tomorrow to continue the administration's campaign for quick ratification of the treaty.

NUCLEAR DEFENSE

The Sentinel system would use nuclear-armed defensive missiles to destroy enemy missiles.

The Nixon administration halted work on the system two weeks ago after criticism in the Senate and from residents of areas being considered as Sentinel sites.

Laird has indicated work will resume after the Pentagon completes a review of the $5.5-billion system begun by the Johnson administration and approved in the last Congress.

Since there is little doubt the treaty will be ratified, committee members concentrated on how the United States will implement its terms, particularly Article VI, which says, in part:

"Each of the parties to the treaty undertakes to pursue negotiations in good faith on effective measures relating to cessation of the nuclear arms race at an early date and to nuclear disarmament, and on a treaty on general and complete disarmament."

'UTTERLY INCONSISTENT'

Chairman J. W. Fulbright commented, "I can't imagine, if this treaty were in full effect, that we can proceed with the ABM unilaterally... It would be utterly inconsistent."

Fulbright and some other members urged that the Nixon administration hold up on the Sentinel and concentrate instead on bringing about U.S.-Soviet talks on missile disarmament.

"Why is the United States reluctant to begin these conversations?" asked Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

"I am not reluctant," Rogers said and expressed the hope the talks could begin in six months or less.

Milliken Outlines Blueprint for Saving Michigan Cities

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken yesterday outlined what he described as a blueprint for saving Michigan's cities.

"It is not merely a question of revitalizing or improving our cities," Milliken said in a special message to the Legislature.

"It is a question of saving our cities... from the decay and despair that is having an adverse human and economic impact on all of Michigan."

Milliken said his administration would concentrate its urban affairs efforts in eight areas — housing, welfare, mental health, civil rights, transportation, consumer protection, manpower and education.

Declaring that his 1969-70 budget recognizes the pressing needs of Michigan cities, Milliken said he nevertheless realized that even more money is needed.

"Realistically," he said, "we simply do not have more money to spend. Consequently, we must first attempt to redirect our existing programs and improve them."

The governor said he was placing a very high priority on efforts to eliminate crowded and unsafe housing conditions, particularly in urban centers.

One of the things that must be done, he said, is a review of what he described as the outmoded housing laws in Michigan. Such a study already is underway by a special commission.

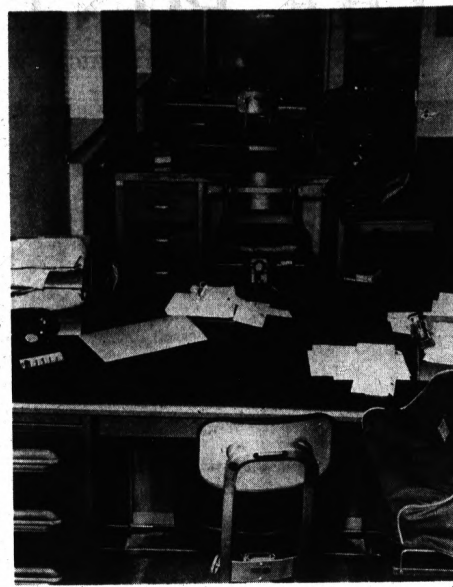

"Without an effective statewide modern housing code, we cannot hope to meet the housing needs of large numbers of poor families with necessary speed and efficiency," he explained.

On the subject of welfare, Milliken said the present system is inadequate, demeaning, inefficient and has so many disincentives built into it that it encourages continued dependency.

Artificial Snow Ready for Press Ski School

Mt. Holly snow machines have been busy the past few nights manufacturing good ski conditions for the third February session of The Pontiac Press Ski School tonight.

Classes begin at 7:30 p.m. at the ski area, 13536 S. Dixie, Groveland Township.

EMPTY 'SADDLES' AT CITY HALL — Most Pontiac City Hall offices are empty, lonely places these days because of the strike by the Pontiac Municipal Employees Association. Also on strike are blue-collar workers.

Commissioners Miss Out on 'Welcome' by Pickets

The Pontiac City Commission called off last night's meeting at City Hall.

The commissioners had a reception waiting for them, but none showed up. More than 100 picketers carrying signs, picks, shovels, wheelbarrows and children were marching around City Hall prior to the scheduled meeting.

The picketing was in support of the Pontiac Fire Fighters Association and the two striking unions representing city white- and blue-collar employees.

POINTS TO NEGOTIATIONS

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. announced that the meeting was canceled so as not to interfere with the bargaining process then going on between the city and the three unions.

After hearing the commission meeting had been called off the picketers dispersed.

The protesters carrying the picks, shovels and other equipment were objecting to comment attributed to City Manager Joseph A. Warren that firemen were "pick and shovel" workers compared to policemen.

One of the major disagreements over proposed contract terms with the firemen is a demand for parity with city police.

Informer Called in Bribe Case

Underworld informant Peter Lazaros is scheduled to testify when the preliminary examination of reputed Mafia leader Anthony J. Giacalone and Louis Koury on gambling and bribery charges resumes at 9 a.m. tomorrow in Pontiac District Court.

The hearing began yesterday before Judge James R. Stelt, who will decide if there is sufficient evidence to bind the pair over to Oakland County Circuit Court to stand trial.

Giacalone, 50, of Grosse Pointe Park and Koury, 65, of 1515 Midwood, Commerce Township, are accused of being involved in the gambling operation of the Seaway Civic and Social Club and the bribery of a Pontiac police officer.

They were charged with conspiracy on both counts on information provided by Lazaros, who has been under protective police custody in his home at 2410 Doleseford, Troy, since last November.

NAMED AS COCONSPIRATOR

Lazaros was named as a coconspirator with Giacalone and Koury but not as a confederate, which means that he will not be prosecuted in the case.

First-day testimony came from Pontiac Police Capt. Raymond E. Meggitt, who detailed at length the five-month role he played as an undercover agent, leading to a raid on the gambling establishment on Oct. 2, 1965.

Meggitt was paid a total of $2,050 by the operators of the club to inform them of pending raids. Three men were later convicted of conspiring to bribe Meggitt.

Chief Assistant Prosecutor Ronald E. Covault refused to have Meggitt's testimony waived as requested by Giacalone's attorney, Joseph Louisell of Detroit.

After Zurich Attack

Israel Threatens Arabs' Airlines

TEL AVIV (AP) — Another Arab guerrilla attack on an Israeli airliner brought a threat today of retaliation against Arab airlines.

Following the machine gunning of an El Al airliner in Zurich, Switzerland, yesterday, Israeli Transport Minister Moshe Carmel said the Arab governments would do well to hold back the saboteurs, and thus avoid destruction of the airways of the Middle East.

Carmel was the first Israeli official to blame Lebanon for the attack in December on an Israeli airliner in Athens. Forty-eight hours later Israeli commandos raided Beirut airport and destroyed 13 planes of Lebanon's Middle East Airlines.

The U.S. State Department and U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant condemned the Arab attack in Zurich, and Thant expressed hope there would be no reprisal.

6 ABOARD INJURED

Six of 27 persons aboard the plane in Zurich, most of them Israelis, were wounded.

Most seriously injured was trainee pilot Yoran Pees, hit in the abdomen. He was reported out of danger following an emergency operation.

Birmingham

Action Delayed on First Project in Urban Plan

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission will defer action for at least two weeks on the initial project called for in the city's proposed Urban Design Plan.

Johnson, Johnson and Roy of Ann Arbor, city planning consultants, submitted plans for a Henrietta Street experimental block to the commission this week. Estimated cost is $35,000.

The Henrietta project would be an experimental prototype exemplifying the park-like pedestrian atmosphere which the Urban Design Plan proposes for the downtown shopping district.

The experimental block would include a widened sidewalk, concrete planters, modern street-lighting fixtures and benches.

The planning consultant's initial project on Henrietta is in accordance with the plan's original concept, a commission spokesman said. He added, however, that the commission plans to consult with merchants and other interested groups on the experimental block plan before final approval of funds is made.

If approved, the experimental block would be developed this summer.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Calvert Thomas has been elected chairman of the board of directors of Kingswood School.

He succeeds Richard C. Van Dusen, who was recently appointed an undersecretary in the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development. Van Dusen will continue as a board member.

Thomas of 31275 Franklin, Franklin Village, has been a member of the Kingswood board since 1965 and was elected vice chairman last year. He is a member of the legal staff of General Motors.

Thomas earned his B.S. degree from Washington and Lee University in 1938 and received a law degree from the University of Maryland in 1942.

E. Ross Hanson, 660 Edgemere, Ford Motor Co. marketing institutes manager, moves up to Thomas's former vice-chairmanship.

Hanson holds a B.A. from Yale University and an M.B.A. from Harvard University.

Nixon Unlikely to Visit S. Viets

PARIS (AP) — Much as South Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks would appreciate even a few minutes with President Nixon during his visit next week, experienced diplomats think there is virtually no chance of such a meeting.

One explanation is that it would peeve the French.

And to avoid doing so, the diplomats say, seems good enough reason for Nixon to skip an encounter that would not be especially educational for him and would serve mainly to buck up the South Vietnamese regime on its home front.

A meeting between Nixon and a Saigon representative would annoy the French for two reasons.

NO DESIRE

First, Nixon's scheduled discussion with his peace talks envoy, Henry Cabot Lodge, will take away some of the emphasis from his talks with President Charles de Gaulle. There apparently is no desire on the American side to push this even farther by adding the South Vietnamese to Nixon's conference list.

Second, South Vietnam broke off diplomatic relations with France in 1965. It would be something of a breach of diplomatic courtesy for a visiting chief of state to take official notice of what is technically a nongovernment as far as concerned.

Public May View Downtown Plan

What is the Pontiac Plan? It's more than a construction plan for urban renewal. It's been called a concept that can change the whole aspect and personality of the city.

Because many residents have not been exposed to its details, the City Commission has called a public presentation of it Feb. 27 at 8 p.m. at City Hall, East Wide Track and East Pike.

A spokesman for creators of the Pontiac Plan, Bruno Leon Associates, will be present to discuss its many aspects and show slides.

Hero Holds Hope for Youth

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Harold A. Furlong, a practicing obstetrician and World War I Medal of Honor winner, looked at a large, oval frame containing his photograph that appeared to have dark shadows reminiscent of a Boris Karloff movie.

"Isn't that horrible," said the Pontiac doctor with a chuckle.

The picture was one of ten that served as a backdrop Tuesday night at a dinner in Detroit's Cobo Hall to honor Michigan's only Vietnam Medal of Honor winner, Army Sgt. Dwight Johnson of Detroit.

Furlong, of 2260 E. Hammond Lake, Bloomfield Township, won the honor, highest the country grants, for destroying four machine gun nests and capturing 20 German soldiers in World War I.

Now, some 50 years later, Furlong says he's not discouraged by today's youth.

"They're all right. We've heard too much about the guys who are making a lot of racket, but there are a lot of good guys around."

"Don't underestimate these kids. They're wonderful," he said, pointing out a Detroit youth who finished as the top high school ROTC candidate in nine states.

But why the dissent?

"The kids now are better educated," the doctor said.

NOT SECOND

His opinions, however, were not seconded by some of the other Medal of Honor winners from Michigan.

Robert Guy Robertson of St. Ignace said he believes youngsters today have different ideas of America than he had during World War I.

Robertson was a gunner in a U.S. plane attacked by seven German fighters. His pilot was injured fatally, but despite wounds in the abdomen, chest, legs and left arm, Robertson downed the enemy planes and drove off the rest.

About Vietnam?

"I'd like that guerrilla fighting. It's one man against the other. You're sneaking around looking for them and they're looking for you."

Albert J. Smith of Detroit, who rescued a sailor from a crashed burning seaplane in Pensacola, Fla., in 1921, said "I don't know what's upsetting the whole country like it is. This country needs a lot stricter laws and better sentencing when the judges get it."

LITTLE PATRIOTISM

Francis Pierce, an inspector in the Grand Rapids Police Department, said "I don't believe the home is teaching patriotism in the manner it was taught a few years ago. I think the parents themselves don't believe in the amenities of the flag or of our country."

At two Japs during World War II, Pierce faced Japanese fire to lead wounded men to safety. The citation for the Navy Pharmacist Mate 1.C. reads: "completely fearless, completely devoted to the care of his patients, Pierce inspired the entire battalion."

John C. Sjogren, manufacturer's representative in Grand Rapids, said "I don't think patriotism has changed, but people have changed the meaning of patriotism. I think it goes back to the fact that we have a breakdown in our educational system. You have the same thing in the military. You have a lot of boys that are burning their draft cards and making disparaging remarks."

Sjogren won the blue ribbon around his neck in the Philippines during World War II. He attacked and destroyed enemy pillboxes and small ditches called spider holes.

SERVED IN KOREA

Robert E. Simanek, now a Farmington accountant, was a Private First Class in Korea in 1942. He jumped on a grenade to save others caught in an ambush, then despite his wounds operated his radio for seven hours directing mortar fire.

Oscar G. Johnson of Detroit, who serves with the Michigan Army National Guard, almost single-handedly broke through a German line while fighting in Italy in 1944.

Duane E. Dewey, owner of an office machine repair service store in South Haven, also smothered a grenade with his body during the Korean War.

Budget Director Sees Surplus Next 2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government will stay out of the red this year and next despite creeping costs and a shrinking surplus, according to Budget Director Robert P. May.

May testified Tuesday before the joint Senate-House Economic Committee, which continued its hearings today with testimony from Treasury Secretary David Kennedy.

May told the committee that government outlays, especially at the cost of interest on the federal debt, apparently will exceed the budget estimates made by former President Johnson for both fiscal 1969 and 1970.

This prompted speculation that the slender $2.4-billion surplus bequeathed by Johnson might slide into a deficit before the 1969 fiscal year ends June 30. May told a reporter he did not intend to give such an impression.

NOT VERY ROBUST

"I think we'll be able to preserve a surplus, though not necessarily a very robust one," he said.

A deficit is always possible, he conceded, "but I do not expect it." He said the small surplus "could be either doubled or wiped out if the receipts estimate were off by as little as 1 1/2 per cent." A slightly larger error could cancel out the $3.4-billion 1970 surplus as well, but May indicated he expects to stay in black ink.

So far the committee, though dominated by Democrats, has treated the Nixon men gently, even cordially. There have been critical comments, however, on the number of former bankers among Nixon's appointees to economic policy-making positions.

Kennedy is the former board chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank, and several of his aides were banking officials.

SUPPORT SURTAX

All the administration witnesses so far supported extension of the 10 per cent surtax beyond its scheduled June 30 expiration date, though President Nixon—who made campaign speeches calling for its elimination or reduction—has not declared an official position.

May testified flatly that it is "our administration's current position" to support the extension, and hinted that he would like to see Congress act promptly.

General Says Viet Objective Accomplished

DETROIT (AP) — Army Chief of Staff William C. Westmoreland said Tuesday night that the "enemy has come to the conference table and that was our objective" in Vietnam.

The former U.S. commander in Vietnam said in a prepared speech that "We are in a position of undeniable strength on the battlefield."

"Therefore, and fortunately, our negotiators can talk at the table in Paris from a position of impressive strength," Westmoreland said at a banquet honoring Medal of Honor winner Army Sgt. Dwight D. Smith of Detroit.

Gov. William Milliken, Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, nine other Michigan Medal of Honor winners, and Semon Knudsen, president of Ford Motor Co., were among other dignitaries at the banquet.

'READY FOR ANYTHING'

In his prepared speech, Westmoreland warned the enemy in Vietnam may attempt to mount another offensive, such as the Tet offensive last February. He added, however, the allied forces are "ready for anything the enemy can throw against them."

Won't Swallow Health Report

Arsenic in Water Stirs Town

FALLON, Nev. (AP) — For almost 30 years, this tourist-oriented cattle town's drinking water has come from two 540-foot deep wells.

So it sparked quite a furor this week when the state health officer, Dr. Edward Crippen, said he found harmful amounts of arsenic in the water—almost twice the maximum allowable under federal standards.

"There has never been a case in Fallon that medical doctors know about where any harmful effects resulted from drinking the water," snorted Merton Domonko, acting mayor.

"There's absolutely nothing wrong with the water in this town," said bartender John Marshall, adding that just as many customers as ever ask for a shot of whisky with a water chaser.

GOVERNOR APOLOGIZES

Gov. Paul Laxalt apologized for what he called Crippen's "highly irresponsible action," stayed Crippen's order that the city get a new water supply, and directed the state board of health to look into the water supply promptly. He also asked for an evaluation of Crippen's action and a report "for disciplinary purposes."

Crippen, who became health officer last August, declined and the mineralization is quite low."

The U.S. Bureau of Public Health recommends a maximum of .05 parts arsenic per million.

"This is the same drinking water we've used since 1941," adds the mayor, "and until now the state health officer at each report has shown the water to be acceptable . . . you would think that over a period of 29 years a problem would have shown up."

MAYOR AGREES

Domonko agrees that the arsenic city's water has .09 parts arsenic per one million gallons, but been sprayed with certain says it is "pure, free of bacteria chemicals to control insects."

Avon Twp. Charter Discussions Set

AVON TOWNSHIP — Citizens for Better Government, a citizens' group organized to inform township voters about the March 10 vote on a proposed charter, will hold a series of open meetings during the next three weeks on the question.

The first meeting, primarily for voters of Precinct 2, will be tonight at 8 at North Hill School, 1385 Mahaffey. All meetings will be open to the public.

Township residents voted in favor of incorporation in January, 1968. However, cityhood (under the name Rochester Hills) will not become official unless a proposed charter for the new city is approved by voters before January 1970 (two years from the initial incorporation vote).

"Various members of our group have been assigned to obtain information on many aspects of the incorporation issue," said Charles W. Vigor, 761 Ironstone, a member of the organization.

Vigor added, "We have found that the issue is complicated by several different considerations. Problems of rapid area growth have become embroiled in old political quarrels and hard feelings involving assessment practices and tax matters."

After further investigation, Vigor said, the group decided to prepare a presentation of its findings and schedule a series of public meetings to discuss incorporation.

Meetings for other areas of the township are planned as follows: Precincts 1 and 5, 7:30 p.m. Monday at Brooklands School, 480 E. Auburn; Precinct 4, 8 p.m. Tuesday at North Hill School; Precinct 7, 8 p.m. March 4 at Meadowbrook School, 2350 Munster; Precincts 8 and 10, 8 p.m. March 4 at Long Meadow School, 450 Allston; Precinct 9, 8 p.m. March 5 at West Junior High on Old Perch Road; and Precincts 3 and 6, 8 p.m. March 5 at the Avondale Fire Hall, 400 Sixth, Rochester.

Group to Push Traffic Control

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A group of residents will meet with the Township Board Monday in an attempt to get action on the traffic control problem at the Lone Pine Road — Telegraph intersection, site of the township's recently opened new library.

The residents, headed by Michael Barto of 5055 Kellen, will ask for recognition of a citizens committee to work with the board in getting a traffic control system for the intersection.

Barto's group is calling for traffic control which would allow cross traffic and left turns.

The most feasible procedure, Barto feels, would be creation of a traffic light, creation of turning lanes and arrangement of a loop left turn beyond the intersection.

COMPLICATED PROCESS

Library users approaching from the north on Telegraph now have to travel beyond the library to Quarton, turn east on Quarton to Lahser, then north on Lahser to Lone Pine and another left turn in order to get to the library entrance.

Barto noted the traffic safety procedures that apply to public school facilities should apply to the library as well, since the library is actually an extension of the public school system.

Barto added that safety devices are needed at once since the intersection will now have sharply increased traffic activity due to the library opening.

"We would like to have the situation corrected before some really bad accidents occur," Barto cited.

PETITION PLANNED

The citizens committee plans to circulate a petition calling for township action on the traffic problem. The township library board recently passed a resolution calling for traffic control measures.

H. L. Johnston, library director, contended the need for traffic controls at the intersection was pointed out when the site for the library was selected. "The library fully backs any action that might be taken to provide for a more safe and direct trip to the library," Johnston said.

Barto explained that the citizens' committee feels the funds are available to rectify the traffic problem. "Organized pressure simply has to be applied to finally get something accomplished," he cited.

2 Collegians Get Graduate Grants

Two area collegians were among over 1,100 United States and Canadian college seniors designated by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation as among the best future college teachers.

They are Larry K. Benninger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh H. Benninger of 7226 Arrowwood, West Bloomfield Township, and Thomas W. Cobb, son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Cobb of 4415 Motoway, Waterford Township.

Benninger is a senior in chemistry at Michigan State University and Cobb is an English major at the University of Michigan.

They were finalists in a competition for which 11,704 candidates were nominated last October. All those receiving designation by the foundation were interviewed by panels of college professors and academic administrators.

Plea Is Withdrawn for Miracle Mile Theater Complex

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A petition requesting permission to build a two-unit Cinema I and II theatre complex at the Miracle Mile shopping center on Telegraph has been withdrawn.

Township Supervisor Homer Case said the Don Casto Corp., Columbus, Ohio, development firm, withdrew the theater petition one day before the zoning board was to hear the request.

In a letter to the township, the Casto organization said negotiations for property in another area influenced their thinking not to pursue the Miracle Mile project at this time.

The movie theaters would have been located next to the Pontiac State Bank branch near the shopping center entrance.

Case said the zoning board's main concern with the theater project would have been whether adequate parking facilities would have been available. He added the petition probably would have been approved if the parking requirements were met.

4 Seek Milford Seats

MILFORD — A village election for president and two councilman positions will be held March 10.

The only candidate filing for president is Wilbur Johnson, of 640 Atlantic. Seeking the council seats are Charles Parks of Liberty, Dale Barr of 767 Friar and Paul Plotzer of 618 S. Main.

ACTION PLANNERS — A group of Oakland County business, industrial and cultural leaders "brainstorm" the future of the county at workshops being conducted at Oakland University. Ronald Zweig (center left), project director for Research and Development Corp., and Aubrey Crawford (center right) of the university staff guide discussion at yesterday's session on economics.

County Leaders 'Brainstorm' Area's Future

Where you will live 20 years from now in Oakland County, the distance you drive to work, the schools your children attend, the cultural influences you are subject to are all under close scrutiny now.

A brainstorming session of 35 county finance, government and industrial leaders started laying out the problems yesterday at Oakland University. Invited together by the Oakland County Planning Commission, they are under the direction of the international firm of Development and Resources commission, of which David E. Lilienthal is chairman. Lilienthal was former head of the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Atomic Energy Commission.

The D&R firm was engaged last June at a cost to the county of $5,000 plus planning commission staff resources and an $80,000 federal grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

D&R, according to Oakland County project manager Ronald Zweig, not only reports on what should be done but provides methods of implementation to get it done.

LIST OF REFERENCES

He cites a list of references which include the control of the Cauca River in Columbia for irrigation, flood control and hydroelectric power, the development of the Khuzestan area in Iran, and 12 other projects in nine countries.

What D&R will be able to help Oakland County accomplish for the future depends largely on the ideas offered at area "think-tank" sessions running through April 2.

Yesterday's topic was economics and at least one of the discussion groups got into a discussion of "new towns" versus unorganized suburban sprawl.

The problems? What if the men in attendance decide that the Orion-Independence Township area is the likely center of a new population thrust, as one of their number suggested?

LOCAL COOPERATION

How do you get the approximately 15 square miles needed to allow a total city development? How do you get local governments to agree to cooperate? Where do you get the financing, the millions of dollars necessary, for a new town development? How do you proceed with construction?

And given a new town, are you responsible for the deteriorating inner cities, many of whose people will populate the new town?

What is to happen to areas like Royal Oak and Madison Heights — areas already built up in the county — and, according to some reports at yesterday's meeting, rapidly beginning to deteriorate? Are new towns feasible? Can the zoning cooperation be obtained? Does zoning be put in the hands of the county or of the state?

PONTIAC'S PROBLEMS

Why hasn't Pontiac's urban renewal moved faster? "It's too costly not to rebuild Pontiac, but it's too costly to rebuild Pontiac in terms of rebuilding exactly those economic functions it formerly supplied."

Should new towns provide all the industry necessary to keep all its inhabitants employed? Does that include heavy industry? What about rapid transit systems?

Can you attract the people to a new town?

Can you get people who would feed the employment market for industries providing a greater diversification than the auto plants we now have? How do you get those new industries?

DETROIT'S ROLE

How does Detroit fit into the Oakland County pattern?

Do we lose if Detroit continues to slide downhill?

Before the seminars are concluded, D&R officials hope to have concrete local thinking on these and other areas including housing, health, welfare, pollution, recreation, government organization and finance.

Zweig seems to have no fears that study recommendations can be implemented.

"We've just got to define the impossible from the difficult," he said.

Hart Disputes Laird Estimate of Soviet Antimissile Outlay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Michigan Sen. Philip A. Hart yesterday challenged an estimate made by Defense Secretary Melvin Laird that the Soviet Union was outspending the United States 4 to 1 on strategic defenses.

The estimate was made by Laird in discussing the possibility that the Sentinel ballistic missile (ABM) system might be given a go-ahead despite the furor in many communities over the location of the nuclear system in their back yards.

One of the possible locations for the Sentinel system is in northern Oakland County in Michigan to protect the Detroit metropolitan area.

Hart said Laird apparently lumped Russian expenditures on the ABM, anti-aircraft missiles, interceptor aircraft, civil defense and war warning and control systems to get this estimate.

'UNFORTUNATE IMPRESSION'

"This leaves the unfortunate impression that it is on missile defenses alone that the comparison in defense spending is made," the Michigan Democrat said.

In a letter to the secretary, Hart asked for clarification. He said his understanding was the Soviets had "obtained remarkable little return for their investment" on the ABM.

In Lansing, a group opposed to the antiballistic missile site in Oakland County yesterday urged the Michigan Legislature to hold hearings on the issue.

Richard Place, a Wayne State University history professor, said the federal government "preempted the state's function of protecting its citizens by selecting the locale."

"Hearings would serve to educate the public, state officials and the legislators," he said.

Avon-Rochester Dems Set Forum Tomorrow on Incorporation Issue

ROCHESTER — The Avon-Rochester Democratic Club will sponsor an open forum on the Avon Township incorporation question tomorrow night.

The meeting will be held at 8:30 at the Avon Township Free Public Library, 210 W. University.

Speakers from groups favoring and opposing the proposed incorporation will appear, according to club chairman Peter Vernia, 2763 Tallahassee, Avon Township.

Avon Township residents will vote March 10 on approval of a proposed charter for the City of Rochester Hills (to include the entire township except for the present City of Rochester).

Speaking in favor of incorporation will be representatives of Citizens for Better Government, a group formed by township residents to investigate the question. The opposition group has not been announced.

The meeting will be open to the public.

School Board OKs Salary Adjustment

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The board of education has adopted a two-year — 1968-70 — salary adjustment, totaling $3,812 for food service personnel. The pay increases are retroactive to September 1968.

This will cover the additional five cents an hour for all food service personnel which was won in recent negotiations between the workers and the administration.

The minimum hourly rate for the lowest grade of food service employee is now $1.75 while the food service manager receives $2.55.

In other recent action, the board has authorized the Ealy School PTA to continue planning its 1969 self-supporting summer activities program. The curriculum includes arts and crafts as well as organized outdoor activities, planned along the lines of last year's program.

ATTENDED BY 350

Open to all public and private school kindergarten through sixth grade students, last year's summerlong program was attended by some 350 students. Each student paid a fee of $8 for a half-day — three-hour session over two weeks.

The proposed program for the summer of 1969 will be staffed with West Bloomfield teachers backed up by college students. A program director may also be hired.

A fee of about $10 will be charged to cover program costs. The figure is based on last year's cost experience, according to John C. Evans, Ealy PTA president.

The board also congratulated the Ealy PTA for its effort to assist the school district in promoting fuller utilization of existing facilities and staff in the best interests of youth.

Gifts from the Green School PTA of $264, for furniture to equip a teachers room and $144, for the purchase of library books, were accepted by the board.

Novi Vote OKs Charter for City

NOVI — A charter for this village to become a city was ratified here yesterday by a vote of 629 to 283. Only 980 of the 2,868 registered voters went to the polls.

A mayor and six councilmen were also elected. Chosen mayor was Joseph Crupi of 23790 Maude Lee Circle with 507 votes. Defeated candidates: J. Philip Anderson of 50250 W. Eight Mile and Leo Harwood of 24042 Willow Brook received 240 and 149 votes, respectively.

The new charter sets a limit of not more than 6 1/2 mills while the old village charter called for 5 mills with the township collecting another 1 1/2 mills. A city manager-council form of government is established by the charter.

The township's property and assets will be divided between the new city and those property owners remaining in the township.

START MONDAY

The mayor and councilmen will take office Monday.

The mayor will receive $15 and each councilman $10 for every meeting attended, according to provisions of the new charter.

The new charter sets a limit of not more than 6 1/2 mills while the old village charter called for 5 mills with the township collecting another 1 1/2 mills. A city manager-council form of government is established by the charter.

The township's property and assets will be divided between the new city and those property owners remaining in the township.

ver-to-Chicago Burlington freight train left the rails Tuesday at the west edge of this community of 3,500.

The derailing cars struck three 40,000-gallon tank cars of anhydrous ammonia, rupturing one of them with a shattering explosion that hurled chunks of twisted steel into yards on each side of the right-of-way.

The ammonia spread like a deadly ground fog. "I opened the front door and I couldn't see anything," said Mrs. Mamie Litter, 60, one of

Grid Star Tells of Faith Help

As the coach talked, you could see the guys straightening up to take a closer look at this intense man.

"But first of all," he went on, "you are going to prepare yourself up here." He put his finger to his temple.

MENTAL READINESS

"You can't win if you're not ready to win mentally. Therefore, I expect you to think about only three things while you are part of this organization: your family, your religion and the Green Bay Packers."

I for one walked out of that meeting feeling 10 feet tall — and I hadn't played a lick for him!

All of us caught his enthusiasm. Just as he said we would, we started working harder on the field.

We started our preseason games. The tempo rose. Suddenly we won a game and our spirits soared. They kept on soaring. By the end of the 1959 season, we had won seven out of 12 games with virtually the same players who had lost 10 games the year before.

In 1960 we won a division title, then in 1961 a world title, and after that the sky always seemed to be our limit.

How had Coach Lombardi accomplished these things?

You can say, of course, that he did it with his particular genius. But that's not an explanation.

'GENIUS' ATTAINABLE

Having played for him for 10 seasons, I think I have reason to say that his "genius" consists of some very simple things.

These are ideas available to all of us and useful in any undertaking if we but using is a habit. "It's con-fidantious," he'd say, "and so is of note-making and of drawing diagrams, after all these things have been completed, the Lord's Prayer said in unison becomes a unifying force pulling all our efforts together."

Vincent Lombardi is a sincere and believing man who goes to church every day of the week, who seldom talks in religious tones, but whose religion is as natural and as integral a part of him as are the prayers we say together before and after every Packer game.

Those prayers are something else I have learned from Coach Lombardi's example.

Next — Daniel Negris, former jazz pianist, tells how the Bible helped him make a comeback after the sweat of the practice field and after the from a life centered around groggy hours examining movies drugs.

And I have yet to come up from my knees without feeling personally that we were going to do all the things that Coach Lombardi had prepared us to do.

After the week's preparations are over, after the sweat of the practice field and after the from a life centered around groggy hours examining movies drugs.

Check Your Tax Expert

As if you didn't know, it is income tax time again, and "tax consultant" signs are blooming in storefront windows and other unlikely places like the crocuses that will soon herald the onset of spring.

But while the latter bring delight, the latter can bring a headache.

For there are many breeds of tax consultants: experts who are certified public accountants with tax-law experience; others who are conscientious but inexperienced; still others who are frauds.

Which should alert an income tax payer to the necessity of picking a qualified tax consultant, if he is in need of such service. The majority of fly-by-nighters whose signs proclaim their tax services are not licensed by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and hence cannot represent a client before that bureau beyond the preliminary examination stage if his tax return is questioned.

As in so many other areas of personal service, those who consider themselves unqualified to prepare their own tax returns should patronize only established and reputable tax consultants. Clients doing so will in most cases be money ahead and perhaps spared an unpleasant tete-a-tete with the IRS.

Heart Month Lists Gains

It's Heart Month again.

This is the 20th such anniversary, which will be observed throughout February and reach its climax on Heart Sunday, Feb. 23, when more than 1 1/4 million volunteers will call on their neighbors to distribute heart-saving literature.

The American Heart Association reports that there has been a decline of 18.4 per cent in the cardiovascular death rate for persons under 65 since 1950, when massive research programs were initiated.

Put another way, about 49,000 more lives are being prolonged yearly than would have been the case had the 1950 death rate continued.

Among the long list of advances achieved in the past 20 years are:

- Drugs for controlling high blood pressure.
- Heart-lung machines to take over the circulation during heart surgery.

- Artificial heart valves and synthetic artery grafts.
- Artificial pacemakers to maintain regular heart rhythm.

Additionally, there have been successful kidney transplants between identical twins and the development of the artificial kidney; the refinement of Coronary Care units which monitor heart patients and have improved the survival rate by 30 per cent; and vastly improved diagnostic techniques.

Much remains to be done, however. More than 25 million Americans are afflicted with some form of cardiovascular illness, a total that surpasses any other complex of diseases.

But the foregoing is sound basis for those suffering heart ailments to take heart.

South Vietnam Future Dim

Given $30 billion and 10 years of peace, South Vietnam could be made self-supporting. Or so claims a report prepared for President Nixon by DANIEL LILIENTHAL, former chairman of both the Tennessee Valley Authority and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and now head of a consulting firm, and Prof. Vu Quoc Thuc, South Vietnamese economist and minister of state.

Although the plan envisions much of the money being raised by the Saigon government, by private enterprise and by foreign investors, one's first impulse is to dispatch a telegram to Washington urging that we send them a check in the full amount forthwith. It would be cheap at several times the price.

It would, in fact, be about one-tenth of what the United States will have spent in 10 years prosecuting the war at its past and current rate.

That a mere $30 billion could, in the opinion of these experts, render South Vietnam self-sufficient, underscores how wasteful and counterproductive war really is. The military investment the American taxpayer has made in Vietnam thus far could have made wealthy people of every man, woman and child in that country, by their standards.

The essential premise upon which this economic master plan is predicated is, of course, peace. And that depends upon the willingness of North Vietnam to permit her sister nation to develop independently and unmolested.

Years of war have not achieved that result. Months of negotiations in Paris may, according to the most realistic outlook, bring only a respite from concentrated harassment from the outside.

It could be 10 years and many times $30 billion before South Vietnam attains the internal political stability and tranquility it must have before it can even begin enjoying economic health.

David Lawrence Says:

Agnew Duties Exceed the Law

WASHINGTON—An amendment to the Constitution may be found necessary if Vice President Agnew is to assume some of the functions of administrative supervision which have already been delegated to him by President Nixon.

LAWRENCE

For the Constitution specifies merely that the vice president shall be "president of the Senate" and that, in the case of a tie, he may cast a deciding vote. It is plain that he is considered to be a member of Congress rather than an official in the executive branch of the government.

dent is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office.

But under the provisions of the Constitution, the vice president himself cannot become an integral part of the executive branch of the government while the president is able to exercise the powers of his office.

Unquestionably the idea of training the vice president in the duties of the presidency is a sensible one.

NO OBJECTION

There would be no objection to the adoption of a more detailed provision of the constitution enabling the vice president to perform certain acts and duties in behalf of the chief executive at any time, and not just during an emergency due to a president's disability.

The vagueness of the Constitution on the subject of filling vacancies in the office of president was cleared up by the 1967 amendment, but there are some areas in which the powers of the vice president require further definition.

Public opinion undoubtedly would support an amendment to the Constitution authorizing the president to turn over at his discretion certain responsibilities to the vice president, even though official acts would still require presidential approval.

Bob Considine Says:

Vietnam Foes Feel War May Simply Fade Away

NEW YORK — Nobody at Paris has mentioned it yet, probably because it would sound too infantile, but there is strong feeling on both sides that the war in Vietnam will simply fade away.

CONSIDINE

This is not a new idea. Two years ago in Saigon, in talks with the Vietnamese leaders and the American military and diplomatic leaders, I was assured that the "Oh, what the hell!" spirit would soon prevail.

In setting up various advisory boards in the executive branch in recent years, Congress has provided for participation by the vice president.

Thus, he is a member of the National Security Council and is chairman of the national advisory council of the Peace Corps and of the National Aeronautics and Space Council. But these provisions of law do not bestow any authority on the administrative side.

ILL OR DISABLED

The 25th Amendment to the Constitution, adopted in February 1967, provides that if the president is ill or disabled and acknowledges that he is temporarily unable to perform the duties of his office, "such powers and duties shall be discharged by the vice president as acting president."

It also prescribes a formula whereby Congress can empower the vice president to serve as acting president if it is determined that the president is unable to perform the duties of his office.

Both Vietnam have a dread of China, which once ruled them for a thousand years. Ho Chi Minh will readily accept Chinese arms and food supplies. But he wants no Chinese troops or "volunteers" inside his hard-pressed country. He's afraid that if they came in and his side "won" they'd remain for another thousand years.

Both sides have a mutual suspicion of white-faced foreigners, and for good reason. They were dominated by the French for a century.

LOOK LIKE FRENCH

To the Vietnamese eye, we look a great deal like the French, physiologically. Hence, they often wonder about us.

Our military has frequently been flabbergasted and frustrated by the methods and manners of our noble allies, the South Vietnamese. But the same is true in the North.

Ky once tried to explain the fading-out thesis to me. It went something like this:

The fighting one day would drop off, then drop off the next day. There would be fewer ambushes, fewer acts of terrorism. Then one at all. The traffic along the many Ho Chi Minh trails would dry up and wither.

Salmon would tap the puzzled Americans on the shoulder and tell us to stop pushing so aggressively. Hanoi would tap Moscow and Peking and say, "Thanks, but no thanks."

Voice of the People:

'Many Apathetic Toward 1970 Census Questions'

Many people seem tolerant of anything the Federal Government does, believing that it works only for the "good of the people." This includes apathy toward the ridiculous questions being put on the 1970 census questionnaire—such questions as whether you enter the house from the front door or the back; intimate questions on income, marital status, education; and whether there is a telephone, washing machine, freezer, etc. in the house.

Perhaps people would be less apathetic if they knew that large corporations are behind the extensive questions on household utility items. Maybe people will ask that these questions be stricken from the 1970 census questionnaire so that a few thousand in business will not know every detail of our personal lives.

Corrects Information on Waterford Schools

Recent letters contained erroneous information about the Waterford Township School District. Half-day sessions will result in secondary schools losing their accreditation. These standards are set up by a non-tax-supported agency and local school boards have nothing to do with setting them. The reference to youngsters from a Class D school attending college has nothing to do with accreditation. Class D refers to a classification for athletic scheduling.

Letters that protest against driver training and special classes for mentally handicapped youngsters and others who have special needs seem hard to reconcile in this complicated age. To criticize all educators and youngsters from Waterford Township is most unfair in view of the splendid record that almost all of our youngsters achieve.

The Waterford Township School District always tries to provide answers to questions that any citizens have and we encourage you to seek out the facts. The fate of your schools depends on it.

Radical Students Should Look at Real Issues

It's time for the radical students to stand back and look at themselves and the issues. They are being used to tear down their freedoms in the name of freedom; to destroy their heritage and the loyalty of their comrades with manufactured grievances and protests; to spread dissent by verbal garbage; to create a vacuum of authority by mob rule and chaos; to cry "police brutality" when those charged with maintaining order try to do it; to protect themselves from prosecution by constitutional amendment, meanwhile seeking to uproot its very foundation.

Demonstrations cropping up spontaneously in unison suggest some master planning behind the scenes by a well-regulated organization. The enemy is in a hurry. He knows time is running out. Let us not destroy one another for his benefit.

Mr. Donaldson says mail to the Pacific isn't affected by the strike, but my son stationed in Okinawa has difficulty receiving mail. We write every day but sometimes he goes a whole week with no mail and then gets only one or two letters. I mailed two boxes air lift Jan. 11 and he still hadn't received them Feb. 6. Can you help get us an answer? My son's A.P.O. is San Francisco.

Postmaster Donaldson says first class mail to servicemen is flown to the A.P.O. center, and the armed forces take it from there. However, he will be calling you to see about running a check on some letters to try to find an answer for you.

Question and Answer

I've lived in Pontiac 40 years and the center of downtown has always been Lawrence Street with all building numbers north of that being called Saginaw and those south of it called South Saginaw. Now Auburn Avenue is continually referred to as the center of downtown Pontiac and also as the central business location. When, why and by whom was the center of downtown changed?

J. T.

REPLY

We talked with Mr. Smith in the Planning and Urban Renewal department, and he tells us there's no "official" center of downtown Pontiac that he knows about. While you're always thought of it as Lawrence Street, others consider Huron and Saginaw the center. Some references are made to the Auburn-Orchard Lake-Wide Track intersection because it's the center of property available for urban renewal. Still others must have considered Pike Street the center, because that (not Lawrence) is where Saginaw numbering is divided into north and south.

Dilemma

Holland Sentinel

Some months ago we discussed the problems of a democracy in an age geared to highly scientific decisions based on computerized information. We are called upon to vote billions of dollars for programs with nothing more than the word of a handful of experts. Even though Congress may hold hearings, the hard facts are that a reasonable decision can't be made by men not acquainted with the sophisticated hardware that will be used.

The nation is now facing just such a dilemma as the floor of Congress, in dozens of suburbs, and in scores of discussion groups, the problem of the Sentinel ant-ballistic missile system is up for grabs.

Can we make our decision purely on scientific grounds? Can we allow our emotions to decide what we ought to do? Can the decision be left up to people who really don't understand the merits of the system? These are not theoretical problems, they are problems facing the nation, and they need answers.

We have reached the point where our scientific know-how stands in the way of our self-government.

In the Middle Ages reason and faith were one. Today we have not only divorced them, but we have carried reason to the point that we have thrown it as the final arbiter nothing shows the impasse of our present situation as much as our feeble attempts to carry on a discussion involving billions of dollars, and insisting that we are doing this in a rational way. Maybe it is time to follow the Middle Ages and to ask some serious moral and ethical questions. This may yet be our salvation.

Mini-Vacations

Motor News

An airline fondly hopes that mini-vacations will prove just as popular as mini-skirts. Northwest Orient Airlines now offers a series of three and four-day holidays to fun cities on its coast-to-coast routes, designed especially for the person who likes to travel but whose time is limited. "It may be the tempo of our times or the pace of business these days, but busy people are looking for the short respite from routine," said an airlines spokesman. Northwest may have an idea that will catch on, just as mini-skirts did.

Seniority Holds Sway in Senate

Key to Privilege, as Well as Real Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — They may be statesmen back home on the banquet circuit, but newcomers in the U.S. Senate soon learn they have to climb its status ladder from bottom rungs.

There is no mention in Senate rules that seniority affects committee assignments—or anything else. But the men who know it best say it is an unwritten numbers game bearing on a wide range of status and privilege—as well as real power tied to choice committee positions.

No one knew this better than former President Lyndon B. Johnson, who kept a list of senators and their seniority ranking under the glass top of his desk for ready reference when he was majority leader.

Another intimate of the system—his livelihood depends on knowing it—is Gordon F. Harrison, staff director of the Senate Rules Committee and the man in charge of providing office space for senators and fielding their day-to-day housekeeping grievances.

ARE YOU HAPPY?

"Before we offer a suite of rooms to any senator, for instance, we go to Sen. Russell and we say, 'Senator, would you like this suite or are you happy where you are?'"

Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., is the senior member of the Senate, having been in office 36 years.

"Then we go down the list," Harrison said, "next to Sen. Ellender."

Allen J. Ellender, D-La., is No. 2 in Senate seniority with 32 years behind him.

MINOR COMPLAINTS

Harrison, who has held the job for 14 years, has other duties but much of his time is spent tending the minor complaints of the status-conscious senators.

His voice changes from plaintive to anguished when he discusses the start of a new congressional session, the time every two years when the seniority standings undergo major changes as long-time members retire and newcomers arrive.

The shuffle of office space reaches whirlwind proportions. "It's like moving one family in with another family and telling the original family to move some of its members into the kitchen and add a few others in the bedroom," he said.

FATHER'S SUITE

Harry F. Byrd Jr. D-Va., in the Senate less than four years, would like someday to get the suite formerly occupied by his father, who was a senator from 1933-65, Harrison said.

That suite is occupied by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., who took it when Wayne Morse, D-Ore., was defeated in 1968. Stennis is No. 12 in seniority. Byrd is No. 76.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., is thought to have his eye on the suite once occupied by his predecessor and good friend, Theodore Francis Green. But it is now occupied by Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, No. 47 in seniority. Pell is 58.

'Poor Ventilation in Many Collision Shops'

Why are collision shops allowed to operate without proper ventilation? The men breathe paint fumes and bondo dust constantly. I was in a shop for just a few minutes and I don't see how they can stand it all day. I think the owner should spend a few hours there and maybe he would decide to stop breathing or make the air fit to breathe. Surely a business like that can afford a vent fan.

I wish Pontiac would decide where to build the new super high school instead of boycotting and arguing. It could be decided in a peaceful way.

1968 PONTIAC CENTRAL GRADUATE

I heard that VOCAL plans a student protest about the new school site. Protests and demonstrations seem to be a way of life. What will education be to children who see their parents perform this way? I believe in dissent but not in this manner. Some of these people would be doing something if they were home cleaning up their homes and trying to build instead of tearing down our society.

MR. AND MRS. R. C. REID

So our stalwart band on the Board of Education is giving in to a minority. The decision was made but not for long. Pressure changed the minds of those representatives we voted into office to weigh and consider the best possible methods of serving the people. We live on another side of town, but after hearing the pros and cons and seeing the proposed site and realizing these people truly believed this was best, we were ready to acknowledge their selection. They were voted into office because the majority was willing to place decisions in their hands. I am sorry this is how they rate their own ability.

MR. AND MRS. LAWRENCE HANSEN
2935 UNIVERSITY DRIVE

On the proposed site of the new high school, it's time we forget our prejudices and do what's right. To pay a man thousands of dollars to choose between the downtown site and the State Hospital site and then do the opposite of what he advises is wrong. The school is too far from the black community and by the time it's built there will still be no bus service to black students.

Laymen Control Fordham Board

NEW YORK (AP) — Fordham University has a board of trustees controlled by laymen for the first time in its 128-year history.

With the election Tuesday of 17 new trustees—14 laymen and three Jesuits—the expanded board now has 15 laymen and 11 Jesuits.

However, the Jesuit board said that Fordham would remain "Catholic and Jesuit." Joseph A. Kaiser, a bank president, was elected the first lay chairman of the board earlier this year.

The Jesuit trustees decided last December to turn over control to laymen following a study by two outside professors.

Detroit Schools to Mark Death of Malcolm X

DETROIT (AP) — The fourth anniversary of the death of Malcolm X will be observed in some Detroit high schools Friday.

Special assemblies and classroom study sessions were encouraged by the Detroit public schools system which suggested such observances in an internal bulletin issued two weeks ago.

Malcolm X grew up in Mason, Mich., south of Lansing. He spent some of his early life in Detroit. The black militant was shot to death Feb. 21, 1965 as he spoke to followers in New York City.

Some groups asked that Feb. 21 be declared a holiday and have encouraged absenteeism from school and jobs to dramatize the request for such a holiday.

Detroit school officials said they hoped the schools' special services would keep absenteeism at a minimum but that if a child is absent, a written note from the family will excuse the absence.

Official Indicates SF State Was Site of Enrollee Force

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A group of students forced an administrator to enroll them "under threat of physical violence" at San Francisco State College, the chancellor of California state colleges indicates.

Gov. Ronald Reagan had disclosed the incident previously but refused to say which campus was involved. Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke hinted Tuesday it was San Francisco State.

Dumke said 38 or 40 students forced their way into the administrators' office and "dressed" was applied, which resulted in his admitting a group of students which he, perhaps, would not have. Neither Dumke nor Reagan would detail the incident.

However, when asked if the illegally enrolled students are still on the campus, Dumke said "My unofficial understanding is that some turned out all right."

Bridge Missed—Now It's Suspended

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The story of the bridge that missed came to light yesterday.

It's a 600-foot span that was supposed to carry Interstate 79 across a valley in suburban Collier Township. But state highway officials say the bridge is 13 feet out of line with connecting ramps and roadways, halting all construction.

"It's a nasty situation," said a highway department spokesman. "It's probably the worst mess we've ever faced."

The error was detected by an engineer for the W. P. Dickerson Co., the subcontractor handling construction. "We were putting in the bridge piers when one of our engineers noticed that they didn't seem to be in line with a huge rock cut being made at the south end of the project," said John McCasick, an official of the firm.

Surveyors were called in and they made a "terrible discovery," said McCasick. "It was confirmed that the bridge was lining up as much as 13 feet out of kilter with base lines established for the roadway."

Work on the project was stopped and engineers have gone to work to redesign ramps and roadways.

A highway spokesman said two private consultants drew up plans for the bridge and roadway, and the blueprints didn't match.

"It's a mathematical error that can be rectified," he said. "It can happen to anybody. Engineers are only human, you know."

Bid to Silence WSU Editor Is Unsuccessful

Ag Department Cites Trend

'Smokers to Puff Less by 1975'

DETROIT (AP)—Members of a student group seeking the ouster of Wayne State University student newspaper editor John Watson emerged "not at all happy" from a one-hour session with University President William R. Keast Tuesday.

The students, members of a group called Counterthrust, said they bore petitions with 2,000 student signatures to the meeting.

After the meeting, in which the group urged immediate action to silence Watson, editor of the radical South End, freshman Mary Jane Pouch of Detroit said, "Keast wants to maintain a nonrepressive campus atmosphere, but the only people he's protecting from repression are the black militants."

Miss Pouch said her delegation represented a 100-member group.

DEFENDS PAPER

While the meeting was going on in Keast's office, Watson defended the South End before a noon rally of 300 students.

Watson said the paper could support Cuba, China and world revolution with no protest. "But when we started talking about the Arabs and Israelis," he said, "it seems like the whole town blew up."

He said "The entire power structure had a way to come down on the South End" under the guise of attacking anti-Semitism.

There were 12,093 homicides in the United States last year, an all-time high.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today trends indicate that by 1975 the average American smoker will puff about 15 packs fewer cigarettes a year than he does now.

Because of population growth, total U.S. cigarette consumption is not expected to change much.

Arthur G. Conover, an Economic Research Service analyst, presented the report to the Agricultural Outlook Conference. He described it as only a projection of past and current trends, not a forecast.

The projection assumes that present antismoking campaigns will continue.

NO ACCURATE COUNT

Conover noted there is not a "highly accurate count" on the number of smokers or the average rates of consumption.

But using state reports on tax-paid cigarette sales as a basis, Conover estimated that in fiscal 1968 the average smoker over 18 consumed 3,847 cigarettes, or slightly more than a half pack a day.

Based on projected census figures and trends, he estimated per capita smoking by 1975 will be 3,529 cigarettes. This will include a decline in male smokers from the current 57 per cent of those over 18 to 50 per cent, and a drop for females from 36.5 per cent to 33 per cent.

Sales of commercially prepared pet foods have increased by more than 100 per cent in the past decade, with the dog food market put at $660 million and the cat food market at $230 million for cat food.

Mrs. Thomas J. Martin

Service for Mrs. Thomas J. (Mabel A.) Martin, 79, of 206 E. Huron will be 11 a.m. Saturday at Harold R. Davis Funeral Home, Auburn Heights, with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery. Mrs. Martin, a member of the Golden Age Group at the YWCA, died yesterday.

Surviving are four sons, Thomas J. of Mount Clemens and Alfred, Arthur W. and Albert E., all of Pontiac; a daughter, Mrs. Mable Johnson of Pontiac; a brother, John Oliver of Pontiac; two sisters, including Mrs. Freda Church of Pontiac; and 12 grandchildren.

Waterford School Board to Review Questionnaires

First returns of the millage questionnaires mailed last week to parents of Waterford Township students will be reviewed at tomorrow's meeting of the township school board. If the volume of return is considered large enough to be conclusive, the board will decide whether to retain the March 26 election date set at its Feb. 26 meeting.

Should the questionnaires indicate a favorable response, voters will be given the opportunity to pass a nine-mill tax increase. The millage proposal and a $10.3-million bond issue were defeated Dec. 7.

In other business scheduled for the 7:30 p.m. meeting at the school board office, 3101 W. Walton, the board will consider use of the building for adult and community school programs and will hear proposed names for the building.

City School Board Meeting Is Reset

The Pontiac Board of Education meeting regularly scheduled for tomorrow night has been rescheduled to next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Pontiac Northern High School.

Supt. of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, Assistant Supt. William J. Lacy and several board members are attending the American Association of School Administrators meeting in Atlantic City, N.J., which lasts until tomorrow.

Strike Dispute Perils Construction in Area

A dispute between builders and labor over prefabricated housing is threatening to close down almost all the construction jobs in Oakland County and the Detroit Metropolitan area.

The shutdown, which could affect 10,000 carpenters, could be accomplished by the contractors in retaliation for a carpenters union strike, it was announced. The strike so far only involves four jobs.

The conflict began Jan. 21 in Detroit when Local 337 of the carpenters union struck against the John Perrone Co., a firm based at Walled Lake. The firm was building two-story townhouses, using prefabricated wall panels.

The carpenters contended they should build the walls on the site according to their pay scales, and a strike ensued. The strike then was extended to three other projects of the Perrone company, including the Pontiac-Oakland Valley apartments at Walton and Squirrel in Pontiac Township.

SECONDARY BOYCOTT

This is labeled a secondary boycott by contractors' associations. David Orrell, executive secretary for the Carpenters/Contractors Association, told The Press today that a lockout of all construction workers in the

About 500 were in attendance, representing various black community and civil rights groups, he said.

Discussions lasted about 3½ hours, and problems of education dominated the meeting. Dr. Guzman said. The caucus concluded, "Institutionalized racial attitudes must end if polarization of the races is to be halted and, hopefully, reversed," Dr. Guzman reported.

Another meeting has been called for 3 p.m. Sunday between Pontiac black community leaders and black political leaders from Detroit, it was announced.

Teen Charged in 1 Holdup; 2nd Probed

A city teen-ager was arrested last night at his home in connection with the armed robbery of a Pontiac gas station.

Bloomfield Township police said they will question the same youth in connection with an armed robbery there, also last night.

Pontiac police said Anthony E. Powell, 18, of 111 Raeburn has been charged with robbing the Progressive Oil Co., 477 S. Saginaw of $58 at 6:50 p.m. yesterday.

Police information on events leading up to the arrest was not available.

Lt. Martin McLaughlin of the Bloomfield Township police said police believe Powell also may have been involved in a $231 armed robbery at Mick's Sunoco Station, 1881 S. Telegraph, Bloomfield Township, where two men held up two attendants at about 7:45 p.m.

McLaughlin said the youth has not been charged in the second robbery, which is still under investigation.

3 Elected to Board of Credit Union

Three new members have been elected to the board of directors of the Chief Pontiac Federal Credit Union, Gordon W. Rice, president of the credit union, announced today.

The new officials are Norman O. Ryden of 7375 Pontiac Lake, Waterford Township, vice president; James P. Harrington of 2371 Denby, Waterford Township, treasurer-general manager; and Harold Kline, 560 Lenox, Pontiac, secretary.

Gener Lowery, 2353 University, Pontiac Township, was elected to the credit committee.

Safe Is Looted in Waterford

Burglars cracked the safe at the Howard Johnson Restaurant in Waterford Township early today, making off with an estimated $1,500 in cash.

The break-in was reported shortly after 6 a.m. when the manager of the firm at 3650 Dixie opened for business. Township Investigator James Webb said the burglars entered the building by forcing the rear door, then chiseled the safe door open.

Webb said the thieves overlooked a canvas bag in the safe which contained yesterday's business receipts. Identification officers checked the scene for fingerprints and other evidence, which police said has established at least two preliminary suspects in the case.

However, Webb said no arrests are immediately forthcoming.

State Police Probing OU Flag-Burning

A flag-burning incident, which reportedly occurred during an entertainment program Sunday night at Oakland University, is still under investigation today by State Police.

The program, in the sports and recreation building, was one of the final events of Black History Week at the university sponsored by the Association of Black Students.

One of the off-campus entertainment groups reportedly burned the American flag during the course of their act before an audience of about 200. The group was identified by university officials as "Third World Players," part of a drama group, "Concept East," from Detroit.

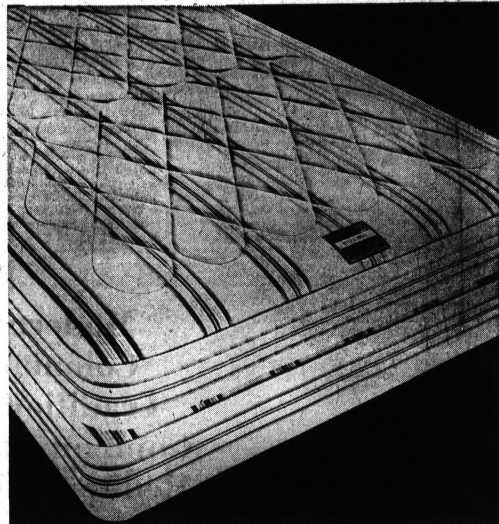

Their skit was called "Assassination of a Dream." The incident was immediately reported to the FBI by university officials. The case was turned over to the Pontiac State Police post yesterday.

"VERY SERIOUS" "The university considers this incident to be very serious. Multitilation of the American flag calls for a penalty," said Troy Crowder, assistant to the chancellor.

"On the basis of information we have, the sponsoring organization (Association of Black Students) was not aware in advance that the incident would occur," Crowder said. Both state and federal statutes define desecration of the American flag as a misdemeanor. No one has been charged in the incident yet.

Many Muslims Pilgrimage to Mecca by Jet

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Theicans once wandered for years, jet-age is on. It is the time for Muslims to make a pilgrimage to Mecca, the thing that every son of Islam wants to do.

"I don't call it a season, I call it a crisis," wails Abdul Latif Hamandi, sales manager here for Middle East Airlines.

PILGRIMS STRANDED
The government acted also because private agents often stranded pilgrims in Saudi Arabia.

Pilgrims pay $372.40 a round trip from Lagos; $315 from Kano, considerable sums in a land where the annual average income hovers around $60. Thousands of pilgrims save for years for the trip.

For $6.60 extra a pilgrim can purchase two gallon-tins of Medina dates and a gallon tin of Zam Zam water, supposedly taken from the sacred well next to the Great Mosque, Haram, which encloses the Kaaba, the goal of the pilgrimage and the point toward which Muslims throughout the world turn when they pray.

Margaret Paulus (left), owner of the Mar-Len Millinery Shop in Birmingham suggests a spray of spring flowers to trim the off-the-face picture hat frame chosen by Mrs. Robert Froelich of Northville.

Delicate salmon-colored net will cover crown and brim of a white frame for Mrs. Earl Long of Fourteen Mile Road, Bloomfield Township. Pins are used to create the effect first, and when results are satisfying, the whole thing is glued together.

The finished product is a thing of beauty for Mrs. Clayton Roth of Amy Drive, Independence Township. Her choice is a striking cut-away brim stone pine in black cut velvet trimmed with satin and velvet ribbon in a three-tone pink combination.

Faculty Wives Hold Bonnet Spring-In

By JEANNE NELSON
Walking into the Mar-Len Millinery Shop in Birmingham, I felt like a kid locked in a candy store. Row upon row of lovely fabrics hung against the wall while spoils of gay ribbons lined the shelves below.

It was a "fun" evening with members of the Oakland Community College Faculty Wives who turned their regular meeting into a creative workshop. Owner Margaret Paulus had her staff on call to help with decisions for the "Wives" who were making their own spring hats.

Although the shop is in the throes of moving, stock supplies seemed unlimited. Naturally I had to try each shape available. Being a non-hat type, I felt strange at first, but after the first few tries, discovered that some types are great camouflages.

The materials needed for hat making seem endless; chicken wire, fabrics, feathers, ribbons and even funny things called bills for the new Oliver hats.

Intent on making their headgear in one evening, the members of the group were a quiet bunch as they cut, glued and pinned together all sorts of combinations.

Frosted beads and berries were favorites when it came to trimming, with velvet polka dotted ribbons a close second. Some of the combinations got a little out of hand and when this happened one of Miss Paulus' staffers came to the rescue.

Most of the women were new to the game and inclined to overdo the effect until they were shown the advantage of "a touch of this and no more."

As women are wont to do, they all chose almost entirely different types of frames so that little comparison was heard. The shop conducts six-week classes twice a week, all year long, for women wishing to learn the techniques of millinery.

In addition to the numerous daytime creations, Miss Paulus also designs bridal headpieces and head coverings for wedding party members.

You'd think after all this exposure to fine millinery this reporter would have been converted, but I'm just as hatless today as yesterday, unless you count that old rain bonnet in my coat pocket.

The flowery froth was too much for Mrs. David Harris of Birmingham to resist. "Just let me try it on," she coaxed during a meeting of the Oakland Community College Faculty Wives held in Mar-Len Millinery, Birmingham.

Every Individual Has the Ability to Develop Innate Power or ESP

By JUNE ELERT
"Relax. Close your eyes. Try to still the senses. As things become still, you will become very aware of the body functions. Your stomach makes sound like a pot boiling on the stove. Inside your head, all sorts of noises are going on."

"Quiet your mind. Stop thinking — let go. Soon it will be quiet and you will know that you are you, separate from your mind and your body."

"Now you are meditating. You will feel a power. Whether in your head, or your heart area or perhaps in your solar plexus, it is there."

"Unfortunately, it will go away. But it can be brought back and with practice, soon you will be able to open your eyes and retain this power."

"Somewhere along the way you will begin to be aware of others communicating with you. Once you have the feel of it, you will never stop working at it."

Thus did Richard Eubanks, Detroit attorney, outline the formula by which, he said, anyone can develop his innate power, labeled, popularly, ESP, for extra-sensory perception.

IN FRANKLIN
At the Franklin Forum Tuesday, sponsored by Friends of the Franklin Library, Eubanks and his wife, Ruth, presented a cooperative lecture on this topic which has been their abiding interest for more than 10 years.

The couple reinforced their presentation with a series of examples from their own experience:

• Dredging the name of a forgotten French poet (a homework assignment) from the subconscious of a 14-year-old daughter;

• Laying in a supply of favorite foods of another child who was not expected home but turned up there anyway due to illness;

• Having a handy friend along to point out a soon-to-be-available parking space in downtown Detroit;

This was cited as an example of clairvoyance or second sight. Eubanks told of a weird reappearance of a friend, recently dead in a fire, who had to be convinced that he really ought to lie down and be quiet. This latter is what psychics call an "out-of-the-body" experience.

Who among us has not had a hunch? Or a "feeling" about something before it happened? These experiences of pre-cognition may presage greater things to come, if only there were time —. But ten years? I guess I'll continue finding my parking spots without supernatural help.

Eubanks politely refused to comment on the case of his client, Dr. Tony Agapao, the Filipino faith healer who recently skipped bail and fled rather than face charges of fraud in a Detroit court.

Try a Little Tenderness for Some Lasting Results

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 53 and have been a widow for three years. I keep my hand in business to keep occupied, but I have no money worries.
I dress fashionably, am well-groomed, I wear glasses and my figure is "so-so." I'm no beauty, and I look my age.
I would like to get married again, but I don't like old men, and young men don't like me. Don't tell me to travel. I've traveled plenty and all I meet is other women looking for men. Don't tell me to develop my personality. I have more "personality" than most men I know. Don't suggest contact lenses. I've tried them and can't wear them. And don't tell me to tint my hair. I already do. What can you do for me?

LOOKING DEAR: Nothing. No man wants a woman who anticipates all the questions and knows all the answers. If you really want a man, you'll have to come across more like a woman.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are expecting our first baby in about a month. We've arranged to have a woman come in (afternoons) to help with the cooking and cleaning the first two weeks.

The problem is my mother has informed us that she is coming as soon as the baby is born so she can "help" me. Abby, I wrote her some time ago, telling her that I wanted her to wait until the baby is a month old, but she apparently ignored my suggestion.

My mother is extremely critical and I am her favorite target. She makes me nervous. The last time she visited us, my husband threatened to send her packing if she didn't lay off me.
How can I tell my mother to please stay home that first month without causing a major rift?
UPSET MOTHER-TO-BE
DEAR UPSET: Tell your mother again, just as you have told me, that you will welcome her when the baby is one month old — but not before. If it causes a major rift, be prepared to accept it. Otherwise prepare to be criticized, AND upset.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WORRIED PARENTS IN PITTSBURGH: No. We don't need a "new" code of morals.

What we need is the courage and wisdom to live up to the old ones.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A free demonstration of the versatility of hyplar acrylic polymer materials will be given Thursday by Lazos Markos, New York, at the Pontiac Creative Arts Center, Inc.
The film-demonstration begins at 7:30 p.m.

Awaiting the winner's kiss of peace from church sexton Simon Knight is Sylvia Winstanley, 17 (left), victor in the annual international Shrove Tuesday pancake race between Olney, England and Liberal, Kan. The English girl's time was 1 minute, 4.2 seconds. At right, Raneta Pomeroy, 18, was first at the finish line in Liberal with time of 1 minute, 7 seconds. First and second American runners-up were Kathleen West, 19 and Mrs. Janice Grant, who took first place in the Kansas race last year.

Choose Music Appealing to All Guests

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute
Dear Mrs. Post: I have recently attended several wedding receptions, some of which were lavish, yet at all of them the rock and roll music (and you know what it is today) plays without letup.
Conversation is impossible. Shouldn't there be some time during dinner when music should be in the background allowing people to talk without shouting?—Mrs. S.

Dear Mrs. S.: Guests at a wedding reception are usually a mixture of all age groups. For this reason alone music should be chosen that appeals to everyone, not just the very young. Apart from this, any party benefits from a change of pace, and at a wedding reception in particular the music played should fit the occasion and the mood rather than being one long festival of jazz or rock and roll.

WHO CALLS?
Dear Mrs. Post: I have just returned home from a foreign country after being away for two years. Should I call other members of my family who know that I have arrived, or should they call me and welcome me home?—Jim

Dear Jim: Really what difference does it make who calls whom? The important thing is you're safe, you're home, and you're glad to see your family. Call them—right away—and tell them so and stop worrying about whether they should have called you first.

Medical Group to Meet

Members of the Oakland County Osteopathic Medical Assistants' Association will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. This meeting is open to all osteopathic medical assistants and Osteopathic Hospital employees.

DECORATING COUNSEL

SEW SIMPLE By Eunice Farmer

I have had many calls recently for help in suggesting patterns for physically handicapped children. These are for children who cannot wear ready-made clothes and their mothers must make everything they wear. Surely, there are companies who make these kinds of patterns. If any of my readers know of such a company, will you kindly write to Eunice Farmer in care of this newspaper immediately so that I can pass this information on to others.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Frank Driggs, Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her following suggestion.

"Because many of my basic patterns are used over and over again, once the correct alterations have been made, I'd like to share with you, my method of keeping the tissue pattern in usable condition. I have also found this to be wonderful guide for any new style pattern because I can see instantly just what alterations will be necessary.

"Place a piece of brown wrapping paper on your ironing board and cover with a piece of plastic wrap, then lay your piece of pattern on top of this. It's a good idea to place another piece of lightweight paper on top of your pattern to protect your iron from getting plastic wrap on it. Press with a rather warm iron, (no steam). This literally bonds the pattern piece to the brown paper. Instead of folding your new pattern each time for storing, just wrap it around a paper towel roll with the pattern envelope on the outside, secure it with a rubber band and your pattern will stay in perfect condition and never need pressing."

Dear Eunice Farmer,

Now that the holidays are past and spring is just around the corner, I would just love to make a spring coat or suit but wonder if it is really a practical idea since the season is such a short one. Do you think I should concentrate on summer clothes instead?

Mrs. M. M. R.

Dear Mrs. M. M. R.:

My answer could possibly vary with the different parts of the country, but I must say that I personally believe in spring clothes because the season is really the longest of the year. Let me explain why I feel this way.

The extremes in temperatures are not as evident any more with the convenience of heat and air conditioning. A spring suit or coat simply means a garment of fairly lightweight fabric and I find this is the kind of garment most women will wear more than anything else throughout the year. Since the idea of dark clothes for winter and light clothes for summer has changed and we find pastels in the winter as well as the summer, there is no reason why any garment should be limited to any particular season.

By all means make something new and exciting and I know you will find yourself without limitations as to the season you will be wearing it. Our world has grown smaller and smaller and these same clothes can be worn anywhere in the world at any season of the year.

Eunice Farmer discusses the importance of making a basic pattern in her informative booklet "Your Pattern and You." To obtain your copy send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Polly's Pointers

Single Frame Answer

DEAR POLLY — If Mrs. R. D. B. wants to hang framed pictures of her children, she can mount a panel of perforated hard board, paint it the same color as the wall and hang all the school pictures on the little hooks that are for inserting in the holes.

To hang unframed pictures, she could tack a length of hosiery to a one-inch lath and attach picture wire or a pretty cord to each end of the lath and hang. Pictures could be mounted on this with gold, silver or colored plastic adhesive-backed tape, outlining each picture like a frame.

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. R. D. B. should get one large picture frame for all of each child's pictures. The size will depend on the number of pictures she thinks she will want in it.

My only child, a daughter, is now a nun and I had pictures of her all over the living room so that it looked like a picture gallery. They started when she was a baby and went through school, beauty contests, various stages in her religious order until obtaining her nun's habit. You can imagine what the pictures looked like.

A priest came to call and when he saw them, asked if he could make a suggestion. He said, "Take all those pictures out of the frames, get one large one and put them all in it." I other children are Mrs. Harold and it is beautiful. My living room is no longer cluttered as 11 of my favorite photographs are in one frame, with space left for some more. — MRS. R.

Honor attendants for the daughter of the Robert Carrys of Genes Drive and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Cross of Holcomb, Mo., were Mrs. Allen Hubbell and Douglas Turvey.

Other members of the wedding party were Mrs. Marvin Beaudry, Mrs. Barbara Overbay and Sharon Winters with Charles Lambert, Jack Howard and Robert Menton as ushers. Alona Hubbell and Mark Beaudry were flower girl and ring bearer.

The couple was feted at Gunn's Banquet Hall.

Sew discarded shoulder pads to wire hangers and you will find they are ideal for hanging jersey, slippery or sheer garments. They hold the garment on the hanger without stretching or drawing them, and this stops them sliding off the hanger.

Youngsters seem to love this.

MRS. C. P.
DEAR POLLY — I want to tell Mrs. R. D. B. that I have three children, so I took three large picture frames, put a typed poem called "What Is a Boy?" in the middle of the one for my son, leaving enough room for pictures to go all around the poem.

The girls' frames have a poem called "What Is a Girl?" I have these hanging in a hallway where they are real conversation pieces. — MRS. C. P.

African Film and Discussion Are on Program

An African travelogue, depicting native art, handicrafts and modes of dress, will conclude the week-long Human Relations program held at Mark Twain School Thursday. Narrating the travelogue beginning at 7 p.m. will be Mrs. Catherine Blackwell of Wayne State University.

Also slated for the evening will be a discussion on "The Changing Role of the Black Man in America," by panel members Albert Shaw of VOCAL, Jay Clayton, assistant professor at Eastern Michigan University and R. Clayton Jones of the Pontiac Public Housing Commission. William White, school counselor, will act as moderator.

Choral readings and songs by the third, fifth and sixth grade students will conclude the program.

Home Wedding for F. F. Dukes

Vows were exchanged Saturday between Mrs. Joan H. Hoyt of Chamberlain Street and Frank F. Duke of Brunswick Drive. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Merritt of Oak Knoll Street served as attendants for the couple wed in their home and honored at a reception later that day.

New AFL-CIO Student Center May Become 'Labor College'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO is braving the perils of the academic world in these days of student demonstrations by establishing a student center that may eventually become the first "labor college."

"You may question our sanity, but you can't question our courage," joked AFL-CIO President George Meany when asked if he would expect student demonstrations from union officials who will attend the new center to be established in Washington.

"We're not going to allow any student involvement" in administration of the student center, said the 74-year-old head of the 13.6 million member labor federation. "I'll be chairman of the board."

Meany won't be a student but "I may be a visiting lecturer," he grinned during a news conference.

Will it be coed?

"No," he first said, but when a lady reporter appeared ready to launch a protest on the spot, Meany smiled and said, "It will be coeducational."

In a more serious vein, Meany said the purpose of the student center will be to improve the skills of trade union officials in dealing with the increasingly complex problems of labor affairs.

"Today's type of industrial life in this country calls for better-educated trade union officials," Meany said.

The first year's cost of operating the school, to be opened next Labor Day, will be $500,000, rising to some $600,000 by the third year. It will handle about 400 students at first, increasing later to 900.

Meany said union officials, and staff members, and perhaps later rank-and-file union members, will study a variety of general and specialized subjects including labor economics, U.S. history and the history of the labor movement.

The AFL-CIO will pay the entire cost of the school, including living allowances for union students from all over the nation.

California Sues for Oil Damage

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — California is suing four oil firms and the federal government for $1.3 billion on charges that negligence caused the giant ocean oil slick that damaged beaches and killed sea life.

A $500 million claim against the Department of Interior was filed personally Tuesday by Charles A. O'Brien, chief deputy California attorney general.

O'Brien said an $800-million damage suit would be filed today against Union Oil Co., operator of the ruptured offshore well, and Texaco Inc. and Mobil Oil Co., Union's partners in the federal drilling lease.

The city and county of Santa Barbara and the city of Carpinteria join in the action, O'Brien said. The claim and the suit, he added, ask payment for damage to fish and wildlife and beach cleanup plus general damages, including damage to tourist potential.

A special scientific panel dispatched by President Nixon begins a two-day investigation of the oil spill which reached 800 square miles in size before the well was capped Feb. 7. Now crews are working to relieve pressures that have sped a new slick into the polluted channel.

NOTHING LIKE THE REAL THING

For centuries scientists have made perfumes, trying to imitate the lovely fragrance of flowers. The roses, lilies, and hyacinths give off the nicest scents around and they were once used in the producing of perfumes.

No one has yet, with all the scientific discoveries, been able to capture the lovely fragrance of flowers in a bottle. The scent of an orange grove gives off a scent that you could smell all night.

However, there is nothing like the real thing. We keep the freshest flowers possible, so you can better say, "Get Well Soon," or "I Love You." For any floral assistance call FE 2-0127 and we will be at your service. We also will deliver your lovely arrangement.

State Senator Ready to Ease Riot-Control Measure

LANSING (UPI) — The chief local officials to ban the sale of liquor, firearms, ammunition and flammable liquids during an emergency period, which the Michigan Senate could last no longer than 48 hours unless extended by the Bloomfield Township, said he governor.

Kuhn said he will offer amendments to:

- Permit counties, cities and townships to declare a civil emergency only when a riot "appears imminent" and not when a riot is "threatened."

- Require local officials to contact the governor immediately upon declaring a civil emergency.

- Provide protection for unsuspecting persons passing through an emergency area when a curfew is in effect.

AIMS AT WRITE-INS

Sen. James D. Gray, D-Warren, introduced legislation to abolish write-in candidates at all elections, unless a nominee died before the voting or other circumstances resulted in his removal from the ballot.

Other noteworthy bills inroduced would:

- Set up extradition procedures for persons charged with nonsupport of dependents within Michigan.

- Allow married couples to waive future rights of estate in the event of the death of one partner.

- Provide that a person shall not have more than one cause of action for damages in a libel, slander or invasion of privacy case over a single publication or utterance.

- Provide for the tax assessor to mail notices to property owners, specifying any change in property assessment.

- Grant divorces even if both parties are guilty of conduct forming grounds for a divorce.

Student Unrest Spreads; Berkeley Erupts Again

By the Associated Press

A new outbreak of violence and vandalism hit the University of California in Berkeley Tuesday and the current wave of student unrest spread to predominantly Negro Howard University in Washington.

Thirteen persons were arrested on the Berkeley campus after three stench bombs were set off.

Bottles, rocks and dirt clods were hurled at policemen during the latest incident on the campus where the Third World Liberation Front has been seeking improved educational opportunities for minorities.

At Howard, several hundred students occupied the law school building Tuesday morning seeking a meeting with the faculty to discuss demands. They left early today after a U.S. marshal read a temporary court injunction ordering them out.

There was no violence, but protest leaders said their protest would continue today with a boycott of classes.

Elsewhere there were these developments:

Madison, Wis.—Black students called for a temporary halt in the class boycotts and disruptions ending 10 days of turmoil on campus.

The Negroes urged whites to return to classes and faculty over to their cause but vowed they would continue their own boycott to back a list of 13 demands including creation of an autonomous black studies department.

Chapel Hill, N.C.—Leaders of the Black Student Movement at the University of North Carolina said they would resort to "revolutionary tactics" if their demands of a black studies program and other concessions are not met by Friday.

S. Carolina Senator Asks Drive on Hunger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aident of the plant in New York Southern senator who admits once covering up a hunger problem in his state says the federal government should put the same effort into ending malnutrition that it expended sending men to the moon.

Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., Tuesday told a Senate committee investigating malnutrition that just as the United States 10 years ago set out to conquer space, the government "should set as a national goal the elimination of hunger and slum conditions in America."

Last April, a group organized by the Citizens' Crusade Against Poverty reported that 16 of South Carolina's 46 counties were "hunger counties" with serious nutrition problems.

Hollings admitted to the select committee on nutrition and human rights that as governor from 1959 to 1963, he and other South Carolina officials deliberately covered up the state's tione highway system, Hollings said the end of hunger and industrial development.

2 Are Favored for Bliss Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The names of Maryland Congressman Rogers C. B. Morton and former football coach Charles (Bud) Wilkinson were prominent today in speculation over a new Republican national chairman.

President Nixon, however, apparently intends to wait until returning from his European trip early in March before naming a replacement for Ray Bliss.

Bliss, who served as national chairman for four years, told Nixon in a letter released by the White House Tuesday that he plans to resign by mid-April and return to his insurance business in Akron, Ohio.

Morton aides said he remains in the dark about whether he will be offered the assignment. Morton himself declined comment.

A Nixon associate who predicted shortly after the November election that Bliss was on his way out named Morton and Wilkinson, former University of Oklahoma football coach and now GOP national committee man from that state, as front-runners.

State House Ducks Controversial Items

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan House yesterday afternoon ducked controversial items on its agenda in favor of a brief bill-introduction session.

Left untouched was final action on a bill that would give government employees at least five 3-day weekend holidays a year. The measure, which would bring Michigan in line with a federal act outlining holidays, is expected to be the center of brisk debate today.

New bill offerings included Rep. William P. Hamton's proposal to create a nursing home licensing board, with power to review licensing rules and act as a hearing body in disputes between nursing homes and the state.

Last year, Gov. George Romney vetoed Hamton's bill after months of legislative wrangling and a joint Senate-House conference committee on the measure.

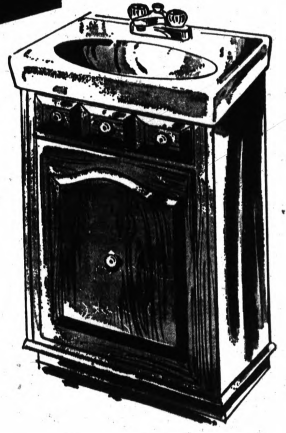

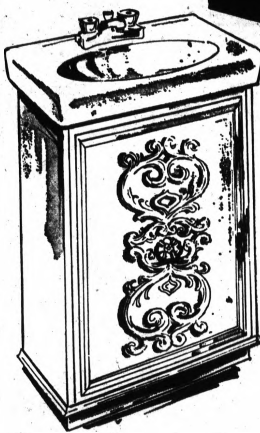

'BOARD NEEDED' Hampton, R-Birmingham, said: "We need this board. We've got to keep the lines of communication open between nursing homes and state officials."

Nursing homes have battled with the state for the past year

Ex-Leader of Canada Criticized in 2 Books

OTTAWA (AP) — Lester B. Pearson is the target for harsh criticism in two recent books that have received wide attention in Canada. To some extent they have been shocking, because they suggest that the 71-year-old Nobel Peace Prize winner was not much of a prime minister.

Judy LaMarsh, a member of the Pearson Cabinet, calls him "gutless" in her book, "Memoirs of a Bird in a Gilded Cage." She says he was "irritable, petulant, forgetful and childlike" but insists that she admired him anyway.

In his "The Distemper of Our Times," Peter C. Newman describes Pearson as timid and vacillating, fussy about personal matters. "A politician drifting with the tide of events," Newman writes, Pearson's manner left the man, Canada's best-known political columnist, is the new editor in chief of the Toronto Star.

Pearson stepped down last April and is now in Latin America on a study mission for the World Bank. He has ignored the comments of the two authors, but one of his Cabinet ministers came to his defense with a long letter to Canadian editors. The defender is J. J. Green, former minister of agriculture and now minister of energy, mines and resources in the government of Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau.

'NOT UNDERSTOOD'
"It is my view that these critics have not understood the need of the time for understanding, patience, tolerance and, yes, stick-taking, before change."

The Montreal Gazette commented that it would have been better for all concerned if Miss LaMarsh had retired into silence.

"In one respect only this book may injure Mr. Pearson's reputation," the Gazette said. "It may suggest that his good nature was excessive in relating Miss LaMarsh to long-haired members of his Cabinet."

Miss LaMarsh wrote that, although Pearson was unreliable and his office "was hopelessly inefficient," she found "that to know Mike Pearson a little was to love him a little. To know him better was to be disappointed."

Portugal Students Taking Wait-and-See Attitude on Premier

LISBON (UPI) — Riot police carrying machine guns marched into Lisbon University campus not long ago to quell student protest meetings on orders from Portugal's interior minister. Half an hour later they marched out on orders from the prime minister, and the students exulted.

That is one example of the way newly appointed Premier Marcello Caetano has built up a fund of good will and respect with Portuguese students.

On that basis, Portugal has stayed on the quiet side of that thin line that separates student protest from student rioting.

To be sure, students in Portugal have some of the same grievances that have flared out of control elsewhere from neighboring Spain to Berkeley and Tokyo. But they have been impressed with the careful attention Caetano is giving them and are inclined to wait and see how his programs work out.

FORMER TEACHER

Caetano, a former teacher himself, took office last Sept. 27 to fill the vacuum left by ailing ex-Premier Antonio Salazar, who then lay in a coma from the effects of a brain hemorrhage. Salazar ruled the nation with an iron hand for decades up to that point.

Students say that the fact they are waiting to see what happens to Caetano's programs does not mean they are giving up their claims or that they are dropping their campaign to achieve them.

Caetano took some heat off the situation recently by announcing in a nationwide television broadcast that the biggest increase in the 1969 budget would be for education. The appropriation is 363.0 million escudos ($127 million) an increase of 700 million escudos ($24.5 million).

As former professor of law and a former rector of Lisbon University, Caetano, 62, knows a good deal more than the average statesman or politician about the workings of the education system.

FLEXIBILITY

Since taking office, he has used this to background his flexibility in public affairs in general and student questions specifically.

Portuguese students in Lisbon and in the old University of School Bond Vote Sought

CADILLAC (AP) — The Cadillac superintendent of schools, Stewart Olmstead, said Tuesday only state approval is needed to place a $1.5-million bond issue for school remodeling on the ballot.

He said it is hoped the issue could be placed on the ballots to be cast in the April 8 school millage election.

Colmbra are demanding a free university, free academic elections, more teachers, more conference rooms and better accommodation. Students at the Higher Technical Institute went further than most by passing a resolution for the defense of their interests.

With a possible student strike looming, the government took action to forestall it by closing the institute on Dec. 8, 10 days before the Christmas holiday. Police entered the building and seized the files of the Students Association.

The institute reopened normally after the holidays. A general meeting of students then called for cancellation of the government inquiry into the activities of the association and in the university organization.

PROTEST MEETING
The closing of the institute touched off a protest meeting at Lisbon University where students petitioned the ministry of Education and decided to carry on a campaign to enlighten public opinion. But they did not demonstrate outside the campus.

Caetano's sympathy for the police in, but the premier got them out. Students booted the police left. This was an unprecedented victory for them. Under the previous Salazar regime, they were treated with a strong hand.

In 1962 when Caetano was rector of the University, police invaded the campus to curb a student demonstration. Caetano, who had not been informed of the move, resigned.

Remembering this, Portuguese students are willing to wait and see what the government actually does.

Apartment Lease Important Contract to Young Adult

By SIDNEY MARGOLIS

Other than buying a car, signing a lease for an apartment may well be your most important contractual transaction as a young adult.

A lease is an agreement by which an owner of property — the landlord — allows you to "possess" it in return for a stipulated amount of rent, and on the basis of specified conditions.

It is these "conditions" which you need to understand, and perhaps negotiate, even though the lease form may be a standard one devised by the local real estate board.

Most standard leases are needlessly long and complicated, legal authorities themselves admit. Standard leases also tend to protect the landlord more than the tenant, to put it mildly. Still, you need to read through the lease thoroughly before you sign it in order to know what you will be obligated for.

EASY TO AMEND

Leases can be amended by agreement too — especially if changes are reasonable and the landlord is anxious to rent — simply by crossing out or adding new material. Both you and the landlord initial each change. If you have any doubts about the responsibilities placed on you by the lease, it is worth having a lawyer read it.

In most states a lease can be made orally if it is for no longer than one year. But authorities advise that a written lease is safer, to avoid disputes and misunderstandings.

You should settle beforehand these points in particular:

- Any restriction on occupancy other than by yourself and your immediate family you may want to make.

- Any restriction on alterations you may want to make, and an understanding regarding which kind of improvements or fixtures you add become the property of the landlord when you move. For example, are built-in bookcases or additional electrical fixtures to become the property of the landlord?

- What your responsibilities are, and those of the landlord, for any needed repairs and, in general, for keeping the property and fixtures in good condition. For example, who is responsible for painting and for making ordinary repairs like fixing the plumbing?

- Are you allowed to assign the lease or sublet it if you want to move or will be away temporarily? Will you need the landlord's consent? Must it be in writing? What are the conditions for obtaining such consent? If your subtenant does not (permitting you to be late a and made part of the lease, charges, such as landlord's end of the term, and if so, at reasons may be listed for withholding your deposit.

Army Provided Key Navy Ship

PEARL HARBOR (UPI) — An awkward-appearing Navy vessel is hard at work keeping vital landing ship areas clear in Vietnam.

But in addition to its unusual appearance the side-caster dredge Sandcaster came into being in a manner not normally used by the Navy.

It was designed by and built under supervision of the Army. It was the first such construction job performed by the Army for the Navy, according to officials of the Naval Facilities Engineering Command of the Pacific.

The 104-foot vessel has a 30-foot beam and draws only 4.5 feet of water, allowing it to operate in shallow inlets.

NEW CONCEPT

Side-casting is a comparatively new concept of dredging. The Sandcaster has long drag arms reaching from either side.

The dredged material is sucked through these arms into a centrifugal pump and then discharged through a boom that can be rotated 180 degrees around the bow to either side.

The Sandcaster is being operated by a civilian crew of 11.

The Navy called upon the Army's Corps of Engineers for help in building the Sandcaster because of the Army experience with this type of dredge on the East Coast and out of New Orleans.

Pleasure Cruise Is Mainstay of Ship Passenger Operations

By ROBERT HAWORTH
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK — Going to Europe? Why not take a ship? "Not enough time," said Marsha Mack, an employee of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. in New York. "I took a plane because I wanted to get there in a hurry. I wanted to see as much of Europe as I could during my three weeks vacation."

There lies the predicament of today's passenger shipping lines. Because of the time element, Miss Mack and millions of other overseas travelers each year have turned to the airlines for their transportation needs.

Does this mean that passenger ships are on their way out? Not by a long shot, say sources in the industry. But the emphasis has changed from providing point-to-point sea transportation to round-trip vacation cruises with the ships becoming floating resort hotels.

"The airlines provide the bulk of overseas transportation today," said Ken Gautier, vice president of United States Lines. "The mainstay of ship passenger operations is the pleasure cruises."

NUMBER DWINDLES

In 1957, the year before the big jet airliners arrived, passenger ships carried over a million persons between the United States and Europe. Ten years later the number had dwindled to fewer than 400,000 a year. Transatlantic air travel surpassed sea travel for the first time in 1957, and by 1967 the airlines were carrying six times as many passengers as the shipping lines.

While the use of ships for transportation has been declining, the number of passengers taking ocean cruises for recreation and relaxation has been steadily increasing. The Transatlantic Passenger Steamship Conference said its member lines carried 29,000 pleasurecruise passengers during the 1957-58 cruising season. In 1968 member lines carried 246,000 cruise passengers.

The most famous casualties of the new emphasis on pleasure cruises were the 81,000-ton Queen Mary and the 84,000-ton Queen Elizabeth of Britain's Cunard Lines. Unable to adjust to the cruise business because of high operating costs, the queens were retired to become hotel and convention-museum centers, the Mary at Long Beach, Calif., and the Elizabeth at Port Everglades, Fla.

Cunard built only one ship to replace the two queens, the smaller Queen Elizabeth II. The 65,000-ton liner will spend two-thirds of her time on luxury cruises and will serve the transatlantic trade only during the summer months.

Trans-Pacific Plane Routes Still Up in Air

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The trans-Pacific airline route case is beginning to read like a best-selling novel. It involves politics, diplomacy and four U.S. presidents.

There have been reports of high-pressure lobbying and cronyism in the competition for new and expanded air routes across the Pacific, which could mean a multimillion-dollar jackpot for the winners.

For ordinary air travelers, the case may seem to be only a confused chapter in government-business maneuvering. But in fact the public has an important stake in the final outcome.

More competitors on long-haul Pacific routes could eventually bring lower air fares.

ECONOMIC BOOM

Combined with jumbo jets and supersonic airliners, cheaper fares could touch off an economic boom in the Pacific that would benefit the American economy.

The outcome of the case is even more important to the airlines involved. To some, the revenues from a new or expanded route may be the last chance to stave off merger with a bigger competitor. To others, an award represents a chance for needed new income in a period when airline profits are down and costs up.

What happens next is up to President Nixon. But the past is the key to the controversy.

Simply put, the airlines want to link up major American cities with points in the Pacific. President Eisenhower started the tangle when he refused to approve the original Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) awards made in the trans-Pacific case.

NEW DECISION

The case dragged through the Kennedy administration while the board reviewed the entire proceeding, finally coming up with a new decision which it referred it to President Johnson.

Last Dec. 17, Johnson selected Continental, Northwest, Braniff, Pan American, Trans World and Flying Tiger for cross-Pacific routes worth an estimated $50 million a year.

But Johnson turned down the board's recommendation that American airlines be given a route to Japan, attributing his decision to foreign policy considerations.

The controversy took a new turn when Nixon recalled the entire case for review.

RUMORS UNFURLED

Just days before Nixon's action, Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., brought to public attention rumors that former Johnson aides who now work for airlines, influenced the decision.

Griffin pointed out newspaper stories reporting that Walter Jenkins and Cliff Carter, two former special assistants to Johnson, now work for Braniff. He said Continental was represented by a law firm in which Clark Clifford, Johnson's defense secretary, is a partner.

Others pointed out, however, that American lost out even though C. R. Smith, its onetime president, was commerce secretary under Johnson. As soon as Nixon recalled the case, there were rumors that his decision was influenced by lobbyists for the losing airlines.

The President himself made one thing plain last week — there is tremendous pressure on the White House from all sides.

NO COMMUNICATION

In a memo sent to the airlines and key members of Congress, Nixon said he "will not receive communications from any source on the subject of the trans-Pacific case." His decision, he said, would be based on recommendations from the State and Defense departments and his nation security advisers.

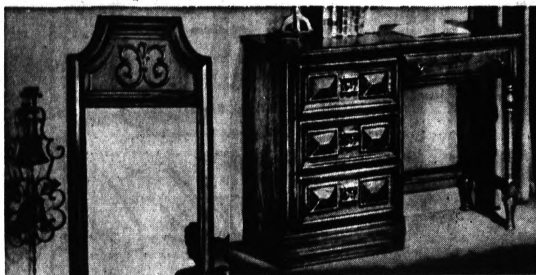

But no matter what Nixon does do, the record shows that he will make more enemies than friends in the airline business.

Fancy Pancakes Will Vary Menu

By JANET ODELL

Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

Pancakes have long been associated with the beginning of Lent. In the Middle Ages, English housewives were forbidden to use meat, milk and eggs during the 40 days preceding Easter. So they used up all their supplies in one grand pancake spree the day before Ash Wednesday.

With the lessening of dietary restrictions during Lent, this practice has diminished. But this week is still a good one in which to feature pancakes.

Pancakes take their rightful place in any meal of the day. Perfect for breakfast, they are just as welcome as a lunch treat or dessert at dinner. Consider some of the following recipes as a good way to vary your menus.

Last summer, at the Mrs. America Pageant, Quaker Oats Company sponsored a pancake contest. The first prize went to Mrs. John E. Cole Jr. (Mrs. milk, egg and shortening in California) for her Tangy Strawberry Roll-ups. Try them!

for a leisurely Sunday morning brunch.

Filling:
2 cups sliced fresh strawberries
2 teaspoons sugar

Topping:
1 1/2 cups dairy sour cream
1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk

2 tablespoons lemon juice

Pancakes:
1 cup pancake and waffle mix

One 3 1/2 oz. pkg. lemon pudding and egg filling

1 cup milk

2 eggs

2 teaspoons melted or liquid shortening

Whole fresh strawberries

For filling, place sliced strawberries in small bowl;

sprinkle with sugar. For topping, combine sour cream, condensed milk and lemon juice in small bowl.

For pancakes, place pancake mix, pudding and egg filling, rotary beater until fairly smooth. For each pancake, pour about 1/4 cup batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle to make 8 pancakes. Turn pancakes when tops are covered with bubbles and edges look cooked. Turn only once.

Place filling across center of each pancake; roll up. Spoon topping over roll-ups; to each roll-up with a strawberry. Makes 4 servings.

NOTE: If fresh strawberries are not available, substitute sliced frozen strawberries, thawed and eliminate sugar from filling recipe.

CORNMEAL PANCAKE ROLL-UPS

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour

4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder

1 teaspoon salt

1 cup yellow cornmeal

2 1/2 cups milk

1 egg, well beaten

1/4 cup shortening, melted

16 brown 'n serve sausages, browned. Applesauce, warmed. Maple-blended syrup, warmed.

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Mix in cornmeal.

MARKET BASKET

Use 1/4 cup batter for each pancake. Brown on hot griddle until bubbly on top. Turn to brown other side.

Roll each pancake around a hot brown 'n serve sausage. Serve with applesauce and syrup. Makes about 16 roll-ups.

DUTCH PANCAKE WITH FROZEN FRUIT

2 eggs

1/2 cup all-purpose flour

1/2 Teaspoon salt

1/2 Cup milk

2 Tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Confectioners' sugar

1 package (12 ounces) frozen sliced peaches, thawed and drained

1 package (10 ounces) frozen halved strawberries, thawed and drained

1 package (16 ounces) frozen whipped topping, thawed

Brown sugar, cinnamon or nutmeg

Beat eggs until blended. Add flour, salt and milk; beat until smooth. Stir in melted butter. (If not baked immediately, cover and refrigerate.)

Pour batter into a well-buttered 10-inch pie plate or a shallow skillet with a detachable or ovenproof handle that measures 10 inches across the top. Bake in preheated hot oven (450 degrees) for 20 minutes on bottom shelf of oven. Prick pancake with a fork; reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees) and bake 10 minutes.

Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and fill with drained fruit. To serve, cut into wedges. Pass whipped topping and a shaker of brown sugar, cinnamon or nutmeg, separately. Makes 6 servings.

CORNMEAL PANCAKE ROLL-UPS

French Fry Onion Rings

Inside or outside any hearty sandwich, batter-dipped French-fried onion rings make natural companions. To prepare, mix an "eggy" batter from a favorite pancake recipe or mix, or combine the following: 1 cup sifted flour, 1 egg, 1/4 cup milk and 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Peel and slice 2 medium-sized onions, separate the rings and gently towel dry to remove excess moisture. This will allow the batter to stick more readily.

USE OIL. Fill an electric fry pan about one-third full with a vegetable cooking oil and heat to 375 degrees. Heat fry basket in the oil, keeping the onion rings in the batter.

When the temperature light on the thermostat blinks off, raise the basket and cover the bottom with one layer (uncrowded) of dipped onion rings. Lower the basket into the fat.

If the onions bubble — and they probably will as they have a high water content — alternately lift and lower the fry basket until the bubbling subsides. Fry about three minutes, turning if necessary, until the rings are a golden brown and are cooked thoroughly.

Remove the onion rings and drain on several layers of absorbent toweling. Keep in a warm oven until the remaining rings are cooked.

To make a tempting, healthful surprise for school children, stuff pitted prunes with chunky peanut butter. Pack them in tiny paper cups.

New Italian Dressing Fine in Potato Salad

An adventurous family can travel the world via their salad. The vast array of bottled dressings so readily available provide the perfect passport for a salad safari anywhere around the globe.

Right now is a good time to take a trip to colorful Italy for a hot potato salad inspired by the new on-the-market 1969 Italian dressing. This salad innovation blends sliced cooked potatoes with chopped green onion, green pepper and sliced radishes. It's perfect for main dish service when ringed with a string of Italian sausages.

The secret of the salad's Italian flavor accent is in the dressing — a mixture of golden oil, two kinds of vinegar, garlic and bits of red pepper. For flavor balance between mildness and bite, there's a hint of lemon and selected salad herbs.

For a salad safari to Spain, travel the world via their salad. The vast array of bottled dressings so readily available provide the perfect passport for a salad safari anywhere around the globe.

HOT POTATO SALAD ITALIENNE
2 tablespoons sliced green onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1/4 cup Italian dressing
4 cups sliced cooked potatoes
4 slices crisply-cooked bacon, crumbled
1/4 cup sliced radishes

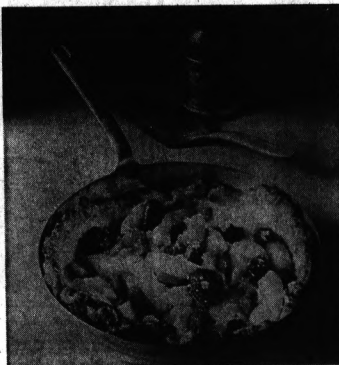

Cook onion and green pepper in dressing until tender. Add potatoes, bacon and radishes; toss lightly. Heat, stirring occasionally. Serve with Italian sausage or frankfurters, if desired. 6 to 8 servings.

GAZPACHO SALAD
2 cups peeled, chopped tomatoes
1/2 cup scored, sliced cucumbers
1/2 cup sliced celery
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1/2 cup French dressing
Lettuce cups

Marinate tomatoes, cucumbers, celery, green pepper and onion in dressing for several hours; drain, reserving marinade. Serve salad in lettuce cups with reserved marinade. 3 to 4 servings.

Funnel Helps You

Fish Fillets Are Broiled With Tomatoes, Cheese

The homemaker in a hurry who likes to serve food with a flair can sit back and relax — there's a new, full-color booklet on the market, "Time For Seafood," that is brimming with quick, easy, and nourishing main dishes.

FASTER FLOUNDER, an excitingly different recipe from the booklet, is a savory choice that fills the bill with pleasing family and easy-to-cook versatility. Tasty fish fillets are broiled under a blanket of grated onion and tomato pieces until flaky.

Then they are topped with cheese, for added goodness, and popped under the broiler again just long enough to melt the cheese.

FASTER FLOUNDER
2 pounds skinless flounder fillets or other fish fillets, fresh or frozen

2 tablespoons grated onion
1 1/2 teaspoons salt

2 large tomatoes, cut into 1/4 teaspoon pepper
small pieces

1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
Thaw frozen fillets. Place fillets in a single layer on a well-greased bake and serve platter, 16 x 10 inches. Sprinkle fillets with onion, salt, and pepper. Cover fillets with tomatoes. Pour butter over tomatoes.

Broil about 4 inches from source of heat for 10 to 12 minutes or until fillets flake easily when tested with a fork. Remove from heat and sprinkle with cheese. Broil 2 to 3 minutes longer or until cheese melts. Makes 6 servings.

"Time For Seafood," published by the United States Department of the Interior's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, is filled with 25 mouth-watering recipes for today's busy homemaker.

Send 45c to the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402. Ask for Fishery Market Development Series No. 12 (catalog No. 149-49-2-12). It makes cooking with imagination so easy to do!

University-Reform Vote Pits French Regime, Student Left

PARIS (AP) — A quarter-mile corridor runs through Nanterre University's literature building like a turnpike tunnel. Its walls are a delirium of paint, smears and slogans, a political art show gone mad, a 400-yard Jackson Pollock action painting splashed by dozens of different hands.

When vacations come, the school is closed, government painters head into the building and slop a coat of gray over the "Long Live Mao's" and the "Down With De Gaulles." Then, within weeks, the slogans and the daubings are replaced.

These days, the walls at Nanterre shout "No," the answer of the student far left, the beyond-Communist left, to the university reform elections now taking place throughout France for student-faculty governing committees.

These new committees will decide, in principle at least, on curriculum, scholarships, and some budgetary questions. They fill in the details of the very broad university reform law that leftists consider insufficient because, among other things, students have no say on the choice of professors or their teaching methods.

HOW MUCH SUPPORT?

The voting will measure how much forces the government or the left wing can muster from the vast student middle ground that split left last spring and backed the rioting and demands for reforms. It will show what percentage of France's students are willing to accept government promises of reform on good faith—and how many are committed to combating anything that is less than complete student control. The latter is the position of the revolutionaries at Nanterre, the Paris University branch in the dismal western suburbs.

Jacqueline Marson, a girl who said she waved a tricolor last May when everyone else was shaking red and black flags, spoke despairingly of getting out the vote for the moderates. In a country where President Charles de Gaulle has scorned politics as a base pursuit, she said many students share the same idea and won't participate in the election because they believe all sides are dishonest. If a student does not vote, he automatically backs the wall-poster left, which urges a boycott of the election.

RED THREATS

"If you participate, the Cocos (Reds) threaten you," Miss Marson said. "I tried to hand out some leaflets at the Sorbonne. A guy told me that if I were a boy, he'd smash my face."

In his yellow-painted office, its floor deep in dust, cigarette butts and pistachio nut shells, Jean-Daniel Benard of France's biggest student organization, the left-wing National Students

Union, nods gravely when told the threat story, but says: "Even if it were so, it is nothing compared to the constant repression that the forces of order direct toward us."

So far, with about 20 per cent of the total vote, in some 66 per cent of the students took part in the schools where voting was scheduled. The government started the polling in traditionally conservative faculties, such as law and medicine, so the results are not regarded as setting a pattern. A fidgety young man who wears a very bourgeois gold signet ring, Benard is spending much of his time figuring out what his organization will do if the elections are lost and the left's prestige bruised.

ATTITUDE CHANGES

"We'll have to change some of our attitudes, some of our positions in that case," he said. But the question that is more often asked is whether a defeat for the left could mean new riots Benard, without indicating if he thinks they are undesirable, said he believed no big explosion like that of last spring could come soon.

"The climate," he said, "is moving relatively toward a confrontation with the forces of order. But I don't think a situation is developing like that of last May. I don't believe it could explode all at once, without the support of the workers. There will be demonstrations and strikes, moving from one city to another, but without something important developing outside the university. I don't see that another May can occur."

This is a pragmatic analysis by the left and not one that makes them happy. Rebel student leaders learned from the occupation and vandalism in the Sorbonne rector's office Jan. 23 and recent battles at Nanterre that they had alienated the average Frenchman. This was the same man who thought for at least a while last year that there really was a good reason for all the shouting about university reform.

OCCUPATION IS OUT

To the extent that any leadership group can control extremists who lump Nikita Khrushchev and Calvin Coolidge in the same "enemy of the working class," basket, the left has decided for the time being to drop classroom occupations.

Authoritative sources reported that this decision, accompanied by one to take student grievances to the public at railway stations, meeting halls, came at a joint meeting of revolutionary action committees from the Sorbonne, Nanterre and Vincennes, another suburban branch of the University of Paris.

A friend of the left students, Bernard Herszberg, secretary general of the National Union of Teachers of Higher Education, a group that occupied a Sorbonne lecture hall last week, said:

"The flux has changed in one week. The student activists said of themselves 'We have to get away from the kind of action which the public doesn't understand.' The student movement had split off from the population. The students had no more relation to the average Frenchman." But now the students will show more interest in organization and less in savagery.

NO PREDICTIONS

Neither Herszberg nor a much more conservative teacher, Prof. Rene Dehevels of the mathematics department of the Ecole Polytechnique, the premier engineering school, predicts the results of the election. But both said another explosion is unlikely.

Dehevels said he believed the leftists had been thrown off guard by the recent expulsion of 34 students who occupied Sorbonne and Vincennes buildings and the subsequent cancellation of service deferments for 11 of the 34.

Whites All Over U.S. Dig Soul Food Now

NEW YORK (UPI) — Soul food, like soul music, came out of southern slave quarters and has gone everywhere. The American Negro has gone.

Whites in all parts of the United States who have long dug the music are now digging into the food which leans to things fried and boiled. It has long been a tradition with white southerners as well as Negroes.

Scores of soul restaurants catering to whites have sprung up in the North, their jukeboxes inevitably loaded with mournful soul records.

Truck drivers and longshoremen rub elbows with secretaries and the jet set over helpings of collard greens and ham hocks. Black-eyed peas and hog jowls, barbecued ribs, candied yams, fried okra, corn bread and those crepes suzette of soul gourmets, chitterlings.

'VW Syndrome' Is Bugging U.S. Motorists

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The recent investiture of Ralph Nader as a member of the National Motor Vehicle Safety Council is expected to perk up that group's deliberations. It means that the auto industry's unofficial hair shirt will now have a formal podium from which to carry on his hectoring of Detroit. If the council does become more stimulated as a result of Nader's presence, perhaps it will enlarge its field of inquiry to include psychological as well as mechanical defects.

In the event, I would like to see it investigate a strange motoring phenomenon known as the "Volkswagen syndrome."

what does A&P stand for?

(Besides The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., Inc.)

Fairness, honesty, dependability and quality. Our founder established these business guides for A&P over 100 years ago.

It is from this basic foundation that so many of our current-day policies have grown:

Our Raincheck policy, for example, which assures you that you will never miss out on an advertised item.

Our policy of packaging meats, that guarantees that the side you can't see is equal to or better than the side you can see.

Our complete and unconditional guarantee of anything you buy at A&P, no matter who makes it.

Our dedication to quality in the production of our own brands. Quality standards so high that we guarantee any product bearing the A&P Seal is equal to or better than the nationally famous brands.

You can probably sum it up in one word, "CARE."

We care about you.

When you think about it...shouldn't A&P be your store?

Red Maverick Romania Sports West's Trappings

BUCHAREST (UPI) — The are described as "matters of French, Italian among them — miniskirt, beat music, abstract art and the other trappings of the Western world have reached this maverick nation of the Communist world.

The secret police has had its wings clipped. The dreaded knock on the door at dawn is a thing of the past.

Western newspapers are readily available. Writers and artists are apparently not overly restricted, provided they go toward future Kiwanis activities.

Pancake Festival

The West Pontiac Kiwanis Club will hold its annual pancake festival March 1 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the First Federal Savings of Oakland Building, 761 W. Huron.

LONG HAIR ABSENT

Hippies and other long-haired types are generally absent from the public scene of this nation. Young people are understood to be showing some signs of ferment with growing interest for things abroad.

THE PARTY LINE

The influx of tourists, including a considerable number from the West, has had a notable impact, especially in the areas of the key resorts and the capital. Hard-currency spenders are particularly welcome.

Romania, alone among Soviet satellites, refuses to isolate Red China. Relations are maintained with Peking. Romania, in another defiance of the Soviets, refused to end diplomatic relations with Israel.

Nicolae Ceausescu, party secretary and the country's leader, has been quoted as saying: "... The Communist movement does not require a leading center, each party having to think and act independently."

Industrial expansion is receiving much attention and emphasis, with heavy industry far ahead of consumer goods in priority.

Cars are rare and for the ordinary man or woman virtually unobtainable. The average income is around 1,000 lei a month or about $60.

A yard of suiting material would swallow up a whole week's salary. Yet, people are reasonably well dressed, girls attractively turned out.

Rents are nominal and so are transport costs and, with several members in the family putting their earnings together, they seem to manage.

Public spending of $12.6 billion last year was nearly 31 per cent of total health care spending, $41.5 billion.

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

A mathematician would have no trouble making three no-trump with today's hand. He would win the spade lead with his ace and count eight tricks. The ninth could be in the diamond suit if the ace of diamonds shows up in the West hand.

It could come in the heart suit if hearts were divided evenly. He would know that it was even money that West would hold the diamond ace and almost two to one against finding three hearts in each hand.

Then, because mathematicians don't like to waste time, he would win the spade in his hand, lead a diamond to dummy's king and claim his contract.

An expert bridge player would also make three no-trump but he would take a little more time doing it. Expert bridge players don't have to be great mathematicians but they all know that a suit breaks 3-3 a trifle more than 4-0 per cent of the time.

They also are in no hurry to make important decisions, so the expert player would run off four club tricks before deciding which red suit would be better to attack.

West would have to make one discard and East two discards. One of them might throw away a heart. In that case, South might decide to play a heart to dummy's king and a second heart back to his ace to see if hearts were going to break for him. With one heart discarded, if both opponents follow twice there would only be one heart left to annoy him.

Or they might throw diamonds in such manner as to give South a very good idea where the ace could be found.

Q-The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♣
Pass	5 ♠	Pass	5 ♣
Pass	6 ♣	Pass	7 ♣

You, South, hold:

♠A K 6 5 ♥K 7 6 4 ♦3 2 ♣A 8 8

What do you do now?

A-Your partner is showing first-and-second-round diamond control and inviting you to go to seven but you have run out of steam. Bid six hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding one heart, your partner jumps to two diamonds. What do you do now?

McDivitt Details Complex Apollo 9 Mission

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aeronautics Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — "I wouldn't give you two dollars a day for a room in it. But it's designed to land us on the moon."

That's Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt describing the fragile lunar module which he will help test on the Apollo 9 flight scheduled to start from Cape Kennedy Feb. 28.

McDivitt will command the flight. With Col. David R. Scott and civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweickart.

They are to orbit the earth for 10 days in one of the most complex man-in-space flights yet attempted. Many rate it tougher than the Apollo 8 moon orbit mission.

GIANT BUG
The major goal, McDivitt said, is to give the lunar module, called a LEM, its first manned test in space. The LEM looks like a giant bug, like something you might find crawling around the pipes in your basement.

"My impression when I first saw a LEM," McDivitt said, "was 'Holy Moses, we're going to really fly that thing in space!'"

"It's a very flimsy craft—like a tissue paper spacecraft," he continued. "If we're not careful, we could easily put a tear through it."

"It has an entirely different mission than any other spacecraft has ever had. Other spacecraft had to withstand reentry, and earth landing with parachutes and had a pretty rough environment to live in."

SOFT LANDING
"The LEM isn't like that," he said. "It is not designed to enter the atmosphere or make hard landings. It will fly only in the vacuum of space and not in any atmosphere. It is intended to make a soft landing on the moon."

McDivitt noted there aren't any seats in it, that the two men who pilot it must do so standing up. That's because weight is very critical in the vehicle and because it's not intended to support life for more than a day or so while astronauts are on the moon.

"It's not designed for comfort," McDivitt said. "When 'was Holy Moses, we're going to really fly that thing in space!'"

"It's not designed for comfort," McDivitt said. "When 'was Holy Moses, we're going to really fly that thing in space!'"

"While outside," McDivitt explained, "Rusty will try to develop the techniques by which we can transfer from the LEM cabin with Scott and the LEM to the command module in case the tunnel is blocked or if we have a problem where we can't dock the vehicles."

TRICKY RENDEZVOUS
Gripping handrails, Schweickart will swing his way along the sides of the two joined vehicles to the command module. Scott will open the hatch to permit the lower half of Schweickart's body to enter. After a rest period, Schweickart will return to the LEM along the same hand-rail route.

On the fourth day, McDivitt and Schweickart will separate the LEM from the command module and fly to a point 109 miles away. Then they'll start a tricky rendezvous exercise to return to a linkup with Scott.

The rendezvous will simulate as closely as possible that which will be made by two LEM astronauts when they leave the moon to catch up with the command module pilot who has been orbiting while they've been exploring below.

"I guess you'd probably call this the most critical phase of the Apollo 9 mission," McDivitt said. "The LEM has no heat shield and no tether so it can't reenter the atmosphere. It's essential that the LEM returns to the command module in order to get home."

EMERGENCY MANEUVERS
He said if everything goes right, only the LEM engines and guidance and navigation systems will be used to conduct the rendezvous.

"But Dave in the command module will be prepared to make the maneuvers to come and get us if something goes wrong with the LEM," he said.

Although the rendezvous will take about six hours, McDivitt said "it will probably seem like three or four days."

After the linkup, McDivitt and Schweickart will crawl back through the tunnel into the main work. But I have confidence in the hardware and I'm confident we'll complete a very, very complicated mission.

APOLLO 10
"If so, we'll accomplish an awful lot toward being able to land on the moon."

If Apollo 9 succeeds, the Apollo 10 crew will fly with a LEM into moon orbit in May to test the space vehicles in the lunar environment, with two men descending to within 10 miles of the surface in the buglike craft. After that, if there are no problems, the Apollo 11 team will attempt the historic lunar landing possible in June or July.

Outlook Bleak in Tiger Camp

AP Wirephoto

MAIL TIME — Judging from the amount of mail arriving in camp, many Detroit Tiger fans believe the talk of strike is just that and that the Bengals will show up this weekend for the start of spring practice at Lakeland, Fla. Equipment manager John Hand delivers the mail in the Tiger locker room at Lakeland and getting his share is star outfielder Al Kaline. Club owners and players are bogged down in a dispute over the pension fund and the players refuse to report to training camps until the issue is resolved.

Break May Come in Baseball Rift

NEW YORK (AP) — A break in the gauntlet laid down by the major league baseball owners may come today. If it does not, a strike by the players would appear to be certain.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players' Association, said he expected to have something today the result of his poll of the players' executive committee on whether to accept or reject the owners' latest offer in the pension dispute.

Miller has recommended that the committee reject the owners' offer of Monday, increasing the players' pension package to $5.3 million a year, compared to the $5.5 million yearly that the players want.

The owners' latest offer came after they had rejected Miller's offer to submit the pension dispute to binding arbitration.

"The owners still are testing the players," Miller said. "They have laid down the gauntlet."

"The next move is up to the players," said John Gaherin, head of the owners' negotiating committee. Gaherin pointed out the owners' latest offer would increase benefits for 10-year players from $500 a month to $590. The players seek $600, plus various improvements in health and insurance benefits.

The big name players, who have said they will refuse to report until the pension squabble is settled, have until March 1, the official date for holdouts and the actual strike deadline.

Ex-Grid Captain at WMU Takes Clarkston Post

A former grid captain at Western Michigan University will be at the helm when Clarkston's Wolves take the field for the 1969 football campaign.

Paul E. Rakow, 26, takes the position vacated by Ralph Kenyon, who moved to an assistant principal's post at the school.

TACKLE AT WMU

Rakow, a 1961 graduate of Detroit Lutheran West, played both offensive and defensive tackle at Western and captained the team in the 1964 season. He was graduated in 1965.

While at Benton Harbor this past season, Rakow served as assistant varsity coach after three years as head mentor at two other schools, where he compiled a 17-7 won-lost record.

TWO LEAGUE TITLES

At Breckenridge High, his team posted a 3-5-1 mark, but in the next two campaigns at Bloomington, he coached the squad to a 14-2 record and two league championships. The performance earned him the "Area Coach of the Year" award.

Rakow was a fullback at Lutheran West, and with the track team he was the shot putter and won the state Class B title in 1961.

Title Triumph for Latin Boxer

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mando Ramos captured the world lightweight championship Tuesday night when his fight with titleholder Carlos "Teo" Cruz was stopped at 2:41 of the 11th round and the challenger was proclaimed the winner.

Ramos, 20, opened a severe cut in the left eyebrow of the champion in the eighth round and from then on was in command as Cruz appeared to lose his zip.

Dr. Bernard Schwartz examined the eye three times and the third time advised Referee John Thomas to halt the bout.

Cruz, 134½, started strong but the champion from the Dominican Republic began showing the effects of having to sweat off a pound and a half to make the 135-pound limit by the eighth round.

Ramos was befuddled by the champion's crouching tactics in the early rounds, but once he gained his confidence the 134½-pound challenger began using his 2¼-inch height advantage and longer reach to score effectively until the bout was stopped.

EMU Nets Ace Prep

YPSILANTI (AP) — One of the state's top high school basketball players, 6-foot-3 guard Lindell Reason of Detroit Murray-Wright, has enrolled for the spring semester at Eastern Michigan University.

Reason, who was graduated in January from high school, was one of the most sought after players in the state.

Smith Hoping 'Fat Cat' Tag Not on Players

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla. — Mayo Smith, '68 Manager of the Year, doesn't plan on jogging across the state on Florida's I-4 expressway to prove a point when he arrives from his home in Lake Worth at the Detroit Tigers' training camp in Lakeland tomorrow.

Smith and his coaching staff (Wally Moses, Hal Naragon, Johnny Sain and Grover Reisinger, who replaced Tony Cuccinello after the 1968 season) had expected to see many of the pitchers and catchers along with a contingent of minor leaguers in camp Thursday getting ready for the official opening on Saturday, but as is the case in all major league camps, the picture looks bleak.

Whether or not the players do decide to stay out of camp in the strike threat over pensions, Smith makes it known he wants the Tigers to be concerned about their physical condition when they do arrive.

The Tiger manager, who has a couple of position problems which must be resolved, doesn't want a team of "fat cats" to worry about. Admitting that he has added as much as 10 pounds since October, he feels the banquet circuit for the world champions may have affected their waistlines.

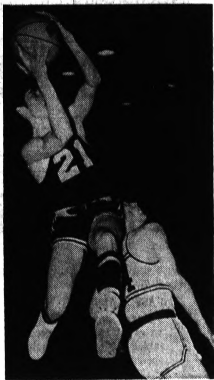

DO AS DIRECTED

It's a matter of "don't do as I do, but do as I say," for Smith, and right now he's saying "better be in shape."

Minor league players began arriving yesterday at Tigertown and when camp officially opens Saturday there may be just 16 players in uniform, all those who have been elevated to a major league roster for the 1969 spring camp.

The opening spring roster would hardly resemble that of a world championship team, but similar to the one week NFL players boycott in July, the young hopefuls could find themselves in a "dream" situation by getting all the attention of the "varsity" manager and coaches.

TUG OF WAR — Oxford's Dave Gemmel, a 5-8 guard, leaps high in battling Paul Bailey (65) of Lake Orion for a rebound in the first half of their game in Lake Orion last night. In background is Orion's 6-8 Gary Mize. Gemmel won this battle but Orion won the game, 86-66.

Lake Orion Rips Oxford in Posting Victory No. 12

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Although the games are played in p.m., Oxford's Wildcats will be looking forward to a.m. time next year.

The a.m. bit for Oxford is After (Gary) Mize, the towering 6-8 Lake Orion center who has been a thorn in the side for the Wildcats.

FOUR STRAIGHT

Orion made it four wins straight over a two-year span against Oxford last night by slapping an 86-66 setback on the 'Cats before a noisy crowd.

Mize, a senior, hasn't been the only problem the Wildcats have encountered, but since his arrival on the scene they have been unable to put out the Dragons' fire.

TWELFTH VICTORY

Normally, Mize beats the opposition with his scoring. But curiously enough, last night it was just his presence that unsettled the Wildcats and permitted Orion to record its fifth win in a row and 12th of the season.

Mize moved to Orion from Clarkston last year and had a hand in a couple of wins over Oxford. In their first encounter this season, he poured in 32 points as Orion prevailed, 77-59.

Oxford was waiting last night, however, The Wildcats collapsed on Mize as he tried to maneuver inside and in general, they did a good job of defending him. He wound up with 10 points, his lowest game total of the season.

But while the 'Cats were occupied with Mize, the door was open in several other directions and Mize's teammates seized the opportunity to break the game open early.

After gaining an 18-13 lead after one quarter, Orion applied a tight press and Oxford wound up with only one point in the period and trailed at halftime, 45-14.

Both coaches turned to their benches and it was a fairly even game in the second half.

LEADS ORION

Senior Bill Baker led the Orion attack with 19 markers and sophomore Ed Kuballits pitched in 16. Paul Bailey added 12. Bruce Rupert 11 and Mize finished with 10. Coach George Elias left Mize on the bench for most of the second half despite cries of "We Want Mize" from the fans.

Oxford, tumbling to its 11th straight loss and now 2-13 on the season, played well when Orion didn't press. Dave Gemmel and George Willabee led the scoring attack with 12 points apiece.

Orion, trailing Rochester (11-1) by a game in the Oakland A League race — the Dragons are 10-2 — entertains Ulica in a league encounter Friday evening, while Rochester plays host to Avondale.

Oxford wraps up the season Friday with a home encounter against Warren Woods.

Federal Commission Probes Safety of Grid Helmets

Larry Conka, fullback for the newly developed, he said, and Miami Dolphins, brought a football helmet before a federal commission Tuesday to emphasize his point-safety in equipment.

Conka, former star at Syracuse, told the National Commission on Product Safety he was using such a helmet when he received a concussion in a Miami game last fall.

He then got another helmet, a lot of head blows as bad, and some even worse," then the one that caused the concussion.

The commission, created by the last Congress, is reviewing existing laws and industry programs to protect the consumer from unreasonable hazards.

STATE COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. McClelland of Berkeley, Mich., told of a 1962 football practice accident that left their son, Michael, permanently disabled when he was 14 years old.

"I certainly hope that our being here today can help protect boys like Mike," said McClelland.

Philo said football equipment manufacturers have failed to adopt voluntarily adequate standards of head protection.

Harry M. Philo, a Detroit attorney, said there are some 5,000 to 10,000 serious brain concussions each year in football.

David Rust, a Sacramento, Calif., attorney for the Rawlings Corp. of St. Louis, a sporting goods company, said the helmet industry has worked on the standards problem and will continue to work on it.

"I'm satisfied that on the record the football helmet industry has not been asleep," he said.

One problem involved in designing a helmet, he said, is the severe heat in padded helmets.

Mott's Skiers Post 3 Wins

Corsair Boys Collect Third Straight Victory

Waterford Mott's improving skiers claimed three close victories Tuesday afternoon on the slopes at Mt. Holly in west division league meets.

The Corsairs overcame individual wins by Southfield's Sue Paul and Rick Barnhouse to sweep a makeup meet by less than four total seconds.

Against Bloomfield Hills Lahser, the Mott boys made it three straight wins after five defeats with a one second decision. Mott's Harry Drake placed first but Mike Ashley's seventh place standing in his varsity debut clinched the win.

However, Lahser's Judy King dominated the girls' slalom runs and paced the Knights to a 4-0 triumph. Mott's first defeat in its last four girls' meets.

Tankers Invited to Swim Session at OU Sunday

Area swimmers are invited to participate in the third annual swim meet which opens Sunday at 10 a.m. at Oakland University.

Spectator admission is free, but each participant will be charged an entrance fee of 50 cents. All proceeds will go to the Matilda-Wilson Honor Scholarship Fund at OU.

Meet managers are OU varsity swimming coach Corey Van Fleet and George Wibby, director of American Red Cross services for Southeastern Michigan. Further information may be obtained from Van Fleet at 338-7211.

Miss Eisel Named Tourney Favorite

WINCHESTER, Mass. (AP) — Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis was favored to win the Women's National Indoor Tennis Championships opening today and continuing through Sunday.

Miss Eisel, the fourth ranked U.S. player and top-seeded American entrant in the tournament, warmed up for the event by successfully defending her New England Indoor title at Agawam over the weekend.

Next in line behind Miss Eisel in the U.S. seedings are Kristy Pigeon of Danville, Calif., the country's sixth ranked player; Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., who is ranked No. 7; and Stephanie DeFina, who is rated No. 9.

Northwood Beats Northwood, 95-83

MIDLAND (AP) — Northwood Institute of Indiana scored its second win of the season over brother Northwood of Michigan Tuesday night, 95-83. The visitors' Lance Grear had 24 points, while the Michigan team was paced by Bill Oates' 31.

The Indiana school now has an 8-16 season record, while Northwood of Michigan is 10-11.

Windling Winter Food Curtails Deer Herd

By KENNETH L. PETERSON
Pilot Journal Writer

LANSING — Michigan deer hunters can expect the state's deer herd to continue declining until at least 1980 unless something is done to improve winter food conditions.

That is the opinion of John D. Byelich, Lansing, deer range management specialist for the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

A former regional game biologist at Roscommon, Byelich was given the job of mapping deer yards for the winter food baskets for deer two years ago.

Since then he has discovered where most of Michigan's deer are killed and he has plotted 8,200 lineal miles of deer yards in the Lower Peninsula alone. He has come to about the same conclusion as has Dr. Howard A. Tanner, director of natural resources for Michigan State University.

STOP 'TINKERING'

Tanner told Michigan's organized deer hunters last month that the DNR must stop "tinkering" with deer management and "get excited about taking the money lid" off management.

Byelich is anxious to spend money for range improvement in order to create more winter deer food. The dwindling supply of winter food is the bottleneck that prevents the state's deer herd from expanding.

After winter snows piled high in the deer country, Dr. Ralph A. MacMillan, DNR director issued an appeal to sportsmen to help feed the herd. The herd faced critical times until late in January when a thaw and subsequent freeze bailed it out temporarily.

When it looked as though deer were trapped by deep snow in the deer yards the DNR declared an emergency and obtained 25,000 bushels of surplus corn from the federal government.

ASKS QUESTION

"But why operate by crisis," asked Byelich.

"If we got $1 million tomorrow," he declared, "it would feed the deer this year."

But, given financing of sufficient magnitude over a long period of time, he said, he could improve conditions for deer. Range management, he explained, is a long-term project.

"I know we can do a better job than we are doing now," he maintained. "We have the know-how—all we need is time and money."

The DNR needs land to manage for deer, equipment and manpower, Byelich said. Adequate must "educate the public" to the kind of job that must be done.

He would like to see a team organized to manage the public deer range and to work with private land owners and with commercial loggers.

FAVOR WILDLIFE

Such a team would steer pulp wood and timber cutting to proper areas, he said, and induce loggers to modify their practices to favor wildlife. This could be done, he added, without undue economic sacrifice.

Commercial cutting is probably the best range management tool, Byelich said. But he also favors controlled burning and cutting noncommercial stock by hand and by tree-cutting businesses.

Byelich's plan is to cut trees on strips of land one-quarter mile wide along the borders of deer yards. His goal is to maintain 25 per cent of such strips young, productive cover. Shrubs provide most of the food deer need.

Archery Classes Start Tonight in Rec Center

Archery classes and league shooting competition will start tonight at Oakland County Parks and Recreation's Activity Center, 2800 Watkins Lake Road.

Classes and competition will be held from 7:30 to 10:00 p.m. and will continue each Wednesday for the next ten weeks.

Instruction will be given by Wendell and Olen Banks. The competition will include Chicago and P.A.A. rounds. Registration fee is $2 and each evening's shooting fee is $1.25. Contact Oakland County Parks and Recreation for further details.

This system would work best in the Lower Peninsula Byelich said. Most of the cutting for deer in the Upper Peninsula would have to be done within the deer yards.

He said food conditions in 74 per cent of the deer yards in the Upper Peninsula and 100 per cent in the Lower Peninsula were poor to medium.

In only 26 per cent of these winter breadbaskets are food conditions good.

MAPS PREPARED

Byelich has plotted deer yards on private and public lands in 33 counties in the Lower Peninsula. Mapping in the Upper Peninsula has been confined to state lands.

In order to determine where to direct efforts at improving food conditions, Byelich plotted kills over a five year period.

The DNR should "Pour habit money" where the deer are, he explained.

He found there are 361 townships in the deer country where hunters bag three or more deer per square mile. Of these, 290 are in Lower Michigan—the rest in the U.P.

The best U.P. counties are Menominee and Dickinson and parts of Iron, Marquette and Delta. Close behind is the extreme eastern U.P.

Biggest deer producers in the Lower Peninsula are Kalkaska, Missaukee, Roscommon, Oscoda, Ogemaw, Iosco, Crawford, Montmorency and Alpena counties and portions of Alpena, Presque Isle, Gladwin, Clare, Lake, Newaygo, Manistee and Midland counties.

PUBLIC LANDS

These 361 townships produce

80 per cent of Michigan's annual deer kill, Byelich explained, and comprise 40 per cent of the land area. Of that land area, 40 per cent is in public ownership.

The public land is made up of 18 million acres of state-owned and a million acres of federal land.

Byelich predicts that the area all of the timber that the tremendous numbers of deer of the U.P. lying roughly Badger state produces, Byelich were produced between 1935 and 1945, he said.

Falls will be best for deer hunting for years to come.

He ties that future to the great demand for pulp wood and timber from Wisconsin mills. It keeps loggers in that area busy doing the kind of cutting that benefits deer.

Wisconsin is using just about response to the new habitat cutting that benefits deer. A good example of what has happened is the Pere Marquette State Forest. Byelich said 887 production. Much of this goes to Wisconsin.

POPULATION RISE

It was logging that produced Michigan's great deer habitat back in the period between 1930 and 1945, Byelich explained.

There has been growing down, because the shrubs of the 1930s have become trees—and trees do not produce deer food.

The number of deer seen annually by conservation field workers peaked between 1945 and 1950, Byelich explained, and has been declining since.

Only 11.3 per cent of the Pere Marquette forest land is producing good deer food.

Where logging is helping produce deer for U.P. hunters, nuroods in the Lower Peninsula are bagging large numbers of deer despite worsening food conditions.

Byelich explained that hunting pressure, better weather and "shorter-lived forests are factors in the deer kill in northern Lower Michigan.

QUICK HARVEST

Lower Peninsula hunters are harvesting bucks just about as fast as they become legal, Byelich indicated, taking proportionately more 1½-year old deer than U.P. hunters.

There is three times as much hunting pressure below the Straits of Mackinac as above, he said.

The close cropping below the Straits produces healthier deer, results in better deer production and saves food, Byelich explained.

Byelich believes the DNR's first job is to keep the deer herd it now has in good shape, concentrating efforts where hunter harvest indicates good populations. Then he would like to expand efforts to other areas.

But it takes money—more money than the DNR now is spending on range management. Just $1 of each hunter's license money spent on deer habitat would be "tremendous" help, Byelich said.

SLIM PICKINGS — A young deer feeds on fresh cut cedar in a northern woods. Food has been in short supply in parts of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota because of deep snows. Special logging operations help bring the food down to the whitetails.

Weather Melting Public Enthusiasm

Mild weather has temporarily melted the threat to deer in Northern Michigan, and apparently did the same to public enthusiasm for the kick-off of an emergency program to help the animals.

In the northern Lower Peninsula, only about 250 people turned out two weeks ago for the start of a crash effort to bring food relief for whitetails through timber cuttings and the distribution of corn in critical areas.

Fewer volunteers than that showed in the Upper Peninsula. Although there was no great groundswell of active public support to help launch the emergency deer program, Department of Natural Resources game men are generally "encouraged" by the number of tree cuttings and

Two Canine Events in County Sunday

Two fun dog events — one for the field triers and the other for the bench set — will be held Sunday in Oakland County.

The Terrier Club of Michigan will hold an all-terrier match at Wester Hall 177 Wester Ferndale. Entries will be accepted from 11 a.m. by judging by Mrs. J.H. Daniels. Jenkins scheduled to begin at 1 p.m.

The field trial for pointing breeds will begin at 9 a.m. off Grubb Road in the Highland recreation area. This fun trial is being sponsored by the German Shorthaired Pointer Club of Michigan.

Sports Show Set March 22-30

The Detroit Sportsmen's and Vacation Show will be at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum March 22-30. It will include a water oriented stage show, travel and vacation booths, fishing tackle displays, boats and camping equipment. A live trout pond is planned.

other save-the-deer projects launched by private citizens.

PRIVATE CUTTINGS

Reports Ralph Bailey, the DNR's regional game biologist for the Upper Peninsula: "We seem to be getting a lot of interest, both from people who are working through our district field offices and those who are going on their own to cut trees on their private lands."

Bailey notes that the department has trucked 40 tons of surplus federal corn into the Upper Peninsula. Of that, 10 tons have already been scattered in the woods, and private citizens have volunteered to distribute the remaining 30 tons on public and private lands where deer hunting is allowed. The breakthrough for helping deer above the Straits has resulted from snow-plowing efforts which have opened backwood roads to allow 17 commercial logging operations to start.

In a number of areas where commercial logging is not possible or practical, department field people and hired laborers are making manual tree cuttings to provide deer browse. So far, they have cut about 225 acres in problem areas of the Upper Peninsula's deer range. Although hampered by deep snow, two of the Department's big bulldozers have been used to knock down deer food on about another 120 acres above the Straits.

Scotland Yard Plans Ways to Counter Anti-Nixon Protests

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard's riot chief after Monday and Tuesday are both which is only a few hundred chiefs are discussing measures than 50 organizations have to counter a threat that Pres-joined forces in a "hot reception dent Nixon would be hounded for Nixon committee."

by massive demonstrations. They decided at a secret meeting Monday night on "a 60,000 people might turn out for the first demonstration outside many left-wing groups."

The President, they said, will be "hounded from building to building, as long as he stays in Britain."

60,000 TURNOUT

Davoren predicted about 60,000 people might turn out for the first demonstration outside many left-wing groups.

including the Revolutionary Student Federation, the British-Vietnam Solidarity Front and the organizations backing of the countermeasures plan from the scene.

The Yard is not disclosing its plans, but the hope has been expressed that the fact that Nixon will not stay at the residence of Ambassador David Bruce but at Claridge Hotel, married men and women live longer than single, widowed or divorced people.

Monday and Tuesday are both which is only a few hundred working days may keep some yards from Grosvenor Square and the embassy.

Nixon will not stay at the residence of Ambassador David Bruce but at Claridge Hotel, married men and women live longer than single, widowed or divorced people.

2nd HUD Exec Gives Approval to Pontiac Plan

A prominent official in the office of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has flashed a "go-ahead" signal for the comprehensive $100-million Pontiac Plan.

He is the second high HUD official in a month to visit the city and express approval of the development concept for the 27 acres of vacant downtown urban renewal land.

WILCOX Yesterday's visitor was Kenneth Wilcox, planning director for the HUD 10-state regional office in Chicago. On Jan. 20, the city was visited by Thomas Kilbride, director of the same office.

In Wilcox's estimation the plan was sound, he said, and the full cooperation of the Chicago office in implementing it was pledged.

He met with the City Commission and staff members yesterday afternoon. The commission was urged by Wilcox to go ahead with some first steps — selling some of the land.

James L. Bates, city planning and urban renewal director, told the group he had been contacted by two agencies interested in purchase and development of two portions of land.

The sale could take place and construction begin as long as the developers

Flashes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon told Congress today he is stripping the Office of Economic Opportunity of two major programs—Headstart and the Job Corps—which account for about half of the $2 billion annual budget for anti-poverty efforts.

Detroit Edison Co. has filed a protest with all taxing units in Oakland County regarding the payment of levies exceeding the legal 15-mill limitation as prescribed in the State Constitution. A spokesman for the company this morning said it was his understanding that the company has 30 days in which to file suit in order to make the protests valid.

WORK PILES UP Pontiac's rubbish collectors will have a lot of catching up to do when their strike against the city ends, as garbage and rubbish continues to pile up at residents' homes. Workers in most city departments have been on strike since Friday.

No Progress Reported

Assistant City Editor—Suburban

Fatigue and lack of progress at the bargaining table have forced a 24-hour recess today in talks between the city and three employee groups embroiled in a five-day-old labor dispute.

State Labor Mediator Leonard Bennett adjourned negotiations about 2 a.m. after the fourth consecutive night of continuous bargaining failed to bring any noticeable break in the dispute. The talks will resume at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Two unions—Local 100, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees and the Pontiac Municipal Employees Association—remain on strike. Members of a third union, Pontiac Fire Fighters Local 367, returned to work Sunday under a court order, after staging two walkouts.

Garbage and trash continued to accumulate in Pontiac at the rate of 4,000 homes per day—the number of homes serviced for collection by a full force of blue collar workers.

Negotiations resumed about 7:30 last night, although both sides met again behind closed doors with Circuit Judge Philip Pratt in the afternoon. Pratt declined comment on the series of conferences.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., who canceled last night's regular City Commission meeting so as not to jeopardize the talks, announced union negotiators briefly at the start of last night's sessions.

Taylor, who was accompanied by District 5 Commissioner Robert F. Jackson, cited the commission's confidence in its negotiating team and told the unions the negotiations "were extremely important to the welfare of the community."

There was a definite slowdown last night in the speed of the negotiations, which are being held at the Holiday Inn, 1801 S. Telegraph, Bloomfield Township. At one point, it took more than two hours to set up a session between the city, Local 100 and the PMEA.

NO BREAK OCCURS

The city and the fire fighters met just once during the entire evening. Much of the slowness was due to the mechanics

Peekaboo Sun Has Its Head in Clouds

The sun will dart in and out among the clouds through Friday, but no precipitation is forecast.

Partly cloudy and a little cooler, with the low near 20, is tonight's forecast.

Partly cloudy and pleasant, the high heading for 40 is tomorrow's prediction, and Friday's outlook is cloudy with little temperature change.

Winds northwesterly at five to 12 miles per hour will continue tonight and tomorrow.

A cloudy 30 degree was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury warmed up to 36 by 12:30 p.m.

Charges Filed in Italy

ROME — Gen. Giovanni de Lorenzo, ousted two years ago as head of Italy's national police, is accusing the men who brought him down of violating state secrets and misusing official documents. He filed charges yesterday against 12 generals and eight other Italians.

Quarterback, Green Bay Packers

In case you are not a sports fan, the Green Bay Packers are a professional football team. They are one of the fabled teams of the game with a history of excellence going back to 1919.

When my wife, Cherry, and I came up from the University of Alabama in 1956, all eager and dazzled by the prospects of my being quarterback coach on so illustrious a team, the Green Bay Packers had fallen upon some dismal days, but the season of 1958 was absolutely the bottom. Out of 12 games, we tied one game and won just one. Ten losses: sheer disaster.

In December our coach resigned. The danger signals were up for me and I knew it. I hadn't exactly sparked out there on the field.

And then the lightning struck! We were a squeamish group who gathered to meet our new coach and general manager that day in 1959.

'WE'RE GOING TO WIN'

"Gentlemen," Coach Vince Lombardi said that day, "We're going to have a football team. We are going to win some games. Do you know why?"

"Because you are going to have confidence in me and my system. By being alert you are going to have confidence in me and my system. By being alert you are going to make fewer mistakes than your opponents. By working harder you are going to outexecute, outblock, outtake every team that comes your way."

Speck Appeal Filed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Condemned slayer Richard F. Speck says he shouldn't be put to death because 50 prospective jurors were excused from his trial because they objected to capital punishment.

Speck, 27, convicted of killing eight nurses in a Chicago dormitory in 1966, filed his appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court yesterday.

Tax Breaks Eyed for Poverty Work

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration is mulling over the prospect of special tax breaks for both big business and the average housewife to enlist them as volunteers in the war on poverty.

One suggestion would let taxpayers deduct the value of time spent on charity work.

Another would permit corporations to write off part of their costs on projects to improve employment, education and housing in the slums.

The House Ways and Means Committee, which has buried proposals for special tax credits in the past, is expected to be cool toward these ideas too. Its chairman, Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., is among the house's leading opponents of such tax credits.

MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said after a White House meeting yesterday that President Nixon plans a special message to Congress on tax incentives to encourage efforts to fight poverty.

Nixon was already sending Congress today a message to spell out a major reshaping of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

One source said the message included mention of tax breaks to bring more businesses and jobs to the slums.

Other ideas that have surfaced at one stage or another in the Nixon administration:

• Tax changes to encourage repair and replacement of time-worn buildings in the slums.

• Tax deductions for 25 per cent of college expenses.

• More liberal deductions for gifts to nonprofit organizations.

The ranking Republican on the Ways and Means Committee, Rep. John R. Byrnes of Wisconsin, said there is "a certain basic skepticism" toward tax credits, which erode the amount of revenue coming in to pay the costs of government.

But Byrnes promised a thorough look at any White House proposals without prejudging them.

Israel Threatens Arabs' Airlines

TEL AVIV (AP) — Another Arab guerrilla attack on an Israeli airliner brought a threat today of retaliation against Arab airlines.

Following the machine gunning of an El Al airliner in Zurich, Switzerland, yesterday, Israeli Transport Minister Moshe Carmel said the Arab governments would do well to hold back the saboteurs, and thus avoid destruction of the airways of the Middle East.

Carmel was the first Israeli official to blame Lebanon for the attack in December on an Israeli airliner in Athens. Forty-eight hours later Israeli commandos raided Beirut airport and destroyed 13 planes of Lebanon's Middle East Airlines.

The U.S. State Department and U.N. Secretary-General U Thant condemned the Arab attack in Zurich, and Thant expressed hope there would be no reprisal.

6 ABOARD INJURED

Six of 27 persons aboard the plane in Zurich, most of them Israelis, were wounded.

Most seriously injured was trainee pilot Yoran Pees, hit in the abdomen. He was reported out of danger following an emergency operation.

Downtown Group Backs Stadium Bid

The board of directors of the Downtown Pontiac Business Association unanimously endorsed the Pontiac site for the proposed domed stadium, association President Jack Simon said today.

The board is preparing a letter of endorsement for the city's suggested site located near I-75 and M59.

Simon said the Pontiac site offers land availability and easy access and is the center of a highway network near a large population center.

"Economically, it would be great for Pontiac if the proposed stadium were constructed here," he added.

Ash Wednesday Marked in Area

By MARY ANGLEMIER
Pontiac Press Church Editor

Thousands of Oakland County residents were up before sunrise today to attend Ash Wednesday services. Others will attend evening services.

Those of the Christian faith are gathering in small country churches, and city churches and chapels throughout the world to ask forgiveness for what they ought not to have done, and for failing to do what they should have done.

Ash Wednesday is the first day of Christianity's 40-day season of Lent, a period of self-examination and discipline in preparation for Easter which falls this year on April 6.

In Roman Catholic churches and some Episcopal churches the priest or pastor will dip his thumb in consecrated ashes and place the mark of the cross on foreheads of worshippers.

SYMBOL OF PENANCE

The idea of ashes as a symbol of penance comes from the Jews. In the Old Testament men "sat in sackcloth and ashes" to show deepest possible sorrow, either for their own misdeeds or for misfortunes that had befallen them.

Ashes are made by burning palms left over from last year's Palm Sunday. The custom of putting an ash mark on the forehead is supposed to have been introduced by Pope Gregory the Great, later in the sixth century.

Traditional services are held locally in Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran churches.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

On March 7 women in Protestant churches all over the world will observe World Day of Prayer, an observance dating back to 1887.

Women of many denominations come together to pray and to demonstrate a unity of Christ that crosses all lines—racial, national and denominational.

One of the strangest of Ash Wednesday customs is the "Burial of the Sardine" which will take place in Spain.

People there will carry in procession a small paper-covered coffin containing either a small fish or a morsel of sausage. This they will bury with considerable ceremony, symbolizing their personal burial of all worldly pleasures during the next 40 days of fasting and penitence.

Senate N-Pact Hearing Previews ABM Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee appears to be steering toward prompt approval of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty while at the same time laying more groundwork for a hardened criticism of antimissile defense.

Its questioning of Secretary of State William P. Rogers yesterday made it clear that in the minds of critics of the controversial Sentinel antiballistic missile system the defense project and the nuclear treaty are tightly entwined.

Rogers rejected the view that immediate deployment of the Sentinel system would run counter to U.S. pledges under the nonproliferation treaty.

The committee recessed today. But it was a foregone conclusion that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird would face the same criticism of the Sentinel when he goes before the committee tomorrow to continue the administration's campaign for quick ratification of the treaty.

NUCLEAR DEFENSE

The Sentinel system would use nuclear-armed defensive missiles to destroy enemy missiles.

The Nixon administration halted work on the system two weeks ago after criticism in the Senate and from residents of areas being considered as Sentinel sites.

Laird has indicated work will resume after the Pentagon completes a review of the $5.5-billion system begun by the Johnson administration and approved in the last Congress.

Since there is little doubt the treaty will be ratified, committee members concentrated on how the United States will implement its terms, particularly Article VI, which says, in part:

"Each of the parties to the treaty undertakes to pursue negotiations in good faith on effective measures relating to cessation of the nuclear arms race at an early date and to nuclear disarmament, and on a treaty on general and complete disarmament."

'UTTERLY INCONSISTENT'

Chairman J. W. Fulbright commented, "I can't imagine, if this treaty were in full effect, that we can proceed with the ABM unilaterally. . . . It would be utterly inconsistent."

Fulbright and some other members urged that the Nixon administration hold up on the Sentinel and concentrate instead on bringing about U.S.-Soviet talks on missile disarmament.

"Why is the United States reluctant to begin these conversations?" asked Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

"We're not reluctant," Rogers said and expressed the hope the talks could begin in six months or less.

Milliken Outlines Blueprint for Saving Michigan Cities

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken yesterday outlined what he described as a blueprint for saving Michigan's cities.

"It is not merely a question of revitalizing or improving our cities," Milliken said in a special message to the Legislature.

"It is a question, of saving our cities . . . from the decay and despair that is having an adverse human and economic impact on all of Michigan."

Milliken said his administration would concentrate its urban affairs efforts in eight areas — housing, welfare, mental health, civil rights, transportation, consumer protection, manpower and education.

Declaring that his 1968-70 budget recognizes the pressing needs of Michigan cities, Milliken said he nevertheless realized that even more money is needed.

"Realistically," he said, "we simply do not have more money to spend. Consequently, we must first attempt to redirect our existing programs and improve them."

The governor said he was placing a very high priority on efforts to eliminate crowded and unsafe housing conditions, particularly in urban centers.

MUST BE DONE

One of the things that must be done, he said, is a review of what he described as the outmoded housing laws in Michigan. Such a study already is underway by a special commission.

"Without an effective state-wide, modern housing code, we cannot hope to meet the housing needs of large numbers of poor families with necessary speed and efficiency," he explained.

On the subject of welfare, Milliken said the present system is inadequate, demeaning, inefficient and has so many disincentives built into it that it encourages continued dependency.

Service Allure, Draft Cut Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon planners say the draft ultimately could be cut to just a few hundred men a month if enough money and effort are spent on recruiting, improving morale and polishing the services image.

The officials say a higher pay scale won't be enough alone to attract and hold the volunteers needed even when the Vietnam war ends and U.S. forces are cut by 700,000 men.

"What is needed, they contend, is a multifronted drive to 'improve morale and job satisfaction,' to burnish the 'over-all service image' and stage an intensive recruiting effort.

If this works out, the draft could be used mostly to obtain doctors and other specialists.

2,000 A MONTH OK

Some senior Pentagon officials would regard it a victory if the draft now taking about 33,000 men a month could be trimmed to 2,000 or 3,000 monthly after the war.

They recall inductions fell to 3,000 in February 1965, before the big Vietnam war build-up which led to drafting of as many as 48,000 a month.

Few officials are for a complete abolishment of the draft.

While the Pentagon tries to work out a plan moving toward an all-volunteer force, efforts are under way to erase draft inequities, chiefly by a lottery system, provided Congress approves.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said yesterday this will be one of the first pieces of legislation the new administration will send to Congress, aides estimate within a couple of months.

Heroes View Today's Youth

"Don't underestimate these kids. They're wonderful," he said, pointing out a Detroit youth who finished as the top high school ROTC candidate in nine states.

But why the dissent?
"The kids now are better educated," the doctor said.

NOT SECOND

His opinions, however, were not seconded by some of the other Medal of Honor winners from Michigan.

Robert Guy Robertson of St. Ignace said he believes youngsters today have different ideas of America than he had during World War I.

Robertson was a gunner in a U.S. plane attacked by seven German Fokkers. His pilot was injured fatally, but despite wounds in the abdomen, chest, legs and left arm, Robertson downed the enemy planes and drove off the rest.

About Vietnam?
"I'd like that guerilla fighting. It's one man against the other. You're sneaking around looking for them and they're looking for you."

Albert J. Smith of Detroit, who rescued a sailor from a crashed burning seaplane in Pensacola, Fla., in 1921, said "I don't know what's upsetting the whole country like it is. This country needs a lot stricter laws and better sentencing when the judges get to it."

LITTLE PATRIOTISM

Francis Pierce, an inspector in the Grand Rapids Police Department, said "I don't believe the home is teaching patriotism in the manner it was taught a few years ago. I think the parents themselves don't believe in the amenities of the flag or of our country."

At two Jima during World War II, Pierce faced Japanese fire to lead wounded men to safety. The citation for "Navy Pharmacist Mate 1C" reads: "completely fearless, completely devoted to the care of his patients, Pierce inspired the entire battalion."

John C. Sjorgren, manufacturer's representative in Grand Rapids, said "I don't think patriotism has changed, but people have changed the meaning of patriotism. I think it goes back to the fact that we have a breakdown in our educational system. You have the same thing in the military. You have a lot of boys that are burning their draft cards and making disparaging remarks.

Sjorgren won the blue ribbon around his neck in the Philippines during World War II. He attacked and destroyed enemy pillboxes and small ditches called spider holes.

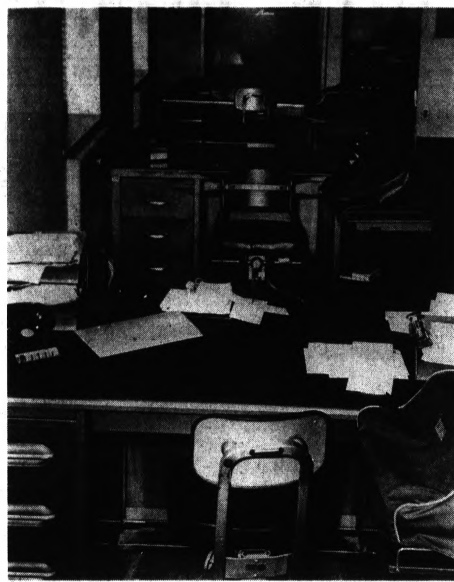

SERVED IN KOREA

Robert E. Simanek, now a Farmington accountant, was a Private First Class in Korea in 1952. He jumped on a grenade to save others caught in an ambush, then despite his wounds operated his radio for seven hours directing mortar fire.

Oscar G. Johnson of DeWitt, who serves with the Michigan Army National Guard, almost single-handedly broke through a German line while fighting in Italy in 1944.

Duane E. Dewey, owner of an office machine repair service store in South Haven, also smothered a grenade with his body during the Korean War.

Dirk J. Vlug, a Grand Rapids mailman, attacked and destroyed five Japanese tanks on Leyte, the Philippines, in 1944.

negotiations. Pratt granted the back-to-work order after the noon Friday.

The temporary order covers only the firemen. No hearing has been held to make the order permanent. Violation of the order could bring a heavy fine for the firemen.

The city had asked for $25,000 per day in compensatory damages and $500,000 in punitive damages in its brief filed Friday in Circuit Court.

Firemen are seeking parity pay with policemen at $10,300 after July 1, while the city has offered $9,900. Local 100 and the PMEA have sought a 35-cent across-the-board pay hike plus an added five cents in fringe benefits. The city reportedly has offered 30 cents.

Commissioners Miss 'Welcome'

The Pontiac City Commission called off last night's meeting at City Hall.

The commissioners had a reception waiting for them, but none showed up.

More than 100 picketers carrying signs, picks, shovels, wheelbarrows and children were marching around City Hall prior to the scheduled meeting.

The picketing was in support of the Pontiac Fire Fighters Association and the two striking unions representing city white- and blue-collar employees.

POINTS TO NEGOTIATIONS

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. announced that the meeting was canceled so as not to interfere with the bargaining process then going on between the city and the three unions.

After hearing the commission meeting had been called off the picketers dispersed.

The protesters carrying the picks, shovels and other equipment were objecting to comment attributed to City Manager Joseph A. Warren that firemen were "pick and shovel" workers compared to policemen.

One of the major disagreements over proposed contract terms with the firemen is a demand for parity pay with city police.

Pontiac Plan Gets Approval

conformed with the over-all concept of the Pontiac Plan, it was indicated.

The plan, adopted by the city Jan. 7, was developed by Bruno Leon Associates. It calls for a variety of buildings and services to be located at the site including apartments, office buildings, an arena, hotel, convention center and restaurant among other facilities.

PROGRAM 'SOUND'

It is expected some $100 million will be expended by private developers at the site.

As a HUD official, Wilcox said he felt the piecemeal program of construction called for in the plan was sound and similar to a procedure followed in Boston.

In his discussion with city officials he was able to answer many specific questions on the development.

In addition to urging the city to get started quickly, he advised them to keep the plan flexible. He vowed HUD support if changes were needed in the future.

RIO DE JANEIRO

At least 108 persons died in Rio during the four-day Carnival celebration which ended at dawn today. But morgue officials said the total was not unusually high, particularly for a carnival period when automobile accidents and drownings generally increase sharply. A majority of the deaths were in auto crashes, and drowning accounted for 20 more.

Birmingham

Action Delayed on First Project in Urban Plan

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission will defer action for at least two weeks on the initial project called for in the city's proposed Urban Design Plan.

Johnson, Johnson and Roy of Ann Arbor, city planning consultants, submitted plans for a Henrietta Street experimental block to the commission this week. Estimated cost is $35,000.

The Henrietta project would be an experimental prototype exemplifying the parklike pedestrian atmosphere which the Urban Design Plan proposes for the downtown shopping district.

The experimental block would include a widened sidewalk, concrete planters, modern street-lighting fixtures and benches.

The planning consultants' initial project on Henrietta is in accordance with the plan's original concept, a commission spokesman said. He added, however, that the commission plans to consult with merchants and other interested groups on the experimental block plan before final approval of plans is made.

If approved, the experimental block would be developed this summer.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Calvert Thomas has been elected chairman of the board of directors of Kingswood School.

He succeeds Richard C. Van Dusen, who was recently appointed an undersecretary in the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development. Van Dusen will continue as a board member.

Thomas of 31275 Franklin, Franklin Village, has been a member of the Kingswood board since 1965 and was elected vice chairman last year. He is a member of the legal staff of General Motors.

Thomas earned his B.S. degree from Washington and Lee University in 1939 and received a law degree from the University of Maryland in 1942.

E. Ross Hanson, 660 Edgemere, Ford Motor Co. marketing institutes manager, moves up to Thomas's former vice-chairmanship.

Nixon Unlikely to Visit S. Viets

PARIS (AP) — Much as South Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks would appreciate even a few minutes with President Nixon during his visit next week, experienced diplomats think there is virtually no chance of such a meeting.

One explanation is that it would peeve the French.

And to avoid doing so, the diplomats say, seems good enough reason for Nixon to skip an encounter that would not be especially educational for him and would serve mainly to back up the South Vietnamese regime on its home front.

A meeting between Nixon and a Saigon representative would annoy the French for two reasons.

NO DESIRE

First, Nixon's scheduled discussion with his peace talks envoy, Henry Cabot Lodge, will take away some of the emphasis from his talks with President Charles de Gaulle. There apparently is no desire on the American side to push this even further by adding the South Vietnamese to Nixon's conference list.

Second, South Vietnam broke off diplomatic relations with France in 1965. It would be something of a breach of diplomatic courtesy for a visiting chief of state to take official notice of what is technically a nongovernment as far as concerned.

Public May View Downtown Plan

What is the Pontiac Plan?

It's more than a construction plan for urban renewal. It's been called a concept that can change the whole aspect and personality of the city.

Because many residents have not been exposed to its details, the City Commission has called a public presentation of it Feb. 27 at 8 p.m. at City Hall, East Wide Track and East Pike.

A spokesman for creators of the Pontiac Plan, Bruno Leon Associates, will be present to discuss its many aspects and show slides.

Avon Twp. Charter Discussions Set

AVON TOWNSHIP — Citizens for Better Government, a citizens' group organized to inform township voters about the March 10 vote on a proposed charter, will hold a series of open meetings during the next three weeks on the question.

The first meeting, primarily for voters of Precinct 2, will be tonight at 8 at North Hill School, 1365 Mahaffey. All meetings will be open to the public.

Township residents voted in favor of incorporation in January, 1968. However, cityhood (under the name Rochester Hills) will not become official unless a proposed charter for the new city is approved by voters before January 1970 (two years from the initial incorporation vote).

"Various members of our group have been assigned to obtain information on many aspects of the incorporation issue," said Charles W. Vigor, 761 Ironstone, a member of the organization.

Vigor added, "We have found that the issue is complicated by several different considerations. Problems of rapid area growth have become embroiled in old political quarrels and hard feelings involving assessment practices and tax matters."

After further investigation, Vigor said, the group decided to prepare a presentation of its findings and schedule a series of public meetings to discuss incorporation.

Meetings for other areas of the township are planned as follows: Precincts 1 and 5, 7:30 p.m. Monday at Brooklands School, 400 E. Auburn; Precinct 4, 8 p.m. Tuesday at North Hill School; Precinct 7, 8 p.m. March 4 at Meadowbrook School, 2350 Munster; Precincts 8 and 10, 8 p.m. March 4 at Long Meadow School, 450 Allston; Precinct 9, 8 p.m. March 5 at West Junior High on Old Perch Road; and Precincts 3 and 6, 8 p.m. March 5 at the Avondale Fire Hall, 400 Sixth, Rochester.

Group to Push Traffic Control

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A group of residents will meet with the Township Board Monday in an attempt to get action on the traffic control problem at the Lone Pine Road — Telegraph intersection, site of the township's recently opened new library.

The residents, headed by Michael Barto of 5055 Kellen, will ask for recognition of a citizens committee to work with the board in getting a traffic control system for the intersection.

Barto's group is calling for traffic control which would allow cross traffic and left turns.

The most feasible procedure, Barto feels, would be erection of a traffic light, creation of turning lanes and arrangement of a loop left turn beyond the intersection.

COMPLICATED PROCESS

Library users approaching from the north on Telegraph now have to travel beyond the library to Quarten, turn east on Quarten to Lahser, then north on Lahser to Lone Pine and another left turn in order to get to the library entrance.

Barto noted the traffic safety procedures that apply to public school facilities should apply to the library as well, since the library is actually an extension of the public school system.

Barto added that safety devices are needed at once since the intersection will now have sharply increased traffic activity due to the library opening.

"We would like to have the situation corrected before some really bad accidents occur," Barto cited.

PETITION PLANNED

The citizens committee plans to circulate a petition calling for township action on the traffic problem. The township library board recently passed a resolution calling for traffic control measures.

H. L. Johnston, library director, contended the need for traffic controls at the intersection was pointed out when the site for the library was selected. "The library fully backs any action that might be taken to provide for a more safe and direct trip to the library," Johnston said.

Barto explained that the citizens committee feels the funds are available to rectify the traffic problem. "Organized pressure simply has to be applied to finally get something accomplished," he cited.

2 Collegians Get Graduate Grants

Two area collegians were among over 1,100 United States and Canadian college seniors designated by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation as among the best future college teachers.

They are Larry K. Benninger, of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh H. Benninger of 2226 Arrowood, West Bloomfield Township, and Thomas W. Cobb, son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Cobb of 4415 Motorway, Waterford Township.

Benninger is a senior in chemistry at Michigan State University and Cobb is an English major at the University of Michigan.

They were finalists in a competition for which 11,704 candidates were nominated last October. All those receiving designation by the foundation were interviewed by panels of college professors and academic administrators.

Plea Is Withdrawn for Miracle Mile Theater Complex

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A petition requesting permission to build a two-unit Cinema 11 and theatre complex at the Miracle Mile shopping center on Telegraph has been withdrawn.

Township Supervisor Homer Case said the Don Caslo Corp., Columbus, Ohio, development firm, withdrew the theater petition one day before the zoning board was to hear the request.

In a letter to the township, the Caslo organization said negotiations for property in another area influenced their thinking not to pursue the Miracle Mile project at this time.

The movie theaters would have been located next to the Pontiac State Bank branch near the shopping center entrance.

Case said the zoning board's main concern with the theater project would have been whether adequate parking facilities would have been available. He added the petition probably would have been approved if the parking requirements were met.

4 Seek Milford Seats

MILFORD — A village election for president and two councilman positions will be held here on March 10.

The only candidate filing for president is Wilbur Johnson of 648 Atlantic. Seeking the council seats are Charles Parks of Liberty, Dale Barr of 767 Friar and Paul Plotzer of 618 S. Main.

ACTION PLANNERS — A group of Oakland County business, industrial and cultural leaders "brainstorm" the future of the county at workshops being conducted at Oakland University. Ronald Zweig (center left), project director for Research and Development Corp., and Aubrey Crawford (center right) of the university staff guide discussion at yesterday's session on economics.

County Leaders 'Brainstorm' Area's Future

Where you will live 20 years from now in Oakland County, the distance you drive to work, the schools your children attend, the cultural influences you are subject to all are under close scrutiny now.

A brainstorming session of 35 county finance, government and industrial leaders started laying out the problems together by the Oakland County Planning Commission, they are under the direction of the international firm of Development and Resources commission, of which David E. Lilienthal is chairman. Lilienthal was former head of the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Atomic Energy Commission.

The D&R firm was engaged last June at a cost to the county of $5,000 plus planning commission staff resources and an $80,000 federal grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

D&R, according to Oakland County project manager Ronald Zweig, not only reports on what should be done but provides methods of implementation to get it done.

LIST OF REFERENCES

He cites a list of references which include the control of the Cauca River in Columbia for irrigation, flood control and hydroelectric power, the development of the Khuzestan area in Iran, and 12 other projects in nine countries.

What D&R will be able to help Oakland County accomplish for the future depends largely on the ideas offered at area "think tank" sessions running through April 2.

Yesterday's topic was economics and at least one of the discussion groups got into a discussion of "new towns" versus unorganized suburban sprawl.

The problems? What if the men-in-attendance decide that the Orion-Independence Township area is the likely center of a new population thrust, as one of their number suggested?

LOCAL COOPERATION

How do you get the approximate 15 square miles needed to allow a total city development? How do you get local governments to agree to cooperate? Where do you get the financing, the millions of dollars necessary, for a new town development? How do you proceed with construction?

And given a new town, are you responsible for the deteriorating inner cities, many of whose people will populate the new town?

What is to happen to areas like Royal Oak and Madison Heights — areas already built up in the county — and, according to some reports at yesterday's meeting, rapidly beginning to deteriorate?

Are new towns feasible? Can the zoning cooperation be obtained? Should zoning be put in the hands of the county or of the state?

PONTIAC'S PROBLEMS

Why hasn't Pontiac's urban renewal moved faster? "It's too costly not to rebuild Pontiac, but it's too costly to rebuild Pontiac in terms of rebuilding; exactly those economic functions it formerly supplied.

Should new towns provide all its industry necessary to keep all its industries employed? Does that include heavy industry? What about rapid transit systems?

Can you attract the people to a new town?

Can you get people who would feed the employment market for industries providing a greater diversification than the auto plants we now have? How do you get those new industries?

DETROIT'S ROLE

How does Detroit fit into the Oakland County pattern?

Do we lose if Detroit continues to slide downhill?

Before the seminars are concluded, D&R officials hope to have concrete, local thinking on these and other areas: including housing, health, welfare, pollution, recreation, government organization and finance.

Zweig seems to have no fears that study recommendations can be implemented.

"We've just got to define the impossible from the difficult," he said.

Hart Disputes Laird Estimate of Soviet Antimissile Outlay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Michigan Sen. Philip A. Hart yesterday challenged an estimate made by Defense Secretary Melvin Laird that the Soviet Union was outspending the United States 4 to 1 on strategic defenses.

The estimate was made by Laird in discussing the possibility that the Sentinel antiballistic missile (ABM) system might be given a go-ahead despite the furor in many communities over the location of the nuclear system in their back yards.

One of the possible locations for the Sentinel system is in northern Oakland County in Michigan to protect the Detroit metropolitan area.

Hart said Laird apparently lumped Russian expenditures on the ABM, anti-aircraft missiles, interceptor aircraft, civil defense and air warning and control systems to get this estimate.

'UNFORTUNATE IMPRESSION'

"This leaves the unfortunate impression that it is on missile defenses alone that the comparison in defense spending is made," the Michigan Democrat said.

In a letter to the secretary, Hart asked for clarification. He said his understanding was the Soviets had "obtained remarkable little return for their investment" on the ABM.

In Lansing, a group opposed to the antiballistic missile site in Oakland County yesterday urged the Michigan Legislature to hold hearings on the issue.

Richard Place, a Wayne State University history professor, said the federal government preempted "the state's function of protecting its citizens by selecting the locale."

"Hearings would serve to educate the public, state officials and the legislators," he said.

Avon-Rochester Dems Set Forum Tomorrow on Incorporation Issue

ROCHESTER — The Avon-Rochester Democratic Club will sponsor an open forum on the Avon Township incorporation question tomorrow night.

The meeting will be held at 8:30 at the Avon Township Free Public Library, 210 W. University.

Speakers from groups favoring and opposing the proposed incorporation will appear, according to club chairman Peter Vernia, 2763 Tallahassee, Avon Township.

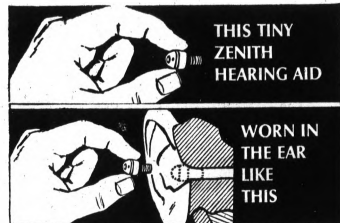

Avon Township residents will vote March 10 on approval of a proposed charter for the City of Rochester Hills (to include the entire township except for the present City of Rochester).

Speaking in favor of incorporation will be representatives of Citizens for Better Government, a group formed by township residents to investigate the question. The opposition group has not been announced.

The meeting will be open to the public.

By JANET ODELL

Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

Pancakes have long been associated with the beginning of Lent. In the Middle Ages, English housewives were forbidden to use meat, milk and eggs during the 40 days preceding Easter. So they used up all their supplies in one grand pancake spree the day before Ash Wednesday.

With the lessening of dietary restrictions during Lent, this practice has diminished. But this week is still a good one in which to feature pancakes.

Pancakes take their rightful place in any meal of the day. Perfect for breakfast, they are as welcome as a lunch treat or dessert at dinner. Consider some of the following recipes as a good way to vary your menus.

Last summer, at the Mrs. America Pageant, Quaker Oats Company sponsored a pancake contest. The first prize went to Mrs. John E. Cole Jr. (Mrs. California) for her Tangy Strawberry Roll-ups. Try them for a leisurely Sunday morning brunch.

Filling:
2 cups sliced fresh strawberries
2 teaspoons sugar
Topping:
1½ cups dairy sour cream
¼ cup sweetened condensed milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Pancakes:
1 cup pancake and waffle mix
One 3½ oz. pkg. lemon pudding
1 cup milk
2 eggs

2 teaspoons melted or liquid shortening
Whole fresh strawberries

For filling, place sliced strawberries in small bowl; sprinkle with sugar. For topping, combine sour cream, condensed milk and lemon juice in small bowl.

For pancakes, place pancake mix, pudding and pie filling, milk, eggs and shortening in medium-sized bowl. Beat with rotary beater until fairly smooth. For each pancake, pour about ¼ cup batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle to make 8 pancakes. Turn pancakes when tops are covered with bubbles and edges look cooked. Turn only once.

Place filling across center of each pancake; roll up. Spoon topping over roll-ups; to each roll-up with a strawberry. Makes 4 servings.

NOTE: If fresh strawberries are not available, substitute sliced frozen strawberries, thawed and eliminate sugar from filling recipe.

DUTCH PANCAKE WITH FROZEN FRUIT

2 eggs
½ cup all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
Confectioners' sugar
1 package (12 ounces) frozen sliced peaches, thawed and drained
1 package (10 ounces) frozen halved strawberries, thawed and drained

1 package (16 ounces) frozen whipped topping, thawed
Brown sugar, cinnamon or nutmeg
Beat eggs until blended. Add flour, salt and milk; beat until smooth. Stir in melted butter. (If not baked immediately, cover and refrigerate.)

French Fry Onion Rings

Inside or outside any hearty sandwich, batter-dipped French-fried onion rings make natural companions. To prepare, mix an "egg" batter from a favorite pancake recipe or mix, or combine the following: 1 cup sifted flour, 1 egg, ¼ cup milk and ½ teaspoon salt.

Peel and slice 2 medium-sized onions, separate the rings and gently towel dry to remove excess moisture. This will allow the batter to stick more readily.

USE OIL

Fill an electric fry pan about one-third full with a vegetable cooking oil and heat to 375 degrees. Heat fry basket in the oil, keeping the onion rings in the batter.

When the temperature light on the thermostat blinks off, raise the basket and cover the bottom with one layer (uncrowded) of dipped onion rings. Lower the basket into the fat.

If the onions bubble — and they probably will as they have a high water content — alternately lift and lower the fry basket until the bubbling subsides. Fry about three minutes, turning if necessary; until the rings are a golden brown and are cooked thoroughly.

Remove the onion rings and drain on several layers of absorbent toweling. Keep in a warm oven until the remaining rings are cooked.

New Italian Dressing Fine in Potato Salad

An adventurous family can travel the world via their salad. The vast array of bottled dressings so readily available provide the perfect passport for a salad safari anywhere around the globe.

Right now is a good time to take a trip to colorful Italy for a hot potato salad inspired by the new on-the-market Italian dressing. This salad innovation blends sliced cooked potatoes with chopped green onion, green pepper and sliced radishes. It's perfect for main dish service when ringed with a string of Italian sausages.

The secret of the salad's Italian flavor accent is in the dressing — a mixture of golden oil, two kinds of vinegar, garlic and bits of red pepper. For flavor balance between mildness and bite, there's a hint of lemon and selected salad herbs.

For a salad safari to Spain, the flavor passport is mildly spiced French dressing with a hint of garlic. The bottled dressing is used as a marinade to create Gazpacho Salad, a blend of tomatoes, cucumbers, celery, green pepper and onion.

HOT POTATO SALAD ITALIENNE

2 tablespoons sliced green onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
¼ cup Italian dressing
4 cups sliced cooked potatoes
4 slices crisply-cooked bacon, crumbled
¼ cup sliced radishes

GAZPACHO SALAD

2 cups peeled, chopped tomatoes
½ cup scored, sliced cucumbers
¼ cup sliced celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
½ cup French dressing
Lettuce cups
Marinate tomatoes, cucumbers, celery, green pepper and onion in dressing for several hours; drain, reserving marinade. Serve salad in lettuce cups with reserved marinade. 3 to 4 servings.

Funnel Helps You

DUTCH PANCAKE WITH FRUIT

Fish Fillets Are Broiled With Tomatoes, Cheese

The homemaker in a hurry who likes to serve food with a flair can sit back and relax — there's a new, full-color booklet on the market, "Time For Seafood," that is brimming with quick, easy, and nourishing main dishes.

Faster Flounder, an excitingly different recipe from the booklet, is a savory choice that fills the bill with pleases-the-family and easy-on-the-cook versatility. Tasty fish fillets are broiled under a blanket of grated onion and tomato pieces until flaky.

Then they are topped with cheese, for added goodness, and popped under the broiler again just long enough to melt the cheese.

FASTER FLOUNDER

2 pounds skinless flounder fillets or other fish fillets, fresh or frozen
2 tablespoons grated onion
1½ teaspoons salt
2 large tomatoes, cut into ¼ teaspoon pepper
small pieces
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted

1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
Thaw frozen fillets. Place fillets in a single layer on a well-greased bake and serve platter, 16 x 10 inches. Sprinkle fillets with onion, salt, and pepper. Cover fillets with tomatoes. Pour butter over tomatoes.

Broil about 4 inches from source of heat for 10 to 12 minutes or until fillets flake easily when tested with a fork. Remove from heat and sprinkle with cheese. Broil 2 to 3 minutes longer or until cheese melts. Makes 6 servings.

"Time For Seafood," published by the United States Department of the Interior's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, is filled with 25 mouth-watering recipes for today's busy homemaker.
