Williams Vetoes Bill Providing an Extra Judge

Claims Measure Would Furnish Oakland No Help for 19 Months

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams today vetoed bills to provide one additional circuit judge apiece in Oakland and Saginaw counties.

He said the need for new judges in terms of crowded dockets was apparent but that the bills would "provide no relief whatsoever" for 19 months.

This, the governor said, was due to a clause in each of the bills providing that the newly-created vacancy on the bench would not be filled until the November 1958 election, with the judge being seated in January 1959.

The governor on Monday signed a bill for a new judge in Bay County and immediately filled the vacancy by appointing former state Rep. Richard G. Smith.

Discussing the Oakland bill, which made different provisions for setting up the new judicial officer, Williams said: "It has been well said that justice delayed is justice denied. By that measurement this bill denies justice to the litigants of Oakland County.

"The ground for so doing, while not stated, is a reluctance on the part of a Republican majority in the Legislature to give a Democratic governor the power to appoint a new circuit judge in Oakland County.

"This ground I reject as insufficient to make this bill a piece of good legislation."

Williams said in 1956 Oakland had the highest load of new cases for each of its judges of all counties in the state. He said its dockets fell further behind than that of any other judicial circuit.

Britain Reduces Control on Trade With Red China

New Strains Foreseen on Relations With U.S. as Result of Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new strain on relations between the United States and Britain was foreseen today as a result of the British decision to reduce controls on trade with Red China.

U.S. officials said the impact would be determined largely by the degree of criticism in Congress.

The British action — reducing China trade controls to the level of those applied to Russia and her European satellites—came while many members of Congress were away for Memorial Day.

Strong opposition was anticipated from some members.

Sen. Knowland of California, Senate Republican leader, has been outspoken against any trade with the Chinese Communists, contending this would increase their war-making capacity. He declined comment last night on the British action.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, aimed his criticism at Eisenhower administration foreign policy, saying the British move — despite American urgings to the contrary—is "further evidence of our rather sterile policy toward China, with no prospects of it leading anywhere."

NOT RECOGNIZED

This country does not recognize the Communist Chinese government, although the British do. The United States also has no trade relations with the Red Chinese.

Brag of Monster Bomb

WARSAW (AP) — An H-bomb so big that it defies testing reportedly is claimed by the Soviet Union.

Poland's semiofficial Publicity-Information Agency — API — reported Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev told a group of visiting Polish journalists about the monster bomb at a meeting in the Kremlin this month.

"This bomb is so big we cannot test it even inside the vast area of the Soviet Union. We couldn't even test it in the Arctic.

"If we set it off at the North Pole it would melt the icecap and send the oceans spilling over the world," API quoted Khrushchev.

If the polar icecaps ever thawed scientists have estimated ocean levels would climb more than 70 feet, flooding London, New York and other cities.

The API correspondent said Khrushchev told the group to explode the bomb in the most remote northern area of the Soviet Union "would have disastrous results for the whole of Scandinavia," and that one bomb of its size "would be enough for Britain or France."

Neither the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission nor the State Department in Washington had any immediate comment.

State Highway Crashes Kill 7; Total Toll Is 16

Drownings, Other Fatal Accidents Bring Overall U.S. Tally to 166

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

Death stalked the nation's highways as usual over Memorial Day but the number of victims claimed was lower than expected.

This morning, 94 traffic deaths had been counted. At least 120 had been expected. Drownings and other holiday-connected mishaps brought to 166 the over-all toll.

However, with many citizens stretching the holiday through the weekend, the fatality list continued to grow.

Today the tabulation stood at 94 traffic deaths, 37 drownings and 35 lives lost from other misfortunes, for a total of 166.

Midnight last night was the close of a 30-hour Memorial Day measuring period which began at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Seven persons were killed in traffic accidents and three others drowned in Michigan during the 30-hour Memorial Day holiday.

In addition, a 10-year-old girl was killed when struck by a train on a trestle over the Huron River, two babies died, an elderly man died of a fatal heart attack while marching in a parade, and a couple was burned to death.

The highway toll compared with 10 deaths on state roads last Memorial Day. About 4,500 state and local police and National Guardsmen patrolled highways during the day.

Their vigilance will continue through midnight Sunday, as yesterday marked the start of a four-day weekend—and possible auto trips—for many residents.

The traffic victims:

Leslie L. Streeter, 61, of Port Huron, was killed on U.S. 25 in Forrestville when he lost control of his auto and it rolled over three times. State Police said he apparently tried to pass a long line of cars while traveling at a high rate of speed.

Clarence J. Kohn, 29, of Houghton Lake, died when his car overturned on the outskirts of Houghton Lake after leaving M55.

Evangelos Ktenos, 65, of Metamora, was struck and killed by an auto while walking along M24, near Metamora.

Charles A. Shreve, 21, of Inkster, was fatally injured when his

Come On, June, Get Hot

Rise and Fall of Mercury Watched in Press Contest

Come on, June, let's have some hot days!

Everybody wants 'em, and 2,353 weather fans are especially interested, for that number think they know the day, hour and minute when you'll be at your best.

That number had entered the Press June weather contest when the deadline was reached at noon Thursday.

Most of the prognosticators leaned toward the end of the month, with June 27 being the most popular date for top heat. But some hardy souls took a long chance with 5 expecting things to boil up to a record on the very first day.

Entries held under 50 on each of the first 12 days, stepped up in the following days, and ganged up on the latter days.

The Press will present a $100 savings bond to the person who named the date, hour and minute of the highest temperature here in June, or comes closest.

The recording temperature chart in the Press editorial office will be the official record.

We'll report progress of the contest day by day.

Pontiac Is Cited for Safety Record

Pontiac, with no traffic deaths in the first four months of this year, was cited as one of the nation's safest cities today by the National Safety Council.

Detroit, with a death rate of 2.8 fatalities per 10,000 vehicles, had the best record of any city with over a million population in the first four months. Detroit's traffic death toll is 68 to date, compared with 91 in the same 1956 period.

Two Tornadoes Strike Colorado Farm District

WINDSOR, Colo. (AP)—Two tornadoes, hopping a destructive path across farms in northeastern Colorado, struck late yesterday. As many as 12 funnels were reported seen.

Damage was spotty in an area 40 miles square, confined mostly to barns and granaries. Only one injury was reported.

One twister set down at Windsor High School, shattering windows and damaging roofs of two smaller adjoining school buildings. An estimated $10,000 damage was done to the school's farm building.

Bleachers from the football stadium were strewn over the field.

Bricks were torn from the wall of the farm building, and one struck Bill Olson, 45, operator of a Windsor cleaning plant, on the head. He was not seriously injured.

The first damage was reported on the Clarence Svedman farm 10 miles southeast of Fort Collins. The twister leveled Svedman's five granaries, garage and machine shop. It flipped his barn on its side.

Shepherd Held in Wife's Death

Awaits an Examination on 1st Degree Murder Charge in Knifing

James D. Shepherd, of Birmingham was arraigned today on a first-degree murder charge and returned to Oakland County jail to await trial.

Shepherd, 36, is charged with stabbing his wife, Elizabeth, 42, to death Monday night in their home at 1509 Pierce St.

Birmingham Justice John J. Gafill scheduled a pre-trial examination for 9 a.m. June 19.

Gafill signed a warrant ordered by Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, who said Shepherd and his school teacher wife had had a history of domestic quarreling since their marriage in January.

Ziem said the woman's two young daughters by a previous marriage told him that they saw Shepherd stab their mother as she attempted to flee the living room following an argument Monday night.

Shepherd maintains he "blacked out" from the time he went to bed at 9 p.m. Monday until almost two hours later, when he discovered his wife dying on the living room floor.

Because of the charge that he faces, Shepherd will be held without bond.

Association Lists Grievances

Police Ask Straley Ouster

Pontiac Police Officers Association today demanded the removal of Police Chief Herbert W. Straley and voted to ask the civil service commission to investigate police department activities and records.

The association also asked the commission to investigate the association's own records, in support of their claim that "We have nothing to hide."

The action was taken at a meeting this morning attended by 40 members of the department.

The association also voted to circulate petitions for Straley's removal if the commission fails to act on their first request.

Grievances listed by the police in their meeting today included these charges:

Improper use of department-owned vehicles by high ranking officers; failure of the chief to confirm new officers after a six-months probationary period; failure to grant pay-raises due officers; change by Straley of wording in prisoners' statements on reports; inconsistency in overtime regulations; discrimination among officers; and mishandling of contributions to the police benefit fund.

The officers also charged that poor public relations by Chief Straley with the Municipal Court judges, county prosecutors, State Police and sheriff's department hinders city police in the best performance of their duties.

The association charged earlier this week that Straley had manipulated work assignments and off days in such a manner as to prevent key men from attending an association meeting.

Tomorrow We Present:

Miss Front Page for June

June is one of the year's happiest months, because of the pleasant things associated with this season . . . roses and the start of summer . . . brides . . . graduation . . . just to mention a few.

And now we have something more to anticipate.

Another month has passed and we have . . . bet you've guessed it . . . another Miss Front Page.

We cannot tell you who she is or where she lives or what she looks like (she's charming, of course) until tomorrow. But one guess is safe: she'll be wearing a cap and gown.

"I Was Born in Paradise"

Freedom-Bound Slaves Aided Here

By ARTHUR POUND

(Continuing a story of early Pontiac, reprinted from the current issue of the University of Michigan Alumnus Quarterly Review).

I was born where the Pontiac Post Office now stands, in the old house on the southeast corner, now East Huron and Mill streets. My father owned that entire block and later built a new and larger house at the corner of Perry and East Huron streets. The old house remains in memory as more precious and interesting, perhaps because of some scary legends which clung around it.

Built by Dr. Silas Paddock, a pioneer physician, who came here about 1840 from Utica, New York, the old house was one of those low-hung, long-drawn-out dwellings common to rural New England, and to those parts of New York settled by the New Englanders—dwellings designed to defy cold weather and accommodate winter work under shelter.

The main part of the house was two-storied, but hugged the ground because furnaces needing cellar headroom had not yet been invented.

My earliest recollection is being tossed out of a second-story window into a snowdrift by my father on the bright morning that followed the great blizzard of 1888, the heaviest snowfall ever experienced across this country. Needless to say, I was well wrapped up for this adventure, being a little short of four years old, but I recall the event in all its details as if it were yesterday. The drift came within a few feet of the bottom of the window, so it wasn't much of a jump, just enough to make me a hero—to myself.

From the main portion of the house and extending almost to Mount Clemens street stretched a long ell which contained in sequence the pantry, kitchen, summer kitchen, laundry, privy, woodshed and carriage house. In the doctor's day he had a barn on Mount Clemens street attached to the carriage house, but it had been torn down and the space turned into a vegetable garden, where I grew my first callouses and earned my first dime. In this strung-out habitation Dr. Paddock could arise from the breakfast table, pick up his medicine kit and, under cover the whole way, walk right through to his barn a block distant, there to climb into buggy, say giddap, and be off on his rounds.

Like most Michiganders, Dr. Paddock was a devout abolitionist, but he carried his zeal farther than most by helping Negro slaves to escape to Canadian soil via the Underground Railroad.

Four well-traced routes of the Underground ran into Detroit and one through Pontiac to Mount Clemens and across Lake Saint Clair by boat.

On this Mount Clemens route the Paddock house was a principal station. Almost any day the doctor had some good professional reason to drive toward Franklin, Southfield or Farmington. After attending patients along the way he would drive his rig into a farmer's barn, stay there for noon dinner, and leave with one or two run-

Hungary Holds U.S. Students

South Carolina Pair Seen Being Led Away at Austria Border

EISENSTADT, Austria (AP) — The Austrian Interior Ministry confirmed today that two South Carolina University students missing since May 26 are being held in Communist Hungary.

Frontier authorities identified the youths as Myron Gilbert, 20, of Waterboro, S. C., and Warren William Hair, 20, of North Augusta, S. C.

Austrian frontier police reported seeing "two young men" being led away by Hungarian Red police through the tangle of barbed wire on the border.

Hair and Gilbert set out Sunday to see what was happening along the Austro-Hungarian frontier.

American officials said as soon as they could substantiate the reports they would ask the U.S. legation in Budapest to ask the Hungarian government about them.

The youths, students at the University of South Carolina, had been on a hitch-hiking tour of Western Europe.

An Austrian patrolman at the Eisenstadt frontier station said he saw Hungarian militiamen escort two persons he believed were the Americans from the frontier barb wire barrier at Margarethen Sunday night.

OUT FOR EXCITEMENT

An Australian girl acquaintance, Janice de Pedro, 22, said the two boys took along a camera, political publications and other objects "for excitement" to make the Hungarian Communist authorities think they were American spies.

Miss de Pedro, who accompanied the Americans on part of their trip, raised an alarm after Hair and Gilbert failed to return.

She said they left their Austrian Youth hostel at the village of Rust, on Lake Neusiedler a few miles from the border, saying they would cross into Hungary and sleep there for a night "just to see what it's like."

She said the boys wanted to be able to say "they had been there" on their return to college. They asked her to come along but she refused.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Does weather ever remain the same? In hot summer spells is the air over your town or city the same air that was there yesterday, or the day before?

Weather is never the same. The same conditions may exist, but the weather you are experiencing today—the gases that are above you—have probably come from hundreds of miles away in the past twenty-four hours.

In the United States the movement of weather is generally from west to east and seldom does a time come when this trend is not in effect. The air you breathe today was not in your vicinity yesterday. Experts have estimated that it usually was several hundred miles westward yesterday.

This does not mean that clear air hundreds of miles to the west cannot become moist or cloudy by the time it reaches you. Local conditions sometimes generate clouds and precipitation, but usually on a local scale. In general, if the air is clear to the west, it will be clear when it reaches you and if rainy, it will bring clouds to your area as it passes over — though clouds sometimes dissipate as they move eastward, and the experts still cannot always predict these changes.

Flaming Aerial Tragedy Mars Memorial Display

Jet Crash Kills 1, Hurts 6

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The solemnity of a Memorial Day service for war dead was shattered yesterday when two Navy Panther jets collided while flying in an aerial tribute over a poppy-strewn cemetery.

Half a mile away, in a heavily populated section of northeast Minneapolis, a man and his wife were washing clothes in the basement of their home when a "funny, whirring noise" sent them running outside.

One of the planes plunged into the street in front of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Trost's home, rammed their car onto the front lawn and disintegrated.

The pilot, Cmdr. Newell Olson, 38, liaison and public relations officer at Wold-Chamberlain Naval Air Station, was killed. Six residents of the neighborhood were injured, one seriously. The pilot of the second plane, which crashed in a vacant lot, parachuted to safety.

FOUR HOMES BURN

The Trost home and three others burst into flame as fiery fuel from the plane sprayed over a wide area. A .50-caliber machine gun from the jet was hurled through a screen door and into the Trost living room. The second plane dug a six-foot crater in a vacant lot five blocks away.

The collision was witnessed by a thousand persons attending services at Sunset Memorial Cemetery. It occurred as a low-flying helicopter dropped poppies on the cemetery in a Veterans of Foreign Wars ceremony.

Lt. (j.g.) John Forsmark, 26, Minneapolis, a reservist, told newsmen later his left wing collided with the fuselage of Olson's plane as they and two other jets began a rolling maneuver in a final flourish over the cemetery. But he could give no explanation of the accident.

Residents found Olson's body in the street. His parachute was tangled in a tree.

Britain Lifts Controls on Trade With China

action, the State Department announced that the United States intends to hold firmly to its policy of "total embargo" on all American trade with Communist China.

The department also described the U. S. government as being "most disappointed" by the British action, which marked a heavy defeat for American diplomacy.

MILD LANGUAGE

The mild language of the American rebuke to Britain underscored the hope of department officials that whatever damage may be done to British-American relations will be temporary, and can be held to a minimum.

For months, the United States has been trying hard to persuade its allies to continue tighter controls on trade with Red China than with the Soviet Union and its European satellites.

The British move was viewed here as signaling the general collapse of this policy. Diplomatic officials said the other major trading nations—mainly Japan, West Germany, France and Italy—now have no choice but to follow the British lead.

The British estimated about 200 items, previously banned for sale to Red China, are coming off the control list. No breakdown was immediately available.

However, these items were described here as falling generally into the category of capital goods such as locomotives, machine tools, farm tractors, trucks and iron and steel sheets too soft to make military weapons. Consumer goods never were on the China control list.

The British position, as reported here, was that the trade control differential was impractical and ineffective. British officials argued that Red China could get through Russia the items which the Western nations were prevented from selling to the Peiping regime.

American officials contend Red China has not been able to obtain from the Soviet Union the volume of goods it needs for its industrialization. They argue further that such Western-made supplies as the Soviet Union has shipped to Red China have placed an extra burden on transport facilities.

Police Holding Man in Auto Theft Case

Pontiac police are holding a man for investigation in the stealing an auto after he was found sleeping in the car about 7:15 a.m. today by Patrolman Billy L. Hargraves.

A warrant will be sought today against Eddie Lee Ford, 40, of 386 Central Ave., charging breaking into W. M. Bennett's Garage, 21 Wessen St., and stealing the 1950 convertible yesterday.

The auto belonged to Cleatus V. Armstrong, 113 E. Rutgers Ave., and was in the garage for repairs, police said.

Roberto, Ingrid Reportedly Plan Reunion in Rome

ROME (INS)—Friends of Roberto Rossellini said today the Italian movie producer will return to Italy in July for a reunion with his wife, actress Ingrid Bergman.

The friends said that Ingrid and their three children will come to Rome in July and will be joined by Rossellini when he winds up his movie chores in India. The whole family, the sources, added, will then go to their villa at Santa Marinella.

Rossellini himself, reported to have been carrying on a romance with Indian model and mother Sonali Das Gupta, 27, remained in seclusion in Bombay.

A spokesman for the Indian Home Affairs Ministry said in New Delhi that the 51-year-old producer's request for a visa extension has been referred to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

In Calcutta, Sonali's 35-year-old husband Hari said he had asked Indian authorities not to allow her to leave India. Das Gupta said he assured officials that he was willing to take his wife back.

Sonali reportedly left her husband and family in April to take up residence in Bombay's Taj Mahal Hotel in a room adjoining Rossellini's suite.

Rossellini has denied the romance rumors.

Sonali checked out of the hotel but her present whereabouts could not be determined. Mrs. Bimal Roy, a cousin of the shapely model, said Sonali's family is trying to persuade her to go to the family home in Lucknow if she refuses to go back to her husband.

Trailer Breaks Away From Car, Hits Pump

A trailer broke away from a car at State street and Johnson avenue yesterday and struck a gas pump, according to Pontiac police.

Nathan Partnay, 68, of 180 Riviera St., was issued a traffic citation by police for not having safety chains mounted on the vehicle and having a defective coupling since it was wired to the car.

The damaged gas pump was in front of Bud's Service Station, 290 State Ave.

Fleeing Slaves Found Shelter in Pontiac away slaves hidden back of the seat.

At home he would drive directly into his barn, where the refugees would emerge for food, shelter and whatever else they needed in the way of kindly treatment.

Above the carriage house were several low-ceilinged cubicles where we used to play hide-and-seek, whispering to each other and half believing the place was haunted by the soul of a runaway slave who had died there. When Dr. Paddock drove forth again on his rounds it would be eastward toward the next Underground station near Rochester, from which other abolitionists would pass the runaways along toward Mount Clemens, Lake Saint Clair, Chatham and Dresden, Ontario, where the original of Uncle Tom is buried in a grave which is now a shrine for tourists.

That was the family story. From others outside the family I heard that the doctor sometimes carried in his gig human freight more awful than runaway slaves—namely, the occasional cadavers which medical students then as now needed to dissect for the advance of their surgical arts, but which were denied them by misguided legislation, and so were available only through chicanery. This tale came to me from old neighbors years after our family scattered and may be gossip merely.

Chimp 'Helps' Crew of Plane on Flight West

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The three-man crew of a four-engine cargo airliner suddenly found they had an extra and willing hand on a flight from Detroit to Kansas City yesterday.

A 75-pound chimpanzee, consigned from a pet shop in Philadelphia to a pet shop in Santa Cruz, Calif., and stowed in a green plywood crate in the tail of the plane, invaded the cockpit 20 minutes out of Detroit.

She first made her presence felt between Wallace Keck, flight engineer from Wellsborough, Pa., and the back of his seat.

Walt Miller of Dallas, skipper of the Slick Airlines plane, concentrated on flying while Keck and co-pilot William Wohlschlegel of New Brunswick, N. J., chased the chimp back toward her crate. Their gentle persuasion didn't work so they returned to the cockpit.

So did the chimp. She delighted in swinging from shelf to shelf and handle to handle on the radio rack behind the crew. She found bottles of instant coffee and powdered cream on one shelf, managed to break both and consumed the contents.

Wohlschlegel went back into the cabin for a breather. She took his seat beside Miller.

"She was real friendly," said Miller. "Stick out your hand and she'd put her hand in it. But you couldn't get hold of her when you wanted to put her back in the crate."

The plane landed in Kansas City and Miller mumbled something to the ground crew about being careful when they opened the cargo hatch.

Six men worked 20 minutes maneuvering the chimp back into her box and a new crew took off for the West.

Doesn't Believe He Should Be Punished

Consul's Son Not Sorry He Ran Away

CHICAGO (AP)—The teen-age son of an Italian diplomat, object of a nationwide search for six weeks, says he's not sorry he ran away from home and doesn't believe he should be punished.

But the boy, Vittorio Barattieri, 14, said he's sorry that he caused his parents so much distress because of his absence for 44 days.

The tall, blonde youth returned home with his parents from New York City last night, some 24 hours after he had been picked up by the FBI.

He had been in New York since he disappeared from home April 16. During the police search for him, his parents, Count and Countess Ludovico Barattieri, had made appeals in newspapers and on the radio and television for him to return.

His father, Italian consul general in Chicago, at one time had expressed fear his son had been slain.

Vittorio said he enjoyed the experience of living alone — "I got a kick out of being on my own." He said he once saw his picture in a New York newspaper and a story about the search for him and said he thought it was "silly."

Vittorio told reporters at Midway Airport last night, he was "glad" he ran away and said he didn't believe he deserved punishment. Asked if he planned to run away again, he said, without a smile, "No, not for a while." He added: "I didn't think I would be missed."

Reporters asked his parents whether he should be punished.

The countess said Vittorio, whom she called "Toto," is too big to spank.

Barattieri, said by police to have been strict with the boy, replied: "I don't believe in punishment. I believe in a gradual process of getting people accustomed to discipline." He said he did not consider himself too strict with his son.

The boy said he had two jobs in New York. He worked five days as a messenger boy and one day as a bus boy in a restaurant.

When picked up by the FBI he said he had $1.04 and had planned to go to work again to get some more money. He said he planned to spend some of the money at the race tracks. He had $120 when he ran away.

"I was at Belmont race track once and lost $8, but I sure liked horseplay," he said.

The countess said, "I do not plan to handle him any differently now that he has returned," and added that she was unable to understand the boy's action.

Algerian Rebels Massacre 275

Nationalists Wipe Out Entire Male Population of Moslem Village

ALGIERS (AP) — French officials today told of a night of horror during which nationalist rebels massacred at least 275 Moslems — the entire male population of a mountain village.

Authorities said rebels swept down Tuesday night and overwhelmed the village of La Casbah, a few miles away. Submachine guns mowed down many of them. The rebels slit the throats of others and beat some to death.

The story was pieced together from the stunned womenfolk.

The French said they did not know the reason for the massacre but speculated that it was another bloody chapter in the rivalry between the two big Algerian nationalist groups, the Algerian Nationalist Movement (MNA) and the National Liberation Front (FLN).

The village also is on the main mountain route the rebels use in moving from the Constantine area to the Algiers area. There was speculation the attackers might have felt the villagers were betraying their movements.

Gives Away Old Shoes —Forgets Rings Inside

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Some time ago Mrs. Betty Reinoehl hid two expensive rings in a pair of old shoes.

Last Saturday she put the shoes on her doorstep in hopes that some needy person would find them. Some needy person apparently did.

Mrs. Reinoehl went looking for the shoes yesterday and had a sudden terrible recollection. The rings . . .

She told police the rings, both platinum with diamond settings, were worth $1,490.

The Day in Birmingham

Ground Breaking Slated for Methodist Expansion

BIRMINGHAM—The First Methodist Church will break ground for an additional Church School wing and chapel on Sunday at 3 p.m. Bishop Marshall R. Reed of the Detroit area will give the address.

Dr. Benjamin F. Holme, Detroit District Superintendent, will give the invocation and Dr. Arnold F. Runkel will give the charge to the congregation.

At a special quarterly conference recently, an expansion program for $395,132 was approved. This includes a building contract plus furnishings and contingencies. It is expected that construction will be completed in the spring of 1958.

Upon completion of these additions, the building program, launched with the First Building Crusade 13 years ago will be accomplished. Dr. Runkel has been pastor during this entire period.

Birmingham recorded one accident for Memorial Day, when Kenneth L. Bone, 23, of 3781 Royal St., Berkley rolled his car over at the Adams-Woodward intersection at 2:06 a.m. today.

Police said Bone suffered injuries to his right arm, scalp and both legs. He was taken to William Beaumont Hospital. The car struck a city traffic sign and continued on to hit a light pole and guy wire before overturning on the pavement.

It is thought that Bone was trapped under the wreckage of his car for about half an hour, before discovery.

Featuring Mickey Shore, well-known area entertainer, the affair will be held at Jefferson Beach Park. There will be entertainment including a stage show, dancing and athletic contests. Picnic grove facilities will be available for those desiring them.

Commissioners have voted to change a fire alarm system at the DPW garage for the sake of economy, to one which will be owned by the city rather than rented from a fire alarm system.

They have been notified of annual rental increase from $296 to $434. City manager, Harold H. Schone, pointed out that even with a $50 reduction in insurance premium, this would leave a cost of $384 per year.

Fire Chief Park Smith and Fire Marshal George Scott have suggested the purchase of the Tobin equipment which will have an initial cost of $1,450. Future maintenance will be done by the city. This will include protection for the main garage and the smaller building located immediately to the north.

Find Champion Terrier After 6-Day Search

NEW YORK (AP) — Foggyfurze Sugar Baby, a champion $5,000 Bedlington terrier, is in custody after leading searchers a merry chase for six days.

The dog escaped from a handler at Idlewild Airport last Friday after arriving from England. Its owner, Virden Wilson of Houston, Tex., offered a $500 reward. Wilson even hired a helicopter to hunt for her.

Yesterday Vitautes Rapp, 37, an airline maintenance employer, found the dog. He says he may use part of the $500 reward to buy a dog for his two children.

U.S. Navy Transport Nearing Formosa

TAIPEI (AP)—A naval transport neared Formosa today with 1,057 U. S. military personnel and dependents, and Premier O. K. Yui said conditions in Taipei were practically back to normal after the anti-American riots a week ago.

The Hugh J. Gaffey was due at Keelung tomorrow with the additions to the contingent of about 10,000 americans already on Formosa. The transport will take home 247 military personnel and dependents being reassigned.

Yui assured Americans and other foreigners "that it is now safe for them to go about as before, not only in Taipei but throughout the island."

Americans were circulating more freely today, but military personnel still were under orders to stay out of all Chinese establishments except official premises. Enlisted men off duty still were ordered to be indoors by 9 p.m.

State Congressmen Vote 9-8 for Defense Bill.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan congressmen voted 9-8 in favor of a 313 million dollar addition to the Defense Department appropriation bill yesterday. The House turned down the proposal 242-11.

For the proposal were Reps. Bennett, Bentley, Broomfield, Cederberg, Chamberlain, Ford, Griffin, Knox and McIntosh, all Republicans. Against the proposal were Democratic Reps. Dingell, Griffiths, Lesinski, Machrowicz and Rabaut, and Republican Reps. Hoffman, Johansen and Meader.

Rep. Diggs (D) was listed as not voting.

Australia now bans cattle from America.

Not All Students Support Lowering Age for Voting

LANSING (AP)—Sentiment for lowering the voting age to 18 is not as widespread among Michigan high school and college students as some advocates have supposed, one of them concluded after a survey.

"The division appears to be pretty close," reported Sen. Leo H. Roy (R-Hancock), "but mostly in favor of extending the franchise."

PUSH FOR OBJECTIVE

Roy in recent legislative sessions, including the one just concluded, has sponsored a proposed constitutional amendment for the 18-year-old vote. The age minimum now is 21.

And he says he will continue to push for this objective.

"President Eisenhower is for it, both major political party organizations have been for it and I think it's only right," he said.

To try to get a line on the sentiment of those who would be affected, Roy wrote school administrators all over the state suggesting the subject as one profitable for student debate and referendum.

RECEIVED REPORTS

This spring, he received reports from about 50 colleges and high schools on the outcome of straw votes that were held. Thirty-six of those accompanied by sample vote or referendum statistics showed students favored lowering the voting age.

Roy expressed mild surprise that 13 showed the contrary.

Interestingly, the bulk of negative reaction was registered in Detroit, in both the public and parochial school systems, and in higher education systems.

Expressions were predominantly against the proposition at Central Michigan College 428 to 350, at Eastern Michigan College 1,716 to 1,523, at Western Michigan University 174 to 125 and at Ferris Institute 447 to 268.

Northern Michigan College favored the 18-year-old vote, 547 to 445. So did five high schools in Grand Rapids, and others in Battle Creek, Kalamazoo and a number of Upper Peninsula communities.

In Detroit, the results percentagewise in the public school system summarized at 58 per cent for and 42 per cent against. The Detroit parochial school vote, following a similar pattern, was 59 per cent against, 41 per cent in favor.

new safe All-in-One capsule discovery for

science now helps you take off your fat while you eat the foods you choose

Do you like sweets, candy, cake and are you a real glutton when it comes to butter, gravy, potatoes? Have you tried one thing after another to reduce, spent dollar after dollar for pills and tablets and in spite of everything you've tried you're still too fat? Well, be as skeptical as you like, but NOW, right NOW, there's a wonderful new kind of capsule that helps you take off pounds and inches of ugly fat safely, quickly and so much easier you hardly know what's happening. You don't suffer starvation dieting hunger, you take no drugs, you don't exercise. In fact, you don't even diet one bit more than you want to, because you automatically eat less and here's why...

Just recently a well known scientist perfected a new tiny capsule that combines not one but ALL THE RECOGNIZED proven aids to reducing he found in all the advertised products offered today. It contains the concentrated proteins you're read and heard about. It combines the vitamins and minerals often lost when cutting off fattening foods containing these needed vitamins and minerals. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories yet expands when it absorbs water thereby helping to give the feeling of a full contented stomach. Yet these tiny new capsules contain not just one but ALL the drugless reducing aids he found to be needed to actually automatically make you eat less without conscious effort and like it! In fact these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-caloric filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meal.

fat goes fast

You'll be surprised at the fat you lose the first week, the inches that disappear the first month. No hunger, no strict dieting, no drugs, no exercise. And the cost is absolutely nothing unless you grow slim, more youthful looking, more active and enjoy better health.

Treasury Head Resigns

A great American and very valuable member of President Eisenhower's cabinet has resigned.

This occasions no surprise as the move has been definitely forecast. But the loss of George H. Humphrey takes a brilliant business man and a keen analyst from the inner councils of the administration. The Secretary of the Treasury was an absolutely top official in his own line, and in addition he brought an exceptionally capable intellect to bear on all vital problems that concerned this nation.

Michigan can take a partial bow in the excellence of Secretary Humphrey's work, for he came from Saginaw and graduated from the University of Michigan. He went to Washington from Cleveland where he was an outstanding business executive for a span of years.

When this nation gets men of the Humphrey type to put aside personal interests and devote full attention and energy to the nation's problems, we are witnessing a democracy in its highest moments. The Treasury official passed up many times the income he could have earned in private business to handle the assignment in the District of Columbia.

The taxpayers were the gainers. An entire nation profited.

It is generally understood that President Eisenhower conferred with Secretary Humphrey on all manner of problems because of his belief in the Clevlander's general capacities. Humphrey's judgment and advice were always sound, level-headed and in the best interests of the United States.

Robert B. Anderson of the Defense Department has been named to succeed him. The Washington group places great confidence in him. Here again, we have an example of a democracy in action, for Anderson was an Eisenhower Democrat.

Probably George Humphrey has concluded his full stint. The taxpayers would like to see him continue, but if he feels he has earned a rest, no one can rightly deny him the privilege.

Hunters' Bright Idea Should Be Outlawed

Tie this.

Some energetic duck hunters concealed a tape recorder in a duck and goose feeding ground and obtained some magnificent records. These are life-like beyond anything man can do in the way of imitation.

They're the real McCoy.

They're the ducks in action.

As a matter of fact, the noise that the game birds make while they're eating is so distinctive that when this record is played back among a group of decoys, it proves irresistible.

The Wildlife Division will probably recommend this be made illegal and banned. It should be. There's a limit to man's machinations in fooling wild life.

This transcends good sportsmanship.

Hunters will approve.

Canadian geese have been even more susceptible than ducks and the distances that these records can lure the birds is almost fantastic. They're really fooled. The goose kill last fall broke all marks in districts where these devices were used.

With Ducks Unlimited spending big sums to keep the flocks at peak, it is unfortunate to let a few hunters take advantage of a mechanical device and walk away with the cream of the flock.

The records should be outlawed.

Morse Is in Character With Insults to Ike

One of our favorite aversions is Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon. Some people never measure up in any situation and the undistinguished Senator from the West Coast impresses us that way every time he opens his mouth. He simply seems so all around ineffective and impotent.

Currently, he had the temerity and the shocking disrespect to suggest that President Eisenhower and Dave Beck are on a par. A large group of Senators demanded an apology, but the lowly Wayne Morse remained strictly in character. He refused.

Whether you agree or disagree with President Eisenhower is entirely your own business. Even a Wayne Morse deserves this privilege. But when you connect the Chief Executive of the nation with a scoundrel and absconder, you are transgressing the laws of propriety.

It takes someone as far down the scale as Morse to engage in these tactics.

Once a bum, always a bum.

Imposing Record of Local Retired Federal Employes

Post-holiday news: Often too gloomerous to mention.

This column's prediction that a thousand years of service would be represented at the recent annual dinner of the local branch of the Federal Retired Employes was a little modest. It totaled 1,023 years. With the longest period of such employment was of 395 West Huron St., who had 48 years in the work. The woman taking such honors was

Gladys Heinze

of 2028 Paulson Drive, 36 years. The oldest member present was

of Oxford, aged 83, and the woman who has lived with a federal employe the longest was

Mrs. Mary Cross

of 441 North Saginaw St., 49 years.

In absolute agreement are we with a letter from

of Rochester, whose top peeve is the filmed TV programs run a week late on the lesser important stations. They got Mothers Day programs the week after Mothers Day.

Retired Pontiac GM employe,

Jim Breene,

who now has a restaurant and motel business in Petoskey, is getting quite facetious. He says he's glad we're plugging the winter outing business down this way, and asserts, "You teach them to ski and they'll then come up this way where we really ski."

Now assuming that annual broody spell is a pheasant raised in the yard of near Ortonville. The reason for that name with a neutral gender is that the sex of the bird is a mystery. It never lays any eggs, but about this time each year gets anxious to hatch out a setting —which it does in an excellent manner.

"Ethel John,"

"Real Big Time, Pal, Real Big Time"

David Lawrence Says:

British Hand Reds Major Victory

WASHINGTON — Sometimes it seems that, if the Communists only wait long enough, they will out-trade and outmaneuver the West. For apparently the alliance of the free world is not sufficiently sturdy or patient enough at times to maintain unity against the common enemy.

LAWRENCE

Pressed by British businessmen who want to sell their goods, the London government now has decided to relax its embargo on trade with Red China. Without getting a single concession in return, the British government has yielded to the Red Chinese and will ship to them many of the commodities which hitherto have been banned.

REDS STRENGTHENED

This will strengthen Red China and help industrialize a country which is hostile to the West.

The United States government is disappointed over the action and has said so publicly.

The British, on the other hand, are repeating a fallacious argument they have made often in the past — namely, that, since the goods can go into Soviet Russia, it is illogical to bar direct shipment to Red China of goods now going there indirectly.

COSTS SOVIETS

The answer is that at present it costs the Soviets and the Red Chinese lots of money and takes a great deal of valuable freight space to send the goods over the Trans-Siberian Railway from Russia to China. Likewise, it is expensive to send by long sea voyage from Britain cargoes that can only be landed either in Eastern European ports or carried to Siberian coastal ports — and all this with great difficulty and delay in certain seasons of the year.

Why should things be made easier for the Red Chinese, and the expenses of Soviet Russia cut down and her internal burden with scarce goods eased? These are questions which the British have not satisfactorily answered. It is known here that an influential lobby in England has been steadily pressing the Conservative government to relax the trade embargo.

Britain exists to no small extent on world trade, and it is a sad fact that, even in the early years of World War I, some British businessmen traded with the enemy, much to the discomfiture of the United States, then a neutral, whose goods were stopped at the time on the high seas even when destined for other neutral countries.

TRADERS POWERFUL

The power of the trader in politics is well established. In a sense, the losers in business could be taken care of through indemnities or through purchase of surpluses. After all, if a trade embargo will help to keep the Communist countries weak and if, through trade embargoes, the military machine of a potential combatant can be kept from reaching effectiveness, the people of many Western countries might rather see the business interests compensated in some other way.

Now the Red China regime is to have access to tractors, trucks, locomotives, generators, and other vital commodities hitherto embargoed. It could lead to a breakdown of controls on the really strategic items, too. It may be the beginning of the crumbling of the alliance that thus far kept the economic sinews of the West from helping the Communists of both Soviet Russia and Red China.

It is too early to tell how Congress will react to the change made by the British. Long and earnest efforts were made in vain by the State Department to persuade the London government not to relax the embargo. Each government, of course, decides for itself, as there is no control over the policies of independent nations. Whatever has been agreed heretofore has been by voluntary action.

But if the alliance breaks down, America will have to make her own decision with respect to other phases of the embargo. Will American companies, for instance furnish the British vendors with any goods to ship to Communist China? The rule here is that the same ban will be maintained as before on American exports, but it will be much harder to police this now since the British have begun to let down the bars.

Fifteen countries have been meeting in Paris for more than a month trying to work out a unanimous agreement on maintaining the embargo, but the talks broke down because the British wanted to "go it alone."

It is an unfortunate development and must be marked up as a signal victory for the Communists in the "Cold War." It was handed to them on a platter by Great Britain.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Learn Bellows-Breathing; Could Avert Heart Attack

Every one who breathes is endowed with a physiological mechanism that serves as a booster pump to aid the circulation. A good many persons, who could use the pump to advantage, do not because they don't know how.

DR. BRADY

The booster pump is not something I dreamed up. In order to understand how it works, you must have a working knowledge of physiology.

It is pretty complicated. So difficult to explain that, since I first commended belly breathing as a daily technique good for everybody's health, I have smoked many pipefuls over the problem; but I have not yet hit upon a way to make it clear to casual readers in the limited space of a piece this size.

But even if you have no more knowledge of physiology than a high school or college graduate has, take my word for it and try to master the technique of belly breathing — belly means front wall of the abdomen and abdomen means the lower body cavity. You'll realize in due time that one gains many advantages by using his or her booster pump.

Send me a stamped envelope bearing your address, and ask for the pamphlet on Belly Breathing. If you change the title, there will be no reply.

PREVENT HEART ATTACK

From observations made since I wrote the pamphlet, I now believe that a few inflations of the belly (bellows) in the emergency may in some instances prevent an impending anginal or coronary attack.

One reader who is subject to angina pectoris set me back on my heels by asking how in tarnation could a man take a breath when he's caught in a vise. Can't argue about that, but may I remind you that I recommend the remedy to prevent the attack?

I still say it can do no harm, may bring astonishingly quick relief, to try a few belly (bellows) inflations next time you have any ache, pain, pressure, tension, or other distress in your midst.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

"Don't we get any groceries with the stamps, Mom?"

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Was Letter Cause of Breakdown?

Here is a dandy problem to discuss in your club or social group. Did this girl suffer her nervous breakdown chiefly because of the anonymous letter? Or was it only a secondary factor? And what is the best way to handle such an office problem? Scrapbook this case record for future use.

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-395: Harry R., aged 39, is personnel director of a large company.

"Dr. Crane, I was doubly interested in your discussion of 'B. O.' and the ways to combat such strong perspiration odors," he began at our luncheon recently.

"But we had a tragic case in our company a few months ago. One of the stenographers had such a strong body odor that her associates didn't like to sit near her.

CRANE

"So one of them sent her an about deodorants, advertisement which had been clipped from a newspaper.

"This ad was sent in a plain white envelope and was unsigned.

"Well, the girl took the hint and improved as regards her 'B.O.' But she became suspicious and afterwards began to draw within her shell.

"She would furtively look around the office to see if anybody were watching her, for she was continually trying to spy on her coworkers in order to find out who had sent her the anonymous ad.

"She finally had a nervous breakdown and our medical department had to send her to a psychiatrist for treatment.

"So do you believe that anonymous advertisement was to blame? One of the girls confessed to me later that she had mailed the ad, and now she feels responsible for this girl's breakdown. What do you think?"

BE SCIENTIFIC

In such cases as the one just mentioned, it is better to have the boss call in the offending person and have a little chat with him.

If the offender is a man, the boss can casually explain about the two kinds of sweat, as I described yesterday.

"I sweat rather profusely myself," he can add, "and my wife used to harp about it.

"Finally, she coaxed me to use some of her deodorant, and I found it worked like a charm. So I dab a little under each arm every morning."

In that casual, man-to-man fashion, the superior officer can put the idea across gracefully.

If the offender is a girl, then let some female superior follow the same plan and inform her.

In some congested rooming houses, the employees don't get a chance to take a bath or shower every morning, for too many others are waiting for the bathroom.

So a quick application of a soapy washcloth under the arms will take off the odorous perspiration. Then dab on a touch of deodorant or spray a little under the arms.

ANONYMOUS LETTERS

But I think there are times when anonymous letters are indicated. And don't get too sobby about single instances like the one mentioned today.

Thousands of office workers have received anonymous ads about "B.O." or "halitosis" and have profited thereby, without ever growing unduly suspicious or developing a nervous breakdown.

So a helpful hint, even via an anonymous letter, should not be a primary cause of a warped mental outlook or a mental collapse.

This girl probably suffered from a severe inferiority complex on many counts, so the "B.O." item was just the straw that may have tipped the scales.

If her associates had used the "Compliment Club" on her and thus had given her a friendly smile and a word of deserved praise for without ill effects.

So send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. It shows the various rules for paying compliments.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Writers Offer Their Ideas on Situation of Post Office

I've just returned from a conference about postal affairs. The general opinion seemed to be that the post office is a service which is everyone's business. Congress is concerned. We are certain rates on third class or "junk mail" will be boosted. Rates on all second and first class mail will be raised, according to congressional sentiment.

Adjustments for economy are being effected without harm to service. Saturday curtailment in large cities is more expensive than appears on paper and the service will be affected more than you might realize.

Most letter carriers are very religious about giving the best possible service. All those connected with the postal service are concerned with what's going on.

Harold B. Wright
145 E. Huron St.

The Post Office Department must be reorganized. There should be only two classes of mail—fast and express. Only government-printed forms should be used. Post cards and folded cards should be the same size. Minimum postage should be five cents and weight should be five pounds maximum for all mail. Parcel Post should be stopped; other concerns could handle that.

Money orders and postal notes should be discontinued. That is for banks. All mail would be insured free. Expensive stationery should be discouraged by using government forms. Colors to facilitate routing mail to distant states should be employed.

The addressing method should be reversed, putting state first, then city, etc. City delivery and RFD should be stopped, using instead sub-stations where residents call for mail. Sale of stamps could be discontinued by use of stamped government forms. Eliminate stamp cancelling. "Free" mail should be discouraged. It certainly isn't free. Sorting should be done by machinery. Little would be needed. Star routes should be encouraged, given to the lowest bidder.

There are many more changes than any businessman could make. Why not write your congressman and get this white elephant back on a profitable basis?

Hospital Addition Discussion Topic

The hospital will be forced in one way or another. The population is larger with less doctors. The hospital affects everyone. Earthly possessions are worthless when you need a hospital bed.

Where I work there's a waiting list of people who need hospital care, but there are no beds. Some are desperately ill.

One Who Can See

Instead of blaming the hospital defeat on higher taxes, why not face the situation squarely? A cross-section interview of "NO" voters would reveal resentment and mistrust in the way the original appropriation was handled. Before the addition was started, bids totaled around $5 million, yet the city went ahead on the project they couldn't pay for. Why should taxpayers sink more of their hard-earned money into the hands of officials who so obviously mishandled the initial funds?

Interested Citizen

Apparently Architect Leo J. Heenan feels that the hospital board has sufficient money to finish the hospital. It would appear that way when Mr. Heenan appeared before the hospital board and stressed that none of the previously ordered equipment should be deleted. If Mr. Heenan knows where the money is coming from, I think he should speak up.

Minister Refused Visit With Patient

For nearly 20 years I've pastored a little church in Lansing. I am a firm believer in prayer, and we just as staunchly practice prayer for the sick and afflicted. We have nothing against medicines, but we've seen God perform many miraculous healings.

A former Sunday school superintendent is a patient at Pontiac State Hospital. When we learned of her misfortune, we went to visit and pray with her. We have had to battle our way in, accept ridicule from the woman at the desk, and twice the doctor in charge refused us entry. Recently her husband called to say she was critical. When we arrived from Lansing, the doctor wouldn't see us but sent word she wasn't critical and wouldn't permit entry.

The administrative assistant and the superintendent of State Mental Health seem to think the Ministry is permitted at a patient's bedside only at the discretion of the attending physician. This is wrong. Would a priest be refused permission at the bedside of any of his parish, especially if there were any thought it might be the end?

Let's get some action so it isn't the physician or a member of the family which permits or disallows a man or woman of God at a patient's bedside at any time, whether near death or not. Such persons are far more necessary than the doctor.

'Public Subsidizes 'Free' Advertising'

When people have to pay an extra cent for mailing a letter, have three-cent postal cards and more air mail so merchants can send their advertising through the mail for postmen to deliver, why call it free advertising? Free for whom, when the people have to pay for it in higher postal rates? Isn't it a rather asinine proposition? Why more appropriation?

Archives Yield History of Post Cards

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Post Office Department dug into its archives today to come up with a short history of the post card.

The research job was carried out while the department was seeking an increase in postage rates for cards—from two to three cents—among the other boosts asked by Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield.

ORIGINATOR OF CARD

The originator of the card was John P. Charlton of Philadelphia. The year was 1861. Charlton obtained a copyright and transferred it to H. L. Lipman, also of Philadelphia, who printed "Lipman's Postal Cards."

The Post Office Department did not start issuing postal cards until May, 1873, and although the United States was first in the world with privately printed cards, it trailed European countries in issuing cards with the stamp imprinted.

Austria was first, in 1869, followed by the German Confederation, England, Switzerland, Belgium and the Netherlands.

URGED AUTHORIZATION

Postmaster General John A. Creswell in 1870 urged Congress to authorize postal cards but the authorization did not come until 1872. During World War I, the traditional penny rate was boosted to two cents by a special one-cent "war tax." This was abolished in 1919, and the penny rate continued until Jan. 1, 1952, when the mailing cost was doubled.

Postal cards — distinguished from post cards which are privately printed — are popular with many stamp collectors.

The department reports that the prize is the so-called "garbage" cards with a catalogue value up to $300 each.

The "garbage" cards have this history: reportedly, Mrs. William McKinley did not like the picture of her president-husband on 1,625,000 cards printed shortly after his assassination.

She intervened with the postmaster general, who ordered all of them destroyed. One box of 500 of the rejected cards, however, reached New York City and the cards were sold to a garbage disposal firm which had its name and address printed on the address side.

Most of the 500 were retrieved by the department and destroyed, so that only a few managed to reach the hands of collectors.

The official department records, however, do not list any intervention by Mrs. McKinley. They say the destruction was ordered because the cards were not well printed on high speed presses just coming into use.

Marilyn Is Convinced Things Will Be Great

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Marilyn Monroe's currently emoting real-life drama . . . bride-like and tres gai, she's telling Playwright Arthur Miller, "Don't worry—I have high hopes everything's going to be just great!"

Breathily she plans their "honeymoon"—to start in mid-June in a pretty little farmhouse near Easthampton, Long Island. Thus she shrugs off his worry about a prison term for supposed contempt of Congress.

MARILYN

"I have great confidence," she sweet-talks him, as they speak of appeals and such. "Right beyond the farm," she told this interviewer, "is the sea . . .

"We've got a jeep to cover the whole beach . . . the very thing for the two of us and his two children." She acts oblivious of the lawyer's conferences, the Washington phone calls.

"You want to act on Broadway—would Arthur do a play for you?" I asked. Proudly, she retorted: "He's not that type of writer!"

Marilyn reached for a copy of his book of collected plays, dedicated, "To Marilyn."

"This is the best thing that happened to me," she said. "No, the best thing was when he married me!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Ed Sullivan was offered $200,000 to m.c. a Las Vegas show for four weeks—just his own share . . . Singer Micki Mario returned to the Follies after a throat ailment . . . Nervous expectant papa Mike Todd called the doctor for Liz Taylor five times in twelve hours . . . Showgirl Kitty Dolan has a role in the picture "Face in the Crowd."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: One wife told another, "Don't worry if your husband flirts. My dog chases cars—but if he caught one he wouldn't know what to do with it."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Juvenile delinquency is when a youngster stops asking his parents where he came from and tells them where to go." . . . That's earl, brother.

Radar Beams Seen as Danger

Surgeon on West Coast Reports One Man Killed, Others Injured

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Radar beams can be extremely dangerous, warns a California surgeon. They already have killed one man and injured others.

The first known case of death from radar was believed to have occurred in 1954 in the Los Angeles area, Dr. John T. McLaughlin of nearby Glendale reported in the current issue of the California Medical Assn. monthly publication.

He said the 42-year-old victim stood in front of a radar transmitter for less than a minute. In 10 seconds he had a sensation of heat in the abdomen. In less than a minute the heat became so intense he had to move away.

The man, a technician in a radar manufacturing plant, died within two weeks. There were no marks on the surface of his body, Dr. McLaughlin said, but "his insides were cooked . . . There was a hole as big as a silver dollar burned in his small bowel."

The case is just now being reported for security reasons, Dr. McLaughlin explained.

He said microwaves emitted by a radar transmitter cause instant and intolerable temperature increases in tissues and cells.

Is Father, Grandfather —All Within Just 3 Days

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Edward Borsi became a father and grandfather within three days.

Yesterday he welcomed home his grandson, Joseph Paul Castillo, 5 days old. Among the greeters was little Joseph's aunt, Belle Borsi, 7 days old.

Their mothers — also mother and daughter — are Mrs. Borsi 39, and Mrs. Joseph Castillo, 18. They shared the same hospital room.

Many Moved to 'Make Decisions'

Billy Graham's Sermons Spellbind Audiences

NEW YORK (AP)—They joked about it. They thought it would be an amusing spectacle. It was sort of an office gag when they decided to go hear Billy Graham.

They were startled by what happened to them. It was so completely unforeseen when the three girls left work at a Manhattan business machines sales office to go to Madison Square Garden.

"I had just wanted to see what he looked like," said blonde Janet Puckhaber, 25.

"We thought there would be a lot of mass emotion, like clashing cymbals," said brunette Sallie Arnott, 22.

"We were just curious," said red-haired Patty McClain, 21.

There were 17,500 people in the Garden last night, the 16th day of Graham's massive crusade. At his closing appeal to "give your life to Christ," 478 came forward. Among them were the three girls, their faces somber, down from a balcony they came and up the long aisle to the front. They stood, heads bowed, as Graham said gently:

"Jesus receives you. He loves you. He wanted you."

What had come over the three girls? What had moved them and changed their attitude from one of curious skepticism to a willingness to make a public profession of Christ? None had ever done so before.

It's something that is happening to hundreds nightly at Graham's meetings, and the girls' experience is part of the story of how it happens.

"It was peculiar," Miss Puckhaber said. "It's hard to explain. It's not like I thought it would be at all. I think everybody wants to have a good life. The idea must be there in the first place. But he gets you to wondering if you can do it.

"I felt funny. I wanted to go, but I just sat there. I kept saying to myself, please, I want to go—something please send me. I felt silly.

"I didn't go until the last minute. Then I was scared. I was wondering what was going to happen. I certainly was not in a trance. I just decided that I wanted to do it—that it was an opportunity."

Students Stage Riot on Holiday

At Least 2 Coeds Hurt as Fraternity Waterfight Gets Out of Hand

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — More than 5,000 University of Illinois students staged a campuswide Memorial Day riot that was quelled after eight hours by more than 200 police officers who fired at least 150 volleys of tear-gas bombs.

At least two coeds were injured and 50 students were arrested and jailed overnight.

Students used wastebuckets as water jugs in the riot that apparently got its start as a friendly waterfight between two neighboring fraternity houses.

The day had been designated a study day. Final examinations began Wednesday and are to be resumed today.

Some students will face more than final examinations.

Dr. David Dodds, Henry, university president, said, "Everyone involved will be taken before the disciplinary committee."

He said expulsion probably lay in prospect for some.

"It apparently started out innocently enough, but what we are interested in learning is how it grew to such enormous proportions," Dr. Henry said. "A thorough investigation is being conducted and a full report will be made."

Lt. John T. Henry of the Illinois state police said the outbreak grew from a waterfight between members of Phi Gamma Delta and Alpha Delta Phi.

Junior Editors Quiz on 17-YEAR LOCUST

QUESTION: Why is this called the 17-year locust?

Answer: Although not actually a locust but a cicada, this insect gets its name because it appears above ground only at 17-year intervals and looks a good deal like a locust.

Probably the longest living of all insects, its strange life begins when the female lays from 400 to 600 eggs in slits cut in the twigs of young trees. Trees once suffered great damage from these slits, but in recent years English sparrows have greatly reduced the number of these insects.

The eggs in time develop into worm-like creatures called "nymphs" that drop from the branches and burrow into the ground. There they feed for 17 years on sap from rootlets. Finally they emerge from the ground full grown but wrapped in a protective skin. They drop this skin after attaching themselves to trees. Life for them in the open is short. The male sings an unceasing song, shrill and ear piercing, which can be heard for a quarter of a mile. The female lays her eggs in the tree slits. After about five weeks in the summer sunshine they die.

Buffalo Women on the Warpath

Full List of Housewives Placed on Ballot to Run Against Administration

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Buffalo housewives aided by some—not all—of their husbands are on the warpath with a full slate of female nominees against perennial male officeholders.

"The weeds are over our heads, sidewalks all broken—things are terrible," says Mrs. Norma Warner, who heads the slate of nominees opposing the administration of Mayor Vernon D. Pigg.

"All we want to do is make Buffalo a better place to live," she said.

"Last time there was supposed to be an election they just got together and appointed each other."

She couldn't recall when that was, but Pigg admits candidly, "it's been about 10 years."

Pigg, a garage operator, stopped at this 120-year-old Kanawha Valley town (pop. 368) on a "fishin' vacation" 17 years ago, "liked the place and just stayed."

Mrs. Warner, also a comparative newcomer, arrived 20 years ago to work in her brother's "largest general department store east of the Mississippi, everything from a needle to a sawmill." She married Clare Warner 17 years ago and they have a 12-year-old son.

"He'll probably be police chief," says Pigg, but he grins when he says it. This is a "family fight" seemingly without a basis for rancor.

Among the five women for Council is Miss Caroline Frazier, a retired school teacher confined to a wheel chair.

She names among planks in the women's platform better fire protection, natural gas service, and reduced water rates.

"We're letting them (the male office seekers) do all the talking," says Mrs. Warner.

"At last, they're really talking it up, I tell you."

The town electionn is next Tuesday.

Picnickers Stricken With Food Poisoning

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Scores of the 2,000 persons who yesterday attended the 17th annual picnic of Servian Orthodox monastery near Libertyville, a Chicago suburb, were stricken with apparent food poisoning.

Sixty-seven persons were treated in hospitals at nearby Waukegan, Highland Park and in Libertyville. About 40 were held overnight for observation. None were considered critically ill, authorities said.

The Rev. Timothy Tepsic, office secretary at St. Sava monastery, said the roast lamb was considered suspect. A health officer said the lamb, pork and imported Greek cheese all were being analyzed.

United Fund Leaders Map Strategy for Fall Drive

Full coverage of all possible contributors may be one feature emphasized in this fall's Pontiac Area United Fund drive.

More efficient organization of the UF's team of solicitors may be another.

These are two of the ideas under discussion as the formulating stage of the 1957 campaign gets under way, said Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, this year's chairman.

Whitmer, who is superintendent of Pontiac schools, said that although the drive itself is still five months away, planning is necessary now to insure its success.

Whitmer and Karl Bradley, UF executive-secretary, recently conferred with leaders of the Detroit United Foundation, whose annual Torch Drive is considered one of the most successful in the nation.

"We learned a number of techniques that may be successfully applied to the Pontiac area drive this year," said Whitmer.

Two of the most impressive principles stressed in the Detroit campaigns were full coverage and thorough organization, Whitmer said.

"These were listed by the Detroit director, Walter Laidlaw, as forming the backbone of the Detroit drives, which have consistently gone over the top," said Whitmer.

New ideas are being considered in the Pontiac drive, Whitmer said.

"Seeking the broadest possible range of contributors on a 'fair-share' basis is one big answer to this year's challenge. In order to do this, a well-drilled army of volunteer workers is necessary," the 1957 chairman observed.

The Pontiac Area UF supports 54 social, health, youth and recreational agencies. This year's goal has not yet been decided on.

57 Varieties Lampoons Red Tape

State Department, USIA Stage Show in Washington

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Form 57 never seemed funny to folks who had to fill it out in seeking a job with the government, but top officials and hired hands lampooning themselves and government red tape in a skit inspired by the same drew plenty of laughs among colleagues.

Starring in "57 Varieties," a two-hour review put on by State Department and United States Information Agency employes, were such bigwigs as Arthur Larson, boss of USIA, playing a guitar; Andrew Berding, new assistant secretary of state for public affairs, performing on a musical saw, and USIA Deputy Director Abbott Washburn on the piano.

Berding's talented wife, Alice, contributed to the fun with an original song titled "I'm in the Public Domain."

Others having a hand in the evening's entertainment included Robert Button, director of Voice of America, who played the piano for rehearsals four nights a week, and Evelyn Eisenstadt, head of the copyright clearance department who acted as choreographer. Her dancing chorus was known as "Evie's Bevies."

HOUSE OF HOBBIES

The new Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Thomas White, and his wife have a house full of hobbies in their Ft. Myer, Va., quarters, including 15 tanks full of tropical fish collected on "field trips" in Brazil, Mexico and Panama.

Overheard at a Washington party, this remark by Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn): "This term modern Republicanism is just like saying new antiques."

Mrs. Nathan M. Pusey, Iowa-born wife of the Harvard University president, says she was delighted when a woman told her at a Washington party she had a "Boston face."

Thais in Washington celebrated Paranivana, the 2,500th anniversary of the birth of Buddha, with an impressive candlelight procession in the Thailand Embassy gardens.

Burmese Ambassador U Win, who was his country's former minister of religion and is regarded as the leading Buddhist residing in the capital, was invited to address the celebrants.

Fashions From Cuba Coming Up

HAVANA (AP)—The vivid color and flamboyance of Latin - American fashions may soon be more evident in the United States.

Cuban dress designers are out to capture a big share of the American market and are building up an impressive export line.

That's the word from Murray Corwin, vice president of a top Cuban fashion producing concern who expects to have a big export sale in the United States next season.

"Havana," Corwin said, "could become a more important fashion center than Miami if we have the proper cooperation from the government and the manufacturers."

Marriage Still First for Zsa Zsa

But 3-Time Loser Tells Girls to Plan Career, Too

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—A lady of wide experience in marital matters counseled her colleagues today to learn to take care of themselves—financially, that is.

The path to the altar, said Zsa Zsa Gabor, who knows every bend of the trail intimately, is still the proper one for a girl to follow.

But men being the unstable creatures that they are, a woman is wise to equip herself to earn something more than mad money before hitting the road to romance.

"I still think," the Budapest beauty hastened to point out, "that a woman's place is in the home.

"Don't sell that little house frau short. She has plenty to do with a home to take care of and the kids—chee! But everybody should have a profession. Look at me. My family was wealthy. Then came the war, and there was nothing left.

"Marriage is enough for any woman — if she can find the right man."

It's difficult to dispute Zsa Zsa on this point. She's done a lot of looking and has three unsuccessful tries at finding wedded bliss on her record to indicate that all that glitters is not necessarily husband material.

Her continued insistence that marriage offers a woman the best opportunities career-wise, she said, stems from the fact that being a wife was the job she studied to master.

It was the third of her exhusbands, actor George Sanders, who got her interested in acting, although she said that "subconsciously I always wanted to act."

Now single—at least temporarily—Zsa Zsa ekes out a living—she's accustomed to the better things—as an actress of rapidly expanding ability.

"We," she said, including her equally exotic sisters, Eva and Magda, in the appraisal, "were raised to get married. We were expected to learn to speak beautiful languages (five in Zsa Zsa's case) and to care for a husband.

"All European women are brought up to be wives."

And what about their American sisters?

"Well, darling," Zsa Zsa said placatingly, "it all depends on how rich you are. My family was very wealthy.

"But I must say," she sighed, "that it's better to be brought up to know how to work."

Pictured with the Alpha Alpha Chapter flag that will be on display at the Summer Ball June 8 is Mrs. Carl Rose of South East boulevard.

Three Stars Air Three Viewpoints on Women, Wardrobes and Makeup

PARIS (INS)—When stars let their more or less long hair down they talk about women, clothes and personality with a capital P.

The scene is off-stage in a Paris studio set for the film "Paris Holiday." The stars—talking separately—are Bob Hope (gentle charm and a heart of gold), Anita Ekberg (the "femme fatale") and Martha Hyer (The good-girl look a la Grace Kelly).

Bob Hope: "Women shouldn't underestimate men's opinion on clothes. American men are aware, possibly in an unconscious manner, of what a woman is wearing. My wife loves to have me compliment her on her clothes."

Anita Ekberg: "I dress first for my husband. And he doesn't like too low-cut necklines."

Martha Hyer: "I always wear a neat suit when I go to the studio. I don't like the 'sloppy Joe' look. You never know who will see you."

Bob Hope: "It isn't true that French gals are more chic. Fashion education has been leveled out through TV, fashion magazines and American women traveling abroad."

Anita Ekberg: "I've been put on some list of the 10 worst dressed women. I think it's abused. But I really don't mind. I'm there in good company with Mamie Eisenhower and Greta Garbo."

Martha Hyer: "I traveled to Paris in a beige coat and matching skirt with a white blouse. I like the 'ensemble' look."

Bob Hope: "It's the all-over effect that counts."

Anita Ekberg: "I'm getting awfully tired of wearing tight slacks. Even when staying at home with my husband, I wear a full skirt, a pretty sweater and high-heeled sandals for a glamorously casual look. For city wear I prefer straight, tight dresses. They are more chic."

Martha Hyer: "I like soft colors so as not to detract from the personality by putting the spotlight on the figure. Balmain designed a caramel blonde lace cocktail dress for me to match my caramel blonde hair."

Bob Hope: "Clothes are not really my line, you know. I pay attention to women's eyes. They are the mirrors of the soul."

Anita Ekberg: "I always wear eye makeup, mascara and eyeshadow. I use a pale pink lipstick contoured by a line of darker red."

Martha Hyer: "My eyes are green and I use green eyeshadow and an orange-pink lipstick."

Bob Hope: "To become a star a gal needs a beautiful face, talent and mainly personality."

Anita Ekberg: "I'm delighted when girls copy my style. It's a great compliment."

Martha Hyer: "I don't mind people saying I resemble Grace Kelly. I never did anything to copy her consciously. I just happen to be the same type."

Bob Hope: "To be only sexy doesn't mean a thing. Just sex doesn't get anybody any place. Monroe and Ekberg also have talent and personality."

Anita Ekberg: "I won't tell my bust measurement. But if you've got a bosom . . . be a woman . . . wear it."

Martha Hyer: "In the film 'Paris Holiday' I play a girl from Philadelphia who is a secretary at the American Embassy in Paris. I'm the good-girl type and wear rather high necklines."

Bob Hope: "Girls with sex appeal are always in demand. But the smart, chic girl also gets a break."

Grace Still Wearing Last Year's Suits

Princess Grace Patricia of Monaco, (whom the Italians persist in calling Grace Kelly) is still wearing the Ben Zuckerman suits she bought for her trousseau and on her visit home last autumn.

She arrived at a hotel while on tour recently wearing a semi-fitted navy wool with box pleated skirt and was seen later in a similar charcoal grey suit.

Men Welcome Old-Fashioned Tact

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Back in the days when women had no rights at all, they carried diplomacy to the point where it was practically hpyocrisy.

The need to placate The Master was so great that all kinds of tactful lies were told.

But now that we're more or less independent, I think a lot of us are going to the other extreme. Frankness can be carried to the point where it's senseless cruelty—and very unattractive to boot.

That's how it is with a girl I know, whom I'll call Esther.

Esther is a forthright girl. To her, everything is either black or white. She is married to a wonderful man, whom she loves dearly—but sometimes you'd never know it!

Esther wants to go back to work, but her husband doesn't want her to. His reasons are silly, some of them, and emotional, but he's got a right to his reasons, as I see it.

However, Esther makes no bones about telling him how silly he is.

NOT SO FASCINATING

"He claims the neighbors will talk," she sputtered. "I told him not to flatter himself—they don't find him that fascinating. Anyway, half the women on the block have jobs. But he says no wife of his is going to work. I wonder what he's trying to prove!"

Esther pretends to ask my advice. However, I sometimes wonder why, since she's not an advice-taking type.

The trouble is that, in the beginning, Tom only mildly objected to her working. But now, after all the screaming and yelling, it's a matter of pride with him and he feels violently about it. The violence is really all of Esther's own doing.

With Esther and Tom, I'm afraid it's almost hopeless. But other women who have objections from the husband about working should bear these things in mind:

First, remember that there is still a strong streak in most men of wanting to be the breadwinner, and the only one. It's sensitive territory, so do move gently.

Second, suggest that you do it on a three-month trial basis, with the understanding that if things fall apart, as he fears they will, you'll stop.

Third, remember that he does have terrible financial pressures and worries, and stress the fact that a second paycheck, if only a small one, is some kind of net under you both.

Fourth, get a job in a field that interests you, so you'll have a plus motive instead of a minus motive.

You'll be leaving the home for a job you love, instead of leaving the home because the home is a bore!

(Copyright 1957)

About 60 per cent of all the wallpaper hung in private homes is done by amateurs, the industry estimates.

Don't Use 'I Love You' Like Whip

By MUREL LAWRENCE

Because it was raining, Tom's mother couldn't take the children to the park.

By noon she was exhausted by his repeated quarrels with his older sister. As she was preparing the baby's bottle, another broke out.

Angered past endurance, she snatched Emmy's toy egg beater back from Tom, saying, "I love you—but I can't stand any more of this teasing!"

Her declaration of tender emotion didn't calm Tom. He knew she felt intense irritation at him, not love. Bored and lonely as he was, he wanted the love very much.

Her suggestion that she was experiencing love when she wasn't seemed a mockery more cruel than the removal of his sister's toy. In intolerable frustration, he flung himself to the floor in a tantrum.

We should beware of the advice that urges us to say "I love you" to a child whenever we have to put controls on him. We don't always feel love's warm acceptance of Tom when we have to restrain his annoying behavior.

HONESTY TO US

Child-centered psychology that is so eager for us to respect his emotional honest shouldn't deny the same honesty to us. It doesn't turn our irritations with children into love. It simply blocks our acceptance of them. It denies Tom experience of us as we are.

Writes Dr. Hilde Bruch, herself a distinguished psychiatrist: "The modern psychological preoccupation with 'giving love' carries the danger that something which can be truly expressed only as an emotional experience becomes an intellectualized and empty gesture."

The phrase "I love you" should come to our lips as spontaneously as a smile or kiss we drop on a child's head. When we use it to manipulate some desirable response from Tom, we use it exactly as stern parents used threats of the whip.

He begins to suspect the truth—that we tell him we love him, not because we do, but because we want some submission from him.

That's a poor idea of love for any child to get.

So let's turn from the advisers to ourselves when we find ourselves saying "I love you" to any annoying youngster. Are we easy in ourselves as we speak the words—or is there resentful resistance back of them?

We both know the answer. We don't like saying the words. In our hearts we expect nothing from them.

It is our own experience we need to trust.

Girl Scouts Attend Court of Awards

Members of Senior Girl Scout Troop 23 were guests Wednesday evening of their leaders, Mrs. John McNeeley and Mrs. Lloyd Porter, at the McNeeley home on Forest drive. The occasion was the annual Court of Awards.

Peggy Armstrong received a 10-year pin for her active participation in scouting. Receiving five-year pins were Edith Peterson, Joanne Folsom, Jovita Benavides and Gail Sedick.

Dr. Jones Tells Club About Trip

Dr. Sarah Van Hoosen Jones was guest speaker at the Wednesday meeting of the Woman's Literary Club. She described some of more interesting experiences on her recent world trip. She also showed several souvenirs from her travels.

Among places mentioned in her talk were the Kimberly Mines and Victoria Falls in Africa and the island of Bali near Java. She also told of seeing sacred cows and monkeys living in temples in India.

The tea and program, held at the North Saginaw street home of Mrs. Harry Place, culminated a series of benefit parties and teas given by club members, with proceeds being donated to Girls' Town and other charitable projects. Mrs. Robert McNeil was cohostess.

Mrs. Dale Moats and Mrs. J. Harry Baker presided at the tea table.

The puffed tunic that cuts the silhouette in two is for tall figures only. The long two-thirds tunic division is safe for short women.

Tunics in cotton print are very popular now. Short women of any width should avoid tunics but if you insist, make it a long tunic, leaving not more than four inches of underskirt showing. Avoid cutting your figure in half with the hip-length tunic.

They Dry Faster

Beds no longer have to remain unmade all day while their mattress pads are being washed and dried. New all-nylon pads, with quilted tricot covers and bonded nylon batting, are said to air-dry in three hours after their trip through the suds.

Assistance With Dishes Welcomed

But Woman Hears It's Not Proper to Let Guests Help.

By EMILY POST

A hostess writes: "When I invite relatives and intimate friends to an informal dinner, I welcome their help with the dishes. There is nothing that tends to spoil my evening as a hostess more than the thought of a sinkful of dirty dishes awaiting me after my guests leave. In a matter of minutes they are out of the way with help and I don't have to wash dishes far into the night.

"However, while visiting a niece of mine who lives out of the state, she refused to let me help, saying that guests should not be allowed to do dishes. I now wonder whether I have been terribly wrong in welcoming help from my guests?"

Answer: If your guests offer to help you with the dishes you may gratefully accept it, but you certainly can't suggest that they help you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have been told that when wine is served at dinner, it is correct for the person serving it to pour a little in the host's glass first for him to taste before filling the glasses of others at the table. I have been to many houses where wine is served but never have seen this done. Is this proper procedure?"

Answer: It is not done under ordinary circumstances. But if it is an old vintage wine, then the host is supposed to taste it to see that it is not corked.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it considered bad manners to take a sip of coffee while there is still some unswallowed food in the mouth? I had a sandwich and coffee the other day for lunch and took a sip of coffee before completely finishing what I had in my mouth.

"My sister, who is a perfectionist said it is wrong to drink anything while there is still food in the mouth. Is it, Mrs. Post?"

Answer: It is a question of quantity. If you have a small amount of food in your mouth it is quite all right to take a sip of coffee, but not if you have a mouthful of food.

Makes Fun of All the Other Teenagers

'Most Beautiful Girl' Acts Unlovely

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "We have just elected the most beautiful girl and the most handsome boy in our school. Now all the other girls feel as though they are as ugly as homemade soap. We would like to have you give us some information about how blondes should wear their hair and so forth. The girl who was judged most beautiful makes fun of all of the other girls."

The bicycle ride is one of Josephine Lowman's hip exercises. If you would like to have all her hip-reducing exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to her in care of The Pontiac Press.

A. The way you wear your hair depends on facial contour rather than whether a girl is a blonde or a brunette. Evidently success has gone to the head of the most beautiful one in a most unbeautiful way.

I do not think the rest of you need worry about her. At this rate she will not long seem lovely to anyone. If you would like to have my leaflet especially for teenagers, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for "Popularity" leaflet No. 58.

Q. "I am 5 feet 10½ inches tall and weight 162 pounds. My bust measures 36, waist 29 and hips 40 inches. I feel that my hips and waist are too large. My bone structure is medium although quite broad through the hips.

"I weighed 146 pounds a few years ago and was often complimented on my figure. Is there any way I can lose 15 pounds and make sure that part of it comes off of my hips?

"I feel certain that tall girls and women are puzzled by weight-height charts. The weight they usually give for a woman 5 feet 10 inches tall is about 155 pounds. Yet one very often sees pictures of models who are 5 feet 8 or 9 inches and weigh 125 pounds."

A. One hundred and fifty to fifty-five is about right for your height. One hundred and twenty-five pounds would be terribly underweight. Many models sacrifice health and best looks for their careers since the camera makes them look much heavier than they actually are.

I do not think you should weigh less than 145 to 150. If you will take hip-slimming exercises while reducing it will speed the loss in inches in the hipline.

Q. "I am 16 years old and have freckles on my back and shoulders. They are not small and light but big and dark. I hate to wear sleeveless blouses or go to the beach because of them. Are there any freckle creams which will take them away?"

A. I do not think there are any freckle creams which are very effective. Lemon juice and cucumber juice are supposed to be mild bleaches.

One way to dim and avoid freckles is to stay out of the sunlight. I certainly would not advise this because you would miss too much fun and health. Use one of the screening bases before you go to the beach and use a makeup to cover freckles when you dress up. They are not nearly so unattractive as you believe.

Slim Gals Need Lightweight Foundations

NEW YORK (NEA)—The woman who needs a minimum of control in the girdle she wears is the lucky one. She's cool in summer and always comfortable.

Her girdles cost her less, too, than if she needs a full length, one-piece garment. She's the girl who can invest her pennies in a lightweight pantie girdle that offers freedom of leg movement right along with freedom from bulges.

Though slim, she does need a girdle, of course. Fashion models, who stay trimmed down nearly to the bone, always wear girdles for the smooth line they give.

Tart Salad Goes Well With Meat

Mrs. Thompson's Jellied Slaw Has Mayonnaise in It

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Let's make some Jellied Coleslaw for dinner tonight. This is a recipe you will enjoy often in the warm days ahead. It goes well with any meat.

Today's cook, Mrs. Roy Thompson of Lower Straits Lake, is another do-it-yourselfer in the home building business. She is an active worker in the Commerce School PTA.

JELLIED COLESLAW
By Mrs. Roy Thompson

1 package lemon gelatin
1 cup hot water
½ cup cold water
2 tablespoons vinegar
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
¼ teaspoon celery seed

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add other ingredients to cold water, mix well, and add to gelatin. Let cool to syrupy stage. Beat until thick and fluffy. Fold in following ingredients:

2 cups chopped cabbage
2 tablespoons green peppers, chopped
1 tablespoon chopped onion
Dash of seasoning salt

Mix well with gelatin. Pour into greased mold. Chill in refrigerator until set. Serves 8.

Prevent Wrinkling

Wrinkled clothing is no badge of beauty. Most wrinkles will hang out if you hang up your clothing as soon as you take it off. Wearing the same dress, suit or skirt day after day sets wrinkles. If you can avoid this, it will save on dry cleaning bills.

Flee From Belittling Man Before He Destroys You

Look for Someone Who Wants to See You Happy, Who Builds You Up

By RUTH MILLETT

She is desperately in love with a young man who, in her own words, can "make me feel like about two cents."

"With most people I feel comfortable and at ease. But Jim can make me feel awkward and not quite bright and I think he enjoys doing it. Can you tell me why, since he says he loves me, he likes to make me feel inferior?"

No. But I can tell you one thing. Get away from Jim and his ability to make you feel small.

Stop and think a minute. If this young man, before marriage, has the power to make you doubt yourself and feel unhappy and unsure of your own worth, think what living with him day after day would do to you.

In a few years he'll have you a timid shadow, trying to please him to win his respect. But you will never be able to do either.

A PERFECT CHANCE

There will always be something for him to find fault with, something to criticize, to blame. The man who makes himself feel important by tearing down others has a perfect chance in marriage to build up his own ego at his wife's expense.

So run from Jim while you are still free to run. Then look for a man who wants to see you happy, who enjoys building you up, who thinks you are just about right the way you are.

You will need that much to start marriage confidently.

You are really lucky that you have seen this destructive quality in the man you love before marriage. It would be far more heart-breaking if you found it out afterward.

One last word. Don't kid yourself that marriage will change his attitude toward you. It won't.

Army Revamps Infantry Setup

Taylor Says All Units Will Be Ready to Fight Atomic-Style War

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (INS)—All U. S. airborne and infantry divisions will be ready to fight atomic-style wars by the middle of next year.

Speaking in Colorado Springs Wednesday night Army Chief of Staff Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said:

"By the middle of next year all infantry and airborne divisions will be reorganized along pentomic lines, meaning a pentagonal organization, including weapons with atomic capability."

Taylor told members of the newly-formed Pikes Peak chapter of the U. S. Army Assn., that the American Army was far ahead of any foreign ground force in adapting itself to atomic warfare.

Taylor said the Army began developing a "general pattern" for the conduct of nuclear battles about four years ago. To meet the demands of atomic changes, Taylor said the Army was forced to literally throw out whole libraries of older tactical and doctrinal warfare texts.

Taylor flew to Colorado Springs to take part in chartering the new association chapter. He was scheduled to return to Washington Thursday.

PHS Seniors to Hold Dance in Oriental 'Shangri-la' Setting

By JACK HENDRICKSON

"Shangri-la; Land of Paradise" is the theme for the Pontiac High School June senior prom tomorrow night. All the decorations will simulate a garden of paradise.

The dance is to be held in the Boys' gym from 9 p.m. to midnight. Thelma Waterman, faculty adviser, has been working diligently with Lee Patterson and Alex Sekles, co-chairmen, this past month.

Red Johnson and his band from Ann Arbor will play in an enclosure done in a "pagoda" style. The refreshments will be at one end of the gym on a table altered to look like a Chinese "junk."

AT WASHINGTON

Several of the Washington Junior High classes have enjoyed outings at Edgewater the past two weeks. Parents and teachers accompanied each group on buses furnished by the company.

The halls of Washington are full of very appealing pasters this week urging pupils to vote for the various candidates running for school officers for next fall's student council.

Election day is today. To be eligible for office pupils must be outstanding in leadership, scholarship and citizenship. These are the highest offices available at Washington and competition is very keen.

All candidates made a personal appeal to the student body at the the campaign assembly held Wednesday.

All sixth grade pupils from Webster, Bagley, Crofoot and Whitfield elementary schools who will attend Washington in the fall have spent one day this spring going through their next fall schedules. Present seventh graders acted as guides for the visitors.

Donate Clarkston Land for Area Church Site

CLARKSTON — The First Methodist Church of Clarkston was the recipient of a gift of a six and one-half acre site for the new church and parsonage from Mr. and Mrs. Howard Huttenlocher and their sons Richard and James, Sunday.

The gift was announced at the two morning worship services by president of the Board of Trustees of First Church, Harold Bauer. The property is the last sizable vacant area within the village suitable for building purposes, and is adjacent to the present Clarkston High School grounds.

The new building site is bounded by Church street on the north, the high school grounds on the east, Waldon road on the south and a winding stream on the west. It is located only half a block from the present church buildings.

Using appraisals from several firms as a basis the Quarterly Conference of the church sought to purchase the site for $19,500 Shortly after the offer was made, the land was given as a memorial tribute to Mrs. Huttenlocher's parents, Eber and Harriet Parent, who were active in First Church here for many years.

Huttenlocher is a well-known business man in the Pontiac area and owner of the Huttenlocher Insurance Agency in the Riker Building. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Community National Bank, active in the Pontiac Rotary Club, and a member of the Board of the YMCA.

He is also a member of the zoning commission of Clarkston, and active in First Methodist Church affairs serving as a member of the Board of Trustees.

The site is one of several studied by the Trustees of the church, and was deemed the most suitable for the future church expansion. Rev. William J. Richards, pastor of the First Methodist Church, mentioned that will help in meeting the urgent need of larger church facilities.

A Trick to Buying Flowers

By WAYNE B. SEIFERT
Asst. County Agricultural Agent

Whether a person has just become a rose fancier or is a veteran, the buying of new plants is an unavoidable part of rose growing. The great majority are purchased in retail garden supply outlets and often are nicely waxed, or carefully packed in crates with peat or sawdust.

Many of the experienced fanciers still purchase directly from producer warehouses, but many of the more unexperienced fanciers buy their occasional plants in garden supply stores and supermarkets.

Fine plants are often obtained from all of these sources, but occasionally poor quality plants may be accidentally purchased. In buying plants, or unpacking a shipment, some of the signs of poor quality are:

1. Canes which have leafy shoots often have expanded their strength on these shoots and are unable to produce satisfactory new roots.

2. Plants where portions of the canes are shriveled or blackened, or have brown spots in the wood.

3. Plants which have warty growths on the lower stem or roots are often infected with crown gall. This disease prevents vigorous growth of the plant and easily spreads to surrounding plants.

Canes which are heavily waxed and appear to be somewhat slower to start new buds have been dipped in paraffin to prevent moisture loss during storage and shipment. If the wood is not shrunken or discolored, these should be plant of high quality, but careful inspection is still necessary, because poor quality plants can be paraffin-dipped just as easily.

Where plants are received or purchased with no soil or wrapping on the roots so that these roots have become dry, special care may improve their chances of survival.

Soaking the roots in water for 24 hours or more, then burying in moist soil for four to five days helps to regenerate "new root" areas.

Even though new roots have not appeared, they can then be planted in their permanent location and be assured of average survival.

Plants offered for sale beyond late May which are not in soil are usually considered "risky" buys. Where the plants are potted, or planted in heavy paper pots, late May and June purchases are very satisfactory.

With regard to planting locations and care following planting, the rules are simple. Heavily shaded areas deprive the plants of sunlight. Areas where puddles develop often are very poor.

This temporary flooding badly injuries the roots, and during the winter months the soil often becomes so water-logged as to cause complete winter loss.

Any soil which is considered fairly good garden soil is satisfactory. After planting these bushes, prune all the canes back. Some growers mound soil around 6 inch stubs so they barely protrude above the soil line. This often prevents the drying out of the new growth which has already begun and results in better early season growth.

Fertilizing newly transplanted plants is very hazardous. To survive, this plant has to depend upon the successful production and survival of new roots. The old roots, though immune to fertilizer injury, are completely unable to absorb water. Any injury, especially from over fertilization is usually fatal during this early stage of growth.

For old established plantings, however, an early spring fertilization is extremely beneficial on all types. Applications beyond mid-June date usually produce soft wood which isn't winter hardy. Where spring plantings are present, the June application is very beneficial.

Diseases and insects are usually of considerable concern and the right choice of materials is difficult.

Rules on Selection When Planting Late

There are a few rules about selecting flowers for late planted gardens. It is necessary to avoid slow maturing kinds like asters, snapdragons, annual canterbury bells, hollyhocks, petunias, salvia, scabiosa and verbena.

If you are anxious to have them in the garden, then purchase started plants to transplant to their location.

Then, too, you must avoid types that thrive only in cool weather. It is definitely too late to plant sweet peas, African Daisy, linaria, wallflower or stocks, and it is pretty chancy to rely on calendula, pinks or poppies.

Proper Watering of Lawn Decides Types of Grass

Many turf authorities consider that watering lawns properly is almost as important as fertilizing them properly. You may be surprised to learn that the way you water your lawn can actually determine which lawn grasses or weed grasses will make up your lawn.

If you water lightly and frequently you will find that shallow rooted grasses such as the bent grasses and crab grass will increase. The deep rooted blue grass and fescues will be much more apt to persist if you water deeply and infrequently.

Overwatering blue grasses often stimulates fungus diseases as does overfertilization during the summer.

Essentials for Greens Include Regular Food

Regular feeding is also absolutely essential to summer greenness. A good general rule is to feed three times a year: in very early spring, at the beginning of the summer, and at the beginning of fall. Four types of fertilizer can be used safely at this time: non-burning complete plant food, all-nitrogen lawn food, all-organic fertilizer, and instantly soluble food (applied through the sprinkler). The important thing to remember is: "Don't use more than the manufacturer recommends."

New Gladioli Are Developed Every Year

Thousands of varieties have been produced since breeding started from wild gladiolus species of Africa and Mediterranean countries. A hundred or more are introduced in commerce each year but only a few glads of distinct improvement last more than a few years. Even the best of ten years ago are superseded by new, more beautiful, healthier, more vigorous and satisfactory varieties of their colors. Exceptions are rare.

All-America Gladiolus Selections are now changing this costly system. Thoroughly testing the more promising seedlings in thirty sections of the country, only the outstanding one or two from each year's entries have so far been found of exceptional merit for All-America award and recommendation. These are immediately put into full supervised production at several most favorable locations, without bulb increase loss from sales at any price.

Farm and Garden News

Nests in the Ground Are Built by Ants

Ants build nests in the ground. Some ants form hills around the openings of their nests; fire ants build large mounds. The anthills and mounds often smother the surrounding grass.

If the ants nest about the roots of the grass, they may destroy them. Ants also destroy grass seeds in the ground and prevent good stands.

Some ants bite people and animals; fire and harvester ants are especially vicious.

As far as watering the lawn is concerned, there is one cardinal rule. Make sure your lawn needs water before watering it. And, if it does, soak it well.

When Numerous, Worms Become Pests in Lawns

When earthworms are numerous, they sometimes become pests in lawns. They make small mounds or castings that ruin the appearance of the grass.

An imported species, the oriental earthworm, is found in some eastern states. It is light green on the upper surface and has a purplish-green line down the center of the back. It throws abundant castings of soil.

Some kinds of wild bees occasionally damage lawns by digging up the soil, making holes, and forming mounds that interfere with the growth of grass.

What Happens to Seed Pack?

Plant Breeders Work for Years to Produce Good Seedlings

Do we ever stop to think what goes on to produce that packet of seeds we buy for a dime or a quarter?

Plant breeders have worked for years to produce a variety worthy of an All-America award. Thousands of seedlings from carefully planned crosses have been discarded. Others of promise have been self-pollinated to "fix" their characteristics. Again and again these promising "lines" are recrossed, backcrossed and selfed again.

Superior plant characteristics may finally be established and succeeding generations breed uniformly true. A new variety is then ready for testing in trials under varied climates and soil conditions. Maybe it does prove superior and answers a very desirable need.

Now is the time to get your entry mailed, because now that Pot-O-Gold is holding $1000 in store for some lucky winner, you can be sure there won't be too many others passing up the opportunity. And the more entries we receive, the more possibilities there are of someone finding the winning solution. Even if there's a winner for last week's puzzle, correct answers for this one will net you $100 plus $25 if you're a subscriber. You can't afford to miss the chance.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Bob Considine Says:

Farley Sees Dems on Top Before He's 72

NEW YORK (INS) James A. Farley, 69, this week, feels there will be a Democrat in the White House before he's 72.

The big, robust and respected chairman of the board of Coca Cola Export Co., one of the more astute professionals in the history of U. S. politics, hedges only slightly in this birthday prediction.

The men in the running for the 1960 nomination must win any interim elections by a good, stout margin to be successful against a Republican banner carrier who may be personally chosen and endorsed by Dwight D. Eisenhower. Here's Jim:

"I would say that if Bob Meyner, the governor of New Jersey, wins decisively next year in his try for reelection, he'll be hard to overlook in 1960. So will Sen. Symington, Sen. Kennedy, and Lyndon Johnson. And don't count out Gov. Harriman or John McCormack."

ADLAI OUT

Tacitly, Farley appeared to have eliminated Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver. Or perhaps they were included in his sweeping "and others."

"Our chances are better than good to gain seats in the Senate and House next year," Big Jim said, "because in the case of the Senate most of the races next year will be conducted in normally Democratic states, and in the case of the House we won in '56 despite the Eisenhower landslide. So it should be easier to win in '58.

"The swing is Democratic through the country. People want a change, just as they wanted a change and got it in '52. We just happen to have more good young senators and governors than the other fellows."

The old Haverstraw, N. Y, first baseman who put FDR in the White House and broke with him over the third term issue, is full of bounce these days despite two recent operations on his right eye.

He removed his glasses, as we sat in his memento-filled Madison Avenue office, held a hand over his left eye and tested the orb whose retina was detached when struck with a flying placard at the Chicago convention last year.

"I can see you okay," he said, looking across his desk. "The trouble is that you're farther away than the good eye tells me you are. But thank God I've had an 80 per cent recovery after the second operation." The talk returned the scene to his mind.

PAPER FALLS

"I was standing there with Bob Wagner, Abe Stark and a couple others, in a blizzard of flying cards and falling paper, as I've done a thousand times before, when I saw the darn thing coming at me. I ducked, but so did it — in some wind current, I guess. A direct hit."

Jim's cheerful about that and things in general.

"I've lived as an adult through the greatest half century in the history of mankind," he said, with enthusiasm. 'I saw' the Wrights fly their plane up the Hudson the year I came to New York — 1906. I saw the first PanAm clipper land at Pearl Harbor after a flight from California. If somebody had told me fifty years ago that I'd sit in New York and watch a football game being played in San Francisco I'd have said he was crazy."

He is not one to pine for the old days. "The nation's getting along fine, I think," Jim said. if we have any troubles right now, we'll work them out. We always come through. The people are basically strong and right. We all gripe about taxes and criticize those who must levy them. But we're "living a lot better than we did 25 years ago, and with atomic energy and all we'll be living that much better 25 years from now."

10 GREATEST

I asked Jim to name the 10 greatest men he had met. Without hesitation he answered, not necessarily in the order named, I'd say they were Popes Pius XI and XII, Al Smith, FDR, MacArthur, Eisenhower, Herbert Hoover, Churchill, Harry Truman and De Valera.

His day? I'm at work at 8:30 and stay until 6:30 or 7," Jim said. I manage to get to the Biltmore turkish baths three times a week. A good steam, a rub and a cold shower constitutes the kind of forced relaxation a man needs."

Then he patised imperceptibly and the room of many memories and affectionately inscribed photographs of the mighty was very still.

Besides," he said, thinking of his busy life, since Bess passed on it helps to kill the hours."

3 Firms Merge, Form $50 Million Business

NEW YORK (AP)—A new 50-million-dollar company has been formed from the merger of a hard rubber and plastics manufacturer, a Midwest investment firm and one of the nation's oldest woolen and worsted textile producers.

The new company is Amerace Corp. It stemmed from the merger of American Hard Rubber Co., and Bachmann Uxbridge Worsted Corp. both of New York, and Wardell Corp. of Detroit.

Following approval of the merger by shareholders of the three companies yesterday directors of the new firm elected Victor T. Norton president, chairman of the executive committee and chief executive officer of Amerace Corp. He is president of American Hard Rubber.

Bachmann Uxbridge and American Hard Rubber will continue their present business as divisions of Amerace. Wardell Corp. will go out of existence.

OTHER LINES

In addition to the Bachmann Uxbridge line of textiles, Amerace will produce chemicals, plastics, rubber, chemical equipment, and components for storage batteries, electronics and other industrial applications. A program of expansion and diversification is contemplated.

Assets of the new company are in excess of 51 million dollars, net working capital approximates 33 millions and annual sales will total about 55 millions, Amerace officials said. The new firm will benefit from about $2,900,000 in tax credits resulting from red ink operations of Bachmann Uxbridge.

Stockholders of Wardell Corp., a Detroit holding company, will receive 275-thousandths of a share of Amerace common for each share of Wardell held.

James I. McClintock, president of Wardell Corp., was elected to the Amerace board of directors.

Girl, 16, Starts Second Year in Deep Coma

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Suzanne Payette has an anniversary today.

She doesn't know about it, however.

The 16-year-old starts her second year in a deep coma, unaware of the outside world, her worried parents, her close call with death. Her conscious life ended a year ago.

It was on May 31, 1956, that she entered a hospital for a routine tonsillectomy. Her heart stopped during surgery and doctors massaged it to bring her back to life.

A life of black, timeless sleep.

Her coma was caused when the brain was damaged by lack of oxygen.

Her father Lyle Payette, a furniture salesman, was able to keep her in hospitals for six months — then the money ran out. Suzanne's tenuous hold on life has eaten up the family's insurance, savings, earnings and "all the money we could borrow."

Payette yesterday looked at his daughter, her long hair flowing over the pillow.

"A few doctors have said there might be some hope," he said. "Most say there isn't.

"We don't know. She's our daughter.

"You can't stop hoping when it's your daughter."

Two Freed on Bonds in Theft of Mowers

Two men accused of stealing and then selling $1,295 worth of merchandise from a store in which they were employed were freed on $200 bonds after they waived examination in Municipal Court and were bound over to Circuit Court.

Edward D. Smith, 21, of 2449 Pauline St., Drayton Plains, who worked in Waite's warehouse and Ronald E. Runyon, 17, of 796 Crittendon St., a delivery boy, were ordered by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum to appear for arraignment in the higher court June 10.

Pontiac Police Detectives Thomas Mitchell and Robert Wachal report they have recovered 16 stolen power lawnmowers and three rugs reported taken from the store. The men were arrested May 17.

Banks Hold Tempting Bait for Career-Minded Youth

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Your son and daughter trying to maek up their minds what to be when they get out of school? They can get all kinds of advice—even from your banker.

To meet a growing need for more personnel, banks today are trying all the recruiting angles—even to paying the going rate for clerical workers rather than holding to the old idea that "prestige" should make up for about half of it.

It may have been competition for clerical workers that first led banks to raise starting pay scales. But it is the growth of the banking system's operations that has led to more top-level jobs.

The American Bankers Assn. says that each year the nation's 15,000 banks have about 1,000 bank presidencies and 4,000 other officer positions to fill. Since 1940 the banks' employe rolls have swelled by more than 250,000.

The association says this is because in the last 17 years the number of commercial banking accounts has doubled, the volume of bank loans and investments has tripled, and banking services have been greatly expanded.

To help the ambitious young man or woman to move up the ladder, the American Institute of Banking offers courses to prepare employes for jobs ahead. These are open to all bank employes, men or women, high school or college graduates.

Bank officers have another program to help them keep climbing. The American Bankers Assn. has a graduate school of banking, offering advanced studies. State bankers associations also sponsor special courses at some universities and individual banks provide on the job training for new employes and executive development courses for the ambitious.

Stressing the better pay lure, the ABA says that in the larger towns and cities now, a young person entering the business can look forward to earning from $8,000 to $15,000 a year—when he works up to an officer's post.

Homesick Milland Asks About California Weather

LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Can you imagine Ray Milland telephoning all the way from England to tell me that he was homesick and wanted to know what the weather is like in California?

While I had Ray on the wire, I asked him to give me some news. He said that he and Mal are flying home June 6 to attend their son Danny's graduation from Lawrenceville. Seventeen-year-old Danny, Ray said, is the youngest member of his class and goes to Stanford in the fall.

"Mal (Mrs. Milland) has gone to Paris with Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks to get some clothes," said Ray. "We come out to California, then I have to fly back to London June 15 to finish my picture, 'High Flight,' but Mal stays in California for a month decorating our new beach house.

"I'll be in Europe still longer," he lamented, "since I'm going to direct 'The Fate of Willie Gibbons' for MGM in July."

I call it positively brilliant—Columbia's idea of remaking "Golden Boy" as a musical and having Harry Belafonte play the lead.

This will demand some changes made in the role of a conceited young prize-fighter, which brought the unknown William Holden to fame some 41 pictures ago. But Belafonte could certainly act it, look it, and how he could sing it!

He gets back to this country in July and he'll give Columbia his decision at that time. I hear nothing but raves about Harry's work in "Island in the Sun" and of course what he has done for calypso—and vice versa—is on everybody's turntable.

STANWYCK TYPE

Looks like blonde Anne Francis is trying to take over Barbara Stanwyck's territory. In "Hired Gun" agile Annie plays a typical Stanwyck role, being a Texas girl about to be hanged who escapes over the border into Mexico, only to be tracked down by Rory Calhoun, a fate most girls wouldn't mind a bit.

"Hired Gun" is for Rory's and Vic Orsatti's company, Rorvic, and I talked to both boys over the telephone and Vic says shooting starts June 1 in Mexico with Ray Nazarro directing.

Bill Bendix' daughter has lost 177 pounds! Lorraine (Mrs. Dick Munroe) has always been plump, but she gained 100 pounds in one year until she weighed 297. She was embarrassed to meet people and was terribly depressed.

Then came the revolutionary operation called jeono, the first of its kind performed in California—not many operations of its kind have been performed anywhere in the world. Some of the intestines were removed and the stomach was made smaller.

A whole new life has opened up for Lorraine, who goes into a play, "Bell, Book and Candle," on July 24 and into her father's "Life of Riley" TV series.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Starlet Joanna Moore, who is threatened with the loss of hearing because of a nerve irritation in her ear, has undergone surgery.

Jean Seberg arrives June 9 to tour the country with the Preminger movie "Joan of Arc." She's director Otto Preminger's pet protegee.

"Pajama Game" opens June 6 at the Riviera in Las Vegas. Bell boys, elevator girls, etc., will wear pajamas—or so Benny Goffstein, here to meet the New York cast, tells me.

Frank Ross, comic of the Mary Kaye Trio, welcomes his second child in September. That makes three babies born this year to this group. Mary Kaye and her brother Norman each had their second babies earlier in the year.

'Wool Surplus Ending' —Agricultural Economist

CORVALLIS, Ore. (INS)—M. D. Thomas, Oregon State College agricultural economist, believes the U. S. surplus of 58 million pounds of wool may be wiped out by the end of the year.

Thomas said that woolen mills in the United States are using more and more government-stored stocks of wool, probably because production in this country has not increased of late and apparel wool imports have remained low.

When a soccer player at Louth, England, shot for a goal the ball sailed through the window of a house and smashed a TV set screen that was showing the game.

A long holiday weekend and some weather like we had yesterday often tell a sad tale by the number of drownings listed in the death columns of newspapers.

"It's a sad tale every summer day and every holiday period," said YMCA director Art Mann woefully.

"Americans should get off their patios and do a lot more swimming, but with it should be some program of body conditioning," he adds.

Physical activity such as swimming, which raises metabolism, strengthens the heart and keeps a high volume of blood flowing, is what Mann calls the "secret of sustained youth."

Of course being a YMCA director obviously explains Mann's keen interest in swimming, but it is quite apparent that Art is as good as any authority when it comes to the do's and don'ts of swimming.

"I guess the safety water techniques can be repeated over and over again and they will be ignored, but if it saves a few lives by bringing them before the public before the big swim season starts, then outlining the rules every year is well worth it," Mann explains.

Explaining the rules to their children should be the duties of every parents, just as it is the responsibility of the parents to be sure the youngsters learn how to swim.

Man reviews the basic rules of safety. Read them, but most of all heed them for life's sake.

1. Swim only at protected pools and beaches, but never alone and make sure there is a qualified lifeguard present.
2. Keep within safe water limits by not misjudging your own swimming ability, especially if your muscles have not been conditioned.
3. Never dive into unknown waters without testing the depth and checking the condition of the bottom. Weed area can be dangerous entanglements.
4. Never plunge into water when fatigued or overheated after hard exercise, it will cause muscles to cramp.
5. Be careful with water wings, inner tubes and inflated objects, as they can spring leaks easily.
6. Non-swimmers should not get into small boats, and if a boat overturns hang onto it. Diving off can also tip a boat and endanger companions.
7. Do not swim during electrical storms, and don't stay out in open boats or take shelter under trees. Best places are autos, or if exposed lie flat on the ground.
8. If attempting to rescue, try to reach a person with pole, rope or clothing, but don't try to be a rescue hero if not skilled in lifesaving.
9. Avoid swimming in heavy surfs or at waterfalls where there will be strong pulls.
10. Last, but not least, FORCE yourself to keep calm if in trouble, because panic is more dangerous than cramps themselves.

There they are, why not "waterproof" yourself?

Hanks Has Dream Come True in Winning '500'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indianapolis Motor Speedway will have to get along hereafter without "dad" Sam Hanks, who won the 500-mile race yesterday on his 12th attempt, but it won't soon forget the 42-year-old driver.

His record of 135.601 miles an hour, compared with the late Bill Vukovich's 130.840 mark of 1954, could stand for a long time.

Hanks and a splendid experimental auto which probably will revolutionize race car design were just too good for the rest of the field.

Jim Rathmann, 28-year-old Miami driver, tried disperately to catch Hanks for the last 64 laps but Hanks was pulling away when he finished 17½ seconds in front.

Rathmann, who also finished second in 1952, said something broke in the frame of his car and it "shimmied" so much on the turns that he couldn't match the front man from Pacific Palisades, Calif.

Hanks climbed out of his Belond Special, a horizontal engine dream by George Salih, and said, "that's it, I'm all done."

The lean, graying 6-footer said he'll probably race in Italy's Monza Autodrome "500" June 29 and finish his contract this year with the Mercury stock car team. Then he'll quit racing.

"Dad's going to win this one," Hanks had said before the race.

It was a bold statement for a man who began driving on the Speedway in 1940, when he finished 13th. He wrecked his car practicing for the 1941 race, spent the war flight testing airplane engines, and missed the 1947 race.

Until yesterday, Sam often was a contender but never won the pot. He was third twice, in 1952 and 1953, and second to Pat Flaherty last year in spite of a spin that damaged his car.

This time, after some preliminary shuffling for first place by Pat O'Connor, North Vernon, Ind.; Troy Ruttman, the 1952 winner from Lynwood, Calif., and Paul Russo of Canoga Park, Calif., Hanks took charge.

Sam led a total of 141 laps, good for $21,150 in lap prizes ($150 for each lap led). His total earnings for himself and Salih won't be announced until the victory dinner tonight. Their total take may reach $100,000 of an anticipated $300,000 purse.

The unofficial finish, subject to an overnight check of the electric timing tape, showed all of the first 10 cars broke Vukovich's 3-year-old record. They were helped by the fact that only 31 minutes and 41 seconds of the race was run under the yellow "hold your position" light, compared with an hour and 11 minutes for the 10 wrecks last year.

There were only four mishaps during the actual race yesterday and rookie Mike Magill of Haddonfield, N. J., who suffered a back injury, was the only person hurt. He hit the wall on the northwest turn and Al Herman of Allentown, Pa., also crashed trying to miss Edmonds.

Herman also wrecked in last year's race. Jimmy Daywalt of Indianapolis hit the wall yesterday for the second straight year. Keller, who survived the 1955 Wreck that killed Vukovich, also was unharmed yesterday when his car hit the wall on the southwest turn.

Rookie Don Edmunds of Anaheim, Calif., spun harmlessly into the infield.

Collision took two cars out of the 33-car line-up before the race officially started. Rookie Elmer George, son-in-law of Speedway owner Tony Hulman, ran into the car of Eddie Russo of Kansas City during a slow, uncounted pace lap.

Many of the cars developed mechanical faults in the race's furious pace and only 17 were running when Hanks took the checkered flag.

Fred Agabashian of Walnut Creek, Calif., in the "500" for the 11th straight year, escaped injury when his car caught fire in the pits.

Ruttman, who had been rated a good chance to win, was eliminated after 30 miles by a broken connecting rod.

Both of the supercharged Novis, which had been rated the fastest cars in the field until Hanks put on his show, were still running at the finish. Paul Russo, who crashed while leading last year's race, was an unofficial fourth but Tony Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, Ill., was somewhere below 12th place — as far as the unofficial standings went.

Unofficially behind Rathmann and his 135.420 mile-an-hour performance were Jimmy Bryan, Phoenix, Ariz., 134.238; Russo, 133.819; Andy Linden, Indianapolis, 133.640; Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif., 132.841; Marshall Teague, Daytona Beach, Fla., 132.724; O'Connor, 132.275; Bob Veith, Oakland, Calif., 131.858, and Gene Hartley, Indianapolis, 131.339.

Even Hartley broke Vukovich's 130.840 record as the cars, with engines arbitrarily reduced 10 per cent in piston displacement since last year, proved they'll still get around the big track as fast as anybody's willing to drive them.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Unofficial final standings in yesterday's 500-mile race, showing speed averages or miles traveled when available:
1. Sam Hanks, Pacific Palisades, Calif., Belond Exhaust Special, 135.601 miles an hour.
2. Jim Rathmann, Miami, Chiropractor Special, 135.420.

10. Gene Hartley, Indianapolis, Massaglia Hotels Special, 131.339.
11. Jack Turner, Seattle, Bardahl Special.

Don Freeland, Los Angeles, Ansted-Rotary Special.
Chuck Weyant, Springfield, Ill., Central Excavating Special.

The rest of the cars were forced out during the race. Exact mileage they completed and official standings were not available on most of them after the race but will be announced today. These were:

22. Al Herman, Allentown, Pa., Dunn Engineering Special, hit Magill's car.

Tigers Sweep Ends Jinxes

DETROIT (AP) — In a three-game series spiced with bold, sometimes reckless leadership, the Detroit Tigers emerged with all the chips.

Beating the Kansas City Athletics twice before baseball's biggest Memorial Day crowd by scores of 6-5 and 3-2, the Tigers:

Broke the Kansas City jinx, the Tom Morgan jinx and the one-run jinx. In addition, manager Jack Tighe came up with all the right moves and the A's skipper, Lou Boudreau, had all the wrong ones.

There were 40,994 spectators on hand at Briggs Stadium for the twin bill.

With his regular third baseman out of the entire series and his first baseman out of two games, Tighe still managed—with a lineup that once included Harvey Kuenn at first base for the first time in his career—to come up with three victories over the Athletics.

Coming to town Tuesday, the A's had a 6-0 mark against the Tigers. Morgan, the California plowboy, had whipped them twice. The Tigers had a 5-9 mark in games decided by one run.

All three games of the series were decided by a single run, but the Tigers got all the triumphs. And they routed Morgan in the first game yesterday, rocking the side-arming righthander for eight hits in less than five innings although Morgan didn't suffer the defeat.

The Tigers had to battle from behind to win the opener, 6-5. Trailing 4-1 after Gus Zernial hit his 10th home run in the fifth inning off starter Duke Maas, the Tigers narrowed the margin to 4-3 chiefly because of Morgan's wildness both on the mound and in the field.

Al Kaline's double drove in one run in the fifth inning and when Morgan threw Charlie Maxwell's roller away, Kaline — who had gone to third on a wild pitch—scored the third run. Mickey McDermott blanked the Tigers from that point until the ninth inning.

The slender southpaw, one of baseball's best hitting pitchers, rocked a ninth inning homer to give the A's a two-run margin before he put two runners on base during the Tigers' last stand.

With one out and runners on first and second, Boudreau brought in Wally Burnette, a knuckleballing righthander, to face the southpaw swinging Maxwell. Charlie followed with a double down the left field line to tie the score.

Tighe brought in Lou Sleater to quell a mild Kansas City uprising against Steve Gromek in the top of the 10th—and left Sleater in to hit for himself as the leadoff man in the Tigers' half of the inning.

"That was no gamble," said Tighe after Sleater broke up the game with his first Major League home run. "I remember that guy from the International League. He always was a pretty good hitter for a pitcher. Anyway, with our pitching staff in the shape it is, I didn't have what you'd call an abundance of replacements. It had to be Sleater."

Kuenn played an inning at first base after Earl Torgeson went out for a pinch hitter in the ninth. Ray Boone, the regular first baseman who is having knee trouble again, was at third base in place of the ailing Reno Bertoia, but Boone was lifted for a pinch runner in the ninth.

"I never thought this spring I'd run out of first basemen," said Tighe, who once had Jack Phillips and Eddie Robinson in addition to Boone and Torgeson.

The Tigers open a four-game series in Chicago tonight, with righthander Frank Lary (2-6) opposing either Bob Keegan or Jim Wilson.

RACING TO VICTORY — The Belond Special with Sam Hanks behind the wheel races to victory in record time at the Indianapolis Speedway 500-Mile race yesterday. Hanks set a new record by averaging 135,601 mph.

Diver Warren Frischmann and breaststroker Jon Buzzard won Eastern Intercollegiate titles for Syracuse last winter.

THEN THE REWARD — Movie actress Cyd Charisse plants a kiss on the begrimmed but happy face of Sam Hanks after he crossed the finish line of the "500" in record time. His wife, Alice, left, waits her turn to congratulate him with a kiss.

Cranes Defeat Windsor 9

Cranbrook's baseball team won its 9th decision in 16 games Thursday, defeating Assumption of Windsor, 6-3, in a Memorial Day tilt on the Crane diamond.

The Cranes put the verdict on ice with four runs in the 4th inning, with Dave Campbell's bases-loaded triple the big blow. Cranbrook made 10 hits off John Upham, Assumption's star southpaw.

Starting pitcher Andy Billesdon and Larry Demrick, who relieved in the 8th stanza, limited the Windsor school to four hits. Billesdon was the winner.

Cranbrook concludes its 1957 season Saturday afternoon at home against Flint Central.

Lake Orion wound up a disappointing season on a happy note by trimming Oxford, 6-4. Two three-run innings by the Dragons more than offset a three-run homer by Oxford's Homer Hight. Orion finished with a 3-8 record.

Broeker Wins Bat Title; Michigan's Tippery 2nd

CHICAGO (AP)—Ed Broeker, captain of Northwestern University's Big Ten champion baseball team, is the conference batting champion with a .440 percentage in seven games, statistics showed yesterday.

Broeker who alternated between the outfield and shortstop, led Michigan's Ken Tippery by 11 points.

Pierce Wins 8th, Sox Lead by 3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Billy Pierce finally is coming into his own, perhaps as the best pitcher in the American League, after a decade of taking a back seat to Cleveland's long-reigning staff and New York Yankee standouts.

And with Chicago's boyish looking, 30-year-old sout'paw veteran on the move, the White Sox may be ready to come out of the shadows.

Pierce has had his moments—leading the AL in strikeouts (186) in 1953 and in earned run average (1.97) in '55—but it wasn't until last year that he finally claimed a 20-victory season. Most of the time, he was just "a good little lefty" behind Cleveland's Feller, Lemon, Wynn and Garcia and Yankees' Reynolds, Raschi, Lopat and Ford.

Now he's leading the league and the majors in victories, claiming his eighth with a three-hit, nine-strikeout showing (which upped his AL leading total to 57) job against Cleveland that gave the White Sox a sweep of the Memorial Day doubleheader. Pierce's 2-1 victory, nailed on Billy's RBI single in the fifth, followed a 6-4 opening success and lengthened the White Sox' first-place edge in the American League to three games.

The New York Yankees gained a full share of second place, defeating Washington 9-0 after the Senators had won their fourth in a row, 5-1, in the opener, as the Indians slipped to third, four games back. Detroit held on to fourth, defeating Kansas City 6-5 in 10 innings and 3-2. Boston remained fifth, a half-game behind the Tigers, by beating Baltimore 7-6 in 10 and 16-5.

Pierce didn't allow a hit after the fifth inning while gaining his fourth consecutive complete game and finally edging ahead in his career decisions against the Tribe, 24-23. A walk and George Strickland's triple tied it 1-all for Cleveland in the fifth — the first Indian run off Billy in 20 innings —but two errors and an intentional walk loaded the bases against loser Mike Garcia and set up Pierce's clinching single.

Dick Donovan, who one hit Cleveland last Saturday, was tagged for 11 hits in the opener, but struck out five and walked none self.

Jim Lemon hit a two-run homer and a pair of errors by Yankee Gerry Coleman produced two more runs for the Senators as Camilio Pascual beat New York for the first time. The righthander, 0-10 previously against the champs, gave only two hits before leaving the game in the sixth when hit by loser Al Cicotte's liner. The Yankees bagged the second game with a five-run third for Bobby Shantz, who won his fifth with a five-hitter and drove in two runs.

LOCKMAN LEAPS — HAMNER DUCKS — New York Giant first baseman Whitey Lockman leaps high for a bad throw from third baseman Andre Rodger as Granny Hamner, Philly second baseman covers his head running for first base in their game at the Polo Grounds yesterday. Phillies won the opener, 2-1.

Arizona State Player Is Signed by Bengals

DETROIT (AP)—The Tigers have signed 24-year-old Thomas Futch Jr. to a contract with their Birmingham farm club in the Southern Association.

Futch is an infielder-outfielder who graduated from Arizona State College. He hit .375 in his senior year there in 1956. He was signed by scout Harrison Wickel.

In 1871 a three-game baseball series between Darthmouth and Amherst was called off when Amherst realized one of its players was not enrolled in the school.

Nothing Changes in NL as Every Team Splits

A barrage of four homers in the 2nd game gave Cincinnati a 7-3 victory and a split with St. Louis yesterday as the Redlegs held onto their 1½ game edge over Brooklyn on an action-packed Memorial Day. All the other loop teams also divided doubleheaders.

St. Louis had won the 1st game 7-2, while the Dodgers were winning 4-3 and losing 2-1 at Pittsburgh. Third place Milwaukee beat Chicago 5-2 and then lost 4-2. Philadelphia nipped the Giants 2-1 in 10 innings but New York took the nightcap by 8-1.

George Crowe, Gus Bell, Frank Robinson and Ed Bailey homered for the Redlegs in the second game against loser Wilmer Mizell. Bell's was a three-run inside the park homer. Willard Schmidt stopped Cincinnati with four hits for his fourth victory in the opener, backed up by Don Blasingame, who was 4-for-4.

The Pirates beat the Dodgers on singles by Bill Mazerowski and Frank Thomas in a two-run fifth against Sandy Koufax. Bob Purkey won his third-all against the Brooks — by striking out pinch-hitter Elmer Valo with the tying run on first in the ninth. Duke Snider's two-run homer and Clem Labine's relief brought Sal Maglie his second victory in the first game.

Relief pitcher Turk Lown came on in the ninth with the bases loaded and two out to nail the nightcap for the Cubs and young Don Elston. Lown ran the count to 3-0 against Felix Mantilla, then struck him out. Ray Crone gained his first complete game for Milwaukee since last June 26 in the opener.

Ruben Gomez had a one-hitter—Ed Bouchee's home run—for nine innings against the Phils, then lost it on Bouchee's single, two intentional walks and an infield hit by Curt Simmons. It was Simmon's 100th major league victory. Rookie Curt Barclay four-hit the Phils in the second game while Willie Mays stretched his hit streak to 18 games with a two-run, inside the park homer in the first inning.

Tigers Have Smallest Staff in Majors

Pitching Will Be Key to Chisox Series

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers went to Chicago today to challenge the league-leading White Sox and to find out whether the Tiger pitching staff is streamlined or just stripped.

Excluding bonus southpaw Jim Brady who hasn't pitched an inning this season, the Tigers have an eight-man staff—smallest in the Major Leagues. The club has played five games in the last four days and must play four more in the next three.

The White Sox series gets under way with a night game tonight and winds up with a Sunday doubleheader. Manager Jack Tighe will send Frank Lary, Billy Hoeft, Jim Bunning and Paul Foytack against the Pale Hose, the only team the Tigers haven't whipped.

Lary, Hoeft and Bunning will be working with three days' rest, Foytack with only two.

"They're young and they have strong arms," said Tighe. "Or they'd better have strong ones, anyway. We'll find out this weekend."

Facing the Tigers will be Jim Wilson, Bob Keegan, rookie Bill Fischer and probably Jack Harshman. If there is anything bright in the outlook, the Bengals will not have to face either Billy Pierce or Dick Donovan, both of whom pitched yesterday as the White Sox swept a twin bill from the third-place Cleveland Indians.

The Tigers are on a three-game winning streak. They are a half-game ahead of the fifth-place Boston Red Sox; two games behind the Indians; three behind New York and six behind the league leaders.

Their drive for an improved spot in the first division boils down to a battle between two pitching staffs weakened by one thing or another. The Indians have Herb Score on the disabled list and Bob Lemon, another 20-game winner, out with a pulled thigh muscle.

"I think we're stronger than the Indians — in every department," said Tighe, "And I think we're stronger than Boston and probably stronger than the White Sox."

Over the past several seasons the Sox have been exceptionally quick starters but have faded during the "dog days" of the pennant race.

Yesterday's 6-5 and 3-2 sweep over Kansas City gave his club "quite a lift," Tighe said. "It's a good sendoff for Chicago and it could be a big factor."

Last year at this time, the Tigers swept a Memorial Day twin bill from the A's and went on to a seven-game winning streak.

Fair Gains Clean Sweep

Joy Fair, driving the Dodge D-500 fuel injector made a clean sweep of events at the Motor City Speedway last night including a new track record.

Fair, at the wheel of his "Bomb 719," set a track record by qualifying in :13.04 which surpassed Mickey Katlin's mark of :13.12 seconds.

He was also first in the heat race for the 10 fastest cars, captured the Australian pursuit and won the 100 lap feature.

Skeeter Ross was second and Bill Korte finished third in the feature. Katlin did not finish because of a broken axle.

2 Children Killed by Flying Wheel at Stock Car Race

CLARION, Pa. (INS) — Two children were killed and three other persons were injured at a Memorial Day stock car race near Clarion when a rear wheel flew off one of the cars and bowled into a group of spectators.

The wheel from the car driven by Ted Wise, of Hubbard, O., spun off just as he approached the finish line of the 40th lap in the 100-lap feature race at the Pinegrove Speedway in Shippenville. Wise was unhurt.

Eight-year-old Mary Lou Lindey, of Slippery Rock, was killed instantly. Harold Brunn, Jr., 13, of Gibsonia, died several hours later in Clarion Hospital.

THURSDAY'S HOME RUNS

HAPPY LANDING — Detroit Tiger outfielder Charlie Maxwell slides back to first base in the first game against the Kansas City A's yesterday. Irv Noren, A's first baseman, juggles the throw and the ball gets away from him. Detroit won both ends of the twinbill, 6-5 and 4-3.

Three Jaycee Golf Tourneys in June

By BILL CORNWELL

Oakland County's younger golfing set will have plenty of opportunity to make a name for itself this summer.

Junior Chamber of Commerce chapters throughout the area are making sure of that.

Three Jaycee organizations in the immediate area — Pontiac, Waterford and Birmingham—are staging their annual junior golf tournaments during the month of June.

The Waterford chapter starts the ball rolling on June 17 at the Pontiac Country Club. Pontiac's tourney is scheduled June 19 over the City Municipal layout, followed by the Birmingham event on June 24 at the Birmingham Country Club.

At stake in each tourney will be a trip to the state Jaycee tournament July 8-9 at Grand Rapids and from there a jaunt to the national Jaycee event at Ohio State University's course in Columbus August 19-24.

These 18-hole tournaments are open to all boys who do not reach their 18th birthday by August 15, 1957. There is presently no rule barring a boy from entering another local tourney if he fails in a previous effort.

Bernard Buck and Richard Huff are co-chairmen of the Pontiac tournament, which will get underway at 8:30 a.m.

Applications are available at the City Municipal links and Diem's shoe store in downtown Pontiac. Entries can be returned to Municipal, Diem's Shoes or via mail to Huff, 74 Florawood, Pontiac.

A $2 entry fee will be charged. Trophies are to be awarded to the top three players and each trophy winner qualifies for a berth in the state meet. Further information is available by calling Buck at Diem's store.

Golfers entered in the Waterford competition tee off at 11 a.m., according to tourney chairman John McCaffrey. The top five boys are eligible for the state meet.

Entries are now being accepted by any Waterford Jaycee member or they may be dropped off at the Pontiac CC clubhouse.

Application blanks for the Birmingham tourney are available at all county public and private courses or from any high school golf coach. A $3 entry fee will be charged, which includes a lunch between 9-hole rounds.

The Birmingham chapter will send its top two swingers to Grand Rapids. Bob Wilson, 2226 Derby, Birmingham, is tourney chairman.

June 15 has been set as a tentative deadline for entries by the Birmingham chapter, but the Pontiac and Waterford groups will accept entries until tee-off time.

Michigan's four best shooters in the state meet earn a trip to the national tournament where they will compete for $2,500 in college scholarships and nine trophies.

This year's 12th annual national Jaycee tourney will be held in cooperation with Coca Cola bottlers throughout the United States. More than 30,000 teenagers representing 1,000 communities took part in Jaycee golf tourneys last year.

Using New Grip

Hogan Takes Wykagyl Lead

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP) — Ben Hogan, lean and hard, and buoyed by new confidence, looks like a man headed for an unprecedented fifth National Open golf championship next month, but he is a perfectionist still not satisfied.

"I still get the putting yips," he said after shooting a 4-under-par 67 yesterday to seize a shopping 12-point lead in the Wykagyl Round Robin Golf Tournament. "I'm happy with my new grip, but I still have my troubles. I've had putting problems since 1950."

It was typical of the great Hogan. He was more concerned over three putts he missed than over eight big ones he made in outclassing a star-studded field of 16 of the world's best professionals.

Going into today's double round, Hogan held a 12-point edge over his longtime adversary, Sam Snead, and British Open champion Peter Thomson of Australia, who shot 68s over the 6,461-yard, par 71 Wykagyl Country Club course.

The 44-year-old fairway master from Fort Worth, Tex., picked up 20 plus points in this involved 90-hole "adding machine open" compared with plus eight for his two closest challengers.

Hogan is bracketed against Tommy Bolt and Dick Mayer in the morning round today and with National Open champion Cary Middlecoff, PGA champion Jack Burke and Mike Souchak in the afternoon.

Players in the plus column behind Hogan, Thomson and Snead going into the second day are Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, plus seven; Masters champion Doug Ford, plus six; Ken Venturi of San Francisco, plus three.

Mike Fetchick of Yonkers, N.Y. ad Bill Casper Jr. Bovita, Calif., are even. The others are in the minus category. They are Bolt, Burke and Fred Hawkins, minus two; Middlecoff, and Mayer, minus five; Ed Furgol, minus eight; defending champion Gene Littler, minus 12, and Souchak, minus 16.

Race Winner Was Drugged

DETROIT (AP)—State Racing Commissioner James H. Inglis said last night a chemical analysis indicated procaine had been used on Crackerbarrel, an Ohio - owned horse which won the sixth race at Northville Downs May 28.

He said the report from the State Department of Agriculture Laboratories at Lansing is being investigated by the commission. The horse, owned by Mrs. J. C. Riley of Ironton, Ohio, and trained and driven by James Riley, will not be permitted to race pending the outcome of the probe he added.

Payment of the winner's share of the purse in the race has been withheld.

Baker Takes NASCAR

NEW OXFORD, Pa. (AP) — Buck Baker of Charlotte, N. C., drove to his second consecutive victory in the annual NASCAR Grand National stock car race yesterday at Lincoln Speedway in a 1957 Chevrolet.

Ridgeley on Way to Finals

American Has Big British Lead

FORMBY, England (AP) — Harold Ridgeley, a grim little U. S. Air Force noncom who is the only American left in the tournament, led Arthur Walker of South Africa 10 up after the first 18 holes in a run-away 36-hole semi-final match in the British Amateur Gold Championship today.

Ridgeley, a 43-year-old master sergeant from Haverford, Pa., who has remained in Britain since World War II, took a four hole lead on the front nine, won three straight after the turn and stretched his lead to ten holes at the end of the morning round.

The 26-year-old Walker, playing badly, obviously became jittery as the sandy-haired American piled up a huge lead.

Ridgeley shot a morning round of 33-35—68, the best of the tournament, over the 6,803-yard, par 35-37—72 Formby course by the Irish Sea. Walker, spraying his shots badly, was ten strokes higher.

At one point, when Ridgeley missed the green with his approach then chipped back within two feet of the pin, a spectator murmured: "That's enough to break the heart of a stone statue."

In the other semi - final Reid Jack, former Scottish champion, finished the first 18 holes two up on 20-year-old Alan Bussell, another Scot.

The little 43-year-old American has been a fast starter in every match in this tournament while Walker hasn't played the first three holes well at any time.

Today Ridgeley was birdie-par-birdie on the first three and won them all. He put his long iron within two feet of the cup on the 417-yard first and sank the putt for a three, then chipped whipped within five feet for his four on the 520-yard third.

Walker was bunkered and took a five on the second and his chip skidded 12 feet past the hole on the short fifth Ridgeley chipped to six feet and got this three to go four up.

Weather conditions were ideal for the semifinal matches with bright sunshine and a moderate breeze.

Dublinski Free After Midnight

Toronto Option Expires Tonight for Ex-Detroit Lion Quarterback

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Argonauts' option on Tom Dublinski expires at midnight tonight, leaving the door open for the brilliant passing quarterback to return to the National Football League.

Managing director Lew Hayman of the Argos says he will allow the option to lapse and gamble he can work out a deal with the former Detroit Lions ace to keep him with the Big Four football club. They will confer soon on a contract which Hayman insists must be without the no-cut clause Dublinski got when he signed with the Argos for the 1955-56 seasons at $17,500 a year.

It was an expensive deal. Dublinski tore a cartilage in his right knee in a pre-season exhibition game in 1956 and was out for the year. And the Argonauts finished last.

Dublinski becomes a free agent as far as NFL teams are concerned with expiration of the option period.

Hayman is optimistic that what the Argos have to offer plus Dublinski's opportunity of a promising business career here will take precedence over tempting bids from any NFL club. Detroit, which was awarded $6,950 last winter by the Ontario Court of Appeal in a law-suit against Dublinski for jumping his contract in 1955, is definitely interested and Chicago Cardinals also are known to have made overtures to him.

Hold Dedication of Mausoleum for Jim Thorpe

JIM THORPE, Pa. (AP) — Notables from the world of sports joined relatives and friends yesterday as a crowd of 5,000 persons witnessed the dedication of the mausoleum of the great American Indian athlete, Jim Thorpe.

The 20-ton block of Minnesota red granite was unveiled by three daughters and three Thorpe grandchildren in a wooded strip of land near a busy highway in this eastern Pennsylvania community which changed its name in tribute to the versatile athlete.

On hand were officers from the Army installation of Carlisle, Pa., once an Indian school where Thorpe made collegiate football history.

Wiffi Smith Boosts Lead

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Four of the seven leaders, including front-running Wiffi Smith of St. Clair, Mich., were paired in the featured foursome here today in the third round of the five-day $12,000 Virginia Beach Round Robin Golf Tournament.

Miss Smith fired a one-under-par 70 over the 6,065-yard Cavalier course yesterday to pick up 26 points and boost her 36-hole total to 37 points — 16 in front of runner-up Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex.

Although she gained just two points in her foursome yesterday with a 76, Miss Jameson remained in second place for the second day. Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, had a 2-under-par 69 yesterday for the day's best round and moved into third place with 18 points.

In the 90-hole marathon, in which the winner gets $1,500, a player gains a point for each stroke she finishes ahead of an opponent and loses a point for each stroke she loses to an opponent. Before the tourney is over, each of the 16 players has met each of the others.

Race Bets Top 20 Million

237,023 at Holiday Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The eight Memorial Day doubleheaders in the major leagues attracted 237,023 fans, with the American League out-drawing the National 128,325 to 108,698.

The two-league total was 3,331 below the 1956 figure, with the National League drawing 9,631 less than a year ago. The American League total showed an increase of 6,300 over '56.

Detroit had the day's largest attendance, 40,944, as the Tigers swept two from Kansas City. The smallest crowd, 19,887, watched the New York Giants and Philadelphia Phillies split their two games in the Polo Grounds — on the heels of NL approval for the Giants to move to San Francisco if they decide they no longer can put up with out-moded facilities and low attendance in New York.

With three tracks exceeding the three million dollar mark, a total of $20,440,749 was wagered by 347,763 racing fans at 13 thoroughbred running tracks Memorial Day.

Both figures exceeded 1956 when 11 tracks reported a turnout of 342,951 and a pari-mutuel handle of $20,049,774.

Hollywood Park had the largest crowd, 64,798. But the most money, $3,770,468, was wagered by 50,455 fans at Belmont Park. Hollywood Park's handle was only slightly lower at $3,756,106.

Garden State Park, with a turnout of 42,217, also went over the three million dollar mark with a handle of $3,191,016.

Below the big three in order came Balmoral at Washington Park $2,062,062, Suffolk Downs $1,710,218, Delaware Park $1,514,127 and Hazel Park $1,197,505.

Grain Futures Slightly Lower

CHICAGO (AP) — Buying interest was lacking in grain futures on the Board of Trade today and prices dipped somewhat in most pits.

The downturn came despite more heavy and unwanted rains in the winter wheat belt, and a Quaker Oats Co. crop report which was considered pessimistic.

Soybeans showed some independent strength on buying by local traders, cash and commission houses.

Near the end of the first hour old style wheat was ¼ to ½ lower, July $2.03⅛, new style wheat was ⅛ to ⅜ lower, July $2.04, corn was ⅛ to ¼ lower, July $1.30¼, oats were ⅛ to ½ lower, July 65⅜, rye was ⅝ higher to ½ lower, July $1.13, soybeans were ⅛ to ⅜ higher, July $2.35⅛, and lard was unchanged to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $12.85.

Test Drive a Pontiac

Visitors to the headquarters of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc. in Bloomfield Hills, now may test drive a 1957 Pontiac Star Chief Catalina while waiting for an appointment or after completing their business at the advertising agency.

Idea was the brain child of President Ernest A. Jones and the Star Chief was supplied by Pontiac Motor Division.

Visitors electing to take a spin are furnished with a map detailing the scenic attractions in a five mile tour of the suburban countryside.

Steels, Oils Make Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and oils made gains as the stock market advanced in early trading today.

Pivotal issues were up from fractions to a point. There was a scattering of small losses. Aircrafts were off.

After a fairly active opening, turnover became very quiet.

Anaconda and Kennecott Copper were a bit higher as copper production was reduced at two big African properties.

The stock market was riding forward on the momentum of Wednesday's surprising rise on the eve of the Memorial Day holiday. But many were absent from Wall Street today because the holiday meant a four-day weekend in many establishments.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem were up good fractions. Lukens Steel added more than a point.

Gulf Oil was up around a point. Sinclair, Texas Co. and Royal Dutch also rose.

Du Pont was up better than a point as was Allied Chemical. Motor shares were narrowly mixed. Rail shares were irregular also. Illinois Central was off. Baltimore & Ohio was up a bit.

Also ahead were U. S. Rubber, Schenley, Johns-Manville, Westinghouse Electric, Air Reduction and American Telephone. Losers included Boeing and Douglas Aircraft.

Among opening blocks were: Royal Dutch up ⅛ at 54½ on 2,000 shares; Santa Fe off ⅛ at 23⅜, on 1,000; and Shell Transport & Trading up ⅛ at 25⅞ on 3,500.

Press Attache Severely Injured

Eyewitness Tells of Chinese Riots; Mobs Hurled Rocks, Swung Clubs

(How eight beleaguered Americans fought their way through club-swinging, rock-hurling Chinese rioters in Taipei last Friday is related in the following final article of a two-part series, comprising the first inside, eyewitness story of what actually happened at the invaded American Embassy. The author, Embassy Press Attache Alexander C. Boase, was the most severely injured of 11 Americans hurt during the riots that swept the Chinese Nationalist capital.)

By ALEXANDER C. BOASE

TAIPEI (INS) — It was pitch-black in the U. S. Embassy's bomb shelter where we were huddled as Chinese mobs attacked in nine successive waves.

On the opposite wall was an exhaust fan. With so many people in such a small room, we thought that as long as the fan kept going we would be able to breathe.

GOT STICKY

It kept going until about 4:30 p.m. and then it began to get sticky and stuffy in there.

Once a few Chinese police came in, trying to locate an escape hatch, to see if there wasn't some way to spring us out the back way. I guess the escape hatch was too small.

Just after the ninth wave of attack a couple of the mob poked their heads in. Some of our Chinese employes pushed us back into a corner. It looked like they were going to fight them off.

ALL LEFT SHELTER

I don't understand Chinese but apparently they were ordered to come out. All went out of the shelter. That left eight Americans.

We got over to the back of the shelter against the wall.

Most of us agreed that to use a gun would be complete suicide. I remember thinking if we showed we weren't going to fight them they might be satisfied with just smashing up the equipment.

LIT MATCHES

Then three or four of them stuck their heads in and lit matches to see who was there. When they saw us they started throwing steel wastebaskets at us.

One of them threw a large thermos bottle. It shattered and splashed over us.

We thought we had better get out of there.

I walked toward the door — I guess I was the first one out—with my hands open and spread out showing I had no weapons. Almost as soon as I walked into the room proper something hit me on the head. I think it was a stone or something.

I walked over in the general direction of the front entrance of the embassy. I remember being surprised because I expected to find the room full of mobsters. I saw six or eight Chinese police.

Up to that time I had thought there were no more than two or three in that room because they had been unable to do anything about getting us out.

BLOOD ON FACE

I was dazed, I guess. Blood was streaming down my face. I held my hand up in front of me.

I remember one of the Chinese police turning me around and pushing me in the direction of the portico where the ambassador's car was.

All I knew was that I was being kicked, spat upon, being hit upon the head and body.

FELL ON GROUND

I don't know whether I was pushed or shoved but I fell on the ground. I couldn't stay on the ground. I was afraid of being kicked to death. I got on my feet again.

I remember thinking the Chinese police seemed to be just standing there. I don't know whether they were trying to hold the crowd back or what.

I started working on my way toward the gate. I can remember a constant rain of kicks and blows. I started running.

COULDN'T RUN

Somewhere in my chest I felt like I had been squeezed out of all breath. I couldn't run any longer.

Then somebody either hit me or kicked me in the back. I guess that was when they broke my ribs.

Then I tried to shuffle down the lane. Somebody tripped me again. A Chinese policeman picked me up and tried to put me in a pedicab. I just waved him away.

JEEP UP AHEAD

Then I saw a jeep up ahead. It seemed the Chinese police were running alongside me trying to help me.

It seemed if I could just reach the jeep I would be all right. The Chinese people helped me into it. Right away a crowd gathered around the jeep. Then the driver couldn't find the key.

The crowd reached over the police spitting on me and hitting me. Then I saw Paul Meyer (embassy counsellor) being pushed into a jeep on the right side. I could feel the jeep being pushed and shoved this way and that. I was sure they were trying to overturn it.

I didn't want to be in it if it turned over. I told Paul "Let's get out." But the Chinese police wouldn't let us out.

In the meantime we were being stoned. They hit the jeep windows, shattering them. I think I prayed harder than I ever did before in my life.

Then a Chinese pushed his face close and spat at me. He said "You speak Chinese?" I said no. He said "You killed Chinese, shot them."

TRIED TO START

Meantime, the driver had gotten a pair of pliers and was reaching in trying to get the jeep started.

He got a wrong connection somehow and had to undo it. It seemed an eternity just sitting there.

Finally he got it connected—but it wouldn't catch. A few of the Chinese police began pushing and the driver would let the clutch out trying to get it started.

Several young Chinese lay down in the road trying to stop the jeep. The police reached down and pulled them out of the way. Other Chinese saw what was happening and they tried to do the same thing. The police would tackle them and push them away.

Then, about three busloads of Chinese security police arrived.

I was never so happy to see anything.

They got Paul and myself and put us inside on the floor. The police got the car off carrying sten guns or something.

We finally got to a dispensary in a barracks. A Chinese doctor there started treating us—examining us. Paul said he thought he had better go to the MAAG Hospital, so they got another bus and made us lie on the seats this time.

Six or eight armed guards rode with us to the MAAG dispensary where they treated us and put me to bed.

I had a nasty few minutes that night when somebody came in and said a crowd was forming outside.

About that time I felt I had had just about enough.

Survives 19 Days After Plane Crash

Find Woman on Mountain

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP)—"It's certainly a blessing to be alive."

Those were the first words Mrs. Dalton LeMasurier spoke to rescuers who found her beside the body of her husband late yesterday on a snow-shrouded mountainside.

The 45-year-old Duluth, Minn., housewife survived her ordeal for 19 days—more than a week longer than searchers sought the wreckage of the couple's plane.

Her only nourishment was three small pieces of chocolate candy and a bottle of vitamin pills.

With only the remains of the burned-out wreckage and shrubs for protection, Mrs. LeMasurier lived through almost constant storms.

"You can't imagine how awful the weather must have been," said one rescuer.

She shouted with joy when she spotted the seven-man party. She was rushed to the Rawlins Hospital suffering from shock, frostbite, sunburn, exposure and malnutrition.

Dr. Robert D. Paul, Carbon County coroner, said: "I thought it was an echo from one of the fellows. Then we saw this woman—she was wearing her husband's pants and jacket but no shoes—and calling for help.

"We were stunned. Not once did anyone think, even for a moment, that one of them would be alive."

The couple's light plane, headed back to Duluth from Pasadena, Calif., smashed into 9,500-foot Ferris Mountain east of here May 11 during heavy overcast.

Here's Mrs. LeMasurier's story of the crash and what followed:

"We were flying at about 8,000 feet when there was some engine noise and my husband said: 'We're going to crash!'

"As soon as we could get free of the wreckage we began to run because the gas tank was on fire. It exploded and blew our clothing toward us. A cloudburst finally put out the fire.

"We crawled into the fuselage of the plane and stayed there for the first three nights.

"After that we wandered about 400 yards down the mountain onto a level area. The drifts of snow were about four feet deep and it kept snowing and raining."

LeMasurier, who was president of Duluth radio station KDAL, presumably was injured fatally in the crash.

His wife first told rescuers he died four days after the crash, later that he died seven days ago. And before going to sleep in her hospital bed last night she said she knows he is still living.

Hungarian Attache Ordered Out of U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has ordered an assistant military attache at the Hungarian legation to leave this country by Monday, apparently in retaliation for a similar action by Communist Hungary last month.

The State Department yesterday declared the presence of Lt. Karoly Meszaros "no longer agreeable to the United States government." It gave no reason for the decision.

Last month, the Soviet satellite government in Budapest accused Capt. Thomas R. Gleason of espionage and gave him 48 hours to get out of Hungary. Gleason was assistant U. S. military attache there.

News in Brief

James L. Elwell, 53, of 126 Summit St., was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital yesterday for chest injuries received when his car left the road and hit a telephone pole. Elwell was going north on U.S. 10 about ¼ mile north of Andersonville Rd. in Waterford Township.

Police arrested two teenagers for investigation when they were found in a used car lot, reportedly stripping a car. Arrested were Harold E. Pohl, 17, of Clarkston, and a 16-year-old companion. The younger of the two was released to his parents pending further action. Patrolman Clarence Smith reports some parts were in Pohl's car.

Voters Asked to Pass Boost

Citizens of Southfield Asking More Services; May Hike Taxes

SOUTHFIELD — A special election will be held here Monday when voters will be asked to approve additional millage of $1.42 per $1,000 assessed valuation as equalized.

The tax increase could boost the township rate from last year's $1.81 to $3.23 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The current budget is short about $116,000 supervisor Eugene Swem said. In a letter to residents the township board warned that if the additional millage is not approved services must be cut drastically.

About 5,000 copies of the letter were mailed to residents on Wednesday. Swem said that half the vote increase would provide additions to the police and fire departments. The balance would be needed to maintain the government at its present level, he said.

Nervy Bandit Strikes Twice at Clawson

CLAWSON (INS) — Clawson police today were searching for a nervy burglar who broke into an auto wash early yesterday and walked off with $1,500 worth of boating equipment.

The thief was probably a water-sports enthusiast because his loot included an outboard motor, seven life jackets, two aqua lungs and several gasoline cans.

He evidently decided he needed some cash to finance his vacation because while Clawson police went to investigate the first burglary, he broke into a service station—across from the police station—and stole $569 in cash.

Seeking to Form French Cabinet

Liberal Catholic Leader Pflimlin Takes Up Task of Building Coalition

PARIS (AP)— Financial expert Pierre Pflimlin set up shop today for the complicated business of trying to build a coalition to replace the Cabinet of Socialist Premier Guy Mollet.

The leader of the MRP — Popular Republican party — a liberal Catholic group, arranged meetings with spokesmen of other middle-road parties which he hopes to include in a government.

President Rene Coty turned to Pflimlin Wednesday after former Premier Rene Pleven failed to work out a platform agreeable to both the Socialists and the conservative Independent Republicans. Pflimlin said he would accept the job if his party agreed and he could line up sufficient support in the much-divided National Assembly.

He got the MRP's endorsement yesterday at the party's convention in Biarritz. Then Pflimlin conferred for more than an hour with Mollet in an obvious bid for Socialist participation.

The prospective premier's immediate objective was to get both Mollet and former Premier Antoine Pinay, leader of the Independents, into his Cabinet.

Launch Lakes Carrier

COLLINGWOOD, Ont. (AP)—A 605-foot Great Lakes grain and ore carrier was launched sideways Thursday at the Collingwood Shipyards. It is being put into service on the lakes by N. M. Paterson and Sons, Ltd., of Fort William, Ont.

Two Men Acquitted in Church Blasting

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Despite a prosecutor's warning that further racial violence in Montgomery might result from acquittal, a white male jury yesterday cleared two white men of charges of dynamiting a Negro church.

To the cheering approval of a packed courtroom, the jury came in after 95 minutes' deliberation with a verdict of acquittal for Raymond C. Britt Jr. and Sonny Kyle Livingston Jr.

The prosecutor said an acquittal would say "it's all right" to bomb Negro churches and homes —and might lead to retaliation. The defense countered that it would serve notice "that we are not going to yield another inch in fighting for our way of life."

Prosecutor William F. Thetford announced that two other charges against Britt would not be tried for two months.

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Francis Paris, 29, of Brimley, Mich., suffered a broken right ankle Thursday in the first accident on the Amherstburg Channel deepening project which began Tuesday. An employe of the Great Lakes Dredging Co., he was injured when a chain broke and wrapped around his leg.

Shows Mirror Colorful Decade

Revival Linked to Era's Interesting, Uninhibited Performers

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Television has been displaying an interesting affinity for the 1920s this season.

Most recently there was the story of Helen Morgan, superbly played by Polly Bergen, on "Playhouse 90" (CBS-TV). A few nights previously Mickey Rooney brought us George M. Cohan in "Mr. Broadway" over NBC-TV. A couple of weeks before that NBC did the story of singer Gene Austin.

"The Jazz Age," narrated by the late Fred Allen, was the best of the "Project 20" series this year. The works of F. Scott Fitzgerald, who so brilliantly expressed the spirit of the 1920s, have proved a fertile source for TV drama.

Television's preoccupation with the 1920s is pleasant because it's one of the medium's rare trends that does not seem to have been plotted by the business offices. Actually, the decade strikes a nostalgic note with only a minority of viewers.

For one thing the decade was the last that developed a number of colorful, personally uninhibited performers whose lives and works have slipped far enough into the past to be available to TV. Younger viewers may be unfamiliar with them, but they're interested. It was a rare person under 30 who had heard of Gene Austin before NBC resurrected him. Almost as rare were the young people who had heard of Helen Morgan.

More significant, however, is the spirit of the 1920s, as it is recalled to us. It was the last romantic decade before depression and wars and international responsibilities taught us that the sky does have a limit. It began with a bang and ended with a whimper.

Interestingly, those TV programs about characters and incidents of the decade which attempt a measure of transcribing its mood have generally been successful. Those that ignore the temper of the times have generally been unsuccessful.

Thus, a measure of the accomplishment of the Helen Morgan story on "Playhouse 90" resulted from its transcribing something about the mood of her times. Thus, too, a measure of the failure of "Mr. Broadway" resulted from its refusal to present the mood of the times in which George M. Cohan did his finest work.

U.S. Reducing Military Missions

Stationing of Soldiers in Foreign Nations Seen as Cause of Tension

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has been quietly reducing the size of its military missions overseas. The cutback was ordered earlier this year, primarily for economy.

But a secondary factor in the decision to bring home about 12 per cent of the military men attached to foreign advisory and training missions was the growing realization that large groups of Americans living abroad lead to tensions of the sort that produced the anti-American rioting in Formosa last week.

Secretary of State Dulles said the government now is making a "high level" study of the problem of large U.S. troop contingents stationed in foreign countries. One of the major tension-producing factors is believed to be the high American living standard.

The gradual reduction of military missions staffs was well under way when Secretary of Defense Wilson told a Senate committee this week that he was seeking a 12 per cent reduction in such personnel.

At the beginning of this year the total authorized strength of the U.S. military aid missions was 8,430. By March 31, the last reporting date available, the number had dropped to 7,621.

The mission there has an authorized strength of 2,636. The number had dropped to 2,116 by March 31 and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, told legislators on the morning after the Taipei outburst that the decision already had been reached to reduce the mission to 1,233 after July 1.

What Is Happening

Will Beeson is telling the story. His home has been the Box P ranch in Easter Valley in frontier Colorado ever since Joe and Sarah Pardee took him in, a homeless, hungry kid, seven years back. Will, having the deepest affection for the Pardees, was distressed by the bitterness between Joe and his wife Sarah, who has lived in a wheel chair since an accident.

One morning Will road with Joe Pardee and Gene Dillingham, another of Joe's cowhands, to meet Al Beam, who had challenged Pardee's domination of Easter Valley. When Joe cornered Beam, he was the loser in the duel. Dillingham killed Beam in a rage of grief. Dying of his wounds, Joe told Beeson: "Take care of Kathy Morgan," referring to a young woman who had attracted Joe's interest.

Sarah, taking charge of the ranch, names Beeson as foreman. This makes an enemy for Will, for Gene Dillingham has counted on getting the job. That night, Dillingham picks a fist fight with Will and tells him: "The minute your let settlers move in on Box P grass, I'll shoot you right between the eyes."

Chapter 5

Alec Dodson was elected the new president of the Easter Valley Cattleman's Association. Sarah insisted on going to the meeting.

I carried her to the buggy, and when we got to the schoolhouse, I took her inside and set her in the only rocking chair in the building. The men were surprised and disapproving, I think, but they were courteous enough. She was a ranch owner, and there was no way they could keep her out.

I stood beside Sarah's chair, thinking how different this meeting was from the ones I had attended when Joe was alive. He had dominated the association year after year. Meetings were short and well planned. Everyone knew Joe's attitude on all the issues, and they voted his way; but this time, even after Alec Dodson took the chair, there was a lot of wrangling. The meeting broke up without any positive action being taken.

On our way home, Sarah said thoughtfully: "Take a leader out of a small community like this, and all you get is a bunch of little men trying to be big. Alec Dodson has more cows than Joe ever owned, but that doesn't make him enough of a man to fill Joe's boots."

I looked at her, surprised at what she had said. It was the first time I had heard her speak well of Joe since his death. She stared straight ahead, her gloved hands folded on her lap.

She was a brave and beautiful woman, I thought, and if her body had not been broken she'd be on her mare running the ranch herself. But now I was all she had, and this first month as foreman was long enough to show me a few of my own shortcomings.

"Will," Sarah said suddenly, "I don't want us to take the attitude Joe did. I mean, to kill men to hold on to grazing land that we don't own. On the other hand, there's no sense in having a cattlemen's association if it doesn't have any leadership. You've got to be the leader."

I looked at her again, as surprised as the night she'd said I was to be foreman. She turned her face to me, smiling. I said: "You're dreaming. You can't be a leader if you don't belong, and you can't belong unless you're a ranch owner."

"You'll be half-owner," she said. "It's only fair that you should work for yourself as well as for me." She glanced at me again, the smile gone. "Sometimes it seems to me you favor Joe enough to be his son. You get a kind of brooding hawk look about your face. If you don't relax, you'll soon be an old man."

I was silent. I know I was worrying too much. About Dillingham. About the settlers who would storm into the valley in the spring now that Joe was gone. About almost anything, I guess, that affected the Box P.

I didn't know how much difference it would make if I owned half of the Pardee ranch, but I didn't like the idea. The time would come when I'd have to do what Joe had done if I took Sarah's offer. The locusts would come again, and when they did I would break with Sarah just as Joe had, and over the same issue.

Maybe Sarah knew. She said: "I wasn't fair, pushing you into the foreman's job. If you want to quit . . ."

"No."

"Well, at least I'm going to insist on you being half-owner. If you're going to kill yourself worrying about the ranch, you should be doing part of it for yourself."

"Suppore something comes up we don't agree on?"

Surprisingly, she laughed. She put a hand on my arm, asking, "You aren't worried about that?" Then she saw the expression on my face and drew her hand back. "All right, Will, it's a fair question and I'll answer it. It was different with Joe and me. The ranch was always his. It was never mine, but it is now. I'll remain the senior partner."

I nodded, for that was right and natural. If Sarah would own 51 per cent, and me 49, I'd accept. I told her so.

"I'll write to Ben Sawhill tonight." She paused, then asked, "When are you starting roundup?"

"First of next week."

"You're driving to Leadville to sell?"

"Yes." I explained why I thought it a better market.

"On your way back, go to Canon City," she said. "Bring $500 home. Put the rest in the bank. See Ben while you're in town."

I nodded agreement, and after that we rode in silence.

I had been postponing one unpleasant task, but I made myself attend to it, the night before we left for roundup. I had not told Kathy Morgan what Joe had said to me as he died.

The sun wasn't quite down when I reined up in front of Kathy's house and knocked on the door.

Kathy let me in at once and motioned toward a leather couch. After she had brought me a drink, she sat in a rocking chair and picked up her sewing from the poker table where she had dropped it. She worked on it a minute, then laid it back on the stand.

She sat there, quietly, rocking steadily, smiling at me in the thinning light, and I thought Joe must have sat here just like this, feeling the warmth of Kathy's friendship.

We were silent for what seemed to me a long while. Then I asked the question I had in mind the night I'd come to fetch her to the Box P for the reading of the will. "How are you making out, Kathy?"

"Ive got a cow and my chickens and a good garden," she answered. "And there's the thousand dollars Joe left me. I'll be all right. Anyway, I'm going to stay here long enough to see what happens to Mrs. Pardee."

I said: "I've got something to tell you. I should have told you before, but I never got around to it."

When I hesitated, she rose and came to the couch and sat beside me. "Tell me what you were going to say," she said.

"The last thing he said to me was, 'Take care of Kathy.' So, if there's anything I can do for you . . ."

"That was sweet of him," she said, "and exactly like him." She rose and began walking around the room. "Don't worry about me, Will. I'll make out fine. But what about you, living with that crazy Gene Dillingham and with Sarah Pardee to wait on hand and foot."

I got up and walked to the door. "I'll be all right. Sarah is giving me a half-interest in the ranch."

"Will, don't let her do it." She came to me and put her hands on my shoulders. "I know what a she-devil she is. I saw what she did to Joe." She shook her head. "You don't believe me, do you? You'll let her buy you, and she'll destroy you just like she destroyed Joe."

I pulled her hands away from me. I said: "You envy and hate her. All right; go right on hating her all you want to, but don't try to make me hate her, too."

I left the house and rode home, thinking that Joe Purdee's death was like a sunset bringing darkness through which each of us who was left behind must feel his own way.

Five Waterford Areas Rezoned

Final Action Expected Monday, After Board Completes Check

Five areas in Waterford Township are in the process of being re-zoned from residential to commercial use, according to James Seeterlin, clerk.

A 7-acre piece on M59 near Woodstock will soon be zoned commercial, and another plat adjoining this area extending southwest 200 more feet will also be re-zoned commercial.

Four lots on Frembes near the railroad tracks will be re-zoned from residential to light manufacturing. They include lots number 132 through 136.

A lot on the southeast corner of Pontiac Lake and Scott Lake roads, will become commercial, and part of a lot between the Drayton Plains school and the Presbyterian church, on Sashabaw will also be commercial.

The Waterford Township zoning board recommended the changes to the Oakland County coordinating zoning commission, and they in turn, have turned it over to the township board, after they approved the changes.

Waterford Township board members are investigating the areas, before giving final approval. Action on amending the zoning amendment is expected at Monday's meeting, according to supervisor, Elmer Johnson.

Hearings on the proposed rezoned land, were held February 13, and again March 13, and there were no objections from township residents, according to Seeterlin.

Voice of America Worker Fatally Shot

WASHINGTON (AP) — A private secretary was held on a first-degree murder charge today in the slaying of her former fiance — a Russian-born Voice of America employe who married another woman less than three weeks ago.

Police found the body of Zurab Abdusheli, 40, sprawled on a couch in the fashionable apartment of Edith Louise Hough, 41. He had been shot six times with a .25-caliber pistol.

The graying, ash blonde told police she shot Abdusheli after he became "psychologically aggressive" yesterday during an early-morning call. His wife, the former Irene Eristoff, said he had gone to Miss Hough's apartment to express condolences on the recent death of her father.

U. S. Commissioner James F. Splain ordered Miss Hough held without bond and continued the case until June 13. A coroner's inquest into the death was set for today.

California Senate Goes on Spending Spree

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California's Senate went on a spending spree yesterday just after Gov. Goodwin Knight warned that he would veto any special appropriations that threatened a state deficit.

In assembly-line order, the Senate approved 50 special appropriations exceeding 94 million dollars.

Served Under 4 Presidents During 27 Years

'Supervisor' of White House to Retire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Howell G. Crim says that after working at the White House 27 years under four presidents he still is "just a country boy" who got a wonderful break.

"No employe ever had better employers," Crim says in talking about the chief executives he has served—Herbert Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

At the end of this week Crim, now 58, will retire as White House chief usher—a job he has held the last 19 years—because of ill health. He plans to take it easy tending flower and vegetable gardens at his home at Lorton, Va., a few miles southwest of Washington.

He will be taking with him the memory of hundreds of exciting experiences during more than a quarter century of exciting history at the White House. But most of those experiences he intends to keep strictly confidential. He will not write a book about them, he says.

A stocky, friendly man, Crim told a reporter:

"Maybe I have heard and seen things during my years in the White House which would interest many people—make a good book.

"But if you ask me such things as what was my most interesting experience in all those years, and what was my most embarrassing experience, I won't tell you.

"I think the only reason I have seen and heard a good many of those things is that the people for whom I have worked had a deep trust in me.

"I believe it would be a betrayal of that trust to sell my memories for profit, or even to give away some of them."

The informal title "chief usher" doesn't begin to give any idea of the broad scope of the job. In fact, it actually is misleading because Crim has never been an usher in the literal sense. "General manager" of the famed residence at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. really tells it better.

Crim always has worked under the immediate direction of the wife of the President, and the First Lady in each administration always has counted on him to run things.

That has meant supervision of thousands of social affairs, the purchase of food supplies, hiring and — whenever necessary — the disciplining and firing of personnel.

It has meant preparation of the annual White House budget for Congress, going over it with the President, and then going before congressional committees to get it approved.

"And then it has meant coming back here to the White House and spending it wisely — I hope — and to the advantage of the government."

Crim said he still sees "quite a bit" of Hoover, his first White House boss, "whenever he is in town." But he hasn't seen Truman since he left office in 1953, and Mrs. Truman only once since then.

He has a "sad and vivid" memory of packing for Mrs. Roosevelt when her husband died in office in 1945, and he recalls a "very gracious note of thanks."

Last week the President and Mrs. Eisenhower gave a White House luncheon for Crim and his wife, and he talks about it as "a very wonderful thing for them to have done."

But what about the politics of a man in Crim's position? How he votes is his secret, Crim says, and adds with a twinkle in his eyes:

"I have had the pleasure of serving in the White House under two Republicans and two Democrats. I have liked them all."

MSU's Dean Muelder Resigns Post Today

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams today accepted the resignation of Dr. Milton E. Muelder, Dean of the School of Science and Arts at Michigan State University, as a member of the State Civil Service Commission.

Muelder has been a commission member since 1951.

Williams said he accepted the resignation, tendered by Muelder, because of the pressure of MSU affairs, "with real regret."
