Ike Lauds Pontiac on Eve of S-D Day

If you're a member of Pontiac's "Army of 10,000," having pledged to make S-D Day free of all traffic accidents for 24-hours beginning midnight tonight, you were congratulated by President Eisenhower this morning.

Secretary to the President, Thomas E. Stephens, lauded Pontiac in a telegram forwarded to the Pontiac Press today, in which he quotes the President as most appreciative of the splendid record of Pontiac in the Safe Driving Day campaign.

Headed by Clyde R. Haskill, local S-D Day chairman, volunteers, up until noon today, had collected some 14,000 names, all pledging utmost care as pedestrians and motorists tomorrow.

The impressive, 125-foot scroll is expected to reach the President tomorrow when the entire nation will be out to battle the cause of traffic deaths on roads, highways and streets.

However, this national battle will be spearheaded by Pontiac's Army of 10,000, as indicated by the city's intensive campaign in the past week to lead the nation in a fight on a common foe which claimed more lives last year than in the entire Korean war.

"With such support as we have received," said Haskill, "Pontiac is assured the safe record for Wednesday. We must place great effort upon ourselves on Wednesday to make our pledge a reality. Pontiac motorists and pedestrians have made that pledge. Let's keep it."

Meanwhile, petitioning will continue till this evening. Then the scroll will be expressed to President Ike.

(Petitioners are requested to return copies with the signatures either to Haskill at 1 Mt. Clemens St., The Pontiac Press, or the Police department's traffic bureau by 5:30 p.m. today.)

Other agencies will be pouring great cooperation toward tomorrow's dramatic challenge.

Police Chief Herbert W. Straley has ordered his officers to continue the enforcement policy of the department in issuing tickets to traffic violators.

In addition officers have been requested to make warning stops for all violations no matter how minor the infraction.

"This warning procedure will receive maximum emphasis tomorrow as a part of the nationwide demonstration," said Straley.

He added that all the department's available men would be assigned to traffic tomorrow to help prevent accidents.

Schools and churches will ring their bells and factory whistles will blast reminders of the safety message.

School District Lets Contract for 2 Buildings

Whitfield, Lake Street Projects to Be Ready for Use in Fall

Pontiac Board of Education inaugurated its new 10-year, $9 million building program last night by:

Awarding contracts for the new Lake Street school and an addition to the Daniel Whitfield Elementary School; and Authorizing $2,100,000 worth of school bonds to be offered for sale in January.

Contracts were awarded to R. N. Hickson, Pontiac builder, who was low bidder. His combined bid for the two schools was $270,198, and includes an alternate figure of $1,500 for aluminum sash for the buildings.

Plans call for completing the new school and the addition by next September.

Action taken last night is under the increased millage proposal endorsed by school voters June 14. The total program over a decade will build new schools, rehabilitate existing buildings and provide extra money for operation.

The resolution unanimously adopted last night "comes as near to an unlimited tax bond as is possible," Louis Schimmel, board treasurer.

Stating that it allows complete flexibility for the Pontiac district in its building program, Schimmel pointed out the resolution provides that the interest will not exceed two and one-half per cent claiming that it will probably be much lower.

Cecil J. Cox, assistant superintendent of schools, asked the board to note that this costs means about $21,000 per classroom.

"This is a noteworthy figure when formerly we paid from $25,000 to well up in the $30,000 per classroom," he said.

Henry C. Haberkorn of the architectural firm of H. E. Beyster Associates, gave a review of the buildings stating that Whitfield will have two kindergarten rooms, five classrooms, a teachers room, and connected covered passageway the present school.

The Lake St. School, said Haberkorn, will consist of two kindergartens, eight primary classrooms, an office, clinic, teachers' room, boiler room. This school has been designed to allow for future expansion of classrooms and a multipurpose room.

Classrooms are self-contained in both schools and similar facilities include lighted sky domes, storage cabinets, display boards, teacher's closet, double sink, workbenches for group study and cloak closets for each room. The wall between classroom and corridor in its upper section will be of glass strips. This enables greater natural lighting.

Dr. Dana F. Whitmer, Pontiac superintendent, pointed out that the Lake Street School is not permanently named as such.

"We are only using that as a designation now. It is our hope that the young boys and girls who attend that school will select their own name sometime during the first year they are in the building," he said.

Bubbling With Christmas Spirit

ALL GUMMED UP—When the Children's Aid Society "Angel Choir" posed in New York for a Voight, 5, blew up a slight disturbance, as recorded above.

Gov. Williams Sending 18,000 Christmas Cards

LANSING (UP)—Ink flowed like water at the State Capitol today as 15 pairs of hands scribbled messages to a record 18,000 persons who will be able to say "I got a Christmas card from the governor."

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who ordered 12,000 cards last June and then ordered 6,000 more after the election, will send cards to Democratic faithful at the county level on up, and to President Eisenhower and members of the U.S. Supreme Court.

"The governor sends out more and more each year," Jane Vandenberg, who is in charge of "Operation Address" this year, said.

Williams mailed 2,000 during his first year in office. Some 14,000 were sent out last year.

Executive secretaries aren't revealing the text of the governor's message but say it is similar to the 1953 cards.

Shah Says Iran Requires Help

Western Aid Needed to Preserve Nation as Anti-Red Bastion

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Shah of Iran said today that "timely help" by the Western powers is needed to preserve Iran as a strategic Middle East bastion against the advance of communism.

The 34-year-old ruler said that Iran will defend itself against any aggression, but requires both military and economic aid to bolster its defenses.

Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi arrived in Washington Monday on a state visit with his 22-year-old auburn-haired empress and conferred with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Informed sources described Iran as the "vital key" that would bring into being a defensive military alliance extending across the southern boundary of Communist Russia from the Black Sea into Southeast Asia.

Officials said the present U. S. Iran talks, however, are only "informal and exploratory."

They said that it would be premature to expect any immediate action on the part of Iran to join the present Turkey-Pakistan defense arrangement, but that such a move may come in the not-too-distant future.

The 34-year-old Iranian ruler, who is in Washington for a three-day visit before beginning an extended rest at Sun Valley, Idaho, and in Florida, scheduled mutual defense discussions with top U.S. defense and foreign policy officials at the Pentagon.

Pontiac Production Will Hit All-Time High in December

A new all-time high production record will be achieved this month at Pontiac Motor Division, it was revealed today by R. M. Critchfield, General Motors vice president and general manager at Pontiac.

Although he did not quote a total for the December production schedule, Ward's Automotive Reports gives the previous monthly high for Pontiac as just over 47,000 units, in June, 1950.

Since the 1955 model year began, Pontiac has set three new weekly production records. Output for the week ending Oct. 23 was 11,367, while 11,289 cars left the assembly line during the week of Oct. 31.

Last week's production totaled 11,232 units. Attributing this to the enthusiastic public acceptance of the new Pontiacs, Critchfield said, "Our high production schedules have been necessitated by unprecedented high demand for the 1955 Pontiac."

"Starting with announcement of our new model on Oct. 29, our dealers had delivered in excess of 50,000 new cars by the end of November."

"A dealers' stock averaged less than two cars per dealer on Nov. 30, and despite capacity production, the backlog of dealer orders has continued to increase."

He added that production line workers at the Pontiac plant had done "an outstanding job" in reaching a new all-time high rate only three months after the new models were introduced.

Critchfield credited a smoothly coordinated program between plant personnel and the machine tool manufacturers for accomplishing the retooling for 1955 models with a minimum interruption of production.

Production schedules at Pontiac, according to the Ward report, are running 15 to 20 per cent ahead of last year.

So far this model year, Pontiac production has amounted to 9.5 per cent of the total for the industry, as compared with about 6.6 per cent for the 1954 model year.

And while Pontiac ranked sixth in sales during the 1954 model year, Ward's reports that Pontiac is currently fourth in production of 1955 models, right behind the three leaders in the low-price class.

Peiping Blasts U.S. for Holding Chinese Youths

America Prevents 35 Skilled Scholars From Returning Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today ruled out any deal with Red China to swap 35 Chinese students in America for the 11 U.S. airmen imprisoned inside China.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White told newsmen: "There will be no deal."

White's comments came in reply to questions about a Peiping radio broadcast which carried a broad hint that Red China was trying to coax the United States into a deal.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Diplomats speculated today that Peiping's renewed protests over United States detention of 35 Chinese students might be a hint that Red China wants to use them as a base for bargaining on the release of 11 American airmen it holds on spy charges.

Peiping radio said last night the United States would be flouting international law if it held the 35 in retaliation for the jailing of the airmen.

Linking of the two cases in the same broadcast led many U.N. delegates to wonder if Peiping was putting out feelers to see whether the United States would be willing to make some sort of a trade.

Some 4,500 Chinese students were in the United States when the Chinese Reds entered the Korean War. Of those who wanted to go home, 353 have since been released.

But the State Department has not let the 35 leave the country because they had acquired skills in the United States that might be useful to the Communists.

U. N. officials said Hammar-Hammar had reported still hopeful the Chinese would accept his bid to go to Peiping to plead for the fliers.

U. N. officials said Hammar-Hammar had derived encouragement from the fact that Peiping radio's two blasts against the airmen in the past two days had made no mention of his proposed visit or to the Assembly resolution denouncing their jailing by the Chinese.

Persons close to Hammar-Hammar said he had not expected (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

State Concludes Sam's Quizzing

Sheppard Emphatically Denies Killing Wife and Inflicting Own Injuries

CLEVELAND (AP)—The cross-examination of Dr. Samuel Sheppard ended today with an assertion by the state's attorney that he killed his wife and inflicted his injuries on himself.

"That is absolutely untrue—and unfair," Sheppard replied. "This was the only time in the long cross-examination that the accused man raised his voice."

The state's attorney, John J. Mahon, had asked Sheppard:

"Now, those injuries you received, Doctor, didn't you receive those from jumping off that platform onto the beach?"

"No, sir," Sheppard answered. "I think that would be impossible." As a brain surgeon he gave his reasons for that answer. He said there would have to be an injury on the top of the head as well. The top of his head was not injured, although he claimed to have a damage to the vertebra in his neck.

"Isn't it a fact that you beat your wife that morning," Mahon thundered, "and after you killed her you rushed down those steps toward the beach and fell or jumped and injured yourself?" Sheppard delivered his emphatic denial.

NATO Restrictions Seen on A-Weapons

PARIS (INS)—Strong indications developed today that political leaders will restrict any wartime ability of NATO Supreme Commander Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther to use atomic tactical weapons which the United States is supplying to defend western Europe.

Several European representatives in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization predicted that Gruenther's recommendation for authority to exercise his own discretion concerning use of atomic cannon and guided missiles immediately in event of war will be denied by the Atlantic Council.

The British reliably were reported to believe that supreme headquarters should not be permitted to use atomic tactical weapons without authorization of all NATO members.

The council starts a two-day session Friday.

Standing Room Only

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Police tried desperately to find a witness to the tavern gunbattle in which Gabriel C. Guerra, 22, was killed.

"There must have been 50 people in the tavern," reported Lt. Merle Wells. "But they all say they were in the restroom."

Report Little Optimism Pope's Condition Grave After Anxious Days, Nights

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A Vatican press spokesman announced that two physicians who examined Pope Pius XII this morning reported his condition "stationary."

Earlier a source close to the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church reported he had weakened perceptibly in the past 48 hours and his doctors fear he is threatened by anemia.

The press spokesman's announcement was the first time that the Vatican had not reported continued slow improvement since the pontiff rallied from his serious collapse 12 days ago with a gastric ailment.

Official reports in the past have been inclined to minimize the seriousness of his condition.

The source who reported that the Pope had grown weaker said he had been able to take only small spoonfuls of food by mouth the past two days. He said more nutrition had been given, with difficulty, by tube.

The Pope also was said to have spent a somewhat less restful night last night.

The Pope was examined this morning by his personal physician, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, and Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini, of Bologna, an expert in stomach diseases.

Reliable sources said that in the Vatican secretariat of state there was "a noticeable absence of optimism."

Police Investigating Indictment Tip-Off

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (INS)—Officers are investigating a leak that tipped off Attorney General J. Edgar Hoover that he had been indicted for first-degree murder in the Albert L. Patterson slaying before the special Russell Grand Jury issued its report last Thursday.

Russell County Sheriff Lamar Murphy, contacted last night after he returned from serving the indictment in Galveston, Tex., said he wonders how news of the grand jury's decision reached Garrett so far in advance.

Sheriff Murphy said Dr. Hamilton Ford, Garrett's physician, told him a member of Garrett's family had called Ford Thursday morning telling him of the grand jury action.

The indictments were not given to special Russell Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones until Thursday afternoon. Under Alabama law, the names of persons under indictment must remain secret until arrests are made.

Mother, 20, Dies After Accident

Mrs. Donna McClusky Injured Fatally; Driver Is Being Held

A 20-year-old Waterford Township expectant mother died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital at 5 p.m. yesterday, of injuries suffered three hours earlier in a two-car collision at Pontiac Lake and Scott Lake Rds.

Hospital attendants said the victim, Mrs. Donna McClusky, of 7785 Chrysler, had a possible skull fracture and spinal injuries.

Held today for investigation of a negligent homicide is Neil A. Erikson, 28, on temporary leave from the Army and temporarily residing at 995 LaSalle Ave. A passenger with Erikson, Chester Gravelle, 28, of the Pontiac Hotel, was jailed on a drunk and disorderly charge.

Mrs. McClusky's husband, Danny, 23, who was driving the family car west on Pontiac Lake road, was treated for cuts, and his son, David, 16 months, received forehead bruises.

Patrolmen Millard Pender and Merrill Finkle said that Erikson's auto, traveling south on Scott Lake road, apparently ran a stop sign and crashed into the side of the McClusky auto.

Erikson and Gravelle were treated at Pontiac General Hospital for minor injuries before being transferred to Oakland County Jail.

Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor said that he would order an autopsy for Mrs. McClusky to determine the exact cause of death.

Commissioners Discuss Parking Lot Bond Issue

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — City Commissioners went into closed session following last night's meeting, presumably to discuss a bond ordinance to be presented next week for a revenue bond issue totaling $400,000 for off-street parking lots, bringing a third parking lot into the picture.

The bond issue, touched on briefly at the regular meeting, spells out the number of lots to be financed. Indicated in the ordinance is the fact that a third lot would be located between Woodward and Hunter, on either the north or south side of Hamilton street.

This is in addition to the proposed $25,000 lot to accommodate 225 cars on Pierce between Martin and Brown and a 41 car lot now being considered for Martin, extending east from Bates. A round-sum of $100,000 has been mentioned in connection with the smaller lot.

A detailed breakdown of construction costs of the Pierce street lot was submitted by City Engineer L. R. Gare and raised the Pierce lot cost another $10,000. Making up half the difference was a $5,000 figure shown in connection with removal of 10 existing buildings from the site. This was listed as a variable. Land acquisition is also responsible for the increase in cost.

Commissioners approved a possible layout submitted for the 41 car lot, which City Manager Donald C. Egbert will pursue further before presenting detailed cost estimates.

Is it possible to go a full 24 hours with no traffic accidents? The nations' drivers and pedestrians will be put to the test at midnight tonight, the day President Eisenhower has designated as "Safe Driving Day."

This starts an extensive two-week campaign, "the most dangerous two weeks of the year," according to Police Chief Ralph W. Massey.

"In Birmingham on an average week day this time of year, we have about three traffic accidents of all types. These accidents don't have to happen and wouldn't if every citizen would drive and walk as he would have everyone else drive and walk. Remember S-D Day and then make every day your S-D Day," asked Massey.

Evening hours started this week and will continue through Dec. 23 in the majority of Birmingham's stores. Charles Mortensen, Chamber of Commerce manager said yesterday. Those maintaining late hours will remain open until either 9 or 8:30 p. m. every day, Mortensen said.

Annual Christmas show and display of the local branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Assn. will be held from 2 to 9 p. m. tomorrow at the Community House. Mrs. Clyde Hagerman will use a Della Robbia wreath as the motif for the serving table, with punch served to members and friends during the decorative showing. Nominees will be announced for the coming year and then Sodality for a moment of prayer for the success of the event.

Tonight at midnight residents will assume an unprecedented responsibility—no traffic accidents—not even one.

Will the notorious foe which took 38,300 American lives last year mar the purpose of the President's proclaimed S-D Day? Or will such unanimous demonstrations—as Pontiac's "Army of 10,000" win its stirring battle, you will know the answer to that question.

What Religion Means to Our Family
Jacobsons Place Faith in Lead Role in Everyday Living

By LULA B. OGDEN

"Religion is one of my most important means and reasons for living," said Joe Jacobson of 215 S. Marshall St.
"It supplements the gaps between my business, recreational and social life with a meaningful purpose to live a full life.
As I must work to sustain my body, so I must pray each day in my synagogue Congregation B'Nai Israel, to sustain my mind with a feeling of ease and contentment."

"I believe religion should be one of the leading factors in any family life. Because of this belief I have tried to lead my family in observing the teachings and practices of Judaism, the faith of my fathers.
"At each holiday it is the practice of my family to attend religious services at the synagogue and also to have family observance of the holiday for the entire family at home.
"Even the youngest members of the family are encouraged to enter into the holiday mood by asking questions pertaining to the holiday or by performing a religious rite such as lighting the Chanukah candles and saying a prayer over them.

"From youthful interest to adult understanding of religion is but a short step aided by teachers and parents. Religion presents a wonderful means for a three-way relationship between child, parent and God.

"Through the question of the child and the seeking of an explanation by the parents, each finds a deeper security in life by forming a faith and trust in each other and in God.
"Religion helps give each of us a moral code for daily living; the Ten Commandments to follow in my dealings with my fellow men. It helps give our entire family a way of inner strength and peace to enable us to live in contentment with ourselves, with others and with God.

"This to me is the meaning of religion," he said.
Chanukah this year begins with Dec. 19 and continues for eight days. It commemorates the Jewish victory against the demoralizing and oppressing Syrians and ancient Greeks who aimed to eradicate Judaism.

After Jewish soldiers victoriously entered Jerusalem, they cleansed, repaired and rededicated the temple. It was at this time that the priests prepared to kindle the perpetual light, the Menorah.

It is still the practice to light a candle, increasing the light each day during Chanukah. The ninth candle, the "shamash," is not counted but is used to light the other eight.
The Chanukah lights are displayed as a symbol of freedom.

The new home, a sprawling, ranch-type building, is completely equipped with the latest appliances and fixtures. Wolfe, his wife and their daughters, 4 and 5, had lived in a rented two-story house in central Harrisburg.

"The best part of the whole thing is that now I can manage to get around my home because it is all on one floor," Bob said.
"They tell me that the money was donated in everything from nickels and dimes to large bills," he said.

"Along those lines I figure at least 50,000 persons had a hand in this.

Schools Accept Offer for Site

Land for Linda Vista Building Is Acquired for $2,500 an Acre

Offer of $2,500 an acre for a 10-acre school site for the proposed Linda Vista School in the East Boulevard-Mt. Clemens - Perry Street area was accepted by the Pontiac Board of Education last night.

Original asking price for the land was $6,500 an acre. When earlier negotiations on the price brought no agreement the school trustees decided the $2,500 was a reasonable offer.

The site is owned by a Detroit syndicate of land developers, represented by Willis M. Brewer, who also holds an interest in the land. The owners said their first opposition to disposing of the site was because of their plans for a residential development.

School district's appraisal of the land, in preparation for appearance in court, set the value at $1,350 an acre. Because the latest offer will avoid cost of condemnation action, the school trustees decided the $2,500 was a reasonable offer.

The board's attorney, Harold W. Dudley was authorized to close the transaction.

Board President Glenn H. Griffin and Robert B. Oliver, board member, pointed out that the time saved by avoiding court action is important. It is hoped to have the new school ready by next fall.

Request by sellers of the property that the school district assume cost of developing two roads adjacent to the site was denied, as school trustees assert the district is not obligated to build roads.

Teachers' Pay Rising

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UP) — The Iowa Historical Society found that today's teachers are well paid compared with salaries of educators of 100 years ago.

The average salary of men teachers in 1854 was $19.73 a month, the society said. Women teachers averaged $9.79 a month.

Talk Up America, Not Communists, Wilson Tells Club

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson called upon Americans today to speak out more about their own strength and political ideals and less about the power and beliefs of Soviet Russia.
"The United States is strong and is growing stronger," Wilson said, and if the United States and its allies are willing to maintain reasonable military strength the Communists "may stop their aggression and not precipitate a war they cannot win."

In a speech before the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce last night, the defense chief underlined a favorite theme of his when he said "Too much has been said about the rising power of the Soviets and too little about our own strength."

Wilson said the United States must maintain air power of all kinds "second to none" in quality and striking potential.

"The safety of our nation depends upon... keeping our air power out ahead," he said.

Smokeless Smoke

FORT HOOD, Tex. (UP)—Pfc. Sidney L. Smoke, a mechanic in the motor pool of the 141st Armored Signal Co., First Armored Division, has a ready answer when buddies ask him for a smoke. "Sorry, quit smoking three days ago."

You Shouldn't Feel Guilty If You Don't Like Reading

By LAURA E. HOBSON
NEW YORK (INS)—All my fellow authors in America may now charge me with mutiny or mayhem, treason or heresy, but I do wish people who don't really like books would quit feeling so guilty and ashamed about it. "You seem to read every single thing that comes out," some people say to me, a touch of envy in their voices. "How can you ever find the time?" Before I can answer, of course, they always rush right on to some other topic, the way folks usually do when they ask, "Did you have lots of fun on your vacation?" In either case, the real lowdown would bore the living daylight out of them in about 60 seconds flat, but in the case of books and reading, there's another reason they won't stand still for an answer. I'm probably fooling myself, but I think I know what that other reason is. I've been hearing that question for a mighty long time—long before I left business to become an author, long before I began reading even more than usual for this column, and certainly long before I began doing my monthly book page, "Thumbing Through," for Good Housekeeping magazine.

And my hunch is that they know the answer about "time for reading" and don't want to face it. My hunch is that that's just where the guilt comes in.

For nearly all sensible people know you always find the time for the things you absolutely can't live without doing.

They know, in other words, it's not a question of "time" at all, but of desire, need, longing, compulsion—call it what you will. For some folks that means looking at every television show there is, or going to every movie that comes to town, or golfing or sewing or fixing things around the house the minute they need repairs.

For other folks it means listening to music, or going to museums to look at great masterpieces, or tending the flower bed in the front yard.

Still others like to put in their leisure time in card games or visiting around or getting into the car and going for a drive.

And why not? What inverted snobbery is there that makes so many folks feel that the pursuit of certain hobbies isn't "quite as classy" as the pursuit of others?

I'm not going to be a hypocrite and pretend that I'd find just as much inner joy and abiding pleasure in shooting a good golf game as in reading a good book. But that's me, not somebody else—and I don't apologize to that somebody else for a minute!

One of my own pet dislikes has been that man or woman who pretends to enthusiasm he really can't feel, merely because he or she thinks "it's the thing to do."

And it's usually one of those, I believe, who enviously ask me how I find the time to "read every single thing that comes out."

The born book reader never asks such a query. He's got his nose in a book, and just isn't interested in how it got there.

You can recognize these born book readers, and you may possibly envy the pleasure they seem to be having—but I can't see why you should needle yourself for not finding the same amount of pleasure when you start a book.

"To think own self be true," said Shakespeare—and you don't even have to be a book reader to know it. You might have seen "Hamlet" on the stage, in the movies, or on TV!

Bob Considine Says:Synthetic Trees Deserve Pre-Christmas Burning

NEW YORK (INS)—Haven't had much chance to do any Christmas shopping of late, but I notice that the synthetic Christmas tree is continuing to make strides against civilization and tradition.

You know the so-called "tree" I mean. It is generally as thin and gaunt as an El Greco and spray-painted in glacial blue or dead white, or almost any other color than the one which the Almighty thought was a pretty good color for trees—green.

I think they're made of plastic. Though they generally have the shape of real trees, they singularly resemble every clipped and dyed French poodle.

The only glazed tree we ever had, when I was a kid, wasn't permanently disfigured. Once, while the whole family huddled happily for warmth in the dining room, a water pipe broke in our sub-Arctic living room and sprayed water all over our tree.

Winters must have been more severe then, or coal less abundant. Anyway, the water froze and when we braved our way into the living room for one last look at the tree before turning in, lo and behold—it was silvered with ice and agitter with tiny icicles.

But as soon as we breathed on it, it returned to its fine normal state of greenness and regained its fine aroma—balling perhaps, the birth of the chlorophyll age.

I suppose the modernistic Christmas tree comes in all scents—Chanel No. 5, Shocking, Tabu, Sortilege and Aqua Valva. Naturally, the natural scent of a Christmas tree from the fields wouldn't do, any more than would the falling needles.

These new-fangled trees don't even have a "bad side." I remember as a kid that all of our trees always had a side that was to be politely deplored. My brothers and I would spend some time shopping around for the best tree available at 25 cents.

But no matter how well we searched, my mother usually could find a "bad side." I can still hear her voice, as I lay under the tree enfolded by its tangy lower branches, saying, "Turn it just a little . . . just a little more . . . so the bad side is to the wall."

When the job was done we'd all feel a surge of accomplishment that we had presented the tree in its best possible light, its "bad side" thoroughly concealed from the eyes of the prying.

I wonder what my mother's cats would have thought about these new plastic trees, coated as they are with old match-heads, or blue cheese or whatever it is? The cats would have complained bitterly, I suspect. They loved our trees and climbed them ever so carefully.

Our cats became additional ornaments on our trees, and we liked them up there, though casual acquaintances visiting my mother were sometimes startled to see a family of felines roosting about the limbs among holy pictures and tinsel.

There was something else about my mother's Christmas trees. I think I've mentioned it before. She had a horror (still does) about taking them down.

Along about the end of January, we'd bring into the house only such friends as understood that Christmas around our house was something different—not a thing so switch on and off like an electric light . . . if we had electric lights at that time.

About mid-February, my mother would say, was the real time to begin enjoying the tree. It would be pretty sparse by then, having shed a majority of its needles, but its beauty daily increased in my mother's mind.

Sometimes there was a hint of spring in the air before she'd reluctantly pack away the treasured old ornaments and let us take out the tree and burn it.

There was never any trouble burning it. It was the driest wood in town . . . and the best beloved. Can you imagine burning these new-type Christmas trees? Well, I can . . . and I think a good time for the bonfire would be before Christmas.

Commits Suicide Neatly

VERDON, Neb., (U)—Acting Coroner B. T. Clark said that after Simon Skates, 50, shot himself in the heart with a rifle he apparently ejected the empty shell, carefully set the rifle on end in a corner and then lay down on his bed to die. His body was found the next day.

200 Students Preparing for Concert Wednesday

An Easterner came to the Pontiac area to teach and liked it so well that she had a few things to say to her parents back in Massachusetts.

It wasn't long before Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Davis joined their daughter, Helen in their new home on Edgely drive. Helen M. Davis is vocal music instructor at Waterford High School who is just a little more than very busy these pre-holiday hours preparing her 200 singers for their annual Christmas concert.

Wednesday evening is the date set for "Legends of Christmas" which will be held at 8:15 p.m. in Waterford High School auditorium — and Miss Davis is pleased with the interest of her students which has resulted in excellent musical progress in Pontiac's young neighboring school.

Miss Davis handles the 200 voices singlehanded and that means many hours outside of regular classroom sessions. Her group includes the a capella choir of 60 voices; the boys glee club; the girls glee club and the girls chorus of 60 after school volunteers.

In addition, there is a selected junior girls ensemble, a selected senior girls ensemble and a selected boys ensemble.

"Legends of Christmas" will be divided into three groups, according to the director. The a capella choir will lead off with selections from Handel's "Messiah" followed by traditional carols by the glee clubs. Modern Christmas music in America today will set the theme for the third part.

Miss Davis comes to Pontiac and Waterford well prepared to face the challenge of interesting young people in the enjoyment of singing together.

After graduating from Ithaca College in New York, Miss Davis came to University of Michigan for post graduate work in her chosen field of music education. She taught instrumental and vocal music in the grade school of Sufferin.

Although the study of music has not been traditional in the Davis family, the interest was acquired somewhere through the growing years.

Miss Davis' brother is French born soloist for the Birmingham Symphony Orchestra of Birmingham, Ala. and her sister-in-law plays bassoon in the Birmingham Symphony.

In speaking of her students at Waterford, Miss Davis says that she is continually amazed at the amount of talent that her students possess. She says that there is a vast amount of work to be carried out but, most important, the potential is there.

One of the major projects each year will be the presentation of an operetta. "Down in the Valley" was given in 1933, Miss Davis' first year at Waterford High School.

Miss Davis conducts her classes on the theory of individual improvement. She believes constant individual attention goes hand in hand with producing satisfactory group work.

Couple Wed in Arlington, Va. Saturday

Burton Perry Daugherty Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton P. Daugherty of Williams Lake road, claimed Jane Blanchard Kerr as his bride Saturday afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Charles Phillips Kerr of Arlington, Va. The ceremony was performed in Christ Church Georgetown, District of Columbia, with the Rev. John R. Anschutz officiating.

Jane wore a candlelight satin princess gown with heirloom rose point lace around the neckline, which was taken from the wedding gown of her grandmother.

Mrs. William Sausser of Washington, D. C., sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Margaret and Caroline Hayes, nieces of the bride from Norwich, N. Y., were junior bridesmaids.

Maj. Albert N. Bailey of Washington, D. C. was best man, and William Kerr of Arlington, and William Sausser of Washington seated the guests.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Michigan, Law School and is affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega and Phi Alpha Delta fraternities. The bride attended Guilford College, Iowa State Teachers College and graduated from Ohio State University.

Mrs. Oliver Entertains Garden Club

Rev. Claybuesch Gives Christmas Message to Group

Pontiac Branch of the Women's Farm and Garden Association met at the West Iroquois road home of Mrs. Robert Oliver Monday afternoon.

The December meeting emphasized the Christmas season, and the giving of gifts to be sent to men in service, through the Red Cross.

This year gifts will be sent to Selfridge Field, to convalescent men. Mrs. Aaron Riker is chairman of this project.

It was decided during the business session, to plant a white pine tree in the city in 1955, in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of Michigan State College and in remembrance of the great forest of pines in this state at one time. Mrs. John Fitzgerald introduced the program.

Mrs. Rebecca Gould, contralto, accompanied by Mrs. Donald B. Hogue, sang five songs, suitable to this time of year including "My Heart Ever Faithful," Bach, "He Shall Feed His Flock," Handel's "Messiah," "O Holy Night," Adam, "Christmas Candles," Warren and "Ave Maria," Schubert.

The Rev. Ward Claybuesch, curate at All Saint's Episcopal Church gave a talk on the place of the church in Christmas and the place of Christmas as it should be in the hearts of people.

He brought out the thought that there often is no room in hearts for the Christ-child, just as there was no room in the inn.

With deep meaning he spoke of Christmas as a gift from God, rather than from Santa Claus, and that in giving one must give of oneself first, with love, rather than from habit.

A tea table was arranged by Mrs. Loren Sheffield who gathered together, pine, spruce and juniper, with delicate driftwood and soft green glass, Japanese floaters.

To one side an antique pewter beaker held white chrysanthemums which was balanced on the other side with a white cathedral candle, surrounded with greens.

Mrs. Floyd Blakeslee and Mrs. C. J. Nephew were hostesses at the table. Mrs. Philip Hubbard was social chairman, assisted by Mrs. Dexter Craig, Mrs. William Hartman, Mrs. S. E. Whitfield, Mrs. Sheffield, Miss Jeanette Hubbard and Mrs. J. H. Patterson.

Bride Wears Tulle, Taffeta for Wedding on Saturday

A ballerina length gown of embroidered tulle over taffeta was worn by Marjorie Elizabeth Thompson for her marriage Saturday evening to Cpl. Charles W. Theis.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Thompson of Prall street, and he is the son of Mrs. Lola Sandage of Cameron avenue and Peter Theis of West Rundell street.

The Rev. Henry H. Savage performed the eight o'clock ceremony in Barnett Chapel of First Baptist Church, before 350 guests. The altar was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums and candles.

The bouffant skirt of the bride's gown was fashioned of embroidered tulle with a scalloped edge, over a layer of tulle ruffles.

A temple lace clip embroidered with iridescent sequins and beads secured the bride's veil of imported silk illusion and she carried an arrangement of white carnations centered with red roses. Her pearls were a gift of the bridegroom.

Judy Theis, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Sue Barks was a bridesmaid. They were gowning in wedgewood blue lace and net over taffeta.

Their headpieces were of matching velvet and they carried velvet muffs with red corsages and streamers attached.

Wayne Fisher served as best man and Cecil Buttery and Clarence Thompson seated the guests.

The bride's mother greeted her guests at a reception held in the church parlors wearing an aqua taffeta dress with charcoal accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother chose an aqua wool suit with white trim and black and white accessories.

A honeymoon in northern Michigan was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Theis, following their wedding Saturday. The bride is the former Marjorie E. Thompson, daughter of the Clarence A. Thompsons of Prall street. He is the son of Mrs. Lola Sandage of Cameron avenue and Peter Theis of West Rundell street.

Heavy Selling Lowers Grains

CHICAGO (U) — Heavy selling knocked grain prices down in actual dealings early on the Board of Trade today. The market subsequently recovered from its extreme lows but only corn could get back to the previous close.

Selling was pegged on the announcement, made after the close yesterday by Agriculture Secretary Benson, that government price supports for 1955 crop oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums would be cut to 70 per cent of parity from the 85 per cent prevailing on the 1954 crops.

Oats and rye are the only two of these grains traded on the Board. They suffered declines of several cents. Losses in other grains were largely in sympathy with the break in oats and rye.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/4 to 1/2 lower, December $2.24; corn unchanged to 1/4 lower, December $1.52 1/2; oats 1/4 to 1/2 lower, December 80 1/2; rye 1/4 to 1/2 lower, December $1.14 1/2; soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 lower, January $2.75; and 70 to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, December $13.40.
