Ecstatic Republicans Clamor for Ike-Nixon Crusade Team

But State GOP Must Work

'Cobo Can Win'--Wilson

By ROBERT B. TARR
Managing Editor, Pontiac Press

SAN FRANCISCO — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson told Michigan delegates to the Republican Convention yesterday:

1. That his esteem and confidence for the President continues to increase after three and a half years;

2. Vice President Nixon has his unqualified support;

3. He believes Michigan Republicans can elect Albert Cobo governor if they work at it.

4. And he probably will take little active part in the coming campaign because he believes the office of national defense "should be above and beyond partisan politics."

Wilson and Arthur E. Summerfield, postmaster general, attended a caucus of the Michigan delegation yesterday noon.

"I am devoted to President Eisenhower because I believe fully in his policies and his philosophy. I have utmost confidence in his great experience in national affairs and his ability in organizing people for the jobs to be done. After three and a half years my esteem and confidence in him has continued to increase."

Speaking of defense matters, Wilson said differences within the department had been exaggerated and added "We are making progress in the right direction. Our President knows we are a peace loving people. Through our strength we hope to preserve peace, even an uneasy peace, long enough to permit men of good will to establish a lasting peace. That is our purpose."

Touching upon the importance of electing the right men to state offices, he said: "I once told Mr. Cobo I hoped to call him governor some day. I think if you get out and work you can elect him governor of Michigan this fall. It is very important that you have a good working majority in your legislature."

Then the defense secretary added this observation: "I am an old salesman and an old engineer. When I had a good product to offer I talked a lot about it, and did not pay much attention to any inferior competition. But remember I don't really know much about this business of politics."

SPECIFIES STEPS

Commenting further on the Defense Department he stressed that all big jobs must depend on people and organization. He specified four important steps:

1. Clarify the problems; 2. Fix responsibility; 3. Simplify organization; 4. Avoid too much concentration of stupidity.

His endorsement of Vice President Nixon came in reply to a question from the floor. He said: "I have a great admiration for the vice president. I have watched him closely for the past three and a half years and I know nothing bad about him whatever. I am for him."

Asked if he planned to take much part in the coming campaign, Wilson said: "I don't think so. I believe the defense of the nation should always be above and beyond partisan politics. Whether we are dealing with either party we want to sell defense on its own merits."

On the matter of better pay and other inducements for men in service he said progress is being made and the rate of re-enlistment is going up.

"I have always believed in treating people right and in presenting the proper incentive to good service."

Sen. Charles E. Potter spoke briefly and revealed that Vice President Nixon has invited him to make one of the seconding speeches for Nixon's nomination.

"I greatly admire our vice president and I am honored to make such a seconding speech," Potter said. "Aside from our personal friendship, I believe Dick Nixon is the best qualified man for the job."

Summerfield stressed the importance of the coming election, saying it will take four more years to complete the overall program of the administration. "And in four more years America will be in position to enter the greatest period of prosperity we have ever known," he said.

But he stressed that "we will win no election in Washington. The election must be won in the precincts, towns and counties of our state."

Frank Millard, general counsel of the army, and David Kendall, assistant secretary of the treasury, also were introduced at the caucus.

Petition Asks Howard Moore Sanity Hearing

Find Tire Iron in Field; Checking It for Possible Prints, Bloodstains

A petition requesting a sanity test for Howard W. Moore, accused rape-slayer of three-year-old Martha Little, was lodged today at the Oakland County Prosecutor's office by Moore's attorney, Carl Ingraham of Birmingham.

Prosecutor Fred Ziem said the petition asked that the Circuit Court fix a time and place and appoint two physicians to conduct the examination.

"The court will probably sign the order tomorrow. It is up to them to set the time and place and make the arrangements," Ziem said.

Meanwhile, another new development in the murder was the finding of a tire iron in a field near Lake Orion yesterday.

Det. Jack Davis, of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, said the iron would be given a thorough check for any possible bloodstains.

He said it would be almost impossible to find any fingerprints on the iron since it apparently had been outside too long.

Davis was also planning to show the iron to some local automobile dealers in hopes of determining what type of a car it would normally be used with.

Moore once maintained that he used a tire iron to kill the girl, but no such instrument had ever been found anywhere near the Independence Township field where Martha's body was discovered July 28.

The rusty iron, which could be called a jack handle, was found by people working in a field yesterday afternoon at a subdivision outside of Lake Orion.

Moore had confessed to the murder following the discovery of the girl's body, but later changed his mind saying he didn't think he was capable of such an act.

Dope Suspects Are Bound Over

Face Circuit Hearings on Narcotic Possession and Conspiracy

The pre-trial examinations of 15 suspects in an alleged dope conspiracy ended today when three defendants were bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court.

Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum dismissed conspiracy charges against the other suspects for lack of evidence.

He denied a defense motion to drop all charges. McCallum bound over Eddie May Yates, 28, and Paul Baity, 27, on charges of possession of narcotics.

William S. Tyms, 22, was bound over on a charge of conspiring with Miss Yates and Baity to violate state narcotics laws. Miss Yates and Baity also were bound over on the conspiracy charge as a second count.

The three will be arraigned at 9 a.m. Monday.

Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor, who presented the evidence, named the refusal of Miss Yates and Baity to testify as the main reason the case failed against the other suspects.

Miss Yates and Baity both were named during the examinations as users and sellers of dope in the city's southwest area. It was expected that they would tell how the other suspects bought dope from them.

Tyms was bound over on the strength of evidence that he purchased dope from Baity and Miss Yates. McCallum placed Tyms under $1,000 bond and set $5,000 bonds for Baity and Miss Yates.

Mayor Pays Ike Visit

Spotlight for Cobo Sought at Frisco

By ROGER LANE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Hours after his arrival, Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo was hustled today by Michigan backers toward a conference with President Eisenhower and a spotlighted role at the Republican National Convention.

Shortly before Cobo's plane touched down at San Francisco International Airport, Eisenhower's staff announced that Cobo was one of eight persons on the President's Wednesday morning appointment list.

Cobo's visit was scheduled for 1:15 p.m. (EST).

The Detroit chief executive, Republican hope to break the gubernatorial tenure of Democrat G. Mennen Williams after eight years, received a rousing welcome at the airport last night.

Nearly 100 delegates, alternates and delegation guests from Michigan shouted and hollered as the mayor's plane taxied to the unloading apron. Some waved white placards with "Cobo" imprinted in blue.

At a news conference, Cobo said he hoped to bring to Michigan the same kind of administration that President Eisenhower brought to Washington.

He said he would not try to dictate selections to fill out the state ticket when Republicans meet in state convention Aug. 31-Sept. 1 for this purpose.

"I'm not going to lay down any group that I want nominated," he said. But Cobo made it plain he would turn thumbs down on anyone suggested that he felt would be out of step with his aims.

He expressed confidence that Eisenhower will carry the state in November, and added: "I believe I have a good chance too."

Cobo, who never before has attended a national convention, said his purpose in coming was "to meet the President and be with the Michigan delegation."

National Committeeman Clifford O'Sullivan and John Feikens, state chairman, greeted Cobo as he stepped from the plane. They escorted him to a downtown hotel adjacent to

Pontiac OKs Intervention in Grand Trunk Yard Suit

Pontiac City Attorney William A. Ewart was given the green light last night by the City Commission to step into the Grand Trunk Railway condemnation suit filed to force acceptance of an industrial support yard in the north end of the city.

The commission unanimously passed a resolution instructing Ewart to petition the Oakland County Circuit Court to intervene in the case by presenting "the city's side of this problem on the issue of necessity."

In the suit filed last week, Grand Trunk officials asked the court to determine necessity of the project and the amount of compensation to be paid to owners of two half-acre lots on Walton boulevard needed to complete the $700,000 yard.

The commissioners have stymied the project because they say it will interfere with the extension of two city streets north to Walton boulevard. The extension, planned for more than two years, is to cut the congestion on Baldwin avenue during rush hours.

Ewart was further authorized to present to the court the city's recommended relocation of the yard to the southwest of the suggested site. This would permit the city to proceed with its road program, city officials point out.

AWAITING REPORT

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles, who moved the adoption of the resolution, said: "Although it doesn't bring suit against the city, we have a definite interest in it."

City Manager Walter K. Willman is awaiting a report from a railroad planning expert hired by the city to study the prospects of the two sites being considered for the railroad yard.

The 3,000 by 300 foot yard is planned for an area south of Walton boulevard, north of the railroad's belt line, and between Stanley and Baldwin.

Nomination Ceremonies Could Be Marred With Stassen Opposition

SAN FRANCISCO, (INS) — President Eisenhower announced today that Harold E. Stassen will second the nomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

He told a news conference that Stassen withdrew his opposition to Nixon after becoming convinced that there is overwhelming sentiment in Nixon's favor at the GOP convention.

By JAMES LEE

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) —Strongly united and aggressively confident Republicans nominate President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon today as second term leaders of a crusade for a "brighter tomorrow."

Nothing short of such a catastrophe as the San Francisco earthquake and fire of 50 years ago could prevent the naming of the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket at the GOP convention in the mammoth Cow Palace late this afternoon or evening.

Stassen seeks a last-minute appointment in the presidential suite at the St. Francis Hotel where Ike has taken active command of GOP strategy.

The White House disarmament adviser also has demanded an opportunity to carry his anti-Nixon effort to the convention floor.

Perch on top of the Empire State Building for a month with a pair of binoculars . . . or pitch a tent in Central Park and become a taxi driver.

Either way, a well-read member of The Pontiac Press Theater Special could match you in information about points of interest—and probably top you if he or she is a thorough peruser of travel folders.

This treasury of information about the off-beat and the spectacular is included in a special packet of pamphlets currently being assembled for each of the 100 Pontiac-area residents who will visit New York City next month.

Curious about where the world's largest fish market is located, or when Grant's Tomb was dedicated? Ask a Theater Special member.

From the same source you can also find out where China Town stops and "Western civilization" begins, where the most economical restaurants are located and how many people can sit in Madison Square Garden at one time.

These and hundreds of other bits of information will be supplied to give each visitor a choice of the places he or she would like to take in during the hours of free time allowed for in the five-day schedule.

One folder traces the route passengers will follow in a three-hour boat voyage around Manhattan Island. Another contains a map and descriptive accounts of almost every building or monument of note in the city.

Even the visitor who might conceivably plan to sit in his room and stare out the window will find out everything there is to know about his vantage point in an account of facilities at the luxurious Paramount Hotel.

But our travelers will be more than just experts on tourist highlights. There are also a few other "items" on the agenda . . . such as five top Broadway shows, two late-evening parties, and a tour and luncheon at the United Nations Building. . .

SAN FRANCISCO — If you are out of doors about midafternoon here, you may feel a fine rain on your face, but you can see no rain. It's San Francisco's traditional fog which appears with astounding regularity.

Understand there are 48 fog horns on the bay and they blow continuously without disturbing the fog one iota. But the fog has its uses. Natives say it compensates for lack of rain at this time of the year and keeps things fresh and green.

Sports fans will be interested in a special ground rule at Alcatraz. When a player belts one over the fence he is automatically out—and that's not what you think. Another kind of ground rule says that when you're in there you're really in for keeps.

Sen. William Knowland, in his address as temporary chairman, perhaps set the pace for the coming campaign when he said: "If is to reason and sense of fairness we wish to appeal, and not to narrow prejudice or bitter partisan passions."

High up in the vaulted ceiling of the convention hall hang flags of the states, impressive in their color and history from the starred cross of the old Confederacy to the Golden Bear of California.

Aside from the flags the predominate colors of the decorations are blue and green, a concession to the temperamental taste of her electronic majesty, the television.

If you hear someone behind you urging "just one more" don't look for the ice and mixer. They are probably not drinking, but taking pictures. Flash bulb flashes go off continually in a prolonged Independence Day-like demonstration. The Associated Press and other wire services are moving an unbelievable load of pictures from the special transmitters in the Cow Palace to all parts of the nation.

Getting pictures of convention personalities is quite simple. You just make guesses of where they might be at certain times, then try and get your photographer at all places at once. But the AP newsphotographers, who have taken the pictures you see in the Press are doing a bang-up job under the difficult conditions presented by a convention this size.

Many of the special writers whose columns appear in the Press are here, of course. Discovered Earl Wilson and his wife in the Fairmont Lobby and David Lawrence has a seat in the press section two rows in front of me.

When we came back from Convention Hall this evening we had to go around two blocks to get to our hotel. Most of San Francisco had the streets around Union Square blocked waiting for the President and his party. They roared in with much noise and a loud welcome from the crowd about 7:30. Ike and the missus rode in an open car and the President waved heartily and beamed with the infectious smile which has helped make him so popular.

Mayor Cobo, Republican candidate for the top spot in the state next fall, arrived later in the evening, with a large delegation of Michigan people going by bus to the airport to greet his party.

Newspaper men and women are guests of the Union League and Press Club tonight for a reception and judging by the crowd in the building and the press room in which this is being written, papers across the nation must be using scant crews this week Everybody appears to be right here.

But then, we do outnumber delegates by a wide majority. With about 3 or 4 reported to watch every delegate, alternate and party official you should know what's cooking. Anyway, we're trying.

Ike - Nixon Choice Almost a Certainty

willingness among the policy-makers of the convention to allow a Stassen blast to blow even a minor breeze of disharmony through the Cow Palace, he appears doomed to failure.

Top spokesmen said this is true despite Nixon's own wish that Stassen be given every chance to be heard.

MAY BLOCK STASSEN

Convention Chairman Joseph W. Martin Jr. said he would submit Stassen's request to the delegates. But Martin pointed out that it would require unanimous consent of the convention for Stassen to air on the floor his charge that Nixon will cost Ike millions of votes.

The chairman added he had heard that "big delegations" would refuse to allow Stassen to be heard.

Sen. William Jenner of Indiana declared flatly that "if nobody else objects, I will."

The honor of entering Eisenhower's name in nomination goes to his faithful ally in the congressional wars, assistant House Republican Leader Charles W. Halleck of Indiana.

Patrician, quiet - spoken Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts —the man Stassen has urged as Nixon's replacement — nominates the vice president.

PLATFORM ADOPTED

The nominees hoist their standard from a "brighter tomorrow" platform adopted yesterday — pledging the GOP to tax cuts, peace guaranteed by America's atomic-age strength, and full parity in the market place for the farmer.

The platform was adopted after the delegations were stirred to cannonades of applause by ex-President Herbert Hoover's address urging that Eisenhower and his aides press their pursuit of the "holy grail of freedom."

Martin told the delegates: "This nation needs a party at the helm that is filled with the spirit of the future . . . the party that is able to build and hold peace and prosperity."

He voiced a ringing warning against the pitfalls of complacency.

DEWEY TAKES ROSTRUM

The same warning will be heard today from the party's "voice of experience" in that unhappy regard, former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, who addresses the convention just before the nominations.

Dewey, as the GOP presidential nominee, lost to Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1944, and though overwhelmingly favored, was trounced by Harry S. Truman in 1948.

Ike's dramatic arrival in San Francisco last night signaled the start of a slashing, vigorous onslaught against the Democrats whose attacks on him and his administration are said to have goaded him into a political fury unique in his experience.

PLANS FOR DEM BATTLE

In his "San Francisco White House" command post on the sixth floor of the St. Francis Hotel, the president is deep in battle plans. His target is the Democratic ticket of Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver. He has brushed aside the Stassen-Nixon controversy.

After expressing his confidence that the vice presidential nomination would be handled in the "free and open" manner he deems proper, Eisenhower reportedly pointed out that it is up to the delegates to take care of that issue without White House involvement.

Neither Nixon nor Stassen were on the President's appointment list, though both were among the notables on hand to greet him at the San Francisco airport late yesterday when the chief executive and the first lady arrived from Washington.

Meanwhile, a great immediate impact on this gala city echoing to the cries of jubilant Republicans was made by the President's vigorous appearance.

As Eisenhower waved and grinned and shouted responses to the cheers which made his drive from the airport a triumphal journey through a tunnel of happy sound, he looked strong, vibrant, eager and glowing.

There seemed no indication of the heart attack he suffered in Denver last Sept. 24, no sign that he was weakened by the abdominal operation he underwent June 9, the maladies of which the Democrats made such sepulchral use in their Chicago convention last week.

Ike was the joyous, appreciative, beaming central figure of one of the wildest and noisiest greetings in San Francisco's eventful history.

CARNIVAL OF CHEERS

The scene on the approaches to the St. Francis in the misty-cool California dusk was a carnival of noise and color. More than 5,000 people, verging on hysteria, surged against police lines to shout tribute to the leaning, smiling balding man and the pretty, radiant woman in the "bubble top" car.

His grin lit up not only the immediate vicinity but millions of television screens throughout the land, for his every move was captured by the magic electronic eye.

A DIFFERENT IKE

But intimates reported that it was a different Eisenhower who drove "on the double" today through one of the heaviest schedules he has ever faced. He talked with high field commanders of his party forces, with state leaders, county chairmen, candidates for Congress.

The President's mood was said to combine anger and determination. He was portrayed as no less than furious at the Democratic charge of "part-time President." The answer to that, he directed, was to be an incessant, lucid, emphatic explanation of how thoroughly he and his team believe they have cleaned up the "mess in Washington," and unrelenting emphasis on the Republican record.

On the health issue, he invited his callers to look at him, listen to him, and judge for themselves whether he is strong enough to shoulder for another four years the burden he assumed in 1952 when he led the GOP to its first White House victory in 24 years.

There was no denying the convention got a tremendous lift from Ike's arrival a full day earlier than scheduled.

But the Cow Palace rang with tumult when the "brighter tomorrow" platform was adopted, and a moment of rare and touching drama was etched indelibly into convention history when Herbert Hoover addressed his fellow Republicans.

The 82 - year - old ex - president, straight and sturdy as a California redwood, called upon the party to lead the nation through the perils of the age with a "resounding declaration of the principles of American life."

Martin's address as permanent chairman, a steamwinder of its kind, called the Republicans the "salesmen of the future," but sternly warned against the pitfalls of complacency, which he said, has cost the party previous elections and might do so again.

Nixon En Route to Dad's Bedside

Vice President May Not Return to Convention for Nominating Speech

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon sped to this Los Angeles suburb by plane from the San Francisco Republican convention today to be at the bedside of his critically ill father.

Frank A. Nixon, 77, was stricken at 4 a.m. with an abdominal ailment. His physician said "it is very doubtful that he will survive."

Richard Nixon, expected to be nominated for a second term as vice president at the GOP convention, arrived by plane at International Airport at 9:50 a.m.

He, his wife, his brother Donald and the latter's wife, left at once by Secret Service car for the elder Nixon's home.

"We won't know how long we're going to stay until we see the doctor," the vice president said.

But we're going to stay through the day and overnight. If conditions will permit, we'll try to get back to the convention tomorrow afternoon."

Nixon said he couldn't say at this time whether he would be able to get back in time for his scheduled speech accepting his almost certain renomination.

"But I won't know anything for sure until I talk to the doctor," he said.

The vice president, looking drawn and slightly nervous, expressed concern over his father's condition.

"The doctor has told us it is critical," he said. "It is the type of attack which could be fatal soon, or he could hang on for a few days."

Nixon said he received a telephone call notifying him of his father's attack about 6 a.m. He said he was informed the attack occurred about 4 a.m.

Starlings Again! Can Anyone Help Solve the Plague?

It seems starlings are getting into the hair of Pontiac city commissioners — and nobody knows what to do about the chirping creatures.

For the second time in two weeks, Commissioner Philip E. Rowston asked how to rid the city of the birds.

City Manager W. K. Willman told of a device which sounds like starlings in distress which reportedly drives the real birds to faraway places.

"Where they go and how far, I don't know," the manager said.

"There's no known cure any more than there is for pigeons," Willman told the commissioners.

City Manager Reports on Progress Toward $600,000 Project

Some metered parking facilities will be available as promised by the city in three new off-street municipal lots by Sept. 1, City Manager Walter K. Willman reported yesterday.

Willman said the city has acquired 90 per cent of the property needed for the completion of the voter - approved $600,000 parking project. He added that construction has begun on the lots and that the city "will continue to work on the acquisition of the balance of property in the meantime."

Two condemnation suits filed in an attempt to secure property, have been dropped as the owners have come to terms with the city, Willman said.

Meters have been ordered and promised to the city by the end of August, he added.

New Milk Strike Threat Looms

Price Farmers Want Would Hike Consumer Cost One Cent a Quart

The threat of another milk strike loomed over the Pontiac area today as dairy farmers who supply milk here and to Detroit yesterday voted to halt deliveries if a price increase demand is not met by Sept. 1.

Members of the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. rejected a $5.25 per hundred weight offer for milk suggested by their own sales committee, and demanded a boost to $5.35.

Their present contract, which expires Aug. 31, calls for $5 per hundred weight.

A MMPA spokesman said this demand, if met, would mean a cent a quart increase in the present price of milk in Pontiac and Detroit areas.

Supplies of milk in Pontiac and throughout most of the eastern half of the state reached a critical stage in early spring during a nine-day strike.

There were some instances of milk dumping and minor picket line violence before a $5 price was agreed on.

Glenn Lake of North Branch, president of the MMPA, told the farmers "if we are forced to strike, the milk must be withheld."

Spokesmen for the farmers said the rising cost of living, the steel strike and increased production cost all made the new price necessary.

Rolland Brendle of South Lyon, Fair Share Bargaining Assn. president for Michigan Dairy Farmers, Inc., said he would ask locals of his group to support the MMPA strike. The Fair Share group, an independent organization representing 8,000 farmers, was active in last spring's strike.

Pontiac Motor Division executive Ralph W. Leighton, 57, was found dead of a gun wound last night in the back yard of his home at 415 LeGrand St., Holly. A gun lay near by. It is believed he fell.

The death was ruled accidental by Deputy Coroner Dr. K. W. Saunders. He said no autopsy was planned.

A long time resident of the Pontiac area, Leighton was born in Petersham, Massachusetts, but moved with his family to Michigan at an early age. He attended high school in Pontiac and first joined the Pontiac Motor Division in 1916.

Beginning at the Pontiac Motor factory, he was later assigned to positions in Pontiac sales offices in Milwaukee, Oklahoma City, Oakland and Los Angeles. He also held positions with Chevrolet, Buick and Oldsmobile divisions of General Motors. During World War II, he was with the Packard Rolls Royce Engine Division.

In 1948 he was appointed car distribution manager at Pontiac. In 1952 he was named assistant to the general sales manager and in 1954 director of national car distribution. He was on sick leave from Pontiac the last part of 1955 and the first part of this year.

He is survived by his wife, Ecka; a son, Gerald W.; three daughters, Mrs. Ralph Van Wagoner Jr., Mrs. Jack Scott and Mrs. Robert Locke; seven grandchildren; two brothers, Fred Leighton and Myron L. Leighton, who also hold positions at Pontiac Motor; and a sister, Mrs. Elsie Smith of Clarkston.

Funeral arrangements have not been set at this time.

Board Notes Progress of Three Area Schools

BIRMINGHAM — Progress on three new elementary schools in the south of Birmingham area was noted at the Board of Education meeting last night.

Bids were received and turned over for study to school architects for Greenfield School, which is to stand on West Greenfield north of 13 Mile Road.

Plans and specifications for Valley Woods Elementary School were studied. That school will stand on a 40-acre site south of 14 Mile Road and east of Lahser, where a junior high school is also planned.

Building permits will be issued soon for Midvale School, board members were told, and its construction will start soon.

Bids for the school which will be on the northeast corner of the high school site, were approved Aug. 11 at a special meeting.

Board members also approved concrete details for cottage schools across from Pierce School, plans for a radio workshop room at the high school, and several salary changes. They also accepted some teacher resignations, before they adjourned at 11:30 p.m.

Yesterday morning the North Evergreen Sewage Disposal Authority met in Birmingham and proceeded with details on allocating costs of the proposed sewage treatment plant extension and interceptor drains.

Percentage points took the focus in the discussion of what each of the four municipalities will pay in the multimillion dollar project.

City Manager Harold K. Schone continues to familiarize himself with Birmingham City managerial procedures, studying especially the active projects of the city. A five page summary of these projects was left for his assistant by D. C. Egbert, former manager.

Asphalting began Monday on the eight block area bounded by Pierce, Bates, Bond and Maple streets. Curbs and gutters for the street had been fixed earlier in the project being done by the A. & A. Asphalt Paving Co.

The project is costing the city $45,778, or about $1.75 per square yard. The A. & A. firm won the job against five major asphalting companies.

The Tony Angelo Construction Co. is also working on a paving project here. Excavating began Monday, preliminary to the paving of a number of streets around Birmingham which include Willits and Bird. Actual pouring of concrete will begin within 10 days.

State Getting Gas From New Pipe Line

DETROIT (AP)—The new 130-million-dollar American Louisiana pipe line, stretching 1,200 miles from Louisiana to Detroit, now is in full operation, supplying gas daily to Michigan customers.

Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., announcing this yesterday, said it now receives 200 million cubic feet of gas a day from the new line.

Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co., another supplier of Michigan Consolidated, buys another 100 million cubic feet a day from the line. And by next July American Louisiana said it expects to increase its capacity another 100 million feet to a total of 400 million daily.

The new 30-inch pipeline, completed in less than a year, has boosted Michigan Consolidated's natural gas supply by 70 per cent.

Mississippians to Endorse Adlai

Eastland, Stennis Join Coleman in Move to Bar Bolt From Party

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Senator James Eastland and John Stennis of Mississippi have joined Gov. J. P. Coleman in saying they will support the Democratic national ticket.

Along with similar statements by other Mississippi Democratic leaders, this seemed today to bar the likelihood of a re-called state convention and the attendant danger of a party bolt.

Coleman disclosed further that presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson has been invited to campaign in Mississippi.

The statements by the two senators yesterday were cautiously worded and, like Coleman, did not refer to vice presidential nominee Estes Kefauver.

"I think that the best interest of Mississippi, the South and the nation will be best served by the election of a Democratic Congress and a Democratic administration," said Eastland. "I will support the Democratic ticket."

Stennis first said he had considered the platforms and nominees of both parties, background of facts surrounding the adoption of the civil rights plank . . . and the special problems that confront us in our area over the years ahead.

"I shall support the regular national Democratic ticket in November and on occasions between now and the election, expect to extend my remarks on the subject and fully give my reasons to the people of Mississippi."

Film Director's Wife Wins Cash Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Film director Anthony Kenyon Mann's wife won a $65,000 cash settlement in obtaining a divorce on testimony that he told her he was tired of her and didn't want her around the house.

Mrs. Mann also will get $3,725 monthly alimony for the rest of the year and $15,600 annually thereafter.

Mann will contribute $416 monthly for support of a daughter Nina, 12, who will live with her mother. Another daughter, Toni, 18, will live with her father.

The Manns had been married 24 years.

Detroit Shop Closing for Want of Workers

DETROIT (AP)—Despite the Michigan Employment Security Commission's current estimate of 142,000 jobless workers in the Detroit area, at least one manufacturer is in dire need of skilled help.

Superior Brass Works, Inc., said yesterday it would shut down its foundry next Monday for the second time in four weeks because of a shortage of turret lathe operators in its machine shops.

G. F. Langford, president of the company, said that because of a shortage of lathe operators, the machine shop cannot keep up with the foundry division's production. The company, which employs 55 workers, produces cast bronze bushings and bearings.

The positions held by both Pointer and Closser were created this summer by the Extension Service in preparation for an expanded real estate program in Michigan, Charles Sill, program coordinator, said.

Toastmasters' Sessions Have Speakers Galore

DETROIT (AP)—No one at this convention will rise to his feet to proclaim, "unaccustomed as I am to public speaking . . ."

Not at the 25th annual meeting of Toastmasters International, whose 70,000 members throughout the world take special pains to develop their speaking talents. The organization has 2,200 clubs throughout the United States and in more than a dozen foreign countries.

The convention will be largely a workshop on improving speech skills. A highlight will be an international speech contest.

Solon's Widow Benefits From Legislative Bill

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams today signed five minor bills passed at this summer's special legislative session.

One of the measures appropriated $1,500 to the widow of the late Rep. Herb Clements (R-Deckerville). The amount represented Clements' legislative salary for the balance of his term.

Four other bills repealed local school acts, allowing certain communities to come under the present school code.

Music Fails Prisoners

SAGINAW (AP) — As a cellmate played a mouth organ to cover up the noise, prisoners in the Saginaw County Jail sawed away at a heavy chain across the bullpen door. They were within a fraction of an inch of sawing through when the deputies, hearing the vibration, investigated. Officers confiscated the saw as well as two clubs, a homemade blackjack, a metal bar and several hooks from the 65 prisoners on the second floor.

GOP Keynote a Clue to Strategy in Campaign

Anyone who heard the Republican keynote address at San Francisco should have little trouble in discerning the type of campaign the party will wage.

The task of the keynoter, Washington's popular Governor Langlie, was made easier because he was under no obligation to devote much of his address to attacking the opposition. Instead, his was the pleasant duty of recalling for the nationwide audience the splendid achievements of the Eisenhower Administration.

The result was a dignified and informative recital of the many reasons why America needs four more years of the same kind of sound, middle-of-the-road government. Among those reasons are 66,000,000 jobs and the highest peacetime wages in history. In short, the Republicans are in the happy position of being able to depend for November victory on their excellent record.

Perhaps the greatest applause the keynoter received came when he said that "as President of the United States we have a man who gives dignity to that high office." He also was applauded when he showed how the Administration had made good on its 1952 campaign promises, including balancing of the budget.

"There is peace in the land," said Gov. Langlie. "There is well being in the homes of America and there is renewed faith in our time-honored principles of individual freedom and personal responsibility."

Small wonder that Republicans everywhere look ahead to November confident of overwhelming victory for Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard M. Nixon.

Mideast Pipelines Face Nationalization Threats

If the West needed a means of emphasizing further the urgency of a Suez Canal settlement, it could be found in the part Middle East oil plays in world politics.

The 22 nation conference in London has all but overshadowed the fact that Egypt is not the only Arab state menacing the free flow of this vital fuel. Although neither produces any, both Lebanon and Syria now are threatening to nationalize sections in their countries of pipelines carrying oil from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean port of Sidon.

A 1,068 mile American owned line has been operating under concessions from four countries. It extends 865 miles from Saudi Arabia more than 100 miles through Jordan, 80 miles in Syria and 25 miles in Lebanon. On June 28 the Lebanese Parliament cancelled its concession and imposed "income" taxes on the American Company and on a British-American pipeline carrying oil from Iraq.

As a result, oil men now are saying that shipping by tankers would be just as cheap. One wonders whether the Arabs will price themselves out of the market. Already huge American tankers are bringing oil from the Middle East around the Cape of Good Hope to avoid Suez tolls.

That fact alone should be a sharp warning not only to Egypt's Nasser, but to the other Arab states deriving revenue from pipelines. Loss of that revenue would be a serious blow to them.

J. Lee Rankin Chosen U. S. Solicitor General

Everything in the record indicates that President Eisenhower has chosen wisely in naming J. Lee Rankin to be the Nation's new Solicitor General.

An Assistant Attorney General in charge of Legal Counsel, he has earned a reputation for hard work and ability in the handling of difficult cases. Mr. Rankin distinguished himself by the manner in which he presented the Government's argument in the school segregation case before the Supreme Court.

Though he is not widely known to the public, the nominee has the additional advantage of having worked closely with former Solicitor General Sobeloff. In truth he seems to have every qualification for an office little, if any less demanding than a seat on the Supreme Court.

It is to be hoped that the 85th Congress will lose no time in confirming this appointment. Certainly Mr. Rankin doesn't deserve the shoddy treatment given his predecessor by the last Congress which held up the Sobeloff appointment to the Appeals Court for more than a year.

The Man About Town

Tall Sunflowers

This Appears to Be Good Season for a Large Growth

Propaganda: Often telling only part of the truth, if any.

Although the sunflowers in the Pontiac area got a late start, they are breaking all records. Several over 14 feet tall have been reported, the tallest being that of

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Heliker of Rochester, 15 feet and still growing.

Several sunflowers, each with over 30 blossoms, form a hedgerow in the yard of

Mrs. Berenice Wrinkleman

at Drayton Plains, some so heavy with bloom that they've blown over.

"Nothing like ordinary barnyard fertilizer to make your sunflowers go after the sun itself," writes of Walled Lake, who has them twice as high as her trailer home.

Mrs. James G. Michaelson

Picking off all but the top blossom on his sunflower plants, of Birmingham, says that blossom then gets all of the energy of the plant. He has some only six feet tall, but with blossoms 15 inches across.

Harry Youngblood

A sunflower eight feet tall is growing from a hole in a tree 12 feet above the ground at the home of

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Cermack

at Auburn Heights, the seed probably having been dropped there by a bird.

Taking her Girl Scout Troop down the Huron River on a three-day canoe trip is of Westacres, extending from Proud Lake to Strawberry Lake.

Mrs. David Eicher

On May 25, after a heavy rain, MAT threw a bottle into the Clinton River at the Perry St. bridge. It contained a note, requesting the finder to notify us. Seventy-two days later it was pulled from the river at Mt. Clemens by of New Baltimore, and returned to us.

My Marlette scout sends word that is a delegate at the Republican national convention at San Francisco, this being the first time in 12 years that Sanilac County has had a delegate.

The thirty-second annual

Lakeville-Brewer School Reunion

is Saturday at the Lakeville Church. Some pupils who learned their ABCs there became prominent citizens of our county and state.

I quite agree with

of Huron Gardens, who writes:

"The height of confidence is when You do a crossword with a pen."

That Haunting Refrain

David Lawrence Says:

Conventions Follow Set Pattern

SAN FRANCISCO — To those folks who are not familiar with the techniques of national political conventions, it should be explained that the party in power always "points with pride," while the party out of power always "views with alarm."

If you read the text of the two platforms, you'll find the Republicans proud of their record and saying so quite forthrightly, while the Democrats are sure that distress and disaster lie ahead unless they are promptly restored to power.

These contrasts are natural. The Republican platform, for example, is a calm and dispassionate recital of the record of the Eisenhower administration. Having almost no factionalism within the party to worry about, the platform writers had weeks and weeks in which to polish their phrases and condense their thoughts. As a result, the Republican national platform is one of the finest documents ever turned out by any political party, here or abroad. It is a masterpiece of idealism and practicality woven together in a simple review of the efforts of the administration to meet the spirit of the times—to maintain both peace and internal prosperity.

RESEMBLES THE PAST

The Republican conclave this week, of course, resembles many another convention of the past held by the incumbent party. There is always more excitement when the party out of power holds a convention—as in Chicago last week—because there is usually a scramble for the presidential nomination. When FDR was being renominated in 1936, 1940 and 1944, there wasn't any competitive factor, for the top office and the platform was written long in advance. It followed each time the usual pattern of claiming credit for everything good that had happened and ignoring any mistakes that had been made.

As for the vice presidency, the nomination, as a rule, is controlled or influenced by the man at the top of the ticket. Sometimes his managers, do it for him. This correspondent remembers how in 1920, just after the Democratic convention at San Francisco named James M. Cox for the presidency, there was a huddle of a small group under the rafters of the auditorium. Those participating were the bosses of the big state delegations. The man being proposed by the nominee and his manager was Franklin D. Roosevelt. It was believed that he would add strength to the ticket because he had been anti-Tammany in New York state. Charlie Murphy, boss of Tammany Hall, was present and agreed to swallow the plan, though not until he and others asked a few of us among the newspapermen, who were standing around and watching, if we thought the public would react favorably to "young Franklin." Of course, we all thought so, and that's how FDR got his first nomination on the national ticket.

The Chicago contest on the vice presidency last week, on the other hand, was an example of what might be called "open conventions, openly contrived at." For the "open" selection was influenced covertly by Stevenson and his lieutenants. It can hardly be otherwise under the convention system in modern politics.

OPEN—FOR NIXON

Out here they are talking also about an "open" convention for the vice presidency. It merely means that any delegation can get the floor and put anyone in nomination. But a big majority of the Republicans want Nixon for the vice presidential nomination, and they intend to select him. President Eisenhower has all along carefully avoided any appearance of dictation. But it has been plain that nobody else was likely to win the prize. The Stassen crusade served only to emphasize and delineate the strength of Nixon. In fact, as things have worked out, it has assured the renomination of Nixon.

For, as politicians have always figured it, the president in office must be renominated for a second term and run on his record. If the record doesn't appear to be good enough for public approval at the polls, then no other candidate could run as well and defend that record.

A vice president in office is theoretically in somewhat the same position, and Nixon particularly is because, whether in vigorous campaigning or in presiding at meetings of government councils, he has acted always at the request of or with the knowledge and consent of President Eisenhower. So it's an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket again.

Smiles

Lots of people are discovering that, while it was hard to come back from a vacation, it's harder to stage the financial comeback.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Smoking Has Same Effect on Women as That on Men

Smoking has the same effect on women that it has on men. A woman may indulge in the habit even though it impairs her health, makes her offensive to other persons, damages the furniture and generally fouls up the environment.

Some twenty-five years ago I wondered whether smoking young women would not have thromboangiitis obliterans (Buerger's disease) and lose toes, a foot, or a leg from amputation for gangrene — at that time excessive smoking seemed to be the main cause of this disease of the arteries. Certainly more young women develop Buerger's disease nowadays, but excessive smoking is not the only cause, for the disease has occurred in some young adults who have never smoked.

Prior to 1940 acute coronary seizures were at least twice as frequent in men as in women. Today women are as subject to coronary thrombosis or occlusion as are men. Increased smoking on the part of women again appears to be the chief cause of this degeneration of their coronary arteries, but again it is not the only cause, for women who have never smoked sometimes have coronary degeneration.

Whatever pathological effects smoking produces are attributable, in my opinion, to carbon monoxide anoxia and not to "nicotine." This applies to acute effects as well as insidious chronic effects. There is plenty of scientific evidence of C-O anoxia in smokers. There is little if any scientific evidence of "nicotine" poisoning.

The eminent medical authorities who hold forth imposingly about "nicotine poisoning" don't know what they're talking about. Neither do the trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers who ply their credulous customers with all the latest miracle medicines for "arthritis." They don't need to know. The customers are satisfied, aren't they?

A fair-sized cud or chew of tobacco contains enough pure nicotine to kill a dog in two minutes. There is no more certain or more rapid way to absorb pure nicotine than by putting it in the mouth, and yet there is little or no evidence that tobacco chewing does any harm.

Burning tobacco destroys the nicotine and other components to which harmful effects have been ascribed. But when tobacco burns more or less carbon monoxide is inevitably produced—a wee bit for every cigaret. Inhaling air containing only one part of carbon monoxide in 2,000 parts may cause unpleasant, even serious symptoms.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Aid to the Blind Questioned by Cigar Stand Operator

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Like most people, I had an erroneous belief that the blind had a pension and that the "aid to the blind" or welfare aid was a help. What a laugh that is.

You must first become a pauper and stay that way to get any aid at all. Secondly, parents, brothers and sisters, relatives must contribute a sum each month to the state towards the care of the dependent.

Then if the blind or handicapped gets anything over and above the sum set by the Social Welfare Department, the aid check is lowered by an equal amount. It's far easier to sit and do nothing.

If you have a business and need some aid to carry you over a slump, you must liquidate and become a virtual pauper before your case is even considered.

How do I know? I'm one of the so-called lucky people. I have limited vision, and though legally blind, I am not in the same class as the sightless. I am not supposed to know any of the problems facing the blind, even though my problems are similar.

Well, I'm going to try and join the Michigan Council for the Blind and use my sight for something, the group that many of the blind don't have the "guts" to back and fight for. If the council can get any more "backing" of interested parties, someday with the proper educative practices, even the slackers can get some benefit from the "gravy train" of social aid.

Shortage of Canal Pilots Puts Squeeze on Nasser

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Egypt, in its fight to keep complete control of the vital Suez Canal, has the firm backing of a not quite disinterested Russia.

But President Gamal Abdel Nasser already is feeling an economic pinch—a shortage of canal pilots.

There is an atmosphere of tenseness along the canal despite the recession of immediate war threats. British maintenance workers in the canal zone hastily are evacuating their families on government orders.

Egyptian soldiers are digging fresh fortifications among the endless sand dunes stretching away from the canal banks. New Egyptian recruits drill under the hot sun.

FIERY RETALIATION

He did this in fiery retaliation for the Western allied refusal to help build his big Aswan Dam on the upper Nile. But when anger swept the West and Britain began sending troops to the eastern Mediterranean, Egyptian officials gave another explanation.

They said that Egypt's decision to nationalize the canal "was mainly actuated by the desire to improve and expand the canal while keeping its operations at maximum efficiency."

The Western powers, particularly Britain and France to which Suez transit is a life and death matter, do not believe Egypt can operate the canal efficiently. Moreover, they do not want their economic livelihood left in the hands of a single nation such as Egypt.

Most of the pilots, the key personnel in operating the canal, are foreigners, many of them British and French.

Failure of some of these to return from vacation periods in their homelands already has caused Egypt to cut the daily north and south convoys in the canal from four to two.

Egypt now is busily recruiting more pilots aboard, and it seems a safe bet that this is being done in the Communist-controlled Eastern European nations.

President Nasser told his people that seizure of the canal profits would give Egypt $100 million a year of income with which to finance the Aswan Dam.

But Western officials say that figure is only the rough annual gross income. After costs, expenses and upkeep have been deducted, the canal company in recent years has only had some $20 million for dividends.

Nasser is in for a jolt if he really expects to squeeze $100 million annually from the big ditch operations.

He would have to hike fees vastly, and that is just what the Western allies fear he will do to their detriment.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

We lie down in our shame, and our confusion covereth us: for we have sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers, from our youth even unto this day, and have not obeyed the voice of the Lord our God.
—Jeremiah 3:25.

The history of all the great characters of the Bible is summed up on this one sentence: They acquainted themselves with God, and acquiesced in His will in all things.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Average Reader Likes Frankness

Mr. Walters is an astute editor who keeps his ear to the ground and knows what readers like. We have been friends for over 20 years, during which time a great change has come over America. But the major transformation has not occurred among the average Americans but among us so-called educational leaders, as editors, judges, teachers, etc., who were often behind the front lines of progress.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case S-345: Basil Walters, aged about 55, is a versatile executive editor.

When I first met him 20 years ago he was in charge of the Des Moines newspapers. I had been invited there to address the Iowa State Dental Society.

Since then we have kept in touch and recently I visited him for an hour.

"When you first started your column," Mr. Walters began, "you were really pioneering.

"You were ahead of the field in dealing with marriage problems so frankly.

"Haven't you noticed, however, that things have changed a great deal? Do you get many complaints now in this year 1956, about being too frank?"

1936 vs. 1956

No, it is rarely that any reader objects nowadays about my being too frank in pinpointing the various causes for divorce.

And you can easily see why, for the "average American," as per our 1950 Census, is 30 years old, married and with two children just entering school.

Newspaper readers thus are out on the real firing line of life. They encounter the practical problems of everyday living.

"Mommy, where did I come from?" asks a toddler.

Or, like Dorothy M., whom I discussed in Monday's column, they realize why I say that divorces usually start in the bedroom.

For they are confronted with numerous psychological problems of a very practical sort. They aren't shocked by my answering the things which they meet daily. Those dilemmas, sexual and otherwise, are constant occurrences.

PRUDISH 1936

Even back in 1936, newspaper readers were not very different, for I never received many criticisms from them even then.

But some elderly publishers in those days misjudged the public,

so if just one single letter of criticism came in from a wide circulation area, they would become frightened.

But back in 1936, the public was literally over 99 per cent in favor of my type of column, as measured by the letter input.

In fact, I am being very liberal with that 99 per cent for the first 10 years, I received only 34 complaints about my frankness, on a coast-to-coast basis, out of 1,000,000 letters.

However, the editor of a leading women's magazine then wrote and asked me to start a marriage department for it.

So I compiled my first article, simply dovetailing half a dozen of these typical newspaper Case Records, with a little explanatory material in between.

Back came my article with an apologetic letter from the elderly editor, who said:

"Dr. Crane, we couldn't possibly run your article in our magazine. It would ruin us!"

Yet those six cases had already appeared in newspapers all over America without a single letter of complaint!

That magazine editor was simply 20 years behind his subscribers in facing American family problems.

FACTS HURT NOBODY

"The truth shall set you free," stated Jesus, as he advocated facts.

It is ignorance and darkness and prudery and false modesty that cause immorality, not scientific facts.

Even in 1936, the editors and publishers who had children or grandchildren and who were thus attuned to current social conditions, never criticized my column.

The few critics were childless oldsters whose youth had been spent prior to the Spanish-American War, and who thus were out of step with modern problems of the average American.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Israel Denies Arab Gaza Fight Claims

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel says only one of her soldiers was killed in a clash along the armistice demarcation line dividing Jordan and Israel. Jordan said earlier two Israelis were killed in the incident yesterday.

Each nation blamed the other for starting the action.

An Israeli army spokesman said Jordanians in the Samarian Hills fired on a four-man Israeli patrol moving along the demarcation line.

In Amman, a Jordan military spokesman charged a 30-man Israeli force crossed the frontier and attacked a village near Jenin with a mortar and automatic weapons. He said the Israelis withdrew after two of their number were killed and three Jordanians were wounded.

Speeder Tells Why He Deserves a Brake

DETROIT (INS) — Thomas L. Wright of Detroit, told police he was going 45 m.p.h. in a 30 m.p.h. zone bescause he wanted to get home in a hurry.

"I wanted to get home as fast as I could because I have no brakes on the car," he said.

BIG PROBLEM—Cleanliness is next to impossible with schoolboys. Rigorous training and vigorous scrubbing is the only answer. Your washer-dryer will take care of shirts, socks and underwear and the dirtiest football jersey.

Know Your Fabrics Well to Aid in Clothes Selection

When you shop for your children's back-to-school clothes keep in mind that the items you select will be subject to many washings. Nobody can get dirty as quickly or easily as a 10-year-old on the playground or, for that matter, a 10-year-old watching television while eating chocolate.

The "washable" tag that you will find on many garments covers a lot of territory. Clothing labeled "washable" is not necessarily easy to wash. Washability, in this age of automation, should connote automatic washability.

Today, most automatic washers have special cycles for the silks, woolens and synthetics that used to demand hand laundering because they are delicate. These special cycles automatically provide the low water temperature and fabrics require.

The new synthetics such as nylon, orlon and dacron do not soil easily. Consequently, they will respond to low-temperature short-time washing. They should be dried carefully since overdrying sets wrinkles that ironing will not remove.

Usually, these fabrics need only touch-up ironing at low temperature.

The even newer blended fabrics have a great deal to recommend them. One fiber may be blended in for strength, another for warmth. The resultant fabric offers the best qualities of each ingredient fiber. These new blends will launder well if you follow special instructions on the tag or follow washing instructions for the ingredient fiber requiring most care.

For example, when in doubt wash a nylon-cotton dress under conditions you would usually follow for nylons. If you wash this blend as you would an all-cotton dress you may have disastrous results.

For efficient soil removal, you need really hot (165 degrees) water and more than three minutes washing time. So playclothes should be constructed of sturdy fabrics.

When you have mud, grease and paint stains on a boy's shirt, it had better be a sturdy shirt.

TAKES WASHING

Most youngsters' clothes are cotton, linen or rayon. These fabrics soil more readily than others, but fortunately all can take a vigorous, hot water washing. True, they will take longer to wash and dry, and they will need more ironing attention, but for clothes that are subjected to hard wear and frequent laundering, they can't be beat.

Although many fabrics are washable their colors are not and they must be laundred in low-temperature water or dry cleaned. Since children's clothes are apt to get extremely soiled, you will want colors that remain fast in hot water.

Most cottons, linens and rayons is usually indicated on the tag.

Wrinkle-resistant fabrics are a fine idea for youngsters' clothing, but some require special laundering care and some are not washable. Permanently starched cottons, linens and rayons are fine for little girls' dresses.

Usually no special laundering care is required and these dresses will retain crispness after each washing. When the finish finally does wear off, after many washings, they may be starched. Permanently pleated dresses are fun to wear and easy to launder.

Konvention Konfusing? Kome Join the Klub

San FRANCISCO (INS) — The latest entry in the battle of the buttons at the Republican National Convention is a red, white and blue number bearing only the letters "IAK."

A wearer explained the letters stand for "I Am Confused." Asked why the letter "K" was used to stand for "Confused," he replied: "That just goes to show how konfused I am."

'Near Beer' Ban Delayed by City

Attorney to Investigate State Laws to Evolve Specific Definition

The Pontiac City Commission delayed adoption of a new city ordinance regulating the sale of "near beer" for one week so that City Attorney William A. Ewart may review the proposed law.

The deferment was prompted by a query of Commissioner Floyd P. Miles as to whether the ordinance was specific in its definition of "near beer." It defined the liquid as "any beverage containing less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol by volume" and being marked as such on the container.

The proposal would limit the sale of licensed Michigan Liquor Control Commission establishments and prohibit purchase by minors.

Violation of the ordinance would be punishable by a $100 fine or 90 days in jail or by both.

The ordinance was drafted at the request of the commission after citizens reported Pontiac children purchasing "near beer" in many stores in the city. Adoption is expected at next week's commission meeting.

The commissioners resolved last week to ask Pontiac Representative Leslie H. Hudson to introduce in the Legislature a state law regulating the sale of the beverage.

Cobo Spent $48,245 in Campaign Costs

DETROIT (AP) —Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit said that he spent $48,245 in his successful campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and received campaign donations totaling $50,064.

His expense statement filed with the county clerk as required by law listed $14,000 for billboard advertisements, $10,000 for newspaper ads, $5,668 for radio time and $2,400 for printing.

Moves to Cadillac

FARWELL (AP)—William Gelston, Farwell superintendent of schools the past four years, has resigned his post to take a similar position at Cadillac. Gelston moves to Cadillac to succeed superintendent Earl Bird, who has accepted a post with the Benton Harbor school system.

Picture of Efficiency: Hall's Women's Aide

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Miss Bertha S. Adkins handles her chores at Republican National Headquarters with the hickory stick efficiency of a schoolmarm, which is what she used to be.

GOP chairman Leonard Hall's assistant in charge of women's activities is viewed with tremendous respect around headquarters in Washington.

They all listen to the opinions and advice of this tall, dignified, white-haired woman with the penetrating brown eyes. She is never shy on ideas.

It was Miss Adkins' idea to hold "breakfast briefings" this year for the women here for the Republican National Convention.

It was her idea to hold "breakfasts with the President" in 1955, bringing to Washington prominent Republican women from all parts of the country to have breakfast with President Eisenhower.

There's nothing fluffy about Miss Adkins, in her dress or in her thinking.

"I'll be 50 this Friday," she readily acknowledges. But she absolutely refuses to say how much she weighs.

Communist China Begins Preaching Birth Control

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China, with almost a fourth of the world's population within its borders and increasing at the rate of 25,000 a day, is beginning to preach birth control.

The decision ended a long but quiet quarrel within the regime of Mao Tze-tung over whether to spread birth control knowledge among China's 580 million people for the first time in the nation's long history.

Returning travelers report posters, giving elementary lessons in birth control, are blossoming in medical offices. A recent Peiping newspaper report told of 27 information centers newly established in the capital city.

The article, in the Kwangming Daily, was the first word to the outside world that the Peiping government is sponsoring birth control.

The newspaper, however, derided any suggestions that China's immense population is outrunning its food supply or that birth control would be used as a weapon to level off the swiftly increasing numbers.

'Habeas Cornus' Exhibit May Convict Still-Man

SOUTH NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Exhibit A in a forthcoming illegal liquor trial here will be a big kettleful of oddly fragrant dishwater.

Police brought back the dishwater from a recent raid on a business establishment. Analysis showed it was pretty largely corn liquor.

Officers claim the owner of the place that was raided tried to dispose of the illegal liquor by mixing it with the dishwater in the sink.

Bob Considine Says:

Stassen's Timing Draws Presidential Ire

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—A man who ought to know, and does, said today that President Eisenhower bawled out White House aide Harold "Dump Nixon" Stassen when Stassen called on him at Gettysburg after announcing his "Herter-for-vice president" plan.

What burned up the President, the informant assures us, was not the "Dump Nixon" plan but the timing of its announcement.

Stassen dropped a fly in the orderly ointment of Republican politics just when the President was killing a couple of birds with one stone.

He was in Panama demonstrating to understandably suspicious Latin American neighbors that we love that section of the world as dearly as we love Europe, Asia and Africa—even though we seldom get around to doing anything about the continent that is closest to us.

The President also was demonstrating that he has fully recovered from the severe ileitis attack which laid him low in April.

TRIP BECLOUDED

But Stassen's announcement blew Eisenhower off the front pages of America. That's what annoyed him. He felt that it blunted and flung a cloud across the trip.

Beyond that, the President didn't object to the Stassen move.

Eisenhower likes and respects Nixon, believes he has done an outstanding job. But he has been placed in the unpleasant role of not being able to speak out as strongly as he wishes in behalf of Nixon without, at the same time, blocking what he believes is the right thing to do—urge an "open" convention.

"The White House never had a more intellectually honest man," Herbert Hoover said of Eisenhower in an otherwise off-the-record chat with this reporter.

Eisenhower is telling the truth when he expressed a wish that the open convention extend to the race for the presidency also. He would be delighted if somebody in the party stood up against him, hard as that may be for some to believe.

SOCIAL HIGHLIGHT

High spot on the party schedule Sunday, was the cocktail party given by Lee Ettelson, publisher of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, and Mrs. Ettelson. They have a delightful place here.

The entertainment was by Gov. and Mrs. Goody Knight. The popular California couple has worked up a mind-reading act, partially with the aid of their friend Dunninger.

The beauteous first lady of California retires to an off-stage room, Goody shakes hands with someone in the living room.

Mrs. Knight re-enters, closes her eyes, concentrates, then walks over to the person. No word is passed between the two, and no apparent sign. Goody can do the trick, too.

"Can you read the minds of your Legislature that well?" we asked him.

"Whew!" whewed his highship. "I sure wish I could."

Here's the latest communique from the headquarters of Field Marshal Bernie Relin, the clausewitz of Pepsi Cola's total war on Coca Cola, a conflict which has been raging ever since the politicking began at Chicago:

"Pepsi forces struck a fatal blow at the enemy early today by sending models dressed only in Pepsi buttons, and darn few of them, to various newspaper headquarters at the Fairmont—to distribute an estimated three tons of unprinted literatrue.

"The enemy cannot retaliate in this direction without having its cuties arrested for indecent exposure. Har!"

Coca Cola's high command, meeting in a Coke-filled room, planned massive retaliation tonight.

Japan's Prime Minister Uses Patched Pajamas

KARUIZAWA, Japan (AP)—Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama's wife says if he goes to Moscow to take a hand in the deadlocked peace treaty negotiations, one item of his wardrobe will have to be replaced.

"If he goes, he will need a new nightgown," she told a reporter. "The old ones all have patches."

Blind Wife Fights Flames Burning Spouse

DETROIT (INS) — Lewis Kobylak, 71, an arthritis victim from Detroit, remained in critical condition in Receiving Hospital today with third degree burns above his waist.

Kobylak was injured when his clothing caught fire while he lighted a cigaret. His blind wife, Cecilia, 63, managed to pour two buckets of water over him, but the flames were finally put out by a neighbor, Mrs. Florence McEwan.

MUSIC APPRECIATION—It is part of being at home in the world—and more fun if you can make music yourself. A versatile musician can work his way through college and around the world. These folks are learning to play the organ.

Be Sure of Your Choice Before Buying Instrument

If your background in music is limited to just that—background music—chances are, selecting the right instrument can create a bit of a quandary.

Take the piano first.

Certainly, it's a good choice for the fellow who says he doesn't know one note from another. With the piano, the tone is fixed. It doesn't make much difference whether you have a musical or a tin ear.

Surprising as it may sound, modern electronic organs are actually easier to learn than mouth organs. And it's the only instrument that makes the amateur sound better than he is. That's because of its fullness and sustained tone.

With the stringed group — The violin, the viola, cello and the old bull fiddle—you make your own notes. Only people with a good ear and a sense of pitch should take them up.

Another thing, if you choose a string instrument, chances are you're headed for long haired music. Bear that in mind. Keep size in mind too. And where you want to play it. The bull fiddle is almost more trouble to tote around than to play. But it's standard in the jazz band where it's used to beat out the rhythm.

The wind instruments are somewhat easier to learn, particularly the big fellas like the tubas, sousaphones, the mellophones, etc., that fit into the military and marching bands where they blast out the oompas. Again they're not much fun to lug around.

The smaller ones, piccolo, flute, oboe, bassooon and French horn may take anywhere up to a couple of years before you can respectually submit your application to that neighborhood ensemble group.

Commissioners to Act on 9 P. M. Time for Downtown Street Parking Meters

A request from City Manager W. K. Willman that the time on all downtown on-street parking meters be advanced to 9 p.m. was referred to an Aug. 30 informal City Commission meeting by the commissioners last night.

"This will augment our income somewhat and make more downtown streets available for more shoppers," Willman explained.

He added the move would adjust on-street meters to the same time as those in municipal lots. Payment is only required to 6 p.m. on the on-streets meters now.

Commissioner Philip E. Rowston favored the three-hour advance only when downtown stores were open.

Willman was also instructed to reply to the Oakland Fuel and Paint Co. that the city would adopt a "hands off" policy of naming private streets in the city.

The firm, along with a representative of five families living on the private nameless street off Orchard Lake avenue, had requested the commission approval of a name.

City Attorney William A. Ewart mentioned the possible liability of the city if it entered into such name-the-street policies.

The commission, meeting to take action on a 22-point agenda, also accepted a deed for three lots at 35-37 W. Lawrence St. and approved the assignment of a lease and a prorated rent agreement for the property.

Also approved was a land contract for the purchase of the home at 38 S. Johnson St. which is being purchased by Pontiac General Hospital for storage purposes during construction of the new hospital addition.

A warranty deed for the property at 48 S. Parke St. from Fred E. and Bertha E. Kirk was accepted and the clerk was authorhome to make use of the property for Civic Center purposes. Bids are due at 2 p.m. Sept. 4.

The commissioners approved the use of Murphy Park by the Oakland County CIO Council for a Labor Day festival.

A resolution was passed authorizing Director of Finance Oscar Eckman to request state approval of formulating the city employe pension plan with Social Security which was passed by Pontiac voters at the Aug. 7 primary.

Further action last night saw a quit claim deed for 10 lots in Perry Park Subdivision No. 1 being awarded to Steve Soditch. The lots were purchased on a land contract.

No one in the audience wished to speak at a public hearing of intent to construct curb, gutter, grade, gravel, and related work on Clinton River drive from the east line of Robert Herndon's Pontiac Apartment Subdivision to the west line of lot 65 in the subdivision. The city assessor was authorized to prepare the special assessment roll on the project and report to the commission next week.

A public hearing will be aired then on the same work to be performed on Herndon and Salmer avenues from Orchard Lake to Clinton River drive.

Payments were established by the commissioners on five other public improvement projects in the city.

Hometown Folk Cheer Kefauver on His Return

MADISONVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, came home yesserday to a rousing reception by some 5,000 persons from the Republican strongholds of Monroe County and east Tennessee.

Party lines were erased, at least temporarily, as the crowd swarmed on the lawn of the Monroe County Courthouse to hear the town's most famous son deliver a short "nonpolitical" address.

Gay flags and bunting were plentiful along the streets of Madisonville, a town nestled in the shadow of the Great Smoky Mountains, and pictures of Kefauver marked most store windows.

The senator spent 55 minutes after his talk shaking hands and signing autographs.

Prior to the reception, he visited his father Robert Cooke Kefauver, 85, who has been confined to bed at the familyhome near here with influenza.

Kefauver told his reception audience that another Republican victory would endanger the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Tobacco Reaches Peak

CANBERRA—Australia imported 51,700,000 pounds of tobacco in 1955, an increase of 12,900,000 pounds over 1954 and larger than in any previous year. The United States supplied 69 per cent of the total imports compared with 64 per cent in 1954.

State Parks Increase

WASHINGTON — There are now 2,020 State-park areas in the United States, an increase of 18 per cent in the last five years. The nation's State parks are equipped to handle nearly 200,000 overnight campers, nearly a third more than in 1950.

There are nearly 200 federal and State penitentiaries, reformatories, and prison camps in the nation, with a normal capacity of some 175,000 prisoners.

Japan Eyes Army Goal; Naval Target to Be Cut

TOKYO (AP)—Japan today reaffirmed its 1960 military goals of a 180,000-man army and 1,300-plane air force but cut its naval target from 124,000 to 110,00 tons.

The naval reduction represents 49,00 small obsolete landing ships —totaling 14,000 tons—which the Japanese plan to return to the United States to save maintenance costs.

Seek to Evolve Best Cargo Ship for Lakes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Maritime Administration has awarded an engineering contract to determine the best type of cargo vessel for service on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The study, by H. C. Downer and Associates, Inc., of Cleveland, is to be finished within six months at a cost not exceeding $21,400.

The Downer concern has been asked to determine the types, designs, and general characteristics of vessels best suited for combined ocean-going, St. Lawrence and Great Lakes service.

The Maritime Administration in February certified the route between Europe and the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence ports to be an essential foreign trade route, and two shipping operators already have applied for operating subsidies to serve the route.

These are the Isbrandtsen Co., Inc., New York, and T. J. McCarthy Steamship Co. of Detroit, Mich. Hearings on the applications have been ordered by the Federal Maritime Board.

80 Study Reactors

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A two-week short course in nuclear reactors and radiation in industry has begun at the University of Michigan. The course, which began Monday, has drawn 80 students, two thirds of them from industry and one third from government agencies.

There's Nothing to Argue About

Staid GOP Convention Lacks Drama, Zip

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Surely never before in the annals of pachydermy has there been a duller bunch of elephants than those who are wandering the hotel corridors of San Francisco today.

* * *

They are staid, heavy footed, gray and possessed of an air of rather stuffy complacency.

That toes for their Republican sponsors too.

The Republican at this convention from the American Legion convention from the American Legion conventioneer that, except for the fact he has his wife with him, he can scarcely be differentiated from a local business tycoon.

He does not toot a horn, wear a funny hat, carry ballons or pinch ladies in the evening.

His wife does not look like a typical conventioneer's wife either. She looks neither pained, nor worried, nor harried, and we have yet to hear any single one of her say "Now dear, don't you think you've had enough? You have a busy day tomorrow."

NOT VERY BUSY

Perhaps that's because the days aren't very busy. Everybody knows which way he's going, politically, and the only cause for controversy of any kind is the matter of where to get dinner.

Since there are so many good dining spots in this city, even that problem diminishes into a drab imitation of a crisis.

It is, in a few words, a convention that has no spirit of gamble, no feeling of challenge and no real sense of humor.

As a TV show it is reminiscent of a document on the subject of high school theatricals; and as a colorful news story it ranks right up there with the annual national Shrine convention, only not quite so amusing.

What the Republicans desperately need, we of the listless and idea-starved press have decided, is a good Broadway press agent. One of the kind who will leak out a sinister rumor once in a while just so people'll have the satisfaction later of sighing with relief that it's not true.

HAVE YOU HEARD?

Just something like, say, "Have you heard Irving Berlin has switched to Stassen?" would be enough. It's not much, but it's something.

The hottest tip this blue-draped newsroom has been let in on all day was that the Pepsi-Cola Kangaroo might have a press conference with the infant son of a California delegate.

This had all the elements of a swell story — you can't beat animals, babies and politics — but it turned out to be only a frivolous piece of gossip.

The kangaroo, or maybe it was the baby, got a bug, or maybe it was fleas. So everybody had to go back to interviewing college coeds and self-satisfied senators.

This convention is loaded with entertaining stars: Ethel Merman, Irving Berlin, Dennis Morgan, Nat Cole, Jane Powell, Wendell Corey. But it takes a whale of a lot more than a dozen lively songs to make a five-day extravaganza go.

The Republicans are happy but if you put their show side by side with the Democrats' drama, you find it as cumbersome as their no-talent elephants.

LOADED FOR DONKEY—One of the six Eisenhower bandwagons touring the country rolls through the streets of New York City, its hood adorned with 10 local beauties decked out in "Ike" dresses and parasols. Loaded to the tailgate with campaign material, its cargo includes: A 40-foot captive balloon to be flown above the wagon at each stop, public address system and library of taped campaign music, two ranch wagons, searchlights, banners, posters and cartons and cartons of campaign buttons.

Press Meeting Today

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan campus will draw some 3,000 visitors between the end of summer school and the beginning of the regular fall semester. Among those attending campus conferences and special courses are 1,400 high school students and advisers, at the National Scholastic Press Assn. conference today.

Negroes in Alabama to Fight to Gain Jobs

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A spokesman for two Negro men said they will continue their efforts to gain places on Birmingham's all-white police force.

And a statement by a group of Negro ministers said they feel a federal investigation is "necessary" to determine whether the firing of one of the two from his job in a shell-manufacturing plant was "discriminatory."

Clyde Jones, 28, was discharged by the Englander Co. yesterday, the day after he and George Johnson, 33, unsuccessfully sought examination for police jobs.

A company spokesman said Jones was fired for absenteeism and unsatisfactory work.

However Jones said he also was told the dismissal was because of his "extracurricular activity and politics."

Sandstorm on Mars

TOKYO (AP) — A huge yellow cloud—1,400 miles long and 300 wide—has appeared on the surface of Mars, a Japanese scientist reported today. Dr. Sadao Murayama of the Tokyo National Science Museum said he first noticed the cloud on the planet's Southern Hemisphere six days ago. He opined that it might be a gigantic sandstorm on one of Mars' deserts.

PONTIAC ON PARADE — Members of Pontiac's 107th Ordnance Company marched with other units of the Special Troops Battalion in the annual Governor's Day parade at Camp Grayling as 10,000 National Guardsmen were reviewed by Gov. Williams. The local men were part of the battalion shown here passing in review in front of guest stand. The unit will also take part in a parade of Special Troops Thursday at the camp.

Guard Outfit Boasts 4 Brothers, Twins

By CHUCK ABAIR

Pontiac's participants in the two-week summer training program of National Guard units at Camp Grayling can lay claim to having two of the most unusual brother acts in the entire camp of 10,000 civilian-soldiers.

The 107th Ordnance Company has its four Batten brothers from the Pontiac Area working together in the same unit, and Company M of the 125th infantry is proud of its Middleton twins performing similar tasks.

The Batten boys, Jerry, Howard, Clete, and Joe, are top men in the automotive part of the Ordnance company. Another brother, Clyde, is also in the 107th but could not make the camp this year since he recently started a new business.

"All the Battens are good men. They are among the best in our company," said their service officer, Lt. Dewain Hall, of Pontiac. "They have another brother, 15, who we expect to have in the unit when he is older," he added. "That will give them six brothers. Who can match that."

It is the first camp Clyde has missed in nine years. He and Clete have been in the unit since 1947. Jerry joined just before Korea. The trio served in the Korean War together. "They went over and came back on the same boat," stated CWO. John Bushart, company supply officer.

The youthful Middleton twins confine their duties to firing the 81 millimeter mortar in infantry drills. They took part in a full-scale firing exercise for guests and new soldiers recently. The boys live at Lake Orion.

The Pontiac units can also match any other in the number of areas represented in their ranks. Local Guardsmen hail from Pontiac, Lake Orion, Utica, Auburn Heights, Waterford Township, Drayton Plains, Milford, Oxford, Orion Township, Rochester, South Lyon, Lansing, Detroit, Birmingham, Huntington Woods, and several other localities.

General Visits Area Unit, Greets His Former Aide

It's a rare occurence when a general goes out of his way to make an informal visit to a particular unit whether it be in the Regular Army or the National Guard, but such an honor was bestowed on the 107th Ordinance Company of Pontiac and its Commanding Officer, Capt. G. Yarling Jr., recently.

Retired Brigadier General Harold Weber, of Oak Park, spent several hours with the Pontiac leader and his men prior to the Camp Grayling Governor's Day program over the past weekend and came away with nothing but praise for the local Guardsmen.

"It is a very fine and active unit which has made a superior showing during summer camp, commented the former assistant Commanding General of the 46th Division following the visit. He said the Pontiac company was playing a key role in the success of the overall training program.

The former general was among the invited guests on hand for the Governor's Day highlight of the camp. He was a veteran of 42 years in the Army and National Guard so his high praise of the unit is real tribute to the work of the 102 men and officers from the Pontiac area.

Weber's visit also served as a reunion between he and Capt. Yarling. Yarling formerly served as the General's aide for four years. "He was the best. I wouldn't have any other for my aide," was the way Gen. Weber described the value Capt. Yarling was to his office during those four years.

And what does a general do once he is through with Army life. "I am in the greenhouse business with my brother now and that keeps me busy," concluded the visiting general.

Gerald Graham, 18, of Bath City and Richard C. Wood, 17, who lives on a farm in Clinton County, were arraigned yesterday on charges of breaking and entering. They were bound over for trial and held under $15,000 bond each.

Apprentice Theater Students Learn Much

Play's the Thing; but Acting Is Work

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

It was nearing the end of the summer session, or "term" as it is called at Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater, the day Press Photographer Jim Mahar and I headed out to see what actually goes on in a theater school.

There are those who are serious, very serious, about acting. So much so that they walk miles to come to Will-O-Way for training. Some work at very hard jobs just to be able to afford the course.

Others, like Seymour Cassell of Detroit, haven't found the way paved with gold either. It's been hard, but somehow it's the only road. He leaves next week for New York City to arrange an audition in the American Theater Wing.

Next, of course, the hope of every actor, Actor's Studio. These more serious students won't be swayed. If you hint about the number of actors who have "failed," they get what you mean all right, but they still say, "There's always some kind of acting."

Maybe it's not going to be New York or Hollywood lights for them, but they'll find someplace where they can express themselves through acting.

Even those who take drama much less seriously—those who don't care to learn so much about the great dramatists and the history of the theater—love it out at Will-O-Way.

There's fellowship, a chance to learn to overcome shyness and the students certainly learn enough about poise.

Their admiration for their instructor, Cecelia Merrill Turner, is remarkable. They trust her, rely on her and consider her the "greatest" instructor.

SOME SCHOLARSHIPS

Although cost of the courses is modest, Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater has a few scholarships and is hoping for more. These people do not want to see ambitious actors left by the wayside.

Mrs. Turner has been associated with the theater since early childhood, first training at the Detroit Civic Theater. Her dramatic training was received at Michigan State University and through many years of private instruction.

In addition to extensive dramatic training, stock company experience and teaching, Mrs. Turner is an accomplished violinist, conductor and composer. She received a diploma in conducting from the Juilliard Graduate School, while working on a fellowship.

Will-O-Way Playhouse which is located beside the Apprentice Theater, is the oldest active professional summer theater in Michigan. Some of the students are seen in roles at this playhouse each summer.

Established in 1940, the Playhouse has been listed as one of the top ten summer theaters in the nation.

STARTED IN 1948

The Apprentice Theater is an outgrowth of this, having been formed in 1948 and licensed by the Michigan State Board of Education. It is now a corporation, approved by the same board.

The fall term begins Sept. 10 with registration, and classes start Sept. 17. A call to Will-O-Way will give you details of the amount of training covered during one term.

Most important is the fact that courses are geared to the individual and his needs. There are rules and regulations, of course, but helping the individual develop in poise, self confidence, and as a real actor, too, is important to the theater faculty.

On the board of directors are Mrs. Turner, president; Kenneth E. Turner Jr., vice president; Stanley Rosso, secretary-treasurer and Dr. William O. Merrill and Treesa Way Merrill.

To prevent a dust line forming on the wall behind pictures and mirrors, place a small rubber bumper between their botton edge and wall. This will permit the air to circulate freely.

Be Cautious of 'Tranquilizer' Drugs

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

The boy was injured in a ski accident.

For some hours it was feared that he might never walk again. They were hours of painful anxiety for his mother. But she was not permitted to live through them to the grateful discovery that she had survived them. Instead, she was given one of the new "tranquilizer" drugs. .

If disconnected her from her unwanted, natural emotion. But at a price. She fell ill from the side effects of the drug at the very time her recovering boy needed her in full possession of her strength.

Yet it is estimated that 35 million prescriptions for the "tranquilizer" drugs will be written in 1956. In 1955, three out of every 10 compounds most often prescribed by physicians were these chemical "peacemakers."

DON'T APPROVE

The American Psychiatric Association whose members have close experience with the drugs doesn't like the situation one bit.

Announcing its concern over the public's use of them "for the relief of common anxiety, emotional upsets, nervousness and routine tensions of everyday living," it says, "casual use of these drugs is medically unsound and constitute a public danger."

"They have not been in use long enough to determine their side effects' full range, duration, medical significance. The prescribing of these drugs for emotional illness carries with it an obligation for continuing appraisal and supervision by physicians fully aware of the psychiatric symptoms involved."

Not content with this statement, the association goes on to warn us of "subtle pressures" whose interest it is to encourage our misunderstanding and misuse of these drugs.

I asked the National Association for Mental Health to express its view. In a special statement, its medical consultant, Dr. George S. Stevenson, says to us:

"The consensus of scientific authorities is that these drugs are most effective in combination with psychotherapy by making withdrawn and disturbed patients accessible to it. To a considerable degree, the use of these drugs is still in the experimental stage."

For psychiatrists whose training it is to speak with moderation, this is strong talk.

I have a comment of my own. In this world, tranquility is not available for the price of a doctor's prescription. People who imagine it is may have to make guinea pigs of themselves to discover this folly.

Jerry Ann Simpson and Millard Dean Squire were married in a Nuptial Mass at Our Lady of Refuge Church Saturday morning. She is the daughter of Mrs. Filon Simpson of Orchard Lake road, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Coggins of Voorheis road.

MR. and MRS. MILLARD D. SQUIRE

Jerry Ann Simpson Wed at Lady of Refuge Church

Our Lady of Refuge Church was the setting for the wedding of Jerry Ann Simpson and Millard Dean Squire. The Rev. Giles Bartol celebrated the 11 o'clock Nuptial Mass Saturday morning.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Filon Simpson of Orchard Lake road. Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Coggins of Voorheis road are Millard's parents.

Given in marriage by her brother, Filon Simpson Jr., Jerry wore a floor-length gown of white lace over taffeta. A crown headpiece edged with seed pearls secured her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

Mrs. Edward Hancock, sister of the bride, wore a ballerina-length dress of pink lace over taffeta for her duties of matron of honor. Her headpiece was of pink flowers and she carried a bouquet of blue carnations accented with white flowers.

Arlene Budnick of South Lyon, niece of the bride, and Nancy Coggins, sister of the bridegroom, wore dresses identical to the honor attendant's, in blue. They carried pink bouquets.

Richard Kincaid, brother-in-law of the bride, served Millard as best man. Ushers were Arthur Budnick and Gerald Peevy of South Lyon, nephews of the bride.

At the reception, held at Veterans Memorial Hall in Keego Harbor, Mrs. Simpson greeted her guests wearing a gown of champagne colored lace over taffeta with white accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

Mrs. Coggins chose a dress of sapphire blue with beige accessories for her son's wedding. Her corsage was also of yellow carnations.

The couple will reside in their new home on Lakeside drive following a honeymoon in Northern Michigan.

Successful Women's Club Has Pleasure as Sole Aim

No Officers — No Dues — No Business Is Formula for No Fights, No Fuss

By RUTH MILLETT

Let me tell you today about a group of women who have formed a club that has escaped the faults of most women's clubs.

When they formed their group these women were all fed up with big club meetings, business sessions, money wrangles, busy work, telephone committees, elaborate refreshments and parliamentary procedure.

But they still felt the need of having a group of congenial women who would get together just for the pleasure of being together.

So they formed a small club, asking only those they wanted. They skipped asking anyone because they "should."

They decided to meet every other week in a member's home. To keep the meetings from being a dreaded chore for the hostess they agreed to serve nothing but coffee.

They decided there would be no officers, no dues, no business. It's just a planned sociable get-together on a certain day.

These women met at 10:30 a.m., have a couple of hours of good talk over their coffee and any who have time go on together to have lunch in a restaurant.

The club has been flourishing for several years, with never a moment's unpleasantness, no rivalry of any kind, no arguments, no hurt feelings.

With plain old-fashioned sociability as their only aim, they've formed a group that has as much fun together as a men's poker club.

I'm passing on the formula because so many women write me that they are lonely but they don't like women's clubs.

If you don't like the "typical" woman's club with its over-organization, its lofty aims that are rarely accomplished, its time consuming reports and boring business meetings, why not found a club of your own dedicated without shame to pure enjoyment?

Confections Made With Artistry

Mrs. Bowen Offers Delicious, Colorful Dutch Bonquet

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

At a recent meeting of the Countryside Improvement Association the guests were delighted with bright colored confections on the cookie tray.

They were the creations of Mrs. Emerson Bowens who worked out the recipe for these marzipan-like cookies.

Mrs. Bowens is of Dutch ancestry. Marzipan is known in the Netherlands as Bonquet (pronounced bonket). Liking to work with food, Mrs. Bowens often experiments as she did with the cookies.

In addition to cooking, Mrs. Bowens' likes sewing—especially hats—and painting. Her teenage daughter is beginning to follow in her mother's footsteps.

BONQUET
By Mrs. Emerson Bowens

2 cans angel flake coconut
1 package strawberry gelatine
Almond flavoring
Evaporated milk

Place coconut and gelatine in bowl. Whip together with a fork. Add flavoring and just enough milk to moisten and make the mixture stiff enough to handle. Chill overnight.

Form into little strawberries. Using a decorator tip, put green frosting leaves on top.

Vary these confections by varying the gelatine. Form orange flavor into little oranges, etc. If you do not care to form the mixture, press it flat in a pan and cut in squares, or cut with tiny cookie cutters.

Frosting for Leaves

3 tablespoons vegetable shortening
4 tablespoons cream
1½ cups confectioners sugar

Cream shortening, add sugar and cream and beat until fluffy. Will keep in refrigerator. Color green.

Be An Individual

Let's make this winter a "Be-yourself-year."

A French hair stylist stated the other day that long hair made mature women look older, I believe that a youthful style for matrons the emphasis should be on keeping the hair up off the neck. The length of hair is a personal choice. Our experience has been that some women both young and old find style and comfort in long hair. Others are much happier and better looking with short tresses . . . the difference being the shape of face and neck, color and texture of hair. Why not try the style that is smartest, most comfortable and longest lasting for you? Believe me, a hair-do that is manageable several days after the shampoo gives you better grooming and less worry wrinkles than the most exotic hair-do that is blah the next day.

Before an altar banked with white gladioli, Eleanor Marjorie Lowe of South East Boulevard became the bride of Robert A. Kaphengst Saturday evening.

The Rev. John C. Striet performed the 7 o'clock candlelight service in Grace Lutheran Church in the presence of 250 guests.

Eleanor is the daughter of Mrs. John Lowe of Utica, and Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kaphengst of Devondale road.

For her wedding, Eleanor wore a gown of white organza. The bodice was of embroidered organdy fashioned with a square neckline and cap sleeves. Panels of the embroidery were repeated on either side of the plain organdy skirt. Tiers of tiny ruffles fell from the waist at the back into a cathedral-length train.

A headpiece of satin and rhinestones secured her fingertip veil. She carried a white orchid surrounded with white shattered carnations on her white Bible.

SISTER IS HONOR MAID

Mrs. Ernest Temple, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Dennis Fitzsimmons of Detroit and Grace Kaphengst, cousin of the bridegroom, of Flint, were the bride's other attendants.

Their ballerina-length princess style gowns were fashioned identically in Nile green, yellow and pink nylon organza respectively.

100 Attend Silver Tea in Pontiac

Affair at Hoyt Home to Benefit Animal Rescue League

A silver tea to benefit the Michigan Animal Rescue League was held at the century-old home of Miss Georgia Hoyt on West Lawrence street.

As members and guests numbering 100 arrived, they admired the marble-topped tables and other furnishings, all in the Early American motif.

Five Pages Today in Women's Section

For serving Miss Hoyt used much of the silver, including vases and candelabra, which are family heirlooms.

Attracting everyone's eye was the beautiful tea table which was centered with a horseshoe-shaped bowl filled with pink phlox.

TAPERS FLANK BOWL

Pink tapers in silver holders flanked the bowl, and bouquets of white phlox, all from the garden, were used throughout the living room, dining room and music room.

Long branches of forsythia were placed in a floor vase by the piano. Others were placed on the piano and the marble topped corner table.

As general chairman, Miss Hoyt was assisted by Mrs. Dexter Craig and Miss Jeannette Hubbard of Bloomfield Hills.

Task for Father

Have dad check the children's outdoor vehicles—bicycles, scooters, wagons. It's a safe bet it's been a coon's age since he's tightened bolts, applied oil and grease in the proper places.

BIRMINGHAM—Katherine Mary Daeschner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Daeschner, and Carleton Purdum McLain Jr., whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carleton P. McLain of Detroit, were married at an evening ceremony in Christ Church Cranbrook Saturday.

Chantilly lace accented the scoop neckline of Katherine's white Italian silk wedding gown, and insets of the same lace were on the full skirt which fell in cathedral train. A small cap of matching lace held her fingertip veil of illusion, and the bridal bouquet was of Amazon lilies, valley lilies and Carolamling roses.

Mrs. C. Dow Caldwell of Anderson, Ind., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Mrs. Rex A. Sebastian of Columbus, Ind., Mrs. Charles Vaughan of Lafayette, Ind., Mrs. Robert O. Daeschner of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mrs. William H. Daeschner of Ann Arbor.

You Can Conquer Sleeplessness

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There is no experience much more miserable than knowing that you need to sleep and yet being unable to do so. Sometimes the eyelids feel heavy and dry from fatigue but even then Morpheus may not oblige.

There are a few simple rules which will help you overcome this difficulty. In the first place try to leave your problems until tomorrow. Do not think them over after going to bed.

If the next day is to be a very busy one and you cannot discipline your mind, then you would do better to make lists and jot down ideas.

Before you go to bed do your best to relax. Reading might help.

I have often done this when work and home relationships and duties, lecture trips and heavy reader mail, social life or illness in the home and a dozen unexpected happenings made it impossible to sleep.

Once you turn the light on and make lists which organize the next day you will find yourself slipping off to slumber.

TAKE IT EASY

It is also a bad idea to jump right from the rush of the day into your eight hours sleep — because sometimes you do not land there. Enjoy some leisure, with a slowed-down tempo, reading or listening to music, mild exercise or gay companionship, or cards (if this doesn't tense you up). In other words untense before you try to go to sleep.

Remember that extreme fatigue will keep you awake. This is true of adults as well as of children. Overtired children have a hard time getting to sleep, usually sleep fitfully, and waken earlier than usual.

Your problem may be accumulative fatigue, when you have done too much for several days or weeks in a row. Of course if you are chronically weary you should have a physical checkup.

A low-calories, light snack before going to bed at night may be helpful. This is soothing and draws more blood to your stomach and away from your head.

SET ALARM

If you have to get up at a certain time be sure to set an alarm clock. Otherwise you will subconsciously be worrying about the time and will not sleep well.

Above everything, do not fret about not getting to sleep. This will make you wider awake than ever since your worry will raise your blood pressure and stimulate you to wakefulness.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 34 "Shuteye," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Liz Arden's $15,000 Shindig Livens GOP Parley

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Elizabeth Arden, cosmetics queen and thoroughbred stable proprietress, tossed a $15,000 champagne supper for the Republican horsey set early this a.m. The purpose: To liven up a dull political race.

About 1,000 guests—including almost everybody at the GOP convention but Ike, Nixon and the $2 bettor—dug into the soft going and guzzled their way to a driving finish.

It was such good fun, with the music and the chicken patties and the 48 cases of booze and all, that they all ended up under the wire (and more than one under the table) at 3 a.m.

Miss Arden, flushing to match her pink hair, said, "Oh, you know this started out as just a small party and then I expanded it to 500 or 600. I just don't know where all these people—uh, guests—came from."

OUTDOES MESTA?

Perle Mesta, who flung the mostest moolah around and among last week's Democratic Convention soirees, would possibly have been livid at the results of Miss Arden's naive success in the social racket. Liz's party was held in a 300-foot long room at the Mark Hopkins Hotel and featured a 10-piece band, movie stars and senators.

* * *

One magazine writer who had attended both Mrs. Mesta's party and this one summed it up:

"Perle would be paralyzed!"

It began at 10 o'clock, with long lines of minks with women in them lining up for 50 yards outside the entrance to the Arden fiesta room.

Such personalities as Treasury Secretary George Humphrey and Attorney General Herbert Brownell were carefully screened before they were allowed to enter. The Pinkerton men, whose attitude was "You can't be too careful," were allowing no one in without an engraved invitation.

MANY SNEAK IN

Things became looser later, and by midnight there were all manner of orange-shirted men and women in sports clothes sneaking in through the VIP screen. By 1 a.m., you could hardly tell Constance Bennett from Sens. Homer Capehart and Everett Dirksen—the crush was so heavy and the nourishment so heady.

In the pink-and-white drinking section of the giant room, Miss Arden (in real life Mrs. Elizabeth Graham) stood in a one-woman receiving line while 10 waiters circulated through the muddle of guests serving 16 cases of bourbon and scotch, 20 cases of champagne and 10 quarts of martinis and Manhattans.

In an adjoining room, dim-lit and equipped with a dance floor, millionaires and socialites took turns sitting at elegant tables to eat a supper of chicken magadore, bread stuffed with watercress, spiced crabapples, fruit tarts and demi-tasse.

In one corner of this room, a starlight mink stole sprawled casually under a cigarette stand. Under circumstances like these, it is easy to misplace a mink.

Otto Gurtner, banquet headwaiter for the Mark Hopkins, kept rubbing his hands in delight and murmuring "This is the best, positively the best party of the year."

Walter Rank, beverage manager for the hotel, looked gleeful too. "They drink scotch," he said. "Oh my, you would not expect people of this calibre to drink anything but scotch."

Miss Arden, the hostess, whose interest in the Republican party had never been evident until last night's shindig, said she was delighted everybody had a good time.

She said also that she is certain the Ike-Nixon ticket will win in November.

It will be, she predicted—as they say in Saratoga circles—a boat race.

It looked like a family caucus as the family gathered beside the plane when President Eisenhower left for San Francisco yesterday to accept the second term nomination by the GOP convention. Mrs. Eisenhower beams on grandson, David. Their son, Maj. John Eisenhower, holds Mary Jean. Others pictured are his wife, Barbara, Barbara Ann (back to camera) and Susan.

Sandra L. Monroe Feted

Mrs. Earl Atkinson was hostess at a shower honoring bride-elect Sandra Lee Monroe. The affair was held at the Atkinson home at Silver Lake, with Mrs. William Nixon and Mrs. Alvin Winges Jr. serving as cohostesses.

Sandra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Monroe of Silver Circle drive will become the bride of Richard Pitcher in a ceremony to be performed Aug. 31 at Grace Lutheran Church. Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pitcher of Royal Oak.

During the evening guests presented their favorite recipes to the bride-elect and played games.

Mrs. Monroe and Mrs. Pitcher presided at the silver services for the buffet supper. The table was centered with an arrangement of pink and white gladioli flanked by white tapers.

Guests attending the recent affair were Sue Ann Monroe, Mrs. Douglas Hoyt, Mrs. William Reynolds, Mrs. LaMar Tyack, Mrs. Roy Welch, Nancy Welch, Mrs. William Hamilton, Mrs. Frank Phelps, Mrs. Michael Martin, Sharon Sour, Mrs. Selma Thouin, Mrs. Clyde Atkinson, Mrs. William Monroe, and Mrs. Jerry Moen.

Mrs. Kenneth Vanderworker, Mrs. Wayne Sautala, Mrs. Lloyd Hoyt, Mrs. John Toski, Sharon Savedge, Mrs. Vere Hodges, Mrs. Robert Atkinson and Mrs. Robert Chidester also attended.

Completing the guest list were Mrs. Fred Kempe, Mr. Elmer Jacobson, Mrs. Orry Ritter, Mrs. Ralph Nixon, Mrs. Patrick Liddle, Barbara Schwalm and Mrs. Dudley Cheal.

Woman Has Front Door Problems

Would It Be Rude to Have Callers Use Back Entrance

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: "Could neighbors possibly take offense at being asked to use the back entrance when they drop in to see me during the day. I am usually in the back of the house working and I always keep the front door locked to avoid salesmen, peddlers, etc., from walking in unannounced.

"These neighbors have been in the habit of using the front door and it means that I have to stop what I am doing, walk to the front of the house to open the door for them. This can be very interrupting. Would it be rude to request them to use the back door?"

Answer: If you explain as you have here, they can hardly fail to understand perfectly.

Dear Mrs. Post: "My daughter is going to be married soon and one of her bridesmaids is giving a shower for her.

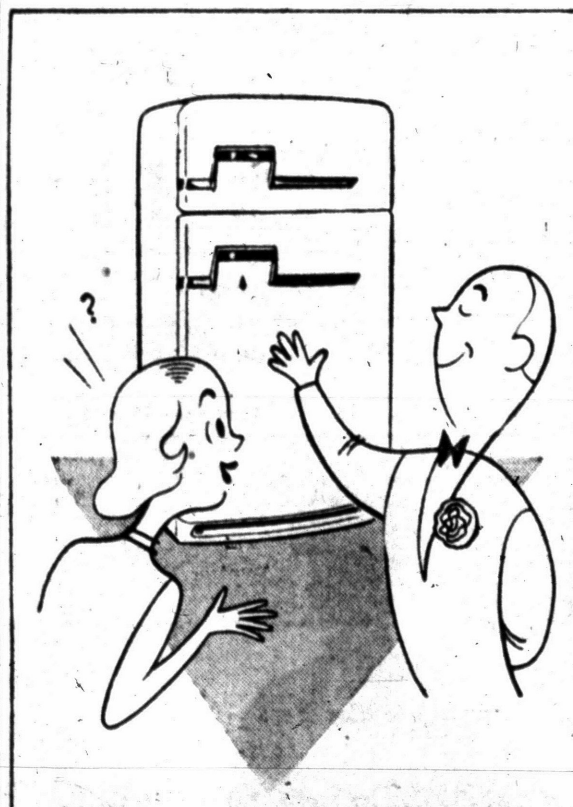

"Will you please tell me if it would be proper for the person giving the shower to ask the bridegroom's mother for a list of her friends and relatives and invite them to the shower even though they do not know my daughter?"

Answer: No, she should invite only friends of the bride to the shower.

Dear Mrs. Post: "One of my neighbors brought me a basket filled with fruit and jelly and an assortment of cookies when I was sick recently. It was not a basket arranged by a store, but one that she had fixed herself, because the jelly was her own. Am I supposed to return this basket to her or consider it as part of the present?"

Answer: Unless she told you specifically she would like it back, you may keep it.

To keep zippers from getting caught in the threads of dress or skirt, dampen the raw edges with starch and press down with a hot iron.

Right Kind of Job Always Creative

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Did you ever find yourself in a conversation when you were at a loss for words, when somebody said something that called for a witty and fast rejoinder, but you couldn't think of a thing?

And then, the next day, the perfect answer came to you. Only then, of course, it was too late.

That happened to me, recently, on a television discussion panel.

A famous career woman was asking me about people and their talents and so forth. I gave her examples of people I know who were really doing fine work.

And then she said—rather arrogantly, I thought—"That's all very well, Miss Heywood. But what about the little people, the ordinary run-of-the-mill people?"

CAUGHT OFF GUARD

I was flabbergasted. I tried to recover by talking about talents generally. But the next day, I thought of the perfect answer.

I should have said, "I've been acquainted with the destinies of some ten thousand people, but I never met a little person, an ordinary run-of-the-mill person. Will you define what you mean by a little person?"

That would have done it, but, of course, that was too late!

The truth is, there is no difference between a so-called big, flashy talent and a little one. Anything man can do can be done creatively by the right man for it.

In the right hands, cake-baking or puppy-raising or statistical typing or slip-covering can be every bit as "creative" as poetry.

And, in our saner moments, we know it.

When we are doing the work which is right for us, we get a glow, a sense of satisfaction, a feeling of the on-goingness of life, which we can't explain but which gives us that "creative" feeling.

When we are not doing the work which is right for us, we don't feel "creative," even if what we're doing is writing or painting or something in any of the so-called creative fields.

DON'T FEEL ENVY

Moreover, when we're doing what's right for us, we're incapable of envy. Our own life is so satisfying that we don't envy the people on the stage or at the head of the U. N. or in the million-dollar jobs.

We know that we're fulfilling ourselves and we don't want anything more.

If you're having trouble finding out what is the right work for you, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of this newspaper and I'll send you my pointers on how to find your basic interests.

Hill-Cunningham Nuptial Solemnized in Church Rite

Wearing a gown of lace over nylon tulle and satin, Gertrude Cunningham became the bride of Robert W. Hill Friday evening.

The bouffant skirt of her gown was shirred at the hipline and fell into a cathedral-length train. A crown headpiece of seed pearls held her fingertip veil and she carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and lilies-of-the-valley.

Captain Vernon Vie of Kansas City, Mo., formerly of Pontiac, performed the ceremony at the Salvation Army Citadel in the presence of 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cunningham of Corwin court. Robert is the son of Mrs. Robert Rogers of Going street and Eugene Hill of Clark street.

THREE ATTENDANTS

Miriam Roth served the bride as maid of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. William Smith, sister of the bride and Mrs. A. Cooper.

Their gowns, styled identically, were ballerina length. The honor attendant's dress was fashioned of mauve crystalette and the other attendants were gowned in Nile green crystalette.

Their headpieces were of carnations in a matching color to their carnation bouquets.

Sally Wearing, cousin of the bride, and Paula Kay Maddox were flower girls, dressed in pink and white brocade frocks with headpieces of pink and white carnations. Each carried a basket of pink rose petals.

BROTHER IS BEST MAN

James Cunningham, brother of the bride, served as best man. Seating the guests were William Smith and Arthur McDonald. Larry O'Berry Jr. performed the duties of ringbearer.

MRS. ROBERT W. HILL

Singing the bridal recital were John Munro and Arthur McDonald, uncle of the bride.

Mrs. Cunningham greeted her guests at the reception wearing a powder blue lace dress with white accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

Mrs. Rogers chose a brown lace dress with white accessories and a corsage of talisman roes for her son's wedding.

For traveling to Canada and New York, the new Mrs. Hill changed to a pink sheath dress with white accessories and wore the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The newlyweds will reside on Corwin court on their return.

Bride-to-Be Sets Sept. 8 for Wedding

The ceremony will take place at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church at 4:30 o'clock Sept. 8, followed by a small reception at "Woodley Green," the Emory W. Clark home on Lake Shore road.

Miss Clark has asked Lisa Bowen of Lake Forest, Ill. to be her maid of honor. Mrs. Reese Howard of Far Hills, N. J., sister-in-law of the bridegroom-elect, and Mrs. Richard Hollaman, Lt. Howard's sister, of Rowayton, Conn., will be bridesmaids.

Graeme K. Howard will be his son's best man. Richard Hollaman, William Reeve Clark Jr. and Emory Wendell Clark II, brothers of the bride-elect, and Peter Roland of Ridgefield, Conn., Peter Danforth of Rye, N. Y., Reese Howard and John Williams will serve as ushers.

Legion Installation Held

Mrs. Roger B. Dean was installed as president of American Legion Cook-Nelson Post Ladies Auxiliary when the group met Saturday evening.

Installing officer, Mrs. Joseph Phillips, president of the new 18th District, was assisted by the Eight and Forty ritual team.

Other officers installed were Mrs. Eldon Showen, first vice president; Mrs. Robert Connant, second vice president; Mrs. James E. McKee, secretary; Mrs. Ray Jewel, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Sutton, historian; Mrs. Milton Yerkes, chaplain and Mrs. Carl Ainge, sergeant-at-arms.

Serving on the executive board are Mrs. William Thomas, Mrs. Arno Hulet and Mrs. Fred Bohlman.

Donald Sutton, senior vice commander, presented the newly installed president with a bouquet of red roses following her installation.

A buffet supper was served with Mrs. Leo Mineweaser and Mrs. Hulet serving as cochairmen.

The first meeting to be conducted by the new officers will be held Sept. 10 at the Cook-Nelson Post home on Auburn avenue, beginning at 8 p.m.

Corduroy Comes in Prints, Plaids

NEW YORK (NEA) — Corduroy looks, at first glance, like anything but corduroy this fall.

The same velvety feel is there but the fabric itself may be printed or plain or plaid or stripe. Its colors are vivid and unusually beautiful.

For pre-teeners, with their special figure problems, designers have done wonderful things with corduroy.

They've used it for ensembles and slim jumper dresses, for clothes with lines that pare down the figure and minimize a waistline that usually makes a pre-teener groan in anxiety to add a couple of years and stretch out lengthwise a bit.

Baby Deserves Cake for First Birthday

Plain cake seems only fair for baby's birthday, even if he's a little young for sweets.

But make it a white or yellow cake, minus the gooey frosting. His can be a cupcake if the one for snapshots is piled high with frosting.

Going to College This Fall?

Should the college be coed or all girl?—This is a big question for lots of girls. The all-girl college is ideal for the girl who wants a school which divides studies and social life:

The coeducational school provides the stimulation of male opinion in classes, mixed on-campus activities and appeals to girls who like fraternities and sororities.

Girls who can't choose between the two, may like the coordinated school—a girl's college within a university such as Pembroke at Brown or Barnard at Columbia—except in classes.

Don't choose any college solely on the basis of this question. Keep it in its proper perspective

Does the college offer the courses I want?—If you already know your talents and interests, or what career you want to follow, choose a school which is specially equipped to handle your demands.

Blue Note Teen Group Seeking Winter Dances

The Blue Note Teen Club, a club formed to provide summer dances for area teenagers, may continue on through the school year, it was announced today by club leader Donald Sayles. He said club members have requested the dance go on.

The acquisition of a new site for the dances is the main problem facing club officials in their hopes of keeping the popular club going during school months.

Summer dances have been held at the Eagles Club on M59, Waterford Township, Thursday evenings. The final such dance of the season is set for this week.

A continuation of the dances would mean a change in nights to Saturdays due to classes during the week which is the reason a new hall is needed. The Eagles Club hold its own dances on Saturdays.

Membership in the club has grown from 100 to 700 since the dances began in June. Attendance at the weekly affairs has increased from an average of 50 at the start, to 200.

AF Plane Crashes; 3 Dead, 6 Injured

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)—The commander of a stricken Air Force transport plane banked away from a group of houses to an open spot where the aircraft crashed and burned last night, killing three men and injuring three men and injuring three others critically.

None of the men was publicly identified, pending notification of their families. The cause of the crash was not determined but at least one engine was not operating.

Stevens Heads Dem Fund-Raising Drive

WASHINGTON (UP)—The task of raising funds for the Democratic national campaign has been assigned to Roger L. Stevens, a New York theatrical producer.

His appointment yesterday as finance chairman for the Democratic National Committee follows similar work he did in 1952 for the Volunteers for Stevenson, and earlier this year for Adlai E. Stevenson's successful preconvention campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The announcement from Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said eight regional finance committees will be set up, each to cover six states.

OK School Bond Issue

HOWARD CITY (AP)—Voters have approved a proposal to issue $225,000 in bonds to finance construction of a new six-room elementary school in Howard City. The special election drew 278 affirmative and 139 negative votes.

Royal Spinster Margaret Has 26th Birthday — Alone

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret, the world's No. 1 royal spinster, turned 26 yesterday amid the usual press speculation over her plans fo rhte future.

Her official birthday portraits showed the princess looking almost somber, in contrast to her smiling pictures of a year ago.

"Isn't it odd," asked the Daily Mirror, "that a young girl should choose a gay picture one year and a sad one the next.

"Has anything happened since last year to explain the change?"

It is now almost 10 months since the Queen's pretty sister decided against marrying Group Capt. Peter Townsend, a divorced Royal Air Force hero, because of her obligations to the monarchy and the established Church of England. The church frowns on remarriage of divorced persons.

A columnist in the Daily Mail called one of the poses, in the drawing room of Margaret's London home, "the most striking royal portrait of the year." He added:

"Inevitably Princess Margaret's birthdays become more than an occasion for a special picture.

"In America and Britain the magazines jump on the opportunity to remind you that another year has gone by.

" 'What,' they ask you, 'Does the future hold?'

"Yet friends of Princess Margaret tell me she has never been happier—has never led a fuller or richer life than she does today."

The princess planned to spend her birthday quietly with her sister, Queen Mother Elizabeth and other members of the royal family at Balmoral castle, in Scotland.

Says Poor Families Can't Afford Milk

DETROIT (AP) — Spiraling milk prices have put bottled milk beyond the reach of lower-income Detroit families, the Greater Detroit Consumers Council declared today. Consumers Council declared.

appear to have the slightest regard for the welfare of milk consumers," said Charles C. Lockwood, council president. "Already bottled milk has been priced out of the reach of lower-income Detroit families."

The council spoke out as dairy farmer delegates to a Michigan Milk Producers Assn. meeting in East Lansing studied association demands for a milk price increase.

The farmers are expected to demand that creameries pay $5.25 per 100 pounds of drinking milk, and possibly more.

This could bring a penny increase in the retail price of milk in Detroit and suburbs. Milk retails for about 23 cents a quart.

Clement Wires Congratulations to GOP Keynoter

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Gov. Frank Clement, last week's Democratic keynote speaker, today congratulated Gov. Arthur B. Langlie, Republican keynoter.

Langlie referred in his address last night to "20 demoralizing years of discord and defeatism in our public affairs" during Democratic administrations.

I must agree not only on your right to say it," Clement wired Langlie, "but that you delivered your address in a magnificent manner.

"You are a good speaker. Congratulations to you and your charming wife."

Criminal Justice in State Up for Study

LANSING (AP) — The American Bar Foundation will conduct a survey of criminal justice in Michigan Gov. Williams said Tuesday.

Michigan is the third pilot state the foundation will survey. The five year study eventually will extend to 17 states, the governor said.

Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh said the study's sole purpose is to learn the facts about criminal law enforcement in Michigan.

"It is to be completely objective and in no sense an expose," Kavanagh said. "It is not aimed at any particular section or locale."

The special committee of the foundation directing the study is headed by Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, wartime head of the OSS. He will be aided by a staff of 10.

Eddie's Dead, but His Friends Have a Heart

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Little Eddie Beakins in death has left a legacy of hope for other youngsters in the struggle against the heart ailment that killed him.

The 3-year-old West Olive, Mich., youngster died May 19 after an operation at University of Minnesota Hospital to mend openings in the wall separating the heart chambers.

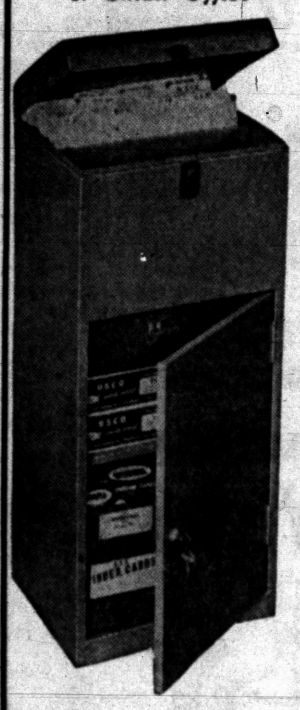

Today, the "Eddie Beakins Research fund," to help finance treatment and research into youthful heart disease, totals $1,402.50.

The project was started by the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beakins. They turned over to the university $211.50 which friends had donated.

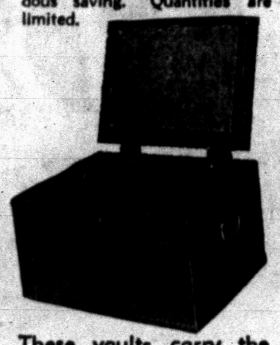

University of Minnesota surgeons, many of whom developed a warm attachment for the stricken youngster, waived all fees in the case and contributed the money to the research fund. Much of it had been donated by sympathetic Michigan residents.

LAKE ORION—Villagers here will work toward a five-year improvement plan for their park, without tax assessment.

This was decided last night in a meeting at the home of Mrs. Gerald Lane, Lake Orion Improvement Assn. chairman, at which villagers and two councilmen, Hugh Galloway and Bert Hauxwell, were present.

On Monday, the group plans to present to the council a four point repair program including pilings, beach, diving board and dock. On Tuesday, a committee of five will attend the Township Board meeting, requesting their participation in the program.

Janet Lee Travis Wed in Rites; Pastor Sings

METAMORA—When Janet Lee Travis became the bride of Leon Robert Roney in Richfield Road Baptist church last Saturday, the Rev. A. E. Copelin, pastor of the church officiated.

He also sang "Oh Promise Me" before and "The Lord's Prayer" after the ceremony. His wife played organ music.

A white nylon dress and a yellow rosebud corsage was worn by the bride for the wedding. She is the daughter of Mrs. Donald Travis of Metamora and her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Roney Sr. of Thornville.

Maid of honor was Viola Hainds of Metamora and Larry Roney was his brother's best man. Ring bearer was his nephew, Jimmy Smith.

An 8 p.m. reception followed the afternoon ceremony, at the K P Hall in Flint, where an elaborate cake made by the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Harry Stiehr of Detroit, was served. It was decorated with a complete wedding party in miniature, which she had dressed.

The couple will honeymoon for a week in Ohio before taking up residence at 4008 Richfield Rd., Flint.

WONDERFUL RESULTS REPORTED BY O-JIB-WA USER

The real test of a medicine is not in words, but in its use. Thousands of people right in your vicinity, have tried O-JIB-WA BITTERS, and have been so pleased with the results, that they are continually telling others, so that they too, can gain from their experience. Typical is the testimonial of Mrs. Clara Anderson, 5681 Nightingale, Dearborn, printed below.

"My trouble started back in 1942, when I was working in a factory. I had arthritis in my back, arms and legs. My knee would swell and it was very difficult to even walk. Shots and other treatments would take the pains away, but they always returned about a week later. In 1952, a friend recommended O-JIB-WA BITTERS to me, so I decided to give it a good trial. It wasn't long before I could tell that your Bitters was helping me, as in two months the pain and swelling went out of my knee, and I was feeling lots better. Little things that bothered me in the past were no longer noticeable. O-JIB-WA also seemed to calm me down considerably, so that now I am able to pitch in and help around the house again. My husband has noticed too, how much stronger I am, and how much more pep I have. In fact, we both are painting our house, and that is something that would have been impossible except for O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I can't say enough for this wonderful medicine."

KABOBS OF SALMON AND MUSHROOMS are a delightful flavor surprise when cooked over hot coals or in the broiler. Cut frozen salmon steaks into goodly sized chunks, dip in melted butter then roll in crumbs. Dip mushrooms (caps) in butter and string on skewers alternately with the salmon chunks. Broil until salmon flakes easily. Baste frequently with hot lemon butter. ("Baste" means to moisten — to pour over.)

MEDALLION FOR HOOVER—Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, permanent chairman of the GOP convention, pins a gold medallion on former President Herbert Hoover in honor of his service to the party. The 82-year-old Hoover got a rousing reception with delegates whooping it up as he came forward to make his address to the convention last night.

Urges Adoption of Strong Policy

'Declaration of Faith' Approved by Roaring GOP Convention

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Herbert Hoover, the only living Republican ex-president, last night counseled the GOP to adopt a "resounding" declaration that "America shall safeguard the freedom of men."

Then, after the 82-year-old party elder left the platform amid echoing cheers, the Republican National Convention roared its approval of such a "declaration of faith," and the GOP campaign platform of which it is a part.

Biggest Ovation

By ROBERT B. TARR
Managing Editor, Pontiac Press

SAN FRANCISCO — Biggest ovation of the convention so far was given former President Herbert Hoover when he appeared to address Republicans last night. It was his seventh appearance in that role. It is unlikely that anyone will receive as fine a tribute from the crowd until the demonstration which will be given the nominees. Hoover is one former president whose stature has continued to grow since he left the White House and his long record of public service deserves any recognition the nation can give him. Few men in public life remain as active at his age, 82.

The declaration spells out GOP aims as safeguarding free institutions, maintaining world peace and building dynamic prosperity at home.

"Our government was created by the people for all the people, and it must serve no less a purpose," the party statement said.

The delegates gave Hoover an affectionate five-minute ovation, exuberant Young Republicans parading past the lectern with banners carrying such sentiments as "We Love You, Mr. Hoover."

This was the seventh GOP convention that Hoover has addressed and he got a gold medallion in recognition of his services to the party.

Hoover spoke of "the encroachments of government to master our lives" as the "greatest issue in America and all mankind."

Four years ago, the ex-President told the Republicans it was probably the last time he'd address them in convention. And here he was, back again last night at 82, making quiet little jokes about the actress who made six tearful farewell appearances.

Hoover stood blinking under the lights, his thinning hair a yellow-white, his eyes lost under wispy white brows, a small wry smile playing over his eyes. Made you think of a benign, blond Buddha.

He thanked the delegates but there was no tears, no break in his voice. He read from the teleprompter in his own slow, deliberate pace. He tolerated the applause but rarely looked up.

IT'S THE IKE AND DAVID ROUTINE — For some time, in affectionate good humor, grandfather Eisenhower and grandson David Eisenhower have been bowing for greetings and farewells. Leaving for the GOP convention from the Washington airport today, the President bows as he shakes hands with David. Mrs. Eisenhower kisses their granddaughter Barbara Ann. The grandchildren stayed in Washington.

AP Wirephoto

IKE ON HISTORIC POWELL STREET—President Dwight Eisenhower stood in his car and waved to the crowd last night, with a welcome sign overhead, as he neared his San Francisco hotel after a trip from the airport. Paper streams down as the motorcade moves along famed Powell street, one of the city's many hilly streets.

CONFERENCE — Members of the Michigan delegation to the Republican National Convention in San Francisco got together for a brief conference yesterday. They are: John Feikens (left) of Detroit, Michigan state delegation chairman, and Robert C. C. Heaney of Grand Rapids, state central committee treasurer and chairman of the Michigan arrangements committee.

Free Loaders in Their Glory Below Nob Hill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It's a field day for freeloaders at the Republican National Convention.

Want a free beer and eats? Drop up to a "hospitality center" at a brewery's second-floor hotel suite.

Don't drink? Go to the next suite and pick up a basket of fresh California fruit. It's free.

Go to the end of the hall. An airline is passing out chewing gum, fruit juice or coffee.

Business firms are giving away free balloons, free rides on San Francisco's famous cable cars, free home town papers (if you're a delegate), free toys for the kids and free "sleep shades." Those are padded cloth masks people wear over their eyes to shut out light.

Are the masks for convention goers wanting to close their eyes to the speech making?

"Good heavens, no," says the donor, "They're to help these busy delegates get a little sleep on their way home from the convention."

Stanford Rooters Cheer Their Alumnus—Hoover

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stanford University boosters went all out to publicize that Herbert Hoover is an alumnus of the Palo Alto school.

A large "Stanford Welcomes You" sign faced the former President as he spoke at the Republican National Convention. The band played "Come Join the Band," the Stanford fight song, when Hoover approached the rostrum.

Modern Ulysses Sails Seas--Barely

By EMILY BELSER

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Two modern-day Ulysses sailed into a California harbor the other day with enough adventures tied to their mental masts to launch another Odyssey.

Richard Paschal, a 26-year-old contractor and Milton Blair, a 29-year old aviation engineer, crossed the turbulent Atlantic and the Caribbean and through the Panama Canal in a 40-foot ketch with storms to leeward, whales to starboard, torn sails and a conked out engine.

"It was just luck," Paschal admitted, "and an unseen friendly hand that steered us home alive.

"Yes, the next time we cross the t by Super-Constellation at 30,000 it bp Super-Constellation at 30,000 feet!"

The two rugged young explorers began their daring sea voyage eight months ago from Stockholm where they purchased their two-master "Pingla."

'SEE UNINTENTIONAL'

"We really had no intention of buying a boat," Paschal said, "but after we saw the 'Pingla' we were sunk—and almost did!"

Paschal and Blair sailed their yacht across the hazardous North Sea during November, the stormiest month of the year.

Paschal related: "They said nobody had ever done such a crazy thing as sail across at that time of year, but we did it anyway."

The news made headlines in the British newspapers, but Dick and Milton had more hair-raising adventures to come.

They had a whale of a tale to tell after their Atlantic crossing when a 40-foot killer whale trailed them for 22 days, from the Canary Island to the West Indies. They picked up another Moby Dick in the Gulf of Tehawanpec.

"He knocked the rudder off the boat," Paschal said ruefully, "and it took us 26 days to go 60 miles."

A tropical cyclone knocked nine feet of railing from the "Pingla" off the coast of Mexico, she zoomed into a 75-mile an hour gale off the coast of Spain that ripped off her sails, and she ran bang into unfriendly natives during a stopover in the San Blas Island.

The auxiliary diesel engine became watered down during the Spanish storm and craft and crew nearly crashed into a sheer 600-foot cliff while drifting helplessly near Cape Fenestre.

"We just prayed and put out sea anchors," Blair said, "and finally were able to put in for repairs."

Dick plans to write a book about the wild and woolly trip.

"I'm going to call it 'The First and Last Crossing,'" he laughed.

Lehman Says No to Another Term

In Good Health, but Not Up to Campaign Rigors, Dem Senator Claims

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-NY), a liberal pillar of the Democratic party for a generation, will return to private life at the end of the year.

The 78-year-old senator announced yesterday "with a very heavy heart" that he would not seek re-election in November. He said he is "in the best of health" but not up to the rigors of another campaign.

He said his own choice as a successor is Mayor Robert F. the mayor said he is "not a candidate" for the post. There were indications, however, that he might be persuaded to change his mind.

Both parties will nominate senatorial candidates at state party meetings next month.

Lehman's last public appearance before yesterday's announcement was at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago. He and Wagner worked for the nomination of Adlai E. Stevenson as the party's presidential candidate.

Lehman said he would campaign actively in the state and elsewhere for Stevenson this fall.

A wealthy investment banker, Lehman was elected to the Senate in 1949 to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Robert F. Wagner (D-NY), father of New York's present mayor. Lehman defeated John Foster Dulles, now Republican secretary of state, in the 1949 contest.

Sullivan Abandons Plans for Bergman

NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Sullivan says Ingrid Bergman will not appear on his television show after all.

Last July 17 Sullivan announced he had signed the Swedish-born actress for an October or November appearance on "The Ed Sullivan Show" (CBS).

CBS issued this statement yesterday:

"Ed Sullivan announced today that he had been unable to work out arrangements for the appearance of Miss Bergman on his program and was abandoning any further efforts to secure her services."

Frisco Jumps With Joy— in Nice Way

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — It's whoopee in a nice way in San Francisco.

The town's jumping, with literally hundreds of cocktail parties and social events being thrown for the visitors to the Republican national convention. San Fran—let's not say 'Frisco—is going all-out to make the GOP delegates feel at home—and they're succeeding in a big way.

Chinatown, the old barbary coast, and other publicized hot spots are getting a big play but it's all strictly for the tourists. Sin, as such, is out.

Chief of Police Frank Ahern has everything under control. The city's bars and night clubs serve liquor until 2 a.m., but taxi drivers assure you it's just all good, clean fun—and it ends there.

The Tahitian Hut, hangout for prize fighter Bobo Olson, who lost the championship to Sugar Ray Robinson, gets quite a play from the sporting fraternity. And the night spot operated by Frank (Lefty) O'Doul of baseball fame, draws the theatrical crowd. Bimbo's famous night club is doing a capacity business, featuring dinner and floor shows.

The old "International Settlement," adjacent to Chinatown, known as the old barbary coast, is packing 'em in. Droves of visitors also pour into nearby spots such as the Chinese Village, the Gay 90's, and other local attractions.

But Chief Ahern has the lid "on," according to taxi drivers, who know their way around. Fun goes on unrestrained in these places—up to a point. And then the curfew!

Unlike Chicago, scene of the Democratic national convention, there are no dice games, strip-tease artists in hideaway bars or B-girls.

Both San Francisco and Chicago have learned how to handle a big convention, so that there's no aftermath hangover.

Chief Ahern, noted for "standing by the cops," is keeping it clean in San Francisco, a city used to handling big convention crowds. Long ago he cracked down on "ladies of the evening." They're nowhere to be seen.

A few days ago the cops grabbed a gal on fashionable Nob Hill, in the heart of convention activities. The cops did a double-take when she gave her address as a cathedral.

HOMETOWN BOY RETURNS—Estes Kefauver greeted a crowd of more than 5,000 as he returned home to Madisonville, Tenn., yesterday. The Democratic vice presidential nominee, who returned home to visit his aged father and sister, Nora Kefauver, called this "the greatest day in my life." Two high school bands were on tap to give the Tennessee senator a rousing welcome.

U. of Wyoming Prof Wins Dem Nomination

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Jerry O'Callaghan, 34-year-old history instructor at the University of Wyoming, won the Democratic nomination for Congress in the only statewide contest in yesterday's primary election.

O'Callaghan pledged an extensive handshaking campaign for the general election, in which he'll oppose Rep. Keith Thomson (R-Wyo). Thomson was unopposed in

Thrower Against Rock

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Use of a flame thrower has been proposed to break up a giant rock beneath the house of an Alamo Township couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Bartells discovered the huge boulder when they started excavating for a basement.

* * *

A Detroiter wrote suggesting a kerosene blow torch be used to heat the 12 by 14 foot rock, which then would be doused with water. If the process works, he said the rock will crack. Mrs. Bartells said the plan may be tried after the house floor has been braced for protection against flying bits of rock.

Supreme Court Justice Sees Adlai as Winner

NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. Supreme Court Justice Sherman Minton says he's afraid President Eisenhower is "terribly handicapped physically" for the forthcoming campaign.

Minton said he has "great confidence" in Adlai E. Stevenson and hopes the Democratic presidential candidate wins the election.

Minton, a Democrat when appointed to the high court in 1949 by President Truman, made the comments upon his return by ship from a European vacation.

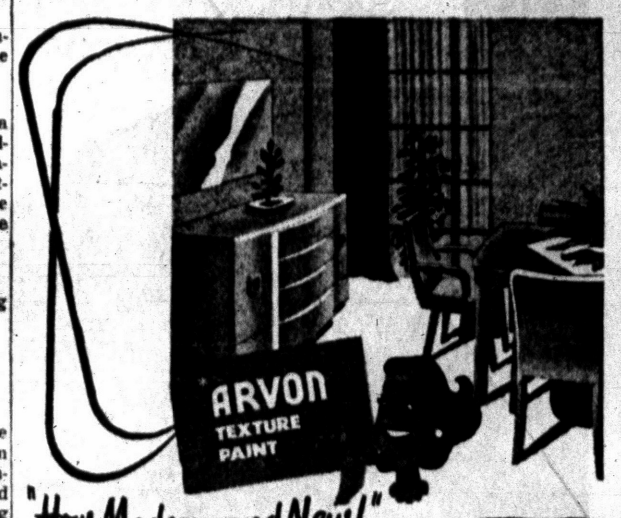

Not a GOP Delegate!

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Abe Lincoln is in town. But he's not a delegate to the Republican National Convention. He's a trombone player in a Dixieland band.

Raps GOP Tax Plank as 'Same Old Theory'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Democratic member of the House tax-writing committee has scoffed at the proposed Republican tax reduction plank as "the same old trickle-down theory disguised and painted up for TV."

* * *

Rep. Karsten of Missouri, a member of the Ways and Means Committee, said he is not impressed by the Republican promise of tax cuts "with particular consideration for low and middle income families."

Karsten said the Republican plank does not make specific recommendations for income tax reductions, such as the personal exemption boost from $600 to $800 proposed in the Democratic platform.

"The major difference between the two parties is always the same," Karsten said. "The Republicans believe in reducing taxes on corporations, dividends and the big taxpayers — the old trickle-down theory."

English Writer Plans Symphony for Kentucky

EDENBURGH, Scotland (AP) — The "Master of the Queen's Musick" is writing a symphony Music" is writing a symphony the racehorse into the theme.

Sir Arthur Bliss, 65-year-old British composer, disclosed today he has been commissioned to write music for the Louisville Philharmonic Orchestra.

Sir Arthur said he plans a symphony of one movement, to last 20 to 25 minutes, and is interested in incorporating Kentucky's association with horses into the theme.

Sir Arthur's job is an honorary one conferred by Queen Elizabeth II. The post involves no specific duties but he's always available in the event the Queen wants advice about a musical problem.

Sir Arthur was professor of music at the University of California in 1940.

Adrian Hospital Gets Part of Federal Aid

LANSING (AP) — Officials of a proposed new 124-bed hospital at Adrian have received a check for $201,066, the first installment of a federal grant of $626,932.

The new institution, now under construction, will replace a 76-bed facility that dates back to 1910.

Trustees of the city-owned hospital decided two years ago to build an entirely new facility on an eight-acre site on the northern edge of town instead of adding to the old structure.

The new building will be four stories high. Current plans call for addition of a fifth floor sometime in the future.

Now about one quarter completed, the building is scheduled to be occupied a year from now. Total cost of the project is $1,715,744.

Hal Boyle Says:

Broadway Notable Is Stranger to the Stage

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's success story:

One of Broadway's most successful showmen never sang a Mammy song, played Hamlet, or wowed the nation with a catchy punchline.

He is Cye Martin, an ex-shoeshine boy who has carved himself a profitable career as clothier to their royal majesties, the "Top Bananas" of the entertainment world.

At 13, as stage-struck as "any cluck from Keokuk," Cye came down from the Bronx and set up a shoeshine box outside Lindy's restaurant at 51st and Broadway. Soon the awed kid was brushing the brogans of Eddie Cantor, Lee Shubert, George Jessel and Bert Lahr.

"I charged a dime," he recalled, "but they usually flipped me four bits or a buck."

Cye then worked as a candy butcher in Times Square burlesque houses when Milton Berle, Red Buttons and Jackie Gleason were young comics in the bump-and-grind industry. Then, after 16 years as a clothing salesman, he opened his own store — next door to Lindy's only a few feet from the spot where he had first pitched his shoeshine stand.

Broadway, where every feller needs a friend and the first law is palship, stuck by Cye.

"Jackie Gleason bought 75 suits from me the first three years I was in business," recalled Cye. Today his clientele includes such show world notables as Berle, Jerry Lewis, Dean Martin, Tony Bennett, Jack Leonard, Sammy Davis Jr., Frank Sinatra and Eddie Fisher.

Men performers are as clothes-conscious as women — the top earners spend $10,000 a year or more on their outfits — and for a very good reason.

"Their clothing is as important to them as their material, their music, or any other part of their performance," said Cye.

"The days when Broadway figures wore long key chains, bell-bottom trousers and bright yellow shoes are over. They dress smartly now, partly because television requires it."

Cye, whose store is in the former entrance to the Mark Hellinger Theater, runs it like a Broadway production. He even uses theatrical lighting for his windows.

He believes Sinatra is currently the best-dressed man in show business, and keeps a wooden model of "the Voice" handy, so that he can custom tailor new suits for him and send them to any part of the globe Sinatra is visiting.

"Most top performers buy 15 to 20 suits a year," he said, "at $165 to $225 each. They like their suits tailored, but most of them buy their sport jackets off the rack."

A few idiosyncrasies: Singer Billy Daniels and comic Myron Cohen wear tuxes without pockets. Sinatra likes his tux lapels made of plain cloth instead of satin. Sammy Davis Jr. has frontier pockets in the trousers of his tuxes.

Cye's two biggest customers, physically as well as financially, are the two bulky comedians — Gleason and Leonard.

Gleason likes to design his own outfits. Once he ordered 13 suits during a single visit. Another time he ordered two $500 trench coats made out of off-white cashmere, complete with matching cap — a get-up that made him resemble an early snowfall.

Recently Leonard, who dieted down from 330 pounds to 205, had to give away a 40-suit wardrobe.

"Now I buy a tie for dessert," he told Cye.

There now are 1,250 American communities with full-time public-recreation agencies providing services to their residents compared with only 700 such agencies in 1950.

THE POWERHOUSE
By Jimmy Powers

During the Giant-Phils series, the team of umpires worked short-handed because Artie Gore was sidelined with a fractured toe. Too many nasty rhubarbs developed.

Why not appoint a stand-by umpire (like Bill Grieve) to officiate on call in certain areas? These men could be held on a retaining salary of $2,000 a year and if called could be assigned to the third base post.

I know many cynical oldtimers will insist games were expertly handled by a single official in the old, old days. But no one knows the errors of omission in those days of low scoring games. Baseball is big business today and the sport has definitely changed. Whether for the better, is another question.

NEW TRAINING METHODS AID MODERN ATHLETE

Ed Gormley believes training methods plus equipment give the modern athlete an edge on the oldtimer . . . "Roger Bannister trained to break the 4-minute barrier by running a dozen quarter-miles each day.

Contrast this with Leslie MacMitchell's program of four quarter miles a day. John Landy trains by running 20 quarter-miles daily. If current milers were to use MacMitchel's training the record would stand in the vicinity of 4:05.

Starting blocks are another advantage, also aluminum poles for the pole vault are an improvement over the bamboo which in turn was better than the wooden one in use many years back.

"Most important reason for records was the invention of the stop watch. It made track men record-conscious. It inspired a tremendous concentration on records not only in track and field but also in swimming. Each performer and his coach tried to find new training methods to help break a record."

"Modern Olympic games started in 1896. Before that, for a period of some 2000 years, track and field were dead sports. Performers in 1896 had no precedent to go on, no experience to guide their training.

"All things considered it is remarkable they did so well. With the distillation of years of experience the modern performer has, it is ridiculous to ascribe a superiority to him over the 1896 trail blazer. Records are not necessarily a sign of inherent physical superiority."

IL PREXY SHAUGHNESSY BACKS UP HIS MEN

Shanty I Zooms to Record 117 MPH in Trials

DETROIT (AP)—Barring unexpected developments, Shanty I, a powerful speedboat capable of dazzling speeds, will oppose Canada's Miss Supertest II in the Harmsworth Trophy Challenge Race this weekend on the Detroit River.

Piloted by Lt. Col. Russell Schleeh, Shanty easily outsped the two other surviving United States contenders for the race in time trials yesterday over the Harmsworth course. Schleeh, an Air Force jet flier, piloted his craft at an average speed of 117.225 miles per hour in a one-lap test around the five-mile course.

Miss U.S. II, owned by George Simon of Detroit, covered the distance at an average 105.522 mph. Dora My Sweetie, Detroit Horace Dodge's entry, encountered motor trouble half way through the lap and failed to finish.

The Harmsworth selection committee, named by the Yachtsmen's Assn. of America, has indicated that speed alone will not decide the U.S. defender in the race against Miss Supertest, owned by J. Gordon Thompson of London, Ont.

But after yesterday's performance Shanty I, the entry of William Waggoner of Vernon, Tex., appeared to have the honor virtually sewed up.

The 10-man committee might name its selection today, and might wait until Friday. Contenders also considered on the consistency of performance, seaworthiness of the craft and proficiency of drivers.

Schleeh left no doubts about his ability at the controls of a speedboat in yesterday's trials. His average speed bettered the mark of 116.36 mph he recorded over a 3¾ mile course in winning the Seafair Regatta at Seattle recently and topped the record for a Harmsworth lap.

There will be seven laps of five nautical miles each in the Harmsworth race, equivalent of the world championship in unlimited speedboat racing. A second heat is scheduled for Monday since one nation's boat must win two heats to win the trophy. A third heat will be run Tuesday if necessary.

Miss Supertest is the first boat to challenge the United States for the trophy since 1951. The United States has held the trophy since 1920.

Six United States boats were nominated to contend for the one spot in the contest, but three, all from Detroit dropped out before trials began. Joe Schoenith withdrew his Gale V and Gale VI Monday and Jack Schafer withdrew Such Crust II yesterday. All three had mechanical troubles.

Rifle Matches in Full Swing

Cook Leads Small Bore Field With Six-Match Total of 2398

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (INS) — The National Rifle and Pistol Matches at Camp Perry was under full swing today as Arthur E. Cook of Silver Spring, Md., continued to lead the field in the small bore race and army Lt. David Cartes of Philadelphia took the leadership in the pistol event.

Cook fired 1199 out of a possible 1200 points in yesterday's three matches for a six-match total of 2398. Trailing Cook by three points is J. Kenneth Johnson of Washington, Pa., with 2395 points.

In the first day of the pistol championship, Lt. Cartes set the pace by firing 880 points out of a possible 900. In second place is last year's champion, M-Sgt. Huelet Benner of West Point, N. Y., with 879 points.

Gordon Under Consideration

Lopez to Quit Tribe

MILWAUKEE (AP) — No matter where the Cleveland Indians finish in 1956, Al Lopez will tender his resignation as manager at the end of the season, The Associated Press learned today.

A source always found to be reliable, said the Indians' front office is aware of Lopez' intention and is even now making secret inquiries concerning a successor.

The informant also said he knew of two men under consideration. He named Joe Gordon, the former star second baseman of the Indians and the New York Yankees, and Jimmy Dykes, coach of the Cincinnati Redlegs, who has spent one third of his 60 years as a manager, 17 in the American League with Chicago, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

This has not been a happy season for Lopez who may, for the first time in his 6-year Cleveland reign, finish with fewer than 90 victories. The genial native of Tampa, Fla., is regarded as one of the best pilots in baseball.

Since coming to Cleveland in 1951 after a 3-year apprenticeship at Indianapolis, the Indians have never finished lower than second. They won the pennant in 1954, establishing an American League record of 111 victories.

Gordon, who succeeded Eddie Joost at the helm of the San Francisco Seals in the Pacific Coast League last June after resigning as coach of the Detroit Tigers, still is highly popular in Cleveland. The former Flash was one of the key men in the Indians' 1948 pennant drive, hitting 32 home runs and driving in 124 runs.

Now 41, the native Californian spent most of his big league career with the Yankees.

Lopez came close to quitting as Cleveland manager after the 1953 season when the Indians were nosed out by the Yankees. The smiling Senor actually informed the Indians of his intentions at the time and it took all of General Manager Hank Greenberg's oratorical salesmanship to convince him he ought to remain.

UCLA and Washington Under NCAA Probation

DENVER (AP)—University of California at Los Angeles and University of Washington, already reeling from Pacific Coast Conference punishment, have been dealt another blow by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. for cash payments to their football players.

In resolutions fully endorsing the PCC crackdown, the NCAA Council yesterday placed UCLA on probation for three years and put Washington on probation for two.

During these periods neither school's teams nor athletes may participate in any of the NCAA's 14 national championship events or in 25 other events sanctioned by the NCAA. These include postseason football bowl games, in-season basketball tournaments and track relays.

The council heaped most of its censure on UCLA with a declaration that the Los Angeles school had violated an NCAA code requiring member schools to establish and maintain high standards of "personal honor, eligibility and fair play."

The council said the violation was based on its finding that "members of the football staff permitted student-athletes to provide false information to UCLA and the PCC."

The council said UCLA players received money from the Young Men's Club of Westwood and the Bruin Bench. Washington players, the council said, were paid by the Greater Washington Advertising Fund and received loans from the Evergreen Education Foundation.

Clarence P. Houston of Tufts University and head of the 18-member NCAA Council, said it would meet again Oct. 22-23 at a site to be selected to consider Ohio State and "additional case reports which will be ready for submission by the committee on infractions at that time."

Bell Intercedes

Rams to Play -- Not Picket

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams were ready to play, not picket, Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League says, after he gave them a few words of friendly advice.

Bell said the threat of a strike by the Rams over pre-season pay —they don't get any now—was all a misunderstanding.

"The whole thing has been straightened out and I'm sure the players are satisfied that the league and the owners are more than willing to see that they get fair treatment," Bell said.

The commissioner stepped in after the Rams demanded $75 a week for veterans and $50 weekly for rookies during the exhibition season. The players threatened to sit out Friday's game with the Cleveland Browns unless they got paid.

Bell said he talked to several of the Rams' veterans on the phone and smoothed things out. He said further discussions would be held after the season ended.

Players in training camps are given room and board, laundry money and some other incidentals but salaries do not start until the season opens.

"I told the Los Angeles kids on the telephone that if they have any grievances I'll be glad to hear about them," Bell said. "They know by now if they're right, I'll tell management to take care of them. . ."

Maintaining its record of an unbroken string of victories in season's play, General Motors Truck & Coach baseball club last night added the capstone for city league competition with an 8-2 win over Griff's Grill.

Pitcher Jerry Taylor had a fine night. He turned the Grill back with a 5-hit performance, setting down seven by the strikeout route, and issuing only a single pass. Bob Johnston started for Griff's, but turned over mound chores to Zeke Morris in the 3rd. Motors got seven safe blows off the pair, including doubles by Terry Thomas and Taylor.

A 2nd inning, 3-run outburst, following a 2-run opener iced the win. Motors collected three more in the 3rd to make it stick. Grill got its counters in the 5th and 7th.

Blasts 32nd Homer Against Bucs

Big "Klu" Keeps Redlegs in Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ted Kluszewski, just "a pain in the back" at season's start, now is keeping Cincinnati's Redlegs in the National League pennant race while beating off a challenge to his club home-run title from rookie Frank Robinson.

The big first baseman, who has led the Redlegs in homers for five of the last six seasons, was in Manager Birdie Tebbetts' doghouse last spring. An aching back, plus too much extra beef, had Klu slumping and he wound up on the bench for a while.

Now the big guy's back in business. In his last seven games, of which Cincinnati has won four, Klu has been batting at a .480 clip, driving in eight runs and socking five home runs.

It was his 32nd homer, with a man on, that broke a 4-all tie as the third-place Redlegs rallied in the eighth to beat Pittsburgh 7-4 last night. That left Cincinnati four games back of the front-running Milwaukee Braves, who gained a half game with a 5-3, 6-2 doubleheader sweep over last-place New York.

The Chicago Cubs beat Philadelphia 6-4 in the other NL game.

In the American, Herb Score struck out 11, drove in two runs with a single and his first major league homer, and knocked off New York's first-place Yankees on two hits for a 3-0 Cleveland victory. The Tribe now is 7½ games behind the Yanks.

Detroit belted Washington 8-3 and Baltimore defeated Kansas City 4-3, Rain postponed Chicago's White Sox at Boston.

Kluszewski, now just one shy of NL homer leader Duke Snider, jumped one ahead of teammate Robinson in the home-run race. Robinson walloped his 31st homer in the first inning. Gus Bell chipped in his 23rd as the Redlegs built a 3-1 lead, then blew it.

Klu had three hits in four trips, upping his average to .312, in support of Buster Freeman, Cincinnati's relief ace who won his 11th with his old form after a sidelining neck injury Aug. 9.

NBA OK's It

Boxer May Be Own Boss

HAVANA (INS) — Annual convention of the National boxing Association adopted a resolution yesterday recommending that a boxer be allowed to transact business when his manager is under suspension.

The question of whether a fighter whose manager has been suspended should be permitted to handle his own affairs has been a bone of contention between the NBA and Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State athletic commission.

The NBA also approved the use of the five point must-scoring system for bouts under its jurisdiction.

In another move, the group elected past president Abe Greene of Paterson, N. J., as national NBA commissioner.

Lions Cut 3 From Roster

YPSILANTI (AP) — Coach Buddy Parker has cut his Detroit Lions roster to 44 players—nine more than he can carry into the first regular season game Sept. 30.

Waivers were asked yesterday on halfback Marvin Frankel of Hillsdale College and linebacker Ronnie Falls of Duke University.

Horace Allert, a defensive end for Southwest Texas State Teachers, was put on reserve status.

Meanwhile, Parker announced that Jerry Reichow, ex-Iowa quarterback, will see his first action with the Lions Saturday night against the Chicago Cardinals at Mobile, Ala. The game is Detroit's second of the exhibition season.

Reichow, one of three Detroit rookies in the All-Star game, sat out last Friday night's 20-15 exhibition victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Challenger Expected to Upset Bud Brown

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Former welterweight contender Arthur Persley, who had unhappy meetings with both lightweight champion Wallace (Bud) Smith and challenger Joe Brown, predicted today Brown will whip the Cincinnati titleholder in their bout here Friday night.

Persley went even further and said he believed Brown stood a good chance of hanging a kayo on Smith in the 15-round, nationally-televised, NBC-TV, 9 p.m. EST, title match.

Tigers Register 8-3 Win

Gromek Defeats Nats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Righthander Steve Gromek, the Detroit Tigers' aging relief pitcher, landed one of his rare starting roles last night and proved himself well up to the assignment in going the full nine innings against the Washington Senators.

The 36-year-old hurler wavered a bit in spots, but his teammates backed him up with 13 hits in registering an 8-3 triumph over the Nationals in the first of their two game set.

It was Gromek's first start in six weeks and the victory ended Washington's four-game winning streak, put together at the expense of the Boston Red Sox.

Washington moved into a 2-0 lead in the second inning on three hits and two walks. In the 4th inning Harvey Kuenn singled across two runs that tied the score and sent Hal Griggs to the showers.

The Tigers took over the lead for good against losing pitcher Bunky Stewart in the 5th. Al Kaline singled and was forced by Bob Kennedy, who continued to second when Herb Plews' throw to first went wild. He scored on a single by Bill Tuttle.

Tuttle, whose hitting has been under last year's connected for three hits in five tries, as did second baseman Frank Bolling.

Detroit added another pair of runs in the 6th when Kennedy singled across Harvey Kuenn and Charlie Maxwell.

Big Roy Sievers threatened to put the Senators back into the 8th when he smashed his 23rd home run of the season in the 8th, but the Tigers jumped on Connie Grob for three more runs in the 9th to sew up the contest.

Paul Foytack will go after his 11th victory against nine defeats in the series windup tonight. He'll oppose the Senators' Dean Stone (4-3) on the mound.

FIELDING LESSON—Detroit Tiger Harvey Kuenn, rated as the best shortstop in the American League, demonstrates his fielding technique. Alertness is one of primary requisites in becoming a good shortstop, Kuenn says.

Harvey Kuenn Says:

Alertness Top Factor in Playing Shortstop

By HARVEY KUENN
Detroit Tiger Shortstop

DETROIT (AP) — A shortstop's fielding is just as important, if not more important, than is hitting.

I know I have heard a lot of Major League managers say that a good fielding shortstop can get along if he can hit .260. Well, if a player can hit .300, that's even better.

Fielding is something that must be worked on constantly. A shortstop—if he is a poor fielder—can wreck any ball team. Alertness is the most important factor. Getting the jump on a ground ball often means the difference in a win or a loss. If an infielder gets in front of the ball, rather than playing it from one side or the other, he is most likely to stop it—and then he may have a good chance to make a play even if he does juggle it.

Never let the ball play you. Don't wait for the ball and then make your decisions accordingly. Move in on the grounder and take command from the start.

A lot of young shortstops turn their heads from the path of the ball. Even a slight turn can result in a bad play. Keep both eyes on the ball and keep the head down as the ball approaches.

Young shortstops are inclined to believe that a ball may bounce up and stike them in the face if they and strike them in the face if they likely to bounce into your face if you keep your head and eyes down.

A one-handed play may look spectacular, but it's much easier—and much safer—to use both hands whenever possible.

Qualifying Test

4 Area Boys Among WJGA Leaders

By H. GUY MOATS

Headed by Jack Reynolds' (Waterford) 76, three Pontiac area junior golfers today were rated among the leaders for the 1st round of qualifying play in the big Western Golf Association junior tourney at Ann Arbor. Jack fired one birdie, 3 three bogies and 14 pars for his round.

Along with Reynolds were Richey Weyand, Ray Lovell and Pete Green of Orchard Lake. Weyand carded 77, Lovell 78 and Green 80. They were engaged today in the final round of qualifying for match play that begins on Thursday.

Leaders yesterday were Steve Miller of Jackson, Dean Beman of Minneapolis, Cy Northrup of Owatonna, Minn., and Bob Robinson of Meridan, Miss. All carded one over par 73s, over the rolling University of Michigan layout. Dave Hill of Jackson was close with a 74.

After today's round 31 will begin match play, along with the defending champion, Gerald McFerren of Silver Spring, Md., who shot a 77 in a practice round yesterday. He is exempt from the preliminary rounds.

At 75 were bracketed Ron Schwarzel of Pittsburgh, Pa., Payne Palmer of Phoenix, Ariz., Bob Zimmerman of Jackson and Mike Stinello, Mt. Prospect, Ill.

With Reynolds at 76 were Art Hall of Tulsa, Okla., Sam Carmichael of Martinsville, Ind., and Tom Bron of Aurora, Ill.

District Legion Honors Skinner as Top Player

Four members of the 18th District American Legion Junior baseball club fielded this year by Pontiac Boys' Club today were named to the circuit's all-star squad. But the top honor for the BC outfit was the selection of big Jim Skinner for outstanding player award.

Besides Skinner, Jerry Orr, Kenny McClintock, and Charles McIlreth were selected for the 24-man all-star squad. They will be guests, along with other members of the Boys' Club nine and all other district teams at a banquet, to be held in Rochester on a date to be announced soon.

Skinner, 16-year-old PHS junior, playing his 1st year in the Legion loop, combined fielding ability with hitting and pitching. He had a .409 average for the 20-game season, won four games. His leadership was credited with helping strongly in the club's championship play. When not pitching Jim held down 1st base.

Orr won 9, lost 3 for the season's mound mark. McClintock was a shortstop and McIlreth was a spectacular fielder and strong-hitting 3rd baseman.

Miranda's Hit 1st in 42 Trips

BALTIMORE (AP) — When shortstop Willie Miranda of the Baltimore Orioles made a triple in the fifth inning of last night's game with the Kansas City Athletics, it was his first hit in 42 times at bat.

The hit was Miranda's first since Aug. 4 and it led to Baltimore's second run in a 4-3 victory. Willie scored moments later on a double by Dick Williams.

The next time Miranda was due to bat, in the sixth, the Orioles had the bases loaded with one out and the score was tied 2-2. Manager Paul Richards decided to lift Miranda for pinch-hitter Joe Frazier. Frazier hit into a double-play.

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Lew Hoad, Australia's No. 1 tennis player at the ripe old age of 21, feels he is getting "better and stronger" as he grows older, but hints that marriage is another factor in his success on the courts.

Farmers Check Pheasants

Find '56 Crop Is Average Michigan Survey Shows

LANSING (AP)—More than 400 Michigan farmers scattered throughout the southern part of the state say the coming pheasant season should be about average.

The farmers surveyed the number of nests and broods for the state conservation department they reported pheasant production is about the same as the 1951-54 level, although lower than the peak reached last year.

Ralph I. Blouch, department pheasant specialist, said the season may have been hurt by a bad spring, however.

Cold, wet weather delayed nesting, a condition which usually decreases production.

Blouch said the farmers reported about 25 per cent fewer nests and broods than were seen last year, but he said last year conditions were abnormally good.

This year's count was close to the 1953 and 1954 frigures, Blough said.

Twenty per cent of the farmers said they thought there are more birds this year than last, 36 per cent said there are about the same number and 44 per cent said there are fewer.

Blouch said he could make a more accurate prediction of this year's season after he receives reports from a similar count by rural mail carriers.

Postal Trucks Aid in Fight on Forest Fires

LANSING—More than 25,000 U.S. mail trucks are carrying "Smokey Bear" posters this month, reminding Americans of the importance of forest fire prevention.

The Post Office Department is cooperating with the U. S. Forest Service and state conservation departments in a program to reduce fire losses as millions of persons go to the woods on vacation trips.

Post office officials estimate that the familiar Smokey Bear emblem will be seen by more than 50 million persons as the trucks make their regular mail deliveries.

Husky Bass Thrills Feminine Fisherman

Mrs. Monti (Doris) Young, 1825 Bass Lake road, Rte. 3, Milford, took her 12-year-old daughter Joan and went fishing yesterday, at Commerce lake. Mrs. Young wasn't particularly anxious to hook into something real husky—some nice, fat bluegills would be OK. But when a husky, 17½-inch bass hit her cricket-baited hook she nearly fell out of the boat. Line was attached to a cane pole.

After a spirited battle Mrs. Young boated the fish which later was found to weigh about four pounds. She had to wait for her husband to get home to have the prize weighed.

The 1953 Pimlico Breeders' Stakes was split into two divisions and Jockey R.L. Stevenson rode the winner of both halves.

State Holds Favorable Forest Fire Position

LANSING—Michigan's favorable forest fire record was maintained last week as only three fires were reported in the state. The damage total was slightly more than five acres.

Two fires in the northern Lower Peninsula burned about five acres while one fire was reported in the Upper Peninsula, with damage to one-tenth of an acre. No fires were reported in the southern Lower Peninsula.

Latest fires brought the season total to 429 and the damage figure stands at 2,281 acres.

State Body Makes Plans for Special Deer Period

LANSING—Conservation Department personnel is working out details for administration of Michigan's 1956 special deer hunting seasons.

Special seasons were established on an area and quota basis in 22 deer starvation and crop damage areas of the state by the Conservation Commission at its Aug. 9-10 meeting. The commission action is subject to approval by the legislative joint interim committee on administrative rules.

Under the 1956 regulations proposed by the Commission, holders of special permits will be allowed to take one deer of any age, either sex, in designated areas.

Some 65,340 permits will be offered to allow hunters to take 16,955 deer, in addition to the "bucks only" harvest of the regular Nov. 15-30 season.

In order to obtain a special permit, a hunter must purchase a deer license and apply for the permit by Oct. 10, specifying the area desired.

Each permit will be valid for only one area and the permit holder will be furnished a map and description of the area.

Good Old Sorcery!

Water Divining Not Yet Lost Art

By JACK PATTERSON

So you thought that sorcery was a dead issue; witchcraft a thing of the past. You did, eh? Well we've got news for you. Practice of the black arts is very much alive today. You don't have to journey to the Dark Continent or remote islands of the Southern Ocean, either. Folks, we got warlocks right here in town in the persons of former Circuit Judge Glenn C. Gillespie and Dr. James D. Compton.

For years these two gentlemen have noised it about that they had the "gift" of water divining, or dowsing. Never had the chance until the other day to put them to the test.

Under carefully controlled conditions on the shores of "Bud" Bassett's lake near Ortonville before a skeptical group of local worthies the two Merlins grudgingly agreed to a demonstration. We chose, as official referee, City Manager "Bill" (Walter K.) Willman.

Well, sir, we ran into a disagreement of experts right off the bat. The doctor is a traditionalist, an acadeamician. He held that no worthwhile results could be achieved without a hazel wand. The judge, on the other hand, was equally sure that the "gift" was the thing and any old branch, even a coat-hanger would work.

Looked like trouble for a minute but the committee on rules cut off a length of sumac, adjudged it genuine hazel and instructed the doctor to go into his act.

Under the watchful eye of referee Willman, Jimmy walked slowly along with the forked branch held in front of him and, pretty soon, by George, it pointed sharply downward. With a shy glance of triumph, the doctor turned the field over to the judge.

That worthy, with a variety of divining equipment, from cat-tails to pieces of wire, went through the same performance and at the same geographical point experienced the same sharp downward dip of the wand.

Pretty soon everyone tried his hand at the business and all but one agreed that the divining stick, of it's own power, pointed sharply downward over that certain spot. The exception was in the case of this writer. Every time he picked up the wand it twisted sharply around and pointed uphill toward the kitchen where refreshments had been laid out. But that is probably the exception that proves the rule.

All present were satisfied that divining rods work very well. Now all we've got to do is wait for Bassett to get the well-drillers in and see if there is in fact water in the indicated spot.

Middies First Team to Begin Grid Workouts

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The Naval Academy football team will get the jump on all other college teams in the nation today when it takes to the practice field to begin fall workouts.

The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. rules say preseason practice may begin Sept. 1 or two weeks before the start of classes. With academy classes opening early, on Sept. 4, the Middies are able to get in their football licks in August.

Navy will hold two workouts daily until school starts, then revert to one-a-day in preparation for the opener here Sept. 29 against William & Mary.

Platt Carries Bid for Seniors Crown

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Long-hitting J. Woof Platt of Philadelphia carried his drive for a repeat National Senior Amateur Golf title against a 64-year-old New Yorker, Tom Robbins, at Somerset course today.

Platt, 57, scored a fairly simple 3 and 2 victory over Paul Dickinson of Ardmore, Okla. in yesterday's opening rounds of the match play. But Robbins, from Larchmont, N. Y., was pushed to three extra holes before topping stubborn Leslie Taylor Rutherfordton, N. C., 1-up.

Get Those Guns Ready

PATTERSON

The coolness of the past day or so reminds us that summertime does not last forever and that the present one is in a fair way to be joining its ancestors. Inevitably, with the ending of hot months, and in advance of the turning leaves, the outdoorsman finds his thoughts colored by considerations of the shooting season lying ahead.

Equally inevitably, he suddenly remembers that some vital or desirable repairs to his artillery have not been effected. The fact that he's had nearly a year to do something about it is neither here nor there.

For some reason or other getting his guns into the hands of the gunsmith, like visiting his wife's relatives, is an operation the average gunner finds easy to postpone.

Well, the deadline for October delivery is here and now, and maybe, in some cases a little before now. We never saw a speedy gunsmith or a box tortoise, although come to think of it, we've seen some tortoises that appeared swift by comparison. A horrid experience of our own, a few seasons back, should serve to illustrate this point. Sent a shotgun back to it birthplace for a rebluing job to its birthplace for a rebuilding job in the last week of August. The around and no word from home. Finally we called the plant to see if they were still in business.

We explained our problem briefly. There was a long delay. Then it suddenly developed that our gun was being prepared for shipment that very minute. Two weeks later we got it.

Take it from us, don't wait 'til the last minute for gun refurbishing, and if you have, don't wait a minute longer.

While waiting for word from the gunsmith about as rewarding a pursuit as you might find would be a bit of trout fishing in the north. We can't recall an August when trout have been more cooperative. The Maple and Sturgeon are two streams that shouldn't be overlooked.

PIKE STEAKS — Wayne Francisco, 74 South Johnson, just back from his usual summer fishing trip to the Lewiston area, shows a source of some nice pike "steaks." The fish, an 8-pounder, was taken on the Fletcher floodwaters over the weekend. Wayne was accompanied by his father, a Lewiston resident, and a friend, Paul Lampkin of Drayton Plains. They took 11 pike, some bass, and some fine creels of brown and brook trout. An unusual bait proved a "killer" for the pike, when other lures failed, Wayne reports. A strip of red flannel trailing back of the regular plug did the trick.

Amateur Title Up for Grab

Free-for-All Shoot Features Activities in Grand American

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — The nation's top trapshooters will fire some 200,000, 12-gauge shotgun shells today as they compete for one of trapshootings most coveted crowns at the 57th Grand American.

The amateur clay target championship of America, a 200-target race at 16-yards with all the competitors mixed up in a free-for-all, is the feature.

For the last nine years a perfect score has been necessary to get into a shootoff for the big championship won a year ago by Ned Lilly of Stanton, Mich. Lilly also won it in 1933 as a 17-year-old, the youngest ever to take the title.

Until he missed the 114th target in yesterday's class event, Lilly had broken 1,064 targets at 16 yards here without a miss over a 3-year stretch. He is favored to fight it out today with 46-year-old Joe Hiestand of Hillsboro, Ohio, four-time winner of the championship who had broken 500 straight this year to take the big titles both Monday and Tuesday.

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Judging distance.

DIAGNOSIS: Case of uncertainty.

TREATMENT: "I hit the ball straight, but I got into trouble because I was either too long or too short. I can't seem to judge distance. Maybe I need glasses."

You hear it over and over. It's the old locker-room complaint. Actually what the speaker more likely needs than glasses is practice and concentration better to learn the strength of each club and get confidence through positive thinking.

The shot that sails over the green, or the one that plops into a creek because it's too feebly hit can be properly made with the right choice of clubs. And may I suggest that half an hour of practice before each round will be the solution.

With uncertainty comes overcautionsness, and that means steering the shot; quitting too soon. In practice, concentrate on following through all the way on all shots from the No. 8 iron up through the No. 2 as shown in the sketch.

Complete the swing so that at the finish your weight is entirely on the left leg, the arms high, and the turn of the hips so far around to the left that the right shoulder is under the chin and the right leg is so relaxed that the toe of your right foot is pointed directly at the ground. Do this and you'll soon learn exactly what each club will do.

LET'S TAKE A TRIP — 3

The Grand Canyon

In northern Arizona is the world's deepest and longest gorge — the Grand Canyon, lying in a 600,000-acre national park.

The swirling Colorado River, which runs at the bottom of the canyon, cut out the chasm and revealed rocks millions of years old. These are wonderfully colored in differing shades of red, lavender, cream and gray, and in certain lights also appear purple, blue and green.

The canyon is from four to 18 miles wide, and more than a mile deep, descending in great terrace steps. Each year thousands of people take the four-hour trip to the bottom on the backs of sure-footed donkeys that go down the Bright Angel Trail.

Color the picture with your crayons. Paste it down on cardboard and cut out the parts carefully. Cut the long diagonal slot. Punch holes in the places indicated at the top and hang up the picture.

Cut along the slits below the donkey and put it on the trail, with the center tab (X) behind the opening, then from the back you can bring the rider down the Bright Angel Trail.

(This idea was first contributed by Alice C. Miller, Council Bluffs, Iowa. Junior Editors pays $10 for a useable idea so send your suggestion in care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Conservation Leaders Warn on Fall Fires

LANSING (AP) — Michigan is heading into the most crucial stage of the forest fire season, the State Conservation Department reported.

The record so far this year has been "very favorable," said M. M. Bergman, chief of the Conservation Department forest fire control section.

To date, 433 fires have damaged 2,287 acres of state and private forests and grasslands. At this time last year, more than 5,000 acres had been damaged by fire.

Bergman said autumn is the crucial stage of the forest fire season because the woods are full of hunters and often dry.

Last week, only four fires were reported throughout the state, with damage to two acres.

Britain produced 60,000,000 phonograph records in 1955, up 20 per cent from 1954.

Dutch Elms Ravaged in Grand Rapids Area

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Grand Rapids and state officials meet today to map a campaign against Dutch Elm disease, now described at "emergency proportions."

Park Superintendent Fred C. See said at least 1,000 of the stately Grand Rapids elms are infected by the blight.

About 400 are on city property and 600 on private property. Elm trees once stricken by the blight must be destroyed to curtail the spread of the disease.

Nearly all of the city's 40 forestry department employes already are devoting full time to fight the blight spread.

The miracle performed by Christ that is mentioned in all the four Gospels is that of feeding of the multitude with five loaves and two fishes.

Which Side Are You On?

Two Views of the Country

By WALTER KIERNAN

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—The Republicans examined the condition of the country and found it can hardly be improved upon. The report was so good it doesn't even seem to be the same country the Democrats reported on last week.

The national news from the first sessions was so encouraging, Ike decided to come out early and hear some more. The country they're reporting on at San Francisco may not even be the same one he's running from Washington.

But when you look at the Republican and Democratic versions of how we're doing you can see there are two sides to every argument, and both sides are buttered with homogenized partisan spread.

Anyway this thing is beginning to roll now but it isn't making any noise. This is such a quiet convention you can hear the mustard fall on your necktie 40 feet from the speaker's stand.

NOT EXACTLY DULL

I won't say it's "dull" because that's a word the political parties save for each other and it should not be used by an innocent bystander.

But if anybody can get up a good dog fight at the entrance there will be empty saddles in the old corral.

It's so peaceful, people with Nixon buttons are smiling at Harold Stassen. Some of them even guffaw which shows you what a nice mood everybody is in.

But I had it from a woman from Massachusetts that her sister got an "Eisenhower and Herter" button from somebody right in the Massachusetts State Capitol. She wouldn't give me her name but she showed me the button. And that ought to prove something. I wish I knew what.

Backers Hope Dewey Will Run for Senate

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — New York National Committee Member Dean P. Taylor of Troy, stated that most of the state's delegation to the Republican convention still is hopeful former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will run for the Senate.

Taylor said, "They think this is the most appropriate time to prevail upon him and considerable pressure is being brought."

Several upstate county chairmen were reported backing a move to draft Attorney General Herbert Brownell for the race because Dewey has given no indication he is interested.

Neither Dewey nor Brownell was available for comment.

Taylor conceded Dewey gave him no cause for optimism during two talks at San Francisco, but added he hopes Dewey will do so before the convention ends.

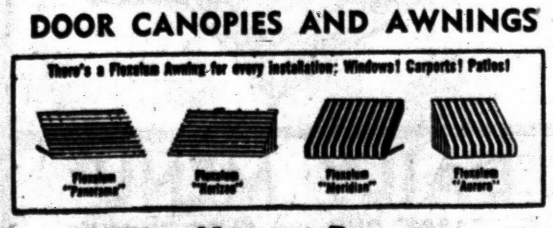

The subject of a GOP candidate to seek the seat now held by Democratic Sen. Herbert Lehman is the leading topic of conversation among New York delegates, who are pledged to an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

Solve 16 Clues, WinPot-O-Gold in Press Game

The prize in the Press' summer Pot-O-Gold continues to grow. This week we add another $100 — it's the least some lucky reader can win if he or she comes up with the correct solution to Puzzle No. 12. There's no easy way to win. The best advice we can give is to read the rules carefully, analyze the clues and get your entry in before the Tuesday deadline cited in Rule No. 3. Good luck!

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his answer words in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 12 must bear a Tuesday, Aug. 28, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time, whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner, no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end, Labor Day. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries become the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

THEY LOVE IT—Hero sandwich and hot soup is lunch junior and sis can make for themselves. The sandwich: cold cuts and cheese packed on French bread. The soup takes no time to mix, heat and serve. It's a nutritious lunch, too.

Prepare Night Before:

Make Lunches Easy Way

Labor Day usually brings a crucial turning point in the lives of many families.

It's generally the end of a carefree summer, and for millions of school children, a return to classes.

And to millions of mothers it means sandwiches again — whether for the lunch box or an in-between snack.

To save time in that early morning rush, bakers suggest you prepare sandwiches the night before.

USE ALUMINUM FOIL

Wrap each sandwich in heavy aluminum foil using the "drugstore" way of wrapping and place in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator.

By the time your young hopeful is ready to eat it, the sandwich will be thawed out to room temperature.

Of course, if you're lucky enough to own a freezer, there's nothing to stop you making up sandwiches several days ahead.

Here are some sandwich filling suggestions children enjoy. They contain some of their favorite foods tucked into good bread with familiar flavor and texture.

COTTAGE CHEESE 'N' BACON

Two strips bacon; ½ cup creamed cottage cheese.

Cut bacon in small pieces with kitchen shears. Fry until crisp then drain on absorbent paper. When cool, blend with cottage cheese. Yield: Approximately ¾ cup sandwich filling.

EGG AND CREAM CHEESE

Two eggs, hard cooked; 1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 tablespoon chopped parsley or chieves.

Chop hard cooked eggs finely. Cream the cheese and add chopped eggs, salt and parsley or chives. Blend well. Yield: Approximately one cup filling.

The hero type sandwich is likely to rate as "super" with the primary grade crowd.

They'll have a lot of fun choosing cold cuts and cheese to meet the literally heroic proportions of fillings that are packed between crusts of French style bread.

This high protein combination will co-star happily with a combination of soups mixed with milk.

Here again, the young chefs will welcome an opportunity to mix their favorite varieties of soups and come up with a "special" school lunch treat that will have extra appetite appeal because it's their own creation.

If you have a wide mouthed vacuum bottle, such favorites as soup, will be easy for young scholars to spoon out.

Sure to be admired as "cool" by the kindergarten-primary grade cooks is a new Campbell Kid electric mixer that operates on a flashlight battery and does a slick job of whipping.

Little chef dolls are another evidence of the popularity of playing cook among the kindergarten primary grade contingent.

The choice of dessert for the lunch box must be made, of course, with the thought of easy travel in mind. Fruit is the easiest to pack.

But it's important to alert young chefs to the importance of thoroughly washing their lunch box quota of apples, pears, oranges or grapes.

For a real surprise treat, try scooping out the center of a cup cake, fill with frosting and replace the scoop.

This technique will keep the frosting intact even though the lunch box travel is bumpy.

Soviet Films to Have Hollywood Trimmings

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A Soviet official says Moscow is in for a Hollywood-type premier as part of a Russian movie exchange program.

Valdimir Surin, first vice minister of culture, said his country wants a worldwide cultural exchange of movies.

As part of the program, Surin said, American producer Michael Todd will stage the premiere of "Around the World in 80 days" in Moscow Nov. 21. Surin said Todd will also produce a Russian film, "The Grand Concert," dealing with the cultural achievements of the Soviets.

Adlai Staking Future on Stump

Grass Roots Campaign Will Attempt to Offset GOP TV Usage

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson staked his hopes today on what may possibly be the most grueling speech-making campaign ever attempted by a presidential candidate.

His campaign director James A. Finnegan called it the "greatest grass roots campaign of all time."

Before it begins, Stevenson and his Democratic vice presidential running mate, Estes Kefauver, will fly into every region of the country.

Stevenson called Finnegan to his farm home near here today to complete plans for the precampaign trip, which will be climaxed by a major political address on Labor Day, Sept. 3, in Detroit under labor union auspices.

In the grass roots campaign, Stevenson will work through many crucial states, county by county, mostly by automobile.

"We know we cannot win a contest of dollars," Finnegan said in a statement, "The Republican can outspend us 10 to 1. They'll have expensive television time to burn, but Gov. Stevenson is going to overcome this by carrying the election to the people and by making this a real person-to-person campaign, not just a canned radio-television one such as the Republicans are planning for Mr. Eisenhower."

There was no reference to the health issue in statements by either Stevenson or his campaign manager.

Next week's precampaign trip calls for joint appearances by Ste-Stevenson and Kefauver in Santa Fe, N.M., Monday; Bonneville Dam, Wash., Tuesday; Sioux City, Iowa, Wednesday; Knoxville, Tenn., Thursday; and Chicago Friday. Three other such regional appearances will be made in the following week at places yet to be determined.

"I want to talk first hand with our local and state leaders about our presidential campaign plans and get their ideas," Stevenson said. "I want to make sure we strike together in hammering home the great issues of 1956."

Finnegan said next week's visits were not designed to attract "crowds or headlines" which will come later, but to "rally our forces."

The Stevenson camp said their candidate is a vastly different man from the beaten Democratic presidential nominee of 1952, and that he is looking forward to dawn-to-midnight campaigning that will give him personal contact with as many voters as possible right up to the eve of the election.

* * *

Finnegan has bought time for six major nationwide 30-minute television talks by the nominee and 89 five-minute TV spot programs to round out campaign coverage. The first major talk over TV has been set for Sept. 13, when Stevenson will address a $50-a-plate fund-raising dinner at Harrisburg, Pa.

Moslem Professor Takes Rifle Course

CAIRO (AP) — The head of the 1,000-year-old Moslem University here has graduated from rifle to Sten gun in his military training course as a member of Egypt's volunteer liberation army.

Sheikh Abdel Rahman Tag, who normally wears a beard, turban and robe, has taken time out from his duties as head of Islam's first center of learning, Al Azhar University, to volunteer for the military training.

The liberation army was formed to merge all nonregular forces in the country to meet British-French threats of military action after President Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal. Press reports said 5,000 tribesmen from the Egyptian deserts met yesterday and agreed to supply 20 battalions to the volunteer force.

Commission OKs $3 Hike in Jurors' Pay

A city ordinance allowing for a $3 per day pay hike for Municipal Court jurors was passed last night by the Pontiac City Commission.

It will now permit the adoption by both court judges of a 1951 Michigan statute authorizing the increase from $3 a day to $6 for jurors who sit on the city court juries. It also permits the compilation by the city clerk of a long list of potential jurors.

The commissioners have moved toward this new law for some months because of a difficulty of securing jurors, City Attorney William A. Ewart pointed out.

The ordinance, which repealed an old law under which jurors' pay was regulated, was passed as an emergency measure, making it effective immediately.

Mechanic Files Suit Against Dean Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP)— A $100,000 suit has been filed against the estate of movie actor James Dean, who was killed in the crash of his sports car near Paso Robles, Calif., last Sept. 30.

Rolf Wuetherich, racing car mechanic who was seriously hurt in the accident, charged Dean was driving too fast and with "wanton disregard" for the safety of his passenger. Wuetherich said his jaw and hip were broken in the crash that involved the auto of Harold Turnupseed, who was not included as a defendant.

Oh! Really?

'Peach Week' Set for September 1-7

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams has designated the week of Sept. 1 through Sept. 8 as Michigan Peach Week.

"Michigan, for nearly a century, has been famous for the quality of its peaches, which this year amount to a crop of two and three-quarter million bushels, the third largest crop in the nation," the governor said.

"The peach, often called the queen of fruits, is of tremendous economic importance to many thousands of Michigan citizens, who are engaged in its culture, picking, packing, processing and marketing."

'Jean Christophe' Classic Will Be Made Into Movie

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(While Louella Parsons is traveling in Europe her column will be written by Dorothy Manners).

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Via transatlantic telephone, Jerry Wald today finalized the deal with the widow of Romain Rolland for the screen rights to the classic "Jean Christophe."

Not scheduled as the first production Wald puts into action on his new 20th Century Fox pact, it certainly rates as the most ambitious.

"Jean Christophe" won the Nobel Prize for literature for its author in 1915. If you ask me, it's going to take a bit of doing—even more than "war and even more than "War and length. "Jean Christophe" was originally published in 10 volumes.

Vera Miles is the girl they want for Frank Sinatra's leading lady in "The Joker Is Wild." She'd play the Martha Stewart part in the Joe E. Lewis biography.

But there's a serious hitch on starting dates. Vera is under personal contract to Alfred Hitchcock and he has her for "Amongst the Dead" starting in October.

Producer Sam Briskin has "Joker" rolling in September. They might solve the overlapping schedules by putting Vera in two pictures at once. It's been done.

11TH ANNIVERSARY

Louella Parsons cables from Paris: "June Allyson and Dick Powell celebrated their 11th anniversary with a dinner at Maxim's. Dick's gift to June was a big diamond pin and she really sparkled!

"Gary Cooper came to see me at the George V Hotel. He has had intestinal flu and has been very sick. His visit to me was his first day out in a week.

"Incidentally, his co-star Audrey Hepburn has the cutest haircut. It's sort of a modification of the page boy and it's the talk of Paris."

More from the boss: "Had luncheon with Gloria Swanson at the Precatalan in the Bois de Boulogne. It would have been very pleasant only a swarm of bees decided they liked my luncheon and I decided to give it to them rather than incur their anger.

"Gloria has a boy friend—and I'm going to find out his name. She isn't talking.

"She has let her hair go gray which has the effect of making her face look even younger. She's doing very well with the dresses she designs and professionally she's teamed up with Eric Von Stroheim to revive "Queen Kelly," her old picture which was never released. It was a silent—but she's having it narrated."

FRANK'S FAMILY

Hollywood in shorts: Frank Sinatra's three children, Nancy Jr., Frankie and Tina, have joined him in New York and tomorrow Frankie takes his brood to Atlantic City where he's singing—if he can. Old laryngitis really had him down over the weekend.

Mrs. Leif Erickson, who didn't get in on Leif's trip to France for "The Vintage," is evening up the financial score by redecorating the house and putting in a pool.

The Olivia de Havilland baby will be christened right after Livvie and Pierre Galante return from their holiday in Switzerland.

Samson's a Man Not to Lose Time Over Locked Door

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Peter P. Samson, 15, of Gardner is not one to waste his time.

He went into Ephraim's Book Store in search of a chemistry book. When he came up from the store basement 45 minutes later, the store was closed and he was locked in.

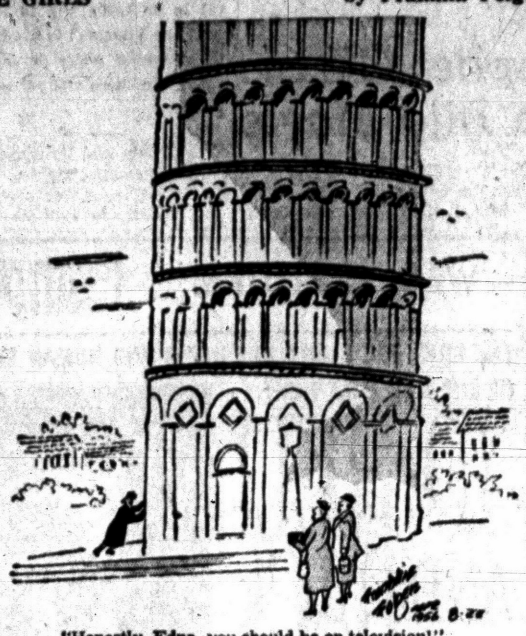

He telephoned police. Two hours later an employe arrived to free him.

Samson said he spent his two-hour confinement reading the chemistry book and brushing up on his German grammar.

Heavy Selling on Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP)—Fairly heavy selling hit grains early on the Board of Trade today and prices were marked down a cent or more before the market stabilized.

Favorable crop prospects undermined both corn and soybeans, the September futures losing the most ground in both commodities. Soybeans also had to contend with renewed easiness in soybean oil and soybean meal futures.

Hedging pressure and some profit-taking got the better of wheat despite a quite bullish summary of the wheat situation by the agriculture department.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was: ¼ to ¾ lower, Sept. $2.19⅝; corn ½ to 1⅜ lower, Sept. $1.49⅛; oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, Sept. 73¼; rye ¼ to ¾ lower, Sept. $1.46; soybeans ⅜ to 1¼ lower, Sept. $2.42¼; and lard unchanged to 15 cents a hundred pounds lower, Sept. $11.80.

Crop prospects for both corn and soybeans, particularly soybeans, were considered very favorable by grainmen.

Corpse of Suspect Checked for Scars

NEW YORK (INS) — The exhumed body of the man accused by the FBI of blinding Victor Riesel with acid will be examined again today for acid scars.

Skepticism on the part of the New York district attorney's office that slain Abraham Telvi did hurl the acid led to the body's exhumation late yesterday.

The rifts between federal and local law enforcement officials, which date from the FBI's unilateral moves to break the Riesel case, now focus on Telvi.

The FBI claims he threw the acid and was marked by it. The district attorney's office asserts the young man was not marked by acid at the time his body was found and has indicated some doubt he committed the attack.

House Group to View GM Safety Research

A U.S. House of Representatives subcommittee will visit the General Motors Proving Grounds at Milford next week to study highway and automotive safety methods.

The group, headed by Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala.), will tour the proving grounds Monday to watch road tests, and will travel to the GM Technical Center Tuesday for discussions on GM safety projects.

The subcommittee is currently on a fact-finding tour covering five general areas of road and vehicle safety—the human factor, legislation, design, highways and law enforcement.

Luck for Shorty Joe

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—There was some frantic scrambling on the convention floor yesterday when someone discovered just before the session began that the elevating rostrum wouldn't elevate. Someone apparently had kicked loose one of the nearly two score wires that control the gadget. Luckily for shorty Joe Martin, it was repaired before he marched to the lectern.

Will He Trail Later?

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Some young Republicans proudly shepherded a baby elephant around San Francisco's Union Square today. Behind it trailed a large donkey wearing a sign that said "I give up."

Market Begins Upward Climb

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took an upward slant today in early trading.

A broad cross-section of pivotal issues tacked on fractional gains and a few leaders advanced a point or more.

The tempo of trading was fast at the opening, but slowed after the first 30 minutes.

Gulf Oil Corp., one of the biggest losers in yesterday's sell-off, was up 1¼ soon after the opening today. IBM added nine following settlement of its patent dispute with Sperry Rand. The latter was fractionally higher.

Other gainers included U.S. Steel, Ford, Goodyear, Glenn Martin, American Telephone, Kennecott, and Texas Co., all of which added fractions. Du Pont gained 1½ and American Cyanamid, whose directors yesterday raised the dividend, was up 1¼.

Fractional losses were taken by Boeing Aircraft and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Yesterday the market experienced a severe shakeout. The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped $2.10 at $184.80 with the industrials down $3.30, rails off $1.40 and utilities down 70 cents.

Dobbin Loses Race Against Motorcycle Cop

Old Dobbin raced a Pontiac motorcycle cop yesterday and lost.

Pontiac Patrolman John Felts, 31, brought the horse and his driverless milk wagon to a halt after a three-block chase.

Dobbin took off at the corner of E. Pike and Paddock streets, apparently scared by the noise of a city street sweeper, Felts said. Felts was riding his motorcycle nearby on Pike and gave chase.

A helpful bystander stood in the street and waved his arms to help bring the race to a close at Michigan avenue and Paddock.

Dobbin was turned over to the milkman, who had run on foot to catch up. The horse was not ticketed.

Michigan Backers Spotlighting Cobo

Michigan delegation headquarters.

Before Cobo arrived, O'Sullivan promised that a "very prominent" role in the convention's last two days would be carved out for him.

He said efforts to get Cobo into the convention spotlight were launched three days ago as soon as his visit was assured.

The date with Eisenhower was the first, and perhaps foremost, fruit of these efforts, which O'Sullivan refused to detail. It was clear that he and Feikens hoped somehow to get Cobo before the television cameras, possibly with Eisenhower, or at least with Vice President Nixon.

The Republican strategists see in such maneuvers a high potential campaign value in Michigan, where Cobo's identification as a Republican is blurred somewhat by his long tenure in non-partisan posts in Detroit.

They were aware that Democratic big city mayors found their way often onto television screens during the Chicago convention, thus gaining valuable political advertising.

Cobo's arrival here followed Eisenhower's by little more than three hours.

POTTER SATISFIED

A satisfactory explanation of Cobo's belated appearance on the convention scene was hard to find. One theory, advanced privately, was that he wanted to avoid the possibility of being drawn into any possible acrimonious dispute about the vice presidential nomination.

Before Cobo showed up, Sen. Charles E. Potter told newsmen he was "well satisfied" that the Republican platform would protect private industry interests in development of atomic power for peacetime use.

During platform committee deliberations, Potter sought assurance that there would be no statement that could be construed as an endorsement of exclusive government activity in the field.

Potter observed that one of the five approved proposals for atomic power development under private initiative is planned near Monroe, Mich., where a utility group, including Detroit Edison, has worked up a project.

Potter said the Democratic party platform would leave the way open for government dominance, and a freeze out of private enterprise.

Six persons were named by the Michigan caucus to fill delegate and alternate delegate vacancies. They are Mrs. Alvey Flodin, Iron Mountain; Willie Ward, Detroit; Montgomery Shepherd, St. Joseph; John Bigelow, Lansing; Stanely Hille, Freeland, and Herman Luhrs of Oakland County.

Bays, both at home; a grandchild; five sisters, Mrs. Jacob Powell, Fostoria; Mrs. Orville Schell, Petersburg, Ind.; Mrs. James Jones, Mrs. Norman Hanks and Mrs. Walter Johnson, all of Pontiac; three brothers, Louis, James and Paul Bays, also of Pontiac, and his stepmother, Mrs. Rose Bays, Keego Harbor.

Blaze Burns Laundry at Pontiac State Hospital

An estimated $2,100 in damages were caused by a fire at the Pontiac State Hospital early last night, the Pontiac Fire Department said today.

The blaze reportedly was caused by careless smoking in a basement laundry, firemen said. The majority of the damage was to the contents of the laundry.

Railroads May Hike Rates to Make Business Pay Off

NEW YORK (AP)—Passenger and freight rate hikes are just two of many things the railroads look to today to help them make their share of the transportation business pay.

Competition with the trucks, buses, autos, barges and planes has spawned new ideas in trains, tracks and services. This is partly to cut costs, partly to win or hold customers, and partly to prepare for the expected major increase in transportation demands in the next ten years.

James M. Symes, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, predicts that freight traffic between the nation's cities will increase by 40 per cent in ten years. If the rails hold their present percentage of the freight trade, they'll be hauling 790 billion ton miles of freight a year.

Public interest has been caught by new styles in trains: New York Central's all aluminum streamliners; Pennsylvania's tubular steel train, 40 per cent lighter than old style ones; Santa Fe's two-level train with passengers sitting four feet higher than in conventional coaches; Southern Pacific's and Burlington's two-level commuter coaches; Pullman Co.'s interchangeable "slumbercoach" which can carry 62 coach passengers or be converted quickly into sleeper accommodations for 31.

Freight cars are being changed, too. Chesapeake & Ohio has a combination truck and box car with two sets of wheels—one for use on highways, the other for use on railway tracks.

A radioactive box car is planned. Foods to be preserved rolled through it on a conveyor belt and then loaded in other cars.

Yards have been redesigned and mechanized for speedier movement. Fairbanks, Morse of Chicago has a new railroad track load scale which will handle up to 400 tons, doing the job electronically.

Jersey Citizen Crowned New King of Hoboes

BRITT, Iowa (AP)—Hobo Ben Benson, Newark, N. J., is the new king of the hoboes. He was elected by a large majority here yesterday at the annual hobo convention over an old rival and last year's king, Scoopshovel Scotty, who listed his address as Cedar Rapids.

"Crown Prince" Gilman Coolomore, Long Island, N. Y., arrived late for the coronation and blamed a slow freight for the delay.

An estimated 22,000 persons watched the parade which preceded the coronation. There were 125 entries, including 12 bands.

The parade watchers, hoboes and others here for traditional reunions, consumed 1,200 gallons of free Mulligan stew which junior chamber of commerce chefs had been brewing most all of Monday night.

Earnings

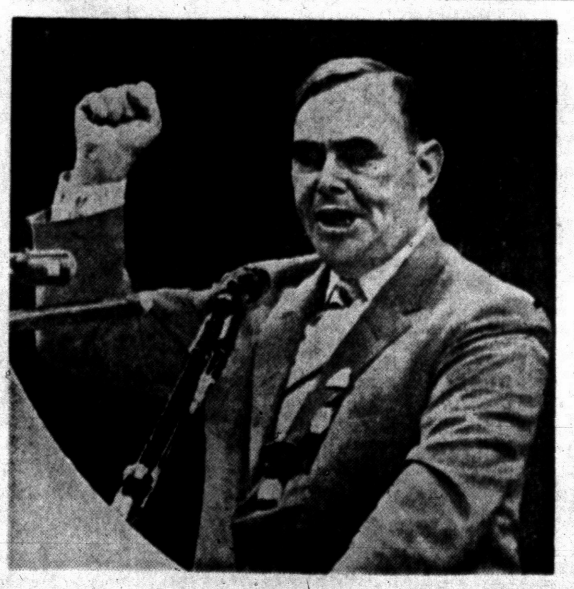

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Edison Co. reports net earnings of $27,968,793 for the year ending July 31, an increase of more than $3 million over the $24,885,135 reported for the similar 1954-55 period. No comparable figures are available since the firm represents the merger in March of this year of Martin-Parry Corp., Prosperity Co. and New York and Cuba Mail Steamship Co.

Dick Nixon Confident of GOP Nomination

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vice President Nixon was described by friends today as confident all would go well for him at the Republican National Convention.

It was by now accepted that only President Eisenhower could upset his renomination. Nixon's jovial mood last night suggested he had no forewarning of any such possibility.

He did not call on Eisenhower after the President's arrival from Washington, although meeting him at the airport, and did not plan on seeing Eisenhower before the convention chooses its ticket.

"I have not requested an appointment," Nixon told newsmen, "and I do not expect to have one unless he requests one."

He said later: "My feeling is that I have no particular matter or problem to discuss with the President." This was interpreted by some as an indication he had received Eisenhower's go-ahead.

Crowds gathered wherever the vice president went. People tried to shake his hand or wish him well. Delegates acclaimed him when he popped in on caucuses or other delegation affairs. Others poured in to his 11th floor hotel living room to voice their support.

City Worker Hurt in Sewer Cave-In

A 22-year-old Pontiac Dept. of Public Works employe suffered possible chest and knee injuries this morning when an earth bank caved in on him at a sewer project at Tasmania and Riverside Drive.

Dale Pace of 506 California Ave. is listed in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital, where X-rays were taken to determine the extent of the injury.

The accident reportedly happened when a water main broke, weakening the bank which later collapsed when Pace went to inspect the leak. Fellow workers freed him.

Stevenson to Launch Campaign in Detroit

DETROIT (INS)—It is now officially announced that Adlai Stevenson will launch his bid for the presidency with a Labor Day speech in Detroit.

The Democratic candidate will address more than a half million AFL and CIO members who will gather at the old city hall following their traditional parade.

The Stevenson talk was announced yesterday after a joint meeting of the Labor Day committee of the Detroit and Wayne County Federation of Labor (AFL) and the Wayne County CIO Council.

Business Notes

DETROIT (INS)—The appointment of Milton Saks as assistant director of industrial relations for the Special Products Division was announced today by American Motors Corp.

The Plymouth Division has announced the appointment of Gordon H. Barnes as sales manager for the Washington, D. C., region. Barnes formerly was ass

Fowler and Mullinix Join Trial Board

The City Commission placed two new members on the Police and Fire Trial Board last night and took steps toward increasing the membership of the board from five to seven men.

Warren T. Fowler, 59 Lake St., was nominated to fill the vacancy on the board of Thurlow Harsen, who resigned recently to move to Detroit. Fowler's new term expires in 1958.

Cecil C. Mullinix, 571 Lowell St., was nominated to replace James Flanary, whose term expired in May. Mullinix was elected to a five-year term as provided under the city charter.

City attorney William A. Ewart was instructed to review the legislation pertaining to the board and prepare a charter amendment for a vote in November, which would add two more positions to the board.

He Was Just So Swell—They Took Away His Bell

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Young Republican worker gladly handed out some "I like Ike" buttons to the two gentlemen—but he lost a big ship-type bell in the deal.

Beal Jacobsen told police he failed to notice—until after the well wishers left Young Republican headquarters—that they had taken with them the 60-pound bell, not a giveaway item.

Aged Detroiters Killed

DETROIT (AP)—Two aged Detroit pedestrians died Tuesday of injuries suffered when struck by cars on Detroit streets. Mrs. Leora Phillips, 91, was run down Monday and Isaiah Papa, 73, was struck Friday.

Dr. William Beebe descended to a depth of 3,028 feet in the Atlantic Ocean off Bermuda in 1934.

City Police Investigate Alleged Unarmed Robber

An alleged unarmed robbery reported to have been the result of an auto accident is being investigated by Oakland County deputies today.

Arthur McCafferty told officers he was knocked down and forced to hand over $56 in the driveway of his home at 4990 Brookfield, White Lake Township, yesterday afternoon by a man with whom he had been involved in an accident shortly before.

McCafferty said the man followed him home after the minor accident near the bar on M59 and demanded money for the damages. When he refused, McCafferty said he was struck to the ground so he gave the man all the money he had in his billfold.

Cooper Is Optimistic on Kentucky Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, here for the Republican National Convention, says he is optimistic over his chances of regaining a seat in the Senate in November.

Asked at a news conference how he rated his chances against former Gov. Lawrence Weatherby, the Democratic nominee, Cooper said:

"I think I can win against him."

Noted Doctor Dies

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Daniel P. Foster, whose illness forced him to retire as head of the Metabolic Diseases Division at Ford Hospital six years ago, died yesterday. He was 67. Dr. Foster headed the division for 25 years and until a few months ago had remained a consultant.

Cover-Up Job

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Some Republicans made Stevenson Street in downtown San Francisco a little difficult to find. They slapped big "Ike 1956" stickers on the street signs.

In Utah, church ministers and leaders have set up "geiger counter" religious schools to teach the Bible to children of parents who have left their normal homes to prospect for uranium.

6.5 Carat Diamond Found in Cow Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sheriff's deputies conducted a successful needle-in-the-haystack search of the Cow Palace for a 6½-carat diamond valued by its owner at $12,000.

Mrs. Russell Havenstrite of Los Angeles said the stone dropped out of her ring, but she didn't miss it until she returned to her downtown hotel.

* * *

The deputies, some on their hands and knees, started the search, and the stone was found by Sgt. Bill Moran an hour later in a box adjoining the one Mrs. Havenstrite had occupied. The find was worth a $100 reward, split among Moran and his colleagues.

Dump Nixon Campaign May Aid Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Edward V. Healey Jr., Rhode Island Republican gubernatorial campaign director, wired Bayard Ewing, chairman of the Rhode Island delegation in San Francisco, as follows:

"In event Stassen's campaign for (Gov. Christian) Herter, of Mass., is unsuccessful, we could make use of all campaign material using words "Ike and Chris" for our candidate for governor, Chris del Sesto. Will you contact Mr. Stassen on our behalf?"

Wheels, Tires Stolen From Rochester Firm

Oakland County detectives today were investigating the theft of two tires and two wheels from a new car parked in an auto firm lot in Rochester.

The wheels and tires were found to be missing from the Crissman Chevrolet Company yesterday. Value of the losses is estimated at $95.19.

Nearly 40 per cent of the nation's colleges report teaching posts that have been budgeted for but have gone unfilled during the past two years because there were no qualified candidates.

School Officials Solicit Help From Communities

ANN ARBOR — Faced with a constant need for expanding facilities and improving educational standards, Michigan's public school administrators are turning more and more to their teachers and communities for help in planning their curricula and building needs.

This trend toward a more democratic type of school administration is one of several major changes now apparent in Michigan's public schools, according to field representatives of the Bureau of School Services at The University of Michigan.

These representatives visit more than 300 schools annually throughout the state as part of the University's accreditation and visitation program. They outlined their views recently at an informal round-table discussion, emphasizing that trends evident throughout the state would not necessarily be felt in each individual school system.

"It's really quite a rare occasion now when a community does not participate in planning new buildings to meet the requirements of an expanding enrollment," declares Kent W. Leach, bureau director. This activity, in turn, has created greater interest in school curriculum needs.

SCRATCHED SURFACE

Leach and the field representatives believe that the surface has only been scratched in field of civic participation in solving school problems, however. There is no lack of desire on the part of citizens to plow deeply into these educational problems, they explain, but because widespread interest in this field has developed only recently, citizens lack well developed techniques for this work.

Further evidence of the spread of joint planning on school problems can be found in increased use of pre-school conferences and retreats during the academic year to permit administrators to review progress with their staff.

Again, because this is a fairly new educational trend, the field representatives believe many schools might well make additional budget allocations to pay for the staff time and resource personnel necessary for these evaluation sessions.

Students have also come to play a more important part in developing relations between the schools and their communities, the field workers state. They cite the assignment of greater responsibilities to student councils and the rapid growth of other extracurricular activities as two of the more important developments in this respect.

Spurned Lover Stabs Right Girl —in Courtroom

TOKYO (AP)—Shigeo Furuya, convicted of murder in a wrong-victim love slaying, caught up with his intended target in Tokyo Appeal Court and stabbed her with a bamboo spear.

Furuya was convicted in District Court of the midnight strangling of Miss Hisako Katsumuki, 19. He testified he had mistaken her for Miss Fumie Ogawa, and said he wanted to kill Fumie because she had grown cold toward him.

The District Court sentenced Furuya to life. He appealed to the higher court.

Fumie was called as a witness at yesterday's appeal court hearing. Her three hours of testimony centered chiefly on a denial that she had ever been Furuya's mistress.

As she finished testifying, Furuya broke from his guards and plunged a sharpened length of Bamboo into her chest. Doctors said he will live.

Idaho Primary Race Still in Contention

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Former Sen. Glen Taylor says he isn't conceding a thing in Idaho's Democratic senatorial primary race until the State Board of Canvassers meets next Saturday to certify the official results of the Aug. 14 balloting.

Official county canvasses were all in today, and they gave Taylor 27,772 votes—170 less than Democratic rival Frank Church, 32, of Boise.

Taylor, Progressive Party vice presidential nominee when he was in the Senate in 1948, said last night he will ask for a recount if Saturday's state canvass shows him the loser.

Greer May Sub for Ed Sullivan

Next Academy Awards Telecast Already Set for March 16

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—The smart TV coverage of the conventions by the ABC-TV network reflects more than just passing effectiveness. The whole network is now lively and giving the other two webs a real fight for attention.

ABC's racked up a whopping $38,400,000 in business for the first half of '56, biggest in its history.

If Ed Sullivan isn't well enough to point at people by Sept. 7, Greer Garson will emcee his vaudeville . . . The most British lady in English history, the aforesaid Miss Garson, will play an Irish colleen in "The Gift of Molly McGee" on General Electric Theater.

NBC knows the date of the next TV "Academy Awards" already: March 16.

Bob Considine will host the Mark Hellinger TV series . . .

PLUGGING PROBLEM

Climax and the Ed Sullivan Show, both with auto sponsors, want Judy Holliday for guestings but don't know what to do about plugging her new movie, "The Solid Gold Cadillac," which type of plug-agentry must go with the deals these days.

CBS bought Ernest Lehman's mag piece "The Comedian," a bitter psychological horror tale for which nary a name comedian wishes to volunteer. Totally unsympathetic, but a walloper . . .

Jack Benny and Marge and Gower Champion are partners in a new TV series starring the dancers (no, not Jack) . . . Production starts after the Champion heir arrives in January.

CBS-TV's "Zane Grey Theater" these fall Fridays will use more than guns to hold up its competition: Stars, too—Ida Lupino and James Whitmore signed for several . . .

Dennis Morgan, Ginger Rogers' foil in "Kitty Foyle," has started a new Western series, "Back Trails," in which he'll act occasionally, produce and harrate . . .

MERCEDES TO STAR

"Wire Service," the new ABC series due in the fall, gets the acting trade's most nervously pretentious performer, Mercedes McCambridge, as star.

Rae to emcee but Gordon nixed Rae to mcee but Gordon nixed it . . .

Paddy Chayevsky got only a $10,000 down payment for the movie version of his prize-winning "Marty," but his latest, Bronx bard a flat $125,000. Bronx bard a flat $125,000.

Steve Allen wanted Tab Hunter and Tab wanted to guest with Steve but Warner Brothers said no can do . . .

The NBC series called "Impact" thought its biggest problem was a new title, so it got one, "Impasse," then that was ruled out and "Crisis" was chosen, and then NBC canceled the show until next year . . .

Ludington Selected for Survey Center

LUDINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has selected Ludington as its central headquarters for a sea lamprey control program along the east shore of Lake Michigan from the Straits of Mackinac to the southern end of the lake.

Leo Erkkilo, supervisor of the service's sea lamprey control, said yesterday Ludington was selected for the program because of its central location and expected about 30 persons will be employed in the project.

The sea lamprey is an eel-like predator which already has caused a major decline in great lakes fishing industries.

Its control previously has been confined primarily to Lake Superior and the northern and western shores of Lake Michigan. Erkkilo said the first full-scale control program on the eastern shore is expected to begin this fall.

Falls Off Helpless Boat, Drowns in Detroit River

DETROIT (AP)—Joe Tomasick, 35, the Detroit River Monday while the Detroit River last night while a crash boat from Grosse Ile Naval Station was towing a 28-foot cabin cruiser to port.

The stalled cruiser with Tomasick and three other fishermen aboard was taken in tow by the crash boat near where the Detroit River empties into Lake Erie.

The aft deck of the cruiser was torn out by a line attached to the crash boat. Tomasick slid into the water and was lost.

JUNIOR CASEY JONESES — These six youths are apprentice railroad engineers, getting a lesson in railroading during a leadership training conference in Lansing. It was sponsored by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction and the Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference. The boys, all state officers of the Michigan Future Farmers of America, are, bottom to top, Ervin J. West, Norman A. Brown, Jack R. Hill, Ronald L. Pierson, Kenneth A. Bortel and James L. Helmer.

Stevenson Likely to Be Campaign Funnyman

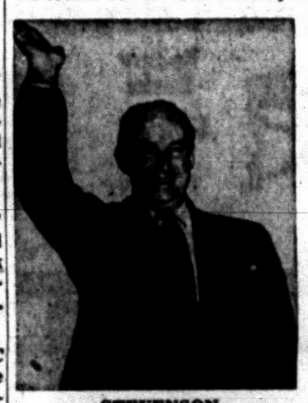

By EARL WILSON

SAN FRANCISCO—Some very nasty man is teasing the Republican conventioneers by passing around a booklet called "Early Days and Late Hours with Adlai Stevenson."

It makes Adlai out to be a regular Bob Hope and Jack Benny and raises the question of who'll be the GOP funnyman.

I found out in this work by Jack O. Brown, former assistant State Treasurer of Illinois, that after Adlai goes to New York to make some TV campaign film, his running for the presidency will probably remind him of a story about a fellow being ridden out of town on a rail.

STEVENSON

"How do you like it?" his tormentors taunted him.

"Well," he answered, "if it wasn't for the honor of the thing, I'd just as leave walk!"

The people around "The Guv" agree that this yarn of his about the unpleasantness of running for office never fails. He'll be in high good humor, they say, after a vacation and "just a-pouring it on" with all his wit.

But as I was saying recently, he likes to twit himself. He alleged that a nice old lady told him "You look better than your pictures."

Ignoring him when he tried to thank her, she shouted, "Thank heaven!"

Those who admire his courage recite the story of his mountain-climbing with Oregon Senator Richard Neuberger. Nothing funny about that except that when it got treacherously icy, and everybody was hesitating, Gov. Stevenson kicked at the snow and yelled, "Come on, Neuberger, do you want to live forever?"

Actress Vanessa Brown—a California alternate who worked hard at the Stevenson headquarters—is one of the Hollywood and Broadway set who have tremendous faith.

"My husband"—Dr. Robert A. Franklyn of Hollywood—"and I just had our sixth wedding anniversary and I wanted him to come in from California to go to the convention," she told me.

"But he was too busy and besides I couldn't get him a ticket. He said, 'Never mind, we'll wait till next year and celebrate in the White House.' Naturally, I am going to do everything I can.

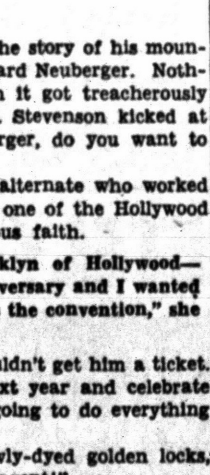

"Maybe," she added, shaking her newly-dyed golden locks, "I can be a blonde counter-intelligence agent!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . .

Tallulah Bankhead kept a TV set in her dressing room and joyously announced the Stevenson win to her summer stock audience . . . The FBI is quizzing B'wayites again in the Victor Riesel attack . . . Frank Sinatra's three kids will arrive here next week. (Jackie Gleason had a huge trailer truck parked near the Paramount, with "Good Luck, Frank," painted on the side).

Sammy Davis Jr., was at Birdland wearing a campaign button: "Keep Cool with Coolidge" . . . Shipping heir Michael Grace threatens a lawsuit against a picture mag for its story about him . . . Paddy Chayefsky and his crew start filming "Bachelor Party" here next week . . . Marian James is marking her fifth year as a model on "The Big Payoff."

Eddie and Debbie are vacationing at Palm Springs . . . CBS warned its convention personnel not to patronize NBC's refreshment trailer. Chet (NBC) Huntley kidded 'em: "C'mon over, the food's not poisoned!" . . . Victor Borge will entertain at U. S. bases in Europe . . . Friends are trying to get the Frank Loessers together after the split.

MARIAN

EARL'S PEARLS . . . Good girls keep diaries; bad girls don't have the time.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Men have it rough—they have to admit there are some jobs a woman can do as well, and a machine can do better."—Peggy Greene.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "There's only one time when a gal shops around to get the least for her money—when she's buying a bathing suit." Walter Slezak.

Rocky Graziano proudly told TV producer Nat Hiken he'd made three speeches on juvenile delinquency. "Really?" asked Nat. "For or against?" That's earl brother.

Suez Lacking Pilots for Canal

Waterway Is Operating With Minimum Number Since Nationalization

SUEZ (AP)—Since Egypt nationalized the Suez Canal, not one foreign canal pilot has returned from leave.

All other vacations back home have been canceled, and both the pilots and officials of the new Egyptian Suez Canal authority agree they are down to the absolute minimum number of master mariners needed to keep the normal 40-50 ships a day moving through the vital waterway.

"We are working with little rest or time off," says Capt. Knibb Young of Scotland. "There's a limit to how long we can keep it up."

Thus the outcome of Egyptian President Nasser's daring nationalization of the canal may depend as much on the pilots, and Egypt's ability to train native replacements, as on international conferences and negotiations.

Egypt, rushing the training of 30 new Greek and Egyptian pilots, says it may be possible to resume the leave system fairly soon. But Young doubts that many who got out of Egypt would return unless the canal is internationalized, even though their pay ranges up from $20,000 a year plus allowances.

The canal before nationalization was serviced by 207 pilots, more than half of them French or British and only 40 of them Egyptians. Egyptian canal officials estimate 25 to 28 were away on annual two-month leaves when nationalization was proclaimed July 26. The pilots themselves estimate "there are only about 125 to 150 of us" on hand now.

Now, That's Logic

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Unemployed window washer George M. Kandarian walked into the University police station and handed over a woman's purse containing $131. He said he found it at a street intersection, and to the desk sergeant he phrased his Golden Rule philosophy this way: "If I had any, I'd want my money returned if I lost it."

That's Mr. Savage!

WARWICK, R.I. (AP)—John Savage danced a jig, admired a blonde on television, stuck his tongue out at a photographer and ate a huge meal on his 104th birthday. His dinner included roast pork, baked potato, blueberry pie, ice cream and a birthday cake. Among his gifts were two quarts of brandy and a pint of gin.

Dogs and Horse Well Provided by Couple's Will

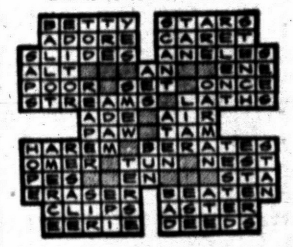

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two dogs and a 28-year-old retired riding horse, already well provided for in the will of their mistress, can really live it up now on bequests left by her husband.

Harry B. Fosterman, retired packing company executive, left each of them $25 a month. He also provided $100 a month and $15,000 for a house for Mrs. Gladys Mertz 59-year-old widow who had been housekeeper for the Fostermans seven years and will now take care of the pets.

Mrs. Fosterman left $50 a month apiece for the two dogs and the horse when she died in May. Her estate was valued at $427,805.

Fosterman's will, filed for probate yesterday, also gave substantial amounts to five charitable institutions. He died Saturday at 69.
