Costly Storm Also Brings Beauty

NEW ENGLAND SCENE — This picturesque scene in a Portland suburb is in sharp contrast to many others in New England where thousands of workers spent the weekend digging out cars abandoned by motorists during the storm. Death toll in 11 states was near 100 at latest count.

President Asks Congressional OK on Funds

Military Help for Asia, Middle East Earmarked in $5 Billion Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress to vote $4,859,975,000 for foreign aid, with $1,640,000,000 in military assistance earmarked for the Middle East and Asia.

"Serious risk of aggression still exists" in these areas, he said.

Along with his request for a big increase in appropriations, Eisenhower asked for new flexibility in administration of the program. Particularly he asked for power to make commitments up to 10 years.

That feature, as well as the money increase, promised a hot fight in Congress.

In a special message, Eisenhower told the lawmakers: "We cannot now falter in our quest for peace."

Eisenhower said "significant testimony to the success of our mutual security programs appears in the new terms and developments of Soviet policy."

CANNOT RELAX EFFORTS

Eisenhower added: "With Soviet leaders openly proclaiming their world aim, it would be folly for us and our friends to relax our collective efforts toward stability and security."

Eisenhower said the $4,859,975,000 which he is asking "is a low price to pay for the security and vastly greater chances for world peace."

Signs of tough sledding for the program were unmistakable, particularly in the Senate.

Objections so far were aimed principally at its size, compared with the $2,700,000,000 appropriated last year, and a new feature—requested authority to make commitments up to 10 years at the rate of 100 million dollars a year on big projects. This would apply to such major projects as Egypt's proposed Aswan Dam, which would require many years to complete.

Administration officials have been saying Eisenhower will lead a fight for all of the request. Congress rarely appropriates the total amount requested for foreign aid. Some officials have said privately $3 billion dollars might be an acceptable result.

Ambassador Bohlen Tells of Riot Rumors

BERLIN (INS)—Charles E. Bohlen, the U. S. Ambassador to Moscow, arrived today in Berlin en route to a south European vacation.

Bohlen told newsmen he had heard rumors of a demonstration in the republic of Georgia, Stalin's birthplace.

Bohlen also said there was one Western diplomat in Georgia at the time of the demonstrations but the ambassador declined further comment.

He said he was going to Florence, Italy, for a week's vacation and then would go to Austria to ski for another week before returning to Moscow.

Alleged Narcotic Gang Smashed

Detroit Police Announce Mopup With 18 Arrests After 2½ Year Doings

DETROIT (AP)—City and federal authorities today announced a mopup of an alleged narcotics syndicate which has operated over a period of 2½ years.

Eighteen persons, including three present or former members of the Detroit police force, have been arrested on conspiracy charges brought by the federal government.

Two of the defendants are Cleveland residents. All the others are Detroiters.

U. S. District Attorney Fred W. Kaess and City Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins announced the mopup with other highhanded of the police department at a news conference in the federal building.

The investigation was carried out in greatest secrecy. Kaess said several more arrests may be expected. Most of the details of the background were kept in secret pending a federal grand jury inquiry.

An unconfirmed report prior to the official announcement said a narcotics source was Iran in the Middle East. However, Kaess denied this.

Button Up Your Overcoat, Spring Enters Tomorrow

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

Tomorrow is spring, but the grass ain't riz and I don't know where any flowers is.

They've done it again this year—sprung spring too early.

They always do—those astronomers and calendar makers. And because it's Leap Year, the day that's supposed to signal the balmy breeze and blossoming tulip is moved up to March 20 instead of the usual March 21.

These "experts" give us a lot of rumbo-jumbo about "the Vernal Equinox" and longer days which amounts to quite a snow job.

And we admit that we're snowed, but with the real stuff. The warming breezes and flowers are still vacationing in Florida.

It's about time somebody started a movement to get Spring put off

Spanking Doesn't Do Much Real Good in Opinion of City School Psychologist

By PETE LOCHMILLER

Spanking children doesn't do much real good, says Pontiac's school psychologist. In some cases, he warned, it is definitely a bad idea.

According to Paul Sullivan, who joined the school system last fall, the need for corporal punishment in schools would vanish if crowded classes were reduced in size.

"Teachers then could make special efforts to help problem children," he explained.

"The average student would get more attention too," he added, "and this is what helps children get along in school."

Sullivan believes that a child used to spanking will behave for a while if spanked again. "But a better method," he emphasized, "is to talk things over in a quiet, nonhostile way and explain the consequences of bad behavior."

"Give the child food for thought," he advised, "and his conscience will be developed."

Any child who can be brought in line by spanking is capable of reacting favorably to a more thoughtful kind of discipline, Sullivan claimed.

"But a child not used to physical punishment is liable to misinterpret a sudden paddling. If he thinks he is being deliberately hurt and not justifiably punished, he may become mean, for example."

Discipline through fear, Sullivan stressed, usually defeats its own purpose.

Behind physical punishment in school, he contends, usually lies frustration on the part of both teacher and pupil.

"Where too many students are jammed into too small a classroom," Sullivan explained, "an exasperated teacher may consider spanking the only means to maintain discipline."

Pointing to the many adults who can remember "experiences in the woodshed," Sullivan added that moderate physical punishment is at least "effective" in most cases. "But studies should be made of 'seriously disturbed' children, who should be helped to understand the reasons behind bad behavior," he said.

Pontiac defeated Catholic Central twice during the regular season and a victory Wednesday would move the Chiefs into the state semi-finals Friday night at Jenison field house in East Lansing. (See sports page 24 for details.)

Leaders Rushing to Climb Aboard Bandwagon

But Veiled Confusion Is Apparent as Party Leaders Switch Line

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kremlin campaign to deflate the myth of Stalin as a demigod gathered momentum today on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Moscow itself was calm, but through the veil of censorship came reports of disturbances in the Georgian birthplace of the dead dictator.

Throughout the vast stretches of the Soviet Union, Communist activists spread the new line, first in meetings of the party's local leadership and then by word of mouth to an ever widening audience.

Outside the Iron Curtain, Communist leaders were climbing aboard the new Red bandwagon with strong denunciations or mild rebukes of the dead leader they once publicly venerated. But an undertone of confusion prevailed.

Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev kicked off the campaign Feb. 24 at the Congress. Reports said he accused Stalin of murdering thousands of his party associates and the flower of the Red army officer corps in the great purges of the 1930s and then committing incredible blunders in the war against Hitler. Khrushchev said further that Stalin lived in constant fear of plots and reacted by terrorizing his associates.

In Moscow, Stalin pictures and statues were disappearing from such public places as the Tchaikovsky Concert Hall, the Tretyakov Gallery and the Red Army's Central Theater. Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, called for an acceleration of the re-education campaign among the armed forces.

Student groups loyal to Stalin's memory demonstrated in the Georgian capital of Tbilisi but few details seeped out.

The New York Times quoting diplomatic sources in the United States, said the Soviet government had imposed security measures and travel controls in some sectors because of repercussions from the attack on Stalin. It reported air travel suspended to Caucasus area cities since March 8, "second day of demonstrations in Tiflis."

The Times said the impact on ordinary Soviet citizens apparently was more extreme than the government had expected.

Party Secretary Walter Ulbricht told an East Berlin party conference that Stalin had failed to prepare the Soviet Union for war despite warnings that Hitler would attack.

In Belgrade, the Yugoslav Communist newspaper Borba hailed Khrushchev's speech. "Efforts of the Russian Communist party are concentrated on removing the remnants of the Stalinist rule in all the fields of the Soviet life," it said.

Novelist Known Writer Dies

Dies in East for Research

Bromfield Used Ohio Farm as Laboratory for Later Writings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Louis Bromfield, noted Pulitzer Prize-winning author, newspaper columnist and militant advocate of soil conservation, died last night in University Hospital here. He was 59.

His physician said death was due to kidney and liver failure caused by a "jaundice infection." Bromfield was admitted to the hospital Feb. 28 suffering from "homologous jaundice."

Friends said he had been in a coma for the last 24 hours.

Bromfield's literary career, which started with the publication of "The Green Bay Tree," reached its zenith when he was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in 1935 for his novel "Early Autumn." It was a story of a Massachusetts family.

Bromfield traveled widely and some of his more than two score novels reflect the scenes he visited. Many of them also were made into motion pictures.

Upon his return to this country in 1938 he set about selecting a site in Ohio where he could settle down and achieve "real continuity" and "real permanence" of living.

He purchased five farms 12 miles from Mansfield, Ohio, where he was born Dec. 27, 1896. He christened the 1,000 acres "Malabar Farm" after a section of the India coast where the Bromfields once lived.

There he set about conducting experiments in scientific farming and soil conservation. He wrote many articles on the subject and once testified before a congressional committee.

Bromfield is survived by three daughters. Mrs. Bromfield died in 1952.

Rites Tuesday for Fred Allen

FRED ALLEN

Veteran Screen and TV Comedian Is Stricken During Night Stroll

NEW YORK (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Fred Allen, the veteran humorist with the baggy eyes and sharp wit.

The 61-year-old radio and television comedian died of a heart ailment as he strolled a Manhattan street late Saturday night.

A Solemn Requiem Mass will be sung for Allen at the actor's chapel of St. Malachy's Roman Catholic Church in the theater district. He will be buried at the Gate of Heaven Catholic Cemetery in suburban Westchester County.

Allen was an entertainer in radio television and motion pictures for a quarter of a century. He was a regular panelist on the CBS television show "What's My Line?" Last night the show went on without him. His widow, Portland Hoffa, said he would have wanted it that way.

Steve Allen, no relation, substituted for Fred.

After an autopsy yesterday, Dr. Milton Heltman, chief medical examiner, said the comedian died of occlusive coronary heart disease. He said Allen had had a heart condition "over the years."

Allen was born John Florence Sullivan in Cambridge, Mass., on May 31, 1894. He changed his name early in his career at the suggestion of his agent, a man named Allen.

His first venture on the stage was as a juggler.

In 1922 he met Miss Hoffa in New York. They were married in 1928. The couple went into radio together in 1932 and also made several movies, including "Thanks a Million" and "Sally, Irene and Mary."

Snowstorm Cripples East as Death Count Reaches 94

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The worst snowstorm in seven years crippled the New York metropolitan area today.

At least 94 persons in 11 states have died as a result of the snowstorm which started yesterday and the storm of Friday.

More than 1,000 cars stalled in a huge traffic pileup in the New York City borough of Queens today. An estimated 3,000 motorists abandoned their cars and sought shelter from the wind-whipped snow.

The all-night snowfall—accompanied by thunder and lightning at times—totaled 11½ inches in New York at 7 a.m. The Weather Bureau said the storm appeared to be "tapering off," but would leave another inch or two before ending this afternoon.

Flight operations were reported nearly closed down at Idlewild and La Guardia airports.

The storm hit West Virginia, Virginia and Maryland yesterday and then drove up the coast. It swirled into southern New England and northward in New York state early today.

The storm followed hard on the heels of another severe snowstorm that raked the Northeast last Friday and dumped up to 19 inches of snow in New England. The wind-whipped snow into drifts five feet deep in the New York area. The snowfall in Manhattan came on top of 4 to 5 inches that fell Friday.

In the Queens pileup, Army troops and police teamed to help the motorists to shelter. Many persons remained in their cars until they ran out of gas and batteries went dead.

An emergency evacuation center was set up at the Queens Borough Hall. About 350 persons bedded down in courtrooms and other parts of the building.

Heavy snow also hit New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Many schools were ordered closed in both states.

The death toll in the two storms included: Massachusetts 16, New York 22, Rhode Island 11, Connecticut 8, New Jersey 8, Ohio 12, Maine 5, Maryland 1, New Hampshire 1, Pennsylvania 5 and Virginia 4.

Swallows Keep Mission Happy on Historical Day

The mission had for days been bustling with scouts which arrive yearly in advance of the main flight to rid the nests of unwanted intruders who use them during the winter months.

The return of the swallows touched off a day of celebration at the mission.

Oakland County Claims Four Lives as Weather Hampers Motorists

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Despite snow-slicked streets and highways at the beginning, the St. Patrick's Day weekend claimed only nine lives in Michigan traffic.

It turned out one of the safest periods between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday in recent months. One collision claimed two lives. Other victims were killed in separate accidents.

William A. Callahan, 28, of Royal Oak, was injured fatally Sunday when his car struck a tree in Royal Oak.

James A. Churchill, 28, of near Monroe, was killed Saturday night when his car skidded off icy U.S. 23 near Ida and overturned in a ditch.

Jewelry Store Robbery Solved

4 Police Departments Cooperate in Netting Three Youths

Cooperation of four police departments and an agency detective Saturday resulted in cracking a $500 jewelry store robbery here March 7.

Held by Pontiac police after information was furnished by Royal Oak, Detroit and Oakdale Gardens police is William D. Patterson, 17, of Royal Oak.

A confession by Patterson, according to Det. Sgt. Raymond Meggitt, implicated two others also charged with breaking and entering in the theft of 16 rings from the show window of Connolly's Jewelry Store, 16 W. Huron.

They are Raul L. Wiley, 19, of Ferndale, and Willie R. Campbell, 19, of Detroit.

According to Meggitt and Pinkerton agent Frank Farley, the arrests followed discovery of one of the rings and two price tags in an abandoned car, which they alleged the trio drove in the robbery.

Six of the rings have been recovered, the detectives said, and added that other arrests may follow.

Passenger Hurt as Cars Collide at Intersection

Cracking Safe Awakens Scouts by Hissing Noise

A troop of boy scouts camping out in Proud Lake Recreation Area unwittingly listened to a safe being cracked Friday night, and found the rifled strongbox 400 yards from their camp Saturday morning.

Scoutmaster Menden Wescott of Southfield Township told Oakland County Sheriff's detectives he and his troop had heard "hissing noises" during the night.

The safe, stolen from Clayton H. Lamay of Livonia Friday night, was lying beside Bass Lake Road when the scouts left camp. Acetylene torch equipment used to break it open was lying nearby.

Livonia police said the safe-crackers took $150 from the strong-box.

Begin Last Drive on Farm Bill

Senate Chiefs Hope for Quick Vote Showdown; Wheat Debate Rages

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Senate begins a final drive today to bring its prolonged election-year fight over farm legislation to a close.

Before beginning its 10th day of voting on the measure, however, the Senate will take up a series of non-controversial bills on which there will be little, if any, discussion.

The battle-scarred farm measure has been under debate since Feb. 22, and Senate leaders were pressing toward final action in the hope of sending it to a House-Senate conference where a compromise version will be hammered out.

A bill passed by the House last year included 90 per cent price supports for wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts. The Senate, in a major administration victory, knocked them out and retained flexible crops.

But the Senate added a two-price system for wheat—opposed by the administration—and then changed the base for figuring parity, the formula on which price supports are figured. Parity is a ratio between the costs of farming and prices received for crops; under the Senate amendment, wheat farmers, in particular, would receive more money.

However, there still was no predicting how the bill would look by the time the Senate got through with it. Some 60 amendments still were pending this morning and about half of them are expected to be acted upon.

Before leaving the store, the two bandits fired a shot into the wall over Abraham's head, police said. Both were masked.

Ask Clothing for Needy
MARLETTE — Monday begins "Bundle Week" in Michigan, and Marlette Community Elementary School will be among others throughout the Oakland County area to join in the drive to aid needy children.

Residents are asked to bundle together all the clean, wearable clothing they can find and donate it to the drive. Bundles may be turned in to either school, with Bea McDonald School as the central collection point.

"Major need is for children's clothing, but wearables for adults and infants also are welcome," Charles Joslin, elementary principal, said.

"Much of the clothing will be shipped to needy boys and girls in the South," he pointed out.

Bundle Week is sponsored by the public schools and the Save the Children Federation.

Bundles may be turned in to the schools or given to any school child for delivery, Joslin said, and those who have no youngsters in school are urged to hand clothing to a neighboring student.

Spring Is Arriving, So Calendar Says

cept getting that lost button sewed back on his overcoat and keeping his car heater running at full blast.

Where will the robin be? In the barn, probably, with his head tucked under his wing.

GARDENERS FRUSTRATED
The only thing the avid, early-ground-breaking gardener will be able to break is a hoe on the frozen sod.

Chances are the back roads will be solidly frozen and there won't be a car stuck in the whole county. The ground hog is still 50 feet beneath the surface chortling over the hoax he perpetrated by failing to see his shadow.

Only a Polar-Bear-Club member would even think of going swimming and the only persons getting sunburned are those who fall asleep under sun lamps.

Some weather expert says the winters will be getting longer and colder for the next 40 years. But will they move Spring along so it won't arrive officially until Old Man Winter has gaped his last?

ANNOUNCE SPRING
No, they'll sit in their observatories, with feet propped on potatoes, and calmly announce that Spring is here although untold hundreds are lost someplace in a blizzard.

Perhaps a grass-roots revolution is in order. A mass upheaval of the hoax-weary populace demanding that Spring not be made official until it lifts us from our depression with warmth and beauty.

Just for the record, although not really believing it, let's review why they say spring will arrive at 10:21 a.m. tomorrow.

Astronomers start spring when the sun enters what is called the "Vernal Equinox," the time when it crosses the celestial equator on its yearly journey north.

Every four years they launch it a day early because an extra day has been tacked on February to allow for time we gained on the sun during our normal calendar year. From now on the days will get longer and nights shorter.

Goody for the astronomers, but we can refrain from calling it Spring until we're ready. How about the opening day of baseball season?

Donald McDonald, editor of Motor Trends Magazine, disappears of a mink shortage belonging to Mrs. M. Waterstone of Detroit, from the fitting room of Kay Baum's on Saturday afternoon.

Other weekend thefts were $45 in cash from the home at 523 Townsend Friday evening, and a wallet from Lee Abernethy's locker at Birmingham High School during Friday night's game. Police are also seeking the party who threw a stench bomb into the J.W. Jolly home at 1058 Wakefield Saturday night.

Relief From Cold Coming Tomorrow
The Weather Bureau said that relief from the unseasonal cold weather will accompany the arrival of spring in Pontiac tomorrow.

It will be fair tonight with a low between 13 and 17 degrees. The thermometer registered 34 at 1 p.m.

Report Theft of Coats
Three employees of a club at 88 Bagley St. told Pontiac police their coats were stolen from a rear room Saturday night.

Total loss in the theft, police said, was estimated at $215.

The Day in Birmingham

City Votes on Lot 4; Aims at Parking There in Fall

BIRMINGHAM — Hopes that Parking Lot No. 4, at Forest and Brownell, can be completed by Oct. 1, of this year are in evidence as the city commission looks to a hearing tonight on the necessity of the lot in the southeast quadrant.

The assessment roll to pay 40 per cent of construction cost is to be formulated and the property acquired if tonight's vote is affirmative for the Forest-Brownell parking lot.

Objectors to the lot will have their first hearing tonight, however. The lot's completion this fall, rather than the following spring, would permit an extra season's income from its parking meters to help pay for the lot's construction.

The current plan is to let Parking Lot No. 4 pay for itself out of receipts and assessments, freeing bond monies to finance Lots HH and 3-A in the northeast quadrant.

Also on tonight's agenda are hearings for the Eton Road pavement widening, continued from February 27, and on Ferndale Park right-of-way and paving, continued from March 5.

Appointment of workers on the election boards for the April 2 election is also scheduled for tonight.

A city manager's report on 14 mile road improvement in cooperation with Royal Oak asks action on advertising for contracts for the construction work. It would include an extension of 200 feet beyond the Greenfield intersection. Royal Oak would not share expense because that city's boundaries do not extend that far.

Police are investigating the disappearance of a mink shortage belonging to Mrs. M. Waterstone of Detroit, from the fitting room of Kay Baum's on Saturday afternoon.

Other weekend thefts were $45 in cash from the home at 523 Townsend Friday evening, and a wallet from Lee Abernethy's locker at Birmingham High School during Friday night's game. Police

Home Town Turns Out to Honor U. of M. Star Edgar Meads

OXFORD—Edgar Meads, captain of the University of Michigan 1955 football team, a former outstanding athlete at Oxford High School, was honored at a banquet here Saturday night, held at the Daniel Axford School.

Four community organizations sponsored the affair which was attended by approximately 175 persons. They are the Oxford Village Council, Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club.

Toastmaster for the program was R. A. Ambrose, superintendent of the Oxford public schools.

Speakers at the banquet included Bill Reed of Chicago, formerly of Oxford, who is assistant director of the Big Ten Conference; Jack Lees of St. Clair Shores, former Oxford coach; and Jean Harkness present coach at Oxford High School.

Meads was presented with a plaque in recognition of his achievements. A trophy also was given in his honor for presentation to the outstanding senior high school boy athlete each year.

Presentation of the plaque and trophy was made by Harold Pickford on behalf of the four sponsoring organizations.

In receiving the awards, Meads paid special tribute to his parents, Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Meads, and stressed the fact that scholarship and extracurricular activities were far more important to him than football honors.

Special guests at the banquet were members of the Oxford Varsity Club and members of the High School music department who gave several selections.

Meads, a 1952 graduate of Oxford High, won letters in football, basketball, baseball and track, and was an honor student while in Oxford. He will graduate from University of Michigan this year and plans to enter medical school in the fall.

Texans Don't Brag, They Tell Honest Lies

By PHYLIS BATTELLE
HOUSTON (INS) — The old timers in these parts say that if a body can't tell a Texas lie from a Texas truth, he has no business being here at all.

over the land route because there are still varmints in north Texas who stop trains and shoot passengers on sight. They are remnants of the old "Wright Boys Gang" that got fed up with the service on the Santa Fe and therefore pushed through the aeroplane.

I am flying rather than going

The man who traded me these safety tips for a batch of Little Audrey anecdotes (he was awful busy in the 30s) is Emil Marks, biggest longhorn cattle man in south Texas.

Marks had a lady friend who died at age 88 from falling off a horse in a race, so he is leery of gambling. Outside of that, though, there is nothing he's afraid of, even telling the truth when it hurts.

"You're a right pert little calf," he will say, "but I don't specially hanker after your brand." Truth like that.

GETS DISTURBED
Marks, a spry one at the age of 73, has lived on ranches near Houston all his life, but occasionally he makes trips all the way out of the state. On these journeys to other lands, he gets disturbed over the Texans' reputation for bragging.

"They tell you a lot of things up north and over west — you sure can't trust those California fellows — about how what we say in Texas is bragging. That's a lot of static.

"I tell you the truth. We native Texans do not brag, we state facts."

Now sometimes, Emil chuckles, these "facts" are downright lies. They are never exaggerated. "They are straight, honest lies." This makes them fables, rather than brags.

Example:
A New Yorker will say that New York is the most exciting city in the world. This is a brag.

A Texan will say that 50 freezing cowboys were saved during a blizzard by a rattlesnake. The snake bit Pegleg Joe and his limb swelled up so big there was fire-wood for a week. Is this bragging?

"No. This is an honest-to-good-

Lost Pet Snake Finally Turns Up in Doc's Library

ORANGE, Conn. — Dr. George Whitney's baby boa constrictor apparently wants to be a book worm when he grows up.

The veterinary's boa, which the Whitney family has adopted as a household pet, turned up in his library late Saturday night after having been missing since March 6. It was up behind the books.

"Baby" is 2 years old and is only 2½ feet long. When he grows up he'll be eight or nine feet long, Dr. Whitney says.

Baby turned up in New Haven.

in a load of bananas about a month ago. A frightened produce worker slashed him, but Dr. Whitney patched him up and they've been friends ever since.

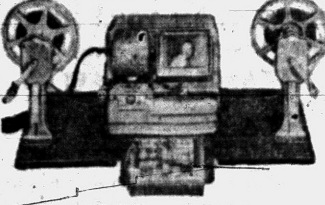

"It's a very pleasant snake, not anything ferocious or dangerous," Dr. Whitney said.

Oldest trace of prehistoric man in America was found at Folsom, northern New Mexico.

Hands Touching Money Will Never Be Grace's

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"Isn't it sad—Grace will never be able to gamble again in the Monte Carlo casino!" exclaimed her good friend and wedding guest Gant Gaither.

"As a reigning monarch, she'll never be able to go into the place," the Broadway producer from the southland sighed. "But then she'll never have to touch money again. It's against protocol for royalty to come into contact with the stuff."

Boysish-looking Mr. Gaither discussed this in the midst of his pants-troubles—that have arisen due to being Miss Kelly's wedding guest. "Grace said tails, so I got mine out. I last wore them at my sister's wedding and she's now the mother of five. I think they're 21 years old. Almost as old as Grace."

Gaither, who was in Special Service (after Yale and after running the Gant Gaither Theater in Miami Beach), first met Her Serene Highness—to be about 1948. Playwright George Kelly told Gaither that "my niece Grace" was making her stage debut in the Bucks County Playhouse.

"I went and we hit it off," he reflected. "Then she worked for me in my play, 'Alexander,' in Albany, N.Y. "What has Hollywood left to offer her? She's got the Oscar, she's had every big star for her leading man. Crosby and Sinatra on each side of her in the last one!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Hal March—asked to "cut down the verbiage" when the 64G Question dropped a notch in ratings—complained. Result: the show was 3 minutes short and he was asked to ad lib some verbiage... The Magda Gabor-Tony Gallucci wedding Apr. 15 at Mama Gabor's Westport, Conn., home (with Zsa Zsa and Eva present) will end Magda's acting career... Cyd Charisse inspired poetry at the opening of "Meet Me in Las Vegas."

Shelley Winters and Tony Franciosa were introduced as "Mr. and Mrs. Franciosa" at the Copa by Jackie Miles... Jackie Gleason stopped in Phoenix, en route to L.A. ... Eddie and Debbie'll stay here till May, in the Essex House suite sublet from Milton Berle... Pretty Nicole Maurey arrives next month to start publicizing her film, "The Bold and the Brave." Lew Parker and Betty Kean have been honeymooning by driving from Miami to N.Y. ... Perry Como made a rare cafe appearance to watch Julius LaRosa at the Latin Quarter... Hal Leroy is scouting locations in N.Y. and N.J. for dancing schools.

D.C. Buzz: If Ike wins he'll travel abroad before Jan. 1 to prove he's healthy... Surprising sights: Nicky Hilton stag at Blue Angel, Dick Haymes stag at El Morocco... Audrey and Jayne Meadows make a "Stage Show" appearance next month... Elsa Maxwell, so funny on the Jack Parr TV'er, got offers of her own show.

Teacher Makes Good Detective

Old, Traditional Advice by Mother Helps to Nab Little School Thief

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—For weeks, officials at the Cheston Heath school tried to solve a rash of petty thefts. Finally the loss of 50 cents lunch money was tearfully reported by one young student.

"Someone in this room took the money," Miss Kay Kraft told the children. "We must all empty our pockets." Pockets were emptied, but there was no sign of the 50 cent piece. "Now everybody take off his shoes," the teacher then ordered. A shrill cry came from the rear of the room. "She has the money between her toes," one student cried, pointing to another pupil. Sure enough, an 8-year-old girl had the 50-cent coin firmly clutched between her big toe and second toe. After some questioning, the child admitted the theft and other thefts. School executives who congratulated Miss Kraft had one question: "How did you think to have the children take off their shoes?" "That was easy," Miss Kraft said. "When I was a little girl my mother taught me to hide my money — in my shoes."

BUG MAN — That old cartoonists' standby, the "future man" with antennas coming out of his helmet, has arrived. He's Ray Wancott, employe at the Hanford plutonium plant in Richland, Wash. This speeds recording of radiation readings taken on the round detector Wancott is holding. Kansas Outfit Auctions Planes

New Enterprise Brings Success Despite Poor Weather Conditions

OLATHE, Kan. (AP)—The Gross Auction Co., which has sold everything from mules to hardware in its 60 years, tried a new pitch yesterday: airplanes.

The proposition was simple: fly your plane to the Olathe airport, plunk down $10 listing fee and add a 5 per cent commission if your crate is sold. The firm advertised this formula, and the auction date, in 14 states.

Everything went according to plan except the weather. It was cold. It rained. It sleeted. The wind was up and down.

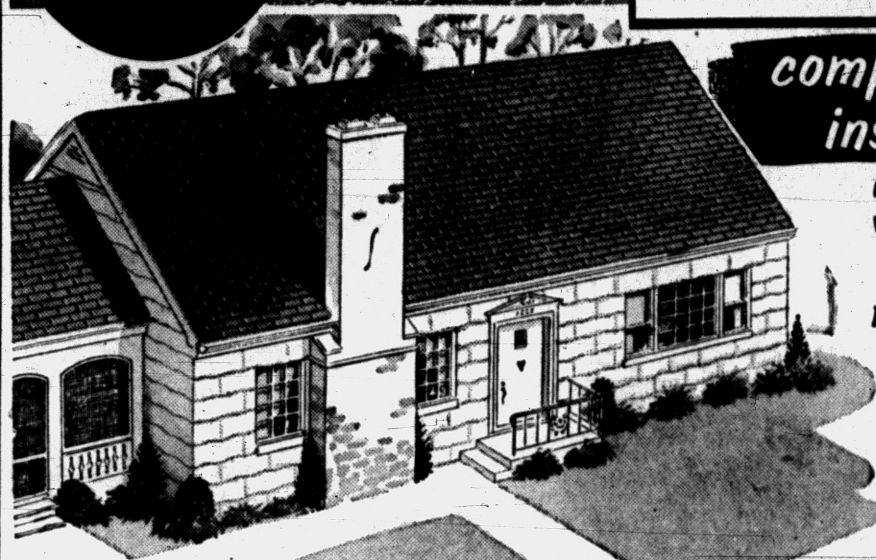

At 12:30 p.m., the scheduled start of the auction, the Gross people were still scanning the skies for customers. Only six planes had shown.

Then a group of 100 would be buyers and kibitzers moved from a warm hangar to the wind-swept field and auctioneer Bill Gross called for the first bid. This was on a plane that belonged to the now-disbanded Olathe Air Scouts. Nobody knew just how many hours the machine had logged, but it brought $375. Two more planes sold, for $900 and $6,500 respectively. The latter was flown to Olathe, near Kansas City, from Denver.

Gross was undismayed by the slender volume. "I still think it's a good idea," he said. "It ought to be big business, once we get into the swing of it. We just didn't have the break on the weather."

Gross said the firm will try another plane auction next month.

Sunlight Energy May Be Used

Scientists State Tests With Rockets Already Show Possibility

BALTIMORE—The Air Research and Development Command reports its scientists have found a way of freeing "chemical" stored sunlight in the earth's atmosphere.

Eventually, the announcement said, the experiments may lead to a means of extracting this stored energy for such uses as the propulsion of rocket ships high in the atmosphere.

Termining the discovery a "major breakthrough," ARDC headquarters here said it took place at the Holloman Air Development Center in New Mexico.

Under direction of Dr. Murray Zelickoff, scientists found in the laboratory that energy locked in atomic oxygen could be released by adding nitric oxide, a gas, the announcement said.

Nitric oxide, it said, has the property of bringing two oxygen atoms together to form an oxygen molecule and release light. The light is actually sunlight which has been stored chemically in oxygen atoms.

To test the laboratory discovery the ARDC said, a rocket was sent 60 miles aloft from Holloman. It released nitric oxide gas under high pressure into the atmosphere.

A flood of light resulted. In less than 10 minutes, the announcement said, the light had grown in size so that it seemed from the earth to be about four times the diameter of the moon.

The spot of light spread to about three miles in width before the nitric oxide gas thinned out and the brightness dimmed, the ARDC said.
