Robert Kennedy Continues Probe of Detroit Labor

To Follow Up on Hoffa, Teamsters; Members of Local 614 Seek Quiz

Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel for the Senate Rackets Committee, was in James R. Hoffa's own labor backyard today directing a continued probe of Teamsters affairs.

Kennedy would only say that he and other investigators were in Detroit "following up leads we picked up during the Hoffa questioning in Washington."

Whether he would look into the affairs of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 was not immediately known.

William Bellinger, a leader of a group seeking to end Hoffa's four-year trusteeship over Local 614, expressed confidence that Kennedy's visit might mean a further investigation here.

An investigator from the committee quizzed Bellinger and other past and present members of 614 in July.

Back in May Kennedy told The Press that an investigation here "was still under consideration."

Speaker

DR. JOHN A. HANNAH

MSU President Will Tell Clubs of Local Plans

Dr. John A. Hannah, President of Michigan State University, will be the speaker at a joint meeting of luncheon clubs in this area on Thursday, Nov. 7.

The Michigan State University Oakland County project just east of Pontiac on the former Wilson estate, has aroused universal interest. Hence, the Advisory Board feels that the community would welcome a first hand appraisal of the venture from President Hannah himself.

The head of the East Lansing institution has agreed to speak here under the auspices of the local Michigan State University Advisory Board.

All luncheon clubs in this area who wish to hold their regular meetings that week on Thursday have been invited to attend.

The luncheon will be held at the Elks Temple.

Urge Drivers to Be Wary of Area School Children

Amidst the sound of school bells ringing anew this week, comes a somber note from the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and law enforcement officials. The message is largely for motorists and its essence is: Protect our children.

School days are dangerous days for children going along busy roads and streets to classes, the Chamber of Commerce safety committee pointed out today.

To cut down on the danger, here's some suggestions from Cyle R. Haskill, the committee's chairman. They were echoed by Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons and Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley:

Be especially careful of the younger children. Of the 134,000 youngsters headed for school this week, about 10,000 will be kindergartners going to school for the first time. Without doubt they will be confused—and probably careless in traffic—until they get used to all the new hustle and bustle, said Haskill.

Adjust your driving. Haskill continued. Many drivers have probably been pushing their speeds "just a little heavy" during the summer, he observed. "Now it's time to cut down on the speed and add a few extra minutes to traveling time, especially when going by a school," said Haskill.

Drivers were reminded that when following school buses the law requires a complete stop when the bus stops.

Haskill urged drivers to obey the signals of school crossing guards, "who do an outstanding job of protecting our children."

Older children, and their parents, came in for some advice, too. It's the older boys and girls who sometimes act "very cocky" in traffic, Haskill stated. "Besides jay-walking, many of them ride their bikes carelessly and often taunt the safety-patrol boys who are trying to guide smaller children across busy intersections."

"Parents should caution older children about these dangerous practices," Haskill said.

He concluded with this sober reminder to drivers: If you strike a child, your conscience will never let you forget it.

Set Up Air Hunt for Family of 6 Missing in Plane

Unreported Since Flight Across Lake Michigan Against Advice Monday

LANSING (AP) — State Police set up an air search of the northern lower peninsula today for a family of six missing since Monday on a flight across Lake Michigan.

Unreported from a Labor Day weekend holiday in upper peninsula were a Lansing photographic company owner, Ray Hietikko, 40, and his wife and four children.

The last report of the six said they had taken off from Marquette in mid-afternoon on Labor Day against advice. Bad weather had been reported over Lake Michigan.

Hietikko, described as an experienced flier, had taken his family to Baraga to his parents' home to help the latter celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

In the group were his wife, Corinne, 32, and their four children, Cameron, 9; Mark, 7; Connie, 5, and Scott, 11 months.

The family was due back home in Lansing Monday night. However, they failed to arrive. State Police were notified yesterday by relatives.

On the family's return flight Hietikko was warned at Marquette of bad weather on the lake, State Police said.

However, he was reported to have gone ahead with his flight as planned.

Friends said Hietikko usually made this flight by refueling at Pellston in the northern lower peninsula.

GAS FOR 4 HOURS

When he left Marquette he was believed to have had sufficient gasoline for four hours of flying. Normally, this would have been more than sufficient to reach Pellston.

Hietikko and his wife have been married 14 years. The General Printing and Pictures Service, Inc. of Lansing is his firm.

State Police said a check of landing fields in the northern lower peninsula and upper peninsula turned up no report of the missing plane.

Participating in the search are the Coast Guard at Traverse City, the Civil Air Patrol from Lansing, and Air Rescue Service from Selfridge Air Force Base and two State Police planes.

Searchers plan to cover the route the family flew from Marquette over Manistique and Beaver Island to Pellston in Emmet County.

Weather to Remain Cloudy and Cool

Pontiac area residents can expect cloudy and cooler weather tonight and tomorrow, says the U.S. Weather Bureau. Occasional light showers are forecast for this afternoon, with a low tonight of 54-58 expected. Tomorrow's high will be 70-74.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. today was 57. At 1 p.m. the thermometer reached 60.

First Flight Here by Russians in 20 Years

Red Jet Airliner Flying to U.S.

LONDON (AP) — A big Russian jet flight in 62 hours, flying over the North Pole.

The twin-jet TU104 flew here from Moscow, stopped 2 hours and 25 minutes for refueling, then took off for Keflavik, Iceland.

FIRST IN 20 YEARS — From Keflavik it will fly to Gander, Nfld., and then on to McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey. It will be the first Russian plane to land in the United States in 20 years.

The 5,570-mile Moscow-to-McGuire flight was expected to take about 18 hours total flying time.

The last Russian aircraft to visit the United States — a military plane in 1937 — made a 6,200-mile

The 1,610-mile flight from Moscow to London was made in 3 hours 46 minutes. Keflavik is 1,190 miles farther along. Gander is another 1,385 miles and McGuire another 1,185.

The TU104 was expected at the New Jersey air base early tonight.

START DELAYED — Departure of the big twin-jet from Moscow's Vnukova Airport was delayed nearly three hours because of bad weather over London.

At Gander, an American pilot and radio operator will be put aboard to guide the liner after it enters American air space.

The 12 crewmen boarding the plane in Moscow included three British Royal Air Force officers. It was their job to help navigate to London and Newfoundland.

REDS OBJECT — Top members of the delegation are tentatively scheduled to leave Moscow aboard a second TU104 Sept. 14.

The Soviet government raised a last-minute objection to landing at McGuire yesterday, but the United States refused to change the flight plan.

Russian Embassy officials in Washington complained that McGuire was 60 miles from New York, the destination of the passengers, and asked permission to land at Idlewild Airport, the usual arrival point for aircraft from overseas. Idlewild is 10 miles on the other side of U. N. headquarters.

The State Department did say the second jet liner could land at Idlewild if it passed a "noise level" test showing the craft's engines did not create an undue disturbance.

Just before the TU104 reached London today, Moscow radio boasted that the Soviet Union has still more advanced passenger aircraft which will appear soon on the world's air routes. It said one will be able to fly from Moscow to New York nonstop but gave no additional details.

Guard Refuses to Let Girl Cross Line of Soldiers

Little Rock Crowd Yells Insulting Remarks at Negro Teenager

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — National Guardsmen today forcibly prevented racial integration of Little Rock Central High School.

A lone Negro teen-age girl attempted repeatedly to cross a line of 200 troops but was turned back by the soldiers ordered out by Gov. Orval Faubus.

The Negro girl was unaccompanied when she approached the long line of guardsmen, armed with loaded rifles and carbines.

As she walked along the line, she tried several times to cross through the shoulder-to-shoulder formation. At each instance a soldier stepped forward and turned her back.

A crowd of some 150 shouting whites engulfed the girl as she tried to pass the guardsmen. The whites, shouting such phrases as, "Nigger, go back where you belong," made no attempt to harm her.

The Negro girl refused to answer questions of newsmen.

Last night, a federal judge again ordered the city school board to proceed with its gradual integration plan. It was the second.

and time since Friday that Federal Judge Ronald N. Davies had ruled for integration.

Between the issuance of the two decrees, Faubus had called out National Guardsmen to cordon off the huge Central High School to "maintain order and protect the lives and property" of citizens.

The nine Negro students scheduled to join more than 2,000 white classmates stayed home on the first day of school yesterday while 270 infantrymen and airmen, armed with rifles, pistols and bayonets, patrolled the area around the school.

About 100 guardsmen remained at their posts today.

The Negroes had stayed away on instructions from Virgil T. Blossom, superintendent of public schools. But after Davies answered an appeal from school board attorneys last night by telling the board to proceed forthwith with integration, Blossom announced that the high school would be opened to the Negro students today.

Faubus, in announcing Monday night that he was ordering guardsmen to the school, had declared (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

51 Contestants Vie in Prelims for Crown of 'Miss America'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The 51 contestants vying for the Miss America 1958 title take part today, tomorrow and Friday in preliminary swim suit, evening gown and talent competition.

The new Miss America will be chosen before a nationwide television audience Saturday from girls representing 45 states, Canada, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, New York City, Chicago and Washington, D.C.

The contest formally got under way last night with a dazzling parade of the contestants down this resort community's famed boardwalk.

Thousands of spectators watched the 2½-hour parade led by grand marshal Bess Myerson, Miss America 1945. The parade featured 42 floats and the music of 23 bands.

Eighteen contestants rode on floats while the others sat atop specially designed convertibles.

that he feared violence if the Negroes tried to enter Central High.

The checker game in which Faubus, the school board and the U.S. District Court were involved posed one question which attracted the interest of the nation — and the South, in particular.

Is Faubus, as the head of a sovereign state, immune from contempt proceedings?

The governor himself says he does not know the answer to that one. And State Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett also says he is unable to give an opinion immediately.

Asked if he knew what action the federal government could take if he interposed his authority between the government and the people of Arkansas, Faubus replied: "No, and nobody else does either."

The Justice Department in Washington indicated it looked on the Little Rock situation as serious. Officials said the government's course of action would not be decided on until Atty. Gen. Brownell had the facts.

Here are some of the possible actions the government might take:

1. A high federal official might discuss the case with Faubus and Davies in an effort to work out a peaceful integration program acceptable to all.

2. Davies might bring about a trial for contempt of court.

3. The government might take action to declare unconstitutional the anti-integration school laws adopted recently by the Arkansas Legislature.

One point the Justice Department will scrutinize closely is whether the governor called out the guard solely to maintain order or whether it was intended as a maneuver to maintain segregation.

Davies, in his second integration order last night, noted that Faubus had said the troops were summoned only to guard against violence and property damage — and not as segregationists or integrationists.

The outcome of Little Rock's off-and-on-again plans for integration apparently will have an effect on proposed racial mixing in the previously all-white high school in North Little Rock, a separate city across the Arkansas River.

The North Little Rock school board met last night and announced that it was postponing indefinitely its plans for gradual integration. The city had planned to integrate about a dozen Negro students in the top grade when school starts Monday.

In contrast to Little Rock's murky integration picture, 23 Negroes yesterday quietly joined white students in a Van Buren, Ark., high school. A few Negro first-graders were scheduled to be integrated today in Fort Smith, the state's second largest city.

Both Van Buren and Fort Smith are in northwest Arkansas, about 150 miles from Little Rock.

Three Negroes also were integrated peacefully into white schools yesterday at the small town of Ozark, also in northwest Arkansas.

MAUREEN O'HARA

DENY MAGAZINE STORIES — Two well-known actresses took the stand in Los Angeles to deny truth of stories about themselves in Confidential magazine. Miss O'Hara denied that she participated in a love-making affair in Grauman's

DOROTHY DANDRIDGE

Chinese Theater. Dorothy Dandridge, who already has received a $10,000 out-of-court settlement from the magazine, denied a story printed about her behavior.

Actress, Singer Snap Denials on Stand in Confidential Trial

LOS ANGELES (U)—Glamorous actress Maureen O'Hara and sultry singer Dorothy Dandridge have declared on the witness stand that Confidential magazine stories involving them in theater and woodland love-making episodes were untrue.

The two stars put glitter into the criminal libel trial of the magazine yesterday when, their eyes flashing angrily, they snapped their denials while testifying for the prosecution.

They were the first, and perhaps the last, celebrities to appear in the trial of Confidential and Whisper magazines and their Hollywood agents Fred and Marjorie Meade. The prosecution expects to complete its rebuttal testimony today.

"DIDN'T CUDDLE" — Miss O'Hara testified that the story entitled "When Maureen O'Hara Cuddled in Row 35" was completely false.

Outside the courtroom she told newsmen that she has not had an offer of work since the article appeared and that she feels the story is to blame. She has sued Confidential for five million dollars.

The red-haired Miss O'Hara came to court attired in a blue and white striped dress and white stockings. While on the witness stand she told the court that she was in Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood only twice during 1953 and 1954, both times to attend premieres with her brothers.

Those years include the disputed periods in which, defense witnesses have testified, Miss O'Hara was seen in a rear row of the theater, embracing passionately with a Latin man.

"WOODS TAKE A LIE" — Miss Dandridge, Negro singer and actress, said a story entitled "What Dorothy Dandridge Did in the Woods" was "absolutely not true."

She testified she did not walk or make love in the woods with white band leader Daniel Terry while playing an engagement at Lake Tahoe, on the California-Nevada border, seven years ago.

Trim Miss Dandridge wore a beige suit and white shoes and gloves with a pearl choker and pearl earrings.

The time of Miss O'Hara's supposed torrid love-making in the theater had been set as November 1953 by a former Grauman's employee, James Craig. He said he supplied the information for the Confidential story. Another defense witness, Michael Casey, placed the incident in February 1954.

Miss O'Hara testified that she was in Europe making a picture from Oct. 6, 1953, to Jan. 11, 1954, and produced her passport to prove it.

The name of the man purported ed to be the "Latin lover" in the Confidential story was brought out by defense attorney Arthur J. Crowley on cross-examination. He elicited from Miss O'Hara the statement that she was dating a Mexican man in February 1954, and then asked her the man's name. Miss O'Hara said it was Enrique Parra.

Parra is a millionaire Mexico City businessman. Miss O'Hara's former husband, television executive Will Price, alleged in a child custody suit that Miss O'Hara and Parra were living together but later withdrew the charges and said they were not true.

Crowley later asked: "Have you ever been to Grauman's Chinese Theater with Mr. Parra?"

"Never," Miss O'Hara replied. In her brief appearance on the stand, Miss Dandridge shot an angry "no" to Dep. Dist. Atty. William Ritz's question as to whether she had been intimate with band leader Terry.

Defendant Fred Meade had testified earlier that Terry gave him an affidavit relating his alleged

Lansing Bus Firm Asks to Cut Service

LANSING (U)—A Lansing area bus company has asked the State Public Service Commission for permission to reduce its service, blaming a steady drop in passenger revenue.

John Cole, general manager of Lansing Suburban Lines, said the company wants to discontinue service between Lansing and Grand Ledge, about 14 miles west.

"We have no other choice, due to the increase in taxes and other operating costs which are beyond our control," he said.

Cole said his firm is one of many bus companies, large and small, which are faced with growing financial losses.

The Grand Ledge run, he said, has been losing money since 1947 and now only 120 passengers patronize its six daily round trips. The company also operates in Haslett, Okemos, Holt, Mason, and Lake Lansing.

Pontiac Man Arraigned on Charge of Murder

Accused of second degree murder, Brodie Reed, 32, of 295 Howard McNeil St., was arraigned this morning in municipal court. Examination was set for Sept. 18 and bond fixed at $300.

Reed is charged with the fatal stabbing of James Quiet, 27, of 241 Wilson St., during a sidewalk scuffle near Reed's home. He claims the stabbing was accidental.

Expect Drain Trial in Month

County Conducts Study of Apportionment, Cost in 12-Town Project

Oakland County should be ready for trial of the Twelve-Town Drain dispute next month, Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry said today.

Reappraisal of apportionments and costs should be ready then to meet challenges by two participating communities that they are being charged too much, Barry said.

"Miss Dandridge, I hope you will pardon me when I say this, but is Mr. Terry a white man or is he a colored man?"

The $39 million project, in the planning stage five years, is designed to relieve annual flooding in 13 south Oakland County communities.

Two communities, Southfield Township and Troy, brought suit last fall, but the suit has never been tried.

Early last month, the 11 other communities demanded action by the county.

Royal Oak, the largest city involved, threatened to pull out of the project Nov. 15 if steps were not taken to break the legal stalemate.

Barry said today he had conferred with Corporation Counsel Harry J. Merritt, and believed the case would be ready for Circuit Court trial Oct. 21.

2nd Body Recovered From Plane Crash

PETOSKEY (U)—A second body was recovered yesterday from the Aug. 8 plane crash which claimed four lives when a single-engine craft plunged into Lake Michigan off Good Hart in Emmet County.

The body of Edward Starback, 57, Boyne City conservation officer, was discovered floating near the Old Mission Church at Good Hart. The body of Donald P. Watkins, 63, Boyne City pilot of the downed aircraft, washed ashore Monday near Good Hart.

Wreckage of his plane was brought to shore last Saturday.

Still sought are the bodies of Starback's sons, Richard, 32, and Carlton, 26, also missing in the crash.

'Children's Day' Record Best Yet at State Fair

DETROIT (U)—Despite interference from rain the Michigan State Fair gave a "good" report today on overall attendance.

At the five-day halfway mark, fair officials reported a total attendance of 471,300 as against 484,390 for the same period last year.

On three of the five days there has been rain, including the storm on Labor Day.

Yesterday's "Children's Day" was the best attended in the 108-year history of the fair, officials said. The attendance was 69,744. The best previous Children's Day was 68,295 in 1949.

Saginaw Eyes New Bus Plan

May Assist Operators Stay in Business by Lease Agreement

SAGINAW—City councilmen are moving ever closer to municipal leasing of Saginaw City Lines bus system, the so-called Jackson Plan.

Mayor Harvey will invite all members of the Council to go to Jackson to see how that city's lease arrangement with City Lines is working out.

Harvey is acting on a suggestion made by City Manager Miller.

Proposing the Jackson trip, Miller said: "The only thing that seems to offer a solution (to the problem of keeping buses operating here) is the Jackson lease arrangement. The Jackson city manager says it's working out all right."

Under the lease arrangement, City Lines continues to operate its buses but escapes paying federal and state taxes, since a city is exempt from these levies. That would mean an estimated saving of some $30,000 to Saginaw City Lines, according to City Lines figures.

During a Council discussion of proposed City Lines route changes and Saturday service cuts, Mayor Harvey declared:

"We're going to have to decide swiftly what we're going to do or we're not going to have a privately operated transportation system here."

"We have to look, this thing in the face. The more they (City Lines) lose, the quicker they'll want to get out of here."

City Lines suffered a net loss here in June, according to the bus firm's officials.

Miller told the Council: "I'm not here to tout the bus company's horn, but they're suffering from the same thing as other bus companies — a continual increase in the number of automobiles."

Detroit Seaway Port Plans Win Approval

DETROIT (INS)—The Port of Detroit Commission today approved plans for construction of a $13 million seaway port at the foot of West Grand Blvd.

The plans were forwarded to the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

Port Director Carlis J. Stettin, with the help of engineers and real estate appraisal experts, drew up the program for preparing the city for completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway in 1959.

The proposal call for acquisition of 1,977 feet of river frontage extending from 24th street on the East to the property of the Detroit Harbor Terminals at the foot of Clark St.

Three warehouses, including loading platforms for trucks and two gantry cranes for loading and unloading ships would be located on the 36-acre site.

Stettin said the harbor facility could handle at one time four of the larger ships of 7,000 to 10,000-ton capacity which will travel the lakes when the Seaway is completed.

The port director said the expected tonnage for the Port of Detroit in 1959 would be 300,000 tons and would increase each year thereafter.

400 Students Study 3 R's All Over Town

DES LOGE, Mo. (INS)—More than 400 students resumed their learning of the three R's in railroad cars, a fire station and other emergency "schoolrooms" as fall classes got under way in Des Loge yesterday.

The unique educational sites were made necessary as a result of a tornado which destroyed the Des Loge High School and an elementary school at nearby Canfield in just six minutes of terrifying fury last May 21.

Luckily, the school day had ended minutes before the storm struck and the pupils had left in safety.

Seven persons met death and nearly 300 buildings in Des Loge and Canfield were destroyed or damaged by the tornado.

As plans went forward for new schools, the pupils "hit the books" in such unfamiliar places as:

Four railroad coaches, where Chaucer, Spanish, speech, commercial subjects and industrial arts will be taught.

A fire station, where science will be explored.

The erstwhile office of the St. Joseph Lead Co., the public library, private homes, churches and club halls.

Grades seven through 12 are being taught in the temporary classrooms.

The superintendent of the Des Loge school district, Marjorie Agee, commented that "The railroad cars will be a challenge to teachers and students alike, but—from an educational standpoint—we'll do very well."

Waterford OKs Zoning Changes

22 Acres of Property Are Made Available for Light Manufacturing

Waterford Township Board members approved the rezoning of 22 acres from residential to light manufacturing a last night's meeting.

The triangular-shaped property is located on Williams Lake road, near Airport road, and is bounded by the Grand Trunk Railroad on the east side.

A wholesale lumber company will be built on the site and will employ approximately 100 people, according to Donald Wilson, representing the firm.

Later, a mill workshop for making custom doors and windows will probably be constructed, Wilson said.

Two other plots in the township were also rezoned from residential to commercial.

A 2 1/4-acre plot located on the corner of Scott Lake and Pontiac Lake Rds. and an additional 100 feet of property on M59, extending back of the high school, were rezoned. Two hundred feet of this land had been rezoned last year.

REZONING TABLED

The rezoning from residential to commercial of the Walton boulevard property near Indian Woods Manor was tabled for further study.

Other business of the board was the approval of using a former policy to pay one-half the salary of school crossing guards. The Board of Education pays the other half.

No action has been taken to replace Trustee Richard Lambertson who has moved to California. Supervisor Elmer Johnson has asked the four remaining members to consider a replacement.

In the monthly police report submitted by Capt. Millard J. Pender there were only 12 summons issued, 11 arrests made and 451 calls answered. Accidents totaled 49, and patrolmen drove 9,585 miles during the month of August.

The board accepted Johnson's resignation from the County Recreation Board and appointed Treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson to represent the township. Johnson had held the position for six years.

Special Mattress or Spartan Line for Royal Prince?

LONDON (INS)—Will it be good or bad for the heir to the British throne to sleep on a springless iron bedstead with a horsehair mattress at his new school?

A minor controversy over the question started among English bedding manufacturers when photographs of the plain steel-slatted bed which Prince Charles will sleep on at Cheam school appeared in London newspapers.

Kenneth Reid, secretary of the National Bedding Federation, said: "It is not the bedding industry's idea of comfort."

But a leading bedding manufacturer snorted anonymously: "It will do him good . . . boys don't appreciate soft mattresses."

Cheam's hard beds stem from the tradition of Spartan living conditions at some of Britain's most exclusive private schools.

Many Hungarians Trek Homeward

NEW YORK (U)—About 6,000 Hungarians who fled Hungary in last fall's revolt have quit temporary camps abroad and returned to their native land, according to Donald Kingsley, executive committee chairman for the Tolstoy Foundation and former director general of the International Refugee Organization. He reported today on a five-week tour of Austria, Germany, Switzerland and France.

Kingsley said the returned Hungarians had given up hope of getting out of temporary camps. About 125,000 Hungarians fled last fall. More than 50,000 came to the United States.

The Tolstoy Foundation operates for the benefit of Russian refugees.

CONSTIPATED? new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrift" colon. A "thrift" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAL, the

By PHYLIS BATTELLE

ROUTE 9, N. Y. (INS) — Less anyone doubt that today's child can outwit its parents—while its parents outwit the child—he should visit a roadside attraction called "Storytown, U.S.A."

Here, on 50 acres of hilly pastureland, are recreations of most of the fairy tales that once were kicked around the family hearth, before TV became bigger than the produce problems of the old woman who lived in the shoe.

Who goes ga-ga over this opportunity to ride in Cinderella's pumpkin, feed the three little pigs and discuss the enormity of his eyes with the wolf in grandma's clothing?

Mother and father, of course. The children, nurtured by television and psychology to take a more realistic view of life, aren't quite with it.

"Storytown," which might be described as the hurried man's "Disneyland," is located on Route 9 just south of historic Lake George, and is divided into two sections. "Mother Goose Land," tumbling Jack and Jill, Mary and a lamb that ba-a-hs back, a floating rub-dub-tub, etc.; and a "Ghost Town," simulating the Old West, with medicine men, a girly can-can show in an old saloon, a twice-daily shootin' match in the street.

DOESN'T WORK THAT WAY

"The way the owner, Charles Wood, planned it," said proprietor Neil Smith, "the Mother Goose section was for the children and the Ghost Town was for the adults."

It works the other way around. The kids wait till their fathers are happily discussing things with little Bo Peep and their mothers are maybe feeding the Three Bears—then they rush off to have a coke in Dan McGrew's saloon, and watch the action.

"We lose more parents that way."

In four years of operation, Storytown has drawn "about three adults for every child," Smith says. A veteran of six years with another roadside attraction, "Santa's Workshop" in the more northern Adirondacks, he believes this is a typical breakdown on attendance at most so-called children's playlands.

It's very simple. Adults want to be children again, and children—especially the current, savvy-

State Traffic Toll Dropping

But Official Warns That Next Four Months Are Worst for Accidents

LANSING (U)—Michigan's traffic death toll continued to drop last month, falling 33 under the total for August of 1936, state Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs reports.

Provisional figures compiled by State Police showed 126 persons lost their lives in traffic during August, compared with 159 in the same month last year.

For the first eight months of the year, Childs said, accidents claimed 952 lives on Michigan highways, a saving of 179 for the same period of 1936.

Childs warned, however, that the remaining four months of the year are the worst for traffic accidents.

"These four months have, on the average, accounted for nearly 40 per cent of the annual traffic toll, with October and November the worst months," he said.

The commissioner complimented Michigan motorists for holding the death toll to 14 for the Labor Day weekend.

Last year 1,747 persons were killed in traffic accidents in the state. The State Police goal is to cut that figure by 10 per cent this year.

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Board members will consider the rezoning of several plats of land from residential to commercial at tonight's meeting.

A 22-acre plot located on Williams Lake road east of Airport road and west of the railroad tracks has been approved by the township zoning board and the Oakland County Planning Commission.

A lumber mill owner, along with three other company owners, has petitioned for rezoning of the property. Final approval by the township board is expected at tonight's meeting, according to James Seeterlin, township clerk.

Another tract of land just north of Waterford Township High School on Crescent Lake and Highland roads will be presented for board action.

In 1954 the board approved the rezoning of 200 feet of this land and petitions have been filed for the remaining 100 feet to be changed from residential to commercial.

The rezoning of 1¼ acres of land on Walton boulevard is still up in the air pending an agreement with the owner and the township regarding a greenbelt surrounding the proposed gas station.

Highland Estates Subdivision, located on M59 and Airport road has resubmitted another of its five subdivision plats for board approval. There are 77 lots included in the new subdivision No. 3.

3 New Polio Cases Reported This Week

Three more polio cases were added to the 1957 area list during the week which ended August 23.

Dr. John D. Monroe, director of public health, reports the two cases developed in Pontiac. In the county, Pontiac Township recorded one, bringing the total 1957 county cases of the disease to 10 compared with the 11 the same time last year.

Other communicable diseases reported during that week in the county and city include:

Here's 'Mass' Longevity

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Three of the four boys who served the first Mass in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church at nearby Maumee on Christmas in 1889 are still living in the parish. They are George Raab, George Pauken and John Michels.

Why? Because this 1957 Ford gives you the advanced features, the solid ride, the effortless handling that you once expected to find only in expensive cars. And when it comes to looks, where in all the world can you find fresher styling than in the sculptured-in-steel lines of this smart new Ford?

Ford's superiority is evident in many places. In the vital rear axle, the pinion gear that turns the rear wheels is straddle-mounted . . . supported between two anti-friction bearings instead of being "overhung" from a single bearing. This makes operation quieter, smoother and longer-lasting. It's a feature that Ford shares with only one other car maker—Rolls Royce.

Or consider Ford's famous V-8 engine. No other manufacturer in the industry today electronically balances every V-8 engine, while operating under its own power, the way that Ford does. This means you get a smoother-running engine—the finest V-8 in Ford's 25 years of V-8 leadership.

These are only a few of the important hidden values that are yours in Ford. But they indicate why so many people who can pay almost any price for a car—people who have driven expensive cars for years—are buying Ford today. Action Test this great performing car at your Ford Dealer's just once and you, too, will ask, "Pay more . . . what for?"

Bob Considine Says:

Today's Schoolchild Draws Tougher Task

NEW YORK (INS) — It must be nice to be a child and afford to go to school. If I had the time, and was a bit shorter and brighter, I'd sneak back to the eighth grade — if I could make it — and thereafter for ever and ever listen to what was taught and take what was there for the asking.

I'd read all the books I should have read 30 years ago and now won't read for fear of missing what's going on this minute. Beowulf to Thomas Hardy, let's say. I'd like another stab at Algebr, from the first lesson on.

I must have been absent that first day.

The American Weekly ran an 8th grade history test last Sunday, and not three adults in the set I travel in could have passed it.

For example: the Louisiana Purchase included all these present-day states except A) South Dakota; B) Mississippi; C) Louisiana and D) Iowa. . . . What did the expression "50-40 or Fight" refer to? . . . The constitution of the United States A) declares all men free and equal; B) establishes voting age at 21; C) gives each man the right to bear arms, and D) does none of these. . . . in the south just before the Civil War, the percentage of people owning slaves was A) less than one quarter; B) one-half; C) three quarters, and D) all.

Back to the seventh grade would go a lot of us, I'm afraid, notably those who didn't know Mississippi wasn't included in the Purchase, 50-40 or fight concerned a line of latitude between Oregon and Canada, the constitution "gives each man the right to bear arms," and less than one quarter of the people of the south owned slaves.

TOUGHER TODAY

The school child of today has a tougher time than we had, somebody should occasionally point out in the midst of widespread condemnation of them as the inferiors of their forebears. It was the practice around our house in Washington, D.C., to study together each night after dinner, each of us helping the next youngest.

There was no TV. Radio was something you listened to oc-asionally with headphones. If you could find a sensitive spot on the Galea. Only one family on our block had an automobile. It was a Moon touring car owned by a family named Reavis.

A movie was a rare treat confined to a Sunday afternoon. There was no juke box at the corner, and the telephone was something to be used chiefly for emergencies, not as something to while away the hours. Our horizon was touchable by anyone with moderately long arms. Our distractions were limited.

In our block in the swampoodle section of town it would have been considered heresy to send a child in school: coming out first.

It is a wonder, too, that the child, becomes educated enough to misspell. Had a note from a young friend recently who, having weathered his high school training, and somehow survived, wrote me that he planned to go to "collich" in the fall. I've noticed, talking to our own kids and their friends, that they have little interest in achieving a position which absorbed us constantly when we were out first. I don't want to come out first. I want to be like the other fellows — get by — not too good, not too bad. Just like the other fellows."

"Pop," one of them said as he was measured for a school jacket (a bit of raiment which could have bewildered us in the past). "Don't give me that business of 'coming chair over here a bit."

Make It a Daily 'Must'

Beauty Routine Is Girl's Best Bet

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This week I already have called attention to the importance of exercise, being outdoors and good nutrition for the business girl or woman. Lack of these are her three greatest hazards.

She should work as much exercise and activity into her daily life as possible. She CAN have splendid nutrition but she is almost certain to be malnourished unless she gives thought to the question.

Once she plans for exercise and some outdoor life and adequate nutrition, she probably will be more relaxed and thus a fourth hurdle will be vaulted.

I have indicated that it seems evident that arising a half hour earlier in the morning would be beneficial since it gives 10 minutes for exercise and time for a leisurely and adequate breakfast.

LAZE IN BATHTUB

When we consider the professional woman's beauty and health routine in the evening, many factors enter into the picture. Great benefit can be derived by taking at least 10 minutes for exercise and then a lazy tub before the evening meal.

This is most relaxing and gives one a new outlook for the evening. Tensions and hurry and worry drop away.

However, some women prefer to wait until just before retiring. Whatever time you choose, be sure to allow at least 10 minutes for exercise and also time for a relaxing tub.

Lubricate your face and neck while you soak. Then use one of the hormone oils or at least an eye cream just before going to sleep.

It is wise to save one night a week for special grooming problems such as the removal of superfluous hair, a manicure and shampoo (if you do that yourself) and looking over clothes to see what needs cleaning or mending or pressing.

The working woman's time is at such a premium that it may be good economy to have her hair and nails done once a week at a beauty salon. This also would permit a few hours of relaxation and luxury.

If you live in a medium or large city, you will find the personal shopping service at stores a boon. You can do much of your shopping by telephone or by mail. Charge accounts are helpful in this way.

For instance, if you find a certain type brassiere you like and have had it fitted so that you know what size you require, you can order it by telephone. This goes for many items such as cosmetics and even shoes.

Living Room Now
Place for Ironer

MT. CLEMENS (INS) — The automatic ironer now is attractive enough for the living room. It has been designed into a furniture cabinet and is available in three finishes — fruitwood, lined oak or mahogany.

The new style ironer was designed following a survey which disclosed that homemakers prefer to do their ironing in the living room, dining room, den or bedroom because modern kitchen and laundry rooms are small.

The cabinet covering the ironer lifts off. The top and sides are of woodboard with a plastic, stain resistant finish. The front of the cabinet is paneled with a decorative fabric and framed in hardwood.

Always use plastic utensils to spoon food out of a vacuum insulated container. Metal objects, such as a spoon or fork, may scratch the glass lining.

Label Is Good Guide for Buyer

Maybe you don't need a guide to get around your local department store, but you do need guides to help you when you're buying clothes for your family.

Labels can act as partial guide in clothing selection; in fact, they may be your best guide. In order to know that your label-guide is telling you, you must understand its language.

Some of the terms found on coat labels, for instance, may be "new or virgin wool," "reprocessed wool," "Miltin," "Millum" and "Melton." Just what do these words mean?

When you find "new or virgin wool" on a label, you know that the garment is made of new wool, wool which has never been used before. Contrasted to this is "reprocessed wool" which has been made up into a wool product but has been reduced again to the fibrous state before it was ever used by the consumer.

"Miltin" is a mothproofing finish applied to wool; you do not have to reapply it after cleaning.

If you see "millum" on a label, it indicates that the lining of the coat has been insulated by having a metallic substance such as aluminum applied to one side of it.

"Melton" is a coating fabric. It somewhat resembles felt in that it is heavy, thick, smooth material.

Waterproof or water-repellent finishes may also be added to a garment. The label will tell you whether that finish is durable or if you must have the finish reapplied after washing or drycleaning. Let the label be your guide to better buyanship — learn to "speak its language."

Can One Missile Hit Another One in Flight?

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
WASHINGTON (NEA) — "It's like trying to design a bullet that will hit another bullet in flight."

That's how missile scientists describe the problem of developing the anti-missile missile that will kill either the Intermediate Ballistic Missile, which Russia claims to have tested, or the Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile.

The ICBM presents a dismayingly difficult target. Until recently, many qualified scientists believed defense against it was impossible. Now they are optimistic.

The ICBM will travel about 25 times the speed of sound—about 15,000 miles an hour—almost 30 times faster than the manned bomber aircraft operational today. This speed would take it from Siberia to Seattle in about 10 minutes, from New York to Washington in about one minute.

Once launched, it will be immune to radar "jamming" and similar counter-measures. It will reach heights of perhaps 1,000 miles, and spend most of its brief flight-time in the icy vacuum of outer space.

As it re-enters the atmosphere, it will crash down on its target like a shooting star.

The Intermediate Range Missile will present much the same problems as a target—except that its speed will be only about 10,000 miles an hour, and its peak altitude only several hundred miles. But since its flight time is even shorter than the ICBM's, there is less warning time to deal with it.

MAN-MADE?

Both ICBM and IRBM are difficult objects for radar to recognize because of their low reflectance of radio waves. In addition, a way must be found for radar to distinguish between man-made missiles and the larger of the natural meteorites which plunge into our atmosphere by the thousands every 24 hours.

An anti-missile missile must be able to detonate harmlessly in empty space the thermonuclear warhead of an ICBM or IRBM — or to neutralize the warhead so that it won't explode at all.

All these requirements will push to the limit the scientific imagination and engineering genius of the anti-missile missile designers. The best way to understand their problem is to assume an actual combat situation.

An ICBM leaps from its lair near Leningrad—target: Chicago. In about 20 minutes, the Loop will be vaporized, and the area for miles around will be flattened—unless the ICBM is stopped.

JUST 20 MINUTES

There will be less than 20 minutes to confirm that an ICBM is on the way over the top of the world.

NIKE-HERCULES: Its job: to find and kill the enemy in the air.

to plot its course and to launch an anti-missile missile. Every second the ICBM races four miles closer.

There is no time to waste on slow and inexact human reactions. The entire defense system will be a marvel of automation, with the human supervisors exercising only veto power—power to halt the launching.

In 20 minutes, or less, the duel is over. Either the ICBM is destroyed—or Chicago is.

The three "radar fences" protecting the polar approaches to America against aircraft can be adapted to gear into such an anti-missile missile system.

TIME PRECIOUS

These, the Pinetree Line, Mid-Canada Line and Dew Line (Distant Early Warning Line), can save precious minutes in launching the anti-missile missile.

Army missile scientists who have been working on the problem for several years are confident they will have the time the Russians can get their ICBM into production.

and operational use some time in the early 1960s.

They feel that their missile will be simply an extension and development of their existing Nike system.

A recent unclassified Army directive included a name for a new and not further identified member of the Nike family—Nike Zeus—which may be the anti-missile missile developing out of Nike Ajax and Nike Hercules, the present anti-aircraft missiles.

There is only one element of the anti-missile missile problem that worries Army missilemen — and that is the "Roles and Missions" directive issued by Defense Secretary Wilson on Nov. 26, 1956. It limits the Army to a horizontal range of 100 nautical miles in its surface-to-air missile defense systems.

Until now, this has been considered to apply only to defense against planes. Whether new Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy will apply it also to defense against missiles is still not known.

Next: How far should the Army fire its missiles?
