Premier Calls Talks to Air French Crisis

PARIS (AP) — Premier Georges Pompidou summoned labor and business leaders to meet with him tomorrow to seek a solution to the crushing strike wave paralyzing most of France's economic life.

More and greater turmoil threatened,

meanwhile, as workers, students and farmers called a new round of demonstrations today a few hours before President Charles de Gaulle's address to the nation.

★ ★ ★

DeGaulle was expected to give his analysis of the situation and propose broad outlines for a settlement.

★ ★ ★

The Communist-led General Confederation of Workers, France's biggest union, immediately accepted Pompidou's invitation. The French Confederation of Democratic Workers also accepted, but warned that the strikes would not stop.

'ARMED EXTREMISTS'

Students rioted in Paris yesterday for the second night in succession, and authorities feared the violence would increase. Interior Minister Christian Fouchet warned that "armed extremists" hoped to use the demonstrations today to set off violence which could not be controlled.

The National Students Union scheduled demonstrations at four points in northeastern Paris. The Communist-dominated General Confederation of Workers announced two marches.

In the provinces, organizations of farmers called demonstrations to show solidarity with the workers and students—and to demand that the government protect them in coming price negotiations with the other Common Market countries.

There was a strong possibility that the marching demonstrators would have Paris in an unroar by the time De Gaulle spoke on television and radio.

The 77-year-old president gave no advance indication of what he would say in his first public statement on the two-week-old upheaval.

Political observers believed he would call a referendum next month to endorse a program of wide reform, including greater participation of the people in the government, of the workers in running their factories, and of the students in the operation of their universities and high schools.

Whether this would satisfy workers demanding higher wages, earlier retirement, job security and other bread-and butter benefits was an unanswered question. Promises from Premier Georges Pompidou of sweeping educational reforms have had no effect on the rebellious students.

House Spurns Special Session Despite Logjam

LANSING (AP) — With several controversial issues still on their calendars and a deadline for action looming, weary House members voted today to work next week rather than hold an unusual Saturday session.

The House approved a resolution extending the deadline for passage or defeat of Senate bills—now midnight tonight—until next Tuesday.

Senate approval is required.

The House-passed schedule calls for lawmakers to meet next Wednesday, and again June 3-6, to clean up the remainder of their work. Legislators had earlier hoped to go home Wednesday and stay until June 25.

Still on the calendar were bills to double Detroit's resident income tax, allow confiscation of a ticketed motorist's license, permit sale of package liquor within 500 feet of schools and churches and authorize a referendum on $100 million worth of recreation bonds.

Meeting from morning until nearly midnight Thursday, as they have all week, House members approved bills regulating blocking of flood plains, establishing a State Boundary Commission and authorizing local recreation commissions to enact and enforce rules.

Debated off and on without success were measures to reduce the size of the House and to give representatives four-year terms. A four-year-term resolution was defeated for the second time.

Backers tried to couple the four-year proposal with another measure which trim the size of the House from 110 members to 99—on the theory the Senate would swallow the first part out of enthusiasm for the second.

Given immediate effect on the third try was a previously passed bill setting up a State Police reserve force, designed to provide extra manpower during riots and other emergencies.

Some Negro lawmakers opposed the measure, claiming that because membership in the new force would be limited to former policemen, few Negroes would qualify.

PARKING APLENTY — Creation of a parking mall downtown has boosted business and shopper interest, according to merchants on North Saginaw between Huron and Lawrence. Afternoon parkers here take up many of the spaces created by the new arrangement.

Bombing Issue Climax Looms

PARIS (AP) — The United States and North Vietnam are moving toward a showdown in the Paris peace talks on the issue of ending U.S. bombing of North Vietnamese territory, and there is no compromise in sight.

Each government is expected to increase its pressure on the other in the meetings ahead, with the threat of a breakdown in the talks, a weapon both are already using.

U.S. officials say they believe that North Vietnam's main aim is still to win the conflict by coordinated action on three fronts — trying to undermine the U.S.-supported government in Saigon, pressing the United States for concessions in the Paris talks, and striving for new military victories in South Vietnam.

President Johnson declared in Washington yesterday, however, that the United States "will not be defeated on the battlefield while the talks go on" permitting the enemy "to achieve a victory that would make a mockery of the negotiations."

In Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko supported Hanoi's demands for an unconditional halt to U.S. bombing but, in talks with British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart, gave the impression he was not too pessimistic about the future of the Paris talks.

Conference Cites Planning Urgency

By ED BLUNDEN

Community planning is no longer the province of some dreamy-eyed idealist with an office tucked away in the courthouse.

Suddenly it's a "now thing," with an urgency brought about by increasing pressures — burgeoning population and industry growth and riotous discontent with the status quo.

★ ★ ★

The need for planning was demonstrated yesterday in a conference called by the Oakland County Planning Commission at Oakland University.

An overflow crowd of more than 500 attended, representing all facets of government and industry concerned with the problem. County planners were somewhat overwhelmed by the turnout.

The luncheon crowd overflowed and some had to be seated outside the dining hall. The workshops held during the day played to standing-room-only.

Extremely pleased with the turnout were the two men primarily responsible for the conference, Donald A. Kalmbach, planning commission chairman, and George N. Skrubb, director.

★ ★ ★

Kalmbach said: "This reflects the growing concern in the community with problems of planning."

★ ★ ★

Skrubb said: "There is almost every faction of our society represented. This shows the increasing knowledge of what planning can accomplish."

4TH CONFERENCE

The day-long conference was held in cooperation with OU's Division of Continuing Education, and entitled, "Planning for People." This was the fourth, with one being held every other year since 1962.

Most of the time was spent in three two-hour workshop sessions. During each two-hour period, three concurrent workshops offered panels on various specialized aspects of planning.

Kalmbach, in his luncheon speech, indicated the new interest in planning is an admission of "guilt." Since the previous conference two years ago, he said, "Tragic events (the ghetto riots) revealed some people had been overlooked or forgotten in past planning."

Kalmbach pointed out county planning would be accelerated with the aid of an light showers. High 62 to 67. Fair to partly cloudy and cooler tonight. Low 43 to 50.

TOMORROW — Fair and pleasant.

SUNDAY — Fair and warmer.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 30, tonight 20.

A mild 51 was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The thermometer resgistered 70 at 2 p.m.

Officials, Merchants Hail Downtown Parking Mall

Pontiac's parking mall on North Saginaw between Huron and Lawrence, put into operation Monday, has already proven a great success, according to city officials and local merchants.

Downtown merchants contacted for an opinion are extremely enthusiastic and most think that extending the mall north and south is desirable.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said he is amazed at the rapidity of the parking turnover. The mall is "tremendously successful," he said.

Director of Public Works Joseph E. Neipling said 460 cars used the mall the first day. "Apparently it is meeting the needs of the short-term parker," he said.

NO TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

Neipling said there has been no problems yet with rerouting of traffic around the parking mall.

Earl E. Kreps, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, said the mall is generating more interest in the downtown shopping. "I'd like to see it extended both north and south."

Man Arraigned in Local Holdup

A Detroit man arrested in connection with the April 30 $50,000 armed robbery of two GMTC Credit Union employes is in custody of federal authorities in Detroit in lieu of $25,000 bond.

★ ★ ★

Arraigned yesterday was Robert Lamar Moree, 22, who was arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) agents in Highland Park Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Commissioner Fred Johnson set no date for a hearing on the charge — violation of the Federal Bank Robbery Statute.

Moree is accused of robbing Louis Giddings and Richard Eldred as the two employes returned to the credit union, 939 Woodward, from the nearby Community National Bank branch.

PARKING LOT CAPER

The robbery was executed in midday in the parking lot between the credit union and the bank.

Police said the bandit apparently waited at a bus stop in front of the lot until Giddings and Eldred made their way from the bank with the money, which was in a white canvas bag.

★ ★ ★

A witness said the gunman fled in a waiting car, which police found abandoned in a parking lot on South East Boulevard three days later.

Paul Stoddard, special agent in charge of the Detroit FBI office, described the arrest of Moree as the result of the combined efforts of FBI agents and Pontiac officers.

★ ★ ★

Detectives August Martinez and Orville Johnston are the local investigators in charge of the case.

Home Delivery Fee Goes Up This Week

Beginning this week, your Pontiac Press will be sixty cents a week delivered. This is an increase of ten cents over the six days and is the first advance since 1961. Newspaper costs have gone up substantially during these seven years. We do this with reluctance, but it's dictated by necessity. The Press promises to aim at an even better product. Our carriers will share in the advance.

City to Push for Stadium

A stadium in Pontiac which would be the home of the Detroit Lions and the Detroit Tigers?

That possibility is being explored and Pontiac will make a pitch to be the future location for such a stadium June 10, City Manager Joseph A. Warren last night told the Pontiac Area Planning Council board of governors.

Warren said the city will send representatives to a meeting of the Metropolitan Stadium Committee, a quasiofficial body which expectedly will make recommendations on location and construction of a new sports stadium.

The committee was originally formed by Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and later expanded to include representatives in several fields, including a number from Oakland County.

STATE FINANCING?

The committee also will expectedly make a recommendation which will involve state financing of planning for the stadium.

★ ★ ★

Cavanagh's committee was first formed with the idea of locating the stadium in Detroit but was expanded to include consideration of possible sites in Oakland and Macomb counties.

Warren said there are "many logical reasons why the stadium might be located north of Detroit, "including the anticipated population expansion of Oakland County."

The city manager said Pontiac and Walled Lake are areas which are being considered for location of a stadium.

STATE FAIRGROUNDS

Gov. Romney has recomended that the state fairgrounds on Woodward and Eight Mile be the site selected but that location has a number of drawbacks, officials said.

Warren said that it is estimated by the committee that 150 or more acres will be needed for construction.

Chairman of the feasibility study and design team which will help committee reach a decision is Bruno Leon, dean of architecture of the University of Detroit, who with Dr. C. Don Davidson, is designing a plan for development of Pontiac's downtown urban renewal land. Davidson is also member of the team.

Urban League's Director Resigns

Clarence E. Barnes, executive director of the Pontiac Area Urban League, has resigned to take a similar job in Youngstown, Ohio.

The resignation becomes effective in July.

Barnes was named director of the area Urban League in July 1963, by Charles R. Harris, who was league president at that time.

Barnes has become a well-known Negro leader and has been involved in a wide variety of community activities.

School Issue Is Kept off Ballot

Waterford Township's Board of Education last night decided not to place a school millage increase proposal on the June 10 ballot because most voters would not support it.

Results of a survey showed that 62 per cent of 2,222 returns from voters who cast ballots in the successful millage renewal May 6 wouldn't support a 5.2-mill property tax increase at this time, according to Schools Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe.

★ ★ ★

The board spent considerable time discussing additional millage but made a unanimous decision not to seek it at this time.

Tatroe said it is now definite that junior and senior high school students will attend school one hour less next fall because of a shortage of operating funds.

FUTURE ISSUE

"It appears that a school property tax increase will be required during the next school year to return the secondary students to a full day," Tatroe remarked.

The future ballot issue probably will include a $7- to $9-million bond issue for a new junior high school, two elementary schools and some additions, the superintendent explained.

★ ★ ★

He said the bond issue would not increase the present debt property tax.

A new ad hoc school citizens committee will be created to study the problems and recommend a course of action during the next school year.

REJECTED IN NOVEMBER

Waterford voters turned down a 7.5 millage increase last November and approved a 15 mills for operation on May 6.

School board members were considering a 5.2-mill increase this time since it was expected that additional state aid would add enough revenue to be equivalent to 7.5 mills.

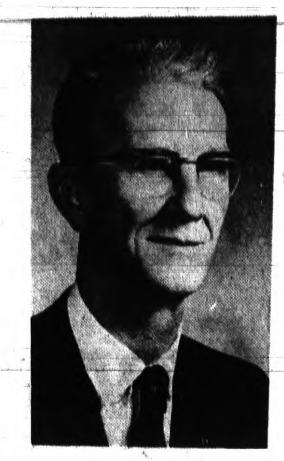

A new junior high school will be needed by 1971, Tatroe said.

In other business, the board hired Martin Keck, principal of East Catholic High School in Detroit, as assistant principal for the new Mott High School now under construction.

OPENING SET FOR SEPTEMBER

The school is scheduled to be opened this September, but if the school is not ready students who would go to the school would be housed in Waterford Township High School in the afternoons until the building is completed.

Joseph B. Mullen, information specialist in the individual communications system (INDICOM) project, had his contract renewed for the second year of the three-year project.

CLIFFORD H. SMART

Seeks Reelection in 60th District

Clifford H. Smart, Republican state representative from the 60th District, announced today that he will seek reelection.

A former school superintendent, Smart of 555 W. Walled Lake Drive, Walled Lake, was the chief architect and sponsor of the 1968-69 state school aid bill which incorporates substantial formulative changes.

It also provides a $60-million increase in state support for local school districts throughout the state.

Smart, 63, said that although the new state aid formula provides substantial improvements, additional study and changes are essential.

TO STUDY PROBLEM

"Property taxes can no longer provide the funds essential for quality education," said Smart. "It is the intent of the taxation and education committees of the House to concentrate on the problem during the period between sessions.

"Hopefully some major recommendations will be made to the 1969 Legislature which, if adopted, will put the financing of schools on an even sounder foundation," he said.

Smart was first elected to the State Legislature in 1964 after heading the Walled Lake School District for 19½ years.

Smart's district includes the townships of Holly, Groveland, Brandon, Rose, Highland, Milford, Commerce, Lyon and Novi in Oakland County and the townships of Mundy, Argentine, and Fenton in Genesee.

Area Library Launches a Gift Drive

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Bloomfield Township Public Library has launched a special gifts campaign for major gifts to enlarge its book collection, start rental art and record collections and purchase special audiovisual equipment, art works, and supplementary landscaping for the new building at 1099 Lone Pine.

Friends of the Bloomfield Township Public Library, a volunteer citizens' organization, has announced it will undertake the furnishing of the library's Michigan Room, one of the campaign goals.

The new building, with furnishings, parking lot and basic landscaping, is being paid for with proceeds from a bond issue approved by township residents in 1966.

Besides furnishing of the Michigan Room, other aims for the gift drive are microfilm reader-printers, an exhibit wall case, an auditorium display system, appliances and dishes for the kitchenette, works of art, starter record and rental print collections, outdoor sculpture and special planting groups.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Donald L. Zorn, 1391 Cedar Bend, has been named by the library board of trustees as coordinator for the drive. Gift needs have been design-coordinated by the architect and the library consultant.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — R. J. English, 3829 Mill Spring, has been appointed assistant district sales manager for the Ford Division's Detroit district sales office, located in Wixom.

A graduate of Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass., he holds a master's degree in business administration from Columbia University's graduate school of business.

He has also done advanced work at the graduate business schools of Harvard University and New York University and has instructed business school classes at the University of Detroit.

English joined Ford as a financial analyst in 1953, after service with the U.S. Air Force and work with the Rockefeller Institute's Commission on Financing Higher Education.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Michigan Regimental Round Table, local Civil War club, will hold its monthly meeting tonight at 8 at the Congregational Church of Birmingham, United Church of Christ, 1000 N. Cranbrook.

Featured tonight will be a group discussion on the Battle of Chancellors, fought 105 years ago this month in Virginia.

The Round Table recently elected Abbott Gibney, 1688 Northlawn, and George Smith, 1882 Melbourne, both of Birmingham, as corresponding and recording secretaries, respectively.

The club meets regularly on the last Friday evening of each month. This month's gathering has been scheduled early to avoid conflict with the Memorial Day weekend. The public may attend.

Three area women have been named officers of the Metropolitan Detroit American Field Service Board.

Mrs. Marvin Hughes, 5565 Kingsmill, Bloomfield Township, was elected president for the new year. Mrs. Donna VanderBroek of Pontiac is first vice president, while Mrs. James E. Steele, 6753 Whysall, Bloomfield Township, is second vice president.

BIRMINGHAM — Mrs. Patricia Sargeant, a science teacher at Birmingham Groves, has been selected by the Michigan Chemical Council and the Manufacturing Chemists Association as the year's second most outstanding high school chemistry teacher.

Mrs. Sargeant was honored at a recent luncheon at Hope College.

Urban League's Director Resigns

Barnes will return to Ohio where he spent almost 10 years in Urban League work.

Before coming to Pontiac he was in charge of a special research project for installation of neighborhood centers in Cleveland.

He began working with the Urban League in Canton, Ohio, in 1954.

While in Canton, he was also a visiting instructor at Malone College, working with city planners and serving on the county j.venile delinquency council.

WEST VIRGINIAN

He is a native of Fairmont, W. Va., and a graduate of West Virginia State College and West Virginia University.

He has also received credits toward a doctorate degree in sociology.

Barnes was recently given a special award from 10 Pontiac organizations for "outstanding service working with community organizations for better human relations."

E. Eugene Russell, immediate past president for two terms of the Urban League, said of Barnes' resignation:

Mr. Barnes departure will leave a great void in our city which will be difficult to fill. His dedication and endless energy to bring understanding of the problems faced by the Negro in our community has been of great service to our city.

"He has made many friends and established lines of communication across the total community. His work with the grass-roots citizens, the educators and the business community will never be fully or appropriately recognized."

WARNING TO HANOI—President Johnson yesterday warned North Vietnam against pressing its aggression despite peace negotiations and said the United States will not be defeated in the field while these talks go on. He spoke at the White House during a ceremony in which he awarded a presidential unit citation to the 26th Marine Regiment for gallantry in action in its stand against larger enemy forces at Khe Sanh. Standing with the President is Col. David E. Lownds, commander of the 26th Regiment.

'Vote as You Drink' Cry Falls on Deaf Senate Ears

LANSING (AP)—Despite Sen. Harvey Lodge's exhortation that legislators should vote as they drink, the Senate Thursday night refused to take final action on a bill permitting the sale of liquor on Sunday.

Cries of "deals" and hypocrisy were heard as the measure was amended and bitterly debated for more than one-half hour before the upper chamber delayed action on the measure until today.

"If the Legislature would vote as they drink," fumed Lodge, R-Waterford Township, "we'd have Sunday liquor in a hurry."

Action on the measure was delayed after a motion to send the bill back to committee was defeated. If it had been approved, the motion would have, in effect, killed the bill for this session of the Legislature.

CONTEST DEAL

Sen. James G. Fleming, R-Jackson, accused backers of the bill of making a "deal" with boosters of a bill to regulate contests and sweepstakes at gasoline stations and supermarkets.

Fleming charged that proponents of Sunday Liquor had agreed to support the sweepstakes bill in exchange for Sunday liquor support.

The sweepstakes bill, shelved early Thursday by the Senate, was returned to third reading calendar that night.

'Planning Need Getting Urgent'

CHALLENGE GIVEN

A Negro minister, Rev. Robert Potts of Detroit, executive director of the Citizens Committee on Equal Opportunity, gave a sense of urgency and a challenge to the planners in his talk at the opening session.

"The challenge is to re-create and revitalize a sick and limping society," Rev. Potts said. "There is well-founded apprehension in the black community . . . when 'the man' tells us what is best for us."

★ ★ ★

He charged the group not only to seek participation in the community but to help prepare the people to participate.

Rev. Potts said the question on developing a new society has now become, "How — and how soon."

AREA STUDY

The featured luncheon speaker was Edwin O. George, president of Detroit Edison Co. He said his company is independently making a study of the surrounding area, including portions of neighboring Ohio and Canada.

He said this study will enable Edison to make decisions 30 years in advance. George said the study may indicate a new city the size of Detroit may have to be built in the area, "to relieve the pressure."

Pointing out that industry is more and more concerned with society, he said: "I anticipate an ever-increasing need in industry to study the impact on people and their environment. We must make commitments in planning for people."

The conference offered more than 50 panelists in the nine workshops. The participants were experts in many fields from all over the nation. Included were a heavy sprinkling of local officials and government experts from Washington, D.C.

PERSONS PRESENT

Attending were persons from various government agencies, real estate firms, architects, engineers, lawyers, educators, sociologists, etc.

Each speech during each panel was transcribed by a court reporter. The county planning commission is contemplating publishing the material.

'Discrimination Not Elk Policy'

"It is not the policy of the Pontiac Elks Lodge to discriminate against the guest of any member," Clement E. Berden, exalted ruler of the Elks Lodge 810, said in a statement released to The Press today.

Berden said he was issuing the statement to "clarify a very grievous situation that in the past few weeks has developed into a matter of grave concern to our lodge."

He said the Elks club has "always been proud of its many contributions to the community life and civic activities of our city."

A public statement concerning alleged discriminatory practices at the Elks Club was requested by the Pontiac City Commission three weeks ago when it refused to reissue a bowling alley license to the lodge.

COMPLAINT CITED

The action came after a member of the city planning commission, John L. Crump Sr., complained to the city commission that he had been discriminated against at the club.

Crump said that after a planning commission meeting he was invited to the club bar by a member but was denied admittance and told it was because he was a Negro.

★ ★ ★

In two subsequent City Commission meetings a move was made to reissue the license, but the commission each time voted against doing so.

Officials said they would not vote to reissue the license until a public apology or statement concerning Elks policy was made.

Hospital Talks Follow Walkout

Meetings were continuing this morning at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital in the wake of an alleged wildcat strike yesterday in which an estimated 45 nurses aides walked out.

Hospital officials were meeting with representatives of Local 79, Building Services Employes International Union (BSEIU), which represents the aides.

Hospital administrator Harry Whitlow, who said that all employes reported for work today, was unable to cite specific grievances that might have caused the walkout at 5:30 p.m. yesterday.

Those who walked off the job—all on the afternoon shift — represent about three-quarters of the aides on that shift, according to Whitlow.

He indicated that some nurses aides did not report on the midnight shift, but volunteers and some added nurses were able to take care of patients.

A meeting with the union representatives was held between 3:30 to 6:30 a.m. today and was reconvened shortly after 9 a.m.

A union spokesman reportedly declined to make any statement on the walkout, which hospital officials claimed was unauthorized.

Britain, U.S. Tied to Rhodesia Plot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson accused Britain and the United States yesterday conspiring to overthrow the government of Rhodesia.

And, Acheson said, the conspiracy is blessed by the United Nations.

He made the accusations in a speech prepared for a section of the American Bar Association.

'NO HARM'

Rhodesia, he said, has done the United States no harm "and threatens no one."

"This is barefaced aggression, unprovoked and unjustified by a single legal or moral principle," he declared.

Acheson attacked the U. N. Security Council's call for economic sanctions against the breakaway Rhodesian regime of Premier Ian Smith.

He also assailed critics of the World Court's dismissal of charges brought by Ethiopia and Liberia against South Africa for its handling of the administration of South-West Africa under a U. N. trusteeship.

Zoning Appeal Board to Review Maceday Lake Road Land-Fill

A 16-month fight over the proposed 50-acre Maceday Lake Road land-fill will be reviewed tomorrow by the Waterford Township Zoning Board of Appeals.

The public session will be held in the Waterford Township High School cafeteria at 10 a.m.

The three-member board will consider only the transcripts of testimony taken during five public hearings before the Township Planning Commission rejected the proposal.

The application to operate the land-fill had been sought by Donald Freeman and David Ward, partners in the Waterford Processing and Reclaiming Co.

COURT REJECTION

After losing their bid before the planning commission, they took their case to Oakland County Circuit Court. Judge Clark J. Adams, however, ordered the case back to the township on the basis that the company had not exhausted all local remedies.

Property owners in the area have opposed the project with the argument that the land-fill eventually would pollute nearby lakes.

★ ★ ★

They have disputed state and county health officials claims that a properly operated solid waste disposal site doesn't create hazards to public health.

Boost for Antisubversive Board Fails

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen has lost another round in his dogged bid to keep the moribund Subversive Activities Control Board alive beyond this year.

A desk-thumping, shouting speech in which Dirksen suggested he had backing from President Johnson and railed at Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark failed to rally enough Senate support for the Illinois Republican's cause.

Dirksen had proposed a crime control bill amendment that would allow the attorney general of each of the 50 states to prosecute alleged subversive organizations before the board.

But amid opponents' complaints that the precedent-shattering approach went too far, the Senate turned him down, 49 to 27.

The board was the subject of widespread publicity last year with the disclosure it had not handled any business for nearly two years.

Its five members each draw $26,000 a year.

The agency was spotlighted in mid-1967 when it was learned that the latest appointee was a 29-year-old accountant, Simon F. McHugh Jr., who had married one of President Johnson's secretaries.

That development prompted inquiries into the board's operations. When its inactive status was disclosed, cries arose in Congress for its abolition.

WON APPROVAL

But Dirksen moved to preserve it. He finally won approval of a measure providing that it continue in operation provided at least one case was brought before it by next Dec. 31.

Otherwise, it would go out of business next June 30.

Its original authority was to identify subversives and subversive organizations and compel them to register.

AUTHORITY REMOVED

But Supreme Court decisions have stricken most of the basic authority of the agency.

Dirksen charged that Clark was "subverting and distorting" the intent of Congress by not bringing any cases before the SACB.

He noted it had been five months since the President signed the new law providing for continuance providing the board got some business.

Dirksen said he had carried his complaint to the President personally in a 90-minute meeting last Friday night and asked Johnson to act.

★ ★ ★

"Why don't you do something," was Johnson's answer as quoted by Dirksen. The Republican leader said the rejected proposal was his answer to

'Power of Suggestion Spread Sniper Belief'

HOUSTON (UPI) — The "pop, pop, pop" was a short circuit, not a sniper, but the Houston police were "jumpy" and the rumor the noises were shots spread like wildfire, a psychologist said today.

Dr. Lucian T. Jones Jr., the psychologist, said "the power of suggestion" accounted for the fact that a short circuit in a wire was thought to be sporadic gunfire by more than 60 policemen who searched eight hours for a phantom sniper.

★ ★ ★

Police, armed with rifles and using several boats and an armored car, combed a giant industrial complex along the Houston ship channel yesterday for what they thought was an unseen gunman.

The shorted wire was discovered around daybreak, make a "poping" sound similar to gunfire.

RUMOR PASSED

Jones said the sound was reported as rifle shots, and the rumor passed from person to person.

"The power of suggestion was in full force," Jones said. "One picks it up from the other, and it just got into a big old thing. Rumors start this way and we're ready, particularly when we're insecure anyhow.

"Police may not be insecure, but they're susceptible. They're human and as such, they're jumpy."

The popping noise was produced by water dripping through an opening into a conduit pipe, seeping through insulation tape and shorting out a piece of No. 8 electrical wire. The wire was used to run a conveyor belt at the Mayo Shell Co. It was installed just two weeks ago.

HE 'GOOFED'

"I just goofed," electrician R. A. (Red) Graves said. Graves was called to silence the wir. He said he forgot to put a plate on the outside of the pipe which keeps the wire inside waterproof.

★ ★ ★

"I don't think anybody should be embarrassed," Houston Police Chief Herman Short said. "I think from the best I could determine it sounded like shots. The men out there thought someone was shooting at them, and they acted accordingly."

Street Opened to Traffic in Farmington

FARMINGTON — To open or close a street?

The question has been answered by the Farmington City Council which declared that Salvadore will be open to regular traffic until the improvement of Farmington Road from Eight to Nine mile is completed in several months.

Then Salvadore will again be restricted to surrounding residents as it has been for the past several years.

It was originally closed upon the request of the Farmington Meadows Homeowners Association to the west of Salvadore.

SAFETY FACTOR CITED

The association had cited the safety of youngsters as its reason for the closing of Salvadore to regular traffic, explained City Manager John Dinan.

The street was opened when road construction began to allow two exits for the area's 400 families. Local objectors declared they didn't want Salvadore open permanently.

★ ★ ★

At one point in the controversy about 10 women one morning blocked the Salvadore Whitlock intersection in protest. They were dispersed by police.

In other recent action, the council has agreed to work with the Jaycees in putting in a parking lot at the Farmington Junior High School.

The 50-car lot to be used also as a baseball field and a skating rink is estimated to cost $4,000. The cost will be shared by the city and the Jaycees.

Helping Hand System Being Organized for School in Clarkston

CLARKSTON — A Helping Hand program is being organized for Sashabaw Elementary School under the sponsorship of the school PTA.

Volunteers are being sought to participate in the program, which consists of designating certain homes along school routes as "helping hands."

★ ★ ★

The sign of a hand is placed in the window offering aid to those who become ill or need adult help while going to and from school.

Two or more homes are being sought for each block.

Precinct Dispute Resolved in Holly

HOLLY — Voters in the June 10 election in this school district will go to the polls in the same two precincts as in the past.

Reversing an earlier decision to consolidate the two precincts, the board of education has recinded a resolution which would have required the district's 4,000 registered voters to cast ballots in the same precinct.

★ ★ ★

Citizens living north of Rattalee Lake Road will continue to vote at Mable D. Bensett Junior High School, with those south of the road voting at Davisburg.

The resolution consolidating the precincts was passed at the suggestion of Supt. of Schools Russell Haddon, who said he felt the move would help to unite the district.

★ ★ ★

Davisburg residents had protested the split and began a petition drive seeking to have their own precinct reestablished.

Dinner-Dance Slated

The dinner-dance of the Beaumont, Seven Harbors, White and Duck Lake Subdivisions Association is tomorrow from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. at the American Legion Hall, 510 W. Commerce, Milford. Proceeds will go for renovation of the group's clubhouse.

Country Fair Sunday to Mark Kingsbury School Centennial

It was in 1868 that the original one-room frame school opened its doors to the neighborhood children in Addison Township. The name was retained when the late Carlton Higbie and Mrs. Higbie (now Mrs. West Gallogly) started the present private school in 1953.

★ ★ ★

Chairmen of the centennial fair are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor of Lake Orion. They are assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rubelman of Oxford.

The fair will feature a children's midway, pottery and art sales, a Christmas booth, an auction, a flower shop, a boutique, country store, an Aunt Polly's pantry, ice cream parlor, Tavern on the Green, bakeshop and a raffle.

★ ★ ★

Entertainment will include a small Conestoga wagon drawn by ponies, an exhibit of antique paper dolls by Dorothy McDowell of Pontiac, antique china doll heads from the collection of Mrs. Lyle Speas of Lake Orion, the Right Set featuring music for teen-agers, John Glick at his potter's wheel, a story hour, surrey rides and a barbershop quartet.

Noted Alumnus Cited by Parochial Schools

ORCHARD LAKE — Orchard Lake Parochial Schools have awarded an alumnus, John Cardinal Krol, archbishop of Philadelphia, the 1968 Fidelitas Medal.

The cardinal, also the vice president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, began his studies for the priesthood at St. Mary's College here. He was ordained in 1937 after six years at St. Mary's Seminary in Cleveland.

Citizens' Group Sets 1st Formal Meeting

By TOM GRAY

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — A citizens' group, organized for the purpose of "becoming informed" about governmental activities on all levels, will hold its first formal meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Township Hall in Ortonville.

The group is unnamed as yet, according to Mrs. Stanley J. Mersino, 4260 Sherwood, a member of its steering committee.

Mrs. Mersino said that the group is making an effort to have representatives of several governmental units on hand for the meeting, as well as a spokesman for WHAR (Why Have Awful Roads), an area organization seeking better maintenance for rural roads.

She said the group had already sponsored two informal neighborhood gatherings, both attended by about 40 persons.

CIVIC INTEREST

The organization will be nonpartisan, she stressed: "We're just going to try to see that people take an interest in civic affairs. There are too many who haven't.

"We aren't there to tear anybody down. We aren't there to boot anybody out of office. What we want to do is to learn what we can do to help the community."

Rising taxes have furnished the main stimulus for forming the group, Mrs. Mersino declared. One of the principal aims of the fledgling organization, she added, will be to curb the steady growth of taxes.

"Many of us are appealing our taxes (assessments) to the state," she said. "We've already sent in the forms and we are expecting to get them back soon. We have no fire protection, no police, no paved streets and no street lights. Our taxes have tripled since 1966 and there have been no improvements."

★ ★ ★

While recognizing a need for taxes, she objects to such sudden and drastic increases: "It's gotten to the point where people are getting forced out of their homes — it's cheaper to rent."

Keego Millage Figure Is Corrected by Press

KEEGO HARBOR — The operating millage for this city is 12 mills instead of 17 mills as incorrectly reported in The Pontiac Press.

Other city millage levies are 1 mill for building, 1.7 mills for the Farmington sewer interceptor and 2.3 mills for the city water system, making a total of 17 mills.

Township Sets Rules for Beach at Deer Lake

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — A supervised program of swimming, boating and skin diving is promised this summer at Deer Lake beach on White Lake Road.

Residents will be required to purchase a season permit for the newly fenced facility. The beach, formerly under the jurisdiction of the village of Clarkston, has been leased by the township and will be operated through its department of recreation. Fencing of the area has been completed.

★ ★ ★

Clerk Howard Altman said a $5 family season permit will allow supervised swimming from June 15 to Sept. 15. The beach will be closed Mondays and Tuesdays, but will be open from 1 to 9 p.m. — or dark — on Wednesdays, Thursday and Fridays and from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. or dark on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

BOAT FEES

No fee will be charged operators of rowboats, sailboats or canoes. A $10 fee applies to the use of motors up to 20 horsepower, with a $20 fee for larger motors.

Fishing permits are available at $2 per season to residents and nonresidents, and a skin diving permit is $5 per season. Swimming hours apply to boating and diving.

★ ★ ★

Altman said rules formulated by the township provide that misuse of the permit will result in forfeiture of privilege.

He said loaning the permit to a nonresident, abuse of property, and disobeying lifeguards would constitute such misuse. The loss of the permit will require another permit fee.

NO PICNICKING

No picnicking, food or drink or dogs will be acceptable on the beach. No boats or skin divers are allowed in the swimming area.

Children under 12 must be accompanied by their parents. No softball or baseball will be allowed on the beach area.

New Civic Center to Be Dedicated in Oxford Tomorrow

OXFORD — Formal dedication ceremonies for the Oxford Civic Center will be 2 p.m. tomorrow at 22 W. Burdick.

★ ★ ★

Three pioneer settlers and businessmen of the area—Louis Haddrill, George B. Tunstead and Fred Stevens—will be honored at the program as the "Three Old Men of a Lifetime," according to Lee Valentine, township supervisor and program chairman.

R. A. Ambrose, former superintendent of Oxford Schools and president of the Oakland Schools Board of Education, will make the dedication address.

The buildings will remain open to the public following the ceremonies.

Dedication Is Sunday for Forest Elementary

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Dedication of the Forest Elementary School, 34545 Old Timber, is set for Sunday at 3 p.m.

A short concert will be presented by some of the school's students.

The school, which features a five-acre nature area with virgin timber, opened last October for kindergarten through grade six.

'Serious Blow,' Says City Manager

Stately Lapeer Trees Dying

LAPEER — The trees in this city's cemetery, at least part of them, are dying, according to City Manager Arnold Whitney.

Whitney has reported to the City Commission that the large coniferous trees in the cemetery — pines and Norway spruce — have fallen ill with an ailment called "cytospora canker."

★ ★ ★

The disease is roughly akin to cancer in human beings, Whitney said, adding, "It is caused by a fungus and, according to the experts, there is no cure."

The city manager called the discovery of the disease a "serious blow to the city," saying "They are large and beautiful trees and have been a focal point of the cemetery."

Whitney said three or four of the trees had died over the winter, and a Michigan State University expert recommended by the Conservation Department had identified the disease.

About seven will have to be removed in the near future, and all will be gone within five or six years, he added.

★ ★ ★

While the disease can be kept under control in some cases by trimming and feeding, this cannot be done in Lapeer's case because of the great age and size of the trees involved, Whitney said.

★ ★ ★

In other recent business, the City Commission has instructed Whitney to ask the city's licensed garbage collectors to be present at the next meeting to answer questions about their service.

Mayor Wellington E. Rowden said complaints had been received about pickup service since the closing of the city dump three weeks ago.

Commissioner Orin Conner suggested that the ordinance on garbage and refuse service needs revamping.

★ ★ ★

"I feel, really, that regardless of whether we want it or not, before too long we're going to be in the garbage business," said Conner.

However, Whitney recommended a study of provisions for refuse in other communities before changing the ordinance, adopted 20 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Many cities put the service out for bids, then charge for the service, he said. Others have a special millage for the purpose.

Lake Orion School Board to Answer ACLU Charges on Disciplinary Practices

By JEAN SAILE

LAKE ORION — A list of 10 allegations regarding school discipline will be answered by the board of education at a public meeting Monday night. The meeting has been called for 7:30 at the Lake Orion High School gymnasium.

The list was prepared by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) on complaints contained in some 40 letters from irate parents.

★ ★ ★

The allegations were included in a letter from Larry A. Fiebert of the ACLU to Schools Supt. Lewis F. Mundy and copies were sent to the State Department of Education and to Mrs. Duane H. Mawhorter, 573 E. Flint, a representative of the parents.

The allegations:

- Children are paddled with a board, at least three inches thick, 12 inches long, with holes drilled into it to raise welts.

★ ★ ★

- As a form of punishment, students are locked up in a dark room or closet.
- Students' personal possessions from lockers, pockets or purses are subject to search if an accusation is made against them.

- Parents and students are not informed when, and of what comments are made about them in their personal records.
- Students are made to sign confessions or statements to the effect that they will voluntarily drop out of school if they commit further infractions of a school rule.

- Students, upon nothing more than an accusation, can have their right to utilize bus transportation taken away.
- Statements made by students to counselors in confidential interviews may at some point be used against the student to justify a suspension or other disciplinary action.

★ ★ ★

- Utilization of paid student informers — for the purpose of catching smoking violators.
- The revocation of the right to use a lavatory as a punishment in disciplinary cases.

- All bathrooms suffer from a gross lack of privacy, and are subject to "raids" so as to catch smoking violators.

The ACLU also asked for a revision of the present Student Council Handbook in regard to discipline policy. The union protested that the present policy can be widely interpreted and asked for a set of definite rules to apply in cases of detention or suspension.

ORIGINAL CHARGES

The allegations were made originally by Fiebert at a Board of Education meeting a month ago. Some 50 people, including students, were in attendance and the board asked that all charges be presented in written form for investigation.

Following presentation of a May 6 letter outlining the complaints, the board met in committee May 15 with a delegation of parents and ACLU representatives. A Pontiac Press reporter was barred from that meeting.

★ ★ ★

A full accounting of the charges and investigation has been promised by school officials for Monday night.

Chief Not Reappointed

Wixom May Air Police Hassle

WIXOM — What was Mayor Wesley E. McAtee's reason for not reappointing D'Arcy Young as police chief?

McAtee says, "the reason will be available to the public in the next few days." He indicated the matter may be settled at the City Council meeting Tuesday.

According to the city charter, the mayor has the prerogative to make appointments of department heads and administrators 30 days after his April 1 election.

EXTENSION GIVEN

In this case, however, the mayor requested and received a two-week extension. McAtee had explained he needed more time.

Council granted the extension as a matter of courtesy, said City Attorney Gene Schnelz.

McAtee did make other administrative appointments May 14, the last day of the two-week extension period.

Young said yesterday he hasn't been provided a specific reason for not being reappointed. He has been chief since 1964 and a member of the force since 1959.

OU Scholarship Fund Increased $11,000 by Macomb Committee

Oakland University's scholarship fund has been increased by $11,000 through the year-long efforts of the Macomb County Scholarship Committee. The group of 67 women financed their contribution through sponsorship of the Macomb Town Hall Series, which brings a series of noted speakers to Mt. Clemens and Warren each year.

★ ★ ★

The most recent gift brings the committee's total support of the university to more than $53,000 since its first contribution in 1961.

Officers for the committee include Mrs. Donald McMinn, vice chairman, and Mrs. Raymond Dembowski, recording secretary, both of Romeo.

Memorial Service Set

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — A memorial service will be held at Andersonville Cemetery on Sunday at 3 p.m. by the Andersonville Cemetery Association.

Pastor Wallace Duncan of Andersonville Community Church will be the guest speaker.

Official Count Reaffirms Yes Vote for Novi Cityhood

The figures on the cityhood proposal stand as originally reported at 694 yes to 498 no for a total of 1,192 votes on this issue.

However, the complete total of votes was 1,231. The difference of 39 votes is attributed to the fact that some voters only cast ballots for the charter commission and that other ballots were marked incorrectly, explained a village spokesman.

Vote totals for each charter commission candidate were changed by the canvassing board. The changes are due to the counting of absentee ballots. Figures before the board met represented only those votes cast on the machines.

These changes, though, didn't alter the original list of commission members or the order of vote-getters.

★ ★ ★

The other candidates with their official votes received are: Leo Harrawood, 479; Laverne DeWaard, 443; James S. Cherfoli, 407; Mrs. Dorothy Farrah, 406; and Edward Vahlbusch, 402.

The commission must, by law, meet within 10 days from last Tuesday and draft a charter within 90 days. It has two years to present the charter for a public vote.

Placing Power Lines Poses Problem

It seems there were environmental-conscious citizens back before the turn of the century. A story in Business Week tells how the overhead network of power, telegraph and telephone lines became such an eyesore in 1889 in New York City that the mayor ordered the fire department to cut down the poles.

The story didn't say what was done to prevent disastrous disruption of vital utility services. Of course, today all of these power facilities in New York City, are underground—but it took time and heavy investment to put them there.

The New York incident of 1889 typifies a dilemma of our industrial society that is still with us on a magnified scale. Electric power is a perfect example of what has been happening. Exploding energy demands require the investment of many billions of dollars every year by the electric industry so that all of us will have power at the flick of a switch.

It is manifestly impossible to conceal the physical presence of the great plants that generate power and the transmission lines that carry it to distribution centers. It is hardly feasible to cut the poles down as was done in New York City, although some attempts to legislate power lines out of sight are nearly as quixotic.

There are two kinds of power lines, and as utility authorities point out, beautification advocates fail to appreciate the difference between home distribution lines and the high-voltage, cross-country lines that carry hundreds of thousands of volts.

Undergrounding distribution lines is going on all over the country, but technology has yet to discover an economic way of putting the high-voltage carriers underground.

★ ★ ★

At the moment, putting long distance lines underground, as a famous architect commented is "about as probable as building an invisible bridge."

'Do-It-Yourself' Prescription for Long Life

If you are planning to live to a ripe old age, get listed in "Who's Who."

Prominent professional and business figures live distinctly longer on the average than men in the general population, according to statisticians of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

A 12-year study of 6,329 distinguished men listed in the 1950-51 edition of "Who's Who in America" revealed that they had a mortality rate 30 per cent below that of males in the general population.

★ ★ ★

If you can't make it into "Who's Who," think about moving west of the Mississippi, particularly to the Great Plains.

A study just released by the Government shows that in some regions, especially in the East, men between the ages of 45 and 64 run twice as high a risk of dying as do those living in low-rate areas.

For example, the death rate in the Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., area averages 2,100 per 10,000 population. This is nearly twice the rate for south central Nebraska, which has one of the lowest rates in the Nation. The national rate is 1,526 for every 100,000 persons.

★ ★ ★

Until a lot more facts are in —or as the experts say, until all the parameters are delineated—your guess as to why successful achievement or residence in Nebraska is conducive to long life is as good as anybody else's.

Citizen Values Independence Ahead of Money

It is gratifying to note that rugged individualism still lives. A news release from Cedar City, Utah, reports that a Utah rancher has sent uncashed Social Security checks totaling $4,437 back to the U.S. Treasury.

In a letter accompanying the checks, the rancher said, "I am in good health and aim to carry on the small livestock operation I have been able to put together over the years . . . I have attempted to find a worthy cause or some charity or church into which I could direct these checks. So far I have been unable to think of any place which needs this money more than the U.S. Treasury in spite of the fact our Government is mismanaging its money supplies so badly that these dollars may be wasted."

If there were more people like the Utah rancher, there would be far fewer of the political breed that seeks to stay in office by buttering up their constituency at the expense of U.S. solvency. The problems of inflation, the depreciating dollar, and the rising cost of living would be solved almost overnight.

Employment Program Succeeding

By DICK SAUNDERS

There are 192 ex-losers out at Pontiac Motor Division.

They've become winners under a program called Operation Opportunity launched last September by Pontiac Motor Division and the Pontiac Area Urban League.

SAUNDERS

But the biggest story out there is the search for the disappearing man.

★ ★ ★

This is the guy who quits without notice. He's a guy who literally dropped out of sight.

Why?

That's the question bugging people like Gary Drew, a personnel staff member at Pontiac Motor assigned to the Operation Opportunity program.

★ ★ ★

To date, the disappearing men number about 80. There are secrets locked in each of these men.

"We don't know where he is or why he quit," said Drew. "We want to find out why he left the job he originally tried so hard to get."

The answers, hopefully, will help Pontiac Motor and Urban League officials improve what is already a successful program.

Operation Opportunity is a program whereby the standards for employment at Pontiac Motor have been reevaluated in an effort to hire people previously classifed as unemployable due to a poor prior employment history, arrest record or educational background.

In other words, you don't automatically reject a job applicant because he has a police record. You hire him on the theory that his prior police record isn't going to keep him from staisfactorily performing a job that has to be done.

★ ★ ★

The job applicants come primarily through the Urban League. Pontiac Motor has hired 361 hourly rated and salaried employes to date.

Of these, 192 are still working fulltime, 123 have quit, 45 were discharged and one died.

Of those who quit, 43 gave notice and a reason for leaving. The other 80 are the disappearing men.

The fact that this program has plucked 192 people who weren't contributing anything to society out of the community and transformed them into productive employes is a big plus factor. More important, they're productive members of the community.

Drew has high praise for the follow-up committee under the chairmanship of Mansfield Samples, a Fisher Body Plant employe. Problem employes go to the committee for help and guidance.

"An extremely high percentage of these people have returned to their jobs and are productive employes. The committee is doing an excellent job. We couldn't succeed without them."

But the big challenge now is to learn from the casualties of this program. The thrust is to try to understand problems of these people that have made it hard to get and hold jobs.

Anybody Could Have Told Him!

David Lawrence Says:

Localized Poverty Effort Needed

WASHINGTON — Leaders in Congress are not exactly sure what the marchers who claim to represent the poor of the country really want.

LAWRENCE

There is the deepest sympathy with any poverty-stricken persons, but doubt prevails nevertheless as to whether the demonstrators have really come to the right place to seek relief.

Up to now, the theory has been that it is primarily the obligation of each state to take care of the health, education and welfare of its residents and that, if it lacks sufficient funds, the federal government should supplement them.

So the impression is growing here that maybe, instead of the 3,000 marchers camping in Washington, they should go to the 50 different state capitals and put their case to the governors of their respective states.

★ ★ ★

Then, if the money required to take care of the problem is not available, it would naturally be the function of the governors to request assistance from the national government, in which case, Congress could make the necessary appropriations.

BEST SYSTEM

Basically poverty situations are best handled by local authorities, anyway. For the states and cities each have welfare departments and a record of those who are in need of assistance.

Although the federal government has had an "antipoverty" program, it has been designed largely for job training of various kinds and educational aids for children. Many of the critics of these particular programs have said that the states should have initiated such projects themselves.

★ ★ ★

To place on the federal government the complete responsibility for handling the welfare of the citizens in every community would require an enormous bureaucracy.

It could be that the demonstration by the Poor People's March will have some constructive effects.

GREAT SURPRISE

But the fact remains that the administrative tasks, if they are to be efficiently carried out, will have to be localized.

★ ★ ★

It is a matter of great surprise that most governors of the states, who should know what is happening in their own localities, have not been inclined to explain comprehensively the plight of the poor to their constituents. Nor has there been any organized plan by the states to determine just what the federal government should supply for the poverty-stricken.

There are many ways by which the national government can supplement the work of the states.

★ ★ ★

Until extensive programs have been worked out in each state, however, for the handling of the problems of the poor, and the requirements of each state are thoroughly investigated, Congress can hardly legislate effectively on the whole subject.

Hughes Satellite Promises Help for Development

NEW YORK — People . . . places . . .

Howard Hughes has not come out of his suite at the Desert Inn, Las Vegas, since registering there about a year ago. But somebody is minding his store at Culver City, Calif.

CONSIDINE

There, at the Hughes Aircraft Co. (which incidentally does not make aircraft — the Hughes Tool Co. does that) his people have developed a new communications satellite with a capacity 25 times that of Early Bird and most of the other "switchboards" in orbit, all Hughes built.

Intelsat IV has been built for the global communications explosion which is expected in the 1970s. It will be able to handle 6,000 two-way telephone calls simultaneously, or squirt 12 color TV shows down at earth at the same time.

COULD TEACH

Either of its two "spotlight" beams could pinpoint any underdeveloped country and teach its people how to read, write, farm, and take care of their aches and wounds.

The satellite would weigh 2,430 pounds and require a huge Titan-IIIB to place it in its sychronous orbit, 22,300 miles off the earth.

A beautiful French girl with the extraordinary name of Nonatienne Dupuy de la Grand-'rive, who speaks German and has been doing some public relations work of (JAL) Japan Air Lines — still with me, Mac? — Dropped by New York the other day with a startling message.

The French people like us, she said, with the suggestion of a mist in her eyes. They are saddened by the sudden cool of the American traveler, after all those happy and prosperous years. They want you back, preferably on Japan Air Lines, one must presume, one must.

NO. 3 ON VISITOR LIST

After all, the youngest (20) girl in the French Tourist Bureau pointed out, the French people are not the ones who are making the raids on Fort Knox.

The French are now No. 3 on the list of tourists visiting the U.S., just behind the British and the West Germans.

★ ★ ★

France reported the largest percentage gain in travel to the U.S. for an overseas country. The 115,655 French people, who visited America amounted to an 85.2 per cent increase over 1966.

France buys about twice as much from the U.S. as it sells here, resulting in a large trade imbalance, this beautiful mine of information assured us.

For the 10-year period, 1957 through 1966, the balance of trade with France in favor of the U.S. was $2 billion.

Recent Incident Act of 'Police Kindness'

I commend the white police officer who went to the aid of one of my parents. This lady, who had just come home from the hospital, was desperate. She had no food or money to buy food for her four children. She called the police to take the children to the Children's Home where she was sure they would be cared for and fed. This police officer listened to her story and gave her $5 from his own pocket for food. He also contacted authorities and the next day a food certificate was given to her. This was an act of "police kindness."

Replies to Recent Letter on Press Picture

Concerning an accused former public official's smiling picture in The Press, Mr. Kennedy is accused, not convicted. Until he has had due process of law, I intend to give him benefit of the doubt. It sounds like the writer of the letter already judged this man and reached a verdict. Mr. Kennedy could be smiling because he is glad to be living under a system that allows an accused man to enter a police station with his lawyer and attempt to clear himself, and not under a system that automatically convicts a man simply because he is accused.

Expensive Errors

Chicago Sun Times

Between July, 1965 and July, 1967 more than 40,000 servicemen were discharged as physically unfit. Appallingly, these were not men with battle wounds or other service-incurred disabilities, but men whose medical history should have barred them from induction in the first place.

★ ★ ★

The men, both enlistees and draftees for all four services, were passed as healthy at one or another of the nation's 74 medical screening stations. And the cost to the government of the 40,000 errors was placed at $20,000,000 a year in pay, allowances, uniforms and travel.

★ ★ ★

The General Accounting Office, which released the report, did not reckon the cost in time and hardship to the individuals involved. One must, however, believe that the cost was considerable, particularly for the draftees summoned up, enlisted, then sent home.

Patently, the nation cannot afford to countenance such sloppy, expensive practices as the GAO has uncovered, nor can it afford to treat its citizens with such cavalier disregard.

Ford Sees Good Year for Cars

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II, describing the auto industry outlook for the rest of the year as very good, predicted Thursday that domestic new car sales could reach 9.3 million in 1968 even with the dampening effects of a possible federal tax increase.

"Both in this country and abroad," Ford told a stockholders meeting, "The automobile industry shows every sign of contining to be an industry of strong growth."

Ford, chairman of the company, said despite the two-month United Auto Workers union strike last fall resulted in substantial losses in both the third and fourth quarters, high production and sales plus higher car prices have resulted in first-quarter sales greater than in any previous quarter.

"Our earnings established a new first-quarter record," he said.

Ford later told newsmen that he thought the company would "come pretty close" to having record profits, although they would be under the record $703 million of 1965.

* * *

Asked whether prices would be increased on 1969 models, Ford said that since costs of material and labor were climbing "we expect to raise prices in the fall."

* * *

Appearing for the first time at a Ford stockholders meeting was the company's new president, Semon Knudsen, who resigned as a General Motors vice president to join Ford.

Under stockholder questioning, Knudsen said he saw no conflict of interest in the fact that he held some 50,000 shares of GM stock just before he switched allegiance.

SELLING STOCK

Knudsen said that nevertheless he was placing a "substantial portion" of his GM stock on the open market, putting some of it in a charitable trust and turning over control of the remainder to a bank trusteeship.

One stockholder who appears frequently at annual meetings of many large corporations — Wilma Soss of New York—congratulated Ford on his coup in landing Knudsen.

* * *

But Mrs. Soss warned that as a General Motors stockholder she planned to propose that GM pull a switch and hire Lee Iacocca, Ford executive vice president who had been regarded as a future prospect for the Ford presidency.

* * *

Commenting on his work as chairman of the National Alliance of Businessmen, Ford said the nation's business leaders have pledged to provide more than 175,000 permanent and summer jobs for the hard-core unemployed. The alliance was established by President Johnson to place 100,000 hard-core jobless to work by the summer of 1969 and 500,000 by the summer of 1971.

FORD 'ENCOURAGED'

Ford said he was surprised and encouraged by the support the alliance had received from government agencies, community organizations, labor unions and the business community.

Poor Turnout Stalls Planning Council Action

By BOB WISLER

The Pontiac Area Planning Council — conceived late last year as a body to initiate action in a variety of areas such as planning, federal aid and community action programs — is having trouble getting things done.

Last night's meeting of the council's board of governors was marked by discussion on how to be more effective. The governors adjourned early, without taking action on several resolutions which were scheduled to be passed.

Action could not be taken, under the governors' own bylaws, because of an insufficient turnout of members. The bylaws call for 25 of the 32 members, or their delegates, to be present before action is taken on any resolution.

Nevertheless, 20 members present voted unanimously to favor at the next board meeting a resolution calling for development of a comprehensive plan for the coordinated development of the Pontiac area in years ahead.

At one point the board had 23 members or delegates present but three walked out before the meeting ended. Two of those three expressed dissatisfaction with the action of the board, or with the inability to vote on the scheduled resolutions.

If passed as expected, the resolutions would have:

- Authorized development of a comprehensive plan, outlining steps to be taken in hiring a firm for the job.
- Declared a nondiscriminatory hiring policy for the council.
- Demanded a nondiscriminatory hiring policy for firms doing business with the council and encouraged a similar policy for businesses and firms in the Pontiac area.
- Urged the city and school district to implement a summer program in which youths would work with city police.
- Established a task force on law enforcement and community relations and another on arts.

The 20 members present at the end of the meeting agreed to a suggestion by E. Eugene Russell, president of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, that each member be notified by registered mail of the importance of the next board meeting, June 13.

At that time it is expected that C. Don Davidson, the architect developing a design for redevelopment for Pontiac's downtown urban renewal land, will publicly present a proposal for 27 acres of the land.

Dr. David J. Doherty, who took over May 1 as the council's project director, expressed concern over the future of the council itself.

Although he said he was optimistic about its future, he added, "If we don't start to move . . . in six months we won't have a planning council.

He said that Oakland County recently had received $80,000 in federal funds — on a matching basis — for a comprehensive plan for its development.

Pontiac is the center of Oakland County but its leaders are debating the feasibility and desirability of a comprehensive plan, he said.

HOW LONG?

"I don't know how long we can debate the point without acting," he said.

A comprehensive plan for overall development has been discussed all year by the council. Several national planning firms have presented ideas and proposals to the council about formulation of such a plan.

★ ★ ★

At the last governors' meeting Dr. Dana Whitmer, Pontiac schools superintendent, proposed the plan on behalf of the board of education.

The study, he said, should include plans and guidelines for the development of housing, renewal of residential, commercial, industrial and downtown business districts as well as public transportation, schools, job opportunity and training programs and social services.

DEVELOPMENT TIES

"Such a study should provide for coordination of private and public development, so that each can support and enhance the other," he said.

In discussion of the plan last night, members estimated it might be one to two years away.

Doherty suggested that he and the council's administrative committee screen various urban planning firms so the governors could decide on which firm to hire without having to listen to a "parade of proposals."

The governors have not yet been able to determine how such a study would be financed, but the city and school district likely could come up with $200,000 for its development.

FUND SOURCES

Foundation money and federal aid also are definite possibilities, Doherty said he had met twice with an official of the Detroit Catholic Archdiocese and had been assured of a "considerable amount" of the $1.5 million or so the diocese has pledged for urban programs if a solid proposal is presented to the diocese.

"It behooves us to get one solid proposal in," he said.

Doherty acknowledged that PAPC, like similar groups such as the New Detroit Committee, is having difficulty achieving cohesiveness.

He said it is obvious some members are losing interest. He said he had talked to 18 to 20 members and found some differences in opinions of what the governors should be focusing on.

BRICKS AND MORTAR

Many feel the governors are spending too much time merely discussing race relations problems and should be concentrating on rebuilding the downtown, or "putting bricks and mortar together," he said.

The three members, or alternates who left the meeting early were Hubert Price, an original appointee and vice president of the Pontiac Organization of Black Youth; James Dyer, a delegate who has attended most of the meetings on behalf of the original appointee, Julian A. Cook Jr.; and Charles M. Tucker, a frequent delegate, who last night attended on behalf of James Mathews, president of the Oakland County chapter of the NAACP.

Dyer said the governing board is being put into the position of acting as a rubber stamp. He made this remark after discussion of the location of a new super high school.

Dyer expressed dissatisfaction with the selection of the Pontiac State Hospital site as location of the planned school. Monroe Osmun, school board president, said the school board has not settled definitely on the final site.

DECISION SOON

He said the board would reach a decision soon. Dyer implied that reaching a decision before getting the recommendation of the planning council puts the council in the position of rubber stamping school board decisions.

Tucker asked to be excused after Price and Dyer had left, since the board could not act on resolutions.

★ ★ ★

James L. Bates, Pontiac director of Planning and Urban Renewal, recommended that the council take necessary steps to develope a comprehensive plan.

He mentioned that all studies forsaw Oakland County as doubling its population in 25 years. The county will become increasingly urban and will undergo great change, he said.

GROWTH FORECASTE

"Pontiac is in the heart of Oakland County. Growth is going to take place, change is going to take place," he said.

"The real question is, is Pontiac going to be ready?" He said the council has a good chance of determining what change will do for Pontiac.

Policeman Pays for Man's Ticket

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A financially troubled father of seven who left El Paso County Court to come up with $5 for a traffic ticket returned to find that state Patrolman William C. Thiede, who gave him the ticket, had already paid it.

Thiede issued the ticket because the man was driving with an expired temporary permit. The fine was $20, but the judge suspended $5 and Thiede paid the rest explaining he thought the man should use the money to buy food for his children.

Parking Mall Hailed as Success

said the mall is proof that the city is interested in the problems of merchants."

Although he said it's too early to determine if there is an increase in business, he believes the mall should be extended north and south.

ENTHUSIASTIC COMMENTS

Comments of the merchants doing business in the block of the mall were most enthusiastic, here are a few:

A. L. Pierce, owner of Pauli's Shoes: "Tremendous. Absolutely wonderful."

Monroe Osmun, general manager of Osmun's Men's Wear: "It's working out very well. The people using it are very happy about it."

★ ★ ★

Philip Sauer, owner of Griff's Grill: "I think it's fine. It's increasing my business and I've heard very fine comments about it from my customers."

Al Shamie, owner of Al's Discount Store: "This place is really jumping. It's a shot in the arm. We should put the same parking mall in other downtown blocks.

'SAFE DOWNTOWN'

"It's safe downtown for women. Even if there's nobody in the street the merchants can see out their windows."

William Dickinson, manager of Dickinson's clothing store: "I'm 100 per cent sold. The turnover is terrific. We've seen more people than we have in a long time."

Douglas Scott, manager of Kresge's, said, "I like it so far but I want to see more before I say anything final."

'GOOD THINGS'

Ron Spinner of King Briggs, said, "I haven't had enough time to really measure but I think it is definitely going to be a good thing."

Merchants in stores to the north and south of the mall generally indicated they were not sure of the effect on their businesses but most seemed to favor extending the mall.

Neipling said the are technical problems in extending the mall.

He said if it were extended north and south there would probably have to be physical alteration of the present street system in those areas.

"If the comminuty supports the idea enough then we may have justification for altering the street network," he said.

Labor-Probe Bill Dies

LANSING (AP) — After passing a bill to provide insurance for high risk properties, the Senate Thursday defeated a bill calling for fact-finding to investigate public employe labor disputes.

The Senate debated but did not take final action on a related bill requiring compulsory arbitration of labor disputes involving police or fire departments.

The upper chamber defeated by a vote of 23-14 the measure enabling the State Labor Mediation Board to appoint a neutral panel of distinguished citizens to investigate labor disputes involving public employes such as policemen, teachers and street department workers.

The measure bogged down when an amendment to allow both parties to negotiate an agency shop failed.

Agency shops would force nonunion members to pay sums totaling the equivalent of union dues to the union. The Senate earlier had eliminated the agency shop provision from the House-passed measure.

The upper chamber adjourned before taking final action on a bill requiring compulsory arbitration for police and fire departments. The bill provides that a third party mediate the dsipute when parties reach a point where they can't bargain between themselves.

London's Famous Street of Doctors Has a Mystique

(EDITOR'S NOTE — London's Harley Street houses the best of Britain's physicians. But the street is more than a geographic area. It is a state of mind.)

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Writer

LONDON — Harley Street has been rescued from peanut shells and orange peels.

It can relax again, firm in its standing as Britain's elite medical center.

Its salvation was accomplished in a tiny magistrates' court.

The case involved a Harley Street doctor who attracted patients with a penchant for munching peanuts or sucking on oranges in the waiting rooms. The landlords said the debris was not befitting this area so his lease was being canceled. After testimony, the landlords relented on the guarantee that the patients would be policed by the surgeon and his staff.

THE MYSTIQUE

The doctor's office in question isn't even in Harley Street — it's in Devonshire Place. But that is the mystique of Harley Street.

It is an area.

It is a state of mind.

British medicine, which lays claim to many pioneering advances for mankind, radiates out of what is commonly called Harley Street. The sector in London's Marylebone district encompasses 100 acres, about 1,500 highly reputed surgeons and specialists and a few lesser lights.

★ ★ ★

Most of the men in Harley Street are misters. This means they are members of the Royal College of Surgeons.

The minority are just "doctor," which in Britain is something less in prestige.

It all goes back to the days of the barber surgeons when barbers were handy with knife and scalpel for warts or some such thing. Then, they were called simply "mister" and the practicing medico was "doctor."

ANOMALY ESTABLISHED

As surgeons came into prominence in the 19th century, they decided more or less tacitly to continue as "mister" and by now the anomaly of a mister being better than a doctor is firmly established.

The rich and famous go to Harley Street in times of trouble.

But often, so do the poor.

The skills of the "misters" are never denied the needy.

If a general practitioner sends a patient with a medical problem that can be dealt with only by a Harley Street specialist, the patient is accepted on his national health card. That means, however intricate or demanding the operation and subsequent treatment, he does not pay a fee.

RECOMPENSED

The Harley Street area has attracted some famous residents besides doctors. Among them: Disraeli, Dickens, Swift, Gladstone, Pitt, the widow of Lord Nelson, to name a few. On parallel Wimpole Street there were the famous Barretts, Boswell, Edward Gibbon and others of equal stature.

ONE WAY

How does one get to Harley Street?

"You work and you work and you work," said one distinguished surgeon who must be nameless under the rules of the profession.

"You must go through every possible stage of advancement and study after you become a doctor," he said.

★ ★ ★

"You are impelled to continue as a student, developing your associations with clinics so that by the time you are in your thirties, you can genuinely be called a consultant. Even then, your qualifications are under scouting as soon as you apply for a surgery—the British term for a doctor's office — in Harley Street. By this time you are almost 35 years old and unless you have a private fortune you have been scratching around rather hard to keep the wolf from the door."

The inevitable membership in the Royal College of Surgeons follows for those with this kind of sense of service, ambition and talent.

A CONSULTANT

Then you are a Harley Street consultant.

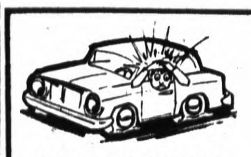

As medical facilities grow in various parts of Britain, including the suburbs of London, there is some thought that Harley Street is over the brink of its fame and can now only go slowly down.

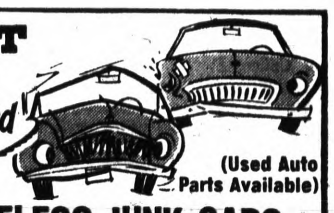

★ ★ ★

"That may be," said the surgeon "it will take a long time, though. We in Harley Street are only too pleased if patients can be treated and cured everywhere they live. But it will take men with the drive, ambition and talent which Harley Street by its very existence commands."

Singing Lawrences Settle on Broadway

"We've all got to settle down," says she.

★ ★ ★

"We planned this," adds he.

Instead of further travels along the long, profitable but arduous nightclub trail, the couple voice determination to do Broadway shows. With music, or without. Together if possible, or separately.

The reasons? One is a show called "Golden Rainbow," their first joint stage outing. he other, more important, is a pair of sons named David, 8, and Michael, near 6.

RAISED ON ROAD

"We brought them up on the road," explains Miss Gorme. "Sometimes they literally slept in drawers fitted out with blankets.

"I'm not complaining. We had a good life and the children haven't suffered. But I' mtired of that. And we can't keep taking them out of school now. This is for us.

★ ★ ★

"Sure, we do much better on the road than we do in a Broadway show. It is just one of those things that have to be given up.

"There are certain changes we've had to make — financially and in many ways — and we've decided to do that. It's worth it to us because of the other end of our lives."

HEADLONG STYLE

Miss Gorme, whose conversational style is headlong, pauses for a breath and Lawrence approves with: "This is what we want."

"I only do the talking here," his wife says to adjust the marital balance. "He makes all the decisions. He's been doing that for years — it just works that way."

★ ★ ★

Take this musical they are in at the Shubert Theater. The idea for it came along over a year ago and clearing the engagement calendar took considerable rearrangement.

Lawrence was on Broadway once before, in 1964-65 with "What Makes Sammy Run?" Miss Gorme's only previous Rialto bit was with Jerry Lewis at the Palace in '56. They met, a wide-eyed pair of 18-year-olds, on Steve Allen's TV show in 1953, and wed in 1958.

AMAZED AT HUSBAN D

"Golden Rainbow" is her first experience in a brook show — a story with set dialogue — and the ebullient songstress was amazed at her husband's transformation.

"In our singing act you never new what to expect next from him," she reports. "Here he's a lot more disciplined than I am. I need a little more time to adjust."

Although they won personal raves, the production in general failed to enrapture critics. Disappointment has been since alleviated by sturdy box-office business.

"It's an audience show and the way people respond has been very rewarding," he declares. The experience has been a sharp contrast to his "Sammy," which he looks back on as a "very unhappy" episode. When it closed he proclaimed he would never again come to Broadway.

"That's apt to be true after any creative effort," he says of yesterday's oath. "Like having another baby," Miss Gorme volunteers.

Hold this up to your mirror—any way you look at it, we're behind you.

When we guarantee an electric water heater, we guarantee that you get all the hot water you need. That's right. All the hot water you need. Or you get all your money back. And you have a full year to make up your mind about it.

Satisfied? There's more. We'll install your electric water heater free. No matter where you buy. So long as it's an Edison approved model, installed on Edison lines—in any existing residence up to and including a four-family flat.

And more. A 50-gallon electric water heater, big enough for many families, operates for about $3.30 monthly in normal use. Then for larger families, an 80-gallon heater provides plenty of hot water for about $5.03 per month in normal use.

Still more. Edison's No-Charge Repair Service. No charge for electrical operating parts or labor. Got the picture?

So, if you're not satisfied with your present water heater, why not consider a new electric one?

That'll put you in a good frame of mind.

Crime-Control Bill Passed by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a crime-control bill that would undo controversial Supreme Court rulings that guarantee criminal suspects greater rights. The measure also would grant police new wiretapping and electronic "bugging" authority.

But while the Senate passed the bill Thursday night by a 72-4 vote, it was uncertain how much of it will become law.

It still faces House consideration, and contains provisions strongly opposed by President Johnson and Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the influential House Judiciary Committee. Already, there is speculation Johnson would veto such a measure.

The prime concern of Johnson, Celler and other opponents involves the proposed controls on the Supreme Court. And some opponents say constitutional questions are raised by sections authorizing police wiretapping and electronic surveillance or "bugging" of suspects.

★ ★ ★

As passed by the Senate, the bill's chief provisions would:

● Establish a two-year program of $400 million in federal grants to improve the training and equipment of state and local police and for research to develop new crime fighting techniques.

★ ★ ★

The grants could help finance the war on organized crime and control the prevention of riots.

● Undo Supreme Court decisions restricting the use of confessions and police lineup identification in federal crime trials. The sole test of the admissibility of a confession would be whether it was given voluntarily.

● Authorize wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping by law enforcement officers, acting under court orders, in the investigation of specified crimes. This would be permitted by state and local police, as well as federal officers, in states that pass implementing legislation.

● Prohibit interstate mail-order sales of handguns and their over-the-counter sale to nonresidents of a state and otherwise tighten federal firearms controls.

The House last year passed the "safe streets" part of the bill providing for federal grants to strengthen local law enforcement. The Senate grafted on all the other provisions.

Key Sections of Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are key provisions of the crime-control bill passed by the Senate Thursday night:

Confessions—Provides confessions be admitted as evidence in criminal trials even if suspect is not speedily arraigned and is not advised by police of rights to refuse to answer questions, and to have lawyer during interrogation. This would undo Supreme Court decisions on police tactics in questioning of suspects. Opposed by President Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Firearms—Bans interstate mail-order sales of pistols and revolvers but not, as President asked, such sales of rifles and shotguns.

Wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping — Authorizes these procedures by police acting under court orders in probes of specified crimes. Opposed by the President.

Safe Streets—This provision authorizes $400 million in federal grants to improve local police work. It was urged by Johnson —but he called for federal distribution of the money to local police while the Senate voted to let states control it.

Status — Bill now goes to a Senate-House conference that will try to iron out differences in versions passed by the two chambers.

Outlook—House opposition is expected. A presidential veto is considered possible.

The marker reads: "As the flowers are all made sweeter by the sunshine and the dew, so this old world is made brighter by the lives of folks like you."

Romney Veto Is Urged

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney was left holding an issue as hot as a ticking bomb today — whether legislators should be required to pay the nonresident portion of Lansing's new city income tax.

Senate leaders wrote Romney asking him to veto the bill after the chiefs were unable to keep the Indians in line.

The Senate passed the bill by the squeaky majority of 20-9 after it swept through the House on an 84-7 vote.

The measure provides that senators and representatives shall pay city income taxes only in their cities of residence.

First Test Vote Next Week

LBJ Aides Bowing on Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of President Johnson's top economic advisers now appear willing to accept $6 billion in spending cuts as the price for higher taxes if that's the best bargain they can strike.

Of the top four, only Budget Bureau Director Charles S. Zwick is still firmly committed to no more than $4 billion in spending cuts—a position taken by the President.

★ ★ ★

The first test vote on the compromise package worked out by Senate-House negotiators will come next week.

Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., plans to offer a resolution Wednesday instructing House negotiators to resume meeting with their Senate colleagues and to insist on spending cuts of $4 billion.

ALREADY WORKED OUT

The negotiators have already worked up a formula calling for $6 billion in cuts—which Johnson contends is too much—and the 10 per cent income tax surcharge requested by the President.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Park., of the House Ways and Means Committee said Thursday he expects the House to pass the compromise as it now stands "when all the fanfare is over." He thinks Burke's motion will fail.

Whatever the outcome, some key voices in the administration are now ready to accept Mills' plan just to get the surcharge.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler has already endorsed the compromise package.

OVER-ALL BENEFIT

And only this week, James S. Duesenberry, a member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said although $6 billion in spending cuts goes too far, the over-all package would benefit the nation.

"A strong program of fiscal restraint—even one that goes a little too far—will do us a great deal of good," Duesenberry said without specifically endorsing the compromise.

★ ★ ★

The other two members of the council reportedly feel much the same way.

Nixon Visits Oregon Today

Bobby Now Focusing Attacks on Hubert

By The Associated Press

Sticking to his easy-does-it strategy, Richard M. Nixon moves into Oregon today to do some unhurried campaigning for next Tuesday's Republican presidential primary.

Tuesday's Democratic primary will be the third test between Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy, but as usual there will be quirks in the makeup of the ballot.

★ ★ ★

One of the candidates listed on the Democratic side, for instance, is President Johnson, an avowed noncandidate. Backers of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who became a contender for the nomination too late to file for the Oregon race, are spending heavily to spread the word that votes for Johnson will be interpreted by political observers as support for Humphrey.

Kennedy is taking the threat seriously. As he stumps the state he fires salvo after salvo at Humphrey, while his attacks on McCarthy have all but ceased.

AGAIN ON BALLOT

On the Republican side, Nixon and California Gov. Ronald Reagon have on the ballot. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York hovers in the background as a write-in hopeful.

Rockefeller lashed out at Kennedy today, criticizing him for sliding back and forth from liberal to conservative positions.

★ ★ ★

"The junior senator from New York, campaigning hard for the Democratic nomination, seems able to change his rhetoric as fast as he wants to change his residence," Rockefeller said.

He made the charge in a speech prepared for delivery at Atlanta's Emory University while on a two-day swing through the South.

ATTENDS PARTY

McCarthy rubbed shoulders with Hollywood's beautiful people Thursday, attending a fund-raising party at the home of actor Paul Newman, one of his supporters.

Humphrey delivered his first foreign policy address of the campaign Thursday night in New York, warning that military expenses for the United States and other nations "will blow your hat off" in the next decade unless some of the chill is taken out of the cold war.

The task of statesmanship will be to slow down the arms race "and to move in common agreement toward a systematic scaling down of the mutually oppressive burden and cost of our vast military complexes," the vice president said.

Wife of Parkinson's Disease Victim Has Dedicated Life to Cure

BY BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla (AP) — It was midnight and Jay Levey's nurse was off duty when he fell to his living room floor and lay stiff and trembling, unable to rise. In a frantic effort to lift him, his wife fell, too, and was pinned down by his rigid body.

For two hours Jeanne Levey lay there struggling, her screams unheard in the night, until finally she managed to squirm free and summon help. Levey was a victim of Parkinson's disease, a mysterious malady that transforms strong men and women into weak and quivering vegetables. This was not the first time he had sprawled helplessly on the floor, nor would it be the last. Before he died in 1964, he broke his back in another fall.

But Levey's ordeal was to bring hope into the lives of 1.5 million other afflicted persons, and to their millions of confused and desperate loved ones.

In the room where Jeanne lay that night in 1959, she met a few weeks later with a group of influential friends and organized the first National Parkinson Foundation. And in 1962 she built at Miami an institute which has become the world's only real haven for those crippled by the disease.

In the first operation of its kind, Jeanne's staff of specialists is restoring to useful lives hundreds who once had abandoned all hope.

When Betty Homer entered the institute, muscle rigidity and years os confinement in a young body into a sitting position. When she was lifted to her feet, her eyes focused on the floor.

Today, Betty looks upward with a sparkle in her eyes and exclaims: "I can see the sky again!"

Lewis Kessler, once a dynamic man, was a cripple, drained of every ounce of self-respect. Now he walks and even plays baseball, and he says a day at the institute "is a day of living like a human being."

In a one-woman crusade launched after she was 70 years old, Jeanne Levey has awakened the world to the growing meance o a disease which for 150 years was swept under the rug.

★ ★ ★

Many physicians have made her institute a rallying point in the first concentrated drive to find the cause and cure of an affliction which the U.S. Department of Health says is engulfing an ever-greater part of the population.

To focus attention on her work, President Johnson has proclaimed an annual National Parkinson Week.

It was in 1946 when Jay Levey's right had first developed "a strange feeling" and began to shake. Gradually, the tremor spread and more and more of his body became involved.

Jeanne took him to many doctors, but none ever diagnosed the condition," she said. "Each doctor called it a nervous disorder and gave him some pills."

Seven years after onset of the disease, Jeanne chanced to meet Dr. Lewis J. Doshay of the Columbia University Neurological Institute at a convention of the American Medical Association. He looked at her husband and told her, softly: "This is Parkinson's disease."

For 35 years, Doshay had dedicated himself to a lone wolf attempt to solve the enigma of the disease. But he told Jeanne: "There is little money for research. We need a foundation, somebody to start one."

For three years after her meeting with Doshay, Jeanne pondered what he had told her. With his help and advice, she worked out physical therapy methods that kept her husband mobile years longer than he otherwise could have expected.

But at last he became helpless and she took him to a home in Miami to care for him to the end. Then came the fall that launched her drive toward the goal Doshay had given her.

With her own resources and contributions from friends, she organized the foundation. Then she went to medical men, civic leaders, giants of industry and others. After months of talking, she had a 42-member board of directors and a list of consulting physicians in the United States, Canada, England and India.

The first clinic building would cost $350,000. When she came up $135,000 short, Jeanne went to Washington. Through a maze of red tape, she trudged from one office to another. Everyone she contacted was genial, sympathetic, ignorant of Parkinson's disease, and evasive.

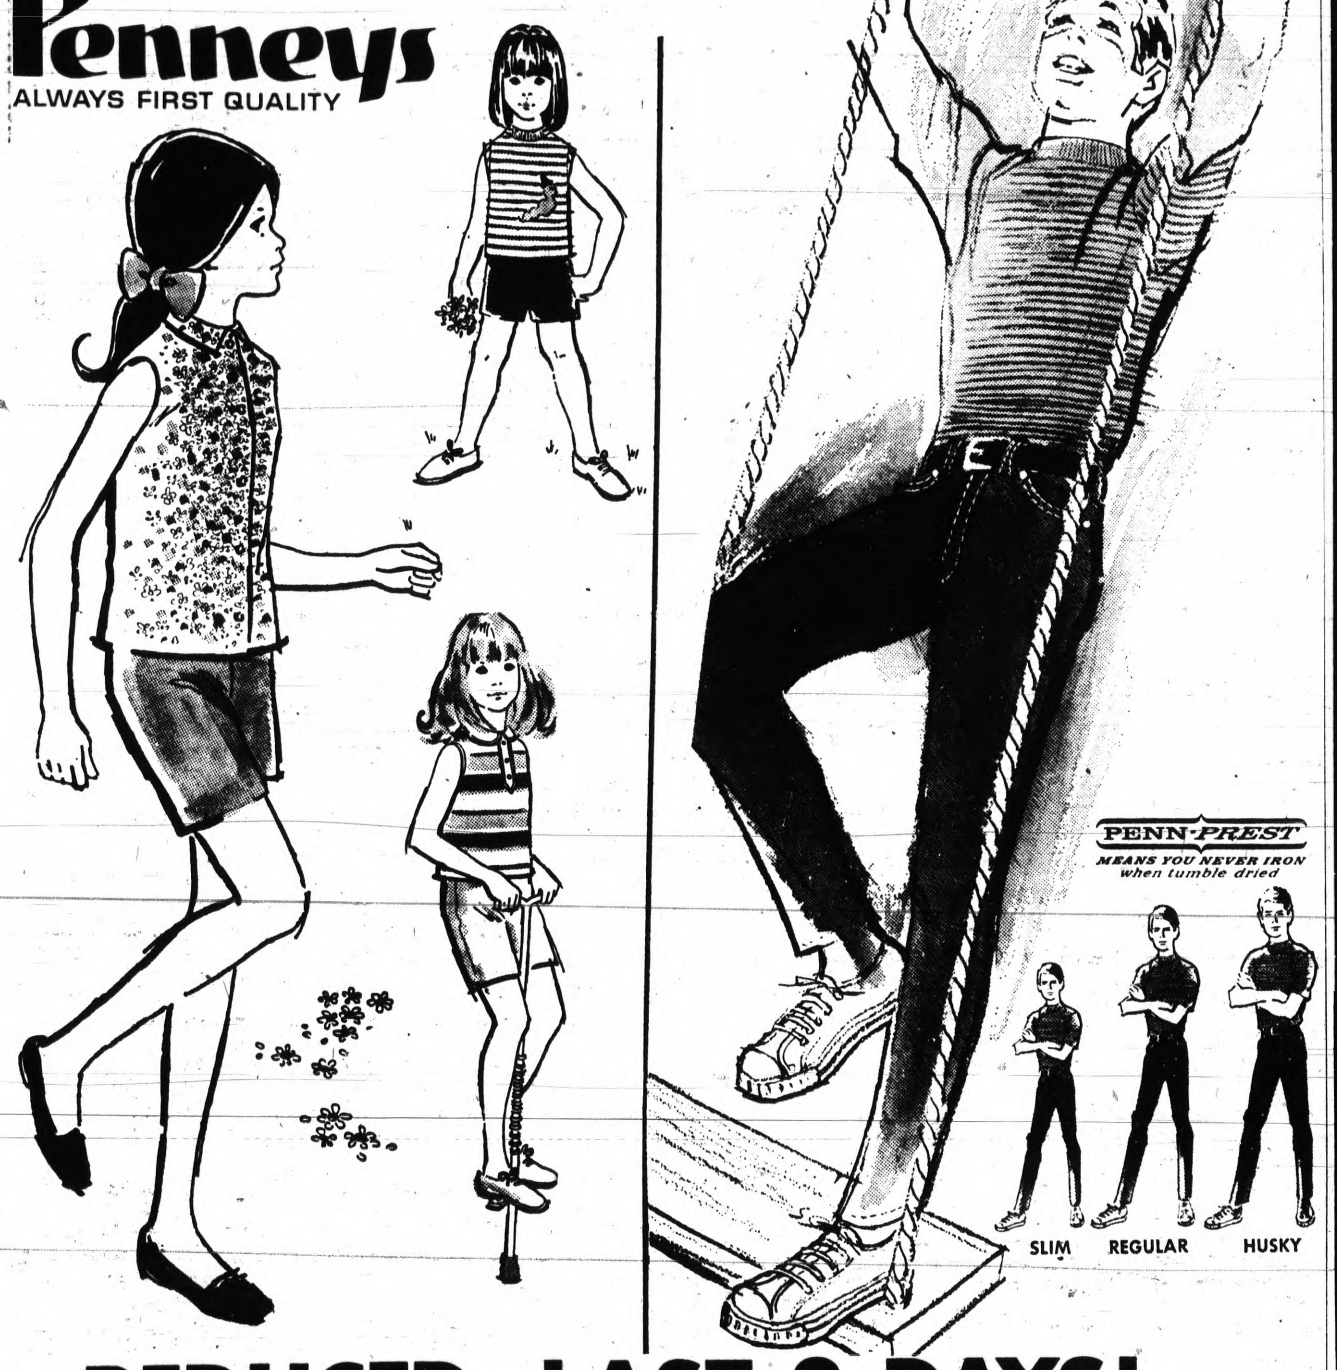

But in the office of Abraham Ribicoff, then secretary of health, education and welfare, Jeanne got her grant. Ribicoff said the money would help "roll back the darkness surrounding this dread disease."

N. Viet Units Forsake Normal Haunts; Big Offensive Feared

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Elements of two North Vietnamese divisions have pulled out of their normal haunts in the sensitive northern provinces, probably to reinforce enemy troops in the central highlands for a massive offensive there.

In reporting this today, highly reliable sources said there was no firm evidence to support intelligence reports from U.S. field units that North Vietnam has committed two more divisions, either in part or whole, in the northern provinces.

Two o the North Vietnamese 325th Division's three infantry regiments have completed a march south from near Khe Sanh in the northwest to an area west of Kontum in the highlands, a walk of about 165 miles, these sources said.

In addition, two regiments of the 2nd North Vietnamese Division, which normally operates just south of the Marine base at Da Nang, have disappeared after beginning a swift move to the southwest, they reported.

TOWARD KONTUM

Heavy B52 strikes have been flown repeatedly around Kontum. This often is a tipoff to forthcoming operations. The B52 strikes normally are aimed at large troop or supply concentrations, either to head off enemy offensives or before allied spoiler operations aimed at thwarting the offensive.

At the same time, North Vietnamese 85mm howitzers have been found west of Hue, in the north. This indicates that for the first time the enemy was moving in field artillery to blast away at South Vietnamese provincial headquarters and U.S. rear area bases.

Until now, artillery has been used almost exclusively along the demilitarized zone farther north. For attacks around Hue, the enemy has been using mortars and relatively inaccurate rockets.

BACK TO A SHAU?

Highly informed sources said there was "quite a bit of evidence" that North Vietnamese have moved back into the A Shau Valley with large forces. A major allied operation swept the valley east of Da Nang and 30 miles southwest of Hue in an operation that closed out one week ago.

The sources said the North Vietnamese could be again using truck convoys in the valley to replace the vast amounts of weapons, food and other war material destroyed during the allied operation.

Allied troops never intended to stay in the valley and left just ahead of monsoon rains that would have made their stay highly hazardous because of the difficulties in reinforcing, resupplying and launching air strikes.

For some reason the allies operating on the valley floor did not attempt to destroy major segments of the road, which is a direct truck route from North Vietnam through Laos to South Vietnam.

Long called the biggest enemy base camp inside South Vietnam, A Shau took on fresh importance with the recent discovery of a major enemy road construction project from the valley in the direction of Da Nang, the biggest allied base in the northern war zone.

In one aerial sighting, more than 1,000 construction workers were spotted along one segment of the road. Bulldozers are believed also in use.

Thick jungle and bad weather make U.S. operations against the new road almost impossible except by bombing. Finished portions of the road are said to extend from Laos about 7.5 miles inside South Vietnam with work under way on an additional six miles.

U.S. planes are spraying the A Shau Valley and likely routes out of it with herbicides in an attempt to kill all foliage that the North Vietnamese are using for cover during road construction.

Still another road has been spotted farther south that could give the enemy trucks access to base areas that threaten not only the vital Da Nang area but Kontum Province as well.

Doing Things in Duplicate

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Sisters-in-law Mary Hayes and Mary Hayes went to the movies together Wednesday night. They went to the hospital together Thursday morning.

At 6:24 a.m. Mary Jo Hayes had a daughter, Tia Lynn. One hour and 17 minutes later, Mary E. Hayes also gave birth to a daughter, Terry Lynn. The babies were delivered by the same doctor.

Pilot Braves VC Fire to Rescue Three Airmen

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Fire and smoke wreathed the Special Forces camp and the Viet Cong flag whipped from the old command bunker when the radio crackled that three Americans were still down there.

An old C123 twin-engine Provider lowered through the battle haze and gingerly touched down on the debris-strewn airstrip. The crew found no one but on the take off run spotted three men waving desperately. The plane was going too fast, however, and was too low on fuel for another run.

Circling at 8,000 feet, a ruddy-faced, 45-year-old pilot listened to the radio. He snapped on his intercom and told his crew: "We're going in."

So began the last hazardous flight into Kham Duc, a mountain-ringed Green Berets' outpost southwest of Da Nang. Helicopters, four-engine Hercules turboprops and the smaller twin-engine Providers had already lifted out about 800 Americans, villagers and tribal irregulars. No one was supposed to be left.

★ ★ ★

The airstrip was littered with craters and the debris of destroyed helicopters. All day the evacuation transports had been taking hits. Enemy gunners shot down one Hercules. Now, in the afternoon, the fire grew heavier as two North Vietnamese regiments closed in on the jungle encampment.

Lt. Col. Joe Jackson, a one-time newspaper boy from Newman, Ga., who recalls former Gov. Ellis Arnall as a customer, put the old transport plane in a near dive.

★ ★ ★

It should have been a routine check flight. As commander of the 113th Air Commando Squadron, Jackson normally doesn't fly much. This day he had arranged a flight with a check pilot, Maj. William Campbell, 37, Atascadero, Calif., as his co-pilot.

Jackson was taking a periodic flight check when his C123 was ordered over embattled Khan Duc.

The idea was to get down quickly to avoid antiaircraft fire and at the same time to pull up and land slowly. He had to stop on the runway without having to reverse his engines. It is normally a technical point, but reversing the engines cuts off the auxiliary jet pods beneath the Provider's wings. Starting those pod engines would take 40 long seconds. Jackson knew they might not have 40 seconds and he wanted that extra power for the take off under fire.

Jackson threaded the plane down the runway while Campbell and two crew members scanned the smoldering fortifications for the three Americans. Near the end of the airstrip, the three ran out — an Air Force officer in a blue flight suit and two enlisted men in camouflaged fatigues. They were members of the Air Force combat control team that normally ran the control tower at the small post. How they got left behind, no one knew.

"As soon as they jumped on board, the loadmaster yelled 'on board, clear to go' and we sure went," Jackson recalls. "We got out of there without a hole in the plane. I'll never understand it." The official record shows that Jackson's plane was on the ground no more than 120 seconds.

"That was eternity," Jackson says.

Vote for Vietcong

OXFORD, England (AP) — Oxford University's debating society, the Oxford Union, voted 256-185 Thursday night for a motion "that this house would welcome the victory of the Vietcong" in Vietnam.

GRENADE GREETING — A U.S. 9th Infantry Division soldier prepares to throw a grenade into the entrance of a Vietcong bunker next to a bombed-out house on the southern edge of Saigon. In the next photo, the grenade explodes, sending earth and rubble flying in all directions. The bunker was part of a system of trenches and bunkers found by U.S. troops in the area.

Saigon Fighting Puts MPs on Front Lines

SAIGON (AP)—If it's not street fighting, snipers or hand grenades, it's drunks and traffic.

"It does not get monotonous sometimes," says a young military policeman riding the darkened streets of Saigon. "But then once in a while we run into something new."

★ ★ ★

The low-key appraisal of possibly the world's most hazardous police beat came from smooth-cheeked, 20-year-old Spec. 4 Jimmie Keech, a volunteer from Norwalk, Calif., who has spent 16 months patrolling South Vietnam's capital.

When the war moved into South Vietnam's cities Jan. 31, the Army's military policemen moved into the front lines of the war. They have been there ever since.

'SHOT AT'

"When I got here about eight months ago there were guys rotating home that had never been shot at," said Keech's patrolmate, Pfc. Thomas Blunt of Los Angeles. "Not now. It's hard to find an MP who hsn't been shot at."

Blunt, a 23-year-old former telephone company lineman who ended up in the MPs for reasons mysterious to him, gives his job the same professional approach as Keech, who hopes to go into police work after leaving the Army.

Packing a 45-caliber pistol and an M16 carbine and wearing flak vests, they average about 72 hours a week on patrol in Saigon. When they aren't on patrol they are on alert.

It has been this way for the 716th Military Police Battalion since the Tet offensive.

The battalion has one of the biggest MP beats in the U.S. Army—a sprawling city of perhaps three million people, nobody really knows how many. The streets are narrow and jumbled, with low overhanging balconies and countless dark hideaways ideal for street fighting. The MPs have grown almost casual about odd sniper rounds.

JEEP LOOKOUT

On this night, cruising gingerally along the darkened streets, Keech and Blunt expected nothing unusual by their standards. The only serious message on the radio had warned them to be on the lookout for a gray Jeep carrying two men and two women, "possibly Vietcong agents." But the Jeep was reported in a distant precinct.

Like cops everywhere, they discussed their jobs— how the rest of the GIs feel about the MPs.

After the Tet offensive, when the MPs fought outstandingly in Saigon and other cities, the average GI sharply upgraded his opinion of the MP.

The MPs took sharp casualties, and they have been continuing. Early this month six MPs were wounded and one killed in a nasty ambush inside the city, and there have been other fights. A grenade missed Keech's Jeep by only 10 feet.

STILL DRUNKS

"We still get some guys who think we are just out to harass them, but there aren't many of them now," Blunt said. "We still get our share of drunks despite the curfew. They just seem to do more drinking in less time."

★ ★ ★

One MP concern has dropped sharply—the handful of deserters who used to get a girl and hide out in Saigon. When the Vietcong offensive started, the deserters sought protection.

"One just walked up to me on the street, when I was off duty, and surrendered," said the somewhat bemused Keech. "I don't think they find it too comfortable living in the back streets nowadays."

More than 10,500,000 Americans suffer from prolonged high blood pressure and 66,000 of these die every year.

This morning, start cleaning your engine on the way to work.

Every morning you get up, get dressed, have some breakfast. You step into the nice, fresh air. You get into your car. You start it up.

Keep doing it and you might find yourself in trouble. With an expensive repair bill to boot.

Because a filthy engine can cause a breakdown. And extra wear and tear on parts.

Take dirt in your carburetor. The more there is, the more likely you're wasting gasoline. (That's the stuff you pay us good money for.)

Or dirt in the PCV valve (an anti-air-pollution device). It can cause your car to stall. Which may not seem like a big thing—unless you've only got 5 minutes to catch a train. Or you're stalled at an intersection.

So what are you supposed to do? Stop driving? No. Start buying Mobil Gasolines. Both Mobil Premium and Mobil Regular are Detergent Gasolines. They help clean vital parts of your engine, while you drive. And help keep them clean.

Mobil Detergent Gasoline will clean a dirty carburetor.

It will unclog a clogged PCV valve.

It will even clean out an oil screen that's filthy.

You really ought to feed your car some Mobil Detergent Gasoline this morning.

It will probably get to work feeling better than you do.

Scientist Recants on Space Life Link

WASHINGTON (AP) — A British scientist who once worried that "little green men" were sending radio messages to earth from outer space has concluded the signals come from lifeless space objects.

Prof. F. Graham Smith of England's Jodrell Bank Observatory told American scientists Wednesday night he and other radio astronomers working there have been convinced since last September the radio waves originate from uninhabited astronomical objects, or "pulsars."

★ ★ ★

Before that, Smith said, scientists at Cambridge University who discovered the radio waves "were seriously worried" about the "little green men" possibility.

"And it was not until early this year that they thought the pulsars could be interpreted as astronomical objects, rather than as evidence of extra-terrestrial life," said Smith.

POSSIBLE ARGUMENT

He said he and his colleagues at Jodrell Bank had shared that worry.

Smith's report left open a possible argument with an American astronomer as to what constitutes proof against the radio waves being signals from an advanced civilization.

One of the arguments Smith offered as proof against any link between the pulsars and extra-terrestrial life—the fact that more than one pulsar has been detected—has previously been challenged by an American, Dr. Frank Drake, director of the Arecibo Observatory at Puerto Rico.

Drake has said that while it's "very unlikely" the radio waves represent signals from an intelligent civilization, the fact there is more than one known pulsar does not argue against such an admittedly long-shot possibility.

At least two of the pulsars are estimated to be about 180 light years—more than a quadrillion miles—from the earth, Smith said.

Britain's radio astronomers, he said, now believe the pulsars are somewhat unusual versions of "white dwarf" stars—stars whose nuclear fires have largely burned out.

Tests Protect New Orleans

HARRISON, N.J. (AP) — Tests being conducted in an engineering research laboratory here will help to protect the low-lying city of New Orleans and its environs against flooding during heavy storms.

The tests, being conducted by the pump and heat transfer division of Worthington Corp., simulate the operation of four huge pumping stations that will be added next year to the drainage-control system in New Orleans.

Each of the actual stations, when completed, will cover a half-block area and will be equipped with a giant pump.

Liberals Planning Campaign on Radio

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The organized liberals are getting ready to challenge conservatives to the kind of duel both relish. The weapons will be microphones; the ammunition words.

Officials of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) announced at their national convention that plans are being made to produce a regular radio program to help spread the liberal word around the country.

The program will be offered to stations for use in public service time, which is not sponsored. It is not scheduled to get under way until after the 1968 national elections to avoid any taint of political partisanship.

"We feel sure the stations would be happy to have the program," ADA Treasurer Meyer Berger told delegates. But, he added, ADA would invoke the "fairness doctrine" to seek equal time with conservative programs if stations rejected the proposal.

SPELLED OUT

The doctrine obligates broadcasters to present contrasting views on public issues, even though the dissenting party cannot afford to buy equal time.

The program, to be called "An Appeal to Reason," was explained to the convention as a liberal "antidote" to a number of conservatively oriented programs.

Although planning still is preliminary, Berger said such spokesmen as ADA National Chairman John Kenneth Galbraith and other liberal leaders would be featured on the program.

The key to production of the program is ADA's new-found solvency. Berger announced at the convention that ADA would not have to make a special fund appeal to balance its budget for the first time in years.

DESPITE LOSS

This, he said, was despite the loss of some labor union contributions that followed ADA's endorsement of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., for the Democratic presidential nomination. Most union leaders are supporting Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for nomination.

ADA also hopes to escalate its organizing activities. For this purpose a collection was taken at the convention banquet. A number of donations of $1,000 or more were announced.

★ ★ ★

While the total was not made public, ADA Vice Chairman Joseph L. Rauh said the response had been good enough to assure the hiring of an organizer for the South, one of the organization's weakest areas.

Now 21 years old, ADA has about 50,000 members with chapters in 17 states.

The only U.S. president who did not use the pronoun "I" in his inaugural address was Theodore Roosevelt.

Garbage Cigarette Idea Not a Trashy Pipe Dream

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ever since Adam and Eve invented the apple core, man has sought new and better ways of getting rid of garbage.

WEST

This quest has now reached the desperation stage, owing to the fact that apple cores, bananapeels, peach pits, broken shoe laces, old Edsel hub-caps and other discarded material currently accumulates at the rate of 175 million tons a year in the United States alone.

In America, attempts have been made to solve the problem by building ski slopes out of garbage. In Europe, garbage is being mixed with coal and used as fuel. In Japan, building blocks are being made of compressed garbage.

At best, however, these projects are only holding actions. A finger in the dike, so to speak. Something to stem the garbage tide until someone comes up with the ultimate disposal method.

That someone may be me.

IDEA FILTERED

Inspiration came my way as I was reading about an experiment in New Hyde Park, N.Y., involving the use of activated charcoal to filter fumes from a garbage land-fill.

Activated charcoal is the stuff used in certain cigarette filters. Indeed, that is apparently where city officials got the idea for the garbage filter.

★ ★ ★

Very well. The next step is so obvious I'm surprised nobody thought of it before. We simply shred or grind up the garbage and make cigarettes of it.

At the rate cigarettes are consumed in this country, smokers could burn up 175 million tons of garbage in no time at all.

PROFIT SIGHTED

You see the beauty of it? The disposal problem is solved without costing us anything. Why we might even be able to show a profit by selling our garbage.

If activated charcoal can make a garbage land-fill socially acceptable, it should be able to do the same for garbage cigarettes.

Very Important Flea May Solve Rabbit Problem

SYDNEY (AP) — A pinhead-size VIF from England is now under the microscope in Australia's scientific laboratories after being in quarantine for 18 months.

The VIF (Very Important Flea) may be the latest answer to the rabbit problem.

★ ★ ★

Experts from the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization hope that it, and the 5,000 children it bore while under quarantine, will spread myxomatosis more effectively and more fatally than the mosquito which in the last 10 years helped decimate the country's multimillion rabbit population.

Week's Toll in Viet 2nd Highest of War

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans reported killed last week was the second largest weekly toll of the Vietnam war.

The U.S. Command announced yesterday that 549 Americans died in action, 13 less than the record 562 killed the previous week.

The command said 2,282 Americans were wounded in action last week, 57 more than the week before. Of those wounded last week, 1,314 required hospitalization, the command said.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 475 government troops killed last week, 1,476 wounded and 71 missing or captured. The week before the report was 675 killed, 1,999 wounded and 96 missing.

ENEMY TOLL

The two commands said 4,765 of the enemy were killed last week. The U.S. Command also revised its report of enemy 530,000, an increase of 4,000 killed the week before, raising it from 5,552 to 8,186. Although not a record, this was among the heaviest tolls of the war.

The U.S. Command said the report raised the total American combat casualties in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, to 23,500 killed and 143,676 wounded, with 74,582 of the latter requiring hospitalization.

A total of 1,211 Americans are missing or captured, the report said.

The summary said enemy casualties since Jan. 1, 1961, are at least 350,074 killed.

The continuing high level of the casualties on both sides results from a general increase in the intensity of the war and a number of sharp but scattered engagements. While there have been few recent prolonged actions, there has been a step-up in general activity on both sides, much of it centered in the five northernmost provinces.

★ ★ ★

U.S. headquarters also reported American military personnel in South Vietnam at the end of last week totaled 530,000, an increase of 4,000 since the previous week. This included 3,000 more Army men and 1,000 more Air Force personnel.

Today's Woman

Mrs. Odle Is 'Show Off' in Art World

By JUNE ELERT

In the career toss-up of a high school grad, art lost out to music and "Today's Woman" entered the University of Michigan as a music major.

JUNE

A lifelong interest in art and the natural sciences was kept up, however, and became the foundation of a later career.

"Exhibit Designer in Charge" has been Betty Odle's title for a number of years now at Cranbrook Institute of Science. She is the person who plans, prepares and constructs the exhibits that are on public view at the Institute.

★ ★ ★

The idea for each exhibit originates usually with the curator of each separate department. Then it is up to Betty to start digging for ideas, materials, methods, etc. to illustrate the project in effective form.

LEARNS A LOT

Each new project, she says, gives her a capsule education. It takes a lot of pouring over the books to work up an attractive and accurate depiction of any aspect of the varied subjects called for.

These have included minerology, geology, botany, zoology, ecology, archeology, anthropology, biology, etc., etc.

★ ★ ★

There are no rules or systems to govern building an exhibit. Each one is different. The work consists largely of improvisation in the use of materials and methods and, she agreed, "imagination is an essential quality."

★ ★ ★

She expects it will be ready for display in about six months which is the usual span between the birth of an idea and its completion.

BEGAN AS VOLUNTEER

Betty started work at the Institute many years ago as a volunteer at the front desk. From that post she progressed to helping the designer, later becoming her assistant. Some familiarity with the commercial aspects of art, layout, design, etc. was helpful here.

When the former designer resigned; Betty stepped into the vacancy.

She says, "If I could have dreamed up a job that would be perfect for me, this would be it."

Don's profession of commercial artist and advertising free-lancer would, it seems to me, mesh beautifully with Betty's occupation and interests.

UNUSUAL HOBBY

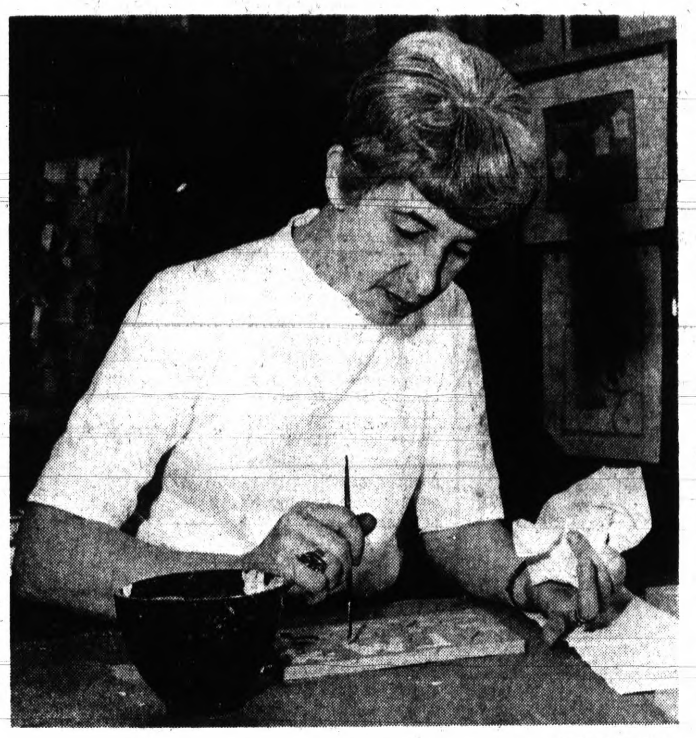

The pair also has similar hobbies. Both enjoy fossil hunting and stone-rubbing.

The latter consists of searching cemeteries for interesting designs on gravestones and transferring them to paper through a process somewhat like the childhood amusement of putting a penny under a sheet of paper and pencilling over the coin.

Betty has a collection of crinoid heads (which is a type of sea lily) and is pleased with her fossil-finds. "They're not spectacular," she says, "but things you find yourself have importance to you."

★ ★ ★

MRS. DONALD R. ODLE

An example of stone rubbing is this "angel head" design found in a cemetery near Charleston, S.C., and used by the Odles one year as their Christmas card. The gravestone was dated 1740.

Drop Subject When Friends Bring It Up

Dear Mrs. Post: We would like to know what to say to people who persist in making insulting remarks about persons of another race. My husband and I believe in equality of the races but don't wish to lose these friends over this matter. Judith L.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. L.: I have little sympathy for anyone who makes insulting remarks about any other person on the basis of race, religion, background, etc. I would not hesitate to say that you do not feel that way and you do not wish to listen to such statements.

You may even say "Let's drop the subject because we'd like to stay friends with you too." It is not a question of politeness. It is a question of standing up for what you think is right.

SAVE CANARY

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister is to be married, and I want to get her something special for her wedding. She has always said that she would like a canary. Would this be an appropriate wedding gift? — Juanita

Dear Juanita: No, I don't think a canary is an appropriate wedding gift. For one thing, a wedding gift should be something of permanent value and a canary can't last forever.

Give her the canary as a housewarming present or a birthday gift, but not as a wedding present.

MARTIN J. CASERIO

Martin J. Caserio, vice president of General Motors and general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division, will be the guest speaker at this year's Golden Gavel dinner of the Pontiac Area Federation of Women's Clubs.

★ ★ ★

A native of Laurium and a graduate of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology (now Michigan Technological University), Caserio has worked for General Motors since 1937. During World War II he was a first lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers.

★ ★ ★

He succeeded Calvin T. Werner in Pontiac several years ago.

The Golden Gavel dinner will be held at the Kingsley Inn Monday at 6:30 p.m. Any member of the 50 clubs making up the Federation may attend the dinner.

Reservations are to be made with Lulah McCully of Oneida Road, general chairman of the annual event.

A 'Bowle' Party Follows Concert

Guests attending the gala after the 3 p.m. event in Baldwin Pavilion include the Felix Resnicks and Skitch Henderson, providing his time schedule works out.

★ ★ ★

Others expected are Dr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer, the George Putnams, Dr. Leo Wasserberger, the James Rosenthals, the Douglas Harpurs and Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzgerald.

Completing the list are Dr. and Mrs. David Merrell, the William Youngs and the Roland Nordlunds.

Harvey Exhibit Opens in Detroit

The paintings of Detroit native James Harvey (1929-65), will be on display at the Gertrude Kasle Gallery in the Fisher Building, Detroit, from June 5 to July 3.

Harvey drew inspiration from the Pharaonic, Coptic and Islamic art forms of ancient Egypt and the near East.

The Fulbright artist's works have been exhibited in many of the leading museums of this country. The Kasle Gallery is open Monday through Saturday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Get Lowdown on High Jinks; Tell Teen-Agers Facts of Life

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby: Last Saturday night my husband and I went to the movies. Upon arriving home earlier than expected, we found our daughter on the couch with her boyfriend. They were all wrapped up in each other in a most disgusting position.

ABBY

We ordered the boy out of the house and forbade our daughter ever to see him again. She flew into an angry rage and screamed that when two people are "in love" anything they did was "beautiful." She threatened to leave home if we don't let her see her boyfriend again.

What's a mother to do? STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Try to be more understanding. Your daughter obviously doesn't know the difference between "love" and a healthy, normal, adolescent physical attraction. If you do, try to explain it to her. (If you don't, ask her to write to me and I'll try.)

I think you made a big mistake in ordering her boyfriend out of the house and forbidding your daughter ever to see him again. You should have had a frank talk with both of them about the dangers of playing with fire.

The boy should have been made to feel welcome in your home, but only on your terms. (You make the "rules" as to how often he may come, how late he may stay, etc.) If you drive them to meeting on the sneak elsewhere you will create worse problems.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I was born and raised right here in this small town, so I know nearly everyone and they know me. My problem: I get an invitation to every graduation, wedding, baby shower, tea, and luncheon in town. Just name the occasion that calls for a gift, and I get my notice.

Abby, I am not cheap, and I don't mind sending gifts to my friends. But how about all these acquaintances?

Right now I am swamped with "invitations." I have a good name in town and don't want to ruin it. But I refuse to be a sucker to people I hardly know. What is your advice? SWAMPED

DEAR SWAMPED: Every announcement and invitation is not necessarily a big broad hint for a gift. The best rule to follow is: If you would derive real pleasure out of sending a gift, send one. If you don't feel "close" enough to send a gift, send a card. If you feel like a "sucker," forget it.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have a bone to pick with you. Someone wrote and asked you if it was considered "proper" to use a toothpick in public and you said absolutely not.

Well, how come they sell fancy gold toothpicks in the finest stores? SEEN THEM

DEAR SEEN: You will find toe-nail clippers and back-scratchers in some of the "finest" stores, too, but that doesn't mean it's "proper" to use them in public.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: How well I understand that poor newlywed girl who wants some freedom and time to adjust before being "rushed" into pregnancy.

She is absolutely right. We waited seven years before having a baby. We traveled, got solvent, entertained, and got to know and understand each other. Then we were relaxed and ready to care for a child.

Furthermore, we waited until our first child was five years old before we had another baby. They are four and nine now, and they really "like" each other. They do many things together, but she has her friends and he has his. They do not compete as brothers and sisters who are "nearly the same age" do.

Pushing one child aside for another is unfair. I cannot say enough for planned parenthood. HAPPY PARENT

DEAR ABBY: A commendation is in order to the young man who didn't want to kiss his bride with an "audience" gawking on. His taste has risen above the vulgarities of an uncultured public. Occasionally we have a couple who insist on putting on a show for their friends, and from where I stand, I can see what happens when it's done.

A church wedding is a most solemn occasion. The couple has come to God's altar to seek His blessing, and their friends have come to join in prayer for the new family and share their joy. Kneeling and with bowed heads, the couple has received the benediction of the Lord.

★ ★ ★

When this solemnity is broken by such theatrics as a Hollywood-style kiss, the audience invariably snickers. Real cute, but if the couple wants to put on a show, why use God's altar for a backdrop?—Sincerely, A LUTHERAN PASTOR

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have a rather well-to-do uncle who is in his late seventies now. About 12 years ago, this uncle asked me if I would be "executor" of his will. I told him I would and that was the end of the conversation. As such, I don't have the faintest idea what I am supposed to do. Should I write and ask him?

I don't want him to get the idea that I am waiting for him to die because I'm not, but shouldn't I know where to find his valuable papers and so on in case of his death? I didn't sign anything and am wondering if he has changed him mind and asked somebody else or what.

How should I go about getting this information? UNINFORMED

DEAR UNINFORMED: If you don't have a lawyer, get one, and ask him to handle it for you.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column in which a father badgered his five-year-old son to "act like a little man," interested me.

As a psychoanalyst, I know that many of my patients' problems began when they were prodded by impatient parents to "act like a little man" at the age of four or five. They couldn't, of course, so having failed, they felt guilty for disappointing their parents.

Please, Abby, advise young parents to take heed. Children will—and should—act like children.

Mrs. Forsyth to Head Child Study Group III

An installation of officers will highlight Tuesday's meeting of the Child Study Group III in the Whittier Drive home of Mrs. Howard Deeter.

Taking posts will be Mrs. Edward Forsyth, president; Mrs. Fred Millis, first vice president; Mrs. Robert Irwin, second vice president; Mrs. John Collison and Mrs. Walter Godsell, secretaries; Mrs. Robert Ryeson, treasurer and Mrs. Eddie O'Brien and Mrs. Robert Knight.

Assisting the hostess at this meeting will be Mrs. O'Brien.

A chance meeting in a local sporting goods store brought these two Child Study Group III members the opportunity to discuss club business. The group is planning a luncheon and installation of officers Tuesday. From left are Mrs. Fred H. Millis of Niagara Street, whose son, John gets in some batting practice, and Mrs. Robert Ryeson of Chippewa Road whose son Jeff stands ready to "stop one."

Hubert Okays Shift for Women Workers

WASHINGTON, D. C., — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has okayed a high-fashioned, "H-Line" dress as the official campaign costume for women working in his campaign.

The dress—in emerald green, sapphire blue and white — was unveiled at the luncheon at which he announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President.

DESIGNER

Frankie Welch of Alexandria, Va., who designed the 'Discover America' silk scarf for Mrs. Lyndon Johnson's 'Discover America' luncheon at the White House, designed the dress.

It is a sleeveless shift which flares slightly toward the hemline. A shoulder to skirt edge "H" in front and in back is outlined in white baby rick rack braid.

The designer recommends that the dress be worn with low or medium heel navy blue shoes and white opaque stockings.

★ ★ ★

Priced at $12, the dress may be ordered from the Office of Women's Activities, United Democrats for Humphrey, 1100 Seventeenth Stree, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20006. The dresses will be mailed after May 31.

H-LINE DRESS

Nylon Prices Not Related to Durability

Consumers Union set up a test panel to try out the new inexpensive line of nylons by a nationally advertised manufacturer. The contestants were a higher priced nylon at $1.50 a pair, a 50-cent pair, and a mail-order brand at three pairs for $1.32 plus postage.

All three models fared about the same. Some individual stockings ran as soon as they were put on; others were still going strong after more than 300 hours of wear.

Average test life was 115 hours, or roughly 10 days.

Conclusion: Special color, size, or quality of fit may lead you to choose higher priced nylons, but you're not buying longer wear. If you find a color and size that satisfies in the cheaper model, you can save a considerable number of dollars in a year of runs.

Student Show to Open Soon

The outstanding feature of the exhibition season at Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries is always the Student Summer Show which this year opens on May 31 and will remain up through mid-September.

Students from all eight departments of Cranbrook Academy of Art will be represented in the exhibition. Most of these students will receive their Bachelor of Fine Arts, Master of Fine Arts or Master of Architecture degree on Wednesday.

LARGE

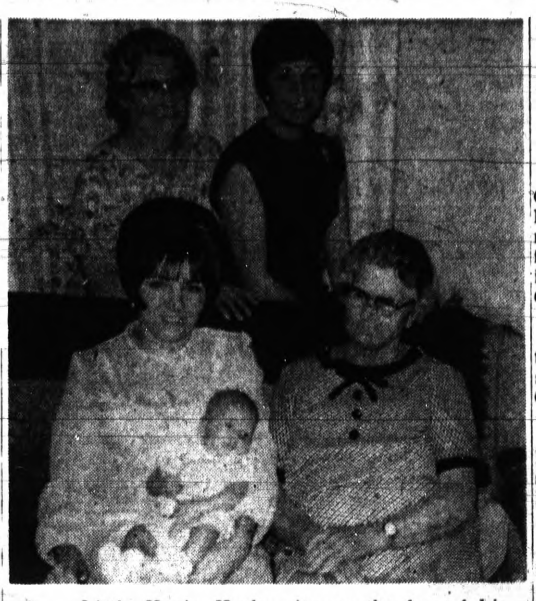

All galleries, both upstairs and downstairs, will be used because of the size of the show.

There are sketches and models of architectural projects; beautifully glazed ceramic pieces; design projects including furniture and paper ornaments, and pieces from the fabric design and fabric decoration departments.

Woodcuts, etchings and prints, drawings and paintings, metalsmithing objects and large and small pieces of sculpture will round out the show.

In the Young People's Art Center Gallery there will be an exhibition of works by the students of the center who range in age from seven through 19.

Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries are located on Lone Pine Road in Bloomfield Hills. Beginning May 31, Galleries hours are from 1 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays, except for major holidays. There is an admission.

Little Kevin Kerby sits on the lap of his mother, Mrs. Donald Kerby of Rochester Road, Avon Township, for this five generation picture. Next to them is great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Carrie Coon of Harrison. Standing in back from left are the baby's great-grandmother, Mrs. Clifford Rumery of Imlay City and his grandmother, Mrs. Harvey Graham of Brookfield Court, Shelby Township.

Missionary Group Elects Officers

New officers were elected Thursday for the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Roy Anderson will serve as president. Other officers are: Mesdames Marvin Compton and Verne Ernst, vice presidents; Kenneth Hetchler, Cecil Martin, Ray Knowles secretaries; Rolland Polley Jr. and Dan Hutchens, treasurer and assistant.

Dr. and Mrs. William McCurry will be tendered a farewell reception June 12 as they return to the Philippines; and on June 23 another farewell is planned for Mr. and Mrs. Richard Broach who will be returning to Quito, Ecuador.

Wedding Vows Are Spoken by Area Couples

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Charles Brown (nee Nancy Louise Fetter) left for a honeymoon in northern Michigan following their wedding recently in St. Benedict's Catholic Church.

★ ★ ★

The couple was attended by the bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Brown Jr.

★ ★ ★

Their parents are the Mark J. Fetters of Home Street and the senior John C. Browns of Preston Street.

CASE-WERTZ

A reception at the VFW Hall in Dearborn followed vows spoken by Nancy Jean Wertz and Steven Russell Case recently in Atonement Lutheran Church, also Dearborn.

ATTENDANTS

Honor attendants for the evening ceremony were Mrs. James R. Case and Kenneth Derbin with Timothy Moore and James Case as ushers.

★ ★ ★

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Wertz of Dearborn and son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Case of Latimer Street will make their home in Detroit.

Independence Is Near for African Area

WASHINGTON — A bright day is dawning in Equatorial Guinea, where breakfast grows on trees. It gains independence later in 1968.

Spain's 10,831-square-mile West African territory, formerly called Spanish Guinea, includes Rio Muni, a segment of jungle mainland; and the islands of Fernando Poo, Annobon, Corisco, and Elobey, the National Geographic Society says.

★ ★ ★

Most of the islands are small — Annobon, 6.6 square miles; Corisco, 5.8; Elobey Grande, 0.9; Elobey Chico, 0.07 — and economically unimportant.

The largest, Fernando Poo or "Nanny Po," as it is known locally, is booming. The 779-square-mile island's high humidity and rich volcanic soil produce some of the world's finest cocoa.

BREAKFAST STAPLES

Spanish and African plantations also specialize in other breakfast staples, such as coffee and bananas.

Green mountains, pocked by craters and cloaked with forests of ebony, mahogany, and oak, rise behind Fernando Poo's narrow coastal plain. More than 70 inches of rain pour down annually on the verdant island.

Three-fifths of Fernando Poo's 61,000 population — 8 per cent Spanish, 20 per cent Bubis tribesmen, 72 per cent Nigerian migrant farmhands — live in Santa Isabel, the attractive harbor capital.

The affluent live in verandaed villas, dress formally for dinner, and send their children to college in Spain. The island's $246 per capita income is the second highest in Africa after South Africa.

Rising Road Toll Paused in 1967

In 1962 highway deaths topped the 40,000 mark. Three years later the figure was 48,500, and in 1966 America's highways were stained with the blood of 52,500 persons.

The skyrocketing figures paused — even dropped a bit in 1967. The year-end ottll stood at 52,500 according to the highway accident booklet released annually by The Travelers Insurance Companies.

Tragedy did not stop with the deaths, but added 3.84 million persons to the 1962 injured list. 4.4 million were injured in 1966 and 4.2 million in 1967 — a reduction of some 200,000.

"The record of 1967 gives us the first appreciable improvement in this respect that has taken place in more than a decade," according to a Travelers spokesman.

SATISFACTION 'QUALIFIED'

"The satisfaction this gives must be qualified, however, for it will require many more years of consistent betterment before we can claim any genuine progress toward the conquest of a stubborn and tragic problem," he added.

Adverse weather was not an important contributing factor in 1962 or 1967. Record show that last year some 80 per cent of the fatal crashes occurred on clear days and dry roads. The remaining 20 per cent occurred in fog, rain and snowy weather.

★ ★ ★

Excessive speed continues to hold top spot in the is of accident causes, with reckless driving and driving on the wrong side of the road taking second and third places respectively. Pedestrians were at fault in many of the fatal accidents, with crossing between intersections being the top killer.

Youthful drivers hold the greatest responsibility on the highway death list. Almost one third of the drivers involved in fatal accidents were under 25 years of age.

Career Day Held for the Handicapped

By DICK ROBINSON

Some 125 Oakland County high school students shifted from classroom to classroom yesterday at a Bloomfield Township school, entering each room for a glimpse into their futures.

It was the first annual career day for public and nonpublic school handicapped students in the county at Marian High School.

★ ★ ★

In one room, employes of a beauty college demonstrated and explained their jobs. In another, adult education officials explained vocational programs.

In all, 50 employers from trade and technical schools in the metropolitan area discussed training opportunities with students and their parents.

NOT LIMITED

"Today there is a need for people with mental abilities rather than physical abilities. Employers need you."

★ ★ ★

Russell advised students to set their goals and then pursue jobs according to their abilities.

About 800 youngsters in Oakland County are mentally or physically handicapped, according to Yvonne Chamberlain of the Royal Oak Ooffice of of the Royal Oak office of Michigan Vocational Rehabilitation.

A big problem is to get employers to hire handicapped students, she relates. Another frustration is that some of the students have aspirations that are too high.

Most of the students who attended the half-day conference sponsored by Oakland Schools are in vocational rebahilitation programs, she said.

The state agency completely pays for training of people who are able to work and have a medical disability that limits their type of employment.

★ ★ ★

Special vocational rehabilitation programs are available for high school students to show them what is available at an early age, she said.

Employers were advised by members of the Governor's Commission on the Employment of the Handicapped and specialists in vocational rehabilitation to hire qualified handicapped students.

Scheduled special guests of honor were Mrs. George Romney and Rev. Roger Arnett, whose career as an athlete was cut short after the loss of a leg.

A Genuine Old-Timer Not Hard to Spot

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There was a time when most men rather resented being called old-timers.

Although the term reflected affectionate esteem, it also implied that one was unduly out of touch with the present and had become, unknowingly, a prisoner of his past.

BOYLE

Today the situation has changed considerably. Youth has been acting up so much lately that a lot of people are prematurely claiming to be old-timers. In the bitter war being waged between the generations, they don't want to be accused of begin on the side of the reckless young.

Naturally someone merely pretending to be an old-timer doesn't deserve the well-earned respect that is due the genuine article. He is merely a human cowbird trying to muscle his way into a nest he never built, a niche where he doesn't belong.

HOW CAN YOU TELL?

How can you tell the phony from the true? Well, a fellow is probably a 24-karat old-timer if:

It wrecks his whole day to come to work and find someone else is using his favorite hanger in the office coat rack.

On the rare sunlit afternoons when he feels like humming a tune, it's likely to be something written by Stephen Foster.

★ ★ ★

He can't understand the continuing popularity of the Beatles — are there five or six of them? —because he is still trying to find out what people see in Elvis Presley.

Whenever inflation and the high cost of living are mentioned, he closes his eyes, points his nose to the ceiling, and begins to bay about how little he paid for a bowl of bean soup in 1931.

SAME BROKEN FAUCET

No matter how many times a day he washes his hands in the office washroom, he always tries to use the same broken faucet, and complains anew that it is high time someone ask the management to have it fixed.

His children never did anything right in their lives, but his grandchildren can do no wrong.

When others reminisce about the days when people actually bought store teeth by mail order, he bares his gums and says proudly, "Mine still fit."

★ ★ ★

Whenever Shirley Temple issues another political statement, he remarks cuttingly, "One of the nicest things about Mary Pickford is that she never ran for Congress."

You may think that Mary Miles Minter is the name of a new mouthwash, but he can tell you just what films she starred in when Charlie Chaplin was in his heyday.

BY INVITATION ONLY

His memory goes so far back he can remember when college students entered a dean's office only by invitation.

He is sure that Jack Dempsey could whip any three of the present crop of heavyweight boxers in six rounds with one hand tied behind his back.

★ ★ ★

He hates to go to movies "recommended for adults only," because they are never about anything but sex. He looks at the late shows on television only in hopes he'll see the late Wallace Beery and the late Marie Dressler, his two all-time favorite performers.

Once he sowed wild oats. Now, in good years, he brags about the back-yard tomatoes he raises.

REASON FOR SPATS

When someone asks why men ever wore spats, he is able to think of a reason.

In his desk drawer he keeps a can of bicarbonate of soda instead of a roll of stomach antacid tablets.

★ ★ ★

When his doctor tactfully suggests he wear a hearing aid, he declines to—on the sound grounds that nobody says anything worth listening to any more.

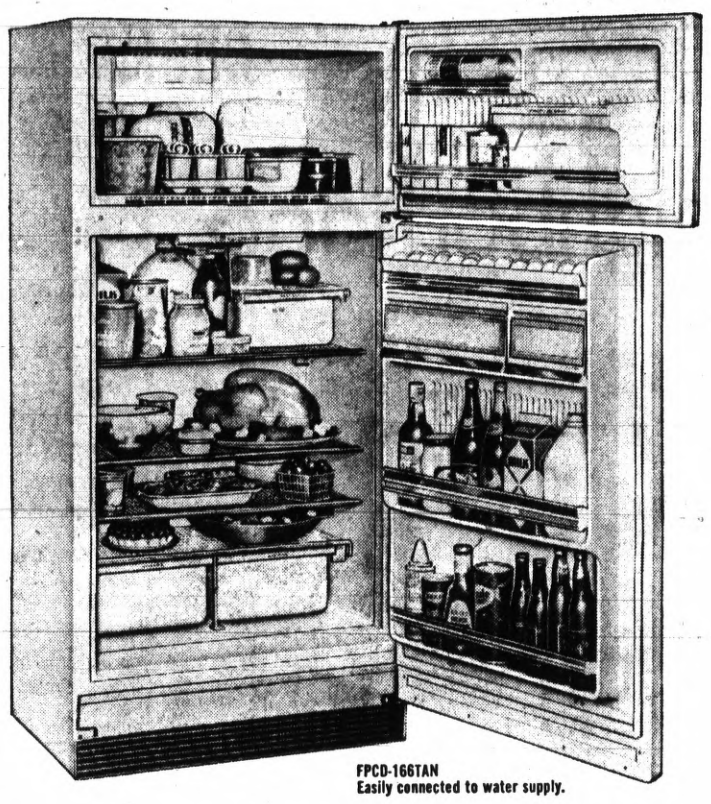

That's a real old-timer! All others are phony.

What Is a Briefcase? A Boy's Pocket Grown Up

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Originally, it was designed to carry legal briefs; thus, briefcase. But, in this fast-paced age of the businessman, it is all things to all people. A catch-all and a carry-all. A symbol and a suitcase. A lunchbox-and something to lose on the 6:11.)

By SID MOODY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

To know the inner man ask not of his analyst, his blood type or whether dogs love him.

Pry, rather, into his briefcase.

There, like bits of bone and pottery in an ancient cave, the true male lies locked away.

★ ★ ★

The briefcase is merely the boy's pocket grown up, a storehouse, a well-bred holster for the fang and claw to carry its owner through the jungle of live.

★ ★ ★

Come with me to Madison Avenue. Meet an account executive who prefers anonymity but permitted a probe of his attache case—$90, genuine leather, Brooks Bros.

BUSINESS ORIENTED

To be sure, its contents were business oriented: a copy of Soap and Chemical Digest, a Wall Street Journal, a TV schedule. Business.

But there also was a registration for a new outboard boat as well as projected population figures for 1980 in East Hampton where he has a summer home.

★ ★ ★

Briefcases are places for dreams.

Consider the briefcase of John Archibald, a vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank. It is pregnant with business reading matter.

READS IN HOPE

"There has been a tremendous proliferation of reading in business," says Archibald, who spends an hour a day reading business reports at home to keep up with developments in industry, foreign trade, tax decisions, in the business schools, in trade magazines. Maybe some day it will come in handy. Maybe never. The busy businessman never knows. He just reads on in hope.

But also in Archibald's briefcase — bought in London, leather "because it lasts longer" — was a deck of cards "in case I get stranded in an airport," an air sickness bag from an airline bearing an old gin rummy score yet to be paid off and a tie clip from a customer "which I don't know what to do with."

Briefcases are for idle hours and idle artifacts.

Carl Tiedemann's briefcase, as is the case with many, is a gift from his wife. "I use it to carry papers back and forth to the office," said Tiedemann, a Wall Street broker. "I may open it only 10 per cent of the time. But I'm always prepared."

Sometimes he packs a tie, razor and clean shirt for overnight trips.

SMALLER TIPS

Briefcases are for avoiding baggage delays at airports and for paying smaller tips to bellhops.

Gavin Spofford, president of the Summit-Elizabeth (N.J.) Trust Co., doesn't carry a briefcase at all. "I only take home what I can carry in my breast pocket. When I go to a meeting out of town, I let an assistant carry the junk."

★ ★ ★

Well, there are exceptions. A Fifth Avenue leather specialty store has a trim attache case in alligator with gold plated clasps for $1,800. Would a man carry a sandwich and thermos in such elegance?

"We never ask what the customer uses it for," said a discreet salesman who nonetheless allowed that his product was also known as a "Madison Avenue lunchbox." Unjustly, perhaps.

The Samsonite luggage people recently surveyed 10,000 men and found only 2 per cent admitted to carrying food in their briefcases. Ten per cent confessed, however, to carrying spirits from time to time.

Briefcases are for nourishment, more or less.

PEEPING TOMS

A lawyer told the survey briefcases are repositories for papers that "people wouldn't want left around the desk for peeping toms to read after hours, including things that should have been handled last week."

Briefcases are for guilty consciences.

★ ★ ★

Colorado stockbroker said he used his briefcase for his credit card wallet since "it's too bulky to carry on my person."

Briefcases are for overflow.

Do they signify the go-getter?

Tiedemann: "There may be a little imagery. You walk out of the office and people think 'There goes a busy man.'"

SYMBOLS

But Spofford, who with most of us has lived to see the man in the gray flannel suit of the '50s hardpressed by the man in the Mao jacket and turtleneck of the '60s: "Certain guys try to make an impression right out of 'How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying.'"

Briefcases are symbols, depending on the beholder.

★ ★ ★

A letter reporting that a business contact could be located care of his guru at Hanuman Temple, Kenchi, PO Bhowali, District Naini Tal, India; directions from a plumber for putting water in the home furnace; "a W-2 form I've been looking for" — this was two weeks after April 15: a picture from a newspaper of Noble Price ridden by Charles Battazar to victory in the first race at Laurel Race Course paying $71.10—"I don't know what that's for"; a bill from Tri-County Floriest of Tappan, N. Y., for 15 red roses — "That's from the last baby . . ." pause . . . "No, it's not. That wss the last anniversary, that's what it was"; and a yellow page torn from a phone book containing a listing of the restaurants in Wilmington, Del.

Archibald once had his pop open while walking between cars on the 7:22, and he had to spend the morning walking up and down the tracks retrieving his homework.

★ ★ ★

And briefcases can be lifesavers.

An ad friend once used iis to fight off two muggers outside a Manhattan jazz joint.

In brief, a briefcase is no more, and no less, than the man who carries it.

Names Picked for Hurricanes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The first hurricane of the year, yet unspawned, was christened Abby on Thursday.

She isn't expected until after June 1 when the hurricane season officially begins, but the weather watchers at Miami's hurricane center decided they would be ready with her name and names for her 22 sisters.

★ ★ ★

Brenda and Candy will follow Abby.

Then will come Dolly, Edna, Frances, Gladys and Hannah, which is as far as the names went last year as Heidi ended the hurricane season off the coast of Ireland.

★ ★ ★

Waiting if needed will be Ingrid, Janet, Katy, Lila, Molly, Nita, Odette and Paula. If those names are waded through, weatherman say batten down for Roxie, Stella, Trudy, Vesta and finally Wesley.

IS A SPARTAN STORE RIGHT FOR MYRTLE HURD?

It's fairly obvious that Myrtle isn't exactly part of the "Jet-set." Quite the contrary. She still thinks the same and dresses the same as she did twenty years ago. Her diet hasn't changed much either. Her groceries include the same twenty or thirty items week after week, and year after year. She never buys any of the hundreds of new and delicious convenience foods that are available today. Nor does she care about being able to select from the widest variety of well-known foods in Michigan, because her shopping list never changes.

Is a Spartan Store right for Myrtle Hurd? Well, that's hard to say. But, if everything that is No about Myrtle, is Yes about you, then a Spartan Store is right for you. If you care about being able to find those new items, if you enjoy being completely unlimited in your selections, if you like to be pampered . . . then you'll be more than satisfied with a Spartan Store. After all . . . "Satisfaction" is why you shop a Spartan Store.

"Shop the store with the SPARTAN on the door."

Job Drive for Unemployed Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Business leaders throughout the country report success in their drive to find steady jobs for the hard-core unemployed.

But the response to their efforts to provide summer work for needy youths is lagging.

Executives of some of the country's biggest corporations are giving their time to spearhead the job-seeking campaign of the National Alliance of Businessmen

President Johnson launched the joint government-industry crusade last January under the leadership of Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co. Sixty-five businessmen were appointed to carry out the program.

PERMANENT JOBS

The goals: permanent jobs for 100,000 hard-core unemployed by the summer of 1969 and for 500,000 by the summer of 1971; temporary jobs for 200,000 poor teen-agers this summer.

An Associated Press survey of NAB activities in 38 major cities across the country showed that many companies are working at training and hiring the unskilled, poorly educated and often dispirited people of the urban slums.

★ ★ ★

"The idea of the National Alliance of Businessmen," said Henry Z. Carter, president of Avondale Shipyards in New Orleans, "is that we get some government help out of this with a contract with the Labor Department to pay us the difference between what one of these fellows costs thus and what he's worth. Still, the individual businessman has control over training him. This is the cheapest way the government could find to do it."

Crawford Johnson III, president of a bottling firm in Birmingham, Ala., said he feels the program will be effective. He said "the welfare programs have done nothing but give us second and third generations of families on welfare. I'm not saying that the people who were in charge of these programs weren't doing their best I'm just saying that the programs as they were conceived haven't worked and we've got to find a better way.

'COULD NOT SURVIVE'

In St. Louis, J. S. McDonnell of McDonnell Douglas Corp. said he "was one of the hardcore unemployed during the Depression. But we must never again have that kind of a situation. We could not survive it. Everyone who wants to work should be trained to do something."

The heads of many companies said private business has a big stake in the nation's social climate and that employment is one of the major answers to the civil disorders that have struck many cities.

★ ★ ★

"The problem is a serious one," said James W. Cook, president of Illinois Bell Telephone Co. and regional NAB chairman. "I don't know precisely how many hard-core unemployed there are in Chicago. The figure you hear most is 50,000.

"Private industry is concerned about these people. Many companies need help. They're looking for people and it's hard to find them. And we're confronted with the situation where we have large numbers of people on welfare rolls. If you can put these people to work, instead of a taxeater you have a taxpayer."

RECEIVED PLEDGES

Cook reported that with about 50 Chicago firms participating in the NAB program he had received pledges for about 6,200 jobs out of a quota of 11,000.

Edward W. Jacobson, vice president of Eastern Air Lines and director of the Metropolitan New York NAB committee, said the program was producing excellent results. He reported commitments for 11,200 adults jobs out of a quota of 18,500.

But only 2,600 adult jobs out of a quota of 18,500.

But only 2,600 pledges of jobs for teen-agers have been received out of the area's quota of 35,700. Jacobson said this was partly due to NAB getting started late on the youth drive and the fact that other agencies are canvassing businesses for summer jobs.

In Detroit, Lloyd Haynes, director of urban affairs for Michigan Bell Telephone Co., said 120 firms in his area contacted by NAB pledged 15,000 jobs for hard-core unemployed and 5,000 additional summer jobs for youths.

Michigan Bell hopes to hire 300 to 400 previously unemployable persons by May 1969 after they have been trained under the Manpower Development and Training Act program. Jobs as long-distance toll operator, directory assistance operator, splicer's helper and switch room helper will pay $80 to $100 a week.

★ ★ ★

The unemployed in Detroit, as well as in most large cities, are mainly Negroes.

"I have held this positon with NAB only five weeks but I am excited and amazed by the progress we have made in this short time," said Howard Edgerton, chairman of California Federal Savings in Los Angeles.

'ENTHUSIASTIC'

He added, "we have contacted 3,000 employers in Los Angeles in our effort to obtain 14,200 pledges for jobs by September. The businessmen we have contacted are extremely enthusiastic about the program so we are optimistic."

A. H. Sterne, president of the Trust Co. of Georgia in Atlanta, said his firm has pledged to hire 40 persons.

"We're recruiting in places we've never recruited before; to wit, Negro high schools," he added. "We'll make some job offers this week and hopefully by time school's out we'll have these people coming to work for us.

"We are talking about entry-level jobs. The entry level with this company is $1.60 an hour, the minimum wage. We may employ some of these people to clean the building. If they want to and will, the difference in this and what might have gone on before is that we have an understanding with that person and with ourselves that while he's mopping floors or doing whatever he's doing, he's being trained for something better. It's not a dead-end job."

SHORT OF GOAL

The drive for summer jobs in San Francisco was running far short of its goal of 7,500.

"We smimply must do better," said Mayor Joseph Alioto, announcing an intensive three-week drive. "Oakland across the bay has something like 8,000 summer jobs from its private sector and we have only 1,117 so far."

Milwaukee reported it was well on its way to meeting a goal of 1,100 jobs for hard-core unemployed but its campaign to find 3,400 summer jobs for youths was languishing.

In some cities, the "buddy" system has been adopted in which an experienced employe is paired with a recruit to counsel him not only on work practices but personal affairs.

★ ★ ★

"The big job is getting these folks to stay on the job," said William S. Parry of the Akron Welding & Spring Co. of Akron, Ohio. "Some of these folks just don't know what it is to get up in the morning and go to work. We need counselors to work with them . . . . to stick with them."

The federal government has funds available to pay for training but many businessmen in the NAB program want to do it themselves.

★ ★ ★

"We don't need any more government help," said Henry C. Hofheimer II, president of Southern Materials Co. of Norfolk, Va. "Let the government leave business alone and minimize the red tape."

Every Olds is a step-up car—even when it's in the low-price range.

Sure, you knew Olds is a step-up car—to everybody but your rich uncle.

But we'll bet you didn't know Olds step-ups start down where most of the so-called low-priced cars are found.

That's our problem. Too few people know how modest Olds prices are. Fact is, they start at $2512—and we have 16 Olds models under $3000. (There are at least that many so-called low-priced cars priced over $3000.)

Our point is, if you'd like to step up a little from what you're driving now—we've got an Olds for what you are willing to spend.

Echo I Satellite Falls to Death After Nearly 8 Years in Orbit

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Echo I, the balloon satellite that has offered a nightly show to millions around the world since its launching nearly eight years ago, fell to a fiery death last night off the West Coast of South America, the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) said.

A spokesman said NORAD, which has been tracking Echo I in its dying days, had received no reports of sightings of the plunge. He estimated the time of decay at 7:47 p.m. EDT although computers and sensors could not verify it here until midnight.

Launched from Cape Kennedy Aug. 12, 1960, Echo I has logged 36,000 orbits and some one billion miles of space travel. It received and relayed teletype messages, telephone conversations and pictures and provided a legacy of scientific discovery.

The satellite was done in by the gentle sunlight that made it shine brighter than most stars. Sunlight pressure finally pushed it close enough to the earth's atmosphere for gravity to take hold and tug it out of orbit.

VISIBLE EVIDENCE

Echo's death was not as spectacular as its beginning. That was Aug. 12, 1960, when it blasted away from what was then Cape Canaveral, inflated to a 100-foot diameter and became the first visible evidence to the world of America's budding progress in space exploration.

At the time of its death, the once-round balloon had been reduced to less than half its original size and its misshapen skin wrinkled like a prune.

It had been battered by space dust, radiation particles and meteoroids and has lost most of the benzoic acid and anthraquinone inflating gas that made it firm and circular.

Nevertheless, Echo I had far outlived even the most optimistic predictions. Because of its size, scientists originally figured it would succumb to atmospheric drag and reenter the atmosphere after anywhere from a month to a year. But it had been soaring around the earth nearly eight years.

The satellite became a sensational favorite with people around the world. Sunlight reflecting off its tissue-thin, aluminum-coated surface made it plainly visible at night.

LAUNCHED AS EXPERIMENT

Echo I was launched as an experiment, to determine if a so-called passive satellite could be effective as a communications relay station. As such, it was a huge hollow space mirror, reflecting back to earth radio signals striking it. The only devices aboard were two wafer-size radio beacons used for tracking the satellite.

The balloon successfully received and bounced back earth telephone conversations and radio and teletype messages, telephone conversations and pictures. But the two Echo spheres have demonstrated that much of the radio energy that falls upon them is scattered into space and only a part of it comes back to a receiver on earth.

Echo I leaves a legacy of scientific discovery.

Included were the first definitive measurements of solar radiation pressure at an altitude of about 1,000 miles, a finding which contributed to better understanding of the effects of solar flares on weather, communications interference and other matters on earth.

The satellite also provided the first firm findings about the density of radiation particles at such altitudes, a help in designing later spacecraft.

HELD SHAPE

The fact that the sphere held its shape so long showed that meteoroids were not as numerous as anticipated, and demonstrated also the durability of even the thinnest materials in space.

Whenever a large solar flare erupted on the sun, the great amount of resulting radiation flowing through space substantially altered Echo I's orbit, sometimes by several miles.

The slight pressure of the sun's radiation — on flare-free days less than a fly's weight — gradually had pushed Echo I's orbit from a low point of 958 miles down to 460 miles, placing the satellite at deaths' door.

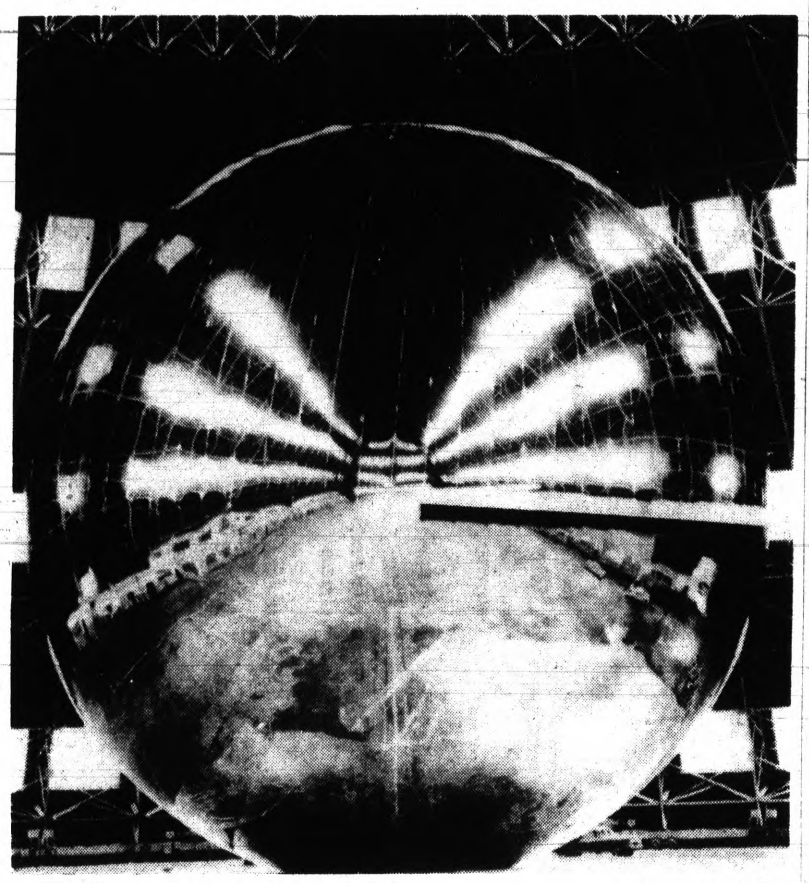

Police to Rescue in N.Y. Town as Drivers See Red

NEW HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) — The traffic light at an intersection in this Long Island community locked in a set position Thursday, showing red on all four sides.

Motorists halted. Horns honked. Traffic backed up in each direction.

After several minutes, a police patrol car sped up. An officer jumped out, walked up to a control box and gave it a good, hard pounding with the side of his fist.

The light changed, and traffic moved again.

Probers Hunt Clues in Copter Wreckage

PARAMOUNT, Calif. (AP) — Federal officials pressed a search today in a cow pasture, in the Los Angeles County morgue and elsewhere for the cause of the worst helicopter crash in U.S. history.

All 23 persons aboard the single-rotor commuter helicopter returning to Los Angeles International Airport from Disneyland were killed in the crash Wednesday evening. They included nine Ohioans on vacation and two prominent Californians.

★ ★ ★

The county board of supervisors urged the Federal Aviation Agency to ground all of the firm's Sikorsky S61 helicopters until the cause of the crash was determined.

PROBE TEAM

A spokesman for an eight-man team of National Transportation Safety Board experts, sent from Washington, D.C., to investigate the disaster, said the FAA could issue a grounding order but rarely does.

The bodies of the 20 passengers and three crewmen were found in or near the charred wreckage in a cow pasture near a busy intersection of Paramount, halfway on the 32-mile hop from Disneyland to the airport.

★ ★ ★

The dead included Mayor John R. Trainor, 46, of Red Bluff, Calif.; Dr. Arden K. Ruddell, 43, professor of education at the University of California at Berkeley; and Morris Kromfeld, a New York investment banker from West Englewood, N.J.

Nine relatives of Mrs. Jack Garner of Columbus, Ohio, also were aboard. They were nearing the end of a vacation.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the FAA investigators said 60 to 70 witnesses are being interviewed, including about 10 police and firemen.

Investigations are scheduled to continue at the site of the crash until an accurate picture of the crash and the scattering of debris is formed.

A rotor blade broke away from the big craft before it fell. The possibility that this caused the crash was being studied.

★ ★ ★

The wreckage is being moved to a hangar at Los Angeles International Airport and the craft will be reconstructed "like a giant, three-dimensional jigsaw puzzle" on a chicken-wire frame, the FAA spokesman said.

PARTS HUNTED

Residents of the Paramount area were being urged to turn in any pieces found at the crash site.

"It sounds very melodramatic," the FAA spokesman said, "but it is very possible that some dungaree-clad teen-ager will come sidling up to the ropes there today or tomorrow with a piece of wreckage that will provide the clue to the whole accident."

Cavanagh Rips Budget Votes by 'Negative' Council

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh Thursday said the refusal to raise property taxes "a strange and willful coalition" in the Detroit Common Council is guaranteed to produce a deficit and "an inability to meet the city's basic obligations."

The council voted 18 straight times Tuesday to override Cavanagh vetoes of changes it previously had made in his $460 million budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"I am sorry the council ganged up to defeat police reorganization, low cost housing, salary adjustments, more policemen and other vital needs of the city to create an almost catastrophic financial situation," Cavanagh said in a prepared statement.

"I expected help from the elected officials of the city but got nothing but a negative and obstructionist policy toward the accomplishment of the difficult tasks ahead.

★ ★ ★

"Indeed it was a strange coalition which worked and schemed to bring about this situation," he added, saying: "One councilman voted against the council's budget and then with characteristic consistency voted against my vetoes.

★ ★ ★

"Another had to be publicly coached and drilled to understand that a 'yes' vote was vote upheld the vetoes. A third, unavoidably absent from budget sessions, was subjected to midnight cram sessions to get the council's point of view."

★ ★ ★

Cavanagh said: "I would say that the judgment of this negative group was less than objective, in fact, it was vindicitive, personal and imprudent."

What Happened Yesterday in the State Capital

By The Associated Press

THE GOVERNOR

Said he had permitted a bill allowing schools to each sex education to become law without his signature.

Was asked by Senate leaders to veto a bill — passed by both Houses — that would exempt lawmakers from Lansing's new city income tax.

Appointed 15 people to a newly created commission charged with recommending means of better combatting the problems of juvenile delinquency.

THE SENATE

Sent to the governor:

SB816, SB 1110, Demaso. Permit auto dealers to junk abandoned motor vehicles.

Passed:

x-HB3466, Anderson. Create insurance pool to write policies on high-risk properties.

HB3585, Spencer. Permit state income tax reductions for contributions to colleges and universities.

Rejected:

A House proposal to cut the salary grant to the widow of the late Sen. Harold Volkema, R-Holland.

A proposed amendment to require reflectorized license plates by 1970.

A proposed $500,000 grant to the health department for kidney research, cutting it to $200,000.

THE HOUSE

Passed:

SB445, Toepp. Exempt from taxation gasoline for vehicles used in transportation of students of nonprofit private and denominational schools and colleges.

x-SB896, Zollar. Permit counties and townships to contract for ambulance services.

x-SB1375, Rockwell. Permit county and regional parks and recreation commissions, with county supervisor approval, to adopt rules enforcable as misdemeanors.

SB818, Dzendzel. Provide for regulation and inspection of nonreligious cemeteries.

Almost $800,000 worth of clay from England was imported by china makers in the Trenton, N.J., area.

Most Delegates Uncommitted

State GOP Still Torn

LANSING (AP) — Despite Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's favorable impression, most Michigan delegates to the Republican National Convention say they are undecided about the presidential contenders.

An Associated Press poll, however, indicated that Rockefeller has a slight lead over Richard M. Nixon among those candidates who say they have made up their minds.

The majority of the 48-member delegation has agreed to support Gov. George Romney as a favorite son on the first ballot even though it is not legally binding. Romney, the delegation's chairman, has said he will attempt to keep the delegation uncommitted to maintain its bargaining position.

Of the 39 delegates contacted Thursday—one day after Rockefeller's appearance before the group—five said they definitely would vote for the New York governor when Romney released the delegation. Two others said they leaned to Rockefeller.

TWO SOLID VOTES

By comparison, Nixon received only two solid votes, but three delegates said they leaned toward him.

★ ★ ★

Several delegates expressed interest in Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, but only one said he leaned toward Reagan. No delegate said he was committed to him.

Twety-five of the delegates said they were uncommitted.

Efforts to contact the remaining nine delegates were unsuccessful.

THREATEN TO BOLT

In addition, six delegates threatened to bolt the first ballot favorite son candidacy of Romney. None of the six expressed a preference, saying only they wavered between Reagan and Nixon.

One delegate refused to say whether he would support Romney on the first ballot or whether he had decided which candidate to support.

Rockefeller's appearance before the delegation this week was done in an attempt to permit the delegates to learn how the candidate stands on various campaign issues.

★ ★ ★

The New York governor was the first of the top Republican presidential candidates to appear before the body. Most delegates said after the private meeting that Rockefeller's performance was very impressive.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Nixon will discuss campaign issues with the delegation behind closed doors June 7 in Lansing. Many uncommitted delegates said they would wait for the former vice president's appearance before deciding which candidate to support.

Reagan, who has not publicly declared his candidacy, has not been scheduled to address the Michigan delegation. He is not expected to be invited until he would announce his candidacy.

Following the meeting with Rockefeller, Romney said the majority of the delegation would support him. But the governor added that he might release the delegates before the first ballot. On the other hand, he added, he might attempt to retain his favorite son status through several ballots.

Court Referee New Wayne County Sheriff

DETROIT (AP) — Roman Gribbs, a Traffic Court referee, has been named Wayne County sheriff, succeeding Peter L. Buback, who retired, Prosecutor William Cahalan announced Thursday.

He served in the prosecutor's office for several years.

★ ★ ★

Gribbs was appointed by a three-member panel composed of Cahalan, County Clerk Edward Branigan and Probate Court Judge Frank Semanski.

★ ★ ★

The appointee will serve the remainder of Buback's unexpired term, which expires at the end of this year. Buback resigned after months of wrangling over charges that a ticket-fixing scheme had existed in the department.

Five deputies originally made the claim that such an operation existed, and Gribbs told a news conference Thursday that he would "look into all that."

★ ★ ★

He also said that he had decided to seek election to a full term. Buback, some deputies have reported, also plans to seek election to the post again.

Taxpayers Panel to Study Right to Spending Voice

The Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers Association will sponsor a panel discussion Tuesday to explore the county board of supervisors' obligations to taxpayers in the spending of public funds.

The organization has long advocated that voters be given a voice where large sums of money are involved in acquiring property and the construction of major buildings.

The panelists include State Sen. Robert J. Huber, R-Troy; Richard D. Kuhn, a Pontiac attorney; Monte Geralds, a Madison Heights supervisor; and James Seeterlin, county treasurer.

The program will be held in the supervisors' auditorium at the county courthouse at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is open to the public.

Coast Guard Aids Stranded Auto

COOS BAY, Ore. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Marino of Medford, Ore., couldn't get their car going, and it took two Coast Guard ships, a tugboat and a log puller to get them back on the road.

The Marinos were driving their amphibious car on Coos Bay last week when it got stuck on a mud flat. The boats pulled it free, and the Marinos putt-putted across the bay, up a boat ramp and onto the highway.

Corn Shifts on Truck, $175,000 Damage, Driver Hurt

DETROIT (AP) — A sudden shift in a truck load of fresh sweet corn caused $175,000 in damage, and shock, a broken leg and five hours of suspense to a Dearborn truck driver Thursday night.

Joseph Koscielniak, 37, was hospitalized in Detroit General Hospital after spending five hours in the best seat at his own crisis, which attracted dozens of onlookers.

★ ★ ★

He was hauling eight tons of crated, fresh sweet corn from a terminal in Detroit across town to a warehouse, when a shift in the load, caused by centrifugal force, threw the tractor-trailer against a guard-rail on a 35-foot-high overpass. It hovered awkwardly on the railing of the overpass that connects the traffic-busy Chrysler and Ford Freeways.

Looking down from the driver's seat in the cab which had lost its left door and the windshield, Koscielniak could see the debris of his cargo, piled 15 feet high in the street below.

An off-duty Detroit policeman, Richard Viecelli, 37, who arrived within minutes of the crash, stayed in the overturned cab, until Koscielniak's leg was freed, five hours later.

Fireman Frank Jorden, 47, a ladder truck sergeant who worked under the precariously-balanced truck, said the mangled undercarriage jammed the trucker's leg under the seat. Efforts to pull the truck from the railing were hampered by fear of disturbing the awkward balance and of severing Koscielniak's leg.

Prof Gets Grant

ADRIAN (AP) — Richard Goolian, an assistant professor at the Adrian College Department of Music, is one of six American music students awarded an eight-week grant by the French government. Goolian will study this summer with pianist Robert Casadesus and his son, Jean, near Paris.

Building Names OK'd

LANSING (UPI) — At long last, a raging controversy over whom to honor in naming two new state office buildings just west of Michigan's capitol is just about settled.

Passed in the House of Representatives Thursday, 80-13, was a Senate-approved bill that now needs only Gov. George Romney's signature.

"Upon completion," the bill says, "the Department of State Highways building in the capitol complex, Lansing, Michigan, shall be designated and known as the 'State Highways Building' and the building occupied by the State Treasury Department shall be designated and known as the 'State Treasury Building.'.

U.S. Involvement in Viet: How It Grew and Grew

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

If U.S.-North Vietnamese contacts bring negotiations leading to peace, it will be the first peace Vietnam has known in a quarter century. In that time U.S. involvement progressed from tenuous American links with Vietnam to a U.S. commitment of a mighty army and the deaths of 22,000 Americans.

The American entanglement can be dated to World War II when a revolutionary named Ho Chi Minh was in China forming his League for Independence of Vietnam, called Vietminh.

Vietnam, made up of Tonkin, Annam and Cochin China, was part of the French colony of Indochina, also embracing Laos and Cambodia. Overrun by the Japanese, it was then administered by the Vichy government of occupied France.

Americans helped train Ho and his guerrillas and sent them into Tonkin from China to harass the Japanese. If the Americans were aware of Ho's background as a confounder of the Chinese Communist party and a Communist International agent, they probably felt his usefulness against the Japanese would outweigh his past.

PROMISES FORGOTTEN

With World War II ended, the West forgot promises of self-determination. Gen. Charles de Gaulle, in power in newly liberated France, quickly sent troops to Indochina to reassert the French colonial claim. At Potsdam the United States, Russia and Britain decided the British would occupy South Vietnam.

Ho Chi Minh had been entrenching himself in the North, but in the South the French installed Bao Dai, a pliant emperor, at the head of a supposedly autonomous Vietnam. In the South, also, the British systematically turned over authority to the returning French, enraging Vietnamese intellectuals.

★ ★ ★

In September 1945, Ho issued a declaration of independence. He began bargaining with the French for independence and France promised it. But Ho also began to feel that the French were reneging on their promises.

WAR BEGINS IN EARNEST

There was no extraordinary alarm about this in the United States until after the Communists seized China in 1949. Seeing a threat of Communist envelopment of Southeast Asia, the United States recognized the Bao Dai regime and sent a Military Assistance Advisory Group to help the French. Under President Harry S. Truman, it was a modest beginning: an outlay of $25 million for 1950-51.

★ ★ ★

Then came the Korean War and American aid was stepped up in Vietnam. By 1954, under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, the United States had invested $2.6 billion. And Communist China was shipping military supplies across the border to the Vietminh in Tonkin.

The end of the Korean War brought an international conference in Geneva in 1954. While the deliberations went on, Vietminh Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap delivered his coup de grace to the French at Dien Bien Phu.

DIEM EMERGES

The Geneva negotiations brought a cease-fire July 20 and partition of Vietnam. A final declaration spoke of all-Vietnam elections in 1956, but neither the Americans nor South Vietnamese signed it. Emperor Bao Dai called Ngo Dinh Diem to be his premier, and Diem soon reduced the emperor to a figurehead.

Thereafter the story of American involvement developed like this:

Diem, backed by U.S. dollar aid, arranged a plebiscite which permitted him to throw out the emperor and proclaim a republic with himself as president, and to move against the forces of chaos and corruption, including the armed forces of several religious sects. At that time there were just 300 U.S. military advisers in South Vietnam.

1956

There were no elections. The last of the French military left. The Vietminh, who had laid low in the South after the partition, limited themselves to stab attacks and sporadic terror while they patiently built their organization.

1957-59

By this time there were 692 U.S. military advisers in South Vietnam. Armed guerrillas were infiltrating from North to South, many of them southerners who had gone North after the partition. They began taking over outpost after outpost.

1960-61

The Lao Dong (Communist) party in the North called for full revolt in the South and proposed formation of a "National Liberation Front" in the South. This was done by the end of 1960, and it became the political arm of the guerrillas, whom Diem dubbed "Vietcong," short for Vietnamese Communist. The guerrillas were deeply entrenched in the rich Mekong Delta rice area, acting like a government, taxing, administering, propagandizing, recruiting and executing any who collaborated with the Saigon government.

★ ★ ★

In 1961 came the first American death toll: 11 Americans killed.

1962

Alarmed by Communist pressure on the borders of Thailand from Laos, President Kennedy stepped up military aid to South Vietnam to 4,000 advisers early in the year. The figure reached 8,000 by May and 10,000 by October. The Southeast Asia situation was so alarming that it brought about a new Geneva conference, this time on Laos, supposed to guarantee that nation's neutrality. Laos was threatened by a Pathet Lao—Communist-led — insurrection aided by North Vietnam and the Chinese Communists. In 1962, 31 Americans died in Vietnam.

1963

President Diem, influenced by his brother, Nhu, and Nhu's wife, carried out harsh measures against any opposition. Diem ran into a Buddhist rebellion in May, which marked the beginning of his end.

★ ★ ★

In November, Diem and his brother died in a coup d'etat. A new military regime took over Saigon. By the end of 1963, there were 16,500 U.S. military advisers in South Vietnam: that year 78 Americans died.

1964

By midyear, under President Johnson, the number of U.S. military advisers jumped to 21,500 as the Vietcong stepped up pressure. Then came the Tonkin Gulf incident. Washington announced that North Vietnamese torpedo boats had attacked U.S. warships in the gulf.

★ ★ ★

Congress adopted the resolution. The way was open for air strikes against North Vietnam. By the end of 1964 there were 23,000 "adviser" troops in Vietnam and American deaths brought the total since 1961 to 267.

1965

In February, Vietcong in the South hit Pleiku, killing eight Americans and wounding 126.

An angered President Johnson authorized a U.S. air raid on Dong Hoi in North Vietnam.

The war intensified. To save a deteriorating situation, American troops were authorized for combat.

By the end of March, U.S. troops in Vietnam totaled 27,000 and by December, 200,000. American casualties rose to 1,369 killed, 6,114 wounded.

A series of peace probes got nowhere. At midyear, the first U.S. bombs hit the Hanoi and Haiphong areas. By August there were 300,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam; by year's end, 400,000. U.S. casualties stood at 5,008 killed, 30,093 wounded.

1967

Despite a declared truce for Tet, the lunar new year, 177 clashes occurred, costing the lives of 20 Americans and 101 enemy. In the spring, U.S. bombers began using bases in Thailand for bombing Vietnam targets.

The demilitarized zone dividing the two Vietnams became a battleground. At midyear there were 450,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam. In the United States, opposition to the war was rising. The year ended with total U.S. casualties from 1961 at 15,812 dead, 99,305 wounded.

As the year began, excitement had been generated by a change in the syntax of the Hanoi stand. Now Hanoi was saying that an end to acts of war against the North "will" lead to talks, rather than "could." But the war became even fiercer. On Jan. 20, North Vietnam began a 71-day siege of 6,000 U.S. Marines at Khe Sanh.

★ ★ ★

There were 511,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam by the end of January. A holiday truce was supposed to be in effect, and half the South Vietnam armed forces were on Tet leave.

★ ★ ★

Suddenly the Communist-led forces launched their greatest offensive so far, with attacks on major population centers all over South Vietnam. Troops were pulled back from rural areas to protect urban centers. The "revolutionary development" program of pacification went down the drain.

More than 200,000 were made homeless around the nation.

Gen. Giap, architect of the Dien Bien Phu battle, declared that "the fiercest phase" of the war had begun. But the Communists, by American accounts, had lost 50,000 dead and huge amounts of equipment in their major effort; if, as advertised, they expected a popular uprising to follow the attacks, the offensive failed. On March 10, U.S. and allied troops began a counteroffensive. Meanwhile, President Johnson announced the U.S. commander, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, would become Army chief of staff. Later Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, his deputy, was named to sumcceed Westmoreland.

★ ★ ★

On March 31, President Johnson dramatically announced a partial halt in the bombing of North Vietnam, coupling this with his renunciation of reelection. On April 3, North Vietnam offered to talk about possible negotiations.

By early April, U.S. casualties for the period since 1961 stood a 21,054 killed and 132,058 wounded. This was 16,000 more casualties than the United States sustained in all of the Korean War.

Between 1954 and 1968, the cost of U.S. involvement in Vietnam rose from a rate of $1 billion annually to a rate of $30 billion or more a year.

GLOBAL TROUBLE SPOTS

Although the fighting in Vietnam dominates the headlines, there are wars or rumors of wars in many other areas around the world. Map shows explosions where civil strife or border incidents have erupted in sustained conflict and sputtering bombs where the situation is a smoldering powder keg.

Pro Football Vets Threatening Strike

Owners to Air Their Rebuttal at NFL Confab

NEW YORK (AP) — Faced with a "no contract, no football" threat from their veteran players, National Football League clubowners were to present their side of the economic picture at a news conference today.

The NFL Players' Association broke off negotiations Thursday after a meeting in which the owners refused to budge on any of the players' economic demands.

Dan Shulman, the players' lawyer, said a policy of NFL clubs not signing veterans until the current negotiations are over was "in effect, a lockout.

NO POSITIONS

"There are certain positions open to us," he said. "We have to go back to the membership and sak if they are ready to take action. If they continue not signing veterans there just won't be any football.

"If they do sign veterans, then we are in the position of going back to the players and having them tell us what to do. If we get no contracts we have no choice. No football!"

Shulman listed some of the players' alternatives—not showing up for training camp, showing up for camp and then leaving, not playing exhibition games, not playing regular season games.

A league spokesman said it was "not true that there is a concerted movement" not to sign veteran players. He said many veterans have already signed, including some of the 16 player representatives who met with the owners.

A player does not have to be under contract until the regular season begins but the club must notify each player by May 1 if they intend to pick up his option — that is, make him their property for another year.

PLAYERS' DEMAND

The players are asking $500 a game for preseason contests, a $5 million annual payment to their pension fund and a $15,000 minimum salary.

Shulman and John Gordy of the Detroit Lions, president of the players' association, said the owners agreed to $10,000 but added this would not cost the clubs any money since most players now get at least $10,000.

★ ★ ★

Gordy called Thursday's meeting "a sad day for football." He reiterated that no strike vote had been taken and said the players' position was negotiable.

"We are ready, willing and able to meet any time they make an offer on economic items," Shulman said. "We don't intend to stand pat."

Gordy said the owners had submitted "uncertified and unaudited" financial statements that "are meaningless to us." He said the owners "admit to $600,000 (per club) net profit before taxes. It seems to us this should be a great deal higher."

PCH, Skippers Favorites

Prep Links Tourney Today

A rematch for two local rivals was interwoven into the Pontiac Press High-School Invitational as a field of 25, four-man teams teed off this morning at Pontiac Country Club.

Among the favorites in the 17th annual edition of the tournament were Pontiac Central's Chiefs and the Skippers of Waterford, who went head-to-head in a dual match yesterday with the Skippers winning, 199-200.

NO RUNAWAY

With those two ready for the 18-hole action today, it appeared unlikely that any of the 25 teams could run away with the title.

Also among the contenders for over-all honors were Walled Lake, Milford and Southfield.

★ ★ ★

A surprise entry could be Clarkston, who made off with the Wayne-Oakland League championship yesterday at Burroughs Farms near Brighton.

★ ★ ★

In winning, Clarkston (317) beat five of the teams that will be in the tourney today — Milford (323), Bloomfield Hills Andover (327), Northville (334), West Bloomfield (357) and Holly 366).

TOP PLAYERS

Along with that team battle Waterford and Pontiac Central have a couple of performers who'll be battling each other for medalist honors.

★ ★ ★

The Skippers' Rod Skelton picked up an eagle and three birdies en route to a one-under-par 35 yesterday, while PCH ace Gary Balliet carded an even-par 36 over the PCC course which will play at 6,305 yards, par-72 today.

★ ★ ★

They're two of a handful picked to battle for the medal title, and both have a good shot at the tournament record 70 held by two players — Ron Holden (1964) of Bloomfield Hills Andover and Russ Streeter (1966) of Walled Lake.

★ ★ ★

Defending champion in the tournament is Kettering, but the Captains do not appear to have the over-all depth to stay with Waterford or Central.

MAY CHALLENGE

Clarkston's sudden rise could spell trouble for the favorites. Three of the Wolves carded rounds in the 70s yesterday while they were taking the loop crown. Marty Brown posted a 77, Lyle Walter a 79 and Jim Navarre 79.

★ ★ ★

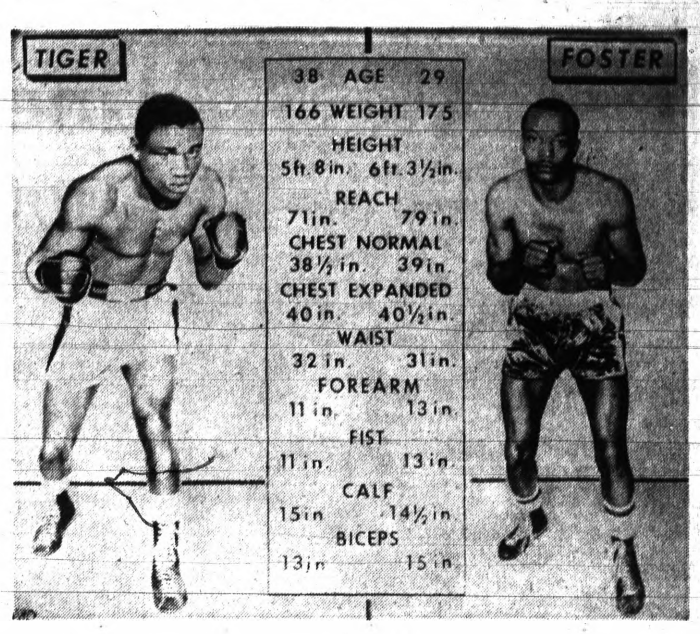

Rain was forecast as the players stepped onto the tee this morning, but the presence of the sun and a clear sky indicated the weatherman may have missed his mark.

Bloomfield Hills Andover, winner of five Press championships, also appeared out of the running. The Barons, like Kettering, haven't shown the balance needed for tournament competition.

Pontiac Central and Waterford have won the event once apiece. The Chiefs took the first one, back in 1952, while Waterford posted its victory in 1956.

★ ★ ★

Walled Lake has won twice — 1960 and 1963 — and the Vikings, who finished ahead of both Central and Waterford in the regional last week, will have to be reckoned with today.

Tiger Defends Crown Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Light heavyweight champions Dick Tiger spots towering Bob Foster age, height, weight and reach but not in heart tonight when they clash in a 15-round title fight at Madison Square Garden.

Foster's physical advantages and his punching power have combined to make the 29-year-old challenger from Washington, a 12-5 favorite over the 38-year-old defender from the Republic of Bafra. The odds could go down by fight time.

★ ★ ★

The bout is scheduled for 9:30 p.m., EDT. It will be telecast in some areas of the nation by Sports Network. New York will be blacked out of the telecast.

BIG GATE

The Garden hopes for a crowd of 15,000 and a gate of $150,000 which would get both Foster and the promotion off the financial hook. Foster has taken 60 per cent of the net gate and television and guaranteed Tiger $100,000 out of his percentage.

He may wind up fighting for nothing.

Date—Friday, May 24.

Radio—None.
Estimated crowd—12,000.
Estimated gate—$125,000.
Ticket prices—$5, $10, $15, $20, $25.
Fighters purses—Tiger guaranteed $100,000 by Foster; Foster will get 60 per cent of the net gate.
Fighters' records—Tiger, 58-15-3, 26 knockouts, never stopped; Foster, 29-4, 23 knockouts, stopped twice.
Scoring—Rounds system by referee and two judges, who will be named at fight time.

Pappin Now Black Hawk

Maple Leafs Acquire Pilote

TORONTO (AP) — The goal-hungry Toronto Maple Leafs added more age to their already ancient but efficient defense corps Thursday by obtaining veteran all-star Pierre Pilote from the Chicago Black Hawks in a surprising National Hockey League trade.

To obtain the 36-year-old Pilote, Toronto gave up right wing Jim Pappin, 28, who has played with the Leafs for parts of five seasons and was one of the stars of their 1967 Stanley Cup victory.

LONGTIME ALL-STAR

Pilote was named to the first All-Star team five times and to the second team three times in his 13 NHL seasons.

He won the Norris Trophy as the best defenseman in the league in 1963, 1964 and 1965.

Pilote joins Toronto defensemen Allan Stanley, 42, Tim Horton, 38, and Marcel Pronovost, who will be 38 next month. Goalie Johnny Bower is 43.

The Leafs slumped from their Stanley Cup triumph to fifth place in the NHL's East Division and missed the playoffs for the first time in 10 years. They allowed only 176 goals, second best in the entire league, but scored only 209, lowest in the East.

★ ★ ★

"Any time I can get my hands on an All-Star, I'm happy," said Punch Imlach, Toronto's general manager-coach, shrugging off Pilote's subpar 1967-68 campaign.

TOP CALIBER

"You don't judge a player of Pilote's caliber on the basis of one season. The fact they booed him might be a plus for me. He's got pride. He'll want to show a few people.

★ ★ ★

"He still got more points one goal, 36 assists than any defenseman on my team last season. He was good enough to get on the second All-Star team at mid-season.

"The change might give his glands an extra go. He knows that with us his age won't be any problem.

FORGET AGE

"We throw birth certificates in the waste basket. If I can get three more years out of Pilote I'll be happy."

Pappin scored 21 goals for the Leafs in 1966-67 and was the playoff scoring leader with seven goals and eight assists in 12 games. Last season, however, he went into a slump and was suspended by Imlach when he refused to report to Rochester of the American Hockey League.

★ ★ ★

Tommy Ivan, general manager of the Black Hawks, said the club was reluctant to trade Pilote, the team captain, but added, "We needed young forwards more than defensemen."

Fritz Crisler Award Winner

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — H. O. "Fritz" Crisler, retiring Michigan athletic director, was named winner Thursday of the second James J. Corbett Memorial Award.

The award, based on outstanding achievements in collegiate athletics, was announced by Mike Cleary, executive director of the sponsoring National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

★ ★ ★

The award is named after the late James J. Corbett, former athletic director at Louisiana State and first NACDA president.

FIRST WINNER

★ ★ ★

Crisler, who retires from Michigan June 30, was a winning football coach 17 years at Minnesota, Princeton and Michigan.

★ ★ ★

UCLA Cager Is Booked

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lucius Allen, star guard for UCLA's national championship basketball team, was booked with four friends Thursday night on charges of possession of marijuana, police said.

Cardenal Spark in Tribe Threat to Tigers' Lead

ANAHEIM (AP) — When Jose Cardenal played for the California Angels, Manager Bill Rigney would occasionally let him take the lineup card to home plate on the theory that the honor would strike a spark in the temperamental little Cuban outfielder.

Now that Cardenal is with Cleveland, after a trade last winter, Indians' Manager Alvin Dark has gone Rigney one better. Thursday night, he let Cardenal make out the Cleveland lineup card and deliver it to home plate prior to the Indians' 9-2 win.

"Alvin is the best manager in baseball," said Cardenal after lifting his season average to .253 — 17 points higher than his 1967 average for the Angels.

Cardenal said he holds no grudge against the Angels, but added:

"I'm not made at Rigney. But I don't speak to him and he doesn't speak to me. I should still be playing here."

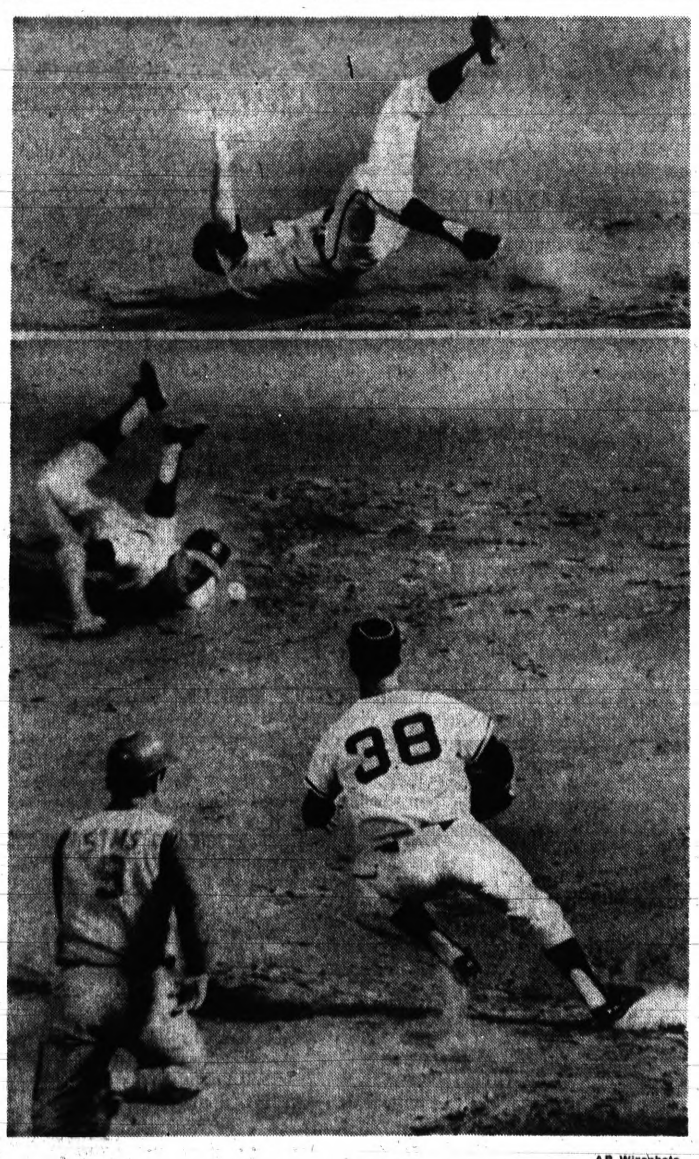

PSYCHOLOGY HELPS

Dark's psychology and a pitching staff that has an earned run average of 2.02 are two reasons why the surprising Indians reside in second place in the American League, only a game and a half behind Detroit.

NOT QUITE GOOD ENOUGH—California first sacker Don Mincher (top) makes a flashy rolling one-handed stop of a smash by Cleveland's Duke Sims in the seventh inning Thursday, but the Indians' receiver beat the toss to the Angels' Clyde Wright (38) for an infield single in Cleveland's 9-2 victory. It was one of 18 hits by the Indians in the contest.

Osuna-Ashe Duel Opens Zone Final

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Rafael Osuna of Mexico and Arthur Ashe of the United States faced each other this afternoon to open the North American Zone Davis Cup final.

They are the No. 1 players on their respective teams and their names were drawn Thursday by San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto.

Lineup Set for Pontiac Baseball Meet

EFFORT REWARDED—This unorthodox style used by Greeley (Colo.) West's Steve Johnston in hurdling Fort Morgan catcher Mark Beery paid off with a score. Johnston missed the plate with his leap but managed to scramble back before Beery could apply the tag. It all went for naught, however, as Fort Morgan won, 4-2, to earn the Northern Conference's berth in the State AAA baseball playoffs.

GARY PLAYER'S GOLF CLASS:

A hooded chip shot

Leading Area Squads Ready for Tourney

The 16 official invitations for the seventh annual Pontiac Invitational Baseball Tournament next week at Jaycee Park have been issued and the lineup will include three first-time entrants.

Heading the list are defending champion Southfield (12-5), Waterford (the winningest team a (16-8), Clawson (who had a 14-game winning streak end last night and is 15-3) and Pontiac Central's 12-4 Chiefs.

The new teams will be Ferndale, Berkley and West Bloomfield.

★ ★ ★

PCH and Pontiac Northern (8-7) are the cohosts for the tournament which is sponsored by The Press and the city Parks and Recreation Department.

EX-CHAMPION

Also among the invitees are former champion Royal Oak Kimball, Walled Lake, Bloomfield Hills Andover, Milford, Rochester, Madison and Birmingham Brother Rice.

★ ★ ★

The single-elimination activity will begin with a night game Wednesday featuring PCH. Seven games are slated Thursday (Memorial Day) at noon, 2:30 p.m., 5 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Northern will play in the arclight tilt.

★ ★ ★

The quarter-finals are scheduled for Friday night (one game) and Saturday June 1st. The semifinals will be June 4 and the championship tilt June 5.

★ ★ ★

All games will be at Jaycee Park, Walton at Joslyn, and admission is $1 per adult and 50 cents for students. An adult tournament ticket is available at $4.

★ ★ ★

The pairings will be announced following the coaches' meeting a 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Clawson's Title Bid Kayoed by Eagles

Madison knocked Clawson out of the Oakland A League baseball title race Thursday with a 5-3 upset win and stayed tied with Rochester for third place.

★ ★ ★

The Falcons blanked Troy, 7-0, behind Mike Scally's two-hit hurling. Rochester and Madison are 6-4, Clawson slipped to 7-3 and idle Utica stayed 6-1 with two games remaining next week.

The Chieftains would have to lose both outings for Clawson to regain any title hopes.

★ ★ ★

Bill Miller drove in all three runs with three singles for Clawson but it wasn't enough to overcome four errors in the first two innings that let in all five runs for Madison (6-4).

The defeat dropped the Trojans to 15-3 over-all. Clawson is the fifth-ranked team in the county.

BIG OUTBURST

Rochester took a 5-0 lead in the second inning mostly on walks and Ed Talley's two-run single. Ted Malkasian added a run in the fifth with a single, and Les Littlejohn's triple closed the scoring in the sixth.

Clyde Cushingberry rapped a single, double and home run to figure in six runs as Romeo drubbed Lake Orion, 14-5, in the other O-A contest.

★ ★ ★

John Rogers had two triples and a double for three runs, and Brad Czajka singled three times. Romeo is now tied for fifth place with Troy at 2-6.

LAKER LEADER — Sophomore catcher Bill Bullock again led West Bloomfield's hitting this season, and had a key single setting up the winning two runs in Thursday's 2-1 win over Andover.

Milford Shakes Slump in Finale

The Milford Redskins shook off their late-season slump at the last minute Thursday and finished second in the topsy-turvy Wayne-Oakland League diamond battle.

Losers of five straight games after winning 10 of their first 12, the Redskins trailed, 4-2, at Brighton as they batted for the last time.

★ ★ ★

Glenn Cascaddan, Dave Dennis and Bob Glinard each added an rbi-single and Milford emerged an 8-6 victor. Clinard was the loser in relief, stopping Brighton with the tying runs on base in the last of the seventh.

ONE GAME EDGE

The win put Milford at 8-6 in the league and 11-7 over-all. They edged Clarkston, Bloomfield Hills Andover and Holly by one game for the runner-up slot behind repeat titlist Northville.

★ ★ ★

Andover dropped a 2-1 decision to West Bloomfield, and Holly edged Clarkston, 4-2, in nine innings to cause the three-way jamup for third place.

★ ★ ★

Northville ripped Clarenceville, 10-3 to finish 12-2. Eight runs on six hits in the fourth did the damage. Randy Pohlman had a two-run single and Barry Deal a two-run double.

BACK IN FORM

Mickey Elwood, recovering from arm and ankle ailments that had limited his pitching in the past month, scattered six Andover hits and forced the Barons (8-9) to leave the bases loaded in the fifth and seventh.

Dick Souther's run-scoring single in the first gave Andover a 1-0 lead, but two unearned runs in the third handed the win to the Lakers (7-8).

★ ★ ★

Run-producing singles by Tom Hayes and Jeff Caryl in the ninth broke open a strong pitching duel between Roy Phillips of Holly and Clarkston's Dick Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Holly scored two in the first on a single by Chuck Swegles, Tom Roeder's double and an error. The Wolves tied it on a hit, batsman Cary Uban's two-bagger, Bob Paladino's sacrifice fly and an error.

★ ★ ★

It was only the second earned run Phillips, a sophomore lefty, allowed in nearly 32 innings on the mound. Holly finished 7-8 over-all. Clarkston is 8-13.

Watch Mickey Wright Says Vet Patty Berg

DALLAS, Tx. (AP) — The oldest member of the Ladies' PGA tour was in the field of 61 that teed off today in the $18,500 Dallas Civitan Open and Patty Berg already knew the score.

"Micky Wright is the player we have to beat," said the 50-year-old Miss Berg, the first president and a charter member of the LPGA.

★ ★ ★

Miss Wright has won three of four tournaments she has entered this year — the Palm Beach Open, the Ford Malibar Open and the Tall City Open. Miss Wright also is a three-time winner of this tournament.

Miss Berg has pocketed about $175,000 since 1948 but has played in only three tournaments this year and won $1,016.

Rochester Falcons Take Oakland A Track Crown

Rochester's Falcons won seven events, setting school records in three of them, in taking the Oakland A League track championship.

The Falcons rolled up 73 points to nose out Clawson (70½).

Bob Woodroof posted two victories for the Falcons, taking the 100 in 10.0 seconds and the 220 in 22.4 seconds.

Dave Marr led the record-smashers for Rochester by erasing the mark in the 440 with a 50.1 clocking. Mike Simmons cracked the mile mark with a 4:36 effort, and Gary Miller, Mike Hall, Marr and Woodroof combined to set a record of 1:30.7 in the 880-yard relay.

The other Rochester wins came in the shot put by Alex McKinnon (50-8) and the two-mile by Keith Wattles (10:05).

Birmingham Groves captured the Northwest Suburban title with 78 points Wednesday. Livonia Franklin (45) was second followed by Detroit Thurston (35), North Farmington (31), Oak Park (19) and Wayne John Glenn (12).

★ ★ ★

John Mann of North Farmington turned in the best leap of the season in the state by taking the high jump with 6-feet-8½-inches.

ROTTERDAM (AP) — Kurt Hamrin scored two goals Thursday night to give A.C. Milan a 2-0 soccer victory over Hamburg S. V. in the European Cup finals for Cup winners.

Ray's Rallies to Nip City Softball Rival, 4-2

Two-run bursts in the fifth and sixth brought Ray's Sunoco from behind for a 4-2 victory over J. A. Fredman last night in city recreation softball action.

In other games, Local No. 594 downed Milburn Industry, 9-2, Town & Country handed Union Lake Merchants an 8-2 setback, and Ron's Roost coasted past Timberlanes Lounge, 12-3.

TIE GAME

Two singles and a pair of errors enabled Ray's to tie Fredman 2-2 in the fifth, and the Sunoco crew put it away in the sixth with two more on a double, triple and ground out.

Bill Dalton tripled in the lead run in the sixth and finished with two hits. John Fowler picked up two for Fredman.

★ ★ ★

Dave Simmons, Mel Taylor, Sy Green, Earl McKee and Jim Fisk lashed out two hits apiece to pace the Local 594 victory. Jim Lucadum collected two of the losers four safeties.

Chuck Nichols rapped out a double and two singles and scored twice in Town & Country's easy victory. Ron Traylor led Union Lake with a pair of singles.

★ ★ ★

A 15-hit attack by Ron's Roost was too much for Timberlanes. Seven players collected two hits apiece for Ron's. The winners broke open a tight game with four in the sixth and four more in the seventh.

Samardzija Fifth Hardwick in All-Star Lead

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — Billy Hardwick, who moved to Louisville, Ky., from San Mateo, Calif., a few days before leaving home for the 27th annual National All-Star Bowling Championships, was well on the way Thursday to paying the movers' bill.

Hardwick rolled at a 226-average clip for the opening 16 games in the men's division finals to assume a 104-point lead over Jim Stefanich of Joliet, Ill.

Hardwick's pinfall was 3,630, and he added 525 bonus points —50 points for each game won in the finals—for a 4,155 total.

Stefanich has 4,051 on pinfall of 3,486 plus 575 bonus points. The men are competing for a $15,000 top prize. There are still 32 games to go, 16 each on Friday and Saturday.

Baseball Classes for Boys Tomorrow

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's junior baseball program will have a training camp again tomorrow for boys 7-18 from 9 a.m. until noon.

Boys through 13 should report to either the Bagley and Brush diamond or to Aaron Perry Park. The older boys will work out at Jaycee Park. All prospects must bring their own tennis shoes and glove.

In addition to working on fundamentals with qualified instructors, those candidates not already on a team will be placed with managers needing players.

Titans Dumped

Pontiac Catholic won four events but dropped a 72-46 decision on the track to Detroit Nativity Wednesday.

Kelly Dean won the high jump (5-6), Gary Piche took the long jump (18-1), Herb Larson took the pole vault and John Cassani won the two-mile race.

Novi Thumps League Rival

Novi stayed in the running for second place in the Lakeland C baseball loop with an easy 13-4 rout of Whitmore Lake Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Sophomore hurler Lee Snow clouted two triples and a double to produce three runs for the Wildcats, and batterymate Paul Faulkner ripped a double and triple for six runs. Novi is 7-3.

Fund Drive Set for Little League

A fund-raising drive to dress up players in Avondale's Little League is slated for tomorrow morning from 9:30 until 12:30.

Coaches, managers and members of the women's auxiliary will be canvassing the area during that time.

A goal of $2,000 has been set. Money raised will be used to purchase equipment and uniforms for the approximately 240 boys involved in the 1968 program.

Mills Gains Share of Slowpitch Lead

Mills Products (4-1) gained its second Walled Lake Industrial Softball League conquest in two nights Thursday to grab a share of the "A" Division lead.

Mills downed Imperial Molded Products, 10-9, in eight innings yesterday after slugging Big Boy, 14-6, Wednesday on homers by Clyde Witmier and Dave Crouse and a 22-hit attack.

Luckless Nine Loses Another

Ward Body outlasted luckless and winless Midget Bar, 9-8, last night in the Waterford Township Men's Softball League nightcap at Drayton Plains park.

In the opener, Huron Bowl surprised Clarkston Appliance, 5-2, to enable Ward's to tie the losers at 3-3 in the standings.

Ward Body, aided by four unearned runs, took 4-2 and 8-3 leads. Midget Bar rallied as Jan Hirn cracked a two-run triple in the fifth and tied it on his solo homer in the seventh.

FINAL INNING

However, in the last of the seventh, Bob Davis singled and moved to second on a grounder. With two out, a high fly to right field was misplayed, letting Davis cross with the deciding run.

Two-run bursts carried Huron (2-3) to its win. Landon Morris cracked three singles and scored twice, while Ed Gorney drove in three runs with two singles to give Ed Miller the victory.

Showdown in Big 10 Baseball Race

Spartans Seek NCAA Berth

MSU, Gophers Could Tie for Honors

CHICAGO (AP) — A couple of old pros will be matching coaching wits when the Minnesota Gophers and Michigan State Spartans battle Saturday for the Big Ten baseball title and a berth in the NCAA's college World Series.

Barring any stumbles in Friday's conference round against different foes, Dick Siebert's Gophers and Danny Litwhiler's invading Spartans will have a championship showdown in a season windup twin bill Saturday.

PLAY TWIN BILLS

Friday, Minnesota and Michigan State—tied for first place at 12-2 — play doubleheaders against still-alive Michigan (9-5) and Iowa (4-8) respectively.

Siebert, former Philadelphia A's first baseman, has the home diamond advantage for all-four closing games as he sends his Gophers after his sixth Big Ten crown since 1956.

Statistically, Michigan State dominates the league, leading in team batting with .311; pitching with a slim 0.98 ERA, and slugging with .426.

★ ★ ★

In event of a title tie, the NCAA delegate will be selected on the basis of the won-lost record between the deadlocked teams, or by a toss of a coin if there is an even break.

Any conference games rained out Saturday will be played Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's chance for a title tie hinges on the Wolverines sweeping a pair from Minnesota Friday and two at Iowa (4-8) Saturday, plus two Michigan State losses Friday and a Gopher-Spartan split Saturday.

★ ★ ★

That would produce a 13-5 deadlock between Minnesota, Michigan State and Michigan.

Idle Tigers Keep Eye on 'Hens'

OAKLAND (AP) — The Detroit Tigers, idle Thursday while awaiting the start of a weekend series with the Oakland Athletics, are keeping an eye on their top farm club in Toledo.

The Mud Hens aren't exactly tearing the International League apart, but their roster contains some promising farm hands that could help Detroit in the American League stretch drive.

★ ★ ★

Detroit Manager Mayo Smith's major problems continue to be a lead-off batter, a good right-handed pinch hitter and a stopper for his youthful bullpen corps.

YOUNG HITTERS

The Toledo roster contains no bonanza of lead-off batters, but has three young players who can whale the ball from the right side of the plate and a couple of relief pitchers who may help Detroit's baby bullpen.

★ ★ ★

Bob Christian, an outfielder-third baseman is belting International League pitching at a .359 clip, with three homers and 14 runs batted in.

★ ★ ★

Dave Campbell, an all-around utility player, is hitting .297 with five homers, and Wayne Comer, although off to a slow start, has impressed Tiger officials with his power.

★ ★ ★

The bullpen help might come from Mike Marshall, who pitched for the Tigers last year, and Dick Radatz, the former "Monster" of the Boston Red Sox bullpen, trying a comeback in the Detroit organization.

Campbell, a former University of Michigan star, who hit 20 homers at Toledo last year, is just beginning to come into his own.

"Losing him was like losing 33 per cent of my team," Toledo Manager Jack Tighe said recently.

★ ★ ★

Marshall posted a 4-2 record and 1.75 earned run average in his first six decisions.

The Tigers open a three-game series with Oakland tonight. Earl Wilson was Smith's mound choice for the first game.

Rookie Pro Shares Memphis Open Lead

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The fans who saw B. R. McLendon sink a 20-foot eagle putt to share the first-round lead in the $100,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament figured he was happy as a lark. But his wife, Joan, knew better.

"He didn't say anything to me, but when I saw him go to the practice tee after coming off the 18th, I knew he wasn't happy with his woods and long irons," the pretty blonde said.

McLendon, 22, who won the 1965-66-67 Southeastern Conference golf titles, came into the Memphis Open Thursday virtually unknown to the gallery. But veteran Fred Haas watched him last week in the Magnolia Classic at Hattiesburg, Miss.

Jim Lunn, 23, of Sacramento, Calif., shared the first-round lead with McLendon as both came in with five-under-ar 65s Thursay. Lunn finished the round three hours ahead of McLendon, a late starter.

TEEING OFF

By FLETCHER SPEARS

A cocky young Finn could be in line for a few golfing honors in the days ahead.

He's Timo Kilpelainen, 21, who arrived here from Finland five years ago, which has been long enough for him to rid himself of an accent and long enough to pick up a pretty fair golf game.

KILPELAINEN

He's now a junior at Western Michigan University and the No. 1 man on the golf team there.

His latest venture on the golf course came earlier this week when he passed the 'local' qualifying for the U.S.G.A. Open at Indianwood Country Club.

And he passed it by joining in a seven-way playoff for four spots. Four of the seven birdied the first hole of the playoff to win the berths. Timo was one of them.

The hole was a par-5. Timo belted a big drive, but he was still 10 yards short of Richard Doyon of Fenton. "I'll be up with him one of these days," said Timo as he started down the fairway carrying his own clubs.

★ ★ ★

"Where's your caddy?" someone asked.

"I'll carry them myself," said Timo, who isn't exactly oozing with money. "I wanted to carry them myself today (36 holes) but they (tournament officials) wouldn't let me."

NEARS GREEN

He hauled out a 3-wood, gave the ball a mighty wallop and it landed just over a bunker just to the right of the No. 1 green.

"I pushed it a little," he said. Doyon hit an iron to the green. The other two, like Timo, missed the green.

★ ★ ★

Timo chipped up 10 feet short of the cup. I'll make it," he said while watching Doyon two-putt for a birdie. He did. It rolled up and in for a bird. Another in that foursome, Dick Bury of Birmingham, bagged a bird, and in the following three-some, Dick Brooks of Orchard Lake rapped in a birdie putt and the playoff was over.

★ ★ ★

"Watch me in the publinx," Timo was saying during the walk back to the clubhouse. He was referring to the National Publinx qualifying which is slated for June 10 at Burroughs Farms near Brighton. Timo plays the course well. He carded a 138 to lead the qualifiers there two years ago.

WON AT MSU

This year at Western, Timo's biggest win was medalist honors in the recent Spartan Invitational at Michigan State. He carded a 143 over the tough Forest Aker course.

★ ★ ★

The next big test for Timo comes June 2 when he'll join the 'local' qualifiers for the U.S.G.A. 'sectional' round. Qualifiers at Knollwood Country Club then advance to the U.S.G.A. Open in Rochester, N.Y., June 13-16.

Another local player who's scoring well with a college team is Russ Streeter of Walled Lake, medalist in the 1966 Pontiac Press Invitational.

STREETER

Streeter, a sophomore at Eastern Michigan, has grabbed medalist honors for EMU on several occasions. At the Spartan Invitational he carded a 153. His best competitive scores to date have been a pair of 72s.

Indianwood's Medal Honors to Ex-Champ

Chuck Byrne of Birmingham, who teamed with Rob Ryan in taking the title last year, has a new partner in Jim Stevenson and indications are this twosome will be just as tough as the '67 winners.

ANOTHER TOURNEY

Ryan passed up the invitational to participate in the 72-hole Michigan Medal Play now under way at Orchard Lake Country Club.

Byrne and Stevenson put their shots together yesterday to card a 74 and take medalist honors in the qualifying round.

★ ★ ★

They were tied with three other teams for the medal title and then won in a playoff with a birdie-4 on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff.

OTHER 74's

Others carding 74s were Ed Novak of Edgewood and Don Nelson of GAM. Robert Grundeman of Indianwood and Mike Basford and Doug Wright of Indianwood and Jim Miller of Farmington.

Jim McGaffin and Ed Flowers, both of the host club, checked in with a 75.

★ ★ ★

The field heads into match play today with 16 teams in the each of four flights. Finals are set for Sunday.

Class A Baseball to Begin Sunday

M. G. Defends Men's Crown

8 Teams in League; New Sponsor Joins

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's Class A baseball league will begin play 7:30 p.m. Sunday under the lights on the improved facilities at Jaycee Park.

City champion M. G. Collision, coached by Trueman Lamphere, will open against perennially strong Teamsters-614 who will have Paul Parks back at the helm.

★ ★ ★

Parks, who has built numerous championship clubs, ertired after the Teamsters won the 1966 title He is expected to start veteran right-handed hurler Don Sackett.

★ ★ ★

Lamphere has announced that southpaw Walt Miller, the league's most valuable player last summer, will be on the mound for M. G. Both teams are expected to have significantly revised lineups.

One new team has joined the league but four have dropped out, leaving an eight-team lineup. Uncle Charlie's Pet Shop, coached by Ben Belcher and Bob Noggle, is the new one.

Monday night's contest will pit Pass against Local-653 at 7:30 o'clock. The league then will be idle until June 2.

7th Straight Win

Waterford Stuns Jays

Pitching rich Waterford Township continued its strong late-season surge Thursday and upended Southfield, 2-1, with a seventh-inning rally that avenged an earlier loss for the Skippers.

The victory was the seventh straight for the sixth-ranked WTHS squad and set a school record 16th win in 24 starts. Southfield, the third-rated nine, dropped its second start in two days and now is 12-5.

Waterford meets Walled Lake today for second place in the Inter-Lakes League while Southfield plays Berkley in a bid for the Southeast Michigan championship.

Also Thursday, Oxford was held hitless by Warren Woods' Bob Richardson and dropped a 4-0 verdict, while Royal Oak Dondero finished its season at 7-5 with a 4-2 win over Highland Park.

Waterford Kettering, 5-9 earlier this week, won its second in two days, outlasting Lapeer, 9-8, in 11 innings as Mike Harkey blanked the Panthers over the final 10 frames.

INSIDE THE PARK

Southfield built a 1-0 lead on Rocky Roe's inside-the-park circuit clout (his third) in the sixth. But in the seventh, Rod Kennedy's hit won it for WTHS.

Warren's Richardson struck out 10 and had all the runs he needed in the first inning when four runs crossed the plate without the aid of a hit. There were five errors by the Wildcats in the wild outburst.

★ ★ ★

The lone Oxford runner came on an error in the fourth inning. The Wildcats end their season today at home against Lamphere, the Central Suburban loop king.

CLUTCH SINGLE

A Two-out single by Virgil Williams broke up the Kettering-Lapeer duel. It gave the victory to Harkey who held the Panthers to four hits and fanned 10 after taking over the Captains trailing, 8-0.

WKHS tallied six runs in the third as Bob Earls came through with a two-run single. Tom Setter, who had four hits, drove in his second run in the sixth.

★ ★ ★

At Royal Oak, Dondero finished with a winning season when Rich Green's double and Jerry Campbell's second rbi-single plated runs and broke a 2-2 tie.

Giants Move Ahead of Cardinals in NL

By The Associated Press

There's nothing like a nice little winning string to give a baseball team a lift in the standings. Except, perhaps, a nice little losing streak by the guys directly in front of you.

San Francisco's ambitious Giants have won eight of their last 11 games and St. Louis' cooperative Cardinals have dropped eight of their last 11. Result: A five-game pickup for the Giants and a change at the top of the National League race.

San Francisco captured first place Thursday with a 5-4 victory over Atlanta while St. Louis was losing 3-2 in 11 innings to Los Angeles in the only NL games played. New York at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh at Chicago were rained out.

Report to Senate Panel Outlines U.S. Setbacks Following Tet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hamlet security and enemy defections in South Vietnam hit new lows while Communist infiltration and South Vietnamese army desertions rose to record highs in March, says a Senate Foreign Relations Committee private analysis of secret Defense Department war statistics.

The document, dated May 13 and obtained yesterday by the Associated Press, said the percentage of hamlets secured was lower in March than anytime in the past two years.

The period covered by the statistics followed the January-February Communist Tet offensive and preceded President Johnson's March 31 peace initiative.

Carl Marcy, chief of staff for the foreign relations committee, prepared the report for committee members. He said he did not include the figures on which it is based because they are classified.

IN THE REPORT

The report, initialed by Marcy, said:

"1. The percentage of population secured, according to reports of government of South Vietnam, was lower in March 1968 than at any time in 1968 or 1967.

"2. The percentage of hamlets secured, again according to reports of the government of South Vietnam, was lower in March than at any time in the past two years.

★ ★ ★

"3. According to the Hamlet Evaluation System, administered by the United States Mission in Saigon, the percentage of population in category A, B and C hamlets—the three most secure categories—was lower in February and March 1968 than at any time in 1967. The percentage of population in Vietcong controlled hamlets was higher in March 1968 than at any time since June 1967.

"4. Again, according to the Hamlet Evaluation System, the percentage of hamlets in Categories A, B and C was lower in February and March 1968 than any time in the past two years. The percentage of hamlets controlled by the Vietcong was the highest since July 1967.

"5. The infiltration rate was higher in March 1968 than at any time in the past.

"6. The number of enemy political and military defectors under the "Open Arms" program was lower in March 1968 than at any time in the past and was about a quarter of the monthly average in 1967.

★ ★ ★

"7. The number of South Vietnamese Army desertions was higher in February 1968—figures have not been made available for March 1968—than at any time in 1968 or 1967, and the number was about 30 per cent higher than the monthly average in 1967.

★ ★ ★

"8. Although U.S. and South Vietnamese deaths in action were almost equal in March 1968, U.S. losses continued to be higher proportionately because of the fact that South Vietnamese strength on the ground was about 50 per cent higher than U.S. strength on the ground."

'U.S. to Blame if Talks Fail'

Demands Reiterated in North Viet Paper

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam warned the United States again today that if it continues "to remain obdurate and hinder the progress of the official conversations" in Paris, it would "bear full responsibility."

The statement in Nhan Dan, the newspaper of the North Vietnamese Communist party, echoed a remark at the Paris talks Wednesday by Xuan Thuy, the North Vietnamese negotiator. Nhan Dan reiterated that the United States must unconditionally stop bombing the North before "other problems" can be discussed.

Nhan Dan's editorial, signed by "commentator"—usually a high party official—said Thuy had told U.S. representative W. Averell Harriman at the fourth session Wednesday:

"In face of the U.S. aggression, it is the sacred right of the people throughout Vietnam to defend whatever part of their land is threatened by aggression. If the U.S. government wants a peaceful solution, the Vietnamese people are ready for a peaceful solution. If the U.S. government carries on the war, the Vietnamese people are resolved to defeat the U.S. aggressive war."

OTHER PROBLEMS

Saying the Americans remain "obdurate," and had "raised many other problems and distorted them," Nhan Dan added: "While in Paris, the representative of the U.S. government has deliberately been hampering the progress of the talks."

The paper said Harriman "has intentionally been trying to avoid discussing the unconditional cessation of the U.S. bombing" of the North and is "still clinging to the U.S. ridiculous demand for 'reciprocity,' 'mutual de-escalation' and 'restraint' from the Vietnamese people in their resistance against alien aggression."

★ ★ ★

It said Thuy had told Harriman: "As the U.S. government has launched air and naval attacks against the DRVN — an independent and sovereign state —it has to stop all these acts of aggression without setting any condition at all. It is the U.S. that has unilaterally been escalating the Vietnam war nearly 14 years now . . . Therefore the U.S. alone must de-escalate. As for us, the Vietnamese people, we are struggling against aggression on our own soil, we are knocking down U.S. aircraft over our own soil. We have never escalated, we do not have to de-escalate."

Reds Acting Cautiously in French Crisis

PARIS (AP) — The French Tricolor flies just below the red flag of communism on the flagpole above the Renault auto plant at Boulogne-Billancourt. The togetherness of the flags symbolizes the Communist party's cautious policy in France's grave crisis.

The massive, nationwide strike was begun spontaneously by rank-and-file workers demanding an end to a regime they say is based on privilege and capitalism. But cautious union leaders have turned the goals to bread-and-butter gains —higher pay, shorter hours and the like.

The leader in this move toward moderation has been the CGT, the General Confederation of Workers. It is the trade union arm of the French Communist party and the nation's biggest and most powerful union.

Prune Vines Late Winter

Grape vine pruning should have been done in February or early March to prevent "bleeding" where cuts are made.

Pruning alone will not assure a backyard gardener of having a good crop unless he fertilizes, sprays, and practices some type of weed control.

There are many new grape varieties, and homeowners who are building on larger lots may want to plant grapes along property lines.

1968 Award Winners

Gladiolus Selections, Red, White, Blue

This year an unusual event has occurred in the flower world. The three 1968 All-America gladiolus selections are red, white and blue! The red variety is 'Royalty'; the white is 'Purity'; and the blue is 'Bluebird.' These new award winners are not only striking, All-America colors, they are a rare treat in beauty, too.

Many things come to mind when one thinks of "royalty" — quality, inheritance, character, poise, beauty, etc. But many responsibilities also ensue. In this instance, "Royalty" is a lovely, velvety, rich rose-red gladiolus that has entered the race, withstood the grueling test and received the coveted crown of victory!

★ ★ ★

There is beauty in its appealing color and form, and, poise in the stately flowerhead with 8 of its 20 or more buds open at once. When Royalty reigns in your garden you will be rewarded with supreme performance! J. R. & C. T. Larus, Avon, Conn., created this new gladiolus.

★ ★ ★

Only a gladiolus of extreme merit can receive the All-America Award and only a pure, chaste white should be named "Purity"! The ruffled and fluted florets are large and saucer-like — 5½ to 6 inches across.

MEDIUM HEIGHT

They are borne on medium height, sturdy stems and present a glorious sight with 6-7 of these giant blooms open at once. While its pure whiteness is extolled, Purity is also highly recommended for its excellent plant and bulb health.

★ ★ ★

You will want to grow this exceptional white; it is the first large white glad to receive an award in All-America Gladiolus Selections' 12-year history. Purity was bred by Henry Fritscher, Santa Rosa, Calif. It is his first All-America winner.

Nature is at her colorful best in the realm of birds and flowers. In the bird kingdom those songsters having the most brilliant markings often are wary and elusive.

Not so in the floral world where bright, unusual shades stand out and are widely acclaimed whenever nature yields a distinctive color. In gladiolus species as in bird families, blue is uncommon and clear, bright blue is rare! Bluebird is an award-winning Miniature gladiolus that "sings a happy tune" as it "wings its way into bloom."

FRILLED FLORETS

The small, frilled florets, of which 8 open at once, perch gracefully on slender spikes, their clean white throats framed in glorious blue. Grow Bluebird and you'll be happy you did! Bluebird was developed by Ralph Baerman, Salem, Ore.

Gladiolus can be planted at intervals of ten days from the last killing frost, thereby providing blooms of any desired color or size until fall, or when cold weather curtails growth or kills the plants.

★ ★ ★

Since each gladiolus variety has a normal interval between planting and blooming, the home gardener or show exhibitor can even plan his plantings to provide blooms on approximate dates. The blooming date of Royalty is 85 days; Purity, 82-85 days; and Bluebird, 70 days.

If you'd like to try your luck at having red, white and blue glads in bloom at the same time, bulbs of Royalty and Purity should be planted 12-15 days earlier than those of Bluebird. Blooming dates are always given for large size bulbs; smaller sizes will take somewhat longer.

★ ★ ★

Of course, very cool weather during the growing season will increase the interval between planting and blooming while very hot weather will decrease it. When attempting to provide blooms on certain dates, not less than six bulbs of a variety should be planted at one time; twelve would be better.

Since the demand for the All-America winners usually is greater than the supply the first year or so, the bulbs should be ordered early. Last year's winners, American Beauty and Kon-Tiki, sold out early but they should be in better supply this year.

★ ★ ★

The All-America selections are available at garden stores, florist shops, department stores, and are featured in leading catalogues.

The bulbs are sold in colorful, plastic netting packages bearing the variety name and notice of the plant patent.

White Petunia Now Marketed

In trials across the country last summer, it was outstanding, producing an abundance of pure white flowers, of extremely large size. The plants are vigorous with good growth and habit throughout the entire season.

F-1 Zipasse Tall Zinnia

The giant informal cactus type flowers of the Zinnia F-1 hybrid Zipasse, 6 inch in diameter are borne on shorter, earlier blooming plants than older varieties. They begin blooming when they are 18 inches high.

★ ★ ★

In warm areas the height may reach 36", but in cooler areas it stays down to around 24", yet each flower has a stem long enough for cutting.

★ ★ ★

The plants are uniform in habit, and the new colors are "out of this world." Cream, yellow, orange, rose, watermelon red and red will be available exclusively from George Park Seed Co.

To Open June 8

Annual Iris Show

The Southern Michigan Iris and Hemerocallis Society (SMIHS) will present its third annual Iris Show from 1 to 9 p.m. June 8 at the Livonia Mall at 7 Mile Road and Middlebelt Road, Livonia.

★ ★ ★

All growers of Iris are invited to enter as many specimen stalks as they wish in the more than 50 classes. Entries and registrations will be from 9 till 11 a.m. Entrance H by Sears store is near the area of the show.

★ ★ ★

Ribbons for first, second and third place winners and nine Rosettes will be awarded.

SMIHS members are eligible to win The Clair Linschied Trophy for "Sweepstakes," The "Michigan" trophy for "Second Sweepstakes," The "Dad Simon" trophy for "Queen of Show," The President's Cup for "King of Show", The "Stepping Out" award for Best Seedling, The Dr. H. E. Viergutz award for Best Specimen — Novice and The Artist trophy for "Best Arrangement."

★ ★ ★

If you would like to join the Southern Michigan Iris and Hemerfocallis Society, please write Howard Coleman at 18710 Sunnybrook, Lathrup Village, Mich. 48075.

Miniature Zinnia Proves a Favorite

One of the greatest triumphs in plant breeding was realized a few years ago when Thumbelina Zinnia was first introduced.

The little plants, with their double and semi-double 1¼ - 1½ inch flowers in white, yellow, pink, lavender, orange and scarlet have been a great sensation among flower lovers.

★ ★ ★

Now, George Park Seed Co. introduces the first separate color, true from seed, a lovely clear Salmon Rose. Plants grow up to 4" tall.

★ ★ ★

They are ideal to create a carpet of color in gardens, to make a neat edge or a little tuft of color at a corner. They are short enough for fluorescent light gardening.

Thumbelina Mini-Pink

Sharp-Tined Rake Best for Thatch

If thatch is a problem, you can dig it out by hand or with a sharp-tined rake, if you have time and energy.

The simplest method is to rent a power thatch remover (also called lawn thinner, vertical mower, or power rake).

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The debris is then raked, swept or vacuumed.

Ever try digging out dandelions?

It's not only hard work . . . it's a waste of time. The roots go down deep . . . sometimes 18-24 inches. And if you leave the least little bit of root behind it can grow right back up again.

There's an easier way. Turf Builder Plus 2 gets rid of dandelions and twenty four other lawn weeds with no trouble. No mixing. No spraying. No mess. No odor.

...and grass gets thicker

What's more, you'll be feeding your lawn at the same time with Turf Builder — America's favorite lawn fertilizer. Your grass will get thicker because Turf Builder makes grass multiply itself.

Want to prevent Crabgrass, too?

If you are concerned about crabgrass, ask for Turf Builder plus 4. It clears out this pest before it can get started and disfigure your lawn. It also gets rid of the dandelions and other such weeds —in addition to feeding your grass to new thickness and beauty.

Plant Trees With Eye to Future

If you contemplate setting out any trees — and you should, for nearly every garden can stand more — give serious thought to double-purpose trees. These can be shade and flowering; shade, flowering and fruiting or shade and nut-producing.

In the first group there are dogwoods in red and pink as well as white, the spectacular-flowered magnolias, fringe trees, silver bells, redbuds, catalpa, flowering cherries, the tall pawlonia or empress tree and non-fruiting crab apples like Bechtal's. The first two, plus the cherries, plant in early spring in northern states.

For the next group, which produce edible or ornamental fruit as well, start off with apple, peach, pear, plum, cherry, quince, orange and lemon or tangeloes trees. All have attractive blossoms. To these, then, add most of the crab apples, the hawthorns or mountain ashes. Of these plant peaches, cherries and plums only in the spring.

Finally, we come to the nut trees, walnuts, pecans and heartnuts which make large, broad-headed trees; butternuts, chinese chestnuts, almonds, hickories.

★ ★ ★

To these add jujubes, pawpaws and persimmons which really come under the fruit trees but are less spectacular.

HOW TO PLANT

When you have made your decision about which you want find the ideal location for your trees — these are all deciduous or leaf-dropping so that they can be planted near the house. They will shade it in the summer and let the sun through in winter.

Then order your trees at once, so that you can still get them planted in early spring. As soon as you get them soak the roots in water for 24 hours.

With your green thumb shovel dig a large hole, at the very least 50 per cent wider and deeper than the roots spread out. Next, to the soil which was removed add a generous amount of dried cow manure and a good handful of soluble fertilizer for a quick pick-up.

★ ★ ★

With a hoe mix these into the soil pile thoroughly. Then fill it back in around the roots of the trees, firming it with your feet when two-thirds full and filling the remainder of the hole with water.

When the water has drained away, complete filling the hole and make a large ring around the plant to retain water.

★ ★ ★

In most cases set the tree at the same depth it stood in the nursery. In dry country mulch over the root area and you will be well on the way to healthy happy trees.

Try Different Plant Along Your Fence

Look well at the sponge with which the young lady is cleaning her car, noting especially its unusual shape. Then cast your eye on the fruits of the gourd vine growing up the fence. Those fruits, dried and with rind and seeds removed, furnished the sponge!

★ ★ ★

The fruits are those of the Luffa (or Loofa) gourd, a quick-growing annual vine which may climb 10 to 15 feet in a growing season.

★ ★ ★

Its large, showy yellow to white flowers are attractive, the foot to 2-feet-long green fruits abundant, but not particularly noticeable while the large leaves are on the vines. They become conspicuous when frost causes leaves to fall and the size of the harvest may be seen.

★ ★ ★

Luffa is a Latinized adaptation of the Arabic word for these gourds. The plants are tropical, the dried fibrous interiors of the fruits sold in markets in many countries (and flattened, in drug stores in this country) for use as wash cloths or sponges. Hence the common names of dishcloth gourd, rag rourd or vegetable sponge

SUNNY SPOT

Would you like to grow yourself a supply of sponges? It's easy. Select a warm, sunny place where soil is rich or can be made so and there is a substantial support for the gourd vines as they grow.

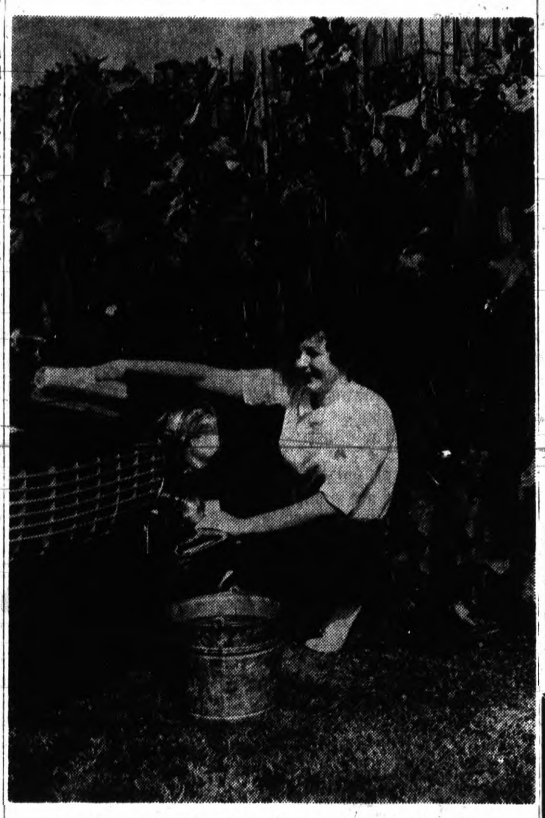

Plant seeds when soil has warmed where you want vines to grow. Keep them growing fast by giving plenty of water and fertilizer.

★ ★ ★

Chief pests troubling gourds are the striped cucumber beetle and the melon aphid. Dust with methoxychlor for the first, with malathion for the second, if they appear.

★ ★ ★

After the gourd vines have been killed by frost gather the gourds and soak them in water until the rind and pith soften. Then rub them together until the rind rubs off. Do the same to dislodge the pith that fills the spaces of the spongy interior. Then wash the fibrous part through several changes of water, and dry. It's now ready to use.

GROW SPONGES—These big gourds yield big sponges when fully grown and treated to a water bath. Many people like their coarseness for rub-downs; others prefer to use them for the car.

Clubs Investigate All-Americas

Many garden clubs schedule at least one meeting a year at which members report on their success with the new All-America selections.

At a late winter or early spring meeting members are asked to volunteer to plant and report on one or more, if not all of the new award winners. After all, they are considered the best of their ginds or types and colors to date, to merit their awards.

★ ★ ★

Some clubs arrange for a tour of the gardens in July or August. Others devote the early fall meeting for reports. They may show and arrange the flowers and vegetables, project colored slides, give their culture and honest comments on the behavior and uses of these new winners.

Program chairmen may wish to add such an interesting and participating program for their clubs. There are unique and glamour varieties in the 1968 winners. Slides may be borrowed from All-America Selections.

BLOSSOMS—Annual flowers give a lift to the landscape no matter on which side of the house they're planted. Here, petunias and sweet alyssum embellish the front while geraniums, marigolds and more alyssum change that odd area between path and wall into a gay flower bed with lots of blooms for cutting. See what a lot you get for the money when you buy and plant annual flowers?

New Vegetables Available in Seeds

Two new vegetables, a melon and a carrot, have been developed through research at Fordhook Farms and are being introduced in 1968 as Burpee's Crenshaw Melon and Popsicle Carrot.

A delightfully flavored thick-fleshed melon, the Burpee Crenshaw should become a favorite among home gardeners. It is an early hybrid from which large melons weighing up to 14 pounds apiece can be picked 90 days after planting.

A single melon will provide large portions for everyone in the average-size family. The thick layer of firm, salmon-pink flesh is encased in a smooth green skin that is touched with yellow as the fruit ripens.

★ ★ ★

Its firm flesh can be frozen to extend the period in which this summer taste treat is available. Growing this new variety is easy; bumper crops of large melons being produced on vigorous vines that thrive almost anywhere with a minimum of care, even in Northern states.

HOME GARDENER

This new melon is ideal for the home gardener desiring the true Crenshaw flavor in a home-grown product.

Popsicle Carrot is an answer to the problem of growing carrots in heavy or shallow soil. Popsicle grows well in either.

★ ★ ★

The roots, ready for gathering 68 days after sowing are similar to Burpee's Goldinhart except shorter, averaging 3½ to 4 inches in length and 2 inches across at the shoulder.

They are bright orange from top to root tip and right through to the center and require practically no trimming. The crisp, brittle and attractive flesh has a sweet flavor pleasing to the taste.

It is best if eaten when half grown or smaller and is ideal cooked alone, in soups, stews, chowders, with other vegetables, or for a refreshing change, as a juice.

Popsicle Carrot

Burpee Crenshaw

Cosmos Perfect for Background

Gardeners desiring tall plants for use against a building or at the back of a border should consider cosmos — especially the Sensation strain.

These plants grow 4 to 5 feet high, have delicate, fine foliage and bear single flowers of white, pink or rose.

★ ★ ★

In case you didn't know it — cosmos can be disbudded by removing all but the tip bud on each stem and, if the plants also are thinned to stand 3 feet apart, enormous blooms will result. Try this trick!

When picking flowers for arrangements, be sure to cut them on the bias so the greatest possible surface will be exposed to water.

MOREL HUNTER — Lorin Nemyer holds a standard size Morel mushroom (four inches) with the king-size Morel (10 inches) he found on a recent area mushroom hunt. "I've been hunting mushrooms around here for a good many years," said Nemyer, "and this is the biggest one I've ever found." A former Orchard Lake resident, Nemyer now lives in New Smyrna Beach, Fla.

Miniature Fruit Trees Answer to Small Lot

Miniature fruit gardens are not only productive but they're practical. By miniature in this case is meant the trees but, by being small, they take little room and the resulting "orchard" is miniature, too. April is an ideal month to plant them over most of the United States. The soil is warming but the air is still cool. So, the roots get a good start before the tops begin growing in earnest.

Another good reason for miniature fruits is that being low, pruning, spraying and picking are all within easy reach say the horticulturists of the Union Fork and Hoe Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Dwarf apples usually grow only 6 to 8 feet tall, and may be set as close as 15 feet apart . . As for varieties, you can pick your favorites just as you can with full-sized trees: McIntosh, Cortland, Delicious, Northern Spy, Golden Delicious, etc.

Likewise, for good pollination it is well to plant more than one variety and dwarf trees let you do it on the average home lot. In fact, you can get several varieties all on the same tree, if you want.

★ ★ ★

For pears you can choose from among such good varieties as Bartlett, Clapp's, Favorite and Duchess. Pears grow a little taller but they will stay under 10 feet, a decided advantage in the home garden.

PLUMS TOO

Everyone likes plums, the regular type like Burbank, Green, Gage, or the Stanley prune. With these one variety, alone, will bear, well, too.

Among the cherries try such varieties as North Star, Black Tartarian or Windsor.

In peaches there are two choices, the regular dwarfs at 6 to 7 feet like Elberta, Red Haven or Golden Jubilee and the really dwarf Bonanza which can even be grown in a pot on your terrace.

★ ★ ★

Nectarines are like peaches except they have no fuzz such as Garden State. And where peaches will grow one can also try apricots and almonds. They're just as easy.

Now, about planting, that is easy. Just prepare the soil well by digging at least two green thumb shovel blades deep and mixing into the soil dried cow manure, a 2-inch layer of humus and a couple of 3-year fertilizer packets. Unlike when planting full sized trees, 3-foot wide holes are sufficient.

Set the trees, firm the soil with your shoes, water well and when that is gone complete the filling — all with improved soil.

Finally with a hoe make a nice basin around each tree to hold water, mulch and, finally, staking the trees, for these little trees bear all out of proportion to their size and could be toppled over in a high wind otherwise.

GET UP TO 3 TIMES MORE ROSES

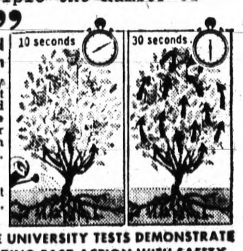

Famous University reports —

"Use of Miracle-Gro increased the general vigor of rose plants considerably, with many more stronger, longer shoots and branches, much more and greener foliage, as well as double to triple the number of more beautiful blooms."

University test proves 30-second "instant action" in 5-ft. rose bush

Famous University scientists added tiny quantities of radioactive tracers to test solution of Miracle-Gro. They then applied this solution to the roots of a 5-foot rose bush. Within 30 seconds, Geiger counter registered definite activity at top of bush —proof of how fast Miracle-Gro works.

GUARANTEED RESULTS IN 7 DAYS

Stern's will refund full purchase price at any time if you don't get superior results.

MORE UNIVERSITY TESTS DEMONSTRATE AMAZING FAST ACTION WITH SAFETY

Plant Number 3 received most liquid plant food. Visible improvement was noticed within a few days. There were absolutely no signs of fertilizer burning or forcing.

SAFE—will not "burn" even in hot dry weather when used as directed. Excellent for lawns, trees, shrubs, all flowers. ECONOMICAL.

Opening lead—♠ Q

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

In yesterday's column we discussed the two spade response to one no-trump which shows both minor suits and any strength hand. Yesterday responder held one point. Today he holds eight high card points. Ordinarily he would simply bid three no-trump.

JACOBY

West would make his normal spade lead and the defense would collect five tricks before South could get around to cashing any clubs.

★ ★ ★

The artificial Jacoby two spade response asks South to rebid two no-trump with at least one and a half stoppers in each major. King-jack-small is the least holding that qualifies here. Otherwise, South rebids to three of his better minor.

The three club bid warns North away from three no-trump but he wants to make a further try for game and does so by bidding four clubs.

South could pass at this point but he has the right hand for going on. Since North has shown at least 10 minor suit cards South can count a maximum of one loser in the major suits and his good minor suit cards indicate that there won't be more than one loser there.

In fact, South is ambitious enough to make a mild slam try. He does this by bidding four hearts. This can't be an attempt to get to a heart contract and must be read as a club slam try.

Strangely enough the spade lead allows South to make 12 tricks. He takes his ace of spades and knocks out the ace of clubs. It doesn't matter what West does at this stage. South will draw the rest of the trumps and discard his 10 and eight of hearts on dummy's long diamonds.

The slam will have been missed but North and South will have avoided getting set at three no-trump.

What do you do now?

TODAY'S QUESTION

Again your partner opens one no-trump. This time you hold: ♠ 2 ♥ K 2 ♦ A 10 7 6 5 ♣ K J 8 4 3

What do you do now?

Stop Candles Smoking

You can prevent candles from smoking or dripping by coating them with thick, dry, soapsuds. And this also makes the candles burn slower and last longer.

Volume Is Heavy

Stock Market Grows Firmer

NEW YORK (AP) — An irregular stock market grew firmer early this afternoon. Volume was heavy.

Turnover at noon was 6.18 million shares compared, with 5.43 million Thursday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 329.5, with industrials off .3, rails up .6, and utilities off .1.

Gains outnumbered losses from the start, but their lead was cut in midmorning. As the session entered the afternoon, however, the number of plus signs exceeded minus signs by well over 00.

FURTHER CONSOLIDATION

Analysts saw the list as undergoing further consolidation, but hope grew that Congress would take action on the tax-spending bill as official statements emphasized need for this.

The immense amount of institutional cash on the sidelines was another factor which analysts cited as supplying upward power for the market when a buy point was reached.

U.S. Education Benefits—11

Several Programs Help Science Students

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 11th article in a 15-part series on U.S. educational and training benefits available to you.)

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Publications

For students who are considering science or technology as their ultimate career, the government offers a number of help programs. Here are brief outlines of some of them:

● Under the Undergraduate Research Participation plan of the National Science Foundation, talented under-graduates are assisted in carrying out research projects in their fields of scientific interest.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

● Highly qualified graduate science students and science teachers are eligible for National Science Foundation fellowships for work to a master's degree or Ph.D. Recipients are selected by a nationwide competition.

The National Science Foundation also offers a number of advanced fellowships for those with Ph.Ds.

● Atomic Energy Commission fellowships are available for graduate studies in nuclear science and engineering. Stipends are $2,400 for the first year, $2,600 for the second and $2,800 for the third year. An extra $400 is allowed for each dependent.

For information, write Fellowship Office, Oak Ridge Associated Universities, Post Office Box 117, Oak Ridge, Tenn. 37830 (31).

● Atomic Energy Commission postdoctoral fellowships are available for holders of a recent Ph.D. degree in basic science or engineering who intend to go into nuclear science or engineering.

● Graduate students working for a Ph.D. in some phase of nuclear engineering or nuclear science are eligible for Atomic Energy Commission Laboratory Graduate Fellowships. These fellowships provide for university study and work at AEC laboratories. Write Associated Midwest Universities, Box 307, Argonne, Illinois 60440.

HOUSING ACT

City planning and urban studies are on the preferential list also. Housing Act fellowships are available for graduate study in city planning, architecture, civil engineering, economics, municipal finance, public studies oriented for careers in city and regional planning, housing, urban renewal and community development.

Details can be obtained from the Assistant Secretary for Demonstrations and Intergovernmental Relations, Department of Housing and Urban Development, Washington, D.C. 20410.

A Junior Editors Quiz About CRUSADES

QUESTION: How did the Crusades start and what results did they have?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: To Christians, the Holy Land where Jesus lived has always been sacred territory. By the 9th century it was controlled by the Arabian Moslems.

At that time Christians were allowed to visit their historic religious shrines, but in the 11th century wild Turkish tribes conquered the Arabians. They persecuted Christian pilgrims, creating a situation in which Christian European countries began to dream of recapturing the Holy Land.

Pope Urban II, in a famous speech, called for a holy war. Hundreds of thousands responded and under the leadership of men like Godfrey of Buillon (in picture) swarmed toward the Holy Land.

It was 1096 A.D. and was a very successful adventure, for Jerusalem was captured in 1099. Godfrey was elected ruler. It was difficult, however, to hold the country under Moslem attack. Some of it was lost, leading to other crusades lasting until the 1400s, when Jerusalem was taken by the Moslems.

The Crusades, however, proved of great value to Europe. They stimulated trade and brought the rich civilization of the east into contact with that of the west.

Nairobi Supermarket Offers Wide Variety

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — A visit to Nairobi's "supermarket" would surprise American housewives who think of Africa in terms of noisy animals, strange languages and dark jungles.

Gourmets priding themselves on exotic dishes from distant lands at high prices would find Nairobi's supermarket has plenty of variety, and often at lower prices than in America.

There are mushrooms from France, Hungary, Australia, Denmark and Scotland, 21 varieties of curries and spices from Bombay, shrimp chips and ginger from Hong Kong and tarragon vinegar from Britain and Belgium.

LASAGNA FROM U.S.

Along the heavily stocked aisles there are bean sprouts from Hong Kong, olives from Spain, Belgium, Britain and the United States, five kinds of rice from the United States, a wide variety of Heinz baby foods, 58 varieties of U.S. spices and seemingly endless variation of cake mixes.

Wines come from Australia, France, Italy, Germany, Spain, Gibraltar and Cyprus. There is excellent Pilsner from Pilsen, Czechoslovakia, and other bottled beers from the United States, Holland, Denmark, Kenya and Tanzania. There is Guinness stout from Dublin.

The diet-conscious can find five flavors of Metrecal, and custard mixes not only from Kenya but also from Montrose, Scotland, and White Plains, N.Y. There are cleansers from Cheshire, Scotland, Cincinnati, Ohio, and the Elephant Soap Factory Ltd., Nairobi.

Unborn Child's Rights at Issue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Juvenile Court judge says he has no power to force a dying woman to receive blood transfusions that could save the life of her unborn child.

"Courts don't make decisions in such cases," Judge Leopoldo G. Sanchez said Wednesday. "It's out of their hands."

The woman is Frances Brown, a 36-year-old member of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious sect which opposes transfusions on what it says is scriptural authority.

Her physician, Dr. Alvin M. Gottlieb, filed the suit on behalf of the child which he said she has been carrying for about 6½ months.

But David Jacobsohn, Mrs. Brown's attorney, said Juvenile Court's jurisdiction over a child does not begin until the child is born.

Hippie Student Pulls a Badge

School, Police Mum on Undercover Work

NEW YORK (AP) — The youth with the long hair, safari jacket, bell-bottom dungarees, black turtle-neck sweater and cowboy boots was one of the hippiest-looking lads in the latest Columbia University riot.

He looked so much at home on campus that the students barricaded in Hamilton Hall let him through the barricades without hesitation, he said, and accepted him as one of them.

★ ★ ★

He listened to the students singing "We Shall Overcome," he continued, and heard their leader, Mark Rudd, incite them to resist arrest and make things hard for the police.

Then, he said, he walked over to Rudd, showed him his badge, and put him under arrest.

SPECIAL SERVICES

The long-haired youth identified himself to newsmen as Patrolman Frank Ferrara, a 23-year-old member of the police department's Bureau of Special Services.

The police department was officially silent today—as was Columbia—on the subject of undercover policemen, but an unidentified police source said Ferrara had been doing undercover work at Columbia for the past two months.

★ ★ ★

It was Ferrara, according to the police source, who filed the complaint against Rudd, saying the campus chairman of Students for a Democratic Society had urged other students to "barricade doorways and to resist attempts by police to arrest other persons . . . to commit a felony—to wit, riot in the first degree."

After he was arraigned and his father had posted $2,500 bail, young Rudd was asked about his "friend who turned out to be a policeman."

"I never saw that guy before in my life," he replied.

Avondale High Holds 1st Fair

By JAN MALANE

Avondale High School held its first all-school fair last night. Every teacher in the school had at least one table to use for displaying the work of his students.

Among the displays were research papers from the English department, art works, woodworking projects and model cities. During the fair the choir presented a short program and several students from the art department demonstrated various techniques.

★ ★ ★

The names of the top 10 seniors have been announced. The valedictorian of the class is Jan White. The salutatorian is Carol Augsburger.

★ ★ ★

The others in order of rank are Don Roe, Vicki Sheldon, Marcia Cardona, Mark Johnson, Jan Malane, Deanna Bishop and Bill Burger. Sally Hackett and Russell McArthur are tied for 10th place.

5 SPEAKERS

This year instead of having one main speaker at the graduation ceremony, the top five seniors will speak.

Tuesday, AHS will host its annual All-Sports Banquet to honor students who have participated in sports this year.

Groves Decisions Made

By BENITA ROSEN

This week was one of decision-making and position-changing at Wylie E. Groves High School. The new Scriptor-Talon staffs were announced and election of class and Student Council officers was held.

The annual Journalism Banquet last Wednesday evening was held to honor the present newspaper (The Scriptor) and yearbook (The Talon) staffs for their work. The staffs for next year's publications were announced.

★ ★ ★

Banquet emcees Scott Duncanson and Steve Deshler from the Scriptor and Margaret Browning and Gail Granader from the Talon kept the 200 journalism students and parents laughing before and after dinner in the Banquet Room at Stouffers, Northland.

The emcees' main duties were to hand out tradition mock awards to their co-workers.

NONSENSICAL GIFTS

The awards consist of nonsensical gifts to each staff member. Usually the gift reflects on some part of their personality, interests or an episode that occurred during the year.

Among the most humorous awards were a blown-up picture of the journalism room for the "most devoted" staff member who spent an average of three and one-half hours a day in the room and a Denver sandwich for a girl who talks of nothing but Colorado, site of the ski trip.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Frank Vaydik, Scriptor and Talon adviser, thanked both staffs for their cooperation and hard work during the year. She then presented pins and membership cards to the Quill and Scroll inductees on both staffs.

★ ★ ★

The coveted MVAD (Most Valuable at Deadline) award, which acknowledges a member from each staff for extra hard work and long hours was shared this year by Darra-Lee Hackett and Carol Cofer for the Scriptor and Sherry Bloker and Margaret Browning for the Talon.

STAFF POSITIONS

Highlight of the evening was the announcement of the '68-'69 staff positions by Mrs. Vaydik. Both the newspaper and the yearbook will have comanaging editors: Sue Dickson and Scott Duncanson for the Scriptor and Diane Fedete and Linda Shahan for the Talon.

Handling the job of business manager for the Talon will be Kathy Bodine.

Talon section editors will be Kathy Bailey, Elli Kreamer and Mary Nelsom, curriculum; Peggy Carpenter and Sue Sklar, student life; Sue Lapp, Sally Thomas and Ann Williams, activities; Penny Blumberg, Bud Lane and Debbie Wood, sports; and Kathy Bartlemay and Jeni Gerhardt, underclass.

★ ★ ★

EXCITING CAMPAIGN

Fervor and excitement surrounded the Groves Student Council and class officers election this year. Campaigning went to a greater extent than ever before. Previous to this last election, the only way a voting student could get to know who the candidates were and what their plans for the school were, was by reading their campaign posters, or by listening to a sketchy speech in a crowded and noisy auditorium.

This year, several small sessions were held in the Little Theater, which allowed students to question the running candidates on their platforms and plans for the next year.

★ ★ ★

Results of the elections were announced late Tuesday afternoon.

Three WTH Seniors' Grades Are Perfect

By MARY JERGOVICH

Last year there were two; this year, three; next year maybe four?

★ ★ ★

Thomas Ott was named salutatorian with a 3.96 grade average.

SCHOLARSHIP RECEIVED

Brenda Clemens has received a $2,400 scholarship to Albion College on a liberal arts curriculum.

Brenda is a member of National Honor Society and Thespians and has been in the Dramatics, Latin and Foreign Exchange clubs.

★ ★ ★

NUMEROUS AWARDS

Chris has received many awards and scholarships for her scholastic ability.

She received a Michigan Cancer Foundation Summer Science scholarship, a Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority Scholarship, Oakland Community Trust scholarship and Michigan Regents Alumni scholarship.

She is a nominee for the Daughters of the American Revolution scholarship and is an honoree of the Twenty-Seventh Annual Science Talent Search sponsored by Westinghouse.

Christina has been listed in Merit's "Who's Who" among American high school students.

MERIT MEMBER

She is a merit member on the council of Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters.

Active both in and out of school, Chris is a member of the Foreign Exchange, Ski and English clubs and was a Student Council alternate.

★ ★ ★

Her spare time is devoted to volunteer work and playing the violin.

Waterford's third valedictorian is also an active girl.

MANAGING EDITOR

Phyllis Ranke is managing editor of the yearbook and the community editor of the school's literary arts magazine.

She is a member of Quill and Scroll, National Honor Society, Student Council, class board, Student Affairs Committee and is Latin Club president.

★ ★ ★

Phyllis took a first in Speak up for Waterford contest and first in oratory in the school district. She took second in oratory school forensics contest and third in regional forensics contest.

Phyllis will also attend University of Michigan.

Salutatorian Thomas Ott will attend U. of M. this fall and study liberal arts and science.

He is a member of the Spanish Club, class board, Interact Club and National Honor Society.

★ ★ ★

He was a National Merit semifinalist and won a U. of M. Honor Regents Alumni scholarship.

The remaining six seniors that make up the top ten academic ranking of the class are: Gary Edwards, 3.92; Sharon Terry, 3.92; Lois Dohner, 3.91; Bob McAllister, 3.89; Stuart Frenkel, 3.87 and Kathrine Ziemba, 3.81.

CONCERT TUESDAY

Tuesday Waterford Girls' Choir, Camarata Singers and A Capella Choir will present their annual spring concert at 7:30 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Highlights of the evening will include A Cappella doing "Cantique" by Faure; Girl's Choir doing "Dream on Little Dreamer" by Fred B. Burch and Jan Crutchfield; and Camarata Singers doing some madrigals.

★ ★ ★

Township's junior class will present its annual junior showboat tonight and tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Ribbon Day Event Is June 4 at Novi

By THOM HOLMES

One of the last activities which will help close this school year at Novi High School will be a "Sophomore Ribbon Day" June 4. All high school girls may buy a ribbon from a sophomore representative and participate in the event.

A campaign rally was held Monday to allow each of the candidates for a class office or Student Council to give their speeches.

★ ★ ★

After the speeches had been presented, each candidate for Student Council was given an opportunity to answer a series of questions from a panel and from the audience.

Mott Thespians Ready 'Lottery'

By GEORGIA ROSEWALL

The Waterford Mott Drama Club is in the final phase of rehearsals for its last play of the year, "The Lottery."

The play will be presented to the student body in a special assembly during the first week of June.

★ ★ ★

"The Lottery" was written by Brainerd Duffield and adapted from the story by Shirley Jackson.

Basically, the play deals with traditions. It takes place in a small country town, where the people must decide whether or not to continue with the tradition of the lottery.

UNEXPECTED ENDING

It is a serious play with an uncomplicated plot and leaves the audience with questions and only in the end do you know the answer. It has an unexpected ending.

The main characters are: Tessie, Linda Sampson; Bill, Keith Sirlin; Belva Summers, Kathy Phipps; and Joe Summers, Jim Durnbaugh.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, elections were held to determine the Student Council officers for next year.

CANDIDATES

Candidates were: Cinda White and Jim Durnbaugh, chairman; Mari Lynn Hutson and Larry Gibons, vice chairman; and Connie Crawford and Vickie Koehn, treasurer.

Running unopposed was Cindy Ewer for recording secretary. Kris Childs and Georgia Rosewall were candidates for corresponding secretary.

At Troy High School

Four Top Scholars Named

By LINDA SWEET

Troy High School's graduating class has both cosalutitorians and covaledictorians. The four honor students are members of the National Honor Society besides being extremely active in class activities.

One of the covaledictorians is Sonia Pippin. Sonia who has achieved a 4.0 average plans to attend Oakland University and major in business education or anthropology.

★ ★ ★

She is a member of the Vivace Club, vice president of the Concert Choir, and a copy editor of the yearbook.

MODULAR SCHEDULING

As many seniors she thinks highly of the now-discontinued modular scheduling. She said "I feel I have benefited greatly from nearly four years of modular scheduling."

Marsha Renshaw also has a 4.0 average to share valedictorian honors with Sonia. Marsha is captain of the cheerleaders, treasurer of the senior class, business manager of the yearbook and one of Troy's representatives at the American Legion Auxiliary at Girls' State.

In her junior year she was awarded a Rotary Club award and as a member of the Rainbows recently held the office of worthy advisor. Marsha plans to attend Western Michigan University and major in business education or math.

Ted Greenstein and Nancy Peski are cosalutatorians. They each have a 3.97 average. Nancy was also a representative to Girls' State in addition to being editor of the yearbook, class secretary, and both president and accompanist of the Concert Choir. She plans to attend the University of Michigan in liberal arts.

MERIT FINALIST

Ted Greenstein, a National Merit finalist, has been accepted at Michigan State University where he will major in economics and computer science.

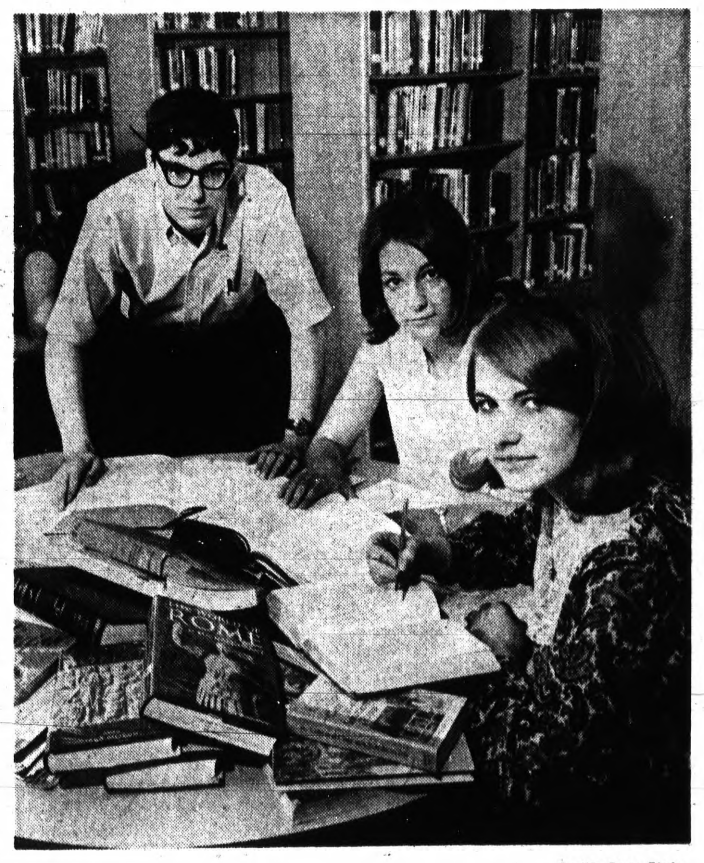

Vice president of the honor society and public relations officer of the Student Government, he is also coeditor of the newpaper.

★ ★ ★

"American high school and college students," he says, "have recently realized their responsibility to society. This has been reflected in the recent wave of campus protests. Only in working to improve his society can a man feel that he is part of his society."

Baccaulaureate ceremonies will be held June 9 and commencement ceremonies June 13.

1st PC Valedictorian Named

JUDY PEOPLES

By DEBBIE ROCHON

The first valedictorian and salutatorian chosen from Pontiac Catholic High School were recently announced.

★ ★ ★

Her high school activities have included Pep Club, senior government seminar, National Honor Society and class officer.

She was also in Sodality, Sacristans and on the girls' basketball team. Judy received a Salute to Youth award in scholarship.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peoples, 158 Murphy, Judy plans to attend Oakland University in the college of liberal arts.

Atwood Lynn, salutatorian of his class, has maintained a 3.91 grade average. Atwood has been a Student Council and class officer, yearbook and school newspaper editor, and representative for Pontiac's Citizens Committee on Youth.

★ ★ ★

He was also a member of the senior government seminar, was once chosen Teen of the Week and is chairman of a teen-dialogue group.

He also received "Youth Appreciation and Salute to Youth Awards.

Atwood, son of Mr. amd Mrs. Atwood Lynn Sr. of 2279 Old Salem Rd., will attend the University of Michigan and he plans to major in sociology or mathematics.

★ ★ ★

Many PC girls had their "modeling debut" recently while displaying various uniforms that could be chosen as Pontiac Catholic's regulation dress next year.

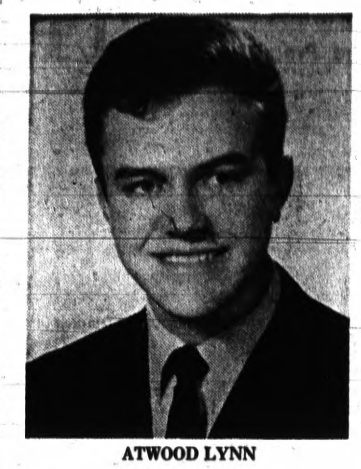

CHOICE MADE

After two days of careful consideration, parents and students chose a white blouse and green and white houndstooth skirt as a mandatory uniform. A green blazer, vest and sweater are optional.

A banquet was held Wednesday to honor the Citizen's Committee on Youth representatives and also those students who were chosen as Teen of the Week this year.

★ ★ ★

Representing Pontiac Catholic at this dinner were Maria Bora, Atwood Lynn, Janie Heitjan, Paul Schmansky and Debbie Rochon.

Wednesday a cap-and-gown ceremony was held for the seniors in the presence of the entire student body.

Mother Lucille, superior of the Oxford Dominican Sisters, addressed and congratulated the seniors on their accomplishments, as did the principal, Sister Rose Valerie.

The seniors then received their caps and gowns. The graduates were assisted by junior class officers and Student Council vice president, Kathy Generoux, mistress of ceremonies.

TALENT SHOW STAGED

Friday, freshmen presented their talent show to the students and faculty. The theme, "It's a Small World," was a takeoff on Captain Kangaroo.

Among the visitors to the show were Mr. Green Jeans, Bunny Rabbit, Dancing Bear and dear old Grandfather Clock.

★ ★ ★

Another feature in the show was a visit from unborn twins with some exciting views on the future.

Walled Lake Scholar

Walled Lake Senior High School has a National Merit Scholar. Tom Ostrander, a senior, has been awarded the Ethel Gasoline Corporation Merit Scholarship, a four-year grant. He will enter the University of Michigan in the fall and he plans to pursue a science-oriented course of study.

Merit Scholars rank academically in the top one and one half per cent of the nation's seniors.

Tom was one of three semi-finalists at Walled Lake. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Ostrander, 3440 Edgewood Park Drive, Union Lake. His father is the director of the technical department, petroleum chemicals division, Ethel Corporation. He has one brother, John, 10, a student at Union Lake Eelementary school.

Holly Stages Council Officer Races

By MARCIA CLARK

Along with the Student Council choice, the ballot will offer a mock millage election.

It is hoped the mock election will stir up concern among the students for the seriousness of the passage of the millage issue. It has failed three times previously in the public election.

FAULURE MEANS CUTS

If it fails again, some classes would be cut entirely (journalism, transcription and chemistry II). Each student would have to cut one class from his or her next year's schedule and classes would be considerably larger.

Wednesday, Holly High's two foreign exchange students Margaret Chalupny, Austria, and Madeline Niester, Germany, talked to the students about their homelands and their reaction to the United States.

Paper's Staff Retiring

By RANDY KARP

The Vanguard staff at Stevenson High School is turning over its last-edition duties to the journalism class so class members may gain practical experience

The "Titan Up" (the journalism paper) is sponsored by Mrs. Dale B. Prescott. It was organized by Jim Brundirks, editor in chief.

The paper will be distributed Wednesday and will end publication for the year with exception to the senior edition which is being compiled by both Utica and Stevenson High newspapers.

Yell Belles Picked for Brandon Squads

By MICHAEL COOPER

Brandon High School's varsity cheerleading squad has been selected and consists of Marlene Featherston, Terri Grovesteen, Caren Kapson, Brenda Owen, Jill Roman and Cindy Sanders.

The girls are all juniors with the exception of Terrie and Caren who are sophomores.

Lake Orion High Student Council Holds Election

By CHERYL GRITZINGER

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Kathy Fisher, a junior, was recently elected Lake Orion's Venetian Queen for 1968. She will reign during the annual Venetian parade to be held this summer on Lake Orion.

★ ★ ★

The Lake Orion chapter of the Future Teachers Association announced its officers for next year. Dave Stenquist is the president; Deena Hards, vice president; Pam Whitlock, secretary; Harold Flood, treasurer; and Pam Brady, historian.

HIGHEST AWARD

The Girls' Athletic Association at its Annual Awards Banquet honored Janet Doolin, Mary King and Denise Carrothers. The girls received the GAA's highest award, the honor pin.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Alice Washington was tapped as the most valuable club member.

★ ★ ★

New officers were also announced. Denise Carrothers was reelected president; Vickie Doolin, vice president; Debbie Wingett, secretary; and Leana Leinprandt, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

It will be held June 12 to 19 at Michigan State University. It is sponsored by the American Legion.

Mary Martin Loves the Road

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

LOS ANGELES — When Mary Martin says "let's hit the road," she implies no halfway measures. Here is the itinerary she and Robert Preston are following with their Broadway hit, "I Do! I Do!"

THOMAS

Rochester, Indianapolis, Minneapolis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Vancouver, B.C., Seattle, Portland, St. Louis, Phoenix, Omaha, St. Paul, Milwaukee, Kansas City, Dallas, Houston, Cleveland, Memphis, Charlotte, Greensboro, Richmond, Washington, D.C., Baltimore, Detroit, Philadelphia, Raleigh, Miami, Jacksonville, Hershey, Pa.

That will take them through March 1969. Still unbooked are April and May, after which the tour ends and Mary and her husband, Richard Halliday, plan to spend two years on their ranch in Brazil. "That is a promise we made to each other; we even signed a paper to that effect on our last anniversary," she insists.

Mary Martin is the last of the great Broadway stars to devote her talents to "the road;" that is, to tour the major American cities with a play that has met with success in New York. Oddly enough, she fell in love with the traveling bug during her brief movie career.

"It was after I had made 'The Great Victor Herbert,' and Paramount sent Allan Jones and me out on the road to publicize it," she recalled. "We traveled all over, playing seven shows a day. Think of it—seven shows a day! But I loved it. And while I was in Houston, I was lucky enough to meet Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, who were traveling with 'Taming of the Shrew'.

"I naturally worshipped them as greats of the theater, and I listened to everything they said. One thing they told me was: 'If you should go back to the theater, be sure to go on the road with your plays. You will find the audiences enormously stimulating, and those people will come to see you whenever they visit New York.'

★ ★ ★

"As it turned out, I decided I did prefer the theater. I left films and never went back except for doing 'My Heart Belongs to Daddy' for Cole Porter (in the film biography, 'Night and Day.')"

'Youngsters Litter Less'

A cross section of professional and vollunteer litter fighters was asked by Keep America Beautiful, the national antilitter organization, whether children litter more than adults.

The answer was no. Fifty-eight per cent of those participating in the poll, incuding litter fighters from all 50 states, said children litter less than adults. Thirtyt-wo p cent said adults litter less, while 10 per cent were undecided.

The Gourmet Adventures of Jayson's

American cookery, although not of the longest lineage, has a proud tradition. The people of many lands and culture have contributed to it. It is a rich and varied cuisine, having a wealth of foods to work with. Much has been sung in praise of the great discoveries made in the New World by European explorers. But perhaps the greatest discovery had been made thousands of years before by the originals, the Indians. It was they who, in a real sense, discovered or "invented" corn. In their widely varying languages and dialects, the Indian gave corn different names. But no matter how different, all meant the same, "Our Life."

We take pride in our friendly service, our beautiful and comfortable atmosphere, and our delicious food at JAYSON'S, 4195 Dixie Hwy. at Hatchery Rd. Doors Open Wider for Negroes in TV, Films

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Peyton Place" adds a Negro family this fall.

Diahann Carroll stars in her own dramatic series. Three Negroes will be among its script-writers.

Yes, as you may already have noticed, more Negroes than ever are working in television.

★ ★ ★

In movies, too. The first feature film ever directed by a Negro rolls this summer. And in two films Negroes will costar romantically with whites—Lena Horne with Richard Widmark, Raquel Welch with Jim Brown.

Brown, the football star, turned actor, will play love scenes with the shapely Miss Welch in "100 Rifles," an outdoor adventure drama from 20th Century-Fox. Miss Horne will portray Widmark's sweetheart who marries him near the end of a Universal Western, "Patch." It will be Lena's first nonsinging movie performance.

Once Negroes were almost nonexistent on the screen, or were caricatures, the foils for harsh, stereotyped comedy. In response to pressure from civil rights groups, they began getting more and better parts. "Tokenism," many called it.

A bigger breakthrough has come in, roughly, the last year. Trade papers have noted it.

★ ★ ★

Daily Variety proclaimed: "TV truly now black & white . . . Negroes rapidly becoming fixtures in series." And — "15 CBS series cast Negroes."

Not that Negroes have it made in their drive for more work before and behind the cameras. Far from it, especially behind.

THROWING A BONE

Some still call it tokenism, among them Dick Gregory, the Negro comedian who became a civil rights activist. He says: "They're not fooling anyone with what they're doing, throwing out a bone here and there."

Hari Rhodes, black assistant to the white doctor on "Daktari," sees a slightly different kind of tokenism:

"Producers go as far as they're allowed in a restricted system. We're saying to the world that we have a divided society, that only white men go with white women, black men with black women. I'd like to see more instances of people dealing with people, no matter what color they are, on a natural level."

★ ★ ★

Don Mitchell, Raymond Burr's Negro aide on "Ironside," says more Negro actors are working, but behind the camera "there's not a single Negro stunt man, electrician, cameraman—you name it. They just don't exist."

A Negro booker of Negro movie-television talent says her business is up nearly 150 per cent over last year.

MORE WORK

Nichelle Nichols, shapely crew member on "Star Trek," says: "There's certainly more work for Negroes now than, say, a year ago. I hope it continues."

Latest available statistics compare the third quarter of 1966 with the third quarter of 1967:

1967—30 movies, 93 Negroes.

The television comparison is similar. For Negro technicians hired in both movies and television in the three-month periods the increase was: 1966—84; 1967—108.

Any television viewer realizes that more Negroes now appear in commercials, usually with white performers.

FIRST DIRECTOR

Negroes Special Report A079: performers. 400

Negro players plug deodorants, mouthwash, toothpaste, salad oil, carbonated water, soft drinks, airlines, toys, beer, cigarettes, life insurance, cameras, etc.

The movies' first Negro feature director is Gordon Parks, author, composer and for 20 years a Life magazine photographer. He's filming tests before taking his cameras to Fort Scott, Kan., to film his autobiographical novel, "The Learning Tree," for Warner Bros.-Seven Arts.

★ ★ ★

Parks credits studio head Ken Hyman with "a lot of guts for hiring me. He gave me the chance because he believes I can do it and not because I'm a Negro," Parks told the Hollywood Reporter.

Exclusive of actors, Universal Studio employs 393 Negroes, an increase of about 10 per cent over a year ago and nearly 10 per cent of its total employment 4,200. Many are office workers.

COSBY DISGUISE

Three years ago, Variety noted, the television industry "was truly surprised when NBC-TV and executive producer Sheldon Leonard cast Bill Cocby as co-star with Bob Culp in 'I Spy,' but today crossing television's color line is a common occurrence."

Three ABC-TV shows premiering this fall, "Land of the Giants," "The Outcasts" and "The Mod Squad," will have Negro regulars. At NBC, "I Spy" has been dropped, but Miss Carroll will start her series, "Julia," with a 6-year-old playing her son. Negroes continue on "Star Trek" and "Ironside." NBC has signed comedian Flip Wilson to what it calls a long-term contract.

★ ★ ★

CBS has cast Negroes as regulars of varying importance in 15 of 25 television series to be filmed in Hollywood next season. Among the new Negro roles are:

A young friend for Clint Howard on "Gentle Ben" . . . A cowboy on "Lancer" . . . A Marine in "Gomer Pyle" . . . A secretary for Mike Connors on "Mannix" . . . A representative of the Department of Agriculture, a recurring character, on "Petticoat Junction."

WHY UPSURGE?

Besides "Daktari," two other CBS shows have had Negro regulars since their start — Ivan Dixon on "Hogan's Heroes" and Greg Morris on "Mission: Impossible."

Why the upsurge in Negro employment?

Says Lillian Cumber, the talent agent whose business has increased nearly 150 per cent:

"Basically it's economics. Civil rights groups have been demanding that the industry use more Negroes and if it doesn't they're going to boycott certain products. Movies see that something is successful, and they follow the tide."

★ ★ ★

A busy Negro actor said: "I don't care what the reason is. Call it a quickening of conscience because of the riots and assassinations, or say it's just recognition, at last. It works, baby, and that's all we care about."

Lost Colony Is Recreated

WASHINGTON — America's mysterious lost colony reappears each summer at Manteo, N.C., the very place where Sir Walter Raleigh founded the settlement.

A 100-member cast reenacts Pulitzer Prize-winner Paul Green's epic story of the first English settlement in America, "The Lost Colony." The outdoor drama's 28th season runs from June 21 to Aug. 25.

The lost colony began in 1584 when Captains Philip Amadas and Arthur Barlowe from England landed on an island off the present North Carolina coast "which the Indians called Roanoke."

MAN'S BONES FOUND

The explorers stayed two months before returning to England. An expedition the following year established a colony, and left 10 months later, assigning 15 men to guard the outpost.

★ ★ ★

In 1587, a second group of colonists discovered the fort had been razed. They found the bones of only one man. John White, veteran of the first voyage, and now governor of the colony, put the settlers to work building new cottages.

★ ★ ★

White reluctantly sailed to England for supplies. The war with Spain barred his return. Not until 1590, two years after the defeat of the Spanish Armada, could he embark for Roanoke.

"What he saw then struck him numb," recounts National Geographic's "America's Historyland." Deserted, overgrown, palisaded with tree trunks, the settlement gave no clue to the fate of the colonists.

★ ★ ★

The sad fate of the village blocked further English colonization until Jamestown was established in Virginia in 1607.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Female Hormones Fight Decalcification

BRANDSTADT

Q—In a recent column you said that female hormone causes calcium deposits in the body, or am I misquoting you?

I have been taking Premarin and recently my finger joints have been painful. What would cause this?

A — Women who are past 50 are prone to develop osteoporosis (decalcification) of the spine which, in advanced cases, may lead to collapse of one or more vertebrae.

Female hormones help to prevent this decalcification but they do not cause excessive calcium deposits.

The pain in your joints is most likely due to the arthritis that so often accompanies aging.

Q — My doctor, just by looking at me, said I had a lack of calcium. How could she tell without making any tests? What symptoms would it cause?

★ ★ ★

A — A lack of calcium may be diagnosed by determining the blood calcium level or by signs of decalcification of bones as seen in X-ray films. I know of no other way to tell.

★ ★ ★

A calcium deficiency may be associated with a deficiency of parathyroid hormone, in which case muscular spasms in the hands and nervous irritability would be prominent symptoms.

NO SYMPTOMS

If you have an uncomplicated calcium deficiency, you might have no symptoms at all or a weakness in the bones might develop.

Q — I have taken calcium tablets for two years. Can one take too much calcium?

★ ★ ★

When much larger amounts are taken, practically all of the excess passes through the digestive tract and is not absorbed into the blood.

An excess of Calcium in the blood may, however, occur in such diseases as hyperthyroidism, vitamin D poisoning, multiple myeloma and sarcoidosis.

Q — I had hay fever since 1920 until I moved to Miami, Fla., two years ago. If I paid a visit up north in August, would my hay fever return?

★ ★ ★

A — Miami is a favored spot in that it has a very low ragweed pollen index.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

If you return to the area where you had trouble before, it is very likely that your hay fever would return.

Huge Hydrogen Clouds, Milky Way Seen Crashing

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Earth's home galaxy, the Milky Way, may be on a collision course with massive, fast-moving clouds of hydrogen — but even if they should hit, no one but astronomers would ever notice.

★ ★ ★

Hydrogen clouds outside the galaxy have been known for some time, but most of them are slow, moving at rates averaging six miles per second. The clouds may be from 20 to 30 light years across and 300 to 450 light years apart.

They weigh on the average of about 300 times what the sun does — six billion billion billion tons — but their size makes them extremely tenuous, with only about 150 atoms to the cubic inch.

Astronomers had become accustomed to these figures, and it was with some surprise that they began during the last few years to find some exceptionally fast clouds — with velocities of 60 to 100 miles per second.

PECULIAR CHARACTERISTIC

Observers at the Dwingeloo Observatory of Leiden University in the Netherlands, principally Profs. Jan H. Oort and H. C. van de Hulst, have counted at least 30 of these fast clouds that have one peculiar characteristic: They are all coming toward the plane of the galaxy.

The question is: Are they coming through, or will they pass beyond the galaxy's rim?

Prof. Oort thinks these clouds — between 900 and 1,500 light years away — are extragalactic objects that have been caught by the gravitational attraction of our galaxy, and are crashing into it.

Dwingeloo looks mainly to the north of the galaxy, which is a broad, flat disk lying roughly in the east-west direction. If such fast clouds exist in the north, then, unless something very strange indeed is going on, they should also exist in the south.

NO SEARCH

From Australia has come word that a few such clouds have been seen, but as yet, according to Prof. Frank J. Kerr of the University of Maryland, no systematic search for them has been carried out.

Prof. Kerr disagrees with Prof. Oort on what the clouds are doing. Prof. Kerr believes they are more distant and that they are satellites of our galaxy orbiting around it as the moon does around the earth.

One reason for the wide disagreement is that although observers can tell the velocities of the clouds from direct observation, they cannot tell precisely how far away they are and whether their motion is carrying them on a collision path or in an orbit.

AMENDMENT
TO: ORDINANCE NO. 60

The Township of White Lake, County of Oakland, State of Michigan ordains that Ordinance No. 60, known as the Subdivision Fee Ordinance, be amended as follows:

ADD TO SECTION 200, so that when amended it shall read:

SECTION 200. (a) The Proprietor shall, upon submission of a Pre-Preliminary Plan for examination, from an engineering viewpoint, for general conformance to contours and topographic features and general consultation, pay to the Township the sum of $1.00 per lot but in no event shall such fee be less than the sum of $50.00.

(b) The Proprietor shall upon first submission of the preliminary plat for tentative approval, pay to the Township the sum of $2.00 per lot but in no event shall such fee be less than the sum of $100.00.

ADD SECTION 203, to read as follows:

SECTION 203. In the event the filing fees under the preceding sections exceed the costs of examination and inspection of plats, that portion remaining in excess of $100.00, after such costs have been paid and the plat recorded, may be refunded to the proprietor upon his written application for refund with the approval of the Township Board.

Adopted by the White Lake Township Board this twenty-first day of May, 1968.

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE
$4,000,000.00
COUNTY OF OAKLAND
STATE OF MICHIGAN
MOTOR VEHICLE HIGHWAY
FUND BONDS OF 1968

Sealed bids for the purchase of "Motor Vehicle Highway Fund Bonds of 1968" to be issued by the County of Oakland, State of Michigan, of the par value of $4,000,000, will be received by the undersigned, at his office in the Oakland County Road Commission building, 2420 Pontiac Lake Road, Pontiac, Michigan, until 10:00 o'clock A.M. Eastern Daylight Time, on Monday, the 10th day of June, 1968, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read, and will be presented to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors for action at its meeting to be held on the same day.

Said bonds will be dated June 1, 1968, will be registrable as to principal only, will be numbered consecutively in the direct order of their maturities from 1 to 800, both inclusive, will be coupon bonds in the denomination of $5,000 each, and will bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding 5% per annum, payable on January 1, 1969, and thereafter semi-annually on July 1 and January 1. Each bid shall state the annual interest rate or rates upon which it is submitted, expressed in multiples of ⅛ or 1/20 of 1%, or any combination thereof. The interest on any one bond shall be at one rate only, shall be represented by one coupon only for each coupon period, and all bonds maturing in the same year shall carry the same rate of interest. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially on July 1 in years and principal amounts as follows: $50,000 in the year 1969, $75,000 in the year 1970, $100,000 in the year 1971, $125,000 in each of the years 1972 and 1973, $200,000 in each of the years 1974 through 1976, $225,000 in each of the years 1977 through 1979, and $250,000 in each of the years 1980 through 1988.

Bonds maturing in the years 1980 through 1988 shall be subject to redemption prior to maturity at the option of the County, in inverse numerical order, on any one or more interest payment dates on and after July 1, 1979, at the par value thereof and accrued interest, plus a premium on each bond in accordance with the following schedule:

$100 if called to be redeemed on or after July 1, 1979 but prior to July 1, 1981
$75 if called to be redeemed on or after July 1, 1981 but prior to July 1, 1983
$50 if called to be redeemed on or after July 1, 1983 but prior to July 1, 1985
$25 if called to be redeemed on or after July 1, 1985.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of the bonds to be redeemed, by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the City of Detroit, Michigan, which carries as a part of its regular service, notices of the sale of municipal bonds, or if any of said bonds shall be registered, notice of the redemption thereof shall also be sent by registered mail to the registered holders, at least thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption.

Bonds so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption, provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem said bonds.

Both principal and interest will be payable at such bank or trust company qualified to serve as paying agent under the laws of the Federal Government or the State of Michigan, as shall be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds. A co-paying agent or agents so qualified, with the same qualifications may also be so designated. The paying agent or agents shall be subject to the approval by the County.

The bonds are to be issued under Act No. 51, Michigan Public Acts of 1951, as amended (especially Section 18c thereof), for the purpose of defraying a part of the cost of constructing and reconstructing highways in the primary and local road systems of the County of Oakland. The principal and interest on said bonds are payable primarily from Motor Vehicle Highway Funds derived from state collected taxes to be returned to the Board of County Road Commissioners of said county pursuant to said Act and an irrevocable appropriation and pledge of an amount thereof sufficient to pay such principal and interest has been made by the County Board of Supervisors. Such appropriation and pledge is subject, however, to the priority of pledges heretofore made by contract with the State Highway Commissioner for payment of aggregate amounts not exceeding $105,000 per year to finance construction of the Farmington-Brighton Expressway and the Northwestern Expressway. Pledges of equal priority with the pledge for the bonds herein offered for sale have been made for payment of principal and interest on outstanding bonds and notes heretofore issued by the county, and such pledges of equal priority may be made for payment of future county bonds, notes or contractual obligations, within limitations prescribed by said Act No. 51. In the event that moneys pledged are not sufficient to pay principal and interest on the bonds herein offered for sale, the County Treasurer is obligated, under resolution of the Board of Supervisors, to advance the amount of the deficiency from general funds of the county.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from July 1, 1968 to their respective maturities, and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the county. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $80,000, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the County Treasurer, must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Dickinson, Wright, McKean and Cudlip, attorneys, Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the bonds. The cost of said legal opinion and of the printing of the bonds (with the legal opinion printed on the back thereof) will be paid by the county. There will also be furnished the usual closing documents, including a non-litigation certificate, dated as of the date of delivery of the bonds. Bonds will be delivered at Detroit, Michigan, New York, N.Y., or Chicago, Illinois, at county expense. Payment shall be made in Federal Reserve funds if so requested by the county.

Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds."

R. G. WORLAND,
Secretary, Board of County Road Commissioners, Oakland County, Michigan.

TED'S CORNER
Should you try to sell your home yourself, or list it with a professional, "The Realtor"? Here are a few proven facts. You do not have the time to arrange for financing — the realtor can save you needless expenses. You may accept an insincere offer and spend months perhaps and litigation to free your property in order to put it on the market once more. The realtor will enlist the service of fellow real estate agents giving the owner the advantage of his entire local sales market. Most buyers seek a reputable broker because they realize the pitfalls to direct negotiations. The realtor will price the property to sell at a fair market value. The average owner over prices but eventually accepts a price below the market value. Let your broker do the talking and leave the selling to us.

MEMORIAL DAY SPECIAL
Here is one way to make camping vacation, hunting and fishing trips most luxurious. It's the all new Apache Ramada 8 sleeper, the biggest seller of the Apache Tribe. An easy-to-operate crank telescopes this compact camper into a full sized trailer in a matter of seconds. Want a camping trailer that really sleeps a gang? Then the Ramada is for you and it tows easily and economically at normal highway speeds. Complete with dinette, waist high galley, ice box, plastic windows, spare tire and wheel, bottle gas assembly, and heater. Bank terms available. $170 down and 36 months on the bal.
RANGER, YUMA, DOMINGO, CIMARRON
The newest and finest travel trailer on the market in these 4 models. Apache has the only insulation that meets the exacting standards necessary for the use in space vehicles or nuclear submarines. It is called Urethane. This material is water proofed and non-burning. Perma-frame cabintry is exclusive with Apache travel trailer regardless of price or size. Wide, wide track suspension. A waping increase of 8 per cent over the trailer means safeter vacations, more stability from crosswinds and when passing other trailers. 15 per cent down; 5 yrs. on bal., bank terms.

Candidate Out of County Race

Dale A. Feet, one of the three announced Republican candidates for the office of county treasurer, has withdrawn from the race.

An accountant and former county GOP chairman, Feet was promoted Wednesday by the S. S. Kresge Co. as controller for the company's chain of stores in the U.S. and its foreign subsidiaries.

Feet, 35, of 4260 South Shore, Waterford Township, had been manager of the firm's Corporate Audit Department.

The remaining two Republican contenders for the treasurer's post are Floyd M. Sibley of Clarkston and C. Hugh Dohaney of Southfield.

SCLC Leader

BAY CITY (AP)—The Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth, secretary of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, will speak at Delta College near Bay City June 1. His topic is: "Why We Can't Wait."

BRING 'EM BACK ALIVE — Automobile Club of Michigan Executive Vice President Richard R. Dann (right) of 4305 Lahser, Bloomfield Hills, accepts an appreciation plaque from Gov. George Romney offering thanks to the club from nearly 5 million motorists. The auto club's Bring 'Em Back Alive educational campaign played a major role in Michigan being the safest large industrial state in the nation during 1967, according to Romney. This year's campaign, to begin Memorial Day weekend, will stress the necessity for caution on two-lane roads where 70 per cent of Michigan's fatal accidents occur.

Romney Appoints County Man to Delinquency Unit

James W. Hunt, director of Oakland County Juvenile Court and Children's Services, has been appointed by Gov. Romney to a new 15-member commission established to find better means of combating the problems of juvenile delinquency.

The appointees are to join with a special 10-member legislative committee to study state and local services, programs and facilities dealing with juveniles.

★ ★ ★

Hunt has headed the court for 15 of the 30 years he has been with the juvenile division.

3 Bogus Bills Found at Bank

The appearance of two bogus $10 bills and one $20 at the Oxford Savings Bank has been reported by bank officials.

The phony money was turned in Monday and spotted by tellers Sharon Frost and Mrs. Kenneth Putnam.

Both $10 bills shared the same serial number — 1963 F02152248. They were described as being a funny shade of green with the printing not as sharp as that on regular currency. The $20 bill — serial number 1950 F 48101934B — was said to be a better counterfeiting job.

Bank authorities turned the money over to the Federal Reserve Bank for an investigation by the U.S. Treasury Department.

Wounds Fatal to Area Soldier

Spec. 4 Thomas Barrett, whose wife, Cathline, lives at 2062 Commonwealth, Pontiac Township, died May 14 from wounds received in combat in Vietnam. Barrett, 21, was stationed in Saigon.

He had been in Vietnam for a little more than a week.

Barret is the son of William Barrett of 2030 Commonwealth and Mrs. Barrett of 138 S. Merrimac. His brother Billie is also in the Army.

Spec. 4 Barrett entered the Army in June 1966. He took his training at Ft. Campbell, Ky., and Ft. Knox, Ky. He worked at Pontiac Motor Division prior to entering the Army.

Ex-Supervisor Given Prison

Former Royal Oak Township Supervisor Edward L. Kennedy was sentenced yesterday to 4 to 5 years in the state prison for conspiracy to commit bribery, and a concurrent 3 to 4-year term for accepting a bribe.

Two other ex-township officials, Frank Miles and Samuel Woodard, were each placed on five years probation by Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore for their part in the bribe. Miles had been treasurer and Woodard a trustee.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy was released on $5,000 bond after his attorney filed notice that he would appeal the conviction.

Kennedy was found guilty by a jury April 25 of charges brought against him in February 1966 by Oakland County Circuit Judge Philip Pratt while serving as a grand juror.

CHARGES

Pratt accused Kennedy, Miles and Woodard of accepting $2,000 from an employe of a demolition firm involved in urban renewal work. In return they gave their permission to burn debris in the township.

Without the authorization the company would have been required to truck the rubbish to another site outside the township.

★ ★ ★

Miles and Woodard pleaded guilty to the bribery charge April 5.

The case against the demolition company employe, Richard Adel, was dismissed on April 11 because of insufficient evidence, according to a spokeman for the Oakland County prosecutor's office.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Oakland County Board of Auditors for the construction of approximately 975 square yards of bituminous aggregate surface parking lots; the resurfacing of approximately 3,500 square yards of parking lots; and the seal coating, both with and without a sand slurry, of approximately 39,500 square yards of parking lots located on the County Service Center, Pontiac, Michigan.

Plans and Specifications will be available at the office of the Oakland County Board of Auditors' Facilities Engineering Division, 1200 N. Telegraph Road, Pontiac, Michigan, on and after May 23, 1968. A deposit check in the amount of $10.00 will be required for each set of the Plans and Specifications, which will be refunded upon the return of same, in good condition, within ten (10) days after bid opening.

Proposals shall be submitted on forms provided by the Owner. A Bid Bond or certified check in the amount of 5% of the bid shall accompany each Proposal. Checks shall be made payable to the Oakland County Board of Auditors.

The accepted bidder shall be required to furnish a satisfactory Performance Bond and Labor and Material Bond, each in the amount of 100% of the Contract. The cost of the bonds will be paid by the accepted bidder.

The Oakland County Board of Auditors will receive the sealed bids until 2 p.m., E.D.T., June 11, 1968 at the offices of the Oakland County Facilities Engineering Division, 1200 N. Telegraph Road, Pontiac, Michigan, at which time the bids shall be publicly opened and read.

Local Protests for Poor Are Postponed

The troubles which have arisen in Washington, D.C., as a result of the Poor People's March has caused Pontiac organizers to temporarily suspend further action here, Rev. V. L. Lewis, pastor of St. James Missionary Baptist Church, said today.

A march which had been scheduled in the city to show support for the Poor People's Campaign will not be held today, he said.

★ ★ ★

Lewis said that the organizing committee has also called off bus trips to the capital.

The minister said the organizing committee has been in touch with Dr. Ralph Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and was advised that the mass march on Washington, originally scheduled for next Thursday, will be delayed until the middle of June.

★ ★ ★

Lewis said activities of militants not connected with the Southern Christian Leadership Conference has blighted the original aim of the march.

Macomb Votes No to COG Membership

The Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments has suffered its most serious setback. The Macomb County Board of Supervisors has voted 56-6 not to participate in the regional agency.

Shelby Township Supervisor Kirby Holmes attributed the results of the vote to COG representatives' failure to answer adequately two recurring questions submitted by supervisors.

- What will Macomb County get for its $20,000 annual dues?
- What can COG do for Macomb that is not being done by existing regional agencies?

STARTED TALKING

Said Holmes, "I believe in cooperative planning for counties. We are part of the old regional planning commission, and I was prepared to vote for this until they started talking."

The "they" was in reference to E. Robert Turner, the $33,000 a year COG executive director; Robert Farley, deputy director in charge of governmental affairs; and William Mainland, Oakland County Milford Township Supervisor who is COG chairman.

★ ★ ★

"We had a hard time getting this COG presentation before the board prior to the vote. Everybody figured they'd already made up their minds," Holmes said.

COG is proposed as a cooperating agency of six counties. Oakland, Wayne, Washtenaw and Livingston have joined as have many of the units of local government within their areas.

INTENT TO JOIN

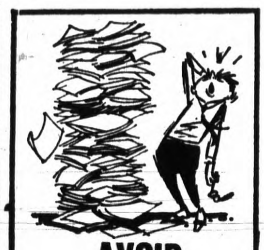

St. Clair County, while not yet a dues-paying member, has signified its intent to join, said Holmes.

Some discussion was given at Wednesday's meeting to the idea of forming a Macomb County regional planning agency, but no action was taken.

WEA Endorses Board Hopefuls

The Waterford Education Association has endorsed Louis Schimmel Jr., Mrs. Peggy Wood and Philip Hampton as candidates in the board of education race.

Schimmel and Hampton are among six candidates seeking two 4-year terms in the June 10 election. Mrs. Wood is one of two candidates seeking one 2-year term.

X-RAY RADIATION IN COLOR TV SETS?

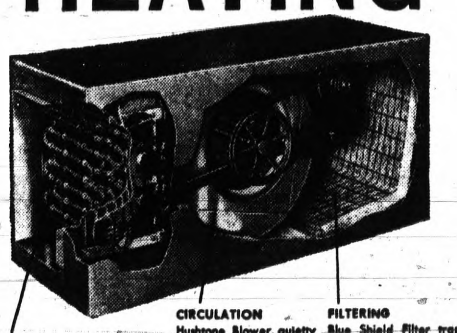

Very often we are confronted with reports of alleged dangers which have not been properly researched. The case of x-ray radiation in color TV sets is a classic example. Actually, there is little knowledge of the permissable limits of exposure to x-rays. Because of the very size of TV sets and the fact that x-rays "disintegrate" at about 2 inches away from their source, any danger is very unlikely. The radiation level would not even equal that emitted by a luminous dial wrist watch. Fear not, but do make certain your set is checked out by a TESA, of Oakland County Service Dealer and then enjoy the miracle of COLOR TV.

Shirley Will Halt 'Charity' to Aid Kennedy Campaign

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Shirley MacLaine's so enamored of Bobby Kennedy's presidential potential that she'll knock off filming "Sweet Charity" here and fly to L.A. to introduce him at a rally at the Sports Arena. Shirley'll then fly back here in time to film a scene on the roof of the Port Authority Building two days later . . . Shirley's been filming at Lincoln Center and Wall St., but hasn't encountered any screwballs . . . "Mayor Lindsay's eliminated all the screwballs from N.Y.," somebody said . . . "Really?" was my humorous retort.

WILSON

Because sideburns give men sex appeal, Hazel Bishop's going to bring out a line of sideburns, whiskers and mustaches to be distributed by one of its divisions, Joseph Marshall Imports. They'll range from Abe Lincoln to Commander Whitehead to Satan styles, and will be self-adhesive so you can wear 'em just weekends.

(B'way publicist Saul Richman says since he grew sideburns, lovely little girls approach him at bars and want to touch the sideburns. He has hardly a free moment any more.)

Earl Wilson Jr.—whoever he is—opened a one-week singing engagement at the St. Regis-Sheraton Maisonette—and was a little disappointing to this reviewer . . . Oh, sure, brilliant voice, charm, personality, good looks, originality, did I mention handsome? . . . And other traits so obviously inherited. And what a celebrity crowd that went delirious about him, for two shows! But, gee, I thought he could have spoken more reverently of his aging father sitting in the back instead of calling him "some kind of a nut" and saying that no matter how well he did, it would be Monique Van Vooren's picture in the column . . .

Oh, hello, Monique . . .

Monique, though separated from Jerry Purcell, the handsome manager, says, "He's the grooviest man I know and I won't divorce him because I don't want anybody else to have him" . . . Audrey Hepburn and bullfighter Antonio Ordonez are being very attentive to each other in swinging Spain.

Samuel Goldwyn'll demand a retraction, I suppose, but a friend tells me he refers to Jacqueline Susann's book as "Hello, Valley of the Dollies" . . . They tell me Mia Farrow comes out a very fine actress and looks very shapely, all over, in her nude dream sequence in "Rosemary's Baby."

Duke Ellington had some high-priced vocal help—working gratis—at his Rainbow Grill opening; Ella Fitzgerald and Tony Bennett came up to sing. (Duke announced, "I'm glad you liked my two singers.") . . . Rocky Graziano and Tony Zale, who had some classic fights, will spar for charity June 20 at Gallagher's 33 . . . Shelley Winters leaves after the premiere of "Wild in the Streets" to campaign for Kennedy.

Comic Bill Cosby'll play the Apollo Theater . . . Mrs. Sally Eaton, the pregnant girl in "Hair," had the baby Sunday—a boy, Ephraim; she'll be back in the show next week . . . You can bet Jackie Kennedy knows Lord Harlech'll make a long cross-country lecture tour early in '69. (Subject: "Must the West Decline?")

Romney Won't Veto Sex Education Bill

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. George Romney today said he will allow a bill permitting public schools to put sex education in the curriculums to become law without his signature. But he hinted he will veto a bill permitting birth control instruction.

Romney said he has reservations about allowing schools to begin sex instruction and, if the courses are "improperly organized and presented," birth control instruction should not be permitted.

★ ★ ★

The two bills went through the Legislature as companions. Romney expressed doubts that the one giving schools permission to teach sex education would have the desired effect. But he said he will not veto it.

Fire Chief to Quit in Benton Harbor

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — After 32 years on the job, Benton Harbor Fire Chief Murice Shepherdson, 57, Thursday announced his retirement, effective July 9. Shepherdson was named acting chief in September, 1952, and was appointed permanent chief four months later.

★ ★ ★

Shepherdson said he joined the department in 1936 with the family understanding his career would be "temporary". He revealed no plans after retirement.

Transportation expenditures in the United States during 1966 totaled about $151 billion, an increase of 6.1 per cent over 1965.

PARKING APLENTY — Creation of a parking mall downtown has boosted business and shopper interest, according to merchants on North Saginaw between Huron and Lawrence. Afternoon parkers here take up many of the spaces created by the new arrangement.

Logjammed House Faces Rare Session on Saturday

LANS'NG (AP)— With several controversial issues still on their calendars, weary House members faced the choice of whether to make rapid progress today or endure a rare Saturday session.

At the beginning of the year, the House and Senate set midnight tonight as the deadline for each chamber to pass or defeat bills which originated in the other—but a proposed extension of that deadline to allow a weekend session loomed over the House.

Still on the calendar were bills to double Detroit's resident income tax, allow confiscation of a ticketed motorist's license, permit sale of package liquor within 500 feet of schools and churches and authorize a referendum on $100 million worth of recreation bonds.

★ ★ ★

Meeting from morning until nearly midnight Thursday, as they have all week, House members approved bills regulating blocking of flood plains, establishing a State Boundary Commission and authorizing local recreation commissions to enact and enforce rules.

Debated off and on without success were measures to reduce the size of the House and to give representatives four-year terms. A four-year-term resolution was defeated for the second time.

★ ★ ★

Backers tried to couple the four-year proposal with another measure which trim the size of the House from 110 members to 99—on the theory the Senate would swallow the first part out of enthusiasm for the second.

Given immediate effect on the third try was a previously passed bill setting up a State Police reserve force, designed to provide extra manpower during riots and other emergencies.

★ ★ ★

Some Negro lawmakers opposed the measure, claiming that because membership in the new force would be limited to former policemen, few Negroes would qualify. The bill now returns to the Senate for action on a House amendment.

Premier Calls Talks to Air French Crisis

PARIS (AP) — Premier Georges Pompidou summoned labor and business leaders to meet with him tomorrow to seek a solution to the crushing strike wave paralyzing most of France's economic life.

More and greater turmoil threatened,

Related Story, Page C-6

meanwhile, as workers, students and farmers called a new round of demonstrations today a few hours before President Charles de Gaulle's address to the nation.

DeGaulle was expected to give his analysis of the situation and propose broad outlines for a settlement.

The Communist-led General Confederation of Workers, France's biggest union, immediately accepted Pompidou's invitation. The French Confederation of Democratic Workers also accepted, but warned that the strikes would not stop.

'ARMED EXTREMISTS'

Students rioted in Paris yesterday for the second night in succession, and authorities feared the violence would increase. Interior Minister Christian Fouchet warned that "armed extremists" hoped to use the demonstrations today to set off violence which would not be controlled.

The National Students Union scheduled demonstrations at four points in northeastern Paris. The Communist-dominated General Confederation of Workers announced two marches.

★ ★ ★

In the provinces, organizations of farmers called demonstrations to show solidarity with the workers and students—and to demand that the government protect them in coming price negotiations with the other Common Market countries.

There was a strong possibility that the marching demonstrators would have Paris in an uproar by the time de Gaulle spoke on television and radio.

The 77-year-old president gave no advance indication of what he would say in his first public statement on the two-week-old upheaval.

Bombing Issue Climax Looms

PARIS (AP) — The United States and North Vietnam are moving toward a showdown in the Paris peace talks on the issue of ending U.S. bombing of North Vietnamese territory, and there is no compromise in sight.

Each government is expected to increase its pressure on the other in the meetings ahead, with the threat of a breakdown in the talks, a weapon both are already using.

★ ★ ★

U.S. officials say they believe that North Vietnam's main aim is still to win the conflict by coordinated action on three fronts — trying to undermine the U.S.-supported government in Saigon, pressing the United States for concessions in the Paris talks, and striving for new military victories in South Vietnam.

President Johnson declared in Washington yesterday, however, that the United States "will not be defeated on the battlefield while the talks go on" permitting the enemy "to achieve a victory that would make a mockery of the negotiations."

★ ★ ★

In Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko supported Hanoi's demands for an unconditional halt to U.S. bombing but, in talks with British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart, gave the impression he was not too pessimistic about the future of the Paris talks.

Officials, Merchants Hail Downtown Parking Mall

Pontiac's parking mall on North Saginaw between Huron and Lawrence, put into operation Monday, has already proven a great success, according to city officials and local merchants.

Downtown merchants contacted for an opinion are extremely enthusiastic and most think that extending the mall north and south is desirable.

★ ★ ★

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said he is amazed at the rapidity of the parking turnover. The mall is "tremendously successful," he said.

Director of Public Works Joseph E. Neipling said 460 cars used the mall the first day. "Apparently it is meeting the needs of the short-term parker," he said.

NO TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

Neipling said there has been no problems yet with rerouting of traffic around the parking mall.

Earl E. Kreps, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, said the mall is generating more interest in the downtown shopping. "I'd like to see it extended both north and south."

Man Arraigned in Local Holdup

A Detroit man arrested in connection with the April 30 $50,000 armed robbery of two GMTC Credit Union employes is in custody of federal authorities in Detroit in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Arraigned yesterday was Robert Lamar Moree, 22, who was arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) agents in Highland Park Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Commissioner Fred Johnson set no date for a hearing on the charge — violation of the Federal Bank Robbery Statute.

Moree is accused of robbing Louis Giddings and Richard Eldred as the two employes returned to the credit union, 939 Woodward, from the nearby Community National Bank branch.

PARKING LOT CAPER

The robbery was executed in midday in the parking lot between the credit union and the bank.

Police said the bandit apparently waited at a bus stop in front of the lot until Giddings and Eldred made their way from the bank with the money, which was in a white canvas bag.

★ ★ ★

A witness said the gunman fled in a waiting car, which police found abandoned in a parking lot on South East Boulevard. Three days later.

Paul Stoddard, special agent in charge of the Detroit FBI office, described the arrest of Moree as the result of the combined efforts of FBI agents and Pontiac officers.

Detectives August Martinez and Orville Johnston are the local investigators in charge of the case.

Conference Cites Planning Urgency

By ED BLUNDEN

Community planning is no longer the province of some dreamy-eyed idealist with an office tucked away in the courthouse.

Suddenly it's a "now thing," with an urgency brought about by increasing pressures — burgeoning population and industry growth and riotous discontent with the status quo.

★ ★ ★

The need for planning was demonstrated yesterday in a conference called by the Oakland County Planning Commission at Oakland University.

An overflow crowd of more than 500 attended, representing all facets of government and industry concerned with the problem. County planners were somewhat overwhelmed by the turnout.

The luncheon crowd overflowed and some had to be seated outside the dining hall. The workshops held during the day played to standing-room-only.

Extremely pleased with the turnout were the two men primarily responsible for the conference, Donald A. Kalmbach, planning commission chairman, and George N. Skrubb, director.

★ ★ ★

Kalmbach said: "This reflects the growing concern in the community with problems of planning."

★ ★ ★

Skrubb said: "There is almost every faction of our society represented. This shows the increasing knowledge of what planning can accomplish."

4TH CONFERENCE

The day-long conference was held in cooperation with OU's Division of Continuing Education, and entitled, "Planning for People." This was the fourth, with one being held every other year since 1962.

Most of the time was spent in three two hour workshop sessions. During each two-hour period, three concurrent workshops offered panels on various specialized aspects of planning.

★ ★ ★

Kalmbach, in his luncheon speech, indicated the new interest in planning is an admission of "guilt." Since the previous conference two years ago, he said, "Tragic events (the ghetto riots) revealed some people had been overlooked or forgotten in past planning."

Kalmbach pointed out county planning would be accelerated with the aid of an

City to Push for Stadium

A stadium in Pontiac which would be the home of the Detroit Lions and the Detroit Tigers?

That possibility is being explored and Pontiac will make a pitch to be the future location for such a stadium June 10, City Manager Joseph A. Warren last night told the Pontiac Area Planning Council board of governors.

★ ★ ★

Warren said the city will send representatives to a meeting of the Metropolitan Stadium Committee, a quasiofficial body which expectedly will make recommendations on location and construction of a new sports stadium.

The committee was originally formed by Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and later expanded to include representatives in several fields, including a number from Oakland County.

STATE FINANCING?

The committee also will expectedly make a recommendation which will involve state financing of construction.

Cavanagh's committee was first formed with the idea of locating the stadium in Detroit but was expanded to include consideration of possible sites in Oakland and Macomb counties.

Warren said there are "many logical reasons why the stadium might be located north of Detroit, "including the anticipated population expansion of Oakland County.

The city manager said Pontiac and Walled Lake are areas which are being considered for location of a stadium.

STATE FAIRGROUNDS

Gov. Romney has recomended that the state fairgrounds on Woodward and Eight Mile be the site selected but that location has a number of drawbacks, officials said.

Warren said that it is estimated by the committee that 150 or more acres will be needed for construction.

★ ★ ★

The fairgrounds site has a total of 167 acres. Three sites in downtown Detroit proposed by Detroit officials contain 39, 32 and 10 acres.

Chairman of the feasibility study and design team which will help committee reach a decision is Bruno Leon, dean of architecture of the University of Detroit, who with Dr. C. Don Davidson, is designing a plan for development of Pontiac's downtown urban renewal land. Davidson is also member of the team.

CLARENCE E. BARNES

Urban League's Director Resigns

Clarence E. Barnes, executive director of the Pontiac Area Urban League, has resigned to take a similar job in Youngstown, Ohio.

The resignation becomes effective in July.

★ ★ ★

Barnes was named director of the area Urban League in July 1963, by Charles R. Harris, who was league president at that time.

Barnes has become a well-known Negro leader and has been involved in a wide variety of community activities.

Warming Trend Forecast for Area

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports the following official forecast:

TODAY — Considerable cloudiness with periods of sunshine and a chance of light showers. High 62 to 67. Fair to partly cloudy and cooler tonight, Low 43 to 50.

TOMORROW — Fair and pleasant.

SUNDAY — Fair and warmer.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 30, tonight 20.

A mild 51 was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The thermometer registered 65 at 12:30 p.m.

School Issue Is Kept off Ballot

Waterford Township's Board of Education last night decided not to place a school millage increase proposal on the June 10 ballot because most voters would not support it.

Results of a survey showed that 62 per cent of 2,222 returns from voters who cast ballots in the successful millage renewal May 6 wouldn't support a 5.2-mill property tax increase at this time, according to Schools Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe.

★ ★ ★

The board spent considerable time discussing additional millage but made a unanimous decision not to seek it at this time.

Tatroe said it is now definite that junior and senior high school students will attend school one hour less next fall because of a shortage of operating funds.

FUTURE ISSUE

"It appears that a school property tax increase will be required during the next school year to return the secondary students to a full day," Tatroe remarked.

The future ballot issue probably will include a $7- to $9-million bond issue for a new junior high school, two elementary schools and some additions, the superintendent explained.

★ ★ ★

He said the bond issue would not increase the present debt property tax.

A new ad hoc school citizens committee will be created to study the problems and recommend a course of action during the next school year.

REJECTED IN NOVEMBER

Waterford voters turned down a 7.5 millage increase last November and approved a 15 mills for operation on May 6.

School board members were considering a 5.2-mill increase this time since it was expected that additional state aid would add enough revenue to be equivalent to 7.5 mills.

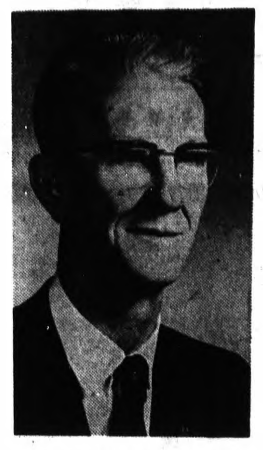

A new junior high school will be needed by 1971, Tatroe said.

In other business, the board hired Martin Keck, principal of East Catholic High School in Detroit, as assistant principal for the new Mott High School now under construction.

OPENING SET FOR SEPTEMBER

The school is scheduled to be opened this September, but if the school is not ready students who would go to the school would be housed in Waterford Township High School in the afternoons until the building is completed.

Joseph B. Mullen, information specialist in the individual communications system (INDICOM) project, had his contract renewed for the second year of the three-year project.

CLIFFORD H. SMART

Seeks Reelection in 60th District

Clifford H. Smart, Republican state representative from the 60th District, announced today that he will seek reelection.

A former school superintendent, Smart of 555 W. Walled Lake Drive, Walled Lake, was the chief architect and sponsor of the 1968-69 state school aid bill which incorporates substantial formulative changes.

★ ★ ★

It also provides a $60-million increase in state support for local school districts throughout the state.

Smart, 63, said that although the new state aid formula provides substantial improvements, additional study and changes are essential.

TO STUDY PROBLEM

"Property taxes can no longer provide the funds essential for quality education," said Smart. "It is the intent of the taxation and education committees of the House to concentrate on the problem during the period between sessions.

"Hopefully some major recommendations will be made to the 1969 Legislature which, if adopted, will put the financing of schools on an even sounder foundation," he said.

★ ★ ★

Smart was first elected to the State Legislature in 1964 after heading the Walled Lake School District for 19½ years.

He is presently chairman of the House Education Committee, and serves on the conservation, elections and retirement committes.

Smart's district includes the townships of Holly, Groveland, Brandon, Rose, Highland, Milford, Commerce, Lyon and Novi in Oakland County and the townships of Mundy, Argentine, and Fenton in Genesee.

Urban League's Director Resigns

Barnes will return to Ohio where he spent almost 10 years in Urban League work.

Before coming to Pontiac he was in charge of a special research project for installation of neighborhood centers in Cleveland.

He began working with the Urban League in Canton, Ohio, in 1954.

While in Canton, he was also a visiting instructor at Malone College, working with city planners and serving on the county juvenile delinquency council.

WEST VIRGINIAN

He is a native of Fairmont, W. Va., and a graduate of West Virginia State College and West Virginia University.

He has also received credits toward a doctorate degree in sociology.

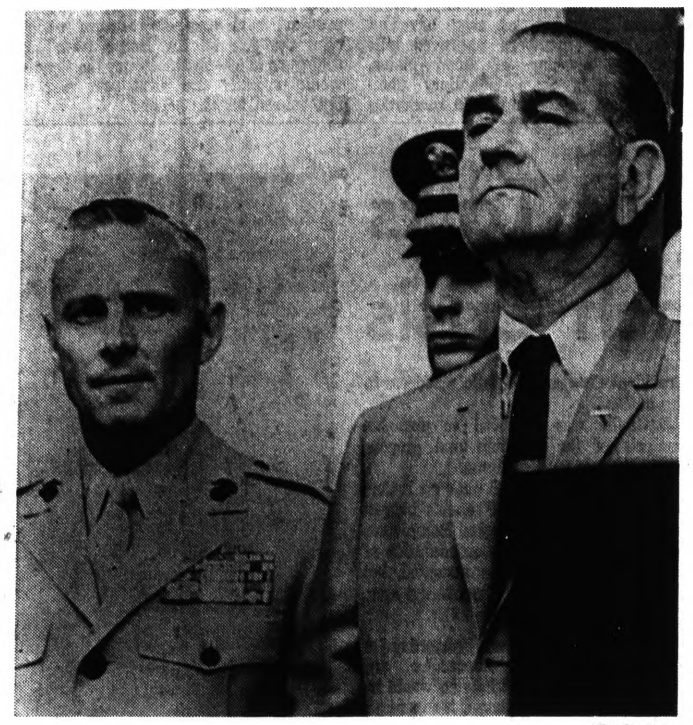

Barnes was recently given a special award from 10 Pontiac organizations for "outstanding service working with community organizations for better human relations."

E. Eugene Russell, immediate past president for two terms of the Urban League, said of Barnes' resignation:

Mr. Barnes departure will leave a great void in our city which will be difficult to fill. His dedication and endless energy to bring understanding of the problems faced by the Negro in our community has been of great service to our city.

★ ★ ★

"He has made many friends and established lines of communication across the total community. His work with the grass-roots citizens, the educators and the business community will never be fully or appropriately recognized."

WARNING TO HANOI—President Johnson yesterday warned North Vietnam against pressing its aggression despite peace negotiations and said the United States will not be defeated in the field while these talks go on. He spoke at the White House during a ceremony in which he awarded a presidential unit citation to the 26th Marine Regiment for gallantry in action in its stand against larger enemy forces at Khe Sanh. Standing with the President is Col. David E. Lownds, commander of the 26th Regiment.

'Planning Need Getting Urgent'

CHALLENGE GIVEN

A Negro minister, Rev. Robert Potts of Detroit, executive director of the Citizens Committee on Equal Opportunity, gave a sense of urgency and a challenge to the planner in his talk at the opening session.

"The challenge is to re-create and revitalize a sick and limping society," Rev. Potts said. "There is well-founded apprehension in the black community . . . when 'the man' tells us what is best for us."

★ ★ ★

He charged the group not only to seek participation in the community but to help prepare the people to participate.

Rev. Potts said the question on developing a new society has now become, "How — and how soon."

AREA STUDY

The featured luncheon speaker was Edwin O. George, president of Detroit Edison Co. He said his company is independently making a study of the surrounding area, including portions of neighboring Ohio and Canada.

He said this study will enable Edison to make decisions 30 years in advance. George said the study may indicate a new city the size of Detroit may have to be built in the area, "to relieve the pressure."

★ ★ ★

Pointing out that industry is more and more concerned with society, he said: "I anticipate an ever-increasing need in industry to study the impact on people and their environment. "We must make committments in planning for people."

The conference offered more than 50 panelists in the nine workshops. The participants were experts in many fields from all over the nation. Included were a heavy sprinkling of local officials and government experts from Washington, D.C.

PERSONS PRESENT

Attending were persons from various government agencies, real estate firms, architects, engineers, lawyers, sociologists, etc.

Each speech during each panel was transcribed by a court reporter. The county planning commission is contemplating publishing the material.

'Vote as You Drink' Cry Falls on Deaf Senate Ears

LANSING (AP)—Despite Sen. Harvey Lodge's exhortation that legislators should vote as they drink, the Senate Thursday night refused to take final action on a bill permitting the sale of liquor on Sunday.

Cries of "deals" and hypocrisy were heard as the measure was amended and bitterly debated for more than one-half hour before the upper chamber delayed action on the measure until today.

"If the Legislature would vote as they drink," fumed Lodge, R-Waterford Township, "we'd have Sunday liquor in a hurry."

Action on the measure was delayed after a motion to send the bill back to committee was defeated. If it had been approved, the motion would have, in effect, killed the bill for this session of the Legislature.

CONTEST DEAL

Sen. James G. Fleming, R-Jackson, accused backers of the bill of making a "deal" with boosters of a bill to regulate contests and sweepstakes at gasoline stations and supermarkets.

Fleming charged that proponents of Sunday Liquor had agreed to support the sweepstakes bill in exchange for Sunday liquor support.

The sweepstakes bill, shelved early Thursday by the Senate, was returned to third reading calendar that night.

"These accusations of a deal are a bunch of poppycock," answered Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, who amended the bill to permit Sunday sales of liquor.

PROVISION FILLED

Lockwood was successful in his attempt to remove a provision calling for the State Liquor Commission to report minor liquor law violations to prosecutors in alleged violators' home counties.

The eliminated provision was the intent of the House-passed bill sponsored by Rep. Philip O. Pittenger, R-Lansing.

'Discrimination Not Elk Policy'

"It is not the policy of the Pontiac Elks Lodge to discriminate against the guest of any member," Clement E. Berden, exalted ruler of the Elks Lodge 810, said in a statement released to The Press today.

Berden said he was issuing the statement to "clarify a very grievous situation that in the past few weeks has developed into a matter of grave concern to our lodge."

★ ★ ★

He said the Elks has "always been proud of its many contributions to the community life and civic activities of our city."

A public statement concerning alleged discriminatory practices at the Elks Club was requested by the Pontiac City Commission three weeks ago when it refused to reissue a bowling alley license to the lodge.

COMPLAINT CITED

The action came after a member of the city planning commission, John L. Crump Sr., complained to the city commission that he had been discriminated against at the club.

Crump said that after a planning commission meeting he was invited to the club bar by a member but was denied admittance and told it was because he was a Negro.

★ ★ ★

In two subsequent City Commission meetings a move was made to reissue the license, but the commission each time voted against doing so.

Officials said they would not vote to reissue the license until a public apology or statement concerning Elks policy was made.

Hospital Talks Follow Walkout

Meetings were continuing this morning at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital in the wake of an alleged wildcat strike yesterday in which an estimated 45 nurses aides walked out.

Hospital officials were meeting with representatives of Local 79, Building Services Employes International Union (BSEIU), which represents the aides.

★ ★ ★

Hospital administrator Harry Whitlow, who said that all employes reported for work today, was unable to cite specific grievances that might have caused the walkout at 5:30 p.m. yesterday.

Those who walked off the job—all on the afternoon shift — represent about three-quarters of the aides on that shift, according to Whitlow.

He indicated that some nurses aides did not report on the midnight shift, but volunteers and some added nurses were able to take care of patients.

A meeting with the union representatives was held between 3:30 to 6:30 a.m. today and was reconvened shortly after 9 a.m.

Area Library Launches a Gift Drive

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Bloomfield Township Public Library has launched a special gifts campaign for major gifts to enlarge its book collection, start rental art and record collections and purchase special audiovisual equipment, art works, and supplementary landscaping for the new building at 1099 Lone Pine.

Friends of the Bloomfield Township Public Library, a volunteer citizens' organization, has announced it will undertake the furnishing of the library's Michigan Room, one of the campaign goals.

The new building, with furnishings, parking lot and basic landscaping, is being paid for with proceeds from a bond issue approved by township residents in 1966.

Besides furnishing of the Michigan Room, other aims for the gift drive are microfilm reader-printers, an exhibit wall case, an auditorium display system, appliances and dishes for the kitchenette, works of art, starter record and rental print collections, outdoor scultpure and special planting groups.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Donald L. Zorn, 1391 Cedar Bend, has been named by the library board of trustees as coordinator for the drive. Gift needs have been design-coordinated by the architect and the library consultant.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — R. J. English, 3829 Mill Spring, has been appointed assistant district sales manager for the Ford Division's Detroit district sales office, located in Wixom.

★ ★ ★

A graduate of Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass., he holds a master's degree in business administration from Columbia University's graduate school of business.

He has also done advanced work at the graduate business schools of Harvard University and New York University and has instructed business school classes at the University of Detroit.

English joined Ford as a financial analyst in 1953, after service with the U.S. Air Force and work with the Rockefeller Institute's Commission on Financing Higher Education.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Michigan Regimental Round Table, local Civil War club, will hold its monthly meeting tonight at 8 at the Congregational Church of Birmingham, United Church of Christ, 1000 N. Cranbrook.

Featured tonight will be a group discussion on the Battle of Chancellors, fought 105 years ago this month in Virginia.

★ ★ ★

The Round Table recently elected Abbott Gibney, 1688 Northlawn, and George Smith, 1882 Melbourne, both of Birmingham, as corresponding and recording secretaries, respectively.

The club meets regularly on the last Friday evening of each month. This month's gathering has been scheduled early to avoid conflict with the Memorial Day weekend. The public may attend.

Three area women have been named officers of the Metropolitan Detroit American Field Service Board.

Mrs. Marvin Hughes, 5565 Kingsmill, Bloomfield Township, was elected president for the new year. Mrs. Donna VanderBroek of Pontiac is first vice president, while Mrs. James E. Steele, 6753 Whysall, Bloomfield Township, is second vice president.

BIRMINGHAM — Mrs. Patricia Sargeant, a science teacher at Birmingham Groves, has been selected by the Michigan Chemical Council and the Manufacturing Chemists Association as the year's second most outstanding high school chemistry teacher.

Mrs. Sargeant was honored at a recent luncheon at Hope College.

80 Families Flee Flood

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — About 80 families were evacuated from their homes here early today as streams overflowed from the heavy rains that continued in the southern half of Ohio.

"If it weren't for the dam, we'd be floating down the river," said Sgt. Roderick List of the Circleville Police Department.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Widespread showers and rain are forecast tonight with showers in the Northwest, rain in New England and showers in south Florida. A broad area of rain and showers will spread northeast from Texas to Indiana. It will be warmer in the Southeast.

Outstate Town Is Hit by Hepatitis Epidemic

WEST BRANCH (AP) — "Business is going on as usual" despite a moderately severe hepatitis epidemic in West Branch, according to a health official.

Dr. Ophelia Baker, district director of health for Ogemaw, Iosco, Alcona and Oscoda counties, said the outbreak is under control and "the town is not quarantined as was printed in some newspapers."

Dr. Baker said that only one of the 58 persons reported with the disease was hospitalized. She said the epidemic was limited to the immediate West Branch area, but added, "we're probably over the hump now."

Zoning Appeal Board to Review Maceday Lake Road Land-Fill

A 16-month fight over the proposed 50-acre Maceday Lake Road land-fill will be reviewed tomorrow by the Waterford Township Zoning Board of Appeals.

The public session will be held in the Waterford Township High School cafeteria at 10 a.m.

★ ★ ★

The three-member board will consider only the transcripts of testimony taken during five public hearings before the Township Planning Commission rejected the proposal.

The application to operate the land-fill had been sought by Donald Freeman and David Ward, partners in the Waterford Processing and Reclaiming Co.

COURT REJECTION

After losing their bid before the planning commission, they took their case to Oakland County Circuit Court. Judge Clark J. Adams, however, ordered the case back to the township on the basis that the company had not exhausted all local remedies.

Adams placed a June 30 deadline on the appeals board in rendering a decision.

★ ★ ★

Property owners in the area have opposed the project with the argument that the land-fill eventually would pollute nearby lakes.

★ ★ ★

They have disputed state and county health officials claims that a properly operated solid waste disposal site doesn't create hazards to public health.

Street Opened to Traffic in Farmington

FARMINGTON — To open or close a street?

The question has been answered by the Farmington City Council which declared that Salvadore will be open to regular traffic until the improvement of Farmington Road from Eight to Nine mile is completed in several months.

★ ★ ★

Then Salvadore will again be restricted to surrounding residents as it has been for the past several years.

It was originally closed upon the request of the Farmington Meadows Homeowners Association to the west of Salvadore.

SAFETY FACTOR CITED

The association had cited the safety of youngsters as its reason for the closing of Salvadore to regular traffic, explained City Manager John Dinan.

The street was opened when road construction began to allow two exits for the area's 400 families. Local objectors declared they didn't want Salvadore open permanently.

★ ★ ★

At one point in the controversy about 10 women one morning blocked the Salvadore Whitlock intersection in protest. They were dispersed by police.

In other recent action, the council has agreed to work with the Jaycees in putting in a parking lot at the Farmington Junior High School.

The 50-car lot to be used also as a baseball field and a skating rink is estimated to cost $4,000. The cost will be shared by the city and the Jaycees.

Helping Hand System Being Organized for School in Clarkston

CLARKSTON — A Helping Hand program is being organized for Sashabaw Elementary School under the sponsorship of the school PTA.

Volunteers are being sought to participate in the program, which consists of designating certain homes along school routes as "helping hands."

★ ★ ★

The sign of a hand is placed in the window offering aid to those who become ill or need adult help while going to and from school.

Two or more homes are being sought for each block.

Precinct Dispute Resolved in Holly

HOLLY — Voters in the June 10 election in this school district will go to the polls in the same two precincts as in the past.

Reversing an earlier decision to consolidate the two precincts, the board of education has recinded a resolution which would have required the district's 4,000 registered voters to cast ballots in the same precinct.

★ ★ ★

Citizens living north of Rattalee Lake Road will continue to vote at Mable D. Bensett Junior High School, with those south of the road voting at Davisburg.

The resolution consolidating the precincts was passed at the suggestion of Supt. of Schools Russell Haddon, who said he felt the move would help to unite the district.

★ ★ ★

Davisburg residents had protested the split and began a petition drive seeking to have their own precinct reestablished.

Dinner-Dance Slated

The dinner-dance of the Beaumont, Seven Harbors, White and Duck Lake Subdivisions Association is tomorrow from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. at the American Legion Hall, 510 W. Commerce, Milford. Proceeds will go for renovation of the group's clubhouse.

Country Fair Sunday to Mark Kingswood School Centennial

It was in 1868 that the original one-room frame school opened its doors to the neighborhood children in Addison Township. The name was retained when the late Carlton Higbie and Mrs. Higbie (now Mrs. West Gallogly) started the present private school in 1953.

★ ★ ★

Chairmen of the centennial fair are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor of Lake Orion. They are assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rubelman of Oxford.

The fair will feature a children's midway, pottery and art sales, a Christmas booth, an auction, a flower shop, a boutique, country store, an Aunt Polly's pantry, ice cream parlor, Tavern on the Green, bakeshop and a raffle.

★ ★ ★

Entertainment will include a small Conestoga wagon drawn by ponies, an exhibit of antique paper dolls by Dorothy McDowell of Pontiac, antique china doll heads from the collection of Mrs. Lyle Speas of Lake Orion, the Right Set featuring music for teen-agers, John Glick at his potter's wheel, a story hour, surrey rides and a barbershop quartet.

Noted Alumnus Cited by Parochial Schools

ORCHARD LAKE — Orchard Lake Parochial Schools have awarded an alumnus, John Cardinal Krol, archbishop of Philadelphia, the 1968 Fidelitas Medal.

The cardinal, also the vice president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, began his studies for the priesthood at St. Mary's College here. He was ordained in 1937 after six years at St. Mary's Seminary in Cleveland.

Township Sets Rules for Beach at Deer Lake

Residents will be required to purchase a season permit for the newly fenced facility. The beach, formerly under the jurisdiction of the village of Clarkston, has been leased by the township and will be operated through its department of recreation. Fencing of the area has been completed.

★ ★ ★

Clerk Howard Altman said a $5 family season permit will allow supervised swimming from June 15 to Sept. 15. The beach will be closed Mondays and Tuesdays, but will be open from 1 to 9 p.m. — or dark — on Wednesdays, Thursday and Fridays and from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. or dark on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

BOAT FEES

No fee will be charged operators of rowboats, sailboats or canoes. A $10 fee applies to the use of motors up to 20 horsepower, with a $20 fee for larger motors.

Fishing permits are available at $2 per season to nonresidents, and a skin diving permit is $5 per season. Swimming hours apply to boating and diving.

★ ★ ★

Altman said rules formulated by the township provide that misuse of the permit will result in forfeiture of privilege.

He said loaning the permit to a nonresident, abuse of property, and disobeying lifeguards would constitute such misuse. The loss of the permit will require another permit fee.

NO PICNICKING

No picnicking, food or drink or dogs will be acceptable on the beach. No boats or skin divers are allowed in the swimming area.

Children under 12 must be accompanied by their parents. No softball or baseball will be allowed on the beach area.

Lake Orion School Board to Answer ACLU Charges on Disciplinary Practices

By JEAN SAILE

LAKE ORION — A list of 10 allegations regarding school discipline will be answered by the board of education at a public meeting Monday night. The meeting has been called for 7:30 at the Lake Orion High School gymnasium.

The list was prepared by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) on complaints contained in some 40 letters from irate parents.

★ ★ ★

The allegations were included in a letter from Larry A. Fiebert of the ACLU to Schools Supt. Lewis F. Mundy and copies were sent to the State Department of Education and to Mrs. Duane H. Mawhorter, 573 E. Flint, a representative of the parents.

The allegations:

- Children are paddled with a board, at least three inches thick, 12 inches long, with holes drilled into it to raise welts.

★ ★ ★

- As a form of punishment, students are locked up in a dark room or closet.
- Students' personal possessions from lockers, pockets or purses are subject to search if an accusation is made against them.

★ ★ ★

- Parents and students are not informed when, and of what comments are made about them in their personal records.
- Students are made to sign confessions or statements to the effect that they will voluntarily drop out of school if they commit further infractions of a school rule.

★ ★ ★

- Students, upon nothing more than an accusation, can have their right to utilize bus transportation taken away.
- Statements made by students to counselors in confidential interviews may at some point be used against the student to justify a suspension or other disciplinary action.

★ ★ ★

- Utilization of paid student informers — for the purpose of catching smoking violators.
- The revocation of the right to use a lavatory as a punishment in disciplinary cases.

- All bathrooms suffer from a gross lack of privacy, and are subject to "raids" so as to catch smoking violators.

The ACLU also asked for a revision of the present Student Council Handbook in regard to discipline policy. The union protested that the present policy can be widely interpreted and asked for a set of definite rules to apply in cases of detention or suspension.

ORIGINAL CHARGES

The allegations were made originally by Fiebert at a Board of Education meeting a month ago. Some 50 people, including students, were in attendance and the board asked that all charges be presented in written form for investigation.

Following presentation of a May 6 letter outlining the complaints, the board met in committee May 15 with a delegation of parents and ACLU representatives. A Pontiac Press reporter was barred from that meeting.

★ ★ ★

A full accounting of the charges and investigation has been promised by school officials for Monday night.

Citizens' Group Sets 1st Formal Meeting

By TOM GRAY

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — A citizens' group, organized for the purpose of "becoming informed" about governmental activities on all levels, will hold its first formal meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Township Hall in Ortonville.

The group is unnamed as yet, according to Mrs. Stanley J. Mersino, 4260 Sherwood, a member of its steering committee.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Mersino said that the group is making an effort to have representatives of several governmental units on hand for the meeting, as well as a spokesman for WHAR (Why Have Awful Roads), an area organization seeking better maintenance for rural roads.

She said the group had already sponsored two informal neighborhood gatherings, both attended by about 40 persons.

CIVIC INTEREST

The organization will be nonpartisan, she stressed: "We're just going to try to see that people take an interest in civic affairs. There are too many who haven't.

"We aren't there to tear anybody down. We aren't there to boot anybody out of office. What we want to do is to learn what we can do to help the community."

★ ★ ★

Rising taxes have furnished the main stimulus for forming the group, Mrs. Mersino declared. One of the principal aims of the fledgling organization, she added, will be to curb the steady growth of taxes.

"Many of us are appealing our taxes (assessments) to the state," she said. "We've already sent in the forms and we are expecting to get them back soon. We have no fire protection, no police, no paved streets and no street lights. Our taxes have tripled since 1966 and there have been no improvements."

★ ★ ★

While recognizing a need for taxes, she objects to such sudden and drastic increases: "It's gotten to the point where people are getting forced out of their homes — it's cheaper to rent."

Keego Millage Figure Is Corrected by Press

KEEGO HARBOR — The operating millage for this city is 12 mills instead of 17 mills as incorrectly reported in The Pontiac Press.

Other city millage levies are 1 mill for building, 1.7 mills for the Farmington sewer interceptor and 2.3 mills for the city water system, making a total of 17 mills.

New Civic Center to Be Dedicated in Oxford Tomorrow

OXFORD — Formal dedication ceremonies for the Oxford Civic Center will be 2 p.m. tomorrow at 22 W. Burdick.

★ ★ ★

Three pioneer settlers and businessmen of the area—Louis Haddrill, George B. Tunstead and Fred Stevens—will be honored at the program as the "Three Old Men of a Lifetime," according to Lee Valentine, township supervisor and program chairman.

R. A. Ambrose, former superintendent of Oxford Schools and president of the Oakland Schools Board of Education, will make the dedication address.

★ ★ ★

The buildings will remain open to the public following the ceremonies.

Dedication Is Sunday for Forest Elementary

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Dedication of the Forest Elementary School, 34545 Old Timber, is set for Sunday at 3 p.m.

★ ★ ★

A short concert will be presented by some of the school's students.

The school, which features a five-acre nature area with virgin timber, opened last October for kindergarten through grade six.

Chief Not Reappointed

Wixom May Air Police Hassle

McAtee says, "the reason will be available to the public in the next few days." He indicated the matter may be settled at the City Council meeting Tuesday.

According to the city charter, the mayor has the prerogative to make appointments of department heads and administrators 30 days after his April 1 election.

EXTENSION GIVEN

In this case, however, the mayor requested and received a two-week extension, McAtee had explained he needed more time.

Council granted the extension as a matter of courtesy, said City Attorney Gene Schnelz.

McAtee did make other administrative appointments May 14, the last day of the two-week extension period.

Young said yesterday he hasn't been provided a specific reason for not being reappointed. He has been chief since 1964 and a member of the force since 1959.

OU Scholarship Fund Increased $11,000 by Macomb Committee

Oakland University's scholarship fund has been increased by $11,000 through the year-long efforts of the Macomb County Scholarship Committee. The group of 67 women financed their contribution through sponsorship of the Macomb Town Hall Series, which brings a series of noted speakers to Mt. Clemens and Warren each year.

★ ★ ★

The most recent gift brings the committee's total support of the university to more than $53,000 since its first contribution in 1961.

Officers for the committee include Mrs. Donald McMinn, vice chairman, and Mrs. Raymond Dembowski, recording secretary, both of Romeo.

Memorial Service Set

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — A memorial service will be held at Andersonville Cemetery on Sunday at 3 p.m. by the Andersonville Cemetery Association.

Pastor Wallace Duncan of Andersonville Community Church will be the guest speaker.

'Serious Blow,' Says City Manager

Stately Lapeer Trees Dying

Whitney has reported to the City Commission that the large coniferous trees in the cemetery — pines and Norway spruce — have fallen ill with an ailment called "cytospora canker."

★ ★ ★

The disease is roughly akin to cancer in human beings, Whitney said, adding, "It is caused by a fungus and, according to the experts, there is no cure."

The city manager called the discovery of the disease a "serious blow to the city," saying "They are large and beautiful trees and have been a focal point of the cemetery."

Whitney said three or four of the trees had died over the winter, and a Michigan State University expert recommended by the Conservation Department had identified the disease.

About seven will have to be removed in the near future, and all will be gone within five or six years, he added.

★ ★ ★

While the disease can be kept under control in some cases by trimming and feeding, this cannot be done in Lapeer's case because of the great age and size of the trees involved, Whitney said.

★ ★ ★

In other recent business, the City Commission has instructed Whitney to ask the city's licensed garbage collectors to be present at the next meeting to answer questions about their service.

Mayor Wellington E. Rowden said complaints had been received about pickup service since the closing of the city dump three weeks ago.

Commissioner Orin Conner suggested that the ordinance on garbage and refuse service needs revamping.

★ ★ ★

"I feel, really, that regardless of whether we want it or not, before too long we're going to be in the garbage business," said Conner.

However, Whitney recommended a study of provisions for refuse in other communities before changing the ordinance, adopted 20 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Official Count Reaffirms Yes Vote for Novi Cityhood

The figures on the cityhood proposal stand as originally reported at 694 yes to 498 no for a total of 1,192 votes on this issue.

However, the complete total of votes was 1,231. The difference of 39 votes is attributed to the fact that some voters only cast ballots for the charter commission and that other ballots were marked incorrectly, explained a village spokesman.

Vote totals for each charter commission candidate were changed by the canvassing board. The changes are due to the counting of absentee ballots. Figures before the board met represented only those votes cast on the machines.

These changes, though, didn't alter the original list of commission members or the order of vote-getters.

The other candidates with their official votes received are: Leo Harrawood, 479; Laverne DeWaard, 443; James S. Cherfoli, 407; Mrs. Dorothy Farrah, 406; and Edward Vahlbusch, 402.

The commission must, by law, meet within 10 days from last Tuesday and draft a charter within 90 days. It has two years to present the charter for a public vote.

Poor Turnout Stalls Planning Council Action

By BOB WISLER

The Pontiac Area Planning Council — conceived late last year as a body to initiate action in a variety of areas such as planning, federal aid and community action programs — is having trouble getting things done.

Lat night's meeting of the council's board of governors was marked by discussion on how to be more effective. The governors adjourned early, without taking action on several resolutions which were scheduled to be passed.

Action could not be taken, under the governors' own bylaws, because of an insufficient turnout of members. The bylaws call for 25 of the 32 members, or their delegates, to be present before action is taken on any resolution.

Nevertheless, 20 members present voted unanimously to favor at the next board meeting a resolution calling for development of a comprehensive plan for the coordinated development of the Pontiac area in years ahead.

At one point the board had 23 members or delegates present but three walked out before the meeting ended. Two of those three expressed dissatisfaction with the action of the board, or with the inability to vote on the scheduled resolutions.

If passed as expected, the resolutions would have:

- Authorized development of a comprehensive plan, outlining steps to be taken in hiring a firm for the job.
- Delcared a nondiscriminatory hiring policy for the council.
- Demanded a nondiscriminatory hiring policy for firms doing business with the council and encouraged a similar policy for businesses and firms in the Pontiac area.
- Urged the city and school district to implement a summer program in which youths would work with city police.
- Established a task force on law enforcement and community relations and another on arts.

The 20 members present at the end of the meeting agreed to a suggestion by E. Eugene Russell, president of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, that each member be notified by registered mail of the importance of the next board meeting, June 13.

At that time it is expected that C. Don Davidson, the architect developing a design for redevelopment for Pontiac's downtown urban renewal land, will publicly present a proposal for 27 acres of the land.

Dr. David J. Doherty, who took over May 1 as the council's project director, expressed concern over the future of the council itself.

Although he said he was optimistic about its future, he added, "If we don't start to move . . . in six months we won't have a planning council.

★ ★ ★

He said that Oakland County recently had received $80,000 in federal funds — on a matching basis — for a comprehensive plan for its development.

Pontiac is the center of Oakland County but its leaders are debating the feasibility and desirability of a comprehensive plan, he said.

HOW LONG?

"I don't know how long we can debate the point without acting," he said.

A comprehensive plan for overall development has been discussed all year by the council. Several national planning firms have presented ideas and proposals to the council about formulation of such a plan.

★ ★ ★

At the last governors' meeting Dr. Dana Whitmer, Pontiac schools superintendent, proposed the plan on behalf of the board of education.

The study, he said, should include plans and guidelines for the development of housing, renewal of residential, commercial, industrial and downtown business districts as well as public transportation, schools, job opportunity and training programs and social services.

DEVELOPMENT TIES

"Such a study should provide for coordination of private and public development, so that each can support and enhance the other," he said.

In discussion of the plan last night, members estimated it might be one to two years away.

★ ★ ★

Doherty suggested that he and the council's administrative committee screen various urban planning firms so the governors could decide on which firm to hire without having to listen to a "parade of proposals."

The governors have not yet been able to determine how such a study would be financed, but the city and school district likely could come up with $200,000 for its development.

FUND SOURCES

Foundation money and federal adi also are definite possibilities. Doherty said he had met twice with an official of the Detroit Catholic Archdiocese and had been assured of a "considerable amount" of the $1.5 million or so the diocese has pledged for urban programs if a solid proposal is presented to the diocese.

"It behooves us to get one solid proposal in," he said.

★ ★ ★

Doherty acknowledged that PAPC, like similar groups such as the New Detroit Committee, is having difficulty achieving cohesiveness.

He said it is obvious some members are losing interest. He said he had talked to 18 to 20 members and found some differences in opinions of what the governors should be focusing on.

BRICKS AND MORTAR

Many feel the governors are spending too much time merely discussing race relations problems and should be concentrating on rebuilding the downtown, or "putting bricks and mortar together," he said.

The three members, or alternates who left the meeting early were Hubert Price, an original appointee and vice president of the Pontiac Organization of Black Youth; James Dyer, a delegate who has attended most of the meetings on behalf of the original appointee, Julian A. Cook Jr.; and Charles M. Tucker, a frequent delegate, who last night attended on behalf of James Mathews, president of the Oakland County chapter of the NAACP.

★ ★ ★

Dyer said the governing board is being put into the position of acting as a rubber stamp. He made this remark after discussion of the location of a new super high school.

Dyer expressed dissatisfaction with the selection of the Pontiac State Hospital site as location of the planned school. Monroe Osmun, school board president, said the school board has not settled definitely on the final site.

DECISION SOON

He said the board would reach a decision soon. Dyer implied that reaching a decision before getting the recommendation of the planning council puts the council in the position of rubber stamping school board decisions.

Tucker asked to be excused after Price and Dyer had left, since the board could not act on resolutions.

★ ★ ★

James L. Bates, Pontiac director of Planning and Urban Renewal, recommended that the council take necessary steps to develope a comprehensive plan.

He mentioned that all studies forsaw Oakland County as doubling its population in 25 years. The county will become increasingly urban and will undergo great change, he said.

GROWTH FORECASTE

"Pontiac is in the heart of Oakland County. Growth is going to take place, change is going to take place," he said.

"The real question is, is Pontiac going to be ready?" He said the council has a good chance of determining what change will do for Pontiac.

Policeman Pays for Man's Ticket

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A financially troubled father of seven who left El Paso County Court to come up with $5 for a traffic ticket returned to find that state Patrolman William C. Thiede, who gave him the ticket, had already paid it.

Thiede issued the ticket because the man was driving with an expired temporary permit. The fine was $20, but the judge suspended $5 and Thiede paid the rest explaining he thought the man should use the money to buy food for his children.

Parking Mall Hailed as Success

said the mall is proof that the city is interested in the problems of merchants."

Although he said it's too early to determine if there is an increase in business, he believes the mall should be extended north and south.

ENTHUSIASTIC COMMENTS

Comments of the merchants doing business in the block of the mall were most enthusiastic, here are a few:

A. L. Pierce, owner of Pauli's Shoes: "Tremendous. Absolutely winderful."

Monroe Osmun, general manager of Osmun's Men's Wear: "It's working out very well. The people using it are very happy about it."

★ ★ ★

Philip Sauer, owner of Griff's Grill: "I think it's fine. It's increasing my business and I've heard very fine comments about it from my customers."

Al Shamie, owner of Al's Discount Store: "This place is really jumping. It's a shot in the arm. We should put the same parking mall in other downtown blocks.

'SAFE DOWNTOWN'

"It's safe downtown for women. Even if there's nobody in the street the merchants can see out their windows."

William Dickinson, manager of Dickinson's clothing store: "I'm 100 per cent sold. The turnover is terrific. We've seen more people than we have in a long time."

Douglas Scott, manager of Kresge's, said, "I like it so far but I want to see more before I say anything final."

'GOOD THINGS'

Ron Pinner of King Briggs, said, "I haven't had enough time to really measure but I think it is definitely going to be a good thing."

Merchants in stores to the north and south of the mall generally indicated they were not sure of the effect on their businesses but most seemed to favor extending the mall.

★ ★ ★

Neipling said the are technical problems in extending the mall.

He said if it were extended north and south there would probably have to be physical alteration of the present street system in those areas.

"If the comminuty supports the idea enough then we may have justification for altering the street network," he said.

Labor-Probe Bill Dies

LANSING (AP) — After passing a bill to provide insurance for high risk properties, the Senate Thursday defeated a bill calling for fact-finding to investigate public employe labor disputes.

The Senate debated but did not take final action on a related bill requiring compulsory arbitration of labor disputes involving police or fire departments.

★ ★ ★

The upper chamber defeated by a vote of 23-14 the measure enabling the State Labor Mediation Board to appoint a neutral panel of distinguished citizens to investigate labor disputes involving public employes such as policemen, teachers and street department workers.

The measure bogged down when an amendment to allow both parties to negotiate an agency shop failed.

Agency shops would force nonunion members to pay sums totaling the equivalent of union dues to the union. The Senate earlier had eliminated the agency shop provision from the House-passed measure.

The upper chamber adjourned before taking final action on a bill requiring compulsory arbitration for police and fire departments. The bill provides that a third party mediate the dsipute when parties reach a point where they can't bargain between themselves.

Today's Woman

Mrs. Odle Is 'Show Off' in Art World

By JUNE ELERT

In the career toss-up of a high school grad, art lost out to music and "Today's Woman" entered the University of Michigan as a music major.

JUNE

A lifelong interest in art and the natural sciences was kept up, however, and became the foundation of a later career.

"Exhibit Designer in Charge" has been Betty Odle's title for a number of years now at Cranbrook Institute of Science. She is the person who plans, prepares and constructs the exhibits that are on public view at the Institute.

★ ★ ★

The idea for each exhibit originates usually with the curator of each separate department. Then it is up to Betty to start digging for ideas, materials, methods, etc. to illustrate the project in effective form.

LEARNS A LOT

Each new project, she says, gives her a capsule education. It takes a lot of pouring over the books to work up an attractive and accurate depiction of any aspect of the varied subjects called for.

These have included minerology, geology, botany, zoology, ecology, archeology, anthropology, biology, etc., etc.

There are no rules or systems to govern building an exhibit. Each one is different. The work consists largely of improvisation in the use of materials and methods and, she agreed, "imagination is an essential quality."

★ ★ ★

She expects it will be ready for display in about six months which is the usual span between the birth of an idea and its completion.

BEGAN AS VOLUNTEER

Betty started work at the Institute many years ago as a volunteer at the front desk. From that post she progressed to helping the designer, later becoming her assistant. Some familiarity with the commercial aspects of art, layout, design, etc. was helpful here.

She says, "If I could have dreamed up a job that would be perfect for me, this would be it."

Don's profession of commercial artist and advertising free-lancer would, it seems to me, mesh beautifully with Betty's occupation and interests.

UNUSUAL HOBBY

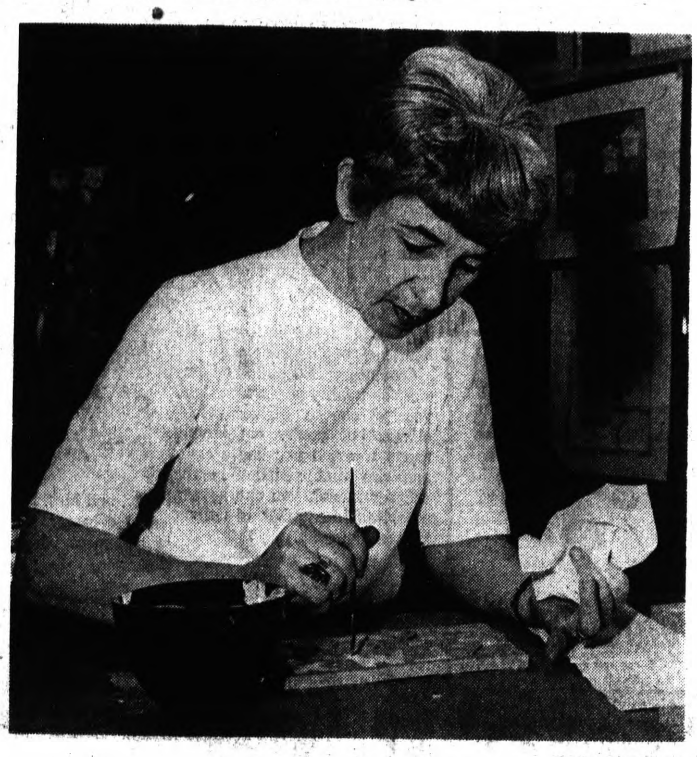

The pair also has similar hobbies. Both enjoy fossil hunting and stone-rubbing.

The latter consists of searching cemeteries for interesting designs on gravestones and transferring them to paper through a process somewhat like the childhood amusement of putting a penny under a sheet of paper and pencilling over the coin.

Betty has a collection of crinoid heads (which is a type of sea lily) and is pleased with her fossil-finds. "They're not spectacular," she says, "but things you find yourself have importance to you."

★ ★ ★

MRS. DONALD R. ODLE

An example of stone rubbing is this "angel head" design found in a cemetery near Charleston, S.C., and used by the Odles one year as their Christmas card. The gravestone was dated 1740.

Drop Subject When Friends Bring It Up

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: We would like to know what to say to people who persist in making insulting remarks about persons of another race. My husband and I believe in equality of the races but don't wish to lose these friends over this matter. Judith L.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. L.: I have little sympathy for anyone who makes insulting remarks about any other person on the basis of race, religion, background, etc. I would not hesitate to say that you do not feel that way and you do not wish to listen to such statements.

You may even say "Let's drop the subject because we'd like to stay friends with you too." It is not a question of politeness. It is a question of standing up for what you think is right.

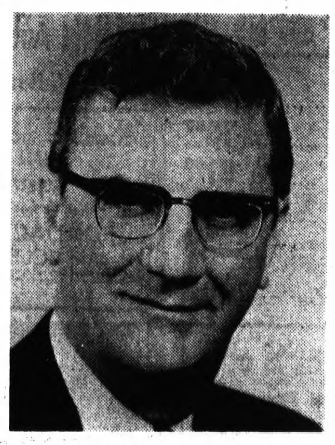

SAVE CANARY

Dear Mrs. Post:My sister is to be married, and I want to get her something special for her wedding. She has always said that she would like a canary. Would this be an appropriate something of permanent value and a wedding gift? — Juanita

Dear Juanita: No, I don't think a canary is an appropriate wedding gift. For one thing, a wedding gift should be canary can't last forever.

Give her the canary as a housewarming present or a birthday gift, but not as a wedding present.

MARTIN J. CASERIO

Martin J. Caserio, vice president of General Motors and general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division, will be the guest speaker at this year's Golden Gavel dinner of the Pontiac Area Federation of Women's Clubs.

★ ★ ★

A native of Laurium and a graduate of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology (now Michigan Technological University), Caserio has worked for General Motors since 1937. During World War II he was a first lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers.

★ ★ ★

He succeeded Calvin T. Werner in Pontiac several years ago.

The Golden Gavel dinner will be held at the Kingsley Inn Monday at 6:30 p.m. Any member of the 50 clubs making up the Federation may attend the dinner.

Reservations are to be made with Lulah McCully of Oneida Road, general chairman of the annual event.

A 'Bowle' Party Follows Concert

Guests attending the gala after the 3 p.m. event in Baldwin Pavilion include the Felix Resnicks and Skitch Henderson, providing his time schedule works out.

★ ★ ★

Others expected are Dr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer, the George Putnams, Dr. Leo Wasserberger, the James Rosenthals, the Douglas Harpurs and Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzgerald.

Completing the list are Dr. and Mrs. David Merrell, the William Youngs and the Roland Nordlunds.

Harvey Exhibit Opens in Detroit

The paintings of Detroit native James Harvey (1929-65), will be on display at the Gertrude Kasle Gallery in the Fisher Building, Detroit, from June 5 to July 3.

Harvey drew inspiration from the Pharaonic, Coptic and Islamic art forms of ancient Egypt and the near East.

The Fulbright artist's works have been exhibited in many of the leading museums of this country. The Kasle Gallery is open Monday through Saturday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Get Lowdown on the High Links MAKE-OVER PAGES

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby: Last Saturday night my husband and I went to the movies. Upon arriving home earlier than expected, we found our daughter on the couch with her boyfriend. They were all wrapped up in each other in a most disgusting position.

ABBY

We ordered the boy out of the house and forbade our daughter ever to see him again. She flew into an angry rage and screamed that when two people are "in love" anything they did was "beautiful." She threatened to leave home if we don't let her see her boyfriend again.

What's a mother to do? STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Try to be more understanding. Your daughter obviously doesn't know the difference between "love" and a healthy, normal, adolescent physical attraction. If you do, try to explain it to her. (If you don't, ask her to write to me and I'll try.)

I think you made a big mistake in ordering her boyfriend out of the house and forbidding your daughter ever to see him again. You should have had a frank talk with both of them about the dangers of playing with fire.

The boy should have been made to feel welcome in your home, but only on your terms. (You make the "rules" as to how often he may come, how late he may stay, etc.) If you drive them to meeting on the sneak elsewhere you will create worse problems.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I was born and raised right here in this small town, so I know nearly everyone and they know me. My problem: I get an invitation to every graduation, wedding, baby shower, tea, and luncheon in town. Just name the occasion that calls for a gift, and I get my notice.

Abby, I am not cheap, and I don't mind sending gifts to my friends. But how about all these acquaintances?

Right now I am swamped with "invitations." I have a good name in town and don't want to ruin it. But I refuse to be a sucker to people I hardly know. What is your advice? SWAMPED

★ ★ ★

DEAR SWAMPED: Every announcement and invitation is not necessarily a big broad hint for a gift. The best rule to follow is: If you would derive real pleasure out of sending a gift, send one. If you don't feel "close" enough to send a gift, send a card. If you feel like a "sucker," forget it.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have a bone to pick with you. Someone wrote and asked you if it was considered "proper" to use a toothpick in public and you said absolutely not.

Well, how come they sell fancy gold toothpicks in the finest stores?

SEEN THEM

DEAR SEEN: You will find toe-nail clippers and back-scratchers in some of the "finest" stores, too, but that doesn't mean it's "proper" to use them in public.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: How well I understand that poor newlywed girl who wants some freedom and time to adjust before being "rushed" into pregnancy.

She is absolutely right. We waited seven years before having a baby. We traveled, got solvent, entertained, and got to know and understand each other. Then we were relaxed and ready to care for a child.

Furthermore, we waited until our first child was five years old before we had another baby. They are four and nine now, and they really "like" each other. They do many things together, but she has her friends and he has his. They do not compete as brothers and sisters who are "nearly the same age" do.

Pushing one child aside for another is unfair. I cannot say enough for planned parenthood. HAPPY PARENT

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A commendation is in order to the young man who didn't want to kiss his bride with an "audience" gawking on. His taste has risen above the vulgarities of an uncultured public. Occasionally we have a couple who insist on putting on a show for their friends, and from where I stand, I can see what happens when it's done.

A church wedding is a most solemn occasion. The couple has come to God's altar to seek His blessing, and their friends have come to join in prayer for the new family and share their joy. Kneeling and with bowed heads, the couple has received the benediction of the Lord.

When this solemnity is broken by such theatrics as a Hollywood-style kiss, the audience invariably snickers. Real cute, but if the couple wants to put on a show, why use God's altar for a backdrop?—Sincerely, A LUTHERAN PASTOR

DEAR ABBY: I have a rather well-to-do uncle who is in his late seventies now. About 12 years ago, this uncle asked me if I would be "executor" of his will. I told him I would and that was the end of the conversation. As such, I don't have the faintest idea what I am supposed to do. Should I write and ask him?

I don't want him to get the idea that I am waiting for him to die because I'm not, but shouldn't I know where to find his valuable papers and so on in case of his death? I didn't sign anything and am wondering if he has changed him mind and asked somebody else or what.

How should I go about getting this information?

UNINFORMED

DEAR UNINFORMED: If you don't have a lawyer, get one, and ask him to handle it for you.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column in which a father badgered his five-year-old son to "act like a little man," interested me.

As a psychoanalyst, I know that many of my patients' problems began when they were prodded by impatient parents to "act like a little man" at the age of four or five. They couldn't, of course, so having failed, they felt guilty for disappointing their parents.

Please, Abby, advise young parents to take heed. Children will—and should—act like children.

Independence Is Near for African Area

WASHINGTON — A bright day is dawning in Equatorial Guinea, where breakfast grows on trees. It gains independence later in 1968.

Spain's 10,831-square-mile West African territory, formerly called Spanish Guinea, includes Rio Muni, a segment of jungle mainland; and the islands of Fernando Poo, Annobon, Corisco, and Elobey, the National Geographic Society says.

★ ★ ★

Most of the islands are small — Annobon, 6.6 square miles; Corisco, 5.8; Elobey Grande, 0.9; Elobey Chico, 0.07 — and economically unimportant.

The largest, Fernando Poo or "Nanny Po," as it is known locally, is booming. The 779-square-mile island's high humidity and rich volcanic soil produce some of the world's finest cocoa.

BREAKFAST STAPLES

Spanish and African plantations also specialize in other breakfast staples, such as coffee and bananas.

Green mountains, pocked by craters and cloaked with forests of ebony, mahogany, and oak, rise behind Fernando Poo's narrow coastal plain. More than 70 inches of rain pour down annually on the verdant island.

★ ★ ★

Three-fifths of Fernando Poo's 61,000 population — 8 per cent Spanish, 20 per cent Bubis tribesmen, 72 per cent Nigerian migrant farmhands — live in Santa Isabel, the attractive harbor capital.

The affluent live in verandaed villas, dress formally for dinner, and send their children to college in Spain. The island's $246 per capita income is the second highest in Africa after South Africa.

Rising Road Toll Paused in 1967

In 1962 highway deaths topped the 40,000 mark. Three years later the figure was 48,500, and in 1966 America's highways were stained with the blood of 52,500 persons.

The skyrocketing figures paused — even dropped a bit in 1967. The year-end ottll stood at 52,500 according to the highway accident booklet released annually by The Travelers Insurance Companies.

Tragedy did not stop with the deaths, but added 3.84 million persons to the 1962 injured list. 4.4 million were injured in 1966 and 4.2 million in 1967 — a reduction of some 200,000.

"The record of 1967 gives us the first appreciable improvement in this respect that has taken place in more than a decade," according to a Travelers spokesman.

SATISFACTION 'QUALIFIED'

"The satisfaction this gives must be qualified, however, for it will require many more years of consistent betterment before we can claim any genuine progress toward the conquest of a stubborn and tragic problem," he added.

Adverse weather was not an important contributing factor in 1962 or 1967. Record show that last year some 80 per cent of the fatal crashes occurred on clear days and dry roads. The remaining 20 per cent occurred in fog, rain and snowy weather.

★ ★ ★

Excessive speed continues to hold top spot in the is of accident causes, with reckless driving and driving on the wrong side of the road taking second and third places respectively. Pedestrians were at fault in many of the fatal accidents, with crossing between intersections being the top killer.

Youthful drivers hold the greatest responsibility on the highway death list. Almost one third of the drivers involved in fatal accidents were under 25 years of age.

Computer Test Alters Earth Makeup Idea

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Scientists "playing dice" with the structure of earth have won the game at odds of a million to one. Their results show that this planet's structure is likely to be more complex and of different proportions than most geophysicist thought.

Five million models of the earth were calculated by a computer; only six survive when tested against what is actually known about the earth.

★ ★ ★

That the earth has three main divisions — a central core, an intervening mantle and a very thin crust — has been known for a long time.

Some 300 years ago Isaac Newton noted the average density of the earth was five to six times that of water. Since rocks on earth's crust are about three times as dense as water, the case for heavier material inside was cinched.

DEPTHS ESTIMATED

During the last 60 years, scientists have not only found layers within these divisions but have learned to estimate depths of these internal layers with increasing confidence.

Computer models of the earth's structure indicate the previously assumed dimensions for the core and mantle, and the layers within them, could well be off by many miles.

Previously all known earth models based on observation were founded on assumptions such as a chemically homogeneous mantle below 600 miles and a relationship between velocities of earthquake waves and internal chemical composition.

These assumptions are not necessarily true, Dr. Frank Press of Massachusetts Institute of Technology believes, on the basis of the five million computer models.

His calculations were made using what is known as the Monte Carlo method; that is, the various figures were fed into the computer on a completely random basis, as when dice are thrown, and the resulting mathematical model then tested to see how closely it resembled the real earth.

Of the six that passed this examination, all had a larger core than is usually assumed for the earth, with the outer, fluid core consistent with an alloy of iron and 15 to 25 per cent silocon. The inner, solid core, Dr. Press believes, has a composition consistent with an alloy of iron and 20 to 50 per cent nickel.

What Is a Briefcase? A Boy's Pocket Grown Up

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Originally, it was designed to carry legal briefs; thus, briefcase. But, in this fast-paced age of the businessman, it is all things to all people. A catch-all and a carry-all. A symbol and a suitcase. A lunchbox-and something to lose on the 6:11.)

By SID MOODY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

To know the inner man ask not of his analyst, his blood type or whether dogs love him.

Pry, rather, into his briefcase.

There, like bits of bone and pottery in an ancient cave, the true male lies locked away.

★ ★ ★

The briefcase is merely the boy's pocket grown up, a storehouse, a well-bred holster for the fang and claw to carry its owner through the jungle of live.

★ ★ ★

Come with me to Madison Avenue. Meet an account executive who prefers anonymity but permitted a probe of his attache case—$90, genuine leather, Brooks Bros.

BUSINESS ORIENTED

To be sure, its contents were business oriented: a copy of Soap and Chemical Digest, a Wall Street Journal, a TV schedule. Business.

But there also was a registration for a new outboard boat as well as projected population figures for 1980 in East Hampton where he has a summer home.

★ ★ ★

Briefcases are places for dreams.

Consider the briefcase of John Archibald, a vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank. It is pregnant with business reading matter.

READS IN HOPE

"There has been a tremendous proliferation of reading in business," says Archibald, who spends an hour a day reading business reports at home to keep up with developments in industry, foreign trade, tax decisions, in the business schools, in trade magazines. Maybe some day it will come in handy. Maybe never. The busy businessman never knows. He just reads on in hope.

But also in Archibald's briefcase — bought in London, leather "because it lasts longer" — was a deck of cards "in case I get stranded in an airport," an air sickness bag from an airline bearing an old gin rummy score yet to be paid off and a tie clip from a customer "which I don't know what to do with."

★ ★ ★

Briefcases are for idle hours and idle artifacts.

Carl Tiedemann's briefcase, as is the case with many, is a gift from his wife. "I use it to carry papers back and forth to the office," said Tiedemann, a Wall Street broker. "I may open it only 10 per cent of the time. But I'm always prepared."

Sometimes he packs a tie, razor and clean shirt for overnight trips.

SMALLER TIPS

Briefcases are for avoiding baggage delays at airports and for paying smaller tips to bellhops.

Gavin Spofford, president of the Summit-Elizabeth (N.J.) Trust Co., doesn't carry a briefcase at all. "I only take home what I can carry in my breast pocket. When I go to a meeting out of town, I let an assistant carry the junk."

★ ★ ★

Well, there are exceptions. A Fifth Avenue leather specialty store has a trim attache case in alligator with gold plated clasps for $1,800. Would a man carry a sandwich and thermos in such elegance?

"We never ask what the customer uses it for," said a discreet salesman who nonetheless allowed that his product was also known as a "Madison Avenue lunchbox." Unjustly, perhaps.

The Samsonite luggage people recently surveyed 10,000 men and found only 2 per cent admitted to carrying food in their briefcases. Ten per cent confessed, however, to carrying spirits from time to time.

Briefcases are for nourishment, more or less.

PEEPING TOMS

A lawyer told the survey briefcases are repositories for papers that "people wouldn't want left around the desk for peeping toms to read after hours, including things that should have been handled last week."

Briefcases are for guilty consciences.

★ ★ ★

A Colorado stockbroker said he used his briefcase for his credit card wallet since "it's too bulky to carry on my person."

Briefcases are for overflow.

Do they signify the go-getter?

Tiedemann: "There may be a little imagery. You walk out of the office and people think 'There goes a busy man.' "

SYMBOLS

But Spofford, who with most of us has lived to see the man in the gray flannel suit of the '50s hardpressed by the man in the Mao jacket and turtleneck of the '60s: "Certain guys try to make an impression right out of 'How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying.' "

Briefcases are symbols, depending on the beholder.

★ ★ ★

A letter reporting that a business contact could be located care of his guru at Hanuman Temple, Kenchi, PO Bhowali, District Naini Tal, India; directions from a plumber for putting water in the home furnace; "a W-2 form I've been looking for" — this was two weeks after April 15: a picture from a newspaper of Noble Price ridden by Charles Battazar to victory in the first race at Laurel Race Course paying $71.10—"I don't know what that's for"; a bill from Tri-County Floriest of Tappan, N. Y., for 15 red roses — "That's from the last baby . . ." pause . . . "No, it's not. That wss the last anniversary, that's what it was"; and a yellow page torn from a phone book containing a listing of the restaurants in Wilmington, Del.

Briefcases can be embarrassment.

Archibald once had his pop open while walking between cars on the 7:22, and he had to spend the morning walking up and down the tracks retrieving his homework.

★ ★ ★

And briefcases can be lifesavers.

An ad friend once used iis to fight off two muggers outside a Manhattan jazz joint.

In brief, a briefcase is no more, and no less, than the man who carries it.

Echo I Satellite Falls to Death After Nearly 8 Years in Orbit

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Echo I, the balloon satellite that has offered a nightly show to millions around the world since its launching nearly eight years ago, fell to a fiery death last night off the West Coast of South America, the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) said.

A spokesman said NORAD, which has been tracking Echo I in its dying days, had received no reports of sightings of the plunge. He estimated the time of decay at 7:47 p.m. EDT although computers and sensors could not verify it here until midnight.

★ ★ ★

Launched from Cape Kennedy Aug. 12, 1960, Echo I has logged 36,000 orbits and some one billion miles of space travel. It received and relayed teletype messages, telephone conversations and pictures and provided a legacy of scientific discovery.

The satellite was done in by the gentle sunlight that made it shine brighter than most stars. Sunlight pressure finally pushed it close enough to the earth's atmosphere for gravity to take hold and tug it out of orbit.

VISIBLE EVIDENCE

Echo's death was not as spectacular as its beginning. That was Aug. 12, 1960, when it blasted away from what was then Cape Canaveral, inflated to a 100-foot diameter and became the first visible evidence to the world of America's budding progress in space exploration.

At the time of its death, the once-round balloon had been reduced to less than half its original size and its misshapen skin wrinkled like a prune.

It had been battered by space dust, radiation particles and meteoroids and has lost most of the benzoic acid and anthraquinone inflating gas that made it firm and circular.

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless, Echo I had far outlived even the most optimistic predictions. Because of its size, scientists originally figured it would succumb to atmospheric drag and reenee atmosphere after anywhere from a month to a year. But it had been soaring around the earth nearly eight years.

The satellite became a sensational favorite with people around the world. Sunlight reflecting off its tissue-thin, aluminum-coated surface made it plainly visible at night.

Echo I was launched as an experiment, to determine of a so-called passive satellite could be effective as a communications relay station. As such, it was a huge hollow space mirror, reflecting back to earth radio signals striking it. The only devices aboard were two wafer-size radio beacons used for tracking the satellite.

The balloon successfully received and bounced back telephone conversations and radio and teletype messages, pictures. But the two Echo spheres have demonstrated that much of the radio energy that falls upon them is scattered into space and only a part of it comes back to a receiver on earth.

Echo I leaves a legacy of scientific discovery.

★ ★ ★

Included were the first definitive measurements of solar radiation pressure at an altitude of about 1,000 miles, a finding which contributed to better understanding of the effects of solar flares on weather, communications interference and other matters on earth.

The satellite also provided the first firm findings about the density of radiation particles at such altitudes, a help in designing later spacecraft.

HELD SHAPE ..

The fact that the sphere held its shape so long showed that meteoroids were not as numerous as anticipated, and demonstrated also the durability of even the thinnest materials in space.

★ ★ ★

Whenever a large solar flare erupted on the sun, the great amount of resulting radiation flowing through space substantially altered Echo I's orbit, sometimes by several miles.

★ ★ ★

The slight pressure of the sun's radiation — on flare-free days less than a fly's weight — gradually had pushed Echo I's orbit from a low point of 958 miles down to 460 miles, placing the satellite at deaths' door.

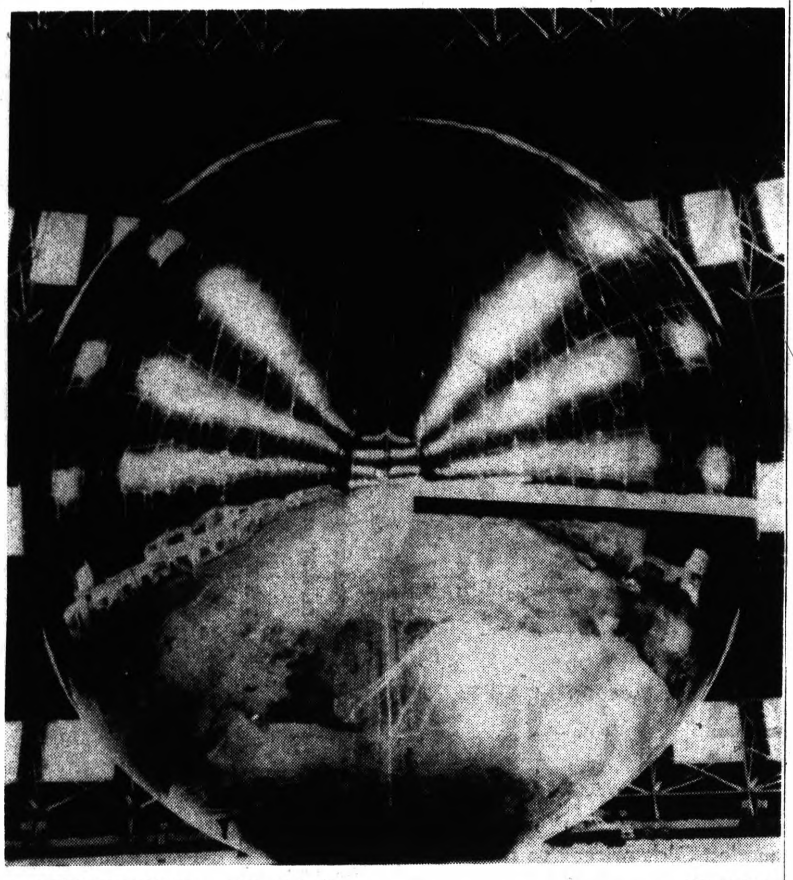

Police to Rescue in N.Y. Town as Drivers See Red

NEW HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) — The traffic light at an intersection in this Long Island community locked in a set position Thursday, showing red on all four sides.

Motorists halted. Horns honked. Traffic backed up in each direction.

After several minutes, a police patrol car sped up. An officer jumped out, walked up to a control box and gave it a good, hard pounding with the side of his fist.

The light changed, and traffic moved again.

BEFORE LAUNCH — Echo I is shown in ground inflation tests prior to being launched into space in August 1960. The satellite fell to a fiery death last night off the west coast of South America after logging 36,000 orbits and 1 billion miles of space travel.

TEEING OFF

By FLETCHER SPEARS

A cocky young Finn could be in line for a few golfing honors in the days ahead.

He's Timo Kilpelainen, 21, who arrived here from Finland five years ago, which has been long enough for him to rid himself of an accent and long enough to pick up a pretty fair golf game.

He's now a junior at Western Michigan University and the No. 1 man on the golf team there.

His latest venture on the golf course came earlier this week when he passed the 'local' qualifying for the U.S.G.A. Open at Indianwood Country Club.

KILPELAINEN

And he passed it by joining in a seven-way playoff for four spots. Four of the seven birdied the first hole of the playoff to win the berths. Timo was one of them.

The hole was a par-5. Timo belted a big drive, but he was still 10 yards short of Richard Doyon of Fenton. "I'll be up with him one of these days," said Timo as he started down the fairway carrying his own clubs.

★ ★ ★

"Where's your caddy?" someone asked.

"I'll carry them myself," said Timo, who isn't exactly oozing with money. "I wanted to carry them myself today (36 holes) but they (tournament officials) wouldn't let me."

NEARS GREEN

He hauled out a 3-wood, gave the ball a mighty wallop and it landed just over a bunker just to the right of the No. 1 green.

"I pushed it a little," he said. Doyon hit an iron to the green. The other two, like Timo, missed the green.

★ ★ ★

Timo chipped up 10 feet short of the cup. I'll make it," he said while watching Doyon two-putt for a birdie. He did. It rolled up and in for a bird. Another in that foursome, Dick Bury of Birmingham, bagged a bird, and in the following three-some, Dick Brooks of Orchard Lake rapped in a birdie putt and the playoff was over.

★ ★ ★

"Watch me in the publinx," Timo was saying during the walk back to the clubhouse. He was referring to the National Publinx qualifying which is slated for June 10 at Burroughs Farms near Brighton. Timo plays the course well. He carded a 138 to lead the qualifiers there two years ago.

WON AT MSU

This year at Western, Timo's biggest win was medalist honors in the recent Spartan Invitational at Michigan State. He carded a 143 over the tough Forest Aker course.

★ ★ ★

The next big test for Timo comes June 2 when he'll join the 'local' qualifiers for the U.S.G.A. 'sectional' round. Qualifiers at Knollwood Country Club then advance to the U.S.G.A. Open in Rochester, N.Y., June 13-16.

Another local player who's scoring well with a college team is Russ Streeter of Walled Lake, medalist in the 1966 Pontiac Press Invitational.

STREETER

Streeter, a sophomore at Eastern Michigan, has grabbed medalist honors for EMU on several occasions. At the Spartan Invitational he carded a 153. His best competitive scores to date have been a pair of 72s.

Indianwood's Medal Honors to Ex-Champ

Chuck Byrne of Birmingham, who teamed with Rob Ryan in taking the title last year, has a new partner in Jim Stevenson and indications are this twosome will be just as tough as the '67 winners.

ANOTHER TOURNEY

Ryan passed up the invitational to participate in the 72-hole Michigan Medal Play now under way at Orchard Lake Country Club.

Byrne and Stevenson put their shots together yesterday to card a 74 and take medalist honors in the qualifying round.

★ ★ ★

They were tied with three other teams for the medal title and then won in a playoff with a birdie-4 on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff.

OTHER 74's

Others carding 74s were Ed Novak of Edgewood and Don Nelson of GAM, Robert Grundeman of Indianwood and Mike Basford and Doug Wright of Indianwood and Jim Miller of Farmington.

Jim McGaffin and Ed Flowers, both of the host club, checked in with a 75.

★ ★ ★

The field heads into match play today with 16 teams in the each of four flights. Finals are set for Sunday.

Class A Baseball to Begin Sunday

M. G. Defends Men's Crown

8 Teams in League; Improvements Listed

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's Class A baseball league will begin play 7:30 p.m. Sunday under the lights on the improved facilities at Jaycee Park.

City champion M. G. Collision, coached by Trueman Lamphere, will open against perennially strong Teamsters-614 who will have Paul Parks back at the helm.

★ ★ ★

Parks, who has built numerous championship clubs, ertired after the Teamsters won the 1966 title He is expected to start veteran right-handed hurler Don Sackett.

★ ★ ★

Lamphere has announced that southpaw Walt Miller, the league's most valuable player last summer, will be on the mound for M. G. Both teams are expected to have significantly revised lineups.

One new team has joined the league but four have dropped out, leaving an eight-team lineup. Uncle Charlie's Pet Shop, coached by Ben Belcher and Bob Noggle, is the new one.

Monday night's contest will pit Pass against Local-653 at 7:30 o'clock. The league then will be idle until June 2.

7th Straight Win

Waterford Stuns Jays

Pitching rich Waterford Township continued its strong late-season surge Thursday and upended Southfield, 2-1, with a seventh-inning rally that avenged an earlier loss for the Skippers.

The victory was the seventh straight for the sixth-ranked WTHS squad and set a school record 16th win in 24 starts. Southfield, the third-rated nine, dropped its second start in two days and now is 12-5.

Waterford meets Walled Lake today for second place in the Inter-Lakes League while Southfield plays Berkley in a bid for the Southeast Michigan championship.

★ ★ ★

Also Thursday, Oxford was held hitless by Warren Woods' Bob Richardson and dropped a 4-0 verdict, while Royal Oak Dondero finished its season at 7-5 with a 4-2 win over Highland Park.

Waterford Kettering, 5-9 earlier this week, won its second in two days, outlasting Lapeer, 9-8, in 11 innings as Mike Harkey blanked the Panthers over the final 10 frames.

INSIDE THE PARK

Southfield built a 1-0 lead on Rocky Roe's inside-the-park circuit clout (his third) in the sixth. But in the seventh, the Skippers rallied.

Warren's Richardson struck out 10 and had all the runs he needed in the first inning when four runs crossed the plate without the aid of a hit. There were five errors by the Wildcats in the wild outburst.

★ ★ ★

The lone Oxford runner came on an error in the fourth inning. The Wildcats end their season today at home against Lamphere, the Central Suburban loop king.

CLUTCH SINGLE

A Two-out single by Virgil Williams broke up the Kettering-Lapeer duel. It gave the victory to Harkey who held the Panthers to four hits and fanned 10 after taking over the Captains trailing, 8-0.

WKHS tallied six runs in the third as Bob Earls came through with a two-run single. Tom Setter, who had four hits, drove in his second run in the sixth.

★ ★ ★

At Royal Oak, Dondero finished with a winning season when Rich Green's double and Jerry Campbell's second rbi-single plated runs and broke a 2-2 tie.

Giants Move Ahead of Cardinals in NL

By The Associated Press

There's nothing like a nice little winning string to give a baseball team a lift in the standings. Except, perhaps, a nice little losing streak by the guys directly in front of you.

San Francisco's ambitious Giants have won eight of their last 11 games and St. Louis' cooperative Cardinals have dropped eight of their last 11. Result: A five-game pickup for the Giants and a change at the top of the National League race.

San Francisco captured first place Thursday with a 5-4 victory over Atlanta while St. Louis was losing 3-2 in 11 innings to Los Angeles in the only NL games played. New York at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh at Chicago were rained out.

Stock Mart Moves Uncertainly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved uncertainly in fairly active early trading today.

Although gains outnumbered losses by nearly 100 issues on the New York Stock Exchange, the exchange's index showed a slight decline due to softness in some of the heavily capitalized issues.

Changes of key stocks ranged generally from fractions to a point or so.

Zenith advanced a point. Control Data slipped 1½.

Ford climbed nearly a point. Henry Ford II predicted a sharp rebound in earnings. Other leading auto stocks showed little change. The top steel makers also were about unchanged.

U.S. Education Benefits—11

Several Programs Help Science Students

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 11th article in a 15-part series on U.S. educational and training benefits available to you.)

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Publications

For students who are considering science or technology as their ultimate career, the government offers a number of help programs. Here are brief outlines of some of them:

● Under the Undergraduate Research Participation plan of the National Science Foundation, talented under-graduates are assisted in carrying out research projects in their fields of scientific interest.

★ ★ ★

Financial assistance is available to students participating during the summer term.

★ ★ ★

● Highly qualified graduate science students and science teachers are eligible for National Science Foundation fellowships for work to a master's degree or Ph.D. Recipients are selected by a nationwide competition.

The National Science Foundation also offers a number of advanced fellowships for those with Ph.Ds.

For information, write Division of Graduate Education in Science, National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C. 20550.

★ ★ ★

● Atomic Energy Commission fellowships are available for graduate studies in nuclear science and engineering. Stipends are $2,400 for the first year, $2,600 for the second and $2,800 for the third year. An extra $400 is allowed for each dependent.

For information, write Fellowship Office, Oak Ridge Associated Universities, Post Office Box 117, Oak Ridge, Tenn. 37830 (31).

● Atomic Energy Commission postdoctoral fellowships are available for holders of a recent Ph.D. degree in basic science or engineering who intend to go into nuclear science or engineering.

★ ★ ★

Write Division of Nuclear Education and Training, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545.

● Graduate students working for a Ph.D. in some phase of nuclear engineering or nuclear science are eligible for Atomic Energy Commission Laboratory Graduate Fellowships. These fellowships provide for university study and work at AEC laboratories. Write Associated Midwest Universities, Box 307, Argonne, Illinois 60440.

HOUSING ACT

City planning and urban studies are on the preferential list also. Housing Act fellowships are available for graduate study in city planning, architecture, civil engineering, economics, municipal finance, public studies oriented for careers in city and regional planning, housing, urban renewal and community development.

Details can be obtained from the Assistant Secretary for Demonstrations and Intergovernmental Relations, Department of Housing and Urban Development, Washington, D.C. 20410.

NEW LOCATION—The Sherwin-Williams Co. has moved to a new location at 111 N. Perry, a store 2½ times larger than the former site at 71 W. Huron. The same lines of paints, wallpapers and other merchandise are available in an expanded capacity and stock. Items are available to both wholesalers and retailers. R. D. Platz is the manager of this branch. Ample drive-in parking.

A Junior Editors Quiz About CRUSADES

QUESTION: How did the Crusades start and what results did they have?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: To Christians, the Holy Land where Jesus lived has always been sacred territory. By the 9th century it was controlled by the Arabian Moslems.

At that time Christians were allowed to visit their historic religious shrines, but in the 11th century wild Turkish tribes conquered the Arabians. They persecuted Christian pilgrims, creating a situation in which Christian European countries began to dream of recapturing the Holy Land.

Pope Urban II, in a famous speech, called for a holy war. Hundreds of thousands responded and under the leadership of men like Godfrey of Buillon (in picture) swarmed toward the Holy Land.

It was 1096 A.D. and was a very successful adventure, for Jerusalem was captured in 1099. Godfrey was elected ruler. It was difficult, however, to hold the country under Moslem attack. Some of it was lost, leading to other crusades lasting until the 1400s, when Jerusalem was taken by the Moslems.

The Crusades, however, proved of great value to Europe. They stimulated trade and brought the rich civilization of the east into contact with that of the west.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Nairobi Supermarket Offers Wide Variety

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — A visit to Nairobi's "supermarket" would surprise American housewives who think of Africa in terms of noisy animals, strange languages and dark jungles.

Gourmets priding themselves on exotic dishes from distant lands at high prices would find Nairobi's supermarket has plenty of variety, and often at lower prices than in America.

★ ★ ★

There are mushrooms from France, Hungary, Australia, Denmark and Scotland, 21 varieties of curries and spices from Bombay, shrimp chips and ginger from Hong Kong and tarragon vinegar from Britain and Belgium.

LASAGNA FROM U.S.

Along the heavily stocked aisles there are bean sprouts from Hong Kong, olives from Spain, Belgium, Britain and the United States, five kinds of rice from the United States, a wide variety of Heinz baby foods, 58 varieties of U.S. spices and seemingly endless variation of cake mixes.

Wines come from Australia, France, Italy, Germany, Spain, Gibraltar and Cyprus. There is excellent Pilsner from Pilsen, Czechoslovakia, and other bottled beers from the United States, Holland, Denmark, Kenya and Tanzania. There is Guinness stout from Dublin.

The diet-conscious can find five flavors of Metrecal, and custard mixes not only from Kenya but also from Montrose, Scotland, and White Plains, N.Y. There are cleansers from Cheshire, Scotland, Cincinnati, Ohio, and the Elephant Soap Factory Ltd., Nairobi.

Unborn Child's Rights at Issue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Juvenile Court judge says he has no power to force a dying woman to receive blood transfusions that could save the life of her unborn child.

"Courts don't make decisions in such cases," Judge Leopoldo G. Sanchez said Wednesday. "It's out of their hands."

The woman is Frances Brown, a 36-year-old member of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious sect which opposes transfusions on what it says is scriptural authority.

Her physician, Dr. Alvin M. Gottlieb, filed the suit on behalf of the child which he said she has been carrying for about 6½ months.

But David Jacobsohn, Mrs. Brown's attorney, said Juvenile Court's jurisdiction over a child does not begin until the child is born.

Hippie Student Pulls a Badge

School, Police Mum on Undercover Work

NEW YORK (AP) — The youth with the long hair, safari jacket, bell-bottom dungarees, black turtle-neck sweater and cowboy boots was one of the hippiest-looking lads in the latest Columbia University riot.

He looked so much at home on campus that the students barricaded in Hamilton Hall let him through the barricades without hesitation, he said, and accepted him as one of them.

★ ★ ★

He listened to the students singing "We Shall Overcome," he continued, and heard their leader, Mark Rudd, incite them to resist arrest and make things hard for the police.

Then, he said, he walked over to Rudd, showed him his badge, and put him under arrest.

SPECIAL SERVICES

The long-haired youth identified himself to newsmen as Patrolman Frank Ferrara, a 23-year-old member of the police department's Bureau of Special Services.

The police department was officially silent today—as was Columbia—on the subject of undercover policemen, but an unidentified police source said Ferrara had been doing undercover work at Columbia for the past two months.

★ ★ ★

It was Ferrara, according to the police source, who filed the complaint against Rudd, saying the campus chairman of Students for a Democratic Society had urged other students to "barricade doorways and to resist attempts by police to arrest other persons . . . to commit a felony—to wit, riot in the first degree."

After he was arraigned and his father had posted $2,500 bail, young Rudd was asked about his "friend who turned out to be a policeman."

"I never saw that guy before in my life," he replied.

Mary Martin Loves the Road

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

LOS ANGELES — When Mary Martin says "let's hit the road," she implies no halfway measures. Here is the itinerary she and Robert Preston are following with their Broadway hit, "I Do! I Do!"

THOMAS

Rochester, Indianapolis, Minneapolis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Vancouver, B.C., Seattle, Portland, St. Louis, Phoenix, Omaha, St. Paul, Milwaukee, Kansas City, Dallas, Houston, Cleveland, Memphis, Charlotte, Greensboro, Richmond, Washington, D.C., Baltimore, Detroit, Philadelphia, Raleigh, Miami, Jacksonville, Hershey, Pa.

That will take them through March 1969. Still unbooked are April and May, after which the tour ends and Mary and her husband, Richard Halliday, plan to spend two years on their ranch in Brazil. "That is a promise we made to each other; we even signed a paper to that effect on our last anniversary," she insists.

Mary Martin is the last of the great Broadway stars to devote her talents to "the road;" that is, to tour the major American cities with a play that has met with success in New York. Oddly enough, she fell in love with the traveling bug during her brief movie career.

"It was after I had made 'The Great Victor Herbert,' and Paramount sent Allan Jones and me out on the road to publicize it," she recalled. "We traveled all over, playing seven shows a day. Think of it—seven shows a day! But I loved it. And while I was in Houston, I was lucky enough to meet Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, who were traveling with 'Taming of the Shrew'.

"I naturally worshipped them as greats of the theater, and I listened to everything they said. One thing they told me was: 'If you should go back to the theater, be sure to go on the road with your plays. You will find the audiences enormously stimulating, and those people will come to see you whenever they visit New York.'

★ ★ ★

"As it turned out, I decided I did prefer the theater. I left films and never went back except for doing 'My Heart Belongs to Daddy' for Cole Porter (in the film biography, 'Night and Day.')"

'Youngsters Litter Less'

A cross section of professional and volunteer litter fighters was asked by Keep America Beautiful, the national antilitter organization, whether children litter more than adults.

The answer was no. Fifty-eight per cent of those participating in the poll, including litter fighters from all 50 states, said children litter less than adults. Thirtyt-wo per cent said adults litter less, while 10 per cent were undecided.

The Gourmet Adventures of Jayson's

American cookery, although not of the longest lineage, has a proud tradition. The people of many lands and culture have contributed to it. It is a rich and varied cuisine, having a wealth of foods to work with. Much has been sung in praise of the great discoveries made in the New World by European explorers. But perhaps the greatest discovery had been made thousands of years before by the originals, the Indians. It was they who, in a real sense, discovered or "invented" corn. In their widely varying languages and dialects, the Indian gave corn different names. But no matter how different, all meant the same, "Our Life."

We take pride in our friendly service, our beautiful and comfortable atmosphere, and our delicious food at JAYSON'S, 4195 Dixie Hwy. at Hatchery Rd. Entertainment and dancing Tues. thru Sat. by the Jerry Libby Trio. Cocktail hour to 6 p.m. featuring chip-dip from our own secret recipes. "Where Dining Pleasure and Hospitality go Hand in Hand." Call 673-7900 for reservations.

HELPFUL HINT: If you like garlic flavor, but not the full taste of the bud, keep a sliced clove of garlic in a separate bottle of vinegar to use only for making salad dressing.
