

Powers' Lawyer Expresses Hope for Lenience

In County Convention Spotlight

TALK POLITICS—Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, chats with Mrs. Harriett Phillips, woman liberal-labor faction, in Oakland County. Bartlett was keynote speaker at last night's county convention in the Board of Supervisors chambers.

Convening Dems Silent on Con-Con

By MAX E. EDMON

The controversial constitutional convention got the silent treatment at the Oakland County Democratic convention in Pontiac Wednesday night.

Despite earlier possibilities of a floor fight on the matter, when the Resolutions Committee offered a batch of proposals, there was no mention of con-con.

Silence on the con-con question apparently was an attempt to maintain harmony within party ranks.

The issue had provoked debate in the spring when county delegates voted an record with a declaration of "unalterable opposition" to con-con.

Labor-liberal forces, seemingly satisfied with the previous declaration, decided that nothing could be gained by reintroducing the issue.

SCHOLLE STAYS AWAY

A tipoff on things to come was provided early in the evening when August (Gus) Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO and leader of the anti-con forces in the state with Swanson, failed to appear.

Scholle, a Royal Oak precinct delegate, was "at work elsewhere," explained Mrs. Harriett Phillips, Huntington Woods housewife who heads the Democratic for Victory liberal-labor faction.

There was no doubt Wednesday night that the question of party power in the county had been complete.

Proposals of the Resolutions Committee had the unanimous approval of committee members.

No protests were made from the floor over any of the resolutions. The evening marked the debut of James M. Ginn, 32-year-old Franklin attorney, as new county chairman.

It was a successful one, as Democrats talked "a little bit November" and avoided debate over any issues which might create differences.

Ginn, who had been selected last Friday by the party's 13 county nominees as their choice for chairman, was acclaimed the unanimous choice of delegates by voice vote.

So were all other officers on the slate offered by Mrs. Phillips' group.

Ginn has replaced Carlos G. Richardson, 62, who served as chairman since 1953.

NAME DELEGATES

As a unity move, delegates named the deceased Richardson chairman by Ginn and Fred V. Haggard, president of the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council, as their three at-large delegates to the Democratic State Convention to be held Aug. 27 in Grand Rapids.

One hundred and twenty-five delegates and 130 alternates were expected to attend the convention.

Bartlett Warns Nation May Be Near Recession

Oakland County Democrats were told Wednesday night that the nation may be on the brink of a recession.

The statement was made by Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, who keyed the party's county convention.

Some Rain to Dampen Friday Heat

Chances are that scattered showers will dampen the Pontiac area sometime Friday with temperatures continuing warm, the weatherman says.

Tonight will stay warm, the low about 58. Tomorrow's high is expected to reach near 80 degrees. Clearing and somewhat cooler is the outlook for Saturday.

Morning southerly winds at five miles an hour will become southerly to southwest tonight and Friday at 10-15 miles.

Grosse Pointe Drops Buyers Point System

All Reference Stricken From Bylaws; Adams Says Matter Closed

LANSING (AP)—The point system is out in Grosse Pointe, Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said today.

The point system of screening prospective home buyers in Grosse Pointe was the subject of recent hearings, and criticized by state investigators as aiming to keep out racial, religious and other minorities.

The Grosse Pointe Property Owners Association and Grosse Pointe Brokers Assn. have stricken from their bylaws and records any reference to the point system, Adams' office announced.

Adams said he considers the matter "closed."

"I deem that their actions will result in the complete abandonment of the point system and thus fully satisfy the requirements set forth by Commissioner Gubow and myself," Adams said.

He referred to Lawrence Gubow, state corporations and securities commissioner.

Adams and Gubow conducted the state investigation of the point system, an inquiry which led to promulgation of a much-disputed antiracial rule for real estate brokers now under court challenge.

The apparent collapse of the point-scoring in Grosse Pointe had no direct effect on the injunction suit to stop enforcement of the rule proposed by Gubow as state licensor of brokers.

The rule prohibits discrimination by brokers in sale or rental of property for reason of race, color, religion or nationality.

It was challenged last Friday by two Lansing area real estate firms and an individual realtor. An order blocking its effect was issued by Circuit Judge Sam Street Hughes of Ingham County.

A hearing was set tentatively for Sept. 2.

Congolese Attack U.N. Soldiers

LEOPOLDBVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congolese soldiers knocked a Canadian captain unconscious and attacked four other Canadian soldiers today at Leopoldville airport. The Canadians were part of a signal detachment en route to Lubumbashi in a United Nations peacekeeping mission.

Capt. J. C. A. Paschereau, in charge of the group, was knocked unconscious by a rifle butt wielded by a member of the force. The Congolese then forced some Canadians to lie on the ground and made one strip to his shorts.

Identification cards, weapons and other belongings were taken. Capt. Mike Jackson, Canadian army public relations officer, said in relating the incident.

He said it occurred as about 13 Canadians were preparing to take off. They had boarded the plane and its engines were running when about 30 Congolese soldiers blocked the plane. Some boarded it.

They forced Paschereau and four other Canadians to leave the plane.

Spy Trial Highlights: U2 Pilot Vs. Soviet

MOSCOW (AP)—Highlights from direct testimony of Francis Gary Powers in the second day of his espionage trial:

Q By Presiding Judge Lt. Gen. Victor Borisoglebsky: Did it not occur to you that by violating the Soviet frontiers you might torpedo the summit conference?

A When I got my instructions I did not know what day it was nor when the summit conference was meeting.

Q Did you not think your flight might provoke a military conflict?

A The people who sent me should think of these things.

Q Do you regret making this flight?

A Yes, very much.

Q Were you aware that you were infringing the frontiers of the Soviet Union?

A Yes.

DID A SERVICE?

Q Why did you do it? A. I was ordered to.

Q Did you do your country good service or an ill service?

A I would say a very ill service.

Q By Prosecutor Roman A. Rudenko: Did Pakistan give you authority to fly over the Soviet Union?

A They didn't give it to me personally.

Q (The prosecutor asked details of the route Powers took on a U2 flight in 1958 from a Turkish base to Bodo, Turkey.)

A I took off from Turkey, flew over part of Turkey, then Greece, Italy—and either France, Austria or Switzerland, I don't remember.

Q Did you try to bribe Soviet citizens with gold and foreign currency carried on the May Day flight?

A I did not try.

Q After your contract you were to receive $2,500 a month in full?

A No. I received what was left of $1,500 after taxes.

Q What about the remaining $1,000?

A I was to get that on successful completion of the contract.

Q If you had not flown of May 1 would you have gotten the money?

A I do not know whether that would be successful completion of the contract.

Q Could that money have been withheld if you had refused?

A The way the contract was worded—yes.

Q By defense attorney Mikhail I. Griniov, Was Powers' commanding officer, Col. William Shelton, particularly interested in Soviet rocket sites and were any marked on the chart for the flight?

A He mentioned one site as probably a rocket-launching site.

Q Was not the main objective to locate rocket sites?

A I have only my own opinion. The experts who studied the film (taken by the U2 equipment) will know what Col. Shelton was interested in. In my own opinion there is much interest, not only by the military but by all peoples of the world, in Soviet rockets.

Aggressive U2 Flier Challenges Testimony

MOSCOW (AP)—Francis Gary Powers' defense attorney expressed hope today the Soviet military court trying the American U2 pilot will be lenient with him.

The attorney, Mikhail I. Griniov, made the comment as the trial ended its second day with testimony of Soviet experts who attacked Powers' contention that he was only a pilot acting under orders and not a true spy.

Griniov told Powers' family he based his hope for leniency on the pilot's behavior during his trial, together with his expressed regret and repentance over the May 1 flight that landed him 1,300 miles inside the Soviet Union.

Griniov is a court-appointed attorney, and the informal view he expressed could reflect at least Soviet thinking. The Moscow radio was telling its listeners today that Powers shows signs of true repentance, and "this makes a clear distinction between him and those who sent him."

The U2 pilot completed his own testimony in 80 minutes on the stand today. He reiterated that he was sorry he made the May Day U2 flight. He told his Soviet judges he did not think at the time that the flight might torpedo the Paris summit conference or provoke a military conflict.

It is the Soviet view that the Powers flight torpedoed the summit, while the United States contends that Premier Nikita Khrushchev's reaction to the flight, including insistence that President Eisenhower apologize, was responsible for breaking up the May 16 meeting in Paris.

The second day's session ended at 5:40 p. m.

The trial resumes Friday with prospects that it will be completed before nightfall.

In questioning today Lt. Gen. Victor Borisoglebsky, chairman of the three-judge military court, brought from Powers the comment that he thought he had done the United States a disservice by the U2 flight.

Powers listened, largely with his arms folded and little change of expression, to testimony of Soviet investigators on technical aspects of his plane's equipment and purpose. They charged the flight was planned, premeditated and aggressive.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians gave Barbara Powers a close-up look today at the personal possessions they took from her husband, Francis Gary Powers, when his U2 plane was downed May 1. At her own request, she was led up on the stage in the courtroom during a recess to inspect the collection.

She conferred with Soviet defense lawyer Mikhail I. Griniov. In the conference with her wife Oliver W. Powers, the defendant's father, and Jessica Hilleman, the pilot's sister.

She was shown two display boxes of robes, rings and other exhibits labeled "escape equipment."

Then her guide led her across the stage to two more boxes placed directly in front of the prisoner's cage, where Powers has set for two days.

IN SILVER DOLLAR

The guide pointed to an object and said: "This is the poison needle. It once was contained in a silver dollar, hollowed out to receive it. It has an ear by which it could be hung by a string around the neck. He threw it away before landing and we have never found the silver dollar."

For time it appeared Mrs. Powers might be taken to her first meeting with her husband.

Lawyer Alexander Parker of Richmond, Va., led her to a room at the rear of the tribunal. The aerial photographer stayed near her. Everyone else, except her father-in-law, was directed to the outer corridor.

"We did not meet," she told a correspondent after a 20-minute conference inside Mrs. Powers' conference room. She simply shook her head sadly.

County GOP Hears Bentley Charge

Says Dems Buying Votes

Democrats attending the August ballot-tied session of Congress are using the party treasury for a campaign kitty, Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Owosso) told Oakland County Republicans last night.

If the Democrats are successful, Bentley said, "the country faces cost of living increases even greater than the ones we had under Harry Truman."

But if the Republicans win the ballot battle, he added, "we will have another surplus which can be applied either to debt reduction or tax reform."

New Orleans Schools Newly Integrated

Bias Showdown Looms

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A new federal-state school integration showdown loomed here today in the wake of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' take-over of New Orleans public schools.

Davis acted Wednesday to supersede the Orleans Parish (County) school board under a 1890 legislative law permitting him to take over schools to prevent racial integration.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright has ordered the first grade of New Orleans public schools integrated at the start of the fall term next month.

A three-judge federal court meets Aug. 26 to hear a suit by 31 white parents and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for an injunction to prevent Davis from interfering with integration.

Insurance of the injunction would strike at the constitutionality of the law under which Davis acted. It would also cancel an earlier order by State Dist. Court Judge Oliver B. Carriere ordering the Orleans Parish school board to comply with Judge Wright's desegregation order. Carriere thus upheld the validity of a state law giving the legislature sole power to reclassify schools as white or Negro.

Another new state law passed by the 1960 Legislature, permits the governor to close all state schools if any one is integrated. Davis' action gives him control of the schools pending a meeting of the recently-organized four-to prevent Davis from interfering with integration.

A special legislative session to ratify classification may be necessary, unless the courts void the governor's action.

Davis designated James F. Redmond, Orleans Parish school superintendent, as his agent to run the schools.

He told Redmond to open the schools Sept. 7, the day before they had been scheduled to open.

Lloyd Rittiner, Orleans Parish School Board president, said his personal opinion was that Davis' attempt to keep schools open and segregated "won't work."

Says Fainting Spell Caused Car Wreck

Richard R. Macintosh, 24, of Charlotte St., was in Pontiac General Hospital today for observation after possible injuries and fainting spells.

These caused him, he said, to lose control of his car Wednesday on Oakland avenue in northwest Pontiac, just south of the Grand Trunk Railroad viaduct.

Macintosh told Pontiac police he passed out at the wheel before his car struck a utility post and bounced into the side of another car driven by William R. Reynolds, 36, of 1013 Oda St. Davison.

A street in Yalta, Crimean resort, has been named after Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Europe Conscious of U2 Trial

By The Associated Press
The Francis Gary Powers trial, drawn to a close in Europe Wednesday.

West of the Iron Curtain there were various expressions of the idea the American U2 Pilot, whose capture last May set off a new crisis in the Cold War, is getting a raw deal in Moscow.

Newspapers of Communist East Europe fell in line with the Soviet view that the espionage hearing in the Hall of Columns is "an act of justice branding with ignominy the criminal actions of U.S. ruling circles directed against the Socialist (Communist) States."

RUSSIAN JUSTICE
"A sample of Russian justice," commented Stockholm's Express.

The whole concept of the trial was attacked editorially by the London Star. It said the case "has been prejudged well in advance, contrary to all the basic principles of British justice."

The Star's front page headline quoted Powers: "No, I was not tortured."

London's two other afternoon newspapers, the News and Standard, led with Powers' plea of guilty under the heading "The Star's front page headline quoted Powers: 'No, I was not tortured.'"

At the same time the British Foreign Office started looking into the circumstances of a statement by the British Embassy in Japan that the trial is "propaganda exercise."

The Embassy's information bulletin, issued in Tokyo, declared the trial "has nothing to do with justice and everything to do with politics."

A reporter for the Soviet News Agency Tass declared at a foreign office news conference that the article is slanderous. A foreign office spokesman refused to comment, but said an inquiry is under way.

TRIAL FABLE
The Vienna Kurier said the Russians have openly admitted the trial is going to be a farce.

Powers' guilty plea was described by another Vienna newspaper, the Express, as a "Soviet triumph at Moscow show trial."

"It no longer requires torture to turn a prisoner around," the Express said. "It takes only 109 days of brain washing. Even the strongest stand it only a few days."

Rome newspapers devoted half their front pages to the trial. Most of them featured Powers' plea of guilty.

Las Vegas Officials Indicated in Robbery

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The city manager and chief of police of this desert gambling resort have been indicted under a state law dealing with malfeasance in office.

The grand jury charged that Police Chief Ray Sheriff and Manager Al Kennedy knew a policeman had committed burglaries and failed to take legal action against him.

Both were released on their own recognizance.

Miss Universe Sponsor Sues Over Contract

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The Utah sponsor of Linda Bement, 18, Miss Universe, is suing her for breach of contract.

Her mother says the agreement expired when Linda won the Miss Universe title.

That's not true, says Miss Ruth Tolman, who runs a modeling school here and handles the Miss Universe contest in Utah.

Miss Tolman said Linda could not be in Hollywood and was under contract with Miss Universe Pageant Inc. of New York at the time.

To Exhibit Steam Engine

DETROIT (AP)—A retired C&O steam locomotive which traveled more than 200,000 miles pulling passenger and freight trains primarily between Detroit and Grand Rapids will be exhibited this year at the Michigan State Fair.

plea of guilty. The Giornale D'Italia said Powers answered questions in a clear, firm voice.

Radio Moscow gave the pitch for the Communist concert on the trial with a series of Russian language bulletins heavily laced with propaganda.

Powers was denounced as "the boonman of the Rockefellers and the Morgans, of those who turn the sorrow and tears of mothers of the world into streams of gold."

Representative of the comment in satellite nations was a declaration by the Moscow correspondent of the Czechoslovak newspaper Rude Pravo:

"World public opinion is unanimous in wrathfully denouncing the unprecedented stand taken by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Herter who, instead of offering their apologies to the Soviet Union for the provocation they staged, cynically lifted espionage to the rank of state policy."

Oldest Living Kin of Dan'l Boone Dies

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Laura Boone Cooke, a great-great-granddaughter of Daniel Boone, is dead at the age of 86.

Mrs. Cooke, before her death the oldest living direct descendant of the pioneer, died Tuesday in Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

She was born in Ash Grove, Mo. and lived in South St. Louis for more than 50 years.

Over Half State Families Plan College for Kids

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The University of Michigan Survey Research Center reports that more than half the families in Michigan with children under the age of 18 plan to send one or more of their youngsters to college.

The report added that currently about one-third of the state's college-age population is enrolled in institutions of higher learning.

Three factors contributing to the mounting pressure for college education according to the survey research center are the population growth, fewer "drag only" in high school and "rising social pressures for a larger proportion of high school graduates to get some college training."

Meany Is Negative

CHICAGO (UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany took pictures of reporters Wednesday at a news conference and was asked by a reporter if his camera was union made. "No," it's a Japanese camera, Meany replied.

The predatory dragonfly snared its victims on the wing by making a basket out of its front legs.

N.Z. Women Seek Careers as Aviators

To break down a prejudice that still exists against "flying women," and to form a useful "pool" of women pilots, are two reasons for the recent formation in Wellington of the New Zealand Airwomen's League. Diana Jack and Rida Fraser, both of whom hold flying licenses, are behind the organization.

They say they want to bring flying as a career or a useful accomplishment, or simply as a hobby, to the attention of women, most of whom are unaware of its possibilities and attractions. First the women must save up the $450 it will cost to learn to fly and take the pilot's test. If one is under 30 the government will refund $150 of this amount. The league will also be open to women parachutists and glider pilots.

Antarctic Treaty Seen As Hopeful Precedent

The Senate has consented to ratification of the 12-nation Antarctic treaty after some preliminary arguing that it constituted a give-away of American rights and a surrender to the Russians.

Actually the agreement protects U.S. rights. It provides that territorial claims based on previous activity are not affected by it and that no claims shall be made while the treaty is in force. The Soviet Union is a comparative newcomer to the area.

The treaty also provides for exchange of plans and scientific personnel and that scientific observations be made available to all. Nuclear explosions and the disposal of radioactive wastes are barred from the Antarctic as well as all military activity. Most importantly, it establishes a precedent setting system of unlimited inspection and free access to ensure that the non-military provision is complied with.

In speaking for ratification, Sen. Fulbright pointed out that if the treaty were defeated so as to permit American submarine and missile bases on Antarctica, the Russians (and 10 other nations) could establish similar bases. Another armament race would be on and tensions increased.

Each of the signatories will be free to inspect everything on the icy continent. If any country violates its pledge, the others would be relieved of all treaty obligations.

Initiated by the U.S., the treaty is an extension of the co-operation begun during the International Geophysical Year and guarantees that Antarctica will be used freely for the benefit of mankind. It sets a hopeful pattern of international agreement in a limited sphere with reliable safeguards against abuse.

In future dealings with other areas and particularly with regard to control of outer space, this treaty may be of enormous importance.

U.S. to Push Program For Food Distribution

In a farm policy speech at Minot, N.D. Vice President Nixon revealed the Administration's hopeful plan of getting rid of surpluses "to help feed the hungry of the world."

The proposal would involve getting food surplus nations such as Canada, Australia, Argentina, New Zealand and the Western European and Scandinavian countries to contribute to a food pool to be administered by the United Nations.

This, of course, would not be a cure-all for the farm problem nor the world's hunger. However, it would be a co-operative effort by nations with food surpluses to share them with the have-not countries without disrupting commercial markets.

The idea is not new but it is given fresh urgency by poor conditions in many parts of Africa — and our own 1960 bumper crop.

Survey Finds Workers Want Security First

What's important in life? The Montgomery Advertiser recently publishes the findings of a survey that sought to find some sort of an answer to this question. The facts are interesting. This is what The Advertiser says:

"What do most American working people... skilled or unskilled, clerks or coal miners... want most from their jobs? More money, bonuses, shorter working hours, less work?"

"None of these things says Martin M. Bruce, director of personnel research, Dunlap & Associates, Inc., of Stamford, Conn. In an article published for distribution by the Small Business Administration, Bruce contends that more money and less work have surprisingly little to do with employee morale.

"Extensive research has led to 14 important morale factors. In order of importance, wages rank a poor seventh; working hours, twelfth; ease of job, thirteenth; benefits, last.

"If not pay benefits or work load, what? Bruce quotes from the survey to argue that above all else the employee must feel secure in his job; second, he must be interested in the work he is doing.

Following close behind are two other factors: There must be an opportunity for advancement, and the employee must believe that his services are appreciated, that he is a valuable member of the team effort."

The Man About Town

Speed Contests

And Other Unusual Growths in a Real Prolific Season

Politician: What's often the opposite of a statesman.

A real race among corn, sunflower and hollyhock stalks is under way in the garden of

Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Ambrose in Drayton Plains. Although quite even for a few weeks, the corn has now gone into the lead, with the other two neck and neck.

Another nature race is reported by Hiram Brinkley of Keego Harbor, in which pumpkin and squash vines are crawling over his garden. The former is leading at 32 feet, with the squash being gradually outdistanced.

Still another kind of race was witnessed the other day by Forrest Leverman of Walled Lake. Attracted by a squealing noise in his garden, he found that a large garter snake had partially swallowed a frog, which was making the noise. He forced the snake to disgorge the frog, that rapidly jumped away in four-foot hops, chased by the snake at a rate that would win any serpentine marathon. They disappeared in some tall grass, the frog evidently winning the race for the time being, at least.

Supervisor of Brandon Township, Alex Selley, also raises pheasants, and now is in line for the sweet clover championship, having some 10 feet tall.

Tulips blooming for the second time this year in the yard of

Mr. and Mrs. Blair Whitney of Waterford surely are establishing something new in nature's marvels.

First home grown watermelons of 1960 are appearing, Sheridan Palmer of Clarkston reporting some up to 18 pounds each—and mighty delicious.

By snipping off all except the top blossom,

Mrs. Pierce Ernew of Rochester, grows sunflowers that measure 15 inches across. She says that's the best way to produce bird feed for next winter.

Castor bean leaves 20 inches across, growing in the yard of

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Garretson of Birmingham, testify to what catching up can be done, following a late start.

Now canning beets grown from seed that was planted on May 1.

David Lawrence Says:

Spy Charge Against Powers Weak

WASHINGTON—Is Francis Powers really a "spy" in a legal sense under international law?

For the first time someone from the United States has revealed that the whole case against Powers rests on a flimsy basis.

Spencer M. Beresford, special counsel for the Committee on Science and Astronautics of the U.S. House of Representatives, has just delivered at Stockholm, Sweden, a noteworthy speech before the 11th Annual Congress of the International Astronautical Federation.

Though he says his "observations on this subject are personal and not official," he demolishes the Soviet argument that Powers is a spy or is guilty of espionage in the sense that the term is customarily used in legal circles.

Beresford makes the point that no country, including the Soviet Union, has officially objected to the launching of satellites, including the surveillance vehicles known as Tiro and Midas.

He says that the international agreement on civil aviation approved in Chicago in 1944 was not signed by the Soviet Union and hence its provisions are not binding on the United States with respect to airspace over Russia.

But even the Chicago agreement, he insists, does not cover the present type of aircraft used.

REASONS TO CHALLENGE

He adds: "There are persuasive reasons for challenging the view that the U2 flights over Soviet territory were violations of international law."

"It seems necessary to stress, in particular, that there is no applicable agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union concerning the use of aircraft."

"We may inquire also whether the U2 flights invaded 'airspace' as that term is used in the Chicago convention. . . . The convention does not define 'airspace' or any equivalent term. . . . There is wide agreement that there must be an upper limit to national sovereignty."

"There is, however, no agreement on what that limit should be. The proposed upper limits to national sovereignty all seem more or less arbitrary."

"Neither physical conditions nor flight characteristics can be reasonably related to any fixed altitude. . . ."

"Under most proposals, sovereignty would end at the top of the atmosphere. This is sometimes

CAN FLY HIGH

Beresford then goes on to point out that the U2 is designed to fly at a height of more than 12 miles "which is higher than man can breathe and beyond the boiling altitude of water at body temperature," and "for human survival above that point, breathing apparatus must be supplemented by a pressure suit."

There is no "contemporary international law" governing the situation, as this assumes, according to Beresford, a "long-continued accumulation of unbroken precedents by which nations acquiesce in practice to the impermeability of one another's airspace."

He points out that "freedom of the seas" did not become a generally accepted principle of international law "for hundreds of years."

Beresford makes the further point that the bounds of sovereignty "are set by the principle of effective control."

The whole controversy boils down to a simple question: Can aerial photographic missions really be classed as espionage in a legal sense? (Copyright 1960)

Dr. William Brady Says:

Calcium, Iodin Restore Pep After Menopause

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

"Three years ago," writes Mrs. C. H., "I started to lose my enthusiasm for life. I had just been through my menopause and had stopped taking hormone injections because an examination had produced a few cancer cells and although I was told that the tests were negative I was afraid to go back to the hormone injections."

I became progressively worse. I was depressed, exhausted, extremely sensitive, irritable and nearly crippled when I got up in the morning.

"Finally at my last all-months exam I broke down in the doctor's office and told him how dependent I was. He said I was physically fine for a woman my age and he suggested that I see a psychologist."

I had written to you some time ago and received your iodine ration folder. So I decided before I visit a psychologist I would take calcium capsules, and the iodine ration for a while.

"Well! To make a long story short was the beginning of a new life for me. I can't believe such a simple supplementation of my regular diet could make such a difference to my general well being."

"I've had more life, fun, enthusiasm and optimism in the past two months than I have had in 18 years. I'm still a little stiff when I get up in the morning, but no aches or pains, and that wonderful feeling of 'What can I accomplish today!'"

"It just doesn't seem possible. I can never thank you enough." (Signed Mrs. C. H.)

My thoughts while reading Mrs. C. H.'s letter were:

1. Coincidence—the change for the better may have been the effect of the hormone injections.

2. In the pamphlet The Menopause (available on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope) I do pump for high calcium diet and calcium as a supplement, especially for "hot flashes," but, as some of my quoniam colleagues will gladly tell you, I'm so hopped on calcium that they call me Old Calcium Brady.

3. In the Iodin Ration pamphlet (also available if you ask for it provide stamped, self-addressed envelope) if you ask for both pamphlets include 25¢ in addition. I say common manifestation of iodine deficiency in deaths by which nations acquiesce in practice to the impermeability of one another's airspace."

He points out that "freedom of the seas" did not become a generally accepted principle of international law "for hundreds of years."

Beresford makes the further point that the bounds of sovereignty "are set by the principle of effective control."

WIVES, please take this case to heart! For you will need to follow this advice when your husbands reach middle-age. It requires intelligent strategy by a wife to keep her home safe from unhappiness and divorce. Nature didn't equip you with this knowledge so be sure you learn it. God gave you a brain to make up for the shortcomings of the body.

"Dr. Crane, we were so happy that our friends pointed to us as a perfect couple." His attractive wife spoke tearfully.

"But during the last two years something has happened. He's become morose and gloom. He snaps at me and ignores our three children."

"I thought maybe it was the strain of his heavy practice or possibly his thyroid, so I insisted that he get a thorough medical check-up by an internist at the hospital."

"He had been nothing wrong with him physically. Moreover I have seen a radical change psychologically."

"He now drinks whisky, though he used to be a total abstainer from all alcoholic beverages."

"And he has started to smoke. He is reckless and gambles hundreds of dollars in poker games."

WIVES, TAKE CARE! "I hate to admit this, but I know he has been going out with other women. It almost broke my heart when I first found out."

"What is wrong with my husband? He was so wonderful in me and the children a month ago."

Voice of the People

'City Workers Should Help Keep Trash Off Highways'

Ever so often you see a piece in The Press about helping keep our city clean.

There are ever driven down Kennett Road between Dixie and Baldwin. There are the cans, crates, brush, leaves and cardboard all along the highway. Most of it comes off the city trash trucks. I wonder why the city spend money for those trucks and the trucks that are never used?

If we are to keep our streets clean the city workers should help, too.

Jackie's Hairdo Still Center of Attraction

Jackie Kennedy's hairdo must have been thought up during a cypress in a deep jungle. What a fright!

If Mrs. Kennedy wants to have an unusual style for her hair, why do all the busy-bodies sound off about something that isn't any of their business, anyway?

'Better Luck Next Time, Mr. Smith'

I'm wondering if Harold Doebler doesn't know how they urge everybody to get out and vote.

I happen to be in somewhat the same condition as Mr. Smith and it was hard for me to get out. However, it was 3:30 before I cast my vote. Don't let this get you down, Mr. Smith.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Thursday, Aug. 18, the 231st day of the year, with 135 more in 1960. The moon is approaching its new quarter.

The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history: In 1587, Virginia Dare was born at Roanoke Island, N. C., first child born in America of English parents.

In 1868, the first milk to be condensed was patented. The patent office doubled the commercial value of the invention.

In 1896, Adolph Ochs took over control of the New York Times. In 1914, Germany declared war on Russia.

In 1914, President Woodrow Wilson issued his proclamation of neutrality to the nations at war in World War I.

In 1915, the Anticongress League of America was organized in Chicago.

Thought for today: U. S. President Woodrow Wilson said: "The world must be made safe for democracy."

When men will quit believing that they are responsible for their own passion, and when wives will realize that it is their function to stimulate their mates, then men will rarely if ever be impotent.

Impotency is chiefly a state of mind, anyway, for the sex glands should function as long as the other glands.

But the mind can stop your appetite as well as your sexual activity.

Fear can also constipate the bowel, raise your blood pressure

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Muller, D.V.M.

Q. We love our cat but we're kind of birds too. Is there any way we can stop the cat from catching them? Patty Conley, New Cumberland, Pa.

A. It is almost as natural for a cat to catch a bird as it is for a bird to fly. However, it is cruel to allow the housed, well-fed cat to stalk birds.

Even a house cat can develop a just for killing when no effort is made to stop him.

It is psychologically possible to train your cat to live in peace with a pet parakeet and even wild birds. I'll admit it takes a lot of patience, and training should begin in the kitten stage.

The cat's greatest assets in this unfair sport are his velvet paws. A small bell or two tied on your pet's collar will give the bird fair warning, and a chance to escape.

2 Girls Prefer German Ways

Exchange Students Like Plans for Group Dating Amid European Teens

ALLEGAN, Mich. (UPI) — A German exchange student has won support for her criticism of teenage dating. American style, from a Michigan girl who recently completed a year of study in Germany.

The two girls—Linda Malila of Allegan and Kirsten Tiedemann-Michaelis, of Hamburg, Germany—recently compared notes on boy-girl relationships in their native countries.

Eighteen-year-old Kirsten said European teenagers do their dating in groups because they usually walk to social functions. No matter how wealthy their family, she indicated, no teenagers of her acquaintance ever drove their parents' car, or had one of their own.

Kirsten, who is studying for a year at Allegan High School, said she was amazed to learn that nearly a third of the students at Michigan State University are married.

Linda, who attended Germany's Osnabrueck Teacher's College, said she preferred the German approach toward dating, rather than the American practice in individual couples going their own way.

According to Linda, "going steady" is unheard of among German high school or college students and practically no college students marry while in school.

Green in Grass Puts Greenbacks in Purse

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — The green in grass means greenbacks in the rancher's pockets, because it controls a valuable vitamin for livestock.

The Texas A&M College Extension Service says loss of green from hay and fodder means a large per cent of carotene, which produces vitamin A, is lost.

Vitamin A deficiency in cattle brings loss of vigor and swollen joints which could lead to death.

Ground Speedy Police

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — A Syracuse policeman was grounded after he pleaded guilty to driving his own car 55 miles an hour in a 25-mile-an-hour zone. Police Chief Harold F. Kelly ordered that the patrolman, Charles F. Kreis, be restricted to foot patrol and kept away from prow cars.

Thief Believes the Ads

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A thief who swiped 10 paper-wrapped tires from in front of a store must have been keenly disappointed. The tires were worn out and had been wrapped only for advertising purposes.

Turk System Effective With Drinking Drivers

BOSTON (UPI)—Turkey has devised an effective system for dealing with drinking drivers, reports the Automobile Legal Association. When Turkish traffic officers backstop a motorist who has been flipping, they take him for a little ride. When about 18 miles from his car, they tell him to get out and walk back. To keep him honest, the officers ride slowly along behind him all the way back.

Mysterious Footprints Still Defy Explanation

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The mystery of human footprints in stone are no nearer a solution today than when they were discovered in 1850. The footprints are on the top and side of a huge stone on a farm in Johnson County. The stone is six feet wide and 10 feet high and geologists say it has been there for hundreds of years.

Until 1967 Alaska was designated in the maps as Russian America.

Wedding Halted by Rain Moves to Funeral Home

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Nashville couple began married life where most people end it—in a funeral home. Rain started falling just as the garden wedding for Shirley Price and Melvin Baker was about to begin.

Rather than postpone the marriage, the wedding party and guests dashed to a nearby funeral home where the vows were exchanged.

Water Carved Caves

CARLSBAD, N. M. — The Carlsbad Caverns, among the world's largest caves, were carved from a coral reef buried in ancient times. Flowing water dissolved the limestone and hollowed out the caverns.

Chrysler Sues Consultant Ben Stone

DETROIT (U.P.) — Chrysler Corp. sued an associate of its former president, William C. Newberg, Wednesday in an attempt to regain any profits made in dealings between the auto company and two former supplier firms.

Newberg, of 1411 Kirkwood, Bloomfield Hills, who agreed last month to pay Chrysler $450,000 he had received through the vendor companies, was named as a defendant in the Wayne County Circuit Court suit.

However, he and the man sued, consultant Ben Stone, of 19 Merimac, Bloomfield Hills, both were accused of having embarked upon "a continuing fraudulent plan and conspiracy to take advantage of the position and influence" of Newberg for personal profit and gain.

Stone declined comment. But not Harry D. Hirsch, president of C. M. Hall Lamp Co. of Detroit, who was accused in a Chrysler stockholder suit of having induced Chrysler through a 15,000-share gift of Hall stock to a vice president to throw Chrysler business to Hall.

Hirsch said in a statement that "There is absolutely no foundation whatsoever" for allegations in a Wilmington, Del., suit by stockholder-attorney Sol Dann of Detroit and some other stockholders that "I gave 15,000 shares of Hall stock to (a man) . . . as part of a deal under which Hall would be the exclusive supplier of headlamps for Chrysler."

Hirsch's statement said Hall's transfer agent, the Detroit Bank & Trust Co., has signed an affidavit saying that records did not show any shares of Hall stock transferred to any person who was an officer or director of Chrysler at any time on or after Jan. 1, 1954.

The Wilmington, Del., suit charged that Chrysler, through a gift of stock to a Chrysler vice president, was induced to give Hall a contract to be its exclusive supplier of headlamps.

The suit contends Hirsch, who bought into Hall Lamp in 1954, gained control through stock-option purchases in 1957 on a promise of Chrysler business.

In Chrysler's suit today it asked that Stone and others be required to account for profits alleged to have been made by them out of supplier transactions with Chrysler.

A somewhat similar action has been filed in New York courts by a stockholder asking that Chrysler be reimbursed for any losses that might have resulted from excessive-supplier conspiracies.

Chrysler's suit identified the two

CALLS STRIKE—Michael J. Quill, left, International president of the Transport Workers Union, speaks at a news conference Wednesday at which he announced that two unions which claim to represent 75,000 employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad were calling a systemwide strike for Sept. 1 on America's biggest carrier. The TWU and System Federation No. 132, the two unions calling the strike, said management "broke off" negotiations after three futile years of trying to settle a rules dispute. At right is J. Business Midway in '60 Hanging at Dead Center

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—With the third quarter of the year just past the halfway point, business today is totaling up:

1. How much of a lull the summer has brought in industrial and trade activities.
2. How strong are the signs of a business upturn in the fall.

At the midway point the best answers seem to be: The summer lull was just about what was expected in most fields subject to this seasonal cycle and also in those going through their own individual recessions this year. But most signs of a strong rebound are either lacking or delayed beyond expectations or hopes.

On either side of this view are the optimists and the pessimists. Both are offering predictions freely, some based on current statistics and some on guesses on what the current lull is building up to. Those who think that 1960 has been its worst days and that the year will go down in the books as a short readjustment to reality after over-enthusiastic hopes, make these points:

Industrial production held steady in July. The Federal Reserve Board's index was two points below its record high of the first of the year, but one point better than a year ago. This could mean it has hit bottom for this cycle and is ready to move higher as industry gets going in the fall.

Employment has climbed to a new high, even if four million persons are still out of work.

Consumer spending has stayed high—strong buying in the non-durable fields offsetting a lull in durable purchases.

Money and credit are getting easier, laying the groundwork for a pickup in business and consumer borrowing, when and if the businessman and his customers decide to step up their activities.

But happy as they are that the downturn that started in the early spring hasn't developed into a steep slide, many are unconvinced that the present situation foretells much of an upturn in the fall.

They note these deterrents: The stock market shows no signs of expecting a new boom. And the market has a big effect on public thinking. The profit squeeze holds businessmen back from making expansion plans. Even though pushing sales into record high ground, many companies have reported lower earnings. And a sizable number see little hope of a quick reversal of that trend.

Factory orders for durable goods were expected by many to have turned up before this. The delay is making many businessmen nervous.

Predictions that hand-to-mouth inventory buying of either raw materials or end products would have run its course by now have fallen flat in most instances. Resumption of buying is still in the uncharted future.

The steady flow of bad news from various parts of the world keeps both industrialists and consumers wondering about their plans and prospects.

The stubborn refusal of home building to respond to the money managers' easy credit moves whittles away at hopes that the industry would give the economy a push off dead center.

Weighing them all, the conclusion is that while signs of a real slump are blessedly few, signs of an impressive fall rebound are waiting out any change.

Changes in Act Further Restrict Minors on Liquor

LANSING (UPI)—Attorney General Paul L. Adams Wednesday ruled amendments to the state's Liquor Control Act have put further restrictions on minors.

Adams said the original law prohibited minors from having alcohol beverages under their control in a motor vehicle.

Amendments made it unlawful to have alcohol in their possession at all. The opinion was asked by several county prosecutors and revised an opinion issued in 1952. Adams said.

ALMOST FINISHED — Another $350,000 Waterford Township elementary school is nearing completion on Merry street near Pontiac Lake road. Known as the Della Lutes School, it will help alleviate the over-load at the Leggett School on Pontiac Lake road and will also accommodate pupils from several newly developed subdivisions in the area.

School Building Booms in Waterford District

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Seven school building projects costing a total of more than $3.5 million are under way in the Waterford Township School District and three new elementary schools are scheduled to open in two weeks.

"Outside of Detroit, it's my guess that this is the largest number of school building projects anywhere in Michigan at this time," said Supt. of Schools William A. Shuck.

Completely finished and ready for occupancy is the $350,000 David Grayson School on Walton boulevard between Sashabaw and Clintonville roads.

Although not quite finished, the Della Lutes School on Pontiac Lake road near Crescent Lake road, and the Carl Sandburg School on Merry road in the Waterford Lake area will open this fall as scheduled.

The largest of three additions to existing elementary school buildings is the classroom addition to the Waterford Village School. The school is the oldest of the 23 schools in the district and construction work, including extensive remodeling, will cost approximately $150,000 before completion about Christmas, Shuck said.

The project involves tearing down the original center structure and converting the entire building into a one-story unit. Throughout the years, there have been three additions to the original building.

Work on the Hudson Covert School off Scott Lake road is well under way, as is the addition to the Drayton Plains School on Sashabaw road.

At both of these schools there were two portable buildings that had to be torn down before construction started. The combined cost of the two additions will be about $385,000.

Construction and groundwork has been started on the school district's second senior high school slated to open in the fall of 1961. It will cost more than $2 million.

To be situated a quarter of a mile to the north of Hatcher near Airport road, the school will have a blacktopped parking lot. Plans and specifications for two additional elementary schools will be studied by the Board of Education at tonight's meeting.

The construction program was made possible when voters approved a $5 million school bond issue last year.

Would Temper Quarantine Demand

U.S. Expected to Support Sanctions Against Trujillo

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was expected to throw the weight of the United States today behind a Venezuelan move to condemn the Dominican Republic for aggression.

But Herter may caution the other foreign ministers of the Organization of American States (OAS) against the total quarantine of the Dominican dictatorship asked by Venezuela.

With a private meeting scheduled this morning, Herter was to be the first speaker of the afternoon. The foreign ministers were embarked on a crucial phase of their two-day-old meeting, judging Venezuela's charge that the Dominican officials connived in the attempt to assassinate Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt.

Venezuelan Foreign Minister Ignacio Luis Araya called Wednesday for a virtual quarantine of the Dominican Republic after noting that the special OAS investigating committee had accused Dominican officials of backing the abortive June 24 plot against Betancourt.

DOOR OPEN

Araya asked for a breakoff in diplomatic relations and communications with the Dominican Republic as well as economic sanctions. But he also appeared to leave the door open for lesser measures, saying the ministers had come to San Jose to choose the measures they wish to apply.

Dominican Foreign Minister Porfirio Herrera Baez in a three-hour reply challenged the legality of the OAS committee's report. He declared there was no proof to support Venezuela's charge. Testimony, he said, came from prisoners now held in Venezuela and their statements would not be admissible in many courts.

He also hinted the prisoners had been brainwashed by Venezuelan police and likened the case to that of 12 pilot Francis Gary Powers, now on trial in Moscow.

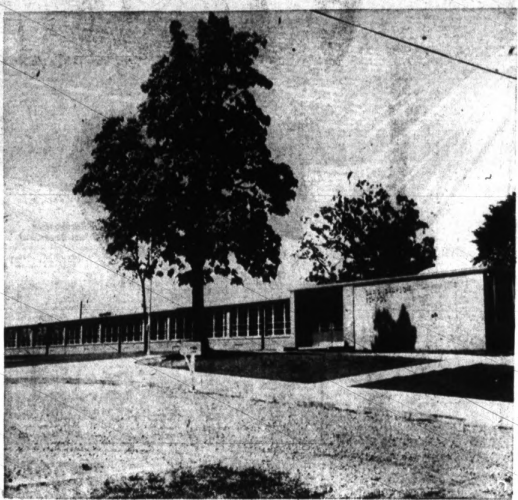

Herrera Baez suggested an exploratory mission be set up to try to restore broken relations between the Dominican Republic and seven other American nations at odds with her.

Following Herrera Baez, Andres Alvarado Puerto of Honduras, Manuel Tello of Mexico and Diogenes Taboada of Argentina all indicated support for the Venezuelan demands. But none of them went into specifics as to what the ministers should do in a formal resolution expected to take shape today.

Diplomatic sources said, however, that there already was general agreement that the first part of the resolution would condemn Dominican intervention in the affairs of other nations.

A battle was expected, however, over the nature of sanctions to be applied. The United States, which was reported to have joined in preparing the condemnatory sections of the resolution, was said to be holding out against more than a recall of the chiefs of diplomatic missions in Ciudad Trujillo.

The resolution was expected to set up some form of committee to watch developments in the Dominican Republic in order to prevent disorders or a Communist takeover if and when the 30-year rule of Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo falls.

READY AND WAITING — The new David Grayson School in Waterford Township has been completed and is ready to accommodate some 400 youngsters who will enroll in two weeks. This is one of three additional schools to open this fall in the school district. The new building is located on Walton boulevard at Dill road.

Kentucky State Governor Opens Extra Offices

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—When the people seem to be having trouble getting to the capital to see the governor, there is one obvious solution—and Kentucky is taking it.

Moving the capital to the people. Gov. Bert Combs is making arrangements to move his office, for two days each next week, to Mayfield, 250 miles away in western Kentucky, and to Mayville, in northeast Kentucky.

"This not only will give the people an opportunity to talk directly with me," Combs said, "but will give me an opportunity to find out what is on their minds."

Viet Nam Sentences Two Reds to Death

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A Vietnamese military court today sentenced two Communist agents to the firing squad for blowing up an American officers' mess in October 1958.

Four other convicted Viet Cong agents were sentenced to prison terms ranging from five years to life for their part in the bomb plot. All pleaded guilty.

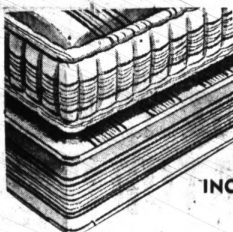

Seven persons were killed and others were injured when a plastic bomb exploded in the mess at Cholon, the Chinese city adjoining Saigon. No victims were Americans.

Pedestrian Killed

DETROIT (AP)—John Micholich, 66, of Hamtramck, was struck and killed by an auto as he crossed an intersection today. Police quoted the driver of the auto as saying the man appeared in front of her as she drove through an intersection with the green light.

AP Photos — For two years Amsterdam tailor B. J. Hout and his son hammered and planed and varnished to build this 15-foot boat, carefully measuring it to be sure it would fit through the window when it was finished. And what do you know — it fit through.

Gets $54,081 Damages in 'N-Bombing' of Home
CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) — Federal District Judge C.C. Wyche awarded damages of $54,081 yesterday to Walter Gregg whose property was damaged by an unarmored nuclear bomb accidentally dropped by an Air Force B47 in March 1958.

N-Bomb Trigger Blows in England; No Injuries
ALDERMASTON, England (UPI) — Conventional explosives being molded into a trigger for a nuclear bomb exploded yesterday at the British Atomic Weapons Research Station here.

The blast blew the roof off the laboratory and destroyed the explosive press, but scientists were shielded by a reinforced concrete wall and there were no injuries.

Send Gifts Home From the Congo

U.N. Soldiers Same as Others

By DIETER HESPE
FRANKFURT (UPI) — United Nations soldiers aren't much different from others — they're also suckers for souvenirs.

My principal assignment in the Congo was to photograph U.N. troop arrivals, so I was staying with them pretty closely. Their souvenir bug provided a good harvest for the natives.

The soldiers were snapping up eagerly all sorts of gadgets which for the most part came from Belgium and many other European countries.

The troops didn't seem to care, just so they got something "to send home."

It is an education to see so many different types of troops, and the way they act.

The first thing the American airmen did when they got out of their planes was to sprawl at ease on the ground.

The Ghanaian troops from the moment of arrival drilled as solemnly and flawlessly as the proudest British royal battalion.

The soldiers from Guinea were much more informal and at ease, but gave every appearance of knowing their business.

The Swedish troops seemed the most military in general bearing and conduct. They jumped smartly from their planes and began immediately to prepare bivouacs as though in combat. When any three or four Swedish soldiers went anywhere they marched in step with a non-committal cadence.

One felt a bit sorry for the first Irish troops to arrive at Leopoldville en route to the interior. Wearing heavy uniforms in the heat, they were marched right into formation from their planes and stood for an hour before their aircraft was ready to depart again.

Many of the soldiers of the various countries obviously arrived thinking they might be going right into combat. A number of them approached me soon after their landing to ask me where the fighting was.

Some of their tension disappeared when it became apparent they weren't being plunged at once into full-scale fighting.

Prices in Leopoldville were steep when I arrived, steeper when I left, and apparently still are rising right into combat. A number of them approached me soon after their landing to ask me where the fighting was.

PLAIN LUCKY — A light plane sticks from the side of Raymond Ardolino's home in Backing Ridge, N. J., Tuesday. The pilot and passenger were injured in the crash, but tragedy was averted because the stork beat the plunging plane. The day before, Mrs. Genevieve Ardolino had been taken to the hospital, where she gave birth to premature triplets. Her husband Raymond was visiting her and their two other children were with relatives.

Noise Problem May Be Major Issue

$50-Million Cost in 5 Years Still Doesn't Silence Jets

MONTREAL (UPI) — The aviation industry has spent $50 million in the past five years quieting the roar of jet engines and airlines still are "penalizing" themselves to lessen the noise, a spokesman for the World's Airlines said today.

Sir William F. Hildred, director-general of the International Air Transport Association (IATA), said the jetliner noise problem would be a major issue discussed when presidents of IATA's 85 member airlines from 54 nations meet in Copenhagen, Denmark next month.

"The amount of work done in Europe and America to silence the jets is enormous," Hildred said in an interview at his Montreal headquarters. "But people should understand that a certain amount of power in anything makes a noise, and noise is an essential accompaniment of modern life."

Hildred said the industry has spent "at least $50 million over the past five years on noise suppressors, and on top of that we have been penalizing ourselves." He said Airlines paid the penalty because silencers now in use on most big jetliners weigh the equivalent of "two men and a boy" who otherwise could be carried as passengers.

Virtually all of IATA's member airlines will be represented at the association's 16th annual general meeting in Copenhagen Sept. 12-18. Ake Ruscik, president of the host Scandinavian Airlines system, will take over there as association president from Sotaro Yamaguchi of Japan Air Lines, who became president in Tokyo last year.

Hildred forecast that within five years "economy" trans-Atlantic fares will drop still lower than the 17-day excursion rate of less than $300 scheduled to go into effect Oct. 1. That rate, he recalled will be little more than one-third of the one-class fare in effect immediately after World War II "and the planes are much more comfortable and more than twice as fast."

Mexico Restricting Luxury Car Imports

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexico has imposed new restrictions on imports of "luxury" automobiles which are expected to favor manufacturers in Europe and Japan over U. S. automakers.

The new regulations, effective Nov. 1, forbid the assembly in Mexico of eight-cylinder automobiles unless they are "low-priced, nonluxury" types. Imports of assembled automobiles are forbidden.

The restrictions impose a $4,400 selling price on automobiles to be sold in this country and stipulate that spare parts may be imported only in exchange for Mexican cotton.

Jailed for Assaulting Plastic Surgeon Four-Nosed Convict Dies

LONDON (AP)—All Smith, who had four noses, died in his sleep in prison, he was 34.

For the first 24 ears of his life Smith followed the nose he was born with. But in 1950 the young and the surgeon molded nose No. 3. That one also fell short of Smith's standards. He consulted another plastic surgeon who provided nose No. 4.

When nose No. 4 also dissatisfied Smith, he threatened the surgeon with a gun. Arrested on an assault charge, he was sentenced to 10 years.

A coroner's jury decided that his death was due to natural causes.

Novice to Make Bacterial Tests

Veteran Designs Unit to Use in Food Plants for Constant Control

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Robert N. Frahm, a veteran Grand Rapids bacteriologist, has designed a unit that enables a novice to make positive bacterial tests as quickly and as cheaply as a trained and fully equipped expert.

Frahm, for 10 years the owner of an independent bacteriological testing laboratory serving dairy plants in the area, has developed a compact, table-sized laboratory that includes a kit for individual tests.

Frahm's unit was designed originally for use in dairies, but he said it is also practical in wineries and other food processing plants where constant bacterial control is essential.

The kits are made up of pre-measured dilution tubes and agar, along with sealed plastic ware, all sterile when received. The test chemicals are used once and discarded. No sterilizing or "dish washing"—often responsible for as much as 80 per cent of a laboratory's time—is required.

The motto "In God We Trust" first appeared on U. S. coins in 1864.

Strike Vein of Silver Inside Air Force Hangar

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—Workers at this expanding air base have struck a vein of silver worth mining — but they are ignoring the find.

The vein was found in an excavation inside a hangar. To mine the vein would necessitate removal of the $1 million hangar, so the Air Force decided to cover up the vein with 750 cubic yards of concrete.

The HOMESTEAD COLLECTION is custom made to order by a producer dedicated exclusively to Early American reproductions of the highest quality. This should not be confused with mass production furniture.

For an example in the construction there are three times as many coil springs as are used in other good lines, this requires a heavier and better frame and we therefore guarantee our lifetime seat construction.

We use 100 per cent molded foam rubber cushions crowned to 5 1/2 inches for greatest comfort, most competitors use flat 4-inch rubber cushions. All of our cushion covers are zippered for easy cleaning.

All of these and many more factors mean one thing, The styles and comfort are supreme. Each piece is a masterpiece, there is nothing ordinary here. This is Early American at its very best.

Orders Airline Service Kept

North Central Must Continue Flights in Ironwood, Minnesota

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board ruled Wednesday that North Central Airlines should continue serving six cities in Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The CAB, in an initial decision by hearing examiner Walter W. Bryan, ordered North Central to continue service at Ironwood, and Bemidji and Brainerd, Minn., for an indefinite period of time.

The decision becomes final in 10 days unless it is challenged by the parties in the case.

Bryan also recommended the airline continue its passenger flights to Thief River Falls and Winona, Minn., and Clintonville, Wis., on a "use it or lose it" basis. Under this principle, the service may be dropped if it is patronized by less than five passengers per day.

North Central has been serving the six points since 1945 under a temporary certificate. It had applied for a renewal of the certificate for Ironwood, Bemidji and Brainerd. The airline did not ask for a renewal at the three other points.

LOSES FACE.—Johnny Hunter, 9, entered a freckle contest on a Philadelphia playground after his face was dotted with watercolor paint "freckles" applied by a buddy. But he was spotted by another contestant and ordered to wash his face. The watered-down result: Johnny was washed out of the competition when only a few real freckles remained.

Advertising Volume to Reach Record High

NEW YORK (AP)—Total advertising volume will reach a record $11.910 billion this year, Printers Ink Magazine predicts today.

The 1960 estimate would run seven per cent above the $11,117,300,000 spent last year.

The Advertising and Marketing Trade Weekly predicted magazine volume will rise 14 per cent to $985 million, newspapers nine per cent to $900,000,000, television nine per cent to $1,360 billion, business papers seven per cent to $610 million, outdoor four per cent to $135 million and radio one per cent to $250 million.

Michigan Ranks 7th in Personal Income

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan ranked seventh among the states in total personal income in 1959, the Commerce Department reports.

Total personal income of Michigan residents for the year was $17,493,000,000, six per cent higher than the 1958 figure. The nationwide personal income figure rose by the same percentage to $381 billion.

Income per person in Michigan averaged $2,233 in 1959, compared to a nationwide average of $2,168.

New York, California, Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania accounted for almost half the $23-billion nationwide rise in consumer income. Only three five states and Texas exceeded the Michigan total in 1959.

GM Displays Its 1961 Opels

Restyled Body Lines Follow Italian Fashion—Square and Flat

RUESSELSHEIM, Germany (AP)—General Motors big German Opel Plant Wednesday unveiled its restyled small-car record model for 1961.

The car, equipped with either a four-cylinder 50 H.P. 1,300 cc or 1,700 cc 56-H.P. engine is basically the same that helped sell over 800,000 units in the past years.

New restyled body features include such things as wraparound windshield with forward slanting sideposts, new front grille, high tail fins and windshield washers at no extra cost.

The whole body has been designed much along the latest Italian fashion—square and flat, comparable to the Fiat, the products of British Motor Corporation and France's new Peugeot 604.

Opel, next to Volkswagen, is the hottest selling German car. An Opel spokesman said about half of the big plant's production is exported either to European countries or overseas.

The Opel works, now pushing out 1,300 cars per day, is gunning for 1,400 per day by the end of the year.

One Month Before 1961 Model Cars

Chrysler Mired in Unhappy Puddle

By BEN FLEIGER
DETROIT (AP)—Just a month before introduction of its 1961 model cars, Chrysler Corp. finds its officers and directors under legal fire from unhappy stockholders and under scrutiny by company investigators, its biggest creditor and the government.

Two lawsuits alleging mismanagement await hearings. A new president, on the job only two months, has been fired. Resignation of the board chairman has been demanded.

Countering the two lawsuits against it, Chrysler filed in Wayne (Detroit) County Circuit Court Wednesday the return of profits allegedly obtained by an associate of its former president, William C. Newberg, in dealings between Chrysler and two supplier firms.

CHECK CONTINUES
The company's legal counsel and auditors continue a check of outside business interests of all Chrysler employees. Prudential Insurance Co., which holds $2.6 million in Chrysler notes, says it is studying the situation. The Securities and Exchange Commission is also interested.

Chrysler, which did $2.6 billion worth of business last year, is Detroit's biggest single employer with some 100,000 on its payroll. It is the nation's third largest auto manufacturer and ninth largest corporation.

Last April Chrysler's annual stockholders' meeting rang with charges from Detroit attorney Sol A. Dann of corporate payola, corporate featherbedding, nepotism. He ridiculed "two-bit divvys," demanded wholesale resignations from top level management.

Nine days later, on April 28, L. L. (Tex) Colbert, who had served as president of Chrysler since 1950, stepped up to become chairman of the board. Into his old job went his long-groomed successor, Newberg.

Three State Universities Get Grants From Kellogg

DETROIT (AP)—Grants totaling $82,300 have been awarded to Michigan's three largest universities by the Kellogg Foundation, for a series of programs aimed at improving the quality of administration of community and junior colleges.

The University of Michigan, Michigan State and Wayne State each received $125,000 from the foundation. A fourth grant of $87,300 will be used to establish a center for the study of administrative problems in the community and junior colleges.

"culmination, the penit" of 10 years of rebuilding the management structure of Chrysler.

TOLD TO QUIT
On June 30 Chrysler directors were summoned hurriedly to a New York meeting. Newberg was handed his letter of resignation, told to sign it and leave.

It was, said Chrysler, a difference of opinion over corporate policy. After three weeks of rumors, distorted reports and official silence, the board met again and announced Newberg would pay Chrysler something more than $450,000. This sum was said to represent Newberg's share of profits from two companies which made parts for Chrysler cars.

In its Detroit suit Wednesday, Chrysler set no figure in asking the profit share of consultant Ben Stone and two former Chrysler suppliers in which Newberg was a stockholder—Pres Products Inc., and Bonan Co., now Sango Co., both of Detroit.

A New York stockholder, Robert Markewich, sued Chrysler the day after the Newberg settlement was announced, seeking to recover damages, if any, caused by Chrysler's mismanagement or misconduct by its officers or directors. First arguments were set for next week. Chrysler attorneys have obtained a delay until at least Sept. 20.

Last week Dann went to court against the company, its officers, its 20 directors and 14 of its supplier firms. He alleged gross mismanagement and claimed a number of officers and former officers have, or had, financial interests in supplier companies.

Along with the two other stockholders, Karl Horvath of Detroit, a former Chrysler plant manager, and Samuel S. Schwartzberg of New York, Dann asked the Chancery Court in Wilmington, Del., to name a receiver to handle the affairs of Chrysler. A hearing is due within 20 days.

The suit alleged many things by many persons including Colbert, Newberg, former Chrysler chairman K. T. Keller and vice presidents R. S. Bright, P. C. Ackerman and R. P. Laughlin.

Dann mentioned "kickbacks, payola and profits."

The Detroit attorney-stockholder was called a liar, in effect, if not in those words at a news conference Wednesday by Harry D.

Capt. Kittinger Breaks Record at 102,800-Ft. Jump This Week

HOLLOMAN AIR FORCE BASE, N. M. (AP)—The Air Force says Capt. Joe Kittinger attained a maximum speed of 614 miles an hour during the free-fall phase of his record-breaking 102,800-foot parachute jump Tuesday.

Kittinger ascended above Holloman Air Force Base in southern New Mexico in an open gondola suspended from a balloon.

Officials said at peak altitude Kittinger had 99 per cent of the earth's atmosphere below him and of erroneous statements, things the pressure at that height was previously reported to the public. 0.142 pounds per square inch, or nearly 1-100th that at sea level. The scientists said they were not able to determine for how long, a year president heading a billion dollar corporation, and as a law-hour speed—equal to 93 mach, yet, he (Colbert) should have nearly the speed of sound—or at least better than to have made what point in his descent he reached top velocity.

Departure of Soviet Technicians

Cease to Publish Two China-Linked Magazines

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two magazines published in the Soviet Union with the cooperation of Communist China have failed to appear in recent weeks, a State Department spokesman reported.

Press Officer Lincoln White said it was not clear whether there was any connection between the "cessation of publication" of the magazines and reported departure of Soviet technicians from Communist China.

The withdrawal of technicians and the magazine incident are being cited in some quarters here as evidence of worsening relations between the world's two major Communist powers.

Moscow and Peking have been involved for many months in a philosophical argument over what attitudes they should take toward the outside world generally and the United States in particular.

YES,
I'M
ME!

In essence, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has insisted that in the age of nuclear weapons the principle of peaceful coexistence—meaning conflict short of war with non-communist nations—must be the basis of Communist bloc foreign policy.

Red Chinese Leader Mao Tse Tung has stuck to the traditional Marxist view that war between Communist and capitalist states is inevitable.

White said the State Department has received reports that the monthly magazine "Friendship" had not appeared since June and that a weekly magazine "China" had not appeared in recent weeks.

The two have been issued co-operatively in the Russian language, White said it was not clear to the State Department whether the Soviet Government or the Red Chinese government stopped the publications.

Asked whether the State Department had information in line with new reports of Soviet technicians leaving Communist China, White would say only that the United States has no representatives in Red China since it has no diplomatic relations with that country.

Police Teams in 23rd Shoot

Five Classes of Events to Be Held at Jackson September 8th

EAST LANSING (UPI)—About 125 teams are expected to compete at the 23rd annual Michigan police shoot on the Jackson City range, state police said today.

A fifth class of team competition, for police departments with 30 or more members, has been added for the Sept. 8 shoot.

Defending champions in the four team classes are state police team No. 1 in Cass A. Jackson No. 2 in B. Trenton No. 1 in C. and Southgate No. 1 in D.

Battle Creek township chief Donald Ward won in the chief's match last year and state police trooper Robert Steinburst took the high individual aggregate award last year.

The annual state police departmental match will be held on the Jackson range the day before the statewide competition. The nine out-man teams from the eight districts and headquarters compete for the Fletcher Trophy.

Sow Has 2 Families Within 14 Days

Pigs Literally Together

CYNTHIANA, Ky. (AP) — Over at C. F. Florence's farm one sow has started her own population explosion in the world of pork. The sow, owned by Florence and his son, L. G., had a litter of 11 pigs on Aug. 1. Then, although the normal gestation period for sows is 115 days, she brought forth another group of 13 last Sunday.

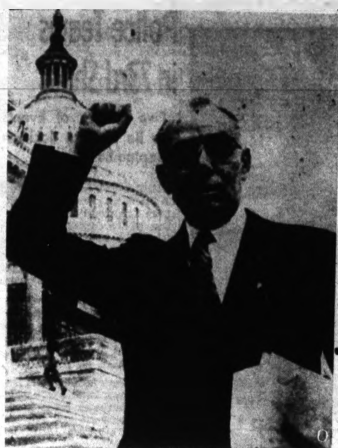

"I was out at the pens looking after another sow that was farrowing," said Florence. "I couldn't figure out what was going on at first."

Florence quickly called Dr. E. S. Ford, a veterinarian, who confirmed that the sow had two separate litters. But he told Florence, "Nobody's going to believe this if you tell it."

How did it happen? A matter of superlatives, says the veterinarian. That means the sow conceived the second litter while carrying the first.

It's very rare, the veterinarian said.

Thirteen pigs from the two litters have survived.

2 Groups Cooperate — Tax Proposal

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan State Chamber of Commerce and Michigan Retailers Association plan a program of cooperation today on the sales tax proposal which will be on the Nov. 8 ballot.

Richard O. Cook, executive vice president of the retailers, said the two groups would also work together in seeking solutions to all state problems.

"We need unity of purpose by all segments of our economy in finding proper solutions to common problems, and it is passage of the sales tax proposal in November is one such solution," Cook said.

The Retailers Organization and the newly-formed State Chamber previously indicated their support of the measure, which would allow the legislature to raise the sales tax beyond the three per cent limit now imposed by the state constitution.

Since an island-wide dog vaccination drive in 1958, there have been no human deaths from rabies on Formosa.

THIRDS ADJOURNMENT — Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa), points on the House steps of the Capitol Wednesday before demanding a quorum call that forced the House to adjourn for the second consecutive day. As was the case Tuesday, less than a majority of the members was present when Gross objected to proceeding without a quorum. And if not enough members show up today, the House will have to come in Friday to get the adjournment until Monday. The members are waiting for bills expected to come up next week.

RR to Get New Owner

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis, San Francisco Railway Co. (Frisco) Wednesday contracted to sell its entire 71 per cent stock interest in the Central of Georgia Railway Co. to the Southern Railway Co. for $22,855,000. It is estimated that there are fewer than 1,000 grizzly bears in the United States.

Drug Firms Cut Prices 15 Pct.

4 Major Producers Indirect Pare Cost for Antibiotics Consumers

NEW YORK (AP)—Four big drug makers have in effect cut their prices by 15 per cent for a major group of antibiotics.

The reductions apply to the tetracycline family of antibiotics, the most widely used of the antibiotics.

They are sold by prescription under such trade names as Terramycin and Aureomycin to treat infections such as bacterial pneumonia and "strep" throat.

The price cuts were made in the form of discounts by the drug firms on direct sales to retail pharmacists.

The companies, however, said they made no changes in suggested retail prices. They said it was up to individual pharmacists whether the discounts would be passed on to the consumer.

Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., started the discount move July 30 by giving retailers a 15 per cent discount.

Upjohn Co., the Lederle Laboratories Division of American Cyanamid Co. and the Squibb Division of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. have met the Pfizer cut.

The companies denied the price shift had any connection with a Senate investigation of pricing practices in the drug industry.

New Agency to Decide Who Is to Hit With What

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new central agency will draw up a strategic war master plan stating which U.S. weapons will be used to hit specific targets behind the iron curtain if nuclear war should come.

Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. Wednesday named Gen. Thomas S. Power director of the planning agency to be located at Omaha in conjunction with the Strategic Air Command headquarters. Power will continue to serve as SAC commander and will have an admiral as a deputy for the new agency.

A staff of about 40 top specialists will develop a long-range target program that will be under constant review. The plan is expected to be ready by December for approval of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

In announcing the new agency, Gates emphasized that the current strategic target plan is a good one. But he noted it is based largely on SAC's manned bomber force capabilities.

Formation of the new agency is expected to quell a long-smoldering argument between the Air Force and the Navy. Some Air Force quarters have been advocating a separate and overall strategic command to control long-range weapons of all the services. The Navy opposed this concept.

Gates said the new setup rejected such a concept. He said his decision would centralize planning but would decentralize the actual execution of the plans by the various senior commanders.

NO POLICY CHANGE
The new plan does not represent any change in established national military policy or in relations with U.S. allies, Gates said. He added that when the plan is worked out any part of it affecting allied preparations will be fully explained.

Gates said it had taken him and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the joint chiefs, exactly one year to reach the strategic target decision.

The secretary announced his decision Wednesday to the service chiefs and to senior military commanders summoned from their headquarters at home and overseas.

There was little argument with the military services about who would hit with what as long as SAC possessed a near monopoly on long-range bombers and big nuclear missiles.

The disagreement blossomed when the Navy came up with its atomic powered submarines, each carrying 16 nuclear tipped Polaris ballistic missiles.

As soon as the Polaris submarine began to look like it would succeed, the Air Force began advocating an over-all strategic command, under Air Force direction, to operate not only Air Force bombers and the intercontinental missiles their bearing operational readiness but also the Navy's missile launching submarines. The Navy objected strenuously and the problem was dropped at Gates' doorstep.

Under the new plan, the Navy will have several means of making its voice heard in the targeting operation. It also will retain control of its Polaris submarines as well as the aircraft carriers from which some strategic bombing missions would originate.

Other Air Force commands, in addition to SAC, will be part of the plan.

Accused of Killing 11-Year-Old Girl

Convicted Rapist Held in Murder

BOONVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A convicted rapist accused of killing 11-year-old Avril (Honey) Terry was held under close guard today after an angry crowd of townspeople gathered outside the jail.

Emmett O. Hashfield, 53-year-old trinket maker, was ordered held without bail Wednesday on a preliminary charge of first-degree murder after the little girl's dismembered body was found.

Sheriff Robert E. Shelton and State Police Sgt. Wendell Opel said Hashfield orally admitted dumping Avril's dismembered body on the Ohio River bank and in the river, 25 miles southeast of Boonville.

WENT TO BUY CANDLES

The little girl disappeared Tuesday on a trip downtown to buy candles for a birthday cake for her 8-year-old sister, Candace. Hashfield was arrested Tuesday night and at first denied any knowledge of the case.

His statement and discovery of the body came Wednesday. Sheriff Shelton said a crowd of about 200 persons gathered outside the Warrick County Jail Wednesday night.

"They want a quick trial, and they had a tree picked out across the street they wanted to use," Shelton said. He said that he saw no ropes but that several tomatoes were thrown at his deputies, two of them scoring hits.

Shelton said Hashfield paced his cell nervously but said nothing.

"We had a worse case when we had a race riot here a couple of years ago," the sheriff said. "If it gets too hot they'll have two locked iron doors to come through. Just let them try to get in."

The crowd dispersed before midnight.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Howard Bradley, Hashfield refused to talk.

"I ain't making any statements till I get me a lawyer," he blurted.

Equipment OK'd for Fire Dept. in Independence

INDEPENDENCE, TOWNSHIP — Expenditure of more than $1,700 for township fire department equipment has been authorized by the Independence Township Board.

Four radio receivers costing $140 each, three Civil Defense radios amounting to $600 and another resuscitator totaling $600 or more were included in the new equipment.

Pontiac engineer N. W. Strait was authorized to complete the township cemetery plots so they can be recorded with the register of deeds. Strait laid out part of the original cemetery lots and was hired by the Board to finish the job.

A been and wine take-out license was approved for the A & P store under construction at Dixie Highway and M15.

Hay Fever May Lead to Asthma If Not Treated

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—An allergist at the University of Michigan Medical Center has warned that asthma can develop in about one-third of the nation's hay fever sufferers unless specific treatment for that hay fever is received.

Dr. James A. McLean, associated professor of internal medicine, said allergy victims can avoid the drift toward asthma by acting against the source of their discomfort.

Drugs, medicines and trips to nonpollen infested areas relieve the symptoms, but do not prevent the progression of the disorder, he said.

Dr. McLean recommended a series of shots to build up immunity to the allergy.

Castro Brothers Break It Up

Cuba Navy Revolt Crushed

HAVANA (AP)—A sweeping reorganization of the Cuban navy appeared certain today in the wake of reports that the Castro brothers had smashed a naval plot against their regime.

Government silence prevented official confirmation of persistent reports that Castro agents had infiltrated a group of dissident naval officers at the Casa Blanca base across the way from Havana and discovered a plot to revolt or desert with two of Cuba's three modern frigates.

Armed forces headquarters denied anything was afloat, but informants insisted about 300 men had been arrested on charges of plotting.

Reports that Navy chief Juan

Castineira was under arrest were denied officially, but his whereabouts was a mystery.

Havana radio stations said early today that Prime Minister Fidel Castro was visiting army bases in Las Villas Province, in central Cuba. The prime minister went to Cienfuegos Monday night, but the duty officer at the naval base there denied there had been any trouble.

Sources in Havana said Castro and his brother Raul, minister of armed forces, had personally led a roundup of antigovernment forces in the navy.

Trusted army personnel were said to have taken over security measures at the island's naval installations.

West Still Seeks Arms Meeting

Asks for Red Bloc to Forget Geneva Boycott, Return for Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—The Western powers sought support within the 48-nation Disarmament Commission today for a call to the Communist bloc to resume East-West negotiations it walked out on at Geneva last June.

An amendment to that effect was being considered for insertion in a six-power resolution introduced by India yesterday, a Western source reported.

The Indian-supported resolution urges merely that "continued efforts be made to achieve a constructive solution of the question of general and complete disarmament under effective international control."

The United States and Britain were believed anxious to pin down the forum for such "continued efforts"; namely, the 10-nation East-West disarmament talks that began in Geneva last spring only to be cut short by the Communist departure, June 27.

British and American representatives discussed the possible change last night with cosponsors of the resolution.

Lockout Was Complete

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI)—The day his wife and children left for a vacation recently, a local newsman suddenly discovered that his house key was locked in the office and his office key was locked in the house. Spare keys for both locks were on the key ring in his wife's handbag.

Goes on Jeep Spree

'Felt Like Acting Smart'

Ronald L. McKinstry, 19, of Avon Township, told Sheriff's Detective Marion Bauman that early this morning, "I felt like having a little fun, like acting smart."

So around 2 a.m. McKinstry drove his speeding jeep onto the shoulder of Livernois road north of Auburn road, near the corner where he runs a gas station.

McKinstry admitted he moved down 13 mailboxes and two road signs, Bauman said.

One of the home owners who lost his mailbox heard the roar of McKinstry's speeding jeep and thought he recognized it.

'MANY TIMES BEFORE'

"He had heard it many times before," explained Bauman.

Police agencies in the Pontiac area were on the lookout for the jeep when two cruising Bloomfield Township officers spotted it an hour later at Woodward and Square Lake road.

It was easy to spot.

Police said the jeep "zoomed" through the parking lot of Ted's Restaurant & Drive-In, 2515 S. Woodward.

They said it continued to zoom into Woodward, cutting straight across the northbound lane, and over the boulevard.

McKinstry was held under $200 bond in Oakland County Jail today. He had pleaded not guilty to a charge of reckless driving and was ordered by West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle to stand trial Aug. 23.

Bauman said he would ask the Oakland County prosecutor's office to consider an additional charge of malicious destruction of property.

Tooth Paste Brand Wins Dental Group's Approval

By ARTHUR J. SNIDER
Observer-Chicago News World Service

CHICAGO — In an unprecedented action, the American Dental Association has recognized a tooth paste as having decay-preventing benefits.

The ADA headquarters officially accepted a fluoride dentifrice discovered by an Indiana University dental scientist and marketed commercially by Procter & Gamble Co. under the name of Crest.

The action is significant not only because the ADA has for decades refused to recognize any toothpaste, but has also implied that the public was wasting money buying it.

ADA educational materials have stressed that the tooth brush is a big preventive weapon and that baking soda or salt water are as effective as any tooth paste or powder.

As one toothpaste after another came along with lavish claims for the long-sought ingredient to curb tooth decay, the ADA promptly cautioned the public against extravagant advertising.

Toothpastes containing chlorophyll, ammonia, penicillin, detergents, germ-killers, sugar-blocking enzymes and others failed to win the much-sought ADA approval.

The official nod given to Crest is expected to have repercussions in a dentifrice market where sales exceed $300 million a year.

The endorsement is a personal victory for a 38-year-old biochemist, Joseph C. Muhler, who began working with stannous fluoride as a substitute for sodium fluoride when a sophomore dental student at Indiana University.

Although the conservative ADA continued to decline acceptance of his assertions, Muhler persisted in his research when a less determined investigator might have become discouraged.

Muhler has assigned his patent to the Indiana University Research Foundation.

Procter & Gamble, headed by Neil McElroy, former secretary of Defense, has paid almost $100,000 in royalties to the foundation.

Under university regulations, Muhler is not allowed to participate in royalties but a university spokesman said he had been taken care of with a substantial increase in salary that puts him in "top level ranks."

He also has been awarded a special title as research professor of basic sciences, a new laboratory and the freedom to work on his chosen projects.

Muhler believes even greater advances in stannous fluoride lie ahead.

In an interview with the Observer-Chicago News Service, he predicted that stannous fluoride applied only once in the teeth by the dentist in matter of seconds, instead of many minutes as now, will confer protection for an indefinite period.

Muhler believes topical application by the dentist will be much more important than the toothpaste and that fluoridated water supplies are still the best and cheapest method of dental decay prevention.

The ADA, in its announcement to the dental profession, also stressed that stannous fluoride tooth paste is an aid but not a cure-all and does not substitute for community fluoridation.

But the decay reduction credited to Crest is marked.

In one test group using the dentifrice "under normal conditions in their homes," there was a 23 per cent reduction, as compared with brushing done with other cleaners.

In another group, where there was supervised brushing once daily, the reduction was 34 per cent.

Under an ideal setting, where brushing was supervised three times a day, there was a 57 per cent reduction, a figure ranking favorably with 60 per cent reduction in community water studies and 60 per cent in Muhler's topical method.

The ADA has made it clear it was only recognizing Crest and that the acceptance does not apply to any other stannous fluoride dentifrice that may be on the market or might come on later.

Dentists Make History

Brand Of Toothpaste Recognized As Decay Preventive Agent

Stannous Fluoride Used In Product

By RAY BRUNER
Chicago News Service

The American Dental Association made history today. It officially recognized a toothpaste as an effective decay preventive agent.

This had never been done before by the ADA, which for years had rejected claims of many dentifrice manufacturers, such as "a clean tooth never decays."

The unique distinction of being recognized by the ADA goes to "Crest," manufactured by Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

"Crest," the ADA council on dental therapeutics reported in today's issue of the Journal of the American Dental Association, "has been shown to be an effective anti-caries (decay preventive) dentifrice that can be of significant value when used in a conscientiously applied program of oral hygiene and regular professional care; Crest dentifrice may also be of value as a supplement to public health procedures."

The council emphasized its action applied only to one inredient in the toothpaste—stannous fluoride, a compound of tin and fluorine.

Back of the council's decision are 10 years of clinical studies. There were seven test groups, each matched by "controls."

One group used the dentifrice "under normal conditions in their homes." They experienced a 23 per cent reduction in the incidence of tooth decay.

Reduction in Decay

Members of the second group brushed their teeth once a day, under supervision, with a 34 per cent reduction. In a third group, with supervised brushing three times daily, there was a 57 per cent reduction in decay.

The council said these experiences emphasized the need for frequent use of the dentifrice, along with a program of "good oral hygiene," to achieve maximum benefits. "Good oral hygiene" would include proper use of the toothbrush, regular attention from a dentist and avoidance of excessive consumption of candy, sweetened soft drinks and other sources of sugar, which cause teeth to rot.

The ADA now recognizes three methods of obtaining benefits from fluorides:

► Fluoridation of community water supplies.

► Stannous fluoride dentifrice.

Fluoridation, the ADA council stated, is by far the most desirable method of preventing decay, from the standpoint of cost, effectiveness and convenience.

Preliminary studies by the council suggest that a combination of all three methods may be more worthwhile than one alone.

Fluorine, in fluoride compounds, is a "trace element" necessary for adequate construction of our bodies. Teeth that lack fluorine are more susceptible to decay than teeth that contain an adequate amount.

Not all decay, however, is believed due to fluorine deficiency. Also the use of fluoridation decreases in effectiveness as children grow toward maturity.

Dental Group Okays Crest As Decay-Preventive Agent

The American Dental association today officially recognized Crest toothpaste as "an effective decay - preventive agent." Crest is the first dentifrice ever to receive such recognition, the association said in Chicago.

In a statement published in the August 1 issue of The Journal of the American Dental Association, the A.D.A. council on dental therapeutics reported:

"Crest has been shown to be an effective anticaries (decay preventive) dentifrice that can be of significant value when used in a conscientiously applied program of oral hygiene and regular professional care; Crest dentifrice may also be of value as a supplement to public health procedures."

"The stannous fluoride dentifrice is an aid to combating dental decay; it is not a cure-all. Nor will it substitute for fluoridation of community water supplies. Fluoridation, which is supported by exhaustive long - term studies, remains by far the most effective means for obtaining the benefits of fluorides."

"We hope that additional studies will further clarify the role of Crest or other dentifrices in the program of preventing dental decay."

Three elements were involved in the council's decision on safety, the effectiveness of the health pro-

Crest made news
because it's effective against cavities—not because it's a cure-all

The more you read the clippings above, the more you realize that now you can do something about tooth decay with a toothpaste.

"Dentifrice found to prevent decay . . . won recognition from the American Dental Association . . . never done before." These are some of the words the nation's press used this month to tell the news of the American Dental Association's recognition of Crest* as effective against cavities.

Effective against cavities but not a cure-all

But, effective as this stannous fluoride toothpaste has proved to be, there's a lot more to good dental health than just squeezing Crest on your toothbrush.

The real key is not the use of Crest alone. But the use of Crest as part of a dental program.

The American Dental Association spelled this out in their official statement: "Crest has been shown to be an effective anti-decay dentifrice that can be of significant value when used in a conscientiously applied program of oral hygiene and regular professional care."

Rules for dental health still apply

And that, of course, means the complete dental program your dentist has always recommended for dental health:

1. You still should brush regularly. After each meal is best.
2. You still should brush right. Away from the gums. And make sure you brush every tooth—especially the back ones.
3. You still should watch those treats between meals. Between-meal treats can be overdone. Be sure to follow your dentist's advice.
4. You still should see your dentist twice a year. Give him a chance to spot trouble early and stop it before it gets headway.

Don't expect miracles—do expect fewer cavities

As the American Dental Association says, "Crest has been shown to be effective" (when you use it right and use it regularly). So team it up with the right kind of dental program and start reducing your family's cavities now.

Why is Crest different from other toothpastes?

The answer is simple. The thing that makes Crest different is Fluoristan®—an exclusive stannous fluoride formula. Stannous fluoride, you know, is a decay-fighter dentists themselves use to prevent cavities. With Crest, you put the same fluoride on your teeth at home, too, every time you brush.

The effectiveness of this fluoride in Crest has been proved by years of tests. Tests in which Crest had to prove its superiority over regular toothpaste. And did in test after test.

Serve Choplets of Veal, Sausage

Ground meat, economical and versatile, has an important place on the homemaker's shopping list several times a week. There are so many ways in which it can be used—in meat loaves, patties or combined with other foods, as in meat sauce for macaroni, or in casserole dishes.

There is variety in ground meat and the good cook will not limit her choice to any one kind.

An especially tasty combination is ground veal with pork sausage. The sausage adds its spiciness to the mild flavor of ground veal in an enticing way.

When the mixture is shaped into choplets, rolled in flour, browned and cooked slowly, the result is a distinctive and easy dish to please any family.

Veal Choplets

1 pound ground veal
1/2 pound pork sausage
1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 egg
1/2 cup milk or drippings

Combine meat, bread crumbs, salt and pepper. Shape into 6 choplets. Roll in flour and brown in fat or drippings. Cover tightly and simmer on top of the range or in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes or until done.

They Call It Mocha

Delightful evening beverage to serve with simple crisp cookies; mix equal parts of hot chocolate and strong hot coffee, then top with whipped cream and some freshly-grated nutmeg. No nutmeg grater in the house? Dust with cinnamon.

OVEN-CRUSTED CHICKEN — Delicious herb-flavored Oven-Crusted Chicken is cooked entirely in the oven but is as crisp as regular fried chicken. A coating of crushed bite-size toasted corn cereal is the secret of the wonderful flavor and crispness.

Oven-Crusted Chicken Is Delightful in Any Weather

Here's a meal that doesn't lick the weather, it joins it!

It's Oven-Crusted Chicken, rich with a crusty corn and herb-flavored coating that your family will talk about for days. Bite-size toasted corn cereal combined with a little thyme, rosemary and summer savory is the secret of the flavor. Here is the secret of the weather problem—the chicken is cooked entirely in the oven any time you prefer.

If it's hot, cook it in the morning. At dinner time, serve cold chicken with the same crisp crust because this cereal stays crisp whether hot or cold. Potato salad, hot corn-on-the-cob, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers in sour cream-chive sauce and fresh peach sundaes complete a very tasty and pretty hot weather menu.

On the other hand, if the first reasonably cool spell should arrive, you have no problem at all. Cook the chicken just in time for dinner and prepare instant mashed potatoes instead of potato salad.

Of course, you'll want to serve lots of chicken gravy. Even though there aren't any drippings left in the pan after the chicken has oven-fried, you'll still have lots of delicious gravy. What's the trick? Use one of the many chicken bouillons or soup concentrates on the market. Just be sure to taste it before adding salt to the gravy.

Oven-Crusted Chicken

1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup chicken flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
1/2 teaspoon dried rosemary, crushed
1/2 teaspoon dried summer savory, crushed
1/2 cup (1 1/2-lb.) corn up
3 cups bite-size toasted corn cereal, crushed to 1/4 cup

Heat oven to hot (400 degrees). Combine butter, flour and seasonings. Dip chicken pieces first in butter mixture, then in cereal crumbs. Place on shallow baking sheet. Bake 30 minutes. Turn pieces. Bake 25 minutes longer or until crisp and brown. Yield: 4 servings.

Note: If gravy is desired, dissolve 2 chicken bouillon cubes in 2 cups warm water. Heat 1/4 cup butter or margarine. Stir in 1/4 cup flour until smooth. Add bouillon. Heat and stir until thick and boiling. Correct seasoning.

Fancy Ice Cubes

Glamorized ice cubes... easy: Reconstitute frozen fruit punch, pour into ice cube trays. Into each compartment add either a strawberry, raspberry, grape or chunk of pineapple. Then serve with choice of the new frozen fruit punches, Strawberry-Lemon, Grape-Lemon, Raspberry-Lemon and Pineapple-Lemon.

A U. S. Army, Air Force or Marine Corps general with more than 26 years service draws a monthly salary of $1,700.

Homegrown Peach Crop Coming to Local Market

Michigan's three-million-bushel peach crop is finding its way from orchard to table. Take ripe peaches. Peaches must look good to be good says the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawler. Full peach flavor develops only on the tree.

Whenever you buy peaches—at grocery store, at farm or market—look for yellow or creamy white background color. The red blush is often only skin deep, but the background color is your clue to sweet peach flavor, mellow texture and juiciness.

Green background color indicates that peaches are under-ripe. Such peaches may get soft or shrivel, but they will never have the flavor of peaches picked at the firm-ripe stage.

Have you questioned whether or not you should freeze or can some of Michigan's peach crop? What determines whether you do? Do you have the equipment for and storage for the preservation? Do you have the time to give this project? Does the family prefer home canned or frozen peaches? What about the cost in comparison to those in the store?

One bushel of peaches will make 32 to 48 pints, canned or frozen. The number of pints you get depends on quality and size of the peaches, whether the peaches are halved or sliced and how closely you pack the peaches in the containers.

When peaches cost 12 to 14 per bushel, a pint of home-canned or frozen peaches costs 15 to 17 cents.

Cost includes sugar and containers (and ascorbic acid for freezing). Remember—a pint holds 4 one-half-cup servings, the same as a 303 size can. The 2 1/2 size can holds 7 one-half-cup servings. A 10-ounce package of frozen peaches holds 3 one-half-cup cups.

MELONS IN AUGUST

Although cantaloupe season is late May to late October, Michigan melons arrive mid-August to mid-September. Shopper's methods for choosing cantaloupe vary and some are harmful. A sweet musk-like aroma at the end opposite the stem is one of the best guides when selecting cantaloupe.

If the melon was ripe enough for pulling the stem and will be slightly sunken and calloused with no stem attached. Shaking a melon or pressing it with the fingers only damages it and are no signs of ripeness.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that as of June 1, 1960, cold storage holdings of scallops were much larger than last year at that time. The catch off the New England coast during the first five months of 1960 was much larger than during the same months in 1959. Shoppers who like scallops may wish to check frozen food charts for this seafood now available in liberal supply.

The prediction that August would bring more Michigan blueberries and summer apples is evident from the food shopping. Michigan year.

Time Coffee Break Right for Maximum Effect

ANN ARBOR — If you don't get a lift from your daily coffee break, your "timing" may be off.

What is believed to be the first experimental evidence on the effect of caffeine on the isolated cortex of the brain has been collected by scientists at The University of Michigan Medical Center.

They say the caffeine in one cup of coffee partially blocks the effects of a second cup for about three hours.

Science calls it "tachyphylaxis."

The researchers are Dr. Edward F. Domino (M.D.), associate professor of pharmacology, and Dr. Alji K. Maiti (M.B.B.S., Ph.D.), formerly a lecturer at Calcutta University, India, and now a post-doctoral fellow investigating brain stimulants at The University of Michigan.

Caffeine, they found, is a tricky drug. While it stimulates you, it also gives you temporary immunization against further stimulation. Dr. Maiti says the average cup of American coffee contains 100 milligrams of caffeine. It is quick-acting. In about 20 minutes you get peak stimulation for the amount of coffee drunk. You continue at this level for 2½ hours, then the effect quickly ends.

Curiously an additional dose taken during the 2½ hour span will not raise the level of stimulation so much as the first dose. Dr. Maiti said. For example, if you have breakfast coffee at 7 a.m., you will get little "lift" from a coffee break until after 10 a.m.

Dr. Domino said there are large individual variations in this tipping time-table and confessed the findings do not attempt to measure other values one might get from a coffee break. The U-M researchers are concerned only with neuro- and psycho-pharmacology — not social habits.

Circles of Gold in Soup Cut From Yellow Squash

NEW YORK (UPI) — The garden flavor of yellow summer squash adds a golden touch to celery soup. Sauté 2 tablespoons of minced onion and 1 cup of sliced squash in 2 tablespoons of butter until tender.

Blend in 1 can of cream of celery soup and 1 soup can of milk. Heat but do not boil. Garnish with chopped chives.

President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana is a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Rib Steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. From the rib section. Contains the rib eye and rib bone.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. Rib steaks are broiled, pan-broiled or pan-fried, depending on the thickness. Steaks cut between 1 and 2 inches thick are best for broiling. Steaks less than 1 inch thick may be pan-broiled or pan-fried.

Americans love ice cream and other frozen desserts. They ate 19.7 quarts of these dairy products per capita, during 1959, for the highest level of consumption in 15 years.

Take Your Choice of Some Peachy Recipes

Golden peaches are in abundant supply this summer. That's good news for fresh peach fanciers who look forward to beginning the day with sliced peaches atop their corn flakes and then ahead to all the other tempting possibilities peaches hold for the remainder of the day.

An old-fashioned deep-dish peach pie is a crowning touch for dinner. Before baking the pie, scatter over the fruit filling a rich crumb mixture of flour, sugar, ready-to-eat nutrition concentrate and butter. This crumble topping can be used on many other fruit pies, as well.

Another homey dessert is Peach Gingerbread Cobbler. A vanilla pudding sauce or rich cream complements this cake, with its fragrant blend of molasses, cloves and ginger, baked atop sliced peaches.

Peaches have a glamorous side, too. Nowhere is it more evident than in a Peach Ice Cream Pie. To make this one prepare a corn flake crumble crust. Fill it with a creamy mixture of lemon gelatin, vanilla ice cream, almond flavoring and fresh peaches.

You'll find that this so elegant dining is really an easy one to pot together. Using packaged corn flake crumbs for the crust is another shortcut to this sophisticated dessert.

Fruit Pie Crumb Topping

1 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup ready-to-eat nutrition concentrate
1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
Sift together flour and sugar; add ready-to-eat nutrition concentrate; mix well. Cut in butter until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle evenly over fruit pie filling. Bake as fruit pie recipe directs.

Yield: Sufficient topping for 1 9-inch pie.

Peach Gingerbread Cobbler

4 cups sliced peeled fresh peaches
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 tablespoon soft butter or margarine
1/2 cup whole bran cereal
1/2 cup hot water
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup baking soda
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup granulated sugar

Spread peaches in greased 10x6-inch pan or shallow casserole. Blend brown sugar and butter; sprinkle over peaches.

Combine whole bran cereal, hot water, molasses, shortening and egg; let stand about 5 minutes. Mix together flour, soda, salt, spices and sugar. Add whole bran cereal mixture, stirring until combined. Pour batter over peaches. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 40 minutes or until peaches are tender.

Serve warm or chilled with pudding sauce or cream, if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

Peach Ice Cream Pie

4 cups corn flakes or 1 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
2 tablespoons sugar
1 1/2-sauce package lemon flavored gelatin
1/2 cup boiling water
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup almond flavoring
1/2 cup sliced fresh peaches
1/2 cup sliced fresh peaches

fine crumbs. Combine corn flake crumbs, butter and sugar; mix well. Press evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of 9-inch pie pan. Chill.

Dissolve lemon flavored gelatin in boiling water. Spoon in ice cream and stir until melted. Stir in almond flavoring. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Combine corn syrup and peaches; fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into crumb crust. Chill until firm. Serve garnished with whipped cream and additional peaches, if desired. Yield: 1 9-inch pie.

Shrimp Appetizer Salad

Arrange on crisp greens — a pineapple slice topped with your favorite shrimp salad (use shrimp, celery, onion and green pepper tossed with mayonnaise). Garnish the plate with sections of hard cooked egg and slices of stuffed green olives.

Cheese Cutouts

Better Grades of Beefsteak Broil Best

How do you select a steak for broiling over a charcoal fire? If you want fine flavor and tender meat, select a well-marbled steak, advises Mrs. Josephine Lawler, Marketing Information Agent. Marbling is a word used to describe the streaks of fat interspersed within the lean. You can expect a well-marbled steak to be tender if it comes from a young beef animal.

How would you know the age of the beef animal? You cannot tell by looking at the meat, but you can take advantage of U. S. grades as guides when choosing steak. Steaks that grade U.S.D.A.

prime or Choice are best for broiling. You can tell if beef is Federally graded. On the outside fat you will find one or more purple shield-shaped stamps enclosing the grade name and the letter U.S.D.A. Some stores also place this shield on the label of the meat.

In addition to knowing grades of beef for broiling, it is important to know cuts. Porterhouse, T-Bone, sirloin and club steaks are most tender. Rib steak compares favorably with these in tenderness and flavor and usually costs less per pound.

For still less money, you may choose steak cut from the blade chuck or the top muscle of round briskets. But if you select Prime or Choice grade, cut the steaks at least one-inch thick and broil them rare or medium rare, you'll find them "good eating."

Vanilla Intensifies Sweetness of Fruit

"It's almost impossible for a seriously overweight person to stay on a reducing diet which doesn't provide some sweetness," declares one physician who has been more than ordinarily successful in the treatment of obesity. "A deep-seated craving for sweets must be satisfied enough to make it possible to stop nibbling."

Since it's that sweet-tooth which is so often the culprit, plan to include a good, though low-calorie, dessert in the reducing diet. For example, a Vanilla Fresh Strawberry Parfait alternates sliced fresh strawberries and a delightful custard in a brassy snifter or a tall parfait glass. You've never known that this luscious concoction contains only 107 calories. Vanilla Orange Whip, all sweetness and light, drops the calorie count to 79, while Vanilla Fruit Frape is a delectable chilled dessert with a surprising 59 calories per serving.

When you study these recipes you'll note that sugar has been cut to the minimum, yet you wouldn't know it. That's because of a little flavoring trick: Pure vanilla, either the extract or the vanilla bean itself, brings out all the natural sweetness of other foods, making it possible to use less sugar.

Vanilla Fresh Strawberry Parfait
1/2 cup slightly beaten
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup sliced fresh strawberries
Combine eggs, sugar, salt, and 1/2 cup of the milk in a saucepan or the upper part of double boiler or saucepan. Heat remaining milk and add. Mix well. Cook over hot water or very low heat until the mixture coats a metal spoon.

Soften gelatine in cold water and stir into the hot custard. Stir in pure vanilla extract and chill. Combine strawberries and the 1/2 tablespoon sugar.

Just before serving fill glasses with alternating layers of custard and strawberries, beginning with custard and ending with strawberries. Yield: 6 servings. Calories per serving—107.

Vanilla Fruit Frape
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup shredded fresh pineapple

Dates Flavor Fresh Fruit

Here's a good summertime luncheon salad. "Date-Stuffed Peach Salad." Economical, too. Simply blend mayonnaise into cottage cheese and add chewy, sliced fresh dates, then pile into fresh peach halves. If you wish, pile the cheese mixture into melon halves or melon balls. Dates provide an interesting flavor and texture contrast to fresh fruit... keep some on hand for between-meal eating, too.

Date-Stuffed Peach Salad
1/2 cup fresh dates
1/2 cup cottage cheese
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 peach halves
1 melon halves
Pit and slice dates. Blend cottage cheese and mayonnaise. Add dates and mix lightly. Peel and halve peaches, removing pits. Arrange 2 halves on each of 4 garnished salad plates and heap centers with date-cheese mixture. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Blue Cheese Tops Open Face Sandwich

Meal preparation is easier when you rely on sandwiches. Here's a tempting open-face variation that's simplicity itself. Blue Cheese Turkeywiches feature a chopped turkey and onion mixture, topped with crumbled blue cheese.

For a family lunch, serve them hot with soup or a salad and a beverage. Blue Cheese Turkeywiches make a winning contribution to a party luncheon menu, too.

For Blue Cheese Turkeywiches, toast 6 slices enriched sandwich bread on one side only. Spread untoasted sides with butter or margarine. Combine 2 cups coarsely chopped turkey, 2 teaspoons lemon juice and 2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing. Spread over the buttered bread slices.

Top turkey mixture with 6 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese. Broil just until cheese begins to melt. Makes 6 open-face sandwiches.

Red Jet Denied Landing at NY

Needed Permit From State Department; Was Sent to N.J. Base

NEW YORK (U.S. Soviet jet liner carrying a Congolese delegation to the United Nations was denied permission today to land at Idlewild Airport.

The Port of New York Authority said it denied permission because the request to land at 3 p.m. (EDT) had not been made through the State Department.

The authority suggested the jet land at McGuire AFB in New Jersey.

The request to land was made from Accra, Ghana, to the Federal Aviation Agency's Idlewild office, which relayed the request to the port authority, supervisor of the airport. The denial was sent back by the same route.

The delegation aboard the plane is scheduled to attend a meeting of the U.N. Security Council.

A spokesman for the port authority said:

"Procedures for the handling of Soviet aircraft in that application be made through the State Department. The State Department then contacts the port authority with respect to specific flights. "In this instance the State Department did not make any request. Therefore the port authority denied the request and suggested use of the McGuire AFB in New Jersey."

The port authority has permitted landings of specific Russian planes heretofore upon request of the State Department.

Talks in N. Carolina

Nixon Advocates 'Rights' in South

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has kicked off his vote quest in the racial-minded South with an espousal of civil rights, an endorsement of sit-in demonstrations and a plea to keep religion out of politics.

The Republican presidential nominee surprised a capacity crowd in the Municipal Coliseum here Wednesday night by speaking out on civil rights. He said his position on that subject is the same in the South as it is in the North, the East and the West.

He said he stands on the GOP platform as "an honest program that will produce progress" in the area of civil rights and denounced the Democratic platform as one that promises "far more than they can produce."

Nixon tossed his civil rights views in near the end of a formal address to an enthusiastic crowd estimated at more than 12,000.

He was applauded repeatedly as he expounded his position on other topics and called for disregard of party labels. The order of his audience delighted noticeably as he called for "progress" in promoting civil rights. But he won more applause when he added "I recognize that law alone is not the answer" to the civil rights problem.

His audience included a number of Negroes.

Nixon said previously that he does not intend to "avoid or soft soap the civil rights issue" in campaigning scheduled to take him into every Southern state.

"I do not believe in going into the South and denigrating on civil rights," he said at an impromptu news conference upon his return to Washington. "You have to talk in a reasoned, honest way."

In his public address, Nixon did not refer to sit-in demonstrations or to the issue of religion, but centered on what he said were basic differences between the two major parties on domestic and foreign policies.

Anderson urged state halt key rulings by agencies

State Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson (R-Waterford Township) has proposed action to prevent state agencies from issuing edicts such as the controversial ruling aimed at halting discrimination in real estate dealings.

Anderson said today he has recommended a method for making certain administrative powers subject to legislative review to the Legislative Service Bureau.

Under Anderson's plan, existing statutes would be modified to give power to an interim legislative committee to approve or veto questionable administrative rulings until they could be taken up in regular session by the legislature.

Anderson's proposal stems from the controversy over Rule 9 issued by Lawrence Gubow, Michigan secretary of the Michigan bar association and securities commissioner.

CONTESTED IN COURT
The rule would ban real estate brokers from accepting listings in which the owner sets a condition based on race, creed, national origin or ancestry.

The rule's constitutionality is being contested in the courts. Anderson blasted Rule 9 as a

Teen Dance Delayed Until Saturday Night

The Starlight Teen Dance club's dance, scheduled for Friday evening at Crofoot School, has been postponed, according to Leonard T. Buzz of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation department.

The dance will be held Saturday night on the school grounds instead.

It was decided to hold the dance Saturday because it would conflict with the Oakland County All-Star Football Game Friday night at Washtenaw Stadium.

Ford Motor Net Income Set at $7.85 a Share

DETROIT (U.S. Ford Motor Co. said today the firm, including foreign subsidiaries, showed a net income of $43,282,000 for the 12 months ending June 30. This amounted to $7.85 a share.

Anderson Urges State Halt Key Rulings by Agencies

clear usurpation of legislative power for political purposes."

"It clearly bypasses legislative prerogatives," Anderson charged. "The legislature is elected by the people of Michigan to pass laws—not Commissioner Gubow."

"It is unthinkable that any administrative appointee should have power to issue sweeping edicts that carry the effect of law—particularly when a very important personal right is involved."

Anderson said he "in no way condones" any arbitrary screening system for prospective property owners, such as the one used in Gross Pointe.

MUST GUARD INTEGRITY
But, he declared, "It is equally important to protect the historic rights of Michigan citizens by protecting the integrity of their duly-elected lawmaking body."

"If this has happened in one state agency, it can happen in all of them," he said. "The committee I propose would act as a safeguard against transgression of individual freedom."

American Motors Will Let Car Buyer Response Lead Change

BURLINGTON, Wis. (U.S. American Motors is going to try something new in domestic automotive marketing in the 1961 model year.

President George Romney, of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., says he will offer a series of cars with exterior styling which will remain unchanged for at least three years in cars which will follow the normal industry pattern of annual model changes.

"We will let the buyer response lead us in the years ahead," Romney told a national press preview audience Wednesday.

The 100-inch wheel base Rambler American has undergone complete restyling from the body shape which had gone virtually unchanged since first being marketed in 1950. Romney says you won't be able to see any further styling change in the car through 1961 and 1962.

On his two other series, the standard Rambler with the 108-inch wheel base and the even larger Rambler Ambassador, a new styling change will be the rule although Romney insists these changes won't be drastic.

The American looks considerably different — new grill, new shape, new size and new model. It is smaller on the outside than the 1960 model but bigger on the inside. With tiny fins and clean lines it was designed to meet head-on any styling challenge of the other companies.

American Motors' first convertible has been added to the American line and the series will have the four-door station wagon for the first time.

For next year, Rambler will offer ceramic-coated mufflers on all of its cars with a warranty to last as long as the original owner drives the vehicle.

American Motors also has a new six-cylinder aluminum engine block but officials declined yesterday to discuss this development publicly.

The 1961 Ramblers go on sale in mid-October except for the new convertible. It will be along about in time for Christmas.

Just Plane Disgusting

'Should've Stood in ...'

WYNNE, Ark. (UPI) — Jack Gillett is so disgusted he may give up crop dusting.

Gillett was gasping up his plane yesterday as the engine died. The engine suddenly caught fire.

Gillett ran to the cockpit door and pulled back the throttle, hoping wind from the propeller would put out the flames.

Instead the plane began to move, and before he could leap inside to stop it, it was racing all over the field.

Afraid it would crash into a house or run onto a nearby highway, Gillett jumped into a pickup truck and tried to ram the plane with it.

He jammed the pickup's gas pedal down, aimed it at the plane and jumped.

The truck missed, crashed into a nearby storage building and demolished it.

Looses Verbal Arrows at Distaff Government

CAUGHNAWAGA, Que. (UPI)—Chief Ro-Ya-Nor-Nor-Sa-Te-Wen Se-Ron-That Diome dug up his hatchet and snuffed out his peace pipe today in undeciphered war against Canada's white woman's government.

He said Canada's paleface administration in general, and distaff Immigration and Citizenship Minister Ellen Fairclough in particular, were illegally and unconstitutionally trying to make North American Indians Canadian citizens.

Chief Diome donned his war-paint specifically because of the formal "speech from the throne" which ended Canada's 14th Parliament last week. The speech, written by the government, hailed Parliament action in giving Indians the right to vote, "without any sacrifice of their traditional rights."

Diome set the tom-toms beating from this reservation near Montreal west to the prairies and south into the United States with an anguished complaint that this was, in white man's language, "just plain falsehood." He said Indians still have to channel resolutions passed at their powwows through paleface "Indian agents" before they can be relayed to Canada's federal government, and must check with paleface doctors on their reservations before they can be admitted to paleface hospitals.

And this, he indicated, wasn't because the game Indians played in North America long before the Russians said they invented baseball or capitalist white men learned that girls like mink coats. The British might have said it wasn't cricket.

"One must remember," Diome said in a statement typed on a white man's typewriter and duplicated on a paleface's photocopying machine, that Canada's "clique" of a Citizenship and Immigration

It's Fur More Vital in Coats

NEW YORK (NEA)—Fur, far more than fabric, is the decisive factor in determining, this fall, if a coat is dressy or casual.

For big bold plaids and muted plaids have come out of the casual category to a great extent. Whenever they rate fur trim, they become elegant. This year plaids get something other than racoon in the way of luxurious collars.

Designers have used such rich furs as mink and beaver in collars, wide and deep.

Women who are prone to think of "blanket" the moment they hear the word plaid will get a surprise this year. In bold, handsome, striking color combinations and in soft, misty, fleecy fabrics, plaids have taken on an entirely new aspect, a very pleasing one.

They look their very best when they're used in a line which flares from narrow shoulders to fullness at the hemline.

This displays the plaid at its best and also allows room for the use of big patch pockets, unusual cuff treatments or oversize buttons as part of the design.

The wide-back silhouette is probably the prettiest for plaid and is the one, therefore, that designers have used most often.

Sleeves are fashionably wider and shorter, some with deep armhole styling achieved with dropped shoulder seams.

Fur-lined coats have made a big fashion comeback this fall. The plaid coat with mink or muskrat lining is the final word in the kind of elegance that is very typically American.

But less costly furs have been used as linings in order to bring the price of the fur-lined fashion within reach of the average shopper's budget.

These budget furs include hamster, squirrel belly and rabbit, the latter dyed to high fashion colors.

Tell Them to Come, Be Adult

By EMILY POST
Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to give a buffet supper soon in honor of our 50th wedding anniversary. I would like to invite our entire list of friends and acquaintances to this party. However, two of the couples on my list are not on speaking terms. In fact they are bitter enemies.

I am very friendly with both couples and cannot choose one and not the other. Knowing their feelings toward each other, how can I best handle this situation without causing embarrassment to either of them and also prevent their animosity from spoiling my party?

Answer: Explain to the Browns when inviting them that you have to invite the Smiths to your party, but that even though you know how they feel toward each other, you hope they will come because at a large buffet they will not have to talk to the Smiths.

Make the same explanation to the Smiths and then if they cannot bear being under the same roof with the others, they will stay away.

Dear Mrs. Post: When is the correct time for a bride to put her veil down over her face before she leaves her house or before she enters the church for the ceremony?

I was married recently and put the veil down over my face before leaving the house. I have heard since that I should have waited until just before entering the church to do this. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

Answer: There is no reason why you should not have arranged the veil over your face at home, to be sure it looked just the way you wished it to.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a member of a club group that is planning a debutante ball. The tickets are five dollars each and the proceeds are to go to charity. The ball is to be held in one of the largest ballrooms in this city and is to be formal in every respect.

The expenses are quite high in connection with the ball. The budget committee has announced that, in order to give any sizable amount to our designated charity, we must not only sell advertisements to be placed in a program, but also sell the programs as a source of revenue.

The sale of programs would be done very quietly in the foyer of the ballroom by some of our charming young girls of the debutantes of course.

It is a contention that since we have erred in estimating our financial returns, we should find some other way to make up this deficit, and that no matter how beautifully or gracefully it is done, no money should be exchanged at the ball, and that the selling of programs would definitely be marring—even though it is for charity. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: At a charity ball, there would be no impropriety in selling the programs as you have described in the foyer of the ballroom.

Dear Mrs. Post: A business acquaintance of mine has just been made vice president of a large company. I would like very much to write him a note of congratulation. Will you please tell me how to word such a note?

Answer: Write something like the following: "Dear Mr. Jones, May I send you sincere congratulations upon your election as vice president of the X Co.—and wish you every success. Sincerely yours, John Brown."

And Men Admit It!

Wives Stretch Dollars

By PATE HENLE
(NEA) "You know something," said a friend, "I'll bet if you went out and surveyed, you'd discover that men tell women things they'd never tell other men."

This made me wonder; could I unlock some secrets about men's feelings toward their wives' handling of money? And, if I did, could they be helpful to you?

I started questioning timidly, but needn't have. Every last man acted exactly as though he'd been waiting for a lifetime just for the opportunity of telling all. What I heard, I think can guide you.

It wouldn't be news if I reported that, to a man, they all declared they couldn't understand how the little ladies fattened their earnings so fast. It is news that I did not hear this once.

I queried a young public relations man who has five children. He proudly reported: "I don't understand how she can always have extra dollars left over." Kindly, he promised to find out.

"SEE'S PATIENT"
"It all boils down to her tremendous patience," he explained a couple of days later. "She considers what we can afford and then she shops. She found the under-$200 house in an area where we were told no such house existed. She waited for eight months while I converted the attic into bedrooms and she helped. A builder's estimate for the job ran for four times what it cost us to do it ourselves."

"She shops stores just as carefully and, because she always has spare dollars, she can take advantage of special sales, buying two instead of one when the price is right."

By the time he finished, I thought I'd found the one exception in all of wisdom. But the second man I talked with was a bank clerk. His tale was even more unbelievable.

"It so happened," he said, "that I wanted to write a check for $47 on our account and then I noticed that this would have pulled the balance down to $21. But my wife told me to go right ahead, said there was much more money in the bank. Seems she had stashed away $500 in a second account without telling me. Trouble is, I've already gone through $200 of it."

I wanted to make sure I was finding out about those more advanced in years as well as the young ambitious wife. This is what I heard from a trade association executive:

"I've been taking my wife's stock market advice," he confessed. "I had always believed in studying economic trends and then selecting industry groups each year that looked as though they'd be headed up."

"Then I would pick stocks in those groups—like leisure stocks now, or shoe and food company issues because of rising population. Some would move up, others would not; I'd then move into other groups. After carefully studying a company she gets hep on, she buys and then hangs on and on. Darned, if she doesn't do better than I."

Of course, the male ego spoke more often than not.

"She doesn't handle the money, I do," was an oft repeated answer. Yet, several times as an afterthought I learned, "but she can make a buck stretch three times, five times, farther than I can."

The mystery appears to be how the money gets stretched so far, not how it's spent. And, evidently, the ladies aren't telling—at least, they're not telling all!

Note: This is by no means an accurate sampling of the total population!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Can you let me know how many people have been killed or crippled by dogs and how many have been saved by them? I was a salesman, and as far as I am concerned the only good dogs are dead ones. "Man's best friend" scratched up $1,000 worth of plants for me in three days. The owner just laughed.

DEAR ABBY: Not all nickels without mint marks are counterfeit. All nickels minted in Philadelphia with the exception of the years 1942 through 1945 bear no mint mark. The others are marked "D" for Denver and "S" for San Francisco.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to "STRAIGHT UP AND DOWN" got me sore. How can you advise women to pad themselves up deliberately to deceive men about their figures? Any man who would force a woman for cheating that way must be nuts.

DEAR ABBY: I have seen dog owners stand and hold the leash while their dogs mess up the lawns of their neighbors. Do I blame the dog? I do not. I blame the owner.

DEAR ABBY: You are indeed correct and I was in error. My source was counterfeit.

DEAR ABBY: I have seen dog owners stand and hold the firm and fully packed. And a man who would turn down a girl just because she wasn't "all there" isn't all there himself.

Study Show Preteens Pressured Too Highly

By PATRICIA WIGGINS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Are today's preteen-agers being pushed too soon into dating? Are they leading too highly ordered and pressured lives?

The answer sounds like "yes," according to results of a recently completed two-year study by the elementary schools section of the U.S. Office of Education. School principals and teachers who participated in the study voiced concern.

In conferences, held throughout the United States, the educators reported that parents and other adults are planning activities for the 9 to 11 age group that appeal "only to the more mature: social dancing, hayrides, skating parties — where a girl can go only if accompanied by a boy.

"Teachers wondered," the report said, "whether society is forcing activities on children for which they are not really ready."

They commented, "Is this the reason there are so many 'nail biters, daydreamers, and nervous and restless children'?"

One teacher said, "Are parents and other adults expecting adult masculine and feminine behavior patterns in children and robbing them of chances to enjoy childhood, which is so short?"

The outside boy-girl mixing contrasts somewhat with behavior patterns the teachers noticed in their fourth to sixth graders in school hours.

For example, it was noted that boys this age will sometimes say, "There's my girl." But, the girl usually knows nothing about it.

One teacher was consulted by a young boy confused about invitations from five girls to the same social affair.

He wanted to know how to choose a girl — "by her looks, or by what she does?"

One bewildered 10-year-old, having trouble with his arithmetic, told his teacher, "I can't think about this arithmetic."

"It's not the schoolwork; it's the dancing and the music last night. I can't get it out of my head."

Teachers frequently chosen as confidants of youngsters at this age, agreed that discussion was more wholesome than secrecy on such problems.

But many were concerned about these interests appearing so early.

The report noted that children from 9 to 11 like to do things for themselves, to think, to explore, to make, to do, to try again.

Working against creativity during these ages are the youngster's own critical sense, failure of adults to encourage, and "too highly ordered and pressured lives . . . depriving them of the time and solitude it takes to nurture creativity."

One teacher said that a 10-year-old whose life is highly organized outside school came in one morning, dashed to his desk, and quickly buried himself in a library book.

When his group was preparing to go to a rehearsal, the teacher gently told him to put away the book and come with the others.

The youngster threw his book down, burst into tears and cried, "Can't I ever do anything I want?"

Payola's All Right, Too, With Many of Them

Teens Back Clark's Plugging of Own Discs

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Dick Clark, the idol of millions of teen-agers, apparently has lost little or no ground with his youthful fans since his appearance before a House committee investigating payola in the record industry. A hefty majority (88 per cent) of the youngsters we interviewed in a nationwide survey feel that the Philadelphia disc jockey was justified in promoting records in which he had a financial interest.

This enthusiastic vindication of their idol ignores the fact that Clark has already divested himself of his record company interests and pretty much agreed to stick to entertaining.

The survey further disclosed that teen-agers are divided on the whole payola issue, although a good deal of the legislation drafted as a result of investigations conducted by the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight is aimed at protecting their interests.

ETHICS COMES SECOND

The anti-payola legislation acts up stiff penalties for fraud and bribery in the promotion of records, a practice that a majority of teen-agers seem to regard as normal business procedure.

They may question the ethics of lavishing money and expensive gifts on disc jockeys in exchange for plugging certain records, but many seem to think that in the business world what is legal must come before what is ethical.

Many pointed out that Clark's activities were an old hat business deal.

"Many performers of the past would only plug a song if their name was on it," argued 15-year-old Robin Brown of Hewlett, N.Y. "No one accused them of malpractice and I don't see any difference here."

Cherie Woods, 16, of Missoula, Mont., doubts that payola has ever had a significant effect on recording industry musical taste. "The radio stations," she explains, "play enough records in a day and don't think the amount of plugging makes any noticeable difference. The public will still buy the records it likes and wants."

Another Missoula youngster, 17-year-old Renny Huff, defends Clark on the grounds that "it's his company and his show, so it's his privilege to do what he wants."

On the Clark question, 14-year-old Roger Krane of Henderson, Mich., feels that "every man's ethics are his own business unless they are a detriment to society, and this is not. Let the buyers beware."

The 29 per cent who thought that Clark was wrong in promoting his own records on his own show pretty much agreed with 17-year-old Marilyn George of Brooklyn that he violated "a public trust."

To 18-year-old Karen Bonnell of St. Louis, Clark's conduct constituted nothing less than "cheating the public — if it didn't give all records an equal chance of becoming hits."

When asked about direct payola to disc jockeys for playing certain records, 38 per cent of the teen-agers deemed the practice "very wrong." 30 per cent called it "undesirable." 21 per cent thought it "wasn't too bad" and 10 per cent approved the practice.

The disc jockey has to make a living, argued 18-year-old Alan Fields of San Francisco, and "if people are willing to pay, then why not?"

Philip Felt of Potomac, Idaho, admitted that the practice is "common not only in the record industry but in all facets of entertainment, but that doesn't make it any more desirable."

Again the girls seemed more concerned with ethics than the boys, with 86 per cent rejecting the legal in favor of the ethical, compared with only 52 per cent of the boys. On the opposite side, 30 per cent of the girls and 40 per cent of the boys thought it was all right to do something unethical but not specifically illegal.

"In some cases when under pressure it's all right to do it," interjected 17-year-old Richard Boris of Flushing, N. Y., "because of the false standards of what is ethical and what is not."

But 17-year-old John Chelstrom of St. Paul regarded any compromising of ethics as "another symbol of the moral sickness of our society."

"Whenever ethics are slighted," warned 17-year-old James Horning of Mt. Pleasant, Texas, "someone is bound to get hurt."

Learn to Care for Sweaters the Safe Way

(NEA) — For both college and career girls, this fall is going to be a big sweater season. Bulky knits, vests, pullovers, sleek cashmeres and knitted polo shirts will fill your wardrobes.

They deserve tender care since they represent a good investment. And the best way to give them this care is to learn how to wash them in order to preserve both shape and bright colors.

The first rule of successful sweater washing is water temperature. If you use a powdered soap, then use lukewarm water. But if you don't trust your own judgment and you've had trouble in the past, it's safer to use cold water and a liquid cold water soap meant especially for woolens.

The next rule is never to lift up the sweater when it's soggy and full of water. Go through the whole washing process, water changing and all, with the sweater in the basin. Squeeze gently but never twist or wring.

Once the sweater is rinsed, let the water out of the basin, press the sweater gently against the sides of the basin and lift it quickly into a large towel. Don't bother to shape it now; get the water rolled out.

Now, transfer it to a second terry towel and start shaping it. You shouldn't need a paper pattern if you've followed directions carefully. But if you're not sure of yourself, use one. Shape the sweater to the pattern and dry it flat on a thick terry towel. That's all there is to it.

And now footwear has joined the wash-and-wear brigade; not just play shoes, but smart looking daytime shoes.

There are dressy white and pastel shoes, in a new kind of patent leather that can be wiped off with a damp sponge.

These fabric shoes, of course, cannot be soaked in water. Instead, they should be washed off frequently with "dry" suds — the same suds you would use for shampooing upholstery.

Use a sponge to mix up a maximum of lather with just a small amount of water. Apply these dense suds to the shoe surface lightly with a sponge, cloth, or even a soft brush if the fabric is sturdy. Then wipe clean with a damp cloth to rinse off the suds. Try to avoid spot cleaning. You'll get better results if you wash the entire shoe.

Judy Ann Hirsch Speaks, Vows at First Baptist

Dr. H. H. Savage officiated at the Friday evening nuptials of Judy Ann Hirsch of Lock Drive and Malcolm Fredrick Thorne in the First Baptist Church.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Hirsch of Elk Horn, Wis., former Pontiac residents.

The ballroom-length wedding gown of white Chantilly lace over tulle was styled with fitted bodice, scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves. A caplet of seed pearls caught the shoulder-length cloud veil of illusion.

While Fuji chrysanthemums and yellow sweetheart roses combined with ivory, comprised the bridal cascade.

The bride's sister Donna was maid of honor with Betty Mollhagen of Rochester and Diana Todd of Pontiac, bridesmaids.

The brides were ballroom-length, orchid silk organza over tulle, with modded bodices and cap sleeves. Matching picture hats and cascades of orchid carnations completed their ensembles.

The bridegroom, son of the Robert A. Thorne of Norton Lawn drive, Rochester, asked his brother Larry to be best man. Groomsman included another brother Robert of Rochester, and Don Hirsch of Pontiac. Guests were seated by Clyde Schinke and Bern and Severy both of Rochester.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hirsch chose cascade green Chantilly lace over matching tulle styled with side part bow. Mrs.

(NEA) — Delicate, filmy wash-and-wear fabrics have contributed a great deal to feminine good looks. Every woman owes a vote of gratitude to the fabrics that make it possible for her to look her best with barely a thought tossed in the direction of maintenance.

And now footwear has joined the wash-and-wear brigade; not just play shoes, but smart looking daytime shoes.

There are dressy white and pastel shoes, in a new kind of patent leather that can be wiped off with a damp sponge.

These fabric shoes, of course, cannot be soaked in water. Instead, they should be washed off frequently with "dry" suds — the same suds you would use for shampooing upholstery.

Use a sponge to mix up a maximum of lather with just a small amount of water. Apply these dense suds to the shoe surface lightly with a sponge, cloth, or even a soft brush if the fabric is sturdy. Then wipe clean with a damp cloth to rinse off the suds. Try to avoid spot cleaning. You'll get better results if you wash the entire shoe.

New tanning agents are being used in the spring and summer leather shoes. The leather can be wetted and dried slowly without losing its softness. The best way to clean washable leathers is to use a daisy sponge followed by damp rinsing.

BUT BE SURE

Be most important of all, be sure before you wash your shoes that you have bought a washable fabric.

Gray spring and summer shoes are always fun to wear. And now that maintenance need no longer be a problem, you can choose pastel checks, prints or any delicious little morsel that strikes your fancy.

No matter how casual or high the style you may need, washable footwear will keep you in step with fashion.

Draw a circle of insect repellent around your legs, the tops of your boots, cuffs of your trousers — to protect yourself against chiggers.

Culture's Ancient and Andes Are Dandies

Peru Offers the Tourist New Horizons

LIMA, Peru (NEA) — The world is NOT getting smaller every day. It's still a mighty big place and if you don't believe it, try going to South America. It's still a far place and a different world from North America.

For tourists who have become blasé about Paris, London and Rome, the purple and haunted land of Peru offers new horizons.

Lima, of course, is an old and lovely Spanish city. But once you leave Lima and head for the Peruvian mountains, you're on your own.

The fastest way to get to Lima these days is by plane. To get to the ancient Inca city of Cuzco, in the Andes, you fly a local airline, inhaling oxygen all the way. That's because of the altitude. The Andes can make the Swiss Alps look like hills.

Cuzco, in itself, is a fascinating city, a hybrid mixture of Inca and Spanish. The Spaniards first saw it with its walls sheathed in gold. Being thrifty people, they promptly removed the gold and shipped it home to Spain. So Cuzco doesn't really sparkle anymore.

But it is the place to see the Inti Raymi Indian festival, held yearly at Sacahuaman, a ruined Inca fortress just above the city. This is the festival of the Inca sun god and it is as big, colorful and primitive as you could ever hope to see. Costumes and masks are marvelous.

IT'S NO RUIN

Next on your travel list should be the Inca city of Machu Picchu. Travel folders refer to this as "ruined" but actually Machu Picchu is such a marvel of building that it's anything but a ruin. Steps and terraces, sun dial and palaces, houses and barracks for soldiers are still intact.

Now, it's time for word about how you reach Machu Picchu. If the Inca at Cuzco is full, as it was on my visit there, then the next best is the Inca at Urubamba, a village on the Urubamba River near the Amazon jungle.

A hired car will take you there over steep mountain trails and through some of the most rewarding, breathtaking and treacherous scenery you're ever likely to see in your life. Even if you're a timid tourist, this is still for you. I am a timid tourist. That is, you name it and I will visit it. But once I arrive, I want comfort. I carry my own hot water bottle, a supply of sweaters, an umbrella and raincoat. And I don't care who knows it.

So, if I could go there, you can. From the Inca at Urubamba, you will be transferred to a little bus which takes along on railway tracks, winding high in the mountains. Then you'll transfer to a bus. This winds still higher.

At this point, you'll find your breathing shallow and rapid. It's the altitude. But when the bus reaches Machu Picchu and you find yourself standing in this lovely old city on a mountaintop, looking mauve mountains smack in the face, you'll feel it was worth the effort.

Use Back Brush
(NEA) — A back brush is particularly valuable in summertime. A gentle scrubbing with firm bristles and plenty of sudsy lather removes all dead surface skin from those hard-to-reach areas that are exposed in the sun dress and swimsuit.

Better to Brush
(NEA) — Brushing and hair health go hand in hand. Brushing also contributes to easier hair setting.

Let's the Kids Show Off in a Constructive Way

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco suburbs have come up with a new idea for fighting juvenile delinquency — "Kids in Performance."

The object is to get delinquents to do their showing-off in a constructive way. Another aim is to win youngsters away from rowdy gangs by making them members of groups which can give them a "feeling of belonging."

TWO-YEARS-OLD

"Kids in Performance," known as KIP, began with an impromptu audition two years ago in the living room of Mrs. Kay Irvine, a grandmother of 10.

The audition developed quite accidentally into formation of a group of regular entertainers. Now the suburbs are full of KIP groups busily entertaining each other.

Problem children are referred to KIP through Mrs. Irvine by their worried parents and teachers.

"My idea of fun used to be drinking gin and wine on weekends," said one KIP graduate. "Now it's singing."

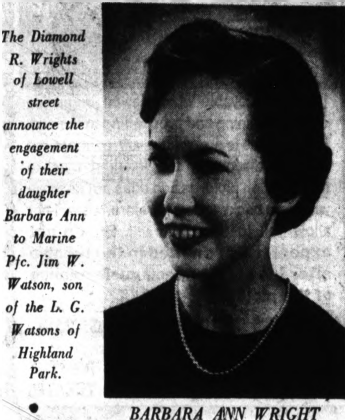

KIP's biggest success has been with the Log Cabin School, a correctional institution in South San Francisco. Boys sent there usually are considered incorrigible.

The Log Cabin kids attended KIP shows at first only under protest. But then they surprised everyone by demanding that they be let in on the act. From then on, KIP got some of its best talent from the Log Cabin kids.

Ed Shea, the institution's superintendent, said KIP has "a marvelous effect on the boys' morale, ambition and behavior."

In Daily City, they recently gave a show in the War Memorial Community Center to raise money to help save the life of a 13-year-old San Bruno girl in need of a major heart operation.

It's In and Out Time at Bloomfield Hills

By RUTH SAUNDERS
BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Mrs. Arthur Soid came from her home in Peoria, Ill., last weekend for a visit with Mrs. Robert Craig of Cranbrook road.

Her hosts gave a big cocktail party in her honor Saturday evening which proved to be the first of many entertainments for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Craig took their son and daughter-in-law and their guest to the Detroit Boat Club for dinner Sunday and Mr. Richard T. Deane gave a luncheon for her Monday.

Hosts for dinner at the Old Club, St. Clair Flats, Tuesday, were Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Wallace, who with their family are spending August at their cottage there.

Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Campbell entertained at dinner in their home on Roland drive.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Bugas are planning a trip to Europe by jet next month.

They will be accompanied by their daughter Jane who will enter the Chateau Beau Cade School in Montreux, Switzerland.

Their three children are at the Bugas ranch at Sunlight Basin, Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. MacDonnell will entertain a group of friends at the shore home at Bloomfield Hills Country Club Friday evening. They plan to leave early next week for a week in Boston and Cohasset on Cape Cod.

In Boston they will visit the John MacDonnell family and on the Cape they will be guests of Mrs. MacDonnell's father, J. F. Cronin.

Accompanying their parents Ed will be their children Sandi, Larry and Donny.

Dr. and Mrs. Harold R. Roehm are enjoying a few weeks of European travel.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Pauls of Gleanery Circle will be hosts at a unique cocktail and supper party Sunday evening.

They will go bowling later at nearby bowling lanes which the hosts have taken over for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Howe will give a cocktail party for them Saturday evening in their home in Lone Pine court.

Mr. and Mrs. Roswell W. Thomas of Bartlesville, Okla., who formerly lived in Birmingham, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm W. Welby of Burning Bush road.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harvey B. Greene of Country Club drive, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Liles and Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Scales will be hosts at a dinner and bar shower in the Greene home for bride-elect of Sept. 9 Jean Flores and her fiance Thomas Bruce Day.

Try Bleaching

(NEA) — If your hair line seems to be lengthened by a low, scraggly line of dark fuzz when you wear your hair in a chignon, bleach it to skin-color lightness. It will then look like a downy fuzz instead of hair whose dark shadows tend to shorten the length of your neck.

Remember This

(NEA) — There is a difference between astringent and skin freashener. Skin freashener is much milder and should be used for normal or dry skin. Astringent is formal for oily skin.

Try Exercise for Dewlaps

(NEA) — A flabby upper arm is a source of concern to many mature women. And with good reason. It can do much to ruin an otherwise trim figure.

The forearm quiver often stays slim and nicely rounded while the upper arm is developing unsightly dewlaps. The reason for this, of course, is that your forearm, either in housework or office work, gets much more use.

But if you like to wear real, girly evening gowns or if you're fond of sleeveless dresses in summer, don't give up the ship. Tackle problem with exercise.

One of the best is the backstroke used by swimmers. This you can do by standing on the rug in your bedroom just as well as you can do it in water. To make sure that you are doing it correctly, ask a friend who swims (if you do not) to show you just how it's done. You'll be able to feel the pull on the muscles of the upper arm as you exercise. About 30 strokes is right for the first day.

Brighten the Basement

Add another room to the house this winter — brighten up the basement with fresh paint.

Begin by brushing away dust or dirt, and applying an odorless paint solvent to remove grease or oil. Special products are available to fill cracks or holes in the walls.

The paint must be resistant to moisture and to the alkali present in concrete, cement, or cinder blocks, and to abrasion if it's to be put on the floor. There are a number of coatings which meet these requirements — water-thinned latex paint, Portland cement paint, solvent-thinned rubber-base paint, and masonry paint.

For floors, the latex or rubber base floor enamel thinned with solvent are best. And to make easy work of applying it, use a long-handled roller so that no crouching or bending is necessary.

The color should be a clear pastel, since most basements are dark. Yellow is especially good to bring cheeriness into the area, with a darker shade as accent color on shelves, bins, and work tables.

If the basement is divided into different working areas, try yellow for the laundry section, and soft green or frosty blue for the work bench area.

Camouflage pipes by painting them the same color as the walls.

It's good to remember that the lighter the shade of paint, the brighter and more airy the basement will look.

Congo Premier Voices New Threat to Katanga

By LYNN REINERLING

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Premier Patrice Lumumba has renewed his threat to invade Katanga Province if the United Nations does not bring that divisive regime under the control of the central Congo government in Leopoldville.

Lumumba voiced his threat at a news conference Wednesday as U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld was back at U.N. headquarters in New York seeking support for his hands-off policy toward the new African republic's internal disputes.

Lumumba said his army could enter Katanga alone and "finish the problem in a week." But he threatened to seek help from "a country disposed to help us. Possibly he meant Ghana, or even the Soviet Union, from which Lumumba has threatened to seek military help before.

Lumumba also demanded that Hammarskjöld, if he returns to the Congo, bring with him the 14 nation team of Asian-African observers that the premier previously demanded supply the secretary general in control of the U.N. operation in the Congo.

The Congolese premier last threatened an invasion of Katanga on Aug. 9, when he was also pressing for action from the United Nations.

SUCCESS UNLIKELY
His aim then was to hasten the departure of Belgian troops from Katanga in hopes that provincial

Broadway Playwright Suffers Recurrence of Intestinal Ailment

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (UPI)—Oscar Hammerstein II, famed Broadway librettist, was reported in critical condition today at his nearby farm.

The theatrical genius who helped put "South Pacific," "Oklahoma" and other great musicals on Broadway, underwent intestinal surgery several months ago.

Hammerstein suffered a recurrence of the ailment that had required surgery "which we hope is under control," a spokesman said.

The librettist collaborated with Richard Rogers to produce "The King and I" and the current Broadway hit, "Sound of Music," among other shows.

"Showboat," one of his earliest successes, was written with composer Jerome Kern.

Will It Collapse? Or Shrink?

Dark Days Ahead for Echo in Chill Earth Shadow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Echo I communications satellite, now shining brightly in the night sky, will move for the first time into the darkness of the earth's shadow next Sunday night.

For the next month or two space scientists will be watching to determine what effect, if any, the changed conditions will have on the 100-foot sphere.

Will the huge and fragile ball of plastic film collapse, as some experts fear, and lose its ability to reflect radio waves?

Or will it shrink just a little in the cold darkness, and then blossom out into the sunlight again, as good as ever?

Whatever happens, the sphere will have company of a sort as it orbits around the globe once every two hours for the next year or so.

The Air Force's National Space Surveillance Control Center at Bedford, Mass., says it has identified four separate pieces in orbit with the big ball. One is the third stage of the Delta launching rocket, carrying a sun-powered radio tracking beacon like the two imbedded on opposite sides of the giant balloon. The other orbiting objects presumably are other parts of the rocket and launching apparatus.

John W. Townsend of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the Echo satellite will travel in darkness for only a brief period Sunday night. But the dark periods will increase thereafter for some weeks, until the satellite is spending 60 per cent of its time in darkness.

This is caused by Echo's steady orbit and the earth's rotation around the sun, putting the sphere periodically in the earth's shadow.

Four times a year Echo will ride in continuous sunlight as it is in its first week. Four times a year the sphere will be chilled by the two-thirds of its orbits that are in darkness.

Scientists disagree on what is likely to happen.

Townsend said one school of thought holds that if there is any gas remaining in the balloon satellite when it starts going dark, the gas will cool and contract and the plastic covering may collapse.

Difficult to Disturb Peace No Longer There

Commercials Boot Privacy

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—My husband and I live in what was once a peaceful little penthouse 13 floors above the streets and honks.

We were dropped in on occasionally by friends, sparrows and mosquitoes. But on the average day or evening we were alone in our jeans and Teenie Weenie bikini.

Those mellow sounds, and the sight of the United Nations building backdropping the ivy geraniums were our only contact with the world of progress.

Progress was for people who were down, up or over there. We were farmers.

Then abruptly, last month, commercialism entered our pastoral world. A new building began to rise a few blocks to the north. We couldn't see it rising. Still can't. Ah, but we could hear it.

HEARD BARK At regular intervals, beginning about eight in the morning, the coolly efficient voice of a young lady barks instructions through a loudspeaker to the men on the job. Her commands—which boom through the city for dozens of square blocks—go something like this:

"Joe Smith, you are wanted on number five, please. Joe Smith, please pick up five!"

This undoubtedly is a great innovation in the building business. Probably speeds construction enormously. Possibly keeps the men happy on the job—makes them feel wanted—and by a woman, yet.

But it's a frightful thing to do to citizens.

About the time the squawk-box skyscraper system was installed, our neighborhood supermarket put in closed circuit TV. This means that while we are shopping, we are privileged to hear rock and roll, interspersed with over-egg pronunciation of food "buys." And quick pitched commercials.

I find this not only unnecessary but offensive. Before TV found its way into supermarkets I dawdled through the delicacies, my mind moving favorably from one succulent food to the next, able to taste each in the imagination. As a consequence I bought more than I should have.

Now my supermarket is a jangled, addled urge to concentrate on the shopping list and get out swiftly, before I lose my appetite and my mind.

Now there is a rumor that music may be pumped into the buses. I would compare that unfavorably with the muzak in my dentist's office. I don't like it. It makes me feel trapped, hornsogged, lulled for the kill.

In fact, right now I'm feeling so intense about being a captive audience to commercial cacophony that I'd like to scream bloody murder.

But then they'd put me away. For disturbing the peace that is no longer there.

Earth-Mover Crash Kills Two Drivers

NEW ULM, Minn. (AP)—Two giant earth-moving machines collided head-on at top speed on a road construction project Wednesday, killing both operators.

A fellow worker said the drivers saw each other through the dust at dawn just before the crash. Both turned the same direction in a vain attempt to avoid a collision.

The huge machines were going at top speed, about 35 miles per hour. One was loaded with earth and weighed almost 45 tons. The other was empty.

Victims were Arlin Gould, 31, Bendig, Minn., and Arnold Kuhne, 27, Carlos, Minn.

American Compacts Win Back Portion of Lost Export Market

By JACK VANDENBERG
DETROIT Automotive Editor

DETROIT—American-made compact cars are helping auto manufacturers in the United States reclaim some of the export market they lost during the last several years.

Auto industry figures showed the American car makers have about doubled the number of cars made for export to Europe and overseas ports since the industry's "Big Three" started turning out smaller cars just last.

Until the compacts were introduced, exports of American-made cars dwindled steadily because they were too big and too expensive for the average European motorist.

Export of American-made cars to Europe hit a low point in 1959 when the figure dipped to 17,886, compared with 21,858 in the previous year.

In the first five months of this year, exports totaled 15,466. On this basis, auto industry export experts predicted exports for the year would total about 33,000. They pointed out that this was still a small figure, but it represented a reversal of the downward trend of recent years and this alone was "encouraging."

Industry spokesmen said there are probably a number of factors involved in the increase of sales of American-made cars abroad but the new compacts were the most important and accounted for most of the increase.

"It is not primarily the size of the new compacts that make them more desirable overseas," one spokesman said. "The price is probably the most important factor."

He pointed out that a low-priced standard-size American car would cost an English motorist about $10,000 or an Italian motorist about $6,400.

"In addition, the Italian has to pay $300 a year for a license for any car made outside of Italy," the spokesman said. "This makes an American car pretty expensive for an Italian."

Another auto industry official said there has been some relaxation of quotas assigned to importation of American-made cars in the past year and this, along with lower tariffs and customs in some areas, has also helped increase the number of American car exports.

Another spokesman said completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway also has helped boost the number of American cars sent abroad.

Chrysler, for example, has doubled the number of cars it has shipped abroad from the port of Detroit in the past year.

A Chrysler spokesman said an estimated $20 million worth of Chrysler products will be exported from the port of Detroit this year. The spokesman pointed out that it is cheaper to ship the cars directly from Detroit to overseas points than it is to ship them by rail to the East Coast and then by ship to Europe.

Red Stargazer Praises U.S. Planet Contacts

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI)—A content with orbiting Mars or Venus, a conventional chemical rocket, even manned, might do it.

But Von Braun stressed that a real Mars expedition which would require a much bigger crew and large supplies demands an atom or ion-powered space ship.

Prof. Leonid I. Sedov, No. 1 Soviet satellite expert, said earlier that flights with automatic space vehicles is the main aim of research and that such vehicles might reach Venus or Mars in the near future.

English-speaking Mikhailov said such a space probe with a camera and television-equipped space vehicle was his life dream.

He said that only when the exact relations between the planets—the earth, Venus or Mars—had been established could it be possible to launch a space vehicle and steer it in a circle around the mystery-shrouded heavenly bodies.

Asked about the technical details of such a probe, Mikhailov smiled and said "I am such an old-fashioned astronomer, I think it would be possible but I can't explain the mechanical rocket equipment needed."

Mikhailov and other leading space scientists are here for the Congress.

The question was passed on to Werner von Braun, German-born rocket pioneer and now head of the U.S. Saturn project.

Question: "Is it possible to send a chemically powered rocket expedition to Mars or would such a project require an atom or ion engine space vehicle?"

Von Braun said that if one is

Pontiac City Affairs

Refuses Liquor License

True to tradition, the City Commission unanimously denied an application for a new Class C liquor license.

"We haven't approved one of these in at least six years," observed Mayor Philip E. Rowland.

The application request was from Gladys Rowley, who wanted to add liquor to her beer and wine tavern license at 300 E. Fifth St.

It has been the city's long-standing policy not to add any new Class C licenses in Pontiac.

Commissioners scheduled three hearings Tuesday. The first will be on assessment rolls for widening and paving of Howard street, Baldwin to Johnson, and Johnson avenue, Howard to Oakland.

The others are on intention to lay sidewalks on both sides of Howard street, Perry to Michigan, and on the side of Versus drive, Linda Vista to the Pontiac Knolls subdivision line.

Three other sidewalk projects were declared public necessities: both sides of Seward street, Osborn to Murphy Park; both sides of North Astor street, north of Michigan avenue, and both sides of North Shirley street, Michigan to Fiddle.

The unused alley parallel to Cottage and Wall streets between Paddock and Jesule streets was declared vacated, after no objections were voiced at a public hearing.

The south side of North Perry street between Cameron and Kenilworth was rezoned to Commercial for a funeral home. There were no objections at a hearing.

Official thanks were given to Lloyd Burns of the Inch Memorial Co., who donated to the city a granite name plate for the entranceway to Ottawa Park Cemetery.

Campanellas to Try and Talk It Over

GLEN COVE, N. Y. (AP)—Roy Campanella says he and his wife, Ruthie, are talking things over to see if they can patch up their differences.

The former Dodgers catcher, who announced recently that he planned to sue for a legal separation, said Wednesday "I'm trying to talk to my wife to see if things can be worked out. If two people can't talk about a thing like this, then it really is pretty bad."

Campanella, largely paralyzed since an auto accident in 1958, and his wife are occupying separate quarters in their Long Island home.

British Embassy Sticks to Blasts at Powers Trial

TOKYO (AP)—The British Embassy said today that "under no circumstances" will it withdraw or change its statement that the trial of American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers "is clearly a propaganda exercise."

The statement prompted sharp criticism in London Wednesday from a representative of the Soviet news agency Tass. He called it "absurdness" and the British Foreign Office promised an investigation.

A British spokesman in Tokyo said the statement on the trial was the embassy's opinion and did not reflect the views of the Foreign Office.

Strike Idles 36,000 in Pittsburgh Area

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Some 1,150 nonoperating employees struck a shuttle railroad today in a contract dispute, idling five U. S. Steel Corp. mills served by the railroad.

About 30,000 steelworkers were thrown out of work by the strike. Negotiations stalled late Wednesday night. No further talks were scheduled.

day night. No further talks were scheduled.

The striking workers—lower operators, clerks and maintenance men—are represented by the United Steelworkers Union.

About 5,000 other railroad employees were idled because of the strike.

The railroad, a U. S. Steel subsidiary, hauls raw materials and steel to and between the company's Duquesne, Homestead, Edgar Thomson, Irvin and Clairton works.

JOE'S HOBBY — Service station owner Joe Rutana sits atop the result of a three-year hobby in the office of his station in South San Gabriel, Calif., Monday. It's a ball of string 42 inches across, weighing 515 pounds, and still growing. Joe figures there are 133 miles of string in the ball which he started three years ago. He expects to have a wall of his station removed when he is ready to take the ball away.

Area Artist to Paint Williams

LANSING 4P — John S. Coppin didn't quite like the blue suit against the background of blue sky.

Sigler is shown in heroic size, dwarfing the state capital. His favorite airplane is to the rear — fatal onen, since Sigler was killed when that plane crashed after he left office.

Coppin, 46, is enthused about his latest subject. He has been preparing for the actual painting by reading up on Williams.

"Anyone who has been governor that long is sure to be an excellent subject," he said. "I find Williams a surprising man — an authority on many things."

Now he has been commissioned to do another oil portrait, for state capitol display, of Gov. Williams.

The latest commission will make Coppin's score on governors a nonpartisan two-two between Republicans and Democrats. He already has three signed oils hanging in the capitol rotunda.

His first gubernatorial subject was Murray D. Van Wagener, the 1941-42 Democratic office-holder. He then painted Harry F. Kelly, 1934-46, and Sigler, 1947-48, both Republicans.

The first two paintings are so traditional in style that they blend in perfectly with those of other governors done much earlier. The Sigler portrait is somewhat of a departure.

"Sigler wanted it that way," Coppin explained, "although

Bureau Studies Trend to Crime

Cleveland Police Think Weather Has Influence on Potential Criminal

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Is there a connection between weather and crime?

The Cleveland Police Department is so determined to find out that the 230 members of the detective bureau are engaged in a project of making detailed reports on the weather conditions at the time of every crime.

"We have suspected for some time that a steady rain, for example, is accompanied by a rash of break-ins," said Detective Capt. Ernest Hauschild. "If we knew this to be a fact it could play an important part in crime prevention."

In addition to the reports by investigating officers concerning temperatures, wind velocity and direction, and amount of snow or rain, squad cars will make routine weather reports around the clock.

The weather reports also are expected to aid police in questioning suspects to determine whether they actually were at the scene of the crime.

"You would be surprised how many times a policeman's credibility is questioned during a trial when an attorney asks what the weather was like the day of the crime several months earlier," Hauschild points out. "This way, the facts will be on paper for reference."

Feeding Calf Less Increases Life Span

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — Scientists have been able to extend the life span of animals by feeding them less while young.

The New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University reports that by giving calves 35 per cent less food than they normally require, the normal 12-year life span of cows was increased by as much as 20 months.

Similar experiments have been made on rats, hamsters, monkeys and silk worms.

The process usually involves decreasing the calories while maintaining nearly normal levels of protein and other nutrients.

Cornell men say that while no one has tried to prolong human life by restricting children's caloric consumption, there is no reason to think it couldn't be done.

Paul Revere Walks but Horse Takes Ride

OMAHA 4P — "Paul Revere" had to walk but his horse hitched side.

It happened after Gary Young, 16, had donned a cocked hat and frock coat and prepared to ride several miles through the city to publicize a charity horse show.

What spoiled the plan was a city ordinance prohibiting horses on Omaha thoroughfares without a parade permit.

Despite 86-degree heat, Gary covered the planned route — on foot. The horse rode along beside him in a trailer.

Sources Worldwide in Collection of Wood

SUMMIT, N. J. 4P — Archie F. Wilson is a University of Illinois' research associate in anatomy — wood anatomy to be exact.

The 57-year-old industrialist conservatively values his extensive collection of 6,000 carved, glued, turned, or laminated wood objects from all over the world at $10,000.

When he moved here from Decatur, Ill., 11 years ago it cost him more to move his wood collection than his furniture.

Wilson, who studies his wood objects through a high-powered microscope, prefers the intellectual to the functional approach to wood expertise. There are two schools of thought concerning wood, he explained. "but I wouldn't call them a winter season."

Defeat is 7th in Row for Cellar-Dwelling Athletics

DETROIT (UPI)—When a sixth-place team battles the occupant of the American League cellar in the middle of August, there's not a great deal to excite the imagination.

And even Frank Lary looked a little on the casual side last night as he effortlessly won a 5-2 down Kansas City 5-2 on six hits, to hand the Athletics their seventh loss in a row. The victory was the Tigers' fifth in the last seven starts.

Lary was reminded in the third inning, that there was, after all, a ball game in progress and he was pitching it. The Athletics looked seriously a little in the third when they scored both their runs on three singles, a sacrifice and an error.

But after all, Lary's peace of mind was scarcely disturbed as he yielded only two singles in the last six innings and gained his 11th win of the season.

He also received vigorous support from his teammates as he worked over three Kansas City pitchers for 12 hits. The Tiger talent for deserting basemen was at its best, however, as 14 runners were stranded.

Norm Cash got things rolling in the first inning when he hammered a two-run blow into the left-center field seats and scored behind Chico Fernandez who had singled. Cash's 13th homer came off starter and lower Ray Herbert.

After the A's tied the score with their big effort of the night in the third inning, Detroit sneaked out in front in the fifth when Herbert plunked Chasie Maxwell with one of his curves and Rocky Colavito and Ozzie Virgil followed with singles.

That was all Lary needed but the Tigers elected to prolong things a bit with a pair of insurance rallies in the seventh. Al Kaline's double, a sacrifice and singles by Harry Chitt and Lary accounted for the tallies.

Lions' Problem Too Many QB's?

Too many quarterbacks? That's the problem that has been plaguing Detroit Lions coach George Wilson.

Paul Morrill started last Saturday's game against the Cleveland Browns and produced one touchdown while playing with the first string unit.

Then in the second half, Jim Ninowski, playing against his former teammates, engineered one touchdown while paired largely with second string backs and receivers.

Now the Lions coach is trying with the idea of starting Warren Rabb, the Louisiana State rookie who already has been moved to the defensive backfield although he retains a hand in quarterbacking.

"We have to know sometime just what Rabb can do as a quarterback," said Wilson. "This may be the chance to find out."

If Rabb does start in this Saturday night's game with the St. Louis Cardinals in Toledo, it will be because Wilson is afraid to gamble on Ninowski, who has just recovered from a mild charity horse after being kicked in the leg Tuesday.

The St. Louis game was to have been Ninowski's debut as a starting quarterback. At any rate, Wilson has said that he may have Ninowski for later, "when his leg is completely sound. 'I want Jim to have every chance,'" Wilson said.

Wilson, it is said, has been dissatisfied by the old system of alternating quarterbacks. It didn't work with Bobby Lane and Tobin Rote, nor with Rote and Morrill.

The last three pre-season meetings between the Lions and Cardinals have been real "cliff-hangers." With the Cards taking all three decisions. Last year, the two teams met in Norman, Okla., and the Lions were tripped up 21-19. In 1956, in Mobile, Ala., the then Chicago Cards won 20-17, and the previous year, 1955, they again measured the Lions 17-16.

Detroit handed the Cardinals a 6-21 defeat in the next-to-the-last game of the 1959 season in Briggs Stadium to run the Lion edge in the series to 19 victories, nine defeats and three ties. It marked the first time the teams had met in regular season play since 1949.

VICTORY SMILE — Manager Danny Mortuaga (left) of the Pittsburgh Pirates and pitcher Clem Labine, who recently became a Tiger castoff and was signed as a free agent, celebrate the victory over the Phillies last night. Labine preserved a 5-3 victory in relief.

For Best in Show at PKC Event Press Gives Top Trophy

One of the area's most colorful and interesting exhibitions for dog show followers, set for the outdoors, is the annual fall all-breed show by Pontiac Kennel Club.

This unbroken show and obedience trial takes place Sunday at Waterford HS Athletic Field, starting at 9 a.m.

The Pontiac Press will award the top trophy, for the animal judged the best dog in the show. The winner will have to beat out a field of nearly 600 to collect this handsome award.

Judges include some of the best-known experts in the country, for their special classifications. The corps that will work the PKC show numbers nearly a dozen.

Show hours are 9 a.m.-9 p.m. The show is a sanctioned event under American Kennel Club regulations. PKC's show committee includes chairman Burt Johnston, obedience chairman Frank L. Grant, and Alan Reekie, Mrs. E. A. Kraft and Robert Hawkins. Mr. Kraft is PKC president, Reekie vice-president, Alan Reekie, treasurer and Mrs. Kraft secretary.

Olympic Squad Travels in High Fashion at Rome

ROME (AP)—The United States hopes to parade at Rome the best-dressed American team in the history of the Olympic Games.

"The uniform is a knockout," said a U.S. Olympic spokesman. "A stylish symphony in blue and white, conservative and in good taste."

The men will wear white trousers, blue jackets, gray suede shoes and natural colored straw hats with small red, white and blue bands.

Dryden Football Coach Takes Cheboygan Post
Jerry Meredith, football coach at Dryden High School last season, has been appointed to replace John Laszkari as head coach at Cheboygan High School.

Laszkari resigned to accept a position as line coach in baseball coach at Oliver College. He did not coach a Cheboygan team, having been appointed last spring after losing his team at Imley City won 28 games in 28 games over the past three seasons.

Football Game First of Kind Held in State

North - South Oakland Stars Ready to Tangle at Wiser Stadium

The Oakland County High School All-Star football game, something new as far as Michigan is concerned, will take the spotlight at Pontiac's Wiser Stadium Friday night.

The North Squad coached by former Detroit Lion end Leon Hart, and the South Squad under ex-Lion tackle Lou Creekmur completed their final workouts yesterday and have called for mild calisthenics today.

The game, sponsored by the Pontiac Jaycees, is the first of its kind to be held in Michigan. Such All-Star games have proven themselves popular in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and other great football states.

Recently, the game near Canton, Ohio, drew 15,000 and another near Pittsburgh drew 11,000.

The North team which drew its players from an area with 19 high schools holds the advantage in depth and balance.

The South can boast more individual name stars on its roster which was taken from 17 South Oakland County schools.

All-state guard Charlie Brown from Pontiac Central, along with top All-County stars Bob Christie of Walled Lake, Jerry Rush of Pontiac Central, Sam Reeve of Birmingham, Doug Stott of Oxford, Dennis Alia of West Bloomfield and Chuck Graves of Pontiac Northern lead the North-ers.

Big name stars of the county are headed by Ron Bishop, passing while from Royal Oak Shrine who was on everyone's all-state last season.

Shrine will have a pair of outstanding stars in Jack Ed Johnson and halfback Bob LeZotte, both of Royal Oak Shrine, who were mentioned on numerous all-state teams.

Meadows, who stands 6-foot-5 and weighs 285 pounds, has been chosen to enroll at Colorado next month. He was the only player in the county to make the All-County football and basketball teams in two successive seasons.

LeZotte, a shifty red-head who scaled 190 pounds, will enroll at Iowa this fall.

Bishop, along with Shrine teammate Mike Glynn, a halfback who resides in Pontiac, and end Paul Bayer are headed for the University of Detroit.

The South will have the brother line headed by Gary Tinkle of Farmington at 300 pounds, Tom Guy of Farmington at 250, Ed Berger of Dondore at 225, Bayard at 220, Chuck Rosenberg of Ferndale at 200 and Bill Smart of Dondore at 195, and Fred Wirth of Kimball at 195.

Harold Shore, 190 pound back from South Lyon, may get a starting role in the backfield with Bishop, LeZotte and speedy Paul Mullen of Ferndale St. James.

Alex, West Bloomfield's all-star, is expected to get the starting nod at quarterback for the North team. Coach Hart has appeared his backs into units and which group will see action to start the game has not yet been decided.

Gates will open at 6:30 p.m. and the kickoff is slated for 8:00 p.m. A rain date, in event of foul weather, has been set for Sunday afternoon.

Field of 10 Runners in Arlington Handicap

CHICAGO (AP) — A field of 10 or more of the country's best grass runners is expected for Saturday's $50,000 added Arlington Park Handicap at a mile and three-sixteenths.

Eddie Arcaro will be aboard the Sword Dancer, Manuel Ycaza will ride One-Eyed King and Willie Shoemaker will be on Dotted Swiss. Should Calumet Farm start On-and-On, Steve Brooks will be the jockey.

Other Local Softballers Lose CIO in District Semis

CIO 384 (joined as Pontiac's best hope for state softball honors) lost after gaining the Class B district semifinals with a 7-1 win over Ferndale at Highland Park last night.

Waterford entries in three of the four districts have been early losses with two of them now eliminated.

Floyd Hicks inflicted a one-hitter, fanning seven for CIO which coasted along after scoring three times in the opening inning. Chuck Fortner, garnered three hits and scored three of the runs. The Union boys play in the semis (tonight) at 9:15.

Waterford's Lakeland Pharmacy was dropped from the running last night by host Highland Park, 4-1. Bob Ferrer was the loser.

The game went eight innings. Pontiac Class A representative Arvo Realty saw a quick 1-0 lead go down the drain as Mt. Clemens bounced back with five tallies on the way to a 6-1 triumph. Dwan Johnson won on a four-hit beating Walt Travis. Bud Hayward singled, stole second and took two bases on a bunt for the lone Arvo marker. The Realtors play Friday night in the loser's bracket.

Red's Simon of Waterford joined Lakeland on the sidelines dropping a 1-0 verdict to Highland Park in "C." An error and hit accounted for the only run in the fifth. Bob Ferrer was the loser.

The Waterford Arrows were handed a 10-8 battering by the Pontiac Boys Club entry in the Rochester league as Class B got rolling at Reusette Park. Karl Montross fired a one-hitter. Dave Peters had three singles for the victors. The GM Proving grounds of Howell tripped Arvo Manufacturing of Ferndale 4-1 in the other hit, GM scored three in the 6th to snap a 1-1 tie.

Langdon's Boi Livy of Pontiac meets Howell tonight at 7:30. Pontiac Boys Club is in the Friday semifinals.

In church softball, Trinity Baptist will have little or no effect on the ball game. Momentum will keep the ball on line. But as the speed of the putt lessens, any side spin on the ball will begin to take effect.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF
PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "My putts just won't drop."

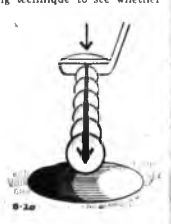

DIAGNOSIS: Putting side spin on the ball.
TREATMENT: If you are the type of golfer whose putts tend to turn off-line just before reaching the hole, you should examine your putting technique to see whether you are hitting your putts squarely. By "squarely," I mean bringing the center of the clubface into contact with the center of the ball, with the clubface square to the hole. The drawing depicts a square hit.

Squarely hit, the ball will be turning straight over and over on its way to the hole. Otherwise, the ball is up to have side spin on it.

In the first stages of the putt, when the ball is traveling at a good speed, side spin will have little or no effect on the direction the ball takes. Momentum will keep the ball on line. But as the speed of the putt lessens, any side spin on the ball will begin to take effect.

Here we have the reason for a lot of those putts which turn away from the hole at the last split second—the kind that make you think fate is truly against you.

As you practice hitting the ball squarely so as to keep away from side spin, you can watch your putting improve.

Fred Boylen, Michigan State football co-captain, was a national "Linenman of the Week" during 1959 season.

Win on Error; Top Foes Lose Same Way

Yanks Loosen Knot in AL

Three unearned runs have jarred loose the three-way knot for the American League lead.

An unearned run in the 10th inning brought the New York Yankees a 5-2 victory at Boston Wednesday night. That gave the Yankees a 1½-game edge over the second-place Chicago White Sox, who lost 3-2 at Cleveland on an unearned run.

And the third-place Baltimore Orioles, carried into extra innings because of an unearned Washington run, dropped their fourth in a row, 11-7 in 12 innings, and fell 2½ games back. It was the Senators' fifth in a row over the Orioles, who have lost nine of 14 to Washington.

A walk, Tony Kubek's single and a wild throw by second baseman Pete Runnels gave the Yankees their third straight victory. After being shut out on three hits for seven innings by Billy Muffett, they had come from behind for a tie with two runs in the eighth, scoring one on a walk and singles by Kubek and Bob Cerv, then getting the other as Mickey Mantle hit into a doubleplay.

Bobby Shantz (4-3) was the winner in relief, the third Yankee pitcher to follow Bill Stafford, who won 6-1-3 in his first major league game. Mike Fornieles (7-3) lost in relief.

The Indians handed White Sox

The Orioles ripped five home runs—all solo shots by Jackie Brandt, Al Pilarcik, Ron Hansen, Jim Gentile and Gus Triandos—and scored four doubles, but a six-run seventh inning, with one unearned, gave the Senators a 7-1 tie after nine. Washington then put it away against reliever Wes Stock (2-1) when he walked the bases loaded in the 12th and then gave up two-run singles by pinch-hitter Julio Becquer and Billy Gardner. Tex Clevenger (5-4) was the winning pitcher in relief.

Gardner, a one-time Bird, also nailed Brooks Robinson at the plate in the 10th, after being knocked to the ground while tagging Hanson between first and second. Another ex-Oriole Lennie Green, anchored the Nats' first run with an inside the park homer in the fourth inning when Gene Woodling lost the ball in the lights.

Labine Helps Put Pirates 7½ Ahead

By The Associated Press

Clem Labine has bounced back to the National League with a flourish for Pittsburgh's first place Pirates — and he did it against the Philadelphia Phillies, one of the clubs that "res" him out of business.

It was after Los Angeles traded him to Detroit of the American League in mid-June that the one-time Dodger bullpen ace learned some NL clubs were reading his pitches—getting tip-offs on what he was about to throw from the way he held the ball. Labine got wind of it from Al Dark, then playing for the Phils and now with Milwaukee, after Clem left the league.

Wednesday night he came back, stepping in on a sixth-inning rally by the Phils and saving a 5-3 victory for the Pirates with 3 2-3 innings of hitless relief.

That kept the Bucs 7½ games ahead of the second place Milwaukee Braves, who trimmed Cincinnati 11-4. San Francisco sent third place St. Louis skidding to a sixth straight loss, 6-5, and the Chicago Cubs beat Los Angeles 4-0.

Labine, who was 0-1 with the Dodgers and 0-3 with Detroit before his release, was signed as a free agent by the Pirates Tuesday. Trying a new pitch, "a short curve," the hefty right-hander struck out six, fanning pinch-hitter Tony Curry with the bases loaded and two runs home in the sixth after the Phils had chased winner Harvey Haddix (8-1) and trimmed the Bucs' lead to 4-3.

The Pirates broke a 1-1 tie against loser Johnny Buschardt (4-1) with three runs in the fourth on four singles and a clinching two-run double by Don Hoak. It was Hoak's sacrifice fly that brought in the final run in the eighth.

Milwaukee walloped the Reds with two scoring bursts, putting across five runs in the first inning and six in the eighth, when Hank Aaron walloped his 32nd home run, with a man on, and Ed Mathers lined a two-run double. Six singles, a walk and an error took care of things in the first inning against Jim O'Toole (10-11). Reliever Joe Jay (4-6) was the winner, blanking the Reds on five hits after Frank Robinson's three-run homer off starter Bob Buhl in the third inning.

Rookie Sherman (Road Block) Jones, second of three Giant pitchers, singled home the deciding run in the fifth inning for his first major league victory. Johnny Antonelli saved it. He struck out Walt Moryn and got Curt Flood on a pop up with two on in the seventh, then retired pinch-hitter Alex Grammas on a pop up with the tying run on third in the ninth.

Felipe Alou socked a three-run homer off loser Ray Sadock (6-7) as the Giants swept the three game set. Moryn and Daryl Spencer homered or the Cards, now 8½ games behind after trailing by just three last Friday.

Ernie Banks' 34th home run won it in the ninth for the Cubs, who had been blanked on three singles by loser Don Drysdale (10-13). Glen Moble (11-16) was the winning pitcher, although allowing seven hits.

New Canadian Champion
MONTREAL (AP) — Bob Cloutier of Montreal stripped Toronto's George Chuvalo of the Canadian heavyweight boxing crown Wednesday night with a 12-round split decision at DeJonghe Stadium.

Heiss Exhibits Skating Form in MSU Arena

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Figure skater champion Carol Heiss, now Mrs. Hayes Jenkins, exhibited her skating skill here last night on a rink where she spent months training for the 1960 Olympic title she now holds.

Carol participated in the "Talent on Ice" show at the Michigan State University arena where she and her brother and sister spent parts of the last six summers skating.

Her sister, Nancy, 18, now an MSU student, and brother, Bruce, 16, were here this summer again for the annual summer season of the Lansing Skating Club.

Nearly 150 potential champion skaters from throughout the country attended the 12th annual summer season.

Class A Crown on Line Tonight

'D' District Honors to Auburn; Two Others Finals Today

The heated battle for Class A baseball playoff honors will be settled tonight if predicted rain hold off long enough.

League champion Knights of Columbus and the Jets tangled at 5:30 p.m. at Warner Field. The Jets took the opener but bowed Tuesday after coming from behind to lead.

In junior district play, the Auburn Heights Boys Club teams kept rolling Wednesday. The Class D team won morning and afternoon contests for that title while the "F" also was gaining today's final round.

The Class D victories were 5-2 over the Waterford Firefighters and 3-0 over East Detroit. Ken Birn won the opener, supported by an 11-hit batting attack as Jim McDonald, Bruce Norton and Dick Meger had two safeties apiece.

Dave Goff was the Waterford hero. Auburn ace Darryl Thorpe blanked East Detroit on three hits. A scoreless mound duel was settled in the 8th on a walk, McDonald's single, another walk, a costly error and a wild pitch.

East Detroit was also a victim of Auburn Heights in Class F, 6-2. Roger Hayward and Lynn Thorpe combined for a one-hitter. A five-run 5th wrapped up the verdict. Thorpe's two singles paced the hitters.

Waterford's Hangar Grill was in the Class E final today. The Waterford nine had downed Pontiac Boys Club Tuesday.

In the Boys Club Federal Savings League, the Red Sox took American League playoff honors by walloping the Orioles 17-4. Gary Church and Jim Cameron had home runs. Pitcher Mike Dyer slugged a two-run homer to produce the 6-5 Indian win over the Tigers. The Braves and Red Sox met in an exhibition today.

Debate, Intrigue as Olympics Near

ROME, (AP) — The Olympic Games, eight days away from real competition, moved today into the arena of debate and intrigue.

The International Olympic Committee meets tomorrow to tackle the ever-thorny problem of Nationalist China and its successor as president to Avery Brundage of Chicago, now apparently not unwilling to be drafted.

The big Finnish and Canadian teams both arrive and the Modern Pentathlon Federation opens sessions, first of the world-wide sports groups to convene.

I.O.C. members huddled through the night in swank hotel rooms and at open air tables on the Via Veneto, Rome's gay white way.

They must decide: 1—Whether to draft Brundage, stern-visaged defender of the amateur code, or choose between the sixth Marquess of Exeter, Lord David Bursley, who won the 400-meter hurdles in 1928, and an iffy curtain performer, Gaspard Lorm Bursley.

2—How to start the 1964 games, which to admit Nationalist China to these games. The Chinese took part in the pre-Olympic basketball tournament at Bologna under the name of Taiwan, but under protest.

3—When to start the 1964 games. In Tokyo, the Japanese are supposed to favor mid-May. The United States and many European nations consider this too late.

Eighty-seven Russians came in yesterday. Among the star squads still not in Rome are the United States track and basketball teams, both barnstorming.

40-1 Shot a Winner

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — In one of the major upset of the season, Frank A. Sherman's 40-1 shot Bronzullah sped to victory in the 5th edition of the $35,600 Saratoga Special Wednesday.

The three big choices, Hal to Reason, Table Hopper and John-ny were far back out of the money.

Yusufi Yamamoto, Japan's bright hope in the 400 and 1,500-meter swimming events. He fell and bruised his left hip. There was some internal bleeding, but the Japanese believe he will be back in the water shortly. If he cannot compete at top speed, the United States' chances in men's swimming would be enhanced.

The United States, which lost the entry list of any other games.

Boats for Harmsworth Trophy Dimmed by Supertest III

Labor Day Weekend Sees Mississippi Marathon

Canadian Boat Threat to U.S. Hydroplanes

Picton's Bay of Quinte Scene of Race This Weekend

PICTON, Ont. (AP)—The United States sends a three-pronged challenge at Canada's sleek defender, Miss Supertest III, here next week aimed at recapturing powerboat racing's highest international prize, the Harmsworth Trophy.

Selected for the American bid on Picton's picturesque Bay of Quinte course were Detroit's Gale V, Seattle's Miss Burien and Nitrogen of Wilmington, Del.

The American unlimited hydroplane, racing as an entry, will compete in the best-of-three 45-mile heats starting Friday. The second heat will be held Saturday and the third, if needed, the following Monday.

The lone Canadian craft entered so far is Miss Supertest III, which ended the U.S. 38-year monopoly of the Harmsworth last year at Detroit. Canada can match the United States' entry total up until two hours before race-time, but is not likely to add another boat.

Owned and designed by Jim Thompson of London, Ont., the third Supertest is considered by many superior to any of the three American boats.

Only Gale V has been a race victor, winning recent international events at Buffalo, N. Y., and St. Clair, Mich.

Bob Hayward, who drove Supertest to its Harmsworth victory over Maverick in 1959, will pilot her again. Last summer on a chopper, windier Detroit River course, Hayward rode Supertest at an average of 99.975 mph, a record for the race first conferred in 1902. His average this year, in a 45-mile heat was 104.098 mph.

Gale V, owned by Joe Schmitt, will be raced by Bill Connelly. He'll be making his second Harmsworth appearance. Norm Evans of Seattle will steer Nitrogen, owned by Sam DuPont of Wilmington. Chuck Hickling will be in the cockpit of Miss Burien, a community owned craft from a Seattle suburb.

Miss Supertest, powered by a Rolls-Royce Griffon engine with 2,000 horsepower, has been unchanged since giving Canada its first Harmsworth championship.

All three American boats use General Motors built Allison engines. Such top-rated American hydroplanes as Miss Thriftway and Miss U. S. 1 are ineligible for this international competition because of their Rolls engines. The Harmsworth deed decrees the boat and engine must be designed in the nation challenging for the trophy.

The five-mile Picton course, featured by long straightaways, is practically wind free. Two cliffs, 130 feet tall, tower above the course and block out much of the breeze from Lake Ontario.

The U. S. is seeking its 17th Harmsworth trophy. England has won it five times and Canada and France once. This will be the 24th Harmsworth since the bronze plaque first was offered in 1901.

Widing Brothers to See Action Over Labor Day

Albert and LeRoy Widing, canoeing brothers from Holly, have had a successful summer of racing so far.

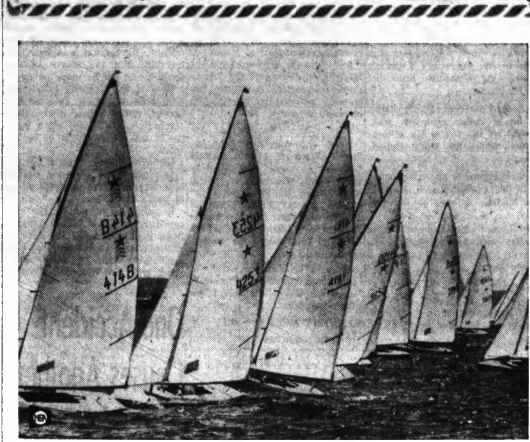

Very adept at pushing their sleek craft along at speeds averaging 9 and 10 miles an hour the Widings have won six of nine races entered this summer. Setting records such as the one at Ludington of 1 hour 55 minutes and 47 seconds for a twenty mile course is common for the marathon champs. They have won the race at Ludington three times since the annual contest was started in 1957, winning in '57, '59 and '60.

July 1st the Widings competed in British Columbia at Prince George on Simon Fraser Day. Under the handicap of racing an unfamiliar canoe the Widings finished second. They hope to even the score over the Labor Day weekend when they will meet the first place winners of the Prince George Race.

The Labor Day race will begin at Grayling at 8:30 p.m. and end approximately at 10:00 p.m. Sunday afternoon in Okeana. A field of 15 will compete in the 15 hour marathon.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., (AP)—Ralph Manning, 41, of Ashland, Ky., died Wednesday of injuries suffered Sunday in Louisville's Marine Derby Regatta. Manning received head and chest injuries when his boat collided with another craft.

BARGAIN SAIL — Like shoppers in a cut-rate department store basement, sailboats jam together battling for position off Kiel, West Germany. They're in an international regatta.

Boaters Can Sail by the Book

Best bargain to come along this season for the boatman has just a boat.

It describes basic equipment — lights, life preservers, fire extinguisher — which you must legally carry aboard. There is a checklist of the equipment you'd better have along.

No boat, for instance, should go out without an anchor and enough line to keep it from blowing up on the rocks if the motor or rigging should fail.

No boat should leave shore without some kind of bilge pump or scoop. Neither anchor nor

These Are Top Skiers

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Results of the National Water Ski Tournament held at the Lake of the Isles last weekend saw a "first" in the 38 years since its beginning. Chuck Stearns of Bellflower, California became the national men's water ski champion — taking firsts in all four Men's Events, jumping, overall, slalom and tricks.

The women's title went to Norine Bardill, a blond 17-year old from Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Ni Orsi Jr. a Stockton, Calif., 15-year-old won the boy's championship and Janelle Kirtley, 16, of Birmingham, Ala., took the girls' overall honors.

RESULTS OF THE TOURNAMENT ARE AS FOLLOWS:
MEN'S OVERALL — Chuck Stearns, Jim Jackson, Mike Osborn.
MEN'S JUMPING — Chuck Stearns, Mike Osborn, John Rosch.
MEN'S SLALOM — Chuck Stearns, Joe Cash, Buster McCalla.
MEN'S TRICKS — Chuck Stearns, Geoffrey Wolfe, Fred Pendlebury.

WOMEN'S OVERALL — Norine Bardill, Judy Rosch, Vicki Vance.
WOMEN'S JUMPING — Judy Rosch, Gwen Huston, Norine Bardill.
WOMEN'S SLALOM — Norine Bardill, Judy Rosch, Ann Dunning.
WOMEN'S TRICKS — Norine Bardill, Vicki Vance, Barbara Pendleton.

SENIOR MEN'S OVERALL — William Morris Sr., Henry Holmes, Wally Pallack.
SENIOR MEN'S JUMPING —

DETROIT (AP) — Bruce Goldsmith, former University of Michigan collegiate sailing star, held a 1½ point lead as he went into today's fourth heat of the National Thistle Class Sailing Championships on Lake St. Clair.

The former Detroit who now sails from Racine, Wis., collected a total of 189 ¼ points to go out ahead of second place Howard Boston of Mount Clemens, Mich., whose son, Skip, 22, won the third heat yesterday.

Ed Walsh of Delanco, N.J., the winner of yesterday's morning's second heat, remained in third place far behind the two leaders.

Dr. Douglas Wake of Detroit was second in the third race yesterday and Charles Wiley of Annapolis, Md., was third. Herb Maimwaring of Detroit took second in the second race in the morning.

Goldsmith won Tuesday's opening race and was third in the morning event yesterday.

First Blue Marlin
NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Virginia's first blue marlin, a 10-pounder weighing over 250 pounds, was caught by Al Noyes, of Portsmouth, some 35 miles off Virginia Beach. They have been catching the big bill fish off North Carolina's coast to the south for some time. Virginians, trying to get them at home, have sighted several but Noyes was the first to score.

A safety section gives checklists for getting underway, loading, water ski and storm warning signals are given. Emergency procedures for man overboard, fire, distress signaling, radio calls for help and the new mouth-to-mouth resuscitation are described.

CARMI, Ill. — The toughest race in pleasure boating, the 100th mile Mississippi River marathon for outboards, will again be run from St. Louis to New Orleans this year. It was announced by Byron Pool, president of the Mid-America Racing Association, sponsors of the event.

The fifth annual running will again span the three-day Labor Day weekend, beginning Saturday, September 3.

Prize money of more than $2,100 has been posted. First prize will be $1,000, second $500, third $300, fourth $200, and fifth $100.

About 50 boats are expected to participate in the grueling race, which is restricted to production model outboard boats and motors. Record for the race was set last year by Roy Fulton and Carlton Johnson, both of Greenville, Miss., driving a Magnolia Catamaran powered by two 70-H.P. Mercury outboards. They averaged 47.23 mph to cover the distance in 22 hours and 37 minutes.

Fewer than 50 boats have completed the full distance in competition since the first major race on the river in 1878. Last year's finishing field of 38 boats was the largest in the history of all Mississippi River competition.

Covering the course in three day-long legs, the race will begin at 6 a.m. Sat., September 3rd in St. Louis and run to Memphis, Tenn., the first day. Intermediate checkpoints will be Cairo, Ill. and Caruthersville, Mo.

Claims Army Sent Girl Into Mine Without Permission

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The U.S. attorney's office has been ordered to investigate the case of a former Army private who said he was sent to work in a Michigan copper mine without Army pay. U.S. Dist. Judge Robert E. Tehan ordered the investigation Wednesday after a suit was brought by the Army in his court to recover $5,253 in allotments and interest paid to the family of John J. De Francisco, 42, who now is a construction worker here.

Judge Tehan, in confining the case, said that he was aware that some nations sent men to work in the mines for no pay, but that he did not think the United States was one of them.

The Army claims in the suit that the money was erroneously paid to De Francisco's wife while he worked in the mines from November 1942 to June 1945 and for three years after he was discharged.

Mrs. De Francisco was sent $30 monthly allotment checks while her husband worked in the mine for $4.00 a day but he received no Army pay.

DRAFTED IN MARQUETTE
De Francisco said he was drafted from Marquette, Mich., on Aug. 7, 1942. After three months basic training he was sent to Houghton, Mich., with orders to report to a copper mine.

He was issued a card by the Army stating that he was assigned to work in the United States Army, and ordered to keep his uniform in shape and be ready to report on 24 hours notice.

De Francisco said that after he was discharged from the Army he tried to get back pay from the Army but never got it. His wife continued to draw allotment checks, he said, until the Veterans Administration kept them uncashed. He turned over 27 such checks to the court.

The Army claims that De Francisco was placed on the ready reserve while he was a mine worker.

West Europe Papers Admire His Courage

LONDON (AP)—The courtroom conduct of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers on the first grueling day of his Moscow trial won him the sympathy and even admiration of many of West Europe's newspapers. They pictured the young American flier as a luckless casualty in the cold war. Many West European observers also felt the early pattern of the espionage trial confirmed their opinion that the whole thing was a well-staged propaganda show, with U.S. policy rather than Powers as the target of the Soviet prosecutors.

Journalists See No Brainwash

But Say Testimony of Pilot Helps Russians to Indict United States

MOSCOW (UPI)—Western correspondents covering the trial of Francis Gary Powers agreed today that he had given no sign so far of having been brainwashed.

However, several pointed out that although his testimony probably is following the best course to save his life under the Soviet legal system it also happens to fit in with the Russian policy of indicting the United States government and regarding Powers as a dupe.

Most newspapers, including many with their own correspondents attending the trial, were convinced there had been no attempt to brainwash Powers.

Britain's Daily Telegraph said Powers has the unprecedented position of a secret agent who had been acknowledged by his principals.

"Given this fact, and assuming he was right in assisting the court at all, the American pilot was magnificent," the Conservative newspaper said.

OVERWHELMING PITV
The Daily Express correspondent wrote: "Out of it all it left overwhelming pity for the Powers family. One gets the impression of simple people caught up in the vortex of a quarrel between the two greatest powers on earth."

All over Western Europe reports of the trial were carried under banners in big type stretching over several columns.

"Powers confessed quietly and with dignity," said the headline of a Copenhagen newspaper.

Another Danish paper described the trial as "a big Soviet propaganda show with a man, captured in the leading role."

Time-Payment Plan Popular in U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Who buys on time? Nearly half the families in the United States.

What do they buy on installment plans? Automobiles, furniture, household appliances and other goods and services.

Consumer installment credit also makes loans available for repair and modernization of homes, and includes personal loans for family and individual needs. It does not include single-payment loans or charge accounts.

Although installment credit dates back several thousand years, modern consumer bank installment credit is only celebrating its 50th anniversary this year.

In 1910, Arthur J. Morris opened his first bank, Fidelity Savings and Trust Co., for the purpose of providing character-credit, followed by rapid expansion in regular installments at a reasonable rate of interest.

Today most of the country's banks, as well as other financial institutions and retail establishments, provide consumer installment credit. Many of the largest companies, as well as small businesses, depend, to a large extent, on installment credit.

As Mr. North, Denning was gentle and humorously bumbling. As Shayne, he'll be tough and brawling.

A recent visitor in Alfred Hitchcock's office, reports overbearing the following description by the master director: "He's a nervous little man—wears brown shoes, you know."

Bob Hope apparently is feeling more like his old energetic self. After finishing a new movie with Lucille Ball, he took off on a flight trip to British Columbia but cut it short to come back to Hollywood and take off on a series of one-night stands which will get him home in a couple of weeks.

Since Andy Williams, who says he'll never be another summer replacement, has been signed for TV's top guest spot: Perry Como, Dinah Shore and Bob Hope.

Beauty Contest Sees Measures of 86-57-88

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Wally Briscoe, chairman of the Miss Pine Bluff Beauty Pageant, did a double take when he saw the reply of 21-year-old Gudrun Pastenbecker to a form query for her dimensions. Miss Pastenbecker, a German girl who entered the contest, replied she measured 86-57-88. Briscoe finally discovered she was measuring in centimeters. In inches that works out to 34-23-35.

What Goes Up Doesn't Always Come Down

LORTON, Va. (AP)—Bruce Fincham, a Boy Scout counselor, climbed a 30-foot tree to knock loose a broken limb. It looked as if it would be tough getting back to the ground. Fellow counselors called the Lorton Rescue Squad. Two engines and a dozen firemen responded. They lowered Fincham in a rope sling.

State Farmers Look for Fall

Plowing for Grains, Combining Oats Are Major Activities

LANSING (AP)—Michigan farmers already are looking toward fall. Plowing for grains to be planted in the fall, mostly in fields already harvested of winter wheat, was a major activity last week, the Federal State Crop Reporting Service said.

Combining oats, taking in hay and harvesting vegetables were the other big farm activities.

Oat combining was nearly half completed. The harvest was nearly completed in southern counties but was just getting a start in the north.

Some summer wheat fields still were being harvested in southern counties. Most of the wheat was ripe in northern counties but too high in moisture for combining.

Row crops made good progress but were behind normal because of late planting. Corn was about 80 per cent tasseled compared to recent years when all corn was tasseled before mid-August.

Dry bean prospects were good but the crop was late. Sugar beets were making good growth although the crop was not expected to match last year. The late potato harvest was promising despite some blight. Soybeans were in good condition in most areas.

The tart cherry harvest was nearly completed. The pick of early apples and peaches was past the midway point in the southwest. Prospects for late tree fruits were generally below last year but well above average because of the cool weather.

The blueberry harvest was in full swing and commanding good prices.

Christian Schools Aid Indian Jew; to Become Rabbi

CINCINNATI (AP) — He was born an Indian, went to a Roman Catholic parochial school in Bombay for three years, then to a Protestant school and now is studying to be a reform Jewish rabbi.

That's the background of Saul Joel, 18-year-old student at Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion here.

He's the first Indian in the 85-year college history, but Joel says his family religious roots have been fixed in Judaism for 250 years.

He says, "The Christian schools were a very good experience. I had many an interesting discussion on religion with the priests and missionaries who were my

Directory Includes Cat as Member of Family

EAU GALLIE, Fla. (AP) — The new Melbourne-Eau Gallie city directory carries a listing which reads: Gibson McVicker, 138 Banyan Drive, explorer.

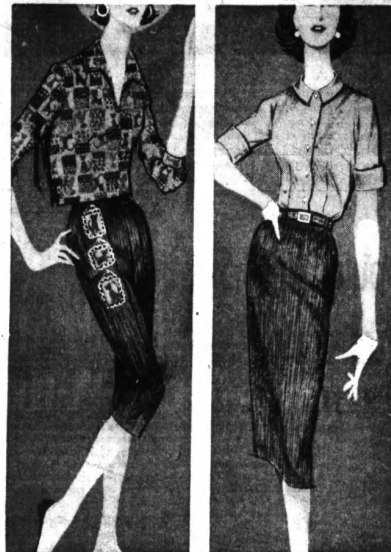

Gibson McVicker's exploring, however, is confined to neighboring backyards. Gibson McVicker is a cat.

Mr. and Mrs. James McVicker, her owner, consider Gibson a member of the family and gave her name and "occupation" to the directory enumerator.

West Europe Papers Admire His Courage

LONDON (AP)—The courtroom conduct of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers on the first, grueling day of his Moscow trial won him the sympathy and even admiration of many of West Europe's newspapers. They pictured the young American flier as a luckless casualty in the cold war. Many West European observers also felt the early pattern of the espionage trial confirmed their

Journalists See No Brainwash

But Say Testimony of Pilot Helps Russians to Indict United States

MOSCOW (UPI)—Western correspondents covering the trial of Francis Gary Powers agreed today that he had given no sign so far of having been brainwashed.

However, several pointed out that although his testimony probably is following the best course to save his life under the Soviet legal system it also happens to fit in with the Russian policy of indicting the United States government and regarding Powers as a dupe.

"I don't think there's any brainwashing," said Alberto Ronchey, of the newspaper L'Espresso, Milan, Italy. "I think he's just afraid—but fear is another sort of brainwashing."

John Moosman of the London Daily Herald said he thought Wednesday's session "shows not the slightest sign of brainwashing."

Heinz Lathé of Rumanian Radio, Bucharest, Germany, agreed. He added, "The surest sign of how he wants to conduct his defense."

Two American newspapermen who asked that their names be withheld said they could see no signs of brainwashing either.

"But he's answering some questions in a way that is helping the Soviet cause, such as being hit at 80,000 feet, saying he's sorry he was part of the flight, thus condemning American policy," added one.

The other added, "He's confronted with irrefutable proofs that was done and having nothing to do but admit he did it."

opinion that the whole thing was a well-staged propaganda show, with U.S. policy rather than Powers as the target of the Soviet prosecutors.

Most newspapers, including many with their own correspondents attending the trial, were convinced there had been no attempt to brainwash Powers.

Britain's Daily Telegraph said Powers has the unprecedented position of a secret agent who had been acknowledged by his principals.

"Given this fact, and assuming he was right in assisting the court at all, the American pilot was magnificent," the Conservative newspaper said.

The London Daily Mail reported that "In his straightforward, almost simple way, Powers fought back at the prosecutor on some points."

OVERWHELMING FIT

The Daily Express correspondent wrote: "Out of it all I felt overwhelming pity for the Powers family. One gets the impression of a quarrel between the two greatest powers on earth."

All over Western Europe reports of the trial were carried under banners in big type stretching over several columns.

"Powers confessed quietly and with dignity," said the headline of a Copenhagen newspaper.

Another Danish paper described the trial as "a big Soviet propaganda show with a small surreptitious in the leading role."

County GOP Hears Bentley Charge

Says Dems Buying Votes

GIVES A WARNING — Rep. Alvin M. Bentley, GOP nominee for U. S. senator, warns Oakland County Republicans that Democrats in Congress plan "a spending spree" to win votes this fall.

ON THE STAND — Francis Gary Powers testifies today, the second day of his spy flight trial in Moscow. He said he hadn't thought his U2 plane might provoke a military conflict.

Claims Army Sent Him Into Mine Without GI Pay

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The U.S. attorney's office has been ordered to investigate the case of a former Army private who said he was sent to work in a Michigan copper mine without Army pay. U.S. Dist. Judge Robert E. Tehan ordered the investigation Wednesday.

After a suit was brought by the Army in his court to recover $5,253 in allotments and interest paid to the family of John J. De Francisco, 42, who now is a construction worker here.

Judge Tehan, in continuing the case, said that he was aware that some nations sent men to work in the mines for no pay, but that he did not think the United States was one of them.

The Army claims in the suit that the money was erroneously paid De Francisco's wife while he worked in the mines from November 1955 to June 1956 and for three years after he was discharged.

Mrs. De Francisco was sent $80 monthly allotment checks while her husband worked in the mine for $4.00 a day but he received no Army pay.

DRAFTED IN MARQUETTE — De Francisco said he was drafted from Marquette, Mich., on Aug. 7, 1942. After three months basic training he was sent to Houghton, Mich., with orders to report to a copper mine.

He was issued a card by the Army stating that he was "en furlough from the United States Army," and ordered to keep his uniform in shape and be ready to report to a copper mine.

De Francisco said that after he was discharged from the Army he tried to get back pay from the Army but never got it. His wife continued to draw allotment checks, he said, and on advice of the Veterans Administration kept them uncashed. He turned over 37 such checks to the court.

The Army claims that De Francisco was placed on the ready reserve while he was a mine worker.

Reports Sorrow That U2 Incident Ruined Summit

Pilot, Asking Leading Questions, Tells Panel He Hurt America

MOSCOW (AP)—Francis Gary Powers told his Soviet judges today he did not think of the possibility that his U2 flight over the Soviet Union might torpedo the summit conference or provoke a military conflict.

"Did it not occur to you that by violating the Soviet frontiers you might torpedo the summit conference?" the chairman of the three-judge panel, Lt. Gen. Victor Borisoglebsky, asked the 31-year-old flier early in the second day of his espionage trial.

"When I got my instructions, I did not know what day it was nor when the summit conference was meeting," Powers replied.

"Did you not think your flight might provoke a military conflict?" the judge continued.

"The people who sent me should think of these things," the pilot replied.

Powers, who pleaded guilty to the espionage charge at the start of his trial Wednesday and said he was "sincerely sorry" for any increase in world tension caused by his flight, completed his testimony after an hour and 20 minutes on the stand today. He testified for 5 1/2 hours Wednesday.

LOOKS TIRED

The handsome young American looked somewhat tired as he took his place again in the prisoner's box on the stage of the brilliantly lit hall of columns in the Soviet Trade Union Building. He wore the same blue suit and light blue tie he had on Wednesday.

His wife Barbara and his father Oliver W. Powers of Penna. were seated in the front row of the gallery. He looked tired and the testimony intensely from their box in the rear of the hall. But the flier's mother Ida Ford Powers stayed in her husband's room, telling someone, "My presence might disturb my son." Mrs. Powers, who suffered from heart trouble, added that she felt fine.

Congo Soldiers Grab Canadians

Captain Is Knocked Out, 4 Others Attacked at African Airport

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congolese soldiers knocked a Canadian captain unconscious and attacked four other Canadian soldiers today at Leopoldville airport. The Canadians were part of a signal detachment en route to Lubumbashi in a United Nations plane.

Capt. J. C. A. Pascherrean, in charge of the group, was knocked unconscious by a rifle bolt fired by a member of the Force Publique, or Congolese army. The Congolese then forced some Canadians to lie on the ground and made one strip in his shorts.

Identification cards, weapons and other belongings were taken. Capt. Mike Jackson, Canadian army public relations officer, said in relating the incident.

He said it occurred as about 13 Canadians were preparing to take off. They had boarded the plane and its engines were running when about 30 Congolese soldiers blocked the plane. Some boarded the plane.

In County Convention Spotlight

TALK POLITICS — Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, chats with Mrs. Harriett Phillips, whose liberal-labor faction has taken over control of the Democratic Party in Oakland County. Bartlett was keynote speaker at last night's county convention in the Board of Supervisors chambers.

Convening Dems Silent on Con-Con

By MAX E. SIMON

The controversial constitutional convention got the silent treatment at the Oakland County Democratic convention in Pontiac Wednesday night.

Despite earlier possibilities of a floor fight on the matter, when the Resolutions Committee offered a batch of proposals, there was no mention of con-con.

Silence on the con-con question apparently was an attempt to maintain harmony within party ranks.

The issue had provoked debate in the spring when county delegates went on record with a declaration of "untenable opposition" to con-con.

SCHOLLE STAYS AWAY

A tipoff on things to come was provided early in the evening when August (Gus) Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO and leader of the anti-con-con forces in the state with Swanson, failed to appear.

Scholle, a Royal Oak precinct delegate, was "at work elsewhere," explained Mrs. Harriett Phillips, Huntington Woods housewife who heads the Democratic for Victory liberal-labor faction.

There was no doubt Wednesday night that the transfer of party power in the county had been complete.

Proposals of the Resolutions Committee had the unanimous approval of committee members.

The evening marked the debut of James M. Glim, 32-year-old Franklin attorney, as new county chairman.

It was a successful one, as Democrats talked "unity for November" and avoided debate over any issues which might create differences.

Glim, who had been selected last Friday by the party's 13 county nominees as their choice for chairman, was acclaimed the unanimous choice of delegates by voice vote.

"So were all other officers on the slate offered by Mrs. Phillips' group."

Glim has replaced Carlos C. Richardson, 62, who served as chairman since 1955.

Democratic State Convention to be held Aug. 27 in Grand Rapids.

One-hundred and twenty-two other delegates and 115 alternates were named to the state meeting.

They adopted a resolution expressing their "appreciation" to Richardson and other retiring county party officers for their efforts, awarding them a standing ovation.

They also approved a resolution calling Gov. Williams "one of the greatest statesmen of our time."

Delegates also expressed support of John B. Swanson, Democratic candidate for governor.

They promised to support his request to renominate all members of the State Administrative Board at the state convention.

Although he's running for a non-partisan office, delegates endorsed Waterford Township Justice of the Peace.

Bartlett Warns Nation May Be Near Recession

Oakland County Democrats were told Wednesday night that the nation may be on the brink of a recession.

The statement was made by Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, who keyed the party's county convention.

Bartlett, slamming the GOP for what he called a "sorry record" on economic growth, accused Vice President Richard Nixon of "doing his best to play down the issue, to disguise it with a meering reference to 'growthmanship.'"

Under the Eisenhower-Nixon administration, he charged, the nation has already gone through two economic recessions. "After that," he said, "unemployment has leveled off at a higher rate than before."

Not since the Hoover depression has the rate of the nation's economic growth been slower than the past "seven sluggish years," he asserted.

Bartlett stated that since 1952 the number of unemployed has jumped by more than 2,000,000 and the number living in desperate poverty by nearly 1,000,000.

"There is considerable evidence that we may be on the brink of still a third national Eisenhower-Nixon recession," he said.

"The Republicans are hoping desperately that this will not take place until after Nov. 8 — too late to give the lie to their 'Polynesian' campaign theme that everything is wonderful."

Some Rain To Dampen Friday Heat

Chances are that scattered showers will dampen the Pontiac area sometime Friday with temperatures continuing warm, the weatherman says.

Tonight will stay warm, the low about 68. Tomorrow's high is expected to reach near 88 degrees. Clearing and somewhat cooler is outlook for Saturday.

Scattering southerly winds at five miles an hour will become south to southwest tonight and Friday at 10-15 miles.

Jack Wins Wage Bill Fights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rejecting two major cuts in coverage, the Senate set out today to decide how many new workers should be brought under the minimum wage bill.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democratic presidential nominee, remained intact after a week of debate and two days of voting. It would raise the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour in three steps, and extend the coverage to almost five million additional workers, mostly in retail stores, hotels and restaurants.

But numerous other amendments remained to be voted on under a debate limitation agreement which could bring final action by tonight.

The Senate rejected Wednesday an amendment by Sen. Spessard H. Hefland, (D-Fla.) which would have exempted all retail establishments and added only about 200,000 workers to the wage-hour law's coverage. The vote was 56-39.

ALSO DEFEATED

When a similar 34-35 vote defeated a Republican substitute measure offered by Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, it would have increased the minimum wage to $1.15 an hour, and extended limited coverage to between 1,800,000 and two million new workers.

Michigan's Democratic Sen. Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara voted with the majority to defeat the two challenges.

Some of today's votes were likely to be "chess" than the initial roll calls. Backers of the Kennedy measure were not certain they could defeat one amendment advanced by Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, (D-Okla.) which would make a relatively mild cut in the bill's coverage provisions.

Negotiations on the Democratic side still were under way when the Senate quit Wednesday night. It was possible a compromise on the new coverage would be worked out.

The Monroney proposal would reduce the coverage to about 3,800,000 with all of the cut in the retail and service fields.

Interpreter Errs, Calls Powers Comrade in Court

MOSCOW (AP)—A photographer's flashlight exploded today while Francis Gary Powers was testifying during his espionage trial in Moscow's Hall of Columns.

The U.S. pilot, jumped as he stood in the prisoner's dock and then said jokingly: "Is it a shot?"

At another point during the morning session, one of the interpreters failed to the pilot and said: "Comrade Powers."

He quickly caught himself and said: "Excuse me, I mean defendant Powers."

Stormy Section Settles Over Prairie States

By The Associated Press

Stormy weather hit sections of Kansas and Missouri, at a rain belt from northern Minnesota to Texas today but generally fair and mild weather prevailed in most other parts of the country.

A half-foot of rain drenched areas 25 miles west of Topeka, Kan., while five-inches doused St. Joseph, Mo. Gusty winds topped the tower of the University of Kansas' FM radio station KANU, halting operations. Strong winds disrupted electrical service in Kansas City.

Temperatures early this morning ranged from the 90s in the Southwest desert region to near freezing in the Rockies. It was 97 in Glia Bend, Ariz., and 36 in Fraser, Colo.

Dems Silent on Con-Con

Peace Donald E. Adams for the county's new pro-life legislation.

They did so only after a Royal Oak precinct delegate, John E. Parr, had his way.

"Whaddya mean we nominate him," Parr shouted. "Is he one of us or isn't he? We're not gonna have any hedgehopping here!"

At one time the department put out a weekly pollen count. This was an index of how much rage and anger there could be expected. The pollen counts were the anger and suffering that goes with hay fever.

The count remained constant over the years, however, so it was discontinued.

"The hayfever people would look at the count and automatically start sneezing if it was too high," said a health department expert. "Part of it was mental."

Also, the expert said, the count made Southern Michigan consistently look bad. Local boosters didn't like it, he said.

As a general rule, the department advised, you have to go north in Michigan to get out of the hayfever belt. Once you drive past the Ludington-Bay City line, the pollen count drops.

South Korea to Vote on John M. Chang

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Former Vice President John M. Chang was nominated today to be premier of South Korea's second legislature. The House of Representatives voted for Friday.

President Yun Posun put up Chang less than 24 hours after the House had turned down the president's ally and first choice, Kim Do-yun of the Democratic party's old guard.

The president's action touched off new casting, with the dominant Democratic party, nominally headed by Chang but divided since the July 29 elections into warring old and new factions.

Blind Folk Have Fun at All-Day Lake Picnic

Although they couldn't see what about the swishing of the leaves they were eating, 20 Oakland County residents had the time of their lives at a picnic at Elizabeth Lake yesterday.

The group — all members of the League for the Blind — had their fourth and last summer outing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Ford, 463 Morningstar Dr., amid gales and good fellowship.

In the Ford's backyard, a young man who is almost blind, and a deaf mute, was shooting a basketball through a net on the garage. His reflexes and timing were near perfect and his happy attitude was inspiring.

From 10 a.m. when Pontiac and Waterford Township Lions Club members transported the members to the Ford home, until late afternoon, there was music, good conversation, comradeship and laughter for those who live in the world of darkness.

One gentleman remarked, "We don't see the landscape — we just feel it and the scenery here is just wonderful." He remarked his fellowmen.

He arrived in Moscow late Wednesday night and was in the courtroom today. She sat next to the pilot's wife.

As Borisoglebsky's questioning continued, Powers again said he very much regretted making his ill-fated flight on May 1, and admitted he was aware he was intruding the frontiers of the Soviet Union.

"Why did you do it?" the general asked.

"I was ordered to," the pilot replied.

"Did you do your country a good service or an ill service?" the judge continued.

"I would say a very ill service," Powers replied.

Prosecutor Roman Rudenko's first questions of the day were aimed at understanding the Pakistan government's denial of any knowledge of Powers' flight, which originated from an air base at Peshawar, Pakistan.

To a series of questions, Powers agreed that Pakistani authorities must have known that his U2 plane was to operate from Peshawar, although he denied personal knowledge that such authority had been given.

"Did Pakistan give you authority to fly over the Soviet Union?" Rudenko asked.

"They didn't give it to me personally," Powers replied.

The prosecutor also returned to the Soviet contention that Powers was prepared to fly to his destination, Bombay, Norway, over neutral countries such as Sweden and Finland if his fuel ran low, a point the Soviets have been making to heighten the feeling of anti-American feeling in those countries.

Rudenko asked about the route Powers took in a flight in 1958 from a Turkish air base to Bodrum, Turkey, and then to Greece, Italy, he said, and after a long pause added, "either France, Austria or Switzerland — I don't remember."

The Day in Birmingham

Hearing Friday on Area Swimming Pool Order

BIRMINGHAM — A hearing on a temporary injunction restraining the Beverly Hills Athletic Club from continuing its plans for a swimming pool will be held Friday in Circuit Court.

The injunction was granted in May by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem. The hearing was first scheduled for July 28 but due to a crowded docket, was postponed until tomorrow.

Ziem granted the temporary injunction after residents in the area of the proposed pool objected to the construction and brought suit.

The proposed pool is planned to be built on a four-acre site near Southfield and Beverly roads.

The last square dance of the summer season will be held 8:30 p.m. Friday at Elton Park, the Birmingham Recreation Department announced.

Music and summer swimming programs are now closed for the season. The fall swimming season will resume the last week in September, the department stated.

The department's schedule of activities for the fall recreation term will be distributed throughout the school system when it opens.

Herman J. Dravich has been named chairman of the Beverly Hills Planning Board. He was formerly vice chairman.

John Sacrest turned down a second term as head of the board, stating that the position should be on a rotating basis.

have killed off Democratic proposals to strengthen Michigan's economy."

"While they were shedding crocodile tears over Michigan's economic climate, these Republican legislators were sabotaging Democratic efforts to improve it," Bartlett charged.

He labeled the GOP the "sewer Michigan" party, the Democrats the "build Michigan" party.

Without mentioning Republican gubernatorial candidate Paul D. Bagwell by name, Bartlett charged that during and since the 1958 campaign, Republicans have waged "a disgraceful attack" on the state's economic condition.

Bartlett predicted 1960 as the year that "Oakland County goes Democratic all the way."

However, he added, a Democratic victory in November will depend on finding and registering some 75,000 unregistered Democrats in the county, and on "carrying our story to the people."

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Miller, D.V.M.

Q. We love our cat but we're fond of birds too. Is there any way we can stop the cat from catching them? Patty Cooley, New Cumberland, Pa.

A. It is almost as natural for a cat to catch a bird as it is for a bird to fly. However, it is cruel to allow the housed, well-fed cat to stalk birds.

Even a house cat can develop a lust for killing when no effort is made to stop him. It is psychologically possible to train your cat to live in peace with a pet parakeet and even wild birds. I'll admit it takes a lot of patience, and training should begin in the kitten stage.

The cat's greatest assets in this unfair sport are his velvet paws. A small bell or two tied on your pet's collar will give the bird fair warning, and a chance to escape.

2 Girls Prefer German Ways

Exchange Students Like Plans for Group Dating Amid European Teens

ALLEGAN, Mich. (UPI) — A German exchange student has won support for her criticism of teen-age dating. American-style, from Michigan-girl who recently completed a year of study in Germany.

The two girls—Linda Malila of Allegan and Kirsten Tiedemann-Michaels of Hamburg, Germany—recently compared notes on boy-girl relationships in their native countries.

Eighteen-year-old Kirsten said European teen-agers do their dating in groups because they usually walk to social functions. No matter how wealthy their family, she indicated, no teen-ager of her acquaintance ever drove their parents' car, or had one of their own.

Kirsten, who is studying for a year at Allegan High School, said she was amazed to learn that nearly a third of the students at Michigan State University are married.

Linda, who attended Germany's Osnabrueck Teacher's College, said she preferred the German approach toward dating, rather than the American practice in which couples go on boy-girl dates.

According to Linda, "going steady" is unheard of among German high school or college students and practically no college students marry while in school.

Green in Grass Puts Greenbacks in Purse

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — The green in grass means greenbacks in the rancher's pockets, because it controls a valuable vitamin for livestock. The Texas A&M College Extension Service says loss of green from hay and fodder means a large per cent of carotene, which produces vitamin A, is lost. Vitamin A deficiency in cattle brings loss of vigor and swollen joints which could lead to death.

Ground Speedy Police

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — A Syracuse policeman was grounded after he pleaded guilty to driving his own car 55 miles an hour in a 25-mile-an-hour zone. Police Chief Harold F. Kelly ordered that the patrolman, Charles F. Kreis, be restricted to foot patrol and kept away from patrol cars.

Thief Believes the Ads

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A thief who swiped 10 paper-wrapped tires from in front of a store must have been keenly disappointed. The tires were worn out and had been wrapped only for advertising purposes.

Drug Firms Cut Prices 15 Pct.

4 Major Producers Indirect Pare Cost for Antibiotics Consumers

NEW YORK (U)—Four big drug makers have in effect cut their prices by 15 per cent for a major group of antibiotics.

The reductions apply to the tetracycline family of antibiotics, the most widely used of the antibiotics.

They are sold by prescription under such trade names as Terramycin and Aureomycin to treat infections such as bacterial pneumonia and "strep" throat.

The price cuts were made in the form of discounts by the drug firms on direct sales to retail pharmacists.

The companies, however, said they made no changes in suggested retail prices. They said it was up to individual pharmacists whether the discounts would be passed on to the consumer.

Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., started the discount move July 30 by giving retailers a 15 per cent discount.

Upjohn Co., the Lederle Laboratories Division of American Cyanamid Co. and the Squibb Division of Olin Mathieson, Chemical Corp. have met the Pfizer cut.

The companies denied the price shift had any connection with a Senate investigation of pricing practices in the drug industry.

New Agency to Decide Who Is to Hit With What

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new central agency will draw up a strategic war master plan stating which U.S. weapons will be used to hit specific targets behind the Iron Curtain if nuclear war should come.

Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. Wednesday named Gen. Thomas S. Power director of the planning agency to be located at Omaha in conjunction with the Strategic Air Command headquarters. Power will continue to serve as SAC commander and will have an admiral as a deputy for the new agency.

A staff of about 40 top specialists will develop a long-range target program that will be under constant review. The plan is expected to be ready by December for approval of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

In announcing the new agency, Gates emphasized that the current strategic target plan is a good one. But he noted it is based largely on SAC's manned bomber force capabilities.

Formation of the new agency is expected to quell a long-simmering argument between the Air Force and the Navy. Some Air Force quarters have been advocating a separate and over-all strategic command to control long-range weapons all the services. The Navy opposed this concept.

Gates said the new setup rejected such a concept. He said his decision would centralize planning but would decentralize the actual execution of the plans by the various service commanders.

NO POLICY CHANGE
The new plan does not represent any change in established national military policy or in relations with U.S. allies. Gates said. He added that when the new plan is worked out any part of it affecting allied preparations will be fully explained.

Gates said it had taken him and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the joint chiefs, exactly one year to reach the strategic target decision.

The secretary announced his decision Wednesday to the service chiefs and to senior military commanders summoned from their headquarters at home and overseas.

There was little argument within the military services about who would hit what with what as long as SAC possessed a near monopoly on big bombers and big nuclear bombs.

The disagreement blossomed when the Navy came up with its atomic powered submarines, each from which some strategic bombing missions would originate.

Other Air Force commands, in addition to SAC, will be part of the team to look like it would the plan.

Accused of Killing 11-Year-Old Girl

Convicted Rapist Jailed Sans Bail

BOONVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A convicted rapist accused of killing an 11-year-old girl, Howard Terry, was held under close guard Tuesday after an angry crowd of townspeople gathered outside the jail.

Ernest O. Haskfield, 53-year-old trinket maker, was ordered held without bail Wednesday on a preliminary charge of first-degree murder after the little girl's dismembered body was found.

Sheriff Robert E. Shelton and State Police Sgt. Wendell Opel said Haskfield orally admitted dumping Avril's dismembered body on the Ohio River bank and in the river, 25 miles southeast of Boonville.

WENT TO BUY CANDLES
The little girl disappeared Tuesday on a trip downtown to buy candles for a birthday cake for her 8-year-old sister, Candace. Haskfield was arrested Tuesday night and at first denied any knowledge of the case. His statement and discovery of the body came Wednesday. Sheriff Shelton said a crowd of about 200 persons gathered outside the Warrick County Jail Wednesday night.

"They want a quick trial, and they had a tree picked out across the street they wanted to use," Shelton said. He said that he saw no ropes but that several tomatoes were thrown at his deputies, two of them scoring hits. Shelton said Haskfield paced his cell nervously but said nothing. "We had a worse case when way and M15.

Hay Fever May Lead to Asthma If Not Treated

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—An allergist at the University of Michigan Medical Center has warned that asthma can develop in about one-third of the nation's hay fever sufferers unless specific treatment for that hay fever is received.

Dr. James A. McLean, associate professor of internal medicine, said allergy victims can avoid the drift toward asthma by acting against the source of their discomfort.

Drugs, medicines and trips to hampolite infested areas relieve the symptoms, but do not prevent the progression of the disorder, he said.

Dr. McLean recommended a series of shots to build up immunity to the allergy.

Regina Leonas Hankers for Boyfriend

CHICAGO (UPI) — Lithuanian-born Regina Leonas, reunited with her parents in Chicago last January after a 16-year separation, wants to return to the Soviet Union, but will probably stay here.

The attraction in the Soviet Union is 23-year-old Stanley Bakkaus, a music student. He's 20-year-old Regina's boyfriend.

Regina was seriously thinking of returning to Lithuania in the fall to be with him, but has now abandoned the idea. Her worried mother, Mrs. Paulus Leonas, stated.

"Perhaps she takes a boyfriend in this country," the mother said in halting English. She said her pretty, blonde daughter had gone out on several dates with American boys in the six months she has been here, but was still writing regularly to Bakkaus.

"One day she likes it here; another day she thinks only of Stanley and says she wants to go to him," Mrs. Leonas said.

Unpredictable as Regina is, her parents think they've finally talked her into staying in Chicago.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, himself, made it possible for Regina and her brother Tomas, 18, to leave Lithuania and return to their parents.

The family was separated in 1934 when the parents had to flee Lithuania before the invading Red army and leave their children with relatives.

Leonas, now a prosperous real estate dealer, made a personal appeal to Khrushchev last summer. He and his wife buttonholed the Soviet boss in the lobby of a Des Moines, Iowa, hotel during his tour of the United States, and poured out their story.

Khrushchev promised to return the Leonas children and they came to this country Jan. 28.

Since then, Regina, a librarian in Lithuania, has been working in a Chicago factory and her brother has been attending St. Rita High School.

"Already, he talks more English than Regina," Mrs. Leonas said. She admitted that Tomas was happier than Regina in the United States, but said she thought Regina would like it here if her boyfriend could join her.

"Certainly, we will help Stanley if he tries to come here," Mrs. Leonas said. "More than anything else, we want Regina to be happy."

Lockout Was Complete

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI)—The day his wife and children left for a vacation recently, a local newspaper suddenly discovered that his house key was locked in the office and his office key was locked in the house. Spare keys for both locks were on the key ring in his wife's handbag.

ENJOYS HIS WORK — Wrecking contractor Aldo S. Allen, right, believes in having fun on the job. So, when he signed a contract to level a 12-block site in Oakland, Calif., he bought a World War II Sherman tank and had a ball ramming through houses and

Europe Less Jittery Than We Are

Broomfield Finds NATO Strong

Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland), recently returned from a tour of NATO bases in Europe, said Wednesday that he found less war jitters among overseas Allies than in the United States.

Broomfield made the statement in Washington today in his report on his two-week inspection trip of bases in France, Italy, Germany and Malta. He returned to Washington Friday.

"Before my trip I viewed NATO as strictly a military alliance, a marriage of convenience of military units shoved together out of necessity—lack of cohesion and purpose."

However, Broomfield said, he found "splendid cooperation and coordination" among the 14 nations providing military units to NATO. "They have a sense of purpose and a common goal—the protection of the vital nations of free Europe from the creeping paralysis of communism," he said.

Broomfield's tour included watching the firing of an Honest John rocket from a base 20 miles from the Czech border toward the Iron Curtain.

"The war of nerves, I learned, was not a one-way alley," Broomfield added.

Broomfield said NATO is more than a "shield" for the West. "The alliance is carrying on the battle against communism on the political, economic, scientific and educational fronts," he said.

ECONOMIES STRONG
He noted that "not a single inch of ground" has been lost to the West since NATO's birth.

On the economic front, he said, NATO has never been stronger. "It is hard to believe that a few years ago Europe was nothing but rubble and devastation," he said.

"The economy of NATO nations is booming, new industries are being created, there are so many new jobs there is a labor shortage," he said.

"The rise of living standards is one of Europe's best defenses against communism," he asserted. He noted that the Communist parties of Italy and France have "shriveled" in recent years.

On NATO's size, he pointed out that the alliance forces have grown from 12 to 50 divisions, since 1950. As against 400 planes then, he said, NATO now has an air force of 6,000 aircraft.

Military equipment is standard and interchangeable among NATO units, and all nations have atomic artillery and guided missiles, he reported.

Broomfield was a delegate to the NATO Parliamentary Conference, an annual meeting of legislators from the NATO nations at which delegates inspect bases and receive briefings on the state of the alliance.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The 200 member-restaurants of the Missouri Restaurant Assn. in Kansas City have been opened to Negroes.

C. M. Hayman Jr., president of the association chapter here, announced the new policy. He said it was effective immediately.

Last month Negro students staged sit-ins at four restaurant-cafeterias in the Kansas City independence area. They were refused service at only one.

Eisenhower Greets New African State

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, Wednesday welcomed "with deep satisfaction" the independence of the new African republic of Gabon.

Eisenhower said he was speaking for the United States in a message he dispatched to Gabon's president, Leon M'Ba, for Gabon's birth as an independent country today.

Gabon formerly was part of French Equatorial Africa.

American Motors Will Let Car Buyer Response Lead Change

BURLINGTON, Wis. (AP)—American Motors is going to try something new in domestic automotive marketing in the 1961 model year.

President George Romney, of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., says he will offer a series of cars with exterior styling which will remain unchanged for at least three years or cars which will follow the normal industry pattern of annual model changes.

"We will let the buyer response lead us in the years ahead," Romney told a national press preview audience Wednesday.

The 100-inch wheel base Rambler American has undergone complete restyling from the boxy shape which had gone virtually unchanged since first being marketed in 1959. Romney says you won't be able to see any further styling change in the car through 1962 and 1963.

On his two other series, the standard Rambler with the 108-inch wheel base and the even larger Rambler Ambassador, a usual change will be the rule although Romney insists these changes won't be drastic.

The American looks considerably different — new grill, new shape, new size and new model. It is smaller on the outside than the 1960 model but bigger on the inside. With tiny fins and clean lines it was designed to meet head-on any styling challenge of the other companies.

American Motors' first convertible has been added to the American line and the series will have the four-door station wagon for the first time.

For next year, Rambler will offer ceramic-coated mufflers on all of its cars with a warranty to last as long as the original owner drives the vehicle.

American Motors also has a new six-cylinder aluminum engine block but officials declined yesterday to discuss this development publicly.

The 1961 Ramblers go on sale in mid-October except for the new convertible. It will be along about in time for Christmas.

Maureen Wiggett, 19, the "Miss Legs" of 1959 in Pretoria, South Africa, has given up modeling to marry Peter Venier, 23, a bricklayer.

London and Paris autumn fashion collections currently are being shown, with pink and violet hues taking the spotlight. Above are two contributions from Great Britain: left, a suit in cyclamen pink tweed from the John Cavanagh collection. A Ronald Paterson pink wool coat is worn at right with a tall hat of pink leather.

Chanel offers her ever popular "little suit" in violet tweed in the picture at left. The slightly shorter jacket and longer hem are bound in deep purple braid with a saucy fringe. A purple chiffon hankie is tucked in the jacket's "Midway" breast pocket.

Looses Verbal Arrows at Distaff 'Ruler'

CAUGHENAWAGA, Que. (UPI)—Chief Ro-Ya-Nor Ras-Te-Wen Se-Ron-Thah Diome dug up his hatchet and smuffed out his peace pipe today in undeciphered war against Canada's white woman's government.

He said Canada's paleface administration in general, and distaff Immigration and Citizenship Minister Ellen Fairclough in particular, were illegally and unconstitutionally trying to make North American Indians Canadian citizens.

Chief Diome donned his war paint specifically because of the formal "speech from the throne" which ended Canada's 14th Parliament last week. The speech, written by the government, hailed Parliament action in giving Indians the right to vote, "without any sacrifice of their traditional rights."

Diome set the tone-toms beating from this reservation near Montreal west to the prairies and south into the United States with an anguished complaint that this was, in white man's language, "just plain falsehood." He said Indians still have to channel resolutions passed at their powwows through paleface "Indian agents" before they can be relayed to Canada's federal government, and must check with paleface doctors on their reservations before they can be admitted to paleface hospitals.

And this, he indicated, wasn't lacrosse—the game Indians played in North America long before the Russians said they invented baseball or capitalist white men learned that girls like milk coats. The British might have said it wasn't cricket.

"One must remember," Diome said in a statement typed on a white man's typewriter and duplicated on a paleface's photocopying machine, that Canada's "disgrace" of a Citizenship and Immigration Department "is accountable to nobody."

"I must quote from Tom Paine's Rights of Man," he said. "Because a body of men, holding themselves accountable to nobody, ought not to be trusted by anybody."

Furthermore, he said, "As an Iniquitous that knows our constitution, I see no reason why an Iniquitous should accept your federal franchise and forsake his nationality as a North American Indian and become a Canadian citizen."

"I maintain that you Canadian citizens have an outdated democracy. You believe in democracy through your representatives, while we chiefs must conform to our constitution and our people have the right to correct a chief and if necessary depose him on the spot if he insists on erring away from the constitution."

Golden Age Club Slates Fun Night

The Watford Township Golden Age Club will have a cooperative dinner at 6:30 Friday at the Community Center. Members and friends have been asked to "bring a dish to pass" and their own table service.

Following the dinner, an orchestra will play for dancing. Shuffleboard and card playing have also been scheduled for a night of fun for those past 60.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Joseph Paglia, Mrs. Eva Bechtel, Mrs. Anita Portwood and Mrs. Bertha Woodhead.

The Elmer R. Wilsons of Mary Day avenue announce the engagement of their daughter Janet Lee to Richard Harrison, son of the Floyd R. Harrisons of Oxford. No wedding date has been set.

It's Fur More Vital in Coats

NEW YORK (NEA)—Fur, far more than fabric, is the decisive factor in determining, this fall, if a coat is dressy or casual.

For big bold plaids and muted plaids have come out of the casual category to a great extent. Whenever they rate fur trim, they become elegant. This year plaids get something other than raccoon in the way of luxurious collars.

Designers have used such rich furs as mink and beaver in collars, wide and deep.

Women who are prone to think of "blanket" the moment they hear the word plaid will get a surprise this year. In bold, handsome, striking color combinations and in soft, misty, fleecy fabrics, plaids have taken on an entirely new aspect, a very pleasing one.

FLARE LINE TOPS

They look their very best when they're used in a line which flares from narrow shoulders to fullness at the hemline.

This displays the plaid at its best and also allows room for the use of big patch pockets, unusual cuff treatments or oversize buttons as part of the design.

The wide-back silhouette is probably the prettiest for plaid and is the one, therefore, that designers have used most often.

Sleeves are fashionably wider and shorter, some with deep armhole styling achieved with dropped shoulder seams.

Fur-lined coats have made a big fashion comeback this fall. The plaid coat with mink or muskrat lining is the final word in the kind of elegance that is very typically American.

But less costly furs have been used as linings in order to bring the price of the fur-lined fashion within reach of the average shopper's budget.

These budget furs include hamster, squirrel belly and rabbit, the latter, dyed to high fashion colors.

Tell Them to Come, Be Adult

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to give a buffet supper soon in honor of our 25th wedding anniversary. I would like to invite our entire list of friends and acquaintances to this party. However, two of the couples on my list are not on speaking terms. In fact they are bitter enemies.

I am very friendly with both couples and cannot choose one and not the other. Knowing their feelings toward each other, how can I best handle this situation without causing embarrassment to either of them and also prevent their animosity from spoiling my party?

Answer: Explain to the Browns when inviting them that you have to invite the Smiths to your party, but that even though you know how they feel toward each other, you hope they will come because at a large buffet they will not have to talk to the Smiths.

Make the same explanation to the Smiths and then if they cannot bear being under the same roof with the others, they will stay away.

Dear Mrs. Post: When is the correct time for a bride to put her veil down over her face before she enters the church for the ceremony?

I was married recently and put the veil down over my face before leaving the house. I have heard since that I should have waited until just before entering the church to do this. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

Answer: There is no reason why you should not have arranged the veil over your face at home, to be sure it looked just the way you wished it to.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a member of a club group that is planning a debutante ball. The tickets are five dollars each and the proceeds are to go to charity. The ball is to be held in one of the largest ballrooms in this city and is to be formal in every respect.

The expenses are quite high in connection with the ball. The budget committee has announced that, in order to give any sizable amount to our charitable cause, we must not only sell advertisements to be placed in a program, but also sell the programs as a source of revenue.

The sale of programs would be done very quietly in the foyer of the ballroom by some of our charming young girls (not the debutantes of course).

It is my contention that since we have erred in estimating our financial returns, we should find some other way to make up this deficit, and that no matter how beautifully or gracefully it is done, no money should be exchanged at the ball, and that the selling of programs would definitely be marring—even though it is for charity. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: At a charity ball, there would be no impropriety in selling the programs as you have described in the foyer of the ballroom.

Dear Mrs. Post: A business acquaintance of mine has just been made vice president of a large company. I would like very much to write him a note of congratulation. Will you please tell me how to word such a note?

Answer: Write something like the following: "Dear Mr. Jones, May I send you sincere congratulations upon your election as vice president of the X Co.—and wish you every success. Sincerely yours, John Brown."

And Men Admit It!

By FAYE HENLE

(NEA) "You know something," said a friend, "I'll bet if you went out and surveyed, you'd discover that men tell women things they'd never tell other men."

This made me wonder; could I unlock some secrets about men's feelings toward their wives' handling of money? And, if I did, could they be helpful to you?

I started questioning timidly, but needn't have. Every last man acted exactly as though he'd been waiting for a lifetime just for the opportunity of telling all. What I heard, I think can guide you.

It wouldn't be news if I reported that, to a man, they all declared they couldn't understand how the little ladies frittered their earnings so fast. It is news that I did not hear this once.

I queried a young public relations man who has five children. He proudly reported: "I don't understand how she can always have extra dollars left over." Kindly, he promised to find out.

"SHE'S PATIENT" "It all boils down to her tremendous patience," he explained a couple of days later. "She considers what we can afford and then she shops. She found the under-$20,000 house in an area where we were told no such house existed. She waited for eight months while I converted the attic into bedrooms and she helped. A builder's estimate for the job ran for four times what it cost us to do it ourselves.

"She shops stores just as carefully and, because she always has spare dollars, she can take advantage of special sales, buying two instead of one when the price is right."

By the time he finished, I thought I'd found the one exception in all of wifedom. But the second man I talked with was a bank clerk. His tale was even more unbelievable.

"It so happened," he said, "that I wanted to write a check for $67 on our account and then I noticed that this would have pulled the balance down to $21. But my wife told me to go right ahead, said there was much more money in the bank. Seems she had stashed away $600 in a second account without telling me. Trouble is, I've already gone through $300 of it."

I wanted to make sure I was finding out about those more advanced in years as well as the young ambitious wife. This is what I heard from a trade association executive:

"I've been taking my wife's stock market advice," he confessed. "I had always believed in studying economic trends and, then selecting industry groups each year that looked as though they'd be headed up."

"Then I would pick stocks in those groups—like leisure stocks now, or shoes and food company issues because of rising population. Some would move up, others would not; I'd then move into other groups. After carefully studying a company she gets hep on, she buys and then hangs on and on. Darned, if she doesn't do better than I."

Of course, the male ego spoke more often than not.

"She doesn't handle the money, I do," was an oft repeated answer. Yet, several times, as an afterthought I learned, "but she can make a buck stretch three times, five times, farther than I can."

The mystery appears to be how the money gets stretched so far, not how it's spent. And, evidently, the ladies aren't telling—at least, they're not telling all!

Note: This is by no means an accurate sampling of the total population!

Abby Says: Take Him to Court

Dog Owner Just Laughed

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Can you let me know how many people have been killed or crippled by dogs and how many have been saved by them? I was a salesman, and as far as I am concerned the only good dogs are dead ones. "Man's best friend" scratched up $1,000 worth of plants for me in three days. The owner just laughed.

DEAR ELAINE: The owner could have laughed himself all the way to court. Why didn't you see a lawyer?

DEAR ABBY: I have seen dog owners stand and hold the leash while their dogs mess up the lawns of their neighbors. Do I blame the dog? I do not. I blame the owner.

DEAR ABBY: Not all nickels without mint marks are counterfeit. All nickels minted in Philadelphia with the exception of the years 1943 through 1945 bear no mint mark. The others are marked "D" for Denver and "S" for San Francisco.

E. R. (Old coin collector) DEAR E. R.: You are indeed correct and I was in error. My source was counterfeited.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to "STRAIGHT UP AND DOWN" got me sore. How can you advise women to pad themselves up deliberately to deceive men about their figures? Any man who would forgive a woman for cheating that way must be nuts.

DEAR HOWARD: Not all women are naturally round.

firm and fully packed. And a man who would turn down a girl just because she wasn't "all there" isn't all there himself.

American Legion Post to Install New Officers

ALFRED GULDA
MRS. JAMES VAN SCOYCE
A joint installation of officers for 1960-61 will be performed at 7:30 p.m. Saturday by Chief Pontiac American Legion Post 377 and its auxiliary at the post house.

Alfred Gulda will be installed as post commander and Mrs. James Van Scoyce as auxiliary president.

Others to be installed are L. D. McLaughlin, senior vice commander of the post; Bill Tunmyring, post adjutant; Mrs. Howard Bliss, first vice president of the auxiliary; and Mrs. Ernest Walker, second vice president.

During the 19 years that he has been active in the legion, Gulda held the post of senior vice commander for two years and previously was adjutant.

The 40-year-old father of four lives at 4550 Elizabeth Lake Rd. and is employed as a maintenance man by Buick Warehouse in Drayton Plains.

Mrs. Van Scoyce, an auxiliary member since 1942, served as first vice president last year. She also was membership chairman and rehabilitation officer.

The mother of three children, she lives at 3139 Pontiac Lake Rd. and is employed by Pontiac as a collection specialist.

The installation ceremony will be followed by a dance for members and their friends.

Repeat would be a massive victory for "labor leaders of the stripe we have today," Byrd said.

"Power breeds power, and labor leaders are insatiable in their demands for special privileges and special legislation for immunity."

To Fight Repeal of Right to Work

Sen. Byrd Criticizes Dem Plank; Mum on Support of Ticket

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) saved himself today by dodging any attempt to reveal whether he supports the Democratic platform provision for repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

Although he sharply criticized that platform plank, Byrd did not say whether he would support the national Democratic ticket or withhold his backing as he did in 1952 and 1956. President Eisenhower carried Virginia in both those election years.
