Hundreds Feared Dead in Alaska Earthquake

State Expected to Speed New Congress Districts

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan's legislature—under prodding by a federal court—is expected today to move swiftly to carve out 19 new Congressional districts as nearly equal in population as practicable.

In a 2-1 decision, a federal panel ruled yesterday the lawmakers must either revamp the plan they adopted last year or the state must elect its representatives on an at-large basis next November.

All three judges agreed last year's plan is unconstitutional because of wide population deviations. Population totals range from 306,000 in the smallest district, the Upper Peninsula, to 494,000 in the largest, Wayne (Detroit) County's 15th District. District judges Talbot Smith and Stephen Roth, both Democratic appointees, signed the majority opinion ordering reapportionment in time for the election this fall.

Circuit Court of Appeals Judge Clifford O'Sullivan, a Republican appointee, said the legislature should be allowed greater leeway to draw up the new districts, even if this meant waiting until the 1966 elections to do so.

The ruling could result in a shift in the political balance of power now prevailing for Republicans who hold 11 of the state's 19 seats in the U. S. House of Representatives.

Most political observers believe an at-large election would favor the Democrats. Any realignment of districts on a population basis would tend to cut into the outstate strength of the GOP by assigning more congressmen to the heavily-populated Detroit area.

There were indications the decision might be appealed to the United States Supreme Court with a request for a stay of execution.

Gov. George W. Romney expressed disappointment in the court's ruling but said he will meet with legislative leaders early next week to determine a course of action.

"We will comply with whatever the courts finally rule," he said. "Fortunately, we can take advantage of much of the groundwork done a year ago when we drew the 19 districts the court has now ruled out.

EVERYTHING POSSIBLE

"We'll do everything possible to avert an election of our 19 congressmen at large."

County Put in Turmoil by Decision

By JIM DYGERT

"It's back to the drawing board," State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, said with a sigh.

There were many other sighs, too, and moans and groans, among Oakland County Republicans yesterday when a federal court panel opened the window to toss out Michigan's 1963 congressional districting and let turmoil in.

Nowhere did the ruling leave more confusion in its wake than in Oakland, which is sure to have its 18th and 19th districts revised because they are below average in population.

Plunged into uncertainty were four announced Republican candidates for the new 19th district, an untold number of prospective aspirants in both districts, and both Democratic and GOP party organizations.

Incumbent GOP Congressman William S. Broomfield, who now represents all of Oakland County under pre-1963 districting, may be forced to reevaluate his decision to run this year in the 18th.

NOT COMPLAINING

County Democrats, though also dumped into confusion, were not complaining.

Though their plan last year for redistricting the county was similar to the one finally adopted by the GOP-controlled state legislature, they opposed the districting bill in general as a Republican one

Salinger OK'd for Senate Bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With a champagne toast and a yell, "the campaign is on!" Pierre Salinger celebrated the California Supreme Court order declaring he is a legal candidate for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator.

It was the last of a series of developments that started March 19 when Salinger resigned as presidential press secretary.

He flew to California to declare his candidacy, established a San Francisco hotel residence, hired a battery of lawyers, campaigned all over the 700-mile-long state and mounted the Supreme Court fight.

"I'm elated," said Salinger, 38, in Los Angeles yesterday when he heard the court had ruled in his favor and against the Republican secretary of state, Frank M. Jordan.

Jordan had refused Salinger's candidacy papers on the grounds that the ex-newsman had violated state election code requirements covering party affiliation and length of state residency.

Tides Bring Havoc Along Pacific Coast

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A giant earthquake smashed the heart of this Alaska metropolis last night and triggered huge tidal waves that wreaked havoc along the entire Pacific Coast.

A nearby town, Kodiak, reported 50 dead and 50 missing.

The death and destruction extended as far south as Crescent City, Calif., more than 2,000 miles from the center of the quake—the heaviest ever to strike populated areas in the United States.

The known death toll in Anchorage was only three, with 21 injured. But there were fears many more bodies would be found in rubble of wrecked downtown buildings.

MORE DEATHS

More may have died in Seward, Valdez, Cordova and small villages than perished here.

The dead may reach into the hundreds when the final count is made.

As Alaska began to assess the damage, which will reach into hundreds of millions, President Johnson declared the 49th state a major disaster area and pledged full support of the United States government.

Johnson acted at Johnson City, Tex., where he is on Easter vacation, in respnose to a telegraphed appeal from Alaska Gov. William A. Egan.

ASSESSES DAMAGE

The governor told the President damage could reach a minimum of $250 million.

The quake hit at 5:36 p.m. (10:36 p.m. Pontiac time) at the height of the homeward rush hour in Anchorage, which has a metropolitan population of nearly 100,000.

A downtown area three blocks wide and 10 blocks long was virtually destroyed.

Several residential districts, including the Turnagain area which lines Cook inlet along a high bluff, were heavily damaged. Some of the city's most expensive homes were leveled.

AN ETERNITY

Rene Cappon, editor of the Alaska Daily News, described the Good Friday disaster as a moment that seemed to last an eternity.

Cappon said the ground bucked and weaved "like a ship in a stormy sea, with high voltage utility poles swaying menacingly overhead . . . and solid ground crackling and fissuring in a kind of unearthly silence that was suddenly dispelled by the sharp explosions of a bursting water main."

FORCES GATHER

William J. Tobin, managing editor of the Anchorage Daily Times, said the city was marshaling its forces to cope with a disaster almost too great to comprehend.

STRICKEN AREA—Map locates the area in Alaska struck last night by a devastating earthquake. At least 50 persons were reported dead at Anchorage where buildings on the main street were reduced to rubble. 30 persons were reported missing at Valdez. The town of Seward was reported afire. Kodiak was reported "completely disabled." Medical teams from Juneau and Fairbanks were reported bound for Anchorage. Injured were reported in the hundreds.

California City Hit by Waves; 5 Killed

CRESCENT CITY, Calif. (AP) — At least five persons were drowned and the entire downtown business area ravished today when tidal waves triggered by the Alaska earthquake washed up a nearby creek and then rolled back down through this community of 3,000 on the northern California coast.

Del Norte County sheriff's deputies said five bodies were recovered and it was feared several other persons were washed out to sea. No identifications were immediately available.

Saside hospital officials reported that 59 people were treated for injuries and nine were hospitalized.

Reports from the scene said the tidal wave did not actually hit the Crescent City shoreline. But backwash from Elk Creek to the southeast swirled through a four-by-fourteen block downtown area, rupturing gas mains and creating short circuits.

Five storage tanks at the Texaco Co. bulk gasoline plant exploded and flames later spread to the union 76 bulk plant, a garage and a body and fender shop.

Water stood five feet high in the low-lying downtown area as firemen stood by helplessly, unable to reach the fires. The flames were reported under control shortly after dawn.

BUSINESSES RUINED

All 150 business establishments in the town were damaged by the churning waters washed up by three successive waves.

Reports said at least two motels were swept away and one was straddling Highway 101, blocking traffic.

Witnesses said a barbershop was floated across a street into another building and the two-story Oddfellows Lodge building was spun around on its foundation.

U.S. Airports Suffer Damage

Early Warning Setup Continues Functioning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon reported today that the giant Alaskan earthquake damaged military and civilian airports and hospitals and some military planes in the hard-hit south Alaska area.

At least one serviceman — a soldier in Anchorage—was seriously hurt with head injuries. He was not immediately identified.

The U. S. early warning system against surprise attack over the northern part of the continent was not damaged by the quake, the Pentagon added.

Lt. Gen. Raymond J. Reeves, commander in chief in Alaska, reported in a phone call to the Pentagon that a 336-bed mobile hospital is needed.

The Pentagon said the quake damaged the civilian hospital in Anchorage and the military hospital at Elmendorf Air Force Base. All patients at Elmendorf were evacuated.

Only 3,000 feet of runway remained in usable condition at the civilian airport at Anchorage, the Pentagon report said.

The quake knocked out the control tower at Elmendorf Air Force Base, but the Air Force put a mobile tower into operation.

Around the World

Christians Prepare for Easter

By The Associated Press

Christians around the world prepared today for Easter Sunrises to celebrate the Resurrecday, the most triumphant Holy Day of the year.

The penitential mourning of Good Friday, commemorating the crucifixion of Christ, will give way to the joyous refrain of "Alleluia, the Lord is Risen."

Across the United States, churches planned sunrise services to celebrate the Resurrection.

The traditional service will be held aboard the USS Constitution, "Old Ironsides," in Boston Harbor and in Red Rocks Park near Denver, where work crews had to shovel nine inches of snow from the seats.

In Alabama, worshipers will make a predawn trek to Mound State Monument for the pageant "The Road to Calvary." It will be staged on three of the largest mounds, which were built by Indians centuries ago as places of worship.

SUNRISE SERVICE

There will be sunrise services at Oklahoma's Wichita Mountain Wildlife Reservation, at Radio City Music Hall in New York City, at a placid pine-rimmed reservoir in Irvington, just north of New York, and at Alto Pass., Ill., where a 111-foot cross will be dedicated.

Construction of the cross began five years ago. It's the work of the Rev. Wayman Presely, a retired Methodist Clergyman.

Bishop Reuben H. Mueller, the president of the National Council of Churches, who is spending the weekend in West Berlin, said in his Easter message: "Facing our problems today, as Christ's followers faced theirs in their day when the first Easter dawned, we, too, can find help in the living Christ, no matter what our problems are."

Pope Paul VI extended a gesture of goodwill to non-Catholic Christians in his Easter message to them on Holy Thursday.

"We send," he said, "our well-wishing Easter salute to the Oriental churches disjointed from us at present but already together with us in faith."

Easter Bunny Had Better Be Snow Rabbit

Peter Cottontail won't be hopping tonight — he'll be skiing. Snow accumulation today may reach two inches.

What's more, moms, dads, and children, waiting anxiously to try on their new Easter finery, may have to wait awhile, as the same's expected tomorrow. Partly cloudy skies and continued cold with scattered snow flurries is the forecast.

Highs tomorrow will range from 30 to 36 and lows tonight from 14 to 22.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. today was 30. At 2 p.m. the mercury stood at 36.

Await Word on Alaskans

By United Press International

Hundreds of persons throughout Michigan waited prayerfully today for news of friends and relatives in earthquake-ravaged Alaska.

Red Cross officials in Detroit, besieged with calls, said they had been informed through unofficial sources that no service personnel were among the casualties.

Elmer Revell, assistant director of the chapter, said calls and inquiries were being accepted concerning civilians and any requests regarding military personnel were being deferred.

"Unofficially we were told no military personnel were involved.

The area of damage in Anchorage was between Third and Fourth and extending from Cordova through L streets," he said.

SWITCHBOARD JAMMED

Revell said the switchboard at the Red Cross office had been jammed since 7 a. m.

"We received more than 200 inquiries and now we are backed up with calls despite having 10 persons working on the phones," he said.

"We are coordinating our requests through the Seattle office of the Red Cross."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— The American Red Cross said today that persons wanting to know about relatives or friends in Alaska should contact local Red Cross chapters. The inquiries will be forwarded to the Seattle Red Cross chapter and then to Alaska.

WHERE TIDAL WAVE HIT — A small cruiser was sunk and other pleasure craft torn from their moorings at San Rafael, Calif., this morning by a tidal wave, a product of the Alaska earthquake. The yacht basin is 20 miles north of San Francisco.

No Deaths, Little Damage

Freak Tidal Wave Hits Gulf Coast

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A freakish, 5-to-6-foot tidal wave rolled westward along the Louisiana and Texas coasts Friday night, tossing boats about and startling those who saw it.

No deaths or serious injuries were reported. Property damage did not appear to be heavy.

"It was one of the wildest scenes I've seen in a long time," said night watchman O. C. Buxton at the New Orleans Industrial Canal.

The wave, triggered by a minor earth movement, started around 10 p.m. The New Orleans Weather Bureau said it could have been connected with the Alaskan earthquake "in a coincidental sort of way."

VARIED IN SIZE

The wave varied in size as it rolled up canals, rivers and bayous but was described by the Coast Guard as being five to six feet in height.

Some roads were covered by fast rising waters and small boats were smashed against docks.

The earth movement—something rare in this area—was detected by the seismograph at Spring Hill College in Mobile, Ala.

The Rev. Louis J. Eisele at the college said "a wide area in this section actually moved about 5-16ths of an inch."

OFFICIAL REPORTS

The Weather Bureau and the Coast Guard said they had no reports of any high waves east of New Orleans.

The most dramatic effects occurred a few miles inland.

"It caused our docks and vessels moored out in the yards to go crazy-like, bobbing up and down, moving sideways, back and forth," said Leon Poche, 47, superintendent of Avondale Shipyards.

At Port Arthur, Tex., a watchman for a grain elevator reported the tide dropped between six and seven feet and a loaded grain ship "bobbed up and down like a cork six or eight times."

PLACID RIVER

Near Baton Rouge, Albert E. Kent was looking at the placid Amite River when "all of a sudden, water came in waves four feet high."

Further down the Amite, A. S. Lainer of Denham Springs watched the waves tear apart boat houses and ramps at a fishing wharf where the water was four to five feet deep," he said. "They said they looked down, and suddenly, there was no water—they were looking at the riverbed.

"Then the water came rushing back in," Lanier said. "I saw the wave tear up a wharf. That wave broke an 8-inch piling."

IN QUAKE'S PATH—The town of Seward, Alaska, is one of several cities reported badly hit by a devastating earthquake last night. This view shows the town in 1955.

Quake Hits Alaska

lice, fire, civic and business leaders met through the night to assess the situation and plan emergency measures.

The quake, which apparently centered in Prince William Sound near Whittier about 90 miles south of here, had an intensity of 8.3 on the Richter scale. This was stronger than the 8.25 reading for the San Francisco earthquake of 1906 in which 425 died.

Anchorage stands at the head of Cook Inlet and as the shock and tidal waves rolled down the sound, they brought death and destruction to coastal cities.

Three persons were reported dead and 26 missing at Valdez.

Three deaths were confirmed at Seward, where 20 persons were reported missing.

Anchorage was plunged into darkness when electric power went off, and rescuers struggled in the ruins with only emergency lights to guide them. A fire broke out but was extinguished.

Regular communications with other cities were not established until more than 8½ hours after the earthquake hit.

Damage was reported extensive in other cities. Oil tanks erupted. Fires broke out and firefighters were hampered by the lack of water.

The Navy had evacuated its station at Kodiak before 17-foot tidal wave struck, and most of the residents also had moved to higher ground.

LBJ ALERTED

President Johnson was alerted to the disaster at his Johnson City, Tex., home, where he is spending the Easter vacation. Reports were given him periodically throughout the night.

Disaster agencies around the country were informed and the Red Cross designated Seattle as its marshalling point, Navy and Army planes in the Seattle area were on the alert, ready to carry lifegiving supplies to the stricken area.

Shock waves were felt around the world. The recording needle was shaken out of the seismograph at an observatory in Paris.

The first contact with the outside world was made from Anchorage.

Radio station KENI reached the Seattle office of the Associated Press at 7 a.m. EST to report that the death toll has not been ascertained, but damage is extensive. The report said several houses and buildings fell into fissures and one downtown building caved inward.

The city was, at that time, still in darkness with only a few emergency lights burning.

The Coast Guard at Juneau reported the tidal wave traveled 100 miles in 25 minutes.

Waves 10 to 15 feet high washed into Seward where flooding appeared to have caused most of the damage.

An unidentified fishing vessel radioed that the village of Tuguyak on the southern tip of Kodiak Island was wiped out by a tidal wave and that a boat was picking up survivors.

Aftershocks and recurring tidal waves, as the waters coursed in and out, kept terror alive through the cold night. Temperatures at Anchorage were about six degrees below freezing when the quake struck.

SHARP TREMORS

Sharp earth tremors were felt early this morning in Anchorage.

The new series of shocks began shortly before 5 a.m.—10 a.m. EST. There was no immediate report of new damage.

County Eyes Ruling

and backed the federal court suit against it.

Both Oakland County districts had a past record of Republican majorities and were expected to elect GOP Congressmen.

Roberts immediately withdrew his candidacy in the 19th because, as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, he will preside over the scramble to pass new districts in time to avoid statewide at-large elections in November.

WAS PROMINENT

Roberts, who figured prominently, along with State Rep. Henry M. Hogan, R-Bloomfield Hills, in drawing the 1963 districts thrown out yesterday as too unequal in population said his committee will meet Monday to start all over again.

The other three GOP candidates in the 19th — County Prosecutor George F. Taylor, Oakland University official James P. Dickerson and Pontiac attorney Richard D. Kuhn — all said they will stay in the running regardless of the outcome, even if it means statewide campaigning in an at-large contest.

Kuhn said he may intercede in the case to appeal the ruling to the U.S. Supreme Court and ask a stay of execution to permit use of present districts in 1964.

Dickerson said, "I'm somewhat surprised that the court was not more sensitive to the political problems of handing this back to the legislature at this time."

NOT CERTAIN

Roberts was not sure that new districts could be approved in time unless immediate effect was won. Since this would require two-thirds approval of each house, a bill that could get bipartisan support would be a must.

James M. McNeely, deputy Democratic party chairman for the county, expressed hope that the legislature would map new districts in time.

"At-large elections leave a lot to be desired," he said, "although they're better than malapportioned districts such as were passed last year."

McNeely conceded that his party probably would fare better, however, in at-large elections.

TOUGH TASK

How Oakland County will be districted next time around is anyone's guess. It presented one of the toughest parts of the job last time, and no doubt will again.

It's 1960 population, upon which districts must be based regardless of growth since then, was 690,603 — too big for one district and too small for two.

Ironically, its severe case of underrepresentation in Congress at present with one member from the entire county would have been converted into overrepresentation by the 1963 districting that split the old 18th in two.

Before its one district (the 18th) was too large, now its two districts are too small.

The 19th, with a 1960 population 16 per cent below the 411,000 average, was one of the new districts, in fact, that contributed the most to the inequality which, the court said, made them unconstitutional.

The 18th, containing county area south of Pontiac and east of Inkster Road under the 1963 districting, had a population 7 per cent below the average.

The 19th joined the rest of the county with Livingston County.

Possible changes might include joining a part of Wayne County, whose districts are too large, to South Oakland, conceivably resulting in a Democratic district.

Another might be shifting Avon or Farmington Township back into the 18th and adding Lapeer and or Shiawasse County to the 19th.

State to Carve New Districts

said lawmakers must come up with their new plan by April 20 if the at-large election is to be avoided. Even then the Aug. 4 primary election probably will be set back a month, he said.

House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, said because ruling had been anticipated, House members had taken action several weeks ago to give the apportionment and election committees time to work on a new plan.

QUOTING CASE

Quoting from the Wesberry finding, the two judges said the guideline is that the legislature may not "draw the lines of congressional districts in such a way as to give some voters a greater voice in choosing a Congressman than others."

In his dissenting opinion, Judge O'Sullivan said his fellow jurists were evidencing undue haste to place heavy burdens on the lawmakers."

"In my view," he said, "the command they place upon the legislature of Michigan and the election officials of Michigan is needlessly and dangerously precipitate."

O'Sullivan said new definitions and new guidelines have put the federal courts into a position of unprecedented power over state legislatures.

POPULATION GROWTH

Because of its population growth, Michigan's congressional delegation was increased in 1962 by one representative—to 19. But, since neither the 1961 nor the 1962 legislative sessions agreed on a redistricting plan, the 19th congressman was elected at-large two years ago.

Yesterday's court decision was the climax to a lengthy battle waged against both the old congressional apportionment system and the one adopted in 1963. The system was challenged by two political science professors at Henry Ford Community college, Donald Calkins and Karl Jacobs.

Three of the victims were identified as Myrtt Willard Hershman Jr., 35, Adrian, Mich., his wife, Mary Madeline, 33, and Eva Hershman Brown, 31, Miami, Fla.

Crippled Plane Still Missing

Engine Report Afire; Nine on Board

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A military chartered four-engine aircraft on a Honolulu-to-Los Angeles flight with nine persons aboard was unheard from today nearly four hours after it reported an engine on fire, the Federal Aviation Agency said.

The DC4, owned by the Facility Maintenance Co., of Los Angeles, radioed at 8:55 a. m. (Pontiac time) that No. 2 engine was burning.

The plane's position was 1,000 miles southwest of San Francisco, the FAA said. The propeller-driven aircraft was under contract to the Department of Defense.

The Coast Guard in San Diego said two long-range planes from San Francisco had been sent to intercept the distressed aircraft. The Coast Guard planes, at last word, had not contacted the DC4.

At 8:15 a. m. PST, however, the FAA in San Francisco said the DC4 had been unheard from since its initial distress call. A spokesman said the plane was listed as "unreported."

Wave Alert in Russia

MOSCOW (UPI)— Soviet citizens were evacuated early today from the Far Eastern coast of Siberia threatened by a tidal wave from the Alaskan earthquake, but later returned to their homes when the alert was called off.

Five Perish as Waves Hit Coast City

mund G. Brown's press secretary said the governor was being informed of the catastrophe and would probably have a statement early today.

WAVE WATERS

Wave waters also heavily damaged the Vancouver Island community of Port Alberni. The wave surged 40 miles through the inlet known as the Alberni Canal and poured into the Canadian pulp and logging center "like a dam had burst," a radio station reported. The town's main hotel suffered water damage in its lobby, kitchen and dining areas.

Tidal surges 10 feet high rolled up onto California's Santa Catalina Island, 20 miles off the coast at Los Angeles, and caused minor damage.

Thousands of young people rushed to San Francisco's Ocean Beach area at the first announcement that a tidal wave was expected, but the action at the appointed hour amounted to a mild turbulence. Police controlled the crowd with difficulty.

At San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf the waters of San Francisco Bay dropped at least a foot a minute for about three minutes, then rose again at the same rate. An effect was to pull old trash out from under piers. For hours the junk surged back and forth, acting as a marker of the tidal flows.

A wave washed out a bridge over the Copalis River in Grays Harbor County in Washington, and turned over several trailer homes in the county beach areas.

Baldwin Library to Begin Bloomfield Twp. Service

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—The resources of Birmingham's Baldwin Public Library will be made available to Bloomfield Township residents Wednesday.

The service is being inaugurated under terms of a contract signed in November by Birmingham and Bloomfield Township library board members.

It is the first step in a program which will lead to the township's having its own library facility. The program was initiated last April when the township electorate backed a one-mill library levy.

Beginning Wednesday, township residents will be issued patron cards free of charge at Baldwin's registration desk.

Library officials prefer that the head of each family make the request, presenting driver's license, voter's registration or other proof of residency.

Former nonresident patrons of the library can exchange their old cards for new ones and pro rata refunds. In this case, the old card will serve as identification.

BALDWIN HOURS

Baldwin hours are 9:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. Monday through Thursday, 9:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. Friday and 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday. The library is closed Sundays.

The township library board expects to open its own facility late this summer. At that time, a card issued at Baldwin or the township library will be valid at either.

Space for the initial township library is to be rented in an office building soon to be constructed near the southwest corner of Telegraph and Long Lake.

LIBRARIAN PICKED

Rose Vainstein, former associate professor in the school of librarianship at the University of British Columbia, has been appointed librarian.

She will begin her work here May 1 after completing a research study of the Canadian province's public libraries.

Bloomfield Township will pay $7,795 for the Baldwin library service until June 30 and $32,513 for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Succeeding payments will be calculated on the use township residents have made of the Birmingham unit during the preceding year.

British Blast Yemen Fort With Planes

LONDON (AP)—Eight British fighter planes attacked and destroyed a fort just inside the Yemen frontier early today. British officials said it was in retaliation for Yemeni frontier provocations.

It took the planes 10 minutes to blast the fort into a ruin with rocket and cannon fire.

'NO SIGN OF LIFE'

"There was no sign of life either before or during the attack," the spokesman said. It was presumed that any occupants who might have been in the fort took the advice of the leaflets and fled.

The fort was at Harib, just across the border from the British-protected Federation of Southern Arabia.

A Colohiat Office announcement said the British government had given approval for the attack.

Blessings of the Risen Christ

By REV. THOMPSON L. MARCERO

What a glorious vision is described by the Evangelists in reporting the Resurrection! What faith and what promise is shining through every phrase, every inspired word!

FATHER MARCERO

At times we may envy MARY MAGDALENE and MARY the mother of JAMES and SALOME as they were privileged to be the first witnesses at the tomb to the great and glorious miracle, the ultimate in evidence of CHRIST's veracity.

Yet, we, too, are witnesses of a resurrection of a rebirth of Christian faith in our time. Recently proposed was to add a representation of Christ on Mt. Rushmore in South Dakota, to the heroic likenesses of three presidents.

The original plan was to represent CHRIST calming the sea, but it is now planned to depict the MASTER as teaching the Beatitudes in His sermon on the Mount. This seems eminently appropriate, another Mount of Beatitudes in the BLACK HILL, because we do profess to be Christians and to be convinced of the values CHRIST taught.

It has been suggested that the Beatitudes be engraved in the rock beneath the CHRIST. Whether this is done or not, at least the Blessing of CHRIST on the peacemakers might very well be inscribed.

It would be a distinct reminder of our Christian heritage, the peacemakers of the United Nations, the peacemakers of the Ecumenical movement, the efforts of all men of good will who seek peace founded on justice and solid moral principles.

Millions of men and women of good will throughout the world are striving and praying for peace. There are common bonds which can be strengthened—so much do we have in common with all Christians—a common reverence for the inspired word of God, the Holy Bible and so much in common with peace and liberty-loving citizens of so many of the emerging nations.

This image of the SAVIOUR might well also be a symbol of the CHRIST who transcends space and time, of the CHRIST who portrayed that His disciples would be one, and that peace might prevail in our time in our country.

"Peace be to you," was the SAVIOUR's greeting to His disciples on the first Easter—that universal peace might be the great boon granted men and nations because they would recognize the RISEN CHRIST, the PRINCE OF PEACE; that the conviction that CHRIST is here now in the truth of His love, His revelation through the Holy Spirit; that His second Coming will merely be the vision of a reality which already exists; the Risen Body of CHRIST now invisible to our carnal eyes, His invisible presence manifested by signs and symbols for we live now by faith.

Then faith will be fulfilled by the reality of the Ever Present Risen Saviour when the human heart and soul will be conscious that all trouble, sorrow, pain, anxiety, bereavement, is over forever.

Visited by the immediate visible, ineffable presence of GOD ALMIGHTY, with His only-begotten Son our LORD and His Co-equal, Co-eternal Spirit that great sight in which is the fullness of joy and ecstasy forevermore. What deep, incommunicable, unimaginable thoughts will then be upon us! What depths will be stirred within us!

Blessed be the day of the Resurrection of the LORD, which of old time was called the queen of festivals! Blessed be the day once passed in sorrow, when the LORD really rose, and the disciples believed it not; a day of joy to the faith and love of Church! "CHRIST is risen!" was the ancient salutation of the Christian to which his neighbor answered, "CHRIST is risen indeed and has appeared to SIMON."

May that day dawn for each and all
Of which Easter is the promise
When the first spring of Paradise
Shall return and gladden our garden of eternity
The CHRIST, the Risen LORD
Conquered sin and death
Glory be to the FATHER and to the SON
And to the HOLY SPIRIT

Fullbright Asks New Red Policy

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—This country's basic foreign policies and attitudes toward communism after World War II came in President Truman's time and have been pretty well fixed and frozen since.

MARLOW

In that immensely creative period, when Truman decided nothing could stop Stalin's aggressive onrush except force and determined opposition, three policies were begun: Aid to other countries, Greece, Turkey, the Marshall Plan; military alliances, NATO, and stiff-arming communism everywhere, the Berlin airlift and the Korean War.

What has happened since then—under Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson has simply been an extension of those programs in one way or another in Europe, Africa, Asia, Middle East and Latin America.

This week Sen. J. A. Fulbright, D-Ark., in a Senate speech, sought to stimulate fresh thinking to meet new conditions and to abandon old attitudes and policies if they are outdated.

In only a few instances in his review of the world did he attempt to offer either specific solutions or new approaches. Nevertheless, he has been attacked in Congress for what he said.

AN AMERICAN CLICHE

It has become an American cliche—since Truman's time—that anything less than total rigidity toward communism everywhere and under all circumstances is appeasement. Fulbright would call it a "myth."

He said communism under Premier Khrushchev is not exactly the same as under Stalin and that changes have taken place within the Communist world which once had a solid front. For example: The Russian-Red Chinese split.

The Lenten Story

TEACH ALL NATIONS

Before ascending to His Father in Heaven, Jesus gave His Apostles a worldwide mission.

He said to them, "All power is given unto me in Heaven and on earth.

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost:

"Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen." (Matthew XXVIII:18-20)

And in their lifetime, His Apostles carried the gospel to all the known corners of the ancient world: to India and Africa, Persia and Spain. All but John died a martyr's death.

Days of All Faiths:

Christians Celebrate Triumph

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Easter is the principal feast of the Christian Church. It is the day on which the church celebrates Christ's victory over death. It is too bad "Halleluiah" has become just an antique formal church word. What it really means is "Hurrah!" All over the world tomorrow, well-dressed, well-behaved Christians will be sedately singing Hurrah! without even knowing it.

Only Christianity has an Easter. That is, no other religion teaches that its leader went through the experience of death, returned from it living, is still living today, and can be met today.

Other leaders — Buddha, for example—are revered as great teachers, now dead, who left behind them a body of precepts, principles, and ideals. Only Christianity teaches that salvation is not in principles and ideals but in a living relationship with the Risen Lord.

This is one of the ways in which Christianity differs from the other great religions of the world.

EASTER SEASON

Easter Day begins the 40-day Easter Season, which runs from now until Ascension Day, May 7 this year. Most people, if asked what the church's great 40 days are would say Lent. But Lent must take a poor second place to this time when Jesus, after His death, returned to earth to be with His Apostles.

The Scriptures give little or no clue to what He and the Apostles talked about in that six-week period. Such hints as there are would seem to indicate that they dealt with missionary assignments and final plans of church organization and practice.

When, after 40 days of conference, a group of people break up and start out individually doing the same things according to the same plan, it is fair to assume that this is what they have been conferring about, even though the minutes of their meeting are not on record.

In 1659 the Puritan Colony of Massachusetts passed a law setting up a fine of five shillings for anyone who was caught observing Easter in any way.

EGG ROLLING

Monday is known as Easter Monday, the day for children's egg-rolling contests. These contests began long ago in England, and are held in many places, but the one most familiar to most of us is the one on the White House lawn.

The idea is to roll as many eggs as possible downhill from the starting point to the finish line without cracking them. The child who cracks the fewest shells wins the game. The eggs are, of course, hard boiled.

It was the famous Dolly Madison who introduced egg-rolling in the United States, when her husband was President back in the early 1800's.

At first the contest was held on the slopes of the Capitol lawn, but the thousands of children and spectators so damaged the grass that the caretakers put up violent objections, and the event was moved to the White House lawn, where either the grass is tougher or the groundkeepers are not so tough.

The annual egg-rolling soon became so much a part of our national tradition that now it takes a war to stop it. It was discontinued during the Civil War and the two World Wars, but resumed immediately after each one.

Writes on Civil Rights and Birch Society

The John Birch Society takes the position that the Civil Rights Acts of 1963 is the most serious threat to the freedom and the property of American citizens of every creed, that has ever been seriously considered by Congress.

The National Council of the John Birch Society had formally (and unanimously) approved this statement. The Council calls attention to the fact that such outstanding American legal scholars as Lloyd Wright, John Satterfield, Sen. Strom Thurmond, Sen. Richard Russell, and Hon. Ezra Taft Benson had all made strong public statements warning their fellow citizens against this truly dangerous bill. They agree it is the most brazen grab for power by the executive branch of government.

Limousines Offer 'No Economy'

By WASHINGTON STAFF

WASHINGTON (NEA—Leaving the Pan American Union in downtown Washington the other day, Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., was confronted with a typical city problem—how to corral a taxi during the late afternoon rush hour traffic.

Late for an appointment the senator fumed for about 15 minutes as cab after cab — already taken — passed him by. A companion suggested:

"Why don't we walk up to the White House? I'm sure the President would be glad to provide a fellow Texan with a limousine."

"I'm sure he would," Yarborough answered. "But with all this economy business in the White House, he'd probably charge us double the fare."

Pierre Salinger, former presidential press secretary who recently resigned to run for the U. S. Senate in California, gave his successor, George Reedy, a neat rule of thumb covering the habits of reporters at the daily White House press briefings. Said Pierre:

"The only times they get out their pencils to take notes is when you tell them what you're about to say is off the record."

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy continues to be a favorite target of the Republicans. Even partisan folk singers are taking up the anti-Bobby refrain.

Four young singers styling themselves "The Goldwaters" jump on the A. G. in a record album titled: "The Goldwaters Sing Folk Songs to Bug the Liberals."

Sample lyrics, to the tune of "Reuben, Reuben:"

"Bobby, Bobby, we've been thinking,
"When you studied for the Bar,
"Did you read the Constitution?
"Did you ever get that far?"

One of Sen. Barry Goldwater's strategists was asked how the senator's presidential bid was going in Alaska.

The man replied: "We really don't have very much to go on yet, except that the Goldwater dogsled came in seventh in the annual statewide dogsled race."

House speaker John McCormack has steadfastly refused all offers of Secret Service protection following President Kennedy's assassination.

Each time agents showed up at the speaker's Capitol offices, says Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., the majority whip, McCormack would promptly shoo them away. The Secret Service turned to Boggs for advice on how to approach the Irishman.

Boggs' answer: "The only way you're going to get an agent in there is to disguise one as an Irish priest."

Priest Is Killed by Raiding Christian Tribe in India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A Belgian priest was killed by a poison arrow as he attempted to protect Moslem villagers from marauding Christian tribesmen in eastern India, an informed source said today.

The Rev. Herman Rasschdert, a Jesuit, was the first reported foreign casualty in the wave of religious rioting that has plagued India for 13 days. The source said Father Rasschdert was struck when he tried to halt Adivasi tribesmen from looting and burning Girda Village in southern Bihar State.

The Indian army clashed four times with the tribesmen, and some deaths were reported. The tribesmen have been enraged by anti-Christian activities in Moslem East Pakistan.

Prime Minister Nehru ordered an emergency meeting in New Delhi Monday of the chief ministers of the four states in which the rioting has been centered.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —The Serbian Orthodox Church has taken action against an American bishop who leads a church faction that has declared its independence of the mother church.

An announcement by the church synod Friday said the Holy Bishops' Council had voted unanimously to unseat Bishop Dionisije Miliojevich, head of the Serbian Orthodox Diocese of North and South America.

The action was taken, the announcement said, "because of violation of his bishop's oath, disobedience, creating a schism and a personal life not befitting a priest and especially a bishop."

Bishop Dionisije, 64, Libertyville, Ill., heads a group that has declared its independence from the Holy Synod in Yugoslavia, claiming the mother church is Communist-controlled.

ALGIERS (AP)—The African-Asian Council conference is over, closing another chapter in the bitter ideological quarrel between the Soviet Union and Red China.

The Russians and Chinese argued up to the closing moments of the council's session Friday. Only after long haggling between them was a resolution passed expressing support for wars of national liberation and, at the same time, generally endorsing peaceful coexistence.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—The 1,425 Brazilian sailors and marines who holed up for 40 hours in a downtown building were on weekend liberty today after giving up their sit-down strike.

They surrendered to army troops Friday in a response to a plea from President Joao Goulart, then were given the weekend off with the announcement that all were forgiven.

That includes Cpl. Jose Anselmo, the marine whose ordered arrest for unauthorized political activity led the dissidents to blockade themselves in the six-story building Wednesday night.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Telecommunications workers ended a 14-hour strike today, restoring cable links between South Viet Nam and the rest of the world.

The director general of Saigon's government-controlled telecommunications center announced that the strike had been settled, but did not say whether the workers' demand for higher wages was met.

Red Chief Ulbricht Apparently Ignored

Russia Snubs East German Authority on Flier Incident

By CARL HARTMAN

BONN, Germany (AP)—Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist chief, apparently was the political loser when the Soviets returned the American airmen they had shot down over territory he is supposed to rule.

In the shooting and ensuing fuss, Ulbricht seems to have been ignored.

The United States and the Soviet Union refrained from making the incident into a cold war issue.

"I hope the matter will now be taken off the books," said Secretary of State Dean Rusk when he first announced that the men were to be released. The United States is negotiating with the Soviets on other issues it does not want to see affected—such as the opening of U.S. consulates in the Soviet Union and establishment of direct air routes between the two countries.

Ulbricht probably would like to forget the flier incident, too. It represents a lost opportunity to promote his prestige, an opportunity the Soviets would not let him seize.

His enemies, particularly in West Germany, will do their best to make him and the rest of the world remember the snub.

NO EVIDENCE

The East German announcement that the two fliers had been expelled from East German territory was no evidence that East German authorities had ever laid hands on them.

News Analysis

A Soviet fighter shot the fliers down over East Germany March 10. They are Capt. David I. Holland, 35, Holland, Minn.; Capt. Melvin J. Kessler, 30, Philadelphia, and Lt. Harold W. Welch, 24, Detroit.

Soviet troops took over the airmen and the wreckage of the RB66 reconnaissance plane. Soviet leaders were in touch with Rusk, and apparently were the ones who handed over Welch, who had been injured, to the Americans a week ago.

It was the Soviets again who apparently turned over Holland and Kessler Friday.

EMBASSY REPORT

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said that as far as he could tell, the East German regime had nothing to do with turning the men over.

Ulbricht's government is recognized mainly in Communist-ruled countries. The flier incident gave new evidence that the Soviets can readily ignore him despite nominal recognition.

The Western nations consider East Germany to be under direct Soviet control and refuse to have any official dealings with Ulbricht.

The East German Communists are constantly striving for any shred of recognition they can get, but what they get is not much. In recent months their main victories have been permission from the great powers to add their signature to the treaty on atomic tests, and recognition by the revolutionary government in tiny Zhanzibar.

The Soviet Union's behavior toward its East German ally in the recent incident is in sharp contrast to what it did in 1958. That year, Premier Khrushchev was pushing the East German case vigorously, threatening to sign a separate peace treaty with Ulbricht.

A U.S. Army helicopter, with nine soldiers aboard, was downed in East Germany in 1958. The Soviets permitted the East Germans to handle the matter. The East Germans carried the ball as far as they could, in hope of forcing the U.S. government to deal with them directly.

The Americans eventually were returned through the Red Cross, and the East Germans had little to show for their effort. But they had support from Moscow of a kind they seem unable to get today.

Red Orb Burns Up Over East Canada

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A Soviet satellite burned up between the Great Lakes and the northeastern Canadian coast Thursday night, according to calculations of a North American Air Defense Command agency.

A spokesman for the space detection and tracking system of NORAD said Friday it is "entirely possible" that fragments of Cosmos 23 fell in middle Ontario, northern Quebec and the Atlantic Ocean.

The satellite was launched Dec. 13.

Motorcycles Increase

LANSING (AP)—There were 31,212 motorcycles registered in Michigan in 1963, a 7 per cent increase over the previous year, the secretary of state's office reported.

Dean Rusk Clashes With Sen. Fulbright on Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk has clashed with Sen. J. W. Fulbright's views on Cuba and has made it clear that the administration disagrees with many points the Arkansas senator raised in a tempest-stirring foreign policy speech.

But, Rusk told a news conference Friday, he goes along with the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on some of the issues brought up in his Senate speech Wednesday.

Rusk said Fulbright's speech was a "thoughtful and thought-provoking" one. He called it a contribution to discussion, adding "it is important that these matters be discussed."

SOLID AGREEMENT

On this last point the two were in solid agreement, for Fulbright has said his reason for making the speech was to "stimulate consideration of our present course by all thoughtful Americans."

As for specific disagreements expressed by Rusk, Fulbright told newsmen, "I do not want to get into an argument with the secretary."

Here's how the two differ on the Cuban sitation:

CASTRO—Fulbright called the Communist regime of Fidel Castro a "distasteful nuisance but not an intolerable danger." Rusk said Castro is "more than a nuisance, he is a threat to the hemisphere."

BOYCOTT — Fulbright said U.S. efforts to persuade other non - Communist nations to go along with the economic boycott of Cuba have been a failure. He called for an end to the boycott policy. Rusk said the economic isolation of Cuba "has not been complete, but it has been very substantial" with a substantial amount of cooperation from allies. He said the boycott will continue unless Castro changes his ways.

Their views on other points:

POLICY—Fulbright said "old myths" which have guided foreign policy attitudes should give way to revised assessments "in the face of new realities." Rusk said the administration has been facing up to realities in its foreign policy. He agreed that the Communists no longer present a solid bloc.

PANAMA—Fulbright said the United States should take a more magnanimous position toward revising the Panama Canal Treaty. Rusk said he didn't cause the two nations are now very close to an agreement.

CHINA—Fulbright said Red China should neither be recognized nor admitted to the United Nations. Rusk agreed. Fulbright also suggested it might be possible to draw Communist China into existing East-West agreements in such fields as disarmament, trade and educational exchange.

Although most of the news conference centered on questions about Fulbright's speech, there was also a focus on U.S.-Soviet relations.

Rusk stressed that no strings had been attached to the release of two Amercian fliers shot down over East Germany March 10. He said he was still puzzled about how the plane had gotten so far off its course.

Rusk also said he had asked the Soviet Union for more information about Lee Harvey Oswald, who was accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy last Nov. 22. The Soviet government already has provided some information on Oswald for the Warren Commission investigating the assassination. Oswald lived in Russia for more than two years and married a Russian girl.

The secretary of state wasn't the only one in the capital expressing views on Fulbright's speech.

The Nationalist Chinese ambassador, Tingu F. Tsiang, said he was shocked by the suggestion that Red China might be included in some East-West agreements.

GETS BACKING

Many of the points raised by Fulbright received the backing of Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, senior Republican on Fulbright's committee. As for Cuba, he said, "I've never known a country to be starved into democracy."

The Republican national chairman, William E. Miller said that if the speech was not a trial balloon for the administration, President Johnson should renounce it. Fulbright and Rusk had said it was not a trial balloon.

Dixie City Braces for Graham Rally

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham arrives today to plan his Easter Sunday rally. Police took extra precautions for an estimated 50,000 expected to be in the integrated audience.

City, county and state law enforcement agencies are pooling their resources to prepare for a crowd which Police Chief Jamie Moore said "may be the biggest we have ever seen."

Graham's crusade team said the Sunday service will be considered a success if the crowd reaches 30,000. Many more are expected.

Kin of Goldwater Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Ray Prescott Johnson, 56, a director of Borg-Warner Corp. and brother-in-law of Sen. Barry Goldwater R-Ariz., died Friday in Passavant Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

Succumbs in Toronto

TORONTO (AP) — Prof. Rivers Keith Hicks, one of Canada's top authorities on modern languages, died Friday after a fall in his home. He was 85.

Hicks taught at Dartmouth College in New Hampshire and Queen's University before joining the University of Toronto staff in 1927. He retired in 1953.

Good Friday Breakfast Held

More than 200 women attended the Good Friday breakfast. Braving the snow were (from left) Mrs. Franklin A. Mills, Greentree Road; Mrs. Allen Mix, East Beverly Avenue; and Mrs. Mildred Poole of Owosso. Heavy coats, rather than spring suits were the attire of most of the women.

Elena Bajari, Oneida Road, studies her program as she waits for breakfast to be served. The first course is always baked rhubarb. The rest of the menu is traditional too with cheese souffle as the main dish.

Bride Carries Grandmother's Bible for Rite

Gail Lee Sedrick exchanged vows with Robin F. Reed of Ann Arbor today in the Central Methodist Church, Detroit.

Joining the couple at the reception in Carrie Lee's Chinese Tea Room, Birmingham, were their parents, the William Sedricks of Mansfield Avenue and the Howard Reeds of Albion.

For the informal ceremony, the bride chose a blue silk shantung suit with matching blouse and hat. She carried her grandmother's Bible topped with Fuji chrysanthemums and pink and white carnations.

The couple will live in Ann Arbor where he is working on his master's degree at University of Michigan. Both are graduates of Albion College.

Product of 2 Rotten Eggs: Some Scrambled Thinking

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I borrowed six eggs from a neighbor. Two of them were rotten.

ABBY

I returned four eggs to her and told her that two of the ones she gave me were no good. She said I borrowed six eggs, not four, and I still owe her two eggs. What do you think?

WAITING FOR ADVICE

DEAR WAITING: Be a good egg and give her two more.

DEAR ABBY: My complaint concerns the husband of my next door neighbor.

He is an able-bodied, intelligent, recently - retired man who seems content to spend his days snoozing on the sofa, reading, or watching TV.

His wife is a good friend of mine. When I drop in to have a chat with her, we have a cozy threesome.

Nice? Why can't a man understand that his wife needs a little privacy in her own home?

Surely there must be something more challenging for a man to do than to sit and wait to be called to his meals three times a day!

My husband is approaching retirement age, and if this is retirement—deliver me!

DEAR MRS. G: The retired gentleman would probably be glad to "deliver" you — to your own home.

You are invading HIS home, and he's earned the right to snooze or read or do whatever he pleases in it.

The Elmer B. Caylors of Anchorville announce the engagement of their daughter Carol Jean to Richard Arlan Martins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adelino Martins of East Tennyson Avenue. She will complete an executive secretarial course at Eastern Michigan College of Commerce in August. Her fiancee will be graduated from General Motors Institute in June.

If his wife objected to her lack of privacy, she would go to your house for the visits.

DEAR ABBY: I am so upset I could bawl! My daughter just received a book for her 12th birthday from my sister, who is a 33-year-old school teacher and should have known better.

This book is titled, "What is Happening to Me?" It is a facts-of-life-type book for boys and girls between the ages of 12 to 15.

I planned to tell my daughter what I felt she should know when I thought she was ready for it.

Now I don't know whether I should let her read this book or not.

Don't you think my sister had a nerve sending my daughter a book like that without asking me first? What should I do about it?

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Simmer down and read the book.

If you think your daughter should read it—let her. I have read the book and regard it highly.

I am sure your sister meant well.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOST MY FATHER:". Do not despair. You still have your Father in heaven.

Solicit Aid of Friend to End Party

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: The last few parties at our house went on until the wee hours. My husband and I were completely exhausted when our guests left.

Is there a tactful way for a hostess to tell her guests, "The party is over; please go home"?

A: As hostess, you cannot possibly ask your guests to leave. The only thing you can do is to enlist the aid of an intimate friend and ask her to make the move for you.

When the hour grows late, she could say, "I think we had better go; it is getting very late and I am sure John and Mary would like to get some sleep."

Q: When drinking a cocktail that has fruit in it, such as a slice of orange or lemon, or pineapple, is is proper to eat the fruit or is it put there simply for flavor? If it may be eaten, what does one do with the rind?

A: The fruit is put in the cocktail for flavor and decoration, but you may eat it if you wish. The rind is put into the glass.

Q: When a friend drops in unexpectedly and I am in the midst of ironing, would it be rude to continue ironing or must I put it aside until later and give her my undivided attention?

A: You should put your ironing aside unless your visitor is a very good friend to whom you can say, "I simply have to get through this ironing before the children come home.

Do you mind sitting there and talking to me while I finish it?"

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Ex-Wife Files Claim Against Dodge Estate

DETROIT (AP) — Former showgirl Gregg Sherwood today filed claims totaling more than $1.9 million against the estate of her late husband, automotive heir Horace E. Dodge.

The suit claims that under the terms of a prenuptial agreement signed Feb. 20, 1953, she was to receive $1 million if living with Dodge when he died.

Mrs. Dodge also seeks payment of five promissory notes signed by Dodge totaling $915,800.

A hearing on the wrangle surrounding the Dodge estate will begin April 21, before Wayne County Probate Judge Ernest C. Roehm.

Dodge died last Dec. 22 at the age of 63.

Dodge's mother, 93-year-old Mrs. Anna Thomson Dodge, has filed a $10.5 million claim against the estate for recovery of loans she allegedly made to her son.

Death Penalty for Diem Aide

Crowd Hails Verdict on Intelligence Office

HUE, South Viet Nam (AP)—Phan Quang Dong, high intelligence officer in the late President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime, has been sentenced to death on the guillotine by a revolutionary court.

A crowd of 2,000 standing outside the provincial courthouse cheered and threw their hats into the air Friday on hearing the sentence read over a loudspeaker.

The defendant, 36, convicted of murder, extortion and illegal detention and torture of prisoners, appeared calm as sentence was pronounced by the nine-member tribunal. The court also ordered confiscation of his property.

Dong was the first Diem government official to be tried by the new revolutionary court in what may be a long series of trials. The next trial is expected to be for Diem's brother, Ngo Dinh Can, who formerly ruled the central Vietnamese provinces.

Dong was given 24 hours to appeal to the ruling military revolutionary council.

He immediately signed the request for mercy. If the plea is rejected, he will be executed five days later.

Dong was convicted of murdering Tran Ba Nam, a private contractor who had lived in Laos, in 1958, and Vo Con, a former deputy security chief in Central Viet Nam, in 1959.

The Diem government accused the two men of being French spies, a charge the new government says was trumped up for extortion purposes.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following income tax information is furnished by the Internal Revenue Service as a public service.)

QUESTION: My two brothers and I each contribute $500 a year to the support of our mother. She has no other income. Is anyone entitled to claim her as a dependent?

ANSWER: Since you and your brothers contributed more than one-half of your mother's total support and each of you contributed more than 10 per cent of her support, one of you may claim an exemption for her, provided the other two sign a written declaration stating that they will not claim her as an exemption. The declaration must be submitted with the return of the party claiming the exemption.

Form 2120, Multiple Support Declaration, is available at any Internal Revenue Service Office for this purpose.

By OSWALD JACOBY

Today's hand sprung from the fertile brain of Donald Parson and may be found in his book "Fall of the Cards."

JACOBY

Obviously, it never took place, but it does illustrate one important principle of dummy play. It is to try to find some combination of adverse cards that will allow you to make your contract.

Once East discards a club at trick one, it is not difficult for South to get a count on the trumps. West has all six of them.

It is also reasonable to assume that East holds all nine clubs so that West started with six spades, three hearts and four diamonds.

As a reader you can look at the East-West hands and confirm this. You also note that West's three hearts include both the queen and ten.

Declarer South had to assume this, too, since if East held either of the hearts, there would be no possible way to make the contract.

Before going any further, see if you can figure out the way South took advantage of the favorable heart situation to make the slam.

He started out by drawing all West's trumps. He had to make five discards from dummy. Four were low diamonds. The other was the ace of clubs.

Then he started on hearts. Dummy's jack held the first heart trick and the king the next one. Then he led the deuce of clubs from dummy and while East made his king, he had to give South the last three tricks with the queen of clubs and acenine of hearts.

Gov. Connally Recovers Use of Right Hand

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John Connally on Friday used his right hand to write his signature for the first time since he was wounded Nov. 22.

"His wrist is still extremely stiff but he has good movement of the hand itself," his office said.

* * *

Connally was critically wounded by the same sniper who shot and killed President John F. Kennedy while the pair sat in a motorcade with their wives in Dallas.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

East	South	West	North
1♦	1♥	2♦	2♥
3♦	3♥	4♦	Dble
Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠A Q 7 6 5 ♥A K 8 7 5 4 ♦2 ♣5

What do you do?

A—Bid four hearts. You had every intention of getting to game once your partner raised you.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of doubling four diamonds, your partner bids four hearts. East bids five diamonds. What do you do now?

Answer Monday

Waterford to Eye Recruit Training

Waterford Township Board members Monday night will consider a fire department request that its six recruits participate in a special training program April 20-24 at the University of Michigan.

* * *

All hired since the first of the year to bring the department to its authorized strength, the new men already have had extensive on-the-job training.

* * *

Also slated for board attention is a request from the Blind Service Center for its members to solicit funds in the township May 14-16 inclusive.

Refugees From Cuba Tell of School Terror

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Forty Cuban refugees in at least four different craft, one of them a rowboat, reached Florida Friday.

Three of them identified themselves as Havana University medical students. They said that 400 armed Communist students at the university terrorized the 15,000 other students.

REGAL SPLENDOR—Not many homes feature a crystal chandelier in the bathroom. But then, not many homes have served time as a "little red schoolhouse." Sheer white nylon curtains repeat the red and white of the wallpaper. Bathroom accessories can be arranged on the narrow wainscoting shelf.

A Challenge Well Met

Kendalls' Red Schoolhouse Undergoes Transformation

The little red schoolhouse belongs to a passing American era. Unless, that is, you are able to capitalize on its good points as the Kendalls of Noble Road, Addison Township, did.

"I couldn't resist the school's charm," said Mrs. Jane Kendall. "I realized the remodeling procedure would be no joke. But the challenge was more than I could miss.

"Besides, out here my youngsters, Bill and Laurie, would be able to have their own horse, and a cat or dog or both if they wanted to."

They wanted to. As of the last quick census, there are three look-alike cats, Timmy, Jimmy and Louie; one tail-wagging Dalmatian, Revelry; one slightly plump beagle, Missy; one Welch pony, Gigi; and an assortment of Bantam and Plymouth Rock chickens and roosters.

Oh yes, and there's an unwanted guest too! A chicken hawk who's been known to invade the privacy of Gigi's stall in an attempted banty kidnaping. It was no publicity stunt, either.

CONCRETE PORCH

The concrete porch with its pipe railing remains as it was before the turn of the century. With the house still painted red and white, at first glance, it's as if the Kendalls turned back the clock.

A second look will reveal modern touches, a television aerial, black shutters and foundation landscaping.

Much of the original structure was usable. However, builder Lawrence Morneau of Metamora was forced to tear down a portion of the north wall.

Bees had set up housekeeping between the joists. A local beekeeper corralled the squatters and over 500 pounds of honey were removed to the tasty delight of the neighborhood.

BASE IMPRINTS

The entrance hall leads to Bill's bedroom, the kitchen or the living-dining area. Floors, though painted a brick red, still bear the base imprints of the row-on-row desks.

Wainscoting and half-shutters in the living-dining area are made of red barn siding. To lighten the effect, wallpaper of bright yellow with a red print has been used.

Centering the narrow pine drop leaf table is a soup tureen in the Rose Chintz pattern. Bronze candles in brass candlesticks complete the arrangement.

A loveseat covered in black homespun furnishes a comfortable seating arrangement near the recessed wall bookcase. Throw pillows repeat the red and green plaid of the window valances.

Lighting the area is a copper Russian samovar converted to a three-way lamp.

Mrs. Kendall, ever on the lookout for interesting antiques, discovered an intriguing oil painting in a lapidary shop. In the picture, painted on a breadboard, the grain of the wood simulates the black moire of the woman's costume.

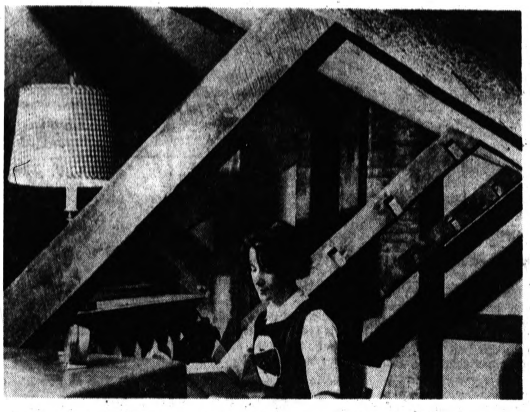
Keeping magazines neat is a task that has shaken many a housewife. Mrs. Kendall stores hers on end in a crockery pickle jar and in an antique copper tea kettle.

The stairway, leading to the open loft bedroom and Laurie's study corner, is constructed of barn flooring and beams. To avoid waste space, a linen chest has been built into the stairwell.

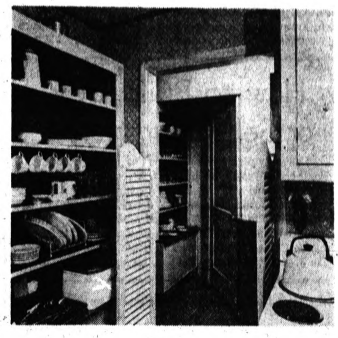
Painted gold, Bill's room features two recessed bookcases for his collection of books and memorabilia. A tailored red spread trimmed in white covers his bed. White tie-back curtains are used at the window.

THIRSTY, ANYONE?—Left behind with the memories is the crockery water cooler. No longer used, it serves as a reminder of the many youthful thirsts that were quenched with the school's cool well water.

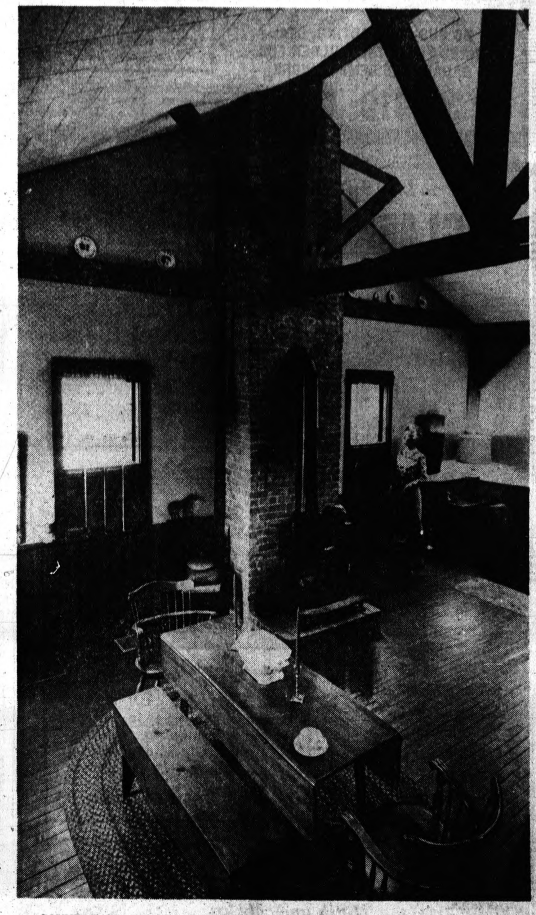
SCHOOL DAYS—The bell no longer rings, but the charming red and white building again has youthful occupants. Mrs. Jane Kendall and her youngsters, Bill and Laurie, call the converted schoolhouse on Noble Road their home. The younger generation especially appreciates its bevy of pets without having to worry about neighborhood restrictions or retributions.



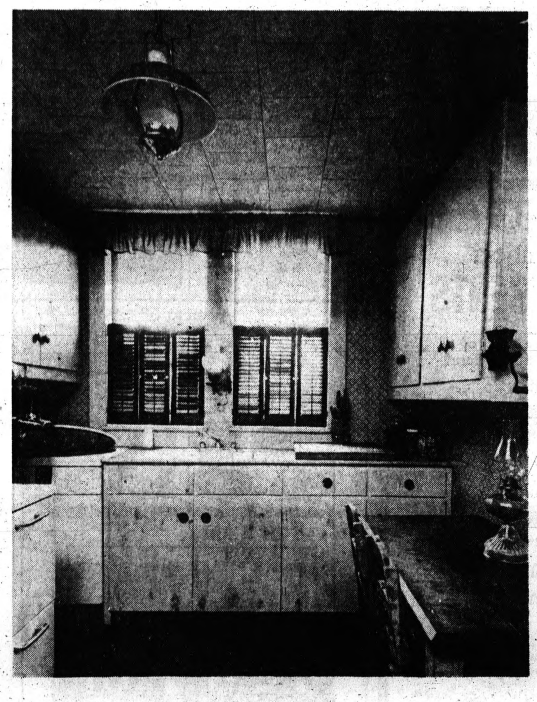
HARD AT WORK — Homework's never easy, not even in 14-year-old Laurie's study corner which overlooks the living area from the bedroom loft. She's conscientious though, not wanting to run any risk of jeopardizing her cheerleading activities at Oxford High School. Acoustical tile, doubly effective as a sound absorber and insulator, finishes the ceiling attractively.



CUPBOARD CONSCIOUS—In a small home, lack of cupboard space often has the homemaker up in arms. To put to use every bit of available space, the Kendalls had a china cupboard installed in the wall space behind the backswing of Bill's bedroom door. The interiors of both open cupboards pictured are painted a brick red. Exteriors are finished in provincial gold.



COUNTRY LIVING—Mrs. Jane Kendall scans the horizon for a chicken hawk that has been threatening her flock of Bantams. The wainscoting and shutters of the living-dining area are made of red barn siding. Color is introduced in bright yellow wallpaper accented with red. The original chimney still stands. Rather than dismantle it and have a modern fireplace installed, the Kendalls voted to put in a Franklin stove.



COMPACT KITCHEN—Swinging shutters separate the kitchen from the main hall. Wallpapered in a provincial print of yellow, brown and white with red accents, the kitchen offers modern convenience with Early American charm. Cupboards are finished in a provincial gold. Lighting is provided by a hanging brass fixture, a wrought iron swinging lamp and, in case of emergency, a coal oil lamp.

BARN FLOORING.— The stairway to the loft is made of barn beams and flooring. Bill, 16, climbs the steps to lend Laurie a hand with a homework problem. Ironstone and pottery pitchers and an antique sugar and creamer are displayed in the recessed knickknack shelf.

Indirect Heating Meets All Hot Water Needs

Indirect water heaters in connection with automatically fired hot water and steam heating systems are fully able to meet the growing demand for hot water in homes, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

With an indirect water heating system, the same boiler that heats the home also supplies heat for the domestic water supply to the tub, shower, lavatories, sinks, automatic laundry and dishwasher.

Traditional/Contemporary Home Owners' Decision

The most important consideration a person should give a new home, if one were forced to choose, is not the exterior but the floor plan—not what you look at, but what you live in.

But who wants to live in something he doesn't like, a house that doesn't reflect his own taste and personality?

This was the problem architect Herman H. York tackled when he designed today's House of the Week.

He wanted, first of all, a floor plan which answers the needs of up-to-date living: one-story arrangement with four bedrooms and a spare room, three full baths, family room, kitchen with dinette, basement, double garage, all put together for maximum convenience and privacy and ease of traffic flow for a busy family.

But what about the exterior? Should it be traditional; that is, the sort of comfortable architecture which offers refinements of proven techniques but nothing drastic?

CONTEMPORY DESIGN

Or should it be what the architects call contempory and the laymen call modern — a reflection of present day thinking which, at the same time, avoids avant garde experiments?

This house offers a choice of either. With the same floor plan, you can take your pick of traditional or contempory facade.

The traditional offers an exterior featuring used brick, hand split shingles, double hung small paned windows, shutters and decorative panels, dove cote, arched portico, diamond paned front door and other touches which reflect the best home architecture of preyious generations.

The contempory house uses Roman brick laid in stacked bond, accents of stone, vertical boards, horizontal windows, no shutters, flush front door, wide overhangs, a post and beam appearance for the gable ends, flush accent panels, modern light fixtures—an over-all effect of lerigth with emphasis on form rather than detail.

Whichever exterior design you choose, the interior remains the same.

In either case a covered main entry with slate floor edged with a masonry planter leads to a central foyer which funnels traffic to all areas of the house.

The foyer and all hall areas have wood paneled walls, an economical feature (because of the low maintenance) as well as an attractive one no matter what the exterior decor.

Architect York calls the family room a "hearth room" because this is the location of the fireplace.

INTENDED FOR USE

"The fireplace is intended to be used," says York, "and it will get far more use in this room than it would in the formal living room."

Adjoining the family (or "hearth") room is the kitchen which has space for a dinette in front of a cozy bow window and which offers excellent supervision of the back yard play area.

The laundry and mud closet are adjacent to the kitchen at the rear service entry.

This also is the location of a full bath, convenient to both the housekeeping area and the back yard, to the garage workbench and the basement stairs, and also to a spare room which can be used as a guest room, den, or even an apartment for relatives.

The bedroom wing is laid out with excellent sound buffers between it and the living area.

There is an abundance of closet space in all the bedrooms, and the master bedroom has an adjoining dressing and bath alcove.

The hall bathroom has a twin lavatory in a split arrangement which permits greater flexibility in use during the day.

The garage doors could be located on the front of the house if lot size prohibits side entry.

This plan would be less desirable, but would not interfer with the architectural design, whichever facade is selected, contemporary or traditional.

Congress Considers Proposals

Far-Ranging Housing Bills Introduced

Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., has introduced a bill to create a new federal agency which would finance construction of 160,000 housing units for moderate-income persons over the next four years.

Lindsay said that unless something is done to spur moderate income housing cities will become the homes of only "the very rich and the very poor" and "will cease to become a place for couples with children."

He said that New York City has lost 900,000 middle-income families in the past decade.

His bill would create a corporation to provide 50-year mortgage loans to foundations, trade unions, private groups, or similar organizations for construction of 40,000 housing units for each of the four years.

FEDERAL FINANCES

The corporation would be financed by $100 million of federal funds and could issue bonds of up to $2 billion for sale to the public.

Lindsay also introduced three other housing bills, including revived legislation to create a department of urban affairs of cabinet rank.

Another bill would increase the relocation allowance for persons displaced from their homes or businesses by urban renewal.

Payments would be increased from $200 to $500 for families and from $3,000 to $5,000 for businesses.

Lindsay's fourth bill would create a special congressional committee to make an "exhaustive examination of housing problems of our expanding cities and to re-examine concepts of urban renewal and community development."

Plan Before You Plant

A University of Illinois landscape architect Wednesday stressed the importance of a homeowner developing a landscape plan on paper before he develops it in the landscape itself.

Pointing out that millions of dollars each year are spent on landscapes yielding little satisfaction, William R. Nelson blamed most of this waste on the fact that "most home landscapes are the result of impulsive selection in planting without forethought of over-all effect."

"A plan on paper serves as an over-all view of the entire property to scale," explained Nelson, to a Farmers' Week audience at Michigan State University. "It will show you the position and size of everything on the property and everything you wish to place there. It will allow you to make changes easily so that you can get the best possible organization for your lot and your family's activities."

He pointed out that a plan also serves as a record and blueprint for the construction of a landscape whether it is accomplished by a landscape architect, a nurseryman or the owner himself.

The first step in developing the plan is to conduct a thorough inventory of your family's needs. The object, he says, is to keep in mind that the outdoor space is to be used by people.

"Too often," he explained, "I have seen families preoccupied with what to plant to the point that the development results in a landscape for the benefit of plants rather than for the family."

The ideal plan, he suggested, coordinates the indoor public, work, service, living and private areas with the outdoor public, work, service, living and private areas so that you can pass easily from one to the other.

Powder Room Plans Available in Booklet

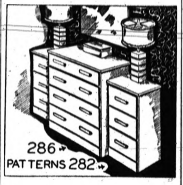
Scale drawings of 34 floor plans for bathrooms and powder rooms are available to homeowners in a booklet titled "Modern Bathroom Plans." New ideas such as combination bathrooms and dressing rooms are shown. Proper placement of fixtures in available space is also highlighted.

The booklet is available for 15 cents from the Plumbing-Heating - Cooling Information Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois, 60601.

Paints Fight Moisture

Moisture can be the cause of much unsatisfactory paint service. Under certain conditions, the effects of moisture can be controlled best by using special blister-resistant paints.

They may be oil or water base paints, and must be used as directed to obtain their maximum efficiency. For many homes with moisture problems, these paints will prove extremely valuable, advises the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.



Chests of drawers 36 and 18 inches long may be combined as shown here or may be used separately. Pattern 282 and 286, which show every step and a quick new way to make smooth-working drawers, are 35c each. These two patterns also are included in the Bedroom Furniture Packet No. 22 with a dressing table and popular terraced bedside Stand pattern — all for $1.

'Anti-Blitz' Plan Readied by Wings

From Our News Wires

CHICAGO — General manager-coach Sid Abel of the Detroit Red Wings intends to use the same "anti-blitz" strategy when the Wings meet the Chicago Black Hawks in the second game of the Stanley Cup semifinals series Sunday night at Chicago Stadium.

"It's a kitty-bar-the-door tactic we worked out, but didn't get to use it much because both clubs ran into penalties early in the first game," Abel explained. "However, we'll use it again Sunday."

Abel expected a 10-minute blitz by the Hawks at the start of the game and had worked on a special defensive maneuver for this opening surge.

"What we do is send our Ullman line (Norm Ullman, Floyd Smith and Larry Jeffrey) out and have them throw the puck in the Chicago end of the ice and chase it," Abel explained.

"Then, the Howe line (Gordie Howe, Alex Delvecchio and Parker MacDonald) comes on and we leave Alex playing back almost beside Terry Sawchuk in the goal.

"Meanwhile, Howe and MacDonald try to force the play. The sole purpose of the thing is to confuse Chicago and keep them off balance for that first 10 minutes."

Chicago coach Billy Reay said he will use the same line combinations that enabled the Hawks to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

"We were going after them," said Reay. "That's the way to stop any team. If you don't give them time to do anything, they just don't get anything done."

Reay not only was pleased with the Hawks' checking, but also called it the team's best defensive effort in a long time.

All-star defenseman Pierre Pilote, whose third period goal broke a 1-1 tie and sent the Hawks on their way, said the collision tactics had a lot to do with slowing Detroit's speed skating.

HIT HARD

"We play our best when we are hitting," said Pilote. "I didn't think we were hitting too much the last month of the season. But we were doing it Thursday night."

"I don't think we were really conscious of hitting any harder," said defenseman Al MacNeil. "It's just that we were up for the game and we seemed to be making contact sooner."

Tigers Starting 2nd Half of Exhibition Campaign

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers were scheduled to play the Chicago White Sox at Sarasota, Fla., this afternoon in a game that marked the Mid-point of their exhibition schedule.

The team had a day off Friday, its last—barring rain-cancelled games—until April 8, just two days before it breaks camp and heads north.

The Tigers, winners of only four of their first 13 exhibition tussles, have had little to shout about. But none of the other American League clubs is exactly a world beater either in the National League-dominated Grapefruit Circuit.

ONE AT .500

Going into Friday night's game at Miami, Baltimore, with a 5-5 record, was the only AL team playing .500 or better ball. Six of the eight National League clubs training in Florida were ahead of the Orioles in the standings.

The Tigers are 2-3 against AL competition and 2-6 against the NL teams. They have won only one of six home games.

Earlier this week manager Charlie Dressen indicated there would be a number of players cut from the roster. But he changed his mind after sending pitcher Larry Foster and outfielder Mickey Stanley to Tigertown and will hold off on any more cuts until a few more "B" games are played.

THREE-HITTER

Dave Wickersham pitched three-hit ball against the Detroit "B" squad earlier this week and Dressen wants to get a few of his other pitchers to throw for the farmhands to get in shape.

Dressen will start a couple of left-handers against the White Sox in their weekend series. Mickey Lolich was to be today's starter while Hank Aguirre will start in Lakeland Sunday.

The White Sox were to counter with Ray Herbert and John Buzhardt today and Joel Horlen and either Frank Baumann or Eddie Fisher Sunday.

Kidd Triumphs in Ski Event

CRESTED BUTTE, Colo. (AP)—Bill Kidd of Stowe, Vt., edged his Olympic teammate, Jim Heuga of Tahoe City, Calif., in the giant slalom of the North American Alpine Ski Championships Friday.

Kidd raced the course in 98.2 seconds to 99.1 for Heuga, a University of Colorado student.

Tammy Dix of Spokane, Wash., won the women's race with Linda Meyers of Mammoth Lakes, Calif., finishing the highest of U.S. Olympic women team members. She was third.

Joan Hannah, Olympic skier from Franconia, N.H., and Pia Riva, who skied for Italy in the Olympics, failed to finish.

Because of heavy snow in the area, officials said the downhill race, scheduled for Sunday on Crested Butte Mountain, has been canceled. The slalom has been put back to Sunday.

Crested Butte got eight to 19 inches of additional snow during the night. Snow fell and the wind blew during the races.

Kenya Drivers Lead Grueling African Race

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Driving through rain so dense he could hardly see the road, Mike Armstrong took the early lead in the world's toughest auto rally, the 3,190-mile East African Safari.

After about 1,300 miles Armstrong and his co-driver, Eric Bates, had accumulated only 10 penalty points in their British Ford Cortina. Both are from Kenya.

In contrast, American hopes of a team victory with Ford Lincoln Comets became virtually nil on Friday as they amassed 266 penalty points. The one driven by LeRoy Neumayer of Compton, Calif.

Keg Booster Squads on ABC Lanes Today

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A continued predominance of low average booster teams will fill the lanes at the American Bowling Congress Tournament today.

Action on Good Friday, with only one squad of men in their minor events and two team squads, did not produce any changes in the standings of the 65 day event.

The Carling Open is the first sanctioned international golf tourney.

Tourney Pairs Ex-Champion, Eddie Machen

NEW YORK (UPI) — Floyd Patterson and Eddie Machen have been matched for a 12-round heavyweight elimination fight at Stockholm, Sweden, in July — "with one proviso" — the co-promoters announced today.

The proviso is that ex-champion Patterson has the privilege of accepting a title fight with Cassius Clay until late next week when contracts for the Patterson - Machen bout are scheduled to be signed in New York.

Announcement of the fight was made by co-promoters Edwin Ahlqvist at Stockholm and Al Bolan in New York.

They staged Floyd's latest fight on Jan. 12 at Stockholm's indoor Johanneshov Stadium, where the ex-champ stopped Sante Amonti of Italy in the eighth round. A sellout 12,000 attended.

The Patterson-Machen "eliminator" will be slated for outdoors before "at least 40,000 spectators" July 5 or July 6 at Stockholm's old Olympic Stadium or at the Raasunda Soccer Stadium, Ahlqvist said.

Bolan, who was associated with the promotion of Patterson's last five championship bouts, insisted upon the Clay title-fight proviso because Bolan has offered Clay a guarantee of $750,000 to defend against Floyd.

Wolverines 1-2-3 in Gymnastic Event

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defending champion University of Michigan qualified men in the first three places on the trampoline Friday in the preliminary round of the NCAA gymnastic tournament.

Preliminaries for four more events were held Friday night.

Michigan's John Hamilton scored 9.50 on the trampoline, Gary Erwin had 9.45 and Fred Sanders 9.30 on the 10-point scale.

Erwin is the defending individual trampoline champion.

Rusty Mitchell of Southern Illinois was first in floor exercise and tied for ninth on the horizontal bar.

Defending champion Russell Mills of Yale was first on the side horse with 9.70.

The first eleven men on the horizontal bar all scored 9.00 or better. Terry Higgins was first with 9.45.

Bourdase Bids for First Win on Pro Circuit

Overflow Crowd Sees Allen, Lening Join Hardwick in Finals

By JERE CRAIG

You could almost hear the wedding bells Friday night at 300 Bowl.

After nearly a three-year courtship, area bowling fans last night became engaged to the Professional Bowlers' Association tour and its North American Open tournament.

A standing-room-only crowd jammed into the 300 Bowl to see Ed (The Hypnotized One) Bourdase, Fresno, Calif., lead three fellow PBA members into this afternoon's nationally televised finals of the $31,400 affair.

What the fans saw was the best bowling in the world; and they knew it. That the same caliber of action had been here in August 1962 and April 1963 and had attracted only a passing glance, mattered little.

That the same high quality bowling will make its final local appearance this year beginning at 3:30 p.m. today undoubtedly now matters a lot.

The fans are expected to pack the house again this afternoon to see who wins the $4,000 first prize. They'll see an outstanding field in action.

Heading the list is the 35-year-old Bourdase, whose relaxation-by-hypnotism approach to the game saw him average 216 for 40 games across 40 lanes this week, and win 12 of 16 head-to-head matches yesterday.

THIRD STRAIGHT

In the finals for the third straight week Bourdase, yesterday, had big victories over No. 2 man Bill Allen, 248—238, and Ed Lubanski, 248—246, while dropping a 247—245 match to fellow Californian Bill Hardwick, currently in fourth place.

Allen, from Orlando, Fla. and the defending champion, beat Bourdase in the final match last night, 210—166, for his 10th win in 16 matches. He had winning totals of 268, 257, 239, 248 and 224 while averaging nearly 218 Friday.

This afternoon he'll bowl the No. 3 and 4 finalists for the right to meet Bourdase in the championship match.

The third man is Fred Lening of Fairless Hills, Pa., the leader after the 24 qualifying games. Of his three potential foes in the finals, Lening lost only to Bourdase yesterday.

The 42-year-old, cigar-smoking bowling house manager lost to the latter, 209—183, in Friday's opening match. He topped Allen, 231—188, and Hardwick twice, 236—214 (in the position round), and 223-211.

Hardwick of San Mateo, Calif., the leading money winner on last year's PBA tour, posted the high game to date in the North American Open when he bowled 290 against Johnny Meyer yesterday.

In addition to his two-pin victory over Bourdase, the 22-year-old pro won a match that will be long remembered by last night's big turnout when he nipped Jack Rosencrance of Endicott, N.Y., 279—277.

He'll tangle with Lening in this afternoon's opening match. The loser then will bowl Allen, who in turn, will complete the preliminary elimination by bowling the winner.

The first man to win twice will meet Bourdase for the top prize money and championship trophy. Should none win two times, then total pins will determine Bourdase's opponent.

Gajda Trails Campbell by Stroke

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Joe Campbell, former Purdue University golf and basketball star turned golfing executive, hasn't won a tournament in over two years.

But he feels he's on the way to better things. He carried a one stroke lead over Bob into today's second round of the $20,000 Azalea Open tournament after shooting a five-under-par 67 Friday.

"I made those six and seven-foot putts you have to make when you are playing well," was the way he summed up his 33-34 tour of the 6,744-yard Cape Fear Country Club course. It gave him a one-stroke edge over Bob Gajda, 47-year-old Bloomfield Hills, Mich., pro who is playing his way home to his club job after making the four-tournament Caribbean tour this winter.

Campbell, a chunky, cigar-smoking 28-year-old blond, is vice president of a company making a new-style grip for golf clubs. Ever the executive, he pointed out to newsmen that the grip has been a major factor in his improved play.

Joe has had his ups and downs since his selection five years ago as pro golf Rookie of the Year. In 1962 he won more than $21,000 on the tour. Last year, stopped by an appendectomy at Greensboro, N.C., he won less than half that amount.

And in nine tournaments before coming here he only pocketed about $1,500 this year. A hand injury in mid-winter forced him to lay off a few weeks. He won $600 Friday for the best score of the round, a daily bonus prize awarded by the sponsors.

Campbell's longest putt was a 12-footer for one of his five birdies. He missed only one green, but got his par by chipping three inches from the hole.

HOT PUTTER

Gajda had 10 one-putt greens as he putted only 26 times to 31 for Campbell. The Michigan veteran knocked in five putts of 15 to 30 feet.

With the weather ideal after a rainout Thursday, 34 players in the field of 160 broke par and 23 others equalled it.

Giants Seek Snider for Pinch Hit Role

By The Associated Press

Duke Snider apparently is the left-handed slugger the San Francisco Giants figure will bring the National League pennant back to Candlestick Park this season.

The 1962 NL champions who dropped to third place in 1963 Friday were reported to have started negotiations with the New York Mets in an effort to get Snider.

The Duke, one of the few active major leaguers with more than 400 homers to his credit and now in the twilight of his baseball career, was sold to the Mets by the Los Angeles Dodgers a year ago.

The Giants need a left-handed pinch hitter who can hit the long ball to replace the southpaw hitting of catcher Ed Bailey traded to Milwaukee during the off-season. And the 37-year-old Snider still is dangerous at the plate as evidenced by his 14 homers, three triples and eight doubles for the Mets last season.

NO REACTION

What sort of a deal the Giants offered the Mets for Snider was not known and there was no immediate reaction from the New York club.

The Duke, starting his 18th year in the majors, walloped a home run off Robin Roberts at Miami, Fla. Friday night in one of two exhibition games played on Good Friday.

The homer helped the Mets take a 2-0 lead, but they eventually lost 7-2 to Baltimore when the Orioles came up with five runs in the eighth inning. In the other game, the Houston Colts scored five runs in the first inning and beat Kansas City 6-4 at Daytona Beach.

Baltimore catcher Dick Brown led the Oriole attack with three hits—a homer, double and a two-run single in the decisive eighth—to back up hitless relief pitching by Harvey Haddix and Dick Hall over the last four innings.

Houston's quick five runs came on Eddie Kasko's lead-off homer, two walks with the bases loaded by Bob Anderson and a single by pitcher Hal Woodeshick. The game was called after eight innings because of darkness.

MSU Extends Unbeaten String

By The Associated Press

Michigan State extended its undefeated baseball string to five Friday with a doubleheader victory over Camp Lejeune, N. C.

The Spartans won the morning game 6-3 and came back to take the afternoon contest 22-1.

Meanwhile, Michigan dropped a 7-3 decision to Arizona State at Phoenix, Ariz.

Michigan State will meet Massachusetts at Camp Lejeune today. Michigan closes out its western tour with a doubleheader with Arizona State at Phoenix this afternoon.

Spartan coach Danny Litwhiler used his second team to whip the Marines in the opener Friday. Pitchers John Ellward and Tom Phipps held Camp Lejeune to six hits.

The MSU regulars blitzed the Leathernecks with 24 hits in the nightcap, including homers by Dick Billings and John Biedenbach. Jerry Sutton, who drove in five runs, Dennis Ketcham, Bruce Look, Billings and Biedenbach lashed out three hits apiece.

The Sun Devils boosted their season mark to 14-2 with their 13th straight victory at the expense of Michigan. The Wolverines have lost six games in Arizona.

Southern Cal Swimming Star Bids for 3rd NCAA Victory

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Fabulous Roy Saari, a top American Olympic prospect, is a solid favorite to win the grueling 1650-yard freestyle tonight and score the only triple in the NCAA swimming and diving championships.

The sandy-haired 19-year-old from Southern California has won back-to-back gold medals in the 500-yard freestyle and 200-yard individual in NCAA record times. If he doesn't win the closing event in the three-day meet, it'll be a major upset.

America's leading college swimmers and divers have put on an exciting display of power the past two days. They've broken nine NCAA records and lowered two national standards so far. They show no sign of softening their assault on the record book.

FIRST TRY

The 190-pound Saari, making his first NCAA appearance, is the chief record-wrecker, but hardly anybody is surprised. He holds the National AAU indoor titles in the 500-yard freestyle, the 400-yard individual medley and the 1650-yard grind.

Saari's spectacular showings, including swimming the anchor leg on the Trojans' championship 400-yard medley relay team have eclipsed the rest of the field but there are other standouts.

These include Steve Clark, the speediest swimmer in Yale history; Indiana's graceful diver, Rick Gilbert, and butterfly ace, Fred Schmidt; Princeton's Jed Graef, three-time Eastern and present NCAA backstroke champion; Saari's teammate, sophomore Bill Craig, breaststroke, and Minnesota's Walt Richardson.

Clark and Gilbert are aiming for second gold medals in their specialties in tonight's seven-event program. Preliminaries start at 1 p.m. EST.

HOOSIERS AHEAD

Favored Indiana led for the team title with 60 points, two more than Yale. Southern California, the defending champion, was third with 55. The Hoosiers were expected to pick up at least 10 points in the three-meter dive where their nearest challengers face a shutout.

200-yard backstroke — 1-Fred Schmidt, Indiana, 1:53.5. (Meet and NCAA record. Old meet record 1:55.5 set by Schmidt in afternoon qualifying round. Old NCAA record 1:53.7 by Walter Richardson, Minnesota, 1963); 2-Walt Richardson, Minnesota, 1:54.4; 3-Bob Bennett, Southern California, 1:55.0; 4-Lary Schulhof, Indiana, 1:57.7; 5-Ralph Kendrick, Indiana, 1:58.3; 6-George Spear, Texas, 1:58.4.

Injured Cincinnati Squad Faces Tough Playoff Test

By The Associated Press

The Cincinnati Royals hope they can run Philadelphia out of the National Basketball Association playoffs before the Royals run out of healthy ball players.

But the 76ers, beset by injuries through the regular NBA season and trailing 2-1 in their best-of-five-games Eastern Division semifinal set with Cincinnati, may have a manpower edge as well as the home court advantage in tonight's fourth game.

In the Western Division semifinals, the St. Louis Hawks hold a 2-1 margin over Los Angeles but must also battle the home floor hex tonight when they visit the Lakers. The home team has won each of the first six games in the two series.

Cincinnati needs a victory over the 76ers to advance to the Eastern finals against the Boston Celtics. The Royals also need a few day's rest to get their bandage brigade, which includes starters Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas and reserve Bud Olsen, back in working order.

BRUISED ARM

Robertson, who bruised his right forearm, and Lucas, who suffered a back injury during Tuesday's defeat at Philadelphia both played the following night when the Royals won 101-89. Both are with the team today. But, whereas Robertson is expected to play, Lucas' status is doubtful. The rookie star was in for only eight minutes in Wednesday's victory.

Olsen, victim of a sprained ankle, did not make the trip.

S.t Louis had a chance to finish off Los Angeles Wednesday but a blocked Hawks' shot and Elgin Baylor's last-second basket gave the Lakers a 107-105 decision and kept thtir hopes alive.

If both series go the full five games, the decisive contests will be played at Cincinnati Sunday and at St. Louis Monday.

Olson in Line for Title Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Carl Bobo Olson, a decade ago monarch of the middleweights, was offered a fight today for the world light-heavyweight boxing championship.

The aging battler, balding and 35, toyed with highly regarded Wayne Thornton Friday night to win a 10-round decision on a nationally televised show from Kezar Pavilion.

"Now I'd like to have Bobo fight for the championship in New York," said matchmaker Teddy Brenner of Madison Square Garden.

Champion Willie Pastrano defends his crown against Goyo Peralta of Argentina in New Orleans on April 10. Olson, it is hoped, will battle the winner of that one.

"And that's what I've been struggling for," said Bobo after the battle. "I want to get back into the big money."

The Thornton bout went down as a split decision because Judge Bob Mitchell called it a draw. But Judge Jack Downey had it 6-3-1 for the winner and referee Vern Bybee had it 7-2-1. United Press International had it 8-2.

Spotlight Turns to Frank Carbo in Fight Probe

New York's Keating Urges Investigation of Possible Ties

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Was convict Frankie Carbo the unseen manager calling the shots in both corners for Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay in their Feb. 25 heavyweight title fiasco?

Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., believes Broadway's one-time "man in gray" now wearing the pinstripes of San Quentin may have "reached out from behind prison bars and placed his cohorts in both the Liston and Clay camps"—and aims to try to prove it.

Keating announced Friday night that he will urge the Senate committee investigating the Liston - Clay whateveritwas to look into a "boxing Appalachin conference" that may link Carbo to both fighters.

"I think it is most essential that we discover whether Frankie Carbo has reached out from beyond prison bars and placed his cohorts in both the Liston and Clay camps," said Keating, who revealed he has evidence of a high-echelon meeting of Carbo and alleged lieutenants held in Washington on March 19, 1958.

Carbo, long believed to be the underworld czar of boxing, has been serving time on various counts of conspiracy and under - cover managing since 1960.

Keating said he had information that Carbo, Sam Margolis of Philadelphia and Angelo Dundee of Miami Beach, Fla., the latter a trainer and advisor of Clay, presided over the 1958 "Appalachin - type" meeting which also included Frank Blinky Palermo of Philadelphia, Benjamin Magliano of Philadelphia, Benny Trotta of Baltimore, Dominic Mordini and Billy Brown of New York and Mike Snyder and Tony Ferrante of Philadelphia.

"Fortunately," said Keating, "the record of what was said at that meeting, including discussions concerning the future of Sonny Liston, was kept by two undercover agents of the New York City police department and described in some detail on pages 651-660 of the December, 1960, hearings of this subcommittee.

"In addition," said Keating, "I am informed that there is some additional evidence stemming from New York investigations linking the figures in the Clay-Liston fight with the Carbo combine."

Margolis, a Philadelphia vending machine operator, was given 275 shares of Liston's stock in Intercontinental Promotions, Inc., the corporation which promotes Liston fights, before the bout with Clay.

Name Top Ice Stars

DETROIT (AP)—Two players from Michigan's NCAA championship hockey team have been named to the 1964 All-America team by college coaches. Wolverine defenseman Tom Polonic and center Gordie Wilkie were named to the team along with Michigan Tech goalie Gary Bauman, Michigan State defenseman Carl Lackey; and forwards Craig Falkmah of Minnesota and John Simus of Colorado College.

Mat Coach Resigns

HOUGHTON (AP)—Michigan Tech wrestling coach Allan E. Holmes has resigned to become assistant football and wrestling coach at his Alma mater, Moorhead, Minn., State. He will leave in June.

Conservation Department Almost Loses Deer Control

LANSING (AP)—Members of the House declared an open season on the Conservation Department Friday, sniping at the state's outdoor agency from all directions.

The department came within a whisker of losing its control of the deer herd during the debate on two bills to set the starting date of the deer season.

Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, offered an amendment to one of the deer season bills which would have shorn the Conservation Commission of it's discretionary power over the deer herd.

This would have prevented the department from permitting special seasons for the shooting of does or allowing deer harvests where the whitetails are damaging orchards or farm crops.

PASSED FLOOR

The amendment first passed almost unnoticed, but on a reconsideration was voted down by a tight 48-45 vote.

"It's about time we shook the conservation department up," said Rep. Carroll Newton, R-Delton, in arguing for the Jacobetti amendment.

"Let's show them how we feel about it," agreed Rep. William Baird, D-Detroit.

"We can't designate the deer seasons every year," countered Rep. Arnell Engstrom, R-Traverse City. "Let's leave the thing alone."

Another department defender was Rep. Homer Arnett, R-Kalamazoo, who raised the point that the Conservation Department then wouldn't be able to allow special shooting to prevent orchard damage.

ACID DEBATE

When the debate became acid, Rep. Joseph Gillis, D-Detroit, broke the tension by suggesting another amendment. He noted that moose, elk and caribou currently are protected against shooting.

"How about protecting elephants? he asked. "We have more elephants shot in Michigan than caribou. There was one shot in Lansing not too long ago."

House members started taking pot shots at the Conservation Department early. The first bill considered was one to permit the department to sea seasons for sports fishing on the Great Lakes. It was defeated 54-37.

"There is a feeling of mistrust about the Conservation Department," said Rep. Lucille McCollough, D-Dearborn, in opposition to the proposal.

"The road to ruin of public trust in the conservation Department has been paved by good intentions," agreed Rep. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood.

TWO OPENING DATES

The snarl on setting the opening date for the deer season started with a bill, passed 82-11, allowing hunting bows to be carried in a trunk or enclosed in a case rather than requiring they be unstrung.

An amendment set the deer season opener for the western end of the Upper Peninsula at the nearest Saturday to Nov. 15.

A second bill, sponsored by Rep. Clifford Perras, R-Ndeau, called for a uniform deer opener of Nov. 15 for the entire state, including the western end of the Upper Peninsula.

The two contradictory bills both were approved and sent to the Senate.

"We'll have to have a conference on that one to straighten it out," said Perras.

Deflated Bonus Baby Salutes NL Pitchers

FORT MYERS, Fla (UPI)—Bob Bailey, a young man with both feet finally on the ground, readily confessed today that National League pitchers have taken "a lot of wind out of my sails."

It was bound to happen.

As a $150,000-plus bonus baby Bailey came up to the big leagues last year with more fanfare than Joe DiMaggio and the Pittsburgh Pirates were so sure that he was going to make it that they handed him their third base job on a platter.

They still have faith in the good looking, 21-year-old youngster from Long Beach, Calif., even though he batted only .228 last year and showed only 45 runs batted in and 12 homers in his rookie season.

FORT KNOX

Impolite as it is to point, people still do point at Bailey and make such comments as "there goes baseball's Fort Knox." He says it doesn't bother him but the suspicion exists that it does.

"The bonus had nothing to do with my showing last year. I've forgotten all about it," he said, sitting in a corner of the dugout and keeping both eyes peeled so as not to miss his turn in the batting cage.

"I never really became discouraged until pretty near the end of last season. Until then I felt I could still salvage the year. Then I realized I couldn't any more."

Bailey isn't the pop-off type. Neither is he the type to go off in a dark corner and hide simply because he didn't set the baseball world on fire in 1963.

STARTED PRESSING

"When the team started going bad last year I began pressing," he says. "I started trying to hit a home run every time up. I came up a lot of times with men on base and I know I didn't knock in enough runs.

"Maybe I was a little too cocky. I'll tell you one thing: "They've taken a lot of the wind out of my sails. But I'm more determined than ever. I profited by last year's experience and I feel I learned a lot that will help me this year."

Manager Danny Murtaugh feels the same way.

"We're not worried one bit about Bailey," he said. "He's a good boy and a fine looking ball player."

PBA Entrant Yields Place, Money at 300

Detroit's Bob Strampe finished fifth in the head-to-head competition of the Pontiac PBA tourney but relinquished the alternate's role to Johnny Meyer of Lake Ronkonkoma, N. Y.

The National All Star champion won $1,200 for fifth place but turned down the extra $50 that goes with the alternate's role.

Strampe's winnings for the year are now a PBA leading $17,800.

The alternate for Friday's match play, amateur Jerry Jamkowski, moved into the action when Roy Rosland of Chicago could not return in time from a meeting with his draft board.

SPLIT MONEY

The 24-year-old Detroiter, 17th after the 24-game qualifying, finished 13th by winning seven matches.

He and Rosland both won $577.50, which is $222.50 more than Jamkowski would have won for 17th place.

Rosland lost $22.50 by not being able to compete yesterday.

Ex-Duke Star NBA 'Learner'

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is a difference between education and learning, the kind of difference that can develop a star college athlete into a good professional.

Art Heyman, who received his education at Duke, got a post-graduate course in learning this year during his freshman season in the National Basketball Association.

That he now understands the distinction ensures a long professional career for the highly-touted youngster.

Perhaps the most important thing Heyman learned was how to be a loser, a most unfortunate fact of life but nevertheless a yearly ritual when one wears the uniform of the New York Knickerbockers.

"It's the first time I've ever been on a losing team," Heyman said today. "When we were losing so much at first I kept getting down on myself. I've always been used to being with a winner and this constant losing came as a jolt.

"But I learned to get used to losing. If you don't, you get buried under."

There is a lot more of the professional in Heyman's manner than when he first reported to the Knicks. Basketball, a fun game for him ever since his childhood days in Rockville Centre, N.Y., is now his livelihood.

The game is no longer merely played; it is constantly studied, analyzed and worried over.

MOVED BACK

Early in the season, when he was having trouble adjusting to a backcourt role, Heyman indicated he might quit the Knicks when his contract ran out and go to law school.

"There is no sense doing something when you don't enjoy it," Heyman said. "I'm not having any fun out of playing at all."

Hard work, on the part of Heyman as well as Knick Coach Eddie Donovan and teammate Tom Gola, finally paid its dividend and in the final two months of the season Heyman was playing with confidence.

He has a positive outlook about the Knicks and wants to be a part of their future.

Most of the problem was that at six feet, five inches, Heyman was of excellent size for a forward position at Duke. He was extremely aggressive under the boards and picked up most of his points driving to the basket. Unfortunately for him, he was too small to continue this style of play in the bigger pro league and was switched to guard.

CONFIDENCE HURT

The fact that this was a strange position for him and that he didn't have a developed set shot hurt his play and his confidence.

"You've got to go onto the court with confidence," said the Knicks' No. 1 draft choice.

Heyman was the greatest scorer in Duke history with 1,984 points in three varsity seasons for an over-all average of 25.1 points in 79 games. In his first season in the NBA, Heyman averaged 15.4 points per game, but was consistently scoring over 20 in the final weeks.

Gamblers Told to Close Shop

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Police Chief John Ermey has told owners of the illegal multi-million-dollar gambling operations at Hot Springs to close after tonight's action.

Ermey's announcement came Friday night, several hours after Gov. Orval E. Faubus warned that if the city did not close the casinos, state troopers would be sent in to do the job.

The U.S. Department of Justice launched an investigation of gambling in this mountain city resort city several weeks ago. Investigators said the city harbored the biggest illegal operation in the nation.

Faubus' action came one day after the Arkansas House adopted 91-3 a resolution condemning the gambling and calling on Garland County—Hot Springs—officials to shut down their biggest industry.

NOT BINDING

The resolution was not binding, but Faubus took it as a mandate for action.

Ermey personally notified the casino operators to cease operations after tonight.

"If they don't close we are fully able to handle the situation," Ermey said. "We won't need any outside help. The Hot Springs Police Department and I will cooperate fully with the governor and the legislature and carry out their wishes."

Several casino operators said they would close on Ermey's orders. Gambling activity was normally brisk Friday night.

Illegal gambling has flourished in Hot Springs for almost a century.

Use Tile Outside Too

Can ceramic tile be installed on exterior walls in all climates? The answer is yes. In fact architects, who like its wide range of colors, exciting design possibilities and durability, are using it on more commercial and residential exteriors than ever before.

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson provided yesterday for continued unemployment compensation payments to former federal workers and ex-servicemen.

The former federal workers and ex-servicemen are not eligible for unemployment benefits paid others by state agencies.

Cattle Shortage Firms Up Market

CHICAGO (AP) —A smaller cattle supply this week contributed somewhat to firmness in the market for slaughter steers and they sold steady to 25 cents a hundredweight higher.

After a firm start Monday, prices steadied and showed little change thereafter. The average price of all steers for the week was estimated at $21.50, up a few cents from the previous week.

Mart Closes on Buoyant Note

Mixed Returns for Short Week

NEW YORK (AP) — The short stock market trading week just ended was about evenly divided between advances and declines.

The list continued a "correction" from recent record highs on the first two days then displayed buoyancy in the concluding two sessions. The market and other financial institutions were closed for Good Friday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged for the week at 301.7.

ADVANCE NOTED

The industrial average produced an advance of .98 at 815.91. The record closing high was 820.25 on March 18.

The 500-stock index rose .27 at 79.19.

Even while the market was declining slightly Monday and Tuesday, there was an underlying firmness which prompted one analyst to remark, "the market is giving a good account of itself."

The list, having risen to historic highs the previous week in a persistent day - to - day advance was due for a decline, Wall Streeters agreed. After three straight sessions of falling prices the market rose again.

B47 Crashes; Crew, Boy Die

Flames From Plane Kills Child in Field

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP)— An Air Force B47 bomber crashed in a cascade of flame shortly after takeoff Friday. Four crewmen and a child were killed.

The boy, Richard Butler, 9, was playing with a companion when the huge plane slammed into the ground less than 50 yards from his home. Apparently he was killed by fire which spurted from the plane. The other child, Gary Davenport, 10 was critically burned.

Lt. Col. R. W. Hurdis, 43, Providence, R.I., pilot;

1st Lt. L. V. Christian, 27, Dallas, Tex., copilot;

1st Lt. M. B. Keller, 24, Atlanta, Ga., navigator;

Lt. Col. L. M. Dykes, 43, St. Petersburg, Fla., a passenger.

One of the crew ejected from the low-flying plane. His body fell in the back yard of a home across the road from the Butler house.

Bodies of the other crewmen were scattered with bits of wreckage over an area the size of a city block.

The plane was reported in trouble on takeoff from Little Rock Air Force Base. It came down about three miles from the end of the runway. The base at Jacksonville is 15 miles northeast of Little Rock.

Witnesses said the plane missed the Grover Butler home by just a few yards. Four other children were inside.

A barn near the home was demolished. Four Shetland ponies and three dogs also were victims of the crash.

This was the fifth B47 crash near the base since early 1959. The crashes have killed 10 crewmen and three civilians.

Capt. Douglas Woods, base information officer, said the plane was on a training mission and carried no nuclear weapons.

UGLY DUCKLING—Detroit City Health Commissioner Dr. George P. Anderson holds a lifelike toy duckling on sale throughout the state for use in Easter baskets for children which has been declared dangerous by the Federal Food and Drug Administration in Detroit. The once-live ducklings have been treated with benzine hexachloride which could be dangerous to children. The Japanese imports are being removed from sale.

Being Pulled off Market

Easter Toy Ruled Hazard

DETROIT (AP) — Health inspectors checked hundreds of Detroit stores Friday for toy ducklings made of the skin and down of real ducklings and considered dangerous to children by health officials.

The search began after the Federal Food and Drug Administration office in Detroit advised the City Health Department of the danger involved in the lifelike toys, believed to be scattered through the state for use in Easter baskets.

City Health Commissioner Dr. George P. Anderson said the toys, imported from Japan, are actual ducklings, with real skin and down feet and bills.

He said the ducklings were killed when they were about two weeks old, skinned and stuffed with cotton waste treated with benzine hexachloride, a chemical used as a soil fumigant but also "suitable for embalming."

ON OUTSIDE

He said the chemical tends to seep through the skin and also gets on the outside of the birds during manufacture.

Dr. Anderson said the chemical, if ingested, causes vomiting and acts on the nervous system, causing difficulty in breathing and possible convulsions.

The director of the FDA office in Detroit, George Daughters, said his office was contacted by retailers who wanted to know if the toys were safe.

Daughters said the FDA had checked into the ducklings in the past and considers them "filthy and harmful."

Dr. Anderson said he understands there are upwards of 24,000 of the ducklings scattered through the state.

Claims Russia Has Pilotless Planes

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Air Marshal V. A. Sudets said today that Russian armed forces have been equipped with pilotless long-distance interceptor planes.

Sudets, commander of Soviet antiaircraft defense, said the planes are capable of destroying enemy rockets and planes at high and low altitudes, under any weather conditions, and are inmune to radio jamming.

He did not say how many pilotless interceptors there are or when they were developed in an article in the official military newspaper Red Star.

RELEASED AIRMEN—Capt. David I. Holland, 35, of Holland, Minn. (front), and Capt. Melvin J. Kessler, 30, of Philadelphia step from plane at U.S. Air Force headquarters at Wiesbaden, Germany, yesterday. They were flown to Wiesbaden after their release by East German authorities yesterday. A third airman, Lt. Harold W. Welsh of Detroit was released last Saturday.

Clamp Secrecy on Fliers

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—The U.S. Air Force cloaked in secrecy today its inquiry into the flight of a reconnaissance plane shot down over Communist East Germany 8 days ago.

Officials at the Air Force European headquarters also refused to give any information on the two officers returned here yesterday by the Soviets or on an injured lieutenant released earlier.

Captains David I. Holland, 35, of Holland, Minn., and Melvin J. Kessler, 30, of Philadelphia appeared in good condition as they were whisked off to an Air Force hospital for a routine checkup.

They undoubtedly will be heard by a board of inquiry looking into the incident, which jeopardized U.S.-Soviet relations and came just six weeks after another U.S. jet was shot down over East Germany with the loss of three fliers.

The United States insists that the RB66 jet strayed into East Germany. The Soviet Union charges it was spying.

Air Force officials here were under orders to give no information about the flight or the three officers, including 1st Lt. Harold W. Welch, 24, of Detroit. He was released March 21 with a broken leg and arm and was reported in good condition then.

Reflections

EASTER, MARCH 29th

In 325 A.D. this glorious festival date was set as the first Sunday after the full moon of the spring equinox. In the last fifty years Easter has fallen only ten times in March. The date this year is March 29th — the first Sunday after the full moon of the spring equinox.

J. L. VOORHEES

The liturgical color for Easter is white as the sign of joy, light and purity. The egg, holding the seed of new life, is the symbol of the escape of bondage of death; these symbols (eggs) have been used for thousands of years by Egyptians, Persians, Greeks and Romans.

Thousands and thousands of Lillies are used in our churches as symbols of purity. Our music is Joyful, Services are inspirational, people are happy as the deeper meaning of Easter is explained and appraised. March 29th will be a time of praise, a time when we can lift our voices to the heaven above and bring our being into harmony with the infinite.

"Christ is risen" will reverberate from heart to heart, vocal chords to clouds, to the infinite gates of Heaven with praise of our Lord, our Savior.

Devastating Quake Crumbles Alaska Cities

State Expected to Speed New Congress Districts

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan's legislature—under prodding by a federal court—is expected today to move swiftly to carve out 19 new Congressional districts as nearly equal in population as practicable.

In a 2-1 decision, a federal panel ruled yesterday the lawmakers must either revamp the plan they adopted last year or the state must elect its representatives on an at-large basis next November.

All three judges agreed last year's plan is unconstitutional because of wide population deviations. Population totals range from 306,000 in the smallest district, the Upper Peninsula, to 494,000 in the largest, Wayne (Detroit) County's 15th District. District judges Talbot Smith and Stephen Roth, both Democratic appointees, signed the majority opinion ordering reapportionment in time for the election this fall.

Circuit Court of Appeals Judge Clifford O'Sullivan, a Republican appointee, said the legislature should be allowed greater leeway to draw up the new districts, even if this meant waiting until the 1966 elections to do so.

The ruling could result in a shift in the political balance of power now prevailing for Republicans who hold 11 of the state's 19 seats in the U. S. House of Representatives.

Most political observers believe an at-large election would favor the Democrats. Any realignment of districts on a population basis would tend to cut into the outstate strength of the GOP by assigning more congressmen to the heavily-populated Detroit area.

There were indications the decision might be appealed to the United States Supreme Court with a request for a stay of execution.

Gov. George W. Romney expressed disappointment in the court's ruling but said he will meet with legislative leaders early next week to determine a course of action.

"We will comply with whatever the courts finally rule," he said. "Fortunately, we can take advantage of much of the groundwork done a year ago when we drew the 19 districts the court has now ruled out.

EVERYTHING POSSIBLE

"We'll do everything possible to avert an election of our 19 congressmen at large."

Secretary of State James Hare, in charge of elections,

County Put in Turmoil by Decision

By JIM DYGERT

"It's back to the drawing board," State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, said with a sigh.

There were many other sighs, too, and moans and groans, among Oakland County Republicans yesterday when a federal court panel opened the window to toss out Michigan's 1963 congressional districting and let turmoil in.

Nowhere did the ruling leave more confusion in its wake than in Oakland, which is sure to have its 18th and 19th districts revised because they are below average in population.

Plunged into uncertainty were four announced Republican candidates for the new 19th district, an untold number of prospective aspirants in both districts, and both Democratic and GOP party organizations.

Incumbent GOP Congressman William S. Broomfield, who now represents all of Oakland County under pre-1963 districting, may be forced to reevaluate his decision to run this year in the 18th.

NOT COMPLAINING

County Democrats, though also dumped into confusion, were not complaining.

Though their plan last year for redistricting the county was similar to the one finally adopted by the GOP-controlled state legislature, they opposed the districting bill in general as a Republican one

Salinger OK'd for Senate Bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With a champagne toast and a yell, "the campaign is on!" Pierre Salinger celebrated the California Supreme Court order declaring he is a legal candidate for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator.

It was the last of a series of developments that started March 19 when Salinger resigned as presidential press secretary.

He flew to California to declare his candidacy, established a San Francisco hotel residence, hired a battery of lawyers, campaigned all over the 700-mile-long state and mounted the Supreme Court fight.

"I'm elated," said Salinger, 38, in Los Angeles yesterday when he heard the court had ruled in his favor and against the Republican secretary of state, Frank M. Jordan.

Jordan had refused Salinger's candidacy papers on the grounds that the ex-newsman had violated state election code requirements covering party affiliation and length of state residency.

Fear Hundreds Dead; Communication Cut

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson declared earthquake-ravaged Alaska a major disaster area today and pledged the full support of the United States government "in meeting this tragic disaster."

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A devastating quake, one of the strongest ever felt in the United States, spread death and destruction through half a dozen Alaska cities last night.

The shock set up tidal waves which swept down the west coast of the continent, doing heavy damage and taking more lives.

Tens of thousands also fled to higher land in Hawaii, but no casualties were reported. The seismic waves reached Japan early today but had lost their force.

The death toll may reach into the hundreds. There was no way to assess the number of dead and injured immediately.

Anchorage, Alaska's largest city, with a metropolitan population of about 60,000, was hardest hit. The downtown section was virtually destroyed and a number of residential areas suffered heavy damage.

FORCES GATHER

William J. Tobin, managing editor of the Anchorage Daily Times, said the city was marshaling its forces to cope with a disaster almost too great to comprehend.

Military, civil defense, police, fire, civic and business leaders met through the night to assess the situation and plan emergency measures.

Mayor George Sharrock said, after receiving reports from all his department heads, that there were three known dead and 21 injured, three of them badly, in Anchorage.

Wrecked homes and business buildings left in rubble were feared to hold many more bodies.

The quake, which apparently centered in Prince William Sound near Whittier about 90 miles south of here, had an intensity of 8.3 on the Richter scale. This was stronger than the 8.25 reading for the San Francisco earthquake of 1906 in which 425 died.

The quake struck Anchorage at 5:36 p.m.—10:36 p.m. EST — at the height of the rush hour. Hundreds of people were caught on the streets or en route home in cars.

Huge cracks opened in the ground. Two in the downtown area were from 6 to 12 feet deep and ranged from 6 to 50 feet wide.

In the center of the city, three-story concrete buildings—many of them quite new—tumbled or caved in upon themselves. Some were reported a total loss.

ASKS HELP

Gov. Egan asked President Johnson to declare portions of Alaska a disaster area.

"Urgently request designation major disaster area," Egan wired the President.

"Complete evaluation of damage and loss of life not yet available, but information presently at hand confirms likelihood of damage which could easily reach minimum of quarter billion dollars through widespread area."

Anchorage stands at the head of Cook Inlet and as the shock and tidal waves rolled down the sound, they brought death and destruction to coastal cities.

Three persons were reported dead and 26 missing at Valdez.

Three deaths were confirmed at Seward, where 20 persons were reported missing.

Anchorage was plunged into darkness when electric power went off, and rescuers struggled in the ruins with only emergency lights to guide them. A fire broke out but was extinguished.

COMMUNICATIONS

Regular communications with other cities were not established until more than 8½ hours after the earthquake hit.

Damage was reported extensive in other cities. Oil tanks erupted. Fires broke out and firefighters were hampered by the lack of water.

Kodiak was swamped by a 17-foot tidal wave and the mayor sent out a call for help. The Navy had evacuated its STRICKEN AREA—Map locates the area in Alaska struck last night by a devastating earthquake. At least 50 persons were reported dead at Anchorage where buildings on the main street were reduced to rubble. 30 persons were reported missing at Valdez. The town of Seward was reported afire. Kodiak was reported "completely disabled." Medical teams from Juneau and Fairbanks were reported bound for Anchorage. Injured were reported in the hundreds.

California City Hit by Waves; 5 Killed

CRESCENT CITY, Calif. (AP) — At least five persons were drowned and the entire downtown business area ravished today when tidal waves triggered by the Alaska earthquake washed up a nearby creek and then rolled back down through this community of 3,000 on the northern California coast.

Del Norte County sheriff's deputies said five bodies were recovered and it was feared several other persons were washed out to sea. No identifications were immediately available.

Saside hospital officials reported that 59 people were treated for injuries and nine were hospitalized.

Reports from the scene said the tidal wave did not actually hit the Crescent City shoreline. But backwash from Elk Creek to the southeast swirled through a four-by-fourteen block downtown area, rupturing gas mains and creating short circuits.

Five storage tanks at the Texaco Co. bulk gasoline plant exploded and flames later spread to the union 76 bulk plant, a garage and a body and fender shop.

Water stood five feet high in the low-lying downtown area as firemen stood by helplessly, unable to reach the fires. The flames were reported under control shortly after dawn.

BUSINESSES RUINED

All 150 business establishments in the town were damaged by the churning waters washed up by three successive waves.

Reports said at least two motels were swept away and one was straddling Highway 101, blocking traffic.

Witnesses said a barbershop was floated across a street into another building and the two-story Oddfellows Lodge building was spun around on its foundation.

Damage Light at Service Base

Early Warning Setup Continues Functioning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said today that first reports from Alaska, shaken by a major earthquake, showed no casualties to military personnel in the big Air Force-Army base complex near Anchorage.

Damage to the Elmendorf Air Force Base and the Army's Ft. Richardson base appeared fairly minor, except for extensive damage to the base hospital at Elmendorf.

Runways at the airfield were usable, the Defense Department was told.

However, news dispatches from Alaska also reported that the control tower at Elmendorf had been wrecked and that the field's lighting system was out of operation.

The vital military set-up in Alaska—the ballistic missile and bomber warning systems and the big airdromes near Anchorage and Fairbanks—continued to function.

Members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and other high military and civilian defense officials met at the Pentagon today for a special briefing session.

The armed forces currently have a total of about 31,600 men in Alaska, with approximately 45,800 dependents.

Woman Sees Wall Crush 2

Watches as Building Crumbles on Victims

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — A newswoman today told of seeing two walls of the J. C. Penney's five-story building collapse into the street, killing two women and crushing a half-dozen parked automobiles.

She gave a graphic description of the earthquake which damaged portions of Anchorage, Alaska's largest city, last night.

Jean Chance of station KENI was waiting in an Anchorage police station when her young son ran in and screamed that the large department store building was collapsing. She ran outside.

"Sure enough the front wall was crumbling and falling into the street," she said.

"I saw women and children and men running from the building," she said.

WALL COLLAPSED

"The front wall had collapsed and had crushed half a dozen cars.

"There was one woman in one of the cars and one woman on the curb — both crushed by the five-story building wall."

She said a side wall also collapsed, crushing parked autos.

Around the World

Christians Prepare for Easter

By The Associated Press

Christians around the world prepared today for Easter Sunrises to celebrate the Resurrection day, the most triumphant Holy Day of the year.

The penitential mourning of Good Friday, commemorating the crucifixion of Christ, will give way to the joyous refrain of "Alleluia, the Lord is Risen."

Across the United States, churches planned sunrise services to celebrate the Resurrection.

The traditional service will be held aboard the USS Constitution, "Old Ironsides," in Boston Harbor and in Red Rocks Park near Denver, where work crews had to shovel nine inches of snow from the seats.

In Alabama, worshipers will make a predawn trek to Mound State Monument for the pageant "The Road to Calvary." It will be staged on three of the largest mounds, which were built by Indians centuries ago as places of worship.

SUNRISE SERVICE

There will be sunrise services at Oklahoma's Wichita Mountain Wildlife Reservation, at Radio City Music Hall in New York City, at a placid pine-rimmed reservoir in Irvington, just north of New York, and at Alto Pass., Ill., where a 111-foot cross will be dedicated.

Construction of the cross began five years ago. It's the work of the Rev. Wayman Presely, a retired Methodist Clergyman.

Bishop Reuben H. Mueller, the president of the National Council of Churches, who is spending the weekend in West Berlin, said in his Easter message: "Facing our problems today, as Christ's followers faced theirs in their day when the first Easter dawned, we, too, can find help in the living Christ, no matter what our problems are."

Pope Paul VI extended a gesture of goodwill to non-Catholic Christians in his Easter message to them on Holy Thursday.

"We send," he said, "our well-wishing Easter salute to the Oriental churches disjointed from us at present but already together with us in faith."

Easter Bunny Had Better Be Snow Rabbit

Peter Cottontail won't be hopping tonight — he'll be skiing. Snow accumulation today may reach two inches.

What's more, moms, dads, and children, waiting anxiously to try on their new Easter finery, may have to wait awhile, as the same's expected tomorrow. Partly cloudy skies and continued cold with scattered snow flurries is the forecast.

Highs tomorrow will range from 34 to 40, and lows tonight from 15 to 24.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. today was 30. At 1 p.m. the mercury stood at 37.

BEFORE QUAKE HIT — This is Fourth Avenue in Anchorage, Alaska, the area reported flattened by an earthquake last night. The street (as it appeared in 1960) has a 14-story building (background) which houses office and apartments. Early reports and pictures from the area were lacking due to an almost complete severance of communications.

No Deaths, Little Damage

Freak Tidal Wave Hits Gulf Coast

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A freakish, 5-to-6-foot tidal wave rolled westward along the Louisiana and Texas coasts Friday night, tossing boats about and startling those who saw it.

No deaths or serious injuries were reported. Property damage did not appear to be heavy.

"It was one of the wildest scenes I've seen in a long time," said night watchman O. C. Buxton at the New Orleans Industrial Canal.

The wave, triggered by a minor earth movement, started around 10 p.m. The New Orleans Weather Bureau said it could have been connected with the Alaskan earthquake "in a coincidental sort of way."

VARIED IN SIZE

The wave varied in size as it rolled up canals, rivers and bayous but was described by the Coast Guard as being five to six feet in height.

Some roads were covered by fast rising waters and small boats were smashed against docks.

The earth movement—something rare in this area—was detected by the seismograph at Spring Hill College in Mobile, Ala.

The Rev. Louis J. Eisele at the college said "a wide area in this section actually moved about 5-16ths of an inch."

OFFICIAL REPORTS

The Weather Bureau and the Coast Guard said they had no reports of any high waves east of New Orleans.

The most dramatic effects occurred a few miles inland.

"It caused our docks and vessels moored out in the yards to go crazy-like, bobbing up and down, moving sideways, back and forth," said Leon Poche, 47, superintendent of Avondale Shipyards.

At Port Arthur, Tex., a watchman for a grain elevator reported the tide dropped between six and seven feet and a loaded grain ship "bobbed up and down like a cork six or eight times."

PLACID RIVER

Near Baton Rouge, Albert E. Kent was looking at the placid Amite River when "all of a sudden, water came in waves four feet high."

Further down the Amite, A. S. Lainer of Denham Springs watched the waves tear apart boat houses and ramps at a fishing wharf where the water was four to five feet deep," he said. "They said they looked down, and suddenly, there was no water—they were looking at the riverbed.

"Then the water came rushing back in," Lanier said. "I saw the wave tear up a wharf. That wave broke an 8-inch piling."

station before the wave struck, and most of the residents also had moved to higher ground.

A section of Turnagain Bluff, where many of Anchorage's finest homes are located high above Cook Inlet, reportedly crumbled and many homes tumbled down the cliff.

LBJ ALERTED

President Johnson was alerted to the disaster at his Johnson City, Tex., home, where he is spending the Easter vacation. Reports were given him periodically throughout the night.

Disaster agencies around the country were informed and the Red Cross designated Seattle as its marshalling point. Navy and Army planes in the Seattle area were on the alert, ready to carry lifegiving supplies to the stricken area.

Shock waves were felt around the world. The recording needle was shaken out of the seismograph at an observatory in Paris.

The first contact with the outside world was made from this earthquake - stricken city more than 8½ hours after the initial shock wave.

Radio station KENI reached the Seattle office of the Associated Press at 7 a.m. EST to report that the death toll has not been ascertained, but damage is extensive. The report said several houses and buildings fell into fissures and one downtown building caved inward,

The city was, at that time, still in darkness with only a few emergency lights burning.

The Coast Guard at Juneau reported the tidal wave traveled 100 miles in 25 minutes.

Waves 10 to 15 feet high washed into Seward where flooding appeared to have caused most of the damage.

An unidentified fishing vessel radioed that the village of Tuguyak on the southern tip of Kodiak Island was wiped out by a tidal wave and that a boat was picking up survivors.

Adak, in the Aleutian Island chain, reported no damage there.

Aftershocks and recurring tidal waves, as the waters coursed in and out, kept terror alive through the cold night. Temperatures at Anchorage were about six degrees below freezing when the quake struck.

SHARP TREMORS

Sharp earth tremors were felt early this morning in Anchorage.

The new series of shocks began shortly before 5 a.m.—10 a.m. EST. There was no immediate report of new damage.

The mission at Valdez disappeared when the dock upon which they were standing collapsed. Two longshoremen were reported killed at Valdez 150 miles due east of Anchorage on Prince William Sound.

Oil tanks split open at Seward and burned through the night.

At Anchorage, a million gallons of jet fuel spilled over the international airport and residents were cautioned to stay away from the area. The 60-foot control tower collapsed and thousands of feet of runway were torn up.

A Wien Alaska Airline plane carrying doctors and nurses from Fairbanks managed to land at Merrill Field in Anchorage and there were reports portions of the Elmendorf Air Force Base field near the city were usable.

Gov. William A. Egan held an emergency meeting with his cabinet in Juneau. A planned flight from Juneau to Anchorage had to be called off when the field in the capitol city was closed by bad weather.

Five Perish as Waves Hit Coast City

mund G. Brown's press secretary said the governor was being informed of the catastrophe and would probably have a statement early today.

WAVE WATERS

Wave waters also heavily damaged the Vancouver Island community of Port Alberni. The wave surged 40 miles through the inlet known as the Alberni Canal and poured into the Canadian pulp and logging center "like a dam had burst," a radio station reported. The town's main hotel suffered water damage in its lobby, kitchen and dining areas.

Tidal surges 10 feet high rolled up onto California's Santa Catalina Island, 20 miles off the coast at Los Angeles, and caused minor damage.

Thousands of young people rushed to San Francisco's Ocean Beach area at the first announcement that a tidal wave was expected, but the action at the appointed hour amounted to a mild turbulence. Police controlled the crowd with difficulty.

At San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf the waters of San Francisco Bay dropped at least a foot a minute for about three minutes, then rose again at the same rate. An effect was to pull old trash out from under piers. For hours the junk surged back and forth, acting as a marker of the tidal flows.

A wave washed out a bridge over the Copalis River in Grays Harbor County in Washington, and turned over several trailer homes in the county beach areas.

Plane Reports Engine on Fire

DC4 With 9 Aboard May Ditch in Pacific

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The Coast Guard said today a Honolulu-to-Los Angeles passenger flight with nine persons aboard reported an engine on fire 1,000 miles southwest of San Francisco.

The Coast Guard in San Diego said two long-range planes from San Francisco were en route to intercept the distressed DC4.

The Coast Guard said the plane might attempt to reach San Francisco.

Coast Guard headquarters at San Francisco said the distressed DC4 aircraft, with its No. 2 engine afire, had "requested a ditching heading," which means the pilot was considering landing the distressed plane at sea.

The Coast Guard called it a "possible ditching."

But the Coast Guard emphasized that, at its last report, the pilot had not ditched.

"If they can extinguish the burning engine, they may come in on the three that still are functioning," a Coast Guard officer said.

Wave Alert in Russia

MOSCOW (UPI)— Soviet citizens were evacuated early today from the Far Eastern coast of Siberia threatened by a tidal wave from the Alaskan earthquake, but later returned to their homes when the alert was called off.

County Eyes Ruling

and backed the federal court suit against it.

Both Oakland County districts had a past record of Republican majorities and were expected to elect GOP Congressmen.

Roberts immediately withdrew his candidacy in the 19th because, as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, he will preside over the scramble to pass new districts in time to avoid statewide at-large elections in November.

WAS PROMINENT

Roberts, who figured prominently, along with State Rep. Henry M. Hogan, R-Bloomfield Hills, in drawing the 1963 districts thrown out yesterday as too unequal in population said his committee will meet Monday to start all over again.

The other three GOP candidates in the 19th — County Prosecutor George F. Taylor, Oakland University official James P. Dickerson and Pontiac attorney Richard D. Kuhn — all said they will stay in the running regardless of the outcome, even if it means statewide campaigning in an at-large contest.

Kuhn said he may intercede in the case to appeal the ruling to the U.S. Supreme Court and ask a stay of execution to permit use of present districts in 1964.

Dickerson said, "I'm somewhat surprised that the court was not more sensitive to the political problems of handing this back to the legislature at this time."

NOT CERTAIN

Roberts was not sure that new districts could be approved in time unless immediate effect was won. Since this would require two-thirds approval of each house, a bill that could get bipartisan support would be a must.

James M. McNeely, deputy Democratic party chairman for the county, expressed hope that the legislature would map new districts in time.

"At-large elections leave a lot to be desired," he said, "although they're better than malapportioned districts such as were passed last year."

McNeely conceded that his party probably would fare better, however, in at-large elections.

TOUGH TASK

How Oakland County will be districted next time around is anyone's guess. It presented one of the toughest parts of the job last time, and no doubt will again.

It's 1960 population, upon which districts must be based regardless of growth since then, was 690,603 — too big for one district and too small for two.

Ironically, its severe case of underrepresentation in Congress at present with one member from the entire county would have been converted into overrepresentation by the 1963 districting that split the old 18th in two.

Before its one district (the 18th) was too large, now its two districts are too small.

The 19th, with a 1960 population 16 per cent below the 411,000 average, was one of the new districts, in fact, that contributed the most to the inequality which, the court said, made them unconstitutional.

The 18th, containing county area south of Pontiac and east of Inkster Road under the 1963 districting, had a population 7 per cent below the average.

The 19th joined the rest of the county with Livingston County.

Possible changes might include joining a part of Wayne County, whose districts are too large, to South Oakland, conceivably resulting in a Democratic district.

Another might be shifting Avon or Farmington Township back into the 18th and adding Lapeer and or Shiawasse County to the 19th.

Indiana Plane Crash Kills Party of Four

AUBURN, Ind. (AP)—A small plane crashed southeast of Auburn today, killing two men and two women.

Three of the victims were identified as Myrtt Willard Hershman Jr., 35, Adrian, Mich., his wife, Mary Madeline, 33, and Eva Hershman Brown, 31, Miami, Fla.

State to Carve New Districts

said lawmakers must come up with their new plan by April 20 if the at-large election is to be avoided. Even then the Aug. 4 primary election probably will be set back a month, he said.

House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, said because ruling had been anticipated, House members had taken action several weeks ago to give the apportionment and election committees time to work on a new plan.

QUOTING CASE

Quoting from the Wesberry finding, the two judges said the guideline is that the legislature may not "draw the lines of congressional districts in such a way as to give some voters a greater voice in choosing a Congressman than others."

In his dissenting opinion, Judge O'Sullivan said his fellow jurists were evidencing undue haste to place heavy burdens on the lawmakers."

"In my view," he said, "the command they place upon the legislature of Michigan and the election officials of Michigan is needlessly and dangerously precipitate."

O'Sullivan said new definitions and new guidelines have put the federal courts into a position of unprecedented power over state legislatures.

POPULATION GROWTH

Because of its population growth, Michigan's congressional delegation was increased in 1962 by one representative—to 19. But, since neither the 1961 nor the 1962 legislative sessions agreed on a redistricting plan, the 19th congressman was elected at-large two years ago.

Yesterday's court decision was the climax to a lengthy battle waged against both the old congressional apportionment system and the one adopted in 1963. The system was challenged by two political science professors at Henry Ford Community college, Donald Calkins and Karl Jacobs.

Birmingham Area News

Baldwin Library to Begin Bloomfield Twp. Service

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—The resources of Birmingham's Baldwin Public Library will be made available to Bloomfield Township residents Wednesday.

The service is being inaugurated under terms of a contract signed in November by Birmingham and Bloomfield Township library board members.

It is the first step in a program which will lead to the township's having its own library facility. The program was initiated last April when the township electorate backed a one-mill library levy.

Beginning Wednesday, township residents will be issued patron cards free of charge at Baldwin's registration desk.

Library officials prefer that the head of each family make the request, presenting driver's license, voter's registration or other proof of residency.

Former nonresident patrons of the library can exchange their old cards for new ones and pro rata refunds. In this case, the old card will serve as identification.

BALDWIN HOURS

Baldwin hours are 9:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. The library is closed Sundays.

The township library board expects to open its own facility late this summer. At that time, a card issued at Baldwin or the township library will be valid at either.

Space for the initial township library is to be rented in an office building soon to be constructed near the southwest corner of Telegraph and Long Lake.

LIBRARIAN PICKED

Rose Vainstein, former associate professor in the school of librarianship at the University of British Columbia, has been appointed librarian.

She will begin her work here May 1 after completing a research study of the Canadian province's public libraries.

Bloomfield Township will pay $7,795 for the Baldwin library service until June 30 and $32,513 for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

British Blast Yemen Fort With Planes

LONDON (AP)—Eight British fighter planes attacked and destroyed a fort just inside the Yemen frontier early today. British officials said it was in retaliation for Yemeni frontier provocations.

It took the planes 10 minutes to blast the fort into a ruin with rocket and cannon fire.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said other planes dropped warning leaflets on the fort 15 minutes before the attack.

'NO SIGN OF LIFE'

"There was no sign of life either before or during the attack," the spokesman said. It was presumed that any occupants who might have been in the fort took the advice of the leaflets and fled.

The fort was at Harib, just across the border from the British-protected Federation of Southern Arabia.

A Colonial Office announcement said the British government had given approval for the attack.

JACOBY

Obviously, it never took place, but it does illustrate one important principle of dummy play. It is to try to find some combination of adverse cards that will allow you to make your contract.

Once East discards a club at trick one, it is not difficult for South to get a count on the trumps. West has all six of them.

It is also reasonable to assume that East holds all nine clubs so that West started with six spades, three hearts and four diamonds.

As a reader you can look at the East-West hands and confirm this. You also note that West's three hearts include both the queen and ten.

Declarer South had to assume this, too, since if East held either of the hearts, there would be no possible way to make the contract.

Before going any further, see if you can figure out the way South took advantage of the favorable heart situation to make the slam.

He started out by drawing all West's trumps. He had to make five discards from dummy. Four were low diamonds. The other was the ace of clubs.

Then he started on hearts. Dummy's jack held the first heart trick and the king the next one. Then he led the deuce of clubs from dummy and while East made his king, he had to give South the last three tricks with the queen of clubs and ace nine of hearts.

UGLY DUCKLING—Detroit City Health Commissioner Dr. George P. Anderson holds a lifelike toy duckling on sale throughout the state for use in Easter baskets for children which has been declared dangerous by the Federal Food and Drug Administration in Detroit. The once-live ducklings have been treated with benzine hexachloride which could be dangerous to children. The Japanese imports are being removed from sale.

Being Pulled off Market

Easter Toy Ruled Hazard

DETROIT (AP) — Health inspectors checked hundreds of Detroit stores Friday for toy ducklings made of the skin and down of real ducklings and considered dangerous to children by health officials.

The search began after the Federal Food and Drug Administration office in Detroit advised the City Health Department of the danger involved in the lifelike toys, believed to be scattered through the state for use in Easter baskets.

City Health Commissioner Dr. George P. Anderson said the toys, imported from Japan, are actual ducklings, with real skin and down feet and bills.

He said the ducklings were killed when they were about two weeks old, skinned and stuffed with cotton waste treated with benzine hexachloride, a chemical used as a soil fumigant but also "suitable for embalming."

ON OUTSIDE

He said the chemical tends to seep through the skin and also gets on the outside of the birds during manufacture.

Dr. Anderson said the chemical, if ingested, causes vomiting and acts on the nervous system, causing difficulty in breathing and possible convulsions.

A child handling one of the toys could become seriously ill, Dr. Anderson said, adding it is unlikely that death would result.

The director of the FDA office in Detroit, George Daughters, said his office was contacted by retailers who wanted to know if the toys were safe.

Daughters said the FDA had checked into the ducklings in the past and considers them "filthy and harmful."

Dr. Anderson said he understands there are upwards of 24,000 of the ducklings scattered through the state.

Claims Russia Has Pilotless Planes

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Air Marshal V. A. Sudets said today that Russian armed forces have been equipped with pilotless long-distance interceptor planes.

* * *

Sudets, commander of Soviet antiaircraft defense, said the planes are capable of destroying enemy rockets and planes at high and low altitudes, under any weather conditions, and are immune to radio jamming.

He did not say how many pilotless interceptors there are or when they were developed in an article in the official military newspaper Red Star.

Clamp Secrecy on Fliers

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—The U.S. Air Force cloaked in secrecy today its inquiry into the flight of a reconnaissance plane shot down over Communist East Germany 18 days ago.

Officials at the Air Force European headquarters also refused to give any information on the two officers returned here yesterday by the Soviets or on an injured lieutenant released earlier.

Captains David I. Holland, 35, of Holland, Minn., and Melvin J. Kessler, 30, of Philadelphia appeared in good condition as they were whisked off to an Air Force hospital for a routine checkup.

They undoubtedly will be heard by a board of inquiry looking into the incident, which jeopardized U.S.-Soviet relations and came just six weeks after another U.S. jet was shot down over East Germany with the loss of three fliers.

The United States insists that the RB66 jet strayed into East Germany. The Soviet Union charges it was spying.

Air Force officials here were under orders to give no information about the flight or the three officers, including 1st Lt. Harold W. Welch, 24, of Detroit. He was released March 21 with a broken leg and arm and was reported in good condition then.

Reflections

J. L. VOORHEES

In 325 A.D. this glorious festival date was set as the first Sunday after the full moon of the spring equinox. In the last forty years it has fallen only ten times in March. The date this year is March 29th — the first Sunday after the full moon of the spring equinox.

The liturgical color for Easter is white as the sign of joy, light and purity. The egg, holding the seed of new life, is the symbol of the escape of bondage of death; these symbols (eggs) have been used for thousands of years by Egyptians, Persians, Greeks and Romans.

M. E. SIPLE

Thousands and thousands of Lillies are used in our churches as symbols of purity. Our music is joyful, Services are inspirational, people are happy as the deeper meaning of Easter is explained and appraised. March 29th will be a time of praise, of joy, of thanks. We can lift our voices to the heavens and bring our being into harmony with the infinite.

"Christ is risen" will reverberate from heart to heart, vocal chords to clouds, to the infinite gates of Heaven with praise of our Lord, our Savior.
