For $700,000 Student Center

Break Ground at MSUO Today

Ground-breaking ceremonies for a $700,000 Student Center were held this morning on the campus of Michigan State University Oakland.

Participating in the ceremonies were MSUO Chancellor D. B. Varner, Roy J. Alexander, director of student services, Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, Alfred C. Girard, president of the Community National Bank, and Harold A. Fitzgerald, publisher of The Pontiac Press.

The Student Center will be one story high, adjacent to the first academic structure which now is nearly finished.

Designed to be a "home away from home" for MSUO students, the center is scheduled for completion in September when the first freshman class will take over the campus, according to Alexander.

OF FUNCTIONAL DESIGN

The functional building will be of contemporary American design, with a minimum of decoration, and will be located to the east of the main academic building. The approach to the center will be an artistic covered walkway; many such walkways are planned throughout the campus.

Architectural plans for the center specify ample eating facilities, including dining rooms, cafeteria and snack bar, spacious lounges, student activity areas and office space.

A 40 by 70 foot basement recreation area will provide accommodations for ping pong, square dancing and similar activities.

This building will be the headquarters for student publications, dramatics, club groups, student body meetings and many other extra-curricular activities.

Here is where the first freshman class will probably make decisions on school colors, student policies and other important milestones in the growth of the first area university.

Hamlin has announced that a considerable part of the $700,000 cost would be contributed by Oakland County.

The structure now going up is one-third the ultimate size of the MSUO Student Center. Future additions are planned, to be constructed as the student body grows and the need arises for expansion.

When finally complete, the Center will be large enough to take care of the entire student activities program.

MSUO expects to have a student activities program of wide variety, which will be planned cooperatively by the faculty, student body and the head of student activities, who will also be manager of the Student Center.

U.S. 24-Maple State's Worst

Intersection Listed as Most Hazardous on Trunkline System

The Bloomfield Township intersection of Telegraph (U.S. 24) and 15 Mile roads (W. Maple) was cited today by the Michigan State Highway Dept. as the most hazardous traffic location on Michigan's trunkline system for 1938.

The department reports 27 persons were injured in 41 accidents at the intersection last year.

Cpl. Peter Waisanen of the Pontiac State Police Post said that a high rate of speed at the intersection due to the fact that both roads are straight there could be a major factor in the spot being the No. 1 danger corner in the state.

He added that a survey of the intersection would probably be made by the state.

Then representatives from the Traffic and Safety Division of the State Police, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, and the township police would meet with Robert Osgood, Oakland County safety engineer, to make recommendations to curb the danger and increase safety at the intersection.

Waisanen added a possible recommendation could be to limit left turns at the busy intersection.

Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons said he was surprised to hear U.S.-24 and 15 Mile road had the largest number of accidents in the state.

He said the State Police, Bloomfield Township police and his department patrol the area. Intersections in Macomb, Kent, Bay, Wayne, Livingston and Cass counties were listed among the top ten danger spots in the state.

Say Boy, 12, Admits Killing 'Teasing' Pal

DETROIT, (AP) — After an all-night search, Jeffrey Paxton, 12, was found beaten to death today in a garage back of his home in suburban Dearborn.

The body was hidden beneath a workbench by a neighbor boy, who, deputy sheriffs said, had admitted striking Jeffrey with a hammer because "he teased me."

Deputies quoted John Turner, 12, a junior high school classmate of Jeffrey, as saying, "He kept calling me names. I grabbed a hammer and hit him. I didn't mean to hurt him."

Turner was booked for investigation.

A searching party of 100 police and 100 volunteers was formed Wednesday night after the boy had been reported missing.

During the night searchers had been in and out of the garage, but the body escaped notice because it was concealed under newspapers.

ACT ON TIP
Police, acting on a tip, called Turner from his seventh grade classroom today and asked him if he knew where the Paxton boy was.

Sgt. George Balogh said: "The Turner boy stammered and got red in the face and then blurted out his confession."

Jeffrey was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Paxton. The father is a public relations official for H. F. Campbell Construction Co.

The Paxtons have two other children, Barry, 11, and Deborah, 9. The classmate was evasive at first, but finally admitted he "had an argument" with Paxton in the garage. He said Paxton teased him and called him names.

He picked the hatchet up from the bench and hit the Paxton boy on the head with the blunt end. Paxton slumped over, dead.

The boy said he then stuffed Paxton's body on a shelf beneath the bench, stuffed newspapers in front of it to hide it, and then placed Paxton's bicycle in front of the bench.

Mrs. Barry said she returned home from a shopping trip at 5:30 p.m. and learned from her other son, Barry, 11, that Jeffrey came home from junior high school at 4 p.m.

Jeffrey then went to the garage to fix his bike, leaving an hour later to buy some paint, Barry told his mother.

Mrs. Paxton said at first she thought the boy might have gone to the home of friends but when he failed to return by 10 p.m. she became alarmed and notified the sheriff's office.

NEW YORK (AP) — A totally disabled veteran was robbed, stabbed, and beaten to death by a band of about 10 young hoodlums on a Brooklyn street Wednesday night. The killers cut the pockets out of his jacket and pants, then ran away. The victim, Jesse Cross, 24, was in an advanced stage of tuberculosis.

Hunting Mystery Man in Car Dealer Slaying

PARVIN LASSITER

Shot in Head Evidence Points to Simple Theft as Death Motive

New Links to Kierdorf Human Torch Case Still Sought

By PETE LOCHBILER AND GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Police today sought a mystery man and new links between the slaying of Royal Oak car dealer Parvin (Bill) Lassiter and the Frank Kierdorf torch case.

Evidence shows, however, that the savage slaying probably stemmed from simple robbery, said Lt. Howard Whaley of the Detroit State Police Post.

Lassiter, 38, of 1990 Beverly Rd., Beverly Hills, was the man who last summer bought the black Teamster Cadillac which Herman Kierdorf sold to finance his 12-day disappearance.

No other tie-in with the Kierdorf case has turned up so far, said Whaley, one of the Kierdorf investigators.

Sought is a middle-aged medium-built man "with grimy hands and a dirty face" who showed up at Willow Run Airport Monday night to have Lassiter paged when the dealer returned from a trip in the West.

The supposed killer is believed to have craftily lured Lassiter away from the airport, inviting him to share a ride home, only to turn on his victim less than an hour later, knocking him unconscious and shooting him to death on the deserted grounds of a small estate seven miles east of the airport.

The death motive, may have been $5,000 which Lassiter was believed to have been carrying in his pocket.

Detectives at noon today were seeking a middle-aged Royal Oak man whose car was found abandoned on the Willow Run Expressway near Romulus Sunday or Monday night.

However, a trooper at the Ypsilanti State Police Post said so far no connection had been uncovered between the discovery of the car and the Lassiter slaying. "We're holding it for completion of an accident report only," the trooper said.

Whaley said the dead man's friends and business associates will be questioned today in an effort to find leads pointing to another motive besides robbery.

The mystery man had large scars on the back of his neck and his hair surrounding the wounds was shaved off, according to the only person whom police have found so far that spotted him.

Eugene Reichenberger, a TWA ticket agent at the Willow Run terminal, told of the unusual way in which Lassiter apparently met his killer.

Lassiter had begun his eastward trip in Albuquerque, N. M., transferring to another plane in St. Louis, Mo.

The man, drably dressed and with grime-encrusted fingernails, asked that "a Mr. Schroeder from Albuquerque" be paged over the airport's public address system, Reichenberger said.

Frank Lloyd Wright Dies at 89 in Arizona Hospital

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — World-famed architect Frank Lloyd Wright, 89, founder of the modern school of building craftsmanship and storm center of artistic controversy most of his life, died today in St. Joseph's Hospital.

The "rebellious old gentleman," as friends referred to him in his later years, succumbed following an emergency operation Monday for treatment of an intestinal tract obstruction.

He had responded well to the surgery, his doctor said, but apparently his age made recovery impossible.

Critics often disputed whether Wright was the greatest American architect of the 20th Century but all agreed he certainly was the most famous for his individualistic style—a blending of precision machine-age lines with nature's living forms in stone, steel, wood or glass.

Wright maintained a home and school called Taliesin West on the desert near here, although he normally spent his summers in Wisconsin where he built a spacious, low, native-stone, rambling house also named Taliesin—Welsh for "radiant brow"—at Spring Green during his mid-years.

He is survived by his widow, a noted architect son, Frank Lloyd Wright Jr., and a motion picture actress-granddaughter, Anne Baxter, as well as numerous children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

His doctor said Wright died at 6:45 a.m. EST of "complications resulting from the operation."

He entered the hospital last Saturday.

LIFE WAS BATTLE

Both artistically and personally, Wright's life was a battle with the contemporary schools of thought.

And he captured acclaim abroad long before his own country recognized him as a "living force" in building design through the American Institute of Architects.

Some regarded him as a master-builder, a genius with boundless ability.

Others believed him to be theatrical, denouncing his style as uncouth and inhuman and without any sympathetic alliance with true culture.

Committee Minority Favors Sales Tax Increase

Editor Sees Struggle Over Graduated Income Tax

"Michigan will see a titanic struggle over the Governor's graduated income tax," declared E. C. Hayhow to Pontiac Rotarians today. "This graduated feature is the basis of Williams' proposal and that of the majority of the special committee he named."

Speaking for the committee minority, Hayhow proposes a sales tax which he asserts is favored by the taxpayers themselves and which is more economical to administer.

Formerly City Editor of The Pontiac Press and now Publisher of The Hillsdale Daily News, Hayhow declares that "unless a miracle occurs, the will of the majority of the citizens will be thwarted. I am absolutely convinced our people prefer a one cent sales tax," he said.

"It seems certain that the entire majority 'package' and Gov. Williams' program will be introduced in the Legislature. It seems equally certain that many of the minor recommendations of the majority will be lost in the shuffle."

"A sales tax does have many advantages."

"As far as the people are concerned, it is much less painful. They pay it a few pennies at a time and have no forms to fill out or file at the end of the year."

"From an administrative standpoint, the collection machinery exists whereas an entire new bureau costing several million dollars a year would be necessary to administer and collect an income tax. Moreover, revenue from a sales tax increase would be immediately available. But a constitutional amendment is required to increase the sales tax and Gov. Williams has put his foot down."

"He has passed the word that there will be no sales tax increase, and the Democrats in the Legislature are well disciplined. They are doing as they are told."

"The state is on the verge of bankruptcy. By the end of the fiscal year, June 30, it will have a deficit some people are now estimating as high as $130 million."

"We would have seen payless paydays before this had not business and industry, the special targets of the governor throughout his tenure, proved their good citizenship by pre-paying their taxes."

"There is only one available source of ready cash... the Veterans' Trust Fund. It seems likely that in the end this fund will be used... under proper safeguards to guarantee it will be restored... to bail the state out a second time."

"But the campaign of calumny that is being waged against Michigan from one end of the nation to the other is another matter. It could have more lasting results. Newspapers from New York to California and from Canada to the Gulf have been saying nasty things about us... slandering us as we haven't been slandered in 175 years."

"I have at least a dozen editorials, sent me by well-meaning friends, from all parts of the country gleefully proclaiming the fall of the Williams-Reuther 'Welfare State,' joyfully heralding the news of our financial distress, happily reporting that we are losing industry, and generally suggesting that Michigan is no fit place to live."

"But I point out to you with all the emphasis at my command that, despite its present condition, Michigan is a grand and glorious state, a dynamic and mighty state well worth saving, and that you and I who live here and love Michigan and have confidence in her future had better begin building some backfires against the evil things being said about her."

"We must fund our deficit over a period of years, using the Veterans' Trust Fund and raising the constitutional debt limitation above its present ridiculous level of $250,000. Next should be the most sweeping, searching, comprehensive, all-inclusive study of services and expenditures ever undertaken by any state."

"How do we know the services now provided by the state are desirable or necessary? Because we have been told so by persons who tend to benefit from them."

"How do we know the bill for running Michigan each year is a valid one... rock bottom... wrong free of water? We don't know. We can't know. There has been much too much talk in defense of more (Continued on Page 12, Col. 5)

Eastman Calls for Unity Between Police Factions

By MAX E. SIMON

To warring factions in the Pontiac Police Department, Public Safety Director George D. Eastman offered the pipe of peace yesterday.

Addressing the entire police force for the first time since Herbert W. Straley's discharge as chief, Eastman pleaded for harmony in police ranks.

Not mentioning Straley by name, Eastman said, "I believe the end of the time has come when we can't work together."

Straley was fired Saturday by the Civil Service Commission. He was a source of friction between two employee organizations. The Pontiac Police Officers Assn. (PPOA) had fought Straley tooth-and-nail for two years, twice petitioning for his ouster.

The Fraternal Order of Police had consistently denied any alignment behind the former chief. An overwhelming majority of its members, however, were openly sympathetic toward Straley and foes of the association.

"That controversy is a part of history. Let's forget it and be friends," Eastman said.

Eastman told the officers he has never taken sides in departmental feuding and does not intend to.

"I shall not dictate to either organization nor shall I force any relationship upon you," Eastman said.

"You should be able to work out your problems."

The continued existence of both groups would present no particular problem to him, the safety director said.

"There will be no reprisals or prejudice toward anyone who took the stand."

To police officers who testified as defense witnesses for Straley, Eastman said:

"There will be no reprisals or prejudice toward anyone who took the stand."

"There will be no reprisals or prejudice toward anyone who took the stand."

Eastman said he is not in favor of appointing a new chief for some time, perhaps for as long as a year.

"There is no need for both a safety director and a chief," Eastman said. Eastman has said he doesn't plan to stay on as director after his two-year contract expires.

He emphasized, however, that the decision on hiring a chief would have to come from City Manager Walter K. Willman. Willman is on vacation.

The safety director also disclosed plans for creation of a "Board of Inquiry and Recommendation" to handle disciplinary matters in the department.

Under Eastman's proposed set-up, the Board would be composed of up to six officers. It would make recommendations to Eastman, and could call for penalties as severe as discharges.

"If the officers felt the penalties too severe, they could then appeal the decision to the Police Trial Board," Eastman explained.

The safety director said he would not be bound to accept the recommendations of the Board.

He said that such a disciplinary group had been established while he was Seattle police chief and worked well.

"I shall not dictate to either organization nor shall I force any relationship upon you," Eastman said.

"You should be able to work out your problems."

Sunday Liquor Sale Proposed

Detroit Legislator Also Asks That Bars Remain Open Until 4 A.M.

LANSING (AP) — Sunday sale of liquor was proposed today by a Detroit legislator.

Rep. E. A. Fitzpatrick (D-Detroit) also proposed to "take Michigan out of the bush league" by allowing metropolitan area bars and night clubs offering entertainment to stay open till 4 a.m.

His bill, filed for introduction, would permit liquor sales after 2 p.m. on Sundays. Only beer and wine may presently be sold.

"I can't see the significance of preferred treatment for beer and wine drinkers," said Fitzpatrick. "A fellow can get just as drunk as he wants on either one."

Licenses extending the statewide 2 a.m. closing for liquor-by-the-glass establishments to 4 a.m. would be issued only in cities with more than 150,000 population. Only those offering entertainment would be considered.

"The special license would be granted only under strictest conditions and with consent of local governing bodies," Fitzpatrick said. "Licenses would be very carefully policed."

The 2 a.m. curfew, he said, helps discourage conventions and tourist trade in Michigan's larger cities.

The Day in Birmingham

$700 Men's Club Donation Used for 'Y' Game Area

BIRMINGHAM — A $700 donation from the Birmingham YMCA Men's Club has been used to finish and equip the recreation room of the new "Y" building on E. Lincoln avenue.

Director Olin Manchester said the floor tiling has been completed with a shuffleboard court included in the surface. A four by seven-foot pool table also has been installed, he said.

Manchester also announced that Dale Porter, Birmingham High School junior, will start his second year as archery instructor Saturday.

One-hour classes are set for 9, 10 and 11 a.m. Saturdays. The fee is waived for boys and girls furnishing their own bows and arrows.

Camping periods for Clear Lake near Dowling will begin June 21, July 5, July 19 and Aug. 2. Girls from 8 to 13 years of age are eligible for the two-week trips.

The monthly family night program is scheduled for tomorrow night. A potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m., games and swimming are on the program at the "Y" building.

Extension of Pay to Jobless Tied Up

LANSING (UPI) — A Senate-House conference recessed at 11:35 a.m. today without reaching agreement on a bill providing a 13-week extension in jobless pay benefits.

"There are several amendments under consideration," one member said. "We will resume talks after today's session."

In dispute was not extension itself but whether the bill, as passed by the Senate, should be a vehicle for a dozen other changes in the state Employment Security Act.

The amendment carried by one of today's supersonic fighter-bombers equals the destructive power of an entire World War II bomber formation.

Strong Tradition Keeps Tibet From Yielding to Red China

WASHINGTON — Medieval Tibet, swept into the maelstrom of the 20th century, is fighting hard to save its time-honored religion and customs.

Chinese armies moved softly and almost bloodlessly into the central Asian land in 1950. Since then, the Communists have sought to uproot Tibetan traditions and revamp the country.

More information trickling out indicates the Buddhist Tibetans have resisted the Reds with skill and tenacity.

Tibet is twice the size of Texas and is the world's highest country, the National Geographic Society says. Its average elevation above sea level is nearly 15,000 feet—the approximate height of California's majestic Mount Whitney.

Despite the cold dry climate, most of Tibet's million-odd people live from the land.

USE YAK BUTTER
Cereals are the main crops. Farming methods and tools are primitive wooden stakes reinforced with iron serve as plows. Flour made from roasted barley and mixed with yak butter is the food staple.

When the Chinese took over, Tibet was probably the least industrialized and most isolated country on earth. There were no wheeled vehicles—except for one automobile the British had presented to the Dalai Lama. There were no railroads or airfields.

The Communists claim to have electrified many homes formerly lighted by yak-butter lamps, and to have built factories, hospitals and roads.

As in medieval Europe, the whole culture of Tibet is inspired by religion. The Tibetan government has been described as "of the god, by the god and for the god."

Before the Communists came, one out of every five Tibetan men and boys was a lama, or Buddhist priest.

Almost every village in this land of shrines and prayer-flags has a monastery, or lamasery. Some have as many as 1,000 monks, who repeat endlessly the mystic prayer of Buddhism, Om Mani Padme Hum—"O thou jewel in the lotus, amen!"

Tibetans gain merit by walking or crawling on hands and knees along the sacred trail flanking Lhasa, the capital and holy city. The more pious may creep for weeks in this fashion.

Wealthy nobles can hire someone to perform the task for them, but the credit is not so great. The terrace of the great cathedral, Tsug Lag Khang, is polished mirrorlike from the prostrations of generations of worshippers.

ALL LIFE RESPECTED
The Tibetans' religion teaches them that no life may be destroyed if death can be averted.

Heinrich Harrer, the Austrian who entered the Dalai Lama, reported in the National Geographic Magazine that "the most devout went so far as to collect fish from ponds before winter's deep freeze and summer's drought. The fish were carried in galls to refuge in the Kyi (River)."

Many customs strike Westerners as strange. An aristocrat shows his status by wearing very long silk sleeves that hide his hands, thus demonstrating that they are not his livelihood.

Prince Reveals Romance to Be Love Match
TOKYO (AP)—Japanese newspapers triumphantly announced today that the nation's royal romance is a love match after all. Crown Prince Akihito told a reporter for the Kyodo News Agency that his feeling for Michiko Shoda turned to love after he chose her to become the first commoner in history destined to share the chrysanthemum throne.

The news quickened the pulses of millions of Japanese caught up in the preparations for the wedding Friday of the prince and Miss Shoda.

When their engagement was announced, the accepted story was that Akihito had fallen in love with Miss Shoda during a telephone courtship after meeting on the tennis court. But later there were official statements that the young woman, daughter of a wealthy flour miller, was chosen by the Imperial Household Board in conformity with the tradition of arranged marriages.

"At the outset I was quite detached," Akihito told the reporter. "I selected quite objectively from many girls the one who met all the requirements. That girl was Miss Shoda."

"It later turned to love. I am marrying her because I love her."

At the top of the Tibetan hierarchy is the Dalai Lama, a "living Buddha," who is regarded as the 14th incarnation of Chenrezig, the patron god of Tibet.

Ranking below the Dalai Lama is the Panchen Lama, believed to be the incarnation of Chenrezig's tutor.

Dennis Crosby Sued as Father of Child

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A tall, brown-haired divorcee is demanding that Dennis Crosby pay $400.25 a month for support of her baby daughter. She says he is the child's father.

The 25-year-old son of singer Bing Crosby was named defendant Wednesday in a paternity and child-support suit filed by Mrs. Marilyn Scott, 27, a former telephone operator. Mrs. Scott said she does not have enough money to support the baby and Dennis "has failed and refused to provide sufficient means of support."

Young Crosby, now a Hollywood disc jockey, said he was not prepared to discuss the suit. He did say, however, that he has never admitted fathering the child. The girl was born 17 months ago.

Dennis married Las Vegas showgirl Pat Shehan last year and they since have had a child.

Oil Worker, 60, Dies From Injuries at Job

ALMA, Ok.—Homer Millbaugh, 60, Midland County oil field worker, died in Gratiot Community Hospital yesterday a day after he was mangled when caught on the belt of an oil well pump.

Millbaugh suffered a fractured pelvis and broken left leg and a shoulder dislocation as well as other injuries while working alone in an oil field southwest of Midland.

He crawled about 30 feet to the pump engine to shut it off and lay helpless for two hours before help came, sheriff's deputies said. Millbaugh leaves his widow and a grown son and daughter.

Sales of cold remedies reached a record $265,000,000 during 1957 and are expected to go even higher this year.

Radioactivity Yardstick Sought

Workers With Radium Studied

WEST ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — How much radioactivity can you absorb without danger to your health?

A research team of the New Jersey Department of Health thinks present yardsticks may be wrong. It is trying to find an exact guide.

The team is searching for 1,000 people who worked in industries using radium in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania 35 or 40 years ago. In a year and a half, the task force has turned up the names of 500 workers and examined 100.

Many had painted watch hands and dials with a paint containing radium. Some of these put the paint brushes in their mouths to get a finer point.

Others prepared the paint, conducted experiments with it or worked in offices or laboratories where they had some contact with it.

The State Health Department says these people form the largest group in the United States to be living for any length of time since exposure to radiation. Some have children and grandchildren.

The radium research project has a $65,000 grant from the Atomic Energy Commission, which is backing two similar studies in the country.

One, at the Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago, is investigating about 100 radium dial painters in Illinois and others who had radium injections in that state. The other, at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is studying 150 to 200 former workers in the Connecticut radium industry.

Some of the onetime radium workers had radioactive materials inside them for 43 years, said Lester A. Barrer, senior investigator of the staff.

"This doesn't mean they have suffered any ill effects," he added. "We haven't determined that yet."

Once located, the workers are given a simple breath test. It shows the amount of radium and mesothorium, two constituents of such as strontium, 90 present in the radium paint.

After this, the task force asks the workers the names of physicians, dentists, medical specialists and hospitals they visited.

"We will compare the findings on this group to those on a group who have never worked in a radium factory," Barrer said.

Radium and mesothorium are natural radioactive materials not found in the fallout from nuclear explosions. But their effect, Barrer said, is similar to materials

The present search stems from an old survey of 30 radium dial painters who worked in the Newark area after World War I.

Barrer said, physicians and chemists after that study decided that one tenth of a microgram (or one ten-millionth of a gram) is the most radium a human body can absorb without damage.

That standard, Barrer says, is now "open to very serious ques-

Pontiac Man Sails to Visit Native Greece

Sailing from New York today is Danes Drakos of 2851 Woodbine drive, returning to his native Greece to visit his 104-year-old mother and other relatives. He expects to be gone between four and six months.

Drakos came to Pontiac from Greece in 1918, and for many years conducted a hat cleaning and shoe shine parlor in the Pontiac State Bank Building. He was visiting in Greece at the time of the earthquake in 1933, and went through the worst of it, narrowly escaping with his life. His mother lives in Athens and was outside the quake area.

At the time of the disastrous earth tremors, he was at the home of his sister on Kefalonia Island, which was nearly wiped off the map. The town of St. Anthimus was completely destroyed and hundreds killed. Although escaping physical injury, Drakos has never fully recovered from the shock.

He always has had great praise for the help rendered by the crews of the five U.S. warships in the harbor, and by the other representatives of our government. "I never was prouder of my adopted country," he often says.

This is Drakos' fourth trip to his native land. He took his family there in 1927 and went alone in 1932 and 1953. Mrs. Drakos may go to Greece a little later, to accompany him home.

Cancer Control Month Stresses True Facts

"You have terminal cancer, and it's just too late," is a dreaded statement that at one time or another touches almost every American family. This need not be so, since scientific research is daily finding more answers to cancer.

April is cancer control month. This does not imply a fund-seeking drive. On the contrary, it is a crusade to learn more about cancer with the hopes of saving more lives.

For years the word "cancer" has meant a hush-hush disease, something to be discussed quietly and without fanfare. Today this old-fashioned theory is something of the past.

This month is designated by the American Cancer Society to educate the people by opening their minds and saving some otherwise wasted lives. The old superstition and unreasoning fears must be overcome.

The true facts concerning cancer should be learned.

Detecting cancer early is probably the one single factor responsible for effecting a cure or arresting this killer. The tragedy in many cases is that the disease is too far gone for successful medical treatment.

In order to give yourself or your family maximum protection, have regular health checkups. Learn the seven cancer danger signals and be alert for the signs.

Early detection and the proper medical care can save many lives. Ten years ago this was not so. But today there is real hope. Judging from current scientific progress more can be expected soon.

More important than anything else, don't shy away from the word cancer. Discuss it like you would a cold, and learn all the true facts. Our best weapon against this giant killer is knowledge.

Adenauer Steps Down as Erhard Moves Up

Chancellor ADENAUER's decision to run for the Presidency of West Germany in July is not too surprising in the light of recent political happenings there.

Months ago Social Democrats nominated Carlo Schmid, popular vice-president of the bundestag, for the presidency. Chancellor Adenauer and leaders of his Christian Democratic Union (CDU) picked Ludwig Erhard to succeed President Theodore Heuss, who is not eligible to run again.

This did not please CDU rank and file members. Politicians said that ERHARD was the best vote getter, except ADENAUER, the party ever had and newspapers praised his economic liberalism. ERHARD declined the invitation. The post is one of honor and moral influence but is not politically powerful.

This was a blow to Adenauer's one-man control of the CDU. It also showed that his party had chosen Erhard to succeed him as chancellor when the 83 year old Adenauer decided to step down.

Although LUDWIG ERHARD is not quite in line with some of ADENAUER's inflexible policies, he will have the wholehearted support of the CDU. However, there are no foreign policy differences between the two men and no change is expected on the Berlin issue.

Locked Out!

David Lawrence Says:

West Won't Make 'Deal' With Reds

WASHINGTON—Konrad Adenauer's proposed resignation as chancellor of the West German Republic is being hailed erroneously in some parts of the world, particularly England, as the forerunner of a change in policy by his country.

The cry is heard that he had been "inflexible" or "too rigid." These are the same words often applied to the posture of John Foster Dulles, the American secretary of state.

They are expressions which come from wishful thinkers who want to see the West make a "deal" of some kind with Moscow.

These are the people who still have faith in the Communist promises or the Soviet signatures on agreements.

It's strange how many influential persons on the Western side seem to have been duped by Soviet promises even in the face of the numerous agreements made by Moscow that have been violated.

Adenauer himself in his latest address to the people of West Germany says:

"I have sometimes asked myself whether there are not somewhere some wirepullers who deliberately try to damage relations between the British people and the German people, and for international political reasons."

The chancellor mentioned the criticism in Britain because of his unwillingness to make concessions to the Soviet point of view. There have been editorials recently in the British press attacking Adenauer.

It seems incredible that, while the formal statements of the Western governments are couched in phrases of unity, there is a tendency in the press to report here and there undercurrents of appeasement.

These involve criticism of Adenauer or Dulles or anyone else who stands in the way of appeasement.

There appears to be a sort of glib satisfaction expressed by the would-be appeasers that both Dulles and Adenauer will soon be out of the way and presumably deals can be made with their successors.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Whoever succeeds Dulles as secretary of state will be bound by the policies that President Eisenhower has formulated.

The assumption that he was unduly influenced by Dulles is part of the insidious campaign to establish the point that a change would have been forthcoming long before if the present secretary of state were not at the President's side.

Those who have adopted that line of attack will be disappointed. For Dwight Eisenhower has dealt with the broad principles of the world situation a long time now and will maintain consistently in the future the position he has held in the past.

There seems to be a big misconception of what a democracy really is. It is being assumed, unfortunately, that the totalitarian idea, which vests in one man the power to make policy irrespective of the wishes of the people, is prevalent.

Actually, Chancellor Adenauer would not have been able to stay in office as long as he has if he did not have the continuing support of the German people.

Likewise, President Eisenhower would not have been able to persist in his policies of the last several years had he not retained the overwhelming support of the people as manifested in poll after poll of American public opinion.

There are all sorts of theories about the Soviet purpose in stirring up the German crisis but, while the appeasers talk of satisfying the Soviets on the status of Berlin, the Communists are actively completing their conquest of the oil-rich regions of the Middle East.

As the world focuses on West Berlin, the real extension of Communist power is going on in the Arab world.

When will the people of the Western countries awake to the double game that the Soviets have been playing as they diverted attention from the Middle East by creating a crisis in West Berlin?

To appease this kind of adversary anywhere is to increase the danger of a general war.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

I will never forget thy precepts: for with them thou hast quickened me.—Psalms 119:93.

The ideal life is in our blood and never will be still. We feel the things to be beating beneath the things we are. — Phillips Brooks.

Dr. William Brady Says:

'How Many Others Are in Same Position I Am?'

"I'm almost certain I saw in your column reference to 'the gray sickness.' If this is correct, won't you please tell us some more about it. We asked a doctor who lectures . . . he said he had never heard of it."

(K.R.) The doctor has probably heard of "the green sickness"—which was a common name for a type of primary anemia physicians called chlorosis (green sickness). This anemia occurred usually in adolescent girls. The girl who had it didn't look just pale or muddy white. She had a yellowish-green tinge not at all like the lemon-yellow complexion of a person with pernicious anemia.

Chlorosis seldom if ever occurs today. Instead a new type of anemia is prevalent and seems to be increasing in frequency, among women in the 30s and 40s. This modern anemia, like chlorosis, is characterized by lowering of the hemoglobin (iron coloring matter) without proportionate diminution in the number of red corpuscles, and so it is called hypochromemia, nutritional deficiency anemia, iron deficiency anemia or the gray sickness.

Gray because the girls who have it appear not pallid, not ashen, nor green, but sallow and gray. Gray and gaunt or haggard to boot.

One striking difference between chlorosis and the gray is that the girls with chlorosis (green sickness) retained a good panicleus or blanket of fat under the skin, while girls with hypochromic anemia (gray sickness) lose theirs and hence the gray, gaunt look.

I have culled my so-called brains for years about this but so far have found no plausible reason for the difference. The old masters preferred girls with chlorosis as models.

But let no girl with the gray sickness despair. Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet THE GRAY SICKNESS. Follow faithfully the advice I give therein, and before long once again you'll be a delectable armful.

The familiar complaints of women with the gray sickness are brittle, cracked, ridged, pitted, spooned or flattened nails; sore tongue, difficulty in swallowing solid foods, cracks in corners of mouth, and hair turning gray and lacking luster.

Signs of this, not more than one page or 100 words, long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright 1959)

CASE B - 404: Flora M., aged 24, lost her leg in an auto wreck. She has readjusted well in most respects and now works as a secretary.

"But she is constantly broke before pay day," her brother told me, "for she spends her money giving presents to other people."

"It may sound odd but she carries generosity to such an extreme degree it is almost a fault."

"For example, I am married and have two children. DR. CRANE Flora not only buys costly presents for my kids on their birthdays, but does so for many other people who aren't even relatives."

"Dr. Crane, could you talk to Flora and see if you can get her to live on a budget?"

Voice of the People

'How Many Others Are In Same Position I Am?'

I wonder how many jobless, yet skilled Pontiac men with a trade such as bricklaying, plumbing, etc., are thinking what I am—that is, are we doomed as far as our trades are concerned? Are we, men with 1956 wages in the $9,000 bracket and with four years apprenticeship, forced to sit it out another year or will it be forever in Michigan?

I tried to make good with my family with a new home. I thought I had a future in the electrical industry. Then in 1957 boom hit and hasn't changed for me yet. Short jobs were enough to build up a food supply in 1958 and so far this year, but not enough to pay bills.

How many others like me are losing their neighborhood dignity, self-respect, their once-good credit ratings and just about everything that counts most in life—their security and jobs, praying from week to week for things to break—wondering if there's hope.

I recently read of an electrician near Pontiac who committed suicide. Sometimes you wonder if perhaps his was the easiest way out, or the only way out without starving.

'England Has Just One Motive'

England's number one idea with the Reds, both Chinese and Russian, is to peddle a lot of British made goods for cold, hard cash. They aren't interested in anything else and it's time the U.S. found it out.

'Family Is Off on Another One'

Here we go again on another baseball contest. We've never missed one. Best wishes to you and the best paper in Michigan.

'We Can All Learn From Each Other'

I attended school in England and the U.S. The difference is quality, not quantity. At three I learned the alphabet phonetically and with pictures; simple arithmetic was taught with tiles, pi symbols and bright abacus beads. At six I could read well and our teacher made us read in reverse so she knew we weren't parroting.

'City Voters Are Asking for Trouble'

Why do Pontiac voters refuse to build necessary sewers? In dodging their plain duty they're asking for trouble through disease and other afflictions that follow filth and contamination. I've been told the State of Michigan can order the work done whether we like it or not as it is necessary for public health and protection.

'That Should Get a Few More Votes'

I read Eleanor Roosevelt is against John Kennedy and that is another big boost for Kennedy.

'It's Only Fair Way, to Settle Question'

Let the people vote on whether we will have a raise in steel wages and then a raise in the price of everything that uses steel. That would be a fair way to settle a very big question.

In case of doubt, therefore, she may try to tip the scales by being unduly lavish with gifts.

Flora was in this very category, for she finally confessed that she often grew panicky lest people shun her because of her artificial leg.

Nobody actually had shown any hostility to her, but she was hypersensitive and thus subconsciously was trying to insure herself against that future possibility.

By being a virtual Santa Claus all 12 months in the year, she was really trying to buy her way into the good graces of her companions.

ANALYZE YOURSELF
This column shows you various patients with all sorts of psychological complexes, for as you witness somebody else with your own traits, you may thus be able to see yourself as the psychiatrist views you and re-adjust.

Generosity is not expected to go so far that the giver gets into difficulties with recurring unbalanced budgets.

Even in cases of bankruptcy, the government expects the defendant to retain enough to keep his family from becoming a public charge.

And in life, you are urged to share with others but not to the extent of depriving yourself and family of the necessities.

So beware when you see anybody who is excessively unselfish. For that may be a camouflage to cover up a hidden selfish desire to win friends and popularity with gifts, which the victim is afraid he can't merit by his own personality.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long self-addressed envelope and the to be returned postage stamps when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Flora tried to exceed Santa Claus: She was so unselfish, she went broke long before pay day. But her generosity had an ulterior motive so be sure you study Flora's case carefully. And if you wish to win true friends, send for the booklet below. Don't try the Prodigal Son method.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE B - 404: Flora M., aged 24, lost her leg in an auto wreck. She has readjusted well in most respects and now works as a secretary.

"But she is constantly broke before pay day," her brother told me, "for she spends her money giving presents to other people."

"It may sound odd but she carries generosity to such an extreme degree it is almost a fault."

"For example, I am married and have two children. DR. CRANE Flora not only buys costly presents for my kids on their birthdays, but does so for many other people who aren't even relatives."

"Dr. Crane, could you talk to Flora and see if you can get her to live on a budget?"

Jordan's King Flies Jet

By United Press International
King Hussein of Jordan is a jet age product of Arab and Western civilization.

He traces his ancestry to the Prophet Mohammed. But he wears smart Western style military uniforms instead of the conventional robes and Bedouin headcloth of Arab Monarchs.

The 33-year-old king, now on an official visit to this country, is soft spoken to the point of leaving an impression of humility. However, he has shown indomitable courage and an iron will in times of crises and danger.

Learning early of violence threatening rulers of feudal Middle East countries, he has been forced to grow up fast. He was only 15 when an anti-Western assassin shot down his grandfather, King Abdullah, in Jerusalem in 1951. Hussein was at Abdullah's side.

Hussein was proclaimed King in 1953, after his father, King Talal, had to be put in a mental institution. Although fond of sports and other pleasures of youth, he devoted himself to affairs of state and took an increasingly important role in operation of his government.

He was given most of the credit for keeping Jordan from going under in 1955 when rioting followed Western efforts to make his country a member of the Baghdad Pact. When his throne was threatened at the time of the Iraqi revolt last year, he personally exacted a renewal of loyalty from his Bedouin troops.

Short of stature, and trim of figure, Hussein has an erect carriage. He has a ruddily dark complexion, dark eyes, and thin mustache. His serious expression often breaks into a winning smile.

The young monarch speaks fluent English with a slight British accent, and passable French. Probably his greatest pleasure is flying his jet plane. He also boxes and sids. American movies are a favorite way of relaxing.

He is divorced from Queen Dina, a cousin and mother of his three-year-old daughter. But another woman, his strong-willed mother, Queen Zein, continues influential in his life.

Born at Amman, now Jordan's capital, Nov. 14, 1925, Hussein was educated at Victoria College in Alexandria, Egypt, and Harrow Preparatory School and the Sandhurst Military Academy in England.

Altimeter Eliminates Pilot Reading Errors

NEW YORK (AP)—An aircraft altimeter designed to eliminate reading errors and cut reading time in half has been introduced by Bulova Watch Co.

Tests have shown the altimeter deviates only 20 feet at a height of 12,000 feet against a 200 foot deviation for conventional altimeters at the same height, Bulova Board Chairman Gen. Omar N. Bradley said at the demonstration. The altimeter, Gen. Bradley said, is "extremely accurate and sensitive, reacting instantaneously to changes in altitude even in very rapid ascent or descent."

The Air Force has ordered 25 of the devices for flight evaluations, Gen. Bradley added.

Sheriff Catches Pair of Robbers

Was Driving Back Home When He Heard Alert and Blocked Road

NEWAGO (U) — Michigan's police roadblock system halted the flight of a parolee and his teenage hold-up accomplice yesterday.

The trap was sprung by Sheriff Robert Dougan of Newago County who got into the robber-catching act on a car trip home from Detroit.

As a result, Jonas Newell, 23, of Grayling, and a 14-year-old Crawford County boy were in custody today.

The roadblock was set up after two armed men in masks robbed the grocery store of Mrs. Katherine Walicki near Muskegon of $120.

The men fled by car after locking Mrs. Walicki in a washroom. She got out and called police from a neighbor's home.

Driving on a Newago County road, Sheriff Dougan heard the police alert on his radio.

He blocked the road and shortly intercepted the fleeing car. The two occupants ran into a field but stopped when Dougan fired a warning shot.

Pursuing State Police from the Newago Post aided him in disarming the pair of two pistols and placing them under arrest. The two were identified as Newell and a ward of Crawford County Probate Court.

State Police Detective William Menzies said both admitted the grocery holdup and that they got their guns in burglaries earlier at Baldwin and White Cloud. Menzies said Newell, formerly of Muskegon, has been on parole from Crawford County.

Marine Trainees Get Air-Cooled Classrooms

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (U) — Marines who like to boast about the "old corps" won't believe this.

Air conditioned classrooms have been installed in three battalions at this Marine recruit depot, which is well known for its torrid, sticky summer days.

It's part of the depot's so-called new look program, a far cry from the days of the "old corps."

Turns Husband In for Robberies to Stop Murder

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — "He used to tell me he was going out and hold up somebody. At first I thought he was joking, but then I was afraid."

"He was getting closer to murder all the time."

Those were the reflections of a former Cleveland, Ohio, model who turned her husband in to police in connection with two hold-ups and a car theft.

Beatrice Colgan, mother of two, said Wednesday that for more than a year her husband, Robert William Colgan, 32, a real estate salesman, had been moody and mean.

"I knew he would kill somebody if he kept it up," she said. "I'm sorry for him, but it was better he should go to jail for a holdup than for murder."

Colgan was arrested at his home Sunday night. He told police he spent $251 taken in the holdups on household debts.

U.A.R. Employees Get Health Insurance

CAIRO (UPI)—The United Arab Republic has drafted a law providing for a compulsory health insurance system for civil servants.

The plan will be implemented in stages, and will eventually benefit 300,000 civil servants in Cairo alone.

A medical treatment organization will be formed to provide medical services for civil servants and their families against a small percentage of their salaries plus a nominal fee.

The costs of applying the law in Cairo will amount to 768,000 Egyptian pounds ($1,920,000). About one-third will be paid by the government. The rest will be collected from the civil servants themselves.

Aquatic Bovines Take Dip in Backyard Pool

TUCSON, Ariz. (U)—Carl Waldo found two cows swimming in his backyard pool. He grabbed them by the ears and led them to the shallow end, where they scrambled out.

Then in splashed a third cow. He took it out too.

Later he learned a gate had been left open at the nearby University of Arizona dairy farm—and the prize Holsteins just sauntered out.

Too Many Cases; Too Few Judges

Cause of Court Congestion Not Hard to Find

(This is the second of three dispatches on the problem of court congestion in the United States, and what it is doing to the traditional concept of speedy justice.)

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The basic cause of court congestion that is depriving thousands of Americans of prompt justice can be summed up in a few words:

Too many cases, and too few judges to try them.

In 1941, there were 38,477 civil cases filed in federal district courts. Last year, there were 57,115.

In the same period, the number of federal district judgeships increased from 198 to 248.

The increase in civil cases, on a percentage basis, was three times as great as the increase in judgeships.

Population growth accounts for only part of the increased litigation glutting the courts. The biggest single factor has been a 400 per cent jump in personal injury lawsuits growing out of automobile accidents.

Warren Olney III, administrative officer of the U. S. Courts, points out that the number of automobile accidents has increased only slightly since 1941. The main reason for the sharp rise in lawsuits, he suspects, is that juries have been granting larger verdicts to accident victims, thereby making this kind of litigation more attractive to plaintiffs.

Personal injury cases land in federal courts only when there is "diversity of citizenship"—that is, the parties to the suit come from different states.

This situation may occur even in an accident between neighbors if one of them is insured by a company whose headquarters are in another state.

SOME REDUCTION

In an effort to reduce the workload of federal courts, Congress last year passed a law raising the minimum damage claim that can be prosecuted in a federal court from $3,000 to $10,000. This law has had some effect. The number of civil cases filed in federal courts during the first three months of fiscal 1959 was 15,501, compared to 16,627 in the comparable period of the previous year.

Efforts have also been in recent years to improve the efficiency of the federal court system, by use of time-saving procedures such as pre-trial examinations, and by temporary transfers of judges from districts where dockets are clear to those where many cases are awaiting trial.

These measures also have been of some help. U.S. district judges last year disposed of an average of 232 cases each, compared with 168 cases each in 1941.

But all these reforms have merely scratched the surface of the problem. The number of new cases filed in federal courts last year exceeded by nearly 6,000 the number of cases disposed of in the courts during the year.

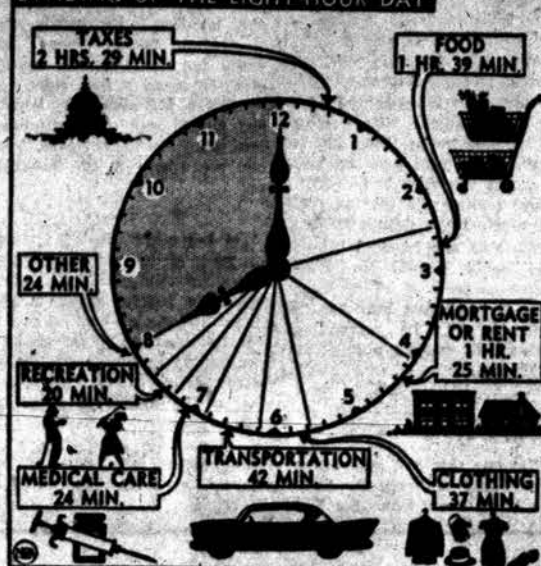

Thus the backlog is getting bigger all the time. It now amounts to more than 80,000 cases—enough to keep the entire federal judiciary busy for nearly a year and a half, even if not a single new suit were filed in that time.

Leaders of the bench and bar see no hope of relieving the congestion unless the federal court system is expanded. But Congress has so far turned a deaf ear to their pleas for creation of additional federal judgeships.

Hunt Mystery Man in Lassiter's Slaying

the desk, Reichenberger said, but the stranger apparently didn't notice him, and Lassiter returned to the phone booth.

The killer then requested that "a Mr. Salsitas" be paged, said Reichenberger, and when Lassiter returned to the desk again, the stranger apparently introduced himself.

"They shook hands and the stranger gave his name—something that sounded like Hope, or Pope—and said he lived in Pontiac or somewhere near there," Reichenberger said.

Lassiter returned to the phone booth once more, then the phone evidently left the terminal with Lassiter's three pieces of luggage, Reichenberger said.

FIRST MEETING

Apparently, that was the first time Lassiter met the mystery man, said Det. Raymond J. Sieber of the State Police Willow Run station.

Police agreed, though, there were at least two disturbing objections to the theory that the killer picked Lassiter at random from other passengers as his robbery-death victim.

1. How did the mystery man know Lassiter was coming originally from Albuquerque, when he boarded the flight only at a transfer point at St. Louis?

2. Did the mystery man just take a chance that his unknown victim had an unusually large sum of money, or did he know this in advance, somehow?

There were no immediate answers to these puzzling questions.

Armed with photographs of the dead man, State Police quizzed other terminal employees today in hopes of finding someone who saw Lassiter with the slayer. They also planned to talk with passengers and crew members of Flight 346.

The stranger was described as between 35 and 45 years of age, of slim build and about 5 feet 8. He wore work clothes, Reichenberger said—dirty wash pants, a maroon windbreaker jacket and an old gray felt hat, streaked with dirt.

So far, Sieber said, no one has been found who saw the pair leave the terminal, nor has anyone been found who saw them enter a car outside.

Lassiter's body was found at 9:45 a.m. in a drainage ditch on the Van Buren Township estate of H. Frederick Campbell, on the Willow Run Expressway just east of Morton Taylor road.

The victim apparently had been dragged 30 feet down the embankment from an entrance drive, said Whaley. He was shot once under the right eye, the bullet passing out the back of his head.

Dr. Richard E. Olson, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital pathologist who was summoned to make an autopsy, said Lassiter may have been shot while lying on his back.

He said there were bruises on the back of his head, indicating he might have been struck by a heavy instrument.

KILLED 'LATE MONDAY'

Olson said Lassiter apparently was killed "late Monday night." A full autopsy report is expected today, Whaley said.

Whaley said Lassiter's wallet and money folder were missing, although the dead man was still wearing a diamond ring and an expensive wrist watch. He was fully clothed.

The luggage—a weekend bag, a TWA handbag and a folding, canvas bag—was found by a passer-by late Monday night but not reported until yesterday afternoon, Whaley said.

Frank Harkal, of 400 Willis Rd., Sumpter Township, said he spotted the luggage in a field 30 feet off Willis road south of Clark road near his home. He notified TWA at the airport.

Whaley said the bags had been forced open and apparently were ransacked, although it was not determined immediately whether anything was missing.

Although there was only a small amount of blood found at the scene on the estate, Whaley believed Lassiter was shot to death there.

George Schwelbert, a factory worker who lives at 42941 Willow Run Expressway, said he was home Monday night but heard nothing suspicious. Schwelbert's home lies nearest to the death scene, about 400 yards away.

The ditch lies next to an S-curve in the long dirt drive leading to the Campbell's $75,000 ranch house on Lake Edison. Campbell is president of Campbell Construction Co., Detroit.

The body lay about 500 yards from the Campbell home and 600 yards from the expressway, next to a large cornfield.

Campbell and his wife have been in Washington, D.C., since Saturday, his secretary, Edward Wadryk, said.

An employee, Raymond Borusch, 42, of 8041 Evergreen, Detroit, spotted the body as he drove into the Campbell estate, delivering Campbell's Lincoln Continental there.

Wadryk arrived at the estate soon afterward, before the body was removed.

"The man looked as if he might be sunbathing, except there was no sun and he was dead," he said.

Preliminary digging at the death scene revealed no bullet yesterday, but State Police planned to continue today with the aid of a mine detector, Whaley said.

Reichenberger's story tallied with phone calls between Lassiter and his wife, Nell, 37, and his business partner, Gordon Watson, 43, of 15384 Marlowe, Detroit.

Lassiter and Watson were partners in the Detroit Car Co., 2614 N. Woodward Ave., Royal Oak, which specializes in Volkswagens and also handles sale of used cars to out-of-state dealers.

Mrs. Lassiter, who collapsed on hearing of her husband's death, said Lassiter called her from the airport about 10:30 p.m. Monday and asked her to call Watson.

Lassiter's Auto Deals Questioned

months behind in filling orders, and making the cars available immediately.

"The only way Lassiter's business could have been turned shady would be that he sometimes sold the used Volkswagens as new, or guaranteed buyers he was an authorized dealer with sufficient service facilities, which he wasn't," Cook said.

Lassiter sold cars other than Volkswagens at his used car lot, the Detroit Car Co., 2614 N. Woodward Ave.

"I understand he sold a lot more Volkswagens (Volkswagens) out-state than here," declared Sigrist. "I believe he did some business in Albuquerque."

Police believe he was in Albuquerque collecting money owed him before returning to Detroit Monday.

spending and much too little talk of economy.

"Unfortunately, I see no real evidence of a desire for economy in the higher echelon at Lansing. In the face of a serious financial situation, the governor has proposed an increase of approximately $91 million in the state's budget. Nor is it unfair to point out that had his recommendations for the present fiscal year been followed, our deficit would be in the nature of $300 million and the tax problem much more complicated.

"The kind of a study I have in mind would require the wholehearted cooperation of the executive and legislative branches. It would have to be nonpartisan, conducted by experts, and privately financed.

"Taxes are only a part of the over-all struggle."

"On one side are the proponents of Big Government. Some call it Statism, some the Welfare State... some Socialism. This is the philosophy which believes the state should be... and should provide... all things for all people. This philosophy scoffs at deficits and inflation. Its battle cry is 'Spend, Spend, Spend.' It would tax the few and try to give the many a free ride.

"This is the philosophy which has guided our state administration for too many years. You can see where it has brought us."

"On the other side at Lansing is a group of determined men who believe that the philosophy which made this country great is still a good philosophy, who believe in personal freedom and personal responsibility, in the separation of powers, in private enterprise, and who, in the matter of taxes believe that every individual with an income should contribute in some measure in the costs of government, even as each shares in its benefits."

Recent surveys show that the average height of American boys under the age of 9 is a fraction of an inch more than it was 20 years ago. At the ages of 9 and over, the increase is an inch or more. Among girls, the difference is an inch or more than it was 20 years ago.

State GOP Leaders

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Republican chiefs have endorsed Sen. Thorton Morton of Kentucky for GOP national chairman.

A statement by Lawrence B. Lindemer, state chairman, and John B. Martin, national committeeman, said Morton would be "a worthy successor" to Meade Alcorn, who recently resigned.

The statement also said Michigan men mentioned as candidates have withdrawn.

They included David Kendall, legal counsel for President Eisenhower, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Grand Rapids and Arthur S. Summerfield, postmaster general.

'Plentiful' Japanese Will Celebrate Wedding

TOKYO—"You are covering the wedding of His Imperial Highness Crown Prince Akihito? Ah, so. Velly nice."

There is nothing to worry about," said the Japanese newsman, "except being killed."

He tossed it off with a sweet smile, reminiscent of Miyoshi Umeki offering fish cakes to Red Buttons, and went on to explain that the people of Tokyo are not vicious, drunken or mad at anybody.

They are just plentiful (3-million) and enthusiastic and, since they stopped binding their feet, celebrations have led to mass trampling.

Through the kindly offices of UPI I will be situated on a stand, high above the crowd at the imperial gates of the imperial most leading to the imperial palace—following the newspaperman's credo: Hold your camera high and your St. Christopher close.

The police board of Tokyo meantime has issued orders to the citizenry expected to jam the city for tomorrow's wedding of "commoner" Michiko Shoda and the Prince.

There must be no frightening of the imperial horses drawing the imperial couple's carriage. Horse-frightening actions are described as firecracker shooting, loud music playing, paper and tape throwing, balloon popping, and even bouquet slinging.

People should not climb on roofs or throw objects larger than a breadbox. People should not "drink liquor or otherwise act in such a way as to inconvenience others."

Aged people and children must have guardians.

Lazy American tourists are advised to watch the proceedings on TV.

It is beautiful weather for tennis in Tokyo. But the bride, who defeated her groom 6-1 on their first meeting in '57, will never again be permitted to repeat those immortal mortal's words, "Tennis, anyone?"

Tennis with just anyone is out of the question now for the future empress. Already the Gussie Moran of the Rising Sun has been taught that in the future she must carry the Prince's tennis racquets and apply the towel to his neck after she has defeated him. That is, if she is allowed to defeat him, once they are married.

The Japanese Diet has issued no statement on this.

Michiko is in complete isolation these days, which must not be easy for her. Although she is the perfectly mannered daughter of a wealthy family and not given to giddy socializing (some people have even called her "polite unto because"), she has never in her 24 years been so confined.

Michiko has been quoted, shortly after becoming acquainted with the imperial family: "I feel really sorry for them. They are so confined. I wish they could get around to parties more."

But Miss Shoda's life was cast when she agreed, reportedly after considerable soul-searching to give up her freedom as an "emancipated woman" of new Japan to become empress—and she scarcely has been seen in public since.

The people of Tokyo, with growing excitement, must be content to gaze at her portraits which are mounted on bill boards all over the sprawling city like enormous advertisements for a spectacular from the late Cecil B. DeMille.

And an epic of that order is exactly what this Japanese wedding-of-the-century is destined to be.

Soviet Ballerina Eager to Shop New York Stores

NEW YORK (AP)—Like most every other woman who comes to New York, Prima Soviet Ballerina Galina Ulanova plans to go shopping.

She arrived by plane Wednesday with 15 others of Moscow's Bolshoi Theatre Ballet. Also in the party was her husband, Vadim Rindin, principal designer of the Bolshoi company.

The petite, brown-haired dancer said the Bolshoi troupe hoped to spread good will in a cross-country tour, and that she hoped to "sing."

But, she added, "I am a woman. Women are curious. Women are curious about clothes. I will go to the stores. Part of this will be looking, and part will be shopping."

Two Policemen Suffer for Drunkometer's Sake

NEW YORK (AP)—Now it can be told—the story of two New York policemen who temporarily gave up both their digestions and the society of fellow humans for science and the greater glory of the department.

It started in a Brooklyn courtroom, Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy explained Tuesday.

A lawyer challenged the accuracy of the police department's drunkometer—a device used to measure the amount of alcohol in a driver's system. The lawyer claimed onion or garlic on a driver's breath would cause the same reaction on the machine.

Not so, said Kennedy. He called for volunteers to prove him right.

Two chemists in the police laboratory stepped forward. They were Patrolman Jerry Matteace and Detective Davis Inella.

Matteace was assigned to chew and swallow a pound of raw onions. Inella did the same with a sizable bunk of garlic.

Both tried the drunkometer—no reaction. Police observers grinned victoriously. Matteace and Inella staggered away, racked by nausea and reeking of garlic and onions.

Kennedy, jubilant, called a conference.

There he explained his findings, and a more fortunate cop gave a demonstration—by spraying essence of garlic and onion on the machine. The machine betrayed no reaction.

Kennedy left the next move to the courts.

Kennedy Tests Wisconsin Vote

Presidential Aspirant on Three-Day Junket to Measure Strength

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) comes to Wisconsin today for a three-day visit that may be the springboard to his entry in the 1960 state presidential preference primary.

The Massachusetts senator has made no secret that he would like to find out how he stands among Wisconsin voters.

His visit here, at which he plans to meet with many of his supporters and make several speeches, could well give him an insight on the support he might obtain if he chooses to enter the primary next year.

Wisconsin's primary — at which presidential convention delegates are chosen — comes in April and is preceded only by the one in New Hampshire.

In the event that Kennedy announces that he will enter the race in Wisconsin, Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) is almost sure to follow suit.

Kennedy sent out 13,000 letters to Wisconsin Democrats last week, inviting them to a breakfast at Madison Saturday at which he said he would like to discuss the political situation with them.

He obtained the mailing list from Patrick J. Lucey, Madison, state chairman of the Wisconsin Democratic party, who said the same courtesy also has been extended to other presidential hopefuls.

Kennedy was scheduled to speak at a Milwaukee Press Club dinner tonight.

Leaves Stalled Car, Plunges 300 Feet

Step in Fog Brings Death

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI)—Glenn H. Eastburg, 60, stepped out of his car and dropped 300 feet through a black night fog to death on a rock over the pounding Pacific surf.

For five hours, his 55-year-old wife sat in the stalled station wagon, fighting hysteria in the eerie night, waiting for the help Eastburg had set out to find on the lonely highway.

If he cried out as he fell from the cliff edge, one step from the car door, the sound was lost in the perpetual roar of the sea on the rocks below.

Mrs. Eastburg was found by another motorist at 3 a.m. yesterday. Later and still under heavy sedation at a Monterey Hospital, she could give only a brief account of the tragedy, but daylight and lifting fog revealed the story for sheriff's deputies.

State Highway 1 is a breathtaking route carved into the lonely California coastal cliffs above the edge of the Pacific. About 10 p.m. Tuesday, Mrs. Eastburg said, another car forced theirs off the two-lane road some miles south of here.

Eastburg, unable to put the car in motion again, told his wife not to worry and stepped out to walk for help.

When an unidentified motorist found Mrs. Eastburg five hours later, she was able to tell him only:

"My husband . . . he's gone . . . he's gone for help . . . I don't know where he is . . . I'm so afraid."

The motorist took the hysterical woman to the nearby settlement of Gorda and called the sheriff's office.

Deputies at daylight found Eastburg's body on an outcropping of rock 100 feet above the surf. They also found why the car had stalled. One rear wheel was over the edge of the cliff. It was no more than one step from the driver's door to the edge.

U.S. Rushes Injured Russian to Hospital

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—A four-day mission of mercy to save the life of an obscure Soviet fisherman was rapidly nearing completion today.

Evgeniy Ivanovich Gneushev, partially paralyzed five days ago when he tumbled into the hold of a Soviet fishing vessel on the Bering Sea, was unconscious and unaware of the major role he was playing.

The 23-year-old Soviet fisherman was aboard the U.S. Coast Guard Storis, en route to Cold Bay, Alaska, at the tip of the Alaska Peninsula.

The Storis was expected to arrive at Cold Bay at 7 a.m. (12 noon EST). Gneushev will be transferred to a Coast Guard plane at Cold Bay for a 650 mile flight to Anchorage and hospitalization.

A Navy doctor who examined Gneushev said the young seaman had flaccid (flabby) paralysis of the right arm and both legs, caused by a brain injury suffered in the fall.

Farm phone service costs are up. Farmers are paying an average of $3.85 a month compared with $3.66 a year ago.

NO MONEY DOWN! GEORGE'S NEWPORT'S

74 NORTH SAGINAW STREET We Give Holden Stamps

Bob Considine Says:

Wrights Saw Planes' Military Value Early

NEW YORK — The Air Force alone will spend perhaps a thousand times as much this coming fiscal year as Thomas Jefferson spent for the million square miles of colonial Louisiana.

But it is the considered opinion of many airmen, and their companions in Congress, that the $15 billion allotted is alarmingly inadequate.

Rumors are circulating, apparently, in intercontinental ballistic missiles. Seventy-five per cent of our Strategic Air Command striking force — the B47 bomber wings — is obsolete.

The supersonic B36 Hustler is not being ordered in very large numbers. We won't have an Atlas squadron in place before the middle of next year, and it will be placed on a "soft" base, i.e., a surface installation easily wiped out by a lob from an offshore submarine.

BACK TO INVENTION

These sober thoughts and awe-inspiring numerals are stirred by a chance reading of a little book, now out of print, entitled "How We Invented the Airplane," by Orville Wright, with commentary by Fred C. Kelly, authorized biographer of the brothers.

There was a day when military aviation was... well... cheaper, let's say.

So little attention was paid to the Wrights' historic flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C., December of 1903, that as long after as March, 1907, their hometown newspaper, the Dayton, O., Herald, was calling them "inventors of the airship" — meaning propelled balloon.

The Herald also called Orville "Oliver."

The brothers had come to a startling conclusion by 1903, and it was this: their flying machine, which they conceived of as a vehicle for fun and frolic, unquestionably had certain military applications.

Certain foreign powers had shown interest in buying a plane for use militarily, and this thoroughly alarmed the brothers. "They wanted the United States government to have first opportunity not only to use the machine for any military need, but also to control all rights to the invention for the entire world," Kelly wrote.

"They thought observations from scouting planes could prevent surprise attacks by an enemy. They saw, too, that it would be possible to drop bombs on enemy territory."

"And they hoped no government would want to risk starting a war and subjecting its people to the kind of devastation the airplane could inflict."

"One thing they particularly believed might prevent war was the opportunity the airplane provided promptly to drop bombs on buildings occupied by the highest government officials or rulers of the country that declared war."

WROTE CONGRESSMAN

"They hoped their invention would thus make war so inadvisable that no government would dare to start one."

So they wrote to their congressman, a man named Nevin, and asked him to inquire if the War Department would like to buy a flying machine.

In time, a major general wrote back that the Army was not interested in spending money "for the experimental development of devices for mechanical flight."

Rebuffed, the brothers would have assigned rights to France and Germany, among others, if friends had not prevailed upon them to try again.

And so they did, after nine months of cooling off. This time the department blantly implied that their claims represented a hoax.

But on Feb. 8, 1908, the Army's Signal Corps ordered one plane.

provided it could fly at least 25 miles at not less than 30 miles an hour.

The Signal Corps forced 18 months of demonstrations before accepting the plane, in the course of which gruelling testing period Lt. Thomas E. Selfridge became the world's first crackup victim, and Orville was seriously injured.

The only instrument on the plane was a weighted eight inches of string, to indicate turn and bank. The engine was of 30 horsepower.

The whole thing cost $25,000, and was cracked up three weeks after the purchase date by Lt. Frank Lahm — the destruction of the entire U.S. Air Force.

Still a spy, still eager, still the starry-eyed pioneer, Gen. Lahm, USAF (Ret.) will be seen during NBC's televised report on the World Congress of Flight on April 19, high over Las Vegas in a DC8 making 600 knots.

He has bridged the most incredible technological advances in history, from the moody misgivings of the Wrights about the sinister aspects of their playing to today's misgivings over whether $15 billion is economy bordering on madness.

India's railway system, 35,000 miles long, is Asia's largest and the world's fourth largest.

Barrymore Denies Pair of Traffic Violations

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor John Drew Barrymore has pleaded innocent to charges of felony drunk driving and hit-run driving.

He was arrested by Beverly Hills police March 6 after a traffic accident.

Barrymore's trial was set for June 1. He is free on $1,500 bail.

Want Rochester School Tax Hike

ROCHESTER — The Board of Education of the Rochester Community School District has decided to request a two-mill operating tax increase from the voters at the June 8 annual election.

Henry L. Purdy, board president stated, "This increase is necessary in order to maintain the present instructional program and to meet increased costs created by additional students."

"It will also allow us to adjust the teachers' salary schedule by $100 in order to remain competitive with other districts," he added.

Deloris Gray, Robert Brady Join in Wedlock

ROCHESTER — Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gray of 2780 Dearborn Rd. announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Deloris Myra, to Robert L. Brady, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Brady of 3063 Greenwood St., Auburn Heights.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Benjamin A. Bohn in the Crescent Hills Baptist Church parsonage, Mrs. Gerald Watros of Pontiac served as the bride's attendant and Gerald Watros was best man.

The newlyweds are residing in Pontiac.

Fears Limits on Competition

ROCHESTER — The price of gasoline and legislation designed to restrict free competition are two important subjects in Michigan today, according to Arthur G. Epker, manager of Mobil Oil Co.'s marketing district in Pontiac.

Addressing members of the Rochester Lions Club, Epker stated that passage of so-called business practices legislation (Senate Bill 1028 and House Bill 104) would lessen price competition and thereby injure free competition.

In speaking of gasoline pricing, Epker said that the wholesale price—the only segment over which the supplier has any control—represents only one-half the retail price of a gallon of gasoline; the balance is taxes and dealer's gross profit.

"There is little variation in the wholesale price of gasoline in Michigan," he said. "Freight costs to various points in the state account for price variations."

FACTORS CHANGE

"We change these prices only when changes occur in the factors which go into them and when competition permits."

"We do not increase the price in an area to attempt to make up for loss of revenue in a price war area."

Speaking of the highly competitive nature of the petroleum business, Epker said the old-fashioned idea of hard competition has come back in vogue.

See 'Urban Revolt' as Threat to Benson

WASHINGTON — A Republican research report that an "urban revolt" had contributed heavily to the party's setback in 1958 has a possible bearing on the future of Secretary of Agriculture Benson in the party's councils.

It has been the contention of Benson supporters that his farm policies could be expected to make enough friends for the party in the cities to outweigh losses in farming areas. Those policies seek lower price supports — and hence lower food prices for consumers.

In fact, many critics have charged that Benson has been attempting to line up city folks against farmers and that he has carried his fight against high price supports to urban areas.

Donald C. Baldwin, superintendent of schools, reported that 115 additional students would enter junior high next September. This will require three additional teachers for 100 more students, he said.

MORE TEACHERS

He further stated that one more elementary teacher will be required, and two supplementary teachers in the music field are necessary.

Approval of the extra two mills would make a total of seven above the allocated rate for school operation, school officials said.

"When Rochester first approved extra millage for schools, it was allocated 9.32 by the Oakland County Allocation Board," Baldwin reported.

"In 1958 this rate dropped to 8.03 and is expected to be lower in 1959," he added, stating that the lost millage has been absorbed by the county and township governments who have also been faced with mounting costs.

Baldwin emphasized that the result has been that school districts have not gained full benefits of increases in valuation.

The Board of Education has refused a proposal from the Rochester Education Assn. that the base teachers' salary be adjusted to $4,500 for a bachelor's degree and $4,800 for a master's degree because of an estimated deficit next year of $50,000, they said.

Board members added that if the millage passes, however, the present base of $4,300 will be adjusted to $4,400 and the master's degree base of $4,500 will be raised to $4,600.

A request from the custodial staff for a pay hike of $300 per man has also been denied, but a $100 increase will result if the millage proposal is approved, school officials said.

The board has directed Baldwin to prepare a plan for necessary cuts in case the voters turn down the millage request.

Purdy stated, "The people should understand what the results will be if they refuse the millage."

The federation is in convention there this week.

Theme of the convention is "Music and Industry." Speakers for the morning will be Raymond Gerkowski of the Flint Community Music Assn., Dr. David Macht of Oldsmobile Division of General Motors Corp., Lansing, and Dr. Theodore Vosburg of Dow Chemical Co., Midland.

Assisting Mrs. VanWagoner are Mrs. Milton Tubbs, Mrs. Nelson Parrish, Mrs. Harold Ehler, Mrs. Ray Forman, Mrs. Ralph Curtis and Mrs. Clifford Ashley, club president.

Election Upsets Plans

Car Track Trial Delayed

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — The change of command in the township brought about by Monday's election has caused another delay in the automobile race track trial that was scheduled to start in Macomb County Circuit Court today.

The suit, brought by a group of Shelby homeowners, charged that the township acted "illegally" in rezoning the Curtis-Wright Corp. property here to permit big car racing.

Now the township board at the time the rezoning action was taken is no longer in office because of the members' defeat at the polls Monday.

The new township officers have not decided whether to retain George F. Roberts, who was representing the previous board, as their attorney, the circuit court assignment clerk said today. Consequently, the trial has been postponed for at least another week.

The first delay in the opening of the trial was at the request

Threat Charge Facing Doctor

Staton Free on Bond Prior to Trial Arising Over Phone Call

The ex-husband of a West Bloomfield Township resident charged with threatening the woman's suitor has been freed under $2,500 bond at Denver, Colo.

Dr. Wesley M. Staton, 39, the accused, returned to his classes at Colorado State College at Greeley, Colo., yesterday. He is a physical instructor at the school.

As the arresting agents, the FBI said the charge of violating the Federal extortion act was based on a telephone call that Dr. Staton made from Denver to Eugene Holstin, a Detroit truck driver, at the home of Staton's divorced wife at 5402 Cambourne Rd., here Sunday.

Dr. Staton said he made the call to Holstin, but denied he made any threat. He merely said he would sue for custody of the Statons' two children if Mrs. Staton and Holstin went ahead with marriage plans, according to Dr. Staton.

He said he will plead innocent when the case goes to trial in U.S. District Court at Detroit.

The Statons' children are Michael, 7, and Anne, 6. They have been with their mother since the divorce last year.

A college official said Dr. Staton will continue with his health education classes pending disposition of the federal charge. He went there last fall from Wayne State University at Detroit.

DURWARD B. VARNER

Honor Youth Will Hear Varner Talk

ROMEO — Durward B. Varner, chancellor of Michigan State University, will appear here Tuesday night as guest speaker at the Honors Banquet at the Romeo Community Youth and Civic Center on Morton street.

The banquet, sponsored by the Romeo Rotary Club, is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. It is being held to honor Romeo Community High School students with outstanding scholarship records.

At 8:30 Tuesday morning the new junior members of the National Honor Society will be named at a special assembly in the high school gymnasium. They will receive ribbons which they will wear the rest of the day.

The Junior and Senior Honor Society members will be special guests at the banquet.

During the affair, Master of Ceremonies James H. Church will announce the names of the two top honor students, a boy and a girl.

Varner then will present each with an engraved pin and ribbon.

The two students' names subsequently will be engraved on a plaque which hangs in the lobby of the new high school.

Deadline for reservations is tomorrow. They may be made by calling Roy Davis at PL 2-3603.

Band, Orchestra, Glee Clubs Participate Walled Lake Junior High to Present Spring Concert

WALLED LAKE — The Music Department of Walled Lake Junior High School will present its annual spring concert at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the auditorium.

The band and orchestra are under the direction of Frank Balaam. Eugene Guettler directs the Boys Glee Club and Robert Boberg, the Girls Glee Club.

Each organization will present a group of numbers before all join in a finale. The public is invited and there is no charge.

Some of the highlights of the program will include the orchestra playing the finale from "The Carnival" by Schuman and "Serenade" by Toselli.

The band will render "Fiesta Paso Doble" by Caneva and "The Officer of the Day" march by Hill.

Area Boys' Club Sets Box Social Saturday Night

AUBURN HEIGHTS — An old-fashioned box social will be staged Saturday evening by the directors of the Auburn Heights Boys Club at the American Legion Hall on Churchill road.

Every woman, attending the affair, must bring a box lunch for two, packed picnic style, to be auctioned off beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Coffee and tea will be supplied by the directors under the chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Newingham and Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Burt.

A local orchestra will furnish music for dancing. All profits will go into the Boys Club Building fund, Mrs. Burt said. She added that all persons interested in the club are welcome to attend.

The Swedish ship "Vasa," which sank in the Stockholm harbor in 1628, is being brought to the surface in the near future. The "Vasa" is regarded as the world's oldest fully identified ship. Already brought up are its bronze cannon, the rudder and wooden sculptures.

Makes Full Reappraisal First Step in New Setup

WIXOM — Mayor Joseph Stadnik of Wixom has joined with his City Council to initiate a "property tax program founded on sound basic principles and designed to create a tax environment attractive to all classes of taxpayers."

The mayor said he believes timely adoption of a similar plan by taxing units now troubled with "extreme fiscal problems" would have avoided, or at least minimized, their difficulties.

"The heart of Wixom's plan," he said, "is the viewpoint that the Constitution and laws of the state mean what they say in stipulating that all property tax assessments—both real and personal, and regardless of individual or business ownership—are to be made on a uniform basis."

Mayor Stadnik said the first step in achieving the present tax policy was complete reappraisal of all property in the city to determine its cash value.

He added that such a reappraisal was necessary because the new city was created from parts of two townships which had assessment practices "differing extremely in the base."

"The reappraisal has been completed," Mayor Stadnik said, "and we now have taken the second important step: assessment of all property according to a uniform standard."

"We are convinced that our policy will eliminate the many appeals to the State Tax Commission in which some taxing units find themselves involved because of inequitable assessments."

Further, the city's policy will minimize the effect of county and state equalization, since the evils often attributed to the equalization process actually arise from the fact that discrimination exists in the local assessments entered on the tax roll.

"Where such inequality exists, the flat percentage increases required by equalization boards merely compound the basic inequity."

FULL UNIFORMITY

"Since Wixom's roll will reflect full uniformity, any equalization likewise will apply fairly to all assessments."

The mayor said the city's uniform taxation policy is designed not only to attract and hold both residential and industrial property owners, but to avoid problems resulting from failure to follow such a policy.

"In adopting firm principles of uniformity," he said, "we are moving now to assure that it will be unnecessary for taxpayers to enter appeals or to pack up and leave the city, as has happened in so many areas of our State."

Mayor Stadnik concluded that "Wixom's policy of taxing uniformly and at a realistic percentage of value assures all present and future property owners of fair treatment and a healthy economic climate in which to live, work and plan for the future."

Royal Oak Man Dies of Crash

Succumbs in Hospital After 2-Car Smashup Sunday in Southfield

ROYAL OAK — An elderly Royal Oak man died last night in William Beaumont Hospital here of internal and chest injuries sustained in an automobile accident Sunday in Southfield.

The victim, John W. Corcoran, 83, of 2111 Clawson Rd., was fatally injured in a two-car collision at 12-Mile and Everett roads at about 2:25 p.m. Sunday. No one else was hurt.

According to two unidentified witnesses, Corcoran was making a left-hand turn from 12-Mile road into Everett when his car was rammed on the right-hand side by an oncoming, eastbound car driven by Seymour Stamp, 18, of 3009 Southfield Rd., Southfield Police reported.

Both drivers were alone in their cars at the time.

Stamp told police he tried to stop but skidded into Corcoran's car. A hearing was to be held this morning in the Prosecutor's Office at Pontiac. Stamp was not held.

Eyewitnesses agreed that neither vehicle was breaking the speed limit when the collision occurred, police said.

The impact slammed Corcoran against the steering wheel. It took ambulance attendants several minutes to extricate him.

Corcoran was a widower and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Edward Lee, at the Clawson road address, and Mrs. Frederick F. Solverson of 1892 Earlmont Rd., Berkley; and a son, John A., of 1376 Leroy St., Ferndale. Funeral arrangements are pending.

In a recent study conducted by Eugene Gilbert & Co., noted teenage research authorities, teenagers were asked "Did you read a newspaper yesterday?" Eight out of every ten replied that they had.

Now Boosted for Top GOP Job Only Kentucky Ike Voter

By United Press International
Thurston B. Morton, first-term senator from Kentucky, cast the only Kentucky vote at the 1952 Republican national convention for the nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Now he is President Eisenhower's personal choice for the chairmanship of the GOP National Committee.

He served the Eisenhower administration for more than three years as assistant secretary of state for congressional relations before running for the Senate at the request of the White House in 1950.

He went into the campaign an underdog but unseated Earle C. Clements, a former governor who was then Democratic whip of the Senate.

PROMINENT FAMILY
Morton is the tall, dark, handsome, 51-year-old member of a prominent and wealthy Louisville family.

He was born at Louisville Aug. 19, 1907. He attended the Woodberry Forest School at Orange, Va. from 1925 to 1928 and then Yale University, from which he graduated in 1929.

He married Belle Clay Lyons of Louisville April 18, 1931, and they have two sons, Thurston Jr., 26, and Clay, 22.

Morton held various jobs with Ballard & Ballard, the family milling business, including the chairmanship of the board of directors, and spent 51 months in the Navy in World War II.

He was elected to the House of Representatives from the Louisville district in 1948. Re-elected twice, he declined to run for a fourth term in 1952.

At the 1952 Republican convention, he was the only Eisenhower delegate in a 20-member Kentucky delegation which cast 19 votes for the nomination of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

FRESHMEN TOGETHER
Morton and Vice President Richard M. Nixon were freshman House members and Labor Committee seatmates in the 80th Congress.

Before he was tapped for the National Committee chairmanship, he went on record earlier this winter with the belief that Nixon would be the strongest candidate the GOP could nominate for the presidency in 1960.

As chairman of the Republican National Committee, however, he must maintain neutrality toward the 1960 nomination.

Tiny Andorra Thrives on Tourist Trade

WASHINGTON—Andorra, a tiny country wedged high in the Pyrenees between France and Spain, is an anachronism—a feudal state thriving in tune with modern times.

The capital, also named Andorra, is a modest village with a permanent population of about 1,000. Its shops, however, are filled with luxury goods and the latest wonder drugs, all at duty and tax-free bargain prices. In season, the streets are crowded with automobiles and visitors.

Bargains and rugged mountain scenery have stimulated a burgeoning tourist business that is supplanting the ancient Andorran pastime of smuggling as a source of income, the National Geographic Society says.

Smuggling is not illegal in Andorra itself. In recent years, traffic in contraband has decreased, but some goods still move clandestinely between West Germany, France, and Spain by way of the valleys and mountain passes of Andorra. Everything that is shipped through Andorra leaves part of its profit behind.

Winter hampers travel. Snows usually block the road on the French side from mid-November until June. The road on the Spanish border is open all year.

Andorra is notable among world capitals in not having a single monumental statue. It does boast a good five-cent cigar, a seven-cent pack of cigarettes, and a 10-cent glass of sherry.

He Wouldn't Be Trapped Into Charge of Felony

St. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—After William Woodrum was found innocent of a burglary charge, he went to the office of Prosecutor Dan Hale to pick up some tools used as evidence against him. But Woodrum left the office without them. He refused to sign a receipt for the tools listed on a receipt as "burglary tools." Possession of burglary tools is a felony.

Calls Jet Travel Safest Way

Planes Fly in High Air Lanes; Constantly on Radar Screens

MIAMI (UPI)—Commercial jet planes are proving to be "the safest way to fly," according to a top airline executive.

"We are under radar sighting all the way and are getting the kid glove treatment from everyone," explained Lewis (Lew) W. Dymond, a National Airlines vice president.

Jet passenger planes are moving into the higher air lanes—24,000 feet and above—which are crowded with supersonic military planes and safety experts shudder at the possibility of a collision between a jetliner—most carry more than 100 persons—and a bomber or fighter.

"But," Dymond reported, "we have not had one near miss or incident in more than 300 jet flights."

He said that three aerial "near misses" recently all involved either piston engine or prop-jet aircraft that were operating in the congested air lanes below the level of the jets.

Dymond is flight operations boss of National, which was the first airline to begin jet passenger service within U.S. borders.

It has been flying the 116-passenger Boeing 707, on lease from Pan American World Airways, since Dec. 10 on one of the nation's busiest air routes, Miami-New York.

The newly-created Federal Aviation Agency has civilian employees manning the radar tracking stations. They maintain direct radio contact with the planes aloft so that they can divert them instantly from any danger that pops up on the radar scanners.

The FAA will construct its own radar checking stations at points throughout the nation not now covered by the military installations.

A military bomber or fighter plane wishing to cross the jet passenger plane routes must first obtain clearance from the FAA and also be equipped with a transponder.

The radar blanket eventually will become only a backdrop for a completely automatic "aerial traffic cop system" which already is in the testing stage, Dymond said. The marvel of electronics will control every plane in the air.

Wooden golf tees became popular about 1923. Before that it was customary to shape little mounds of wet sand into tees for driving.

Rain May Keep Vacationing Ike Off Tees Today

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A forecast of rain today threatens to mar the perfect vacation weather President Eisenhower has been enjoying.

Cloudiness and thunder showers were the prediction, but Eisenhower still hoped to get in another round of golf during the day.

The President arrived from Washington Tuesday. He played at the Augusta National Golf Course then and again Wednesday in bright sunshine with the temperature in the 80s.

Eisenhower will confer at the club Friday with Republican leaders seeking his views regarding a new GOP national chairman to succeed Meade A. McCormack. Indications are the job will go to Sen. Thurston Morton of Kentucky.

Arctic Ocean Ideas Change

Once Thought to Be Shallow, Part Land; Now Know Better

WASHINGTON—New discoveries are changing man's hazy concepts of the Arctic Ocean, the icy crossroads at the top of the world.

For centuries the Arctic Ocean's 5,400,000 square miles remained as unmapped as the far side of the moon. Until Nansen's iceclad Fram drifted across the polar basin in the 1890s, it was thought to be shallow and perhaps not a true ocean. Even early 20th-century experts expected to find a polar continent there. Slowly gathered knowledge of the Arctic has been costly in lives and ships.

Now passenger planes fly regularly over the polar route. Men have maintained scientific stations on ice floes, and two nuclear submarines have crossed the frozen sea via the North Pole.

Commander William R. Anderson, skipper of the submarine Nautilus, reports in the National Geographic Magazine that the Arctic is a very deep ocean. It has low-lying approaches from the Atlantic side, shallower avenues from the Pacific. Soundings revealed differences of more than one mile between estimated and actual depths. (The Arctic's greatest known depth is 17,124 feet.)

Anderson said the cruise showed two other things: "One, that the under-ice profile is fantastically rugged, far more so than anyone ever thought; and two, that there is, stating it plainly, a lot more ice up there than anyone has suspected."

Wild turkeys are distributed all the way from parts of Canada to the Central American countries.

Liquor Dealers Rush to 'We' Oklahoma

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Legal sale of liquor won't start in Oklahoma for several weeks. But business queries already have started coming in as a result of prohibition repeal Tuesday after 51 years. The Chamber of Commerce said one letter arrived from Yugoslavia, asking if some Tulsa might want to handle import business on wine. An out-of-state dealer telephoned to say, "I'm on my way down—tell me something about Tulsa."

Most States in No Hurry to Enact Legislation Controlling Labor Unions

By GERSON YALOWITZ
Of the Associated Press

What kind of efforts are state legislatures making to place legal controls on labor unions to prevent any possible abuses of power?

An Associated Press survey shows that in at least 13 states bills have been introduced which would, in some way, regulate the activities of labor unions.

Most of the bills seek to remedy alleged abuses uncovered in the last two years by the Senate Labor-Management Committee. The bills concern such subjects as the secret ballot, audits and picketing.

AP statehouse correspondents point out, however, that many of the bills will, for various political reasons, die in committee or fail to pass. Some already have.

Other legislators, not pressing for quick passage, have said they would rather adopt a wait-and-see attitude pending federal legislation.

On the other hand, in New York state a reform measure has been aimed at employers. Management too, has come under the scrutiny of the Senate committee.

Labor forces have gone on the offensive, especially in seeking repeal or amendment of the right-to-work law, that law which gives the worker the legal right to refuse to join a union.

But four states already have beaten back attempts to change that type of bill.

Other labor bills include one that would repeal an Oregon law barring picketing aimed at organizing employees and a Vermont bill guaranteeing workers the right to organize and bargain collectively.

Of the 49 states, all but 12 reported some sort of labor legislation. Most of it concerned unemployment benefits and minimum wages.

In general, the labor-management bills fell into three groups, general reform, right-to-work and picketing.

Three state bodies have somewhat broad reform bills up for consideration. In Ohio, a legislator would write into state law much of the AFL-CIO ethical practices code, labor's own watchdog.

Taking a cue from the federal Kennedy-Ives bill, California's Gov. Edmund Brown has proposed legislation calling for at least 10 yearly membership meetings with adequate notice, the secret ballot in union elections, three-year maximum terms for officers and a recall.

New York's Republican administration has sponsored a bill barring union officials from holding a financial interest in companies doing business with the union. It would make illegal the taking of gifts from management and would set up a study to determine if election safeguards were needed.

Affecting the employer would be a provision that management be prohibited from influencing labor leaders to act improperly. Both employer and union would have to file audits of their accounts with the state.

Indiana's proposed labor reform was the victim of a Republican versus Democrat battle over right-to-work.

Other states with reform bills introduced include: Iowa, bill to prevent blacklisting of employees by unions or any other group; Nebraska, outlaw of the secondary boycott; Texas, audits; and North Dakota, a bill making it illegal for persons convicted of a crime or felony to hold office.

Idaho defeated bills similar to the Taft-Hartley Act and the Kennedy-Ives bill.

Perhaps the bitterest fight over labor legislation took place in Indiana over right-to-work, a measure which passed in 1957.

A Democratic-controlled House passed a repealer. A GOP Senate countered with a uniform reform code. When Democrats failed to approve the code, the Republicans blocked the repeal. The stalemate killed both.

Vermont and Connecticut have bills pending proposing "freedom of association," and "freedom of employment." They are closely related to right-to-work. In 1957 a big battle was waged in Connecticut over the issue, with the anti-right-to-work forces winning.

Repeal of right-to-work failed in Kansas and Utah and a move to allow a union shop lost in Iowa.

A union shop, whereby employees must join a union after a certain period on the job, would become law in under a bill introduced in the Nevada Legislature. The union involved would have to represent a majority of employees in the bargaining unit.

Organizational picketing sent several legislators into the bill-writing stage. Connecticut, Minnesota, New Mexico and Massachusetts all have bills pending which would regulate the setting up of picket lines to induce employers to recognize a union as a bargaining agent.

Most of the bills would ban the picketing unless the employees of the firm involved had shown, usually by election, that they wanted the union to represent them.

In Massachusetts, however, a Teamsters Union official has introduced legislation which would repeal several antipicketing bills now law.

Some 10 states have labor legislation bills not falling into the three major categories. These mainly concern public utility strikes, arbitration, and fair employment practices with regard to age and sex.

BUSY WATERFRONT—Six ocean liners are tied to their piers as the Cunard Line's Mauretania is maneuvered by tugs into the Hudson River to start a cruise. Berthed ships are, from left, S. S. Media, Queen Mary, Ivernia (almost hidden by pier), S. S. Liberté, S. S. United States, and Giulio Cesare.

Security for You

No Income Limit If Past 72

By RAY HENRY

Editor's note: This is the second of three columns explaining the rules on how much income a person can have and still get social security. There are five rules covering the amount of earnings a person can have from work and still draw social security.

The first one provides that a person 72 or older may have unlimited earnings from work without affecting his social security in any way.

The other four apply to people under 72 who are eligible for social security. The effect of them all is to limit the earnings a person can have and still draw social security every month.

The four should be considered separately. Thus, if you can draw more social security checks under one rule than under the others, that's the rule you should follow.

Here are the rules:

1. You may earn $1,200 or less a year and get social security checks for the full year.
2. You can earn up to $100 in any month and still get social security for that month — no matter how much your total earnings were for the year.
3. You may earn more than $100 in every month of a year and still get one or more social security checks during the year — so long as your total earnings for the year don't go over $2,080.

DEPENDS ON EXCESS

How many checks you may get under this rule depends on how much more than $1,200 you earn. The rule on this is: For each $80 or fraction of $80 you earn above $1,200 you lose one check.

4. If you earn more than $1,200 as a self-employed person and you render "substantial services" during any month of the year, you may not be eligible for payments during the months in which you render substantial services. But, for any month you don't render substantial services, no matter what your earnings total for the year, you'll get social security for that month.

Remember: The earnings limits apply only to actual earnings from work. They don't apply to income from pensions, insurance, dividends, interest, annuities or rents (unless you're a real estate operator). Income from such sources doesn't affect your social security.

Next: Reporting your earnings.

New Move Eyed to Oust Benson

Farm State Members May Offer Resolution at GOP Meeting

WASHINGTON (U)—A new revolt among some farm state Republican National Committee members against the policies of Secretary of Agriculture Benson shaped up today.

Mark Andrews of North Dakota said he will decide after talking with President Eisenhower's assistants whether to offer a resolution calling for Benson's resignation.

A similar effort failed at a meeting of the National Committee in Des Moines, Iowa, last year.

The National Committee opens a two-day meeting here tomorrow to elect a chairman to succeed retiring Meade Alcorn and to pick the site of the 1960 GOP presidential nominating convention.

Andrews said in an interview that he believes Benson's policies are so unsatisfactory to the farmers, particularly in the Midwest, "that we are going to lose what used to be the heart-land of Republicanism in 1960 unless he goes."

About one-third of Canada's 16 million people live in Ontario province.

Health Department Reports

Chicken Pox, Measles, Mumps Show Big Decline

A great reduction in chicken pox, measles and mumps cases was reported last week in Pontiac compared to the same period a year ago, according to Dr. John D. Monroe, county health director.

Only one case of mumps was reported last week. There were 62 in the same week of 1958. Three persons in Pontiac were afflicted with measles last week compared to 32 in the same time last year.

Chicken pox cases decreased to one quarter of last year's report of 16 since only 4 cases were reported last week.

Following is a comparative list of the communicable diseases reported to the city and county health departments last week:

	PONTIAC	Past Week	Prev. Year
Chicken pox	4	0	16
Measles	3	0	32
Mumps	1	0	62

	OAKLAND COUNTY	Past Week	Prev. Year
Chicken pox	52	54	40
Measles	28	23	208

Whooping cough	3	0	0
Mumps	12	17	161
Infectious mononucleosis	1	1	1
Rheumatic fever	2	1	0

JUPITER ISLAND, Fla. (AP)—An aide of John Foster Dulles says he knows of no plans for President Eisenhower to visit the ailing secretary of state at this seaside resort.

Joseph N. Greene, asked Wednesday about reports of such a visit, said there were no indications that the President, now vacationing at Augusta, Ga., will come to Florida.

Dulles planned another day of rest and relaxation at the home of Undersecretary C. Douglas Dillon, where he is recuperating from a hernia operation and treatment for cancer.

Youngest Force Member Is Only 11 Months Old

NUTLEY, N. J. (U)—The youngest member of the police force here is 11 months old—and a female.

Her name is Kim, a German Shepherd whose owner, Patrolman Richard Moran, is breaking her in as a police dog to walk his beat with him.

350 Given Physicals at Convention

Doctors Take Checkup: Find 21 Ailing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Twenty-one cases of serious or potentially serious illness have been uncovered among the first 350 doctors to submit casually to free physical examinations while attending the American Academy of General Practice convention here.

These findings were made by a group of physicians and technicians in the first large-scale undertaking of that nature by the academy.

The convention and the project have one more day to go, so the final figures on undetected ailments among the doctors will be somewhat higher.

In about 40 minutes, the doctors get a thorough-going check-up that would take 3 to 4 days to complete for a patient in ordinary practice. The ordinary patient would have to pay about $75 for the job. It's free to the doctors.

VOLUNTEER STAFF

The physical examination center is manned by a volunteer staff of 140 nurses and technicians. Ten to 15 examining doctors from a volunteer staff of 70 are on duty.

A $40,000 layout of the latest in laboratory and testing equipment, including electronic blood counters and on the spot X-ray reading, makes possible the immediate reporting of findings. Twelve electrocardiographs are used for heart studies. A cardiologist analyzes their records.

Dr. John D. Humber of San Francisco's Southern Pacific Hospital is the center's director.

He reported these 21 cases of serious symptoms discovered in the first 350 checkups:

Four cases of glaucoma, a dangerous pressure disturbance of the eye.

One rectal cancer.

Three enlarged livers.

One abdominal mass, requiring more checking.

Ten suspicious chest X-rays, other than tuberculosis.

Two urgently suspicious chest X-rays calling for prompt diagnostic check.

Dr. Humber said a complete statistical study report will be made from the mass examinations on the health level of family doctors.

HARD TO FIND

Such statistics normally are hard to come by. Surveys show only one out of four doctors had a complete physical examination within the past two years.

The statistical study will be done by the American Assn. of Bioanalysts, one of the project sponsors.

Solons Hope to Help

LANSING — Four legislators have returned from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson where they probed the plight of 112 inmates whose paroles have been held up for lack of outside jobs.

The group conferred with Warden William H. Bannan over methods of helping the prisoners who can't be released until they have a promise of jobs.

Rep. Charles Raap (D-Twin Lake) said further meetings would be held with probation officials in Lansing and added:

"A dishwasher's job, in some cases, might be all that's needed to get these men out."

Speechless Inducement

ORLEANS, Vt. (UPI) — Dr. George Little, managing director of the Vermont Council on World Affairs, said this small community has lured many members of foreign embassies and their families to vacation here on the promise they would not be required to make speeches.

Consider Tighter
Papal Security

Commander of Pope's Guards Wounded By Dismissed Member

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Vatican officials, shaken by the wounding of the commander of the Swiss Guards almost within earshot of the Pope's apartments, today considered tightening security precautions surrounding Pope John XXIII.

Informed sources said the officials were thinking in terms of stricter checks of passes and clearances for those entering the Vatican for all but the most public functions.

Security restrictions deep inside the Vatican appeared to be as tight as they could be, but the officials were concerned by the fact that former guardsman Adolph Rucker was able to smuggle a pistol through one of the Vatican's main gates.

Rucker, a former guardsman who has been dismissed for reasons of health and was seeking reinstatement, shot and wounded Col. Robert Nuenlist, the guard's commander yesterday.

Nuenlist was recovering in the Vatican hospital from two bullet wounds. Vatican sources said Rucker apparently was mentally unbalanced when he fired the shots.

A hospital source said Nuenlist was in satisfactory condition this morning and would recover in about 15 days barring complications.

The incident took place moments after Pope John had received thousands of pilgrims in St. Peter's Basilica in a regular Wednesday audience.

At Childhood Education Meeting

Focus on Pontiac History

"Historical Glimpses of Pontiac" was the theme for the Pontiac Association for Childhood Education meeting, held Tuesday evening at Crofoot school.

Mrs. Wendell Green and Mrs. Melvin Johnson, helping teachers in the city schools, presented colored slides and a talk on the early history of Pontiac.

Since the third grade social studies program is based on "Pontiac Yesterday and Today," the speakers did extended research on the subject. A background of student mural and drawings, along with photographs and other illustrations, were provided for the evening by students of Lola Stokoe, Margaret Parks, Ethelyn Ashley, Mrs. Thomas Metzdorf, Mrs. Ralph Dawe and Mrs. Wade Griffith.

MANY DISPLAYS

Early documents, books, household items and pictures were on display in the multipurpose room where the meeting was held.

Student teachers from Michigan State University, Barbara Hess and Lin Bates, modeled gowns worn long ago by feminine relatives of Mrs. Everett Petersen. There were also musical recordings of folk songs and dances.

This imported linen costume comes from Dallas. The fly-away jacket is banded with 16 rows of horizontal tucks Special guests were Gerald White, coordinator of elementary education for Pontiac schools; Mrs. Ernest Huthwaite, member of the Oakland County Historical Society; Mrs. Walter Gingeil, Miss Hess, Miss Bates, and Cathy Gould and Sharon Tracy, sixth grade students who assisted in the program.

Mrs. David Cowan and Mrs. Clayburn Bordeaux, Crofoot PTA mothers, served at the tea, attired in pioneer costumes. Mrs. Jack Franklin also assisted.

Augustana Women Gather

Augustana Lutheran Church Women met Tuesday evening at St. John Evangelical Lutheran Church. Mrs. Edward Stafen, membership chairman reported that 87 charter members were now enrolled in the new ALCW organization.

Bible Study and Service groups formed are Ruth, Esther and Miriam units.

BOOK REVIEWED

Mrs. Theodore Fauble reviewed the books on "Christian Living." and Mr. and Mrs. Hans Michelsen showed colored slides of their trip to Denmark, Norway and Sweden.

Mrs. John Filippi also took part. Hostesses were Mrs. Roy Taylor, Mrs. Fred Larson and Harry Santala.

Plans were made for the annual Mother- and -daughter banquet to be held May 5 in the church parlors.

Delegates to the conference convention, to be held April 16 in Joliet, Ill., will be Mrs. Dallas Folsom and Mrs. Ercell Kohlhaas.

Mrs. Adolph Hornblad was appointed kitchen properties chairman.

Hold Square Dance

"All Eight Dixie Chain," and "Space Boots," were practiced by Cross Trailers Square Dance Club when they met Friday evening at William School. Mr. and Mrs. David Slater served on the refreshment committee.

I had a private line but I used to call a friend who had a five-party line. We could hear her neighbor listening in because of the background music, children, etc.

Mme. Chiang Kai-shek Speaks in Detroit

Tells Horror of Red Rule in China

By RHEA E. VICTOR

"Do not despair" was the message Mme. Chiang Kai-shek brought to Detroit Wednesday. "The strong, happy, democratic China that I foresaw is yet to be achieved, but my immutable conviction remains," she told an audience of 1,100 at the School of Government's annual luncheon at the Hotel Sheraton-Cadillac.

"Communism has evolved a systematic tyranny that has resulted in a degradation unrivaled in history," she said.

TELLS OF HORROR

Describing the communes on the mainland as the last step of a 3-phase program to enslave the Chinese people, she cited facts in an outwardly unemotional manner that underscored their horror.

The first phase began in 1949, she related, when the Chinese Communists foisted a land reform campaign on the people. During this period, she charged, 50 million people were liquidated, 63 million acres of land (about 70 per cent of the arable land in China) were confiscated, and one million tons of food were seized.

The second phase began in 1953 when agricultural collectivization was used to "checkmate" the peasants by controlling their stomachs. By now, Madame Chiang remarked, there were 30 million people forced into slave labor at wages approximating $2.55 a month in U.S. currency.

Then, in April 1958 the communes were born, and families (called the basic unit of China for thousands of years) were systematically destroyed. No longer was family living tolerated as a form of society.

Men and women were sent to separate dormitories to live, children in the family were taken from their parents and put in state institutions, and aged relatives were carried off to homes.

These so-called "Happy Homes," said Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, proceeded to kill all the infirm and those unable to work by means of "euphoric injections."

Here the wife of Nationalist China's leader remarked bitterly: "But the dead still serve

Men and women were sent to separate dormitories to live, children in the family were taken from their parents and put in state institutions, and aged relatives were carried off to homes.

the Communist state. Their bodies are used as fertilizer in the fields."

There are now 100 million unpaid men at arms in China, she reported. Military training is compulsory for all able-bodied persons, including women, from 16 to 40 years of age.

THIS IS COLLECTIVIZATION

At the end of September 1958, Mao Tse-tung claimed there were 122 million households collectivized into 26,000 per cent of the rural population.

Taking Red Chinese boats of the success of the commune system one by one, the American-educated First Lady of China gave her answer to these claims.

First, she stated that the total profit made by a Chinese peasant under the commune system ranges from 4 to 14 cents a month (in U.S. money) for the top wage earner. She said $57 a year is the most a worker can make, laboring from 14 to 17 hours a day.

"People work in a daze, fatigued to the point of apathy," she said.

Citing the 10 guarantees to workers by the Chinese communists, she remarked that these "free" services had already been taken out of the worker's pay. The 10 guarantees are: (1) eating (2) clothing, (3) delivery of children (4) burial, (5) marriage service, (6) education, (7) lodging (8) heat, (9) entertainment, and (10) haircuts.

Turning to educational claims of the Peiping regime, the generalissimo's wife reported that although thousands of colleges and universities have sprung up on the mainland, the professors are chosen not for learning but for production experience. She told of one woman, 66 years old and illiterate, who is a full professor of hog raising.

All news of unrest and rebellion have been suppressed, she added, and said current claims of miracle harvest yields are propaganda, based on fantastic distortions of the truth.

"The Chinese people are slow to anger, but when the explosion comes, it can be earth-rending," she warned.

"A desire for freedom is in-born in every human being and therefore universal," she said. "It cannot be limited by nation, class or individual preference."

APATHY WILL PASS

"However gigantic the effort may be," she told the attentive group, "do not despair. Apathy will disappear under electrifying leadership. People everywhere will break the bondage of tyranny and rise again."

Mme. Chiang Kai-shek was introduced at the luncheon by Mrs. Wilbur M. Brucker, wife of the U.S. Army secretary, who founded the School of Government in Detroit in 1940. The school is a nonpartisan group with a membership of around 200, dedicated to the study of American, local and international government.

"DEAR ABBY: What can be done with a 4-year-old child who sometimes stays up as late as 10 o'clock, doesn't shut her mouth and insists on sleeping with us nightly until we carry her into her own bed asleep? I am sick and tired of this. When I try to put her to bed at 8 o'clock she cries and screams and throws up her supper. My doctor says nothing is wrong with her and all she needs is DISCIPLINE, but he doesn't know how strong-willed she is, I am willing to try anything anyone suggests as I am ready for a nervous breakdown."

MRS. W. D.

DEAR MRS. W. D.: Your doctor is trying to tell you it is time you showed your child who is "boss." Put her in her own bed at 8 o'clock in spite of her tantrums. You might have to "tidy her up" and return her to bed again, but once she learns her scenes are futile there will be no more nonsense.

"DEAR ABBY: Will you please help to settle a family argument? My mother-in-law says that Elizabeth Taylor is pushing 40. She also says that Loretta Young, Ginger Rogers and Joan Crawford are all pushing 60 and they were big stars when she was a little girl 40 years ago. I'd appreciate a quick reply. Thanks."

Disposable Bed Linens in Future?

Disposable linens on the bed are a dream of noted Designer Henry Dreyfuss for his house of the future. "The linens on my bed," he says, "will be disposable, tough but luxuriously soft cellulose that come out of a built-in dispenser." We won't need blankets, he adds, "the house's climate control system will keep the bedroom at just the right sleeping temperature."

able to drift off to sleep with the sweet fragrance of a new mown hay or pungent smell of a forest of pine trees wafting through the evening air. All this will be done, he thinks, by simply inserting a special capsule in the climate control system.

If this were not enough, he would like to add the soft rustling sound of leaves piped in from the outdoors or the recorded background of a rippling brook.

What Young People Think

Teens Take Active Part in Family Decisions

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.
When the supper dishes are put away and the family sits itself down for a quiet evening before the television set, who decides what program to watch—the parents or the children?

Seventy-six per cent say they have some say in what TV program to watch, 74 per cent decide on how much time to spend studying, 70 per cent on their own curfew hour.

Our survey on family relationships showed that 66 per cent of those queried believe their families are run as democracies. This, of course, means they play a part in decisions concerning family activities as well as their own.

to their fathers. Fifty-seven per cent of the girls said they go to mother more often, and 40 per cent of the boys said they turn to mother first.

This preference for mama was reflected in the response to the question about which parent they thought was the strictest. As a group, 49 per cent said it was father. Among the boys, 56 per cent said father, and among the girls, 42 per cent pointed to dad.

No Need for Huge Diamonds

NEW YORK—Jewelry stylists are endeavoring themselves to prospective brides, and their 'grooms, through a built-in optical illusion in the design of engagement rings.

The vexing problem to be solved was the smaller size of the diamond in betrothal rings chosen by the average bride-to-be in 1957. A survey discloses that the center stone in the American girl's ring last year was less than one-half of a carat—41 points, to be precise.

This is somewhat smaller than in the past. As a consequence, it would have deprived engaged girls of their traditional custom of "flashing" an impressive-sized diamond before the eyes of envious girl friends.

On the question of whether they bring their problems to their parents, of the 66 per cent who said yes, the replies were typified by the remark made by Gail Greenberg, 13, of Elkins Park, Pa. She said:

"They're very understanding because they faced similar problems when they were young."

While 30 per cent of the group said they do not consult their parents, the bulk of these were boys. Most of their replies were similar to that made by Larry Budde, 16, of Brooklyn, who said: "I like to be independent and some day will have to make my own decisions."

The tendency of youngsters to seek advice from their mothers was explained in a number of ways.

"My mother seems to be more familiar with my problems," said Daniel Gilbert, 16, Windsor, Maine.

MOTHER 'AVAILABLE' "Mother, she is almost always home when I need advice, while dad is at work," said Susanna Nichols, 16, Detroit.

"She's home more and usually quite handy. Also I feel more at ease for some reason or other," said John Hamm, 15, of Sac City, Iowa.

"Mom seems more interested in me," said an Indianapolis girl.

The majority—72 per cent of the boys, and 80 per cent of the girls—agreed their parents took the time to give them good advice.

To this question, Judy Bakst, 16, of Miami, Fla., gave a reply representative of most answers. She said:

"Yes—because they want to make a better future for us. They always go out of their way to do so."

Lois Ann Davidson, 20, Coatesville, Ind., explained: "They always advise me the best way they know, and everything they tell me is usually right."

The survey also showed that most of the teenagers think that if they get a "no" answer from one parent, they can get a "yes" from the other.

As a group, 55 per cent said they could appeal to the other parent and get the answer changed. The girls apparently were more successful at doing this, since 69 per cent of them said they could get a "no" changed to a "yes," while only 41 per cent of the boys could do so.

Again, the majority (58 per cent) said it was easiest to appeal to their mothers. Among the boys, the figure was 56 per cent, and among the girls, 60 per cent.

HAVE THEIR SAY In any event, the teenagers are pretty satisfied that they can get a word in. Asked whether there are any occasions when they never have a say although they think they should, only 12 per cent of the girls and only 36 per cent of the boys said yes.

As Jana Moore, 16, of St. Louis, put it:

"My father says there's never a time when I don't get my two bits in."

On a multiple selection question in which the teenagers were asked to check those family decisions in which they have some say, it appeared that the majority (at least 60 per cent) had some say in matters dealing with what TV program to watch, choice of their dates, choice of high school or college, the right age for going steady or getting married, their curfew hour and how much time they should spend studying.

The one area in which their voice apparently is not the strongest is in the one dealing with the family car.

Only 34 per cent of the group said they had any say about driving the car. But when it comes to a breakdown between sexes, it turns out that nearly half the boys (49 per cent) replied they have some say in the matter, while only 19 per cent of the girls do.

No Chintz Curtains for City Hall

Women to Run Town in Kansas

WINONA, Kan. (UPD) — Mrs. Marie Wycoff, new mayor of this western Kansas village, promised today that she, her woman police judge and all-woman city council won't hang chintz curtains in the windows of the two-room city hall.

But it wouldn't surprise Winona's menfolk if they did, after what happened in the municipal elections Tuesday.

The seven women, none with any political experience, successfully waged a last-minute write-in vote campaign and ousted the seven unopposed male candidates for the city offices.

"I never saw anything like it in my life," said E. T. Huntington, editor and publisher of the weekly Winona Leader. "The town is full of characters."

"We girls got together Saturday and decided to run, after several people called us and said it was time for a change," Mrs. Wycoff said.

"It's quite an honor, I think. . . but we didn't really expect to win. I shouldn't say that, should I?" she added.

The girls have no special ax to grind, Mrs. Wycoff said.

"But we've been thinking about the sewer system and cleaning up the town a bit. We also plan an addition to the school."

Some of the male candidates still can't understand how their opponents logged a 2-1 margin over them with the write-in votes, Huntington said.

"The general sentiment is in proportion to the vote," Huntington said. "This village is very happy and intends to stand behind them all the way."

Four hundred persons live in Winona.

Huntington said that Logan County Attorney Harry Phelps called him yesterday after hearing a rumor of the coup, and said "You don't mean that's true, do you?"

Candidates on the ticket did little campaigning for the election because they were unopposed and certain of victory.

However, late on the eve of the election, small children began hurrying up and down main street, passing out flyers announcing the write-in candidates.

They will take office Monday, but Mrs. Wycoff hasn't decided when the first council meeting will be held.

Of the seven women, only the new police judge, Mrs. Katherine Lowe, will receive any financial reward. That will be only a small fee for each case tried before her.

All are housewives, except Mrs. Viola Campbell, councilwoman, who runs a beauty shop. Mrs. Wycoff, 47, works part time in a dry cleaning shop.

Huntington calls Winona an "unusual little town." But he says the town feels that the women are capable, and believes the change is for the better.

The losers?

"Well," Huntington said, "they haven't said much today. They're still trying to figure out what they did wrong."

The economy of Winona depends on wheat, maize and ranching. It is an extreme western Kansas town, isolated with the nearest town to the west 33 miles away and the nearest on the east 22 miles distant.

Never let the vacuum cleaner bag get more than two-thirds full. A full bag cuts suction to almost zero and reduces the cleaner's efficiency.

Strain on Lace Damages Shape

Always hang your lace garments carefully to preserve the original shape and guard against undue strain on the fibers. Take either a wire or wood hanger and wrap it in large sheets of tissue paper, until it has the shape of the shoulders of the garment.

One method of removing stains is to place the stain over a bowl and pour cold water through the lace. Continue until the stain disappears.

Blossoming Teens' Feet Blossom, Too

Teenage girls know they are growing and usually handle resulting clothing problems accordingly. Often, though, they neglect their growing feet. Years later they suffer for it.

Choose school and dress-up shoes with a snug, well-fitted arch and plenty of toe room. Also, this is an age to avoid spike heels, both for comfort and appearance.

Be Kind to Complexion

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A woman's complexion can add or detract so much from her appearance. Irregular features have the glow of beauty when covered with petal-like skin, while the most classic ones lose much of their charm when marred by pimples, blackheads, rashes, moles or whiteheads.

Lucky is the woman who was born with a peaches and cream complexion or a fine-textured, smooth one of a darker shade. These women seem able to do anything to their outer coating without unhappy results. They seem to have no special techniques and often give their faces and necks only about one-third the care we less fortunate creatures do.

We more ordinary mortals must strive to make the best of what we have. We all know that cleanliness is one of the first rules for a beautiful skin. Yet many women neglect this.

The face should be thoroughly cleansed at least twice a day. Use soap and water for a youthful, normal skin or an oily skin and cleansing cream for a very dry epidermis. Unless you have an extremely oily condition, you will need some lubricating cream from early middle age on, since the natural oils decrease as one grows older.

Our complexion is fed by our blood stream and therefore the food we eat has a direct effect on the sort of skin we have. It also is affected by our emotions. It is entirely possible to break out in a rash because of worry, and hives have been correlated with the nerves.

Surveys indicate that many women suffer from allergies without recognizing the source of their trouble. If you have sudden and unexplainable rashes, or swelling, itching, extreme dryness or scaling, you may be in contact with something to which you are allergic. Sneezing without apparent cause also may be a symptom of an allergic state.

The first step is to see a dermatologist. He probably will make patch tests. Usually cosmetics are first suspected. Nail polish, powder, soap, perfume and lipstick are perhaps the most usual offenders.

Your specialist will no doubt ask you to bring samples of all of the cosmetics you use including deodorants, nonperspirants and hair products—anything which comes in contact with your skin.

These are applied to the skin separately and then covered for 48 hours. At the end of that time the reaction will tell whether or not you are allergic to any of the things you have been using.

If you suspect that you may have allergies, you might try one of the fine brands planned for women like you. There are several good lines on the market.

Time Out for Nap Keeps You Happy

Somewhere out of 24 hours a housewife can grab 10 or 15 minutes of true rest. A wise housewife works out a rest period when she dismisses cares of the day.

She may work at a hobby or merely take a nap. Taking time out for a rest may mean one or two less wrinkles and a kinder word for the children and husband when they come home.

Sylvanites Hear Talk on Library

Phyllis Pope, head librarian at the Pontiac City Library, was guest speaker at a meeting of the New Sylvanites Club of Sylvan Lake.

Eighteen members attended the meeting, held Thursday at the home of Mrs. William J. Sanderson on Warwick avenue.

Miss Pope gave a brief resume of programs on plans for the new library, building, which is expected to be completed in time for the 1960 Pontiac centennial celebration. The speaker also reviewed several recently published books.

Make-Up Is Not Cover-Up

A widely-held and very mistaken notion about bad skin is that it can be concealed by make-up. It can't.

Blemishes and enlarged pores, dryness or oily patches will show up through the make-up. The way to go at the problem is with lots of soap and water, thorough creaming at night, eight glasses of water per day, exercise and fresh air and enough rest at night.

Following this regime, with careful attention to removal of blackheads, will clear up any skin to some degree and bring a positive glow to skin which was only slightly a problem.

Then, when the skin itself is clear and radiant, you can apply make-up with confidence. But never in layers and never without removing the old make-up first.

Joint Checking Account Can Be a Boon or Bust

The joint checking account, used by both husband and wife, can be a boon or a calamity.

A large majority of young couples start married life with a joint account, it is reported by the American Bankers Association. This plan has a number of advantages, but it should be used with care.

When both husband and wife write checks against the same account without frequent checkups, the result often is an overdrawn account, say the bankers. They advise that a record of checks be kept in one big checkbook at home, and that checks written during the day be recorded and checked against the balance each evening. If this record is accurately kept, it can be used also in making income tax returns.

To make the record complete, many young couples make it a practice to paste cancelled checks back in the master checkbook when they are returned from the bank each month. Thus checks can be tallied with stubs, and errors can be quickly spotted. The checkbook then also becomes a detailed record of expenditures during the year.

The husband and wife who carry separate checkbooks and don't bother to consult with each other as to expenditures are headed for trouble, caution the bankers.

Checked gingham gets a top rating on the fashion scale in this drip-dry cotton jacket dress by Herman Marcus of Dallas. Dressmaker styling is accented in the fullness, which is gracefully drawn to the back of the skirt and jacket. The perky white collar overlays a checked collar.

Teens Must Build Own Self Confidence

By RUTH MILLETT

Are you helping your daughter to develop the attitudes that will make her a good wife and mother? As a mother that is your job.

To see how well you are doing ask yourself these questions: Have I trained my daughter to do household chores easily, quickly and well?

Have I taken enough pride in my job as homemaker so that my daughter considers it important, rather than thinking it is beneath any woman with brains?

Have I encouraged my daughter to express her own ideas, to develop her own taste, to make her own decisions, instead of assuring her that mother knows best?

Have I helped my daughter to understand that a man's feelings are as easily hurt as a woman's, that his pride may be more easily hurt, that a man needs to be liked as well as loved?

Have I taught my daughter, by my own example, to be honest in her dealings with others? Have I emphasized the imporance of such feminine qualities as gentleness, tact, compassion, and concern for the feelings of others? Have I encouraged my daughter to think well of herself as a person?

Has my daughter learned from me the fun and joy of parenthood instead of just hearing about the worry, work and responsibility involved in bringing up children?

Have I encouraged my daughter to talk things over with her father, so that she has had the advantage of getting a man's as well as a woman's point of view?

Have I taught my daughter that a woman owes it to herself to make the most of the looks, talents, and brains that she was born with, and that laziness is the one thing that can keep her from it?

Khrushchev Changes His Family, Too

Among the many changes Nikita Khrushchev has made in the Soviet Union is one directly affecting his family life. He has made his first lady a publicly known personality.

Until Khrushchev became head of both government and party the wives of top-level leaders hadn't been seen by foreigners in years, even at functions attended by foreign officials or diplomats.

Nikita Khrushchev has changed all this, as he has changed many things in Russia.

Mrs. Khrushchev's given name is Nadezhda, meaning hope. She first became known as a hostess for important visitors when Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Eric Johnston were invited to the Khrushchev summer home on the Black Sea.

Later, at a Kremlin reception for foreign diplomats, she talked with some of the envoys and their wives about home matters, far removed from any connection with her husband's job.

In most of these appearances she wore black or dark dresses and had her graying hair tightly pinned into a bun on the back of her head.

Her latest appearance at an official Moscow reception came during the visit of British Premier Macmillan. She was in the reserved dinner section of the Kremlin's St. George Hall, but remained in the background, chatting with Russians or with diplomats and Khrushchev's toasts with Macmillan and other Soviet and British officials were strictly a man's affair within an inner circle.

Those who saw her there noted something else: Mrs. Khrushchev had abandoned her dark dress for a gown of soft gray, well cut and decorated. Her hair was fashionably arranged and worn loosely, with the bun low at the back of her neck.

Mrs. Khrushchev appeared in a front row seat in the visitor's gallery when the Communist Party 21st congress opened. Throughout her husband's long presentation of the nation's new seven-year plan she seemed to listen intently.

She also accompanied Khrushchev to Leningrad to welcome Finland's president on a state visit.

Among the latest to share Mrs. Khrushchev's hospitality at the summer home were U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and Iowa corn farmer Raswell, Garsh. She presided as hostess at meals for both.

Veteran Moscow observers believe Mrs. Khrushchev is determined to protect her bustling husband's health and to give him as much of a normal family life as she can.

There is little public information in Moscow on the family life of Nikita Khrushchev and his strong and pleasant-looking wife. It is believed they were married in 1938, after he was widowed.

She helped raise his two sons—one perished in World War II—and his two daughters, both married now, one to a Communist Party editor in Moscow, the other to a Kiev theater manager.

Apparently she spends a good share of her time at Pitsunda, the "summer White House" on the Black Sea, and encourages her husband to come there as much as possible.

People who know Khrushchev well say he is proud of his wife and the kind of mother she has made for his children.

That may be one explanation why she has moved into the public eye. Most other Soviet leaders still keep their wives at home.

Chairmen, Delegates Named by League of Women Voters

Reorganization of the board and assignment of portfolios were the chief work of the board of League of Women Voters of Pontiac at its meeting held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John Borsvold of Drayton Plains.

Chairmen elected were Elizabeth Halsey, local items; Jane Strom, state items; Mrs. Borsvold, national agenda; Mrs. Robert Matheson, county council; Mrs. Eldred Mathes, membership; Mrs. Roy MacAfee, finance drive; Mrs. Barney Habel, unit organization; Mrs. Josephine Shara, local bulletin; Lillian Davidson, voters service; and Mrs. Donovan Gillmore, communications.

DELEGATES NAMED

Elected delegates to the state convention to be held May 19-21 in Detroit were Laura Belz, president; Mrs. Mathes, Amy Krueger and Mrs. Matheson. Instructions to delegates on state items and budget were discussed.

Miss Belz read a letter from the chairman of the board of a national oil corporation calling attention to an advertisement honoring the League of Women Voters for their work on conservation of natural resources. The ad will appear in six national magazines.

Other business conducted included reordering cards to notify members of meetings, completing plans for the April 22 general meeting, and announced plans for Legislative Day, being held today in Lansing.

The state board entertained legislators at a luncheon with Gov. Williams and Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson as guests. Area legislators invited were Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, Arthur J. Law and Farrel E. Roberts.

The Pocket Watch Is in Vogue

Return of Vest Ushers in Novel Timepiece Array

NEW YORK—Take the old question, "Which came first, the chicken or the egg?" Instead of chicken, make it "vest." And, instead of egg, make it "pocket watch."

Vest people insist that the vest was revived first, and then men started carrying pocket watches again. And the pocket watch folks insist their product repopularized itself and, subsequently, men started buying vests to have a pocket to stick their watch into.

It's probably immaterial. The fact remains that the vest—or waistcoat—has returned. And ditto pocket watch. It's been a long time between popularity for the pocket watch, but it fits neatly into this era of colorful vests. And pocket watches do have an appeal that make them worth looking into.

EASILY READ

First, of course, they're easy to read. And they have the visible reverse side, so that designers can have a field day creating intriguing specimens. In the renaissance of pocket watches, you'll find more exotic creations than ever before—watches with fancy engraved backs, watches with transparent backs so you can see the gears turn, watches with striking new designs.

NOVEL DESIGNS

You'll find pocket watches with calendars, alarms, chimes, stop watches and everything except perhaps an egg slicer. And the newer pocket watches have self-winding movements, like the modern wrist watches, so they wind themselves as you move. (A few belly laughs and you're set for another 24 hours.)

Artistic treatment of the dial has been carried to heights that grandpa and his plain old pocket watch would never have dreamed of. Some are antique in feeling, others extremely modern. You can find pocket watches to match, in style and general mood, your favorite vest.

And there's no gesture as distinguished as that of a man opening his pocket watch and then, with a flourish, clicking it shut. Our generation has hitherto been denied this pleasure, but it's all ours now.

Patricia Finch was graduated as a teacher from Michigan State University. Instead of teaching, she took a role singing in the musical "South Pacific."

This dress of red and black silk surah is sleeveless with a large bow at the waist. The easy fitting jacket is cut away to frame the bow of the dress.

Try Adjusting With the Times to Be in Step

One of the best ways to stay attractive is to have an open mind. It's an open mind that will lead you to experiment with new make-up, hair styles and fashions.

That way, you won't date yourself by wearing the shoulder-length bob that was all the thing when you were in your 20s. You'll avoid the heavily lipstick mouth once affected by movie queens. You won't stock your wardrobe with the same style of dress that looked so well on you when you were lithe and slim.

You'll adjust with the times, try the new and so stay in step.

Mothers with several small children around the house know about rings in bathtubs. And they have solved this problem while everyone in the family

Behavior at Home Will Tell

By EMILY POST
"Dear Mrs. Post: I would very much like your opinion on the propriety of two girls and two boys, all in the early twenties, going by bus to New York City and spending a weekend there. We are all just friends and none of us sweethearts, in case that makes a difference."

Answer: Being "just friends" does make a difference, but even so I can hardly give unqualified approval of young men and girls going off alone to stay in the city.

And yet — if the two girls go to one of the women's hotels in New York, and the men go and stay at another hotel, or best of all perhaps at a fraternity club, I doubt very much if anyone will criticize them unless their behavior at home has given gossipers cause for chatter."

"Dear Mrs. Post: We are expecting our third baby shortly and wondered if it would be proper to ask our family doctor to be the baby's godfather. We have known him many years and feel very close to him. We would love to have him above anyone else but certainly don't want to be presumptuous. Will you please give us your opinion?"

Answer: If in addition to being your doctor he is also an intimate friend, there is no reason for not asking him to be your baby's godfather.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning to give some parties to repay my obligations. There are certain ones in mourning and I don't know what I'm supposed to do about inviting these people. I doubt they would come to large parties but at the same time I don't want to run the risk of hurting them by not inviting them. Will you please advise me?"

Answer: Say to them that you are giving a small party, that if they feel like coming you would love to have them but that you will understand if they don't.

Girls' Ranch Steering Committee has invited more than 80 Oakland County clubs that have contributed or expressed interest in Girls' Ranch at Camp Oakland to attend a tea from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the camp. Helping
Charles M. Beevers, Mrs. Carl E. Rehm and Mrs. Margaret Francis.

Tea at Camp Oakland to Honor 80 Clubs for Aid to Girls Ranch

More than 80 clubs in Oakland County that have contributed to or expressed interest in Girls Ranch at Camp Oakland have been invited to a tea, to be held from 2 to 5 Sunday afternoon at the camp near Oxford.

In this way, officials of Camp Oakland hope to express their appreciation to women of Oakland County who have raised almost $20,000 since January 1957, for the camp.

The idea for the camp was initiated by Hon. Arthur E.
Moore, probate judge of Oakland County, in his concern for neglected and underprivileged children. The camp developed under the leadership of Walter Gehrke, president of Camp Oakland, Inc.

Zonta Club of Royal Oak and Ferndale, through its service committee headed by Dr. Frances Lamb, sent out invitations to clubs in Oakland County to assist with the Girls Ranch project. The first meeting took place at the Birmingham Community House Jan.
29, 1957, with representatives from 33 women's clubs attending.

Mrs. Albert F. Nippel, Jr. became the first chairman of the steering committee. On April 1, 1958, Mrs. Kathryn Shields became chairman, Zonta Club of Royal Oak and Ferndale was the first club to contribute money for furnishing a room.

Other participating communities are Birmingham, Berkley, Clawson, Hazel Park, Huntington
Woods, Ferndale, Madison Heights, Milford, Lake Orion,
Oxford, Pontiac, Pleasant Ridge,
Rochester, Royal Oak, Oak Park,
Orionville, Southfield Township,
Waterford and Clarkston.

Members of the steering board who will assist at the tea table are: Mrs. William Bowman of Clawson, Mrs. Shields of Garden City, Mrs. Millard W. Newcomb of Pleasant Ridge, Ellen Matter, Mrs. Lillian Wattles, Mrs. Florence Doty, all of Pontiac; Norma
Campbell, Jean Fee and Mrs. R.
L. Schnidt, all of Royal Oak.

Also pouring will be Mrs. Albert
F. Nippel Jr. and Dr. Lamb.

Other officials of the camp are Mr. Gehrke, president; William J. Matus, director of building committee of Girls Ranch;
R. Earle Green, chairman; Carl
Barton and John C. Thornton.

Tax on Bathing Paid by English

NEW YORK (UPI)—If you think taxes are high today, pity bathers in by-gone days. They had to pay a bath tax.

Soap was subjected to heavy taxes, and only about 100 years ago in England was one such tax abolished. Not until the 9th Century did soap as we know it today come into use.
It was considered a great luxury until the 19th Century.

Wardrobe Will Go Far—if Washable

A small wardrobe will go a long way in business, at school, or through a homemaker's busy day—that is, if your own and your family's clothing is washable.

There are many smart-looking outfits—from top to toe and from inside out—that can be swished through soap or detergent suds at night, rinsed, hung to dry, and then worn again the next morning.

Safety Check Time

Is your home really accident safe? With little, tykes underfoot it's a good idea to check every nook and cranny for inflammables, poisons, faulty electrical appliances and the like.

Displays Indomitable Spirit

Mme. Chiang Kai-shek Woman of Dignity, Charm

By RHEA F. VIETOR
Women's Editor
The Pontiac Press

I had the pleasure of talking to Madame Chiang Kai-shek yesterday afternoon, and "dignified charm" is the first description that comes to mind. She is not tall but carries herself proudly and looks much younger than her 30-odd years.

MRS. VIETOR

Her English is flawless, fluent and precise. Her voice is low and well modulated.

She spoke with little outward emotion, but the word "communism" was a hiss each time she uttered it.

She wore a Chinese traditional costume of dark blue silk, unadorned and extremely smart.

There is no reason to believe that one of the most remarkable women of modern times has lost her fire, her devotion to her cause, or her pride.

She spoke simply, neither demanding sympathy nor trying to rouse anger in the audience. But she spoke gravely and in earnest. Instead of asking, she gave, and it was a message of reassurance from an indomitable spirit.

Madame Chiang Kai-shek travels with a retinue of five, including an American secretary, a Chinese girl who is her personal aide, and three men, including a public relations expert and a writer.

She was well guarded by Secret Service men who carefully checked ahead before she took a step.

At the small reception for Wellesley alumnae following her talk yesterday, she relaxed and smiled. She is still a beautiful woman, with dark hair, a firm handclasp and a warm graciousness of manner.

In recent years, she has devoted herself to work on Formosa, described as a "showcase for the free world of Asia—a lighthouse for freedom."

Much of her time is spent with the Anti-Aggression League, an organization of some 200,000 women, and at the orphanage which she founded.

Any young miss can be well assured of her beau's hearty approval while wearing frock for a date. The wash and wear dress, featuring a wide midriff, banded neckline which forms a streamer bow for back interest and bouffant skirt, bears out the thought that simplicity really is the shortcut to beauty.

Now Toys Do Everything

Toys come in and out of vogue almost as often as silhouettes in fashion.

Greek children played with dolls. The Egyptians turned doll-making into fine art. Parts of their jointed dolls and animals—even a mechanical baker kneading dough—have been found in ruins dating back 4,000 years.

In the 16th Century, the playhouse was the most-wanted present. Some miniature houses were mansions with tiny paintings and elegant furniture. The 17th Century saw the clockwork toy rise to popularity, and the 18th Century specialized in musical devices.

Now, the age of realism. New materials make it possible to manufacture dolls which do everything but breathe. Furry animals can be washed, and miniature trucks and cars have moving engine parts and friction motors.

Leather clothing should be dried at room temperature. Never hang near radiators, in sun or other strong light.

State Tax Bills Come to Fore

Now That Election's Over, Legislature Is Ready to Act

LANSING (AP)—With the election over, new state tax proposals were ready today to step out from the dominant issue of the 1958 legislative session.

By far the bulk of revenue and political dynamite will be wrapped in one package—a Democratic administration bill now in final stages of preparation.

Crammed into its 30 to 40 pages will be a proposed graduated personal income tax with rates from two to six per cent, a five per cent corporation profits tax and a seven per cent tax on new income of banks and on new income of banks and other financial institutions.

Only the urgency of the state's cash emergency and prolonged wrangling over borrowing and veterans trust fund solutions have kept the taxation issue more or less in the legislative background thus far.

Other portions of Gov. Williams' new revenue program also will be encompassed by the key administration tax bill, including virtual repeal of the corporation franchise tax and a part of the governor's property tax-relief-for-business proposal.

All told, a half dozen or maybe nine or 10 other bills will be submitted to completely carry out the Williams 140 million dollar tax increase program.

The revenue measures are expected in the Legislature later this week or next.

Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), Taxation Committee chairman, is ready to present seven or eight other bills to put on new taxes or to increase, extend or revise existing levies.

Generally, these will carry out recommendations of the Citizens Advisory Tax Study Committee not duplicated by the governor's bills. Their overall price tag will come to roughly 40 million dollars a year.

Few lawmakers doubt that out of the two batches of tax proposals, possibly in combination with "wild-cat" measures, will come a sizable new tax bite, perhaps in June.

The state's soaring general fund deficit, coupled with an obvious need for more revenue to support existing services, tend to assure this result.

Nurses Learn Value of English Education

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Deciding that Puerto Rican nurses needed to improve their English, officials at Brown Hospital here agreed to pay for courses at the University of Dayton.

First homework for two taking an English composition course was to write a business letter applying for a job. Both turned in excellent letters, so good that the girls sent them to another hospital and got new jobs.

Only Doing His Duty

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Shorty Swain was chopping a tree in a city park when a woman resident saw him. She reported to the police who rushed out to make an arrest. Swain got off the hook when he convinced officers he was a park employee doing his duty.

Hiss Will Get U.S. Passport

Ex-Diplomat Convicted of Perjury Now Plans Trip to Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alger Hiss, former State Department official convicted of perjury in a case involving charges of spying for the Soviet Union, will be granted a passport for travel abroad, the State Department announced Wednesday.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said in response to an inquiry that Hiss had filed application "and we have decided to grant the passport."

"He had applied for travel to England, France, Holland, and possibly other Western countries," White said.

He gave that answer when asked whether Hiss would go to the Soviet Union. White declined to get drawn into a discussion as to whether Hiss could go to the Soviet Union.

He would say only that the former official would be given a passport such as any other citizen would receive. Such a passport permits travel anywhere except to countries like Red China with which the U. S. does not have formal relations.

Asked why the department had decided to issue the passport, White said that in the absence of legislative authority the department "had no authority to refuse the passport."

Hiss has been in business in New York since his release from prison in 1954 after serving nearly four years for perjury.

The perjury accusation was based on his sworn denial he had passed secret government documents to a courier for a Soviet spy ring. Hiss insisted he was innocent.

Likely to Succeed Adenauer

Erhard May Be Chancellor

By United Press International
Ludwig Erhard, the man who refused to become president of West Germany, now is considered the man most likely to succeed Konrad Adenauer as chancellor.

Adenauer ran into a party revolt last month when he tried to nominate Erhard for the presidency. Few persons wanted Erhard, who as economics minister and vice-chancellor was responsible for West Germany's current economic boom, kicked upstairs into the almost non-political post.

Adenauer's acceptance of the presidency, himself, promptly brought the 62-year-old Bavarian-born economist to the front line of candidates to succeed the aging chancellor.

Ever since the days when Erhard teamed up with Adenauer on the gigantic task of raising Germany from postwar ashes to prosperity, the white-haired economics professor has followed the chancellor's political line.

Born in Fuerth, Bavaria, on Feb. 4, 1897, Erhard looks somewhat like a younger edition of Winston Churchill, right down to a preference for cigars and a similar gift of the former British prime minister's colorful, persuasive speech. Although Erhard says little openly in forming Germany's foreign policy, he has everything to say in economic policy, and says it well.

It is not certain that Adenauer will support Erhard for the chancellorship.

As president, Adenauer will have the right (with parliament's approval) to nominate his successor, and of late Adenauer and Erhard have had two major disagreements.

First, Adenauer was annoyed because Erhard turned down the presidential nomination. Secondly, the chancellor is reported to have been furious about Erhard's testimony in a slander trial of two intimate foreign affairs advisors.

What Erhard thinks himself is unknown.

In accepting the vice-chancellorship on Oct. 30, 1957, however, he showed his willingness to take over the leadership of the government if Adenauer resigned.

Erhard is well known abroad. He is said to be thought of by the Soviets as the one Western leader who has as magnetic an effect on the under-developed nations struggling to become industrialized as the Soviets themselves.

He is a tireless traveler—recently he returned from an exhausting trip throughout Asia where he investigated possibilities of German development loans—and a tireless worker.

Today his hours may have shortened some but in the postwar years up to 1949, when he was economics minister in West Germany he arose before dawn and worked without rest until 10 or 11 p.m.

Erhard is known to drink prodigious quantities of wine, although cigars—he prefers strong, black Brazilians—are his principal luxury.

His main hobby is bridge, and for relaxation he enjoys listening to classical music—preferably modern works. His taste in art also tends toward the modern, Picasso being one of his favorites.

Politically, Erhard is a liberal, as are his economic policies.

Claims 1st Aerial Photograph Was Taken in 1860

BOSTON (UPI)—When was the first picture taken in America from the air?

A recent issue of the magazine, Flying, identified one "Flashlight Lawrence" as the "first aerial photographer." The magazine said that, using balloons, kites and ingenuity, Lawrence obtained the first air picture in 1860. The subject: the San Francisco earthquake area.

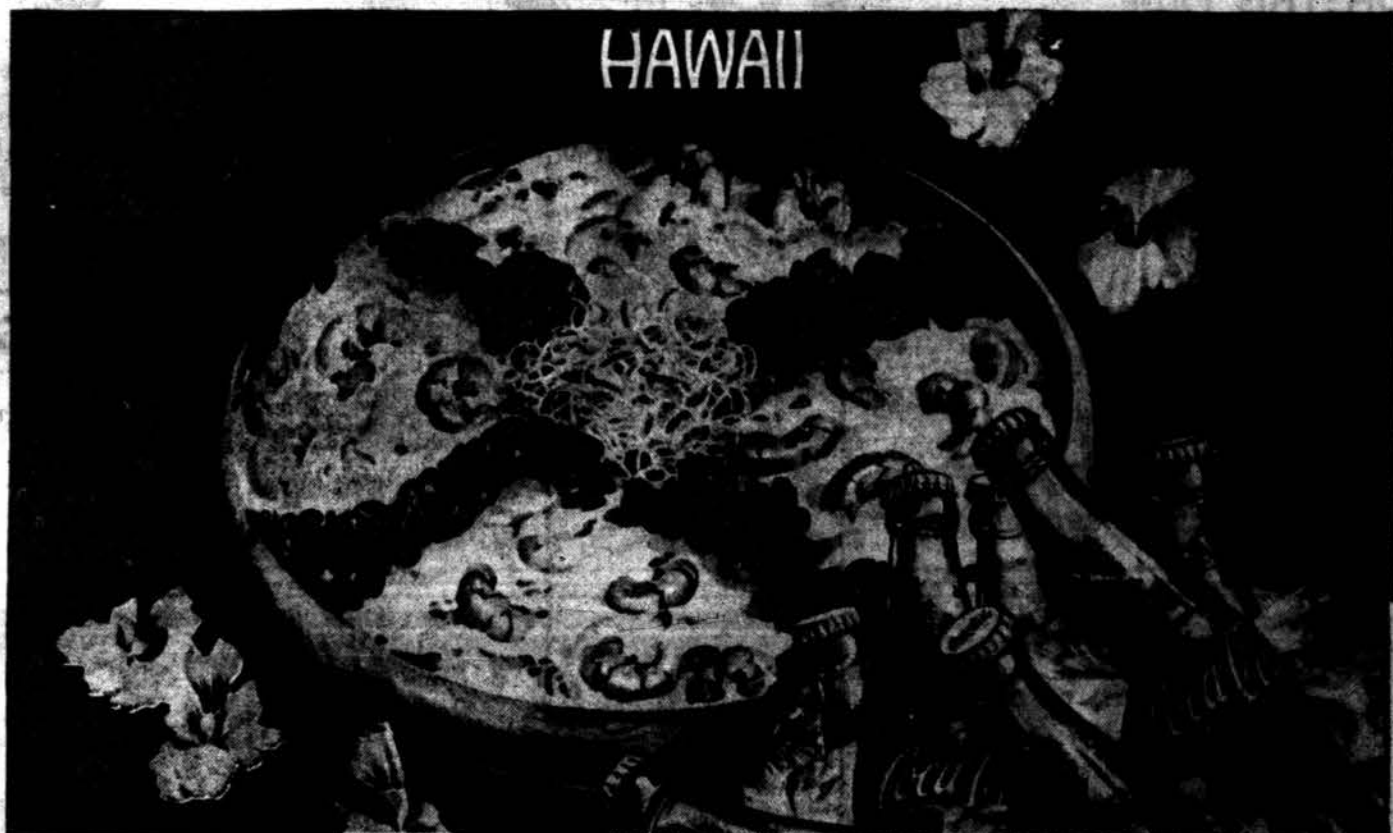

But Edward Rowe Snow, the New England marine historian, disputes this. He says that he has found in the Boston Athenaeum an aerial photograph taken by one J. W. Black from a balloon over downtown Boston on Oct. 13, 1860.

Photography in 1860 meant the use of wet plates, which in this case had to be prepared high in the sky a few moments before the actual picture could be attempted. Curtains were dropped in the balloon so Black could work on the plates in darkness.

New Ways With Beans Tempt Spring Appetites

Baked beans for dinner? Yes, but in a new and different version everyone will love! Flavorful and tasty, here are recipes that combine navy beans with other kinds of beans, easy to fix and extra rich in protein. Either dish will merit such raves you'll be cooking requests from now on!

Beans With Lentil Sauce
1 pound navy beans
1 bay leaf

1 onion stuck with 2 cloves
1/2 pound of lentils
1/2 cup olive oil or other cooking oil
1/2 cup of finely chopped onion
1 minced clove of garlic
Pinch of oregano
1/2 cup finely chopped parsley
1 can tomato sauce (large)
Salt, pepper

Cover beans with water, add bay leaf and onion stuck with cloves and simmer till beans are soft. Separately, simmer lentils in water to cover, without seasonings, till they are pured.

Meanwhile heat oil in skillet and saute chopped onion and garlic with oregano. Add parsley and tomato sauce and let mixture cook very slowly, uncovered, for about an hour (or till cooked down and well blended). Season to taste with salt and pepper. Add drained lentils and mix thoroughly.

Drain navy beans. In a casserole, alternate layers of the navy beans and sauce (adding a bit of the bean cooking liquid) and top with grated cheese. Bake in moderate oven until heated through and cheese is browned.

Jumble Beans
1/2 pound navy beans
1/2 pound kidney beans
1/2 pound lima beans chopped onion
1 minced clove garlic
1/2 cup ketchup
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 slice bacon
Salt and pepper to taste

Boil beans separately in water to cover till each is tender. Drain, reserving lima bean liquid. Brown onion and garlic in a little shortening. Mix in all beans. Add 1/2 cup liquid from the lima beans, ketch-up, mustard, salt and pepper. Mix thoroughly, place in a casserole and top with slices of bacon. Bake at 375 degrees F. for about 30 minutes or till bubbly hot.

Hot Peaches Curry
Pleasant accompaniment to meat or poultry: Put a dollop of butter or margarine in each drained canned peach cavity and sprinkle with curry powder. Heat under the broiler or in the oven.

Put Marmalade Into Pans First

Marmalade Drop Biscuits win top honors at breakfast or coffee time.

Sift together 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut or rub in 1/4 cup shortening until mixture is crumbly. Add 1 cup milk to make a thick batter, stirring only until flour is well moistened.

Place a teaspoon of marmalade into greased muffin pans. Drop batter on top of marmalade, filling pans half full. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 12 minutes. Remove from pans immediately.

Makes 20 small (1 1/4-inch) or 12 medium (2-inch) biscuits.

Substitute Low Calorie Cottage Cheese

Dips are fun. Whether it's a party, a family meal, or even if you're alone, it's fun to dip something crunchy, such as a potato chip, into something "gooey" and then think about or talk about the flavor.

the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Use cottage cheese as the base for the dip. Cottage cheese contains only about one-third as many calories as cream cheese. And use sticks of carrot or celery as the dipper.

The first thing to accomplish is to make the dip look good. A simple way to do it is with vegetable coloring. If you happen to have an electric blender, use beets to provide red, carrots yellow, or cooked spinach if you like your dip to have a touch of green.

Then comes the flavor. Here, you can let your imagination practically run free. A little onion flavor? A touch of garlic? What about some chives? A bit of horseradish? Hot pepper sauce? Maybe an herb or a blend of several herbs. Whatever tastes good to you, or whatever you think might taste good to others. With dairy products so plentiful at this time of year, there's almost no limit to the amount of cottage cheese available. Have fun dipping.

To Plump Raisins

Wash raisins and spread out in flat pan. Cover, heat slowly in moderate oven until they puff and wrinkles come out. You will find this the easiest way ever to plump raisins.

Dried Beans Show Up in Spring Salad

In case you think of beans as being principally a cold weather dish, home economists of the Department of Agriculture suggest giving them the Springtime treatment by using them in salads. For example, Hot Bean Salad. Brown 2 strips of bacon in a large fry pan; add 1/3 cup of chopped onion and cook until lightly browned. Add 3 cups of cooked dry beans, 1/2 teaspoon mustard, 1/4 cup vinegar and 1/4 cup water. Simmer, stirring gently from time to time until the beans have absorbed the liquid. Season with salt and pepper and serve hot. Serves 4.

If you forget to buy nuts, as for brownies, a teaspoonful of black walnut flavoring extract will give a delicious nut flavor and blend happily with chocolate.

Cheese Stuffed Lettuce Served in Wedges

NEW YORK (UPI)—Snappy cheese-stuffed lettuce is a make-ahead salad. Combine 2 (3-ounce) packages cream cheese, 1/16 teaspoon cayenne, 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder, 1/2 teaspoon chili powder, 1 tablespoon milk, and beat until fluffy. Remove heart from a 1-pound head of lettuce and replace with cheese mixture. Wrap in aluminum foil and refrigerate overnight. Serve in wedges. Serves 4-6.

Passover Cooking Is Different, Delicious

Feature Press Home Editor

Spring is slowly greening the land and in Jewish homes throughout the world the inhabitants are getting ready for Passover. This year Passover starts on the night of Wednesday, April 22 and all must be in readiness ahead of time.

Everyday cooking utensils are put away to be replaced by special ones for Passover. Menus using only permitted foods are carefully planned. Traditional restrictions forbid the use of bread and bread products and certain other foods.

On Tuesday of this week members of the Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel met in Consumers Power Auditorium to see a demonstration of Passover cookery.

Mary Jackson, Consumer Power home economist, spent several months working out the recipes for this demonstration. She told us last week that she had read volumes of material on the Passover and its foods. Many recipes she could easily adapt from those in her files. Others had to be experimented with and tested several times.

For instance, veal patties which we would wrap in bacon for broiling were wrapped in beef-a-nette (or more commonly known as beef bacon). But for the pudding below she had to change some of the original ingredients.

CHEESE MATZO PUDDING

1 matzo
1/2 cup warm water
1 pound dry cottage cheese
4 eggs
2 cups milk
1 lemon, juice and rind
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt

Soak matzos in a small amount of lukewarm water. Drain and press out extra moisture, being careful not to break matzos.

Generously butter a 2-quart, pan. Place one matzo on the bottom and spread with 1/3 of the cheese. Cover with another matzo and repeat until all matzos are used.

Beat eggs, add milk, lemon juice and rind, sugar and salt. Pour over matzos and cheese. Let stand one hour. Bake 45-60 minutes in 375-degree oven. Serve warm or chilled.

Many Passover recipes have come to our desk in recent days. The following one comes from the test kitchens of a famous manufacturer of kosher foods. (The following copy has been approved by Rabbi.)

One of the delicious sounding recipes is for chicken with honey.

HONEY CHICKEN

(Honey Chicken)

2 frozen fresh cut-up fryers
1/4 cup honey
1 cup orange juice
1 cup hot water
1 cup matzo meal
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 eggs
2 tablespoons water
1/4 cup peanut oil

Heat oil in skillet or frying pan. Beat eggs and the 2 tablespoons water together. Mix matzo meal, salt and pepper. Dip chicken in egg mixture and then roll in matzo meal mixture. Brown in hot oil.

Remove to a Dutch oven or covered roaster. Mix hot water, honey and orange juice. Pour over chicken and cover.

Simmer slowly on top of stove or place in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for about 45 minutes or until tender. Baste occasionally. Serves 8-8.

This last recipe comes from the owner and chef-in-chief of Lou Siegel's restaurant in New York. It is his favorite Passover food. Naturally it is Kosher. "Kosher" meaning "fit or proper."

GEFILTE CABBAGE

Large head cabbage
2 tablespoons chicken fat or vegetable shortening
2 apples, sliced
2 cups canned tomatoes
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon MSG
3 tablespoons uncooked rice
2 tablespoons cold water
1/4 cup white seedless raisins

Boil whole head of cabbage 10 minutes. After cooling in cold water, remove 12 large or 18 small leaves. Heat the fat in a deep, heavy saucepan. Brown apples lightly in it. Add the tomatoes and half the salt and pepper. Cook over low heat 30 minutes.

Mix together the beef, rest of salt and pepper, MSG, rice, eggs, and water. Place some of the meat mixture on each cabbage leaf. Tuck in the sides and roll up carefully, leaving enough space for air to penetrate to the inside. Add to the sauce.

Cover and cook over low heat 1 1/2 hours. Add raisins. Bake 30 minutes longer in a moderate hot oven (375 degrees F.) uncovering for the last 15 minutes so the dish will brown. Yield: 6 servings.

Chicken, Fruit Glazed in Oven

Here is an easy-to version of chicken at its best — fried in the oven with slices of glazed pineapple. A sunny glaze clings to chicken and fruit.

And because it is done in the oven, you don't have to be in attendance.

Oven-Fried Chicken

2 broilers (or fryers may be used if preferred)
1/2 salt, pepper and paprika
1/2 cup of butter or margarine
2 slices of pineapple
Brown sugar

Split broilers down the back and lay cut side down in shallow bak-salt, pepper and paprika. Spread with a generous coating of butter or margarine. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for about one hour.

Dip pineapple slices in melted butter and sprinkle very lightly with brown sugar. Arrange slices over the chicken and continue baking for 15 minutes to glaze the pineapple.

To serve, arrange broiler half on each plate with two slices of glazed pineapple. Serves 4. Note: If fryers are used, increase baking time 15 minutes before adding pineapple.

So Simple to Use

Iodized salt and Michigan people go together, say specialists at Michigan State University. Michigan water supplies are low in iodine and very few foods furnish any. Iodized salt for seasoning food is the most practical method of furnishing our daily iodine needs.

Want your yeast bread to have a crisp crust? Try using water for the liquid in making it.

Salmon Potato Patties

Prepare enough extra mashed potatoes so you have two cups; mix them with a can (about 7 ounces) of drained salmon, a slightly beaten egg, finely grated onion, salt and pepper. Shape into patties and fry until heated through and golden brown in a little butter or margarine.

Wire racks for cooling cakes and cookies should have short but substantial legs.

Plan This Week's Meals Around Pork, Asparagus

Increasing supplies of fresh produce are evidence that spring is here to stay. California asparagus is in peak supply this week. Louisiana strawberries are beginning and cabbage is very plentiful as all shipping areas are contributing to the supply.

Wholesale pork prices have been fluctuating, but since pork is in abundance, you will find several cuts featured. Most other meats are listed at about the same prices you found a week ago. Due to the fact that wholesale fryer costs are up slightly, some of the "specials" may seem more attractive for you. Fresh fish catches are increasing.

FRESH FOODS FOR THE BUYER — California asparagus growers received the lowest prices of the spring last week when the crop reached its peak. This means lower retail prices this week. It also means that costs will increase after this week until Michigan asparagus comes to market.

As the harvest starts, Louisiana shippers predict "the best quality strawberries in years." You may find some slight price reductions this week. Heavy volume is expected about April 18.

Large shipments of lettuce from Arizona and California are yours at averages of 15 to 20 cents a head. It's easy to live on spring salads with lettuce and other greens now available.

Avocados are of excellent quality. They add a "nut-like" buttery flavor when added to salads. Leave them at room temperature until soft, then refrigerate.

Greenhouse tomatoes are beginning to appear. These will still have the stems attached.

Buying potatoes? After comparing prices, you will find the old crop is still the best value. If potatoes show a greenish color, this is caused by light damage. Choose another bag that shows no green.

Michigan McIntosh and Jonathans are in most stores. These range from about 15 to 20 cents a pound. CA (Controlled Atmosphere) apples have fresher flavor than apples kept in ordinary storage. You can keep them fresh longer by hurrying them into the refrigerator.

MAIN DISH CHOICES — Larger pork supplies than last spring are the main reason you continue to find pork one of the best meat values. Your store may be giving special emphasis to loin cuts, Boston butts, steaks, ham and bacon this week.

Whether you choose a whole, half, portion or center slice of ham depends upon how many you need to serve and how you intend to cook the meat. Whole ham will yield 2 1/2 to 3 servings per pound, depending upon how it is processed.

A half will yield about 2 1/2 servings per pound. Since the portion has the lean center slices removed, you can expect it to serve about two persons from each pound. Center slices will serve three or four people per pound.

Prices on all types of poultry are very similar. You will find fryers, stewers and turkeys at about the same cost per pound. If you buy one of the frozen birds, remember it is safer to defrost it in the refrigerator rather than any other way. If you must hurry the process, leave it in the transparent wrap and thaw it under cold running water.

Have you checked the price difference between chuck roasts with and without the bone? You can afford to pay one fourth more per pound for the boneless roast and it will still be as good a value price-wise as the one with the bone.

There is a good reason why steak is more expensive than most other beef cuts. A live steer weighing about 1000 pounds yields about 500 pounds of retail cuts. Of this about 84 pounds is tender steak. About 48 pounds is sirloin and 36 pounds is T-bone and porterhouse steak.

Prepare hard-cooked eggs as add chopped cooked shrimp to the you would for deviled eggs, but mashed-yolk filling.

Treat Family to Frosted Doughnuts

Homemade doughnuts have been an all too seldom treat in many homes. But with the advent of such a convenient method of frying them as the automatic electric frypan this long time favorite should certainly begin to come back into its own again.

This recipe for fudge frosted doughnuts produces a marvelous butter, eggs and evaporated milk-rich dough that tries to beautiful even golden-brown goodness. And when the warm doughnuts are lavishly spread with fudge frosting they're a joy beyond compare.

The fudge frosting is a simple one — simple to make and simply delicious! Only three ingredients are called for: semi-sweet chocolate pieces, evaporated milk and confectioners sugar. The frosting spreads on the warm doughnuts smoothly and holds a beautiful high gloss.

You'll find it's not only the youngsters who'll be pleased with your doughnut making. These beauties will delight everyone within range of the kitchen.

Fudge Frosted Doughnuts

2 eggs
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons butter, softened
1/2 cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3/4 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

Place eggs, sugar and butter in large bowl of electric mixer. Beat on high speed until smooth, about 1 1/2 minutes. Mix lemon juice with evaporated milk. Reduce mixer speed to low and add evaporated milk to egg mixture, beating until blended.

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and nutmeg. Add 2 cups of the flour mixture. Chill dough for 2 hours.

Using part of dough at a time, roll out on floured board to about 1/4 inch thickness. Cut out doughnuts about 2 1/2 inches in diameter with floured cutter. While cutting out doughnuts heat salad oil for frying.

Pour oil in electric frypan to depth of about 1/2 inch. Set control at 400 degrees F. When temperature is reached, slide doughnuts into hot fat with spatula or pancake turner. Fry about 1 1/2 minutes on each side.

Remove with fork to paper toweling to drain. Frost while still warm with Fudge Frosting. Makes about 2 1/2 dozen doughnuts.

Fudge Frosting

1 package semi-sweet chocolate pieces (6 oz.)
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 cup sifted confectioners sugar
Place chocolate and evaporated milk in top of a double boiler. Heat over hot (not boiling) water until chocolate is melted, stirring occasionally to blend. Remove from heat, leaving over hot water while gradually adding confectioners sugar and stirring until smoothly blended.

Fill Biscuits With Meat

What's a biscuitburger? A tangy meat sandwich all wrapped in its own bun . . . a bun made from canned refrigerated biscuits! And so easy to make. Just saute ground beef with onions and crunchy celery, add seasonings and cool. Place cooled filling between flattened biscuits, pinch edges together, cut a slit in the top and they're ready for the oven!

You can even flute the edges for flair, if desired, garnish with parsley and accompany with a green salad. We'll bet these Biscuitburgers will not only delight the school set but Dad as well.

Biscuitburgers

1/2 pound ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon shortening
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup catsup
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon flavor extender
1 can refrigerated biscuits
Saute beef, onion, and celery in shortening. Sprinkle in flour, stir to blend. Stir in catsup and seasonings. Cool.

Pat each biscuit out paper-thin, 3/4" across. Place 5 on ungreased baking sheet. Place about one-third cup meat mixture on each. Moisten edges; cover with another flattened biscuit round.

Pinch edges together; cut small slit in center of each. Brush with melted butter. Bake 10 to 12 minutes at 450 degrees or until golden brown. Makes 5.

Success tip: Firmly seal edges.

Pink for Springtime

Rosy Dessert: Take a can of apple slices, add a sprinkling of sugar to taste, toss over them a handful of red cinnamon candies. Simmer for 10 minutes. The melted candies will rosy-up the slices. Chill, and serve with cream. Or with a scoop of ice cream on top.

India Opposition of Reds Grows

Demands to Parliament Call for Strengthening Military Forces

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Indian opposition to the Chinese Communist campaign in Tibet increased today and there were demands in Parliament that India's military forces be strengthened to meet any Communist threat to India.

Tibetan patriots set up a provisional government outside Lhasa to oppose the Chinese Communist puppet regime headed by the Panchen Lama, and fierce fighting was reported raging at the top of the world with both sides pledged to "liberate" Tibet.

The Indian government's all-India radio increased the volume of its broadcasts to tell the Tibetans that India's military was in India and to broadcast detailed speeches on the Tibetan situation by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, Peiping radio stepped up its broadcasts earlier.

All political parties in India except the Communists denounced the Chinese Communist suppression in Tibet as a "blood bath," a "second Hungary," and an example of "Chinese imperialism."

Many members of Parliament saw the action in Tibet as a threat to India and to the two Indian protectorates of Sikkim and Bhutan and the independent kingdom of Nepal, which serve as buffer states between India and Tibet.

There were demands that Nehru should have more vigilance on India's 1,200-mile Himalayan border and increase border troops.

Flint Woman Denies Taking Firm's Money

FLINT (UPI)—Mrs. Gertrude Blakeslee, charged with embezzling $2,500 from her wholesale meat storage company employer, surrendered yesterday after a year's absence from the city.

Mrs. Blakeslee, 36, who weighs 300 pounds, said she knew nothing of the allegedly missing money and demanded an examination in municipal court. She was freed in $2,500 bond for a hearing April 16.

Police said the Flint Provision Co., which employed Mrs. Blakeslee as a bookkeeper, reported a shortage of more than $7,000 in its accounts.

Mrs. Blakeslee, accompanied by an attorney, surrendered at the Genesee County prosecutor's office. She said she returned to Michigan as soon as she learned she was wanted. The warrant against her was issued April 1.

Mrs. Blakeslee said she has been in Ontario, having gone there to be with her husband and to work at a hospital at Blind River in the Canadian province.

Straits Cities Would Receive State Docks

LANSING (UPI)—Bills to permit Mackinac City and St. Ignace to take over three of four state-owned docks at the Straits of Mackinac were almost ready for introduction in the House today.

Rep. John Kilborn (R-Petoskey) said he would propose sale of the one dock on the south side of the Straits to Mackinac City for $100,000.

Kilborn said Mackinac City officials figured they would obtain enough revenue from parking meters and lease of dock and oil storage facilities to pay for the dock, maintain it and still show a profit.

Rep. Clayton T. Morrison (R-Pickford) said he would submit a bill for outright transfer of two docks to the City of St. Ignace. The No. 3 Dock, biggest of them all, would remain in state hands.

The docks formerly accommodated the state-owned straits ferry fleet, which ended operations with the opening of the straits bridge in the fall of 1957.

Latest proposal is to place the docks under the supervision of the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

Educators Worry as State Falls $12 Million Behind

LANSING (UPI)—A $12 million dollar shortage in the state public school employees retirement fund is causing considerable concern among educators, particularly in the Upper Peninsula.

Not that anyone has been dipping into the fund — it's just that the 12 millions are owed by the state.

The state is pledged to pay 6 1/2 per cent of school district salaries into the retirement fund, the money to come from the payments of the three cent sales tax earmarked for school purposes.

This amounts to around two million dollars a month. The last time the state came through with a payment was October 1958 and the fund is now 12 million dollars behind.

"There's some grumbling, particularly in the Upper Peninsula, because the fund has been neglected while payments continue to be made to the school districts," said Lawrence Van Zwoil, fund executive secretary.

Van Zwoil said there had been some fears expressed that the fund might have to liquidate its investments, mostly in federal-guaranteed housing projects, at a loss.

Sanford A. Brown has assured him this would not happen.

The fund won't be against the wall financially until some time late in May, Van Zwoil said.

Meanwhile, he said, legislative action is awaited on the proposal to mortgage the veterans trust fund. One provision of the mortgage plan would transfer some 12 million dollars of the trust fund holdings, enough to make up the state shortage, over to the teachers retirement fund.

AFL-CIO Vice President Joseph A. Beirne said the mass meeting probably inspired Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson to propose a federal commission to study the jobless problem.

The big rally was marred somewhat by the illness from food poisoning of more than 100 Ohio delegates, who attributed the attack to a turkey dinner or water aboard a train Tuesday night.

Twenty-two were hospitalized, but none was in serious condition and all were to be released today.

STATE ACTION URGED

A resolution by Rep. E. A. Fitzpatrick (D-Detroit) asked the Michigan Legislature to call on Congress for action to open up more job opportunities.

"Next week, next month, if lot more people will have their homes and mortgages foreclosed," said August Scholle, president of the Michigan State AFL-CIO, at the Washington meeting.

Unlimited Pay Plan for Jobless Urged

DETROIT (UPI)—A Michigan labor leader told an unemployment rally yesterday there is no reason the United States can't have permanent, unlimited system of unemployment insurance.

August Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, said Great Britain, Australia, Czechoslovakia, and other nations have such systems.

"If they can have such systems behind the iron curtain in Czechoslovakia," Scholle said, "There is no reason we can't have it here."

He said Michigan has 380,000 unemployed, with 190,000 of these no longer eligible for jobless benefits. He criticized the recent action of Antrim County, Mich., officials who ordered persons receiving unemployment benefits to plant gardens.

"I know something about soil in Antrim County," he said "and it won't grow much."

Drunken Psychologist

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Lawrence Rake walked into the sheriff's office and announced, "I'm here to discuss psychology." He was jailed on a drunk charge.

Alpine Village Out of Danger

HERBRIGGEN, Switzerland (UPI)—The 18 inhabitants of this Alpine village have been told officially that the danger of an imminent landslide had ended and those who had moved to safer parts could return to their homes.

Mayor Rudolf Bittel said 40 to 50 persons who vacated a half-mile wide danger zone would return to the village tomorrow.

"We will resume school Thursday morning and bring the school equipment back to the schoolhouse," said Bittel, who also is village headmaster.

The cantonal (state) government declared the village out of danger exactly two months after all its inhabitants were ordered to leave their homes. The order was issued following discovery that a huge mass of rock, earth and ice, estimated to weigh more than 1,000,000 tons, was moving toward the village on a steep slope of 14,206-foot Mt. Nadelhorn.

Detroit Mafia Probe Delayed

Jukebox Chief Expected to Testify Tomorrow in Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Rackets Committee canceled today's scheduled hearings on gangster influence in the jukebox business in Detroit, because only one committee member was present.

Committee rules require the presence of at least two members before testimony may be taken in a public hearing.

The committee has expected to hear today the experiences of a big Detroit and Ohio jukebox distributor firm against which Detroit gangsters allegedly waged bitter warfare.

The committee called as a witness the firm's president, Joseph Nemesh. His company, known as Music Systems, Inc., has offices in Cleveland and Detroit.

In two days of hearings on jukebox racketeering in Detroit, the committee has received testimony that Mafia mobsters in that city formed alliances with some labor union officials, and muscled in on the lucrative jukebox business.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said he planned to quiz several business agents of whose international president, James R. Hoffa, has been named in testimony as receiving pay-offs in connection with the jukebox war.

Kennedy said they will include Lawrence Welsh, of Teamsters Jukebox Local 985, and Morris Coleman and Cecil Watts, of Local 337 which is headed by Hoffa's top Detroit aide, Bert Brennan. Brennan also has been named in the hearings as a receiver of payoffs.

The hearings, McCallan said, will be resumed Friday. Chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy told newsmen a Saturday session may be held in an effort to make up for the lost time.

Detroit Store Goes Bankrupt

Kern's Files Petition in Effort to Obtain New Capital

DETROIT (UPI)—Ernst Kern Co., one of Detroit's oldest and largest department stores, has filed petition in U.S. District Court here for reorganization under the federal Bankruptcy Act.

The petition, filed yesterday by attorneys for the downtown department store, said the prime purpose of the action was to give the company time to obtain capital so that it may become rehabilitated.

Kern's assets were listed at $4,648,993. Its liabilities were listed at $4,379,813.

The petition blamed economic conditions in Detroit for the store's present situation.

Kerns has changed hands twice in the last 20 months. In July 1957, a majority of the company stock was purchased from the Ernst Kern family by Irving Leveck, a Buffalo financier and department store operator. Benjamin Goldstein, a principal stockholder, became president of the firm in January 1958.

Arrangements are being made for the August wedding of Marilyn Carmack and Richard Cairns, her mother, Mrs. Doris Carmack of 22200 Gill Rd., Farmington, announces. Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cairns, also of Farmington.

5th Graders Build Own Makeshift Weather Bureau

DENVER (UPI)—Fifth grade pupils at a Denver elementary school are doing something about weather forecasts—they're making them themselves.

The 27 students of George Purcell's fifth grade class at Russell Elementary School didn't have to spend a cent to get up their own weather bureau.

Their wind gauge is made of four paper cups attached to two crossed pieces of plywood that revolved on a wire from a coat hanger. A plywood arrow revolving on another twisted coat hanger provides wind direction.

The pupils measure humidity with a hygrometer made from a milk carton, straw, nickel, a strand of hair and a dash of nail polish. They used a bottle, colored water, a rubber stopper and a tube attached to a tackboard strip for their barometer.

They got around the thermometer problem when a student donated one.

Each day, the students check their instruments and issue their forecasts. They say their predictions are just as accurate as those put out by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Wright Dies Before Prized Building Ready

NEW YORK (UPI)—Architect Frank Lloyd Wright did not live to see completion of one of his personally most-prized creations—and also one of his most controversial.

It is the multimillion dollar Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, a huge, glass-domed, futuristic structure now under construction on Fifth Avenue. It is to house the priceless Guggenheim collection of modern art.

The building is a six-story vat-shaped affair with spiral ramps to carry visitors upward while viewing art exhibits. It has been under construction three years, and several more months will be necessary.

Right from the start it stirred an uproar among both designers and the man in the street. They've called it everything from "beautiful, simply beautiful" to "the great stone toilet bowl."

Wright himself wasn't bothered one bit by all the hullabaloo. He was used to it.

Uncertain When to Take Office

No One Sure of Date Wayne State Board to Start Governing

LANSING (UPI)—The six members of the Wayne State University Board of Governors elected Monday will have to mark time until someone decides just when they are supposed to take office.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said no one seems to know when the new governors can or will take office and start governing.

Three possible dates have been suggested, Hare said, and the entire matter has been tossed to the attorney general's office for a decision.

The intent of the Legislature appears to be that the new board would take office as soon as elected and qualified by the State Board of Canvassers.

The state constitution provides, however, that all elective state officials shall take office on Jan. 1—showing the date forward to the first of next year.

A July 1 date this year also has been suggested because it coincides with the termination date of the three-year city-state financial and control arrangements, spelled out at the time it was decided to make Wayne a state institution.

"It may be," Hare added, "that the Legislature will want to act to straighten out this problem and to make sure that no legal loopholes exist to plague the university."

Try to Organize Lakes Workers

Maritime Unions of AFL-CIO Eye Crews on Inland Waters

CLEVELAND (UPI)—A drive has been started by AFL-CIO maritime unions to organize inland ship and shore workers in preparation for the opening of the Great Lakes shipping season and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

It is aimed principally at some 4,500 unlicensed seamen on 140 ships on the Great Lakes operated by 16 shipping companies. Many of these are represented by the Independent Lake Sailors Union.

An estimated 5,400 unlicensed and licensed seamen on some 300 Great Lakes ships and about 1,000 shore employees of stevedoring companies are represented by the AFL-CIO maritime unions.

The International Brotherhood of Longshoremen represents most of the latter.

The IBL was chartered by the old AFL in 1953 when the federation ousted the International Longshoremen's Assn. on charges it was dominated by racketeers and for failure to comply with the federation's "cleanup" order.

Representatives of AFL-CIO maritime unions made plans for the mass organizing campaign at a recent meeting in Detroit.

The main unions besides the IBL are Seafarers International Union; Masters, Mates and Pilots; and the merged Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn. and Brotherhood of Marine Engineers.

Some See No Cash Crisis

GOP Senators Delay Action on Vets Fund

LANSING (UPI)—An answer to the state's cash emergency via the veterans trust fund was put off today at least until next week.

On this point, backers and opponents of the latest proposed solution were in agreement.

Sen. Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair, Republican majority leader, yesterday proposed authorizing liquidation of the 50 million dollars in trust fund securities along with a new method of rebuilding the fund.

After failing to get quick action on the plan from GOP colleagues, Beadle took his proposition to Democratic Gov. Williams, but without immediate result.

Meanwhile, Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville), while agreeing with Beadle as to the best approach, stood for postponing any final decision by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Hutchinson said he doubted there was any need for haste. He said he remained unconvinced that a state cash crisis was imminent, and that if there was shown to be, Beadle's plan could be quickly adopted.

Beadle suggested transferring trust fund securities to the State Treasurer for immediate liquidation, if it need be.

Under his plan, the fund would be reconstituted gradually starting in 1965 if existing securities were cashed.

The money, under Beadle's proposal, would be taken from the general revenue fund at a time when World War II and Korean War bonus bond service requirements dropped off correspondingly.

Although GOP members of the Senate Appropriations Committee readily accepted Beadle's proposition as an alternative to Gov. Williams' trust fund mortgaging, they refused to back it as a basis for prompt action.

The vote to send the Beadle plan to the floor was two in favor and seven against.

Sen. Elmer R. Potter (R-Blissfield), Appropriations Committee chairman, said afterwards, the situation would not again be reviewed until next week.

Tuition Refund Plan Announced by GM

DETROIT (UPI)—General Motors announced today a new tuition refund plan applicable to salaried employees under which the corporation will pay tuition costs up to $250 a year for employees wishing to further their education in spare time, study programs.

Under the plan employees may take college level courses designed to maintain and improve their skills in performing their work. To be eligible for a tuition refund an employee must be on the payroll at the beginning and end of the course term and complete his study with satisfactory grades.

"We hope our salaried employees take full advantage of this opportunity," said Louis G. Seaton, vice president in charge of the Personnel Staff. "The increasing complexity of modern day business and rapid technological advances demand that we as individuals, and as companies, expand and develop our skills and abilities."

A majority of GM divisions have operated their own tuition refund plans for several years. The new plan replaces these with a uniform corporation-wide program applicable to all eligible salaried employees.

'Incredible' Speeds Forecast

New Water Jet Engine
Designed to Power Ships

AZUSA, Calif. (AP) — A new water jet engine designed to power boats and ships at almost incredible speeds was disclosed today by scientists at Aerojet-General Corp.

"We know we can increase the speed of hydroplanes by at least 75 per cent," said Calvin Gongwer, head of Aerojet's Antisubmarine Warfare Division. "Theoretically there is no limit to the speed that can be reached by vessels of any size, with proper hull design."

The revolutionary device, called the hydrojet, has no propellers. Instead an impeller, something like a lawn sprinkler whirling at terrific speed, drives the boat forward by spraying water into the air behind it.

A low-horsepower version has been ocean tested in a small boat. The company plans to install a high-speed hydrojet in a racing craft for time trials this summer.

"We are confident it will break every speed record for propeller-driven boats," Gongwer said.

Stan Sayer's So-Mo-Shun IV hydroplane reached 178 miles an hour in 1952. This has been topped only by Donald Campbell's air-jet hydroplane, clocked at 248 miles an hour in 1957.

"Campbell's boat used an aircraft jet engine. We can do the same thing with conventional power plants requiring much less horsepower and much less fuel," Gongwer said.

Hydrojet is expected to have military applications, but they are secret. A commercial model for boating enthusiasts is expected to be ready in two years. No estimate on cost is available.

The hydrojet was developed to overcome water drag on propellers.

"We have reduced this to a minimum," Gongwer said. "The hydrojet's impeller is completely out of the water."

Muskegon Man Dies
Jumping Off Train

MUSKEGON (AP) — Donald P. Davis tried to help his relatives off a train yesterday. The attempt cost him his life.

Davis, 40, of Muskegon, waited too long before getting off the train himself after he helped his sister's two children off.

Police said Davis' party had boarded the train to bid farewell to a niece, Mrs. Lyle J. Black, of Muskegon Heights, and her children. They were starting a trip to Italy to join Mrs. Black's husband.

As the train started to move, Davis helped the children off. As he sought to jump off, he lost his balance and fell beneath the train wheels.

Science-Loving Boys Held

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Two classes; they studied on their precocious St. Clair Shores youngsters with a bent for science are in custody for $3,000 in school burglaries.

Macomb County juvenile authorities are wondering just what to do about the boys.

The pair, 14 and 15, stole scientific equipment for rocket-firing and telescope construction and they took pictures of the moon and stars with home-made cameras, police said.

FATHERS ENCOURAGED

All this time their fathers, one a postal employee and the other a factory worker, encouraged them without knowing of the burglaries.

"The boys were just going too fast for their parents to keep up with," said Juvenile Officer Arthur Ladas.

Police said the boys committed 27 school burglaries, taking test tubes, projects, lenses and chemicals.

From a dentist's office they took X-ray equipment and pressure gauges — and $785 in cash which they put aside to buy other equipment.

They had an indexed file of 300 school room keys.

Their youthful intellect was indicated in a particular way. Often at their burglaries they left notes signed "servus mortis," which is Latin for "slave of death."

Crowd Beats to Death
Pair Who Stole Statue

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Two young men were beaten to death here for stealing a statue from a church.

Maria Dolores Gonzalez told police that she was with the men, who took the image from a church in the village of Los Reyes de Juarez Tuesday night.

A crowd overtook the trio and beat them! Police rescued the men and took them to jail, but the mob broke in and beat the pair to death. The woman was brought to Mexico City for treatment and questioning.

Hollywood Headlines
It Was a Banner Week for Parties in Filmdom

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (U)—After three-year absence, Richard Burton is back in Hollywood—but not for long.

The British star of "The Robe" is out of tunic and into a business suit to play a modern doctor in "Bramble Bush," another probe of morality (or rather immorality) in New England. He said he may stay on for another film, but then he'll be tied up for some time.

He is lined up to play the singing lead in the new Lerner-Loewe show, "Jenny Kissed Me." It's a complete change of pace for the "My Fair Lady" authors, being an adaptation of a T. S. White book about King Arthur.

There has never been a week-end like it. That's the conclusion after three fabulous social evenings that saw virtually all of the film famous out in their jewels and minks.

It started Friday night with "An Evening with Betty Comden and Adolph Green" at the Huntington Theater—a benefit for the Reiss-Davis Clinic.

Even stay-at-homes like Jennifer Jones, Cary Grant and Marlon Brando were in the audience. Seldom has there been such an affectionate reception for a local performance.

The Buddy Adlers' party for Ingrid Bergman on Saturday night was another memorable one. There can be no doubt how Hollywood regards the long-absent Swede. She was greeted with warmth by all her old friends.

County Radio Society Has 9 New Members

Ranks of the Oakland County Amateur Radio Society increased Tuesday when nine members of John Stefanski's West Pontiac Youth Science Club joined up.

Besides Stefanski himself, who operates the club in his West Huron radio-television repair shop to teach kids the science of electronics, the following joined:

- John Kusk, of 124 Henry Clay;
- Jim Bego, of 261 Draper Ave.;
- Frederick Combs, of 1688 Myrtle;
- David Brandenburg, of 975 Berwick;
- Ronnie Clark, of 29 N. Johnson, all of Pontiac;
- Don Windsor, of 5601 Hatchery Rd., and William Davis, of 5791 Hatchery Rd., both of Drayton Plains;
- and Wolfgang Zindner of 2949 Sunshine Terrace, Waterford.

The new and regular members of the club watched a movie on precautions to be taken when working with electricity at the society's regular monthly meeting at the Consumers Power Co. auditorium in Pontiac.

Real Estate, Building Rise

Figures in County for March Up $3,978 Over Year Ago

Increased building and real estate transactions in Oakland County were reflected in the $19,660 in receipts the register of deeds office took in last month.

The monthly total represented a $3,978 increase over the $15,681 received during March of 1958, according to Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr.

"This shows that real estate and building businesses are on the upgrade in the county," Murphy said. "I predict an even larger increase this month over last April."

The office recorded 2,513 deeds worth $4,126 last month as compared with 2,288 deeds valued at $3,736 for the same period last year.

A comparison of mortgages filed in the office shows 1,280 ($4,451) for March of this year and 1,029 ($3,445) for March 1958. Murphy said a total of 13,639 papers were handled last month as compared with 11,091 in March 1958.

Dieters: Does Any of This Sound Familiar?

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that dieters get tired of hearing—or overhearing:

"Hi, Fatty!"

"Say, ain't you been gaining a little weight lately?" (This is usually said to you after you've taken off 15 pounds.)

"Going on the wagon might help. On the other hand—in your case—it might kill you, too."

"What's that you're carrying under your belt—a watermelon?"

ONLY ONE EXERCISE

"There's only one exercise that's any help — and that's pushing yourself away from the table with both hands."

"Hi, Tubby!"

"I know just the perfect diet for you. It worked wonders for my uncle. You remember him—the one we buried last week."

"Now take me, for example. I eat anything I want, any time I want, and I weigh exactly the same as I did 25 years ago."

"Maybe it's your glands."

"Here's an interesting item in the paper. It says obesity is harder to cure than cancer."

"Hi, Lardbucket!"

"Haven't you been losing a little lately? Your hair, I mean."

"I guess everything you eat just turns to fat, doesn't it?"

"No, I think you girls are all wrong about Grace. If it were what you think it is, she'd be knitting things."

LEG'S SLEEPING

"Can you get up off my lap for a moment, Grace? My leg's gone to sleep."

"Hi, Chubby!"

"They say her grocer retired last week and bought himself a big new home in Florida."

"Frankly, Grace, I'd think you'd be glad to have a little extra weight like that. I hate myself for being so thin."

"I guess sometimes when you are counting calories you just lose count, eh, Grace?"

"Hi, Fatso!"

"Maybe if you ate slower—"

"She never eats between meals, but every time she eats she makes a meal of it."

"She claims she eats like a bird. She must mean a pelican."

"Have you tried eight prunes and a glass of clam juice?"

"A person your size shouldn't wear stripes going that way."

"Hi, Elephant Boy!"

"It's called the new atomic diet. You fast for three days and then"

"If the button ever pops off his vest, it'll be our first successful moon shot."

"My cousin went to this doctor, and he lets her eat anything she wants."

"Grace is one girl who really keeps her figure. That's her trouble."

"Why don't you go about it gradually? If you lost just one ounce a day, in 10 years you'd lose 225 pounds."

"Don't lose heart, Jim. Keep your chin up!"

"Hi, Skinny!"

MOSCOW (AP)—The majority of Moscow's factories take a physical training break instead of the coffee or tea break popular in the West. "Moscow News" has reported more than 400,000 workers daily leave their benches and desks for organized exercise in charge of trained instructors.

The report claimed one result has been a drop in industrial accidents.

History of Baseball Filled With Joys and Woes

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

WILLIAM A. HULBERT
National League Founder

ment over the actual origin of the game. Anthropologists would give credit to the evolutionary monkey swinging a banana stalk. Archeologists associate the game with the ancient Egyptians as denoted by carvings within tombs.

Americans like to give credit to our version of the sport to Abner Doubleday in 1839. Some insist it was Alexander J. Cartwright who in 1845 set the standard for baseball.

Anyway, since the days of Doubleday and Cartwright, baseball has seen years of tremendous prosperity, but also times of hardship and shame.

cents for swearing at the umpire, who was Cartwright.

Teams sprung up all over New York with such names as the Gothams, Eagles, Empires, Mutuals, Unions and Baltics. In 1858 a convention of 25 different clubs was called to form the National Association of Base Ball Players.

BAN JOHNSON
American League Founder

That same year for the first time, fans were asked to pay to see a game, and a record crowd of 1,500 paid 50 cents each to see New York beat Brooklyn, 22-18. The league deteriorated during the Civil War but the game spread as soldiers taught and learned its fundamentals.

After the war the first bounce for an out was eliminated and credited as a hit. The game spread into the Midwest and a team known as the Nationals left Washington, D. C., on a 3,000 mile tour.

The Nationals lost only one game to a team of Rockford, Ill., and the pitcher for the winners was a 17-year-old boy named A. G. Spaulding, who learned the game from an invalid Civil War veteran.

Baseball was now booming. Amateurism died with the Cincinnati Red Stockings who had a total payroll of $2,500 for 10 players in 1869. The Red Stockings played 56 games from Massachusetts to California and were unbeaten. When they returned home, team president Aaron Champion exclaimed at a victory banquet, "I'd rather be President of the Cincinnati Reds than of the United States!" So was born the nickname of the Cincinnati Reds.

Major League baseball was born on the professional level with the National Association in 1871, with Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, New York, Rockford, Washington, Cleveland, Troy, N.Y., and Fort Wayne.

The championship that year was won by the Philadelphia Athletics only because the Chicago White Stockings lost their home field because of Mrs. O'Leary's villain cow which started the great Chicago fire.

The White Stockings had to play their home games on the road and figured this cost them the championship.

In 1876, the National League was founded by William Hulbert. He invited all the clubs of the National Association to his hotel room in New York, locked the door and made them listen to his ideas. They accepted his constitution and February 2, 1876 the National League was born.

The first game was played between Boston and Philadelphia April 22, 1876, with 3,000 watching the opener won by Boston, 6-5.

Four players on the Louisville team were barred for life as the first scandal took place in 1877. They had been taking bribes from Eastern gamblers to lose.

In 1882 another scandal took place when an umpire, Dick Higham, was convicted of collusion with gamblers, and up to 1892 baseball had its own "cold war" with three rival leagues. The American Association and the Player's League were competing against the National League.

Player raids took place between leagues, and when Pittsburgh of the National League lured away a Philadelphia player from the American Association, the Philadelphians yelled "Pirates!"

The nickname has stuck with Pittsburgh since 1891. After the Spanish-American War, the ensuing depression shrunk the leagues to only an 8-team National League.

No Sign of Tiger Youth Movement for '59 Opener

Veterans Hold All Positions on First Team

Billy Pierce, Detroit's Biggest Trading Error, Faces Bunting

DETROIT (AP)—Jim Bunning of no-hit fame will face Billy Pierce, the best pitcher the Detroit Tigers ever traded off, when the Tigers and the Chicago White Sox help inaugurate the 1959 American League baseball season tomorrow at Briggs Stadium.

It will be Bunning's second assignment in a Major League opener. He defeated the White Sox in Chicago last season 4-3 and Pierce, dealt off in late 1948 in the much-talked-of trade for catcher Aaron Robinson, was the Chicago starter in that one.

The front line the Tigers will throw at the White Sox includes 38 seasons of big league experience. Not even a trace of the once-mighty-publicized youth movement remains. The Tigers average 29 years in age. Four players have passed their 30th birthday. Left fielder Larry Doby is the oldest at 34. Third baseman Eddie Yost is 32, shortstop Rocky Bridges 31 and catcher Red Wilson 30.

The youngest player is Al Kaline, a five-year big league veteran at 24.

Excluding the starting pitcher, the Tigers will sport a combined batting average of .281.

For Bunning, it will be an opportunity to wipe out some frustrating memories of 1958. Despite the fact he pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Boston Red Sox in Fenway Park on July 20, Bunning lost much of his effectiveness. He went 10 straight games after his memorable feat before he could complete another game.

After mid-season Bunning had trouble staying above the .500 mark, although he finished with a 14-12 record. The previous season he was the Major Leagues' top right-hander with a 20-8 record.

Not a single rookie will be in the Detroit lineup although Doby, Yost and Bridges are newcomers.

But the White Sox will have 20-year-old John Callison in left field. The rookie, up from Indianapolis where he blasted American Association pitching so well that the Sox handed him the left field job, is the main reason manager Al Lopez believes his team can overtake the New York Yankees.

This will be the first time in three seasons the Tigers have opened at home and about 37,000 spectators—well under the figure the front office hoped for—are expected to attend. The home opener last season drew 46,698 while the all-time record for the lid-lifter is 53,433 on opening day in 1949.

Both Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Detroit's Mayor Louis C. Miriani will take part in the opening ceremonies.

Bucs-Reds Meet With New Editions

National League Starts Season at Cincinnati

Happy Chandler Opens Ceremonies by Tossing First Ball

CINCINNATI (AP)—The revised and edited Cincinnati Reds open the National League baseball season today against the revised and edited Pittsburgh Pirates with some familiar faces working out of different dugouts.

These two teams, with question marks at some posts, took part in one of the biggest winter trades—a seven-player deal.

For example, slugger Frank Thomas is slated to start at third base for the Reds this time, while his opposite number among the Pirates is former Redleg, Don Hoak.

Baseball observers have generally picked both teams to finish in the first division, but Pittsburgh has the edge in pre-season predictions, attracting a lot of second-place votes on strength of its excellent pitching and strong offense.

A capacity crowd of 32,000 is expected at today's opener at Crosley Field.

George Witt had been best bet to start on the mound for Pittsburgh, but Witt's sore arm forced manager Danny Murphree to nominate right-hander Ron Kline for the job. He'll oppose Bob Purkey, another former Pirate and the Reds' winningest thrower last season.

The Reds had to borrow Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler from Kentucky to throw out the first ball in opening day ceremonies. Ohio Gov. Michael V. Disalle said he was sticking to a campaign promise of no outside engagements for his first six months in office. But he said yesterday he'd be glad to attend "the World Series in Cincinnati."

Russia for Olympics Here?

New Boost for Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—A Japanese Olympic official says Soviet Russia probably will support Detroit for the 1964 games out of a preference for the prestige of winning in the United States.

The view was expressed yesterday by Ichiro Hatta, vice president of Japan's Olympic committee who is in America with the Japanese touring wrestling team.

Hatta said he wants Tokyo to have the 1964 Olympics. But he conceded that Russia probably would go for Detroit in any two-city contest for the big show.

"It's my opinion," he said, "that the iron curtain countries will line up behind Detroit because they

Pitchers Shine in Final Exhibitions

By The Associated Press
Young Jack Fisher, a husky right-hander, blanked the Philadelphia Phillies on three singles Wednesday and became Baltimore's lone nine-inning pitcher of the spring as the Orioles capped major league baseball's best exhibition record with a 3-0 victory. The Orioles, who open the regular season Thursday at Washington, finished the exhibition campaign with a 17-3 record. The Los Angeles Dodgers, beaten 12-3 by Milwaukee, had the best record among National League entries at 13-10.

In other closing exhibition games, five pitchers combined for a three-hit shutout as the San Francisco Giants defeated the Cleveland Indians 2-0 at Omaha.

Rookie Jim O'Toole won a starting job with Cincinnati by pitching a two-hitter for a 3-1 decision over the Chicago White Sox at Indianapolis. Kansas City beat Dallas of the American Assn. 6-5, and the New York Yankees whipped Richmond of the International League 10-2.

Boston and the Chicago Cubs played a night game at Houston. Fisher, 20 and a 6-2, 205-pounder, also rapped a two-run triple as the Orioles bunched three of their four hits in the second inning against loser Seth Morehead at Baltimore. The Phils wound up with an 11-4 record.

Red Worthington got the decision for the Giants, following Jack Sanford to the mound and then giving way to Paul Giel, Joe Shipley and Dom Zanni. The Giants finished with a 15-13 record. The Indians were 12-17.

O'Toole, 22, gave up a first-inning homer by Jim Landis, then breezed, touching off a clinching two-run eighth with a single.

Dick Donovan took the loss, after blanking the Reds for five frames. The Reds, who are at home to Pittsburgh in the National League's earlier opener today, had a 13-15 exhibition record. The Sox were 13-10.

The Braves counted six first-inning runs at Jacksonville, Fla., chasing the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax. Henry Aaron then added a three-run homer in the third off Bill Harris as the Braves finished with an 11-15 record.

The Yankees finished with a 14-12 record, batting around in a four-run first against their farmhands at Richmond. Whitey Herzog's RBI double won for the A's in the ninth at Dallas giving Kansas City a 12-13 record.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—Lew Hoad of Australia defeated world champion Pancho Gonzales in a professional tennis match Wednesday night.

Hoad, former Davis Cupper and world amateur champion, boosted his current four record to 20-10 as he edged Gonzales 6-2, 4-6, 7-5. Gonzales has won 21 matches and lost 9.

Rain Expected for AL Opener in Washington

Vice President Nixon to Make Traditional Opening Pitch

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jack Harshman for Baltimore, Pedro Ramos for Washington and Richard M. Nixon for the government were on tap today for the opening pitches of the 1959 American League baseball season.

Griffith Stadium was decked out for an anticipated crowd of 25,000, all hoping the weatherman got his signals crossed.

The early forecast was for mostly cloudy skies and scattered showers, but a good chance that the showers would be scattered enough to permit the game to go on.

Vice President Nixon was called in from the White House bull pen to make the traditional opening pitch from a box seat off the first base line. President Eisenhower, after six consecutive appearances, decided to skip the ceremony in favor of a golfing vacation at Augusta, Ga.

Harshman, 22-15 last year, was an obvious pick for manager Paul Richards of the Orioles. The 31-year-old left-hander practically owns the Senators. He's won 15 of 20 decisions against them in five seasons, first with Chicago and more recently with Baltimore. Ramos is only 3-5 against the Orioles, but his fifty-five-hitter which trimmed Boston 5-3 in last year's opener persuaded manager Cookie Lavagetto to give the 23-year-old right-hander another shot.

Here's how they finished last year in the major league pennant races:

Tigers, Chisox Hold Workouts at Detroit Today

DETROIT (UPI)—Manager Bill Norman scheduled an 11 a.m. workout in Briggs Stadium for the Tigers today and Manager Al Lopez was set to put the White Sox through a loosening-up drill this afternoon.

The Tigers arrived home yesterday afternoon after a smooth three hour and 45 minute flight from Tampa. Bill Veck, majority owner of the White Sox, and American League President Joe Cronin will attend the opener. Veck was set to address a luncheon gathering today at the Detroit Press Club.

AL STARTERS — Pedro Ramos (left) is slated to start for Washington today against Jack Harshman of Baltimore in the American League opener.

NL STARTERS — Pittsburgh's Ron Kline has been named to start against Cincinnati's Bob Purkey, a former Pirate, in the National League opener today.

Erdelatz Leaves Navy for 'Personal Reasons'

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Navy adjust to different conditions "with the ever changing administrations" at the Naval Academy.

Earlier, academy superintendent, Rear Adm. Charles L. Nelson, had announced the resignation of the genial, 45-year-old coach effective immediately. Erdelatz said his future plans are indefinite.

The move astonished all but Erdelatz and high academy officials with whom he had been meeting in closed sessions the past few days.

But there have been indications of strains beneath the surface between Erdelatz and some academy policies during the past couple of years. For one thing, he didn't like it when the academy superintendent ruled out a bowl bid for the team following a 14-14 tie with Army in 1957.

Erdelatz left the professional San Francisco 49ers as an assistant coach and came to victory-starved Navy in 1958. During the four previous seasons, the Tarn had won only five games.

In his first season Navy had a losing 3-6 record but capped it with a stunning 14-2 upset of Army, which had won 28 straight. The Midshipmen also showed a losing 2-6-1 mark in 1951 but again wound it up with a victory over Army, 42-7. From that time Erdelatz has been a hero to Navy midshipmen and all the ships at sea.

QUITS—Navy coach Eddie Erdelatz quit unexpectedly yesterday for what he called "personal reasons." The announcement came from Rear Admiral Charles L. Nelson, Academy superintendent.

Baseball Had Its Woes

from the NL, including such names as Cy Young, Nap Lajoie, Jimmy Collins and Clark Griffith.

An open war for players and in the court was waged between the National and American Leagues, and within their own ranks as well.

Twenty five ballots came out 4-4 in trying to elect a National League president in 1901. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court granted an injunction against Lajoie, ordering his return from the Philadelphia As of the American League to Philadelphia of the National League. Lajoie switched to Cleveland to keep out of Pennsylvania.

A truce finally came in 1903 and they tangled in a friendly World Series which featured the big bat of Honus Wagner of the Pirates.

Baseball faced assassination during World War I as another circuit, the Federal League popped up to start another Major League war. By 1916 the Federal League surrendered to financial settlements of the National and American Leagues.

In 1914 the most spectacular pennant finish took place when Boston went from last place on July 19th, 11 1/2 games behind to the NL pennant and a sweep of the World Series.

Baseball suffered a near-fatal scandal in 1919. The World Series that year drew a quarter million dollars more than the 1912 half-million dollar series. But, then, it was revealed that the Chicago Black Sox had "thrown" the 1919 Series to Cincinnati.

Fortunately, baseball's saviors, Judge Landis and Babe Ruth helped to recapture the public's confidence.

The Glens of John McGraw resigned. Then came the dynasty of Branch Rickey at St. Louis, who said "Let's grow our own talent." This set the framework for a "farm system."

Rogers Hornsby, Gabby Street, Frankie Frisch, Billy Southworth and Eddie Dyer were the managers in the St. Louis dynasty.

Then came Brooklyn's reign and of recent years in the National League the Milwaukee Braves. In the American League early years, the Philadelphia Athletics, Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox had many years of rule, but who can be called the perennial power? The Yankees of course, and for 1959 the Yankee rule appears as sound as ever.

Baseball returns to the scene today healthy and another year older.

12 Class 'A' Teams Vie for Indoor Title

Flint Central Figured as Valley's Top Team This Year

It will look like an all-Saginaw Valley Conference meet the Central Michigan College Indoor relays Friday night.

All six of the present SVC schools plus two members-to-be, Midland and Bay City Handy are among the 12 class A schools entered. Other entries are Traverse City, Mt. Pleasant, Lansing East and Muskegon.

Flint Central will be favored to dethrone defending champion Flint Northern on basis of the showing Central made in the Eastern Michigan Relays last week.

The two Flint schools, Central and Northern, finished 1-2 at Ypsil with Pontiac Central taking fourth place for the team title.

The meet will serve as a warm-up for the big dual encounter between Pontiac Central and Flint Central at Wisner Stadium next Monday afternoon at 4:00 p.m.

Coach Dean Wilson will take a squad of 24 trackmen to Mt. Pleasant. In the Eastern Michigan meet, the Chiefs failed to take a first in any event for the first time in three years.

However, coach Dean Wilson expects the sophomore-junior team to improve as the season moves along.

RCH, always strong in the high jump, and hurdles, is little weaker this year. Fred Brooks sees most action by participating in 60 yard and broad jump.

Allen Howze, Andrew Terry and Ed Drayton vie in the hurdles, with Jim Pritchett in the 440.

John Jefferson in the 880, Charley Brown, Jerry Rush and Bill Pritchett in the shot put and Bob Finley, Frank Shorter and Joe Anderson in the pole vault.

Preliminaries start at 6:00 p.m. with the finals following.

Local, Midwestern Field Trials Planned

The Irish Setter Club of Michigan will conduct its annual spring trial at the Pontiac Lake Recreation area April 18-19. A drawing for the event will be held April 17 at 9 p.m. at 21356 Purdue St., Farmington.

Local dogs are expected to take part in the 4th annual Midwestern Open championships sponsored by the National Red Setter Field Trial Club one week earlier at Delaware Dam, Ohio. Information on either event can be obtained from Tom Moffat of 4381 Forest Ave., Pontiac.

Prep Action Stirring

Area prep teams in three different sports are slated to stage the biggest schedule of the new spring season tomorrow if the weather-man finally comes around with some sunshine.

Baseball and track teams had started things stirring but the conditions have been anything but ideal for doing much outside this week.

Two interesting local baseball battles were slated here this afternoon if the fields could be rounded into shape and the rain held off.

The games had Pontiac Central at Waterford and Rochester at Avondale. None of the teams has seen action as yet.

A track meet matching Walled Lake and Pontiac Northern at PNH was to be held today but was postponed for the 2nd time to April 27. Husky coach Dick Marsh reported there was two inches of water covering the track. Northern was scheduled to host the Waterford Thincloids Friday and officials of the schools hope to get that one in.

Walled Lake and Holly will visit Milford and Hazel Park goes to Southfield in other track action tomorrow. Romeo is at Richmond and Brown City is at home against Inlay City in baseball.

Pontiac Central's tennis team will hit the road Friday opening its season at Flint Northern.

Spring competition will get into full swing starting April 13 with action-packed programs on tap right through the month of May. That is—if the weather ever clears up.

Campbell Sorry He Talked

NHL President Regrets Participating in 'Mess'

MONTREAL (AP)—National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell says "my mistake was in talking at all."

"I am sorry for having participated in or contributed to this mess," Campbell said.

The "mess" is the resignation of senior NHL referee Red Storey, who claims Campbell let him down by telling Bill Westwick, sports editor of the Ottawa Journal, he thought Storey "froze" in the crucial last minutes of the Montreal-Chicago semifinal Saturday in Chicago.

"I don't wear my crown of thorns too well," Campbell said in an interview with Vern Degeer, sports director of the Montreal Gazette.

"I am not taking back or hedging away from this unfortunate situation. I am in my 13th year as NHL president. I have made every effort to talk freely with newspaper men, feeling they would respect on and off the record chatter."

"This has never happened before. I feel Bill Westwick was responsible for a story that led to this mess."

"I've been a hockey referee myself. I know what it means in the record chatter."

DENVER (AP)—One of baseball's most powerful circuits short of the majors, the Triple-A American Assn., will try an experiment this season that the big leagues will watch closely.

The association will operate as a 10-club league stretching from the hills of West Virginia to the mountains of Colorado, and from deep in the heart of Texas to the Twin Cities.

excitement of a game to suffer mental lapses. I thought Storey handled the Chicago game well for 50 minutes. But I felt Storey made an error in judgment on a late third period play in Chicago. "Then came the after-game chat with Westwick. That was my mistake. But I'm not taking it back. I'm not crying for he's. I feel I was a victim of bad faith that has precipitated a most unfortunate mess."

In the Journal Westwick later wrote that he had not violated any confidence.

Conn Smythe, president of Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens, sent a telegram to Referee Red Storey yesterday urging him not "to resign now" and saying Storey was "highly respected" by National Hockey League club owners.

That is—if the weather ever clears up.

Forddy to Help Laud PCH Friday

Cage Winners Get Together

One of the nation's most successful college basketball coaches and one of the most successful Pontiac Central basketball teams in local high school history will get together Friday night.

Forrest (Forddy) Anderson, head basketball coach at Michigan State University, will be the guest speaker tomorrow evening when the 1958-59 Chiefs are honored at a banquet in the PCH cafeteria at 6:30 p.m.

The City Chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with The Pontiac Press, will fetter the Saginaw Valley Conference champions and a flock of awards will be presented to players and coaches alike.

Anderson and basketball success go hand-in-hand. A native of Gary, Ind., the 40-year-old Anderson can boast a record of 283 wins and 122 losses for 14 years of collegiate coaching.

A personable gentleman and a popular after-dinner speaker, Anderson has brought basketball at Michigan State to the pinnacle of success and built the Spartans into a national cage power.

Forddy just completed his 35th season at MSU and during that stretch the Spartans have compiled 77 victories against 38 defeats. This year's team posted an over-all 19-4 mark and won the first undisputed Big Ten title in school history.

Two years ago the Spartans shared the Big Ten crown with Indiana and last season they lost in Paris, was third with 8 points.

the championship to the Hoosiers on the final day of the campaign and had to settle for 2nd place.

MSU was the Big Ten's representative in the NCAA tournament in 1957 and again this year. Two seasons ago the Spartans made a powerful bid for the NCAA title before losing to unbeaten North Carolina in the finals and this year they bowed to Louisville in regional action at Evanston, Ill.

Prior to coming to MSU, Anderson coached at Great Lakes, Drake and Bradley, where in nine years his teams won 298 games and lost only 94.

Forddy and a couple of his star Spartan cagers from this past season will do their part to make tomorrow's honor banquet for the Chiefs a rousing success.

Tickets for the PCH faculty, students and parents of team members are available at Pontiac Central High. The general public may obtain tickets to the dinner at the Chamber of Commerce office in Hotel Waldron and Osmun's.

Moss Grand Prix Midget Race Champ

PARIS (AP) — England's Stirling Moss Wednesday night won the Grand Prix of Europe for midget auto racing.

Moss tied with Nana da Silva Ramos of Brazil at 14 points each but was awarded first place on the basis of a better time trial. Harry Schell, an American living in Paris, was third with 8 points.

Leafs Aim to Upset Montreal

Canadiens Still 3-to-1 Choice in Final Series

Teams Last Met Each Other for Stanley Cup Crown in '51

MONTREAL (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs are betting today that balance can beat brilliance in the Stanley Cup finals. Still, Montreal's colorful Canadiens, National Hockey League champions, are 3-to-1 favorites to win hockey's most prized trophy for the fourth consecutive time.

As the Leafs and Canadiens prepared for tonight's opening game of the best-of-seven final, winger Dick Duff expressed Toronto's doggedness:

"We can lose the first game to Montreal," he said. "We can lose the second game. We can even lose the third game. And we still won't be eliminated."

"The last time the Stanley Cup was won three times in row, it was Toronto that did it. I think it's up to us to see that record isn't broken."

Montreal tied the record, set by Toronto in 1947-48, last year.

Duff is one of the big boys in Toronto's concept of balance. He scored 29 goals this season to become one of six Maple Leaf players to score 20 goals or more. No other club has so many top scorers. Not even Montreal — although the Canadiens had two goal men.

The attitude of Duff and the other Toronto players, says Maple Leafs Coach George Imlach, is what brought the Leafs up out of the NHL cellar into the playoffs in the last few games of the schedule. It also brought them from behind a two-game deficit in the semi-finals for a 4-3 win over the Boston Bruins.

Montreal Coach Toe Blake said he didn't know whether or not he'd use injured Jean Beliveau tonight and Beliveau himself said he didn't think he would be ready.

Colleges in One-Night Stand

ABC Tourny Interrupted

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Competition in the American Bowling Congress tournament will be interrupted briefly tonight while 20 bowlers representing 19 colleges and universities compete in the first national intercollegiate bowling tournament.

Competition will be limited to singles and doubles. The college bowlers won the right to appear here by winning regional tournaments sponsored by the Assn. of College Unions.

None of the collegians will be eligible for prize money. The ABC is donating trophies to all the champions and plaques to schools represented by the winners.

Two bowlers competing in their first ABC tourny gave the doubles division its first change in the top 10 standings yesterday since Barney Vehuge and Gib Fischbach of St. Louis took the lead March 30 with 1,377. Willburn Johnson and Duane Anderson of Austin, Minn., collaborated for a 1,308 series, tying for seventh and eighth place with Tony Lindemann and George Howard of Detroit. Johnson, who was celebrating his 47th birthday, set the pace with 688.

More Fans, Less Money in 1959 Cage Tourny

LANSING (UPI) — Charles C. Forsythe, state high school athletic director, today said March basketball tournaments drew about 1,300 more spectators than last year but receipts were down more than $2,000.

He said lower admission charges at some of the district and regional tournaments accounted for the drop in revenue.

About 512,900 fans paid $338,899 this year while in 1958 a total of 511,792 spectators spent $342,585 for admission.

"Though this was a record attendance, it would have probably been even greater if it had not been for bad storms on two tournament nights and a slight drop in interest at Detroit and Grand Rapids," Forsythe said.

He said the quarter-finals, semi-finals and finals attracted 78,045 fans in 1959 compared with 79,332 last year.

Quarter-finals are held at various places in the state while the semi-finals and finals are at Lansing and East Lansing. Forsythe said most of the drop during the last three rounds was in Grand Rapids and Detroit where team interest was slightly less than last year.

Participating schools will get $82,583 from money earned in the tournaments while host schools will share $92,317, Forsythe said.

He said the Michigan High School Athletic Association will get $125,683 from this year's receipts compared with $137,698 last year. The difference is accounted for by the fact that entertaining schools got a bigger share this year, he said.

The May 24-26 meeting of the MSHAA in St. Clair would probably refund some money to schools, he said.

"We refunded more than $30,000 to the schools last year and have had something left from the budget for the last six years," Forsythe said.

Bill (Moose) Showron, Yankee first baseman, hit .351 against the Chicago White Sox in 1958. He drove in 17 runs against the second place team.

Relays at OSU Set April 18th

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The finest track and field athletes in the midwest, nearly 600 strong, will gather at Ohio State University's football stadium April 18 for the 17th annual Ohio Relays.

Michigan's talent-laden Wolverines were expected to dominate the action, and they could take half the 16 events, although no team title is awarded.

Several olympic performers and top college stars are among the field of entries competing in the program, which includes the 3,000 meter steeplechase for the first time.

Only one thing mystifies Kunda. "I can understand their beating us in this series," he said. "They have a tremendous team. But how do you figure a team winning 21 in a row against another NBA team? Boston has the whammy on us and we can't seem to shake it. But we're not out of the playoffs yet."

Japanese Matmen Win at E. Lansing

EAST LANSING (AP)—Japan's touring wrestling team suffered four falls at the hands of a Michigan All-Star group last night but won their dual meet 5-4.

The Japanese victory, achieved before a crowd of 1,000 at Michigan State's intramural arenas, squared accounts for their 4-3 (plus two ties) defeat of the night before at Ypsilanti.

Kenji Shigeoki of the visitors tried an iron man stunt of wrestling twice, subbing for an injured teammate in one match. He was pinned both times, however, by Michigan State's heavyweights Ken Maidlow and John Baum.

The other Michigan falls were scored by lightweight Jim Sinadion and middleweight Jim Ferguson.

Mrs. Ernie Banks to Seek Separation

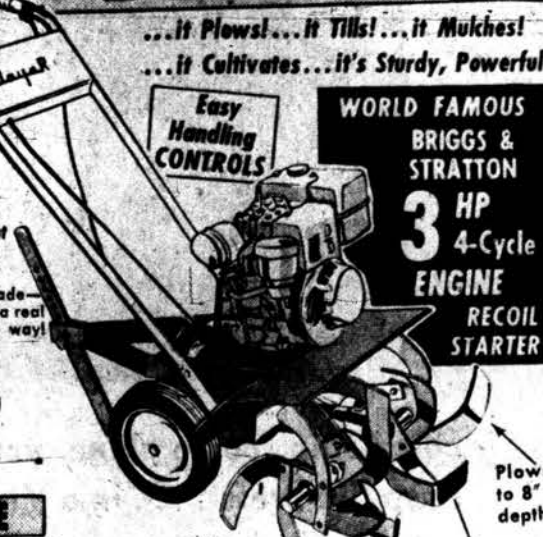

CHICAGO (AP)—The wife of Ernie Banks notified Superior Court Wednesday she intends to seek separate maintenance from the Chicago Cubs shortstop.

Attorney Matthew L. Salita filed the notice in behalf of Mrs. Louise Banks. On Jan. 21 Banks dropped his suit for divorce.

Greensboro Golf Tourney Starts

Snead, Wall Marked
Men in $15,000 Event at Forest CC

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Art Wall and Sam Snead were marked men today as the $15,000 Greensboro Open golf tournament got under way at Forest Country Club.

Wall went into the tournament on the crest of victories in his last two starts—the Azalea Open at Wilmington, N.C., and the classic Masters at Augusta, Ga.

Snead has won here six times since taking the first Greensboro tournament in 1938. In the last ten years he has finished lower than a third place tie only once.

Wall confessed to feeling a let-down the last two days after his tremendous Masters finish of last Sunday when he birdied five of the last six holes to win.

Mike Souchak, Doug Ford, Jay Hebert, Julius Boros, Ernie Vossler, Joe Campbell, Bill Casper and Billy Maxwell, all well up on the money list, are in the field. So are Bob Gosby, the defending champion, Dow Finsterwald and Lionel Hebert.

'Y' Swim Meet Starts

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Twenty-one teams representing 13 states began competition today in the Young Men's Christian Association swimming and diving championships.

Dayton, Ohio, is defending champion. Grand Rapids, Mich., is entered.

Grid Cards Add Back

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League Wednesday signed as a free agent Blake Tucker, half-back from Southern Methodist and Bowling Air Force Base. Tucker was in the Air Force for 30 months.

Babe Zaharias Open Lists Largest Field

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—A field of 32—the largest ever to compete in the $6,000 Babe Zaharias Open Tournament — moves out tomorrow in the opening round of the 54-hole golf meet.

Louise Suggs, the defending champion, heads the star-spangled array of women professionals playing in the seventh annual event. She will be the favorite but expects strong challenges from Marlene Bauer Hagge, Betsy Rawls, Mickey Wright and Ruthie Jessen.

Miss Suggs will be after her third championship. She and Mrs. Hagge each has won it twice and Mrs. Hagge was runner-up last year.

NEW YORK (AP)—After all the squabbling over a site and the TV contract only one technicality remains to be solved for the Floyd Patterson-Brian London heavyweight championship fight at Indianapolis May 1.

It's the small matter of getting Brian into the country from England.

Compared to the fuss kicked up over setting up the fight in the first place and then switching it from Las Vegas, Nev., to Indianapolis, the matter of getting London a visa looks to be no more than an overlooked formality.

Wins Split Decision

CHICAGO (AP)—Eddie Perkins of Chicago won a split 10 round decision from Los Angeles' Paulie Armstead last night in a spiritless bout of lightweights.

Miranda Suspended by Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP)—Shortstop Willie Miranda, the Latin American truant, was suspended indefinitely without pay today by the Baltimore Orioles.

The punishment was for Miranda's failure to come out of his Cuban hideaway until last week, 135 days after he was supposed to report for spring training in Miami.

By then, the Oriole management had slapped him with two $500 fines.

He will be returned to the payroll when Manager Paul Richards decides he is in playing condition.

Although Miranda's not on the payroll he counts on the Oriole roster.

It was pared yesterday to the maximum of 28 plus third baseman Brooks Robinson who does not count as a recent military serviceman, by putting pitcher George Zaverink on the disabled list.

Zaverink has a sore arm and will be out of action for at least 30 days.

While losing Zaverink, the Orioles regained Billy Loes, another pitcher with an ailing arm.

The Orioles agreed to take back Loes from Washington to whom he was traded a week ago for pitcher Vito Valentini.

Washington protested that Loes had come with a sore arm.

The Yankees got down to 28 plus two service returnees Wednesday by cutting eight players and adding one. Outfielder Gordie Windhorn was signed to the varsity joining newly added pitcher Jim Coates. Hurier John Gabler and Fritz Brickell, an infielder, were among those dropped. Hurier Mark Freeman said he would quit the game if sent to the minors after learning he would be left behind for assignment.

Last Cincinnati player to get the ax was pitcher Whammy Douglas. The Cubs promoted rookie flinger Joe Shaffernoth to the parent club.

NAACP Angry at Red Sox

BOSTON (AP)—The farming of infielder Pumpsie Green by the Boston Red Sox has brought strong protests from the local chapter of National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

NAACP chapter president Herbert E. Tucker Jr. protested the action last night in telegrams addressed to the leaders of the Boston city council and the Massachusetts Legislature.

The telegram called upon the city council and the Legislature "to vote against the granting of the use of or conveyance of any public land to the Boston Red Sox baseball organization." It apparently referred to a measure which would allow land near Fenway Park to be converted into a parking lot and ease one of the Red Sox' top problems.

Boston yesterday sent him back to Minneapolis of the American Assn. subject to 24-hour recall. He hit only .252 with the same club last season.

Baseball Time or Not Ski Areas Still Operating

BOYNE FALLS (UPI)—Good spring skiing was reported today by two ski areas in the Boyne Falls area, the only ski areas still operating in Western Michigan.

One area, Thunder Mountain, announced it will close after Sunday but the other area, Boyne Mountain, said it will continue operating as long as there is enough snow.

Boyne Mountain reported it has a 12-40 inch snow pack, good corn snow skiing and very few bare spots. Thunder Mountain has an 8-15 inch base and good corn snow skiing on four runs.

Hershey Beats Barons

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Hershey Bears came from behind three times Wednesday night and edged the Cleveland Barons 4-3 in the fifth game of their Calder Cup semifinal playoff series.

The victory gave the Bears a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series.

Adenauer Latest to Step Aside

Aged World Leaders Depart Arena

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Time, like a cop handing out traffic tickets, taps each man in turn for over-aging. One by one the aging men who have led the world these past 14 postwar years are being forced to make way for others.

Because they move off the main street of activity only one at a time, the change may hardly be noticed.

Latest to go, under the burden of years and responsibility, is 83-year old Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of West Germany. He decided this week to run for the less tiring and less important job of president.

As his influence diminishes — he tried to say Wednesday nothing will change — the attitude of West Germany toward East and West may undergo subtle shifts which the West, for sure, will watch carefully and with concern.

Only a few months ago John Foster Dulles at 71 was stricken a second time with cancer and may never return as secretary of state.

He is being missed for, even though he was fairly rigid, he operated with determination. President Eisenhower, 68, has less than two years left in the White House. Then he, too, must fade into the background. Even if he wanted it, and there is no sign he does, the Constitution forbids a third term.

It's about as certain as anything can be that the man who succeeds him in 1961 — Democrat or Republican — will be years younger and with ideas that cannot possibly be identical with Eisenhower's.

Sir Winston Churchill, now 84, for all practical purposes ended his career of leadership four years ago when, because of age and tiredness, he quit as British prime minister.

In no time at all his frustrated successor, Sir Anthony Eden, led Britain into an embarrassing and short-lived war against Egypt, an adventure that cost him his job.

Joseph Stalin died six years ago at 73. Soviet communism took a new direction, a shrewder one, after his death.

But that bubbling, bouncing ball of energy, Premier Nikita Khrushchev, was reported this week to have suffered a dizzy spell and to have been warned by his doctors to slow up. He is 65.

The world won't know whether to sigh with relief or shudder with misgivings if he steps aside, for no one can predict what violent turn Soviet communism may take then.

Then there's the remarkable president of the Republic of Korea, Syngman Rhee, who spent half a century fighting for Korean independence and is still fiery. But he is 84.

What happens in his republic, now linked to the United States but under pressure from Red China and Red Korea, when Rhee has moved offstage?

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is 71, a firm ally of this country. For that matter, he had better be a firm ally. Alone against Red China he would lose his skin. But with his death the Red Chinese will increase the pressure to induce his Nationalists on Formosa to join them.

In India, which is trying to go its own way, Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru still runs the show at 69, seems in good health, still probably stands on his head in the morning to relax.

He has been the guiding force of India, a foe of communism at home where the Communists have made some progress despite him. What the attitude of Indians toward communism will be when he wears out seems unpredictable.

There are no reported signs that Yugoslavia's strong man, Marshal Tito, is thinking of an easier life in retirement although he is almost 67. He has broken with the Soviet Union but he has enemies at home. Yugoslavia could well take a new direction, toward either the Soviet Union or the West, when Tito is gone.

France's Charles de Gaulle is 68. No sign of fatigue in him, yet. He saved his country from chaos when he took over. There is no assurance there won't be chaos when he goes.

Attrition Low at AF School

Academy to Graduate Only Two-Thirds of First Class

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI)—Only 207 of the 306 youths originally appointed to the first class of the Air Force Academy in 1955 will win diplomas this June at the Academy's first graduation exercise.

LA. Col. Virgil J. O'Connor, Academy registrar, said more than half of the cadets who had left resigned for personal reasons. Others, he said, were hardship cases, while some were asked to quit.

O'Connor said one out of every four cadets entering the Academy flunk out or resign. Despite the highly competitive method of selection which gives the Academy the "cream" of American youth, O'Connor said the attrition rate is nearly 27 per cent.

The drop-out rate at private and state colleges and universities runs from 35 to 50 per cent. O'Connor also points out that attrition rates at West Point and Annapolis are around the 30 per cent mark.

During the first three years of its operation, the Academy accepted 912 young men as cadets. A total of 228 dropped out. These figures do not include the present freshmen class.

O'Connor said he expects the drop-out rate at the Academy to increase slightly in years to come once the school has full-sized classes of 712 cadets entering each June.

O'Connor believes most of those who resign do so because they lack motivation for a military career. He points out that usually only a fraction of the resignations stem from academic troubles. Others decide to go into other fields, quit because of physical failures, or get married.

Ohio National Guard May Use Grayling

LANSING — Barring objections by legislators or other hitches, the Ohio National Guard will train at Camp Grayling, Mich. next year.

The announcement was made by Gov. Williams yesterday after a discussion on arrangements with State of Ohio and National Guard officials of the two states.

Williams was in Columbus, Ohio, Tuesday for a conference on the question with Ohio Gov. Make Di Salle, newly elected Democrat.

Williams also said that Di Salle agreed with him that Ohio should take a more active part with other Great Lakes states in resisting an Illinois plan to permit increased water diversion at Chicago.

Marriage is a funny thing. It's hard to talk some women into it, and just as hard to talk some women out of it. . . . The earth's surface is three-fourths water, one-fourth land. It's clear that man was intended to spend three times as much time fishing as plowing.

OHIO NATIONAL GUARD MAY USE GRAYLING

Academy to Graduate Only Two-Thirds of First Class

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI)—Only 207 of the 306 youths originally appointed to the first class of the Air Force Academy in 1955 will win diplomas this June at the Academy's first graduation exercise.

LA. Col. Virgil J. O'Connor, Academy registrar, said more than half of the cadets who had left resigned for personal reasons. Others, he said, were hardship cases, while some were asked to quit.

O'Connor said one out of every four cadets entering the Academy flunk out or resign. Despite the highly competitive method of selection which gives the Academy the "cream" of American youth, O'Connor said the attrition rate is nearly 27 per cent.

The drop-out rate at private and state colleges and universities runs from 35 to 50 per cent. O'Connor also points out that attrition rates at West Point and Annapolis are around the 30 per cent mark.

During the first three years of its operation, the Academy accepted 912 young men as cadets. A total of 228 dropped out. These figures do not include the present freshmen class.

O'Connor said he expects the drop-out rate at the Academy to increase slightly in years to come once the school has full-sized classes of 712 cadets entering each June.

O'Connor believes most of those who resign do so because they lack motivation for a military career. He points out that usually only a fraction of the resignations stem from academic troubles. Others decide to go into other fields, quit because of physical failures, or get married.

LANSING — Barring objections by legislators or other hitches, the Ohio National Guard will train at Camp Grayling, Mich. next year.

The announcement was made by Gov. Williams yesterday after a discussion on arrangements with State of Ohio and National Guard officials of the two states.

Singer Finally Breaks Psychoanalysis Barrier

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Anita Ellis, who dubbed songs for Rita Hayworth but couldn't sing for herself under her own name, has finally graduated from psychoanalysis — "magna cum couch."

As "standby" for both Pat Suzuki and Annabella Heng in "Flower Drum Song," Anita went on three times for Pat one weekend recently, then did the completely different role of Miss Hong's when she got ill, then returned to Miss Suzuki's role when she once more got lazingitis.

"I even stopped the show!" Anita boldly admitted, "When I sang 'I Enjoy Being a Girl.'"

"Oh, not like Pat does. Oh boy, does she stop it! But I never thought I would."

Anita, daughter of a rich Californian who is state bowling champion, dubbed "Gilda" for Miss Hayworth 12 years ago.

For three years he went to an analyst ("lots of people go for 10 or 15 years") who figured out that her father hated her mother's singing, because he loved her; thus if people let her sing, she was unloved. Clear, isn't it?

"If you don't get up there on the floor and sing, I'll quit analyzing you," her analyst threatened her when she was at the Blue Angel.

Why, she even had an understudy for herself — for the "Fantan Fanny" number which Richard Rodgers wrote for her to give her confidence. And as Anita said upon completing her description of how everybody looked out there, "Now I'm going to call my analyst and tell him I want my diploma."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Tickets to the Patterson-Johansson fight'll be sold via American Express credit cards... Actor Lionel Stander returned from the Dominican Republic after a six-week hassle with a hotel about the size of his bill... Linda Christian's new beau is Ed Hand, estranged husband of tennis star Gussie (Lace Pants) Moran... Singer Tommy Sands'll get $150,000 for two weeks in Australia next year.

EARL'S PEARLS: It's easy to make money nowadays; what's tough is to make a living.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: If New York City becomes a separate state, the new flag'll probably carry 50 stars and a No Parking sign.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Conscience is that small, inner voice that tells you an Internal Revenue agent might check your returns... That's earl, brother. (Copyright, 1959)

'Trouble-in-Law' Brings Gertrude Cordial Schmaltz

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI)—The comedy writer's meal ticket, the kibitzing mother-in-law, underwent slight alterations last night to provide Gertrude Berg with a cordially schmaltzy vehicle on CBS-TV's U.S. Steel Hour.

"Trouble-in-Law," a play by Danny Simon, formerly a Sid Caesar writer, dealt with a mama who made a pest of herself by constantly bugging daughter and son-in-law about the care and feeding of the new baby.

Mama gets chased away and takes a job in a department store, where she becomes an expert on infantwear as well as the store's best customer in passing. She also learns that she must butt out of daughter's life a little.

Mrs. Berg, of course, has this sort of character down pat since she has been playing it for years. Betsy von Furstenberg gave the part of the daughter a game try. Al Lewis, as Mrs. Berg's husband, worked hard to keep up with her. My pet in the play was John McGiver. Looking and sounding like an angry goldfish, McGiver was delightfully nasal and confused as the store owner.

SHORT SHOTS: Milton Berle, on NBC-TV, cashed in on the shortcomings of Monday's Academy Award show with his opening monolog last night.

He used the "One more, Lionel, one more" line as he asked the band to repeat "There's No Business Like Show Business."

Later, Miltie and Janis Paige had some fun with TV commercials. Sample line: "Do what four out of five New York doctors do: go to medical school."

For a few moments, I thought I get something to eat."

Reds Possibly Trying to Take Over Iraq by Unhidden Force

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
A Communist attempt to seize control of Iraq by naked force has become a distinct possibility.

If that happens, something in the nature of another Korea also is possible.

The threat of a Communist coup in Baghdad becomes more real with persistent reports of an infusion of armed Kurds from the Soviet Union, plus an Iraqi decision to arm civilian units known as the "People's Resistance."

Because Iraq has no borders with any Communist-ruled country, a forcible Red seizure of its government would be a departure from past practice. Up to now, armed communism has not leaped over land barriers. But the elements for such a leap are present. Also present are the makings of a situation not unlike that in Korea nine years ago.

Troops of Gamal Abdel Nasser's Arab Republic, according to Turkish reports, already have taken up positions in northern Syria near the Iraqi frontier. Shammar tribesmen, who supported the recent pro-Nasser revolt in north Iraq and as a result had to flee the country, are reported massed in an area roughly 50 miles from the Iraqi border.

The fierce cold war between Nasser's U.A.R. and the Iraqi regime of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem could easily turn into a hot war, even a Moslem "jihad," or holy war.

A military clash could be a prelude to an attempt by pro-Nasser forces to install a rival government in Iraq.

The spark for the clash also could be a Communist takeover in Baghdad. The tools for the take-over could be a nucleus of tough, heavily armed Kurds from the U.S.S.R. and the street militia made up of what the Arabs call the Muqawamah al Sha'biyah, or popular resistance. Such organizations exist in other Arab states, notably Syria, but Syria up to now has not trusted this potentially violent mob with live ammunition.

Ostensibly the organization is supposed to train for guerrilla warfare in the event the country is threatened from outside. Actually it is a handy weapon of political control through intimidation.

SEATTLE (AP) — A resolution criticizing the United States' stand on Berlin and Germany was passed unanimously Wednesday by delegates to the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union convention.

The resolution was approved after Harry Bridges, ILWU president, told delegates the press is "putting out phony information and lies" about the Berlin situation.

"The Soviet is willing to pull out," Bridges said. "They want to give Germany back to the Germans."

The convention also passed unanimously a resolution favoring trade with Communist China.

Freighter, Rail Barge Collide in East River

NEW YORK (AP)—A Japanese freighter and a railroad barge collided Wednesday night in the East River. There were no injuries.

The accident tore a 10-foot gash in the port bow of the freighter, the 12,160-ton Shimane Maru. The vessel proceeded to Brooklyn under its own power.

The barge, owned by the New Haven Railroad, carried two freight cars. The damaged barge was towed to Brooklyn.

PARIS IN SPRING — Two people in love have a special way of embracing. In Paris, young lovers choose a romantic spot along the Seine River with the famous Notre Dame cathedral as the only witness, aside from the cameraman.

Lack of Privacy, Rumors Vexing Ingrid Bergman

NEW YORK — Actress Ingrid Bergman came to New York yesterday, showing over new friendliness shown her in this country but vexed by the difficulties of trying to keep her private life private.

Reporters and photographers met her at Idlewild Airport upon her arrival from Los Angeles with her third husband, Lars Schmidt, and her daughter by her first husband, Jenny Ann Lindstrom.

Miss Bergman greeted the newsmen with a smile but this all but faded away when she was asked about reports she was expecting another child.

"I don't think it is any of your business," she said.

Asked how she reacted to the way people have treated her private life, she said:

"I think it has been terrible. I think my private life hasn't been private at all."

She said she was pleased by the welcome she received this week in Hollywood, where she attended award ceremonies of the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Miss Bergman plans a week's visit here before she returns to Paris.

Teachers Fingerprinted to Protect Students

BARTOW, Fla. (AP)—All teachers and employees of the Polk County school system will be fingerprinted "as a means of protecting students."

The school board ordered the fingerprinting Wednesday at the request of Supt. Claude Harden. The order applies to 2,600 persons, including Harden and board members.

Harden told the board he has read about recent criminal acts and moral offenses involving school personnel and pupils elsewhere and doesn't want it to happen in Polk.

Disney Buys Site of California's First Gold Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The site of California's first recorded gold strike has been purchased by Walt Disney, a fellow who has struck a little gold in these parts himself.

Disney Productions announced Wednesday it has acquired the historic Golden Oak Ranch for $300,000. The studio said this was believed to be more money than was realized from all the gold found there after the strike in 1842.

Disney will use the site as a movie location and a ranch for polo ponies and thoroughbreds.

The Brazilian State of Pernambuco passed the 4,000,000 population mark last July, making it the fifth Brazilian state to exceed that level.

Direct Breathing Found Best Aid to Resuscitation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Your best chance for saving an apparent drowning victim's life is to breathe for him.

You can do this by blowing air through his nose or mouth.

Deep breaths blown from your lungs into his fill him at once with the oxygen needed to sustain life.

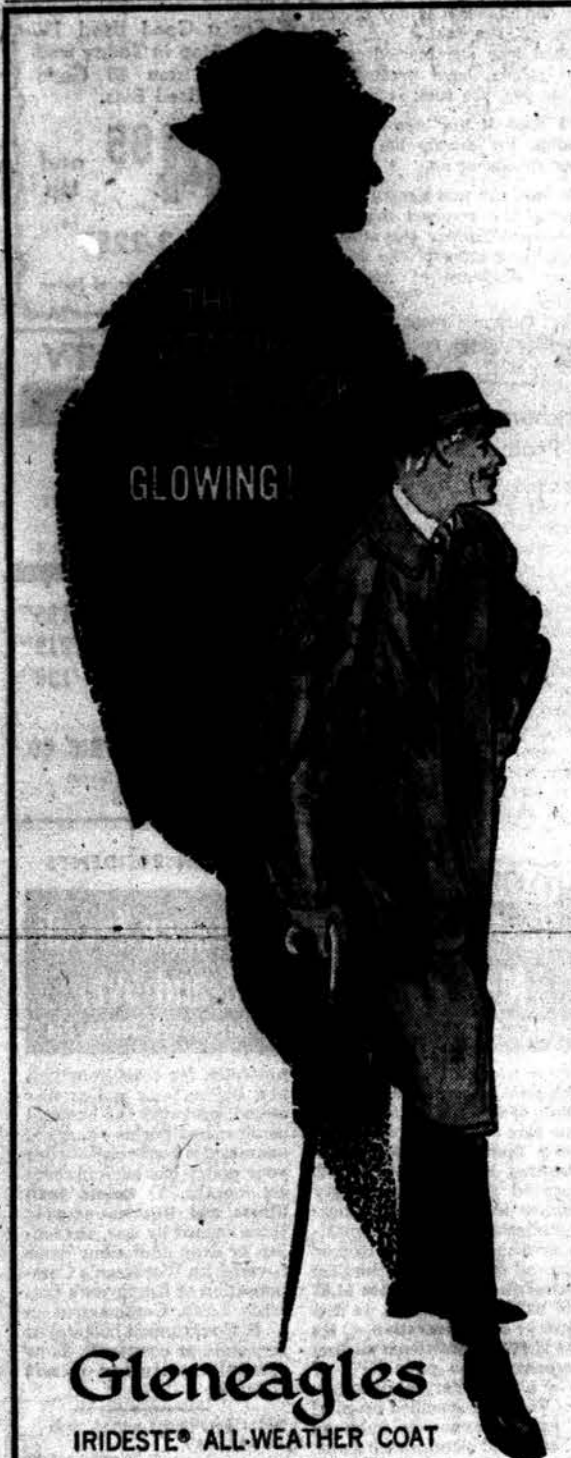

Doctors attending the American Academy of General Practice convention are being instructed in the simple and efficient rescue breathing method, called expired air resuscitation.

The technique was conceived, developed, and tested by Dr. James O. Elam, anesthesiologist at Roswell Park Memorial Institute at Buffalo, N.Y., and Dr. Peter Safar of Baltimore City Hospital.

An institute booth at the convention displays test record evidence that mouth-to-nose or mouth-to-mouth rescue breathing delivers 10 to 15 times more oxygen than long-accepted artificial respiration.

Dr. Elam made comparative studies on test patients put into unconsciousness with anesthetic drugs. The studies showed that artificial respiration failed to put adequate oxygen in the patient's lungs, reported Dr. Harry L. Lowe of Roswell Park.
