No 'Purge' for Malenkov

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev is trying to persuade the people of Russia that the day of the Stalinist blood purge is ended.

That is the significance attached here to the astonishing exile from Moscow ordered for former Premier Georgi Malenkov after his removal from political power.

Ever since the July 3 announcement of the big political purge of Khrushchev's enemies, U.S. officials have been waiting eagerly to find out what the ultimate fate of the purge victims would be.

Moscow radio gave the first of what may be a series of answers last night with the announcement that Malenkov has been appointed manager of a hydroelectric power station in East Kazakhstan.

This is a terrific comedown for a man who personally served dictator Joseph Stalin at the height of his power and who himself was premier for a time after Stalin's death.

COULD BE WORSE

Yet against the background of the decades of terror which characterized Stalin's rule—years in which removal from office was for a political leader almost the equivalent of a death sentence—Malenkov's fate falls far short of what it might have been.

Khrushchev today in Prague labeled President Eisenhower's talk about a clean H-bomb "a stupid thing."

"President Eisenhower is a talented man of great principles," said Khrushchev. "But look at what a stupid thing he says when he says there is a clean hydrogen bomb."

"How can you have a clean bomb to do dirty things? It means the destruction of children and women. What a contradiction. They call dirty things clean."

20 Million Paid Homage

Glamorous Aga Khan, 79, Dies of Weakened Heart

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—The Aga Khan III, a wealthy potentate to whom 20 million Ismaili Moslems paid spiritual homage, died today. He was 79.

A glamorous figure on the international scene for many years, the Aga Khan succumbed to a sudden weakening of the heart during the night. He had been suffering from heart disease since 1952.

He was known as a sportsman with an ardent interest in race horses, a devotee of luxurious living, and a man with an eye for a beautiful woman. But he was also interested in affairs of state—and once served as president of the League of Nations.

He once expressed his love of material pleasures in these words: "Have fun, it's later than you think."

But of his devotion to his Moslem faith: "Each Friday, like every good Moslem, I spend an hour in meditation and prayer. That is my most beautiful hour."

Prince Aly Khan, 46, has generally been regarded as the heir apparent, but some doubt recently was expressed as to whether he or Prince Sadruddin, 24, the Aga's Harvard-educated younger son, would be named. The Aga was said to have been disturbed about Aly's playboy activities. Aly is the former husband of Hollywood actress Rita Hayworth.

FATHER IS RIGHT

"Father is right in not discussing who will inherit his title," Sadruddin told an interviewer recently. "It would only cause unhappiness in the family. The question of succession has never been discussed by any of us among the family."

Present at the bedside when death came was the Aga Khan's wife—his fourth—and both sons. Sadruddin is planning to marry Nina Dwyer, a London model. The wedding had been set for Monday.

The Aga Khan was flown to Geneva from London.

Kiss-and-Run Could Replace Rock-and-Roll

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (INS)—A young kiss-and-run Casanova is creating romantic havoc among the women of Somerville.

Twice today the 20-year-old youth kissed women he didn't know and ran away.

His strategy is simple. He waits at bus stops—today at Walnut St. and Highland Ave., just as a likely looking lady is about to board the vehicle, he kisses her soundly and flits off. It could replace rock-and-roll.

Accident Ends Fishing Outing; Trucker Injured

Truck Driver Says Car 'Veered Across Road' in U.S. 16 Crash

Three Detroit area teenage boys were killed early this morning on U.S. 16 while driving toward Kensington Park to fish.

Killed when their car collided with a dump truck a mile west of Novi were: George Orely, 16, of 3658 High St., Ecorse, the car owner and apparently the driver;

William R. Thomas, 17, of 10633 Baraga St., Taylor Township, and Norman L. Tackett, 16, of 15½ E. Anchor St., River Rouge.

The truck driver, Stanley W. Duncan, 29, of 8630 U.S. 23, Brighton, was listed in satisfactory condition in Northville Sessions Hospital. He suffered cuts and bruises, mainly on the chest.

The accident happened shortly before 6 a.m. just west of Napier road and five miles from the Park Brighton State Police said.

CAR VEERED

The youths' westbound car apparently veered sideways across the road into the path of the oncoming truck, police said. The car was smashed beneath the front end of the truck, but the three victims—the only persons in the car—were thrown out onto the pavement.

All three were dead when police arrived.

Police had to pry open the door on Duncan's truck in order to free him. He emerged bleeding and in a state of shock, they said, but able to walk away from the wreckage.

Duncan said the youths' automobile had seemed "to float" into the center lane of the three-lane highway.

Then it pulled back into the right-hand lane he said, only to swing suddenly sideways towards him at the last moment.

MAY HAVE SKIDDED

Police theorized the car may have been skidding on the wet pavement caused by this morning's rain.

Orely's father told them the three boys had planned a day's fishing at Kent Lake in the park.

The bodies were taken from the scene to Heeney Funeral Home in Farmington.

Waterford Boy Drowns in Rain-Filled 'Dry' Well

Four feet of muddy rainwater in a dry well behind his Waterford Township home was cited as the cause for the drowning of a three-year-old boy yesterday afternoon.

The submerged body of Bruce Slade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Slade, of 4104 Wenonah Dr., Waterford Township, was pulled out of the well by his 11-year-old brother Gregory, according to Oakland County Deputy Sheriff J. Keith Breckenridge.

The child was last seen by a neighbor, Mrs. Grace Lukes, of 4088 Wenonah Dr., playing in the Slade yard about one half hour before his body was discovered.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital at 2:18 p.m.

BROTHER SEARCHED

Gregory told sheriff's deputies he and his friend Dean Ward, 11, of 1354 Hendricks St., found the lifeless body after they returned from a swim at Cass Lake.

They first searched for the child around the neighborhood when Mrs. Slade asked them to find the child.

Just a few hours before the tragedy, the 12-foot well had been partially filled with gravel. It was approximately 25 feet long and 15 feet wide according to Breckenridge.

Bruce was one of five children including Gregory, Edward, Paul and Sarah.

New Rain Pelts State, Causing Heavy Crop Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New rains pelted Southeastern Michigan today in the wake of a storm Monday that left crop damage estimated at $1,000,000 in Saginaw County alone.

The hard-hit Saginaw area reported 1.3 of an inch of rain fell overnight. It was measured at 2.5 inches in Chesaning, south of Saginaw.

Ray E. Vasold, assistant agricultural agent for Saginaw County, said thousands of acres were still under water, mostly in the Shiawassee flats area south of Saginaw. He said most of the damage was to the navy bean crop.

Detroit's rainfall was measured at 1.6 inches at the city airport but there were no new reports of serious flooding. The metropolitan area was reported well dried out from Monday's soaking storm.

The weather outlook for this area tonight is partly cloudy and warmer with a low near 65 degrees. No rain is forecast.

Light variable winds will become southeasterly at 8 to 12 miles an hour tonight.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and warmer with a high of 64 to 68 degrees. Scattered thundershowers are due again tomorrow night with the low averaging 64 to 68.

The outlook for Saturday is a little warmer with generally fair weather.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 60. At 2 p.m. the mercury read 68.

Sentenced for Killing

No Constitution Barrier Found to Block Action

Japanese Hail Decision; Administration Wins Major Victory

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld 8-0 the U.S. government's decision to turn over GI William S. Girard to Japan for trial in the killing of a Japanese woman.

The court, in an unsigned opinion, ruled:

1. Delivery of Girard is not prohibited by the Constitution; and
2. In the absence of a constitutional bar, the judgment of the executive department should be upheld.

Girard is to be turned over to the Japanese under a status-of-forces agreement, similar to pacts the United States has with some 50 friendly nations.

The Supreme Court held that in the absence of a constitutional violation the "wisdom of the arrangement is exclusively for the determination of the executive and legislative branches of government."

And, the court said: "We find no constitutional or statutory bar."

Japanese Judge Speaks

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese judge who will try U.S. Army Specialist William S. Girard for manslaughter said today "I am going to give Girard as fair and fast a trial as possible."

Chief Justice Warren read the opinion for the court in a specially called session.

The case had been under consideration by the justices since Monday when they held another special session to hear four hours of arguments on it.

Justice Douglas did not participate. He had left on vacation before the court agreed to pass on an order by U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy barring Girard's delivery to the Japanese for trial.

Japanese Ambassador Norihiro Aoki was quick to hail the decision as "good news."

Dayton M. Harrington, Washington attorney, was the only lawyer connected with the Girard appeal who was present for today's session.

MANY LAWYERS PRESENT
Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin and a battery of government lawyers were present in the court room.

The decision was a major victory for the administration, which has contended that refusal to turn Girard over to the Japanese would be a grave threat to America's security.

The administration argument was that if the agreement under which American overseas may be tried by foreign courts for off-duty acts were canceled, U.S. forces would have to come home.

The decision was a setback for forces in Congress which contend the U.S. Constitution goes with GIs overseas and they must have its full protection.

Girard is accused of the Japanese equivalent of a manslaughter in the death of a woman on a firing range.

Artillery Reserve Off for Camp

READY TO GO—Members of the 579th Field Artillery Battalion, U. S. Army Reserve, will leave Pontiac Sunday for summer training at Camp McCoy in Wisconsin. There will be 21 officers and 41 enlisted men who will make the trip.

The unit will fire the 105 Howitzers, have small arms practice and field exercises and gun position routine while at camp. Advance detachment left today ahead of the main group of men.

Act Fast for Theater Trip

The formula 24 plus 29 equals HURRY is a concoction mighty confusing, yet to the point.

It means simply: There are just 24 more reservations remaining for this fall's Pontiac Press New York theater trip, and 29 more days in which to get yours in.

Aug. 8 is the deadline to get on board for the Sept. 9-14 "Flight to Fun" which will include five top-notch plays currently lighting up Broadway.

If you want to join the gang, turn to Page 10 of today's Press and clip and fill out the coupon. It, along with a check for $182, will put your name among the theatergoers.

Sprinkled in with the plays will be an after-the-show party at Leone's restaurant (attended by several stars of the plays), a visit to the United Nations Building, a conducted tour around Manhattan Island and a glimpse of the Mayflower II.

School Board May Decide Fate Tonight

415 Students Face Loss of Bus Rides

By MAX E. SIMON

The familiar honk of school buses may no longer sound for 415 children who live outside Pontiac but attend city elementary schools.

Instead, these children face the possibility of having to get to school by means of public transportation, rides from parents or on foot.

BOARD WILL DECIDE

It is up to the Pontiac Board of Education to decide whether they are to be provided school bus transportation. The issue will be discussed at the board meeting tonight according to Otto C. Hufziger, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of bus.

In the past, the State Legislature subsidized the Pontiac School District for transporting children into the city who lived more than a mile away from school.

But now, Hufziger said, the legislature will subsidize transportation only for students living a mile and a half from school. Of the 1,657 children whose transportation was subsidized by the legislature, 415 of them live in the half mile area now exempted from subsidy.

If the students are to be transported by school buses, the cost, approximately $10,000, will fall entirely on the shoulders of the Pontiac School District.

The majority of the students who would be affected by loss of transportation attend three schools—195 from Pontiac Township go to the Malkin School; 32 from Pontiac Twp. are in Willis school, and 156 from West Bloomfield Twp. are students at Whitfield.

Meanwhile, the Board is faced with many queries from parents as to why their children are shifted by bus to schools which are not the closest to their homes.

According to Hufziger, the movement of students in the city is necessary to relieve overcrowding in various elementary schools.

Each year, he explained, 600-700 more children enter the 23 elementary schools in the Pontiac system.

"If we attempted to place students in the schools closest to their homes and keep the number of students in a room down to 30, we would have to build a room onto each school yearly, which is economically unfeasible," he asserted.

"What we are trying to do is build complete additions to certain schools and then move students from crowded areas there until we are able to build new wings on other schools," he said.

The School District operates 17 school buses, one orthopedic bus, and one station wagon for orthopedic students.

Board to Talk About Building

Bus Problem Also Set for Discussion Tonight at Meeting

Consideration of the building program and its architect will occupy the Pontiac Board of Education at its meeting tonight.

BUS PROBLEM

Whether 415 students who attend the city's schools but live outside Pontiac will receive school bus rides must also be decided by the board. In the past, the State Legislature has subsidized transportation for students outside the city who lived a mile from school. However, the state in the future will subsidize school bus transportation only for students who live at least a mile and a half away. The board will also award contracts for lockers at the new senior high school.

Discussion of the responsibilities of the assistant superintendent of schools and his position in the administrative structure of the school system will also be taken up by the board as a preliminary move to naming a successor to J. Cecil Cox, assistant superintendent in charge of personnel.

Cox has announced his intention of leaving his post as soon as he has hired the necessary teachers for the coming school year or by Sept. 1, whichever is sooner.

The junior high school football program for next year will also be discussed at the meeting.

Circuit Court Hearing on Fatal Shooting Set

Willie Thomas accused of second degree murder when he allegedly shot and killed a man May 11 during an argument, was bound over to Circuit Court yesterday.

Thomas, 34, of 22 Beaudette St., waived the examination set for yesterday before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum. He is released on a $750 bond until arraignment in the higher court Monday. The shooting victim was Austin O'Dell, 41, of the same address. A .32 caliber revolver was the weapon used to shoot O'Dell in the neck and stomach at the Beaudette street house, local police report.

Hospital Gets $5,000 Grant for Memorial

A gift of $5,000 has been given to Pontiac General Hospital in memory of the late Jacob Kovinsky, well-known Pontiac business leader who died last year.

The money was donated by Kovinsky's three daughters, Mrs. Marian K. Jacobs, 1085 James K Blvd., Mrs. Lillian K. Brenner, of the same address, and Mrs. Esther K. Goldberg, of 1079 James K Blvd.

The gift was designated for equipping part of the new hospital wing, Warren W. Simonds, acting director, said.

"It is sufficient to equip either five two-bed rooms, one delivery room, or an emergency fracture room," he said.

The donors will designate their choice, and a memorial plaque will be placed there in tribute to Kovinsky.

was shot in the back last Jan. 26 on a firing range used by both U. S. and Japanese soldiers. Japanese civilians in the area salvaged scrap metal and were allowed to farm on parts of the range when it was not in use.

Japanese authorities charged that Girard enticed the woman to come forward and that he shot her with an empty cartridge case fired from the grenade launcher of his rifle.

Girard denied enticement and contended the shooting was an accident.

A sworn statement by Robert Dechert, general counsel for the Defense Department, entitled "Affidavit with respect to Facts," figured in the proceedings in both the U. S. District and Supreme Courts.

It included a statement by Specialist C.C. Victor M. Nickel, Girard's companion on guard duty at the time of the incident. In the hearing before Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy, in U. S. District Court here, U. S. Atty. Oliver Gasch handed the paper to the judge with the suggestion that it be sealed and not made a part of the public record. Gasch suggested this on the ground the statement would be prejudicial to Girard in a trial, whether before a Japanese court or in an Army court-martial.

Supreme Court justices gave much attention to the matter of inducement in their questions to opposing attorneys.

Rep. Burleson (D-Tex) said recently that a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee had been informed that Girard "coaxed" Mrs. Sakai to approach. Nevertheless, Burleson said, the soldier was on official duty and should be tried by U. S. court-martial.

The decision to turn Girard over to Japan, and McGarraghy's order blocking this, set off an international furor.

It led to congressional demands for renegotiation or revocation of status-of-forces agreements with some 50 friendly nations. Those are the pacts which permit foreign trials for American soldiers for acts outside of duty.

President Eisenhower was reported to have said the move to send foreign trials of American soldiers "would be a threat to the United States and to the free world."

The administration argument in that regard is that American forces overseas everywhere would have to be pulled back if the agreements were canceled.

A resolution was introduced by Rep. Bow (R-Ohio) aimed at revising the system for such trials.

In cases involving violation of both military law and Japanese law, there is concurrent jurisdiction in the United States and Japan. Depending on the particular case, one country or the other has primary jurisdiction. There is a provision, however, that the country with primary jurisdiction will give sympathetic consideration to a request of the other country that it waive its jurisdiction.

Rules Group to Get Aid Bill

House Group Also Must Act on Measure to End Foreign Trials for GIs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's foreign aid bill goes today before the House Rules Committee, which has yet to act on a move to end foreign trials of GIs.

In advance of the hearing, Chairman Gordon (D-Ill) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee took issue with the reported Democratic leadership decision to stall a disputed bill by Rep. Bow (R-Ohio). The bill seeks to do away with trials of U. S. servicemen in the courts of countries in which they are stationed.

"I want to get it out" for a House vote, Gordon said of the Bow bill. "It's been foot-dragging around here quite some time."

But Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), an opponent of the bill, said in a separate interview he now believes it likely that the rules group will clear the foreign aid bill without acting first, if at all, on Bow's measure.

That could set up the foreign aid bill as the center of a House fight over whether to end foreign trials of GIs.

Rarely have two major foreign affairs bills converged on the Rules Committee at the same time and with such entangling effects on each other.

Eisenhower says his foreign aid bill is a vital link in America's security system. The Bow resolution, the administration says, could break up that security system by forcing withdrawal of U. S. troops from other countries.

Stabilizing Mideast Key in Pakistan Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Suhrawardy of Pakistan hold a second round of talks today keyed to stabilizing the Middle East in the face of any new Communist peace offensive.

The 64-year-old Asian leader of the largest Moslem republic in the world sees Pakistan as a leading force in promoting Moslem unity against Communist "peace" blandishments.

In an exchange of toasts with Secretary of State Dulles at a state dinner last night, he denounced communism as bringing "utter poverty, chaos and loss of soul" to any country which embraced it.

Dulles said that although Pakistan and the United States were half a world apart, the two were united by a common danger and a common purpose.

Man Sought by FBI Held for Bad Checks

A 31-year-old man, wanted by the Detroit office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is in the Oakland County Jail today awaiting local prosecution first for bogus check charges.

Jerry McDonald, of 27 Myrtle St., Detroit, demanded examination yesterday before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan and failed to furnish a $1,000 bond. Examination was set for July 17.

He was arrested at his home yesterday morning by Detective Robert A. Emery, on a warrant accusing him of cashing two checks in local stores, totaling $85, without having an account.

Emery said McDonald is wanted by FBI agents Joseph Phillips and James Shanahan for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution of raping a 15-year-old Hazel Park girl.

Golf Ball Hunters Jailed

DETROIT (AP) — Accused of trespassing on the Redford Golf Course to search for golf balls, a father and son were sentenced to 10 days in jail and placed on a year's probation. Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis sentenced John Devesee, 60, and his son, Thomas, 24. Police said the two had 20 golf balls when they were arrested July 7.

The Day in Birmingham

Prepare Building Code Amendment on Drainage

BIRMINGHAM (AP) — A suggested amendment to Birmingham's building code prepared by Richard Adams, city attorney, is phrased to remedy drainage situations wherein one property owner inconveniences or endangers nearby residences.

Section on drainage reads: "Every yard, court or drive shall be properly and adequately drained. Dry wells, tiles or other drainage facilities shall be installed for a lack of same or an unreasonable amount of storm water might be diverted to the abutting properties."

"The drainage system containing storm water from roofs, paved areas and courts except private garages at the rear of lots shall be connected to a sewer or other approved disposal terminal. All sub-surface drains shall be connected to the drainage or plumbing system of the building."

"All roof drains shall have approved strainers except when draining from hanging gutters. Catch basins and interceptors may be required by the building official when corrosive liquids, grease, abrasive substances, or chemicals liable to injure the drains, are involved."

This action is a direct result of complaints filed by Dr. and Mrs. Carleton Fox. Dr. and Mrs. Fox with other neighbors, have protested the storm waters flow across their yards from a building now under construction. They and other neighbors have reported property damage and considerable inconvenience from this.

City Manager Harold K. Schone has been authorized to seek bids at a minimum of $57.50 per front foot for the lots formerly occupied by the Derby Well site. Now without zoning, the area will be designated for single family use before sales are completed.

Group Votes to Pay Romeos' Legal Fees

The Pontiac Police Officer's Association last night voted to pay all legal expenses of ex-patrolman Louis Romeo, discharged Tuesday by the Police and Fire Civil Service Commission for insubordination.

The group voted to pay the fees of attorney Paul L. Merideth for the past hearings and also fees for a possible appeal to Circuit Court.

Taking action in the regular monthly meeting, the association voted to assess the 90 some members for additional revenue, if the fees depleted the treasury.

The decision was seen as a protest of the commission verdict. Herbert C. Cooley, president of the association, said he believed "No fair-minded person could have found him guilty with the evidence and testimony presented."

The association also voted to allow Romeos to maintain his membership pending the outcome of the Circuit Court appeal.

Detroit Man Jailed to Await Examination

A 29-year-old Detroit man is in the Oakland County Jail today awaiting examination August 13 on the charge of assault with intent to murder.

Phillip Nowland, of 1251 Glynn Ct., was ordered committed to jail by West Bloomfield Justice Elmer C. Dieferle after he failed to furnish a $25,000 bond. He demanded examination yesterday when arraigned.

Nowland was arrested by Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies Sunday. He allegedly threatened the lives of three people with a .22 caliber revolver at the home of Richard McNary, of 7325 Locklin St., Waterford Township.

which struck Kirk-in-the-Hills Presbyterian Church, June 13. Workmen said the entire roof must be removed before actual repairs can be started.

They expect to find considerable damage so far unnoted. Steel girders, supporting the roof, buckled under the intense heat and some of the huge stone buttresses will have to be repaired.

This will necessitate peeling down part of the outer surface and replacing damaged sections.

Elaborately carved oak beams have been damaged and will present one of the largest items in the repair. The Rev. Harold DeWitt said it would be probably a year and a half or two years before the main edifice will be ready for use. It is estimated that it will be at least six months before the congregation can make use of the undercroft.

Almost Sat on Jury

ODESSA, Tex. (U. S. — Thomas Coleman Sosa drew juror's pay for appearing at his own trial. He was called on the list of veniremen from which a jury was selected to try him on a charge of driving while intoxicated. The case was dismissed after two witnesses refused to testify. Bolivia's unit of currency is called the boliviano.

Our Earth's Atmosphere Is Keeping Us Alive

WASHINGTON — Earth's atmosphere serves as a storm window that absorbs the killing rays of the sun, says National Geographic Magazine. Without atmospheric pressure — about 15 tons per person — blood would literally boil in the veins. If survival were possible, men would have no voices, for the voice is air set in motion by vocal cords and heard when the waves beat on eardrums.

Ship Elevators Largest

WASHINGTON — The Navy's new supercarrier Kitty Hawk will have the largest elevators in the world—big enough to carry 2,000 people. The elevators are designed to feed 40-ton bombers to the flight deck at the rate of one a minute.

Junior Editors Quiz on FAMOUS SAYINGS

QUESTION: Why do we say someone is "fighting windmills?"

ANSWER: When a person fights a silly battle against an imaginary enemy, we say he is "fighting windmills." We get the expression from a famous Spanish novel about Don Quixote.

Don Quixote believed he was a great and valiant knight. He was really just a poor old man. But he set out one day on his old broken-down horse, dressed in a suit of armor that had belonged to his great-grandfather. He was looking for adventure.

Towards evening, he saw more than thirty windmills in a distant field. He was delighted. Here, he thought, are more than thirty huge giants to be conquered. So he aimed his lance and spurred his horse and charged the first windmill. The lance caught the sail of the windmill and was broken. Don Quixote was thrown from his horse.

This only made Don Quixote more sure that these were giants, disguised by a magician to look like windmills. So he picked himself up, got back on his horse and rode on to further adventure, sure that someday he would conquer them.

FOR YOU TO DO: When you go for a ride in the country with your parents, see if you can see any modern windmills. Do they look like Don Quixote's?

To win $10, send a good question to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper. Tomorrow: Do fish climb stairs? Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures.

Even if Loveliness Does Indicate Cold Character

Search for Beauty Will Never End

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK (INS) — Day by day, in every cockeyed commercial way, life becomes more bewildering for the woman of moderate good looks and reasoning mind.

Shall she make herself beautiful — as modern stylists, cosmeticians and advertisers assure her she can, if she'll merely open up her eyes, her pores and her wallet?

Or shall she beware of being beautiful — as the modern philosophers advise, because in too great beauty lies almost certain coldness.

Before us at the moment are two telling pieces of literature. One tells how "every woman can and should be beautiful — and not necessarily only beautiful of soul. Capitalize on your strong physical features and underplay your unattractive ones, and you can be the belle of the ball, the most sought-after woman in town."

The other, a treatise by Philip Wylie, a man whose very type-writer writhes with outrage as it bespeaks the tragedy of being beautiful, says that "beauty, so highly prized, so strenuously sought after, is keeping many women from achieving the satisfaction in life that comes readily to millions of relatively plain wives and mothers."

LOOKS ENOUGH
The beautiful woman, says Wylie, is taught at an early age that her looks are enough to charm the world; she only has to smile at a "cop" to avoid a "ticket" she only has to apply for it to get a job.

Gradually she begins to believe that love is synonymous with physical charm, and since she already possesses the latter, she needn't work to deserve and possess the former. Thus, to quote Wylie, "she uses outward appearance as a substitute for character and is lost."

"The girl who has come to identify womanhood with her looks has, in a sense, decided not to be a woman."

Turning back to the first piece of puff — how to be beautiful in one application of a new $6 cosmetic — the woman who has just read Wylie's stern, and probably not-far-wrong appraisal, is likely to think automatically, "Oh-no-you-don't I'd rather be mousy, with a good man out to trap me, than stunning and untouchable."

The trouble is that this attitude is fleeting. The next moment, no matter in what direction she glances, a woman is again confronted by ads challenging her to take off pounds of weight and put on ounces of cosmetics and be dazzlingly lovely.

POWERFUL DESIRE
The search for personal beauty is older and more powerful than the debunking of it. No matter how Mr. Wylie raves, and what true beauties through current history destroy their lives and bore their many men, girls will continue to buy billions of dollars worth of aids to vanity.

It's human nature to keep up with the Joneses even if Mrs. Jones is that piece of pseudo perfection who traded her birthright (and her latest husband) for a mirror.

Young Prince Charles Will Behave—or Else

LONDON—Britain's little Prince Charles is expected to go to school later this year at St. Peter's School, England. It is a rather expensive preparatory school run by bachelor Michael Farebrother, an Old Etonian. "If he comes here he will be treated exactly like any other boy," says Farebrother.

Prince Charles would have from $1.40 to $2.80 a term pocket money, a ration of four ounces of candy a week and use of the school model railway lines to play with his own train.

Over corporal punishment, Farebrother is a traditionalist. "If a boy needs bringing up with a jolt the cane is used," he says.

THOMAS P. FARRELL
Service for Thomas P. Farrell, 78, of Detroit, former grocery store owner on Saginaw street, will be 9:30 a.m. Friday at the Verhayden Funeral Home, 16300 Mack Ave., Detroit, and at 10 a.m. at St. Matthew Church, Detroit. Farrell died yesterday at his home.

He is survived by his wife, Justine; a son, Joseph of Detroit; one daughter, Mrs. Rosemary Hood of Washington; four brothers, Fred of Walled Lake, Fr. John Farrell of Emmett, William of Detroit and Ernest of Milford; and one sister, Mrs. Mary Cleary of Battle Creek.

CHARLES NORMAN RICHISON
Charles Norman Richison, 74, of 2420 Oak Knoll St. died yesterday at his home. He had been ill several months.

An employee of General Motors Truck & Coach Division, Mr. Richison was a member of First Methodist Church and a city resident for 49 years.

Surviving besides his wife, Minnie, are 12 children, Norman R. Richison, Mrs. Lucille McNamara, Mrs. Zilla LaBarge and Mrs. Jane Ayres, all of Pontiac; Mrs. Vivian Wellington of Lewiston, Mrs. Beth Burns of Romeo and Charles Richison Jr. of Nokomis, Fla.

Other children are Noble Phelps of Drayton Plains, Mrs. Clara Pratt of Mecosta, Mrs. Pearl Cooley of Keego Harbor, DeLos Phelps of Grinnell, Iowa and Jack Phelps of Kalamazoo.

Other survivors include 22 grandchildren; 30 great-grandchildren, a brother and two sisters.

The service will be at 2 p.m. Saturday from the Pursley Funeral Home with his pastor, the Rev. Paul T. Hart officiating. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

MRS. JACOB GASCHO
IMLAY CITY — Service for Mrs. Jacob (Mattie) Gascho, 73, of 6076 Weyer Rd. will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Menomonee Church, with burial in the Church cemetery. Mrs. Gascho died on Tuesday and her body is at the family residence.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, Milton, of Kokomo, Ind., and Simon of Imlay; five daughters, Salena of Ohio, Edna of Imlay, Mrs. Luella Mullet of Montana, Lillian of Lapeer and Mrs. Leona Plank of Ohio; two sisters and two brothers.

ELECTIA LOUISE PEEL
BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Service for Electia Louise Peel, 78, of 1580 Rockwell, who died yesterday, will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Avondale Baptist Church with burial in Cherry Valley Cemetery, Avondale. Prayer service will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the Pursley Funeral Home.

Surviving are four sons, Charles of Berrien Springs, Walter of Farmington, Elwin of Millersburg and George of Pontiac; three daughters, Mrs. Emma Frericks, Mrs. Elnora Thebaud and Mrs. Doris Killgore, all of Pontiac. Twenty-eight grandchildren and 34 great-grandchildren also survive.

CARROLL O. ROBY
ORCHARD LAKE — Service for Carroll O. Roby, 63, of 6665 Dandison, who died today will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday from the C. J. Godhardt Funeral Home with burial in Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens. The Rev. W. C. Graft will officiate.

Surviving are his wife Louise and one brother Omar Roby of North Carolina.

BRUCE M. SLADE
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Service for Bruce M. Slade, 3, son of Cletus and Lucille Slade of 4164 Wenonah Dr., who died yesterday, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday from St. Benedict Church with burial in Mt. Hope Cemetery. Rev. Fr. Richard Thomas will officiate. The body is at the C. J. Godhardt.

Cut Dogbites One-third
DALLAS (AP)—Postal officials say the city's leash law has really helped muzzle unfriendly pooches. Postmen reported eight dog bites in June, compared with 24 in the same month last year.

Misses on 2 Suicides
MEXICO CITY (AP)—Witnesses said a 27-year-old workman tried to commit suicide twice yesterday, leaping first in front of a bus and seconds later in the path of a streetcar. Both efforts failed but the man lost a leg.

Deaths Elsewhere

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—C. R. Vose, about 60, New York City insurance man with wide business interests, was killed in a plane crash yesterday.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Mrs. H. B. Friele, about 55, of Bellevue, Wash., whose husband is a widely known cannery operator and Pacific Northwest representative for the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., was killed in plane crash yesterday. Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harold B. Friele, also was killed.

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Rear Adm. Webb C. Hayes II (ret.), 66, great-grandson of President Rutherford B. Hayes, died yesterday. He was born in Toledo, Ohio.

Michigan Man Wins Highest Carillon Score

MALINES, Belgium (AP)—A Michigan man has become the first person to score a 95 per cent grade in the public examinations of the 35-year-old Carillon School of Malines.

He is Wendell Westcott, carillonneur of Michigan State University.

Director Staf Nees said yesterday that Westcott passed "a very severe test with much ease and brilliancy."

Westcott took the examination at the keyboard of the carillon of the Malines Cathedral main tower. It included a personal composition and an adaptation at sight of an old Flemish song for carillon playing.

Railroad grade crossing accidents occur most frequently on Sunday.

Two Electrocuted While Loading Drill

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—William H. Smith, 19, and his brother-in-law, James P. Barnes, 25, were electrocuted yesterday when a drill they were loading on a truck brushed a high tension wire.

Smith and Barnes, of Waycross, Ga., both worked for a drilling firm owned by Lloyd Smith, father of the dead youth.

A witness told police the men were killed when the 23-foot drill they were loading brushed the wire "and there was a ball of fire." Officers said the men had been warned that a power line ran near the area in which they were working.

One quart of milk is equal in energy value to a pound of lean beef.

Polio Patient Needs More Than Life Saved

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—A University of Michigan professor says it is not enough to just save the life of a polio patient.

Prof. James L. Wilson said yesterday that importance also should be placed on efforts to "making the life that is saved worthwhile and useful."

Wilson spoke before the fourth International Polio Congress.

Chamber Optimistic on Business Outlook

The 1957 business outlook conference held by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington had a very optimistic outlook for the Nation's continued prosperity.

Of the seven big business leaders attending, six were directors and chairmen of chamber policy committees. Bank President McDONNELL of St. Louis, a delegate, was of the opinion that "we're going so fast we don't realize how prosperous we are."

Burroughs Corp. President COLEMAN of Detroit thinks that our economy is evenly poised. Another delegate, president of W. B. Camp and Sons of California, in speaking of agriculture, admitted that prices are not very high, things farmers buy are up and total sales may be a little less.

Dr. EMERSON P. SCHMIDT, the chamber's director of economic research, pointed out a few soft spots but thought that the overall health of the economy seems promising. All agreed that prices would continue to rise this year and that there would be a little more inflation.

No chamber representative thought this alarming. However, they were unanimous in agreeing that the most important economic problem was how to maintain prosperity without inflation. When these conservative and informed representatives of business and industry are so optimistic about our economic future, the rest of us well can look ahead with confidence.

All ILO Nations Vote Against Forced Labor

At the International Labor (ILO) conference in Geneva the United States took final action in support of an international agreement against forced labor.

All governments, workers and employers voted in favor of a convention against forced labor, with a single abstention—COLA G. PARKER, the U.S. employers' delegate. ILO seeks to bring better working conditions, improve labor-management relations and economic development in all countries.

U. S. support for the convention is a victory for the American Labor movement and for Secretary of Labor MITCHELL. It would have been embarrassing for us if the Soviets had taken a stand against slavery and the U. S., which initiated the proposal, remained silent.

Ratification by all ILO member-nations does not guarantee abolition of forced labor. But it does offer an opportunity to bring to world attention slave conditions in various countries. No one doubts that slavery exists in the Soviet Union, in Saudi Arabia and other Arab nations.

Against angry opposition from the Communist bloc the ILO expelled Hungary's employer and worker delegates as an aftermath of the U.S. report that the Hungarian government is kept in power by Soviet arms.

In a letter to Secretary MITCHELL, President EISENHOWER wrote that ILO provides a common meeting ground for workers, employers and government representatives from all over the world and promotes a lively exchange of ideas — the building stones of understanding and friendship. He declared that in the conference "those who seek to strengthen the freedom and well being of their neighbors can find many dedicated to the same objectives."

Lew Hoad a Tennis Pro

When LEWIS HOAD of Australia signed a contract to become a professional, the repercussions were heard all over the tennis world. He signed in New York with promoter JACK KRAMER.

Away down under, in Australia, amateur tennis officials were so dismayed that they threatened steps to bar KRAMER's traveling tennis troupe from staging exhibition matches in that country. For when HOAD turned pro it broke up an amateur team which had won the men's top net titles, including the recent Wimbledon matches. HOAD easily won the men's singles title for the second straight year at Wimbledon.

Even in KRAMER's own troupe the signing of HOAD caused fireworks. PONCHO GONZALES, pro champion, threatened to boycott tournaments if KRAMER scheduled him to play against HOAD this year. GONZALES wants these matches put off until next year.

KRAMER paid HOAD $125,000 to turn pro and to participate in matches arranged by KRAMER in various cities of the United States and abroad.

Amateur tennis officials in the United States were pleased at the turn in events, for with HOAD a pro they saw a better chance for American amateurs to regain world honors which have been won repeatedly in recent years by the Australians.

HOAD's contract made one fact crystal clear: Pro tennis, like other sports, has become big business.

The Man About Town
It Is the Top Spot
Scenic Point Now Open to Public; Magnificent View

Pontiac Creek: A calm, serene, quiet, babbling, tranquil and docile brook that becomes a mighty monstrosity when it goes on a riotous, reckless and ravenous rampage.

Now open to the general public is "The Overlook," considered by many to be the most scenic spot in Oakland County or even in Southeastern Michigan. It is only 17 miles up the Dixie Highway from the courthouse. Turn to the right at the roadway marked

"Holly Recreational Area," which takes you into the expanse of over 7,000 acres, the largest such area in our county. Its many miles of good gravel roadways wind through a joyful maze of hill, dale and lake area, with facilities for boating, bathing, camping and sight-seeing. Better consult the attendants for the best approach to the Overlook. The entrance to it is off Wildwood Road.

Things went in reverse the other morning near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Cummins of Clarkston, when a deer chased the family dog into a nearby swamp.

Former Pontiac postal employee, Merlin A. (Sandy) Hastings, now living in Florida, has gone three ways — editorial, poetic and political. He has a column in a weekly paper, has written a list of poems and is a candidate for the job of writing a new charter for North Miami Beach.

Michigan had a bad drowning toll over the July 4 holiday. But Oakland County's 423 lakes, more than all other counties in the southern peninsula combined, had an excellent record.

Word comes along in a letter from Herb Justman of 174 South Edith St., that eleven flags were displayed within one and one-half blocks on his street over the recent holiday.

The family dog of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Arien of Keego Harbor went north with them the other day after chasing their car over 5 miles.

Fairly Well Adjusted for a Problem Child

David Lawrence Says:

Constitution Has New Amendment

WASHINGTON — One word now has been put into the Constitution by six members of the Supreme Court which wasn't there before. The word is "association."

Thus freedom of "association" now has been added to the freedoms of press, religion and assembly and the right of petition covered by the First Amendment.

This could mean that the whole structure of trade unionism in America, particularly as it affects the rights of minorities in workers' organizations, now will undergo an important change. It could mean also that freedom of "association," which is the fundamental basis for segregation in public schools in the South, has perhaps been re-enforced.

Normally, Constitutional amendments are made by the people through a two-thirds vote of the Congress and ratification is proclaimed when three-fourths of the states have approved. Here is how the First Amendment was phrased before June 17, 1957:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

CHANGING THE LAW
Here is how the Supreme Court on June 17 last, by a decision of 6 to 1, laid down the supreme law of the land:

"Nor can the First Amendment freedoms of speech, press, religion, or political belief and association be abridged." Further on in the same opinion, the Court omitted the word "political" and broadened its definition as follows:

"The mere summoning of a witness and compelling him to testify, against his will, about his beliefs, expressions or associations is a measure of governmental interference."

In another opinion rendered on the same day, the Court again omitted the word "political" and, by a 6-to-2 vote, covered all "associations" by the citizen as follows:

"Merely to summon a witness and compel him, against his will, to disclose the nature of his past expressions and associations is a measure of governmental interference in these matters. These are rights which are safeguarded by the Bill of Rights and the Fourteenth Amendment."

FORCED TO JOIN UNIONS?
If all "associations" by a citizen are fully safeguarded by the First Amendment and there is a Constitutionally recognized freedom of association, it might be asked whether anyone now can be compelled against his will to join a labor union.

The Taft-Hartley Act and parts of the Wagner Labor Relations Act at present on the statute books are based on the doctrine upheld by the Supreme Court in 1937 that an employer is compelled to bargain collectively with the union that wins a majority of his employees.

But the new words, when added to the scope of the First Amendment, would appear to give to minorities as well as labor unions the right to freedom of "association." This must mean that individuals hereafter can join with or disassociate themselves from the majority and presumably can insist on making separate bargaining agreements with the employer.

Also, the much-discussed "right to work" laws of the states are apparently valid, while all the so-called "union shop" provisions of federal and state law now are unconstitutional because they violate the First Amendment.

Certainly, to require that an employer should fire a worker at the end of 30 or 60 days' employment—unless the employee joins the union or pays dues to it, would seem to infringe the First Amendment's new right of "association."

As for the "integration" or "segregation" problem in the South, freedom of "association" now can evidently be applied so that both segregated and mixed schools would be legalized.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Doctor-Induced Ailment May Be Patient's Trouble

"We know you have no ax to grind, so will you please give us your honest opinion of this case—(H. J. J.)"

The case: H. J. J.'s wife has been told by the family doctor that she has angina, and by a heart specialist that it is arteriosclerosis. Will she be helped by going through the Clinic or would it be a waste of time at her age, 70 years? A recent checkup showed blood pressure, 128 over 80; Electrocardiogram, normal; blood count, OK, and pulse, 60 to 65.

Her ankles were swollen, but now they are very sore, painful to the touch. She has arthritis in the knees and has been taking metacortin pills two years. Last August she received two shots of liquid metacortin, which seemed to relieve pain.

"We know you have no ax to grind... (H. J. J.)"

Sir, I have plenty of axes to grind. For instance, you had better send me 35 cents and a stamped envelope bearing your address, for Volume XII of the Pocket Encyclopedia of Health, which deals with Chronic Joint Disability.

OLDSTERS GET IT
Few persons 70 years old haven't arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries). The "checkup," whatever that means, was negative.

It would seem the main trouble is that you and your wife are unduly worried about "angina" and "arteriosclerosis." It may well be that the heart and artery trouble is iatrogenic (there's a word to look up in the dictionary) — a disorder generated by the physician, by auto-suggestion based on the physician's examination or manner.

Of course, all I know about the case is what you tell me, sir — and all you tell me is that your wife has arthritis.

That her ankles were very sore and painful to the touch would indicate that your diagnosis may be correct, although it is much more likely that she has the rheumatiz (not "rheumatism"). If this isn't clear, perhaps you'll understand what I mean when you have studied Volume XII.

It doesn't take much skill to inoculate a patient with morbid suggestions. It takes real knowledge, skill and conscience to inoculate the patient with healthful suggestions.

That's what I try to do in Volume XII of the Pocket Encyclopedia of Health, titled CVD, which deals with heart and artery troubles — for a copy send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, food, disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope, sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Self-Confidence Improves Looks

Edith's case proves that social success is actually a beauty tonic. For when her eyes glowed with confidence and she bubbled over with thrills in the many friends she had soon won, she looked much prettier than I had ever seen her before. If you are old enough to read this case, you can also win friends and remodel your personality.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case V-334: Edith L., aged 16, is the formerly shy high schooler who said she was so friendless she'd like to die to get away from her unhappiness.

But she used the techniques described yesterday. I rehearsed her in advance, as I would any young salesman going out to meet his first prospects.

And if you teenagers would take the salesman's viewpoint and do a little more memorizing of definitely proved social techniques, you'd astound yourselves.

You can't just wish for success and then get to your destination. "Success is 99 per cent perspiration," said Thomas A. Edison.

Even though I reveal many sure-fire bits of tested psychological strategy for winning friends and preventing divorce or delinquency, you must still apply them before they will produce the desired results.

EDITH'S SURPRISE
"Dr. Crane," Edith began excitedly a few weeks later, "I was never so surprised in my whole life."

'Just What Qualifications Does Warren Possess?'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Many of us are wondering just what it is that the United States Supreme Court is serving. It would be good to know just what qualifications Mr. Earl Warren possesses for the position which he holds.

Has Sure Cure for Delinquents

If you really want to know how to curb these juvenile delinquents, I'll tell you. If they draw 30 days for one of their contemptible offenses, give them 10 resounding lashes on the first day and 20 on the last day when they're let out of jail. This will do more than 30 days of free food and lodging at public expense.

'Worried Mothers' Ask Questions

This is written by a group of mothers whose greatest concern is the welfare and safety of their children. After reading your July 1 editorial we thought an investigation might answer a few questions we have.

Why does it take the police 3 1/2 hours to break up a drunken teenage party? Why can't a mother and her child have protection so she can sit in the yard at night without being annoyed by cussing teenagers?

Why can a seven-year-old girl be accosted by a man and the police won't or can't do anything until it's too late?

Why can young men drive cars at high speeds and be allowed to drive the same way after police talk to them? Why do they use spotlights and sirens for peeping toms and men hiding in bushes?

If the police are afraid of teenagers and peeping toms and overlook molesters until it's too late, whom are we to depend on for protection? Are our girls to end up like Mary de Caussin and our boys to be beaten up or run down by teenagers?

Worried Mothers

Explains Objection to 12-Month School

What's the matter, Merchant, do you have some kids you want to get rid of? Some schools may try to have school 12 months a year, but I think they'll find their children won't learn as much as they would in 10 months, because the student looks forward to his summer vacation as a reward for studying through the year. If they had to go 12 months, they wouldn't be so apt to work because there would be no end to their work. Children, especially small ones, need that vacation.

Civil Rights Legislation Far From Being Passed

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON 10—In the 20th century the Democratic and Republican parties — no matter what their campaign promises — have never passed a civil rights bill through Congress.

Republicans are trying it now in face of a Senate filibuster by Southern Democrats. If they win, some political careers may be affected. And Republican hopes for future election victories — based on expectation of a grateful Northern Negro vote — go up.

Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower have helped eliminate racial discrimination — by executive order. But Democrats' promises of action on a civil rights bill through Congress have been a political joke.

They couldn't, as a party, make good. Southern Democrats were always there to block the way with a filibuster. Any filibuster could have been broken if enough Northern and Western Democrats and Republicans were willing to team up to do it. It never happened.

The outnumbered Republicans can't do it now unless enough of them, plus enough Northern and Western Democrats, join forces. That remains to be seen. Despite present excitement, passage of a civil rights bill now is far from a fact.

There is political irony in the present situation. In Congress, where they are the minority party, the Republicans are leading the way. Sen. Knowland of California, Senate Republican leader, is captain on the civil rights side.

He can get only political good out of this, win or lose. He is leaving the Senate next year and may seek the Republican presidential nomination in 1960. He can expect Northern Negroes, if he should get the nomination, to remember him as a man who fought for civil rights.

On the other hand the Senate's Democratic leader, Lyndon Johnson of Texas, is on a hot spot. He's a Southerner. But he's a man who also may have presidential ambitions in 1960.

If he votes against this civil rights bill his chances of heading the Democratic ticket diminish, if they're not wrecked. If he doesn't oppose it in some way — if only by trying to get the bill softened by amendments — he may stay himself in Texas. He's been staying pretty much in the back-ground.

why don't all the eligible males flock to Hollywood to try to win a movie actress?

So quiet being negative thinkers. Don't alibi your present unpopularity or the fact you have thick ankles or acne or skinny legs.

Your chasels is only secondary. When you learn how to smile and break the conversational ice, and enlarge the size of type for that motto on his chest that reads "I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT," you'll win friends galore.

Edith's case is just one of thousands that I could cite. So streamline your personality by sending for the 200-point "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Always Write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 32 stamped, self-addressed envelope and job to retyping and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Bob Considine Says:

Religion Courses Successful at University

NEW YORK (INS) — They scoffed 30 years ago when the University of Iowa sat down and formed its School of Religion. It sounded to many like a method of interfering with the traditional separation of church and state.

But the idea has clicked superbly, and recently its fruit has been spread before the great foreign universities by Father Robert Welch, a Roman Catholic priest, Dr. George Forell, a Lutheran minister, and Jewish Rabbi Frederick Bargebuhl (CQ), three professors associated with the Iowa project.

Iowa's experiment was predicated on the belief held there — and since adopted elsewhere — that religion, theoretically and practically, "is inseparable from education; hence it should be taught even in a tax-supported institution like the University of Iowa — not indirectly or surreptitiously, but unapologetically, comprehensively, and in line with the best educational practice."

It was rough sledding in the materialistic '20s until a grant from John D. Rockefeller Jr. made possible the start of the school. Iowa's School of Religion is now almost entirely Iowa-supported.

Protestant groups pay Dr. Forell's way, as a professor there. Just as members of the Jewish faith pay Rabbi Bargebuhl's salary through the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation, and the Catholic Church pays for Father Welch's keep.

The student is under no compulsion to take a religious course, naturally. But credits are offered in such courses as "Religion in Human Culture," "Old Testament," "The Catholic Faith," "Religious Groups of America," "Living Religions of Mankind" and "The Protestant Faith."

The three members of the faculty of the School of Religion visited the Universities of Basel in Switzerland; Mainz, Munich, Heidelberg, Frankfurt, Hamburg and Freiburg in Germany; and Paris and Lyon in France. Old World professors in some cases found their gospel revolutionary but interesting.

They took special pains to spread the word of inter-faith education while in West Germany. Postwar observers have said that Hitler's paganistic cult of Nazism was beaten so deep into the psyche of a whole generation of German youth that another generation must rise before Christian ideals — or any other code of conduct acknowledging God — can hope to flourish.

The religious courses have attracted, on the average, 600 new students each year at Iowa. The department in no way functions as a secondary but a number of Iowa students have graduated with a "major" in religion and have subsequently moved on to formal ministerial or rabbinical studies.

Iowa's 15-minute morning chapel broadcasts over the University's radio station, WSUI, rotate religious services.

Lesser-known religions also get their "time" on the broadcasts, as well as in the classrooms. It all adds up, Iowa says, and its men told the European savants to the conviction that university students' individual religious beliefs can be strengthened in non-sectarian institutions rather than weakened, as so many still fear.

India Urged to Ban Canned Imports

CALCUTTA — India's Government should ban all imports of canned foods in the interest of national economy, contends Mehr Chand Mahajan, head of the All-India Food Preservers' Association. "A free country must live on her own produce," he said in Calcutta, "and people who come from outside must eat what India produces. It is a strange anomaly that leading hotels serve peaches from California, peas from France and other tinned or bottled provisions from other countries when we produce these articles at home." He also had a few words to say to his members: "If you want to feed the nation, you must provide pure, wholesome food in cheap containers."

DAYTON, Ohio (U) — They may be amateurs but they're persistent. Burglars using chisels, crowbars, sledge hammers and drills have tried four times in nine months to open a 1,800-pound filling station safe here. Total take—75 cents from a cash register and a few bottles of pop. Total damage to the still unopened safe was estimated at $100.

Protest Selling U.S. Pep Pills to British People

LONDON — American firms are "cashing in spectacularly" on Britain's Health Service, Parliament has been advised in London.

By high-pressure salesmanship, the British claim, United States drug companies have cornered 65 per cent of the market for proprietary drugs prescribed by doctors under the service. The government has been asked to stop doctors from prescribing expensive American tranquilizer and "pep" drugs.

Members of Parliament have complained that astute American businessmen have been "given a blank check" to sell their products there at prices far higher than British drugs—and the expense is being borne by the British taxpayer.

The Health Ministry is said to have warned family doctors to stress that British drugs generally are as good as American — and better for the nation's economy.

Motoring Samaritan Swallows Gasoline

JOHANNESBURG, S. Africa — When Percy Brown stopped on the highway between Johannesburg and Vereeniging, South Africa, to help the driver of an oil company tank that seemed to be in trouble, he got into some himself.

The truck, with 2,400 gallons of gasoline in its tank, had run out of "gas." The truck driver was the tanks' contents. By sucking through a tube, Brown siphoned out some fuel from his own car into the truck's fuel tank. He inadvertently gulped down some of the gasoline and the truck driver had to get him to a hospital in a hurry. Brown survived but was in the hospital for a few days.

Area Scout Leaders at Philadelphia Convention

By JOE HAAS
PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Clinton Valley Council looms large in the forty-seventh annual national convention of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, which opened here this noon.

This council, with headquarters in Pontiac, and whose area covers most of Oakland and Macomb Counties, has over 11,000 boys and older people in the work.

It is generally singled out as one of the few highly diversified councils in personnel in the entire nation. Its territory covers city, village and rural communities while also being adjacent to a great metropolitan center.

It also has gained nationwide acclaim for the manner in which it secures and maintains highly competent scoutmasters, who really are the heartbeat of good scouting.

The National Council is composed of about a thousand men who with the addition of about as many more delegates come from every state in the union, also from Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and other territories for the annual convention.

They are the grown-up scouters who annually meet to lay plans for the coming year for all the scouts in the U. S. A., now numbering over 4,500,000 boys, and the largest youth organization in America.

The National Council now is in the midst of a four-year expansion program. Now in its second year the project has increased the membership nearly 50 per cent.

Scouting now is growing at the fastest rate in its 47 years' history. Since the Boy Scouts were first organized in 1910 over 26,000,000 youths and their leaders have been affiliated with it.

is honorary president of the Boy Scouts.

Clinton Valley delegates already registered include R. C. Cummings and this writer, both members of the National Council; also Ray D. Baker, Stanley

J. Filkins and Ralph S. Forman. Others will arrive later.

At the first regional get-together luncheon this noon, Michigan held a stellar role in Region Seven which is composed of the states of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan. Its attendance was larger than that of any of the other eleven regions except that which includes the home state of Pennsylvania.

Climbing further into prominence in the convention, Clinton

Valley is the close neighbor of the Wayne contingent which is plugging to bring the 1958 convention to Detroit.

The 1955 convention was awarded to Detroit, but on account of that city's lack of an auditorium large enough at that time, it was switched to St. Louis. Now Detroit's new civic center will be in position to properly handle the 1958 meeting. In such event, the Clinton Valley Council will have much to do with it.

Disc Jockey Learns Dangers of Ad-Libbing

HENRYETTA, Okla. — John Morris, a disc jockey at a radio station here, learned a lesson about ad-libbing.

He completed a commercial on a sale of rose bushes, then casually added "and if you ladies buy some of these rose bushes and can't get your husbands to plant them, Ol' Lover John will come out and plant them for you."

The phone started ringing and Morris was busy the following Sunday planting rose bushes around town.

All he had to say was: "We sure have got a bunch of lazy husbands

West Berlin Building for Day When City Is German Capital

BERLIN (INS) — Whatever the diplomats may have in mind, West Berliners are building confidently for the day when their city will again be the capital of all Germany.

Since 1949 the new face of Berlin has been emerging from the rubble of war — a city of green, open space with modern, airy buildings and avenues wide enough to handle the heaviest traffic.

Now the Bonn and Berlin governments are planning for the day when Berlin will be a national capital.

An international competition will be opened here in March for plans of a complex of government buildings, including new homes for the Bundesrat and Bundestag.

The plans will include the reconstruction of the old Reichstag, a derelict since it was burned by the Nazis in 1933.

Whether the Reichstag will be redesigned as a museum or as a seat for the Bundesrat (Upper House) has not yet been decided.

In another step to prepare Berlin for its role as a capital, the West Berlin Senate is urging foreign governments to rebuild their embassies along the ruined diplomatic row south of the Tiergarten.

Berliners can plan for the whole city, but with the Soviets occupying the East sector they can build in only half the city.

For instance, the government complex will be designed to stretch all the way to Alexander Platz, more than a mile inside East Berlin.

West Berlin is building a super-highway ringing the center of the city. Construction of the eastern semicircle will have to await a political settlement.

With the International Building Exhibition to be held from July to September, 1957 is a big year in the reconstruction of Berlin.

During 1957, the 100,000th new postwar dwelling unit will be completed in Berlin.

Reconstruction has reached the pace of 20,000 units annually, but 100,000 more still are needed.

The center of the Building Exhibition will be the new Hansa district, where well-spaced, daintily modern apartment buildings, churches and stores are rising in the place of a cluttered, old-fashioned residential district which was flattened during the war.

Sixty-three of the world's top architects have participated in the designing of the Hansa district.

The exuberance of styles in the district has led one world-famous architect to say privately that the new center will be a "mess."

He said there were "too many tricks of architecture, too much experimenting, and not enough sound modern design."

Even the famed Le Corbusier was to have participated in the Hansa district.

But he wanted to design a building with 700 apartments, or more than half the total intended for the Hansa district, which would have left the 62 other architects with little to do.

The disagreement was solved when Le Corbusier was given a plot of land outside the Hansa district, near Hitler's Olympic stadium. A huge new Le Corbusier building is going up on the site.

New buildings of equally bold designs are springing up all over Berlin, forming new residential areas, new shopping districts, new business centers.

Jury Expected to Begin Debate

8 Women, 4 Men Hold Young Attendant's Fate in Grand Rapids Trial

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The fate of a young parking lot attendant accused of strangling his 15-year-old wife was expected to be turned over to a jury of eight women and four men today.

Fred O. Minor, who has pleaded innocent, is charged with first degree murder in the June 31 death of his wife, Bessie Marie. Minor's appearance on the stand yesterday ended testimony in the case.

"I guess I grabbed her," Minor said, describing the quarrel during which his wife was strangled. "I don't know what happened. It was like a dream. Then I knew I had hold of her, but I couldn't do anything about it."

"It was like a nightmare. She screamed and we rolled on the floor. I turned her loose and tried to revive her, but it was too late."

He said the quarrel began after his wife told him she planned to leave him for another man.

Minor and his wife were married in South Carolina when he was 19 and she was 13. They came to Grand Rapids last year. They were the parents of three small daughters who have been placed in foster homes as wards of Kent County Probate Court.

Accident Hospitalizes Drayton Plains Girl

Gail Johnson, 17, of 4080 Meyers Rd., Drayton Plains, received severe facial lacerations yesterday while riding in an auto involved in an accident at Walton and Sashabaw roads, Waterford Township.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies report the girl was a passenger in an auto driven by Charles E. Monk, 17, of 9450 Dixie Hwy., Charleston.

A Pontiac General Hospital spokesman reports the girl is in satisfactory condition today. Monk was treated for forehead lacerations and released from the hospital.

Driver of the second auto was George W. Kresback, 35, of 4654 Ross Dr., deputies report.

Some Work Resumed at Strike Bound Plant

PETOSKEY (AP)—Limited operations were scheduled to resume today at the Penn-Dixie Cement Co. plant here in the wake of a strike which began May 17.

Local 136 of the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers Union ratified a new contract with the company last night to end the long strike. The new pact provides a wage and fringe benefit package totaling about 17 cents an hour.

Liquidation Expert Malenkov Lucky to Escape With Life

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

For more than 20 years Georgi Maximilianovich Malenkov was an expert at liquidation.

Now in the rapid swirl of Kremlin events, he apparently has escaped with his life after becoming the most likely candidate to be liquidated of the deposed "anti-party" group. He is being hustled out of Moscow to run a hydro-electric plant in East Kazakhstan—1,800 miles away.

In the crazy quilt of Soviet politics, Malenkov has been both protégé and enemy of his partners in disgrace, Lazar Kaganovich and V. M. Molotov. He has been allied with Nikita Khrushchev, and now Khrushchev has pulled the rug out from under him.

Molotov and Kaganovich, now in the same leaky boat with Malenkov, have reason to hate him. Years ago Malenkov was responsible for ousting Molotov's wife and Kaganovich's brother out of big and comfortable jobs.

But Khrushchev says all three men are allies in intrigue. Malenkov was Stalin's "apparatchik"—a man who lived and breathed the politics of the party apparatus.

This 5-foot-7, 250-pound mass of Russian paradox could be courtly in presenting bouquets to a lady, or ruthless enough to purge his own grandmother if it happened to be necessary.

As Stalin's man Friday he kept a steel grip on the party organization, populating it with "Malenkovites"—Malenkov men. He laced Lavrenty Beria's secret police with his party spies.

Malenkov made a career of being a mystery man. Little is known of his private life. He married a Central Committee typist who bore him a son, and later a party worker.

Malenkov's frequent sneers at those who boasted proletarian origins indicated he came from middle-class background. Likely his father was a railway official deported by the Czar to Orenburg (now Chkalov) in the Ural. There Georgi was born Jan. 8, 1902.

At 17, two years after the Bolshevik Revolution, Malenkov joined the Red army. In 1920 he went to Moscow to study and joined the Communist party. A prodigious organizer, he whipped up student demonstrations for Stalin and against Trotsky in the first power struggle after Lenin died. Kaganovich called him to Stalin's attention.

With his card-index brain, Malenkov was a master of intrigue. He worked his way into the inner councils. He was Stalin's catalogue for the purges of the 1930s. As Communists died before firing squads or moved into exile, Malenkov peopled key positions with those who could do him the most good. In 1939 Beria liquidated the purgers and Malenkov joined him in the alliance.

Malenkov, then only 37, was a member of the Orgburo, which controlled key party network appointments. By 1941 he was an alternate in the ruling Politburo.

Charges Blue Shield 'Fattening' on Hike

DETROIT (INS)—Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, charged yesterday the increase in Blue Shield medical-service rates is "unwarranted, ill-timed and excessive."

Mazey said Blue Shield is "riding the coattails of Blue Cross and getting a rate increase it doesn't deserve."

Both Blue Shield and the Blue Cross hospitalization rates are scheduled for a 12 per cent increase Oct. 1.

The union official, in his attack, listed seven reasons why he felt the rate hike should be halted.

He charged mainly that Blue Shield, with more than $5,000,000 reserves on April 1, has faced "only a gradual increase in cost" and could operate for two more years "without raising rates and without endangering its fiscal soundness."

Mazey stated: "We therefore believe that Blue Shield is merely using the Blue Cross rate increase as an excuse to fatten up its own finances."

Scouts, Doctors Open Testimony

Suspect Examined on Charges of Murdering Peter Gorham

MUSKEGON (AP)—Three Boy Scouts, two dentists and a pathologist were among witnesses called yesterday at the opening examination of Herman Barmore, 44, on first-degree murder charges in the 1935 slaying of a 12-year-old Evanston, Ill., boy.

Peter Gorham disappeared July 5, 1935, while on a hike with fellow Boy Scouts. His skeleton was found in a wooded area near Spring Lake on Aug. 14, 1935. He had been shot through the head.

Barmore, alias Charles W. Fisher, has admitted shooting the boy during a target practice session in a statement to police but contends the shooting was an accident.

The examination is expected to end tomorrow. It is being held before Municipal Judge William T. Caughey.

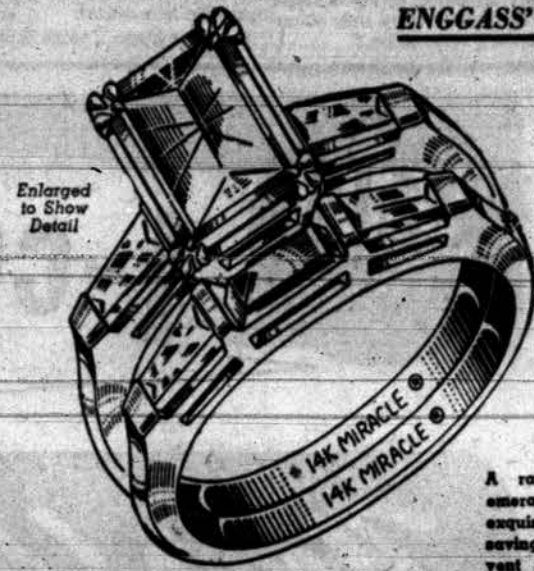

Boy Scouts Leonard Halsema, 13, David Pushman, 14, and John O'Donnell, 14, all of Evanston, testified they went on a hike with Peter the day he vanished. They said Peter walked on and disappeared after they stopped to rest.

Two-Faced Glacier

WASHINGTON—A "dead glacier," one that thaws before it reaches the ocean, is as brittle as glass yet as pliant as tooth paste, says the National Geographic Society.

Alaska's salmon cannery at Ketchikan is said to be the largest single concern of its kind in the world.

New Rock 'n' Roll Tunes Smother Old Folk Songs

OKLAHOMA CITY (INS) — America's foremost folklorist thinks modern hip-swaying tunes have put a paralyzing grip on the nation's heritage of folk dances and songs.

That is the opinion of Sarah Gertrude Knott, who for the past 20-odd years has searched all parts of the world for colorful, authentic rituals, dances and songs that had been handed down from one generation to another for centuries.

Miss Knott, founder and director of the National Folk Festival, is busily preparing for the 22nd annual cultural classic which this year will be held in Oklahoma City as part of Oklahoma's semi-centennial exposition.

The white haired, rosy cheeked folklorist emphasizes that "there would be greater meaning to dances if school children were taught the backgrounds as well as the steps."

The first festival was started when the Kentucky native discovered that old British ballads, fiddle tunes, singing games, sea chanteys, river songs, cowboy ballads, Indian songs and Negro spirituals were almost suffocated by modern songs and dances.

Miss Knott contacted a group of leading folklorists and formed a committee which sponsored the first festival in St. Louis.

While many folk songs and dances have been permanently lost, she feels that recent interest has saved others that were near extinction in the United States.

Four months' preparation goes toward organizing each festival in which 1,000 persons participate — all actual descendants of persons to whom the songs and dances were symbolic. She spends endless hours talking, traveling and in other ways contacting people who have inherited the folklore of their ancestors.

Virtually every state is represented.

Woman Artist Braves Bandits in Mountains

JOHANNESBURG—Mrs. Sannie Drew, a slight, middle-aged artist of Johannesburg, goes into the mountains of Africa all by herself.

To get material for paintings she is now exhibiting, she braved heat, bandits and treacherous mountain paths. She sketched many landscapes during solitary trips by camel into the bleak deserts of Eritrea. "I always went alone on these trips," she says, "I knew there were bandits, so I thought it would be safer not to stir up aggression by having an escort or by carrying arms."

On a three-week trip into Ethiopia to study paintings on rock churches, she found frescos dating back to the Eighth Century.

London Engineer Hunts Treasure

LONDON—Tests will be made by a London engineer in a new attempt to find the fabulous treasure lost by King John on his hurried journey across the Wash.

He believes the site to be near Wisbech. Some 30 or 40 feet below this land is the ancient causeway along which the tyrannical king and his army were journeying when the tide came in and overwhelmed the train of treasure wagons, which were taking a short cut at low tide.

Over the centuries, many feet of soil have been piled on top but the engineer believes he has plotted the causeway for two miles across the rich soil. He expects to start excavating.

Car Cigarette Lighter Causes Big Explosion

CALVERT CITY, Ky. (AP) — Hugh Smith shoved in the cigarette lighter on his car and got a bigger light than he expected. In some manner, a spark ignited gasoline fumes and caused an explosion.

The convertible, its top flapping, rolled on for 100 feet. The trail marked by its two doors and assorted nuts and bolts. Also left in its wake was Smith, who was blown out. He suffered only cuts and bruises.

Pigeons Win Reprieve

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U. S. — Sentimental Ohio State senators recently voted down a bill to trap and destroy the hoard of pigeons roosting on the capitol building when a cagey senator brought a demurelooking pigeon into the chamber to "face its accusers."

The pigeon covey and the Senate defeated the bill 19 to 13.

In normal conditions eight to 12 inches of snow equals one inch of water.

Pigtails Come With Hats

The short-haired girl who yearns for pigtails doesn't have to wait for her hair to grow any more; she can get a pigtail with a hat. The "pigtail hat" is a novel idea from London milliner Edward Har-vane, and it features a fancy pigtail jutting behind a little cocktail cap. Both cap and pigtail are of braided blue satin.

Out of every consumer dollar spent for pork, about 25 cents goes for fat cuts.

Tawas Bay Property Owners Fight Loading Dock

Lake Shore Residents Attempt to Halt Sale of Submerged Lands by State

TAWAS CITY — A group of lake shore property owners on Tawas Bay will go to court Monday to battle the State Conservation Department, the governor and the Legislature.

The legal fight, expected to go to the State Supreme Court before it is finished, shapes up as a test of the Legislature's right to dispose of state-owned Great Lakes bottom lands held in trust for the people.

Owners of lake-side cottages and homes on Tawas Bay are opposing a plan of the National Gypsum Co. to building a loading dock out into the bay.

A special act passed by the Legislature and signed by the governor permits the State Conservation Department to sell a square of lake bottom lands extending 800 feet along the shore and 600 feet out into the bay for that purpose. The company said it needed the dock to expand its operations.

Price tag put on the submerged lands by the Legislature was $4,000 or a sum set by the State Tax Commission, whichever was the greater. Property owners led by Malvern Obrecht and Rev. Robert Newman are asking a temporary injunction to prevent the Conservation Department from completing the transaction. They also are asking the Legislative act be declared invalid.

WILL BE TEST CASE

Nicholas V. Olds, Conservation Department attorney, said both sides will seek an early trial before Judge Herman Dehnke in Ingham County Court. Regardless of the outcome, Olds said, the matter probably will be appealed to the State Supreme Court as a test case.

The gypsum company, now hauling its product away by truck, wants to build the dock to allow transport by boat.

The objectors complain in their petition this would constitute a nuisance, depreciate property and give rise to dust, smoke and commercial traffic in a restricted and residential area.

An important legal point, Olds said, is the claim by the objectors that no determination was made that the property was not appropriate for fishing, fowling or public navigation.

Olds said he knew of only three other instances of sales of lake bottom lands by Legislative act.

NEED CLARIFICATION
Consumers Power Co. was allowed to purchase submerged lands on Saginaw Bay; Detroit Edison Co. purchased bottom lands at Harbor Beach; and Anitibi Paper Co. purchased land already filled in at Alpena.

Olds said the entire area of state control over submerged lands needs legal clarification.

In the case of private property owners who have filled in submerged lands in the past, the state is allowing them to take clear title by paying the actual value of the land before it was filled in. In most cases, this amounts to about 30 per cent of the present value.

Lake-side property owners on Lake St. Clair are those principally affected although the provision also applies to bottom lands in other areas of the state.

Americans Unhurt in Plane Accident

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (U)—An American family of six was among the passengers on an Ethiopian Airlines plane that made an emergency landing in the African desert.

The plane burned but none of the 14 passengers or five crew were hurt. The airline said they were being brought to Addis Ababa today from the desert near Khartoum.

The U. S. Point Four headquarters at Addis Ababa listed the American passengers as Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Tarut and their four young children from Greenbelt, Md.

The pilot of the downed four-engine Constellation was identified as Capt. "Tex" Salyers of Corpus Christi, Tex. The copilot and flight engineer also were described as Americans but their names were not available.

The Constellation, recently acquired from the United States, was en route from Athens to Addis Ababa when it developed engine trouble.

Actor Relates Synopsis to Late Theatre-Goers

MILWAUKEE (U)—Arthur Treacher was most accommodating when a group of about 35 women arrived at the Fred Miller theater 10 minutes after the start of the play "starring the British-born actor."

Treacher paused in his lines, stepped into the aisle and helped an usher seat the women. "I suppose it would help to know what has gone on before," he said on returning to the stage. He began a detailed explanation before pausing.

"Let's start the play over again," he said. Then Treacher began the play, "Clutterbuck," once more.

Brightest Teenagers in No Special Class

CHICAGO (INS)—The National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which last year awarded 556 scholarships to high school graduates, has decided that the brightest teenagers are neither bookworms, nor come from any particular economic bracket.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the $20-million, non-profit organization, said that an analysis of scholarship winners, selected on their ability to benefit from college training, shows they are able students with a surprising number and variety of extra-curricular and community activities. He added:

"These bright students come from every rank and station in the economy. Indicating that brains and ability are, like gold, where you find them."

Aussies Drilling for Oil on Lonely Hartog Isle

MELBOURNE — Drilling rigs are disturbing big sea-birds, in a place of centuries-old solitude, as Western Australia's oil search extends to Dirk Hartog Island. This long, narrow historic isle lies in the Indian Ocean 600 miles north of Perth and it was here that the first recorded landing in Australia by Europeans took place on Oct. 25, 1616.

A Dutch captain, Dirk Hartog, anchored his ship long enough to rest his crew ashore. He recorded his landing on a tin plate which he nailed to a post.

Until recently, the island was an uninhabited stretch of sand and salt brush 40 miles long and five to seven miles wide. Now oil prospectors have begun their first drilling, with a rig brought 3,000 miles overland from Queensland. A bulldozer went along to clear a road to the drilling site.

Long Months of Toil Will Make Queen's Visit Glitter

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS) — Thanks to a staggering amount of planning during these summer dog-days, Queen Elizabeth's arrival here on a frosty morning next October will probably look as effortless as tea and crumpets.

The spats-and-cane boys at the State Department and the British Embassy had already put in several months of planning, even before they knew for sure that Her Majesty would accept President Eisenhower's invitation for a state visit this fall.

Now they are really at it! Hundreds of people are involved in the delicate negotiations to assure a successful few-days visit for the Queen and her prince consort.

And it might ease American-Japanese tensions a trifle if Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi—now visiting the USA—were to know that practically the same tireless preparations were made for him.

CONGER IS KEY

Protocol Chief Wiley Buchanan meets all top-ranking foreign officials the moment that they step on American soil. But it is seldom seen Clement Conger, Wiley's assistant chief, who performs the laborious task of laying the groundwork for these colorful state visits.

Clem and his staff have already —four months before the date of Her Majesty's arrival—submitted a carefully timed list of suggestions for her approval or rejection.

Tentatively, the possibilities look like this: The Queen and Prince Philip will fly to Jamestown, Va., from Ottawa on Oct. 16, in President Eisenhower's official plane, if she accepts his courtesy offer.

A mad scramble is currently under way to decide who will host her visit there, and which nights she will see. For months, an entire wing of the Williamsburg Inn has been blocked off from fall reservations, to await the determination of the exact date.

WING OPENED

Now the wing has been released except for Oct. 16, although no one yet knows whether she will decide to spend the night there or fly to Washington that evening.

Military commanders of the capital area are already arranging to have thousands of troops stationed at arms length throughout the two-mile stretch from the Potomac Bridge leading from National Airport to the President's guest house across from the executive mansion.

The Civil Service Commission, as soon as alerted, will dismiss government workers to crowd the line of march for a glimpse of the youthful British Queen and her dashing spouse.

The social schedule will be a back-breaking one. The first night, the Elsenhowers will entertain Elizabeth and Philip at a White House dinner.

The next evening, Secretary of State Dulles will perform similar honors at the Pan American Union. The third night, Her Majesty will return the pleasantries with a dinner at the British Embassy.

In between, she will undoubtedly toss a gargantuan reception at the Embassy, attend a function hosted by the Commonwealth ambassadors, and a luncheon by Vice President Nixon at the Capitol.

Elizabeth is also being offered visits to the National Gallery of Art, the archives building, Library of Congress, Folger-Shakespeare library, Washington Cathedral, and the inevitable wreath-laying ceremonies at Mt. Vernon and Arlington Cemetery.

If the regal young woman should inwardly rebel at the latter, it is understandable. After all, she performed the identical tiresome chore during her brief day-and-a-half visit here as a Princess during the Truman regime.

DOZENS OF AIDES

No one yet knows the size of the retinue which will accompany the Queen. Only 10, along with servants and secretaries, can be accommodated with her at the official guest house. The others—and there may be dozens—must be bedded down at the British Embassy and our better hotels.

Food lists will be checked well in advance to assure that any positive dislikes are omitted, and any dietary rules observed. Recipes for British tea-times must be permitted in the jammed schedules.

Monday, Oct. 21, will find the Queen excitedly viewing New York for the first time, via a ticker-tape parade on Broadway, a luncheon with the mayor, and a possible tour of skyscrapers and the United Nations.

Yes, it's a mad scramble, but long before Elizabeth and Philip actually touch American soil at Williamsburg, Conger and his group will be deep in similar arrangements for the November visit of the Sultan of Morocco.

It's pretty old-hat to Conger, who already this year has performed identical chores for King Saud of Arabia, Premier Mollet of France, Chancellor Adenauer of Germany, and the president of Viet Nam.

Cooperation of Citizens Is Key to Enforcement

The Oakland County Sheriff's Office has opened a crackdown on reckless and careless boat operators on county lakes.

Included in the safety campaign is a move to increase citizen reporting of violations and the threat of one township justice to hand down straight jail sentences to violators.

IMPOSSIBLE TASK

Sheriff Frank Irons said the task of patrolling every lake is "impossible" in addition to the other department duties.

Therefore, he said, the prime responsibility for reporting violations on lakes lies with the private citizens. "Once a complaint is phoned in, we can swing into action," he said.

West Bloomfield Justice Elmer C. Dieterle has opened fire on the violators because "the situation has reached such proportions that fines no longer seem to register as adequate warning."

He meted out the first reckless boat driving jail sentence late in June to Duane E. MacLeod, of Royal Oak, whose speeding boat threw up waves which swamped another boat.

He was fined $40 plus $10 costs and five days in jail.

Dieterle promised this was not the end of harsh punishment for reckless and careless boat operation.

In asking for citizen cooperation in spotting violations, Irons stressed the need for prompt action and a complete description.

COMPLETE DESCRIPTION

He urged that the call be made soon enough for one of his deputies to arrive at the lake while the offending boat is still on the lake.

Information on present laws governing the use of boats on inland lakes is available at the sheriff's office or the Michigan State Waterways Commission, 1004 Cadillac Square Bldg., Detroit.

Adult Workers Replace 'Kids'

Schools Face Summer of Construction Work Before Fall

By HAROLD S. COHEN

Summertime is often thought of as a period of rest for school buildings. With the clatter of children's voices gone, the schools may give an impression of quiet graveyards of learning.

Actually, summer is a period of extreme activity, with workmen sawing and hammering as they refurbish and repair the structures in anticipation of the opening September school bell.

In Pontiac, a great variety of projects, totaling hundreds of thousands of dollars, are under way in a number of schools this summer.

At the McConnell and Wisner Schools, new ground floor boiler rooms are being built for more than $100,000 where old coal sheds once stood.

The new boilers will conform to the state code which frowns on boilers in basements, where, if they exploded, hundreds of youngsters directly above could be hurt.

At Central School, the entire steam heating system is being revamped from a one-pipe to the more efficient two-pipe system at a cost of $9,000.

Pontiac High School is also getting a reworking. A new boys' gymnasium floor is being installed and the fire alarm system, which formerly missed many areas of the building, is being extended at a cost of $2,975.

The girls' shower room is also being completely redone for $8,847 and outside, tuck pointing of the bricks will be done in front.

The junior highs are also due

SURVIVAL SUPPLIES — Mr. and Mrs. Karl F. Emde, of Lakewood, Ohio, their two sons, Charles and Fred, and Bim, the family pooch, illustrate what the well-equipped family should have, according to Civil Defense officials, in the event it is ordered to evacuate the area. From left, supplies include sleeping bags, jug of water, soft drinks, blankets, first-aid kit, flashlight, can opener, cooking utensils, canteen, portable radio, portable stove, and several days' food supply, mostly canned goods.

Took Streetcar Home, But Drove It Himself

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — "It was too wet to walk and too late to take a taxi," said Frank Duffy, "so I took a tram home."

The only trouble was, Duffy drove the streetcar.

After two years as a conductor on the city's transit system, the 22-year-old Duffy was fired today. The Melbourne Tramways Board charged that Duffy, who had never driven a tram before, took one on a 30-mile ride through the city's suburbs this morning.

Duffy, whose father is a Melbourne tram driver, said: "I just wanted to be like dad."

DEER-EST OF FRIENDS — This little eight-day-old fawn is the playmate of 4-month-old Robert Hughes at the Bournemouth, England, animal shelter where Robert's dad is superintendent.

The fawn apparently was abandoned by its mother and is being raised at the shelter on bottle feeding, just like its human buddy.

Overloading of Boats Cited as Major Cause of Mishaps

By DICK SAUNDERS

While the death toll on the highways continues to rise alarmingly, lake areas like Oakland County also are plagued by a steadily climbing death toll in boat accidents.

Reckless or careless use of a boat is as dangerous as similar abuse of automobile usage.

A case in point is the June 22 drowning of a Waterford Township man, Edward Lester of 4000 Totem Lane. He took his wife, three children and a neighbor child for a boat ride on Cass Lake.

The wave from a passing speedboat swamped the boat and Lester drowned after saving the children.

OVERLOADED BOAT

The accident was caused by "overloading," according to Ferris W. Holcomb, deputy sheriff in charge of Boat Livery Inspection.

He cited a state law which says the "maximum load for any boat under eight feet, six inches" is "two adult passengers."

Two children under 15, whose weight does not exceed 200 pounds, may be considered an adult passenger.

The Lester boat was seven feet, 10 inches long and had the two allowable adult passengers—a man and four children in addition.

The maximum is set for ideal weather conditions, as maximum speed limits on the highway are for good roads, not icy, slippery ones.

ONLY 2 MEN

Illustrating this point is the death of a Livonia man, Charles Koonitz, who went out on Loon Lake with a friend. Two men in a seven-foot boat—not overloading by the letter of the law.

But the water was rough and choppy and the two men and a motor proved too much for the boat, which swamped not far from shore, with Koonitz drowning.

In fighting the overloading problem, the sheriff's office is cracking down on proper marking of the primoll line, an indicator of the amount of distance between the top of the boat and the surface which is safe when the boat is fully loaded.

BINOCULARS USED

If the mark is below the surface, the boat is overloaded. Deputies with binoculars are able to maintain a check on the boats by watching the primoll marks.

The correct amount of freeboard allowed are: Boats under eight feet, eight inches; 8-10 feet, 8½ inches; 10-12 feet, 9 inches; 12-14 feet, 9½ inches; 14-16 feet, 10 inches, and anything over 16 feet long, 10½ inches with an additional half inch for each foot in length.

Inflation—Chronic Ill or Imagined Fear?

First in series of 3 on inflation

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (U)—A retired couple find they must scrimp to live — although their nestegg once promised ease, even luxury. A factory worker or an office worker finds his pay check pleasantly better than 10 years ago — and then is surprised and dismayed when his bills for the same goods and services climb out of sight.

by the name of inflation—more money around but its purchasing power dwindling.
Some feel better off under inflation, but those who save for a rainy day, those who want to build new homes, factories or schools, fear that what we have now may grow into chronic inflation and become the big bad wolf of our age.
Economists and politicians are squabbling over whether what we are seeing today is really "inflation" at all or a wage-price spiral that is just one of the consequences of past inflation.

Here are some definitions of classic inflation, of hidden inflation, of creeping inflation, of wage push, demand-pull, and profit-push inflation.
Classic inflation is the kind we had during World War II when new money and credit was created in great quantities to finance the defense effort, while output of consumer goods was cut sharply. It resulted in too much money chasing too few goods. To keep prices from rising sharply the government tried direct controls on wages and prices.
Hidden inflation is when prices aren't changed but the quality or size of a product deteriorates — the 5-cent candy bar goes pigmy.

Creeping inflation is a term coined to describe what has been happening the last year or so — prices go up a nickel or a dime at a time first on one thing and then on another, so that the purchasing power of a dollar dwindles. In terms of purchasing power of the 1940, or "100-cent" dollar, the 1956 dollar bought only 50.5 cents worth and today's buys only 49.8 cents worth.
Wage-push inflation is what management calls the present situation where, it says, rising wage scales are pushing costs, and hence prices, always higher.
Profit-push inflation is what labor officials call the same situation. They say the urge to pile up record profits, rather than hold price lines, is the villain.

pulling interest rates up, and all the price of these capital goods too.
Because money is being kept tight, the money managers say there is no "classic inflation" now.
But the average man just knows that prices are going up and the dollar shrinking — by whatever name you call it.
Tomorrow: Various causes cited for today's inflation.

Rudeness on Highways Brings National Disgrace

CHICAGO (INS) — A National Safety Council official says that "plain, ordinary rudeness" is costing Americans millions of dollars each month.

NSC public information director Paul Jones believes:

"Lack of friendly courtesy is one of our most costly failings in this country today.

"Failure to treat other people courteously and the absence of a desire to give real service are costing the country many millions of dollars a month.

"It loses friends, chases away customers, disrupts business, cracks up cars on the highway and messes up things in general."

TOO MUCH 'ME FIRST'

Jones cited what he called the "me first" attitude of some automobile drivers as an example of rudeness and discourtesy towards others.

He said that if a "small but spectacular percentage of drivers" could be purged of this "me first" attitude, the country would take "a big step toward reducing a highway toll that is a national disgrace."

Jones asserted that this "boorish" traffic behavior goes deeper than mere lack of manners. He said:

"It reflects the same attributes of greed, selfishness and disregard for the rights of others that bring about black marketing, bribery, corruption and the current slump in old-fashioned morality."

As an antidote for this unsocial behavior, Jones urged that a greater effort be made to bring about a more general understanding by the average person of fundamental public relations.

The safety official said there is no mystery about public relations despite the "elegance and expense with which it is sometimes cloaked." He explained:

"Public relations is simply the Golden Rule applied to modern living.

"It is merely being fair and thoughtful and courteous and friendly to the people with whom you deal."

Jones added that "good public relations doesn't have to cost a cent. Anyone can practice it who really wants to."

OAKLAND, Me.—A unique razor type of lawn sickle, made by an Oakland firm, features a replaceable steel blade and a folding hardwood handle that makes the grass-trimming tool pocket-size. A new, razor-sharp blade that can be installed in seconds costs less than sharpening the old one.

Name 'Dollar' Adopted

WASHINGTON — The name dollar was adopted by Congress in 1785 for the monetary unit of U.S. currency because the Spanish dollar was the chief unit of money used in the colonies at that time.

Plans to Climb Heights Again

Injured Grad Student in 'Pretty Good Shape' After 'Copter Rescue

STOCKTON, Calif. — "Of course I'll go on mountain climbing," says John Findley Scott, who was rescued by helicopter yesterday four days after he suffered severe injuries in a mountainside fall.

Scott, 23-year-old graduate student at the University of California, was reported in "pretty good shape" by his doctor despite fractures of the wrist, ankle, foot, two ribs and a vertebra and many cuts and bruises.

Flown first to a hospital in Bishop, then to a home town hospital here, Scott said there would be no more mountain climbing "for a while, as I guess I'll be flat on my back for some time."

"And when I do start again, I'm going to be more cautious," he added.

Scott plunged "about 60 feet in two bounces" to a ledge at the 14,000-foot level of Palisade Peak in Kings Canyon National Park while he was hiking with five friends Saturday.

A rescue team reached him Monday and carried him by litter to Upper Palisades Lake at the 11,000-foot level in the High Sierras.

The altitude was considerably higher than that at which helicopters usually operate, but Maj. Jones P. Siegler of Edwards Air Force Base flew one up. Unable to land the craft at the campsite, Siegler hovered overhead while Scott was hoisted aboard.

Bullets Fired Again on Israel-Syria Line

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (U. S. A.)—An Israeli army spokesman said Syrian positions fired rifles and machine guns today on Israel's Gonen settlement, but that no one was hurt.

Gonen, on the west bank of the Jordan River in eastern upper Galilee, was the center of a 10-hour border skirmish Tuesday.

The army spokesman said the shooting today lasted only 15 minutes.

Israeli sources reported "fervent military activity and troop movements" yesterday on the Syrian side of the armistice line.

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion and Gen. Moshe Dayan, army chief of staff, visited settlements near the Syrian border.

Effects 1956 Decision, Follows Wife in Death

FUKUSHIMA, Japan (U. S. A.)—Police reported today Rintoku Yamuchi, 46, committed suicide and left a note saying, "I am putting into practice what I decided at 10 a.m. Dec. 26, 1956."

That was the hour and date Yamuchi was returned from Russia after 11 years as a prisoner of war. On arrival at the repatriation port of Yokohama, Yamuchi learned that his wife had fallen from a car and been killed while en route to meet him.

He hanged himself yesterday in a forest near his home.

Stassen to Elaborate on Disarming Plan

LONDON (U. S. A.)—Harold E. Stassen prepared to tell the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee today more about the U. S. proposal for beginning a partial disarmament treaty with a 10-month suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

U. S. informants said the chief American delegate promised the new statement at yesterday's subcommittee session but gave no hint whether the United States would be willing to extend the suspension period.

The Soviet Union has insisted on a halt of at least two years in weapons tests, but the U. S.

sources said the Russians invited new discussions on the American proposal.

Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin was said to have asked Stassen to elaborate on the plan, adding, "Perhaps you can convince us."

New Pact Approved by Atom Site Guards

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U. S. A.)—Unionized security guards at the nearby atomic test site voted last night to accept the latest company offer on wages and other benefits, the union announced.

The Independent Guards Assn. of Nevada has set a strike deadline of July 16. They are employed by Federal Services, Inc., which is under contract to the Atomic Energy Commission to provide security protection.

Michigan Inmates May Get 1st Hike 'Since Hoover'

LANSING, Mich. (U. S. A.)—Michigan prison inmates may get a pay hike soon — their first "since Herbert Hoover's time."

Corrections Director Gus Harrison told the State Corrections Commission yesterday that prison pay ranges from 5 cents a day for unskilled workers to 70 cents a day for skilled labor.

The inmates use the money they earn to buy cigarettes and other personal items. Harrison said 10 prisoners staged a sitdown strike recently to protest a 2-cent increase in the state tax on cigarettes.

The commission ordered prison wages reviewed after Harrison told them they "haven't been altered since almost Herbert Hoover's time."

This 'Flying Saucer' Came From California

BOSTON (U. S. A.)—The Air Force today answered the question of what it was that floated lazily across New England' skies last night.

The Air Force research center at nearby Bedford identified the object — which earlier had been described variously as a "flying saucer" and a "satellite" — as one of their weather balloons, launched at Vernalis, Calif.

The balloon, which appeared at dusk at an estimated 100,000 feet, prompted hundreds of curious to telephone newspapers seeking answers as to what it really was.

Hawaii Beaches Give Travelers Quiet, Solitude

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Beachcombing in Hawaii is a recreation offering the quiet and solitude desired by shore strollers, plus the modern conveniences of nearby plush resort hotels.

The island of Oahu is rimmed by a score of beaches ideally suited for strolling, sunning, surfing, fishing and shell collecting. Kaula, the "Garden Island," is a beachcomber's paradise.

Another island, Maui, boasts a leeward coast where there is room to roam in Polynesian solitude.

The islands are replete with broad and lovely beaches—even some composed of black sand—bordered by fern forests, an occasional village and, of course, the sea.

The treasures washed upon the sandy strips are of the intrinsic variety: Lovely shells, driftwood and even glass balls used by Japanese as net fishing floats.

Waikiki beach, on Honolulu's capital island of Oahu, is the lone beach not offering the quiet restfulness enjoyed by the beachcomber. Waikiki is one of the busiest beaches—on and off-shore—in the world.

First Traffic Light

NEW YORK—First traffic light in New York City was erected in 1920 at the crossing of 42nd street and Fifth avenue.

Town Calls Itself Dude Ranch Center

BANDERA, Tex. (INS) — "Not one foot of railroad, but ten million miles of goat tracks —" That's the motto of Bandera, Tex., which also likes to call itself the "dude ranch capital of the world."

Located in the hill country of south central Texas, about 40 miles northwest of San Antonio, the area is typical old west and has plenty of hotels, motels and ranches where blue jeans and open shirts are almost a rule for dress.

There is square dancing, golfing, swimming, hunting, fishing and horseback riding, and if the goat tracks are not enticing, the Chamber of Commerce says there are

"hills with seashells on top, dinosaur tracks, caves, and sites of old Indian fights."

Policeman Claims Dog Can Smell Out Fires

TOKYO (INS) — A dog which can smell a fire an hour before it starts was reported today in northern Japan.

Ryo Saito, a police official in the Yamagata Prefectural Police Headquarters, claims that his dog barks fiercely just one hour before a fire occurs in the vicinity of his home.

Saito said the whole business sounds unscientific but pointed out that facts have backed up his claim.

He said his four-year-old mongrel, Kuro, had barked prophetically before the three fires which broke out recently near his home.

Youth, 12, Builds Auto for $6 Cash

MENTOR, Ohio (INS) — Mickey Fisher of Mentor is the proud owner of a "do-it-yourself" midsize auto which is capable of hitting speeds up to 15 miles per hour.

It took the 12-year-old mechanically-inclined youngster nearly three years and a total outlay of $6 in cash to build the vehicle, which is propelled by a lawn mower motor.

Mickey got the motor from his father and the eight-inch carriage wheels from his grandfather, who owns a junk shop.

"It's geared down to six to one,"

Mickey explains as he points to the transmission — a rubber-chained outfit which cost him $6.

Medical Group Urges Society to Aid Alcoholic

DENVER (INS) — The Colorado State Medical Society says society must be more willing to help an alcoholic to overcome his disease.

The doctors point out: "... the more society will recognize alcoholism as a disease, and distinguish between it and the mere glut of drunkenness, the more readily alcoholics will be able to admit and come to grips with their problem."

Automobile drivers in Guatemala must have a medical test every five years.

Arkansas Boosts Itself as Mecca for Retirement

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (INS) — Arkansas in general — and the Ozarks in particular — may join California, Florida and Arizona as a mecca for retirement.

Good average year-around temperatures, a place to hunt, fish and putter around and above all, cheap living conditions, are already bringing hundreds of the retired to the state.

The Arkansas Parks Commission is boosting the state as a "place where the living is easy after retirement." The commission says it has received inquiries from 42 states, Alaska and Canada.

Most of the requests for more information came from the northern states where winters are cold, but there was a number from California, one of the leading states for the retired.

One letter said: "I'm going to retire next year, but I need a cheaper place to live than California."

Prescribes Daily Beer

NEWARK, N. J. (INS) — Mrs. Joan Pilar has found her fountain of youth—right in a bottle of beer.

Mrs. Pilar, who lives alone and does all her own housework in a five-room home, will soon be 101. Her formula: work hard and take a bottle of beer a day.

Hal Boyle Says:

Franklin, 'Lost State,' Almost Made 14th Star

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—Few Americans today are familiar with a bizarre period on the frontier when Franklin, the "Lost State," almost became the 14th star in the U.S. flag.

It is told here nightly to thousands of tourists who attend "Chucky Jack," an outdoor drama written by Kermit Hunter, one of the most successful authors of this type of pioneer sagas.

These dramas, which afford a painless way to learn history while cooling off under the stars, are spreading in popularity throughout America, and "Chucky Jack" is among the best.

The cast of 92 unites the talents of Broadway professionals, college drama students, and local residents. The role of Thomas Jefferson, for example, is played by Richard Bunting, chef and manager of the New Gatlinburg Inn restaurant, who formerly was a Broadway dancer.

lands beyond the Great Smoky Mountains.

Angered at lack of what he considered proper military support in these campaigns from the North Carolina Legislature, Sevier joined the settlers in a revolt to set up the State of Franklin. He became its first governor.

This colorful experiment in pioneer self-rule lasted from 1785 to 1788, when the State of Franklin collapsed in a state of chaos.

Sevier was charged with treason by North Carolina, but later served in its Legislature, the national Congress, and became the first governor of Tennessee, when it was admitted to the Union as the 16th state.

Less well-known nationally than other sons of "the Volunteer State" such as Davy Crockett, Andrew Jackson and Sam Houston, he is a regional hero here and played a key role in America's early westward expansion.

A veteran of King's Mountain and other Revolutionary War engagements, Sevier fought 32 battles with the Cherokee and Creek Indians to open for settlement the convicted as a horse thief.

"It is therefore ordered that the said Elias Pybourn be confined in the public pillory one hour; that he have both his ears nailed to the pillory and severed from his head; that he receive at the public whipping post 39 lashes well laid on; and be branded on the right cheek with the letter 'H' and on the left cheek with the letter 'T'."

Today you'll find very few horse thieves in Tennessee, the state "Chucky Jack" did so much to found.

One Killed, One Injured in Crash Near Marietta

MARIETTA (AP)—Bernard J. Townes, 57, Detroit, was killed last night when the moving van he was driving ran out of control 2½ miles north of Marietta and overturned.

A passenger in the van, James Wade, 34, also of Detroit, suffered critical injuries and was taken to Marietta Community Hospital. State police said there were no witnesses to the accident.

There'll Be Shootin' in Santa Fe Sunday

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—There's gonna be a gun fight in Santa Fe Sunday.

The sheriff will be there with a posse, but he won't lift a trigger finger to stop it. No one will.

The site of the fight will be the rodeo arena in Santa Fe—in the heart of Billy the Kid's old stomping grounds.

There won't be real bullets in the six-guns. The participants will all be under 12, and they won't really be shooting at each other, just against each other.

It started when two California youngsters, Eric and Lars Henderson, 11 and 9, appeared on a television show demonstrating some new cap pistols. They were touted as among the too fast to see. They can draw and fan one shot in three tenths of a second, and draw and fan five in one second flat.

Detroit Police Smash $500,000 Numbers Ring

DETROIT (AP)—A task force of 36 police officers raided six Detroit homes and one in Highland Park last night to crack a numbers ring which grossed $500,000 a year.

The officers arrested 11 men and seven women and confiscated nine cars, an unrevealed sum of money and 15,000 mutuels slips.

Lt. Eugene Geibig who led the raiders named the leaders of the syndicate as Lawrence Wingate, 30, George James, 53, and Clovis Rayford.

Geibig said the three were being held for investigation of conspiring to violate Michigan's gambling laws. He said the others arrested were being held for investigation of gambling.

Tugs Hope to Free Hard-Luck Freighter

BAY CITY (AP) — Two tugs were expected to arrive here today to pull the hard-luck freighter A.M. Byers out of the path of other traffic on the Saginaw River.

The Byers, which sank in the St. Clair River after a collision in 1956, was caught in a powerful, high current on the river yesterday and swung crosswise as she tried to turn. The current pushed the vessel downstream and pinned it against piers at the new but incomplete Veterans Memorial Bridge.

The ship's bow caught on a pier near the east shore and the stern on a pier near the west shore. One pier was cracked, but the damage was not believed to be serious. The vessel appeared unharmed.

Coast Guard officials said the hung-up ship was blocking all river traffic. They said the tugs would try to pull the Byers loose today if the current slackens sufficiently.

The Byers sank in the St. Clair River last year after colliding with the cement carrier E. M. Ford.

Association Appoints Executive Secretary

LANSING (AP) — J. Irvin Nichols will take over as executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Assn. Sept. 1, MTA President Theo V. Eddy announced today.

Nichols, who now holds a similar post with the Kentucky Tuberculosis Assn., will replace Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary for the Michigan group since 1922.

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — John Ritzler, 14, of Battle Creek, drowned Wednesday while attempting to swim from a dock to a raft in Gogunc Lake outside Battle Creek.

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge

Bury Ashes Tomorrow

PLYMOUTH, Vt. (AP) — The ashes of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, widow of the former President, will be buried tomorrow in a grave next to those of her husband and their son, who died at the age of 16 while the Coolidges occupied the White House.

Mrs. Coolidge died Monday at her home in Northampton, Mass. Her grave and that of her husband and son are but a quarter of a mile away from the home-stand where Col. John Coolidge administered the oath of the presidency to his son on the night of Aug. 2, 1923.

A simple funeral service lasting 17 minutes was held yesterday at Edward Congregational Church, Northampton, with the Rev. Richard Linde, pastor, officiating. Some 300 relatives, friends and state and city officials attended the services at the old, red brick church.

There was no eulogy — as there was none when Coolidge's funeral was held in Northampton Jan. 7, 1933.

The Rev. Mr. Linde read a poem during the services which was written by Mrs. Coolidge on the fifth anniversary of the death of her son.

It read in part: "And when you went before, 'You left the gates of heaven ajar. 'That I might glimpse approaching from afar. 'The glories of His grace.' Mrs. Coolidge's body was taken to Springfield, Mass., for cremation after the services.

Tiger Hunting Wins Approval of Reds

HONG KONG (INS) — Tiger hunting in Red China ranks among the virtues of the Chinese Communists.

Sixty-nine-year-old Chen Chifeng, credited with bagging more than 300 tigers and leopards in southern Hunan Province, has been elected as a delegate to the provincial conference of Outstanding Peasants and Agricultural Workers, reports the Communist New-China News Agency, which failed to state how many tigers were eliminated by Chen before the Communists came to power.

The Communist report added that Chen has been a professional tiger hunter since the age of 25. He now heads a group of 34 hunters including three of his sons. Chen, the report proudly claims, uses only the bow and arrow.

Slot Machines Get Blind Dates for Frauleins

LUEBECK, W. Germany — Love now comes out of a slot machine for West Germany's 3,000,000 "surplus women." The inventor, Otto Griepengrog of Luebeck, is making a fortune from his "friendship" machines.

They display cards which, for a small fee, enable anyone to pick a girl or man companion for a carnival dance, show or other social event.

On the reverse side, visible only when the card tumbles from the slot, is the address of the blind date. Church leaders are disturbed over the woman situation.

They say that West Germany is "a sugar daddy's paradise" in which female companionship can be obtained "according to specifications" by the mere insertion of an advertisement in a newspaper.

They also claim that a shocking

Plan Port Austin Harbor

PORT AUSTIN (AP) — Construction of a harbor of refuge for small boats is scheduled to start at Port Austin Aug. 24, the Michigan Waterways Commission said. The $1,269,100 project calls for completion of a 1,931-foot breakwater wall by November. The harbor will be dredged to a 10-foot depth next spring.

Holy Ghost Fathers to Build in Richmond

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — The Order of Holy Ghost Fathers says a training center for missionary brothers will be built in Richmond, Mich., in Macomb County.

The Rev. Herbert F. Shuster, novice master for Brothers of the Holy Ghost Novitiate at Ridgefield, said he will leave for Michigan this week to direct the construction.

Charged as 'Dognappers'

FLINT (AP) — Police have arrested two men and a third is sought in a "dognapping" scheme involving the theft and sale of valuable dogs. Officers said the men stole dogs in Flint and nearby St. Charles, took them to Mississippi and sold or traded them, then returned to Flint with other dogs they sold or traded. Harry Wilson, 42, and Clayton Sawvel, 22, were charged with larceny of dogs worth over $50.

Modern Man Without Country Finds New Home After Years of Searching

Christian George Hanna called out of the obscurity of northeast Africa into the limelight of a court case typical of our time — the search of an individual for a place to call home. Healthy, intelligent, free of any criminal guilt, the illiterate Hanna showed away in a ship that was to become his prison for nearly two years. He sailed thousands of miles before being found by newsmen and a young lawyer, Donald S. White, of Vancouver, B. C., who touched off the events that led eventually to his freedom as an "undisturbed alien" citizen and working in Vancouver as a potential Canadian citizen.

By CHRISTIAN GEORGE HANNA (as told to Ben Metcalfe)

VANCOUVER, B. C. — When people ask me about my life I do not know where to begin, because my life has begun many times and ended many times since I was born 23 years ago.

I was born at sea when my mother was one day out from Djibouti, French Somaliland, on her way to join my father in Liberia. I never saw my father. The ship returned my mother to port after my birth because she was too ill to go on.

DIDN'T EAT MUCH
Life with my mother in Djibouti was happy though we did not eat a lot. She was a good mother.

But when I was only six years old she was killed by a car. An old woman took care of me for awhile but I was unhappy and I ran away to find my life again.

Maybe I was 10 years old. It was about the year 1944. There had been a war around my country but it was over now and I joined a caravan traveling to Ethiopia. In the caravan was a Christian priest and he said I should stay near him until we got to Addis Ababa.

WAS GOOD MAN

He was a good man, the best I had ever known, and like a father to me and everyone. He kept me at his house in Addis Ababa for six years. I was very happy, nearly as happy as with my mother. He made me a Christian and gave me that name for my own.

But he was an old man, and when his life ended so did mine.

For the next four years I looked for a new life — in Eritrea, in British Somaliland, in Aden. Everywhere, I was just another stranger.

When I slipped into Djibouti again I found I was a stranger there, too. So I stowed away on the Italian ship bound for Beirut. They found me three days out, but let me go ashore when we docked.

In Beirut, I lived like a rat along the wharves. I was afraid to go into the city where I had hoped to start my life again. Then I decided to stow away again on a ship for Europe.

I close the Gudvig and half a day out gave myself up to the captain. It was a good Norwegian ship and I learned from the captain and crew many things about the sea. But when they tried to land me anywhere I learned also that I was a prisoner, perhaps forever.

At Djibouti they refused to let me land. The same at Casablanca, London, Rotterdam, New York, Newcastle, Eng., Philadelphia and Vancouver. For 16 months I had only the ship for a country.

LOCKED IN CABIN

When the Gudvig docked I was locked inside my tiny cabin.

Then on December 26 on my third visit to Vancouver a man from shore came aboard and by accident he saw me. He was Sir Michael Bruce, a newspaper columnist. The next day other newspapermen came to see me, and a lawyer, Don White, who promised to help me find a country.

Norwegian Whalers Snub South Africa

CAPE TOWN, S. Africa — Cape Town, South Africa, figures it has lost some $700,000 a year in hard cash because three Norwegian whaling fleets have changed their fishing habits. Norway's fleets, the Hector whalers, the Cosmos and the Thors Hammer, will no longer call at Table Bay harbor.

The fleets, with their crews of "pay-happy" men, will now be sailing straight down from Norway to Montevideo, Uruguay. Apart from the definite cash loss is the enormous loss of revenue to South Africa in general from harbor dues, repairs, refits and various shipping dues.

When the Gudvig sailed from Port Alberni on Vancouver Island, I thought they had forgotten me. But I was wrong.

At midnight on January 17, Mr. White and Ben Metcalfe, another Vancouver reporter, came aboard and took me ashore. I was so happy I could not speak. While they drove me to the Vancouver ferry I thought I was being born all over again. It was exactly like that.

I do not know what Mr. White had to do in the courts. He taught me to sign my name, but I could not read or write any language. I am only beginning now.

He worked for two months. Then on March 6 a Supreme Court judge said they could not deport me because no one would take me. He said for them to put me back on the ship was like sentencing me to prison for all my life.

Now the Canadian government lets me work. I have gone to sea again, but this time only aboard a tug sailing the west coast. For the first time in my life I am earning a wage — $196 a month.

I am still a man without a country. But I have my life again. And the people tell me I may be allowed to live it here where it started.

That would be the best way for me.

An angry man is Sylvester T. Bly.
Who today was sold a piece of "blue sky."
He'd stepped in a showroom—out of the rain,
Was sold a new car before he could explain!
How he hated the styling—so high and square
And in new features it was really bare.
"I got a real bargain—the buy of my life—
But how do I ever convince my own wife?"

Moral: You're paying for a new car...make sure you get one!

When you buy a new car, put your money on tomorrow—not yesterday. Swept-Wing Dodge actually obsoletes other cars in its field. Should you invest in high, boxy styling when Dodge offers the low, low look of tomorrow? Should you invest in outmoded coil springs when Dodge offers new Torsion-Aire Ride? Should you invest in an old-fashioned lever-type transmission when Dodge offers the ease of Push-Button Driving? In other things, too—engines, brakes, interiors—Dodge is years ahead. So put your money on tomorrow. See your Dodge dealer. Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge!

Sugar to Be Produced in Provinces of Sudan

SUVA, Fiji Islands—The Fiji Government of Sudan has reached agreement with a London firm on a plan to produce sugar in the southern provinces.

The company has been experimenting with this project for some years. Under the plan, production at full capacity will supply half the country's present sugar requirements, which now are met entirely by imports.

All That Glitters Is Gold on One Kentucky Farm

HENDERSON, Ky., 10 — All that glitters is gold on one farm in Union County. William S. Brown, owner of the 122-acre farm, learned that after the U. S. Department of the Interior made a check. For years, Brown said, he's been almost blinded by the glitter coming from the rock patch when the sun is shining. Eventually, he hopes to mine the area.

Skymen Study Mars' Behavior

Probe Strange Actions Seen During Planet's Close Approach

WASHINGTON—Astronomers of the International Mars Committee and of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific met June 17-19 in Flagstaff, Ariz., at the Lowell Observatory, to consider the strange behavior of the planet Mars during its close, 35-million-mile approach to Earth last year.

Host for the occasion was Dr. Earl C. Slipher, acting director of Lowell and secretary of the International Mars Committee. Dr. Slipher, who has observed Mars for more than 50 years, led the National Geographic Society's Mars expeditions during the planet's "oppositions" of 1954 and 1956.

THOUSANDS OF PHOTOS
Working with the Lamont-Hussey Observatory's powerful 27-inch refracting telescope at Bloemfontein in South Africa, Dr. Slipher made 20,000 photographs of Mars in 1954, and more than 40,000 in 1956.

The Mars of the 1954 opposition looked precisely the way astronomers predicted it would. The canals, the oases, the rifts in the rapidly-melting polar cap, and the blue-green areas thought to be vegetation were clearly visible.

The Mars of 1956 was something else again. As Dr. Slipher reported recently to the National Geographic Society's Research Committee, "Just before opposition time — on September 30, when Earth and Mars were lined up with the sun — yellow clouds suddenly began to appear over the planet."

In two or three nights, the Martian polar cap was completely obscured and most of the surface was also thoroughly obscured by what was assumed to be a dust pall.

Pakistani Chief Premier Visiting Ike

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Pakistan Premier Hussein Shaheed Suhrawardy has weighty matters of state on his mind as he settles down in Washington today for talks with President Eisenhower.

Nonetheless, the capital's hostesses probably will find him a happy guest at any parties he may attend during his stay. At home, the prime minister has been known literally to dance all night at diplomatic parties.

In fact, his reputation for enjoying a good time has made him the target of some "Holy Men" in the Moslem theocratic state which he has governed for ten months.

But the 64-year-old prime minister also is a brilliant lawyer and one of the nation's sharpest politicians. He has needed both brilliance and shrewdness to remain on top in the constant scramble for power that marks Karachi politics.

LITTLE VISIBLE SUPPORT
With little visible support from organized parties (including his own Awami Muslim League), but with great personal support among the people, he has led Pakistan into closer cooperation with the West.

He also is regarded as the man most likely to bring Democratic government and stability to his homeland.

Like most of the leading political figures of Pakistan and India, Suhrawardy was educated in England. He was an honor student in law at Oxford. He returned to then British India and began his political activity in the Calcutta labor movement.

At the end of World War I, Suhrawardy joined the Khilafat Committee, a Moslem group working for independence with the Indian National Congress.

In 1954, he was secretary of the Bengal Muslim League and organized the campaign that resulted in East Bengal's becoming East Pakistan after the partition of India. Suhrawardy formed the Awami Muslim League in 1949, joined Pakistan's cabinet as minister of law in 1954 and was named prime minister in September, 1956.

The prime minister is a widower with two grown children. His daughter, Mrs. Akhtar Sulaiman, acts as his official hostess.

Rain Gave Opportunity to Test New Wipers

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—A New London motorist had a special reason to be pleased when rain fell during a five-hour period yesterday on this drought-stricken area.

He said he bought a new car on June 12, and it was the first chance he had to see how the windshield wipers worked.

The springs of Bath, England, were the center of a Roman resort city which was developed during the first four centuries A.D.

Tree Farms Branch Out in State

ESCANABA (AP) — Tree farming is a growing enterprise in Michigan.

You'll find a tree farm or two in nearly every county in the state. A tree farm is a privately owned area used to grow repeated crops of timber for man's use.

The industry-operated American Tree Farm System is encouraging the growing of timber on tax-paying lands.

The program has been under way in Michigan for several years and it is estimated the state now has 438 landowners practicing good forestry on 1,073,446 acres of land.

Tree farms in Michigan range in size from a five-acre plot in Southern Michigan to Upper Peninsula industrial forests of more than 300,000 acres.

4 GOOD REASONS

Promoters of tree farming for cash say:

1. It means regular harvests and regular income.
2. It means wood to meet the demands of the future.
3. It means better hunting and fishing; more recreation areas; more adequate water supplies.
4. It provides regular jobs for thousands of workers in mills and woods.

Michigan's tree farming is part of a voluntary nationwide program.

The American Tree Farm System is a program through which good forest management is publicly recognized. When a landowner feels that he is managing his woodland wisely, he may apply to the State Tree Farm Committee which will arrange to have the woodland inspected.

If the inspection by a recognized forester shows management measures up to principles of the American Tree Farm System, the landowner gets a certificate. He also gets a tree farm sign, which he may display on the land. There are no dues or assessments. Whether a landowner joins the cooperation with the national sponsor, American Forest Products Industries Inc.

SOAPBOX DE LUXE — Bearing little resemblance to the usual soapbox, one youngster parks his sleek kiddy-car on the sidewalk as his friend feeds the parking meter in Frankfurt, Germany. The car is powered by a gasoline engine, and equipped with a gear shift for forward or reverse movement. Priced at approximately $500, it is made in Torino, Italy.

Through this group, foresters working for pulp and paper companies, lumber and veneer mills, mining, power and wood chemical industries—as well as Conservation Department and Extension Service foresters and private consultants—pool their forest management skills to give expert forestry advice to small landowners.

All a small landowner needs to do, if he's interested in growing trees, is to get in touch with Tree Farms, Filer City, Mich., in Manistee County.

Roland Blair of Filer City, chairman of the Michigan Tree Farm Committee, said:

"The landowner who has never sold timber might begin by discussing his problem with a trained forester. There are some 17,000 of them in the country. Industries employ more than 7,000. The forester can cruise the timber and determine steps needed for sound management.

"There's a good chance that the woodland needs an immediate thinning. This means that diseased and crooked trees may be removed and marketed.

"Not only will this provide income for the farmer, but it gives the sounder trees more growing room. The growth of these remaining trees is much faster than before thinning."

Once a farmer has established a "stock" of trees, he can figure on periodic harvests based on selective cutting.

Beauty Queen Bored on Auckland Visit

AUCKLAND, New Zealand — Beauty queens, "once those crazy things that blossomed annually across the Pacific in the kaleidoscope that is America," now are a regular part of New Zealand's summer landscape, a commentator reports. The body royal, he says, is becoming commonplace. Perhaps that is why 16-year-old

Jessie McKenzie was found, tearful and forlorn, by newsmen in Auckland. Jessie won the beauty crown at the Tahuanui Sands in Nelson and "a week in Auckland with all expenses paid and $25 spending money."

So the girl with the $2 per cent figure flew there. Five days later she admitted: "I've read every magazine in the hotel and I'm wishing mom had come up." A lapse in liaison was fixed up with her last two days overflowed with hospitality.

Hungarian Refugees Organize Orchestras

VIENNA—A group of 150 Hungarian artist refugees living at Baden, near Vienna, are organizing two ensembles, "Philharmonica Hungarica" and the "Free Hungarian Dramatic Company."

It is part of the refugee welfare program and assistance has been obtained from the Rockefeller and Ford Foundations, the Swiss Committee for Hungarian Freedom Fighters, and other sources. Two "hundred-day projects" have been planned during which they will produce plays and give concerts featuring Hungarian authors and music. A concert tour through Western Europe is another part of the plan.

Meat Choice to Suit Purse Whether It's Fat or Thin

Holidays mean many things to many people. The younger set may pursue swimming and other activities building big appetites. The grown-ups may find a hammock in the shade and put forth the least activity possible. To satisfy your family, plan menus that are easy to prepare and serve, simple to eat. Make clean-up time a cooperative effort.

Food supplies and prices look much like those of last week, reports the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawler. The strawberry harvest in the Alpena area is well under way. Local orchards have sweet and tart cherries. Peas and beans with garden-fresh flavor can be found in some stores and farmer's markets.

MEATS — The meats you choose will depend upon what you have to spend as well as what the family wants. If you need extra pennies for extra gas over the holiday you may choose inexpensive meats. This is one of the easiest ways of saving on the food budget. If you are staying home anyway and want to splurge, you'll find a wide variety of meats to meet the family's needs of two servings a day.

For 7½ to 12½ cents per serving, you can choose from the economy list of skinless frankfurters; canned party loaf, lunch meat or corned beef; tuna, or hamburger.

In the moderate bracket of 15 to 20 cents per serving, you may find turkey, whole smoked ham and some large canned hams. Ham portions, other canned hams and blade chuck range up to 25 cents a serving.

Since fryers yield only 1-1.3 servings per pound, they cost 30 to 35 cents per serving depending upon whether you buy them whole or already cut.

If you select sirloin, T-bone or Porterhouse, expect to pay between 35 to 65 cents a serving. These approximate costs were calculated using a range of prices found in several local stores earlier this week.

PRODUCE — Michigan berries and cherries, and shipped-in watermelon are the big fruit choices.

Strawberries are about finished in the large Benton Harbor growing area. Berries are now coming from the Alpena area and local berry fields. A few raspberries on the Benton Harbor market is your cue to start looking for them in your markets here within a week.

Both tart and sweet cherry supplies are increasing. Team big sweet cherries with lemon sherbet for an easy-on-the-cook treat. Add fresh cherry pie to the week's menus to boost your popularity rating with the family or guests. Watermelons are at their peak supply in June and July. This year the crop is about 15 per cent above average; 6 per cent above last year. This explains why you can serve the simplest of all desserts for 3 to 4½ cents a pound if you buy a whole melon this week, depending upon the kind and quality.

Fresh green peas and beans are two other homegrown vegetables to add to the growing list. A pound of peas will shell enough for 2 one-half cup servings. A pound of beans will serve four.

Compare the fresh to frozen and canned, then decide which you will serve.

EGGS & DAIRY — Eggs, milk, cheese are all thrifty purchases in pennies and health. Ten cents spent for eggs buys as much protein as you get in a 4-ounce serving of steak.

Gained Freedom in 1848

WASHINGTON — Negroes in the Virgin Islands gained freedom from slavery in 1848.

Thief 'Can Disappear' From Vanishing Cream

NYASALAND — Vanishing cream which makes a thief undetectable is advertised by witch doctors in leaflets now flooding Nyasaland. Advertising matter promoting love philters, talismans and other cure-all medicines also are being confiscated by Post Office Authorities in Blantyre.

It is claimed that a thief cannot be detected after rubbing the vanishing cream on his hands.

The semi-primitive Nyasaland African is inveigled into buying these "magic medicines" by the colorful and plausible pamphlets. Lotions, creams and aphrodisiacs are being offered, as well as talismans to increase the wearer's virility.

Highest Humidity Rate

NEW ORLEANS — The average rate of humidity found in Louisiana's sugar growing country is higher than at any other point recorded in the United States.

Vacation Under a Tent Intrigues 3 Million

French Adults Like Camping for Summer

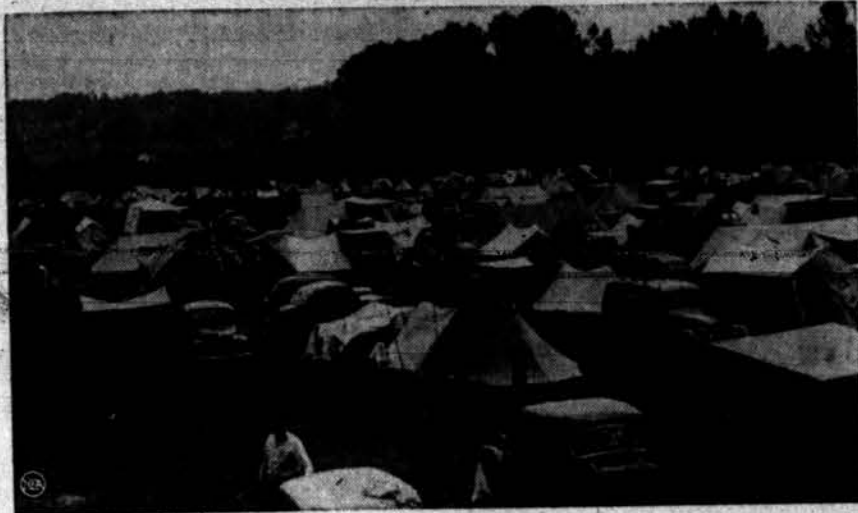

PARIS — (NEA) — Twenty years ago, camping vacations were reserved to the under-twenties. But these days over three million Frenchmen are busy planning their summer vacation under a tent.

This month and in August they will take to the road, fanning out North, South, East and West to the various "tent villages" of France. These three million-plus represent only the registered campers. They do not include the hundreds of individual enthusiasts who trust to their luck to find a secluded camping site.

"Camping is not only the one form of tourism within the reach of all incomes," points out the secretary general of the French Camping Federation. "It has also become an important economic factor by developing a host of new industries and causing others to extend their activities."

They are the manufacturers of tents and camping equipment, of luggage trailers and racks for automobiles, not to mention bunks, cots and sleeping bags.

The popularity of a camping vacation has grown simultaneously with the increased rates in every category of hotel and often exorbitant rents for summer villas.

"TENT CITY" IN FRANCE — Soon the campers may have a special department in government.

For the liberal professions and the average middle-class family of four or five with a limited budget, three weeks under a tent is the solution to their problem.

Today 90 per cent of the campers are "motorized" (automobile or scooter) and 10 per cent are bikers. Which means that in the event of bad weather they can pick up their tents and travel south to the sun.

An initial expense of $300-$600 will buy a roomy tent for a family of four and its furnishings. No longer does camping mean crawling on all fours into a tent. Today's "tent dwellers" can have a mobile home that's waterproof and windproof and there is even the possibility of heating it.

The more elaborate models have windows, a sun porch, separate sleeping space and a shower cubicle. They are gay in bright red, blue, green and orange. Not only can they be set up in a jiffy, but the latest models weigh less than 30 pounds.

The first consequence of this added comfort is that while the average age of campers is around 40, it is not unusual now to see grandparents and babies sharing the open-air holiday.

That 1957 promises to be the Golden Age of camping can be judged by the recent Salon du Camping. This was started 10 years ago by 30-year-old interior decorator Jean Dayne. Then there were only 400,000 registered campers in France. Now an annual event, the show is drawing almost as many visitors as the Automobile Show or the Ideal Home Exhibition.

So important has camping become in the nation's economic life that the Government is contemplating creating a special department to deal with all its aspects and problems on a Government level.

Of the 4,000 camps which now exist, around 100 are show places. They provide such amenities as a playground for children, tennis court and an automobile parking site, with the most modern sanitary conditions. Rates vary from 6 to 20 cents per night.

This coming summer Claude Fontaine, President of the Campers' Federation, proposes to effect a grand tour of inspection. Prizes will be awarded to the best "sites." An ardent camper, he has done much to improve conditions in camps all over the country.

There are few "caravans" (trailers) on the roads of France and these are mostly owned by foreign tourists. Their cost is still too high for the average French family and will remain so until production is standardized.

About 28 million American families move to new homes every year.

Sentenced 20 Years for Execution in 1941

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China has sentenced the 1941 executioner of Mao Tse-tung's brother to 20 years in prison, Communist reports received here today said.

The Communist government chairman's brother, Mao Tse-ming, was reported among hundreds killed in a massacre in Sinkiang province. Details of what happened have long been obscure. Osman Batur, a famed anti-Communist guerrilla, and four former provincial officials were executed in 1951 for participating in the slayings.

The Communist New China News Agency said Lu Ping-lin confessed acting as executioner under orders from the officials and garroting Mao Tse-ming and two other persons. He was sentenced June 28 in Lanchow.

The New China agency said Lu had become an usher in a movie theater but he finally was discovered "during a campaign for the suppression of counterrevolutionaries."

Americans strike 57 million matches an hour.

Crash Kills 4 Girls as Parents Watch

TORRANCE, Calif. (U) — Four young girls were killed and four persons injured in a two-car collision last night in Torrance, police report.

The parents of two of the girls—who witnessed the crash from a third car—were hospitalized with shock.

Killed were Vickie Rackham, 8, her sister, Pamela, 10; Jeanette Smith, 9; and Corinne Smith, 17. Police said the accident occurred when Howard Smith, 42, started to turn left into a parking lot.

His car collided with one coming from the opposite direction.

Both cars overturned. The three girls were passengers in his car and the older girl was in the second vehicle.

Air Reserve Schedules Meeting in New Home

The 9613th Pontiac Air Reserve Squadron will hold its first meeting tonight at 8:15 in its new building at 67 Oakland Ave.

Capt. Jack Sanders, training officer for the unit, will outline plans for the year to members.

Guest speaker will be Trooper Gerald Tefel, of the Pontiac Post of the Michigan State Police. He will speak and show a film on traffic safety.

What Would You Do?

Civil Defense Hampered by Widespread Disbelief

ANN ARBOR (U) — Suppose the wall of air raid sirens in operation alert tomorrow actually meant enemy bombers were overhead. What would be the reaction of the man on the street?

Civilian defense wardens would be stymied by public disbelief and apathy, is the answer supplied by a booklet—"Public Reaction to a Surprise Civil Defense Alert"—prepared by the University of Michigan.

The university's survey research center tested the population of Oakland, Calif., during a mock air raid drill.

WHAT THEY DID

This is what happened when the sirens sounded, according to the pamphlet:

1. Only one in five believed the sirens they heard were actually a warning for a real attack.
2. One in 10 was doubtful, but not sure.
3. One in two did not believe the sirens meant an actual attack.
4. One in four did not hear the siren.

What was the first impulse of those hearing the siren?

1. Nine of 20 kept on with what they were doing.
2. Seven of 20 checked. They looked outside, scanned a newspaper, called a friend or asked someone.
3. Two of 20 tried to obtain real information by turning on the radio or calling authorities.
4. Two of 20 tried to protect themselves by taking shelter or warning others.
5. One of 20 admitted being frightened, but no one tried to leave Oakland during the alert.

However, the pamphlet said three-quarters of those hearing the signal and thinking, even for a moment, that it might not be a practice, tried to get some further information to confirm the warning.

Researchers asked Oaklanders after the test what they would do if another alert were sounded. Over three-quarters would pay no attention or do the wrong thing.

"Judging from what people told us about their reactions at the time," the researchers said in summary, "the alert experience indicates a serious situation for civil defense preparedness."

"If the public had continued to behave as they did in the first 10 minutes, or if enemy attack had been imminent at the time of the warning, many lives would have been lost."

Firemen Rescue Boat

BATTLE CREEK (U) — A big red fire engine chugged up to the Irvine Park lagoon and firemen launched an aluminum rowboat to rescue a tiny model boat. It was the property of 11-year-old Richard Mathiak, whose mother asked firemen for help after her son lost the boat on an outing Sunday. Firemen gave special service after learning it was the first day since May 26 that the boy had been permitted to walk after undergoing two operations.

Mackie Offers Plan to Relieve U.S. 16

BRIGHTON (U) — A $25,000 plan to prevent a recurrence of the bumper-to-bumper traffic jam which took place on U.S. 16 between Detroit and Kensington Park July 4 has been drawn up by State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

Mackie said he would use the money to expand the highway to four lanes by laying a blacktop seal coat on the south edge of the three-lane road, permitting a smoother, faster traffic flow.

Mackie, who outlined his plan yesterday, said he would ask the state administrative board for the money Tuesday. He discussed the project while making a personal study of a new four-lane highway now under construction between Brighton and Farmington.

Hay Rack Kills Boy

ALLEDALE (U) — Five-year-old Robert Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schmidt, died in Butterworth Hospital at Grand Rapids Wednesday of injuries suffered when he fell under the wheels of a hay rack on his father's farm in Ottawa County.

Husky Boys Need Plenty of Food

JUST ONE PIECE, MOM — Richard and Charles Anderson can't wait until dinner to taste their mother's chocolate and coconut cream pies. They just have to have a sample in the middle of the morning. That's one reason any baked products don't last long around the Anderson home on Wenonah drive. Big sister, Carolyn, holds the second pie in readiness. Two pies are nothing for Mrs. Anderson to make, not with three husky boys, a teenage daughter and a husband to feed. Seventeen-year-old Eric wasn't home when this picture was taken. Incidentally, the two boys cleared off the table and rinsed their dishes after they had eaten the pie.

No one knows better than a mother who has to feed them how much teenage and sub-teen boys eat! Mrs. Kenneth Anderson of Wenonah drive has sons aged 17, 11 and 10 and a daughter 13. To keep them filled up is an endless chore—but one she enjoys.

For the past five or six years Mrs. Anderson has belonged to a Home Extension group. She credits this organization for most of her present knowledge of nutrition.

This spring she took a food buying course at the YWCA, given by Consumer Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. All this knowledge is put to use as she plans the family's meals.

Forty dollars a week is what Mrs. Anderson spends on food. An extra two dollars is allowed for food away from home. Every one carries lunch and all the children pitch in and help prepare these lunches. In fact, all the children are handy in the kitchen.

Carolyn has been taking cooking in school this past year. She would come home each day she had learned to make something new and try it on the family. When Mrs. Anderson has to be away at meal time, Carolyn takes over. At the present time she hopes to go to college to major in home economics and to teach it.

YOU CAN'T WASTE FOOD

"You can't waste food and come out on top" is the slogan of this efficient homemaker. "If the children take food on their plates, they eat it." But like most mothers, she prepares the food her family enjoys and thus minimizes the chance of waste.

A big refrigerator in the kitchen and two freezers in the basement are part of the secret of Mrs. Anderson's good management. At this time of the year she empties one freezer and uses that for all this year's frozen foods. Already there are strawberries, asparagus and chickens in the compartments. The whole family goes fishing and comes home to clean and freeze their catch.

In the second freezer there are the makings of any number of good meals. Every year half a side of beef is frozen. In season—and if the hunters are lucky—venison is frozen. Lots of fish, including smelt and luffak (a Scandinavian delicacy) are packaged ready for eating.

QUANTITY BUYING

The Andersons buy peas, blueberries, mixed vegetables and black cherries in huge containers, then repackage them for home use. Cranberries and frozen Golden Cross corn sit side by side.

Large containers of chickens are king are all ready to be heated. Several twenty pound turkeys were bought on sale and frozen. There is a good assortment of frozen baked goods.

Cookies, cake and pies don't last long around the Anderson household. Every afternoon after school four to six extra children descend upon the home, along with the ones who belong there. All demand a snack. This takes a lot of extra food, but Mrs. Anderson doesn't mind at all.

She wants her children to feel free to bring their friends home. She even keeps huge quantities of hot dog rolls in the freezer all ready for winter roasts.

Lemon meringue pie is the whole family's favorite, but they will happily consume almost any pie mother makes. The day we interviewed Mrs. Anderson she had just baked a chocolate and a coconut cream pie. Richard and Charles obligingly sampled them.

Because the family likes pie and puddings she makes up dry mixes for these dishes and keeps them in the refrigerator. In addition she has a cream sauce mix and a biscuit mix.

"I have to label the jars, or I find myself trying to make pie crust from the cream sauce jar—and it doesn't work." These mixes are not only time savers but are also more economical than mixes bought in the store.

Several years ago Mrs. Anderson got a new stove. Her old one was moved to the basement. She uses it for canning and freezing. After she blanches vegetables for freezing they go right into the set tubs for chilling, then into the freezer only a few feet away.

Try Spanish Dressing

A very light, very simple salad dressing to serve with hearty foods is the classic Spanish dressing made by combining a cup and a half of Spanish olive oil with half a cup of lemon juice, salt and pepper to taste. You can add a crushed garlic clove, or two teaspoons of dried mustard, or two chopped hard-cooked eggs along with a quarter-cup of chopped stuffed olives, to vary the basic taste of this perfect dressing. over boiling water, to plump; then add to cooked rice with nutmeats and butter. Delicious with chicken.

WHAT EVERY MOTHER SHOULD KNOW ABOUT SUMMER DRINKS

One that's best for growing children is Sealtest Chocolate Milk. This nourishing beverage contains healthful milk proteins, vitamins and minerals. It's wonderfully refreshing, too—smooth, rich, chocolaty. And there's no mixing bother. Sealtest Chocolate Milk costs so little. Always handy, too—at your store or at your door.

Sealtest CHOCOLATE MILK

Growing Boys Eat Mountains of Food

dishes the family liked. They are fond of stews which can be easily made in the deep well on the stove. Steaks from the frozen beef, beef roast and chicken are other familiar protein dishes on the Anderson table. Tuna fish casserole always pleases. There is little pork served.

Mrs. Anderson always buys large chickens and turkeys which are more economical. When she roasts a turkey she stuffs it with oyster dressing. Immediately after the meal any remaining dressing is removed from the carcass and all meat is taken off the bones.

FOR FUTURE MEALS

This is frozen at once and can be used any time for sandwiches or cooked dishes. She uses the Home Extension recipe for her large quantities of chicken a la king.

Breakfasts are ample. The two younger boys always have fruit juice, bacon, eggs and toast. On Sundays there are pancakes with pure maple syrup from Traverse City. It takes a whole pound of bacon for this meal.

Bacon grease is saved and strained. Then Mrs. Anderson uses it for cornbread, for gingerbread and for spicy cookies where the flavoring masks the taste of the fat.

Four dozen eggs a week, two pounds of butter for the table and one pound of margarine for cooking are staple orders. For cooking only dry milk is used.

Mrs. Anderson usually shops on Thursdays and goes where she gets the best bargains. She buys fruits and vegetables in large quantities from the Farmer's Market for canning and freezing.

Carolyn has had some training in good buying habits in her cooking course. Both she and her mother read labels and look for US markings on meat and poultry. Mr. Anderson likes to shop with them occasionally. He's likely to come home with unusual foods.

COOKS AHEAD

Mrs. Anderson conserves both money and time. She cooks ahead whenever possible. What she can freeze for quick reheating is prepared that way. She prefers to bake her pies before freezing them. She makes frequent use of her deep well cooker for soups and stews.

She takes pride in her management of the family's food budget. She has taken the trouble to learn the essentials of good nutrition and tries to give her family a good diet. She likes her job and does it well. Because she has reduced it to the most efficient manner she does it easily.

Spaghetti Is the Surprise

For something new in salads, serve Spaghetti Fruit Salad. Dried apricots, dark sweet cherries, and coconut are used in exciting combination with dairy sour cream. You will agree that this is outstanding, yet surprisingly simple to prepare.

Spaghetti Fruit Salad
4 ounces elbow spaghetti
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 cup dried shredded coconut
1 cup dried apricot halves, cooked
1 cup pitted dark sweet cherries
Add 2 teaspoons salt and spaghetti to 3 cups boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare dressing.
Combine sour cream, milk, sugar, salt and coconut. Rinse spaghetti with cold water and drain well. Turn into bowl. Add apricots and cherries.

Pour sour cream dressing over mixture and toss very lightly. Serve immediately. Makes four servings.
Says Chinese Favor Old-Style Herb Doctors
GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Dr. Gerald K. Doo, a Gettysburg surgeon and a native of Shanghai, says there are more herb doctors in China than Western-trained doctors.

"Even highly educated people still go to them for help. This type of doctor seeks to treat the symptoms of his patient rather than the disease itself. They employ medicine rather than surgery, treating superficial infections. They use a plaster for arthritis which is made up of a secret formula," Doo said in a speech.
Many good cooks like to heat pans in which popovers are to be baked before adding the batter.

Tangy Molded Salad Good to Beat Heat

Beat the heat on these hot summer days with a cool molded salad. You'll find this salad low in calories, but full of flavor. It's easy to prepare.
Molded Salad
2 envelopes sugar free lime-flavored gelatin
1/2 cup hot water
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup finely diced cucumber

1/2 cup finely diced celery
1/2 cup finely diced green onions
Dissolve gelatin and salt in hot water. Add vinegar. Chill until slightly thickened. Add cucumber, celery, and onions.
Divide evenly into cups or molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve on crisp lettuce. Yield: about four servings.
In July, 31 different fresh fruits and vegetables are in their peak seasons — more than in any other month.

MAYFLOWER FRITTERS — Here is a modernized version of an early Pilgrim recipe. It takes you only minutes to prepare as the important ingredients come from a can. Lucky you! You don't have to harvest your own corn or pluck your own turkey or build your own fire. And the only wild Indians you'll have to fight off are your own children clamoring for more!

Try Pilgrim "Receipt" in Honor of Mayflower II

All eyes are focused on Mayflower II, now that she has made the voyage from England and landed in America. The reception has been and will continue to be a tumultuous one, in sharp contrast to the silent landing made by the first Pilgrims in 1620.

When those brave women first disembarked from the Mayflower, their stores of food must have been almost depleted through the long months at sea. They hadn't seen fresh food since sailing, and their cherished old country "receipts" had lain unused as small measures of tasteless nourishment were doled out day after day.

Imagine their wonderment and gratitude when they realized the bounty of their new land! Imagine the relief with which they ate their first wild-turkey and savored their own cultivated corn.
Here is a dish the Pilgrims are believed to have adapted from a "receipt" they brought with them, one that was reserved for special occasions because of the long hours of preparation. In this modernized version, with today's pre-cooked foods stacked bountifully on our pantry shelves, we can serve it as a quickie in a matter of minutes! We can enjoy this sample of the first settlers' party fare on just an everyday day — and recount our blessings!

Mayflower Turkey-in-the-Corn Fritters

2 eggs, separated
1 can (12 oz.) whole kernel corn
1 can (15 oz.) boneless turkey
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon grated onion
2 tablespoons milk
1/2 cup salad oil or shortening
Beat egg yolks slightly and add the corn. Mince the turkey and add it together with salt, pepper, onion and milk to the corn mixture. Stir to blend. Stir in biscuit mix. Beat egg whites stiff and fold into batter.

Heat oil or shortening in a large, heavy skillet. Heat oven to 350 degrees (slow oven). Drop batter by spoonful (about 1/2 cup each) into hot fat. Fry, turning to brown well on all sides.

Arrange fritters on a cookie sheet and bake for ten minutes to 300 degrees to insure centers of fritters being well done. Serve piping hot. Makes twelve 3 1/2" to 4" fritters or 6 servings.

To hold longer, turn oven to very slow (200 degrees). Fritters

RECIPE ON CREAMETTES PACKAGE

Wine Coolers Are Delicious

Tall iced drinks will make the long, hot days of summer seem cooler. Fruit juices and crushed fruits combined with lighter wines become coolers that will help counteract the heat—and the humidity.

Dubonnet Red wine and Dubonnet Blonde seem to have an affinity for fruit juices. Their low alcoholic content is in their favor.
If one is using Dubonnet Red in a summer drink there is no need for additional sweetening. The Blonde Dubonnet will make a refreshing cooler, with the fruits supplying the necessary sugar content for those who like a "drier" beverage.

Here are two Dubonnet, juice and fruit combinations that are easy to make and should become summer standbys.
For two tall coolers combine one water glass of Dubonnet Blonde, the juice of one large or two small oranges, juice of one lime, one-half can, No. 2 size of pineapple juice. Shake well and decorate with sprigs of mint and thin slices of orange if desired.
Use peaches and strawberries in a Dubonnet wine cup. To serve six or eight use one bottle of Blonde Dubonnet, 3 tablespoons lime juice, one cup chopped fresh strawberries sugared to taste or frozen berries—do not sweeten the latter—one cup Dubonnet Red and two cups thinly sliced peaches. Mix all together and chill in the refrigerator for two or three hours before serving.

Deep Fry Strips of Eggplant for a Change

Eggplant is a favorite this way.

Fried Eggplant Strips
1 medium-sized (1 pound) eggplant
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 eggs (slightly beaten)
2 tablespoons milk
Peel and cut eggplant into 1/2-inch slices. Cut slices into 1/2-inch strips and set aside. Mix bread crumbs, cheese, salt, celery salt, and pepper.
Beat eggs and milk together. Dip eggplant fingers into bread crumb mixture, then into milk and egg, and again into the bread crumbs.
Fry in hot fat preheated to 375 degrees or until fat is hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread in 60 seconds. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes 8 servings.

Serpent Stories All the Rage Among Superstitious Egyptians

LUXOR, Egypt (INS) — The New Yorker who won't walk under the ladder on Madison Avenue and the Chicagoan who refuses to open an umbrella indoors might be interested to know that his counterparts are still thriving today in this heart of ancient Pharaonic Egypt.

Only here along the majestic Nile the superstitious ones.

LARGE SIEVE

Assure the future welfare and well-being of a baby by placing him or her at the age of seven days in a large sieve. Cereal, cand and salt are added and the whole weird mixture is rolled around and around while parents and invited guests set up an ear-splitting racket.

The 1957 modernization and "Egyptianization" flurries have also failed to jar the Nile-side peasantry from its age-old belief that snakes which inhabit old houses are harmless to the tenants, but will attack thieves or other unwanted intruders.

Gathered around their mud huts in the evenings after the twilight Moslem prayers, the peasants in villages scattered among the ruins of ancient Pharaonic splendor relate serpent stories by the hour, some of them said to have been passed down from the days of ancient Thebes.

HEAD OF COBRA

The Egyptians explain that snakes have inspired such a wealth of Nile Valley legends because two of the principal ancient goddesses — the kindly "Rennutet" and the silence-loving "Merseger" — both were represented with the head of a cobra on a woman's body.

There is the firmly-held belief among the peasantry that the castoff skin of a cobra is a sure cure for rheumatism. Just bind the snake's skin around the affected limb. Presto!

Then there's the one about the watermelon which goes like this: Never leave a cut watermelon out overnight without sticking a knife in it. Otherwise a snake will eat it or, worse, spit on it, and make the melon poisonous.

POISON WATER

Around the mud huts of evenings, the Egyptian peasants also tell this one about snakes poisoning drinking water:

A mother snake and her young occupied part of an old house. One day while mother serpent was out foraging for food, the young snakes went off sightseeing. Mother returned, concluded that the occupants of the house had killed her young. In a rage, she deposited her poison in the family water jar, the only supply of drinking water. Then, alas, the young snakes came slithering home. Mother serpent was frantic. The mistress of the household was enroute to the water jar for cooking water, unaware it was poisoned.

Quick as a legendary serpent, mother snake, slid to the water jar. Before the lady of the house could dip her pitcher into it, mother snake struck the jar violently with her head until it broke — the jar, that is. Saved: One Egyptian family, and a mother snake's honor.

If you linger long enough among the native mudhuts, you can hear more. Like this one about the serpent and the vengeful camel, a fussy unpredictable beast so vital to this part of the arid world. This one, they say in Luxor, goes back at least one thousand years, perhaps longer. And it's true, of course, like all the others...

There was an Egyptian who owned a camel of notoriously nasty disposition. One day, as the master was riding his beast among the ancient Pharaonic tombs across the Nile from Luxor, the camel decided to attack his rider. Turning his head, the camel seized the man by one leg and pulled him from the saddle. The master only saved his life by crawling into a nearby tomb, but there, to his dismay, he encountered two hissing cobras.

A howl of terror from our camel owner brought the curious camel to the entrance of the tomb. Kneeling down, he stuck his head and long neck into the tomb and eyed his master with years of pent-up hate. The cobras looked first at the cowering man, then at the camel.

Then they held a hasty conference, after which the larger of the two snakes disappeared from the tomb. There was a commotion outside the tomb, all outside was quiet. Hours later, our camel-owner gathered courage enough to peer outside. The attacking camel lay dead, killed by the serpent. Saved: one Egyptian, another hour of snake lore.

Man-Eating Tigris Shot by Hunters

KARACHI, Pakistan—How a tigris, a man-eater, was killed in mid-air when it pounced upon a hunting party from behind a tree in Pakistan's Sunderbans area, is the latest story going the rounds in Karachi.

The tigris, measuring 11 feet 9 inches, had killed a wood-cutter and mauled several others on the outskirts of Dubla Island in the Sunderbans. When a party of Sindharis traced the animal, it jumped at the party. One of them, Tahawar Khan, shot it in mid-air and brought it dead to the ground. The Forest Department has awarded him a prize.

George Carmel's Bolivia red wool coat is rounded at the shoulder line. Back pleats extend from a low, rounded yoke.

Jo Copeland designed this dress of worsted broadcloth combined with sable. The low-necked, almost sleeveless dress is draped with criss-cross folds at the waistline.

Christian Dior shows this pink and gold metallic brocade dinner dress (left) which dips down to a low back bow. At center, Grenelle-Estevez plunges the neckline to a flower at the waist in a black-dotted white satin shirtwaist. At right, Oleg Cassini shows a provocative cocktail sheath, done in black mesh over nude marquisette. The peek-a-boo fringe is of black silk in a deep V to the waistline.

Dior's Designs Downcast but Estevez Is Looking Up

By OLGA CURTIS
INS Women's Editor
NEW YORK (INS) — There's a downcast look to Christian Dior's latest designs for the U.S.

Belts are down to the hip, sleeves are down to the ribs, and hemlines are down in back.

The Dior-New York collection shown fashion editors today is an Americanized version of the "Free Look" Dior introduced in France. For U.S. customers, it's called the "Mobile Look," and it lives up to its name with an easy, unconfined silhouette.

LOOSE HIP BELTS

The lowered belts, for instance, don't actually bind the hips. They're loosely held by loops. Sleeves are cut deep and set square, almost down to kimono level on coats.

Many suit jackets are gathered, with hippy peplums and deep big pockets.

Skirts are mostly slim and straight, but even the skirts offer lots of motion with side slits or big back pleats or "split" panels in front.

In line with the lower belts, Dior uses overblouses exclusively with his suits and costumes. Most are of satin and chiffon, double-breasted and buckled at the hem-band.

Dior also likes bloused, belted double-breasted coats.

Browns, mustards, coconuts and reds are the favored colors but the most gasp-provoking gown, a full-skirted velvet cocktail dress, was brilliant emerald green. Most cocktail dresses by Dior, incidentally, dipped down in back, or had trailing back panels.

VOTE FOR EASY FIT

Two American designers are also voting for easy fit come fall. Jo Copeland of Pattullo likes broader shoulders, looser waistlines or smooth curves indented at waist and hem.

Herbert Sondheim offers the "wing top" dolman sleeve look or the easy-waisted "willow wand" unbelted sheath.

Miss Copeland's broader shoulders are achieved with slightly dropped seams on the shoulder. Curvy hips are provided by folds starting at the waist and diminishing at the hemline. These two silhouettes appear mostly in day wools.

For cocktails, she likes clinging sheaths in black crepe that outlines the figure, and for evening, the uneven hem that wavers from front to back.

Sondheim's collection also features dipping hemlines for evening, but skirts are kept simple for daytime. Crepe is a favorite for both the Dolman sleeve silhouette and the unbelted easy sheath, but there are also many ensembles that pair chiffon tops with wool skirts, under matching wool jackets.

Greens and browns are featured colors at Sondheim, as well as a new charcoal black paler than the usual.

HIGHER HEMLINES

Designer Luis Estevez wants hemlines to go up this fall—up to 15 inches for daytime and way up to the knee-revealing 17 inches for evening.

The young designer who soared to success with dramatic necklines now is concentrating on eye-popping hems. His new "Americana" collection for Grenelle-Estevez features shorter, uneven hemlines because he believes they're "young-looking."

Some hemlines take a slow upward curve in front. Others have dipping godets in back. A few are hobbled just at the knee. And some evening hemlines show the knees in front, and sweep the floor in back.

Estevez' concern with hemlines produces a new companion for his favorite silhouette: The narrow sheath with a tricky neckline. This collection includes fullish skirts, banded at the hem and tied with a bow in front.

The Estevez necklines haven't changed, however. They're still revealing and plunging. The latest is a V so low and wide that the young designer had to create a special bra to make the dress wearable.

BELTED SUIT BACK

The return of the belted suit has been verified for fashion editors by famed coat-and-suit maker Ben Zuckerman. Self-fabric girdles or wide leather belts appear again and again in Zuckerman's new fall collection.

The back-dipping contoured suit jacket also is featured, and so is a little flyaway jacket which amounts to a pair of long sleeves set into deep shoulder folds.

Sometimes this short jacket is fur-edged, and fur also is a Zuckerman favorite for coat linings or collar trims. There is even a group of black fur suits.

Color is a dominant fashion trend in this line, with lilac, rosy red, electric blue, copper, emerald and fuchsia making an appearance.

Belts, color and fur are also major fashion points in the Paul Parne collection for fall. Black broadtail lamb gilets for richly colored wool costumes are a style note, and so are the colors—grayed or deep greens, soft blues and tawny ambers.

The slim silhouette for jacket-and-dress costume remains, but with widened shoulders and belted waists.

American Beauty Roses Bloom in Fall Collection

Luis Estevez Devotes His Designs to the Long-Stemmed U. S. Charmer

AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Luis Estevez, the young Cuban designer who has skyrocketed to a top place in the American couture believes in the long-stemmed American Beauty, and takes her as the theme of his fall and winter collection, shown today to the visiting fashion press.

American Beauty roses bloom throughout the collection, ranging from one perfect rose as an accent to a simple dinner dress to a whole riot of blossoms on a cut-velvet evening gown.

Next to roses, hemlines are the Estevez enthusiasm this fall, and they are infinitely varied to give seductive im-designer believes pretty girls should show their legs.

pect to a glimpse of a well-turned knee, revealed in an evening gown sweeping the floor in back, cut daringly high in front. With these up-in-front hemlines, Estevez models wear dyed-to-match shoes and stockings, emphasizing the one-color look so prominent in fall fashions.

Another variation of the hemline is seen in short evening gowns with floor-length side panels, and by set-in godets giving a rippling back effect on cocktail dresses.

There are side-wrapped skirts with dipped back and cut-away front hemlines, in tailored wool daytime dresses and suits, as well as in satin cocktail gowns.

Estevez also is interested in daring necklines, and slashes them to the waist, front or back, in after-dark dresses. When the slash is in front the dress has a built-in bra. Some dresses have nude midriffs accented by king-size buckles. Others have deep cowl-back necklines.

The Estevez uneven hemlines seem to presage a return of shorter skirts, for this Latin

Couple Planning Spring Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Rhoads of Comins announce the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis A., to Wallace K. Harris, son of Mrs. Burchard B. Bower of James K. boulevard. Phyllis was graduated from Central Michigan College and her fiancé is attending the same college. A spring wedding has been planned.

The "mobile" silhouette is featured in a gray fleece coat by Christian Dior for his New York fall and winter collection. The lowered belt confines side folds for a panel effect in front.

Contestants All Praise U.S. Men

Universe Beauties Have One Thing in Common

NEW YORK (INS) — The various Miss Universe contestants are as different from each other as blonde is from brunette, but they have one thing in common—they like American men.

For example, there's Miss Sweden, Inger Jonsson. This blonde beauty from Malmo is a legal secretary during the daytime, a fashion and photographer's model in the evenings.

THEY'RE VERY NICE
Miss Sweden thinks American women are very like their Swedish counterparts, but when it comes to American men she said:

"I have not seen so many, but they are very nice. They speak faster and louder than Swedish men. They have an 'Hello, here I am' attitude. In Sweden it takes a week to say hello."

Miss Cuba, a dark beauty with long ringlets, is another booster of the U.S. male. Her name is Maria Rosa Gamu, a ballet student from Havana.

About our men, she said: "They are very respectful, courtly and amiable. I like them very much. They respect women, they don't offend or treat women roughly."

Gerti Daub, Germany's very lovely contribution to the Long Beach, Calif., beauty contest, is a cosmetics specialist back home in her native Hamburg.

VERY FRIENDLY
"American men seem very friendly," she said. "But I cannot say more because I haven't met many. I'll say more later. I like the looks of American women — so well-dressed and well-groomed. I think they are better looking than the average European woman."

The most unusual of the contestants is Miss Greece, who is blonde, beautiful and lived in New York from age 6 until three years ago because her father was a foreign correspondent for a Greek newspaper. She has just graduated from high school and won't make any career plans until she attends college.

"I don't want to say anything about my plans," she said on arrival aboard the Greek line ship Olympia. "A lot depends on this contest. I'm dying to see the rest of the girls."

Miss Greece, who caused quite a furor when chosen because parts of the Greek populace didn't believe she was really Greek and not American, refused to comment on the male situation. She did say she thought Greek women were "warmer and more feminine" than their U.S. counterparts.

U. S. Teenagers Regain Interest in Sports

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert
Youth Research Cks.

Competitive athletics is coming in for sharply increased attention again from the nation's teenagers.

"Maybe the magic of television has worn off," a Pennsylvania high school lad speculates. "So now kids are more interested in getting some exercise instead of sitting and watching show after show."

Whatever the cause, our survey indicates that 55 per cent of the boys and 44 per cent of the girls participate in high school sports.

And 56 per cent of the youngsters queried report a considerable upsurge in participation after a period of decline.

This tallies with word from Carl Troester, executive secretary of the American Assn. for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, a department of the National Educational Assn.

TREND UPWARDS

"There has been a gradual but steady trend upwards in the number participating in interscholastic high school sports," Troester said in Washington.

"Basketball, baseball, and track and field, in that order, have gained the most. Football has remained about the same.

"Softball is beginning to come in strong as an inter-scholastic sport, and volleyball and swimming are gaining popularity."

The teenagers attribute the upswing first to the students themselves (48 per cent) and to the attitude of school authorities (37 per cent).

Almost unanimously (93 per cent) they say they're in the games for the fun of it, though 7 per cent of the boys admit thoughts of getting a college athletic scholarship are a contributing reason.

And 5 per cent acknowledge they run, kick, wrestle, or pitch to impress friends and classmates.

One out of five teenagers thinks adults are taking sports entirely too seriously.

NOT A RELIGION

"It's supposed to be a game, not a religion," a 17-year-old lectured.

And another complained: "My dad thinks football is the world's most important thing. I guess I'm not good enough or interested enough to satisfy him."

In their own sphere, though, 55 per cent of the boys and 45 per cent of the girls foresee increasing importance and greater participation for high school sports in the future.

Do athletics interfere with studies? Ninety-one per cent of the youngsters say no. Some contend that an active athletic schedule actually contributes to good study habits.

"Heavy workouts stimulate me to study afterward," one boy explained.

Most teens (71 per cent) rank scholastic achievement above athletic prowess, but a large minority of 27 per cent holds otherwise. This group stressed the character-building aspect of sports.

"It's essential to teach good sportsmanship and cooperation,"

MR. and MRS. W. S. ELMORE JR. Painter, Va.

Marjorie J. Seelye Wed

One hundred and fifty guests witnessed the marriage of Marjorie Janet Seelye to Walter S. Elmore Jr. Saturday evening in the Orchard Lake Community Church.

Marjorie is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Seelye of Henry Clay street, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Elmore of Painter, Va.

The bride wore a street length dress of white dimity with a lace bodice and sleeves, and a lace crown held her short veil.

Serving as maid of honor was Bonnie Lee Hoenstine. She wore a street length dress of pink dimity with puffed sleeves edged in lace. Isabel Seelye was the flower girl, dressed in a pink dotted swiss dress trimmed in nylon lace.

ASSIST BRIDEGROOM

Robert Cladden of Painter served as best man, and Bruce Robertson and John Brown of Detroit were the ushers. Richard Seelye was the ringbearer.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Seelye wore a pink cotton dress with white accessories.

The new Mrs. Elmore changed to a light blue cotton sheath dress with a short jacket and white accessories for traveling to Maine.

Take Time to Enjoy That Trip

This is the season when American families take to the road. The average family travels about 1,400 miles during a vacation by car, surveys show. Many go much further.

But too often people rush to get home. Experienced travelers offer a few tips for making the most of the drive itself:

1. Set your daily mileage goal a little lower, to allow time for sightseeing and picnic lunches along the way.
2. Husband and wife should take turns at the wheel, with the wife taking over, at least briefly, in mid-morning and mid-afternoon.
3. To guard against drowsiness at the wheel, carry some caffeine tablets in the glove compartment good as a cup of coffee.
4. Stop earlier at night. It may take time to find accommodations, and tiredness mounts at the end of the day.
5. Pack your bags so that only one small bag each is needed for the overnight stop.

Get Hosts' Permission to Ask Pair Do Not Just Invite Another Couple to Dutch Treat Party

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please answer the following question for me: If a couple is asked out for the evening to celebrate a wedding anniversary along with three other couples, all knowing that they will pay for their own dinner, is it right for one couple to invite a fifth couple to join them without the consent of the ones who asked us?"

"I think that since it is Dutch treat, it is perfectly all right to ask another couple to come along, but I have been told that it would be wrong to do so. What is your opinion?"

Answer: No, you should not invite another couple without the consent of those who invited you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: How can we break a friend of chronic lateness? My husband thinks it's a thankless undertaking to try and break anyone of this bad habit. He says either you accept a person as he is or you give her up."

"I'm willing to try anyway because I think her bad habit is soon going to stand in her way and she is an otherwise very nice person. But what can I do?"

Answer: It is almost impossible to break a fixed habit and lateness is one of the most incurable. You might invite her for dinner and serve promptly on the hour you had named.

If you wait for her, you obviously encourage her. On the other hand, if she finds dinner over, or that you have gone on without her, she may reform.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When one has a name plate to be placed on luggage, is it permissible to use only the first name? If one is married, should just the initials be used or could the name be printed in full — L.M.S. or Mrs. Robert Smith?"

Answer: Luggage is marked with the owner's initials.

Dorcas Guild Fetes Mrs. Nora Coins

Dorcas Guild of Central Christian Church met Wednesday in Friendship Hall for a cooperative luncheon. The group celebrated the 32nd birthday of Mrs. Nora Coins. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones of Enid, Okla., were guests of the guild. Mr. Jones, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jones, sang a solo.

sports by concentrating coverage on baseball football and basketball.

The teenagers catalogue a great variety of benefits derived from athletics.

"An outlet for tension, glory, the ability to compete," says Russell Mac Alpine, Hanover, N. H. "Physical maturity, lack of timidity," says Jim Taylor, 19, of Williamsport, Pa.

And Hugh Martin Goodman, Jr. of Signal Mountain, Tenn.: "Overcoming challenges, making friends, learning to win or lose gracefully."

OTHER ADVANTAGES

The girls see somewhat different advantages:

"Learning to discipline yourself with others," a Bronxville, N. Y., teenager summarizes. And from a Washington girl: "Physical prowess — and distraction from sex."

Among drawbacks to athletics the boys listed the risk of injury, competitive tensions, or, in the words of a Worcester, Mass., youngster, "the loss of perspective in your values."

A Baltimore lad suggested that sports heroes tend to become big-headed, and a voice from Columbus, Ohio, says athletics may foster "the development of cliques, the feeling that non-athletes are slimes."

Girls noted that sports, for the most part, "have no lasting value" for them.

Also, a Washington girl commented, "It may tend to distract you from other useful activities."

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Tuesday Tea

The executive board of the Women's Auxiliary of Pontiac General Hospital met Wednesday for luncheon in the Draper avenue home of Mrs. Dexter J. Kennedy. Reports were read by various chairmen.

Final plans were made for the membership tea to be held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Edwin Dreyer on Ward's Point drive. The Aug. 14 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Forest Wood.

A timeless fashion for any age is the knitted dress. Subtle back blousing the large figure can tolerate but not the all-around blousing. The turtle neck is particularly bad for the top-heavy body.

Melinda Booth Reveals Details of Wedding Party

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Two small gentlemen will act as ring bearers for their aunt, Melinda Farr Booth, when she is married Aug. 17 to Jon H. Henrikson of Delray Beach, Fla.

They are Hollis and Douglas M. Booth. Hollis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Booth and Douglas' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen F. Booth. Melinda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Booth of "Thornlea."

HONORED AT SHOWER

The bride-elect shared honors recently with Ann Merseles at a luncheon and shower given by Mrs. John R. Earle and her daughter, Judy, at Orchard Lake Country Club. Judy will be a bridesmaid for both Ann and Melinda.

Mary Campbell will be maid of honor and bridesmaids will include, besides Judy Earle, Joan Lang, Ellen Flint, Elizabeth Kirk and Mrs. Joseph Boswell of Cynthia, Ky. Martha Booth will be her sister's junior bridesmaid.

Joan and her mother, Mrs. Samuel Lang, were recent hostesses at a luncheon and "Rainy Day" shower for the bride-elect and next Thursday Miss Kirk will give a dinner in her Orchard Hill home.

Among others who are planning to entertain for Melinda are Mrs. Alan Sentz, Mrs. Sheldon Noble, Mrs. John W. Sanders and Mrs. Edwin Beresford.

TISDALES HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Wright Tisdale arrived home Tuesday from a visit in Warrenton, N.C.

They will be hosts at a garden supper Saturday for their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Armistead Boyd of Richmond, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Hanson of Portland, Ore., are house guests of Mrs. Hanson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Strickland of Country Club drive.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Gossett and their daughter, Tibi, will sail from New York July 17 on the S.S. Queen Mary for a visit to England. Their son, Tom, will fly over to join them in 10 days.

After attending the American Bar Association meetings in London, the family will go to southern England to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Basil W. Denning, and small David at their home near Southampton. Mrs. Denning is the former Toni Gossett.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett H. Wells will be hosts at a Sunday supper party in their Bennington drive home.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Skillman Jr. will celebrate a wedding anniversary Saturday with a swimming and supper party in their Lake Angelus home.

MARY LOU NEWTON

The engagement of her daughter, Mary Lou Newton, to Stephen A. Sekulich, is announced by Mrs. James F. Hoy of Lake Orion. Stephen, who attends Western Michigan University, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sekulich of West Walton boulevard. No date has been set for the wedding.

But Apply Lubricating Cream First

Exercises Improve Facial Contour

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is true that we exercise the muscles of our face when we chew and talk and laugh. However, if you will try facial exercises you will find that we use these muscles only in a very mild way in our everyday lives.

Your face needs exercise, too. Fill your cheeks with air and blow them out. Now chew vigorously.

You will discover that these elastic bands tire very easily. When you first start you should do a few exercises five times each, daily. You can gradually increase until you are doing each exercise 15 times a day.

I always recommend that you apply lubricating cream before doing facial exercises, because when you do the exercises you will make little wrinkles in your face. If the skin is pliable these do not last.

Actually, you should remember this principle in daily life. Many women acquire lines because their skin is so dry that facial expressions make lasting impressions. It may not be very romantic to compare our faces to leather boots but the same idea can be applied to both.

If you wear your boots without oiling them, the wear and tear of activity will be sketched in deep cracks and scratches. On the other hand, if you oil them regularly and keep them soft, the scars do not go so deep.

TRY EXERCISES

Do these exercises in front of a mirror.

1. Fill your cheeks with air and blow them out. While they are blown up chew vigorously, resisting with your cheeks.

2. Lift the right corner of your mouth upwards toward your right ear. Do this slowly and hold while you count to six. Slowly resume usual expression. Do the same thing with the left corner of your mouth. Continue, alternating.

I have received many letters from women telling me of the great improvement in contour which these exercises have wrought.

If you would like to have my facial exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 9. Address Josephine Lowman in care of the Pontiac Press.

Punch for a Bride's Party

NEW YORK (INS) — The most important refreshment for a bridal reception is the punch—and the punch that makes the biggest hit is usually champagne-based.

Domestic champagnes do very nicely—there's no need to spend a lot of money on the imported wines.

Small sandwiches and the bridal cake are all that's needed if the punch is really good.

Here is a recipe for champagne fruit punch that guests might like:

2 sprigs mint
7 cloves
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 cup lemon juice
1 can frozen pineapple chunks
4 orange slices
1 qt. box strawberries
2 qt. champagne
1 cup "spicy" liquor

Separate mint leaves from stems and crush with cloves and sugar. Add lemon juice and water and stir until sugar is dissolved.

Stem strawberries and cover with liquor. Add other fruit. Mix all together and pour over block of ice in chilled punch bowl. Just before serving add chilled champagne.

Know Your Limitations as Worker

BY ANNE HEYWOOD

It's a good thing to have a healthy respect for what you know how to do, but it's equally good to have a healthy respect for what you don't know how to do.

Too often, in an effort to be a "well-rounded worker," as the saying goes, we have to pay a terrible price.

For example, if you're good with people and poor in arithmetic, how much better it is to specialize in working with people and have just enough arithmetic to get by.

Sometimes, such a person will break his neck to master arithmetic, work at it and even take a job which is at least half arithmetic.

That's bad: not only because he's devoting his efforts to a field in which he has no talent, but because he's neglecting the field in which his big talent lies.

WRONG ESCALATOR

The effort you put into a field that is wrong for you is like going up on the down escalator, while the effort you put into a field that is right for you is like going up on the up escalator.

I thought of that the other day when I went into a small shop which is run by a husband-and-wife team. It's a retirement project, and a good one, too.

They make lovely lamps out of all kinds of things.

The husband makes the articles, and the wife does the selling.

advertising, record-keeping and purchasing.

I've always dealt with the wife when I've gone to the little shop; but this time she was out, so I spoke to her husband.

A NEW SHADE

I had a lamp which needed a new shade and I had the material for it. After examining the material, the man said he could make a shade out of it. I asked how much it would cost.

"Well now," he looked up with a slow grin, "I can't honestly tell you. My wife will be back in a half-hour, so why don't you stop back? I do the work and she does the figuring."

After talking with him, I learned that they had the perfect system.

The husband was a wonderful craftsman, artistic, good and fast; but he was terrible at figuring prices. There would have been no profit in the business if he had done it.

"I never touch it," he told me. "Even if I'm tempted, I never try to figure a price."

WON'T TOUCH IT

"By the same token, my wife never touches the work. Even if we're rushed, I don't let her touch it. She just can't do the work and I just can't estimate prices."

No wonder that shop is successful!

Both of them, in a realistic but good-natured manner, know what they can do and — what they cannot do!

As a result, their retirement venture is not only profitable financially, but it is a pleasure personally and emotionally!

If you're thinking of a retirement project, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you a list of good books in the field.

Socialites Are Going to the Dogs

Owners and Pets Plan Circus Party for WARDS

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON — Some of the doggiest citizens in town are barking for a "Big Top" benefit their prominent owners are organizing.

There's Breathless Monroey and her sister, Banjo, white west highland terriers owned by Oklahoma's Sen. Mike Monroey and his wife.

Mrs. Monroey is treasurer for the July fund-raiser, a buffet supper followed by Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey Circus.

Cory and Nosy, Labrador retrievers, are also assisting their mistress, Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson, wife of the deputy assistant secretary of the Air Force.

Mrs. Thompson took over as chairman of the benefit committee when Mrs. David K. E. Bruce left for Bonn with her husband, new U. S. ambassador to Germany.

PLANNING PICNIC

These four-legged notables were guests along with their mistresses at a planning picnic at the country place of columnist and Mrs. Drew Pearson, whose elegant black French poodle, Roberta, and friendly hound dog, Linda, also were in the receiving line.

Among other doggy guests were Oscar Ryan, long-hair dachshund, who came with his chic owner, Mrs. St. George Ryan, daughter of Rep. Katherine St. George (R-NY).

The circus party is the latest of a number of money-raising shindigs given by the group of laymen and doctors dedicated to the "Welfare of Animals Used for Research in Drugs and Surgery" and known as WARDS.

Formed as a pilot project years ago, the group already has raised $20,000 through benefits and private donations. This matched with federal funds, will be used to make model quarters at the Georgetown University Medical School for dogs used in research.

Forty inside kennels will connect with large outside runs, giving dogs access at all times to fresh air and exercise.

EFFECT ON RESEARCH

"The condition of the laboratory kennels can make the difference between failure and success in many research programs," says Mrs. Thompson.

"Dogs and laboratory animals enact a key role in the drama of cancer research and other medical experiments. A healthy dog is a vital link in any research system."

Now that the hopscotch season is in full swing, remember to check children's pockets for chalk, marbles, coins, crayons and other assorted items before tossing playclothes into your washer and automatic dryer.

MR. and MRS. M. KESSELRING

Merton Kesselring Takes Anita M. Lozano as Bride

Anita Marie Lozano and Merton Kesselring were married Saturday in St. Michael Church. The Rev. William A. Immet performed the 10 a.m. ceremony.

The bride wore a floor-length white gown, fashioned with full pleated skirt of net over satin, and a bodice of white lace over satin. A lace headpiece trimmed in pearls held her fingertip veil and she carried a white orchid on a ribbon.

Mrs. Kenneth Lucas, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. The attendants were Mary Romero, Carol Lozano and Shelia Irwin. They wore ballerina-length gowns in rainbow colors, and carried matching bouquets.

ASSIST BRIDEGROOM
The best man was Kenneth Lucas. Jessie Romero, Robert Gazza and David J. Gara of Philadelphia acted as the groomsmen. A reception was held in St. Michael Hall.

Dorcas Class Holds Cooperative Dinner

Dorcas Class of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church met Tuesday evening in the Rattalee Lake road home of Mrs. E. J. Schultz.

Husbands of members were guests and a cooperative dinner was served on the lawn. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Peter Niemi, Mrs. Ralph Osborne, Mrs. David Keefer and Mrs. William Bradley.

It's unwise to allow towels to become so soiled that they need long soaking or harsh laundering methods. Change the family towels often during the week if you want to make your laundry load easier to handle.

Anita Lozano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Lozano, and Merton Kesselring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Kesselring, were married Saturday in St. Michael Church.

Young Wife Learns Value of High School Diploma

Tells Youngsters to Think a Long Time Before Quitting to Get Married

By RUTH MILLETT

A young mother who received her high school diploma this June—three years after she dropped out of school to marry—says she learned more about the value of a high school diploma after she quit school.

In the early days of her marriage she wanted to work to help her young husband with the family finances. But everywhere she went to look for a job she was asked, "Are you a high school graduate?"

She is now, though it wasn't easy to manage being wife, mother and high school student all at once. She had the grit, determination and ambition to make the grade.

Her advice to other girls is: "Think a long time before you decide to quit high school to get married."

Parents tell their daughters this. But all too often a girl thinks her parents are just old-fashioned, or that they don't realize how long a year or two seems to a young couple in love.

FINE INSURANCE
That's why I'm quoting this advice from a 20-year-old who found that a high school diploma is mighty fine insurance for a girl.

Her advice may carry more weight than anything an older person might have to say, though the older person said the same thing in the same words.

I sometimes think that high schools ought once a year to bring back students who have quit without finishing to tell those still in school what their experiences have been in trying to earn a living.

I don't think the schools would be taking much of a risk. Surely 9 out of 10 former students would give the same kind of advice as this young mother:

"Think a long time before you decide to quit high school to get married."

Are Windows Safe?

It's screen time. And small hands will be trying to pry open screens and screen doors just as they tried windows and regular doors. Open windows should have firmly set guards, and screens should be fastened so tots can't push them open and fall out.

World Bank Looks Back on 10 Years of Providing Cash to Needy Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U)—The world has always had millions of impoverished people unable to get enough money together to start building anything. World War II created millions more. Ten years ago a new international institution set out to do something about it.

Today that organization—the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development—proudly surveys a decade of progress. More than three billion dollars in loans have been pumped into 44 countries and territories, bringing better living to countless people.

A new bakery in San Salvador, a giant dam across a wild tropical river in Central Africa, pedigree cattle to improve herds in hungry Japan, new steel industries for India. Power . . . transport . . . development banks . . . wilderness areas thrown open to settlers.

These are some of the new projects realized through the World Bank's assistance. The institution has visions of helping many more.

RECORD FIGURE

In 1956, the 10th year of the bank's existence, it loaned 507 million dollars—a new record.

Where does the Bank get its money? Mostly from its 60 member nations, who are its stockholders. When a country joins, it pays 2 per cent of its stock subscription in gold or dollars, and 18 per cent in its own currency. The remaining 80 per cent is not paid to the bank but is subject to call if the bank should need some of it to meet its obligations.

The subscribed capital of the bank amounts to $9,263,300,000. The United States has subscribed to the largest share, $3,175,000,000, more than a third.

Additional money comes from the sale of the bank's own bonds and by borrowing in the capital markets of the world. The bank has borrowed 947 million dollars this way, 747 million in U.S. currency.

The bank may lend to member governments or to other borrowers in member countries. Loans to these other borrowers are guaranteed by the government concerned.

The bank's officers, headed by President Eugene R. Black of Atlanta, Ga., maintains a firm policy of lending only on projects that can themselves pay off the loan.

During the record year of 1956, the bank made its largest loan for a single project, 80 million dollars in various currencies to help build a 400-foot high power dam across the Zambesi River in the Federal

Computing Costs for Income Tax Slashed One-Half

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Internal Revenue Service reports that the cost of helping American taxpayers fill out their income tax forms has been reduced more than one-half in the past three years.

Savings was attributed to new assistance methods as well as to extensive information programs designed to familiarize taxpayers with income tax return forms.

In addition to direct savings, the IRS said the do-it-yourself practice has permitted "thousands" of agents to be assigned to "activities directly productive of revenue."

Peak demand for assistance was in the 1955 filing period when 14,600,000 individuals sought help. More than 12,000 employees assigned to the work put in 360,000 man-days at a cost of $4,300,000.

In the 1957 period, 11 million taxpayers were helped by 8,000 agents in 162,000 man-days at a cost of $3,264,000.

The IRS said there was "an almost complete absence" of long waiting lines in revenue offices this year because of group assistance methods, telephone answering service and other new procedures that enabled agents to help more people faster.

U.S. Officially Ends Airlift for Hungarians

NEUBERG, Germany (U)—The U. S. Air Force today officially closed operation "Safe Haven II." Under the program 4,616 Hungarian refugees were flown from here to the United States. "Safe Haven II" was started Jan. 2, taking over after a similar airlift operating out of Munich had ended. The two projects carried 14,316 refugees across the Atlantic after last fall's Hungarian rebellion, in 238 transatlantic flights.

In announcing the end of "Safe Haven II," the Air Force said the "most impressive and final fact" still remains the Hungarian desire for freedom which made the entire airlift necessary.

Captures Lawbreakers Without Leaving Chair

TOLEDO, Ohio (U)—Ervin C. Clark is gaining a reputation for capturing lawbreakers without leaving his chair at police headquarters in nearby Maumee.

Confined to a wheelchair since 1944 when he was stricken by polio at the age of 30, Clark operates radio receivers and microphones as senior police dispatcher. Squad car men say he combines a photographic memory and "an acute sixth sense" in directing them to set up roadblocks, pursue wrongdoers, or watch for trouble.

Outside Costs More Than Inside

EAST LANSING — The suspicion of many a housewife that the package may cost more than the contents has been confirmed by a Michigan State University packaging expert.

James Goff, director of the packaging technology course at MSU, says the housewife's suspicion is true in a number of cases.

"One of the newest examples," he says, "is the aerosol container for shaving cream. The can itself may cost from 35 to 45 cents. The remainder of the 75 cents average cost must cover the propellant, marketing, overhead and profit, in addition to the cost of the soap."

"Despite this, aerosol containers are becoming increasingly popular. This is due primarily to their convenience."

Another example of the package costing more than the contents, he said, is that of individual servings of dry cereal. For the average consumer, cereal in several individual packages may cost four to five times as much as the same amount in one large package. Here again the more expensive package is popular because of its convenience.

Goff cites convenience as well as economy of usage for the popularity of plastic squeeze containers, such as those used for deodorants, jellies and cheeses.

"With this type of package, there's no waste, no evaporation and less mess," he said.

Along with the trend to more aerosol containers, plastic squeeze bottles and tubes, Goff predicts the decline of the tin can as it is commonly known today.

SQUARE TIN CANS

"The tin can of the future will be rectangular and may not be made of tin at all," he said. "The round type of container takes up more shelf and warehouse space than the modern world can spare. The milk bottle was one of the first round containers to become square for this reason."

"And it is hoped some material less critical than tin may be used for cans in the future. A typical can of the future may be the rectangular aluminum one now used for motor oil."

More glass is being used today for containers than in previous years, particularly for food, the MSU specialist pointed out. It is easy to sterilize, needn't be lined and has added visual appeal.

Goff believes that paperboard is the up and coming material to replace both tin and glass. Again the dairy industry is a pioneer in this field with the paper milk carton.

As moisture-proofing of paperboard is improved, wax or foil liners may become obsolete, Goff says. One brand of instant potatoes, for example, has only the cellophane in an improved form. Electricity to be used on high-speed machines. Cellophane is also popular in the packaging field, in which produce too much static. Modern packaging brings modern problems, Goff related. Frozen food manufacturers are particularly concerned with the size of the containers for their food," he noted. Even though packages are actually marked with different weights, the housewife may overlook the marking and buy only by general appearance and price. The soap industry is constantly searching for a new wrapping to help sell its product. According to Goff, soap products are sold almost entirely on package appeal alone. Americans accepted the hygienic worth of soap so long ago that it's no longer a selling point. Since soap packaging is a large, highly competitive field, many graduates of the MSU course, only one of its kind in the nation, enter this field to do research or selling. DESENSITIZE THAT ITCH! IN JUST 15 MINUTES, If not pleased, your 4th back at any drug counter. Billy Graham Says:

Continuous Battle Waged by God, Satan for Souls

NEW YORK (U) — Two great powers consider man's soul the most important thing in the world even though man himself may not think so, says evangelist Billy Graham.

The Baptist minister from North Carolina told 18,000 persons in Madison Square Garden last night that God and Satan wage a continuous battle for man's soul.

Graham took as his text Matthew 16:24 — "For what is a man profited if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul."

Satan, Graham said, "works day and night to snare" a man's soul.

"It is more valuable than anything else and he tries to blind you to how valuable it is," he said.

"God himself has declared that one soul saved is worth the entire world. We don't realize the price God put on each soul."

"Why is it that a man can make a million dollars and still be miserable?" Graham asked. "He's lost his soul, that's why." And he urged his audience to cast aside materialism and give thought to spiritual things.

At the evangelist's call for "decisions for Christ," 509 persons came forward, raising the total if the crusade so far to 29,236. Total attendance since the New York crusade started May 15 is 948,000.

Graham announced that he will conduct a second religious crusade in San Francisco, starting April 27. Graham preached seven

Report Kidnap of 2 Negroes

Alabama Police Begin Statewide Hunt for Men Involved in Incident

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (U) — Two young Negro men were reported kidnaped at gunpoint last night after they and their dates drove away from a drive-in ice cream stand serving white persons.

Police set off a statewide search for eight armed white men who forced the Negroes to accompany them.

Reported missing are Henry Silent, 21, and Harold Cunningham, 19, both of Birmingham.

Their dates, Loretta Washington, 17, and Allene Brown, 23, told police they drove up to the ice cream stand but left "because it was too crowded."

Two automobiles followed them as they left, the two related, and as they drove through north Birmingham one car pulled in front of them and forced them to stop. The other auto pulled up behind them.

"There were 'some pistols' among the four men who got out of each car, the women related.

"They made us stand next to this fence. They waved the pistols at us and told us not to move.

"While we were standing by the fence, the boys were taken away in separate cars. The cars raced down the street and we ran to a phone and called police headquarters," the girls said.

Police Sgt. M. H. House said officers had considered the possibility of a hoax, but added: "We feel that this is a bonafide situation. The two girls are sober, and I have no reason to believe that they would lie about a thing as serious as this."

House said both the women were nearly hysterical when police reached the scene.

Officers J. O. Kelly, J. D. Lewis and Lt. Jack Warren agreed that the Negroes apparently were unknown to their assailants.

Police said they lacked an adequate description of the men and the two automobiles in which they were last seen.

Baby Drowns in Bath

SOQUEL, Calif. (U) — An 18-month-old baby drowned in 2 1/2 inches of water, Mrs. Virginia Brown told firemen she left her daughter Janice in a high chair while she checked a washing machine. When she returned the baby was face down in the bathtub.

Present milk production in the U.S. is sufficient to fill a river bed which is 3,286 miles in length and 40 feet wide and 3 feet in depth.

Smart Afterthought

BALTIMORE (U) — A fire lured a Gay Street merchant from his store and a fire brought him right back again. The cause of his quick return, accompanied by firemen, was a cigarette he left burning on a counter when he ran outside to watch a fire a block away.

Drain Pool, Hit Jackpot

DES MOINES (U) — When workmen drained the display pools following the 1957 Des Moines Home and Flower Show they found more than 2,400 coins. The money, which totaled $32.50, apparently had been tossed into the pools for no reason except that people like to make a splash. It was turned over to charity.

Child Bride Returns to Live With Parents

MUNFORD, Tenn. (U) — An 11-year-old child bride was home with her parents today and her father says he may seek an annulment.

Jesse H. Scott, 44-year-old divorced truck driver, and Portia Virginia Johnson were wed last May 27 at Senatobia, Miss. The bride returned to her parents' home after the ceremony, went to live with Scott June 30, then went back to her parents last Saturday.

Scott said Portia's father, Leroy Johnson, objected to the marriage but her mother didn't.

S. S. KRESGE COMPANY

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNEY
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

For awhile it looked like curtains for the Pontiac Speedway after five years of just "existing" at the M59 site.

Dick Dewey, in his 2nd year as Speedway manager, was ready to call it quits and it almost turned out that way when the 11 stockholders in the track were dubious about making the necessary improvements which would bring the "name" drivers here.

After a long delay which kept the track closed long after the usual Memorial Day start, the decision to put the track back into business finally came.

It was decided to put $25,000 of improvements into the speedway, including an asphalt track at a cost of $18,000.

For many years because of the dirt raceway, the better drivers shunned the Pontiac Speedway. Dewey maintained asphalt would bring them here.

Two Sundays of modified racing have averaged 1,600 fans each day, slightly better than normal average last year.

Almost immediately some of the top names of auto racing were included on the programs and for the Pontiac area it was a natural because two of the better drivers in the state this year are right here in the city.

Joy Fair and Rusty Kelly have put on a couple thrilling finishes for a local limelight.

MANY GOOD RACERS HERE

This area actually has a wealth of top drivers. Names like Mickey Katlin of Howell, Bill Kourt of Brighton, Chuck Partello of Rochester, Joe Doyle from Pontiac and many others are the pros of the business.

Racing fans see them on TV, at speedways in Detroit and Toledo, but few locally realize they can watch these speed daredevils just 10 miles outside of Pontiac city limits.

To make racing more enticing for the better drivers, Dewey has straddled the limb by shelling out a guaranteed purse of $1,000 and has also added the spectaculars and fun of old model racing each Friday night.

The 4th of July program was a big success for the Pontiac Speedway. The tradition or prestige of Indianapolis may not be there, but for race fans locally, whether it be the old models or Sunday's speedsters, a chance to see some of the state's top names in racing are here.

DITTO FROM THE PRESS BOX

The final item on the agenda of the Pontiac School Board should be interesting tonight.

Principals of the junior high schools will be on hand to discuss and define the proposed new athletic program. Aim of the school system is to get it started in September.

Pontiac High sports critics will want to keep their eye on the results of this meeting.

Homer Ruins No-Hitter, Shaw's Scoreless Streak

A home run with one out in the 7th by Bickmar's Jerry Gannzel spoiled a no-hitter for Doug Hall and ended a scoreless inning streak at 24 for Shaw's Jewelers last night. Shaw's won 3-1.

Bickmar was only the 2nd team to score on the American League leaders this season. The Elks nine broke an earlier streak that had reached 57 frames in a 2-1 upset.

Hall, seeking his 3rd hitless effort, had fanned eight and allowed only two batters to reach base, one on an error, until Gannzel homered. Shaw's scored single runs in three different innings.

Elsewhere in city softball games, Eddie's Bar moved into 4th place in the National League by drubbing the Drive-In Cleaners 10-1. Dent's Corner advanced to within one-half game of 2nd place in the International loop by whipping the Commerce Drive-In team moved back into 1st place tie in the Women's League by trouncing Gingelville 17-3.

Wilber Wright flipped a one-hitter and George Byrd singled three times to pace Eddie's, Goldworthy had a homer and two singles to lead Dent's, while every one took part in the 20-hit Commerce barrage. Pitcher Mora had four of the bingles.

Nationwide Shift Seen if Dodgers and Giants Move

Officials Confer With Frick, Admit Situation Is Serious

ST. LOUIS (U-P) — Top minor league officials, distressed by rumored major league franchise shifts to their territories, predicted today a nationwide realignment of the minors if the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants move to the Pacific Coast.

"What's the use of kidding," said Edward Dougherty, president of the American Assn. "I just hate to think what would happen to our league should the Giants move to Minneapolis. The same thing goes for the Pacific Coast League should the Giants move to San Francisco and the Dodgers to Los Angeles."

"For the first time since I became president of the American Assn., I'm completely stymied. Before, when we were faced with such problems I always was able to see a solution. Now I don't. If they take Minneapolis away from us, I just wouldn't know where to turn."

Dougherty, along with seven other minor league presidents, and George M. Trautman, president of the National Assn., had just come out of an exploratory meeting with Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick on the subjects of realignment, expansion and franchise transfers.

The group admitted the minor league situation was never before in more dire straits. Former nine baseball towns such as New Orleans, Mobile, Louisville, Oklahoma City, Sacramento are in trouble. Declaring they had no knowledge of the Dodgers' and Giants' intentions, the officials confessed they don't know where they're going from here.

Nebraska Hurler Sets Record by Fanning 21

KEARNEY, Neb. (U-P)—Len Biles of the Kearney Nebraska State League baseball club, set a league record last night when he struck out 21 batters and took part in 24 of the 27 putouts his team made in a 9-4 win over North Platte.

Biles had one put out and two assists in addition to his 21 strikeouts. The old league strike-out record was 18.

Pirate Ace Purkey Whips Braves

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bob Purkey, Pittsburgh's club-by-faced righthander, looks as though he may be following in the footsteps of teammate Bob Friend, Pirate ace who gave the pennant contenders all sorts of troubles two years ago while leading the National League in earned run averages.

Friend, a bit battered these days, was the guy who almost owned Brooklyn's champs in '55. Friend, also a righthander, was 14-9 that season for the last place SPILLED — Veteran jockey Willie Hartack suffered a possible fractured vertebra in a spill at Arlington Park in Chicago yesterday. If such injury is confirmed it would sideline him for four months.

CHICAGO (U-P) — Willie Hartack, nation's top jockey, was out of action today with injuries suffered in a spectacular spill. But new X-rays will be needed to determine how seriously he is hurt.

Dr. Herman J. Carr, Arlington Park physician, said Hartack would be sidelined for "about four months." This would cost him his chance to break Eddie Arcaro's 1952 national record of winning 40 stakes races. Hartack this year has won 27 stakes races worth $322,840.

The leading rider of 1955 and 1956 and currently out in front by a wide margin was thrown heavily to the ground yesterday in a first race at Arlington Park. Hartack himself was in cheerful spirits and said he hoped he will be able to ride the Kentucky Derby winner Iron Liege Saturday in the $100,000 added Arlington classic if X-rays show no broken bones. However, he added he probably was being "too hopeful" in thinking about getting into the classic.

CHICAGO — In the American league since 1939 there have been 2,600 night games with about 46 million attendance, an average of 17,000 a game.

At Pontiac Speedway

Old Models Race Friday

The second running of the old model stock cars will race in a nine-event program at the Pontiac Speedway Friday night.

The leading stock racers from Detroit and Michigan will compete in the events, which will also include an Australian pursuit race and a 25 lap feature.

A larger field is expected than the number which participated in the first old model race at the Speedway last Friday.

Bucs, with a 9-5 mark against the first division, while finishing with a 2.84 ERA.

At the moment, Purkey is 9-7 and leads the league with a 2.70 ERA. He gained his second victory over Milwaukee 5-2 last night. It was the only game scheduled in either league and put the second place Braves three games behind first place St. Louis—first of the several NL contenders to get that big a lead this season.

Purkey, who will be 28 Sunday, stopped the Braves with a six-hit, strikeout seven and walked two. A single by Red Schoendienst came ahead of Ed Mathews' 18th home run in the first inning. But Purkey then kept the Braves in check while the Pirates battled back against Bob Buhl. Bob Skinner hit a two-run homer and Gene Baker bagged it with a three-run single.

Purkey, a Pittsburgh kid who spent most of last season in the minors after wrenching a knee in spring training, has picked up seven of his 1957 victories against the NL's five-team first division. He's beaten Brooklyn three times, Cincinnati twice. Only St. Louis has given him trouble, beating him twice in two decisions. He has no decisions against Philadelphia.

Mathews' shot was only the third home run given up by Purkey, who has worked 110 1-3 innings this season.

Buhl has lost three in a row, after winning five straight. The Cardinals, who have been their best on the road (26-11) and especially in the East (17-6), opened a 13-game swing through the East today at New York against the sixth place Giants.

Lindy McDaniel, (8-4) and 2-0 against the Jints, was the Card probable against either Johnny Antonelli (7-7) or Ruben Gomez (10-7).

Althea Gets Ticker-Tape Accolade From Broadway

NEW YORK (U)—New York today gives its greatest accolade—a ticker tape parade up Broadway—to Althea Gibson, the Negro girl who rose from Harlem's teeming sidewalks to the position of the world's foremost woman tennis player.

A city hall reception and a luncheon at the Waldorf Astoria hotel also honor the 29-year-old garageme's daughter who last Saturday won the Wimbledon title, tennis' biggest prize, and received the congratulations of Queen Elizabeth II.

Althea is to ride the historic three-quarter mile route from Bowling Green in lower Manhattan to city hall, receive the official greeting of mayor Robert Wagner, and then proceed to the hotel reception where she is to be awarded the medallion of the city of New York.

This tape and confetti-tossing ritual has been held for such heroes as Charles A. Lindbergh and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

It's a long way to have come for the once scrawny, long-legged girl who learned her tennis with paddles on New York's crowded sidewalks.

In winning at staid Wimbledon, Miss Gibson became the first of her race, man or woman, to win a singles championship in the 80-year-old event.

Althea was born Aug. 25, 1927 in Silver, S. C. She was one year old when her family, consisting of a brother and three sisters, moved to New York's Harlem where her father took a job as garage mechanic.

A good athlete who could beat most of the boys in the neighborhood at baseball, basketball and paddle tennis, Althea learned her strokes by hitting a rubber ball against a brick wall with a crude wooden paddle.

She was 15 when a play-street supervisor, Buddy Walker, became impressed with her mannish way of socking the ball. He introduced her to the Cosmopolitan Tennis Club, which has an interracial membership.

Jackson Golfers Win Outing Award

Jackson golfers taking part in the annual Detroit District Golf Assn. club relations outing at Tam O'Shanter CC yesterday walked off with top honors. The Arbor Hills CC team won the golf tourney plaque with 287 (A. Blank, H. Steik, P. Worden, J. A. Wissman) for four low cards. CC of Jackson was second with 299. Field included 109 players who also enjoyed the dinner at night.

Awards for low gross went to Roy Burgin of Grosse Ile (75), Don Miller of Lakepointe (78). Miller also had low net of 78-12-66, Blank, with 81-13-68, was second.

Group included directors of all Detroit District clubs.

Eagles to Honor Tiger Announcer at Friday Game

Detroit Tiger announcer, Van Patrick, selected by Oakland County Fraternal Order of Eagles, as the outstanding sportscaster of the year, will be honored Friday night at Briggs Stadium.

Patrick will be installed as a member to the Hurov Gardens Aerie 2887 in Waterford and some 250 brother Eagles from Pontiac, Waterford and Royal Oak will be at the game to witness the ceremonies.

State trustee Duane G. Johnson and Aerie president Don Coffey will make the presentations before the Tiger-Red Sox game.

Kocsis, Ritzenheim to Defend 1956 'Mixed' Title on Saturday

While 24 pairs have been entered for Saturday's 1957 City Mixed Ball golf tournament, there is still room for additional teams. Parks & Recreation department officials reported today. Post entries will be taken prior to tee-off time at noon.

A close contest for top honors is evident in the list of capable teams already on the roll. They include the 1956 defending champions, Joe Kocsis and Betty Ritzenheim.

Others are Wally Smith and Eva Miller, Charley Barker and Betty Wallace, Glenn Harding and Helen Barker, Ron Rothbarth and his wife, and Andy Condon and wife.

Parks and Recreation department also announced today that the City Women's Medal Play Tournament would take place July 20, when a team will be named from the top finishers to represent Pontiac in the state recreation title tourney.

Birmingham Had Quinton Brelsford Remember the Sport Stars of Yore?

(This is the fourth of a series about outstanding athletes of the past years from Pontiac and Oakland area and what they are doing today. Today we feature Quinton Brelsford, one of Birmingham's great track stars, now living in South America. Tomorrow we will feature former Pontiac High athlete Russ Oliver.)

The track teams at Birmingham High School seem to get better each year as Maple coaches continuously develop some of the state's top athletes but one former BHS thincled who will never be forgotten is Quinton Brelsford.

Describing the former star as a half miler par excellence would be putting it mildly. He would likely be the No. 1 selection for the 880 if an all-time all-state track team were selected.

No one has ever matched Brelsford's half mile records in state meets, according to the present Birmingham Athletic Director Frank Whitney. The same holds true reportedly for the Central Michigan and Mansfield, Ohio relays.

"Quinton was never beaten in the 880 in high school," commented Whitney about the former speedster who just missed making the Olympics. "He lost a shoe in the 1948 Olympic trials for the six mile run and was eliminated," recalled Whitney.

However, Brelsford, who has been an executive for the Ford Company in South America for several years, did gain fame the year before when he won the national collegiate cross-country championship.

Quinton was starting at Ohio Wesleyan in both track and cross country when he took national honors in the one sport and just missed the Olympic chance in the other. He still ranks with that school's best in history.

Brelsford actually started in college at Michigan but left after a few months to enter the service and did not return to Ann Arbor. Michigan's loss was certainly a big gain for Wesleyan.

The departed former star has three sisters still living in Oakland County. They are located in Birmingham, Royal Oak and Walled Lake. The latter Brelsford girl is the wife of another ex-Maple sports ace, Roland Langerman, who is also being featured in this series.

Southern Cal Aligns Itself to Quit PCC

LOS ANGELES (U)—The University of Southern California has aligned itself with UCLA and the University of California in seeking freedom from the Pacific Coast Conference round-robin football schedule.

A statement of principles adopted yesterday by USC's board of trustees called for an end to the compulsory scheduling of conference foes, leaving each member free to line up its own games.

A similar statement of policy was made by the University of California board of regents last month. It was widely interpreted as a move to force the PCC to expell the Berkeley and Los Angeles divisions of the state university, thus leading to a breakup of the conference, shaken to its foundations by a dispute over aid to athletes.

Only Two of '56 May Do It

Winners of 20 Games Falter

NEW YORK (AP)—A glance at the major league pitching records reveals an intriguing possibility—there are liable to be more 20-game winners this season.

Only seven pitchers had 10 or more victories as the campaign enters its second half today. They are Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox 12-6, Early Wynn of Cleveland 11-10, Jim Bunning of Detroit 10-7 in the American League and Larry Jackson of St. Louis 10-4, Jack Sanford of Philadelphia 10-2, and Ruben Gomez of the New York Giants 10-7 in the National.

Only Pierce and Wynn from among this group were 20-game winners in 1956. Seven others in last year's select category are unlikely to make the grade this time.

Don Newcombe of Brooklyn, a 21-game winner in '56, has won eight times. Warren Spahn of Milwaukee also has eight triumphs. Johnny Antonelli of the Giants has seven. Bob Lemon of Cleveland, five, Frank Lary of Detroit four and Detroit's Billy Hoelt one.

Herb Score of Cleveland, another 20-game victor, had a 2-1 record before he was sidelined with an eye injury.

Bunning, Jackson, Sanford and Gomez have been the big surprises. Considered the fourth man on the Tigers' pitching staff at the start of the season, Bunning has been beaten only by Baltimore and Kansas City. He also has the American League's top earned run mark of 2.03.

Jackson collected his first victory as a starter on May 28. He has won five as a reliever. Gomez was traded last winter after losing 17 games in '56 and Sanford, a rookie, has replaced Robin Roberts 6-11 as the Philadelphia ace. Roberts has dropped his last five decisions.

Lary, the Tigers' top pitcher a year ago, is one of five with at least 10 defeats. He has lost 11. Also with this unenviable distinction are Chuck Stobbs of Washington 2-12, Camille Pascual, also of the Senators 5-1, Ronnie Kline of Pittsburgh 2-11 and Roberts.

The majors produced one 20-game loser last year—Art Ditmar of Kansas City, who dropped 22. Ditmar is now 5-1 with the Yankees.

Battle Looms for 'Half' Title

Rochester could be a "spoiler" in the battle between Milford and Berkley Junior American Legion top clubs for the "first-half" title. The Rochester club, winner last night over Birmingham, 7-5, meets Milford at Milford on Sunday. Milford lost its first game yesterday, to Berkley 3-1.

Should Rochester win it would still leave Berkley on top. A Milford win would leave Huron Valley tied for the playoffs.

Rochester won its game at Birmingham with a 3-run sixth inning blast after Birmingham led, 5-4. Dave Stokes got the winner on Larry Laforge's double. Berkley nailed its win in the second with a single run added to its first frame counter. Zeeman's fourth inning homer provided Milford's only tally.

Where's Rabbit Ball

Homer Totals Decreasing

NEW YORK (AP)—What's happened to the rabbit ball?

Major league home runs are down almost five per cent from the 1956 totals. Through last night's game, 612 home runs were hit in the National League and 532 in the American for an aggregate of 1,144.

In as many games a year ago, 1,198 circuit blows were produced—651 in the National and 547 in the American.

The Cincinnati Redlegs, who tied the major league record last season with 221 homers, top both leagues with 100. This is 18 behind their 1956 pace. Kansas City heads the American League with 91, representing an increase over last year.

Milwaukee, with 88 homers, is runner-up to Cincinnati in the National. Then come the New York Giants with 87, St. Louis with 78 and Brooklyn with 73.

The New York Yankees are second.

Brundage Won't Quit

CHICAGO (INS)—Avery Brundage tonight denied reports that he had "threatened" to resign as President of the International Olympic Committee over the U. S. State Department's refusal to allow him to go to Bulgaria.

Costly Angling Tourney

Only 3 Marlin Taken at Cost of $18,315

OCEAN CITY, Md. (U) — What do you think of spending $18,315 to catch three fish? That's what its costing anglers in the 12th annual International Light Tackle Tournament. There are 99 of them and in two days only three have been able to hook and reel in a marlin.

Each angler paid $185 to fish during the three days of the tournament which ends tomorrow.

Their travel expenses from as far away as California, Mexico and Cuba are additional along with the cost of living in a summer resort for about a week.

They do it just for the thrill of using a line the size of a heavy thread to pull in marlin averaging 70 pounds and then let most of them go.

Only Luis DeHoyos of Monticello N. Y., John Rybovich of West Palm Beach and Leonard Robbins of New Rochelle, N. Y., have experienced a catch so far.

DeHoyos succeeded on opening day and the two others scored yesterday.

DeHoyos and Rybovich each got the maximum 100 points because they had their billfish alongside the boat and released in less than 30 minutes.

Robbins wanted to take his home to be mounted. He was timed in 35 minutes doing it so received only 63 points. His protest of the timing is pending before a committee.

DeHoyos is fishing for the Panama Rod and Reel Club, Rybovich for the Saltfish Club of Florida and Robbins for the Tri-Anglers Club of New York.

Each club has three fishermen competing for the top prize—a leather belt.

Last year at this time of the month with a comparable number of boats working the same area in two-tournament fishing the least caught on a single day was 30. As many as 97 were taken.

Vaughn Looks for New Foes

CHICAGO (U) — A new hard-punching Willie Vaughn looked around for bouts with top mid-weight contenders today after his TKO victory over rugged Mexican middleweight Chebo Hernandez.

Vaughn, who has made a bigger mark as a boxer than a slugger, unleashed a blistering two-fisted assault to batter Hernandez into helplessness in 2:19 of the seventh round of their scheduled 10-round nationally televised bout at Chicago Stadium last night.

His victory avenged a second round knockout he suffered in a scrap with Hernandez in Juarez, Mexico in 1954. Earlier, the pair fought two 10-round draws.

Twilight Grid Opener

BOSTON (U) — Boston University will kick off its football campaign at 5:30 p.m. on Sept. 28 against the University of Massachusetts in a twilight opener, it was announced today.

Veterans Pace Canada Open

KITCHENER, Ont. (U) — A couple of old-timers who have become part-timers on the golf circuit had the "youth movement" temporarily sidetracked today entering the second round of the $25,000 Canadian Open.

LADY TAKES OVER—Using a 20-pound test line, Mrs. Richard A. Springs Jr., caught a 101-pound white marlin, then a 105-pound blue with a six-thread. The first catch netted the Mt. Kisco, N. Y. angler third place in the Bimini, Bahamas, tournament.

Trying to protect a one-stroke lead were Henry Ransom, 46, and Ed "Porky" Oliver, 40.

Ransom, who has devoted more time to his sprawling 2,700-acre Texas cattle ranch in the past couple of years than he has to the tour, and Oliver, who spends much of his time at a club job in Canton, Mass., shot three-under-par 68s in yesterday's opening round over the tricky, wind-whipped Westmount Course.

One stroke behind were four pros, three of whom are trying for comebacks after slow starts this year. They are Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., and Mike Fetichuk of Mahopac, N. Y., along with leading money winner Doug Ford, also of Mahopac.

Souchak won four tournaments last year but hasn't had a first place finish this season.

Fairfield's 1951 winnings are about $5,000 under his earnings a year ago at this time and Fetichuk, winner of three tournaments last year, is looking for his first triumph of 1957.

Dick Mayer, National Open titlist, passed up the Canadian tournament and Dow Finsterwald, third leading money winner who has finished in the money in 45 consecutive tournaments, withdrew at the last minute because of a severe cold.

Among the eight golfers bracketed at 70 were Arnold Palmer, second only to Ford in money won; George Bayer, who finished second in the Western Open and the Montreal Open in the last two weeks; Gerry Kesselring of Toronto, one of the main hopes to give Canada its second Canadian Open title since 1914; and Moa Norman, two-time Canadian Amateur champion who only recently turned pro.

A stiff breeze made the hilly, 6,544-yard Westmount layout even tougher and dozens among the 164 who started wound up in the 80s. Sixteen were able to better par of 35-36-71.

The field will be cut to the low 100 and ties after today's second round and to the low 60 and ties for Saturday's final round.

Concedes Title Fight

Sinatra Quits Promotion

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Frank Sinatra, who has been in his share of beefs in his time, has given away his promotion of the Archie Moore-Tony Anthony light-heavyweight title fight to keep from becoming involved in a controversy.

The star had lined up the match on his own, including a $70,000 television deal with the American Broadcasting Company.

But he withdrew from the promotion yesterday and handed it over complete to the Hollywood Legion Stadium and the Olympic Auditorium rather than become locked in a battle with them.

The two fight concerns were protesting Sinatra's entry into the promotional field and were fighting him before the state athletic commission.

So the crooner made them a gift of the bout and now they are going to stage it as a joint promotion on Sept. 11.

The bout will be fought at either Wrigley Field, home grounds of the Los Angeles Angels, or at Gilmore Field, home of the Hollywood Stars.

The Athletic Commission still has to approve the fight, but it was indicated in Sacramento, the state capital, that with no one opposing it, approval would be routine.

Better Fishing Promised for Weekend Period

Generally improved fishing is predicted for the Pontiac area during the coming weekend, according to conservation men. Just now the lakes are settling down after the severe thunder and rain storms of the last weekend, and if new storms do not upset the conditions bass, panfish and pike angling should be better.

Bait is still the best producer, although a number of fine bass have been taken on flies, jitter-bugs and poppers. Early mornings, late afternoons and early evenings are best times.

R. R. Hellston of the Inlay City District No. 13 conservation headquarters reports today that smallmouths are hitting better in the Lake St. Clair area between Clinton Spillway and Gauley Point. Walleyes are fair in St. Clair river, taken by trolling mostly.

Along Lake Huron shores in the Saginaw Bay area, high winds and storms have reduced perch fishing to a low point. Few fishermen have been out. Some big perch are being taken on Lake St. Clair at the old lighthouse near the Nine-Mile buoy.

Lands Four-Pounder

Charles Beedle, 14, of Lake Orion took a four-pound pike from the lake, named like the community. It turned out to be too small for a Pontiac Press "big fish derby" entry, but gave the Orion lad a lot of fun landing it, first of the week. It was 26 inches long.

Charles was fishing with his dad, Charles Beedle Sr.

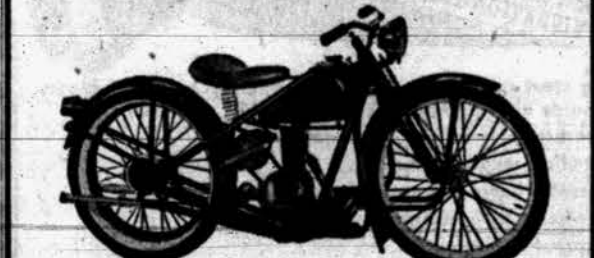

Derby pike leader is a five-pounder.

Former Yale Hurler Misses Perfect Game

COLUMBIA, S.C. (U) — Bob Davis, 23, who earned his bachelor of arts degree at Yale, came within a whisker of winning a master of pitching degree from the South Atlantic League last night.

The Columbia Gems' right-hander had a no-hitter working with one out in the ninth, when Charlotte outfielder John Grice outlegged a slow roller down the third base line for the only Hornet hit.

Still Remembers Story of Watermelon Miracle

DENVER, (AP)—The miracle at Potenza—that's what Louis Santangelo likes to call his experience one summer night in Italy in 1904. He's never forgotten this story: It was at the Feast of St. Rocco, patron saint of Potenza in southern Italy, Santangelo, then 7, and his family watched hungrily as happy hundreds crowded into a tiny churchyard for songs and meals of watermelon.

Louis' father was in New York City, struggling to set up a bakery shop. The youngster's mouth watered at the sight of the watermelon.

"Buy me some," he asked his grandfather. The old man, thinking of the dandelions and coarse corn bread that was all he could afford, answered sadly: "We'd better go." Louis started to cry as they got up to go. Just then a large, ripe watermelon rolled to his feet.

"Who lost this watermelon?" the grandfather called. No one took notice. The family divided the melon.

Louis vowed that he would repay his miracle at Potenza a hundredfold — "someday, when I have money."

That year, with his mother and baby sister, he moved to Denver. Today Louis is a prosperous owner of a downtown typewriter shop. He and his American-born wife have four children — Louis, 38, office manager; Robert, 34, an engineer; Don, 26, with the U. S. Air Force in Germany; and Julianne, 16.

Next Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Santangelo plan to leave for Potenza, where the Feast of St. Rocco will be held Aug. 17.

"No child will go without watermelon that day," said Louis, who has sent money, through the Italian consul in Denver, to pay for 600 prime watermelons to be given free to Potenza youngsters.

Attorneys Want FBI File Access

Claim Agents' Reports on Violence at Clinton Are Important

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Defense attorneys in the Clinton segregation trial were battling today for complete access to the formerly secret FBI files. They demanded to see exactly what they contain regarding the 16 accused men and women.

"We are going to try for everything we can get," a lawyer said.

The defense already has obtained one document from the FBI file — a signed statement by Robert G. Gross, chairman of the Anderson County (Clinton) School Board.

But it has not seen a summary of the agents' reports on the violence at Clinton.

This document is in the hands of U.S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor, who has withheld a ruling on whether defense attorneys are entitled to examine the report.

The FBI entered the Clinton case last December after riots had broken out over enrolling Negroes in the high school there. A Baptist minister, the Rev. Paul Turner, was beaten for escorting six Negroes to the schoolhouse.

On trial today are 15 Tennesseans, including a pregnant housewife. The 16th defendant is dark-haired John Kasper, New Jersey segregation leader. They are accused of flouting a federal injunction not to interfere with integrating the high school.

It is the first state-supported high school in Tennessee to mix the races.

A dramatic courtroom battle — with a dozen opposing attorneys on their feet at the same time — developed when the defense demanded to see the FBI files.

"We should have it now so we can prepare our case and not be forced to wait until we are sandbagged," said J. Benjamin Simmons of Washington, D.C., who represents Kasper alone.

12,557 Transactions With Auditor in June

A total $18,123 on 12,557 transactions was received last month in the office of Daniel T. Murphy Jr., Oakland County Registrar of Deeds.

This compares with $18,670 on 12,736 transactions in June of last year.

Last month's figures are broken down into 2,846 deeds, $4,633; 1,234 mortgages, $4,452; 4,925 chattel mortgages, $4,975; and 1,833 miscellaneous papers, $2,965.

Market Enters Afternoon Drop

NEW YORK (U-P) — The stock market declined in brisk trading early this afternoon, reversing a slight move to the upside.

Leading issues were down from fractions to around a point or more. But a number of specialties kept substantial gains.

The market was higher in moderate trading at the start. But its hesitation was plain as later dealings came in fits and spurts.

Due to a hitch in the conduct of transactions at the opening, the high-speed ticker tape ran late for a couple of minutes in reporting transactions, but this was not due to the usual reason of a big accumulation of orders.

The market lapsed into irregularity but the list still remained slightly ahead on average until early afternoon.

Steels, base metals, aircrafts and some chemicals took losses as the list headed definitely downward. Brokers said the market was due for a technical correction after posting new highs for the year yesterday and Monday.

U.S. Firm Gains Okay for Filming in Red Countries

NEW YORK (U-P) — An independent packager of television news shows has announced receipt of permission from the Soviet Union and three satellite nations to make film documentaries on life within their borders.

Jerry Hoffman, director of operations for Continental Features, said he received permission for the tour yesterday from Soviet Export Films in London.

He said he also had received written approval of his request to visit Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Poland. Hoffman said other Eastern European satellites have indicated they would welcome his concern's film crew.

Continental is a year-old American-owned company that works out of England and is represented here by the William Morris Agency.

Hoffman said the shows on the Red nations will be televised as a network series.

He expects to leave for the tour in several weeks.

Aga Khan, 79, Dies of Weakened Heart

He died of a heart attack while on his way to Paris on June 18 to escape a heat spell which contributed to his deteriorating condition. His weight had dropped to 132 pounds—half of that in the days when he was weighed by his subjects against gold, platinum or diamonds on his various anniversaries. The money value went to the Aga Khan's many charities.

His family had gathered at his villa in the suburb of Versoix when attending physicians indicated the end was approaching.

His Moslem followers are scattered everywhere in the world but live chiefly in Asia and Africa—Pakistan, India, Afghanistan, Iran, Arabia, Syria, Morocco and Zanzibar.

He deprecated reports of his great wealth in his autobiography, published in 1954.

"There must be hundreds of people in the United States with a larger capital wealth than mine," he said.

He explained that although he had control over a huge income from his followers, this control carried with it an "unwritten law" that it should be used for the upkeep of a great number of communal, social and religious institutions so that very little was left.

His followers presented him with annual tithes and on great jubilee occasions conducted elaborate weighing ceremonies, matching his weight of around 240 pounds, in gold to mark the 50th year of his religious leadership, in diamonds on the 60th year and in platinum on the 70th.

About 2½ million dollars in sparkling gems and industrial diamonds were placed on the scales in a colorful Bombay ceremony in 1946. A platinum weighing ceremony was held in Karachi, Pakistan, his birthplace, in 1954. A similar ceremony was planned in Cairo in February, 1955, for his 60th birthday.

Kimball Named MESC Manager

Carl Lown Also Given Position in Pontiac Branch Office

The new manager of the Pontiac branch of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, 142 Wayne St., is Paul F. Kimball, for four years manager of the Niles MESC office.

He succeeds acting branch manager Fred Hansen, who has been appointed manager of the Ypsilanti office, according to Max M. Horton, commission director.

Horton also announced the appointment of Carl Lown, formerly with the Detroit MESC office, to the post of assistant Pontiac branch manager.

Kimball, 36, first started with the commission as an interviewer. From Pontiac he went to the Manistee office as assistant manager, where he remained until appointed in September of 1953 to the Niles position.

Lown also began with the state office in 1945, in Jackson, where he remained as an employment interviewer and employer services representative until 1950.

He later transferred to the unemployment compensation division and served as a claims examiner.

Crop Estimate Lowers Grain

CHICAGO (U-P) — A government crop estimate that was much higher than expected, except in soybeans, caused active liquidation which pushed wheat and feed grain futures downward on the board of trade today.

Wheat slipped a cent or more at the start, and then recovered somewhat, due to short covering. Corn dipped major fractions to more than a cent, and oats as much as two cents, before urgent selling was satisfied and prices came back a little.

Soybeans showed gains of a cent or more, since the estimated acreage was a bullish influence. Rye dropped more than two cents, influenced somewhat by lower Canadian futures prices.

Near the end of the first hour, new wheat was ¼ to one cent lower, July 12.13½; corn was ½ to one cent lower, July 11.29½; oats were ¾ to 1½ lower, July 67½; rye was 1½ to 2½ lower, July 11.11½; soybeans were ¾ higher to ¼ lower, July 12.42; and hard was two to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, July 13.52.

News in Brief

Royal Perry, 37, of 29035 Long Rd., Livonia, was ordered committed to the Oakland County Jail yesterday by Farmington Justice Allen Ingle until trial Tuesday after he pleaded innocent to a drunk driving charge and failed to furnish a $200 bond.

A clock radio and drill motor, valued at $85, were stolen from the home of Mrs. Rose Allen, of 2700 Sleeth Rd., Commerce Township, Tuesday after thieves pried the front door screen loose, according to Oakland county Sheriff's Deputies.

Charles E. Torr, in charge of the repair department of the General Printing Co., 17 W. Lawrence St., told Pontiac Police yesterday an $87 portable typewriter was stolen from the basement between 2 and 3:30 p.m. Tuesday.

A $125 aluminum boat and a $190 outboard motor were reported stolen from the home of Milton Matson, of 4642 Starmer Rd., Rose Township, according to Oakland County Deputies.

Fear a Growing Teacher Crisis

Report Issues Warning of Falling Standards in Michigan Schools

ANN ARBOR—One out of three elementary school children in Michigan will be under the guidance of inadequately prepared teachers by the 1955-56 school year.

This is the picture as presented by a subcommittee on teacher education of the Michigan Council of State College Presidents in a recent report entitled "Teacher Demand and Supply in Michigan—1934-1970."

Dean Charles Odegaard of The University of Michigan College of Literature, Science and the Arts, served as chairman of the subcommittee, while Dean Willard Olson of the School of Education was a member.

"There is a real and present danger that the standards of the teacher group in Michigan will fairly rapidly deteriorate to less than college level," the report warns.

It is predicted that substandard certificate holders, "now concentrated in the lower grades," will appear more frequently in the upper grades and in the high schools.

"Michigan now faces the signs of deterioration in the standard it is able to demand in recruiting a sufficient number of qualified teachers to man its public schools. This deterioration threatens both the elementary and secondary schools as they search for qualified teachers," the report says.

For the next several years, there will be some 70,000 more children in school each year than there were the previous year, adding one-third of a million children to the school population over a five-year period, the report indicates.

"The combination of inadequately qualified teachers and large classes has already, in many cases resulted in education of poorer quality than that necessary for intelligent adulthood," it concludes.

Ex-Empire State Owner Gets Theatrical Award

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger L. Stevens, a Detroit who once owned the Empire State Building, has been awarded the Sam S. Shubert Foundation award as the theatrical producer of the year.

Stevens, who splits his time between real estate and show business, was represented with a dozen dramas this season.

His activities include management of several theaters, being co-producer for the Playwrights Company and Producers' Theater, a financial backer of the off-Broadway Phoenix theater, and an executive of the American National Theater & Academy and The New Dramatists Committee.

France's Grand Canyon

PARIS — France has its own "Grand Canyon"—the Gorge of the Tarn, which lies 1,330 to 1,660 feet deep in the heart of the Aveyron region. The Tarn River is navigable by canoe or small boat through the gorge.

Hold Onto Your Tartan Hat and Dive Into Unconscious

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (NEA)—O.K., everybody. Grab a flashlight and butterfly net. Here we go into the unconscious again.

On the basis of carefully recorded experiments at Wesleyan University it turns out that you don't have to know about art, but if you know what you like psychologists may be able to define your temperament, spot your neurosis and predict your performance.

"It's all done with tartans—those Scottish clan variations. And the man who has put them to this new use is psychology professor Robert H. Knapp (Scottish descent) who adjusted his bow-tie (Ramsay Dress) and said:

"We usually use pictures and questionnaires. But man's sense of what is pleasing aesthetically is connected with his temperament and motivation. And he looks at the arts directly from his unconscious."

I LIKE IT

The problem facing Knapp was reaching his subjects' unconscious with a test where nobody had to say anything but: "I like it."

He started out with landscapes but it was difficult to make them uniformly different. "And then one day," he said, "I was talking with the Rev. Roderick MacLeod."

The tartans proved bonny. They gave subjects four variables in selecting preference, each one with a meaning all its own: color, contrast, texture and symmetry.

Knapp and his students took the tartan test to Wesleyan men, to nurses, to naval submarine trainees before submergence, to inmates in a mental hospital, to submarine trainees after surfacing.

After 17 tests, Knapp's comment was: "Not enough to make a definite statement."

However, there are strong indications that our temperaments vary directly with our social, economic and educational backgrounds. People with a hungry need to achieve will usually pick one type of tartan. Lotus eaters will pick another.

DIFFERENT TASTES

Newlyweds may have different tastes, but long-married couples usually pick the same or similar tartans. Most scientists pick one kind; most salesmen another; ministers and Scout leaders still another.

On the other hand, difference in sex, change in mood, fear or euphoria have little to do with taste and temperament.

"Specifically," Knapp said, "color combinations may reveal the subject's vocational interests. The contrast may point to his neu-rosis (if any). The pattern, his degree of creativity and so on."

The tartan preference profile stands up "surprisingly well" alongside of other, longer, standard personality test results of the same subject.

The tartan profile also stands up against predictions of real-life performance. On what she found in tartan selection at a New York hospital, one of Prof. Knapp's students predicted which of the graduating nurses would do better than their academic records indicated.

"One year proved her correct," Knapp said, "right down the line." "We give people situations, problems, inkblots. And then we have to evaluate considered and re-considered answers," Knapp said.

"But when it comes to art, people know they don't have to justify what they like." "What about that tartan bow-tie the professor was wearing?" "Now wait a minute," he said.

Oil Industries in Cuba Develop at Rapid Pace

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Cuba's infant oil industry is going ahead rapidly, but it still looks like a long time before the country can produce enough to satisfy domestic demands.

The 1936 production was 40 per cent above that of 1935. But the output of 540,000 barrels last year was just enough to meet nine days of Cuba's domestic consumption. Ten million dollars were spent on oil exploration in 1936, compared with $7,500,000 in the preceding year. Cuban and American companies are leading the search for oil.
