Light of the World

'...Unto Us a Child Is Born'

Striking Omens Set Jesus Apart During Early Years

By GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of eight studies of the birth and times of Christ. It deals with the Holy Family—and the growing up of the boy Jesus.

A child is an enigma. He is a private place, like a never-traveled road whose course ahead is unknown.

Into the household of Mary and Joseph came such a charge— a robust, little Son—to open the sealed pages of a life.

Its beginning was marked by striking omens.

But Mary and Joseph were unassuming country folk, and in that manner, they reared the Boy, giving a plain, small-town upbringing to the Youngster who later would be called:

"The Light of the world . . . the Bread of Life . . . The Alpha and the Omega . . . The Beginning and the End . . . That Which is and was, Which was and is to Come."

He did not have a select—or even safe—introduction to this earthly existence. He first drew breath in a crib of hay. Herod wanted Him killed. But He had the staunch, undaunted care of Mary and Joseph.

They nurtured Him in affection, courage against danger, discipline and hard manual work.

It was an amazing thing at His birth when the shepherds came with their breath-taking account of a heavenly celebration. Almost overwhelming. Mary didn't even speak of it afterward, but pondered it in her heart.

Certainly, it didn't ease their responsibilities.

They lacked means to give the Child any social advantages. Joseph was a worker with wood. and laboring men earned only about a drachma (20 cents) a day. But they gave full devotion to the Lad of Whom it would be said:

"In Him are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge."

He grew up in a tiny village, Nazareth, with its dirt streets and mud-brick houses, where oxdrawn carts lumbered into town with melons and lentils, where herds of goats grazed on the hillsides.

The circumcision of the Child at eight days old denoted, in Jewish law, the putting off of fleshly sin. He shared the ordinary obeisance of others:

"He . . . Who did no sin . . . made Himself of no reputation and took upon Him the form of a servant . . . He humbled Himself and became obedient unto death . . ."

There were simple joys, and good air and soil in the Child's home village. Youngsters played

Holiday Travel Slowed by Weather

Three From Area Die in Crashes

Oakland Man, 2 Utica Youths Highway Victims

Fatality Toll Mounts as State Roads Fill Up With Yule Travelers

Two Utica youths and a West Bloomfield Township man were among persons who died in traffic on Michigan's fog-and-rain-bound roads last night.

The boys died an hour after their reportedly stolen car went out of control and struck a tree on 21 Mile road near Van Dyke.

The area man, David M. Fulton, 53, of 2599 Littletell Rd., was fatally injured when his car struck another headon on M 59 near Hayes road in Macomb County. The other driver, John P. Szymanski, 40, of Detroit was seriously injured.

Michigan State Police at the Romeo Post reported that Gerald Lalonde, 12, of 7526 Crissman, and Gary Hubbel, 15, of 8616 Russell, took the automobile at 10 p.m. Friday. They were dead a half hour later.

The 15-year-old was believed by police to have been the driver.

Police said the youths were apparently speeding and lost control of the car on the wet pavement. Markings show that the car swerved off the left side of the road before it struck the tree.

Hugh Burchett, 35, of Long Lake, was killed Friday night when his car left a Kalamazoo County road four miles east of Kalamazoo and struck a tree.

Arthur Messer, 53, of Wyandotte, suffered fatal injuries when he was struck by a pick-up truck in Trenton, a Detroit suburb.

A Mt. Clemens man, William Hennecke Jr. was killed when his car smashed into a concrete abutment in a heavy fog on Schoenherr road in Macomb County.

Edward Bough, 32, of St. Clair Shores, was injured fatally in a two-car collision on U.S. 12 near Jackson. Police said Bough's car skidded when he tried to pass another car and struck an automo-

Mayor of Utica Fixes Tickets: He Pays 'em

Even the high-placed don't escape when Judge Frank E. Howard of Mt. Clemens cracks down on drivers who forget to pay overtime parking fines.

The municipal judge yesterday fined Utica's Mayor George Albrecht a total of $28 for failing to ante up on six parking tickets.

The judge's campaign was prompted by the failure of many motorists to settle their fines.

One individual, the court said, had accumulated 108 tickets for overtime parking.

Police Frown on Mercenary Yule Caroling

Pontiac police will crack down on "the caroling racket" this Christmas season, Police Chief Herbert W. Straley decided today.

"Singing carols in the true spirit of Christmas is a wonderful thing and we've nothing against that, certainly," Straley said, "but collecting money just to pad pockets is something else again."

Straley said groups with legitimate reasons for collecting funds can get a permit to do so from the City Clerk in compliance with Ordinance 1251 concerning soliciting.

He further urged that adults should accompany groups of caroling youngsters on the streets at night.

53 Gas Stations to Drop Stamps

Out-County Group Resents Raise in Price of Trading Coupons

Some 53 service station owners in the out-county area have agreed to discontinue giving trading stamps as of Jan. 15.

The move follows a recent stamp price increase to the gas dealers. Signing the agreement were owners in Commerce, Union Lake, White Lake, Clarkston, Waterford and Drayton Plains.

A spokesman for the group said the move was an alternative to raising gasoline prices a cent a gallon or lowering their standards of service to the public.

All types of trading stamps would be eliminated by the agreement.

Estimates of the cost of the stamps range from $25 to $100 weekly with an average of $50 per week, a spokesman said.

Most of the stations have been distributing a variety of stamps for the past 18 months. The stamps cost between $11 and $15 per book of 5,000.

The price includes two raises totaling $1 in the past couple months.

Rain and Fog Hurt All Forms of Transport

Delay in Air Schedules Causes Heavier Traffic Throughout East

A widespread blanket of low fog and rain today disrupted holiday travel on the long pre-Christmas weekend, threatening a record traffic accident period.

Pontiac and the state were smothered by the dismal weather, which extended over much of the eastern part of the nation.

Air, train and highway travel all were affected.

The Auto Club of Michigan expects 1,200,000 cars to be on the move in the state during the four-day Holiday, but believed trips will be mostly 25 miles or less.

Poor visibility and slippery pavements put a damper on driving from Minnesota and Iowa eastward to the Atlantic coast. Parts of the Dakotas, Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia were in the fog area.

Highways were crowded by motorists who learned their airline reservations were delayed or canceled and turned to their autos to carry them to holiday reunions.

* * *

Trains were slowed and buses traveled at reduced speed, with drivers under instructions to proceed with extreme caution.

Fog-shrouded airports hampered airline schedules and some of the flights were rerouted, or rescheduled.

At Willow Run Airport, flights were resumed today after all planes were grounded last night because of fog. The terminal was reported packed.

* * *

The Greyhound Bus Company in Detroit threw extra buses on its lines to take care of its greatest rush since 1950.

Railroad stations also were crowded, and many trains were behind schedule.

Highway travel was made doubly dangerous in parts of Upper Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota because of glazing on highways. All main roads were reported clear in this area, but dirt roads were muddy and troublesome.

Westward, snow or freezing rain was forecast for the middle plains and Rocky Mountain states, while

In Crash Landing

Foam Strip Saves 44 Aboard Plane

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—A young mother prayed, using the words of the Christmas carol "Silent Night," and a male passenger worked a crossword puzzle, but "wondered if it was worth finishing."

That was the reaction of two of the 44 passengers aboard Capital Airlines Flight 77 which landed here last night on a blanket of firefighting foam spread over a runway.

The four-engined, turbo-jet powered craft made the emergency landing after circling the Charlotte airfield for two hours as the pilot attempted to remedy what he thought was a defective landing gear.

Meanwhile, on the field below the overcast, murky skies, ground crews worked hastily to spread a soapy foam blanket over half of the runway.

Flight 77, a New York to Birmingham and Mobile, Ala., run, was scheduled to stop in Charlotte for fueling. When the pilot, Capt. H. A. (Corky) Corcoran of Alexandria, Va., started to set the craft down he discovered there was too much hydraulic pressure on the cylinder of his right wheel.

Corcoran, a veteran of 16 years with Capital, began to circle the field. He and stewardesses Eve Madsen, 25, of Atlantic Highlands, N.J., and Helen Nagy, 23, of Chicago, kept passengers informed of developments.

Mrs. Faye Wayne of New York, a passenger, said she decided to pray.

"All I could think of," she recalled, "was 'silent night, holy night, all is calm, all is bright'."

Her son, Hayden, 7, slept through the episode.

A passenger from Boston, who declined to identify himself, said he worked a crossword puzzle as the plane circled. "All of a sudden," he said, "I wondered if it was worth finishing."

Five children were among the 44 passengers.

Capt. Corcoran set the Viscount down with the defective right wheel sliding on the foam while the left and nose wheels ran on the concrete runway.

Nine outgoing flights were delayed as the Viscount circled. The terminal was filled with passengers wondering at their delay but unaware of the drama overhead.

Expect Last Troops to Quit Egypt Today

PORT SAID (INS) — The last British and French soldiers on Egyptian soil probably will have been withdrawn before the sun sets on the Suez Canal today.

There is every indication that the Anglo-French are ready to end immediately the occupation that began Nov. 5 when paratroopers with blazing guns drove the Egyptian Army out of Port Said.

Only one battalion of British troops remains behind the barbed-wire waterfront barricades which mark the area of Port Said not yet turned over to United Nations troops.

Ships are waiting for them in the harbor.

Atlanta Sets Record

ATLANTA (AP) — A record high temperature of 69 degrees for Dec. 21 was recorded here yesterday — the first day of winter.

The old record of 67 was set in 1879 and duplicated in 1898.

Safety Is Keynote at Busy Corner

'The Voice' Directs Traffic Flow

By PETE LOCHBILER

For Pontiac Patrolman Melbourn (Dick) Griffin, Christmas shoppers have an unhappy trait in common with philosophers, lovers, and little children.

They're all an absent minded crew, but the shoppers seem especially distracted to Griffin as they dart into traffic, thoughts busy elsewhere.

Griffin knows, because he is the officer stationed nine hours a day for pedestrian protection at the corner of Saginaw and Huron streets.

Posted in the second floor of Kresge's Department Store with microphone in hand, Griffin is the observer shoppers hear commenting over the public address system:

"Will the lady in the red hat please get back on the sidewalk: the light has turned red."

His job is two-fold and simple:

Keep pedestrians from killing or maiming themselves; drum safety-awareness into everyone's head.

"We station an officer at the busy corner every Christmas season," Lt. Joseph Koren of the Traffic Bureau says," to keep a running commentary, calling the attention of the pre-occupied shopper to the ever present dangers of traffic.

"Especially at this time of year, it seems that folks are rushing into the street faster and paying less attention where they are going.

"They're probably thinking of the gifts they want to buy, or wondering how long its going to take to get all the shopping done.

"Anyway, they're apt to follow someone into the street without even looking up to notice the "walk signal has turned from green to flashing red.

"We've got Griffin there to remind them."

* * *

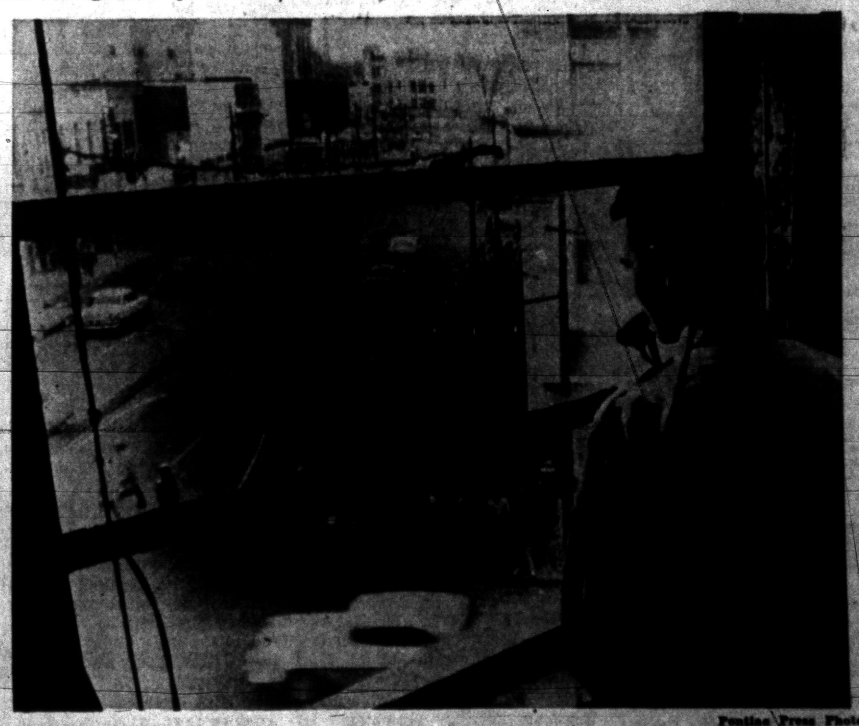

Griffin also keeps traffic moving freely and is handy in case any shopper has a lost child.

Police hope that some of the facts and figures he quotes about accidents sink in and stay with the listener all year around.

They hope his message is remembered at other intersections where traffic is not so busy but still is lethal to the careless pedestrian.

Griffin started his stint Monday and will stay on the job from noon to 9 p.m. every day except Sunday until Christmas, Koren said.

If he's successful, on Christmas morning there will have been no pedestrian who suffered bumps, bruises, fractures or worse at Huron and Saginaw.

BALCONY VIEW — Here's a policeman's-eye view of the corner of Huron and Saginaw streets, which hundreds of Christmas shoppers are packing more and more as Dec. 25 draws near. Officer Melbourne (Dick) Griffin keeps a close eye on pedestrians, using a public address system to shoo them back to the sidewalk when they ignore traffic signals. The moving car, caught by the photographer as a blur, shows the danger of stepping off the curb at the wrong time. Griffin will be at his post from noon today to 9 p.m. tonight and Christmas Eve.

Here Are Gifts That Will Please

Done Your Last-Minute Shopping?

By JANET ODELL

Hail all ye last minute shoppers! We still have some gift ideas up our sleeve for you. There is a certain excitement about shopping the day before Christmas; you can almost feel it in the air.

Most experienced cooks like to use wooden spoons. We saw an assortment of all sizes in one store. How about making up a set for one of your favorite people? The same store has good looking metal bookends made in the shape of leaves and feathers.

An amusing gift would be a white ball point pen, measuring 11 inches in length. It is luxuriously decorated in rhinestones. A little more expensive gift from that particular store is a pair of gold cuff links with a tiny watch set in one link.

Young girls are always pleased with sets for their dressers. Some of the silver colored brushes and mirrors are painted with delicate pastel flowers.

Sturdy metal cars, trucks and farm machines, imported from England, make excellent stocking stuffers for small boys. The assortment includes a set of international road signs. And what young mechanic could fail to be enthusiastic about a harbor police boat complete with motor and siren.

An impersonal gift for either sex is a lint remover. This one is a roller with a handle. An extra supply of paper comes with it. Also on the impersonal list are candy and flowers.

Leather lockets, strung on a leather cord, or heart lockets with a space for pictures are bound to please teenage girls. Give the teenage boy a new wallet or driving gloves. Both sexes like cuff links.

For real fun for the whole family buy a new game, one that all members will enjoy playing. Your choice is large; stocks are still good.

Hearts Open Up for Children

Most Beautiful Christmas Tree in America Made of Kindness

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

It is a tree of matchless splendor, wreathed in garlands of love and devotion.

Bright Christmas colors gleam in the branches, symbols of warmth and compassion, courage and hope. That silver bell is a child's laugh, the holly a kindly act. The shimmering ornaments were put there by happiness, and the candles speak of faith.

* * *

Where is this tree?

It is everywhere in America today.

Who brings these precious gifts?

Uncounted numbers of people, known and unknown, of many faiths and races, from every station in life.

One was a man in Philadelphia, a delicatessen owner. He bought a big tree, set it up outdoors, decorated and lighted it, and put a sign on it:

"This tree is for all people who are homeless or who have no Christmas tree of their own."

* * *

And one was Judge John J. Walsh in Utica, N.Y., who was about to jail a chronic alcoholic when the prisoner showed him a letter from his daughter. It said she thought the man was dead.

The judge, withholding sentence, gave him some money and said: "Merry Christmas and God bless you . . . I hope you get to her."

* * *

Surely a bright strand was placed on the tree this week by Dr. Laurence Jones, 72-year-old Negro educator. He is president of the Piney Woods School in Mississippi where 500 underprivileged youngsters work their way from grammar school to college.

He came to Camp Kilmer, N.J., bringing Christmas trees and 10 bushels of pecans grown by his students, to the Hungarian child refugees there.

"We have very little at Piney Woods to share with you," he said, "but my students are deeply grateful to America . . . We know it will be equally good to you."

* * *

And surely a television program in the Veterans Administration hospital in San Fernando, Calif., will throw a bright gleam on the tree.

There, on Christmas Day, veterans suffering from tuberculosis will talk to their families over a closed-circuit TV hookup. It has been years since some of the men saw their children. Those under 15 are not admitted to the tuberculosis wards.

A group of volunteers in California raised the money and arranged for the program.

* * *

Who knows how many Americans connected with the armed forces have helped trim the big tree? Even a partial list runs long —

In New York, Jewish War Veterans are sending 50 hospitalized servicemen to their homes in 13 states for Christmas, giving them roundtrip tickets and pocket money. Jewish USO volunteers are taking over from their Christian coworkers in veterans hospitals and elsewhere. This is a "thank you" for courtesies they received on the Jewish New Year and the Day of Atonement.

* * *

In Boston, employes of the Boston Naval Shipyard planned their annual Christmas party, raised over $20,000 for it — and decided to entertain 1,000 orphans instead.

In Ft. Polk, La., the 845th Engineer Battalion did the same thing, and found it had enough for two childrens' Christmas parties, which have been scheduledd.

* * *

In Brooklyn and New York, the navy is bringing hundreds of poor children aboard the USS Intrepid for dinner and presents, giving each child a sailor host and guide, and sending truckloads of gifts — from contributions from the men — to every veterans hospital in the area.

The hearts of people went out to children everywhere.

In Philadelphia, Sister Maria Virgo ran out of money while buying dolls for poor children in Our Lady of Mt. Carmel parish. A saleswoman in a department store offered to buy some more, so did a member of the managerial staff. The move snowballed. The nun went away with all the dolls and toys she needed.

In Phoenix, Ariz., the Boy Scouts of troop 241 may not get to the annual jamboree this year. Their funds usually come from the sale of Christmas trees. But last Monday, seven children in one family were orphaned in a train-automobile accident. The scouts are selling their trees for money for them.

Striking Omens Seen in Jesus' Early Life in the fields of fox-ear wheat and romped in the orchards, while their mothers shook down olives with wands.

When they took the Boy to Jerusalem to dedicate Him to the Lord at 40 days old, they had only the sacrifice of the poor to give, and Joseph paid the five-shekel temple tax for a first born — $3.60 to redeem Him Who would be called:

"The Lord of Glory . . . the only Begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth . . . In Whom also we have obtained an inheritance . . ."

But there remained the workaday duties of providing for Him, the hours at the loom and millstone, the leeks, mustard, citrons and pears to gather and preserve, the water to be carried from the one well in Nazareth.

The family settled in this sleepy town to stay when the Child was about 1. He had been several months old when the Eastern wise men came with their gifts and homage to Bethlehem. Afterward, came the brief stay in Egypt to avoid the knives of Herod's soldiers. Now, Herod was dead.

The Child grew and waxed strong. He was a perceptive Boy. His keen interests sometimes puzzling Mary and Joseph, but He was likeable, and found favor with people, long before it was said that through this Boy:

"God . . . made known unto us the mystery of His will."

The Boy was nourished in scripture. The young of all devout families were taken regularly to the synagogue for "hearing of the law." They memorized the words, studied with them inscribed on leather bands about their head and arms.

The boy also learned carpentry, like Joseph. It was a trade of sweat and calluses, of the shearing rhythm of the adz, the fine eye of measuring line and rod, the stroke of saw and bik-hammer, the cut of wedge and chisel.

There was abundant fishing in the lake of Galilee, an hour's walk away, and the Boy was free to grow in the clear outdoors, to stroll the vineyards and groves of cedar, to learn to make a burro's pack, this Lad of Whom it would be said:

"He was in the world and the world was made by Him . . . In Him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily . . ."

Not until He was 12 did He accompany His family on the yearly trip to Jerusalem for the Passover feast, and there He saw the great temple. More than 5,000 priests served it in bi-monthly rotation.

There, in the city, was the turmoil of cluttered cultures, the traffic in slaves, with their felt caps and aprons, the Roman soldiers in laced boots, the beggars and outcast sick, the chariot races, pipers to snakes, the shaven men and ornamented togas.

Starting back to Nazareth, Joseph and Mary missed the Boy. For three harassed days they searched, finally finding Him in the temple in a discussion with scholars, staggering them with His deft questions.

"Never spake a man like this man," many would say of Him later.

But then, His worried mother had rushed to Him, "Son, why hast Thou thus dealt with us? Thy father and I sought Thee sorrowing."

He said: "Knew ye not that I must be about my Father's business?"

It perplexed them. They could not fathom His meaning. But He was an obedient Boy, and returned home.

So the Boy was molded into Manhood in the wide spaces of Galilee, there in those calm, fertile valleys, 600 feet below sea level, with the feeding flocks, the wild gazelle on a distant hill and the lilies on the marsh.

This was the stage from which stepped forth this observant, sturdy Youth of Whom these words resound:

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son so that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

Cranbrook Artist Wins Top Prize With Sofa, Chair

BIRMINGHAM—John C. Adams, of Birmingham, Cranbrook Academy of Art graduate student, has won first prize of $2,000 in a national design contest for upholstered furniture.

Adams' design of sofa and chair featured nubby upholstery on shaped plywood trays that made up the bodies of the pieces, laminated legs and spines, and shaped aluminum braces.

"The designs avoid the cliches of the market," said an official of Blocksom and Co., Michigan City, Ind., sponsors of the $3,500 contest. The firm makes an upholstery filler.

Adams, a 1954 graduate of the Rhode Island school of design, has had various design positions and is free-lancing while working toward his master degree at Cranbrook.

Michigan designers claimed seven prizes, with Detroiters taking the $1,000 and $500, and Martin Lawrence of Royal Oak among four Michigan men in the list of eight receiving certificates of merit.

Awards will be presented on Jan. 8 during the January Furniture Market in Chicago.

New Line Added for City's Buses

To Service Mt. Clemens, North East Boulevard; Change Other Routes

Pontiac City Lines, Inc. today announced a new line servicing the Mt. Clemens street-N. East boulevard area and changes in other established routes beginning Dec. 30.

* * *

The new line, named Mt. Clemens No. 5, will operate at 20-minute intervals during busy periods weekdays and at 30-minute intervals during off-periods weekdays and on Saturdays. At night and on Sundays and holidays the schedule will be at 60-minute intervals.

Monday (Dec. 24) bus operating times will be the same as the usual Saturday schedule because of reduced passenger loads brought about by the closing of schools and local industrial plants, according to Transportation superintendent E. W. Dreasher. The Christmas Day schedule will be the same as that followed on Sundays.

* * *

The schedule may be changed at the end of the month-long trial period to determine, Transportation Superintendent E. W. Dreasher said, the need of the customers.

Buses will leave downtown from Saginaw and Pike; head north to Mt. Clemens, east to Valencia, north to Linda Vista, northeast to Del-Ray, east to East boulevard, north to Valencia, then swing around Balboa and DeSoto and back to Valencia. On the return trip buses will continue on Valencia to Mt. Clemens, head south on Mill to Huron and then west to Saginaw and south to Lawrence street.

* * *

Because lack of riders during off-periods, the present Perry Park route will operate only during weekday rush hours, Dreasher announced.

A slightly changed route taken by the Joslyn Road bus will service the area during the rest of the time, he said. The new Joslyn No. 2 route, will be:

North on Saginaw from Pike to Howard, east to Perry, and north to continue the present route.

* * *

The present Perry Park-Bagley route will be known as the Perry Park route, Dreasher said, the Joslyn-South boulevard route as the Joslyn-Bagley route. Buses on the new Mt. Clemens line will continue after the return trip to the South boulevard route, he said.

Here's Why School Bus Is Crowded

In response to complaints from parents in the county regarding crowded school bus conditions, Dr. William J. Emerson, county superintendent of schools, explained the situation this morning.

"Usually when reports of overcrowding are investigated," Dr. Emerson said, "we find one of two things: That the crowding is chronic or found over an extended distance or that it only exists for a mile or two."

In the first case, the school authorities buy a bus as soon as they can get funds together. Usually this is cured before the end of the first semester, Dr. Emerson said.

The second condition, while not desirable, he continued, is not treated as an emergency. It is taken into consideration when the next year's bus routes are planned.

* * *

"People are asked to put up with this last condition because buses are so terribly expensive that the schools cannot afford many of them."

The average bus load is not at capacity, he continued. The bus route is usually planned so that the bus fills up at the end of the run. "I don't know who could pay the bill if there were no crowding or standing at all."

"Another complaint we get is that the buses don't stop in front of each house for children. Schools do not like to have the buses make more than four stops per mile because it slows traveling time considerably.

"That way the bus can't make two trips and you have to buy twice as many buses," Dr. Emerson said.

"We do try to give good service and keep the cost within reasonable range."

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. Arthur J. Wilsdon

Service for Mrs. Arthur J. (Lucile F.) Wilsdon, 49, of 4531 Cass-Elizabeth Rd. will be at 10:30 a.m. Monday from the Sparks-Griffin Chapel with Dr. Milton H. Bank of the Central Methodist Church officiating.

Mrs. Wilsdon died yesterday morning at her home. She had been ill several years. Friends may call at the funeral home after 5 p.m. today.

2 Officials Indicted for Cheating on Pay

Two officials of corporations preparing Nike guided missile bases for the Defense Department have been indicted by a Federal grand jury on charges that they cheated on overtime and falsified payroll records.

Accused were Sebastian J. Mancuso of Farmington and William B. Pankin of Oak Park.

* * *

Mancuso is president of the National Sand Co. and Pankin is secretary-treasurer of the M. and B. Topsoil Co. Both firms are located in Warren.

The two have been charged with paying bulldozer and steam shovel operators straight time wages for overtime worked.

Police Hold Soldier After Knife Holdup

Pontiac police are holding an Auburn Heights Nike Base soldier for investigation of a robbery at knifepoint of $50, reported by an Auburn Heights man, Anderson R. Lawson, of 227 Gay St., in a car last night.

Officers say they caught the soldier, Pete F. Sais, 23, after he tried to escape from the car.

Lawson claimed Sais pulled the knife while the car was on North Perry street, taking Lawson's billfold and the money. Sais did not have the stolen goods on his person when arrested after a minute-long chase, Officers LeRoy Hartman and Robert Rood said.

Safety experts expressed fear of a record traffic toll over the long holiday weekend, which ends midnight Tuesday. The National Safety Council estimated that 45 million cars would be on the streets and roads during the extended holiday weekend.

The council said in addition to the fog, other travel dangers included the usual unpredictable winter driving conditions, a minimum of daylight and holiday drinking. The council has estimated 660 traffic deaths for the Christmas holiday period. The number of fatalities reported over the period last year was 606.

For Pontiac and vicinity, the Weatherman promises little change in the mild temperature readings.

Tonight will be cloudy with occasional light rain or drizzle and a low around 35. Tomorrow's forecast is the same, with a high of 36-40.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 40 degrees. At 2 p.m. the mercury read 40.

News Flashes

VIENNA (INS)—Reports reaching Vienna said today that heavy fighting between Russian troops and patriots is continuing in Eastern Hungary.

The reports said the Russians had recaptured Eger, the city known as the "Hungarian Rome" because of its many churches. One hundred and ten freedom fighters were reportedly massacred by the Russians after the city was captured.

Heavy fighting was also reported near Miskolcz.

Mystery Gunner Wounds Girl, 14

Teenager Shot in Back While Walking Along Royal Oak Street

A 14-year-old Royal Oak girl was shot in the back by a mysterious gunman last night as she walked along a street two blocks from her home.

Cindy Estes told police she was returning home from a drug store with a girl friend when she heard a sharp pop and felt a pain in her back.

She said she told her companion, Virginia Wright, 15, also of Royal Oak, that she thought she had been shot.

The two girls ran to Cindy's home where police picked up Cindy and took her to a hospital. She was treated for a flesh wound below the left shoulder and released from the hospital.

Police said the wound was made by a 22 caliber shot which must have been fired at close range. There were no witnesses to the shooting.

Otto John Sentenced for Treason Action

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP) — Otto John, former West German intelligence chief, was sentenced to four years in prison today for treasonable relations with the Communists during his 17-month stay behind the Iron Curtain.

The sentence was announced by the Federal Supreme Court after a six-week trial.

Rescue Two Boys From Freezing Pond

Two Pontiac boys were rescued from six feet of freezing water yesterday after they fell through thin ice on the mill pond in Beaudette Park.

Treated for shock at Pontiac General Hospital after their screams brought help were James Pope, 12, of 1018 Argyle Ave., and William Lister, 13, of 1026 Argyle.

A neighbor, James Worthington, 25, of 978 Argyle was helped by a Milford man, John Dresa, in pulling the boys out, Pontiac police said.

The boys said they were crossing the pond about 3 p.m. when the ice gave way.

Thieves Get Change

An undetermined amount of change was stolen from a new car office at 210 Orchard Lake Ave. Thursday night, Pontiac police said. An iron grating on the rear of the building was removed to gain entry, they said.

The Day in Birmingham

State Studying Traffic at Hunter-Oak Crossover

BIRMINGHAM — Chief of Police Ralph W. Moxley said today that the State Highway department is considering traffic signals for the newly-completed Oak-Hunter crossover.

The light had been part of the planning that began about three years ago to eliminate the long diagonal entrance of Woodward Avenue into Hunter Boulevard.

After lengthy planning and interchange of properties with Bloomfield Township and Birmingham, the Oak street route was opened this month.

Commissioners are disturbed about a left-turn ban, Moxley says, that the state is suggesting. It would prohibit turns onto Oak from northbound Hunter, in order to free cars entering Hunter from Oak.

Wrong Driver Cited in Accident Account

The Pontiac Press yesterday erroneously listed the wrong driver blamed by Pontiac police in a two-car accident in which four persons were injured.

The Press wrongly said Walter S. Sneed, 58, of 546 Arthur St., was held on a drunk and disorderly charge. Sneed, however, was cleared of blame in the accident.

The other driver, Sam Zuruk, 64, of 1130 Mt. Clemens St., was arrested on the charge. He pleaded guilty and paid a $25 fine set by Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

Shirl Conway's the Gal With the Big Mink Coat

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Shirl Conway, the big blonde with the big mink coat who plays the femme fatale on Sid Caesar's TV show, recently made a speech in her home town, Franklinville, N. Y. (pop. 1600).

"When you're young," she said, "this is the kind of a town you can't wait to get away from.

★ ★ ★

"But when you're older, this is the kind of a town you can't wait to get back to."

Shirl, having attained—at approximately 40—one of the biggest mink coats in New York and having bought herself a town house here on the uppity East Side, got a little emotional about Franklinville because the girls there had thrown her a coffee.

"Do you know what a coffee is?" she asked the B. W. and me the other night when we pub-crawled to the Waldorf and El Morocco.

"It's a party where they just serve coffee. It started at 6:30 and lasted till midnight."

SHIRL

Shirl's friends were complimentary, but one of them said, "Why doesn't Sid Caesar do his show at a different hour? We just love Lawrence Welk."

Thinking of all this — and the mink coat and the town house—Shirl considers herself a mighty lucky gal.

★ ★ ★

"You know how many of my female co-workers in the theater aren't working?" Shirl asked. "A lot!"

"Television must have stimulated a lot of young girls to come here looking for jobs," the B. W. said.

"It's also stimulated a lot of old girls!". Shirl groaned. "I'm very lucky to be on a show with somebody like Sid. If you're not happy with something, you can go to him and say, 'Pappy, I'm not happy.' You don't have to go see some other guy and ask him to tell him."

Six feet tall in her heels—and she wears the highest heels she can get— Shirl's proudest of the mink which she bought when she went to England to star in "Plain and Fancy" in the pre-Caesar days.

"I don't want just a long coat—I want a tent!" she told Milton Herman, the furrier, who, back in the days when she was poor, would lend her a coat in an emergency. "I want one with a hood."

★ ★ ★

In London people used to say, "There goes that coat again." Shirl says, "It took six months' work to pay for it."

Shirl's experience as a showgirl, cover girl and saloon singer has been helpful on TV. Back in the World War II days, she was singing in a club when some heckler tossed a couple pennies on the floor.

"Now if you'll throw me $18.73 more, I can buy a bond," she told him.

Shirl will frankly admit she's working in clubs where a girl was supposed to "mix." Coming from Presbyterian stock she didn't find this easy.

But she managed to do it. Eventually came success and she was booked at the snooty St. Regis. Close friends dropped in. Shirl went to their tables.

★ ★ ★

She got a stiff note from the management. "Would you please entertain your guests in your room?" it said. "Entertainers at the Maisonette are not permitted to mix with the customers."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Actor Robert Strauss, who grew a beard for a stage role, was asked if he'll shave it off. "Not all of it," he said, "—just the right side."

Joan Morton of "Mr. Wonderful" is the first showgirl ever chosen by Baby Talk magazine as "Mother of the Month" . . . Diplomatic Nat (King) Cole says he admires Elvis Presley's "energy" . . . M. Monroe's ex-hairdresser-sec'y, Peter Leonardi, opened his own place . . . John Wayne and the Missus are buying up art treasures in Europe.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Herb Shriner recalls a politician who promised two cars in every garage, and adds, "We're close to that now—we already got two cars for every parking space."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Joe E. Ross tells of the farmer whose plot of land is two inches wide and a mile long. He raises spaghetti.

Rochester Eyes World Problems

Asks Goodwill to Keep Yule

ROCHESTER — Eyes of one congregation here are turning toward Hungary with their minister saying, "Unless Christians prove to be men of goodwill in our day, Christmas will be lost to millions."

Hungarian refuges will be aided by First Congregational Church members in an offering at their 11 p.m. service Christmas Eve to which the community is invited.

The Rev. E. John Yuells will give the meditation on "Needed, Men of Goodwill."

Symbolism of candles will play a large part in worship in Rochester churches, with one congregation taking the tapers that light the church to their homes after Christmas Eve worship.

That is the St. Paul's Methodists, who will mark the tradition after a family service and Children's Crusader choir music at 7 p.m. and again after the adult chancel choir music and Christmas sermon at 9 p.m.

Children's voices will be starred at St. John's Lutheran Church at a Christmas Eve service at 7 p.m. A pageant will be given.

Starting the third year of broadcasting service over WPON, the Rev. Walter C. Gerken and the choir will also present the 10 a.m. Christmas morning Communion service.

A service tomorrow for St. John Lutherans will be at 7:30 p.m. with instrumental renditions to supplement carols and choir numbers.

At St. Philip Episcopal Church a pageant is set for 9:30 a.m. tomorrow, a carol service by Junior and St. Cecelia choirs at 5 p.m. and a Christmas party later.

A half-hour organ recital will open Christmas Eve service at 10 p.m. at St. Philip's. Holy Communion service on Christmas will be at 10 a.m. and Holy Baptism at 11 a.m.

Annual party for youth of St. Paul's church school is this afternoon at 2 p.m. with a Santa Claus visit included.

TO ADOPT A CHILD — Dropping money contributions into a manger in the Roosevelt School, Keego Harbor, auditorium, these children are building up a fund to "adopt" a child. During an assembly yesterday afternoon, the school children made donations instead of exchanging gifts, and the funds will go either to a Korean orphanage or into the Foster Parents Plan to aid one child.

Yule Cantatas Set at Oxford

Churchgoers to Hear Handel's Hallelujahs and 'Infant Holy'

A cantata, "The Infant Holy," Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" and other special music is planned by Oxford churches to fete the anniversary of Christ's birth.

Holy Cross Lutheran Church choir will present Rohlfing's "Christmas Cantata" at 8 p.m. tomorrow with Mrs. Elmer Greenwald as soloist, Mrs. G. E. Behnke, director, and Mrs. Richard Hinz, organist. An informal coffee hour will follow.

Children of the Sunday School will present a versper service at 7 p.m. Christmas Eve, and the annual Christmas Day service will be at 10:30 a.m.

Choirs of Immanuel Congregational Church and Oxford Methodist Church will combine for a cantata, "The Infant Holy," at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Congregational Church.

Mrs. Lee Valentine and Mrs. Cecil Morrow will direct.

The Congregational Sunday School Christmas parties will be divided with one for second graders and those younger at 3 p.m. today and the older group meeting at 7 p.m.

Church services tomorrow morning will include Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" sung by the choir.

Christmas program of the Methodist Sunday School will be presented at 10 tomorrow morning, followed by the church service with special music.

The Oxford Baptist Church School is having its Christmas party at 2 p.m. today and its program at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Tonight the young married couples of the church will go caroling and distribute gifts to shutins.

Logs Back Troy Custom

Light Candles to Mark Advent

By LAURA HOLLOWAY
Pontiac Press Correspondent

TROY — Families of the Troy Methodist Church have been observing an unusual custom this Advent Season, using miniature log candle holders, made by the Married Couples Class of the church, that hold four Advent candles.

First of the candles was lit on the first Sunday of Advent, Dec. 2, after each family took home a set with their small log holders, and in each home it burned brightly every evening throughout the week.

On the next Sunday evening, they lit two candles, one to replace the first and a new one. Last Sunday, three candles were burning, and tomorrow, the fourth candle will be lit.

"Since all of the families of the parish were observing the same custom," according to the Rev. Robert Paul Ward of the church, "they felt closer to one another and closer to Him whose birth they were preparing to celebrate."

"The candles are a reminder of the coming of Christ as the Light of the World," the minister explains.

A similar log with the four candles was placed on the altar of the church and four electric candles were put behind the manger scene on the lawn outside.

Tomorrow, the candle quartets will be burning brightly as the congregation gathers for worship at 9 and 11 a.m.

On Christmas eve, duplicate services will be held at 8 and 11 p.m. Since last Christmas so many attended the late evening service that some were turned away, the early service is being added this year.

"We can be sure that those best prepared for that Holy Night will be the ones who have observed this lovely custom throughout Advent," said the Rev. Mr. Ward.

LOU ELLEN JONES

Avon to Add 2 New Trustees

Two Year Wait to End With Spring Election; Deadline Set

ROCHESTER—First chance that Avon Township has had to elect two more trustees to the township board is presenting itself in the biennial primary, for which the petition deadline is set for Dec. 31 at 4 p.m.

Township Clerk Frances O. Covert announced the up-coming deadline pointing out that it was two years ago that the township people voted to increase the board's size to seven members.

All of the present township officers have filed petitions and are running in the primary: Supervisor Cyril E. Miller, Clerk Frances O. Covert, Treasurer Helen V. Allen; and trustees Elmer LeBlond and Earl Dean.

Township Treasurer Allen has announced that the 1956 Tax Roll is $1,208,399.23 which is $296,427.56 more than the 1955 roll. A total of 92 per cent of the 1955 roll was collected.

The rate per 1000 in the Village of Rochester is $9.22, and outside of the village is $60.22 per 1000.

In Special Fire District No. 2, which is south of Hamlen road and west of Rochester road, the rate is $61.85. Avondale District pays $64.35 per 1000. Figures show that approximately 80 per cent is school tax this year.

Taxes are payable at the treasurer's office until Jan. 20 without penalty. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily except Saturdays, 9 to 12.

Name Scholarship for Martha Little

LAKE ORION — The Lion's Club at their December meeting this week voted to use the portion of money left in the Martha Little Memorial Fund, after her grave marker is placed, as a scholarship for the first of the Little children that completes high school education.

The fund was begun following Martha's death last July at the hands of Howard Wayne Moore, confessed killer who was later sentenced to life imprisonment.

NEW HUDSON—The New Hudson Methodist church will have special Christmas music by the choir tomorrow at 11 a.m.

Your PTA Is Planning:

Details for Spring Fair

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — David Mansfield, budget and finance chairman of the Glengary Elementary School PTA, has called a special meeting to be held in the second week of January for the planning of a Spring Fair.

Although the 1956 fair was a success, PTA members hope to add new attractions to the 1957 event.

Pupils from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades presented a special Christmas program at the regular PTA meeting held this week. Another feature of the evening was an "open house," during which parents visited school rooms to view Christmas decorations.

'Farmers' Week' to Blueprint Rural Progress

EAST LANSING (AP) — "Blueprint for tomorrow's Agriculture" will be the theme of the 1957 Farmers' Week at Michigan State University.

Ralph W. Tenny, director of short courses and coordinator of the event, said the week has been set for Jan. 28 to Feb. 1.

Programs and exhibits will be tied in with the efforts of state farm organizations to develop a plan for building Michigan agriculture into one of the most prosperous and forward-looking in the country.

Recommendations by the farm groups for reaching this goal were contained in a recent "Michigan Blueprint for Rural Progress."

Slate Yule Party

LAKE ORION—The children's Christmas party for the church school of St. Alfred's Episcopal Church will be held on Dec. 27 from 2-4 p.m. at the church.

An afternoon of games and refreshments will follow a short service in the church for them.

Married Christmas Eve

Pair Marking 60 Years

HOLLY—Mr. and Mrs. Darwin East, retired Rose Township farmers whose married life spans the period from horse and buggy to TV, will observe their 60th wedding anniversary Monday, Dec. 24, on the farm where they have lived since 1914. They were married on christmas Eve, 1896, at Perry, Mrs. East's girlhood home.

Mr. East, 84, was born in Rose Township, near the site of the old McWithy mill, and has lived in the township all his life except for two years in his teens when his family moved temporarily to Arkansas. He owned and operated farms until forced into retirement by arthritis about 1930.

Mrs. East, 80, was Cora Dorn prior to her marriage.

At the time the couple started housekeeping telephones and automobiles were unknown in this area and very few rural homes were served by a daily paper. Today's pave dhighways were unsurfaced dirt roads, often blocked with snow for weeks at a time in winter.

Mr. and Mrs. East will be entertained at dinner Monday night at the home of their son, Ben East, of Rose.

Big Salary Kickback Is Christmas 'Gift'

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Just at Christmastime, two county road commissioners learned they have to pay back $3,000 in salary increases.

A legal study indicated that the Kalamazoo board of supervisors mistakenly approved salary boosts for Commissioners R. L. Olds and Hartman Kakabaker.

Mayor Glenn S. Allen Jr., chairman of the board's legislative committee, said state statutes forbid pay raises for road commissioners until their terms have expired. The salary boosts were approved in October, 1955. Both men were serving unexpired terms at the time.

Both men will be permitted to repay the county on an installment basis, with Olds returning $2,000 and Kakabaker $1,000.

State Police Force Passes 1,000 Mark

EAST LANSING (AP)—The Michigan State Police came into existence in a time of trouble.

They weathered a lot of trouble, including some early opposition from those fearful of the powers of this new force for law enforcement.

Now, in time of trouble, citizens automatically call for help from their State Police—recognized as one of the finest organizations of its kind in the world.

State Police reached a milestone this month when the enlisted trooper strength, for the first time, topped the 1,000 mark—this total being all men who can be put out to patrol the highways and exclusive of detectives, fire marshals and others on special assignment.

Next year, State Police will celebrate their 40th birthday, dating back to when the original Michigan State troops were created on April 10, 1917 as a war-time emergency force.

The Michigan National Guard had been called to war. State officials saw the need for a small, highly-trained force ready to cope with any kind of internal emergency.

Col. Roy C. Vandercook, a veteran of the Spanish-American War and a Lansing newspaperman who worked for, among others, the Associated Press, was the first commander of the state troops and later became the first State Police Commissioner.

Col. Vandercook, now in his eighties, is as present living in retirement in East Lansing.

"We were a horse troop then," he recalls. "The men had to care for their horses and clean the stables as well as other duties. Most of our worries in the early days came from the IWW agitators."

Fires were set in warehouses and docks. The IWW lawlessness centered in the Upper Peninsula with attempts to slow the war effort through strikes, bombings and burnings in the vital UP mines.

A force of the State Troops was sent north and drew praise for bringing trouble under control.

There were persistent reports that an attempt would be made to sabotage the Soo Locks. State Troops patrolled the Locks, factories, tunnels and docks along the Detroit River.

Original opposition to the State Troops came from members of the World War One Home Guard, jealous because they felt the State Troops were taking over some of their duties and powers.

Later, local sheriffs and police had some of the same fears. State Police law enforcement powers are unrestricted, but as a matter of policy they prefer not to move into a local jurisdiction unless called on for special assistance.

Perhaps because the first commissioner had a background as a working newspaperman, State Police relations with the press always have been good. Newspapermen, sometimes cynical about police and occasionally complaining about lack of cooperation with their fact-gathering chores, have few such reservations about the State Police.

In 1919, although some politicians objected, a permanent State Police force was created to succeed the State Troops.

"I know the newspapers helped fight our battles in those early days," commented Joseph A. Childs, present commissioner. "Traditionally, the State Police press relations have been excellent."

State Police had their first brush with a new and still-growing problem in 1919. It was reported that year that aid was rendered in six automobile wrecks.

As early as 1920, a report to the governor noted that the automobile had brought about radical changes in law enforcement problems.

"Raiding small town banks, stores and homes," the report said, "has become a fairly common practice among criminals, who, with their high-powered cars, can strike into the interior of the state miles from their haunts and hiding places in the cities."

The raids were described as "practically a reign of terror" with merchants sleeping in their stores with rifles and night patrols organized to watch for the raiders.

Police started retiring motorcycles, which had in turn replaced the horses, and relying more on stepped-up latest models from the Detroit assembly lines to chase down the criminals.

Prohibition spawned another difficult and dangerous law enforcement chore. State Police had to be on constant patrol to shoot it out with rum-runners bringing highly-profitable wet goods across the Ohio and Wisconsin borders and across the Detroit River from Canada.

Riots rocked the state prisons at Ionia and Marquette. Kidnaping rings flourished briefly. The routine of police work varied every year from murder and arson to chicken-stealing and domestic quarrels.

State Police changed with the times and grasped at every new scientific advance in the effort to keep one jump ahead of the criminal, the lawless and the careless.

Ike and Mamie Host House Staff

Autographed Pictures Given to Each; Also Toys for the Tots

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower, in a change from past Christmases, today gave each member of the White House staff twin pictures of themselves with an engraved autograph and greeting.

* * *

In the past, the Eisenhowers' Christmas present to White House employes has been a reproduction of an Eisenhower oil painting.

This year, the gift consists of a profile photograph of the President, smiling broadly, and a full-face picture of the First Lady. Underneath is an inscription: "With best wishes for a happy holiday season."

Eisenhower signed his name beneath his portrait and Mrs. Eisenhower beneath her's. She wrote it out in full—Mamie Doud Eisenhower.

The photograph of the President was taken Sept. 19 by Willard Volz. It was made while Eisenhower was delivering over TV and radio his opening address of the 1956 political campaign.

The photograph of Mrs. Eisenhower is of an oil portrait done by New York artist Thomas E. Stephens. It shows Mrs. Eisenhower in her 1953 inaugural gown.

The gifts were distributed personally in a traditional reception in the White House East Room.

White House personnel — about 600 of them—filed by and were greeted with a handclasp by the President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

For members of the staff, such as police, the Secret Service, messengers and others, there were toys for each of their children under 12 years of age.

Clinic Has New Head

DETROIT (AP)—A former University of Michigan doctor, Dr. Roger W. Howell, has been appointed head of the division of preventive psychiatry at the Lafayette clinic.

Dr. Howell, who took over his post Dec. 10, studied and taught at the University until 1956. He served in the mental health field in Minnesota and North Carolina. His new duties are in conjunction with Wayne State University.

The hours between 2 and 4 p.m. Saturdays are the most dangerous period for accidents on farms, a recent Pennsylvania survey shows. Teenage boys are most likely to have accidents in their hasty efforts to finish in time for Saturday night dates.

Winters Are Getting Milder and Shorter

Regardless of what else you may hear about it, the Pontiac area doesn't have the severe winters that were a regular program a half century or more ago.

★ ★ ★

Older residents plainly recollect when the ground was continuously covered with snow from late in November until early in April. Winters with three months of sleighing were common.

Skating on our lakes was a usual Thanksgiving pastime, and St. Patrick's Day often was celebrated in the same manner — unless the deep snow on the ice made it impossible.

While that spring election day snow early in April, 1886, goes down in history as Pontiac's greatest tieup, several of the immediately following years brought storms almost as bad.

★ ★ ★

In that 1886 storm our city was isolated from the outside world for several days. The drifts on Saginaw Street were as high as the tops of the store windows. The old two-story brick courthouse was almost completely hidden.

The snow that fell that day was about four feet on the level—but little of it remained on the level.

Around the turn of the century there never was a winter when Cass Lake did not freeze over. In recent years such a condition is common. It usually has open water near its middle.

Ice on our lakes often reached three feet in thickness. Now two feet is more than the average.

★ ★ ★

The ground was frequently frozen to a depth of three feet, although protected by a covering of heavy snow. Now 12 inches is about the rule, although it has little snow protection.

Thermometers often touched the 20 below zero point. Now when they get to zero we think it's unbearable, and wonder if some records are falling.

In the meantime, there has been little change in our summers. They run about the same as when the winters were so severe.

★ ★ ★

If this thing goes on in the same momentum as during the last 50 years, there won't be much difference between summer and winter in the Pontiac area when the year 2006 rolls around.

Two Presidential Issues to Face New Congress

Two Constitutional questions on the Presidency considered and dropped in 1956, probably will be taken up by Congress in 1957.

The new Congress will be asked to decide: (1) How should Presidential disability be determined; and, (2) should the two term limitation on the President be abolished.

★ ★ ★

The Constitution provides that if a President can't perform his duties, the Vice President shall do so. But it does not say how that disability should be determined nor by whom.

The legislation being drafted, says Congressional Quarterly, would place primary responsibility for determining disability on the President himself. But if he failed to step aside, the Vice President would be empowered to call a joint session of Congress and announce that he was taking over as acting President. Congress would not have to approve the action.

★ ★ ★

Thereafter, either the President or Vice President could determine the end of disability and the President would resume office. President Eisenhower, who has encouraged Congressional consideration of this problem, has had the Justice Department looking into the subject. He might make his own recommendations to Congress.

★ ★ ★

An attempt will be made to repeal the 22nd Amendment which limits the President to two terms. Two Democratic Representatives, Udall of Arizona and Kelley of Pennsylvania, are urging a bipartisan drive for repeal. President Eisenhower has questioned publicly the wisdom of the amendment.

★ ★ ★

In the matter of Presidental disability it would seem unwise to let the Vice President alone decide that a Presidential illness would justify him assuming Presidential powers. There should be a provision guarding against abuse of this power and for the protection of the Presidential office itself against possible encroachments.

The People's Business:

Outlook for Hart

Spotlight Likely to Fall on Lieutenant Governor

By ROGER LANE

LANSING — There's a man in the shadows at Lansing whom nearly everybody expects to step one day into the spotlight.

★ ★ ★

He's a handsome, soft spoken but quick-witted lawyer and father of seven who has just about all the attributes that make for success in politics.

He's the 44-year-old lieutenant governor of Michigan, Philip A. Hart, who has just completed a three-week stint of pinch-hitting as chief executive.

Hart is widely regarded as the heir apparent when bigger things beckon the top man in state Democratic ranks, Gov. G. Mennen Williams. The citizenry has just witnessed one of the reasons.

★ ★ ★

Often when the chief executive of a state leaves its boundaries, and his power devolves on the lieutenant governor, this actually happens only in a technical and very restricted sense.

NOTHING ACTUALLY DONE

It is understood that nothing will be done in his absence, or if any decision becomes necessary, it will be made by his staff—perhaps in consultation with the chief—and by the stand-in governor in name only.

★ ★ ★

But when Williams departed for his tour of South America, the role left for Hart was appreciably different.

Hart signed the routine proclamations and made a few speeches, but he did more, too. Don't get it wrong —not more than he was supposed to do. Hart is self-effacing to a fault, some of his friends feel, and he overstepped no bounds set on his activities.

In accord with prior understanding, Hart got in some real licks on the administration program now being developed for presentation to the 1957 Legislature when it comes in next month.

★ ★ ★

He called in Democratic House and Senate members and went over much of it with them, staying out of a few still formless and sensitive areas, of course.

And he did a good deal of work on the program with the governor's staff.

REMOVED JUSTICE

When a Madison Heights justice of the peace got into a jam, and removal proceedings were instituted, Hart went ahead with the hearing and promptly ousted the man from office.

★ ★ ★

Hart played a major role in the fall political campaign.

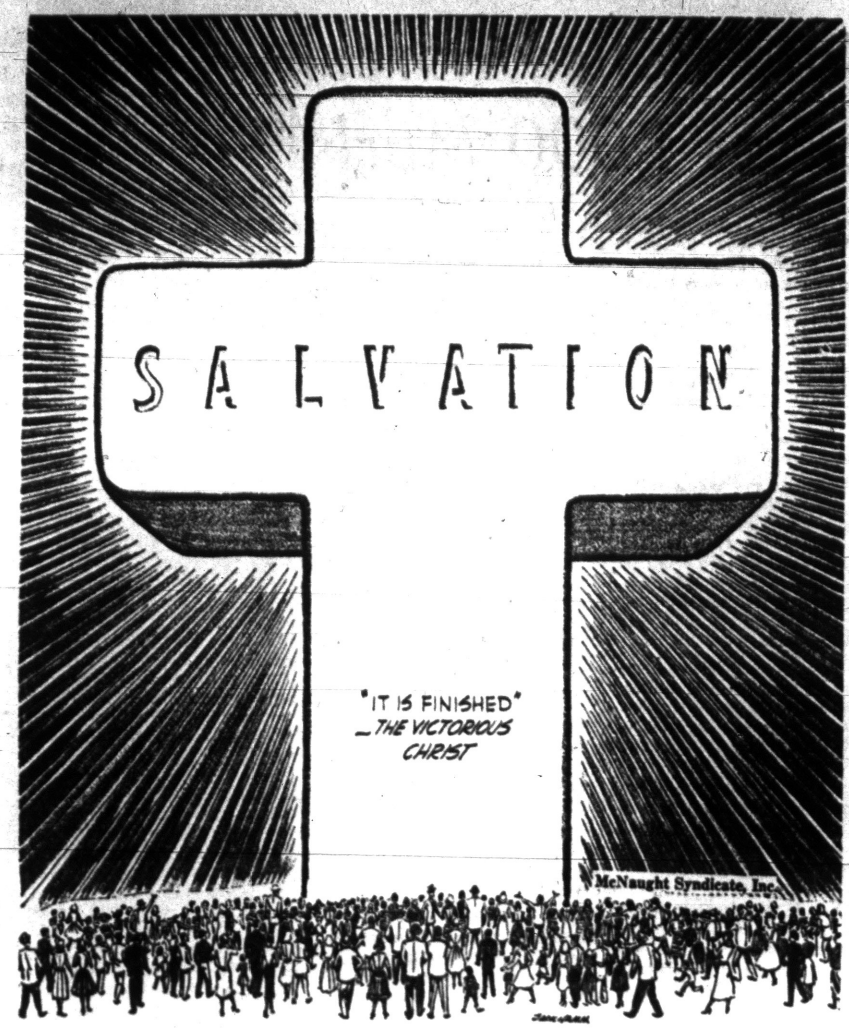

Hart is a very able speaker, a man well equipped for politics. He is trusted by Williams.

His television personality, his handsome family, his affable temperament, his fine war record and ability to get on with others in politics—all these are prime political assets.

And he is well-to-do financially, which doesn't hurt.

★ ★ ★

Monument to All-Time Accomplishment

Tells Little-Known Yule Legends

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Here are some Christmas legends that are not widely known. Most of them have to do with the Holy Family.

* * *

It is said that as Mary and Joseph were making their way to Bethlehem where Jesus was to be born, Joseph had further proof, though certainly he did not need it, that Mary's baby was divine. The proof came from a cherry tree that stood beside the road.

* * *

Mary, seeing the tree heavy with ripe cherries, expressed a wish for some of the fruit, and the tree immediately bent down so that she could gather the cherries without effort.

* * *

On one cold night while they were in the stable Joseph went out to find some fire in order that he might keep Mary and the Child warm. This was before the days of matches, and the only way to start a fire was to borrow a coal from someone who already had a blaze going. Joseph soon came upon some shepherds who were spending the night around their fire.

* * *

When they observed that their dogs did not challenge the stranger, they allowed him to take some coals, which he picked up with his fingers and carried away in the folds of his cloak. The astonished shepherds immediately followed him to the stable, where they found the Holy Family sitting by a fine fire that was merrily burning away on the cloak, which Joseph had laid on the floor and which was still not consumed or even damaged.

ROBIN'S BREAST

Loveliest of the stories about keeping the stable warm concerns a friendly robin and explains how he and all his descendants acquired that red breast. Joseph, on this occasion, was having a very difficult time trying to make a fire out of some hopelessly green twigs, which were the only available fuel. The little pile of sticks would burn only while Joseph fanned them, and he was exhausted with the effort. At this point a friendly robin flew in and took charge of the situation. Hovering over the feeble flame, he fanned it with his wings so vigorously that he soon had it roaring. Its glow reflected on the bird's breast with such beauty that Joseph was inspired to confer the color on him permanently as a badge of his service to the Lord.

HEROD'S TROOPS

When the wicked Herod ordered all male children under the age of two to be killed, Joseph having been warned in a dream (Matthew, Chapter 2, verse 13), took his wife and Child and fled to Egypt.

* * *

Herod's soldiers, of course, pursued them, and there are two stories of how the soldiers were foiled.

One tells that at a time when the chase had become very hot, the Family quickly took refuge in a cave, just one jump ahead of the troops. As they rushed into the cave a spider immediately got to work behind them and in a matter of minutes had spun a web that completely covered the cave's door. The soldiers, seeing the web, naturally assumed that no one could have gone through this opening in some time, and went on to look elsewhere.

* * *

During the flight to Egypt the Holy Family, still only a little ahead of their pursuers, passed by a field where a farmer was sowing grain. Recognizing the plight of the fugitives, the amiable farmer offered to misdirect the soldiers, but Mary told him he must not lie.

* * *

Immediately the grain that had just been planted sprang up, grew to maturity and turned yellow—ready for the harvest. When the soldiers, hot on the trail, came along, the farmer in complete honesty said that Mary, Joseph and the Child had indeed passed by, but that it had been when he was sowing this very field. The soldiers, of course, supposed it had happened weeks before and turned back.

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Avoid Sleeping Pills at Any Cost

"Wife and I can't sleep nights unless we take sleeping pills prescribed by the doctor. We just lie in bed, our muscles jumping and twitching if we don't take the pill. The doctor says there's nothing wrong with us but nerves . . ." (G. E.)

Answer—Far better pace the floor wringing your hands and otherwise bellyaching about your sleeplessness than take the dope. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet How to Sleep Well.

"I tried with excellent results gasoline and Whitfield's ointment for foot itch. Cured it." (R. E. H.)

Answer — On written request accompanied with stamped, self-addressed envelope, any reader may have a copy of the pamphlet on Dermatophytosis, or, as it is otherwise called, "Athlete's Foot, Ringworm Foot Itch.

"What does 'diffused sunlight' mean? Does a person derive any benefit from sitting indoors in the sunshine?" (Mrs. W. H. O.)

Answer — diffused means the light is spread out, as skyshine on a cloudy day or daylight in the shade. Direct or diffused sunlight that reaches the uncovered skin through an OPEN window is about the same as outdoor sunshine. Sunlight passing through window glass loses most of its ultraviolet value. Special window glass partially admits ultraviolet.

"Your opinion, please, of the teachings and advice of Gaylord Hauser, food expert . . ." (Lt. D. A. J.)

Answer — Whatever teachings or advice of Gaylord Hauser's I have seen seemed OK.

"Please tell me if blueberries fresh are good for people with diabetes. Ben Told fresh blueberries act like insulin . . ." (Mrs. W. F.)

Answer—They don't. They contain as much carboyhydrate (Starch and sugar) as cherries, raspberries, or pears (15 per cent). Send 35 cents and stamped self-addressed envelope for booklet Training for Diabetes.

"I was born and raised in Penn Yan. Still summer on Keuka Lake. I'm a vigorous, life-enjoying female, 41, but have finger nails that are ridged and split and dry, brittle hair, falling out and unmanageable." (Mrs. —).

Answer—The pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks (for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope) will tell you how to correct such manifestations of nutritional deficiency.

"Formerly colds were almost chronic with me, but since I began using the iodin ration about 2½ years ago, I haven't had any. Formerly, too, I was always chilly even where other people were maybee too warm. Now I'm comfortable in that respect . . ." (Mrs. L. J. T.)

Answer—Anyway it can do no harm to try. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet The Iodin Ration.

"Been told too much iodine causes heart trouble, also eats holes in your stomach . . ." (M. V. H.)

Answer—Maybe Ben will tell you how much is too much. I recommend no more than everyone ought to get.

"I have passed by 85th birthday. Work in my garden and around the house. The doctor told me my heart skips a beat occasionally. Is this a serious condition? Please find 35 cents inclosed, for your C V D booklet on heart and artery troubles . . ." (C. J. T.)

Answer — No. Mine does too. There are times when a good doctor should keep his trap closed.

* * *

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Women's 'Intuition' Isn't Fictitious

Why was Paul so tactless? Do you believe women are better psychologists than men? Do children prefer to confide in their mothers or their fathers? Do you think woman's intuition is inborn? The answers are outlined below. Dads, one of the best gifts you can offer your children is to raise your own batting average on the tests offered below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-354: Harry W., aged 35, is a high pressure business leader.

* * *

"Harry is brilliant," his wife admitted, "but I wish he would use better psychology on the children.

"For example, the last time they saved their pennies to get their Daddy a gift, and had shopped with great glee to find him a tie, he casually dismissed their present with a 'Humph, that's not the color I like'.

"Dr. Crane, why can't Dads anticipate the crestfallen ego of their children when they do such things?

"How can a man with a high I.Q. be so tactless when dealing with children?

"Or is it true that men just don't 'sense' things as readily as women? Do we have a corner on intuition?"

WOMAN'S INTUITION

As a rule, women are better psychologists than men, for they study people more closely than do their husbands.

Men are primarily interested in things while women are concerned with persons.

* * *

That's why mothers retain the confidence of their children far more than do fathers.

Woman's intuition is not an inherited talent. It is learned by subconsciously watching the fleeting facial expression of people and by noticing the nuances of tone and these other delicate evidences of inner tension.

Even in pioneer days, the men might plant potatoes and beans and corn in the garden to put food on the table.

But it was the wives who spaded a little plot, often after twilight, to plant a few flowers.

All throughout civilization women have thus been more sensitive to cultural and spiritual matters.

They are the custodians of music and morality, education and art.

Men, on the contrary, stress science and mathematics and exploration.

Men, too, declare the wars and start the shooting.

Women then form the Red Cross and nurse the wounded back to life.

SALUTE TO WOMEN

Among the 1,000 letters per day that come to me via this educational column, about 60 per cent are from the female sex and 40 per cent from boys and men.

And part of the explanation lies in the fact that women write about their children or their husbands, parents and other people.

Men usually write about themselves. They are more egotistical and thus more selfish than women.

"I carry my religion in my wife's name," was an old adage that can be amplified to state, "I carry my tact and child-rearing strategy in my wife's name, too."

There are obviously many exceptions to that rule, but who is it during the weeks before Christmas who thoughtfully plans gifts for everybody, and scrupulously salvages colorful paper and ribbons to wrap the gifts in an artistic manner?

* * *

Men will, if left to themselves, hand over a gift in a brown manila bag, but a woman tries to make it look gay, colorful and charming.

Fathers should be especially careful not to miss their cues around the house, especially when children are trying to "surprise" Daddy with a gift.

To help raise your batting average as parents, send for my 200-point "Rating Scales for Good Parents," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychojogical charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Urges Severe Punishment for Boy Who Used Razor

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

The courts are the only place for that school boy that slashed a school principal with a razor. What are we coming to? If major offenses like this aren't punished and punished severely, why should other border line cases behave? And why shouldn't other normal people drift into border line cases?

Either we have protection from hoodlums or we haven't. If delinquents like this can slash law and authority and not pay and pay hard, we're bringing up a group of bandits, thugs and murderers. The present instance could very easily have resulted in murder. I hope the most extreme punishment possible is dealt out and that it is done swiftly.

New Teacher

'They Caused It, Let Them Worry'

Somehow, I can't get all steamed up over the fact the British and French may be short of oil. Who sunk those ships in the canal? Who broke faith and encouraged the "invasion?" Why should I weep and give up my own gas for the sake of the monkeys that cause all the damage and the trouble?

I think it is time we adopt a policy of "America for Americans." That would include the Canadians and I'm in favor of including the Canadians. I also believe we should start thinking about "American Money for Americans." Let some of those European smart boys start passing their tin cups on a different bunch of street corners.

Sam

'Help Hungarians After Americans'

It is all very well and good to help Hungarian refugees or other such people, but why not start at home?

Recently I tried to get help for a young woman and her two small children who had been without heat in a heap of a house and not only that, the house was alive with rats. But I couldn't find anyone to do something for that mother and her sons.

Mrs. H. W.

(Editor's Note: Because the strike at Fisher Body has now been settled, The Press will print no more letters discussing the controversy.

'Veterans' Parade Too Commercial'

A wholehearted agreement with "One Who Still Remembers" regarding the mercenary usurpal of the Veterans' or Armistic Day parade to turn it into an advertisement for business and industry. I sincerely hope that the Veterans' organizations will not again march to advertise big business, but will march in observance of Veterans' Day, for those who fought and the victories which we were fortunate enough to win. I also hope they will have no part of promotional schemes which subordinate the traditional meaning and spirit of the parade. This thing is shameful. Unless we take note, Memorial Day may be next. Unscrupulous money-grabbers will obviously go to any low and hold little or nothing sacred.

Lion Fans Send Replies to Letter

Just a few words of comment on the letter by "Old and New Bear Rooter." I think most of the Lion fans and players believe in good sportsmanship. And there was very little of this shown by either the fans or the Chicago players Sunday. I mean not only the tackle on Layne, but also when the same Bear was evicted for the same offense against another Lion, and when another Bear tried to kick a Lion's head for a field goal. Buddy Parker is a coach who believes in fair play. I believe Pontiac, Detroit and Michigan fans believe in fair play, Mr. Bear Rooter.

Lion, Tiger, Red Wing and PHS Fan

In answer to "Old and New Bear Rooter," he had better move back to Illinois and stay with his loving Bears if he is going to be that kind of a turncoat.

Reflections

MERRY CHRISTMAS

J. L. VOORHEES

Mary Ellen Chase said: "Christmas is not a date. It is a state of mind."

Christmas spirit pushes aside greed; giving replaces it. It is a birthday of freedom when peace is paramount. The Christmas tree is the symbol of eternal life, tinsel reflects the light of man in his struggle toward understanding. Our gifts are physical expressions of love to be held and appreciated. The day is filled with joy and song, good cheer and happy greetings of family and friends. It is a celebration of the birthday of Christ, the Lord. Through the hilarity there is a sense of reverence, a feeling that God is Host and His Son is Guest.

M. E. SIPLE

Our hearty wish: "Merry Christmas to all of you.

Pope's Yule Message to Be Given Sunday

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII's Christmas message to the world this year will be broadcast in 25 languages—including Chinese and Russian.

The 80-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church will give his annual address Sunday at 11 a.m. (5 a.m. EST) in reply to the greetings of the College of Cardinals.

He is expected to speak about 35 minutes. His original message, in Italian, will be broadcast by the Vatican and Italian radios in hookup with other European networks.

Says Oui to Wee One; She'll Get Her Little Doll

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—There is a little French girl here who is convinced Santa Claus is a pretty swell guy.

She is Marilyn Michel, 3, who came to this country with her parents only six weeks ago.

* * *

Naturally she doesn't speak any English so she was a bit heartbroken the other day when she went to a department store with her step-grandmother to see Santa. She saw all the other youngsters talking to him but she realized she couldn't speak his language.

* * *

But Santa fooled her.

He suddenly started talking to her in French and the happy Marilyn told him she wanted a "petite poupee"—a little doll for Christmas.

D. W. Jacot, 77, the department store "Pere Noel" says, "The smile she gave me at that moment was the crowning reward for my years of playing Santa Claus. It brought tears to my eyes."

* * *

Jacot explained that his parents, who were born in Switzerland, taught him to speak French and that although his command of the language isn't perfect it was good enough for Marilyn.

It also seemed like a good bet that Marilyn would get her "petite poupee."

FTC Says O-Jib-Wa Exaggerates in Ads

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Trade Commission hearing examiner has issued an order which would prohibit the makers of O-Jib-Wa Bitters from claiming their product is a cure-all for arthritis and rheumatism.

In an initial decision, FTC examiner Joseph Callaway found that Kenneth W. Shafe, who trades as O-Jib-Wa Medicine Co., 2701 S. Saginaw St., Flint, Mich., and his manager, Kenneth G. Morrish, have made false claims for their concoction in newspaper advertising.

Callaway's decision is not the final order of the commission. It may be appealed, stayed or docketed for review.

Shafe and Morrish would also be prohibited from claiming that another preparation, Oscoda Bitters, is an adequate, effective and reliable treatment for rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis, sciatica, and blood, stomach, liver, kidney and nervous ills.

Cowles, Inc., Buys Collier's Name, Reader Service

NEW YORK (AP)—The Crowell-Collier Publishing Co. said today that its readers service, a nationwide subscription selling organization, and the title to Collier's magazine will go to Cowles Magazines, Inc., for $1,600,000.

* * *

Crowell-Collier a week ago announced it was discontinuing its only two remaining magazines, Collier's and the Woman's Home Companion.

In addition to the price paid for the reader service and the Collier's title, the Cowles firm, which publishes Look magazine, also will assume responsibility for unexpired subscriptions to Collier's.

* * *

Paul C. Smith, president and board chairman of Crowell-Collier, said that approximately 2,500 employes will be transferred to the Cowles company.

Smith also announced that Cowles Magazines, Inc., has made a million-dollar loan to Crowell-Collier.

Mexico's 1956 coffee crop was estimated at 1,750,000 bags compared with 1,400,000 bags for the 1955 crop year.

Christmas Tree, Carols and Gifts in Celebration

The Southwest Community Betterment Assn. of Pontiac has planned a Christmas celebration for children of the area from 6 to 8 p.m. Monday night.

Mrs. William S. Grant, president of the association, said today that an outdoor Christmas tree will be lighted especially for the occasion on Dellwood street between Howland avenue and Earlmoor boulevard.

City police will block off the area for the Christmas observance which will include caroling and children will return home with gifts of fruit, candy and nuts from the association, Mrs. Grant said.

In case of bad weather, the event will be held in Mrs. Grant's home, 295 Dellwood, she said.

Tale Should Make Faith More Full in Three Faiths

A story that came last year from the quiet little Long Island, N. Y., village of Glen Cove is being told in many churches this year as "rather typical of the goodwill of Christmas everywhere in America":

A retired Episcopal rector's Christmas tree, a 15-foot spruce on the lawn of his new home, was stolen.

Learning of the loss, a neighbor, a man of the Jewish faith, quickly offered a 13-foot fir from his own lawn to replace the stolen tree.

A nursery owner, a Catholic, and three of his men took care of the tree moving and replanting. As the retired clergymen says, "This is a wonderful example of religious understanding." . . .

Comments the local newspaper: "And indeed it is. It is the type of incident that points up the spirit of the season — for Christians marking the Christmas holiday; for Jews observing Chanukah, or Feast of the Lights."

Pope Pius XII to Give Christmas Message

VATICAN CITY (AP)— Pope Pius XII will give his 18th annual Christmas message to the world this year on Sunday, Dec. 23.

The Pope will make his address in reply to Christmas greetings from the College of Cardinals, whose members he will receive about 11 a.m. Sunday.

His message will be broadcast by the Vatican radio and various European networks and later will be beamed in some 28 languages to all parts of the world.

Pageant in Nine Tableaux to Be Presented Sunday

The Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Bible School will present a Christmas pageant entitled, "God's Supreme Gift" at 7:00 p.m. Sunday.

The pageant will be presented in nine tableaux, with the characters coming out of a still picture, speaking, then returning to position.

A herald will read the correlated Scripture between the tableaux and special musical selections will precede each tableau.

The tableaux consists of "The Prophecy," "The Annunciation," "Gabriel Appears to Joseph," "Joseph and Mary Come to Bethlehem," "The Birth of Christ," "Angels Appear to the Shepherds, "The Adoration of the Shepherds," "Herod and the Wisemen" and "The Adoration of the Wisemen."

The cast for the pageant includes, Roland Williams, herald; Melvin Williams, Isaiah; group of worshippers, Paul Marien, Michael Blanchard and Jim Haun; voice of God and angel, Teddy Bowes; Mary, Nancy Bain and Mrs. Stan Hester; Joseph, Gary bowes and innkeeper, Dale Harvey.

* * *

Also included are Donald Cox, Jerry Cocking, Bobb Bell, D. J. Upton Jr. and Bobby Powley as Shepherds; Charles Stevens, Gordon Messer and Jim Heisler as Wisemen; Douglas Cameron, as King Herod and Dale Fox, the Rabbi.

Infant Jesus will be John Boisseau and the older baby Jesus, Stevie Hester.

The angel chorus which appears to the shepherds will be led by a group of three angels with trumpets, Marilyn Coffing, Ileane Wilson and Carolyn Talmage.

The "tiniest angels" will be Lynn and Annette Webb, Debra Meredith and Connie Miller.

* * *

The musical score includes "O Come, O Come Emmanuel," "For Unto Us a Child is Born," "Behold! A Virgin Shall Conceive," "And the Glory of the Lord," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "No Room in the Inn," "Away in a Manger," "Mary's Lullabye," "Bethlehem Lullaby."

Others are "The Shepherds and the Angels," "Glory to God," "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing," "Cantique Noel," "The First Nowell," "Silent Night." "There's a Song in the Air," "O Come, All Ye Faithful," "Down From His Glory," "We Three Kings" and "The Hallelujah Chorus."

Those participating in the musical selections are Mrs. Winifred Perrin, Mrs. Gloria Luck, Mrs. Gerald Shafer, Mrs. Geraid Schultz, Rev. Theodore Allebach, William Coffing, Nancy Bain, the Junior and Intermediate departments of the Bible School.

Properties will be managed by Charles Bradsher and Don Upton: Cast prompters, Mrs. William Coffing and Mrs. LeRoy Koch.

* * *

William Coffing will be in charge of lights; Gay Ann Talmage, projectionist; tape recorder, Marcia Shepherd; organist, Mrs. Winifred Perrin and Mrs. Gloria Luck.

The pageant is being directed by Glora Luck, youth director, assisted by Joyce Sweet, Bible School superintendent.

The Rev. Theodore R. Allebach, pastor, will preach at the 10:00 a.m. service on the theme "The Good Tidings of Christmas." The sacrament of baptism will be administered and members will be received.

At the same hour the Beginner's and Children's Church will combine to see the film, "The Brightest Star."

WISE MEN VISIT HEROD — Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king; behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, "Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him." Shown as they will appear in the Sunday School pageant at St. Paul Lutheran Church at 6:30 p. m. Sunday, portraying the wise men and King Herod, are Danny Edgar of 571 Second street, (left to right) Tommy Carlsen of 3013 Barkman road, Giles Kandt of 774 Palmer street (King Herod) and Danny Voynar of 777 Third street.

St. Paul Lutheran Pageant Includes Sunday School

A Children's Christmas Pageant will be presented Sunday at 6:30 p.m. in St. Paul Lutheran Church, Joslyn at Third streets.

The pageant, under the direction of Roy Linkswiler, Sunday School superintendent, will feature all the children of the Sunday School.

They will portray scenes of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden, the Prophets, Moses and other great men of the Old Testament through the time of the birth of Jesus Christ.

As a finale to the pageant, the Three Wise Men first visit King Herod, then follow the star to the manger at Bethlehem. The Sunday School children will then unite to sing "Away in the Manger."

* * *

The Junior Choir, directed by Mrs. Emil Hagen, and the Senior Choir, under the direction of Paul McMichael will assist in the program singing, "O Holy Night," "Gloria In Excelsis Deo." "What Child Is This" and "We Three Kings of Orient Are."

* * *

The Rev. George J. Mahder, pastor of St. Paul, will speak the Liturgy, while Donald Mann and Jerry Kandt will have prominent speaking parts throughout the pageant.

* * *

St. Paul Lutheran Church, will hold their Christmas Day services at 10:45 a.m.

The Rev. Mr. Mahder, will take his text from St. Luke, chapter 2, verse 7: "And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn." The title of the sermon is: "When God Makes Christmas."

The Senior Choir, under the direction of Paul McMichael will sing "Behold a Branch Is Growing."

The 'Value' of an Orphan

In September World Vision—a non-denominational Christian organization—announced that it was supporting 7,759 Korean orphans, and was trying to increase this number to 10,000. They seek donors willing to give $10 per month to help care for one orphan. (The address: P. O. Box 151, Portland 7, Ore.).

"Thanks be unto God for His Unspeakable Gift."

II Corinthians 9:15

The human language cannot adequately describe the greatest Christmas Gift this world has ever received. The Apostle Paul says that it is an unspeakable Gift. This is God's Gift to the world, a Savior, Jesus Christ.

"God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." —John 3:16.

In and through Christ we have salvation. Give thanks unto God for His unspeakable Gift. You may do this in your life, and in your worship this Christmas.

Choral Union to Give Vesper

Chancel Church Choir to Present 'A Mystery for Christmas'

The Choral Union of the First Congregational Church will present the annual Candlelight Music Vesper Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

A special feature of the Vesper will be the presentation by the Chancel and Church of Youth Choirs of "A Mystery for Christmas in the Medieval Manner" by Howard D. McKinney.

This "Mystery," although modern in origin, is based upon the idea of an old XV Century Scriptural play; these were written for the Church, and acted in the Choir or Chancel, with the characters occasionally appearing in the aisles.

The Chancel Choir will sing the musical sections of the play and the Youth Choir will present the pantomime.

During the presentation of the play the children will go to the Recreation hall for a Christmas party and following the Vesper a coffee hour will be served. The program is open to the public.

The following is the order of the service:

Organ Prelude:
From Heaven Above to Earth I Come .....Bach
Processional—
Choral Call to Worship—
Shepherds Returning .....Slovak Carol
The Junior Choir will be heard in:
I Wonder As I Wander .....Appalachian Carol
Christmas Lullaby .....Mozart
The Christmas Scripture Reading—
The Probationers' Choir will sing:
Infant Holy .....Polish Carol
Baby Jesus .....Curry
Vesper Offering
Organ Offertory:
Melody from Lorraine.....D'Aquin

The program is under the direction of Charles A. Wilson, minister of music of the church.

NO ROOM AT THE INN — And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, unto Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem: to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child. And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her first born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn. Playing the part of Mary in the Christmas pageant in Bethany Baptist Church at 7 p. m. Sunday is Mrs. Ralph Bergemann, 3556 Lincolnshire road (left to right). American Appointed

The Norwegian-Korean Association has recently announced the appointment of Dr. Herman E. Jorgenson of 4800 Elliot Ave., Minneapolis 17, Minn., as its American representative. Many people in the United States have shown great interest in the organization, and it is felt that an American representative will be able to establish better liaison for these people.

Confident Living

Asks Coals From Fire, New Babe Cold in Stable

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

In the hills of troubled, far-off Palestine, shepherds graze their flocks today just as they did two thousand years ago. The chill air of winter nights contrasts sharply with the heat of the days. And the campfires twinkle on the hills at night like stars against the countryside.

DR. PEALE

Around such a fire, centuries ago, a group of shepherds huddled for warmth. Their sheep were close by, guarded by their large, vicious and well-trained dogs. Holding their hands above the fire and laughing and joking, they hardly noticed that a strange pair of hands had joined theirs.

* * *

But, during a lull in their talk, they noticed with surprise that a strange man had joined their circle. The surprise quickly turned to anger. Their dogs had not barked or turned upon the intruder; indeed one of them seemed to be guarding him!

"Please," the stranger spoke, "I mean no harm. My wife lies in a stable in the town with a newborn babe, cold and shivering. I saw your fire on the hill and thought I might beg a few coals. Do not blame your dogs — I have a way with animals."

The shepherds were kindly men with babes of their own at home. "Take some coals," they said. "But how will you carry them?"

The man held up an edge of his heavy blue cloak, reached fearlessly with one hand into the fire, picked up the blazing coals and placed them on the cloak. Then, with a gesture of thanks, he turned and walked away.

BRIGHT STAR APPEARS

The shepherds were amazed. He had not cried out when he touched the hot coals and their fire did not set the cloak aflame! But they soon forgot the incident and talked of other things. And, as they talked, their fire seemed to glow more brightly and the sky came alive with stars. One bright star shot toward them and lit up the scene so that they could not even see their own little fire.

They were afraid, until a voice said: "Fear not: for, behold I bring you good tidings of great joy . . . For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour . . . Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger."

Then there was music in the air with voices singing: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." And, as the voices died away, so did the brightness, and the shepherds were alone again.

They knew they could not disobey this message from heaven. So they left their dogs to tend the flocks and took the road to Bethlehem, city of David. It was late and the only light they found in that town was in the stable of the inn. They looked in, and there, in the glow of a little fire of a few small coals, lay a woman. Nearby, in a manger, slept a beautiful Child. And, over the manger, a man was spreading a heavy blue cloak to cover the Child.

The fire flared up for a moment and they recognized him as the stranger who had begged their coals. Yet the cloak he held was neither burned nor scorched. And then they knew the meaning of what they had seen. They knelt in reverence and then hurried away to spread the good news.

* * *

That is how one legend tells us the glad tidings came to the world. Each of us spreads them anew every time we say, "Merry Christmas." So I say to you, "Merry Christmas — and on earth, peace, good will toward men."

Christmas Story in Song, at 4 P.M. Sunday

On Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock the Choral groups of the First Methodist Church will combine their talents and present the Choral Vesper.

Included in the group will be the Cherub Choir, Carollers, Junior Choir, Junior High Choir, Women's Ensemble, Men's Quartet and Adult Chancel Choir.

These vocal organizations will tell the Christmas story in song as it is in the Bible in "The Annunciation," "Bethlehem and the Birth of Christ," "The Shepherds and the Angels" and "The Wise Men."

* * *

The quartet composed of Merlin Asplin, William Betts, Joe Davis and Ronald Parsons, will sing "We Three Kings of Orient Are."

The Women's Ensemble will be heard in "He Shall Feed His Flock" by Handel and "Christian Lullaby" by Mozart.

Mr. Asplin is director of the choir and the organist is Eleanor Hassenzahl. The Rev. Paul T. Hart is pastor of the church.

Young People, Adults to Portray Pageant

The Silvercrest Baptist Church will present a Christmas program at 7:30 Sunday evening.

* * *

The boys and girls of the Sunday School will have charge of the opening portion of the service.

The Young People's Choir and the adult group will portray the pageant, "The Birth of the King."

In the morning service at 11, the Rev. James H. Luther will speak on the theme, "Glory to God."

* * *

The congregation will decorate the special Christmas tree with various colored envelopes with an offering to the Christ Child.

Go to Church on Christmas

Shepherd's Tale Called Authentic

According to Bishop Statement Was Made Confirming Pilgrimage

Says Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, of Los Angeles and Philadelphia, president of the National Council of Churches: "The shepherds said one unto the other, 'Let us now go to Bethlehem.' . . . Is this not what happens to us all at Christmas time?

Each year as the holiday approaches, somehow the message of God breaks through to us. Every year the miracle is the same: Scrooge goes into hiding, the idea of giving replaces the idea of getting; the irreligious go to church; radio and television change their tunes and programs.

* * *

"But then after Christmas, as happened to the shepherds, the angels disappear, the lights go out, the voice of God becomes a forgotten echo.

"The world is as it was before the dark night, and the people as cantankerous and as selfish as ever before.

"Let this not happen to us this Christmas; but let us determine, on the basis of the Christmas feeling, to live our lives in the company of Jesus Christ. If we shall so decide, it shall make us men of peace in a now war-filled world."

Poet and Composer Receive Distinction

NEW YORK (AP) — Poet Conrad Aiken and composer Igor Stravinsky were announced yesterday as new members of the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

The academy is composed of a maximum of 50 artists, writers or composers chosen from membership of the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

Pontiac Press Photo

STAR OF WONDER — And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord. Representing shepherds in the Christmas pageant in Grace Lutheran Church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday will be (left to right), Dick Miller of 28 Waldo street, Duane Gilboe of 2315 Tilden avenue, Lyle Geror of 3605 S. Roslyn street, Jimmy Stuckmeyer of 820 Menominee road and Geffrey Smith of 2940 Acorn road.

Young People to Visit Homes

Christian Fellowship Plans Christmas Eve Worship Service

"The Babe of Bethlehem" will be the Christmas theme for Worship in First Christian Church on Sunday.

In the Bible School hour the Primary and Junior Departments will present a pageant, "We Tell of His Love." This will include the singing of Christmas Carols by the children accompanied by Edward Underwood.

The Manger Scene will include the following: Joseph, Lanny Thompson; Mary, Kathleen Graham; Shepherds, Paul Underwood, Darrell Ferguson, Stephan Hoyt, and Kent Aeschilman; Wise Men, Dennis Underwood, Terry Griggs, and Mike Shanholtz; and leader, Jane Marcum.

The special Christmas offering will be used for benevolent purposes.

A Christmas candy treat will be given at the close of the program.

The Christian Youth Fellowship is planning to Christmas Carol on Sunday evening. All college and older youth are invited to join in this project. The group will meet at the church at 6:00 p.m. and visit a number of homes.

* * *

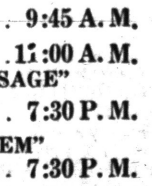

On December 24th the Christian Youth Fellowship have planned a Christmas Worship Service to be conducted at the church at 11:30 p.m. This is an opportunity to prepare for Christmas in the true spirit of devotion. The service is open to the public.

Nativity Play to Be Presented

Dr. William H. Marbach Writes Response for Pastoral Prayer

The Nativity Pageant will be presented by the First Presbyterian Church school at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

The Nursery, Kindergarten and Primary departments will sing and children of the Junior department will provide choir music during the tableau.

John Markley and Susie Van Tassell will be the readers. Portraying parts will be Karen Bean, Mary; Sally Kampe, the angel, and Ronald Newman, Joseph.

The shepherds will be Roger Riley, Ed McLean, Jerry Powers and Dick Wiltgen. The angel appearing to the shepherds will be Lynne Anderson.

The angelic choir includes Mary Wood, Judy Huntwork, Joanne Wood, Nancy Mize, Dorothy Boardman, Linda Carhart and Lois Carlson.

Betsy Bradley, Paul Tremper, Bob Newman and Bob Riley will be the Wise Men.

The choral response to the pastoral prayer to be used at the 11 o'clock service, "To Adore and Worship Thee" was written and composed by Dr. William H. Marbach, pastor. The Chancel Choir will feature music by Handel.

The annual Choral Vesper will be presented by the Chancel Choir of 50 voices at 5 p.m. Sunday. The program is as follows:

Organ and Piano Prelude: "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "Siciliense Vesper" by Lyndon Salathiel, organist and choirmaster of the church, and his daughter, Jeanne, pianist.

The Choir Processional will be "The First Noel," followed by the Rev. Galen E. Hershey giving the invocation. The Rev. Edward D. Auchard will offer the pastoral prayer.

Numbers by the choir will include:
Good Evening ..... Swedish
Glory to God ..... Kessell
Christmas Day in the Morning ..... Cronham
Christmas Hymn ..... Jungst
Carol of the Roses ..... Mounts
Alleluia ..... Thompson

The Ladies' Sextette will be heard in "The Manger Carol," an old Austrian carol. It includes Nancy Chanesian, Janet Chanesian, Diane Beach, Ruth Ann Tower, Dorothy Dawson and June Schlesser.

The Ladies' Chorus will sing "Bethlehem" by Williams and "Mary's Lullaby," an old Polish carol.

"Lo, Now a Rose" by Praetorius and "The Bells Within the Steeples" by Praetorius will be presented by the Men's Chorus.

Karen Yocum will be soloist in "Silent Night," the choir recessional.

At the beginning of the service Dr. Marbach will baptize children.

The pageant was prepared under the direction of Mrs. Robert Anderson with Florence Schlesser assisting at the organ.

Christmas Eve Service to Be Given at St. Trinity

The Christian Day School of St. Trinity Lutheran Church will present its annual Children's Christmas Eve Worship at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the church at Auburn avenue at Jessie street.

The service entitled "From Heaven Above to Earth I Come" will open with the processional, "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful." The altar service will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Ralph C. Claus.

* * *

"Prophesies of the Savior," with Joan Gabert, Dorothy Waldelich, Nancy Partin, Marjorie Whitten, David Kasat and Howard Kresge.

"The Savior in the Manger" will include Betty Perry, Barbara Kimmel, Mary Jane Baldwin, Larry Kasat, Gary Course and Betty Jane Fralic.

* * *

Bringing "The Angels' Message" will be Linda Smades, Julia Claus, Janet Baker and Sherry Bonham.

"The Shepherds' Worship" will include Enid Mar, Joyce Brown, Michael Hubbard, Linda Gaylock, Gayle Reas, Oliver Milton and Paul Bonham.

Susan Papazian, Laura Claus, Connie Deneen, Janice Thews, Kathy Deneen, Paul Beck, Paul Klemm and Scarlet Sublelt will appear in "In a Manger So Low."

* * *

"The Christmas Message" will be brought by Evelyn Mar, Michael Jansen, Dennis Miller, James Roy McDaniel and Linda Stachel.

Featured in "Christ Was Once a Little Baby" will be Martin Walter, Kenneth Walter, Edward Kramer, Carol Barron, Jeanne Barnhart, Darcy Gonzales, James Beck, Bruce Bonham, Janice Fralic and Ronald Smades.

The several grades will be singing "From Heaven to Earth I Come," "The Savior Is Born," "O Holy Night," "Silent Night," "The King Is in His Cradle," "Zion's Daughters Now Rejoice" and "In a Lowly Manger." Other numbers will be "Oh Lord, Who Hast Created All," "We Three Kings" and "And Thus Dear Lord."

* * *

In the group of "The Wise Men's Worship" will be Sandra Sjattan, Carolyn Brown, Joel Smith, Margaret Lawrence, Don Dumen, David Stohlmann, Dianne Perry, Rosemary Mitchell and Arthur Saunders Jr.

"Gifts for the Savior" will be portrayed by Marie Partin, Daniel Dunen, Shannon Henry, David Beck, Robert Basquez, Carol Kresge, Mark Papazian, Leon Irish, Bennie Goyer, Pamela Barron and Paul Irish.

The congregation will join in singing "Joy to the World" and "Now Let Us All With Gladsome Cheer."

Candlelighting Service at Unity Church, Sunday

Each year at Christmas, Unity Churches throughout the world have a candlelighting service.

Candles representing the apostles are lighted from a large white candle, the Christ. Each member of the congregation has a candle to light from the large one.

The Unity Church of Oakland County will hold its candlelighting service at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Mrs. Blanche Jokl of Algonac, the minister, will conduct the service assisted by members of the Sunday School who will light the apostles' candles.

Ray Davis of Royal Oak will sing "Sweet Little Jesus Boy" accompanied by Mrs. Steve Velte Jr.

Christ Church to Hear Choir

Children's Open House Carol Family Service, Christmas Eve

One of the highlights of the Christmas Season at Christ Church Cranbrook is the annual service of Christmas Carols.

* * *

Dr. Maurice Garabrant, organist and carilloneur of Christ Church, will direct the 60 voiced choir in carols from many lands as well as community singing of more familiar carols at 4 p.m. Sunday.

An Open House for Children is scheduled from 4 to 5 p.m. on Christmas Eve. They may look at the live Nativity Tableau in St. Paul's Chapel and hear Christmas music on the organ.

* * *

The children are free to explore the chancel and see how the organ is played and see how it feels to stand in the pulpit or sit in the choir stalls. When ready to leave, they will say a prayer with their parents.

From 7 to 7:45 p.m. there will be a family carol service with selected readings from the Scriptures but no sermon.

Festal Holy Communion and sermon will be at 9 p.m. and again at 11:30 p.m. The full choir will be at both services.

Festive Midnight Service Christmas Eve at 11 P. M.

The observance of the Festival of Christmas at St. John's Lutheran Church, Hill street, at Cherry Court, will begin tomorrow, the fourth Sunday in Advent.

All of the Christmas services will emphasize the need for spiritual preparation to participate in the blessings of Christmas in its true meaning and significance.

During the Sunday School hour, which begins at 9:45 a.m., a colored movie will be shown to the children entitled "The Saviour's Birth." Parents, as well as children, are invited to this service.

At the regular Sunday Morning Worship Service, the pastor, Rev. Carl W. Nelson, will bring the message, "Our Lord's Credentials." The Senior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Eugene Danielson, will sing "Angels We Have Heard on High" by Christiansen.

The Offertory, an arrangement of "The Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel for piano and organ, will be played by Mrs. Eugene Danielson, choir director, and Mrs. Roy T. Lewis, organist of the church.

The Luther League, an organization for youth, will meet at 6 p.m. at the church and then will sing carols to sick and shut-in in the community.

The annual Festive Midnight Christmas service will be held on Christmas Eve at 11 p.m. Both the Junior and Senior Choirs will sing at this service. Anthems will include the following: "Let Carols Ring" by Black, "Hosanna" by Volger, and "Gesu Bambino" by Yon.

* * *

The service will also feature the singing of Christmas Carols by the congregation. The pastor will bring the Christmas Message on the theme, "Tis The Night Before Christmas" and will use the Biblical account of the Nativity as his text. The Christmas Introit from the Prophecy of Isaiah will also be read by the pastor.

Mrs. Lewis, the organist, will play "March of the Magi King" by Dubois for the prelude. For the Offertory she will play "O Holy Night," by Adam. "Joy To The World" will be the postlude.

The service will also feature a piano-organ arrangement entitled, "Christmas Fantasy" by Kohlmann and will be played by Mrs. Danielson, the choir director and Mrs. Lewis, the organist of the church.

The pastor and the congregation extend a cordial invitation to all to worship with them.

Two Pontiac Women Officers of State Bank

Name Agnes Moore, Alice Kerns Assistant Cashiers—With Ability

Two Pontiac women who have earned real rewards are Mrs. Agnes (William) Moore and Mrs. Alice (Mark) Kerns. Recently appointed as assistant cashiers of Pontiac State Bank, they are still unable to grasp its significance.

Milo J. Cross, president of the bank, said these new officers have the ability expected of bank officers, they are both qualified, both experienced and they "have excellent backgrounds in all phases of banking.

He also said they are held in high esteem among other members of the bank. Attesting to this are the many congratulations coming from co-workers as well as from people all over the area.

Mrs. Moore has worked at Pontiac State Bank since it opened in 1945, but she had worked for several years previously, always having done this type of work.

She is a charter member of the Pontiac Junior Women's Club. With Mr. Moore, she resides on Chadwick drive.

Mrs. Kerns came to Pontiac in 1944, and began with the Pontiac

MRS. AGNES MOORE

MRS. ALICE KERNS

State Bank just three weeks after its opening in 1945.

* * *

Serving as Mr. Cross' secretary, she helped with the early organization. Before coming to Pontiac, she worked in a Pittsburgh bank, and like Mrs. Moore, "wouldn't want any other kind of job." She enjoys traveling, and has been in almost all of the states. She and Mr. Kerns reside on Motorway drive.

"We're so thrilled and so grateful," both women said at the end of the interview.

Birmingham Brides Wed in 2 Rites

Struthers - Watkins and Fischer - Loomis Nuptials Read

BIRMINGHAM — In First Presbyterian Church at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Barbara Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent B. Watkins of Henley drive, became the bride of Robertson A. Struthers of San Francisco. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James A. Struthers.

The bride chose a beige peau de soie costume suit with a small matching taffeta hat for her wedding. She carried gardenias with stephanotis.

Her sister, Mrs. Ronald M. Schopp of Kingston, N.Y., was her only attendant. She wore a red Italian silk cocktail frock and carried a bouquet of holly and mistletoe.

James A. Struthers of Minneapolis was his brother's best man. Another brother, Dana R. Struthers, also of Minneapolis, and Walter Bones of Parker, S.D., ushered.

* * *

A reception was given in the Watkin's home.

For her wedding trip to Hawaii the bride wore a blue tweed suit. The couple will live in Sausalito, Calif.

LINDA LOOMIS MARRIES

At 3:30 this afternoon Linda Loomis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Burr Loomis III of Birmingham, was married to Patrick Carl Fischer of Ann Arbor. Patrick is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Hahn Fischer, also of Ann Arbor.

For the ceremony, held in the century-old Unitarian - Universalist Church in Farmington, the bride wore a princess gown of white satin with a Sabrina yoke and long sleeves of Alencon lace. The very full skirt ended in a chapel train.

Her tiered veil of silk illusion was held by a cap of pearl embroidered lace, and she carried a bouquet of Eucharist lilies.

SISTER IS ATTENDANT

The bride's sister, Marcia Anne Loomis of Boston, was honor maid. Bridesmaids included Virginia Robertson of Santa Barbara, Calif., formerly of Birmingham, and Ann Stewart Parnie of Birmingham.

* * *

They wore mint green taffeta, ankle length fashioned with square necklines and short sleeves. Their bouquets were of garnet roses and ivy.

Eric M. Aupperle was best man, with Thomas E. Kauper and Marvin L. Katz, all of Ann Arbor, as ushers.

A reception was given in the Loomis home on Dorchester road.

* * *

For her wedding trip by motor to Asheville, N.C., the bride wore a light blue knitted suit with navy accessories.

The newlyweds will make their home in Ypsilanti.

Carolyn Luttrell Weds Richard Young

A bridal gown of peau de soie brocade was worn by Carolyn Ann Luttrell for her marriage Friday evening to Richard DuBois Young Jr.

The scoop neckline of the gown was of Chantilly lace appliqued with seed pearls. The sleeves of the fitted bodice were three-quarter length, and the bustle of the skirt extended into a chapel train.

A small crown of Chantilly lace embroidered with pearls secured her fingertip veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

The Rev. William C. Norvall of Christ Church Cranbrook officiated at the 8 o'clock service at Christ Church Cranbrook in the presence of 250 guests.

Carolyn was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, William C. Orimiston of Pittsburg, Pa. She is the daughter of Mrs. Melville H. Luttrell of Bloomfield Hills and the late Mr. Luttrell.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard DuBois Young of LaJolla, Calif.

Carolyn Woolfenden of Bloomfield Hills was maid of honor, wearing a gown of iridescent green taffeta with a flared skirt, round neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She carried a bouquet of anthiriums.

The other bridal attendants—Martha Davison of Pleasant Ridge, Patricia Allen of Birmingham, Annette Eberly of Vernon and Mrs. Jack Schuss of Bay Village, Ohio, sister of the bridegroom—were gowned identically.

Murl H. Webster of Birmingham served as Richard's best man. Other male attendants were William H. Little of Bloomfield Hills, Allen R. Buchman of Detroit, Jack Schuss of Bay Village, Ohio, and Lawrence K. Johnston of Wheatland, Wyo.

A reception was held in the Christ Church Cranbrook parish house.

Mrs. Luttrell chose a Lido blue sheath of embroidered Alencon lace with matching accessories. Her corsage of cymbidium orchids was pinned to her purse.

Mrs. Young wore a taupe peau de soie dress with matching accessories and a corsage of brown cymbidium orchids.

The bride is a senior at Michigan State University and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Richard is a graduate of Michigan State University where he was affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

* * *

For traveling the bride changed to a brown tweed suit with brown accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids. The couple will reside in East Lansing.

MRS. RICHARD DuBOIS YOUNG JR.

Resort Wear Shows Variety

NEW YORK (NEA) — In the resort collections, the dress with its matching sweater continues to promenade in varying designs and a whole rainbow of color.

Pleats that are pleated to stay are equally popular. And so are unpressed-pleats or skirts of such width that they create a tiny waist by contrast.

The shirtwaist dress takes on new importance this season. Sleeves are very full and are either wrist or three-quarter length. The shirtwaist style appears in simple versions of daytime and ruffled or lace-trimmed versions for dressy occasions.

Brush Soap in Hair

One way to help get hair clean is to use a hairbrush during your shampoo. Brushing soap through your hair insures getting at the whole head of hair, and stimulates the scalp at the same time.

Don't Encourage Hubby to Undervalue Marriage

By RUTH MILLETT

Memo to young wives: Don't ever let yourself believe that your marriage is more important to you than it is to your husband.

* * *

If you ever begin to believe that, you'll start ruining the marriage for both.

You'll start watching for signs that your husband has started taking you for granted.

You'll worry about what he is doing when he is away from you and start asking snoopy questions.

* * *

You'll begin to nag to get more attention.

You'll be afraid to stand up for your rights if your husband grows selfish or inconsiderate, thinking you must placate him at all costs.

TAG-ALONG WIFE

You'll be afraid to let him out of your sight, and so you'll become a tag-along or a sit-at-home-and-worry wife, instead of being glad to let him have a little life of his own.

You'll worry over trifles and in your mind build them into mountains.

One way and another you'll convey your notion to your husband that you are the one to whom the marriage is important.

Being a man, he may find the idea easy to accept. After all, he is pretty special and any woman ought to be glad to get him. Furthermore, any woman who has him ought to consider herself lucky.

* * *

Why blame a guy for getting that kind of lopsided idea of marriage, if you put the idea in his head in the first place?

* * *

NEVER SMART

No, it's never smart for a woman to get to thinking that marriage is more important to her than it is to her husband.

If she assumes it is equally important to them both, she will have a good chance of finding out it's true.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Siersma, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Malone, Mary Bringell and Rodger Berry were welcomed as new members of Promenaders Square Dance Club at the recent party held at Daniel Whitfield School.

Fifty members and guests danced to the lively quadrilles called by Robert Longe and Warren Allen. A local orchestra furnished music during the evening.

Guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Stuart MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. George Sekovich, Mr. and Mrs. Merwin Kentz, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Griffith and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Price.

Women of Moose Group Has Party

The Friendship Club of the Women of the Moose held its monthly meeting and Christmas party at the home of Mrs. John Denihan on Judson street Thursday evening. Mrs. Charles Coakley, Mrs. Lloyd LaBarge and Mrs. Clarence Cavalier assisted the hostess.

Members gathered around the lighted Christmas tree for a gift exchange during the evening.

Mrs. Don Harding invited the group to meet in her home on LeBaron street for the Jan. 17 meeting.

Church Class Meets With Mrs. Savage

Thirty-four members of Eunice Philathea Class of First Baptist Church held their Christams party and class meeting at the home of Mrs. H. H. Savage on West Huron street recently.

Two Christmas songs were presented by Mrs. T. M. Slosson and a reading, "The Manger Scene," was given by Mrs. Walter Teeuwissen.

During the social hour the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Harold Codling and Mrs. Milton Brinson.

Let the Decoration Be Your Lullaby

CHICAGO (INS) — The way you decorate your bedroom can help you go to sleep, according to the National Association of Bedding manufacturers.

The association recommends "soft, whispery tones of blue, green or pink and bright colors only for small accents."

* * *

In wallpaper, the association says, steer clear of loud, disturbing patterns. Horizontal lines are sleepier than vertical or random patterns."

'Twas the Night Before Christmas" Mrs. Edward E. Elder reads to her two small sons, Donny (left) and Jimmy. The youngsters are eagerly awaiting the arrival of Santa Claus, and have had their stockings hanging at the fireplace for a long time. Their father, Dr. Elder, gets his share of questions about Santa's arrival, too. The Elders live on Starr avenue.

WCTU Meets for Luncheon

Anna Gordon WCTU met at the First Baptist Church for a cooperative luncheon and Christmas party Thursday. Mrs. Frank Deaver was in charge of the meeting during which members prepared gifts to be sent to a local convalescent home.

Mrs. Florence Harcourt led devotions, reading the Christmas story as told in the second chapter of St. Luke. The Rev. Theodore Allebach of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, speaker of the day, used the Christmas story as the subject of his message.

Hostesses were Mrs. Sarah Sherston, Mrs. S. W. Christie and Mrs. Susie Todd.

Pretzels Take Twist

There are many new twists in pretzels, C. Fred Smith, executive of a New York baking firm, told the National Pretzel Bakers Institute convention in Philadelphia that the popular snack is becoming widely used for stuffing in turkeys and chickens, in meat loafs, crumb crust pie and pretzel bread.

Garden Group Meets for Party

Thirty members of the Better Home and Garden Club met at the YWCA Thursday for their Christmas party. Members of Pontiac High School Senior Girls' Ensemble entertained with Christmas hymns and popular Christmas songs.

* * *

Mrs. June Powell gave a reading entitled "The Heart's Gift." Mrs. Joseph Phillips was chairman of the day assisted by Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Lula Luby, Mrs. Maude Place and Mrs. J. L. Slaybaugh.

* * *

Mrs. George Alexander and Mrs. Luby poured. The table was decorated with a lace cloth. Red tapers flanked the white and red floral arrangement. Gifts were exchanged.

A brief jacket, or an arm-covering collar of softly draped chiffon will flatter the over-sixty woman.

The tops of the arms are seldom the mature woman's best point and so little cap sleeves, a stole or brief jacket, should be worn. The decollete can be quite bare so long as the upper arm is covered.

Kremlin Trying to Curb Youthful 'Hooliganism'

LONDON (INS) — The Kremlin has published a new decree aimed at curbing "petty hooliganism" among Russian youth.

A government decree published in the youth newspaper, Komsomolskaya Pravda provided three-to-15 day prison terms, with no appeal, for young people convicted of excesses.

The paper commented that the people of the U.S.S.R. would welcome the new proclamation because "if there is less hooliganism there will be more order."

7 Hunting Dogs Die, Owner Sues Trucker

DETROIT (AP) — A Hamtramck man has sued Ellis Trucking Co. of Dearborn for $3,140, charging that seven of his dogs starved to death and three others were spoiled for hunting because the trucker failed to deliver their food.

James Foster, 11453 Dyar, said he buys hunting dogs in Detroit and sends them to Alabama for training. The dogs are returned to Detroit for sale. Part of the agreement with the trainer was that he would send dog food in 200-pound lots. Last winter, four shipments went astray, Foster said.

The hospital is owned and operated by the Michigan Alcoholic Rehabilitation Foundation. J. Grayson Hyde, the previous business manager, resigned.

Wedding Gift—Later Deadline on State Budget

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The Republican controlled New Jersey Legislature plans to make Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner's forthcoming wedding and honeymoon a little more pleasant by giving him more time to prepare the 1957-58 state budget.

Meyner is to be married Jan. 19 to Helen Stevenson at Oberlin, Ohio, the bride's home town. He has said the honeymoon will be "somewhere out of the country near sand and surf."

Senate Majority Leader Albert Mc Cay (R-Burlington) told a news conference that the Legislature plans to pass a bill giving the governor an additional week in which to present his annual budget message.

Under present law, the governor is required to present his budget to the Legislature three weeks after its opening meeting Jan. 8.

Pupils to Eat at School

THREE RIVERS (AP) — To halt noontime "disturbances," the board of education has ruled out noon hour dismissals for Three Rivers schools next fall. Instead, all pupils will eat lunch in the school cafeterias and be dismissed a half hour earlier in the afternoon. Authorities said the move also will eliminate noon hour driving by high school students.

CHRISTMAS ORNAMENTS — 6

Everyone wants a Christmas tree to be as brightly colored as possible, with ornaments dangling from every bough.

Here is a pattern for you to use in making chains of stars for your tree. Take a sheet of colored or white paper double the size of this and fold it in the middle. Trace this pattern onto the doubled paper with the fold at the left. Put the dotted line of the star on the folded left edge and cut out the stars carefully. When completed and unfolded, you will have a complete band of stars. Make a number of these garlands so that they can be fastened together and strung about the tree.

Paint each star with a thin coat of library paste and sprinkle on sparkle powder, perhaps using a different color for each star. Try putting the paste around the edges only, leaving the center of the star the original color with a sparkling outline.

Fasten the garlands together with paste, pins or thread, or use the little hinge drawn at bottom. Hang them to the tree with paper clips.

(This suggestion was first sent in by Donna Marie Russo, Johnsbury, Vt. You may win $10 if you send a usable idea in care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Mayor, Deputy in Lawsuit Over Fracas

MT. CLEMENS (AP) — The Mayor and Deputy City Assessor of suburban St. Clair Shores were named yesterday in a $110,000 damage suit.

The suit was filed in Macomb Circuit Court by Joseph Sienkiewicz, 29, a night club entertainer.

Sienkiewicz contended he suffered a broken nose and cut head Dec. 13 in a night club fight involving Mayor Thomas S. Welsh and Deputy Assessor Lavern (Bill) Crouchman of St. Clair Shores.

The scuffle took place at a benefit dinner for the Lions Club Blind Fund.

Sienkiewicz said the 335-pound Welsh started the fracas by shoving him when he solicited a contribution from the Mayor at Welsh's table.

Welsh said Sienkiewicz had insulted the Mayor's wife and stood on his feet while demanding the contribution. The Mayor asserted Sienkiewicz fell when Welsh stood up and pushed him off his feet.

Unmailed Note May Be Clue

Shooting Kills Girl, 17, Her Executive Father — Wounds Mother, Boy

CINCINNATI (AP) — An unmailed letter addressed to the daughter of a prominent Cincinnati family was the apparent key, authorities said, to a shooting here yesterday that resulted in the death of the daughter and her father and the wounding of her mother and the 19-year-old letter-writer.

* * *

Investigators sought to fit together further clues in the shootings that took place in the fashionable home of Lester Aue, 54, vice president of the Drackett Products Co.

Aue died almost immediately, as did his daughter, Susan, 17.

His wife, Helen, 50, has been in a coma since the shooting, critically wounded in the back. Susan's boy friend, Gordon Pape Jr., 19, has not regained consciousness since a bullet was fired into his head.

* * *

Sheriff's deputies said the prime clue was a letter found in the girl. It was never mailed.

The letter, investigators said, reproached the girl for refusing to "go steady" with him again.

Investigators from the Hamilton County prosecutor's office kept a vigil at the bedside of the critically wounded woman and boy, but gave up their wait near midnight when the two failed to regain consciousness.

* * *

The .32 caliber revolver found near the youth belongs to Pape's father, an investment banker and president of the Dixie Outdoor Theater Corp.

Ezio Pinza Gets Wish to Spend Yule at Home

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Singer Ezio Pinza got his Christmas gift wish — being able to spend the holidays at home with his wife and three children.

The famous basso was discharged yesterday from Greenwich Hospital. He had been a patient since Dec. 3 after suffering a second heart seizure.

Pinza, star of opera and musical comedy (South Pacific and Fanny), suffered his first heart attack in August while in Italy.

Moscow will have a hotel with 2,700 rooms—the most in Europe.

Hungarian Refugees Will Enroll at U. of M.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Three and probably more students who fled revolt-torn Hungary will enter the University of Michigan in February.

* * *

In making the announcement, James M. Davis, director of the University's International Center, said two tuition grants have already been authorized and he thinks the University can allocate eight more if private organizations will provide for the students maintenance.

The University, Davis said, is currently of receipt of two offers from local religious groups and one from an Ann Arbor landlady to provide for three refugee students.

None as yet have been selected.

Hal Boyle Says:

Florida Piles One Boom on Top of Another

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Leaves from a sunburned notebook:

Florida today is one of the states enjoying a boomlet on top of the general American boom.

* * *

It is growing so fast they may soon have to pave the Everglades and turn them into a parking lot.

You can always tell when times are good here where every other resident seems to be in the real estate business, at least on a part-time basis. The natives quit swapping land back and forth for practice and get busy selling it to new settlers.

Actually, however, they seem to go through the tortures of the demand when they do finally part with a parcel of property they have held for any length of time. As one man put it:

"You hate to let go of something when you feel that if you just hold it for another 5 or 10 years you will get maybe triple the present price."

HORDE OF TOURISTS

Tourists are now streaming in at the rate of 10,000 a day, and various sources estimate that between 3,000 and 4,000 new families are settling permanently in the state each month.

This accounts for the present Florida version of the Oklahoma land rush.

The phrase you hear most often is "if I only had . . ." It expresses someone's regret over being asleep when opportunity hammered on the door like thunder, then passed on, like thunder, then passed on, perhaps never to return.

This is the usual version:

"I came here 20 years ago and wasteland in the Florida keys was selling for two bits an acre. If I'd only had $5,000 then and bought up some of that acreage, I'd be worth better than a million bucks today."

MANY MILLIONAIRES

Florida is full of millionaires, some retired, many still active. But for every real millionaire, it has a dozen "memory millionaires," the men who mourn "if I only had . . ."

* * *

Many of them court opportunity now by buying a $2 ticket on the daily double at the racetracks where, if they'd been right smart 20 years ago, they'd now be running their own horses.

Widow With Dimes Wins Husband's Will

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A widow who was willed only "thirty pieces of silver" has won legal control of her husband's $40,000 estate.

A few months before Calvert Wilson of Burbank died of exposure on the Mojave Desert in 1955 he signed a will leaving his estate to his daughters and a "childhood sweetheart," Mrs. Algene Hoskins of Southern Pines, N.C. — except for 30 dimes bequeathed to his wife.

* * *

Yesterday the widow, Mrs. Elaine Wilson, was authorized by Superior Court to substitute a will signed by the restaurant supplier in 1944. This will left the estate to Mrs. Wilson, who is required to provide for the children, Brenda, now 14, and Tamara, now 12.

In Santa's Stock—Sock, Parking Ticket for Yule

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A Louisville policewoman gave a traffic ticket to Santa Claus.

Santa had several people he had to see and left his automobile in a no-parking zone.

When policewoman Louise White found it was Santa's auto, she exclaimed:

"If only I'd seen you."

But Santa merely laughed and said, "I'm glad to pay the fine, because I was in the wrong."

Nehru Beginning His Conference With Canadians

OTTAWA (AP) — Indian Prime Minister Nehru today begins long private talks with leaders of the Canadian government on a broad range of international problems.

* * *

As in his Washington and Gettysburg talks this week with President Eisenhower, no formal agenda was drawn for the meetings today and tomorrow with Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey and Foreign Secretary Lester Pearson.

* * *

The talks were expected to range from the Suez Canal and Middle East dispute to the problem of Soviet troops in Hungary, disarmament and military alliances.

Nehru and St. Laurent planned to confer more than five hours, including a luncheon meeting with a small group at the Canadian prime minister's residence.

Nehru and his daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, landed at Ottawa's Uplands Airport last night after a flight from New York.

Village Smithy Travels

CHURCHLAND, Va. (AP)—The village blacksmith hereabouts no longer stands beneath a spreading chestnut tree. He travels in a pickup truck and works mostly on farm machinery which don't use horseshoes. Furthermore, all chestnuts have been killed by blight.

Free Jailed Couple After Son's Letter

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Milton and Rosalie Schwartz were free today after serving all but five months of their sentence for the abortion death of food chain heiress Mrs. Doris Jean Osreicher.

Judge Vincent A. Carroll paroled the couple yesterday after the district attorney's office offered no objection.

Schwartz, 50, and his wife, who is 39, had been sentenced to 11 to 22 months for Mrs. Ostreicher's death in their north Philadelphia apartment in August 1955.

Judge Carroll said he was swayed by a "genuine and honest letter" from the couple's son, Milton, a Los Angeles resident, requesting his parent's release.

Bandits This Christmas Aren't Faring So Well

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Christmas season hasn't been too good for gunmen.

One robber got $22,500 worth of nothing yesterday when he grabbed that amount of travelers' checks—unstamped and unsigned—from clerk Betty Smith in a Western Union office.

Another holdup man and his accomplice took the watch and wallet of James L. Vanenger, 22, but scorned his payroll check. Vanenger told police one of the thieves told him:

"We don't want to get arrested for forgery."

A PLACE TO RELAX — On cold winter nights there's no place to relax so well as in front of a blazing fire. The Frank Pernar family of Edgewood Park court at Lower Straits Lake take their ease in a pre-Christmas picture. It's not too early to have the holiday wreath up and candles ready for lighting. Left to right are daughter, Marilyn, Mrs. Pernar and Frank Pernar. Son, Tommy, wasn't at home for the picture. The Pernars built their home several years ago and planned one end of the living room as the fireplace wall. The bricks vary in shade from buff to rust. The hearth is slate and combines several colors.

MARBLE FIREPLACE—For seventeen years the Clinton Galbraiths lived in a small home on Arcola at Williams Lake. Then three years ago they did some remodeling and added a fireplace to their living room. They paneled the wall behind the fireplace with wood from South America. The fireplace itself is made of Tennessee marble in shades of black, white and beige. The hearth is slate. Some of the work on the fireplace was done by the Galbraiths themselves. Mrs. Galbraith is putting the finishing touches on her Christmas mantel scene.

"LISTEN, MY CHILDREN" — Mrs. Wilford S. DuCharme of Green street is baby sitter for the children next door. Nine-year-old Bobby, ten-year-old Barbara and Diane, just five months old, are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Dodd. Mrs. DuCharme has a nice old-fashioned fireplace and a rocking chair; these, plus a story book and a love for children add up to tender loving care. The DuCharme fireplace is made of brick with an oak mantel. Already a group of waxen carolers are in place on the mantel. We hope the clearness of the picture permits the readers to see the handsome andirons under the fire basket.

Your Neighbor's House:

Modern Man Still Likes His Fireplace

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

This page is our second annual Christmas presentation of fireplaces. We have tried to get a variety of them in various parts of the Pontiac area. With one exception we have people in the pictures.

* * *

After man discovered fire he began to devise ways of keeping the fire for longer periods of time. Perhaps he accidently built his fire in a hole in the ground one day and found that it didn't go out so easily. Or he built it in a hollow log with the same effect.

* * *

By the time man lived in houses fireplaces had come into being. Although the need for them as sources of heat and a place on which to cook is no longer valid in modern civilization, man insists on having the open fire. Some of our ancestors sealed up their fireplaces when they acquired stoves. Their descendants in many instances unseal these same fireplaces and use them.

* * *

American pioneers built sturdy stone fireplaces in the kitchens of their log cabins. Some fireplaces today are still made of similar stones, carefully cut so that the stones will fit together. There is doubtless less danger of fire with the modern inner chimney of fire brick.

* * *

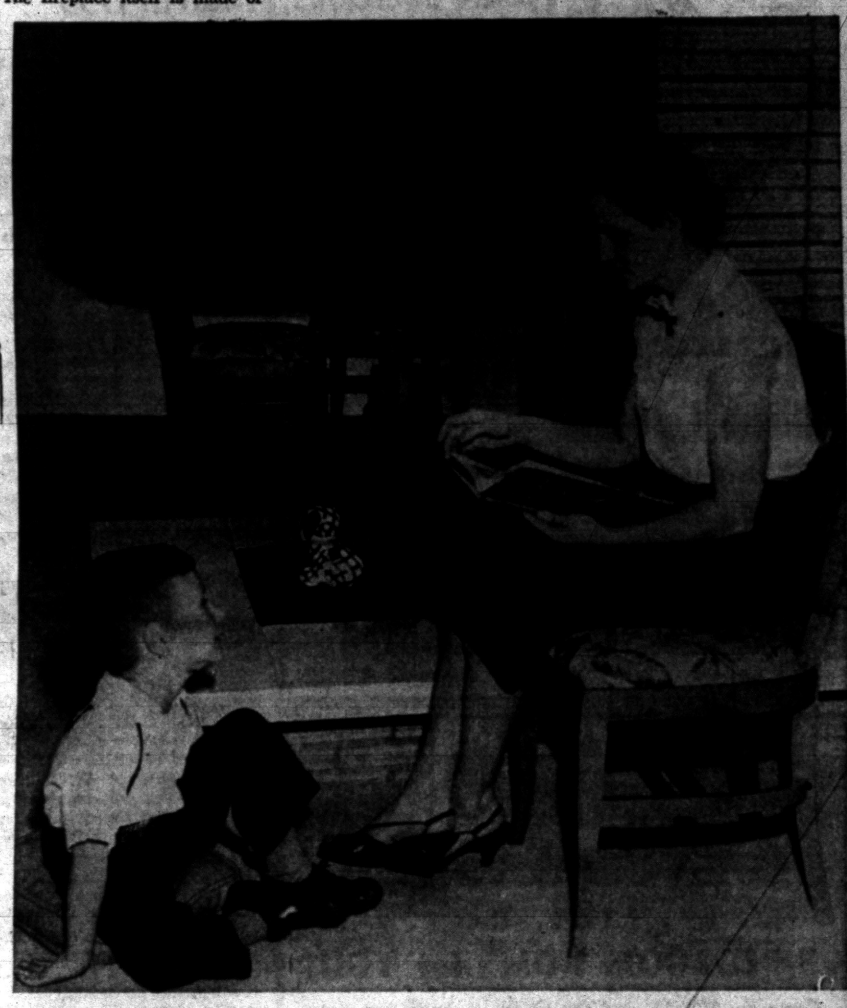

Fireplaces from every architactural era are seen in today's homes. In some cases old-fashioned ones have been covered up to make more modern-looking ones. We still remember with pain the family who painted a handsome mahogany fireplace white. But we do admit that sometimes the modernization job is an improvement.

* * *

A great many of the modern fireplaces we see are built right into the wall, with no exterior protrusions, sometimes not even a mantel. Other homes have beautiful replicas of Federal or Colonial fireplaces. Some of the fieldstone or marble ones are also beautiful.

* * *

Whatever kind of fireplace a house has, it is a focal point of the room. Around it the family gathers for relaxation, for play and for converstaion. It seems to symbolize a sense of stability in an unstable world. It can say "Merry Christmas" without words.

WROUGHT IRON HOOD — A modern concept of that age-old household convenience, the fireplace, is shown in the above picture. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Kania and their four-year-old son, Mitchell Jr., moved into their new home on Devon Brook drive about three months ago. Mrs. Kania reads a Christmas story to her son in front of this modern fireplace. Made of creamy yellow Roman bricks, the fireplace has a raised hearth topped with white fire brick. The center section where the fire is to be built is of black fire brick. A special wire mesh screen is being made and will be fastened to the black wrought iron hood before any fire can be laid.

A PLACE FOR PLANTS — This gray brick fireplace in the Rochester home of Mr. and Mrs. Kaye Benjamin Martin is unusual in one respect. It's used for plants rather than for fires. When the Martins moved into their William road home, it was summer and plants were in order throughout the house. By the time winter came, the plants had gained such a foothold and were clinging so strongly to the bricks that they couldn't be easily dislodged. Anyway, the Martins have another fireplace in the basement recreation room. So along with the Christmas tree and the children's stockings a barrel of philodendron and a huge pot of African evergreen decorates the living room. Seven-year-old Marilyn and eleven-year-old Roger exclaim over little brother, Danny's stocking. Danny is just eighteen months old, and this is his first Christmas to be remembered.

IN THE WISNER HOME — This fireplace which is about one hundred years old is in the old Wisner home on Oakland avenue. It is in the room recently restored by the DAR. At one time there was a stove set up here instead of an open fire; this probably accounts for the cover in front of the fire opening. The area around this opening is faced with wood; the mantel is also wooden. The clock, an antique, was made by the Waterbury Clock Company. The vases on either side were purchased in England in 1894 and were a gift to the Wisner home.

Flooring Grades Revised — Become Effective in '57

The original grading rules for Northern Hard Maple, Beech and Birch flooring were published for the first time on September 28, 1897, by the Maple Flooring Manufacturers Association. There were then only three standard grades, and the description of the "rules" left a lot to be desired in the way of interpretation.

Since that time, 60 years later, many revisions have been made, and the grades now are described in accurate detail in the official Grading Rules booklet of the association. The detailed interpretation of the three standard and the combination grades in the current booklet now make it possible for the consumer to know precisely what he is buying and the exact difference between the various grades.

The association, in recent meeting, revised the "Special Grades" for Northern Hard Maple, Beech and Birch Flooring and adapted new grade names which will become effective, January 1, 1957. These are the finest grades possible to produce. The new grade names and their interpretation follows:

SELECTED FIRST GRADE LIGHT NORTHERN HARD MAPLE. This grade is carefully selected for uniformity of light color. The color tones in individual strips will vary somewhat, but after laying, this grade provides a luxurious "light" apearing floor.

SELECTED FIRST GRADE AMBER NORTHERN HARD MAPLE. This grade is carefully selected for uniformity of amber color. The color tones in individual strips will vary somewhat, but after laying, this grade provides a luxurious "amber" apearing floor.

SELECTED FIRST GRADE RED. This grade is produced from all - red faced Northern Beech or Birch, and is selected especially for color. The color is a rich, warm tint peculiar to these woods.

The Selected First Grade Light or Amber Northern Hard Maple is ideal flooring for modern luxury ballrooms; dance spaces, residences, country clubs and night clubs. Selected First Grade Red Northern Beech or Birch should prove popular for fine residence gloors and for wall paneling purposes. In residential buildings, Beech and Birch are often used in place of Maple where darker floors are desired. Their hardness and their susceptibility to staining is well known.

Contracts Less Than in 1955

NEW YORK — Contract awards for future construction in the 37 states east of the Rockies in November totaled $1,689,261,000, a decrease of six per cent compared to November 1955, F. W. Dodge Corporation, construction news and marketing specialists, reported.

According to Dodge Reports, last month was the second highest November ever recorded; on the other hand it was also the third consecutive month in which awards have been lower than in the corresponding periods of 1955.

November awards by the major construction categories show a new dollar volume record in nonresidential category of $729,642,000, up 10 per cent compared to November 1955. However, residential awards at $624,713,000 were 14 per cent lower than last year, and heavy engineering at $334,906,000 were 18 per cent below November 1955.

The 11-month cumulative total of awards established a new dollar volume record of $22,836,733,000, an increase of five per cent over the corresponding 1955 period.

* * *

The cumulative awards for the first 11 months established all-time dollar volume records in two major construction categories: Non-residential awards at $8,382,726,000 were eight per cent greater than the similar 1955 period; heavy engineering at $5,078,193,000 showed an 11 per cent increase.

However, residential awards at $9,375,814,000 were one per cent below 1955 although they reached the second highest 11-month residential total ever recorded.

* * *

Commenting on the current construction picture, Thomas S. Holden, vice chairman of the board of F. W. Dodge Corporation, said: "The moderate decline in the November contract total was foreshadowed by the recent residential slowdown which has resulted largely from tight money. It seems to be an indication that further construction progress, while real, will be at a moderate pace."

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

CLASSIC STYLING and expansion convenience give this house a wide appeal. The first floor provides two bedrooms. The second story can be finished when needed. The house covers 1,340 square feet without two-car garage and porch. This is plan R-4619AP by Derick B. Kipp, architect, House Plan Headquarters, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York 36, N. Y.

No Upsets Over Housing Have Arisen in Industry

WASHINGTON (INS) — Despite all the grumbling, neither government nor industry is particularly upset over the home construction picture this year or the prospects for 1957.

Indications are that housing starts for the year will reach an encouraging 1,125,000, a creditable performance in the face of financing difficulties posed by the tight money market.

Instead of a decline that would be expected with the coming of cold weather, housing starts actually increased in November to an annual rate of 1,060,000 compared with 1,050,000 in October.

Actual starts for the first 11 months were 1,055,000, making possible 1,125,000 for the year even with a big December drop.

This is 20 per cent below last year's building spree in a time of easy credit, but housing experts believe it more nearly represents actual market demand and will be matched — more or less — in 1957 unless the government takes off credit curbs.

Federal Housing Chief Albert M. Cole says no more "dramatic changes" are planned, but Congress has yet to have its say.

Cole believes anything above one million starts would conform to credit and housing demands next year and he would not favor drastic government intervention unless starts fall below that level.

He has no big-scale program to present to Congress in January other than asking for additional money with which to buy government-backed mortgages in the secondary market.

The Housing Chief says the fact that the interest rate on FHA-insured mortgages was boosted only one-half of one per cent, to five per cent, is evidence of no undue alarm over the program.

Both Cole and the Veterans Administration believe, however, that the increase in FHA rates leaves the GI home loan program in the lurch and that only a similar increase in interest rates will rescue it. The administration will ask Congress to approve it.

* * *

Nat Rogge, economist for the National Association of Home Builders, says the men who construct homes have trimmed their sails to the prevailing winds of tight money.

This means, he explains, that builders no longer will start construction of houses on speculation or without firm commitments.

He adds: "From the home builders' standpoint, one of the good things about 1956 is that it is coming to an end. Next year we believe things will be better even if volume remains the same.

"I'm not pessimistic about the home building industry or its future. We've got problems, many of them, but they are problems which can in time be solved. We may not be as robust as we were in 1955, but we are a long way from needing crutches."

Single Family Homes Are Getting Larger

Single family homes are getting bigger. There has been an amazing increase in floor space of 19 per cent just since 1950.

In that year, average single-family homes had 983 square feet, but today's average one - family home has 1170 square feet, according to West Coast Lumbermen's Assocation.

The lumbermen say buyers are getting bigger homes and better homes for their money compared to six years ago. There is much more wood being used in new homes, both inside and outside, they point out.

Most homes being offered today, the lumbermen observe, are featured by considerable wood paneling, much of this in west coast hemlock or Douglas fir, many storage wall installations, builtins, wooden siding for exterior finish.

People like wood, they say, because it is a natural, frendly and familiar material which most people associate with comfort and protection.

Eliminate Moisture

Peeling of paint is one of the more noticeable effects of uncontrolled moisture. There are other results such as dry rot, termite havens, discoloration of walls within the house and formation of mold on woodwork. Moisture should be eliminated at its source. It will then have no opportunity to cause damage. Proper ventilation is necessary in the kitchen and basement where cooking and laundering create moisture. Using ventilating fans or merely opening windows slightly will allow the moisture to escape before it can have

Close Precision Used in Faucet

Mathematical accuracy and perfect workmanship enter into the manufacture of quality faucets. A dependable faucet for a kitchen sink, lavatory, or bathtub is a precision machine.

So exact are the tolerances in the manufacture of high quality faucets that the difference of only two-thousandths of an inch can cause the piece to be scrapped. Two-thousandths of an inch is less than the thickness of a human hair.

These are some of the facts which owners of homes, apartments, and commercial and industrial buildings might well keep in mind in buying faucets and valves, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

The first cost of a high quality faucet made in accordance with the best manufacturing practices is only a few cents more than the cheapest fitting. This difference in price is an insignificant factor in the total cost of even the lowest

The heart of the faucet is in its working mechanism. It is in the making of the removable, renewable unit that experience in design is important.

The water faucet is one of the most familiar mechanisms of the twentieth century. An inferior product is a constant source of annoyance and expense. On the other hand, a fine, precision-built faucet is an investment that pays rich dividends in economy and satisfaction.

Pets Choose Chairs Due to Cold Floors

Why does your dog or cat, or both, insist on jumping up into a chair to sleep?

Because the floors are cold, says the Better-Heating-Cooling Council.

Contending that a survey was made among cats and dogs in all walks of life, the council says high percentages answered with "woofs" and "meows" on the question of cold floors in homes. Those not replying to the questionnaire were listed as "hush-puppies."

Seriously, the council says, a high percentage of homes have floors that are uncomfortably cold in winter because of inadequate or improperly installed heating systems. Cats, dogs and ankles can expect cold floors when a heating plant heats only the air and not the floors and exposed walls, says the council, which is especially interested in such things as radiant baseboards.

To Offset Depression in Prison Coloring

An official of the New York Department of Correction says that the days of "Battleship Gray" prisons are gone. Maximum use of color psychology is being judiciously applied in prisons, which in the main are built of cold concrete and steel, making colors in the "cold family" depressive. Extensive use is being made of paints in the "warm family," creating a feeling of cheerfulness with which it is hoped to offset some of the depressing prison atmosphere.

Striped Stacks Are Safe

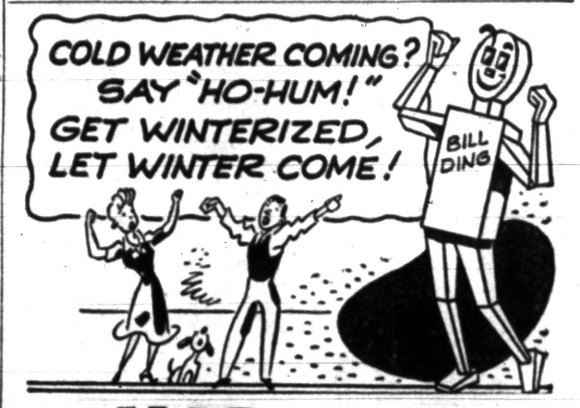

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Flyers at a nearby Naval Air Station complained that twin plain brick smokestacks, 200 feet high, at a neighboring powerhouse were potentially dangerous. The stacks have since been painted in alternate wide bands of red and white and are now highly visible from the air.

Coloring Aids Planes

Researchers are currently testing a bright paint for aircraft that is so eye-arresting that it will help prevent mid-air collisions. Orange-red is thought to be the right color, with fluorescence added to augment its sharpness. To insure lasting brightness, research teams have developed a fluorescent compound that endured six months under hot sun tests in Florida.

Cut Fuel Costs by Good Plans

Even the best heating system would have a tough time heating a tent in cold winter weather.

Quality materials, such as ceramic tile, should be used in all homes, when consideration is given to heating requirements. Storm sash and doors, fully caulked window frames, insulated ceeilings and outer walls will reduce initial cost of the heating system, reduce the fuel bill and increase comfort.

Consult your heating contractor regarding the type of fuel best suited to your requirements and its availability. When installing a new system insist on the equipment specifically designed to burn the fuel you intend to use. Follow his advice, also, in placing registers or radiators for maximum efficiency from your heating system.

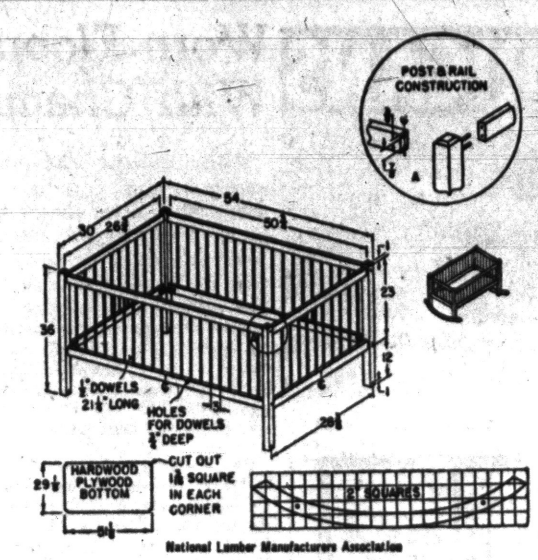

Careful cooperation between the general contractor and heating contractor will often result in savings, and eliminate much of the mutilation in home remodeling or construction, when installing a heating system. Framing members of the building can be easily altered or located to allow the passage of ducts or pipes without weakening the structural frame of the building.

Temperature controls may be added to "ruff" your furnace or boiler automatically, and to keep the home at an even temperature. They add to comfort, and save money by eliminating overheating.

The real cost of a heating system is not just the cost of original equipment, but is equal to initial cost plus maintenance and fuel costs. When careful consideration is given to planning and installing a heating system these factors will be reduced and maximum heating efficiency increased.

Save With Glass Finish

Covering flat-topped furniture with plate glass is one of the best ways to protect the luster of the fine finish against mars, scratches and cigarette burns.

Cradle Converts to Crib, Can Be Dismantled Easily

A cradle which can be converted to a crib as the child becomes older is a useful project. It can be dismantled for easy storage when the youngster outgrows the crib.

* * *

The legs or posts aret made of 2 by 2-inch lumber. Cut the legs 36 inches long and bevel the top end as shown in the diagram. In addition, bevel the inside corner of the legs from the top to a point 12 inches fro mthe bottom.

Locate the position of the dowel holes on two faces of the posts, as shown in Inset A. 1-⅞ inches from the top and 12⅛ inches from the bottom. Drill the holes ⅓-inch in diameter and ¼-inch deep. A hole 5/16-inch in diameter is then drilled 1 inch from the bottom of the posts, where the rockers for the cradle will be attached.

Make the rails of 1¼ by 2-inch lumber. Cut four pieces 50-¾ inches long and 4 pieces 26-¾ inches long. Locate the position of the end dowel holes to match those drilled in the posts (See Inset A).

* * *

Care should be taken to drill the holes in a straight line so the dowel joints will fit properly. The holes for the dowel bars connecting the upper and lower side rails are located starting at the center of the rails. first measuring 1⅛ inches from this point toward the ends and then every 3 inches on centers. The holes are drilled ¾-inch deep in the edge of the rail. The ⅓-inch dowel bars are cut 21¼ inches long.

Assemble the frame of the crib. First, attach the lower end rails to the posts. Next, attach the dowel bars, and finally add the upper end rails to the bars and posts. Groove the dowels to provide a tighter joint. Use glue and ⅝-inch brads at all joints.

The side rails are assembled in the same manner except that post and rail joints are not permanent, thus allowing easy disassembly. Use No. 5 2½-inch flat head wood screws at these joints. Predrill holes for the screws, centered between the dowels. Braces bent to fit around the corner posts can be fastened to the lower rails with ⅝-inch wood screws for additional support.

The bottom of the crib is made of hardwood plywood ¼ inch thick, cut to the dimensions shown. A 1 3/16-inch square is cut at the corners to fit the posts. Fasten the bottom to the rails with No. 4 1-inch round head wood screws. Attach two cleats, 30 inches long, evenly spaced on the underside of the bottom for added support.

* * *

If desired, the bottom can be made of seven pieces of 1 by 8-inch lumber, 29-⅛ inches long. Edge glue or dowel joint the pieces together and add cleats on the underside for support. Notch the corners as shown for the plywood bottom.

* * *

The rockers are made of 1 by 8-inch straight-grained lumber. Mark off a pattern of 2-inch squares and cut out the rocker with a coping saw. Drill a 5/16-inch hole where the rocker will be attached to the crib. Attach with stove bolts ¼-inch in diameter by 3 inches long.

Round all sharp edges and sand the crib smooth.

Paint with a non-toxic paint or leave natural and varnish.

Fence Building Book Available by Mail

Home owners planning to erect a fence around their property may be interested in a new publication, "How to Build Wood Fences," available from the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, Washington 6, D. C., for 25 cents a copy (cash, check or money order).

This 14-page illustrated booklet contains detailed instructions on how to build seven basic types of wood fencing. Also illustrated are 19 variations of these basic styles, which the home owner may adapt to his particular requirements.

Install Separate Oven for Your Best Convenience

The main advantage of a separate oven is that you can have it installed at a height that means maximum comfort, safety and convenience to YOU.

How do you find exactly what that height is?

Cornell University's Department of Economics of the Household undertook research to find the answer. They discovered that the convenience of a separate oven depends upon how easily you can lift food in and out, turn broiling meat over, and inspect cooking food.

After studies with 50 women, it was found that most could handle heavy loads such as a ham, a turkey or a large roast with least strain if the oven was at, or slightly below, their elbow height or "carrying level."

The researchers noted, however, that when the oven is placed low enough for comfort in lifting and turning food over, you may not be able to stand erect directly in front of the oven and see all of its contents.

The Cornell researchers found two simple ways to avoid bending: either pull out the oven rack with the food on it, or just step back.

In general, they concluded, it is better to place your oven so that you do not have to lift too high, even though this means that you must adjust your body position for inspecting.

The most popular choice of the 50 women studied was an oven height putting the top surface of the opened oven door three inches below "elbow height."

If you want your oven installed at this height, here's how to go about it:

Determine your own "elbow height" (which naturally will be lower for a short person than a tall one). Wearing the type of shoes you ordinarily use in the kitchen, stand comfortably erect and bend your arm so that the forearm is parallel to the floor. Now have someone measure the distance in inches between the floor and your elbow.

From this "elbow height," subtract three inches (the distance you want to allow between your forearm and the top of the open oven door.)

Next subtract the distance between the top of the opened oven door and the lower surface of the oven frame. (Because ovens vary, you will have to make this measurement on the unit you are purchasing.)

The height you have left after these two subtractions is the height to which the receiving frame for your oven should be built.

Wood Paneling Popular

Architects advise house hunting couples with pre-teenage children to seek out homes which feature wood paneled walls in living and dining areas. Such walls offer the best protection against wear and tear from active youngsters, the architects point out. Wood also is considered an ideal material for the quick and economical remodeling of older homes.

Efficient Heating Oils Save Users Money

Two significant developments are chiefly responsible for the better heating oils available today.

* * *

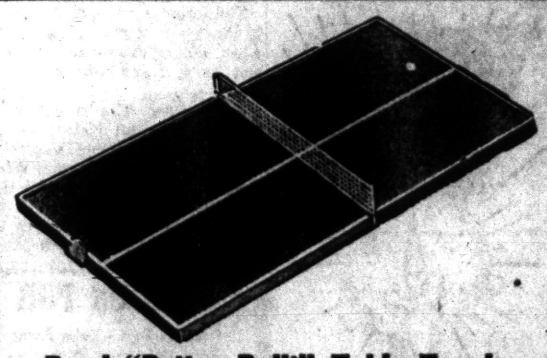

One is that modern heating oils are prepared from carefully selected blending distillates which are refined to impart the best possible storage and combustion characteristics. This means that the oils will burn with a smokeless hot flame, and the fuel will not corrode the bulk storage tank, the parts of the oil burner.

The net result is that the householder today who has an oil burning heating system saves on his fuel bills because he gets the utmost out of every drop of oil and has increased efficiency of the burner, too.

Trees in History as Well as Houses

Trees have played an important role in the growth and development of the United States. Besides providing lumber for the building of homes, stores, churches, schools and factories, trees have had a special historical significance.

* * *

The Charter Oak in Hartford, Conn., for example, helped that state maintain its independence from England. In 1687, when James II sought to revoke the local sovereignty of Connecticut, the giant oak was used as a hiding place for a charter which guaranteed the state its freedom from British Colonialism.

* * *

The charter remained secreted in the trunk of the oak until 1689 when, during the reign of William and Mary, it was brought out with safety.

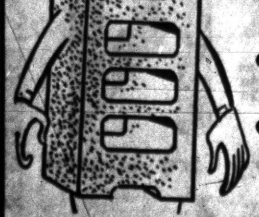

Other trees with a prominent role in American history include the Washington Elm at Cambridge, Mass., under which George Washington took command on the Continental Army in 1775, and the Liberty Tree in Boston where the Sons of Liberty held meetings.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

WOMEN'S PREFERENCES are featured in this house built at Munster, Ind., near Chicago to demonstrate recommendations made by 103 housewives who attended the Women's Congress on Housing in Washington last spring. One of three models sponsored by the National Retail Lumber Dealers Assn., this house covers 1,623 square feet, it was built with brick veneer as shown at the top, but is equally attractive in wood siding as shown in the inset. Edwin Bruno of Skokie, Ill., was the architect. Plans are being made available nationally through local retail lumber dealers.

Worn Floors Rejuvenated With Chemical Finishes

Modern chemical science has wrought its magic in the field of floor finishes. It has brought the job of rejuvenating worn, shabby floors well within the scope of even the do-it-yourself beginner. New synthetic resin coatings, developed through organic chemistry enable the average homeowner to have sparkling, easy-to-care-for wood floors with far less muss, fuss and effort than was previously necessary.

* * *

One bothersome feature in old-fashioned methods of floor finishing was the length of time needed for the varnish to dry. As much as 18 to 24 hours was required between coats. The temptation was always present, therefore, to sacrifice the superior wearing qualities of varnish by using fast-drying shellac, to avoid having the room out of use for days at a time.

The new synthetic resin floor finishes available today combine outstanding durability with fast-drying. Some dry even faster than shellac . . . dust-free in only 15 minutes, ready for the second and final coat in one hour. These new finishes, one of which actually served its apprenticeship on bowling alleys, offer other important advantages. They provide a coating hard and tough enough to withstand punishment equal to the brutal battering a bowling alley takes, yet without the brittleness that results in chipping and peeling. In addition, they produce a surface so impervious to wear, dirt and stains that the need for floor-waxing and scrubbing — the bane of the housewife's existence — is eliminated.

A paint, hardware or lumber store now carrying these new synthetic-type resin finishes can be found in almost any neighborhood. These stores have become one-stop headquarters for the latest information and advice on floor finishing. They provide free step-by-step instruction manuals and they supply all of the materials and equipment needed to do a first-class job. For example, modern floor sanders . . . easier to operate and fitted with dust-proof bags to collect the dust created during the sanding operation . . . are available at low rental rates.

* * *

Thus, today's average homemaker, thanks to modern chemical science, advanced-design equipment and the services rendered by progressive merchants, can undertake the job of restoring the hidden beauty of his wood floors, with every assurance of satisfactory results.

Housing Survey Slated for Area

Up-to-date, detailed statistics on the housing situation in the Detroit Standard Metropolitan Area, including Pontiac, will be provided by the National Housing Inventory which will be conducted throughout the country on a sample basis during November and December by the U. S. Census Bureau. The local part of the survey will get underway Nov. 15 and is expected to be completed in from three to four weeks.

* * *

This will be the first nationwide survey of housing since the 1950 census. It will show not only the dwelling units but also the gains or losses through new construction, conversions and demolitions.

The survey will show size and age of houses, rents paid, value of homes, condition of houses, vacancies, plumbing facilities and characteristics of families living in the houses covered in the survey.

Information will be gathered also on outstanding mortgage debt, interest rates, use of conventional and government - insured mortgages, second mortgages and monthly payments, if amortized.

20,000 UNITS IN AREA

Nationally, approximately 260,000 dwelling units will be canvassed in 21,000 sections located in 638 counties and all 48 states. About 20,000 units will be covered in the Detroit Metropolitan area which is comprised of Macomb, Oakland and Wayne Counties.

The information collected in the inventory will be used by government, home builders, mortgage lenders, and realtors to study trends in housing construction.

Preliminary figures for the area will be available during the summer of 1957, with final reports scheduled for publication in the fall.

Why Waste Attic Space?

Activty in the home is at a peak when children reach adolescence. If your house seems too small to contain all the energy bound up in it, why not convert your attic space into a recreation room? Make it a long, open room. You should install a half-bath, too.

Home Craftsman Can Put Camera Worries on Shelf

An attractive wall shelf, which can be used either in the living room or the den, provides the camera enthusiast with convenient storage for equipment and color slides. It may be used also for storage of other small items.

* * *

This project is one for the craftsman who has a workshop with a planer; or the lumber may be planed by the lumber dealer. The wall shelf and drawers are made of ¾ by 8, ¾ by 6, ¾ by 3 and ¾ by 4-inch lumber planed to a thickness of ½-inch. All parts of the project requiring squared ends should be cut with the aid of a miter box to assure a perfect fit.

The sides are made of lumber 8 inches wide and 28½ inches long. The design, as shown, is made by first measuring 2 inches in from the front edge of one side piece and drawing a line parallel to the front edge. Next measure up 7 inches from the bottom and along the line just drawn and swing an arc with a compass set for a 2-inch radius.

The top is rounded by first measuring in an additional 2 inches and then swinging an arc as shown. Rip the board along the first line drawn to the point where it is intersected by the compass line.

Use a coping saw to round the corners. The finished side can be used as a pattern to make the other side. Make a pattern for the top trim by marking off 1-inch squares on a piece of lumber 4 inches wide. Use a coping saw to cut out the curved top.

The five top shelves are each 5½ by 14 inches. The two bottom shelves are made 7½ inches wide.

The drawer stops, or back, are made from 3-inch boards planed to the dimensions shown. When assembling the back, the stops are placed between the shelves.

Assemble the wall shelf by fastening the sides to the bottom and top shelves. Position the remaining shelves and fasten them with glue and 8-penny finishing nails. Add the top trim with glue and 6-penny finishing nails. The back pieces are toenailed in place with 6-penny finishing nails.

The frames of the small drawers are made from lumber 3 inches wide; the lower drawer frame from 6-inch lumber. The bottoms of the drawers are cut to fit inside the framing. Assemble with glue and 6-penny finishing nails.

Recess all nails and fill the holes with wood putty. Round all sharp edges.

Paint or stain and varnish. After finishing the wood, attach the lock can be put on the drawers. drawer pulls. If desired, a cabinet

Attach to the wall with screws or anchor bolts.

Report Increase in Dollar Volume of Enamel Works

The Porcelain Enamel industry has reported an increase for 1956 of 25 million in total dollar volume over the 440 million dollar figure achieved in 1955.

The report was issued as a year end industry statement by the Porcelain Enamel Institute, national trade association for the industry.

Two major forces behind the substantial business increase in '56, the report stated, were the rapidly increasing market for major appliances and the use of architectural porcelain enamel in the construction field.

According to the association, the wide acceptance by architects and builders of the new curtain wall method of construction has resulted in a 20 per cent increase in business for architectural porcelain enamel. As evidence of this new building trend, the trade group points out that there are literally hundreds of new buildings in all parts of the country that incorporate colorful and durable porcelain enamel panels.

The major appliances field which still represents the majority of business for the industry, experienced a boom in the sale of home laundry equipment during 1956, the Institute reported.

Create Shadow Pattern

You can create interesting shadow patterns with feathery pine or other holiday greens. According to holiday lighting specialists, the secret lies in using a clear bulb — either 25-watt F-15 (flame shaped), or 25-watt T-10 (tubular). Both bulbs have standard sockets so they may be used with extension cord sockets.

Good Architecture Always Functional

Good architecture in a modern house provides spacious interiors which allow for primary functions; forms and structure which strongly support, yet delight the eye at the same time; materials so natural in their choice and use that we feel at ease with them; the flowering of each of these into an expressive richness we call ornamental.

* * *

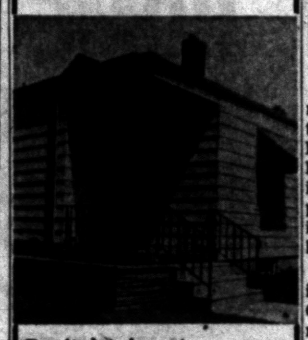

Good ornament in architecture, furniture, or accessories is recognized by its appropriateness and contribution to what it decorates. Ask these questions of all ornament: Is it part of the thing it decorates? Does it add something to what it decorates?

* * *

For example, if the object is a wooden table, does the decorating of its top emphasize that it is made of wood; if the wood has a striking grain, does the ornamentation enhance or fight it? Does its ornamentation make it more suitable for your place and purpose?

* * *

These are the controlling questions of the designer, as well as of ourselves. When ornament meets them satisfactorily, it is good.

Use 'Mood' Colors in Home

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—At the recent 69th Annual Convention of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, Mrs. Ellen Lehman McCluskey, of the American Institute of Decorators, emphasized the importance of choosing the right colors for individual home decoration.

Speaking of colors that periodically come into vogue, Mrs. McCluskey said that color consciousness of people does not come in just seeing the color in one industry; it comes from the repeated sale of that same color in many industries.

The pink vogue, she said, was a case in point. Paris made pink dresses, the car industry featured pink cars, kitchen manufacturers made pink kitchens, and magazines had a rash of rooms done in all different accents of pink. Pink, in other words, was the style.

Mrs. McCluskey tends to disagree pretty much with the theory that color has to be "in style". She thinks rather it is the way a color is used that makes the style, not just the fact that "this year, you know, blue is the color,,.

Despite the recognition of all trends, a decorator doesn't really follow them, Mrs. McCluskey said—if she does she is going to become contrived and dated. The speaker emphasized that decorating, just as excellence in sport, should seem relaxed and effortless.

"Naturally color is a very, very important tool of the decorator," Mrs. McCluskey continued. "But way before color I start out with what I call a total design approach. I want to know something about you and what you want your house to express.

First thing I ask is, How do you entertain, and how often? Do you lead a social or secluded life? And most people like a little bit of both. In your entertaining rooms you naturally use brighter colors, especially in the dining room, a room you don't spend much time in. Here you can really have the greatest contrasts."

NERVE QUIETING

Giving consideration to the secluded part of your life, Mrs. McCluskey said she thought everybody, including children, should have one room where they can get away from all homemaking anxieties. This room in many houses is the study. Here, she said, colors should be soft and more of a monotone, quieting to the nerves.

Another question Mrs. McCluskey asks is, Are you a formal or informal person—do you want the loungy look or the set formal look? "From this informal or formal feeling there is a psychological corollary," she continued. "Do you like warm colors or cool colors?

If you look at a color thermometer it might look something like this: the warm colors are reds, oranges and yellows; intermediates, the greens; cool colors, blues and purples.

It is said that warm color people are extroverts, interested in their surroundings, who love contrasts.

The cool people are introverts; they find it difficult to express themselves easily, and these people are more likely to pick monotone colors."

On the question of budget, Mrs. McCluskey said: "Don't let yourself be hamstrung by your money. To me the budget is the amount of money you have to spend immediately with, you hope, more to spend at a later date. My advice is to have a long-term plan.

Spare not in getting the right backgrounds. Get rid, where possible, of bad architectural features such as windows and doors coming into wrong places; some of these very high old Victorian fireplaces; put in built-ins where necessary, especially your television.

And I stress very thoroughly, have a good paint job. As you know, a good paint job lasts forever, and if you have the wrong background color, which I find in 95 percent of the homes I go into, almost nothing that you put in after it is going to help.

I believe that in your life your decorating really should never end. As you know, your taste never finishes; you are always changing, so keep improving."

Paint Rollers Seem Popular

The use of paint rollers instead of brushes is becoming more popular. They are used in applying any type of paint that does not dry quickly—oil paints, enamels, latex-base paints and cold water casein types — but not shellac and lacquer.

The covering of a roller determines the textured effect for the painted surface. Some rollers have a carpet-like covering.

Others are covered with lamb's wool, or synthetic fibers, such as nylon or orlon.

The common paint roller is dipped into a paint pan made especially for this use. It is a shallow pan, similar to a cake pan that is tilted at one end.

The pan accommodates the size of the roller — ranging from two to nine inches. Most popular size with amateurs is the 7-inch width.

Some rollers have a hollow cylinder for a core. This can be filled with a pint of paint at one time.

Another has an attachment for an air-pressure feed line to a container which may hold five gallons at a time.

Some rollers have attachments for handles three or four feet long for painting ceilings and stairwells.

The care of a roller is as important as the care of a paint brush.

Even when you stop for lunch, you have to protect your roller. Wrapping it in celeophane or aluminum foil will keep it from drying out.

* * *

But as soon as the job is finished a thorough cleaning is called for. After working with oil-base paint, clean a roller with turpentine or mineral spirits.

For odorless paint, use odorless thinner for cleaning, unless you don't mind the odor of turps. For casein paints of laytex bases, soap suds and clear water rinses suffice.

When applying paint with a roller, always begin on an unfinished area and work toward a finished one. Makes a smoother job.

Effect of Tile Can Be Same as Carpeting

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Tile flooring can have the same room framing effect as carpeting.

For example, you can cover the body of the floor in white, speckled tile. Stop about two feet from the wall all around the room. Use a thin strip of black tile to end your "carpet" area, then finish the floor to the walls in black speckled tiles. The room is still framed.

* * *

Tile in alternating colors also can be used to separate the different "areas" in one room.

If you have a living-dining area, instead of individual parlor and eating rooms, you can mark off the areas by use, perhaps, plain white speckled tile for the living area and black and white checks for the dining area.

Caulking Your House Saves Fuel and Repair

Careful caulking of a house pays big returns on a modest investment. Caulking will not only seal out fuel-robbing drafts, it will seal out moisture that is harmful to both wood and paint. Before launching your next exterior painting project check up on the trouble spots that may need caulking — cracks around the window and door frames, balustrades, butt joints of wood and stone on porches, butt joints of siding and corner boards.

Tempered Hardboards Make Better Cabinets

Fiber hardboards, familiar for the webbing pattern on the backs of the paneds, can now be had with both sides smooth. The tempered variety is more dense than the standard hardboard and is recommended for places involving wear, high or fluctuating humidity and exposure to the weather.

This material with two sides smooth is handy for kitchen cabinet and drawer dividers, folding screens and various built-ins where both sides must be finished.

CUT BUILDING COSTS—Good design cuts building costs. This gracefully proportioned house presents a facade of vertical siding and brick veneer. Planters in front add to the attractiveness of the house.

ECONOMICAL ROOM LAYOUT — Three bedrooms, plus a family room in addition to the living room, are contained in this economical plan. The rooms at the rear have window walls facing a garden terrace. The carporch may be built when the house is built or added later. If you want a dining room, move the carporch forward to make space for the family room behind it. This will not change the width of the house.

Wise Planning Pays Off With Lower Building Cost

The best way to get a house you can afford under today's building costs is not to shrink the sizes of the rooms, but to have the house so well designed that you can get the most use out of every square foot of the construction you are paying for. This secret of wise planning is shown in Design HW-30 for The House of The Week.

Smart and charming in appearance, this house packs a lot of comfortable living in a very economical amount of space — 1,159 square feet. This is just about the average FHA size.

But here you have a family room in addition to living room, a master bedroom lavatory in addition to the main bathroom, plus the glamor of a big house with window walls facing a rear garden terrace.

This is an example of what good design can do to stretch home buying dollars.

* * *

To shrink room sizes for the sake of luxury gadgets is false economy when you are building a house. Bedrooms, for example, may cost around $7 or $8 per square foot to build.

Bathrooms, on the other hand, may cost $30 per square foot—but they are necessary. To cut room sizes not only cuts your own comfort and convenience, but seriously detracts from the desirability of your house for others.

Mortgage lenders—the men who make it possible for us to buy a house on monthly payments—are becoming highly concerned with good design. They have learned from experience that poorly planned homes have little resale value — undermining the security of the loans they make on such houses.

* * *

The United States Savings and Loan League, for example, considers design so important that it has published a guide on the subject for its members in which it extolls such features as shown in this plan.

Extra economies are available to you when you build this house. Several alternatives are possible if your budget is pinched. These involve no compromises in room layout or exterior appeal. Here are some of them:

1. You can build without a basement—an item of at least $1,000 for this size house. Crawl space or slab construction is successful today in any location.

2. You can skip building the carporch and leave that for a future addition. This may shave $600 or more depending on local costs—although it may cost more to add it after the house is built.

* * *

3. You can have a prefabricated fireplace in the living room at the time you build, or later. Fire-safe prefabricated chimneys are easy to install and much cheaper than masonry.

4. If you want to enlarge the house in order to have a dining room in addition to a family room, the carporch can be brought forward to make space for the family room and still the total width of the house is unchanged; the original lot remains big enough.

* * *

Flexibility in a basic plan is a distinct advantage when a family grows, especially when no preliminary outlay is required, such as the construction cost of an expansion attic. Future improvements are being made easier under modern financing arrangements like the open-end mortgage, which lets you reborrow some of the funds you have paid off.

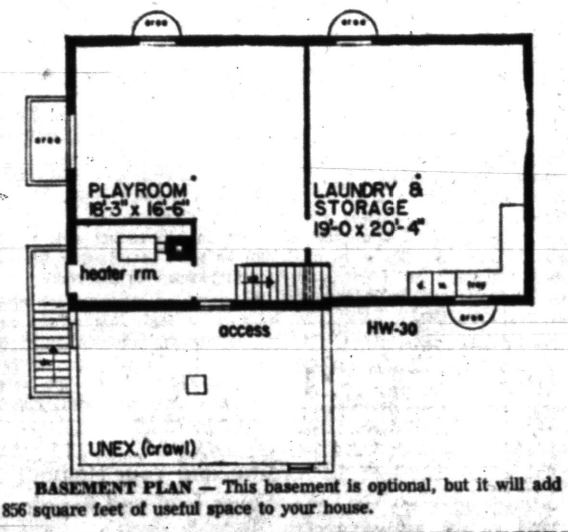

You'd be proud of this house in any setting. Samuel Paul, the architect, suggests vertical siding all around with an accent of brick veneer on the front of the kitchen. A brick planter is brought out at the left of the entrance walk and a stone planter is envisioned alongside the carporch.

No basement is needed for Design HW-30. It is optional. The space occupied by the stairs is adequate for a complete heater or air conditioning room with the chimney relocated, exchanging places with the linen closet.

The storage room behind the carport can be enlarged to suit individual family needs.

* * *

Asphalt shingles are specified for the roof and these can be had in any color preferred. In addition to the standard dark grays, blues, reds and greens, these shingles are now made in light pastel shades and white. A light roof is cooler in summer—a black roof warmer in winter.

BASEMENT PLAN — This basement is optional, but it will add 856 square feet of useful space to your house.

Use Them; Don't Decorate Them

Brick, Stone Fireplaces Should Hold No Planter

CHICAGO (INS)—The brick or stone fireplace in a modern home should be draped as fully as a window wall to be stylish.

And whether the climate is hot or cold, the interior of the fireplace should look like a fireplace. In other words, substituting a planter for flames, logs and grates is out of vogue.

This report comes from Robert Mowat, who, as vice president of a firm that specializes in fireplace equipment, works with decorators in outfitting hearths to blend with the latest trends in decor. He said:

"Decorators are getting back to letting a fireplace look like one instead of using it as a hideaway for a planter."

The most important accessory for modern fireplaces, he added, is "a double - drape steel mesh screen" for the fire opening, to soften the ceiling-to-wall effect of rough brick or stone.

Mowat said decorators usually choose black screens for ultra modern or colonial style fireplaces.

But for modern, they are eliminating andirons and using copper or pewter metal trims. Brass is still the top-favored trim for colonial models, he said.

Nobody yet has figured out what to put above the fire opening on a modern stone or brick fireplace wall, asserted Mowat. But generally, decorators advise leaving the whole area alone except for necessary tools.

Mowat said marble fireplaces in many colors — white, black, pink and golden—are enjoying a revival for the first time in years. The rosy marble ones are going into bedrooms and the others into living areas. He said:

"Generally they are reminiscent of old southern mansions or the Louis period in France."

He emphasized the period fireplaces "are for a decidedly decorative theme of fine French furniture or other period settings—no one is trying to combine them with contemporary furniture."

Investigate Heat for Extra Room

"I want to change my breezeway into a room. Can I heat it with my present boiler?"

This is a question which many householders are asking in these days of expanding families when they are under pressure for additional living space.

Sometimes the question is phrased differently and the owner wants to know if the existing heating system is adequate to take care of one or two rooms in the attic or if heat can be supplied for a basement recreation room.

The exact answer cannot be provided without a survey of the house and its present heating equipment. This can be done by a heating and piping contractor and such service is usually provided without cost or obligation.

Fortunately in most cases existing boilers are adequate to carry one or two additional rooms. Most boilers have reserve capacity that can be utilized.

* * *

If no reserve capacity is available, other expedients may suggest themselves to the contractor making the survey. He may recommend insulation to prevent heat loss and thus enable the boiler to take care of the additional load.

Another possibility is better thermostatic control or zoning of the heating system to provide for lower temperatures in some parts of the house with the result that the existing boiler can take on more work.

Aluminum Strip Solves Problem of Nails, Siding

In a new home, exterior appearance is as important as low upkeep.

Since nail heads have been a problem on exterior siding for an age, some alert engineers have come up with a siding that is held to the framework on vented aluminum strips. These strips are nailed, but no nails go into the siding itself.

As a result of this innovation, nail heads in Masonite Shadowvent siding cannot "pop," they can't "freckle" and they can't rust. They're in hiding, doing their duty by remote control.

This revolutionary siding is newsy from other standpoints, too. The mounting strips are vented in order to ventilate the interior of the wall and prevent condensation of the moisture. It is factory-primed, assuring a quick, beautiful finish coat that goes on easily in an economical amount.

Shadowvent siding comes in a popular width, 12".

Comparative tests have demonstrated that this siding costs less to install than many conventional sidings which have few of its advantages. There is a longer period between repaint jobs, too. Shadowvent is handled by lumber dealers.

Wood Again in 1957

Inauguration stands in the vicinity of the White House will be built of wood again in 1957. District of Columbia officials have turned down proposals that steel stands be erected in the White House area. The reason: they would cost too much. Much of the cost of the wooden stands will be recovered by resale of the lumber used. Wooden bleachers also will be located along the Inaugural Parade route.

The natives of India were using shellac to protect the surfaces of their temples and homes long before Julius Ceasar and his legions started tramping around Gaul.

Consider Red Cedar When Lining Closet

When remodeling time comes, and cedar closets in the bedrooms are part of the plan, consider using red cedar for wainscoting in the bedrooms to carry out the closet decor.

* * *

Tongued - and - grooved aromatic red cedar closet lining is easy to work with and has lasting qualities rarely equalled by other woods. It is impervious to rot and does not shrink or warp.

Cedar used to line a closet should not be finished, since paint or varnish seals in the moth-repelling cedar aroma. When used as wainscoting, however, cedar may be finished with clear varnish or shellac. The rich, rose-colored wood will add warmth to the decor of any bedroom, and will remain beautiful for years.

Public Hearing of Parole Board

Terms of Three Lifers Up for Consideration on Thursday

LANSING (AP)—The State Parole Board will hold public hearings Thursday on the release of three men now serving life terms at the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson.

Hearings will be held on the parole of Harry Lanway of Saginaw, John White of Detroit, and John Micalizzi, also of Detroit.

* * *

Lanway, 60, was sentenced to a life term as a habitual criminal by a Saginaw County Court in 1933. His record includes convictions for larceny and assault with intent to kill.

The board said Lanway's adjustment in prison has been "satisfactory" and he has maintained a clear conduct record for the past decade.

White, 49, drew a life sentence for statutory rape in Detroit in 1934. His victim was his 14-year-old sister-in-law.

Micalizzi, 69, is serving a life sentence for first degree murder. He was convicted by a Wayne County Court in 1924 as the driver of a get-away car in a street shooting.

If released, Micalizzi will live with a brother in Rochester, N. Y.

Bond Purchases Gain

DETROIT (AP) — Michiganders bought 22.3 million dollars of Series E savings bonds in November, an increase of 2.2 per cent over November a year ago, according to the state bond director, Delmar V. Cota.

Hospital Association Appeals to State

LANSING (INS)—Michigan Hospital Association has appealed to the state for adequate legislative help to care for crippled and afflicted children.

* * *

Glen Fausey, chairman of the M H A Legislative Committee, has announced the passage of a resolution which "should dramatize the inadequacy of our present aid program."

* * *

He said studies proved it takes an average of $25 to $30 per day to care for afflicted and crippled children while the state provides only a maximum rate of $19 per day.

* * *

He reported that over 13,000 children were hospitalized last year requiring more than 136,000 patient days of care.

Cards Warned by NFL Commissioner

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals were doing a slow burn today but they said they will abide by Commissioner Bert Bell's ruling forbidding them from criticizing the officiating in their 10-3 loss to the Chicago Bears.

* * *

The Cardinals were prepared to run films of the Dec. 9 game on public television and point out "23 rules infractions by the Bears" which the Cardinals contend were not called by officials.

Bell, however, informed the Cardinals yesterday they would be subject to a fine and suspension from the National Football League if they showed the film.

Walter Wolfner, managing director of the Cardinals, said "Commissioner Bell and Bear owner George Halas don't want the public to see the known facts."

Bell told the Cardinals they could show the film but they couldn't make reruns or show stills.

* * *

"It is impossible," said Wolfner, "to show infractions without stills and reruns. Although the Bears were allowed to show their film with stills and comments, the commissioner now gives specific orders that if we show the film we are subject to a fine and suspension.

"We were penalized nine times during the course of the game," said Wolfner, "two resulting in calling back touchdown runs of 65 and 83 yards by Ollie Matson.

"We have positive proof from the pictures that we are 100 per cent correct in our claim that the 23 rules infractions by the Bears, not called, are not judgment plays but rules violations.

* * *

"These were pointed out to Commissioner Bell when the Card-Bear film was run by Assistant Coach Chuck Drulis at a private showing in Bell's home.

"Why the commissioner has one set of rules for one club and the same rules not for another club, we don't know but we intend to find out and make the same public."

At Philadelphia, Bell maintained the 23 cases were judgment plays. He quoted Article 8, Item 14, of the NFL Constitution that it is "detrimental" to the league "to publicly criticize any member of the league, any club, its managers, its players . . . or any person who is an official in the league."

* * *

Bell said the reason the Bears were allowed to comment on the film was that they had nothing but praise for the officials.

Bell said an infraction of Article 8 could result in suspension, a $2,000 fine and cancellation of a team's contract to play in the league.

When informed of Wolfner's charges, Halas said, "There is one set of rules for all the clubs and Commissioner Bell interprets them impartially."

* * *

Halas, who also referred to Article 8, said, "When Mr. Wolfner attacked the judgment of the officials handling the Bears-Cardinals game, the Bears made available to the public movies of the disputed plays which conclusively demonstrated the officials were correct."

Brennan Plans Secret Drills

Will Close Gates on East's Workouts for Shrine Grid Event

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Terry Brennan, the Notre Dame coach who has charge of the East squad for the Dec. 29 Shrine football game, says he will padlock gates next week for secret practices.

* * *

The team will go off the two-practices-a-day standard tomorrow.

* * *

"I'm satisfied with the progress of the boys," said the Notre Dame coach.

* * *

Paul Hornung, Notre Dame quarterback on the East squad, said he had been contacted yesterday by a representative of the Vancouver club in the Canadian Football League. He said he had not signed anything.

* * *

The West team also planned secret sessions, after Sunday morning's practice.

Lochmoor Will Hold Women's Open Event

DETROIT (AP) — The 1957 Women's Wolverine Open golf tournament will be played at the Lochmoor Club in Suburban Grosse Pointe Woods.

The site was announced today. The 72 hole, $7,500 event will be played July 25-28.

Hard Drills for Beavers; Iowa Avoids Rough Work

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Oregon State College's workouts for the Rose Bowl game against Iowa are in full swing and the Beavers, under the watchful eye of Coach Tommy Prothro, are beginning to look like the hardest working team ever to play in the Jan. 1 contest.

* * *

Prothro is driving his players hard. The players are engaging in twice-a-day scrimmages of the belting, rock-and-roll type. Three players have been cracked up by the hard going, all of them reserves. But apparently the OSC coaching staff wants to get the players razor sharp within the next few days and hold it. Oregon State has two drills scheduled today and two Sunday.

The all-out effort was a change of Prothro's announced plans. Only a day ago he and Evashevski both pleaded that a lack of reserve strength would force them to avoid heavy workouts.

Iowa will skip Sunday drills over in East Los Angeles. Coach Forest Evashevski says he has been holding controlled scrimmages and would like to have one all-out, "but to tell the truth, we aren't ready for that kind just yet and I don't want to risk injuries. We do have to sharpen up."

The Iowa controlled scrimmage activates only one side of the line in order to lessen pursuit.

* * *

On the Oregon State side, vigorous workouts have injured Terry Salisbury, a tackle, who hurt his shoulder; Chuck Reich, left end, knee injury on a blind block, and Carl Maxwell, another lineman, ankle sprain, resulting from being knocked off his feet.

The Beavers, reports from their quarters indicate, are in full agreement with the coaches that they need a double scrimmage session Sunday. It will take place at Spaulding Field, on the UCLA campus, where Prothro once was an assistant coach.

* * *

Iowa's Evashevski says his boys make their own rules on conditioning.

"Before we came out here they voted on an 11 o'clock curfew. When we have our sprints I leave it up to them how much they need to run. I feel they know better about their condition than I do. That's how it is with us—it's the kids, not the coaches."

Largest Golden Gloves Tourney Seen

DETROIT (INS) — The largest number of amateur boxers to compete in a Detroit-area Golden Gloves tournament since World War II is expected to participate in the tournament next year.

* * *

This became evident after it was announced last week that the various groups interested in amateur boxing have joined forces to stage the 17th annual tournament sponsored by the sports guild.

Monroe was the first to announce that its team would enter the Detroit tournament. In the past few years, the Monroe squad competed in the Toledo tournament.

Then, two Windsor clubs informed tournament director Frank Connolly that they would have at least a score of entries. Ontario squads have rarely participated in the past.

* * *

Many other queries have been received from other cities and towns in Michigan and Southeastern Ontario to determine if they are eligible for the Detroit tournament.

Meanwhile, Detroit coaches report that interest in the sport is now at its highest peak in years and that many fighters who had not planned to compete this year are now back in training.

Entry blanks are available at Golden Gloves headquarters (350 Michigan) in Detroit. Entries will close at Midnight, Saturday, Jan. 5.

The first elimination bouts to determine Michigan's AAU champions will cover a 13-week period of televised shows over CKLW-TV. Other elimination bouts will be staged in neighborhood clubs if entries warrant.

* * *

The Golden Gloves finals will be held at the state fair coliseum in Detroit on Wednesday, Feb. 20. The AAU finals will be announced later.

Lone NFL Game

Colts-Redskins Tangle

BALTIMORE (AP)—The coaching future of Baltimore's Weeb Ewbank will be hanging in the balance when the Colts entertain the Washington Redskins tomorrow in the final game of the National Football League season.

* * *

The game has no bearing on the league championship, which will be decided in New York Dec. 30, with the Giants playing the Chicago Bears.

But with Ewbank reportedly in a precarious position and with the Redskins needing a victory to earn a share of second place money in the Eastern Conference, the "neighborhood" rivals should provide lots of action for the largest television network in the league's history.

* * *

The Colts have a 4-7 record in the Western Conference and there have been reports Ewbank is on his way out. Carroll Rosenbloom, principal owner of the Colts, has promised to announce his decision about next year's coach after the season ends.

Rosenbloom said the results of the late season game will have no bearing in his decision. The Colts have dropped their last three in a row.

Washington, in contention for the Eastern title until last week, needs a victory to tie the Chicago Cardinals for second place and a share of runner-up money.

The game will be elevised nationally, CBS, over 188 stations, beginning at 2 p.m., EST.

The game was originally scheduled for mid-season, but was postponed because it violated a Naval Academy contract with the Baltimore Park Board which said no game could be played in Memorial Stadium the day following a Navy game.

Rangers Score Win at Chicago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Rangers have opened a four point gap in the "second half" of the National Hockey League standings.

* * *

With Larry Popein, Harry Howell and Guy Gendron doing the scoring, the Rangers edged the Chicago Black Hawks 3-2 last night in the circuit's only game.

The triumph enabled the fourth-place Rangers to gain ground on fifth-place Toronto. New York has 27 points, the Maple Leafs 23 and the hapless Hawks 14. Boston leads with 40 points, three more than Detroit and Montreal, who are tied for the runnerup spot.

The Rangers grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first period only to have Nick Mickoski, a former Blueshirt, tie it up for the Hawks. Harry Howell again put New York in front before the end of the first session and Gendron made it 3-1 with a breakaway in the second. Mickoski's second goal with five minutes left in the game only served to close the gap.

National Ring Body Backs Fight Fix Quiz

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—The National Boxing Assn. says it will back Texas and California in their investigation of the alleged Texas fight fix attempt and will suspend the two fighters involved for the same length of time that Texas has.

NBA Commissioner Abe J. Greene said yesterday that the NBA would hand out 30-day to three month suspensions to Art Aragon and Dick Goldstein, California welterweights.

The pair were scheduled to fight in San Antonio but Aragon said he was sick. Goldstein alleged his opponent offered him money to lose the bout.

Cager's 54 Is Season High

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Real quick now, who has scored the most points in a single major college basketball game this season?

Wilt The Stilt? Nope. It's South Carolina's Grady Wallace, a "dinky" 6-4 guy who had the time of his life in a two-night trip through Georgia.

Wallace, a senior forward from Mare Creek, Ky., bagged 54 points as the Gamecocks rapped Georgia 96-81. He had scored 37 in a 90-83 decision over Georgia Tech the night before and his 54 topped the previous season high set by Wilt Chamberlain with 52 against Northwestern in top-ranked Kansas's schedule opener.

Elsewhere among the ranked powers, North Carolina, No. 3, made it 7-0 with an 89-61 decision over Dartmouth as Len Rosenbluth canned 30 points for an all-time Tarheel scoring record. And San Francisco, rated No. 2 off its 60-game winning streak which was officially ended by Illinois Monday, stopped a three-game slump with a 56-53 victory over little Washington of St. Louis.

South Carolina had things under control all the way at Georgia, hitting 38 of its 78 field shots. Wallace, who led the Gamecocks in virtually every offensive phase last season, bettered his own South Carolina records with his point total and his 20 field goals.

* * *

North Carolina led 35-28 at the intermission, then outscored Dartmouth 20-7 in the next 8 minutes to put it away. Rosenbluth, held to one field goal and nine points the night before by NYU, hit nine from the field to run his two-season-plus point total to 1,333. The old Tarheel mark of 1,322 was held by Al Lifson, who did it in four seasons.

* * *

The game was part of the Boston Holiday "tournament", which knows no champ. North Carolina tonight plays Holy Cross, which was smothered 95-66 by Syracuse. The fast-breaking Orange, first ever to hit as many as 95 points against the Crusaders, will play Dartmouth tonight.

* * *

In the Cincinnati Invitational, Connie Dierking, a 6-9 center, scored 26 points as Cincinnati beat George Washington 88-68. Cincy now meets Fordham, which swamped Miami (Ohio) 67-60 on a second half drive and Jim Cunningham's 31 points, for the title tonight.

Tiger's School Feb. 20th

DETROIT (INS) — Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, Detroit Tigers general manager, announced today that baseball training will begin early in 1957 with the Tigers holding an instructional school similar to one held earlier this year at Tigertown in Lakeland, Fla.

* * *

Briggs said the school will be opened Feb. 20 with players asked to report one day earlier, and will close March 7.

The Tiger official said:

"The success of our two-week school last spring warranted its continuance again in 1957."

Briggs has designated John McHale, director of player personnel, and farm director Jim Campbell to make all arrangements.

* * *

McHale indicated that the staff would include Tiger manager Jack Tighe, coaches Billy Hitchcock, Willis Hudlin and Don Lund; minor league manager Frank Skaff, Johnny Pesky and Bill Adair, and scouts Rick Ferrell, Ed Katalinas, Bill Norman, Bernie DeViveiros, Schoolboy Rowe and Pat Mullin.

Nine Tourneys for Lady Pros

Sea Island Open 1st Test in $43,500 Tour Starting Jan. 11

EVANSTON, Ill. (INS)—Professional golfers will play nine winter tournaments with prize money totaling a record-breaking $43,500.

The Ladies' Professional Golf Association announced the schedule yesterday.

The women pros start off their 1957 links warfare with the $5,000 Sea Island, Ga., Invitational Open Jan. 11-13.

Other tourneys slated are:

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 17-20; Lake Worth, Fla., Jan. 25-27; Havana, Cuba, Feb. 1-3; Serbin Invitational, Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 9-10; St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 14-17; Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 22-24; Jacksonville, Fla., March 1-4; Titleholders, Augusta, Ga., March 13-16.

All the tournaments offer prize money of $5,000 except the Servin which totals $3,500.

Kentucky Five Meets Illinois

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Fresh from a win over the nation's No. 4 basketball club, Kentucky tangles with fifth-ranked Illinois tonight for the title in Kentucky's invitational tournament.

Kentucky, No. 7 nationally, unleashed a great comeback to beat Southern Methodist 73-67 after Illinois had trounced defending champ Dayton 82-65 in last night's opening round.

Southern Methodist meets Dayton for third place in tonight's first game at 7:30 CST.

Lucky George Favored

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Despite his top impost of 122 pounds, the winner of the DeSoto County Handicap—Lucky George—ruled a favorite today in Tropical Park's $10,000 added Dade County Handicap at six furlongs.

FRIDAY'S FIGHTS

NEW YORK (Madison Square Garden) —Gaspar Ortega, 148, Tiajuana, Mexico, outpointed Tony DeMarco, 146½, Boston, 10.

SAO PAULO, Brazil—Martiniano Pergyra, Argentina, stopped Paulo De Jesus, Brazil, 3. (For South American welterweight title).

Fight Manager Taken in Raid

DETROIT (INS) — Vice squad detectives who cracked a two million dollar a year Detroit gambling syndicate held a boxing manager and former fight promoter today as kingpin of the operation.

Police said Arthur W. Finks, manager of boxer Duke Harris and former promoter at the Motor City arena, was among 19 persons arrested in a series of raids late yesterday.

Some 37 detectives confiscated 10 automobiles, 10,000 bet slips, three electric adding machines and other gambling equipment in the lightning-like raids.

Finks' wife, Oneida, 38, was also arrested.

Inspector Clayton Nowlin said the syndicate has been operating for about two years and did a recent $6,000-a-day business.

At police headquarters, Finks munched on a hamburger sandwich during questioning. He denied being the kingpin of the group.

No Snow for the Skiers

ALL OUTDOORS, Mich. (INS) — It's a good thing Santa Claus does not need fresh snow to make his rounds or kiddies in Michigan would be very sad.

They would be just as unhappy as ski fans, most of whom are spending this week-end trimming the Christmas tree and polishing their equipment.

Ski facilities around the state reported only "fair or doubtful" conditions.

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Parks boast improved winter sports facilities and await only an extended cold spell to make things complete.

A new warming shelter has been constructed at Kensington Metropolitan Park near the ski and toboggan slopes. A similar shelter is also provided near Kent Lake for skaters.

Division Ahead in PTTA Loop

Competitive spirit was high and teams were well-matched in this week's play in the Pontiac Table Tennis League. First position round was on the agenda.

League-leading Pontiac Varnish defeated runner-up L. H. Cole Oil, 4-2, and Pankey's Grill shut out General Conveyor, 6-0. In other matches, Fleet Carrier tripped Bethany Baptist, 4-2, and Frayer's downed Moote Electric, 5-1.

Men's doubles competition provided the evening's best match. Carl Knasch and Dale Wheeler defeated Dick Kuhn and L. H. Cole, 21-19, 19-21, 22-20.

The league will be split into two divisions — the top five teams and the lower five — for the remainder of the season. It is hoped that the division will furnish better competition and tend to balance the league.

'M'-MSU Skaters Beaten

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., (AP) — Colorado College punctured Michigan State defenses at will last night to score an easy 8-2 Western Intercollegiate Hockey League win.

Eight CC men scored as the Tigers notched their 3rd straight league victory. The loss was the Spartans' 4th in five games.

The two clubs meet here again tonight.

* * *

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Denver scored with a little more than a minute gone in the first period to springboard to a 4-3 Western Intercollegiate Hockey League triumph over Michigan last night.

Wing Blair Livingstone's goal sparked Denver to its second league victory in three starts. It was the third straight loop loss for the Wolverines, who dropped two to Colorsdo College earlier in the week.

Ortega Wants Crack at Title

NEW YORK (AP)—On the strength of two victories over ex-champ Tony DeMarco, who is ranked 1-2 among the welterweight challengers, Mexico's Gaspar Ortega wants a title shot at the winner of the Jan. 18 match at Cleveland between Carmen Basilio and Johnny Saxton.

* * *

"We want Basilio—or Saxton if he beats him—and nobody else," said Manager Jimmy Stimson last night after Ortega had won his second split decision over DeMarco. "We beat the top contender, now we want the champion."

* * *

DeMarco was rated No. 1 behind Basilio in the latest National Boxing Assn. rankings and No. 2 in Ring Magazine. Ortega was No. 4 in both rating systems.

* * *

The pre-holiday scrap, witnessed by about 2,500 fans paying about $6,000, was a gruelling battle all through the 10 rounds, one of the best fights of the year in Madison Square Garden.

Pancho Blocks Rosewall

LOS ANGELES (INS)—The Los Angeles Examiner reported today that Australia's Ken Rosewall has tentatively accepted promoter Jack Kramer's offer of $50,000 for a professional tennis tour next season, but that Richard (Pancho) Gonzales is trying to block the deal.

Kramer currently is in Australia trying to line up both Rosewall and Australia's No. 1 player, Lewis Hoad.

The latter reportedly has rebuffed the promoter's approaches even though Kramer has dangled $75,000 in front of him.

The Examiner said that Gonzales telephoned Kramer and pleaded with him not to do anything about Rosewall for another year.

* * *

The No. 1 pro reportedly told Kramer that he, Gonzales, "could blow Rosewall off the court" and that their series would "make an unattractive draw."

Gonzales argued that Kramer should wait to see whether Rosewall improves this year, and then sign him next year if he does, or try again to get Hoad next year.

Pancho was critical of his lopsided series with Tony Trabert this year and he contended that it would be the same with Rosewall.

Refugees See First Cage Tilt at N. Y. Benefit

NEW YORK (INS) — Four Hungarian refugees were treated tonight to their first American basketball game at New York's Hunter College.

Proceeds of the game—which saw Hunter edge Queens College, 76-65—were donated to the Hungarian refugee relief fund.

Jack D. Begelman, Hunter's athletic director, announced that close to $500 was raised for the fund through student admission tickets, selling at one dollar each.

The Hungarians—brought to Hunter gym by one of the students—appeared to enjoy viewing the game.

Chiefs Add 4th Win After Shaky Start

By H. GUY MOATS

DEARBORN—Unbeaten Pontiac High School basketball Chiefs achieved their 4th straight victory last night with a 49-37 foray into the bright new Edsel Ford fieldhouse. But for the better part of three periods Coach Art Van Rysin's quintet wasn't so sure it was going to chalk up that much-desired victory.

While Pontiac was having its difficulties with the Dearborn crew, its arch-rival Flint Northern took a surprising beating 64-62 at the hands of Eastern Michigan League member Port Huron. Big Reds nailed the Vikings in overtime after knotting the count at 60-all. And in another non-SVC encounter Arthur Hill battered Bay City Handy 66-49. Northern is the defending SVC titlist and faces Chiefs in Pontiac on Jan. 11.

The surprisingly strong Thunderbirds tore into Chiefs at the beginning of the tilt. After George Sarkozy flipped in a lay-up seconds after the start, they proceeded to take a 12-6 first period lead. Ed Kotlarczyk's team, led by center Bill Knipp, kept this edge until less than two minutes from halftime, when Larry Peet's gift shot put PHS in front 22-21.

* * *

Chiefs generally had trouble hitting the hoops, and only the shooting of Dave Diehm pulled them into contention and finally clinched the win. Dave connected only once in the first period. In the 2nd session he dumped in three fast buckets, added four more in the 3rd, plus another three in the finale to wind up top scorer with 24. In four games Dave has compiled a total of 77 points, a respectable 19 plus average.

Midway the final period Chiefs held a 44-33 edge, then banged in the balance of their night's total to provide the widest separation between the scores, 49-33. But Sarkozy and Denny Berry sneaked in a pair of quickies to whittle it back to only 12.

* * *

Van Ryzin used all of his squad, sending in almost an entire substitute five in the final minutes.

While big Hudson (Goose) Ray got 11 points, he had only two baskets. Dick Whitmer did a good job helping Ray on the boards and contributed five goals, mostly from the outside. Center Bill Knipp was Thunderbirds' ace with 17 points, nine of them from the foul line.

Chiefs will be idle now until Jan. 4, when they travel to Bay City Central to resume the Valley campaign.

A goodly group of PHS fans went along to lend vocal support and the school's cheerleaders were also on hand.

In a preliminary Little Chiefs walloped the junior Thunderbirds 42-38 in a tight battle. Harrison Munson continued his spectacular scoring streak with a 26-point effort.

* * *

Port Huron won its 3rd straight over the Northern Vikings when Ken Martin and Rich Robins sunk overtime field goals. Al Miller got one for Northern. Martin hit for 28 points as top scorer.

Clarkston, Holly Win W-O Squeakers

Dogfights dominated the Wayne-Oakland Conference basketball picture last night as Clarkston and Holly high schools won squeakers.

Clarkston nipped Clarenceville, 60-59, on little Leroy Parks' free throw in the last 17 seconds of play. Holly eked out a 59-57 triumph over Milford when big George McDaniel popped in two foul shots with 20 seconds remaining.

Meanwhile, undefeated Northville continued unabated in its drive for the Wayne-Oakland title by coming from behind to crush invading Brighton, 82-67.

* * *

The Clarkston-Clarenceville struggle at Clarkston was a thriller all the way with never more than four points separating the two teams. The Wolves led at halftime, 37-35.

Parks, Clarkston's hero for the evening with his last-ditch charity toss, topped the Wolves with 19 points while teammate George Lang contributed 17. Dale Devitt collected 19 points to lead the Trojans.

Milford blew a 21-11 1st quarter advantage in its loss to Holly. The Redskins still were in front at halftime, 34-27, but the visiting Broncos overtook them going into the final period.

The Redskins tied the score twice, 55-all and 57-all, in the 4th stanza before McDaniel settled the argument.

Milford's Bill Kelley took scoring honors with 17 points. Bill Taylor meshed 16 for Holly.

Northville rallied in the 2nd half to rout Brighton after trailing at intermission, 40-38. The Mustangs' five starters accounted for all of their points and each player hit double figures.

* * *

Jeff Goodrich piled up 25 points to pace the Northville attack. Brighton's Brian Watson grabbed scoring laurels, however, with 26 points.

West Bloomfield Proves No Match for Rochester in Keego Harbor Tilt

Rochester's high-flying Falcons had too many guns for West Bloomfield last night as the Lakers went down to their 4th straight defeat, 71-48, at Keego Harbor.

The Falcons soared into a 32-16 halftime advantage and coasted to their 3rd victory in four tries. A four-point deficit early in the game was the Laker's closest approach.

Sharp-shooting Dave Peters netted 11 goals and one foul shot for 23 points to spearhead the Rochester attack. Jim Van Nocker breathed hot on Peter's heels with 21 while Dave Eldred added 13.

Only four Lakers managed to break into the scoring column, led by big Rolf Gordhamer, 6-5 center. Gordhamer tallied 18 points. Ray LaPratt notched 14 and John Lucadam chipped in with 11.

West Bloomfield made 39 per cent of its field goal attempts, but tried only 51 shots from the floor.

It Was Flying So He Shot It — Good Fish

MANTEO, N.C. (AP) — It didn't look like a duck, but it was flying, and that was good enough for a Connecticut Yankee down South for a little shooting.

Charles A. Newton, Meriden, Conn., was on target yesterday when he fired from a duck blind in nearby Pamlico Sound. What he bagged was a five-pound roe mullet — mighty fine eating, if you like fish.

Newton and Charles Parker, also of Meriden, were hunting as guests of industrialist Stanley Wahab, Ocracoke, N.C. They had a bag of five geese and five ducks before unseasonably warm weather started the mullets jumping from the water.

1st Aluminum Bowl Pits Small Colleges

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Two small college football teams got their chance to show off before the nation today in the first annual Aluminum Bowl here.

At stake in the nationally televised, CBS, game between unbeaten Montana State of Bozeman, Mont., and St. Joseph's College of Rensselaer, Ind., was the small college national football championship.

Kickoff time for the contest, sponsored by the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics, was 1 p.m., CST. Pre-game crowd estimates ranged from 15,000 to 20,000.

Swimming, Basketball, on 'Y' Holiday Program

An extensive program of swimming and basketball has been arranged for the Pontiac YMCA, during the Christmas holidays. It is part of an overall Yuletide program that began Friday night with a Christmas party for all members and followed with a morning movie today.

* * *

A "neighborhood gang' basketball tourney will be conducted Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, after Christmas. The YMCA will be closed after 5 p.m. Christmas eve, over Christmas day.

Between 10 and 11 a.m. Monday girl members (9-14 years of age) of the "Y" will take part in a "penny plunge," diving for pennies scattered over the bottom of the swimming pool. They may keep what they recover. Plunge will be followed by a free swim.

For the boys in the same age group, there will be a "goldfish swim,' in which the swimmers will try to catch live goldfish, released in the pool. Successful swimmers will receive prizes, plus the fish they catch.

In both girls and boys events, high school pupils are ineligible, as well as non-members.

FREDS' MOUNTAIN — Here's St. Frederick's Big Bill Mountain going up for a layup. Mountain dropped in 29 points as the Rams defeated Royal Oak St. Mary, 85-75, last night. Tom Derocher had 27 for the Freds, who won their 3rd game in four starts.

St. Fred Outscores Irish in Shooting Orgy, 85-75

It was strictly offense in the St. Frederick gymnasium last night when the Rams outscored Royal Oak St. Mary's basketball team, 85-75.

Eight St. Fred cagers broke into the scoring column and half a dozen of the Irish did likewise as the two Suburban Catholic League teams went on a point - making orgy.

There were eight players credited with double figures in the record book, five of them, oddly enough, for the losers.

Big Bill Mountain and Tom Derocher made the difference for the Rams. The 6-2 Mountain collected 12 field goals and five free throws for 29 points and Derocher combined 9 and 9 for 27. Sophomore Dick Nickerson helped out with 10. Ted Asheakie led the Royal Oak attack with 17 points.

St. Mary held an 8-3 lead early in the 1st quarter, but the Rams caught and passed the Irish entering the 2nd period, 22-17. Their halftime advantage increased to 42-32 and they were in command the rest of the way.

The victory was St. Fred's 3rd of the season against one defeat.

* * *

Phil Beiri tallied 14 points and Gary Dirker scored 12 as the Ram reserves trimmed the Irish, 56-37 in the preliminary contest.

Mrs. Rigney Gets Control of Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — The balance of power in the Chicago White Sox baseball system will remain in the hands of a woman.

* * *

According to Mrs. Grace Reidy Comiskey's will, filed in Probate Court yesterday, control of the team goes to a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy C. Rigney, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Mrs. Comiskey, president of the club since 1941, died Dec. 10 and named Mrs. Rigney executor of the will. By virtue of a specific bequest, Mrs. Rigney received 500 shares of stock which Roy Egan, the team's legal advisor said "is a personal, confidential family matter."

The rest of Mrs. Comiskey's 3,652 shares were divided equally between Charles, an only son, and Mrs. Rigney.

When the 31-year-old Chuck becomes 35, he will hold 3,475 shares while his sister now has 3,975 of the 7,540 total.

Head Injury Sends Fighter to Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Fisher, a young Philadelphia welterweight was in St. Clare's Hospital in "fair" condition today after losing a six-round preliminary bout to Rudy Gwin of Cleveland last night at Madison Square Garden.

Fisher dropped Gwin in the first round but was knocked down in the third and took a beating the rest of the way. He had to be helped from the ring and was carried to his dressing room.

Dr. Alexander Schiff of the New York State Athletic Commission reported the boxer suffered a slight concussion and would be held for observation for 72 hours.

Powerful Imlay City rode roughshod over Oxford and Ortonville was humbled by defending champion North Branch in South Central Conference basketball games last night.

Oxford was trampled by the unbeaten Spartans, 70-41, on the Oxford court. North Branch breezed to a 73-50 victory over the visiting Blackhawks.

The winless Wildcats were no match for Imlay. The Spartans, headed by Larry Dorow's 22 points, were always in complete command as they chalked up league win No. 2. Bill Noles led Oxford with 15 points.

With Jim O'Neill and John Ribner sparking the attack, North Branch took firm control of Ortonville. O'Neill and Ribner scored 26 and 23 points respectively. Ortonville's Bob Hutchings won scoring honors with 27 points.

Colt Boss Approves

NFL Union Gets Support

BALTIMORE (AP)—Carroll Rosenbloom, one of the more liberal-minded of the club owners in the National Football League, has upheld the players' rights to discuss a union in New York, Dec. 28-30.

* * *

Rosenbloom, principal owner of the Colts, approved his team's plan to send veteran Bill Pellington to the meeting as its representative.

"I told them to go up there with an open mind," Rosenbloom said he told the players at a meeting yesterday.

"I have never been one to hesitate when I could better myself," he said. "If they think joining a players' union will help them then they should join it.

* * *

"The players told me they were satisfied here. That they had no complaints. But they are afraid things wouldn't be as good somewhere else in the event they were traded."

Creighton Miller, Cleveland attorney and former Notre Dame halfback, has called the meeting. He would organize the NFL players into a union patterned after the professional baseball group.

Rosenbloom's acceptance of the Colts' decision is in direct contrast to that of George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins. He labeled the idea "the most ridiculous thing I have ever heard. It doesn't make any sense."

* * *

For the past three seasons, Rosenbloom has given the Colts year-end bonuses, the top being a $1,000 cut. No bonus has been paid this year as yet. The Colts play the Redskins in the season finale tomorrow.

Crescent Hills, Lakeland Groups Slate Services

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Among congregations making Christmas at Sunday morning services are those of the Crescent Hills Baptist Church and the Lakeland United Presbyterian Church.

The Crescent Hills Baptists, meeting in the John Monteith school on Crescent Lake road, will see a Christmas program at 11 a.m., and join in worship service at 10 a.m.

Features of the Christmas program will be Christmas Carols by the congregation, and Kindergarden children singing "Silent Night." All children will receive candy at the close of the service.

Three services are set at the Lakeland church.

The Sunday School program will worship, at 10:45.

A musical sermon will be presented by the choir and pastor.

An illustrated carol-sing during the 7:30 p.m. service will be presented by candle light. The Junior Choir of thirty voices will sing.

BROTHER EAGLES — Rochester Explorer Scouts Robert Milne and his brother, David Milne Jr. both won their Eagle Scout badges at an honors ceremony of Rochester Explorer Post 138 this week. They're holding the brized badge, presented by their father, David Milne, who is the post advisor. The Milnes live at 1201 Hattie Fox Rd.

Parachute Yule Trees to Men in Antarctica

White Christmas for Sure at 'Operation Deep Freeze'

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP) — The men of Operation Deep Freeze are trying hard to bring the spirit of Christmas to Antarctica — but the joys of home and family are half the world away.

Three thousand Americans will spend the holiday at a handful of tiny bases on the snow-topped continent and in ships battling the pack ice.

* * *

Cooks are beginning preparations for holiday dinners. Christmas trees brought all the way from Oregon have been put up. There will be religious services. The men don't have to dream about a white Christmas.

But the effort to create a homelike yuletide atmosphere has brought fresh realization to many of the great distance they are from home.

* * *

The largest group of men ashore at one station, numbering 240, will celebrate the day at this base.

Navy cook Harold D. Upton of Colorado Springs, Colo., is planning a main course of ham, with pumpkin pie for desert.

Two bearded Navy Seabees, David A. McCarthy of Somerville, Mass., and William L. Welch of Oil City, Pa., have built a manger in a corner of the quonset hut where Catholic chaplain Joseph C. Condit will conduct Christmas Eve services for all faiths.

* * *

Robert Barger, 18-year-old Civil Air Patrol cadet from Peoria, Ill., helped arrange New Zealand pine boughs and Oregon fir trees around the altar.

* * *

At the South Pole, cook Ray Spiers of Bowers Hill, Va., will serve steak to the two dozen Seabees building a base for American scientists in connection with the International Geophysical Year program. A Christmas tree was parachuted to the South Pole camp.

* * *

The menu will be a turkey dinner for five men at another isolated base at the foot of the mighty Queen Maud Mountains.

Other Americans at little America V and at Marie Byrd Land have decorated their air-dropped Christmas trees with ornaments. Chaplain Peter Bol of Arcadia, Calif., will hold Christmas services at Little America.

The remainder of the Americans will spend the holiday on 11 ships on the ice-choked seas ringing Antarctica.

Market Closings Vary, Most Open on Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock Exchanges throughout the United States will be closed Monday Dec. 24, and Christmas day Dec. 25. Banks and foreign exchange markets will remain open as usual on Monday.

The Chicago Board of Trade, New York Produce Exchange and cottonseed oil and soybean markets will open Monday for a half day. Other New York commodity markets will be closed.

Study for Faculty Set at Avondale

AVONDALE—A new in-service program of instruction in the social studies program has been opened up for teachers, Supt. Raymond Baker of Avondale High School says.

The program is to benefit teachers and set a definite goal in the social studies curriculum, under Wayne University sponsorship.

Two semester hours of credit will be given in graduate or undergraduate work, in three standard courses, in local school curriculum, methods and materials in inservice education in social studies, and local school curriculum planning.

Any teachers wishing to enroll may call Frances Ford at Avondale School at once.

Up With Big Business

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Russia is rapidly losing its small shops and factories in favor of large establishments. An industrial review published here said manufacturing industries with less than 500 workers which made up 93.1 per cent of the total in 1935 now covers only 27.6 per cent of Russian industry. But plants employing up to 10,000 workers jumped from 3.2 per cent to 22.6 and those with more than 10,000 from 3.2 to 13.7.

County Deaths

Rupen Derderian

WALLED LAKE — Service for Rupen Derderian, 58, who died in Traverse City today after a six year illness, will be at 1 p.m. Monday in Richardson Bird Funeral Home, with burial in Wixom Cemetery. He leaves a son, George, of Wixom. A member of the Greek Orthodox church he was a shoemaker, coming from Turkey.

Mrs. Clara May Newry

AUBURN HEIGHTS—Service for Clara May Newry, 2866 Leach Rd., who died at her home today, will be at 10:30 p.m. Monday at the Dudley H. Moore Funeral Home, with burial in White Chapel Cemetery.

A member of Pontiac Church of Christ and resident in the area for 34 years, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Alonzo Goforth of Auburn Heights, 16 great-grandchildren and six grandchildren.

Bobsled Course Lures Amateurs

Italian Olympic Run Features Training for Novices

An international pilot course for greenhorn bobsledders is the big attraction of the first post-Olympic season at Cortina in the Italian Dolomites.

Unlike the bobsled run for experts, the course for amateurs replaces the fast, icy surface with a covering of slow, powdery snow. This innovation will make Cortina the first and only place in Europe where the novice can learn the difficult art of bobsledding.

All the facilities of the ultra modern Ice Stadium, built for Olympic skating and hockey events of last year, will be available for "civilians" from December through March.

All in all, the American sportsman can reap the benefits of $5 million spent by the Italian Government to ready the resort for the 1956 Olympcs.

Cortina can be reached via Munich and the Brenner Pass or from Venice.

The human heart increases in size up to about 50 years of age, more pronounced in the male than the female.

Rock 'n' Roll Boon to Frustrated Kids?

CHICAGO (AP) — Rock 'n' roll music provides millions of teenagers with a means of expressing their inner urges, says an executive of American Music Conference.

John W. Fulton believes the rock 'n' roll craze may turn out to be a blessing for the younger set by direeting the tensions of growing up into harmless channels.

"Remember the 'Charleston' and the 'Lindy Hop' and the 'Black Bottom' " he asked. "They were crazes of other days and 99 per cent of the kids who went crazy over this music and the crooners have turned out to be good citizens."

ORDINANCE NO. 28

An Ordinance to protect the health and welfare of the people of the Township of Pontiac relating to disposition of rubbish and trash.

The Township of Pontiac Ordains:

Section 1. Definitions: The term rubbish as used in this Ordinance shall include any discarded articles of food, clothing, cans, receptacles, furniture, appliances, building materials, tires and parts of automobiles, trucks or machinery or other waste products.

Section 2. Nuisances. The storing, piling or maintaining of any rubbish, trash, building materials, old and unused automobiles, machines or parts thereof, on any public or private property in such a way as to encourage or be likely to encourage the breeding of rats or other rodents or in any other manner to be harmful to the health and well-being of the people of the Township or in such a manner as to be injurious to public morals, is hereby declared to be a public nuisance.

Section 3. Keeping of rubbish and trash. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to store, pile or keep, or to permit the storing, piling or keeping of any rubbish, trash, building materials, old and unused automobiles, machines or parts thereof, discarded articles of food, clothing, cans, furniture or appliances, on any private property in such a way as to encourage or be likely to encourage the breeding of rats or other rodents or in any other manner to be harmful to the health and well-being of the people of the Township or in such a manner as to be injurious to public morals.

Section 4. Penalty. Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be subject to a fine of not more than one hundred ($100.00) dollars or to imprisonment in the Oakland County Jail for a period of not more than ninety (90) days or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court.

Section 5. Effective Date. This Ordinance shall take effect thirty days after being published in The Pontiac Press. This Ordinance enacted by the Pontiac Township Board the 10th day of December, 1956.

In Memoriam 2

NELSON—In loving memory of our beloved wife and mother, Karin V., who passed away December 23, 1952, four years ago today:
Sleep on, dear mother, it has been four long years
Since you left our hearts filled with sadness and tears.
Yours was a heart so jolly and gay,
Scattering sunshine all along the way.
You know how we loved you, yes, love you yet,
Though God took you from us, we can never forget.
Where sweet flowers are ever blooming and banks are ever green;
The flowers we place upon your grave,
May wither and decay,
But love for you who sleeps beneath, will never fade away.
Time speeds on, four years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadow cast within our home.
Where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and ever will,
Her vacant place there is none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven, we will meet again.
Sadly missed by husband, Victor, and children, Victor A., Vern, and Doris E.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF HERbert St. John, who passed away 1 year ago today, Dec. 22, 1955.
Nothing can ever take away,
The love a heart holds dear,
Fod memories linger ever day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
Sadly missed by his family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF JAMES Burns who passed away December 22, 1951
You're not forgotten, father dear,
Nor ever shall you be;
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by daughter and son-in-law.

U. N. CHARMER—Adding Oriental grace and beauty to the United Nations scene in New York is Reiko Kase, daughter of Japan's U. N. Ambassador Toshikazu Kase. She wore this handsome silk brocade costume for the ceremonies admitting her country as the 80th U. N. member.

Delegates Head Home as Session Winds Up With No Decisions

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Weary U. N. delegates headed home today for a Christmas recess after arguing into the night on troubles in the Middle East and other unfinished business.

* * *

The latest round on the Middle East ended on an uncertain note when Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold announced that Israel planned a partial withdrawal from the Sinai Peninsula by Jan. 10, but that he could not say when all Israeli forces would be out of the area.

Hammarskjold spoke in reply to demands by Jordan and other Arab delegates as to how fast the Israelis were pulling out.

* * *

The Middle East dispute was revived when France brought fresh charges before the General Assembly that Egypt had mistreated and deported her nationals.

The Arabs quickly launched a full dress debate on the whole Middle Eastern situation.

Israel's Abba Eban added to the dispute by accusing Egypt of deporting Jews of various citizenship.

U. S. delegate James J. Wadsworth made an 11th hour attempt to softpedal the controversy. He called for an end to "this phase of the dispute." He added however, that the United States has nationals have been mistreated in Egypt.

* * *

The Assembly approved over Soviet bloc objections an appropriation of the first 10 million dollars to pay for the U. N. emergency force. The vote was 628 with 7 abstentions.

Nehru Visit 'Success,' Say Indian Officials

NEW DELHI (AP)—From India's capital, Prime Minister Nehru's trip to the United States today looked like a big success — both for him and his hosts.

* * *

There was general agreement here that Indian-American friendship were strengthened and that strains between New Delhi and Washington were repaired.

* * *

Some 30 members of the Indian parliament said they decided to establish an "Indo-U.S. friendship group" to consolidate gains of the Nehru-Eisenhower talks.

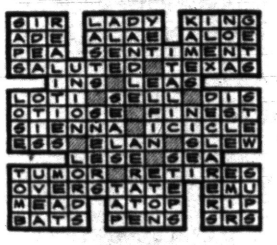

Almost all newspaper stories have given the Indian leader a picture of a U.S. government warmingly sympathetic toward India.

Warning by Chinese Given U. S. Taipei School

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Education Ministry has instructed the Taipei American School to limit its enrollment to Americans. Several hundred Chinese students have been attending the school.

The action followed an earlier warning that scholastic records of Chinese students in the school would not be recognized. The ministry said under the constitution all Chinese children must have six years of free compulsory education in Chinese public schools.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Young Will Add Comedy to Steve Allen's Program

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Steve Allen's show has sorely needed comedy and therefore we think the addition of Alan Young to Steve's show this Sunday is an inspiration . . .

Barry Enright's "On Your Own" (Steve Dunne emceeing) starts tonight opposite the potent Hit Parade. Actress Bridget Gatehouse Strong's wow-wee looks and figger have been hired for scenic value.

We trust no one thinks we don't love Christmas carols because it is our opinion that too much of even such a lovely sacred tradition harangues the lovely hymns from musical beauty to monotony . . The disc jockeys play the same ones constantly, ever hour, every 15 minutes some times..

Perry Como beat Gleason with a fine fat Trendex: 28.7 to 21.9, coming on like Gangbusters in the second 30 minutes—29.8 to 20.7 . . .

The mail has piled up, solidly appalled at Sam Levenson's hardly successful attempt to make merry with the 23rd Psalm on Sullivan's show.

BACK TO TELEVISION

Faye Emerson's play flopped on the road (no Broadway run) so she'll gush right back to "I've Got a Secret."

Crosby's CBS radio spectacular, "Sing With Bing," Christmas Eve will have as guests the Vatican Choir (from Rome) and Maurice Chevalier (from Paris) . . . Also Rosey Clooney, Norman Luboff's choir, Paul Weston's orchestra, Sarah Churchill, a choir from a Navy ship in the Pacific and a song from GIs in Korea.

Veteran star Victor McLaglen's son Andrew is directing CBS-TV's "Gunsmoke."

Playhouse 90 hopes it has Charles Boyer to star with Claudette Colbert in Jan. 31's "One Coat of White" from an H. Allen Smith story; scripted by Leonard, S. P. Eaglegass . . .

The upcoming "Johnny Dollar" TV show isn't a giveaway, just the old radio series updated . . .

CHRISTMAS SHOW

Fred Coe will produce the three-network telecast and four-network radiocast Christmas Day to benefit Hungarian relief . . . All networks will share the variety show's costs.

Hosts will be Arlene Francis, Garry Moore and John Daly; stars already accepting include Rosalind Russell, Sammy Davis Jr., Edith Adams and Robert Weede; scads more to come.

Plan for Sports Arena Gets Boost at Muskegon

MUSKEGON (AP) — A $1,000,000 sports arena for Muskegon was a step nearer after city commission agreement on a parcel of downtown property to hold the structure.

The commission signed a modified lease option providing for purchase of a 1½-block section of property at a cost of $205,000 over a 10-year period.

It paved the way for industrialist L. C. Walker, who is donating the sports arena, to appoint an architect for building plans.

West Germany's gross national output is expected to show an eight per cent gain for 1956 in contrast to 10.5 per cent in 1955.

Indonesia Revolt Set Off by Army

Officers Stage Coup Demanding Economy of Nation Be Improved

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A clique of army officers has seized control of central Sumatra, second largest island in the Indonesian republic, government officials here announced. The seizure climaxed months of economic crisis and mounting army unrest.

* * *

A broadcast over the Sumatra radio said the army group staged the coup last night and would return power to the Indonesian government "when thet people's demand for economic improvements are met."

Col. Simbolon, 37-year-old army commander in north and central Sumatra, today proclaimed him self head of both civilian and military authority in that area. He said he took the step in the interest of the Indonesian people. He declared he no longer recognize the central government's cabinet but did not intend to set up a new state.

* * *

The central government here announced it would send a delegation to Sumatra to contract "people there." It made no other comment on the move by the army group. There were no reports indicating the coup was spreading to other points in the Indonesian archipelago.

There are 500 Americans and Sumatra, but there were no indications any of them were affected by the power switch.

Communications between Sumatra and Jakarta, the country's capital on Java, and the outside world were severely restricted. The head of Jakarta's cable and wireless company said the army had delayed all out-bound cables from Jakarta under strict censorship.

* * *

There were no reports of any clashes. One report said the formal takeover of power was without incident.

The handover ceremony was attended by a large crowd, the Sumatra radio broadcast said. The crowd reportedly listened in silence to the transfer proclamation. The deposed civilian governor, Ruslan Muljohardo, a Javanaese whose presence was said to be resented by the people, was described as tense and nervous. But he signed the proclamation without emotion, the radio added.

End Season at Soo as Carrier Passes

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The ore carrier, Philip R. Clarke of the Pittsburgh Steamship Lines officially closed the navigation season at the Soo Locks yesterday.

The ship, downbound from Two Harbors, Minn., cleared the Locks at 10:19.35 a.m. (EST).

The exact time to 35 seconds was made by clocking the ship when its tail passed the lower gate of the lock.

The George Sloan, also of the Pittsburgh Steamship Lines, passed downbound at 9:20 a.m. (EST), missing the distinction of being the final ship by about an hour.

Capt. A. C. Penzenhagen is skipper of the 17,000-ton, 620-foot Philip R. Clarke.

After clearing the ship through the Locks, Chief Lockmaster Ernie Winters retired as an employe of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. He said he was setting out within the hour for Florida.

Seek Liquor License for Veterans Building

DETROIT (AP) — The Allied Veterans Council has renewed efforts to get a liquor license for use at the Veterans Memorial Building in Civic Center.

The group requested City Council action on June 23, but reports that no favorable action has been taken. Beer and wine can be served, but only on permit from the Police Department.

Much-Traveled Christmas Card Meets Sad Fate

DALLAS, TEX. (INS) —A worn Christmas card which has traveled for 10 years between Houston, Tex., and Pittsburgh is resting in the dead letter department of the Dallas Post Office.

* * *

Postmarks, stamps and writing show it was first mailed in 1945, and read, "Love from Larney." Next line reads, "Love from Auntie Malmie—1946." In subsequent years the big picture of Santa Claus has gone annually between Houston and Pittsburgh.

This year it was adressed to "Lawrence J. Botts, Timberdale Drive, Houston, 25, Tex."

The Houston Post Office failed to make delivery because of lack of street number and the card was sent to the dead letter department in Dallas.

It cannot be returned to the sender in Pittsburgh because Aunt Malmie did not put her address on it.

Half-Hour Chase Nabs 2 Suspects

Reckless Driver Held, Passenger Is Charged With Armed Robbery

A Royal Oak Township youth is being held for investigation of armed robbery and a Detroit man was ticketed for reckless driving following a 30-minute chase this morning by police cars from five communities.

Police said the car reached speeds up to 106 m.p.h.

Carl Donaldson, 19, of the township, was being held for Michigan State Police for investigation of armed robbery.

He was a passenger in the car driven by Roosevelt Gardner, 24, of Detroit.

According to township police, Gardner's car sped away when approached by a police car at Eight Mile and Reimanbille St.

Police from Oak Park, Hazel Park, Ferndale, and Detroit joined the chase. The car was finally stopped at Eight Mile and John R when Hazel Park police threw up a road block.

Waterford Office to Be Open Dec. 31

The Waterford Township clerk's office will remain open Dec. 31 to accommodate last minute township candidates filing petitions for the Feb. 18 primary elections, Louis Barry, township clerk, announced today.

The deadline for filing is 4 p.m. that day.

All other offices in the township hall will be closed Dec. 31, Barry said.

Because of the Christmas and New Year holidays, the Township Board will meet at 1 p.m. Dec. 26 and Jan. 2 in place of its regular Monday night meetings.

News Flashes

LONDON (AP)—Warsaw radio announced today that Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai will visit Poland in mid-January. Earlier the Soviet government had announced Chou is interrupting his South Asian tour to visit Moscow.

LONDON (AP) — India's Prime Minister Nehru arrived today for talks with Prime Minister Eden.

Nehru came to Britain after private conversations with President Eisenhower in Washington and Gettysburg, and Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent in Ottawa. He flew here in the President's private plane.

KARACHI (AP) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said today his government is ready to join the United States in renouncing the use of force in the Formosa area but the United States insists Peiping give recognition to "U. S. interference in China's liberation movement."

Communist China, Chou said at a news conference, will never recognize what he called the U. S. "occupation" of Formosa. He gave this as the reason for the long deadlock in the talks at Geneva between U. S. and Peiping representatives.

VIENNA (AP)—Austrian border police said today that 751 more Hungarians, plus an armed Russian tank soldier, trudged across the snowy border last night to seek refuge in the West.

Yule Toll at 21 on State Roads

Two Crashes Kill 6 as Fatalities Climb in Half-Way Count

Michigan's holiday traffic toll—with two days left—stood at 21 today with two triple fatal highway accidents included in the grim statistics.

The latest victims:

John J. Manta, 33, of Detroit, Mrs. Johanna Ressler, 26, of Ecorse Township and Mrs. Ressler's daughter, Cheryle Ann, 2, were killed when a car driven by her husband crashed into the rear of Manta's auto in Dearborn Township last night.

George Gates, 40, of Holland, Donna Arleen Berg, 17, of Pullman, and Eugene Overhiser, 27, of South Haven died yesterday in a head-on collision in south Allegan county. Miss Berg was a passenger in Overhiser's auto which state police said crossed the yellow line and hit Gates' car head-on.

Norma Nelson, of Belleville, was killed on her way home from church yesterday when a car driven by her boy friend hit an auto driven by her brother in Nankin township.

Steven Shiadakis, 21, of Detroit, died yesterday in a two-car collision in the city.

Robert J. Miller, 17, of Detroit, was killed yesterday in a two-car crash near Bad Axe.

Gertrude Marienhoff, 36, of Akron, O., was killed near Flat Rock yesterday when her car spun on wet pavement and hit another auto.

William T. Good, 30, of Roseville, was fatally injured yesterday when he lost control of his car and swerved in front of a truck in Roseville.

Frederick A. Heller, 45, of Ann Arbor, died Saturday night when his sport car hit a curb on the interchange of Detroit's John C. Lodge and Edsel Ford expressways and then struck a light pole. At least 40 persons were given tickets for blocking traffic at the scene after the mishap.

William Pierson, 65, of Dearborn was struck down by a hit-run driver while crossing a Dearborn intersection Saturday night.

Film on Budgets Coming Next Week

A presentation, "Planning Use of the Family Dollar," will be given by County Home Demonstration agent, Mrs. Frieda A. Bennett, on two consecutive days in the county.

The meetings, open to the public, will be held in the Lake Orion High School band room at 8 p.m. on Jan. 3 and again at 8 p.m. on Jan. 4 in the South Lyon Elementary School, Mrs. Bennett said.

Program planning last spring showed the need for the meetings, she continued, and she urged home demonstration members, PTA members, Farm Bureau and Grange members to be present.

Tells Pakistan Aid Total

KARACHI (AP) — Pakistan has received since 1951 foreign aid equal to about $675,564,000, mostly from the United States. Announcing this, Premier H. S. Suhrawardy declared no government had attached any strings to the aid.

Few Pilgrims Expected

Yule Greeted Somberly in Strife-Torn Holy Land

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—This is a somber, almost sad Christmas in the Holy Land.

The recent hostilities in the Middle East appear to have wiped away the festive mood.

* * *

Even as Christian pilgrims gathered in Jerusalem, an Israeli army spokesman reported a raid by Jordanian infiltrators. He said they wrecked a dispensary in a village in northern Israel with a time bomb.

In Jerusalem, the divided holy city where barbed wire fences separate Arab and Jew, Arab Legionnaires and Israeli soldiers sandbagged rooftops.

* * *

Authorities expected only about 1,700 pilgrims to cross today from the Israeli sector of the city into Jordan through the Mandelbaum Gate for the annual Christmas Eve services in Bethlehem's Church of the Nativity and nearby Shepherds' Field. Usually 7,000 to 10,000 make the pilgrimage. Most of the pilgrims are Christian Arabs.

Only a few hundred pilgrims from abroad were on hand.

* * *

For the first time since the state of Israel was founded eight years ago, Jordanian authorities banned the traditional consular corps procession from Jerusalem to Bethlehem along the biblical route taken by Mary and Joseph. rows of stone fence barricades and a row of concrete "dragon's teeth" at the border point on the outskirts of Jerusalem.

Jordan authorities said foreign diplomats wishing to cross into Jordan for the religious services would be allowed passage through the Mandelbaum Gate. But many in the consular corps said they would boycott the trip because of the ban on the diplomatic procession.

* * *

At the Mandelbaum Gate, Arab Legionnaires and Israeli border guards cleared away barriers in anticipation of the stream of pilgrims. Most of them will remain in Jordan for four days.

Authorities on both sides of the gate set up tents to check on permits and packages carried by those making the crossing.

Weatherbeaten "Welcome" signs on both Arab and Jewish sides of the gate contradicted other signs reading "Danger. Frontier ahead. Enemy territory."

Jerusalem itself seemed like a dead city. There have been practically no tourists since the Israeli invasion of Egypt Oct. 29 and the British-French attack on Port Said soon afterward.

Hotels in both the Jordan and Israeli sectors are nearly empty.

The big YMCA building in Jerusalem carried on with its annual Yule time festivities. Even these were curbed somewhat by fuel and power restrictions imposed in Israel after the Sinai campaign.

The YMCA presented probably the only Santa Claus in the city at a party for 400 youngsters.

Negroes in Florida to Return to Buses

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (INS)—Negroes have announced the end of their seven-month boycott of Tallahassee buses and will attempt to ride in the front seats tonight instead of the rear.

An estimated 450 Negro members of the Inter - Civic Council voted unanimously last night to terminate the boycott and challenge segregated seating on buses.

The tense situation will be discussed today at a special meeting of the Tallahassee City Commission. Police Chief Frank Stoutamier said he would wait for word from the Commission before taking any action if there are incidents.

The boycott was launched May 28 after the arrest of two university students who tried to sit in the front of a bus.

3 Held Suspect in 4 Robberies

Police Question Trio on 'Stocking,' 'Rag Mask' Holdups

Three arrests by Pontiac police may clear up four armed robberies by masked bandits this month, Det. Insp. Clark M. Wheaton said today.

He said the three are being questioned for possible statements today concerning holdups at two grocery stores, a pharmacy, and a gas station for a total of over $600.

* * *

Held are Velton Wilder, 18, of 476 Branch St.; Joseph Page, 21, of Ditmar Ave.; Charles L. Hall, 28, of 314½ Wessen St.

They were arrested Friday following two holdups Thursday night, Wheaton said, of the F. & W. Market, 62 Jackson St., and the Progressive Oil Co. station, 477 S. Saginaw St.

They also are suspected of sticking up the Center Street Market, 10 Center St., Dec. 14, and Riddick's Pharmacy, 373 Franklin Rd., last Monday, Wheaton said.

* * *

Two of the robberies were by two thugs, both armed and wearing silk stockings over their faces and heads. In the pharmarcy holdup the holdup men wore colored rags.

The F. & W. Market was held up by a lone man wearing a green mask. Police believe the three men may have changed off as partners in the holdups, Wheaton said.

Swerves to Miss Car, Driver Strikes Pole

A driver who said he swerved to avoid another car, struck a utility pole last night on South Paddock street at East Wilson avenue and was admitted for possible head injuries at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital He is Jack K. Chapin, 49, of 61 S. Merrimack St. and was listed in good condition.

FOR THE NEEDY—Many a needy family in Pontiac was assured a Merry Christmas as members of Metropolitan Club Spirit No. 6 yesterday distributed more than 100 Christmas baskets in the city. Shown here inspecting the baskets are city firemen Paul Chapdelaine and Lt. Charles Evans. The baskets were made possible through the sale of Goodfellow editions of The Pontiac Press this month. Local National Guard units provided the trucks during yesterday's journeys of good will. The club is composed of city police, fire, and postmen.

President Plans Family Holiday

Grandchildren to Join Ike, Mamie Tomorrow at White House

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower plans a quiet evening at the White House tonight before welcoming his four grandchildren for an old-fashioned family Christmas tomorrow.

* * *

The President will spend Christmas Eve beside a special Christmas tree on the second floor of the executive mansion opening gifts with his wife and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud of Denver.

Tomorrow afternoon the historic White House corridors will ring with the laughter of the President's four grandchildren. Their parents, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower will bring them from their home at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

The grandchildren — David, 9; Barbara Ann, 7; Susan, 5; and Mary Jean, 1—will have opened one set of presents at their own home Christmas morning and will receive more gifts from the chief executive at the White House.

* * *

To complete the traditional American Christmas pattern, the nation's first family will gather for dinner at a table laden with a 40-pound turkey with stuffing and cranberry sauce.

There are two Christmas trees at the White House this year—a tall silver-trimmed tree in the downstairs East Room and a smaller one in the Eisenhowers' private quarters on the second floor.

Earlier in the day and during the evening, a few close friends of the President are expected to drop in, but no large celebration is planned.

* * *

Eisenhower plans to remain in Washington throughout the Christmas holiday.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the chief executive would be at his desk today, but no official callers were expected.

Pontiac Deaths

Clara Elizabeth Briggs

Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Briggs, 78, of 84 Norton Ave., widow of Charles Briggs, died this morning.

The wedding date is set for May 25 in St. Lawrence Catholic Church.

The Day in Birmingham

Proposed City Zoning Follows Building Trend

BIRMINGHAM — Three residential classifications are in the newly proposed zoning ordinance, prepared by Birmingham city planners.

Major change in the proposal is the increase in new home and lot sizes; multiple dwelling changes that would see the construction of smaller apartments, and additional business C. uses, aimed mainly at professional office zones.

Homes in R-1 zones would have a minimum of 1,500 square feet, on 10,000 sq. ft. lots; R-2, 1,200 foot homes on 7,500 foot lots, and 1,000 foot homes on 6,000 foot lots.

Herbert Herzberg, author of the draft, said these size restrictions would put zoning into closer relationship with the present trend in development.

Herzberg pointed out that under present zoning, only two and three-bedroom apartments can be built, because of the lot area size for each dwelling unit. His proposed ordinance will permit two types of multiple dwelling units in the city, according to zones.

The one will remain as at present, the second to permit construction of smaller apartments on smaller lots, thus providing the property owner with an economically sound business venture and meeting the demand of the public for more moderately priced dwellings.

The present "C" zoning has a nearly complete limitation to medical, legal, architectural and engineering offices. The proposed change would permit residential building in these zones, provided that residences meet the restrictions of abutting property.

Business C may be allowed front parking, and front yard minimums may be eased.

Traditionally, Birmingham will welcome Christmas Eve with the community sing around the towering balsam in Shain Park. The 5:30 hour is scheduled so participants may be free for the many religious observances of the evening, as well as social and family gatherings.

Numerous candlelight services will mark church programs, including Embury Methodist at 7 p.m.

Ascension Lutheran plans two Christmas Eve services, one at 7 p.m., for children and a special program of music at 11 p.m.

At Birmingham Congregational, the service will be held at 9:30 p.m.

Holy Communion will highlight the First Methodist church observance.

The city's Catholic churches, Holy Name, St. Bede's, St. Columba and Our Lady Queen of Martyrs, will celebrate the traditional midnight mass.

A family carol service will be at 7 p.m. at Christ Church Cranbrook with a communion service at 11:30 p.m.

A special musical program will begin at 10:30 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church.

At Redeemer Lutheran, duplicate services will be at 8:30 and 11:30 p.m.

The traditional candlelight service is planned for 8 p.m., at First Baptist.

* * *

An undetermined amount of cigarettes and cash were taken in two gasoline station breakins early this morning. Detective Lt. Merlin Holmquist said entrance was gained at the new Mobile Gas Station at Oakland and Hunter and the Marathon Station on South Woodward by breaking glass in the front doors.

Bloomfield Man Campaign Head

Rache Named to Lead Achievement Fund Drive in SE Michigan

The appointment of J. M. Roche of Bloomfield Hills as general campaign chairman for Junior Achievement in Southeastern Michigan, was announced today by John P. Mansfield, president of the JA Board of Southeastern Michigan.

Mansfield also announced that M. J. Rathbone, president of Standard Oil Co., will be national campaign chairman.

Roche recently was named general sales manager of the Cadillac Motor Car Division of General Motors Corp.

The Junior Achievement campaign is both a national and local effort carried out to secure funds for the operation and expansion of the JA "learn by doing" economic education program.

The campaign will be activated in Detroit Jan. 19 through the National Junior Achievement Week ending Feb. 2.

Clergyman OKs 'Baby Doll' Film

Says DeMille's Version of '10 Commandments' Contains More Sex

NEW YORK (INS)—One of the nation's leading Protestant clergymen has defended the controversial movie "Baby Doll" as less sexy than Cecil B. DeMille's biblically inspired "Ten Commandments."

The Very Rev. Dr. James A. Pike, dean of the Protesant Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York, devoted his Sunday sermon to a reply on an attack on "Baby Doll" made last Sunday by Joseph Cardinal Spellman.

Spellman branded "Baby Doll" as immoral and told Catholics to avoid the picture "under pain of sin."

Dr. Pike said he saw "Baby Doll' at its premiere last Tuesday and "I don't think that I sinned."

He added:

"Those who do not want the sexual aspect of life included in the portrayal of a real-life situation had better burn their Bibles as well as abstain from the movies."

Dr. Pike joined Cardinal Spellman in criticizing advertising for "Baby Doll" as brazen.

He censured "Ten Commandments" for showing cheesecake, bathing beauties and a drunken orgy during nearly four hours before the movie gets around to reading the Ten Commandments.

The Catholic Legion of Decency has approved the DeMille movie while condemning "Baby Doll."

Health Departments Plan Instruction for Mothers

Classes to help expectant parents gain a new knowledge and understanding of their coming offspring will begin Wednesday, Jan. 9, in the Pontiac area.

Staff nurses of the Oakland County Health Department will conduct the series of eight, two-hour sessions at the county health department, 1070 N. Telegraph Rd. starting at 7:30 p.m.

Doris Hannah, staff nurse for the department, said the first four classes will be devoted to information about the mother. There will be ample opportunity for discussion of family adjustments, growth and developments of the baby before birth, labor and delivery, Miss Hannah said.

The last four classes will cover feeding of the baby, what the new baby is like and baby's first year, she said.

Audiovisual aids will be used to supplement discussion and conducted hospital tours will be arranged during the class series.

The classes are sponsored by the Oakland County Medical Society, county and city health departments and various adult education groups

Registration and information can be obtained by calling the County Health Department at FE 2-9255, Miss Hannah said.
