Yule Spirit to Invade Streets

FLOAT NEARS COMPLETION — Pontiac students, representing the city's Catholic schools, enact the manger scene as they practice for their float's part in next Saturday's Christmas Parade through downtown streets. The mobile display will be one of 34 depicting the "Story of Christmas." The Virgin Mary is portrayed by Peggy Humphreys of St. Fredericks, while Dean Anderson, also of St. Fredericks, is Joseph. Angels are St. Michael students, Mary Pruene, Jacqueline Lambert, Jo Ann Moore and Carolyn Cook.

Groups Step Up Labors on Pontiac Parade Entries

Color was the keynote today as some 5,000 Christmas Parade planners neared completion of work on the floats and displays that will appear in Pontiac's annual street pageant next Saturday morning.

Viewing preparations this week, Parade Marshall John A. Riley predicted that the spectacle will surpass last year's event in color and the use of animation.

* * *

Thirty-eight church, school and civic organizations will march or enter floats in the parade, while music will be furnished by seven area school bands.

The route of march will be the same as last year's, Riley said. Parade time will be 9:30 a.m. on Turk St., near Saginaw.

* * *

David Ewalt, director of Parks and Recreation, states that arrangements are currently being completed to provide special viewing places for physically-handicapped children in downtown stores.

* * *

Letters have been sent out, he said, and most of the children have already been assigned to second-floor vantage points.

The number of viewers who will line the parade route this year is expected to reach 70,000, about equal to last year, Riley said.

Theme of the parade will be the portrayal of "the true story of Christmas." Each church and school float will present a Biblical scene with members or pupils acting as characters.

The parade is sponsored annually by the Retail Merchants Association of the Chamber of Commerce.

Architects Eye Hospital Plans

Confer With St. Joseph Officials on 200-Bed Expansion Program

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital officials took another step closer to their 200-bed $4,000,000 expansion program yesterday when they tentatively approved architect's plans.

In an all-day conference with the three architects, 15 department heads and approximately 50 doctors examined the proposed locations for their sections and offered opinions on the details.

Sister Mary William, hospital administrator, said the next step in the program would be the redrafting of the plans by the architects based on the proposed changes made at yesterday's meeting.

"We expect the next meeting within the next two weeks when details of the final plans will be available and plans for a kick-off dinner for the first week in January will be made," the administrator said.

Tentative plans call for the ground floor to house the following information, emergency, admitting, out-patient clinic, X-ray, laboratory and dietary departments.

The maternity section will be located on the second floor, surgical patients on the third, medical on the fourth and pediatrics on the fifth floor.

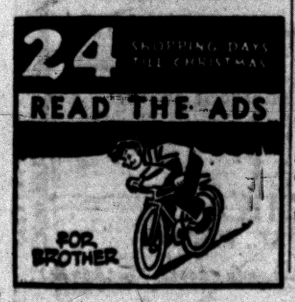

Williams to Speak Against Adlai's Moderation Stand

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams will oppose Adlai Stevenson's advocacy of moderation in a speech tonight at Denver.

Williams, who will address the Colorado Young Democrats, said he was "disappointed with the approach of Governor Stevenson" in an address from Chicago recently.

Williams said he objected to Stevenson's suggestion that it is a time to "catch our breath."

"I don't see it quite that way," Williams said, "and I want the Democratic party to take an approach that will ensure victory in 1956. Win or lose, the voters should have a clear choice between Republican and Democratic policies. I am more interested in a forward-looking program than I am in who is nominated at the convention."

Graham Given Three Attorneys

Denver Judge Names Trio to Act as Defense for Accused Saboteur

DENVER (INS)—Three Denver lawyers, one a former U. S. attorney, have been appointed to defend accused plane saboteur John Gilbert Graham.

Denver District Judge Edward J. Keating yesterday named Charles S. Vigil, John J. Gibbons and L. Paul Weadick to represent the youth who is charged with murdering his mother, Mrs. Daisie E. King, by placing a time-bomb in her luggage before she boarded an airliner Nov. 1.

Both Vigil and Gibbons have appeared in major criminal trials in Denver courts during recent years. Weadick was appointed at Vigil's request.

Vigil was the government attorney who successfully prosecuted Denver gamblers Claude and Eugene Smaldone in 1953 and 1954.

Judge Keating named the trio to defend Graham after a conference with the accused man's temporary lawyers who received permission to withdraw from the case.

Graham was declared "indigent within the meaning of the law" after an inventory showed he had about $700 worth of property—not enough for a defense trial.

The temporary attorneys said Mrs. King's estate now being probated—and thought to be worth about $150,000, of which one-fourth was willed to Graham—was "grossly exaggerated."

Graham, when taken into custody, admitted making the dynamite bomb that destroyed a United Airlines DC-6B in mid-air near Longmont, Colo., so he could collect flight insurance on his mother. He later repudiated the confession.

Firemen Start Fire

PORT HURON (AP)—Port Huron's Fire Department set two buildings on fire Friday—on purpose. The city recently acquired some land in an old section of town and decided the least expensive way to tear down buildings to redevelop the land would be to burn them. Another 40 or more fires are planned.

Ann's Dad Speaks

GAYLORD (INS)—Jesse Claude Crowell, Mrs. Woodward's father who lives here, said today that he "knew all along the shooting couldn't have been anything but an accident.

S-D Drive Off to Bad Start, Says Chairman

A blast at Pontiac residents who are "unconscious" of the need for traffic safety was made today by the chairman of the city's Safe-Driving Day campaign.

Clyle R. Haskill said in the first four days of the drive, which started Monday, these were the tragic results:

One man died, a boy was critically injured and 16 others were treated at hospitals.

"The city already has as many people injured as it did in the whole 11-day campaign last year," Haskill said.

When will people wake up? What can we do to make roads safer, drive their cars for them?" Haskill asked.

"Twelve people have been slaughtered on Pontiac streets this year—twice as many as last year. Are people unconscious that it could happen to them next?

"Speed, drinking, carelessness and not paying attention to the condition of the road; accidents are caused here every day when these killers are ignored.

"The driver then tells police: 'I don't know how it happened.' He didn't realize that driving is as dangerous as carrying a loaded machinegun.

"But when the gun goes off, killing and maiming people, it's too late to repent," Haskill warned.

As part of national support of President Eisenhower's S-D Day campaign, 1,200 delegates of the 4-H Club Congress in Chicago will pledge Sunday to help make Dec. 1 accident-free.

India, U. S. See Opposite Sides of Soviet Bear

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Secretary of the Air Force Donald A. Quarles says that the Russian threat to the United States is real and terrible.

NEW DELHI (INS) — India's elder statesman appealed today to the Western powers to accept on trust Russia's proposal for a prohibition of all nuclear weapons.

Chakravarti Rajagopalachari, the last governor general of India, said he was distressed that America has not seen her way clear to abandon nuclear weapons nor even show signs of encouraging others who thought along those lines.

LONDON (INS) — British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and U. S. Ambassador Winthrop W. Aldrich conferred yesterday reportedly on the tense Middle East situation. Macmillan requested the meeting as Britain sought to play an active role as "peace maker" in the Arab-Israeli dispute.

WASHINGTON (INS)—Two top Netherlands officials will arrive in Washington Sunday for two-day talks involving matters of "mutual interest" in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Defense Minister Cornelius Staff and E. H. Van Den Bengel, director general for economic and military affairs of the Foreign Minister, will confer with Pentagon leaders on Monday and Tuesday.

U. N. Pressing Difficult Issues

Hopes to Break Two Stubborn Deadlocks to Adjourn Dec. 10

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—With 12 working days left before its scheduled adjournment, the U.N. Assembly pressed today to break stubborn deadlocks over a disputed Security Council seat and the membership bids of 18 nations.

The assembly must also push through debate within the next two weeks on the tough disarmament question and the colonial issues involving Morocco and West New Guinea if it hopes to hit its Dec. 10 windup target.

India and a number of other countries who did not take part in the debate before the 12-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission have indicated they will have plenty to say on the arms question when it reaches the 60-nation Political Committee.

One major deadlock was broken yesterday when France was wooed back into the Assembly after that body voted to drop the stormy Algerian question. The French walked out two months ago when the Assembly put the Algerian question on its agenda.

Delegates hoped Arab approval of the maneuver which broke the French boycott would speed solution of the complex membership question.

U.N. circles were also heartened by reports that the United States had relaxed its opposition to Communist Outer Mongolia's bid for membership.

The Soviet Union has warned that it would veto all non-Communist applicants if Outer Mongolia or any of the other four Russian-backed candidates failed to make the grade.

The United States has said it would abstain on all five Communist applicants, but it had previously insisted that Outer Mongolia would not get the seven affirmative votes needed for council approval.

Perhaps the toughest problem facing the current Assembly is the log jam between the U.S.-backed Philippines and Communist Yugoslavia in the contest for the Security Council seat now held by Turkey.

Seven in Family Hunt En Masse, Drop Seven Deer

TRESCOTT, Maine (AP) — Seven hunters in one family went into the woods together and came out with seven deer.

Harold R. Mores of Moose River, Trescott, told today about Wednesday's expedition. With him were his four brothers, Gordon, Raymond, Albert, and Clifton; their father, Levi, and his 12-year old newphew, Harold L. Mores. They spotted a herd of deer at Bog Brook. Seven rifles banged. Seven deer fell.

Milford Tot Recounts Tragedy

Game of 'Bang-Bang' Led to Sister's Fatal Shooting

Investigating the death of an eight-year old girl who was killed by a shotgun blast yesterday in a home near Milford, Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies said her little brother told them:

"We were playing bang-bang. I had the gun."

A blast from the gun struck his sister, Sharon Rose Balay, in the face, instantly killing her.

Sheriff's Detective Roy Hartwick said that Clarence "Freddie" Balay, 4, was probably standing the gun on the floor while trying to cock it, when it went off.

He said the angle of the blast and the position of the body indicated this.

SHARON

A tiny toy pistol was still clutched in the girl's hand when her mother, Mrs. Evelyn Balay, found her.

FREDDIE

Sobbing, Mrs. Balay said another son, Edward, 10, had earlier warned her:

"Freddie's got the gun."

"But I thought he meant the toy pistol," she told deputies.

Deputies, who had to search for Freddie, found him hidden in a closet of a neighboring house.

"He couldn't tell us anything more," they said.

Sharon's body lay in the living room, near the doorway of her parents' bedroom, in which the gun was found.

It was kept there, along with shells which were stored in a bedroom chest Clarence F. Balay, the father, said. Balay works for the Ford Motor Co. in Milford.

Deputies found a drawer of the chest open with shells lying loosely in it, but couldn't explain exactly how the gun came to be loaded, unless one of the children did it. Balay told them he was sure the gun had been unloaded.

Hartwick said he would wait a few days for the family to become "less hysterical" before further questioning.

"But so far there's no reason to doubt that the little boy accidently fired the gun," he said.

Officials in the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office and juvenile authorities said it was "extremely unlikely" they would begin legal action in the case.

'Copter Rescues Freighter Crew

30 Men Seen Clinging to Wrecked Kismet II Off Cape Breton Isle

HALIFAX, N. S. (AP)—The crew of the wrecked Liberian freighter Kismet II was rescued by helicopter today. Rescuers had battled snow, rough seas and high winds on the rocky north coast of Cape Breton Island since Friday.

The men were hauled to safety in a boatswain's chair swinging below a Canadian Navy helicopter. The helicopter dodged 1,000-foot coastal cliffs of the island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence to perform the feat.

The 2,848-ton ship had been pounded by seas whipped up by winds of 30 to 45 miles an hour since it ran aground yesterday.

Dispatches from the scene said the crew of 22 was saved. Earlier reports had said 30 men were aboard.

Earlier, a convoy led by a snow-plow and carrying a ton of breeches buoy equipment, reached the scene after pushing 100 miles through snow-clogged roads from Sydney.

Winds had diminished to 25 miles an hour and skies were clearing as the helicopter operation got underway.

Two lifelines were strung from a 1,000-foot cliff, only 25 feet away, to the stricken vessel. But the breeches buoy was necessary to make the lines effective.

Throughout the night rescuers kept watch atop the cliff, their searchlights cutting through a blinding snowstorm. At the foot of the cliff the gulf was churned by the winds into a boiling surf.

The Kismet sailed from Philadelphia Nov. 17 for Sumerside, P. E.I., to pick up a load of potatoes. When the vessel first went aground she was reported in no immediate danger of breaking up but needed help to free herself. The crisis developed as winds and seas rose.

Officers Comb Woods to Tell Hunter of Fire

State and local police near Clare have been asked to find a hunter in woods nearby whose Waterford Township house burned yesterday.

Waterford Township firemen say damage of $1,000 was done to Lorin Hassler's home at 6864 Brightwood St. by a fire probably caused by burning leaves piling against a corner of the house.

Pontiac State Police, far from optimistic about prospects of locating Hassler, said they had received "confused" directions to the area he usually hunts.

Apparently, they said, he and his wife are camped "several miles from a fire tower which is several miles from Clare." The couple are said to be driving a red Ford pickup truck.

Siege Bolsters Brazilian Army

Acting President Ramos to Choose Martial Law Decree Executor Today

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil was under a state of siege—modified martial law—today, strengthening the position of the army-backed provisional government.

A decree declaring the state of siege, approved by Congress and signed by provisional President Nereu Ramos, became effective upon publication in the government's official bulletin last night. Ramos was expected to name an executor today for operation of the decree.

The new status suspends for 30 days constitutional guarantees as they affect the acts of the president, the cabinet, the executor, and Congress. Its main purpose is to prevent the Supreme Court from reinstating Joao Cafe Filho as president.

Cafe took a leave of absence Nov. 8 after a slight heart attack. When he sought to resume power he was opposed by a majority in Congress and powerful army leaders headed by War Minister Gen. Henrique Teixeira Lott. They suspected him of being connected with an alleged plot to prevent the inauguration Jan. 31 of President-elect Juscelino Kubitschek, political heir to the late President Getulio Vargas.

The opposition has aimed more of its criticism at the vice president-elect, Joao Goulart, than at Kubitschek.

Jury Uncovers No Evidence of Criminal Act

Grief-Stricken Widow Cleared in Shooting of Socialite Husband

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—A grand jury has found no evidence of crime in the death of socialite-sportsman William Woodward, killed by a shotgun fired by his wife, Ann.

Tottering from the Nassau County Court House last night, after the panel obsolved her of blame in the shooting, the grief-worn, black-clad, 39-year-old widow had to be assisted to a car.

Her face and demeanor a far cry from the svelte, blonde woman who move in society's select circles, Mrs. Woodward could only numble incoherently to waiting newsmen as she emerged from her ordeal of telling the jury what happened in the early hours of Sunday, Oct. 30.

Her attorney, Murray Gurfein, said: "She now feels she can be left alone with her children."

He was referring to the two Woodward sons—William III, 11 years old, and James, 7—who slept through the shooting in their home at Oyster Bay, Long Island.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward A. Robinson, who handled the grand jury presentation, said the panel found Mrs. Woodward "not guilty" of three charges being considered—first degree murder, murder in the second degree, and manslaughter.

Since the shooting, following by a few hours a social gathering in honor of the Duchess of Windsor at another Long Island estate, Mrs. Woodward had been confined to a New York hospital suffering from grief and shock. Last Monday she was deemed well enough by her physician, Dr. John Prutting, to SEVEN SISTERS WELCOME BABY BROTHER—Five-day-old Joseph John Ambrosi III is shown off to his seven sisters by Mr. and Mrs. John Ambrosi Jr. as they left Queen of Angels Hospital yesterday. Ambrosi, district agent for a life insurance company, said they'd about given up hope of ever getting a boy when little Joseph came along. The girls, left to right, are Mary Theresa, 9; Rosemary, 5; Patricia, 2; Peggy, 4; Kathleen, 8; Betty Ann, 7; and Joanne, 1, in daddy's arms.

Hunting 'Urge' Prompts Theft

Flint Resident Admits Taking Guns, Blames 'First Love'

A Flint man with an unfortunate love for deer hunting confessed to Pontiac Police this morning that he stole two rifles and a shotgun from a hardware store.

Police caught Lewis J. Beattie, 19, eight minutes after a witness saw him break a front window at 5 a.m. and enter the store at 900 Joslyn.

Officers Herbert C. Cooley and Orville Johnson found Beattie walking away from the store.

"I don't know what makes me do this. Every time I get drunk, I start thinking about deer hunting," Cooley quoted him as saying.

Beattie told officers he was awaiting sentence on another breaking and entering charge in Flint. He wanted to go deer hunting then, too, he told Cooley.

Police recognized Beattie from a description furnished by Seward Rossman, Oxford, who works across the street from the hardware.

Caught, Beattie admitted the guns were hidden under the back seat of his car.

Ransom Note Wants $3,000 From Father

EAST MEADOW, N. Y. (AP)—The father of 3-year-old Stephen Damman, who has been missing for nearly a month, says a ransom note received last Wednesday demanded $3,000 for the youngster's return.

Air Force Sergeant Jerry Damman added that the note is very likely a hoax. Police, who have declined to discuss the note other than to say it was received, are reported also to believe it is the work of a cruel prankster.

The childs' parents said last night the note is one of several received since little Stephen disappeared last Oct. 31. The Dammans said they have turned them all over to police and so far none have provided any leads to the supposed kidnapers.

The boy disappeared while waiting outside a supermarket for his mother. No trace of the child has been found in two intensive foot-by-foot searches of the community.

Ailing Eddie Cantor Cancels TV Shot

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Comedian Eddie Cantor, 63, is being treated at home for a kidney infection which will prevent him from appearing as a guest star next Tuesday on Milton Berle's television program.

Cantor's wife, Ida, said the comedian was stricken yesterday. She said he will remain in bed at least two days.

Cantor suffered a heart attack in 1952 and was hospitalized for three months. His doctor said, however, there was no connection between the heart attack and his current illness.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. William E. Philips

Mrs. William E. (Edith Ballantyne) Philips, 48, of 307 S. Anderson St. died Friday in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. She had been in ill health for a year.

Born in Terre Haute, Ind. Dec. 6, 1906, she was the daughter of Joshua and Elizabeth Greenlee Gott and was married Dec. 13, 1952 in Angola, Ind.

Mrs. Phillips had lived here 31 years, coming to Pontiac from Terre Haute.

Besides her husband she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. James Dorris of Pontiac and two grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. Ronald Clark of Pontiac also survives.

The Rev. Paul R. Havens of the First Methodist Church will officiate at the service in the Kirkby Funeral Home Monday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Perry Mt. Park Cemetery.

Grand Jury Needed Only One Ballot to Clear Ann Woodward in Shooting

MINEOLA, N.Y. (INS) — The grand jury which found Ann Woodward criminally blameless in the shotgun slaying of her millionaire husband reached its decision on the first ballot.

* * *

After hearing 9½ hours of testimony by 31 witnesses in the suburban New York courthouse at Mineola, the 22-member panel deliberated for just under a half-hour.

The last witness was the once-beautiful, now haggard Mrs. Woodward.

It took her 2½ hours—interrupted several times when she lost her composure—to tell again how on the morning of Oct. 30 she fatally shot her husband in the mistaken belief he was a prowler.

One juror, Mrs. Anna R. Warner were annoyed that there was any question that this was anything but an accident."

Mrs. Warner added:

"She's miserable. Being free still leaves her with this terrible memory.

"I don't know how she's going to live with it."

Acting Foreman Alfred T. Allin, a Lynbrook, N.Y., banker said he was convinced by Mrs. Woodward's testimony that "she shot thinking she was defending herself and her family."

The "no presentment" decision indicated the jury believed Mrs. Woodward's contention that she "fired at a noise."

Mrs. Warner, recalling the widow's sobbing testimony, said:

"Mrs. Woodward said she went to bed around 1 a.m. with an awful lot of fear in her. There was this prowler in the neighborhood.

"When she heard this noise she jumped out of bed, grabbed the shotgun, and fired.

"She said the dog barked and she kind of heard a noise and aimed at the noise."

"She didn't claim she herd anyone on the roof although the prowler (Paul Wirts, who also testified) told us he was there.

"She told us that she didn't shout 'who's there' when she jumped out bed.

"When she fired the shot she told us, there was light gleaming through the hall, from a closet or somewhere.

"After she shot him, she finally realized in the dim light that it was her husband. The police had an awful time trying to get her away from him.

"Yes, they had quite a job, she didn't want to let go of his body.

"Anybody who said they didn't love each other was a liar.

"It only took us one ballot to decide this case, but the decision was not unanimous. Most of us, however, thought it was an accident."

Mrs. Warner indicated the testimony of telephone operator Mrs. Gertrude Gallagher might have weighed heavily with the jury. Mrs. Gallagher took the call which Mrs. Woodward made after the shooting.

According to the juror, Mrs. Gallagher said "it was five to eight minutes before she could get any sane answers from Mrs. Woodward."

The operator also reportedly told the jury that within a minute or two after Mrs. Woodward's call a watchman on the estate telephoned to report the shooting."

Another juror, Frederick Fellendorf of Sea Cliff, N.Y., said: "Today's job was pretty much of an ordeal for all of us. There was a great bulk of testimony from many witnesses and her testimony was quite confused."

Mrs. Lillian A. Bucken of Rockville Center, N. Y., commented:

"It was quite an ordeal for her. Many times she was unable to continue with her testimony and I, being a nurse, helped her and tried to give her some assistance.

"We tried conscientiously to reach a proper verdict. It was an objective decision and not an emotional one. Nobody seemed to know positively if the light was on or off. Mrs. Woodward certainly didn't know. In a situation such as this people really can't be expected to remember every detail.

* * *

"She said a combination of noises which she doesn't exactly remember, but which she believes to be the dog and some kind of a noise, got her up from a sound sleep.

"As far as the jury was concerned her being wealthy meant nothing to us. It was strictly a case of listening to the facts and coming to an objective conclusion."

Two Pedestrians Struck by Autos

Two pedestrians were given emergency treatment in Pontiac General Hospital after accidents yesterday.

Edwin L. Menzer, 315 Orchard Lake Ave., was struck on Cass Ave. by Mrs. Mary E. Kierer, Walled Lake. She told police that Menzer appeared suddenly in front of her car and she couldn't avoid hitting him.

Edwin Neuman, Detroit, was standing in the street unlocking his car door when hit by Miss Beverly Jean Hewett, 19, Auburn Heights.

Miss Hewet told police she had to swerve when a car cut suddenly in front of her. She crossed the street and hit Neuman and two parked cars, police said.

Fire Damages House

A fire in Waterford Township did $600 damage yesterday to the home of A. B. Sanders in Huron Gardens, the Township Fire Department said today. Two engines pumped for 25 minutes to extinguish the blaze, started by a faulty furnace.

REPLACES BRASS POLES — Contemplating a ride on Birmingham fire station's new stainles steel slide is five-year-old Susan Kiltie of Birmingham, Mich. Sports Husband Easy to Please

Many Yuletide Presents Found for Enthusiasts of Outdoor Life

If he likes sports, Christmas shopping will be no problem.

* * *

Even if he has a three-speed motor, an aluminum boat and a glass fishing rod, there will be room in his trunk for accessories.

An increased interest in thermometers for fish exists. Not to take the temperature of the fish, but rather the temperature of the water. According to experts, there is a correct lure for every degree on the thermometer.

Another accessory that any sportsman will appreciate is a barometer. The fisherman's greatest misery — second only to losing the big one — is having to wake up not-so-bright but very early in the morning. The sense of tragedy is heightened when he walks out into a deluge.

DUAL PURPOSE

Barometers, keeping you just one step ahead of the weathermen, take much of the guesswork out of early morning expeditions. They also serve as an attractive decoration for den or living room.

Binoculars are popular with all sportsmen. They can be used by hunters, mountain climbers or bird watchers. They may also be used for the less exotic activities of watching baseball or football games.

Another accessory which will please the sportsman is a new fishing rod case able to withstand the shock of a 200-pound man jumping on it.

* * *

Velandra's Billfold Found in Hazel Park

DETROIT (AP)—A billfold full of identification cards carrying the name of a missing loan company official was found yesterday at a construction site near the spot where his broken, bloodstained glasses were found earlier.

Police said the discovery puts a new light on the case of missing David W. Velandra, 26, who disappeared Sunday. Both the glasses and wallet were found in suburban Hazel Park.

Lt. Vincent Romano of the Warren Township Police said the discovery of the wallet "changes the complexion of the case again."

"It sure looks like robbery now," he said.

The billfold contained a number of papers but no trace was found of the $300 Velandra was reported to have been carrying when he left home to pay on the mortgage of his home.

Skidding Car Injures 2 From Pontiac Area

Two Pontiac men were treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital yesterday after their car skidded off Baldwin Avenue near Brown road, Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies said today.

John C. Brower, 16, of 32 Clarence St. suffered chest injuries, and his passenger, Lawrence Dunny, 14, was treated for a fractured collarbone.

Police Seek Owner of Outboard Motor

Pontiac State Police are looking for the owner of a 25-horsepower outboard motor, found in a ditch yesterday.

They say the motor, a recent model in good condition, was found by Dale Meyers, of Independence Township, yesterday. Meyers told them it was lying in a ditch beside Waldron Road, covered by a light tarpaulin.

The motor can be traced, a spokesman added, through serial numbers if necessary.

Farmington Man Dies of Accident Injuries

DETROIT (AP)—James Brisco, 50, of Detroit, was injured fatally yesterday in a two-car collision west of Detroit. Four other men were injured seriously in the crash.

Howard Meese, 64, of Farmington Township, injured Nov. 17 when he was struck by a car, died in a hospital yesterday.

County Deaths

Mrs. Nellie L. Jolliffe

ROCHESTER—Service for Mrs. Nellie Louise Jolliffe, 38, of 117 Griggs St., will be held at 2:30 p.m. Monday in the First Baptist Church here, with burial in Perry Mt. Park cemetery. The body will be at the Pursley Funeral Home, Pontiac, until noon Monday.

Mrs. Jolliffe died late Thursday in Pontiac General Hospital.

James Shepherd

LAPEER — Service for James Shepherd, 73, will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Muir Brothers Funeral Home. Burial will be in Mt. Hope Cemetery, Lapeer. Mr. Shepherd died Thursday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Austin Gwinn.

Surviving are his wife, Agnes; one daughter, Mrs. Gwinn; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

YULE MAIL BREAK — By following the three simple steps illustrated above, you can put letters in your Christmas packages this year without having to pay first class postage on the whole parcel. The new "combination" mail service starts Nov. 28 on a 60-day trial basis. Letters may be enclosed in fourth class (parcel post) packages or in magazines moving at second class rates by paying an extra 3 cents in addition to parcel post or magazine charges. Note illustration 3—sender must indicate on outside of package that letter is enclosed.

Cranbrook Seeks Money for Rink

Cranbrook School authorities are soliciting funds to build an artificial outdoor skating rink, the school announced recently. The rink, to cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, will provide community skating facilities and opportunity to develop school hockey teams.

Operating costs for the first two years are included in the $100,000 initial figure. After that, the planners say, operating costs will be covered by sale of annual memberships to community and alumni families and "other desirable groups."

Blames Commerce for Windsor's Smog

WINDSOR, Ontario (AP)—A smoke expert says 100 tons of fly ash, soot and dust are dumped on every square mile of downtown Windsor each month by passing boats, waterfront industry and railroad locomotives.

Samuel C. Boyle, chief smoke inspector, reported the figure to an Ontario Provincial Parliament subcommittee yesterday.

He said steel mills around Detroit, across the Detroit River, were the chief offenders. He cited the Great Lakes Steel Corp. in Ecorse and River Rouge, Mich., and the Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn.

Boyle said European ships cause the least smoke while Canadian vessels cause the most. Most ocean going ships are Diesel powered while a number of Great Lakes vessels burn coal.

Three American railroads operating in the Windsor area have been converted almost entirely to Diesel locomotives, Boyle said.

African Gold Coast farmers are rapidly mechanizing the growing of rice.

30,000 New Phone Books Being Distributed Today

BIRMINGHAM — Residents are being asked to give a thorough shaking to their 1954 telephone directories, clearing out all possible hidden loot, papers, etc., for distribution of 30,000 new phone books which started today.

In making the suggestion, A. H. Warner, manager of the local Michigan Bell Telephone Co., said last year's editions will be picked up in exchange for the new buff-colored ones. He added that the current printing compared to 26,500 directories needed last year.

By way of further comparison, he noted that this year's printing of the Southfield Township issue is 13,650 as opposed to 8,700 in 1954; for Mayfair, the 6,000 copies adds 800 over last year's requirements.

Warner also pointed out that large spaces have again been provided on the front of each directory, where fire and police emergency telephone numbers can be written.

"You're faced with quite a dilemma, if you must make the choice of protecting your country or your youth," jibed Mayor Charles Renfrew to City Commissioner Florence Willett at this week's meeting.

Mrs. Willett had just questioned use of the city's Walker Gravel Pit property for a Ground Observer Corps post, since she has been trying to work up citizen interest in a driver training program for youth, which could be conducted there.

The present GOC post atop Baldwin School has been termed inadequate by the U. S. Air Force. Lawmakers advised further study of the problem.

A 14-year-old Birmingham boy has admitted responsibility for what police estimated roughly at $300 damage to a $65,000 home under construction at 555 Lake Park. Owner of the house is Norman Michael of Detroit.

The boy was picked up yesterday after almost two months of police investigation, during which time the basement of the home had been flooded with a sump pump, windows had been broken, and three installed telephones stolen.

Officers said the juvenile admitted all the destruction, including kicking out a boarded-up area placed there to prevent his entry and across which he had written "You can't keep me out." He has been released to his parents, who, according to police, will be probably be ordered to make restitution. At the discretion of police the case could be filed in probate court.

Jury Exonerates Mrs. Woodward

move to her town house in Manhattan.

Mrs. Woodward was in the grand jury chambers more than three hours but spent only part of that time in the witness chair.

For the fourth time, the Kansas-born Mrs. Woodward, who met her millionaire-husband while a show girl in a New York night club, told essentially this same story:

She had been in fear of a prowler active in the vicinity of the Woodwards' estate the weekend of the killing. She and her husband armed themselves with shotguns when they returned from the party and retired to separate bedrooms on opposite sides of a 10-foot-wide hallway.

Awakened by the barking of the family dog, she said, she grabbed the shotgun, opened her bedroom door and fired blindly into the darkened hallway in the direction of a noise.

Her husband, unclad and unarmed, had been standing in his own doorway and was struck in the head by a shotgun blast.

One witness was Paul Wirths, 22-year-old German refugee who admitted earlier to police he previously broke into the garage and a bathhouse near the outdoor swimming pool on the Woodward 60-acre estate.

Wirths, picked up by authorities in connection with the looting of another home in the area, first denied he had been prowling about the Woodward home the morning of the fatal shooting.

Later, he said he had been on the roof above Mrs. Woodward's bedroom when he heard the shotgun go off.

Wirths, in a recent re-enactment, climbed a tree and scrambled onto the roof above Mrs. Woodward's first-floor bedroom. Detectives below said they plainly could hear the composition roof creaking as Wirths moved about.

The jury indicted Wirths on three counts of burglary and one of petty larceny. The charges stem from the theft of a home in Hempstead, L. I., and are not related directly to the Woodward case.

Motor City Youth Has His 'Masterpiece' Stolen

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—They say art thieves only take masterpieces.

Ten-year-old Timothy Mitchell of Detroit had a self portrait called "Cowboy Boogie at Library Recital" stolen from the J. B. Speed museum. His painting is among 100 self-portraits in a traveling exhibit sponsored by Junior Arts and Activities magazine.

The fifth grader's painting was a 9 by 12 inch watercolor.

Group to Attend State Conference on Welfare

A number of Pontiac residents interested in community problems concerning welfare of children, vocational rehabilitation and related fields plan to attend the Michigan Welfare Conference Monday in Grand Rapids.

Meetings open to laymen as well as social workers will be held through Wednesday at the Hotel Pantlind.

Howard Estes, manager of the Oakland County Infirmary, is scheduled to discuss "New Housing Projects for the Aging."

Those planning to attend include: Miss Oriel Endelman, director of the Michigan Children's Aid Society office here, and two of her case workers, Miss Mary Lou Fjeldahl and Mrs. Ann Waltersdorf.

Others are Leonard Jegels, of the Catholic Family Center; Arthur Heaton, of the Oakland County CIO Council; Frank Derso, Roland Curtis, Robert Hatfield and Michael MacAleer, all of local unions. Mrs. Calvin Dennison will represent the Central Volunteer Bureau.

The annual conference is sponsored by 63 health, welfare and youth organizations.

Elderly Traffic Victim Is Reported Recovering

Admitted to Pontiac General Hospital yesterday with multiple lacerations and a concussion, 68-year-old Stephen Campbell of Drayton Plains was reported in "good" condition this morning.

Campbell was riding in a car driven by Martha E. Owen, 49, also of Drayton Plains, when it ran off Squirrel road near Walton boulevard yesterday afternoon.

WALT DISNEY'S True Life Adventures

Santa Claus and Yule Tree Getting Nod From Pulpits

By GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Religious Writer

Santa Claus grew up next-door to a church. And he has friends in the pulpit.

Although some critics argue that non-religious features like Santa don't really belong in Christmas, the jolly old fellow gets an approving nod from the Christian ministry.

"He is part of the whole cherished tradition," says Dr. Jesse Stitt, pastor of the Village Presbyterian Church in New York.

And right there in Greenwich Village is where Santa—or St. Nick—got his start in a poem 132 years ago about the "Night before Christmas."

Said Dr. Stitt:

"What may seem to some to be the accessories of Christmas really through the ages have given content to the traditional day of the birth of Christ."

Things like tinseled trees, heaps of wrapped gifts, dangling mistletoe, candy and nuts and big, fragrant dinners may not be specifically religious in nature, but they've become part of the idea.

"The customs of Christmas are Christmas itself," Dr. Stitt said. "They enhance the story of the star, the manger, the Wise Men from afar and the message of those who sang peace on earth, good will to men."

Through the centuries, Christmas has taken on many adjuncts and customs that weren't part of it at first, and which are themselves not derived from Scripture or church.

"In fact," Dr. Stitt noted, "in the early days of Christianity the first Christians appropriated customs from pre-christian celebrations and put a Christian interpretation upon them."

Probably the oldest initial Christian practice is that of gift-giving, which goes back to that first Christmas in Bethlehem when the Wise Men brought gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh to the Christ child.

"The love and good will that animates the giving of gifts today," Dr. Stitt said, "is but an outward expression of what Christians through the centuries have felt about the birth of Christ—that it was the great gift to the world."

But what about those decorations? All those glowing lights, colored streamers, peppermint sticks and shining tinsel that festoon the tree and the rooms? Are those truly part of the Christmas spirit?

Well, the use of green trees to decorate homes first got started back in the Roman Empire as a custom of pagan holidays. But the tradition also has Christian origins in the legend of St. Joseph of Arimathea.

It's said that he planted his staff in the earth, and that thereafter, the staff brought forth leaves and blossomed in beauty every Christmas.

"Things like the Christmas tree help preserve the occasion in our minds," Dr. Stitt said. "They give us memories that last through the years—an image or picture that we can put our finger on."

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1955

Frank G. Ely

Both nature and destiny collaborated to make FRANK G. ELY the kind of citizen who couldn't help contributing significantly to his home community.

In his 87 years of busy and constructive life he acquired valuable experience in business and local government.

He was associated with his father for a quarter century in the mercantile business in Davisburg. Mr. ELY came to Pontiac in 1913 to engage in real estate and insurance.

To him belongs the distinction of being the City's last precommission-manager mayor and its first City manager when the new charter went into effect in 1920.

In 1934 Mr. ELY became interested in banking and when the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Association was organized, he was appointed its secretary and treasurer. For his relatives and many friends the sadness of Mr. ELY's last illness was intensified by the death of his wife, Mrs. HARRIET REED ELY, ten days ago. He will be missed by older residents in the Davisburg area and this City as one who played an important role in the earlier days of modern Pontiac.

Pentagon Will Reveal Junketeer Flight Cost

A Washington dispatch says the Pentagon has decided to reveal how many Congressmen used military transport for overseas travel and how many took their wives, aides and guests along.

This decision was reached on the urging of a nonjunketing member of Congress. It came in encouraging contrast to the refusal by the Government owned Panama Canal Co. to tell how many Congressmen are taking 15-day cruises to Panama on company liners at taxpayers expense.

Also withheld is how many Congressmen are taking their wives along at reduced rates. W. M. WHITMAN, company secretary, said such secrecy is a long standing policy.

Inasmuch as some 400 members of Congress are believed to have taken trips this year, it will be several weeks before the Defense Department can report on junket expenses. To do so it will be necessary to examine several thousand flight manifests and changes of itineraries.

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon's decision to publicize these junket costs is a long step in the right direction. The practice of withholding them, which has prevailed so far, undoubtedly has encouraged many Congressional joyrides. Congressional authorization of full publicity would discourage unnecessary trips.

Peak Revenue Brings Budget Balance Near

One of the politically potent facts of the day is the probability that the Federal budget soon can be brought into balance.

This revelation came from no less authoritative source than Budget Director ROWLAND HUGHES. He has notified President EISENHOWER that the Government hopes to balance the Federal budget not only for the fiscal year ending next June 30, but for the following year.

That cheering possibility in the face of heavy defense expenditures is the direct result of our current unprecedented prosperity. Federal revenues, especially from corporations, have been pushed to unexpectedly high levels.

Budget Director HUGHES' report is good news for everyone. It is more than ever so because of the probability that Congress will vote an election year tax cut. Such relief, naturally, would be more acceptable if justified by a Federal budget in balance.

★ ★ ★

All this is the best possible campaign ammunition for Republicans. Balancing of the budget makes good an EISENHOWER promise to the voters. Opposition campaigners are going to find it very difficult to attack present prosperity with any hope of success.

Credit Brakes Applied

When four Federal Reserve Banks raised their discount rates from 2¼ to 2½ per cent they were making wise use of credit brakes.

This is a very efficient governmental weapon against runaway prosperity. It operates to reduce borrowing all along the line and narrows the margin of profit a borrower can make with the capital thus obtained.

Use of this brake is important at a time when business plans for vast expansion are the basis of hope for continued heavy consumer buying. The effect is to check creation of new bank deposits which are the normal result of loans and which exert new demands on production capacity.

The anticipated record volume of holiday buying involves the assumption that job opportunities will continue to be plentiful. If our economy is as healthy as it appears to be, this rise in the bank rate will be taken in stride.

The People's Business

Policy Questioned

State Fires and Rehires Detroit Real Estate Man

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING—Things in state government it's hard to understand:

Just what do you have to do to get fired from a state job?

• • •

State government was literally stunned this week when the State Civil Service Commission reinstated Harold G. Groehn, deputy corporations and securities commissioner. Groehn had been fired for engaging in real estate dealings at the same time he was regulating the real estate business in Detroit.

Now if the commission had found that Groehn was not conducting a private business which might conflict with his state duties that would be one thing.

But the commission said timidly that it viewed with "concern" the fact that Groehn was actually doing this and told him to stop it. But the commission said that it felt that Groehn had not been sufficiently advised that he should not serve two masters.

The question state government asks of Civil Service Commission:

"Just how naive can you be?"

WHO'S KIDDING WHOM

A second puzzle, albeit a kind of silly one, is who is kidding whom with the State Administrative Board's semimonthly "civics lesson?"

• • •

Gov. Williams, blessed with his first Democratic-controlled Administrative Board in seven years, ordered the board, which meets twice a month, to listen to a lecture on the Constitution from the attorney general at each meeting.

So each meeting, after the prayer and pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, other Williams' innovations, Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh explains one section of the Constitution to the other board members, all elective state officials who swore a year ago to uphold that document.

It has always been presumed that top state officials read this venerable document themselves and are guided by it.

• • •

At the present rate, Kavanagh will finish his lecture four years and nine months from now because he still has about 115 sections to go.

Question: Do these fellows figure on being in office that long?

STRANGE QUIRK

What kind of mental quirk is guiding the State Conservation Commission?

The commission has persistently rejected the suggestion of various sportsmen's groups to bring in an outside expert for an evaluation of the job it is doing in protecting and developing Michigan's natural resources.

• • •

These groups have recommended the state bring in Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, former chief of the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service and now director of the National Wildlife Management Institute.

Days of All Faiths

Advent Has Always Been Gay Time Despite Its Original Solemn Intent

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The four-Sunday season of Advent always begins on the Sunday nearest Nov. 30, which means it can begin on any date from Nov. 27 to Dec. 3. Sunday is the earliest possible date for the beginning of Advent.

• • •

The word Advent means "coming," and the season is so named because it is a time for preparation for the coming of Christ as commemorated at Christmas time.

Besides being a time of preparation for the Christmas festival, Advent is also, by implication, a time of special emphasis on the readying of men's hearts for the long-awaited second coming of Christ. The season, always kept by Roman and Eastern Catholics, Anglicans and Lutherans, is now being increasingly observed by many other churches.

An ancient principle in nearly all religions is that any great festival is preceded by a fast. Advent, because it lends up to one of the high points of the Christian year, was intended to be a season of penitence and strict fasting, but somehow it has never held on to the somber tone it is supposed to have.

One might blame the merchants, whose frantic advertising has turned the whole autumn into a Christmas shopping season, but that would not be quite fair. Even in medieval times a good deal of hilarity kept creeping in to upset the penitential character of Advent.

Advent ought to be as serious as Lent, but the Church hasn't been able to keep it so. Perhaps this is because the joy of Christmas just won't wait until Dec. 25; more likely it is because the winter solstice since primitive times has put a festive quality into the whole month of December. At any rate, Advent has always refused to stay solemn.

BOY-BISHOP CUSTOM

One example of Advent high jinks in olden times was the custom in medieval cathedrals of choosing a boy from the cathedral choir and making him a mock-bishop. The election took place on Dec. 5 and the boy-bishop held office, wearing the full regalia of a bishop and getting away with an outrageous burlesque of the dignitary he was impersonating, until December 28.

The custom was abolished in England by Henry VIII, but it is being revived nowadays in some English cathedrals, although the antics of modern boy-bishops are considerably subdued.

Another old Advent custom involving children was the exorcising of vermin and harmful animals in the fields of Normandy. Children were given torches and sent about to set fire to the rubble and straw in the fields, shouting all the while a formula by which mice, caterpillars, moles, etc. were supposed to be driven out.

Only children could perform this ceremony, for anyone over the age of 12 had already lost the innocence that gave him power over animals.

SEPARATION OF WATERS

Wednesday, Nov. 30 at Avignon, in France, they will be celebrating a miracle known as the Separation of the Waters, which occurred there on Nov. 30, 1433.

The story is that there was a great flood caused by the overflowing of three rivers—the Rhone, the Durance and the Sorgue—and that the water rose around the Church of the Gray Penitents and finally inside it to a point where the brothers of that Order began to fear it might reach the altar and come into contact with the Sacrament.

Some of the brothers hastily found a boat and rowed their way into the church. There they found the water separated in front of the altar as if by two glass walls. The altar itself was perfectly dry.

The miracle is said to have been witnessed by 12 of the Gray Penitents, three Doctors of Theology and a large number of devout laymen.

Many Altruistic Women Find Outlet in Church Nursery Volunteer Work

Anne Jones is mothering the children of other parents and inspiring them to religious idealism, even as she teaches them reading, writing and arithmetic. Some of the best "mothers" on earth never have children of their own but simply foster-parent the youngsters of other women by serving as school teachers.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Q-306: Anne Jones, aged about 25, teaches 1st grade in the Riverside Presbyterian week-day school at Jacksonville, Florida.

"Dr. Crane, I want you to visit her room with me," said Dr. Albert J. Kissling, the popular pastor of that great church.

• • •

"Anne loves every child in her room. And she accomplishes miracles with them, too.

"She also has a lot of ingenuity as you'll see as soon as we reach the door to her classroom."

And Dr. Kissling was correct. When we arrived at the white door, we found black imprints of children's feet across the top and down both sides.

Miss Jones had let each of her youngsters place its foot in some black paint and then make its individual footprint around the frame of the doorway.

And across the top was printed this appropriate statement to make those footprints more relevant:

"We will walk into this day with God."

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

"Fixing up this doorway was an exciting little ceremony," Miss Jones said.

"It simply required a little black paint, turpentine, a ladder and many wee feet, plus a strong back to lift the children high as we approached the top of the door.

"When all the footprints were clearly made, we knelt at the threshold and prayers were said in simple love and trust to the Guide above.

"And ever since that memorable dedication, we always kneel at the same threshold the first thing each morning."

• • •

It was a very pleasant surprise to me to find such a beautiful school being run as an adjunct of this Presbyterian church.

It started originally as a day Nursery School for toddlers. But their parents were so delighted with the results, that they petitioned to have the school extended into the first grade.

Several leading denominations, such as the Lutherans and Roman Catholics, have maintained church operated grammar schools and even high schools for their youngsters.

Most of the other denominations have not seen fit to compete with the public schools in teaching arithmetic, geography, etc.

But certainly it would be a desirable innovation if most of our city churches conducted Nursery Schools for the toddlers under kindergarten age.

For then the working widows would be able to relax more fully knowing their youngsters were in a church operated Nursery School.

• • •

Furthermore, many harassed mothers who can't find baby sitters on a moment's notice, could avail themselves of the church Nursery School when they needed to fulfill a dental appointment or do necessary shopping.

PAY SCHOOLS

Not only could the women's societies of the churches make money for missionary projects by thus operating pay Nursery Schools but they would furnish an opportunity for more women volunteers to help.

Church day Nursery Schools offer a concrete outlet for the altruism of thousands of fine women who beg for opportunities to do good.

Remember, a livewire church should be functioning at least 12 hours per day and seven days per week!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Many Times the Safest Place to Have Your Baby Is at Home, Columnist Says

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

My husband and I have read with great interest your articles about having babies at home . . . expecting our first . . . names of doctors in Waukesha . . . (Mrs.—)

Answer—I'm sorry I can't afford to compile and maintain a directory. Fifty miles due west of Waukesha, another correspondent tells me, the hospital provides the Read method, rooming-in and encourages the expectant father to share in the miracle. Of course your own home would be the safest place to have your baby. Send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet Preparing for Maternity, Read Childbirth Without Fear by Dr. Grantly Dick Read. You will get a good deal of practical help from Helen Heardman's Natural Childbirth.

I have what doctors call tic douloureux. I'm trying to fight it, as they want to take out my teeth and I don't want that. (W. F. H.)

Answer — In your place I'd change doctors. Inhalations of trichlorethylene have eased the pain in many instances. Deep injection of the alcohol into the nerve gives complete relief for months, sometimes permanent relief.

Happy to report that I had baby No. 2 in a twenty-first century hospital, complete with Read method, rooming-in, Daddy present. Total cost (because of our financial status) $90, including all doctor and hospital fees, at the Wisconsin General, now called University Hospital. (Mrs.—)

Answer — I congratulate you and the progressive physicians of Madison. Within the next five or ten years the newborn nursery (show window of nineteenth century lying-in institutions will be converted into storage bins, guinea pig pens or pants-pressing shops.

My dad has what the doctors call Parkinson's—(R. M.)

Answer — Annoying, isn't it? But he must not let it get him down. He must keep doing something, anything at all, to avoid just idling. Several laddiebucks with Parkinson's affliction, shaking palsy, paralysis, agitans, get a lot of fun and real benefit gamboling on the bowling green. So the best thing you can do for dad is to keep him doing something, so he won't just sit there and "freeze." Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet on Parkinson's tremor.

We have fewer doctor bills since 1946 when we began following your advice, and we and our children enjoy better health all around . . . (R. J. H.)

Answer—Not so loud!—I can cope with the trick specialists and clinic racketeers, but if the real doctors should gang up on me, goodbye.

We lived in Geneva . . . near your lovely Penn Yan and Canandaigua certainly beautiful country . . . son, nearly six, still wets the bed . . . tried everything, but it still continues . . . (C. J M.)

Answer—Maybe it is endemic—I had it when I was a boy on Chapel Street in Canandaigua—and a little later, when I was a boy trying to raise a mustache and sideburns in Penn Yan, I treated a fine 18-year-old boy for the same identical trouble—We had to make him dry so he could accept an appointment. Bed-wetting is a habit, and kindness and understanding is indispensable for correction of the habit. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and inclose 35 cents for Little Lesson 26, The Calcium Shortage and the pamphlet The Bed-Wetting Habit.

Your article about chamomile tea for varicose veins and varicose ulcer . . . (C. R. J.)

Answer — Send stamped, self-dressed envelope and ask for pamphlet on Varicose Veins and Varicose Ulcer. Instructions for use of chamomile tea to keep painful leg ulcer moist and promote healing are given in the pamphlet. But I do not mean to say chamomile tea has any effect on varicose veins.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Pontiac Driver Tells Why He's in Favor of Turnpikes

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature

I am overwhelmingly in favor of turnpike roads, and in favor of having a Turnpike Authority in Michigan. I have been on the Pennsylvania Turnpike several times, and the first week in October I went to Cleveland and drove on the Ohio Turnpike.

Of course, we must have free roads available at all times, but the mistakes and abuses in building freeways are what make me so definitely in favor of turnpikes to supplement free roads.

We have turnpikes in other states, roads which were constructed purely for the purpose of motor travel, and there are no stoplights, intersections, side roads or railroad crossings to impede traffic. There are no billboards to mar the view and the entire road is a pleasure to see and drive on.

There has been pressure apparently brought to bear in the case of every freeway constructed. Because the main roads bisect the business district in every town, and if a by-way road is built, it soon becomes a bottleneck because of new construction permitted at intersections.

Turnpike Authority eliminates this, and the turnpike is purely for travel. Anyone who wants to know the difference can just travel once on a turnpike.

Of course I could use the freeways if I wanted to, but I wouldn't. They don't save you as much money and time as the turnpike does. I'm for any kind of better roads, provided they include turnpikes.

Let's get behind the move to have turnpikes to supplement freeways. We need both.

VOTERS DEFEAT new county building.

BRAZIL IN state of siege as rebellion covers nation.

James W. Clapp Quotes Old 'Michigan Farmer'

In going over copies of the old Michigan Farmer of 1883 to 1886, I found quite a number of interesting items as to the events of those years.

One item of March 30, 1886 was "The vote to grant a water works franchise at Pontiac was defeated by less than 60 votes. Everybody who is posted on the subject regrets the action, saying the project was unusually favorable to the city."

Another is "The Pontiac Gazette bids for the farmer with a potato raised by David Althouse of Thomas, weighing nine pounds and ten ounces." The Farmer editor had a wee doubt on that one.

"A Brighton Business man offers a coffin as an inducement to patrons who buy $40 worth of goods from him. A coffin is a cheerful ornament to a sitting room."

"The Port Huron Times tells about a woman begging there door to door, telling a hardluck story about her starving children, etc. Looking out of the window one of her listeners asked if that ragged boy outside was hers. She said he was. So the householder went to the door and called the lad in to get something to eat, his mother having said he had not eaten since the day before. He protested greatly against accepting the invitation, saying 'Darn it all, have I got to eat again!' "

My last item from 1884: "Pontiac is all out of debt now."

See New Farm Plan in Making

Minneapolis Paper Says Farmers to Be Paid for Untilled Land

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Minneapolis Tribune says that the Agriculture Department plans a "conservation acreage reserve" program which will provide for paying farmers up to $5,000 a year for taking land out of production.

Details of the proposals were told by the Tribune in a copyrighted story from its Washington bureau.

* * *

The plan envisions government expenditure of almost $1,400,000,000 the next 15 years in a move to reduce farm production and promote soil conservation.

* * *

Under the plan, the government would pay the cost of installing soil-conversation cover on land taken out of production. In addition, there would be payments up to $5,000 annually to compensate for the value of crops not produced on the reserve land.

Farmers would be permitted to take part in the program and still use this reserved land for pasturing livestock. But acreage put under this program would be in addition to acreage already put in cover crops or left fallow as a routine conservation measure.

* * *

The plan is identical to the one submitted for approval last week to a top-level agricultural commission which advises Secretary Benson.

* * *

By 1969(the year when the plan would end if it is approved by Congress at the next session, more than a million farmers would have taken 23 million acres from production of commercial crops for periods of from five to 10 years.

Santa Fractures Leg as Yuletide Nears

MARSHALL, Mo. (AP) — 'Twas a month before Christmas, and all through the house, not a creature was stirring, except Santa Claus, and he's sorry about that.

Because Santa Claus now is laid up with a triple leg fracture.

The Rev. Santa Claus, an elderly retired minister, broke his left leg in three places yesterday when,as he started up a flight of stairs in his home a board broke and his leg twisted under him.

The Rev. Claus is reported to be resting comfortably in a Marshall hospital, his leg in a cast.

He still expects to read, however, the hundreds of letters he gets yearly just before Christmas.

Report French Jets Exported to Israel

Precede Rome Deliver ta131

PARIS (AP)—An authorized French source said today that a number of Ouragan fighter planes had been shipped to Israel.

* * *

The annoucement came in the wake of reports from Rome that eight to ten French jet planes had passed through Ciampino Airport today on the way to Israel. There they were tentatively identified as the latest model of French fighter called the Mystere.

Questioned about this, the French Foreign Office said flatly that no authorizations had been given for export of Mysteres to Israel.

From an authorized source however it was learned that a number of Ouragan fighters are already in Israel and that shipment of others had been authorized.

* * *

The Ouragan fighter has a top speed of about 550 miles an hour. About 350 of them have been manufactured so far but they have been outclassed by the French Mystere and generally are considered somewhat behind planes from a number of manufacturers in other countries.

U.N. Group Dodges 'Wine' Clause

ROME (AP)—The U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization has sidestepped the question of encouraging wine drinking.

* * *

The maneuver came yesterday when the FAO voted to recommend that its 71 member nations adopt policies to encourage trade in "grapes and grape products."

The original resolution before the organization read "grapes and wine" instead of "grapes and grape products." It was warmly supported by such winemaking countries as France, Spain, Italy, Belgium, Germany and Greece.

The grape products term was substituted after Nazir Ahmad of Pakistan asked:

"I wonder if it would be appropriate for the FAO to be promoting drunkenness in the world?"

A British delegate, referring to the matter as a social problem, said he didn't see how, as a representative of Britain's government, he could go on record favoring an increased consumption of wine.

Norway and Sweden also opposed the original resolution.

Michel Cepede of France and other delegates from wineproducing lands defended the inclusion of wine as an important agricultural product.

Cepede commented that wine and other products like tobacco, tea and coffee were the base of "a certain number of agreeable things in modern civilization."

The compromise wording making the resolution read "grape products" was proposed by U Thet Su of Burma.

The FAO, winding up a three-week meeting yesterday, concluded that the best way to get food to the millions of hungry people in the world was to put more money in their pockets. It had no new or startling suggestions for a solution but it stressed the need for a concerted attack by member governments on the problems of surplus food in some countries and bad nutrition in others.

It also outlined a long-range program to survey the worlds food resources.

Repairing Items May Be Pleasant Christmas Gifts

NEW YORK (INS)—Some of the most welcome Christmas gifts aren't found under the tree—but the lack of surprise doesn't take away from the pleasure they bring.

* * *

If Mother has a favorite chair with a good frame that she never quite gets around to having repaired or re-upholstered, she might really appreciate your having it redone.

Perhaps a favorite piece of diamond jewelry has an outdated setting. You can make arrangements to visit the jeweler before Christmas and work out a new setting. The result is a brand new-looking piece of jewelry.

The man of the family often struggles to polish the family car, only to bemoan the fact that the finish has become dull shortly after. You can please him by arranging for a spic and span wax job with the local garage.

Another gift, which will please the whole family, is a second telephone, perhaps in the kitchen to save mother steps, or else in the playroom or bedroom.

* * *

Young people coming home from school often battle about who gets to use the family car. One car renting outfit suggests you rent a new car for the two week vacation period to give junior a Christmas treat and save the rest of the family from becoming pedestrians.

Norman Hartnell of London predicts the Durban coast of South Africa can become a new, and cheaper, Riviera.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

THE CHIPMUNK LOSES HIS ACORN DINNER

The chipmunk, a lively little fellow often called a ground squirrel, has dark markings on each side of his brown and gray body.

He lives in a burrow with several tunnels leading from it to the surface of the ground above. During the winter he stays in it and eats the nuts and small fruits he has collected.

This little chipmunk has collected acorns to take home, but they have disappeared from the stone wall where he left them for a minute.

Paste this picture on stiff paper and color with crayons. The sky behind the red and brown oak leaves is bright blue. The wall has different tinted stones in it.

Cut out the picture along the heavy outline. Cut out the chipmunk's head and tail so they will stand up above the wall.

Fold back along the top of the wall. Fold forward on the second dotted line and press up against the background. Now the acorns will disappear and the chipmunk will wonder what happened to them. You can find them for him by opening out the picture.

Power Contract Probe Reopens

Kefauver Sets Hearing for 'Criminal' Actions Involving Officials

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) says his Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee will reopen hearings on the repudiated Dixon-Yates contract because, in his words, "there is most certainly a criminal side to this case."

* * *

In announcing that the inquiry would be resumed Dec. 2, Kefauver said yesterday the subcommittee will search for what he said could be a "criminal conspiracy involving a number of high ranking persons."

The Atomic Energy Commission had said Wednesday that the contract "is not an obligation which can be recognized by the United States," and indicated it would pay no damages to the Dixon-Yates group for cancellation of the contract. It said a "conflict of interest" was involved, and possibly a violation of the law.

* * *

Kefauver said the AEC's decision "amounts to a declaration that the contract reeks with fraud." But he said in a statement that the repudiation action "is on the civil side" and added:

". . . There is most certainly a criminal side to this case also, and I believe that before we are through we may find a case of criminal conspiracy involving a number of high ranking persons.

* * *

"We shall endeavor to do our duty and finish our job."

The disputed contract called for private construction of a generating plant at West Memphis, Ark., to produce power destined for the lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority. The AEC signed it a year ago at the direction of President Eisenhower.

Handle Woolen Fabrics Gently When Washing

By International News Service

When you first wash those Christmans gifts made of wood fabrics —handle them gently, please.

Even wool materials that are shrink-resistant will get stiff as felt when not done up properly. A gentle washing with mild soap and lukewarm water will do the trick.

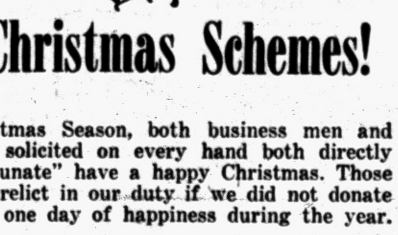

Water for washing woolens should be about the same temperature as that used for baby's bath.

A Fool and His Money Are Soon Parted--
When He Takes Part in Christmas Schemes!

With the advent of the Christmas Season, both business men and members of the public will be solicited on every hand both directly and by mail to help the "unfortunate" have a happy Christmas. Those of us who are able, would be derelict in our duty if we did not donate to help the needy have at least one day of happiness during the year.

But, let's don't be a Santa Claus to the promoters. They are master-psychologists and always attempt to prey on the "milk" of human kindness and our generosity during the Christmas season.

Based on past performances the following are some of the Christmas schemes you may expect:

1. Solicitations by mail to help some underprivileged charitable or patriotic group in which the promoter gets the "lion's share" of the proceeds.
2. The same kind of scheme, based on the shipment of unordered merchandise, such as greeting cards, neckties, handkerchiefs, aprons, pencils, etc.
3. Attempts to sell advertising space in holiday issues of publications that have no established circulation and which is sold on the basis of helping some cause.
4. Sale by sidewalk hawkers of gift merchandise which can be purchased at local stores at much lower prices.
5. Solicitations for donations and prizes for bazaars by unknown religious groups to help the needy.

Plans for a mother-daughter banquet to be held Dec. 14 at Devon Gables were made by (left to right) Pat Zielke of Berwick boulevard, Barbara Lecornu of Rosedale avenue and Sue Elwell of Berwick boulevard. They are members of Bethel Five of the International Order of Job's Daughters, which is sponsoring the dinner for members and their mothers.

Refresh Wardrobe With Season System

Almost every woman has noticed how dowdy her carefully-laundered lingerie looks when put on in combination with a new slip.

Many women solve the matter by the "Easter Outfit" technique, and it works well. A coat or suit, a hat, gloves and a handbag enter the wardrobe at the same time; usually in the fall or spring.

They go through the years together. The second season, the suit can be refreshed with some new accessories, but when the suit or coat leaves the category of "first best" it generally clings to the accessories of almost the same vintage.

Shirley Senters Speaks Bridal Vows in All Saints

A gown of Dupioni Italian silk was worn by Shirley Ann Senters this morning when she became the bride of Lt. Edward Ellison Long.

The Rev. C. George Widdifield of All Saints Episcopal Church performed the 11 o'clock ceremony in the presence of 300 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Senters of Wenonah drive, and Edward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Long of Dearborn.

The bouffant skirt of the bridal gown swept into a circular chapel train. Her bateau neckline was edged in Alencon lace which was repeated in an insert at the waist. The long sleeves of Italian silk ended in points at the wrist.

* * *

A pillbox-type headpiece of Alencon lace and seed pearls secured her shoulder-length veil of French illusion. She carried a prayerbook with gardenias, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Hugh Lee McVeigh of Northville was matron of honor gowned in waltz-length turquoise velvet. Her gown featured a bateau neckline with short sleeves and a fitted bodice with a dropped waistline accented by self buttons down the front and a velvet bow. She wore a matching headpiece.

The other bridal attendants, Carol Ann Long of Dearborn, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Robert Whitelaw Slade of Tacoma Park, Md., and Mrs. Eugene C. Carey, were gowned identically to the matron of honor. They carried natural straw baskets filled with wheat, fall leaves and yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Daniel Whitacre of Allen Park served as best man. Ushers were William Thomas of Detroit, Theodore Poliac of Allen Park, Cadet David Lamar Pepple of New London, Conn., Lt. Robert Whitelaw Slade of Tacoma Park, Md., and Robert McLeod of Lincoln Park.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Senters wore a cocktail-length dress of stone blue delustered satin with accessories of bronze. Her corsage was of brown cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Long was gowned in wedgwood blue lace with beige accessories. She wore a corsage of a single lavender orchid.

The reception was held at Rotunda Inn immediately following the ceremony.

* * *

When the newlyweds left on a tour of the Eastern states, the new Mrs. Long was wearing a teal blue wool suit with black accessories.

Nolda Lenz Becomes Bride in Flint Rite

Nolda Lenz, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arnold P. Lenz of Pontiac, was married today in Christ Episcopal Church of Flint in a 4:30 o'clock ceremony.

* * *

The bridegroom, Kenneth Norwood Cooper of Detroit, is the son of Mrs. L. M. Cooper, also of Detroit.

For her wedding Nolda chose a gown of Chantilly lace over satin featuring a scoop neckline. Accenting the floor-length gown was a scalloped edging.

A veil of lace edged with tiny seed pearls fell from the crown of tulle, and she carried a semi-colonial bouquet of Georgiana orchids and stephanotis.

* * *

Mrs. Donald Osborne Jr. was her sister's matron of honor, and other attendants were Barbara Lenz, another sister, and Mrs. John Cameron of Ann Arbor.

They wore gowns of periwinkle blue heavy slipper satin featuring full skirts. Their halos were of matching velvet tubing scattered with sequins.

Orchids and English ivy formed the bouquets of the bridal attendants.

Performing the duties of best man was Donald Richards of Detroit, and ushers were Bert Cooper, Fred Ratzow and Walter Pichette of Mount Clemens and Don Cooper of Grand Rapids.

* * *

A reception followed the rite at the Flint Golf Club, after which the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in California.

Upon their return they will live in Detroit.

Anne E. McHugh, William O. Cagney Exchange Vows

BIRMINGHAM—Anne Elizabeth McHugh, daughter of Mrs. Donald Thaddeus McHugh of Bloomfield court, and the late Mr. McHugh, was married at 11 o'clock this morning at Holy Name Church to William Owens Cagney, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cagney of Scotts, Mich.

* * *

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle and godfather, Ted McHugh of Scotts. Her gown was of white peau de soie with a heart-shaped neckline and a small chapel train with pearl appliques. a matching fitted cap held a fingertip veil of illusion and she carried white orchids and fugi chrysanthemums with ivy.

Mrs. Stephen John Drzick was her sister's only attendant. She wore a turquoise taffeta frock in waltz length, and carried yellow fugi chrysanthemums and ivy.

George Maurice Cagney was his brother's best man, and ushers were Stephen J. Drzick, James Northem, Frank Barrett and William Henderson.

* * *

Mrs. McHugh wore pale blue satin and Mrs. Cagney wore navy crepe. Both chose white orchid corsages.

The wedding breakfast was served in the Kingsley Inn immediately following the ceremony.

After a wedding trip to California the couple will live on Bishop road, Scotts.

* * *

For traveling the bride wore a charcoal ensemble.

Mrs. Luther Lawrence of Wing Lake will be hostess at dinner for the North Suburban Chi Omega Alumnae Dec. 8.

Mrs. Robert Meschke is chairman and Mrs. E. A. Burgess will arrange the program.

Frank Poretta, tenor and winner of the Grinnell Operatic Scholarship, will be presented at the next meeting of Cranbrook Music Guild Tuesday at Cranbrook House.

Los Pachucki, young New York pianist, will also be on the program.

2 Ribbed Jerseys

On some Paris-styled models plain and ribbed jersey is combined. A hazel-nut colored dress of plain jersey is trimmed with a rib-knit collar, cuffs and pickets and is shown with a jersey cloche hat and even a round little muff made of the rib-knitted version.

Jean B. Case Reveals Plans for Jan. 21 Rite

Jean B. Case, bride-elect of James G. Love, has revealed attendants for her wedding Jan. 21 in Central Methodist Church.

Beverly Silk will serve as maid of honor. Other attendants will be Mrs. Edward A. Case, Francis Case and Peggy Ann Case, who will be junior bridesmaid.

Flower girl will be Jill Case.

The bride-elect's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Case of Belmont avenue, and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Tucker of Royal Oak.

A recent shower honoring Jean was given by Mrs. Edward A. Case.

Birthdays Marked by Loyal Neighbors

The birthdays of Mrs. Robert Tedder and Mrs. Etta McKinney were celebrated by the Loyal Neighbors of Going Street.

Mrs. Bristol Lucas was hostess to the group at the recent meeting. She was assisted by Mrs. Harold Mills, Mrs. Albert Brewster and Mrs. Herbert Arthur.

Do Belt Tricks

Lanvin-Castillo has a black box-calf belt with a gold metal chain wound around it in a spirtal. You can do the trick yourself by winding even a polished dog-chain—around one of your belts and attaching both ends of the chain to the inside. You can make a dressy cocktail belt by winding a long string of beads or pearls around a suede belt.

Typical of the new trend toward lighter and brighter colors for men next spring is this sports outfit. The three button jacket is wool yarn, in beige, white and muted black stripe effect. It is teamed with tapered tropical worsted slacks in a burnt grass, gray green shade.

Symphony Will Play Tone-Poem

Another Michigan composer will be heard at the next concert of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra on Dec. 7—this time Homer La Gassey, assistant director of music education in the Detroit schools and supervisor of instrumental music in the elementary and intermediate schools.

* * *

The orchestra will play his tone-poem "Sequoia," originally written for orchestra and later transcribed for band. This composition has been played by major instrumental groups throughout the country, including the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, and was conducted by Eugene Ormandy on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour.

Mr. La Gassey began his musical career at the piano at the age of 8 and has since studied with prominent teachers both here and in Europe. In addition to more than 30 years in the field of music education, he has had many years of professional experience as pianist and conductor.

He has served as program director and guest conductor at the National Music Camp at Interlochen and choral director on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour. In 1945 he organized the 90-piece Faculty Symphony Orchestra of Detroit and was conductor of that group until 1950.

For the past several years, Mr. La Gassey has been professionally engaged as conductor of the Detroit Federation of Musicians Park Band during the summer season.

He has made numerous appearances as adjudicater and conductor of bands and orchestras throughout the Middle West. He holds a master of music degree from the Detroit Institute of Musical Art and master of education degree from Wayne University.

HOMER LaGASSEY

"Sequoia" is a tone painting of the giant sequoia and redwood forests in California. Some of these trees have been in existence for over 4,000 years and stand as the oldest living monument in the world.

The majestic grandeur of these great forests is difficult to describe and the composer has attempted to paint a picture in tone which might conjure in the minds of the listeners a small amount of the cathedral-like atmosphere of which one becomes aware when in the presence of great trees.

The composition, which is in sonata-allegra form, was written in 1935, transcribed for symphonic band in 1940, and published as a concert band piece during the summer of 1941.

Both the main and secondary themes are broad in character and pass through several development groups including a lively contrapuntal section which leads to the recapitulation.

Big Choice for Home Decorations

Medium Priced Furnishings Make for Plush Rooms

By KAY SHERWOOD

Shopping around for ideas to freshen up a room this fall?

Well, there's a wealth of help at hand, both for the lady who knows what she wants and the gal who isn't quite sure. In the first place, you'll note a much greater emphasis and wider selection of finely designed medium-priced home furnishings.

* * *

One of the country's noted interior decorators remarked to me not long ago that there is so much good-looking furniture from which to choose that it would be difficult to make a mistake. That, from a man who has created some of the plushiest rooms I've ever seen bolsters confidence.

Ideas served up in newspapers, magazines and model room-settings in stores can broaden our own horizons. Although men are apt to rib us a good deal about our shopping expeditions, a trip to see model rooms in stores is almost as educational in its way as a trip to a museum.

As Rebecca Petrikin, home furnishings coordinator for one of Allied's largest stores, points out: "Today's homemaker is really in luck. Decorators are continually setting up new model rooms that are chock-full of attractive ideas for refurbishing."

* * *

I'll admit some model rooms look discouragingly perfect. But skilled decorators pack ideas for new window treatments, picture groupings, lamp placement, accessory accents and color schemes into their carefully arranged furniture displays.

LAMP TRICKS

For example: One of Miss Petrikin's model settings — pictured with this article — which was planned to show off new, walnut furniture designed by John Van Koert, taught me a trick for pin-up lamps. She used a brass curtain rod to encase the exposed cord dropping from pierced-brass pin-up lamps to the floor outlet.

The emphasis is on a range of neutral beige and deep-brown tones set off by sunny yellow walls.

Luggage Hunter Will Find Variety of Texture, Color

A gal who is about to take off for school this fall has a lavish selection of luggage at the command of her purse.

* * *

Variety of conception, texture and coloration in this fall's luggage means that she can be as luggage-stylish as she is clothes-stylish.

The basic wardrobe of luggage a gal should be building toward will include many of the following: a train box or fitted cosmetics case for toiletries, and weekend trips.

An overnight or weekend bag for hand luggage on a long trip or to hold clothes on a shorter jaunt; a Pullman or wardrobe case that uses hangers for dresses; a hatbox or shoe-and-hatbox; a traveling garment bag for gals who love those frothy skirts; a trunk to ship out-of-season clothing ahead or a wardrobe trunk for suitcase living.

With her immediate needs from among those firmly in her mind, a school gal is then faced with a fine array of luggage styles.

Color is the first choice she must make. Feminine shades are practical as well as popular this fall because the scuff-proof coatings and plastics are easy to keep clean and wear well.

FAVORITE HUES

Pink, mint and gray rank high this fall. White is still a good choice in either rawhide or synthetics. Bright plaids appear in all styles from giant duffel bags to traveling garment bags.

Many gals like to match a case of a solid color to the predominant tones in a plaid bag for a nice coordinated look.

* * *

Most gals know what their favorite coat colors or suit fabrics are. For luggage that will stay coordinated for four years, this taste should stay in mind. Some gals will never be the needlework type, however cute it may appear on the shelf.

Styles offer possibilities for expressing preference, too. There are classically square lines or the newest in rounded molded luggage.

The European look, made light of weight and durable by American manufacturing, is a good bet for the gal who likes antique china. The smooth glossy look in molded fiberglas with aluminum binding is for the gal who prefers shiny plastic.

Fittings inside have been subjected to a little designer know-how, too. Two-compartment totes keep lingerie separate from cosmetics.

Wardrobe cases unfold for quick packing. Some suitcases actually fold flat for storage to enable one to come back with more than one took.

Add to the purchases, if you're in a hurry or budget bound, a strap, handle and wheel kit to go on the biggest bag so it wheels, instead of bumps, along.

For a clean cut through meringue, butter the blade of the pie knife before using.

Be Evasive With Prying Questioners

It is Very Rude to Ask People About Personal Affairs

By EMILY POST

"When people are rude enough to ask personal questions such as 'Do you have a mortgage on your house' or 'How much did you pay for your house,' how does one answer without telling them your business and at the same time not hurting their feelings?

"My husband and I recently bought our own home and some of our relatives and friends are asking these questions which I do not think are any of their business."

Answer: They are very rude to ask you such personal questions and you can answer with any evasive reply you think of, or you can say, "I don't know. John attends to all our financial affairs."

"Dear Mrs. Post: If friends bring gifts to the christening of our new baby, must I write thank-you notes in addition to the thank-you I tell them at the time? My sister says I must, but I think this is overdoing politeness."

Answer: If you open the packages immediately, and thank the givers and show by your manner that you appreciated whatever it was they brought, no written thank-you is necessary—unless there is a special reason why a certain present requires more than casual thanks, such as a present from someone you know slightly, or a present of unusual value.

"Value" would, for example, be represented by personal thought and time spent in making it, quite as well as by material cost.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Recently a friend and I spent a weekend at a very nice resort hotel. Each time I left the elevator I said thank you to the young man who operated it. This was my way of acknowledging a service.

"My friend criticized me for this and said that it was not correct and that you advised against this practice. Is this true?"

Answer: It was certainly not expected, but there is no great harm done in being overpolite.

Suave, Dramatic Dress Fills the Bill for Holidays

Jo Copeland's designs are a reflection of herself: Soignee, suave and sophisticated.

Short formal or the new above ankle length Oriental sheath suits you better than full length evening gowns.

Hemlines rise, fall and dip for evening, with any number of new variations in the sheath's look—for instance the Oriental. As for the full-skirted dresses, 15 inches from the floor is the holiday length.

This dramatic model for cocktail, restaurant and informal evenings at home is handled, in the Copeland manner, with dignified restraint emphasized by the chic hip drapery that stands out in a side pouf.

Best in fabrics such as peau de soie, taffeta, satin, and novelty brocades to give body and stiffness to the hip detail, it is ideal for all the holiday parties.

As a switch from black, consider a pale brocade with or without metallic threads, and capitalize on the hottest fabric news of the season.

This pattern is cut to designer measurements, not standard pattern measurements.

Bust	Waist	Hips	Sizes
34½	24½	35 inches	10
35½	25½	36 inches	12
37	27	37½ inches	14
38½	28½	39 inches	16
40	30	40½ inches	18

Size 12 requires 3⅛ yards of 50-inch material. To order Pattern 1159, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P. O. Box 535, Dept. P-6, New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1. Airmail handling 25 cents extra.

New 144-page Pattern Booklet XII available for 50 cents. If paying by check, make it payable to Spadea Syndicate, Inc., and add 4 cents for handling.

Daring Dorothy Remarks on Carefree Redecoration

Courage, ladies! Dorothy Draper says anyone with a little daring can do a good job of redecoration.

The world-famous decorator-designer believes many homemakers who put off redoing a room are simply afraid to let themselves go.

* * *

"People like to make excuses," Mrs. Draper maintains. "They say they haven't enough money—that's just bosh. They can always splash some lovely colors around, dye some old material and create a whole new room.

"The way to learn decorating is to do it," she says. "Whatever you delight in, is right.

"Tell them to strengthen their backbones," Mrs. Draper said to an interviewer on a recent visit to her bright, fabric-strewn offices in New York. "No excuses now — anybody can do it. The only thing that matters is having the daring to do it."

With a suave disregard for orthodox textbook rules, she has evolved her own fresh approach to decoration.

DON'T BE DULL

"Just don't be dull," is her motto. "There are no rules except, Does it look right, and has it the right color-scale and practicality?"

Decor by Dorothy Draper has come to be the hallmark of romance and excitement in decoration.

Among the scores of celebrated gathering places which bear her distinctive imprint are the Greenbrier, the Hampshire House, the Gideon Putnam in Saratoga Springs, the Hotel Quitandinha in Brazil, a new restaurant at the Metropolitan Museum in New York, Sak's Fifth Avenue's Palm Beach Shop, as well as theaters, hospitals and many other interiors.

Lad Refuses to Be Pinned Down

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Suspense kills you, doesn't it? You literally can't stand a fuzzy relationship. Your self-confidence comes only in knowing exactly where you stand. When you aren't sure, you teeter between anxiety and joy.

He gives you a whirl one minute, flatters your ego, builds you up in your own eyes. And the next minute he looks right throgh you as though he'd never known you. It drives you crazy.

Why can't he make things clear once and for all, so you can know exactly what to expect? Why this up-and-down business to keep you on tenterhooks?

What you wouldn't give to be able to pin him down so you'd know where to find him and in what mood! Wouldn't that be heavenly peaceful?

It would to this girl. She has to cope with a boy who apparently blows hot and cold. The difference is hard on her disposition. But here's what she writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: He's so different from other boys I've gone with. In school the day after we've had a date he hardly says a word to me. Just as though he were mad or something. He says he isn't mad, but he won't say what's wrong.

"He hasn't gone with many girls, and he's had bad luck with some of them, so he doesn't want to show his feelings to another girl. Maybe he thinks I'll play mean tricks on him, too, but I won't.

"When we're together he acts as though he likes me a lot, but he never says he does, what can I do to get things straight and clear between us?"

Answer: What you really want is to have him make a Big Thing of the sketchy relationship that exists between you. You want him to declare that his interest in dating you stems from a deep devotion.

You want him to quiver with awareness of you every minute of the day. You want him to blow hot all the time. Then you could get yourself used to the climate.

Another way to stop being such a big fool is to go on a diet.

'Mobile' Grocery Store Brings Buyers Running

FALLS CITY, Neb. (INS)—For a while, Lyle Law of Falls City had himself a "mobile" grocery store.

Law kept his door open and waited on trade while the store building was being moved 19 feet to temporary location to make way for a new structure.

The store was on the move about 30 minutes.

But your lad seems to be holding back for reasons of his own—reasons you can't even imagine. Wish all you want, he's going to play it his way for the time being.

You go on being sweet and friendly all the time. When he gets over his basic wariness of girls—and decides that he can trust you in particular, he may make his intentions clear. Until then he can't be pinned down.

Alone with this buy he's dandy—but surround him with his boy friends and he gives this girl the cold shoulder. How she would like to have him act the same way all the time. Here's her story:

"Dear Miss Woodward: In a way he's a funny boy. When he's alone with me he'll talk to me for hours, but when he's with boys he snubs me, goes by with a brief 'hello.'

"We've actually had only one real date but he acted as if he cared for me a lot while we were out together. But two days later at the football game he walked past me and just looked at me.

"He was probably waiting for me to say 'hello' first, but I'm sort of bashful toward him and couldn't get the 'hello' out.

"When I see him again what should I do? I'd like to get to know him better than I do now so he'll ask me out again."

Answer: Here's a lad who divides his life into separate sections. When he's with the boys he's with them 100 per cent. No time for ducking out to make time with girls. When he has a date with a girl he gives her his undivided attention.

You'd like to have that attention every time you see him, but all you can do when you see him around is speak first so he'll know you want to recognize him, smile in your friendliest way, and hope the meeting will remind him that you're fun to be with and talk to.

Bible Reading Program Listed

Men, Women, Children Throughout World Turn to Scriptures Daily

People in 40 nations will join this year's Worldwide Bible Reading program between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The program provides for the reading of identical passages of the Bible each day by millions of persons around the world.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower, honorary chairman, said "In this period between the two holiday, when Americans give thanks for their blessings and renew their hopes for a just and lasting peace in the world, all of us, of whatever religious belief, may well turn to the Bible for guidance and inspiration for the tasks which lie ahead."

The program was started in 1943 when a lonely Marine on Guadalcanal wrote his parents in Philadelphia asking that they maintain the spiritual unity of the family by reading identical Scripture passages each day.

The mother telephoned the Philadelphia secretary of the society for a suggested list of readings. The society saw the opportunity for providing a similar service for all men and women in the armed services and the program was born.

It has since spread all over the world and now serves as a spiritual tie among families spearated in peace time.

Selections, for each day between the two holidays, are based on the results of a nationwide poll of ministers.

The sole purpose is to encourage the reading of the Scriptures. Former presidents Herbert C. Hoover and Harry S. Truman are among the sponsors.

The theme this year is "Take, Read." It is based, according to Rev. Dr. James V. Claypool, secretary in charge of the program, on the story of the conversion of St. Augustine who overheard some boys call, "Tolle, lege (take, read)," and went to his room where he opened the Scriptures and read until the direction of his life was changed.

Obey Laws and Be Polite to Prevent Car Accidents

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Have you seen those interesting advertisements for the new automobiles featuring safety belts, padded instrument panels and other features to protect the driver and his passengers in the event of accident?

• • •

These are all much-needed improvements, but an even better way to protect every driver and every passenger is for everyone to make a real effort to avoid accidents altogether.

That's quite a job because there were nearly 10 million accidents in the United States in 1954. Thirty-six thousand people lost their lives in these mishaps and 1,250,000 were disabled more than one day. Of course, the cost of these accidents mounted into the billions of dollars.

DR. PEALE

Shocking, isn't it? That's why the President's Committee for Traffic Safety has designated this next Thursday, Dec. 1, as "S-D Day" or Safe Driving Day, to remind the public of the importance of this subject.

Psychologists and psychiatrists trace many accidents to disturbed and worried minds. Driving a powerful automobile is a strain and traffic today would even, as the old saying goes, try the patience of a saint.

A New York surgeon and authority on psychosomatic medicine, Dr. Lester L. Coleman, has discovered one solution to this problem. He carries a Bible in the glove compartment of his car. When he is caught in a traffic jam, or sometimes even when stopped by a red light, he takes out the Bible and reads a short passage.

He finds that this not only reduces irritation, but carries him away from the immediate problems of coping with traffic. When the cars begin to move again, he is relaxed and his driving efficiency is stepped up. He is in full control of himself and so able to drive more carefully and safely.

Dr. Coleman's technique is one all of us might try with good results. Traffic being what it is, we can get in not a little Bible reading that way.

CONTINUE SINGING

Another technique was recommended in a sermon by a minister who had been shocked by the number of accidents people in his congregation had going to and from church. He told his congregation to continue the hymn singing in their cars going home and gave them a suggested list of hymns and songs.

At 45 miles an hour he advised "Highways Are Happy Ways." At 55, he recommended, "I'm But a Stranger Here; Heaven Is My Home," and, at 65, "Nearer My God to Thee." For 75-mile speed he thought "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder, I'll Be There" just right. And his final choice for 85 miles an hour was "Lord, I'm Coming Home."

His remarks were, of course, intended to be facetious, but I'm sure his listeners got his point.

There is one simple practice often overlooked these days, and it's unfortunate too, since it is almost magical how it can prevent accidents, and that is just plain politeness. I talked with a man who had never had even a minor accident in 25 years of driving. "What is your secret?" I asked.

"It's very simple," he replied. "Just two rules. Obey the traffic laws to the letter and always be polite."

DESIGNED TO PROTECT

That is a very common sense policy. Traffic regulations are developed out of long experience and are not designed to hamper you, but rather to protect you and expedite your movements.

As for politeness, it's simply the employment of the most sensible rule of life ever made, "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise."

If you want to live to a ripe old age, this is one way to do it.

Schools in Ohio Teach Religion

Weekday Class Given in 5 Elementary Grades at Bellefontaine

BELLEFONTAINE, O. (RNS)—Weekday religious education courses are being given in five elementary schools in Logan County for the first time this year under the sponsorship of the Logan County Ministerial Association.

The program, originally proposed several years ago, is directed by a countywide committee on religious education in the public schools headed by the Rev. Lyle Klotz of the Stony Creek (O.) Church of the Brethren.

Esther Lomb is teaching the courses which are being given in the elementary schools here and at Degraff, Quincy, Lewistown and Lakeview.

She formerly was a teacher of religious education in Cincinnati for 15 years and established similar courses in Covington, Ky.

Youth Fellowship Has Candlelight Service Sunday

A Youth Fellowship has been reorganized at the Bethel Evangelical & Reform Church, Auburn and Mariva Avenues.

The group will hold a Candlelight service Sunday evening from 7 to 8 o'clock.

At a recent meeting the following officers were elected. Tom Clark president; Roy White, vice president; Joan Chapin, secretary; Barbara Cook, treasurer; Jack McLeod, advisor and Charles Huttuler, executive past president.

"Youth on the March," will be the subject of the pastor, the Rev. Maynard Oesterle for the occasion.

He will present colored slides and tell of the work in Germany. Music will be furnished by the church choir. The Rev. Charles D. Race is pastor of the church.

5th Century Church Remains Discovered

BELGRADE (RNS) — Scientists of the Archeological Museum at Plovdiv, Bulgaria, report the discovery at the nearby village of Komatevo of the foundations of a large 3-aisled early Christian church dating from the fifth century.

The church lies in the center of a former Thracian settlement. Archeologists have found stone pedestals for a row of pillars in the nave, and have traced the position of the three aisles, a baptistry, and an apse at the east end.

Excavation work at the site will be resumed in the spring. The findings may prove of great value in studying the culture of the Thracians who inhabited the area of Plovdiv—then called Philipopolis—before the arrival of the Bulgars during the seventh century.

Cites Atheism as Dangerous

Calls Destructive Ideas More Harmful Than Communism

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (RNS)—A "destructive ideology" is fostering the steady growth of atheistic materialism in this country and presents "a greater danger than communism," Albert J. Sattler of New York, president of the Catholic Central Verein of America, warned here.

* * *

He spoke at the 100th annual convention of the Verein, which was founded here as the first national federation of Roman Catholic men in the United States.

Mr. Sattler declared that this "destructive ideology" dominates public thinking, education, culture, economics and politics in the United States.

It is the result, he said, of rationalism and "historic liberalism" which he called "the warped thinking" of the 17th and 18th centuries.

"These philosophies during the past 200 years," he said, "have been preaching that God and the entire realm of the supernatural are non-existent notions — mere figments of pious and innocent minds—remnants of the superstitions of the 'Dark Ages' and that man no longer recognizes any moral laws or sanctions except those of his own choosing."

* * *

The "destructive ideology" which these philosophies have created, he said, is a greater danger than communism because it may eventually "engulf us from within."

AT THE ORGAN — Phillip Steinhaus, director and choirmaster at All Saints Episcopal Church, practices in preparation for the Sunday evening "Twilight Hour" in the church. This will be the second in the series of Musical Services.

'Twilight Music' Planned at All Saints Episcopal

The second in the series of Musical Services at All Saints Episcopal Church will be held Sunday evening at 8 p. m.

* * *

This service was conceived to heighten the significance of the Advent season.

The special music includes the singing of the early Motet, "I Have Longer for Thy Saving Health" by William Byrd and the cantata, "Rejoice, Beloved Christians" by Dietrich Buxtehude. Phillip Steinhaus, organist and choirmaster, will direct.

Every Sunday in Advent at the twilight hour, Buxtehude presented a Chorale Cantata of his own composition in St. Mary's Church, Lubeck. The fame of this "Twilight Music" spread throughout Germany and people came long distances to attend the service.

* * *

The young J. S. Bach obtained a leave of absence for four weeks from his church in Arnstadt, walked the 200 miles to Lubeck and was so deeply impressed that he stayed four months. Buxtehude's Abendmusik (Twilight Music) was the model for Bach's Chorale Cantatas.

* * *

Soloists for this performance will be Fern Erickson, soprano; Mary Lewis, mezzo soprano, and Glenn Williams, bass.

Instrumentalists assisting the choir will be Mary Sue Ekelund, violin; Jane Stoltz, violin and Ruth Outland, organ.

The next in the series of musical evenings will be in February with a program of music for organ and strings to be played by Mr. Steinhaus and guest artists.

In March, the choir will sing Bach's "Passion According to Saint John" with orchestra and soloists.

The public is cordially invited to these musical evenings.

Kenneth Brabeau of Detroit will be the speaker at the Sunday service at Pontiac Unity Center, 71½ N. Saginaw St. at 11 a. m.

Sunday School will be held at the same hour for the young

Two Speakers Slated Sunday

District Superintendent Missionary to Speak at Local Church

The annual Missionary Convention of the Christian & Missionary Alliance Church, 178 Green St. will close Sunday with the following schedule at 9:45 a. m., the Rev. F. L. Joder will speak to the Sunday School; a Missionary sermon will be given at 11 a.m. by district superintendent, Rev. G. Edward Davis.

Both speakers will preach at the closing service at 7:30 p.m. and the annual missionary pledge will be received. The goal for 1956 is $15,000.00 for the Foreign Missionary program of the local church.

The Rev. Mr. Joder went to the field in 1928 and has served four terms in Africa. His ministry began in Sikasso, the first station to be opened in the French Sudan. Later he served among the Dafin tribe of the Ivory Coast.

During the war years, he was connected with the Girls' school at Baramba. His last term was spent in opening the first Boys' School at Somasso in the Sudan. Five tribes were represented in the school. Somasso was the first outstation opened in the Sudan by the late George Bell.

Youth Takes Over World Fair

Kids of 40 States at Chicago Show

Judges Selecting Junior Grand Champion Steer of the Show

By CARL A. ROGAN

CHICAGO—(INS) — Youth takes over today at the 56th Annual International Livestock Exposition at Chicago.

Prime interest centers in the selection of the junior grand champion steer of the show.

For farm youngsters from more than 40 states who have been preparing steers and barrows for the show rings, it marks the culmination of a year of feeding and grooming their animals for the "big time."

More than 350 junior contestants are slated to show 361 steers and 66 hogs. Top judges will select the best entries. The climax of the day takes place when a judge will slap the rump of the junior grand champion steer.

COLLEGE COMPETITION

Meanwhile, 52 college teams will compete in livestock and field crop judging contests. The combined events comprise one of the biggest junior shows in the history of the exhibition.

The total cash purse in the mammoth agricultural show which ends Dec. 3 is more than $100,000.

Last night, even before the exposition opened formally, the first championship was awarded to a pretty, blonde, blue-eyed farm girl from Champaign, Ill.

She is 13-year-old Jane Turner whose 1,054 pound Aberdeen-Angus steer, Elmer, won the top prize for cattle in the "on the hoof" division in the carcass contest.

It marked the second consecutive year that Jane has captured this title, which show officials recently have been giving increased emphasis.

JUDGED LIVE

In the carcass contest, steers, hogs and sheep are first judged live, then they are slaughtered and judged in comparison with the live animals.

Another winner was a 1,060 pound Angus steer exhibited by Iowa State College which won the reserve championship in the carcass contest.

For the second successive year, Purdue University showed the champion wether and barrow in the contest's live division. The winning wether was an 88 pound Southdown and the champion barrow a 214 pound Berkshire.

A 198 pound Berkshire barrow, shown by Sunny Hill Farm, Itasca, Ill., was named reserve champion of the carcass show.

The University of Wisconsin showed the reserve champion wether.

Janice Hullinger of Manly, Ia., whose entry, Shorty I, won the grand championship of the show last year, was almost near tears when it was determined that her entry this year, Shorty II, an Aberdeen Angus that caught pneumonia, is too sick to compete.

The steer was placed in an oxygen tent. Veterinarian William G. Bauman said Shorty II has passed the crisis but is too ill to be shown.

Order Detroiter Dutton Deported to England

DETROIT (AP) — Thomas Dutton, 69, who has lived in Detroit since 1909, was ordered deported to England yesterday when a board of immigration appeals in washington would not grant him a rehearing.

Dutton, who says he isn't sure where he was born, first was ordered deported Nov. 18 after two witnesses testified before the immigration board that he associated with known Communists during the 1930's.

Two days before deportation he won a stay from the appeals board. He said he might have been born in Philadelphia, but gave his birthplace as England in applying for a job before World War I.

2 Gunmen Rob $4,500 From Detroit Tavern

DETROIT (AP) —Two gunmen robbed a Detroit bar of a sack of cash containing $4,500 yesterday, next to it containing $3,500.

Mrs. Ellen Lenz, wife of the tavern owne, said she has just brought $8,000 from a bank to cash workers' paychecks.

One man forced the owner, Paul Lenz, to ask his wife to unlockk the door to the back room where she had taken the money. When a woman customer screamed, a second gunman entered the front door of the bar and forced 12 customers into small rooms.

The men then grabbed the one sack, but left the other. Lenz said the entire amount was insured.

Commandments Topic

WALLED LAKE — St. William's Religious Discussion club will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Joseph Chabat. The topic for discussion will be "The Ten Commandments." Mrs. Thomas Walsh is leader of the group.

Refreshments will be served in the social hour which follows.

Your PTA Is Planning:

Rochester Superintendent Plans Information Talk

ROCHESTER — The November meeting of The Harrison-Central PTA will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Mrs. Robert Ott, program chairman, has arranged for Donald Baldwin, Superintendent of Rochester Community Schools, to be the speaker of the evening. His subject, "General information on the school district."

A question and answer period will follow the talk.

Marlette

The Marlette Elementary school held its first PTA meeting in the Bea McDonald school, recently, when committees were named.

These included, budget-finance, Mrs. Carl Jackson; program, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Flannigan; publicity, Mrs. Lyle Dibble.

Mrs. Leona Johnson gave a sketch of a Mothers' room program. "Getting Fathers Interested," was the theme of a short talk by principal Charles Joslin.

Service Is Today for Kelsey Ladue

Engineer of Lake Orion Dies Thursday Following Auto Accident

LAKE ORION—Service for Kelsey Ladue will be held at 2 p.m. today, in Allen's Funeral Home here, with Dr. Mont C. Oliver of the First Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Birmingham.

Ladue, a radio engineer for Station WWJ, died Thursday in Van Dyke Memorial Hospital of injuries received in an auto accident Sunday morning on E. Eleven Mile Rd in Warren Township.

Born in Boston, Mr. Ladue, 50, had lived at 1130 Seneca Drive in Lake Orion 19 years, coming from Detroit.

Before joining WWJ five years ago, Mr. Ladue had worked for 16 years for WXYZ in the same capacity. He was radio engineer for the late Harry Heilmann, who broadcast Detroit Tiger games.

* * *

In the 1850's Mr. Ladue's grandfather, John Ladue, served as Detroit's mayor.

He is survived by his wife, the former Clementine Ladd.

Ex-Showgirl, Princess to Jail on Dope Count

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former New York showgirl Lois Evans, who became a princess through marriage to a Polish nobleman, has been sentenced to prison for possessing heroin.

Rejecting her plea for probation, Superior Judge Allen T. Lynch yesterday sentenced her to one to 10 years in the California State Prison for Women at Corona.

Miss Evans, 27, was divorced in 1952 from Prince Llwadslays Gerey Bogeslaw Radziwill, 72, after three years of marriage.

She pleaded for probation on the narcotics charge so that she might return to a private sanitarium. She was arrested in her apartment last June 18 and pleaded guilty Oct. 13.

Handicapped Artists Invited to Compete

LANSING (AP)—The state Office of Vocational Rehabilitation today invited handicapped artists to enter a national art contest for the handicapped.

Ralf Peckham, director, said awards will total $3,050, including a first prize of $1,000.

He said amateur artists whose ability to function has been "substantially impaired by disease, congenital condition or injury" are elgible.

Additional information can be obtained at agency branches in Detroit, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Flint, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Traverse City and Marquette.

Accident Kills Worker

DETROIT (AP)—Wade H. Keel, 44, a Detroit automobile plant worker, was killed Friday when he pulled the wrong chain on a fork-lift truck, bringing the 600-pound fork down on his head.

'India's Sorrow' Due Tomorrow at Local Church

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The colored motion picture, "India's Sorrow" will be shown at Donelson Baptist Church, Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The film shows graphically, multitudes of the legions of India washing in the "sacred" Ganges; the burning ghats where bodies are cremated before being thrown into the river; the so-called holy men of India, and the plight of the country's lepers. In contrast, it shows the courageous work being done by missionaries.

Donelson Baptist Church, of which the Rev. Lee F. LaLone is pastor, is located at 2227 Elizabeth Lake Rdo.

Cinema Stars Excite Russians

Old Hollywood Movies and Photos Make Big Hit in Russian City

KRASNODAR, Soviet North Caucasus (INS)—A pleasant, youngish woman with a handbag as big as a Boy Scout pack peddles bootleg Hollywood glamor near the gate of the farm market in Krasnodar.

* * *

This dusty provincial capital of the North Caucasus lies nearly 700 miles south of Moscow. But in its romantic heart, it is as up-to-date as the faraway capital.

For the Krasnodar movie fan —as in the Bijous of Moscow— Deanna Durbin, the warbling screen Cinderella, and dashing Robert Taylor are 'Hollywood's brightest stars.

But a Soviet teenager can't tear a photo of her Hollywood screen idol out of a fan magazine. There's no place for such fripperies in the five-year plan or the Communist party propaganda budget.

A pigtailed moppet took a stack of cards from the lady with the satchel by the gate of the Collective Farm market in Krasnodar. When she had finished riffling through the grayish glossies, she passed them on to this correspondent.

Among these blackmarket tintypes were:

A wistful, and ancient profile of Deanna in a pageboy hairdo and a polka-dot blouse at a dramatic moment in the film (according to the Russian label on the snap-shot-size photo) "His Janitor's Daughter."

Robert Taylor moodily lounging against a prop staircase from his recent hit (in the USSR), "Waterloo Bridge."

Greta Garbo wearing a come hither smile and a frothy ball gown from "Camille," which played to packed houses in Moscow a few months ago.

A tender kiss on a moonlight veranda from the Indian film "Bradyaga," released in the USSR some months ago.

CELEBRATE 50 YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Reichardt, 3057 Benstein, near Oakley Park, will observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, Dec. 4 with an open house at their home from 2 to 6 p.m. for their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Reichardt were married in Iowa and moved to Michigan in 1937. They have two sons, Robert of Beustein Road and Mayo M. of Sunnybrook drive; and two grandchildren.

'Man of Year' Will Be Named

Waterford Jaycees Ask Public to Send All Nominations

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Nominations of candidates for the Jaycees annual "Outstanding Man of the Year" are now in order, according to Gerald DeWees, chairman of the event.

Entires are made by letter, stating the nominee's qualifications as to job efficiency and community benefit. He must be between the ages of 21 and 35 but does not have to be a Jaycee member.

The letter should be sent to DeWees at 4536 Dixie Hwy., Drayton Plains, before midnight, Dec. 10. The winner will receive his title on Jan. 9 when the Jaycees hold their boss' night dinner.

Roy Larmee, former principal of Waterford Township High School won the title last year.

To Vote on Bond Issue in Spring

Holly Education Board Will Publicize Plans for School

HOLLY—In order to give plenty of time to familiarize the public with the proposition, the Holly Area Board of Education has decided not to again submit the bonding issue for a new high school and other extensions to the voters until early in the spring.

In the meantime, plans and specifications will be made public, so that everybody can be conversant with the proposition.

It is felt that the defeat of the project at the last election was because it was not understood.

Efforts already are under way to definitely determine just how much federal or other outside aid will be available in the event the issue meets with the favor of the qualified electors.

Gregg's Complaint Is Missing in Court

BELOIT, Wis. (AP)—The complaint of Mrs. Gregg Sherwood Dodge against a Spanish guitar player she says struck her in a local bar was missing when the case came up in court yesterday, but the judge refused to dismiss charges.

Municipal Judge Arthur Luebke continued the case until Dec. 9 on the motion of the atorney for Mario Escudero, a member of the Jose Greco dancing troop.

Mrs. Dodge, a model before marrying auto heir Horace Dodge III, filed assulat charges against Escudero, alleging that he hit her when she would not sing in Spanish early Saturday. Escudero says she insulted him in French and struck him first.

Mrs. Dodge is in a Beloit hospital with what doctors say is a broken nose.

GM Employe Killed in 5-Car U. S. 12 Crash

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Normal Calvin, 25, a General Motors Worker at Pulaski, Ill., was killed last night when five cars piled into each other in a chain crash six miles west of here on U.S. 12.

Police said witnesses told them Calvin lost control of his car and hit one driven by Richard E. Schilling, 23, of Kalamazoo. Schilling's car then was struck by another driven by Gaylon Morisette, 23, of Berrien Springs. Two more cars then struck those already involved.

County Deaths

To Feature Hand-Dressed Dolls, Santa's Toy Shop

Annual Roosevelt PTA Fair to Be Next Saturday

By TRILBY PATTEN
Keego Harbor Correspondent

KEEGO HARBOR—The annual Roosevelt PTA Fair will be held at the school in Keego Harbor Saturday Dec. 3rd, from 4 to 8 p.m.

Many booths have been planned by the home room mothers and teachers from kindergarten through the seventh grade.

A half hour of cartoons will feature "Woody Plays Santa" and "Night before Christmas."

Character dolls dressed by the mothers will be the main attraction of one concession.

Hand work such as ceramics, aprons and hankies will go on sale in the "Gift Shop."

Games of skill are planned for folks of all ages.

A variety of foods will be offered at the snack bar. Other items in the food line to go on sale include homemade candy and baked goods. A cake walk and pie walk will be featured.

Santa's toy shop, with items ranging from ten cents to a dollar will be of special interest to the small fry. Comic books and jewelry will also be offered.

The fish pond and cherry tree booths should interest all ages. A jail has been planned, as a surprise, by one of the 7th grade rooms.

* * *

Proceeds of the fair will be used to purchase equipment for the school.

* * *

Mrs. Edwin Dreyer, chairman, and her assistants Mrs. Kern Murphy and Mrs. Oren Rogers, invite everyone to attend the fair.

Keego BPW Slates Monday Dinner Meeting

KEEGO HARBOR—The Business and Professional Women's Club will meet Monday for dinner at 6:30 p.m. at the Rotunda Inn.

The Rev. Orrin VanLoon of Berkley will be the guest speaker. His subject will be "Juvenile Delinquents."

Hostesses for the evening are Dorothy Webber, Catherine Doyle, Bernice Avery, Laura Carpenter and Helen Godhardt.

Hospital Subject of Income Tax Lien

ROYAL OAK (AP)—A $213,125 back income tax lien has been filed by the government against the Oakland Center Hospital here founded by Dr. Bernard F. Gariepy, who recently spent 10 months in prison for income tax evasion.

Tax deficiencies were charged against the hospital for the years 1938 through 1945, of which $116,970 was for 1942, the government said yesterday.

Gariepy was sentenced to 30 months in federal prison in 1949 for a $42,000 income tax evasion, but was paroled after 10 months.

His brother, Dr. Louis J. Gariepy, a Detroit surgeon, was sent to prison this week to begin a four-year term for income tax evasion.

Couple Will Observe Fiftieth Anniversary

OXFORD—Mr. and Mrs. James Brooks, 4925 Noble Rd., will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary Tuesday quietly at home. The Brooks have lived at the same address for all of their married life.

They have one daughter, Mrs. George Schellenberg and three grandchildren.

Sanilac Salk Clinic Will Open Nov. 28

MARLETTE—J. J. Black, acting director, Sanilac County Health Department, announces that Salk Vaccination Clinics for children, age five through nine will be held throughout the county, the week of Nov. 28.

The Clinic for Marlette will be held in the Bea McDonald elementary school Tuesday, at 9 a. m.

Didn't Make Statement

A Press story Wednesday stated that John C. Austin, vice chairman of the Board of Auditors, suggested that Brandon taxpayers could voice their opinions at a public meeting in Brandon Township Hall. Austin says that he did not make this suggestion.

Ordinary life insurance accounts for almost two-thirds of all U. S. life insurance.

ROMEO—The public campaign for funds to provide for the construction of the proposed Community Hospital on M-53 between the villages of Almont and Romeo will be launched at a kick-off dinner at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the First Congregational Church here.

The total amount received to date is $202,050 in the drive to raise $350,000 for the greatly needed medical center.

Memorial Gifts, Industry Corporate Gifts and Special Gifts fund campaigns will continue during the public drive period which ends Dec. 15.

More volunteers are still needed to work as solicitors during the public campaign. Those interested in offering their services are requested to call the campaign office PLateau 2-3554.

SUSAN HARNDEN

NOVI — Susan Linnea Harnden of Novi became the bride of Gail C. Enders of Northville last night in the Novi Methodist Church. A reception was held for the newlyweds in the Veterans Memorial Building in Northville.

'Sabrina Fair' to Open Play Season at Romeo

ROMEO — The presentation of "Sabrina Fair" on Saturday, Dec. 3, will launch the eleventh season of productions by the Romeo Players.

The four-act play, under the direction of Mrs. Frank Webber, one of the founders of the organization, will be staged in the Romeo High School auditorium. Curtain time is 8:15 p. m.

Slated to portray the leading roles are high school student and veteran of players' productions Nancy Jarecz and high school dramatic coach Ron Kieft.

Members of the supporting cast include other local favorites, namely: Mrs. Earl Hanson and Mr. and Mrs. Webber. Newcomers who will appear before Romeo audiences for the first time are M. T. "Bud" Cummiskey, Carol Heideman and Mrs. Fred Davis. Thomas Schultz, making his initial appearance in a Players production, will also be featured in a leading role. George Burns completes the cast.

Other members of the organization will serve in various backstage capacities as well as handle advance ticket sales and advertising.

'Martin Luther' to Be Presented at Southfield

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP—The film, "Marin Luther" will be presented Sunday, Dec. 4 at 7 p.m through the sponsorship of the young people of St. Mark's Evangelical United Brethren church 20915 Evergreen Rd.

A coffee hour will be held in the basement following the showing of the film. The public is invited

Commerce Home Blaze Burns Floor, Basement

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP—Fire gutted the basement in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Penny of 523 E. Lake Dr. Thursday night.

The fire, which was caused by a defective hot water heater, destroyed the entire basement, the sub-flooring and part of the first floor, according to Commerce Township Fire Chief Ray Price.

Penny said a sound like an explosion was heard, so he looked outside, but couldn't see anything. His son, who was upstairs at the time, discovered the basement blaze.

Getting Ready for Santa

MARLETTE—The Lions Club is assisting the Merchants Assn. in preparation for the coming of Santa Claus to Marlette, Saturday, Dec. 10, and is readying gifts for all the children. The streets here are to be decorated in the near future.

Farmers Meetings Slated in 8 Towns

Farmers from all over Michigan have been invited to air their problems Monday in eight simultaneous meetings sponsored by the Democratic State Central Committee.

* * *

The meetings will be held in eight different towns. They are Merrill, Capac, Michigan Center, Lawrence, Rockford, Mesick and Gaylord in the Lower Peninsula and Hermansville in the Upper Peninsula.

* * *

The event is called Democratic Farm Conference Day.

"All farmers are invited to these meetings regardless of their political views," said Neil Staebler, Democratic State chairman.

"The meetings will be informal and we seek the widest discussion of current farm policies and programs in order to solve the serious recession in agriculture which developed since 1952," Staebler added.

Avon Players to Hold Dinner, One-Act Play

ROCHESTER — The Avon Players are having one of their pot-luck dinners tonight at 7:15 in the Avon Pavilion. Following the dinner a one-act play, "The King's Mistress," written by George Long of Rochester will be presented.

* * *

Helen Harding and Leah Case are co-directors and the cast includes Pat Lace, Jim Jackson, Tom Severance, Hugh Whitlock, Plummer Whipple and Earnest Simmons.

Cranbrook Students to Present Comedy

Cranbrook School dramatics students will present John Patrick's comedy - drama, "The Hasty Heart," Dec. 2 and 3, in their first appearance of the year.

Scene of the play, to be presented each evening at 8 o'clock in the Cranbrook auditorium, is the convalescent ward of a British hospital during World War II.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The first casualty of the new TV season is My Favorite Husband, and this week Barry Nelson held a wake for it.

* * *

Well, it wasn't really a wake. Barry and his beauteous wife Teresa gave a party at their hillside home to fete the friends they've scarcely had time to see during his 2½ years with the program. Among the guests: Edmund Purdom with Linda Christian, Ed (Duffy's Tavern) Gardner, Don Taylor, Mary Shipp and Vanessa Brown, Barry's costar on the show.

Conversation naturally got around to the late "Husband." It did wonderfully well as a live show (with Barry and Joan Caulfield) in its first year, so-so the second. After 13 weeks this year as a filmed show with Nelson and Miss Brown, it was canceled.

* * *

How come?

"I don't know exactly," replied Barry. "There is some evidence that it wasn't meant to last, that the sponsor accepted the show somewhat reluctantly.

"It was a shame, because the show did have promise at the first. It was brightly written and directed. Later, the original viewpoint was clouded. This year we had 10 new writers on the show.

* * *

"That might be all right on a show like Eve Arden's or Lucy, where the characters are clearly defined. But when you have different writers working on the characters we played, you end up with only an outer shell."

What are Nelson's plans now?

"I've got some things coming up in TV and a couple of plays to consider," he said. "What I'm looking for is a medium hit. I don't think I could take another long run. I was 2½ years in 'The Moon Is Blue' on Broadway and another 2½ years in My Favorite Husband."

Austrian Custom Once Had Tree Top Downward

VIENNA (AP)—Christmas customs in Austria, where tradition is held sacred, have changed only a little in the past 100 years and Christmas still is the most important holiday for the Austrians.

* * *

In fact, the only substantial change happened about 90 years ago when Austrians broke with the custom of having the Christmas tree, top pointing downward, hanging from a crossbeam of the ceiling. Instead, it is placed on a table or on the floor, standing up.

Austrian experts on customs say that gifts have grown in size and that about 50 years ago, only "token gifts" were exchanged while more substantial gifts were left to Jan. 1.

* * *

There also is a trend toward a "Father Christmas" figure (Weihnachtsmann) as the assumed bearer of gifts to children. The German occupation from 1938 to 1945—the Germans have a "Father Christmas" — and the American influence of Santa Claus have combined with the fact that a "Father Christmas" is easier to picture on advertisements than Austria's traditional "Christ Child" (Christkind) named by Austrian parents to their children as the bearer of Christmas gifts. However, the Christ Child still is the dominating Christmas figure.

U.S. Restricting U. N. Foreigners

83 Delegates, Writers Closely Watched Under Conditions of Admission

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. government restricts the movements of 83 foreign delegates, observers and correspondents at the U.N.

* * *

Three foreigners may not, without special permission, go farther away than 97th St., 40 blocks to the north. Two are British observers for humanitarian organizations and the third a Middle Eastern correspondent. The restrictions are "conditions of admission" set by the State Department on the advice of the attorney general.

Two other foreigners, official observers, must have permission to go outside the limits of New York. That is because they were in such a hurry to get here for the General Assembly they did not wait for security checks, which sometimes take five weeks.

Seventy-eight Soviet citizens — 73 delegates and five Tass correspondents — may not travel more than 25 miles from this headquarters unless they give 48 hours' notice. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov is in this group.

When the Russians do travel, 27 per cent of the United States is forbidden ground that they may enter only by special permission. This includes all neighboring Connecticut and New York's Borough of Brooklyn.

* * *

The State Department has maintained the 25-mile limit, here and in Washington, since 1952 and the forbidden-area rule since last January in an effort to pressure the Soviet government into lifting similar restrictions from Americans in Moscow.

Those foreigner sbound by 97th St., on the north may go west 10 blocks to Ninth Avenue and south 16 blocks to 26th St. Their eastward limit is the East River, right alongside U.N. headquarters.

Mrs. Jessie Street of the Anti-slavery Society in London and the Rev. Michael Scott of the International League for the Rights of Man in Geneva believe they are restricted for failure to answer certain questions asked when they applied for U.S. visas.

Mrs. Street declined to list organizations she had belonged to since 1930. She says, "I haven't got any idea of all the organizations I've belonged to since 1930."

* * *

The Rev. Mr. Scott refused to tell about his associations in South Africa, where as an Anglican pastor he has opposed the official race segregation policy. He feared the information might harm his friends.

"The anti-Communist laws there "Almost any opposition to the government's racial policy can be construed as communism."

By special permission, both observers live outside the prescribed area.

ICC Resignation to End Probe

Testimony on Conduct of Hugh Cross May Be Released to Public

WASHINGTON (AP)—The resignation of Hugh W. Cross, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, appeared today to have washed out a Senate investigation of his conduct.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee may decide, however, to make public the testimony it took from Cross behind closed doors earlier this month. A subcommittee source said the members might be polled on this question.

Cross' resignation was announced yesterday in Gettysburg, Pa., where President Eisenhower is recuperating from a heart attack.

* * *

In his letter of resignation Cross said that "baseless charges" had been made against him but that "the mere pendency of such charges impairs by further service on the commission and its proper functioning in the public interest."

* * *

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), the subcommittee chairman, said in Little Rock, Ark., that "on the basis of the information the committee started out with, I don't think it's necessary to proceed any further."

The subcommittee never has said officially what it questioned Cross about, but newsmen learned its inquiry related to whether he exerted any influence in the award of a contract for bus service between railroad stations in Chicago.

Cross was reported to have admitted an "indiscretion" in talking to two railroad presidents about the contract but to have denied seeking favorable consideration for the successful bidder, railroad Transfer Service Inc., of Chicago. The contract had been held for many years by the A. C. Parmelee Co. of Chicago.

The contract for shuttling passengers between stations was let by a group of railroads.

This Man's Luck Went Far, Then It Happened

SAN JUAN, P. R. (AP)—One of the competitors in the second International Game Fish Tournament lost his upper plate in the Atlantic Ocean. "I'm lucky, though," he said. I have another set at the hotel."

When he took his spare teeth out of a case, he dropped them on the rug. "Lucky they didn't hit the solid floor," he said. As he reached down to pick up the spare set he stumbled and stepped on them. They were shattered.

Sooners Heavy Favorite Over Rival Aggies

Wilkinson's Team Aims for 29th Straight Win and 2nd National Title

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The top-ranked Oklahoma Sooners were heavily favored to make Oklahoma A&M its 29th straight victim today while booming their chances for their second national intercollegiate football championship.

Oklahoma holds the inside track for the O'Donnel Trophy, awarded to the team that finishes first in The Associated Press football poll. The Sooners captured the honor in 1950 and would be the first team to take the trophy twice since it went into competition in 1948.

About 40,000 fans were expected for the 50th renewal of the intrastate rivalry, which has been won by the Sooners 35 times against 8 victories for the Aggies. There have been 6 ties. The Aggies haven't beaten Oklahoma in 10 years.

If the script follows form, it will mark the fourth undefeated season for the Sooners under head Coach Bud Wilkinson in his nine years here.

Wilkinson was hoping the script could follow the same form as two years ago. That season Oklahoma stomped on Oklahoma A&M 42-7, then went on to trip Maryland 7-0 in the Orange Bowl. The same two teams will meet in Miami on Jan. 2 this time.

Oklahoma's opponents were in their best physical shape of the campaign in which they lost 7 of 9 games. The Sooners, however, may be a little shaky, especially in the quarterback spot.

Jimmy Harris, the No. 1 signal-caller injured his shoulder in last week's Nebraska game which gave the Sooners their 10th straight Big 7 Conference championship. Whether or not he sees action remained doubtful.

Indians, Wolves Dominate SVC All-Valley Team

Flint Central's Indians and Bay City's Wolves today shared the top spot in the 1955 All-Saginaw Valley Conference football team.

Each club was given four places on the 1st team, other three places going to Arthur Hill (2) and Flint Northern. Pontiac failed to receive mention in either 1st, or 2nd team.

Selections were announced this morning in Flint, where votes by Valley coaches and sports writers were compiled. Players will be honored at the annual U. of M. "Bust" in Saginaw, next week.

Here are the selections:

First team—
Backs, Willie Williams (FC), Charley Thrash (FC) Jim Chesney (BC) Dick Mrozinski (BC).
Ends—Dale Kingsbury (FC) Stan Leland (AH).
Tackles—Bill Grein (BC), Sylvius Weinecke (AH).
Guards—Paul Ananich (FC), Dick Syringe (BC).
Center—Jim Moore (FN).
Second team—
Backs—Lou Grimaldi (FC), John Sharpe (FN), Namon Smith (BC), and Floyd Wright (AH).
Ends—Ron Spies (Sag), Joe Scott (Sag).
Tackles—Dick Krzyziak (BC), Tom Pugh (AH).
Guards—Dick Waltman (BC), Fred Warner (Sag).
Center—Tom Thayer (Sag.)

Babe Returns to Hospital for Attention

Hip Pains Dictate Golf Star's Need for Treatment

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Babe Zaharias is going back to a hospital for observation and probably further treatment for cancer.

The queen of golf planned to leave Tampa by plane this afternoon to re-enter John Sealy Hospital at Galveston, Tex. She had left there in September with encouraging reports on her response to treatment for her second cancer attack.

Resting at her Tampa home, Mrs. Zaharias continued to show signs of recovery. She looked better, felt better and was able to play a few holes of golf.

Titans Share All-MVC Team With Wichita

Co-Champions Place 4 Players Each on 1st All-Star Team

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Detroit and Wichita shared the Valley championship, so it's more than coincidence for them to split honors on the 1955 Associated Press All-Missouri Valley football team.

Four Wichita and 4 Detroit players were voted first-team berths yesterday, leaving only 2 places for Oklahoma A&M and 1 for Houston.

* * *

Unanimous choices of the writers and announcers were two players virtually unknown last season — Detroit sophomore Billy Russell and Chester (Choppy) Spencer of Oklahoma A&M—and Jim (Little Bear) Klisanin, Whichita's best broken-field runner through two straight title seasons.

Halfback Russell, smallest man on the Titan squad, was a leader in his team's early season 41-0 stunner over Wichita and finished as the Valley's No. 2 scorer (42) with a 6.1-yard rushing average. The Donora, Pa., rookie is a nephew of Deacon Dan Towler, Los Angeles Rams fullback.

The only two All-Valley repeaters were Aggie fullback Earl (Earthquake) Lunsford, making it a third time, and Wichita center Jack O'Toole, leader in Wichita's tough line who gets in on a lot of tackles.

Triple-threater Jim Lobkovich, Detroit quarterback with 777 yards total offense, and his chief target, end Perry Richards, were solid choices but the voting was mighty close for the guard and tackle spots.

Wichita's Vere Wellman, a Korean veteran and father of three children and Houston's Lavell Isbell, who just missed in 1954, won the tackle spots over Chuck Yonkers of Tulsa and Steve Gomola of Detroit.

Ben Kubes of Wichita and Stan Bartnicki of Detroit shaded Wichita's Swayne Puetz and Houston's Wayne Shoemaker at guards.

Tulsa and Houston dominated the second team with four places each. Center Al Baumgart of Detroit was edged off the first team for the third straight season.

Oakland Area Boys Honored at Ferris

Four Oakland County boys have been awarded letters at Ferris Institute for services during the recently-completed 1955 football season, athletic director Sam Ketchman has announced.

A varsity letter was awarded to Gene Hondzinski, freshman from Van Dyke Fitzgerald. Service awards were earned by Robert Brunner of Birmingham and Dave Larivee of Berkley. A trainer's award went to Robert Lewis from Rochester.

Twenty-three varsity letters and 14 service awards will be presented at the Ferris awards assembly, Nov. 29.

Navy Record, Plus Welsh, Give Tars Edge Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Favorite Navy pitted its well balanced attack geared to the throwing arm of George Welsh against Army's rapier backs today in the 56th renewal of their football feud before a capacity of 102,000 at Municipal Stadium.

After making a forecast of rain and possibly snow, the weatherman changed his mind late last night and came up with a prediction that it'll be cloudy with temperatures in the 40's when the opening kickoff comes at 1:30 p.m. (EST). The colorful spectacle is televised nationally (NBC).

Navy was a 1-touchdown favorite, on the strength of the Welsh quarterbacking and its better seasonal record, but in these service classics anything goes—and usually does.

A possible Navy bowl bid, just as a year ago, depended on the outcome. In 1954, after whipping Army 27-20, Navy broke a 30-year precedent and accepted an invitation to play in the Sugar Bowl, where the Middies defeated Mississippi 21-0.

Representatives of the Cotton Bowl were in the stands ready, it was reliably reported, to extend the Middies an invitation to meet Texas Christian at Dallas on Jan. 2. Navy officials declined to comment one way or the other. Army has said repeatedly it is not interested in a post-season game.

Both coaches expressed hope the weatherman's promise of a dry field would hold up as they whipped their charges through light drills on the stadium turf yesterday. Afterward they took the players to suburban retreats away from the noise and glamor that annually goes with this game.

Eddie Erdelatz, head coach of the Midshipmen, hoped for fast turf so that Welsh would be able to operate as a passer and runner. His runing was hampered the last few games by an injured toe but Erdelatz said his 165-pound field general from Coaldale, Pa., has fully recovered and is ready to show Army his best.

* * *

Earl Blaik, who has managed to whip the Middies only once in Erdelatz' five years at Navy, said Army also needs a fast field to operate at its peak. Blaik is blessed with a host of fast break-away backs, including Pat Uebel, Bob Kyasky and Mike Zeigler. It was on wet fields that Army lost to Michigan, Syracuse and Yale.

* * *

Don Holleder, a star end converted into a quarterback this year by Blaik, perhaps can't match Welsh when it comes to passing but the Webster, N.Y., senior is a powerful threat on an optional play calling for him to either pass or run. Welsh himself ruined Army last year with that style of attack.

Should the offensive stars not be able to operate at their peak, the game could well develop into a defensive battle. Army is the No. 1 defensive team in the country, although it has been none too strong against aerials. Navy is third defensively. Both lines are fast with Army's forward wall, athough lighter, given a slight edge.

Bears, 'Skins Eye NFL Leads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The old-look Chicago Bears try to move into the Western Conference lead and the new-look Washington Redskins attempt to close in on the Eastern top spot tomorrow in a pair of headline games in the National Football League.

* * *

The Bears, looking more and more like the big, bad bruins of old, pitt their six-game winning streak against their cross-town rivals, the Cardinals, who have lost two in a row.

* * *

Washington, meanwhile, goes for No. 4 in a row, meeting the once-hopeful Pittsburgh Steelers, who have lost four straight.

San Francisco is at Baltimore in the only other contest.

The Bears and the Skins need a winning parlay to make their points.

If the Bears can couple an expected victory over the Cards with a Philadelphia decision over the Los Angeles Rams, the Bruins may have the Western title packed away. That would leave the Bears at 7-3 and the runnerup Rams 5-4-1 with two games remaining for both.

Washington, looking like a contender for a change, could share the Eastern lead with Cleveland—if the New York Giants can keep their new-found offense on the move against the Browns. Going into the games, Cleveland is 7-2, Washington 6-3.

The Bears, riding high on the pass-catch combination of Eddie Brown and Harlon Hill, are 15-point favorites.

Philadelphia is a 1-point favorite over the Rams, although the Eagles are tied for the Eastern basement with the Cardinals at 3-5-1.

Washington is a slight favorite over the Steelers in the game at Pittsburgh.

Cleveland rules a 4-point favorite over the Giants, who may have the long-hobbled Eddie Price ready for the game at the Polo Grounds.

Baltimore should have the edge on the 49ers, who have lost three straight.

Detroit and Green Bay, idle, got their week's work done Thanksgiving Day.

Air Force Base at Kalkaska Not Open to Hunters

LANSING — The 8,000-acre Air Force base at Kalkaska will be closed to all hunting, according to terms of the federal application accepted by the Conservation Commission.

The Commission, which agreed at its November meeting to lease the land to the Air Force for a 99-year period, adjusted the southern boundary of the area to keep most of the Boardman River open to public fishing. About 1½ miles of the river near the end of runways will be closed for safety reasons.

The hunting ban also applies to military personnel, but men assigned to the base will be permitted to fish on two small lakes within the area.

League Scrambles Expected

High School Quintets Ready to Lift Lids; First Action Begins Tuesday

First signs of basketball each year come with the passing of Thanksgiving and this will hold true next week when all area prep teams lift the lid in their season openers.

Several games are on tap for Tuesday with the majority of quintets starting next Friday night.

Scrambled races are expected in all leagues involving Oakland County teams, with new contenders ready to push defending champions out of the picture.

Biggest advantage for a title team to repeat is in the Inter-Lakes Conference where Southfield has ruled for the past year. Jays won the title with an all-junior team last year and have the entire starting team back, including a front line trio better than 6 feet 3 tall.

Berkley has a new coach in Fred Holdsworth. He won 13 of 15 as reserve coach last season and despite the return of only three lettermen, the Bears are thinking seriously this year. Walled Lake and Waterford are expected to battle for a spot in the upper half of the league.

Birmingham will have trouble defending the Eastern Michigan title. Loss of four starters hurts. The Maples will have good height with Bob Isbell, Don Pieman and George Huffman ranging over 6 feet 3.

Four teams have players at 6 feet 4 headed by Mount Clemens, with 6 feet 6 Ed Noe and Charles Nicolai 6 feet 5. Hazel Park is ready to make it a triple battle, with Port Huron also optimistic.

Lake Orion makes its debut in the Oakland B League where defending champion Roseville and state tourney surprise, Troy, are both expected to be pushed aside by Madison and Fitzgerald.

Most of the Oakland B teams open league play Dec. 9.

Wayne-Oakland League looks for Northville to sneak into the title now held by Milford, despite the fact that coach Jack Minzey's Redskins still have six lettermen including high scoring Jim Davidson.

Clarenceville hopes to pull a few surprises and Clarkston, without a letterman over six feet, may find it hard to repeat in the runnerup spot.

Lake Shore and Utica entertain title hopes in the Bi-County League.

Early starters next Tuesday will have Lakeview at Greenville, South Lake at Romeo, and Imlay City at Almont.

Even Years Navy's

Tale of the Series Has Cadets in Odd Years

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Underdog Army has recent history on its side today in its 56th football meeting with Navy at Municipal Stadium.

Except for 1951—the year of the cribbing incident at West Point—the Cadets have prevailed in the odd years since 1945.

* * *

Doc Blanchard scored three touchdowns in Army's convincing 32-13 triumph in '45 to start the streak. His feat was duplicated by today's cadet captain, Pat Uebel, in the 20-7 victory of 1953.

* * *

All-America quarterback Arnie Galiffa and fullback Gil Stephenson pooled talents to give Army its biggest margin of the series, 38-0, in '49. In 1947 it was a 21-0 romp.

Conversely, the even years have been Navy's.

The Middies took the plaudits for a supercharged effort after losing the famous 21-18 decision to the last of the Blanchard-Glenn Davis Army teams in 1946.

Billy Hawkins, who had been knocked off his feet 4 yards from the Army goal as the '46 contest ended, was the chief engineer of the 21-21 tie in '48 listed as a moral victory for the underdog Middies.

Navy scored one of the upsets of the decade by snapping a 28-game Cadet unbeaten streak, 14-2, in 1950 behind the passing and field generalship of Bob (Zug) Zastrow. Zastrow held the academy's season's passing honors until this year.

George Welsh has rewritten the mark in his first eight games.

Efforts Made to Help Seals

Boston Businessman to Raise $150,000 for PCL Team

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Frank Watkins, who came West from Boston 18 months ago, says he hopes to put $150,000 on the line next Monday in an effort to save the financially faltering San Francisco Seals.

Watkins, president of General Paint Corp., said he hopes to interest 14 other businessmen in putting up $10,000 cash for what would be practically a gift to baseball.

"Our group doesn't want to own the Seals," Watkins explained. "We're all busy men and have our own problems. We don't plan to even take any stock in the club."

Tangerine Bowl Selects Juniata

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—The Elks Tangerine Bowl Commission has selected Juniata College of Huntingdon, Pa., to play in the Tangerine Bowl football game here Jan. 2 and plans to name the other team Monday.

The commission has narrowed Juniata's opponent to three schools, Kincaid said. He listed them as Wisconsin State at Stevens Point; Missouri Valley at Marshall, Mo.; and Southeast Missouri at Cape Girardeau.

Social Outcast Duels Prendase in Pimlico

BALTIMORE (AP)—Social Outcast, who has earned enough money to be eccentric and is, and Prendase, the flashy invader from Venezuela, matched speed against six other rivals today in the 19th running of the $50,000 Pimlico Special.

The Maryland Jockey Club, which inaugurated the Special in 1937, when Vanderbilt was president, expected about 25,000 to turn out for this edition. Although the race was his own idea, this marked the first time Vanderbilt's colors were carried in it.

Hunters Enter Two More Deer in Press Derby

Two more rack entries were registered in the Pontiac Press deer contest Friday, but one was disqualified because of uneven and battered points.

Bill Carland, who owns and operates a gun and archery shop at 6089 Highland Road, entered an 8-point buck scaling 162½ pounds. Bill bagged the animal in the Highland area Thursday morning with a 12-gauge shot gun. Two blasts were required to bring down the deer.

The largest rack in the 1955 competition was entered yesterday by Richard Bathurst of Romeo, but was eliminated from contention. The 160-pound buck, shot last Sunday morning in Mackinac County, was once a 20-pointer but several points were broken and the deer was dropped as an entry.

Finsterwald Leads Palm Beach Open

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald went into the second round of the $5,000 West Palm Beach Open Golf Tournament today holding a 1-stroke lead on a course that proved more than a match for some of the nation's top golfers.

No player among the field of 89 professionals and 75 amateurs broke par in the opening round yesterday. They were shooting the 6,415-yard country club course where par is 36-36—72.

Finsterwald came nearest, succeeding in matching par. He shot the round in 34-38—72.

Huskies Express Dislike of Cherberg in Writing

SEATTLE (AP)—Grumbling members of the University of Washington football squad who have been saying more or less anonymously "we don't like Coach John Cherberg" put it in writing last night.

What they said—in a statement carrying the names of 30 members of the 50-man Washington squad—was essentially what they told Harvey Cassill, the university's director of athletics, last Monday and Tuesday.

"In regard to the future football program, the players are not satisfied with coaching methods and the handling of personnel. Players are not impressed with Cherberg as a leader. The attitude of players will prevail for years to come when recruiting will be a vital factor of the UW program.

'M' Basketball Outlook Given Brighter Rays

Wolverine Cagers See Improvement on 7th Place 1954 Finish

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan basketball future, long a bleak and sickly one, is brighter this year.

One ray of hope came from a tall freshman team which this week trampled the varsity 71-60 in an inter-squad scrimmage and sported a pair of sharp-shooting forwards.

In all justice to the varsity, they are improved over their 7th place finish last year, but they are far from peak condition this early in the season.

Frosh star M. C. Burton, a 6-foot-5, 200 pound forward from Muskegon Heights was the high scorer with 21 points. Right behind him was another frosh forward, George Lee, a 6-foot-3, 205 pounder from Highland Park.

The fact that they're both from Michigan is another booster for the Wolverines.

The varsity has lost its speedy guard Don Eaddy and forward Paul Groffsky to graduation. Before the season is over, they will lose forward Jerry Stern too.

But the varsity is still taller than they were last year. Big Pete Tillotson, a 6-foot-6-inch all-stater from Ludington, is one of the main Wolverine hopes. Tillotson, Coach Perigo says, was a little slow against the frosh, but his potential is great.

Ron Kramer, the 6-foot-3 football star, had his 1st night on the court against the freshmen and scored 10 points, as did Tillotson. "He looked better on his 1st night this year, than he did after a month of practice last season," Perigo said.

Jimmy Barron and Tom Jorgenson, a pair of injured seniors, will lend experience to the squad. Barron is bothered by a trick knee and Jorgenson has to wear a long tight stocking to keep blood from swelling his leg.

Irish-Trojans Set for Final

90,000 Expected to Watch 27th Meeting Between Schools

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Irish of Notre Dame take the field in Memorial Coliseum today favored to trim Southern California in a game that most observers predit will be close and spirited.

Quarterback Paul Hornung and his relatively light but fast exponents of the split-T atack were rated a 1-touchdown favorite over the Trojans of USC.

Barring bad weather, a crowd of around 90,000 was expected to see this 27th meeting between the intersectional foes. Notre Dame, fifth-ranked in the nation, went into the game with only one loss, to Michigan State, on its record.

Brennan Favors Moving Posts to Goal Line

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Terry Brennan, Notre Dame's youthful football mentor, came out today in favor of moving the goal posts up to the goal line in collegiate ball.

Brennan said he favored the switch, already the practice in the professional football ranks, to facilitate field goal kicking among the collegians.

The Irish coach has a high regard for the field goal, particularly since his quarterback, Paul Hornung, booted one last week to beat Iowa.

Perna Rolls 713 Series

Sam Perna, bowler, and proprietor of the West Side Recreation, rolled a 713 series Thursday night in the St. Michael's League. Sam combined games of 256-252-205 for his impressive total, believed the highest series in Pontiac this season. This was the 1st 700 series for Perna, a 185 average kegler, who has bowled for eight years.

TCU Goes 'Picking' for Bid to Cotton Bowl Today

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Texas Christian's Horned Frogs play Southern Methodist today with two things in mind: Win the Southwest Conference football championship and find out who they're going to meet in the Cotton Bowl.

The first thing is to beat ancient rival SMU and sew up their first title in four years. They face an SMU outfit that wants to win as much as they do, as a salvaging act of the closing season. The Mustangs have a record of 4 victories in 9 games when they were supposed to be one of the contenders for the championship.

The Cotton Bowl opponent may be known before the game is over. Indications are that it will be Navy, if the Middies beat Army today. Felix R. McKnight, Cotton Bowl president, is in Philadelphia where the Army-Navy game is being played.

If it isn't Navy it will be Auburn, Vanderbilt, Mississippi or Georgia Tech.

The Frogs find today's game a championship affair as the result of the 21-6 upset Texas pulled over Texas A&M Thursday. Texas Christian can take the title undisputed by decisioning SMU or tie for it with A&M by playing the Mustangs to a deadlock. A loss would hand the championship to A&M.

Yankees 'Not Worried' Over Trades Which Might Strengthen Indians or White Sox

NEW YORK (AP)—Are the New York Yankees worried about the trade that sent Larry Doby of the Chicago White Sox and Chico Carrasquel and Jim Busby to the Cleveland Indians?

* * *

Not in the least, said Yank General Manager George Weiss, who returned from the Orient for a brief stopover today before heading for next week's minor league meetings in Columbus.

What does have the boss of the American League pennant winners worried, though, is the deal in which the Boston Red Sox acquied Bob Porterfield and Mickey Vernon from the Washington Senators for a flock of rookies.

"That," said Weiss, "makes the Red Sox a possible serious contender."

For the record, the players the Sox bartered off to the Senators are pitchers Dick Brodowski, Altheus Lee Curtis and Truman Clevenger, along with outfielders Neil Christly and Karl Olson.

"If Washington got any prospects in the deal, then they are prospects with a lower 'p,'" shrugged Weiss. "If not, then the Senators have more information on them than we have.

* * *

"Right now, I must say that Boston got all the better of the deal if Vernon and Porterfield don't go into a complete collapse. Of course there are 'ifs.' Vernon is 38 years old and Porterfield is a little bit on the other side.

* * *

"But if Vernon comes up with another good year, and Porterfield returns to his form of a couple of season ago, Boston will be dangerous—right in there with Cleveland which also has a few problems. The Red Sox got a fine hitter and a real good pitcher and they didn't give up to anyone who was going to be much help next year."

As for the Indians-White Sox trade, Weiss said that where the clubs improved in one department, they lost in another.

* * *

Neither Weiss nor Manager Casey Stengel shed any tears that the Yanks weren't given a chance at Carrasquel—even though Phil Rizzuto is approaching the end of the trail.

* * *

"We have Billy Hunter and other shortstop material in the organization," he said. "I don't say we wouldn't have listened to a deal involving Carrasquel, but I doubt if we would have made one. We need pitching and an outfielder."

Weiss will be in a receptive mood in Columbus next week and at the major league meetings in Chicago the following week—but strictly for pitchers and outfielders.

Background for LIVING

Your Neighbor's House

Modern Interior Fits Ranch Home

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It's a friendly gray house on a pie-shaped lot. The front door is painted turquoise blue for contrast. Inside there is space and light and airiness—and a great redwood beam some thirty-five or forty feet long.

The Joseph McClanathans — there are five of them—are delighted with their new home on Scotch Pine Drive in Pine Center. Of course, baby Katy is too young at seventeen months to remember much about living nearly a year in Kansas City.

Even three-year-old Joey probably can't recall the house he lived in in Birmingham, prior to the Kansas one. But Dick, at ten, can remember both those homes.

Entrance hall, living room, dining room and kitchen are a unit in this home. There is a full wall between living room and kitchen and a short one closing off the hall. The bedrooms are distinct rooms.

Opening the brightly painted front door, the visitor steps into a hall made homey with a large redwood planter. Ribbed glass panels on either side of the door let in soft light. The coat closet has sliding doors.

Twenty-nine feet of exposed redwood beam distinguishes the living-TV room. One of the twin modern sofas divides the two areas. These sofas have stainless steel legs, foam rubber upholstery and gray tweed coverings. Yellow cushions on one, Chinese red cushions on the other give that necessary spot of color.

The coffee table between the sofas, in front of the gray Roman brick fireplace, is enameled bright yellow. The bookcases are gray, while the modern chair beside them is black. Even the picture above the bookcases carries out the same color scheme, with its varying shades of yellow and green.

The tweed carpet is cut out in a wide arc to mark the dining room. Full length white draperies can be drawn across the entire east wall of the house, shutting it in. Light comes from fixtures concealed behind the cornice boards.

In the TV section of the living room there are molded plywood chairs and a long bench to be used for sitting or for magazines. While the occupants sit back to enjoy television or recorded music, they can look out onto the picnic area and behind to the garden. A Habitant fence encloses the back yard, making a safe play space for the younger children.

Ceilings in the living section are painted white to contrast with the exposed beams, all walls are yellow. All windows are floor-to-ceiling height. A door leads from the dining room to the terrace outside.

Wrought iron furniture in the small dining room is in proper scale. The chair seats are Chinese red. There's a pull-down lamp over the table. This house is planned like the letter "L," with utility room and garage, as well as a second bath in the wing leading from the dining room.

The kitchen has a number of unusual features, one of which are full-length windows. Outstanding is the built-in refrigerator and freezer. This last permits an unbroken surface on the longest wall, with oven, stove, and work counter a continuation of the refrigerator wall. All cabinets are made of Philippine mahogany.

The double sink is set at an angle to the rest of the room and looks out into the dining room and to the outside. There is but a half wall here. Sink and refrigerator-freezer doors are gleaming stainless steel. Counter tops and wall covering behind the stove are aqua linoleum.

Mrs. McClanathan has used fish as a decorative motif in several places. She hung a large wrought iron fish on the fireplace wall. On the kitchen wall there are several more finny creatures; and the curtains have fish as a design.

Dick's room shows his liking for football. Over his dresser he has fastened dozens of pictures of football players. The room is masculine looking with the cowboy curtains and the lamp with cattle brands on the base. A camel seat—that's a leather stool on legs bound in brass—has a prominent place in the room.

Katy and Joey share a blue room with pink furniture. Their curtains have gay merry-go-rounds printed on them. The same tan linoleum floor extends throughout the bedroom wing.

The McClanathans' liking of the modern extends to their bedroom. Pink and gray and white makes a bold color scheme. Wall-to-wall carpeting is white, as is the bedspread. The Mr-and-Mrs. chests are black.

A slipper chair has a gray corduroy ruffle with a pink and black plaid cover. The draperies for the high windows are white with a pink and gray design. There's a comfortable looking gray hassock. One wall of this bedroom is dotted with pictures of the children.

The exterior of the McClanathan home is gray cement brick made in the Roman style, long and narrow. Gray painted siding provides texture contrast. A wide driveway sweeps diagonally up from the front of this 200-foot lot to the double garage.

The McClanathans bought their new home in time to choose the color schemes for the rooms. They moved in in August. B. L. Smokler of Detroit was the builder.

Newest Synthetic Fabrics Resist Household Stains

It's called Moke—which rhymes, appropriately, with Okay—it's the newest in fir plywood design concept. This unusual idea in decorating may be just the thing for creating original and exciting interior remodeling effects.

Moke is an entirely new design principle that combines pattern and texture with dramatic colorful finishes and lighting effects. Many have adjudged Moke as finest of the "50 Golden Ideas" introduced recently at the Golden Jubilee observance of the western fir plywood industry in Portland, Ore.

Moke came from the drawing board of Architect Whitney R. Smith of Pasadena, Calif. He suggested the idea as a new and versatile treatment for fir plywood panels.

Originally conceived as an interior decorating and remodeling idea, Moke has received considerable attention in other fields such as in department store backgrounds, lobby displays, but it primarily remains something for the home.

Although several standard designs are already gaining acceptance, Moke leaves it up to the busy do-it-yourselfer to come up with his own idea. By its very nature, Moke treatment has limitless applications and literally hundreds of design possibilities.

In fact, the idea is actually a new art form pointing the way to a multitude of design effects in building.

STRENGTHENS PANELS

Moreover, Moke has applications in strengthening light plywood panels—applications which may be combined with design—that may well lead to entirely new architectural and construction methods.

The name Moke is based on a seldom-used English word, Mok, which means "to weave." That literally describes some of the effects created when fir plywood is cut into patterns in such a way that dowels or other inserts form an attractive third dimensional relief effect. The visual pattern is made even more dramatic by unusual lighting effects.

Here is what you do to create Moke with fir plywood:

Trace a pleasing design on the surface of a fir plywood panel in such a way that cuts along the design will permit you to spring sections of your pattern away from the panel proper. Cut along your design with a saw. Spring the design sections outward and hold them with an appropriate dowel or other piece of wood. That's Moke.

NO SPECIAL TOOLS

It's made with ordinary tools. A portable saber saw is best. It can be held by hand or clamped to a table. A plain keyhole saw can also do the job. In addition, you'll need a hand or electric drill, bits, hammer, screw driver and pliers, just about what you'd expect to find in most basements or garages.

Until you've had practice with Moke, it's best to stick to designs which do not call for sharp curvatures or intricate cutting. To start with, you can experiment by cutting small Moke patterns in light cardboard. A ruler and compass will help in the layout. Repetitive patterns are generally most effective.

Here are some tips—things to watch to gain the best effect in Moke:

Try to allow at least 10 inches for all cuts which will be woven. Shorter cuts may cause the panel to distort, but a simple frame around the edges will bring it back into shape. Start the actual construction by drilling holes to provide starting points for the saw cuts. Holes may be made ¼ inch to ⅝ inch or larger, depending upon the effect desired.

SAWING TIPS

Your saw cut may be started in one hole and ended in another for symmetry of design. In making saw cuts with the saber saw, place your plywood panel with the good side up when using the saw installed in a table.

Place the good side down with the hand-held saber saw. To prevent chattering, insert the saw in a drilled hole before starting it and do not remove the saw until it has stopped.

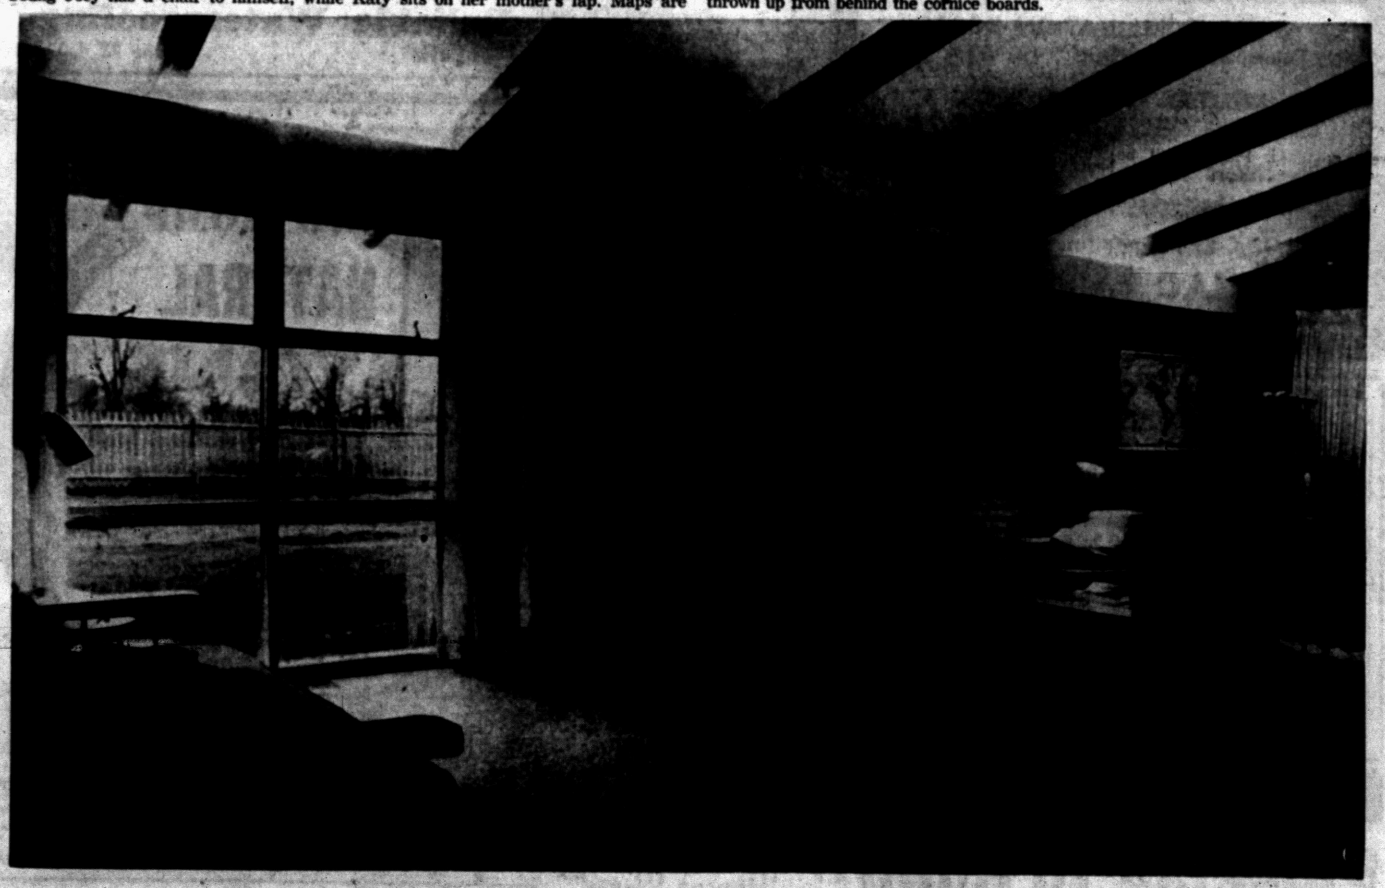

You can paint or stain the finished panel and Moke design according to your own taste and the decorative effect you want.

THE JOSEPH MCCLANATHAN HOME — Located on Scotch Pine Drive in Pine Center, the home of the Joseph McClanathans is an L-shaped structure of gray brick and gray board and batten. The drive winds up from the street to the two-car garage. White trim and a bright turquoise door add interesting touches of color. Surprisingly enough, the long windows beside the front door are kitchen windows.

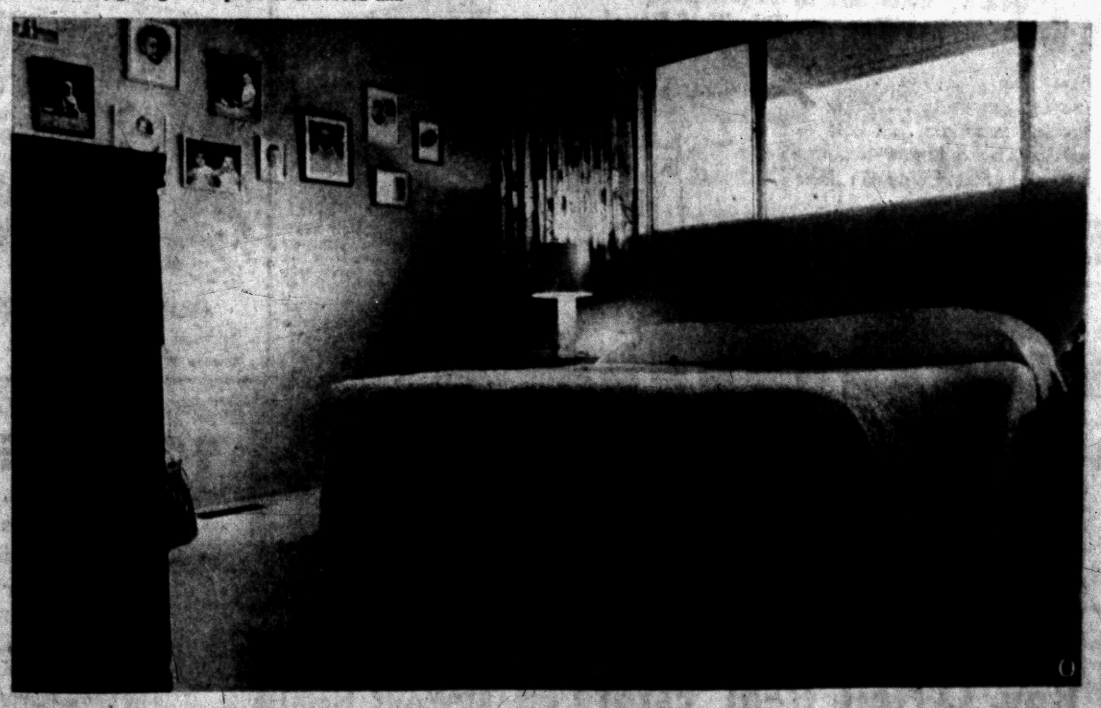

TIME FOR TV — A cold, rainy, windy afternoon is just the time for watching TV. Young Joey has a chair to himself, while Katy sits on her mother's lap. Maps are framed and used as wall decorations in both parts of this room. Concealed lighting is thrown up from behind the cornice boards.

CLEAR-CUT AND SIMPLE — The room is pleasant because it is uncluttered. Gray carpeting repeats the gray brick of the fireplace. Redwood beams add their own note of decoration to the yellow walls and white ceiling. A gnarled piece of driftwood and the modernistic wrought iron fish over the fireplace are effective. The sturdy fence can be seen through the window.

STRICTLY MODERN — The black chests of drawers and the white bedspread stand out in contrast to the deep pink walls of the bedroom occupied by Mr. and Mrs. McClanathan. Twin night tables hold good reading lamps. The curtains are pink and gray on a white background. There is a double closet in this room.

Cement Blocks Useful in Making Incinerator

If you just bought a home in newly developed areas without all the facilities of more settled communities, you can make up for it with a little ingenuity of your own.

For instance, if you've had problems getting rod of trash, build your own incinerator of cement block. With a little thought in planning, it can double as a barbecue grill. To be sure, you don't want an ugly looking block of cement in your yard. Surface it with a decorative, weatherproof material like colorful ceramic tile which can't be harmed by fire, rain, snow—or rubbish!

Leather Goes Modern

Combine your need for the look of fine printed fabrics in your home with the durability of leather upholstery. Smart new leather fashions show printed patterns with the look of chintz, brocade, or damask, with a new softness to the touch, and the same lasting qualities as always.

Glass Tumbler Is the Clue to New Decorating Motifs

ATLANTA, Ga. (INS)—Take a tumbler, turn it over, and you'll come up with a bevy of new decorating ideas.

Kathryn H. Dorflinger, who represents a large glass manufacturer, says the possibilities are limited only by a woman's imagination when she starts to work with a tumbler and a bit of modeling clay.

For instance, Mrs. Dorflinger suggests putting a salad plate atop the inverted tumbler, sticking it on with modeling clay. By using modeling clay, she explains, you can hold the glassware in position temporarily without making the arrangement a permanent one.

In the centerpiece made of tumbler and salad plate, the expert likes to put fruit or flowers. The arrangement can be varied by using a 21-ounce tumbler one time, and a 14-ounce glass another, or by using different colored glasses.

HOLDERS NO PROBLEM

Pink, she says, is particularly good this year, and Mrs. Dorflinger is strongly attracted to the modern primitive patterns.

Candle holders are no problem for the woman with a glass to her name. Inverted, the glass becomes a ready-made candlestick. The candle is stuck in a bit of modeling clay dotted on the bottom of the upside-down glass.

Mrs. Dorflinger likes to use inverted glass candle holders in graduated sizes as a centerpiece. She starts with a 21-ounce tumbler, slips down to a 14-ounce, and finished the stairstep with a juice glass.

SHERBERT GLASS

For a particularly "dressy" centerpiece, she places the tumbler-salad plate piece, filled with fruit, in the middle, then sets it off with stairstep candle holders on each side.

A sherbet glass, too, may become the base of a vase or a fruit or flower container. Use the modeling clay around the lip of the sherbet and stick a shallow bowl or small plate on top for the desired effect.

Other ideas include placing flowers inside the inverted glasses and floating flowers in the salad plate atop the tumbler or sherbet glass.

Mrs. Dorflinger advises:

"By all means vary the table setting and the centerpiece. Don't use the same old thing all the time, any more than you would wear the same dress day after day."

Present Living 'Standard' Used to Be 'Wealthy'

Average - income Americans today enjoy a standard of living comparable or so ago. Things once considered luxuries are now necessities.

The ordinary garden variety citizen is buying bigger automobiles and television sets, better household appliances. He demands and can pay for a better dwelling, with wood-paneled walls, once exclusive in homes of the rich.

The wood trussed rafter system of construction is an inexpensive type of roof framing.

Housecleaning Plan Presented

The only way to keep the living room clean is to do a little bit every day.

* * *

No matter how many modern appliances you have, how simple your furnishings are or how many your furnishings are or how easily cleaned the room's surfaces are, you'll still have trouble if you try to do too much at once.

Portion off a part of the room—the home's basic living area—and go over it thoroughly one day and then move to another part on the next day. Nothing—either versatile vacuum cleaners or easily cleaned materials—can remove the necessity for systematic, regular housecleaning.

Here's a five-day cleaning plan for your living room. Of course, the plan depends on your family routine. But the important thing is to establish some plan and keep to it as much as possible.

1. Monday. Vacuum floor. If it's a stainproof ceramic tile floor, wipe it down with just a damp mop.

* * *

2. Tuesday. Go over walls for dust, finger marks, smudges. Check the tops of paintings for dust. Don't forget the mantel.

* * *

3. Wednesday. Dust furniture. Do slipcovers need laundering? Go over woodwork of furniture with a good oil.

* * *

4. Thursday. Wash windows. How about curtains or drapes? Should any laundering or sewing be done on them?

* * *

5. Friday. Check assessories for the weekend. Are enough ashtrays handy? Books dusted? Games available? Lamp lights all working?

Waterproof Outdoor Light Sockets by Fuse

Bulbs in outdoor electric fixtures should be removed in the winter unless the fixture is used. To prevent moisture getting into the empty socket, screw in a burned out fuse.

By the way, filing empty indoor sockets with burned out fuses is a good way to prevent small children sticking their fingers into the sockets and getting a shock.

Modernize Cedar Chest

Something really new in the way of styling has been added to cedar chests. The new designs have taken cedar chests out of the attics, closets and bedroom corners, and brought them right into hallways and living rooms. In reality, the 1956 cedar chests are handsome cabinets with cedar lining. They make a wonderful gift, and a lasting one.

New Liquid Solder Aids Home Hobbyist

A new adhesive and a liquid solder are now available at hardware stores to supplement the tool and material kits of the home handyman and the "do-it-yourself" hobbyist.

* * *

The adhesive a general-purpose household cement for repairing china, glass, metal, leather, canvas, cloth and paper, comes in a two-ounce fold-up metal tube printed in red and white. The liquid solder, in blue and silver tube, is ready to use without heating.

* * *

Hobbyists can use it for toy-making and for working with glass and metals. For home repairs it can be used for repairs to heating and water pipes, leaky radiators, and aluminum, tin and enamel ware.

You Should Know This

Did you know that most electric coffee makers have a small fuse that usually can be reached by removing the bottom plate from the appliance? When one of these coffee makers fails to heat, the chances are that this little fuse has blown.

Do You Own a Wrench? Well, Then, Read This Item

DO . . . buy good quality wrenches, not merely because they will last longer, but because of the better service they will give.

DO . . . whenever possible, pull on a wrench, rather than push, in order to avoid banging your knuckles if the nut gives way suddenly.

DO . . . keep at least one adjustable wrench and at least two pipe wrenches in your workshop.

DO . . . remember that a pipe wrench is seldom used alone; in most cases, one pipe wrench is used for gripping, the other for turning.

DO . . . be sure that your wrench is free of grease before using it; a slippery wrench is an invitation to an accident.

* * *

DON'T . . . ever increase the leverage of a wrench by placing a piece of pipe over the handle; you'll break the wrench, spoil your work or hurt yourself.

DON'T . . . use a pipe wrench on a square or hexagon nut; it is made for gripping cylindrical objects.

DON'T . . . forget that, when it is necessary to push a wrench, do it with the heel of your hand and with your fingers open.

DON'T . . . overlook the use of a vise wrench (or locking pliers-wrench) when it is necessary to hold an object and yet not retain your grip on the tool.

House Lumber Shaped for Do-It-Yourselfers

Home owners will be able to do much of their own wood paneling when sparkling up that older home. Lumber manufacturers have made it easy by shaping panel boards with tongue and groove for a tight fit. Nails are hidden by the overlap.

Douglas fir or west coast hemlock panel boards take stains, paint or varnish very readily. They should first be sanded and buffed smooth.

Glue size should not be used when new wallpaper is hung over old wallpaper. It should be used, however, when applying paper to a painted or unpainted wall.

PREFABRICATED FIREPLACE — You can set it up in any room.

Prefabricated Fireplace Used in Almost Any Room

Old Man Winter is beginning to send a few advance chills through the cracks and crevices around our windows and doors to remind us that it's a good time to start a blaze in the fireplace. Nothing like an open fire to recall your savage (or at least Boy Scout) background.

* * *

You have no fireplace? Well, Hal Boyle says you can't throw a log on the television! Maybe you'd like to look into prefabricated fireplaces. Everything seems to be prefabricated nowadays — meals, cocktails, grass for the lawn (you can buy it in rolls) — so, even fireplaces come in a package.

A prefabricated fireplace can be set up in almost any room. It has an Underwriters' Laboratory approval for safety, can be installed in four to six hours, calls for no expensive masonry work, and if you want to tackle the job you can make it a do-it-yourself project.

The smell and crackle of logs on the andirons seem to be big factors in making a house a home. Some people are afraid of the crackle. For example, this writer has a mother who bothers farmers for miles around to get her a nice stock of white birch logs for her fireplace. She says white birch doesn't crackle and throw sparks all over her carpet. Bless her, but we'll take oak logs any day. The more noise and sparks the merrier. Just spread an old rug in front of the hearth and let the logs sputter.

You can get prefabricated logs, too. They have them at most hardware stores.

Prefabricated fireplaces are made of outer shells of prime coated steel, ready to take paint to match any interior. Stainless steel trim gives the setup a smart accent. The firebox is lined with suitable ceramic material to stand the heat and the unit comes equipped with a flexible hearth screen to keep sparks from jumping into your lap.

Natural Wood Color Add to Home Decor

Take advantage of the natural color tones of wood when planning your interior decoration, advises the National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

Woods in light to medium colors include: Ponderosa pine, Southern pine, Douglas fir, Idaho pine, sugar pine, Englemann spruce, West Coast hemlock, Sitka spruce, white ash, birch, black gum, hackberry, hickory, pecan, magnolia, soft maple, hard maple, red oak, white oak and yellow poplar.

Woods in medium to dark colors include: Western red cedar, Southern cypress, California redwood, larch, brown ash, butternut, cherry chestnut, red gum, American walnut and mahogany.

The Bible reports that Noah's ark was constructed of gopher wood. Most translators have taken gopher to mean cypress.

New Kitchen Windows Save Wifey Extra Work

When shopping for a new house or remodeling an old one, be sure to examine kitchen windows with an eye to labor-saving convenience, says June Cabot, a home arts consultant.

Among Miss Cabot's "window shopping" tips are these: Choose windows that open with a hand mechanism rather than by lifting, especially if they are behind a kitchen counter, to avoid strain; make sure counter windows open outward rather than inward to assure maximun counter space; specify distortion-free "twin ground" plate glass to reduce eye-stain and aid appearance, and make use of double-pane insulating windows wherever possible to conserve warmth in the house and to help prevent window fogging.

A good fast finish for floors is one coat of shellac followed by one coat of varnish. It's not as durable as some other finishes but it speeds up the job considerably.

Today's Houses Made Better

The average home built during 1955 cost about $2,500 more than five years ago, but the higher price has been more than offset by the increase in quality.

* * *

Although private residential construction may fall some 50,000 homes short of the record year of 1950, the generally larger prices this year will set an all-time record for total dollar volume spent on new homes. Building authorities say the total will probably reach $14.6 billion, or $3 billion higher than the 1950 record.

Today's house is bigger and better. The typical home is nearing the 1,300 square foot mark in floor space, not including space for garage, porch and basement. Six years ago, 65 per cent of new homes had less than 1,000 square feet of floor space.

Most noticeable in the upgrading of private homes have been the improvements in modern kitchens and bathrooms. Without space-saving built-in appliances in the kitchen, a new home today stands ownerless a long time. And the same goes for a home without at least a bathroom plus a powder room.

* * *

Both rooms are the key to home value. Materials such as ceramic or quarry tile which are durable, waterproof, scratchproof and yet decorative are tops on the list of desired features. Ceramic tile, incidentally, found greatly increased use over countertops both in the bath and kitchen.

* * *

Certain trends in home design which were firmly established during the year will be carried into 1956. Among these, of course, are the use of built-in kitchen appliances, higher tiled wainscots in the bathroom, quarry terraces for outdoor living, and "freer" interiors in which rooms flow naturally one into the other without the obstruction of extensive wall areas.

Plan on Extra Bath

Plan for that extra bathroom when you are building a new house. With the cost of the additional bathroom spread over the life of the mortgage, the monthly payments are increased only nominally.

BUILT-IN REFRIGERATOR — The metal doors at the far left of the picture conceal an 8-foot refrigerator on top and a large freezer below. Next is the wall oven. Tape Recorder Assumes Role in Family's History

Tape recorders are assuming an ever increasing and more lasting role in many of today's homes. Growing use of this latest sound medium as a means of preserving important events of a family's life indicates that a library of sound in the home could eventually become the modern form of the old family Bible.

* * *

Such significant occasions as christenings and anniversaries as well as a daughter's early reading lesson or piano recital, birthday party doings, and even father's speech to the men's club are captured easily and saved forever on the modern tape recorder, more and more families are learning.

One of its major values, too, is its contribution to greater family enjoyment and appreciation of music. Classical and popular recordings can be "taped" for permanent fidelity of reproduction long after original recordings have become scratched or damaged. Many homes also are using tape recorders to preserve operatic presentations, symphony concerts and other noteworthy programs on radio and television.

Contributing to this rising popularity is the simplified operation and smart styling of many of the newest tape recorders. This is particularly true of one of the latest models, known as Ekotape. In this handsomely designed unit, every bit as attractive as today's radios, all controls are mounted on a top panel. It takes only a few minutes of study of the clearly marked control positions to master the speed control and amplifier system. The "mike" is attached to an extended cord, reaching several feet into the room.

Up to two hours of playback can be recorded on a 1,200 foot reel of tape. The tape can be replayed indefinitely with no loss of tonal quality or it can be "erased" and a new recording made on it with ease.

* * *

In keeping with today's variable living decor, Ekotape is obtainable in dark or light wood finishes.

An Easy Way to Check Draft

A lighted candle and a breezy day are all that's necessary for a quick check of your home's windows, to learn if they are tight against the winter's cold.

June Cabot, a home arts consultant, points out that a flickering candle flame will mean the loss of heat — and dollars — throughout the cold season. She listed four solutions to the problem in the order of their heat-saving effectiveness. They are:

* * *

1. Replacement of old windows with stock-size units of Thermopane insulating glass. These "tailor made" windows comprise two lights of high-precision plate glass with a sealed dry-air space between. They provide perfect visibility plus insulation equal to a brick wall eight inches thick.

2. Replacement of multi-pane windows with single lights of "twin ground" plate glass. Here, too, visibility will be much improved, and heat loss will be reduced by minimizing the number of frames and the amount of putty seal required.

* * *

3. Replacement of cracked and broken putty around the original panes. The old putty should be completely removed, new putty applied, and a sealing paint applied to the putty after drying.

* * *

4. Emergency repairs with one or another of the soft, rubber-like putty materials now available. These materials will serve to block the entrance of cold air until a professional-type putty can be applied.

Aromatic Red Cedar Used as Wainscot

Although aromatic red cedar is used primarily as a closet liner, it can also be used effectively as a wainscoting, particularly in dens and recreation rooms where an unusual decorative effect is desired.

* * *

As a closet liner, aromatic red cedar is never varnished or painted, as this would lock in the fragrant fumes which repel moths. When used as a wainscot, the wood is finished with a clear shellac or varnish.

Aromatic red cedar has a distinctive rose color which adds a touch of elegance wherever it is used. Structurally, the wood is one of nature's most durable products. It is practically termite-proof and requires no special treatment to accentuate its attractive grain or prolong its life.

* * *

Most lumber yards sell aromatic red cedar closet lining in packages containing enough tongued grooved pieces of the wood to cover at least 32 square feet of wall area.

Electric Chord Organ Now Household Item

Make your own music this Christmas with an electric chord organ in your home.

Organ fashions have been greatly modified and scaled to meet contemporary home fashions. Even the smallest home will be able to accommodate an organ, and even the smallest member of the family will be able to operate one well.

Just a light, feather-touch produces rich full chords, and a vast beautiful range of tones.

POLKA-DOT FLOOR — Polka dots are inlaid in a new floor tile made of vinyl resins with six decorator colors forming bright striking patterns that do not rub off. Coin-shaped disks from a tile of one color fit tightly into tiles of another color and are held securely by an adhesive cement. The tiles are 12-inches square and come in charcoal, pink, beige, grey, off-white and turquoise. Each tile contains 33 dots of three sizes.

Too Many People Waste Valuable Space in Closet

If closets had rubber walls, most would look like inflated balloons. Closet walls aren't made of rubber and they can't be pushed back easily. The only practical way to make the average closet do a bigger job is to avoid wasting the storage space it now contains.

* * *

A check of the average closet usually reveals that it contains much wasted space near the ceiling and floor areas. This closet probably contains one hanger bar for clothes and a couple of hooks for hats. No special places are provided for shoes, hats, ties and similar articles.

More often than not, the single shelf in the closet is merely a collection point for empty hat boxes and the thousand and one other useless items which seem to clutter up what should be valuable storage space.

The trick, then, is to decide what a closet is to be used for, and equip it accordingly. Oftentimes, it is practical to install two hanger bars, one placed above the other. This doubles the hanging space for short articles, such as men's suit coats, trousers folded over hangers, ladies' blouses and skirts.

CEDAR HAS PLACE

If the closet is lined with aromatic red cedar closet lining, it can serve as a year-round storage place for garments and blankets. Cedar closet lining is nature's own moth-repellent. The wood's fragrance appeals to people, but it stops moths from laying the eggs which eventually cause moth holes.

Cedar has a place in any efficient closet. Not only does it provide moth-repellency, but it provides a sturdy base for attaching closet conveniences, such as tie and shoe racks. Also, the beauty of the wood is a bonus feature that adds a touch of elegance to any closet.

Fortunately for do-it-yourselfers, aromatic red cedar closet lining can now be purchased ready to use from almost all lumber dealers. The wood is prepackaged in bundles containing enough tongued and grooved pieces to cover at least 32 square feet of wall area. Any man who can handle a hammer and saw can line a closet with aromatic cedar in just a few hours of spare time.

SELECT THE BEST

When lining a closet with cedar, don't forget to do the inside of the closet door. The added cedar improves the closet's moth-repellency and, at the same time, provides a handsome background for hooks and racks which hold hats, ties and the like.

Many closet conveniences are now on the market. Investigate all of them before drawing up a plan to improve a closet's efficiency. Select those that save the most space and then include them in the plan.

Most people find it is far cheaper and much more satisfying to improve the closets they already have than to build new closets or expand present ones by moving one or more walls. Planning and ingenuity often are the best closet stretchers.

Broom Closet Fits In

There's a place for brooms, mops and other cleaning equipment in modern wood kitchens. One of the many cabinet styles produced by wood kitchen manufacturers is a broom closet made of the same choice wood as other cabinets and base units. The broom closet fits with other cabinets as an integral part of a wall pattern.

Ben Brought Bathtub

Benjamin Franklin in 1785 brought to America from France one of the first bathtubs. It was shaped like a giant slipper with a place under the heel for a fire to heat water, and an opening in the toe for draining off the water. From Ben Franklin's lone bathtub to the annual production in the United States of more than two and one-half million a year is an interesting footnote to history.

Powder Rooms Added

There should be at least powder room facilities on each living level. In the sleeping area, there should be a bathroom for every two bedrooms. There ought to be a powder room near the entertainment area of the home, whether it be the living room, family room or basement recreation area. And, ideally, the master bedroom deserves private bathroom facilities.

Wood Acts as Insulator

Wood has long been recognized as a superior insulating material, but many persons are not sure exactly why it is superior. The reason is that the structure of wood is comprised of myraid cells containing dead air spaces which retard passage of heat and cold.

Glass Replaces Walls

Walls between rooms — especially between living room and dining room, dining room and kitchbath — are being replaced in many modern homes with partitions of patterned glass.

Valuable shrubs may be protected from wind and snow by easy-to-make shrub shelters.

The shelters should be made large enough to allow for the growth of the plants for several years. Each shelter consists of four 2 by 2-inch legs, sharpened at the ends and framed with 1 by 2-inch strips at top and bottom. The bottom framing is about 6 inches from ground level. Use 6-penny finishing nails for fastening.

The top lath (⅜"x1½") are spaced to allow ½ inch between strips. The side lath are spaced one lath-width apart. Lapping the ends of the lath and framing strips, as shown, will simplify cutting the lath to length—all pieces for one shelter may be cut to the same length. Use 2-penny finishing nails or 1-inch brads for fastening the lath.

The shelters should be painted to add to their life and attractiveness. Set them in place before the frost hardens the ground. Tap them down securely, using a mallet or a hammer and wood block.

Oven, Ice Cube Tray Present New Features

DAYTON, O. (INS) — An oven that rolls out its own shelves and an ice cube tray that pops its own cubes were among the new kitchen features to be shown Monday in one major line of 1956 home appliances.

The oven that rolls out its own shelf was featured on a 30-inch range with French doors. The homemaker only has to open one door. The second opens itself automatically and the shelf glides out without being touched.

Repair That Split

Splits in the end of pieces of wood can be repaired by prying the crack open so that wood glue can be worked into it and then using a clamp to close up the crack and hold it closed until the glue is dry.

Now Take This Plumbing Quiz

"Pouring coffee grounds down the drain of the kitchen sink is a good idea because it will scour the grease from the traps and prevene clogging."

True or false?

Absolutely false, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. Nothing to it. Just about the worst thing you can do, the Bureau insists.

Seems like a couple of years ago one of the national magazines published a yarn to the effect that if you wanted to keep your sink drain perpetually clean, just pour coffee grounds down the drain.

Apparently lots of housewives read the story and thought they would try it. Result: Plumbers were flooded with calls about clogged sink drains.

Apparently the coffee grounds found some nice cozy place in the pipes and just stayed there. The effect was something like pouring sand down the drains — sand will find a level place and settle there. Then when the grease comes along, or other solid particles of waste, it's just too bad.

The regular use of a good drain cleaner is recommended. Pouring hot water down the sink drain once a day will keep a shrdlushrdluu a day will help to keep it clean.

Put Safety Into Kitchen and Whistle Away Worry

If you are building or remodeling your home, it's a good idea to consider safety features in kitchen planning. This is the advice of safety engineers who point out that a third of all home accidents occur in the kitchen.

* * *

The best preventative, the experts say, is proper placement of all appliances and utensils.

* * *

For example, the popular new wall ovens can be installed at shoulder height in attractive wood cabinets, putting the oven out of reach of toddlers and pets.

Modern wood cabinets and base units are built for safety. There are no sharp edges and the base units have up to four inches of toe space at the floor line. The cabinets are engineered for maximum storage.

There are sliding racks for trays, drawers especially designed for large utensils, built-in ironing boards and broom closets, and highup storage for toxic items. Smart new breakfast bars, made in the same choice woods as the cabinets, eliminate the bulky kitchen table and chairs, lessening the possibility of elderly persons or youngsters tripping themselves.

PLAN WIRING

A combination of some or all of these features means an end to kitchen clutter and displaced utensils and elimination of a major cause of accidents.

In addition to adequate storage space, it is wise to plan the wiring so that extension cords are not needed and so that outlets are away from water sources.

When cooking, use the back burners whenever possible and keep pot handles turned inward away from the stove edge. Keep the stove free of grease.

Of course, the safety engineers point out, no amount of manufacturing skill in making wood cabinets nor careful habits on the part of the housewife can supersede two basic safety needs—training children to understand the kitchen, and knowing the rudiments of first aid.

Apartment-Bound Couples Prepare for Future Home

Young families still apartment-bound should count their blessings.

* * *

Samplings among young couples show those who take advantage of "apartment training" make better homes for themselves later on. They do this by experimenting now with furnishings, colors, materials and room arrangements.

Some families, the study shows, move into new homes before they are ready. Unfamiliar with color, the effects of textures and lighting, and unused to the needed practicalities of basic areas of kitchen and bath, such families can often spend years in new homes fumbling for good taste and efficiency.

If they had set about training themselves in their apartment days it would be a different story now. For example, they should have given in to that urge for experimentation with a blue-white living room; or the dyed burlap room divider.

Above all, they should make thorough checks on kitchen appliances, learning the pros and cons. When it comes time to buy appliances for their new house, they will have a good idea of what exactly they want and don't want. So, start learning now, apartment-bound!

Sickness Fells China AP Chief

Veteran Correspondent Fred Hampson Dies in Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—Veteran correspodent Fred Hampson, Associated Press bureau chief for China with headquarters here, died today at 53.

Weakened by years of bronchitis and asthma which stemmed from hardships as a correspondent in the South Pacific during World War II, Hampson succumbed to

His wife, the former Margaret Kelly whom he married in Tacoma, Wash., in 1926, received the news last night en route from Los Angeles to Honolulu. Yesterday morning she had learned of her husband's serious illness and had left by plane twth a package of medicines.

He worked 12 years for the Aberdeen (Wash.) Daily World, and after a year with the Portland (Ore.) Journal he joined the Portland bureau of The Associated Press. Hampson went to the South Pacific in 1943, covering eight landings (three in the first wave) on the long road back from Guadalcanal to Manila.

At the end of World War II he was assigned chief of bureau for China. He went to Shanghai in September 1945 to reopen China headquarters in the prewar AP office.

Hampson stayed until December 1949, when the victorious Reds allowed him to close up and transfer his headquarters to Hong Kong. From here he supervised coverage of Formosa. His analyses of the changes wrought in China by the Communists often have been commended by editors in the United States and elsewere.

Gifts From Mamie, Nixon Will Be Sold

HAZARD, Ky. (AP) — Gifts from Mamie Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and various movie and television personalties will be auctioned here Friday.

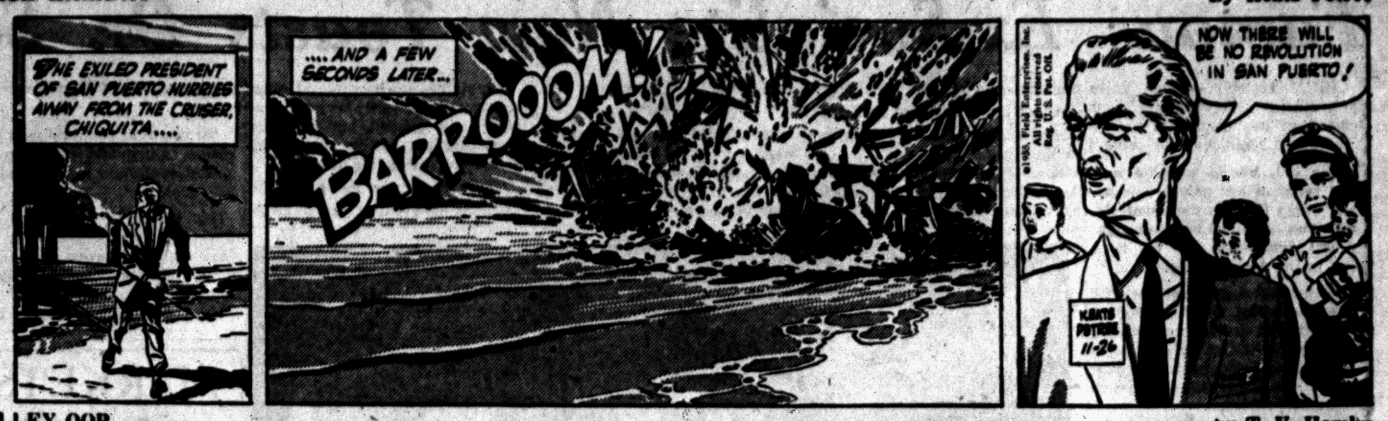

The gifts were sent at the request of a committee for the St. Mark's Episcopal Church Christmas bazaar.

Some of the stars sending gifts included Jack Webb, Ralph Edwards, Perry Como, Dinah Shore, Walt Disney, Jack Benny, Ida Lupino, Gene Raymond, Katharine Cornell and Louella Parsons.

Preacher Returns Badge

WAKE FOREST, N. C. (AP) — The Rev. Earl William Howard, a student at the Baptist seminary here, decided he didn't have time to study, attend classes, preach and do justice to his full time job. So he turned in his badge as a member of the police force.

Famous Ex-Socialite Now Toasts Dr. Schweitzer

CHICAGO (INS) — For years Mrs. Marion Mill Preminger was toasted in two continents as the "girl with the million-dollar smile."

The tall, blonde socialite has lost some of her gaiety now as she works to focus the country's attention on famed humanitarian Albert Schweitzer and his hospital in the African jungle.

She has set a grinding pace for herself in trying to get Americans to support the doctor who suddenly gave up civilization in Europe in 1912 to feed, clothe, house and cure sick natives at Lambarene, French Equatorial Africa.

Dr. Schweitzer, who won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1952, also is world-famous for his learned studies in theology, music and philosophy.

COAST-TO-COAST TOUR

Mrs. Premigner is on a coast-to-coast lecture tour to bring the doctor's fabulous story to as wide an audience as possible. But she also takes time out to attend medical conventions to exhibit a display depicting Dr. Schweitzer's life and work among the African natives.

She was in Chicago this week to attend a meeting of the American Association of Blood Banks.

The transition from a woman who was a perennial glamor girl and an internationally famous hostess to someone with a mission came in 1950.

After her divorce, from film producer-director Otto Preminger, she met Dr. Schweitzer in France during one of his rare return tips to Europe.

Mrs. Preminger followed the doctor back to French Equatorial Africa and since then has made pilgrimages to Lambarene every year. She explained:

"I didn't give up anything when I gave up ordinary people to live near a saint. Just to work for Dr. Schweitzer is to be as near to God as one can get."

The statuesque, brown-eyed woman leaned forward in her armchair and pointed out that the humanitarian has a philosophy called "reverence for life."

"This reverence for life," she said, "is the greatest step in civilization since Christ's sermon on the mount.

"It means in part that man has claims on man and that everyone should contribute to the good of all mankind."

This feeling is one of the keystones of Dr. Schweitzer's life. After quitting Europe, he built a 40-hut hospital at Lambarene largely with his own hands.

The jungle has been pushed back and modified native huts built until there are now facilities for 250 ambulatory patients, 250 hospital patients and a leper colony of 350 persons.

Mrs. Preminger explained that the humanitarian once told her:

"Lambarene is not as romantic as one thinks. To be a success there you have to be a boatsman, a gardener, a carpenter, a veterinarian, a nurse and many other things."

POINT OF NO RETURN — A model demonstrates usage of latest Italian innovation —spurs on heels and toes of milady's footwear to ward off over-zealous suitors.

Sinatra, Ex-Wife Nancy to Rewed, Rumors Hint

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Singer Frank Sinatra's increasing attentions to his ex-wife, Nancy, and his frequent appearances at her home have stirred rumors that the couple may remarry.

Sinatra spent Thanksgiving with Nancy and their children and took mom and pop Sinatra along. Friends say Frank has been visiting Nancy two and three times a week at her Hollywood home.

The crooner is still married to sultry actress Ava Gardner. He has sent her gifts but friends insist that Frankie and Ava "are just friends and nothing more."

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO THANK ALL FOR their kindness and express our most sincere thanks to our relatives, neighbors and friends for their many expressions of sympathy shown in our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved husband and father, Barney H. Rule. We especially wish to thank Rev. B. Roetcke, the pallbearers, those who made donations, those who sent floral tributes and cards, and friends who offered the use of their cars, and all the others who helped us in so many ways. Mrs. Barney Rule and family.

Long Sought Bank Cashier Found With Bullet in Head

CLEAR LAKE, Minn. (AP)—The body of bank cashier Kenneth Lindbergh, whose disappearance touched off an extensive search by federal and state law agencies, was found yesterday in a snowy pasture.

Three boys came upon the body, partially covered with snow, as they hunted rabbits. Lindbergh lay frozen to the ground, the snow stained with blood that had flowed from a bullet wound in his head.

The identification was unofficial, pending an FBI comparison of fingerprints and the viewing of the body by one of Lindbergh's relatives. However, all the officers who viewed the body were certain it was that of the bank cashier.

"It's Lindbergh all right," said sheriff Chester Goenner.

Lindbergh vanished late Nov. 12 after conferring in his Thief River Falls, Minn., bank office with a stranger who had phoned him from Minneapolis, saying he wanted to deposit $25,000.

The cashier's abandoned car was found last week in Minneapolis and the trunk contained some $1,500 of the $1,750 in silver missed from the bank after Lindbergh's disappearance. Also taken from the bank were $14,000 in travelers' checks, some of which turned up in Detroit and Chicago.

Sheriff Goenner said no wallet was found in the clothing of the slain man, but that a hat nearby bore the stamp of a Thief River Falls store.

A key case with cards carrying Lindbergh's name, a letter addressed to the banker and a receipt made out to him were found.

The body was found on the Lawrence Firieck farm by three Firieck boys—Merle, 17, Kenneth, 10, and Gary, 7.

"At first it just looked like an overcoat on the ground," said Merle. "Then I saw two feet sticking out. I was a little scared."

The boys ran home and their mother phoned Goenner.

At Thief River Falls, a newsman reported the community of about 7,000 was "shocked and even bitter." Residents described Lindbergh as a highly respected person.

News in Brief

Charged with driving under the influence of liquor, George Addison, 32, who told Sheriff's deputies his address was 4085 Silver Beach Drive, pleaded guilty yesterday before Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib and paid $60 fine with $25 costs.

Also before Justice Leib, Charles Colston, 37, of Van Dyke pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of liquor and was fined $90 with $10 costs.

John Regan, 41, of Detroit, pleaded guilty to drunk driving yesterday before Farmington township Justice Allen C. Ingle and was fined $50 with $15 costs.

Pleading guilty to reckless driving, 18-year-old Roger Feet of 15 Spokane Dr. was fined $35 with $15 costs yesterday by Sylvan Lake Justice Joseph J. Leavy.

Blue-Haired Female MP Refuses to Heed Critics

LONDON (INS)—Joan Vickers, the only woman with "blue hair" ever to sit in the House of Commons, isn't going to change its color to please her critics.

* * *

"Why should I?" she said, "I've been using a blue rinse for years ever since my hair began to turn grey. I think it's very becoming."

Miss Vickers is one of four new women members elected to Parliament in Britain's May 26 general election.

She defeated leftwing Laborite Michael Foot by just 100 votes in the Devenport division of Plymouth.

"Although I have yet to make my maiden speech in the House," she said, "one article in a weekly newspaper about my blue-tinted hair has created quite a stir."

The article said that fellow Conservative women MPs were "shocked" at Miss Vickers' blue hair and that one of their number had been deputized to tell her that "while it is really very becoming, it just won't do for the House of Commons."

"So far," said Miss Vickers, "I haven't been visited by any 'deputation.' But I have been the butt of lots of jokes and teasing. I don't mind though. It's all in good fun."

CUTS TRIM FIGURE

Miss Vickers, who admits to being 47, cuts a trim figure among an assortment of 24 women MPs. She is proud of one "first" in her political career. She was the first person ever to be televised in Britain at a political party convention.

It happened at Blackpool last October when for the first time Conservatives allowed British Broadcasting Corporation TV cameras to cover their conference. Miss Vickers was the conference's first speaker.

Glamorous Joan participated in another memorable television program in July 1954. It was a party political telecast in which viewers throughout Britain were invited to telephone the studio and put questions to a panel of Conservatives.

* * *

Hundreds of people from all over Britain called London, completely tying up all trunk telephone circuits.

People who were inconvenienced through delays on long distance calls raised such a fuss that the Conservative Postmaster-General was forced, reluctantly, to put a ban on such programs in the future.

Station to Show Film of Narcotics Hearings

A telecast of the recent Congressional hearings in Detroit on the unlawful use of narcotics will be featured tomorrow night ove WWJ-TV, station officials said yesterday.

The hour-long film will be shown over Channel 4 betwee 1:30 p.m. and 12:30 a.m.

Injured timber worker E. McDonald was rushed to the hospital in Busselton, Australia, where he found his stepfather in the next ward, his wife in the women's ward and his aunt in the kitchen—where she is the cook.

Railroad Officials Mulling New Deseregation Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Railroad men here said today the task of achieving racial desegregation in the South's interstate train service will present almost as many problems as the first rail crossing of the Continental Divide in 1869.

* * *

But as one executive put it: "The railroads always obey an ICC order."

He referred to yesterday's order from the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) directing an end effective Jan. 10 to racial segregation of interstate passengers on trains and buses, and in public waiting rooms and rest rooms.

A check with a half-dozen rail executives disclosed no firm plan of action yet to carry the order into effect. They agreed many problems were involved. They asked not to be quoted by name.

* * *

None of the railroad representatives here suggested taking an appeal from the ICC order to the Supreme Court, whose 1954 ruling on school segregation was cited by the ICC in support of its order.

One official commented:

"It may be that the long-established practice of southern carriers in separating white and Negro passengers may just go by the boards under the weight of operating difficulties."

He discussed the situation against a backdrop of statements from southern state officials, asserting their intention to retain local statutes requiring railroad companies to maintain separate or divided coaches, waiting rooms and rest rooms for whites and Negroes.

Thirteen states, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas, South Carolina and Virginia, have such laws.

* * *

And this, one railroad man said, is the heart of the difficulty. After Jan. 10, the railroads are confronted with the prospect of maintaining one set of "mixed" accommodations for interstate travelers to satisfy the ICC, and another set of separate facilities for intrastate patrons, to satisfy local authorities.

"I don't know how you are going to unscramble interstate and intrastate travelers in a waiting room," one railroad man said. "So far as I know, no one knows at this point how it can be done. It surely isn't going to be any easy job—and it's got to be done by Jan. 10."

According to transportation experts here, every railroad offering passenger service in the South and Southwest has provided separated facilities for whites and Negroes under the "separate but equal" doctrine which the ICC has sanctioned since its organization 68 years ago.

Parties Launch Mexican Yule

9 Happy Events Make Social Season Spiritual in Traditional Way

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexicans warm up for their Christmas gaiety with a series of nine parties which comprise the busiest social season of the year.

The parties are called "posadas" because of their original religious significance. "Posada" means "inn" and each of the parties supposedly reenacts the search by Mary and Joseph for a lodging in Bethlehem.

Guests assemble outside the house and sing the traditional "posada" song in which they ask for shelter. The host, taking the part of the innkeeper, tells them in song that he has no room. The guests in another verse repeat their request and the host finally opens the door to them.

Actually, the whole ceremony is seldom carried out except at posadas given by religious organizations. In other parties, the only true posada note is the singing of the traditional song. The rest of the party is like any other Christmas party anywhere.

The Catholic Church every year fulminates against the secular posadas, which are usually marked by heavy drinking. To some extent the church has been able to halt the singing of the more religious parts of the posada song at this type of party.

Posadas are given on any of the nine nights before Christmas. In many groups each member gives a posada on one of these nine nights.

In a traditional Mexican family, the host for the next posada is chosen by lot. In the "rosca de Reyes," the traditional Christmas sweet bread, rather like a coffee cake, a small china doll is baked. Whoever gets the doll in his piece of bread is supposed to give the next party.

Presents are not a feature of the posada, which is rather a way of being sure of seeing friends around the Christmas season.

Women Boycott Furs to Conserve Seals

JOHANNESBURG — You may give South African women diamonds and orchids, or even yachts as presents, but don't you dare to offer them sealskin coats.

Throughout the Union, women are combining to impose a boycott on coats made from sealskins.

They have been shocked by reports of the slaughtering of seals on Mossel Bay and hope to remove the profit motive from the annual clubbing of seal cubs.

They are urging, too, that the authorities either see that more humane methods are used and allow S.P.C.A. observers at the clubbing, or abandon the slaughtering completely. Some women point out that the new artificial nylon fur coats "are often better anyway."

TV Menu This Weekend Offers Tempting Dishes

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Not every weekend brings the galaxy of entertainment that lighted the television screen last Saturday and Sunday. But this coming weekend promises some rather specialized dishes for various palates.

* * *

Here are a few, apart from the weekend regulars (all times Eastern):

For romanticists — Another Max Liebman "spectacular," this one being a musical version of some minor heart-throbs of the American Revolution entitled "Dearest Enemy" tonight at 9 p.m. (NBC-TV). One of the hopeful prospects of this show is a cast that includes Cyril Ritchard, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Anne Jeffreys and Robert Sterling. This program bumps George Gobel off the air this week.

* * *

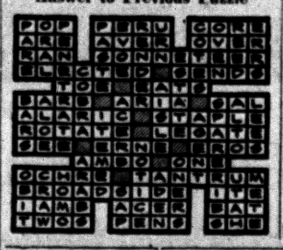

For parents, citizens and taxpayers — Edward R. Murrow takes a penetrating look at the problems of the nation's schools on See It Now Sunday at 5 p.m. (CBS-TV). Murrow, who remains far and away the top journalist of television, times his program with the convening in Washington of the White House Conference on Education. He will visit a typical community in Colorado and take a look at another community in Michigan where some problems have been solved by citizens who banded together.

For fans of good films—Famous Film Festival presents "Tight Little Island" Sunday at 7:30 p.m. (ABC-TV). This is a delightful British film about the people of a little Scotch island who love a sip from the bottle and of what happens when no more drops are available.

Leukemia Fells Youth

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Eight-year-old Rodney Jones, who said he wanted to be a policeman when he grew up, died Thursday of leukemia. The Battle Creek Police Department presented the boy with a badge and police identification card several weeks ago.

Tots Usually Receive Toys They Wish for

SANTA CLAUS, Ind. (INS) — What American children want, they usually get.

That's the report from a survey made by the Toy Manufacturers of the U. S. A., Inc., which found the wish of the child to be the factor influencing two-thirds of American toy selections.

The survey showed that 920 million dollars was spent for Christmas toys last year, and prospects are good for a similar expenditure this coming Christmas. . Annually the expenditure was over a billion in 1954.

Japs Restore Castle

NAGOYA, Japan (AP) — City officials are going to reconstruct a famous, 350-year-old castle destroyed by an air raid in World War II. It will be an exact reproduction except for two things — two elevators to hoist tourists to the top of its five-story tower.

Canada Invites Red Clergymen

Visa Tie-Ups to Cause Delay in Arrival Date Till Dec. 4 or 5

TORONTO (AP)—A delegation of four Russian clergymen invited to tour certain parts of Canada now is scheduled to arrive in Montreal Dec. 4 or 5, it was announced today.

Dr. E. E. Long, secretary of the General Council of The United Church of Canada, sponsors of the visit, said the delay in the delegation's arrival, originally scheduled for next Monday, was described by the Russians as "due to unavoidable circumstances."

The Russian Orthodox Church officials were to have left Moscow by air yesterday, but they said in a cable to the United Church they could not leave because Canada has not issued visas.

The Foreign Affairs Department said at Ottawa yesterday the Canadian Embassy at Moscow had been authorized to issue visas, but passports shown by the clergymen had nearly expired and they were asked to get them renewed.

The group: Archbishop Boris, representing the Orthodox Church Patriarch in North and South America; Bishop Padaleus, bishop of Volynsk and Rovensk; Constantine Ruzetsky, rector of Moscow Theological Seminary, and Anatole Gorbatchov, seminary inspector.

Their welcome in Canada seems uncertain in view of opposition openly expressed by two groups.

Priests of the Canadian Russian Orthodox church have said they will not meet the Russian prelates on any terms.

U. N. Pressing Reds to Free 2,720 PWs

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—The U.N. Command today again demanded that the Communists account for 2,720 issing Korean war prioners, including 450 Americans.

Rear Adm. Walter E. Moore, senir Allied member of the Military Armistice Commission said the Reds were "not at all responsive" to the demand.

But they did "accept the list with reservations," Moore told reporters after a 1½-hour MAC meeting.

The Reds ignored the last U.N. demand for an accounting in August 1954.

The Communists in turn demanded the U.N. account for 98,739 of their men. Moore said he promised "a full accounting."

The list of Americans was made up of 244 missing soldiers, 190 airmen, 13 Marines, 3 Navy men, 46 members of U.N. contingents and the remainder South Koreans.

American Toy Manufacturers Provide Youngsters With Inexhaustible Supply

SANTA CLAUS, Ind. (INS)—The billion-dollar American toy industry so nearly fills the wants of this nation's Santa Claus-writing children that imports from other countries are deterred.

* * *

That is the summary of W. A. Koch, general manager of Santa Claus Land, home of the famed post office to which many of the letters addressed to the Christmas saint are sent. Koch currently is directing the construction of one of the largest permanent toy exhibits of the Midwest as a new attraction at Santa Claus.

Koch conceded that import duties and transportation costs (generally ranging from 25 to 50 per cent) are major factors in keeping out many of the offerings of toy manufacturers of other nations, but added.

"I would say that the American manufacturers have done a very good job in providing toys for U.S. children. Actually, that has kept the importing of large volumes of toys from other countries down considerably."

AMERICAN TOYS TOPS

Koch opined, after a recent toy buying trip to some 16 countries:

"We in America are very strong on metal toys, plastic toys and dolls. Dollar for dollar we can't be touched, excepting the occasional exception. Whenever I looked at plastic toys or novelties it was a foregone conclusion by the Europeans, even before I asked the price, that it was impossible to compete with American automation."

He found Germany to be second only to the United States in variety, quality and cost of their toys.

"The Germans manufacture a very inexpensive line of mechanical toys with which we are very familiar. Actually this probably is their strongest suit. They have a few competitive dolls and stuffed goods, but on the whole, their prices are too high to compete with the American market."

Of his English toy-buying expedition, Koch said:

"England manufacturers a lot of toys quite similar to ours, many of them very good quality. The English wheel goods is outstanding and commands the respect of the world. Though it is high in price, English wheel goods is imported and sold in quantities because of the quality."

The man from Santa Claus found that toys of the Latin countries more often are handmade than in the northern nations. In Florence, Italy, where he visited six factories, he found much work which he called "truly a work of art."

He discovered an exception in Spain to his general conclusion that price makes exportation difficult among the Latin countries. Spain, he believes, excells with dolls, at present, but he added:

"As a matter of future predicting, I believe we will see more and more items imported from Spain in addition to their dolls."

In Denmark, Koch commented:

"The toys they have were actually the very same we have on display here at Santa Claus Land, and they have very few more excepting some larger ones on the same basic design."

Wooden toys are the most outstanding contribution to Santa Claus' pack from the Scandinavian countries, he felt, but these tend to remain in Europe.

"In the Lowland countries, Holland, Belgium, and Luxemburg, you will find good artisans, but they tend more toward gift merchandise instead of toys."

* * *

Then Koch, with a thought for the curious who look at the bottom of articles to see their country of origin, hastily added:

"We mustn't forget the Japanese. They are the world's greatest copiers and will copy just about anything that we can manufacture with a flair for lowering the cost at the expense of quality. They can and have turned out some very beautiful work, but this is not their strong point."

Woman Found Dead in Minnesota Motel

VIRGINIA, Minn. (AP)—A Minneapolis union official told officers today a woman hunting companion, found shot to death in their motel room, threatened to take her own life if he left without her.

* * *

Thomas Pierce, 49, whose deer hunting trip with the wife of a St. Paul architect ended with a rifle shooting in an Orr, Minn., motel, was held without charge awaiting a coroner's inquest.

The body of Mrs. Myrl Crommett, 38, a bullet through her heart, was found at the Orr motel yesterday.

R. S. McDermott, St. Louis County deputy sheriff, said Pierce told of having several arguments with Mrs. Crommett after they arrived at Orr Tuesday, and that she threatened to take her own life if Pierce left her.

Pierce said he wanted to return to Minneapolis yesterday morning but that Mrs. Crommett insisted on staying longer. Mrs. Crommett was told she could take a bus home if she wanted to remain, Pierce said.

Pierce told McDermott he left the motel yesterday morning to have breakfast at a nearby restaurant, leaving Mrs. Crommett in the room.

When he got back to the motel he said, Mrs. Crommett was lying dead on the floor.

Reflections
WRAP THEM SECURELY
MAIL THEM EARLY

Our Postmaster gives up the three R's for Christmas mailing — Right Packing, Right Wrapping, and Right Addressing. And the boys who handle our package add, "Please mail them early."

J. L. VOORHEES

When we spend time, thought and money for a gift we want it to be delivered — as it is, not shattered, crushed or way late. Use a heavy container. Use ample cushioning material. Tie it securely. Put address on box, wrap it in strong brown paper and PRINT address on outside. And above all things, mail it early.

M. E. SIPLE

Our Post Office is unusually efficient but think of the many times our package is handled — local, trucked to a terminal, sorted, banged into a mail car, again crushed at a terminal, sorted, stacked in a car, dumped at a destination, heaped mountain high waiting for delivery.
