LONG WAIT — An unidentified boy sits on his motorbike, watching floodwaters recede slowly at Guthrie, Okla., today. Cottonwood Creek, which runs through town, reached a crest six feet above flood stage last night and slowly returned to its banks today. About 1,000 persons had been forced to evacuate homes and today they began the grim cleanup task.

Hunt for Lard Called Unsafe

Welfare Dept. Warns It Could Be Fatal

LANSING (UPI) — The State Department of Social Welfare said today it has discovered metallic particles in two-pound bricks of lard distributed to welfare and low income families in Antrim County which could be fatal if taken internally.

Lynn Kellogg, deputy director of the department, said the lard was part of a 28-ton shipment intended for distribution to welfare recipients in Osage, Crawford, Antrim, Leelanau and Kalamazoo counties.

He said the lard was distributed this week only in Antrim County to a "very substantial number of people."

"There have been no reports of anyone becoming ill from the lard," Kellogg said.

Health officials immediately began calling back all the lard yesterday. They pressed their hunt for more of it today.

"We're making every effort to get the lard back now," Kellogg said.

He said the lard was shipped to the Boyne Valley Foods Locker storage plant in Antrim County for distribution to welfare and low income recipients in the five counties.

"The lard is very dangerous and if taken internally could be fatal," Kellogg said.

He said health officials discovered a metallic substance like fine steel wool particles in the lard.

A federal health inspector was to check the 28-ton shipment today.

House Dems Kill Tax Plan

LANSING (AP) — House Democrats voted yesterday to kill a bipartisan fiscal reform plan, proposed for action this fall — but agreed to take steps of their own toward taxation changes.

Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, said a 3½-hour Democratic caucus decided not to discuss the plan this fall.

"We voted, however, to put the graduated income tax resolution on the agenda, and instructed the House Taxation Committee to develop a program as soon as possible that is fair and equitable to the people of Michigan," he added.

The Senate already has approved the fiscal reform plan — worked out by Gov. George Romney and a bipartisan group of legislators — as an agenda item to be discussed.

The House Policy Committee was to meet to discuss the agenda resolution this morning, and with majority Democrats in control, was expected to follow the caucus recommendation.

ANOTHER CAUCUS
Democrats were planning another caucus today—reportedly to determine what to do if House Republicans try to revive the issue on the floor.

Romney, at Michigan Island for the Midwest Governors Conference, blasted the Democrats for a "reactionary" stand, and warned them to be ready to accept the responsibility for "whatever financial crisis develops in the next few years."

The bipartisan plan — aimed at raising $150 million annually in new revenue — is based on a 3 per cent personal income tax and a 4 per cent levy on corporations and financial institutions.

It would levy a 3-cent-per-pack tax on cigarettes, grant a $15-per-person credit on the sales and use tax and a 1½ per cent credit against property taxes.

It also would modify some of the intangibles taxes and repeal the business activities tax.

Kowalski proposed a plan of his own — similar to one proposed by state AFL-CIO President August Scholle — to raise $55 million to $60 million a year in new state income.

Bank Suspect 'Flies Away'

Escapee Was in Jail on Tip by Satellite

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Georges LeMay, who lived a life of luxury as a fugitive for four years before the Early Bird satellite put him in a cell, is again at large.

The dapper Canadian, accused of leading the gang which looted a Montreal bank in 1961, smashed an unbarred window on the seventh floor of the 10-story Dade County jail and slid 90 feet down a cleaning hose to the ground last night.

Waiting for him were three men in a new sedan. Minutes after jailers missed him, the car was spotted speeding away to the north. It was only the second escape from the 4-year-old jail on the edge of downtown Miami.

How did LeMay get from his cell on the fifth floor to the seventh?

"That," said a police lieutenant, "is the $64 question."

CASH PHILANTHROPY
Authorities were looking into the possibility that LeMay, never short for money, had a little help on the inside.

Police and the FBI hunted the hangouts of LeMay and his friends in Miami Beach, but if they dragged turned up any leads, they weren't talking about them.

LeMay is a skilled sailor and there are hundreds of secluded coves along the Florida Coast from which he could put to sea. LeMay was arrested last May 6 aboard his fancy yacht in Fort (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

PAKISTAN AGREES — Pakistani Foreign Minister Zulfiqar Ali Bhutto (right) announced to the United Nations Security Council early this morning that his country would accept the council's cease-fire order.

Bhutto agreed to the cease-fire in the undeclared war between Pakistan and India earlier had agreed to acceptance. Beside Bhutto is S. M. Zafar, law minister of Pakistan.

High-Level Confab Fails to Give Pollution Solution

No solution has been offered for water pollution problems in the Pontiac area as a result of a high-level conference in Lansing this week with the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling said yesterday the problems were discussed, but that no remedy was offered.

Neippling felt, however, that the commission might soon issue an order toward solving local pollution problems.

Among those attending the meeting were Neippling, Arthur L. Thornton, of the County Drain Commissioner's office; Robert T. Coleman of the Oakland County Health Department, and Waterford Township Supervisor James Seetler.

Loring F. Oeming was the ranking representative of the Water Resources Commission at the meeting.

Neippling said that it was decided that pollution of the city's west end drain stemmed from the Huron Gardens area of Waterford Township.

Several years ago individual households were permitted to connect to the storm drain.

Little hope was offered that any of the property owners would initiate action to correct the situation.

In addition, residents in the section are in the retiree classification and any project to correct the problems would pose a financial hardship.

It was concluded also at the meeting that pollution of Osun Lake in the city results from the combined storm and sanitary sewer overflow discharge into the east end of the lake.

Neippling said the only solution here would be to provide separate storm and sanitary sewers. Thus, storm water could be discharged into the lake without the sewage.

Pollution of Terry and Harris Lakes, also on the meeting's agenda, appears to come from industrial waste somehow discharged into storm water flowing into the lakes.

Neippling said an intensive investigation would be necessary to determine the origin of the waste.

REQUIRE DIVERSION
He said the eventual solution would be to have the city require that the sewage be diverted into a sanitary sewer. This would require a sizeable sum of money, he added.

The water resources commission requested that the city make a statement as to a current program to solve the pollution problems.

No program was offered.

U. N. Directive on Cease-Fire to Be Okayed

Shastri, in Report, Claims Red China Is Bigger Menace

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Kashmir war ebbed today toward a truce, with the armed forces of both India and Pakistan ordered to quit shooting before another sunrise.

Red China's threat of immediate action against India also eased, but Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri told his Parliament that the Red nation presents "an even greater challenge" and the Indians must firmly resolve to meet it.

Reflecting the challenge, a defense ministry spokesman said Indian police sighted a Red Chinese patrol of 50 to 60 men at noon yesterday, five miles deep in India's Uttar Pradesh State, on the central front. He said bad weather prevented the police from determining whether the patrol stayed or pulled back.

India protested to Peking and asked that China "return to the path of peace."

Shastri and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan announced a cease-fire is to become effective in their three-week-old war at time translating as 5 p. m. EST today.

That is 3:30 a. m. Thursday in India; 3 a. m. in Pakistan—15 hours beyond the deadline originally set by the U.N. Security Council.

Shastri went as he announced the development in Parliament. He said the two Asian neighbors must live in neighborly peace.

SIMILAR WORDS
Similarly, Ayub said in a broadcast from Karachi he had ordered the cease-fire in the interests of international peace and he hoped it would lead India and Pakistan to an honorable settlement of their 18-year-old quarrel over Kashmir.

In this regard, Shastri said India has accepted the good offices offered by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. Kosygin had suggested that Shastri and Ayub meet in Soviet territory to discuss their differences.

Pakistan Chief Talks With LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson talked by telephone today with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan and promised that the United States would support fully with words and deeds efforts by the United Nations to achieve final settlement of the Pakistan-India war.

Johnson also read to Ayub a statement made public later, in which Johnson said acceptance by Pakistan and India of a cease-fire call from the U.N. Security Council "takes us a long step away from the terrible dangers which have threatened the subcontinent of Asia."

The public presidential statement, which Johnson read in full to Ayub, concluded with these words:

"We now hope that both nations, in the spirit of the Security Council resolution, will move forward to peaceful settlement of their outstanding differences. The job of the United Nations has just begun. We will fully support it every step of the way by our actions and our words."

Robbers Score One Run, Many Errors

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The robbery went off without a hitch — well, almost. Two gun-waving bandits stepped coolly into a downtown jewelry store yesterday afternoon and held the co-owner, Harry Kagan, at gunpoint while they scooped up cash and gems valued at more than $5,000.

They then ran outside to their waiting getaway car, an old convertible. It wouldn't start.

As the bandits desperately tried to start the motor, things began to happen. Kagan called police.

In a camera store two doors away, Donald L. Adams, a shipping clerk and amateur photographer, saw the men with guns get into the car and rushed out, camera in hand.

"The back window of the convertible was out, so I stuck the camera inside and snapped some pictures," he said.

SPOT CAMERA
One of the bandits turned and aimed his gun at Adams.

"It went click," Adams said, "but I got out of the way."

The bandits did, too. They leaped from their car and headed toward a sports car parked nearby. The driver saw them coming and fled with the keys.

The bandits then commanded another car. The driver, Roth Schrumpt, tried to get out with his poolie, Lucky. Her husband, Al Schrumpt, appeared on the scene and rescued both wife and dog.

The bandits roared off in the Schrumpt car — for about 100 feet. Then it stalled.

Reuther denounced Chrysler in a statement yesterday, 24 hours after the company's announcement of prices for its new 1966 model cars.

The UAW chief called Chrysler's action a "profligate assault on the consumer and on national price stability."

Chrysler is the first of the American auto makers to announce 1966 prices. Ford, General Motors and American Motors have yet to make announcements.

BEING STUDIED
The White House at Washington said Chrysler's increases are being studied by the Commerce Department and the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

Twisters Hit Near Marshall

MARSHALL (AP) — Two small tornadoes reportedly struck shortly before noon today near this Calhoun County seat during the passage of a "very sharp" cold front, the U.S. Weather Bureau in Grand Rapids reported.

One twister was reported to have touched down south of Marshall about U. S. 27. Police reported some trees knocked down in a cemetery.

Another report said there was "evidence of a another small twister about 18 miles north of Marshall at Duck Lake."

Six Witnesses Called in Coed Death Case

The prosecution called six witnesses this morning as the first-degree murder trial of Kenneth R. Cooke began in Oakland County Circuit Court before Judge Frederick C. Ziem. Cooke is charged with the June 23 murder of 23-year-old Barbara K. Hodges of 545 Second, Oxford Township.

Miss Hodges, a Central Michigan University coed, was beaten and shot to death on a lonely road about two miles north of Oxford Village.

Patrick Oliver, assistant Oakland County prosecutor, called Edward Barnes of 2200 W. Draper, Oxford Township, as his first witness.

Barnes, a self-employed pump service man, testified that he was flagged down on Dunlap road while returning from a service call by a man who said there was a dead woman lying at the side of the road.

Barnes said he called the Oxford police after seeing the body on the road and told them to send an ambulance.

Besides Barnes, three Oakland County Sheriff's Department Deputies and two members of the Oxford police department were called to the stand to testify before the morning session was adjourned at noon.

All the police witnesses testified on what they observed at the scene of the murder.

Sheriff's Deputy Roy Lewis testified that the defendant told him that Miss Hodges had let him out of her car and continued on Dunlap Road with an unidentified hitchhiker prior to the murder.

HEARD SHOTS

The defendant also said, according to Lewis, that he heard a shot moments after being let out of the car and that he trotted to the scene and found the body of Miss Hodges and her empty car.

Barnes jotted down the license number of the car driven by the man who stopped him and later checked out to be the one owned by Miss Hodges, which the defendant drove to the Oxford police station.

Barnes said the man in the car looked like the defendant, but he could not state positively that it was Cooke.

Kidney Patient 'Doing Well'

An Avon Township mother may leave a Cleveland, Ohio, hospital this weekend with a new kidney and a new lease on life.

Mrs. James Shontz, of 1895 Tamm, underwent a kidney transplant at the Cleveland Clinic last week.

Her mother, Mrs. Norton Miller, 215 Cherry, Troy, returned from Cleveland this week.

Mrs. Miller said the doctor told her that her daughter, Patricia, is doing so well that she may be able to move into an apartment near the hospital this weekend.

Mrs. Miller said yesterday that she will go to Cleveland Sunday to stay with her daughter for at least a week.

IN EXCELLENT SPIRITS
"She is in excellent spirits," she said, "and things look real bright."

Mrs. Shontz, whose remaining kidney was removed in an operation three weeks ago, received a healthy kidney from her father, Frank L. Farrell of St. Clair Shores last week.

Both were reported in satisfactory condition.

Her first kidney was damaged in a childhood fall and removed a few years later.

Her remaining kidney deteriorated after the birth of her son, James, two years ago.

RIVIERA COMES OUT — Buick Motor Division today unveiled the 1966 Riviera, a grille in the hood, just in front of the windshield.

Buick Unveils Riviera for '66

State Chief Says No Uniting Wanted

The 1966 Riviera sport coupe, featuring the elimination of window vents, was introduced today by Buick Motor Division.

The new Riviera has a 119-inch wheelbase, two inches longer than last year, and a four-inch wider tread. It also features a longer hood and fenders, a more sloping windshield and a modified fast-back roof and rear deck.

The Riviera goes on sale at the following area dealers:

Oliver Motor Sales, 210 Orchard Lake; Al Hanouseh Chevrolet - Buick, 209 N. Park Lake; Feigley Motor Sales, 508 N. Main; Milford; Fischer Buick, 515 S. Woodward; Birmingham; Shelton Pontiac-Buick, 355 S. Rochester; Rochester; and Homer High, 160 S. Washington, Oxford.

A new ventilation system makes window vents unnecessary.

INTERIOR TRIM

Standard interior trim includes bench-type seats, front and rear, or bucket seats and console in front.

All gauges and instruments have been regrouped to a position directly in front of the driver. The speedometer is a drum-type cylinder which revolves vertically.

Oil, temperature and generator gauges are equipped with pointers instead of warning lights.

The 1966 Riviera headlamps are concealed in the radiator grille, beneath the hood.

When the headlight switch is turned on, the lamps drop into position.

FRONT SUSPENSION

The Riviera's front suspension system features new shock absorbers and improved handling characteristics with new steering linkage and revised steering geometry.

Upper and lower control arms with specially tuned rubber bushings at the inner pivots complete the front suspension.

The geometry of the rear suspension has been altered for 1966 to effect greater control over "squat" on acceleration and rear end lift during braking.

City Police Seek

Highland Park Man

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of a Highland Park man wanted by Pontiac police for questioning in connection with the fraudulent conversion and theft of more than $1,000 from a service station at 428 S. Saginaw.

NAMED IN THE WARRANT is Mose McKnight, a former employee of the Clark Oil & Refining Corp.

The fraudulent conversion of $1,448.00 allegedly took place Sept. 1 according to police. In addition, an employee at the station told police McKnight took $200 in cash from the station last weekend.

CHINA'S MOVES

Shastri, speaking of Communist China's recent moves to increase its military strength in Tibet along the Himalayan frontier opposite India and its buffer state protectorates, said: "We do not know what the Chinese will do next."

The Indian leader declared a declaration by Radio Peking that Indians had met a primary Chinese requirement by tearing down controversial military posts on or near the border of Tibet and Sikkim, an Indian protectorate.

He said the Indians pulled down none.

"All this is a product of their imagination," he said.

In the Indian-Pakistani conflict, warplanes and ground gunners carried on through the final hours.

TWO AIR RAIDS

The Indian government radio said Pakistan's American-built planes staged two raids last night and two more today.

It said a prison hospital in Jodhpur, an airborne city in southwest India, was one of the targets, and bombs killed 30 inmates.

In Karachi, Pakistani authorities said Pakistani bombers made a night raid on the Jodhpur airbase. They gave no details of the damage, but told of these other operations:

• Pakistani anti-aircraft batteries shot down an Indian jet fighter this morning in the Khem Karan sector south of Lahore.

• Indian ground troops launched an offensive in the Rajasthan sector, but were beaten back. They left behind two Jeeps, one carrying an anti-tank gun.

• There was fighting also in the Fazilka and Sialkot sectors, India, which had told the United Nations it would stop firing if Pakistan did, asked for an extension of the deadline to permit orders to go out to field commanders. The council then moved the cease-fire forward to 6 p.m. (EDT) today.

U.S. to Call Medical Men

Too Few Volunteers for Health Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department moved today to draft 1,979 doctors, dentists and veterinarians because of the armed forces buildup.

The Pentagon asked the Selective Service to call 1,528 doctors, 560 dentists and 100 veterinarians for service in the Army, Navy and Air Force starting in January.

"The call is necessary to provide the health services required for the increase in the active armed forces strength announced in July by the President," the announcement said.

President Johnson has approved a $400-million boost in the armed forces, to a new total of nearly three million.

The Defense Department said the new doctor draft call stems in part from the fact that there have not been enough medical volunteers to meet the military buildup required in conjunction with the Vietnamese war.

SERVICES VARY
Of the doctors, 949 will serve in the Army, 260 in the Navy and 320 in the Air Force. All the dentists and veterinarians are tabbed for the Army.

Veterinarians are used chiefly for meat inspection. There are very few animals left in the military establishment although the services do use dogs for sentry and other purposes.

This is the second doctor draft call this year.

In January, the Pentagon asked Selective Service to supply 851 physicians in the summer of 1965.

FEW VOLUNTEERS
That call came because a sufficient number of 1964 medical school graduates had not volunteered for active duty immediately after their internship.

In January 1964, a call went out for 1,650 doctors, also because enough medical school graduates from the previous year had not signed up voluntarily.

School Board Members Hear Building Report

BIRMINGHAM — The directors of Birmingham School District's building program—behind schedule and above cost estimates—were outlined to board of education members last night.

Schools Supt. John B. Smith warned that the board soon will be faced with the necessity of choosing projects to be cut from the program.

"Ultimately, there must be a determination on when the school community will be asked to supply additional funds for the projects postponed and, possibly, for other building that will be required."

In order to accommodate the continued increase in enrollment," he said.

The $5,350,000 bond issue approved by property owners in June 1964 just isn't going as far as planned.

In addition, there have been delays in the buildings which are under construction.

AFTER CHRISTMAS
Evergreen Elementary School, originally planned for occupancy Sept. 1, apparently won't be ready until after the Christmas holidays, Smith reported last night.

The superintendent commented that the target date for completion may have been unrealistic because it allowed only 13 months for development and execution of plans.

Complicating the matter were the site development and the lowest bid was 90 per cent higher than the architect's estimate," he reported. "This means that the site plans will have to be revised and a new bid taken. This, of course, causes a loss of time."

ADEQUATE BIDS
If bids are received to fit the budget, the building could be ready by January of 1967, he said.

Development of other projects awaits the letting of contracts on the Seaholm and Covington work.

These include an addition to Groves High School library, additions to a number of elementary school libraries, an administration building and elementary classrooms in the western portion of the school district.

Lauderdale. Before police lead him away, he paid his marina bill, peeling off notes from a fast-sized roll of $100 bills.

Since then, he has languished in jail while fighting deportation to Canada. The Immigration Service is trying to kick him out of the United States on the ground that he entered the country without a visa.

LeMay had had no objection to deportation, he just didn't want to go to Canada.

LeMay is charged with leading a crew that tunneled under the Bank of Nova Scotia in 1961 and blasted open 377 safety deposit boxes.

They escaped with between $500,000 and $4 million, but the exact amount was never established because of the reluctance of the box owners to talk.

The stocky 5-foot-4 LeMay has been Canada's most wanted person since then.

He was hunted all over the world for four years but was not discovered until the Royal Canadian Mounted Police flashed his picture on the first Early Bird satellite television program.

WAS PUZZLED
"I very seldom make mistakes," LeMay told officers when they arrested him aboard his yacht. "How did you do it?"

Told what had happened, LeMay said, "Well, he's that something. It took a satellite to catch me."

The sheriff said LeMay had been allowed several visitors recently, including his wife, Lisa Lemieux, 28, an attractive brunette.

They said civil vows in French in a hurried-up ceremony in the afternoon of an Immigration officer's marriage hearing June 1. It was over before officials knew it had started.

STOPPED BEFORE
Only the day before they had moved LeMay from a cell with a window to prevent him from shouting the ceremony through bars. Although he insisted they wanted an American marriage license so he could not be called on to testify against him in case he were ever deported to Canada.

COMET BIGGER — With some models nearly eight inches longer than the last model made in 1966, the 1966 Comet was introduced today by Ford Motor Co. More powerful engines are also part of the package—the Cyclone GT shown offers a 335-horsepower V8.

Comet Has More Room, Bigger Engines

A sharp increase in size for premium models and more powerful engine options are the most notable changes in the 1966 Comet, introduced today by Ford Motor Co.

Top-of-the-line models for 1966—Capri, Caliente and Cyclone—are longer by almost eight inches than the biggest Comet offered in the last model year.

Comet goes on sale Oct. 1 at the following area dealers:

Kaverly Mercury, 420 Main, Rochester; Lloyd Motors, 250 Oakland; and Bob Bost, 530 S. Woodward, Birmingham.

The size changes were described by Paul F. Lorenz, vice president-general manager Lincoln-Mercury, as responding to "the public demand for premium automobiles in every segment of the market."

BIGGER ENGINES
Powering the bigger cars besides the standard 200-cubic-inch 120-horsepower six are three V-8 options — a 239-cubic-inch 200-horsepower engine, a 390-cubic-inch rated at 275 horsepower and with the Cyclone GT, a 335-horsepower model.

Among the safety features made standard on the 1966 Comet are padded instrument panel and padded visors, emergency flasher and front and rear seat belts.

New interior trim schemes continue wood-grain styling for Caliente and black camera-case finish for Cyclone.

Comet wagons offer a third seat — for the first time — and a dual-action tailgate which opens either up and down or sideways.

Britain Is 'Cold' to Reported Spy Deal

LONDON (AP) — Britain has cold shouldered a Communist attempt to win freedom for Morris and Lola Cohen, an American couple jailed here for spying for Russia, diplomatic sources said today.

The Cohens were sentenced to 20 years imprisonment each in 1961 as part of an elaborate spy ring gathering western submarine secrets for the Russians. They were tried under the names Peter and Helen Kroger, and identified themselves as Canadian.

FBI agents later declared them to be former New Yorkers who had been contacts for Col.

Rudolph Abel, Soviet master spy sentenced to 30 years imprisonment in New York in 1957.

Abel was exchanged in 1962 for Francis Gary Powers, the American U2 pilot.

SEEKS EXCHANGE
Now, diplomatic sources report, the same East German Lawyer who handled the Abel-Powers exchange has approached the British about the Cohens.

The lawyer, Wolfgang Wegmann, represents Arthur Wilbraham, a 27-year-old Briton held in East Berlin on charges of aiding East Germans to escape.

But diplomatic sources said the main bait for an exchange with the Cohens is Gerald Brooke, a Briton held in Moscow. Brooke was sentenced to five years in jail on charges of acting for a Russian emigre organization.

Sources said Britain has reacted coldly toward any such exchange because, from the British viewpoint, it would be a bad bargain.

PROFESSIONALS
The Cohens were convicted as professional spies, Brooke was not accused of acting for British intelligence.

Furthermore, the exchange last year — also masterminded by Wegmann — of the Russian spy Gordon Lonsdale for Wyman, aroused criticism here.

Lonsdale was the boss of the naval spy ring for which the Cohens worked.

Critics of the exchange said it would encourage the Russians to arrest innocent western nationals whenever they wished to secure the release of top Soviet agents.

Apart from Wilbraham and Brooke, the communists hold an Mott of Sheffield, Mass., for walking into the Soviet Union from Norway without a visa. He is held at Murnansk in the far north.

TELLS OF DRAMA — Publisher-sportsman John P. Scripps talks with newsmen and police yesterday after more than two hours of being hostage of a young sailor aboard Scripps' yacht. Scripps was released unharmed after officers fired a warning shot. The yacht was tied up at a San Diego Yacht Club pier.

Grenade-Toting Sailor Nabbed; Held 3 Hostage Aboard Yacht

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — "When he pulled the pin out of that hand grenade, and when I saw that fellow crouched and I was looking down a gun barrel, my heart was going pitty pat," said publisher-sportsman John P. Scripps.

Scripps was describing a two-hour drama Tuesday in which he and two other men were held hostage by a young sailor aboard Scripps' $800,000 yacht.

The youth, identified as Guy M. Warinner, 19, was booked for investigation of kidnapping and assault with a deadly weapon.

Scripps, 53, is the grandson of the late publisher E.W. Scripps and is publisher and chairman of the board of seven newspapers in California and Washington.

GIVES ACCOUNT

He quoted Warinner as saying he was from Los Angeles, and gave this account of the drama in San Diego harbor:

"He said he was making a run for it — that he was AWOL from the Navy and wanted us to take him down the coast a way and put him ashore in Mexico."

Scripps said Warinner apparently swam to the yacht Monday night. When Scripps and two crew members came aboard Tuesday morning, they found a pile of wet clothes and a gun.

Capt. Sam Davis, 56, went ashore to notify police. While he was gone, said Scripps, Warinner returned to the room, grabbed the pistol, and told Scripps to take him to Mexico. Scripps said he told Warinner the captain was ashore and no one else could run the craft. But

Davis returned and then, said Scripps, Warinner pulled a hand grenade and said: "No funny business, I'm not kidding."

CALLS GUARDSMEN
Davis, however, slipped into the radio room and told Coast Guard officials what was happening.

Police surrounded the craft and boats were sent out by the harbor patrol.

Scripps said Warinner became excited, pulled the pin from the grenade and warned police: "Don't throw any tear gas, I'll blow us all up."

But officers, after repeatedly trying to soothe Warinner, fired a warning shot and Warinner surrendered, after putting the pin back in the grenade.

Thalidomide Used in Leprosy Cases

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — The drug thalidomide, convicted of deforming unborn babies, may win a reprieve as a treatment for some of the reactions of leprosy.

Israel has about 200 lepers.

Specialists at Hansen Hospital here started using the drug, a tranquilizer, to lessen the pains of leprosy and allow them to sleep.

Doctors were surprised to find that some of the symptoms of leprosy, such as effacement of the skin and inflammation of the eyes, tended to disappear in a few hours.

No serious side effects were seen.

Kresge Unit Contributes to Hospital

ROCHESTER — The Kresge Foundation today announced it is contributing $100,000 toward the building fund of the new $6-million Crittenton General Hospital now under construction.

The announcement was made by Donald L. Brown, manager of the Rochester store of S. S. Kresge, when he presented a check for half of the contribution to hospital representatives Edward A. Warnica, first vice-president of the board of trustees, and A. Riley Allen, administrator.

In presenting the check, Brown said, "We are happy to participate with this community in making possible a modern general hospital to serve the residents of this area."

The six-story, 207-bed hospital will be located on Walton Boulevard just east of Livernois. It will be equipped to employ the latest in medical procedures and surgical techniques and will be the first major hospital in this region to have a combined staff of medical and osteopathic physicians.

Construction, now under way, is expected to take about two years.

Parents, School Officials Reach Agreement on Student Transfers

UTICA — Plumbrook-Auburnshire school transfer troubles have apparently been smoothed over.

The only problem left to untangle is whether kindergarten children from the Plumbrook area will stay at Auburnshire or be returned to Plumbrook.

Schools Supt. Phillip E. Runkel met with parents Monday night and said that "many positive things resulted from the meeting."

He said the boys and girls will attend Auburnshire "which is a modern, well-equipped building with an excellent educational program."

He said the boundaries will remain unchanged but that school officials are considering some kindergarten adjustments to equalize the loads.

TO TAKE SURVEY
To help solve the kindergarten situation, a survey will be taken among the parents to determine if they want their children to remain at Auburnshire or be returned to Plumbrook.

The trouble began last week when about 150 pupils in five grades kindergarten through five were transferred from Plumbrook to Auburnshire to alleviate crowded conditions at Plumbrook.

Parents, angered over the move, picketed the school bus stops and board of education offices and kept their children out of school Thursday and Friday.

Thomas Breen of the school administration said that kindergarten children will be moved back to Plumbrook if the parents request it, because after the transfer was made there were more kindergartners at Auburnshire than at Plumbrook.

TRANSFERS TEMPORARY
He said all the transfers are temporary until three new elementary schools are built in the area involved.

Vets to Meet and 'Gas'

With as many men as it can muster, the Army Balloon Corps will descend on Detroit tomorrow.

Some 200 members of the National Association of American Balloon Corps Veterans and their wives will gather at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel for the group's 34th annual reunion.

There are an estimated 2,000 survivors of the Captive Balloon Corps Section of the World War I American Army, once 15,000 men strong.

The last balloon company was disbanded in 1924.

All personnel records of the corps were destroyed in a fire at Scott Field, Ill., in the early 20's and as a result many veterans are unaware of the organization.

Chairman of the reunion in Detroit is Peter P. Simler of Ferndale.

Water Deal Authorized in Keego

KEEGO HARBOR — The City Council last night formalized its plans to bring Detroit water to Keego Harbor.

By unanimous vote, councilmen authorized the signing of a contract with the Oakland County Department of Public Works (DPW) to establish a municipal water system here.

The resolution they adopted referred to "factual evidence" of the need for a community water system.

It made note of the samples from local wells indicating the water is not safe for drinking and the complaints of citizens unable to get sufficient quantities of water.

The project carries an estimated cost of $700,300.

PROPERTY TAX
The debt will be paid from a 4.87 mill property tax, connection fees and service charges.

Connection to the system will be on a voluntary basis, according to Councilman Vernon Edwards, who is in charge of the project.

Those who do make use of the system will pay $150.45 to bring the water to their property lines and an $800 capital charge.

The latter can be handled in payments spread across the 30-year life of the revenue bonds.

SERVICE CHARGE
The monthly service charge will run about $3.11, Vernon estimated.

The possibility of obtaining federal funds to finance some of the work now is being investigated by the DPW.

The city had not expected to be in line for Detroit water until 1970.

However, extension of a main up to Square Lake and Middle Belt has made it possible for Keego Harbor to connect next year.

At Wolverine Lake Hearing

Talk Tangled by Technicalities

WOLVERINE LAKE — A hearing to determine the course of improvements for Wolverine Lake opened here yesterday, but was immediately snarled in a discussion of what procedures were to be followed.

After a nearly two-hour exchange between residents and a three-man board of determination, the hearing was adjourned.

ASSESSMENT DISTRICT
Valentino also quizzed County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry on whether an assessment district had been created for the proposed improvement project and all property owners notified.

Barry replied that such a district had been established to advise it in conducting the determination hearing.

BOARD'S FUNCTION
He said the board's only function was to determine the necessity of the proposed improvements.

Annett emphasized that the three-man board did not know in advance what the hearing was about.

to Sept. 29, at 7 p.m. in the Walled Lake High School gym.

Virtually the only item of business transacted was the selection of Pontiac realtor Bruce Annett as board chairman.

Other members of the panel are Monroe M. Ozmun, Pontiac businessman and Pontiac School Board president, and Laurence H. Pate, civil engineer from Pate, Hirn and Bogue, Detroit consulting engineers.

The board, called under provisions of the state Inland Lake Improvement Act, is to determine the necessity, feasibility and practicability of improvements to the 272-acre lake.

TWO STUDIES
Specifically, two engineering studies have been done on a proposal for a lake dredging project. The studies conflict in cost and method.

However, yesterday's session, which attracted an estimated 150 to 200 residents, concerned only how the hearing should proceed.

Paul Valentino, attorney for the Wolverine Lake Rehabilitation Association, said that the Wolverine Lake hearing was only the second board of determination hearing ever convened in the state.

Valentino sought the board's approval to cross-examine witnesses. Suggested rules of procedure, handed out to the au-

Survival Still Uses Sun to Distill Water

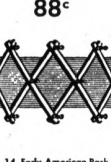

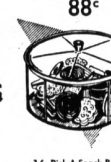

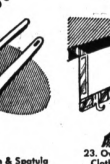

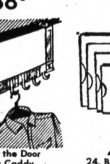

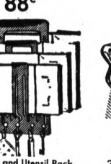

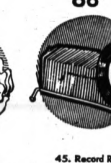

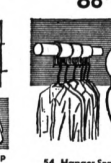

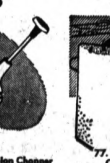

The sun's heat condenses moisture from the soil onto the underside of the sheet, where it runs down to the center of the cone and drips into a container made of aluminum mesh or some other waterproof material.

The center of the hole should be 18 to 24 inches across. To get the most water, you should make the container, which should be from two to four quarts.

Cut up cactus or some vegetable matter can be placed in the mesh to help the moisture available for condensation.

A piece of plastic tubing five feet long can be used to suck the water from the container without disturbing the plants.

Another method of collecting water is by using only natural materials and a pocket sized packaging would prevent the panic cactuses by thorns that makes people wonder to an almost certain degree that the cactus was dead in the first place.

Warfare Shot Through With Illogical Views

One of the minor irrationalities arising from that ultimate irrationality called war is this Nation's fear of exploring means of achieving the end of war while at the same time reducing its accustomed carnage.

As long as we kill people in the age-old accepted ways — shooting them, burning them, pulverizing them — we seem to get only the usual praise of friends and sniping criticisms of enemies.

But let someone dare suggest the possibility of using weapons that do not kill or even wound but merely take people out of action temporarily and the bogeyman of world opinion screams in righteous outrage.

This happened a few months ago when it was revealed that we were experimenting with incapacitating gas in Viet Nam — the kind of riot-control gas used by police the world over.

The United States bowed to the denunciations and ordered no further use of gas of any type in Viet Nam without explicit permission from the highest authority.

"Chemical warfare has been engulfed in a haze of horror through propaganda and ignorance," wrote Dr. RICHARD L. KENYON in a recent issue of Chemical and Engineering News.

"Yet," he continued, "it could likely mitigate dreadful aspects of what we read about in news stories from Viet Nam. In the midst of some of those reported actions, any of a number of military effective chemical agents would have been less atrocious."

The abolition of war is one of man's most pressing goals. But where war exists, said Kenyon — and it exists in Viet Nam — reason and knowledge ought to be used in any way possible to reduce its awfulness.

But men are not reasonable. Otherwise they would never fight wars to begin with.

Social Security Boom a Magnet for Gypers

Those of our senior citizens who have come to think of Uncle Sam as the embodiment of Santa Claus may well find confirmation as $885 million in retroactive Social Security payments make happy 20 million beneficiaries.

The windfall represents the 7 per cent across-the-board raise in Social Security benefits voted by Congress, effective July 1.

But there is a collective villain lurking behind the Christmas tree in the guise of con men and racketeers, ready and eager to prey on the gullibility of retirees.

A Social Security official warns against these pitfalls likely to appear almost concurrently with postal delivery of the checks:

• The medical gypster who will try to peddle a broad range of phony cures — particularly for chronic and critical illnesses.

• Home improvement swindlers who will win confidence by offering free "inspection" of furnaces or other mechanical equipment.

• Offers to sell forged Social Security cards, claiming to provide the elderly with a "permanent Social Security number." Needless to say, all eligible Americans have a permanent card to begin with, and if lost it can easily be replaced through the local Social Security office.

These and many more artifices will spring up like spring flowers to separate the unwary from their augmented income.

But there is one form of protection against being taken in by crooks — the same that guards against loss in all forms of racketeering. Enter into no financial arrangement with anyone with whom you are unacquainted or regarding which you have not sought the counsel of responsible community figures.

CAR manufacturers say the public isn't willing to pay the cost of making safer cars. This isn't surprising; most people gladly pay the cost of petting a car, though. It's clear that the great majority prefer snaziness to safety.

Summer Missing Political Noise

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — It's the noise that's missing. This has been a year of tremendous accomplishment in Congress but the Democrats so far have numbered the Republicans, and President Johnson hovers over both so constantly and soothingly, there is little open conflict.

Washington, as a result, in this hot summer seemed underheated.

"As you see some-thing, you just grin," President Dwight D. Eisenhower said once, explaining his philosophy of getting along with people.

There were plenty of times, of course, when he didn't look happy at all.

But this, and his avoidance of personal feuds, was the basis for his particular era of good feeling, when he was in the White House and, for most of that time, the Democrats controlled Congress.

VERY COOPERATIVE

Luckily for him, they were very cooperative, which helped him looking pleasant. But then he didn't have anyone on his back as President Harry S. Truman did. Sens. Robert A. Taft and Joseph R. McCarthy were always on him.

He was always embattled but then no president in 20 years has had to make such momentous decisions as Truman.

Johnson, and President John F. Kennedy before him, followed the Eisenhower pattern rather than Truman's but with different results.

Kennedy had a tougher time than Johnson. In his years the Democrats' margin over the Republicans in Congress was so slim that he never came close to Johnson's success in getting his program through.

FAR BETTER

But Johnson is also a far better political technician than Kennedy and he works around the clock lining up votes for his legislation. And Johnson is luckier than Truman in one way.

The Republican Senate leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, is one of his best helpers. Any Republican opposition in the Senate has been mostly insignificant.

Johnson has had trouble with the Republican House leader, Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, who has been his most persistent critic in that body. But this is where Johnson's political professionalism shows up.

Johnson pays close attention to public opinion polls. They show he has wide popular support, which is the opposite of what the 1964 elections showed for the Republicans.

LITTLE TO GAIN

Therefore, Johnson apparently figures, he has little to gain by getting into a shouting match with Ford. He just takes occasional swipes at him.

Some of the legislation Congress approved this year is historic. But Johnson's present coolness, his political efficiency, and the fact that the Republicans are hardly more than a platoon amid Democratic battalions, have made this year look almost hum-drum.

The Feeling Of Being Followed

David Lawrence Says:

Guild Strike Sign of Sickness

WASHINGTON — Outwardly things are fine with the Johnson administration. It is spending a lot of money for social welfare, and it is playing a significant role in world affairs. But there's a cancer eating into the economic life of the country which could mean the end of the Lawrence tradition of a great nation.

Will historians one day write about "The Rise and Fall of the American Republic?"

For the muscle and fiber of America today is being weakened by the unrestricted action of groups of citizens who feel they have a right to destroy the property of other citizens and suffer no punishment.

Thus a small group of unions has been depriving the people of the nation's largest city of their newspapers and has strangled "Freedom of the Press."

There is, indeed, no restraint today on the right to strike, which — as the Wall Street Journal pointed out on Monday in an editorial entitled "Saboteurs at Work" — can break down society. It says:

"The Newspaper Guild strike against the New York Times, entailing the closing down of practically all the other local newspapers, is only one in a series of senseless acts of sabotage."

"The beleaguered maritime industry is just pulling out of a long ordeal and last week was threatened with yet another walkout. In the midst of the Viet Nam war the machinists union slashes out at a leading defense producer."

EFFECTIVE WEAPON

While conceding that a strike was often the only effective weapon in days when wages were low and working conditions poor, the journal points out that no such conditions exist today, and then adds:

"That being so, it is hard to discern an ethical justification for a right to strike on pain, over nighting or nonexistent issues or as a means of inter-union bickering. There is no inherent right to such behavior, it seems to us, that there is a right to treat from an employer or anyone else."

"As a dispute-settling vehicle in a complex, competitive modern economy, the strike, except in extreme circumstances, is hopelessly archaic."

"If union leaders are incapable of demonstrating a greater degree of maturity, it may be necessary to consider legal redefinition and limitation of the right to strike."

SAFETY MENACED

"Certainly no society is required to have its interest, its well-being and even its safety constantly menaced by heedless workers."

But there's a bigger evil. It is the submissiveness and cowardice of many politicians in public office. The short-sightedness of national union leaders who fail to discipline their brethren is paralleled only by the indifference of administration to the irresponsibility of trade union leaders in their use of the strike weapon.

Is Congress today a subversive tool? The unions intervene in congressional elections with big sums of money, and then boast they helped elect a majority in both houses.

But when the public wakes up to the gravity of what's happening, there will not be enough union money to stem the tide of votes that will demand a congressional majority and a president who are willing to limit the powers of labor, instead of as the present Congress in on the verge of doing — endorsing unions with the right to force an unwilling citizen to join a union as the price of keeping his job.

White House Spreads Good News 'Exclusively'

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: Dat ole debil "news management" is cropping up around the government again. The Army wants military censorship of news coming out of Viet Nam. The White House in the name of security adds to restrictions on the press.

This is something less than a new situation. Occasional cries of "foul" against the administration give an impression of newness. But this is not true. It is a matter of degree.

It can be stated with fear of contradiction by the White House (but it won't change the truth) that last month President Johnson gave a meeting of government press officers quite a routing sermon on curbing out so-called good news.

He did not tell them to stop peddling bad news, but the lesson was fairly clear: If given the choice, accentuate the positive and let the negative fall where it may, preferably into obscurity.

MORE GLAD TIDINGS

A long line of presidents have wanted it this, but the technique of glad tidings from Uncle Sam has been developed progressively. And the Johnson people have brought it to the highest point in White House history.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers operates on a simple theory — that news from any government department or agency is a matter of legitimate presidential interest. And if it interests Johnson sufficiently, it should be announced first at the White House.

Then Moyers is more than willing for the department which originated the story to put out the details. A case in point:

Last week this mimeographed statement from Moyers' office:

"The White House reported today that government estimates indicate Americans enjoyed another record volume of personal income in August."

OVER LAST YEAR

Personal income was estimated at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $531.5 billion in August, 6.5 per cent over August 1964. For more details, the White House said, contact the Commerce Department.

Reporters did just that, picking up a much broader field of economic statistics which showed that business activity slumped a bit during August as it usually does at this time of year.

Why had not the White House given out all the figures? Because, as one cynic pointed out, "Bad news is no news."

Off-Told Tale ...

The Tulsa Tribune

We've suspected it for years and have seen some statistical evidence from time to time that it is so. Now extensive research by the New York state department of motor vehicles establishes the fact firmly.

Young drivers are having at least three times more one-car accidents than their older counterparts. A comprehensive study shows that drivers between 18 and 20 years of age — 5 per cent of the state's drivers — are involved in 15 per cent of the state's one-car fatal accidents.

The off-told tale that young brains and muscles respond so quickly in clutches that they avoid accidents, simply isn't so.

Pound Trade

Life Magazine

A high-powered American team led by Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler is touring Europe to meet bankers and finance ministers and talk about monetary reform. This is a pretty good time to start talking — President Johnson's attempt to stem the outflow of U.S. capital has begun to pay off, and the international monetary situation may need some tinkering if we ever balance out our foreign payments and receipts. However, a much more serious threat is hovering ominously in the background. This is the perilous state of the pound sterling. Next to the dollar the pound

Readers Express Views on Shortage of Nurses

I read the Pontiac Press article about the shortage of nurses and ask why the Army corpsmen should go into the nursing profession? They probably were in a different line when they went into the Army.

My son who was drafted in May had trained under the Manpower Act to be a LPN. After his basic training the army is sending him to be a radio repairman. What a waste of time, money and training, as he will go back to nursing when he gets out of the Army.

MR. GLENN AYER
UNION LAKE

What kind of care are the aged, the chronically ill and the convalescent receiving in Oakland County? In some cases they are receiving inadequate care from untrained people. The available registered nurses and licensed practical nurses are concerned with the seriously ill.

This leaves a big field of nursing empty. It has been filled partially by untrained people, working in homes and in nursing homes. Some claim to have been trained but their performance leaves this open to question.

Who sets the standards of who is trained and who is not? Some with organized training could be assets to this field of nursing. Some of them are commanding wages of skilled nurses. Their employers are paying for skill not received. The cost of a long illness is made fantastically high. Can we have a training and licensing program for nurses aides?

'Great Men Lighted the Way for Others'

So many of the great lights of the world have been snuffed out during the last few years: Pope John, John F. Kennedy, Churchill, Stevenson, Schawler, and recently one of the brightest has been flickering alarmingly — Billy Graham. As each of these lights went out the world was left a little darker, a little more troubled. All over the world people have been praying that the last one might continue to shine.

All those men had something in common — faith and love. But unlike the millions who claim to possess these attributes and are content to rely on them for their own salvation, they found contentment only in fighting the path for others, serving God and mankind with every God-given talent they had.

is the world's principal reserve currency. Forty per cent of all international trade is transacted in pounds. America is particularly concerned because of Britain's willingness to share the burden of Free World defense.

But the British economy has not been doing well enough to assure pound-holders abroad that the currency is sound. Alongside the crisis Britain has worn an air of blithe prosperity. Incomes up, credit plentiful, unemployment minuscule — all the signs of good times. But the country has long been living beyond her means. Britain permitted herself an extraordinary degree of inefficiency in management, labor and technology that was bearable only so long as she enjoyed a favored status in her overseas markets. When she did succeed in getting into the Common Market, when Commonwealth loyalty weakened, when strong competition from aggressive new continental exporters was felt, Britain was up against it.

The pound will be relieved. To do any long-term good the squeeze play must be carried through. This means no export in the drive for more exports, more efficiency in production, lower costs, more risk-taking and experimentation. Even with a shrinking parliamentary majority and a displeased electorate, Labor must bravely encourage these thrusts.

WASHINGTON — Forty-two Republican congressmen, including William Broomfield, R-Royal Oak, are backing Congressman Thomas B. Curtis of Missouri who proposes legislation to boost job-training by American industry.

His bill provides a 7 per cent tax credit to employers for certain expenses incurred in training their employees in new job skills.

Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., has urged Gov. Romney "to take early advantage of a new federal program to encourage the growth of industry and small business."

The senator referred to the State Technical Services Act of which he was a cosponsor. The idea is for a business extension service, rather similar to the agricultural extension service which would keep local businessmen up to date on the latest technical developments.

The National Association of Travel Organizations has on its "top 20" list of special events to lure travelers during October the Red Planel days in Cedar Springs over in Kent County on Oct. 16. Congressman Gerald Ford, R-Grand Rapids, says this is a great fun event, with football, a parade, festival events ... and a Red Planel Queen!

Sen. Hart, who is on the Democratic Policy Committee and therefore should be able to predict when Congress would adjourn, simply says, "not until 14B is voted on."

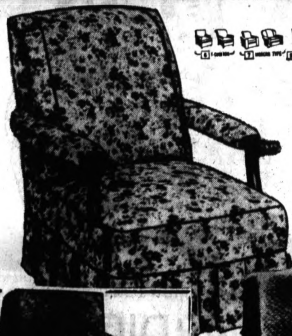

He expects this proposed repeal of the "right-to-work" amendment to pass, but he would not even guess about the possibility of a prolonged filibuster.

The Public Health Service reports that during the month of July alone grants to Michigan totaled $1,344,485, which included $900,000 for construction and health-related facilities.

GOP Wallets 'Thin' for Two Key State Races

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican challengers for two of the year's top political prizes are campaigning on shoestring budgets that could become even tighter as election time nears, party officials said today.

At stake: the governorships of New Jersey and Virginia, both held by Democrats. Those two races will be the first statewide political contests since President Johnson's 1964 landslide victory over Barry Goldwater.

The Republican nominees, State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr. in New Jersey and Roanoke attorney A. Linwood Holton of Virginia, both are cast as underdogs.

Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes seeks reelection in New Jersey; Lt. Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr. is out to succeed Gov.

SHY OF TARGET

Republican chairmen in the two states said they doubt campaign funds will approach their targets of $500,000 in New Jersey and $250,000 in Virginia.

Czech Train Collision Results in 13 Deaths

VIENNA (UPI) — A freight train rammied a passenger train in suburban Prague, Czechoslovakia yesterday, killing 13 persons, Radio Prague reported.

The broadcast said investigations showed the driver of the freight disregarded a halt signal.

Some campaign projects already have been curtailed because of the financial situation. The party leaders said it could get worse late in the race, when expensive radio and television time becomes a major campaign need.

Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss said the national party is not sending financial aid to any state nominees.

"The national committee is not a cash dispensing organization," said Fred Morrison, the party's public relations director. Bliss and Morrison said the party has no extra cash to dispense anyhow.

NO CASH SENT

As to the Democratic National Committee, a spokesman said no campaign cash has been sent to either gubernatorial contender. He said funds for state races traditionally are raised by state parties, with national help coming in expert political personnel and advice.

Democrats in the two gubernatorial election states have not asked for national committee aid, the spokesman said.

NEED $500,000

Todd said it would take at least $500,000 to run "a real bangup campaign" in New Jersey. "I'd hate to guess at this point, but if we get half that amount, we're doing well," he said. "And the Democrats are talking about a million dollars."

The New Jersey chairman said his party already is $80,000 in debt, and will not go deeper to run the gubernatorial campaign.

Todd said Dumont's chances are improving, and if that continues, fund raising should be easier.

Todd and Virginia GOP Chairman Robert J. Corber said they believe the Democratic candidates will stage massive radio, television and newspaper advertising campaigns in the days just before election.

CRITICAL PERIOD

At that point, Corber said, the financial assistance from the national party. "But they've got their problems, too," he said.

Both Republican candidates already have had campaign assistants from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. His was in Richmond, Va., a week ago, and in Newark, N.J., Monday, for fund raising appearances.

Todd and Virginia GOP Chairman Robert J. Corber said they believe the Democratic candidates will stage massive radio, television and newspaper advertising campaigns in the days just before election.

CRITICAL PERIOD

At that point, Corber said, the Republican money situation could become critical.

Corber said he believes Virginia Democrats will spend about $450,000 on the campaign, and the Republicans would like to raise $250,000.

"We haven't raised but a small fraction of that amount," he said, adding the GOP probably will fall short of that goal.

Nevertheless, in a traditionally Democratic state, he said Republicans are doing better at gubernatorial fund raising than they ever have before.

Corber said Virginia Republicans have not asked the national committee for money. He said the party is not in debt.

Elderly Now Moving Into Housing Project

NEW YORK (AP) — Tenants have begun moving into an addition to the city's La Guardia housing project on the lower East Side, a $2.8-million building for aged men and women.

The addition contains 150 apartments. The addition is the fourth development built exclusively for the elderly. Four others are under construction and two are in the planning stage.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell says critics of the administration's Dominican policies are committing a grievous disservice by attacking ambassador W. Tapley Bennett Jr.

The Georgia Democrat told the Senate Tuesday he vigorously and categorically disagrees with Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and others who have contended that Tapley gave poor advice to President Johnson before Johnson sent U. S. Marines to Santo Domingo.

Since Johnson's decision, Russell said, "fighting was brought to a halt and we do not have another Castroite dictatorship in the Caribbean isles."

"It is a grievous disservice to a dedicated public servant," Russell said of the criticism aimed at Bennett. The senator, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, recalled that he served with Bennett's grandfather in the Georgia Legislature.

RFD SCARE

Some critics have contended that Bennett overemphasized the extent of Communist influence among the revolutionaries during the Dominican crisis.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., who supported Fulbright's recent speech attacking Bennett, said his criticism of the ambassador was not personal but was directed at his judgment.

Junior Editors Quiz on GOLD PANNING

QUESTION: What was meant by gold panning in gold rush days?

ANSWER: Gold is heavy. Many rock formations in the West were once eroded, or broken down, by the action of storms and running water.

The heavy gold, sometimes in very small fragments and occasionally in larger nuggets, tended to work into the stream beds, where it became mixed with sand and gravel.

Consequently, many gold miners, in the gold rush days of 1849, went to work in the stream beds of California. The equipment needed was inexpensive; with luck, one might make a fortune.

The simplest method (top picture) was to use a flat pan, put a few handfuls of gravel and sand into it and pour in water.

Stirring this would make the gold grains settle to the bottom. The pan was dipped in water and more of the top layers washed off by a swirling motion, leaving the gold grains uncovered.

Larger amounts of gravel could be treated by using the rocker (lower drawing). Several shovelfuls of gravel were dumped on the perforated iron plate at the top and water poured on.

Rocking the cradle back and forth made the finer material work through the holes to the bottom, where cross slats called riffles caught the heavier bits of gold.

Later, elaborate machinery was used, and miners began to look for deposits of gold in rock and dig mines in order to reach them.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up the fascinating story of the gold rush in an encyclopedia or reference book, and read of the wave of excitement which swept the east with the announcement of the discovery of gold in California, and what happened.

Faiths Merge,
Aim at Unity

Missouri Is Home of Monastic Order

WEN, Mo. (AP) — Four members of three Christian faiths have formed an ecumenical monastery in a north central Missouri hamlet to promote Christian unity through prayer.

Two Roman Catholics, an Episcopalian and a married Syrian Orthodox priest are the men of the new monastic order, the Brothers of Christian Unity. The order is open to Roman Catholics, Orthodox and Protestants.

"We live under modified Benedictine rules," said the Rev. Robert Bowman, the Episcopalian. "This essentially means we do not have corporal punishment. The life is one of poverty, chastity, obedience and prayer."

The Rev. Mr. Bowman will take his final vows as a member of the two-year-old order Thursday at Christ Church Cathedral in St. Louis. The Rt. Rev. George L. Cadigan, Episcopal bishop of Missouri, will conduct the ceremony.

OTHER MEMBERS

Other members of the order are the Rev. Joseph Starmann and former lay Brother Joseph Bona, both Roman Catholics, and the oblate, the Rev. Francis Forbes of the Syrian Orthodox Church.

An oblate cannot become a full member because he is married and the pledge of chastity prohibits him. Father Starmann and Brother Bona are full members.

The Rev. Mr. Forbes lives at the monastery with his wife and three children. He handles the group's publication and attempts to raise money.

Father Starmann started the order. The Rev. Mr. Bowman helped in its realization. The Most Rev. Joseph M. Marling, Roman Catholic bishop of Jefferson City, allowed the group to use an old Franciscan monastery at Wien, a farming town of 40 persons. The monastery was abandoned by the Franciscans in 1916.

DIOCESAN PRIEST

The bishop assigned Father Starmann as diocesan priest at the Church of St. Mary, adjacent to the 16-room, two-story, red brick monastery, and the order had its first home.

"Our life is one of prayer, study and witness for Christian unity," said the Rev. Mr. Bowman. "We take a pledge of fidelity to the brotherhood."

The brothers wear gray tunics with a black panel in front and back. During prayers, they wear a white cowl.

"We perform the common prayers of the order and then do our individual faith prayers," said the Rev. Mr. Bowman.

Declaration
by Vatican to Be Debated

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council's controversial declaration on modern world problems was clearly headed today for several weeks of spirited debate between bishops of the conservative and progressive camps.

The two groups are divided on whether the document goes too far or not far enough in trying to give answers on such pressing modern issues as birth control, world peace, nuclear warfare and social justice.

Five cardinals and archbishops took the floor in St. Peter's Basilica Tuesday when debate began on the 126-page text, longest of this fourth and final council session.

All approved the idea of a document, unique in the history of Roman Catholicism's 21 councils, that goes into such present-day global problems.

But some prelates said its 30,000 words made it too long, that it was needlessly repetitious in content, that its Latin was faulty.

NOT UNDERSTOOD

Augustin Cardinal Bea, German-born president of the Vatican's Christian Unity Secretariat, said that despite 30 years of teaching in Latin he had to refer to the French text to understand some points.

Yet Cardinal Bea praised the document for "the immense work that has been done."

Sharp Fighting Continues in Viet Nam Highlands, Delta

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas launched wide-ranging attacks in the Mekong River delta south of Saigon today while U.S. forces exchanged shots with Communist units in the central highlands.

The Viet Cong lobbed mortar shells at two towns in Dinh Tuong Province, 50 miles southwest of Saigon, killing or wounding 26 civilians, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The Communists overran an outpost in the same province and inflicted heavy losses on the defenders.

They attacked another, causing light casualties. Government troops later retook both posts, killing two guerrillas and capturing two.

In the highlands, elements of the 1st Cavalry Division, Airborne, exchanged fire for 10 minutes with a Viet Cong unit probing the defense perimeter of the "Flying Horsemen" at An Khe, 260 miles north of Saigon.

SPORADIC FIRE

The Army's 101st Airborne Brigade in the same area also reported sporadic fire with the enemy, but no casualties were reported.

In another action, a government truck filled with troops hit a mine 65 miles southwest of Saigon. Heavy losses were reported and the vehicle was destroyed.

Twenty-one U.S. soldiers were killed in action, 106 were wounded and two were listed as missing or captured in the week ending Sept. 18, a spokesman said. The casualties reflected the bitter battle fought last weekend at An Khe by the "Screaming Eagles" of the 101st Airborne Brigade.

The Communists suffered 495 killed and 196 captured. Viet Cong wounded are not recorded, as the guerrillas carry their wounded away. The spokesman said 65 government troops were killed, 285 wounded and 15 missing or captured.

HEAVY FIRE

U.S. pilots striking targets in North Viet Nam reported heavy ground fire, but all planes were reported to have returned safely. Sixteen Navy planes from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Midway reported they destroyed two boats and heavily damaged several bridges.

U.S. B2 jet bombers staged their 30th strike of the war today, pounding suspected Red targets in Binh Duong Province, a spokesman said.

No assessment was made of the effectiveness of the raid 25 miles north of Saigon by the Guam-based Strategic Air Command bombers.

A request has been made by U.S. military authorities in Viet Nam for a re-examination of the policy against using nonlethal tear gas under certain conditions during military operations, it was learned today.

Use of tear gas has been ruled out for U.S. military forces here except for its possible employment as a riot control agent.

An incident earlier this month, however, apparently resulted in the request to Washington for a reexamination.

Members of a U.S. Marine Corps unit used tear gas Sept. 5 in an operation near Qui Nhon to force Viet Cong out of tunnels, where they had taken refuge among civilian women and children.

It was learned that the request for reexamination was forwarded to higher authorities about two weeks ago. It apparently now is under study in Washington.

New Editor for Pravda May Be Hint at Shake-Up in Russia

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Pravda has a new editor, and despite Russian explanations of the change, this hints at some sort of policy crisis inside the Kremlin. It is difficult to separate the development from the signs of tug and pull between conservative Communists who resist all change and the reform-minded party members.

There seems to be uncertainty at the top of the Soviet political ladder.

The Soviet party opens an important Central Committee meeting Monday. This is supposed to be concerned primarily with economic affairs, but in the U.S.S.R., these affairs tend to become enmeshed with foreign policy, social and cultural problems.

The retiring editor of Pravda, Alexei M. Rumyantsev, became involved in manifestations of the liberal-conservative tug-of-war. He championed the reformers.

Informed sources now say Rumyantsev has been replaced as Pravda's editor in chief by Deputy Foreign Minister Mikhail Shiryayev. They say Rumyantsev had a heart attack and will be shifted to an Academy of Sciences job.

This still is an odd coincidence. Less than two weeks ago Rumyantsev published a long and prominently displayed article in Pravda defending the rights of the so-called liberal writers to more freedom of expression. He chided other papers, including the government organ Izvestia. He called its attitude toward writers dictatorial, an outlook he said could "bring no benefit" to the Soviet leadership.

The editorship is highly important since Pravda speaks for the ruling party. Often even the Foreign Office gets its line from Pravda editorials.

The experience of Soviet writers in the Khrushchev era has been that they enjoyed more freedom at times when the Kremlin was relaxed and confident, and crackdowns in times of strain at the top. For example, one literary thaw suddenly froze again when Khrushchev got into difficulties over his backdown in the Cuban missile crisis showdown in 1962.

WRITING CYCLES

Thaws and crackdowns seemed to occur almost in predictable cycles. Their relationship to problems at the top often could be connected with division of opinion in the party Presidium. In times of stress, the conservatives — and the entrenched bureaucrats with their futures at stake — seemed to demand tighter reins on those who inflamed popular opinion.

The Kremlin has been having its troubles. The dispute with Red China has deepened to the extent where Peking predicts the "ignominious fall" of the present regime, as it once predicted for Nikita Khrushchev.

The dangers inherent in Asian crises over Viet Nam and Kashmir have increased strains. The Kremlin feels pressure from the conservatives, and probably from the military whose leaders demand that the needs of the armed forces take precedence over such things as consumer goods and standards of living.

Uncertainty is reflected by lack of a new Communist party congress. The congress of about 5,000 delegates representing the 12 million party members is supposed by statute to meet every four years. The deadline for calling a meeting on time has passed without any mention of it.

ADOPTED RULES
The last congress, the 22nd in 1961, adopted rules which now may play a part in new strains. These rules provide that at each congress, 25 per cent of all members in all party bodies, top to bottom, be replaced.

Under the rules, Presidium members may serve no more than three consecutive terms. Khrushchev left one qualification: members with "special abilities" could be retained. But even at that, application of the rule now would require a shake-up involving differences of opinion about who makes up the 25 per cent to be removed.

Lady Bird Leads Own Campaign

MILWAUKEE, Wis., (AP) — On a day's journey promoting parks and beautification, Lady Bird Johnson gently mixes in the Peace Corps, school kids and home town folks.

It seems like a political campaign. But workers in the beautification vineyard call the President's wife the "leader of the crusade for a more beautiful America."

"America's No. 1 ambassador of beauty," was the title bestowed by Howard W. Gregg, general manager of the Milwaukee Park Commission as he led Mrs. Johnson on a tour of his parks Tuesday.

POWERFUL ALLY
"Our most powerful ally in Washington," said Milwaukee Mayor Henry W. Maier, appealing to Mrs. Johnson for a research program to conquer Dutch elm disease, which has played havoc with historic trees here.

Mrs. Johnson had an appeal of her own. She urged the thousand members of the American Institute of Park Executives meeting here to instill in more young people a desire to preserve natural beauty.

"The blessings of progress are in many cases engulfing us," said Mrs. Johnson.

"No one wishes to turn back the clock of progress, but surely a civilization that can send a man to the moon can also find ways and means to maintain a clean and pleasant earth."

VARIED AGENDA

After the speech, the First Lady visited some beauty spots of Milwaukee's park system, followed by picture-taking tourists and serenaded by a gathering of first and second graders.

She brought along an 18-inch seedling from the White House grounds to plant in 600-acre Albert Boerner Botanical Gardens. When park experts produced the name tag "Asclepias hippocastanum" for her gift tree, Mrs. Johnson said with a smile: "I'll settle for white horse chestnut."

Retrial Date Set for Alleged Killer of Rights Worker

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — The murder retrial of Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr. in the ambush slaying of civil rights worker Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit was set Tuesday for Sept. 28.

Wilkins, 21, a Ku Klux Klan member from Fairfield, Ala., was indicted for murder with two other Alabama Klansmen, Eugene Thomas and William Eaton of the Birmingham area.

Mrs. Liuzzo, 38, mother of five children and wife of a Detroit Teamsters Union business agent was shot to death last March 25 following the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery.

Wilkins was tried last May but a mistrial was declared when the jury was unable to agree on a verdict. Thomas and Eaton have yet to be tried.

Jaywalker Released From Court Sentence
LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — Municipal Judge Jerry Pachet refused to fine Thomas H. Carter when he was brought into court on a jaywalking charge. Noting that Carter would soon be 100 years old, the judge said:

"At the age of 99, you are entitled to one free jaywalk from this court. The fine is suspended."

Tests Fail to Measure Creativity, Drive, Originality

I.Q. Important but Other Types of Intelligence Valuable

By LESLIE J. NASON, E.D.
School people talk a lot about I.Q.'s, which are computed by dividing a test score by the subject's age.

The initials stand for Intelligence Quotient.

And perhaps it does represent the measure of a limited kind of intelligence. At least, so far, it is the best single measure that we have of probable success in school.

However, it takes more than just a high I.Q. to bring success. And there are other kinds of intelligence which are just as important as those measured by our present so-called intelligence tests.

For instance, they do not measure creativity, fluency, flexibility, originality, goal-mindedness or drive.

Neither do they take into account a student's previous experience or lack of it in taking tests. Youngsters who take

Longshoremen Injuries Reach a New Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz says deaths and injuries to longshoremen aboard ships reached a new low in the first six months of 1965.

He said the injury frequency rate was 90.2 per million man-hours worked — 11 per cent below the comparable 1964 period.

GOOD COUNSELING TOOL

The I.Q. test still is a good counseling tool. But we should not let it be the only tool used in guidance.

A student whose I.Q. is high is capable of doing well in college — provided that he has also learned to organize his memory, has the willingness to follow directions and do the necessary work, and has acquired sufficient learning skills.

But a student with just an average I.Q. plus one special ability can succeed as well in college; in fact, he may come through with honors.

Such was the case with a group of students selected as superior while in high school on the basis of either high I.Q.'s or high reading comprehension scores along with average I.Q.'s succeeded both in high school and college as well as the others.

There are so many skills, attitudes and abilities associated

Timber Cut in South Reaches All-Time High

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Timber cut from national forests in the South totaled more than 844 million board feet during the past fiscal year, the U.S. Forest Service has announced.

The timber was valued at more than $17 million and represented an all-time high in the 11-state region.

with a student's success that we should be careful not to discourage him from setting high goals merely because he comes up with an average I.Q. He may have the persistence to wrestle with ideas; he may work well with his hands; he may have artistic or musical ability, or he may be creative.

Educationalists are embarrassed that so many students whom they measure and label as having superior intelligence still fail to succeed.

The unsatisfactory behavior of these students cannot be explained through test results. The attitudes and skills which they lack do not lend themselves to measurement through pencil and paper tests.

However, students with an average I.Q. as well as under-achievers are a challenge. Those with average I.Q.'s must be encouraged to make the most of their special skills and abilities.

Lacking group tests for the discovery of those very important average students with special talents, counselors should strive to discover them through careful study of each individual student.

Heavy reliance on I.Q.'s as the only measure of ability can only result in overlooking perhaps our greatest source of talent.

Buy Your Color TV NOW... Even if You Don't Buy It From Highland

Buy it anywhere — but buy it now! ... Strange, but good advice! It's simply that there are not enough color TV sets to go around. The demand is tremendous right now — far greater than the supply. Manufacturers cannot keep up. The industry has predicted there will be few sets on dealer shelves by November ... on top of that dealers have been advised of price raises on certain models now arriving. We saw all this happening in our crystal ball months ago. That's why there is still a large selection at Highland. Choose from consoles and combinations in many styles and finishes — all still of Highland's unchallenged low discount prices.

When You Visit in a Hospital

By The Emily Post Institute
The number of private rooms in every hospital has been greatly decreased, partly because of the shortage of nurses, partly because they are too costly for most people and partly because there always seems to be a need for more hospital beds than exist. The vast majority of hospital patients nowadays find themselves in semiprivate rooms or larger wards.

It is important, therefore, for visitors to these rooms to show consideration not only for their own friends, but for the other patients as well.

If smoking is allowed at all, it is essential to ask the others nearby if it will bother them if you smoke. (And please, cigarettes only!)

Cigars and pipe smoke can actually cause nausea in many people. Your friend himself may not object to your smoking, but it may cause the man in the next bed to have a coughing attack which could be the worst thing for him.

Voices must naturally be kept low, not only for privacy's sake, but in order not to disturb the other sick people who badly need their rest.

THOUGHTFUL GESTURE

If you are going to the snack bar or restaurant to bring a dish of ice cream or a candy bar to your friend (if he is permitted to have it), it is only thoughtful to ask the other person in a semi-private room if you can bring him anything at the same time.

This would not be necessary in a larger ward, unless one of the patients actually requested you to do an errand for him.

If there is a television set in the room — and this applies between patients as well as visitor and patient — do not turn it on without asking the other's permission and consulting him as to his choice of program.

Unless he shows real enthusiasm, keep the volume very low.

DRAW CURTAIN

If another patient in a room wishes to rest, draw the curtains between the beds, to give him as much privacy and quiet as possible.

On the other hand, if he and your friend have become friendly, include him in the conversation and your visit will be doubly appreciated.

Mrs. William Wright of Hamand Lake Drive, (at left) woman's campaign committee chairman for the United Fund, gets a preview of things to come as Mrs. Marvin Barnett of Peggy's, Miracle Mile, shows off some fashions to be modeled at the campaign rally on Oct. 5.

Love Nest Too Convenient

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My husband and I rent our apartment by the year. We travel together quite a lot and therein lies our problem.

We are friendly with a married couple I'll call Henry and Brenda. My husband gives Henry the key to our apartment when we leave town.

Now Henry and whomever he entertains there don't abuse our furniture in any way. They don't drink our liquor or make a disturbance, but I don't like the idea of a married man using our apartment for what I am sure he is using it for.

My husband and I see Henry and Brenda socially and I can't look her in the eye. My husband says I am silly to feel that way. Am I?

GLADYS
DEAR GLADYS: No. In lending your apartment, you become a party to whatever goes on there. Tell your husband that you refuse to provide a love nest for a married man.

And if the friendship flies out the window, it's okay with you.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor just noticed that my three-year-old son is left-handed. We've known it for a long time, but paid no attention to it because it didn't seem to matter.

My neighbor says we should break him of being left-handed before it's too late because he will find it a terrible handicap when he grows older. She says her husband is left-handed and it's an awful nuisance. He has to sit at the end of the table when he eats because his arm is always hitting the person to his left. (If it's a round table, he's out of luck.) She says all the machines, tools and appliances are geared for right-handed people and it's awkward for lefties.

I have never heard of these drawbacks, but they make sense to me. Should we force our child to use his right hand?

MRS. M.
DEAR MRS. M.: The inconvenience of being a southpaw is slight compared with the emotional damage a child is apt to suffer should he be forced to change.

For a more detailed explanation of left-handedness, the reasons for it, etc., talk to your pediatrician.

DEAR ABBY: Recently my daughter and her husband were separated and then divorced. I have a 16x20 picture of my daughter in her wedding gown in my living room. It gives me a lot of pleasure to look at it because I designed and made her wedding gown.

It was suggested that I take it down. The groom is not in the picture. What should I do?

MEMORIES
DEAR MEMORIES: Put the picture away. If it gives you pleasure to look at it, do so in private.

Peggy's Bloomfield-Miracle Mile will present the newest in fall and winter fashions with a commentary by Mrs. Marvin Barnett.

Music will be provided by Jack Hagan at the organ.

A Benefit Sale Is Slated Soon by Jaycettes

Mrs. Jeffery Cornish opened her Nancywood Court home to members of the Waterford Jaycettes recently.

Cohostesses were Mrs. John Radenbaugh and Mrs. David Zuehlke.

A report by Mrs. Richard Gilchrist told of plans for the upcoming benefit sale on Oct. 30 at the VFW Hall.

Mrs. Richard Schwab announced plans and progress for a Jaycee Auxiliary extension program for the Union Lake group.

Mrs. Ted McCulloch was the speaker.

Guests included Mrs. John Gray, Mrs. Harold Hague, Mrs. Michael Halpenny, Mrs. Richard Shipman and Mrs. Norman Wood.

The next meeting will be held in the Highfield Street home of Mrs. Jack Pote.

Food Editor Odell Meets Pleasant 'Purple People'

By JANET ODELL,
Food Editor
CHICAGO — Remember the song about the Purple People Eaters? We met the purple people on Tuesday at the Food Editors' Conference. Nice folks they were, too, all members of the Welch Grape Juice Company.

Nearly 100 years ago, a Dr. Welch succeeded in pasteurizing and canning the first grape juice. Now at this time of year, growers are getting ready to harvest millions of tons of Concord Grapes for the new pack.

NEW PRODUCTS
New products from the company include a two-pound jar of grape jelly, apple-grape jelly and frozen grape juice bars.

Balloons were used as part of the decoration for this reception and late this afternoon there were four of them clinging to the high paneled ceiling of the Drake Hotel lobby. Someone had released them.

LIQUID COUNT
"Let me count the ways." No, that's by Elizabeth Barrett Browning. I mean, let me count the different kinds of liquids I've had today: champagne and orange juice eye-opener; prune juice, apple juice and egg instant breakfast, skim milk; grape juice with ginger ale; diet cola; and lots of coffee. We're not on a liquid diet by any means. Lots of solid food accompanied the drinks.

I didn't have room yesterday to tell you about the new flavored margarine. On the breakfast table we had our choice of strawberry, orange, lemon, honey, ginger or herb spreads. Combining another food with margarine makes an interesting addition to the spread you use for toast or rolls.

COMING SOON

Not yet in stores, but coming soon, is the new Kaiser Aluminum Rol-A-Pak. Each roll of foil comes in a box with knobs on both ends to roll the foil in and out. With this pack there is even less danger of cutting yourself on the serrated edge.

Farberware showed us their complete line of cooking utensils and table top appliances at breakfast. With these, barbecue and spit cooking need not be confined to summer outdoor parties.

FAREWELL

A long time friend of the food editors bade us goodbye this noon during the Borden luncheon. Roy Wooster, chairman of the board, told us of his impending retirement.

He'll be missed at our annual get-together.

As usual, Borden has a host of new food products coming out. We'll just have to be patient until some of them get into national distribution.

Here are just a few from the list: canned sterilized whipping cream; a refrigerated corn bread dough; canned bean salad; clam crisps for cocktail snacks; and instant coffee with non-dairy creamer already in it.

PUZZLE SOLVED

The borden home economist sitting next to me at luncheon answered a question that has long puzzled me. We happened to talk about marshmallows and I complained that today's marshmallows don't taste right or like the ones we used to get.

She explained that they are made differently, are extruded, instead of being molded, and contain more air. However, the molded ones are still being made and I'm going to see if I can locate any in Pontiac stores.

At the General Mills dinner we had a taste of the future. In the salad were what looked and tasted like bits of crumbled bacon. They were an exciting new food product made by soy protein.

It is this kind of new food that is the hope of the world where people go hungry to bed every night.

Dr. Arthur Odell (no relation), a research scientist for General Mills, spoke to us about what is being done in the laboratory to solve the problem of food shortages. The Baco-Chips are but a beginning.

They are not synthetic foods any more than butter or cottage cheese prepared by processing milk are synthetic.

It was a tantalizing glimpse into an almost unbelievable future.

Mrs. Denison Hosts Chapter

The Auburn Heights home of Mrs. C. F. Denison hosted the membership of Alpha chapter, Beta Theta Phi, at a dinner meeting Tuesday evening.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. John Kinzler.

Committee chairmen were appointed and plans were made for a husbands party on Oct. 23.

Mrs. Leslie Cross will host the Oct. 5 meeting in her home.

Auxiliary Sets Fall Breakfast

Mrs. Gollo Bernero and Mrs. Rudy Fortino were cohostesses at the Monday evening meeting of the Italian American Auxiliary. The meeting took place in the club hall on Tilden Street.

Mrs. Joseph Pollina, presented the new calendar. First on the agenda will be a breakfast on Oct. 5 in the club hall. In charge of the event will be Mrs. Carl Grassi, Mrs. Sam Calabrese, Mrs. Frank Soda and Mrs. Pollina.

Planning an August wedding in 1966 are Fredericka Eastman, daughter of the Fred Eastmans of North Perry Street and John C. Crews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil L. Crews of North Opdyke Road.

OU Music Program Eyes Adult Students

Oakland University's association with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra is being extended into the continuing education course program for adults this fall.

Mischa Kottler, pianist and Nathan Gordon, first chair

MISCHA KOTTLER

violinist, will teach courses in Piano Pedagogy and String Techniques.

Both courses are for advanced students and, along with an Opera Workshop directed by Dr. David DiChiera, offer an expansion of performing music opportunities for adults at Oakland.

BEGINNERS

For beginners, group instruction will be offered by other continuing education faculty members in piano, violin, viola and cello. Most courses start the week of September 27.

Kottler will be teaching the first Mott Master Series course to be offered with the assistance of the Mott Center for Community Affairs' grant. His Wednesday morning class will be limited to 15 advanced pianists and piano teachers who will deal with the problems of technique and interpretation of a group of important piano works.

Additional students may join the class as auditors at reduced tuition.

EARLY MUSIC CAREER

Kottler had his early musical training in Russia, starting at the Imperial Conservatory of Kiev at the age of seven (he began playing the piano at five).

He made a concert tour of the major cities of the Ukraine when he was nine years old. He continued his studies in Paris and in Vienna under Emil Von Sauer who was one of the famous pupils of Liszt. Along with being pianist with the Detroit Symphony, he has been a musical director of a Detroit broadcasting station.

Gordon's course in string techniques will assist students with technical problems of bowing, left hand, vibrato and reading. He came to the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in 1958, following concertmaster Mischa Mischakoff.

KEY MEN

The two famous string players had been key men in Toscanini's NBC Symphony. Gordon is also conductor of the Dearborn Symphony Orchestra and the Women's Symphony Orchestra. His class will meet Monday evenings from 7:30-8:30 p.m.

The Opera Workshop has been designed to give area singers an opportunity for the theatre experience of opera. In addition to DiChiera, the Workshop staff will be comprised of: musical director — Italo Tarantia, director of the Chamber Opera Theatre of Detroit; theatre coaches — Ceila Merrill Turner of the Will-O-Way Apprentice Theatre and Tom Aston, dramatic technician at Oakland University and formerly with Vanguard Theatre.

DiChiera is assistant dean of continuing education in the arts and producer-director of the Overture to Opera series which gave 17 performances in the area prior to last year's Metropolitan Opera season.

Catalogs describing music and other adult courses are available from the Division of Continuing Education, Oakland University.

Rugged Cowboys Can Move Over

HANNAGAN MEADOWS, Ariz. (AP) — Ranging in age from 31 to 67, a group of 21 women covered 55 miles of rugged mountain trails on horseback during the third annual three-day outing of the Cowbelle Trail Riders.

The horsewomen did all the work, including pitching tents, chopping wood, looking after their horses and driving trucks with trailers to campsites. In addition to some ranch women, this year's riders included two school teachers, three business women and six housewives.

Duchess of Windsor Pattern

#56 DIMINUTIVE
#49 MISSES

The Duchess of Windsor is famous for her great elegance and great fashion sense. She has designed this crisp young semi-fitted dress that has a marvelous illusion of slenderness.

The oval shaped neckline follows the line of the curved yoke which has short or 3/4 sleeves cut in one. Short sleeves like this are hot news. The body of the dress is cut with wide contoured front and back panels that are most becoming a darts and a center back zipper.

The cut and design of this original has an unusually feminine shape and will take to many fabrics such as wools, silks, linens, and cottons. Spade's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit. See chart for size best for you.

Why Grow Old?

by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

At one time in my career I was head of physical education in a large junior high school. I was in close contact with hundreds of girls this age, daily. Therefore I am keenly aware of what their problems are and of what their dreams are made.

They are very self-conscious about any defects in beauty they may have.

This is all to the good IF they do something about these defects and do not allow any they cannot change to affect their personalities. This is the time when young folks should stop and take stock of themselves because this is a rapidly changing transition period.

You have all the materials with which to build beautiful womanhood. Your spines and your minds are still flexible and susceptible to change. The way you think now, your posture, the manner in which you care for your hair and complexion and health and your attitude toward others, will determine whether or not you will become the lovely charming happy YOU of your dreams or someone you never meant to be and didn't have to be.

Yes, this is a time for taking stock of yourself. You have been playing and studying and maturing so rapidly that you probably haven't taken a moment to decide what you want most from life. Most of your energy has been spent in just growing. Catch your breath and look to see where you are going. Do you like the goals you are headed toward?

LIFE OVER?

The way you carry yourself now dictates whether or not you will have a double chin at 25 or 35, and believe me, kids, life isn't over at 30 or 40 or 50. Those ages will reflect your current daily routine. A swayback and a protruding abdomen will affect your health and your future silhouette.

Here is an exercise which is corrective to round shoulders and gives you a fine stretch over that tummy so many of you write to me about. Ask your mother or sister to help you with this one. Lie on a table on your abdomen. The lower half of your body (from waist to toes) is supported by the table. Bend down at the waist. Now raise your trunk upward and your arms side-ward, shoulder height, and raise your head. Ask your mother or sister to help you at first by placing her hands under your arms and helping with the lift. Later on she can hold your feet and you can lift alone.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Popularity" sent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Marlene Beale Weds Garrith W. Knaus

MRS. G. W. KNAUS

The newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Garrith Wayne Knaus (Marlene Kay Beale) left for a honeymoon in New York City after recent vows and reception in the First Methodist Church.

Larry W. Beale escorted his sister, daughter of Mrs. William L. Beale of Green Street and the late Mr. Beale, at the rite performed by Rev. Clyde Smith.

FRENCH LACE

Miniature Stephanotis held her triple-tiered veil of nylon tulle, complementing a gown of white peau de sole and French lace. White phalaenopsis orchids and Stephanotis rested on the bride's small white Bible.

With Dolores A. Hake, her cousins honor maid, were bridesmaids, Mrs. Monty Tipton and Kristine Knaus.

Assisting the bridegroom were Timothy Courtney, best man; Gary McCallum and Gary Page, groomsmen, and ushers James Beale and Robert Kaglewitz.

RECEPTION

Hosts for the evening reception in the Oakland County Boat Club were the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson L. Knaus of North Edith Street.

Ski Resort Is Setting for Sorority

Pine Knob Ski Lodge set the scene for the recent meeting of Xi chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma society. The group's president, Mrs. John DeCou announced the theme of the year would be "The Nature and Nurture of Creativity."

Program chairman, Mrs. Charles Smith outlined monthly meetings, one of which will be a theater party in November to see Kismet.

Another announcement made was that of the new appointment of Dr. Ola B. Hiller as ambassador to the National Education Foundation of the society.

COMMITTEES

Committee heads were appointed at this meeting and hostesses for the gathering included Mrs. Maynard Stephens, Doris Haynes, Mrs. Everett Peterson and Mrs. Alfred Rothweiler.

Pearson-Griffin Vows Said in MSU Chapel

Merilee Griffin and Robert G. Pearson, senior students at the Michigan State University, were wed recently in Alumni Memorial Chapel on campus.

A reception in Holiday Inn, East Lansing, and a brief honeymoon followed the rite performed by Rev. Brandt Tefft.

Parents of the couple are the Daniel C. Griffins, Pasadena, Calif. and the Harold W. Pearsons of Nelson Street.

A-LINE GOWN

styled with lace-appliqued bodice. A matching pillbox held her full-length veil of silk illusion.

She held a semi-colonial bouquet of white pompons.

Joan Richards was her cousin's maid of honor.

On the esquire side were Lawrence H. Stevens, best man, and the bridegroom's cousin, Karl Pearson, who ushered with Thomas Moller.

Doll House Renaissance Taking Place

Have you ever thought of a 6½ inch sofa? Well, there are such things. They come fully upholstered and in a choice of fabrics too — light green satin or gold rayon brocade.

Also available are 5 inch-long buffets with red velvet covered doors and 6 inch-high gold brushed grandfather clocks, paneled with fine art reproductions.

No, this isn't a Lilliputian world. In fact, it isn't even a make-believe world. That is not to little girls playing in their doll societies. Such perfectly scaled toy furniture are a very real and vital part of the adult lives they pursue in miniature.

Doll houses and doll furniture, once magnificent works of art, are making an aesthetic comeback after years of crudely cut plastics and roughly blocked woods. The new toy furniture seems to have once again become refined and artistic, presenting to our little girls, a more tasteful way of doing up the tiny home.

One toy corporation's doll's bedroom set, for example, comes with a tufted headboard, gold-braided bolsters, coverlets with pleated skirts, and lace-edged pillows.

Organized Shelves

DEAR POLLY — My canned goods storage shelves are deeper than they should be for real convenience.

The back part of the shelves became a conglomerate mix of different foods in different sizes because I never reached into the dark recesses. There was such a hodgepodge that I longed more than every for pull-out shelves so I could see what I had and keep things organized. I created my own pull-out shelves from strong cardboard grocery cartons the same size as the width of the shelves. I cut them down so that all that was left was the bottom and from two to four inches around the sides.

This little edge keeps cans from falling when the box is pulled out. Each box contains specific items — vegetables, soups, fruit, etc., and each box front is labeled accordingly.

Back From Coast

Mrs. Don Cotterman of Rugby Circle has returned home after visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Brant Cotterman of Orange, Calif. While there she was able to spend some time with grandchildren, Mark and Cheryl.

When I reach for a can of tuna I know I am going to get tuna. I merely pull out the sliding box to see my entire stock of a particular item, am able to use older ones from the rear, rotate the contents effortlessly and save myself time and unnecessary frustration.—MRS. V. C. W.

DEAR POLLY — We had three small rugs made to match our new living room rug and placed them over places that receive the most wear.

The corners soon began to curl up, so we came up with what we feel is the perfect solution. We cut a strip of plastic bottle, about one inch by eight inches, one for each corner. They were attached to the rug with iron-on patches about one and a half inches bigger in each direction than the plastic strips.

Plastic has a slight natural curl and should be placed to curve down toward the floor. More or less curl can be obtained by heating an iron (over the patch, of course) and bending the plastic with fingers.—EDITH

DEAR POLLY — When the legs on your chairs and tables become loose, add a small amount of wood glue to the glue and it will hold better and longer.—ROSE

DEAR POLLY — Writing time is often limited but I need to get a note off to a family or friends so I write on a 3-by-4-inch index file card. I write my message, fold the card in half and staple it together at the bottom.

With the card folded and stapled I have more privacy for the message. Also, this will go for four cents postage.—CAROL GIRLS — Carol's hint was written as she described and came through to me in good shape. However, my postmaster advised me that the folder card should not exceed the size of a standard government post card if a four-cent stamp is used.—POLLY

Food Budget Should Include Large Dog

By MARY FEELEY Consultant
in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:
How much money should I spend every week on grocery shopping?

We are a family of six, plus a German Shepherd four months old.

When I do my food shopping, I go once a week that's it. I don't run to the store in between for anything else. I am 27 and am expecting a baby in November. My husband is 28, our two boys are ages three and five and a half. The girls are one and two years old. I need your advice on how much I should spend every week for food.

Mrs. J.F., St. Petersburg, Fla.
Dear Mrs. F.:

You picked the favorite subject of millions of families. How much for food! And you're smart to figure the dog in, along with the children. A German Shepherd pup of four months, for instance, can easily eat $3 to $3.50 worth of groceries a week—including his vitamins. Of course, it depends on what you have to pay for his meat. He requires a pound of meat a day at this age.

Now, as for the other children, the five-year-old can account for anywhere between $3.90 and $5.20 a week—depending on whether you live on what is officially called the Low Cost plan or the Moderate Cost plan (the Department of Agriculture's estimates). The three-year-old rates about the same portion of the budget. Food allotments for the youngest two would be from $3.40 to $4.40 each per week. You and your husband could manage on $13.10-$17.40 per week.

The Franklin J. Smiths of Clauson announce the betrothal of their daughter, Karen Joy to Kenneth Hoadley, son of the Clarence Hoadleys of Mechanic Street. Her fiancé attends Lawrence Institute of Technology. June vows are planned.

These estimates apply to the southern region of the country, in your own area. Food prices, like a lot of other things, vary in different parts of the country.

So figure about $36 a week for your family, including the pup. The actual amount would be about $40—but statistics show that you can deduct 10 per cent when there are more than four in the family. The cost per person—and dog—goes down when there are more than four at the table. Or, skip a few dollars until you get down to about $38. And that's as low as you ought to go, in order to provide adequate nutrition.

Of course, considering the November baby, you'll have to revise your budget. Allow another $3 to $4 a week from then on. This isn't providing you much margin for "extras," but the woman who makes one trip to the supermarket a week and doesn't run back for "afterthoughts" is much more apt to keep to her budget.

Be firm and you'll make it.

You'll also have to be a good cook and a good menu-planner.

(For Mary Feeley's new booklet, "Make Every Dollar Count," send $1 to Dollar Book in care of The Pontiac Press.)

Dope Smuggler Lucien Rivard Faces 40 Years

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Lucien Rivard, who managed a smile even though a jury had just found him guilty of directing an international narcotics smuggling ring, faced a maximum of 40 years in prison today.

The 30-year-old French Canadian, whose case caused political turmoil in Canada, was convicted Tuesday of two counts of federal narcotics law violations — of conspiring to smuggle heroin into the United States and of actually causing heroin to be smuggled.

Each count carries a maximum of 20 years in prison. U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Connally said, however, sentencing would be delayed for 30 to 40 days until he had time to study the case.

Three other Montreal, Canada, men, Julien Gagnon, 36, Charles Emile Groleau, 56, and Joseph Raymond Jones, 28, also drew guilty verdicts on the conspiracy charge as Rivard's associates.

LONG INVESTIGATION

The verdict, reached by an all-male jury in about three hours at the end of the seventh day of the trial, culminated years of investigation by U.S. and Canadian authorities.

Testimony revealed that Rivard masterminded the ring that got its heroin from Europe and Mexico and distributed it to contact men in the northeastern United States.

Prosecution attorneys pictured Groleau, a gray-haired man who had an almost fatal heart attack in 1963, as Rivard's chief assistant, and Gagnon and Jones as couriers who brought huge cargoes of heroin from Europe to Canada.

As the jury brought in its verdict, Rivard, who had been chatting with his attorney, wrinkled his brow and stared at the jury. A few seconds later, he smiled as he talked with his attorneys.

THREW A KISS

Led from the courtroom by federal marshals, Rivard, dressed in a gray business suit, gestured a kiss to his attractive, red-haired wife. She broke into tears.

Rivard has been held in Webb County jail in lieu of $500,000 bond. Bond for Gagnon, Jones and Groleau was $200,000 each, and was never posted.

A political controversy erupted in Canada as U.S. officials sought to have Rivard extradited to the United States for prosecution. Rivard claimed he was a political prisoner.

Pierre Lamontagne, an attorney representing the United States, said he was offered a $20,000 bribe not to oppose bail for Rivard. Raymond Denis, a former officer of the Canadian Immigration Ministry, was charged with attempted bribery.

KEY WITNESSES

Key government evidence in Rivard's trial came from Joseph Michel Caron, a convicted smuggler serving 10 years in prison, and Roger Beauchemin, a former waiter at the Canadian resort Rivard once owned.

Beauchemin was granted immunity from prosecution.

Caron and Beauchemin testified that at Rivard's direction they transported more than $10 million worth of heroin from Mexico and Canada to Bridgeport, Conn., and Flint, Mich., in 1963.

Caron's arrest at the International Bridge here Oct. 10, 1963, prompted the indictment. U.S. customs agents seized over 75 pounds of heroin, valued at between $33 million and $50 million, in his car.

Frank Copella of Bridgeport, Conn., is free on $100,000 bond awaiting a separate trial on the same conspiracy charge. No date for his trial has been set.

School Year Inevitable

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Education Commissioner William P. Robinson Jr. says an 11-month school year is inevitable. "The nation can't afford to have students spending 20 years getting an education," he says.

Proposal Opposed

Zone Hearing Set for Annexed Land

Initial steps were taken last night to set zoning classifications for 212 acres of land recently purchased and annexed along the city's northern boundary.

City Commissioners received a report from the City Planning Commission and set Oct. 12 as the date for a public hearing on the matter.

City planners proposed two types of manufacturing zoning for the land located south of Lake Angeles Road and north of Collier.

The proposed zoning has been opposed by some Pontiac Township residents and officials. In separate action, a resolution objecting to the intended use of the land was received from the township board.

Meantime, Township Supervisor Leonard Terry and two township residents have challenged the city's annexation of the land in Oakland County Circuit Court.

PROPOSED ZONING

Heavy manufacturing (M-3) and light manufacturing (M-1) are the two proposed zoning classifications. The M-3 zoning would be applied to about 35 acres that may be sold as a site for a scrap yard.

The balance of the 212 acres is to be used by the city as a sanitary land-fill site.

In other business last night, the commission received a written report from City Manager Joseph A. Warren on a petition to the Michigan Public Service Commission on problems at the Wessen-Jackson railroad crossing.

The commission had directed Warren to petition the state agency for a hearing. Problems have developed in the use of gates at the crossing.

CROSSING HAZARD

In the petition, Warren pointed out that the crossing is a hazard since motorists ignore the gates because of needless long waits when no train crossings are being made.

Meantime, Assistant City Manager John F. Reineck read a telegram last night from the railroad that states that special equipment was ordered for the crossing.

In other business, City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling submitted a progress report on plans for construction of three pedestrian overpasses in the city.

Site plans have been completed on two of the walkways: one slated for West Huron in front of Webster School and the second over East Wide Track in front of St. Frederick School.

Negotiations for a third overpass over the Grand Trunk Railroad support yard at Carlisle have been held with railroad officials.

Site plans for the latter overpass are being updated from a 1957 agreement with the railroad to provide for such a walkway.

Bids are to be taken next month on the two other overpasses, according to Neippling. He said that three walkways should be under construction this year with the first two perhaps being completed within the calendar year.

The commission also received an offer from the Ann Arbor Construction Co. to give the city a 3.8-acre parcel in the area of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks, Orchard Lake Avenue and the Clinton River.

A request by Roy O. Louis for a new SDM license — beer and wine carryout — at 373 S. Paddock was approved by the commission.

Public hearings were held on special assessments for the paving of Bennett, Howard to Baldwin, and Madison, Emerson to Kettering. A similar hearing was held on grade and gravel for the alley east of Joslin, Westbrook to LeBaron.

A resolution was also passed for the vacating of the alley parallel to Montcalm, between Wing and Portland.

Requests for an alley vacating on the north side of Montcalm and rezoning for lot 120 of Dixie-land subdivision were both referred to the City Planning Commission. Paving for a portion of Riker was referred to the city engineer.

Meeting on Industrial Park

A 14-man advisory panel, headed by Bruce J. Annett, will meet tonight at 7 at City Hall.

The advisory group was appointed by the City Commission to aid in the establishment of a projected industrial park in the southeast corner of Pontiac.

Annett of Annett, Inc., Realtors, was named to head the group to be known as the Industrial Park Development Committee. The industrial park development became a city project after the city took over the interests of a private group, the Greater Pontiac Industrial Corp., that encountered difficulties in developing the park project.

Safety Needed in Auto Line?

U-M Official Seeks Design Improvement

DETROIT (UPI) — A University of Michigan pathologist charged yesterday that features of cars now on the market "show complete disregard for the most fundamental principles of safe design" and called on doctors to join the chorus demanding safer automobiles.

The plea was made by Dr. Paul W. Gikas, U-M Medical School pathologist. In a talk to the annual meeting of the Michigan State Medical Society. He said the doctors could start out by wearing their own seat belts.

Gikas and Donald F. Huelske, a U-M anatomy teacher, have investigated about 100 traffic fatalities in and around Ann Arbor in the past three years.

They have been called to the scene even before the bodies and wreckage have been moved.

Their effort to determine the cause of death and how to prevent them is sponsored by a grant from the U.S. Public Health Service.

SEAT BELT USE

"About 40 per cent of those deaths could have been prevented if the victims had been wearing seat belts," Gikas said. "The percentage would be even higher if the interiors of the cars had been safely designed."

And, he added, "many features of cars on the market now show complete disregard for the most fundamental principles of safe design."

The major cause of death, he said, is being thrown from the car. Use of seat belts would eliminate this major cause.

And better interior design would "reduce the perils of the secondary collision, that of the driver or passenger with some handle or knob or the dashboard."

'PADDED TANK'

Gikas emphasized that he was not asking for a "padded army tank."

"Plenty can be done to the inside of present cars to make them safer," he said.

His suggestions included: Well-padded dashboards, visors and headers, the steel joint between the roof and the windshield. The current padding "is far from adequate."

Either push-button automatic transmissions or ball handles on standard shifts — anything "to get rid of that dagger-like shift lever."

KNOBS, HANDLES

Knobs and handles recessed in wells "big enough to get your hands in but not big enough for your head."

Padding along the back edge of the front seat to protect rear seat passengers who would be thrown forward in an accident.

In some cases, Gikas said, auto companies spend money "to add a positively unsafe feature."

As an example, he pointed to the shiny metal decorative strip across the back of the front seat in some luxury cars. He said the strip could inflict serious injury to a rear seat occupant in a front collision.

Buses Arrive in Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Cuban radio says 43 British buses have arrived at Havana aboard an East German freighter. Britain has contracted to supply the Fidel Castro government with 950 buses for $24 million, plus $12 million worth of spare parts.

Weeks Of Back Pain Now Relieved

"After weeks of pain in my back and hips, I tried DeWitt's Pills — got wonderful relief!" says Mrs. R. G. Gaudier, Waterloo, Iowa.

People write in every day praising the remarkable relief they get with DeWitt's Pills.

DeWitt's Pills act fast with a proven analgesic to relieve pain of backache. Their mild drastic action helps to eliminate retained fluids and flush out irritating bladder wastes that can cause physical distress. If pain persists, see your doctor. DeWitt's Pills often succeed where others fail — quickly relieve minor muscle aches and pains, too. Insist on the genuine DeWitt's Pills.

Over 100 million DeWitt's Pills are sold by druggists day after day after day, the world over — a tribute to their amazing success.

Conservatives Win 1st Skirmish at State GOP Women's Confab

LANSING (AP) — The conservative "In" group won its first major skirmish with insurgent moderates Tuesday but final control of the Republican Women's Federation remained a toss-up.

An afternoon of parliamentary maneuvering, mixed with shouting and confusion at the group's state convention, ended with six disputed delegations being refused seats.

Election of officers by secret ballot began late Tuesday and was to continue through Wednesday morning before a decision would be announced.

The group's present board is backing the official slate of nominees headed by Mrs. Bernice Zilly of Grosse Pointe Farms, political ally of Richard Duren, GOP 14th district chairman, and sometimes-thorn in the side of Gov. George Romney.

CHAIRMAN'S CHOICE

State GOP Chairman Mrs. Ely Peterson is backing the floor-nominated slate headed by Mrs. Ruth Hobbs of Ann Arbor, former state vice-chairman.

The convention, thrown a half-day off schedule by registration confusion, spent about two hours wrangling over whether to seat three women's clubs from Way County and one each from Bay, Ionia and Livingston counties.

The federation board had withheld seating the clubs because they did not meet board requirements when they applied earlier in the year.

Opponents of the board decision argued that the requirements had been changed such that either the six clubs should be seated or other eligible federation members not seated.

DAILY LIST

Backers of the six clubs were generally regarded as supporters of Mrs. Hobbs. They won a preliminary test of strength on a standing vote, but finally lost out when the president, Mrs. Dorothy Benton of Battle Creek, ruled it would be illegal even to consider seating the six clubs.

Mrs. Benton then refused to recognize any delegate challenge ing her decision. As a delegate to the National GOP Convention last summer, she voted for Sen. Barry Goldwater while most of the Michigan delegation supported Romney as a favorite son.

Mrs. Hobbs said, however, she believed she still could win without votes from the six rejected clubs. Mrs. Zilly said there was "no question" that her slate would win.

First televising of a Cabinet session occurred Oct. 25, 1964.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)

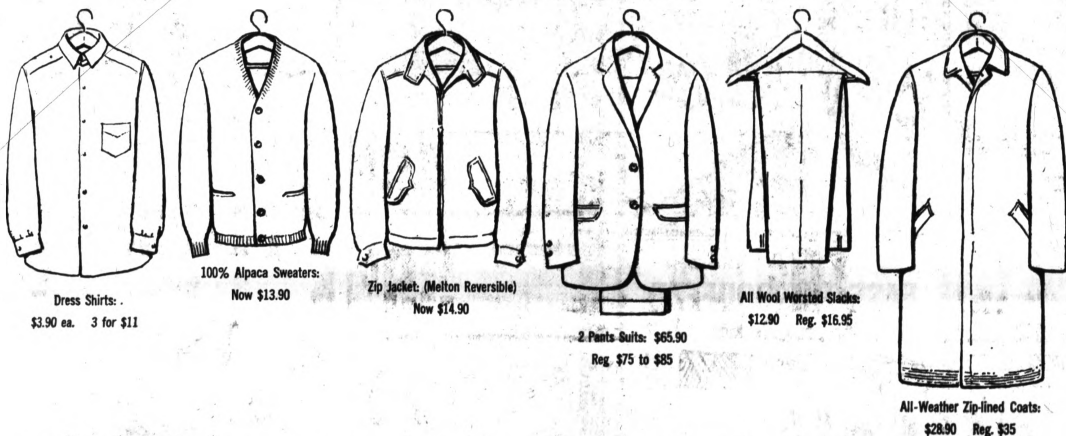

Gov. Hulett C. Smith says he will not call a special legislative session to consider the state's constitutional convention issue. He said he will include the matter in his call for the 1966 legislative session starting Jan. 12.

1966 Pillsbury Bake Off Will Put Emphasis on Recipes That Reflect Busy Times

The Bake-Off, which began its fascinating career almost 17 years ago as "Pillsbury's Grand National Recipe Hunt and Baking Contest," and developed in adolescence into "The Grand National Bake-Off" will have a new look, a new name and a new location in celebration of its 17th birthday.

"Busy Lady Bake-Off" is the new name for the spectacular event which has attracted many millions of entries and paid out some two million dollars in prizes since its beginning in 1949.

The Busy Lady Bake-Off will be held January 31, 1966, and for the first time it will be in San Francisco—at the new San Francisco Hilton Hotel.

The 100 finalists will bake on the newest and most modern General Electric Ranges—all featuring automatic self-cleaning master ovens.

The Bake-Off floor itself will have a completely new look, especially designed so that the awards telecast on Tuesday, January 25, can be made directly from the floor of the Bake-Off rather than at an awards luncheon as in previous years.

Officials of The Pillsbury Company and General Electric, in announcing the Busy Lady Bake-Off, said the name and format reflect the changing pace of American life and the new food styles which have resulted from it.

Contest entries this year will be accepted from now until the entry deadline of October 31, 1965. Finalists will be announced in early December, in time for all 100 to get the new GE Range they will be delivered to their homes in time for Christmas.

And, for the first time, recipes which include a new short-cut method or a new use of convenient ingredients, will be eligible for three special $500 "Bright Idea" bonuses.

There will be new emphasis on streamlining recipes, on short-cutting and up-to-dating by use of modern convenience products as part of the final baked dish.

"The Busy Lady Bake-Off is designed to search out those recipes which produce delicious results easily and quickly," according to Pillsbury.

One of the things which will remain the same in the 17th Bake-Off will be the aroma of fresh baked breads, cakes, pies and desserts, main dishes, cookies and snacks coming from the oven at the world's biggest kitchen in the San Francisco Hilton on January 31. And, in addition to the $25,000 Grand Prize and the $5,000 second Grand Prize, there will be $1,000 prizes for each of the special categories.

Honey Will Give Foods an Interesting Sweet Flavor

"Dew distilled from the stars and the rainbow," that's how the ancient Greek philosopher Aristotle referred to honey. Today, honey offers all the same fine qualities which made it such an idolized sweetener in ancient times.

Choose, for example, from the wide variety of flavors, aromas and colors of honey on the market. These characteristics vary with the kind of flowers from which the nectar was gathered.

As a rule, the lightest colored honeys are the mildest, explains the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Blends of flavors are numerous. Distinctively flavored honeys from citrus trees, wild sage,

Try Smoked Fish

You can make a delicious spread for crackers or bread by mixing smoked fish (flaked or diced) with a little mayonnaise, lemon juice and minced sweet pickles.

buckwheat and other blossoms also are available. Buckwheat is considered probably the darkest table variety.

Try honey to accent or enhance the flavor of many other foods. Remember to use mild-flavored honey for bland dishes; stronger, darker honey for more highly flavored dishes.

Honey French Dressing

1 10% ounce can tomato soup
½ cup honey

¾ cup vinegar
¼ cup water
2 cups salad oil
1 teaspoon salt

Holds Up Better

A souffle baked in a pan of hot water in a slow oven usually holds up longer (when it is brought to the table) than one that is baked without the hot water bath at a higher temperature.

1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon black pepper
½ teaspoon paprika

Thoroughly combine ingredients in order given, using an electric mixer, or a blender.

Refrigerate and allow flavors to blend at least 24 hours before serving. Keep refrigerated!

Excellent as a topper for head lettuce, halves of avocado, raw and cooked salad vegetables.

(Tasty with blue cheese crumbles added.) Makes 1 quart.

Honey Cubes

½ cup honey
2 cups hot water
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Pour hot water into honey, stirring to blend. Add lemon juice. Pour into ice cube trays, and allow to cool slightly before placing in the freezer. Serve, in cube form or crushed, by adding to chilled tea or fruit punch.

PORK TENDERLOINS — Fruit is an ideal accompaniment to pork. Here, tenderloins are simmered in an orange sauce and served on tender white rice. Attractive, nutritious and good eating.

Rice Is a Good Base for Fruited Pork

The people of Sweden are particularly fond of combining fruit with meat as in an attractive entree of Pork Tenderloins with Orange Sauce.

Perhaps because the sunny goodness of the fruit offsets the effects of the chill climate — part of Sweden lies above the Arctic Circle — or possibly because it steps up so well the mildness of the meat, or both. In any case the dish reflects the best in Scandinavian cuisine that is delicious in any climate, any season.

The ideal base for the fruited meat is, naturally, tender cooked rice. Why? The attractive white grains show off the rich colors of pork and sauce without absorbing or "drowning" in the liquid; and their mild flavor blends with, doesn't overpower or change, the more pronounced ones of meat and fruit.

The arrowroot used to thicken the sauce, of this dish, is a delicate starch much used throughout Europe for gravies, sauces and pudding mixtures. Like rice, it is easily digestible. If none is on hand, an equal amount of cornstarch may be substituted.

Asparagus Contest Open for Recipes

Details of the sixth annual asparagus recipe contest have been announced by Rene Gosiaux Jr., manager of the New Jersey Asparagus Industry Council.

First prize will be a $100 U.S. Savings Bond; second and third prizes will be a $50 and $25 bond respectively. Twenty-five honorable award winners will receive an attractive 8-cup coffee maker.

"An important part of the Council's merchandising work is done through recipes," Mr. Gosiaux stated, "and our annual contest helps us find new ways to prepare asparagus that are sometimes new and different, but always delicious."

"New Jersey's pack of both canned and frozen asparagus this season is predominantly in cuts and tips. As a consequence, we're particularly interested in recipes which call for cut, rather than whole, spears."

"An important consideration for the homemaker is that, at the average price of 25 cents per 15-oz. can, asparagus cuts and tips compare very favorably with practically all other processed vegetables."

There's nothing to buy, no labels are necessary and recipes will be accepted on any kind of paper if legible. Up to three entries per family will be accepted and all entries should be addressed to Asparagus Recipe Contest, Box 366, Millville, New Jersey.

Entries must be postmarked before midnight, October 31, 1965.

Conference Provides Recipes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

This is midway in the food editors conference. It's time to give you a few of the new recipes food manufacturers are anxious for you to have.

Both this week and next, I'll concentrate on recipes we've gotten from participants in the Chicago conference. To day, we're leaning rather heavily on desserts.

Many of you may have already tried the new soft-type margarine. Packaged in a small plastic tub, it spreads readily even when very cold. It is easy to measure for baking.

Gingerbread Gems are like muffins, but they're so good that they can double as dessert. Serve with Lemon Spread.

Gingerbread Gems
1/4 cup soft-type margarine
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup unsphured molasses
1 egg
1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 cup hot water

Blend together soft-type margarine and sugar. Blend in molasses. Add egg; beat until well blended.

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder, baking soda and spices; add to mixture alternately with hot water. Coat inside of 1 dozen 1 1/4-inch muffin pans with soft-type margarine.

Spoon batter into pans (pans should be 3/4 full). Bake in 375-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Turn out of pans and serve hot with Lemon Spread. Yield: 3 dozen.

Lemon Spread: Blend together 1/4 cup soft-type margarine and 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar. Stir in 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Yield: 1/4 cup.

Another convenience food is instant blending flour. In this recipe for a pie you make the crust with your mixer.

Try this method with an open mind. Who knows? It might become your favorite pie crust recipe.

Toffee Fluff Pie
1/4 cup cold water
1/4 cup shortening
1 1/4 cups instant blending flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 (1/4-ounce) chocolate covered toffee bars, crushed (reserve 2 tablespoons)

In small mixer bowl, combine water, shortening, flour and salt. Mix at lowest speed of mixer, scraping sides of bowl, until dough begins to form, about 30 seconds. Shape into a firm ball. Flatten; smooth edge.

Flour generously on both sides. Roll out to 1/4-inch thickness on well-floured surface. Trim to a circle 1 1/2 inches larger than inverted 8-inch pie pan. Fit into pan. Flute edge as desired. Prick generously with fork. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown.

Sprinkle crushed toffee bars

Food Pesticides Not a Factor in Human Ills

Not a single case of illness is known to have resulted from pesticide residues on food, reports the District Extension Agent, Mrs. Josephine Sawyer. Use of pesticides is governed by laws administered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, but acted upon jointly with the Food and Drug Administration and the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Before a pesticide is accepted for use, it first must be demonstrated that any residue that may exist following application to the crop will be well below the safe level of intake. These levels are called tolerances.

A tolerance is a minute quantity of a pesticide permitted on or in raw agricultural commodity from application made before harvest. Usually the safety factor between the tolerance (the amount permitted) and safe level is about one hundredfold.

Tolerances are established on the food as it is shipped to market and are generally eaten it. With normal handling, peeling, washing, and cooking the amount of pesticide actually consumed is reduced substantially and is considerably lower even than one per cent of the safe legal tolerance level.

over bottom of crust. Cool. Spoon filling into baked pastry shell. Garnish with reserved toffee bar. Chill until serving time.

Toffee Filling
1 cup heavy cream
1 cup marshmallow creme
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Whip cream until stiff. Fold in marshmallow creme and vanilla extract.

Now if you're really in a hurry for dessert and don't have time to bake, here's a quickie recipe for the last one.

Using Danish coffee cake that you buy from the frozen food section of your grocery, whip up a meringue covered creation that will have everyone guessing.

Merry Meringues
1 frozen Cherry Danish Coffee Cake, thawed
2 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup chopped pecans

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Cut cake in six to eight servings. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until foamy. Gradually add sugar, continuing to beat until stiff but not dry peaks form. Fold in nuts, reserving one tablespoon for decoration.

Spread meringue over top and sides of each piece of Danish Coffee Cake; sprinkle with reserved nuts. Place in oven for 5 to 10 minutes or until meringue is browned. Serve warm or cool. Six to eight servings.

Luncheon Dish Is Like Souffle

Shrimp and corn, together make a hurry-up Friday dish and a delightful, easy choice for luncheon or Sunday supper.

Drain and rinse 1 can (4 1/2 ounces) of shrimp and combine with 1 can (1 pound, 1 ounce) of cream style corn, 1 cup of milk, 3 eggs, rotary-beaten, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon of coarse-ground pepper. Pour mixture into a buttered 1 1/2-quart casserole and sprinkle with 1/2 cup of coarse buttered bread crumbs.

Preheat oven to 325 degrees; Bake about 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Crushed Potato Chips Given Zippy Flavor for New Uses

The mark of a good cook is the ability to make everyday main dishes have a magic taste and flavor. Here are a few tricks used by some of the nation's best chefs in which potato chip crumbs are the secret ingredient.

Flavored Potato Chip Crumbs
1 cup fine potato chips
2 tablespoons onion flakes
2 tablespoons rose paprika
2 tablespoons dried parsley
1/2 teaspoon Italian peppers
2 tablespoons grated Romano Cheese
1 teaspoon dehydrated lemon rind
Mix well and crush together in wax paper.
This simple mix of potato chip crumbs, cheese, condiments, herbs and spices is used as a coating for chicken, veal chops, fish, pork chops, and in meat loaf.

Here's how you use them on meat loaf, all time family favorite:

Magic Meat Loaf
1 1/2 lbs. chuck or round steak ground
1/4 cups flavored potato chip crumbs
Mix in 1/4 cup flavored potato chip crumbs with meat. Butter loaf pan well, press 1/4 cup flavored potato chip crumbs on bottom, place meat mixture on top, place in 350 degree oven for 45 to 60 minutes.
Turn upside down on platter, decorate with vegetables.

South Vietnamese Firing Squad Executes Three Accused as Sympathizers of Cong

DA NANG, Viet Nam (U) — High-ranking Vietnamese military officers said a government firing squad executed three Vietnamese accused of being Viet Cong sympathizers tonight. The officers said the three were shot by a firing squad at a soccer stadium.

The execution, originally scheduled for daylight, had been postponed at the last minute. A South Vietnamese military spokesman said the execution was originally postponed because news photographers refused to obey orders not to take pictures until after the last shot is fired. A Vietnamese officer, Lt. Col. Tran Huu Tu, said the headlights of three jeeps illuminated the stadium for the unusual night-time execution. A handful of people gathered outside the stadium, but they were not permitted to enter. No newsmen or photographers were believed to have seen the shooting. The three were among five arrested Monday during an anti-government demonstration by about 200 persons in downtown Da Nang. They were sentenced to death by a military tribunal on charges of inciting the demonstration. Authorities claimed the gathering was inspired by the Viet Cong.

Informed sources said the demonstrators protested heavy artillery fire and air strikes by U.S. forces. The demonstrators were reported to have complained that their crops were being destroyed. Informants also said that some of the demonstrators protested levying of rice taxes by the government, an early evening fishing curfew and the presence of U.S. troops in the Da Nang area. Hain has a population of approximately 4,500,000. Only 13 per cent of the land is arable.

India, Pakistan Expected to Press for Resumption of U.S. Aid

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON — With a cease-fire agreement finally achieved in their war over Kashmir, both India and Pakistan are expected to press the United States to restore suspending aid programs.

The loss of military aid by both countries, coupled with a freeze on projected new aid commitments, was evidently a major source of pressure on both nations to find a way to end the fighting.

U.S. officials felt the cease-fire came because both countries had come to recognize they faced a potentially long and devastating conflict which might lead to general war in Asia — depending on what Communist China did.

Chinese harassment of India with a war of nerves, which was intensified within the past week, was designed probably for the immediate purpose of assisting Pakistan by creating a diversion on India's China border. If the Chinese had encountered weakness in India's resistance or in the readiness of the Western powers — perhaps even the Soviet Union — to support India, they might have pressed on into an active border campaign against India. Among Western diplomats, therefore, the belief is that stern warnings from the United States and Britain and the Soviet Union's continued supply of military assistance to India helped keep the Chinese threat limited.

U.S. officials apparently felt the United States followed a successful strategy in its diplomatic search for a way to end the South Asian crisis short of a larger Asian conflict and at a minimum cost in relations with both Pakistan and India.

The heart of the U.S. strategy was to establish and stick with a completely neutral position as between India and Pakistan. Another major element was to concentrate all U.S. diplomatic activity — or at least all that was conducted publicly — in the United Nations Security Council.

Hurricane Betsy Was Brutal in Her Wild, Angry Rampage

(Editor's Note—A hurricane is born of sun and air and forces still beyond the knowledge of man. But what it does is clearly visible in the rubble of destroyed homes, flooded lands—and numbers dead. Sid Moody was there when Hurricane Betsy rampaged through Florida and Louisiana during a profile of Betsy in the following AP Special Report.)

By SID MOODY

NEW YORK (AP) — Day after day the fire of the tropical sun scorches the empty and windless sea. The air turns heavy, moist, oppressive.

Baked by the sun, the air rises. Cooler air from the trades funnel in, are heated and move air moves in. The process speeds, spun by the rotation of the earth, the air movement takes a counterclockwise direction, and as the air spirals upwards, pressure at the center of the funnel drops.

The velocity of the rushing winds rises. A passing ship notes the wind or low pressure or a weather satellite photographs the circular pattern of clouds. The word is out: Hurricane.

So it began on Friday, Aug. 27. A ship far at sea near the vast stillness of the doldrums between South America and Africa reported heavy rain squalls. A Tires weather satellite sent back a photograph of a rotary cloud pattern in the same area, the nurturing place of the hurricane.

"There's something out there," said the Miami, Fla., Weather Bureau. Hurricane hunter planes from Puerto Rico tracked the storm, centered about 2,000 miles east-southeast of Miami. By Aug. 31 they reported the storm system was falling apart.

MOIST AIR

But the storm regenerated the next day, stoked by the moist air by which hurricanes are fueled. Hurricane Betsy, second tropical storm of the season, had been born.

A hurricane is a fickle thing, led in its short, violent life by many forces, some not clearly known.

Betsy seemed ashore somewhere in the Carolinas. Florida and the islands seemed safe.

"The only consolation of a hurricane," said forecaster Raymond Kraft, "is that when it gets level with your latitude, the chances are pretty slim it will turn back." But Betsy did just that.

A high-pressure system that brought a cool, cloudless Labor Day weekend to the northeast of the United States, stymied Betsy's northward course. The storm wheeled and aimed south-west, right at Nassau, capital of the Bahamas.

COMMUNICATIONS DOWN

For 12 hours the storm was rooted just north of Nassau. Communications went down, the islands were shut off from the world for two days.

When contact was regained, Betsy had shown herself a destroyer but one that was merciful of life. No deaths were reported. Fourteen people had been saved by a British frigate from two life boats after a small steamer had sunk. The fun in the sun city of Nassau was frayed but not broken.

So was Betsy. A major hurricane now with 145-mile winds and gales radiating out 200 miles, the storm strode across the Gulf Stream and struck in the Florida Keys just after midnight, Tuesday. Miami shuddered under winds that reached 165 miles.

Against the dark skyline blizzards of hurrying curtains of rain flared blue and gray rainbows from shorting transformers.

"Look out!" a young boy cried in warning to a woman bent head down against the storm. She couldn't hear and walked into a wire. There was a flash and she fell, one of seven to die in Florida from Betsy.

BARGE LOOSE

A barge broke loose in the turmoil that was Biscayne Bay and smashed a causeway, breaking the only link to Key Biscayne, an island of residential villas where several hundred were stranded in hip deep water.

Down on the Keys, the center of the storm swept foaming tides completely over several of the low-lying sand-pits. Key West had up to five feet of water in the streets. Several boats sank in the harbor.

By late Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 8, Betsy had passed into the Gulf of Mexico leaving behind torn homes, broken windows, downed power and phone lines, ruined crops and washed out roads that reached a cost estimated at $119 million.

But the storm was not yet dead. Trapped in the Gulf like a maddened bull in an arena, it would have one final rendezvous with land. On Thursday along the Gulf Coast from Pensacola, Fla., into Texas, red and black hurricane warning flags stiffened in the first gusts. Long slow swells that mark a storm's approach broke against the low beach.

WIND PUFFS

In New Orleans, La., wind puffs of warning would blow, then died. The air was muggy. By dusk the wind was harder, steadier and rain had begun. The storm struck at midnight, as it had in Miami.

The sight — and sound — of a hurricane loom in the streets of a great city is overpowering. Rain rattled against windows. The gusts, which reached 115 miles, struck with a fierce "whump" that shattered storefronts, bent steel billboards over double, tore off table-sized sheets of roofing and skinned them into the streets like lethal boomerangs. The wind cried its fury in a deep moan. Walking was impossible. Rain struck the face like needles.

Sirens whined all over the city. Church bells pealed in the din of crashing glass and debris flung through the streets. Sometime after midnight a levee on the ship canal to Lake Pontchartrain gave way. Police tried to warn residents of low-lying areas. But many of their patrol cars became flooded. Flat tires from broken glass stopped others.

Residents of the suburbs to the south of the city could see the waters rising.

HIT DOCKS

Along the riverfront six ocean-going freighters were blown free, crashing into docks, tugs and each other in an aimless, murderous ballet. Several barges, one loaded with 600 tons of deadly chloroform, sank. Down in the bayous, several towns barely above sea level were obliterated.

But much of this would not be known for many hours after the storm moved northward Friday, Sept. 10. What phone service remained was jammed. Power to 80 percent of the city was out. There was no communication at all with towns to the south.

In Mississippi and Louisiana, National Guardsmen were called out and issued live ammunition with orders to use it if necessary to stop looters. Street crews began sweeping up rubble and glass that sheathed the streets.

A steady flow of cars brought outboards and rowboats to the flooded section to help evacuate 40,000 flooded residents. The living came out first. The dead were left to trees to be brought back later.

PRIVATE CARS

Buses, trucks, volunteer private cars brought thousands of evacuees into the city. Five thousand alone were in the New Orleans Municipal Auditorium. Men walked from one group to another seeking lost members of their families. People tried to sleep on cots, calmed crying babies, stood in line for soup, sat staring at the floor, told of their hours in the black night of the storm.

Higher Education—9

Aid for Students Available

(Editor's Note — This is the last in a nine-part series designed for those planning to attend college. The series is written by John C. Hoy, dean of admissions at Wesleyan University in Connecticut.)

By JOHN C. HOY

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

College is expensive. But one need not give up hope of a college education for lack of money.

Fortunately, where family resources do not measure up, scholarship assistance is available to the qualified student. But virtually all scholarships and other financial assistance are firmly anchored to the "need principle."

Parents of a child seeking a scholarship should file a confidential financial statement with the College Scholarship Service. The organization serves as clearinghouse for this sort of information for most American colleges and universities.

Thus, one application filed at the service's headquarters at Box 176, Princeton, N.J., will provide the personal financial information needed to back up a scholarship application for almost all institutions of higher learning in the country.

Applications are thoroughly processed by the service. Information received is computerized and "tested" on the basis of the service's long experience in appraising families in terms of the "need principle."

FINANCIAL NEED

The resulting evaluation of financial need is forwarded to every institution in which the prospective student is interested.

Each college admissions office has a financial aid specialist who will, if requested, review with parents the evaluation placed on their confidential financial statement.

The following table will provide a rule-of-thumb idea of how much parents are expected to contribute from their income towards a son's or daughter's education:

Normal Expected Yearly Support for College Expenses From Family Income of Different Levels

Family Income	1	2	3	4	5
$ 4,000	$ 380	$ 270	$ 210	$ 170	$ 150
6,000	760	570	450	390	330
8,000	1,220	950	760	650	590
10,000	1,770	1,420	1,090	1,000	850
12,000	2,300	1,900	1,480	1,350	1,170
14,000	2,830	2,380	1,820	1,650	1,470
16,000	3,370	2,820	2,130	1,900	1,620

This means that a family with an income of $4,000 a year and one dependent child is only expected to pay $380 toward a year's cost of that child's education. But the family whose income stands at $16,000 or higher is expected to contribute $3,370 a year.

Actually the computations of the College Scholarship Service are somewhat more complicated. Other family assets besides income are weighed.

And consideration is given to such extenuating circumstances as other educational expenses, insurance and retirement needs, debts, unusual or continuing illness and limitations upon the earning power of the parents.

To repeat a college education is expensive — scholarship help notwithstanding.

How much is the college tab? The following typical budgets for two different kinds of schools may help parents estimate costs more closely. Such information is always available in a college catalog.

Estimated Annual Expenses at an Eastern College
Tuition	$1,700
Other Fees	120
Room	400
Board	600
Books and Supplies	100
Miscellaneous	320

Student Government Fee	10
Room	250-400
Meals	400-550

Attention Focused on Ohio Election

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Charles J. Brown Jr., political newcomer with a noted Republican name, squared off today against a young prosecuting attorney in a nationally watched fall election for the congressional seat Brown's father held 27 years.

Brown swamped six opponents for the GOP nomination in a special primary Tuesday while Prosecutor James A. Berry of Clark County, most populous of the 7th District's eight counties, easily defeated a lone Democratic opponent.

Democrats promised a strong campaign with party help from Washington in the western Ohio district which has elected only two Democratic congressmen since the turn of the century.

Amish Considering New Proposal on Education

CAMDEN (UPI) — Eight Amish families have asked for a week's time to consider a four-point State Board of Education plan for the education of Amish children.

The Amish have resisted state attempts to allow a certified public school teacher to instruct their children.

They have held fast to the belief that their children should be taught by a member of their own religious community contrary to state law.

However, the board, in an attempt to reach a compromise with the Amish, offered a new plan yesterday for the instruction of the children.

The proposed plan would permit the Amish to provide religious instruction by their own teacher after the regular school day if they concede to allowing a certified teacher to teach the secular subjects.

SAME EXPENSE

The teacher would be provided by the Camden-Frontier

School District at no additional expense to the Amish families and classes could be held in the building now being used by the Amish.

The Amish have battled the school board over the right to have their own teachers for more than two years. The Amish children have been taught by an 18-year-old Amish girl with only an eighth grade education.

Acting Superintendent of Public Instruction Alexander J.

Kloster said the proposals were presented to the Amish at a meeting Tuesday.

He said the Amish asked for a week's time to consider the proposals.

MOVED AWAY

Some Amish families have left the religious community near Hillsdale rather than permit their children to be taught by someone outside their community.

The children currently are in school being taught by their 18-year-old instructor.

Kloster said the children have to be enrolled in the Camden-Frontier School System by Oct. 1 to be eligible for state school aid.

Before 1837, when the first patent for a baking powder was granted in England, baking soda and sour milk, plentiful because of lack of refrigerator, were a familiar combination for home baking.

Northern Michigan
Owns 2-0 Record

By the Associated Press

Northern Michigan, with two victories under its belt, is one of seven undefeated teams as Michigan colleges prepare for the second big week of the season.

The state's three major colleges, Michigan, Michigan State and Western Michigan, all were victorious in their season-openers, as were Michigan Tech, Olivet, and Hillsdale.

O.L.V. WINNER

Olivet was the only MIAA team of the five who saw action last weekend to win.

Eastern Michigan, Kalamazoo and Wayne State each begins its season Saturday.

Bob Benjamin of Northwood has scored four touchdowns in two games to take the lead in the individual scoring race with 24 points. Pete Boroday of Albion has 14 points and five other players each have 12.

The overall combined state record stands at 9-8.

Braves Bid Adieu to Milwaukee Baseball Fans

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The schedule says it will be an important game in the tight National League race, but it will be more like a requiem for a baseball team.

Only about 20,000 persons, at the most, are expected to half-filled county stadium tonight to watch the Braves play their last game as Milwaukee representatives. It will be the last out-of-court chapter in a story as strange as any in the history of baseball.

The Braves will play next year in Atlanta, unless Milwaukee County or the state of Wisconsin are successful in their legal fights to keep them here.

Pheasant Hunting Outlook Dims for Thumb

25 Per Cent Decline Noted in Brood Count

Experts Study Causes
After Good Hatching
Report for Spring

Pheasant kill in Michigan this fall may dip below last year's total bag of slightly more than 857,000 birds.

At least that's the way things look now to Conservation Department game men after rural mail carriers took a recent reading on pheasant production throughout the birds' major homeland in Lower Michigan.

Brood counts during the annual summer survey were down seven per cent from a year ago, with fewer sightings in The Thumb area accounting for the overall drop.

In that part of the state, covering Bay, Huron, St. Clair, Sanilac, Saginaw and Tuscola counties, this year's pheasant crop appears to be 25 per cent below 1964.

Elsewhere in southern Michigan, survey results indicate the birds have about held their own since a year ago. Substantial increases were noted in the western area of Allegan and Ottawa counties.

Fall prospects are looking up in the northern fringe area of the pheasant range where rural mailmen recorded a 30 per cent jump in the number of broods seen. Highest brood counts were made in Gladwin and Mecosta counties.

GOOD HATCH

Department game men are puzzled about the over-all decline in pheasant observations because southern Michigan's spring breeding population of these birds was up 25 per cent from last year.

The birds' failure to show a production gain from their high-er breeding numbers points to below-average nesting success early this spring.

Just why this should be is the big mystery, since conditions this summer seemed conducive for a good hatch of young birds.

NATURAL AREAS

McGregor feels fast action must be taken to save some of the natural wildlife areas still remaining—and so approves the Sleeping Bear Dunes proposal, with proper protections.

McGregor is strong for state control of hunting and fishing regulations.

His main concern is the growing trend of pollution with the growing population.

Born in Linden, Genesee County, he fondly recalls the time fishing there on 27 lakes within five miles of his home for panfish, pike and bass.

DAVIDSON LAKE IN LAPEER COUNTY IS OPEN.

Hundreds of lakes and streams in Michigan will be open through November. A list is available from the Conservation Department.

The main stream of the Au Sable River will be open through Oct. 12 from Burton's Landing to Wakely Bridge.

The regular trout season closed Sept. 11.

Quick Deer Season for This Nimrod

FOREST GLEN, Calif. (UPI)—Deer hunter B. H. Givins, 72, lined up his rifle for the first shot of the two-buck limit season.

When he fired, his 1965 hunting was over.

Givins shot went through the head of one buck and then killed another standing next to it.

Too Hot in Marshes

Teal Nimrods Playing It Cool

Ducks and hunters have been playing it cool since Michigan's special teal season opened last week.

Except for Thursday's opening day when weather conditions were ideal, Mother Nature has seen fit to turn on the heat.

This has kept hunters cooling their heels near air conditioners and the ducks preening themselves on open water.

Last weekend's expected rush of hunters failed to materialize. Those who went to the St. Clair Flats and Saginaw Bay for early morning shooting had fair success.

But flights declined as the temperature went up.

The average per hunter from opening day through Sunday was slightly over one teal at the Bay, Flats and Point Mouille. About one-third of the bag was green-wing teal, indicating that a few flights were down from the north.

The locally raised blue wings made up the remainder of the kill.

CLOSES FRIDAY

The final results will not be known, of course, until after the season closes Friday. But Conservation Department personnel are pleased with the over-all hunt.

"We expected to hear more grumbling from hunters," said Howard Greene, district game supervisor of the Pontiac Lake office who was at the Flats. "Most of the hunters we checked were quite happy at the chance to get out early. It didn't seem to matter whether they had no teal or a limit."

"Usually, we hear complaints from some hunters about the lack of ducks, the weather or anything else. But not this time."

Spy blinds were operated by the department to see if hunters were shooting at protected ducks. Some people—even a few experts—had predicted a wholesale slaughter of ducks other than teal because "hunters can't tell one specie from another."

"We had only one incident that I know of at the Flats," said Greene. "I'm sure a few mallards, baldpates and woodies were killed, but we only saw one hunter shoot at a mallard."

Edward J. Mikula, the department's wetlands specialist, who checked results at the Bay and Flats reported hunters to be "very conscientious about shooting at the right (teal) ducks."

The actual opening day hunting pressures was light. The Bay had about 500 hunters and the St. Clair area close to the same number. Only 7,000 hunters applied for the 15,000 available permits to hunt in the 10 designated areas.

Teal were notable for their absence on the west side of the state and hunting pressure was extremely light.

SMOTC Adds Class at Avondale

A dog training class at Avondale High School has been added to those already announced by the Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club.

The program will get under way with a demonstration Sept. 30 at 8 p.m. Jim Reynolds (693-6757) will have charge of the class.

Demonstrations are planned tonight at the CAI building in Waterford, tomorrow at Whitfield school in Pontiac and Sept. 27 at Bloomfield Hills High School. All demonstrations start at 8 p.m.

Waited Lake opened last night at the junior high, but registrations will continue to be accepted until regular training starts next Tuesday.

SMOTC also has tentative plans for a series of classes in Romeo. Additional information can be obtained from Mrs. Carol Wainwright (753-3431).

Federation Prexy Hits Pollution

Indians Show Up Civilized Man

LANSING (AP) — Court of Appeals Judge Louis D. McGregor sometimes wonders if the Indian should be called a savage and your average civilized man civilized.

McGregor, of Flint, currently is serving his second term as president of the National Wildlife Federation — the world's largest civilian conservation group with more than two million members.

"We were shooting wild geese in a remote part of the Canadian Hudson Bay Country," he recalled. "The last thing our Indian guide did before we left was to take all our tin cans and other debris and bury it carefully in the ground—despite the remoteness of the spot."

"I might want to come back here some time," the Indian explained.

McGregor contrasted this with a recent, typical experience in Michigan.

EARLY CHECK

He had been trout fishing on one of Michigan's better streams, emptying into northern Lake Huron. Getting up in the early morning to check the stream, his day was spoiled by the sight of five boys making a game out of tossing in and breaking beer bottles left by some other careless fisherman. McGregor spends five days a week on the appeals court bench. His weekend, off-duty and vacation time he spends crusading for conservation and against water and air pollution and any other despoiling of our natural resources.

McGregor, a trim, rugged-looking outdoor type at 65, also served two terms as president of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and holds memberships in the Wilderness Society, National Audubon Society, National Rifle Association and Isaac Walton League of America, among others. He is a member of Gov. George Romney's committee on water rights, pollution and control.

In the field of conservation, he believes Michigan is doing a top job among the states.

"But a good job is not being done anywhere on pollution control," he says flatly. "For instance, Lake Erie is all but a dead lake because city sewage is not being properly processed."

NATURAL AREAS

McGregor feels fast action must be taken to save some of the natural wildlife areas still remaining—and so approves the Sleeping Bear Dunes proposal, with proper protections.

McGregor is strong for state control of hunting and fishing regulations.

His main concern is the growing trend of pollution with the growing population.

Born in Linden, Genesee County, he fondly recalls the time fishing there on 27 lakes within five miles of his home for panfish, pike and bass.

Goldwater Backer From California Making Good in Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Robert Ansett may be remembered in California as the young American who took his family to Australia—essentially because Barry Goldwater lost the presidential election.

In Australia, Robert Ansett is known as a transport magnate's son who returned home to make good.

Ansett, 31, his wife, Karen, and their three children arrived last April and settled into a house in a Melbourne suburb. He has become general manager of one of Australia's four big rent-a-car firms and is showing business acumen as he struggles to improve his company's position in a tough market.

Ansett's father, Reginald Myles Ansett, heads the huge Ansett Transport Industries, including an airline.

U.S. CITIZEN

The younger Ansett hasn't found it necessary to call on his father's resources. The son—by a previous marriage—lived in Melbourne until he was 10. He is an American citizen.

"I knew nothing about the car rental business when I decided to leave San Diego and migrate back to Australia," he said. "I had not even thought of making a living from renting cars."

He has helped lift the firm from a small one-city outfit into a nationwide operation.

"We had about 10 cars in Melbourne and that was it," he said. "Now we are approaching 400 vehicles all told. The target is much, much higher."

GETTING LATE

Last year, the father warned Robert he was getting to an age when it might soon be too late for him to migrate successfully.

"I made a now-or-never decision," Ansett said. "But when some of our San Diego friends suggested that we were leaving because Barry Goldwater lost, we kidded along with them."

"Mind you, I'm still a Republican at heart and a Goldwater Republican. But I've also started thinking like an Australian which complicates it a little."

Ansett has received letters supporting his migration, from "equally upset Republicans."

His secretary has scintillated his first impressions of Australia for people who feel they would like to follow him Down Under. He replies to them later.

Drug Affects Just Neurotic Dogs

By Science Service
ATLANTIC CITY — The first mental drug to be found that relieves depression in neurotic animals but has no effect on healthy ones was reported here to the American Chemical Society meeting.

Standard tranquilizers and antidepressants such as reserpine, chlorpromazine and imipramine affected healthy dogs used as controls in the same way that they affected the neurotic animals, Dr. Allan P. Gray of Neisler Laboratories, Decatur, Ill., explained.

But not so the new drug, which has the shorthand name Cyproloid. Chemically the drug is trans-2-(4-pyridyl)-α-diphenyl-cyclopropanemethanol.

The researchers at Neisler picked out their experimental neurotic dogs from a stock of 1,000 animals. Very vicious or overly withdrawn animals were considered abnormal and treated with Cyproloid.

The drug appeared to be more beneficial to the withdrawn animals, and therefore was classified as an antidepressant, Dr. Gray said.

CLINICAL STUDIES

Clinical studies will determine how effective the new drug is for neurotic humans.

The fact that Cyproloid affects depressed but not healthy animals apparently depends on the three-dimensional geometry of its molecules, Dr. Gray decided.

He is director of chemical research at Neisler, which is a subsidiary of the Union Carbide Corp.

"I tell them the truth," said Ansett. "I point out that I am delighted with this country but then, it is my birthplace. I don't feel lost here, no matter how hard you have to battle at first."

"I tell them I have come with contacts to ease me into Australian social and business life. I warn them that they may not find it so easy if they come here without such advantages."

Ansett rates the cost of living in Australia on a par with that in San Diego. Home financing is much tougher — you cannot buy a house without at least a fourth of its value as a deposit.

"It's harder to get into debt. People just aren't prepared to lend you money without good security," he said.

LIVE WELL

"Everyone seems to live pretty well here, nevertheless. They have their own houses and modern autos."

His mother, Grace Almerman, lives in the San Diego suburb of Claremont.

About 1.25 billion books are expected to be sold by U. S. book publishers this year — nearly 40 per cent over the 1963 figure.

Mayerson Hit Again on Status

LANSING (UPI) — State Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D-Detroit, yesterday called for the resignation of State Insurance Commissioner Allen L. Mayerson if he remains employed by an insurance firm in the East.

On two occasions, newspaper accounts have hinted Mayerson was planning to resign from his position to work for an insurance firm.

Mayerson has said he is a consultant to an eastern firm but there was no conflict of interest because the firm does not do business in Michigan.

Mayerson could not be reached to reply to O'Brien's request.

O'Brien said his objections also were centered around insurance decisions Mayerson will have to make in the near future, particularly on a request for a 5.75 per cent rate increase by Blue Cross.

AVOID ACTION

"If it is true that you are still employed by the insurance industry, then I respectfully request that you do not take any action on Blue Cross-Blue Shield rates," O'Brien said.

"Further, if your choice is to remain employed by the insurance industry, then I strongly recommend your immediate resignation," he added.

O'Brien said if Mayerson severed his ties with the insurance industry, he would like to recommend a thorough study of Blue Cross-Blue Shield rates "to include complete review of practices and procedures on the part of the doctors participating in Blue Cross-Blue Shield programs."

He said Mayerson needed to assure the public there "is no conflict of interest on any decision on his part as commissioner of a public agency."

Expect Senate to OK Immigration Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders expected passage today of a bill to scrap immigration quotas based on national origins and to put a ceiling on immigration from the Western Hemisphere.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., floor manager of the bill, said the only amendment he expects to be brought up is one designed to bar the deportation of Dominican Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin.

Wessin has protested that U.S. Army personnel forced him to leave the Dominican Republic after rebel forces refused to surrender their weapons to a new provisional government unless he were removed.

He was taken to Miami, Fla., ostensibly to become the Dominican consul there, but he rejected the post after his arrival. The U.S. Immigration Service is now studying his status. The amendment, proposed by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., is phrased in general terms. It would provide that "no person involuntarily brought physically into the United States by the United States government or its agents shall subsequently be deported from the United States under any circumstances."

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, after a discussion of Thurmond's proposal by the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said there is fear that Wessin might be assassinated if he is sent back to the Dominican Republic.

But he said the amendment might cause difficulty in the future. For example, he said, it might prevent deportation of someone who committed a felony.

The average car is driven almost 11 years and over 100,000 miles before it is scrapped, compared with seven years and less than 50,000 miles in the 1930s, according to Equity Research.

Ike at Ceremony

Eisenhower College Blooms

SENECA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower turned the first spadeful of earth in starting construction of a college named for him, then heard comedian Bob Hope quip:

"Where else but in America could a man in command of our armies, leader of our country and a leader in the field of education wind up in Seneca Falls shoveling dirt?"

Hope's remarks, and Eisenhower's smiling reaction, came at groundbreaking ceremonies Tuesday for Eisenhower College, a liberal arts school scheduled to open in 1967. A crowd of about 12,000 attended.

The institution will have up to about 1,500 students and will be on a 265-acre tract on the shore of Cayuga Lake.

LIBERAL ARTS
Eisenhower said the liberal arts college "is the key to the understanding and exercise of real citizenship."

Referring to the name of the new college, he said, "This honor that is accorded me will be with me every day of my life."

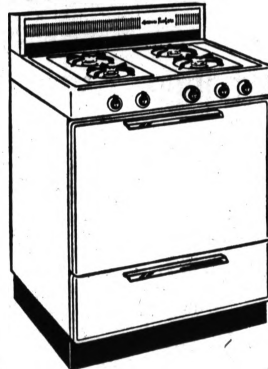

Eisenhower, 74, predicted a bright future for small liberal arts colleges and said such institutions should seek their "natural habitat in the rural areas."

"Let the big universities go to the cities," he said.

LBJ TELEGRAM

President Johnson sent a telegram of congratulations in which he praised officials who named the college in honor of "a man who has spent his lifetime in educational endeavor." Eisenhower had served for four years as president of Columbia University before he became chief executive.

School Board to Eye Skiing

Sport Recommended by Waterford Official

The Waterford Township Board of Education will consider several items tomorrow night including a recommendation to establish interschool skiing.

Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe's recommendation for initiation of a high school skiing program stems from a nationwide resurgence for individual sports which have a longer participation span than team sports.

The board also will discuss possibilities for using the vacant lunchroom at Pontiac Municipal Airport as a training ground for food service students.

Another of Dr. Tatroe's recommendations to be considered by the board calls for a transportation study of the system's transportation facilities by the bus drivers themselves.

In other business, the board will consider further negotiations with the board of two elementary school sites near Eagle Lake and Pleasant Lake.

NO AGREEMENT

Thus far, school officials and owners of the privately owned land have failed to reach agreement on a price.

The board also will discuss possibilities for agreement with Camp Oakland officials for use of camping facilities for use of camping facilities for use of the school year.

Also, Dr. Burton Thorn will submit a report on the dropout student development program, and the board will set a date for Mason Junior High School dedication ceremonies.

CD Course to Be Offered

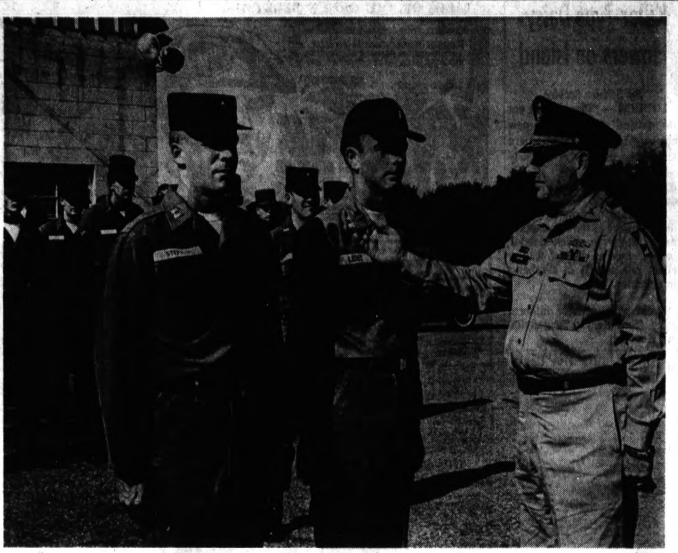

Medical emergency training will be offered beginning Sept. 30 by the Pontiac office of Civil Defense in cooperation with the County Civil Defense Division.

John F. Reinick, director of civil defense, said the 12-week training prepares an individual to act intelligently in any emergency—tornado, flood, explosion, accident or family illness.

The training class will be held from 8-10 p.m. in the County Civil Defense office at 11 Lafayette. The course, taught by doctors and nurses, is free.

She got a nickname as do all freshmen. Her's is "Howard Johnson." The juniors tried to make the freshmen laugh by making funny faces. Luci did not mind the "punishment" was 25 pushups.

The loganberry originated in the garden of Judge J. H. Logan at Santa Cruz, Calif., in 1881. The judge was trying to cross a wild blackberry with a cultivated variety, when some inadvertently played a trick on him. It polished the blackberry plant with red raspberry pollen.

Finding Owner Put Them Out of Their Skull

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — A "show and tell" session at a Champaign grade school was enlivened when Terry Clark Jr., 9, showed up with a human skull and little to tell about it.

He said friend, Mike White, had given it to him.

Police, questioning Mike White Tuesday, were told that another friend, Mike Severns, had given it to him.

This Mike's mother, Mrs. B. G. Severns, told police that Mike's grandfather had given the boy the skull, explaining it had been the property of an aunt, now dead.

IT'S A MYSTERY

Just what the aunt was doing with the skull, Mrs. Severns said, is a mystery. A hospital pathologist examined the skull and said it was very old. It was returned to the Severns family.

Solon Asking Support for War on Crime

LANSING (AP)—Senate majority leader Raymond D-DETROIT, said Tuesday he will seek support for a legislative war on crime during the 1966 session.

Dzundzel said he has been consulting with county prosecuting attorneys and other state law enforcement officials seeking suggestions for legislation in the area of law enforcement.

Dzundzel cited the 1964 State Police crime report, which showed that crime is increasing at a rate two or three times greater than the rate of population growth and that three-fourths of those arrested for major offenses were under 21.

There is unanimous agreement that crime is increasing and theory has passed, and that now there must be some action," he said. "The Legislature is in a position to initiate that action with positive legislation."

AMONG ITEMS

Items discussed with law enforcement officials, he said, included:

Substantially improving police salaries and other benefits.

Increasing the dollar amount of parental liability for damage caused by teen-agers.

Lynx Leaps; Loses Life; Lights Fire

MOUNTAIN CITY, N.C. (AP)—It took a bit of sleuthing, but the power company officials finally figured out how a lynx put out the lights, turned off the heat, caused a fire and got electrocuted in the process.

It seems the wildcat jumped a chain-link fence at the power company substation, leaped to a transformer and touched two wires at the same time, causing a massive short circuit.

That was the end of the lynx and the start of the fire which nearly destroyed the transformer and blew out two 46,000-volt fuses.

Blase Columnist Visions Spin of Fortune's Wheel

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I've been a full-time reporter for 40 years, and you'd have thought that in that time I'd have learned something.

But no, I'm still a believer in Cinderella and other miracles. The twists of life that make stars of ordinary people never fail to enchant me.

Bob Goldstein, discoverer of Tony Curtis, Buddy Hackett and others, told me an inside story about he and Hal Wallis happening to see "Palmyra Game" the night that Shirley MacLaine stepped in to substitute for Carol Haney . . . and thus got herself a movie career.

"After Hal signed her to a contract, Shirley told us her own story."

"Shirley was in the chorus, and was Carol Haney's understudy. Janis Paige and Carol Haney were getting all the attention."

"As Shirley was taking the subway to the theater that night, she was discouraged and despondent. She decided to quit the show. She wrote out her notice to the management that she was leaving. She was even a little late in getting to the theater. Her friend noticed that she was leaving the show, which she of course never turned in, was still in her purse when she signed her movie contract."

"The twist is that we had gone to the theater not to see Shirley MacLaine whose name wasn't even known . . . but probably, as we remember now, to see Carol Haney, who is dead."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Barbra Streisand was ready to offer Producer Ray Stark $8,000 to close "Penny Girl" for one night, Oct. 9, so she could attend the opening of husband Elliott Gould's musical, "Dra! The Cat!" But the premiere had to be delayed one day, to a Sunday, when "Penny Girl" is closed—so Barbra can have a show, and pocket the $8,000. . . . Hollywood Buzz: Eddie Fisher and ex-Queen Soraya are due to meet later this month.

Jackie Gleason's next album, his 15th, will have a vocalist for the first time: Dick Remus . . . The Paul Giamatti spotted a restaurant in Puerto Rico offering bagelito complo — bagel with lox and cream cheese . . . Actor Michael Tolan's up for a film, "Like Love," to be shot in Chicago . . . Duo: Jim (Gomer Pyle) Nabers and Molly Bee at Tractor's, L.A. . . . Ray Milland's contract for a Broadway show, "Hostile Witness," includes membership in a local golf club.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Soupy Sales suggests a title for Ringo Starr's infant son: "The Hair Apparent."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "You grow up the day you have your first real laugh—at yourself." —Ethel Barrymore.

EARL'S PEARLS: Stella Stevens (now in "The Secret of My Success") discussed her home town, Hot Coffee, Ark.: "There are more people just sitting around on park benches in New York than we had in the whole town." . . . The voices of several stars (who will not appear) will be heard in "The Oscar," and producer Joe Levine says, "They will be billed in the order of their non-appearance." That's our brother.

Pope's Jaunt to U.S. Still One-Day Affair

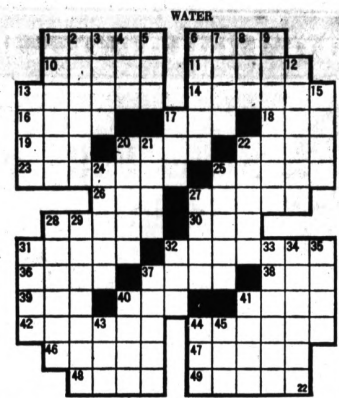

VATICAN CITY (AP) — An official in the Vatican Secretariat of State said today the trip of Pope Paul VI to New York has been definitely fixed as a one day visit with no plans to extend it.

The official was commenting on new reports that the Roman Catholic pontiff had extended his New York stay to two days.

Bus, Train Collide in Fog in England

ANMERING, England (UPI)—An electric train and a double-decker bus collided in fog here today. Police said three persons were killed and six injured, two of them seriously.

The bus was tossed 100 yards by the impact. It landed on its side and burst into flames.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Court Action Seen on Will Return Trip Saves a Life

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Officials at National Jewish Hospital say that a diabetic patient's visit to friends at the hospital saved his life.

Ralph Velez, 56, San Francisco, left the hospital Monday after 14 months of treatment. He was given an insulin prescription that officials said included faulty instructions that would have proved fatal.

Velez left no forwarding address, and efforts to find him, including a police search, failed. But he returned to visit friends Tuesday and received a new set of instructions.

"I have no immediate comment," the governor said Tuesday when informed that Girard College trustees had turned down two proposals to break the will, "but we'll have plenty of comment tomorrow." One of the plans had been put forth by the governor.

The trustees said they would fight court action to change the present policy.

They said in a letter to state and city officials that they are bound by Girard's will which limits admission to poor, white orphan boys. Girard left the money to found the school, which provides education only through 12th grade.

WRITES LETTERS

John A. Diamond, president of the Board of Trustees, wrote in a letter to the governor:

"The board cannot admit that under the claim of civil rights, discrimination on segregation, anyone, white or nonwhite, is entitled to share in a private benefaction given for the benefit of others."

In another development after the trustees' letter was made public, Cecil Moore, president of the Philadelphia chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, termed the decision "a slap in the face to all Americans."

Since May, civil rights groups have been picketing the school and Moore promised to extend picketing within the next few days to business firms with which individual Girard trustees are affiliated.

Citing a 1958 Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision upholding the right of trustees to bar Negroes, Diamond said the trustees could not try to break Girard's will.

The governor's proposal would have had the trustees initiate court action themselves. The other proposal, from the city, would have Girard provide institutional care for 50 boys who are wards of the city. The boys would be chosen without regard to race and the city would pay for their care.

Counterfeiter Proves Failure as an Artist

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Not only was engraver William Myles, 35, a failure as a counterfeiter, the Secret Service said yesterday, he was also a high-priced artist.

Agent Tom H. Hanson said the $50,000 Myles wanted for $5, $10 and $20 plates was ridiculous because "Michingello would have made them for less."

Romney Seeks Pollution Fund

Will Use Money for Water Task Force

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney, in a special message to the legislature, Tuesday asked for $245,000 for an immediate two-step program to aid the state's fight against water pollution.

Romney again asked for a $125,000 appropriation, once rejected, for his task force on water rights, use and pollution control.

"Such a study is of priority nature," Romney said, "but it has suffered from a lack of adequate financial support. And the longer this effort is deferred, the more complex and difficult this ultimate accomplishment will be."

The state appropriation, Romney said, would be matched by federal funds.

MORE FUNDS

Romney further asked for an additional appropriation of $120,000 to the State Water Resources Commission for the balance of the current fiscal year.

The governor said the money is needed to follow through on recommendations by two federal water pollution control enforcement conferences making specific and detailed assignments to the commission for corrective action in the Detroit River, Lake Erie and Lake Erie interstate waters.

The funds, Romney said, will provide for:

—Laboratory services and enforcement personnel to support effective administration of pollution control in the Detroit River-Lake Erie area.

—Enlargement of staff capabilities to cope with pollution problems throughout Michigan outside the Detroit Metropolitan area.

ALL THAT'S LEFT—A crumbling foundation of a power plant that cost $60,000 in 1915 is about the only reminder of what was to have been a model Michigan prison for women at Okemos. Nearly $135,000 was spent on the project, which was never finished. Persons objected at the time of the proximity to Michigan State University.

Flooding Hits in Four States

Rivers Can't Hold Massive Rain Runoff

By the Associated Press
Rivers rolled over their banks in Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma today, driving thousands of persons from their homes and damaging crops and property.

Snow and cold stung the West and a new storm headed into the area which was snowed under last week.

Floodwaters poured through Smithville in northwestern Missouri and, for the second time in two months, the 200 residents fled their homes. In Missouri and Kansas, the Grand River rose out of its banks along its entire length in northwestern Missouri.

FAMILIES LEAVE
Families were evacuated in Mosby and Tracy, Mo.

The Republican River was slightly above flood stage in Clay Center, Kan., and the Grand River rose more than 15 feet in Chillicothe, Mo.

Flooding also struck southwestern Iowa and southeastern Nebraska.

Twenty families were evacuated when the Stranger Creek overflowed in Leavenworth County, Kan. The Blue River was out of its banks in the Kansas City area and in East Independence, Mo.

SWOLLEN WATERS
The swollen waters from the Little Grand River and other tributaries caused the Missouri River to overflow in St. Joseph, Mo., and Leavenworth, Kan.

Torrential rainstorms yesterday swelled the damage.

High winds and tornadoes accompanied rainstorms in Iowa City and Sigourney, Iowa, damaging homes and farm buildings. A 3/4-inch downpour sent water rushing into 50 homes in Wyoming, Iowa.

Police and National Guardsmen helped remove 35 persons stranded in their homes in the Ottumwa, Iowa, area.

The downpours caused harvesting problems in the northern Iowa beet fields. In Oklahoma, National Guard troops were dispatched to Guthrie and Kingfisher north of Oklahoma City yesterday to evacuate 1,200 persons.

SUSPECT NABBED—Walter E. Bigelow, 31, a suspect in the robbery of an Oakland, Calif., jewelry store yesterday, is escorted by police. Bigelow, a recent parolee from San Quentin Prison, was wrestled to the ground by a motorcycle officer after he made the officer climb off the motorcycle at gunpoint.

Robbery Scorecard: 1 Run, Many Errors

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The robbery went off without a hitch—well, almost.

Two gun-waving bandits stepped coolly into a downtown jewelry store yesterday afternoon and held the co-owner, Harry Kagan, at gunpoint while they scooped up cash and gems valued at more than $5,000.

They then ran outside to their waiting getaway car, an old convertible. It wouldn't start.

As the bandits desperately tried to start the motor, things began to happen. Kagan called police.

In a camera store two doors away, Donald L. Adams, a shipping clerk and amateur photographer, saw the men with guns get into the car and rushed out, camera in hand.

"The back window of the convertible was so, so I stuck the camera inside and snapped some pictures," he said.

SPOT CAMERA
One of the bandits turned and aimed his gun at Adams.

"It went click," Adams said, "but I got out of the way."

The bandits did, too. They leaped from their car and headed toward a sports car being parked nearby. The driver saw them coming and fled with the keys.

The bandits then commandeered another car. The driver, Ruth Schrumpt, tried to get out with her poodle, Lucky. Her husband, Al Schrumpt, appeared on the scene and rescued both wife and dog.

VEHICLE STALLS
The bandits roared off in the Schrumpt car — for about 100 feet. Then it stalled.

They leaped out and separated. One of them tried to commandeer another auto, but the driver — another woman — roared off, leaving him standing at the curb, gun in hand.

He was still standing there when policeman Robert Frederickson came up on his motorcycle. The officer got off all right, but grabbed the gunman and wrestled him to the ground.

RECENT PAROLEE
He was identified later as Walter E. Bigelow, 31, who was released from San Quentin Prison in 1962. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Fiscal Reform Action Delayed

Decide to Venture Toward Own Ideas

LANSING (AP) — House Democrats voted yesterday to kill a bipartisan fiscal reform plan, proposed for action this fall — but agreed to take steps of their own toward taxation changes.

Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, said a 3 1/2-hour Democratic caucus decided not to discuss the plan this fall.

"We voted, however, to put the graduated income tax resolution on the agenda, and instructed the House Taxation Committee to develop a program as soon as possible that is fair and equitable to the people of Michigan," he added.

The Senate already has approved the fiscal reform plan worked out by Gov. George Romney and a bipartisan group of legislators — as an agenda item to be discussed.

THE HOUSE POLICY COMMITTEE was to meet to discuss the agenda resolution this morning, and with majority Democrats in control, was expected to follow the caucus recommendation.

ANOTHER CAUCUS
Democrats were planning another caucus today — reportedly to determine what to do if House Republicans try to revive the issue on the floor.

Romey, at Mackinac Island for the Midwest Governors Conference, blasted the Democrats for a "reactionary" stand, and warned them to be ready to accept the responsibility for "whatever financial crisis develops in the next few years."

The bipartisan plan — aimed at raising $150 million annually in new revenue — is based on a 3 per cent personal income tax and a 4 per cent levy on corporations and financial institutions.

It would levy a 3-cent-per-pack tax on cigarettes, grant a $15-per-person credit on the sales and use tax and a 12 1/2 per cent credit against property taxes.

MODIFY TAXES
It also would modify some of the intangibles taxes and repeal the business activities tax.

Kowalski proposed a plan of his own — similar to one proposed by state AFL-CIO President August Scholle — to raise $65 million to $80 million a year in new state income.

It would replace the business activities tax with a profits tax of 5 to 5 1/2 per cent, lower the beer tax by about $11 million and call for a referendum on eliminating the constitutional prohibition against the graduated state income tax.

A mild was the low temperature at 8 a.m. today. At 1 p.m., the mercury registered 70.

Courthouse Wing Over Another Hurdle

Oakland County's proposed $2.25-million courthouse wing cleared another hurdle yesterday but plans for a county morgue were shelved indefinitely.

The building and grounds committee of the County Board of Supervisors recommended construction of the east wing to meet projected space needs of county government by 1975.

It then referred the matter to the supervisors' ways and means committee which faces the task of finding funds for the project.

When the wing was first proposed in May, cost estimates were $1.8 million. Including nearly $1 million

PAKISTAN AGREES — Pakistani Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto (right) announced to the United Nations Security Council early this morning that his country would accept the council's cease-fire order.

High-Level Confab Held

Offer No Solution to Pollution

No solution has been offered for water pollution problems in the Pontiac area as a result of a high-level conference in Lansing this week with the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling said yesterday the problems were discussed, but that no remedy was offered.

Neippling felt, however, that the state commission might soon issue an order toward solving local pollution problems.

Among those attending the meeting were Neippling, Arthur L. Thornton, of the County Drain Commissioner's office; Robert T. Coleman of the Oakland County Health Department; and Waterford Township Supervisor James Seetler.

Loring F. Oeming was the ranking representative of the Water Resources Commission at the meeting.

Bank Suspect 'Flies Away'

Escapade Was in Jail on Tip by Satellite

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Georges LeMay, who lived a life of luxury as a fugitive for four years before the Early Bird satellite put him in a cell, is again at large.

The dapper Canadian, accused of leading the gang which looted a Montreal bank in 1961, smashed an unbarred window on the seventh floor of the 10-story Dade County jail and slid 90 feet down a cleaning hose to the ground last night.

Waiting for him were three men in a new sedan. Minutes after jailers missed him, the car was spotted speeding away to the north. It was only the second escape from the 4-year-old jail on the edge of downtown Miami.

How did LeMay get from his cell on the fifth floor to the seventh?

"That," said a police lieutenant, "is the $64 question."

CASH PLENTIFUL
Authorities were looking into the possibility that LeMay, never short for money, had a little help on the inside.

Police and the FBI hunted the hangouts of LeMay and his friends in Miami Beach, but if their dragnet turned up any leads, they weren't talking about them.

LeMay is a skilled sailor and there are hundreds of secluded coves along the Florida Coast from which he could put to sea.

LeMay was arrested last May 6 aboard his fancy yacht in Fort Lauderdale. Before police laid him away, he paid his marina bill, peeling off notes from a fast-sized roll of $100 bills. Since then, he has languished in jail while fighting deportation (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

India, Pakistan to Obey U.N. on Cease-Fire

Shastri Warns Nation Red China Remains 'Greater Challenge'

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Kashmir war ebbed today toward a truce, with the armed forces of both India and Pakistan ordered to quit shooting before another sunrise.

Red China's threat of immediate action against India also eased, but Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri told his Parliament that the Red nation presents "an even greater challenge" and the Indians must firmly resolve to meet it.

Shastri and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan announced a cease-fire to become effective in their three-week-old war at time translating as 5 p.m. EST today.

That is 3:30 a.m. Thursday in India; 3 a.m. in Pakistan—15 hours beyond the deadline originally set by the U.N. Security Council.

Shastri wept as he announced the development in Parliament. He said the two Asian neighbors must live in neighborly peace.

SIMILAR WORDS
Similarly, Ayub said in a broadcast from Karachi he had ordered the 'cease-fire in the interests of international peace and he hoped it will lead India and Pakistan to an honorable settlement of their 18-year-old quarrel over Kashmir.

In this regard, Shastri said India has accepted the good offices offered by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kossygin. Kossygin had suggested that Shastri and Ayub meet in Soviet territory to discuss their differences.

Kidney Patient 'Doing Well'

Avon Mother May Leave Hospital Soon

An Avon Township mother may leave a Cleveland, Ohio, hospital this weekend with a new kidney and a new lease on life.

Mrs. James Shontz, of 1895 Tamm, underwent a kidney transplant at the Cleveland Clinic last week.

Her mother, Mrs. Norton Miller, 315 Cherry, Troy, returned from Cleveland this week.

Mrs. Miller said yesterday that she will go to Cleveland Sunday to stay with her daughter for at least a week.

IN EXCELLENT SPIRITS
"She is in excellent spirits," she said, "and things look real bright."

Mrs. Shontz, whose remaining kidney was removed in an operation three weeks ago, received a healthy kidney from her father, Frank L. Farrell of St. Clair Shores last week.

Both were reported in satisfactory condition.

Her first kidney was damaged in a childhood fall and removed a few years later.

Reuther Raps Chrysler's Price Hike

Detroit (AP) — President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers called Chrysler's car price increase "profligate" and says he'll ask a Congressional investigation if other auto companies also increase prices.

Reuther also suggests governmental action to hold the line on car prices such as President Kennedy did with Big Steel in 1952. Spokesmen for Chrysler were unavailable for comment immediately.

Reuther denounced Chrysler in a statement yesterday, 24 hours after the company's announcement of prices for its new 1966 model cars.

The UAW chief called Chrysler's action a "profligate assault on the consumer and on national price stability."

Chrysler is the first of the American auto makers to announce 1966 prices. Ford, General Motors and American Motors have yet to make announcements.

Deliver Lethal Lard to Welfare Families

LANSING (UPI) — The State Department of Social Welfare said today it has discovered metallic particles in two-pound bricks of lard distributed to welfare and low income families in Antrim County which could be fatal if taken internally.

Lynn Kellogg, deputy director of the department said the lard was part of a 26-ton shipment intended for distribution to welfare recipients in Otsego, Crawford, Antrim, Leelanau and Kalamazoo counties.

He said the lard was distributed this week only in Antrim County to a "very substantial number of people."

"There have been no reports of anyone becoming ill from the lard," Kellogg said.

Health officials immediately began calling back all the lard yesterday. They pressed their hand for more of it today.

"We're making every effort to get the lard back now," Kellogg said.

He said the lard was shipped to the Boyne Valley Food Locker storage plant at Boyne Valley for distribution to welfare and low income recipients in the five counties.

"The lard is very dangerous and if taken internally could be fatal," Kellogg said.

He said health officials discovered a metallic substance like fine steel wool particles in the lard.

A federal health inspector was to check the 26-ton shipment today.

Merger Denied by Osteopath

State Chief Says No Uniting Wanted

The president of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons (MAOPS) today denied charges that he planned a merger between MDs and DOs "is making steady progress."

Dr. Benjamin F. Dickinson further denied that "75 to 80 per cent of Michigan osteopaths want to amalgamate with the Michigan State Medical Society (MSMS)."

The osteopathic physician replied to comments made by Dr. John J. Coury of Port Huron before the Centennial session of the MSMS currently being held in Detroit.

Dr. Coury had charged that creation of a proposed college of osteopathy, planned for a site at Auburn and Opeke, would do "incalculable harm" to merger efforts.

Amalgamation is a dead issue so far as the overwhelming majority of the state's osteopaths are concerned, said Dr. Dickinson.

POLITICAL ISSUE
"The osteopathic profession is not interested in relinquishing its principles and philosophy because of some political issue," he added.

Citing that the osteopaths furnish health care on one out of three Michigan children, Dr. Dickinson said, "We must provide the educational facility for osteopathic physicians and surgeons to meet this growing demand."

The projected college would educate 100 physicians each year, providing a comprehensive education for osteopaths—75 per cent of whom, he said, would become family physicians.

Dr. Dickinson pointed out that 75 per cent of the MDs have become specialists.

City Police Seek Highland Park Man

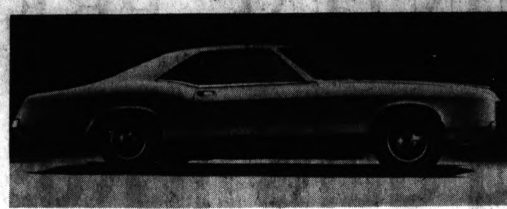

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of a Highland Park man wanted by Pontiac Police for questioning in connection with the fraudulent conversion and theft of more than $1,600 from a service station at 420 S. Saginaw.

Named in the warrant is Mose McKnight, a former employee of the Clark Oil & Refining Corp.

Ships Collide in Frisco Bay

1 Afire, 1 in Mud; 2 Men Are Injured

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Norwegian motor vessel Berganger and the Liberian tanker Intercontinent collided today in San Francisco Bay. The Berganger was reported on fire and the Intercontinent trapped on a mudflat.

The Coast Guard said two men were injured and were being rescued by helicopter. The men were being flown to the Public Health Hospital in San Francisco.

It was uncertain how serious or widespread the fire was on the Berganger.

The scene was at the west side of the Richmond-San Rafael bridge. Near San Quentin Prison. Seven Coast Guard vessels and a Coast Guard helicopter were dispatched.

The San Francisco Fire Department sent the fire boat Phoenix with a rescue squad aboard.

DESTINATIONS

The 484-ton Berganger, sailing for the West-Larsen line, was coming down channel from Stockton, Calif. The tanker, owned by Texaco Oil, was leaving Richmond, Calif.

The Coast Guard said they lacked any indication of the cause of the collision. The bridge attendant reported some fog.

The Coast Guard said the Berganger was en route from San Francisco to Stockton 75 miles northeast of the Sacramento River. The Intercontinent was bound from Richmond for the sea, believed headed for Long Beach, Calif.

A spokesman said the two injured were seriously hurt. One man was "considered an ambulance case and the other is a stretcher case," the Coast Guard said.

Buick Unveils Riviera for '66

The 1966 Riviera sport coupe, featuring the elimination of window vents, was introduced today by Buick Motor Division.

The new Riviera has a 118-inch wheelbase, two inches longer than last year, and a four-inch wider tread. It also features a longer hood and fenders, a more sloping windshield and a modified fast-back roof and rear deck.

The Riviera goes on sale at the following area dealers:

Oliver Motor Sales, 210 Orchard Lake; Al Hanoutche Chevrolet, 200 N. Park, Lake Orion; Feigley Motor Sales, 508

N. Main, Milford; Fischer Buick, 515 S. Woodward, Birmingham; Shelton Pontiac-Buick, 335 S. Rochester, Rochester; and Homer Hight, 190 S. Washington, Oxford.

A new ventilation system makes window vents unnecessary.

INTERIOR TRIM

Standard interior trim includes bench-type seats, front and rear, or bucket seats and console in front.

All gauges and instruments have been regrouped to a position directly in front of the driver. The speedometer is a drum-type cylinder which revolves vertically.

Oil temperature and generator gauges are equipped with pointers instead of warning lights.

The 1966 Riviera headlamps are concealed in the radiator grille, beneath the hood.

When the headlight switch is turned on, the lamps drop into position.

FRONT SUSPENSION

The Riviera's front suspension system features new shock absorbers and improved handling characteristics with new steering linkage and revised steering geometry.

Upper and lower control arms with specially tuned rubber bushings at the inner pivots complete the front suspension.

The geometry of the rear suspension has been altered for 1966 to effect greater control over "squat" on acceleration and rear end lift during braking.

CHINA'S MOVES

Shastri, speaking of Communist China's recent moves to increase its military strength in Tibet along the Himalayan frontier opposite India and its buffer state, Pakistan, said:

"We do not know what the Chinese will do next."

The Indian leader denied a declaration by Radio Peking that Indians had met a primary Chinese requirement by tearing down controversial military posts on or near the border of Tibet and Sikkim, an Indian protectorate.

He said the Indians pulled down none.

"All this is a product of their imagination," he said.

U.S. to Call Medical Men

Too Few Volunteers for Health Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department moved today to draft 1,979 doctors, dentists and veterinarians because of the armed forces buildup.

The Pentagon asked the Selective Service to call 1,529 doctors, 350 dentists and 100 veterinarians for service in the Army, Navy and Air Force starting in January.

"The call is necessary to provide the health services required for the increase in the active armed forces strength announced in July by the President," the announcement said.

President Johnson has approved a 340,000-man boost in the armed forces, to a new total of nearly three million.

The Defense Department said the new doctor draft stems in part from the fact that there have not been enough medical volunteers to meet the military buildup required in connection with the Vietnamese war.

SERVICES VARY

Of the doctors, 949 will serve in the Army, 260 in the Navy and 320 in the Air Force. All the dentists and veterinarians are tabbed for the Army.

Veterinarians are used chiefly for meat inspection. There are very few animals left in the military establishment although the services do use dogs for sentry and other purposes.

This is the second doctor draft call this year.

In January, the Pentagon asked Selective Service to supply 651 physicians in the summer of 1965.

FEW VOLUNTEERS

That call came because a sufficient number of 1964 medical school graduates had not volunteered for active duty immediately after their internship.

In January 1964, a call went out for 1,689 doctors, also because enough medical school graduates from the previous year had not signed up voluntarily.

Ground Breaking at Mall Tomorrow

Ground breaking ceremonies for the $2.4 million Pontiac Mall expansion program will be conducted at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Joseph L. Hudson Jr., department store executive, is expected to attend the fête along with Waterford Township, Pontiac and Oakland County governmental officials.

In addition to establishment of a full-line J. L. Hudson Co. department store, expansion will include construction of 10 fashion shops.

EXTENDS INVITATION

Oakland County GOP chairman Dale A. Feet issued an invitation to all county residents to attend the program at 9900 Cooley Lake Road.

School Board Members Hear Building Report

BIRMINGHAM — The directors of Birmingham School District's building program—behind schedule and above cost estimates—were outlined to board of education members last night.

Schools Supt. John B. Smith warned that the board soon will be faced with the necessity of choosing projects to be cut from the program.

"Ultimately, there must be a determination on when the school community will be asked to supply additional funds for the projects postponed and, possibly, for other building that will be required in order to accommodate the continued increase in enrollment," he said.

The $5,350,000 bond issue approved by property owners in June 1964 just isn't going as far as planned.

In addition, there have been delays in the buildings which are under construction.

AFTER CHRISTMAS

Evergreen Elementary School, originally planned for occupancy Sept. 1, apparently won't be ready until after the Christmas holidays, Smith reported last night.

The superintendent commented that the target date for completion may have been "Recently, bids were received for the site development and the lowest bid was 90 per cent higher than the architect's estimate," he reported. "This means that the site plans will have to be revised and a new bid taken. This, of course, causes a loss of time."

ADEQUATE BIDS

If bids are received to fit the budget, the building could be ready by January of 1967, he said.

Development of other projects awaits the letting of contracts on the Seaholm and Covington works.

These include an addition to Groves High School library, additions to a number of elementary school libraries, an administration building and elementary classrooms in the western portion of the school district.

Bank Suspect 'Flies Away'

to Canada. The Immigration Service is trying to kick him out of the United States on the ground that he entered the country without a visa. LeMay had said he had no objection to deportation, he just didn't want to go to Canada.

LeMay is charged with leading a crew that tunneled under the Bank of Nova Scotia in 1961 and blasted open 377 safety deposit boxes.

They escaped with between $500,000 and $4 million, but the exact amount was never established because of the reluctance of the box owners to talk.

The stocky, 5-foot-8 LeMay has been Canada's most wanted person since then.

He was hunted all over the world for four years but was not discovered until the Royal Canadian Mounted Police flashed his picture on the first Early Bird satellite television program.

WAS PUZZLED

"I very seldom make mistakes," LeMay told officers when they arrested him aboard his yacht. "How did you do it?"

Told what had happened, LeMay said, "Well, isn't that something? It took a satellite to catch me."

The sheriff said LeMay had been allowed several visitors recently, including his wife, Lisa Lemieux, 28, an attractive brunette.

They said civil vows in French in a hurried-up ceremony in the anteroom of an immigration officer just before a hearing June 1. It was over before officials knew it had started.

STOPPED BEFORE

Only the day before they had moved LeMay from a cell with a window to prevent him from shouting the ceremony through bars. Although he insisted they had been married before in Mexico, officials suggested they wanted an American marriage license as the could not be called on to testify against him in case he were ever deported to Canada.

Storm Rocks Ship; 60 Hurt

PARIS (UPI) — The luxury liner France rolled over on her side so far during an Atlantic storm Saturday night that 60 passengers suffered minor injuries, passengers reported today on their arrival in Paris.

The 1,035-foot liner, the world's longest, was en route from New York to the French port of Le Havre when the slowly tilted to the right "like an airplane going into a steep bank," sending chairs, tables, passengers, drinks and ash trays tumbling into a jumbled heap.

Maritime sources said most of the injuries aboard the 60,000-ton liner were minor but Philip Ross, a 35-year-old journalist from New York City, said he saw "three or four persons in casts" after the incident.

Maritime sources in Le Havre said the most badly hurt was a man who seriously injured his eye as the ship heeled over.

Maritime sources in Le Havre said the ship heeled over because of a heavy storm in the Atlantic. Hurricane Betsy whipped across the Atlantic, partly spent after wreaking havoc in Florida and Louisiana and doubling back across the central United States.

Two Air Raids

The Indian government radio said Pakistan's American-built planes staged two raids last night and two more today.

It said a prison hospital in Jodhpur, an airbase city in southwest India, was one of the targets, and bombs killed 30 inmates.

In Karachi, Pakistani authorities said Pakistani bombers made a night raid on the Jodhpur airbase. "They gave no details of the damage, but told of the deaths of several persons."

●Indian ground troops launched an offensive in the Rajasthan sector, but were beaten back. They left behind two Jeeps, one carrying an antitank gun.

●There was fighting also in the Fazilka and Sialkot sectors.

Pakistan's Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto informed the U.N. Security Council in New York of his government's acceptance of its cease-fire offer at a predawn meeting.

India, which had told the United Nations it would stop firing if Pakistan did, asked for an extension of the deadline to permit orders to go out to field commanders. The council then moved the cease-fire forward to 8 p.m. (EDT) today.

Comet Has More Room, Bigger Engines

A sharp increase in size for premium models and more powerful engine options are the most notable changes in the 1966 Comet, introduced today by Ford Motor Co.

Top-of-the-line models for 1966—Capri, Caliente and Cyclone—are longer by almost eight inches than the biggest Comet offered in the last model year.

Comet goes on sale Oct. 1 at the following area dealers:

Kaverley Mercury, 420 Main, Rochester; Lloyd Motors, 1250 Oakland; and Bob Bort, 530 S. Woodward, Birmingham.

Powering the bigger cars besides the standard 200-cubic-inch 120-horsepower six are three V-8 options — a 289-cubic-inch 306-horsepower engine, a 390-cubic-inch rated at 275 horsepower and with the Cyclone GT, a 335-horsepower model.

Among the safety features made standard on the 1966 Comet are padded instrument panel and padded visors, emergency flasher and front and rear seat belts.

New interior trim schemes continue wood-grain styling for Caliente and black case-case finish for Cyclone.

Comet wagons offer a third seat — for the first time — and a dual-circuit tailgate which opens either up and down or sideways.

Britain Is 'Cold' to Reported Spy Deal

LONDON (AP) — Britain has cold shouldered a Communist attempt to win freedom for Morris and Lola Cohen, an American couple jailed here for spying for Russia, diplomatic sources said today.

The Cohens were sentenced to 20 years imprisonment each in 1961 as part of an elaborate spy ring gathering western submarine secrets for the Russians.

They were tried under the names Peter and Helen Kroger, and identified themselves as Canadian.

FBI agents later declared them to be former New Yorkers who had been contacts for Col.

Rudolph Abel, Soviet master spy sentenced to 30 years imprisonment in New York in 1957.

Abel was exchanged in 1962 for Francis Gary Powers, the American U2 pilot.

SEEKS EXCHANGE

Now, diplomatic sources report, the same East German Lawyer who handled the Abel-Powers exchange has approached the British about the Cohens.

The lawyer, Wolfgang Vogel, represents Arthur Wilbroham, a 27-year-old Briton held in East Berlin on charges of aiding East Germans to escape.

But diplomatic sources said the main bait for an exchange with the Cohens is Gerald Brooke, a Briton held in Moscow. Brooke was sentenced to five years in jail on charges of acting for a Russian emigre organization.

Sources said Britain has reacted coldly toward any such exchange because, from the British viewpoint, it would be a bad bargain.

PROFESSIONALS

The Cohens were convicted as professional spies, Brooke was not accused of acting for British intelligence.

Furthermore, the exchange last year — also masterminded by Vogel — of the Russian spy Gordon Lonsdale for Wyne, aroused criticism here.

Lonsdale was the boss of the naval spy ring for which the Cohens worked.

Critics of the exchange said it would encourage the Russians to arrest innocent western nationals whenever they wished to secure the release of top Soviet agents.

Apart from Wilbroham and Brooke, the communists hold on Mott of Sheffield, Mass., for walking into the Soviet Union from Norway without a visa. He is held at Murmansk in the far north.

TELLS OF DRAMA — Publisher-sportsman John P. Scripps talks with newsmen and posing yesterday after more than two hours of being hostage of a young sailor aboard Scripps' yacht. Scripps was released unhurt after officers fired a warning shot. The yacht was tied up at a San Diego Yacht Club pier.

Grenade-Toting Sailor Nabbed; Held 3 Hostage Aboard Yacht

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — "When he pulled the pin out of that hand grenade, and when I saw that fellow crouched and I was looking down a gun barrel, my heart was going pit-pat," said publisher-sportsman John P. Scripps.

Scripps was describing a two-hour drama Tuesday in which he and two other men were held hostage by a young sailor aboard Scripps' $800,000 yacht.

The youth, identified as Guy M. Warinner, 19, was booked for investigation of kidnapping and assault with a deadly weapon. Scripps, 53, is the grandson of the late publisher E.W. Scripps and is publisher and chairman of the board of seven newspapers in California and Washington.

GIVES ACCOUNT

He quoted Warinner as saying he was from Los Angeles, and gave this account of the drama in San Diego harbor:

"He said he was making a run for it — that he was AWOL from the Navy and wanted us to take him down the coast a way and put him ashore in Mexico."

Scripps said Warinner apparently swam to the yacht Monday night. When Scripps and two crew members came aboard Tuesday morning, they found a pile of wet clothes and a gun.

Capt. Sam Davis, 56, went ashore to notify police. While he was gone, said Scripps, Warinner returned to the room, grabbed the pistol, and told Scripps to take him to Mexico. Scripps said he told Warinner the captain was ashore and no one else could run the craft. But

Davis returned and then, said Scripps, Warinner pulled a hand grenade and said: "No funny business, I'm not kidding."

CALLS GUARDSMEN

Davis, however, slipped into the radio room and told Coast Guard officials what was happening.

Police surrounded the craft and boats were sent out by the harbor patrol.

Scripps said Warinner became excited, pulled the pin from the grenade and warned police: "Don't throw any tear gas. I'll blow us all up."

But officers, after repeatedly trying to soothe Warinner, fired a warning shot and Warinner surrendered, after putting the pin back in the grenade.

Thalidomide Used in Leprosy Cases

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — The drug thalidomide, convicted of deforming unborn babies, may win a reprieve as a treatment for some of the reactions of leprosy.

Israel has about 200 lepers.

Specialists at Hansen Hospital here started using the drug, a tranquilizer, to lessen the pains of leprosy and allow them to sleep.

Doctors were surprised to find that some of the symptoms of leprosy, such as the inflammation of the skin and inflammation of the eyes, tended to disappear in a few hours.

No serious side effects were seen.

OU Music Program Eyes Adult Students

Oakland University's association with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra is being extended into the continuing education course program for adults this fall.

Mischa Kottler, pianist and Nathan Gordon, first chair

MISCHA KOTTLER

violinist, will teach courses in Piano Pedagogy and String Techniques.

Both courses are for advanced students and, along with an Opera Workshop directed by Dr. David DiChiera, offer an expansion of performing music opportunities for adults at Oakland.

BEGINNERS
For beginners, group instruction will be offered by other continuing education faculty members in piano, violin, viola and cello. Most courses start the week of September 27.

Kottler will be teaching the first Mott Master Series course to be offered with the assistance of the Mott Center for Community Affairs' grant. His Wednesday morning class will be limited to 15 advanced pianists and piano teachers who will deal with the problems of technique and interpretation of a group of important piano works.

Additional students may join the class as auditors at reduced tuition.

EARLY MUSIC CAREER
Kottler had his early musical training in Russia, starting at the Imperial Conservatory of Kiev at the age of seven (he began playing the piano at five.)

He made a concert tour of the major cities of the Ukraine when he was nine years old. He continued his studies in Paris and in Vienna under Emil Von Sauer who was one of the famous pupils of Liszt. Along with being pianist with the Detroit Symphony, he has been a musical director of a Detroit broadcasting station.

KEY MEN

The two famous string players had been key men in Toscanini's NBC Symphony. Gordon is also conductor of the Dearborn Symphony Orchestra and the Women's Symphony Orchestra. His class will meet Monday evenings from 7:30-9:30 p.m.

The Opera Workshop has been designed to give area singers an opportunity for the theatre experience of opera. In addition to DiChiera, the Workshop staff will be comprised of: musical director—Italo Taramita, director of the Chamber Opera Theatre of Detroit; theatre coaches—Celia Merrill Turner of the Will-O-Way Apprentice Theatre and Tom Aston, dramatic technician at Oakland University and formerly with Vanguard Theatre.

DiChiera is assistant dean of continuing education in the arts and producer-director of the Overture to Opera series which gave 17 performances in the area prior to last year's Metropolitan Opera season.

Catalogs describing music and other adult courses are available from the Division of Continuing Education, Oakland University.

Rugged Cowboys Can Move Over

HANNAGAN MEADOWS, Ariz. — Ranging in age from 31 to 67, a group of 21 women covered 55 miles of rugged mountain trails on horseback during the third annual three-day outing of the Cowbelle Trail Riders.

The horsewomen did all the work, including pitching tents, chopping wood, looking after their horses and driving trucks with trailers to campsites. In addition to some ranch women, this year's riders included two school teachers, three business women and six housewives.

Duchess of Windsor Pattern

#56 DIMINUTIVE
#49 MISSES

The Duchess of Windsor is famous for her great elegance and great fashion sense. She has designed this crisp young semi-fitted dress that has a marvelous illusion of slenderness.

The oval shaped neckline follows the line of the curved yoke which has short or ¾ sleeves cut in one. Short sleeves like this are hot news. The body of the dress is cut with wide contoured front and back panels that are most becoming and slimming. The side panels feature long underarm darts and there is a center back zipper.

The cut and design of this original has an unusually feminine shape and will take to many fabrics such as wools, silks, linens, and cottons. Spade's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit. See chart for size best for you.
