

Five Paratroopers Die in Mass Jump

Air Force Missile's Secret Nose Cone Missing in Atlantic

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force hurled a two-stage missile some 5,000 miles out across the southeast Atlantic last night, but today there were doubts that its top secret nose—needed for study—would be recovered.

Because some of the telemetry equipment aboard the Thor-Vanguard combination failed to function, the missile's course could not be followed as accurately as had been planned.

However, the Air Force confirmed that the nose cone had attained intercontinental range—possibly 5,600 miles.

This meant it was the longest flight any American ballistic missile has yet attained. It required only about 30 minutes to travel to the Ascension Island area off the African coast.

The Soviet Union has made claims of intercontinental ballistic missile flights at full range. The only U.S. missile that previously has flown full intercontinental range is the jet-powered Snark which requires about eight or nine hours for the flight.

The Thor-Vanguard was the most widely seen U.S. missile ever launched.

CLIMBS HIGH

On a brilliantly clear evening just at dusk, it climbed so high so quickly yesterday that the sunlight caught it, turned its vapor trail to a long and beautiful serpentine, and spotlighted the missile itself for minutes.

The mission was to launch the highly advanced and elaborately equipped cone 80 miles up in space and then 5,500 miles southward to a previously selected impact area near Ascension.

The launching was sensationally successful, and the flight appeared—after some initial excitement—to be perfect.

Some of the radio reporting equipment, in the second stage failed.

Knowland Tries for Showdown on Union Issues

Bucks Both Parties in Effort to Force Vote on Regulating Labor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) bucked a coalition of Democrats and Republicans today in an effort to force show-down votes in the Senate this week on broad proposals to regulate labor unions.

Knowland, Senate Republican leader, said he will give his colleagues a chance to "show whether they want to do something about the abuses within the labor unions with which the country now is familiar."

Knowland's proposals, including requirements for secret ballots, are designed to give union members more control within their unions. They are generally opposed by labor leaders.

His announced plan to offer them as amendments to a less controversial bill for regulation of employee welfare and pension funds caused a delay in consideration of that measure.

But the Senate decided to go into early-and-late sessions to resolve the issue.

Knowland faced consolidated opposition from the Democratic leadership and Republicans who like to class themselves as liberals.

Sen. Ives (R-N.Y.), one of the latter and a member of the Senate Labor Committee which approved the pending bill, said in a separate interview he believes at least a dozen Republican votes will be cast against Knowland's proposals.

High Winds Endanger Troops in Big Jump

RUNAWAY 'CHUTE — An unidentified paratrooper is swept across the ground at Ft. Campbell, Ky., when wind gusts caught his parachute before he could collapse it.

'Grab the Chute' First Warning of Jump Trouble

By CARL MAY
Nashville Tennessean Reporter

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—The gusts of wind that whipped dust into the faces of onlookers made it difficult to light a cigarette and provided the first hint of what was to come.

"I'd hate to be jumping today," one reporter muttered as he scanned the cloudless sky for the first wave of planes in yesterday's mass jump by nearly 1,400 paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division.

The big planes appeared and the battle-trained paratroopers began pouring out in a stream of mushrooming silk. It seemed to be a routine jump—until the men neared the ground.

Watching men thudding to the ground on all sides was an awesome, unforgettable experience.

One soldier shouted as he sailed past me, "Grab the chute, Grab the chute."

As the men were freed, they rushed to aid their fellow-sufferers—if they were able. Finally everyone stopped moving.

Helicopters clattered in and the injured were moved out one by one. It was all over and the troops were lucky. Or so we thought.

Minutes later, the news came. Five troopers were dead. They had been hurled against rocks and trees at the north edge of the massive jump zone.

"Sure it's rough," one grizzled sergeant said. "But it's the sort of thing you have to expect sometimes. It's part of the job."

St. Joseph to Graduate Class in Leadership

Thirty-eight St. Joseph Mercy Hospital employees, comprising the first hospital-sponsored leadership training class, will graduate tonight.

Ceremonies will be at 8 p.m. at the McAuley School of Nursing, 126 Fulton St. The 14-week course was conducted by Dale Carnegie instructors.

The hospital said it is the first one in the country to sponsor such a course for its employees.

Group Drops 5-Cent Rate, OKs 1-Cent Hike on Letters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate-House conferees meet again today to try to finish work on a postal rate and pay increase bill from which they have eliminated the 5-cent letter stamp.

The conferees voted yesterday to knock out the 5-cent temporary rate on out-of-town letters inserted by the Senate in its version of the bill. They accepted a straight 4-cent charge voted by the House last year.

The vote was a defeat for President Eisenhower and Postmaster General Summerfield, who had asked for a permanent 5-cent rate on the intercity mail along with 4 cents on other letters.

One Republican senator said he believed the bill, if passed, would run into a presidential veto because of these actions of the conferees:

Knocking out the 5-cent stamp, approving a pay-raise for the 500,000 postal employees far beyond what the President proposed, and making the pay boost retroactive to Jan. 1. The administration had opposed any retroactivity.

The pay increase approved by the conferees would total about 257 million dollars annually compared with 320 million in the Senate bill and 160 million recommended by the President.

The compromise pay plan would give each employee a 7½ per cent boost. In addition, those in the

Lloyd Irwin Killed as Car Misses Curve on Bald Mountain Road

A Pontiac man was killed last night when his car apparently missed a curve on Bald Mountain road, a half-mile south of Silver Bell road, in Orion Township.

Lloyd V. Irwin, 39, of 695 Sterling Ave., was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital. His car hit a tree on the left side of the road as he was driving south.

Irwin, who was unemployed, lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Len Irwin.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. was informed of the accident at 8 a.m. today, but it apparently occurred during the night. The car light switch was on and the dash clock was stopped at 4.

137 Are Injured as Wind Drags Them on Ground

1,300 of Airborne Unit in Kentucky Maneuvers; 11 Hurt From Michigan

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (INS)—The Army revealed today that five men were killed yesterday in the mass drop exercise here at Ft. Campbell by the 101st Division.

One hundred thirty-seven paratroopers were injured, but not seriously. Six were from the Detroit area. Eleven are from Michigan.

One of the Michigan men injured was Pfc. Curt Gordon of Royal Oak.

More than 1,300 participated in the jump.

Military spokesmen said gusty and shifty winds near ground level blew the falling paratroopers from the landing zone. Some fell into adjacent woodland, and others into rough and stump-studded terrain.

The maneuver covers several days of an exercise by the streamlined division and marked the first mass air jump of this type since the famed World War II unit was reorganized into a pentomic division, equipped for atomic warfare.

The 101st rocketed to fame during World War II as the "nuts" division.

It got that designation when its

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (INS)—Army spokesmen said today that maneuvers will continue at Fort Campbell despite the death of five paratroopers. Maj. Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, division commander, gave the go ahead for the jump despite the wind measurement at eight knots at ground level. Jumps are not permitted beyond 12 knots. He jumped with the troops without injury and said later:

"The exercise itself was a very successful jump." But that was before the extent of the mishap became known.

The operation, "Exercise Eagle Wing" involved 86 planes which dropped the men from a height of 1,250 feet.

Signs to Welcome Tourists to State

LANSING (AP)—"Welcome to Michigan Water Wonderland" is what the signs will say when tourists come to Michigan this summer.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said 20-by-seven-foot overhead panels will carry the words of greeting on major U.S. trunklines at state borders.

Other signs, 12 by six feet, will be erected along other major routes that carry almost all in-bound traffic, he said. The signs also will carry a large replica of the new Straits of Mackinac Bridge. An interchangeable panel in the upper right hand corner will boost various tourist attractions of timely interest.

Spring Brings Marriage Questions

Can't Wed Mother-in-Law

LANSING (AP)—In case you've been worrying about it, you can't legally marry your mother-in-law in Michigan.

Sec'y. of State James M. Hare reported today that this was among a flood of queries concerning Michigan marriage laws that have been received with the coming of spring.

An 1846 law provides:

"No man shall marry his mother, grandmother, daughter, granddaughter, stepmother, grandfather's wife, son's wife, grandson's wife, wife's mother, wife's grandmother, wife's daughter, wife's granddaughter, nor his sister, brother's daughter, sister's daughter, father's sister, or mother's sister or cousin of the first degree."

How old do you have to be to marry?

At least 18, except that girls between 16 and 18 can marry with the consent of their parents or legal guardian.

Seeks Word From Other Communities on Huron Pipeline

City Awaits Teammates in Water Setup

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The City of Pontiac wants to know "who's going to be on the team" of the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority before committing itself to a contract, City Manager Walter K. Willman declared yesterday.

"We will continue to sit tight until we learn what the several communities south of us getting water from Detroit plan to do," he said.

Willman's statement followed one of Authority Chairman Howard K. Kelley before the Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club yesterday noon. He said he was "puzzled" why Pontiac hadn't joined the authority.

The authority was created to bring water from a Lake Huron intake five miles north of Fort Huron. A $118,000 study financed by participating Oakland and Macomb counties declared the $150,000,000 project feasible on both engineering and financing angles.

Kelley, mayor of Royal Oak, remarked yesterday that the first spadeful of dirt will be turned in late fall in the enormous project.

ONLY TWO SIGN

However, he said only two communities—Troy and Utica—have signed resolutions of intent to use water from this system. He approximated 60 would be in the fold later.

The authority was born to provide water to Southeastern counties where ground-level supplies have been dwindling year by year.

Whether a number of municipal ities in the South Oakland area will join into the system even though tied under a 30-year contract of the Southeastern Oakland County system with Detroit, is the big question Willman wants answered.

The second question is, will Detroit and Flint join in, Willman added.

"It might not be financially feasible for us to say yes without these others," he remarked.

Bloomfield Hills Rotarians, meeting for their weekly luncheon at the Fox and Hounds Inn, learned the cost of water would be from $1.05 to $1.14 per thousand cubic feet under this system.

What the actual rate would be, Kelley said, would depend on how many communities sign up.

He said he will meet with Detroit officials Tuesday to see if that city desires authority water on a standby basis. He will then attempt to have Flint sign on the dotted line.

"If we get these two big ones as anchors for our system Pontiac

Bill Passed by House

MAKES OVER 1000

Facing Charges of Halting Mail

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a special school aid bill after rejecting a move to deny such federal help to racially segregated schools.

Acting by voice vote, the House yesterday sent to the Senate a bill to continue for three years a program providing aid in construction and operation of schools in areas where an influx of federal workers has overburdened classroom facilities.

An estimated 3,300 school districts benefit under the legislation which is expected to cost 211 million dollars in the coming year.

Before the final vote, the House rejected 132-25 an amendment to deny such aid to districts which have partially segregated schools or have taken no steps to integrate in compliance with supreme court rulings.

What is the most common gas in the layer of air above us?

Nitrogen makes up most of the layer of gas that is our weather and our air. In fact, nitrogen comprises about 78 per cent of the atmosphere's content. Oxygen, which we need to sustain life, is the next most plentiful element in the air.

All other gases, including helium, make up one per cent, or thereabouts, of the air around us. Oxygen being so thin so much at 10,000 feet that a supplemental supply is advisable if you are to be above that altitude any length of time.

All our weather — clouds, rain, lightning, etc. — occurs at below 40,000 feet usually, and always below 50,000. The height is greater at the equator and less at the poles, where there is less centrifugal force from the spinning of the earth.

42-Inch Snow in Montana

RED LODGE, Mont. (AP) — This mountain community struggled from beneath a record 42-inch snowfall today and roads, choked from travel for 16 hours, were slowly dug open.

Eight persons reported stranded in rural areas were out of danger.

DRIFTS 12 FEET DEEP

Snow drifted 12 feet deep in places. Although light snow continued to fall throughout the southern Montana mountains, forecasters said the worst was past.

In north-central Wyoming, six persons were reported stranded by 10-foot snow drifts on U. S. 14 where it crosses the Big Horn Mountains 20 miles northwest of Sheridan.

The storm was described by a veteran U. S. Weather Bureau observer, I. A. Draper, as "the worst I ever saw in 56 years of recording."

STORMS LASH MIDWEST

Violent storms lashed central and southern sections of the Midwest today, dominating the wet weather belt from the Rockies to the Appalachians.

Tornado winds whipped across the middle Mississippi Valley during the night and early morning, hammering hardest in parts of Missouri and central and southern Illinois.

Tornado funnels were reported over wide areas of the two states but none reportedly touched the ground. Thunderstorms, with strong winds and hail in some areas, hit many sections. No injuries were reported.

Artist on Wheels

Changes View Early

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (U) — From the view window of his cliff-top home, R. Stephens Wright can look 40 feet down and see fish darting back and forth in the crystal-clear waters at Laguna Beach. From his desert home 100 miles away he views the panorama they call Palm Springs—the desert, the mountains, the Joshua trees—across a landscaped courtyard where a fountain bubbles in the cool night air.

Wright is a nationally known portrait artist. He has wealth and social position. There's nothing unusual about the fact that he has two vacation homes.

But here's what is unusual: they're both the same home. It's a trailer.

Wright is one of the four million Americans who live in trailers all or part of the time. Of course, he isn't typical—he's listed in both the national and Southern California social registers, and few society types are trailerites. But then, among trailer folk, who is typical?

They have more in common with the small than they do with one another. They come from all social and economic strata, and a trailer park cross section would show as many different people as you'd find, say, in a big apartment house. They have this in common: they wear their homes like fancy coats, and take them anywhere they like.

Wright, for instance, spends the summer in his 36-footer at Treasure Island, a fashionable but not exclusive park on the bluffs at Laguna Beach, some 50 miles south of Los Angeles.

When the first cold wind of winter blows in off the Pacific, Wright calls a trailer moving firm. For $50 they move his home 100 miles to winter quarters at Palm Springs. Skyridge park, where trailers are parked in four-home squares around of the courtyard.

Wright has enough money to keep the trailer for vacations and weekends—his permanent home is in Pasadena. But there are many Southern Californians of modest means who could afford to be his trailer-park neighbor.

"The space costs me $75 a month at Laguna and $55 a month at Palm Springs," said Wright. "Of course, in Palm Springs I have to chip in to help pay the gardener who takes care of the courtyard."

Wright says his trailer's greatest convenience is its lack of a trailer like Wright's costs about $4,000. There are 220,000 such "mobile homes" in California alone—some 1,225,000 in use across the country. Some Treasure Island trailers have $4,000 cabanas attached and boast color television, telephone. Between portrait jobs—he does about a dozen a year—he likes a place to relax.

Tito to Maintain Independence

Top Yugoslav Theorist Sees No Bowing to Moscow Dictates

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (U) — Yugoslavia's leading Communist theorist served further notice on the Kremlin today that President Tito will stick to his policy of independence despite the new Soviet pressure to bow to Moscow's dictates.

Vice President Edvard Kardelj, Yugoslavia's No. 2 man after Tito, went before the Yugoslav Party Congress to appeal for approval of the draft party program that decried the new crisis in relations between Moscow and Belgrade.

Kardelj's speech, while firm in tone, lacked the sting of the addresses by Tito at the opening congress session Tuesday and by Alexander Rankovic, another vice president, yesterday.

Rankovic made the bitterest attack on Kremlin communism since Soviet-Yugoslav relations began improving after Stalin's death. His accusation that Yugoslavia's Red neighbors were re-summing a policy of pressure against Tito's regime caused all the Soviet bloc ambassadors present except Poland's to quit the session in protest.

The ambassadors were back in their seats today. Western observers thought their return and Kardelj's milder tone would keep the Moscow-Belgrade crisis from getting worse even if relations did not get better.

The Communist envoys are attending as observers rather than official delegates to signify the Kremlin's disapproval of Tito's continued insistence that Moscow cannot order the road along which communism will develop in other countries.

Attends Twins' Parties —3,000 Miles Apart

PASADENA, Calif. (U) — A mother from New England attended birthday parties for her twin daughters even though the twins live 3,000 miles apart.

Mrs. Fred Cowden, 83, started yesterday with one twin, Mrs. Marjorie Burgess, in New Bedford, Mass. At noon she caught a plane in Boston and flew non-stop to Los Angeles, where she was met by the other twin — Mrs. Marian Beal of Pasadena.

Birmingham Firm Wins M24 Contract

The A & A Asphalt Paving Co. of Birmingham has been awarded the contract for the widening and resurfacing of Opdyke (M24) from Square Lake road north to Walton boulevard.

The State Highway Dept. announced that the Birmingham firm was low bidder for the job with a bid of $282,446.

Contracts for 19 state trunkline projects, covering 85 miles of work, and totaling $11,285,582, were awarded yesterday in Lansing in the second-biggest letting in the department's history, according to Commissioner John C. Mackie.

Four of the projects are part of a $7,000,000 emergency program planned to ease unemployment in Michigan this spring. The Opdyke project, which will cover slightly over five miles, is one of the four emergency projects.

Crippled Plane Lands

NEWARK, N.J. (U) — An Eastern Airlines plane with one of its four engines out of operation landed safely at Newark Airport yesterday. The plane, bound here from Boston, had 29 passengers and a crew of five aboard.

Economy Flights Across Atlantic to Bar Caviar

MONTREAL (U) — A sandwich is made largely of bread and doesn't contain caviar or pate de foie gras—even when it's flying the Atlantic.

A definition was given yesterday by the International Air Transport Assn. Pan American World Airways had complained that four European airlines were competing unfairly on economy flights by serving sandwiches that were actually smorgasbord on bread.

Association rules allow the airlines to serve passengers only cold sandwiches on the low-cost economy flights which began April 1. The new definition says the sandwiches may be open or closed but must be cold, cheap, unadorned and self-contained, instead of the base for a plate of cold cuts. Fillings cannot include such delicacies as caviar, smoked salmon, oysters, lobster, game, asparagus or pate de foie gras.

Fair-Trade Laws Meeting Obstacles

CHICAGO — According to Commerce Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law, fair-trade laws used to control resale prices have been wholly or partly invalidated by court decisions in more than a fourth of the 45 states which have enacted them during the past 27 years.

Nearly half the rulings by high state courts on the validity of the laws have been adverse.

A survey shows that the fair-trade laws have been tested in the high courts of 28 states, with successful defense in 15, partial defense in 10, and defeat in three.

The laws of five other states were challenged in lower courts, with successful defense in two, partial defeat in two, and defeat in one.

MAKE OVER PAGES Lakes Ships to Use 8-Channel Phones

CHICAGO — The radiotelephone, over which weather reports covering all the Great Lakes are now made four times daily, first appeared on the Lakes in 1934 when a two-channel set was installed on the steamer William C. Atwood.

Four years later 50 ships had radiophones, and by the time the United States entered World War II most of the Lakes freighters were so equipped.

The latest 100-watt AM phones have eight channels. New VHF sets now in use provide interference-free communication within a 30-to-60-mile range. VHF is being used by 153 Lakes ships, including tugs.

Romeo Scouts to Stage 3-Day Show for Civic Center

Music, Dancing to Be Featured

Thousands of Persons Expected to Attend Benefit Program

ROMEO—Several thousand residents of the Romeo area are expected to attend part or all of the three-day Boy Scout benefit program this weekend at the Romeo Youth and Civic Center.

All Romeo Boy Scout organizations are sponsoring this ambitious undertaking to raise funds for the center in appreciation of their free use of the building throughout the year.

The program will open at 9 p.m. Friday with a square dance, featuring old-fashioned music by Don Horp's Orchestra of Washington.

Saturday evening, teenagers will gather at the center for a record hop between 7:30 and 10:30.

Detroit disc jockey Bob Maxwell will act as master of ceremonies.

The second phase of Saturday night's program, to begin at 10:30 p.m., will be ballroom dancing to stereophonic music.

A fitting climax to the three-day event, will be the Sunday musical between 3 and 5 p.m.

Highlighting the program will be a guest appearance by the Detroit Edison Co. vocal quartet, "The Windjammers."

Another featured artist will be Romeo's own Anton Patti, violin virtuoso who was a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra before becoming concertmaster of the Mount Clemens Symphony. He will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Chris Gaensbauer of Plymouth.

Also participating in the musical will be Audrey McKenzie, formerly of Jamaica, who will accompany himself playing religious songs on the electric guitar.

David Hemela, 16-year-old Romeo High School student, will play a medley of tunes on the organ as will Lila McCleod and her sister, Mrs. Robert Betham.

Some 5,000 tickets have been distributed to high schools and clubs in the area. Each entitles the holder to attend any one of the four scheduled events.

A goal of $1,000 has been set for the benefit. General Chairman Dr. D. J. Rees said.

The committee in charge of arrangements also includes Mrs. Joseph Dietlin, J. Arthur Farrell and Mrs. George E. McKeough.

They have been assisted by the Boy Scouts Administration Committee, composed of Harvey Runnels, Cub Pack 87; Richard Manahan, Troop 87; Farrell, Pack 87; and Louis C. Engles, Troop 201.

Aids 'Convicted Owner of Death Car Loaned to Lake Orion Youth'

The unprecedented involuntary manslaughter conviction stemming from the Feb. 4 Detroit expressway-death of a Lake Orion youth will be appealed at Wayne County expense.

The convicted man, William Marshall, 33, of River Rouge, petitioned for county funds on grounds he had none of his own. County officials yesterday said the Michigan Supreme Court ought to rule on his unusual conviction and agreed to pay legal fees.

A jury had found Marshall guilty March 25 of manslaughter for handing over the keys of his car to a friend who he knew had been drinking heavily.

The friend, Neil McClary, 19, of 199 Joslyn Rd. drove the wrong way on the Willow Run Expressway, and killed himself and another driver, James Coldiron, 29, of Taylor Township. Their cars collided head-on.

The jury decided Marshall was morally responsible, in part at least, for the accident. This is what was unusual about the conviction.

Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore, who tried the case, approved the petition for funds. So did Executive Judge Frank Fitzgerald and Prosecutor Samuel H. Olcese, who had advocated the conviction.

Judge Gilmore has not yet sentenced Marshall.

A Juliet lace cap secured her fingertip veil of illusion. The bride's bouquet was a cascade arrangement of shattered carnations, white rosebuds and stephanotis.

Irene Kraushaw was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Edwin Johnson, Mrs. Andrew Boisvert, sisters of the bridegroom, and Jan Monagle.

William Robinson was best man. Ushers were Andrew Boisvert, Edwin Johnson and James Phillips.

A reception was held in the church parlors.

New City Officers to Be Sworn In Southfield Finishes Transition Monday

SOUTHFIELD — The transition from a township to city will be completed by Monday evening in the new city of Southfield.

The old Township Board will hold its last meeting Saturday evening at the Township Hall on Berg road, and a new board will be appointed for the remaining eight square miles area of the township, Supervisor Eugene Swem said.

Monday evening at the same Township Hall, the new city officers will be sworn in and other city posts will be filled by appointments.

In his first official action as Southfield's mayor, Donald L. Swanson will name a city planner, attorney, assessor and civil defense director. The council will select a city manager.

Meanwhile, the canvass of votes cast in Monday's charter election will be made this evening at the Township Hall. It will begin at 8 p.m.

Among those seeking appointment as city administrator is Swem, longtime supervisor of the township.

Swem has said he didn't seek election to a city office because he had been assured of appointment as city manager.

Joan K. Cumper, Robert Niebauer Wed in Marlette

MARLETTE — The First Presbyterian Church of Marlette Saturday evening was the scene of the wedding of Miss Joan Kary Cumper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cumper of Marlette, and Robert L. Niebauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Niebauer Jr. of Marlette.

The young couple will make their home near Marlette.

The party begins at 8 p.m., according to Jim Wilson, of Lake Orion, bureau social committee chairman.

One prize will be given to the group having the largest percentage of membership in attendance and another will be presented to the group judged as presenting the best skit.

All 1,200 members are invited to attend the event. They have been asked to bring table service and one cake or a dozen sandwiches. Refreshments will be served.

Affection for Horse Backfires; Girl Bitten

WASHINGTON — A 5-year-old Washington girl loves animals, but yesterday her affection for the family's new Palomino horse backfired.

Little Lou Anne Sewell was bitten on the neck, very close to the main artery, when she attempted to pet the spirited 3-year-old gelding.

She was treated by a Romeo physician and released.

Lou Anne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sewell, of 58140 Van Dyke, who plan to keep the horse, but have warned the child to be a little more careful in the future.

Orion School Bidding Opens

Architect on Webber Addition Takes Look at 4 of 11 Prices

ORION TOWNSHIP — Bids from 11 contractors on the two - room addition to Webber School were opened by the Lake Orion Community School Board last night. The four lowest were taken under advisement by Pete Terapata, architect.

They were: Frank Stewart and Son, $33,682; Frank Rewoldt and Sons, $33,713; Arthur Linney, Inc., $34,700, and Chissus Construction Co., $36,400.

Architect's fees of about $2,000 would bring all of them slightly above the $35,000 allocated by the county.

The highest bid was $40,700.

Geraldine Campbell was appointed to take the 1958-59 school census, in other business at the meeting.

The board also studied the need for a receiving unit for disaster calls in the Civil Defense weather warning and disaster communications setup. The Federal Government pays half of the cost, making it about a $159 investment.

The board approved installation of a receiver at the central office from where the general warning could be made. Members hope, however, that some "civic-minded" organization would see the need to purchase it without expenditure of school funds.

Wesley Allen was given a 5-year appointment as agent of record for the school system. He presented a single brochure with easy index of the 15 policies covering buildings, contents, buses and personnel.

The board approved purchase of a tape recorder for use in the high school; six science tables for the general science room, made necessary by increased enrollments in this field; and some basic maps for American History classes.

Orion Lions Pledge

LAKE ORION — Charles Starrs, president of the Orion Community Center, Inc., has been notified by Ray Stanaback, president of the Lake Orion Lions Club, that the club has approved an immediate pledge of $500 to the OCC building fund, and an additional pledge of $300 within the next 12 months.

AUBURN HEIGHTS — The Stone Baptist Church at Auburn and Adams roads will conduct an eight-day revival starting Sunday and continuing through May 4. Each service will begin at 8 p.m.

Evangelist will be the Rev. Paul Lambert of Springfield, Mo.

He is known throughout the western states as an outstanding gospel preacher, the Rev. Lawrence Dickens, pastor, said.

AWAIT 'HEAP BIG' SCOUT-O-RAMA — Two years of preparation have enabled scouts from Troop 142 in White Lake Township to look and act like real Blackfoot Indians. They even talk the language. Dressed up for the Ottawa District's gigantic Scout-O-Rama this weekend at Walled Lake, the group has completed dress rehearsals for a special ceremonial dance. From left (front row) are Joe (Grey Fox) Steele, Larry (Sleeping Bull) Swatz, Jay (High Eagle) Alton and Rahdy (Yellow Horse) Coe; (back row) Larry (Knife Eye) House, Lloyd (Little Bull) Lang, Gordon (Medicine Man Blackhawk) Alton and Charles (Running Deer) Tedford. The 'injuns' (we mean scouts) will appear in one of nine acts that will make up a stellar stage show. The Scout-O-Rama will be continuous from 2 to 9:30 p. m. Saturday and from 2 to 6 p. m. Sunday at Walled Lake Senior High School on South Commerce road.

Boundaries Set for New Schools

W. W. Abbott Is Named Owen Principal; More Teachers Needed

School boundaries for the next year were adopted last night by the Pontiac Board of Education at a meeting before the Hawthorne School PTA.

Major changes were in the south and northwest sections of the school district where new schools have been built.

Twenty-one students now going to Wever will attend Alcott School. They live north of Columbia and west of Stanley streets.

Thirteen others from Wever will return to the Owen School they originally attended. They live on W. Ypsilanti street. Students in the Sallee Woods Subdivision will be bused to the Hawthorne School next fall.

Boundaries were set for the Franklin School now under construction. It will include territory now part of the Wilson and Whitaker Schools.

The board also heard a report on teacher recruitment for next year from Assistant Superintendent Philip Proulx.

He said the system now lacks 50 to 60 elementary teachers with little hope of getting them. He urged that qualified teachers in Pontiac who have quit teaching be asked to resume their profession to ease the shortage.

ABBOTT PROMOTED

The board also accepted the retirement of Violet Crawford, principal of the Owen School, and named W. W. Abbott as her successor. Abbott is now assistant principal of Washington Junior High and was principal of Crofoot School.

A wage schedule for maintenance employees was adopted which allows qualified foremen and journeymen to attain maximum pay in 12 months instead of the seven years formerly required.

The board heard a request from Pontiac Central Playcrafters that the auditorium at Pontiac Northern High be named in memory of the late Mary E. Parrish, speech instructor at Pontiac Central. It took the matter under advisement.

The board also adopted rules for the use and rental of school facilities to the public.

Gold Plating Improves

NEWARK — A Newark concern says it has developed a new gold-plating process that uses 35 per cent less gold than conventional electroplating methods. It claims that by a liquid-immersion method it can plate any object from cutlery to bottle caps.

Spinster Must Move

MORRISBURG, Ont. (U.P.) — At 51, Miss I. K. Farlinger is resigned to moving her home. The three-story frame house in which she was born, built by her grandfather in 1834, is being torn down as part of St. Lawrence Seaway work. She will live in a new bungalow.

What Recession, Asks Pontiac Millwork

Reports Business Is Booming

A refreshing note on the current employment situation is provided by the story of a little-known but important industry near Pontiac which maintains full employment and sees nothing but full production ahead.

The Pontiac Millwork Co., 2005 Pontiac Rd., Pontiac Township, hasn't heard of the recession.

According to its board chairman and founder, William Downes, it has enough orders on the books right now to keep its 75 employees busy for the next nine months and new orders are pouring in.

The firm does custom door and cabinet work for schools, churches, public buildings and hospitals in a four-state area — Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

In addition, it recently began to nationally market a line of doors called Pon-Craft. These are doors finished in Formica or Texolite in any wood or color.

Started in 1936 by Downes, the firm is now valued at around $750,000. It receives the majority of its orders from architects and general contractors and is not tied to the fluctuating home building industry.

It has sales representatives in Champaign, Ill., and Findlay, O., in addition to Pontiac. During the summer, the firm hires about 15 temporary laborers to aid in the stacking of wood mainly, but its permanent force consists of highly skilled men.

A vast amount of machinery is used to dry, cut, shape and glue wood which is then assembled into doors, cabinets, pulpits, and other wood trim items.

Many Eyeing Treasure Around Tree Roots

DURBAN, S. Africa. — Treasure hunters will be standing around for the "kill" if an old tree has to be cut down at Westville, just outside of Durban.

The tree is thought to have a box of sovereigns at its roots. For years treasure hunters have dug around the tree but the Historical Monuments Commission would not let them dig near the roots. Among the diggers was P. A. Williams who had a treasure chest handed to him by his grandfather.

Now the tree, which marked the first outspan stage from Durban in the ox-wagon days, is dying and it may have to be removed as a danger to pedestrians and traffic. Both the Westville town council and the Monuments Commission may be claimants of any treasure found.

Say Coastal Fisheries Ruined Around Britain

LONDON — Nature and the march of civilization have just about ruined coastwise fishing in Britain during the last 20 years.

Vessels now have to go to sea for good hauls. Reasons for the decline are many. There have been changes among the shore-coal mines and factories have sprung up and millions of gallons of poisonous waste are being poured into coastal waters. Industrial machinery pumps other millions of gallons through cooling systems, returning it to the sea barren.

The change in temperature destroys the teeming plankton upon which sea fish such as herrings, pilchards and spratts feed. And modern trawling methods, scraping the bottom instead of using drift nets, sweep up great masses of fish, many wastefully used not as food but for fish meal.

When the trans-Atlantic cable was opened in 1858, the first messages to be exchanged were between President Buchanan and Queen Victoria of England.

Owens Only 100 of 6 1/2 Million Studebaker-Packard Stocks

Raises Fuss at Shareholders Meetings

By DAVID J. WELKE
AP Automotive Editor

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (U.P.) — Sol A. Dann, Detroit attorney, who has enlisted previous meetings of Studebaker-Packard Corp. shareholders to renew his opposition to management at today's annual meeting.

Dann, owner of 100 of Studebaker-Packard's outstanding 6,440,455 shares of common stock, said he will challenge the vote by which Curtis-Wright Corp. was given a contract to manage Studebaker-Packard. A similar motion was rejected last year, more than 92 per cent of the votes cast being against the motion.

The meeting (3 p.m. Eastern Standard Time) will name 11 directors for the ensuing year.

In his major proposal Dann charged more than 20,000 stockholders voted five and three times, that demands of previous years were not met and that more than $50,000,000 was committed for the Curtis-Wright program although the share stockholders voted against management.

His resolution calls for appointment of a committee to include himself, to re-examine the proceedings and recount the votes of the Oct. 31, 1956 meeting that accepted the Curtis-Wright program.

Dann is joined in his motions against S-P's management by his wife, owner of five shares of stock, as representative of the American Stockholders Protective Assn. Dann has not disclosed the holdings of the association.

Other Dann proposals, also previously rejected, include: To fix the place for holding annual meetings; to furnish a list of stockholders to Dann; to require specifically marked proxies in certain cases; to make stenographic transcripts of meetings available and to make a director ineligible for re-election if no dividends were paid during the three years he was a director prior to any meeting.

Studebaker-Packard has seen its penetration of the car market shrink sharply during the last year. Its output, which represented 1.07 per cent of the industry's volume in the first quarter of 1957, dropped to 0.77 per cent in this year's initial quarter.

But it has introduced what its president, Harold E. Churchill, describes as a "hard and lean" operations policy. It reported 1957 losses were reduced to $13,325,106 as contrasted with a loss of $42,312,297 in 1956 before special charges of $9 million dollars.

Churchill says the "hard and lean" program still is in effect. S-P has had frequent shutdowns this year to hold down dealer inventories. In this it apparently has been successful.

So far this year it has built approximately 12,000 cars; its Benz model sales are estimated roughly at about 11,000. At the same point last year its output came to approximately 24,000 units and retail sales to about 15,700 units.

Through the Curtis-Wright agreement, Studebaker-Packard acquired rights to market the foreign-built Mercedes-Benz line of cars and to use engineering features of Mercedes-Benz. It apparently has abandoned a plan to market a small wheelbase, low priced car.

Instead it is promoting its Scotsman model, selling at under $2,000. With this conventional size, high fuel-mileage vehicle, S-P has units in every price field, ranging up to $13,000 for the top Mercedes-Benz model.

Oldest Home of Early Man Given to U.S.

WASHINGTON — Russell Cave, the oldest known home of primitive man in the southeastern United States, has been given to the American people as an archaeological monument by the National Geographic Society.

Deeply buried deposits of bones, tools, weapons and ancient fires show that the limestone cavern near Bridgeport, in northeast Alabama, sheltered Stone Age families some 9,000 years ago.

Dr. Melville Bell Grosvenor, president and editor of the Society, announced that the site has been turned over to the federal government to preserve it for the education and enjoyment of future generations.

The gift includes a 265-acre farm where the huge cave stands in the slope of a wooded cliff. The cave opening is a gash 100 feet across and 20 feet high—facing east over a long, pleasant valley. The Society bought the cave and farm in 1936 to safeguard it for research.

disclosed in thanking the Society for its "generous and far-sighted offer."

"The continuous and unique record of human occupation of Russell Cave for over 9,000 years makes this site one of the most important scientific archaeological areas east of the Mississippi River," Secretary Seaton said.

AEC Studies Effect of Underground Blast

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (INS) — The Atomic Energy Commission is drilling deep into the heart of a small Nevada mountain to study the effect of the September atomic blast on underground rock.

Henry G. Vermillion, deputy director of information for the AEC, Albuquerque office, said the scientists want to learn how far out from the center of the explosion the radioactive stuff was able to spread.

Vermillion said the real purpose of the September blast was to find if it was possible to set off an atomic blast underground without escape of radioactivity. He said a tunnel was driven 2,000 feet into the side of the mountain and the inner end of the tunnel was hooked like a handle of a walking cane, so the force of the blast would be self-sealing.

China Nationalist Spies Face Death on Missions

By REELMAN MORIN
TAIPEI, Formosa (U) — This man has no name. He hides by day and works at night. If he is caught, he will be killed. Nobody will admit they ever heard of him, much less knew what he was doing. He is a spy for the Chinese Nationalists. This correspondent talked with him in a governmental office on Formosa. The interview was on condition that no details that might identify him would be reported. He told this story: He has been going into Red China for more than three years as part of an espionage network operating continually among the Communists. His last mission took him to South China. He operated from a mountainous region "between Fukien and Kiangsi provinces." There he set up posts. A post is a village or collective farm where he has accomplices. They are farmers or laborers. They hide him and provide him with food. They also gather information, primarily military and economic intelligence. "But we also learn all we can about living conditions

Rejects Latest Ike Proposal

Move by Khrushchev Raises New Doubts on Summit Sincerity

By JOHN M. NIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (U)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has rejected a proposal from President Eisenhower to start new disarmament negotiations by opening East-West talks on arms control measures.

The turnaround, in a Khrushchev letter to Eisenhower made public last night, is the latest in a series of Soviet moves which have raised grave doubt here as to whether Moscow is presently prepared to enter any serious negotiations with the West on terms it does not dictate. To explore Soviet intentions further on this point, the United States, Britain and France have decided to urge the U.S.S.R. to agree promptly to joint diplomatic talks in Moscow on summit conference arrangements and issues.

The Khrushchev letter got prompt attention from Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, who met at the White House late yesterday. Press secretary James Hagerty said it was a reply to a letter from Eisenhower to Khrushchev of April 8 and that it did not contain anything new.

Later, acting on behalf of the White House, the State Department said that Khrushchev's letter rejects the main point of the President's letter of April 8, in which Eisenhower had urged that the Soviet Union agree to technical disarmament studies covering control measures for both nuclear and conventional armaments.

Probe Jets Stunting Close to Airliners

LOS ANGELES (U)—The Air Force has ordered a formal investigation of reports of jets stunting dangerously close to commercial airliners.

Aerobatics on a civil airway, if verified, would mean a court-martial that could lead to the stunting pilot's dismissal from the Air Force, a spokesman said.

The announcement came on the heels of a report by two commercial pilots, Al Shelly and Robert Chase, that six Air Force F100 jet fighters were stunting near their airliners over Nevada last Monday—the day of an air collision that killed 49 persons.

Egyptians Give Facial to Sphinx

Antiquities Department Using Plastic Surgery to Hide Scars

By JULIE SMITH
Always Travel Writer

CAIRO—The Sphinx with her inscrutable smile is getting a facial. Plastic surgery, performed by the Egyptian Department of Antiquities, will hide the disfiguring scars of time, sand and vandalism.

When the beauty treatment is done, the 4,500-year-old guardian of the Pyramids and the Nile Valley will have a complexion as good as new.

FACE OF TIME

Though referred to as "she," the Sphinx is thought to bear the face of King Chephren, builder of the Second Pyramid. The body, 240 feet long, is in the form of a recumbent lion. The massive head towers 66 feet into the desert sky. Its gigantic proportions, imperishable eyes, sensitive mouth and high cheekbones have made the Sphinx an object of speculation and admiration through the centuries.

The mystery of how the Sphinx was built, why and by whom has never been completely solved. The lion is Egyptian mythology is often the guardian of sacred places, but how this conception arose is not known. Behind her mask of serenity, the Sphinx has guarded her secrets well.

Sophocles wrote of "The Sphinx and her enigma." Emerson said, "She broods upon the world." Novelist Robert Hitchens had this to say: "He who created it looked beyond Egypt, beyond the life of man. He grasped the conception of Eternity and realized the nothingness of Time, and he rendered it in stone."

Scholars claim that the Sphinx was hewn out of living rock 2,500 years before the birth of Christ. Though it is probable that the Sphinx served as a royal portrait, its original purpose was forgotten 1000 years after it was completed. The colossus, for example, was identified as a sun god and worshipped as "Horus in the Horizon" during the New Kingdom, circa 1570 B.C.

The original face was carefully carved and painted red, but the lion's body was crudely blocked out and overlaid with plaster. Through the ages, the giant figure was badly damaged. Vandals broke off the nose, cracked holes in the head, and knocked out chunks of the body in a futile search for buried treasure.

The Sphinx suffered drastically, too, at the hands of the Moslems who abhorred images in any form. The Mamelukes took pot-shots at the head, and the ravages of wind-blown sand did the rest. Both the Sphinx's beard and a cobra emblem on the forehead were carted off to the British Museum in London.

Many bits and pieces, scattered across Europe, now repose in showcases and museums despite the demand of Egyptologists for their return to Cairo.

Study Weather With Grenades
Arctic Region Blasts in Upper Atmosphere Reveal New Findings

WASHINGTON (U)—Scientists are studying the upper atmosphere near the arctic regions with something new in the way of thermometers—explosive grenades shot from a rocket.

The new technique was described today by the U.S. Committee of the International Geophysical Year in announcing a highly successful season of rocket probes of the upper atmosphere over far northern Canada.

The project, carried out by U.S. and Canadian scientists at Ft. Churchill, Man., included the first firing of rockets into displays of the Aurora Borealis, or Northern Lights.

The committee indicated that scientists expect the information gathered will result in better understanding of how long-distance radio transmission on earth is sometimes bedeviled by the Auroras.

To get the information, the committee said, the scientists had to develop what it called ingenious techniques to measure the temperature and density of the atmosphere and the vertical distribution of pressure.

That's where the grenades were put to use.

The work was conducted by firing rockets into the ionosphere between 45 and 160 miles above the earth's surface—a portion of the atmosphere which the committee said is out of reach of balloons and, for the most part, below the level of satellite orbits.

"Although the rocket is the only means of attaining the right heights, its great speed does not allow an ordinary thermometer probe to come into equilibrium with the atmosphere," the committee said.

"It therefore becomes necessary to calculate temperature indirectly from pressure, density or velocity of sound."

The IGY scientists used 18 explosive grenades ejected from a rocket at timed intervals.

"On the ground," the announcement said, "an array of sensitive microphones is spaced 1,000 yards apart in the form of a cross. Each microphone 'hears' the burst of a slightly different time. By noting the time taken for the sound to travel from rocket to ground, average temperature of the air can be computed, and the difference in arrival time at the various microphones yields a measure of average upper level wind velocity and direction."

Israelis Holding 'Birthday Party'
Dance in Jerusalem's Streets in Marking End of Decade as Nation

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (U)—Israelis danced in the streets until dawn today to celebrate the 10th anniversary of their nation's founding.

The festive celebrations today of the Jewish state's first decade included a military parade through Jerusalem for which troops and armor had been brought into the city. Israeli officials apparently planned to ignore Jordan's protests that the concentration of military equipment violated the 1949 armistice dividing the city between Israel and Jordan.

The nationwide birthday party was touched off by a 10-gun salute broadcast the length of the 8,050-square-mile nation. It was the signal for fireworks displays and street dancing by many of the nation's almost two million Jews.

Loudspeakers carried polkas to the crowds in Jerusalem. In Tel Aviv more than 1,500 entertainers gave free variety shows at six stages erected in main streets.

Some 10,000 tourists were in the crowds that packed Tel Aviv for a large fireworks display. Cabinet ministers, rabbis, diplomats and specially invited German guests joined in the holiday spirit.

Almost every house in Tel Aviv was decorated with flags and bunting. Huge murals of Bible scenes and heroes hung across the main streets.

The anniversary officially began yesterday morning. A two-minute silence was observed throughout the nation at 10 a.m. and memorial services were held in synagogues.

Grandma Had It Easy

Hand Care Simple but Constant

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There is nothing more prominent about a woman than her hands — unless she has a 40-inch bust-line! Few women have this measurement without a corresponding 33 (or more)-inch waistline, fortunately or unfortunately, I leave that for men, historians and philosophers, to decide.

Anyway, let's get back to hands. Modern woman uses her hands in many ways which were unknown to her grandmother. The latter's heaviest work was often her needle work and she was proud of her white soft hands. She had more help with the housework, and did not indulge in detergents or sports or sunbathing.

Today the feminine hand can wield a tennis racket or golf club, do the laundry, wash the dishes, sew, garden, and still look lovely across the dinner table. Of course modern hands are given great care and fall heir to many current beauty aids. Here are a few suggestions for you:

Take a good look at your hands. Are you taking care of them properly? They are very important to your personality.

1. Wear cotton gloves when doing your house cleaning. Otherwise the dust and dirt dig into your hands and cause them to become rough. Wear these also when gardening or doing any outside work.

2. Always wear rubber gloves when the hands are to be in soapy water. The detergents and many soaps used for household duties are hard on the hands. Remember, too, that hot water is irritating. Use warm water whenever possible.

3. Always massage a good hand lotion or cream into the hands after washing them. Keep several bottles of lotion scattered about the house so that you will have one in every bathroom, and on each floor. This habit certainly will pay you pleasant dividends.

4. Use a creamy soap, one that is not too alkaline.

5. If you do your own housework, do not wear your nails too long. You will be sure to break one or two off and that is much less attractive than shorter, well rounded nails which are all the same length.

6. Every woman needs a nail brush and some cuticle cream even if she gets her manicures at a beauty salon.

HANDS ARE TELLTALE

Hands reflect our mood and habit of thought. They can be jittery, habit of thought. They can be jittery, fluttery or clenched and tense. Many women are awkward with their hands. Study charming women you know and watch the actresses of the stage and screen to see what they do with their hands, why they appear so graceful.

If you would like to have my exercises for the hands, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 12. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow, "Exercise Alone will Trim Waist if Weight is Right."

College Can Train for Marriage Too

By RUTH MILLETT

Most of the girls I know who are planning on going on to college," says a high school senior, "are going just because their parents expect them to."

"They aren't really interested in anything but getting married, but most of them are afraid to tell their parents that."

Parents of any daughter who does get up the courage to say, "What's the use of my going to college?—I don't want a career—I just want to get married and have a home and children," shouldn't be thrown into a tangle of disappointment.

Instead, they ought to try to sell her on the idea of a college education on her own terms, by saying something like this:

"Of course, you want to get married. That's right and normal. But if you intend to marry and create a home for a husband and children you are going to need a good education."

Then they should explain: "You'll need an education to better understand your husband and children. And unless you have taken the opportunity to enrich your own life through learning, how can you create the kind of home atmosphere that encourages your husband and children to make the most of their abilities and opportunities and to enjoy all the riches open to those who enjoy using their minds?"

"Higher education isn't wasted on a girl whose one and only ambition is to be a homemaker. For then it not only enriches the life of an individual—but of a whole family."

"So, actually, what we want for you isn't too different from what you want for yourself. We, too, want you to have a husband, a home and children."

"But we want you to wait to decide on who your husband is going to be until you've had a better preparation for living than you have at 17 or 18.

"And we would like to see you bring to the career of homemaker all the knowledge and understanding and appreciation that we think a college education will give you."

Prep Front

By CHUCK ABRAH

The monthly Bulletin published by the Michigan High School Athletic Association contains a section that proves valuable the year round for prep athletic directors and coaches. It is labeled—Games Wanted.

School officials in every part of the state pay close attention to those pages in arranging their future schedules.

It actually serves the same purpose as a want-ad section in a newspaper listing the various schools seeking games in the different sports. Most schools fill in their open dates through this means.

Pontiac Central, Pontiac Northern and Rochester are the Oakland County schools listed in the April issue among those trying to line up future foes.

Tom Dodson is trying to arrange a football game for Central next Oct. 25 here and several football and hoop contests for Northern. Northern has three open grid dates in both 1959 and '60 and two for basketball next December.

Rochester's Jay Eldred hopes to schedule a home-and-away grid series for the next two years for the Falcons with either another Class B school or a small "A" team.

SKIPPING AROUND—Frank Fink off to another good start with 28 points in two dual track meets for Walled Lake... Warren Cawley has 43 in three starts for Farmington... Flint-Central appears in a class by itself in the Valley golf loop... Rugged John Zeeman of Milford has swatted three homers in the last two games going into today's contest at Holly.

Thieves looted some of the locker rooms during the Massillon Relays. Pontiac's Jim Keller lost a jacket and shoes... Jim Amel, a valuable assistant to busy John Coleman in keeping Waterford's golf team going... Clarkson has two sets of brothers in its baseball lineup. They are Dave and Neil Gaddis, Leroy and John Parks.

Transfers Barry Armstrong and Bill Jordan are a help to Bloomfield Hills' track team. Armstrong, a sophomore from Redford Union, won the mile at Keego and has done as low as 5:06 in practice. Jordan moved here from the state of Washington. He is a senior 440 relay specialist... Royal Oak schools, Dondro in the Border Cities and St. Mary in the Suburban Catholic, are seeking title repeats in baseball.
