

Blizzard Buries East Under 17 Inches of Snow

Worst Since '47 Fatal to Eight; State Spared

Major Seaboard Cities Suffer Bad Case of Hardening of Arteries

From Our News Wires

The worst Eastern blizzard since the famous storm of 1947 hit 14 states today, whipping more than 17 inches of snow into heavy drifts that smothered normal activity and caused a growing number of deaths. Michigan happily escaped the brunt of the storm, although low temperatures prevailed and some cities reported generous snowfalls.

Nothing in Michigan, however, matched the misery of the East, where at least eight deaths were blamed on the winter preview.

The storm dealt major blows to New York City, where the heaviest snowfall of 17 inches of snow, snarling transportation, crippling business and closing schools.

The New York Stock Exchange and American Stock Exchange were forced to delay by an hour the opening of trading because of the transportation snarl. Things were so bad, even the weatherman couldn't make it to work.

—Boston, where air traffic was halted and other transportation crawled along after 14 inches of snow covered the city.

—Washington, where snow piled 8 inches deep in downtown streets forced the federal government to a grueling halt. All federal offices except those concerned with the nation's security were closed for the morning.

—Philadelphia, where had up to 15 inches of snow. Traffic in Pennsylvania was at a standstill and planes and schools were closed.

The snow stopped falling in New York City at 1 p.m. with a total accumulation of slightly more than 17 inches. Drifts ranged up to 5 feet.

Throughout the East, road and air traffic was paralyzed and schools closed.

Most major airports in the coastal areas were closed down. A number of major highways were littered with abandoned cars.

Train and New York City subway schedules were curtailed, and bus and car traffic was held to a crawl.

A Greyhound bus due in Hartford, Conn., at 3 a.m. still was missing late this morning.

Trailways Bus Lines halted operations from New England to Washington, even to the point of ordering buses already out to halt at the next station. Greyhound issued similar directives.

Suburbs and cities suffered alike. New York City and environs seemed hardest hit, but Boston, Camden and Newark, N.J. were among other major population centers suffering heavily.

The storm, born in Texas, packed lightning and winds up to 30 miles an hour. It piled drifts up to 3 feet in Camden.

The weather bureau said the storm swept the District of Columbia and 14 states, including New England's six states, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia and Ohio.

INTENSITY SURGE

The storm started its attack Sunday night, 10 days before winter. The weather bureau offered plenty of warning, but was surprised at the sudden intensity.

The New York weatherman first predicted 4 inches, but after 12 fell on the city by 6:30 a.m., he would only say that several more inches could be expected.

New York Weather Bureau Chief Ernest J. Christie called his office from his suburban Long Island home and said it was (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

UAW Listing Contract Goals for '61

DETROIT (U)—The United Auto Workers' six top officers met here today to map plans for selling the UAW's 24-member international executive board a schedule of goals for 1961 contract bargaining.

The board will get the recommendations of the officers Tuesday and debate them the rest of the week. Then it will face the task of selling a special UAW convention in Detroit April 26-29 its priority list.

Free doubt that a shorter work week with no loss in pay will be a major goal. Many auto workers are among the unemployed and many in top union spots advocate a shorter week to spread the work.

Today's meeting and subsequent ones of the board will be closed. Whether the goals will be announced publicly in advance of an attempt to sell them at local levels was not indicated.

President Walter P. Reuther, Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey and the UAW's four vice presidents attended today's meeting. The vice presidents are Leonard Woodcock, Pat Greenhouse, Norman Matthews and Richard T. Gosser, the latter among outspoken advocates of a 30-hour week with no loss in 40-hour pay.

Current three-year contracts between the UAW and the auto industry begin running out next August, when parts expire with the big three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. Negotiations on new ones will begin 60 days in advance of expiration.

Today's fighting began when Moslem rioters tried to storm the center of the city but were (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Reuther Expects Expanded Medical Care for the Aged

By PETER LACHMIE

Congress during its next session will expand coverage of medical care to the aged benefit, Walter A. Reuther predicted in Pontiac yesterday.

Broader coverage will be backed by the White House, the United Auto Workers Union president told a capacity crowd of 350 at ceremonies dedicating Pontiac's new $100,000 headquarters of Fisher Body Local 394, UAW.

Reuther accused President Eisenhower of using "moral pressure" on Congress to kill the aid plan championed by President-elect John F. Kennedy during the hotly-contested session of Congress in September.

"In January or will have a new president who will work to get a broad plan through," Reuther told the enthusiastic gathering at the new $100,000 headquarters of Fisher Body Local 394, UAW.

Reuther said that threat of an Eisenhower veto caused defeat of an aid plan based on Social Security. Proponents said this plan would cover 16 million Americans, instead of the 12 million covered by the bill Eisenhower signed in October.

Reuther listed more schools and more housing as two other legislative aims.

He indicated that the UAW may talk about full employment and improved pension plans during negotiations with the auto industry for new contracts next year.

Also speaking were Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer; Kenneth Morris and George Morrell, codirectors of Region 1 UAW; Mayor Philip R. Kowalski; and Gerald W. Kehoe, president of Local 396.

Mazey proposed a cabinet-level department of planning "to create full employment by the intelligent use of national resources."

Reuther called full employment, based on nonmilitary production, "essential" for the United States in the cold war.

"We've got to prove that our system, based on freedom, can find practical answers to the basic needs of the human family," he said.

But the UAW leader predicted that current unemployment levels "will get worse before they get better."

He predicted that a backing of new cars in the auto industry will produce more layoffs. He said dealers' inventory amounted to $72,000 unsold autos nationally.

Reuther and Mazey congratulated the local for completion of the building program. The new hall at 821 Baldwin Ave. is next door to the converted home that served as headquarters nearly a quarter of a century.

Good wishes came in messages from Sen. Philip A. Hart and Gov. Elmer L. A. Swainson, both of whom sent regrets at not being able to attend.

Helicopters Join Search for Skin Diver's Body

Two helicopters joined 20 police and volunteer skin divers today in the search for the body of 27-year-old James Clark of Fraser, who drowned while skin-diving yesterday afternoon in Green Lake.

Clark and a companion became trapped while swimming under the ice in the West Bloomfield Township lake.

The other diver, Edward Long, 22, of Melvindale, managed to break through the ice and pull himself out of the lake.

He was perched down through the ice for some sign of his companion when G. E. Bowles who lives along the shore, at 2300 Wellington drive, spotted Long.

Bowles went out and asked Long what was the matter. "My friend is down there somewhere," said Long.

Bowles asked if he wanted him to phone the police. Long said "He still has about 15 minutes of air left in his tank." Bowles ran home and telephoned the sheriff's department anyway.

Members of the township police and fire departments, sheriff's deputies, including skin diver Medward Tessier, and divers from the Waterford Township police, Ernest Mann and Richard Beckman, were at the scene within 10 minutes.

The divers went into the frigid water, but failed to find Clark.

They continued the search until dark, and resumed it today, with the aid of 17 other skin divers from the area. The Coast Guard and the Air Force supplied two helicopters in the search. One of the copters also flew a mine detector to the lake. However, attempts to make contact with the victim's metal tank failed. The copters hovered over (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Adlai to U.N.; Bowles Named Undersecretary

Stevenson, Who Had Hedged on Accepting, Seems Satisfied Now

PALM BEACH, Fla. (U)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today picked Dean Rusk, head of the Rockefeller Foundation, to be his secretary of State.

Kennedy also announced at a news conference the appointment of Adlai E. Stevenson as ambassador to the United Nations.

And he named Rep. Chester Bowles, D-Conn., as undersecretary of State.

Rusk, a Democrat who served as an assistant secretary of State in the Truman administration, was at his side. Stevenson and Bowles were not present.

Kennedy offered the U.N. ambassadorship to Stevenson, the 1952 and 1956 Democratic presidential nominee, last week. But Stevenson asked for time to think it over—apparently wanting to know first who would be secretary of State.

The announcement of Stevenson's appointment meant, therefore, that he was willing to serve under Rusk.

Rusk, 51, is a native of Georgia and a Presbyterian. He has been head of the Rockefeller Foundation for nine years.

Kennedy, reading a prepared statement, said Rusk would bring to the new administration his particularly strong record of ability in the field of foreign affairs.

Kennedy mentioned specifically Rusk's former association with the State Department.

On the new administration's foreign policy, Kennedy said he hoped to see that it become generally identified with the concept of "freedom," and not simply anti-Communist.

Supreme Court Wraps
Knuckles of Louisiana Legislators

WASHINGTON (U)—The Supreme Court unanimously upheld today a decision of a three-judge federal court in New Orleans which swept aside special Louisiana laws to preserve segregation.

Like the lower court, the Supreme Court bluntly rejected Louisiana's effort to block desegregation by invoking the old doctrine of interposition.

This is a theory that the state can interpose its sovereignty between federal courts and state citizens.

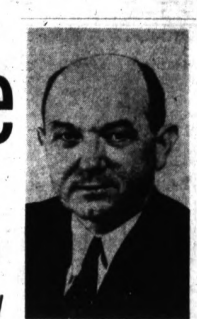

The Supreme Court said this doctrine is without substance, and effected an earlier ruling to this effect in an Arkansas school case.

In another matter, the Supreme Court issued a final decree putting into effect its May 31 decision on ownership of oil and other underwater resources in the Gulf of Mexico.

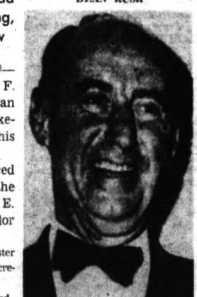

In that decision, the high tribunal held that Texas and Florida own such resources for 10½ land miles out from their shores. But the court limited to 3½ land miles the offshore rights of Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi.

All beyond those boundaries on the continental shelf belongs to the federal government; the Supreme Court said.

In a second school decision, the court struck down as too broad an Arkansas law requiring public school teachers to make annual affidavits listing organizations to which they have belonged or contributed in the last five years.

Blame 2 Deaths on Slick Roads

Detroiters Die From Injuries Sustained in Accidents on U.S. 10

Slippery driving conditions on U.S. 10 north of Pontiac contributed to two traffic deaths in Oakland County over the weekend.

Both victims were Detroiters, injured in separate mishaps during a light snow fall Saturday afternoon. Six others were injured in one of the era-crashes, none of them from Oakland County.

Dead are Mrs. Faye M. May, 66, who died in Pontiac General Hospital early yesterday, and Elmer Blunt, 36, dead on arrival at Flint's Hurley Hospital Saturday.

Mrs. May died of injuries suffered when her northbound car swerved into a southbound car in Springfield Township.

Injured were Raymond Ridley, 54, of Flint, the other driver, and his passengers, Mrs. Irma Havers, 57, Mrs. Eula Goodell, 59, and Mrs. Violet Dickinson, 51, all of Flint.

Injured Mrs. May's car were Mrs. Effie Otis, 74, of Detroit, and Cynthia Lenz, 11, of Warren.

Ridley and Mrs. Havers were in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General, both suffering broken legs. Mrs. Otis was in fair condition with broken ribs and Mrs. Goodell in satisfactory condition with cuts on her legs.

Cynthia Lenz and Mrs. Dickinson were treated for minor injuries.

Blunt's northbound car went out of control and hit a pole in Holy Township just south of the Genesee-Oakland line. He was alone in the car.

driven back by troops and police who fired on them.

Later, rioters surged down from the Casbah and from settlements on the city limits to attack Europeans. The center of the city was rocked by explosions.

De Gaulle will end his hands-off policy and support of his determination policy for Algeria Tuesday.

No official reason was given but the uprisings Sunday in Algiers and Orlan bordering on open insurrection may have led to his decision to hurry back to the seat of government.

De Gaulle has kept in touch with Paris officials by telephone during his trip but may have decided that dealing with the danger of further revolt and fighting between Europeans and Moslems in Algeria required first-hand attention in the capital.

FRENCHMAN HARMFUL.

It also is possible that officials had persuaded the usually stubborn general that his continued presence in Algeria might lend itself to even greater disorder.

De Gaulle himself spent the night at Bougie and was conferring with French military authorities to win their support for his plan for a referendum that would permit the predominantly Muslim Algerians to determine their own future.

De Gaulle has demanded that any referendum be held under protection of the French army and that United Nations and a new Impasse seemed certain.

Abbas said the rebels would fight to final victory even if it endangered world peace.

open water while observers scanned the depths.

The ice extends some 100 yards from the shoreward shore. It measures six inches thick at most points.

According to Long, he and Crane decided to swim across Green Lake under water at a party held by the Ford Laney and Water Burns skin diving clubs Saturday night.

The next day, they plunged into the icy waters from in front of the Gerald S. Crane home at 5477 Alder Road, on the north shore of Green Lake. Other members of the clubs stood by to watch.

"We were swimming underwater for about 14 minutes, reaching a depth of about 30 feet, when I felt the bottom starting to slant upward," said Long.

"We went up to surface and began against the ice instead. I tried to bust it with my fist but couldn't."

Long said he motioned Clark to swim back out, and as he turned to leave, he felt Clark grab at his fin. "But when he turned around, I couldn't find him."

"I thought he must be swimming out, away from the ice, so I did the same, hitting up at the ice as I went," Long said. Finally, he hit a weak spot and was able to break through. He pulled himself out onto the ice and began looking for Clark.

But the victim, who is survived by two young children, besides his wife who is expecting another child, never escaped the cold waters.

"I don't think Clark panicked or got lost," said Long. "He was too experienced for that."

"It's possible his air hose froze up... then he can happen when swimming near ice for too long a time," Long added.

Meanwhile, police were trying to locate Mrs. Clark at Milford. She was finally located by Crane, who went out to pick her up and tell her what had happened.

Sheriff's Deputy Donald Kratt, who heads the Oakland County Water Patrol, shook his head. "They broke a lot of safety rules — skin diving under ice without a line, no safety man on top and no compass."

Clark was employed by General Motors Corp.'s Terenst Division in Detroit.

School-Needs Survey Reported Near Completion

BIRMINGHAM — The job of gathering information for the Birmingham school building needs survey is nearly complete, according to Stuart Otis M. Dickey.

"In this extensive undertaking," stated Dickey, "we have enjoyed the most helpful cooperation of our staff and of the public officials and the community which comprise our school district."

"We feel confident that the district will benefit for many years to come from the sounder decisions to be made possible by the analysis of this information and from the resulting recommendations."

The survey was approved by the board of education in October. Analysis of the data and recommendations to the board will be made by the Bureau of Educational Research and Service, Ohio State University.

A wide variety of information about school district needs in a survey of this type, Dickey explained. Some items include present population and future forecasts, proposed housing developments, the proposed educational program, class schedules and class sizes.

Dickey said added importance is attached to this survey as an attempt will be made to estimate the school population when the land in the district is completely built up. This will provide the school board and administration with some guidelines for long range planning.

Some decisions to be faced by the board in Spring, Dickey said, include:

1. How can the pupils now being bussed from Walnut Lake and Bloomfield Villages elementary schools best be provided for?

2. Is the current plan for the new school, already approved by voters, a wise move at this time or would additions elsewhere be more sound?

3. When enrollments at Groves Junior-Senior High School exceed designed capacity in 1961-62, with the addition of the 12th grade, should the planned addition then be built or should a separate junior high be constructed, or should both Groves and Seaborn become junior-senior high schools.

"When viewing the complexity of just the short range problems, it seems imperative that the best possible assistance be sought before we ask our community to commit itself to a solution," the superintendent said.

Walter O. Briggs III, president of former Detroit Tigers baseball player, said he is a candidate for Bloomfield Township trustee on the Republican ticket in the February 1961 primary election.

Briggs, 25, of 933 S. Reading Rd., announced he was circulating 100,000 petitions to win a place on the Feb. 20 township ballot.

Terms of two of the four township trustees — Samuel J. Reeve and Gordon T. Getzinger — expire next year.

Briggs is an assistant account executive for the Bloomfield Hills advertising agency of MacManus John & Adams Inc.

Mr. Whaling died Sunday.

A 1957 graduate of Birmingham High School, Whaling was a member of the Mayflower Congregational Church of Detroit.

He is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Clifton W. Whaling of Birmingham; a sister, Mrs. Barry L. Collier of Denver; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Whaling of Port Huron.

Uphaus Defends 'Tale-Bearing'

Free Preaching Pacifist After Year; He's Firm

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Dr. Willard Uphaus, 70, freed from a New Hampshire jail, said today his beliefs "against tale-bearing or bearing false witness" are as strong as ever.

The controversial pacifist and former Methodist lay preacher was released unexpectedly from Merrimack County jail in Bosworth, N. H., Sunday—two days before his scheduled departure.

Judge George R. Grant Jr. of New Hampshire Superior Court, ordered the release at the request of Uphaus' attorneys. His wife was on hand to greet him.

Uphaus issued a statement shortly after his arrival Sunday night, saying he had done "the only thing I could honorably have done."

He was jailed Dec. 14, 1959 for rejecting an official demand for names of those who attended a summer conference of the World Fellowship Center at Conway, N. H. Uphaus is executive director of the group.

The request was made in 1954

by New Hampshire Atty. Gen. Louis C. Wyman, who said he had "reliable information" that some of the guests at the conference were Communists.

Uphaus denied this and refused to turn over guest lists. The attorney general started a contempt action. The case dragged through the courts, culminating in a refusal by the U.S. Supreme Court to turn down his conviction.

Uphaus told a newsmen that his answer to a similar question now would be no different.

"Oh, yes, it will be the same," he said. "The ground on which I do this is as much a part of the moral order as the rising and setting of the sun."

Uphaus said he will begin making plans soon for another conference of the World Fellowship Center this summer.

He said his beliefs were based on Judeo-Christian doctrine which he said "teaches against tale-bearing or bearing false witness against people."

"According to my interpretation of the teachings of Jesus and my church, a person has the right to associate with persons of all faiths, races and political convictions," he added. "One should not be harassed simply because he associates with them."

Uphaus said he would start work on a speech he is scheduled to give in New York City Thursday night, and a sermon for a Boston congregation next Sunday.

69.6 Million Tons Iron Ore Shipped

CLEVELAND (AP)—A total of 69,631,799 gross tons of iron ore was shipped from Great Lakes ports during the season just ended—an increase from 22,759,339 tons over the strike-ridden 1959 shipping season, the American Iron Ore Association said.

November shipments this year amounted to only 1,942,980 tons, as the big carriers began laying up early because sluggish steel production curtailed demands. There was no 1960 December tonnage transported.

Of the total, 3,728,693 tons moved from Canadian Ports.

In 1959, following the end of the steel walkout, 5,620,904 tons of ore were brought down lakes in November and another 3,175,949 tons in December.

Medical Care Major Cost Item for Aged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Medical care forms an important part of the cost of living for a retired couple aged 65 or more, a government study has indicated.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimated it takes $220 to $280 monthly to support such a couple on a modest but adequate urban level.

Medical care, it was estimated, would take approximately one-fifth to one-fourth of the family's budget allowances for other than food or rent.

Cost of such care varies considerably, ranging from a high of $366 in San Francisco to $222 in Scranton, Pa., the bureau reported.

These figures were based on a survey of 20 cities in the autumn of 1959.

Taipei Population Near 900,000, Says Census

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The population of Taipei, capital of Nationalist China, is approaching the 900,000 mark. Census figures issued Saturday listed the city's population at 895,159, an increase of 3,578 from October.

SCHOOL IN FLAMES—Spectators took seats on tombstones in an adjoining cemetery at Tanner, Ala., Saturday and watched a fire destroy the home economics building at Tanner High School. Firemen prevented flames from spreading to other buildings. No one was injured. The damage was estimated at $25,000.

Rumor Separate NATO Force

Herter Discusses the Possibility of Individual Nuclear Rocket Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter expressed confidence today in the ability of the North Atlantic Alliance to meet "the changing conditions of the coming decade."

In a statement prepared for his departure for an Allied foreign ministers conference at Paris, Herter made no specific reference to proposals for creating a separate NATO nuclear rocket striking force.

However, he was known to be taking with him a number of suggestions as to how such a force might be created.

These suggestions cover the possibility that the United States may provide Europe's NATO command with several hundred Polaris missiles which would be subject to use by NATO rather than U.S. decision.

NO COMMENT
As the spokesman for the outgoing Eisenhower administration, Herter will not be in a position to make any commitment.

about future U.S. policy when he meets with other ministers of the 15-nation NATO Council Dec. 16-18.

Final decisions will be up to President-elect John F. Kennedy after he takes office Jan. 20. But Herter was expected to tell Allied leaders that he knows of no reason to believe Kennedy will not approve the project for a NATO nuclear force.

According to present State and Defense Department concepts the force would be primarily sea-based, based either on a fleet of nuclear submarines under NATO command or on other vessels which might be made available for the purpose.

Consumers Hearings Adjourned Till Dec. 19

Louisiana State Laws Ruled Unconstitutional

Three U.S. District Judges, all born in the deep South and understanding that point of view, have struck down the Louisiana Legislature's efforts to nullify the 1954 Supreme Court decision ending segregation. They spoke clearly and firmly in support of the Constitution.

Their opinion specifically declared that interposition, the doctrine by which a state tries to place its sovereignty between the Federal Government and the people of the state, was a subterfuge and unconstitutional. "Without support of the interposition act," say the judges, "the rest of the segregation package passed by the Louisiana Legislature falls of its own weight."

Whipped up by Gov. JIMMIE DAVIS and like minded politicians, white parents have been putting on disgraceful exhibitions outside two public schools in New Orleans to prevent admission of a few little Negro children. Speaking in a recent newscast on the integration battle, State Legislator T. J. STROTHER said this: "I want those people at Frantz and McDonough schools to pick out a tree with a big limb and I'll send them a rope so they can hang those white people who are sending their children to the schools (with Negro children). Maybe if we hang a few of them it will put an end to it." Later he said he didn't mean it and was sorry if his remarks were taken seriously. "I'd be the last man to encourage violence."

The victims in this situation are the school children of New Orleans. But the real dupes are the parents who are leading a hopeless struggle against the inevitable. Resistance has brought only shame to the state and to the whole country and supplied the Communists with live propaganda ammunition.

Belgian Property Grab Aids Egypt's Economy

President NASSER's excuse for seizing Belgian property in Egypt is indeed farfetched. He says it was in retaliation for the expulsion of his country's delegation from the Congo on order of Col. Mobutu because of intrigue.

Back of that move, says Nasser, were the "imperialist" Belgians. That doesn't make sense. Belgians were the first to be expelled from the Congo by the Congolese government and certainly are not friendly with Mobutu.

Let us see what Nasser gained from his unwarranted seizure: banks, power stations, buses, trolley cars, private property. With the exception of a small British oil company and a few small industries and private farm lands, socialization of Egyptian enterprise now is complete.

The seized properties were well managed and thriving and will do a lot for the state's not-so-healthy economy. Nasser's prestige among some Arabs will rise because of his kicking out of the "imperialists."

Mauritania Being Used as Pawn in Red Game

Mauritania became the 26th nation to attain freedom in Africa but due to Soviet obstructionism it was not admitted to United Nations membership.

Russia has its own reasons: Morocco claims suzerainty over this new Islamic Republic. By asking for admission of the Outer Mongolia satellite as the price of a Mauritania membership, the Russian delegate, who is this month's rotating President of the Security Council, backed Moroccan claims in a round about way.

This action tended to intensify the Algerian debate now going on in the General Assembly and is nothing short of cynical extortion. Opportunities for mischief are endless.

A couple of years ago Morocco invaded Mauritania, then under French rule, and was soundly beaten. Mauritians say they'd do it again. It would seem that self-determination for Morocco—freedom from France and Spain—was quite valid but, according to the Moroccans, when it comes to Mauritania that principle does not apply.

The Russian move was not subtle, and it is to be hoped that the new African nations see through the intrigue. The fact is that so long as the cold war continues and the Security Council veto stands, U.N. membership is not open to "all peace-loving nations" as the Charter provides.

The Man About Town

Keep Them Here Pioneer Material Should Be Saved for Its Pontiac Home

Genius: A man of 40 who knows half as much as he thought he did at 20.

A pamphlet issued by the Michigan Historical Commission at Lansing announces the receipt of 17 letters written by Moses Wisner of Pontiac to his family while he was in the Union Army in the Civil War. He had been governor of Michigan in 1859 and 1860, and refused to run for a second term because he foresaw the impending conflict between the states, and wanted to be at home to help drill the Pontiac recruits. He died of typhoid fever at Lexington, Ky., on Jan. 5, 1863.

In 1847 while a judge and Pontiac attorney he erected the home on Oakland Ave., now owned by the Oakland County Historical Foundation, which they are restoring as an historical shrine.

The same pamphlet tells of the receipt at Lansing of other letters written by Oakland County men when in the Union Army, including those from Daniel M. Caldwell, James Deloss Rowe, Joseph Jessup, George White and George H. Newton.

It seems that all of the above letters should be recalled for preservation in their proper place.

A Maine child breaks into the Associated Press because it has eight living grandmothers. Don't you know of a child who can equal that?

In cleaning out his desk the other day, Gregory Ricard of Waterford phones that he found his 1953 entry in our football contest which he thought he had mailed; also a check for four dollars, almost as old, from a man who died in 1955. "Now, that I've made this confession," he says, "I please refer me to a good memory specialist." If I knew of a good one, I'd consult him myself.

This column is quite in agreement with a letter received from 5-year-old Peter Quimby of Waterford, which says, "How cum; Santa Claus is in many stores at the same time."

The Detroit newspaper war is a bonanza for the radio stations, according to Blair Osler of Rochester, who asserts that they're now getting their best advertising revenue from the newspapers. And an already weary public suffers.

Hardly The Way To Win A Point

David Lawrence Says:

Stevenson Poses Prickly Issue

WASHINGTON — David K. E. Bruce, an experienced diplomat, is among the best qualified of all the men mentioned for appointment as secretary of state.

He has been ambassador to France, ambassador to West Germany, special envoy to the European coal and steel community, as well as assistant secretary of commerce, all of which have given him an intimate knowledge of the impact of economic problems on international affairs.

But the headlines on Bruce do not erase the pavement over President-Elect Kennedy's comment last week after he talked with Adlai Stevenson.

Kennedy was doubtless desirous of making the former Democratic presidential nominee feel that he wouldn't be filling the job of an ordinary ambassador or State Department underling if he took the post of U.S. representative in the United Nations. Kennedy's exact words were as follows:

"The United States ambassador to the United Nations must play a greater role in policymaking as well as in representing our foreign policy over its entire range. The United States ambassador to the United Nations must be a man of vision."

"The job is part of the Cabinet and it is my hope, if Gov. Stevenson accepts the position, that he will attend Cabinet meetings and will serve as a strong voice in foreign policy over its entire range."

"He has always answered the call of duty on every other occasion in his life, and I am hopeful that he will find it possible to serve the United States in this most vital position."

The foregoing, with its pointed mention of "a strong voice in foreign policy over its entire range" and of the fact that "the job is part of the Cabinet," sounded very much as if the President-Elect were trying hard to persuade Stevenson that he wasn't being offered a second-rate post.

There is a wistful implication that perhaps Stevenson shouldn't feel too disappointed because he wasn't being given the secretaryship of state, which he undoubtedly has wanted.

After all, as Kennedy remarks, the former governor of Illinois "has answered the call of duty on every other occasion in his life," and this may have reference to the assignments he took at the U.S. and elsewhere under other administrations, including that of President Eisenhower.

But Stevenson still hesitated. One reporter quoted him as saying: "It is fair to speculate that there are some unknown factors here which, in an intricate situation, require further clarification."

Enlargement (hypertrophy) of the tonsils is practically the only indication for surgical treatment—children seldom have infected tonsils.

But mere enlargement of the tonsils of children attending school does not call for surgical treatment—no more antibiotics and involving no more risk than the extraction of a tooth.

But they will not even be able to enter college—unless you mean—while cultivate the library habit and tactfully make them like books.

This could mean that Stevenson wants to know more about the policies he would be expected to espouse in the United Nations. It could mean that he was not intrigued merely by the idea of regular attendance at Cabinet meetings—for Henry Cabot Lodge was considered a member of the Eisenhower Cabinet right along.

What the whole incident signifies is that Stevenson, being himself a man of strong views on international questions, isn't going to be a messenger boy or even a parrot for the secretary of state, wherever he is.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Is Routine Tonsillectomy a Necessary Operation?

A recent news item told the pathetic story of the death of a child 14 years old who had been in a coma (unconscious, asleep) for nearly eight years.

At the age of 6, the child had been subjected to what was described as a routine tonsillectomy. According to the child's mother, her heart had stopped beating for four minutes during the operation. The child never regained consciousness.

The child developed normally, but during the eight years she lay asleep.

Cessation of heart beat for only a minute would very likely mean death to some of the cells in important brain centers. These cells demand a constant supply of oxygen (thru the blood) and may not survive interruption in the supply even for a few seconds.

When the child's heart stopped beating on the operating table, the doctors worked frantically and after four minutes got the heart going again, according to the newspaper story. No doubt the heart continued beating, feebly and irregularly, at least part of the time the doctors were working to restore normal function.

The question that occurs to me is whether routine tonsillectomy was really necessary? Tonsillectomy is dissection of the neck in an attempt to remove every bit of tonsil tissue, as tho it was cancerous.

The attempt is rarely successful—examination of the throat a week or month after the operation usually shows more or less tonsil tissue intact. It does not harm, of course, but the major operation known as tonsillectomy is actually only the minor operation known as tonsilotomy plus various unwarranted hazards.

Tonsillectomy is instantaneous removal of the obstructing portion of tonsil. It is a minor operation, as quickly over, requiring no more anesthesia and involving no more risk than the extraction of a tooth.

Enlargement (hypertrophy) of the tonsils is practically the only indication for surgical treatment—children seldom have infected tonsils.

But mere enlargement of the tonsils of children attending school does not call for surgical treatment—no more antibiotics and involving no more risk than the extraction of a tooth.

But they will not even be able to enter college—unless you mean—while cultivate the library habit and tactfully make them like books.

Kennedy, being very anxious to get an acceptance from Stevenson, painted a glowing picture of the importance of the job of U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. Everyone knows, however, who is going to be the real boss.

For Kennedy has some positive ideas about how a president should handle his subordinates and, when he makes a policy, he will expect the Cabinet and the ambassadors to follow what he has prescribed.

Kennedy is well aware that many of the so-called "liberals" throughout the country preferred Stevenson.

When the doctor examined the same children again, he found their tonsils had shrunk, although they had had no treatment—except open air, light, mud and sunshine during vacation.

It is only when enlargement (hypertrophy) of tonsils and adenoids causes constant or habitual mouth breathing, deafness, difficulty in swallowing, loss of resonance of the voice, regurgitation of food or stool, restlessness at night and rasping, hacking cough, speech impediment or apparent physical and mental lag, that tonsillectomy becomes necessary.

Signed letters, and more than one, have been sent to the American Medical Association and to the American Pediatric Society, asking them to advise the public that tonsillectomy is not a necessary operation.

Good 'Library Habit' Invaluable

Larry may flunk out of school before he reaches college age. For he does not have the "library habit." It is as vital to Larry's mental growth as the teeth. Mothers, be sure you build up the library habit, for excessive viewing of TV cheats a child of drill in reading. Poor readers flunk out.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE G - 449: Larry T., aged 11 is a TV addict.

"Dr. Crane," his school teacher aunts began, "I feel that Larry is becoming too 'ear-minded.'"

"He shuts books and lives in front of the TV screen," she said. "What can I do to help stimulate him to read?"

Mothers, the "library habit" is as vital to your child's mental growth as is the toothbrushing habit. It is for his dental health.

Milk, fruit juices and a well balanced menu help Larry a healthy body. But unless he becomes a good reader, he may remain mentally stunted.

So teach your children the "library habit." Youngsters who are heavy patrons of the local public library seldom have much trouble in grammar or high school.

Dads, many of you are drilling your sons to play football, baseball and other sports, thinking about their college years. But they will not even be able to enter college—unless you mean—while cultivate the library habit and tactfully make them like books.

Voice of the People:

'Observe Bill of Rights Day by Re-Reading Freedoms'

Dec. 15 is Bill of Rights day. Do you remember the importance of this date? Our precious Bill of Rights was incorporated 169 years ago in the Constitution of the United States of America. In it are the freedoms we cherish so dearly and which are the envy of oppressed people.

George Mason of Gunston Hall, Va., who first expressed these freedoms in the Virginia Declaration of Rights in 1776, spent the last years of his life struggling to have these rights attached to our Constitution. His lifelong role in the formation of this country has long been overlooked. It was he who wrote the fundamental liberties we take so much for granted—freedom of speech; freedom to assemble peacefully; the right to worship God as one is inclined; to live without fear of official harassment or of rigid trials and cruel punishment. We cannot imagine a nation of free men without these Constitutional clauses to protect the rights of the individual.

With the threat of communism spreading more widely through the world every American should pause to re-read the first ten Amendments to the Constitution, known today as the Bill of Rights. We take them so much for granted that we have lost the will to cherish them as they should be.

'Too Many Hours Asked of Workers'

If the teen-age boy who wrote to the Voice of the People could be in my shoes and listen to the greedy people in the shop, he would understand why he can't get a job.

We have employees in the shop getting ready for their night's rest when they were called to report for work. These employees were putting in from 10 to 16 hours a day.

These overtime people are only padding Uncle Sam's payroll. When a some employee ends up with 40 hours a week, they say, "What is wrong with the union?" In our next contract the union should ask for a 40 hour week and no overtime so there would be more jobs for the less fortunate people.

The people who have spent the best part of their life in the shop should get by with less work and enjoy their health.

'Migratory Worker's Plight Made Public'

Many of us were unaware of conditions in this country until the recent TV show called "Harvest of Shame." Now that we have been informed of these outrageous conditions, it became a moral obligation to each of us to do something, however small our effort.

A postal card to your congressman and senator protesting the exploitation of the migratory worker and his family will do wonders in alerting your elected officials to the fact that you are concerned with the problem. Not just those that are wealthy enough to have a lobby in Washington.

Also, at this time of economic crisis in this country, let us decide to buy American goods only. Thousands of our people are unemployed because of the massive importation of foreign made goods. Look at the label and if it is not made in the U.S. turn it down.

Smiles

At the end of a shopping trip a woman is weary, not to mention wet spent.

One good way to cut down on criticism is to do away with all second guesses.

Christmas Carol and "Little Sandy Sleigh" are ideal for stressing the religious theme of unselfishness.

"Swiss Family Robinson" is still a big hit. The McGuffey Bible contains a lot of good material for the young.

And your librarian can recommend literally scores of other helpful books to fit all ages and interests.

Chart your child's "library habit" by recording on your wall calendar the number of books per month that he borrows at the library.

Will Take 2 Years to Settle GOP Election Disputes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — GOP national chairman Thruston B. Morton, says President-Elect John F. Kennedy will have been in the White House nearly two years by the time Republican efforts to upset election results in Illinois and Texas are settled.

By then, he said, it will be too late to reverse the election outcome and make Vice President Richard M. Nixon the chief executive.

Morton said in a TV interview Sunday that there always was a possibility that Nixon could be elected president when the electoral votes are counted next Monday if Illinois' 27 votes were shifted from Kennedy and some unpledged Southern electors backed the Republican.

But, Morton said, "As a realist, I don't think there is a chance."

Two Argentina Air Crashes Kill 36

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Thirty-six persons—three of them Americans—were killed in two airplane crashes in Argentina Sunday.

An Argentine Air Ministry airplane with 32 persons aboard exploded and crashed about 80 miles north of Buenos Aires on a flight from Lima, Peru. All aboard were killed. Cause of the crash was undetermined.

Near Concordia, three Americans and an Argentine died when their chartered plane crashed in stormy weather.

Tennessee to Get Experiment Reactor

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a hollow of the Tennessee hills the government will build an unshielded reactor to study radiation effects on animals like rats, mice, pigs and burros.

Such studies previously were made during test explosions of actual atomic weapons. The Atomic Energy Commission said Friday that because such tests have been halted, the special reactor was needed to continue radiation research. The $1.4-million project will be built "in a hollow enclosed by hills of sufficient height to provide adequate shielding from surrounding areas" near the AEC's Oak Ridge, Tenn., laboratory, a spokesman said.

DETROIT (AP)—Great Lakes Steel Corp. says it will shut down all basic steel production from Dec. 24 to Jan. 3. The firm is located in suburban Ecorse and is the area's largest steelmaker. It blamed the shutdown on a lack of orders. It said it was not certain how many employees would be affected.

Dr. Dooley Heads Back to Laos Job

HONG KONG (UPI)—Dr. Tom Dooley, a brace supporting his cancer-infected spine, headed back to his hospital in the jungles of Laos Friday, vowing to continue his work.

"I'm not quitting. If I stop now, I probably will die sooner," the American physician said.

Dooley, who spent nine days in a hospital here, is taking $20,000 worth of medical supplies and equipment with him.

The young physician, fidgeting uncomfortably in the support he calls "the embrace of my iron maiden," said his doctor has not ordered him to do anything special.

"I'm a doctor myself and I know that my kind of cancer... as yet has no cure," he said.

Dooley looked thinner than when he was here a few months ago. He admitted his spirit is sagging but said the "heast" in him will not allow him to give up.

"There's so much to do, and if I have my way I would like to have a hospital in every valley," he said. "There already are 19 such hospitals."

'Lack of Public Demand'

U. S. Stops Publishing Red Articles in English

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Commerce Department has sharply curtailed its Sputnik-inspired program of supplying English translations of Soviet scientific literature.

Without making any public announcement, it was learned today, the department has stopped issuing 100 separate publications which boiled down every article appearing in 100 Soviet technical journals.

Partially to replace these, the department plans six new publications which will abstract only those articles in both Soviet and Chinese Communist magazines which are deemed most significant. Each of the six will cover a separate broad area of science and technology.

"Lack of public demand," was blamed for the curtailment in the program, established after the Soviets launched their first Sputnik in 1957. There were widespread complaints at that time that American scientists weren't keeping abreast of developments from behind the iron curtain.

John C. Green, director of the department's Office of Technical Services, which operates the program, cited three reasons for the disinterest in translations of the 100 complete publications.

U.S. scientists, he said, apparently had a "mental block" against adding voluminous Soviet translations to their already extensive diet of technical reading.

The old translations were not altered to the needs of the research scientist but were a by-product of intelligence gathering operations, he added. And, he said, the government may not have given the translations adequate promotion.

Green said the translation in the new series will be aimed more directly at the American scientist.

Aim for Short Inaugural Fete

That Means About 2½ Hours, Says 'Tough' Parade Director

WASHINGTON (AP)—The people in charge of the Kennedy inauguration parade Jan. 20 hope to keep it short as those things go—about 2½ hours.

"You've got to be tough," chairman Edward H. Foley said Friday.

Foley recalled that Republicans in 1952, jubilant at recapturing the White House after 20 years, put on a 4½-hour parade in the January chill.

Foley said the inaugural committee would seek from Congress an exemption from the 10 per cent federal amusement tax for tickets for seats along the parade route and to the twin inaugural balls. He said he didn't think the tax was designed for such events.

Parade tickets are priced at $3 to $25, and ball tickets from $25 to $40.

The committee is seeking a guarantee of $1 million from businessmen and Democratic well-wishers. Any surplus would go to charity.

Yearend Rally May Be Started

Stock Investment Firm Sees Hope; Business Machine Field Eyed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co. says the main reason for the abrupt rise last week seems to be that the market has been "oversold" and that prices are already recovering from year-end tax-loss selling. In addition, he says, the yearend rally appears to have started.

The Value Line Investment Survey said that the underlying growth trend in the demand for new type business machines is so strong that it will probably prevail in 1961 over the recessionary pressures in the economy.

Backlogs are up, the survey notes, while indications are that shipments to European markets will pick up significantly.

Sales gains next year may be somewhat wider than in 1960 but the survey cautions investors that current prices of business machine stocks are discounting prospective earnings improvement several years ahead.

B. K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cobb & Stetson also took note of the rally but says it still looks as if the overhead supply might be heavy. In terms of the average, he says, prices may continue to slide with weakness developing if the D-J industrial break 590.

Affiliated Fund, Inc. reports new holdings during the three months ended Oct. 31: Alterman Foods, Cenco Instruments, Crowell-Collier, Diamond National, Freeway Sulphur, Lockheed Aircraft, Louisiana Land & Exploration, Security-First National Bank (LA) and Spiegel, Inc. Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing. All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body. This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Senate Resignations of Jack, Lyndon Will Aid 2 Democrats

By JACK BELL. WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson intend to resign from the Senate shortly after the Electoral College makes their election as president and vice president official on Dec. 19. The resignations will open the way for the Democratic governors of Massachusetts and Texas to appoint two new senators with an edge in seniority over Democrats who take their seats the first time on Jan. 3.

Another appointment to the new Senate will be made by Wyoming's Democratic Gov. Joe Hickel. Republican Sen.-elect Keith Thomson of Wyoming died Friday, apparently of a heart attack. Thomson, 41, was a member of the House.

Hickel does not have to appoint a Republican. The appointee will serve for two years until a successor is elected at a general election.

TO AID MANSFIELD Johnson's decision to step out of office this month will clear the decks for Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana to step into the Texas's shoes as majority leader of the Senate as soon as it convenes. There had been some speculation that Johnson, who was re-elected to the Senate as well as being chosen for the vice presidency, might be sworn in for a new Senate term and serve until he is inaugurated, along with Kennedy, on Jan. 20.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota is in line to be chosen for Mansfield's present job as whip, or assistant leader. As the new leader, Mansfield expects to take over the chairmanships of the Democratic policy and steering committees and the chairmanship of the party conference.

Johnson's chairmanship of the Senate Space Committee is up for grabs. Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., will get the job if Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., decides to take the chairmanship of the Senate Interior Committee being vacated by retiring Sen. James E. Murray, D-Mont.

MANSFIELD MAY MOVE INTO the chairmanship of the Rules Committee, replacing Sen. Theodore Francis Green, D-R.I.

Green's retirement and Kennedy's approaching resignation has started a scramble for two places on the Foreign Relations Committee.

Democratic Sen. Dennis Chavez of New Mexico, Allen J. Eastland of Louisiana, James O. Eastland of Mississippi, John L. McClellan of Arkansas, Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina, Spessard L. Holland of Florida, A. Willis Robertson of Virginia and John Stennis of Mississippi all are eligible by seniority for one of the vacancies. But they would have to yield their places on other important committees to take it.

There are some other committee plums dangling. Kennedy leaves the chairmanship of a Labor subcommittee which handles such legislation as minimum wage and labor reform bills. This would go to Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who severely criticized Kennedy's version of a labor reform bill earlier this year.

Kennedy vacates a seat on the Senate-House Economic Committee, while Johnson leaves vacancies on the powerful Appropriation and Armed Services committees.

Disabled Workers Get First SS Checks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government reported that 104,318 disabled workers under the age of 50 received their first checks last week under a new provision of the Social Security law.

Social Security Commissioner William L. Mitchell said the workers and their dependents are the first of an estimated 250,000 persons made eligible for payments under 1960 changes in the program.

Previously disabled workers and their dependents were not eligible for Social Security payments while the worker was under 50.

They now have the same kind of income protection that is provided for retired workers.

Mitchell advised other severely disabled workers under 50 to contact their nearest Social Security office to see if they are eligible for benefits.

Names Make This Natural Honeymoon Spot

OCEAN CITY, N. J. (AP)—When Mayor Nathaniel C. Smith of this resort town heard of a newlywed couple in Spring Mills, Pa., by the name of Mr. and Mrs. Ocean Scitli (pronounced Ocean City), he seemed to be only one thing to do. So, he did it. He invited Mr. and Mrs. Scitli to spend a Spring honeymoon here, on Ocean City of course.

The Scitlis accepted. Commented the mayor Thursday: "People named Ocean Scitli just couldn't go anywhere else for a honeymoon."

Claims Castro Buys in Canada

Sen. Bush Says Fidel Depositing Money in Our Neighbor's Banks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., who recently returned from a Latin American visit, said Fidel Castro apparently is getting around the U.S. economic boycott against Cuba by buying goods in Canada.

He said Mexican sources told him the Castro regime has been withdrawing its funds from Mexico City banks and depositing them in Canadian banks. He told a reporter the Cubans "apparently are buying anything they want in Canada."

"I can't understand Canada's attitude," Bush said.

On Oct. 19 the United States banned the shipment to Cuba of nearly all commodities except medicines and certain foods. The action, taken in retaliation for "discriminatory" Cuban practices, was more drastic than the export curbs this country maintains against Russia.

Bush said he would ask Washington officials about the sale of goods from Canada, especially whether U.S.-made goods were being sold to Canadians for transshipment to Cuba.

State Department officials have expressed some concern that Canada might fill part of the gap in Cuban trade created by the U.S. embargo, but they have cited no specific instances.

Bush said he did not know how much Cuban money was being sent to Canadian banking interests for future negotiations. But he said, "I assume they are considerable amounts."

MSU Will Decide on Medical School

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State University Board of Trustees will study a plan to set up the first two years of medical school here when it meets on Friday.

University Provost Paul A. Miller said what he terms a "nebulous" biological studies program will be presented.

The proposed program is the result of a study of the needs of medical education and MSU's studies.

A committee, of which Miller is a member, recently received a $167,000 grant from the Commonwealth Fund of New York City to continue its studies.

Miller said the plan could help fill medical schools, now short of some 700 students in third year classes, despite the fact that classrooms are bulging in the first two years.

Professor Is Honored

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Franklin D. Johnston of the University of Michigan medical school has been honored by the American Heart Association for outstanding service in the association's national programs of research, education and community service. Johnston is a professor of internal medicine.

'Peace Corps' at U. of M. Stays Alert to Duties

ANN ARBOR (U. P.) — One month after the election campaign which brought the birth of their organization, the Americans Committed to World Responsibility (ACWR) are still committed.

The post-election doldrums which often take their toll of politically inspired movements have not affected the University of Michigan campus group that evoked President-Elect John F. Kennedy's youth "peace corps" proposal.

The ACWR, its leaders report, is stronger than ever and making plans which include a lecture series and a national conference of groups with allied purposes.

"We've had no trouble sustaining interest," said Merrill Jackson, one of five U. of M. graduate students who founded ACWR as a nonpartisan group following campus campaign appearances by Kennedy and Rep. Chester Bowles, D-Conn.

"We have so many people actively interested that the problem is not keeping up enthusiasm — but finding enough for them to do."

Author Mailer Free on Bail in Stabbing

NEW YORK (AP) — Author Norman Mailer, 37, is free on $2,500 bail after his release from the Bellevue Hospital psychiatric ward.

Mailer, accused of stabbing his wife after a party in their Manhattan apartment Nov. 20, is scheduled to appear in felony court Dec. 21 for a hearing on a charge of felonious assault.

Mrs. Mailer is convalescing. Mailer declined to discuss the case with reporters after his release Friday.

GUARDIANS OF SCALP — Sir Edmund Hillary answers questions of newsmen on his arrival at San Francisco International Airport Saturday night en route to Chicago with the scalp. Nepalese villagers believe once belonged to the mythical abominable snowman or yeti. They would not allow him to bring the scalp to America without their headman, Khumjo Chumbi (right) going to guard it. He wears a native costume and carries a two-foot knife. The scalp, which soon must be returned, was not shown to newsmen. The people believe the "snowmen" are gods.

WASHINGTON (AP) — John A. McConne, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, was quoted today as saying "probabilities are very strong" that the Soviet Union is making secret tests of new atomic weapons.

Takes More Than Muscles to Make Money, It Seems

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Charles H. Spies became Mr. Universe two months ago by displaying more muscles than 41 other men at an international contest in Montreal, Canada.

After packing his trophy and bathing suit, he returned home at once to await fortune's call. (There had been no cash prize.)

But the talent scouts and promoters have yet to arrive. No one has asked him to make a screen test, endorse a product, appear on national television, or write a book.

Spies begrudges nothing to the young ladies who fame. He wishes, however, that some of America's interest in bodies beautiful would fasten on him.

"People," sighed the idle Adonis, "just seem to like women better than men."

Rangers Search On for Eighth Airman

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP) — Forest rangers battled snow and zero temperatures today in an attempt to track the last of eight airman still missing since Friday night, when the crew parachuted from its disabled jet bomber into the Adirondack Mountains.

The search for Staff Sgt. Pierre Maheux, 27, of Auburn, Maine—suspended Sunday night as a snowstorm approached—centered in rugged terrain near North Hudson, N. Y., where a parachute believed to be Maheux's was spotted.

The other airman were found alive within a 20-mile radius of the search area. Some were injured in landing in trees, one severely.

Their B52 crashed in flames near Barre, Vt., about 100 miles east of North Hudson.

Lt. George M. Davis, 27, of Pawtucket, R. I., walked out of the woods in an exhausted condition Sunday after a 40-hour search. His feet were frost-bitten.

Unemployment Up 28,000 in Michigan

DETROIT (UPI) — Unemployment in Michigan increased by 28,000 from mid-October to mid-November, the Michigan Employment Security Commission reports.

The MESC said there were 230,000 persons in Michigan looking for jobs on Nov. 15. That was up 28,000 over the 192,000 seeking jobs on Oct. 15, the MESC said.

The unemployed job seekers represented 6.7 per cent of the state's labor force of 3,437,000. Of the total labor force, 2,539,000 were employed in nonfarm employment.

Only a small portion of the rise in unemployment in Michigan could be blamed on the auto industry in Detroit.

Detroit's unemployment increased by only 6,000 during the period, leaving the Motor City with a total of 101,000 job seekers, 7.3 per cent of its labor force.

He will serve with Thomas B. Joseph, Harvey's present administrative aide, and take over from Joseph at a later date.

Get 5,000 Weapons in Tokyo 6-Day Drive

TOKYO (AP) — More than 5,000 weapons were seized by police during the first week of an anti-knife drive in Tokyo. The campaign is part of a broad effort to cut crime, especially among younger people.

The metropolitan police board announced that the first week's seizures included Japanese swords, daggers, switch-blade and other pocket knives, and guns.

A police spokesman said 103 manufacturers and about 4,950 shops handle knives in Tokyo. About half of them have pledged not to sell knives to minors.

The police board plans to carry on with the anti-knife campaign for at least a year, working with schools and families.

Examine Discoverer Capsule

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — How much radiation the Discoverer XVIII satellite encountered on its 48 trips around the world is expected to be determined today when Air Force scientists open up the gold-plated capsule from the satellite containing human tissue, algae, bacteria, bread mold and radiation measuring devices called dosimeters.

Dr. George W. Crawford, a nuclear physicist at the School of Aviation Medicine at Brooks Air Force Base, said a more accurate estimate could be made by mid-week.

A seven-man panel of scientists last week reported that study of the Discoverer XVIII capsule which orbited the earth Nov. 12-14 encountered unexpected heavy radiation because of an explosion on the sun but that it could have carried a man safely through space.

"Our findings seem to indicate that heavy shield on protection for an astronaut against space radiations may not be necessary, at least for trips of less than 30 hours," Crawford said.

He said that by being able to cut down on the amount of shielding, the capsules could carry heavier payloads.

The Discoverer XVIII capsule was snagged in a similar manner by a C139 after a parachute had slowed its descent over the Pacific Ocean 400 miles from Hawaii Saturday.

Veep of Grand Trunk Gets Canadian Position

DETROIT (AP) — Francis A. Gaffney, who for the last five years has been vice president and general manager of Grand Trunk Western Railroad, has been appointed vice president, highway services, of the Canadian National Railways.

Harry A. Sanders, GTW's superintendent of transportation since 1951, will succeed Gaffney here.

Steel Firms Cut SUB Payments

U. S. Steel, Republic Tell of Slash Because of Production Slump

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A growing number of steel companies are reducing supplemental unemployment benefits to furloughed workers because of a heavy drain on these funds.

Latest to announce SUB cut-backs, effective this month, were U.S. Steel Corp. and Republic Steel Corp. Previously, Sharon Steel Corp. and Pittsburgh Steel Co. slashed benefits.

If the present slump in steel production continues, it seems likely most steel firms will have reduced payments 25 per cent or more by February at the latest.

Supplemental unemployment benefits, instituted in the steel industry in 1956, are designed to combine with state unemployment compensation to give a laid-off steelworker about 65 per cent of his normal take-home pay for one year.

Each steel company builds its own SUB fund, contributing five cents for each hour an employee works.

Heavy payments to unemployed steelworkers and lower contributions for the past six months have put the funds of most firms in bad shape.

Contracts between steel producers and the United Steelworkers Union provide that SUB payments may be reduced 25 per cent or more when funds are drained to 75 per cent or less of "maximum financial position" under a complex formula.

Takes a Real Nut to Clean Junk From Jet Engine

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A jet engine will swallow almost anything, and as a result often suffers from that tired run down feeling.

There are numerous cures, but the cheapest so far is a dose of walnut shells.

Jet doctors have found they can restore a patient's zip by feeding shells through the air intake. Once inside, the shells prove just abrasive enough to clean out the accumulation of jet fuel grease, bird feathers, sand and old newspapers.

Previously a sick jet engine had to be torn down, cleaned and hand polished, a lengthy and costly operation. Now the cure can be effected in four minutes with a $9.90 sack of walnut shells.

Red Submarine Base in Africa Being Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has asked its embassies in Portugal and Guinea to investigate a report that the Soviet Union has signed an agreement to establish a submarine base on the West African coast.

The department took the action as unconfirmed reports circulated in diplomatic circles on increased Soviet submarine activity off Africa.

The Navy said its intelligence sources have "absolutely nothing" to confirm a report from Portuguese and other sources that the Russians have landed men and material in Guinea.

One U.S. official said he would be "amazed" if the Russians established a base in Guinea. He said the Russians have been "screaming" about establishment of African bases by non-Africans.

LIFE IS SAVED — Thomas Barbrick, 12, is pulled to safety after breaking through thin ice while skating near Danvers, Mass., Sunday. In the top panel, scoutmaster George Murray throws a rope to the lad, who is struggling in the water. In subsequent panels, the boy is pulled to safety. His plight was discovered by scout Thomas Donahue, a member of Murray's troop, which was on a last-person practice search. The scoutmaster ran to his car, got the rope and made the rescue.

Skinner Diver Makes Records With Secret

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 26-year-old Swiss mathematician has developed a new deep-diving technique that has enabled him to descend to record depths using nothing but ordinary skin-diving gear. It was reported today.

Hannes Keller said his record-breaking dives—the equivalent of 820 feet in a test tank and 510 feet in Lake Maggiore, Italy—were possible due to a "secret" method of mixing the gases he breathes while both descending and ascending.

In this way Keller has debated two of the deadliest dangers facing divers — "raptures" and "bends."

Both are caused by an improper balance of gases in the body as pressures change during ascent or descent, and can cause death. "I must keep the exact method a secret until I patent it, but I can tell you, it has to do with adjusting the mixture of gases I breathe as I go down and as I come up," Keller said.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru Friday again rejected demands that the Indian U.N. contingent be withdrawn from the Congo.

Most Are Quiet but Tension Rises

New Orleans Begins to Fear

By SAUL FETT

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Far from the two integrated schools where a handful of harridans has smeared this town's reputation for manners and breeding, a bus happened to lurch suddenly the other night. A Negro girl fell against a well-dressed, stately white woman. The girl apologized. The white woman snapped at her, "Can't you be more careful?"

Then she turned to other white passengers and, in a voice that might have spun the old plantation belles in their graves, rasped, "See what we're getting to. Soon we'll all be more careful!"

Six months ago, the same woman probably would have said nothing. She may even have smiled indulgently.

But today tension is rising in small, subtle ways in New Orleans, which has long prided itself on being the most cosmopolitan, most tolerant, most graceful city in the deep South.

It is far from a battleground now, despite the image suggested to the world by the women hecklers throwing eggs and obscenities near the two schools. Whites and Blacks do not stand ready to leap at each other's throats. The streets are safe.

But the needle on the seismograph has begun to quiver. People are becoming apprehensive.

MANY A SHY

The volume of passengers on the buses (integrated peacefully three years ago) is reported to have fallen off. Tourism is down. Fewer residents appear to be coming downtown to shop or dine. The attendance at the Shrine Circus last week was way off the previous year.

Many people apparently fear that an innocuous incident between a white and colored man might blow up into a major eruption.

You hear many reports. One says that some service companies are keeping their Negro deliverymen inside and sending whites out instead. Downtown, a Negro parking lot attendant complains that tips from his white patrons have fallen off and the bitter comments are increasing.

There has even been talk that Mardi Gras this winter may be canceled or at least the night-time masked parades be ruled out.

Little of the unease is visible. Tourists still walk in the shadows of the iron-bared galleries of the French Quarter, browse in the antique shops along Royal Street, pursue synthetic sex or genuine jazz along Bourbon Street.

In the residential areas, a young wife whose husband earns less than $7,000 a year still fancies herself a princess of the Old South. Thus, she cannot bring herself to weed her tiny garden. A Negro does it; a Negro maid cleans her small house twice a week—services the lady can ill afford.

But behind this surface tranquility, the "Paris of the South" has lost much of its gaiety.

People ask anxiously about the latest score. How many white children entered the William Frantz School today? Is the boycott weakening? When do you think they'll try to integrate the schools in our neighborhood?

An overwhelming majority of white New Orleans opposes integration from the well of its soul.

WHY MORE TRAINING?

The Job Guide, published by the U.S. Dept. of Labor, gives this answer: "You should weigh carefully the long-run advantages offered by jobs you are considering against immediate gains. You should be aware of the great importance of education as a general and specific asset. Technical or professional training received after leaving high school will give you definite advantage in seeking and finding a job. When advancement opportunities occur, preference is generally given to persons with superior educational qualifications—other things being equal."

UAW to Stress Strike Lever

Reuther Says Fund of $40 Million Answer to Industry's Unity Plan

CHICAGO (U)—Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, said Friday the union plans to emphasize its $40 million worth of strike security as a lever in talks with the three major auto producers this summer.

The industry has said it will ease ranks in 1961 to prevent the UAW from using the strategy of striking one firm while letting others operate.

The union's contract with General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. expires in August.

Turning to other employment matters, Reuther said "Starting Jan. 20, the image in the White House will change and Jack Kennedy will help us and we will get through this Congress, a medical care plan for the aged."

SPEAKS TO 800

President - Elect Kennedy also will help the union in its struggle for economic and social improvements, Reuther said, by fighting for aid to depressed areas, an hourly wage hike, and more federal housing.

He spoke to some 900 delegates at the union's annual skilled trades department conference.

Retention of cost of living "escalator" clauses and wage improvement factor provisions will head the list of contract terms when UAW officials meet April 26 in Detroit to formulate bargaining policies, Reuther said.

He also mentioned improved pensions, and health-welfare benefits and greater supplemental unemployment benefits.

He did not mention UAW wage demands. But he said the union would "formulate a set of demands that are economically sound and morally right."

Kennedy May Find 1961 'Most Tense' of Cold War

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP News Analyst

The first year of the Kennedy administration, by present indications, may be the most tense and dangerous of the whole 15 of the cold war.

The reason for this speculation is that the Chinese Communists are the impression that they are itching for fireworks. This can be dangerous for the Soviet allies as well as for the United States.

Observers in Moscow relay a belief that Premier Khrushchev still is in the world Communist saddle but that he is riding a nervous broncho. These observers express the opinion that the Soviet premier paid a price to Red China's leaders in return for public Chinese acknowledgment that the Kremlin still runs the world movement's affairs.

The manifesto signed by 81 leaders of Communist parties after their Moscow conference shows that the main Communist efforts will be along lines like these:

1. In expectation of an American economic jolt with whiplash effects elsewhere, the main propaganda attack will center on the United States. The hope is to isolate the United States and render it ineffective in countering Red drives elsewhere in the world.

2. Plans to expand communism's sway will center primarily in the underdeveloped lands. Latin America will occupy an increasingly important place in the drive.

The manifesto indicates pressure will be stepped up in all uncommitted and underdeveloped areas, whenever and wherever opportunities exist for a Communist advance.

The Red Chinese seem to have argued at Moscow that because of Kremlin caution, communism already has missed good opportunities, and that this should not happen again, no matter what the peril.

East German Kids Get Yule Toy Guns

BERLIN (UPI)—Santa Claus is coming to Communist East Germany with a Marxist message and a sackful of tanks and guns.

"Patriotic toys" is the motto for Christmas in East Germany. The state-owned toy industry is obediently turning them out as part of the campaign to start military training early.

"The idea, as the Communists admit, is to indoctrinate children with the tools of war so they will be 'ready to lay down their lives' for communism."

Models of tanks, toy guns, tin soldiers, warplanes, all these are being stressed as the ideal Christmas gifts in the land where more than 600,000 boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 14 are "pioneers" undergoing military training in their spare time.

Some East Germans with the arms of the People's Army memories of two devastating wars and satisfy the natural interest of weapons oppose the campaign to fill our youth in the army.

Christmas stockings with toy weapons.

One, Eduard Seifert, went so far as to write a letter to the Communist party newspaper in Erfurt denouncing war toys and demanding sarcastically, "controlled disarmament in the toy closet."

But Seifert was backing a losing cause.

In the same paper, the head of a toy factory, identified only as Mr. Bock, replied:

"We want to give our children the things which their fathers and brothers and the People's Army use to protect our nation.

"Our toys are exact models of

Slippery Only in Spots as Storm Misses

Good Roads Hold Deaths to 10 in State

By United Press International
The weather may deserve an assist in holding Michigan's weekend death toll to 10.

While most of the Midwest was hit by heavy snow which made driving hazardous during the weekend, Michigan escaped with only a few light flurries and highways that were slippery only in spots until the weekend was over.

Although six of the 10 accidents which claimed lives in Michigan during the weekend resulted from loss of control by the driver, not all of them were blamed on the weather.

Albert Serrano of Route 2, Harrison, was killed when the pickup truck in which he was a passenger went out of control on M61, two miles west of Harrison, and struck three trees.

Faye M. May, 46, Detroit, died Sunday of injuries suffered when she lost control of her car Saturday and it skidded into the path of another on U.S. 18 in Springfield Township of Oakland County.

Eugene Flisk, 17, Route 3, Rockford, was killed Sunday on 18-mile road in Spencer Township, Kent County, when his car ran off the road and struck a bridge abutment.

Harold Seelow, 41, Burt Lake, was killed Saturday night when his car rolled over on Interstate 75, 2 1/2 miles south of Kalamazoo in Bay County.

Elmer Bissel, 36, Detroit, was killed Saturday when the car in which he was a passenger went out of control and struck a tree on U.S. 10 near Holly in Oakland County.

Richard Kraklau, 27, Watervliet, was killed Friday night when the car in which he was riding went out of control and overturned on Interstate 94 south of Benton Harbor. Louis J. Nowicki, 49, Grand Rapids, was killed Friday night when his car collided head-on with a truck two miles east of Nunica on U.S. 16.

Louis Himberg, 48, Petersburg, was killed Friday night when the car in which he was riding crashed head-on into another car near Monroe.

Henry Ronda, 68, Grand Rapids, was struck by a car Friday night when he stepped into traffic from behind a parked car.

Mrs. Judith Nordstrom, 66, Lexington, was killed Friday night and two passengers in the car were injured when the car struck another in Port Huron, jumped a curb and careened into a tree.

November's Jobless Expected to Set High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government announces new job figures today which are expected to show an unemployment increase in November to about four million, a modern record for the month.

Preliminary figures two weeks ago indicated that the number of jobless rose during November by 800,000 to 4,000,000 from the October total of 3,579,000.

The executive committee of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department said in a statement last week that unemployment reached a 20-year record for November of about four million, and was headed toward five million in January.

'Strip' Detective Wins Prize Role

Zimbalist (Bailey) Has Patience, Gets Part in 'By Love Possessed'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Brett Maverick loped off the Warner range, so did Cheyenne, Kookie and others from time to time. But Stuart Bailey always stuck to his office at 77 Sunset Strip.

This may be a lesson in how to deal with feuding studios. Bailey, known of the TV tube as Elmer Zimbalist Jr., is now doing a prize role in a big movie, "By Love Possessed," while his fellow stars are still fighting it out in the courts or in their series.

How did Zimbalist get out of the "strips"? He replied, "I simply gave the studio four years of my life."

During that time, he worked almost continuously and uncompromisingly in the Friday night whodunit. "I didn't see any good in complaining," he reasoned.

"Besides, I like Jack Warner," Zimbalist admitted there were times when he might have gotten restless. While he was grinding out the TV hours, other studios sought his services in feature films.

"But what did I miss?" he asked. "I missed Butterfield 8, but I'm not sure that would have done me good. 'Portrait in Black' didn't turn out too well. It was the same with most of the other pictures I could have done."

He is obviously pleased with "By Love Possessed," as well he should be. The James Gould Cozzens novel has been expensively cast with Zimbalist as the small-town lawyer and costars Lana Turner, Jason Robards Jr., George Hamilton, Susan Kohner, Barbara Bel Geddes, Thomas Mitchell.

Gramyko Has Luncheon for Brazilian Official

MOSCOW (AP) — Jose Goulart, vice president of Brazil, was guest of honor Friday at a Kremlin luncheon given by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

There were no details on what was discussed but, presumably, they talked about the possible start of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

Runaway Cars Crash

ATLANTA (AP) — Seven runaway railroad cars rolled three-quarters of a mile down a spur track and smashed into a waterworks pumping station Sunday. One car rammed a hole in the boiler house, causing damage estimated at $10,000 to $15,000 by Paul T. Weir, waterworks superintendent. Another car damaged a small equipment building.

Townsend? Huh, Who's He?

Now She's Blissful Margaret

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—When Princess Margaret goes to Brussels next week for King Baudouin's wedding, Europeans will see a greatly changed young woman.

Sad and reflective after her broken romance with Peter Townsend, she's now being called "Merry Margaret."

Seven months of marriage to Anthony Armstrong-Jones have brought about the change.

"She's blissfully happy," says one of her oldest friends. "They're terribly in love and you could hardly imagine a marriage working out better."

A gay, informal, and often bawdy young man, Tony has unquestionably filled a great void in the life of the once-pensive princess.

With him she will visit Brussels—a city that is not without romantic memories for Margaret. When the princess and Townsend fell in love in London—he was then an aide at Buckingham Palace—certain authorities not very subtly transferred Townsend to the Belgian capital.

LETTERS FLY
Love letters flew back and forth across the English channel. The telephone between Brussels and London got plenty of business. Townsend returned to London to ask her to marry him. And when—after much heart-searching—she finally turned him down, he returned to Brussels.

From that time, almost to the moment she met Armstrong-Jones the princess noticeably boded and even at times became sad with life.

When she and Armstrong-Jones returned to London after their honeymoon last spring, they set about making their new life.

Margaret in public and private, became a very gay girl, laughing uproariously at jokes and making plenty of her own. She now appears in public more than any time in her life. She also goes to lots of private parties.

Once a touchy and almost difficult person, she is relaxed and laughing.

On one feature of her married life, however, she is firm. She will not accept invitations where her husband's titleless status causes him to be separated from her, or not treated as her equal.

Margaret refused to go to the state opening of Parliament a few weeks ago because Tony would have had to sit in the gallery.

School Children Depicting the Christmas Season

unusually fine display. Children all over Oakland County are busy making things for the coming holiday season. Their favorite character is Santa Claus, naturally.

BEST SANTA — Six-year-old Bradley Jeffrey's Paul Bunyan Santa Claus proved to be one of the best made by Waterford Township first graders, so art instructor Mrs. Doris Barcey put the exhibit on display in the board of education office. Bradley put the last brush mark on his Santa Claus in front of 100 township school officials who were meeting in the school board offices.

GIVING FOR CHRISTMAS — Children at Pontiac's Crofoot Elementary School are stressing the real spirit of Christmas this year by bringing wrapped presents as gifts to children at the Lapeer State Home and Training School.

Lewis Crew, Crofoot principal, assists Arlene Wilson and Clifford Gracery in putting contributions into the big red box in the center of the lobby.

imagining the pupil-drawn toy pictures are real. All through the school classrooms children are busy constructing and painting decorations and presents for their parents.

A FASCINATING SANTA — Little Talia Dickson and Janice Truitt, both 5, are charmed by the unique paper Santa Claus held by their pretty teacher, Mrs. Jay Bates. All kinds of new ideas on how to make Christmas merrier are being tried by pupils of the newly opened Grayson Elementary School in Waterford Township.

McVITTIE SCHOOL ORGAN — Although it plays no music, this big gold pipe organ on the McVittie School bulletin board is beautiful. The "pipes" are made of cardboard tubes, set on a tin console with knobs for stops. "Organist" Margaret Nofzinger adjusts the music as Daniel Runyan, Pamela Gavette and Thomas Legge look on. This school, like all of the other 20 Waterford Township elementary schools, has a chorus that presents Christmas concerts.

DECORATING PLAYHOUSE — Fathers of Waterford Township's Grayson school children got together Saturday and built a miniature playhouse for the first-graders. The youngsters are now decorating the outside for Christmas. Holding a paint pot

Public to Hear All-City Concert Groups Wednesday

Enjoying the masculine tone quality of guest soloist David Eicher of Orchard Lake (at left) are members of Pontiac's All-City Youth Orchestra. Playing in the group's first public concert Wednesday are cellist

Carl Scarbro, 13, of Stirling Avenue, and violinists Cindy Jones, 10, of North Genessee Avenue and Lauralee Jenkle, 12, of St. Joseph Street.

The All-City Advanced Youth Orchestra and the All-City Intermediate String Orchestra will be heard in their first joint public concert Wednesday evening at 7:30 at Washington Junior High School's gymnasium.

Guest soloist for the evening will be cellist David Eicher of Orchard Lake. David, 15, is a sophomore at Wallied Lake High School. In addition to solo and ensemble work and membership in his school orchestra, he holds three chairs in area symphony orchestras—the Pontiac Symphony, Eastern Michigan University Symphony and Michigan Youth Symphony.

Holder of a 1960 Foster Foundation scholarship to the National Music Camp at Interlochen, he was a member of the National High School Orchestra, the National String Conference and appeared in concerto auditions and recitals. David has attended All-State sessions at Interlochen for three years and has been a member of Pontiac Tuesday Musicals Junior Club for six years. He is a student of Gretchen Dalley of Ann Arbor.

He will play "Requiem" by Gaspar Casado accompanied by Mrs. Dalley.

Directors Robert M. Peterson of Washington Junior High School, Burton Apple of Madison Junior High School and George Eckroth of Eastern Junior High School will share the podium in the opening numbers of the All-City Intermediate String Orchestra. This group of 65 instrumentalists includes junior high school students and selected fifth and sixth graders who meet regularly on Saturdays.

They will be heard in selections by Gluck, Bach, Handel, Grieg and Tchaikovsky as well as in a group of traditional carols.

Mr. Peterson will direct the 46 members of the All-City Advanced Youth Orchestra in Gordon Jenkins' arrangement of Lecocq's Andalusia Suite. The strings alone will play the overture to Handel's "Messiah."

"Christmas Concerto" will be played by first violinist Jean Huttala, second violinist Egan Hahn and cellist Margaret Moreau.

George H. Putnam, supervisor of instrumental and secondary vocal music in the Pontiac Public Schools will conduct the mass singing of Christmas carols with combined orchestras.

Completing the program will be "Trumpeter's Lullaby" with Perry Teen as soloist and Grossman's "A Christmas Fantasy."

The concert is open to the public. An offering will be accepted for the Interlochen Scholarship Fund and the Orchestra Enrichment Fund.

Three instructors in instrumental music in the Pontiac Schools will share the conducting honors when the All-City Intermediate String Orchestra and the All-City Advanced Youth Orchestra present a joint concert at Washington Junior High School. Looking over the score are (from left) Burton Apple, Robert M. Peterson and George Eckroth.

Abby Hears Angry Mothers

Barber Gets Cut Down

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This is for the barber who complained about mothers taking their children to the barber shop on Saturday.

ABBY

Unless the barber wants me in his shop with all my seven children — ranging from 11 months to 12 years — he had better keep quiet.

My husband stays at home with the younger ones while I take the older boys for haircuts. And Saturday is the only day I have the car.

SATURDAY LADY

DEAR ABBY: If I had my way, I'd never set foot in a barber shop, but what can I do when my husband refuses to take the boys for hair cuts? Saturday is his day to relax and unless I want my boys mistaken for girls, I have to take them to the barber shop myself.

"STUCK"

DEAR ABBY: I almost blew my top when I read where that barber complained about cutting children's hair on Saturdays.

He gets as much for cutting a child's hair as he does an adult. Half the time our barber turns out the kids looking like nincompoops. If he sang like Perry Como I wouldn't mind, but he whistles off-key.

BORN TO LOSE

DEAR ABBY: Tell that barber that the reason mothers take their children to the barber on Saturdays is because the fathers are busy working to earn the fantastic price of a haircut.

WORKING FATHER

DEAR ABBY: I am a barber with 30 years' experience, and that barber who wrote to you should be kicked out of the union, if he belongs to one. A good barber welcomes children any time, and gives them bubble gum and flipflops for good behavior.

And we want mothers to tell us how to cut their hair. That's the only way we are sure they are satisfied and will come back.

ANDY THE BARBER

DEAR ABBY: I am a barber's wife and I agree with the barber who prefers to have children come in on week-days and leave Saturday for the working men.

My husband earns one-third of his salary on Saturday and doesn't want to be slowed up by fifty kids who cry and squirm. And mothers coaching from the sidelines make him nervous. Saturdays should be reserved for adults only.

BARBER'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: About barbers: I have eight boys. At today's prices, it would cost me $14.00 a week for haircuts, so I bought a barber kit and learned how to cut hair myself.

My husband laughed at me at first, then he came home one day looking like his hair had been cut with a knife and fork. He asked me to try to patch it up a little. I did such a good job he begs me to give him a haircut every week.

Parents Travel in Honor of Their Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Von D. Polhemus of Lake Annapolis (formerly of Franklin) spent the weekend in Madison, Wis. and Rockford, Ill. attending parties in honor of their daughter Susan who will be married to Robert L. Helm on Dec. 26.

In Madison, Georgia Dennis was hostess at a shower which included the bride-elect's university friends. In Rockford, the William Howards, the Walter Johnstons and the Charles Johnstons entertained at cocktails at the Pyramid Club.

Returning home for the holidays, Miss Polhemus will be honored Tuesday at a luncheon in the home of Mrs. George Brush of Bloomfield Hills. Mrs. Ralph W. Struck and daughter Paula of Birmingham are having a luncheon and kitchen shower on Thursday.

Shouldn't Let Tots Get Phone

EMILY POST'S

GOOD TASTE TODAY

Question: As a career woman, my time is very limited and it always infuriates me when I make a personal call during the day to a friend and have her young child answer the telephone.

At least five minutes of valuable time is wasted listening to childish gibberish before I can get her to call her mother to the telephone.

I don't think young children should be allowed to answer the telephone and it is very inconsiderate on the part of parents to permit them to do so. I have heard others complain of this, too. Perhaps a few words on this subject in your column might help put an end to it.

Answer: I agree with you that a child too young to understand that it is her mother who is wanted, and to go and tell her so quickly, should not be permitted to answer the telephone.

Question: When sending Christmas cards to my husband's business associates, would it be proper to include our children's names on these cards, or should they be signed with my husband's and my name alone?

Answer: To those business acquaintances of your husband who have come to your house and know your children, their names may properly be included, but you are right that it will be better not to include them on any others.

Question: When invited to a friend's house for a meal and after having helped yourself to a portion of it, you find it poorly cooked, greasy or overly spiced, would it be considered rude to leave most of it uneaten on your plate?

Answer: You do not have to finish the food you have taken if, to your taste, it is inedible. If your hostess speaks about how little you have eaten, make some excuse about indigestion or lack of appetite.

It's Not Vanity

Don't Be Afraid to Shine

Look at it this way — Do you think enough of the opinion of others to put your best foot forward?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is not vain to put our "best foot forward." To the contrary, it indicates that we think the opinion of others is worth the effort, that we value their admiration and respect.

This is also, to some extent, a barometer of our estimate of ourselves. We are apt to live up to the picture we have of ourselves.

Lutheran Women Hold Yule Party

The Miriam and Esther Units of the Augustana Lutheran Church Women of St. John Lutheran Church met Thursday evening in the church parlors for a Christmas party.

Mrs. LaVon Ryden sang an alto solo "Sweet Little Jesus Boy." Carol Wargalla at the piano was accompanied for Mrs. Roger Fomeroy, Mrs. Ryden and Mrs. Danielson who sang a Christmas trio.

The program closed with a pantomime of "JingleBells" in Swedish dialect by Mrs. Fred Larson. A food basket is being prepared for a needy area family. Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. William Olson, Mrs. Wesley Ryden and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson.

The world is almost certain to accept the value we place on ourselves. Yet so many people play up their worst points and never display their best.

Lack of worldly possessions and physical defects mean nothing when an individual lives life, is interested in others and has self-respect. This is entirely different from self-love.

This sort of person will complement those she knows by putting her best foot forward. She will do what she can to become most attractive and forget any defects which cannot be changed.

HEIGHT PROBLEM

I have seen this happen so often. I remember two young women, both of whom were way above average height, more than six feet tall. Height completely dominated the life of one and ruined it, while the other is one of the most stunning-looking and popular girls in town.

Some of the most fascinating women have irregularity of features which would have made neurotics out of others. These women are so warm and interesting and so much fun that you never even think about whether or not they are pretty.

Many people are affected by lack of education or money. Yet some of the best educated folks I know never went to college, but became widely informed and culturally educated because of their varied interests and curious minds.

Some of the most sought-after people park their old cars right beside the shining new cars of their friends for festive and happy occasions, and no one gives it a thought. Don't downgrade yourself and no one else is likely to. And if someone should — it won't matter to you.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Might as well warn you—you'll probably be bombarded with Christmas cookie recipes for a while. We seem to have a big batch of them.

If you want a lot of cookies, today's recipe is for you. Mrs. Henry C. Smith (that's Ruth Smith) grew up on a farm and found this recipe in her mother's recipe scrapbook. It makes 7.3 dozen cookies.

Mrs. Smith has one small son. She loves to grow flowers. Cooking, collecting recipes and sewing are her other hobbies.

CHRISTMAS REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

1 cup shortening
1/2 cup brown sugar
4 large eggs beaten
4 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon cream of tartar (that's correct)
1 tablespoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup pecans
6 cups candied fruit
1 tablespoon vanilla
Grind fruit and nuts together. Cream shortening and sugar, add beaten eggs. Sift dry ingredients and add to creamed mixture. Add fruit, nuts and vanilla.

Chill dough. Form into 5 or 6 long rolls and wrap in wax paper. Roll again. Slice and place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 12-15 minutes at 375 degrees. These freeze well, either before or after baking. Makes 7.3 dozen.

Why Always Take Others' Judgment?

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

A knock comes at the back door. It's the neighbor from the next street with whom we have only a nodding acquaintance. She won't come in. Standing at the door, her face set, her eyes cold, she says:

"What I have to say won't take long. I don't want that kid of yours to ever speak to my little girl again. He taught her a dirty word. You keep that dirty-mouthed brat away from my girl or I'll..."

After closing the door, we sink on the nearest chair. We try to laugh and can't. Panic has us by the throat. Trembling, we think:

"What dirty word could Peter have repeated to this little girl? Where did he pick it up? Why did he repeat it to the little girl? Is he suffering from some awful kind of morbid sex curiosity?"

Not once do we think: "Madam, the word that my 6-year-old boy repeated to your little girl isn't dirty because you say it is. To Peter and me, for instance, it could be just a new and interesting word."

Why doesn't this most reasonable thought come to us? Why do we tremble with protesting acceptance of that cold-eyed woman's condemnation of Peter's action?

Why do we credit her judgment of it as the action of a "dirty-mouthed brat?"

Because since childhood we have always credited others' judgments of us with truth.

As a child ourselves we had an Aunt Beth who habitually accused us of "selfishness" when we showed resistance to lending our toys to our destructive little cousin.

Our mother was accustomed to calling us "lazy" after meals though she used so many pots and pans to prepare food that nobody in their right mind could want to wash up after her.

The adults we knew were constantly judging our actions for us with such conviction of rightness that the truth behind them became increasingly hazy to us.

Soon the truth about us was the mistaken judgments. Today we still secretly think of ourselves as "selfish" and "lazy."

The idea that it might be sensible, not "selfish" to try and protect our toys against our destructive little cousin hasn't occurred to us since we were seven years old.

With such experience of trust in other people's judgments of us, how could we hope to laugh at that cold-eyed misjudgment of Peter? How could we possibly credit him with six-year-old boastfulness when somebody else says it is "dirty?"

Women Make Much of Vague Promises

By RUTH MILLETT

Did you read about the New York woman who bought a brand new automobile in 1930 so she could drive to California and just recently — 10 years later — picked it up for the trip, which she had kept postponing year after year?

She didn't have to pay the motor company a 10-year storage bill on it, either. For, after all, they told her when she bought and paid for it that she didn't have to take the car "immediately."

I mention this little news item by way of pointing out that women have their own ways of interpreting the casual promises, half-promises, and vague commitments men make.

It behooves any man to be as exact as a lawyer in the language he uses when he is talking to a woman.

A husband, mentions to his wife that "someday" he is going to buy her a mink coat. By someday the husband means when his ship comes in.

But someday to a woman is more likely to mean right now, so the husband shouldn't be surprised if his wife grabs the newspapers and starts reading the advertisements looking for a bargain in mink.

A husband needs in casual agreement when his wife mentions that the lawn needs mowing and from that moment until she hears the whine of the power mower his wife keeps reminding him that he "promised" to mow the lawn.

A wife says she is going to hire a carpenter to put up shelves in the kitchen and her husband says, "No need to hire a carpenter for a simple little job like that. I could do it myself in a few hours."

Then he thinks his wife is nagging because she keeps asking "When are you going to put up those shelves you promised me?"

So you've got to watch those promises and half-promises, men. Because a woman will hold you to them — and put her own interpretation on any vague term such as "not immediately" or "someday" or "when we can afford it" or "maybe."

Floats, Bands, Marchers Brave Cold to Parade

ROCHESTER—Some five thousand youngsters and their parents, all bundled up against the bitter cold, lined Rochester's Main street Saturday to watch the village's 10th annual Christmas parade, in below freezing temperatures.

Despite the cold, the colorful parade drew "oh's and ah's" of appreciation from the spectators as the gaily decorated floats, well-trained marching units and bands passed in review.

Highland Twp. Fires Probed

Investigate for Arson After Home Is Lost and Cottage Destroyed

Fires that destroyed a Highland Township home Saturday and damaged a summer cottage in Independence Township Sunday were being investigated today.

According to Highland Township Fire Chief Ken Hayden the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson at 3215 Jackson Blvd. was a complete loss after fire swept through it about 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

How the fire started has yet to be determined. No one was at home in the Richardson house when it caught fire, according to firemen.

The Richardson were carrying about $21,000 in fire insurance on the house and contents, fireman Asa Smith said.

The Highland department was assisted by White Lake firemen in putting out the blaze in the two-story, 8-room house.

The fire in Independence Township was at 4650 High St., a boarded up summer duplex cottage owned by Samuel Weisman and Mrs. Fanny Rosenstien, both of Detroit.

A representative from the State Fire Marshal's office was to investigate the blaze today.

Independence Township Fire Chief Donald Beach said the fire started on the back porch and spread into the attic and roof.

He estimated damage at about $2,000. The fire was discovered shortly after noon yesterday. Arson is suspected and is the reason for calling in the fire marshal, Beach said.

Southfield to Tell Administrator

SOUTHFIELD — This city's new administrator will definitely be announced at tonight's council meeting, president C. Hugh Dobson said this morning.

Members of the council selected their new administrator at a special meeting on Saturday, he said.

In the meantime, administrator Robert J. McNutt announced in a letter to the council that he will sever relations with the city Dec. 22, stating that he would take advantage of a week's vacation due him.

McNutt was fired July 25 ending a 14-year struggle for control of the city government between four members of the council and McNutt.

McNutt later resigned effective Dec. 31. McNutt said he has a new position outside the city and would announce where at a later date.

8 Men End White Lake Police Class

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Eight township men have completed a 3-week Civil Defense police course here, it was announced today.

White Lake police Sgt. Walter Weisman, instructor, said the men now are eligible to join the volunteer department.

The schooling in all phases of law enforcement was taken by Robert Greer, William C. Bode, Nelson C. Nelson, John Norris, Alex Sikora, Donald G. Bailey, Harry Pedersen and Melvin Van Gordon.

Each man will receive a certificate showing he has completed the course from the Oakland County Civil Defense Office.

The recent area graduates of the civil defense program, bring the total to 70 who have completed the course in the last five years.

A course in first aid instructions will begin at the town hall Jan. 12 and continue to April.

St. Mary's Sets Annual Concert

CHRISTMAS MUSICALE TO BE PRESENTED SUNDAY BY ORCHARD LAKERS

ORCHARD LAKE — The students of St. Mary's here will present their 14th annual Christmas musicale, entitled "Christmas on the Campus," Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The public program will include the appearance of the school's three choral groups and the concert band.

The feature presentation will be a half-hour radio broadcast as performed by the Schola Cantorum.

The College Choir under the direction of Paul Link will sing a part of Menotti's "Amahl And The Visitors." The High School Glee Club directed by the Rev. John Galski will provide lighter Christmas selections in unusual arrangements.

The concert band has prepared a series of quaint versions of traditional Christmas songs ranging from "Jingle Bells Rhapsody" to the more profound settings of Handel's "Joy To The World."

The rector, Msgr. Wallace H. Pionick, will introduce the program with the official lighting of the Christmas tree.

The program is under the direction of the Rev. Henry Warkentin and the interspersed commentary will be provided by the Rev. Walter Zebrowski.

Dem Club to Pass Nominating Petitions

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — Circulation of petitions for candidates for township offices will be one of the major orders of business tomorrow night when the newly organized Groveland Township Democratic Club meets.

The session will be held at 8 p.m. in the home of Fred Leebach, 5185 Grange Hall Road. Raymond L. Norman, president of the club, said members were helping Democratic candidates circulate petitions for the several offices to be voted on next year.

Building Cost Set at $135,000

Clawson to Vote Dec. 19 on New Library Bonds

BY DON FERMOYLE

CLAWSON — City officials here believe the old two-story frame home at 416 N. Main St. is a fine example of 19th century architecture.

But they don't think the home, which was built before the Civil War, qualifies as a modern library with facilities sufficient to serve Clawson's 15,000 residents.

"If one of two proposals in a city election is approved, a week from today, the city could remove the old structure and replace it with an up-to-date building that would greatly increase Clawson's library facilities."

City manager Leonard Hendricks said that the present library is so old that most of the fixtures from the building have been donated to the Burton Historical Museum in Detroit.

The existing library has only enough space for 6,000 volumes while the new steel and concrete structure proposed by the city would contain 25,000 volumes.

Hendricks said the new building would be constructed in the spring if a $135,000 bond issue is approved in next week's election.

Mrs. Vandezee Acting Head of New Dem Club

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Temporary officers have been elected to a new Women's Democratic Club which will function as both a political and social organization in the township.

Named acting chairman of the group was Mrs. William Vandezee of 2751 Hutton Road.

Other new officers are Mrs. Doreen Gillmore of 448 S. Opdyke Road, vice chairman; Mrs. Roy Wahl of 5183 Margaret St., secretary; and Mrs. Emory Winkler of 3827 Baldwin Road, treasurer.

Mrs. Vandezee reported that the group's main political activity will be to campaign for Democratic candidates at election time.

Further plans for the women's club will be mapped at the next regular meeting of the Pontiac Township Democratic Club, according to Mrs. Vandezee.

She said the date of the club's next meeting will be announced later.

Hazel Park Votes Today on Extra School Tax

HAZEL PARK — Voters here will ballot today on a proposed five-mill school tax increase.

The board of education said approval of the five-year tax boost would permit elimination of half-day sessions for first graders and assure full educational programs for other students.

Rejection could mean closing or sharply curtailing programs at the new Hazel Park High School, opened only nine months ago.

Most car dealers report that linen is the best material with which to clean the glass of your windshield. It possesses the quality of removing dirt and grease without leaving lint on the glass.

approval of a $500,000 bond issue for construction of a new municipal building to replace the present Clawson City Hall, which Hendricks says is just as overcrowded as the library.

The municipal building would be built on the west side of Main Street, between Madison and Jefferson Streets.

The new library would be located just down Main Street at the site of the present structure on the northwest corner of Fisher Court.

The site, according to city officials, is ideal because it is near both the high school and junior high school.

The construction project is part of a major "revitalization program" for the entire downtown area in Clawson, according to the city manager.

The 82-by-82-foot library building is designed to be both practical and functional, according to the city's architect, Smith and Associates of Royal Oak. It will contain a children's area, adult area, reference area and a multipurpose room for reading and study.

The architects plan to use book stacks, rather than walls, to separate most of the areas. All functions requiring water to the mechanical equipment room to minimize the amount of piping required.

The roof frame will be built of open web steel. Precast concrete slabs will form the exterior of the roof and face brick will be used on the outer walls.

Hendricks said the bond issue would cover the cost of constructing and equipping the proposed library.

Taxes would be increased $3.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation if both proposals are passed. The present city tax rate is $20 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

PROPOSED LIBRARY — If a $135,000 bond issue is approved by Clawson voters Dec. 19, the city will be able to replace its present, century-old library with the modern, new structure shown in an architectural drawing here. The new library would be located near Clawson's junior high and senior high schools. Another pro-

The Junior Chamber of Commerce entry won the trophy as the best float in the noncommercial division. It was a replica of Noah's Ark with large size "animals" peeking their heads over the side of the boat.

The Rotary Club float was awarded honorable mention in this category. It was a holiday scene with children and large decorated Christmas tree in the center.

Repeating its success of a year ago, St. Andrew's Catholic Church again was picked as having the best entry in the religious float division. It was a Nativity scene.

The trophy for the best religious float is donated by the local Business and Professional Women's Club.

Sponsor of the annual parade is the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce.

Heading the line of march this year was an American Legion color guard followed by cars in which both village and township officials were riding.

Next were the Moslem Highlanders of Detroit, a kiltie marching band, playing stirring tunes on bagpipes and drums.

Other music, all with the Christmas theme, was provided by bands from Avondale High School, Rochester Junior and Senior High schools and Meadow Brook Elementary School.

Among the other effective entries in the parade were the North Hill Plaza float with its large gold and gilt wrapped Christmas presents, the miniature train from Nowels Lumber Company, missiles from the Nike bases at Auburn Heights and U.S. Army floats and floats from other area organizations, merchants and neighborhood groups.

SANTA APPEARS

The Rae-Yens, precision drill team from Pontiac, put on a performance as they strutted down city street which the Pat Walker Taylor Eaglettes, a marching group from Royal Oak.

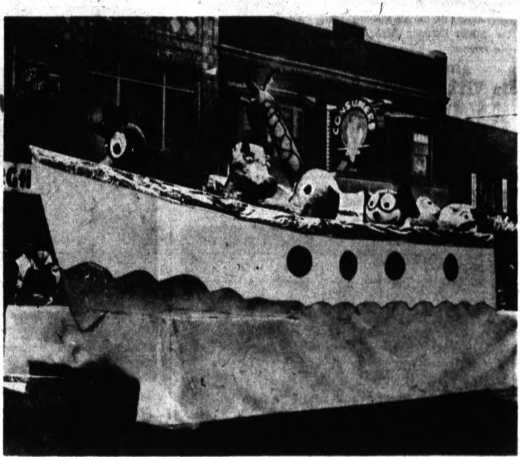

Climax of the parade was reached when Santa Claus appeared at the end in a wagon drawn by ponies from the John F. Ivory Farm in White Lake Township.

After the parade was over, he descended from the wagon and went into his Main street headquarters, where he greeted the youngsters, individually and gave them all candy canes.

Santa will be at his headquarters at regular hours from now until Christmas Eve.

Special music will be presented by the Avondale Choir at tomorrow's 8 p.m. meeting of the Avondale Band Boosters Club at Avondale Senior High School.

One Murder Victim Today, Two Tomorrow

Armada Buries Its Dead

BY LEE WINBORN

Three funerals, one today and two tomorrow, will close the book on Armada's most tragic story of bitterness and hatred, one that was climaxed by a double murder and suicide.

One of the town's leading citizens, attorney Wendell H. Lichtenfelz, 46, was to be laid to rest this afternoon in Peaceful Willow Grove Cemetery with his family, friends and colleagues sharing in the bereavement.

Lichtenfelz was shot to death Friday afternoon by a wild farmer who had murdered his own wife on Thursday, Joseph Austin, 67, went berserk, demolishing the interior of his home with a pick ax and his bare fists.

He destroyed the furniture, smashed the drapes off the windows, ripped pictures and gouged holes in the walls.

SHOT FOUR TIMES

At the height of his frenzy he apparently sought out Lichtenfelz, the man who had represented his wife in their divorce action, and shot him four times at close range, according to the Romeo State police.

The slaying occurred in the attorney's second-floor office on Main Street in Armada.

Five hours later, on the tip of Romeo attorney Edward A. Jacob who represented Austin in the divorce proceedings, troopers and Macomb County sheriff's deputies broke into the Austin home and found both the man and his wife dead inside.

Mrs. Austin, 56, had been beaten to death, according to the coroner's report. Austin later shot himself in the head.

The divorce action had been initiated four years ago by Mrs. Austin, who had found her husband becoming increasingly hard to live with and irrational in his behavior, according to Jacob.

Austin blamed Lichtenfelz for starting the whole thing even though a reconciliation had been effected, the Romeo attorney said.

More than a year ago Austin threatened to kill his wife's attorney, possibly for "making him live up to his promises," said Jacob.

FUNERAL AT 2 P.M.

Lichtenfelz's funeral was to be at 2 p.m. today at the Tiffany Young Funeral Home. Fellow members of the Macomb County Bar Association held a memorial service in the County Building this morning.

Lichtenfelz was a former chief assistant prosecutor for Macomb County and village attorney for 12 years.

Instrumental in the consolidation of the local school system and the building of the new high school, Lichtenfelz was secretary of the Armada Board of Education for 11 1/2 years.

Service for Mrs. Austin will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the building of the new high school, Tiffany-Young Funeral Home with burial in Woodmere Cemetery, Detroit. Her husband's funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Duncan Funeral Home, New Haven.

Jews, Episcopalians

Churches Join Service

ROYAL OAK (UPI) — Jews and Episcopalians held a joint service in St. John Episcopal Church here Sunday night to celebrate the "Story of Chanukah."

The unusual interfaith service was arranged by Marjorie Gulich, organist for both the Congregation Emanu-El Synagogue and St. John.

Members of the congregation of the Episcopal Church were joined by members of Congregation Emanu-El at St. John's for the Jewish celebration in nearby Oak Park sang a musical tribute to Matthias, a great Jewish rebel.

The music was written by Mrs. Abigail Stull, mother of the featured vocalist in the Jewish choir, and the words were written by Congregation Emanu-El's Rabbi Milton Rosenbaum.

The service began with St. John's adult choir leading the blue-robed Jewish children to the tune of "Praise to the Living God," a hymn found in both St. John's and Congregation Emanu-El hymnals.

The Rev. Canon John M. Shufelt, rector of St. John's, congratulated the youth from both faiths for attending the service.

"By learning about the customs of others," he said, "I believe a bright future for religious understanding lies ahead."

"We at St. John's are happy to be contributing in some small way to this bright future."

Rabbi Rosenbaum delivered a sermon during the service. Chanukah, beginning tomorrow lasts eight days, the length of time a Jewish menorah, or candle, with one day's supply of oil, burned in the temple after Matthias' son had reclaimed Jerusalem from the evil Sprial King, Antiochus Epiphanes.

Matthias and his sons led a ragged army which rebelled when Antiochus Epiphanes sacrificed pigs on Jewish altars and had even dared to walk boastfully in Jerusalem's holy of holies.

Most seriously injured of the passengers in the other car was Marilyn Terrien, 15, of 31373 Van Dyke Road, Shelby Township. She was reported in fair condition with a possible fractured pelvis and internal injuries.

Listed in good condition was Janet Ellison, 15, of 42308 Shoed St., Sterling Township. She suffered less serious head injuries, according to nurses at the hospital.

The driver and her two other passengers were released after treatment at the hospital.

UTICA High Girls Hurt on Way to Rehearsal in Mound Road Crash

UTICA — Kathryn Koster and her girl friend Shirley Balow should have been receiving congratulations of their classmates today at Utica Community High School.

Instead, the girls are confined to hospital beds in St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens, along with two other girls from the high school.

Kathryn and Shirley were on their way to prepare for their roles in the school's annual musical play, "The Sound of Music," at the Utica Community High School.

They were driving along Mound Road Friday, anxious to don their make-up and get a few minutes to go over their lines just once more.

At Mound and West Utica Roads the girls' car collided with another one containing five other Utica High School girls on their way to the play.

All Kathryn remembers of the accident is a flash of headlights and a crash.

The driver of the other car, Doyle Winchester, 16, of 43223 Eagle St., Sterling Township, Sheriff's deputies that she then proceeded across the intersection, thinking the road was free of traffic.

Kathryn of 15500 Hall Road, Sterling Township, and Shirley of 3054 Deane Road, Shelby Township, both suffered head injuries and are reported in fair condition at the hospital. Both are 17 years old.

NFL's Western Division Race Still Unsettled

Lions Still Alive—Mathematically

Morrall Hits on 12 of 14 Passes

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT — The Detroit Lions are an inspired football team in a crazy-mixed up Western Division title race in the NFL.

Earl Morrall, starting his first game of the season, hit on 12 of 14 passes and Nick Pietrosante, with his best running of the year, picked up 142 yards on the ground as the Lions before the Dallas Cowboys, 23-14, before 43,272 frozen fans.

It was mighty cold at Briggs Stadium, but Morrall's arm was hot. He hit Hopalong Cassidy five times, Jim Gibbons on five and Earl Morrall on two passes.

On the first march of the opening period, the Lions drove to the Cowboy 9 where the bid stalled.

Little Eddie LeBaron, the Redskins castoff, gave the Lions a few anxious moments with his passing as he completed 18 of 27 for 195 yards.

Using Billy Howton as his prime receiver he moved the Cowboys to the Detroit 10. At this point, L. G. Dupe and Gary Lowe recovered, just before the quarter ended.

The teams exchanged punts and then the Lions took over on their own 40. On the third play, Pietrosante cut outside left guard, dodged couple tacklers in the secondary, and raced right down the middle for the 43 yard touchdown. Jim Martin converted.

With their backs to the wall, LeBaron was in punt formation on his own 8 yard line. The pass from center said over his head and out of the end zone for a safety making it 9-0.

On the ensuing kickoff, the Lions then started a touchdown march which went 38 yards in five plays. On an identical play as his first touchdown, Pietrosante this time cut to his left sideline and went 40 yards to make it 15-0. Martin made it 16-0.

LeBaron then went to work. He hit Fred Dugan, Howton, Dupe and Jim Doran with passes down to the Detroit 4. Dupe got to the one and then drove over left tackle for the touchdown. Fred Cone converted.

Just as the half was coming to an end, Morrall fumbled and the Cowboys took over at midfield. LeBaron's pass meant for Howton was at least 10 yards short and Dick LeBeau intercepted.

One play after the second half kickoff, Dupe fumbled and Carl Bretschneider recovered. Detroit took over on the Colt 30.

The Lions were assessed a 15 yard penalty and took a five yard loss, but then interference was called on a pass. Gibbons was a first down on the nine. Two plays later Morrall passed for the TD to Earl Morrall, 21 yards.

The Cowboys were able to move the ball. They got to the Detroit 16 before losing possession. Early in the 4th period LeBaron passed to Howton for a 31 yard score. Jim Martin's attempted field goal from the 18 was the last scoring threat for either team in the last 10 minutes.

Coach George Wilson had high praises for Morrall, who a week earlier passed for the spectacular 63 yard touchdown with only 4 seconds to play to beat Baltimore.

"Morrall did a great job, he missed plays well. He called almost every play, except for a few," said Wilson.

The victory pushed the Lions into a three-way tie for second place in the Western Division with Baltimore, San Francisco all at 6-5. Green Bay leads the pack with a 7-4 mark, so everything boils down to next weekend. The Rams must beat the Packers on Saturday, the Lions have to handle the Bears and both camps are hoping for a 4er win over the Colts. This would eliminate Baltimore and cause a three-way tie.

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings are convinced — the Montreal Canadiens are the class of the National Hockey League.

The Wings knew it before last night's 5-1 drubbing at the hands of the runaway league leaders, but the ease with which the Canadiens accomplished it added emphasis to the Montreal power.

Where the Canadiens looked organized, as if they were skating according to a plan, the Detroiters never quite got assembled.

They had only 23 shots at sub goalie Charlie Hodge, and never could mount more than a flurry against the Montreal defense.

The Wings were 13 seconds away from their first shutout in 75 games when Gordie Howe sent in a low 45-footer that stopped the white washing.

The victory completed a sweep away in the first period Sunday at Detroit. Defenseman Al Langlois of Montreal is in front of the net. The Canadiens won 5-1.

WING IS FOILED — Howie Glover (15) of the Detroit Red Wings watches the puck hit the chest of Montreal goalie Charlie Hodge, then bound away in the first period Sunday at Detroit. Defenseman Al Langlois of Montreal is in front of the net. The Canadiens won 5-1.

Anti-Castro Leaflets Rain on Havana

HAVANA (UPI) — A high-flying airplane showered thousands of anti-Castro leaflets on Havana early today, calling on Cubans to take "to the hills" and fight to overthrow this island's revolutionary regime.

It was the most brazen defiance of Premier Fidel Castro's rule, and pointed up a growing wave of resistance to the bearded mountain fighter who seized power two years ago.

Crowds attending an outdoor showing of a Communist sculpture in Central Park reacted with snatches of the leaflets as they fluttered from the sky like giant snowflakes. The park is in the heart of the city near the capitol building.

Signed the "Front for a Democratic Revolution," they exhorted Cubans to start a "campaign of sabotage on telephones, vehicles and machinery." There have been reports from the provinces that some sugar-grinding machinery already has been sabotaged.

They also called for counter-revolutionary demonstrations in movies and churches and urged Cubans to join other rebels fighting Castro forces in provincial hills.

Castro himself narrowly escaped injury Sunday in his Russian-made helicopter while he was inspecting troop operations against armed rebels on two fronts in Las Villas Province.

The engine stopped while the craft was in flight but the pilot managed to land it safely.

Castro's personal interest in the Las Villas battle indicated his forces are engaged in a major operation against insurgents who have been waging guerrilla warfare in the Escambray Mountains for months.

Crowd of 300 Protests Arrest

Throw Rocks, Bottles at Police, at Lakeside Community Center

Two men were arrested by Pontiac police early Sunday after several cars were called to the Lakeside Community Center on French Street to put down a raucous crowd of 300 protesters in an arrest.

The disturbance began, according to police, with a husband-and-wife fight. Officers arrested the husband, Clifford Turner, 38, 307 No. braska St., on a drunk and disorderly charge.

He grappled with officers, they said, but was handcuffed and placed into a police cruiser.

Meanwhile a crowd gathered at the scene, and Turner yelled that officers were breaking his arms and beating him, police said.

Rocks and beer bottles were thrown at police who fought off the crowd. Several police cars were damaged.

Arrested along with Turner was John W. Seay, 17, 227 W. 1st St. Officers accused him of throwing a can at a police car.

Police today were considering obtaining warrants charging Turner with inciting a riot and Seay with taking part in an unlawful assembly.

The incident occurred shortly after midnight on Sunday.

Dem Club Will Discuss County Patronage Hopes

The question of whether county Democrats will share in Michigan federal patronage jobs, available due to the election of President-Elect John F. Kennedy, will be discussed at tonight's quarterly meeting of the Oakland County Democratic Club.

"It's not on the formal agenda, but I expect I'll bring them up," declared James M. Ginn, county chairman.

Ginn said the committee has been asked to consider several local Democrats for these jobs, including George J. Fulkerson for U.S. attorney general in Detroit. Fulkerson led the defeated county ticket Nov. 8 in his bid for prosecutor.

The chairman said others are seeking endorsement to lesser district attorney posts in Detroit. Any talk about another job, that of vice-chairman of the Michigan Democratic Party, would be speculative, and not on the agenda, Ginn said.

Ordered to Stop Doing Business in Trading Stamps

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A judge has ordered two men to stop trading in S&W trading stamps.

The action came Friday after Sperry & Hutchinson complained against activities of Charles R. Hinds and C. B. Wiley, doing business as Trading Stamp Exchange.

Hinds and Wiley told Judge Dallas Blankenship they swap trading stamps issued by various companies for 50 cents a book as a service to housewives who want to specialize in one type of stamp, Sperry & Hutchinson, however.

claimed a housewife does not feel ownership of the stamps when they are given her at a store — only get the right to paste them in a book and exchange them for merchandise.

Friday's ruling does not affect other trading stamp activities of Hinds and Wiley.

Most Grains Strong but Wheat Weak

CHICAGO (UPI)—Wheat futures showed a tendency toward weakness but other grain and soybean markets started off in a firm to strong range today on the board of trade.

Brokers said there appeared to be some profit taking in the old crop wheat contracts, but a succession of season highs last week and closed at the peak on Friday.

Soybeans, leading the advance, moved higher, running to a new high of 1.10 1/2, after the first few minutes. Corn, oats and rice were up, major fractions in spots at the same time.

Expect Offer for British Ford Today

LONDON (UPI)—The Ford Motor Co. of Detroit today was expected to make a formal offer to buy up complete ownership of British subsidiary, a recent $300-million deal that will put half British auto industry into American hands.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government already has approved the transaction and now it is up to hundreds of British investors to decide whether or not to sell out.

The board of British Ford, headed by Sir Patrick Hennessey, 62, has recommended that shareholders accept the offer and there is every indication that the deal will go through.

British Ford shareholders and their brokers expect to receive an official letter setting out details of the offer today or tomorrow, and then they will have until early in the new year to make up their minds.

It is the largest offer ever made to a British company and stirred up angry Parliamentary protest from British socialists and drew balanced newspaper reactions from the United States Treasury.

Red-Held Flier Was Hurt

ELMHURST, N.Y. (UPI)—Capt. Freeman B. Olmstead, 25, one of two U.S. Air Force officers held captive in the Soviet Union, has been released.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Blaine Olmstead said Sunday that their son told them in a letter dated Nov. 27 he had suffered a compressed fracture of a vertebra in escaping from his captors.

Olmstead also sent Christmas greetings in the letter to his wife, Gail, 25, who is living with her parents in Plainfield, N.J.

His wife is expecting a child in March. The couple's first child, Karl, is two years old.

In his letter, Olmstead said Soviet doctors told him that for six weeks and later put him exercises to avoid the possibility of any impairment to the mobility of his legs.

Olmstead and Capt. John M. Kone, Tonganoxie, Kans., have been held in Moscow since July, despite repeated attempts by the U.S. government to secure their freedom.

Dynamite Blast Damages Negro School in Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI)—A dynamite bomb was hurled against a Negro school here early today, heavily damaging two classrooms and the auditorium.

Detectives estimated that 10 sticks of explosives were wrapped together. They thought the bomb might have been hurled from a passing car but had no actual clues to the act.

The school, attended by approximately 1,600 Negro elementary grade children, will be closed for the day, officials said.

There had been no previous violence at or near the school which changed from white to Negro occupancy about five years ago when the Negro moved into the formerly all-white neighborhood.

Atlanta public schools are under a federal court desegregation order which is expected to take effect next year.

The blast came a day after an estimated 2,000 Negroes held a sunrise prayer meeting in behalf of the campaign for desegregated eating facilities in downtown restaurants.

Sundays' demonstrations were peaceful. Negroes marched from the meeting a football stadium not far from the scene of this morning's explosion to a downtown park.

Detectives estimated it was about 2:30 a.m. when dynamite was hurled against the English Avenue School, a building that is situated near the street.

The mighty blast rocked the neighborhood of middle-class Negro homes. Chunks of pavement and curbing were dislodged and a two-story crane was scooped in front of the school.

Inside the plaster-strewn rooms, Christmas decorations lined the walls. Season's Greetings, one of the campaign for desegregated eating facilities in downtown restaurants.

Lights gleamed in the homes in the area but few people came out to view the damage.

Bagwell, who lost to Democratic Lt. Gov. John B. Stinson in the gubernatorial race, has received more than 2,000 letters urging him to reconsider his decision not to run again, Johnson said.

"We don't know whether or not he will reconsider, but we do not want the state sales tax ceiling to government which he led to give up the organization developed in the past two years of hard work," he said.

The fact that Bagwell ran the closest race of any Republican candidate by thousands of votes proves to us that our organization is effective."

Bagwell, who lost to Democratic Lt. Gov. John B. Stinson in the gubernatorial race, has received more than 2,000 letters urging him to reconsider his decision not to run again, Johnson said.

Johnson noted that proposed constitutional amendments to the state sales tax ceiling to 4 cents and pave the way for a statewide vote on calling a constitutional convention both carried in the Nov. 8 election. Both were supported by Bagwell and opposed by the Swain.

Plans for a grand opening of the new building, says the exact date to be announced later, the official Peiping People's Daily said.

Atlanta Police Say Radio Car Directs Sit-Ins

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI)—Police say a car equipped with two-way radio being used to direct Negro sit-in operations here.

Capt. R. E. Little Jr. said Friday the car's occupants want to see if lunch counters are open and then relay information to demonstration leaders so Negroes can be sent to stage a sit-in.

Authorities said this apparently explains the methodical way in which demonstrators arrive at stores in their continuing drive against segregated lunch counters in the downtown area.

Lunch counters opened for a time at four drug stores Friday but were closed when sit-in demonstrators arrived. Counters at several variety stores and two department stores remained shut.

Chrysler Denies British Grab

Not Seeking Big Piece of Standard-Triumph, Says U.S. Firm

LONDON (UPI)—Chrysler Corp. has denied that it is seeking a big piece of Britain's Standard-Triumph auto combine.

The denial came Sunday after a British newspaper, Lord Bouverie's Sunday Express, said in a front page story that such a financial deal was underway and would amount to "tremendous opportunity" in Britain.

The Express story said Chrysler had come up with a share offer right in the middle of negotiations for a 100 million pounds ($250 million) merger of Standard-Triumph and the Leyland Trunk manufacturing concern.

Chrysler, said the Express, probably was aiming at gaining eventual control of Standard-Triumph. The paper argued such a deal would be bitterly opposed in this country, coming so soon after American Ford's move for take over of all shares in its British subsidiary.

It also contains a play area for children, a play pen for infants, made from a hifi record player, and a lounge area where coffee, cold soft drinks and other refreshments are available.

Pontiac Firm OKs 614 Pact

Steel Company Drops Lawsuit and Agrees to Teamster Contract

A Pontiac steel supply company, that said it has been besieged with union troubles for several weeks, today signed a contract with Pontiac Transfers Local 614, according to Joseph Cohen, secretary-treasurer of the company.

Cohen said the lawsuit initiated by officials of the Sarajevo Steel Supply, Inc., 115 Branch St., would be dropped. It sought an injunction preventing 614 pickets from interfering with company business.

Signing of the contract today follows a report by an unknown source of a fist fight in front of the company Saturday morning and a report by Pontiac police this morning that black and green paint had been thrown at a company sign at Orchard Lake Avenue and Walnut Street.

Cohen said the contract covering five drivers and helpers with the company was signed "because we weren't gaining anything by the long drawn out court procedure."

The suit alleged that local officials, including William Hoffa, brother of International Teamsters president James R. Hoffa, were using "malicious intimidations and threats of property damage" to force the company to let its employees join Local 614.

Police said they found the fight "unfounded." Cohen said he knew nothing of a fight.

Woman Hit by Car on South Saginaw

A Pontiac woman was in critical condition at Pontiac General Hospital after being struck by an auto on South Saginaw Street north of Prospect Street Saturday.

She is Della Brooks, 42, 560 Highland Ave. The driver of the car, Howard E. Lennan, 718 First St., told Pontiac police he was driving north on Saginaw Street and did not see the woman in time to stop.

She suffered a fractured pelvis and possible internal injuries.

Palace Guards Wear Out Old Stomping Ground

LONDON (U-P) — Buckingham Palace guardsmen have won a new 35-yard-long strip of pavement for stomping out their century duty inside the palace gates. It's level and a boost to morale.

The staid guard moved inside the gates 14 months ago to protect them from pestering tourists, had stomped to pieces the old gravel and stone footpath between their boxes.

The tooling got so uneven all their training was useless. They were slipping and sliding instead of wheeling and dealing.

The palace called for the new pavement after the guardmen, in British armor to assuage the sergeant.

Injured in Crash, City Man Denies Driving Car

A Pontiac man was injured Saturday morning when a car hit a parked car and smashed into a tree.

Campbell denied he was driving the auto, but refused to give Pontiac police any information about the accident.

The owner of the car, Mrs. Jacqueline Patterson, 285 Branch St., told officers she had lent her car earlier to a man being sought in connection with an armed robbery.

Campbell was alone in the car when police arrived at the scene of the accident at 9:30 a.m.

Viet Nam Mopping Up Soviet Says No Yoda

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Government troops today were reported waging active mopping-up operations against Communist Viet Nam rebels in various provinces northeast of Saigon and in the highlands. A unit of the national armed forces routed a Red gang last Thursday after a clash in the jungle, killing 51, one a provincial commissar, the Viet Nam press said.

Used Car Seller Cheated Out of $20 by Customer

A Pontiac used car salesman, instead of making a sale, told Pontiac police he'd been sold a false bill of goods Saturday — costing him $20.

George Rich, a salesman at R.R. Motors Inc., 724 Oakland Ave., said he'd made out a bill of sale on a used car when the purchaser asked for a ride downtown so he could buy insurance.

Upon the customer's request, Rich gave him $20 to purchase a policy.

The man entered a building. He didn't come out.

Rich checked the address the man had given him for the bill of sale for the car.

Upon learning it was nonexistent, he called police.

Damage Is $3,000 in 2 House Fires

Two fires in Pontiac Saturday caused damage estimated at $3,000. Officers answered an alarm at the home of Clarence Wilson, 560

Howland Ave., at 10:34 a.m. They extinguished the flames in a half hour. The fire was apparently caused by an overheated pipe, they said.

Damage to the two-story frame home was estimated at $500.

The second fire was at the Robert Almus home, 80 Excelsior Ave., at 1:15 p.m. Officers said that the exterior of the home was set on fire by flames from trash being burned nearby. Damage to the one-story frame structure was $2,500.

No one was injured in either fire.

Unemployment at Four Million

Number at Work Also Hits Top Though Plants Cut Off 150,000

JOBS LEAD TIPS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment topped four million in November—the highest idle figure for the month since depression days of the 30s. The number at work was also a record.

The government reported today that job changes between October and November were mainly seasonal except for a further decline of 150,000 in factory employment.

These are the November figures:

Employment — down by 300,000. The totals were 67,400,000 in October as compared with 67,100,000 in November. The November total is still a record for the month, despite the decline.

Unemployment—up 450,000. The totals were 2,579,000 in October and 4,031,000 in November.

The rate of unemployment declined slightly from 6.4 per cent in October to 6.3 per cent in November, but the Labor Department said the change was insignificant.

The number of the long-term unemployed, those idle for 15 weeks or longer, rose to 1,300,000 in November at about one million. This is one-fourth of the total unemployed.

High-Handed Solution

MONTEPELIER, Vt. (UPI)—Six women and five men from Montpelier celebrated New Year's Eve today said the city's parking problem could be eased by making fire foot Mt. Mansfield at Stowe, Vt. hydrants six feet high so hoses could be run over cars that would food and camping equipment with the permitted to park beside them on the ski lift.

By A. W. MOLLER, D.V.M.

Q. Every time my cat has kittens she refuses to take care of them. What can I do? Paula Butzo, Port Chester, N.Y.

A. Lack of mother love and neglect of offspring are not confined to the human race. The maternal instinct seems to be more highly developed in some females than in others.

Since all the functions of reproduction are governed by the glands, our thinking has always been that lack of mother love is not so much a matter of instinct as a question of glandular malfunction.

This can often be corrected by using hormone injections, after a careful analysis of the cat. I have found it is possible to induce in her a greater concern for her kittens. But if this fails, I'm afraid weeks or longer, you will have to prevent your cat from ever having kittens again.

Almost every large municipal authority in West Scotland now is opposed to the Holy Loch base.

Sees Medical Aid to Aged Expanding

By PETE LOCHBLER

Congress during its next session will expand coverage of medical care to the aged benefits, Walter A. Reuther predicted in Pontiac yesterday.

Broader coverage will be backed by the White House, the United Auto Workers Union president told a capacity crowd of 550 at ceremonies dedicating Pontiac's newest UAW hall.

Reuther accused President Eisenhower of using "moral pressure" on Congress to kill the aid plan championed by President

3 Waited 20 Minutes for Missiles to Hit U.S.

(The Strategic Air Command last week revealed a missile scare which resulted in a near warning system, alerting radar signals from the Soviet Union to an approaching missile. A quick check revealed the error and for the time being it provided a dramatic, terror-filled moment in their lives.)

By FRANK BRENNAN

CHICAGO (UPI)—Twenty minutes, under certain conditions, pass all too fast.

But they also can seem like an eternity, an eternity of hopelessness.

For three American businessmen, 20 minutes produced the "absolute terror" of a Russian missile attack.

They waited, worrying about their families hundreds of miles away, for what they believed might be the beginning of the world's third great war—a missile age, atomic holocaust.

They waited, with a terror unknown to most Americans, for the worst. They waited almost helplessly, never knowing until the very end that it was all a mistake.

The three businessmen were touring the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo., last Oct. 5.

The executives—Thomas Watson, New York, president of International Business Machines; Charles H. Percy, president of Bell & Howell, and Peter O. Peterson, executive vice president of Bell & Howell — were being shown the nation's defense setup.

Peterson said the group, whose firms manufacture defense and space products—were in a big room where top officers sit at desks studying a huge plastic screen that shows unknown aircraft moving over North America.

LIGHT OF DOOM

"Our guide," Peterson said, "showed us equipment designed to detect the presence of missiles."

Chilling News: It'll Stay Cold Until Thursday

Tonight will be partly cloudy with continued cold and an expected low of 15, the weatherman says. Tomorrow will be fair and cold with a high of 26. There's a possibility of scattered snow flurries.

For the next five days temperatures will average near a normal high of 32 to 36 and a normal low of 18 to 24. Wednesday will be cold. Thursday is expected to be a little warmer with little change thereafter.

Northerly winds at 10 miles per hour today will diminish slowly to light and tomorrow.

A cold 12 degrees was the lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury read 14 at 1 p.m.

Blizzard Steeps East Deep in Winter Misery

State Escapes Snow Piling Up to 15 Inches

Traffic Paralyzed in New York, Washington and Philadelphia

From Our News Wires

A swirling storm developed sudden intensity over the populous Eastern Seaboard today and dumped more than a foot of snow on surprised sections from Washington to New England, taking a rising toll of lives.

Michigan happily escaped the brunt of the storm, although low temperatures prevailed and some cities reported generous snowfalls.

Nothing in Michigan, however, matched the misery of the East, where at least four deaths were blamed on the winter preview.

The storm dealt major blows to:

—New York City, where a foot of snow had fallen, nearly paralyzing transportation. The New York Stock Exchange and American Stock Exchange were forced to delay the opening of trading because of the transportation snarl. Things were so bad, even the weatherman couldn't make it to work.

—Boston, where air traffic was halted and other transportation crowded along after 15 inches of snow covered the city.

—Washington, where snow piled 8 inches deep in downtown streets forced the federal government to a grinding halt. All federal offices except those concerned with the nation's security were closed for the day.

—Philadelphia, which had up to 15 inches of snow. Traffic in Pennsylvania was at a standstill and plants and schools were closed.

Throughout the East, road and air traffic was paralyzed and schools closed.

Train service was delayed more than 30 minutes on the average and workers by the thousands tried and failed to make it to their Monday morning jobs.

Trailways Bus Lines halted operations from New England to Washington, even to the point of ordering buses already out to halt at the next station. Greyhound issued similar directives.

Suburbs and cities suffered alike. New York City and environs seemed hardest hit, but Boston, Camden and Newark, N.J., were among other major population centers suffering heavily.

BUILDUP SNOWED IN — Passengers aboard this cross-country bus were marooned for more than five hours today as a deadly snowstorm swirled through the eastern seaboard unloading mountains of snow which reached 15 inches here near Philadelphia.

De Gaulle to Leave Early

Wild Mobs Attack French

From Our News Wires

ALGERS, Algeria — Mobs of Arabs, shouting for a holy war against the French, attacked French troops and Europeans throughout Algiers today and were driven back with bullets, tear gas and gas bombs.

The French were reported calling in paratroop reinforcements to combat the rioting in the history of Algeria.

The strike has caused Gen. Charles de Gaulle to cut short his peace tour of Algeria and hurry back to Paris a day early.

The sudden switch in the French president's plans was disclosed today as his campaign to give Algeria home-rule came under twin hammer blows.

The money totaled $3. "Keep the bloody rioting by right-wing Europeans settlers and Moslems has left nearly 100 dead and more than 300 wounded in North Africa's biggest blood bath since the nationalist revolt against the French began six years ago."

BULLETIN

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today picked Dean Rusk, head of the Rockefeller Foundation, to be his secretary of state.

Kennedy also announced the appointment of Adlai Stevenson as ambassador to the United Nations.

And he named Rep. Chester Bowles, D-Conn., as undersecretary of state.

UAW to Map Goals for 1961

Shorter Work Week Expected to Be One of the Major Aims

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers' six top officers meet here today to map plans for selling the UAW's 24-member international executive board a schedule of goals for 1961 contract bargaining.

The board will get the recommendations of the officers Tuesday and debate them the rest of the week. Then it will face the task of selling a special UAW convention in Detroit April 25-29 its priority list.

Few doubt that a shorter work week with no loss in pay will be a major goal. Many auto workers are among the unemployed and many in top union spots advocate a shorter week to spread the work.

Today's meeting and subsequent ones of the board will be closed. Whether the goals will be announced publicly in advance of an attempt to sell them at local levels was not indicated.

President, Walter P. Reuther, secretary-treasurer, Emil Mazey, and the UAW's four vice presidents attended today's meeting. The vice presidents are: Leonard Woodcock, Pat Grawe, Norman Matthews and Richard T. Gossel, the latter among outspoken advocates of a 30-hour week with no loss in 40-hour pay.

It also is possible that officials had pursued the usually stubborn general that his continued presence in Algeria might lend itself to even greater disorder.

De Gaulle himself spent the night at Bougie and was conferring with French military authorities to win their support for his plan for a referendum that would permit the predominantly Moslem Algerians to determine their own future.

De Gaulle has demanded that any referendum be held under protection of the French army and not the United Nations and a new impasse seemed certain.

He was peering down through the ice for some sign of his companion when G. E. Bowles who lives along the shore at 3300 Wellington drive, spotted Long.

Bowles went out and asked Long what was the matter. "My friend is down there somewhere," said Long.

Bowles asked if he wanted him to phone the police. Long said "He still has about 15 minutes of air left in his tank." Bowles ran home and telephoned the sheriff's department anyway.

Members of the township police and fire departments, sheriff's deputies, including a skin diver Medward Tessler, and divers from the Waterford Township police, Ernest Mann and Richard Beckman, were at the scene within 10 minutes.

The divers went in after Clark but failed to find him in the frigid waters. They continued the search until dark, and resumed it today when they were joined by nine volunteers from the Pine Lake

Blame 2 Deaths on Slick Roads

Detroiters Die From Injuries Sustained in Accidents on U.S. 10

Slippery driving conditions on U.S. 10 north of Pontiac contributed to two traffic deaths in Oakland County over the weekend.

Both victims were Detroiters, injured in separate mishaps during a light snow fall Saturday afternoon. Six others were injured in one of the crashes, none of them from Oakland County.

Dead are Mrs. Mary M. May, 66, who died in Pontiac early yesterday, and Elmer Blunt, 36, dead on arrival at Flint's Hurley Hospital Saturday.

Mrs. May died of injuries suffered when her northbound car swerved into a southbound car in Springfield Township.

Injured were Raymond Ridley, 54, of Flint, the other driver, and passengers, Mrs. Irma Havers, 57, Mrs. Eula Goodell, 59, and Mrs. Violet Dickinson, 51, all of Flint.

Injured in Mrs. May's car were Mrs. Ethel Otis, 74, of Detroit, and Cynthia Lenz, 11, of Warren.

Ridley and Mrs. Havers were in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General, both suffering broken jaws. Mrs. Otis was in fair condition with broken ribs, and Mrs. Goodell in satisfactory condition with cuts on her legs.

Cynthia Lenz and Mrs. Dickinson were treated for minor injuries.

Blunt's northbound car went out of control and hit a pole in Holly Township just south of the Genoa-Oakland line. He was alone in the car.

packed lightning and wind gusts to 30 miles an hour, it piled drifts up to 3 feet in Canada.

The weather bureau said the storm swept the District of Columbia and 14 states, including New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia and Ohio.

INTENSITY SURPRISE
The storm started its attack Sunday night, 10 days before winter. The weather bureau forecast plenty of warning, but was surprised at the sudden intensity.

The New York weatherman first predicted 10 inches, but after 11 fell on the city by 6:30 a.m., he would only say that several more inches could be expected.

New York Weather Bureau Chief Ernest J. Christie called his office from his suburban Long Island home and said it was impossible to get transportation into the city.

Streets were clogged with stalled cars, buses and even tow trucks.

In Michigan, the mercury skidded to 12 below zero at South St. Marie, while most of the rest of the state points facing the Great Lakes received a generous helping of snow.

One to 6 inches of the white stuff piled up along the Lake Huron shoreline from Alpena south to Port Huron, and 1 to 5 inches fell along Lake Michigan from Traverse City south.

The State Highway Department said drifting made the Upper Peninsula and Western Lower Michigan highways generally slippery with roads in the central portions of the state normal.

Full U.S. Weather Bureau Report for Michigan and vicinity: Mostly cloudy and cold with scattered snow showers and light drizzle. Wind from the north-northwest, 10 to 20 mph. Low 15 to 20 below zero; high 15 to 20 below zero.

Crowd of 300 Protests Arrest

Throw Rocks, Bottles at Police of Lakeside Community Center

Two men were arrested by Pontiac police early Sunday after several cars were called to the Lakeside Community Center, on Branch Street to put down a rioting crowd of 300 protesting an arrest.

The disturbance began, according to police, with a husband-and-wife couple, Claud Turner, 26, 587 No. Braika St., on a drunk and disorderly charge.

He grabbed with officers, they said, was handcuffed and placed into a police cruiser. Meanwhile a crowd gathered at the scene and Turner yelled that officers were breaking his arms and beating him, police said.

Rocks and beer bottles were thrown at police who fought off the crowd. Several police cars were damaged.

Arrested along with Turner was John W. Seay, 17, 231 W. 14th St. Officers accused him of throwing a can at a police car. Police today were considering obtaining warrants charging Turner with inciting a riot and Seay with taking part in an unlawful assembly.

The incident occurred shortly after midnight on Sunday.

"On a lighted panel was a series of numbers running from one through five.

"As I recall it," Peterson said, "we were told if No. 1 flashed it meant only routine objects in the air. If No. 2 flashed, it meant there were a few more unidentified objects, but nothing suspicious.

"If five flashed," Peterson continued, "it was highly probable that objects in the air were moving toward America. An attack was likely."

The three executives watched the screen, intent upon its operation. As they watched, the numbers changed from 1 to 2. . . Then a pause. . . and the No. 3.

The numbers continued to move, reaching 4 and triggering the giant defense command into action.

ACT IN SECONDS
"When the numbers rose to four," Peterson said, "key NORAD general came running from their offices. They entered the room—it seemed to take only seconds. . . Then, the number rose to 5.

Quickly, Peterson and his friends were escorted from the main room into another office. They were unaware of what transpired in the great defense room after their departure.

Almost stunned, the executives waited through 20 minutes of "absolute terror."

"We talked," Peterson said, "our first thoughts were for our families, our deep concern for them. They weren't with us and we couldn't reach them. It was a rather hopeless feeling.

"But then you realize there's very little one can do if a missile attack is on the way."

Each had his innermost thought, thoughts unshared. They awaited for 20 minutes before a NORAD officer entered the room and revealed the error.

"The only sensation I recall is enormous relief," Peterson said.

But Peterson said he and the others realized they had witnessed the "extreme efficiency, extreme dedication" of the nation's defense system.

"We felt it was the best organized effort any of us had ever seen," he added. "We were reassured to find out how thorough a system of checks and balances existed before the United States would do anything drastic in retaliation."

Twenty minutes of terror was over.

The Day in Birmingham School-Needs Survey Reported Near Completion

BIRMINGHAM — The job of gathering information for the Birmingham school building needs survey is nearly complete, according to Supt. Otis M. Dickey.

"In this extensive undertaking," stated Dickey, "we have enjoyed the most helpful cooperation of our staff and of the public officials in the communities which comprise our school district."

"We feel confident that the district will benefit for many years to come from the sounder decisions to be made possible by the analysis of this information and from the resulting recommendations."

The survey was approved by the board of education in October. Analysis of the data and recommendations to the board will be made by the Bureau of Educational Research and Service, Ohio State University.

A wide variety of information about the school district is needed in a survey of this type. Dickey explained. Some items include present population and future forecasts, proposed housing developments, the proposed education program, class schedules and class sizes.

Dickey said added importance is attached to this survey as an attempt will be made to estimate the school population when the plan in the district is completely built up. This will provide the school board and administration with some guidelines for long range planning.

Some decisions to be faced by the board in Spring, Dickey said, include:

1. How can the pupils now being housed from Walnut Lake and Bloomfield Village elementary schools best be provided for?

2. Is the construction of Westchester School, already approved by voters, a wise move at this time or would additions elsewhere be more sound?

3. When enrollments at Groves Junior-Senior High School exceed designed capacity in 1961-62 will the school be expanded or should the building be constructed or should both Groves and Seabolt become junior-senior high schools.

"When viewing the complexity of just the short range problems, it becomes imperative that the best possible assistance be sought before we ask our community to commit itself to a solution," the superintendent said.

James R. Whaling, Service for James R. Whaling, 21, of 633 N. Glenhurst St., will be at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow in the Manley Funeral Home. Burial will be in Bronson Cemetery, Bromont.

Mr. Whaling died Sunday. A 1957 graduate of Birmingham High School, Whaling was a member of the Mayflower Congregational Church of Detroit.

He is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Clifton W. Whaling of Birmingham; a sister, Mrs. Barry Long said he mentioned Clark to swim back out, and, as he turned to leave, he felt Clark grab at his fin. "But when he turned around, I couldn't find him.

"I thought he must be swimming out, away from the ice, so I did the same, hitting up at the ice as I went," Long said. Finally, he hit a weak spot and was able to break through. He pulled himself out onto the ice and began looking for Clark.

But the victim, who is survived by two young children, besides his wife who is expecting another child, never escaped the cold waters.

"I don't think Clark panicked or got lost," said Long. "He was too experienced for that."

"It's possible his air hose froze up . . . that can happen when swimming near ice for too long a time," Long added.

Jews to Start Festival

NEW YORK (AP) — The lights that burn in honor of religious freedom will start blazing in Jewish homes at sunset Tuesday — the beginning of the eight-day Hanukkah festival. The observance commemorates the successful struggle of Jewish Maccabees and his band against a despot who tried to force paganism on the Jews more than 2,000 years ago.

Uphaus Defends 'Tale-Bearing'

Free Preaching Pacifist After Year; He's Firm

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—summer conference of the World Fellowship Center at Conway, N. H. Uphaus is executive director of the group.

The controversial pacifist and former Methodist lay preacher was released unexpectedly from Merrimack County Jail in Haverhill, N. H., Sunday—two days before his scheduled departure.

Judge George R. Grant Jr. of New Hampshire Superior Court, ordered the release at the request of Uphaus' attorneys. His wife was on hand to greet him.

Uphaus issued a statement shortly after his arrival Sunday night, saying he had done "the only thing I could honorably have done."

He was jailed Dec. 14, 1959 for rejecting an official demand for names of those who attended a by New Hampshire Atty. Gen. Louis C. Wyman, who said he had "reliable information" that some of the guests at the conference were Communists.

Uphaus denied this and refused to turn over guest lists.

The attorney general started a contempt action. The case dragged through the courts, culminating in a refusal by the U.S. Supreme Court to turn down his conviction.

this answer to a similar question now would be no different.

"Oh, yes, it will be the same," he said. "The ground on which I do this is as much a part of the moral order as the rising and setting of the sun."

Uphaus said he will begin making plans soon for another conference of the World Fellowship Center this summer.

He said his beliefs were based on Judeo-Christian doctrine which he said "teaches against tale-bearing or bearing false witness against people."

"According to my interpretation of the teachings of Jesus and my church, a person has the right to associate with persons of all faiths, races and political convictions," he added. "One should not be harassed simply because he associates with them."

Uphaus said he would start work on a speech he is scheduled to give in New York City Thursday night, and a sermon for a Boston One Association said.

69.6 Million Tons Iron Ore Shipped

CLEVELAND (AP)—A total of 69,631,788 gross tons of iron ore was shipped from Great Lakes ports during the season just ended—an increase from 22,750,338 tons over the strike-ridden 1959 shipping season, the American Iron Ore Association said.

amounted to only 1,942,880 tons, as the big carriers began laying up early because sluggish steel production curtailed demands. There was no 1959 December tonnage transported.

Of the total, 2,728,883 tons moved from Canadian ports.

In 1959, following the end of the steel walkout, 5,420,904 tons of ore were brought down later in November and another 3,175,948 tons in December.

Medical Care Major Cost Item for Aged

WASHINGTON (U)—Medical care forms an important part of the cost of living for a retired couple aged 65 or more, a government study has indicated.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimated it takes $20 to $30 monthly to support such a couple on a modest but adequate urban level.

Medical care, it was estimated, would take approximately one-fifth to one-fourth of the family's budget allowances for other than food or rent.

Cost of such care varies considerably, ranging from a high of $306 in San Francisco to $222 in Scranton, Pa., the bureau reported.

These figures were based on a survey of 20 cities in the autumn of 1959.

The medical care costs included: Detroit $238.

Rumor Separate NATO Force

Herter Discusses the Possibility of Individual Nuclear Rocket Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter expressed confidence today in the ability of the North Atlantic Alliance to meet "the changing conditions of the coming decade."

In a statement prepared for his departure for an Allied foreign ministers conference at Paris, Herter made no specific reference to proposals for creating a separate NATO nuclear rocket striking force.

However, he was known to be taking with him a number of suggestions as to how such a force might be created.

These suggestions cover the possibility that the United States may provide Europe's NATO command with several hundred Polaris missiles which would be subject to use by NATO rather than U.S. decision.

NO COMMENT
As the spokesman for the outgoing Eisenhower administration, Herter will not be in a position to make any commitment train hobbles are a classic.

about future U.S. policy when he meets with other ministers of the 15-nation NATO Council Dec. 16-18.

Final decisions will be up to President-elect John F. Kennedy after he takes office Jan. 20.

But Herter was expected to tell Allied leaders that he knows of no reason to believe Kennedy will not approve the project for a NATO nuclear force.

According to present State and Defense Department concepts the force would be primarily sea-borne, based either on a fleet of nuclear submarines under NATO command or on other vessels which might be made available for the purpose.

Will Take 2 Years to Settle GOP Election Disputes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—GOP national chairman Thurston B. Morton says President-Elect John F. Kennedy will have been in the White House nearly two years by the time Republican efforts to upset election results in Illinois and Texas are settled.

By then, he said, it will be too late to reverse the election outcome and make Vice President Richard M. Nixon the chief executive.

Morton said in a TV interview Sunday that there always was a possibility that Nixon could be elected president when the electoral votes are counted next Monday if Illinois' 27 votes were shifted from Kennedy and some unpledged Southern electors backed the Republican.

But, Morton said, "As a result, I don't think there is a chance."

Tennessee to Get Experiment Reactor

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a hollow of the Tennessee hills the government will build an unshielded reactor to study radiation effects on animals like rats, mice, pigs and turkeys.

The $1.6-million project will be built "in a hollow enclosed by hills of sufficient height to provide adequate shielding from surrounding areas" near the AEC's Oak Ridge, Tenn., laboratory, a spokesman said.

It's Not Vanity

Don't Be Afraid to Shine

The world is almost certain to accept the value we place on ourselves. Yet so many people play up their worst points and never display their best.

Lack of worldly possessions and physical defects mean nothing when an individual lives life, is interested in others and has self-respect. This is entirely different from self-love.

HEIGHT PROBLEM
I have seen this happen so often. I remember two young women, both of whom were way above average height, more than six feet tall. Height completely dominated the life of one and ruined it, while the other is one of the most stunning-looking and popular girls I know.

Some of the most fascinating women have irregularity of features which would have made neurotics out of others. These women are so warm and interesting and so much fun that you never even think about whether or not they are pretty.

Many people are affected by lack of education or money. Yet some of the best educated folks I know never went to college, but became widely informed and culturally educated because of their varied interests and curious minds.

Some of the most sought-after people park their old cars right beside the shining new cars of their friends for festive and happy occasions, and no one gives it a thought.

Don't downgrade yourself and no one else is likely to. And if someone should — it won't matter to you.

Look at it this way — Do you think enough of the opinion of others to put your best foot forward?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is not vain to put our "best foot forward." To the contrary, it indicates that we think the opinion of others is worth the effort, that we value their admiration and respect.

This is also, to some extent, a barometer of our estimate of ourselves. We are apt to live up to the picture we have of ourselves.

If a person feels that she or he has nothing to offer, if she is ridden with feelings of guilt and self-condemnation, if she places no value on her own individuality and inner integrity, she is likely to become careless about personal appearance and grooming and posture. She is liable to acquire a retreating negative personality.

Lutheran Women Hold Yule Party

The Miriam and Esther Units of the Augustana Lutheran Church Women of St. John Lutheran Church met Thursday evening in the church parlors for a Christmas party.

Mrs. Carl W. Nielson arranged the program, with Mrs. Eugene Davidson directing group singing of Christmas carols.

Mrs. LaVer Ryden sang an alto solo "Sweet Little Jesus Boy." Carol Wargelin at the piano was accompanied for Mrs. Roger Pomeroy, Mrs. Ryden and Mrs. Danneberg who sang a Christmas trio.

The program closed with a pan-omine of "Jingle Bells" in Swedish dialect by Mrs. Fred Larson. A food basket is being prepared for a needy area family.

Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. William Olson, Mrs. Wesley Ryden and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson.

Officers Elected by Altar Society

Newly elected officers of Waterford Township's Our Lady of the Altar Society include Mrs. Ralph Florio, president; Mrs. Wilford Sovoy, vice president; Mrs. Jen Blust, secretary and Mrs. James Gammon, treasurer.

Old Farm Cookie Recipe Makes Great Quantity

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Night as well warn you—you'll probably be bombarded with Christmas cookie recipes for a while. We seem to have a big batch of them.

If you want a lot of cookies, today's recipe is for you. Mrs. Henry C. Smith (that's Ruth Smith) grew up on a farm and found this recipe in her mother's recipe scrapbook.

It makes 7-8 dozen cookies. Mrs. Smith has one small son. She loves to grow flowers. Cooking, collecting recipes and sewing are her other hobbies.

CHRISTMAS REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

By Mrs. Henry C. Smith

1 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups brown sugar
3 large eggs, beaten
4 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon cream of tartar (that's correct)
1 tablespoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup pecans
1/2 cup candied fruit
1 tablespoon vanilla

Grind fruit and nuts together. Cream shortening and sugar, add beaten eggs. Sift dry ingredients and add to creamed mixture. Add fruit, nuts and vanilla. Chill dough. Form into 3 or 4 long rolls and wrap in wax paper. Chill again. Slice and place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 12-15 minutes at 375 degrees. These freeze well, either before or after baking. Makes 7-8 dozen.

Discusses Projects for Christmas

Christmas projects were discussed at a meeting of Phi Alpha Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Wednesday in the South

Marshall Street home of Joan Silra. Members will aid a needy family and donate funds for the Ruth Alden Drive in Detroit. The next meeting will be Wednesday in the Royal Oak home of Marjorie McKicker.

Nixon Avoided on GOP Policy

Party's Decisions in Congress to Be Made Without Vice President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican legislative leaders are taking steps to make party policy decisions in Congress without consulting Vice President Richard M. Nixon or other outsiders.

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire made the first move by instructing the staff of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, which he heads, to begin drafting statements of party aims on all major issues.

The first of these, expected to be issued with the opening of the new Congress on Jan. 4, is planned to cover the issue of "peaceful coexistence" with the Communists.

Those who know Bridges' views think this is likely to be a vigorous statement of the opinion that there is little room for negotiation with the Russians and almost none with the Chinese Communists.

This goes beyond the field of congressional action. On the other hand, it is the intention of Bridges and other leaders to get specific on such issues as aid to depressed areas, medical care for the aged, housing and other measures as they come before Congress.

Their purpose is to plumb the views of Republican senators and have party policy on majority opinion. If the result happens not to coincide with the policies stated by Nixon in his successful presidential race—or by retiring President Eisenhower—this will not be considered an insurmountable obstacle.

There is discussion of reducing the Senate policy group to a small committee and returning to the procedures put into effect by the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Taft and his successor, former Sen. William Knowland of California, headed compact groups which made party policy pronouncements on pending legislation and national issues.

In the last session, the policy meetings were thrown open to all GOP senators. Almost never was there any agreement reached on party aims.

Expects Nearly 450,000 Foreign Car Sales in U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—John T. Panks, managing director of Rootes Motors, Inc., predicts that between 400,000 and 450,000 foreign cars will be sold in the United States in 1961.

Rootes imports the British Hillman Minx, Sunbeam, Hummer and Singer lines.

Panks made his forecast for the special imported car issue to be published by Automotive News, industry trade journal.

MOBUTU SPEAKS—Col. Joseph Mobutu raises both hands during a press conference last week in his camp at Binza, near Leopoldville. The Congo strongman has been threatened by supporters of the captured Patrice Lumumba, who say they will kill many Belgian hostages unless Lumumba is freed.

Manville and 11th Expect Their 1st Sometime in June

NEW YORK (AP)—Asbestos heir Tommy Manville—often a bridgeboard but never a father—says he and his 11th wife are expecting a baby next June.

"I'm thrilled to death," Manville, 66, said Sunday. "Imagine, at my age I'll have to start learning to change diapers."

Manville and the former Christina Erdlen, a blue-eyed divorcee from Germany, were married last January. They met while she was working as a waitress in nearby White Plains. Mrs. Manville has a 2-year-old daughter.

The child, will certainly be born in America, Manville said, and will automatically get a million dollars at birth.

To Compromise on the Congo?

Expect Ceylon to Offer Peace Proposal Before the U.N. Today

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Ceylon planned to lay a compromise peace plan for the Congo before the U.N. Security Council today.

Sir Claude Corea, the Ceylonese delegate, worked during the week-end in an attempt to find a middle ground for the Soviet bloc and West to deal jointly with the African crisis.

Diplomats connected with the 11-nation council said whatever resolution Corea might produce was the only hope for council action. They predicted that rival Soviet and Western resolutions introduced earlier would fail when put to the vote tonight or Tuesday.

The council was expected to reject the Soviet resolution—calling for the release of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba, the disarming of Col. Joseph Mobutu's Congolese army and the withdrawal of all Belgian personnel from the Congo.

The Soviet Union was expected to veto the rival resolution sponsored by the United States, Britain, Italy and Argentina upholding human rights for all Congolese prisoners, expressing hope for Red Cross measures for their welfare and asking secretary-general Dag Hammarskjöld to continue efforts for law and order in the Congo.

Corea has already told the council he aimed to propose that he (1) give Hammarskjöld more power to keep order, (2) direct the U.N. force in the Congo to disarm illegal private armies, (3) call for Belgian withdrawal, (4) seek the release of all imprisoned Congolese political leaders and (5) promote a roundtable conference of these leaders and a new Parliament session.

Atlanta Police Say Radio Car Directs Sit-Ins

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Police say a car equipped with two-way radio is being used to direct Negro sit-in operations here.

Capt. R. E. Little Jr. said Friday the car's occupants watch to see if lunch counters are open and then relay information to demonstrators so Negroes can be sent to stage a sit-in.

Authorities said this apparently explains the methodical way in which demonstrators arrive at stores in their continuing drive against segregated lunch counters in the downtown area.

Lunch counters opened for a time at four drug stores Friday but were closed when sit-in demonstrators arrived. Counters at several variety stores and two department stores remained shut.

Prestige, Funds Decreasing

Congo Reveals 2 U.N. Weak Spots

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Congo crisis has uncovered two dangerous weaknesses in the United Nations. If not corrected soon, they can render the world organization powerless to deal with this crisis or any other.

One weakness is financial. The other is a matter of prestige. Both arise out of the efforts of the United Nations to restore order in the turbulent, former Belgian territory.

Officials in Washington are not sure which situation offers the most serious threat. They are deeply worried about both, because the United States is relying on the United Nations to serve as a major instrument of its aims in Africa. These aims in general are to promote the growth of African states as independent nations, not subject to control from either Western capitals or Moscow.

If these purposes cannot be realized through the United Nations, American leaders fear what may happen. They believe that not only the Congo but also other African lands would become involved in a fierce, gloves-off struggle between the Western powers and the Soviet bloc. This may happen anyway, in spite of the best U.N. efforts.

The present grave dangers in the Congo situation are these: 1. The cost of the United Nations operations there to date total about $65 million. The only way Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld can get the money is from member nations, either by assessments voted by them or by some other system of contribution.

The process is essentially a voluntary one. The problem of raising the $65 million and of providing for still higher 1961 costs has been under discussion, formally and informally, for weeks. Many differences have developed among U.N. members. Even if they finally agree on a formula it may not be adequate to meet the needs for funds.

2. The first responsibility of the United Nations in the Congo has been to restore and maintain order. Its effectiveness there is dependent on physical force. But troops are drawn from more than two dozen member nations.

Firemen from nine communities, including Western R.T. New London, Groton, Norwalk, Stonington and Pawcatuck fought the blaze preventing it from reaching several small shipping firms on the east bank of the Mystic River.

Readblocks were set up by state troopers to keep sightseers from hampering fire fighters and mop-up crews.

Firemen prevented flames from reaching nearby homes, and contained flames within the devastated area.

Surgery for Red Skelton
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Red Skelton, 47, undergoes surgery today at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for a ruptured diaphragm.

Sugar cane is said to be the bulkhead of all the agricultural crops.

Four of the nations which contributed to the force—the United Arab Republic, Ceylon, Yugoslavia, and Indonesia—have stated their intentions to withdraw their contingents, a total of 1,699 men. Ghana was reported to be considering the withdrawal of its 1,185 men. Such withdrawals, though numerically small, would constitute a serious blow to U.N. prestige.

The troop problem and to a large degree the financial problem arise out of the worldwide split between the Western powers and the Soviet bloc. They are also influenced by the bold enmities and passions clustered around the issue of Western colonialism.

Without funds the United Nations cannot carry out its Congo mission much longer. Neither can it do so without sufficient troops. The choice facing many U.N. members is whether their immediate individual goals are more important to them than is their long-range general interest in maintaining the United Nations as a going concern.

Eyes Foreign Aid Trim
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen predicts Congress will try to trim the foreign aid program when it considers ways to curb the flow of U.S. gold reserves abroad.

Bagwell Crew to Stay Active

Backers Will Continue as Group to Promote Good Government

LANSING (U)—Michigan Bagwell Boosters, a volunteer organization that worked for the election of Paul D. Bagwell as governor, will continue to operate as "a citizen organization in behalf of good government," its leader says.

The group will retain its name even though Bagwell stated firmly that he would not seek election to public office again, said Lloyd Johnson, chairman of the organization.

Bagwell, who lost to Democratic Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson in the gubernatorial race, has received more than 2,000 letters urging him to reconsider his decision not to run again, Johnson said.

"We don't know whether or not he will reconsider, but we do not plan to abandon the right for good government which he led our drive up to reconsider his decision in the past two years of hard work," he said.

"The fact that Bagwell ran the closest race of any Republican candidate by thousands of votes proves to us that our organization was effective."

Bagwell Boosters claims 12,000 members in all the state's 83 counties. Johnson noted that proposed constitutional amendments to raise the state sales tax ceiling to 4 cents and pave the way for a statewide vote on calling a constitutional convention both carried in the Nov. 8 election. Both were supported by Bagwell and opposed by Swainson.

POSSIBLE KENNEDY APPOINTEES—Rep. George S. McGovern of South Dakota has been discussed as a possible Kennedy choice for Secretary of Agriculture while Rep. William L. Dawson of Illinois has been listed as a contender for the position of postmaster general.

Amazon Battalion Warns England 'No More Slaves'

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—British Colonial Secretary Iain MacLeod has been warned by "the Amazons" that if Britain fails to rule for African independence in the Rhodesias at London constitutional talks black women are going to fight, and stop having babies.

The "Amazon Battalion" of Kenneth Kaunda's United Nations Independence party — an extremist African nationalist organization in the Rhodesias — announced it had sent a letter to MacLeod saying:

"As women we are prepared, no more to be mothers to another generation of slaves and subhuman beings on the sacred soil of Mother Africa."

S-P Rings Doorbells in Sales Campaign

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Studebaker-Packard, using a "grass-roots" selling campaign, increased its sales of Larks and Hawks by 14 per cent in November, L. E. Minkel, S-P vice president of marketing reports.

Minkel said the bulge was aided by sales of 2,888 units during the last 10 days of the month, an increase of 28 per cent over the previous 10 days.

"A return to grass roots selling with nationwide demonstrations and door-to-door ringing is Studebaker's new sales philosophy," Minkel said.

"We are bringing the car to the customer to convince him of the customer to convince him of Studebaker's distinctive advantages and unique features."

He noted there were 18,000 demonstration rides given by Studebaker dealers during the final 10 days of November.

Says U.S. Should Limit Airlines' Overseas Rivalry

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government should not permit U. S. airlines to compete with each other on overseas routes unless they can meet expanding foreign competition without requiring federal subsidies, a report to President Eisenhower concludes.

The special White House study by United Research, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass., said that in most cases U. S. airlines would not be able to compete on the foreign routes and still "continue on an unsubsidized basis."

One phase of the report ran directly counter to a recent recommendation of a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing examiner in a trans-Pacific route case involving a request by Pan American World Airways to compete with Northwest Orient Airlines.

The study urged that Pan American be denied permission to set up routes from the U. S. East Coast to the Orient, either by way of the Central Pacific or Alaska.

LAUNCHES WIDE STUDY

The CAB examiner had approved the parallel service request.

Pan American already operates between the U. S. West Coast and the Far East.

A spokesman for the line said in Washington that Pan American would have no comment pending a thorough study of the report.

The study, made at Eisenhower's request, was designed to lay down broad guidelines for deciding the many cases in which one U. S. overseas airline asks to be licensed to share a route served by another American carrier.

It found that foreign airlines have increased their operations from almost nothing at the end of World War II until they now are, in some areas, "a major and even dominant factor" in international aviation.

"The argument originally made — that inter-U. S. carrier competition was necessary because of inadequate foreign competition — is generally losing much of its force," the report said.

It noted that foreign lines which fly the Atlantic, as of September, had 222 flights a week, 144 of them jets, compared to 101 weekly flights by U. S. lines, 84 by jet.

SAFETY IDEAS CHANGE

Interviews with passengers and travel agents cited in the report showed:

—Passengers no longer seem to feel that U. S. airlines are safer.

—Foreign airlines offer a certain "glamor" and sometimes superior cabin service. For instance, one travel agent said foreign lines served sandwiches with long.

—Some foreign lines showed considerable "sales aggressive-ness."

"Our basic objective as regards inter-U. S. carrier competition abroad," it said, "calls for direct competition only where traffic and other economic conditions give competent competitors the opportunity to engage in profitable aviation operations."

The researchers discounted arguments that the United States should have several lines on most routes for prestige purposes or to maintain a civilian air fleet for national defense.

Q. Every time my cat has kittens she refuses to take care of them. What can I do? Paula Buzzo, Fort Chester, N.Y.

A. Lack of mother love and neglect of offspring are not confined to the human race. The maternal instinct seems to be more highly developed in some females than in others.

Since all the functions of reproduction are governed by the glands, our thinking has always been that lack of mother love is not so much a matter of instinct as a question of glandular malfunction.

This can often be corrected. By using hormone injections, after a careful analysis of the cat, I have found it is possible to induce in her a greater concern for her kittens. But if this fails, I'm afraid you will have to take steps to prevent your cat from ever having kittens again.

Polish Faces Turn Red Over TV Payola Scandal

WARSAW (U)—Reports of Poland's first TV payola scandal involving two nationally known TV quiz show performers appeared in the press Friday.

The affair reported in the weekly newspaper Polityka resembled the recent payola scandals in the United States.

The newspaper charged that two key members of the quiz show department of the Polish television station had asked a Warsaw newspaper for money in return for plugging the newspaper on their quiz show.

It identified the two men as Ryszard Serafinowicz, quizmaster of "Circles and Crosses," a quiz show modeled after the defunct American production "Tic Tac Dough," and Jan Zakrzewski, TV personality.

OFFERED QUESTIONS

Polityka said Serafinowicz and Zakrzewski had offered to supply the newspaper with a list of questions from which quizzers for future shows would be selected.

The two entertainers were to get about 5,000 Zlotys (about $200 at the tourist rate of exchange) for the plug, the paper said, but the agreement broke down when the two later asked for another 12,000 Zlotys.

Jerry Panski, program director of the station, refused to comment on the Polityka article but said an investigation was being made.
