

Lodge Snaps Sharp Warning to Red Delegate

Speaks Sharply at U. N. Meeting; Says 'Go Home'

Cease-Fire Resolution for Guatemala Passed
After Soviet Veto

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—A blunt warning to Soviet Russia to stay out of the Western Hemisphere has been issued by U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. in the United Nations.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin was sharply rebuked by Lodge during yesterday's Security Council debate on Guatemala's charge that Nicaragua and Honduras were guilty of open aggression.

Turning to Tsarapkin after he had cast Russia's 60th veto to block a 10-to-1 Council vote to refer Guatemala's complaint to the Organization of American States, Lodge snapped: "Stay out of this hemisphere and don't try to start your plans and conspiracies over here."

Following the outburst the Council passed unanimously a resolution calling for an immediate end to all bloodshed and urging all U. N. members to desist from aiding the battle.

Guatemalan delegate Eduardo Castillo-Arriola, who demanded the emergency Sunday session of the Council, insisted the edict required Nicaragua and Honduras to close their borders to rebel forces seeking to overthrow the Red-tinged government of President Jacobo Arbenz.

Castillo-Arriola originally had wanted the Council to "warn" Nicaragua and Honduras and to send a fact-finding commission to Guatemala but settled reluctantly for the unanimously-passed resolution.

Tsarapkin previously charged that the U. S. was the "convinced" power behind the anti-Communist forces and that OAS is "under American domination."

He said the U. S. planned to "settle" accounts with Guatemala through OAS.

Neither Council adoption of the resolution calling for an end to the bloodshed in Guatemala nor the Soviet veto of the resolution referring the complaint to OAS prevents the OAS from taking action.

The OAS is fully empowered in its organizational charter to deal with disturbances or Communist threats within this hemisphere.

It was pointed out at the U. N., however, that reference of the Guatemalan complaint by the Security Council to OAS would have endowed the matter with "moral" significance and prestige.

Castillo-Arriola told the council that two American aviators crash-landed in Mexico Sunday and were interned after American-made P-47 planes bombed and strafed Guatemalan cities.

Finds Cigarette Smokers Die Sooner Than Others

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Cigarette smokers die sooner than other men aged 50-to-70 and they died mainly from heart attacks and cancer, an American Cancer Society study reported today.

It finds cigarette have an effect on other types of cancer as well as lung cancer. Numerically, the biggest effect could be in heart disease, since far more people die of coronary disease than die of lung cancer.

Just what the effect of cigarettes is upon men under 50 or upon women can only be guessed at until more studies are made, the authors of the report said.

The report is based upon interviews in 1952 with 187,766 healthy men aged 50 to 70 about their smoking habits, and a checkup upon causes of death of 4,854 of them who died within 20 months.

It shows the death rate—from all causes—among the cigarette smokers to be up to 75 per cent higher than among the men who never smoked.

Weekend Storm Cuts Off Power for County Towns

A single falling tree limb blacked out three Oakland County villages Saturday during a thunderstorm that touched off 24 hours of rain squalls.

Lake Orion, Oxford and the Goodison area groped in darkness for several hours Saturday night in what Detroit Edison Co. officials called "the most general blackout in five years."

Pontiac was drenched but unharmed.

The weekend's rains poured three-quarters of an inch of water on Oakland County. They wrecked a Boy Scout powwow at Camp Agawam, cut local beach attendance sharply, blocked roads with falling trees—and heralded summer's official arrival at 5:55 p.m. today.

The U. S. Weather Bureau says the first 24 hours of summer will be mostly cloudy with scattered thundershowers. The mercury won't sink below 65 to 69 degrees tonight, the forecast says, and will rise to 86 to 90 degrees Tuesday.

Temperatures didn't drop below 71 degrees last night after hovering between 71 and 75 all day Sunday. The temperature had risen to 76 degrees by 8 a.m. today and 89 at 2 p.m.

The branch that caused Saturday's three-village blackout fell across a 40,000-volt line between Goodison and Orion at 4:58 p.m. The high-voltage "chain reaction" galloped along wires, popping fuses like firecrackers, until it knocked out three separate sub-stations supplying the areas.

Goodison had its lights back at 7:15 p.m. Service for Orion's 500 families was restored at 8 p.m.; but part of Oxford was dark until 11:15.

Eerie darkness, blinding rain and 35-mile-an-hour winds scattered picnickers at parks and beaches as Saturday afternoon's storm drove through Oakland County. Temperatures nosedived from 82 degrees to 68 in less than half an hour.

Thoughts of Retiring Denied by Bao Dai

PARIS (U)—Vietnamese Chief of State Bao Dai denied today he is thinking about retiring, but indicated he would do so if it would serve the cause of peace in Viet Nam.

At the same time the former emperor prodded France to make good on her promises of independence.

In a communique, Bao Dai said his appointment of Ngo Dinh Diem as Viet Nam's new premier with greater powers than previous premiers had provoked erroneous talk about "the pretended desire for abdication on the part of his majesty Bao Dai."

The new premier, Ngo Dinh Diem, often has been at odds with Bao Dai and there have been many published reports his appointment might be the first tipoff on Bao Dai's departure.

Martial Law Is Proclaimed in Guatemala

Red-Backed President Musters for Showdown With Insurgents

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman of Guatemala proclaimed martial law throughout his invaded country today as his Communist-backed government mobilized for a showdown battle with anti-Red rebels.

Insurgent leaders claimed their forces were pushing ahead in a three-pronged drive aimed at key rail and road communications in the southern part of the country.

The martial law decree was announced late last night after a government appeal for all private cars to be turned in for use in moving troops. Reports from Guatemala said the decisive phase of the battle for that neighboring Central American nation may come within 48 hours.

Associated Press Correspondent Jack Rutledge, in Guatemala City, quoted Guatemalan army officers as saying no field action had yet been fought. They added, however, that a battle could not be delayed much longer.

The U. S. Embassy in Guatemala City announced it is making plans to evacuate wives and children of U. S. citizens. With a wave of anti-U. S. feeling sweeping the city, the embassy reportedly feared violence might break out against North Americans. There are about 1,300 U. S. citizens in Guatemala.

Part of the rebel force was reported striking toward the Pan-American Highway, near the Salvadorean border. This is a two-headed drive from Nueva Ocotepeneque, Honduras toward the town of Jutiapa.

Another invading column reportedly was moving in from Maculizo, Honduras, about 20 miles west of Puerto Barrios, Guatemala's chief Caribbean port.

The third was reported toward Zacapa, midway on the vital rail line between Puerto Barrios and Guatemala City.

Rebel sources said their planes also are dropping arms in western (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Milford Dentist's Discharge Eyed

Naval Training Station Recommends He Be Returned Home

Officials of the Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, Ill., have recommended the honorable discharge of a disabled Milford dentist who was given the alternative of seeking a commission or being drafted recently.

The discharge of Dr. Robert J. Lawrence, 36, will be on the basis of the hardship his tour of duty is working on his wife and five children.

If the move is successful, it will climax the efforts of Milford area residents who fought the drafting.

Dr. Lawrence suffers from chronic osteomyelitis, a bone infection which has shortened one leg by two inches, forcing him to work from a stool in his office. He has undergone nine operations.

Residents and local civic groups protested the drafting of Dr. Lawrence, because of his disability and his children, and also because of the essential nature of his work to the community.

He is one of three dentists serving the Milford area, one of whom has a limited practice. Sen. Homer Ferguson and Rep. George A. Dondero Saturday wired Milford attorney Bartlett Smith, who sparkplugged the move to keep the dentist home, that the case was being considered by the proper authorities.

Hensel Wants Charges Lifted

Requests Subcommittee to Rebutte McCarthy for Attack on Him

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) was hit by a new blast from the Pentagon today even as members of a special subcommittee tried to sift conflicting testimony compiled in 36 days of hearings on his dispute with the Army.

The new attack on McCarthy was made by Assistant Defense Secretary H. Struve Hensel who demanded that the subcommittee completely clear him of charges made by the Wisconsin senator and administer a "severe rebuke" to McCarthy.

Hensel made public a 13-page sworn statement submitted to the subcommittee asserting that McCarthy admitted that his charges that the defense official "masterminded" the Army case in the dispute were groundless.

He contended McCarthy offered to withdraw his charges against Hensel if the senator could do so without appearing to be a "fool." McCarthy initially charged that Hensel had prompted the Army attack because the assistant secretary had been under investigation by McCarthy's own group because of his World War II financial transactions.

The subcommittee which conducted the marathon McCarthy-Army hearings, excused Hensel as a "principal" in the case by a 4 to 3 vote midway in the investigation.

Hensel urged the seven-man committee to revive the motion to dismiss charges against him and that he be cleared unanimously as a "rebuke" to the senator.

Landy's time still is subject to recognition by the International Amateur Athletic Federation. Bannister's 3:59.4 was formally recognized June 15.

22 Die In State

Weekend Traffic Victims Include 3 From Drayton

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three members of a Drayton Plains family were among 22 persons killed in Michigan during a weekend of severe electrical storms and hot, humid temperatures.

Traffic accidents claimed the lives of 13 victims; eight drowned and one man was struck by lightning.

Killed in the worst traffic accident was Francis Gallagher, 52; his wife, Agnes, 50, and her mother, Mrs. Josephine Cappy, 79. All three lived at 4473 Dixie Highway.

The only survivor of the two-car crash, Dareld Childers, 32, of Flint, told State Police he was driving west on Mt. Morris road, near Flint, in a heavy rainstorm Saturday afternoon when he saw another car approaching in his lane.

He said he swerved to the left to avoid the collision. The other vehicle, driven by Gallagher, hit Childers' car broadside. Childers is in serious condition in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Flint.

Gallagher was employed at the Chrysler Tank plant in Centerline.

The lightning victim was John Sabludis, 62, of near Luther in Lake County. He was struck down near the barn on his farm during a storm Saturday.

Aussie Posts Mile Record

Clocks 3:58 to Better May Track Mark Set by Britisher

TURKU, Finland (U)—Australian miler John Landy today became the second in track and field history to shatter the four minute mile barrier as he set a new world record with a clocking of 3:58.0 seconds.

Roger Bannister of England was the first to break the four-minute barrier. He ran the mile in 3:59.4 May 6 at Oxford, England.

Landy's best previous mile was 4:01.6, which he did twice—the first at Turku May 31 and the second time a week later.

Landy today also set a new world's record for 1,500 meters with 3:41.8 in the Turku Stadium.

Before Bannister and Landy began their assault this year, the mile record was held by Sweden's Gundar Haegg. Haegg's time was 4:01.4, set in 1945.

Floods Hit Iowa, Claim One Life; Hundreds Flee

Torrential Rains Part of Thunderstorm Belt Moving Eastward

DES MOINES (AP)—Floods hit more areas in Iowa today. Raging waters claimed one life and caused hundreds of fresh evacuations.

A flash flood in this capital city drove scores of families from their homes and closed U. S. Route 6 through Des Moines.

The torrential rains in Iowa and northeastern Nebraska were part of a belt of thundershowers running eastward through northern Illinois, southern Wisconsin and lower Michigan.

Walsh and Winnebago, Neb., small towns south of Sioux City, Iowa, were flooded. Flood water in Nebraska blocked highways 275 near Norfolk and 35 at Winslow and was threatening the town of Pender. Two tornadoes were sighted in Nebraska but no damage was reported.

The storms brought only limited relief from the stagnant, sultry heat that in Chicago, on this first day of summer, approached a record 11 straight days of 90 degrees or higher. Similar readings or higher were the rule yesterday from the storm area southward to the Gulf, and were expected again today.

The western Dakotas, eastern Wyoming and northwest Nebraska were a bit cooler, but to the west and south it was even hotter. Sunday readings of 110 were common in the desert Southwest, and Yuma Ariz., had 115.

Most of northern Iowa was polka-dotted with small lakes created by torrential rains. Crop experts said damage would run into millions. Highway and rail traffic were interrupted at many points.

The north-central Iowa city of Fort Dodge was among the new flood emergency points. Sioux City, in western Iowa, and Mason City, near the northern border, rode out flood crests and now face new crests.

Today was the beginning of the second week of daily outbursts of thundershowers, occasional hail and high winds ranging up to tornado proportions. Rains have ranged to 10 inches and downpours of 5 inches or more have been common throughout the northwest and northern states.

Alfred Anderson, 18-year-old farm youth, disappeared while attempting to swim his horse across the raging Iowa River to reach some stranded cattle.

Developments included: Des Moines — Police boats evacuated more than 50 families along Four-Mile Creek after a 5-inch rain fell near Ankeny, just north of Des Moines.

Police Investigate Death of Young Chicago Heir

CHICAGO (AP)—Authorities today intensified their investigation of the mysterious death of the 20-year-old heir to a million dollars after being told the young man revised his will recently to make his fiancée principal beneficiary and had expressed doubt he would live to come into his own inheritance.

Montgomery Ward Thorne was found dead in his studio apartment at 54 E. Scott St. Saturday, and Coroner Walter E. McCarron said there were four needle marks on his arms. The coroner said there was no evidence Thorne was a user of narcotics.

The coroner has ordered an analysis of vital organs, which he said may take three weeks.

McCarron said he also has sent investigators to Birmingham, Mich., to interview Mary Louise Millman, 25, an art student who occupied an apartment adjoining Thorne's until Friday.

Miss Millman said she had only one glimpse of the "weird-looking" heir to a million dollars who was mysteriously murdered in a Chicago apartment house.

Miss Millman said she was in a state of panic when Thorne moved into the adjoining apartment the week before his death, because she thought it was empty.

"On the evening of June 12," said Miss Millman, "I was entered (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Man Gets Probation

Paul D. Lane, 18, of 23057 Eastling Dr., Hazel Park, was placed on two years probation and assessed $250 costs today by Circuit Judge George B. Hartwick on a charge of negligent homicide.

Lane said he was passing another auto when the accident occurred and that he didn't see the men in time because of fog.

'Killed Woman in Self Defense'

Royal Oak Area Man Claims Mrs. Spencer Threw Hot Grease

Theodore Edwards, 35, admitted fatally shooting Mrs. Willie H. Spencer, 31, following an argument in her Royal Oak Twp. home early Sunday, but told Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Donald A. Brown he shot in self defense.

Edwards, who is being held in Oakland County Jail for investigation of first degree murder, told Brown he shot Mrs. Spencer with a .32 revolver after she threw hot grease at him. She was dead on arrival at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital from a bullet wound in the chest.

Edwards, of 2101 Fenner Ct., Royal Oak Twp., was arrested at 8 a.m. yesterday. Township police said they made a search of relatives' homes and found him under a bed in a brother-in-law's home at 2103 Barstow Ct.

He said the argument in Mrs. Spencer's home at 20797 Woodside Rd., was over money for a loaf of bread, according to Brown.

Cigarette Smokers Seen Dying Sooner

out to learn about any effects from smoking on cancer or other diseases.

It says it finds evidence cigarette could have a cause-and-effect relationship with heart attacks and cancer.

The findings were reported to the American Medical Assn. by Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond and Daniel Horn, director and assistant director of statistical research of the ACS.

They said they had not expected to have significant results for another year, but that the findings from analysis of deaths so far showed such significance that it was decided not to delay their publication.

The interviewing was done by 22,000 trained ACS volunteers in nine states — New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and California.

Some of the nearly 200,000 men had never smoked or practically never smoked. Some smoke occasionally. Some smoke only cigarettes, some only pipes, some just cigars, some combinations of two or three, all in varying degree.

Of those since died 745 had smoked as much as a pack more of cigarettes daily for years. This was 319 more deaths than would be expected if these men had died at the same rate as the nonsmokers.

Of these heavy cigarette smokers, 334 fell victim to heart attack — 163 more than would be expected to have done so. And 161 of them died of cancer, 98 more than expected.

Some main points of their statistical breakdown:
Deaths from all causes were 65 per cent higher among cigarette smokers only compared with nonsmokers in the age group 50-54; 60 per cent higher among those 55-59; 102 per cent higher among those 60-64; and 30 per cent higher in those 65-69.

But for a pack-a-day smokers compared with nonsmokers, the death rate from all causes was 102 per cent higher among those 50-54; 86 per cent higher in those 55-59; 108 per cent higher among those 60-64; and 21 per cent higher among those 65-69 years old.

Death rates from heart attacks were twice as high among pack-a-day smokers aged 50 to 64 as compared with nonsmokers. Among men 65 to 69 years old, there was not much difference.

Rodriguez told police he skidded on the wet pavement, as did Madera. Madera's auto hit the Rodriguez car in the rear.

Mysterious Death of Heir Investigated

"He was a strange looking young man, very sedately dressed and with a weak looking physique. When my girl friend's escort came back, he told me not to worry — I could handle him with my little finger."

Miss Millman said that was the first and last time she saw or heard Thorne. She moved out of the apartment the day before his death.

Her mother, Mrs. Dain W. Millman, said Miss Millman had been with the family since 4 p.m. Friday, "when we picked her up on the steps of the Chicago Art Museum."

Mrs. Millman said her daughter had lived there since just after Christmas. She was attending the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, where she was specializing in illustration.

Mrs. Millman said because of the heat in Chicago Friday night, Miss Millman spent the night with the family at a hotel.

Early the next morning, the whole family went to the apartment to help her pack. No one saw Thorne.

Jay Stough, who said he had been young Thorne's lawyer for some time, told Detective Capt. Harry Penzin that Thorne less than 10 days ago changed his will making Miss Maureen Ragen, 18, chief beneficiary and executor.

Penzin quoted Stough as saying Thorne, grandson of a former president of Montgomery Ward & Co., "was afraid he would never live to collect his inheritance. He asked me to assure that there would be a very thorough investigation... if he died."

Storm Blacks Out 3 County Towns

Birmingham Death First Traffic Fatality

BIRMINGHAM — An accident which took the life of a Detroit man early yesterday morning marked Birmingham's first traffic fatality of the year.

Earl H. Chapman, 49, died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, several hours after he was found in a field at E. Maple and Edenborough next to his demolished English Austin.

Police believe Chapman, traveling east on Maple, swerved at a point where the road narrows and lost control of his car. They said it rolled over several times and landed 150 feet north of the road.

Chapman was evidently thrown through an opening in the roof of the sports car, police said. Neighbors reported the mishap after they saw headlights glowing in the field.

French Smash Vietminh Towns

Vietnamese Infantry
Aids in Mopup 18 Miles
Northwest of Hanoi

HANOI, Indochina, (AP)—French tanks, artillery, planes and gunboats and Vietnamese infantrymen smashed through a series of Vietminh-infested villages 18 miles northwest of Hanoi today in an overnight mopup.

A French spokesman said the raiders pushed through eight villages yesterday on the south banks of the Red River, between Hanoi and Son Tay.

More villages were under fire today. Small French naval gunboats pumped machinegun fire into the villages while planes and artillery pounded them with high explosives. Then Vietnamese infantry units, supported by light tanks, smashed their way through the villages one by one.

Elsewhere in the delta, small patrol clashes flared during the night and early morning darkness.

In a dozen different areas, some less than 10 miles from Hanoi, B-26 bombers caught Vietminh supply convoys with bombs on highways the rebels are using to bring up ammunition and rocket launchers to the edge of the delta for a possible assault against Hanoi.

French pilots reported starting large fires and touching off a series of explosions.

In Saigon French military sources said five U.S. airmen captured by the Vietminh last Monday near Tourane had been put aboard a rebel ship which headed southward.

Sources at the Saigon post office could give no explanation for the radio break. It aroused considerable speculation there since in recent years such radio silence has been several times the first warning that a coup d'etat had overthrown the Thai government.

Farm Dilemma Solution Seen

President Could Veto Rigid Supports, Keep High Parity

WASHINGTON (INS) — There may be a way for President Eisenhower to veto an extension of rigid, high price supports and still remain on the safe side of the political fence in those areas where 90 per cent of parity supports are looked upon with favor.

While a veto of continued rigid, high supports would mean that the system of flexible supports written in the agricultural acts of 1948 and 1949 would become effective on 1955 basic crops, the door still would be open for the administration to keep supports relatively high.

Although the flexible support system sets up a formula for establishment of supports to keep production in line with demand, it leaves the actual establishment of support prices up to the agriculture secretary.

Thus, the current secretary, Ezra Taft Benson, would decide—under the flexible system—the level of support for wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco, peanuts and rice for next year. They could range between 75 and 90 per cent of parity.

The formula calls for supports to decline as supply becomes greater than demand. But the President and Benson have called for the movement of large amounts of farm surpluses into a two and one-half billion dollar set-aside.

By putting 500 million bushels of surplus wheat into the set-aside where it would not count against 1955 price supports, the level of support for next year could be close to the current 90 per cent.

The House Agriculture Committee—which approved a one-year extension of rigid, high supports—voted late last week to include the set-aside in an omnibus farm bill.

The action by the committee apparently was designed to assure a high level of supports should the one-year extension of 90 per cent supports fall by the wayside before Congress finally approves a farm bill.

Should both the set-aside and the one-year extension be included in the omnibus farm legislation, however, should Mr. Eisenhower veto it, the flexible system would begin in January without the set aside to cushion the decline in supports.

But, since Benson has discretion in setting the support level, he very likely could keep supports up in the middle or high 80's on the assumption that Congress favors the set-aside and will pass it during the next session.

The bride wore a gown of nylon tulle and lace with a cathedral train and a tulle veil attached to a lace Juliet cap trimmed with pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, white carnations and lilies of the valley, centered with an orchid corsage.

Diana Weil served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Dawn Sauer of Detroit, Carolyn Web of Ortonville and Carol Chown of Lapeer.

James Cocking of Pontiac served as best man. Ushers were Raymond Postal and Ronald Smith of Pontiac and Chris Babler of Ortonville.

A reception was held for 200 guests in the church parlors. After a two-weeks honeymoon, the new Mr. and Mrs. Cromes will live in Lapeer.

Predict Nuclear Power Plants

British Atom Experts Say They Will Compete With Coal-Burners

ANN ARBOR (U)—Great Britain's atomic experts figure that nuclear power plants for industrial use can be made economically competitive with coal-burning stations in that country within a decade, a British message to an international nuclear engineering congress said today.

England already is building an atomic furnace from which electrical power will be produced "in industrial quantities," and she expects to start within the next few months construction of another one for possible industrial application, said a statement from S. E. White, information officer of Britain's governmental Department of Atomic Energy.

The statement was made public by officials of the congress which is being sponsored by the nuclear engineering division of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers (AICE) on the campus of the University of Michigan.

More than 1,500 atomic scientists and engineers from the United States and 20 foreign countries are expected to be in attendance before the meeting ends on Friday.

"There is an urgency for building up the industrial application of atomic energy for power production in Great Britain," said White.

"The best estimates for the reserves of easily workable coal show that it cannot be expected to last for more than 200 years, which is a comparatively short time; moreover, it must be remembered that coal should be regarded as an essential raw material in the chemical industry and that it should be conserved with this in mind."

Man Is Trapped for Eight Days in Railway Car

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (U)—Food and water are on Milford Alvin Fitzgerald's mind today after being trapped in a sealed railway car for eight days.

Dehydrated from the long ordeal, the 28-year-old man was freed last night after a hobo reported hearing a noise.

Fitzgerald, at first unable to talk, was hospitalized in "poor, but improving" condition. After several hours he began to mumble incoherently and finally, he said: "I'm awful hungry."

Nurses at Pinal County General Hospital at Florence fed him chipped ice at first, later soft foods.

Southern Pacific Railroad officials said Fitzgerald, of Seattle and Spring Valley, Calif., apparently had climbed into the car loaded with lumber in Washington State a week ago Saturday.

Mexican-Born Pontiacers See Brief Guatemala Revolt

Three native-born Mexicans in the Pontiac area, who have followed the Guatemala situation closely in Spanish-language publications, believe the revolt will be short-lived.

They further agree that Mexico will dodge intervention and also be capable of handling possible agitation by supporters of communist-tinged Guatemala.

But the three—one of whom saw Pancho Villa's hordes burn to the ground an entire village—fear the revolt will be bloody and costly in lives of innocent villagers.

Trinidad Sanchez of 186 Rapid St., treasurer of Pontiac's Knights of Guadalupe, said he believes the majority of Mexico's population sides with the anti-Communists.

"This is also true of our people in the United States," said Sanchez. "We believe in democracy and we will be in favor of this country's feelings in this matter."

He said the Communist segment in Mexico is small and that the country's government has "very good relations with the United States and will support it."

Eugene Federico of Lake Orion had a slightly different view on the number of Reds in Mexico. "The country has quite a few Communists," Federico said, "but they will not be able to stir any big uprising in Mexico over this Guatemala incident."

Joseph J. Guzman of 31 Osceola Dr. said he read recently in a Mexico City newspaper that the Cortines government of Mexico has sent troops to the Guatemala border to stop the entry of possible pro-Communist exiles.

Guatemala borders Mexico on the south and some observers believe the dispute could spread. Guzman doesn't think so.

"I saw Pancho Villa's men burn down El Oro in Durango. It was bloody. I'm afraid the Guatemala revolt also will be bloody. It is too bad, because many innocent people will suffer," said Guzman.

"But I don't think the trouble will last long. Revolutions don't," The others agreed with him.

Justice Takes 1 Hour to Take Its Course

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (U)—Asked whether he wished to file charges against the man who knifed him, the victim replied, "Let justice take its course."

An hour later a second man was at the hospital for treatment of a head laceration. Asked whether he knew his attacker, he promptly named the first man.

"Justice has taken its course," mused the policeman, "but I think it got a shove."

No charges were filed.

Victim's Son Is 'Available'

Repeats Father's Vow to Clean Up City After Parent's Assassination

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (INS)—John M. Patterson made himself "available" as a candidate for attorney general of Alabama today with the same vow — to clean up Phenix City—that most think led to the slaying of his father, Attorney General nominee Albert L. Patterson.

The 32-year-old son declared he is certain the Friday night shooting of his father was connected "in some way with the rackets and the election."

His statement came as authorities indicated that at least seven suspects have been questioned in the assassination. Joe Smalley, chief of the Alabama Investigation Bureau, said "some of the suspects have been released and some are still being held."

He declined to say more and Solicitor Arch F. Ferrell Jr., assigned the job of making official pronouncements on the investigation, kept the silence he has maintained from the first.

State Attorney General Si Garrett, the man Patterson would have succeeded in January, visited Phenix City Sunday and said:

"This is the most intense man-hunt in Alabama since I took office in 1935. I would hate to think it couldn't get the person or persons responsible."

Garrett said he would send two assistant attorneys general to the scene today. One of them, FBI-

Trade Act Up to Senate

A peculiar but not unprecedented legislative situation has developed over President EISENHOWER's request for a one year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

The House on June 11 voted the one year extension of the controversial legislation which expired at midnight June 12. But because the Senate was unable to take up the matter before the deadline, the extension for the second time will have to be re-creative.

So far in the upper chamber nothing has happened except a closed door meeting of the finance committee to consider the House passed measure. A report that President EISENHOWER, in agreeing to accept a simple one year extension, also had agreed not to use the act for the second year, has been denied.

There is another unusual feature of this situation. Democrats, seeing the Administration's foreign trade program blocked by Republican protectionists, are threatening to make the EISENHOWER trade-not-aid program their own. Tennessee's Democratic Sen. GORE says he will introduce a bill containing the President's original proposals in order to force a test vote.

Latest information is, however, that instead, the President is insisting on early hearings on his original proposal for a three year extension and gradual tariff reductions. In addition he is demanding a deciding vote early in the next session.

Hearing's End Welcome

Scidom has there been such unanimous relief over the end of a Congressional inquiry as that generated by the windup of the Army-McCarthy battle.

Though no one said so, one could sense that members of the committee and principals alike were happy that the long grind is over. The atmosphere suggested nothing as strongly as the desire of all concerned to get back to the regular business of Government.

But that is as far as the appearance of unity went. Developments during the 36 day inquiry as well as those which followed the closing statements indicated there would be at least three reports.

One of the reports, of course, will come from three of the four Republican members of the committee. The three Democrat members will submit a minority report and a third report will come from Senator POTTER of Michigan.

Michigan's junior Senator expressed the opinion that the charges by both sides had been proved in part and that there had been perjury on both sides. He added that certain employees of the committee and Army, whom he did not name, should be dismissed.

Until all reports are made public a month or so hence, it will be impossible to gauge the full effects of the investigation. It is to be hoped, however, that one of them will be agreement on where Legislative encroachment on the Executive prerogative begins and vice versa.

France Gets New Premier

Contrary to the predictions of French political experts, PIERRE MENDES-FRANCE has won overwhelming approval of the National Assembly as his country's new premier.

Prior to the surprising 419 to 47 vote, several leaders had expressed the opinion that the moderate Radical Socialist finance expert had no chance of winning chamber approval.

But they greatly underestimated the appeal of the program on which Mendes-France based his campaign for preferment. Highlighting that program was his promise to resign if he hasn't negotiated an Indochina peace by July 20.

The Assembly's approval of MENDES-FRANCE by a margin so wide that he didn't need the Communists' 99 votes, is a severe blow to French prestige and Big Three unity. Besides indicating the possibility of a peace the U. S. and Britain could not approve, it re-emphasizes the political instability of the Fourth Republic.

Unquestionably the Assembly vote ending the twentieth cabinet crisis since the war will be a major topic during the Washington visit of WINSTON CHURCHILL and ANTHONY EDEN. At the same time the conferees probably will consider some alternative for the European Defense Community program. Because approval of MENDES-FRANCE bodes ill for that plan, talk of an EDC without France may be revived.

What has happened is just what Molotov wanted. It plays into Communist hands by discrediting the whole democratic process.

The Republic's present urgent need, besides a new cabinet, are a general election and the constitutional changes necessary to give that government a solid foundation.

Husbands Should 'Buy' Wives' Affection by Helping Them With Household Chores

Lorna complains that her husband expects love without earning it. She says he puts in an 8-hr. day but hers runs to 16 hours. So she is about ready to paraphrase Capt. John Smith's motto to read: "No work, no love!"

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case L-337: Lorna B., aged 29, offers a typical wife's complaint.

"Dr. Crane, my husband sits around at night reading the paper," she began.

"Or he will watch TV till bed time without offering to help me with the dishes. I must also get the children into their pajamas and even put out the garbage."

"Then at bed time, he will be as sweet as can be. But by then, I'm too tired and disgusted, anyway."

"Don't you think husbands ought to be more considerate of their wives? If they want affection at 11 p.m., shouldn't they 'buy' it by helping their wives with the dishes and other evening chores?" Lorna has a good point, for she was a high salaried office secretary prior to her marriage. Even now she gets up earlier than her husband in the morning to care for the baby and prepare her husband's breakfast.

She labors as hard all day as does her husband, for most men nowadays don't do work that women couldn't do in offices or factories or even on the farms.

So a busy wife and mother has a right to expect her husband to help her with some of the evening chores, for she has already put in more than her 8 hours of labor before she even starts getting supper.

Most men are spoiled in childhood. They learn to expect women to do the dishes, make the beds and handle the other household chores.

If they have sisters, they usually loaf around and let the girls do more than their fair share of the household tasks.

In fact, many grown brothers and sisters, who aren't yet married but who live at home, will pay board and room to their elderly parents.

But when they get home at night from their jobs, the sons then think their sisters should head for the kitchen to help their aged mother with the evening chores, though they may not lift their hand in any household duties.

Yet the sister may pay just as much for board and room as does the indolent brother!

"But I earn the pay check!" the average husband may boastfully exclaim.

Included is an outrageous attempt to regiment doctors, lawyers, dentists and farmers through compulsory inclusion in the Social Security system. The bill should be vigorously opposed by all who believe in free enterprise. Write your congressman to defeat it.

Instead of passing 7199, Congress should repeal the Social Security Act. It was wrong from the start and cannot be patched up. Also repeal the 16th amendment to the Constitution, this being the vicious Income Tax amendment.

Reader States Pontiac Missing Tax Opportunity

The city of Pontiac is missing a golden opportunity as far as taxes are concerned, for with the large number of people who live outside the city and derive their livelihood in the city we should have a one per cent city income tax to be levied against all incomes earned in the city. of the wage earner or businessman, collection of the tax should be made in the same manner as the Federal income tax.

This would materially aid owners of every type of property in Pontiac, as the tax would be more than offset by the reduction in real estate.

Neither would it be an unjust burden on wage earners, living outside the city, as local income taxes are deductible from Federal income tax returns.

This type of tax has been in effect in several eastern cities for years and has worked out very successfully in each case.

U. S. Will Never Permit Guatemala to Stay Red

By UNITED PRESS
 Most Americans really woke up only one month ago to the fact that communism has a dangerous foothold within two hours flying time of the Panama Canal and within three hours of the Texas oil fields. Guatemala had long been dismissed as just one of the little "banana republics" of Central America.

Occasional dispatches told of the influence of a numerically tiny Communist party over its government.

But it was not until the disclosure that a shipment of 2,000 tons of arms from behind the Iron Curtain had been landed at a Guatemalan port that the situation really hit the headlines.

The State Department had been aware for a long time that Guatemala was a danger spot.

It became plain soon after the inauguration of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman in 1951 that his administration would be anti-American.

The State Department soon became convinced, too, that the Guatemalan Communist party, with only about 3,000 card-carrying members, exerted strong influence, if not domination, over the government.

But little Guatemala, about the size of Tennessee or Ohio, with a population of 2,800,000, is a sovereign country and U. S. action was difficult.

The arms shipment brought the situation to a head. A Pan-American conference on Guatemala, which probably will be held late this month, was organized to discuss a plan of action.

Then the United States resorted to the unprecedented step of asking foreign countries to permit in peacetime search of their vessels which might be taking arms to Guatemala.

Now the situation has erupted in a revolt led from outside the country by Guatemalan political refugees.

Leader of the revolt is Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, 39, a career army man. He has made his headquarters in Honduras, Guatemala's neighbor on the canal side of the Central American isthmus, since he escaped the country in 1951.

He had led a small revolt during the election which made Arbenz president.

Castillo Armas attended the United States Army School at Fort Leavenworth, Kans. He is regarded as friendly to this country.

President Arbenz Guzman is a pronounced leftist though not a Communist, and he has been consistently anti-American in his policies.

He was assured the presidential election when his chief opponent was assassinated in an ambush. At 37, he became the youngest of the American republic presidents.

Whatever happens in Guatemala in the immediate future, it may be taken for granted that the United States will not rest until Red influence in Guatemala has been eliminated.

Just A Smile

Some Argument

A man passing a shop heard such a terrific argument going on inside that he went in to investigate. He found only the proprietor.

"Who were you arguing with?" he asked. "You're all alone."

"I got bored because business is so bad," the proprietor explained, "so I talk to myself."

"Well," the man reasoned, "if you're talking to yourself, why on earth do you have to argue?"

"Because," the owner retorted, "I can't stand a liar!"

Safe Anyway

"When I was once in danger from a lion," said the big-game hunter, "I tried sitting down and staring at him, as I had lost my gun. The lion didn't even touch me."

"Strange! How do you explain that?"

"Well," mused the hunter, "It must have been because I was sitting on a high branch of a tall tree."

Foundation Hints 'Miracle' Medicines for Rheumatism Carry Grave Risks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.
 "Simple conservative treatment involving nothing more than bed rest and exercise often can do more toward the lasting improvement of persons stricken with crippling rheumatoid arthritis than a most modern drug therapy."

This astonishing statement was released for newspaper publication May 11 by the "Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation."

The Foundation's statement is astonishing to me because it takes the line I might take, indeed the line I always have taken here.

It continues, quoting the Bulletin on Rheumatic Diseases, published by the Foundation, 23 W. 45th St., New York 36, N. Y.:

"This quest for a fool-proof drug that could be given to most if not all arthritics with the least possible side-effects is likely to be in vain."

It should now be recognized that treatment with the various drugs available today has not been shown to alter the natural course of the disease in a significant manner."

"Use of any of these so-called 'miracle' medicines purporting to be most effective against joint disability carries with it risks which tend to increase over a period of time."

Most of the trick specialists and clinic racketeers who are eager to make a fast buck giving gullible patients "shots" of the latest miracle medicines for arthritis will sneer, snort, snarl or snicker at my suggestion, but I tell you again it is a lot of pseudoscientific bunk calling joint disability of more than a year's standing "rheumatoid arthritis," "hypertrophic arthritis," "atrophic arthritis," "osteoarthritis" or any other kind of arthritis.

As a matter of fact there is generally no inflammation of the joint. The trouble is physical degeneration, not inflammation, and whatever form it takes in an individual instance the least misleading name for it is rheumatism.

Whether you write to the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation for that bulletin or not, please send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing for the pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatism.

In your superior knowledge you may decide, upon reading the pamphlet that I don't know what I'm talking about. Lots of wise-acs do.

But the treatment I urge upon you is preventive, may do you good in other ways, whether the degeneration of joint tissues is reversible or not, and in any case it can do no harm to try, say for 10 weeks. Short of that length of time, you simply haven't tried it.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Geneva Debates Resume Tuesday

Weekend Recess Sees Private Talks on Laos, Cambodia Cease-Fire

GENEVA (AP)—Indochina conference delegates worked in private meetings today to arrange military negotiations for a cease-fire in Laos and Cambodia. The formal nine-power sessions were recessed until tomorrow.

Red China's Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai was the only top conference figure still in Geneva. U.S. Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov all flew home over the weekend.

Chou was reported ready to follow their example later this week.

French Premier-Foreign Minister Pierre Mendes-France delayed his arrival at the conference to actively push his campaign for peace in Indochina. He promised the French National Assembly he would resign unless he got an armistice by July 20.

French delegation sources expected him here sometime later this week.

Before their departure, Eden, Molotov and Smith agreed with the other conference delegates that separate, direct military negotiations would be held on Laos and Cambodia. They already are under way for Viet Nam.

Cambodian Foreign Minister Tep Phann opened discussions with Chou yesterday but there was no immediate contact between the representatives of Laos and Cambodia and those of the Communist-led Vietnam.

A main question to be decided was who would take part in the direct talks and whether they would be held in Geneva or in Indochina.

The two Indochinese kingdoms have made it clear they will not negotiate with representatives of the Communist "resistance governments," which they and the French contend are "phantoms" with no popular support.

The Laotians and Cambodians want to deal only with the Vietnamese, charging it is their forces who have invaded their territory.

Saturday's agreement called for the military representatives to report on the cease-fire talks for all three Indochina states within three weeks, or by July 10.

Collectors Swap Oddest Things at Club Meetings

KALAMAZOO (UP)—Some big deals involving rare items are bound to develop when the Kalamazoo Collectors' Club meets for one of its periodic Swap Nights.

The shrewd and sharp-eyed collectors, possessed of an instinct all their own, come laden with the strangest of wares and sometimes depart with objects even stranger.

Books, stamps, coins, cigaret boxes, old wirearms, powder pouches, silver tea pieces and 18th century beer stines exchanged hands at a recent meeting.

One man arrived with a barrel filled with driftwood. He traded the driftwood, barrel and all, for a pair of old carriage lamps.

Another trader, mindful of soaring coffee prices, triumphantly exchanged an ancient loon for an old coffee grinder and announced he was in the market for some beans.

Two befuddled collectors glanced disdainfully at an odd assortment of snowshoes, ticket stubs, garden tools and Indian relics, then swapped neckties.

Psychosomatic Geranium Helps Discouraged, Ill, Down-'n'-Outer

By BILLY ROSE

One of the disconcerting things about living in New York is the way in which a small event in one man's life can mushroom into a big event in the life of someone else.

First instance coming up...

Back in the summer of 1922, when I came to Broadway with the brash dream of making a name and nest-egg for myself, I moved into a $3-a-week cubicle in a poky-marked rooming house on West 48th street.

The color scheme of my room was pretty much mud on mud, and the only splash of brightness in it was a bluish-red geranium which had been given me by a girl, and which I kept on the sill of my one and only window.

This window had a fine view—straight up—but straight out, all you could see was a trash-strewn backyard and the rear window of another dumpy rooming house on West 49th street.

Before the summer was half-done, I had gotten to know most of the tenants in both rooming houses, since we all ate in a nearby delicatessen where the sandwiches were cheap and they gave you the biggest slice of dill pickle in town.

Mostly, my neighbors were about my own age, mostly they were from out of town, and mostly they were certain they had what it takes to make the big city sit up and say "uncle."

The only one who seemed unsure of himself was a skinny kid named Davey who hailed from Vermont and suffered from a chronic cough. Davey, I gathered, had been considered quite a comedian in his home town, but months of sitting around Times Square booking offices had convinced him he wasn't much of anything.

From his looks and listlessness, I got the impression that he wasn't long for Broadway, and maybe for this world.

But I was wrong. That September Davey began to perk up, and I noticed his coughing had stopped. Then one day he walked into the delicatessen wearing a new suit and with a good-looking girl on his arm.

"Congratulations me," I heard him say to the counterwoman. "I've got 20 weeks' booking on the Pantanes Circuit and I'm going to get married."

A minute later the comedian came over to my table.

"Harriet and I would like to thank you," he said. "In a screwy way, you're responsible for our good luck."

"Who, me?" I said.

"Maybe not you," he said, "but your geranium for sure."

"Sit down and tell me about it."

"It'll sound cockeyed," said Davey, "but I'll tell you anyway. You see before I came to New York I was pretty much of a mama's boy, and I guess I wasn't prepared for all the turn-downs I got. Besides, it was so hot and dirty here that I went and picked up that silly cough you must have heard."

"Yes, I used to hear it nights," I said.

"The doctor called it a nervous cough," said Davey, "but whatever it was it got so bad I could hardly breathe. And I think I might have died if it hadn't been for the geranium in your window."

"How did it help?"

"Well," said Davey, "whenever the cough got real bad, I would look at that red geranium in your window and tell myself that if a flower could stay alive in all that muck and heat, then I could. Next day, remembering the geranium, I'd start making the rounds all over again."

"Well, a week ago I finally got a tryout in a theater over in Union City, and I clicked like I used to in Vermont. Lucky for me, there was a man from Pantanes in the house, and he penciled me in for 20 weeks on his circuit. Naturally, I wired Harriet in Vermont right away to come to New York and get married."

"Congratulations," I said. "And since the geranium meant so much to you kids, I'd like to give it to you as a wedding present..."

The day Davey and his wife were due to leave on their combination honeymoon and vaudeville tour, I sent over a geranium plant. It wasn't the one he had seen in my window. It was a substitute I had picked up in a florist's shop on Eighth avenue.

I didn't make the switch because I felt sentimental about the plant. By this time, the girl who had given it to me had also given me the gate.

I just didn't want Davey to know that the geranium which had survived the heat and dirt of New York was made of waxed paper.

Foreign Aid Bill Gets First Test

Efforts to Trim Total Anticipated as House Readies Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's $3.4-billion-dollar foreign aid budget for next year—a prime target for economy advocates—gets its first test this week.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee starts today to decide the actual amounts it will propose authorizing for the year beginning July 1. The final bill may be ready for House action later in the week.

The committee, meeting behind closed doors, already has partly remodeled the program to replace some outright economic gifts with loans and the use of surplus food.

Efforts to cut the total are anticipated, both in final committee sessions and on the House floor. The measure would set a ceiling on the aid program, with the actual appropriations voted later, perhaps after further trimming.

The administration requested $3,477,700,000. Of this $1,580,000,000 is earmarked for global military assistance, with the remainder split between economic aid, technical (Point Four) assistance and other programs.

The largest single amount—800 million dollars—is budgeted for special military assistance to Indochina.

The administration has requested authority to use this sum anywhere else in Asia, in case Indochina falls, or the war ends.

The committee already has adopted an amendment to limit the use of 500 million dollars in economic funds to ship surplus agricultural products abroad, to replace direct dollar aid.

In addition, the committee is discussing proposals to earmark another 300 or 400 million dollars for loans and guaranties, instead of using them for outright grants.

Ike to Urge Talk on Defense Pact

Will Ask British Prime Minister to Cooperate in Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower probably will urge British Prime Minister Churchill to cooperate in setting up an international conference on anti-Communist defenses in Southeast Asia against communism when the two meet here next weekend.

Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden are due in Friday. Their talks with Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles will be informal and, aides indicate, as secret as possible.

The Indochina crisis is the No. 1 topic. Others include the organization of a European Defense Community and atomic energy problems.

U. S. officials said that the American government is still urgently interested in getting a united front of Allied European and Asian nations set up to halt Communist expansion in the Indochina area. They think a conference would be useful to that end.

Until about two days ago authorities figured Britain would most likely go along on some move toward creation of a Southeast Asian alliance. That estimate was based on the official belief that Britain had decided the Geneva conference would fail to produce peace in Indochina.

But on Friday and Saturday, France organized a new government which staked its existence on getting an Indochina peace in 30 days. Then the Reds at Geneva offered new concessions to keep the talks going and agreed to military discussions on ending the war in Laos and Cambodia as well as in Viet Nam.

Moscow Air Show Uses Old Types

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Air Force staged a giant air show yesterday but the 667 planes that took part included no new types. Even the four-jet intercontinental bomber flown over Red Square on May Day was absent from the display.

A quarter of a million Russians, headed by Premier Georgi Malenkov and Communist party secretary Nikita Khrushchev watched the show at Moscow's Tushino Field. The aircraft ranged from four tiny radio-controlled gliders to 162 two-jet bombers.

Gosline has enough potential energy to propel a car 450 miles to the gallon if power losses through friction and other causes could be eliminated.

Churchill Grooms Eden Who Walks in His Shadow

Editor's note: Anthony Eden, political heir-apparent of Sir Winston Churchill, is accompanying his aged chief to Washington later this week for what is regarded as the most important Anglo-American conference since World War II. Handsome and suave, Eden's name and picture have been paraded across the world scene for 30 years. But attention has invariably focused on his boss. Here is the first of three intimate up-to-the-minute articles about the man who may be Britain's next prime minister.

By MILTON L. KAPLAN

LONDON (INS) — Anthony Eden is a man who has walked most of his public life in a shadow—and particularly the massive one of Winston Churchill.

And since he will be inevitably measured against that looming figure, the now gray "golden boy" of British politics is forced to tackle his increasing share and responsibility of Great Britain's affairs with two strikes against him.

For Eden will be the first man to admit that he is not another Churchill.

Churchill will long be remembered as the master orator; Eden never made a great speech. He has made a good many smooth, efficient speeches, but nothing that sent shivers up a man's spine the way Churchill often has done.

Churchill brought to the office of prime minister a harking self-assurance — the certain knowledge that he was right, even when he was wrong. Eden, even with the right clearly on his side, has always been torn by doubts.

Unlike the emotional, flamboyant, dominating Churchill, Eden is shy, conciliatory, almost apologetic.

Churchill, often a stormy figure in public life, has been blessed with a placid, happy private life. He once summed it this way—"I was married and lived happily every after."

Eden's personal life has been torn by the loss of loved ones, by disappointment, illness and divorce through which he has always managed to flash his famed, toothy smile.

Eden has spent a good part of his 57 years dwarfed by the size, or outdazzled by the brilliance of older men.

As a child Eden was but a pale imitation of his father, a powerful, terrifying eccentric known to his friends and neighbors as "the bloody baronet."

When he had started his long climb in politics he came under the influence first of Sir Austen Chamberlain, then Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and for the last 15 years, the great Churchill.

Never in Britain's long parliamentary history has a man remained the acknowledged crown prince for so long.

And Churchill hasn't made the waiting any easier for the man he hand-picked as his successor. As Churchill nears the 80 mark he is fond of reminding Eden that William Ewart Gladstone, a 19th Cen-

Faces Manslaughter in Death of Brother

IRON RIVER (AP) — Prosecutor Roosevelt Dascola said Robert Hall, 32, would be charged with involuntary manslaughter at his arraignment today, resulting from the death of his brother, Leon, 33, after a fight early yesterday.

Sheriff Edward P. Sandri said the brothers, Leon's wife, and Robert's girl friend were drinking in a tavern at nearby Caspian. He said Leon began arguing with his wife.

The argument continued outside the tavern, Sandri said, and Leon struck his wife in the face.

The sheriff said Robert stepped in and told his brother to "pick on someone your size."

Sandri said witnesses told him during the ensuing fight Leon fell and struck his head on the sidewalk. He died of a cerebral hemorrhage, the sheriff said.

Guard Is Slain in Escape Try

2 Prisoners, Hostage
Wounded; Hide Behind
Human Shields

LANSING, Kan. (INS) — Six desperate convicts killed a guard and used a baby girl, four women and a man for human shields, in a wild attempt to escape from the Kansas State Prison at Lansing before a 45-minute gun battle forced them to surrender yesterday.

One of the women hostages and two prisoners were wounded in the furious fusillade of bullets.

The six long-term convicts, armed with handmade pistols and knives, gave up when they were trapped at a locked gate by a squad of guards who moved in behind them and sniped away at them with revolvers and rifles.

Warden Charles A. Edmonson said the escape attempt began as prisoners were taking their morning exercise in the prison yard.

One of the hostages, Marjorie Caphart, 19, of Topeka, Kan., related that the convicts then burst into the visiting room while she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Caphart, were chatting with her brother, an inmate. She said:

"They picked out five of us—six, counting my two-year-old niece, Janet in my arms. We were marched single file out of the visiting building into a vestibule of the administration building."

Edmonson reported Henry Kenaga, 38, a 30-year veteran of the prison guard, was shoved along with the hostages and shot to death in the vestibule.

Among the convicts participating in the unsuccessful break for freedom was Donald E. Davis, 27, of Sturgis, Mich.

Kleptomaniacs Not All Legitimate Ones

LOS ANGELES (UP) — There are kleptomaniacs and kleptomaniacs, according to a criminologist, Dr. Donald Cressey, of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dr. Cressey said the genuine kleptomaniac walks into a store with no previous plan to take anything. Suddenly he is attracted to an article and takes it with no effort at hiding either the article or his actions. The operation is completely automatic.

The phoney kleptomaniac, he said, is clearly and previously motivated. He differs from a "second story" man only in that he has no economic need for the article he steals. He plans his act in advance and then rationalizes: "I am a kleptomaniac. Therefore it is not wrong for me to take the article."

The real kleptomaniac needs hospitalization, while the other is a criminal and should be treated as such, he concluded.

Expects Defeat of Dem Moves

Knowland Sees Senate
Checking Trade, Tax
Bill Revisions

WASHINGTON (UP) — Republican Leader Knowland of California said today he is confident the Senate will beat down Democratic efforts to revise the administration's reciprocal trade and tax revision bills.

"I may be unduly optimistic," he said in an interview.

Knowland and other Republican congressional leaders planned the usual Monday conference with President Eisenhower to map immediate steps in the legislative program.

They are aiming at adjournment by July 31 while conceding there will have to be a speedup to meet that target.

Neither the Senate nor the House planned any business today. Both arranged brief sessions to pay respects to two members of Congress who died over the weekend—Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo.) and Delegate Farington (R-Hawaii).

The House has no major legislation calendared for action this week.

The Senate plans to open debate tomorrow on a one-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act, which gives the President authority to reduce tariffs in exchange for similar concessions from other nations.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) and a band of 22 Democrats and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) planned to offer as a substitute a three-year extension, with added tariff-cutting authority, which Eisenhower originally asked. The President later announced willingness to settle for a one-year extension, without such an extension.

Knowland said the one-year extension is all the Congress can be expected to act upon this session if it holds to the adjournment deadline. He predicted the trade act will take two or three days.

Then he hopes to call up the 875-page, House-passed tax revision bill, which emerged from the Finance Committee in about the form sought by the Eisenhower administration.

Debate on Dams May End Soon

Cross-Examine Last
Witness in Hearing on Hells Canyon

WASHINGTON (INS) — The end of the year-long Hells Canyon hearings appeared in sight today as cross examination of the last Federal Power Commission witness moved into the final stretch.

Lester S. Wing, San Francisco regional engineer for the FPC, was expected to remain under cross examination for another day or two.

The Idaho Power Co., which is seeking permission to construct three dams on the Snake River, then will bring back two or three witnesses for rebuttal, and the hearings will end.

It was July 7, 1953, when the hearings began, and at that time none of the principals expected the proceedings to run the course of a full year.

Once all witnesses are heard, FPC Examiner William J. Costello will pour over the voluminous testimony and make a recommendation to the commission itself.

It is quite probable, however, that the case will be carried to the courts on any of a number of pretexts, so that even after one year of hearings a decision on the power project may be stalled.

Proponents of public power development banded together under the National Hells Canyon Association, Inc., and are seeking to block any move to let the Idaho Power Company develop the river. The association wants the federal government to build a single high dam at Hells Canyon.

LIKES HER PRODUCT — This Jersey calf apparently was happy to hear that Evelyn Ay, better known as "Miss America," drinks milk and likes it. The calf was moved to kiss the young beauty, appearing at a dairy festival in Edmonton, Ga.

Letter Given to Rhee by U. S. Ambassador

SEOUL (UP) — Diplomatic sources speculated today on the reported delivery of a letter by U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs from President Eisenhower to President Syngman Rhee of South Korea.

A reliable source said Briggs flew to Rhee's summer home at Chinhae. There was no indication of what the letter contained.

Sources speculated the missive dealt with future moves in light of the failure of the Korean peace talks at Geneva or a potential United States-sponsored buildup of Korean military forces.

Briggs' visit preceded by a few hours the return to Seoul of retired Gen. James A. Van Fleet, President Eisenhower's military surveyor in the Far East.

Thomas Jefferson said "If angry, count 10 before you speak."

Immigrant Shooting Has Police Baffled

WYANDOTTE (INS) — Police are baffled as to why a stranger yesterday drove into a gasoline station, mumbled a few words in Italian and then fired three shots at a 42-year-old laborer.

Dominico Manzella, who has been in this country for four years on a visa from Sicily, was shot down and taken to Wyandotte General Hospital with wounds through the chest, forearm and right side. He is in serious condition.

Witnesses told police that the stranger jumped in a car and drove away after firing the shots.

LT. Paul Heilshorn said police will attempt to talk with Manzella today through an interpreter.

Actor Is Ailing

MANILA (UP) — Academy Award-winning film actor William Holden left today for Singapore, nursing indigestion which he blamed on an "overdose of Philippine hospitality."

Bishop-Curtice Wedding Rite Attracts Area Guests

Miss Curtice Uses Mother's Veil of Rose Point

Mary Leila Curtice, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlow H. Curtice of Flint, spoke her nuptial vows with Robert Clare Bishop Saturday in a ceremony performed at 4:30 in the First Presbyterian Church of Flint.

Mr. Curtice is president of General Motors.

The exquisite gown of candlelight silk pail do sole, in princess style, dipped below the hip-line at the back, from which soft folds fell into a cathedral-length train.

Outlining the wide bateau neckline was a double fold of French illusion imported rose point lace.

Mary Leila wore her mother's wedding veil of rose point and point despit which was underlaid with French illusion. A small cap of matching material held the full length veil, and a feathery arrangement of stephanotis with showers of narrow French satin ribbon formed the bridal bouquet.

Dorothy Anne Curtice was her sister's maid of honor, and other attendants were Catherine Dale Curtice, another sister; Barbara Bishop of Almont, the bridegroom's sister, and Joan Bartlett of Greenfield, Mass.

Mrs. William Bell Heaton of Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Harold Jack Geiken of Grand Rapids, Virginia Plews of Flint, and Mrs. Roscoe Cameron Johnston of Indianapolis, Ind., also attended the bride.

All the attendants were gowned in ballerina-length dresses of tulip pink silk gauze featuring crossed bertha collars. Very bouffant skirts fell from fitted midriffs. Their hats were tulip pink cartwheels of horsehair, and they wore matching pink slippers and gloves.

Carrying out the pink theme, the bridal attendants carried pink rubrum lilies with shower ribbons in deeper tones of pink.

Donald Bishop performed the duties of best man for his brother who is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert Clare Bishop of Almont.

Seating the guests were Malcolm Bishop, another brother; John Bishop, a cousin; Peter Klempell of Flint; Charles William Coldwell of Scarsdale, N. Y.; Don E. Kelly of Ann Arbor; Charles Birdsall of Clarion, Iowa, and Ray Johnston of River Rouge.

The bridegroom's brother, David Bishop, was junior usher.

Mrs. Curtice was wearing a Dior gown of azure blue silk peau de sole with an oval scooped neckline. Her matching hat of shell blue was edged with small loops of tiny flowers in pink and blue, and she wore a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids and pink gloves.

A gown of dusty rose tulle with a rousing neckline of self trim was chosen by Mrs. Bishop for the wedding. Small pink flowers trimmed her hat of matching material, and she wore a white orchid.

The Flint Golf Club was the setting for the reception following which Mary Leila changed to a costume of silk shantung. Brown print formed a pattern over the honey colored dress which was topped with an Eton jacket.

An oyster-colored tanned cashmere coat were accented with slippers and a bag in honey colored leather.

A trip to Europe will be taken by the newlows, and upon their return in the fall they will live in Ann Arbor where the bridegroom will continue his medical studies at the University of Michigan.

A member of Nu Sigma Nu medical fraternity, he was graduated from Williams College where he was affiliated with Beta Pi fraternity.

The new Mrs. Bishop was graduated from Kingswood School, Cranbrook and Bennett Junior College, Millbrook, N. Y., before attending the University of Michigan School of Music.

Check Washability

When shopping for curtain materials, inquire about washability. If there are no preshrunk labels make allowance for lengthwise shrinkage — as much as 3 inches to the yard. To decide total yardage, figure on at least 100 per cent fullness if the curtains are not to be skimpy.

Susan Boyer Wed in Candlelight Rite

Yellow and white summer flowers banked the altar of Grace Lutheran Church Saturday evening when Susan L. Boyer and Gerald M. Flessland spoke their nuptial vows in a candlelight service performed by the Rev. Otto G. Schultz.

Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Boyer of Boston avenue, and the G. A. Flesslands of Stout street are the bridegroom's parents.

For the 8 o'clock service the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over satin. The skirt was fashioned of two tiers of tulle with a lace telt at the top. The lace bodice featured a sweetheart neckline with tiny lace sleeves. A Juliet cap banded in satin held her illusion veil and she carried an ivory and lace fan with Eucharist lilies and ivy for her bouquet.

Mrs. Charles H. Harmon Jr. was matron of honor in a waltz-length dress of deep aqua silk organdy and taffeta with matching jacket. Organdy and lilies-of-the-valley formed her headpiece, and she carried a yellow colonial bouquet.

In similar ensembles of pale aqua were the bridesmaids, Molly Bayle, of Sandusky and the bridegroom's cousin, Nadene Borsvold. Kathleen Schultz, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Her gown was a miniature replica of the others in pale aqua, and she scattered rose petals from a small basket.

James Wasm of Richmond was best man, and ushers were Donald Doppel of Ferndale, Dale Herrick of Flint, James Heinsoe, also of Flint, and Ned Yonatt, of Richmond. All were classmates of the bridegroom at Ferris Institute of Technology.

Out-of-Circulation Lad Wonders How to Meet and Get Dates With Girls

Late Guests Find Dinner Half Eaten

Hostess Correct in Not Delaying Meal for Tardy Pair

By EMILY POST
Today's first letter explains: "Last Sunday my husband and I were invited to a friend's house for dinner. We were told that dinner would be at 1:30. However, we got into a traffic jam and arrived a half hour late."

"When we went into the house we found the family and another couple halfway through with dinner. I was so taken back I could scarcely talk, and needless to say I felt hurt and angry."

"I wouldn't think of doing this to a guest of mine, and as they had not heard from us, they should have known we were on our way and perhaps unavoidably detained. I would like to know what you think about this?"

Answer: I do not think you had any cause to be hurt or angry with your hostess for believing you were not coming. Having heard nothing from you would certainly not suggest that you were on your belated way as much as that you had forgotten and were not coming at all.

Lateness is the hallmark of the inconsiderate. Fifteen minutes is the outside limit that any meal should be kept waiting for any belated guest, anywhere.

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine will be opening a dress shop of her own soon and I would like to send her a message of good wishes. Will you please suggest an appropriate message?

Answer: The nicest thing you could do would be to go to her opening if you see something you'd like to have, buy it—if you can afford it.

If you can't do this, send her some flowers with a message such as: "With every wish for your success." Or, if you are not well-to-do, send her this message on a card.

Dear Mrs. Post: When served an individual salad bowl (chef's salad, for example) as the main course at lunch, does one eat out of the bowl or take small portions onto one's plate?

Answer: As a rule, you mix the salad with the dressing in the bowl, and then take it little by little on your plate.

Grandmother's Attitude Is the Key

Mother Afraid to Defy Spoiled Child

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Sometimes I get letters from grandmothers of spoiled little boys and girls that make me feel sad. Like the one that said:

"Please warn my daughter she's spoiling her child. All he has to do is cry and scream to get his own way in anything. She thinks we don't like the child, whereas the truth is he's a trouble to everyone because she's afraid to say 'No' to him. But if I tell her that she's afraid of him, she acts as though she doesn't hear."

That's when I get sad. For how can we expect Billy's mother to recover from fear of him just because we tell her to?

She fears him because she dares not imagine what would happen to her if he knew how she really resents him. Psychiatrists have a word to describe what she does when Billy defies her. They would say she "projects" on him.

What they mean is that she believes he feels all the angry resentments she has felt when she was denied her own way. And that to act toward Billy would mean exploding from him all the explosive material that exists in her.

Her action is paralyzed, not because she wants it that way, but because all her experience in any self-assertion has ended in defeat and loneliness and anger.

So if her mother wishes to persuade her that it can end in victory and confidence, I have a suggestion for her.

I suggest she bend all her love and energy into encouraging her daughter to say to her, "Mother, please mind your own business." Why? Well, if this daughter once discovered that her self-assertion could end, not in defeat, loneliness and anger, she might find the strength to assert herself again. She might think: "If mother can take my resistance to her without attacking me, maybe Billy could, too! Maybe if I remove this candy from him, in spite of his screams, he won't punish and hurt me terribly either."

But if Billy's grandmother, flushed with outrage by her

Told to Tag Other Boys

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD
"Dear Miss Woodward: How are you to go about getting a date with a girl when you don't know any girls personally? I haven't gone out with a girl since I got out of grade school."

"Oh, I know a lot of girls, but all of them are going steady or almost steady, so they don't count. What's a boy to do?"

You've apparently been on an extended "out to lunch" as far as the girls are concerned. It's difficult to believe that you've been the complete hermit, hiding yourself away from your boy friends during all this time. And your boy friends are your best bet for getting back into circulation.

The easiest thing to do is start running around with your pals, allowing yourself to be introduced to this girl and that. Go with them to dances; tag along when they're dropping in at some girl's house; get yourself into the swing of meeting girls whether they're tied up or not.

Let the news get around that you're available and unattached, and can be easily persuaded to be the blind on a double-date.

Once you've made the rounds of available meeting places and have been briefed by your boy friends on just what's what, you can circulate alone on your search. Somewhere along the line you'll find a girl who will attract you enough to make you break your silence and ask for a date.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I seem to be popular enough around school—except with the boys. They don't seem to be very much interested. Every party I've gone to, except the last one, I've had to ask a boy to go with me."

"Next year I'll be in 11-A, and I think I'll be much too old to ask boys to go with me all the time. What will I ever do?"

One nice thing about asking a boy to go somewhere with you is that you know what you're getting into. You pick him out, you know him pretty well, you can count on the evening you're going to have.

When some lad asks you, he may or may not be a boy you like particularly, which has a lot to do with the success of your evening.

You're slightly depressed over the degree of success you've had this past school year. But all sorts of things can happen to change the score this summer, next fall and next winter.

You can meet somebody new. You can appear new, different and fascinating to a boy you've known forever. So why worry now? Give a break a chance to happen to you!

Poison Best to Get Rid of Termites

Treat the Ground Around House to Banish Pests

By HUBBARD COBB

There are a good many things that should be done when you find that your home is infested with termites—and one is not to get excited and start worrying whether or not the place is going to fall down over your head.

Termites can do a good deal of damage to a house but very few homes are ever so badly damaged that they become hazardous.

If you find you have termites you want, of course, to get rid of them. This can be accomplished most easily by poisoning the ground around the house.

If the ground is properly treated with a good termite poison, the termites inside the house will not be able to get back to the nest that is in the ground and those in the nest will not be able to reach the house.

The termites that are in the house will soon die and those outside will either die of starvation or move away. After you are rid of the termites, you can appraise the damage they have done and do the necessary repairs.

The job of poisoning the earth around the house can be done either by yourself or by a reliable firm specializing in this sort of work. It's not a very difficult job but it must be thorough, for if one small area is left untreated you have wasted both time and money.

There are several good termite poisons on the market and these can be purchased under various trade names from hardware stores and lumber yards.

The poisons usually come as a concentrate and are thinned with kerosene or water before use. The advantage of using water as a thinner rather than kerosene is that it will not harm your shrubs, trees and lawn.

Instructions for thinning and application come with the concentrate and these must be followed exactly if you expect good results.

What we need more than a hydrogen bomb is an oxygen bomb so everyone can breathe a little easier.

Knows Subject and Readers

Successful Author Works by Clock, Not Inspiration

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The other day at a Book and Author's luncheon in a Westchester women's club, I heard a talk by Elizabeth Hamilton Friermood which contained good advice to all women who want to write.

Mrs. Friermood is the successful author of books for teenage girls, the latest of which is called "Hoosier Heritage." She is happily married, with a daughter, Libby, who is her severest critic.

As opposed to many of my readers, who write telling me that they dashed off their first story when they were 30, that they work on inspiration when the mood strikes them, and that they can make a sale fast, Mrs. Friermood works like a devoted craftsman.

First of all, she began writing stories when she was very young. She came from Indiana and had, as a child, heard many fascinating tales about the early Indiana days from her mother and her grandmother.

She stayed with this locale in writing her own stories, because she knew it well and it fascinated her.

She watched the books the young people liked, she got acquainted with young people and she conducted story hours in the library. And she kept on writing through many rejection slips.

Now Mrs. Friermood has a life most women would envy.

She writes every morning from 8 to 11:30, "by the clock," as she puts it, "not by inspiration."

If you wish you could be a writer, here are some points to meditate on, points which Mrs. Friermood's life exemplifies:

1. If you didn't love to tell stories and write from the time you were little, better examine and see just how strong your interest is.
2. Stick to subjects, locales and people you know and are interested in.
3. Get acquainted with the type of people who will eventually read your books.
4. Get a regular schedule and stick to it.
5. Face the fact that the road to success is paved with rejection slips, and don't discourage easily.

Pie Made With Soda Crackers

Mrs. Hildebrandt's Recipe Is Delicious and Easy

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor
For dessert that you need to make in a hurry, try this one with ingredients right off your shelf. Soda Cracker Pie is as delicious as it is easy to make, say Mrs. Don Hildebrandt.

Although Mrs. Hildebrandt is a member of the DAR and the Newcomers Club, she says her interests are mainly in her home. She loves to cook and read. She is always delighted when her two small grandchildren come for a visit.

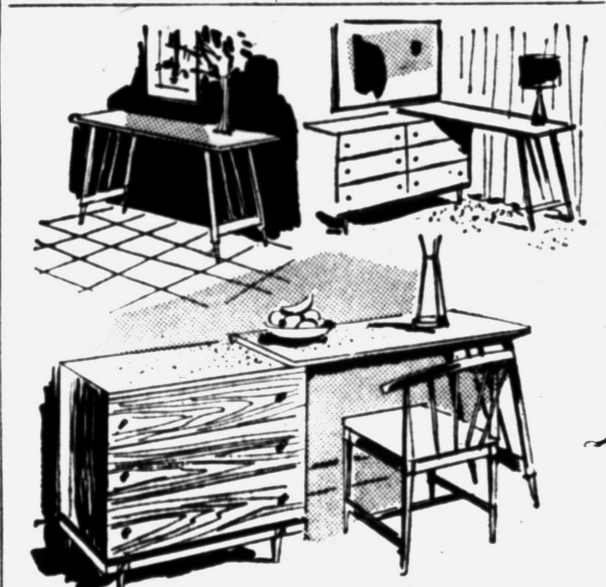

SODA CRACKER PIE

By Mrs. Don Hildebrandt

3 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
19 square soda crackers
1 cup nutmeats
2 teaspoons vanilla
Whipped cream

Beat egg yolks and add sugar gradually. Roll crackers fine and add to mixture. Beat egg whites stiff. Combine with vanilla and nuts and fold into first mixture.

Bake in well-greased pie pan in 350-degree oven for 40 minutes. Cut into wedges for serving and top with whipped cream. Makes six servings.

Something New in Furniture

Extender Makes Its Debut

By ELIZABETH HILLIER

Wouldn't you think it would be impossible to design a new type of furniture? An extender which is coming out for fall is very close to it.

The extender is more like a long table top than anything else, and it can have no legs at all or legs at one end only.

Without legs and with the ends set on two chests, the extender becomes a dressing table or desk between chests, and lengthens the furniture grouping to follow the complete spread of wall.

With legs at one end, it carries on from a single piece of furniture or turns the corner, as in the sketches.

This is an idea by designer Raymond Loewy for a new group of trim contemporary furniture in walnut called Wall-to-Wall because of its talent for using every inch of wall space.

The addition of legs at both ends turns the extender into a separate desk, hall or sofa table.

Mrs. T. G. W. "Because of my husband's work, we have moved four times in six years. Now we're moving again and I still don't have curtains to fit all the new windows in spite of accumulated variety."

"I was thinking that I might cut one pair of chintz draperies in two and make cafe curtains for two windows. Must they hang from the center of the windows or can they begin higher?"

"If the curtains are longer, no fabric is wasted and they might fit better in a future home."

Have Handy Kitchen

Keep most-used utensils and foods near the stove to save steps in the kitchen. Seasonings, canned goods, serving dishes and utensils for top-of-stove cooking should be kept nearby. Vegetables that don't need refrigeration, graters, peelers and strainers should be kept near the sink.

Try It Tents Are Greatly Varied

To many people a tent is something which is used as a protection out-of-doors, and they seem to think that all tents are alike! I wonder if any of you Try-Iters have had the experience of going on a trip where buying a tent was necessary?

I have shown a few of the many types of tents in today's drawing. There is a need for many different kinds, for the tents vary as to the use that they will be put to.

For instance, you would like to have a Baker or trail tent with you if you were camping by automobile, but can you imagine one carrying this on your back on a hiking trip?

See how the wall tent differs from the Baker tent. The miner's tent is still a different shape, and I know that you recognize the Indian tepee. The pup tent is a popular lightweight tent and is used on hiking trips. See how many other types you can find.

This would be a good idea to use as a collection. Start with these tents and draw them in a scrapbook, putting down their names and any other information you can find. Add to your book from time to time so that you will know the different kinds of tents.

Summer Lingers 90 Days, so Sit Back and Enjoy It

By LAURA Z. HOBSON
By International News Service
Summer has moved in on us again for a short term lease expiring 90 days hence.

"Is it hot enough for you?" will be taken out of wraps and a few scientific souls may try to fry eggs on sidewalks.

A miracle machine may be set to count the number of times Americans say, "It's not the heat, it's the humidity."

Sunday evenings will become a time for bumper - to - bumper traffic on the way home from beaches. Druggists will get emergency calls for sunburn remedies. Buses will proceed in a hot-smelling cloud of oily vapor and city hydrants will be under attack by the kids.

Despite these discomforts, there are plenty of lovable aspects of the newly unveiled face of summer.

From now until after Labor Day, newspapers will carry pictures of kids in the old swimmin' hole, and what picture can gladden the adult heart more?

The tinkle of ice cubes will make music in tall glasses. White heads of foam will top off others—perhaps on chocolate sodas.

Women in sleeveless frocks, sandals and bare legs will be the envy of men in ties, jackets, and heavy shoes. The dripping and envious males will admit women are ahead in same summer clothing.

Air - conditioned buildings will again provide delicious relief when we enter them from baking streets. Vacation plans will lift the hearts of all, and sometimes the actual vacations will live up to the plans and anticipations.

Romance will blossom under clear sunny skies. Despite things like 95.6 degrees in the shade, "continued hot" in the weather report, flies, mosquitoes, gnats, sand flies, and an entire nation blanketed with the yen for "real sleeping weather" let's all be gay this first day of summer.

It's the longest day in the year, but when the sun does finally set, there'll be a hot time in the old town tonight.

Ridgway Says Penalty Given in Peress Case

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U.S. Army chief of staff, says he doubts the Army-McCarthy dispute lowered morale in the Army.

"As for the actual spirit of our soldiers," he told interviewers yesterday as he arrived to visit his mother, Mrs. Ruth Ridgway, "I am confident the American people have nothing to worry about."

In San Francisco Friday night, Ridgway said "proper disciplinary action" had been taken against the officers who gave an honorable discharge to Maj. Irving Peress, a key figure in the Army-McCarthy row.

He declined to name the officers, or report the action taken against them. The Army has admitted the case was mishandled, but Ridgway's statement was the first indication of any punishment.

Medics to Hear Cancer Report

National Society to Get a Preliminary Research
Story on Smoking

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A preliminary report of a survey that may tell whether there is a link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer highlighted the opening session of the American Medical Association Convention today.

The report on the cancer study was to be made late today at a general scientific session of the AMA by Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, director of the statistical research section of the American Cancer Society, New York.

It covered results to date of a study started by the society two years ago. In that period, 22,000 volunteer workers for the society have followed the lives of 204,000 men between the ages of 50 and 60.

Each is questioned about his smoking habits. Whenever one dies, the cause of death is carefully checked.

The survey was considered the first valid test of the theory that heavy cigarette smoking is a major cause of lung cancer in men. The disease has increased 1,500 per cent in 25 years and killed 22,000 Americans last year.

The lung cancer report was one of 300 scientific papers on new drugs and treatments and other medical and surgical problems to be presented to the 12,000 physicians and surgeons attending the five-day AMA conference.

UWF Re-elects Reuther

WASHINGTON (INS) — Walter Reuther, CIO president was re-elected yesterday as a vice president of the United World Federalists.

Jenkins Likes McCarthy Aid

If Lawyer Decides to Run for Senate, He'd Welcome Support

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) had a publicly announced "invitation" today to campaign for Ray H. Jenkins, if the special counsel in the McCarthy - Army hearings decides to seek a Senate seat.

The Tennessee Republican told NBC's "Meet the Press" television panel that although the "great probability" is that he will not run he believed he would accept McCarthy's aid.

Jenkins said that he has received a great deal of encouragement to make the race for the seat of incumbent Sen. Estes Kefauver, but said: "I don't yet have the consent of my own mind to be a candidate."

In answer to easy questions about the possibility of support from McCarthy, Jenkins said he would welcome all persons "I thought would be of aid and assistance to me in my campaign."

But when newsmen pressed him for a more direct reply he declared:

"If I became a candidate for the Senate in Tennessee and Sen. McCarthy magnanimously tendered his services in coming down to make a speech for me I would say frankly as of this moment I would accept the offer."

The colorful lawyer, who received nationwide attention as chief counsel in the Senate's Army-McCarthy dispute hearings which concluded Thursday said he was originally a "Taft Republican" but swung his support to Mr. Eisenhower.

He commented: "I am now an Eisenhower Republican for as long as he is President."

There are about 1800 daily and 10,000 weekly and semi-weekly newspapers in the United States.

Shirt Sleeves and Shorts Herald Summer Season

WEATHER SIGN—According to James Glunk of 17 Opdyke, of the City Water Department, it's possible to tell when the breezes and rain of a cooling summer storm hit perspiring residents by watching the water pressure gauge. "It actually seems cooler here in the pumphouse, just thinking of the thousands of gallons of water rushing through the systems," he said.

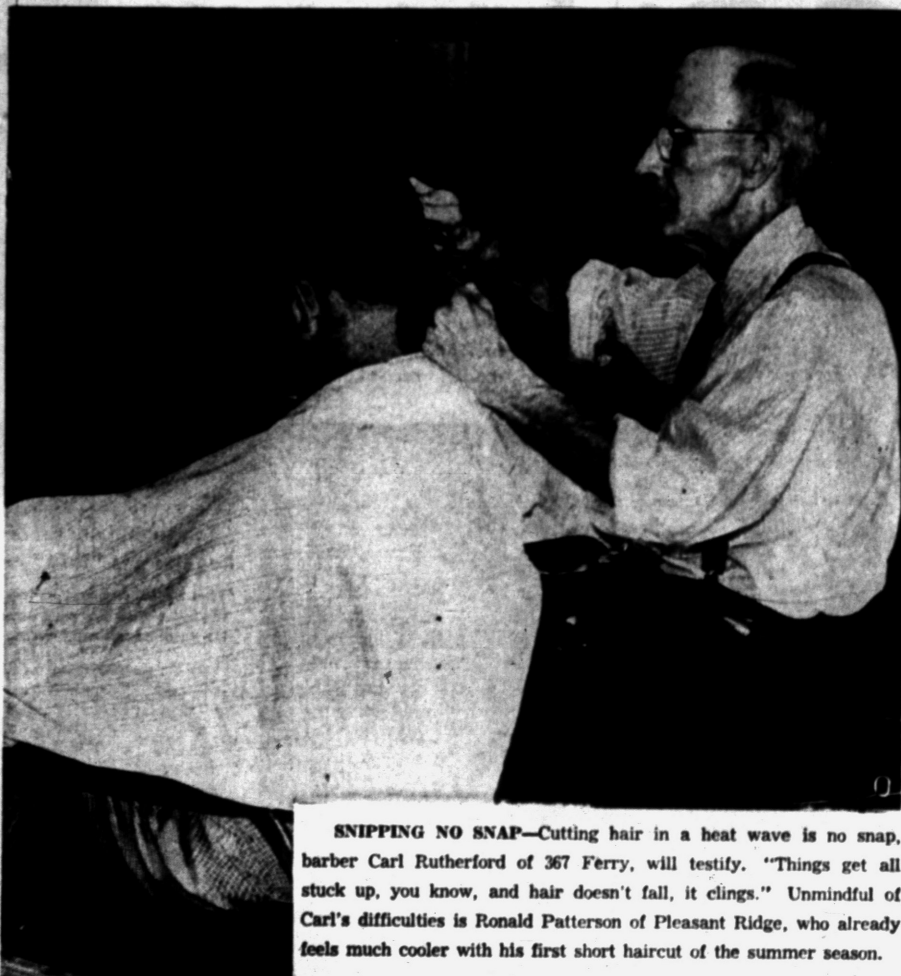

Pontiac Press Photos

WHEN DAY IS DONE—Up go the feet, down go the tools, and the humble male ascends to the splendid estate of the breezes of the front porch, and thirst-quenching. Ralph Merkowitz of 803 Menominee, a recipe for summer relaxation: You'll feel much more comfortable if you think more about yard work, and do less of it. Ralph is obviously thinking hard.

CORRECT ATTIRE—Typical of downtown Pontiac business attire during the recent heat wave is straw-hatted John Kemp of 161 Dwight. Emerging from the Community National Bank, he scoffed—at the panting reporter and photographer facing him. "Think cool, and you'll be cool, by gosh," he recommended. Note the tie tightly drawn up against the collar, the mark of a man who knows whereof he speaks.

SNIPPING NO SNAP—Cutting hair in a heat wave is no snap, barber Carl Rutherford of 367 Ferry, will testify. "Things get all stuck up, you know, and hair doesn't fall, it clings." Unmindful of Carl's difficulties is Ronald Patterson of Pleasant Ridge, who already feels much cooler with his first short haircut of the summer season.

KIND DOG—Topper, a considerate pet, takes his mistress Carroll Shaw of 77 Osceola Dr., for a cooling stroll. "If you give them a frisky time, they almost forget about the heat," confided Topper. "But it sure leaves a dog breathless." "I might get someone to walk her every day, to take the load off me," he added.

OSTRICH LESSON—"What does an ostrich do to keep a cool head when excited?" says Sally Long, of 2115 Lincoln Ave., Birmingham. "He buries his head in the sand, of course. It's real cool, man." Insulated from summer sun rays by the damp sand of Cass Dodge Park, Sally takes on a cooling soft drink to help the process.

POSTMAN'S PRAYER—The old postal motto—"Neither rain, sleet, hail, nor snow"—has been amended to read "Please come rain, sleet, hail" by Charles Moore, of 21 Sheridan. "If this is summer now, what were those last 10 days?" is the question Charles and the rest of Pontiac are asking today, the first day of summer.

Mediator Works to Avoid Strike on Milk Deliveries

DETROIT (UP)—George Bowes, chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board, said today conciliators were making an "all-out" effort to ward off a threatened strike that would cut off 75 per cent of the Detroit area's milk supply. Creamery and Union officials have failed to agree on work schedules for the employees, certain "time off" provisions and vacation benefits. The Union also is asking that the work week of inside workers be cut from 48 to 40 hours without a pay cut.

Hot Stove Finally Blows

MANILA (AP)—A Filipino family in central Luzon cooked its meals for nine years on a Japanese cannon shell before it blew up. The family escaped uninjured but their home and several others went up in flames.

Guatemala Is Comparable to Pennsylvania in Size

By UNITED PRESS
Guatemala is a small Central American republic about the size of Pennsylvania with a population of almost 3,000,000 persons. It was established first as a republic on April 17, 1829. Its present constitution dates from March 15, 1945.

On the map, it looks like an inverted keyhole. It is bounded on the north and west by Mexico, on the east by British Honduras and the Caribbean Sea, on the east and south by Honduras, and on the southwest by the Pacific Ocean.

A range of mountains containing many volcanic peaks runs from the northwest to the southwest near the Pacific. The narrow west slope is well-watered, fertile and the most densely settled part. More than half of the population is made up of pure Indians, descendants of the ancient Mayas. The rest are of mixed Indian and Spanish blood, with the ruling classes of European descent. There are several famous Maya ruins in the country.

Roman Catholicism is the prevailing religion, but all creeds are tolerated. Education is compulsory. Spanish is the language of the country.

Agriculture is the most important industry of the country, with coffee making up 80 per cent of the exports. Other important crops are bananas, sugar, beans, corn and wheat, as well as chicle gum. Guatemalan mines produce silver, gold, copper, iron, lead and chrome.

In the west, the country extends about 150 miles from north to south. In the east, it runs about 300 miles north to south. The capital city is Guatemala

City, which lies about 1,000 miles due south of New Orleans. Puerto Barrios on the east coast, reported under attack, is the most important port of the country. It lies 800 miles south of New Orleans. It was there that a shipment of 1,900 tons of arms arrived last month from behind the iron curtain and drew sharp warnings of future trouble from the U. S. State Department.

San Jose, also reported under attack, is the most important west coast port of the country. Zapaca, the third major point under attack, is a principal rail center with connections to San Salvador.

The U. S.-owned United Fruit Company owns extensive plantation lands in the country. Some of these holdings have been expropriated. A land reform law, passed June 15, 1952, expropriated untitled or share-cropped farms over 667 acres.

Alaska's Possibilities Interest Big Oil Men

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (UP)—Nearly every major oil company in the United States will be exploring petroleum possibilities in Alaska this summer, according to a consulting engineer.

Ted C. Mathews, who returned here recently after a series of conferences with top officials in the petroleum industry, said he found "tremendous interest in Alaska existing among top geologists working for major oil companies."

Mathews, who now works for the Fairbanks Oil and Gas Co., formerly was consulting engineer for the Navy's Petroleum No. 4 exploration project at Point Barrow.

Congress to Render Tribute to 2 Dead

WASHINGTON (UP)—Both houses of Congress arranged to suspend their business sessions today after paying respect to Sen. Lester C. Hunt (D-Wyo.) and Delegate Joseph R. Farrington (R-Hawaii) who died Saturday.

Hunt, depressed because of a kidney ailment, shot and fatally wounded himself in his Senate office. Farrington, 56, died of a heart ailment at his desk in the House office building.

Funeral services for the 61-year-old Hunt will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at Trinity Episcopal Church by the Rev. Raymond Ryland. Funeral arrangements for Farrington, who became Hawaii's nonvoting House delegate in 1942, have not been completed. However a spokesman for the family said services would be held tomorrow, with the body being flown later to Honolulu for burial.

Atomic Reactor Unveiled at UM

Model for Peacetime
Research Work Shown
by American Machine

ANN ARBOR (UP) — American Machine & Foundry Co. unveiled today a new model of an atomic research reactor designed to pave the way for peacetime uses of the mighty atom.

The scale model is one-sixth the actual size of "nuclear furnaces" which AMF will sell for between $250,000 and $500,000. The reactors produce neutrons and gamma rays for research. They come complete except for concrete shields.

AMF, which turns out such diverse products as pretzel-baking machines and bowling alley equipment, says its atomic reactor has great potentials in both industry and medicine. It utilizes "building block" or unitized construction.

Research reactors are useful for isotope production, reactor technology and biomedical research, as well as other applications, the company said.

In biomedical work, for instance, the reactor may be utilized in the study of tissue damage and tumors.

The model was displayed at the University of Michigan in conjunction with the International Congress on Nuclear Engineering.

Capitol Library Leads in Shakespeare Art

WASHINGTON (UP) — The largest collection of Shakespeareana in the world is to be found in the Folger Shakespeare Memorial Library here.

Founded by the late Henry C. Folger, oil company president who spent some $4,500,000 on William Shakespeare items, the Folger Library houses the dramatist's works, source books, criticism of him, and material on the history of the Shakespearean stage.

A-Bomb Cancer
Reported in Japan

TOKYO (U)—The English-language Japan News said today the first recorded case of cancer as the aftermath of an atomic burn has been reported in Japan. The first malignant growth to be diagnosed as cancer and attributed to the atom bomb was announced by Dr. Chuta Tamagawa, a pathologist at Hiroshima University.

The doctor said the victim is 64 and suffered burns on the back of the head when the atom bomb exploded nine years ago. The wound has not healed and recently cancer was detected.

It was further declared that the executive committee "does not anticipate that it will have any recommendations" on the merger to present to the General Council until the 1956 meeting of that body.

Audie Murphy
Portrays Self
in U-I Movie

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U) — How does a modest man enact his own amazing life on the screen? Actor Audie Murphy is not sure he'll live through it, but he is undertaking to portray the soldier Audie Murphy in "To Hell and Back." The autobiography is being filmed with an expensive production by Murphy's home studio, Universal-International.

Murphy's record as a soldier in World War II is unparalleled. He won 23 decorations, including the big one — the Medal of Honor. While he was killing 240 German soldiers, a mortar shell burst at his feet, he was perforated by an artillery shell blast and shot in the hip by a sniper's bullet.

The former sharecropper boy from Kingston, Tex., is modest about his war achievements. Director Jess Hibbs told me he and producer Aaron Rosenberg have met opposition on some points in the script. "I think it's kind of silly to show me getting the medals at the end of the picture," Murphy reasoned. "Those who know I got the medals will understand. And for the others the events will speak for themselves."

Audie remarked that the rest of the script is shaping up well, but he'll take a stand on that matter. I asked him what would happen if the studio remained firm and put another actor in the role. "Fortunately, that's in the small print of my contract," he laughed. "Nobody else can play the role but me. I had to do it that way. Otherwise they would have had Tony Curtis in that part long ago."

Hibbs said that two thirds of the picture would be shot on location near Yakima, Wash., where the Army will supply troops and full cooperation. The terrain approximates the settings of Sicily, Italy and France, where Murphy fought.

Terms Long Coma
a 'Medical Miracle'

PASADENA, Calif. (U) — A doctor says it is a "medical miracle" that after 6½ years of unconsciousness Mrs. Ada Wrigley, widow of William Wrigley Jr., of baseball and chewing gum fame, is still alive. Mrs. Wrigley, who keeps her age a secret but is believed to be 83 or 84, suffered a stroke at her mansion here Dec. 23, 1947. She has been in a coma since and is almost completely paralyzed. Dr. William G. Hibbs, her Chicago physician, said: "It is the medical miracle of my life and, so far as I know, is alone in the literature of medicine."

Cracks in French Empire Widening Fast as Pattern Takes Shape in North Africa

Editor's note: The tides of opposition beat fiercely against the empire France built on two sides of the world. Indochina is all but adrift, and North Africa is shaken by the waves of nationalism. William L. Ryan has surveyed the prospects in both areas, as well as in France itself. This is the first of a series in which he portrays the tottering empire—and how it weakens.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
TUNIS (AP)—Nguyen Nguoc toils in an Indochina rice field.

Mohammed Aly herds goats in Morocco.

Political turmoil swirls about these peasants at outposts of the French empire, but it means nothing to them. They are illiterate and care little who rules them. They want to be left in peace to eke out a living the way their forefathers did for ages before them.

They are in the vast majority. In contrast is an educated crust—men like Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia, Mohammed Khouane of Algeria and Allal el Fassi of Morocco. These are nationalist leaders dedicated to driving French political domination out of North Africa. It is ironic that France educated them.

Even Ho Chi Minh, Communist leader who seized the nationalist movement in Indochina, owes much of his education to France.

Once native leaders looked upon the French as miracle workers. France was strong and promised them a better way of life. The destruction of French grandeur in the wake of two world wars produced cracks in the French empire that are still widening. Indochina is slipping away in the East. A new Indochina-like problem, this one in North Africa, is brewing.

In today's world of swift communications, propaganda, subversion and rising nationalism, the methods of half a century ago, when France was at the height of her power, do not suffice.

"Force no longer frightens us," a North African nationalist told me. "The French mass their troops and play the 'Marseillaise' to impress us with their glory and their power, but we are no longer impressed."

The misfortune of France is this: it displays less and less ability to cope with the complex problem of defending its important position in today's world.

The misfortune of the people of the French Union who aspire to national independence is this: they are subject to being used by outside forces. No matter how just their aspirations sound to sympathetic ears in the West, their future is bound up with the struggle of Western civilization for survival. Political instability in areas important to defense is an expensive luxury from the West's point of view.

France's splintered politics, the tug and pull of ancient fears and prejudices, the faithful service to Moscow by Communists in Paris—all these have served to delay Western defense plans so much that the European Defense Community may never come to pass.

with the unity in which it was conceived.

Moscow plays with French politics skillfully. In Geneva, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov made a tough, unbending speech, and the French government fell, to be succeeded by another likely more willing to appease its way out of difficulties.

Many French politicians, ears attuned to grass-roots weariness from eight years of warfare in Southeast Asia, announced themselves willing to write off Indochina. "Let's make the best of it" became the slogan.

How did it all come to pass? France consolidated her empire at the height of her power and glory. After her defeat by Prussia in 1870, France was determined to show the world she would be a world power. She pinned down her authority in the Far East. She turned to North Africa and made Tunisia a protectorate. She moved into Morocco and by 1912 established her authority.

French prestige remained little damaged in the eyes of such people until France lay prostrate at Hitler's feet. The Allies' slogan of "self-determination," an expression of conscience amid a war for survival, found attentive ears in colonial areas. There was little discussion then whether such areas were ready for self-rule.

The postwar period brought further splintering of French political factions, rising Communist power in metropolitan France, indecision in Paris, coincident with the growing tide of nationalism.

Concessions might have satisfied nationalist demands—particularly the demands of moderates who admitted they would need French help for a long time to come. But few political concessions were forthcoming, and the number of moderates grew less.

In Indochina, the French retreated into their Maginot Line idea, defending what they thought they could and fighting against a steady attrition of harassment. When the enemy decided to come into the open and fight, it was on his terms. France lost a great battle at Dien Bien Phu. The tide was running against her. Politically, she had nothing to fill the vacuum. The only native organization was Communist-controlled. France had permitted no effective political organization to counter it.

Once again a pattern takes shape. In Tunisia a "liberation army" already is in being. One cannot say for sure how nationalist it is, just how much foreign influence is in it. But it requires only a small group of disciplined opportunists to change a nationalist movement into a Communist one. The world learned that in Indochina.

Furgol, Former Pontiac Pro, New U.S. Open King

By ORLO ROBERTSON
SPRINGFIELD, N. J. (AP)—Probably the most unattractive golfer ever to tread a fairway is the new U. S. Open golf champion and he can credit much to a crippled left arm.

Ed Furgol, a lean 6-foot, 155-pound 37-year-old professional from Clayton, Mo., put together consistent rounds of 71, 70, 71, and 72 over the long par 70 Baltusrol course for a 284—good enough to finish one stroke in front of 23-year-old Gene Littler, 1953 amateur champion from Palm Springs, Calif., now playing as a pro.

(He was formerly a Pontiac, Mich. pro.)

Through the four rounds, Furgol stepped down the carpet-like fairways with a rate of speed that left his playing partners, officials, gallery and often his caddy trailing. It appeared as if the man with the crooked arm, frustrated time and again since turning pro in 1945, knew he was destined to win golf's biggest prize and wanted to accomplish the feat as soon as possible.

Baltusrol's narrow fairways and tough rough offered him little trouble. His left arm, inches shorter than his right and stiff from the elbow down, guided the ball true to the target with few exceptions as his right applied the power.

"My left elbow was a little stronger than Hogan's," said Furgol jokingly afterwards. "It kept me out of the rough." Defending champion Ben Hogan, seeking his fifth title, ended five strokes off the pace with a 289.

Furgol injured his left elbow at the age of 12 when he fell off parallel bars at Utica, N. Y. The injury never healed correctly and he was left with a crooked, cocked arm. Acting on doctors' orders, he took up golf to strengthen the arm and became an outstanding amateur before turning to the play-for-pay phase of the sport.

"But I never could afford any lessons," said Furgol. "What I learned about the game came from watching others and constant practice."

The stiff left arm, however, proved valuable. He didn't have to learn to hold it that way as he guided the club head into the ball. He did develop something of an unorthodox swing but, after Furgol had won, a number of pros remarked they have known for a long time that the new champion was a master of every stroke.

"But he never could putt," incidentally, the only strokes he lost to par on the last round came when he three putted the seventh and eighth greens.

His left arm came in good stead, however, on the 18th when he hooked his drive into the trees. For a moment it looked as if the title was going to elude him. But the crooked arm guided a seven iron true as he came out on a fairway from the side and took two putts to get down.

However, not until he had climbed the title, when Littler failed to drop an eight-foot putt on the 18th for a tie, did Furgol start talking. Not once during the three days did he engage in a conversation of more than two or three words as he paced off the distance between shots. He was a tight-lipped man with a purpose.

"Golf is my work," said Furgol "and I didn't want anything to distract me from a shot that might make a difference. That is why I never talked to anybody, not even my caddy." The caddy received $1,000 of Furgol's $6,000 first prize.

What the future holds for the new champion, not even Furgol would venture a guess.

Between Littler and Hogan in the final standings came: Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla., and Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., 286; Bobby Locke, Johannesburg, 288; Tommy Bolt of Houston, Fred Haas of New Orleans, Shelley Mayfield of Seguin, Tex., and amateur Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, S. C., 289.

Ed Furgol, the new National Open golf champion, has a decided Pontiac and Oakland County background.

Though originally out of New York state and now pro at Clayton, Missouri, Furgol spent several years in this area. He won the Michigan public and the Metropolitan Golf Association's open amateur.

After turning pro, he was playing pro at Frank Syron's Pontiac Country Club in 1946-47. He married Helen Bucsko of Royal Oak and still retains some connections in Royal Oak.

Early in his career, Furgol had trouble controlling his temper. He once was suspended by the MGA for taking a divot out of one of the greens at Highland Golf Club (then known as Duck Lake).

He won the Michigan PGA a couple years back at Indianwood, but while often in the money, never won a major tournament in 7 years on the circuit until taking the Phoenix Open last winter.

His many friends in this area doubtless are happy to see the 37-year-old Furgol win "the big one." Furgol is a fine example of perseverance overcoming a handicap. He has a withered left arm, much shorter than his right as a result of a childhood accident.

Arsen and Don Vantine are co-chairmen of the event.

Los Angeles A.C. had 124 points. New York A.C. seeking its third straight title. 107. New York pioneer Club 434 and San Francisco Olympic Club 313. Scoring was on a 10-8-6-4-2-1 basis, or 10 points for first place, 8 for second, etc.

Do you remember this peppery infielder who campaigned for many a sandlot baseball season in Pontiac? He was a star in Class A circles during the '30s and later managed Class A teams for several seasons. You'll find his name on the final sports page today.

Erase Two-Hole Deficit on Last Three Greens

Rain-Interfered Match Winds Up Sunday as a Close, Hot Battle

By H. GUY MOATS

Over a rain-drenched, but accurate playing Pine Lake Country Club layout, a new championship team was named Sunday evening in the Fifth Annual Invitational Pine Lake Best Ball tournament.

Forced to come from behind on a late rally, Tony Skover, personable Meadowbrook shotmaker and widely known prep athletic official and his chunky red-thatched partner, Dick Whiting, nipped Pine Lake's Bill Nettie and Bill Pettibone on the 18th green, to win the title and trophy one up.

The last nine was a real battle all the way. The finalists made the turn all even. But the tide turned a little on the 11th, where Nettie and Pettibone went 1-up.

The home club team held its advantage through the 14th. On the 15th they boosted it to 2-up with Nettie's pitch near the pin that gave Pettibone an easy putt for a birdie 3.

Skover and Whiting got one back on the 16th. Skover's approach from 70 yards out was 6 feet from the cup and Dick dropped the putt. A 10-footer proved too hard for Nettie, who was short on his try.

That really put the pressure on both teams going into the 17th, a short hole, trap guarded and close to a fence. No one got his tee shot on the carpet, but Skover chipped from the fringe at the back to within two feet of the hole, while Whiting sunk the short one to square the match.

Both pairs hit the home carpet on their second. Each ran a putt up. Skover's only inches away for a "gimme." Pettibone was wide and Nettie missed the tying effort.

Scortichini, Gonzales in TV Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (UP)—Fresh from surprise performances, middleweights Italo Scortichini of Italy and Pedro Gonzales of Rankin, Pa., will clash tonight in a TV (Dumont) 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena. And the odds were at "even money."

The more experienced Scortichini held top-weight contender Carmine Basilio to a draw in his latest bout. Young Gonzales won an upset decision over middleweight contender Ralph (Tiger) Jones on May 24.

Jump Courses Modified to Meet Olympic Standards

Inclusion of the 1956 Olympic equestrian events in this week's 37th annual Detroit Horse Show, at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, has brought some changes in the jumping courses at the popular exhibition.

Among outstanding horses entered is Miss Budweiser, 1952 Olympic jumper, owned by August R. Busch of St. Louis, Mo.; Copperfield, the fine hunter owned by Hugh Gentry of Oakhill farms, Wadsworth, Ill.; Strawberry Fox, Mrs. Carlton Higbie's (Bloomfield Hills) star; My Happiness, Blackthorn Memorial Challenge trophy winner last year, owned by Senator Burton L. Lohmuller of Centralia, Kan.

Most have been shown here in other years.

Prize list totals more than $10,000. In some major events awards up to $1,000 are offered.

Show opens Thursday at 9:30 a.m., runs through Sunday, June 27. Afternoon sessions begin at 12:30 p.m. and night events start at 6:30, under lights. Public is welcome.

Two new events have been added to the show. They are for harness and hackney ponies.

Horses and riders will be judged in 101 classes and eight divisions in what has been called the biggest and best show in the event's history.

The courses have been modified to conform to Olympic standards. In these events judges will be watching for capable horses and riders to represent the United States in the next Olympics. Several Hills riders have been grooming mounts for these events. Outside hunting courses have been changed also to make them more interesting and competitive.

The same is true of Mickey Mantle. The American League has few outfielders to match Stan Musial and Duke Snider in hitting at fielding, so Mantle faces an easier job than Willie Mays has become entangled with. But still Mantle has Jim Busby to handle.

In this All-Star connection the National League has made it four in a row. Casey Stengel, still managing the American League group, has now taken four

Early Test for American Star at Wimbledon

Seixas, Opens Fight in 1st Match Today — Beats Briton, Cash

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (INS)—Defending champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and top-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati opened America's bid for the Wimbledon men's singles championship today with easy first-round victories. Seixas touched off an anticipated U.S.-Australian scramble for the title with a trouncing of Britain's Geoffrey Cass.

Trabert followed with a triumph over Paul Wooler of Britain. Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, Fla., downed another Briton, N. R. Lacey.

By STERLING LEWIS

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—The 68th All-England lawn tennis championships opened today but the field is so big and complex it will be late tomorrow afternoon before all the players get started.

Men's singles and a scattered few doubles will cover tomorrow. From then on, through July 3, excepting Sunday, women and men will alternate. The men's single championship will be decided Friday, July 2, and the women's July 3.

The field of 128 men and 96 women was expected to shake itself down into an American vs. Australian fight in practically all departments.

Of the first eight men in the seedings, four are American and four Australian. The men's doubles seedings are evenly divided and so are the mixed doubles. Only in women's singles do Australians fail to figure. England ranks second to the United States in production of women tennis players.

Americans have won every Wimbledon since World War II except in 1946 and 1952. Trabert is the 3-2 choice to continue the dominance.

Lewis Hoad, the top Australian is seeded second and is picked by a few London tennis writers over the 24-year-old Trabert.

Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., is the overwhelming woman favorite. Her first match is tomorrow. Should Miss Connolly, the defending champion, fail, then the No. 2 girl, Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., could be expected to win.

Law Tops List, Can't Make Trip

Fires 147 to Qualify for Publix; Andonian Makes Grade

DETROIT (AP)—Jay Law, of Detroit, won medalist honors yesterday in regional qualifying for the National Publix Tournament and then withdrew from the meet.

Other qualifiers were:
Doug Wilson, Oak Park... 71-77-150

Pinch-Homers Keep Giants Ahead in NL

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Warren Giles' embargo on the $100 home run bonus came just in time to save Leo Durocher from an acute case of C-note shorts. A man could go to the poor house if he kept strewing Ben Franklin engravings around a clubhouse every time a New York Giant hit a home run.

Take yesterday, for instance. Two Giant pinch hitters, Bobby Hof-man and Dusty Rhodes set a record by hitting pinch homers in the same inning of New York's 7-6 victory over St. Louis. Wes Westrum also homered in the sixth inning and Al Dark hit one earlier. If Giles hadn't sounded a warning, Leo probably still would be handing out $100 bills as he did recently to Bill Taylor and Hank Thompson for game-winning homers. Within a few hours of Giles' announcement Saturday, Hoot Evers made his first hit of the season a pinch-hit, game-winning home run. Now the best Leo can do is say a nice word to the boss when the boys' contracts come up next winter.

It was a good thing for the Giants they did hit yesterday's homers, routing Vic Raschi and hanging a defeat on Cot Deal for their lead was sliced to one half game by Brooklyn's double victory. The Dodgers again fell back on relief pitching to knock off Chicago twice, 6-4 and 6-3 with Clem Labine bailing out the first game and Bob Milliken and Ben Wade holding the fort in the second.

For the first time since Sept. 6, 1953, Pittsburgh actually won a doubleheader. First the Pirates downed Milwaukee, 2-1, in 10 innings when Lew Burdette hit Curt Roberts with a pitched ball with the bases loaded. Then Gair Allie's three-run homer gave the Pirates the second game, 6-3, over Bob Buhl. The double defeat dropped the Braves seven games out of first place.

Cincinnati bumped off Philadelphia twice, 4-3 and 15-6, chasing their old teammate, Herm Wehmeier, as they scored nine runs in the first inning of the second game. Cleveland hiked its American League lead to four games by beating their old Boston sparman-

Tiger Club Has Improved, Despite Its Recent Failings

By JOE FALLS
DETROIT (AP) — Despite recent failings, a cold analysis shows that the Detroit Tigers remain baseball's most improved team.

Tigers have improved at almost every position. The team still has many shortcomings, perhaps too many, but who figured they would hold a spot in the 1st division after more than two months of the season?

Tigers' won-lost record isn't overwhelming — 27 wins and 32 losses — but it is still better than four other teams — Washington, Philadelphia, Boston and Baltimore.

At this time last year, the Tigers were a pitiful last, more than 30 games off the pace. They are 15½ games behind Cleveland and if that isn't improvement then what is?

To a reporter who has seen almost half their games, the team shapes up this way:

Batting—Fair.
Pitching—Erratic.
Fielding—Good.
Catching—Excellent.

As the Tigers were rained out of Sunday's doubleheader with the A's, manager Fred Hutchinson was able to give some thought to his most persistent headache—pitching. More accurately, it would be described as lack of pitching depth.

Steve Gromek and Ned Garver have more than carried their share of the load but there is distinct fear that with the torrid July-August stretch just ahead either or both will wilt. Gromek, at 33, especially is vulnerable to the summer sun.

Among the other hurriers, Billy

Hoeft and George Zuverink have hurled well on occasion but both have been erratic. After them there is little, with Ted Gray useless with a sore left arm and Ray Herbert a sour disappointment.

Monte Irvin's Protracted Batting Slump Has Him, Manager Durocher Worried

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP) — Monte Irvin's protracted batting slump has the big New York Giants' outfielder and Manager Leo Durocher more worried than either cares to admit. The big cleanup failed to start for the second straight day yesterday and watched the Giants come through with late inning rallies to achieve comeback victories over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Fortunately, for the Giants the reserves have come through handsomely during Irvin's absence. On Saturday, it was Hoot Evers' pinch hit homer in the ninth that brought victory to the Giants. Yesterday, it was homers by pinch hitters Bobby Hofman and Dusty Rhodes that gave the Giants a thrilling 7-6 triumph.

Irvin managed to get into each game—as a pinch hitter. He walked on Saturday but yesterday he rapped into bases-loaded double play that put an abrupt end to a Giant uprising. The 35-year-old left fielder now has gone to bat 25 straight times without making a long.

hit. His average, as a result, has dropped to .243.

Durocher was discussing Irvin's sad plight and today, prior to the finale of the four game series with the Redbirds, and what effect Monte's absence might have on the club.

"It's killing me to keep him out," Leo groaned, "but the poor fellow was killing himself by staying in. Besides, he was killing me, too."

Durocher said he didn't know how much longer he'd have Irvin sit it out.

Yesterday marked the seventh straight game in which Irvin went hitless.

"I can't explain it," he said as he sadly shook his head. "I've always been a slow starter ever since I came up to the big leagues. But I've never been this bad this long."

Jameson Beats Suggs in Finals of Golf Tourney

Texan Now Is Rated Strong Threat for Women's Open

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — Betty Jameson, breaking the runner-up habit with a stunning victory in the Women's Western Open, takes aim at the National Open for women at Salem, Mass., July 1-3 with renewed confidence.

The 37-year-old veteran from San Antonio, Tex., won her first tournament in 18 months Saturday with a 6 and 5 triumph over defending champion Louise Suggs in the scheduled 36-hole final of the Western Open.

Since winning the Miami Beach Open in the winter of 1953, Miss Jameson had finished second in three of her last four tournaments before taking the $1,000 first prize Saturday.

"I played as well in defeating Louise as I have ever played," she said. "But the National Open will be tough. There are several other contestants who also are playing their best golf at this time."

"But I was beginning to wonder if I ever would win another tourney. The victory in the Western Open did me a lot of good."

Miss Jameson won the National Open in 1947 and was runner-up in 1946 and again in 1952 when Miss Suggs beat her out. She finished fourth in 1953.

Miss Suggs missed a chance to become the first five-time winner of the Western Open as Betty avenged a 5 and 4 licking by Louise in the 1949 final. It was Betty's second Western victory. She won in 1942.

Saturday she was two-under-par for the 31 holes required. Miss Suggs found trouble in traps and the heavy rough.

Penn Grad Wins Top Spot in Great Eastern Shoot

STRATFORD, Conn. June 21 (AP) — James S. Williams, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, who wants to be a doctor, Sunday won the all-gauge championship in the 22nd annual Great Eastern skeet shoot after defeating C. J. Crites, a Detroit manufacturer, in an extra round shoot-off.

Williams won by a score of 124 to 123. He entered the shoot-off tied with Crites, at 100x100 apiece. But Crites missed two targets out of 25 while Williams missed one.

Crites is a member of the Detroit gun club "Wreckers" which took the team championship with 487x500.

Mrs. Carol Mandel, wife of the owner of a chain store system, took the women's over-all championship with 367x400 and the women's individual championship with 99x100.

Dick Shaughnessy of Dedham, Mass., won his eighth men's high over-all title with 384x400.

Other results:

Sub junior champion—Paul van Duyse, Ottawa, Canada, 89x100.

Junior champion — George H. Hodges Jr., Jacksonville, Fla., 97x100.

Senior champion — R. R. Bogie, Loon Lake, N. Y., 98x100.

Parent and child—Dr. Ward Williams and A. A. Williams, Rochester, N. Y., 193x200.

Husband and wife—Col. and Mrs. Leon Mandel, 191x200.

Service team champions—Westover Field, Mass., 484x500.

Five man team champions—Detroit Gun Club, 487x500.

Today's Identity

This veteran sandlotter started his baseball career in Cleveland in 1915, but competed in Pontiac's Class A City League for nearly a decade. Though he confines his sports nowadays to bowling and fishing, city baseball fans will remember Jack Bender as he appeared in baseball attire in 1942.

REPEATER! — Catching big bass on opening day is becoming a routine matter for Max H. Waltrup, 26, (above) of 28111 Dartmouth, Royal Oak. Last year Waltrup landed a 6½-pound largemouth while spin-fishing opening day off a weedbed near the southwest shore of the larger of two islands in Lakeville Lake.

He repeated again Saturday. This time—fishing with the same bait (minnows) as last year and within 200 yards of the same spot—he pulled in a five-pounder. It's not known whether Waltrup will score again in 1955. But one thing is certain. You'll find him fishing the southwest shore of that larger island on opening day.

NY Garden Finale Winner Expects Shot at Saddler

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Saddler's next title opponent probably will emerge from Friday's Madison Square Garden bout between featherweights Lulu Perez of Brooklyn, and Percy Bassett of Philadelphia. The New York State Athletic Commission will recognize the winner as the outstanding challenger.

It's a network radio (ABC and television (NBC) show. The Friday show closes the regular season at the garden although there will be periodic Wednesday shows during the summer. The Friday schedule will resume in the first week of September.

The Monday rivalry continues with Frankie Ryff, young New York lightweight prospect, boxing Brian Kelly of Niagara Falls, Ont., at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway (ABC-TV) and Pedro Gonzalez of Rankin, Pa., meeting Italo Scottichini of Italy at St. Nicholas Arena (DuMont).

Ray Arcel's Saturday night series (ABC-TV) again features Carman Basilio from Syracuse, N. Y., against Al Andrews of Superior Wis., who recently went 10 rounds to a draw with Joe Miceli.

Paulie Andrews of Buffalo, N. Y., and Danny Nardone of Tampa, Fla., respectively No. 7 and No. 8 in the lightweight class, do their stuff Wednesday from the Chicago Stadium (CBS-TV).

Rain Again Halts Races

For the 3rd time in the last 5 scheduled programs, rain washed out activities Sunday at the Pontiac M-59 Speedway. Track manager Don Pike has re-scheduled the big 50-lap state championship hardtop race until next Sunday.

The usual Wednesday and Friday cards will precede the title test with Land O'Lakes hardtops running Wednesday and an old model stock and non-Ford show slated Friday.

Five-Man Team Picked to Tour Scandinavia During July

ST. LOUIS, June 21 (AP) — A five-man team, picked by the National AAU Track and Field Committee, left here today to take part in meets in Scandinavia during the next month.

Dan J. Farris, secretary of the AAU, said the fact the men had their passports in order for immediate departure figured in their selection.

The team members are James Lea, Los Angeles Athletic Club, 440-yard run; Ernie Shelton, Los Angeles AC, high jump; Frank Heid, San Francisco Olympic Club, javelin throw; Harry Bright New York Pioneer Club, 440-yard hurdles and 880-yard run, and Leonard Spurrier, San Francisco Olympic Club, 880-yard run and mile run.

They are scheduled to take part in meets at Copenhagen, Denmark, June 24-25, Oslo, Norway, June 28-29, Helsinki, Finland, July 15, plus other meets in Sweden during July.

Hal Boyle Says:

As Attractions, Cathedrals Rate Above Restaurants

PARIS (U-P) — Leaves from a touring notebook:
Cooking is a form of poetry in France, and her fine restaurants are almost as famous as her great cathedrals.

But the average tourist coming here isn't a gourmet on a pilgrimage to a culinary paradise. He just wants a good meal that is typical of the country.

To many a diet-starved American there is no greater taste thrill here than big chunks of tough-crusted French bread spread half an inch deep with yellow Normandy butter.

It takes a man back to the days of childhood, when coming home hungry from play, bread was the golden good.

A French waiter, watching a group of us put down plate after plate of the wonderful bread here, asked:

"Don't you have bread in the United States?"
It was a hard question to answer.

In Germany the best food buy is bratwurst. It is a section of pork sausage about a foot long and so heavy it takes two small boys to lift one.

This Teutonic hot dog is broiled over a charcoal fire and served with a bun, costs less than two bits.

Owners of American baseball clubs wishing to lure fans back to the ball parks might try replacing their present anemic hot dogs with these St. Bernard lengths of bratwurst. After downing one, a fan would be too sleepily satisfied to complain about the quality of the mustard—or the pitching.

The U. S. Army garrisons on the continent of Europe still live pretty much to themselves, creating small islands of America largely isolated from the life of the country around them.

The same people meet the same people everyday, and get as bored with each other sometimes as do the members of some country club sets back home.

"It might have been necessary to do this right after the war," said an officer. "But the war has been over a long time now."

"We are making a mistake by not getting out and mixing more with the people of the country in which we are stationed. They represent the fact we don't. We need all the friends we can make—and you don't make friends just talking to yourself."

Along with the group of former war correspondents who visited the beaches of Normandy ten years after the landings was a key invasion figure, Benjamin A. Dickson, who had an unusual story to recall.

Dickson, 57, a retired colonel from Paoli, Pa., was chief intelligence officer of the U. S. Army on D-Day, June 6, 1944.

"During the landings a copy of our battle plan was washed overboard and floated to a section of the beach held by the Germans," he said.

"They recovered it. Here they had a document giving the actual battle lineup of our invasion forces—an intelligence agent's dream. But the document was so complete and detailed they thought it must be a trick to fool them, and they failed to act on it."

American staff officers had expected 35,000 casualties in the first few days of the invasion.

"Actually we had fewer—about

28,000," said Dickson. "But had the enemy accepted on its face value this battle plan that had accidentally fallen into their hands, they could have quickly moved reinforcements down from Calais, and I'd hate to think about the result."

"But they couldn't believe their own good luck. They were afraid it was a trap."

That's always the problem, in war or peace—what can a man believe?

Judge Understands Man With Literary Tendency

BOSTON (U-P) — Municipal Court Judge Elijah Adlow listened to the testimony of Fred White, 60, and acquitted him of a charge that he kicked his upstairs neighbor. White said that at the time of the alleged offense he was reading a book — "Policemen and the People." Written by Judge Elijah Adlow.

The judge counseled White. "Why don't you move from where you live—and take my book with you?"

'Mrs. Peepers' Is One of Five

Pat Benoit in Cast at Pit and Balcony; Project of 2 Michigan Men

By HAZEL A. TRUMBUE

SAGINAW—For these summer months, the road for New York's TV stars leads straight to Saginaw for the Great Lakes Drama Festival in the Pit and Balcony Theater.

Traveling that road to their summer "playland" are Pat Benoit, "Mrs. Peepers," Edward Everett Horton, Frank McHugh, Minnie Jo Curtis and June Henry—all because two young Michigan men refused to be daunted in their dream for a professional summer stock company.

Embarked on their second season, 12 weeks of legitimate theater opened this past week in Saginaw and will run through Sept. 4.

Such Broadway favorites as The Moon Is Blue (June 21-26); But Not Goodbye (June 28-July 5); Arsenic and Old Lace (July 5-10); Come Back Little Sheba (July 12-17); Gigi (July 19-24); Goodbye My Fancy (July 26-31) Ah Wilderness (Aug. 2-7); Summer Smoke (Aug. 9-14); Affairs of State (Aug. 16-21); Glad Tidings (Aug. 23-28) are scheduled.

And the season will be climaxed with Voice of the Turtle (Aug. 30-Sept. 4).

Summer theaters are not born in a day.

A case in point—the story of Frank A. Picard II, son of Detroit's Judge Picard and now an executive with WWJ-TV, and Kenneth E. Schwartz, co-founders and co-directors of the Great Lakes Drama Festival.

Fellow students in the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, Picard and Schwartz conceived their own theater idea between classes and after school. Schwartz retrospects that those planning sessions were generously endowed with what he chooses to call, "the blessing of ignorance."

"Little did we know," said Schwartz, "that it takes money, the location, the facilities, the know-how, the casting and a thousand and one other details that come only from experience."

Acting experience, they decided, should be a requisite in the embryonic development of directors—consequently they began knocking hard on theater doors.

Both landed roles in summer stock, with Picard in the Boothbay Playhouse in Maine, and Schwartz in the Provincetown Theater, New York.

During five seasons of summer stock, they worked with Charles Laughton in Galileo; the late John Garfield in Skipper Next to God and in Temporary Island with Vera Zorina and Ernest Truex.

Picard, in the meantime, became a law student at the University of Michigan and Schwartz, wanting we knew that Michigan offered a terrific potential for a successful professional theater and when we found the Pit and Balcony Theater in Saginaw, we knew we had a natural locale," said Schwartz.

This theater was built by a Saginaw group who use it throughout the winter months for their own local productions.

"We have never planned to get rich off summer theater," said Schwartz, "otherwise we would not cast Equity top stars and we would select low royalty plays instead of the best available."

A New York TV director by winter, this summer finds Schwartz whipping into peak performance eight actors out of the 200 he interviewed (all professionals and members of Equity), and 97 he auditioned.

Collectively this year's cast has seen 30 successful Broadway plays.

The Great Lakes Drama Festival draws an audience from not only the local theatergoers in Saginaw, but last year sold seats to hundreds from all parts of Michigan interested in attending professional summer stock performances.

Thief Uses Mine Shaft to Abandon Stolen Cars

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—Fourteen badly damaged stolen automobiles have been found in an abandoned mine shaft near this anthracite city.

Police arrested John O'Boyle, 20, of nearby Plymouth yesterday in connection with the thefts.

Police Chief Larry Kendig said the youth had used the mine pit to dispose of cars during the last seven months. He said O'Boyle had several hundred dollars worth of automobile accessories in the basement of his home.

One Belligerent Squirrel Yields to 2 Policemen

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—It took two policemen flailing heartily with night sticks to dispatch a belligerent squirrel here yesterday.

The squirrel had attacked Mrs. Bessie Wilson of Indianapolis in her yard, biting her on the leg. Then it routed a dog that walked by.

More than one-third the passenger automobiles in the U. S. are more than 10 years old and almost 2 per cent are 19 or more years old.

Twister Twirls Pooch

LONG GROVE, Iowa (AP)—A tornado apparently whisked a dog several miles through the air, then put him down unhurt.

Basil Hilton, Long Grove farmer, said his shepherd dog, "Bob", went to his bed in the garage. The twister picked up the garage and carried it away. After the storm there was no sign of Bob. But two hours later he was at the door, frightened and whining, Hilton said.
