

Keego Harbor Youth Killed by Hit-Run Boater

Death Ends an Ambitious Life

ALAN AKERLEY

Alan Akerley was an ambitious youth. A high school dropout who realized his mistake, he was working nights at Fisher Body Division and going to school to obtain his high school diploma, so he could get a better job.

His journey on the path to success was cut short last night by the thrashing blades of a power boat propeller.

Alan lived with his brother in a rented cottage on the eastern shore of Cass Lake in Keego Harbor. His landlady described him as a polite, well-mannered boy. Just a few hours before his death he had been over to pay the rent, she said.

Alan left many friends in Keego Harbor, where he had lived most of his life. A group of them were assembled at Keego Recreation Tuesday afternoon. They were quiet.

NO ENEMIES

"He was a real nice guy," said one. "He never had an enemy in the world."

Alan attended Scott elementary school and Cray Jr. high before entering Waterford high school when his family moved to Waterford township.

They moved back to Keego Harbor two years later and Alan entered West Bloomfield High School. He was a junior there when he dropped out.

Alan wasn't a good swimmer, his friends said. In fact, he didn't enjoy swimming much because of ear trouble, which prevented him from putting his head under water.

CHANGE MINDS

But he and Sheila Brennan and their friends decided to go swimming last night instead of taking a boat ride because of a threat of rain.

"He thought the world of her," said Mrs. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Police Block Cass Lake to Find Suspects

Craft With Spotlight
Rams Into Swimmer
in Marked-Off Area

A late evening swim ended in death for a Keego Harbor youth when he was rammed by a hit-and-run power craft on Cass Lake yesterday.

It was the second hit and run boating accident in the county in less than a month.

A systematic search of the lake, the largest in the county, was being conducted today by scores of police from the area in an attempt to find the boat.

Killed while swimming in the marked-off "safety" area at Dodge State Park No. 4 was Alan Louis Akerley, 2184 Park Circle. He would have celebrated his 21st birthday Aug. 14.

Lt. Donald Kratt, director of the Sheriff's Water Safety Division, was told by Akerley's companion, Sheila Brennan, 17, of 125 Chestnut, Bloomfield Township, that he yelled "watch out," and shoved her underwater just as the craft was about to hit them.

She said the boat was only a few feet away when she went under.

BOAT FLEES

When she surfaced, Akerley had disappeared and the boat, described as brown in color and possibly a "Chris Craft," was speeding away in a westerly direction. It was about 9:30 p.m.

Deputies and police from the State, Sylvan Lake, Keego Harbor, Waterford and West Bloomfield Townships, along with state park rangers were able to obtain several of the numbers of the boat's registration after questioning witnesses, according to Kratt.

These have been sent to Lansing by teletype so owner records can be checked, Kratt said.

Miss Brennan told police that the boat made "several passes" through the swimming area, shining a large spotlight on a handful of bathers, before it hit Akerley.

LIGHT SHINING

She said the light was shining directly on her and Akerley when it came toward them.

There were four to six persons in the craft, according (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

CHECK TRACKS—Police are shown studying tire tracks where a boat may have been removed from Cass Lake while they were searching for a hit-and-run craft that killed a Keego Harbor youth last night. Residents in the area of Oregon and Chipman, Waterford Township, said they heard noises at the landing about 2 a.m. today. The launching area is on Gerundegut Bay. Police believe the hit-run craft is still in or near the lake.

Peyronnell, 44-year-old father of three children, managed a weak wave to the bystanders and was greeted with another loud cheer.

In less than an hour, five of the men had reached the surface.

An engineer was sent down in the capsule before the first rescue. He helped put the men aboard and instructed them how to stand in it for the 250-foot ride to the surface.

Warning Made to Viet Reds Salinger Gets Senate Post Left by Clair Engle's Death

U. S. Protest Stresses
'Grave Consequences'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States warned Communist North Viet Nam today of "grave consequences" if any further unprovoked attacks are made against U.S. military forces.

State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said the American protest was sent to the American Embassy in Saigon for "transmittal to the North Viet Nam regime through appropriate channels."

It is the first such U.S. communication directly to the Red regime, with which this country has no diplomatic ties.

Communication channels exist at the Saigon headquarters of the International Control Commission (ICC) composed of India, Canada and Poland.

OTHER ORDERS

The protest was a sternly worded follow-up to the orders from President Johnson yesterday to beef up U.S. Naval forces off Viet Nam and to destroy any forces attacking them.

A U.S. destroyer fought off three PT boats in the Jonkia Sea Sunday.

In the wake of Johnson's orders, the giant U.S. aircraft carrier Constellation and three other vessels sailed hurriedly from Hong Kong today.

Sees Sterilization Program as Own 'War on Poverty'

NEW YORK (AP) — "I feel there's a need," says Jesse Hartman.

That's how he explains why he put up $25,000 for a voluntary sterilization program among Appalachia's poor in Kentucky.

"You can't keep up with the building of insane asylums and hospitals and schools," Hartman says.

"You can't keep up with the demands for relief, all caused by the hordes of people unborn."

ONLY HOPE

"Where is the safety valve? The only hope lies in closing off the demand. Is there an answer? Are we too late?"

His laughter booms. "I sound like a prophet of doom, don't I?"

Hartman is big, white-thatched and ebullient. He made his pile, as he puts it, in industrial real estate. He lives in Stamford, Conn. keeps offices in Stamford and New York, has a second home in Palm Beach, Fla.

SHRUGGED OFF

He shrugs off his philanthropies as if slightly embarrassed. "I'm sitting on the top of the heap. I can afford to be magnanimous."

Hartman, father of a married daughter, and grandfather of two, says he's been worried for some time about the population explosion, particularly among the poor.

"People talk about poverty. Well, this is another tool to fight poverty," he says.

MAN OF ACTION

Like his hero, Theodore Roosevelt, he wants to be a man of action.

"I've had it in mind right along," Hartman said in an interview, and last fall in New York he approached the Humane Betterment Association for Voluntary Sterilization, which now is administering the Kentucky project.

"I said 'Let's see what a one-man crusade can do.'"

"Numerically, I'm not doing anything. But I'm tired of all this theory, this research. I want to see direct action."

The Kentucky project will be reviewed at the end of six months. If it's considered successful, Hartman will continue footing the bills until enough other funds are available to carry on, hopefully in a year.

"The committee administering the program, they aren't like the people you see doing good works sitting behind desks," said Hartman. "This group—they work so hard and they're so dedicated."

"And the people down there, we're trying to help have a certain dignity. They have a fierce self-respect, if I can put it that way."

BIG FAMILIES

He talks about big families living in shacks, on a few hundred dollars annual income, with a child coming every year into a world that holds nothing for him.

He stops a moment and looks sheepish. "You can see I've become quite serious about it — and I don't like it."

A lot of mail has come his way since the project started, Hartman says. "Some say I'm crazy or a do-gooder, but most approve."

Another Milestone in Space Exploration

The successful performance of Ranger 7 marks another milestone along the route of Yankee exploration of space and expansion of scientific knowledge leading to it.

Although the Russians succeeded in photographing the moon five years ago, the achievement of our space marvel, after failure of six previous attempts, is more advanced and noteworthy in many respects.

The four-year $260 million Ranger program has produced close-in lunar pictures 1,000 times better than any made heretofore from American spacecraft or with earth telescopes.

Significantly, Ranger moves America a long step forward in preparation for the $20 billion manned expedition to the moon, tentatively scheduled for 1970.

A timely explanation of the U. S. lag behind Russia in space technology was just given by Dr. Edward Teller, nuclear physicist and professor-at-large at University of California, when he told the graduating class at Flint's General Motors Institute that though America was ahead of the Reds in the field of pure science, she had trailed in some aspects of applied science.

Recent events indicate that we are rapidly narrowing the gap in the latter area while still enjoying a viable and expanding national economy—something the Kremlin bosses were unable to achieve as the country's space program was given priority over industrial and agricultural development and the consumer needs of the people.

Safety Belts....

Indiana State Police say that both WILLIE GALIMORE and JOHN FARRINGTON would probably be alive today had they worn safety belts. Officials estimate that approximately 12,000 out of the 40,000 doomed to die in 1964 in automobile accidents would live with safety belts.

This might include YOU.
It might be some of your family.

Mark Anniversary of Eruption of WWI

Fifty years ago today World War I was triggered when a German cavalryman and a French sentry were killed in an exchange of shots near Belfort, France.

The pretext for the war was the assassination of the Archduke of Austria-Hungary a month before. But historians say the war would have eventuated anyway. Europe in 1914 was drunk with militarism.

Germany's war plan had been drawn up years earlier and involved the violation of the neutral states of Belgium and Holland.

Early successes of the Germans were minimized by ill-advised strategy by the high command, and the advance toward Paris was stopped short in the famous four-day battle at the Marne.

At the outset, the German army of 2 million men was opposed by a French force of 1.3 million. Subsequently, the British joined the French with an initial expeditionary force of 160,000 men. The war eventually spread to 28 countries of six continents.

The struggle introduced the widespread use of the machine gun and heavy mortars and howitzers. It also innovated the massive war of the trenches at the cost of an entire generation of English, French and Germans—more than 8.5 million dead in all. It gave the world poison gas, the tank, the land mine, the flame thrower and aerial warfare.

But worse, it ended in an inconclusive peace and a settlement that made a second world war almost inevitable.

Barry to Stress TV, Base States

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON—Sen. Barry Goldwater's Republican presidential campaign will rely heavily on television and hit hard at states where the Arizona already has a strong base of support.

And through it all, the Goldwater forces will be quietly watching the issue of civil rights in the North. On that score, they plan now to be silent.

For, although men around Goldwater have said in the past that the so-called white backlash in Northern states could mean votes for their man next November, they have hastened to add that the question will not be a completely quiet one.

Goldwater, genuinely concerned about its explosive implications, is doing his best to keep it that way.

The lessons of the long primary campaign are much in the minds of Goldwater's men as they map strategy for the coming race against President Johnson.

Three states stand out: New Hampshire, Oregon and California.

TALKED CONSTANTLY

In New Hampshire, where he lost the nation's first primary to Henry Cabot Lodge, Goldwater was a candidate who talked constantly, who for a time held all most daily news conferences.

He wound up tired and constantly plagued by demands that he explain to the voters remarks he had made on Social Security, on the United Nations and on a variety of other subjects.

In the wake of that defeat, the Goldwater forces tightened their planning, turned to prepared speeches instead of off-the-cuff talks with small groups of voters, and sharply cut the candidate's news conference appearances.

The senator said later he suffered in New Hampshire from overexposure to the press.

ESCHewed WHISTLE-STOP

The pattern Goldwater's men seek to shape is the one they followed in California, where the senator eschewed the whistle-stop style of vote-hunting, took his message to the voters in an intensive series of television appearances—most of them on tape or film—and made his personal appearances at a series of major rallies.

Together, the California and Oregon primaries signal the third key factor in current campaign planning. Goldwater's forces figured in advance the Oregon primary was lost, and they called off the senator's personal campaign there.

Instead, they concentrated time and money on the California primary. And in California, they worked hardest at the southern areas where Goldwater appeared strongest.

And Goldwater, won-on Southern California votes. Now his strategists are talking of an effort to secure Goldwater's bases of strength—in the Western, Rocky Mountain and Midwestern states, and perhaps some Southern states—early in the presidential campaign.

Goldwater has worked hard to mute the issue of civil rights tensions during the presidential race. The senator said last Wednesday neither he nor Johnson will bring into the campaign the question of the so-called white backlash against the civil rights movement in the North.

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Should Act on Race Riots

WASHINGTON—From all over the country comes word that people are wondering why the President and the Congress in Washington are doing virtually nothing about the violence and disorder—the looting and the thievery—which have been going on in some of the principal cities of the nation under the guise of expressing racial resentments.

The quick answer given by administration officials is that this is a local matter for the states or for cities.

But only a few weeks ago the American people were told that racial relations "affect interstate commerce," and that this was the main reason for passing the civil rights law.

Not only have the latest riots involved public places of business—interfering with commerce—but the hotels in New York City report many cancellations of reservations made by would-be customers from several states.

Indeed, civil rights are being taken away daily from innocent citizens.

There are threats, moreover, to limit the activities of the local police and lodge authority in civilian boards in the cities to review and reverse the acts of the police on grounds of alleged "brutality."

NOTHING DONE

But nothing is being done to discourage resistance to arrest. If police officers were obeyed, there would be no occasion for disputes about "brutality."

President Johnson has made some generalized statements about the race riots, but he hasn't put the finger of blame on the basic trouble—the theory of civil disobedience which lately has been acclaimed by some white and Negro preachers and organizations to such an extent that the word has spread down through all the Negro communities that it's all right to attack the police.

It was Adlai Stevenson who, in a public speech, recently said the gang to jail in connection with "demonstrations" has come to be regarded as "no longer a dishonor but a proud achievement."

The Congress has watched with dismay the various race riots, and the President has spoken of them as regrettable.

However, about as far as Mr. Johnson has gone is to make this declaration after the Rochester, N. Y., riots.

"When machinery does not exist to redress grievances, it is understandable that those who are aggrieved will take to the streets, whether rightly or wrongly."

"Their judgments might be wrong as to how justice could be obtained, but they would be less or more than human if they did not seek justice."

The administration here has hardly as yet begun to realize the effects of the bitterness and resentment which are sweeping the country as city after city is being subjected to violence and disorders in the name of civil rights demonstrations.

The federal power is being invoked to forbid discrimination in employment and public accommodations on the ground of race or color, but it is also discriminatory to allow civil rights to be taken away from white or colored people by means of riots and mob violence.

Hemingway Estate Stays Free of Fidel Party Line

HAVANA—Did a piece the other day on a visit to Finca La Vigia, the pleasant place in nearby San Francisco de Paula where Ernest Hemingway lived and died 25 years of his life.

Thought you might be interested in a bit more about the estate, which Hemingway's widow, "Miss Mary," left to the Castro government with the understanding that nothing would be touched, or tainted by the official party line.

Caretaker, Rene Villareal, who thought of the Hemingways as his Papa and foster mother, appears to have as much to say about who comes and goes by the master's old domain as does the Castro government.

Rene doesn't like people poking around. He particularly doesn't like people plucking books out of the bookcases that line all of the five rooms of the main house.

If a man is known by his books, this is the kind of a man the Nobel Prize winner was. The last book he was reading in his favorite easy chair in the living room was "Give Me a Ship to Sail" by Alan Villiers. The last book he was reading in bed was Bob Ruark's "Poor No More."

White Backlash Big in Chicago

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
CHICAGO (NEA)—"I'm voting Republican for president and so are three others in my family."

The words, uttered—by a normally Democratic civil servant, were those of a Polish-American deeply upset by the influx of Negroes into his area of this city.

They are pure "backlash." And they reflect a sentiment that seems to be flowing in particularly great volume since the Republican convention in San Francisco.

As of today, the white backlash is very real in Chicago, and it looks big. Reports of it are engulfing a variety of political headquarters. They come from city sectors inhabited by citizens of Polish, Italian, German, Ukrainian and Lithuanian descent.

With the towers of Chicago's Loop rising just a few miles away, this reporter sat in the office of a prominent Polish-American politician and lawyer—anonymous here—and heard him discuss his sentiments candidly.

He describes the Polish-Americans he sees in great numbers as shocked by heavy Negro incursions. Their present mood, obviously, is one of political revolt.

But he does not think the Democrats have yet completely

Another Writes of Noise Caused by Motorcyclists

What is wrong with "Disgusted Huron Streeter"? Doesn't he realize that it doesn't matter if her baby is awakened at 3 a.m. by motorcycle noise? The lads on the motorcycles must not be deprived of their fun, fun, fun.

Who are we to complain—it's only the sick in the hospitals, the mothers and small children, the men who have to get up to go to work who are being disturbed. But what do they matter? Isn't everyone supposed to drag race and roar around the entire city all night?

The police in Pontiac must think so. Not much is done in spite of repeated pleadings. Just plug your ears, suffocate with closed windows and pray they will go away so you can get at least three hours of sleep before the alarm goes off.

Criticize VOP Signed 'Knows the Truth'

I am astonished and disappointed to see an anonymous letter allowed in the VOP column so bigoted as the one signed "Knows the Truth."

"The truth shall make you free," and the writer of that letter is not free. He is chained by bigotry and prejudice and fear and jealousy. Until he can see all human beings as individuals with a direct line of decency from God, that writer will be enslaved by his own guilt complex. The prisoner must have a jailer and neither are free.

JANIE C. PACE
75 S. JOHNSON

"Knows the Truth" in The Press VOP column set forth text in direct contradiction of his signature. It would appear that truth was again dishonored by abysmal ignorance of the type which screams hatred, bigotry, anti-semitism, Hitlerism, man's inhumanity to man and every other, non-Christian attitude you could name.

If there be a guilt complex it falls not on the shoulders of a minority group of any color but rather should mantle the hearts of individuals who think they know the truth yet raise their voices loudly in vilification of others. Life is so fleeting... how much better if we could each light one candle of love before we leave. The world then would be so much brighter for posterity.

I was enthused about The Press editorial on Barry Goldwater until a VOP writer stated that it's the first time in 30 years he could make a choice. And so thinking back 30 years I remembered the soup lines and Hoover times. Suddenly I got butterflies in my stomach and my enthusiasm waned.

lost most of these people for November.

Much depends, he says, on what sort of civil rights plank the Democrats hammer into their platform at Atlantic City, how well they explain the often-misconstrued 1964 civil rights law, what President Johnson does in the months ahead, and how the Negroes behave in the public streets.

In Chicago, as in Milwaukee, Detroit, Cleveland, Philadelphia and other northern industrial centers, the real core of national minorities' distress over racial change is in the housing field.

The threat these people feel is far more to their homes than to their jobs. To them, the home is the vital symbol of all they have gained in America.

The lawyer-politician, interrupting his comments now and then to chatter in Polish over the telephone, says:

"They see themselves losing all they have built. Poles, more than most people, own their own homes. When they came to this country they used the first thousand dollars they saved to buy a home, often taking second and even third mortgages. Then they worked night and day to pay off those mortgages."

To these folks the Negro influx spells just one thing—decline. They believe firmly that they have eyeball evidence of it. They are convinced that Negroes let their properties run down, never painting or repairing, or otherwise caring for them.

There is a bitter joke going the rounds of Chicago's Polish-American areas. This is it:

"A modern-day Paul Revere is with us. He's riding up and down Milwaukee Avenue shouting 'The Negroes Are Coming!'"

The problem hits the national minorities in many ways. They have no wish to move. They cherish their homes, their costly churches, their long-time neighbors, their familiar shopping streets.

Beyond this, moving usually means to them a drastic economic setback. It means going from a mortgage-free home, or even modernized inside, to a new place twice as costly that may saddle them with debt for the rest of their lives.

Their response to this prospect is: "Why should we have to go into debt again when we have worked so hard and long to get clear of it?"

This, says the Polish lawyer-politician, is just "too much all at one time for these people to comprehend."

And that is why many are preparing to vote for Sen. Barry Goldwater as the only protest they know how to make.

Missouri, Kansas, Idaho Holding Elections

LBJ Supporter Facing Stiff Fight in Primary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three states hold primary elections today, with Rep. Richard Bolling, a strong supporter of the Johnson administration on the powerful House Rules Committee, facing a stiff fight in Missouri.

Bolling's battle and primary contests for gubernatorial nominations in Missouri and Kansas hold the limelight.

Idaho also has a primary with Democratic incumbent Rep. Ralph Harding and Compton I. White unopposed for renomination.

Bolling, a liberal who for many years was the lead speaker Sam Rayburn's spokesman on the rules committee, is opposed by a conservative, Judge Hunter Phillips of the Jackson County Court. The district is in Kansas City.

HST SUPPORT

ager. Bolling has solid support from organized labor.

Phillips is backed by five splinter groups of the old Kansas City Democratic machine of Tom Pendergast.

Missouri Lt. Gov. Hilary A. Bush and state House Majority Leader Warren E. Hearnes head a five-man field seeking the Democratic nomination for governor. Ethan Shepley of St. Louis and William B. Ewald of Kirkwood are among four Republican hopefuls.

Retiring Gov. John M. Dalton is ineligible for reelection.

OPONENTS

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., has two little-known opponents, while Republicans are picking between Jean Paul Bradshaw and Morris D. Duncan.

Two Republican congressmen are unopposed for renomination.

while seven incumbent Democrats have opposition.

In Kansas, eight Republicans are running for governor, including Rep. William H. Avery, who resigned as a member of the House Rules Committee. Other GOP hopefuls include Mc Dill Boyd, a close runner up in 1960, Lt. Gov. Harold Chase, Atty. Gen. William M. Ferguson and State Senate President Paul Wunsch.

STATE AIDES

Former State Treasurer George Hart and Corporation Commissioner Harry G. Wiles are among six Democratic candidates.

Two-term Republican Gov. John Anderson is not seeking reelection.

In House contests in Kansas, four men are trying for the GOP nomination to succeed Avery, while Rep. Garner Shriver has one Republican primary opponent. The other three Republican incumbents are unopposed.

Nikita to Vacation Before Red Summit

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

JUST BEFORE THE BATTLE Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will spend the time between now and the meeting of 26 leading Communist parties on an inspection tour of Soviet agricultural areas and a brief Black Sea coast vacation.

Leonid Brezhnev, touted as Khrushchev's personal choice of successor, and other leading members of the ruling Presidium already are on vacation in advance of the important meeting which is expected to take the first steps toward ending Red China out of international communism.

On other items, such as the German problem, spread of nuclear weapons and the Soviet debt to the United Nations, the Russians appear determined to mark time until after the British and American elections.

CYPRUS POWDERKEG

President Archbishop Makarios apparently believes he holds most of the winning cards in the Cyprus dispute, an attitude which London diplomats say could spark a fresh international crisis this summer.

Makarios is refusing to make any concessions to the island's Turkish minority and Turkey is not likely to take it lying down. The chances of a surprise Russian invasion seem to have gone.

But the danger is that Turkey, disappointed at what it calls a let-down by her major allies, may loosen her ties with the Western alliance. Already there is talk of Turkey considering aid from Russia.

FRANCE, SATELLITES

French President Charles de Gaulle is reported pleased with the cordial atmosphere created by the visit of Romanian Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer and to feel similar cordial relations could be established with other East European satellite leaders.

His next invitation may be to Polish top Communist Wladyslaw Gomułka or Czechoslovakia's No. 1 Antonin Novotny.

OIL TALKS

Algeria and France will resume their oil talks in Mid-August. These may result in creation of an Algerian national company for prospecting and exploiting Algeria's vast, still-untapped Sahara oil reserves in cooperation with French and other foreign companies which would be granted new prospecting licenses.

Such a "cooperative association," it is said, would ensure continued foreign know-how and at the same time satisfy Algerian nationalism.

MAY BE RIGHT

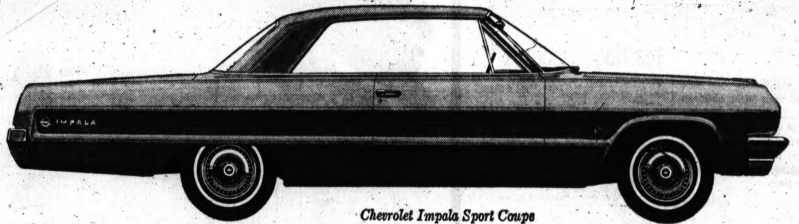

France's long-time ambassador to Washington Herve Alphand says he is getting tired of denying reports that he is to be moved to another post.

But Paris reports say that Alphand, who has held the Washington job since July 1956, is a likely candidate to replace Bonn Ambassador Roland de Margerie who has reached retirement age.

Charles Lucet, 54, political chief of the French Foreign Office, is being mentioned for the Washington post.

Sea Saga Is Over; Islander Due Home

PAGO PAGO, Samoa (UPI)—

A 30-year-old watermelon farmer was preparing today for his trip back to Tahiti—a trip he hopes will be faster than the sea journey that brought him to this South Pacific island.

Kernanhi Tepa left the island of Maupiti in Tahiti with a friend last February for nearby Bora Bora. That short trip of 23 miles led to a sea saga that ended 155 days later on the reef of a Samoa island with Tepa's friend dead.

Tepa has been under the care of the Rev. John W. Soli of the Christian Congregational Church on the island of Uau Manua since he arrived in Samoa July 6.

He has been pronounced fully recovered from his ordeal and is now awaiting transportation back to his home.

He left Maupiti with another watermelon farmer, Natua Raiho, in a small boat with four outboard motors for the trip to Bora Bora. But all of the motors failed before they reached Bora Bora and their boat started to drift westward.

Their food supply held out until March 7 and they used the last of their water two days later. But they managed to fashion a spear from a pair of scissors and a stick to catch fish and they collected rain water in a receptacle made of a rubber mat.

Raiho, however, succumbed to the rigors of the trip three days before the boat crashed on a reef off Uau Manua. Tepa buried his friend at sea.

Boy Fatally Injured

GRAND LEDGE (AP)—Paul Gordinier, 12, of Grand Ledge, was injured fatally Monday when he was struck by a truck while crossing M 44 four miles east of Grand Ledge. The driver of the truck was not held.

A mechanical blueberry picker—three men to do the work of—has been built that enables 120 hand pickers.

World's Fair Helps Mom Teach Values

NEW YORK (UPI)—The World's Fair Monday did its share in helping a Michigan housewife teach her three children that a penny saved is a penny earned.

It rolled out the red carpet for the five-member Keefe family of Niles, Mich., who visited the fair partially on the penny savings of the three children.

Woody H. Keefe, his wife Marie and their three children Kevin, 12, Barry, 10, and Kathy 8, of 1639 Sheridan drew the attention of fair officials last year when Mrs. Keefe wrote asking for information about the fair.

In her letter she mentioned she was trying to teach her children that "an experience as tremendous in their eyes as a trip to New York and the fair, doesn't just happen."

She said the children were paid for doing various chores around the house and in their neighborhood. They faithfully saved their pennies in an empty bleach bottle which bore a homemade inscription.

'PENNY THERE'
"Put a Penny There for the '64 Fair."

As part of her educational plot, Mrs. Keefe also mounted a map of eastern states on her kitchen wall and when the pennies were counted monthly it became a family ritual—the family's progress to the fair was calculated on how much gas they could buy for the family car.

Pins on the map were moved ahead 16 miles for every 30 pennies.

The fair decided that such industry deserved a reward. When the family finally arrived yesterday, admittedly spending more than the pennies in the bleach bottle, a World's Fair official acted as official host, treated the family to lunch and generally gave the Keefe family a royal treatment.

Legislator: Stock Offer 'Naive'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry B. Gonzales, D-Tex., says he refused an offer of $14,000 worth of bank stock but he feels it was the idea of a "naive businessman" and a local matter. "I cannot truthfully say it appeared to be part of any national lobbying attempt," Gonzales told the House Monday, interrupting a speech by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., describing the purported incident without giving any names.

Patman is chairman of the House Banking Committee, and Gonzales is a committee member.

Patman, praising "a member of my committee," told the story after saying that "anti-public action by the bankers' lobby" sometimes "takes the form of offering a congressman bank stock either free or at a cost greatly under the market value."

NO MONEY

Gonzales said "a very distinguished gentleman" from his San Antonio district called on him in Washington and suggested he become director of a bank. Gonzales said he told the man that directors are usually stockholders "and I didn't have any money."

He said his caller told him that $14,000 worth of stock would be available "and I didn't have to have any money."

"I stopped him at that point," Gonzales said. "I told him I would consider this an outright conflict of interest. I reminded him I was a member of the banking committee. He said he did not know this."

Gonzales said that "one of the troubles with businessmen is that they often can't tell the difference between the private and the public sector."

FINE EXAMPLE

After Gonzales finished, Patman and several other congressmen congratulated him. "I think it is a fine example that the gentleman from Texas has set," Patman said. "I know a lot of people wouldn't be so courageous."

Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, asked, "ought not more of us when we are tempted in public life make known our experience?"

Ceylon Won't Allow

Allies to Use Port

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Ceylon's government has decided to deny facilities at its airports and seaports to British and American ships and planes going to Malaysia on military missions against Indonesia, an official source said today.

The source said this decision resulted from the government's determination to preserve its policy of nonalignment, even though it is a member of the Commonwealth along with Britain and Malaysia.

Federal Workers, Military Assured of Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Practically all of Uncle Sam's employees — from Congress members to postmen and servicemen — are assured of fatter pay checks.

Congress approved Monday, and President Johnson is expected to sign quickly, a $207 million pay raise for the military.

And Senate and House conferees reached agreement on a $556 million increase for the 1.7 million classified civil service and postal workers, and top government officials, Congress members and federal judges.

CIVIL PAY BILL

The House plans to act today on the civil pay bill, which carries annual raises of $7,500 for Congressmen and $10,000 for Cabinet officials. The Senate was expected to act later in the day or Wednesday.

The increases for the armed forces, to take effect the first of next month, will be their second in a year as part of the new policy of reviewing servicemen's pay scales every year.

The House Armed Services Committee told the House it had omitted boosts for draftees and newly enlisted men because they are in training status and because they will receive three or four increases in their first 11 months of service due to promotions.

The pay bill agreed on by Senate and House conferees would be retroactive to the first pay period after July 1 for all but the members of Congress and high-level congressional employees. They must wait until next January for their raises.

LBJ SUPPORT

The President has strongly backed this measure, contending it is essential to retain key personnel in government.

The bill carries these annual increases:

$8,000 for the vice president and speaker of the house, which would raise them to $43,000.

$7,500 for members of Congress, to $36,000.

$10,000 for cabinet officers, to $35,000.

Up to $7,000 for other government executives, with a scale of $26,000 to $30,000.

$4,500 for the nine Supreme Court justices, to $40,000 for the chief justice and $39,500 for the others, and $7,500 for all other federal judges, including a scale of $30,000 for district judges and $33,000 for those on the Court of Appeals.

An average 4.3 per cent for $11 million classified workers, with a range of 2.7 to 22.5 per cent. The top level in civil service would go from $20,000 to $24,500.

An average of 5.6 per cent for 600,000 postal employees.

The gross national product of Nigeria has risen an average of 3.8 per cent annually since 1950.

Aquanauts Return to 'Strange' World

U.S. NAVAL STATION, Bermuda (UPI) — Four Navy aquanauts are getting reacquainted with life in a strange medium where birds fly but no fish swim.

Except for feeling a bit lost without the companionship of a couple of monstrous fish, named "Wally" and "George," the four men appear to be suffering no ill effects from an 11-day sojourn at the bottom of the sea.

In fact, according to Navy doctors, they are in fine condition. If they feel mildly claustrophobic, they have proved men can live amiably together and perform useful work down among the fishes, you can't blame them.

No other human beings have lived and worked at such depths for as long.

They even ate hot tamales, chili and beans, and drank something called apricot nectar 190 feet under water, and not only survived the ordeal but had fun doing so.

SARDINES FOR WALLY

They could have eaten sardines, but they parted with their stock of this edible to appease the appetite of Wally, a huge fish of the Grouper clan which got the notion they were kin of his.

The aquanauts came to the surface at 8 a.m. EDT Aug. 1 after a week and a half in a sea bottom motel known as Sealab-I, a 40-foot cylinder resembling a submarine on stilts.

The stills were legs which supported Sealab atop an ancient submarine volcano 30 miles off the southwest coast of Bermuda.

The Sealab experiment was sponsored by the Office of Naval Research to determine whether human beings could adapt to life on the ocean floor and perform everyday tasks there.

CALCULATED STAGES

The four men went down July 20 and came up last Saturday. The return to topside took three days and was carried out in carefully calculated stages to keep the aquanauts from suffering the ill effects of too-sudden decompression.

The aquanauts are Lt. Cmdr. Robert E. Thompson, 36, a Navy doctor living at Gales Ferry, Conn.; Gunner's Mate 1/C Lester E. Anderson, 31, of Uncasville, Conn.; Chief Quartermaster Robert A. Barth, 33, of Key West, Fla.; and Chief Hospital Corpsman Sanders W. Manning, 33, of Groton, Conn.

Astronaut Scott Carpenter, who flew three times around the world in space on May 24, 1962, was to have joined the aquanauts to pick up information on life in strange circumstances for the benefit of the U.S. lunar landing program.

But he received a broken arm in a traffic accident and was scratched.

TO STUDY PLANETS — This huge new radar telescope at the Arecibo Ionospheric Observatory in Puerto Rico may tell man for the first time whether or not there is life and movement on the planets. It is 1,000 feet in diameter and covers 18½ acres. Cables suspended from three concrete towers hold steel girder antenna in space 435 feet above the reflector.

Southern Backing Not as Widespread

Dems Like Humphrey in West, Midwest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic leaders in more than a dozen Midwestern and Western states today indicated their willingness to support Sen. Hubert Humphrey for vice president, but Southern backing for the Minnesota Democrat was not as widespread.

Results of a UPI survey showed that after President Johnson's elimination of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and other Cabinet officers, many governors, state chairmen and other party leaders preferred Humphrey over Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., or were willing to support the President's choice for a running mate.

Roger Kent, chairman designate of the California State General Committee, said that "Everything I see makes me think probably Humphrey and I couldn't be more pleased. This is not only my sentiment but what I find generally among California and other Western states' leadership."

Mrs. Maurine Bigert, Democratic national committeewoman for Nebraska, said that the state's 19-vote delegation felt that Humphrey would be fine with us. Hubert Humphrey would probably fill the bill very well."

Montana Democratic leaders indicated they were solidly behind Humphrey unless Sen. Mike Mansfield, Mont., became a candidate for the vice presidency.

HUMPHREY POPULARITY — In Utah, National Committeewoman Lucy Redd said she would support "the running mate Johnson chooses," but added that Humphrey is popular in the Mountain States.

Midwestern support of Humphrey is generally widespread among Democratic officeholders.

Wisconsin Gov. John Reynolds predicted Humphrey probably would receive the nomination and that Wisconsin Democrats would be "100 per cent" behind him.

Iowa Gov. Harold E. Hughes called Humphrey his personal choice and said he believed 70 per cent of the Iowa Democrats felt the same way.

WOULD RUN BETTER

Jack Graves, Kansas Democratic chairman, while indicating that Johnson should be completely free to choose his own running mate, said Humphrey would be as popular as any of the other candidates mentioned.

"I think he would probably run better than Bobby Kennedy in Kansas," he said. "But this is not to say Kennedy would not be popular."

Minnesota Gov. Karl R. Rolvaag said he was "confident" Humphrey will be Johnson's choice.

The governor, chairman of the state delegation, said he expected to effort within the delegation to press for McCarthy or Humphrey.

ALMOST CERTAIN

"We certainly are prepared to give Humphrey our support as it appears almost certain that he will be the President's choice," he said.

Both James Ronan, Illinois state Democratic chairman, and Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner said that it was up to Johnson to pick his own running mate. But indicated they would be pleased if someone from the Midwest received the nomination.

Kerner said a Midwesterner would "add strength to the ticket" while Henan suggested that Chicago Mayor Richard Daley or Gov. Matthew Welsh would be attractive candidates.

Southern Democratic leaders were more pronounced in undering that selection of the vice presidential candidate be left up to Johnson, and they expressed a preference for Humphrey.

Airline Flight Request Meets No Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — No opposition developed Monday at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing to an application of United Air Lines to operate direct service between Philadelphia and Detroit.

United now has temporary authority to begin or end at Philadelphia flights to and from Detroit and the west. It wants to make this permanent.

Peer Photo Linked to Charges

LONDON (UPI) — The London Daily Express today published on its front page a photograph of Lord Boothby, well known British peer, and Ronald Kray, a local nightclub owner, and identified it as the picture Lord Boothby linked with claims of "sinister rumors" about himself.

The photo showed the 64-year-old peer, who also is a popular radio and television personality, and Kray, 31, seated in business suits on a settee in Boothby's home.

Last Saturday, in a remarkable letter published in the Times of London, the gray-haired peer, friend and former aide of Winston Churchill, charged that the Sunday Mirror apparently was referring to him in stories about a prominent but unnamed peer it said was involved in a homosexual relationship with a protection racket hoodlum.

The newspaper said it had a photograph of the two men which it could not print.

In his letter to the Times, Boothby said he was not a homosexual and that the man who had come to his apartment and with whom he had been photographed was simply a person who had come to discuss a possible business deal.

Lord Boothby has since said he is consulting counsel with possible action in mind.

Jewish Unit to Probe Education Shortages

GENEVA (AP) — An international assembly of Jewish leaders has agreed to set up a 50-member world council on education to deal on a global scale with "critical shortages" in Jewish education.

The assembly of 77 cultural, religious and education leaders decided yesterday that the council should operate as a coordinating and research body to establish closer educational contacts among Jewish communities.

New Craft Will 'Survey' Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Jet Propulsion Laboratory scientists, equipped with 4,316 close-up photographs of the moon, are thinking eagerly of the next major step in man's exploration of the lunar landscape.

It is the Surveyor, a soft-landing spacecraft with cameras that may function on the lunar surface for up to 30 days.

Two more Rangers are scheduled to be launched early next year. Plans call for them to have missions identical to picture-snapping Ranger 7.

Late next year the U.S. space agency will fire the first of seven Surveyors, which are three times heavier than the Rangers and have shock absorber legs. The 866-pound Ranger 7 photographed craters as small as three feet in diameter before it crashed on the moon Friday.

The 2,300-pound Surveyor will be able to take pictures of objects the size of pinheads.

A shot in the arm for Surveyor's designers: A study of Ranger photographs indicates no major changes will be necessary in the planned model.

Surveyor's tripod legs should be able to survive a landing on terrain similar to Ranger's impact area — a crater-pocked plain in the Sea of Clouds.

Surveyor program manager W.E. Gibson says "we will use many of Ranger's technical people as they come off jobs such as testing and design, with the idea of cross-fertilization between the two projects."

"But we're already well along: We've been working on Surveyor since 1960 and we're quite proud of being able to anticipate some of Ranger's findings."

Ranger's pictures indicate the moon has a hard crust covered with a thin layer of dust.

Gibson believes Surveyor's pad-footed, 6-foot-long legs can settle down on such a surface with no damage to its sensitive instruments.

RANGER CRASH

Ranger was designed to crash into the moon and it did. Surveyor has a retro-rocket to break its descent and let it fall free to the surface from a height of no more than 10 or 15 feet.

Once it lands, its two television cameras should be able to swing full circle and up and down, giving earth scientists a "you are there" picture of the lunar landscape.

Surveyor also will have a claw on an extendable arm to pick up objects as far away as 10 feet and lift them up to the stereoscopic television eyes for three-dimension scrutiny.

Heart of Surveyor's soft-landing system is a 10,000-pound thrust, solid-fuel retro-rocket that will be turned on 60 miles from the moon.

SPEED

This will slow Surveyor's 9,000-foot-per-second speed to 450-foot-per-second in less than a minute. By the time Surveyor has fallen to about 15 feet above the surface three small liquid-fuel rockets should cut the speed to zero.

Surveyor will drop the rest of the way at about the speed of a parachutist hitting the earth.

With its legs spraddled for landing, Surveyor will stand 13 feet tall and its base, a big fuel tank, will be supported some 18 inches above the foot pads.

NEW SATELLITE — This is a Nimbus satellite which NASA plans to launch in the near future. The Nimbus, designed to provide close-up cloud photographs while it whirls around the earth, will carry the same type cameras that provided the spectacular pictures of the moon from Ranger 7 last week.

FAA Chief Aims U.S. Position on Super Transports

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Federal Aviation Agency Administrator Najeeb Halaby says there no longer is any question whether there will be commercial supersonic transports in the future.

Halaby said the issue now is whether the United States "will be in a preeminent position" with other nations that are progressing with similar plans, including Russia, England and France.

Russia Proposal Received Favorably by Laotians

VIENTIANE, Laos (R) — Premier Phouma's Laotian government announced today it has received "very favorably" the Soviet Union's latest proposal for a 14-nation conference on Laos.

The announcement made no mention of two conditions Souvanna set earlier for such a conference: Agreement by the Communist Pathet Lao to a cease-fire and withdrawal of Communist forces to positions they held before they drove Prince Souvanna's neutralists from the Plaine des Jarres in the spring.

The United States and Britain also have insisted that these conditions be met before a conference is set up. The British, cochairmen with the Russians of the 1962 Geneva agreement on Laos, also have demanded reestablishment of an effective government of rightists, neutralists and Communists under Souvanna.

Russia turned down these conditions last week. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko insisted that the only solution to the continuing crisis is a conference of the nations that signed the 1962 agreement.

But he said there was no hope for such a parley on the basis of advance conditions.

The Soviet Union warned it might resign as cochairman unless efforts were made to get a 14-nation conference going. A Laotian source said Souvanna has drafted a letter to Gromyko urging his government not to withdraw as co-chairman.

News From Around the World

K Says Germany Still Is Main Cold War Issue

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has again put Germany at the top of his list of unsettled cold war issues.

Without the "achievement of a German peace settlement," there can be no additional relaxation of East-West tensions, the Soviet leader said Monday.

Khrushchev was interviewed by Pravda and Izvestia in connection with the first anniversary of the signing of the limited nuclear test ban treaty. He said the pact had brought a "store of trust" between the cold war adversaries.

"It is very important to guard this store of trust and not to allow it to run out, but on the contrary, to strengthen and extend it in every way," he said.

But without a settlement of the German problem, he said, "it would be difficult to approach the problem of general and complete disarmament."

He called for an international agreement renouncing force in territorial disputes.

"It is necessary to suppress the breeding grounds of tension in the Caribbean, in Southeast Asia, in Cyprus and the Arab peninsula," said Khrushchev.

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP) — British security forces in Malaysia's Borneo state of Sarawak killed five Indonesian guerrillas Monday in a border region clash.

A spokesman said one British trooper was slightly wounded. It was the third such encounter in 10 days in Sarawak. Six Indonesians were killed on Friday.

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)

— A pending agreement between the Vatican and the Communist Hungarian government on church-state matters does not deal with the perennial problem of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, a church source says.

The agreement, the first between the Roman Catholic church and the Communist regime, will give the Vatican the right to nominate bishops, but the government must agree before they can function.

The source said the pact is expected to be concluded before Aug. 29. Only five of Hungary's 11 Catholic sees are headed by full bishops.

The informant said the Vatican and the Hungarians agreed to negotiate separately on Cardinal Mindszenty, who has been a refugee in the U.S. legation since the 1956 Hungarian uprising was put down.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Thailand's interior ministry says gangs of Communist Robin Hoods are operating in the underdeveloped northeast, robbing the rich and giving to the poor.

"They are Communists trying to win over the northeastern villagers," Interior Undersecretary Thawin Sunthorn Sarathoon told newsmen.

Thailand fears Communist infiltration from Laos throughout its northeastern provinces.

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — Israel has agreed to a minor change in its frontier with Jordan.

Israeli officials disclosed today their government will relinquish a 100-by-125 foot plot in Beit Safafa, a village southwest of Jerusalem that has been divided by a barbed wire.

ROME (AP) — The 600 pilots who fly Alitalia's commercial airliners returned to work today, ending a 78-hour strike. The contract dispute was still unsettled, however, and more strikes of the state-owned airline were possible.

The pilots want eight days off a month instead of six.

Column on Health No Place for Colitis

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY
A correspondent is upset because the subject of colitis is so diligently excluded from discussion here.

He emphatically asserts that he seeks neither diagnosis nor treatment, but having suffered for several years and having tried (a number of weird treatments) without result, he merely wishes to ask the alleged physician who writes the medical articles for the paper whether there is a cure and where to obtain it.

I write only the health articles, so that lets me out. It is not just out of the meanness of my heart that I dodge consideration of colitis here. It is because I don't know anything about it, and the subject does not seem to me to fit in a health column.

Now I hope readers who imagine they have colitis will not quit — just as soon as anything turns up that seems to me to be worthy of passing along I'll pass it along.

NOT SYMPATHETIC

Class B neurotics tell me I'm singularly lacking in the attributes which one expects in the good physician, notably sympathy and patience, and this is corroborated by all my relatives and acquaintances who have attempted to come at me with symptoms — and, fellows, I hope you'll never know what I have suffered for your sake, ducking one curbside consultation after another.

Consistency or not, I don't think I could sleep so well if everybody well or ill, were exposed to colitis and other maladies in this column.

On the contrary it is a comforting reflection, as I drift off to innocent slumber, that very few victims of autointoxication, nervous breakdown, run down condition, neurasthenia, torpid liver, catarrh, obstinate cold or chronic rheumatism can say they got it from Brady.

An occasional reader may get a pain in the neck — but the column is intended for regular readers, and I know a lot of them enjoy excellent health, for they tell me so.

REAL CAUSE

Colitis can happen, I frankly admit. Yet, I believe the real cause of the trouble many of these amateur students of medicine ascribe to "colitis" is artificial interference with the alimentary function, particularly the abuse of physics, enemas and so-called bowel washes.

Slaves of the habit who may resolve to win back to freedom should (lay in a supply of a pound of whole flaxseeds, and (2) learn the elementary physiology of digestion, the autonomous regulation of intestinal motility.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 50 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, a licensed and addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Ex-Prisoner's Story Stirs Russia Critics

MOSCOW (UPI) — A former prisoner's story about guards dogs who kept civilians in line after Stalin-era prison camps were disbanded was causing behind-the-scenes controversy in Soviet literary circles today.

Reliable sources said "old guard" literary leaders, who believe that criticism of the past has gone too far, see the story as a parable that would tell readers that the Stalinist spirit still lives on in humans as well as dogs.

The dogs who could not be retrained from their prison routine were described by Alexander Solzhenitsyn, whose earlier account of prison camps was a parable that would tell readers that the Stalinist spirit still lives on in humans as well as dogs.

Solzhenitsyn's material came from his own experience as an inmate.

The sources said the old guard leaders oppose publication of the new story, just as they did of "One Day." They said the dogs story was first accepted by a literary magazine, then delayed, and now has been scheduled for publication once more.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev finally gave the go-ahead for publishing "One Day," and the story has been followed by other accounts of prison camp life since its appearance in 1962.

Khrushchev's position on the story was not known.

Texas Crops Critical in Dry Spell

By The Associated Press

Crops and pastures were in the critical stage in Texas today as the long, dry hot spell continued.

In other areas stifling heat and choking humidity added up to new high temperature records for the date.

Municipal water supplies dwindled in parts of Texas and Louisiana. The only spots escaping the long dry spell and the blistering hot weather were around the Texas coastal bend.

Wichita, Kan., reported a high temperature of 100 degrees for a record for Aug. 3. Chicago also experienced the hottest Aug. 3 on record with an average temperature of 87 degrees. Chicago's high of 98 equalled the record for the date set Aug. 3, 1944.

MERCURY CLIMBS

The mercury climbed to 110 degrees in Hutchinson, Kan., and Hennessey, Okla., as the central part of the nation remained in the grip of the heat wave.

New high temperature records for Aug. 3 included: St. Louis, 104; Springfield, Mo., 102; Louisville, Ky., 101; Grand Rapids, Mich., 100, and Muskegon, Mich., 99.

An isolated tornado touched down Monday at Elgin, Ill., northwest of Chicago, and Loganport, Ind., was swept by wind-driven rain measuring 1.90 inches. Brazil, in west central Indiana, was hit by large hail, heavy rain and strong winds. High winds and heavy rain blew down trees at the Randolph County 4-H grounds in east central Indiana.

More seasonable conditions prevail today in the Northeast, the extreme North and the northwestern parts of the nation, while precipitation was heavy in the east central section.

1.10 RAIN

Langley Field in southeastern Virginia and Raleigh in northern North Carolina each got 1.10 inches of rain in six hours.

Iraq Political Union Already Split in Two

BEIRUT, Lebanon (U) — The Iraqi government is trying to reorganize its two-week-old political organization, the Arab Socialist Union, because already it's split into two factions, the Daily Star reported today.

The union, with President Abdel Salam Aref at its head, was born July 14. It includes all previous political parties, which dissolved and joined the union.

But Three's a Crowd

Ahh, Love Is Wonderful

LUCERNE, Switzerland (UPI) — Two young lovers walked out of the woods early yesterday and were greeted by a 3,000-pound hippopotamus.

Their screams led police and civilian searchers to the 10-year-old hippo which escaped from the Swiss National Circus the night before.

The hippo, Juba, was led out to graze after the first part of the show, but decided to take a longer stroll. An attendant discovered Juba had disappeared and notified police. Circus employees and police began the search.

They followed the sound of the scream to the lovers who claimed to have seen a hippopotamus at the edge of the woods. Juba was escorted back to the circus.

ROMAN BATH IN LONDON — Volunteer amateur archaeologists help uncover a Roman bath discovered on the site of a future new office building in London yesterday. Archaeologists hoped to have it uncovered before workmen returned to the job.

London Work Crews Find Roman Ruins

LONDON (U) — The march of time tumbled a 1,900-year-old chunk of Roman wall today.

Builders chugged through the section of wall surrounding what were Roman baths in the first century after Christ. Big trucks juggled away the debris.

"That's about the toughest pile of rock I've had to move in a long time," said an English bulldozer driver.

Rights Group Strikes in LA

LOS ANGELES (U) — About 150 civil rights demonstrators last night blocked a driveway used by a group trying to get Alabama Gov. George Wallace to speak here, and it had to be cleared away on police stretchers, officers reported.

Demonstrators carried away were booked on the misdemeanor charge of false imprisonment.

They protested a meeting of the Greater Los Angeles Citizens Council with signs reading: "Take Your Seats and Go Home" and "Go Home KKK."

They were identified as members of the Congress of Racial Equality and the Los Angeles Friends of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

President of the Council, insurance broker Clyde Reynolds, told an audience of about 300 persons the council's primary goal is to work for the repeal of the Rumford Act, which prohibits discrimination in most California housing.

He said arrangements are being made for Gov. Wallace to speak here within the next two months.

Death Toll Reaches 3 in Saturday Collision

HILLSDALE (AP) — Injured Saturday in a two-car crash on M34 near Hillside, William Lee Church died yesterday. Mrs. Anna Heffelfinger, 72, of Toledo, Ohio, also died in the crash. She was riding in a car driven by her husband, Ward M. 79, who suffered a fatal heart attack shortly before the crash, police said.

The Guildhall Museum is assembling material on the find. Officials said experts would keep an eye on the site just in case the workers turn up Roman artifacts.

"If we find anything that looks promising, we'll tell the museum people," a gang foreman said. "But the real work has to go ahead now."

RUINS REMAINING

A piece of wall and an ancient well still remain. They will go also as the demolition advances.

Denies Pleas in Spy Case

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A federal judge has refused to invalidate an array of evidence and suppress evidence in the case of John William Butenko, electronics engineer accused of spying for the Soviet Union.

But Judge Anthony T. Augelli granted a defense motion Monday that the government assume the cost of getting testimony from three Russians expelled from the country after Butenko's arrest last Oct. 29.

Butenko and a Russian chauffeur, Igor A. Ivanov, face trial Sept. 28 on charges of conspiring to transmit defense information to the Soviet Union.

Butenko's lawyer, Raymond A. Brown, asked Augelli to rule Butenko's arrest illegal and to suppress evidence on the ground that his seizure violated Butenko's constitutional rights. The evidence in question includes an attache case taken from a car owned by the Russians.

The judge ruled that the evidence should not be suppressed because there was no proof it belonged to Butenko.

The three Russians from whom the testimony will be sought are Gieb A. Pavlov, Yuri Romashin and Vladimir I. Olenov. They were named coconspirators but not defendants.

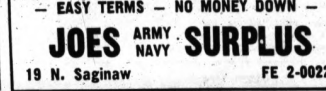

Butenko, 38, of Orange, and Ivanov, were arrested by the FBI with two members of the Soviet mission to the United Nations in a parking lot in Englewood, N.J. The FBI said the attache case contained documents giving information about a secret Air Force contract.

Barry Taking to Open Sea, Ending Pre-Election Rest

BALBOA, Calif. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater takes to the open sea again today for what could be his last day of complete rest until after the November election.

His schedule called for almost a repeat of Sunday's outing: A leisurely trip on the Sundance, an 85-foot one-time PT boat that has been converted into a luxury yacht.

For a moment newsmen and photographers thought that today they might get close to the Republican presidential candidate whom they have not seen since he brushed by them at the Santa Rosa, Calif., airport Thursday.

Goldwater apparently considered taking the whole news crew along for a spin on the Sundance. But first the senator ruled out the newsmen because, he said, there wouldn't be room enough for them. Then it was reported he had excluded cameramen too.

TWO SECRETARIES

But he will take along his two news secretaries and their two assistants who may phone back news from the boat.

Wednesday Goldwater heads back to Washington to plunge into a campaign schedule.

On Thursday and Friday he will talk to separate groups of Republican senators and House members. Also on Friday's schedule is a speech to a GOP candidate school run by Rep. Bob Wilson of California.

"I will not be surprised," Goldwater said Monday, "if the speech has some political overtones. In fact, throughout August, I will be making speeches fairly regularly and I might be dealing fairly regularly with political issues in each appearance."

ANSWERS HALF

His comment on campaign plans was in answer to written questions submitted by newsmen. A dozen queries were given to his secretaries to give to him, but he answered only half of them.

One question: "What are your comments on the PT boat attacks off South Viet Nam?"

Goldwater replied by asking these three questions:

"I think the American people are entitled to ask some questions in regard to this event: Does the presence of American destroyers in the area signify the possible landing of larger American ground forces?"

EYES MEANING

"Does it mean medium bombers are going to be used to interdict the supply lines? Does it mean a change is taking place in foreign policy at White House and State Department levels?"

In other replies, he said: "The moon shot is a great achievement but he doesn't think more money should be spent on it."

He welcomes the support of Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., who defended Goldwater's rights to his views against foreign press criticism.

He thinks the bracero program, in which Mexican labor is used on U.S. farms, should be continued.

The number one question on the list was political: What about President Johnson eliminating Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy as a vice presidential possibility?

"That is one the Democrats will have to answer," Goldwater said. "Anyone they choose will be saddled with Bobby Baker, Billy Sol Estes, South Viet Nam and waning U.S. prestige around the world. He sounds like a loser to start with."

Electrocuted on Job

ST. JOHNS (AP) — Henry Moulder, 46, of Lansing was electrocuted Monday while changing a blade in a planer on a construction job. Police said perspiration on Moulder may have contributed to the accident.

KING KONKED OUT — Sinbad, the 500-pound star attraction of Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo, dozes on the floor of his cage after being shot by an air gun with a hypodermic needle containing an anesthetic. Sinbad escaped from his cage yesterday and spent 20 minutes "on the outside."

Gorilla Goes Out on Liberty, Winds Up With Hangover

CHICAGO (AP) — Sinbad, the gorilla, nursed a hangover today, just like anyone else not used to being out on the town.

One of the largest gorillas in captivity, the 6-foot, 500-pound Sinbad slipped out of his cage Monday and romped through 20 minutes of freedom, his first since coming to Lincoln Park Zoo in 1948 as an infant.

Sinbad confined his wanderings to the inner corridor of the monkey house, but alarmed zoo officials evacuated 75 persons from the building and called for the police riot squad.

At one time only a screen door separated the powerful animal from complete freedom.

SCREEN DOOR

"If he had come out we would have had to have him killed," said Gene Hartz, assistant zoo director. "There was nothing to keep him in but a screen door and he could have taken it right along with him."

Hartz eventually killed Sinbad by firing a 200-milligram dose of tranquilizer into his shoulder. Five hours after the injection Sinbad was up and around.

"He'll have a pretty bad hangover but that's about all," Hartz said.

LOOKED TWICE

"I never had an ape in my kitchen before," said Barney Gisuti, 54. "I looked twice. Then I went out the front door."

Sinbad spent the remainder of his freedom in the kitchen, "just taking it all in, smelling things, fooling around," said Dr. Lester Fisher, zoo director.

Both described Sinbad as "a little bit on the ornery side. He's full of hell and fantastically strong."

Cleanings From the Mailbag

Was America Worth $7,000?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It cost Columbus $7,000 to discover America. The big question now is — was it a good investment?

A century ago anybody over 50 was considered old. But most of today's oldsters don't feel old. A Harvard study of 200 people over 65 found that only 21 per cent of the men and 20 per cent of the women thought of themselves as elderly.

It has been estimated that 64 per cent of the world's great achievements were accomplished by people over 60 years of age.

A quarter of a century ago it cost passengers $200 for $10,000 insurance — one way — for the first transatlantic flight aboard Pan American's pioneering Dixie Clipper. Today for $12 you can get a $300,000 policy, round trip.

HEAVY DRINKING

If you used as much water as the average plant does, in proportion to your weight, you'd have to drink 10 quarts a day.

To get rich all you need is to discover a way to profitably mine the mineral wealth in the sea. The oceans of the world contain some six million tons of gold.

Quotable notables: "Self-pity is our worst enemy, and if we yield to it we can never do anything wise in the world" — Helen Keller.

It would take the light of 80,000 large fireflies to equal the heat given off by one small candle.

DELICATE SHARKS

In Australia, when you order fish and chips, the chances are you'll get shark meat. Sharks are quite a delicacy in the land Down Under.

Ancient Jerusalem has become one of the most polyglot cities on earth. Inhabitants from 70 different nations now live in its new section.

Joke of the week: Catholic Digest magazine tells of the proud father who congratulated his son on his 13th birthday and asked him how it felt to be a teen-ager. "It's all right, I guess," the boy replied, "except for the reputation."

It isn't true that U.S. presidents are immune from arrest.

President Franklin Pierce was arrested once after his carriage knocked down an elderly woman, but the case was dropped. President U.S. Grant was arrested for speeding in his carriage and put up $20 bond, which he later forfeited.

CHEESE EATERS

Norwegians are the world's champion cheese consumers. They eat nearly 20 pounds a year each.

Folklore: If a girl sits on a table, she won't find a husband within the year. If a young lady hangs a cabbage stump over her door on Halloween, she'll wed the first man who enters. To get rid of a wart, rub it with a kernel of corn and then throw the kernel into a barnyard. If a chicken eats the kernel, the wart will immediately go away.

Know your language: The word "radical" comes from a Latin term meaning "root." Theoretically, a radical is someone who likes to go to the root of any situation.

Quickies: Tapeworms don't have hearts. Big league baseball players get their uniforms free but have to pay for their own shoes and usually wear out three pairs a season. Seven per cent of ambulance calls are unnecessary, and 3 per cent are too late.

Greek Cypriot Boat Fires on Small Craft

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A Greek Cypriot patrol boat fired eight shots last night at several small boats believed to be Turkish Cypriots, the United Nations reported today. It was the first naval engagement of the seven-month-old island war.

The action took place in Turkish-held Kokkina Harbor, on the northwest coast. There was no announcement of casualties, and no word that the Greek Cypriot fire was returned.

Kokkina is the principal Turkish village in a 10-mile-long coastal enclave, the only stretch of coast under Turkish Cypriot control.

PUT HER FOOT IN IT — Three-year-old Lisa Bedwell of Dover, Del., got herself into a jam yesterday by putting her foot in a drain pipe. She patiently waits rescue from public works employees. The pipe was removed in a hospital, and Lisa suffered nothing but the loss of a few tears.

Wasn't Dead—Went for Walk

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. — Frank W. Meyer, missing for six weeks and presumed dead, turned up yesterday complaining that someone had made off with his camper truck.

Meyer told sheriff's officers he had been hiking and camping in Stinson Beach State Park since June 21, the day his truck was found parked on Mount Tamalpais.

Meyer, 41, said he left his home in San Mateo for a church convention in Portland last month, but changed his mind.

He said a day's hike to Stinson Beach proved so pleasant he took a sleeping bag and 25 boxes of C rations from his truck and hiked for six weeks through the park area.

After Meyer's truck was found, deputies and volunteers aided by bloodhounds, helicopters and airplanes searched the area for days.

Republican Candidate Won't Refer to Barry

NEW YORK — Rep. John V. Lindsay of New York's 17th Congressional District says he'll seek a fourth term as a Republican candidate but "without reference to the national ticket."

Lindsay, 42, said yesterday that supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, are trying to defeat him by backing Kieran O'Doherty, the Conservative party nominee in the 17th, Manhattan's "blue stocking" district.

News Briefs From Washington

Says Warren Report Will Rebut Conspiracy Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Warren Commission plans to devote much of its forthcoming report to rebutting speculation that a domestic or international conspiracy caused the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, says the Washington Evening Star.

It said that the commission's report is expected to be made public the week of Sept. 14, although it will be presented to President Johnson one or two weeks before that.

Chief Justice Earl Warren heads the seven-member commission named by Johnson to investigate the slaying of the President in Dallas last Nov. 22.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a book published today with President Johnson's endorsement, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey writes that America faces one of its greatest challenges in lifting 35 million citizens out of poverty.

The book, "War on Poverty," is the first written by the Minnesota senator, considered a leading possibility for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

Among other proposals Humphrey suggests a domestic investment bank to make the kind of massive investment needed to rehabilitate the nation's depressed communities.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appealed Monday to some 150 editors and publishers of U.S. foreign-language publications for help in achieving unity and "a peaceful obedience of the law of the land."

Johnson spoke to the editors and publishers in the East Room of the White House.

"As President of all the people, I intend to work to ensure that every person enjoys the full constitutional rights and equal opportunity that are his birthright as an American citizen," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential aide Walter Jenkins has been subpoenaed in the civil suit that touched off the senate investigation of Bobby Baker.

White House press secretary George Reed confirmed Monday that Jenkins, a long-time assistant to Johnson, had been subpoenaed to appear in the action brought by the Capitol Vending Corp. against Baker, who resigned under fire as the secretary to senate Democrats on Oct. 7.

Jenkins doesn't know why because he doesn't know anything about this matter," Reed told newsmen.

The suit charges that Baker used his influence to deprive Capitol of a contract to operate vending machines in the Melpar Inc. plant at Falls Church, Va., after having been paid $5,600 to maintain the contracts for Capitol.

Jenkins was directed to appear for questioning Sept. 8.

Rebels Battling for Congo City

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo — Congolese soldiers clashed with rebels today on the outskirts of Stanleyville.

Messages from that Eastern Congo city said soldiers had fought with the rebels only about nine miles to the south and there was anxiety that the marauding warriors might capture Stanleyville shortly.

Stanleyville has a garrison of about 600 men. Its fall to the rebels, who are backed by the Chinese Communists, would effectively cut off the entire Northeastern Congo and provide a capital for the "Popular Republic of the Congo" proclaimed recently by rebel leader Gaston Emile Soumialot.

The rebels were reported equipped with trucks, but light-ly armed.

White women and children are being removed by plane from the Stanleyville region. Two plane-loads of refugees have already reached Leopoldville.

HOLDING OUT

Congolese troops were reported still holding out at Wanie Rukula, about 30 miles south-east of Stanleyville.

Stanleyville is on the Congo

River just below Stanley Falls, 775 miles northeast of this city. There are estimated to be 700 white persons in a population of about 300,000.

The U.S. Embassy in Leopoldville said dependents of the American consulate there are being withdrawn.

Of about 45 Americans in the region, most are Protestant missionaries.

NO DETAILS

The messages gave no details of the fighting outside Stanleyville, but said it had been a "light action."

Stanleyville has always been a center of extremism. It was the seat of ex-Vice Premier Antoine Gizenga's Communist-supported breakaway regime in 1961.

There is a strong antigovernment fifth column headed by a youth leader named Victor Benanga. His forces recently raided army barracks in the city and stole a large number of weapons.

The messages said army morale in the city appeared to be fairly good. Until a battle yesterday at Wanie Rukula, the rebels had met no resistance from the soldiers in their triumphal march across the Eastern Congo.

TENSE SITUATION

From the Kivu capital of Bukavu came word that the situation there appeared tense, but that rebel columns reported marching on the city had not moved any closer.

The rebels were reported to be advancing on Bukavu from the town of Shabunda, to the west. Yesterday, central Kivu's Provincial President Simon Malaga authorized Bukavu's white population to carry arms.

CROSS-COUNTRY — Lyman U. Frain, 80, of Philadelphia is greeted by his son Donald at the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco yesterday after completing a bicycle trip from New York City. Said to be the oldest person to make a cross-country bike ride, Frain started the 3,244-mile trek on May 10.

Teen-Battling Police Praised in England

HASTINGS, England (UPI) — Policemen who were airlifted to Hastings and helped quell teen-age rowdies by treating them like children won praise today from fed-up citizens.

Five-thousand mop-headed "Mods" and leather-jacketed "Rockers" descended on this English Channel resort Saturday to spend the last three days of the summer in what has become a ritual of aimless destruction and brawls.

But 150 policemen, who volunteered to remain on alert for the bank holiday weekend, were flown in from London to help stop the rough-housing.

They kept the teen-agers from congregating and forced them to keep moving whenever they tried to loiter. They broke up small scuffles and arrested 50 mods and rockers.

Yesterday, the police rounded up 500 teen-agers and marched them three miles out of town. Then they marched them back, told them to pick up their motorcycles and scooters and get out of town.

GRATEFUL TOWN

Grateful townspeople handed out lemonade to the policemen who escorted the nonviolent marchers.

"It's been a rotten weekend," one teen-ager said. "The coppers kept on at us all the time. I'm not coming back to this town any more."

Police said this was just what they had in mind.

The weekend contained some violence. Four policemen and several teen-agers were injured slightly and one policeman was knocked unconscious.

TWO KILLED

One boy was killed by a fall off a cliff at nearby Margate and one boy was drowned, but there was no indication either death was due to violence.

"The weekend was far more peaceful than the running brawls which had ruined the summer's two previous long weekends at Margate and Clacton-on-Sea, and which led to the formation of the police 'flying squads'."

Why do the teen-agers carry on that way? The London Times said, "none of them seems to know why they are doing this. They walk in gloomy silence or sit fully clothed on the beach waiting for something to happen. Boredom is the likeliest explanation."

Court Ruling May Allow Private Claim of Shoreline

LANSING (AP)—State officials today have their fingers stuck in the dyke protecting thousands of miles of Michigan shorelines from private encroachment.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and the State Conservation Department are seeking relief from a ruling of the Michigan Supreme Court which may have allowed a colonial settler's claim to punch a hole in state defenses.

They have asked a court for a rehearing on a July 8 decision in which it ruled that the state has no control over submerged lands which were part of private grants by the United States prior to Michigan's admission to the Union.

In his appeal for a rehearing, Kelley spelled out state law covering submerged lands as providing "that lands covered by water are subject to the public trust for public use, even though title to such land is vested in the riparian (water-front) owner."

PRIVATE CLAIM

Involved was a 640-acre private claim — some of it submerged in Lake St. Clair — granted to the heirs of James A. Abbott on June 11, 1811. Abbott had settled the land before the Jay Treaty between the United States and England, when the territory was conveyed to the U.S.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Nicholas Olds said the state's control of filling and dredging in hundreds of acres of recreational water in Lake St. Clair alone is at stake.

Some private claims extend 500 to 1,000 feet out into the lake.

George Taack, submerged lands guardian in the Conservation Department, said the decision could be extended to the other Great Lakes, as well as jeopardizing public rights in all inland lakes and streams.

DECISION COVERAGE

Although the decision covers only those grants made before Michigan became a state, enough patented land exists to concern conservation officials and state attorneys.

Owners of such land apparently can fill them in, according to the findings of Justice John DeWitt.

In his appeal for rehearing, Kelley complained that the court's decision "destroys the paramount and inalienable trust which the state has in all of its waters — both Great Lakes and inland."

'More Doctors in Drug Firms'

Hart Issues Warning at Start of Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said today that a growing number of doctors now own pharmacies or drug companies, and may turn their patients into "captive consumers."

Hart, chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, opened hearings on doctor-owned pharmacies and doctor-owned drug repackaging and redistributing companies.

In his statement prepared for the session, Hart said, "Certainly when a patient goes to his doctor and is given a prescription for a drug in which the doctor has an interest, the patient has no choice but to purchase that trade name drug."

"Also, when a doctor suggests using his pharmacy downstairs — or calls a prescription into a pharmacy — it is likely that the patient seldom protests," he said.

Hart said the subcommittee was concerned about the independent druggist who finds usual prescription business cut off, and the physician's financial interest in another company.

COMPANIES FOUND

Hart said to date the subcommittee has identified about 100 doctor-owned drug companies involving possibly 5,000 doctors.

"We do not delude ourselves that we have learned all of them," he said. "Nor do we think the true total would reflect a problem of overwhelming national significance."

The Michigan Senator added, however, that these enterprises could be significant in certain regions "and perhaps most significant it is a practice which appears to be growing."

He said the number of doctor-owned pharmacies is also increasing although there are no reliable statistics since 1962.

Art Linkletter, Do You See Grandma Watching on TV?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a grandmother who believes that the people on television can see and hear her?

We have tried to explain to her that they can't — that it's only a talking picture. But it doesn't do any good.

She gets all dolled up to watch television every day because she says she would hate to have Art Linkletter see her looking a fright.

How can we convince her she's wrong?

SUE AND CINDY

DEAR GIRLS: Why try? Besides, ask Mr. Linkletter. I'll bet he thinks she looks real nice!

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my husband and my best friend came to me and confessed that they had had an affair, but it was all over. They said they told me in order to cleanse their consciences. The woman is also married and the four of us had been friendly for years.

As I look back I now realize that she cultivated my friendship so she could get next to my husband.

She even used the children. I told my husband that I would forgive him, and I have really tried, Abby, but the hurt is so deep I don't think I'll ever get over it.

I now refuse to be in this woman's company, but my husband says there is no reason why we can't all be friends.

I get sick when I see her car on the street. Was I wrong to end our friendship or not?

WRONGED
DEAR WRONGED: You were right to end the friendship and your husband is lucky you didn't choose to end the marriage as well. Stick to your guns!

DEAR ABBY: My bridge club (two tables) met at my house last week. One of the members brought along an out-of-town guest who was visiting her.

This guest presented me with a 1-pound box of candy. I thanked her for it, and then I set it on the piano.

I intentionally did not open the box because the candy would have been eaten up in no time by the other women.

The next day one of the women called me up and told me that several of the members had severely criticized me for not opening the candy, and offering it to the ladies. Did I commit a social error, or not?

NOT SURE
DEAR NOT: Unless the woman who brought the candy indicated that it was for the "club," you had a right to assume it was for you alone.

You committed no social error by not opening the candy, but since you didn't intend to serve it, you'd have been wise to put it out of sight.

With Wayne Carmichael, best man, were ushers Randy Phillips, James Carpenter and Edward Washburn. A new home on Jamn Road awaits the couple after their honeymoon in Norfolk, Va. and Washington.

SCHALAU-SWEET

Reception in the Oxford Knights of Columbus club rooms followed the recent nuptials of Sandra Grace Sweet and Richard Douglas Schalaus in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Imity City. The bride's gown of white organza over satin featured a Chantilly lace bodice and skirt applique. She is the daughter of Mrs. Nada Weshalek of Detroit and Stanley Sweet, Lake Orion. Her attendants were Linda Schalaus and Carol Williams. The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Henry Schalaus of Africa and the late Mr. Schalaus had his brother Paul for best man. Edward Schalaus performed ushers duties. A honeymoon in Taquamenon Falls is planned.

Why Grow Old?
by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When a woman has weight to lose, she must have a strong incentive or she will not be successful. The motivation may be anything from getting into a lovely dress, to getting a husband or keeping one. Sheer vanity is an incentive but this must be reinforced by stronger ones. Of course, danger to health or loss of a career are very potent motivators.

Letters from readers who know the real joy of success may provide the inspiration you need. I'm showing you these personal letters as a privately conducted "National Josephine Lowman Group Therapy" week—to prod other women into the same kind of action.

Listen to this:
"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"I felt that no one cared until my 20-year-old son came home on vacation from the Air Force. He said, 'Mom, you used to be so pretty and had such a good figure.'"

"Believe me, I did something about it! My bust measured 40 inches; waist, 24; hips, 44 inches. Now my bust measures 36 inches; waist, 30; hips, 40."

"Another child is going to be married in a big wedding before long and I am going to make him proud of me."

WEIGHS, CHECKS

"My husband weighs me each morning and marks the chart himself and checks the list of foods I have eaten each night. I would not disappoint him for anything."

Another one:

"I did wonderfully with your BIP plan. I lost 30 pounds. I followed it a couple of weeks longer than the usual eight weeks. My blood pressure was a little high and so I checked with my doctor right along.

"My doctor was so proud of me. Now I have slipped and gained back ten pounds. I don't want to see him until I lose them. I am so ashamed! Please send me another BIP KIT."

"The weight chart was so helpful. I kept it taped to the cupboard door and it made me feel so good to see my weight line dropping all the time."

SUPPORT SELF
"I am a woman in the business world. My job is important to me since I must support myself. While I do not hope or try to compete with the younger glamour girls in the office, and while I hold a much more responsible position than they and am much more important to the company, I still feel it was important for me to lose 20 pounds which had crept up on me."

"I did with BIP. I not only look much better and smarter but I am more efficient because I have more energy."

If you would like to have my Beauty Improvement Plan (BIP) which includes a weight chart on which you plot your weight daily to watch your weight line rise as your weight line drops, send 25 cents (plus 10 cents for first class mail and special handling) with your request for the BIP KIT. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

young women plan to spend on the wardrobe. Jody Berg, 17, of Boone, Iowa is typical. "I need some new clothes to start to school," she says, and adds, "I love to spend money."

Typical of those who plan to save for college is Burton A. Kramel, 17, of Camp Hill, Pa. He wants to work because "money is essential to my future."

Explains Maudie Griffith, 16, of Columbus, Ohio, "I would like to earn money on my own. And I would like to get some appreciation of the responsibility and what is involved in holding down a job."

SUMMER SCHOOL

Many of the teens who do not want to work plan to go to summer school.

One of these is Paul Emery, 18, of New Egypt, N.J., who "would much rather attend summer school and finish."

Barbara Gray, 16, of Miami Beach also would "rather devote my time to studying."

Several of the boys and girls plan to travel during the summer.

Thomas Dow, 18, of Atlanta, Ga., expects to spend his vacation by hitchhiking across the country with a friend.

Other young people, such as Patricia Evans, 18, of Arlington Va., will do volunteer work. Patricia says she will work in the college section of the Democratic National Committee.

Andrea Gladstone, 17, of Valley Stream, N.Y., doesn't plan anything too strenuous. She will spend her summer "loafing, playing golf and getting a sun tan."

WOOD-RABY

The Ronald Gene Woods (Betty Eileen Rabby) pledged recent vows to Rev. David Dee in the First Baptist Church of Clarkston. White Rochelle lace fashioned a gown for the daughter of the Otto W. Rabys of Gulick Drive, Independence Township. Attendants were Sandra Mobley, Rita Curtis, Sandra Powell and Starla Serda; Dennis Wood, Edward Rabby, Victor Serda, Alvin Rabby and Roger Mayer. Mrs. Rolfe Mayer of Eves Road, Independence Township and Corwin E. Wood of Hanford, Calif. are the bridegroom's parents. The reception was held in the VFW Hall, Drayton Plains.

Who Needs a Diploma?

OMAHA, Neb. (U-P)—Mrs. Mary Ann Steele may not have a high school diploma, but she does have Bachelor's and Master's degrees and is well on the way toward a doctorate.

Mrs. Steele, who has been a teacher and supervisor of communications of the Omaha Public Schools for 49 years, did not graduate from high school.

She entered college after the tenth grade by passing entrance tests.

She slaved for them and often was beaten by her drunkard father. Meanwhile, she couldn't finish high school so she missed out on the usual happy times

RICHMAN-WILSON

Cascading orange glamelias complemented a white organza-over-taffeta gown for Sharon Jeanne Wilson who recently became Mrs. Henry Dolan Richman in the Lutheran Church of the Ascension. Attending the daughter of the Eugene Wilsons of Covent Road were her sister Margaret with Nancy Cook and Onaloe Richman. The bridegroom, son of the Onay Richmans, Keop Harbor had his brother James for best man. Ushers were Wayne Wilson, Michael Pappas and Roger Myers. After a reception in the CIA Building, the couple left for a northern honeymoon. Rev. Meres Stein performed the ceremony.

BATES-BERGER

Mary Jane Berger and Gerald Edward Bates of Fort Worth, Tex. were wed recently by Dr. Robert J. Hudgins in Lake Orion Methodist Church. Wearing white silk organza and French lace over taffeta she was attended by Susan Berger, Penny Shell, Ginger Dodge and Penny Strub. Her parents are the Clara L. Bergers, Lake Orion. James Bates was best man for the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bates, Second Street, Oxford Township. William Hubble, Gerald Laidlaw, David Gark and Thomas Berger ushered. The couple will live in Arlington, Tex. after a western tour.

WHITTAKER-REEDER

The Pontiac Church of God was the setting for recent vows of Joyce Gay Reeder, daughter of the Ora T. Reeder, Lake Orion, and Alfred Ray Whittaker, son of the Earl Whittakers, Cass City. Rev. Alfred Lowe officiated. The bride wore a net veil with a gown of white taffeta and carried white carnations and roses. Brenda Abel was bridesmaid. With best man Richard Lowe, the ushers were Eugene Reeder and Guy Whittaker. After a reception in the First Federal Savings of Oakland, Lake Orion, the couple left for northern Michigan.

Mother Feels Guilty

She Wishes Baby Dead

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE T-433: Laverne Z., aged 24, has recently had her first baby.

"Dr. Crane," her worried husband began, "Laverne has been a puzzle ever since."

"In fact, she has even had shock treatment for she has been peculiar in her attitude toward our baby daughter."

"At first she seemed rather indifferent but then she developed what looks like 'mother' love."

"She will fret and worry lest the baby might be getting sick. And at night she has wild nightmares from which she awakens with tears running down her cheeks."

"Then she hops out of bed to rush into the baby's room just to see if the baby is still breathing."

"Right now she is on a tranquilizer bingie and claims she is losing her mind. Dr. Crane, I understand that many mothers develop a psychosis after the birth of their first baby. Why?"

THE DEATH WISH

The "Death Wish" is an underlying factor in many of these cases.

For thousands of apparently cultured, attractive wives, go into a talisman emotionally after their first baby is born.

And the reason is not too difficult to understand if you realize the simple fact that adults can be jealous and selfish and hateful of their own babies.

Women are born with merely a potential capacity for love, but whether they will love themselves or their own sex (homosexuality) or their parents or their husband or their child, depends on training, both intentional and also subconscious.

STIFLED CHILDHOOD

Laverne never liked children because they had been the cause of her very stifled childhood.

For Laverne's mother died at the birth of her third child. Laverne, as the oldest, had then been forced to serve as caretaker and homemaker for this big brood.

She slaved for them and often was beaten by her drunkard father.

Meanwhile, she couldn't finish high school so she missed out on the usual happy times of teen-agers, including dances and parties.

Finally, at the age of 19, she rebelled and ran away to the large city where she got a job as sales clerk in a dime store.

GOOD JOB

But she was ambitious, so she took a night course in typing and landed a good job in an advertising agency.

"Since she was good looking and had clever ideas, her boss praised her a great deal."

This was doubly enjoyable, for now she revelled in being an important person instead of a family drudge.

Her boss finally started dating her and then proposed marriage. She was reluctant to leave her exciting life in the advertising agency, so she stalled off the wedding for almost a year.

STOPPED THAT

Then her husband agreed that she could still work at the office, but the arrival of the baby stopped that.

It also vividly revived her hatred of her stifling childhood as nursemaid and cook. So she was at first indifferent to her baby.

Then she worried lest God might kill the infant to punish her, which was when her wild nightmares started, and she became overly solicitous about the baby's health.

Send for my booklet "The Death Wish," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope plus 20c. Every young wife should read it!

BARRETT-DEAN

Norma Jean Grace Dean and Merrill Barrett of Chicago were wed Sunday in Pontiac Riverside Methodist Church before Elder Jeremiah Florea. Daughter of the Harry Deans of Duck Lake Road, Highland Township, she wore white lace over taffeta with illusion veil. Her attendants were Mrs. Claude White, St. Louis, Mo., Barbara Carde, Virginia Dean and Janene Banks. Elders Barrett, Gordon Winters, Norman Dean, Daniel Dean and Gordon Cole attended the bridegroom, son of the Ethel Barretts, Grand Rapids. After a Canadian honeymoon the couple will live in Chicago.

MARTIN-PETERSON

Margaret Ann Peterson, daughter of the William O. Peterson, Walnut Road and Harold Albert Martin Jr., son of the senior Martins of Rochester, were recently in Grace Lutheran Church before Rev. Richard Stuckmeyer. A bouquet of white roses and orchid centered bouquet of white roses complemented her gown and train of French rose point lace over taffeta. Attendants were Sandra Schick, Patricia Erjorth, Beth Kreichmar; Michelle Rose and Darryl Devali, William Peterson, William Franks, Robert Long and Richard No-

MRS. MARIO G. GARCIA

Strange Letter May Be Danger Signal

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I recently found a filthy, obscene letter in my 15-year-old girl's sweater pocket. I am sure she wrote it to herself though she denies this.

Never can I trust her again. Should she see a psychiatrist? I don't dare tell her father about the letter or my suspicion that she wrote it.

She has a problem of overweight and an oily skin. But I can't make her stick to a diet. I am now at my wits' end...

ANSWER: First, you see a psychiatrist. You need his help with your shock at this letter. You also need his guidance in persuading your child to consult him.

We just can't grab 15-year-old people and haul them off to see psychiatrists. Their own wish to see them has to be respected.

In the meantime, let me remark that writing herself a letter of this kind does not make your daughter into a nasty girl.

If your suspicion is correct, its self-addressed nastiness simply tells us that she regards herself as a nasty girl.

At her age the young struggle with many doubts of their lovableness. They are not used to the sexual changes which are taking place in their bodies.

HUMILIATION

Your daughter's changing body is humiliating her with the ugliness of overweight and oily skin. So her adolescent distrust of it seems to have become contempt and scorn.

Deeply discouraged by the shaming ugliness which it is imposing on her, she may have expressed the disgust she feels for it by writing it off disgustingly.

I am not minimizing the probability that she needs psychiatric help. I think she does. What I'm minimizing is the emphasis you put on nasty sexuality of the letter.

Its sexuality is not the problem. The problem is the self-scorn of your child. And that is not a new problem. It is an old problem.

It has expressed itself in sexual self-contempt because adolescence is an age which sexualizes all attitudes toward ourselves.

I think you know that in your daughter self-scorn has been a generally unhappy feeling for some time.

What you may not know is that the intensity of your horror at this letter is the explosion of much accumulated worry over her unhappiness.

If the letter has served to make you conscious of your wish for guidance in helping your daughter, it was a blessing that it got written, wasn't it?

The engagement is announced of Nancy Lee Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Marion Houce of Spokane Drive and the late Owen Thomas, to Fred C. Rigotti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Rigotti, also of Spokane Drive. He is an alumnus of Michigan State University. An October wedding is planned.

The engagement is announced of Carol Sue Sleff, daughter of Mrs. Merrell Sleff of Orford, to Robert Lawrence Warnke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Warnke Jr. of Lake Orion.

You Lose Money by Not Saving Coupons

How much money will you lose this year at the supermarket because of an oversight?

An executive for a food products firm says at least 50 million homemakers are missing out on $900 million dollars in savings. How?

It all revolves around the flood of coupons which increases each year.

Their use by food and non-food producers is up 100 per cent in the last five years. Use is a mately they woo homemakers into buying new or improved products.

OVER 10 BILLION

It is startling to discover that by the end of 1964 more than 10 billion of these slips will turn up in mailboxes, in newspapers and magazines, or be tucked away in a package in a store.

The great loss referred to by Paul DeDomenico results when these coupons aren't redeemed.

"This year alone," he says, "50 million homemakers will fail to redeem about 90 per cent of the 10 billion cents-off coupons."

Realistically, DeDomenico admits that many coupons are never used because of taste and product preferences.

MAJOR REASONS

But the major reasons coupons aren't used still remain—they are lost or thrown away.

He suggests keeping a coupon file or clipping coupons to the weekly shopping list.

However, the question remains whether you save by using coupons. The average supermarket now stocks some 8,000 items, up from 1,500 at the end of World War II.

500 ITEMS

Each year nearly 500 new items are introduced.

Despite allegiance to many products, homemakers try out these new ones.

If there is an 8- or 10-cent coupon offering for a new or improved item, there is a definite cents-off savings.

And unlike trading stamps, the cost of coupons is not passed on to the consumer through an increase in store prices.

It is absorbed by the product producer. In this sense, too, there is a savings.

Also to figure the amount you might save this year with coupons, hunt up those around your house.

Add the total value of the ones you would redeem. What is the difference in the amount you pay for a product with a coupon and a similar one without?

Needlework Kit

Will Serve for Years

This perpetual calendar will serve you and provide good conversation year after year. What a nice way to keep a record of time!

Needlework Kit 14A includes printed, plastic coated panels for the month and days of the month.

You simply insert them in the linen panel where shown, then slide to the current month and first day of the month and you will find that it works for every year.

The design is stamped on a warm tan linen, hemstitched at the bottom to make it ready for fringing. Just pull threads to the hemstitched line (this will keep the calendar linen from unraveling), and you will have a nice fringe.

The embroidery floss comes in the following colors: light red, light green, dark green, black, gray and yellow, making a gay combination.

TO HANG IT

The kit also includes instructions with color key and a rod and cord to insert at top of calendar for hanging.

After you make one for yourself, think what a welcome gift this would make for a friend—at only $2.

To order Needlework Kit 14A, fill out the coupon and send it with a $2 check or money order for each kit desired (no stamps please) to Needlework Kit Service at address given.

Countries Avoid Suits, Ignore Rulings

Cases Are Rarely Referred to United Nations Court

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The International Court of Justice, popularly known as the World Court, continues to find business slow after 18 years of operation.

This tribunal, located in The Hague, is the judicial arm of the United Nations. It has never been used to the extent that the framers of the U.N. charter hoped. There have been numerous periods when it had nothing to do.

The court has handled 21 "contentious" cases and 12 advisory opinions. Fourteen other cases were brought to the court but were dropped either because they were settled or because one party refused to accept the court's jurisdiction.

The tribunal got off to such a slow start that the U.N. General Assembly as early as 1947 appealed to member nations and the U.N. specialized agencies to take their disputes to the court instead of trying to settle them elsewhere.

The appeal had no visible results.

Only some 30 countries have bound themselves to accept compulsory jurisdiction of the court. These do not include the United States or any of the Communist countries. Decisions are not binding unless the parties to disputes agree to abide by the decisions.

Advisory opinions, handed down at the request of U.N. bodies or groups of countries, are not binding on anyone.

The court is located in the famous Peace Palace, built in The Hague by steel magnate Andrew Carnegie before World War I. It has a permanent staff of 30 and its latest annual budget was $946,000.

FORMER DIPLOMATS

Almost all the 15 judges are former diplomats. Appointment to the court is considered one of the nicest plums a diplomat can get. Judges are chosen by the U.N. General Assembly and the Security Council for 9-year terms. They get $25,000 a year, tax-free plus $37.50 a day when the tribunal is in session.

Europe Youths Join Confab

Welcomed to Parley on Mackinac Island

MACKINAC ISLAND — More than 2,000 from every part of America have so far attended the Moral Re-Armament Conference for Tomorrow's America here.

Yesterday the conference welcomed a 116-member youth delegation just arrived from Europe.

A Cuban refugee, Miss Ramona Abella, declared, "The driving force of the conviction found by young men and women here will conquer American apathy."

It was evident that the so-called beat generation was setting a new tempo and tone for America.

The welcome was given in the framework of the events today facing America and the passion needed to overcome them.

"As we sit here today, guerrilla warfare threatens Rochester, New York, Boston, St. Augustine," stated Conference Chairman J. Blanton Bell. "There has been bloodshed, and the streets of our great cities are no longer safe."

"We could take the force we are training here to Harlem and other areas of America and within six months end racial hatred."

Standing together on the platform, young men and women voiced the thought of the 1,200 American, Canadian and Latin American delegates present.

"Here we are answering the racial dilemma created by a few fanatics in this country," said Jim Hall of the University of Southern California. "It is the fault of the many who do good but lack a big enough aim."

"When I first came here my revolution was to sit in a corner, beating my drum of hate and hoping to prick the conscience of the whites. I was reacting to stimuli to my hate instead of offering a solution. Regardless of injustices we have endured, I now want to give my energy to build a new world."

The judges are not required to remain in The Hague when they have no case to consider but must simply be "permanently at the disposal of the court."

Representing the United States is Philip C. Jessup, former U.S. ambassador and professor of international law at Columbia University.

COURT DECISIONS

Among the court's decisions: Norway was entitled to reserve certain coastal waters to its own fishermen despite British objections.

A Hindu temple on the Thailand-Cambodia border belonged to Cambodia. Thailand was obliged to withdraw its armed guards stationed at the shrine.

Colombia was not required to surrender Peru's leftist leader, Victor Raúl Haya de la Torre, who had taken refuge in the Colombian Embassy in Lima.

The most recent advisory opinion of the court held that U.N. assessments for peacekeeping operations were just as binding as other U.N. budgetary assessments. Nations in arrears of these assessments have not paid up.

Higgins Vows Halt to Food Sales Tax

REED CITY (AP)—George N. Higgins, Gov. George W. Romney's rival for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, reiterated Monday night that if elected he would remove the state's four per cent sales tax from food consumed at home.

The Ferndale auto dealer addressed Osceola County Republicans here in a campaign swing designed to take him to Marquette today and Negaunee, tonight. He is to speak at Houghton Copper Harbor Wednesday.

The former state senator renewed his ridicule of Romney's claim to being a "no tax governor," saying that "with a $48 million surplus in Lansing, it is time we give those in low income tax brackets a break by taking the sales tax off the food they consume at home."

"It keeps repeating, 'you can live better for less with Consumers Power Company natural gas service!'"

Redistricting Stall Bill Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen moved today for speedy committee action on a bill under which states could draw off for two years more court-ordered legislative reapportionment.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, predicted quick approval of the measure by the Senate Judiciary Committee. Once he gets that, he said, he will try to attach to it a bill certain to reach President Johnson.

If it becomes law, the bill would permit states or citizens to obtain stays on court-directed reapportionments until the end of the second session of their next legislature.

Federal courts have ordered several states to reapportion on the basis of the one-man-one-vote rule laid down by the Supreme Court in a series of decisions June 15.

DONE GEOGRAPHICALLY

Most state senates are apportioned geographically. The effect of the high court's order would be to give cities greater representation in state legislatures and to reduce the influence of rural areas.

Dirksen said time is needed for Congress to consider a proposed constitutional amendment that would upset the court's order. Such an amendment would have to be approved by three-fourths of the state legislatures to become effective.

Dirksen told the Senate Monday he had served notice on President Johnson Thursday of his intentions. Asked by newsmen what Johnson's attitude was, Dirksen replied: "I didn't try to commit him in any way. I just wanted him to know what I was planning to do."

GOP SUPPORT

The GOP leader said he believes he will have almost solid Republican support for his proposal and can attract enough Democratic support to attach it to some other legislation Johnson would find difficult to veto.

Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida congratulated Dirksen on having found a way to take immediate action on the reapportionment problem.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., suggested that Dirksen try to attach his measure to the foreign aid bill.

Dirksen said Oklahoma may have to hold new primary elections as the result of court orders there.

COLORADO VOTERS

He said Colorado voters had accepted one apportionment plan by referendum but the court refused to accept this. The Colorado General Assembly then reapportioned under the U.S. court's order but the State Supreme Court ruled against portions of the new act.

A federal court in New York "completely disregarded the state constitutional provision providing for two-year terms of members and directed that those members elected this fall serve only during the session next spring," Dirksen said.

"Then there must be another election next fall for members who will serve only one year, and the year after that a third election."

Yank Killed From Ambush 175th to Die in Viet Action

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—A U.S. army enlisted man was shot and killed today in a Communist ambush 50 miles north of Saigon.

He was the 175th American killed in action in Viet Nam.

Four Vietnamese soldiers riding in a jeep with the American special forces man also were killed.

The five were killed when Communist Viet Cong guerrillas opened fire with automatic weapons on their jeep as they headed home from a morning of work on a project helping Vietnamese villagers clear land for crops.

The incident focused attention anew on the land fighting a day after President Johnson ordered elements of the U.S. Seventh Fleet to shoot to kill if attacked while patrolling international waters off Communist North Viet Nam.

COMBAT LOSS

The latest combat loss of the special forces soldier brought the total number of American deaths in Viet Nam to 262 since large scale military aid began in 1961. Besides the 175 killed in action, another 87 have died in Viet Nam from other causes.

Another clash occurred here down today less than 10 miles from Saigon and only two miles from the Vietnamese army's military academy at Thu Duc. A defense ministry spokesman said Communists killed one government militiaman and wounded another, with a third listed as missing.

MINOR CLASHES

A string of minor clashes in the far northern part of the country also was reported today.

Near South Viet Nam's second city of Hue in Thua Thien Province, the Viet Cong poured 40 rounds of 81-mm mortar fire into an army training camp Sunday night. An American military spokesman said three men were wounded in the attack of the camp at Hiep Khanh.

Elsewhere in the province, government troops killed two

Viet Cong rebels and captured two others in a clash Sunday morning.

In Quang Tin Province, 350 miles northeast of Saigon, government militiamen reported they killed nine Communists in two separate clashes northwest of the town of Tam Ky Sunday morning.

In one clash, the militia forces lost four killed and three wounded. In the other they lost three wounded.

U. S., Russia at Odds on N-Ban Agenda

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union told the 17-nation disarmament conference today that they still have not reached agreement on an agenda for a working group to discuss the abolition of nuclear delivery vehicles.

U.S. delegate Clare H. Timberlake said he found it "disappointing" that the Russians insist that the group confine its discussion to their proposal for the immediate destruction of most atomic weapons with the nuclear powers each retaining a small nuclear shield.

Chief Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin again rejected the U.S. position for a percentage reduction in nuclear arms.

GOODBY, 'POP' — Dowagiac's controversial alderman, Calvin R. "Pop" Davis, is removed from council chambers of the city hall by two local policemen James Vargo (left) and Lewis Trucks. "Pop" resigned his post and then met with rebuffs when he tried to withdraw his resignation.

Former Councilman Ejected, Seat and All

DOWAGIAC (AP) — Calvin R. (Pop) Davis clung on to what he says is rightfully his Dowagiac City Council seat Monday night. But it didn't do him any good.

On City Council orders, both Davis and his seat were removed from its meeting.

Two policemen wheeled Davis outside in the swivel armchair in which he was sitting, something in the fashion in which federal agents removed Sewell Avery as chairman of Montgomery Ward & Co. when he defied government orders in World War II.

Dissension has racked the Dowagiac City Council for months.

Davis resigned his council seat July 10, then retracted the resignation next day. But the city's other councilmen, rejecting the retraction, voted to accept the resignation.

Davis claims the acceptance is meaningless in view of his retraction. So he showed up Monday night and plopped down in a seat, announcing "I will not be removed."

Four other councilmen, who already had voted to give Davis' seat to Richard Foreman, asked City Attorney Lee Boothby what to do.

Boothby handed the question right back, replying what to do was the council's problem.

There were then four unanimous votes calling upon George Grady, acting police chief and son of absent councilman, to eject Davis.

On the chief's orders, two policemen gave Davis a free-wheeling ride out the door,

Hopes High for Approval of LBJ's Antipoverty Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Speaker John W. McCormack expressed "high hopes" today that the House will approve President Johnson's $96.2-million antipoverty bill by Friday.

Following the weekly meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with Johnson, McCormack said "this should be a bipartisan measure" and "it will be interesting to watch the vote on Friday." Republicans are opposing the proposal.

McCormack said the leaders discussed with Johnson prospects for the measure, scheduled to come up on the House floor tomorrow.

The bill's backers claim publicly that they have enough votes to pass the bill. But some supporters agree privately with what the opponents are saying aloud—that a sure majority has not been nailed down.

"The issue is simple," McCormack said. "It is whether this country will, in its own self interest, open up the doors of opportunity for those who cannot share in the general prosperity and, by opening those doors, make taxpayers out of taxpayers."

The antipoverty bill "is a long-standing debt that we owe morally to those who have been caught in economic backwaters," the speaker said.

"But it is also good sense—good sense for America's economy. We have high hopes that this measure will be passed."

Union Lake's Paul Bunyan Celebration to Be Giant-Size

UNION LAKE — The Paul Bunyan celebration here next week promises to live up to its name, with enough activities to keep several giants busy.

The Union Lake Business Area Association event will begin Sunday. For the next three days participants will be entertained by parades, a circus, various games, booths and exhibits.

Among the new activities this year is an arts and crafts show.

Registration for the exhibit will be from 6 to 10 p.m. tomorrow at 1515 Union Lake, on the corner of Cooley Lake Road.

Note Cheaters on Sales Tax

Sellers at Fairs Must Submit Collections

County fair time is just around the corner.

While most Michigan citizens will have a good time at the fairs they attend, a few will be fleeced by sellers of merchandise who do not keep their word.

Each year, sellers who do not have a sales tax license issued by the Michigan Department of Revenue, are active in selling goods at the various county fairs.

Because most people generally buy from local merchants who collect the 4 per cent sales tax and remit it to the revenue department, it is assumed that all sellers will do the same.

Unfortunately, this is not so, according to Attorney General Frank J. Kelley.

Complaints received by his office indicate that frequently these out-of-state sellers do not remit any sales tax to the State of Michigan, Kelley said.

TAX IS PAID

This happens despite the fact that the buyer of such goods pays the tax to the seller and is assured it will be taken care of.

Michigan law requires the buyers of goods in such instances to pay a use tax equal to the sales tax.

The only way for people to protect themselves in such a sale is to demand to see a copy of the seller's sales tax license.

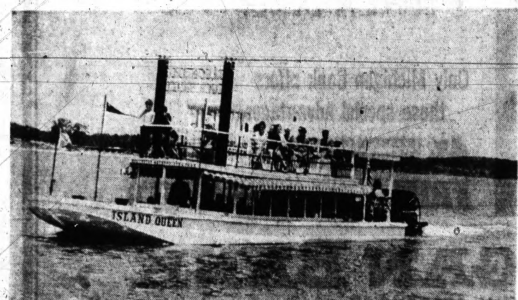

If he has one, the buyer is protected. If he does not, buyer beware.

Existentialism Lecture Topic

A public lecture on existentialism will climax the summer program of the Oakland County Great Books Discussion Groups tomorrow in Detroit.

Dr. James Haden, Oakland University Department of Philosophy chairman, will discuss the 20th century philosophy at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Detroit Main Library, 5201 Woodward.

The topic will be explored through the writing of four prominent authors in the field, Soren A. Kierkegaard, Karl Jaspers, Jean-Paul Sartre and Albert Camus.

Three judges will appraise the work and award ribbons during the display opens Sunday. Members of the jury are Mrs. Sanford A. McLean, Clarkson art teacher; Mrs. Russell P. Foulkes, former color and design teacher; and Mrs. James Lobdell, interior decorator.

ART SHOW

Persons attending the show also will cast votes for their favorite works, with separate ribbons to be awarded for the regular judging.

The art show will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. for the three days of the Paul Bunyan celebration.

The creativity of youngsters will be put to work at the exhibit during clay workshops scheduled for the same hours.

Boys and girls will be given free clay and sculpting hints.

Back Zones for Business off Freeway

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Keeping pace with highway construction here, the zoning board last night agreed to recommend addition of a freeway service district classification to the zoning ordinance.

Designed to provide services for freeway traffic at the interchanges and feeder roads, the category would allow construction of motels, service stations and other retail establishments for the motorists.

Clement Cleveland, chairman of the zoning board, pointed out that the zoning amendment, if passed by the township board, will not bind individual property owners.

"If this amendment passed, it would not hinder an individual from immediately selling his property," Cleveland said. "It also would not bind an individual to all his neighbors so as to force sale of their property."

Cleveland called the amendment a "good piece of legislation that should be adopted for proper planning of the community."

The zoning board's recommendation will come before the township board at next Monday's session.

Man Sought in Holdup Gives Up in Wyoming

DETROIT (AP) — A man sought in the $7,140 holdup of a bank at Sawyer in Berrien County last April 25 has surrendered in Cheyenne, Wyo., the FBI announced here today.

Held pending return to Michigan on a federal warrant issued June 9 at Grand Rapids was a man identified by the FBI as Donald L. Houston, 36, of Niles.

The bank, a branch of the Bank on Three Oaks at Sawyer, was held up by a lone pistol-wielding bandit who ordered a teller to place money in a gunny sack.

While Awaiting Court Order

Lake Orion to Continue Sewer System

LAKE ORION — Village Council last night agreed to continue working at full speed on the proposed sewage system while awaiting an official court order to increase the pace.

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley has filed suit against Lake Orion, charging the village with failing to move fast enough on alleviation of the pollution in Paint Creek.

However, as yet the village has not received official notice of the suit.

Lake Orion is charged with failing to meet sewage treatment schedule set up by the Michigan Water Resources Commission for correcting the sewage and pollution problem.

'SUIT PREMATURE'

"This suit is premature," Village Attorney Robert V. Parent said today. "The village and the county have been working on the problem."

Parent said the village council received a letter from the county indicating they have already forwarded to the states plans for the sewage system and treatment plant.

"This will show them that we are moving ahead," he said.

Initially, the village was told to have construction plans and specifications for sewage treatment facilities forwarded to the commission by last December.

However, after putting the project in the hands of the county, the village was granted an extension.

Under terms of the extension, plans were to be submitted to the State Health Commissioner by April 1, 1964 and contracts were to be awarded by July 1, 1964. The system was to be in operation before July 1, 1965.

Suit was brought against the village because of its failure to comply with the first two dates in the timetable and the opinion of the commission that it was impossible to meet the July 1, 1965, deadline.

Until receiving official notice of the suit, the village council plans to continue its present efforts, according to Parent.

Romeo Contest Date Changed

ROME — The dozen girls who will be competing for the Romeo Peach Queen title this year have an extra day to wait.

The date of the contest has been moved back from Aug. 18 to Aug. 19 because of a conflict of scheduling at the Community Center.

To be eligible to vie for the coveted crown, contestants must already be beauty queens in their own communities.

To date, towns and cities invited to send representatives include Oxford, Rochester, Orionville, Uica, Armada, Algonac, Flint, Mount Clemens, Lapeer, and others.

During the judging, the girls will appear on stage in both street wear and formal gowns. They will be interviewed individually, give brief readings and answer questions drafted by a panel of out-of-town judges.

The winner will reign over the 32nd annual Peach Festival Labor Day weekend. The two entry deadline dates are fast approaching for prospective State Fair participants.

Because of the increased facilities available in the new Home Arts Building, it has become possible to accept more entries in this department and the deadline, originally set for July 31, has been extended to Friday.

Entries for livestock, horses, and agriculture must also be received by Friday, and Junior Show exhibitors have until Aug. 14.

Beauty Queens must submit their applications by Aug. 21, and contestants in the various drum major and majorette groups must file by Aug. 17, although late entries will be accepted after that date if accompanied by the late entry fee of $1.

Nominations for the Senior Citizen Award should be received at the Fairgrounds by Aug. 21.

No advance registration is needed for any of the daily children's contests.

'The Bellylaff'

By ESTHER LACY

The foreman hurried over to my workbench and told me, "Jack, go right home. The police just called, your house has been robbed!"

"What? Was Carla there? Did anything happen to her?"

"Well," the foreman hesitated, "Jack, your wife's unconscious but the police said there's nothing to worry about she's..."

I dashed out of the plant still wearing my work apron, kept the key pedal on the floor and six minutes later skidded into the driveway of our new home.

We'd returned from our honeymoon last week and I had nightmare visions of my darling Carla battered and bruised. "Carla, my child-bride!"

POLICE PRESENT

There was a police car in the driveway and as I dashed into the house a burly man, obviously a detective, stopped me and asked, "Your husband?"

"Yes, where's my wife?"

"Relax, she's okay. On the couch."

There indeed was my Carla, sleeping like an angel, looking cute in her new house dress, her pretty face in repose, seemed younger than 18 years.

There wasn't a mark on her, she looked as if she'd merely stretched out for an afternoon nap.

SLEEPING PILLS

But the house was in rough shape, drawers ransacked, books knocked off their shelves. I shook Carla but the detective said, "Leave her alone, she took a couple of sleep pills."

"My Carla doesn't need any sleep pill, why she once dozed off at my side in a movie. What happened here?"

"About 25 minutes ago a neighbor across the street noticed a man leaving your place with a suitcase, thought he was acting suspicious and phoned us."

Convicted in Tallahassee Sit-In

Jailed Ministers Launch New Appeal

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A group of clergymen who went to jail Monday on a sit-in conviction after three years of appeals ran out have started a new line of appeal.

The five white and three Negro clergymen spent the night in segregated cells and were assigned work duties for today.

But their lawyer said the men probably would pay $500 fines and go home if the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans refuses to take jurisdiction and grant bond during appeals.

The lawyer, Howard Dixon, said he sent the court an emergency telegram and he expected a decision by tomorrow.

TURNED DOWN

U.S. Dist. Judge G. Harold Carswell turned down the clergymen's petition Monday. It contended there was no evidence of unlawful assembly and that an Interstate Commerce Commission order had wiped out segregation at Tallahassee transportation terminals.

The clergymen were "freedom riders" testing compliance with the ICC order. They were arrested for unlawful assembly when they refused to leave a segregated airport restaurant.

Carswell said the clergymen must return to Municipal Court Judge John Rudd, who had convicted them three years ago. In arguing for their release before federal court, Dixon said the police "had two choices" to arrest the clergymen or to arrest the hoodlums and rednecks who were threatening them from outside the terminal. He made the wrong choice.

LOST APPEALS

The clergymen have lost appeals to the circuit court, State Supreme Court and the U.S. Supreme Court. They are:

The Rev. John W. Collier of Newark, N.J.; Dr. Robert M. Brown of Stanford, Calif.; the Rev. Robert J. Stone of New York City; the Rev. A. McArven Warner of New York City; Rabbi Israel Dresner of Springfield, N.J.; Rabbi Martin Freedman of Paterson, N.J.; the Rev. Arthur L. Hargde of New Britain, Conn.; and the Rev. Petty D. McKinney of Nyack, N.Y.

The Rev. Wayne Hartmire Jr., of Culver City, Calif., arrived Monday night and said he would decide on whether to go to jail after appealing before Judge Carswell.

Dixon said a 10th clergyman convicted with the others would pay his fine. He identified him as the Rev. Ralph Lord Roy of New York City.

Housewives Fight to Preserve Trees

ELMONT, N.Y. (AP) — Housewives pushing baby carriages have routed the tree-choppers in the first skirmish over the shade trees of Evans Avenue.

Town officials of this Long Island community want to widen the streets, lined with oaks and elms that stand between the sidewalks and the pavement.

The women of Elmont, many of them refugees from the concrete canyons of New York City, want to preserve the greenery. They moved out in force Monday.

UNDER TREE

Mrs. Charles Spanier stationed herself under a condemned tree, looked up at a workman and said: "If you cut off one more branch, you'll have to drop it on my head to get rid of it."

The workman climbed down. Pushing their infants in front of them, a dozen housewives led by Mrs. Hope Fox surrounded a truck that was to haul away the dismembered trees. They chanted Evans Avenue and after an hour, forced the workmen to give up for the day.

They also started circulating a petition and organized a telephone squad to swamp the office of the town board with complaints.

NOT AVAILABLE

Town officials were not available for comment.

"I have nothing against drainage pipes or new curbing," said Mrs. Fox. "It's just that we moved out to the suburbs because we like the country atmosphere, which is rapidly disappearing."

"This whole thing started months ago, when we first heard that the streets in a 22-block area south of the Hempstead turnpike were going to be widened."

"We understood then that some of the trees would have to go, but there would be enough room between the sidewalk and the curb to plant new ones if we wanted to. But, when the man came around last Friday to mark the trees that were to be cut, he marked all but four in the whole area and told us that the curbs would be right next to the sidewalk."

"Solid cement! Imagine that!"

Retired General Dies;

Veteran of Both Wars

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Retired Brig. Gen. William K. McNulty, a Marine Corps combat veteran of both world wars who commanded the Marine garrison on Guam that was overrun by Japanese in World War II, died Monday of a heart attack. He spent nearly four years in Japanese prison camps. He won the Silver Star for his part in five major battles in World War I. He was 73.

Exile Says Castro Is Inciting Negroes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Former Cuban President Manuel Urrutia has accused Fidel Castro of having a hand in racial violence in the United States.

Urrutia, Castro's first chief executive, said Monday that the Cuban dictator "has from the start of his rule shown an interest in stirring up American Negroes. Now he maintains a regular English language broadcast from Havana designed to incite American Negroes to rebellion."

Urrutia referred to "Radio Free Dixie," a broadcast by Robert Williams, a Negro from Monroe, N.C., who fled to Cuba after being indicted on a kidnapping charge stemming from racial trouble.

Urrutia broke with Castro in 1960.

Russians Urged Not to Do Twist

MOSCOW (AP) — Something un-Soviet is happening in Soviet homes at night — people are doing the Twist.

The practice was denounced today by the director of the Soviet Union's leading folk ballet, Igor Moiseyev, who said that the country needs modern dances based on national traditions.

He blamed the popularity of such dances as the Twist in some Soviet circles on the "vacuum" caused by the absence of acceptable modern Soviet dances.

"The dances born in the West between the tables of nightclubs, dances carrying to us an alien aesthetic and morality, are filled with a dose of pathology and eroticism," Moiseyev wrote in the newspaper Literaturnaya Gazeta (Literary Gazette).

"We must have our own dances to counterpose those that are coming to us from the West. We need a mass Soviet dance, modern, and at the same time based on national traditions."

Junior Editors Quiz on SUNBURN

QUESTION: What makes your skin get sunburned?

ANSWER: As light rays pour down on us from the sun, only a small fraction of them affect or change our skin. These rays are invisible, and lie just beyond the violet end of the visible spectrum.

They are part of the group called "ultra violet rays." But even if you can't see them, your skin feels these ultra violet rays most definitely. Fifteen minutes of exposing an untanned skin to bright sunlight will cause tan to start forming. Twenty minutes may cause sunburn.

Look at the diagram. In the outermost of the skin's two layers, the epidermis, are networks of special cells called "melanocytes."

These can produce particles of the brownish pigment melanin. When the ultra violet rays pour down, this starts the melanocytes working and the melanin they turn out (right) makes the skin tan.

Melanin absorbs the ultra violet rays and so a tan is a protection — up to a point. Stay in the sun too long and a chemical is released which works down into the skin's lower layer, and makes the blood vessels swell.

Then your skin gets red and uncomfortable. A light sunburn will do little damage, but too much may cause great discomfort and even serious illness.

FOR YOU TO DO: The next time you start sunbathing with a untanned skin, remember these hints: Tan gradually — no more than 15 minutes in the sun at first. Use a suntan lotion. And wear sunglasses.

Lions Prepare for 1st Exhibition

Redskins First Foe Saturday

By BRUNO L. KEARNS, Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Everyone likes to win and coach George Wilson of the Detroit Lions is no different.

During the forthcoming NFL exhibition season however, which starts against the Washington Redskins Saturday night, Wilson puts winning second in importance to the experience he wants to give Lions' rookies and newcomers.

"Sure we want to win even the exhibition games, but this is the time to give the new players a chance to play and that's what we aim on doing Saturday night," Wilson said.

"We'll start all our veterans but then all the rookies left on the squad and players at new positions will play most of the way," he added.

TRAVELING SQUAD
By dropping three rookies, end Doug Bickle and linemen Ron Frank and Currie Ball yesterday, the traveling squad for Saturday night's encounter at Charlotte, N.C. against the Skins will be players.

Wally Hilgenberg, rookie guard and linebacker from Iowa, is playing in the college All-Star game against the Chicago Bears Friday night and will be accompanied Director of Player Personnel, Russ Thomas to Charlotte on Saturday.

He is not expected to play against the Skins however.

Who Wilson will start at quarterback is uncertain, but most likely it will be Earl Morrall, whose fantastic finish at the end of the 1963 season moved him out of the relief role into a starting berth.

Morrall and Milt Plum made similar showings in the intrasquad scrimmage last Saturday night at U. of D. Stadium and Plum's Blue squad emerged the winner, 10-0.

Together they completed 18 of 45 passes, somewhat below par, but Wilson admitted this was "pretty good" in view of the fact that the defense knew what the offense was planning.

Jim Simon, who was moved from defensive end into an offensive guard slot, will get a good test at his new position Saturday night.

Veteran guards John Gordy and J. D. Smith were going both ways in the scrimmage and Simon's showing at this position will be a big factor in the Lions' offensive depth this year.

"We'll give Dick Crompton and Larry Vargo a good crack at the defensive backfield. They have to be considered rookies at these positions," noted Wilson.

ZOOMING IN — Coach George Wilson of the Detroit Lions zooms in on his two quarterbacks Milt Plum (left) and Earl Morrall hoping this is the year the two tested signal callers will make the Lions strong contenders in NFL title chase. The Lions start their exhibition season Saturday night against the Redskins in Charlotte, N.C.

Pros Patching Up Players

Buddy Dial Will Be Out 6 Weeks

By The Associated Press
Buddy Dial, a prize addition to the Dallas Cowboys' pass-receiving corps, rested today after a successful operation but the former Pittsburgh Steelers star will be a big question mark when his new club opens the National Football League season next month.

Dial, acquired from the Steelers last December, underwent surgery in Dallas Monday to correct a tear in the middle muscle of his right thigh.

The Rice alumnus was hurt last week during a workout at the Cowboys' training camp in Thousand Oaks, Calif.

"We are very pleased with the results," said General Manager Tex Schramm. But, according to team doctors, Dial won't be able to run at full speed for about six weeks. The Cowboys and St. Louis Cardinals kick off the regular NFL schedule at Dallas Sept. 12.

In California, meanwhile, the Cowboys stepped up preparations for their preseason debut against Los Angeles. Coach Tom Landry announced top ball-carrier Don Perkins would switch from halfback to fullback for the encounter with the Rams.

KNEE SURGERY
Another pass-catching stand-out, Chris Burford of the Kansas City Chiefs, underwent a knee operation today in Dallas. The American Football League star had a similar operation two years ago. He injured the knee two weeks ago and will be sidelined for six more weeks.

Coach Hank Stram said halfback Abner Haynes will replace Burford at split end in the Chiefs' exhibition game with the Oakland Raiders Sunday.

Fullback Curtis McIntown, whose left hand was broken in a scrimmage last week, also will miss the Oakland game. He is expected to be available for the next exhibition, against Buffalo Aug. 14.

Al Davis, the Oakland pilot, listed six casualties, including all-AFL linebacker Archie Matsos, who will sit out the Raiders-Chiefs game. Davis said none of the six is seriously hurt.

The NFL champion Chicago Bears, preparing for their Friday night date with the College All-Stars at Chicago, went through stiff offensive and defensive drills after Coach George Halas said scouting reports show the current All-Star squad is stronger than the one which upset Green Bay last year.

College Kicker Key to Upset of Bears

CHICAGO (AP) — During the College All-Star drills when big strong men battered each other in preparation for Friday night's game against the Chicago Bears, one big, strong man played a relatively lonely role.

Dick Van Raaphorst of Ohio State took no part in the muscle vs. muscle scrimmages. If it hadn't been for his football uniform, Van Raaphorst would have appeared to be a stranger to the practice sessions.

Over and over again Van Raaphorst practiced what he does best — kicking field goals. And if the All-Stars defeat the Bears in Soldier Field, the booting Buckeye might provide the margin of victory.

The last three victories scored in the series by the All-Stars have resulted directly from the art of field goal kicking. Last year Bob Jenks, now of the Bears, made good kicks of 20 and 33 yards in the 20-17 triumph over the Green Bay Packers.

In 1958, Bobby Joe Conrad of Texas A&M kicked field goals to give the All-Stars a 35-19 triumph over Detroit. In 1959, another Buckeye, diminutive Tad Weed, kicked three field goals in a 20-27 triumph over the Cleveland Browns.

SET RECORD
Van Raaphorst, a 21-year-old 6-1 220 pounder, was one of the top field goal kickers in college ranks last season. He set a Big Ten record with six goals in competition and eight for the year. He booted them long and he booted them short.

Because of the tremendous defense the Bears are expected to throw at the All-Stars, Van Raaphorst should have plenty of chances to try his specialty.

The All-Stars will find the going rough when they get into Bear territory and the Bears' secondary has no intention of allowing All-Star quarterbacks to throw touchdown bombs.

More often than not, Van Raaphorst will be called upon to attempt field goals.

If the big guy is reasonably successful, he could provide the All-Stars with the necessary points to upset the Bears.

The Bear offense was anything but terrifying last year, and there is little reason to believe that things have changed.

Owner-Coach George Halas, however, has promised a more versatile and explosive offense for the 1964 campaign.

5 Ex-Champs in State GAM Meet

Batting Stance Aids McAuliffe

DETROIT (AP)—A somewhat slight build and an awkward batting stance make Detroit Tigers shortstop Dick McAuliffe look like anything but a major league baseball player, much less a slugger.

Yet the 24-year-old McAuliffe has already bettered a personal season's high in one hitting category and could improve on three or four more before the season is over.

PREVIOUS HIGH
With 47 runs batted in, McAuliffe seems certain to top his previous high of 63 in 1962. He had 61 last year.

He's already tied his previous season's high in triples with six and needs just 5 more doubles to top the 20 he hit in 1962.

Though disappointed that he is not hitting closer to the .300 mark, McAuliffe feels that his hitting will continue to improve and that he will eventually make the grade.

"I've been hitting the ball well and staying above my lifetime average (.261)," McAuliffe said. "I've been feeling good all year and took good care of myself in the off season. This, I think, has given me more power."

Despite moments of brilliance, McAuliffe has been criticized for his fielding. Some so-called experts feel that he lacks the range to be a great shortstop, while many point out the fact that he commits a number of errors.

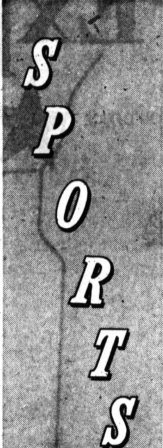

MORE CHANCES
But pitcher Hank Aguirre, speaking for the rest of the staff, defended McAuliffe's fielding.

"Sure he's committed a lot of errors," Aguirre said. "But he also gets more chances than anyone else and it figures he's going to miss a few more."

"He's made a lot of good plays, too. But these always seem to get lost in the shuffle. Everyone always remembers the missed plays."

The Tigers, after losing two to Cleveland Sunday, were in Chicago today to open a three-game set with the White Sox. All three games will be played at night.

The Tigers return home Friday for a night game against Kansas City, the first of a four-game weekend series.

Tigers Call for Navarro

To Replace Injured Sherry as Reliever

DETROIT (AP)—With pitcher Larry Sherry disabled by a broken bone in his right foot, the Detroit Tigers have called up Julio Navarro from their Syracuse farm club to take Sherry's place in the relief corps.

Navarro, who was 4-3 after being sent down to Syracuse May 31, was scheduled to join the Tigers in Chicago in time for tonight's game against the White Sox.

X-rays disclosed Monday that a smash off the bat of Leon Wagner in Sunday's second game at Cleveland had fractured a bone in Sherry's foot, just above his little toe.

Dr. Russell Wright, team physician, said Sherry would be out of action at least a month and he was placed on the disabled list to make room for Navarro.

Navarro was acquired from Los Angeles last April 28 in the swap of pitcher-outfielder Willie Smith to the Angels.

In 11 innings of relief work with the Tigers, Navarro threw 10 home run balls.

Tourney Starts Thursday at Warwick Hills

Jim Smith Is Back to Defend Title; Play Will End on Sunday

Five former champions including three-time winner Bud Stevens of Western Golf Club will be on hand for the opening round of the Golf Association of Michigan tournament opening Thursday at Warwick Hills near Grand Blanc.

Returning to defend his 1963 title is Jim Smith of Lakepointe, who defeated Bill Albright of Detroit in the finals, 5 and 4.

Bud Stevens captured the title in 1958, repeated in 1959, and came home first again in 1962.

Other ex-champs in the 129-man field are Tom Draper (1956 and 1960) of Red Run, Gene Johnson (1955) of Grosse Ile and Gene Woodard of Lochmoor.

"The field will be trimmed to the low 85 plus the defending titlist following tomorrow's 18-hole qualifying round over the 7,200-yard, par 72 Warwick layout."

MATCH PLAY

The low 31 scorers will join Smith in championship flight play for two 18-hole rounds Friday and on Saturday. Semifinals and finals will be played Sunday.

The remaining 64 players will be divided into four flights for match-play competition. They will play one round Friday, one Saturday and close the tourney with semifinal and final rounds Sunday.

Some of the players expected to give the former champs a strong battle for the crown are Fred Ewald of Oakland Hills, Bob Corley of Country Club of Jackson, Cal Cooke of Grosse Ile, Don Stevens (Bud's brother) of Plum Hollow and Lee Palmer of Grosse Ile.

Ewald and Bill Adams of Red Run teamed up Sunday in winning the Black River Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament at Port Huron.

Compare Lema With Hagen

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK (UPI)—As Champion Tony Lema headed back to Chicago today he admitted that his glass runneth over—with joy.

Since he married beautiful blonde Betty Cline of Oklahoma City a year ago, he has won more than $100,000 in golfing prize money. During the past two months, he played more sensationally perhaps than any previous professional in a similar streak.

And now, atop all this, tall Tony with the green eyes and curly black hair is getting a peek because so many of his admirers—from pros to duffers—are calling him "another Walter Hagen"—another great golfing ambassador of goodwill for America.

"I know it's not fair to Hagen," said Tony, "when people mention me in the same breath with the great Sir Walter," he grinned. "But I love it."

Only a couple of weeks ago, 30-year-old Lema of San Leandro, Calif., got a tremendous kick out of meeting 72-year-old Hagen of Detroit at Columbus, Ohio, during the PGA tourney.

PRINCE OF CHAMPIONS
It was Hagen, a swashbuckling champion of the links of the world and top-flight judge of good vintage, who opened the doors of exclusive clubhouses to golf professionals in Great Britain in the late 20's.

It seems that when Walter walked through those doors, he often was accompanied by a prince or by lords and ladies.

Also, "Sir" Walter was the first American to win the British Open.

British sports writers were quick to compare Lema with Hagen recently when young Tony, with only two days of practice, won the British Open on his first try, an unprecedented feat. And he did it by five strokes.

Then, Tony had four cases of French champagne—on ice—wheeled into the press room.

Lema has been treating the sports writers to champagne after each of his victories since he won his first small tournament in California two years ago. He had told them: "If I win, you fellows will all drink champagne."

At St. Andrews, he gained additional respect by giving $1,000 to his caddy, Tip Anderson, 32-year-old father of four.

Lema is one professional who appreciates the advice of caddies over tough courses. Some of that advice unquestionably helped him on this year's winning spree.

Today he flew back to Chicago to compete there over the weekend in the Western Open championship at the Tam-O-Shanter Country Club.

He was in New York briefly for Monday night's dinner honoring him and Arnold Palmer, Masters champion; Ken Venturi, the U.S. Open champ; and Bobby Nichols, PGA champ.

Bases Loaded Single Wins Game for UAW

A bases loaded single by Chet Woodmore in the third inning scored both runs as UAW Local 594 defeated Elks 2-0 in a tense American League softball playoff game at Beaudette Park last night.

Cal Atwood's three-run homer triggered Sam Reeves to a 6-4 victory over Bob & Ken's in the other AL game.

Bob & Larry's downed Orchard Lanes, 4-2, and Berry Door edged G & M Construction, 2-1, in National League playoff action at Northside.

UAW collected its only two hits off J. D. Jacobs in the third.

Two walks around a single by Alex Dillashaw set the stage for Woodmore's blow. Lee Sherry held the winners hitless the rest of the way.

Jake Mazur picked up the victory with a two-hitter, fanning eight.

BIG INNING
Atwood teed off during Reeves' five-run second inning that put the winners ahead 5-4.

Atwood then put the finishing touches on the verdict by tripling home the insurance tally in the fifth.

Bill LaRoze's two-run single in the fifth chased across what proved to be the winning runs for Bob & Larry's. Lloyd Harper scattered six hits to pitch the win.

Tom Haller blasted a double that scored both of Berry Door's runs in the second inning. Winning pitcher Bob Marshbanks worked out of bases loaded situation.

Woman Golfer in Lead
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Barbara Fay White of Shreveport, La. fired a six-under-par 71 Monday to take medalist honors in the qualifying round of the Broadmoor Invitational Women's Golf Tournament.

"I knew that once he had gotten over the nervousness of playing in the Davis Cup for the first time, he'd play the game he's capable of," Hopman said.

Stolle, who teamed with Emerson in the key doubles victory Sunday, jumped off to a quick advantage against Palafox, breaking the Mexican's serve when he double faulted in the second game of the first set.

From that point on, the 6-foot-5 Australian played a calm, determined game and won easily.

The victory puts the Australians into the American Zone finals against Chile, considered a much weaker opponent than Mexico. The match is scheduled in Minneapolis Aug. 14-16.

The winner goes against the winner of the Sweden-Philippines interzone match, scheduled in Basstid, Sweden, later this month.

Sweden clinched the European Zone title Monday when Jan Erik Lundquist, Sweden's top player, beat Pierre Darmon of France 3-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-1 in the singles match that gave the Swedes an unbeatable 3-1 lead.

Ulf Schmidt completed the job by defeating Pierre Barthes 6-2, 6-4, 6-5, 6-2.

The Philippines previously won the Asian Zone.

Some Weakness Shows in U.S. Track Olympics

Results Show Competition Will Be Stiff

Jones Wins Event, but Foreign Teams Score Some Upsets

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States, still flushed with its record triumph over Russia, won four events in a major international track and field meet in London but some other weak results could be cause for concern in this Olympic year.

No one is really saying anything, of course. The comments run from "interesting" through "very good performance," to "my, my." But there were some indications the U.S. may not be so overpowering as thought in some key events.

First there was the world-record-shattering discus throw of 211 feet, 9 1/4 inches by Ladvig Danek of Czechoslovakia in Prague Sunday.

That one was a real eyebrow-raiser. First, it's more than five feet beyond the pending record of 206-6 by Al Oerter, Walnut, Calif., who has won the event in the last two Olympics and is this country's No. 1 man again this year.

Oerter, who has gone over 200 feet a half dozen times this season, had a throw of 192-1 1/2 in winning a special event in the Canadian Olympic decathlon and women's pentathlon trials at Toronto a day earlier.

DEFINITE THREAT

Danek's throw stamped him a definite threat in an event the United States has virtually owned throughout the history of the modern Olympics. This country has failed to win the discus only three times, and has taken seven of the last eight gold medals.

The U.S. team's victories in London Monday came in the 400-meter hurdles, by Billy Hardin; the 110-meter hurdles, by Hayes Jones; the 400-meter dash, by Mike Larrabee; and the 200 meters, by Morgan Groth.

But Witold Baran of Poland scored an upset victory in the mile, running a European record 3:56 flat and beating Gary Weisiger and John Camen. Weisiger finished fourth, running 4:00.3 and trailing John Whetton of Britain and Basil Clifford of Ireland, each under four minutes.

The U.S. with Tom O'Hara and Dykes Dornbush, was expected to have an excellent shot at the 1,500-meter title in the Tokyo Olympics, but may encounter more difficulties than expected.

Simo Vazic of Yugoslavia ran an excellent 3:41 flat in winning the 1,500-meter title in the Tokyo Olympics, but may encounter more difficulties than expected.

Other events there saw Slavko Span of Yugoslavia with a 2:55.9 steeplechase, Yasi Krumov of Bulgaria with a 2:06.10 hammer throw and Roman Lesek of Yugoslavia with a 16-1 1/4 pole vault.

In London, Hardin won the 400-meter hurdles in 50.3; Jones took the high in 1:44 flat; Groth was timed in 1:48.5 and Larrabee just nipped teammate Ollan Cassell in 46.2.

But a 1,600-meter relay team of Cassell, Hardin, Larrabee and George Kerr was beaten by an English team anchored by Robbie Brightwell in 3:16.

And, if there was any speculation that old age may be catching up with Formosa's C. K. Yang, the world record holder in the decathlon, he was not in the decathlon. He rolled up 8,067 points and won seven of the 10 individual events.

The performance was far off its record of 9,121, but Yang went only 21-11 in the broad jump.

Bonus Baby Rated Top 'Soph'

By The Associated Press

Bob Bailey, who last year had a price on his head, his picture all over town and a record that left him, suspect, is going straight — to Sophomore of the Year honors.

A $150,000 bonus baby who batted a dismal .228 last season, Bailey continued his heavy hitting Monday night by slugging a key triple in the eighth inning and a game-winning single in the ninth that gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

The two hits lifted Bailey's average to .304 and boosted the Pirates into third place in the light National League pennant struggle, 4 1/2 games behind the front-running Philadelphia Phillies and 2 1/2 lengths behind the Giants.

A vital offensive weapon in the Pirates' bid to duplicate their 1960 pennant, Bailey has always spoken freely about the pressure applied by the gigantic bonus and his meager accomplishments as a rookie last year when the Pirates nosedived to eighth place.

"I've forgotten about the money pretty much," said the 21-year-old third baseman. "That's in the past. I used to think about it a lot. I didn't want to be the big failure. I hit 28 home runs at Columbus and that turned my head.

BEAT HIMSELF

"I thought I would be able to cope with the major leagues," he explained. "I thought I would be able to do the job. But I beat myself. The club was going bad and I felt it could help the club best by hitting the ball out of the park."

"That's where I fouled up. I just should have swung the bat. If you hit 228, you got to hit 30 home runs. Maybe 60."

Only two other games were scheduled, both in the American League. Baltimore rode Milt Pappas' shutout pitching to a 7-0 victory over the Los Angeles Angels and to within one percentage point of the first-place New York Yankees. And Cleveland defeated Washington 4-2.

Page Pagan was involved in both San Francisco runs as the Giants built a 2-0 lead. He beat out a punt in the fifth inning and eventually scored on Duke Snider's single. In the sixth he drove in Tom Haller, who had doubled, with a sacrifice fly.

Bailey then got the Pirates rolling against Bob Bolin, who had a five-hit shutout through seven innings. After Manny Mota stroked a pinch-hit double with one out in the eighth, Bailey slammed his triple and came home with the tying run on Bill Virdon's single.

CLINCHING HIT

In the ninth, after Bill Mazeroski and Dick Schofield had singled, Bailey came up with two out and poked a grounder up the middle for the clincher.

Pappas, bringing his record to 10-5, blanked the Angels on eight hits and did not allow a runner past second base. While he was shutting out Los Angeles for the third time this season, the Orioles pounded Bo Belinsky and four successors for 13 hits.

Dick Brown collected three hits and three games behind Robinson and Sam Bowens each drove in two runs with a pair of hits.

The Indians broke a 2-2 tie against the Senators in the fourth when Chico Salmon doubled. Vic Davallillo beat out an infield hit and Billy Moran followed with a sacrifice fly. Davallillo and Dick Howser each collected three hits in a 14-hit attack.

Dick Donovan, 6-7, got the victory with Luis Tiant's relief help.

3-3 RECORD

The Reds have won three and lost three under Sisler.

The Reds are in third place in the National League, 4 1/2 games behind front-running Philadelphia and three games behind San Francisco.

Sisler, an ex-Philadelphia star, said the Reds' chances of winning the pennant are good.

"We've got good pitching," he said, "but the boys who have the ability have got to show it."

He said he was referring to Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson, who are having their hitting troubles.

British Champion in Failing Moment

LONDON (AP) — It's the moment every champion dreads — to quit in front of his family and home crowd.

This happened Monday to Britain's Bruce Tulloh, reigning 5,000 meters champion, for the second time in three days.

Last Saturday Tulloh, once one of Britain's brightest hopes for the Tokyo Olympics, gave up after 8 1/2 laps in the 5,000 meters at a London meet.

His wife, Pat, was there to watch him walk dejectedly off the track. She cried.

NOT THERE

Monday, in another meet, Tulloh, lagging well behind the rest of the field, quit on the seventh lap — just over the halfway stage in the 5,000 meters.

"It just wasn't there," he said.

His wife and a holiday crowd of 35,000 saw him fail for the second time.

"Bruce is shattered," said his wife later. "He's not used to failure."

Tulloh said, "There is nothing wrong with me physically, but I am mentally mixed up and worried about qualifying for Tokyo."

The 28-year-old Briton has one more chance to qualify for Britain's Olympic squad — by doing well in England's meet against Poland at London's White City Stadium Aug. 15.

Bloomfield Caddie Team GAM Winner

The Caddie team from Bloomfield Hills Country Club took GAM district championship yesterday at Meadowbrook CC with a six-player score of 511.

Individual medal honors went to John DiCicco of Detroit Golf Club and Jim Giroux of Edgewood. They each posted a 76 and DiCicco won in a sudden death playoff.

Leading the Oakland Hills team was John Christensen, 16-year-old caddie from Rochester. He fired a 79. Other members of the team were John Mallory, Tom Dunsath, Chuck Storm and James Ross.

Edgewood's caddie team took second place with a 515 total and Jackson Country Club was third with 519.

On the Edgewood team were Mike Giroux with 78, Bob Bowman, Russ Streeter, Russ Horton, Tom Naki and Bob Clark.

Sisler Reds Interim Boss

Hopes Hutch 'Can Take Over'

CINCINNATI (AP) — Coach Dick Sisler is enjoying running the Cincinnati Reds but "I hope and pray" that Manager Fred Hutchinson recovers and he "can take over again."

Hutchinson, stricken with a chest cancer, was released Monday from Christ Hospital where he was confined for a week of tests. But it was not announced if the 44-year-old manager would rejoin the team Tuesday night for a doubleheader with the Milwaukee Braves.

The decision apparently will be left to Hutchinson. A club spokesman said Hutch will return when "he says he feels up to it."

FEELING BETTER

Sisler said he met with Hutchinson after his release and the manager told him he's "feeling a little better." The Reds have refused to comment on the results of Hutchinson's examination.

"I just hope he can shake this to it," Hutchinson went from the hospital to his suburban home to relax.

Sisler, who has guided the Reds since July 27, also said he didn't know when Hutch will return.

"As far as I know I'll still be in charge until he comes back actively," Sisler said Monday night.

Sisler, 43, in his first role as manager of a major league club, said he was surprised when told he would be in charge during Hutch's absence.

"It's added to my gray hairs a little, but I enjoyed it," he said. "I knew I had some good coaches to help me and that the players would give me everything they had just like they do to me."

"I had a lot of pride in doing it for Hutch."

"But as soon as Hutch is ready, it's his ball club," said Sisler, who managed four years in the minors and joined the Reds in 1960.

3-3 RECORD

The Reds have won three and lost three under Sisler.

The Reds are in third place in the National League, 4 1/2 games behind front-running Philadelphia and three games behind San Francisco.

Sisler, an ex-Philadelphia star, said the Reds' chances of winning the pennant are good.

"We've got good pitching," he said, "but the boys who have the ability have got to show it."

He said he was referring to Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson, who are having their hitting troubles.

Peking May Be Planning Buildup

Attack on U.S. Ship Just a Start?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The torpedo attack on a U.S. destroyer in the Gulf of Tonkin may be just the beginning of an attempt to heat up the South-east Asia situation to the danger point.

Something out of the ordinary—perhaps a big military buildup—seems to be going on in Red

China's highly sensitive Luichow Peninsula, across the gulf from North Viet Nam. If there is a link between this and the attack on the U.S. destroyer Maddox, there is a good chance of more incidents.

Behind these will be a suggestion of political overtones, taking into consideration the presidential election in the United States and a gathering showdown storm within the Communist world.

The Chinese are touchy about the Tonkin Gulf area. Over the signature of Premier Chou En-lai, the Peking government has issued warnings to foreign shipping in the area of the Luichow Peninsula, the southernmost point of militarily important Kwangtung Province.

The warnings were in the form of new regulations for foreign shipping, concerned principally with the 15-mile-wide strait separating Red China's Hainan Island from Luichow Peninsula on the mainland.

The regulations laid down extraordinary precautions against the possibility of prying foreign eyes.

Ships using the strait were forbidden to use radar or photographic or survey equipment. They must use the middle of the strait, cruising only in strictly described areas, and must immediately obey any query or challenge.

STRICT REGULATIONS

Ships were not permitted to enter the strait from either side without 48 hours prior notice and must give complete details: marking, identification, nationality, tonnage, cargo, destination and the like. Ships failing to obey these regulations will be stopped and searched, Red China said.

The orders, issued by the Peking Council of State June 23, suggest extreme vigilance in the area.

The Luichow Peninsula and Kwangtung Province could have vast importance with regard to Red China's future plans for Southeast Asia.

A 600-mile military highway snakes from Canton down into the peninsula and then over to a point inside Communist North Viet Nam, where it connects with a coastal Tonkin Road.

IMPORTANT ROUTE

This road was used to supply Ho Chi Minh in his war against the French a decade ago, and probably remains an important supply route for Ho in his drive to envelop South Viet Nam.

Involvement of the 7th Fleet in shooting incidents in Southeast Asian waters could apply heat to generate a new situation which could play upon the political uncertainties both in the East and West in the next few months.

Incidents could cause acrimonious debate in the United States which might add to the apprehensions of Asians.

But there is another side to the coin. If the Soviet Communists are determined to call a world Communist meeting to condemn the course and policies of Chinese Communism, heating up the Southeast Asia situation to the danger point could present the Russians with a dilemma.

In the eyes of the world Communists, this would be no time to turn the Soviet back on Communist-ruled nations.

To the Tune of 'Yankee Doodle'

Sing Along With Fillmore

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Time, Inc., which can get pretty gay when it wants to, has brought out a new record album called "Sing Along With Millard Fillmore."

It is a collection of old campaign songs. Which is the next best thing to a collection of old campaign speeches.

Anyone who longs for the good old days should hear a few bars of "Get on the Ball with Taft" or "Keep Cool and Keep Coolidge." It is a sure cure for nostalgia.

I particularly admired the Coolidge song, the lyrics of which contain some rather ingenious rhymes. Consider, for instance, this couplet:

"A lot of politicians cannot do a thing but knock.
"But Calvin Coolidge is a man of action and not talk."

I don't know what sort of political impact that song had, but it probably set poetry back several generations.

In my judgment, it clearly topped the campaign of 1900, when a song writer in the McKinley camp rhymed "band" with "Uncle Sam."

Rhyming "knock" with "talk" was nothing, however, compared to the challenge facing the lyricist who wrote the words for the Whig Party's 1844 campaign song.

TOUGH ASSIGNMENT

It was his task to make something rhyme with the vice presidential candidate, whose name was Theodore Frelinghuysen. I think he solved the problem very neatly. To the tune of "Old Dan Tucker," he wrote:

"Hurrah, hurrah, the country's risin'
"Henry Clay and Frelinghuysen."

Needless to say, they lost. Unfortunately, some of the truly inspirational numbers in our legacy of campaign songs were crowded out of the album.

One notable omission was "The General Harrison Log Cabin March & Quick Step."

Also left out were such snappy compositions as "I Think We've Got Another Washington and Wilson Is His Name," "Let's Land London in the White House" and "Where There's a Willkie There's a Way."

Nor does the album include "The Calvin Coolidge March to the White House," whose composer sold the same song to the opposition party under the title "The John W. Davis March to the White House."

There is, however, no point in quibbling over what is not in the album. Ten songs were recorded and they are enough to make the album richly entertaining.

Apart from their entertainment value, the revival of these old campaign songs serves as an educational purpose.

They help explain the American political system. They help us understand why there were so many write-ins.

'Tax Car Parts From Canada'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government was urged by Rep. Henry C. Schadeberg, R-Wis., today to impose countervailing duties on Canadian motor-vehicle parts imported into the U.S. under subsidy from the Canadian government.

Schadeberg said in a prepared House speech that three of the plants of Modine Manufacturing Co., Racine, Wis., may close "if this Canadian scheme is not halted" and more than 1,000 of Modine's workers stand to lose their jobs.

The Canadian government's giving of a "bounty or grant" to Canadian manufacturers, Schadeberg said, enables them to compete illegally and unfairly with U.S. makers.

REPRESENTS MANDATE

Schadeberg said this represents a mandate to the Treasury Department to levy an additional duty equal to the amount of such subsidy.

"This action, clearly called for by U.S. statute, would enable American vehicle parts producers to operate in fair and open competition with their Canadian counterparts," Schadeberg said.

Movie Studio Draws Tourists

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Film history sometimes gets a rerun, just like television shows, and now we see Universal once again opening its gates to tourists.

It happened years ago when sage, Carl Laemmle charged visitors 25 cents a head to stand behind glass walls and watch movies being made.

Now the smart young bosses of Universal are replaying the old theme in modern terms.

This time the tab is $2.50, half-price for kids, for a tram ride through the movieland wonders. It's a pilot for a future project which will include a luxury hotel and amusement park, sort of a Disneyland north.

Having seen the inside of a studio, I assigned two operatives, age 16 and 12, to recover the tour. Here is their dispatch:

Our Visit to Universal City
By Nancy and Janet Thomas

We loaded onto a three-car tram which was pretty and pink with a fringe on top. Our hostess told us to remain seated and take as many photos as we wanted, except that they couldn't be used for commercial purposes. That was all right because we didn't bring a camera.

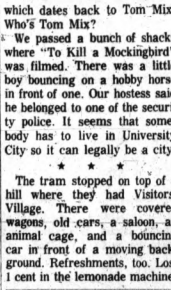

THROUGH GATE

The tram went through the gate and the hostess started pointing out where the producers, writers and stars have their offices. We saw Cary Grant's and Gene Kelly's parking spaces, but their cars weren't there.

We drove down a street lined with sound stages and with dressing rooms that belonged to Leslie Carron, Ethel Merman and Sandra Dee.

Next we drove down a street that had houses with no backs. One of them was built in 1924 for "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Gee, it's almost as old as daddy. Another house they used in "Leave it to Beaver." Then there was one that appeared in movies of Deanna Durbin. Who's Deanna Durbin?

We passed through lots of streets — New York, Chinatown, Paris, Denver, etc. Then we came to a Western street

Morse Leading Fight for Reduction

Senate May Vote on Aid Cuts Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse said the Senate may begin voting today on his proposals to cut over $500 million from the $3,466,700,000 foreign aid authorization bill.

The Oregon Democrat, leading off the fight against the House-passed measure, called the foreign aid program "a colossal failure as a deterrent to Communism" in a 2 1/2 hour speech Monday.

He told newsmen he planned a batch of other amendments aimed at "reforming" foreign aid policies and would seek recall votes on them later in the week. But he said he was ready for voting on his money-cutting proposals this afternoon.

Whether voting could start apparently depends on the speed with which the Senate acts on an interest equalization tax measure that temporarily side-tracked the foreign aid bill Monday.

The tax measure would levy an excise on purchases of foreign securities by Americans. It is designed to reduce the drain of U.S. funds to overseas countries.

Morse condemned "handing out money and weapons with the idea they will promote political stability, or keep friendly governments in power, or prop up a bloated military establishment in a foreign country."

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee recommended the $3,516,700,000 authorization request by President Johnson be reduced by only $50 million. The House has approved the authorization by the full amount asked for and in acting on the follow-up appropriations bill — which provides the funds for the program while the authorization sets only the ceiling — cut foreign aid to $3,316,572,400.

Teen Crushed to Death

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — Charles Verdon, 17, of Farwell, was crushed to death Monday when the tractor on which he was riding with his father, Harry Verdon, overturned on an embankment about 10 miles north of here. The father was not injured.

U.S. Purchases 630,000 Cases of Pitted Cherries

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said Monday it bought 630,000 cases of canned red tart pitted cherries—many of them in Michigan.

The purchase is to bolster producer prices of this year's record cherry crop and to supply the national school lunch program, the department said.

The largest purchase from a single bidder was $2,000 cases from the F and M Packing Co. of Traverse City.

Purchases were made from 26 bidders at prices ranging from $3.91 to $4.65 a case. Lowest prices were paid in big producing and processing centers in Michigan and highest prices in areas of smaller production.

The department said the purchase represents about 5.5 servings per child taking part in the lunch program.

Among married women, a large proportion of college graduates than high school graduates hold jobs, according to the Bureau of the Census.

Jacoby on Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

Experts are much luckier than average players. If you don't think so, look how unlucky South was.

He ruffed the opening club. One trump lead picked up both adverse trumps and South led the ten of diamonds.

The finesse lost to East's king and back came the jack of hearts. South had to lose three heart tricks and his contract.

A really expert South would not have run into all that bad luck. He could have done nothing against a diamond opening, but West had made a normal king of clubs lead.

This gave South a chance to insure his contract by means of an avoidance play. South should have discarded a diamond on the king of clubs.

Then, after trumps were drawn, South could play ace and queen of diamonds from dummy.

East would cover with the king, whereupon South would ruff and enter dummy with a trump in order to get rid of one losing heart.

He would lose two hearts later on, but two hearts and one other trick aren't enough to set a four spade contract.

In case West held the diamond king, expert South would still make the hand. He would discard one heart on the diamond queen. West would take the diamond king and one more trick for the same total of three.

Moderate Trading

Steels, Motors Take Drop

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and motors declined as the stock market took a fairly sharp loss early this afternoon in sharply active trading. Losses of fractions to a point or so prevailed among most key stocks.

The list was mixed and sluggish in early trading but the pace picked up as the steels and motors began to slide.

Analysts said the motors were upset by uncertainty in regard to the selection of possible "targets" by the United Auto Workers in labor contract negotiations.

Since the auto industry is steel's best customer, the steels—which have shown signs of strength lately on talk of a possible price increase—declined in sympathy.

The over-all list backedtracked pretty generally with the exception of utilities which were firm, playing the usual defensive role.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.3 at 317.9 with industrials off 2.1, rails off 1.1 and utilities unchanged.

Nab Suspects in Shooting

'Tough' Cabbie OK; Shot Twice in Head

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two suspects have been arrested in the bizarre shooting of a cab driver who chased his assailant, but refused medical attention despite two bullet wounds in the head.

One of the men admitted the shooting, police said.

The cab driver, Charles Newfield, 35, was shot twice in the head with a .22 caliber pistol when he refused to give two holdup men his money early yesterday.

Newfield, a 250-pound ex-policeman, chased his assailants until police caught up with him. He was taken to Mary Immaculate Hospital but decided he didn't want to stay.

He went back to a police station where he had left his belongings and police persuaded him to go to another hospital, where the bullet fragments were removed.

One of the suspects, James E. Johnson, 21, was picked up late last night and admitted the shooting, police said.

He named Marvin E. Grinnage, also 21, as his accomplice, police said, and Grinnage was arrested today.

Savings Rise No Indication of Spending Curb

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—A buildup in savings is reported this summer. This reverses the trend earlier in the year. And it adds a new chapter, however brief, it may prove to be, to the business and government's hardy whodunit: What will the American consumer do with his money?

Real sales are still rising. The American consumer isn't pinching pennies yet. The total of personal incomes keeps growing and collectively he has more to spend. So he's spending a little more.

That's still leaves money enough in the country to raise the total of retail sales. And the outlook for fall business is good, most merchants agree.

Manufacturers have been more inspired by the tax cuts and depreciation allowances. Their spending for expansion and modernization increases with each new report. And most of them have the sales and profits gains to back up their optimism for the future.

But in the first weeks after the tax cut, his extra dollars seemed to be going largely toward trimming the debt load. This is a kind of savings in itself. Charge accounts and other forms of personal short-term debt shrank a bit. And while the consumer was paying his bills, his savings accounts in various institutions were either not growing at all or at a noticeably reduced rate.

Then sales of many big-ticket items, like autos and household appliances, were healthier than in recent years. The taking on of new installment credit to finance such sales was noted.

ACHIEVING PURPOSE

From this, government and some corporate economists deduce that the tax cut was achieving its avowed purpose, spurring economic growth. People were buying, the industry could produce, and expand to produce more.

But now the savings institutions report that the savings rate is increasing again—and this time without the stimulus of any new increase in interest rates on savings. Having settled their more nagging bills, some Americans apparently are putting away more of their increased take-home pay.

NOT DRAG

Savings by consumers, so long as total spending isn't cut, is no drag in itself on the economy. The funds pouring into the institutions are available for the financing of the growth which industry is starting or planning.

This is vital to the economic advances which is the goal of government and business alike. Business spending, however, is mostly for projects that take time to materialize. Consumer spending is felt almost immediately.

The present moderate rise in the rate of savings isn't worrisome for many economists. In fact, more were worried lest the consumers would go on a spending spree, overheating the economy and bringing on a boom that would lead to inflation.

Business Notes

Harry J. Woodman, president of the Michigan Credit Union League, has been named general chairman of the Great Lakes Consumer Conference to be held in Detroit Sept. 21.

Woodman, who lives at 465 Gateway, Waterford Township, is general manager of the GMC Employees Federal Credit Union.

He will head the third in a series of regional consumer conferences sponsored by the President's Committee on Consumer Interests.

Jerry Hamlin has opened a barber shop at 5275 Dixie, Waterford Township, next to Dixie Floral. The shop is air-conditioned.

Howard H. Kehr, 3070 S. Millway, Bloomfield Township, has been appointed assistant chief engineer in charge of chassis, body and sheet metal design and development for Oldsmobile Division at Lansing.

Presently divisional manager of quality control, Mr. Kehr has been with General Motors since 1950.

Wallace Hits 'D.C. Stench'

Redistricting Plea Made to Legislature

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace coupled a plea for congressional redistricting today with an angry attack on what he called "the redolent stench" in Washington.

He told members of the Alabama Legislature meeting in special session that it is their duty to divide the state into new congressional districts. But he emphasized that his call for the session was not prompted by "fear of the federal court system."

A three-judge federal court has said it will redistrict the state unless the legislature does it before the 1966 elections.

Wallace, in a prepared speech, made no mention of the legislature at this time to consider redistricting legislation in the face of a growing Republican threat to unseat some of the state's Democratic members of Congress.

Wallace urged the legislature to join other states in petitioning for a constitutional amendment to nullify the Supreme Court's population-legislative apportionment decision.

Wallace reviewed his recently abandoned presidential campaign and what he called his battle for "the preservation of constitutional government, our Judeo-Christian moral and ethical values, and our Anglo-Saxon tradition of justice and jurisprudence."

Wallace urged the legislature to join other states in petitioning for a constitutional amendment to nullify the Supreme Court's population-legislative apportionment decision.

A "I would recommend a few stocks that are well-managed, enterprise, but there is an element of speculation in all stock prices because of the very nature of their business and the constant pressure for higher taxes."

Revere Raceway sells to yield 6.7 percent. That yield alone indicates that the market considers there is risk involved, which you cannot possibly afford.

Governor Politics in 14th District

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. George Romney spent Monday night in political peace - building in Wayne County.

He met first with Wayne County Republican candidates for office, then addressed an audience of 400 at the East Side rally sponsored by the Republican campaign organization on the 14th district.

Romney is campaigning for reelection to a new two-year term as chief executive. He is opposed within the GOP by former State Senator George Higgins, a Ferndale auto dealer.

The 14th Republican campaign organization is led by Jack Mathews, who also is leader of the Republican Citizens Group which opposes Richard Durrant as chairman of the 14th State Representative Committee.

During and several of his followers, however, attended the reception for Romney by Mathews' organization, Mathews said they had not been invited.

Mathews said Romney was warmly received and in answer to questions regarding the presidential candidacy of Sen. Barry Goldwater, B.A.R., said he was encouraging the state party to support the entire GOP ticket, top to bottom.

Fiction Writer Expires
MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP) - Flannery O'Connor, short-story writer and novelist who suffered from a chronic crippling illness, died Monday at the age of 39. In 1959, Miss O'Connor was one of 11 American writers to receive a Ford Foundation grant.

'65 Car Models Begin Rolling

Ford Plants First in New Line Production

DETROIT (AP) - The 1965 models began rolling on assembly lines in U. S. auto plants today.

First into new line production were Ford's Lincoln-Thunderbird plant at Wixom, Mich., and its Falcon-Comet plants at Lorain, Ohio, and Metuchen, N. J.

The 1965 models moved in behind a record output of an estimated 7,891,200 1964s, of which more than 5,000,000 were built this calendar year.

The one millionth truck to be built since Jan. 1 is scheduled to be produced today, according to Ward's Automotive Reports, which said that "on all counts, the auto industry is 'apace all other periods in history.'"

A 7.4 per cent increase in 1964 models over the old record set by 1963s came despite an earlier shutdown generally this year for model changes.

At week's end, only Ford Mustangs, which aren't changing models, were being produced. The industry's total output for the week was only 61,854, compared with 115,127 the previous week.

General Motors Corp. reported producing a record 4,256,750 passenger cars in the 1964 model run. Ford also claimed a new model record with 2,068,840.

Ward's Reports, an industry statistical agency, reported Chrysler's output of 1964s totaled 1,129,600 cars, with American Motors Corp. building 383,859, and Studebaker 33,150 before closing down its U. S. assembly plant and moving all auto production to Canada.

Automotive News estimated July's passenger car production at 587,717.

Girl Dies in Crash
LEXINGTON (AP) - Lynne Kingsley, 15, of Lexington died Monday of injuries suffered Sunday night when she was struck by a car on U. S. 23 three miles north of this Sanilac County town.

Restaurant Door Stops a Show Stopper's Pet
ROME-In the back seat, Rex Harrison was holding his sad-faced, worshipful Bassett hound, Homer, by his long ears - and at Hostaria dell'Orso restaurant, Sexy Rexy popped out of the car.

"How do you feel about dogs here?" Harrison asked the doorman.

"Check him in the checkroom," said the doorman, not recognizing Professor Higgins of "My Fair Lady," Caesar of "Cleopatra," and now Pope Julius II of "The Agony and the Ecstasy."

"Oh, Homer can't suffer that!" frowned Harrison. "Better with the chauffeur." He and Homer embraced in an understanding farewell and we started for the dining room with Homer grieving softly.

But Harrison had gone off to phone his wife, Rachel Roberts, who'd flown that afternoon to London, and about whom he seemed worried.

Harrison, to me one of the most charming personalities living, is demonstrating tender qualities such as these while playing the Pope who nudged Michelangelo (Charlton Heston of Michigan and Illinois) to execute the Sistine Chapel 'way back in 1500-plus A.D.

Hair curling long at his neck, he'd been sitting at a desk in his suite at the Grand, phoning his director, Sir Carol Reed, about a scene the next day.

"Yes, yes, yes... very good... absolutely... but I don't think I rise... He rises... He gets excited... I play it very cool."

And now at dinner he ordered the minestrone and no spaghetti, and had barely a sip of wine, as he spoke of the night of triumph that approaches... Oct. 21... world premiere of "My Fair Lady," on Broadway.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL
N. Y. City Hall rumor-mongers claim Robert Mokes will resign as World's Fair president this fall... A secretary we know just became a drunk: she was replaced by a computer. Wanted to write her story, "I Was Replaced By a Computer," but found it had already been written by a computer.

Harry Lee's party at Cavanagh's this week, when he and 20 wedding guests return from Europe, won't include Zsa Zsa Gabor. She had her feelings hurt when Lee's bride, Maxine, got her attention in Monte Carlo than she did Zsa Zsa said her husband ducked out on her "cause I was so nice to everybody," but that he rushed back.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "I respect faith, but doubt is what gets you an education."

EARL'S PEARLS: A hunch is what tells a man he shouldn't try to argue with a woman's intuition.

Comic Jackie Kahane, a funny fellow at the Latin Quarter, tells of the New York East Side shopkeeper who has a sign: "Five Languages Spoken Here." "Not by me," he explains, "by my customers." That's earl, brother.

Cronkite Has No Plans to Leave CBS

NEW YORK (AP) - Walter Cronkite says his contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System has nine years to go and he has no plans to resign.

"CBS is telling him, 'You're still No. 1 around here,'" Cronkite told a news conference yesterday.

At the time, Cronkite said CBS "took a clobbering" in the ratings from the National Broadcasting Company's coverage of the Republican national convention.

QUESTIONED
Asked yesterday why NBC got the higher rating, Cronkite said: "It is a great credit to the opposition reporters - (Che) Huntley and (David) Brinkley. Huntley and Brinkley have entertainment value, something that we have not directly eschewed and something that we must be seeking."

UAW Proposal Still No. 1 Topic

DETROIT (AP) - New contract bargaining in the auto industry centered today, as it has in most of 23 past sessions, on an estimated 200 changes proposed in current packages by the United Auto Workers union.

Present contracts between the UAW and the Big Three - General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. - were written in 1961 and expire Aug. 31.

The companies have yet to make counteroffers to union demands that include higher wages, bigger pensions, earlier retirement and more rest breaks.

Union proposals were debated in 1961 until the companies laid their first offer on the table on Aug. 22.

About one out of 10 cars stolen in this country is never recovered according to the secretary of the National Automobile Theft Bureau.

Humphrey Said Wooing Businessmen, Bankers

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota has been meeting with businessmen and bankers, picturing himself as a moderate who regards the government's role in business as that of an umpire, the New York Times said today.

The Times, which reported the meetings in a story from Minneapolis, gave this analysis:

"If Sen. Humphrey can go to the Democratic National Convention . . . with the blessing ing of an important sector of the business community, he will be in a formidable position for a vice presidential bid.

"He is already heir to much of the support that intellectuals gave Adlai E. Stevenson.

"He is a trusted friend of the farmers and labor, and even before he steered the civil rights bill through the Senate he was a champion of minorities.

"Further, despite his role in civil rights, he has many friends among Southern politicians, especially his colleagues in the Senate."

The Times said the meetings — in Chicago, New York and Washington — were disclosed yesterday by associates of Humphrey.

"The associates insisted the four meetings were called without President Johnson's knowledge, but they said the President had gotten a "lot of favorable feedback by telephone and personal visits."

Among audiences at the New York and Washington meetings were many representatives of what Sen. Barry Goldwater's backers call the "Eastern Establishment," the Times said.

DISTRESSING VIEWS

They were distressed by the Republican nomination of Goldwater for president, especially because of his views on foreign affairs, and questioned Humphrey about the subject, the newspaper reported.

One source said Humphrey had impressed his audience with his grasp of diplomacy and had dispelled any idea that he is a glib radical.

Salinger Appears Certain to Get Senate Seat Today

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Pierre Salinger appeared certain to be named today to fill out the U.S. Senate term of the late Clair Engle of California.

The appointment of the former White House press secretary was expected at the regular Tuesday morning news conference of Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

They returned together yesterday from funeral services in Red Bluff, Calif., for Engle, who died Thursday.

The popular Democrat had five months remaining to serve of his first senate term.

Reports circulated that Salinger would be sworn in tomorrow in Washington, D.C.

DINNER WITH LBJ
Brown is to fly to the nation's capital the same day for a dinner with President Johnson.

Engle's illness propelled Salinger into the June California primary on the last possible day.

The 39-year-old one-time San Francisco newspaper reporter topped State Controller Alan Cranston to win a bitterly contested Democratic nomination for Engle's seat.

Salinger's Republican foe in November, former movie actor George Murphy, urged Brown Monday night to appoint someone other than the former press secretary to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

LEGAL RIGHTS
Murphy contended Salinger isn't legally qualified to serve for an interim appointment.

It took a battle that went to the U.S. Supreme Court to get Salinger onto the primary ballot.

Republican Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan says he's still not sure Salinger is eligible to take Engle's position.

But other observers are convinced Salinger is eligible, will overcome any court tests and will get off to a headstart over Murphy by appearing on the Nov. 3 ballot with the valuable "incumbent" line of type under his name.

HARD FEELINGS
Salinger's appointment would work to assuage hard feelings generated by the stormy party primary, in which Brown endorsed Cranston.

Plan Picketing at Commission

Police and Firemen
Aim for Higher Pay

Pontiac policemen and firemen are planning a mass demonstration in front of City Hall this evening, according to Patrolman James Batchelor, president of the Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA).

Patrolman Batchelor said the demonstration, aimed at getting higher pay for city employees, will begin at 4 p.m. and last through tonight's City Commission meeting, which begins at 8 o'clock.

The commission meeting will be the first for Pontiac's new city manager, Joseph A. Warren.

Various sources estimated between 50 and 100 employees—most of them policemen and firemen—would participate.

Batchelor said that placards had been prepared for use by the employees, and the demonstration had the backing of both the PPOA and Pontiac Firefighters Association.

Jersey City Negroes Riot Again

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Bands of young Negroes, hurling gasoline bombs, bricks and bottles at policemen, surged through Jersey City streets again last night in a riot that left two Negroes shot and six teen other persons injured.

Police arrested seven Negroes on disorderly persons charges, bringing to 20 the number of arrests since the fighting broke out Sunday night.

Early today, the hit-and-run bands retreated from the streets, but more than 100 policemen still patrolled a wide area of the predominantly Negro section in the southern part of the city.

Windows in a score of stores were smashed and some businesses looted in the latest outbreak.

At a midnight press conference more than three hours after the riot began, Mayor Thomas J. Whelan said he believed the violence had "passed its peak."

REPEATED WARNING
But he reiterated his warning: "We will use all the force and power at our disposal to see that law and order is maintained."

He said he was prepared to sit down with civil rights leaders "anytime, anywhere," but the first problem was maintaining order.

He continued the entire 900-man police department on standby alert but said help from the state would not be needed.

Newsman Helps Ease Cuba Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Soviet messages relayed by an American newsman and a Soviet agent helped score a breakthrough in the darkest hours of the Cuban missile crisis, according to a former U.S. intelligence official.

Roger Hillsman, State Department intelligence chief at the time of the October 1962 confrontation, discloses in an article for the Aug. 25 issue of Look magazine that American Broadcasting Company correspondent John A. Scall was the American in the unofficial communications link.

The Russian was identified only as "Mr. X," a senior Soviet official who headed Soviet intelligence in the United States. Other sources said "Mr. X" since has left the Russian embassy here.

Hillsman, now teaching at Columbia University, reported: By Friday, Oct. 25, of the fateful week, the nuclear antagonists were eyeball-to-eyeball. President Kennedy had demanded a pullout of the Soviet missiles from Cuba and ordered a naval blockade. The Kremlin had publicly rejected Kennedy's proclamation. Some Soviet ships at sea had altered course, but the missile site building in Cuba was continuing full speed.

Mr. X, one of Scall's news contacts at the Soviet embassy, telephoned the correspondent asking for an immediate luncheon date. Over a luncheon table in a downtown restaurant he quickly got to the point.

MAKES PROPOSAL.
The Russian asked Scall to find out at once from his friends in the State Department whether the U.S. government would be interested in a solution to the crisis in which the Soviets removed the missiles; they allowed U.N. inspectors to supervise the pullout; they pledged not to reintroduce the missiles and America publicly pledged not to invade Cuba.

Scall promptly reported this to Hillsman and Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Rusk said this was the first direct word that the Soviets might be thinking of a deal.

Rusk asked Scall to tell Mr. X that the U.S. government "sees real possibilities" in the proposition and to suggest that government representatives could work the matter out at the United Nations.

Police Block Cass Lake to Find Suspects

Rams Into Swimmer in Marked-Off Area

A moonlight swim ended in death for a Keego Harbor youth when he was rammed by a hit-and-run power craft on Cass Lake last night.

A systematic search of the Waterford Township lake, the largest in the county, was being conducted today by scores of police from the area in an attempt to find the boat.

Killed while swimming in the marked-off "safety" area at Dodge State Park No. 4 was Alan Louis Akerly, 2184 Park Circle. He would have celebrated his 21st birthday Aug. 14.

Lt. Donald Kratt, director of the Sheriff's Water Safety Division, was told by Akerly's companion, Sheila Brymen of 125 Chewton, Bloomfield Township, that he yelled "watch out," and shoved her underwater just as the craft was about to hit them.

She said the boat was only a few feet away when she went under.

BOAT FLEES
When she surfaced, Akerly had disappeared and the boat, described as brown in color and possibly a "Chris Craft," was speeding away in a westerly direction.

Deputies and police from the State, Sylvan Lake, Keego Harbor, and Waterford, along with state park rangers were able to obtain several of the numbers of the boat's registration after questioning witnesses, according to Kratt.

These have been sent to Lansing by teletype so owner records can be checked, Kratt said.

Miss Brymen told police that the boat made "several passes" through the swimming area, shining a large spotlight on a handful of bathers, before it hit Akerly.

LIGHT SHINING
She said the light was shining directly on her and Akerly when it came toward them.

There were four to six persons in the craft, according to

Drill Punctures Chamber Wall

Miners Hours From Freedom

CHAMPAGNOLE, France (AP) — Nine miners trapped deep in a collapsed limestone mine for eight days were only hours from freedom today as a giant drill punched a rescue shaft through to their tiny subterranean chamber.

Mine officials said the 23-inch diameter drill ground through the final shell of rock shortly before 1 p.m. without causing rock to fall on the men.

Rescue workers at Mt. Rivel rushed forward as the drill suddenly dropped several yards.

It had been inching slowly downward in final stages of the rescue effort to avoid collapsing the ceiling of the mine chamber.

Immediately after the breakthrough, rescue workers began setting up a hoisting rig to be used to bring the men to the surface one at a time in a special metal capsule.

DOCTOR STANDS BY
A doctor stood by to be lowered into the grotto to help each man to freedom.

The sun was so strong on the mountain that officials were considering bringing the men up with handgears over their eyes to protect them from the light after being trapped in the dark chamber for eight days.

Mayor Andre Socie reported that electronic soundings taken last night raised the chance that three of the five men trapped in other parts of the mine might still be alive.

Earlier soundings had produced no results.

PARTICULAR CARE
Socie advised "particular prudence" in interpreting the soundings, but he said they provided sufficient grounds for a "gigantic new effort" in drilling toward another cavity.

Faint tapping sounds had been heard earlier in the area where two of the five missing men were believed to have been working when the cave-in came last Monday.

As the giant American-made oil drill inched down through the last feet of the escape shaft, the engineers above ground were in constant telephone contact with Andre Martinet, foreman of the shift marooned at the bottom.

Rescue officials said the men's morale and physical condition were excellent.

Martinet kept an anxious eye on the roof of the mine, watching for another rock fall that could put him and his men in new danger.

$50,000 Mott Grant to Go for Waterford School Aid

A grant of $50,000 from the Mott Foundation to aid establishment of a community school program in Waterford Township was announced yesterday by Supt. of Waterford Schools Don O. Tatroe.

The grant, which will span a four-year period, was appropriated on a matching fund basis.

Waterford Township Schools, the township and the township's recreation department together must match the Mott proposal to become eligible for the grant.

This could be accomplished by Thursday night.

Township board members last night unanimously approved an appropriation of $5,750 for the second half of 1964.

TOPS AGENDAS
The recreation board meets tomorrow night and the school board convenes Thursday night. The Mott proposal tops each agenda.

Under an earlier agreement by representatives of the three local boards, the school system and township each would contribute $7,500 annually and the recreation department $5,000. This assumed help from an outside source.

An alternate plan assumes no help. The Mott Foundation would contribute $20,000 the first year, $15,000 the second, $10,000 the third and $5,000 the fourth year.

Purpose of a community school program is to more extensively utilize school facilities by providing activities for everyone in the community.

Waterford's program will be patterned after the one in Flint, but on a much smaller scale.

NATIONWIDE RECOGNITION
Flint's community school program, also aided financially by the Mott Foundation, has won nationwide recognition for its high degree of community involvement.

Several Waterford community leaders went to Flint last spring to view the inner workings of the expansive community school program.

Reaction was favorable to launch the community school concept in Waterford, if adequate funds were available.

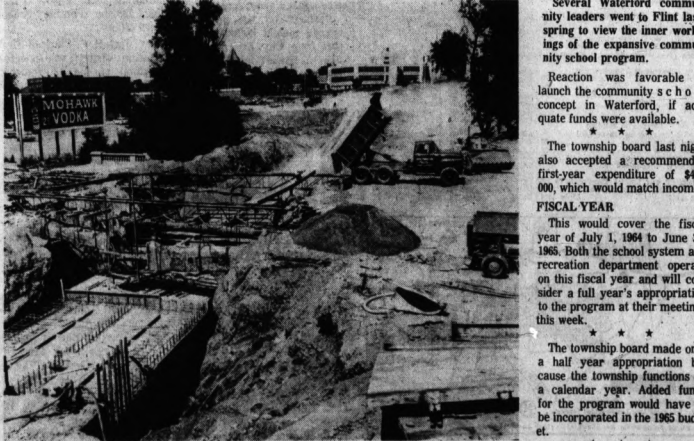

The township board last night also accepted a recommended first-year expenditure of $40,000, which would match income.

FISCAL YEAR
This would cover the fiscal year of July 1, 1964 to June 30, 1965. Both the school system and recreation department operate on this fiscal year and will consider a full year's appropriation to the program at their meetings this week.

The township board made only a half year appropriation because the township functions on a calendar year. Added funds for the program would have to be incorporated in the 1965 budget.

Included in the $40,000 expenditure are salaries for supervisory personnel, part-time secretarial help, supplies and building programs.

Morse Leading Fight for Reduction

Senate May Vote on Aid Cuts Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse said the Senate may begin voting today on his proposals to cut over $500 million from the $3,466,700,000 foreign aid authorization bill.

The Oregon Democrat, leading off the fight against the House-passed measure, called the foreign aid program "a colossal failure as a deterrent to Communism" in a 2 1/2 hour speech Monday.

He told newsmen he planned a batch of other amendments aimed at "reforming" foreign aid policies and would seek roll call votes on them later in the week. But he said he was ready for voting on his money-cutting proposals this afternoon.

Whether voting could start apparently depends on the speed with which the Senate acts on an interest equalization tax measure that temporarily has been reduced by only $50 million. The House has approved the authorization by the full amount asked for but in acting on the follow-up appropriations bill — which provides the funds for the program while the authorization bill sets only the ceiling — cut foreign aid to $3,316,572,400.

The chances of an adjournment of Congress before the Democratic national convention in Atlantic City, N.J., opening Aug. 24, may rest on how fast it clears foreign aid.

Morse condemned "handing out money and weapons with the idea they will promote political stability, or keep friendly governments in power, or prop up a bloated military establishment in a foreign country."

U. S. Purchases 630,000 Cases of Pitted Cherries

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said Monday it bought 630,000 cases of canned red tart pitted cherries—many of them in Michigan.

The purchase is to bolster producer prices of this year's record cherry crop and to supply the national school lunch program, the department said.

The largest purchase from a single bidder was $2,000 cases from the F and M Packing Co. of Traverse City.

Purchases were made from 36 bidders at prices ranging from $3.91 to $4.65 a case. Lowest prices were paid in big producing and processing centers in Michigan and highest prices in areas of smaller production.

The department said the purchase represents about 5.5 servings per child taking part in the lunch program.

Among married women; a larger proportion of college graduates than high school graduates hold jobs, according to the Bureau of the Census.

Experts are much luckier than average players. If you don't think so, look how unlucky South was.

He ruffled the opening club. One trump lead picked up both adverse trumps and South led the ten of diamonds.

The finesse lost to East's king and Jack came the jack of hearts: South had to lose three heart tricks and his contract.

A really expert South would not have run into all that bad luck. He could have done nothing against a diamond opening, but West had made a normal king of clubs lead.

This gave South a chance to insure his contract by means of an avoidance play. South should have discarded a diamond on the king of clubs.

Then, after trumps were drawn, South could play ace and queen of diamonds from dummy.

East would cover with the king, whereupon South would ruff and enter dummy with a trump in order to get rid of one losing heart.

He would lose two hearts later on, but two hearts and one other trick aren't enough to set a four spade contract.

In case West held the diamond king, expert South would still make the hand. He would discard one heart on the diamond king. West would take the diamond king and one more trick for the same total of three.
