Bill for Labor Reform Gets House Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today completed congressional action on the labor controls bill and sent it to the White House for President Eisenhower's certain signature.

The measure had passed the Senate 95-2 last night after more than eight hours of debate.

It handed Eisenhower a bill patterned closely after his recommendations for legislation to cope with corruption and racketeering in labor-management relations.

The measure is the first important congressional revision of labor-management law since enactment of the Taft-Hartley law 12 years ago.

The bill writes stringent new rules for protection of union members rights, union elections and trusteeships, financial reporting by unions and employers, secondary boycotts, "hot cargo" agreements, organizational picketing and operations of the National Labor Relations Board in small labor disputes.

★ ★ ★

Its first six titles, aimed at racketeering and other abuses in some unions, provide detailed regulation of union finances, elections, trusteeships and conduct of officers and employers.

★ ★ ★

The seventh and final title, which aroused the most controversy, amends the Taft-Hartley law to put new restrictions on such union weapons as boycotts and organizational picketing. It also contains a few amendments long sought by the unions.

★ ★ ★

The full 50-man committee rejected the proposal yesterday and called on a 12-man subcommittee to draft a new bill.

Ike Turns Down Second Modified Housing Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today vetoed the second-shot $1,050,000,000 housing bill which Congress had passed after he vetoed a more costly measure in July.

The President in a message to the Senate said the new bill, like its predecessor, goes too far.

Although some of the features of the first bill he vetoed are removed in the new measure, and some other features partly corrected, the new bill in its most important provisions represents little improvement over the original, he said.

Laos Appeals for U.N. Troops to Repel Reds

By The Associated Press

Laos appealed to the United Nations today for troops to bolster its defense against Communist battalions knifing deep into that little Southeast Asian kingdom.

It accused Communist North Viet Nam of intervening on the side of Red rebels with troops and artillery.

The Laotian delegation at the U.N. delivered the urgent appeal, addressed to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, who returns Sunday from a Latin-American tour. It was received by Willelm Watchtmeister, his Swedish assistant.

★ ★ ★

Laos' request that the United Nations send troops to its aid took Washington officials by surprise today.

Key authorities hurried to staff meetings to determine what further action might be taken to help the Southeast Asian country resist Communist attack.

If the United Nations should approve Laos' plea to intervene the volume and type of this aid might change sharply, but still would not necessarily mean that American forces would be involved.

Sales of Pontiacs Rise 126 Per Cent

Retail sales by Pontiac dealers during August totaled 35,149 new cars, a 126 per cent increase over August of last year when the figure was 15,571, it was announced by S. E. Knudsen, General Motors vice president and Pontiac Motor Division general manager.

★ ★ ★

Last month was the highest August sales period for Pontiac since 1955, and one of the highest August sales in the Division's history.

With a public introduction date of Oct. 1 for its new 1960 model, Pontiac production facilities are returning to full operations, Knudsen said.

Two Unions Call Strike Against Meat Company

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Amalgamated Meat Cutters and the United Packinghouse Workers unions called a strike today against Swift & Co., giant of the meat packing industry with 36 plants across the country.

Wilson and the unions, apparently near an agreement, announced the old contract which expired Aug. 31 would remain in effect another 24 hours to give bargainers another day to reach a settlement.

A strike against Wilson, which employs 5,500 workers in eight plants, had been set for midnight Thursday. The company said workers threw up picket lines at at least one plant before the postponement was announced.

Wallet, Papers Found Near Officer's Car

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG AND PETE LOCHBILER

More than 100 State Troopers this afternoon fanned out over a swampy Livingston County countryside, grimly searching for the body of missing State Trooper Albert W. Souden, feared to be the kidnap-murder victim of a crazed gunman.

The largest search in recent Michigan history spread out from a point 30 miles northwest of Pontiac on a lonely Deerfield Township farm, just south of the intersection of Lovejoy and White roads, near Fenton.

There, lying in the shallow swamp was the 28-year-old trooper's wallet, mute testimony to his probable fate.

It was discovered shortly after noon by two neighbor boys, William and Richard Jackson, ages 19 and 20, about a quarter mile distant from Souden's abandoned squad car.

Discovery of the squad car by helicopter this morning turned the huge manhunt to the Fenton-Howell area, as other officers in East Lansing made repeated efforts to break down the stubborn silence of Souden's suspected kidnaper, Alvin W. Knight, 48.

Knight was taken to State Police Headquarters near the Capital after he was seized by a squad of troopers at 8 a.m. in a cabin on Cedar Lake, 10 miles north of Oscoda in Iosco County.

Souden has been missing since yesterday morning when he picked up Knight for questioning as a burglary suspect at a cottage in Linden, 12 miles north of the Brighton State Police Post where Souden is stationed.

The massive search for Souden and Knight got under way shortly before midnight and since then has involved hundreds of law enforcement officers in southern Michigan and northern Ohio.

WAS MENTAL PATIENT

Souden wanted to question him in the Tuesday night break-in of the Numatics, Inc. valve company at 1450 N. Milford R., Milford.

The break-in was a violent one, with filing cabinets, desks and drawers smashed or pried open. But only about $75 was taken.

At the scene State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs said, "I'm afraid there is little hope of finding Souden alive."

The squad car was spotted at 10:35 a.m. by Trooper Benjamin Kulszyski, riding in an Air Force helicopter from Selfridge Air Force Base.

Kulszyski inspected the auto after the Air Force pilot had set the helicopter down in the farm field. He said there were no apparent blood stains nor signs of a struggle.

"I've found the car, but Souden's not in it," he radioed back to the Brighton Post.

SUSPECT SEIZED — Ex-convict Alvin Knight is hustled into State Police Headquarters in East Lansing for questioning in the disappearance of Trooper Albert Souden. Knight, 48, had the service pistol of the missing trooper when he was seized in a cottage near East Tawas.

He Scared the Children

Ex-Convict's Neighbor Afraid of Him

By The Associated Press

"We sent our children to stay with my sister and had put up our house for sale because of the way he acted," a neighbor woman said today of Alvin W. Knight.

Knight, 48, was seized by police today and held for questioning in the mysterious disappearance of State Police Trooper Albert W. Souden.

"When he first moved in about a year ago he was very friendly to the neighborhood children," said Mrs. Francis Frappier of Linden, whose home is next door to Knight's. "Then a few months ago my 11-year-old son, Francis Jr., rode a bike across Knight's lawn. He grabbed the boy by the shirt and frightened him.

"Once Knight picked up big rocks and stood holding them while my husband cut the grass. It was frightening. He also bragged about his police record. He said he spent 20 years in jail.

"After that we sent the children to stay with my sister in nearby Gaines during the day because both my husband and I work."

'OUT ALL NIGHT'

Mrs. Sarah Mohn, a neighbor on the other side of Knight, said "He was home all day and only left about 10 p.m. He would come back home at four in the morning."

★ ★ ★

Knight has a lengthy prison record and has spent time in a mental hospital.

On Oct. 24, 1930, Knight was sentenced to one to five years in Cincinnati for burglary.

His next conviction was on May 10, 1933 when he was sentenced to 7½ years in Southern Michigan Prison for staging an armed robbery in Flint. He was paroled Oct. 20, 1939.

On Jan. 16, 1940, he was sentenced to 10-25 years in Toledo for armed robbery, but was transferred to the Lima State Insane Hospital on Oct. 6, 1940. He was released from the hospital May 11, 1941, and taken to the Ohio State Penitentiary where he remained until July 10, 1946.

He went back to Southern Michigan Prison Sept. 27, 1950 on a 2-5 year conviction for carrying concealed weapons in Flint. He was paroled Aug. 9, 1954 and sent to Ohio as a parole violator. He escaped from prison but was recaptured. He was discharged Sept. 26, 1958, and had been out of prison less than a year when he was picked up today.

Few People Grumbling About Use Tax Addition

Pontiac area people may be grumbling about the new one per cent use (sales) tax addition. But few seriously seem to mind paying it, at least on run-of-the-mill purchases.

This was indicated by a spot check in the downtown business district, where clerks and shoppers alike are getting used to taxes amounting to four cents on a dollar, instead of three.

The possibility that stores might have to refund use tax collections in event the State Supreme Court declares the new tax law unconstitutional doesn't seem to impress the shoppers, who are paying it, most clerks reported.

To get a refund, you'll have to have a receipt showing you paid the new tax, Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams has suggested you should get a receipt that shows the use tax separate from the sales tax.

A check with store clerks and cashiers yesterday indicated that few, if any, customers were asking for the kind of receipt that Adams recommends.

★ ★ ★

"In fact, most customers still walk away, leaving their sales slips behind," said a salesgirl in a downtown department store.

★ ★ ★

"I read in the paper that the taxes should be listed separately if the customer wants it, but no one has asked me to do it yet," she said.

Tom's Northwood Markets in a Pontiac Press advertisement announced they will charge only the three per cent sales tax.

"We will pay the difference," until further notice, the firm stated.

John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, predicted there would be "monumental confusion" in stores if customers followed Adams' advice.

A drugstore clerk agreed.

"Imagine what a jam up there would be at rush hour if we had to separate the taxes for each customer!" she said.

One drawback to Adams' plan is the fact that most cash registers are not set up to list two taxes. Cashiers are now lumping the sales and use tax together and ringing them up by means of the sales tax key. On receipts, the two taxes are shown together, therefore, under the heading "ST" (sales tax).

"We couldn't list the use tax separately on the cash register, even if we were asked to," one drugstore clerk explained.

Reinstatement Won by Scott

However, Judge Finds No Proof for Damages Against Union

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Robert P. Scott has won his fight for reinstatement in the International Barbers' Union, AFL-CIO, but without winning a penny of the $150,000 damages he sought.

★ ★ ★

"I'm satisified — very much so," Scott, 53, of Waterford Township, told newsmen upon hearing Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer's pronouncement yesterday afternoon.

"Above all I wanted to prove I am still a union man despite all the assertions to the contrary," he added.

Detroit Local 552 of the International expelled him last year for dual unionism — for holding a charter membership and being lobbyist for the rival 750-member State Barbers Assn. Scott, however, said his removal was Teamster-inspired because he twice testified against Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa before the Senate Racket Committee.

To see if this might have been a reprisal for such testimony, Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the committee, had Walter J. Sheridan, an investigator, sit in on yesterday's court session.

Icicles on Her Heart, Wife Says

BRIGHTON (AP)—"Have you ever had icicles around your heart," the young mother said as she cuddled her child. "If you haven't you don't know how I feel."

Mrs. Clara Souden, 23, wife of missing Michigan State Trooper Albert Souden, 29, sobbed occasionally as she sat in her modest, asbestos-covered ranch home.

"Yesterday everything was fine," she said. "Al had his usual heavy breakfast, mentioned something about a burglary case he was working on and said he hoped to wind it up by the end of the day.

"He kissed the baby and me and then drove to the post and that's the last I heard or saw of him. It isn't like him to stay away."

The Soudens met at a dance eight years ago when they lived in small communities near Saginaw. Souden lived in Brant and his future wife in Marion Springs.

They dated steadily and the romance continued while Souden served in the Air Force. He was discharged in 1953 and they married in 1956. Their son, Edward, was born seven months ago.

The search for Souden began when his wife called the post to ask where he was.

"Why can't they find him?" she said. "Don't they know we need him here?"

Expect 450 Labor Day Fatalities

Brace for Record Traffic

The heaviest Labor Day traffic in Michigan's history is expected to jam highways, and throughout the nation 450 will be dead by Tuesday, according to the National Safety Council.

State police and sheriff's deputies are stepping up road patrols today, bracing themselves for the highway onslaught.

Additional unmarked cars, radar devices, three airplanes, and 129 National Guardsmen will be added to the regular highway patrols in Michigan.

Gov. Williams urged drivers to keep the death toll under 12. That was last year's Labor Day toll, the lowest in Michigan for nine years.

"To save your own life and those of your loved ones, don't drive at excessive speeds," the governor cautioned. "Don't take chances passing, don't drive if you are tired or have been drinking."

ONLY 1 LAST YEAR

The first traffic death recorded in Michigan last year was that of a Walled Lake man. He was the only Oakland County fatality for the weekend.

Weather forecasters are optimistic. They predict nice weather for most of the three-day holiday, but warn of possible showers Sunday evening and Monday.

If the weather is good, authorities predict there will be an all-time high in highway traffic. Both Memorial Day and Independence Day fell on Saturdays and were officially two-day weekends, holding traffic down.

Pontiac and Redford state police posts both will be bolstered by National Guardsmen. Redford expects to use four and Pontiac two.

All weekend passes have been cancelled and troopers began working on 10-hour shifts, rather than their customary 8-hour shifts, at noon today.

The emergency measures will remain in effect until midnight Monday, although road patrols will be heavy through the early morning hours Tuesday.

Sgt. Lorenz Ahlgrim, commander of the Pontiac Post, said today, "We expect to have a minimum of 12 cars on highway patrol duty

SCARE YOU? — Motorists during this final summer holiday weekend might take a good look at this reminder of the Grim Reaper. For between now and Tuesday morning, he will have claimed the lives of a predicted 450 persons in traffic accidents across the nation. Don't be one of them.

Pleasant Holiday Weather Seen Over Weekend

A pleasant holiday weekend is in store for the Pontiac area residents, the weatherman says, with temperatures averaging about two degrees above the normal high of 77 and the low of 57.

A warm trend is forecast for Saturday and Sunday. It will be cooler Monday, and warmer again about Wednesday. Rainfall will total about one-half inch, possibly higher in showers or thundershowers Sunday and Monday, the weatherman says.

Tonight will be fair and cool with a low of 60 degrees. Tomorrow's outlook calls for partly cloudy skies and a high of 85.

Southwesterly winds five miles per hour recorded at 1:15 this afternoon will remain low tonight, becoming southerly 8-15 miles Saturday.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 63 degrees at 4:20 a.m. The reading was 84 at 2 p.m.

Intensify Search for State Trooper

* * *

The gun was found in Knight's possession when four troopers crashed into the cabin and found Knight sleeping soundly.

The service pistol had not been fired, said one of the troopers, Gordon Clark. In the cabin there also was another pistol, apparently Knight's.

The ex-convict put up no struggle, but refused to answer questions and remained silent when questioned about Souden, Clark said.

Knight was still close-mouthed late this morning in East Lansing, as Ohio troopers rushed his mother to Michigan from her home in Lima. It was hoped, that elderly Mrs. Knight could persuade her son to break his silence.

* * *

Souden is married and the father of a 7-month-old boy. He and his wife, Clara, 23, live in Brighton. An Air Force veteran, Souden joined the State Police in 1954 and has been assigned to Brighton since completion of his recruit training.

"He is one of our most competent, conscientious young officers," said Capt. Burton L. Yungfer, district commander and Souden's superior officer.

"We are praying for word from E. Lansing that Knight has confessed and told where Souden is."

* * *

The longer Knight held his silence, the larger loomed the fear that Souden was dead, his body hidden somewhere.

Knight's criminal record is "a mile long," said Capt Yungfer.

* * *

Once a mental patient in a state hospital in Lima, Ohio, Knight was paroled from an Ohio prison only a year ago, after serving five years there.

The manhunt — one of the biggest in recent history—had its beginnings in a routine investigation which Souden was assigned to follow yesterday morning.

The officer sought Knight out at the Linden cottage owned by Knight's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wollner of Detroit. The Wollners stay at the cottage only on weekends; Knight generally stays there during the week, neighbors said.

Neighbors saw Souden enter the cottage, stay inside about half an hour, then leave with Knight.

They said Souden drove off in his squad car and Knight followed in a blue, 1953 Cadillac. (It was later discovered that the Cadillac belonged to Wollner.)

There were no further reports of the pair's whereabouts until early this morning when the Cadillac was spotted at the Iosco County cabin.

No one suspected anything was wrong until about 10 p.m. when Mrs. Souden called the Brighton post and said she was worried because her husband hadn't come home at his usual time.

A few hours later, state police and other officer swere on the alert throughout southern Michigan looking for either the missing squad car or the Cadillac.

* * *

Early this morning, a car matching the description of the Cadillac was spotted near Lyons, Ohio, just south of the Michigan line. Road blocks were set up, but the car eluded them.

For a number of hours it was believed this car could have been Knight's, but then Knight's car was found at the Cedar Lake cabin.

Awards School Building Bids

Waterford Board Holds Special Meeting for Letting of Contracts

Construction contracts for a new $350,000 elementary school in Waterford Township were awarded at a special Board of Education meeting last night.

* * *

The Leslie Construction Co. of Pontiac was awarded the general construction contract to build the 14-room school on Walton boulevard on a low bid of $269,170. This does not include school equipment.

A well drilling contract went to B. W. Layman & Son of Pontiac with a low bid of $1,638. This was estimated on a base depth of 160 feet.

Architectural contracts were awarded to the firm of Smith & Smith for designing two additional elementary school buildings. One of the buildings will be erected on Merrie road on the south side of Watkins Lake. The second school site has not been acquired yet, according to Superintendent William Shunck.

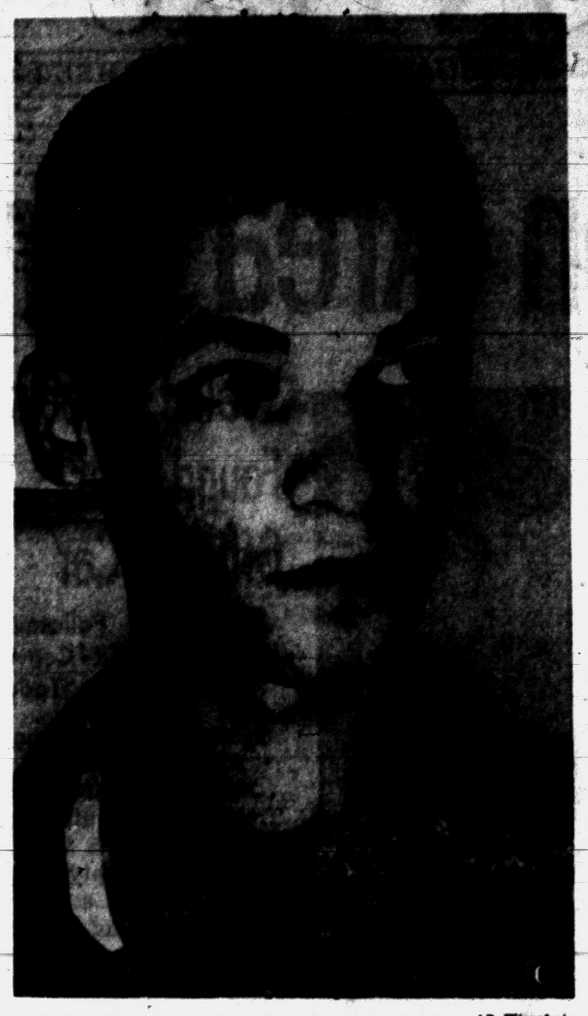

* * *

A former Board of Education member, Marshall Smith of the Smith & Wilson firm, was hired as the Board of Education's first legal counsel.

Proposed exterior lighting for the Cooley Elementary School, and a request from the faculty regarding a payroll deduction plan were both tabled until the next regular Board meeting.

Several residents were present asking assistance from the Board for the installation of a signal light on Williams Lake road, near Schoolcraft School.

The same delegation had appealed to the Waterford Township Board Monday night.

HELD IN KNIFE DEATH — Hector Bouillerce, 17, awaits questioning by police in the fatal stabbing of two youngsters in New York last Sunday. He is the last of 13 Puerto Rican youths sought in the slayings. Of the other 12, six have been charged with homicide, while the rest face lesser charges.

Kills 2 Women, Then Himself

Argues With Wife Over Daughter; Also Wounds Another Man

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 28-year-old man shot and killed his estranged wife and another woman, wounded a man and then took his own life early today to climax a bitter argument over custody of his daughter, sheriff's deputies reported.

A 5-year-old boy was in the room during the shooting but escaped injury.

The daughter, who was the center of the argument, was not present.

Bruce Kelly shot and killed his wife, Rose, 20, and Mrs. Coy Lee Bates, 40, wounded Clarence Legee, 42, and then took his own life, said deputies.

Legee suffered a minor wound of the hand.

He told deputies Mrs. Kelly had been living at Mrs. Bates' home since the Kellys separated about a week ago. He said Kelly arrived at Mrs. Bates' suburban Lawndale home late last night and asked to talk with his wife. The fatal argument followed.

Paul, 8, Missing Since Tuesday

Police Fear Port Huron Boy Has Been Abducted by Molester

PORT HURON (UPI) — Fears rose today that 8-year-old Paul Ferriby, missing since Tuesday, was abducted by a molester.

Hundreds of searchers combing this area and the St. Clair River have failed to turn up any trace of the boy.

Workers at the Peerless Cement Co. plant, a few yards from young Paul's home, had moved about 10,000 tons of crushed stone by early today on the chance the boy had wandered into the plant yard and somehow become engulfed in the huge stone pile.

But police said there now appeared to be little likelihood that Paul had fallen into the stone pile.

Authorities said they fear Paul either fell into the river, which is also near his home, or was pulled into an automobile by a molester.

City Man Held in Shooting of Relative

A Pontiac man was arrested last night after allegedly shooting his cousin's husband in the leg during an argument over money, according to Pontiac police.

Ernest Worthington, 35, of 15 Chapman St., is being held at the Oakland County Jail for investigation of felonious assault.

* * *

* * *

Tige and Worthingtor. had been together earlier in the evening police said. Worthington said he found $19 he had been carrying missing and thought Tige had taken it, according to Patrolman Thomas L. Hereford.

Tige went to visit a friend, Tom Montgomery, of 35 Elizabeth St. Worthington appeared at the Montgomery home around 9 p.m., called Tige outside and shot him, investigating officers said.

The weapon used was a .38 caliber automatic pistol.

at all times during the day. We would have six in use for a normal weekend.

"Every uniformed trooper available will be on the road. The county's traffic record has been outstanding so far this year but it takes just one bad holiday weekend death toll to put safety officials behind the eight ball," he said.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department will work on a similar basis. Detectives will hold down desk jobs, freeing uniformed deputies for highway patrol.

* * *

Special water deputies will be out in force on area lakes, watching for boaters after "one more fling" before fall closes in.

"One more fling can be fun if boaters and swimmers observe state laws and follow common safety precautions," warned Sheriff Frank W. Irons. "If they don't, it may be the last fling."

The specially equipped sheriff's ambulance and rescue unit will be in use on a 24-hour basis beginning today through Monday.

The departments communications trailer will also see a lot of road action.

City police will maintain a close watch on Pontiac streets too, although the bulk of traffic is expected to be on county highways.

The Day in Birmingham

Community House Offers Russian Language Course

BIRMINGHAM—A course in the Russian language will be included in the fall series of craft and hobby classes at the Birmingham Community House.

Registration for classes in the fall series begins Tuesday at the Community House and will last for two weeks. Those wishing to attend are urged to register early as classes will be limited in size.

Courses start the week of Sept. 21 except for gardening which will begin Sept. 14.

The course in Russian, to be taught by Mrs. Veronica Maximovich, will instruct students in reading, writing and speaking the language, as well as facts about the Soviet Union.

Seamanship and safe boat handling will also be taught for the first time this fall.

This course, for ages 14 and up, will offer basic instruction in nautical terminology; boat handling, mooring and docking; knots and splices; aids to navigation; charts and compass; inboard and outboard engines; rules of the road; and motorboat safety. Lectures will be given by the training staff of U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 12-3.

Returning as part of the regular series will be courses in bridge, creative pottery, adult ballroom dancing, design, enameling and silver, first aid, flower arrangement, gardening, interior decorating, magazine writing, millinery, painting, sculpture and sewing.

There will also be a youth program of painting and drawing taught after school hours and on Saturdays.

Over the years, the bridge courses have proven the most popular at the Community House. They are starting their tenth year with this series. Three new teachers have been added to the staff this year—Mr. Neal Mass, interior decorating; Mrs. Priscilla Jackson, magazine writing and Mrs. Maximovich.

* * *

Returning teachers are Mrs. Virginia Anders and Mrs. Dorothy Charlton, bridge; Mrs. Edith Foster, ceramics; Charles Doan, dancing; Peter Duenas, design; and Kenneth Peck, first aid.

Mrs. Virginia Schafer has charge of the youth program in painting and drawing.

Laos Requests U.N. to Send Armed Force

naval forcesb ased in the Philippines.

At Miami Beach, Fla., Gen. Frank Everest, commander of the Tactical Air Command, said today that the United States can have tactical fighters in the Laos area within 35 hours of a decision to do so.

It is questionable what the U.N. could do, or what a majority of the members of the U.N. would favor.

* * *

The lightly armed emergency force in the Middle East is the only U.N. military force in being. Its job is limited to watching the Egyptian-Israeli frontier and adjacent territory.

Any appeal first would go to the Security Council, where the Soviet Union has the power of veto. An appeal vetoed there could wind up in the General Assembly, which meets Sept. 15. Long debate probably would precede any action in the Assembly.

In London, a spokesman said Britain would favor U.N. action if aggression is established.

In Washington the State Department voiced support for the Laotian government but declined to say what steps it will take with regard to the appeal for United Nations help to resist Communist aggression.

* * *

Militarily, the royal army in Laos was suffering setbacks today.

At Sam Neua, the northern headquarters, the royal army commander armed civilians and called for reinforcements to stop Communists massing for an assault on the town.

The commander, Brig. Gen. Amkha Soukhaving, said the raid assault could be expected in 10 days and the situation "is not pretty." His only avenue of supply is by air.

Says Phantom Sniper Not Ready for Release

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty today refused to concur with a recommendation of the medical superintendent of Ionia State Hospital that Gary A. Taylor, the phantom sniper of two years ago, was ready to be released.

The judge ordered Taylor committed to the hospital in March of 1957 after he went on a rampage, mostly in the southern part of the county, shooting at women with a .22 caliber rifle.

At the time Taylor said, "I just had an urge to shoot women."

Following a letter from Dr. Perry C. Robertson, Ionia medical superintendent, saying that Taylor had made "a satisfactory adjustlescent parole, the judge ordered three psychitrists to re-examine Taylor.

* * *

Dr. Ivan A. LaCore said he found "a good deal of hostility and aggression" remained in the youth "which might again flare up."

Judge Doty did not ask Drs. Clinton J. Mumby and Abraham Tauber to take the stand after a conference in his chambers showed that they shared the same opinion of Dr. LaCore that Taylor needed further hospitalization.

Then Gilbert H. Davis, Taylor's attorney, produced Dr. Alexander H. Hirschfeld of Berkley who said he believed that Taylor needed further hospitalization, but not at Ionia.

"He should be sent to an institution where the facilities are available to determine what's the matter with the boy," Dr. Hirschfeld testified.

Judge Doty then ruled: "I cannot concur with Dr. Robertson. I believe Mr. Taylor might again become a menace to society."

* * *

Saying he had no legal authority to send him to another institution, the judge ordered him returned to Ionia. He emphasized to Taylor's parents, who were in the courtroom, that this didn't prevent them from filing a petition asking that their son be confined to another institution nearer home.

Complaints Few Over Tax Addition

his receipts did not list the two taxes separately.

"But if there's to be a refund, our customers will get their money back, no matter what kind of receipt they have. I'm sure other merchants feel the same way."

At a dime store, where sales slips are handed out only on request, the new tax hasn't created any demand for receipts.

"I'm really surprised," said one salesgirl. "I thought there'd be a big demand for receipts, but not one person has made a request so far."

One dime store clerk quoted a woman customer as saying to her: "I wouldn't dream of collecting a receipt for every little purchase. What would I do with them all?"

At a restaurant, which doesn't hand out any receipts either, the cashier said only one customer had mentioned the subject of receipts to her.

"He asked me for a receipt and I laughed, thinking he was kidding. I guess he was, because he laughed too, and left."

A shoe salesman said he had one customer who wanted a special receipt with his name on it after purchasing a $12 pair of shoes.

"He said he was going to spend about $100 that day on a new wardrobe and figured it would be worth his time to save receipts to get the $1, in use taxes back," the salesman explained.

But even this thrifty customer didn't ask for the taxes to be listed separately, the salesman said.

Mother of Two Wins Golf Title at Lochmoor

Mrs. Keith LeClair of Ann Arbor, a mother of two, is the new Women's District Golf Assn. match-play champion.

She defeated Mrs. Sam Gawne of Franklin 3-4 today in the final at Lochmoor Golf Club, playing one under ladies' par for 14 holes.

Starting off with a birdie in the battle of housewives, Mrs. LeClair fired pars on the 6th and 7th holes and birdies on the next two. She won the 13th despite a bogie and took No. 14 on a par to clinch the decision.

Mrs. Gawne won the 4th on a birdie 2 and took the 11th with a par. They tied five holes.

* * *

Speed, Drinking Highway Killers

Separate Studies Give Same Results on Cause of Accidents

CHICAGO (UPI)—As you hit the highway today — or any day, for that matter — think of this:

Studies of the causes of deaths in auto accidents show the two biggest killers, in order, are speeding and drinking. They kill more people on the highway than all other causes combined!

The great majority of fatal auto accidents involve traffic law violations and — tragically — seven out of ten persons killed are innocent victims of someone else's driving mistakes.

Two of the most recent major national studies of the causes of traffic accidents were made by the National Safety Council and the insurance company.

* * *

These separate studies analyzed accidents that occurred on five different holiday weekends. They used different classifications in listing causes of the fatal accidents but reached the same conclusions.

The mounting death toll on highways and city streets could be cut, both organizations agreed, if uniform and realistic traffic laws, backed by suitable penalties, were applied without discrimination.

"Rigid, continuing and relentless enforcement of fair traffic laws is a major essential to cutting the toll," a Safety Council spokesman said.

* * *

"Every motorist and pedestrian must know traffic laws, accept strict and impartial enforcement of realistic laws and insist on severe penalties for all who violate the law," the insurance committee said.

Autumn Touches Much of Nation With Cool Air

By The Associated Press

* * *

But temperatures rose in parts of the West, notably Montana. And portions of the Mississippi Valley after showers which swept eastward into the Southeastern states.

Through the Midwest the sky generally was clear and the temperature moderate.

Strengthen New York Teen Violence Fight

NEW YORK (UPI)—Angry officials today began a drive to strengthen the police force in a "no coddling" assault on teen gang violence.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner authorized an increase of 1,080 men in the city's police force after a meeting with city officials yesterday. Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy promised he would begin culling applications at once.

Wagner was to confer today with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who held his own discussion with state officials on the juvenile crime problem yesterday.

The two planned to lay the groundwork for a more extensive conference of city, state and civic leaders Tuesday.

The mayor warned there would be "no coddling" of youthful criminals whose outbreaks have shocked the city.

* * *

Two teenage hoods who allegedly led the attack that killed two other teenagers early Sunday were arraigned on murder charges yesterday before a judge who demanded "more drastic action against these punks."

"I see these things going on every day and nothing has been done about it," Magistrate David Malbin said as he stared down at Salvatore (Dracula) Agron, 16, and Luis (the umbrella man) Hernandez, 17.

"The rights of the people have been neglected," he added.

Swift justice was handed out to one teenager yesterday.

Fourteen-year-old Grant Young, of Brooklyn, attacked a nurse at knifepoint on a subway and was seized by police. A little more than five hours later, Justice Leonard E. Ruisi sentenced the youth to the state training school at Warwick, under maximum security, "until he takes his proper place in society."

That could mean seven years.

Other spearheads of the city's attack on teen violence included orders to speed up the lighting of parks and playgrounds and plans for establishing additional work camps.

The camps would be for youths whose police records apparently stem from troubled homes as well as for teenage hoodlums who must be penned up for the safety of society.

Kennedy said he hoped the new policemen could be trained and on the streets by Jan. 1. He pledged to support any patrolman who used "reasonable and necessary force" all the way — "1,000 per cent."

Rules Reinstatement in Scott-Union Case

between Scott's anti-Hoffa testimony in Washington in August of last year and September 1957 and his expulsion. A union official denied the alleged connection also.

Scott, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for state representative at the time of his removal last year, charged also that the union wanted to keep him out so, as a non-unionist, Gov. Williams would be less likely to reappoint him to the three-member State Board of Examiners of Barbers.

No successor has been named since his term expired last September. He was first appointed by Williams in 1953.

After Scott's and the Union attorneys negotiated unsuccessfully for nearly two days toward an out-of-court settlement, Judge Beer ordered them back in court in order to make a ruling based solely on the paper work submitted in the lawsuit.

Testimony never got under way because Scott's attorneys, Gene Schnelz of Walled Lake and Paul Franseth of Detroit, uncovered an article in the Union's constitution which, they argued, showed the Union had violated its own by-laws in booting Scott out.

Judge Beer agreed.

"If the Union officers had read this section with care I feel certain they would not have expelled one of their members contrary to their own constitution," he said.

CALLS FOR FINE

The section calls for a fine for the first violation of the Union rules, and suspension "if convicted more than twice for the same offense." Union attorneys admitted Scott was guilty of but one offense, although they opposed this "literal" meaning of the section.

"It would trespass upon fair play to say that any other member, officer, or group of officers could provide a punishment beyond the simple, plain English meaning of this article," the judge said in ruling Scott's removal void.

Scott's attorneys also asked that testimony be taken in order to determine damages resulting from "humiliation and mental anguish" they said their client had suffered after his expulsion. Saying that pleadings insufficiently showed such suffering, damages were denied by Judge Beer.

Thirdly, Schnelz and Franseth asked court costs based on a total 450 hours they said they logged in preparing for the case. Judge Beer awarded $700, to be paid by the International and Local 552.

Both Union attorneys said they couldn't say whether the Union would appeal Scott's reinstatement.

One Union officer remarked when asked if they would welcome Scott back, "Don't you know. He's one of our brothers now." They claimed Scott was still active in the association.

Mosquitoes Once Spread Disease Here

WASHINGTON — Mosquito-borne diseases once ravaged the United States. In 1793, Philadelphia lost a sixth of her population in a yellow fever epidemic.

Malaria was long a serious problem over wide areas of the South and West. Throughout the world, about 300 million people still suffer from malaria.

In the United States, modern control techniques have reduced the mosquito from a peril to a nuisance, but malaria still hangs on in isolated parts of the South.

Though yellow fever has been eradicated, the disease occasionally surges northward from the Amazon rain forest. Constant vigilance is maintained to prevent disease-bearing mosquitoes from entering the United States on aircraft.

YOU'LL SOON SEE ALL — "Real cool," says attractive Mrs. Wayne Van Dinen of 344 Kirk Lane, Troy, a receptionist at the Pontiac Motor Engineering Dept. She's referring, of course, not to the outdoor temperatures but to Pontiac's new lightweight, aluminum wheel option for 1960. Conveying a sports car flare, the exclusive Pontiac design features an aluminum wheel face with 16 ribs extending outward from the hub to the steel tire rim. A chromed hub cap, imprinted with the Pontiac Motor Division name, and eight chrome-plated fastening nuts add luster to the unique design. The new Pontiacs will be shown in dealer showrooms Oct. 1.

Steel Talks at Critical Stage

Sec. Mitchell Blasts Union and Industry for Shunning Responsibility

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell says negotiations in the 52-day-old steel strike have reached a critical stage, and he accuses both industry and union of being derelict in their responsibility.

★ ★ ★

Mitchell's new blast came about the time that the governors of eight of the states hardest hit by the strike appealed for a conference with President Eisenhower to discuss ways to end the walkout.

He said he believed the outcome of Thursday's negotiations and the developments at today's talks here "will produce either some movement or forward progress toward a settlement."

"I think the next few days will determine whether we will get a reasonable settlement or whether the strike will be further drawn out," he added.

The secretary accused labor and management of failure to exhibit "good will and compromise" in their efforts to reach a settlement.

Mitchell said both sides "could have applied themselves to bargaining more diligently than they have thus far."

Niagara Falls Runs Dry as Crane Topples Wires

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—Niagara Falls went dry Thursday. Tons of water roared over the cataract but not a drop issued from taps in 12,000 Canadian homes in the area.

The temporary drought occurred when a crane toppled wires supplying power to pumpers at the city's filtration plant, officials said. Pressure was restored within two hours.

One Killed, 14 Hurt in Gas Leak Blast

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — One man was killed and 14 other persons were injured Thursday when an explosion shattered a downtown liquor store, an adjoining bar and part of a second-floor hotel.

Carl W. Reily, 61, died in the rubble of the liquor store where he was a part-time clerk.

Fire investigators said natural gas leaking from a nearby main apparently accumulated in the rear of the liquor store and was ignited. A crew was repairing the main in the street just before the blast. Four of the injured were members of that crew.

Everybody Happy

Exhibit in Moscow Ends

MOSCOW (AP)—The U. S. exhibition in Moscow closes Saturday night after a 42-day run and almost everyone professes to be happy with the way it turned out.

Even the Soviets in the latter days got around to a gentler tone in the press. The official news agency Tass expressed hope the exhibition would not be the last one.

Harold C. McClellan, San Marino, Calif., paint company executive who directed the exhibition, said he is happy at what has been accomplished since Vice President Richard M. Nixon opened the show July 24.

"No one at this point can realize the exhibit's impact but the fact that 2,700,000 Russians crowded the area and got their first look at the American people and their accomplishments must have an important result," he said.

★ ★ ★

McClellan, a former president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, credited the Russian-speaking student guides with the big role of giving credibility to the picture of the United States. He ranked them with color television, the circarama and seven screens—movies in the dome and the products on display.

FINE COOPERATION

McClellan dealt constantly with Soviet officials and said he got fine cooperation from them.

"I can't say we settled all Soviet-American differences with this show but it proved that if we can communicate we are on the way to cooperating on problems as we can define them. Without communication there can be no cooperation."

Charles Vetter, training officer for the U. S. Information Agency, asserted that the exhibition had an impact on Americans as well as the Russians.

"Thousands of Russians saw living, breathing Americans that were different from the stereo-type they were taught to expect," Vetter said. "Americans found that ordinarily the Russian people are very human and probably closer to us in their likes and humor than we are to the French or the Germans."

House, Senate to View Military Construction Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A money bill for military construction is up for approval in the Senate and House. It is a compromise worked out by a conference committee.

The bill totals $1,363,961,200. This is $199,238,800 less than President Eisenhower recommended, $64,217,500 less than the Senate voted, and $78,958,500 more than the House voted.

State Fish Men Renew Order of 'Flies Only'

HIGGINS LAKE (AP)—Renewal of "Flies Only" regulations on 55 miles of Michigan trout streams was ordered by the State Conservation Commission today.

The commission, backing the recommendations of state fish experts, ordered five years extension of regulations on portions of the South Branch and main stream of the Au Sable River, Crawford County, and the Boardman River, Grand Traverse County.

Renewal was limited to one year on the section of the Little South Branch of the Pere Marquette River covered by the regulations. Restrictions on the East Branch of the Fox River, Schoolcraft County, were removed.

Gas Tax Hike Called Lifesaver

Rep. Broomfield Hails Bill, Fights Amendment to Pay Toll Road States

House action upping the federal gasoline tax by one cent means a "defeat for death" on the highways, declared Oakland County Congressman William S. Broomfield.

The Republican lawmaker from Royal Oak led a floor fight to defeat a last-minute amendment to the bill which would have set up a policy reimbursing toll road states $4,200,000,000 for those highways which will be part of the interstate system.

The additional penny levy for the next 22 months is expected to keep the 40,000-mile federal interstate highway system on a pay-as-you-go basis.

With Michigan getting about 80 million dollars a year on a 90-10 matching basis, such planned highways as the expressway to pass east of Pontiac, linking Detroit eventually with the Straits of Mackinac, can still move ahead.

"If the bill gets full approval in Washington," said a State Highway Department spokesman, "It will give us some definite assurances that we can carry through with the County expressway."

He emphasized that the money isn't additional but "what the federal government promised us in the first place" before shortages occurred in the highway trust fund.

Broomfield continued: "Every cent we have available should go into the new highway construction on our interstate system. Not one cent should be diverted into state reimbursements for toll roads and other structures until such time as we have definite assurances that our inter-state highways system will be completed as rapidly as possible."

Broomfield said reimbursement would set back the highway program by two years and lead 14,800 drivers and passengers up a "detour to oblivion."

"That is how many lives we save by letting reimbursement wait until after the entire interstate program is completed," Broomfield said.

Auto Industry Ready for Production Race

DETROIT (UPI) — The auto industry this week squared off for a production race which is expected to outclass the 1959 model boom, Ward's Automotive reports said today.

The trade publication said auto production this week was 18 per cent lower than last week but this week's output was made up entirely of 1960 models while last week's included some 1959 models.

It estimated the week's output at 15,004 cars and 16,139 trucks, compared with 18,335 cars and 15,294 trucks last week.

The combined car-truck production of 31,143, compared with 33,629 last week and 16,798 in the same week a year ago, boosted the total production for the year to 4,924,966 compared with output of 3,322,457 at the same time a year ago.

Park Fund Gets $500

The Wever - Owen - Hawthorne Community Club has gone one-fifth the distance in its drive for $2,500 to help improve Hawthorne Park.

The club collected more than $500 in a house-to-house campaign in northwest Pontiac this week, and hopes to net another $500 to $1,000 during an all-day festival Labor Day at the park, said Mrs. George W. Gray Sr., club president.

The festival will coincide with the dedication of the park by city officials.

Hawthorne is the city's newest park — located on Little Silver Lake south of Walton boulevard at N. Telegraph road — and the first to be officially dedicated.

Festival activities will be from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m., with a teenage dance scheduled to last from 7 to 10 p. m.

There'll be races and contests for children and adults at 11 a. m. At 2 p. m., more than 35 used cars will be auctioned off. The cars have been donated by Pontiac area auto dealers.

There're some trophies and silver dollars awaiting the winners of a 3 p. m. talent show. Anyone can enter the contest.

Ike Vacations in Scotland

Will Spend Labor Day Weekend at His Castle and on Golf Course

From Our News Wires

TURNBERRY, Scotland — President Eisenhower put aside his official cares today for a short vacation as an honorary citizen of Scotland.

He tackled the beautiful 6,680-yard Ailsa course, five miles from the castle, this afternoon.

The weather in Scotland, usually the dampest part of the British Isles, was warm, sunny and breezy.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower is returning to Washington after the weekend.

For golf partners here he has his son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and John Hay Whitney, the U.S. ambassador to Britain.

Culzean Castle is administered by the National Trust, which supervises national monuments and beauty spots. Scotland gave him a 16-room apartment there in appreciation for his services as commander of Allied forces in World War II.

Eisenhower completed his historic 10-day European peace mission equipped with pledges of support from his European allies and was reported highly gratified at the results of his amazing tour.

The 68-year-old American President, reaching final agreement with President Charles de Gaulle of France on the main points of cold war strategy, flew by jet from Paris to Scotland.

Before leaving France, the President said in a brief speech at Le Bourget airport that his talks with De Gaulle would mark "a further step in our cooperative efforts to achieve a just peace."

House Group OKs Public Works Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Daring another veto, the House Appropriations Committee today approved a shaved-down public works appropriation bill including 67 projects objected to by President Eisenhower.

It sent to the House floor a $1,185,140,863 bill financing river and harbor, flood control and reclamation projects in almost every state after refusing to delete the 67 projects which drew a veto last week.

The House fell one vote short of overriding the veto earlier this week.

Hopes Defeat Misgiving for Ike-Nikita Exchange

Old HARRY loves to sound off. Just ask a question and he'll rant on against the Republican administration. But there are times when he is joined by others, such as the doubts about the wisdom and prospects of the EISENHOWER-KHRUSHCHEV exchange.

★ ★ ★

The way former President TRUMAN views it, he would okay Mr. KHRUSHCHEV's visit to the United States, but he is against the President's trip to Moscow.

Mr. Truman wrote, "The power and leadership of the Presidency should not be dissipated in ceremonial visits." Come off it, Harry, the record shows you were quite a visitor in your day. Even your predecessor, FDR, stumped the world seeking votes.

Some other just critics contend that the exchange might lull the West into letting down its guard, make the captive nations despair of liberation or turn out to be nothing but a propaganda festival for Mr. KHRUSHCHEV and his family.

Perhaps this is true, but it is the gamble we must take. Standing still will never end the cold war.

The President's answer to his critics is that he recognizes the problems the Khrushchev visit raises, but believes the possibilities weigh heavier in the balance. He holds that the second meeting, when he goes to Moscow in the fall, may build upon the foundations laid by the first meeting.

He is of the opinion that as the two leaders get to know each other better and keep talking, some degree of warmth will enter the frigid relationships now existing.

We concur and hope that the President's reasoning is sound.

It May Pay to Save Sales Tax Receipts

The old cry "Save your Confederate money, boys, the South shall rise again," may be a bit forlorn now, but "Save your one-cent sales tax receipts; the court has yet to rule," may replace it.

★ ★ ★

For those who still feel pennies are legal tender, carefully gathered receipts may prove a bonanza later if the tax is thrown out.

Attorney General Paul L. Adams says he doesn't expect a state Supreme Court decision on the constitutionality of the increase for six weeks. A lot of money will change hands by then.

★ ★ ★

The State revenue department has recommended getting a signed and dated receipt from the salesperson. It may be troublesome, but it could pay off. If it doesn't, you can always have a nice bonfire with the receipts.

Pollution Problem May Cost City $250,000

Pontiac's pollution of the Clinton River is a serious problem and must be curtailed. The City has tried to solve the problem with bond issues for expansion of the treatment facilities, and these have been rejected by the voters.

Now the State Water Resources Commission has cited Pontiac for this pollution and laid down the deadlines for cleaning up the mess. But the deadlines may cost the city $250,000 in Federal aid to the project.

It is probable the City may miss the State deadline, so the State will get a court order to force the clean-up. Armed with this order, the City can issue general obligation bonds without a vote of the people and expand the treatment facilities.

★ ★ ★

However, if the State cleanup deadline is not advanced by the time the city gets its order from the court, the $250,000 potential Federal aid will be down the drain, but not a local one.

★ ★ ★

Let's hope that City officials can convince the Water Resources Commission to realign its calendar concerning Pontiac and allow this valuable assistance.

Steel Helps Build a Stronger America

David Lawrence Says:

Nikita's Blast Has Hollow Ring

WASHINGTON—Nikita Khrushchev must think the American people are dumb or naive and can readily be deceived.

There seems to be no other logical explanation for the hypocritical article which he wrote for "Foreign Affairs," a quarterly magazine published by the Council of Foreign Relations of New York City, a private group of citizens interested in the discussion of international problems.

LAWRENCE

In that article, Khrushchev demands that the free world accept as an accomplished fact the conquest of eastern Europe by the Soviet armies and the continued enslavement of the "captive nations," including such formerly independent countries as Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary.

These, he says in effect, must remain forever under the military domination and duress of the Communist government in Moscow.

The Soviet premier says that the resolution adopted by the Congress of the United States a few weeks ago, declaring its sympathy with the "captive nations," was "an act of provocation."

He then proceeds to suggest sarcastically that Americans would have been similarly annoyed "if the parliament of Mexico had passed a resolution demanding that Texas, Arizona and California be 'liberated from American slavery'."

★ ★ ★

Actually, very few people would be annoyed today if that happened. In fact, a resolution by any democratic government on the subject of free elections would be welcomed because it probably would urge that the United Nations be asked to conduct free elections—such as have been held regularly for more than a century in Arizona, California and Texas—so that the people of the various states of the Soviet Union itself, as well as the "captive" states, could determine what government they wish to govern them.

REJECTS VOTE

Khrushchev hopes the world will forget that he himself ordered his foreign minister at the recent Geneva conference to turn down the plan offered by Britain, France and the United States that an election be held in both East and West Germany to let the German people choose a single government.

Khrushchev defines "peaceful co-existence" in terms that have been repeatedly violated in the last 15 years by the Soviet imperialists. He writes:

"Apart from the commitment to nonaggression, it (peaceful co-existence) also presupposes an obligation on the part of all states to desist from violating each other's territorial integrity and sovereignty in any form and under any pretext whatsoever.

The principle of coexistence signifies a renunciation of interference in the internal affairs of other countries with the object of altering their system of government or mode of life or for any other motives."

Yet how would the Soviet Premier justify the Soviet's sending of munitions of war to attack and invade the independent Korean republic, or the dispatch of arms to help Communist sympathizers to destroy the national government on the mainland of China?

How would he classify the dispatch of arms to the Middle East by the Soviet government to intensify friction between the countries there? How would the Soviet Premier define the sending of Soviet troops to East Germany and Hungary, where the people were coerced to accept Communist rule?

And how would the Soviet Premier characterize the invasion of India and Laos this summer by Communist forces, or the recent overthrow of the constituted government of Tibet?

Would he ignore the fact that in every case there was a violation of the territorial integrity and sovereignty of other nations by Soviet imperialism?

In what country of the world indeed has the apparatus of Communist imperialism not been established, with its agents of subversion financed by Moscow to encroach upon the sovereignty of independent governments?

The Country Parson

"I hope we'll give as much thought to guiding our lives as guiding our missiles."

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

And also the burnt offerings were in abundance, with the fat of the peace offerings, and the drink offerings for every burnt offering. So the service of the house of the Lord was set in order.—II Chron. 29:35.

★ ★ ★

Order is heaven's first law. — Alexander Pope.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Tonsillectomy Fatalities of Children Unjustifiable

One child, four years old, died during tonsillectomy in an Indiana hospital June 6 from "heart failure."

Another child, six years old, had a tonsillectomy on a Thursday morning in another Indiana hospital and died the same evening, of "cardia arrest." "Cardiac arrest" is a euphonious way of saying heart failure.

DR. BRADY

Even if tonsillectomy the country over were fatal to just one child a year I'd say the opeartion is unjustifiable.

In the hands of the most skillful surgeon it involves deep dissection of the throat—blind dissection, for the field is obscured by blood. In the hands of the ordinary surgeon, as recorded statistics show, it involves accidental removal of portions of throat muscle along with pieces of tonsil tissue. Why the ever-ready operators are so determined to try to "get every bit of tonsil," God only knows. It seems as though they regard tonsil tissue as malignant.

★ ★ ★

Please, please, don't infer from my remarks that I don't believe in tonsil surgery. When a child's tonsils are enlarged enough to obstruct breathing, impair hearing or thicken the voice or interfere with swallowing instantaneous removal of the obstructing portion is advisable. This is done with the guillotine, tonsillotome or snickersnee; the operation is called tonsillotomy.

Since I have said a good deal here about diathermy (electrocoagulation, electro-desiccation) treatment I want to emphasize that this method is suitable ONLY for infected tonsils and it is not a method of "removing" tonsils. The sole purpose of diathermy treatment is to pasteurize, sterilize, disinfect, drain or destroy the septic focus, the infected area in the tonsil. Thus it is a happy alternative for surgery when the major operation, tonsillectomy, or even the minor operation, tonsillotomy, is deemed too great a risk.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

All Mystery Has Logical Answer

Johnny's case is a twin for the very same thing Plato described 400 years B.C. But Plato's ingenious theory is not the prevailing explanation which we psychologists advance. So compare the two carefully and don't let your children be addicted to witchery or superstition. There's a logical cause for everything, even if we haven't found all the answers yet!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-435: Johnny B., aged 16, is seriously puzzled.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I took a vacation trip through Mexico last summer for the first time.

DR. CRANE

"Mother and Dad were along. And as we were driving down a narrow mountain road, I told them the place looked familiar to me.

"There was a bend in the road up ahead, and I said I just knew there was a rustic bridge beyond it and a native hut a few yards from the bridge and on the left hand side.

"Sure enough, when we made the turn, there was the bridge and the hut, exactly as I had described them.

★ ★ ★

"Mother and Dad thought I was psychic. And I can't figure it out. How do psychologists explain it?"

PLATO'S THEORY

Readers, Plato described this very type of thing about 400 B.C. in ancient Athens.

For he was confronted with this very same problem. So he decided that we human beings must have been here on this earth in a previous incarnation.

Our apparent familiarity was thus due to the fact that we retained fragments of our former knowledge.

But modern psychologists have a better theory. We ascribe Johnny's case to an error in recognition.

Suppose you are walking along the street and see a friend ahead of you. You rush up and slap him on the back cordially, only to find when he turns around that he is a stranger.

How did you make the error Faulty recognition. The stranger had a few things that resembled those in your friend, and you simply jumped to a hasty conclusion.

For example, maybe his coat was of the same style or color. Possibly he swayed just like your friend in the act of walking.

Anyway, you picked out a few similarities and then jumped to the conclusion you had seen him before. You slapped him on the back as you would the friend for whom you mistook him.

Well, that's what happened in Johnny's case. Some elements in the situation resembled a Mexican pastoral painting he had seen or a view he had experienced back in the U.S.A.

RECOGNITION ERRORS

"But he predicted accurately the bridge and the hut," you may argue.

True enough, but we attribute his result to chance. Many folks feel a similar sense of familiarity in a strange scene yet fail in their predictions. So they forget the failures.

Or, John might have witnessed a movie shot or painting depicting the identical spot. Consciously forgetting where he saw the original, he now has the vague feeling of having been there before.

Scientists take the general premise that anything that occurs on this earth can be explained by earthly laws, without having to invoke magic or telepathy or Plato's belief in transmigration of the soul.

without recourse to voodoo magic, but it is better to err that way, than to become a dupe for every bit of superstition.

Alas, people actually seem to WANT superstition and voodoo explanations, for they are suckers for the mysterious. Ask any magician.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 6c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Readers Add Comments to Discussion About Russia

Congratulations on the recent Press articles regarding Russia. Your reports and the recent statement by J. Edward Murray of the AP Managing Editors meeting in which he pleaded for truth in foreign news give one hope for the future.

★ ★ ★

You pose the question, "Why?" to a number of things. He's short in material goods and housing because of the unprovoked attack by Hitler. Just how many cars, TV sets, refrigerators, etc., would we now have, if this country had been overrun as far as Chicago — every industry, factory, village and city together with all schools and libraries having been destroyed or carried away?

★ ★ ★

Your "why" with respect to religion leaves the ordinary Russian unexcited. He's now made communism his religion. He's quit praying "Thy Kingdom come on earth as it is in Heaven." The average American's deluded concept of Heaven is considerably more communistic than capitalistic.

★ ★ ★

Concerning the "why" of freedom in politics, the ordinary Russian isn't interested. Most of the world laughs off our tweedledum and tweedledee political parties. Not even the leaders can state wherein they differ except that one is in office.

All Russians can vote at the lowest level and from there to the Presidium each group uses its judgment to elect its superiors. Their entire philosophy of government differs from ours.

Lincoln White said, "I have seen the future and it works." The economic revolution of the past 40 years and now affecting most of Asia and Africa is bound to make changes as great as the industrial revolution did. Million dollar missiles and any other firecrackers now being played with cannot stop these changes. If used in a war, they'll surely make what is left of this civilization communistic, no matter which side thinks it is the winner.

Paul B. Line

Orchard Lake

There's little doubt of a newspaper's responsibility to maintain rigid standards of reporting. The articles about Russia state: ". . .only members of the Communist party can vote. . ." and ". . .four per cent of the Russian people vote." This is not true.

★ ★ ★

Hedley Donovan, managing editor of Fortune, after his 1958 tour reported: 'In the U.S.S.R. voting is in effect compulsory." and "Only the insane, and the people in jails and slave labor camps (perhaps two or three million) can evade the election." and "When ballots had been tabulated all over the Soviet Union, it was reported that close to 134 million people had voted."

★ ★ ★

John Gunther states, ". . .more than 120 million people voted in the last election." True, Russian elections are mere rubber stamps, but the point is that many people have been misinformed.

While accurate information is needed in combating a menacing ideology, it is also essential that we must be able to present a clear and realistic picture of American life.

★ ★ ★

Given the opportunity to clarify the status of the Negro in America, the article seemingly fails. In speaking of the Negroes that have worked in homes, it only contributes to the false concept of the Negro as a servant class. Why didn't it speak of the Negro School Board member, the Negro doctors, lawyers and teachers who function in a leadership role in Pontiac?

'Carey Can Speak Just for Himself'

Unionleader James B. Carey, head of the electrical workers sent letters advising 229 House members who voted for the labor reform bill that he will be out to beat them in the next election. Mr. Carey can speak for himself, but not for all the electrical workers that would appreciate some type of protection. This is a free country and we can vote for candidates of our choice.

Wants Artificial Radiation Ring

U.S. Scientist Claims Band Would Aid Study of Space

LONDON (UPI)—An American scientist has suggested that a belt of artificial radiation could be established like a "napkin ring" around the earth to give man a laboratory for the study of natural radiation in space.

Dr. S. Fred Singer of the University of Maryland said the formation of an artificial band some 600 miles above the equator would be a valuable adjunct to space study.

He told the International Astronomical Congress that a satellite or high altitude rocket could fire a small electron accelerator aloft and thus create the band. Then sounding rockets could be fired through the "napkin ring" daily to bring the behavior of particles in space under close study.

Singer said that there are two natural radiation belts. The "inner band" running up to 3,500 miles in space is composed of hard electrons and protons potentially dangerous to space travelers.

The "outer band" extending to 40,000 miles or more is composed of soft neutrons and can easily be penetrated by space ships.

Singer said either band could be at least partly dispersed by large "sweeper satellites" which would attract the particles.

Hal Boyle Says:

Grimmest Police Work Has Funny Side

BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation is noted more for its sense of justice than its sense of humor.

That fact, of course, is inherent in the nature of its job.

The task of catching thousands of criminals yearly is deadly serious work. It can be deadly dangerous, too. A number of J. Edgar Hoover's men have given up their lives in the line of duty.

But even the grimmest police work sometimes has its wryly humorous side—times when comedy for a moment obscures the tragedy.

When Warner Bros. decided to do a film dramatizing Don Whitehead's best seller, "The FBI Story," it undertook meticulous research into the bureau's operation to insure authenticity.

Agents once arrested a 19-year-old girl accused of being an accessory in a bank robbery. Under questioning she strenuously denied any knowledge of the crime.

She was told her bail would be $5,000, and agents asked where she could raise such a sum.

"Well," she said, "I guess I could rob another bank."

There was a sudden silence, which the girl broke by observing ruefully: "Oops. I shouldn't have said 'another', should I?"

★ ★ ★

Finding the door ajar, they stepped quickly into the room, told one of the surprised thieves: "We're FBI agents. You are under arrest!"

From an adjoining room came a terrified shout from the second thief: "Don't shoot! I'm clean!"

He was. He was sitting in the bathtub covered with lather.

During one recent investigation an agent served as assistant funeral director, rode in the funeral coach—and even helped in the burial of a man who was a close acquaintance of a fugitive the bureau was seeking.

★ ★ ★

Now and then a fugitive can be extraordinarily helpful to the FBI. One such was a man wanted for interstate transportation of stolen property. When arrested, he had in his pocket a "wanted" circular which described him fully.

Another, an ex-convict, had in his possession when caught an official copy of his FBI identification record.

He explained he had stolen it several years before from a sheriff's office while working there as a trusty.

Obligingly, he had kept the record up to date himself by writing in the data concerning his later arrests—strictly as a matter of pride.

During investigation of a Federal Reserve Act case, an FBI agent discovered two irregular bank accounts in the names of "A. D. Day" and "A. R. Day."

Under questioning the suspect cheerfully explained the meaning of the two accounts.

★ ★ ★

10,000 Vehicles Cross Mackinac Bridge in August

ST. IGNACE (AP) — More than 10,000 vehicles a day crossed the Mackinac Bridge in August, Prentiss M. Brown, bridge authority chairman, said Thursday.

"Traffic still is running less than a year ago but is substantially ahead of 1957—the last year of ferry service," Brown said. "Truck traffic was up 31 per cent over August 1958, and showed an increase of nearly 29 per cent for the first eight months of this year over 1958."

Brown said 317,146 vehicles crossed the bridge last month compared with 368,696 in August 1958. He said revenues this August were $1,136,423, compared with $1,285,842 in August 1958.

$400 in Sack May Be Somewhere on Dump

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — J. A. Hood, a cafe owner, brought $400 home in a sack. Instead of putting it in the customary spot on a dresser, he inadvertently dropped it in a trash basket.

Mrs. Hood came along and emptied the trash in a garbage can and a truck hauled it away.

★ ★ ★

Will Use Buses to Pick Up, Deliver Mail

DETROIT (AP)—Buses will be used to pick up and deliver mail soon between Mackinaw City and Saginaw.

★ ★ ★

Post office department officials here said an inaugural run of the highway post office service would be made Sept. 12 with actual service beginning the following day.

They said the service was necessary because of the discontinuance of mail train service between the two cities Sept. 12 by the New York Central Railroad.

The transit service will consist of a bus trip each way daily. Postal employes in the buses will sort, collect and distribute mail, providing the same service as the defunct mail train.

The White House said Eisenhower signed the nomination in Paris. Burden would succeed John Clifford Folger of Washington, D.C., who resigned Aug. 21.

Burden is a Republican and a member of the National Aeronautics and Space Council. He was assistant secretary of commerce for air in 1943-47.

In 1950-52 he was special assistant for research and development to the secretary of the Air Force.

Ike's Visit to Paris Like Wilson's?

It's Talk in 'Back Room' That Counts

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — It isn't often that history reads like today's newspapers. But this time it does.

Most news accounts of the hero's welcome given Dwight D. Eisenhower have mentioned that he is the first U.S. president since Wilson to pay France a state visit.

They have said that the greeting was affectionate, that Eisenhower was deeply touched, that a Frenchman has incredible problems when he tries to pronounce the simple sentence, "I like Ike!"

Now, let's turn to Arthur Walworth's biography of Wilson for a description of what happened 41 years ago, when Wilson went to Paris so full of hope for a treaty he thought would guarantee peace forevermore. Except for the names, it sounds exactly like Wednesday's stories.

"Stepping out into the pale sunshine, the Wilsons found themselves in a city gone mad," Walworth writes. "On both sides soldiers bordered the avenues. Behind them stood myriads of people, waving flags and yelling.

"Parisians who for years had muttered 'C'est la guerre,' now shrieked, 'Vive Wil-son! Vive l'-Amerique! Vive la Liberte!' There were miles of them, some delirious in the contagion of excitement, some weeping for joy.

"The hero from the West stood up in his open Victoria, bare headed, his hands stretched out toward the people, on his flushed face a smile that was to the Parisians the dawn of a new day. The press gave him more space than they had devoted to visits of kings."

With this support, it seemed to Woodrow Wilson that he could not fail.

Then he stepped in to see what the big boys in the back conference room would have — and learned the harsh facts of diplomatic life.

If the two trips have their similarities, they also have their differences.

Wilson was so proud, so sure of his cause.

"I can find no man in history," he once told his wife, "I should care to be like. I want to be myself."

★ ★ ★

While still a young man, as a teacher in Baltimore, he was asked, "Do you never think yourself wrong?"

Wilson answered: "Not in matters where I have qualified myself to speak."

On the subject of assuring eternal peace, Wilson felt he had qualified himself to speak, so he couldn't be wrong. Yet his dreams came crashing down, and he died a bitter, broken man.

By comparison, Eisenhower's dreams are so modest they seem pictyune.

He has said that all he hopes for is that somewhere in his talks in Europe, in the visit by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, a tiny crack may be found that will somehow aid peace in our time.

Shouting crowds are wonderful, whether in Paris, France, or Paris, Tex. But as a nation we have learned, the hard way, that the talk in the back room is what

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Organization of committees in Indiana and Alabama to boost Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960 was announced Thursday by Rep. George W. Sallade (R-Ann Arbor).

Sallade, a member of the Michigan legislature, is founder and chairman of the National Citizens for Rockefeller for President Committee.

Joseph L. Sutton of Bloomington, Ind., an associated professor at Indiana University, will head the Indiana Rockefeller Committee. Sutton was active in the Citizens for Eisenhower movement in 1952.

Chairman of the Alabama group will be I. L. Smith Jr., Tuscaloosa, Ala., businessman. He is a member of the GOP state executive committee.

Sallade earlier announced formation of Rockefeller committees in Michigan, Iowa and Massachuetts. Several other groups are being organized, he said.

'Bomber' Falls Victim to 'Attack'

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—A supersonic Regulus II missile, simulating an enemy bomber, fell victim to a successful interception by a Bomarc guided missile.

The Bomarc made a scheduled near miss on the target over the Gulf of Mexico Thursday in the first of a series of launchings of the IM99A Bomarc against faster-than-sound simulated enemy bombers.

The Regulus is capable of speeds of more than 1,500 miles per hour.

The radio-control received
The radio-controlled Regulus was launched from the beach at Venice, on the Florida Gulf coast about 300 nautical miles from the Bomarc launching site on nearby Santa Rosa Island.

Two on Mercy Flight Lost on Mt. Rainier

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—A two-man mercy team which vanished on a night flight to the summit of 14,410-foot Mt. Rainier was still being sought on the flanks of the snow-clad peak today.

Harold L. Horn, 40, operations officer of the Washington Civil Air Patrol, and Charles R. Carman, 29, left here late Thursday night to drop medical supplies to a critically ill scientist atop the mountain.

They were last heard from at 10 p.m. when they radioed Seattle for weather information.

The scientist, Dr. C. T. Bressler, 45, professor of geology at Western Washington College, Bellingham, died during the night, apparently of a heart attack. He had been visiting a five-man glacier research team working on Mt. Rainier.

Writer Questions Affidavit

Confederate 'Veteran' Can't Explain Status

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter Williams is too old and feeble to comment on a report questioning his status as the only surviving veteran of the Civil War armies, his daughter says.

★ ★ ★

Willie Mae Bowles, with whom Williams has made his home for several years, said "he doesn't understand anything these days."

Williams has been virtually blind and deaf for several years. He was critically ill most of last month from the after-effects of a bout with pneumonia earlier this year.

Scripps-Howard writer Lowell K. Bridwell wrote Thursday that a search of government records indicated Williams was too young at the time of the Civil War to have served as he claimed, and that the unit to which he said he was assigned was broken up before the date Williams said he enlisted.

Bridwell said census records and a check of the National Archives showed Williams to be 103 rather than 116 as Williams claimed. The newsman said this would have made Williams 8 years old during the latter days of the Civil War.

Williams, in an affidavit filed when he applied for a Confederate pension in 1932, said he was a forage master with Hood's Texas Brigade for 11 months near the end of the war. Bridwell said Hood's Brigade was disbanded "long before Williams believes he enlisted."

The Scripps-Howard writer, commenting that Williams "is a Confederate veteran only in his memory-clouded mind," said the last surviving veteran of the war was John Salling of Slant, Va., who died last March 16.

★ ★ ★

"I wish so much that we had written things down and kept records over the years," Mrs. Bowles said, "but we didn't and it is too late now to talk to him about such things."

Only Female Mosquitoes Like to Drink Blood

WASHINGTON — All mosquitoes live partly on plant juices. However, the females of many species also need blood to enable their eggs to mature. The genteel males subsist entirely on flower nectar.

Female mosquitoes track down human victims with built-in detectors for radiant heat, moisture and carbon dioxide given off by the breath. As thin people release more heat than others, they are prime targets. Dark skin is preferred to light.

The mosquito's proboscis drills through the skin of her prey until a capillary is reached. Itch-causing saliva is injected to break down the blood, which is drawn up through a special tube. Mosquitoes can ingest their own weight in blood in one minute.

First Step to Slow Up Delinquency

Three Big Cities Use Curfew Bell

By DAVID SMOTHERS

Three of the nation's largest cities are winning their battles against juvenile delinquency by keeping kids off the streets at night.

And if the youngsters in Chicago, Detroit and Philadelphia continue to misbehave, their parents can go to jail.

Police in three cities reported Thursday that juvenile delinquency and gang wars have subsided steadily ever since curfews for teenagers were put on the law books and officers were given power to back them up.

In all three cities, the parents of juvenile offenders are required by law to be responsible for their children.

If a father or mother refuses to keep his child out of trouble, that parent can wind up in court, be fined, or be sentenced to jail.

In contrast, New York City has no curfew laws. New York also has an estimated 7,000 teenage gang members and an outbreak of murderous juvenile warfare.

The curfew laws varied in detail but followed the same principle of enforcement and watchfulness.

In Chicago, boys 17 years old or younger and girls 18 or younger must be off the streets by 10:30 p.m. on weekdays and by 11:30 on weekends. About 400 offenders are brought into police stations each month to be interviewed by youth officers. If they are picked up a second time, their parents are called in. If there is a third offense, the parents are in danger of jail.

Lt. Michael Delaney, the ex-pro baseball player and Big Ten football referee who runs Chicago's juvenile department, said "surprisingly, we have very few second offenders."

In Detroit, children under 12 are cleared off the streets at 10 p.m., children aged 12 to 13 by 11 p.m., and 14 to 16 year olds by midnight.

On Fridays, the older children can stay out until 1 a.m. Parents of repeated offenders receive tickets and are summoned to traffic court.

Philadelphia's curfew is similar to Chicago's, but with a twist. Children must be off the streets by 10:30 on weekdays and by midnight on weekends unless accompanied by adults. The parents of curfew violators get a warning the first time fines or even prison sentences afterwards. Any children found out too late can be brought to headquarters for questioning.

If a Philadelphia youngster is picked up repeatedly, however, he may find himself working for the city. The youths work 40 hours a week along plans similar to the CCC camps of the New Deal era. Only one of the first 50 delinquents put on the city payroll under this plan has ever been arrested again.

JUST THE START

Juvenile department policemen in the three cities stressed that curfews are only the starting point for fighting juvenile delinquency.

The laws teach young toughs — and their parents—that the police mean business. But they also give specially-trained officers a chance to get to know the children of their districts, to work with them, and to help them keep out of trouble.

Chicago's juvenile force is 225-men strong and still growing. Many of its men are college graduates and some trained for the Roman Catholic priesthood before joining the force. They are handpicked and devoted to their work.

"We watch the kids constantly," Delaney said. "We get to know them, where they hang out, who their leaders are. We close dance halls and pool halls where they get in trouble if we have to.

"If we find gangs organizing, we keep an eye on them and if they turn mean we break them up."

Chicago has its share of teenage gangs — the Green Hornets, the Scorpions, the West Siders and such. The city also has its share of the racial tensions which have aggravated New York City's juvenile problem. There have been outbursts of violence and, sometimes, death.

But Chicago's kid gangs don't get a chance to stage the organized "rumbles" of the New Yorkers. Generally, the police know about the gangs' war plans in advance and break them up before they can start. When the police fail, the gang leaders go to jail with stiff penalties.

The same formula of getting close to the children and their parents has worked in Detroit and Philadelphia.

Lt. George Swanson, head of Detroit's Youth Bureau, said his 70 men concentrate on educating the youngsters, their parents, and civic organizations. As a result, Swanson said, Detroit has no major youth problem.

Philadelphia has gone a step further and attacked juvenile delinquent in the schools. A staff of 297 full-time school counselors work with the teachers in spotting delinquency. Misbehaving students are interviewed by the counselors and, if necessary, by psychiatrists.

Robert C. Taber, director of the counselors, reported that delinquency has fallen in Philadelphia every since the city started "reaching the children while they are still very young."

Report Senators Stalling Civil Rights Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders were reported today to have decided to shunt aside a showdown fight over civil rights legislation until the next session of Congress.

★ ★ ★

Plans, however, call for tying on to the foreign aid appropriations bill a provision to extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission, which is due to expire in two months.

This strategy, designed to avoid a battle that could delay the adjournment of Congress indefinitely, was outlined by a senator unwilling to be quoted by name.

Southern senators opposed to any civil rights legislation are expected to fight against extension of the commission's life but not to wage an all-out filibuster against it.

The foreign aid money bill already has been passed by the House. The Senate Appropriations Committee has not yet acted on it but plans to add a separate section providing unrelated last-minute fund requests of the administration.

★ ★ ★

A new factor was thrown into the touchy situation Thursday, however, when copies of the Civil Rights Commission's forthcoming report began to circulate among senators.

The commission, under the 1957 Civil Rights Act creating it, has until next Wednesday to file its final report.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) took the Senate floor to denounce the report.

He called it "one of the most devastating, unconstitutional documents I ever saw."

Other Southern senators also were known to be aroused by the report, feeling that its recommendations in some respects go beyond any civil measures yet proposed.

This could upset hopes that the commission's life could be extended without too much trouble.

Bachelor's 'Handbook' Misleading

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—There is a new book, hot (like a torture iron) off the presses. It is called "How to Avoid Matrimony," is aimed at hurting the feelings—not to mention the chances—of home-loving young girls. And is written by Herald Froy, a man who probably is a long-time married; none but a hitched man could look upon the hectic state of implacable bachelorhood with such dewy-eyed delight.

Mr. Froy claims to write as a man who has "never proposed to any woman, except in anger."

He says that "millions of men have been shanghaied or bulldozed into wedlock to form the greatest slave force in human history."

Through 192 giddy pages of opinion, which should make men die of laughter and women merely die, he points out neat little tricks to avoid being hooked by girls. E. G., "never never never smoke a pipe. Owing to illustrations in women's magazines, pipesmokers have a reputation for being good providers, with a wholesome wit, a puckish smile . . . pipesmokers are thus at a premium. Smoke cigarettes, preferably Mexican cigarettes."

When, after a long romantic relationship, the girl finally taps the bachelor on the shoulder and says "Well?" Froy suggests innumerable deft responses. Among them: "I'm not good enough for you"; "you're not good enough for me"; "when your father comes to me and tells me that he really wants me to marry you—"; "when I get my raise/divorce/legacy/insurance money/old-age pension—."

All this is wiltingly clever stuff, and I would be the last to deny that it is not effective technique. I've been intrigued by a number of pipe-smokers myself, and that "I'm not good enough for you" routine always convinced me that a bachelor was speaking true.

But when Froy says, in conclusion, that there are certain types of men who are "just unmarried"—and not "bachelors"—I must draw the line. He says, exactly: "Any silly ass can stand around just not being married, but it takes a MAN to be an ideal bachelor."

Well, Herald, now you are speaking semantics I understand. And disapprove. The term "man," in the pure sense meaning a mature male, is quite the opposite from the term "ideal bachelor," in your pure sense meaning a boy of any age who obstinately refuses to shoulder the difficult responsibilities which society, and women, try to impose upon him.

I don't blame him for these out doggedly for a flat of his own throughout life, and for loving and leaving as many hopeful females as he can get his hands on. I don't blame him for ducking the job of building a home and raising kids, when it is simple six. I don't blame him for ordering endless violets instead of endless groceries, for using the same old dodges on different young things year after year, for hating conventional morality and loving himself.

I dont' blame him for these things, anymore than I'd blame a neurotic rebellious child for skipping school to run away with the circus. I'd rather compare him to the child. To wit:

The "ideal bachelor" is not so much as man as a kid eternally looking circusward. After awhile the cotton candy gets a little sickening, the tightrope act a little uncomfortable, and the clown nonsense dull. At the end of the season he may wish he'd never left school—but it's too late to go home again.

Cuts Adamant Southern States to 5

Florida School Integration Step Closer

By The Associated Press

School integration is a step closer in Florida today, cutting to five the number of Southern states holding firm to the traditional separate schools for white and Negro pupils.

★ ★ ★

South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana are the only states in which at least token integration has not been started in elementary or high schools.

While 32 Negroes and one white pupil were registering Thursday at a previously all-white school in Miami, a federal judge in Virginia was turning down an argument for equal but separate schools for Negroes.

★ ★ ★

If white and Negro children attend classes together at the Orchard Villa Elementary School in Miami when school opens Tuesday it will mark the first desegregation of a Florida public grade school.

★ ★ ★

A Dade County, (Miami) move to comply with the U.S. Supreme Court's integration ruling led to the situation at the Orchard Villa school, which is in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

★ ★ ★

Several Negroes also registered with white children at the Air Force Base Elementary School, a new institution in Naranja, Fla., near Homestead AFB.

At Harrisonburg, Va., lawyers for the Warren County School Board tried without success to get a federal judge to allow separate but equal schools because the county now has a high school for Negroes.

Judge John Paul refused to dissolve his order that Negroes be admitted to the all-white school at Front Royal, Va. He questioned whether the new Negro school for about 125 pupils has the same standards as the Warren County High School, at which 18 Negroes have registered for the Sept. 8 opening.

Negroes in Clarendon County, S. C., also opposed the separate but equal doctrine, which was overturned by the U. S. Supreme Court's original desegregation order.

County School Supt. L. B. McCord said he was disturbed because there were 51 requests for assignment of Negroes to white schools that opened Thursday. Police were at the schools involved, but Negroes made no attempts to enroll.

★ ★ ★

The superintendent said the Negroes are not satisfied although the county has "given them equal facilities and made every effort to give them equal quality in teachers."

Peach Queen Meets Nixon, Sees Capital

Romeo Peach Queen Lorelei Hoxie, 18, of Armada presented a basket of prize Romeo peaches to Vice President Richard M. Nixon yesterday, and he asked about her future plans during their informal meeting in Washington, D. C.

★ ★ ★

Lorelei said she and her chaperone, Mrs. W. A. Parks, of Romeo, were treated royally during their two-day stay in the nation's capital. They were given a tour of the White House yesterday which awed them with its magnificense and beauty, they said.

★ ★ ★

Lorelei was to go to the Detroit Tigers baseball game this afternoon at Briggs Stadium and then open the Romeo Peach Festival celebration by leading the grand march at the Queen's Ball tonight.

State Elevator Grain Shipments Up $8 Million

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Elevator Exchange handled grain and bean shipments worth 32 million dollars during the past fiscal year, delegates from 135 member cooperatives were told here yesterday.

J. R. Bliss, general manager, said this was an increase of eight million dollars over the previous fiscal year. Bliss attributed much of the increase to a new marketing branch set up to handle St. Lawrence Seaway shipments.

Harry Rohlfs of Akron was elected president, succeeding Robert Koenigshof of Buchanan. Paul Kaechele of Caledonia was named vice president, J. R. Schantz of Caro, secretary, and Martin Bauer of Hemlock, treasurer.

Integration Gains a Few Concessions

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Integration of Southern schools crawled forward a few painful inches against stubborn resistance during the 1958-59 school year.

And prospects are high for further small gains during the 1959-60 semesters, reports the Southern Education Reporting Service, a fact-finding agency headquartered in Nashville, Tenn.

The close of the last school year found:

—Some 447,000 of the South's nearly three million Negro school children in integrated situations, an increase of about 70,000 over last year.

—A total of 734 of the South's 2,881 biracial school districts officially desegregated, an increase which doesn't show in statistics since some states, notably Oklahoma, reduced the number of districts by consolidation.

—A majority of the school districts desegregated in five of the 17 states classed by SERS as Southern, same as the previous year. The states are Oklahoma, Missouri, Kentucky, West Virginia and Maryland.

—A minority of the school districts desegregated in six of the states, one more than the previous year. The states are Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, North Carolina, Delaware and the newcomer, Virginia.

—Even token integration has yet to penetrate the states of the Deep South, the big stronghold of segregation. They are Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Florida.

Prospects for the coming school year are:

—At least six new school districts in five states will be added to the growing desegregated list—two in Oklahoma and one each in Florida, North Carolina, Virginia and Arkansas.

—Extension of integration will take place in at least a dozen already desegregated districts in Arkansas, Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

—Desegregation will crack the Deep South bloc for the first time if Dade County (Miami) goes through with plans to admit four Negro children to its Orchard Villa elementary school.

The big integration breakthrough in 1958-59 was the fall of Virginia's "massive resistance" movement, placing the queen state of the former Confederacy in the ranks of token integration.

Four of Virginia's 128 biracial school districts desegregated, theoretically placing nearly 19,000 Negro children in integrated situations. Actually, however, only 30 attended mixed schools.

Meanwhile, legal and political moves continued in the Deep South as integrationist forces sought to break the barrier and segregationists fought back. The lineup of major actions in the Deep South:

GEORGIA—The Atlanta Board of Education is under federal court order to submit a desegregation plan by Dec. 1. The board, backed by Gov. Ernest Vandiver, has appealed.

LOUISIANA—The Orleans Parish School Board is under federal court order to prepare an integration plan for New Orleans by March 1, 1960. The board has announced plans for further legal moves.

MISSISSIPPI—Ross Barnett, who has vowed to close the state's public schools rather than integrate, has won the Democratic nomination for governor. The Democratic nomination is equivalent to election.

ALABAMA—Plans are afoot to convert two public schools into private schools as pilot projects to discover the problems of conversion in case it becomes necessary on a large scale to avoid integration.

SOUTH CAROLINA—No major legal or political action on desegregation.

Burglary Suspect Found in Store

John W. Mills, 18, of 49 Clark St., was arrested for investigation of breaking and entering in the nighttime by Patrolman Maurice J. Nolin at Mazza's Market, 697 Oakland Ave.

Nolin was called to the store at 2 a. m. when a passerby, George Ricksgels, of 237 W. Ypsilanti St., reported that someone had broken a window at the store.

Ricksgels said he kept an eye on the building and saw a man return to the scene and crawl through the window.

Nolin said he crawled in and found Mills crouched behind a cabinet in a rear store room.

Approved as Lawyer for Defense Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Armed Services Committee Thursday approved the nomination of J. Vincent Burke Jr., Pittsburgh, Pa., lawyer and civic leader, to be general counsel for the Department of Defense.

The nomination now goes to the Senate for indicated confirmation.

Burke, 47, testified that he had sold his stock in several large corporations with major defense contracts and would dispose of his holdings in Koppers, Inc., if the committee wished this.

Reds, Government Battle

Singapore Has Troubles After Semi-Independence

SINGAPORE (AP)—The situation is touchy and uncertain in this island city-state in Southeast Asia—three months after it became semi-independent of British rule.

Despite some danger signs, once riot-prone Singapore is not expected to be the scene of major open trouble in the coming months.

But its ultimate fate is being decided in a quiet battle between the government and backers of young moderate - leftist Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew and two powerful enemies.

One is the Communists, many of them working hard in the rank-and-file of Lee's own militant People's Action Party. The other is Singapore's economic woes; they seem bound to ge tworse.

However, the first weeks saw few solid steps toward meeting Singapore's key problems—unemployment and the need to instill confidence in wary trade circles and investors.

Doubts have been raised by the fact the government is obviously moving to de-Westernize Singapore along with an often-threatening campaign to reduce favored status of English-educated islanders. There has also been a needling campaign against the United States.

But there are those—U. S. and other Western officials among them — who see no real sinister pattern in all this. "In fact," stated one, "Lee said long ago that if necessary the PAP will use Communist methods and tactics to beat the Communists."

There is also the feeling that, by attacking the United States, the government is taking the play away from its own enemies, the far-leftists working from within the PAP.

Unemployment has risen to more than 43,000 or 10 per cent of the work force. Every year more than 30,000 teen-agers pour into the labor market.

Singapore's position as a market center is declining, partly because of its reputation for unrest but mostly because the neighboring new nations want to handle their own overseas trade.

High labor costs and the lack of natural resources on this small island of 1½ million people make it an uphill struggle to promote industrialization.

Bomb Killing Starts Probe

Does Death Stalk Family?

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Is death stalking the family of Mrs. Pearl Kongsle, a well-liked 62-year-old Seattle widow who was killed Wednesday night when a make-shift bomb blew up in her face?

★ ★ ★

That was one of several questions Seattle police were attempting to answer today as a squad of officers worked feverishly to find her killer.

It was revealed that Mrs. Kongsle's sister found two sticks of dynamite one morning last month on the front yard of her suburban Alderwood Manor home.

Last April Mrs. Kongsle's niece and the niece's husband died mysteriously at Ft. Lewis, Wash. Botulism has been believed responsible but extensive laboratory tests have not yet shown what killed the pair, Maj. and Mrs. Robert D. Baker.

The sister, Mrs. Charlotte Schutt, said she heard a car roar away the night before she found the two sticks of explosive.

A car, without lights, was heard racing away from Mrs. Kongsle's west Seattle home shortly before the explosion that killed her.

Police said a former boarder at Mrs. Kongsle's home told them she once spoke of seeing prowlers near the house. He said she decribed them as three young men.

Officers were working to determine whether the widely separated incidents had any connection.

Detective Sgt. Austin Seth said a search was on for a former acquaintance of the dead woman. There was a possibility, he said, the killing was done for revenge.

But revenge for what Seth would not say.

Butter Is No Longer Surplus—for Present

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has worked its way out of the butter surplus—at least for the present.

The agriculture department yesterday took butter off the list of farm surpluses available for sale because present stocks were said to be sufficient only to meet commitments to the school lunch program.

Government purchases under the dairy price support program have dropped off sharply in recent months, largely reflecting a decline in production.

Texas Rancher in Court Over Neighbor's Bees

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Farmer L. J. Allen complained in court Thursday that bees are stealing nectar from his clover patch.

For months, he alleges, the bees have been flying from Henry Forester's adjoining ranch, taking the nectar and converting it into honey.

Allen contends the bees damaged his land and livestock and reduced the value of his property.

Invisible Pests Plaguing Milan

Droves of Mosquitoes That Can Cause Fever Dive-Bomb City

MILAN, Italy (UPI)—Silent and invisible dive-bombers of the insect world plagued Milan this summer. Milanese call the pests "pappataci," for which a rough translation would be "glutton flies."

Local health authorities call them "zanzarini," a kind of sandfly. Everyone agrees that their bites are unpleasant. They also can cause infection and fever.

The pappataci are virtually invisible to the human eye because they are tiny and their structure is nearly transparent.

It is believed they have the same kind of dive-bombing whine as ordinary mosquitos, but the sound is pitched so high the human ear can't hear it.

Health authorities said there wasn't much to be done about pappataci bites except to smear them with ointment and cover with a plaster.

When fever results, as it sometimes does, the recommended treatment is two or three days of bed rest. There is no lasting harm from the bites.

The last major invasion of the area by pappataci was during the war when the pests burgeoned in the rubble of bombed cities and towns.

A post-war cleanup almost eliminated the pappataci, and their appearance in other summers since the war has been on a small scale.

There was no definite explanation for this summer's major invasion, although some authorities thought the pappataci may have found welcome breeding places in excavations for a new city subway under construction.

Guest Pac Corp. Prexy

Makes Profit From Giving Products

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL

NEW YORK (UPI) — James J. Harris is in the unique business of giving away other people's products and making a tidy profit in the process.

The strangest thing about the whole deal is that 78 manufacturers of well-known goods ranging from mouthwash to catsup give him the products and pay him to distribute them.

Harris is president of Guest Pac Corp., a company he started 10 years ago on a shoestring and a hunch.

Guest Pac's operation is so simple that many people kick themselves for not thinking of it first. It takes free samples, puts them up in colorful packages and then sells them at a nominal price to banks, motels, airlines, hotels, auto clubs and other service lines. They in turn give them away to their customers as a goodwill gesture.

"It really is that simple," Harris said. "There are no gimmicks and everybody involved is very happy, including the consumer who takes home one of the packages."

The biggest users of these packages today are the banks, which frequently build their campaigns for new depositors around these gift packs.

Harris said his company puts up three different kinds of packages—some with drugs, cosmetics and toiletries; others with food, and a third group with household items such as waxes, polishes and cleaners.

One of the company's packages, featuring a Fiberglas picnic bag, contains $5 worth of food, including a spaghetti dinner, marshmallows, pudding, soda, barbeque sauce, pound cake mix, salad dressing, pie filling, candy and a can of beans.

Harris said manufacturers "are keen on the program because it gets the manufacturers' products into the home under favorable circumstances. Gift packs constitute one of the most favorable methods of sampling."

Harris said one sun tan lotion became a nationally known product as a result of gift packs put up by his firm and distributed to hundreds of thousands of consumers across the country by banks and others.

On the other hand, Harris also has a slew of testimonials from banks in St. Louis, Chicago, New York and other major cities attesting to the success of gift packages in bringing in new depositors.

Harris got into the business one day when an unemployed friend came into his office and asked to borrow $10. As Harris was digging deep in his pocket, his friend showed him an expensive bottle of perfume which he was taking home to his wife.

"Of course I got a little peeved," Harris recalled. "So I asked him where he got the money to buy the perfume? He told me he got the perfume the same way he got all his toiletries and some of his drugs—by writing away for free samples."

Harris said at first he didn't believe this was possible. But after listening to his friend for a while, he bought 100 postcards and sent them to companies in various lines asking for free samples.

"I received samples from 82 companies. One of them — a manufacturer of a popular headache remedy — sent me a whole fountain dispenser full of the stuff."

Harris said he went around to the companies and sold them the idea of giving away their free samples in gift packs rather than in the unorganized way they had been going about.

Dog Leads Way to Son Drowned in Family Pool

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—The appearance of a pet poodle, water dripping off its body, led Mrs. Marian Lanham, 39, to the family swimming pool yesterday where she found the body of her 15-month-old son, Timothy.

Mrs. Lanham said the small, 8-month-old poodle apparently jumped in the water in an attempt to save her son. She said the dog in the past had pushed Timothy back from the street when the tot wandered from the house.

Mrs. Lanham said she had missed Timothy yesterday and was looking for him when she spotted the wet dog and went to the pool.

New Dresses for Work Not Bridge

No more bridge luncheons for Mrs. Exeter.

This chic matron, like millions of others across the country, has given up afternoon parties for a paying job. With her children grown and married, she has discovered that it's fun to bring home a pay check, to meet new and interesting people, to develop new talents.

A change of pace as definite as this requires a change of wardrobe, and plenty of women are making their own softly tailored new outfits, suitable for their new jobs. They select flattering pastel tones, rather than black or navy. They pick patterns with gentle detail and flattering lines.

A perfect dress for business is one of light-weight wool tweed, in warm beige. A shade such as this, brightened with white accessories and gold jewelry, is flattering even to women with gray hair. It is designed with the touch of a couturier, made from a standard pattern and cut on slender lines with a becoming draped V neckline. The wrapped skirt provides freedom of motion. The standaway neckline is a perfect foil for jewelry.

Local sewing center experts point out that a soft wool such as this requires "stay" stitching, so it will not stretch out of shape. It also should be lined, to prevent sagging and stretching. Remember to press each section as it is completed, so each piece will be smooth before it is joined to the next.

Such a dress may be worn in chilly weather under furs, or go late into spring as a street dress. Its timeless lines will not soon go out of date.

Opens Her Home to Sorority Group

Mrs. John B. Lamdon of Clarkston opened her home for the meeting of Michigan Epsilon chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa Sorority Thursday evening.

Standing committees were appointed by Mrs. Gordon Rice, president. The program for the year was outlined and confirmed. The chapter's October meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Lola Sandage.

INCREASED TEXTURE Sturdy quality yarns, tightly woven for added strength! Increased levelness of pile, PLUS more yarn on the face of the carpet, give a new, rich textured effect.

Luxury Splurge

Fur fashions change, like other fashions, so rapidly these days that a mink stole really cannot be regarded as a long-range investment. So if you're planning to buy one, splurge on it for the luxury it is.

Dear Abby Explains:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am so confused. After 23 years of what I considered a happy marriage, my husband got up, dressed for work, went out to the garage and shot himself.

There are a lot of rumors around town about why he did it. I don't know what to believe.

ABBY

We had three children. As far as I know my husband was not in debt. He had everything to live for. Everyone is giving me advice on what to do. Some say, "Sell the house and move to another town. Others say, "Stay. You can't run away from yourself." What do you think I should do?

DEPRESSED

DEAR DEPRESSED: Don't make any radical changes in harte. Your present house, friends and surroundings are bound to keep the old memories alive. But a temporary change of scenery might be good for you and the children.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 years old and sometimes I wish I were dead. My problem is I have a clock in my family. This clock makes all kinds of trouble for me. My father is the clock. When I go somewhere and say I'll be home at a certain time, if I am not home right on the dot my father gets real mad and won't let me go out for a month. I am afraid to answer him back because if I open my mouth he says I am talking back to him. What can I do about this clock of mine?

CLOCK TROUBLE

DEAR CLOCK: The problem is not the "clock," it's the cuckoo who gets so wound up in having fun that he doesn't know what time it is. If you're old enough to tell time, there is no excuse for being late.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Please give me your viewpoint on people who never give you a specific invitation, but when they leave your home (after having been invited) they always say, "Don't forget where we live and drop in anytime." I say this is no invitation. My husband says he thinks it is all right. Your opinion, please.

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: I am with you. If people sincerely want your company, they'll invite you—ahead of time. They will set a specific date or ask you to set it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO STELLA: When a child is adopted, the original birth certificate is sealed and cannot be opened except by a court order. A new birth certificate is issued, naming the adoptive parents as the PARENTS. There is NO indication on that new birth certificate that the child is adopted.

Soap Will Protect Your Houseplants

Most of the things you don't like are things that don't like soap — including mealy bugs.

A little soap will help to protect your house plants from these white, cottony-looking insects. They can be removed easily with a soft brush or a cotton-tipped toothpick dipped into soapsuds.

Fashion has brought the little black crepe dress back to favor. You'll see it from now until Christmas in many designs but always basically simple.

Better Watch That Posture

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
The Question Box

Q. "I am 18 years old. My problem is that I have a large hump on the back of my neck. I guess this is due to poor posture. When I wear lowbacked dresses it looks awful. Is there some kind of exercise I can take to make this thing disappear? I am going to college and want to be able to wear lowbacked dresses."

A. The hump is no doubt due to poor posture in the past. There are exercises which will be helpful IF you remember to hold yourself better. Try the following one.

Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor, extending out from your arm pits, palms toward the ceiling. Roll your head back and lift your shoulders from the floor, (not your hips). Hold for a few moments and return shoulders to floor and head to normal position. Continue. Arch your back as much as possible.

Q. "I am 11 years old and soon will be 12. I am 5 feet 3 inches tall, medium build. My mother says I should weigh 90 pounds. How much do you think I should weigh? Please answer in the Question Box because everyone looks at my mail."

A. At the age of 12 you should weigh about 110 pounds.

Q. "I am 15 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall and weigh 106 pounds. My measurements are bust, 31½ inches, waist 23 and hips 34½. I know I am underweight but I do not know how much weight I should gain or which measurements should be increased."

A. You are very much underweight. You should weigh about 125 pounds. Even if you have a fairly large frame you still are quite underweight. Your measurements are in fairly good proportion. Take bust developing and hip-slimming exercises but do not do them too strenuously.

If any of you would like to have my 9-Day Gaining Diet and Hints for women who wish to gain weight, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 41 to me in care of this newspaper.

Q. "I am allergic to deodorants and I put rubbing alcohol under my arms. Is this all right?"

A. Yes, as long as it is not irritating.

This summer we have had a recipe for a blueberry cake; today we have one for blackberry cake. Mrs. Guy Coleman who gave it to us says it's an old Southern recipe and is "just out of this world."

Mrs. Coleman is an ardent student of china painting. She both takes and gives lessons in it. Her present project is painting a dinner service for twelve! The Colemans have one daughter.

Couldn't Let Ice Cream Melt Away

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening my husband and I were in the midst of eating ice cream when some friends of ours dropped in unexpectedly. There wasn't any extra ice cream on hand to offer them and I felt very uncomfortable sitting there eating in their presence. Should we have put our ice cream aside, or just what is proper in a situation of this kind?"

★ ★ ★

Answer: There was no reason why you should have not finished your ice cream after having told your unexpected guests how sorry you were that there wasn't any left for them. You might of course have offered them some coffee or a cold drink or something else you may have had available.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is customary for the bride to give the bridegroom a wedding present, and if so, what is customary? Also, when is the most appropriate time for the bride and groom to give the members of the bridal party their presents?"

Answer: It is not exacted that the bride give a present to the groom but she often does so if she can. Generally it is something permanent and personal—ranging from cuff links to a watch or ring. If there is a bridesmaids' and ushers' dinner, the attendants are given their presents at that time; otherwise at the rehearsal.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am taking a trip to Europe very shortly and am using the services of a travel agency. I would like to know if it is proper, or necessary, to tip the person who is planning the trip for me.

Answer: No tip will be necessary or expected.

Vests have been added, this fall, to the list of fashion separates to be seen on the college campus. They're worn either over shirtwaist dresses or with shirts and straight skirts. They go under jackets, too.

Sad to Watch Dog Friend Grow Old

By RUTH MILLETT

It's sad to see a dog you brought home as the friskiest, friendliest, funniest fat pup in a litter of 10, grow thin and gray and get a patient, what's-the-matter-with-me look in his eyes.

Oh, Sam still brings in the morning and evening papers and takes them to the cupboard where his dog candy is kept, so that he will be sure to collect for his daily chores.

But he doesn't prance any more, head high, proud to be doing a good job that invariably brings him praise, a pat on the head, and a delectable bit of dog candy tossed in the air for him to catch.

Now his job is just a job that he does faithfully but slowly and without spirit.

The steady rhythm of a thumping tail when someone rouses him from a nap to pat him or to say, "Sam's a good dog," has been reduced to the slightest wag of the tip of his tail—the feeblest salute he can manage before dozing off again.

Bird season will be coming soon and for the first time, Sam, who used to quiver in happy anticipation at the sight of a gun, is sure to tire long before a day's hunting is done.

But the saddest thing of all, perhaps, is that Sam doesn't even have any natural enemies any more. Once he would climb a tree in hot pursuit of a frisky squirrel. Now he only cocks an eye with faint interest if a squirrel or rabbit scampers across the yard.

Once the other dogs in the neighborhood knew who was boss if they came in his yard or looked longingly at one of his half-hidden bones. Now he makes not even a feeble protest when his territory is invaded.

Haul in Tummy to Keep It Flat

Absolutely one of the best ways to possess a flat stomach is to haul it in. That is, each time you find yourself slumping, straighten and pull in your stomach.

Hold your stomach flat as you walk and sit. This strengthens the stomach muscles and makes them do the work they're supposed to do. Don't depend on a girdle to hold the line. A girdle is an enormous help and you should wear one. But it's intended only to supplement the work of the stomach muscles.

And incidentally, holding your stomach flat will also automatically improve your posture. Try it and see.

Indoor Poncho

Introverts Hold Liquor Better Than Extroverts

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Perhaps the quiet fellow who keeps to himself can hold his liquor better than his more social, out-going friends, a psychologist suggested Thursday.

★ ★ ★

It may take less alcohol to make the out - going individual drunk, indicated Dr. Cyril M. Franks of the New Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute, Princeton.

★ ★ ★

Some experiments have already shown that the out - going sort of person needs less of the drugs like sodium amytal to quiet him than does the person with an introverted personality.

In fact one researcher actually lists high resistance to alcohol as an indication of an inward-turning neurotic - type personality, Dr. Franks told the American Psychological Assn.

Alcohol may act as the same sort of depressant as sedative drugs like sodium amytal—and may have the same greater effect on persons with extroverted or out-going personalities.

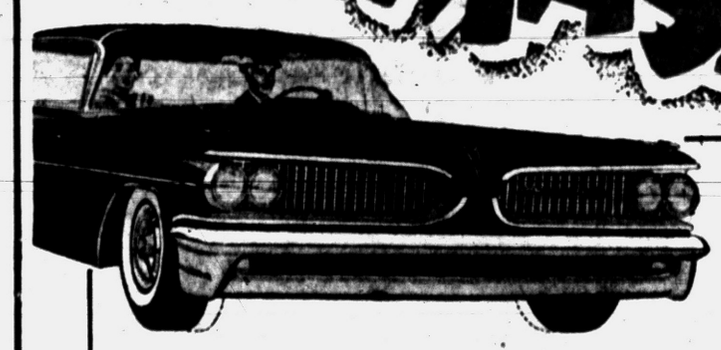

It could be that a person's personality has as much to do with his liquor capacity as his weight, habits, sex or age, Dr. Franks said.

★ ★ ★

"Perhaps it is the socially minded individual, the extrovert, who should be particularly careful to avoid that 'one for the road'," Dr. Franks suggested.

ELECTRIC HEAT

While an addition to your home is built, install modern electric heat! Then there's no complicated problem of making new connections to an existing heating system—no danger of overburdening that system. Whether you select radiant panels like the one above or any of the several other types of units, you'll assure family comfort.

What's more, built-in electric heat will give you pinpoint control of room temperature without affecting the temperature anywhere else in the house. Electric heat may very well cost less to install than any other system, and the units themselves are so compact and simple that maintenance is no problem at all.

SAFETY . . . Electric heating systems are designed to distribute heat safely, gently. Concentrations of superheated air are eliminated. There is no combustion process.

EXTRA SPACE . . . Electric heating units are completely built in. You can put to better use the space otherwise needed for chimney, fuel storage, piping, furnace or boiler.

CARES FOR ITSELF . . . Set a thermostat, then forget it. Electric heating systems are long-lived because there is little to wear out, need adjustment or replacement.

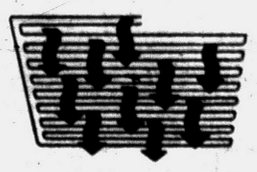

REDUCED RATE . . . Residential customers can now take advantage of a new, lower rate—2c per kilowatt-hour when monthly electrical use is over 750 kilowatt-hours. Electricity remains one of your biggest bargains.

CUSTOM-COMFORT . . . Keep one room at 72, another at 65. The temperature can be up in one room, down or completely off in another.

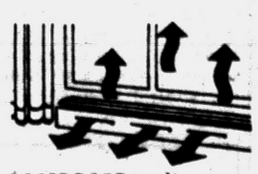

FLEXIBILITY . . . Electric heat can replace regular baseboards—or be built into walls, floors or ceilings.

CLEANLINESS . . . Walls, draperies, carpets and furniture stay cleaner longer—for air is free from combustion products.

WALLS can be a heat source, too, with radiant panels or forced air units set between the partition studding.

Whatever type you select, be sure your home has good insulation, properly installed. Good insulation is needed to get the most from any heating system—including the electric heat pump, which is a year-round climate control system that heats in winter and cools in summer—automatically.

Dryden Area Group Sets Dinner to Honor Teachers

DRYDEN — Members of the Dryden Area Development Assn. last night completed plans for a dinner meeting Oct. 1 to honor teachers in the Dryden School system.

The social event will be held at the clubhouse at the Old Mill. It will be a potluck affair with the association furnishing the ham, beverages, rolls and butter.

Special guests, besides the teachers, will be members of the Board of Education, School administrators, village and township boards, local businessmen, ministers, and their wives. County Superintendent of Schools Ed Lynch also will be invited.

In other action, association members began work on their 1959-60 membership drive. They have already sent letters to former members urging them to join up again.

Last night each member took a list of names of men from the Dryden telephone book. They will contact them personally and by mail about joining the organizations.

The association's main project for the coming year is to rally support for the local high school in its drive for annexation with the Metamora district.

A meeting of the Dryden, Metamora and Lapeer County boards of education is being planned for the middle of the month to discuss this problem, a local board member told the group.

All of the volunteers who offered their services last year as committee chairmen were re-appointed last night. They are Don Osborne, area survey; Harry Youngs, membership; Axton Hammond, planning committee; Ross Reynolds, publicity; Dr. Don Flater, doctors; Harold Foot, lights on the athletic field, and Don Hagemeister, white elephant sale.

Threaten State Dairy Strike

MMPA Official Hits Wisconsin Milk Import in Lansing Walkout

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Milk Producers Assn. (MMPA) has threatened a statewide strike against Sealtest Dairies in support of striking Lansing area milk producers.

The Lansing Milk Producers Assn., an MMPA affiliate, last week called a strike against Sealtest and two other dairies here.

MMPA President Glenn Lake said producers in other parts of Michigan were aroused over what he said were attempts by Sealtest to break the strike by importing milk from Wisconsin.

There was no immediate comment from Sealtest officials.

Lake said:

"Sealtest is bringing milk into Lansing from every available source in Michigan and is importing milk from Wisconsin at a cost far in excess of what Lansing farmers are asking.

"When a dairy is willing to pay $5.15 a hundred weight for Wisconsin milk just so it won't have to pay Lansing farmers the same price other Michigan dairymen get, it indicates to us that the dairy will resort to any means fair or foul to maintain sub-standard prices in the Lansing area."

Lansing area farmers get 50 to 60 cents less per 100 pounds of milk than farmers in neighboring markets, Lake said.

The striking Lansing group is demanding $4.85 a hundred weight for Class I (drinking) milk, about 40 cents over the rate the group says is now being paid by the struck dairies.

U.S. Imports More Agricultural Products

Wheat topped the lists of exported items with a total value of $620,849,000. Topping imports was coffee at $1,102,466,000.

Vacant Seat Reminder of Girl's Tragic Death

WASHINGTON—There will be a vacant seat in the ninth grade homeroom at Romeo Junior High School when classes resume next week.

Fourteen-year-old Lindy Lou Micielli of Washington was killed at 1:40 p.m. yesterday when she turned her bicycle into the path of a panel truck near her home.

Lindy was the oldest of five children of Mr. and Mrs. James Micielli, 7272 Smale St.

Neighbors said she was a cheerful girl, always with a smile and a kind word for everybody. And, they added, she always warned the younger children to be careful riding their bicycles. They could hardly believe an accident like this could happen to her.

* * *

Wilson told troopers that he tried to avoid hitting the girl but was unable to do so. She was dead on arrival at the Community Hospital near Almont. She had suffered internal injuries.

The driver was not held but was to make a statement at the Macomb County prosecutor's office today.

Lindy had three brothers, Frank, 12; Jimmy, 10; and Patrick, 4, and a little sister, Kathy, 2½. Her body is at Van Lerberghe Funeral Home, Detroit.

Spent Night in Farmington

Runaway Children Safe

Five runaway children from Detroit found safe yesterday, 24 hours later, told Detroit Police they got as far as Farmington where they spent the night beneath the stage of a shopping center ampitheater.

* * *

After breakfast of grass and weeds, the youngsters, aged 10 to 14, turned for home. A motorist gave them soda pop and cookies, then tipped off the police.

* * *

The children, objects of an intense police search, were picked up by patrolmen in Redford Township later in the day.

Four of the runaways were the children of Mrs. Milfred Stafford of Herman Gardens, Detroit. The fifth was 11-year-old John Case, a neighbor who said he just went along for the fun of it.

* * *

Patricia Stafford, 14, said running away was her idea in retaliation for her mother's having punished her. She said her mother was "too strict."

Suspect Arson in Barn Blaze

IMLAY TOWNSHIP — Arson is suspected as the cause of a fire last night which destroyed a barn and equipment on the Albert Stoldt farm at 1869 Black Corners Rd.

* * *

Lapeer County sheriff's deputies said today that this is the third barn fire in a mile-square area during the past year.

Lost in the conflagration, besides the building, was a $6,000 combine, 1,000 bales of hay and some fertilizer.

Highland Republicans Plan Joint Meeting

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP—A joint meeting of the Highland Republican Club and the Huron Valley Republican Women's Club, is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday at the township hall.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Ellie Peterson of the Republican State Central Committee. The public is invited.

Okemos Man Named to Farm Bureau Post

LANSING (AP)—Clarence E. Prentice of Okemos has been named secretary-manager of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

He succeeds Norwood D. Eastman, who resigned in July to become head of the Midwestern States Appeal Division of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

* * *

Prentice, 53, for the past six years has been state administrative officer of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, a division of the federal Department of Agriculture.

* * *

Prentice, a native of Hastings, Barry County, attended Michigan State University and Kansas State and served on the MSU staff as a 4-H Club agent, agriculture extension and marketing specialist before he joined the federal agency.

Highway Bids Include Two for Oakland

Low bids totaling $4,826,507 on ten state trunkline projects, including two in the Oakland County area, were announced yesterday by the State Highway Department at Lansing.

* * *

A low bid of $28,335 was made for the bridge job at Novi by Lee Turzillo contractors of Brecksville, Ohio.

Touchdown Drought Ends With Lions' 35-24 Victory

Scoring Spree Comes After 8 Empty Quarters

Tobin Rote Goes Entire Distance in Whipping Eagles

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

TOLEDO—It took eight quarters of football but the touchdown drought finally ended for the Detroit Lions last night and Coach George Wilson saw the 35-24 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles in Toledo as a big psychological factor.

Since the first period of the Cleveland game two weeks ago, not a single Lion had been able to cross the goal line for a six pointer.

The drought covered three quarters of the Browns' game four empty quarters against the Giants last week and the first quarter against the Eagles last night. Only a field goal was scored during this time.

Finally, in the second period with Tobin Rote running and passing like the same Rote who led the team to the 1957 championship in the final stretch of the season, the Lions broke loose for 28 points.

This was as many points as all four other exhibition games combined.

Rote started the game and went all the way. This was the first time he had gone the entire route in an exhibition game since coming to Detroit from the Green Bay Packers three years ago.

"That was a good thing for Rote," said Wilson afterward," this should help him regain his confidence and psychologically give him and the team a big lift."

The big Texan completed 18 to 25 passes for 272 yards and three touchdowns and he also gained 69 yards himself and plunged for a TD.

The Eagles hit pay dirt twice and had a 14-0 lead after one quarter. In three plays after the opening kickoff Norm Van Brocklin passed to Tommy McDonald 40 yards for the score. Only 1:45 had elapsed.

After going 50 yards down field, the Lions' march ended when former U. of D. halfback Lee Riley intercepted Rote's pass on the 14 and carried to the 29.

★ ★ ★

The Eagles went all the way again on nine plays and Van Brocklin tossed a nine yarder to Bobby Walston for the tally. Walston added his second point.

After taking an Eagle punt, Rote connected on three straight passes from the 40 yard line, hitting Doran for 19 yards and Hopalong Cassady 10 yards twice, the last aerial for the TD to make it 14-7 with Jerry Perry's placement.

Eagle quarterback Sonny Jurgensen fumbled when hit by Gil Mains and Darris McCord and the Lions then went 39 yards to tie the score. Rote went the last five yards after hitting on passes to Cassady and Steve Junker.

Jim Martin dribbled the ball on the kickoff and Perry Richards recovered on the Eagle 47. On the first play, Jim Carr wrapped his hands around Cassady's neck and interference on the pass was called on the 12.

Half the distance to the six was added when Carr objected and was called for unsportsmanlike conduct. Rote then went four yards and John Henry Johnson swept the end for the last yard to make it 21-14.

Another fumble by pass receiver Billy Barnes on the 40 started the Lions toward their 4th TD of the quarter. The big play was a 26 yard sprint by Rote behind four blockers to the six.

Danny Lewis then took a short flip from Rote and skirted the end to make it 28-14 with only 28 seconds in the half.

Early in the second half Nick Pietrosante fumbled a pitchout on the two yard line and Theron Sapp easily scored to make it 28-21.

A moment later Jerry Reichow made a beautiful catch of Rote's pass to complete a 50 yard scoring play for a 35-21 advantage.

The scoring ended when Dick Bielski kicked a 42 yard field late in the third quarter.

Gene Gedman, out with a bad knee, played for the first time, carrying to ball twice for six yards.

Michigan Staters Walk Kowalczyk and Clarence Peaks did well in the Eagles' running game and as pass receivers.

'HR Willies' Do It Again

Those White Sox' scouts sent out to get the "book" on Willie McCovey are sure to come back with an encyclopedia instead.

Only recently, Dodger "sleuth" Al Campanis came back with a bulging 15-page report on San Francisco's spectacular 21 - year-old rookie, so you can imagine all the paper work ahead for the White Sox, who expect to face McCovey in the World Series.

The White Sox can virtually wrap up the flag by knocking over Cleveland in another big series beginning tonight at Comiskey Park, Early Wynn will duel Jim Perry.

The scouts assigend by the White Sox will report back that National League pitchers tried everything on McCovey. Inside and tight, low and aways and even changing speeds.

That was pretty much the story Thursday when McCovey, hitting safely in his 16th straight game hammered his 10th homer in an 8-5 victory over the Cubs than enabled the Giants to widen their National League lead to 2½ games.

McCovey's homer came off loser Dave Hillman in the fifth inning and it put the Giants ahead for good after the Cubs had jumped to a 4-0 lead off starter Johnny Antonelli.

While those White Sox' scouts are at it, they'd better concentrate on that other Willie too, meaning Mays. He slammed his 25th homer with one on in the sixth. Ed Bressoud also homered for the Giants as did Alvin Dark for the Cubs.

Stu Miller took over for Antonelli in the third inning and allowed seven hits and one run the rest of the way to gain his eighth victory against seven defeats.

The Yankees trounced the Senators, 9-2 and the Orioles defeated the Red Sox, 5-4 in the only American League action.

Ken Boyer's 27th homer with two on in the third inning was the key blow for the Cards in their triumph over the Dodgers. It marked the 22nd straight game Boyer has hit safely. Joe Cunningham homered in the first inning and was hit by a Don Drysdale pitch in his next time up. The incident almost precipitated a fist fight between St. Louis manager Solly Hemus and Drysdale, who had to be kept apart by the umpires after players from both teams came charging onto the field.

Drysdale, who lasted only 2⅓ innings, suffered his fifth straight loss and 11th of the season. Rookie Bob Miller hurled a seven-hitter for his third victory.

Art Ditmar of the Yankees pitched no-hit ball for 6⅔ innings but was forced to settle for a four-hit victory over the Senators. Roy Sievers broke up Ditmar's no-hitter when he hit his 18th homer with two out in the seventh and Clint Courtney belted a pinch homer in the eighth.

Bob Nieman clouted his 16th and 17th homers in pacing Baltimore to victory over Boston. Skinny Brown was credited with his ninth victory although he was knocked out in the ninth when the Red Sox scored two runs and had the tying run on base with two out.

Billy Loes relieved Brown and got Pumpsie Green to ground out, thereby recording his 14th "save" of the season. Frank Baumann was the loser.

LIONS GO AHEAD — Lions quarterback Tobin Rote (18) leaps over the goal line late in the 2nd quarter to put Detroit ahead of the Eagles for the 1st time in last night's exhibition football game at Toledo. Rote's tally made it 21-14 and the Lions went on to win, 35-24. Behind Rote are Eagles John Nocera (29) and Ed Meadows (66).

Grid Teams Into Scrimmage Drills

Elliott said the session was designed to polish up tricky handoffs and backfield maneuvers needed in th eteam's new wing T offense. Three backfields alternated on offense against a defensive unit composed largely of third and fourth stringers.

The foursome of quarterback Stan Noskin, halfbacks Brad Myers and Darrell Harper and fullback Tony Rio opened the scrimmage as the first string backfield.

It still was not known how long Syring's injury would keep him out of action. X-rays disclosed no break but showed an operation is necessary sooner or later. An operation now almost certainly would shelve Syring for the rest of the season.

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Jim Miller will put the University of Detroit football squad through an hour-long scrimmage tomorrow, rounding out the first week of practice for the fall campaign.

The Titans will open their regular season here Sept. 18 in a night game with George Washington University.

Miller yesterday described his main problem so far is shoring up center. His No. 2 center, Frank Jackunas of Baldwin is out of action with a pulled leg muscle and John O'Brien, a junior center from Rego Park, N.Y., quit the squad yesterday.

Miller moved two players to center—tackle John Jereck, a senior from Battle Creek, and fullback Bill Rowan of Washington, D. C.

The team's No. 1 center, Ernie Fritsch of Massillon, Ohio, drilled for the first time yesterday after being laid up with the flu.

Three players were injured in yesterday's practice. Terry Faylor a junior guard and letterman from Fort Wayne, Ind., was knocked groggy but expects to be back in action today. Junior halfback Jim Shorter of Pontiac injured his right knee and will be sidelined for five days. Sophomore Bill Kane of Forty Forks, Pa., will be out for two days nursing a bruised shoulder.

EAST LANSING (AP) — First scrimmage session of the fall was scheduled today in the Michigan State football camp.

Coach Duffy Daugherty scheduled the hitting for the morning on the theory players would be fresher after a night of rest and less prone to injury.

Another contact drill was set for Saturday afternoon in Spartan Stadium.

Linesmen have been busy learning blocking assignments for plays used in the new double wing, man in motion series.

The squad already has been showing some signs of weariness—especially after the wind sprints that wind up each day of workouts.

The passers—particularly first stringer Dean Look—have been putting in long drills with the ends learning new patterns. Quarterbacks also have been doing a lot of throwing to backfield recivers in the new offense.

Lopez Can Sign at Own Terms

Veeck Quoted as Saying Hose Manager Also in Line for Pay Boost

CHICAGO (AP)—Bill Veeck was quoted today as saying Al Lopez can virtually write his own ticket if and when he decides to sign a contract as the White Sox field manager for 1960.

Lopez could sign a two or three year contract and at a raise in pay, the Chicago Sun - Times quoted the Sox president as saying.

The paper said Veeck has had preliminary talks with Lopez about next year but said Lopez indicated he would prefer to delay any contract signing until after the 1959 season.

Would Veeck offer Lopez a one or three-year contract?

"That's up to Al," Veeck told the paper. "All I can say is that we'd be delighted to have him back. Of course he'd get a raise. He certainly is entitled to it."

There have been indications that even if the Sox win the pennant Lopez might take a year's leave of absence from baseball.

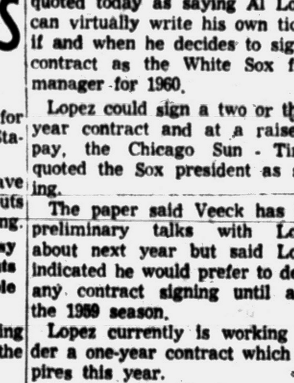

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

DIAGNOSIS: Losing sight of the main goal.

TREATMENT: The idea of golf is to get the ball into the hole in the fewest possible number of strokes. This is a simple and obvious statement.

Many golfers, nevertheless, seem to lose sight of it. They seem to feel that it is more important to look good hitting the ball, or to hit good looking shots.

The idea I'm trying to get over is that you should fight the course with every resource you have. If you miss the green with an iron, don't despair. Try to get that next one up there for a one-putt.

If conditions force you to be a scrambler, be one—not a prima donna. Remember that a scrambling par looks the same on the scorecard as a perfectly played one.

In this connection I'm reminded of a remark by Lloyd Mangrum, an old and valued friend of mine.

Lloyd had just parred a hole by coming out of the brush on his third shot and getting down a longish putt. His opponent, who had two-putted for his par, observed that Lloyd didn't deserve a halve.

"Are we playing HOW," asked Lloyd, "or HOW MANY?"

In golf, you play HOW MANY!

Tigers Begin 'Final Lap' With A's 3-Tilt Series

DETROIT (AP)—The nearest thing to certainty as the Detroit Tigers head into the last 21 games of the American League season is that they won't finish first, second—or last.

They could wind up third, and with a little trouble as far down as seventh.

Right now they are fourth, a game back of the New York Yankees, but only 5½ games ahead of the seventh - place Kansas City Athletics who open a three-game stand in Briggs Stadium today.

The Tigers have no chance to catch the flying first-place Chicago White Sox, 16½ games ahead of them, and hardly any more of making up the 11 games that separate them from second-place Cleveland.

And where the Tigers finish in 1959 may determine whether manager Jimmie Dykes gets a new contract to try again with a team he took over from Bill Norman with a miserable 2-15 record May 3.

Dykes isn't unaware of this.

So he's tightening (he hopes) Detroit's defenses for the short home stretch. Ted Lepcio is going to get another crack at shortstop in the Kansas City series.

Rocky Bridges hasn't been able to regain his speed since suffering an ankle injury July 24, and his glove work has been shaky, too.

Larry Osborne's fielding at first base has been erratic, but Dykes likes his over-all performance better than that of Gail Harris or Gus Zernial. He toyed with the idea of bringing Charley Maxwell in from left field, but abandoned it.

"He would need a week or more to get adjusted to the ground balls coming his way, and we don't have that much time left," Dykes said of the Maxwell switch.

A major reason for Dykes' attempts to plug leaky defenses is that 89 unearned runs have been scored against the Tigers this season.

Don Mossi, who threw a three-hitter at the A's last week in Kansas City, has been picked for mound duty today as the Tigers attempt to keep a four-game winning streak against the Athletics going.

Jim Bunning is slated to pitch for Detroit Saturday and Dykes has indicated Pete Burnside, who toils principally in the bullpen, may be assigned Sunday's starting role.

Shada Named Coach for St. James Crew

Johnny Shada, one-time football coach for Pontiac St. Frederick High School, and a former assistant grid coach at University of Detroit, has been signed to handle the Ferndale St. James post this fall.

Shada will succeed Tom Fitzgerald who turned in a good job for the 'Dales, last fall. He has named Bob Hernbro'k and Tom Zotte as his sides, school authorities reported today.

Johnny also was the Titans' cage mentor in 1946-48, and was line coach during the same period. He returned to the Titan's staff in 1957.

Detroiter After AFL Franchise

Lion Official Wilson Hopes to Have Miami Club

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ralph Wilson Jr., a Detroit sportsman who is anxious to acquire a Miami franchise in the new American Football League, left today for Florida to discuss his plans with members of the Miami City Council.

"If Miami wants professional football, I am personnaly prepared to back the team financially," Wilson said after meeting with Harry Wismer, head of the new league's television committee.

Although he is a minority stockholder in the Detroit Lions of the National Football League, Wilson is ready to jump to the A.F.L. Earlier this week, he discussed the possibility of acquiring a Miami franchise with Lamar Hunt of Dallas, the founder of the new circuit.

Wilson said he did not yet have a franchise but reported his group had been approved by Hunt and other top men in the A.F.L.

Olmedo Is Anxious to Take Nationals

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—"I want to win this one very much—I try awfully hard."

This was Alex Olmedo's promise to a disillusioned tennis public today as he opened his bid to add the U. S. National to his Australian and Wimbledon championships for a rare "little slam."

Olmedo is top-seeded. In the bottom half of the draw his toughest rivals appear to be Earl Buchholz Jr., Rod Laver and Roy Emerson. Neale Fraser, Australia's Cup star, and Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, head the upper bracket. They play Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The two best matches on today's card involved non-seeded players. In the men's division, former Wimbledon champion Dick Savitt of New York met Martin Riessen of Hinsdale, Ill., a promising junior. In the women's competition, Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills clashed with young Gwen Thomas of Cleveland.

Now the Giants Must Win Flag

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "The Giants have to win the pennant," says San Francisco Giants public relations director Garry Schumacher.

"We've ordered World Series programs," he explained.

"Just do me one favor," said Manager Bill Rigney, superstitious as most baseball men. "Let's not tell the other clubs in the National League about this."

Reds' Brothers Battery

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs will have a brother battery beginning Friday.

State Body to Study Rules on 'Flies Only'

HIGGINS LAKE (AP) — The state conservation commission was scheduled today to reconsider flies only regulations on trout fishing on selected streams.

Regulations are about to expire on portions of the Little South Branch of the Pere Marquette River, Newaygo County; the South Branch and main stream of the Au Sable River, Crawford County; Boardman River, Grand Traverse County; and the East Branch of the Fox River, Schoolcraft County.

Fifteen persons appeared at the commission's informal meeting here yesterday with a slight majority opposing extension of the regulations.

The regulations, imposing larger minimum sizes, were introduced to determine whether they would allow more trout to reach spawning size.

The commissioners heard a report from the fish division that trout mortality under the flies only rules had been considerably less on the South Branch of the Au Sable.

College Football

by "RED" BLAIK

Predicting college football is a precarious pastime. Football is not a game that follows form. It is basically a game of movement, blocking and tackling. The degree of execution of these fundamentals depends greatly on desire or spirit, which can vary appreciably with individuals and teams from game to game. We often hear an unexpected result explained by one team being "up" and the other "down"—and this usually makes sense.

The "down" team will invariably lose, unless it is favored disproportionately by the breaks or unless it enjoys an advantage in personnel too wide to be bridged by the "up" team's spirit. Such advantages in personnel become increasingly rarer with each season for two reasons. First, the deliberately scheduled "breather" or "rabbit hunt" game is fast becoming extinct. Second, there is an ever-increasing spread of balanced strength, both within conferences and on a national basis.

In this respect, I can recall few seasons that have matched and none that have surpassed the way 1959 shapes up. I can't think of a single major team that can look forward with any certainty at all to an undefeated season. And I can think of several which are good enough, if personnel comes through as anticipated and is not too disaffected by injuries, to be at or near the top by season's end.

Every section has at least one team and most of them have two or more capable of the highest ranking. The Western Conference has at least four in Ohio State, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Purdue.

It is never wise to underestimate a Notre Dame team, yet I feel that the Irish schedule, squared against the time needed for Coach Joe Kuharich to develop his line, will keep them from national championship contention this year. By next year, they probably will be up near the top again.

Oklahoma, of course, must be considered seriously any year, and I feel Coach Bud Wilkinson will have his best quarterbacking and most dangerous attack since 1956. In the Southeastern Conference, Louisiana State, Auburn and Mississippi all have rich possibilities.

There is also a second group, including Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Florida and Georgia, out of which one of two could move up higher than expected. The Atlantic Coast Conference offers two solid contenders in North Carolina and Clemson, with South Carolina not too far behind.

The Southwest Conference has a candidate capable of challenging the best from any other area in Southern Methodist, with Texas and Texas Christian only a furlong or two, if that much, behind the Mustangs. And it is axiomatic among football men that Rice, under Coach Jess Nealy, can be real tough on any given Saturday.

Army will have another fine football team this year, capable of representing the East respectably against the best of any section, and you can also keep an eye on Penn State. In fact, let me say that the top Eastern independent group of Army, Navy, Penn State, Syracuse and Pittsburgh will year in and year out stack up well against the best five from any area.

The Ivy League should have two very fine football teams in Dartmouth and Princeton—and the outcome of their game may well decide the championship in that group, as it did a year ago when Dartmouth won.

In the far west, Southern California has a strong enough line to test the best, even Ohio State, and UCLA now seems straightened away to climb toward the dominance it knew a few years back under the late Red Sanders. In the northwest, Washington State, a dangerous passing team and also sound otherwise, can move up near the top.

Bolt Now Plays a 'Jolly Game,' but Can't Win

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Tommy Bolt, once the temperamental terror of professional golf, says he is playing a "jolly game" with poor results.

So far this year, Bolt said yesterday, he hasn't thrown a club, snarled at a tournament official or insulted a fan. And, he hasn't won a tournament, either.

"I just can't get started," Bolt told newsmen gathered to watch the pros limber up for the annual $20,000 Kansas City Open, which begins today. "I don't know what it is. But I know this much, I've got to win this one."

State Licenses 40 Shooting Preserves

LANSING (AP) — Forty shooting preserves, six more than in 1958, are licensed to operate in Michigan this year.

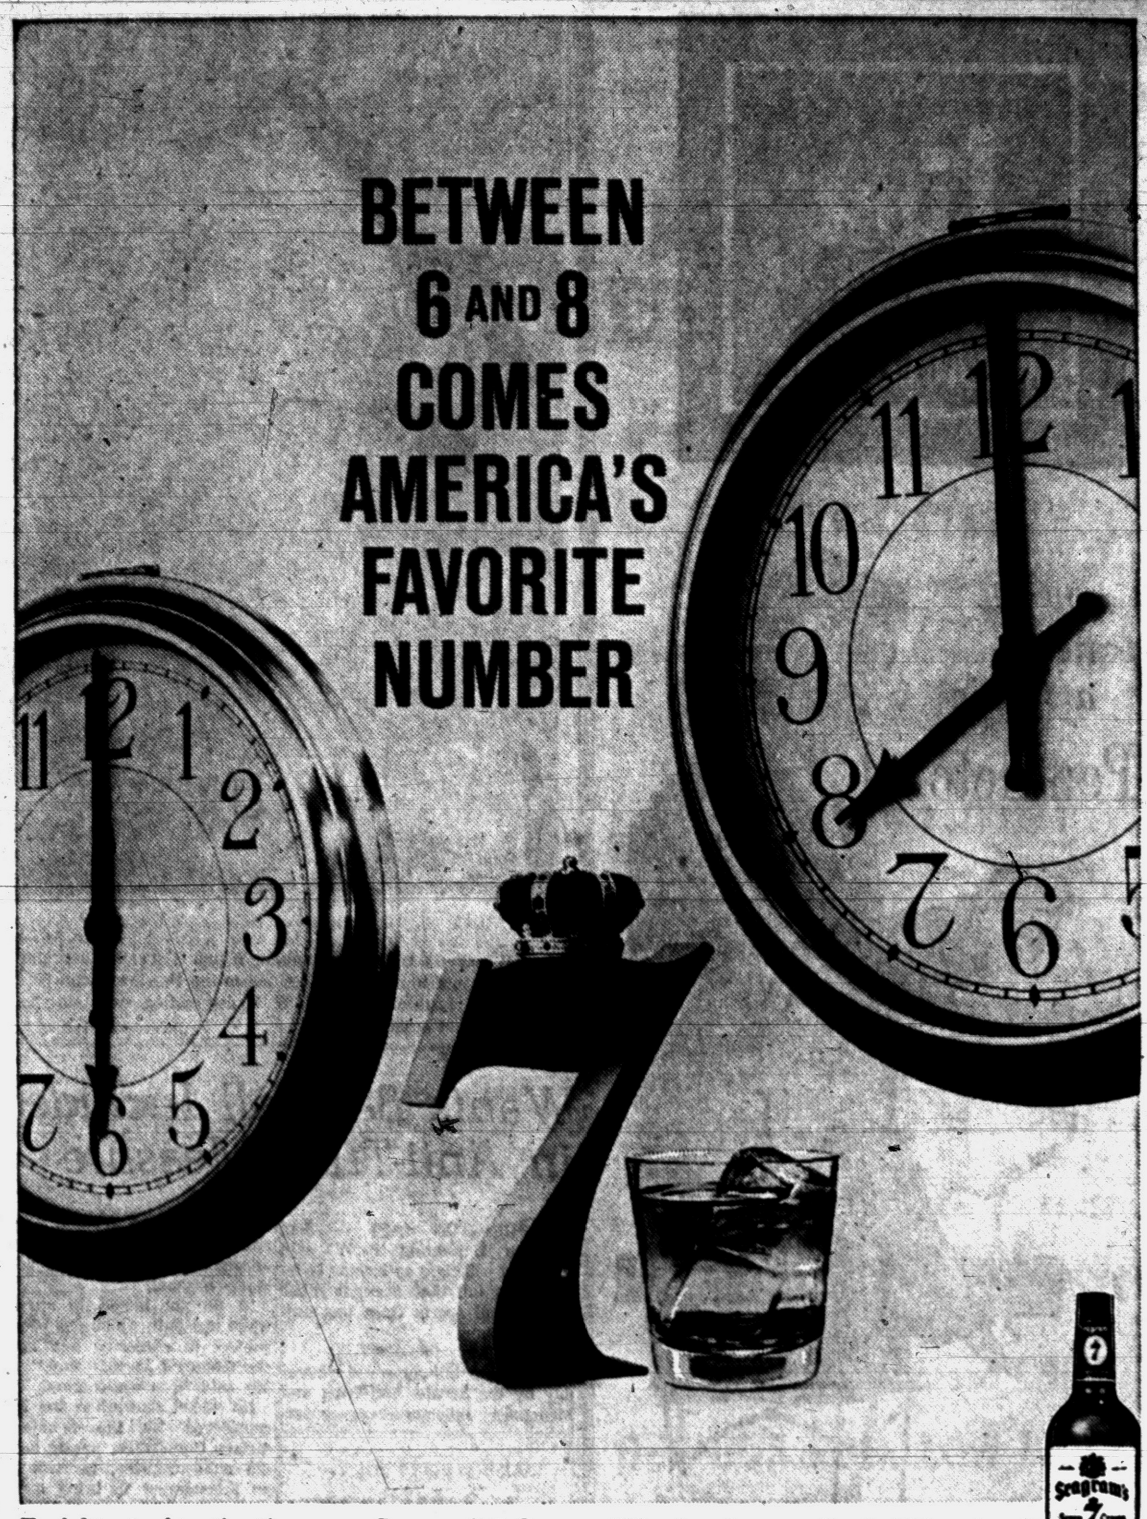

Most will be ready for the season opening Sept. 15, three weeks ahead of the regular waterfowl season and five weeks ahead of the small game season in the Lower Peninsula.

Preserves, some of them private, will be eligible for 47 more days of operation than last year when the preserve season on pheasants opened concurrently with the small game seasons and ducks became legal preserve targets Oct. 1.

The season will end March 31.

A 10 per cent increase in the allowable take of birds, as against those released, also will be in effect. State game men said this and the longer season are expected to lower shooting fees.

DIVING GRACE — Brazilian Wilma Carvalho executes a back-1½-layout in diving competition in the Pan American Games at Chicago yesterday. The U. S. is dominating swimming as it has track and other events.

Record U.S. Pan-Am Pace Slows

CHICAGO (UPI) — The United States was running away with the swimming competition in the Pan American Games today, but its record setting pace in piling up gold medals was slowing down.

Dave Gillanders of University of Michigan, a former state and national prep champion from Royal Oak Dondero HS, Mich., swam to a record 2:20.2 mark in qualifying for the 200-meter butterfly event.

Not that the U. S. wasn't doing all right in the championship department—it has won 58 of the 75 gold medals decided so far, but percentagewise, yesterday was the worst day in that department because the U.S. picked up only 12 of the 19 contested.

Those seven were the most the other 23 competing nations from the Western Hemisphere had won in one day, but the U. S. still was far out in front of runners-up Argentina and Mexico, each with four.

Of Thursday's gold medals, the U. S. won four of them in swimming, sweeping all events. Today it was expected to win five more. Of the 21 gold, silver and bronze medals in swimming thus far the U. S. had won 20—losing only one third place bronze medalion.

A 15-year-old Saratoga, Calif., high school girl, Chris Von Saltza, hit a record 2:18.5 to win the women's 200 meter freestyle, perhaps her first of five gold medals, and teammates Shirley Stobs, Miami, Fla., and Joan Spillane, Houston, Tex., took the next medal positions.

Paula Jean Pope, Los Angeles, a 12-time national champion, Jean Lenzi, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Barbara Dudeck, Detroit, swept women's springboard diving, George Breen, Indianapolis, with a record 4:34.1, finished ahead of George Harrison, Orinda, Calif., and Eugene Lenz, Santa Maria, Calif., in the 400 meter men's freestyle, and Frank McKinney, Indianapolis, Charles Bittick, Long Beach, Calif., and Louis Schaefer, Berea, O., were 1-2-3 in the 100 meter men's backstroke.

Another U. S. gold medal was pushed aside, temporarily, at least, by a protest. It was lodged against Allen C. Bell, Somerville, N. J., after he had a record time of 1:12.2 in the 1,000 meter time trial in cycling. Some Latin American groups claimed he was pushed, and after judges ruled he had to ride again, the test was deferred until today.

Should he fail to equal his previous time, then Anezio Argentao, Brazil, with 1:12.3, could win, while David Staub, the other U. S. entrant from Daly City, Calif., could step up with a time of 1:12.4.

Jack Disney, Monrovia, Calif., won a silver medal in the 1,000 meter sprint in cycling behind Argentina's Juan Canto.

U. S. boxers won three of five gold medals awarded in boxing, when featherweight Charles Brown, Cincinnati, lost a one point decision to Carlos Aro, Argentina, because of head butting in the third round.

Flyweight Heiji Shimabakura, Honolulu, declared physically unfit, lost by default to Tito Blanco, Venezuela, in a third-place bout.

All eight U. S. wrestlers went unbeaten through the second night of competition and heavyweight Dale Lewis, Milwaukee, light heavyweight Frank Rosenmayer, Redwood City, Calif., middleweight James Ferguson, Oklahoma City, Okla., lightweight Jim Burke, Boulder, Colo., and flyweight Dick Wilson, Toledo, O., had perfect zero scores for pinning every opponent. Bantamweight Dave Auble, Ithaca, N.Y., had two points, and featherweight Lou Giani, Huntington, N.Y., and welterweight Doug Blubaugh, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., one.

Only one of five tennis gold medals went to the U. S. It was won by Althea Gibson, New York, in the women's singles, while Chile's Luis Ayala took the men's singles crown. Mexico's teams won both the men's and women's doubles and the mixed doubles.

The U. S. grabbed both gold medals in shooting with Daniel F. Puckel, Fort Benning, Ga., the best individual in small bore rifle with 1,107 points. Gary Anderson, Axtell, Neb., was third with 1,105. This pair combined with Verle F. Wright, Fort Benning, and James S. Carter, Colomus, Ga., to take the team medal.

In the modern pentathlon it was a split. Wensceslau Malta, a paratrooper in the Brazilian army, won the individual medal, as George Lambert, Sioux City, Ia., Leslie Bleamaster, Downey, Calif., and Robert Miller, Seattle, Wash., finished two-three-four but the U. S. trio combined to win the team title handily with 13,175 points against Brazil's 11,512.

Wants Baseball Included in Anti-Trust Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) said today he will fight to include baseball in a bill that exempts other professional sports from the anti-trust laws.

★ ★ ★

He said a bill approved yesterday by the Senate Anti-Trust and Monopoly subcommittee, covering professional football, hockey and basketball, is "completely inadequate because it does not include baseball."

"I do not intend to stand by while baseball, which has been the subject of extensive hearings, is shortchanged in this way," Keating said in a statement.

He added that when the bill is considered by the Senate Judiciary Committee, parent body of the subcommittee, he will offer an amendment to bring baseball within its coverage.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), the subcommittee chairman, said baseball had been purposely excluded because its problems differ from those of the other sports and require more study.

Harry Dorish, former Boston Red Sox pitcher, now scouts for the American League team.

Detroit Raiders Off Until Labor Day Tilt

DETROIT (UPI)—An extra few days before their next Ontario Rugby Football Union game may be just what the doctor ordered for the Detroit Raiders.

Instead of playing their usual Saturday contest, the Raiders will meet the Sarnia Golden Bears at Sarnia, Ont., in a Labor Day game next Monday.

The Raiders are hoping that the extra 48 hours will be enough time for complete recovery of their quarterback Frank Finney, former Ivy League ace who suffered a wrenched knee in the Raiders' 30-20 loss to London last week.

Casey Blasts Several Yanks

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—New York Yankee Manager Casey Stengel is firing clubhouse blasts at players and coaches who he says haven't been following his advice, the Newark News said Thursday.

News sports writer Paul Horowitz said in a story from New York that the latest outburst came after Thursday night's 4-3 win over the last place Washington Senators.

Although Coates got out of it, Stengel went into a long diatribe against Yankees who have been ignoring him during the long, sad season which finds the world champions in third place, 15½ games off the pace.

★ ★ ★

"Didja ever see Mantle bunt to third when he's batting left-handed?" Horowitz quoted Stengel as asking. "If a second baseman can't throw him out on a slow grounder, how could a third baseman do it on a bunt down the line? I been asking him to do that all year and he won't listen."

Casey then went to work on infielders Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson:

"Those two think they can hit the ball out of the park every time they come to bat and they swing for the fences. I tell 'em to push the ball. Hit to the opposite field. They better do what I say or they won't be around."

He ripped Turner for not telling pitchers how to handle Julio Becquer, a Senator pinch hitter who singled in Wednesday night's game.

"He's beaten our brains out by hitting the inside ball," Stengel growled. "And I been telling the pitchers to brush him back, then throw outside."

"I don't want him to look at recent pictures of himself because he'll only see how lousy he is. But he ought to take a lot of batting practice."

2 Pontiac Teams Enter State Tournament Play

Two Pontiac baseball teams and the city's only representative in women's softball during the 1959 season plunge into state tournament warfare this weekend.

On the baseball front, the Knights of Columbus wade into the Michigan Class A tourney at Battle Creek and Griff's Grill enters the Class B event at Detroit.

Griff's and the Knights swing into action today with the Grill team slated to play under the lights.

Jackson will be the Knights' 1st round opponent at Battle Creek where 16 teams from all parts of Michigan are entered in the battle for the state "A" crown and the right to compete in the national tourney the following weekend.

The Knights and Jackson were scheduled to collide at 4 p.m. this afternoon on Bailey Park's No. 6 diamond. Besides Bailey, additional games will be held at Post Park and the BC Stadium.

Eight teams are entered in the "B" tourney with games slated at Butzel and Manz fields in the Motor City. The Grill team gets under way tonight at 8:15 on the Butzel diamond with Ecorse-River Rouge providing the opposition.

If the Grillers win their opener, they will meet the Dearborn-Detroit Roostertail winner Saturday at 1:30 on Butzel Field. If they lose, they will clash wtih the loser of the same contest at 10 a.m. tomorrow, also at Butzel.

There are five women's teams competing in the "A" softball tourney at Cheboygan. The local girls face the winner of tonight's Negaunee-Zeeland game tomorrow morning.

All tournaments will be played on a double elimination basis and all champions will be decided on Labor Day. The Knights and Griff's are city "A" and "B" champs, respectively.

Russian Turns In Best Pentathlon

TURIN, Italy (AP) — Russia's Vassili Kuznetsov turned in Thursday what is regarded as the world's best performance in the penthathlon. Kuznetsov also holds the world's decathlon record.

But Kuznetsov's score in the World University Games of 4,006 points—the largest number ever recorded for the five-sport event—was not an official world record because the International Track and Field Federation does not keep records for the penthathlon.

Kuznetsov's performances were 23 ft. 7 in. in the broad jump, 238-10.20 in the javelin throw, 22.2 seconds in the 200-meter dash and 4:59.5 in the 1,500-meter run.

'Doe Day' Held at Twin Beach

Annual "Doe Day" activities were held this week by the Women's Silver Lake Golf League with a round of golf and luncheon at Twin Beach Country Club. Awards were made to season winners.

Mrs. Elbert Looney is the 1959 league champion with Mrs. John McCallum taking 2nd place. Mrs. Looney also won the low putt trophy while the "most improved" awards went to Mrs. Carl Rehbine and Mrs. Louis Wood. The traveling trophy was won by Mrs. Robert Gibson for her low net score of 25.

League play will conclude for this year with a three-day tournament Sept. 14, 16 and 18 at Silver Lake. Starting time each day will be 9 a.m.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

Just as he suspected, young Ray Lovell of Birmingham won't be able to make the trip to Colorado Springs later this month for the National Amateur Golf Championship. His education is getting in the way.

Ray, whose full name correctly reads Frank R. Lovell Jr., plans to enter Wayne State University Medical School this fall and Orientation Week falls during the running of the U.S. Amateur Sept. 14-19 at Broadmoor Golf Club.

So the 20-year-old Lovell announced that he would be unable to go, which paves the way for Bill Michaels of Detroit Golf Club, who gained the position of No. 1 alternate in Tuesday's 36-hole qualifiers at Orchard Lake CC.

Lovell, captain of the University of Michigan golf team last spring, was doubtful that he could go to Colorado when he left Orchard Lake for home after earning a berth in the famous tournament for the 3rd straight year.

Ray's previous appearances in the tourney were short-lived. Two years ago he lost his opening match at Boston, then last year he again bowed out in the 1st round at San Francisco.

With the withdrawal of Lovell, Michigan's seven-man delegation to the Rockies consists of Tommy Grace, Art Olfs Jr., Dr. W. R. Aldrich, Tom Draper, Lou Wendrow, Frank Connolly and Michaels.

Turning down a trip to the National Amateur was difficult for Lovell, but he has put first things first. Why should Ray want to become a doctor? Well, his father's complete moniker is Dr. Frank R. Lovell Sr.

SHORT PUTTS

Twin Beach pro C. B. (Brownie) Meyer, who has been associated with the Walled Lake area country club since 1931, was honored by 200 members, guests and friends last weekend. Meyer is now an energetic 61 years of age.

★ ★ ★

HEY RUBE!

Rube Wideman knocked a 9-iron shot into the cup for an eagle three on the 18th hole at Pontiac CC as he and partner Bob Isgrigg won the overall Elks League crown in a three-way playoff among divisional winners.

Wideman was medalist with 41-34—75, one over par, and Isgrigg had 37-39—76. Glenn Harding and Cliff Maison took 2nd place with Harding shooting 38-38—76. Curt Flath and Charley Speck wound up last in the title playoff.

Lawn Care Special Now

Fall Watering Important to Grass

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — You needn't know—thank goodness—all about generators and carburetors in order to drive a car. A lot of people maintain healthy, handsome lawns without knowing the difference between a bent and a fescue grass.

However, it doesn't hurt to know that the most satisfactory lawn grasses in the northern two-thirds of the country are three: the bluegrasses, the bentgrasses and the fescues.

There are species, of course, within each of these classes. For instance, Kentucky bluegrass likes plenty of sunshine while its relative, roughstalk bluegrass (look for it on seed packages as poa trivialis) can get along with some shade.

Most of us, however, will do well to buy grass seed mixtures, containing several varieties and species of perennial grasses, often mixed in with some quick-growing annual grasses designed to provide temporary lawn while the slower-developing perennials are establishing themselves.

Follow the directions on the package, both as to preparation of soil and instructions for sowing. Incidentally, there are often to be found great bargains in grass seed. Look at them well, for it is poor economy to invest time and money preparing ground for a lawn and then waste it all with inferior seed.

DESIGNED TO LAST

Good grass seed is likely to seem expensive. However, a good lawn is designed to last a long time and it will with proper, intelligent care.

Normally, the late summer-early fall months are accompanied by adequate rainfall. The trick in producing a good stand of grass in the early fall—which permits it a couple of months of ideal growing until cold weather comes—is to provide the seed and subsequent seedlings with plenty of moisture for healthy development. Thus, if the weatherman doesn't provide sufficient water, the hose should be brought out.

* * *

Some people sprinkle new plantings as often as twice daily. The theory is that a constant supply of moisture should be available to root systems.

When the roots are several inches underground and thus protected from scorching sun and other abuses, thorough infrequent watering is fine. But the tender, close-to-the-surface roots of young plants have different need—and this type of watering suits them well.

When the new grass has grown to a height of slightly over two inches, it should be mowed for the first time. A rotary mower with a sharp blade—that sharp blade is important—is good for first cutting because it will cut the heads into a fine mulch which will in turn, help protect the root system.

If a reel mower is used, gently sweep up the clippings so that they don't smother the young plants. In any event, keep cutting the grass regularly until it stops gowing for the season.

Incidentally, all grass — the old and the new—should go into winter cut to a height of not more than two inches.

Attacking Insects Cause Spruce Gall on Colorados

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
County Horticultural Agent

This seems to be the year when spruce gall is rather common on Colorado blue spruce. The symptoms are swellings on the new growth, with the growth eventually curling and dying in late August and September.

This problem is due to insects which attack the new candles in early spring. As the swellings develop, young insects develop inside and stay until late August when the infected shoots die. The insects then escape and hibernate on the tree until the following spring when the cycle is repeated.

Control is rather simple, if applied before the new shoots are attacked in the spring. Use Malathion or Lindane as a spray before the first of May. One application should be sufficient if thoroughly applied.

SNAKES APPEAR

Once in a while large numbers of snakes seem to appear in gardens and flower beds. This situation always arouses considerable curiosity as to why they become so common, and also, what to do.

* * *

The primary reason for their gathering in an area, whether it is a garden or flower bed is food. Frogs and toads are much sought after and will attract these reptiles. A nearby weedy or grassy spot sometimes aggravates the problem because it provides a breeding and hiding place.

Front Royal Offers Segregated Classes

FRONT ROYAL, Va. (AP) — Private segregated classes will be offered again this year to the white high school students of Warren County.

This decision was made unanimously Thursday night by the board of directors of the Warren County Educational Foundation.

"It was the feeling of the board," said the group at the end of a lengthy meeting, "that the parents of this county should have freedom of choice in the matter of where their children should attend school. There is an integrated high school and a segregated colored high school but no segregated white school."

Proposes World Study of Fallout, Its Effects

WASHINGTON (AP)—A worldwide study of radioactive fallout and its effects on mankind has been proposed by Sen. Harrison A. Williams (D-NJ).

In a bill introduced Thursday, he proposed that the U.S. surgeon general and the State Department ask other nations to join in an international study.

Three Billion Years Old

Dr. Turekian Dates Life

NEW YORK (AP)—A new time clock puts the beginning of life on earth at three billion years ago.

The life time clock of three billion years was proposed by Dr. Karl K. Turekian, Yale University geologist. It is further back than some other estimates.

Turekian reached his estimate by the amount and the rate of a radioactive gas, argon-40, released from the interior of the earth, along with water and some other chemicals.

The oldest sedimentary rocks date back about 2,800,000,000 years, he explained. Before that the earth—formed about 4½ billion years ago—was covered by fire-made rock which solidified as the earth cooled.

Something had to erode or "rot" or weather these rocks. It took living things and the products they released, including acids, and rootlets growing out to break rocks apart, and bacteria to do this rotting job.

STATED SIMPLY

Fossilized life dates back only about 500,000 years. To be preserved, animals had to contain calcium or lime, in order to form skeletons which lasted, said Dr. Roger Revelle, of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, La Jolla, Calif.

But there must have been living things long before that time, he said. So this early life must have consisted of only single cells. There were no complex or multicelled forms of life until the composition of the oceans changed.

This change, Revelle thinks, was the formation of limestone to supply lime and calcium in the seas with which organisms could form shells and also develop into multicelled creatures.

"Calcium was the glue to stick the cells together," he explained.

NAACP Gives Rocky Membership for Life

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has been enrolled as a life member of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

★ ★ ★

Kivie Kaplan, a Boston industrialist and chairman of the NAACP Life Membership Committee, presented a plaque to Rockefeller during a brief ceremoney Thursday in the governor's office.

A number of persons in this country as well as some prominent residents of other nations are NAACP life members.

Hollywood Headlines:

Moon-Faced Molly Bee to Shake Hay From Hair

By JOE FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Moon-faced vocalist Molly Bee wants the public to let her shake the hay from her blonde pony tail and become a sophisticated lady instead of a hillbilly singer.

In fact she's clipped the pony tail and tossed away the bows, hoping audiences will see her as a 20-year-old in full bloom.

"I just cut half of the pony tail though," she said cautiously. "I didn't want to be too radical.

"Everybody still thinks I do country songs but I don't," she complained. "Some people can't realize the fact I'm not the little girl they used to see on Ernie Ford's show.

"I was a teenager singing young songs on that show and a lot of folks remember me for it."

The bright-eyed songstress, appearing at the Moulin Rouge nightclub here, also watches the clothes she wears, or doesn't wear, depending on how you look at these things.

★ ★ ★

"Some audiences expect me to come on stage in flat shoes and a great big flowing skirt," she said. "Recently, on TV, I wore a dress with small shoulder straps. It was the first time on television that I didn't wear a dress with a high collar.

IN A SHEATH?

"I don't know what people would say if they saw me in a sheath," she exclaimed. "I even get letters from grandmothers if they don't like the clothes I wear."

All of which leads Molly to conclude she has a nation full of parents as an audience.

"My problem is that I'm everybody's girl and they all have an idea about what I would wear," she said sadly. "It seems I have 20,000 parents.

Molly barely escaped being forever stuck in the backwoods recently when a country type TV series, in which she was to have starred, fell through.

"I'm afraid if that series had gone on I never would have gotten away from being a hillbilly artist," she claimed. "There's always a chance it might be sold to an advertiser yet, but I hope not.

Although she's looking for a change, the pert Molly doesn't want to become a "new person" overnight.

"I don't think it's commercial to startle everybody by changing suddenly," she explained. "I just want to sing a little more songs and be accepted as an adult. I'm not a sexpot and don't want to perform that way.

"For instance, I'd love to sing blues but I'd never be accepted doing them. It'll be a few years before I will be.

"To many people these things sound like simple problems. But, they're not when you have to overcome them.

"I might be thought of now as a young girl," she concluded. "But you watch, when I'm 25 folks will say 'gee, she looks good for 40.'"

Ike Cancels 2 October Speaking Engagements

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—President Eisenhower has canceled engagements to speak at Harvard Oct. 5 and at Brown University, Providence, R.I., Oct. 21.

The President wrote Dr. Barnaby C. Keeney, Brown president, that his schedule made it impossible for him to address a convocation to be held there.

Eisenhower was to have attended a dedication of an international legal studies wing at Harvard Law School. The event has now been canceled.

Nehru Receives Note From Reds

China Accuses India of Border Aggression in Tibet

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru said today he has received a new note from Red China accusing India of aggression on the Tibetan border.

"There is a big argument over it," Nehru told Parliament. He said the government is publishing a white paper on the tense border situation, including correspondence with China.

"They accuse us of aggression against their border," he said. "Obviously their version does not tally with ours. They have given names and some places where they said the aggression took place and we are looking into it."

Relations between India and Red China have grown worse since the Tibetan uprising against the Chinese Communists. India gave refuge to Tibet's ruler, the Dalai Lama.

Nehru has made plain he has no intention of going to war and hopes to resolve border differences by negotiation. Peiping has so far rebuffed his bids to talk things over.

Seeks Funds for Policing Labor Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department is seeking a two-million-dollar appropriation to start the vast corruption policing job given it under the labor control bill now clearing Congress.

The department doesn't know how much money and men it will need for the task but has requested that sum as a starter until next year.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, expecting a flood of complaints related to corruption and forbidden union practices, plans to recruit a unit of agents to run down tips and bring violators to court if need be.

Mitchell, or those he designates, is being vested with blanket power to subpoena witnesses and records.

There was a movement too to set up a special Senate group to keep an eye on how well the law works out.

But it is the secretary of labor who, under the law, will be in charge of policing all major anti-corruption provisions and union democracy safeguards.

Governors Shrug Off Nikita's Digs

By United Press International

The governors of Texas and California today dismissed Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's attempt to drag their states into his attacks on the U. S. Congressional "Captive Nations" resolution.

"It would be interesting to see how the authors of this resolution would have reacted if the parliament of Mexico . . . had passed a resolution demanding that Texas, Arizona and California be 'liberated from American Slavery'," Khrushchev said in the magazine Foreign Affairs.

Gov. Price Daniel of Texas charged that Khrushchev's statement "shows a complete unfamiliarity with the history of this state."

California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown shrugged the remark off. "I don't intend to get involved in one of those irrelevant exchanges with Mr. Khrushchev," he said.

"If he doesn't already understand the difference between the free choice by which the state of California entered the federal union and the brutal Soviet suppression of Hungarian freedom," Brown said, "the rest of the world does."

SUBDUES DANISH YOUTH — A Copenhagen policeman grabs a teenager during an outbreak of violence at an inter-Scandinavian rock 'n' roll concert. Youths knocked the props from under the stage, causing it to collapse on spectators. They also stoned police and broke windows. Twenty-two of the young rebels were arrested following the fracas at Copenhagen's Ballahoej Music Hall.

Political Space Offered Free by Newspaper

The Plant City Courier offered the space in order "to do something to reduce the cost of gubernatorial campaigns to a reasonable level."

The newspaper said the cost of conducting a successful campaign for governor has been estimated at between $500,000 and one million dollars, a problem for an honest man contemplating the race.

★ ★ ★

It sugested that other newspapers and television and radio stations in Florida make a similar contribution as a public service.

Keeper Drowns at Lighthouse

Winds Churn Up Lake; Coast Guard Searches Off Cheboygan

CHEBOYGAN — Coast Guard patrol boats searched the wind-whipped waters of northern Lake Huron today for the body of a Coast Guardsman who drowned off his lighthouse station.

Engineman First Class Cyril J. Jones, 28, father of five children, went down in water 60 feet deep shortly before 4 p.m. yesterday when wind gusts churned up waves as he was swimming off Spectacle Reef Lighthouse with another Coast Guardsman.

Jones and Joseph R. Gagnon, 31, of Detroit, also an engineman first class, were stationed at the lighthouse, 18 miles northeast of Cheboygan, keeping lonely vigil for Great Lakes shipping.

Gagnon said he was swimming 10 feet from the base of the lighthouse when Jones joined him. Wind gusts swept them 200 feet out into the lake.

★ ★ ★

Jones had difficulty keeping afloat. Gagnon tried to help him. Both went down twice. Jones did not come up but Gagnon surfaced and swam back to the lighthouse.

FBI Charges Rape of Two Employes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI has charged two men with kidnaping and raping two young women who work for the FBI.

The Lindberg law, the federal statute on kidnaping, was invoked Thursday against Ronald E. Garrison, 27, and Joseph L. Price, 30, both of Washington. Conviction could mean the death penalty if a jury recommended it.

★ ★ ★

The FBI used the Lindbergh law because the women were abducted on a Washington street early Sunday morning and taken across a state line to a lonely road in Maryland's Montgomery County, where they were raped. Garrison and Price denied they abducted or raped the women.

Legal adoptions in the United States total 16,000 annually.

Possible to Make Money, Too

Investing for Income Still in Style

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Investing for income is still in style today despite all the talk about investing for capital gains.

★ ★ ★

And it's still possible to get a fair return on common stocks — if you pick the right ones—despite all the talk about the yields of many blue chips at current prices falling below those for bonds.

Also it's possible to choose a stock portfolio that will bring in a dividend from one or another company each month in the year. Just ask your broker.

Dividend payments have been climbing this year and seem sure to set a record. Standard & Poor's investment advisory service reports that in the first eight months increases came to 703, extra dividends to 443, and resumed payments to 131. In the same period there were only 66 decreased payments and 67 omissions.

Thus favorable actions outstripped the unfavorable by a ratio of more than six to one. In the first eight months of 1958 it was just the opposite. The unfavorable by a ratio of more than six to one. In the first eight months of 1958 it was just the opposite. The unfavorable ran 1½ to 1 ahead of the favorable.

The reason for the change is that the 1958 period was seeing the depths of the recession and the start of the recovery, while this year corporate profits have been rising to new highs.

Using figures for the first seven months, the Commerce Department reports that dividend payments came to 6¾ billion dollars, a gain of 3½ per cent over the like period of 1958.

The investor reports that in the April-May-June quarter dividend income from the common stocks owned jointly by the banks yielded 5.05 per cent—as based on the price paid for the stocks.

But during the three months the institutional investor made these changes: buying 5 blocks of common; selling out 6 issues; adding to the holdings of 24 stocks; and reducing holding of 27 issues.

The magazine also notes that many individuals seeking income from common stocks also try to build up portfolios that bring some dividend checks each month in the year. There are a number of combinations of just three stocks each that will do this.

The magazine has chosen to follow the fortunes in the last 12 months of one such set of three. It says that an investor with 10 shares each in the three companies would have received each month dividend checks ranging from $4.50 to $11 for a 12-month total of $72.50, or a return of 3.94 per cent on the price he would have paid for the lot a year ago.

For the 12 million or so persons who do hold common stocks, 1959 has had some pleasant news.

The magazine says that in the first six months of the year 51 stocks listed on the big board have split in a ratio of 2-for-1 or better. This compares with 5 such splits in the first half of 1958, and is second only to the record of 56 splits in the like period of 1956.

Of the 39 splits in the April-May-June quarter, 35 advanced in market price.

Set Oil Drilling Control Hearing

Public State Meeting Will Consider New Wells in Allegan

LANSING (UPI) — Oil and gas drilling controls for three pools in Montcalm, Allegan and St. Clair counties will be the topic for a public hearing in Lansing Sept. 17, according to the Oil Advisory Board.

Drilling and well spacing patterns will be discussed for the Salina pool in Heath Township, Allegan County, where early testings of a wildcat well have shown gas pay characteristics. The well is near the northeast section of the Allegan State Forest.

Gerald Eddy, wells supervisor, said the Board would also hear evidence on location of drilling unit and spacing patterns at the Edmore Traverse pool in Home Township, Montcalm County.

A proration order set earlier this year for the Boyd Salina-Niagaran pool in Ira and Casco townships of St. Clair County will be reviewed for possible changes.

Boys Pick Bad Place From Which to Steal

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI)—Police arrested two 13-year-old boys after the youngsters were caught sneaking away with loot from a room.

The room was in the police department building.

Market Rallies in Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied early today after three straight sessions of persistent selling pressure. Trading was fairly active.

Key stocks rose from fractions to a point or better. Some leaders were unchanged or off slightly.

On the eve of the long Labor Day weekend it was apparent prices had been knocked down low enough to revive speculative interest in hope of a change in trend after the holiday, a traditional milestone.

Steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, oils, drugs and electronics were well on the upside. Chemicals and rails were generally higher. Coppers showed little change.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Steel halved an early 1-point gain. Lukens gained more than a point. American Motors continued fairly active and up another point. Chrysler backed away slightly from a gain of about a point.

Grain Prices Are Unchanged

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices scarcely budged from their previous closes in draggy early dealings today on the Board of Trade.

Several contracts were unchanged during the first several minutes and most fluctuations were limited to minimum fractions with the failure of any important commercial business to develop overnight.

Pakistan was understood to be in the market for a small amount of hard wheat but Brazil which had been expected to take about three million bushels took less than a million.

Trade was at a standstill near the end of the first hour with wheat ⅛ cent a bushel higher to ¼ lower, September $1.92½; corn ⅛ higher to ¼ lower, September $1.18⅝; oats ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, September new type contract 66⅞; rye ¾ higher to ½ lower, September $1.31¾; soybeans ⅛ higher to ¼ lower, September $2.09¾.

Standard Oil Plans Merger

Jersey Firm Would Consolidate Domestic Affiliates

NEW YORK (UPI) — Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey is planning to bring its affiliated domestic firms together into one giant corporation.

The merger would put all of its producing, refining and marketing firms under one unified management. They now operate as individual companies.

The plans affect Humble Oil & Refining Co., a 98 per cent owned affiliate, Carter Oil Co., Esso Standard Oil Co., Oklahoma Oil Co. and Pate Oil Co.

The announcement said the merger would be subject to the approval of Humble stockholders at a later vote. Tentative plans call for Humble shareholders to receive five shares of Jersey stock for each four shares of Humble stock.

★ ★ ★

Standard officials said it was hoped a "substantial improvement in the effectiveness of the operations of these various companies" would result from the merger.

Medical Missionary Due in Royal Oak

ROYAL OAK — An internationally famous medical missionary will visit a brother in Royal Oak before returning to Laos or Cambodia, depending on the Asian political situation, before Christmas.

The Rev. Dr. Thomas Dooley, in this country for lung cancer surgery, plans to stop at the home of his brother Malcolm, a stockbroker, residing at 1011 N. Edgeworth St.

Dr. Dooley underwent a successful exploratory operation at the Memorial Hospital in New York City last week. He will make a speaking tour of the United States before returning to the Far East.

Dr. Dooley operated clinics in Musong-sing, Laos, before returning again to this country and will return to some part of the area regardless of recent Communist uprisings.

Trouble Cancels X15 Test

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An X15 rocket ship went aloft today for what had been scheduled as its first power flight, but technical difficulties canceled the attempt.

★ ★ ★

Test Pilot Scott Crossfield jettisoned his fuel about an hour after the 50-foot-long black dart took off fastened under the wings of a B52 bomber. The two planes then headed back to earth.

There was no immediate indication as to the trouble.

★ ★ ★

New Use Tax Will Mean Hike in Gas Prices

DETROIT (AP) — An official of the Retail Gasoline Dealers Assn. of Michigan said today the one penny increase in the use (sales) tax probably will result in an increase in gasoline prices.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's numerous service station operators are among sales tax licensees and thus are affected by the rise in the tax from three to four cents. However, it is up to the individual station owners to determine whether the increase will be added to the price of gasoline. They can either absorb it or pass it along to the motorist.

★ ★ ★

The association official, who asked that his name be withheld, said he thinks they will pass it along.

★ ★ ★

"We doubt that the station owner will absorb the hike," he said. "All other businesses will pass it along and so probably will the gasoline owners."

Heat Cause of Disaster

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission said today that 98-degree temperature triggered a wreck that spilled freight cars off a trestle into a recreation area near Meldrim, Ga. last June 28. Twenty-three persons were killed.

Pesky Mosquitoes Ancient Tormentors

WASHINGTON—The pesky mosquito—now thriving in humid summer weather—is an ancient tormentor of mankind.

Early Egyptian writings contain references to mosquito nets and smudge pots. In 600 B.C., Indians wondered if the doctrine of nonviolence to all living creatures applied to mosquitoes. Cleopatra applied castor oil to her skin as protective from the pests.

There are some 2,000 known species of these small flies of the family Culicidae, the National Geographic Society says. They are found from the Arctic to the Antarctic, but are more prevalent in warm climates. North America has 138 species of mosquito, and most of them bite human beings when they get the chance.

Walpole Road Section Closed Off for Lodge

ALGONAC (UPI)—A Detroit industrialist group has been granted permission to close a 300-foot section of Walpole Island River road where the road passes in front of their new $100,000 hunting lodge.

Closing of the road was authorized by the Walpole Island Council by a 7-3 vote with the provision that the group provide an alternate route and pay half of the cost of maintenance.

The Detroit group, represented by Wendell Anderson, Detroit attorney, agreed to the conditions.

Tell Nitro's Origin

Revolt Ends in Argentina

Ousted Army Leader Halts His Rebellion in Face of Tank Threat

BUENOS AIRES (UI)—A short-lived, bloodless revolt led by the ousted commander of the army ended at least temporarily early today under the threat of a massive tank attack.

Rebel Gen. Carlos E. Toranzo Montero announced after a 50-minute talk with President Arturo Frondizi that "a truce has been arranged." He would give no details.

Two tank columns had already started for Buenos Aires to attack the Army Engineering School, where Toranzo had established the headquarters of his rebel command, but they halted on the way while Frondizi and the general talked truce.

The government proclaimed a holiday for schools, banks and government office and urged stores and other private enterprises not to open today.

Although no reason for the proclamation was announced, it appeared that the government wanted as far as possible to keep people off the streets until the tensions generated by Toranzo's revolt had died down.

The general said he had rebelled only against the government order Wednesday dismissing him from the army command. He said 95 per cent of the army wants him to continue as its commander.

He denied that he had any intention of seeking to overthrow Frondizi, although he did criticize the president's handling of the situation.

★ ★ ★

"We are zealous guardians of constitutional government," he said. "We shall not allow political factors to infiltrate our efforts in any way. We hope that constitutional government will not be interrupted, because the country needs it."

Surgery Saves Teenager's Legs

Grosse Pointe Girl Badly Cut by Boat Prop in Freak Accident

PORT HURON (UPI) — A 19-year-old Grosse Pointe Woods girl was severely injured yesterday in a freak boating accident in Lake Huron north of here.

Doctors at first feared they might have to amputate both of Carol E. Butcher's legs below the knee but they announced later that surgery had been successful and the girl's legs would be saved.

Deputy Sheriff Eugene Anderson said Miss Butcher was sitting on several barrels sunk in the lake near the St. Clair - Sanilac county line as a water skiing takeoff.

★ ★ ★

A boat piloted by Sharyn Mae Schultz of Detroit, skidded sideways into the launching area and its propeller cut Miss Butcher's legs.

Miss Schultz told police she had planned to turn away from the barrels as she approached them but she lost control of the boat and it skidded sideways until it struck Miss Butcher.

Test Polio Vaccine Recovered in Room

MONTREAL (UPI) — Health authorities began tests today of 75,000 shots of Salk Vaccine recovered in an unfurnished apartment three days after it was stolen from a suburban laboratory by three masked bandits.

★ ★ ★

The serum was recovered yesterday after a man told police he saw boxes marked "Connaugh Laboratories, Toronto" being unloaded from a truck. The vaccine, useless unless stored under refrigeration at 40 degrees, was found surrounded by melting ice.

A four-man Provincial police raiding squad swooped down on the unlocked three-room apartment to climax an around - the-clock investigation which started shortly after three masked and armed men entered the Microbiology Institute at suburban Laval-Des Rapides, overpowered the night watchman and took the vaccine from a refrigerator.

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO THANK OUR friends, neighbors, and relatives for their acts of kindness and floral offerings during our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved son, Gordon P. Olson and brother. Thanks to Dr. Malone and his daughter Joyce, singing, and Pontiac Motor Employees, and the pallbearers. Also thanks to the doctors and nurses at the General hospital, Mother, brothers and sisters.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MORRIS Pringle who passed away September 5, 1954.

ABC Decides to Stick to Meat and Potatoes Diet for Viewers

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Broadcasting Company isn't even a close third among the three networks when it comes to "specials" for the new season.

★ ★ ★

Obviously, ABC thinks it has a better—or as good—an idea for staying financially healthy: Stick to the meat-and-potatoes diet of solid week-by-week series programing that gains and holds a steady level of viewers sponsors can count on.

★ ★ ★

This isn't to say that NBC and CBS are on the wrong track in planning a heavy schedule of hour and 90-minute specials. They stand to make a bundle off them, as well as pleasing (well, part of the time) those hyper-critical viewers who feel that television has to justify itself by going onward and upward with the arts.

(No one has ever been able to give a very clear definition of what "onward and upward with the arts" means, but it sounds good, even when inclusion of TV in the arts is a dubious matter.)

The situation simply is apparently a case of the powers at ABC having observed some of the onwarding and upwarding of the past and deciding that they don't need much of it to satisfy both viewers and stockholders.

ABC, quite justifiably, even if it was rushing the 1959-60 season a bit, called its Aug. 14 telecast of the all-star football game a special.

However, it seems to be straining things a bit to list for Sept. 11, 18 and 25 three items in the "Walt Disney Presents" hour that are repeats.

These represent a Disney series dealing with the space age—"Man in Space," "Mars and Beyond" and "Tomorrow the Moon." Good enough in their field, but repeats, as well as being a part of a weekly programming series than in itself has no "special" status.

Father Knows Best About Picking Songs

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Connie Francis, the "ginchiest" gal singer, is talking into my notebook. I think you should listen . . .

"My daddy was a roofing contractor, but I made him get down off of those roofs and start working for me.

"Daddy helps me pick my songs. I'm buyin' a pink Thunderbird for my 21st birthday Dec. 12. Everybody buys pink Thunderbirds, that's why I am.

"You see, I was ready to quit the business when I was 18. I'd recorded for a year-and-a-half, and sold 1,100 records.

"My father said, 'Ask them to let you do a standard with a beat.' They said, 'Are you crazy?' My father kept pushing me to record 'Who's Sorry Now?' I told them I'm quitting anyhow. I want to do this one for my father. He's very sentimental.'"

After it sold over a million, and 5-foot-1, bouncy, pretty Connie became top singer, Tin Pan Alley begged papa George Franconero to quit roofing in Newark and become a music genius.

CONNIE

"He'd rather work for me" (it's Connie again), "I'm an easy boss. He comes into town when I come in. Daddy and I will listen to demo records by the hundreds. Daddy will say, 'I think this one is gonna happen.'

"Or if we don't find one, Daddy says, 'Let me get my little yellow book. You've got to depend on your father.'

"Like for my next album session, Daddy sits down at the table with his little yellow book and he picks out 'If I Didn't Care' and 'Somebody Else Is Taking My Place.'"

"Some singers you can hardly understand, but it's not that they're mumbling," Connie says. "What the people buy now is that youthful Negro, southern sound.

"Take me. I bought all the Fats Domino albums. I listened and I became a southerner. You sing the words real clear and somebody'll say, 'It won't move. It's too good. Do it over, not so clear this time.'"

Connie who has moved her family over to a split-level ranch house in Bloomfield, N.J., is a very nice young woman, as she clearly brought out.

★ ★ ★

"There's such a thing as being so hip you're square," she says. "All those words ending in 'ville' I don't use. Squaresville and Endsville, I don't like those. Another thing. I'm very insulted if anybody calls me a chick or a broad. I guess it's all right if you only have a vocabulary of 30 words."

EARL'S PEARLS: The best way to entertain some people is to sit down and listen.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A department store floorwalker was shifted to the basement—and had to turn in his carnation for a mushroom. . . . That's earl, brother.

Its Second Typhoon Slams Into Formosa

TAIPEI (UPI) — The second typhoon in a week slammed into Formosa last night, leaving at least one dead and 170 injured.

All but a few of the reported casualties were suffered at the east coast port city of Hualien, which took the brunt of Typhoon Louise's 135 mile per hour winds and the heavy rains that accompanied the storm.

★ ★ ★

Telephone lines between Hualien and Taipei were out and the full extent of casualties was not known. Preliminary police reports said the city had been swept by flash floods triggered by six inches of rain and that 260 houses had been damaged or destroyed.

Eleven provinces comprise the Netherlands.

Your Next Injection May Be From Gun

★ ★ ★

Company experts say this means one big step toward possible painless serum shots to protect human beings against disease, including polio.

★ ★ ★

The jet injector is a high-velocity medical gun that takes the place of the doctor's needle and syringe. It eliminates the psychological fear of the needle and speeds up mass inoculations.

Scherer's multidose gun, already in use at military installations and public health agencies, is motor-powered and is a refinement of the original single-dose injector.

It works so fast that a thousand persons can be inoculated within an hour by one operator.

The serum — shooting gun was used to combat a cholera epidemic in Thailand with approval of the U. S. State Department a few years ago.

The gun injects serum by means of a high-velocity jet built up form a hydraulic pressure of 16,000 pounds per square inch.

The gun fires through an orifice a 30th the size of the doctor's needle. The high velocity permits the injection of dosages of one cubic centimeter in a fraction of a second. Depth of penetration is controlled.

Weighing about 25 pounds, the gun consists of two main part. One is the gun itself. The other is an electrically driven hydraulic pump powered from any 110-volt electrical outlet. The two fit together in a small case.

Seeks Reason for Cut in His Appointment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Armed Services Committee has delayed action on the nomination of Maj. Gen. David M. Shoup as commandant of the Marine Corps.

"Everyone approves the appointment of Gen. Shoup to the post," Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) said. "But we want to find out why he was not given a four-year appointment as required by law."

★ ★ ★

Shoup, who was jumped over several higher ranking Marine generals, received a two-year appointment.

Herter Stays in Paris for Diplomatic Talks

PARIS (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter who accompanied President Eisenhower on his European tour, remained here after the President's departure today for another day of diplomatic talks.

★ ★ ★

The first item on the secretary's schedule was a speech to the permanent Atlantic Pact council reiterating Eisenhowers assurance that the United States will treat the other members of the alliance as equals.

★ ★ ★

After lunch with U.S. pact delegate W. Randolph Burgess, Herter's appointments included conferences with three foreign ministers — Fatim R. Zorlu of Turkey, Evangelos Averoff of Greece and Maurice Couve de Murville of France.

Steel Strike Cuts Tons of Iron Ore on Great Lakes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Because of the steel strike, only 222,722 gross tons of iron ore were shipped from U. S. ports on the Great Lakes during August, the American Iron Ore Assn. reported today.

Only three of the eight major ports—Escanaba and Marquette, Mich. and Superior, Wis.—shipped any ore.

Despite the August drop, cumulative shipments for the season were well ahead of last year. Some 34,116,990 gross tons had compared with 29,907,817 gross tons been shipped by Sept. 1 this year tons a year ago.

Gets Secretary Post

DETROIT (AP) — The Rev. Joseph I. Imesch has been named secretary to the Most Rev. John F. Dearden, Catholic Archbishop of Detroit. He formerly was assistant pastor of St. Charles Borromeo Church and succeeds the Rev. Joseph M. Breitenbeck, a monsignor, named Pastor of Assumption Grotto Church.

Overseas Rock 'n' Roll Fails to Have Big Beat

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was hail and farewell last night for two half hour shows: Oh Boy and the Lawless Years.

Somehow, the titles always seemed interchangeable to me. That's because Oh Boy was a show imported from England by ABC-TV that aimed at teenagers who are hip to the wilder brands of rock 'n' roll. The Lawless Years, on NBC-TV, aimed at recalling memories of the prohibition era, when wild grownups rollicked with hip flasks.

Although the music show was a critic's pincushion, it did raise a big question: Why did British rock 'n' roll flop while Dick Clark's rock 'n' roll prospered?

My theory is that the British show was handicapped by an impossible gargly-sounding soundtrack and a surprising absence of the "big beat."

The Lawless Years was a low budget attempt to recreate actual cases handled by a famed New York cop named Barney Ruditsky back in the days when handling cases of hooch was illegal.

Unfortunately, Barney's stores had become old-hat since the '20s and some of the episodes had unintended laugh-provoking touches. Last night, for example, Robert Strauss portrayed a mobster. He sported the usual chalk-striped suit, boutonniere, dark shirt, big hat, and dark, big cigar. To his credit he turned in as fine a job as possible under the circumstances.

Dialing and filing: Laraine Day was seen on NBC and CBS simultaneously last night. She starred in a re-run of Playhouse 90 drama, "Dark as the Night," and appeared on Masquerade Party decked out as a baseball player.

One of those intricate crime busting plans that are standbys on NBC-TV's 21 Beacon Street went amiss last night and Dennis Morgan had to settle things in the old-fashioned way: with his fists. As usual, the action in this half hour was fast. It had to be in order to hide the plot's gaping holes.

Deserving of mention is the fact that George Jessel, the prematurely gray guest of Who Pays, faced the cameras for about a minute without uttering a single word. (He made up for it later of course, but still, it seemed noteworthy nonetheless).

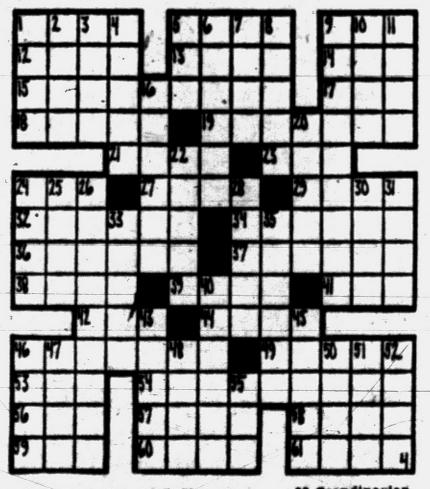

The channel swim: Richard Boone, who portrays Paladin in the CBS-TV Western series, Have Gun, Will Travel, has landed an important motion picture assignment: Sam Houston in John Wayne's production of "Alamo" . . . Anita Darien, featured this summer on both the Jack Paar and Dave King shows, will appear on British TV Oct. 10.

Lowdown on Big Wait

WASHINGTON — Ten of the states require five day waiting periods before a marriage license can be issued. Seven states require from two to three days.

Senate to View Highway Bill

Expect Battle to Use Alternative for Tax Hike on Gasoline

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON—The Senate Finance Committee takes up the highway financing bill today. There is a sharp fight in prospect over an alternative to the gasoline tax increase in the measure passed by the House.

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn), a committee member and author of the 1956 act setting up the big highway program, told a reporter he would battle to put into the bill some revenue source other than the penny gas tax boost.

The Tennessee Democrat said he would offer at least two alternative plans for financing the interstate highway system. He outlined them as the finance committee started hearings on the bill.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), tax committee chairman, said he believed the House bill raising the tax from 3 to 4 cents a gallon through June 30, 1961, would be reluctantly approved.

The House passed the bill 243-162 Thursday after weeks of wrangling. The floor debate made it evident there was little enthusiasm for the tax increase.

The bill up for debate would authorize the use of about 4½ billion dollars worth of farm surpluses over the next three years in the food for peace program.

Call More to Steel Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry and the Steelworkers Union will greatly enlarge their bargaining teams next week in an effort to end the 52-day-old nationwide steel strike. The union will bring in about 450 men who are its baragining agents with individual steel companies.

Some Mosquitoes Feed on Reptiles

WASHINGTON — Most mosquitoes prefer warm-blooded prey, but some feed on reptiles and even frogs. One species lives entirely on fluids sucked from the mouths of ants.

The female usually lays 50 to 200 eggs on the surface film of still water. Swamps and salt-water marshes are favorite breeding grounds. Many species deposit their eggs in damp soil, but these will not hatch until covered with water.

In about two days, the eggs hatch into larvae or "wigglers." The active, aquatic creatures must rise periodically to the surface to breathe through an elongated air tube. They eat minute plants and animals; their enemies include fish and aquatic insects. After about a week, the larvae pass through the pupal stage and emerge as adults.

Steal the Watchdog

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (UPI)—Roy J. Mandery, who operates a watchman and guard service, was awakened by the barking of his watchdog yesterday. He dashed out just in time to see a car drive away—with the barking dog inside it.

Mosquitoes Live Weeks to a Year; Don't Fly Far

WASHINGTON — Adult mosquitoes live from several weeks to about a year, depending on the species. They seldom fly more than a few hundred yards from their place of birth. Most mosquitoes are active at night or in subdued daylight.

The most dangerous disease carriers in the world, mosquitoes are the sole agents of the microscopic organisms which produce malaria, yellow fever, and dengue. Mosquitoes are also important in the spread of filariasis and encephalitis.
