$18-Million Development Due in Pontiac Township

An $18-million apartment development, similar to the $150-million Somerset Park complex in Troy, will be built along a half-mile frontage of South Boulevard, between I-75 and Squirrel Road, Pontiac Township.

★ ★ ★

Plans for the new development were announced today by Abraham Ran and Aaron Ginsberg of the Biltmore Development Co., developers of the Troy complex.

They applied for a building permit from the Pontiac Township office.

Ran said the permit would cover the start of work on the first phase of the development —to be named the South Boulevard Apartments.

The first phase of the complex will involve 272 units of one and two-bedroom apartments, according to Ran.

113-ACRE TRACT

In all, the development will occupy a 113-acre tract and consist of about 1,000 apartments. The site on which the apartments will be built was once part of the estate of the late Walter O. Briggs.

"As with Somerset Park, we intend to offer outstanding recreational facilities at South Boulevard Apartments," said Ginsberg.

"Our planning here includes the creation of a 12-acre lake for boating, swimming and fishing."

Ran and Ginsberg said more details regarding the project will be available within the next two weeks.

In commenting on the plans, Township Supervisor Leonard Terry said that although South Boulevard Apartments will provide homes for about 1,000 families, "Their impact on public services such as schools will not be nearly so great as the same number of single family homes.

"In fact, our studies revealed that the number of children of school age will be less than half that of a single family development of the same size," he said, "yet the tax rate for the apartments is higher.

"Development plans for South Boulevard indicate a high quality project which will be a great asset to Pontiac Township," Terry said.

The Somerset Park complex, located between W. Maple and Wattles roads east of Coolidge, will ultimately offer some 2,500 apartment units and will house from 6,000 to 7,000 residents.

★ ★ ★

It will also feature a nine-hole golf course, an artificial lake, five swimming pools, a shopping center and a recreational park.

Blue Chips Up, Push Market

Declines Still Ahead of Advances Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Gains by blue chip stocks pushed market averages higher today but declines still outnumbered advances. Trading was active.

★ ★ ★

Gains by key issues ranged from a few cents to more than $1. Among those advancing were aircraft, electronics and airline stocks, all of which suffered heavy losses yesterday.

At 11:30 a.m. (EST) the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 3.62 points at 856.45.

The market yesterday was staggered by the worst one-day loss since President John F. Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, 1963.

★ ★ ★

Brokers blamed tight money as one of the causes. One commented:

"Tight money is like a noose and keeps on tightening."

OTHER FACTORS

Other factors mentioned by analysts were the weakness of the British pound and uncertainty about the Viet Nam War.

★ ★ ★

In Washington, the House Banking Committee approved Monday a bill to limit interest paid on some bank deposits in hopes of channeling more funds to institutions that finance building.

This, the majority indicated, would help ease the money situation. But the Republican minority said the measure "will not do the trick."

Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., contended the bill also would serve as a signal to the Federal Reserve Board that Congress wants lower interest rates.

Monkey Business

Lansing 'Whose Zoo'

LANSING (UPI) — Nobody really wants to accuse the Lansing City Council of monkey business, but what else can you do when a girl takes her clothes off and her boyfriend knocks the mayor's nameplate askew?

It was a circus all-the-way-around yesterday when Nancy and Zippee, a pair of 2-year-old chimpanzees, came to call on the council before being driven like celebrities to their new home at Lansing's Potter Park Zoo.

"Hooo, hooo, hooo," chortled Nancy as she stripped

Jury Charges Speck With Eight Murders

CHICAGO (AP) — Eight indictments charging murder were returned by the Cook County (Chicago) grand jury today against Richard Speck, 24, held in the mass killing of eight nurses.

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cook County state's attorney expects a decision today by the grand jury on the evidence submitted against Richard Speck, 24, in the mass murder of eight nurses.

State's Atty. Daniel P. Ward said yesterday: "I have presented the case to the grand jury and I cannot say what the grand jury is going to do."

Ward has said he would seek a murder indictment against Speck for each slaying. Speck is presently charged with murdering Gloria Jean Davy, 22, of Dyer, Ind., who police believe was the first nurse slain in the methodical July 14 massacre.

A murder indictment on each slaying would permit the state to try Speck eight times, if necessary, to get a conviction.

Brink's Holdup Nets $60,000

BOSTON (UPI)—Two Brink's guards were machine gunned and wounded in a hospital driveway today in the second armored car holdup in greater Boston in four days. Police said the gunmen fled with at least $60,000.

The guards, not identified immediately, were carried quickly into the hospital and underwent emergency treatment.

Today was payday at the hospital and the armored truck was delivering money to cash the checks, officials said.

Herbert Webb, fiscal officer of the Veterans Hospital at 150 S. Huntington Ave., Boston's Jamaica Plain section, said "it sounded like a firing range."

Another person inside the hospital at the time said he heard the firing and broken glass falling on the cement.

The daring holdup took place directly in front of the main entrance of the hospital.

On Friday, four rubber masked bandits, three of them brandishing machine guns, robbed a Brink's truck of $131,000 in Bedford, 18 miles west of here. The bandits escaped after disarming four guards.

U.S. Jets, Guns Strike Back at Red Mortars

Yank Casualties Said Light After Shelling 18 Miles From Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong unleashed a 90-minute attack with mortars and recoilless rifles tonight on the command post of the U.S. 25th Infantry (Tropical Lightning) Division at Chu Lai, 18 miles northwest of Saigon.

The enemy weapons finally fell silent under the counterfire of American artillery and fiery napalm loosed by four U.S. Air Force F100 Super Sabres on the suspected gun sites.

A U.S. spokesman said American casualties were very light. He had no immediate word on Viet Cong losses.

Elsewhere in the south, fighting slackened during the day, but U.S. airmen flew over typhoon winds and through monsoon rains to pound Communist targets north and south of the border.

The mortar shells started falling on the 25th Division base at Cu Chi shortly after sunset.

★ ★ ★

There was no report of any casualties. First reports indicated that it was not a major attack but followed the pattern of other Viet Cong harassments on the doorsteps of Saigon in the past few days.

Heavy U.S. and Allied artillery firing close to Saigon rattled windows in the capital.

★ ★ ★

The "harassing and interdiction" barrages against Viet Cong positions have been stepped up in the past few nights as guerrillas have become more active.

The guerrillas struck nine times in the Saigon area yesterday, shelling and machine-gunning government militia posts and a refugee relocation center.

More than 400 miles north of Saigon, U.S. Marines pursued the hunt for the battered survivors of the first full North Vietnamese division sent south, but made no contact with the slippery foe.

DAMAGED GROCERIES — Cleanup operations began today following a fire last night at the People's Food Market, 465 E. Pike. Fast work by Pontiac firemen was credited with bringing the blaze under control some 90 minutes after flames broke out about 5:20 p.m. in a rear storage room. Damages have not been estimated pending an inventory, store officials said.

Delay Hearing on Air Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate hearing on legislation to halt the 10-day airline strike was postponed today and there were hints of a last-minute effort to end the walkout before Congress acts.

The Senate Labor Committee, acting at administration request, put off for 24 hours its hearing on the impact of the walkout.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., relayed the request to a closed-door committee session.

He told a reporter it came from Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien, who said the administration needed more time to prepare testimony for the Senate panel. (Earlier Story on page A-5.)

Area Power Failure Causes Blackout

A three-square-mile area in northeast Birmingham and the southwest corner of Troy was blacked out for more than an hour last night by a power failure.

The stoppage, which Detroit Edison Co. officials traced to a substation cable failure, affected a region bounded by Big Beaver, Coolidge, Maple, and Adams roads.

Lights in the area flickered and then went out at approximately 8:44 p.m. and came back on at about 9:51.

An Edison spokesman said service lines to the area were rerouted pending repair of the regular cable.

★ ★ ★

Police reported telephone and other utility services in the area were unaffected by the blackout.

City-County Negotiations on Airport's Future Resume

Recessed for nearly a year, the long-standing negotiations between the City of Pontiac and Oakland County on the future ownership of Pontiac Municipal Airport were reconvened this morning.

Now stretching into three years, the city-county negotiations today were adjourned after less than 45 minutes with city officials slated to put their variety of proposals in writing.

City Commissioners Leslie H. Hudson and T. Warren Fowler Sr., City Manager Joseph A. Warren and Acting Airport Manager J. David VanderVeen met with the county's five-member special committee to study acquisition of the airport.

Both sides reiterated their positions that have left the negotiations in a stalemate:

- The city wants to sell.
- The county wants to buy.
- Both agree the airport is logically a service to be furnished by the county.

Receiving again the county's offer of a token $1 to purchase the 438-acre facility in Waterford Township, Hudson said the city was looking for two-way negotiations.

Hudson said there were at least four proposals that the city would be willing to accept.

He pointed out that an area realtor had recently offered to purchase the airport for $1,308,000.

David Levinson, chairman of the special county committee, labeled the offer meaningless

Latin Aid Provision Defeated

Teachers, Students Face Draft Reviews

LANSING (AP)—Some Michigan teachers who have been draft exempt because of their profession may be reclassified and college students will have their files reviewed earlier under recent State Selective Service directives.

Col. Arthur A. Holmes, state selective service director, said the teachers are included in a "reevaluation of all those under 26 with occupational deferments."

However, Holmes said any reclassification will be made on an individual basis and will be left up to the local boards.

Holmes said Michigan has about 12,000 men of draftable age with occupational deferment. However, he said he did not know how many of them are teachers.

CHECK TEACHERS

Holmes said his department recommended to local boards about a month ago that they check all eligible teachers except those teaching critical skills in high school or college listed by the U. S. Department of Labor as being in short supply.

The state director said the directive was aimed primarily at teachers just out of college who have signed contracts but have not taught professionally yet."

However, he added that it also applies to those "who have taught only a few years and are teaching physical education or a light load of serious subjects and coaching on the side."

Holmes said he did not think the directive would cut into teaching staffs enough to cause a critical situation.

ONLY REASON

He said the directive applies only to teachers whose occupation is the only reason for deferment.

State draft boards, which used to review college student files each October, now are opening the files in July to find graduates and dropouts sooner, Holmes said.

The state directive to open the files sooner, and review them more stringently, went out last May and now is being re-emphasized, Col. Holmes said.

Besides finding graduates and dropouts to help fill the higher draft quotas for Viet Nam, the local boards also look for students who are not advancing at a pace that would allow them to complete school in normal amount of time, he said.

District Ballot Name Remains

Judge Rules Against Candidate's Request

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem ruled yesterday that the name of a Birmingham woman who has withdrawn from the 16th District Senate race will remain on the Aug. 2 primary ballot.

Dale A. Winnie, one of the two remaining candidates seeking the Republican nomination, had asked the court to order the county election commission to remove the name of Mary Bawden.

Mrs. Bawden, 977 Gordon, announced 10 days ago that she was no longer a candidate.

At the time she said she knew that her name would stay on the ballot since state law requires a candidate to withdraw within 72 hours after the filing deadline.

* * *

The last day for withdrawing for the primary this year was June 17.

Winnie, in a suit filed Wednesday, contended that electors who did not know that Mrs. Bawden had withdrawn and voted for her would have their vote nullified.

Mrs. Bawden explained when she withdrew that she believed one candidate would be more effective against the incumbent than two.

Winnie, 40, of 135 Chewton, Birmingham, is challenging incumbent Sen. Robert J. Huber in the primary.

Mrs. Bawden said that she wouldn't campaign for either of the candidates.

Bronson Raps Suit by Kahn

Calls Action Attempt at Publicity-Seeking

Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson today termed a lawsuit against him as "a clear and regrettable attempt by an unknown to get his name before the public."

Bronson, a Circuit Court candidate, was accused in a complaint filed yesterday by another hopeful in the Aug. 2 primary with using deceptive campaign advertising.

In his suit, Farmington Township attorney Bernard S. Kahn said that one of his signs, a 3-by-7-foot banner, was removed from a trailer at a gas station at 10 Mile and Coolidge by a member of Bronson's staff and replaced with one of Bronson's.

Kahn and Bronson are among 22 circuit court candidates.

* * *

REMOVES BANNER

Bronson said the service station is owned by Edward Stone, the brother-in-law of Assistant Prosecutor Bernard Rosner, who took down Kahn's banner.

"Stone also removed the sign on several occasions because it was placed there without his permission and constituted an unlawful trespass," added Bronson.

"If he (Kahn) got permission like he claims, I don't know from whom."

Bronson admitted that his canvas sign that replaced Kahn's was misleading but that it had been a printer's mistake.

* * *

The word "for" had been left out of the phrase "Bronson For Circuit Judge."

He said the sign would be corrected immediately.

A hearing on Kahn's complaint is scheduled for Thursday before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Kahn is asking the court to restrain Bronson from posting misleading signs and from tearing down his signs.

by 17th Parallel border or westward toward Laos, the Communists left behind 736 dead, the Marines reported.

The battle debris and scarred terrain indicated the enemy toll may be far higher, officers said.

With most of the Hanoi regulars of Division 324B apparently back across the border or in flight toward Laos, Air Force B52s flew over Typhoon Ora early today to bomb suspected Viet Cong jungle hideouts in the D zone stronghold 80 miles northeast of Saigon.

Flying through low clouds and occasional thunderstorms, Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots racked up 71 missions yesterday over North Viet Nam. They hit nine fuel dumps and assorted bridge, rail and supply targets that took them within 20 miles of Hanoi.

Pilots reported half a dozen surface-to-air missiles were sent up against them around Hanoi, but no American losses were reported.

* * *

Marine pilots hit a suspected ammunition dump just north of the 17th Parallel on the Red supply route to the South. They reported 50 secondary explosions.

BAD WEATHER

In South Viet Nam, U. S. and South Vietnamese pilots flew a total of 487 single-plane strikes despite bad weather over much of the area.

In the Mekong Delta 78 miles west of Saigon a South Vietnamese militia force of 30 men fought off three times that number of Viet Cong early today.

The Viet Cong called off the attack when a flare plane lit up the predawn darkness. The platoon defending the hamlet of Kien Phong sustained only a few casualties, a spokesman said.

The sound of heavy artillery and air strikes also echoed across Saigon in an effort to forestall a further rise in Communist activity.

An early morning allied barrage took aim at the jungles around Nha Be, the big oil dump 10 miles south of Saigon, and other likely guerrilla targets in the Saigon area. A U.S. military spokesman said the attacks were part of the continuing allied campaign to keep the enemy off balance.

Holly Youth Dies of Auto Crash Injuries

Airport Talks Are Resumed

because the city would not get anything out of it after repaying the federal government for its near million-dollar investment in the airport.

Levinson said it was the consensus of the county committee that the city should essentially give the airport to the county, an opinion which has not changed since negotiations were recessed last fall.

"We're right back where we left off, only our (the county's) financial troubles are worse," Levinson said.

Hudson repeated the city contention that there must be some return for the money (estimated at $2.6 million) city taxpayers have spent on the airport.

CITY OFFER

The city spokesmen said the city might receive:

- The old county courthouse site and the former Masonic Temple building.
- Both properties, plus $700,000 cash credit toward the city's share of future airport improvements.
- The old courthouse site with the city to retain operation of the T-hangars at the airport.
- The city might take the county-owned Allen Airport and the old courthouse site.

Although indicating he felt the committee's attitude had not changed, Levinson said the committee would consider the various offers if the city would submit them in writing.

Military Funds Limit Sought

Senate Votes Down Amendment, 78 to 11

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted down today an effort to put a limitation on military spending by Latin American countries receiving U. S. foreign aid.

It defeated 78 to 11, an amendment to the economic assistance bill offered by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to ban aid to any Latin nation pouring more than 3.5 per cent of its gross national product into "defense purposes."

Morse noted that one of the arguments against his proposal was that it interfered with the sovereignty of other countries.

'HAS DUTY'

But he said the United States also has sovereignty and the Congress has "a duty to lay down conditions" for the spending of U. S. tax dollars.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield called senators in two hours early to try to finish action on the measure and clear the deck for other legislation.

* * *

Still pending was an amendment by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., to set up a committee to suggest ways of revamping the aid program and quiet some of the criticism that resulted in some sharp pruning of the program in the Senate this year.

* * *

President Johnson requested $2.5 billion in economic aid, but Committee trimmed this by $117-million and Senate votes have the Senate Foreign Relations cut another $292 million.

SEPARATE MEASURE

A separate measure to be considered later calls for $892 million in military assistance. The House combined the economic and military aid authorizations in approving the administration's foreign aid proposals earlier.

The Senate agreed Monday to authorize the Alliance for Progress program for two years. The voted to limit other sections to a single year.

Firm Is Hired to Study Proposal for Parking Lot

BIRMINGHAM — An engineering study was approved last night by the City Commission to determine the feasibility of constructing an underground parking lot in the Shain Park area.

The Detroit firm of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls Associates, Inc., was hired to undertake the study.

In naming the firm, the commission also appropriated $15,000 from the captial improvement fund to cover the estimated cost of the study.

The study is expected to take from four to six weeks to complete, representatives of the firm told commissioners.

The consultants will hold a series of meetings with the commission to inform members of the progress being made and to determine the depth of subsequent studies.

JOINT MEETING

A joint meeting is also planned between staff members of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, and Johnson, Johnson & Roy, engaged by the city to plan a new surface treatment for the park and surrounding Civic Center area.

The study will include information on comparative cost between underground and surface parking facilities for the area.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Cranbrook Institute of Science will offer a basic physics course beginning Aug. 6 entitled "Ramps, Rainbows and Radiators."

The course, to consist of four classes, will be aimed at answering questions based on the matter and motion of everyday life.

The sessions are geared to adults and students 13 years and older.

Hours are from 10 a.m. to noon on Aug. 6, 13, 20 and 27. Enrollment will be limited to 30. A fee of $10 will be charged.

City Attorney Is Ruled Out of JP Primary

A Pontiac attorney has failed in his attempt to get his name on the Aug. 2 primary ballot in Bloomfield Township as a justice of the peace candidate.

* * *

Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn yesterday denied the request of Barry A. Kushner, who was seeking to upset a legislative act that eliminated the election this year of justices and extended the terms of those in office.

Kushner, 32, of 6333 Worlington was challenging the authority of the Legislature to enact such a measure.

Thorburn ruled that the Legislature did have the power to pass measures to implement the new constitution, which abolishes the justice court system throughout the state by Jan. 1, 1968.

* * *

The Legislature extended the terms of elected justices as a means of providing a more orderly departure of the officeholders.

PREVIOUS RULE

A week ago Thorburn did rule in favor of another attorney who was seeking to have his name placed on the ballot for justice in West Bloomfield Township.

In that case, however, the attorney Richard Kramer, argued that the legislation was directed only at elected justices and that the post he was seeking was being held by an appointee.

'U.S. Doesn't Back Ky Talk'

S. Viet Leader Urged Conflict With China

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States disassociated itself today from a call by South Viet Nam's premier for a military confrontation now with Communist China.

A State Department spokesman declared: "Our position of not seeking any wider war has been repeatedly made clear and remains our position."

President Nguyen Cao Ky had proposed in an interview that "it is better to face them (the Red Chinese) right now than in 5 or 10 years." He also suggested an allied invasion of North Viet Nam to smash the source of Communist aggression against South Viet Nam.

Ky's remarks brought a storm of objection in the Senate today. Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield called on the Johnson administration to disassociate itself from the Ky declarations.

* * *

The administration decided, it was learned, to deal as softly as possible with what was clearly a sharp division between the policy line projected by the South Vietnamese leader and the policies being followed by President Johnson.

CLEAR POSITION

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey told a news conference in response to questions that he did not want to comment directly on Ky's statement, but then added: "I would say our position of not seeking any wider war has been repeatedly made clear and remains our position. We do not threaten any regime."

The denial of a threat to any regime appeared to be a repudiation of Ky's call for invasion of North Viet Nam.

Johnson and other administration officials have said repeatedly the U.S. does not aim at the destruction of North Viet Nam.

Defense Aides to Air NATO's Nuclear Role

PARIS (AP) — Discussion of allied participation in nuclear planning for the defense of Western Europe was on the agenda today for a meeting of defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

At a session Monday, the ministers approved a five-year plan to bolster the defense of the flanks of the alliance, particularly the southeastern region covering Greece and Turkey. It also ordered development of new financing arrangements for mobile forces to help defend the flank areas.

* * *

U. S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara called for an increase in NATO strength to discourage the Communist bloc from being "tempted to test our will and capability to resist."

A communique rounding up the results of the meeting gave no details, but informed sources said there was general agreement that NATO's military strength is barely adequate and must not be allowed to deteriorate.

Today's meeting involved the nuclear planning working group, of which McNamara is chairman. He said it is "studying ways of improving and extending allied participation in the planning for nuclear forces in the defense of NATO."

NATIONAL WEATHER — Tonight a belt of rainy conditions will prevail from Nevada to the Atlantic, from Wyoming and Nebraska down to Texas and through most of the deep South. It will be cooler across the North and hot in the Southeast.

Needy Young Get in Swim With Help of Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Needy youngsters soon will be splashing in 70 swimming pools at military bases across the nation.

The Pentagon has agreed to share the pools under a crash effort by the federal government to help cool off major metropolitan areas.

★ ★ ★

The Defense Department was enlisted in the new program by the Office of Economic Opportunity, which handles the government's antipoverty program.

The OEO said several cities were seeking additional recreational facilities "on an emergency basis immediately."

RACIAL OVERTONES?

An OEO spokesman declined to say whether the campaign — also aimed at providing public and private pools and even sprinklers for fire hydrants — was calculated in part to ease racial tensions in some areas.

★ ★ ★

A memorandum sent by Sargent Shriver, director of the antipoverty program, to OEO regional offices, said: "In case of public inquiry, it should be emphasized that this is an expansion of OEO summer program efforts and it seeks to be responsive to the needs of communities."

★ ★ ★

The potential use of pools at 40 military installations in 15 states was one of four approaches toward assisting what the OEO called "target area residents." These selected areas include 35 major cities.

Hot Desert Hiker Plods On in Sun

DEATH VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — You can add one perspiring Frenchman to the list of those who venture out in the noonday sun.

The Frenchman is Jean Pierre Marquant, 28, an exparatrooper who not only ventured out at noon, he did it in midsummer in shimmering Death Valley — a practice shunned even by veteran desert rats.

His goal is to complete a long walk—he says it's about 100 miles—on sizzling, scorching sands and rocks, where the air temperature was at least 115 degrees yesterday and ground temperatures soared to 190.

Marquant says he's walking to prove there's still some adventure in America.

★ ★ ★

VERY WEAK

"I feel very weak and tired, but I think I can do it," Marquant told a crew that brought him provisions.

Chief Ranger Homer Leach said he drove out to meet Marquant yesterday and found the French hiker in good shape.

Women Tax the Patience of IRS Men

CHICAGO (AP) — Internal Revenue men making out tax returns for women taxpayers often are as puzzled as the persons they help. Here are two examples:

"Are you married?" an IRS man asked the first woman.

"No, I'm separated," she said.

"Are you legally separated?" he persisted.

"No, I'm illegally separated," she answered.

Another woman wanted to know:

"These boxes are driving me crazy. I am divorced, so I am really not married, therefore, am I married or am I single? Do you think it would help if I got married again?"

By Clarkston Teachers

Contract OK'd

CLARKSTON — School teachers here have unanimously approved a 1966-67 contract culminating six months of talks, Supt. of Schools Dr. L. F. Greene learned last night.

Greene was notified by a spokesman of the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) following a meeting of teachers last night in which votes were tallied.

The Clarkston Board of Education had approved the contract July 11 following agreement between negotiating teams representing the board and CEA.

Teachers with bachelor degrees now will receive a starting salary of $5,600, a $500 increase over the 1965-66 rate.

★ ★ ★

They will earn a maximum pay of $8,696 after 10 years compared with the previous high of $7,913.

SPECIALIST DEGREES

Teachers with master's degrees now will receive salaries ranging from $5,983 to $9,921 compared with the former spread of $5,329 to $8,269.

A $6,252 starting salary will be paid to teachers with specialist degrees instead of the previous $5,568. The maximun wage was boosted from $8,641 to $9,710.

Under the agreement, elementary teachers will be allowed a 30-minute lunch period whenever possible.

★ ★ ★

In addition, two part-time lay employes will be hired at each of the district's five elementary schools to assist teachers in supervising lunch programs.

"I'm sure both negotiating teams learned a great deal from this one process," said Greene. Negotiations began in January.

Land-Fill Site Closed Down

Court Halts Pontiac Township Operation

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — A controversial land-fill site located on Bald Mountain has been closed by federal court order.

The operation was ordered terminated following an order-to-show-cause hearing Friday before Judge Harry H. Hackett in bankruptcy court in Detroit.

Charles MacRae, the principal officer of NARCO (Natural Resource Conservators, Inc.), was ordered to vacate the property. Further dumping has been forbidden.

Sunday, two days after the sign was posted designating the closing of the land-fill site, a fire erupted. It reportedly simmered down yesterday.

The site has been the scene of several spontaneous combustion-ignited fires in recent weeks, causing injuries, traffic jams and a threat to nearby Silverbell Ski Resort.

BRINGING IN SAND

Pontiac Township Supervisor Leonard Terry said measures will be taken to extinguish the smouldering areas of the dump.

"We're going to bring in some foundry sand to smother the dump," he said.

"We're going to close this place permanently," asserted Terry.

"It took me three years to do it," added Terry. "I fought it right down the line. There'll never be a dump up there again."

State and county health officials also put pressure on MacRae, setting a deadline for him to comply with a new Michigan law regulating solid waste disposal areas.

Union Lakers Plan Protest

A group of Union Lake area property owners will meet with an official from the State Conservation Department tonight in an effort to curb the use of commercial docks on Union Lake.

★ ★ ★

Milton Dolan, president of the Union Lake Shores Association, said lake area residents believe the dock operators have been infringing on their water rights by extending long docks out into the lake and shutting off the lake to normal water traffic.

Boats at anchor beyond the docks, he said, have added to the problem.

Dolan maintained that the docks have not been policed properly by the owners and have been a source of garbage, oil slicks, cans and weeds.

★ ★ ★

Robert Taack, a representative of the conservation department will preside over a public hearing on the problem at Keith Elementary School on Keith Road at 7:30 p.m.

Rochester Office Zoning Approved Over Protests

ROCHESTER — Land on the north side of West University from Madison to the village limits will be rezoned to office use despite charges of spot zoning and spoiling the western approach to the village.

★ ★ ★

In a 4-3 vote last night the Village Council approved rezoning of the land covering about seven blocks.

Voting against the rezoning were Louis Mitzelfeld, John Boeberitz and Burdette Lewis. Those in favor were John Lowes, Roy Rewold, Samuel Howlett and Kenneth Vannocker.

Objections from the residents were focused on the question of spot zoning and the traffic which office zoning might create.

★ ★ ★

They also claimed that offices along University would spoil the approach from the west into the village.

NEED DOUBTED

The Regional Planning Commission had previously recommended disapproval of the rezoning. The Commission said there was no need for additional office zoning.

In other action, the council set a public hearing for Aug. 22 on the paving of Miller Street from Parkdale to Rochester Meadows subdivision.

Residents petitioned the council a year ago but the matter was tabled because of insufficient funds.

★ ★ ★

If the work is approved, the council will attempt to combine it with work on the Mill Pond roadway so that one set of bids can be taken on both jobs.

PUBLIC HEARING

The council also set Sept. 12 for an informative public hearing on the proposed incorporation of the village.

Residents will vote Sept. 20 on the incorporation of the area within the village limits into a home rule city.

An abandoned car ordinance was adopted which gives police the power to remove abandoned cars after a 60-day notice.

A junk car is one which remains for 60 days without an operable engine, four usable tires and a current license plate.

As U.S. citizens, you're eligible to pick up full title to parcels of choice property up to 125 acres for business and/or pleasure. The cost? As little as 30 cents per acre, depending on location. Holly Votes Boost in School Millage

HOLLY — School district voters yesterday approved a 5-mill increase in their school taxes.

It was the second time the 5-mill proposal for four years had been submitted to the electorate. The first proposal failed on June 13 by one vote, 365 to 364.

Voters yesterday approved the millage hike by 112 votes. The vote was 516 to 404 with 13 spoiled ballots.

Since the June 13 vote, the school board has decided to reduce the debt retirement levy from the 9 mills now being assessed to 6 mills.

In effect, then, the approval of the extra 5 operating mills will mean a net increase of 2 mills in total school taxes.

HIGHER COST

Schools Superintendent Russell D. Haddon said that the increase will cost residents of Holly Township $2 per $1000 of equalized evaluation.

In other townships, he continued, the increase will be slightly higher due to differing assessing practices.

Prior to the board's action reducing the debt levy, a 5-mill extension would have cost Holly Township property owners $5 per $1000.

★ ★ ★

The cutback in the debt tax was an outgrowth of a rise of $3.7-million in the total assessed value to the school district.

JUST ENOUGH

The reduced debt levy will produce no revenue surplus, according to Haddon, it will raise only enough money to retire bonds maturing in 1967.

The added operating revenue, said Haddon, will be used to maintain a quality curriculum in the schools and to make needed improvements in some areas.

School board members feared that without the millage the new addition to the Patterson Elementary School could not be staffed and opened.

Some cutbacks would have been required in the teaching staff, services and curriculum if the millage vote had failed, added the superintendent.

GOOD TEACHERS

The money will also assure that class sizes will be kept down and that good teachers can be attracted and held with reasonable salaries, he said.

★ ★ ★

Haddon estimates that the 5 mills will yield approximately $117,000 annually in added revenue.

He said that, even with the levy increase, the Holly school district still has the lowest school operating taxes in the county.

TROY — The theft of a safe containing $30,000 in cash and checks from an auto agency was under investigation today by Troy police.

★ ★ ★

The one-ton safe, encased in a cement block, was stolen from Trudell Ford, 777 John R, early yesterday, after thieves entered the building by prying open a rear door.

Police said they believe the thieves used the agency's tow truck hoist to first lift an overhead door and then to place the safe on a getaway truck.

The safe contained $3,039 in cash, $25,000 in checks and two bank drafts, according to police.

Dodd Won't Refute Article

No Reply to Charges He Misused Funds

NEW YORK (AP) — An aide to Sen. Thomas Dodd says the Connecticut Democrat sees no reason to reply to an article contending that a Senate investigating committee has evidence that $350,000 in campaign funds he collected over a three-year period went for other purposes.

★ ★ ★

The aide said Monday there would be no response to the charge in the current issue of Newsweek magazine that Dodd took in $500,000 in campaign funds from November 1961 to march 1965 and spent only $150,000 of it for actual campaigning.

★ ★ ★

The aide suggested that Dodd thought of the money raised at testimonial dinners not so much as "campaign contributions," but more as "personal gifts."

The figures, according to Newsweek, came from records in Dodd's own files, removed by former members of the senator's staff and handed over to the Committee on Standards and Conduct.

★ ★ ★

There was evidence, the magazine said, that Dodd paid $8,500 he owed a ghost writer, a $5,500 air travel account and liquor bills at the Congressional Country Club with campaign contributions.

★ ★ ★

Newsweek said the committee had additional evidence that Dodd paid about $59,500 in personal notes to banks and individuals during the period while he reported his earnings dropped from about $60,000 to about $35,000.

★ ★

Matt Moriarty of Manchester, Conn., a former aide to the senator, said he could not think of any three-year period in which Dodd took in $500,000 in contributions.

Question of Emergency Stalls Air Strike Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — His bid for jet-speed action stalled, Sen. Wayne Morse posted a new timetable today and said the Senate should act Wednesday on legislation designed to halt the airlines strike.

Under a measure proposed by the Oregon Democrat, the strikers would be ordered back to work for 180 days while a mediation panel seeks a permanent settlement. If there was none after 150 days, the mediators would report the deadlock to Congress and new action could be taken.

But first, the administration will have to convince the Senate Labor Committee that the strike has created an emergency warranting congressional intervention.

The committee scheduled a hearing on the strike situation and suggested the administration send spokesmen for the Defense, Commerce, Labor and Post Office departments to discuss the impact of the walkouts.

ASKED TO TESTIFY

Representatives of the striking AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists and of the five struck airlines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United — also were asked to testify.

The hearing was set for 12:30 p.m. EST, on the 19th day of the strike which is costing the five airlines an estimated $7-million daily and their employes an estimated $1.6-million daily. The airlines say the strike has canceled 4,100 flights a day which normally carry about 154,000 passengers.

Morse said in an interview today's hearing "is to determine a question of fact: Is there an emergency to warrant emergency legislation?"

★ ★ ★

He said the answer is yes. And he added he fully expects an emergency declaration and strike-ending action.

"I am sure that the country will demand it," he said.

His measure would have Congress declare that "emergency measures are essential" to end the strike in the interests of national health, safety and defense.

'Aid' Partisans Eye New Angles

There could be no greater example of national profligacy than our Foreign Aid program under which America has scattered $100 billion around the world since World War II.

True, in certain isolated instances the aid has met patent need and our largesse has paid off. But for the most part, it has represented pouring taxpayers' dollars d o w n a rat hole, and in many situations we have in return for our money reaped only contempt of our beneficiaries.

★ ★ ★

But Washington has clung tenaciously to the foreign aid illusion, and each year returns to Congress for another foreign aid handout.

Not content, however, to operate on an annual basis, recent administrations have sought legislation that would program Aid for a period of years.

At this session of the Congress President JOHNSON plumped for a two-year commitment that would appropriate $4.10 billion for fiscal '67 and $4.15 billion for '68. The bill passed the House, but has had rough going in the Senate, where the two-year provision was knocked out.

★ ★ ★

But even more alarming from the standpoint of America's fiscal solvency is another proposal shaping up. It would dispense foreign aid by international agencies, presumably under UN control. The U.S. would be the principal contributor, our suggested share of the multilateral aid program being $50 billion over a 10-year period.

Both measures affecting the administration of Foreign Aid are ill-advised, to say the least, and serve only to plant Uncle Sam more firmly in a built-in role of almsgiver to the world.

If you, too, think it's time to introduce some sanity into our foreign aid involvement, now would be a good time to make it known to your Capitol Hill representatives.

Seat Belts Promise Financial Protection

A refreshing departure from the trend of unrealistic verdicts in personal injury suits came to light in the action of a Milwaukee jury absolving a defendant from liability because the plaintiff did not have her seat belt buckled at the time of a rear-end auto collision.

Acting on safety authorities' statistics that 10 per cent of the 50,000 Americans killed in highway accidents last year would have been spared had seat belts been in place, 32 states have passed laws making seat belts mandatory on new cars. Wisconsin is one of them.

★ ★ ★

In the trial, it was shown that the plaintiff was unbelted at the time of the accident, raising the question that the judge posed to the jury of whether she was "guilty of contributory negligence" for the injuries sustained and for which suit for $30,000 was brought.

Since common law imposes on every person a duty to exercise "ordinary care" for his own safety, the jury decided that the plaintiff had not done so and denied in toto her claim for damages.

The Milwaukee decision will unquestionably set an important and salutary precedent involving the use of seat belts, and give to them economic as well as safety value. Perhaps the first consideration will prove more efficacious than has the second in inducing seat-belt consciousness in motorists who, studies show, use their belts but 50 per cent of the time.

Anyway, one manufacturer, not content with leaving bad enough alone, is now marketing a s o u n d amplifier for transistor radios.

It's a horn-shaped o b j e c t, looking something like a miniature ship's ventilation funnel, made of polyfoam plastic, which is stuck in the sand with the radio placed in the opening. It's designed to enhance reception and protect the radio from sand and moisture.

Different Ways to Fight Inflation

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the threat of inflation looming over both the United States and Britain, President Johnson and Prime Minister Harold Wilson have set contrasting courses.

Johnson, for the moment, is relying mostly on his power of persuasion.

Wilson, largely, is using his administrative power to put into effect a severe austerity program designed to rescue the pound.

The differing approaches point up the different mechanisms of government in the United States and Britain.

★ ★ ★

They suggest that in the case of inflation, at least, the British parliamentary system may be more readily geared to swift action.

RELY HEAVILY

If Johnson were to favor a program similar to Wilson's—there is no indication that he does—he would have to rely heavily on congressional approval.

Though the Democrats hold a commanding edge in both the Senate and the House, his problems would be infinitely more complicated than Wilson's.

While Wilson is a member of Parliament, the American presidency is essentially a separate institution.

★ ★ ★

Except during severe emergency, such as full-scale war, the President's hold on Congress is tenuous and party loyalty a sometimes thing.

Traditionally jealous of its powers; Congress could give the President what he asked, quite a bit less or nothing at all.

About all Johnson, or any president, could do would be to veto legislation he disapproved of and appeal to the electorate to elect a Congress more in tune with his way of thinking.

Such appeals have had mixed results in the past.

★ ★ ★

Complicating Johnson's joust with inflation is the high cost of the war in Viet Nam.

HOLD DEMANDS

Amid the inflationary heating up, the administration was asking labor to hold its wage demands within the 3.2 per cent pattern set down four years ago and appealing to industry to hold the price line.

The White House guidelines had considerable effect on wage demands — until prices and living costs climbed steadily.

Of late, organized labor often has been reluctant to go along with the guidelines.

★ ★ ★

The appeal to hold down prices, meanwhile, had only limited success.

LBJ APPEAL

Last week, the President appealed to Congress to hold down federal spending for domestic programs to his own recommendations.

While only time will tell if he succeeds here, Congress' independence is manifest in estimates it will go its own way and increase his budget by perhaps $3 billion.

The Only Pebble On The Beach?

David Lawrence Says:

Riots Change Character of U.S.

WASHINGTON — This may become known as the era of illusion and fallacy — the period of t h e alibi — when the biggest crime w a v e in American h i s t o r y is blamed on sociological conditions, poverty and lack of education o r employment opportunities.

LAWRENCE

President Johnson in a speech at Indianapolis last Saturday said: "For decades Americans have enjoyed the highest standard of living on earth. By 1960 our economy had slowed down and become sluggish. But for the last 65 months, it has moved further and faster than the most optimistic 'Pollyanna' ever predicted."

The President quoted with approval an unnamed observer who had written that the United States in 50 years not only has beat off depressions but has created the "most wealthy, healthy and educated nation the world has ever seen at any time or at any place."

The paradox goes even further when the words of experienced police officers are read. They tell how passions have been aroused, and they voice a belief that violence in the streets is planned and organized.

Although there are white as well as Negro hoodlums and crime is not confined to any race or ethnic group, the t e n d e n c y of administration spokesmen is to argue that conditions in the slums and the plight of the poverty-stricken and jobless Negroes are the principal reasons for the chain of riots that have been sweeping the big cities of the country.

But the obvious cause of it all is ignored. Every police officer knows that, once street "demonstrations" are initiated and passions are aroused, this furnishes a chance for the criminally minded to begin using firearms and throwing fire bombs, while other members of the mob take advantage of the disorder to steal from stores and carry on the vandalism.

Police superintendents in various cities who have been interviewed say that a "spirit of restlessness" and a "contempt for law" are growing and that some of this is due to leniencies in the courts.

Police officials complain they are hampered, for instance, by recent rulings of the Supreme Court of the United States. They are discouraged also by charges of "police brutality," which tend to intimidate and restrain officers of the law.

Whites and Negroes, moreover, with plenty of education — including even some clergymen — have been telling their less-fortunate brethren that they have a right to disobey laws which they consider unjust and that "violence" is a proper expression of frustration and resentment.

There are, moreover, many whites and Negroes who have come to believe that by "demonstrations" and disorders they somehow or another will get money handed to them on a platter.

The mistaken theory that the government is about to give something free to everybody, with no work to be done to earn it, has permeated many communities.

★ ★ ★

If the concept of street "demonstrations" means that a person may expect as a result to get something for nothing, the police will have more and more crises on their hands in the suburbs as well as the cities.

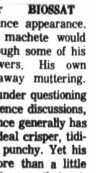
Romney Best GOP Hope for '68

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

LOS ANGELES (NEA)—The special light that sets off a presidential candidate follows Michigan's Republican G o v. George W. Romney. But he is already finding that it is a somewhat pitiless glare.



BIOSSAT

Last year in Minneapolis, Romney stumbled badly in h i s major press conference appearance. Not even a machete would have cut through some of his tangled answers. His own aides went away muttering.

This time, under questioning and in conference discussions, his performance generally has been a good deal crisper, tidier and more punchy. Yet his aides are more than a little annoyed to discover that veteran candidate-watchers, viewing him now as a presidential prospect, have raised their gauges of judgment. By these higher standards they still pronounce him a puzzling figure.

Answering questions after a speech at a hotel a mile from this conference setting, Romney — on the vital subject of Viet Nam — got caught in another of those verbal thickets he has plunged into so often before. Reports had it that his own assistants, playing back a tape hours later, could not understand his answer.

★ ★ ★

Word filtering out of closed-door sessions suggested that not R o m n e y but lame-duck Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania was the Republican listened to most carefully. The candidate-watchers insisted this demonstrated a lack of "presidential-style" authority on the Michigan governor's part.

Nevertheless, some of the watchers concede that they may be applying standards too stiff to be politically realistic. A good many women who sat in on his press conference this time thought him both impressive and attractive. Their responses could be a sounder measure of Romney's present public status.

If any of Romney's moderate-minded Republican colleagues still have any hobbling doubts about his suitability for high office, they do not seem ready to toss him aside as their candidate for the 1968 presidential nomination.

In fact, a prominent G O P governor told this reporter privately that when the party's governors convene in December, a month after the 1966 elections, they may very well launch Romney on his way with an overwhelming on-the-record endorsement. Nothing like it has been tried in modern Republican history.

Such action would not come, of c o u r s e, if the governor failed to win re-election in Michigan by a thumping majority. But there really are no other hampering provisos.

★ ★ ★

The fundamental fact is that, in the eyes of the moderates hungering for a candidate, George Romney is the only man who has "position." He is the only one they see who has the presidential look, is a fairly well-proven vote-getter, has some seasoning and evidently good record in government, and wants the big job.

That "inner logic of politics" compels their focus upon him despite any visible flaws, despite any possible failure next autumn to pull in other Republicans with him.

★ ★ ★

It would be a mistake, however, to assume that R o m n e y's political life today is so charmed that nothing could do him in. The harsher critics at this conference believe he might yet kick away his presidential chances if he does not soon exhibit greater knowledgeability and a s e n s e of command in foreign affairs.

The odds run strongly t h e o t h e r way. The moderates have no real taste for Richard Nixon. In addition, they look upon such potential new GOP winners as Charles Percy of Illinois and Ronald Reagan of California as likely to be too green and too preoccupied with first-term duties to be turned to e x c e p t in grave emergency. Romney is their man.

Question and Answer

Why don't they release the killer wasps in Oakland County before the cereal leaf beele presents more problems? Why not use nature's control when they know it's needed instead of waiting until drastic measures such as spraying poisons are the only things left to do?

I'M FOR HELPING NATURE

REPLY

Mr. Dreves of the Michigan Department of Agriculture tells us it wouldn't work. Right now there are almost no cereal leaf beetles in this area, and in order for the parasitic wasps to survive, they must have beetles to feed on. Should the wasps be released now, they would just die of starvation. Only in areas of high beetle population can this biological control be effective.

Andrea Doria Sea Tragedy 10 Years Ago

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) — "We have collided with another ship. Please. Ship in collision."

Ten years ago today, at 10:09 a.m., the liner Andrea Doria, pierced by the great steel prow of the motor vessel Stockholm, sank in the Atlantic 45 miles south of Nantucket.

Fifty-one lives were lost. Some 1,600 were saved.

The first distress message cracked from the Stockholm at 11:22 the night before. Seconds earlier, the bow that was specially reinforced for the winter ice of Scandinavian harbors had ripped into the starboard side of the pride of the Italian line.

In cabin class on the starboard side was Leonilda Ranieri, then 72, of Beverly, Mass. She talks about the sailor who "made me creep like a frog" along the deck as the liner listed heavily to starboard. She also recalls the sailor who smashed the window in the bar and distributed cognac to the passengers, chilled and wet in the Atlantic mist.

"I was not afraid then," she said. "Then after I am home, I start to dream. Oh, I remember everything, and every night I think about it, and I am scared. So I went back, two years later, on the Cristoforo Colombo. It is the sister ship. And then I am not afraid any more."

The Stockholm that night was eastbound for Europe from New York. The Andrea Doria, built three years before at a cost of $30 million, furnished with paintings by Rembrandt, laden with negotiable bonds, jewels, valuable cargo and a special car built for Chrysler Corp. in Italy, was westbound from Naples.

The Stockholm later limped back to New York with $1 million damage to its prow.

* * *

Dozens of ships were in the collision area and responded as the Stockholm radioed another distress call at 12:08 a.m. "Collided with another vessel in position 40-34 north, 69-45 west. But still undetermined damage."

Aboard the liner, Clarence H. Gifford Jr. of Providence, R.I., was collecting his four children and his wife and ushering them onto the sloping deck.

"I had said goodby to my wife and family," he said Monday night. "They went into boats with the other women and children. I waited about an hour and a half, and there were people from below decks coming up, covered with oil, screaming. Then it was the men's turn, and I went down that sloping deck.

"I hadn't been able to see anything up on the port side," he said. "But when I got down on the starboard side, I saw blazing lights and letters about 12 or 15 feet tall, I swear they were, those big letters on that great big boat. The Ile de France. I guess that was just about the finest thing I've ever seen in my whole life."

Car Plunges off Bridge; Driver Safe

GRAND HAVEN (UPI) —Robert Clark, 41, of Twin Lake picked a hard way to beat the heat.

Clark, a construction worker, told police he plunged over the side of a drawbridge while driving in Grand Haven yesterday afternoon.

He said he was approaching the bridge as it was going up. His brakes failed, he went over a one-foot high meridian, crashed through a guard rail and plunged into the water.

Clark said the door of his car opened as he hit the water and he swam to shore.

* * *

FOUND EMPTY

They found it empty. Friends had taken him to a local hospital where he was treated for cuts and bruises.

Bomb Plot Fails

SAIGON (UPI) — Police disarmed a timing device last night 20 minutes before it was to explode six pounds of TNT at a South Vietnamese Navy weapons show.

The explosives were discovered in four bags bundled together with the timing apparatus. The scene of the attempted terror bombing was about 100 yards from the Saigon bureau of United Press International.

With State Health Department Request

Board Moves to Comply on Sewer Line

The Waterford Township Board last night took steps to comply with a Michigan Department of Health request in order to acquire a construction permit for a proposed sewer connecting Cherokee Hills Elementary School and about 50 residential lots to the Pontiac system.

State Health Department officials were concerned that the sewer, as planned, would not be built at a sufficient depth to provide drainage of sanitary waste from basement levels for about 20 homes on Marion Street.

However, health officials implied that construction could proceed, as planned, if the township issued a resolution, essentially prohibiting construction of basement drains to the sewer for new homes and forbidding installation or use of toilet facilities that cannot be drained to the sewer by gravity from existing buildings.

The board's resolution, to be sent to the health department, acknowledged the "possible" inadequacy of the proposed sewer line and offered to provide basement drainage and accept responsibility of sewer construction.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the board adopted the 1965 national electrical code as part of the township's building ordinance, updating a similar 1962 code.

PROMOTE SAFETY

The code, whose primary objective is to promote safety, includes measures to cope with alleged hazards in swimming pools and mobile homes.

All metal parts must be grounded in new pools, following last night's action. Also, no overhead electrical wiring can be located within 10 feet from the nearest edge of a pool.

The code also affects electrical service connections to house trailers.

A lot split request by Richard C. Edens, 4642 Claudia, was approved by the board, which reversed a previous decision.

The board approved seven appointments recommended by Supervisor Dorothy W. Olson.

REAPPOINTMENTS

Reappointed to three - year terms on the township planning commission were Donald Ringler, Dr. John Naz and Mitchell Sioma.

Leo Kampsen was named to a two-year term on the board of canvassers following the resignation of Arthur J. Salley.

★ ★ ★

Named to the community schools and recreation advisory board were William Stormer (three years), E. Frank Richardson (two years) and William Dean (one year).

Williams Strolls; Jerry Eyes Airwaves

By The Associated Press

Teetotaler G. Mennen Williams sought votes in a string of bars Monday while his opponent for Democratic senatorial nomination planned a two - day, statewide radio and television campaign climax.

Williams, saying "It's a place where people are," toured drinking establishments and shops in poorer areas of Detroit and Highland Park.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, meanwhile, announced plans to answer telephoned questions in broadcasts on Sunday and Monday from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Cavanagh said seven television stations are expected to carry the programs Sunday but plans were incomplete for the radio hookup and the Monday telecasts.

'OPPORTUNITY'

"Our broadcasts will give everyone in Michigan the opportunity to call in questions," Cavanagh said. "We shall answer them right on the spot."

The Detroit mayor shook hundreds of hands at Ford Motor Co.'s Wixom assembly plant and the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., completing the day's schedule with a coffee hour, a forum and a reception.

★ ★ ★

Cavanagh and Williams campaigned under a broiling sun that pushed temperatures to 90 degrees.

★ ★ ★

Former Gov. Williams worked to strengthen support from Negroes, stopping at drugstores, knickknack shops, a pool room and a shop selling pig ears and pigtails.

WARM WELCOME

He was greeted warmly at almost every tavern and store he visited in a 100-block excursion.

At one dimly lit bar, a sagging, fiftyish woman with protruding teeth embraced Williams. He greeted her, removed himself from her embrace and continued campaigning.

He told a union group Monday night that democracy's new test is "to take all the American people along into the days of prosperity and freedom and human dignity that lie ahead."

Ignoring Cavanagh, as he has throughout the campaign, Williams attacked Republicans for their suggestions on how to improve the war on poverty.

'ENTANGLEMENTS'

"What a fantastic rats' nest of procedural entanglements the Republicans have planned," Williams said: "Vetoes upon vetoes! Each state and city and agency must agree on everything, or the poor people can just remain poor."

Williams scheduled visits today to the Ford Sterling plant near Warren, the Sterling Township City Hall and city offices in Warren and Center Line. He also planned to speak to the Detroit Council of Baptist Pastors, shoppers in the Detroit area, union workers and the Utica Rotary Club.

Cavanagh started with a stop at the gate of Chrysler Corp.'s plant in Highland Park and scheduled staff meetings, a tour of downtown Detroit and talks to the Hazel Park Democratic Club and a community council.

New Tax Program

Ferency Urges Fiscal Reform

HARTFORD (UPI)—Citing a "negative education revolution" sweeping across Michigan, Democratic gubernatorial candidate Zolton Ferency yesterday again called for fiscal reform to ease property taxes while providing more money for schools.

"With alarming, but understandable, regularity, property-taxpayers are voting against increased millage to maintain and improve our schools," Ferency told Van Buren County Democrats.

"Those who vote no for better schools are not doing so because they are against a quality education for their children.

"They are doing so because the tremendous burden of the home owner has reached unbearable proportions."

He said relief for both taxpayers and school children would come "only be revising our outmoded and regressive system of taxation" to create a new "tax program based on the ability to pay."

Hot House Thief

NEW YORK (P) — A man who followed firemen up an aerial ladder into a burning Bronx apartment, wasn't much help in putting out the blaze but didn't do too badly for himself, police said.

They charged Frank Maysonet, 34, with stealing clock and transistor radios and a set of electric hair clippers from an apartment next to the one swept by fire.

House Ballot Divides State

Only One Republican Votes to Air Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Michigan's congressional delegation split mainly along party lines in yesterday's roll call vote which allowed the House to take up the civil rights bill. The vote was 200 to 180 in favor of the motion.

★ ★ ★

Following the trend throughout the House, only one Michigan Republican, James Harvey, voted for considering the bill. Generally, Republicans and Southern Democrats joined forces against the move to bring the bill before the House.

Michigan Democrats voting for the bill were John Conyers Jr., Charles C. Diggs Jr., John D. Dingell, Billie S. Farnum, William D. Ford, Martha W. Griffiths, John C. Mackie, Lucien N. Nedzi, James G. O'Hara, Paul H. Todd Jr. and Weston Vivian.

Another Democrat, Raymond F. Clevenger, did not vote but was paired for the motion.

★ ★ ★

U. S. House Minority Leader Gerald Ford voted against considering the bill as did GOP Michigan Congressmen Edward Hutchinson, Charles E. Chamberlain, Elford A. Cederberg and William S. Broomfield.

Michigan normally has 19 congressmen but there now is one vacancy caused by the appointment of former GOP Rep. Robert Griffin as U. S. senator to replace the late Democratic Sen. Patrick C. McNamara.

Sicilians Hit Nine Suspected Mafioso

TRAPANI, Sicily (AP) — Five Sicilians suspected of membership in the Mafia were arrested today and four others were ordered into supervised exile in other parts of Italy.

The Italian government is campaigning to wipe out the secret crime society in its breeding ground, western Sicily.

★ ★ ★

Authorities said the five arrested today were believed to be key figures in the Trapani branch of the Mafia. They were also expected to be put under police supervision outside Sicily, the usual means of controlling Mafia suspects when officials lack sufficient evidence for a criminal conviction.

BB, Spouse in Mexico

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI) — French actress Brigitte Bardot and her German husband Gunther Sachs Von Opel arrived here yesterday from Tahiti on the second stage of their honeymoon. They were staying in the Spanish-style hilltop mansion of Omaha (Neb.) businessman Carl Renstrom.

Southern Dems Battle Rights Bill in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House plunges into a second day of discussion on the civil rights bill today with southern Democrats vowing to do all in their power to delay a final vote.

★ ★ ★

The opponents' quickly unfurled their delaying tactics Monday when the House opened consideration of the compromise legislation. House leaders said they hoped to reach a final vote by the end of the week, but they weren't optimistic. Numerous amendments are pending.

The bill reached the House floor via a new rule which limits to 21 days the time the House Rules Committee can delay legislation approved by other committees. The motion to bypass the Rules Committee carried by a 200-180 vote, with 180 Democrats and 20 Republicans supporting it and 75 Democrats and 105 Republicans against it.

★ ★ ★

That was sufficient indication that more trouble lay ahead, since some members who voted for consideration may vote against the bill if it isn't changed to their liking.

HOUSING PROVISION

The most controversial provision is aimed at prohibiting discrimination in the sale or rental of housing. It is directed primarily at real estate agents and builders and wouldn't affect home owners who have fewer than two real estate transactions in one year.

The bill deals also with state and federal jury selection, and it prohibits interference with Negroes trying to vote, go to school, use public transportation or take part in legal demonstrations.

★ ★ ★

Opponents started dilatory tactics by demanding time-consuming roll calls to keep the necessary 100 members in the chamber. The roll calls are automatic when attendance drops below 100 and a member objects.

The first nylon product marketed on a large scale in this nation was toothbrushes with nylon bristles in 1938.

Women Have Place in Labor Force

Sarah Cunningham Leads

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hazel-eyed brunette who thinks "women aren't content to sit home idle and twiddle their thumbs" is the new president of the 178,000-member National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

She is Sarah Jane Cunningham of McCook, Neb., and she does almost everything but sit at home.

At 6 a.m., she tees off for nine holes of golf.

★ ★ ★

By 9 a.m., she's in her law office handling business.

Once a month, she flies to Washington to confer with congressmen and her national federation office.

She was first chairman, now a member, of the Nebraska Commission on the Status of Women.

★ ★ ★

Her installation as federation president is scheduled for Thursday at the group's convention in Atlanta, Ga. The installing officer, Hazel Palmer of Sedalia, Mo., has a special kinship with Miss Cunningham.

As a former BPW president, Miss Palmer encouraged Sarah Cunningham to give up her business career and go back to school and study law.

"Without her encouragement and help, I'm sure I wouldn't have done it," Miss Cunningham says.

Sally, as friends call her, had taught school eight years and was in private business when she returned to the University of Nebraska for her LL. B. degree.

LOVES HER WORK

"I've never been happier. I love my law practice," she says.

Sally Cunningham was born in Des Moines, Ia., daughter of a lawyer, Paul Cunningham, who served in the U. S. House for 18 years, until 1958.

The political world sticks with her, although she insists — with a twinkle in her eye — she won't run for office herself. She's been active in Republican politics in Nebraska.

★ ★ ★

She's impressed that women can accomplish so much.

Labor department statistics say every high school girl in the country today will spend 25 years in the labor force, whether she marries or not.

"I think we have an obligation to these young women," Miss Cunningham says. The BPW plans to start clubs in high schools and colleges throughout the country next year to offer professional advice to girls interested in their professions.

"The standard jobs for a woman are a teacher, nurse or secretary," she says. "If a girl wants to be a lawyer, she's discouraged. She shouldn't be.

★ ★ ★

"If she wants to be a doctor, we'll have one of our doctor members encourage her.

"Our organization — made up of women working full time in professions and business — is uniquely suited to helping young women.

"Women are more than half the population. There are not enough men to fill the jobs.

"Automation doesn't tie a woman to the home anymore — and most important, women have a great deal to offer to their communities and chosen professions."

Miss Cunningham is not a feminist. She expresses this feeling:

★ ★ ★

"We don't support a woman just because she's a woman — in anything. We support her because she's qualified to do her job, to offer her services in a chosen field."

MISS CUNNINGHAM

Job Status Due Women

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The chairman of the U.S. Civil Service Commission has told the nation's largest meeting of career women that outmoded attitudes about women employes must be changed.

★ ★ ★

"There must be a realization that equal employment opportunity for women is not a favor to women but an economic necessity," John W. Macy Jr. said Monday at the annual Top Hat awards banquet of the National Business and Professional Women's Clubs convention.

Women from the area attending the BPW convention are Mrs. Lucinda H. Wyckoff of Newberry Street, president of the local group; Rosamond Haeberle, West Huron Street, and Helen Kinney and Mabel Smith, both of Lacota Road.

ONE-THIRD WORKERS

Macy, noting that women make up one-third of the nation's labor force, said, "The fact is that high levels of economic activity we now enjoy cannot be maintained without the extensive employment of women, both in government and in industry."

He said there is a shortage of women in science and education, a problem that could affect the economy.

★ ★ ★

"It is a sad fact," the commission chairman said, "that while opportunities for women are increasing in private as well as public employment, and traditional barriers are crumbling, we are finding very few women in many professions and occupations and very few being educated in them."

FATHERS TO BLAME

"Fathers, in particular, need to abandon the assumption their daughters really cannot learn math, or that it is not quite feminine to major in physics or chemistry, or that the engineering degree is strictly a male degree," Macy said.

He said too many women assume marriage will permanently end their participation in the labor force.

★ ★ ★

Macy said the Johnson administration has set a goal of placing many more women in supervisory federal jobs. He said more than 3,500 women were promoted to federal jobs paying $10,600 or more in 1964 and 1965.

WOMEN'S SECTION

UF Board Adds Five to Roster

The Women's Division of the Pontiac Area United Fund has increased its board membership to 20 with the appointment of five new members, according to Mrs. Merrell Petrie, Women's Division Chairman.

In addition, new activities of the Women's Division are being planned for fall to implement current programs.

★ ★ ★

New members of the board are: Mrs. Glenn Griffin, Mrs. Joseph A. Warren, Mrs. William J. Emerson, Mrs. Richard L. Jorgensen and Mrs. Charles Ross.

The board is set up to supplement the educational work of the Pontiac Area United Fund and to coordinate the general activities of women interested in the volunteer service programs offered through the division, Mrs. Petrie stated.

"New programs will enlarge upon the informational and educational aspects of our volunteer program. We hope to provide opportunities for the women in our community to learn more about the agency services available, current developments in therapy techniques and research in the field of health and rehabilitation, as well as opportunities for volunteer service.

★ ★ ★

Committees of the Women's Division in 1965 were Speaker's Bureau, Campaign, Motor Aide, Tribute Fund, Annual Volunteer Awards Tea and Friendly Visitors.

The Friendly Visitors Program has recently been placed under the auspices of the YWCA.

Romantic cultured pearls accented with diamonds are a classic favorite this fall, reports the Jewelry Industry Council. The double stranded necklace has a plain clasp that is given a blaze of brilliance by a diamond studded pin which may be worn separately, and the stationary clasp on the triple stranded bracelet is meant to mix and match. Diamonds flank the large pearl in the ring, while a single marquise diamond hangs suspended between two pearls in the earrings.

Ever-Popular Pearls Worn in Many Ways

A recent survey made by Imperial Pearl Syndicate included research into the picture files of newspapers and magazines in order to determine whether there was a definite trend emerging in the lengths and ways in which women were wearing their pearls.

After spending some weeks checking and evaluating their material, Imperial found that by actual count more younger women favored the double matinee and the double choker necklace.

Older women were bringing back into fashion the five-strand dog collar as well as the many-strand pearl necklace interlaced with color.

★ ★ ★

One of the most striking facts that came out of the survey was the number of women who make news, who were photographed almost daily and who wore pearls with every costume.

Mrs. Lyndon Johnson and Princess Margaret of Great Britain seem to have pearl necklaces of all lengths and sizes and to prefer them almost to the exclusion of other jewelry.

Royalty rarely appears in public during the daylight hours without pearl necklaces and earrings. Crown Princess Beatrix of Holland wore them in bracelets and rings as well, in all the photographs preceding and including her wedding.

★ ★ ★

Her mother, Queen Juliana, favors large pearl earrings and heavy triple-stand necklaces during the day.

The Queen of Iran and the Maharanee of Jaipur wear rubies and emeralds intermingled with single pearl strands.

★ ★ ★

A series of photographs taken of Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain, from her first dress-up party at 15 to the present day, shows her penchant for pearls.

She invariably wears a single-strand necklace with the suits and tailored clothes she wears at home and in the country, with double and triple strands on more formal daytime occasions.

★ ★ ★

The ladies of the royal family of Morocco wear pearls for every portrait.

Jacqueline Kennedy favors a double choker length for many costumes and she has been photographed innumerable times this way.

CONVERSATION JEWELRY

Theater, movie and television personalities have a flair for designing pearl pieces that will be conversation pieces. Kitty Carlisle wears a succession of beautifully designed necklaces that almost invariably feature pearls.

Her necklines have unusual interest and since she appears on television sitting at a table the effect is not only one of great elegance but also so eye-catching that the audience is drawn to her.

★ ★ ★

Barbra Streisand seems to wear her double strand opera length pearls with slacks as well as dresses according to the photographs unearthed in the Imperial survey.

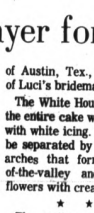
Romy Schneider, the movie star, likes long ropes on Chanel suits, and Leontyne Price, the opera star, wears pearls almost all the time.

She has magnificent long, long pearl earrings which she wore at the closing gala of the Metropolitan Opera House.

Is It Poetic Justice When Mosquito Puts Bite On Her?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How come when my husband and I sit outside together, the mosquitoes go right after me, but they leave him entirely alone? My husband says it is a fact that mosquitoes prefer women to men. Is that so?



ABBY

I once heard that the worse a person smells, the safer from mosquitoes he is. Now that makes more sense to me. If you can find out anything about how mosquitoes go about selecting their victims please clue me in.

MOSQUITO-BITTEN

DEAR BITTEN: While it is said that gentlemen prefer blondes, mosquitoes prefer brunettes! And they aren't fussy about the sex. But only the female mosquito bites, so if more women than men are victims, it's poetic justice.

Mosquitoes are attracted to strong odors — good and bad, so we must infer that a lady who drenches herself in sweet-smelling perfume is no "safer" from mosquitoes than the nonbathing onion-eater.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband has had a very close friend for years. They golf, fish, and hunt together. At a bridge party recently, one of the ladies said that this man cheated on his wife. I didn't believe it, so I asked my husband if he knew anything about it. He said, yes, he knew all about it.

Abby, I was so hurt that my husband could have a friend like that. We have had many bitter words about it. Am I wrong to expect my husband to give up his friendship with a man like this?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Yes. The man may have other qualities your husband finds worthy of his friendship. Judge not a man until you have walked for at least twenty miles in his moccasins.

★ ★ ★

Problems? Write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Chocolate Layer for Luci

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Luci Johnson has picked her wedding cake — and it's a whopper.

The cake, to be whipped up by White House pastry chef Ferdinand Louvat next week, will be a seven-layer, 300-pound creation, topped not by the customary wedding bell or little bride and groom dolls, but by real live lilies-of-the-valley.

FRUIT, CHOCOLATE

The gigantic base will be white fruit cake, capped by a small bride's cake of Luci's favorite flavor, chocolate. The recipe for the chocolate cake came from Mrs. Roy Folk Beal of Austin, Tex., mother of one of Luci's bridemaids.

The White House said Monday the entire cake would be covered with white icing. Each layer will be separated by a tier of sugar arches that form sugar lilies-of-the-valley and small white flowers with cream centers.

★ ★ ★

The entire masterpiece will be decorated with sugar swans, white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Chef Louvat already has begun baking small wedding cake favors to be given to the guests. Each will be placed in a heart-shaped box, covered in white satin and bearing the gold initials of the two principals — "LBJ" (for Luci Baines Johnson and "PJN" (for Patrick Joseph Nugent).

In making public details of the cake, the White House inadvertently identified for the first time one of the 400 guests invited to the Aug. 6 ceremony at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception.

ARTHUR GODFREY

The radio and television personality Arthur Godfrey, is an old friend of the Johnsons since the days when he was a Washington disk jockey. He had lunch with the President and Mrs. Johnson and Luci Monday before leaving for an entertainment tour of Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Presidential press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Godfrey wanted to "give his best wishes to Luci." In a gallery of family photographs on the second floor of the LBJ ranch house in Texas, there is a picture of Godfrey with Luci, then a little girl, on his lap.

AP Wirephoto

Paris designer Jacques Esterel opened the fall and winter fashions showings in a suburb of Paris Monday by displaying skirts both long and small. He also showed his new hairstyle called the "Cup and Ball Line."

AP Wirephoto

Ferdinand Louvat, pastry chef at the White House, fashions decorations for Luci Johnson's wedding cake. The White House today released this picture of the cake of seven layers—a summer fruit cake. The entire cake will be iced in white fondant which serves as a backdrop for decorations of sugar swans, roses, lilies-of-the-valley and topped with a small bride's cake of chocolate.

Birker-Phipps Vows Said

Vows were taken by Wanda Dorothea Phipps and Richard Lee Birker in a recent candlelight service in St. Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. William O. Phipps of Jamm Road, Orion Township and the Fred Birkers of Loon Lake Shores.

Rose point pattern Chantilly lace and tulle fashioned the bride's bouffant gown worn with tulle veil and small tiara. Pink carnations centered her cascade bouquet of white carnations and ivy.

Mrs. Douglas Tillery was honor matron with bridesmaid, Kathy Phipps. Kelly Birker and Donald Marshall were flower girl and ring-bearer.

With Donald Stockwell, best man, were the ushers, Timothy and Steven Phipps, and Robert Birker.

Cowboys Enjoy Simple Game

As a center piece for a boy's party with a cowboy theme, paint a ham can white with a black spot or two and then paint a steer face on the front.

Glue on black paper ears. Stand erect with small part of can down. Or stick wooden dowels where ears should go, mount on a side table and let youngsters toss jar rings over dowels.

Afraid of Facing Old Age

Holding On to Youth

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z-479: Earl and Pearl, aged 48, have 4 grandchildren.

"But, Dr. Crane," their daughter - in - law protests, "they refuse to let our children call them Grandma and Grandpa.

"Instead, they insist that the youngsters address them as 'Earl' and 'Pearl'.

"But we don't let them call us by our first names.

"And I think it is wrong to allow children to be so familiar with the older generation as to use their first names.

"What does modern psychology say about this?"

SCARED OLDSTERS

Why should oldsters like Earl and Pearl be so obsessed with a desire to have toddlers call them by their first names?

Obviously, there are many adults in America who are scared about old age.

So they strive to hang on desperately to all symbols of their past youth.

This explains their dread of the word "grandparents."

In the military service, however, we insist that distinctions be observed, based on higher rank.

A general or colonel thus does not let the privates call him by first name or omit the salute when they meet on the street.

For it is psychologically desirable to maintain respect for more experienced older folks!

One of the reasons for the rise in juvenile delinquency and disrespect for law, is rooted in this vicious tendency to treat everybody as "equal."

We are not all equal, either in health, strength, I. Q., moral integrity, education or earning capacity.

Respect for our elders is a wholesome trait that should be instilled early.

Obviously, not all greyheads are superior to the younger generation in experience or merit.

But children should be taught reasonable deference to their elders until the latter have at least disproved their right to such respect.

In law we take the motto that a man is innocent till proved guilty.

By the same token, any oldster should remain in that oldster bracket and try to maintain the respect for his category.

Many older men foolishly try to "show off" their strength in competition with the younger generation. This is stupid.

For most men after the age of 30 cannot expect to equal men of 20, and it jeopardizes their heart to do so.

So make it an inexorable rule to teach children respect for authority, which starts by respecting the older generation.

Have your youngsters address adult neighbors and the older friends of their parents with "uncle" or "aunt," simply as a salutation of honor for the older generation.

★ ★ ★

And don't advertise your panic about growing old by having your children (or grandchildren) call you by your first names!

Send for my 200-point "Rating Scale for Good Parents," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents and learn the rules of the game!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Mrs. Richard Sullivan of Provincetown Road and Clyde Green Jr. of Farmington announce the engagement of their daughter, Cheryl Ann Green, to William J. Pote, son of the Craig M. Potes of Eastwood Street. A Nov. 5 wedding date has been set by the couple.

Out-of-Doors Gets Decorating Touch

With patio barbecues and outdoor entertaining now an American tradition, imaginative home decorating is moving out-of-doors. Patios and poolsides are blossoming with wonderful and colorful floral prints. They are even vibrating with pop and op.

BOLD COLORS

The decorating oriented housewife, aware of the magic effect of prints in her home, applies her knowledge to outdoor decorating with gusto. Stimulated by nature's lively colors and designs, she uses prints that are bold and eye-catching.

Back yards, patios and poolsides are being perked up with printed fabrics. And, it's no surprise since the imaginative use of prints has proven to be one of the most effective and efficient ways to transform an area from dull to dramatic.

According to the American Printed Fabrics Council, Inc. the range of prints available on a heavy duty outdoor fabric is inspiring. Florals include just about every botanical species known to scientists as well as the designer created variety.

One of the most effective decorating treatments is to use one fabric in several different places — such as seats, awnings and sun shades all in the same print.

In the back yard shown in the photograph, the same print was used to cover a redwood chaise and create a striking and practical awning, a boon to the sun-shy.

The print has a delightful garden effect, combining several floral forms and colors. It is available with a vinyl waterproof finish.

A waterproof fringe from Conso Products, Inc. adds a finishing touch to the scalloped edge of the awning.

COORDINATED

Another idea repeats the print used for chairs for a table cover or placemats. Or for a more adventuresome approach, two or three different prints can be combined in one area.

For example, a floral can be combined with a stripe or dot print in related colors . . . using one for seating and another for umbrella and placemats.

An extremely interesting effect can be gained by lining one print fabric with another. Then, simply by flipping a table cover or reversing a seat cover the look can be changed.

Applying the same idea, a light colored print can be used on the top side of an umbrella to cut down the heat absorption and a dark colored print on the underside to cut down the glare.

Another outdoor decorating idea is to select a floral fabric which repeats the flowers in the area.

In fact the fabric can be changed with the flowers through the season by using removeable slip covers.

Vinyl Tiles

Vinyl tiles are becoming more and more realistic, with textures that resemble ancient paving, bricks, marble, mosaic, cobblestones — even leather. Tiled walls, floors, or ceilings are often easy to install, and are always easy to keep clean with soap or detergent suds.

Picture-and-frame variety add color and interest to this living room, according to the Picture and Frame Institute. The natural wood frame on the still life at the left matches the bench below. Colors in the landscape next to it are repeated by the burlap mat and gilded frame, while a simple, smooth black frame highlights the black of the abstract horse in the third picture. The delicacy of the flowers in the picture at the right is repeated by a velvet mat and carved frame. Together, the two longer flower pictures "frame" the entire grouping.

Mix and Match Your Art

Mix and match pictures and frames. Combine landscapes with still life, realistic pictures with abstractions. Frame them with or without mats. Frame them wide or narrow, traditional or modern.

It's perfectly acceptable — and esthetically pleasing — to include different kinds of pictures in the same grouping, according to the Picture and Frame Institute, which advocates personal preference as the best guide for selecting pictures and frames for your home.

★ ★ ★

Choose original art or reproductions which appeal to you. Pictures reflecting various degrees of realism, ranging from traditional portraits by Dutch masters to contemporary op art, can be hung together in a single grouping so long as they blend with the room's decor and reflect your tastes and interests.

Similarly, still lifes, landscapes, or portraits can be used in a single grouping.

KINDS OF FRAMES

Frames can generally be classified in three broad categories — traditional, provincial, and modern. The choice of frame depends on the style of picture, the room setting, and, again, your personal preference.

Mats make a small picture larger and lead the eye gradually from the frame to the picture itself. Together the frame and mat are a border that should add perspective and importance to the picture.

It's also acceptable to omit a mat altogether or to use a mat in a special color or texture to blend with the picture, frame, or room setting.

Experiment by arranging the pictures on the floor before actually hanging the grouping. Favorite pictures, framed to suit the picture, the setting, and you, combine in a grouping to add an eye-pleasing decorating accent to your home.

A Bigger Need for Incinerator?

NEENAH, Wis. (AP) — If use of paper in the kitchen is any indication, the washing machine in the future may well be replaced by the incinerator.

By 1975, a corporation predicts, the American housewife will nearly double her expenditures for paper towels and napkins from her present spending rate of $348 million annually to $740 million.

Goose Step Led to Dog's Life

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP) — Mrs. George Voth Jr., her four sons and several passers-by joined in chasing a grey goose which waddled across her yard.

They captured the goose and then stored it in an abandoned dog house while they decided its fate. But a check with a local zoo revealed their catch as a barnacle goose which is federally protected.

★ ★ ★

MRS. J. W. CAMPBELL

★ ★ ★

A flowered pillbox held her silk illusion veil. Her bouquet of pink roses, rosebuds and white carnations was arranged in a curve.

Carolyn Lauer was her sister's honor maid with bridesmaids Carrie Wiles and Mrs. Raymond Davis.

Charles Campbell stood as his brother's best man. They are the sons of the J. B. Campbells of Cantonment, Fla. Milan Young and Larry Reick, attending as groomsmen, seated guests with Fred Lauer.

The bride's mother hosted a buffet dinner and reception in her home following the double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Maurice Shackell.

The bridegroom is stationed at Fort Riley, Kan.

Law Decreed a Bedtime Bath

An early Massachusetts law decrees that people must take a bath before going to bed. This may have possibly stemmed from the desire of innkeepers to keep their limited supply of bed linen clean, so it would not need to be changed for each new guest.

Today — when sheets and pillow cases are easily laundered in automatic washers and dryers — a warm, relaxing, sudsy bath before bedtime still helps to induce restful sleep.

A Junior Editors Quiz About MERMAIDS

QUESTION: Were there really such things as mermaids?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The old sailing ships were very slow. Voyages were often of long duration, and old time seamen had plenty of time to be impressed with the mystery of the sea and to imagine things, many of which had no substance in fact.

One legend concerned mermaids, which the sailors' imaginations pictured as graceful beings, half girl and half fish.

They were supposed to sit on sand or rock, combing their long golden hair and attracting mortal men by their singing.

In Greek mythology, there were three sea nymphs called the Sirens who also attracted passing ships by their singing.

If one came too close to a mermaid, the legend said, she would slip a magical cap over your head and you would have to live in the sea with her thereafter.

There are certain sea animals which may have suggested the mermaid idea to imaginative seamen.

One is the seal, with a head somewhat resembling that of a human being.

Another, the dugong, has a habit of standing upright in shallow water which makes it look like a human, if seen from a long way off.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the picture, giving the mermaids their golden yellow hair. Their fishes' tails might be sea green.

Shrouded in Mystery

'Yank in Shock After Escape'

SAIGON (UPI)—The first American to escape from a North Vietnamese prison was incoherent and near tears when rescued, a witness to his return reported yesterday.

Watching from hiding while Communist soldiers beheaded a companion, the escapee went into shock, it was learned.

The mysterious U. S. Navy airman — on whose daring escape story there is still an official veil of secrecy — became America's newest hero with the announcement here Saturday that he had broken out of Communist imprisonment and fled successfully through North Viet Nam jungles.

United States military sources have declined to reveal the entire story of the escape. But from a number of sources, the following account has been obtained.

★ ★ ★

The Navy pilot was shot down last February. He had been held in a prison camp in North Viet Nam.

LOST WEIGHT

He lost more than 40 pounds, suffering from malnutrition on a skimpy diet consisting mostly of plain rice.

He and another American managed to break away from their captors.

They struggled through jungles and rice fields southward toward freedom, moving mostly at night.

They were pursued. In the final days, Communist soldiers caught up with them.

★ ★ ★

The pilot who was rescued managed to hide. His companion was caught.

EXECUTED

While the Navy pilot watched from concealment, the soldiers beheaded the caught American with a two-handed sword.

The Navy pilot went into a state of shock. But he managed to stay in hiding until it was safe to begin again working his way south.

★ ★ ★

On the 23rd day out, about three days after his companion was summarily executed, a group of American Skyraiders in one of the freak chances of war, noticed a man on the ground waving a white cloth and an "SOS" laid out on the ground in stones. About 90 minutes later he was rescued by a helicopter.

In 1966 nearly 30,000 electronic computers, worth about $8 billion, are at work in the United States.

Mart Loses Some Strength

NEW YORK (AP) — A rally by leading issues in active trading carried the stock market higher early this afternoon.

But there were more declines than advances in the general list.

The recovery movement from yesterday's worst loss since the assassination of President Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, lost some of its strength around midday.

Brokers analyzing the setback said they considered it largely technical since there were no new developments to influence the market.

★ ★ ★

Gains of key issues today ranged from fractions to a point or so.

RECOVERY MOVE

The aircrafts, electronics and airlines, which suffered heavy losses yesterday, made a recovery move. United Aircraft, Boeing, Zenith, Raytheon, Pan American World Airways, United Air Lines and Eastern Air Lines gained more than a point.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had gained .9 to 309.1 with industrials up 1.5, rails up .6 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 4.24 to 857.07.

General Motors and Ford Motor advanced about half a point and Chrysler and American Motors were ahead by lesser fractions.

Sound of Ketchup

Hitchcock Has Private Terror

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — As a lifelong dealer in nightmares, Alfred Hitchcock has a private terror of his own.

It isn't the sight of blood. It's the sound of ketchup.

BOYLE

"I want you to take this down carefully because it is of the utmost significance," said the portly master of filmed suspense as he forked the slender lamb chop huddled like a victim on his luncheon plate.

"The reason I hate ketchup is that it is connected with the most unpleasant sound in the world—the sound of a hand smashing the bottom of a ketchup bottle.

RED GOO

"As a result of this sound, some horrible looking red goo slowly emerges from the neck of the bottle and lays itself over some perfectly innocent french fried potatoes, which never harmed anyone in their life."

Work, wine and food make up the wonderful world of Alfred Hitchcock, and he loves to discourse amiably about all three. One of his favorite dinners was an all-blue meal he threw as a practical joke for the late Gertrude Lawrence.

* * *

"I served blue soup, blue bread, blue trout, blue chicken and blue ice cream," he recalled fondly. "It was quite a success."

He has a private wine cellar of 4,000 bottles, including some going back to 1890 for which he has been offered $100 a bottle by other connoisseurs. He uncorks them sparingly because, as usual, he is having waistline trouble.

WEIGHT PROBLEM

His weight, which has varied from 190 to 290, now hovers around 218.

"I've lost about 500 pounds as a round figure in my time," hre said cheerfully.

"I believe that the real trouble with people like me is that we simply have too much placid a temperament. We have insufficient internal jitters to burn up our food and drink.

"That's very healthy and should mean a long life." He reached over and knocked his knuckles on the wooden paneling. "It's better not to worry about unnecessary things."

NEVER SHOOTS

The director is famed for his equanimity. Methodically, he sketches his scenes in advance, never raises his voice or bothers to look through a camera on set. Of temperamental directors he remarked drily: "All their drama is on the set and none on the screen."

This is a golden year for "Hitch," and filmdom is helping him celebrate it. It marks the completion of his 50th motion picture.

Hitchcock started as a $3.50 advertising layout artist for a London department store. His first job in the movies was writing titles in silent films. The first one he directed was "The Pleasure Garden," made in Munich in 1925.

"I've been through a lot of famous titles since then," he remarked. He turned out England's first all-talking picture, in 1929, and became a top figure in Hollywood in 1939 with his first American-made film, "Rebecca."

AVOID CLICHES

"The big problem is to avoid cliches," he said. "I enjoy most of all making my films on paper ahead of time. I know them by heart before I ever go to the studio.

"To me the language of the camera is the important thing. I believe a real artist could make an interesting picture in a phone booth."

If he ever tries this, it may pose a difficulty. One of his customs is to play a bit role in each of his pictures, and if "Hitch" gets into that phone booth himself there won't be any room left for the hero or heroine in the scene.

By JACOBY AND SON

Take a look at the North and South hands only and plan your play at four spades. West opens the king of clubs and shifts to the jack of diamonds. Needless to say you win in dummy. What do you do next?

JACOBY

If you are the ordinary good player you will check the hand and see one loser in each suit except hearts and a potential heart loser if the finesse for the king doesn't work.

You lead a trump first in order to get rid of the enemy's trumps and eventually you will take the heart finesse. It will lose and you will charge another loss to bad luck.

An expert will study the hand a trifle further. He sees the possibility of setting up a club trick in dummy but will know there is nothing to be gained that way. Then he will take a long look at his nine of hearts and note the possibility of taking a deep sea finesse against the jack and ten.

He doesn't expect this to work, but it may. There is one chance in four that East will hold both those cards.

What can the play cost him? Give East the king and West either the jack or ten. The simple finesse will work and give him his contract.

He will also make his contract with the deep sea finesse because he will take the simple finesse next, and if it works he will have lost a heart trick but he will have traded it for a diamond trick since he can discard dummy's small diamond on the ace of hearts.

He can lose something. If the deep sea finesse loses to the jack or ten and the simple finesse to the king, West will cash a diamond trick and set South two tricks instead of one. An expert will risk an extra trick set to make a contract so South tries the deep sea and catches his fish.

Monkeys Show Delayed Fear

By Science Service

MADISON, Wis.—Two-month-old monkeys cowering in their cages in fright have revealed something about the nervous system.

The same photograph which sent them into paroxysms of fear at two months of age did not bother them at all when they were younger.

The implication, said Dr. Gene P. Sackett of the University of Wisconsin's Primate Center in Madison, is that fear depends on some maturation of the nervous system.

It is an inborn response, but does not emerge until some weeks after birth.

Dr. Sackett proved his point by raising rhesus monkeys — a highly developed primate — in isolation.

At no time did they have an opportunity to learn that another monkey with his teeth in a grimace, his ears flattened, and his hair on end could hurt them.

Nevertheless when, at two months of age, they saw a picture of just such an angry monkey projected on a wall, they curled up and rocked in fear.

The picture itself could not have been the cause of fear, since the monkeys had been seeing slides from the time they were 12 days old.

Fear disappeared after three weeks to a month, said Dr. Sackett, when the monkeys learned the picture would not actually hurt them.

Dr. Sackett concludes there must be a "complex, built-in recognition system," for specific visual patterns — the grimace, flat ears and so forth — which comes to maturity some time after birth.

Bar Owner Wins Charge Dismissal

DETROIT (AP) — Bar owner Steve Demoff won an order to dismiss contempt of court charges against him Monday by appearing voluntarily before grand juror Edward S. Piggins.

★ ★ ★

Piggins, investigating alleged crime in Wayne County, said testimony by the owner of Jumbo's Bar "corrects the previous record." Demoff had been accused of giving false and evasive answers to questions about alleged bribe-taking by Detroit policemen.

Piggins said he would "consider it a possibility" that 17 policemen under indictment for perjury could clear themselves by reappearing before the grand juror.

MISSION TO MOSCOW — U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, tells a welcoming crowd in Moscow yesterday that he will discuss with Russian leaders ways of lessening international tensions. Midget Racer Kills 2, Hurts 7 at Ohio Fair

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP) — The annual Putnam County Fair ended Monday night with screams and near-panic when a midget racing car crashed a fence, killing two teen-age spectators and injuring at least seven other persons.

Thousands were at the fairgrounds race track when the accident occurred as the final night of the six-day fair drew toward a close.

★ ★ ★

The racer driven by Jan Heely of Battle Creek, Mich., attempting to avoid another car that had skidded, rammed the fence.

Charles Horstman, 19, was killed instantly. He suffered a skull fracture. Gary D. Burden, 18, was dead on arrival at a Lima hospital.

ANOTHER SEVEN

Another seven persons were taken to St. Rita's Hospital in Lima, 20 miles away. Five were admitted, one in serious condition.

Heely was among them, with head and facial injuries.

★ ★ ★

Witnesses said one of the youths killed had been sitting atop concrete enclosing a men's rest room but jumped down into the car's path as it slammed into a section where spectators were standing about 250 feet south of the filled grandstand.

★ ★ ★

The other victim was rolled up in the woven-wire fence as the runaway car tore down some 100 feet off it before going on through and hitting a power pole.

★ ★ ★

Thant, Red Likely to Discuss Viet

MOSCOW (AP) — U.N. Secretary General U Thant opened talks with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in the Kremlin today. The talks were expected to center on the war in Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

A Soviet announcement said the talks were held in a warm and friendly atmosphere. The announcement said questions of United Nations activity and some problems of the international situation were discussed. It did not elaborate.

★ ★ ★

Thant, who arrived Monday, also was expected to sound out Soviet leaders on whether they think he should serve a second term as secretary general.

Thant's first five-year term expires Nov. 3. He has promised to decide by September whether he will seek a second term. If he decides to continue in office, he will need the support of all five permanent members of the Security Council, including the Soviet Union.

3-POINT PROGRAM

Thant's three-point program for Viet Nam calls for an end to U. S. bombing of North Viet Nam, reduction of military operations on all sides and talks by all parties concerned.

The Soviets favor the first point but have not endorsed the second two.

★ ★ ★

During his four-day stay Thant is also expected to see Soviet Communist chief Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Thant's meetings with Kosygin and Brezhnev are his first since the pair succeeded Nikita S. Khrushchev in October 1964. Thant was last here in July 1964 when he failed to budge Khrushchev on the Soviet Union's refusal to pay back assessments on U.N. peace-keeping costs.

Stock Sale OK'd

LANSING (AP) — Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. received state permission Monday to issue and sell up to 400,000 shares of common stock to key employes. The Michigan Public Service Commission said 247,000 shares have been optioned for sale to 249 key employes of the company and its subsidiaries.

In Cleveland

Rioting Investigated

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A grand jury opens an investigation today of the riots and fire bombing that caused widespread damage and left four persons dead in Negro slums on Cleveland's East Side last week.

Mayor Ralph S. Locher and Maj. Gen. Erwin Hostetler, Ohio National Guard commander, set another meeting to review the situation and decide whether to reduce the force of 1,750 guardsmen who, with police, continue to patrol the Hough area and adjacent districts.

★ ★ ★

In calling the special grand jury session Monday, Common Pleas Court Judge Thomas J. Parrino said: "The seeds of these riotous acts are found in grave social injustice. Poverty produces enormous frustration. Violence, however, does not remedy any problem. It cannot be condoned."

He said the grand jury, whose foreman is Louis B. Seltzer, former editor of the Cleveland Press, will seek to find the immediate cause of the violence, suggest remedies to community problems and take "appropriate action where evidence of unlawful acts is discovered."

PROBE KILLINGS

The jurors are expected to turn their attention to the shootings which killed four Negroes.

Police said two white men charged in one shooting were members of a Murray Hill vigilante group formed because of fear that rioters might invade the area. Murray Hill is an Italian-American neighborhood several blocks southeast of Hough. University Circle lies between the two districts.

★ ★ ★

Charged with second-degree murder were Patsy Sabetta, 21, and Warren La Riche, 28, both residents of the district. They were charged in the fatal shotgun shooting early Saturday of Benoris Toney, 29, in a parking lot. Toney was in his car when he was shot.

Sabetta and La Riche were held for the grand jury on $5,000 bond each.

No arrests have been made in the other three fatal shootings.

Flood Toll 59 as Heavy Rains Pound S. Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Torrential rains continued to pound South Korea today, bringing 12 more flood deaths and raising the toll since July 15 to 59. The National Flood Committee said 16 other persons were missing and 68 had been injured.

★ ★ ★

Weathermen predicted the rains would continue until the end of the month.

U. S. Army men evacuated more than 5,000 Koreans stranded in the Seoul area. More than 30,000 persons in the area were driven from their homes.

WW II History Is Enlivened in Ryan's 'The Last Battle'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "There's no reason history should be dull," says Cornelius Ryan, who has done as much as anyone to enliven the history of World War II.

THOMAS

Ryan is a ruddy - faced, voluble Irishman whose account of the invasion of Normandy, "The Longest Day," was an enormous success as a book and movie. Now an American citizen, he is hard at work converting his latest best-seller, "The Last Battle," into a screen play. The saga concerns the fall of Berlin and the end of the war.

* * *

"This is an enormous job," the author said as he surveyed the charts, photos and outlines that fill tables and walls of three MGM offices. "Right now I'm working with the producer, George Englund, to narrow down the story to a reasonable number of characters.

"A few stand out—the generals, Hitler, the milkman who continued his route as the city was falling, the zookeeper who tried to save the animals, etc. But how do you decide about the others?"

3,000 PERSONS

Ryan and his researchers contacted 3,000 persons during the eight-year preparation of "The Last Battle." The nature of the events makes the film a much more complicated story than "The Longest Day," for which Ryan also wrote the script.

"There you had an immense operation," said Ryan, "but it was centralized on one military maneuver. In 'The Last Battle' you have the whole arena of human tragedy and even insanity, as in the case of Hitler, who was dispatching orders to phantom armies that didn't exist.

* * *

"You have vast forces in the story — the Russians advancing from the east and the Allies from the west, plus the remnants of the German army. You also have the civilian population of a great city that was being crushed to the ground, plus the political aspects of the heads of state. It is an enormous panorama."

Ryan's technique of telling recent history in human terms has been widely copied but seldom with equal success. His skill comes from 25 years as a journalist, plus the fact that he is Irish.

STORY TELLERS

"The Irish are story tellers," he said. "I'm not a great writer, but I do think I'm a skilled technician. I know how to combine a vast amount of material into a dramatic context.

"The greatest satisfactiop I get is in making World War II come alive for those who hadn't been born when it was going on. I'm tickled pink when I get letters from kids who have read my books and say, 'So that's how it was!'"

Yanks Airlifted in Congo Strife

KINSHASA, Leopoldville, the Congo (AP) — U. S. citizens have been airlifted at their request from Kisangani, Stanleyville, where Katangan forces and white mercenaries have rebelled.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman said about 20 Americans have been flown out. He stressed that the situation was not necessarily critical.

* * *

"We have merely told our citizens that if they want to leave town, they could do so by boarding these planes," he said. "This is in fact a routine operation."

About 10 Congolese soldiers were reported killed in the rebellion, which Radio Kinshasa and the newspaper Le Progres blamed on foreign interests.

* * *

They charged that outside elements had goaded Katangan members of the Congolese national army to revolt because recently arrived units were going to disarm them. Other sources said the soldiers had received no pay for three months.

Lioness Likes a 'Wild' Life

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Simba is Wilson G. Brown's favorite pet, and her favorite pursuits are riding in his sports car or watching television.

It wouldn't be particularly unusual except that Simba is a 225-pound lioness and still growing.

"I've wanted a lion ever since I was a little kid," said Brown, 27, a Dallas home builder.

★ ★ ★

He also finds time to keep a 12-week-old bobcat, a Siamese cat and a toy fox terrier, and to raise fighting cocks from a flock of 75 chickens.

BIT A GUEST

The other night Brown threw a party. Simba bit a guest, C. Michael Ederer, a lawyer, but he laughed it off.

"She's just friendly — barely broke the skin of my left wrist," said Ederer.

★ ★ ★

Brown likes to wrestle Simba and he says her disposition will mellow as she grows older — which some acquaintances said had better occur or else. At maturity the lioness should weigh about 400 pounds.

Child Drowns

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Eight-year-old Richard Spice of Mishawaka, Ind., wandered away from a family outing and drowned Monday in Lake Michigan off Warren Dunes State Park near Benton Harbor. He was one of eight children of Mrs. Leota Spice. The body was found in five feet of water.

The United States covers 7 per cent of the world's land surface.

Dem Unity an Issue in Arkansas Primary Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Seven candidates bid today for a Democratic gubernatorial nomination that may no longer be equivalent to election in this once "safe" Democratic state.

Party unity has been one of the prime issues because the winner expects to face Republican Winthrop Rockefeller in November and Rockefeller polled 43 per cent of the vote two years ago against Gov. Orval Faubus, the all-time champion of Arkansas politics.

★ ★ ★

Faubus is not seeking reelection, but his administration and the political organization he built during 12 years in office have been the main topics of debate in a two-month campaign.

Six candidates contend that the Faubus "machine" has swung behind Frank Holt, a 55-year-old former prosecutor, attorney general and supreme court justice who has denied that he has any Faubus ties.

OPPOSITION

Lined up against Holt were Jim Johnson, 41, of Conway, a former segregationist spokesman and supreme court justice; Brooks Hays, 67, of Little Rock, a former congressman and adviser to presidents; Dale Alford, 50, of Little Rock, another former congressman; Sam Boyce, 34, of Newport, a prosecutor and former president of the Arkansas Young Democrats; Raymond Rebsamen, 68, of Little Rock, a businessman and civic leader; and Kenneth Sulcer, 41, of Osceola, a 14-year veteran of the state legislature.

★ ★ ★

Holt claimed on election eve to be leading the ticket and other candidates conceded that he stands a good chance of being in the Aug. 9 runoff between the top two finishers in today's voting.

But each of the others was predicting that he would be the man in the runoff with Holt.

To avoid a runoff, one candidate must get more than 50 per cent of the vote cast. But polls showed that no candidate had more than 25 per cent.

TO SUPPORT WINNER

Each of the Democrats claimed that he could best carry the party's fight against Rockefeller who was involved today in a primary race against Gus McMillan of Sheridan, who, Rockefeller said, was put into the race by Democrats for harassment. McMillan ran for governor as a Democrat in 1954.

Faubus has made no public pronouncement for any candidate. He has promised to support the winner against Rockefeller.

While the governor's race has attracted the most attention, election officials will be counting a full ballot when the polls, which open at 8 a.m., close at 6:30 p.m. CST.

Sen. John L. McClellan and each of the three incumbent congressmen have opposition, and there is a five-man Democratic race for a vacant congressional seat in the 4th district. None of the incumbents is believed to be in trouble.

Lions Have Veteran Gaps to Fill for Scrimmage

Press Box

Steve Whisner, Miami of Ohio college student from Grand Blanc, was as stunned as was the golf world with the news of the death of Tony Lema in the private plane crash Sunday.

Whisner was probably closer to Lema than anyone on the golf course. He was the caddy for the two years the happy Champagne golfer won the Buick Open.

★ ★ ★

In fact, it was Whisner who engineered the victories in 1964 and 1965, and Lema himself credited the caddy as the biggest factor in his triumphs.

In a national magazine Whisner was mentioned by name in a story by Lema as the best caddy he had ever had in any tournament.

"Lema depended on the caddy quite a bit," said Whisner, "he and I discussed the club and distance nearly on every shot.

"After winning in 1964, a week after he had won the Thunderbird Open, Lema was so happy he made it clear he would be looking for me when he came back the following year."

Whisner called the club and Lema did the rest in winning the Buick again in 1965.

The two "engineering" performances earned Whisner $1,400 which helped him begin his college education, but ironically they also cost Lema his caddy, because Whisner was still in school last month when Tony tried for his third straight title.

Whisner caddied for two of the most colorful golfers on the tour at Warwick Hills.

CALLED FOR CHI CHI

Prior to his Lema assignment, he carried the bag for two years for Chi Chi Rodriguez.

"Chi Chi clowned around a lot, but he was tougher on his caddies," said Whisner. He treated them fairly, however, even though he didn't win too much.

"Lema was very lenient. While most of the golfers would get to the course about 1½ hours before starting time, he was usually a late arrival. One hour was soon enough for him, and he never went out to practice after a round like some of the top pros do when they are not happy with their game.

"I'm not saying Lema didn't believe in practicing. He really did and he took it seriously, but I guess he had the attitude he could overdo it and get stale instead of better."

Gene Bone, who moved onto the tour the same year as Lema in 1956, concurred with Whisner's thinking.

"Tony worked diligently all the time, but he believed a little layoff was good to build up his desire and self-confidence," said Bone, the Pontiac pro at Bay Pointe Golf Club.

"I happened to be in the foursome with Lema, Billy Casper and Arnold Palmer in the Crosby tournament, long before Lema crashed into the top 10, and he would say, 'The shots are starting to go my way, I'm going to nail down some of these big ones'," Bone recalled.

GIVES THANKS

During the 1966 Masters, early on Sunday morning, this writer sat near Lema in the same pew of an Augusta church.

Upon leaving the church, Lema stopped to say a few words to the pastor standing on the sidewalk.

We heard Lema reply when the clergyman asked if a few of his prayers may have been for his round that day.

"Nope," Tony said, "just a word of thanks for letting me see the sun on this beautiful Sunday morning."

Lema never saw the sun yesterday morning. His bubbling personality will be missed, as will the bubbling celebrations which followed his many triumphs.

'Big' Bears Face Fines at Chicago

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Several rookies were cut by professional football clubs and several Chicago Bears were fined for not cutting — extra weight.

One of the biggest cuts Monday was George Sutor, a 6-foot-7, former LaSalle basketball player, who was released by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

★ ★ ★

On the other end of the scale was 5-foot-10 Ken Lucas, former University of Pittsburgh quarterback, who was released by the NFL Pittsburgh Steelers because he had trouble seeing over big, on-rushing lineman.

Meanwhile, in the camp of the Chicago Bears, 12 players were fined $50 daily for being overweight and threatened with $200 fines starting next Sunday if they are not at playing weight.

"We are not making the progress expected at this stage of training camp," said Owner-Coach George Halas, one of the NFL's founders. "We are being held back principally by 12 overweight players. They are being fined $50 a day from July 22, but that is small consolation to the coaches."

NOT NAMED

The 12 players were not named.

The Washington Redskins waived seven players, but two of them, defensive halfback Hal Seymour of Florida and halfback Tom Michel, were designated as injured and will remain club property.

★ ★ ★

The five given regular waivers included tackle Mike Bundra, linebackers Al Watershield of West Texas State and Dick Fugere of Cincinnati, flanker Dick Griesheim of Illinois Teachers and defensive back Dave Bowden of Fort Valley, Ga. State.

Bundra is a three-time loser, having had trials with the New York Giants and Baltimore Colts.

Intra-Squad Showing Set for Saturday

Studstill Walks Out as Team Prepares for Wisner Appearance

There may be three benches on the sidelines for the full dress scrimmage of the Detroit Lions at Wisner Stadium Saturday night.

One will be for the offense, another for the defense and a special area for "walkouts."

Latest to leave camp to join John Gordy and Darris McCord was Pat Studstill. Still in camp without contracts are Bruce Maher and Ron Kramer, and absent with retirement in mind are J. D. Smith and Ted Karras.

★ ★ ★

It all points to the possibility that some of the rookies will get to stay around a little longer and the top newcomers may get to see more action than they figured a week later when the first exhibition game is played with the Minnesota Vikings in New Orleans.

With the public barred from the training camp at Cranbrook because of traffic and parking congestion, Saturday's scrimmage presents the only opportunity for pro fans to get a close look at the team before the pre-season schedule begins.

In fact, if the Lions stay at Cranbrook and the public is barred in future years, and coach Harry Gilmer decides as much local pro fans may not see the Lions at all before their first exhibition game.

JUST SCRIMMAGE

Gilmer expressed that the Wisner showing will be "a good hard scrimage and not a game." He is also opposed to having a promoted admission event as such before the start of the exhibition season.

★ ★ ★

At any rate, Gilmer and Lions will be at Wisner Saturday night at 8:00 p.m. with a short pre-scrimmage clinic, followed by the scrimmage at 8:0.

★ ★ ★

Dixieland music and drawing of football prizes will also be part of the program sponsored by the Community National Bank and the Pontiac Jaycees.

While Gilmer was preparing the team for Saturday night's intra-squad showing, personnel director Russ Thomas' problems of getting the complete squad under contract mounted when Studstill told him he was leaving camp, unhappy with the negotiations.

Crash of Lema's Plane Investigated

LANSING, Ill. (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board investigative team searched today for new clues to the crash of a private plane that killed world golfing star Tony Lema, his wife and two other persons.

George Green, CAB field superintendent, said investigators were looking into the possibility of engine failure as the cause of the crash.

★ ★ ★

The twin-engine craft was en route to the Chicago-Hammond Airport from Akron, Ohio, where Lema had just completed play in the PGA tourney.

The pilot, Mrs. Doris Mullen, 43, of Joliet, Ill., and the copilot, Dr. George Bard, 41, of Kankakee, Ill., also died when the small plane plunged into the ground at a golf course and burst into flames.

"We are going to look into reports from several sources," Green said Monday, "that there was trouble in the power system (engines). We don't have a weather problem or a darkness problem. So investigation may be made somewhat easier than some because we have a few things we can eliminate."

Lema, 32, and his wife, Betty, were going to Crete, Ill., where the 1964 British Open champion was scheduled to play in Monday's $12,000 Lincolnshire Open.

The pilot's husband, Dr. Wylie Mullen, was waiting at the airport. He and his wife were investors in the company that owned the plane, Mainline Aviation of Joliet.

Mullen said the plane made a swing around the field, with no indication of trouble, but one or both engines cut out as it glided low over the nearby golf course, then started briefly.

★ ★ ★

When the engines died the second time, the plane descended, swerved to avoid a group of people struck the ground and bounded into the edge of lagoon where it exploded in flames.

The bodies of the Lemas were sent to their home town, San Leandro, Calif.

Four Jockeys Hurt in Spill at Hazel Park

HAZEL PARK (AP) — Four jockeys were injured Monday when their horses piled up on a turn at Hazel Park Race Course.

Danny Gargan was leading the field on Samli Bandit when the horse's left foreleg snapped off. Gargan suffered a broken shoulder. Officials destroyed the horse.

★ ★ ★

Three other horses piled into Samli Bandit.

Apprentice Steve Willard was hospitalized with a possible broken right arm after his horse, Perilous Pride, fell over Samli Bandit.

Veteran Howard Craig, riding The Nob, was treated at the track for neck and shoulder injuries. Apprentice Walter Layland, astride Teddy Gavin, suffered bruises.

Bailey Sails to Victory

George Bailey may have struck a blow for experience Sunday in the weekly Lake Angelus snipe races.

Bailey's son Dave was runner-up to Don Hite in the morning race, but the father did the skippering in the afternon and won that race with Rich Gould finishing second.

Giants Near Lead

Marichal Stuns Bucs

By The Associated Press

Some of his more zealous fans at home say if he wanted to run, Juan Marichal could be elected president of the Dominican Republic.

Marichal, however, wouldn't win any popularity contest in the National League, especially with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

★ ★ ★

But then, neither would Herman Franks.

Franks and Marichal teamed up Monday and sparked the San Francisco Giants to a 2-1 victory over the first-place Pirates. The triumph moved the Giants to within two percentage points of the lead.

Marichal, the ace right-hander of the league, originally was scheduled to pitch against Philadelphia Sunday. But Giant Manager Franks decided to save him for the opener of the crucial three-game series with Pittsburgh.

Thus, the 28-year-old Dominican rested four days instead of three. The change didn't hurt him.

He stopped the Pirates on six hits, halted Roberto Clemente's hitting streak at 17 games, didn't walk anyone and scored the eventual deciding run after an alert bit of base running.

Taken together that gave Marichal his 16th victory against four defeats, his 16th complete game in 23 starts and an earned run average of 1.95.

Marichal also extended his walkless streak to none in the last 22 innings and now is averaging only one walk per game.

A guy can't become very popular with that kind of record.

In the only other NL games, Los Angeles downed Philadelphia 6-3 and New York trimmed Houston 6-4.

Cleveland defeated Washington 6-3 in the only American League game.

The Giants handed rookie Woody Fryman his fifth defeat against eight victories. They did it by scoring two runs in the third inning.

Ollie Brown singled and beat Fryman's throw to second on Marichal's sacrifice bunt.

DOUBLE PLAY

Tito Fuentes followed with a single, driving in Brown, and when Fryman, backing up the plate, tried to get Fuentes coming back to first, Marichal darted for third and made it. He then came home as Hal Lanier grounded into a double play.

Fred Whitfield powered Cleveland's victory, slamming two homers and a single and driving in three runs.

Stiff Breezes Help Blitzen to Cross Line

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP)—Taking advantage of stiff breezes, defending champion Blitzen was the first boat to cross the finish line today in the 333-mile Chicago to Mackinac yacht race.

★ ★ ★

The 56-foot cutter, owned by Tom and Bill Schoendorf of Milwaukee, crossed the finish line here at 36 seconds past 12:07 EST. Its elapsed time was 57 hours, 52 minutes and 36 seconds. The corrected time was 55 hours, five minutes and 39 seconds.

HOUR BEHIND

It appeared that Matena, a 72-foot sloop, the largest boat in the 157-yacht fleet, would be the second craft across the finish line today. Matena, skippered by Charles Bissell of Grand Rapids was more than an hour behind Blitzen when the latter finished.

★ ★ ★

Thunderstorms showered Lake Michigan Monday night, and a Coast Guard aircraft crew reported higher winds were scattering the fleet.

Teamsters 9 Gets Closer to 'A' Lead

Some timely hitting and the one-hit pitching of Tom Walters has pulled Teamsters No. 614 within a half game of first place in the Pontiac Men's Class A baseball race.

The Teamster crew romped past Cranbrook, 13-1, last night, running its record to 12-4, just a victory back of league-leading Clippers (13-4).

The union squad collected single runs in the first two innings and broke loose for five in the third and six in the fourth and the game was halted after five frames.

With his teammates cracking the ball, Walters had an easy time. He struck out nine in five innings and yielded one hit, a one-out single by Al Levy in the fifth.

Marcum knocked in a pair of runs with two doubles and chased home one run and scored three.

Local Golfers Reach Finals

Two Heading South for Jaycee Tourney

From Our News Wires

SPRING LAKE — Two Oakland County golfers fired two-over-par 73s over Spring Lake Country Club yesterday to qualify for the National Jaycee tournament next month in Greensboro, N.C.

Earning the trips south Aug. 7-12 for the tourney in Greensboro were Bob Larkins, 17, of Birmingham and Bill Taylor, 17, of Holly.

Larkins and Taylor, an All-Oakland County Class B basketball selection, shared second place behind Lee Edmundson, 17, of Ladington who carded an even par 36-35—71.

Winning the fourth spot in the national tournament was 15-year-old John VanderMeiden of Grand Haven, who sank an 18-foot putt on the first hole of a sudden death playoff with three other golfers.

AFL Names New League Chief

NEW YORK (AP) — Milt Woodard has taken over as the new commissioner of the American Football League, succeeding Al Davis.

The 55-year-old Woodard, a native of Tacoma, Wash., stepped into the shoes of his old boss, Joe Foss, when the 37-year-old Davis quit Monday in a move that had been long rumored. Davis had replaced Foss as commissioner last April 6.

★ ★ ★

Davis' resignation had been expected since the recent merger of the AFL and the National Football League, effective in 1970. Davis had opposed the merger.

"I don't know what my position will be when the merger becomes effective in 1970," Woodard said. "That's up to the owners to decide. I have not yet actually signed my contract, but I believe it will be for at least three years.

★ ★ ★

"I couldn't turn down this opportunity," he added.

Woodard had been assistant to Foss until Davis took office. He went to Florida then on private business while retaining a part-time status with the AFL.

TOP MAN

Under the terms of the AFL-NFL merger Pete Rozelle, the NFL Commissioner, will be the over-all boss.

"No one knows the AFL better than Woodard," said Ralph Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills who announced the executive changes. "His experience will be invaluable in guiding us through the transitions we will experience during the next few years."

★ ★ ★

Davis would not reveal his plans, but said he would continue to serve the league in an advisory capacity. It is considered likely he will collect the remainder of his five-year contract at an estimated $60,000 annually.

Before succeeding Foss, Davis had been head coach and general manager of the Oakland Raiders.

49ers-Brodie Communication Non-Existent

MORAGA, Calif. (AP) — Lou Spadia, general manager of the San Francisco 49ers, told reporters Monday that communication with holdout quarterback John Brodie is non-existent.

"He has not contacted me; in fact, I have not heard from him since he went to Hawaii," Spadia said.

★ ★ ★

He also asked reporters to quit questioning 49 Coach Jack Christiansen and address all questions about Brodie to himself. "Whatever the problem with John," Spadia said, "Chris has not been, nor is he now, involved."

★ ★ ★

There have been reports that Brodie is asking $1 million to sign. He was offered a three-year, $750,000 contract in May by the Houston Oilers of the American Football League. But the merger between the AFL and the National Football League killed that deal.

Hurler's Name Wrong

In a report of Sunday's Amateur Day games in yesterday's Press, Ken Jaster was given credit for a no-hitter as his Yellow Cab teammates downed Columbia Avenue RA, 7-0, in junior action.

★ ★ ★

The name was incorrectly spelled. It should have been Ken Foster.

Tigers Limp Into Chicago for Twi-Nighter

HEADING FOR A TKO — Billy Daniels of Brooklyn, N.Y., rolls through the ropes after taking a punch from Philadelphia's Joe Frazier in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-rounder last night in Philadelphia. Frazier, former Olympic heavyweight champion, floored Daniels again in the sixth and Daniels failed to come out at the start of the seventh round. The victory for the 202-pound Frazier was his 11th straight in the professional ranks.

Al Kaline Hoping to See Action

CHICAGO (AP) — The battered Detroit Tigers limped into Chicago for a twi-night doubleheader tonight with one bit of good news from the injured list—Al Kaline may take the field again.

Kaline, the top Tiger hitter with a .318 average, has been out with an injured hip since July 19. He hit a pinch-hit single against Cleveland Sunday in his appearance since the injury.

★ ★ ★

Dick McAuliffe, f the starting shortstop for the American League All-Stars, has been hospitalized with food poisoning and isn't expected back for another week.

Interim manager Bob Swift has been sidelined for the season with lung cancer. Manager Charlie Dressen is out with a heart attack.

STIFF SHOULDER

Second Baseman Jerry Lumpe has yet to regain his timing at the plate since a pair of pulled leg muscles. Pitcher Earl Wilson has been unable to finish an inning since his shoulder stifffened up July 19.

The problems arrived at a bad time for the Tigers. After the All-Star break the team faced 12 consecutive games with the teams directly above (Baltimore) and below (Cleveland) them in the American League standings.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers hoped for eight victories in the 12 games, which would have left them in a good position for a stretch drive.

Instead they lost eight of the games and only a similar slump by Cleveland has kept the Tigers a game and a half up on the Indians, now virtually tied with California for third place.

Lolich and Bill Monbouquette will pitch tonight for the Tigers.

Golfer Sees Officials' Nicer Side

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Golf tournament officials aren't ogres. Or meanies. Or folks who want to see you lose.

Occasionally — and it comes when a golfer is disqualified — the committee handling a tournament is berated for ousting a player, although those in charge actually didn't force the golfer out. The player did that by whatever blunder he may have committed.

Those tourney officials are really kind folks, and Mrs. Max Evans of Southfield will verify it.

In the first round of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association 54-hole medal play tournament yesterday at Arrowhead Golf Course, Mrs. Evans fired a 44-42—86, turned in her card and headed for home.

★ ★ ★

Later, Mrs. Donald Renno of Royal Oak and Mrs. G. Frank Langford of Dearborn Heights, tourney officials, checked the card and found that Mrs. Evans had failed to sign it.

HEAVY PENALTY

Failure to sign can bring immediate disqualification, depending on how the rule is applied.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Renno and Mrs. Langford took a different route. They called Mrs. Evans, who hopped in her car and wheeled back to Arrowhead to sign the card.

With her 86, Mrs. Evans held third place as the ladies went into the second round today.

In first place was Mrs. Nick Panasiuk of Elmstead, Ont., who fired a 40-41—81, three strokes of defending champion Mrs. Midge Cova of Novi.

Mrs. Cova is seeking her third title.

Chisox Power Too Much for City Rivals

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox turned on the power Monday night and edged their cross-town rival the Cubs, 5-4 in the annual Cubs-Sox boys' benefit exhibition game.

★ ★ ★

Pete Ward and Tommie Agree hit home runs before 47,064 fans jammed into Comiskey Park.

Ward, who just came off the disabled list, clouted a three-run homer off loser Bill Hands in the third inning and Agee connected off Billy Hoeft in the sixth for the winning run.

★ ★ ★

Glenn Beckert slammed two doubles, one in the opening frame when the Cubs scored twice against winning pitcher Juan Pizarro.

The Cubs scored twice in the seventh off Dennis Higgins with three singles and a walk.

Flint Archer Holds Lead in Tourney

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (UPI) — Evelyn Goodrich of Flint, was leading in the women's freestyle open competition after the first day of the 21st annual National Field Archery Association championships.

★ ★ ★

Near 90-degree temperatures and "unbearable" humidity caused two contestants to faint and helped eliminate defending women's champion Betty Grubb of Oklahoma City, Okla.

SPARKS ON SWIMMING

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the eighth in a series of 20 articles in which author and swimming coach Christian B. Sparks offers tips on swimming for beginners and experts.)

By CHRISTIAN B. SPARKS

Why the backstroke? Because it is fun, because several of our important survival strokes are accomplished on the back and because it is a highly developed stroke for those who may progress into competitive swimming.

If it ever becomes necessary to swim a long distance it is good to know several strokes.

Although the front crawl is our fastest stroke, it is also very tiring and only well conditioned swimmers could be expected to swim very far using only the front crawl.

Backstroke swimming not only is essential but a lot of fun.

★ ★ ★

Try it this way: get in the shallow water, face the wall of the pool, hold on and bring the feet high on the wall. Now ease back, float off the wall and stretch out slowly with the hands at the sides. Don't push off hard and plunge the head under water.

KICK SLOW

It isn't necessary to get a lot of water in the face. Now hold the hips high and start to kick slowly; the main thing is not to bend, but hold the hips in line with the rest of the body. If you bend it will pull the face under. Although getting the face under is nothing that should bother you, it just is not the way to do this stroke.

The upper body naturally floats and as long as you have air in the lungs, it will always float the head above water.

With many people, the legs are inclined to sink. However, even easy kicking will keep the legs up and then you are not only floating but you are also moving along and that's swimming. All we need to do is add the armstrokes to help paddle you faster.

If you can keep the body straight, on top of the water, and moving with the kick, then try the arm stroke—easily. As in the front crawl, the arms are only used to paddle you along. The faster you stroke the more water the arms bring up into the face. So take it easy, keep the arms moving along, keep the hips high and keep the kick going. You're swimming back stroke.

Griffith to Defend Crown in London

LONDON (AP) — Emile Griffith of New York will defend his world middleweight boxing title against Nigeria's Dick Tiger in London Nov. 22, promoter Jack Solomons announced today.

★ ★ ★

"The managers of both boxers have agreed to my terms," said Solomons, but he did not disclose what they were.

★ ★ ★

The promoter said the only outstanding problem was whether the fight could be televised live to the United States via the Early Bird satellite.

Duel Today May Decide Soccer Title

LONDON (AP) — Goal-hunting Eusebio of Portugal faced Nobby Stiles, the iron tackler of England, in a duel today that could decide the World Soccer Cup.

Critics saw the clash between the two men as the key to the semifinal at London's Wembley Stadium. And Eusebio himself — top scorer in the tournament with seven goals — said French referee Pierre Schwinte must watch Stiles' tackles.

★ ★ ★

"Stiles is a hard man," said the Black Panther of Mozambique. "I don't mind playing against him. I am not afraid.

"But he has been allowed to get away with too many things in the World Cup. I have watched England's games on television and have seen Stiles going in a bit hard.

"The referee has taken the number of a player on the other side, but has not taken any action against England's players.

GERMANS WIN

The winner of today's game will meet West Germany in the final next Saturday. The Germans downed Russia 2-1 at Liverpool Monday night in a game which saw Russia's Igor Chislenko sent off the field.

That makes five players sent off since the tournament started two weeks ago. The other four have all been suspended for varying periods by the disciplinary committee of the World Soccer Federation (FIFA).

★ ★ ★

Stiles has been cautioned once during the tournament. He is a key figure in an England defense that has not conceded a single goal in four games so far.

Lead Changes in City Softball Action

Motorcar Transport was sidetracked in Pontiac National League softball action last night and slipped into second place while Idletime Bar survived a late-inning scare to emerge with a victory and first place in the loop race.

Bud & Lou's (9-3) turned back Motorcar (13-3), 6-4, while Idletime (11-2) pinned a 10-7 setback on J. A. Fredman (5-10). In another NL game, L & S Standard (10-3) kept its title hopes alive by stopping Local 653 (4-8), 5-2.

In a single American League contest, Town & Country (11-5) rolled past Francis Fuel and Oil (4-12), 7-3.

Bud & Lou's pushed across three runs in the seventh in a come-from-behind victory over Motorcar. The final two runs came across on a two-out double by second baseman Denny Acker, who wound up with two hits along with Richard Ewer and Frank August. Vern Hovis picked up a pair of hits for the losers.

★ ★ ★

Fredman sent across three runs in the fifth and three more in the sixth to cut Idletime's lead to 10-7, but the winners got the side out 1-2-3 in the seventh to take the win. Nick Niera, Alex Dillashaw, Charlie Johnson and Larry Fisher rapped out two hits apiece for the winners, while Dennis Carpenter contributed two safeties for the losers.

BREAKS TIE

L & S Standard broke a 3-3 tie with a run in the fifth and added an insurance run in the sixth in downing Local 653. A double by Bud Groner sent Ced Knolton across with the lead run in the fifth, and Sterley DeVault doubled and scored on another double by Ray DeVault for the fifth run in the sixth.

Town & Country managed only five hits but took advantage of four Francis Fuel errors in winning its 11th game. Al Smith led the winners with two singles and he scored twice.

Netter Has Losing Trip

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Maybe Lew Gerrard of New Zealand should go home and start the grass court season all over again.

"The first rounds seem a bit tough," he commented with a wry grin Monday after getting knocked out of the Eastern Grass Court Championships by Frank Froehling, 11-9, 9-7.

* * *

It was the second straight week the highly considered New Zealander had come a-cropper in the first round. The week before unheralded Sam Howe of Philadelphia had ousted him in the Pennsylvania Lawn Tennis Tournament.

The former Davis Cupper from East Orange, N.J. swapped four straight service breaks with Gerrard in the first set — Gerrard wasting a set point at 6-5 — then cracked Lew's service in the 20th game. They went the entire second set without a break until the final game, when Gerrard flubbed a wood shot off a good forehand by Froehling on match point.

EASY VICTORIES

All the other active seeded players in both men's and women's singles advanced without loss of a set. Cliff Richey, top seed from San Angelo, Tex., led U.S. Davis Cup players into the second round with a 6-4, 6-2 nod over Roy Barth of San Diego, Calif., 6-4, 6-2.

Two Unbeatens in Church Play

Township Rec Softball Loop in Tie

Christ Lutheran and Crescent Lake RLDS pushed their records to 2-0 with victories last night in Waterford Township Church Softball action.

Bill Kansier lashed out a double and single to spark Christ Lutheran to a 10-7 win over Elizabeth Lake Church of Christ, and Crescent Lake squeezed past Union Lake Baptist, 6-4. Stan Hack clouted a home run for the losers.

In other games, Bob Scott pitched and batted Donnelson Baptist to a 17 to 9 triumph over St. Paul Methodist, and Stringham downed First Church of God, 8-2.

Along with his pitching, Scott picked up a triple, double and single and scored three times, while teamate Joe Curl collected a home run and two singles and scored three times.

* * *

Stan Jaworski picked up the victory on the mound for Stringham. Dave Adams belted a home run for the losers.

Diligent Crowd Hears Casey

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Casey Stengel paused for a deep breath while Ted Williams leaned over to whisper in Joe Cronin's ear and laughed.

"I once hit against Walter Johnson," Stengel started up again while the record crowd of 6,000 soaked up every word at Cooper Park, behind the Hall of Fame building.

* * *

Stengel, 75, and Williams, 47, were being formally inducted into the Hall Monday and this quaint, historic community was bulging at the seams.

"It was after the season," Stengel went on. "They had a special homecoming day for Johnson at Coffeyville (Kan.). They came out in buggies to watch Johnson pitch a 1-0 shutout.

"The next morning the Kansas City Star story read 'Casey Stengel's inability to hit in the pinches lost the game.' This is my home town, you know. I was supposed to be quite an athlete — football and basketball player.

"There was only one fella got on base all day — Pete Kilduff. So I told him 'You're to blame for the whole thing if you hadn't got on base, I couldn't have failed to hit in the pinches."

The laughter rolled over the grassy plain and spilled into the shade trees on the fringes where some lucky people huddled to beat the heat.

Stengel's oration hit all the stops. He opened with Babe Ruth and worked his way through Grover Cleveland Alexander, Johnson, Joe McCarthy, Bill Terry, Joe Cronin, Joe Engel ("He'd trade a dog for a dog") and wound up with Bill Dickey, Yogi Berra, Williams and the Mets.

* * *

"That Williams would stare at a pitcher when he was warming up and he already had attacked that man. He was the most aggressive hitter I ever saw," Casey said. "After Bobby Doerr left the Red Sox, I told my Yankee pitchers never to throw the ball over the plate to Mr. Williams. We tried to get him to go for the ball but his judgment standing sideways was better than the umpires standing straight."

NO TIE

Williams, wearing a neat white sports shirt, buttoned at the neck but with no tie, impressed the assemblage with his fine talk. He gently chided the writers with whom he often feuded and found time to thank his coach on the San Diego playgrounds, his school coach and managers under whom he played in the majors and minors.

He also singled out the late Eddie Collins, Hall of Famer, and owner Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox for special attention.

Ted put in a pitch for future Hall of Fame membership for Satchel Paige and Josh Gibson "as a symbol of the great Negro players that are not here only because they were not given a chance."

The St. Louis Cardinals beat the Minnesota Twins 7-5 in the annual Hall of Fame exhibition game at Doubleday Field.

Detroiter Triumphs in Cobo Hall Bout

DETROIT (AP)—Willie Williams of Detroit won a unanimous eight-round decision over New York's Frank Joseph in the feature event Monday night at Detroit's Cobo Hall. Williams weighed in at 179½ pounds to his opponent's 177.

In preliminaries:

Carl Jordan, 151, of Pittsburgh gained a TKO over Tommy Clayton, 155 of Grand Rapids.

Alvin Lewis, 211, of Detroit, scored a first round TKO over John Hall, 181, of Pittsburgh.

Hedgemon Lewis, 148, of Detroit, won a second round TKO over Leroy Youngblood, 143, off Pittsburgh.

Jim Davis, 165, of Detroit, gained a four round decision over Charles Holloway, 163, of Detroit.

Pistons Sign Pact for Cobo Hall Use

DETROIT (AP)—Owner Fred Zollner of the Detroit Pistons said Monday the pro basketball team has negotiated a three-year contract for use of Cobo Arena in downtown Detroit.

He said the agreement to continue use of Cobo Arena through the 1968-69 season "conclusively should prove that the Pistons have no intentions of leaving Detroit."

Jockey Sets Dollar Mark

Longden Buys Son of Bold Ruler

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Johnny Longden, a resident of the winner's circle more than any other jockey, has tried his hand in the thoroughbred auction ring and established another record.

Longden paid $200,000 Monday for a brown son of Bold Ruler, the most ever for a yearling, as horsemen aimed for a record gross at the annual Keeneland summer sale.

* * *

The record was set last year when the sale grossed $5,068,300. The Bold Ruler-La Dauphine colt helped push Monday's sales to $2,483,320, with two sessions today.

The big colt was from the consignment of Leslie Combs II's Spendthrift Farm of Lexington, which established another near-record. Spendthrift's 25 yearlings sold for $801,500, just $600 short of the mark Combs set last year with 27 head.

* * *

Longden, acting as agent for Frank McMahon, Vancouver, B.C., spent $310,000 himself in Monday's two sessions, in which 146 head were auctioned. He said he was "ready to go as high as I had to" to get the Bold Ruler colt.

Longden rode 6,017 winners through the 1965 season, his mounts winning $24,536,900. He retired this year to become McMahon's trainer.

The previous record high for a yearling was $170,000, paid here in 1964 by Velma Morrison for Gem Stale Stables. That colt, One Bold Big by Bold Ruler, still hasn't raced.

Early Homers Assist Triumph in Class D

Home runs in the first inning by Paul Lutz and Mike Cotter helped Franklin off to a fast start in a 4-3 triumph over Cranbrook yesterday in Pontiac Junior Class D Baseball action.

In a second 'D' game, Clarkston (5-4) downed the Boys Club (6-4), 4-3, while in Class E, the unbeaten Yankees (8-0) romped past Met Club (0-9), 12-2, and Auburn Heights Boys Club Patriots (4-3) used a big blow in the seventh in trimming Rochester (4-5), 6-3.

Cranbrook (5-5) moved in front of Franklin (7-3) with three runs in the third, but the winners knotted the score with a marker in the fifth and sent the winning run across in the seventh as Lee Juett singled home Mark McQuator from second base.

Clarkston posted four runs in the first three innings and held on to down the Boys Club. Ged Lekas paced the winners with a pair of singles and Dick Dooley matched that performance for the losers.

* * *

Clyde Duncan tossed a three-hitter, collected two hits and scored three runs as the Yankees won their eighth game. Terry Villereal, Mike Prince and Vick Quience also lashed out two hits apiece for the winners.

HITS HOMER

A grand-slam home run by Bob Clancy in the last of the seventh wiped out a 3-2 Rochester lead and gave the Auburn Heights club a victory. A single and two walks preceded Clancy's blast.

Hunt Near Erie, Pa., for Girl's Killer

ERIE, Pa. (UPI) —Two German shepherd dogs used to track the Shade Gap sniper were brought to nearby Millcreek Township yesterday to help in the search for the slayer of 10-year-old Christine Watson.

★ ★ ★

The dogs, Apache and Smokey, and trainer Thomas McGinn combed a wooded area near a creek where Christine was found slashed to death last Tuesday.

She was lured to the creek by a black-haired mustachioed man who offered to show her minnows, according to a playmate.

Police held in protective custody two teen-age girls who scared the murderer off as he bent over Christine's body, less than 300 yards from her home.

★ ★ ★

Several men were questioned in the case, but no arrests have been made.

DECLINE COMMENT

Millcreek Township police declined to discuss what, if any, clues were turned up by the dogs yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Both animals were used last May to track William D. Hollenbaugh, 44, who kidnaped 17-year-old Peggy Ann Bradnick from her Huntingdon County home.

★ ★ ★

Hollenbaugh shot and killed an FBI agent and wounded a deputy sheriff in a week-long chase that followed the kidnaping.

Hollenbaugh was gunned down himself May 18 outside a farm home at Fort Littleton.

BELOW THE BELT — It's a low blow but it hurt Spanish matador Miguel Angel's pride more than anything else when he got hung up by his opponent and dangled helplessly 10 inches off the ground during a bullfight Sunday in Madrid. The bull got a horn under the matador's belt and held him like a rag doll for a few seconds. Angel received only minor injuries.

Gromyko Nixes Mediator Role

Terms U. S. Pullout Peace Precondition

TOKYO (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko today turned down a Japanese proposal that the Soviet Union mediate in the Viet Nam war, Japanese sources reported.

Gromyko told Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina that the Soviet Union is not in the position to assume such a role. He said a withdrawal of U. S. troops from Viet Nam was a precondition to peaceful settlement.

★ ★ ★

Despite Gromyko's stand, the Chinese Communist party attacked his visit to Japan, implying that he was acting on behalf of the United States. The party paper, the Peking People's Daily, said "the Soviet revisionist leading clique has dispatched its Foreign Minister Gromyko to visit Japan" at a time when Japan "is acting more conspicuously as an accomplice of the U. S. imperialists in their aggression in Viet Nam and in opposing China."

★ ★ ★

The Japanese sources said Gromyko and Shiina also discussed a nuclear nonproliferation pact, prohibition of underground nuclear tests, and safe fishing operations by Japanese boats around the former Japanese islands of Habomai and Shikotan, now occupied by the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

The sources said Shiina agreed basically with Gromyko's position on concluding a nonproliferation pact.

British Will Nationalize Steel Firms

LONDON (AP) — The House of Commons voted approval Monday night of the Labor government's bill to nationalize Britain's steel industry as the Conservatives mounted an attack on Prime Minister Harold Wilson's handling of the national economy.

★ ★ ★

The measure, approved by a vote of 328-247 on its second reading, would nationalize the 14 big companies which supply 90 per cent of the nation's steel.

★ ★ ★

Final passage is expected late this year, although the Conservatives may try to delay it by pressing for a procedure that would permit each company involved to present testimony against the bill.

★ ★ ★

Anthony Barber, Conservative spokesman on steel, repeated the opposition argument that the bill is irrelevant to Britain's economic problems. Barber said the Conservatives would return steel to private ownership if they regain power. But he added a new qualification, saying they would drop state ownership "to whatever extent is necessary and practicable."

NEEDS COMPETITION

Barber declared that Britain's steel industry needs more competition, not less. Power Minister Richard Marsh countered that steel exports and productivity have been on the decline while imports of raw materials have been going up. The only way to reverse this trend, he asserted, is for the government to take over and reorganize the industry.

Astronauts Brief Next Gemini Crew

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Gemini 10 astronauts John Young and Michael Collins meet today for a round of "shop talk" with Charles (Pete) Conrad and Richard Gordon, who will fly the next American manned space mission, Gemini 11.

★ ★ ★

Conrad and Gordon are scheduled to lift from Cape Kennedy Sept. 7 for a three-day flight which will include a spacewalk for Gordon and an attempt to rendezvous and link up with a target satellite on the first orbit of the earth.

★ ★ ★

Young and Collins will spend the day briefing the upcoming Gemini crew on every facet of space travel they can.

Henry Ford II Views UAW Move Dimly

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II took a dim view today of proposals that skilled trades workers in the auto industry should be given more money under current contracts.

The board chairman of Ford Motor Co. became the first high-ranking auto executive to comment officially on feelers put out by the United Auto Workers union.

★ ★ ★

UAW leaders had suggested that current three year contracts which run out in the fall of 1967 should be reopened now to give skilled workers more money. The UAW did not spell out its specific requests, but the figure most generally mentioned as a goal was 25 per cent or about $1 an hour.

★ ★ ★

The bid of the skilled trades workers for more money has become one of the most ticklish labor questions in the auto industry in recent years. The skilled workers are in short supply and with the auto industry tooling up for the 1968 model run, the workers admittedly are in a strong bargaining position.

EYED CLOSELY

The outcome of the skilled trades workers bid for a wage reopening also was being closely watched by UAW production workers and other unions around the country as a possible tipoff to a national trend.

The UAW served the informal demands on the four auto companies earlier this month.

There are about 96,000 indigent Navajo Indians living on reservations in Arizona, New Mexico and Utah.

Mass Held for Victims of German Bus Tragedy

LIMBURG, Germany (AP)— Grieving parents from Belgium, whose children were among 33 persons killed in a bus tragedy, attended a simple memorial Mass today in the Limburg Cathedral.

Altogether, 27 children and six adults died in the early morning accident Monday. The bus crashed through an autobahn bridge guard rail and landed upside down 30 feet below on another road.

★ ★ ★

Ten children were injured, some severely, but none is on the critical list. Doctors at the three local hospitals where the injured are being treated said all are expected to survive.

Altogether, about 80 persons and relatives of the victims have gathered here.

HEADED HOME

The children had been homebound from a summer holiday in Austria and were mostly from families in Brussels.

Investigators so far have been unable to determine the cause of the accident. An autopsy has been ordered for the bus driver to check whether a heart attack might have caused him to lose control of the bus.

The state attorney in charge of the investigation said there was also a strong possibility the driver had been tired from the long overnight drive from Austria.

Former City GM Executive Dies of Heart Attack

CANFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Edward J. Legant, 49, manager of General Motors' Fisher Body plant at nearby Lordstown, died of an apparent heart attack early today at his home.

Legant was named manager of the Lordstown facility, newest General Motors assembly plant, before it opened last year.

His 31-year career with GM included management positions at plants in Detroit, Pontiac and Flint, Mich., Los Angeles and Oakland, Calif., and Cleveland, Ohio.

Legant is survived by his wife and two children. Funeral arrangements were pending.

Sailor Guilty in Man's Death

An 18-year-old sailor from Flint yesterday pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the knife slaying of a Southfield businessman in March.

The plea was entered before Circuit Judge William J. Beer by Barrie S. Moody, who had been charged with first-degree murder.

Moody was to have gone on trial Friday on a charge of killing Albert S. Smith, 43, of 22572 Bellwood, during a robbery March 25.

Moody will be sentenced by Beer Aug. 15 at 2 p.m.

He faces imprisonment up to life. A first-degree murder conviction carries a mandatory life term.

Ella Threatens West Indies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical storm Ella, with winds up to 50 miles an hour in squalls near the center, threatened the Leeward and British Virgin Islands with high seas and thundershowers today.

Small craft were warned to stay in port as Ella passed 150 miles north of the Leeward Islands.

★ ★ ★

At 5 a.m. EST, Ella was about 350 miles east-northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico, and 150 miles north-northeast of Antigua, Leeward Islands.

★ ★ ★

The San Juan Weather Bureau said Ella was moving toward the west-northwest at 12 miles an hour and was expected to continue in the same direction for the next 12 hours.

GALE FORCE WINDS

Gale force winds extended outward 200 miles in the northeast semicircle and 100 miles in the southwest. A slow increase in intensity was forecast during the next 24 hours.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF RICHARD C. Richter, who passed away July 26, 1959.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for memory to reach.
Sweet to remember him who was here,
Who, gone away, is just as dear.
—Sadly missed by his wife, Germaine and sons Gary, Jim and Danny.

Michigan Man Is Sought by Kansas Police

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Police have issued a warrant for a man wanted in connection with an incident last week in which a patrolman was disarmed and handcuffed in the back set of his own patrol car.

The warrant charges James M. Pinion, 28, of Bay City, Mich., with aggravated assault and robbery in the taking of patrolman John Hofman's revolver.

★ ★ ★

Hofman was taking a man to police headquarters for questioning after finding him with a concealed revolver when the man pulled another gun on him. Hofman was disarmed, forced into the back seat of the patrol car, bound and secured with his own handcuffs.

Police said Pinion is on parole from an assault charge in Bay City and is also wanted in connection with two armed robberies in Salt Lake City.

Hare Names Aide to Hear Complaints

LANSING (AP)—Michigan Secretary of State James Hare has borrowed an idea from Sweden —appointment of an "ombudsman," a special deputy to handle complaints from citizens and employes on procedures of his department.

Gordon Alexander, 26, of Lansing received the appointment Monday.

★ ★ ★

Sweden and several other nations use the ombudsman to cut through red tape in handling complaints. The office carries broad investigatory powers.

U.S. Rejects Red Charge on N-Treaty

GENEVA (AP) — The United States today rejected Soviet charges that loopholes in the American draft treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons could lead to "nuclear war by proxy."

Soviet delegate Alexei A. Roschin has repeatedly alleged at the 17-nation disarmament conference that allies of the United States could get access to American atomic arms and trigger a war on their own.

U.S. delegate Adrian S. Fisher told the conference that Roschin's charges seem "quite unreal."

"No nuclear weapon power could actually evade its responsibility by shunting on to some other state the actual firing of nuclear weapons," he said.

IF WAR OCCURRED

He added that if a nuclear war ever took place, it could only be because one of the nuclear weapon powers had decided that its nuclear weapons should be fired.

But Fisher indicated that the chances of nuclear war are receding because of "a code of responsibility" adopted by the two superpowers.

He said he did not want to mention the possibility of atomic warfare without at the same time indicating "the confidence which I believe is developing between the major nuclear weapon powers concerning their responsibility in the management of this awesome power."

Fisher supported proposals from Mexico, Canada and Italy for the conference to make a detailed study of the rival U.S. and Soviet draft nonproliferation treaties in order to merge the noncontroversial sections of the drafts.

NY Challenges Hollywood as Movie-Making Center

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — New York isn't likely to replace Hollywood immediately as the film capital . . . but Seven Arts says that Mayor Lindsay's great cooperation in the producing of "You're a Big Boy Now!" has inspired the company to schedule another picture ("Show Me the Way to Go Home") here in the fall.

WILSON

"The city even assigned police to stay with us constantly and make things easier for us," said Ed Feldman of the Seven Arts brass, at a party at the Nell Gwynn restaurant for the cast.

"And where else can you get gifted actors like Julie Harris, Geraldine Page, Rip Torn and Karen Black who are working in stage shows but are available to work in films in the daytime?"

Phil Feldman, producer of the film, declared that New York had one thing more than no other city has: those long deep shadows on skyscrapers and on sidewalks that make cameramen delirious with ecstasy.

WARREN (AP)—Leonard A. Constance Jr., 15, of Flint, won a $2,000 college scholarship in the finals of the 1966 Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild model car competition. The winners, announced Monday night, included Michael G. Czyzewski, 17, of Detroit, who received a $1,000 scholarship, and Frederick Duddles, 20, of Oak Park, who won a similar award.

Grosse Pointe Gets Negroes

GROSSE POINTE (UPI) — A Negro lawyer and his family moved into this fashionable Detroit suburb last week, it was learned today.

Gordon Johnstone, president of the Grosse Pointe Brokers Association, said the move will depreciate property values. "But," he said, "over a period of time it may stabilize."

The lawyer, who was not identified, his wife and children moved into a new house "in the $40,000 category," in one of a string of five plush suburbs east of Detroit.

The Grosse Pointes have traditionally been the home of the area's richest and most fashionable residents. The Pointes' population of 55,000 includes several members of the auto-making Ford family and other prominent persons.

Johnstone said a white lawyer first bought the home from a builder and became a "decoy" and sold it to the Negro family.

Agency Stresses Seat Belt Training

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government stressed today the importance of training motorists to buckle their seat belts.

The Public Health Service said of 1,850 Oakland, Calif., drivers interviewed during a survey, 28 per cent owned vehicles equipped with seat belts.

Two-thirds of those having seat belts used them in highway driving but only one-third used them in city driving. The service said use of seat belts could save 5,000 lives a year nationwide.

Amelia Earhart Died Japanese Captive

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — The Napa Register said yesterday Amelia Earhart, the long-missing aviatrix, was on a spying mission for the U.S. government when she vanished in July 1937 — and died as a Japanese captive on the Pacific Island of Saipan.

In a copyright story summing up a long investigation of the mystery, the newspaper said Miss Earhart succumbed to dysentery and that Frederick J. Noonan, her navigator, was beheaded by the Japanese a few days later.

In Washington, a spokesman for the State Department said its files showed no evidence either that Miss Earhart was on an intelligence mission or that she was captured by the Japanese.

The Register declared that the remains of the two fliers, who disappeared near the end of a flight around the world, were recovered from a grave on Saipan in 1944 and secretly returned to America.

The Register said its conclusion that Miss Earhart and Noonan were engaged in espionage was based on a search of "classified files in the Department of the Navy and Department of State." It added:

JAPANESE FORTS

"U.S. officials were concerned about Japanese fortification of the Pacific islands placed under Japan's control by the League of Nations. If Miss Earhart could observe — and possibly photograph — some of these islands, valuable information could be compiled."

Miss Earhart was 38 and Noonan 44 at the time of their disappearance.

The Register said the investigation, which it joined three years ago, was launched in 1960 by Frederick Goerner, a newsman of radio station KOBS in San Francisco.

★ ★ ★

"Literally hundreds of persons have been interviewed," the story said. "Classified federal files have been examined. Now, for the first time, the full story is being told."

★ ★ ★

A book by Goerner, "The Search for Amelia Earhart," is being published next month.

★ ★ ★

The Register story said "scores of natives" had been found on Saipan who remembered a white man and woman being held captive by the Japanese in 1937 and that they had identified photographs of Miss Earhart.

★ ★ ★

One native, Maria Arriola Shoda San Nicholas, was quoted as saying:

"I saw the white woman many times. My father's house was not far away."

★ ★ ★

She said, "Then I didn't see her for quite a while. One day a Japanese officer came to see my father, a tailor, and asked him to make a black cloth for the woman. The officer said she had died."

$18-Million Development Due in Pontiac Township

An $18-million apartment development, similar to the $150-million Somerset Park complex in Troy, will be built along a half-mile frontage of South Boulevard, between I-75 and Squirrel Road, Pontiac Township.

★ ★ ★

Plans for the new development were announced today by Abraham Ran and Aaron Ginsberg of the Biltmore Development Co., developers of the Troy complex.

They applied for a building permit from the Pontiac Township office.

Ran said the permit would cover the start of work on the first phase of the development —to be named the South Boulevard Apartments.

The first phase of the complex will involve 272 units of one and two-bedroom apartments, according to Ran.

113-ACRE TRACT

In all, the development will occupy a 113-acre tract and consist of about 1,000 apartments. The site on which the apartments will be built was once part of the estate of the late Walter O. Briggs.

"As with Somerset Park, we intend to offer outstanding recreational facilities at South Boulevard Apartments," said Ginsberg.

"Our planning here includes the creation of a 12-acre lake for boating, swimming and fishing."

★ ★ ★

Ran and Ginsberg said more details regarding the project will be available within the next two weeks.

In commenting on the plans, Township Supervisor Leonard Terry said that although South Boulevard Apartments will provide homes for about 1,000 families, "Their impact on public services such as schools will not be nearly so great as the same number of single family homes.

"In fact, our studies revealed that the number of children of school age will be less than half that of a single family development of the same size," he said, "yet the tax rate for the apartments is higher.

"Development plans for South Boulevard indicate a high quality project which will be a great asset to Pontiac Township," Terry said.

The Somerset Park complex, located between W. Maple and Wattles roads east of Coolidge, will ultimately offer some 2,500 apartment units and will house from 6,000 to 7,000 residents.

★ ★ ★

Stock Market Bounces Back

Monday Slump Worst Since Kennedy Death

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock prices rose slightly in heavy trading early today following yesterday's decline.

Most of the early gains were less than $1 a share, but enough to raise averages from their lowest of the year.

At 9:30 A.M. (EST) the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 1.17 points at 854.00.

The market yesterday was staggered by the worst one-day loss since President John F. Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, 1963.

Brokers blamed tight money as one of the causes. One commented:

"Tight money is like a noose and keeps on tightening."

OTHER FACTORS

Other factors mentioned by analysts were the weakness of the British pound and uncertainty about the Viet Nam War.

In Washington, the House Banking Committee approved Monday a bill to limit interest paid on some bank deposits in hopes of channeling more funds to institutions that finance building.

This, the majority indicated, would help ease the money situation. But the Republican minority said the measure "will not do the trick."

Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., contended the bill also would serve as a signal to the Federal Reserve Board that Congress wants lower interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 16.32 points to 852.83, the sharpest drop since it lost 21.16 on Nov. 22, 1963. The year's previous low was 864.14 reached last May 17.

Lansing 'Whose Zoo'

LANSING (UPI) — Nobody really wants to accuse the Lansing City Council of monkey business, but what else can you do when a girl takes her clothes off and her boyfriend knocks the mayor's nameplate askew?

It was a circus all-the-way-around yesterday when Nancy and Zippee, a pair of 2-year-old chimpanzees, came to call on the council before being driven like celebrities to their new home at Lansing's Potter Park Zoo.

Japanese Ship Sinks

Area Power Failure Causes Blackout

A three-square-mile area in northeast Birmingham and the southwest corner of Troy was blacked out for more than an hour last night by a power failure.

The stoppage, which Detroit Edison Co. officials traced to a substation cable failure, affected a region bounded by Big Beaver, Coolidge, Maple, and Adams roads.

Lights in the area flickered and then went out at approximately 8:44 p.m. and came back on at about 9:51.

An Edison spokesman said service lines to the area were rerouted pending repair of the regular cable.

★ ★ ★

Police reported telephone and other utility services in the area were unaffected by the blackout.

Planes Pound Mortar Site After Attack

Casualties Unknown at Command Post Near Saigon Area

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four U.S. Air Force F100 Super Sabre Jets dropped napalm bombs on a suspected Viet Cong mortar site today after the Communist mortar men attacked the command post of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division.

A U.S. military spokesman said there was no information available on casualties or damage caused by the mortars to the 25th Division command post which is near Cu Chi, 18 miles northwest of Saigon. He said an assessment would be made later.

Elsewhere in the south, fighting slackened during the day, but U.S. airmen flew over typhoon winds and through monsoon rains to pound Communist targets north and south of the border.

The mortar shells started falling on the 25th Division base at Cu Chi shortly after sunset.

★ ★ ★

There was no report of any casualties. First reports indicated that it was not a major attack but followed the pattern of other Viet Cong harassments on the doorsteps of Saigon in the past few days.

10 MINUTES

A division spokesman at Cu Chi, reached by telephone, said the shelling lasted about 10 minutes.

"We are in a countermortar phase now," he said, indicating 25th Division gunners were shelling Viet Cong mortar positions which had been located by electronic devices.

Decision Expected Today on Speck Trial

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cook County state's attorney expects a decision today by the grand jury on the evidence submitted against Richard Speck, 24, in the mass murder of eight nurses.

State's Atty. Daniel P. Ward said yesterday: "I have presented the case to the grand jury and I cannot say what the grand jury is going to do."

Ward has said he would seek a murder indictment against Speck for each slaying. Speck is presently charged with murdering Gloria Jean Davy, 22, of Dyer, Ind., who police believe was the first nurse slain in the methodical July 14 massacre.

A murder indictment on each slaying would permit the state to try Speck eight times, if necessary, to get a conviction.

Ward added that he expected a grand jury decision today "through some court."

★ ★

Miss Corazon Amurao, 23, a Filipino exchange student who escaped death by hiding under a bed, was reported by two physicians to be suffering from extreme exhaustion and did not appear before the grand jury.

★ ★ ★

"Due to legal ethical reasons," Ward told newsmen, "I cannot comment on the South Chicago Community Hospital statement that the nurse is suffering from extreme exhaustion and for that reason could not testify before the grand jury."

★ ★ ★

Miss Josephine Chan, director of nursing at the hospital where Miss Amurao is confined and where the victims trained, was the jury's first witness.

Two pathologists from the coroner's office, Dr. Eugene Tapia and Dr. James Henry, also entered the grand jury room.

Canada Holds 2 Detroiters

Warrant Issued by Immigration Agency

MONTREAL (AP) — A Canadian immigration official said a special hearing would be held today or "within the next day or so" for two Detroit men arrested as they stepped off a plane in Montreal.

Anthony J. Giacolone, 47, and Dominic Corrado, 36, were picked up yesterday on a warrant issued by the Immigration Department. No charges were disclosed.

They said they were en route to Quebec City to visit the Shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre. Officials said they drove from Detroit to Windsor, Ont., and flew from there to Montreal.

Giacolone is the son of Pietro Giacolone, a key figure in the U.S. Senate investigation of organized crime 10 years ago, immigration officials said.

A spokesman said the hearing would determine whether the two men may be admitted to Canada or whether they are to be deported. They may not return to the United States until the hearing has ended, he said.

Search Widens for Plane With General Aboard

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Pacific Ocean air-sea search for a missing C47 aircraft with Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell Jr. aboard has expanded to cover an area of 105,000 square miles.

Stilwell, 54, commander of the U.S. Army's Green Beret troop training center, was copilot of the plane, en route to Thailand for use by that country's air force.

DAMAGED GROCERIES — Cleanup operations began today following a fire last night at the People's Food Market, 465 E. Pike. Fast work by Pontiac firemen was credited with bringing the blaze under control some 90 minutes after flames broke out about 5:20 p.m. in a rear storage room. Damages have not been estimated pending an inventory, store officials said.

Senate Rushing Aid Debate

Auto, Highway Bills Are Behind Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sources indicated today House consideration of companion auto and highway safety bills is at least two weeks off despite behind-the-scenes administration urging to speed the two measures.

Both bills are expected to win overwhelming approval on the floor.

The House Commerce Committee finally approved the auto safety portion of the legislation Monday after six weeks of closed sessions.

Similar to the bill passed June 24 by the Senate, it requires the secretary of commerce to set safety standards for all cars, buses and trucks beginning with 1968 models. It also requires the secretary to set standards for used cars—something not covered by the Senate.

REPORT MADE

The Public Works Committee completed work 10 days ago on the highway safety portion of the bill and already has made its report to the House.

Because the Commerce Committee staff expects to take until the end of this week to write its report, it and the Public Works Committee are not expected to go before the Rules Committee until next week to get clearance to take their legislation to the floor.

* * *

The two bills are to be brought up one after the other, the same procedure used in the Senate. They are parallel to the two Senate-passed measures although different in some details.

Both auto safety measures require the secretary to issue initial or interim safety standards Jan. 31, 1967. These would take effect not sooner than 180 days or longer than one year later.

REVISED CODE

By Jan. 31, 1968, the secretary would have to issue revised safety standards, and these would have to be updated periodically.

There is general agreement among those working on the bill that the first standards will be substantially the same as the 26 standards issued by the General Services Administration for cars bought by the government. These include such features as head rests, collapsible steering columns, additional padding and shoulder harness anchorages.

District Ballot Name Remains

Judge Rules Against Candidate's Request

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem ruled yesterday that the name of a Birmingham woman who has withdrawn from the 16th District Senate race will remain on the Aug. 2 primary ballot.

Dale A. Winnie, one of the two remaining candidates seeking the Republican nomination, had asked the court to order the county election commission to remove the name of Mary Bawden.

Mrs. Bawden, 977 Gordon, announced 10 days ago that she was no longer a candidate.

At the time she said she knew that her name would stay on the ballot since state law requires a candidate to withdraw within 72 hours after the filing deadline.

* * *

The last day for withdrawing for the primary this year was June 17.

WINNIE CONTENDED

Winnie, in a suit filed Wednesday, contended that electors who did not know that Mrs. Bawden had withdrawn and voted for her would have their vote nullified.

Mrs. Bawden explained when she withdrew that she believed one candidate would be more effective against the incumbent than two.

Winnie, 40, of 135 Chewton, Birmingham, is challenging incumbent Sen. Robert J. Huber in the primary.

Mrs. Bawden said that she wouldn't campaign for either of the candidates.

Exec Chosen

Pontiac Press business manager Howard H. Fitzgerald II has been named to the Newspaperboy committee of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Wayne C. Sellers of the Rock Hill (S. C.) Herald is the chairman of the committee.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Tonight a belt of rainy conditions will prevail from Nevada to the Atlantic, from Wyoming and Nebraska down to Texas and through most of the deep South. It will be cooler across the North and hot in the Southeast.

MARINES' DAY BEGINS AT DAWN— Fully equipped U.S. Marines walk on the air strip at Dong Ha, eight miles south of the demilitarized zone in Viet Nam, to board helicopters which will carry them to an assault against North Vietnamese regulars in jungle clearings just south of the zone. These men are from the 3rd Battalion, 3rd Marine Division.

Bronson Raps Suit by Kahn

Calls Action Attempt at Publicity-Seeking

Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson today termed a lawsuit against him as "a clear and regrettable attempt by an unknown to get his name before the public."

Bronson, a Circuit Court candidate, was accused in a complaint filed yesterday by another hopeful in the Aug. 2 primary with using deceptive campaign advertising.

In his suit, Farmington Township attorney Bernard S. Kahn said that one of his signs, a 3-by-7-foot banner, was removed from a trailer at a gas station at 10 Mile and Coolidge by a member of Bronson's staff and replaced with one of Bronson's.

Kahn and Bronson are among 22 circuit court candidates.

* * *

REMOVES BANNER

Bronson said the service station is owned by Edward Stone, the brother-in-law of Assistant Prosecutor Bernard Rosner, who took down Kahn's banner.

"Stone also removed the sign on several occasions because it was placed there without his permission and constituted an unlawful trespass," added Bronson.

"If he (Kahn) got permission like he claims, I don't know from whom."

Bronson admitted that his canvas sign that replaced Kahn's was misleading but that it had been a printer's mistake.

* * *

The word "for" had been left out of the phrase "Bronson For Circuit Judge."

He said the sign would be corrected immediately.

A hearing on Kahn's complaint is scheduled for Thursday before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Kahn is asking the court to restrain Bronson from posting misleading signs and from tearing down his signs.

Monkey Business in Lansing Council

off her red, white and blue dress and streaked under a conference table. Then off came her plastic panties. Then a white diaper.

Zippee, meanwhile, whammed Mayor Max E. Murningham's gavel with such authority the "a" on his nameplate in the council chambers came unglued and fell to the carpet.

For an encore, he sipped milk from a plastic cup and then ate that. Nancy munched on a peanut butter cracker.

MISSIONARY TOUR

The chimps were brought to Lansing by the Rev. and Mrs. James Barnard of Olivet, who had acquired them during the six-year missionary tour in Liberia for the Assemblies of God.

U.S. Division HQ Hit by Cong Shells

Backtracking across the near-by 17th Parallel border or westward toward Laos, the Communists left behind 736 dead, the Marines reported.

The battle debris and scarred terrain indicated the enemy toll may be far higher, officers said.

With most of the Hanoi regulars of Division 324B apparently back across the border or in flight toward Laos, Air Force B52s flew over Typhoon Ora early today to bomb suspected Viet Cong jungle hideouts in the D zone stronghold 80 miles northeast of Saigon.

Flying through low clouds and occasional thunderstorms, Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots racked up 71 missions yesterday over North Viet Nam. They hit nine fuel dumps and assorted bridge, rail and supply targets that took them within 20 miles of Hanoi.

Pilots reported half a dozen surface-to-air missiles were sent up against them around Hanoi, but no American losses were reported.

Marine pilots hit a suspected ammunition dump just north of the 17th Parallel on the Red supply route to the South. They reported 50 secondary explosions.

BAD WEATHER

In South Viet Nam, U. S. and South Vietnamese pilots flew a total of 487 single-plane strikes despite bad weather over much of the area.

In the Mekong Delta 78 miles west of Saigon a South Vietnamese militia force of 30 men fought off three times that number of Viet Cong early today.

The Viet Cong called off the attack when a flare plane lit up the predawn darkness. The platoon defending the hamlet of Kien Phong sustained only a few casualties, a spokesman said.

The sound of heavy artillery and air strikes also echoed across Saigon in an effort to forestall a further rise in Communist activity.

An early morning allied barrage took aim at the jungles around Nha Be, the big oil dump 10 miles south of Saigon, and other likely guerrilla targets in the Saigon area. A U.S. military spokesman said the attacks were part of the continuing allied campaign to keep the enemy off balance.

Reverting to the hit-and-run methods they used before the massive U.S. military sweeps, the Viet Cong have been raking small government outposts near Saigon with mortar and machine-gun fire.

A U.S. Air Force F100 Super Sabre jet fighter was shot down by the guerrillas 20 miles outside of Saigon, raising to 118 the number of American planes lost in combat in the South, exclusive of helicopters. The pilot was rescued.

The Nha Be fuel depot, largest in South Viet Nam, is regarded as specially vulnerable.

Allied military men have been expecting a reprisal guerrilla strike at the big tanks since U.S. planes began hitting North Viet Nam's fuel storage areas last month.

Pontiac Wars on Deserted, Junked Cars

Pontiac city officials have declared war on abandoned and junked cars left both on city streets and private property.

Promising a "bigger and better" effort, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said two new notices have been printed for posting on abandoned vehicles.

Police officers, according to Warren, have been instructed to increase their emphasis on warning owners of abandoned and illegally parked vehicles.

A blue notice will be posted on suspected abandoned automobiles left on city streets, citing the vehicle as abandoned.

If there is no response to the notice after 48 hours, police will have the auto removed and impounded.

NOTICE

The yellow notice, citing a vehicle illegally parked, will be posted on automobiles apparently left unlawfully on private property, according to Warren.

Again after 48 hours, and if there is no response, the vehicle will be removed.

Warren said the city's "real rough" attitude has already yielded some results. In one area, he explained, 22 of 30 cars were recently removed by the police or disposed of by their owners.

* * *

Once the city impounds a vehicle, according to Warren, it takes 45 days to dispose of it at auction. He said auctioning of vehicles would be stepped up to combat the shortage of storage space.

Mansfield Calls for Early Start

Hopes to Clear Deck for Other Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speeding up its schedule, the Senate aims for completion of its foreign aid debate today — with Viet Nam seldom far from the surface.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield called senators in two hours early to try to finish action on the measure and clear the deck for other legislation.

* * *

Still pending was an amendment by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., to set up a committee to suggest ways of revamping the aid program and quiet some of the criticism that resulted in some sharp pruning of the program in the Senate this year.

* * *

President Johnson requested $2.5 billion in economic aid, but Committee trimmed this by $117 million and Senate votes have the Senate Foreign Relations cut another $292 million.

SEPARATE MEASURE

A separate measure to be considered later calls for $892 million in military assistance. The House combined the economic and military aid authorizations in approving the administration's foreign aid proposals earlier.

The Senate agreed Monday to authorize the Alliance for Progress program for two years. The voted to limit other sections to a single year.

* * *

Kennedy's amendment to create a committee to study the aid program already has triggered clashes between the New York Democrat and Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

Kennedy said "senators who feel that it is worthwhile making that effort 12,500 miles away" in Viet Nam also should feel it worthwhile to make the lesser effort entailed in economic assistance.

* * *

"We're out there for some purpose," declared Kennedy.

Housing Plan on City Agenda

Plans for the private development of a rent-supplement, multiple housing project are to be unveiled at tonight's regular City Commission meeting.

* * *

Raymond O'Neil of O'Neil Realty Co., 3520 Pontiac Lake, Waterford Township, is to present details of his proposed project involving the federal government's rent subsidy program.

* * *

O'Neil has asked the commission to approve participation in the program. The commission's approval is one of the requirements laid down by the federal government, although the city would not be involved.

* * *

In other business, the commission is scheduled to make two appointments, one to the Zoning Board of Appeals and one to the City Planning Commission.

ON THE DEFENSIVE — U.S. Defense Secretary Robert McNamara (right) and his British counterpart, Denis Healey, talked about defense planning at yesterday's meeting of the NATO defense ministers in Paris. The ministers approved a five-year plan giving special attention to the flank areas of Europe—especially those in the southeastern region.

Firm Is Hired to Study Proposal for Parking Lot

BIRMINGHAM — An engineering study was approved last night by the City Commission to determine the feasibility of structing an underground parking lot in the Shain Park area.

* * *

The Detroit firm of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls Associates, Inc., was hired to undertake the study.

In naming the firm, the commission also appropriated $15,000 from the captial improvement fund to cover estimated cost of the study.

The study is expected to take from four to six weeks to complete, representatives of the firm told commissioners.

* * *

The consultants will hold a series of meetings with the commission as the project develops to inform members of the progress being made and to determine the depth of subsequent studies.

JOINT MEETING

A joint meeting is also planned between staff members of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, and Johnson, Johnson & Roy, engaged by the city to plan a new surface treatment for the park and surrounding Civic Center area.

* * *

The study will include information on comparative cost between underground and surface parking facilities for the area.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Cranbrook Institute of Science will offer a basic physics course beginning Aug. 6 entitled "Ramps, Rainbows and Radiators."

The course, to consist of four classes, will be aimed at answering questions based on the matter and motion of everyday life.

Michael V. Butler, associate curator of physics, will direct the series with meetings and field trips to observe applications of basic physics principles in the area around the Institute of Science.

The sessions are geared to adults and students 13 years and older.

Hours are from 10 a.m. to noon on Aug. 6, 13, 20 and 27. Enrollment will be limited to 30. A fee of $10 will be charged.

Optimism Seen on Yanks' Fate

Less Fear That Reds Will Try Prisoners

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration appears to have adopted an attitude of cautious optimism concerning the fate of American airmen and other war prisoners in the hands of Communist North Viet Nam.

There has been a notable absence of any official warnings of serious consequences for Hanoi such as characterized the remarks of a number of officials and congressmen last week.

This more restrained attitude has become particularly evident since last Saturday, the day the White House said President Johnson received word Hanoi might not carry out its threat to try the captive U. S. fliers as "war criminals."

It was clear the President and his aides still took an extremely grave view of the problem and were in no way less insistent that North Viet Nam abide strictly by the Geneva convention rules on treatment of prisoners of war.

* * *

It seemed equally clear, however, that the administration recognized the emotional dynamite in the war prisoner issue and was anxious to do or say nothing to arouse public opinion any further.

UNIFIED ACTION

Administration officials believe that even critics of the President's policies would unite behind him in almost any action he deemed necessary if the prisoners were mistreated.

The State Department, asked to comment yesterday on North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's weekend message that there was "no trial in view," said, "we welcome any indication that Amreican prisoners will not be tried on the false charge that they are guilty of war crimes."

City Attorney Is Ruled Out of JP Primary

A Pontiac attorney has failed in his attempt to get his name on the Aug. 2 primary ballot in Bloomfield Township as a justice of the peace candidate.

* * *

Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn yesterday denied the request of Barry A. Kushner, who was seeking to upset a legislative act that eliminated the election this year of justices and extended the terms of those in office.

Kushner, 32, of 6333 Worlington was challenging the authority of the Legislature to enact such a measure.

Thorburn ruled that the Legislature did have the power to pass measures to implement the new constitution, which abolishes the justice court system throughout the state by Jan. 1, 1968.

* * *

The Legislature extended the terms of elected justices as a means of providing a more orderly departure of the officeholders.

PREVIOUS RULE

A week ago Thorburn did rule in favor of another attorney who was seeking to have his name placed on the ballot for justice in West Bloomfield Township.

* * *

In that case, however, the attorney Richard Kramer, argued that the legislation was directed only at elected justices and that the post he was seeking was being held by an appointee.

Defense Aides to Air NATO's Nuclear Role

PARIS (AP) — Discussion of allied participation in nuclear planning for the defense of Western Europe was on the agenda today for a meeting of defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

At a session Monday, the ministers approved a five-year plan to bolster the defense of the flanks of the alliance, particularly the southeastern region covering Greece and Turkey. It also ordered development of new financing arrangements for mobile forces to help defend the flank areas.

* * *

U. S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara called for an increase in NATO strength to discourage the Communist bloc from being "tempted to test our will and capability to resist."

A communique rounding up the results of the meeting gave no details, but informed sources said there was general agreement that NATO's military strength is barely adequate and must not be allowed to deteriorate.

Today's meeting involved the nuclear planning working group, of which McNamara is chairman. He said it is "studying ways of improving and extending allied participation in the planning for nuclear forces in the defense of NATO."

Needy Young Get in Swim With Help of Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Needy youngsters soon will be splashing in 70 swimming pools at military bases across the nation.

The Pentagon has agreed to share the pools under a crash effort by the federal government to help cool off major metropolitan areas.

The Defense Department was enlisted in the new program by the Office of Economic Opportunity, which handles the government's antipoverty program.

The OEO said several cities were seeking additional recreational facilities "on an emergency basis immediately."

RACIAL OVERTONES?

An OEO spokesman declined to say whether the campaign — also aimed at providing public and private pools and even sprinklers for fire hydrants — was calculated in part to ease racial tensions in some areas.

A memorandum sent by Sargent Shriver, director of the antipoverty program, to OEO regional offices, said: "In case of public inquiry, it should be emphasized that this is an expansion of OEO summer program efforts and it seeks to be responsive to the needs of communities."

★ ★ ★

The potential use of pools at 40 military installations in 15 states was one of four approaches toward assisting what the OEO called "target area residents." These selected areas include 35 major cities.

Howard Huges flew an airplane around the world in 3 days, 19 hours, and 14 minutes in 1938, a record at that time.

Hot Desert Hiker Plods On in Sun

DEATH VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — You can add one perspiring Frenchman to the list of those who venture out in the noonday sun.

The Frenchman is Jean Pierre Marquant, 28, an exparatrooper who not only ventured out at noon, he did it in midsummer in shimmering Death Valley — a practice shunned even by veteran desert rats.

His goal is to complete a long walk—he says it's about 100 miles—on sizzling, scorching sands and rocks, where the air temperature was at least 115 degrees yesterday and ground temperatures soared to 190.

Marquant says he's walking to prove there's still some adventure in America.

★ ★ ★

VERY WEAK

"I feel very weak and tired, but I think I can do it," Marquant told a crew that brought him provisions.

Chief Ranger Homer Leach said he drove out to meet Marquant yesterday and found the French hiker in good shape.

By Clarkston Teachers

Contract OK'd

CLARKSTON — School teachers here have unanimously approved a 1966-67 contract culminating six months of talks, Supt. of Schools Dr. L. F. Greene learned last night.

Greene was notified by a spokesman of the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) following a meeting of teachers last night in which votes were tallied.

The Clarkston Board of Education had approved the contract July 11 following agreement between negotiating teams representing the board and CEA.

Teachers with bachelor degrees now will receive a starting salary of $5,600, a $500 increase over the 1965-66 rate.

* * *

They will earn a maximum pay of $8,696 after 10 years compared with the previous high of $7,913.

SPECIALIST DEGREES

Teachers with master's degrees now will receive salaries ranging from $5,983 to $9,921 compared with the former spread of $5,329 to $8,269.

A $6,252 starting salary will be paid to teachers with specialist degrees instead of the previous $5,568. The maximum wage was boosted from $8,041 to $9,719.

Under the agreement, elementary teachers will be allowed a 30-minute lunch period whenever possible.

* * *

In addition, two part-time lay employes will be hired at each of the district's five elementary schools to assist teachers in supervising lunch programs.

"I'm sure both negotiating teams learned a great deal from this one process," said Greene. Negotiations began in January.

Land-Fill Site Closed Down

Court Halts Pontiac Township Operation

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — A controversial land-fill site located on Bald Mountain has been closed by federal court order.

The operation was ordered terminated following an order-to-show-cause hearing Friday before Judge Harry H. Hackett in bankruptcy court in Detroit.

Charles MacRae, the principal officer of NARCO (Natural Resource Conservators, Inc.), was ordered to vacate the property. Further dumping has been forbidden.

Sunday, two days after the sign was posted designating the closing of the land-fill site, a fire erupted. It reportedly simmered down yesterday.

The site has been the scene of several spontaneous combustion-ignited fires in recent weeks, causing injuries, traffic jams and a threat to nearby Silverbell Ski Resort.

BRINGING IN SAND

Pontiac Township Supervisor Leonard Terry said measures will be taken to extinguish the smouldering areas of the dump.

"We're going to bring in some foundry sand to smother the dump," he said.

"We're going to close this place permanently," asserted Terry.

"It took me three years to do it," added Terry. "I fought it right down the line. There'll never be a dump up there again."

State and county health officials also put pressure on MacRae, setting a deadline for him to comply with a new Michigan law regulating solid waste disposal areas.

Union Lakers Plan Protest

A group of Union Lake area property owners will meet with an official from the State Conservation Department tonight in an effort to curb the use of commercial docks on Union Lake.

* * *

Milton Dolan, president of the Union Lake Shores Association, said lake area residents believe the dock operators have been infringing on their water rights by extending long docks out into the lake and shutting off the lake to normal water traffic.

Boats at anchor beyond the docks, he said, have added to the problem.

Dolan maintained that the docks have not been policed properly by the owners and have been a source of garbage, oil slicks, cans and weeds.

* * *

Robert Taack, a representative of the conservation department will preside over a public hearing on the problem at Keith Elementary School on Keith Road at 7:30 p.m.

Rochester Office Zoning Approved Over Protests

ROCHESTER — Land on the north side of West University from Madison to the village limits will be rezoned to office use despite charges of spot zoning and spoiling the western approach to the village.

* * *

In a 4-3 vote last night the Village Council approved rezoning of the land covering about seven blocks.

Voting against the rezoning were Louis Mitzelfeld, John Boeberitz and Burdette Lewis. Those in favor were John Lowes, Roy Rewold, Samuel Howlett and Kenneth Vasnocker.

Objections from the residents were focused on the question of spot zoning and the traffic which office zoning might create.

* * *

They also claimed that offices along University would spoil the approach from the west into the village.

NEED DOUBTED

The Regional Planning Commission had previously recommended disapproval of the rezoning. The Commission said there was no need for additional office zoning.

In other action, the council set a public hearing for Aug. 22 on the paving of Miller Street from Parkdale to Rochester Meadows subdivision.

Residents petitioned the council a year ago but the matter was tabled because of insufficient funds.

* * *

If the work is approved, the council will attempt to combine it with work on the Mill Pond roadway so that one set of bids can be taken on both jobs.

PUBLIC HEARING

The council also set Sept. 12 for an informative public hearing on the proposed incorporation of the village.

Residents will vote Sept. 20 on the incorporation of the area within the village limits into a home rule city.

An abandoned car ordinance was adopted which gives police the power to remove abandoned cars after a 60-day notice.

A junk car is one which remains for 60 days without an operable engine, four usable tires and a current license plate.

Vacation Paradise in Canada..
30¢ PER ACRE
By authority of Acts of Parliament, Canada is engaged in an extraordinary program to dispose of magnificent crown land. (Exceptions: New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and P.E.I.) As U.S. citizens, you're eligible to pick up full title to parcels of choice property up to 125 acres for business and/or pleasure. The cost? As little as 30 cents per acre, depending on location. (That's right, CENTS!) Why so ridiculously inexpensive? Two reasons: To stimulate tourism and to produce new tax-bearing land. That's why you can receive full title to remote, accessible property near U.S. border in beautiful, friendly Canada. (Ideal for retirement.)
Look at the advantages: • Permanent residence not required • Exceptionally low taxes • Thousands of superb locations coast to coast—easily accessible, within easy driving distance of U.S. border • Excellent financial opportunity • Mineral rights usually obtainable.
All this costs you next to nothing—one acre, believe it or not, costs you less than a penny! Regardless of location. Where in the U.S. can you pick up quality property under terms like this? Why pay land promoters hundreds, even thousands of dollars when your own private vacation paradise is available just across the border for a tiny fraction of the cost? Remember — no chance of a dishonest deal, no high-pressure salesmen, no high dues for real estate agencies. You deal direct with government — no agent or middleman. CIB, a registered private company, does not buy or sell land. CIB is only registered to provide detailed, factual information on acquiring land direct from Canadian and every provincial government. No gimmicks, no red tape, no long delays. Only condition is that property be utilized (e.g. cottage erected). Act now for your summer vacation!

Holly Votes Boost in School Millage

HOLLY — School district voters yesterday approved a 5-mill increase in their school taxes.

It was the second time the 5-mill proposal for four years had been submitted to the electorate. The first proposal failed on June 13 by one vote, 365 to 364.

Voters yesterday approved the millage hike by 112 votes. The vote was 516 to 404 with 13 spoiled ballots.

Since the June 13 vote, the school board has decided to reduce the debt retirement levy from the 9 mills now being assessed to 6 mills.

In effect, then, the approval of the extra 5 operating mills will mean a net increase of 2 mills in total school taxes.

HIGHER COST

Schools Superintendent Russell D. Haddon said that the increase will cost residents of Holly Township $2 per $1000 of equalized evaluation.

In other townships, he continued, the increase will be slightly higher due to differing assessing practices.

Prior to the board's action reducing the debt levy, a 5-mill extension would have cost Holly

Township property owners $5 per $1000.

* * *

The cutback in the debt tax was an outgrowth of a rise of $3.7-million in the total assessed value to the school district.

JUST ENOUGH

The reduced debt levy will produce no revenue surplus, according to Haddon, it will raise only enough money to retire bonds maturing in 1967.

The added operating revenue, said Haddon, will be used to maintain a quality curriculum in the schools and to make needed improvements in some areas.

School board members feared that without the millage the new addition to the Patterson Elementary School could not be staffed and opened.

Some cutbacks would have been required in the teaching staff, services and curriculum if the millage vote had failed, added the superintendent.

GOOD TEACHERS

The money will also assure that class sizes will be kept down and that good teachers can be attracted and held with reasonable salaries, he said.

* * *

Haddon estimates that the 5 mills will yield approximately $117,000 annually in added revenue.

He said that, even with the levy increase, the Holly school district still has the lowest school operating taxes in the county.

Firm in Troy Out $30,000, One-Ton Safe

TROY — The theft of a safe containing $30,000 in cash and checks from an auto agency was under investigation today by Troy police.

* * *

The one-ton safe, encased in a cement block, was stolen from Trudell Ford, 777 John R, early yesterday, after thieves entered the building by prying open a rear door.

Police said they believe the thieves used the agency's tow truck hoist to first lift an overhead door and then to place the safe on a getaway truck.

The safe contained $3,039 in cash, $25,000 in checks and two bank drafts, according to police.

* * *

The break-in was discovered when employes arrived at work yesterday.

Early Trading Active

Stock Mart Posts Small Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market posted a small gain in active trading early today.

It was a turnaround from Monday when the market suffered its worst loss since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, and sank to a new 1966 low.

Some brokers, trying to assess the setback, said it was largely technical, accentuated by selling by chartists when the averages broke through the low of May 17.

Most gains in early trading today were fractional with a few running to a point or so.

SPERRY RAND

Sperry Rand, which has been leading the most active list almost daily, opened unchanged at 28¾ on a block of 22,000 shares.

Opening blocks included American Telephone, up ¼ at 54¾ on 3,500 shares; General Motors, up ⅛ at 80¾ on 3,700 shares; Boeing, up ¼ at 63 on 3,000 shares, and Sears, Roebuck, off 1¼ at 52¾ on 2,700 shares.

* * *

Monday the Associated Press 60 stock average declined 5.4 to 306.2.

* * *

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Fractional gains were made by Creolex Petroleum, General Plywood and Syntex. Small losses were taken by Data-Control, Ogden and Technicolor.

Lions Have Veteran Gaps to Fill for Scrimmage

MAKE OVER PAGES

SPORTS

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Steve Whisner, Miami of Ohio college student from Grand Blanc, was as stunned as was the golf world with the news of the death of Tony Lema in the private plane crash Sunday.

Whisner was probably closer to Lema than anyone on the golf course. He was the caddy for the two years the happy Champagne golfer won the Buick Open.

* * *

In fact, it was Whisner who engineered the victories in 1964 and 1965, and Lema himself credited the caddy as the biggest factor in his triumphs.

In a national magazine Whisner was mentioned by name in a story by Lema as the best caddy he had ever had in any tournament.

"Lema depended on the caddy quite a bit," said Whisner, "he and I discussed the club and distance nearly on every shot.

"After winning in 1964, a week after he had won the Thunderbird Open, Lema was so happy he made it clear he would be looking for me when he came back the following year."

Whisner called the club and Lema did the rest in winning the Buick again in 1965.

The two "engineering" performances earned Whisner $1,400 which helped him begin his college education, but ironically they also cost Lema his caddy, because Whisner was still in school last month when Tony tried for his third straight title.

Whisner caddied for two of the most colorful golfers on the tour at Warwick Hills.

CALLED FOR CHI CHI

Prior to his Lema assignment, he carried the bag for two years for Chi Chi Rodriguez.

"Chi Chi clowned around a lot, but he was tougher on his caddies," said Whisner. He treated them fairly, however, even though he didn't win too much.

"Lema was very lenient. While most of the golfers would get to the course about 1½ hours before starting time, he was usually a late arrival. One hour was soon enough for him, and he never went out to practice after a round like some of the top pros do when they are not happy with their game.

"I'm not saying Lema didn't believe in practicing. He really did and he took it seriously, but I guess he had the attitude he could overdo it and get stale instead of better."

Gene Bone, who moved onto the tour the same year as Lema in 1956, concurred with Whisner's thinking.

"Tony worked diligently all the time, but he believed a little layoff was good to build up his desire and self-confidence," said Bone, the Pontiac pro at Bay Pointe Golf Club.

"I happened to be in the foursome with Lema, Billy Casper and Arnold Palmer in the Crosby tournament, long before Lema crashed into the top 10, and he would say, 'The shots are starting to go my way, I'm going to nail down some of these big ones'," Bone recalled.

GIVES THANKS

During the 1966 Masters, early on Sunday morning, this writer sat near Lema in the same pew of an Augusta church.

Upon leaving the church, Lema stopped to say a few words to the pastor standing on the sidewalk.

We heard Lema reply when the clergyman asked if a few of his prayers may have been for his round that day.

"Nope," Tony said, "just a word of thanks for letting me see the sun on this beautiful Sunday morning."

Lema never saw the sun yesterday morning. His bubbling personality will be missed, as will the bubbling celebrations which followed his many triumphs.

'Big' Bears Face Fines at Chicago

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Several rookies were cut by professional football clubs and several Chicago Bears were fined for not cutting — extra weight.

One of the biggest cuts Monday was George Sutor, a 6-foot-7, former LaSalle basketball player, who was released by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

* * *

On the other end of the scale was 5-foot-10 Ken Lucas, former University of Pittsburgh quarterback, who was released by the NFL Pittsburgh Steelers because he had trouble seeing over big, on-rushing lineman.

Meanwhile, in the camp of the Chicago Bears, 12 players were fined $50 daily for being overweight and threatened with $200 fines starting next Sunday if they are not at playing weight.

"We are not making the progress expected at this stage of training camp," said Owner-Coach George Halas, one of the NFL's founders. "We are being held back principally by 12 overweight players. They are being fined $50 a day from July 22, but that is small consolation to the coaches."

NOT NAMED

The 12 players were not named.

The Washington Redskins waived seven players, but two of them, defensive halfback Hal Seymour of Florida and halfback Tom Michel, were designated as injured and will remain club property.

* * *

The five given regular waivers included tackle Mike Bundra, linebackers Al Watershield of West Texas State and Dick Fugere of Cincinnati, flanker Dick Griesheim of Illinois Teachers and defensive back Dave Bowden of Fort Valley, Ga. State.

Bundra is a three-time loser, having had trials with the New York Giants and Baltimore Colts.

TALLIES FOR TRIBE — Cleveland Indians' Max Alvis slides safely across the plate in the first inning as Washington catcher Paul Casanova loses control of the ball during their game in the nation's capital. Alvis was on with a triple and scampered home when the ball got away from Casanova. Cleveland won, 6-3.

Intra-Squad Showing Set for Saturday

Studstill Walks Out as Team Prepares for Wisner Appearance

There may be three benches on the sidelines for the full dress scrimmage of the Detroit Lions at Wisner Stadium Saturday night.

One will be for the offense, another for the defense and a special area for "walkouts."

Latest to leave camp to join John Gordy and Darris McCord was Pat Studstill. Still in camp without contracts are Bruce Maher and Ron Kramer, and absent with retirement in mind are J. D. Smith and Ted Karras.

* * *

It all points to the possibility that some of the rookies will get to stay around a little longer, and the top newcomers may get to see more action than they figured a week later when the first exhibition game is played with the Minnesota Vikings in New Orleans.

With the public barred from the training camp at Cranbrook because of traffic and parking congestion, Saturday's scrimmage presents the only opportunity for pro fans to get a close look at the team before the pre-season schedule begins.

In fact, if the Lions stay at Cranbrook and the public is barred in future years, and coach Harry Gilmer decides as much local pro fans may not see the Lions at all before their first exhibition game.

JUST SCRIMMAGE

Gilmer expressed that the Wisner showing will be "a good hard scrimage and not a game." He is also opposed to having a promoted admission event as such before the start of the exhibition season.

* * *

At any rate, Gilmer and Lions will be at Wisner Saturday night at 8:00 p.m. with a short pre-scrimmage clinic, followed by the scrimmage at 8:0.

* * *

Dixieland music and drawing of football prizes will also be part of the program sponsored by the Community National Bank and the Pontiac Jaycees.

While Gilmer was preparing the team for Saturday night's intra-squad showing, personnel director Russ Thomas' problems of getting the complete squad under contract mounted when Studstill told him he was leaving camp, unhappy with the negotiations.

Crash of Lema's Plane Investigated

LANSING, Ill. (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board investigative team searched today for new clues to the crash of a private plane that killed world golfing star Tony Lema, his wife and two other persons.

George Green, CAB field superintendent, said investigators were looking into the possibility of engine failure as the cause of the crash.

* * *

The twin-engine craft was en route to the Chicago-Hammond Airport from Akron, Ohio, where Lema had just completed play in the PGA tourney.

The pilot, Mrs. Doris Mullen, 43, of Joliet, Ill., and the copilot, Dr. George Bard, 41, of Kankakee, Ill., also died when the small plane plunged into the ground at a golf course and burst into flames.

"We are going to look into reports from several sources," Green said Monday, "that there was trouble in the power system (engines). We don't have a weather problem or a darkness problem. So investigation may be made somewhat easier than some because we have a few things we can eliminate."

Lema, 32, and his wife, Betty, were going to Crete, Ill., where the 1964 British Open champion was scheduled to play in Monday's $12,000 Lincolnshire Open.

The pilot's husband, Dr. Wylie Mullen, was waiting at the airport. He and his wife were investors in the company that owned the plane, Mainline Aviation of Joliet.

Mullen said the plane made a swing around the field, with no indication of trouble, but one or both engines cut out as it glided low over the nearby golf course, then started briefly.

* * *

When the engines died the second time, the plane descended, swerved to avoid a group of people struck the ground and bounded into the edge of lagoon where it exploded in flames.

The bodies of the Lemas were sent to their home town, San Leandro, Calif.

Four Jockeys Hurt in Spill at Hazel Park

HAZEL PARK (AP) — Four jockeys were injured Monday when their horses piled up on a turn at Hazel Park Race Course.

Danny Gargan was leading the field on Samll Bandit when the horse's left foreleg snapped off. Gargan suffered a broken shoulder. Officials destroyed the horse.

* * *

Three other horses piled into Samll Bandit.

Apprentice Steve Willard was hospitalized with a possible broken right arm after his horse, Perilous Pride, fell over Samll Bandit.

Veteran Howard Craig, riding The Nob, was treated at the track for neck and shoulder injuries. Apprentice Walter Layland, astride Teddy Gavin, suffered bruises.

Bailey Sails to Victory

George Bailey may have struck a blow for experience Sunday in the weekly Lake Angelus snipe races.

Bailey's son Dave was runner-up to Don Hite in the morning race, but the father did the skippering in the afternon and won that race with Rich Gould finishing second.

Giants Near Lead

Marichal Stuns Bucs

By The Associated Press

Some of his more zealous fans at home say if he wanted to run, Juan Marichal could be elected president of the Dominican Republic.

Marichal, however, wouldn't win any popularity contest in the National League, especially with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

* * *

But then, neither would Herman Franks.

Franks and Marichal teamed up Monday and sparked the San Francisco Giants to a 2-1 victory over the first-place Pirates. The triumph moved the Giants to within two percentage points of the lead.

Marichal, the ace right-hander of the league, originally was scheduled to pitch against Philadelphia Sunday. But Giant Manager Franks decided to save him for the opener of the crucial three-game series with Pittsburgh.

Thus, the 28-year-old Dominican rested four days instead of three. The change didn't hurt him.

He stopped the Pirates on six hits, halted Roberto Clemente's hitting streak at 17 games, didn't walk anyone and scored the eventual deciding run after an alert bit of base running.

Taken together that gave Marichal his 16th victory against four defeats, his 16th complete game in 23 starts and an earned run average of 1.95.

Marichal also extended his walkless streak to none in the last 22 innings and now is averaging only one walk per game.

A guy can't become very popular with that kind of record.

In the only other NL games, Los Angeles downed Philadelphia 6-3 and New York trimmed Houston 6-4.

Cleveland defeated Washington 6-3 in the only American League game.

The Giants handed rookie Woody Fryman his fifth defeat against eight victories. They did it by scoring two runs in the third inning.

Ollie Brown singled and beat Fryman's throw to second on Marichal's sacrifice bunt.

DOUBLE PLAY

Tito Fuentes followed with a single, driving in Brown, and when Fryman, backing up the plate, tried to get Fuentes coming back to first, Marichal darted for third and made it. He then came home as Hal Lanier grounded into a double play.

Fred Whitfield powered Cleveland's victory, slamming two homers and a single and driving in three runs.

Stiff Breezes Help Blitzen to Cross Line

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP)— Taking advantage of stiff breezes, defending champion Blitzen was the first boat to cross the finish line today in the 333-mile Chicago to Mackinac yacht race.

The 56-foot cutter, owned by Tom and Bill Schoendorf of Milwaukee, crossed the finish line here at 36 seconds past 12:07 EST. Its elapsed time was 57 hours, 52 minutes and 36 seconds. The corrected time was 55 hours, five minutes and 39 seconds.

HOUR BEHIND

It appeared that Matena, a 72-foot sloop, the largest boat in the 157-yacht fleet, would be the second craft across the finish line today. Matena, skippered by Charles Bissell of Grand Rapids was more than an hour behind Blitzen when the latter finished.

Thunderstorms showered Lake Michigan Monday night, and a Coast Guard aircraft crew reported higher winds were scattering the fleet.

Larkins and Taylor, an All-Oakland County Class B basketball selection, shared second place behind Lee Edmundson, 17, of Ludington who carded an even par 36-35—71.

Winning the fourth spot in the national tournament was 15-year-old John VanderMeiden of Grand Haven, who sank an 18-foot putt on the first hole of a sudden death playoff with three other golfers.

Teamsters 9 Gets Closer to 'A' Lead

Some timely hitting and the one-hit pitching of Tom Walters has pulled Teamsters No. 614 within a half game of first place in the Pontiac Men's Class A baseball race.

The Teamster crew romped past Cranbrook, 13-1, last night, running its record to 12-4, just a victory back of league-leading Clippers (13-4).

The union squad collected single runs in the first two innings and broke loose for five in the third and six in the fourth and the game was halted after five frames.

With his teammates cracking the ball, Walters had an easy time. He struck out nine in five innings and yielded one hit, a one-out single by Al Levy in the fifth.

MILT WOODARD

AFL Names New League Chief

NEW YORK (AP) — Milt Woodard has taken over as the new commissioner of the American Football League, succeeding Al Davis.

The 55-year-old Woodard, a native of Tacoma, Wash., stepped into the shoes of his old boss, Joe Foss, when the 37-year-old Davis quit Monday in a move that had been long rumored. Davis had replaced Foss as commissioner last April 6.

Davis' resignation had been expected since the recent merger of the AFL and the National Football League, effective in 1970. Davis had opposed the merger.

"I don't know what my position will be when the merger becomes effective in 1970," Woodard said. "That's up to the owners to decide. I have not yet actually signed my contract, but I believe it will be for at least three years.

"I couldn't turn down this opportunity," he added.

Woodard had been assistant to Foss until Davis took office. He went to Florida then on private business while retaining a part-time status with the AFL.

TOP MAN

Under the terms of the AFL-NFL merger Pete Rozelle, the NFL Commissioner, will be the over-all boss.

"No one knows the AFL better than Woodard," said Ralph Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills who announced the executive changes. "His experience will be invaluable in guiding us through the transitions we will experience during the next few years."

Davis would not reveal his plans, but said he would continue to serve the league in an advisory capacity. It is considered likely he will collect the remainder of his five-year contract at an estimated $90,000 annually.

Before succeeding Foss, Davis had been head coach and general manager of the Oakland Raiders.

49ers-Brodie Communication Non-Existent

MORAGA, Calif. (AP) — Lou Spadia, general manager of the San Francisco 49ers, told reporters Monday that communication with holdout quarterback John Brodie is non-existent.

"He has not contacted me; in fact, I have not heard from him since he went to Hawaii," Spadia said.

* * *

He also asked reporters to quit questioning 49 Coach Jack Christiansen and address all questions about Brodie to himself. "Whatever the problem with John," Spadia said, "Chris has not been, nor is he now, involved."

* * *

There have been reports that Brodie is asking $1 million to sign. He was offered a three-year, $750,000 contract in May by the Houston Oilers of the American Football League. But the merger between the AFL and the National Football League killed that deal.

Hurler's Name Wrong

In a report of Sunday's Amateur Day games in yesterday's Press, Ken Jaster was given credit for a no-hitter as his Yellow Cab teammates downed Columbia Avenue RA, 7-0, in junior action.

The name was incorrectly spelled. It should have been Ken Foster.
