Monday's School Vote Vital

Tax Important for Construction and Expenses

2 Board Members to Be Elected; Polls Open at 7, Close 8 P. M.

Pontiac School District voters will go to the polls Monday in a school election that will include two special issues in addition to the election of two board members.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. Monday.

All 42,500 school district voters registered to vote in general elections can vote in Monday's school election. They do not need to own property.

Voting places will be Bagley, Bailey, Baldwin, Central, Crofoot, Eastern, Emerson, Hawthorne, LeBaron, Longfellow, Lincoln, McConnell, Owen, Washington, Webster, Whitfield, Whittier, Willis and Wilson schools.

Voters will have three main tasks before them Monday:

1. They must choose two of the six candidates for the Pontiac Board of Education. The seventh candidate Edward P. Barrett, has withdrawn from the race. Still running are Mrs. Paul A. (Matlyn) Brown, Dr. Walter L. Godsell, Mrs. Harry (Lois B.) King, Dr. Leonard F. Klausmeyer, Paul J. Simmons and Everett C. Spurlock.

2. They must decide whether to put Oakland County under a state law so it can set up a county-wide system for educating handicapped children and whether to vote a half-mill (50 cents on each $1,000 worth of property) to pay for the program.

3. They must decide whether to let Pontiac Board of Education levy school taxes 6.25 mills over the 15-mill limit from 1955 until 1957 and 8.75 mills over the limit from 1958-1964.

Actually, the net tax increase from this 10-year Pontiac tax proposal would be only about 4.25 mills ($4.25 per $1,000) as two voted taxes now being levied will expire—one this year and one in 1957.

The schools' total tax rate would run about 18.45 mills from now through 1964—a dollar-and-cents hike of $13 to $14 a year for the person who owns a home assessed at $3,000.

The proposed tax increase would accomplish two purposes, school officials say:

It would build some $9,000,000 worth of new schools — enough to contain Pontiac's growing enrollment for the next 10 years. School men expect the number of students

Cohn, Kennedy Almost Tangle at Army Hearing

Hot Exchange of Words Ends in Fight Challenge by McCarthy Aide

WASHINGTON (INS)—A sidelines fracas that almost led to blows lent new bitterness to the Army-McCarthy hearings today as the marathon inquiry rounded into what seemed to be the home stretch.

Blazing words exchanged by Roy M. Cohn and Robert F. Kennedy after Friday's session overshadowed other developments and appeared to be the forerunner to new battles to come next week.

Cohn, 27, is chief counsel, and Kennedy, 28, is Democratic counsel of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, which is conducting the televised hearings.

Kennedy told newsmen he became enraged when Cohn threatened to "get" Sen. Henry M. Jackson after the latter ridiculed a psychological warfare plan by Pvt. G. David Schine, former subcommitte consultant.

Acting Chairman Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) told newsmen that he will call night sessions if necessary to complete the investigation next week. It already has covered 32 days in seven weeks.

The Cohn - Kennedy shouting spree, which took place in full view of newsmen and astonished other observers, was a direct result of the cross-examination of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy by Jackson.

Cohn denied making any threat and maintained he only said Jackson "was unfair about the questions he was asking about the report." He said he asked Kennedy if he felt qualified to take part in the hearings when he has "hatred" for one of the principals.

Asked later to explain this, Cohn said: "Before the hearings, he sought out somebody in Sen. McCarthy's office and said he hated me and was going to get me in these hearings."

After telling newsmen that he is

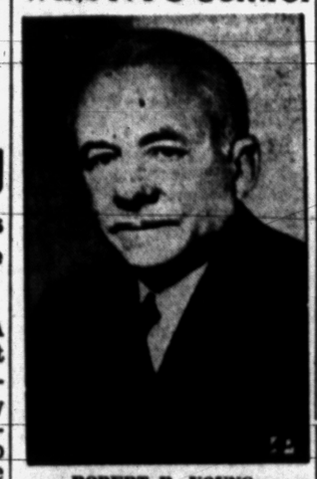
Wins NYC Control



ROBERT R. YOUNG

Young Is Victor in Central Fight

Financier Wins Control of Nation's 2nd Largest Railroad

NEW YORK (AP)—The future of the nation's second biggest railroad, the New York Central, lay today in the hands of Texas-born financier Robert R. Young.

He won the bitter fight for control by a margin of 1,070,000 shares out of the Central's grand total of 6,447,410, an authoritative source who declined to be named said yesterday.

The official results, which may vary slightly from this figure, are to be announced Monday at 10 a.m. EDT by the election inspectors at Albany, N. Y., where the count of shares has been in progress since the stockholders' meeting May 26.

But there was no doubt about the outcome. In Los Angeles, Young's wealthy Texas friend, Clint W. Murchison, confirmed the smashing victory.

It was Murchison who, with his fellow Texan, Sid W. Richardson, bought the long-contested 800,000 shares which were the back-bone of Young's victory.

"Yes, we have won the Central fight—the Young group, that is," said Murchison, "it's in the bag.

Decision Leaves Geneva Parley Up in the Air

President Coty Waiting Until Monday to Reply to Resignation

PARIS (AP) — The French National Assembly handed Premier Joseph Laniel an adverse vote — 306-293—on a question of confidence today and he submitted his resignation. President Rene Coty did not accept the resignation immediately, however, saying he would give his reply Monday.

This leaves France with a half-in and half-out government over the weekend. It also leaves the Geneva conference in suspense. If the resignations are accepted a long crisis may follow and the Geneva conference may have to disband for lack of a French representative with power to act.

The crisis was precipitated despite Laniel's warning to the National Assembly that Communists would exploit a no-confidence vote as "a prelude to unconditional surrender" in the Far East.

The vote came shortly after Laniel pleaded for the lawmakers to keep him in unless an effective new government could be formed immediately. The lawmakers began casting their ballots only about two hours after the opening of the debate, a surprisingly short time.

In his brief address at the start of the debate, Laniel said his government should be kept in office unless "a new team can be formed immediately with a large and faithful majority."

His words apparently fell on deaf ears. He got only scattered applause at the finish and none from the critical points of the Assembly where he needs help most.

Laniel said that he did not believe the Assembly was ready to accept an "Asiatic Munich," by agreeing to give up its fight on honorable terms in Indochina and he did not believe that a majority of the Assembly was willing to vote down the Atlantic alliance.

He implied that a defeat for ...s government might lead to one or both of these consequences.

Laniel said that those who had accused the government of not seriously seeking peace in Indochina at the Geneva conference might be destroying all chances for such a peace by throwing him out of office.

Laniel bitterly attacked the Communists as working against

Senate OK Expected for Reciprocal Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders in both parties today predicted Senate approval of an extension of the nation's 20-year-old reciprocal trade program which expires at midnight.

The House passed a one-year extension bill yesterday 281 to 53, giving President Eisenhower a partial victory on the controversial foreign trade issue.

The big question in the Senate was whether a group of Democrats would make an all-out fight for what the President originally asked for—a three-year extension with new power to cut tariffs 15 per cent.

Key House Republicans strongly opposed this proposal. Eisenhower subsequently let it be known he would settle for a simple one-year extension this year, the same as Congress voted in 1953, but said this does not mean he is backing down from his long-range program for promoting trade between America and other nations.

Kidnap Victim Identifies Welder as Her Abductor

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—Mrs. Evelyn Ann Smith identified an unemployed welder as the man who kidnaped her for $75,000 ransom but the suspect refused today to admit or deny the abduction.

The welder, Daniel Joseph Marsin, was trapped, in part, by his persistent mispronunciation of the Superstition Mountains, where Mrs. Smith was held captive, as the "Superstitious Mountains."

Police were searching today for the $75,000 paid by the victim's husband, well-to-do Herbert Smith, to win her release Thursday.

Maricopa County Attorney William P. Mahoney Jr. said that Marsin "would neither admit nor deny" the crime during several hours of questioning.

Mrs. Smith confronted Marsin Friday. She said that although Marsin was wearing different clothes than her abductor, she recognized physical characteristics.

Marsin, she said, also called the nearby range of hills the "superstitious."

Salk Participant Contracts Polio

Oakland County Girl, 7, 2nd Test-Group Child Stricken in Michigan

Oakland County's first case of poliomyelitis among children taking part in the Salk polio field tests was reported today.

Linda Brooks, 7, of 22028 Albion, Farmington Township, is being treated at the Sister Kenny Polio Treatment Center, Farmington, for non-paralytic polio.

The second grade student at Middlebelt School had received two inoculations and was scheduled to take a third when she became ill June 2, according to her 29-year-old father, Earl.

She was admitted to the Oakland County Contagious Hospital here for observation June 4 and transferred to the center that night.

Her mother, Mrs. Betty Brooks, 29, is under observation for polio at the center. She was admitted Monday. The Brooks' two other children, Pamela, 3, and Cheryle Anne, 15 months, apparently were not affected.

It will not be known until records are checked whether Linda received the Salk serum or an inactive fluid given to half the children participating.

This is only the second case of polio reported among the 50,000-odd children in Michigan who received injections. Earlier, Lenawee county reported a polio case in the test.

Undeserved Riches Give Woman Uneasy Hours

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Nettie G. Freeman, a $1.83 an hour riveter in an aircraft plant, is embarrassed with riches. She received a $4,181.42 check as a refund on her income tax. Mrs. Freeman figured the government owed her $148.80.

Mrs. Freeman doesn't intend to cash it, but the income tax office is open only during the hours she is at work.

Runaway Auto Injures Woman

Strikes Crash Witness Standing Near Scene on M59 Last Night

A Milford woman narrowly missed death under the wheels of a runaway car which knocked her down last night as she was standing at the scene of an auto accident.

Mrs. Frances Bedford, 47, of 2655 W. Commerce Rd., is listed in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with multiple leg fractures and back injuries.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies James Stone and Marion Bauman said a rear wheel of the driverless car, which rolled down a small knoll, came to a stop against the victim's head. Witnesses at the scene freed Mrs. Bedford.

Four other persons were struck by the runaway car, but none was injured. The deputies said the car was in neutral gear and the emergency brake was not set.

Mrs. Bedford was watching action at the scene of an accident shortly after midnight at M-59 and Williams Lake road involving Thomas R. Hyland of Detroit.

Hyland, driving west on M59, said an oncoming car forced him to make a sudden turn onto Williams Lake where he overturned. A passenger, James Walker, 16, of Hazel Park was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for multiple face cuts.

Owner of the runaway car was reported to be Manley R. Chamberlain of 6519 Simmons, Route 7, Pontiac.

Deputies said no one saw the car roll down the knoll due to the darkness.

U-M Gets OK to Construct Powerful Nuclear Reactor

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has approved allocation of uranium to the University of Michigan for one of the world's most powerful nuclear research reactors.

President Harlan Hatcher said today the AEC approval gives the university the green light to proceed with construction and operation of the reactor.

Construction is expected to begin this fall, Hatcher told alumni on campus for the 110th commencement.

Hatcher said he had been notified of the approval in a letter from Lewis L. Strauss, AEC chairman.

The research reactor will be built with a grant of $1,000,000 from the Ford Motor Co. fund to the Michigan Memorial-Phoenix project, the university's wartime memorial dedicated to peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The grant is expected to cover the entire cost of the reactor and a special building in which it will be housed on the north campus.

The reactor will serve primarily as a source of neutrons and gamma rays, Hatcher said.

The reactor will be located in a re-inforced concrete building. It will be open for inspection, subject only to restrictions necessary for public safety.

Voters to Ballot Monday on Bond Issue and Millage Diversion for New Units

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday for voters to cast their ballots at the annual school election. Of local importance is a proposed $3.5 million bond issue that would build a new junior high school and an additional 19 rooms at Birmingham High School.

In conjunction with this, a proposal to divert 4 mills from the 1950 bond issue that is being retired, to the new issue, must be approved. This means no additional tax levy would be needed for the building project.

Seeking re-election to four-year terms on the Board of Education are Wylie E. Groves and Richard A. Sauerbrun. The two are unopposed.

In Bloomfield Hills, Merrill O. Bates and Douglas L. Jocelyn face no competition for two vacancies of three years each on the school board. Bates is a candidate for re-election and Jocelyn will seek the vacancy created by the retirement of Edward Proctor, board president.

Electors there will also vote on the sale of the Tuscarora school and property, on about three acres at Franklin and Telegraph roads.

Addresses Cranbrook Graduates

President of MSC Urges Youth to Keep Optimism

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State College and assistant secretary of defense, donned a robe of optimism this morning to address 43 boys graduating from Cranbrook School—most of whom, as he reminded them, will soon be in uniform.

DR. JOHN A. HANNAH

Being in charge of manpower and personnel in the Defense Department, at Washington, Dr. Hanhan's words were sifted for prophecy by students and faculty of the school, 693 of whose alumni served in World War II, 37 giving their lives.

Occupying the pulpit of Christ Church Cranbrook, where commencement exercises are traditionally held, he pondered what a representative of the class might say of the future, were their positions exchanged.

"I would like to know," he said, "whether all of this adult talk about atom bombs, Communism, national security, the threat of war, the possibility of a depression, labor difficulties, high prices, high taxes and other disturbing topics, has succeeded in quenching the natural optimism with which youth is endowed.

"If we older people have done that to you, we have inflicted an injury to your generation for which no apology or explanation can compensate. He called the present "a time when the adventure of living is as exciting and satisfying in prospect as at any time in our nation's history," though complicated by misunderstandings abroad.

"We believe, as a people that there is always a better way of doing things if we can just find it. We know that anything made by man can be improved by man—that perfection is a goal always to be sought, but seldom if ever achieved.

"Such beliefs give us the driving energy which is the despair of others who seek to match our progress in material things, and stand in awe of the riches we have built up to enjoy for ourselves, and to be shared with others.

"That energy, that unmatched record of achievement, have made this country the number one target of those who have a philosophy of life which stands in sharp contrast to our own beliefs," added Dr. Hannah.

The calling of most of our young men to two years of military service he termed "a circumstance to be regretted." "It is not by the free choice of the American people that we have to maintain armed forces of great size and strength," he added. "But the world situation is such that there is no alternative to building and maintaining a strong defense for our country, and the things for which it stands.

Without apparent reference to current controversies, Dr. Hannah aligned himself with voices of the administration:

"Educated men and women," he said, "look upon political appeals to emotion with suspicion or contempt; they have learned to make their judgments by a process of reasoning, based on facts.

"If I have one major criticism of the young people of this generation, it is that they have learned too little about consideration for others—their opinions, their property rights, their personalities."

even without those 800,000 shares."

But no comment was available from the defeated Central Board headed by Central President William White.

Young's likely choice to take over White's job as president is Alfred E. Perlman, 51-year-old executive vice president of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad.

Last April 14 White declared he would resign as president if Young won the proxy battle.

Young's triumph ended an 85-year reign by the old banking powers of the East over the affairs of the Central system—a 10,700-mile road second only to the Pennsylvania in revenues and to the Santa Fe in route miles.

It was a victory of the rising financial power of the West over the banking and family offshoots of the old-time Eastern money lords, Cornelius Vanderbilt and J. Pierpont Morgan.

Laniel Voted Down by National Assembly

France's national aims and said he hoped that a change of government would not be brought about as the result of Communist votes.

Laniel pointed out that today's vote of confidence was on a question of refusing to consider three resolutions sharply criticizing government policies.

Laniel's prestige has been on the downgrade for months. His government survived two confidence votes in the last five weeks, largely on the plea that France should present a strong front for the Geneva negotiations. But his margin on the second ballot—May 13—was only two.

The Premier had demanded the confidence vote after the Assembly turned down the government's motion on Indochina Thursday by a 324-269 vote. The confidence ballot was taken on the question of priority for Communist and Socialist resolutions critical of the government.

Mrs. Robert Watt Gets U. of M. Alumni Award

BIRMINGHAM — Mrs. Robert F. Watt of 1215 Yorkshire Rd., was among six former University of Michigan students to receive a Distinguished Alumni Service Award, at the annual alumni luncheon held in Ann Arbor today. Since the awards were originated in 1947, 45 men and women have been so honored.

The citation accompanying Mrs. Watt's award pointed out that her father Louis P. Jocelyn was one of the organizers of the alumni association, while Mrs. Watt has headed the local alumni club, and has been chairman of the Alumnae Council Board and a national director.

County to Vote on Education Act

Oakland Is State's First to Pilot Local Program for Handicapped

Oakland County school electors step into Michigan's limelight Monday when they go to their local district polls to decide the Special Education Act of 1954.

This county is the first in the state to pilot a locally controlled and financed program for the education of its nearly 5,000 handicapped children and Wayne County proposes to follow suit next year.

The act asks the county electors to approve a one-half mill ($.50 per thousand tax increase on assessed valuation as equalized) to raise money to construct and operate centrally located facilities for children with handicaps who cannot attend regular public schools.

History of the new act shows that Oakland County educators, becoming alarmed over the growing number of handicapped children who were not getting an adequate education, conducted a survey to determine the needs.

"It took two years for the survey and study," said William J. Emerson, Oakland County superintendent of schools who worked on the program.

"From a humanitarian viewpoint, they deserve a chance to get an education just as much as the youngster with two good arms and two good legs and no physical defects; and from a sound business point of view, giving these youngsters an opportunity to learn to be self-sufficient later in life saves the taxpayers many dollars."

Although all districts vote on the approval of the one-half mill increase Monday, those districts which do not hold their annual meetings until July will not decide until that time whether or not they will come under the Special Education Act.

A majority vote will put the Special Education Act into operation for the entire county.

Most school districts, it was determined in the survey, are too small to conduct their own special education programs. This new act allows the merging of several adjacent districts to provide a central facility for the education of these boys and girls.

The Special Education Act, if approved, will also provide an expansive homebound teaching program for those who are confined to their homes and additional special training for the child with partial vision, the hard of hearing, the child with speech defects and the emotionally maladjusted youngster.

Endorsed unanimously by both the Michigan Senate and House of Representatives and the act was approved by Gov. G. Mennen Williams. Organizations backing its approval are the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers; Oakland County Association of School Superintendents (promoting organization); National Education Association and the many groups of parents who have handicapped children.

Cooperation Is Sought in Conserving Water

BIRMINGHAM — Some householders are under the misapprehension that, like Detroit, the sprinkling ban here is in effect only on week days, Jack Walker, assistant city manager, said today.

In anticipation of a "scorching" week end, he asked cooperation from residents in following the system of odd - numbered homes sprinkling on odd days of the month, and even-numbered on even days.

Pedestrian Struck by Car

Alton Blackmore, 52, of 33 Pingree Ave., received a fractured right arm Friday when struck by a car on Oakland avenue. Witnesses said he stepped from between parked cars, and into the path of a car driven by Howard W. Kelly, 33, of Ferndale.

MRS. ADORA KISSHAUER

One of 17 vice presidents elected at the recent Michigan CIO Council Convention held this week at Grand Rapids was Mrs. Adora Kisshauer, 3645 Oakshire, who will represent Local 72 of the Industrial Union of Office Workers in Detroit.

Church Dedication Set for Tomorrow

BIRMINGHAM — Dedication of St. James Episcopal Church and celebration of the first Mass at the new St. Columban Catholic Church, will both be held tomorrow.

Rev. Harold Towne will conduct ceremonies at St. James at the 11 a.m. service. The addition to the church has been plagued by building delays and a fire that destroyed the sanctuary almost a year ago.

At St. Columban, on Melton near 14 Mile road, a Solemn High Mass will be sung at 10 a.m., the only Mass that day. Father Thomas Kenney is priest of the new parish.

Huron-Clinton Group Elects New Officers

DETROIT (AP) — Herbert L. Frisinger, Ann Arbor contractor, was elected chairman of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority this week for a one year term.

The authority operates tax-supported parks in Wayne, Washtenaw, Livingston, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Other officers elected were: Oscar A. Kaufman, vice president of City Bank, Detroit, vice chairman; and John W. Connolly, former lieutenant governor, treasurer.

tious Mountains." Her kidnaper, she said, made the same mispronunciation.

Mrs. Smith, whose husband is a co-owner of Smith Pipe and Steel Company here, said her kidnaper was hiding in her car when she left a beauty parlor Wednesday afternoon.

He held her captive in the car at gunpoint. For a long period she was locked in the trunk, apparently while the kidnaper left a series of notes for her husband.

The notes gave an intricate series of instructions which led Smith to the Superstition Mountains where he paid the $75,000 ransom and Mrs. Smith was freed.

Marsin was seized early Friday only 2½ miles from the scene of the pay-off. He was bedraggled and "very thirsty" and claimed he was a prospector searching for the legendary Lost Dutchman Mine.

FBI agents questioned Marsin but released him to local police after apparently deciding that he was not linked with the kidnaping.

Phoenix officers, however, turned their investigation to him again after questioning Mrs. James Ruiz, who works on the Quarter-Circle R Ranch where Marsin was found.

Police then brought Mrs. Smith to headquarters where she identified him.

School Vote Monday Termed Important in school to jump from this year's 16,000 youngsters to 23,000 by 1964.

The tax increase would also raise enough "operating" money to let schools keep their present educational program without running in the red on day-to-day operating costs.

The school system now has a $725,000 deficit in sight by July 1, 1955. School officials say that if the tax hike doesn't pass, they'll have to start putting students on half-day sessions to make ends meet.

All six school candidates favor the tax program.

Dulles Returns to Washington

Sets Up 5 Conditions to Justify Intervention in Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles returned to Washington early today to press for fulfillment of five conditions he says might justify American intervention in Indochina.

Dulles' plane touched down at National Airport just a few hours after a five-power conference of Allied military leaders ended at the Pentagon.

The military representatives of Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand and the United States had deliberated a week on the strategic situation in Communist-menaced Southeast Asia. The conference broke up last night without public announcement. The Defense Department said: "Their conclusions will be transmitted to their respective governments."

Dulles spelled out the five conditions in a speech yesterday to the Los Angeles World Affairs Council. This was his last stop on a three day speaking tour in the West.

1. An invitation "from the present lawful authorities," which presumably means the governments of France and the Indochinese states — Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam.

2. A clear assurance by France of complete independence for the three Indochinese states.

3. A demonstration of "evidence of concern" about the Indochinese situation by the United Nations. Dulles did not specify what he meant by this, but possibly the fact that the U.N. Security Council has already voted to take up the problem could be regarded as fulfillment of this condition.

4. Participation in "the collective effort of some of the other nations of the area." Here again Dulles did not spell out what he had in mind. There was some speculation that perhaps he was softening this previously stated requirement so that, for example participation of the Philippines and Thailand would be considered adequate.

However, Dulles himself has said he could not conceive of a Southeast Asian coalition without Britain.

5. An assurance by the French government "that France will not itself withdraw from the battle until it is won." In the terms in which he was speaking he presumably referred to the battle for "restoring tranquility" in Indochina.

The Education of Our Children is Everybody's Responsibility

THIS IS YOUR PROBLEM . . . After careful analysis of all available data, the Board of Education recommends this 10 year proposal:

Increase Millage for 1955-1957 . . . . 6.25 Mills

Increase Millage for 1958-1964 . . . . 8.75 Mills

Our decision was prompted by the following facts: We face an increase of over 6,000 students between now and 1964. (Increase between 1948 and 1954 was 3,000. The operating cost per child is increasing. The State aid allowance per child is decreasing.

The Board is trying to be as economical as possible. We regret even with the new tax that temporary buildings and undesirable classrooms will not be eliminated immediately.

. . . Therefore More Money Is Needed for Buildings and Operation!

The school District of the City of Pontiac extends beyond the City Limits but the people in the district outside the City, pay their share of the school tax.

This is not a Bond Issue but a continuation of the PAY-AS-YOU-GO-PLAN.

After Hearing the Complete Story

This proposal has been endorsed by all the Pontiac PTA groups, The Pontiac C.I.O. Council, Pontiac Service Clubs, Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Pontiac's School Needs

Do the people of Pontiac want half day school sessions?

We don't think so.

But that inferior brand of education is just what is in prospect unless the electors of the district do something about it.

That is why Pontiac's Board of Education is submitting a 10 year school tax increase program on the ballots June 14. The additional money is needed to meet increased operating costs and finance more school buildings and classrooms.

Back in 1948 State school aid amounted to $112 per pupil. The resulting $1,555,000 paid more than two-thirds of the total school budget. Beginning in July, State aid will be $130 per pupil. But the resulting $2,210,000 will pay less than half the $4,847,499 school budget because of higher costs. At the present rate local property taxes will yield about $2,000,000, leaving a $638,000 operating deficit.

By September total school enrollment will be 17,000 or 1,200 more than at present. With every possible existing facility bursting at the seams, the board has no choice but ask the people for more money.

Its tax increase program, therefore, is designed to balance the operating budget and finance a 10 year, $9,000,000 building program. The increased cost to the average taxpayer with property assessed at $3,000 will run from $13 to $14 a year.

This additional tax revenue will make possible new buildings to care for an expected enrollment of 23,000 by 1964. Planned expansion includes 100 more grade school rooms, 10 multipurpose rooms, a new 48 room senior high school and 48 junior high classrooms.

Pontiac can't afford to dodge this challenge.

Vote For Good Schools

Monday is decision day for Pontiac's school system.

Besides filling two seats on the Board of Education, voters must choose between substandard and adequate public schools.

There isn't any mystery about the problem confronting Pontiac or the challenge it poses. It's just a simple matter of growth. By 1964 school enrollment will have soared from the present 15,813 to 23,000.

To meet a growing operating deficit and finance school facilities needed to care for such enrollment, the Board of Education had no choice but ask for a higher school tax rate.

The rate needed to finance the 10 year, $9,000,000 building program would cost the average taxpayer with a $3,000 property assessment, only $13 to $14 additional a year.

We don't believe the people of Pontiac want their children attending permanently overcrowded schools or limited to half day sessions. But that's exactly what would happen if this tax program is rejected.

Assure our children an adequate elementary and secondary education. Vote Monday for good schools.

It seems that a considerable percentage of the people are overworked and underjoyed.

Malenkov's Rival?

In a copyrighted article Columnist Roscoe Drummond says the answer is "yes," and the man doing the rising is Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Now 60 years old, Khrushchev isn't a new figure around the Kremlin and until recently hasn't gotten much attention in the Soviet press. As secretary of the Communist party he is not supposed to have either responsibility or authority over the actions of the Soviet government. But it should be remembered that Stalin used that selfsame office to climb to supreme power.

It was only on Khrushchev's birthday in April that the Soviet press found it expedient to pull out all the stops in his praise. While there is no visible competition between Malenkov and Khrushchev, signs are undeniable that the latter is pushing the premier for power and prestige.

Whether there soon is to be a change of top control in Russia is a matter of much interest in this country. But that possibility shouldn't be taken as a basis for hope that there'll be any softening of the Russian controlled policies of world Communism.

The stark truth still is that nothing which has happened since 1945 can justify belief that free people can get along with whoever runs the Soviet Union.

"A person has to be stupid in order to be happy," asserts a philosopher. This statement won't stand up under analysis, as there is a great deal more stupidity in the world than happiness.

Reaction Scores Again

Unfortunately for Georgia's urban residents, another effort to break down that State's system of county unit voting has failed.

It is with the aid of this system that rural politicians maintain their control over the State's government. County unit voting thus has the effect of giving rural ballots much more elective power than those cast at urban polls.

Under the system each county has two to six unit votes and all units go to the winner of the largest popular vote.

In the latest attack on the system two candidates for Congress in the tri-county Fifth District had asked that the race be decided by popular vote. This is optional with the district's Democratic committee.

But Rep. James C. Davis who named the committee, has been elected twice by unit votes when he lacked a popular vote majority. His understandable objection to the two candidates' request resulted in continuation of the unit system.

As long as the unit system prevails, there is little hope that reactionary rural political control of the State can be ended.

Nostalgic query: Whatever became of the old ditty, the refrain of which ran, "They gave me a ride in a rubber-tired hack, they took me to the graveyard, but they didn't bring me back."?

There are so many things to worry about in these days and times that it has been 17 weeks since anybody worried about the national debt.

The People's Business

Ill-Advised Plan

Big Detroit Tax Interests Foul Up Conlin Project

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—State fiscal authorities wish that a certain group of big Detroit taxpayers would either hire some politically wise advisers or go off quietly and drop dead.

They regard this group, whose membership is uncertain and fluctuating from year to year, as having achieved a kind of genius for fouling up state and local finances.

Capitol observers cannot blame the fiscal experts for feeling this way. It seems that every time a rational approach is being attempted on some governmental finance problem this group, armed with lots of cash and plausible spokesmen, comes bustling in with a cockeyed scheme to completely gum up the works.

The current ire is directed at the so-called Michigan Committee for Better Schools.

Men who have struggled with the tangle of state and local finances for a decade think the committee should be called "The Michigan Committee for Fouled-up Schools."

Veteran schoolmen say they recognize none of their number among the membership of this self-appointed school saviour committee.

But they do recognize some of the same faces who once sponsored the sales tax diversion amendment, and now want badly to change it; the same faces who graced the ill-fated Michigan state aid survey; the same faces who snarled up a solution of the state's bankrupt treasury for two years with the discredited Higgins "package" of nuisance taxes.

The genesis of this movement seems to stem from large Detroit taxpayers, men of repute in their own business and industrial fields, but who are innocents abroad in government and politics.

Anxious to cut their steadily mounting taxes—and who can blame them—they seem to have fallen into the eager hands of "advisers" who take their dough and concoct fanciful solutions for state problems.

One would think the reception these solutions receive from experienced men of all parties and no parties would awaken them to the disservice they are doing themselves and others.

In the current uproar, the picture is clear.

Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, saw early that the sales tax diversion as now operating would eventually bankrupt the state and also many school districts which depend on state largesse to stay open.

Conlin went to work several weeks ago, carefully and methodically drafting a revision which would cure the basic weakness of the diversion without harming anyone too much.

If you counted all the legs in the Russian Army you would just about equal the number of meetings and conferences Conlin has had with schoolmen, township officials, county officials, state officials, taxpayer groups and so on—all aimed at drafting a sensible, workable revision.

The fact the 1954 Legislature finally put this plan on next November's ballot speaks loudly for its value, because it had to run the gauntlet of every school group, state finance officials, local pressure groups and many others.

That alone would indicate the Conlin Plan has merit—and, what is far more important, a chance of passage. The best plan in the world is useless politically if you can't get it past the voters.

The real point of the Conlin Plan is that it seeks to douse the so-called "time bomb," or delayed action effect, of the sales tax diversion amendment—the time bomb which even now is ticking quietly away waiting for a little business slump to blow the dome off the Capitol.

But now comes the Michigan Committee for Better Schools with a rival plan. It is busy collecting signatures to put the issue on the ballot along side the Conlin Plan.

Anyone who knows the fundamentals of politics knows that if this materializes both plans stand an almost certain chance of defeat.

In view of the bitter opposition of school groups and local governmental groups to this rival plan, it is practically certain it could not pass even if it stood alone.

Why, then, the Capitol asks in despair, does this group of worthy Detroit men gum up the works now?

The Capitol asks this pertinent question: If the sales tax diversion is not revised, state bankruptcy is likely some day in the future. Bankruptcy means a sudden emergency tax levy.

And what do you think that will bring?

An income tax.

'M. D.' Says Joe McCarthy Is a Patriot; He Never Dodged a Single Question

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

McCarthy is far from trying to be a dictator. He is an American patriot. He does not seek the presidency.

Despite all he has revealed, some Americans are so stupid they don't see or hear it. We still don't know who gave Maj. Peress an honorable discharge or made him a major.

And what about Communists at Fort Monmouth, our lifeline? The army paid no attention to McCarthy's protest.

Not once did he avoid any answer. Not once did he say 'I don't remember.' Isn't this plain enough? This Joe is a real, honest Joe. Or would you prefer the other, sending our boys blindly into Korea again or other parts of Asia?

You can bet the Communists are working hard to oust Joe. Do you want to help them?

Watch Wisconsin. They are like Joe, two fisted. I don't think he is tough enough. Too many senators' heads are in the sand. Vigilance is the price of liberty.

Lincoln once said "We'll never be destroyed. If we are, it will be from within." I'm sure Communists never would handle you with kid gloves.

Reader Says It's Time to End Hikes in Taxes

It is time to call a halt to any further increase in taxes. The city saved enough from the regular taxes to build a city hall without an additional levy. Let the School Board take a leaf out of their book.

To quote A. J. Phillips, executive secretary of M. E. A.: "I am beginning to think property shouldn't bear the whole cost of local government." He and others should have thought that years ago.

If our School Board needs more money why not investigate the Philadelphia or Toledo plans? They solved their problems by these methods.

The proposed increase is in addition to a substantial amount received from the State Sales Tax and other sums paid by the State for educational purposes. The more they get the more they want.

We have federal housing units which do not pay an equitable share of taxes, but receive all the benefits. Why?

The Ford Motor Co. moved from Highland Park in 1926 because of excessive taxation.

How many new industries have located in Pontiac in the last 10 years? Why has new industry located in Rochester, Ferndale, Livonia and other Michigan cities? We have driven people away by high taxes. It is about time we voted no to raise taxes.

Property Owner

I am alarmed at the propaganda that has appeared in the Daily Press, relative to the proposed hike in the school tax. Surely the voters will not be so gullible as to swallow what is being dished out to them.

A few years ago our school tax was 5.07 mills. Now it is 14.2 mills.

The school board is proposing an increase of $6.25 for three years, then of an additional $2.50 for the seven following years. Despite the fact some present school taxes will be ended during that period, this would raise our school taxes to $18.45.

Our total tax rate would be raised from the present $33.76 to $37.91, assuming city and county tax rates remain the same as now.

To this, families who have children attending parochial schools would have to add an additional $20 per family inside the parish, or considerable more if living outside the parish.

Do we want people turned out of their homes because of mortgage foreclosures? Will the banks waive mortgage payments if you are out of work? Do we want to drive industry from our city because of high taxes? Let us freeze the tax at the present rate.

A Home Owner

While our School Board requests an increase of 8.75 mills, but does not tell us where we can find the money, we read the following headlines:

"Michigan Bell Telephone Co. refused increase by Public Service Commission," "Consumers Power Co. ordered to make a refund to customers," "Penn Railroad showed a loss of 10 million for first quarter," "Administration ready to freeze rents, wages in event of possible crisis," "Hudson Motor laying off 4,600 men to make cars in Wisconsin," "Pontiac Bus Lines reduce service," "Unemployment on increase," "Tidewater Oil Co. to move from Bayonne, N. J., to save two million seven hundred thousand in taxes," "Hazel Park reduces taxes 4 mills."

Would higher taxes mean higher rent? Only natural.

Is it not time that the School Board cut its suit according to the cloth? The old bogey that has been used for 27 years is again being used to threaten people with half day sessions for their children if they fail to vote for a tax increase.

Children need bread and milk before bricks and mortar. Vote no and save your home from the tax eaters.

Taxpayer

Editor's note — The proposed school financing plan would not increase present school taxes $8.75 a thousand. Part of the increase is offset by present $2 school debt taxes which ends this year, and the present $2.50 school building tax which will end in 1958.

God's Help Is Necessary if We Are to Save Selves

The U. S. can't expect to save the rest of the world unless we first learn to live right and save ourselves. The biggest trouble is that too many people are leading Godless lives or at the most only giving lip service to God.

God placed everything upon earth that man needs for comfortable living. It took Him ages to produce the oil, minerals, forests and other natural resources, but men have been wasting the same in a grossly extravagant manner.

On top of this men are creating wars and using up our resources to create implements of destruction and then in a crude and Godless manner destroying everything in sight. God will not destroy us, but we will bring total destruction on ourselves by violating and ignoring his laws.

If enough of us get down on our knees and sincerely pray to God for forgiveness and strength He will help us save the world.

Just A Smile

Just a Package

It was discovered that a package of twenty dollar bills was missing at the bank. The staff worked all night trying to find them.

Next day, Sally, a new girl clerk, walked into the bank to begin her daily duties. The chief cashier asked her: "Sally, did you see a package of twenty dollar bills?"

"Oh, that! Why, I just took them home to show mother the kind of work I'm doing."

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

When I remember these things, I pour out my soul in me: for I had gone with the multitude, I went with them to the house of God, with the voice of joy and praise, with a multitude that kept holyday. — Psalms 42:4.

Days of All Faiths

Children's Day Originated in Chelsea, Mass., in 1856

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

There is no happier day in the Protestant annual cycle than Children's Day—and certainly none more colorful. Always the second Sunday in June, the adults sit back in pride (or anxiety) and watch their children take the position of prominence.

Awards are given out, children's choirs provide the music, and some of the youngsters recite poems or exhibit the knowledge they have acquired in Sunday school.

It all began 98 years ago in Chelsea, Mass., when the Rev. Charles H. Leonard, of the Universalist Church there, established the second Sunday in June as the day when the children of his parish should be brought to baptism. Each child was given a rose, and the day called Rose Sunday. The name was soon changed to Children's Day.

The idea of a special day for the children caught on very quickly. By 1868 it was official in the Methodist calendar. In 1883 the Presbyterians and Congregationalists formally adopted it, and today it is an almost universal observance among American Protestants.

A fairly rare event takes place this year in connection with St. Barnabas Day. Ordinarily this saint is honored on June 11; this year he is crowded over into next week.

The reason is that the six days following Whitsunday (last Sunday) are considered more important than St. Barnabas, and if his day happens to come within that week he has to step aside, and is given the first available date that comes along.

Barnabas was one of the first converts the Christian Church made, in the days when it had not yet extended beyond Jerusalem. Tradition says Barnabas was wealthy, and the book of Acts says he sold his land and brought the money to the Apostles.

This was at the time when the Christians, because they expected the world to end at any moment, had pooled their property and were all living as a single family group. Barnabas' contribution must have helped very much.

June 17 there will be a festival, which the French call "the feast of God" (others call it Corpus Christi) celebrating the special way in which the Lord comes to His people in the sacrament of Holy Communion (Mass).

Corpus Christi means, in Latin, "body of Christ." The reference is to the doctrine of the Roman Catholic Church which holds that the Lord is present in substance in the consecrated bread of this sacrament.

This doctrine was made official in 1215, and by 1264 the feast of Corpus Christi had developed and spread to such an extent that Pope Urban established it as a universal festival.

Because it is in honor of the sacrament the normal day for it would appear to be the Thursday in the Holy Week, the day on which the sacrament was instituted. But the emphasis in Holy Week is a sad one, and the tone of Corpus Christi is so joyous that it seemed better to find another time for the observance. It is always on the Thursday after Trinity Sunday.

The main feature of Corpus Christi is its procession, in which the consecrated Host (bread) is carried. In predominantly Catholic countries the procession is an elaborate one, attracting thousands of worshippers.

In certain Italian towns they have a beautiful custom of paving the procession's path with flowers.

The entire length of the street is covered with panels of wildflowers, designed by artists and produced by local people whose skill has been handed down from one generation to another.

Our American city of Corpus Christi, Texas, gets its name from the fact that it was established on Corpus Christi day, 1876.

Baering Down

Was in Albany a couple of instalments ago to gander Bob Young railroad the railroads.

Bob's technique of throwing the switch is Dulles' massive retaliation with proxies.

Just when it looks like Bob is up salt creek with the mothball fleet he throws in the wax dummies from Yucca Flats.

The Young visitors crashed the Washington Avenue armory in Albany with 800,000 proxies honed to a voting edge. This was no log jam with toothpicks. There were 6,447,463 outstanding shares as of any minute now.

Did you ever expect to see the Morgans against the Rockefellers with the Vanderbilts refereeing? And an Astor as knock-down time keeper?

Well, that young man does things in a big way. He shoots a moose to hang up his hat.

Mr. Young's speech of mushroomed improvements starts at the sauce. He said in a coat-to-coat hookup, "The present management lays red carpet from the gate to the caboose of the twentieth century. I'm going to lay red carpet from New York to Chicago."

That's 900 miles of red carpet, Mr. Young has let us down. We figured he would four-track it.

This all started when Bob's Uncle gave him a toy train for his birthday. Now, he rates an extra smokestack on his cake every birthday.

He collects railroads like stamps. He owns the tri-weekly, the back and fill, the long tunnel, the miss and out, the southwestern, open switch and nowhere, the downhill and coast and the long green short line. Also the proxy overland.

He wants to bag the New York Centralmental for his trophy room in the Manhattan storage. Thirty-six years ago he opened a window in a Pullman car. He would like to find that car again.

If you have any spare proxies rush them over to Bob. You can find him in the dining car they dropped at Schenectady.

Writer Must Lose Ten Pounds . . . 'Fast' but Brady Says Two Per Week Enough

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE MAIL BOX

Weight

May I have your diet chart, please. I must lose 10 pounds fast. (Miss S. C.

Answer—I have no diet chart. Send stamped self-addressed envelope and ask in writing for pamphlet How to Lose Weight. It is generally unwise to reduce more than two or three pounds a week—from the standpoint of good health and good looks.

Trouble

Many thanks for your pamphlet. I had transurethral resection and it worked fine. Am back to normal again, no longer have to get up nights. Doctor advises me to take one stilbesterol tablet a day the rest of my life . . . (G. W. T.)

Answer — In the pamphlet on prostatic obstruction (Bladder Trouble, for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope) I commend such sex hormone medication, as well as transurethrl resection (removal of obstructing portion through the urinary channel). The man who has to get up more than twice every night had better do something about it, lest he drift into the wretched state of prostatism.

Soft Corn

Six-year-old daughter has a soft corn between fourth toe and little toe. Always careful to get shoes plenty wide but . . . (Mrs. E. W.)

Answer—Keep the toes separated with small gauze roll copiously powdered with borated talcum. Apply the familiar corn collodion to corn, as described in Care of the Feet, for which send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A Veil

Is it true that a baby may be born with a veil? (Mrs. H. C. H.)

Answer—The membranous sac containing the watery amniotic fluid in which the fetus floats (for warmth and protection) before birth normally breaks when the first stage of labor is finished (dilatation of womb), allowing the waters to escape before the second stage (passage through birth canal) begins. If part of the membrane remains intact until birth it is called veil or caul. A la David Cooperfield.

Calcium

Have been taking CA and D as you suggested for the past six months and the painful swellings in hands and fingers have almost entirely disappeared. I am now enjoying my housework . . . God bless you . . . (Mrs. F. A. H.)

Answer—May 11 was the anniversary of the launching of this column. To mark the day I began saving God Bless You letters—17 so far—to show the man on the gate . . . it just occurred to me that nearly half of these letters tell about the relief of the rheumatiz. OK, folks, the 1954 edition of the pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz is available on written request if you provide stamped self-addressed envelope.

Whole Wheat

Please tell me how to bake whole wheat bread or give me the address of some expert . . . every time I bake it the bread just falls apart . . . (Mrs. O. L.)

Answer—In the pamphlet Wheat to Eat a Minnesota cook gives a recipe for whole Wheat bread. Ask for the pamphlet in writing and inclose stamped self-addressed envelope. A clipping will not suffice and an unsigned request will not suffice.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed.

50 Graduated at Kingswood This Afternoon

"Early marriage and rearing a family is the best training for a young woman who intends to participate in public affairs."

These were the words of Katherine G. Howard, deputy administrator of the Federal Civil Defense Administration who addressed 50 graduates of Kingswood School Cranbrook at this afternoon's commencement exercises.

The speaker pointed out that all the women appointed to top government positions by the President are married and have children. She suggested that the habits of personal achievement are developed in making a good home, preparing the meals, having babies, doing spring housecleaning and getting the children off to school on time.

Mrs. Howard, who became nationally known through her work as secretary of the Republican National Convention in 1952 recently served as U. S. representative to the NATO Civil Defense Conference in Paris, the first woman to hold such a delegate position.

She urged young wives to interest themselves in good schools, good community service and good government, adding that "you will never get rich in a monetary way through any of these activities, but you will achieve something, and the glow of even one small triumph along those lines will light your lives for weeks or even years."

Phrase Incomplete and Often Spoken Improperly

By EMILY POST

A reader would like to know why I consider it improper to say "Pleased to meet you" when being introduced to someone whom you are really pleased to meet.

She says: "It seems polite and kind; whereas 'How do you do?' sounds stiff and unfriendly."

Answer: The phrase "pleased to meet you" happens to be really bad form. One reason is that it is not a complete sentence, and the other is the pronunciation of 'you' as 'cha.'

"I am so very pleased to meet you" is entirely proper, also "I'm so glad to meet you at last" or anything similar—except "please to meet you" which is shunned by the fastidious even when said properly.

Dear Mrs. Post: We have been invited to the cabin of some friends who are sailing soon and who will be gone for some months. They have asked other friends, too. I wonder whether there is any rule about taking presents to people at such times, and what would be best to take?

Answer: There is no rule about taking presents, but it is always a very kind thought to take a gift such as flowers or candy, fruit, or perhaps a book or one or two magazines.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have several luncheon cloths without napkins to match. Does this mean that I must use these beautiful cloths only when the family is alone, or is it permissible to use napkins that do not match in pattern, though they are pretty and do not look bad with the cloths?

Answer: It is not at all necessary that they match except in color. If the tablecloths are very ecru, it would be easy to have white napkins dipped. Or perhaps you can have a cloth and some napkins dyed a color that is becoming to your room.

Perfect for Town or Country

Ball Gown Stylist Brings Her Designs Into Daylight

Ceil Chapman, whose ball gowns and party dresses have been worn by the country's most beauteous belles, has begun a new chapter in her fashion story.

She is now designing dresses that appear in the daylight, but she continues to grace them with all her knowledgeable knack of making a woman as feminine and attractive as possible.

This dress is a perfect town or country model, as ideal for luncheon as it is for a little dinner. Your choice of fabric will cast the deciding vote.

Mrs. Chapman thinks of it in crepe, shantung, pique, linen or cotton with trimming of braid or a contrasting material..

And lest you think she has oversimplified her designing, under that collar there lies some very artful darting, to shape a bosom in the manner La Chapman has made famous.

This pattern is cut in designer sizes:

Bust	Waist	Hips	Size
34	24	35 inches	10
35	25	36 inches	12
36½	26½	37½ inches	14
38	28	39 inches	16
40	30	41 inches	18

Size 12 requires 3½ yards of 36-inch material for dress and five-eighths yards of 36-inch material for contrast.

Small Sum Buys Independence

Better Than Sharing Life

By ANNE HEYWOOD

More and more I hear of young couples with children who have, in addition, a problem with their aging parents.

Sometimes the parents are ill and need constant care. Sometimes they are well enough, but retired, with time on their hands and without enough money.

Many times they move in with the married children, but that is almost always difficult, if not downright dangerous.

What is the answer? Well, Mrs. T. H. wrote me recently and told me how she and her husband have solved it.

"My father and mother were a problem," she said frankly. "They live about 50 miles from us and own their own little home. But they never have enough extra money to swing things.

"We didn't know what to do. At first, it seemed best to sell their house and let them live with Bob and me and the children.

"But Bob and I talked it over, and it didn't seem quite such a good idea. Mom and Pop have probably a good 20 years ahead of them, and if they moved in with us, they would sort of move in on our lives and live at second hand with no life of their own.

"That wouldn't be good for them, and it wouldn't be good for us or the children.

"Better for Mom and Pop to learn how to build a life of their own, but the trouble was, where would the extra money come from?

"Then," she continued, "we f it would take just an extra 25 a week to give them enough to live on decently. Our budget didn't have it; not with two kids to raise.

"So finally I got a job taking care of an old lady in our neighborhood for four hours a day. I have no training, but I am good with sick people, so I take care of her during the mornings and am home when the kids come from school.

"And I get my $25 a week, which gives Mom and Pop what they need.

"Seems silly, but I like it better this way than I would having Mom and Pop dependent upon us. So you see, there is more than one way to solve a problem!"

Tips Given on Painting 2-Tone Door

What Color Should Be Used on Edges and Rabbets?

By HUBBARD COBB

Painting a door, as you've probably found out for yourself, is not a very difficult job. The only trouble seems to occur when one color and a different color is used on the back of the door.

The problem that comes up then is what color should be used for the edges of the door and the rabbets in the door frame.

To make things as uncomplicated as possibe, let's say that you stand facing a door that opens into the room you are standing in.

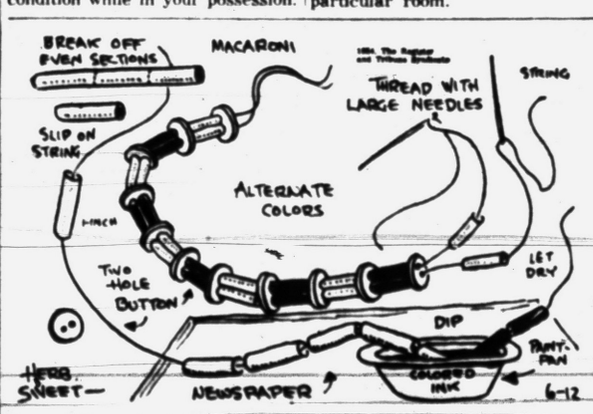
The body of the door in this room is to be painted red and the surface on the other side in the adjoining room is going to be blue.

Open the door and paint the front edge of the door and the top and bottom edge the same color as the body of the door in that room, which would be red.

The back edge of the door to which the hinges are attached should be painted the color of door in the adjoining room, which would be blue.

Now, go back to the red side of the door, open the door and paint the rabbets in the frame into which the door fits when closed.

As you can see, the general idea is to paint those portions of the door and casing that will be exposed primarily in jnst one room the same color as that used on the main surface of the door in that particular room.



Try It

String Macaroni, Buttons

Earlier this week we had a bear claw necklace for the boy Try-Iteers, so here is a necklace for you girls. You will need some macaroni sections and some buttons about the size of a dime along with some colored ink to make this.

Break the macaroni into even strips about 1 inch long. Thread two good-sized needles with heavy button thread. The thread should be about a yard long. Leave about 4 inches of thread at the starting end and put both needles through the first button, then tie the ends against the button.

Place two strips of macaroni against the button, one by each hole. The macaroni may be colored by dipping it into inks of two or three colors. Let the strips dry on newspaper before stringing.

Add another button, then two pieces of macaroni, then start again. When your necklace is the length you want, tie the ends of the string together. This looks good with summer dresses. Make one for Mother, too!

You could also use this idea for a short necklace and then make a belt for one of your plain-colored summer dresses. Use thread much longer for the belt and let it hang down about 6 inches after fitting it around your waist. Pretty?

False Story Puts Girl in a Tizzy

She Wonders How to Kill Rumor That She Necks

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Idle chatter floats around and confuses many an issue. Most people like a juicy tidbit of gossip, so a rumor gets rapid circulation. Never mind whether it's true or false. Lots of people are all ears and believe everything they hear.

Some of the people who are talked about don't mind too much. They like the publicity. But sensitive souls can be tortured by a malicious rumor.

You can burn if the talk is about you. It isn't true, but it has people whispering behind hands. Everybody always seems ready to believe such things. And the damage is so hard to undo.

Should you ignore the whole business and go around with your head on high trying not to notice that everybody's avoiding you? Should you try to find out who started the story and persuade them to retract it publicly? Should you line up a publicity department of your own to say it isn't so?

Tina is finding herself talked about and she's feeling pretty helpless over the prospect of setting people straight. But here's what it's all about:

"Dear Miss Woodward: Since I started high school I've gone with a group of girls and boys but I've never been really serious over anybody. I don't neck in public or private.

"My boy friends learned not to expect more than hand-holding and a quick goodnight kiss. To the surprise of the other girls I always had plenty of dates.

"Well, while I was away during the winter they must have decided I was 'it,' and after one of the girls came back from visiting me she started tales about my scandalous necking that spread like wildfire around school.

"When I got back all the kids in my room used to look at me, giggle and whisper, and boys made cracks at me.

"I was plenty puzzled because the girls in my crowd said nothing and my 'friend' who had been my guest was most friendly. I finally found out what it was all about on a date with a boy I'd never been out with before.

"On the way home he stopped his car and when I protested he said he guessed I hadn't changed as much as he'd heard. He explained that in detail. Now what to do?

"I have one boy friend who knows what he heard isn't true. I don't ever want those girls for friends. But how can I let people know the truth?"

You've heard tell that the tales were circulated immediately after the return of this girl from a visit with you. You can't be sure she started them, but you can certainly talk the thing over with her.

It's a strange coincidence that she's the only one who was in a position to report on your behavior while you were away. And what was the point in letting people say such things about you when she's the one who knows the surest that they aren't true?

Admit to her that you're probably taking the whole thing pretty seriously, but it's downright unpleasant to be snickered at for something you didn't do. It's awkward, too, for a girl with high standards like yours to endure wrestling matches on dates.

Insist that you haven't changed a bit. You still don't go in for necking. And you'd appreciate her help in correcting the very damaging impression that's abroad.

The least she could do to repay you for your hospitality is to convince the other girls that it was all a horrible joke. And to persuade them to pass the good word along to all the boys.

Of course, the best counter-irritant is still your own behavior on dates. The boys will talk among themselves and decide soon enough that somebody didn't speak it true.

Tips to Simplify Hand Laundering

The washboard may be going places as a musical instrument—thanks to the Spike Jones influence—but in the home laundry it's as out of place as a harpsichord.

But if for some reason you can't take advantage of maximum water temperature, mechanical "scrubbing" and other features of the modern washing machine, the following advice will make hand work easier on the laundress and the laundry:

Use a soapy brush on badly soiled areas. Soak white and colorfast cottons and linens briefly in hot water at 120 to 150 degrees.

Use a clean, long handled plumber's plunger to circulate both suds and rinse water through the wash. Then cool the final rinse water sufficiently for hand comfort in wringing.

Joyce Z. Tosich Repeats Vows in All Saints Church

Joyce's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel D. Tosich of Joslyn road and Eugene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert J. McCurdy of Flint.

A floor-length gown of nylon net, taffeta and Alencon lace was chosen by the bride. The bodice featured a portrait neckline. The long sleeves, pointed at the wrists, were made of hand-run Alencon lace.

She wore a strand of pearls, the bridegroom's gift, and carried a prayerbook arranged with a bouquet of white roses and a white orchid. She also carried a handkerchief trimmed with the Rose Pointe lace from her mother's wedding gown.

Marble, Plastics Twin Favorites

ORLANDO, Fla. (INS) — It's easy to gift-wrap a child's present in a unique rabbit, cat or dog package — if you remember to combine a few simple rules with imagination.

Wrap the package just as you would ordinarily, but use a paper that will take pencil or crayon markings. Make ears out of stiff paper or out of two pieces of the box-wrapping paper pasted together.

Long ears will turn the box into a rabbit, floppy ears will provide a dachshund. Tails should be cotton or wool yarn, whiskers should be wool yarn, and wire will make a piglet's tail or an elephant's trunk.

Attach the ears, tails and faces with tape. Faces can be cut to fit tthe "pet" or the box, and eyes, nostrils and mouth drawn in with pencil or crayon.

Mix Furniture Periods, Choosing Best of Styles

Many people today find themselves involved in the "battle of styles," either as stubborn traditionalists, belligerent modernists or bemused spectators.

Ironically, it is a battle we can all win.

In the name of modernism, many of us unnecessarily sacrifice the grace of tradition for the conveniences of today. And, in the name of tradition, others needlessly sacrifice the ease and comfort of modern life for the fashions of yesterday.

We should have the best of both. To the modernist, let us say, "We shall certainly lose our way to the future if ever we lose the thread of the past."

To the traditionalists we can say, "We shall surely lose the past if we don't make it a part of the living present. We must possess our traditions, not be possessed by them if they are to have meaning for today."

In an effort to be consistent, many furnish their homes in a completely period or in a completely modern manner. Our goal should not be consistency for its own sake, but the good life, which is the best of all times, including our own.

Fortunately the "battle of styles" is now as dead and historic to many people these days as the War of the Roses. They have solved the false alternative of "modern" or "traditional" by choosing what they find best in both.

Theirs is a new sense of freedom, the exhilaration of widely ranging, individual choice uninhibited by stylistic taboos.

Wrap Tot's Gift in 'Bunny' Box

CHICAGO (INS)—Marble, one of the oldest materials in history, and plastic, one of the newest, are the twin favorites of table designers.

The increasing popularity of these two materials for table tops may stem from the same practical reasons — both are impervious to stains, burns and bumps.

The marble tables bear no resemblance to the ones that were standbys in the Victorian era. The beauty of its varied hues — ranging from ivory to rose to black — is modernized with legs of shining brass or dull black metal.

Plastic table tops, meanwhile, often are disguised to simulate the beautiful grains that nature gave wood.

Reflections

"PEACE AGE"

By J. Lee Voorhees

J. L. VOORHEES

The sentiments of every American were expressed by Mr. Eisenhower when he declared, "We must make it the age of international understanding and co-operative peace."

We have had Stone Age, Bronze Age, Machine Age; it isn't beyond the realm of probability that this era will see men lay down the devastating weapons of war and hold aloft the Cross of Understanding.

M. E. SIPLE

The factors entering the Universal Peace are similar to those entering into harmony among neighbors living in Pontiac; though our ways of living diverge to every point of the compass our understanding and willingness to compromise has given us the peace of friendship.

I hope through capable leadership we achieve "Peace Age." It is worthy of our highest aspirations, our greatest endeavors."

Everyday Religion

By DON D. TULLIS

How Wise Are We?

Thousands of graduates are now leaving college with a sheepskin in their hands and a sheepish sense of panic in their hearts. They realize they are going out into a world that is upside down and it is their duty to set it right side up. Small wonder the butterflies are dancing jigs on their diaphragms.

When we graduated the world was on an even keel. Tariff and Free Trade were major problems. The nations were at peace. No power-mad demagogues were planning to destroy the flower of freedom and sow in its stead the seeds of slavery. Crime was at a low ebb and juvenile delinquency was almost unknown.

No government agents were checking our ledgers and no special committees were stirring up troublesome dust in their search for disloyal citizens.

The world stage has now undergone a complete change of scenery. The background shows no quiet meadows, peaceful, villages of dancing children. Upon this dark stage today's graduates must make their debut and play their part.

As Alma Mater unties her apron strings and releases her fledgelings for the first act in the new world of drama, she seeks to stiffen their spines with these words from Milton:

"I shall detain you no longer in demonstration, but conduct you straight to a hillside where I shall point ye out the right path to a virtuous and noble education—laborious indeed at first, but so full of goodly prospects and melodious sounds on every side that the harp of Orpheus was not more charming."

But wise old Alma Mater knows the harp of Orpheus is out of tune today. Its discords are sounding the undertones of defeat and despair. What then?

She reminds her actors of the wording of the original charters of our great universities in which religion led the academic procession. Not from Olympus but from the Hills of Heaven comes the answer,—"In thy getting, get wisdom and wisdom is of God."

Knowledge and wisdom are not identical. President Eisenhower said recently, "Knowledge can give us nuclear fission but wisdom can insure its application to human betterment rather than human destruction."

Knowledge is not enough. It alone cannot save civilization. Wisdom is imperative. The two together are undefeatable.

Let the youth of America seek wisdom, and seeking, they shall discover the answer to life in the laboratory of the Greatest Teacher of them all.

love is the strangest thing

There is no explanation of love. It comes without warning. It moves men and nations. Without it life would be unbearable—yet no one has ever seen it.
"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." (John 15:13.) God's love is the greatest love. It is the source of all true love, for God is love. Meet Him in our Church this Sunday.

WILLIAM R. KNOX

Science Church Elects President

W. R. Knox of Boston Has Been Practitioner for Nearly 50 Years

Named president of The Mother Church, Christian Science for the coming year was William R. Knox of Boston, a Christian Science practitioner active in the healing work of the denomination for almost 50 years. His term of office is one year.

Mr. Knox emphasized the conviction of Christian Scientists that God's law and power are scientifically applicable to human problems and available to all. He said church members base this conviction on the practical results of "the simple power of prayer" in their own lives and in the healing of others.

Spiritual understanding alone can heal today's widespread distrust and discord and assure universal freedom and security, the Christian Science Board of Directors said today in a special statement.

About 7,500 Christian Scientists from many parts of the world head the directors' message at the annual meeting of The Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Stressing the universal nature of spiritual understanding, the directors said that the healing promises of practical Christianity apply "to every human being and every group and nation.

"When we look at the world and its problems, we cannot fail to be grateful that the teaching of Christ Jesus has so broadly and deeply registered in it," the directors said.

This teaching, they declared, offers a lasting solution to confusion in government, conflicting national interests, and world tension.

Formal opening of the campaign for a new church for the First Free Methodist congregation is announced for June 20. A general solicitation, designed to reach friends of the church as well as members, will be conducted during the week.

A total of $15,000 toward the goal of $75,000 has already been reached. When the $75,000 is raised in cash or substantial pledges, it will be possible to start the new church which will be located on Elizabeth Lake Avenue at Murphy St.

As previously announced Leonard Phipps will be general chairman assisted by Floyd Hawkins and G. Roderick Moran. Vice chairmen will be Alex Bigger, Sr., Charles Hayward, Floyd Mattoon, Keith Pratt, Carrol Roth and Henry Riemenschneider.

Confident Living

Be Objective at Insults; You'll Come Out Ahead

I would like to pass on to you a valuable suggestion I received from a psychiatrist about handling an insult.

In probing inner conflicts he somethimes awakens the hostility of a patient who may flare up at him saying bitter and insulting things. The psychiatrist, of course, does not take this personally for he is a scientist working with a problem.

DR. PEALE

So he takes a scientific and analytical attitude and asks himself "Why does my patient react in this manner? How does this reaction reveal to me how I may help him?" He and his patient are soon on good terms.

Not many of us are psychiatrists, but we are all human beings, and sometimes unconsciously we stir up people so that they say unpleasant and vindictive things to us. It is then that we must become scientific in our attitude, objective, dispassionate.

Instead of trading insult for insult, why not do what the psychiatrist does? Say, calmly, "Let's analyze this person to see why he reacts to me in this way." Then work out a strategy to correct the relationship.

For example, a man came to me recently, very disturbed. I tried to help him by telling him something of what I have just told you, but he objected: "It's all right to talk about being scientific. But I'm riled up. Do you know what that so-and-so called me?"

"What did he call you?" I asked.

"He called me a skunk," roared the man. "He's going all over town telling everybody that's what I am!"

"Well, let's apply the scientific method," I told him. "Are you a skunk?"

"Of course not," he exclaimed, in outrage.

"Does being called one make you one?" I continued.

"Certainly not," he replied.

"Then what he is saying is a lie," I said. "And a lie cannot run very far because it has short legs. Let him keep on saying it. After a while people will realize that you are not a skunk and may even conclude that he is one. Take that scientific attitude and you will come out on top in the end."

Well, I could literally see this man rise to lofty heights of judicial impersonality. He actually became amused and, in time, began even to pray for the man who had insulted him.

The incident made him analyze himself to ascertain what there was about him that had caused the other man to insult him. After all, none of us is perfect. He found and began to eliminate certain unattractive qualities. Eventually, the other man began to follow his example and a friendly relationship developed between the two.

If someone says something about you that isn't true, saying so won't make it so. But, if it is true, then of course you or I would want to correct ourselves, I am sure you will agree.

If anyone will develop this scientific technique of emotional control, he will become wholly objective about insults. By keeping one's reactions on a high spiritual and emotional level, one can banish the hurt as well as the cause.

You find the basis of this scientific method in the pages of the Bible. People who do not understand the practical value of that great book call its teaching theoretical.

But, as a matter of fact, there isn't a vestige of theory in its pages. Its principles are the greatest collection of sound, workable, practical guidance the world has ever known.

Steep yourself in its wisdom and you will develop an urbane, philosophical detachment. This will give you such emotional control that you can handle an insult or any other problem of everyday living.

CHURCH PREPARES — A Tacoma, Wash. church has set the pace for the civilian defense with the 200 members filling disaster kits on a production basis.

Church Emergency Kits Aid Civil Defense Effort

AP Newsfeatures

TACOMA, Wash. — A Tacoma pastor and his flock believe they have the answer to the question: "What can we, as average families, do to prepare for a civilian defense emergency?"

The Rev. DeWitt S. Osgood of the Central Seventh-day Adventist Church, who once was a medical student, explains:

"As I talked to the folks and to doctors, I would ask: 'What can we do?' This is what evolved."

He pointed to a battered looking can, painted a spotless white and lettered in red: "Disaster Kit."

The can was an old 25-pound shortening container.

It was one of the kits that were prepared in a joint effort by the congregation — by salvaging, soliciting and buying — and which now stand ready for emergencies in the basement of each of the more than 200 church families.

Each can is packed with emergency medical supplies.

"The first essential was to get the kits in cheap form," explained Osgood.

"Members of the congregation and their children solicited the cans and then collected old sheets, shirts, etc., which were cleaned, cut up and wound into bandage rolls.

"Then boys collected tomato crates and cut up the slats for splints. We collected bottles and jars and sterilized them, and the women bought unbleached muslin and made bags for various-sized dressings. They used medical equipment for sterilizing them.

"A drugstore gave us 300 rolls of war surplus adhesive tape and we got petroleum jelly in 25-pound drums after we were told it was as good as anything for burns."

A jar of the petroleum jelly in a sample kit still bears on the lid its original "peanut butter" label.

The kit cans were filled by individual families cafeteria style. A member of each family filled a can from the array of the supplies laid out on tables.

"We bought gauze and cotton by taking up two special offerings at church," the Rev. Mr. Osgood said.

"We figure the actual cost of the contents of each kit came to about $4 and estimate the cost would have been about $19.25 if the materials were bought ready-made."

A 15-page set of instructions also is given each householder, prefaced by the admonition:

"Your first defense is God;

"Your first preparation is prayer."

Brief stops of from two to three days were made in London, Paris, Geneva, Rome and Beirut, with a 12-day visit to the Holy Land. Their headquarters there was at Bethlehem.

Tours were made to the various cities and places made sacred in the life of Jesus Christ.

On the return trip visits were made to Beirut, Istanbul, Frankfurt, Amsterdam, Copenhagen and London, where they left the tour to visit relatives of Mrs. Havens in south England.

They left London last Friday, arriving in New York Saturday noon. The trip was made by air to New York and by automobile from there.

Tuition, Board Fee Up at MSC

Ban on Student Driving Considered by College at Meeting

LANSING (AP) — An outright ban on student driving at Michigan State College was discussed inconclusively and in private Friday by the State Board of Agriculture, college governing body.

The board, at the same time, raised tuition and dormitory fees $5 a term across the board.

The driving ban, proposed some weeks ago by Prof. Arthur Brandstatter, head of the Campus Police, was discussed with Brandstatter and Dean of Students Tom King.

The fee increases, effective with the start of the fall term will raise tuition for Michigan residents to $60 a term, or $180 a three-term school year, and for non-residents to $135 a quarter or $405 a year.

Veterinary science students from Michigan will pay $125 a term and non-residents $200.

Staff members said the increases, necessary because of rising costs, brought the college fees into line with those charged by the University of Michigan.

Dormitory fees, including board and room were raised to $220 a term to make up increased material and labor costs, the staff said.

Ferguson, Higgins Officially in Race

LANSING (AP)—With the deadline falling Tuesday, political candidates flocked up to the barrier today.

U. S. Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich) filed 55,457 signatures from 83 counties on his nominating petitions, the largest number yet filed. He was accompanied to the Secretary of State's office by David W. Kendall of Jackson, Republican national commiteeman.

George N. Higgins of Ferndale, filed for the Republican nomination for governor, submitting 16,422 signatures from 29 counties.

"I wouldn't mind sitting around a table with all the Republican candidates and have some impartial group pick one of us to make the race," Higgins said. "If I wasn't chosen I would go to work for the man who was."

Burned Betting Slips Bring Double Charge

DETROIT (INS) — A Detroiter and a River Rouge man faced the additional charge of arson today for trying to burn a stack of bet slips while police were knocking at the door.

When the four police raiders entered the apartment and arrested George Fulton, 47, of River Rouge, and Louis Malek, 47, of Detroit, they found the blaze had spread to the rug and several pieces of furniture.

Officers extinguished the fire and managed to salvage 18 unmarred and 45 partially burned bet slips.

Studio Orders Tree Branches Tied to Autos

DURANGO, Colo. — Movie fans who want to watch James Cagney, Viveca Lindfors, John Derek and Jean Hersholt make location movie scenes in Durango have to tie tree branches to the back of their automobiles.

The four stars are in Durango making Pine-Thomas' "Run For Cover," an adventure drama being filmed in Technicolor and Vista-Vision. The story takes place before the use of the car. The sensitive big-screen color cameras quickly pick up tire tracks on dirt roads.

Visitors are permitted to watch the filming, but to prevent their automobiles leaving tire tracks, they have to fasten tree branches on the rear of their cars, to sweep away tire marks made by the moving vehicle.

Adams Hints Ike May Not Run Again

WASHINGTON (INS) — Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams has hinted that President Eisenhower might not run for re-election in 1956.

Adams told a conference of the Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee yesterday that the President might bow out if the Republicans lose control of Congress next November.

Emphasizing that he does not know Mr. Eisenhower's intentions, Adams said: ". . . I can think of certain conditions that might make his Pennsylvania farm an attractive place to retire. One of these is loss of Congress."

Lack of New Films Reason for Re-Issues

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Complaint dept.:

With the imminent lack of enough new movies to keep all the theaters supplied, we'll be "treated" to more and more re-issues. That is Hollywood's answer to the plea from theater men for more movies.

Reissues are a dream for the studios. The production cost has been realized in most cases, so any profit on the oldies is pure gravy. But it's the public that suffers.

Most re-issues aren't worth the trouble of getting them out of the vaults. Most of the really classic films have been played and re-played until there is no thrill in seeing them again. (Notable exception: "Gone With the Wind.") Personally I would rather see a new picture that is fair than an old picture that is good. There is something deadening about seeing a movie you know is several years old.

But my main beef is how re-issues are offered to the public. Take the current offering of "Guy With a Grin" and "A Girl For Joe." These oldies originally were called "No Time For Comedy" (1940) and "Force of Arms" (1951). They were only mild successes when released the first time.

There is no reason that their entertainment value will be anything more than mild today, even if the stars—Jimmy Stewart and Bill Holden—are more popular now. Putting new titles on the films only deceives the public.

Another bit of deception concerns the re-issue of "Dead End." The name of Humphrey Bogart is emblazoned in the ads as the star. Bogart really played a featured role in the film.

I'm not arguing that re-issues should be abandoned. They'll always be with us, along with death, taxes and Joan Crawford. A few old pictures are really worth seeing.

But I do propose, Mr. Chairman, that all re-issues should be plainly labeled as such and advertised with the original billing intact so the public will not be fooled.

NOMINATED — Mrs. Mildred Younger, 33-year-old Los Angeles, Calif., housewife and mother, will seek a new title next fall. Mrs. Younger won the Republican nomination for State Senator from Los Angeles County.

Diggers Unearth 3 Slain Bodies

Former Mental Patient Held; Search for More Victims Goes On

COSHOCTON, Ohio (INS) — Search for more bodies will be resumed today on the farm of a former mental patient near Coshocton where three bodies already have been recovered.

The former patient, Cletus Reese, 36, has been charged with murder in the slaying of one of the men and is being held for further investigation in the other deaths.

Sheriff Gilbert Kempf said one of the bodies found apparently is that of Lester Melick, 58, a farmhand of nearby Danville, who has been missing since last year.

The sheriff said a body recovered last Saturday has been identified as that of Clyde Patten, 28, a school teacher whom Reese has admitted killing during an argument over the sale of a car.

Kempf said Reese has been charged with murder in Patten's slaying.

He said all three men apparently were beaten to death with an oak club shaped like a baseball bat. The club was found in Reese's home.

All the bodies were found in shallow graves on Reese's farm, located about 20 miles northwest of Coshocton.

The sheriff said Reese told him: "This has been going on for a long, long time."

Windsor Trio Held After Wild Chase

LINCOLN PARK (INS) — Three Windsor youths, whom police said admitted stealing a car in Toledo, were arrested by Lincoln Park officers early today after a two-mile chase in which seven shots were fired.

Held for Ohio authorities were Ronald Monro, 20; Eddie Fauteux, 20, and Ronald Ladouceur, 21.

Police said they fired three shots in an effort to halt the trio's speeding car. Four more shots were fired when the boys drove up a dead-end street and fled into a brush field. They were flushed when Allen Park and Melvindale police joined the hunt.

The Canadian youths said they had spent all their money night-clubbing in Toledo and stole the car to get transportation home. A possible federal case is involved since the car was driven across a state line.

Trojans Lead Way to NCAA Finals; Spartans, U. of M. Qualify Total of 9

By JOE FALLS

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — With all but one of its 15-man squad competing in today's finals, the University of Southern California—America's mightiest track power—is favored to name its own winning margin in the NCAA games on ancient Ferry Field.

And it probably will be 2 to 1 over its nearest competitor, which could be anyone of a half dozen teams. That's a big point of interest in these NCAA games—who will finish second?

The Trojans qualified eight of nine athletes in yesterday's prelims, held under a searing sun, to smash early upset hopes of the largest NCAA field in history—92 teams.

Only Bill Taylor, a half-miler who wasn't supposed to score anyway, failed to qualify for Southern Cal, which is shooting for its 6th straight title and its 15th in the last 20 national meets. Such is the dominance of this school, which very well could form the nucleus of Uncle Sam's 1956 Olympic team.

Joining the eight Trojans who qualified are six others who weren't required to qualify because there were not enough entrants in their events.

Figured to fight it out for the NCAA's "tiny title"—2nd place—are Michigan State, Illinois, California, Michigan and Stanford.

Michigan State, in somewhat of a surprise, had five qualifiers, while Illinois, California, Michigan and Stanford had four apiece.

Yale also had four qualifiers but the Elis don't figure to have enough strength to make a run for 2nd place.

Despite its impressive performance in the preliminaries, Southern California had one disappointment—though it was a minor one.

Jim Lea & defending 440 champion, finished 2nd in his specialty to a Purdue flier by the name of Ben Youtsey. Youtsey was clocked in 48 seconds flat but with the title on the line today, Lea—who won it in 47 flat last year—is still favored to make it two in a row.

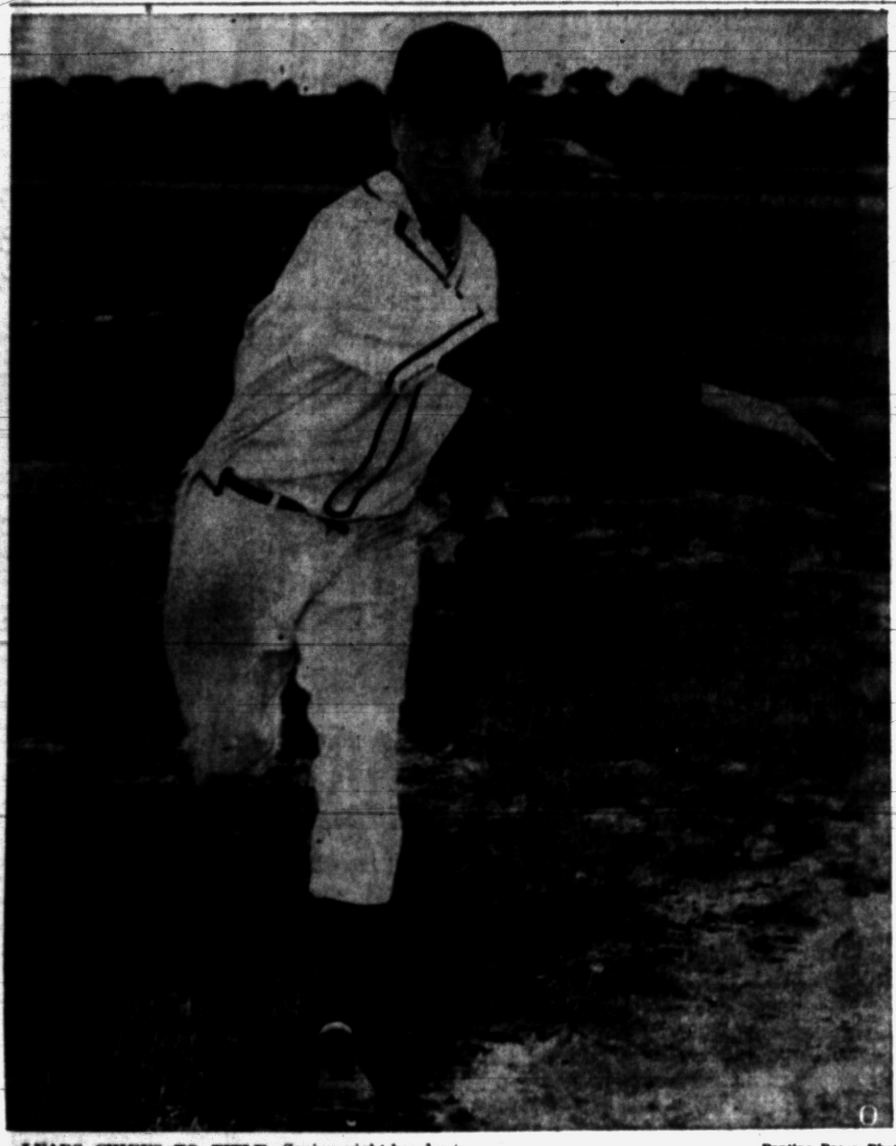
While Lea stumbled, two other defending champions breezed to victory in their preliminary tests.

Willie Williams, Illinois' track version of footballer J. C. Caroline, skipped home in the 100-yard dash in 9.7, whipping his old tormentor, Dean Smith of Texas.

Marquette's broad jump king, John Bennett, leaped 24 feet, 4 inches to easily lead the field.

In all, 14 events are on tap today, with the field events starting at 1 p.m.

Tigers Split Despite 7 Homers



Pontiac Press Photo

LEADS CHIEFS TO TITLE—Senior right-hander Marv Caswell (above) had his biggest day yesterday as he pitched and batted Pontiac High to the 1954 Saginaw Valley Conference baseball championship. Caswell hurled a 1-hitter to blank Flint Central 3-0 in the title game. He also drove in the Chiefs' 1st two runs with a home run in the opening frame. Spectacular performance concluded Caswell's prep career.

Boone Smashes Three Circuit Drives on A's

Ray, Al Kaline Blast Grand Slams to Win 16-5, Then Lose 2-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Detroit Tigers' Philadelphia visit is paying off in some ways—for Ray Boone in particular.

After two games with the A's the Tigers weren't a bit better off in the American League standings today but that man Boone looked wonderful.

Despite seven home runs, of which Boone hit three, Tigers got only a split of yesterday's twi-night doubleheader, winning the 1st 16-5 and losing the 2nd 2-1.

Detroit's 1st game slugging, including grand slam homers by Boone and rookie Al Kaline, softened some of the hard knocks of this Tiger road trip. Boone's homers, two in the opener and one for the only Detroit run in the 2nd game, gave him 11 for the season.

Homers by pitcher Ray Herbert, newcomer Wayne Belardi and rookie Frank Bolling also figured in Detroit's 14-hit, 1st-game landslide. Reiefer Herbert got credit for the win.

A's took Detroit's home run example to win the 2nd on Bill Renna's four-bagger in the 6th which spelled Steve Gromek's 6th defeat.

Tigers, so powerful in the opener, faded before Marion Fricano in the 2nd. Only Boone's homer in the 4th prevented a shutout.

The teams meet in the 3rd game of the five-game series today with Ned Garver (4-2) against Bob Trice (6-4).

In the opener the Tigers sprayed the park.

Boone hit his 1st homer in the 1st, after Bill Tuttle walked.

Bolling hit a bases-empty homer in the 3rd and Belardi did likewise in the 4th.

Tigers' two big ones followed. Boone socked a grand slammer in the 5th and Kaline duplicated in the 7th. Later in the same inning, a six-run frame for Detroit, Herbert homered.

O'Brien Steals Show From Wes Santee, Barthel

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Handsome muscleman Parry O'Brien stole the show from a pair of the world's greatest milers last night when he threw the 16-pound shot a record 60 feet 10 inches in the District meet at the Coliseum.

In the featured mile, Wes Santee of Kansas ran away from Olympic champion Josy Barthel of Luxembourg in the final 220 yards to win in 4:00.7, a tenth of a second slower than he ran last week but still the third best on record.

3 Sunday Tilts for City Softball Teams

Two exhibition games and the playoff of a rained out contest are scheduled Sunday night at the city softball diamonds.

General Motors meets Drayton Drug of the Waterford Township League in a men's exhibition at 7 p.m. at Beaudette Park. At Northside Park, Gingellville and Shaw's girls make up a postponed game from June 3 at 7 p.m. and GMC girls take on River Rouge in an exhibition at 8:30 p.m.

Ez Confident, but Says Not Overconfident

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (AP)—"This time there won't be any doubts. They'll know I'm the champion."

Ezzard Charles made the statement as he lounged on his bed in his cottage at Kutsher's Country Club and talked about the first time he held the world heavyweight title. He won it after Joe Louis retired.

Reports that heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano had been getting hit freely by his sparmates had reached the Charles camp and Ezzard was asked for his reaction.

He grinned and then said:

"I'm not paying any attention to that. I think they might have had him look bad purposely to make me over confident.

Speedway Show Starts at 7, Hardtops Sunday

Time trials for tonight's variety automobile racing show at the Pontiac M-59 Speedway begin at 7 p.m., with the 1st race scheduled to go at 8:30.

A dash, 5 heat races, a pursuit, semi-final and feature race are on the program for the speedy little roadsters and big cars combined, while an added attraction is one race involving midget racers.

Chiefs Hailed as SVC Kings; Caswell Shines in Victory

By BILL MARTIN

The senior right-hander wound up his prep career in a blaze of glory, fashioning a masterful 1-hitter as the Chiefs blanked Flint Central 3-0 to win their 1st Saginaw Valley Conference championship since 1947.

Caswell retired the 1st 18 men in a row. He eased up briefly in the final inning to give up his only hit and a walk and then got the last three batters out on a fielder's choice, pop-up and infield grounder.

He struck out six and walked one and was given flawless fielding support. Caswell also drove in Pontiac's 1st two runs with a 1st-inning home run to right field with Colle Hunt on base.

Chiefs' 3rd score came in the 6th on consecutive triples by Jerry Vallad and Hunt.

Centerfielder Sidilsky collected Central's only hit, a 7th-inning single. John Fleser, then walked. Charles Snedden reached 1st on a fielder's choice, Verdun popped out to 2nd and Ken Lucas hit a grounder to Vallad to end the game.

Pontiac rattled Central's Larry Horde for six hits, including three extra-base blows. He struck out five and issued no bases on balls.

Victory gave Pontiac a 9-1 record in Valley competition and a 13-2 over-all mark.

Spartans Still 'Team to Beat'

Win 2nd Straight, Now Face Rollins in Top Contest at Omaha

OMAHA (AP)—The "big" and the "little" so to speak come against each other today as the only undefeated teams in the NCAA College Baseball World Series.

Michigan State, the "big," faces Rollins College, the "little," in the feature game tonight.

Michigan State, the tourney favorite and a hard hitting club branded as one of the best the Big Ten Conference has ever produced when it comes to clubbing the ball, made it victory No. 2 in the meet by squeezing out a 2-1 victory over Arizona last night.

Rollins whipped past Missouri, Big Seven champion, by a 4-1 margin.

In the other games between once defeated clubs, the schedule puts Massachusetts against Missouri at 2 p.m., and Arizona, still a threat, against Oklahoma A. and M.

Misconduct May Cost MSC '11' Four Gridders

LANSING (AP) — Four football players at Michigan State college, accused of various forms of misconduct in recent weeks, will not be allowed to play next fall if charges are proven against them.

This was the promise of Dr. John A. Hannah, president of the college, who issued a special statement with the approval of the state board of agriculture, governing body of the college.

"This will make some of our people unhappy," said Dr. Hannah, as he passed the statement to newspapermen. He referred to the coaching staff which would not like to lose the services of the men involved. They are Howard Graves, 26, of Westfield, N. J., a freshman, who won the most valuable player award in this year's spring practice; Victor Postula, 21, of Marshall, Mich., a reserve halfback; Eugene Lekenta, 21, Grand Rapids halfback, and William Quinlan, 21, Andover, Mass., end.

6-Player Deal Happy Affair

Chisox Get Southpaw Martin, Outfielder Ed McGhee; A's Land 3

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A trio of ball clubs, running the gamut of the American League standings, switched six players and everyone seemed happy with the shuffle.

The first place Chicago White Sox came out of yesterday's deal with lefthander Morrie Martin and outfielder Ed McGhee.

The Philadelphia Athletics, badly becalmed in last place, picked up two pitchers—John (Sonny) Dixon and Al Sima, along with rookie outfielder Bill Wislon and $20,000 cash.

The Washington Senators, in the middle region of the league standings, acquired Constantine (Gus) Keriazakos, a $60,000 bonus hurler and $20,000 folding money.

Birmingham 9s Clash in Legion Loop Action

Waterford-Berkley game is at 10 a.m., the other two at 2 p.m.

Ulrich Carves Sensational 9 Under Par 60

Credits 8-Foot Putt on Second Hole for 'Mental Lift'

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Wally Ulrich, of Maplewood, N. J., today credited an eight-foot putt as the "mental lift" that sent him on his way yesterday to carving one of the four greatest golf rounds in the history of the Professional Golfers Assn.

The chunky, 30-year-old Ulrich became one of four golfers in PGA annals to fire a 60. His magnificent performance came in the second round of the $15,000 Virginia Beach Open tournament. Par is 69.

"I really didn't know what I was doing until I started down the back nine," said Ulrich, a native of Austin, Minn. "It was just one of those days when everything went right. I got a mental lift on the second hole by sinking an eight-foot putt for a birdie 3.

"That shot seemed to give me a tremendous lift. After that, it was easy."

Only other golfers credited in PGA record books with having toured a course in 60 strokes are Ted Kroll, Al Brosch and Bill Nary.

Ulrich's masterpiece also shattered the 6,065-yard Cavalier layout's competitive course record.

Despite his sensational round, Ulrich found himself tied for 3rd. place as the tournament moved into the third round today.

Ulrich, Cooper and Fazio were five strokes off the blistering pace being set by Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., who did a little record tying himself yesterday.

Bolt, who carded a second round 62, tied the PGA's 36-hole record with a 126 total.

Giardello Wins Close Decision

Fans Disagree Over Verdict Against Bobby Jones

NEW YORK (AP)—"The fight they couldn't fix" turned out to be a victory for Joey Giardello anyhow.

Bobby Jones, who spurned an alleged $15,000 bribe offer from heavyweight Clarence Henry last Friday, fought a brilliant battle against the 9 to 5 favorite but lost the votes of all three officials.

It was a close call for the high-ranking Giardello who hopes to fight Bobo Olson for the middleweight title, Oct. 22.

Giardello started with a rush, ran out of gas in the 5th round, got his second wind in the 8th but withered again in the 10th under Jones' closing bid.

Many of the crowd of 3,093 paying $8,389 to see the Madison Square Garden bout agreed with Jones. They booed the verdict for several minutes.

Open Pairings Place Ben Hogan, Snead Far Apart

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—The proposed head-to-head duel between defending champion Ben Hogan and always-challenging Sam Snead for the U. S. Open golf championship won't take place in the first two rounds at Baltusrol next week. And it's extremely unlikely that it will take place at all.

* * *

Ever since Snead beat Hogan in an exciting playoff for the Masters title last April, suggestions have been rolling into the United States Golf Assn. that the two should be paired together in the Open. Snead, playing behind Hogan in the last two rounds last year and with the pressure always on him, finished a bad second to Ben then.

USGA officials, who have maintained that such a pairing would result in unmanageable crowds, backed up their stand today by placing them about as far apart as possible in the starting times for the first two rounds.

* * *

Snead, playing with George Fazio, Little Pine Valley, N. J., and veteran and amateur ace Harvie Ward of San Francisco, is scheduled to start his first round at 9:32 a.m. (EST) Thursday.

More than three hours later, at 1:08 p. m. Hogan will tee off.

On Friday these starting times will be reversed for the second round.

Pre-Season Experts Are Still on Shaky Ground As Major Leagues Start Season's Middle Third

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The major leagues moved into the middle third of the campaign today with the pre-season experts still on shaky ground.

The experts, of course, picked Brooklyn and the New York Yankees to repeat as champions with Milwaukee and Cleveland runners-up, just like last year.

Brooklyn has dodged in and out of first place all spring, holding the top rung at the moment by one game over the New York Giants. But the Yankees haven't found the consistency they need to take charge.

They moved within three games of the top by shading the Chicago White Sox 3-2 last night. The White Sox lead Cleveland by half a game with New York in third. The Yanks haven't been in first place, even for a day, so far.

Brooklyn regained sole possession of first place last night by thumping Cincinnati 10-8 after the Giants had bowed to the Cubs 5-4 in a 10-inning day game decided on Eddie Miksis' first homer of the season. Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 8-5 and Milwaukee edged Philadelphia 1-0, breaking a five-game losing streak.

Cleveland moved within half a game of the White Sox by beating Boston 6-2. Washington outlasted Baltimore 9-8 and Detroit split a pair with Philadelphia, winning 16-5 and losing 2-1.

* * *

Larry Doby hit a three-run home run before the first out was made at Boston. George Strickland and Wally Westlake gave Art Houtteman added insurance with homers in the fourth and eighth. The Cleveland righthander retired 11 men in order after Ted Lepcio opened the fourth with a single.

Washington jumped on Bob Chakales for five runs in the first inning, then withstood a 16 hit Oriole assault that fell a run short. Eddie Yost homered inside the park for the Senators.

Rich Belmont Race Draws Field of 14

NEW YORK (AP)—The richest of all Belmont Stakes drew a record equaling field of 14 3-year-olds to Belmont Park today for the 86th running of the testing mile and a half race.

Absence of Determine, the Kentucky Derby winner, and Hasty Road, Preakness victor, made this Belmont one of the most wide open in years.

The stake will be televised and broadcast by CBS from 3:30 to 4 p.m. EST.

THE ROAD TO NEW SIGHT — The Baltimore Sun's ex-reporter, W. Walton White III, opens the front door of a new home, built by Leader Dogs for the Blind, to go through his paces along with Jackie, his new friend and guide. White says that with the help of his dog, he will be able to conduct in insurance business.

Along with 11 other students enrolled this month at the Leader Dog headquarters, 1039 Rochester road, Rochester, White will complete his training in four weeks. Each month the school graduates another dozen blind students sending them back to their communities to become self-sufficient citizens. Founded in 1938, this school is the second largest in the world for providing dogs and training programs for the blind.

Sightless Trainees Learn in New Building

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

The modern beige brick building with long white window shutters — the one concession to the traditional in design — at the top of Rochester's south hill has a dedicated mission in life — providing sight for the blind.

From far-flung points of this hemisphere — Panama City, Baltimore, Tulsa — the occupants have come to learn how to use their new "eyes," with the help of Leader Dogs for the Blind, Inc.

Some of these eyes are stalwart German Shepherds. Others are slender-nosed Collies and still others are from the retriever breeds — the Labradors and the Chesapeakes.

Leader Dogs, second largest guiding-dog training center in the world, each month opens its doors to a new class of 12 blind students. Graduation at the end of four weeks sends forth a dozen, eager, independent and self-sufficient citizens ready to assume contributory roles in their communities.

A $175,000 addition has just been completed at the Leader Dog headquarters designed to give each group of students a family atmosphere during their training period.

It is a fireproof building with a terrazzo-floored entrance and hallway. A large lounge, planned to follow the pattern of a modern home, but on a larger scale, has a separating archway unit which reveals a long, spacious dining room. Dining room floors are of asphalt tile and all the door and window frames are of steel, enameled to match the interior color scheme.

Also included in the new unit is a student-trainer office, two trainers' private rooms with bath, and a laundry unit where the student, if he chooses, can take care of his own clothes while learning to use his Leader Dog.

Student rooms, simulated in home-style, are large enough to accommodate two separate furnishing units. Each one has his own limed oak bed with matching dresser and tables, and each has his own full ceiling-to-floor sliding door closets. Private bathrooms for each two students are in green ceramic tile with stall showers included.

Green has been used for the color scheme in the men's bedrooms with blue in the women's.

Founded in 1938, Leader Dogs for the Blind charges each student $150 for his dog. The cost of training and sending out each dog is $1,250.

"This is to give him a feeling of responsibility and it makes him realize he has shared in this chance to get a new sense of freedom and independence," said Fred Maynard, director of the program since its inception in 1938.

Other buildings at the training headquarters include long brick kennels, with steel-fence runways for the dogs and a complete suite of administrative offices.

The several acres of orchard, lawns and gardens around the buildings provide the opportunity for setting up actual guiding experiences for the student and his dog. Auxiliary and final training takes place on the streets of Rochester and Pontiac.

"Pontiac has practically every situation to offer that a student would be confronted with," Maynard said.

Applicants for Leader Dogs must be totally blind or have only slight perception, and be between 18 and 55 years old.

Students live under constant supervision of competent instructors during their training period. Part of this instruction gives the student a chance to become emotionally and physically adjusted to a new way of life.

The average guide-life of a dog is about eight years, after which the owner applies for a replacement.

"Man's best friend" is not an empty phrase to these people who find that their Leader Dogs become their chief companions, even sleeping in the same room so they are ready to aid at anytime of the day or night.

Last week, Maynard said, Leader Dog received the distinguished award from the American Assn. of Workers for the Blind — the seal of good practice. This award is not held by any other organization in the world.

Leader Dog is a non-profit national social agency. Its greatest supporters and original founders are the Lions Clubs of Michigan. Other financial aid is received from the United Health and Welfare Fund, the service clubs who are interested in this project, and many individuals who will money to Leader Dog believing that its work is one of the most worthwhile of humanitarian services.

William Kapp, of Detroit, was the architect for the new building and the contractors were Kilfoyle-Wendelon, also of Detroit.

STUDENT FROM PANAMA CITY — Chatting with her father on the ledge of a planter bordering the new Leader Dogs for the Blind home at Rochester is Florisabel Paz, of Panama City, (picture at left.) Blind since birth, Miss Paz is 17 and will be the first to have a leader dog in Panama City. She plans to return to her native city to help teach braille to other young blind students. Her father, Pablo A. Paz is visiting her during her training program and will return with her to their home hoping he can institute interest in a similar movement in Panama. He is a member of the Lions Club there, the sponsoring organization of this non-profit social agency. Photo at the right shows the $175,000 addition built to the Leader Dogs for the Blind home. It is constructed of beige faced brick, steel and concrete and is fireproof.

DIRECTOR MAYNARD WALKS LEADER DOGS — Associated with the Leader Dogs since its beginning at Rochester in 1938, Fred Maynard directs the program of training and guidance. He says the favored dogs for leading the blind are German Shepards, Collies, and the retreiver breeds. They have the highest sense of responsibility for this work, he points out. The dogs are housed in long, brick kennels in the rear of the student home. They keep 55 to 65 dogs on hand at all times to keep a constant supply for students.

Furnaces Eat Basement Space

Summer Season Best for Replacing Old Unit With Area-Saver

Is your basement in the clutches of a space-eating monster, otherwise known as a gravity furnace?

There are dozens of ways to use that basement if you find some way to release it from the grip of the old octopus.

Because the old fashioned heating system depended on gravity to move the air through the house, it was necessary to use large ducts to make it easy for the air to flow through them.

For the same reason it was necessary to start the ducts low at the furnace so that they could slope gradually upward throughout their full lengths.

The newer types of warm air systems have changed all this. They use motor-driven blowers to circulate the warmed air, so the furnaces can be located anywhere in the house.

They use smaller, narrowed ducts which can be tucked in among the structural members of the building.

Many people are finding that the space they regain by putting in modern furnaces makes a wonderful place for a TV room.

Then, if the ladies' aid drops in in the middle of dad's favorite sporting event, he can go right on watching while mom entertains upstairs.

The furnace-freed basement area can be put to many other good uses, such as a hobby shop, study room, rumpus room, or crafts studio.

One harassed home owner with a number of musically inclined children sound-proofed his basement and made practice rooms out of it.

MODERN FURNACE INSTALLATION — New furnace installation techniques make it possible to re-do heating systems in either the summer or the winter. However, summer months are still preferable. This picture shows the old furnace beside the new and reveals how the old one with low-hanging pipes stands in the way of almost any activity the family may choose. These old furnace pipes can be removed.

RECLAIMED ROOM — In this converted room the new furnace is completely concealed. Beam supporting posts are covered by six-sided pillars and cushioned settees are put around them. One corner is reserved for TV and another for a bar. Sturdy, inexpensive lawn furniture is used, giving a full year's service without storage problems in the winter.

SERVICE WITH STYLE—Here's a new snack server, as modern as television and as useful as it was in great-grandmothers' day. Note particularly the two shelves and the drop leaves. The wood is cherry with a sienna finish.

Ike to Launch Anti-Slum Fight

40 Per Cent of Houses in U.S. Rated as Actual, Potential Blights

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Eisenhower administration is about to launch the most ambitious anti-slum battle in the nation's history—an attack that one day may make shanty living a thing of the past.

With slums a major problem for virtually every U. S. city and nearly 40 per cent of the country's homes in 1950 actual or potential slums, the task being charted by housing officials may well seem impossible.

But embodied in the administration's housing bill pending in Congress is machinery to set in motion an unprecedented three-way blitzkreig against slum living—carried out primarily by state and local officials and guided by the federal government in cooperation with industry and civic leaders.

Simply stated, the Housing Act of 1954 will require every city in the nation planning federally-aided slum clearance projects to submit individual plans to the government, not only designed to wipe out existing slums, but also arrest the spread of housing blight in America.

Housing and home finance agency officials who will direct the job intend to put the battle plan into effect immediately after President Eisenhower signs the legislation — probably later this month.

Once the bill is signed, local housing authorities will be allowed to proceed with slum clearance projects already under contract but the plans on the drawing boards automatically become subject to the government's new concept in the anti-slum fight.

This means that cities are going to be requested to take a broad inventory and survey of their housing conditions and then come up with a "workable plan" to battle slums, including tough housing codes to prevent slums from spreading.

After the plans are approved, the cities will be eligible for special FHA loan insurance, public housing projects and direct federal loans and grants for slum clearance.

Housing officials warn that while the government intends to move swiftly on the program, it will take months, perhaps years in some localities, before the anti-slum battle gets into high gear.

For this reason, they do not expect uniform compliance from all the cities. Some which have been fighting slums for years will be expected to come up with plans far advanced than those just getting started. But all will be expected to do the best job they can within reasonable limits. Those falling down on the job will be denied federal aid.

At this point, there is no way of measuring the total cost of the operation but it probably will run into billions of dollars. In the coming 12 months, the government expects to make available as much as three hundred million dollars in anti-slum aid.

Quick-Drying Plaster Ready

No Experience Needed to Get Smooth Finishes on Walls

Plastered dry walls are one of the newest and smoothest developments in modern building technique.

Heretofore you took your choice between plaster and dry walls. Now you can have both the speed and economy of dry wall construction and a coat of quick-drying (paint - it - the - next - day) plaster, thanks to an invention by Vito Busatti.

This new material is a white mortar dry-mix preparation which can be applied as thin as one thirty-second of an inch over wallboard, plasterboard, rock-lath, concrete, cinder block, brick clay adobe, iron or steel.

If this material is all that it is cracked up to be, it will be a welcome addition to the shopping list of the do-it-yourself handyman, who wants to finish his basement, add rooms in the attic or obliterate seams and nail dimples in dry wall panels.

The inventor recently won approval of his new plaster from the New York Board of Standards and Appeals. That approval made it legal to use thte stuff in skyscrapers. Joseph Platzker, former commissioner of housing and buildings for New York City, said.

"It can be troweled to a marble-smooth finish even by the most inexperienced hand. It dries rock-hard without cracking, chipping or peeling, and it can be wallpapered or painted in a matter of hours with no special sealing or priming coats."

He pointed out that home builders, using gypsum wallboard and a single coat of the new plaster, are saving the tedious and costly problem of taping, filling and sanding joints, as well as the prime coat of sealer needed on the porus paper surface of wallboard.

"In labor time," he added, "it takes two mechanics and a helper only two days to completely plaster the average five-room drywall home with this material. The next day the painters can move in."

A companion joint filler, developed by the same inventor, eliminates the taping and filling of joints in dry wall construction when you don't want to plaster.

This filler also can be used as a tile cement for bathroom fixtures, for cracks around bathtubs and as a wood filler. It is rated to resist a surface pull up to 162 pounds per square inch.

Both the new plaster and the filler are given high moisture resistance. While the plaster is not waterproof, its inventor claims that dampness does not affect its strength.

This makes it possible to use it directly on basement walls without the use of furring strips, lath, panels, or other surface preparation.

It can take the place of masonry paint whether the foundation is stone, poured concrete, cinder block or brick.

"The cost of a cellar application," Platzker observed, "would be somewhat higher than painting with a cement paint, but a good deal lower than erecting wall panels, furring strips, lath and vapor barriers."

Uprights to Spinets: Do it With Mirrors

An optical trick, accomplished with a single panel of plate glass mirror, can give an old-fashioned upright piano the modern appearance of a low-cut spinet.

By completely mirroring the face of the upright above the keyboard, the piano will not only seem to lose height, but its upper half will virtually disappear as the mirror reflects wall coloring and draperies on the opposite side of the room. An even more complete illusion can be obtained by extending the morrored area to cover the piano's end panels.

Hardboard Ideal for Repairing Storage Bins

Adequate, safe grain storage is a problem on many farms. The secret of proper storage lies in the lining of the bins. Farmers are wise, in the slack season, to check the condition of the lining and, if necessary, replace or repair it.

Numerous farmers are finding that quarter-inch hardboard is ideal for this purpose, from various standpoints—economy, quick installation, long life, resistance to moisture and rodents.

These panels may be used for lining a new structure of relining present bins. They may be applied directly to the studs or over the worn-out previous liner.

As flooring in the storage bins, presdwood presents a smooth, easy-to-shovel-on surface that cannot splinter, split or crack. Lumber dealers who supply this all-purpose hardboard have information on proper nailing.

Repairman Travels

LANDER, Wyo (UP) — Bob Hines installed a radio tube recently. He drove 500 miles over rugged roads to an isolated oil rig on Burnt Mountain to preform the routine repair chore for an oil company drilling crew. it took five minutes to put in the tube.

Take It Easy When Painting With Roller

When preparing to paint with a roller, pour paint into the tray until about half of the sloping bottom is covered. Then roll the roller in the paint until the cover is saturated. Roll it back once or twice on the shallow end of the pan to remove excess paint.

Then roll the paint onto the surface to be painted with a light and even stroke. Don't apply pressure or work too fast. Start each new load of paint in an area that has not yet been painted and roll towards the just-painted section.

Avoid laps and get even coverage, by rolling the paint on in one direction. Finish up by cross rolling lightly before the paint starts to set up.

Better Design, Efficiency Mark Appliance Trends

The design and development of home appliances over the past 20 years has sparked a general trend toward the improvement in appearance and increased efficiency of the home kitchen as a workshop and living area.

Major emphases in the evolution of home appliances have been placed on design improvements, better mechanical operation and more durable and attractive finishes.

Peg-Boards in All Sizes Hold Equipment, Decorate

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Anything can be hung on a wall anyplace, on peg-board; and is no problem either to put up or take down.

More than 75 hooks, hangers, brackets, racks and assorted fixtures of other kinds are made for peg-board, to hold securely, whatever needs to be handy and neatly arranged, or is good to look at.

Peg-board is perforated hardboard, and the fixtures are especially designed of metal for each purpose. Peg-board is outstandingly practical but the designing eye sees beyond its talents for keeping order and stretching the possibilities of limited space.

It is easy to paint any color with oil, water emulsion or rubber base paint, and makes an easy-to-decorate surfacing for entire walls, or can be cut to any size for a decorative background for collections of objects.

It creates show-off spots for handsome pots and pans in the kitchen, for model collections in a boy's room, for boys in the nursery as well as coming up with the answer to where to put things in closets, the workshop or the garage.

Where it is not practical to attach the peg-board directly to the wall, it can be mounted in strips of wood and hung as a picture is hung. This was done for the large panel in a boy's room, which is sketched.

With it the teenager has just the display board he likes because it can be changed constantly, but it also holds hard-to-store items such as two shelves of pocket-size books. The sketch shows peg-board used on a closet door, but it might be used to line a closet completely. The number of closet fixtures is extensive, to include both men's and women's hat racks and hanger bars as well as hooks of many sizes.

If the closet is a broom closet, there are assorted brush and broom holders. Store room fixtures include such rare items as 8-notch rake racks and hooks big enough to support the garden hose. A heavier peg-board and special fixtures are used for the heavier equipment.

Peg-board comes in standard sizes or can be cut to specified sizes at lumber dealer's, where fixtures also can be selected.

A new idea by designer Morton Goldsholl packages a pin-up board 19x24 inches with black metal fixtures for the kitchen, the workshop, the closet or the garage. This pin-up board is sold at department and hardware stores. Use of three for the kitchen are sketched at lower right.

Traffic Engineer Painting Streets, Solving Tie-Ups

Henry A. Barnes, Baltimore traffic engineer, feels that paint is too often overlooked as a way of helping traffic to move. Barnes says: "There's more traffic control in a pail of paint than in anything else you can name. Here, in Baltimore, they used to use maybe 2,500 gallons of paint a year. This year I'm going to use close to 20,000 gallons."

Barnes figures that more cars can move down a street at one time if each keeps to its lane and people are much more likely to stay in their lanes, he believes, if they are clearly marked.

He even uses the empty cans. One common way to help unscramble traffic at an intersection is to channelize the approaching traffic so that cars that are going to make turns are separated from those going straight through. The usual way of doing this is to build concrete islands.

Barnes sometimes uses islands, but in many cases he simply sets out 5 gallon paint pail instead—painted with bold diagonal yellow and black stripes and filled with sand, cement, ashes or any other heavy material that's handy. He figures the pails are a lot quicker to install, a lot cheaper, just as effective and, in many cases, easier to see.

Screen in Front of Fan Cuts Efficiency Sharply

If you cool your house with an attic fan, pay attention to the type of screening used over the fan opening in the house wall. Fine mesh screening such as you would use for window and door screens can reduce the efficiency of the fan by as much as 50 per cent. One-quarter inch mesh screening reduces the output by about 20 per cent and ¼ inch mesh by only about 10 per cent.

Use Less Wax for the Best Results

When wax manufacturers tell you to use less wax, it's news. Professional-appearing polishing jobs can be obtained if you don't use too much wax.

Whether you're polishing furniture, floors or woodwork it's wise to follow instructions on the container.

For furniture there is a liquid wax that needs no rubbing. Pour a small amount on a soft cloth; spread it on the furniture. Wipe it off within a few minutes.

For surfaces that get heavy wear, such as table tops, use a paste wax, applying a small amount at a time, polishing as you go. A power-driven buffer produces a table finish as fine as the best automobile polishing.

Lawn furniture can be protected from the weather by using a paste, cream or liquid wax. For metal furniture, your best bet is liquid automobile wax.

More than one-half the people of the U. S. have pronounced defects in vision.

Adequate Wiring Vital for Outdoor Fixtures

Outside electric lights and outlets are fine things to have but be sure to use wires and fixtures approved for exterior use. Ordinary extension cords, lamp fixtures and outlets should not be used where they will be exposed to moisture.

There are about 27 million pet cats in the U. S.

You can get a pleasant textured effect by adding a small quantity of clean fine sand to paint before brushing it onto a wall.

IN THE HOME WORKSHOP

— with RUTH WYETH SPEARS

In these do-it-yourself times anyone who wants a flagstone walk or terrace needs nothing more than a little cement, sand or fine gravel and the necessary enterprise. Of course, if one has never worked with cement a few details covering the mixing formula and making the frames will be useful. The job illustrated above is being done a little at a time. Each step in making the frames; mixing and coloring the cement in one tone or several colors; laying with grass in crevices or setting solid is illustrated fully on pattern 229. The price of pattern is 25 cents. The Homestead Improvement Packet which includes No. 229 and four other valuable outside improvements will be postpaid for $1. Write to Workshop, Pontiac Press.

Personalities Important

Decorators Require More Than Knowledge of Whims

NEW YORK — The popular misconception—that a decorator-decorated home is simply an expression of current whims coupled with the chosen decorator's own taste, is just not so.

Today's decorator is a combination detective - psychologist. The first function of the decorator is to find out what the prospective home-owner wants by ascertaining such facts as how the family lives, how they entertain, what kind of a background they possess—and desire. That takes a type of detection not unlike professional sleuthing.

Once the fact-finding has been completed psychology enters the picture. The decorator has to interpret, in terms of color, period, arrangement and function, what will make the family happiest to live with. The decorator possesses the know-how to guide and give concrete expression to the home-owner's taste.

Take the case of grandparents, who planned to live year-round at the seashore. They wanted to utilize part of the furniture from a former home in the city; they wanted to live graciously, yet in a manner informal enough for the shore. They wanted a combination of elegance and functionalism in a house that was easy to care for. They wanted a place to entertain both adults and grandchildren—and lastly, the mistress of the home wanted "colors that would set off gray hair."

A decorator fulfilled the entire list of requirements in a variety of ways. She utilized some of the elegant furnishings of the formal city home as occasional pieces—some, such as a breakfront, she painted in pastels to fit into the softer look of the new environment; she created an indoor-outdoor home with wide sea views for the gracious, yet informal home desired, coupling a formal living room with an outdoor dining terrace; she captured the spirit of the sea in soft violet tones, grayed-greens and soft pinks which, as well as harmonizing with the sea atmoshphere, achieved the color hues desired by the gray-haired grandmother.

Another problem of an entirely different nature was presented by a couple who were avid art collectors. Their problem was to display their collection to the greatest advantage, yet have their art works hung in such a fashion that the paintings could be easily changed as their moods varied.

A decorator designed false beams for the living room, with imbedded pin-point lights, each directed on the paintings. To enable frequent picture changes, she used grass-cloth—which doesn't show where pictures are hung—for the walls.

Another client wanted a year-round family entertaining room, cool appearing in summer, warm looking in winter. The solution: a white background enclosed porch with glass jalousies was built for summer sun and air. A brick-faced refreshment bar, wrought iron chaise longues, sectional sofas and card table and chairs provided the cool outdoors atmosphere. Rose patterned upholstery, carefully chosen for balance and tone, gave just enough winter warmth and formality.

Children's rooms should, with slight changes, grow up with the child. One such room, decorated 13 years ago for a young girl, employed French provincial furniture. A simple change of accessories over the years made it completely adaptable for the occupant from little girlhood into womanhood. The young lady, now about to become a bride, is taking the basic pieces of the room with her to her new home for the next generation.

Custom Draperies Sell for Low Price

Custom-made draperies, usually considered out of reach for the budget-minded, are now making their appearance at a tiny price with only the addition of a little hand-work by the purchaser.

In a choice of patterns and fabrics, the draperies are presented to the consumer in a package complete with thread, measuring tape and other necessary tools for the finishing touch—a hem, put in by the individual at the length needed for her windows.

Painting Closets Not Too Inviting on Warm Days

Have you ever washed or painted a closet on a warm day? It's hardly a recommended form of relaxation, as any experienced hand will attest.

Yet at housecleaning and decorating time many a busy home owner finds himself in exactly that spot.

His schedule may demand that he carry out such projects whenever he can squeeze in the time. If the weather man fails to cooperate by providing a nice cool day, that's just too bad. The job must be done.

Fortunately this disagreeable aspect of home maintenance can be minimized by prospective home builders through thoughtful planning.

If closets are lined with aromatic red cedar they will never require washing, painting or other decorative or preservative treatment. Occasional dusting takes care of the upkeep.

Closets in existing houses also can be lined with cedar at small cost.

Easy maintenance, of course, is merely one bonus feature of cedar closets. They are noted chiefly for their moth-repellency.

Toe-Nailing Simplified

If you have trouble toe-nailing nails (driving them in at an angle) try starting them straight and then bend them into the correct position after the point is a short way into the wood.

SPACIOUS PLAN—A big house, combining modern glamor in sliding glass walls facing the garden terrace with a traditional facade, den, with fireplace and built-in bar, two bathrooms and an extra this plan incorporates a variety of features. A spacious main floor lavatory are among the features. This is Plan 7325 by Herman York architect, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 2, N. Y. The house covers 3,130 square feet without its two-car garage. Air Cooling Costs Offset

Its Many Advantages Make Conditioning Cost Bearable

Home air-conditioning offers not only year-round comfort, but advantages which tend to offset much of the operating cost of the equipment.

Humidity control eliminates extreme moisture which is responsible for peeling paint and sagging wallpaper, creaking chairs and bureau drawers that refuse to open. Less redecorating is required because paint and wallpaper stay clean longer.

Closets and basement become safe for storage use, the magazine says, with danger of mildew and dampness virtually removed. Packaged foods stored in cabinets or on pantry shelves remain fresh longer.

In a special section on its history, technical aspects and advantages, a building magazine sums up the job done by complete home air-conditioning:

It heats the home and adds moisture to dry air in cold weather. It cools the house and removes moisture from the air in hot weather. It filters dust, soot, dirt, and pollen from the air. It circulates this clean air throughout the house, using some outside air constantly to freshen the inside air.

Air-conditioning, the magazine observes, "emancipates" the homemaker to a great extent from dusting, cleaning and sweeping. Plants grow better, smoke clears away immediately and the piano won't need as frequent tuning.

A typical home air-conditioning system described by American Builder consists of a compact refrigerating unit and furnace installed in the basement, the attic, or a storage closet, with ducts carrying the warm or cool air to the various rooms of the house.

Furniture Designing Trying to European

There's a startling difference in designing furniture for American taste and European, claims Maurizio Tempestini, Italian designer.

In Europe, a designer only has to meet the requirements of one individual, while in America he must suit an unlimited amount of unknown consumers. To succeed in meeting the American taste with this handicap, Tempestini pointed out, is a challenge that is not presented in any other country.

Basementless Homes in Danger of Rotting

Great quantities of moisture may be present in the soil of a crawl space beneath a house. Tests have shown that evaporations from the earth may run as high as 19 gallons of water per 24 hours per 1,000 square feet. This moisture can cause dangerous conditions within a building and lead to costly repairs.

In one case where the earth beneath a basementless house had not been covered by layers of 55 pound mineral surfaced roll roofing, the pipes were rusted, the wood had become soft and rotted and paint failed to adhere to the wet surface.

Canadian waters of the Great Lakes, Superior, Huron, Ontario and Erie, comprise only one-fifth the total fresh water lakes within the Dominion.

Enjoy Lounging on Chaise After Working to Build It

By STEVE ELLINGSON

One of the nice things about having a home workshop is that it gives us a little of that old pioneer spirit.

When our forefathers came to this country they were permitted ease only after they had expended some energy. They weren't bothered with nerves, frustration and the vague little disturbances that are commonplace today.

They were so busy working and building everything they required that there wasn't any time left to worry. Their security, if they had such, came from hard work, it wasn't for free. Their ease came, only after they had earned it.

Take for example, the comfortable outdoor chaise pictured here with pretty Penny Lynn the new singing discovery with Earl "Fatha" Hines' orchestra. This chaise will give hours of ease, but only after some energy has been expended to build it.

But that isn't all, you'll enjoy this piece of furniture far more after having built it, than if it were a gift. That's where pride of accomplishment comes in.

This is a very easy article to build and believe me it's comfortable. It has a contour shaped seat to fit all contours. The back may be raised or lowered for dozing or reading.

There are also wheels so that it may be moved to any part of the yard. The pad may be made or purchased, the wood is all stock sizes and available at any lumber yard.

All that's necessary to build it is to trace the full size pattern on the wood, then saw it out and finally put it together.

Even the screw holes are located. Any inexperienced amateur can build this article. And after it's built, I'll guarantee that any inexperienced amateur can enjoy it, because it's mighty restful.

To obtain the full size easy rest contour chaise pattern No. 125 send 75 cents in coin to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Don't Let Brush Stiffen While Taking a Time Out

If, in the middle of a painting project, you take time out for lunch, make sure that the brush does not dry and stiffen while you're away.

If using an oil-base paint or varnish, load the brush with the coating material, then wrap it in wax paper.

This will keep it moist and supple for an hour or two. If using a water paint, just rinse out the brush in water and wrap it in wax paper.

Geometry Put to Work

If you want to find out if an opening is perfectly square, measure from diagonally opposite corners. If both distances are the same, the opening is square.

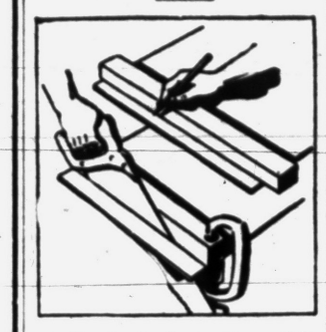
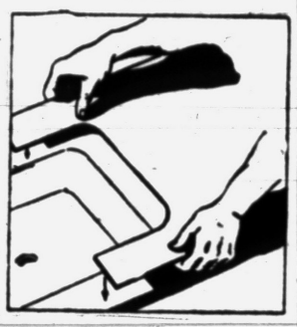
6 Easy Steps to Covering Counter Tops With Plastic

1. Installing plastic countertops calls for smooth foundation. Plywood is sanded.



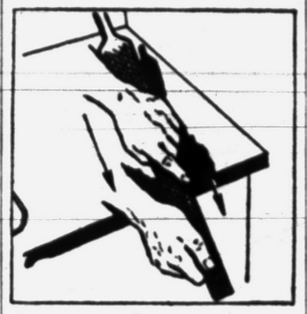
2. Plastic laminate is carefully marked for length. Clamp aids a clean cut.



3. A dry run will show if material is cut to fit. Excess can be shaved off.

4. New adhesives make pressure-contact bonding easier and less expensive to use.

5. A roller or rolling pin, a block and light mallet insure a tight bond.



6. When laminate is firmly bonded, edges can be beveled slightly with a file.

Keep Basement Dry, Stop Vapor Damage

Damage to a house can be caused by vapor carried by convection air currents up into the wall interspace from a damp cellar.

Such dampness may be the result of leaks in the foundation, seepage of sub-surface drainage water into the basement, leaky plumbing or the condensation of moisture on cold water pipes in damp, humid weather.

For the protection of the investment a house represents, it is exceedingly important to prevent the entrance of such damaging moisture.

Easy Way for Measuring Oddly Shaped Surfaces

There's an easy way to "measure" odd-shaped tables—an oval dresser, a bow-front chest, or a kidney-shaped cocktail table — when planning a new glass surface.

Just place wrapping paper on the top, hold firmly while creasing the edge with the flat side of a ruler, then cut out the pattern. A glass dealer can then cut "to pattern" without removing the table.

Monotony of Wallpaper Relieved With Mirrors

A broad expanse of monotonous, closely patterned wallpaper can best be relieved with a decoratively framed mirror. Wall sconces, paintings, statuary and similar items simply impose their designs on the paper; a mirror literally removes part of the design by reflecting the other side of the room.

Hal Boyle Says:

West Germans Confident of Allied Friendship, Aid

BERLIN (AP)—There are cigarette butts on the streets of Berlin, the city with the split personality.

There are thousands of window flower boxes blooming in bright color.

To me these are more significant testimonials to the postwar recovery of the German capital, still the fulcrum of the East-West tug-of-war, than the sight of workmen raising tall scaffolding to repair damaged buildings.

In 1946 if a visitor flicked away a half-smoked cigarette, five hands grabbed for it before it hit the pavement. The collection of cigarette butts was a leading industry. Tobacco, coffee and sugar often took the place of money as a medium of exchange and a measure of value.

Even bankers tilled backyard gardens because food was so scarce, and few found time or energy to raise flowers. The window boxes were barren of bloom.

The third most important sign of recovery is the disappearance of the look of fear and fawning from the eyes of the people who live here. In 1946 the typical Berlin look was that of a castaway animal, a homeless expression of cautious pleading that seeks friendship from a stranger. That look is gone altogether.

These signals of human recovery and a return to human dignity and self-confidence are far more impressive than Berlin's property recovery, the almost miraculous speed with which it is restoring its battered physical structure.

No city its size in history ever took a more fearsome battering. Allied airplanes rained 75,000 tons of bombs on it, Russian artillery methodically shelled it for weeks in a calculated effort to reduce it to complete ruin.

As a result the city lost 500,000 lives, 38 per cent of the buildings in its 340 square mile area were destroyed, and an additional 38 per cent were damaged. The debris has been tidied up but engineers recently estimated 100 million tons of rubble still remain.

But the streets are thronged, new shops stocked with food, clothing or luxury goods open regularly, and the squabbling gatherings of black market operators are gone.

The Allied-occupied Western sectors and the Russian-held Eastern sector are peculiarly different. The Russians dramatically symbolized Berlin's property revival with a concentrated show window reconstruction of Stalin Allee. Big yellow-tiled apartment buildings and street shops, Russian in design and as impersonal as sardines in a can, line that thoroughfare for miles. But step one block away and you are back in uncleared debris.

West Berlin has no single reconstruction job to equal this but has spread a vaster building revival program throughout the entire sector.

The difference in the human rehabilitation factor is clear to even the most casual visitor. The people in the Western sector are better dressed, the shops hold more goods, the streets are better kept up than those in the Russian sector.

The problem of unemployment is greater in the Allied sector, of course, the chief reason being that 305,737 refugees poured across from the East in 1953, some 37,410 more in the first four months of this year.

Whether they come in quest of food or the political and spiritual nourishment of a freer world, they do come. Despite this flood of refugees, the Western sector authorities have cut their total of unemployed from 300,000 to 197,000. Each year West Berlin is giving more on its own efforts, less on the cuff of help from the Allies and the Federal German Republic.

The sector remains as a redoubt island surrounded by a Red tide of Communism. But the air of hopelessness is gone, and nobody is busy pushing the panic button. People want to fix up their homes, open new businesses, grow flowers again in their window boxes. They pick their cigarettes from a packet instead of a pavement.

As one German told me:

"Anything can still happen, of course, but at least we feel our allies won't just ride up to the airport one morning and fly away and leave us to the Russians."

Tests May Locate Potential Delinquents

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP) —University of California psychologists are developing a screening process that may pinpoint potential juvenile delinquents before they reach high school age.

Director of research is Dr. T. R. Sarbin, associatee professor of psychology, who hopes that after a year his team may come up with a battery of special tests that can combat juvenile delinquency.

Experimental tests have been made on 100 boys ranging from 14 to 17. About half the group consists of normal students from a city high school. The other half are psychopathic delinquents from state institutions.

Sarbin says that one of his tests has shown that delinquency stems from an inability to tolerate limits imposed on a subject's behavior. Another indicates that delinquents are less able than normal persons to predict reactions of other individuals.

800 Bottles for Science Are Worth Redeeming

CAPE HATTERAS, N. C. (AP) — Keep your eyes open for a floating or stranded bottle.

In 1951, one man located 61 bottles in two days.

System Would Permit Spot Payment of Fines

GUTHRIE, Okla. (AP) — An "honor system" for overparking violators is being considered by the police department. Under discussion is the installation of collection boxes on downtown parking meters where the violator could pay his fine without coming to headquarters.

He would insert the amount of the fine and his ticket in an envelope than drop it in the box for collection by the patrolman on the beat.

Mrs. Small Gave $10,000 to Lack

Dentist-Slayer's Wife Invested Money With Murdered Friend

DETROIT (UP)—The trust of Mrs. Edith Small in her friend Jules Lack's business future was strong. She invested $10,000 in it.

The comely mother of three boys, whose dentist-husband faces a murder charge in Lack's gunshot death, has confirmed that she turned over $10,000 to Lack for stock in his New York air-conditioning firm.

Insisting she had "every faith" in Lack, Mrs. Small, 30, told her story to newspaper reporters at her home yesterday.

Mrs. Small, who met the reporters in her sunsuit, said she made the investment at a promised 8 per cent return in an effort to assure herself a larger income in event of divorce.

Her husband, Dr. Kenneth B. Small, 31, will be brought into court in Allegan Tuesday on a first degree murder charge in Lack's Memorial Day weekend shooting.

Lack, 48, was shot at a swank summer lodge while weekending with Mrs. Small and friends. Police say Dr. Small admits the shooting in resentment over Lack's attentions to his wife.

If convicted as charged, Dr. Small would get a life sentence.

Mrs. Small's account of her $10,000 investment confirmed a previous statement from her attorney, Harry Klein, that she had made the arrangement 16 days before Lack's death.

Police say that Mrs. Small has admitted an infatuation with Lack, a New Yorker who headed a firm identified as the Majestic Air Conditioning Co.

The $10,000, Mrs. Small said, came from her $110,000 inheritance from her father, Reuben Sandler, a Detroiter who died in 1951. She received a lump sum $30,000 under the bequest and has been given $800 monthly.

Big Police Problem: Minors With Alcohol

Waterford Township Police Department figures for May show that of 92 arrests, 53 were minors in possession of alcohol, said Police Chief Frank Van Atta.

A total of 358 traffic violation citations were issued, Van Atta said, and the department handled 45 auto accidents with one fatal collision. This is the second traffic death since the department was originated last January, and the first where only autos were involved. The first death reported was a train-car collision. Miscellaneous calls totaled 328, Van Atta reported.

Bailey was accused with leaving his dog chained at home with no food or water between last Saturday and Thursday, according to Albert Sundell, humane officer for the Oakland County Animal Welfare Society.

7 Die in Chicago Apartment Fire

Police Suspect Arson at Four-Story Building on Northwest Side

CHICAGO (UP)—Seven persons perished last night in a fire which raced through a four-story brick apartment building which a city official called a "fire trap."

Police today were investigating the possibility of arson. Albert H. Peterson, first deputy fire marshal, said the fire looked "suspicious" because the entire building was in flames when firemen arrived.

"It doesn't look too good," he said. "It spread too fast."

Nine persons were injured one seriously, as the blaze swept through the old brick building, situated at 1702 Erie St. on the city's near northwest side.

A father and his small son and daughter, a mother and daughter and a brother and sister died in their fourth floor apartements.

Peterson said the blaze, which caused $20,000 damage, was extinguished in less than an hour, despite its rapid spread through most of the four floors.

Police said that Marion Gregory, 11, who lives in a second floor apartment, told them he saw two men start the fire with a bucket of gasoline in a first floor hallway. He said he shouted at them and one man hurled a knife at him. They then fled, the youth told police.

The father and his two children killed were Leo Weeks, 25, Linda, 2, and Leo Jr., 9 months. Weeks' wife, Mildred, 20, was in serious condition with head injuries. Others killed were Mrs. Elander Borden, 23, and her daughter, June, 3, and Miss Elicia Partin, 38, and her brother, Willy, 25.

Cohn Asks Kennedy to Fight at Hearings

"one senator who is not going to be intimidated by anybody," Jackson issued a statement saying that the Cohn-Kennedy clash stemmed from Cohn's "threat to take retaliatory action because of my interrogation this afternoon."

Jackson said: "This is not the first threat Mr. Cohn has made during these proceedings."

He would not amplify his remarks and neither would Kennedy, who said that Cohn had threatened "Democratic senators" at various times "since these proceedings began."

The imbroglio was the aftermath of Jackson's sarcastic questioning of McCarthy about Schine's report.

The report, which Schine submitted to the State Department as a blueprint for psychological warfare against communism, suggested the use of "pictures, cartoons and pin-ups."

Mundt declared that the document, viewed in its entirety, "is not a ludicrous piece of work," and McCarthy maintained that there are "some good ideas in it."

Jackson's minority colleagues are Sens. John L. McClellan and Stuart Symington, the latter of whom has been in a bitter feud with McCarthy in the recent stage of the hearings.

The Cohn-Kennedy set-to began as a whispered conversation and attracted little attention. Suddenly, Kennedy said loudly: "Don't warn me. Don't try it again, Cohn. You won't get away with it, Cohn. You tried it with the Army. You tried it with the Democratic senators. Now you're trying it with me."

Cohn replied: "Do you want to fight now?"

Several hours after he touched off a brief uproar in the hearing room by doing this, Flanders made good his promise.

There were these other developments:

1. McCarthy accused the Foreign Operations Administration, headed by Harold E. Stassen, of trying to keep information from Congress. In return, Stassen castigated the senator as "evil" and described his charge as "reckless."

2. Mundt announced that Cohn's two weeks of National Guard training, scheduled to start today, have been postponed until the hearings end.

3. Mundt cut Cohn off and recessed the hearing when the young attorney said he did not want "to be excused from National Guard training or anything else" and asked for a chance to "develop true facts" about Schine's report.

Several minutes later, the Cohn-Kennedy battle erupted, bringing into the open a long-standing mutual distaste for one another which associates believed had existed but was never displayed in public.

Among words caught by newsmen as the quarrel subsided were:

Cohn—"Do you think you're qualified to take part in this case when you've got a personal hatred for one of the principals?"

Kennedy—"If I have, it's justified."

Kennedy walked away, his face flushed and his arms laden with documents. Cohn then repeated several times: "Do you think you're qualified to sit here?"

Turning toward the newsmen who asked him what it was all out, Cohn said: "Oh, we've got a cute kid here."

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF ROBERT J. Bouck, who was drowned at Lake Orion, Friday, June 13, 1952.
And when he cried aloud for help
The Master standeth by
And whispers to his Soul
"So, it is I"
Out of this darkness into a perfect day
In every path of thine He leads the way.
Sadly missed by his Mother, Father, Sisters Brothers, and all dear friends.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF RENA E. Greenwald, who passed away June 12 1953
Time can never steal away
Remembrance of the past,
Of you the one we loved and lost;
Our hearts will hold it fast.
Sadly missed by her husband, children and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear husband and father, Ray E. Grenwald, who passed away June 12, 1952.
We miss you no less as time passes on,
Than we did on the day of your going.
For absence can never close the door of our hearts,
And the lamp of our live is still glowing.
Your heart was the lovingest in all the wide world,
Your love, the best to recall,
For no one on earth could take your place.
You are still the dearest of all.
Sadly missed by his wife Rhea, and children, Barbara, Ray and Timothy.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF RENA May Andrews, who passed away June 12, 1953.
It is lonesome here without you
And sad and weary the way,
Life has not been the same,
Since you were called away.
Sister Tubby.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF RENA May Andrews.
No one knows the silent heartache
Only those who lose can tell.
The grief we bear in silence,
For the one we loved so well.
Someday, sometime our eyes shall see.
The face we keep in memory,
And God will link the broken chain,
Still closer when we meet again.
Mother, Walter Brothers and Sisters.

'Telephone Bandit' Gums Up Things

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit Police again arrested "telephone bandit" Lorenzo Dickerson, 24, Friday, tipped off by his method of operation.

Dickerson was released in May after three years in Jackson Prison and the Detroit House of Correction for pilfering pay telephones.

Police picked him up again when there was another rash of burglaries in which the top part of the phone was broken off and the coins fished out by gum on the end of a stick. He allegedly admited stealing nearly $100 in this manner since he got out of jail.

4,500 to Go On Studying

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State College expects to enroll 4,500 students for summer school starting June 22. Classes will begin June 24 for six and nine-week courses.

The first oil pool of any importance in Michigan was located near Port Huron about 1886.

Stuntmaster Jack Bailey Is Jack of Many Trades

NEW YORK — Jack Bailey, the new stuntmaster for TV's kind of fellow who can parlay a job as a short-order cook into the authorship of a best-selling cookbook. In fact, whatever Bailey starts is the thing in which he eventually excels.

In Bailey's case this is quite a claim, in view of the fact that he has been a musician, singer, actor, cook, dancer, stage manager, producer, tax expert, barber, writer, painter, artist salesman radio announcer emcee and the voice of Walt Disney's animated "Goofy."

In addition to his duties on the new television version of Ralph Edwards' Truth or Consequences, Bailey also broadcasts and telecasts five programs a week on another network and takes care of his administrative duties as honorary mayor of Hollywood.

Bailey was born in Hampton, Iowa. He studied piano for most of his childhood, transferring his affections to the trombone at the age of 14. With his trombone he garnered the title of Iowa State Champion Trombonist.

After playing one-night stands for several years he entered Drake niversity where he aided his finances by playing in a tea-room orchestra. He also found time to work in every school play, every school musical show and act as cheer leader for the football team.

In 1935, Bailey was a "barker" at the San Diego Exposition. He also augmented this income by work as a house painter, insurance salesman, tax expert and then the job as the voice of "Goofy" for Walt Disney.

Later his carnival barking carer won him the job of producing all four voices in Disney's "Pinocchio."

His first real break in Hollywood came when he was chosen to do the "Queen for a Day" series. Now as emcee for TV's Truth or Consequences, Bailey has the rank of one of the nation's leading TV hosts.

Music is still Jack's hobby, but to it he has added oil painting and hopes to have a one-man show later this year in Los Angeles. The Baileys' home is decorated with his paintings. He married the former Carolyn Parkinson in 1941.

Prof's Absent-Minded Wife Loses 3-Year-Old

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—It wasn't the professor who was absent minded. It was his wife who admitted: "I must have had other things on my mind."

Mrs. Robert B. Kleinschmidt, whose husband is on the University of Buffalo faculty, told police yesterday her son Peter, 3, was missing. Two hours later he was found in a barbershop where she had left him.

Transit Strike Seen Ending

Pittsburgh Mayor Says Agreement May Halt Tieup On Since May 9

By GIB STALEY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A strike of 2,700 trolley and bus operators which has paralyzed transportation in this industrial metropolis since may 9 appeared near an end today.

Shortly before last midnight, Mayor David L. Lawrence announced a proposed agreement was reached to end the walkout.

Word went out immediately for the strikers to attend a mass membership meeting at 3 p.m. ED today.

Lawrence said leaders of Division 85, AFL Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Eelectric Railways and Motor Coach Employes, "will unanimously recommend" approval of the plan to end the strike.

C. D. Palmer, president of Pittsburgh Railways Co., said if the agreement is ratified some service will be restored by early tomorrow.

Details of the proposal to end the walkout are a closely guarded secret.

Union representatives had no comment on the proposed agreement, letting the mayor make all the statements.

The trolley and bus operators earned $1.98 an hour under their old contract. They asked a 30-cent an hour boost, along with other contract changes. The company refused to increase wages, saying it could not economically justify the boost. The company refused arbitration.

The strike shut down all trolley service and many bus routes. A few independent bus lines operate in the steel city and its suburbs, but they were woefully inadequate to handle the mass transit problem.

Lawrence stepped into the situation several times during the walkout. So did federal and state mediators. The Mayor was aided by a group of seven prominent citizens who formed a "voluntary citizens committee." Included were representatives from both of Pittsburgh's top labor organizations, the AFL Central Labor Union and the CIO Steel City Industrial Council.

About 90 per cent of the enlisted men who went overseas in World War II owned the maximum of $10,000 national service life insurance.

Electric Power Pioneer Born Just 100 Years Ago

Just 100 years ago this month a boy was born in Adrian who was destined to play a major role in the development of Michigan.

A bronze plaque in the lobby of Consumers Power Company's general office building in Jackson summarizes his career:

"In memory of William A. Foote, one of the founders of this company and a pioneer in the art of electric development. June 9, 1854—April 14,1915."

The centennial of his birth comes in a year when the electric industry is observing light's diamond jubilee.

William A. Foote was seven years younger than Edison, and it is clear that he must have followed the great inventor's career with much interest.

Some years after his public scho education, while operating a flour mill, he began experimenting with electric lighting.

At first his efforts were confined to Adrian, but in 1886 he went to Jackson and asked official permis sion to erect poles, stretch wires and place six electric street lights in the business district to demonstrate that this new-fangled idea really worked.

On the appointed night, Mr. Foote started his little engine and the lamps sputtered and glowed while spectators marveled. From this humble start grew numerous companies many of which were merged into what is now Consumers Power Co.

Mr. Foote died in 1915. He had glimpsed the tremendous possibilities of the electric age and had built soundly to realize his vision.

Consumers Power Company, which honors Mr. Foote as one of its founders, operates in 63 of the 68 counties of Michigan's Lower Peninsula. Its statewide operations require the services of more than 9,000 employees.

Safe With Conditions

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — The Connecticut Motor Club says a corner is the safest place to cross a street. However, the club's safety director, Francis S. McCarthy, revealed that in 1953 one out of four pedestrians killed or injured in traffic accidents in urban areas was struck down at a corner. He said most of the victims failed to "look both ways before crossing."

William Pitt the Younger became prime minister of Great Britain at the age of 24.

Bait is for Catching Fish!

However a few advertisers use bait to lure you to their places of business to sell you somthing other than what is advertised.

How Can You Recognize Bait Ads?

1. After you go into store, the advertiser runs down the advertised merchandise.
2. When the article advertised has just been sold. (Of course, if you wait too long, the bargain will naturally be sold.)
3. Or in general, places all kinds of barriers in your way if you try to buy the Advertised Merchandise.

REPUTABLE ADVERTISERS DO NOT USE THIS METHOD OF ADVERTISING

They may show you other merchandise in the line at different prices, but will offer no resistance to the sale of advertised bargains.

Convict Admits Rape-Murder

Police Skeptical of Tale, Plan to Question Youth at Ionia

IONIA (UP) — Detroit detectives were to question today a 19-year-old State Reformatory inmate who is reported by authorities to have claimed he was responsible for the brutal rape-murder of JoAnn Gillespie on Jan. 2, 1953.

Warden Garrett Heyns of the reformatory classified the prisoner's claim as "flimsy." He said it was made to another inmate who relayed it to guards.

Detroit Police, although investigating, were skeptical. There have been several false confessions in the crime.

Heyns identified the claim-maker as Kenneth Shelton, a Detroiter serving 2 to 5 years for breaking and entering. He was convicted March 16, 1953.

Mrs. Rosie Shelton, Kenneth's mother, told Detroit newsmen that her son was "never just right and doesn't have enough imagination to just make up a story like that." She added: "Kenny doesn't know how to lie."

Heyns said the inmate to whom Shelton made his claim reported the youth told him he confessed to breaking and entering to "get off the street so I wouldn't kill some one else."

Miss Gillespie, 18-year-old junior college student, was beaten and choked to death on her way home from a night movie. Police said a sex pervert was responsible.
