

Girl's Tragic Story Felt Here, Abroad

The story of a critically ill Waterford Township girl has touched the hearts of people here and across the world.

Two-year-old Diane VanKleeck, 3184 Warren, has a malignant brain tumor. She is despondent, paralyzed and in pain in Pontiac General Hospital.

Hospital Staff Eyes Methods

Use of Anesthetics, Surgery Reevaluated

Administrators and staff personnel at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital are continuing to re-evaluate surgery and anesthetic procedures.

The review is being conducted in the aftermath of the deaths last month of three hospital patients from an accidental injection of ether.

Hospital Administrator Harry H. Whitlow indicated he was pleased with the evaluation efforts.

Among the hospital procedures being reviewed is the administering of anesthetics.

Earlier this week, Whitlow said that the use of the anesthetics involved in the patient deaths would no longer be made up in batches for use in several operations.

INDIVIDUAL

Instead, individual doses are to be made up and administered.

Whitlow said he is awaiting a recommendation from the staff on whether this procedure will be followed for all anesthetics.

Meantime, the hospital chief said he has received the resignation of one doctor involved in the fatal injections. Dr. Lloyd R. Goodwin, 58, chief anesthesiologist. The Goodwin resignation was mailed prior to the board meeting Monday, said Whitlow.

The hospital's nine-member board of directors met Monday to review the findings of an investigation into the deaths.

Whitlow then announced that Dr. Goodwin and another anesthesiologist, Dr. Stanley E. Abrams, 42, of 7127 Brookside, West Bloomfield Township, would be asked to resign.

Dr. Abrams' resignation reportedly is on its way to the hospital, according to Whitlow.

her last week because it is feared she will not be alive at Christmas.

Her story was told in The Pontiac Press and in other papers — including the military newspaper, Stars & Stripes.

Mail immediately began to pour into Diane's hospital room. The total thus far has about 450 cards and 50 letters.

HANDMADE CARDS

Many of the cards were handmade by children little older than Diane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard VanKleeck. Some of the letters were from GIs who took time out from war to send her their prayers.

Students in kindergarten, 2nd- and 8th-grade classes at Drayton Plains Elementary School sent 75 cards. Another 75 came from 1st- and 2nd-grade classes at Eastover Elementary School in Bloomfield Township.

About 30 cards came from the 3rd grade at Pontiac Lake School in Waterford Township.

VERY POPULAR

An Army sergeant wrote from Korea: "You are a very popular girl to all of us in the corps. We love you as if you are one of our daughters."

An airman wrote from Thailand. His wife is expecting a baby soon. He hopes the baby will be as pretty as Diane.

A medic in Thailand wrote: "I just wanted you to know that there are a lot of people all over the world who really care about you and are hoping and praying that you will get well soon."

A sailor sent her some money because: "We have no liberty here in Viet Nam, and I can't buy you a doll."

A Marine wrote from Viet Nam: "I don't live far from you. I will come to see you when I get home."

South Korean Soldiers Will Get Pay Boost

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The South Korean government will boost its military pay by up to 100 per cent next year, which will bring less than a dollar into the pocket of a private each month.

A private who now receives 130 when — 48 cents — will get a 260 when — 100 per cent raise to 260 when.

Junior Miss Mystery Light Over State for City to Be Picked

William Schultz Jr., astronomer at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills, disputed the meteor reports. He said the fireballs were more likely "space junk," parts of rockets used in the various space experiments.

In Washington, headquarters of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., which has NASA research contracts, informed it that the fiery phenomena were not related to man-made spacecraft.

Hunter attributes the large field to more prizes on local, state and national levels, plus the fact that a Michigan girl, Patricia Gaender of Stevensville, won the U.S. title last year in Mobile, Ala.

FROM AREA

This year's contestants include from St. Frederick's Stephanie Williams, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Williams, 230 Cedarvale; Gloria Lavilla, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Lavilla, 193 Bondale; Sandra Bokota, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bokota, 2500 Depeu, West Bloomfield Township.

Also entered from St. Frederick's are Karen Peterson, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Adair, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Adair, 1109 Dover; and Mary Nevells, 17, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Nevells, 110 Judon.

Pontiac Northern entrants are Marsha Webb, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Webb, 853 Kenilworth; and Sharon Lynn Lehmus, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lehman, 339 W. Hopkins.

Also from Pontiac Northern are Carolyn Lynn Harris, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Harris, 785 Fourth; and Sharon Weber, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Weber, 22 Gage.

FROM CENTRAL

Contestants from Pontiac Central are Carole Beckett, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hermon Beckett, 819 Pensacola; Helen Collins, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Collins, 174 Auburn; Linda Jackson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, 44 Seminole; and Durline Humphrey, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Humphrey, 670 Bloomfield.

Representing Avondale are Linda Armstrong, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Armstrong, 2385 Oaknoll, Pontiac Township; and Phyllis Ann Grisham, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Grisham, 862 S. Boulevard E., Troy.

St. Michael's hospitalists are Patricia English, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles English, 364 N. Paddock; Susan Wilson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wilson, 217 Edison; and Judith Crickon, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crickon, 365 First.

Yule Program Slated at Bank

PNH Choir to Launch 11-Day Musical Series

Pontiac Northern High School choir will launch the Pontiac Bank's 20th annual Christmas musical program at noon Monday.

Open to the public, all programs in the 11-day musical series will be held in the lobby of the bank's main office, Saginaw and Lawrence.

Directing Pontiac Northern's Girls' Choir and a Cappella Choir will be John Tousey and Judith Davis.

The Jefferson Junior High School choir, under the direction of Philip Carey and Mrs. Donald Beall, will present the noon program Tuesday.

The Chora Group of St. Michael High School will sing at 11 a.m. Wednesday. Sister Fernando will lead the group.

NEXT THURSDAY

Fifth and sixth graders of the Whitfield School will be directed by Mrs. William Chalk during the performance at noon next Thursday.

Mrs. M. Theodore Wade will conduct the Pontiac Central High School Girls' Choir and the Junior Girls' Ensemble Dec. 17 at noon.

Mrs. S. M. Dudley will present Hammond organ concerts Dec. 18 at 11 a.m. and Dec. 23 and 24 at noon.

In the spotlight on Dec. 20 will be musical groups, under the direction of David Stitac and David Nast, from Madison Junior High School.

NOON CONCERT

Singing in the noon concert will be the Ninth Grade Choir, Belle-Aires and Madison Melodians.

Eastern Junior High School, under the direction of William Coffing and Robert Wolters, will headline the noon performance Dec. 21.

Participating are the Mixed Chorus and the Bell Ringers.

SMALL FIRES

The pilot of a small plane reported sighting four or five small fires in an area 6-7 miles southwest of Lapeer in an isolated area shortly after the fireball was sighted, Parks added.

The Coast Guard in Detroit got a report of an airplane down in the river that separates Detroit and Windsor, Canada. Boats searched and found nothing.

Whatever the light was, it attracted a lot of attention. Researchers in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and parts of Canada said they saw brilliant flashes of light blazing across the sky at dusk.

Some said they saw fiery objects plunge to earth.

SCATTERED REPORTS

Police began receiving reports of small fires in widely scattered areas.

Fires were put out and, extensive searches were made, but there were no reports of significant findings.

Near the village of Keokuk in southwestern Pennsylvania, fireman Roy Howard said he saw several blue flashes "like an acetylene torch" close to the ground.

Other persons said they saw the flashes, too.

Symposium to Discuss Buildings for Schools

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — City and Country School of Bloomfield Hills, for years in the forefront of educational research and development, now plans to turn its attention to school buildings.

The institution tomorrow will hold a symposium aimed at development of ideas on the sort of building best suited for nursery schools.

A panel of architects, fabricators and experts in related fields will discuss the applicability of new concepts to the project.

Among these are partial prefabrication of units, styrofoam domes and plywood geodesic domes.

The psychology of space also will be considered.

PRESCHOOL CHILDREN

The school's program stems from recent emphasis on the education of preschool children through Project Head Start.

The one which has yet received little attention is the classroom.

City and Country School plans to fill this gap and may seek federal funds to aid in the project, according to a spokesman.

Completing 6th Day in Space

Hurry Home for Yule, Daughter Tells Lovell

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — With instructions from James A. Lovell Jr.'s 12-year-old daughter to hurry home for Christmas, the Gemini 7 astronauts sailed through their sixth day in space today while Gemini 6 was readied to blast off in pursuit on Sunday.

Lovell and his space partner, William S. Pogue, remained in excellent spirits and physical condition as their cramped spacecraft soared on well past the two-million-mile mark of their planned 14-day journey.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials declared yesterday that Gemini 6 preparations were proceeding so smoothly at Cape Kennedy that Navy Capt. Walter A. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford could start the historic space chase on Sunday, a day earlier than originally planned.

Schirra and Stafford are to lift off at 9:54 a.m. to begin the dramatic trackdown of Gemini 7 and through a series of orbit-shifting maneuvers will gradually close the gap over a 100,000-mile course.

A perfect flight would bring the two vehicles within a few feet of each other about 5 1/2 hours after the Gemini 6 launch.

U. S. Sailor Released by China After Disappearing Week Ago

HONG KONG (AP) — A 17-year-old U.S. Navy sailor walked across the Red China border bridge today and told British immigration officials he had been on the Communist side since he disappeared from his ship in Hong Kong a week ago.

Officials identified him as Ed-ward Ross Armstrong, an apprentice seaman reported missing when his ship left Hong Kong Dec. 2 after a five-day visit.

U.S. consulate officials said the Hong Kong immigration authorities had turned the youth over to U.S. Navy officials here. Both consulate and Navy officials refused further comment.

Local police sources said the sailor apparently disappeared shortly after his ship docked Nov. 28 but that Navy officials made no report on his disappearance until the ship left.

Red China's New China News Agency said Armstrong entered Paoan County, adjacent to Hong Kong in Kwangtung Province, "by mistake" on the morning of Dec. 1 and was detained by the Chinese police.

The Communist report said Armstrong "admitted his error when the Chinese side pointed it out to him, and was released at the usual procedure when a foreigner leaves China at the Lohu border station.

Armstrong's home town, next of kin, and further identification were withheld.

Reporters from the border said a "crossing" document across the bridge a few minutes before the sailor walked across. Officials refused to confirm this, but it is the usual procedure when a foreigner leaves China at the Lohu border station.

'China's Role in Future Big'

TOKYO (AP) — Britain's disarmament minister predicted today that Red China will be "the most significant country in the world" in 15 or 20 years.

"One thing is absolutely certain," Lord Chalfont told the Foreign Correspondents Club of Japan, "between 1970 and 1980, Asia and Africa will be the center of development of world power, moving away from Europe and the West."

"Whatever things may look like in 20 years, one of the most important factors is going to be the direction of foreign policy China is going to take."

Chalfont said there is no doubt China has embarked on a serious program of nuclear development. He said every government in the world should consider the possible consequences of a China — if its policies should take a certain direction — with over one billion population in the 1980s.

Library Head to Resign

LANSING (AP) — Mrs. Lou Ann Boone, head of the Michigan State Library for the Blind, will resign Dec. 24 to join her husband, who is being transferred to Illinois.

Beginning Saturday, President Charles de Gaulle and left-wing candidate Francois Mitterrand will each have a total of four hours on the state-owned networks.

The four hours will be spread over the next seven days — in two 15-minute and three 30-minute spots on both radio and television. These media have long been the preserve of government ministers propagandizing policy or submitting reports on finance, economy or agriculture. De Gaulle also has made two radio-TV speeches and two televised news conferences each year, but his political opponents rarely got air time.

De Gaulle disdained most of his campaign time in the first campaign, but under pressure from his aides, he spoke twice — once more than he had planned. He is expected to use most of his time now. Mitterrand, feverishly hustling votes far and wide, will use all of his.

Defense Dept. Cuts Seen Only Skin Deep

A built-in trait of the generality of mankind is the capacity for exhibiting great anguish over seeming threat to one's self interest from a design initiated for the common good.

It is best expressed by a paraphrase of the age-old homily: "Do unto others, but not unto me."

Which brings us to the hue and cry reverberating across the land because for the first time in recorded history the Nation is blessed with a Cabinet officer bent on saving taxpayers some of their hard-earned dollars.

McNAMARA

The official is Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and the saving, from closure or contraction of 149 military bases at home and abroad, is estimated at $410 million while eliminating $300 million in superfluous jobs.

Coupled with a similar move affecting 703 military installations ordered closed by McNAMARA since March 1961, the combined savings will amount to $1.5 billion a year.

Additionally, the gradual reduction of the U. S. big-bomber fleet from 1,500 to 250 planes, with our overwhelming stockpile of intercontinental missiles becoming the Nation's No. 1 air punch, will effect further savings in the defense bite that currently eats up more than half of the $100 billion Federal budget.

But needless to say, from the 39 states wherein are located the bases affected (Michigan has two) have come protests from civic organizations, influential public figures and, of course, from their Congressional representatives.

Particularly from the latter. Being politicians, they fall easily into the Jekyll and Hyde routine of preaching government economy in one role while in the other they violently decry the ruinous consequences for their constituencies of programs of national retrenchment.

It would be hard to find an area or segment of the population that has not experienced temporary inconvenience or economic disruption during the amazing growth of America and the sound preservation of its fiscal structure. The communities now apprehensive over the fate of their military bases may rest assured that the continued expansion of our dynamic nation will in short order fill the economic void that they envisage—and very likely exceed in worth the assets replaced.

For our part, we render a 21-gun salute to Secretary McNAMARA on the businesslike operation of his vital department, and only wish that the Federal government were peopled with more of his kind.

Vote of Confidence Seen in Vote Recount

Possible stolen elections are deeply imbedded in American political lore. They are something like the auspicious of the fixed fight that haunts the boxing rings, and as difficult to pin down.

Elections regulations in most states, with balanced workers and observers from both parties would seem on the surface to make dealing off the bottom rather difficult today. Of course, it might have been easier in days gone by.

Records of selected precincts are frequently called for in close election races. Not so common is a total recount of all the vote in a big city.

Such a rarity occurred, however, in recent balloting for mayor of Cleveland, Ohio.

Incumbent RALPH S. LOCHER had won by 1,924 votes, according to the official count made by the election board immediately after the election.

All but 28 voting-machine precincts of Cleveland's total of 1,175 precincts were recounted. Of four candidates, LOCHER increased his figure by 219 votes, one candidate lost 36, another gained 60 and the fourth picked up 24. Many of the errors were obviously poor arithmetic.

This is only one bit of evidence, of course, but the slim variation in the recount of about a quarter of a million votes is encouragingly on the side of those who want to be sure nobody's shaving any points in an event as important as an election.

Peace Chances Look Nil in Viet

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — How do chances for peace in Viet Nam look? No good now. The peace conditions laid down by the two sides are opposites. So any settlement will require one side to back down, which means defeat.

The gap between the United States and Communist North Viet Nam was made clear again this week by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

There has been speculation U. S. forces in South Viet Nam would be boosted from 165,700 to 300,000. Johnson has been criticized for the war by some groups demanding peace. Did the criticism shake him?

He showed it hadn't made a dent by saying Monday: this country will supply whatever men are needed "to help the people of South Viet Nam resist aggression." This is what he has always said.

On Tuesday Rusk, in an interview for educational television stations, said this country will support South Viet Nam until North Viet Nam leaves it alone.

By itself this statement might seem rubbery and vague. Actually it echoed what Johnson had said many months ago, thus showing a policy unchanged and unflinching while war increased in fury.

Last April 7 Johnson laid down the conditions for a settlement while saying this country was ready at any time for "unconditional discussion" about a settlement.

But before Johnson finished that talk, he had clearly emphasized the vast difference between putting no conditions on discussing peace and putting tremendous conditions on any settlement the discussions led to.

These were the conditions Johnson laid down before there could be a settlement, and the promises he made:

"This country has pledged itself to help South Viet Nam and it will, for 'to dishonor the pledge would be an unforgivable wrong.'"

The South Vietnamese must be left free by the North Vietnamese to run themselves, with their own independent government.

The United States "will not be defeated, will not grow tired, will not withdraw either openly or under the cloak of a meaningless agreement. We must be prepared for a long continued conflict."

If the United States abandoned South Viet Nam it would shake the confidence of other nations in this country and in the end lead to unrest, instability and "even wider war."

But the Vietnamese Communists, a few days before Johnson made his talk, stated their own conditions, which Johnson hasn't accepted, just as they have not accepted his.

To Them He IS Real!

David Lawrence Says:

Business Facing Cost Squeeze

WASHINGTON — For three years, labor unions have been demanding higher and higher wages based upon a supposedly increased "productivity" of the worker. But it is becoming apparent that the gains in productivity this year have been falling below last year.

LAWRENCE

The administration frequently talks about "guidelines" which should measure the extent to which wages might be increased without pushing up prices to inflationary levels.

The facts that are coming out now indicate a cost squeeze of major proportions which could hasten the much-talked-of recession. For, despite the failure of union labor to achieve the productivity it has boasted about, demands are being formulated for next year to increase wages just the same.

In fact, the AFL-CIO economists already are demanding that the productivity scale, which has been used to measure wage increases, be raised.

This would mean that the "guidelines" of productivity would supposedly justify high wage increases.

INCREASED OUTPUT

Productivity itself takes into account increased output per man-hour.

This is often not the result of humane effort alone but the consequences of new machinery and equipment.

The employer who furnishes the capital for such improvements is nevertheless expected to limit his price increases, and any gains in efficiency now are regarded as something to be added to the wage demands, although costs go up just the same.

The "guideline" figure usually used to measure gain in productivity is 3.2 per cent. But this year, it has fallen to 2.5 per cent.

IGNORED FAILURE

Yet President Johnson has ignored the failure of labor to make the requisite gains in productivity and is practically blocking major industries from raising prices.

In the long run, the larger companies will be able to absorb these higher costs much more rapidly than the marginal companies, which will be hurt. This, in turn, is bound to increase unemployment.

Up to now, the impression given by officials here is that labor has kept within the "guidelines" of productivity, and that its demands for wage increases were normal and hence justified.

The difficulty with the productivity figures which are being widely used is that they do not take into account the cost of inefficiency due to the absence of skilled or experienced labor.

LABOR SHORTAGE

In many plants, there is a shortage of labor. Also, productivity often declines due to heavy overtime schedules.

What seems lacking, too, is any clearly defined relationship between productivity gains and demands for wage increases.

The administration has taken full responsibility for avoiding a recession, but it has done nothing so far to expose fully the failure of labor to make the productivity gains on which it has been basing its wage demands.

Bob Considine Says:

Hope Speech Shows Why He's Rated a Real Pro

NEW YORK — Bob Hope proved all over again what it means to be a pro the other night at the Dr. Tom Dooley Foundation dinner, where he was presented with the foundation's Splendid American award.

CONSIDINE

Secretary of State Dean Rusk received a similar award, as one who has labored long and well in the alien corner.

Author Bill Lederer, who co-authored "The Ugly American," said in his introduction of Bob that the best way to introduce him was to read a letter written by a boy who was killed in Viet Nam not long ago.

It was the boy's last letter to his mother. It described Hope's trip to Viet Nam last Christmas in the most heart-warming terms: how much his presence meant to the men... what a respite it was for a lot of battle-weary guys... how Bob made all of them feel that they were not forgotten by the people back home.

He wrote, too, of buddies who had died of leish and assured his mother that, somehow, he was going to make it and get back home.

FEW DRY EYES

There was hardly a dry eye in the banquet hall at the New York Hilton by the time Lederer finished reading the letter.

Then he said, "I now present you, Bob, with the Splendid American award, and I wrap it in that boy's letter."

Hope had flown all the way from the coast with a typical, topical routine of sharp one-liners. Many present at the dinner had come mainly to hear Bob's robust humor. Now they were in tears.

MARVELOUS LINE

Five minutes into his talk he had done a marvelous line that brought a chuckle from the back of the room.

Ten minutes into his talk he had them all laughing, as only he can.

As he left, he put the letter in his pocket. I asked him if I could run it. He shook his head.

More Readers Discuss Treasurer's Appointment

This is directed to those who set policy and procedures for Oakland County employees. Two years ago I became part of the Oakland County payroll. The position I filled required a college degree. I had two such degrees and three years of experience in the same type of work to which I was hired. My starting yearly income was $5,600.

In the past two years I have added more studies from a university; as well as two years' additional experience. I am told that at the beginning of 1966 my yearly income will be $7,000. At this time there are several in the department carrying double responsibility due to lack of staff members.

Gentlemen policy setters, what really counts?

WHAT REALLY COUNTS?

Mr. Koella had worked in the Treasurer's office for 28 years. How can Mr. Murphy's son fill that man's shoes without professional training? What type of test did he do so well on? Was it an accounting type exam or just a general knowledge test? Doesn't Mr. Seeterlin have anyone on his staff who is qualified to step up to that job? It seems that it would be a comforting feeling to work in an office where a person had a chance to advance on merit alone.

The more deer you shoot, the more there are. You can't knock success, as deer hunting statistics will show. Let the conservation department manage. They are doing good. I suggest hunters send for circular No. 142, Game Section, Michigan Conservation Department.

Resents Airport Expenditures by County

"Concerned," as a taxpayer, resents the expenditure of $8,500 per year with so little potential return for the money. To be paid Shash Murphy. I resent the $400,000 the County has spent on the purchase of Allen Airport, audits, surveys and other aviation matters since 1962. The County has not derived one cent of profit from the airport. Perhaps Dan Murphy, Chairman of the Board of Auditors, can explain why he and the ways and means committee authorized the spending of $7,300 for an audit of Pontiac Airport without first bringing it before the full Board of Supervisors.

Since less than one-tenth of one per cent of the County residents derive any benefit from the airport, I suggest that taxpayers start worrying about stopping the spending of any more tax dollars on a useless airport because the worst is yet to come.

'Wrote Washington on Supreme Court Rule'

Aroused by the Press editorial on the Supreme Court's decision about Communist registration, I sent letters to each of the nine Supreme Court Justices and Mr. J. Edgar Hoover. When our servicemen are giving their lives to fight the spread of communism in Viet Nam, it is incomprehensible that here at home the Reds are not required to register as Communists and cannot be denied passports by the State Department.

It must be virtually impossible for the Federal government and the FBI to prosecute Communists. In practical application, it is this giving "aid and comfort" to the enemy? We shall see if there are any answers from Washington.

QUESTION: How high does a hill have to be before it is called a mountain?

ANSWER: There is no exact height we can give in answer to this question. It can be said that hills are generally thought of as being considerably lower than mountains.

Elevations of only a few hundred feet, when they rise up above the surrounding country, are often called hills. But the word hill may be used for a much greater height.

The Berkshires of Western Massachusetts rise to 2,565 feet; yet these are called the Berkshire Hills. And the Black Hills of South Dakota soar to 7,542 feet.

People accustomed to different areas use these names differently.

If you were brought up on a flat desert, and suddenly looked at a land mass jutting up 3,000 feet, it would look mighty high—you might speak of it as a mountain.

But to the dweller in the Rocky Mountain region, it would be only an insignificant little hill. If one of a group leading up to a real mountain, it would be called a foot-hill.

If we can't give the exact division between hill and mountain, we can give a height generally agreed on for what is called a mountain region. This is 2,000 feet above sea level.

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The 1965 Nobel Peace Prize was presented today to UNICEF—the U.N. Children's Fund—on the eve of the 19th anniversary of the fund's founding.

King Olav V attended the ceremony at which Henry R. Labouisse, UNICEF's American executive director, received a gold medal and a check for 282,000 Swedish crowns ($51,738).

The other four Nobel prizes were to be awarded in a companion ceremony at Stockholm, Sweden. But Prof. Sinitiro Tomonaga of Japan, who shared the prize for physics with two Americans, got his at the Swedish Embassy in Tokyo because he is recovering from several fractured ribs.

The other winners of the physics prize were Prof. Julian Schwinger of Harvard University and Richard Feynman of the California Institute of Technology.

Santa Needs Aid at Lapeer Institution

LAPEER—Persons now are being sought to help Santa Claus with a big order at Lapeer State Home and Training School.

Officials at the institution estimate there are 1,300 patients who will not receive Christmas gifts from relatives and friends.

The staff attempts to assure that each child and adult will be remembered with a Christmas gift.

Appropriate items range from small jars of instant coffee through cosmetics, wash cloths, billfolds, flashlights and toys.

LEGENDS OF CHRISTMAS

The next morning, with tears in her eyes, Bobushka said: "I should have gone with the three kings to see the Little King."

Bobushka could not forget as years passed. She became more confused and her house, locking care, fell into disrepair.

By Kreigh Collins

"Perhaps I can catch them!" she said. It was a foolish idea, for years had elapsed since the Three Kings had passed.

Angry, Bitter Veterans Itch for Vengeance as Property Tax Exemption Veto Upheld

By BOB VOGES
Associated Press Writer
LANSING (AP)—Angry, bitterly disappointed and itching for vengeance against House Republicans and Gov. George Romney—
That was the attitude of the lobbying veterans—both leaders and rank-and-file—after Republicans stood firm Thursday and refused to override Romney's veto of a veterans property tax exemption bill.
Veterans descended on the Capitol via chartered buses and crowded cars from every area of the state in a lobbying demonstration.
Nearly a dozen were amputees in wheelchairs. Veterans, their wives and children and widows jammed the House gallery.
MORE THAN 600
A conservative estimate of their numbers was more than 600.
The old soldiers left quickly after watching the House vote.
But before retreating, they made their anger known.
"I'll never vote GOP again," declared Garrett Debaer of the Grand Rapids Disabled American Veterans.
James Corby of South Haven, Veterans of Foreign Wars, watched the vote from a wheelchair in the third floor House gallery.
He said he was sure there would be retaliation by veterans against the Republicans who failed to support the bill.
"I'm going out of my way to work against them," Corby promised. "There are two men from my district alone we'll be out to get."
"I think it stunk," said George Frederick, American Legion commander from Detroit.
POLITICAL DEAL
The thing turned into a political deal instead of being judged on the basis of what was best for the veterans.
Clarence Schumacher of Rockford, state commander of the VFW, termed the action "a miscarriage of justice."
Schumacher two hours later issued a milder statement, written by his public relations chairman.
The statement thanked the Legislature for considering the homestead tax exemption bill.
"Our defeat of not obtaining an overriding of the governor's veto leaves us with no rancor," the later statement said, "or the desire to be vindictive toward any political body or person."
This was not the reaction of the individual veterans. More than two dozen were interviewed by the Associated Press and not one was willing to accept Romney's proposals. All were resentful about the one-vote failure of their lobby efforts.
Another double amputee, Jack Fashbaugh of the Jackson Disabled Veterans post, explained why he drove his own specially equipped car to lobby for the veto.
"I'm not here for myself," he said. "I'm trying to work for my buddies."
UNITED EFFORT
"This was the first time in 50 years that all the veterans organizations in Michigan got together in appearance to unanimously agree on one issue," said Frank Jackson of Jackson, a past commander of the World War I Veterans. "Don't think we won't remember what happened."
There was resentment against the governor also.
Ed Guwa, commander of the VFW post in Detroit, was particularly bitter against Romney.
"I remember when he came in to talk to us, telling us what a great friend he is of the veterans," Guwa said.
"We thought Romney learned something about war when he came back from Viet Nam and started this operation for Christmas presents. This is fine."
"But what a paradox. What kind of present is he giving to the fellows who came back from Viet Nam in wheelchairs and on crutches or the wives and children of those who come back in boxes?"
One observer termed the lobbying effort "the greatest mass movement of veterans since the French troops left Paris in taxi-cars, old cars and buses to stop the German invasion in World War I."
But the veterans say they will remember the defeat at Lansing—with votes.

Reserve Bank Ups Its Discount Rate
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis raised its discount rate—the interest rate paid on loans to member banks in the 9th Federal Reserve District—from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent Tuesday.
The increase was approved by the Federal Reserve Board in Washington. The move had been expected since the board approved like increases for reserve banks in New York and Chicago.
The 9th District includes Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana and northern parts of Wisconsin and Michigan.

Rescue Vehicle for Deep Seas

Part of Navy's 5-Year
Submergence Project

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — To avoid a repeat performance of the tragic undersea Thresher disaster, the Navy is planning a rescue vehicle that can submerge and hover at depths that would crush a submarine.

The proposed vehicle is part of a five-year, $200 million program called Deep Submergence Systems Project, the biggest research project ever launched to extend man's rescue facilities under the sea and to probe his potential for living and working under the sea.

The contract for building the prototype vessel, due to be finished in 1968, will be drawn up early next spring.

The vehicle, about 44 feet long, is designed to be fitted into a large Army transport plane and swiftly flown to the site nearest an ocean disaster. Once in the sea, it can be operated from a nuclear "mother" submarine or from a surface support ship.

The vehicle will have advantages over the rescue ship Trieste. It will be free moving, faster and more mobile. It can be navigated up, down and sideways and hover steadily in undersea currents while rescue operations are going on.

SIGHTED REMAINS

The Trieste was the rescue ship that sighted the remains of the Thresher which went down with 129 men aboard off the northeastern Atlantic Coast on April 10, 1963.

With a crew of three men, the new vehicle will have three bubble domes: One for the navigator, one for the escape lock, and one in which the survivors will sit. It will be able to carry 12 to 14 people per trip to safety. A submarine has an average of 100 men aboard.

The Navy's Submergence Project includes research operations at two main levels in the sea—the continental shelf down to about 1,000 feet and the deep ocean to depths of 20,000 feet.

Besides aiming at speedy and reliable rescue operations, the Navy also hopes to create ocean bases about 600 feet below the surface of the ocean, where divers may live and work for weeks or more at a time. New diving techniques also will be developed.

In addition, the Navy will be investigating recovery of objects ranging in size from basketballs to torpedoes at depths of 20,000 feet.

Governor Race

May Pit Two Reeds

WOOLWICH, Maine (AP) — The 1966 race for governor in Maine may be Reed vs. Reed.

State Senate President Carlton D. Reed Jr. of Woolwich will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination.

Gov. John H. Reed, a Republican, is expected to seek another term. There's already one other candidate for each nomination.

ANDREW PIXLEY

'Sociopath' Executed in Wyoming

RAWLINS, Wyo. (UPI) — Andrew Pixley, a traveling former altar boy and traveling dishwasher convicted of the rape-slaying of a 12-year-old daughter of an Illinois Circuit Court judge, went stoically to his death early today in the Wyoming gas chamber.

The frail 22-year-old Dallas, Ore., "sociopath" — a man who hated society — was the first person in 20 years to be executed in Wyoming.

Although Pixley was tried only for the murder of Deborah McAuliffe, 12, he also admitted the slaying of her 8-year-old sister, Cynthia.

They were the daughters of Judge and Mrs. Robert McAuliffe of Maywood, Ill. McAuliffe is a Cook County, Ill., circuit judge.

Pixley was found covered with blood in a Jackson, Wyo., hotel room Aug. 7, 1964, with the beaten bodies of the sisters.

NO NEW EVIDENCE

Wyoming Gov. Clifford P. Hansen said shortly before the execution he would consider Pixley's case only if there were new evidence. None reached him.

Pixley, showing no emotion, was led from his death row cell 14 seconds after midnight to walk the 20 feet to the gas chamber. He was smiling when his death verdict was read in a Worland, Wyo., courtroom last year.

He was the 14th person to be executed in the Wyoming state prison. Nine have been hanged and five gassed.

THE McAuliffes and their two young daughters were vacationing in the northwestern Wyoming resort town of Jackson early in August 1964.

HELD PIXLEY

Judge McAuliffe went to his daughters' room the night of Aug. 7 and found Pixley and the beaten bodies of Deborah and Cynthia.

"My god, my god, you've killed my daughters," McAuliffe yelled. He held Pixley until police arrived.

McAuliffe tried to attack Pixley again in court, but was restrained. "Smile, you animal," the judge shouted when Pixley grinned at the death verdict.

Civil Service Unions Eyed

LANSING (AP) — The issue of whether a new law guaranteeing public employees the right to form unions applies to state civil service workers will come up before the State Labor Mediation Board next month.

The Michigan State Employees Union has petitioned the board seeking to become exclusive bargaining representative for employees in more than 18 state institutions and agencies.

A hearing before a board trial examiner has been scheduled for Jan. 18 in Detroit.

Philip Weiss, a board member from Grosse Pointe Farms, said the attorney general will be asked for an opinion on whether the new law covers civil service workers.

ONE SECTION

He said one section of the law seems specifically to exclude all state employees within the jurisdiction of the State Civil Service Commission.

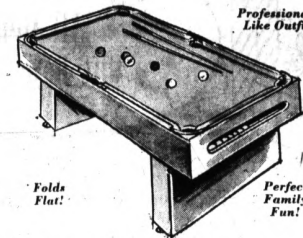

"While on the surface, the law may not appear to apply, the board will give the matter a hearing and listen to legal arguments," Weiss said.

Robert Grosvenor, director of the union, said if the board's decision is against the union, there will be an appeal in the courts.

Gaiety in Uruguay Belies Near-Crisis

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst

As temperatures move toward the 90-degree mark and the southern hemisphere summer approaches, residents of Montevideo flock to the city's superb beaches gleaming white in the sun.

In Plaza Independencia, dominated by the heroic figure of Jose Artigas, liberator of Uruguay, a high-rise office building nears completion and in nearby shops, visitors from Brazil and Argentina take advantage of Uruguay's depreciated peso.

NEWSOM

The falling peso is evidence of a deep financial crisis which finds Uruguay close to bankruptcy.

The thronged beaches give the lie to a situation which elsewhere in Latin America could be the harbinger of violent revolution.

Since July, the country has been wracked by a series of strikes in state-owned public services and industries. Twice the government has proclaimed a state of emergency amounting to modified martial law.

INFLATION RAMPANT

The bitter conflict between the workers and the government stems from government efforts to stem galloping inflation, limit wage increases and reverse the adverse flow of imports over exports.

But even those difficulties, serious as they are, are but surface indications of troubles which go far deeper.

Uruguay is a welfare state which cannot balance overwhelming government expenses against an uncertain income derived from an agricultural economy.

Within the government, power is vested in a nine-man national council modeled on the Swiss system, with the presidency rotating each year. The council is split by factional disputes, and beneath the council is a top-heavy and slow-moving bureaucracy.

RETIRE AT 55

Under the country's cradle-to-the-grave welfare system, it is possible for a man to retire at 55 on 100 per cent income.

Of a population of 2.7 million, more than 216,000 persons are on the federal payroll. Their total comprises about 20 per cent of the country's work force.

The cost of living jumped 40 per cent in 1964. This year, the increase is estimated at between 60 and 70 per cent.

The government hoped to limit wage increases to 25 per cent. Government bank employees are demanding a 48 per cent boost. Other government unions ask as high as 60 per cent.

DEBTS HIGH

The government debt to the United States and to others of the so-called Paris Club is $550 million. In August, emergency action by U. S. banks staved off immediate disaster with an arrangement postponing $58 million in short term debts falling due this year.

Modern Uruguay was created by a man named Jose Batlle y Ordonez. He brought Uruguay from a state of violence and chaos to peace and order.

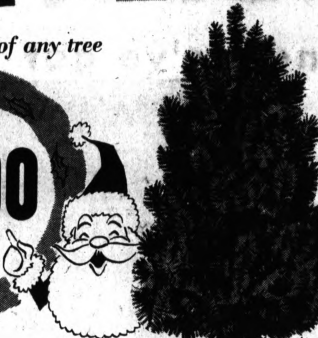

It was a country of state-ownership of public services and some industries. It also was a state without an income tax. Even today, income taxes fall only upon the upper brackets.

Grading cards are taken to the computer center by workers on Tuesday of report-card week and all grades are processed, typed out and duplicated for distribution in the curriculum Ma-

Senior Dance

It's Kettering a Go Go

By JAMIE SCHUTT
Waterford Kettering's gymnasium will resound with the dissonance of the best tonight, as the senior class presents its 1965 Christmas activity, "Dance a Go Go," from 8 to 11.
Featured will be Bobby and the Quintells, and disc jockey, James Barowski.
A special event of the evening will be a dance contest, sponsored by Bobby and the Quintells.

The winning couple will compete against the last winners in a special dance-off.

The gymnasium will be decorated in a Christmas-decorated motif.

Tables, spread with checkered cloths, will be arranged at one end of the gym, and there will be dim, colored lights throughout.

Proper dress for "Dance a Go Go" will be normal school clothes.

Brandon Band Readers Christmas Concert

By ROSE THEVIOT
Members of the Brandon High School band are tuning their instruments in final preparation for the annual Christmas concert to be given Sunday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The 5th and 6th graders will take part in the concert in addition to the junior and senior high school band under the direction of Larry Baker, instructor.

Dominican's Parade Float Is Dismantled

By DEBBIE VAN NATTER

Though luxuriously decorated, the Dominican Academy Christmas float had to be dismantled following the Lake Orion Christmas parade.

Each school, participating in the parade, designed cars, trucks, and platforms reflecting their interpretation of the yuletide season. The Academy created a religious tableau.

Aileen O'Connor, Student Council president has been crowned Junior Miss of Lake Orion.

Competing against fourteen Lake Orion residents, Aileen was selected as most feminine and most talented.

Her next step will be the state pageant competition to be held in Pontiac.

At St. Michael's

Form Pep Club for Spirit

By LYNN BAUER
Steven Kraft was elected president of the newly formed St. Michael's Pep Club. The purpose of this club is to arouse more school spirit and to assure the presence of a large cheering section at all athletic activities.

Tom Patch received the Optimist Award which is based on athletics, scholastics, and citizenship.

Thomas Stokes was selected president of the Ski Club.

The Drama Club, under the supervision of president, Patricia English, is planning a variety show for January.

St. Michael's girls' basketball team began practice this week. Their first game will be played Jan. 9.

The choral group, under the direction of Sister Fernando, will sing at the Pontiac State Bank this Wednesday.

Clarkston Seniors to Sponsor Dance

By CATHY RICHARDSON
Clarkston's senior class will sponsor a basketball game dance this evening in the high school cafeteria.

Helping on the dance will be seniors last chance to earn points towards their trip and graduation.

This will be the final dance of the class of 1966 will sponsor. In honor of the occasion, the dance will be called "Senior Salute."

Central Seniors to Seek Title

4 Getting Ready for Junior Miss Contest

By HELEN COLLIAS

Four senior girls from Pontiac are vying for the title of Pontiac Junior Miss. They are Carole Beckett, Helen Collias, Linda Jackson and Darlene Humphrey.

The contest is sponsored by the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Three judges will choose one ideal senior girl who will then vie for the state and hopefully the national title.

For the last few weeks, the girls have been busy filling out entry and information blanks, and practicing their talent routines.

An individual interview and orientation session was held Thursday night.

Everyone is invited to attend the pageant Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Pontiac Northern's Little Theater.

The girls will display their talent and model in their evening gowns.

Beauty and talent are not the only categories considered. Mental alertness and scholastic achievement as well as physical fitness, personality and poise all play an important part.

The PCHS band will present its annual midwinter concert Dec. 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the boys gym. Central will be host to the Jefferson, Lincoln and Washington Junior High Schools.

Art Classes Travel to OU

By NADINE WILLIAMS

First year art classes of Lake Orion High School went on a field trip to Oakland University to view and write about world primitive art. Mrs. G. A. Boddy accompanied the group.

Officers of the Future Nurses Association are Carol Draher, president; Deborah Hott, vice president; Patricia King, secretary; and Laura Upton, treasurer.

On Dec. 16 the band, under the direction of Roger Faulmann, will present a concert open to the public. It will begin at 8 p.m. and will be held in the high school gym.

'65 DAR Award to BHHS Girl

By LINDA McNEILL

This year's recipient of the Daughters of the American Revolution Award from Bloomfield Hills High School is Janet Bly. She received this award on the basis of citizenship, patriotism, and contribution to the community.

Runners-up to Janet were Lynn Skinner and Carl Christensen, respectively.

"I Remember Mama" is the title of the second play presented by the Protagonists. The play will be held on Dec. 16, 17, and 18 at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater.

Yesterday students from the psychology classes at BHHS gave a Christmas party for mentally retarded children at Pontiac State Hospital.

By ERNESTINE MOORE

If you happen to be in the vicinity of St. Frederick's Hall on a Tuesday or Friday afternoon and hear strange noises, don't think that we have opened a parish zoo.

These grunts and groans are made by the girls' basketball team. Last week they began practice under a new coach, Shirley Grass.

Miss Grass graduated from Denby High of Detroit and is currently attending Oakland Community College and working at General Motors as well as coaching her team.

Assisting her as student manager is Karen Mercer.

Girls returning from last year's squad to compete for this year's team include seniors Louise Featherman, Margaret Fitzgerald, Karen Larson, Ernestine Moore, Juanita Ochoa, Santa Pavlinac and Bridget Scully.

Returning juniors are Laura Doyon and Jeanie Tarchalski.

EXPERIENCED
Three sophomores with past experience are Patricia Kuson, Barbara Tewksbury and Patricia Wright.

New girls are juniors Julie Lane, Liana Felter, Loretta Felter and Kathy Willis.

Sophomores getting experience for the first time this year are Allison Barrie, Maria Bora, Sandra Doll, Gracien Gallagher, Veronica Lavalli, Jennifer Quince, Rita Stodill, Barbara Sweet and Deborah Rochon and Deborah Tyrell and Mary Zahs.

Most of the freshmen members received experience as members of the grade school team last year. They are Mary Bard, Vivian Barnes, Charlotte Carey, Jewel Corley, Dolores Crake, Marsha Harrington, Rose Miller and Jane Skaziewicz.

Concert to Feature 300 Voices

By ALICE TURNER

More than three hundred vocal students at Pontiac Northern will join voices Sunday to present Northern's annual Christmas Concert.

The concert will be at 3 p.m. in the auditorium. No admission will be charged.

Both old and new favorites will be presented by the singers.

Northern's Madrigal Group will sing "We Wish You the Merriest," "Sing Noel" and "The Sleep of the Christ Child."

The Male Chorus will present "Venit Jesus" and "White Christmas."

Two Christmas carol arrangements will be presented by the Barbershop Quartet.

TO GIVE 'GLORIA'
Featured will be the presentation of the Cantata "Gloria" by Antonio Vivaldi with Northern's A Capella Choir and Mixed Chorus singing together.

"Snow, Snow, Beautiful Snow" and "The Meaning of Christmas" will be presented by the Girls' Choir.

The Girls' Ensemble will sing medley from "Here's Love."

The Mixed Ensemble, also known as the Howlin' Huskies, will sing "It's Christmas Once Again."

The Girls' Choir, Girls' Ensemble and the Howlin' Huskies are under the direction of Judith Davis.

The Madrigals, A Capella Choir, Male Chorus and the Barbershop Quartet are directed by John Tousey.

Cantata soloists are Nancy Straubinger, Lilian Ristich and Chris Bexell.

Sherry Johanson and Shirley Slade will be singing a duet.

Accompanists are Nancy Graham and Phyllis Daniels and Miss Davis.

Northern's second exchange student from Argentina will be Lucia Rain. From Buenos Aires she will arrive in the United States, early in January.

While in the United States, Lucia will reside at the home of the Troy Belts. Their daughter, son, Carolyn and Troy, are both seniors at Northern.

shining gold will add a colorful note to the occasion.

"Carol of Christmas," the MHS choir's annual holiday offering, will open at 8 p.m. next Wednesday and Thursday, in the high school's Little Theater. No admission is charged.

Troy

By RICK SHAVER
Troy High School will participate again this year in the Oakland County Lincoln Essay Contest.
In the past three years, Troy has won first place once, second place twice, and third place once.
Prizes range from $150 in government bonds and a free trip to Lansing to visit the legislature in action, to a fifth place prize of $25.

Avondale

By CHERYL BECKER
Subscriptions for Avondale High School's 1965-66 yearbook, "The Yellow Jacket," were taken this week. Editor, Phyllis Grisham, is striving to make this yearbook the best ever.

West Bloomfield

By MARGIT MISANGYI
Seniors at West Bloomfield High School went to Lansing last Monday during school hours.

The Student Council bought a new flag for the school, which will be placed in the gymnasium.

The pepometer at school has gone up an equal amount for each of the classes. This is because of the overwhelming spirit shown at last week's first basketball game.

More Realistic Attitude Needed

College Failure Must Prove Change

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Dear Dr. Nason: I would like to return to college although I am not at present in good standing with the college I last attended. I made the mistake of taking too many elective courses in which I was interested, but for which I was not fully prepared. Some of the DR. NASON courses I selected were graduate courses. It was just too heavy a work load for me. Before the last semester, in which I failed all subjects, my grade point average was 2.4. How can I now continue my education?
Miss H. C., Seattle, Wash.

You walked out on a limb and sawed it off and now you will have to reclimb the tree.

I hope that your experience has taught you some respect for the judgment of college curriculum makers and counselors regarding the prerequisites set for advanced courses. You must now convince the counselor for a public junior college or for the extension division of a four-year college or university that you have adopted a more realistic attitude toward college work. They may give their approval for a limited program through which you can prove your sincerity.

Dear Dr. Nason: I have read and enjoyed your columns on "How to Get in College — Succeed," but when you make the statement that "75 per cent of what you learn should be absorbed in the classroom, I strongly disagree. I am a graduate student soon to receive my Ph. D. in biochemistry. I carried a 2.6 average on a 2-point system while an undergraduate and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and doubt that I absorbed more than 10 per cent while in the classroom.

When taking notes, I simply transferred what the professor said to paper, listening to very little of it, then when back in the quiet of my room, I read it and learned it.

You see, I have a good memory in regard to written material but a very poor memory in regard to what I hear.

Now, this of course makes me a special case, but I can't believe I'm the only person in the world like that. Rather, I feel that you should have made some allowances for the extremes of individual differences among students and their study habits.

C. R. P., Champaign, Ill.

You are to be congratulated on your ability to learn rapidly and well through reading. However, I have known a considerable number of students who excel in this ability and who have also learned the additional skill of absorbing material through listening. It is not a matter of depending on one or the other. A good student makes use of both. In your case, you wasted many classroom hours during which you could have absorbed enough material to save an appreciable amount of the time you spent poring over your books. A good student is versatile.

(You can write to Prof. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press.)

U.S. Is Owed Funds for NATO

By Esther Van Wagoner Tutty
WASHINGTON—NATO is still needed to prevent Communist aggression in Europe, but also needed are the overdue payments of the other 14 countries in the jointly financed military organization.

That's the opinion of Congressman Robert Griffin, R-Traverse City, ranking Republican on the foreign operations and government information subcommittee of the House Government Operations Committee.

With Chairman John Moss, D-Calif., the Michigan Republican has just returned from Europe where he went "to find out principally why certain missile installations used for NATO purposes were financed 100 per cent with United States funds."

After conferences in Italy, France and Greece with political and military leaders, they came back with a lot of classified information, some of which will appear in a committee report in about 60 days.

The inspection trip was triggered by the General Accounting Office's questioning of the expenditure of some $180 million which should have involved NATO financing for the construction of specific military installations but was paid for entirely by the United States.

The congressman explained that the military is charged with the responsibility of securing the money, but he questions if the military is the proper authority, as the military is more intent on getting the installations, the hardware and other equipment it needs to do the job rather than on the financing.

Protective Association to Aid Divorced Man

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Incorporation papers have been filed with the Bernalillo County clerk's office for an organization known as the Divorced Man's Protective Association.

In the charter, the group said its intention was to influence passage of legislation to modernize divorce, legal separation and annulment laws governing child support and custody to make them equitable for both men and women.

Integration Struggle Seldom Found on South Carolina Streets

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The ways appeal to his manners." University by federal court or first Negro admitted to an all-white public school in South Carolina one said: "If you holding true. There were no riots when South Carolinian, you can at-Gant was enrolled at Clemson been remarkably rare.

South Carolina, more than any other state, has kept its integration struggle in the courts and out of the streets. Yet, the average white South Carolinian is as opposed to integration as the average Southerner elsewhere, and the Negro leadership in the state is as militantly determined to erase segregation.

GOOD RECORD

Why, then, does South Carolina, where the first shots of the Civil War were fired, enjoy a comparatively good record?

One reason sometimes advanced is that even the low-income white people in South Carolina unconsciously identify themselves with a courtier age. A man who can name his forebears of 1765 is apt to be disdainful in 1965 of both street demonstrations by Negroes and cornfield conclaves by Ku Klux Klansmen.

"There is a certain gentility in South Carolina," said Ruby Hurley, the southeastern region director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, during a visit to Charleston this summer. "There is no widespread demagoguery in South Carolina."

However, she added, "this does not negate a very real concern about the Ku Klux Klan element and the dyed in the wool reactionaries who refuse to accept changes in time and patterns of living."

Another reason for South Carolina's good showing is that white political leaders have forcefully served notice that violence by segregationists will not be tolerated. Negro civil rights leaders, in turn, have firmly avoided agitating violence for its out-of-state publicity value.

The Rev. I. DeQuincy Newman, South Carolina field secretary for the NAACP, said:

"The civil rights struggle in South Carolina has had the benefit of local leadership, people who are at home here and love the state and are interested in it."

"A person like that is more apt to take care of his own property than someone else. Negroes feel that this is our state and we want to make improvements in equality. We want the good things this state has to offer," he continued.

"Home-grown leadership is apt to be a little more restrained than leadership coming in from elsewhere."

ADDED TO LIST

A summer-long voter registration drive was expected to add an estimated 10,000 Negroes to the voting list, boosting total Negro registration in the state to as many as 175,000. About 680,000 whites are registered.

About 3,500 Negroes are attending public schools with whites. This is a tiny percentage of the 272,906 Negro school children in the state but it is more than seven times the 266 who attended integrated classes last year.

Only a dozen of the state's 46 counties had a few Negroes in integrated classes last year. This year all but two counties have mixed classes.

Only five of the 108 school districts have not filed compliance plans with the federal government, pledging nondiscrimination. All the plans submitted are of the "freedom of choice" variety which allows Negro pupils to request transfers to white schools.

TRUSTEES DECIDE

School district trustees decide which transfers will be granted under a formula which includes proximity of the home to the school, available space and the course of study sought.

An NAACP source said the "freedom of choice" method will be challenged in federal court because it perpetuates a biracial school system.

A suit is pending to declare unconstitutional the state tuition grants program, providing state funds for pupils to attend private schools, which presumably would be segregated.

About a dozen new private schools began operating this fall, but state money for tuition has been held up by court order because of the suit.

To the tourist driving through South Carolina may seem as rigidly segregated as it was 10 years ago. Desegregation is not immediately evident beyond the lunch counter and public conveyance levels.

Hotels, motels and almost all restaurants comply with the civil rights law and will reluctantly admit Negroes.

But a tourist can travel the state for weeks and the only Negro he is likely to see in a place of public accommodation is a maid or a waiter.

Asks Stricter Driver Laws

LANSING MI — A program for centralized and stricter driver licensing was recommended to Gov. George Romney yesterday by the Michigan State University Highway Traffic Safety Center.

It would cost the state an extra $3.6 million a year unless license fees are raised.

Romney had requested the study to learn how driver licensing could best be strengthened.

Core of the proposal is establishment of a force of trained driver analysts under state civil service. These people would examine, evaluate and counsel drivers under an integrated licensing operation which would encompass driver examining, records and improvement.

The center recommended stricter qualifying tests and enough money to make the overall program work.

Michigan is presently one of three states where driver licensing is handled mostly at the local level. In a few areas the state has taken over because local units relinquished the job for financial reasons.

"The local system doesn't work," said Gordon Sheehy, director of the Safety Center. In rural areas it has been mostly administered by sheriffs, some of whom are financially dependent on revenues they receive from issuing licenses.

Romney said he would offer licensing proposals to the Legislature next year. He said he had not completely studied the Safety Center proposals, however, so could not yet unqualifiedly endorse them.

Draft Ruling on Protesters May Be Made in January

DETROIT (AP)—Two University of Michigan students, appealing a draft board reclassification to 1A following their arrest at an anti-Viet Nam war sit-in, may have to wait until January for a decision.

That was the pronouncement of the Wayne County Local Board 93 following a hearing Thursday. Board members declined to answer other questions.

The students, Patrick Murphy,

19, of Detroit and David Smokler, 20, of suburban Royal Oak, were among six students reclassified from unavailable to available status after their participation in an Oct. 15 sit-in at the Ann Arbor Selective Service office.

The board reclassified Smokler and Murphy after being informed by Col. Arthur W. Holmes, state director of Selective Service, that they had been convicted of sitting down in the Ann Arbor draft board and disrupting its work.

'VERY DISAPPOINTED'

"We were very disappointed when our son was reclassified," said Murphy's father, William J. Murphy. "We felt that the draft board was using reclassification for a larger purpose—with the view of inhibiting these demonstrations."

David Klein, an American Civil Liberties Union attorney, who helped represent the youths said board members based the reclassification on a Selective Service regulation which allows registrants to be declared delinquent for failing to perform their duties.

"In this case, the board apparently based reclassification on the idea that the registrants failed to perform a duty not to interfere with the board," he said.

Young Murphy told newsmen: "They asked me what my intentions was in participating in the demonstration and I answered that my intention was to protest the war in Viet Nam." "They indicated that I had impeded the draft, but I don't know," he added, saying: "I don't know whether I would demonstrate again, but I still feel the war is wrong. I don't think the United States has a right to impose what we feel is the correct form of government on other countries."

"I'm still against the war in Viet Nam," Smokler said. "Students are given deferments and I believe I should have such a deferment."

Ernest Mazy, executive of the Michigan ACLU, said the students' cases would be appealed "all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court" if they are not granted student deferments.

"The conduct of their reclassification is morally, legally and constitutionally indefensible," said Mazy. "It appears to be a means of punishment for those who can't be found guilty in the courts."

Viet Reporter Habitually Found Where the Action Is

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Associated Press Correspondent Peter Arnett has lived the Vietnamese War for more than three years. What is this jaunty reporter like? Why does he choose to continue on a difficult and dangerous assignment? Reporter Hugh A. Mulligan takes a close look at his colleague in the following article.)

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
A camouflaged tin pot sits at the foot of his typewriter, and, in conspicuous in this war zone as a cuspider in a backwoods Kentucky courthouse.

Beneath his desk is a mud-smeared, battle-tattered canvas rucksack, crammed to the top with poncho, ground cloth, mosquito net, toilet articles and a tasteless selection of olive drab

PETER ARNETT

Cration cans containing enough food to keep a man alive for a week or more in the field, if you call that living.

His cameras are always loaded; his notebook ever present in a back pocket under a protective covering of waterproof plastic, along with mimeographed orders entitling him to fly anywhere in the combat areas.

Peter Arnett, Associated Press war correspondent, acts like a man who expects the biggest battle of the war to break out at the next jangle of the telephone.

Which is why when the phone finally rings and the battle breaks out, he usually is the first correspondent on the scene.

UNCANNY KNACK

No reporter covering the war in Viet Nam today can match Arnett's uncanny knack of sniffing out where the action will break next and, by sweet talking jeep drivers and helicopter pilots, get there while the fighting is at its hottest.

Often the only way to get in the hard way; by foot, over miles of jungle trail or through rice paddies hip deep in water.

Veteran infantrymen have admired Arnett's ability to keep up with seasoned troops over the most rugged terrain and, upon arrival at the combat area, to pluck the leeches from his legs, wipe the dust from his camera lenses and start taking pictures.

In his three years of covering the war for The Associated Press, Arnett has been in every province and every corps area of Viet Nam, giving him a knowledge of the country and its people that most field commanders would envy.

EVERY TYPE

He has spread his ground cloth in every type of terrain, from the flooded paddies of the Mekong and Bassac Deltas in the south to the sand dunes along the coast and the rugged plateaus of tiger and elephant country along the Laotian and Cambodian borders.

He has been on hand, with camera and notebook, for every type of combat action.

From hand-to-hand fighting in a tiny Special Forces camp being overrun by Viet Cong guerrillas to massive regimental sized deployments like "Operation Starlight" when U.S. Marines trapped 60 VC in a narrow peninsula along the coast.

For a complex war of this kind, Arnett's philosophy of coverage is simple and direct.

GOES WITH TROOPS

"Because of the scattered actions and the frontless nature of the war," he says, "it is absolutely necessary for a reporter to get out with the units who are doing the actual fighting.

This is a war of many small actions, small but deadly. It is essential that a reporter see for himself those thousands of little battles at the lowest command levels to begin to comprehend what it is all about, why it is going on so long.

With luck, with enough small definitions, he might be able to begin to generalize, but to stand off and take a long range view has been proved erroneous time and again."

In the past year alone, Arnett's instinct for finding the action has resulted in at least a dozen unforgettable battlefield scenes.

BANE OF PIO

It also has made him the bane of desk-bound PIO (public information officer) types who live in the never-never land where all enemy casualties are light and all friendly casualties are light and all big, bold victories unmarred by any of the realities of death and destruction.

For hours recently Arnett had all alone the story of the farmer with the live grenade lodged in his back and the operation to remove it.

How do you get a story like that? Luck? Maybe, but the kind of luck you make for yourself.

He got a phone call a little after midnight from a contact who in the past had not produced much.

MET THE MAN

Nonetheless, rather than tell the man to call back the following day, or see him in the morning, Peter got out of bed, dressed, met the man and learned of the upcoming operation.

The next day he got up he got up early to bag the surgeon before he reported for work at 7 a.m.

Arnett then wrote his story and kept the lid on it until the dangerous operation was performed by the surgeon with a sandbag protection all around him.

He followed it up again with a postoperation story.

IN SAIGON

When "Operation Starlight" broke out in the Da Nang area in August, Arnett was in Saigon, 350 miles away.

He flew all night to join a press flight to the combat area, being organized by the Marine commander.

The press flight was due to take off at 9 a.m. But Arnett, with only two hours sleep, decided instead to go out to the airport at 5 a.m. and make his own way to the front.

He jumped aboard a supply helicopter which by mistake set down in the midst of a supply column still under attack by the Viet Cong.

CHOPPER TOOK OFF

As soon as Arnett jumped off the chopper took off, leaving him in a scene of tragic confusion and scattered bodies.

Supply Column 21, coming ashore for the first time in Viet Nam from a landing craft, had somehow gotten lost in the rice paddies just beyond the beach, had over-shot the American defense perimeter and been ambushed by waiting Viet Cong.

Seven Americans lay dead, 20 were wounded, and all around were the charred hulks of five tanks and two tanks knocked out by enemy mortar and recoilless rifle fire.

The surviving troops were in a state of shock, barely able to tell their story.

WAITED WITH TROOPS

Arnett waited six hours with them for the relief column to arrive, filling his notebook and his camera bag with some of the war's most memorable scenes.

Marine PIOs, still flushed with the victory of "Operation Starlight," doggedly insisted that no tanks or armored vehicles had been lost in the operation as a till Arnett's pictures proved otherwise.

A normally patient man with a quick wit and an ever present smile, Arnett has little patience with military spokesmen who try to cover up losses and diminish casualty figures.

He thinks such reports not only keep readers from comprehending the true nature of the war but detract from the courage of fighting men who are engaged in a real war with a real enemy.

UNDER MORTAR FIRE

Arnett was under mortar fire for several nights during the attack on Duc Co, the Special Forces camp in the central highlands that had been under siege for nearly two months.

ON VALLEY PATROL — Peter Arnett of the Associated Press moves cautiously through heavy grass during recent Viet Nam fighting in the Ia Drang Valley. This picture was taken in the highlands on a company patrol into an area held by the Viet Cong. Soldiers are pictured to the left of Arnett.

He rode into the camp with a relief convey that was ambushed on the way in, described what it was like to live under the threat of being overrun at any moment and came out with one of the war's most gripping human interest stories.

It was the story of Lien Phuon, the pretty Vietnamese nurse, "who yearned for a pretty dress" and cried uncontrollably whenever one of her combat casualties died.

The story not only resulted in a rash of banner headlines in AP papers across the country but in an avalanche of dresses in the Saigon post office from Americans who were touched by the story.

ALL OF S. ASIA

Arnett is a jaunty 30-year-old who joined The Associated Press five years ago and has covered all of Southeast Asia or, as he puts it, "coups in five different continents."

His pudgy, ski-slide nose, broken three times in amateur boxing adventures, can sniff out scandal almost as deftly as it can sense the smoke of battle.

Arnett, who frequently drives in his little rented car where even armored convoys fear to tread, once drove down toward My Tho, south of Saigon, to have a look at a movie crew working on a Viet Nam war picture for the United States Information Service.

He found the crew busily at work, faking battle scenes with mock charges and attacks and friendly forces obligingly substituting for the enemy.

SHELVE FAKE FOOTAGE

The resulting story and the resulting howls resulted in Carl Rowan, then USA chief, shelving the fake footage and dismissing the camera team.

Similarly, Arnett was the first to sniff out the story of tear gas being used by government troops in Viet Nam.

Although his original story pointed out that tossing a gas grenade into a cave was more humane than using a grenade or a flame thrower, the gas incident, futilely denied several times, became a cause celebre.

A life-of-the-party type who enjoys seeing the dawn come up with his colleagues after a night of conviviality, Arnett genuinely regrets that his role of reporter sometimes makes him unpopular with some of the people he must write about.

EASIER TO GO ALONG

He says with some feeling: "It would be so much easier to go along with the official line, to not say what you have seen and not write about what you've experienced. But I'm not in the PIO business. It's not my job to protect anyone's image or gloss over any of the harsh realities out here."

Arnett chose reporting, beginning at the age of 17 as a desk man on the Southland Times in Inverjell, where he also got a chance to cover and do some boxing and, in his spare time, to go to college at night.

Three years later, "hemmed in by the limiting nature of a provincial daily," Arnett made his way to the capital at Wellington where he worked for "The Standard," a news weekly, as a political reporter, and got his first taste of covering Parliament and the Prime Minister's office.

A year and a half later and the wanderlust was eating at him again. He made his way to Australia, traveling steerage with less than 10 pounds in his pocket and no job prospects in sight.

But within four days he wound up as a general assignment man on the Sydney Sun, where he worked about a year.

UNNECESSARY CHANCES

Despite the adventurous nature of his assignments, particularly covering the war in Viet Nam, Arnett denies that reporters take unnecessary chances on the battlefield.

"When the shooting starts our heads are in the mud as far, even father, than any soldier's. Anyone who takes chances in a fool and won't last long out here.

The real hardship of Viet Nam is not the dangers but the living conditions: The heat, the leeches, the dysentery.

It's even tougher on reporters because I never met one yet who keeps in shape. After every battle, there's always Saigon waiting with its good French food and readily available beer.

KEEP IN TRIM

Unfortunately, there's no West Point of journalism to teach reporters how to keep in trim.

Why does he stay on? "Because," he says, "it's the best story going on anywhere in the world at the moment. Why settle for a lesser one?"

India's Shastri to Visit Johnson in February

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri announced today he is going to the United States Feb. 1 for talks with President Johnson.

Referring to the "friendly American people," Shastri told Parliament he is looking forward to his talks with Johnson because the United States and India "have much in common."

Doctor Critical of Army Chow

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—Grumbling about Army chow—a province of the GI—has been joined by a government physician.

The Army's diet of milk, butter, eggs and fat beef is described as "atherogenic" by Dr. William Dock, chief of medical services at the Brooklyn Veterans Administration Hospital in New York.

This means, he said, it's a diet that may lead to heart trouble.

Other armed services are in the same boat, he said. "Being well-fed is not always an advantage," he said at a postgraduate program of the American College of Cardiology meeting here.

"Heart disease used to be a disease of rich people," but now that almost everyone can afford rich foods and animal fats, heart disease is a feature of mass culture and an affluent society, he said.

Defense at Selma Trial

Testify Defendant Not at Murder Scene

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Defense witnesses—including the brother of a juror—have testified that one of the three white men charged with the murder of a Boston clergyman was making a telephone call when the fatal attack occurred on a Selma street last March.

Testimony placing the other two defendants away from the scene of the clubbing of the Rev. James J. Reeb is expected.

A key defense witness was Edgar B. Vardaman, whose brother, Harry C. Vardaman, is on the jury of white men.

Vardaman testified that he was with Nannon Hogle in a cafe across the street when Reeb and two fellow clergymen were attacked. Vardaman said that Hogle was making a telephone call when another witness, George Hamm, a retired Baptist minister, entered the cafe.

CAFE OWNER

"I can't see how he could have got across the street," said Vardaman, owner of the cafe. He said on cross-examination that he and the younger Hogle were business partners.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Virgil M. Ashworth, who has handled the prosecution, said after he had cross-examined Vardaman that he was unaware of the witness' striking of the jury for the prosecution was led by Dist. Atty. Blanchard McLeod.

Frances Bowden, manager of Vardaman's cafe, corroborated Vardaman's testimony. She said that she accompanied Vardaman to a supper club for dinner that night.

Rain Prevalent in Wide Areas of U. S. Today

By The Associated Press

More rain fell in the Southwest desert region today, with amounts in parts of California and Arizona exceeding normal totals for the entire month of December.

Rain also splashed north Pacific coastal areas, south-central Texas and from the lower Ohio Valley to the lower Missouri Valley. Mostly cloudy weather was reported across broad areas in other parts of the nation.

Nearly one inch of rain damped the arid region of Needles, Calif., compared to the normal December total of .58 of an inch. The amount at Blythe, Calif., was .67 compared to a December total of about one-half inch. Rain amounts at Tucson, Ariz., measures two-thirds of an inch in a six-hour period. The normal total December amount is about one inch.

Heavy snow appeared in prospect along the mountain slopes of northern Arizona, southern Utah and southeastern Nevada, with up to eight inches in higher elevations of northern Arizona.

Crash Kills 4 by Kalamazoo

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Four persons were killed and one person was injured critically Thursday in a two-car collision near Kalamazoo.

Kalamazoo County sheriff's men identified the dead as Lawrence Jordan, 48; his father-in-law, Charles Pease, 78, and his mother-in-law, Fern Pease, all of Hastings, and Earl Bullard, 66, of Richland.

Jordan's wife, Elsa, 41, was reported in critical condition in a Kalamazoo hospital.

Officers said Bullard was riding alone in one of the cars and that the other persons involved all were in the other car. They said the two cars collided on M43 just east of Kalamazoo.

New York City's public school system had a record 51,452 teachers in its employ at the start of the 1965-66 school term.

Tribal Clash Kills 87 by Kenya Border

NAIROBI, Kenya (UP) — At least 87 tribesmen were killed in a tribal clash on Kenya's northeastern frontier last week, police reported yesterday.

The report said the raiders were tribesmen from the region of the Ethiopian and Sudanese borders. They killed 82 Kenyan tribesmen, including 15 children, and stole 1,000 head of cattle. The Turkana chased the raiders and killed 25 of them, police said.

Philanthropic Americans contributed a total of $10.6 billion last year for all causes, according to estimates of the American Assn. of Fund-Raising Councils, Inc.

mark on the international transactions of our confused times.

THE EARLY BIRDS, by Arch Whitehouse (Doubleday, $4.95): The frail, kite-like aircraft of the first years of flight did not seem to represent a transportation medium that was here to stay.

But, as it has done through the centuries, war stepped in to accelerate technological developments, and soon the flimsy frames were getting sturdier, engines were getting stronger and speedier, and cockpits began bristling with armaments.

At first, observation pilots thought it enough to carry a rifle. Whitehouse was one of those early pilots.

He served in Britain's Royal Flying Corps during World War I, and was credited with 16 air victories as an aerial gunner and pilot.

Since then, he has written many military and flight books. His narrative moves briskly, because it deals in speeds and altitudes that seem painfully slow by today's standards.

TRIAL BY BATTLE, By David Piper. Chilton Press. $5.95.

Piper's novel takes a special, individualistic view of modern combat. It really is a tale of the desperate psychological changes forced upon a young English officer.

The young officer's name is Alan Mart. He has left Cambridge (and a possible romantic affiliation) in the early years of World War II to attend a cadet officers' school.

Alan has come out of a world of soft security and theoretical superiority into a harsh, shattering military life.

His new guide and psychological nemesis is an acting captain named Boll, a boozey Army regular who exudes the spirit of gutsy combat and feels it is his duty to "de-educate" the campus-weakened Alan for his own sake.

THE WORLD OF CYRUS EATON, By Marcus Gleisser. Barnes, $6.

In recent years Cyrus Eaton, now in his 80s, has become known as the man who sponsored the famous Pugwash Conferences of distinguished thinkers; the Cleveland capitalist who was on friendly terms with Khrushchev and Mikoyan; the puzzling advocate of an "understanding" with Russia.

This Eaton, as the author makes clear, has always been a "maverick tycoon and gentleman farmer, noted clam in business dealings and outspoken crusader in national and international affairs, long-time battler with the press and Wall Street."

Gleisser records here many of the dollar-battles of this enigmatic and controversial man.

He has composed a report that summarizes well the remarkable exploits of an individualist who has made his indelible

Soviet Shuffle Affirms Rise of Brezhnev, Party

U. S. Viet Toll Stands at 1,432

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new low for recent years, the changes in the Soviet leadership have reaffirmed the growing power of Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and the supremacy of the party in state affairs, administration experts believe.

The changes announced during a three-day Supreme Soviet session in Moscow, will hardly affect U.S.-Soviet relations which at the same time reached

Both Anastas I. Mikoyan, when he resigned Thursday as Soviet chief of state, and Brezhnev, when he nominated Mikoyan as Mikoyan's successor, made their moves in the Central Committee of the Communist party.

As for the individual changes, these are the findings of the experts:

— Mikoyan, the old Bolshevik, retired with full honors. His resignation was expected, since he recently passed his 70th birthday and was known to have been ill since an operation two years ago.

— Podgorny is regarded as being a loser. He appears to be him to active politics is unlikely, safely tucked away in his ceremonial post and a comeback for

NIKOLAI A. PODGORNÝ

Podgorny was brought into the inner sanctum by former Premier Khrushchev as a rival to Brezhnev, but while Brezhnev had a long career in the party apparatus, Podgorny has no firm basis in the party. Furthermore Brezhnev was a lieutenant general during the war and is known to have maintained good contacts with the military, while Podgorny is a civilian without such contacts.

— There is a question mark concerning Alexander N. Shelepin, the third figure in the lineup.

Shelepin was removed as deputy prime minister and he lost control of his powerful party-state controlled committee, which itself lost much of its significance.

Shelepin, however, remains a member of the party Presidium, Podgorny's role in the party and there are unconfirmed rumors that he might take over

ALEXANDER N. SHELEPIN

Some observers, however, believe Shelepin was demoted and the belief here is that he would hardly be a threat to Brezhnev in his present position.

Plan Redistricting Suit

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Greater Louisville Central Labor Council says it plans to file a suit in federal court to force reapportionment of Kentucky's seven congressional districts.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Latest Pentagon figures show U.S. combat deaths in Viet Nam total 1,432 through Monday, an increase of 76 during a seven-day period.

During the same period, the Defense Department reported yesterday that the number of U.S. wounded rose by 271 for a total of 6,496.

The department issues a daily list of casualties which have been reported to the Pentagon, but compiles totals only once a week.

Three days are allowed for the preparation and distribution of the summary.

Yesterday's list reported 120 Americans as currently missing, an increase of six over last week. The number of Americans known to be prisoners of war decreased from 27 to 25.

Accompanied by Foreign Minister Z.A. Bhutto and other officials, Ayub meets Saturday with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and then flies to New York Sunday.

After addressing the U.N. General Assembly Monday, he will go to Washington for the talks with Johnson Tuesday and Wednesday.

The talks are expected to center on Pakistan's dispute with India over Kashmir, U.S. military and economic aid to India and Pakistan, and Pakistan's relations with Communist China.

Later in the week Ayub goes to Paris to see President Charles de Gaulle and then to Bonn to meet with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

On Jan. 4 he is to discuss the Kashmir problem with Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri in a Russian-arranged meeting in Tashkent, in Soviet Asia. Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin is also scheduled to attend.

MADRAS, India (AP) — Sixteen sailing boats sank in a cyclone off India's southwest coast Thursday night, and 50 persons were reported missing.

Two Indian navy ships and an Indian-Norwegian research ship began rescue operations along the battered, rain-swept coast of Kerala State.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI will wait until early next year to tell Roman Catholics they can eat meat on Friday, Vatican sources said Thursday night.

Earlier reports said the Pope might lift the 1,000-year-old rule against meat on Friday at the closing of the Vatican Ecumenical Council two days ago. Now it is believed the Pope will make his announcement during the postcouncil jubilee period he has proclaimed for Jan. 1 - May 25.

HAVANA (AP) — The Soviet Union has agreed to slash the prices it charges Cuba for manufactured goods if Cuba can show they are available elsewhere for less.

This little-publicized agreement signed in Moscow early this year, was made legal here by publication in the Official Gazette, but details were kept out of the controlled press in Cuba and Russia.

The accord is designed to answer Cuban complaints that the Russians jack up their prices two or three times the normal level to offset the artificially high price they pay for Cuban sugar.

In grappling the island's economy, the Soviet Union has been paying Cuba 6 cents a pound for sugar that sells on the world market at 2 cents a pound.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Civil servants called off a 24-hour strike Thursday night after they reached an agreement with the government.

The government employees, more than 20 per cent of the labor force, struck Thursday for a 50 per cent wage increase and other demands.

Terms of the settlement were not announced. The government said previously it could not raise salaries more than 25 per cent this year.

Eye Moscow Destruction

GREENSBURG, Ind. (AP) — Whether Moscow shall be destroyed will be debated here next Wednesday — but it's Moscow, Ind., which lies in the bed of the proposed Downeyville Reservoir.

U.S. Army engineers will expand plans for an 8,800-acre reservoir at the bearing.

Moscow is 14 miles southwest of Rushville, Ind. It has 25 dwellings, a general store, a church, a stone quarry and Rush County's longest covered bridge, over Big Flatrock River.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: En route to Santa Claus Land, a Voodoo man shows Mr. D, the bus driver, his present for Santa. A mirror which will turn to stone all who look at it. When Mr. D says he will take him no further, the Voodoo man says they are already at Santa Land.

CHAPTER FIVE
AP Newsclashes
The Voodoo man stepped off the bus and Mr. D jumped right off after him.

But Mr. D fell over his great big feet and went sprawling in the snow. When he got up both his glasses and the Voodoo man had vanished.

The little lost boy and the donkey and the crocodile also got off the bus. They stood there and wrung their hands and wondered what on earth to do.

"Perhaps it isn't Santa Land," said the crocodile hopefully. "Perhaps we aren't near there at all."

But the little lost boy pointed down the mountain where a cluster of lights glowed in the valley. "That looks the way I always thought Santa Land would look," he said.

VOODOO MAN
"Get back in the bus," ordered Mr. S suddenly. "We're going to get there before the Voodoo man!"

They piled back into the bus. The crocodile said, "But your glasses!" Mr. D said, "There's no time to find them!"

The Bus Hurled Down The Mountain

He stomped on the gas. The bus leaped forward. But without his glasses, Mr. D saw two roads, and took the wrong one.

The bus climbed in and out of a ditch, moved down a line of trees and went hurtling down the far side of the mountain.

NO WINDSHIELD
The wild ride ended with the bus upended in ice and snow at the bottom of the cliff. Mr. D still clung to the wheel and peered cross-eyed through the windshield that wasn't there anymore.

The little boy and the crocodile and the donkey were scrambled like an omelet at Mr. D's feet.

The bus had lost two wheels and the gas tank was punctured. The radiator was caved in and all four fenders were gone.

The only thing that wasn't broken was the sign saying "ZABBAZARA." It still hung bravely on the side of the crumpled bus.

UGLIER THAN EVER
The crocodile was the first to speak. "I've lost seven teeth! Now I'm uglier than ever."

"Thank goodness I had no sense," said the donkey, rubbing his broken head. "If I had I would have lost it all."

"How about you?" asked Mr. D, lifting the little boy from the bottom of the pile. "Are you all right?"

"Oh, yes! I thought it was a WONDERFUL ride! But what about Santa? How will we stop the Voodoo man now?"

"If only it were light," moaned the crocodile. "We'd know where we were."

THERE'S LIGHT
The donkey pointed out the Delay Urged on Big Mac Refinancing

LANSING (AP) — A state treasury investment specialist says because of the Federal Reserve Board's raise in interest rates, now would not be the best time to refinance the Mackinac Bridge.

R. Palmer Carr said Thursday indications are that interest rates on general obligation bonds will go up, too, meaning refinancing would not bring as big a saving as was hoped earlier.

A proposal in the legislature this year called for substituting general obligation bonds backed by the state's full faith and credit — "for the present revenue bonds which financed construction of the bridge.

Democratic leaders side-tracked it, but House Speaker

To Revise Biographical Dictionary in Britain

OXFORD, England (AP) — Oxford University Press says it is planning a complete revision of Britain's Dictionary of National Biography, a project estimated to cost a million dollars.

The dictionary contains 24 million words in 27 volumes. Publication of the main work began in 1885 and ended with the death of Queen Victoria in 1901.

In an effort to kill off the Russian draft, the United States and Britain proposed changes which would turn it into a denunciation of Communist subversion.

Eighteen Latin-American nations submitted a separate resolution.

High-Speed Testing Begun for New Plane

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — High-speed tests at altitudes of up to 10,000 feet have begun for the U.S. Air Force F111A variable-sweep fighter plane.

The tests, which began Thursday, continue through January in a 100-nautical-mile air corridor 5 to 15 miles offshore and for taking military action in Viet Nam.

intervention. It ran into sharp opposition from the Soviet Union, apparently because it denounces nations that train armed bands of subversives, an obvious reference to Communist Cuba.

A third resolution, put in by the United Arab Republic and three other nations, deals with subversion in general terms.

The situation has been confused further by African reluctance to consider as intervention any act of force against the white supremacist South Africa and colonial Portugal.

Time Now to Deck the Halls

Spell out a cheery "Noel" on your front door. Glue glitter-sprinkled green cotton batting to cardboard letters. For the "O," shape wreath from chicken wire and wrap with batting. Trim with red velvet bow and artificial holly leaves and berries.

Make your own ornaments — Cotton crochet thread is the major ingredient in creating "string-maze fantasies." Soak thread in full-strength liquid starch and wrap around an inflated balloon in criss-cross fashion. When thread is dry, deflate and remove the balloon through the top opening. The lacy-looking globe that's left can be decorated with a variety of holiday trims. Hang it on the Christmas tree or suspend it from the ceiling for a festive touch.

This jolly fellow is an easy-to-make decoration for your holiday house. Glue glitter-sprinkled white cotton batting to a cardboard circle and triangle for Santa's face and hat. Use pink batting for beard, eyebrows, and cap trim; cotton velvet for facial features.

ACE Yule Ingathering Yields Gifts for Lapeer

Pontiac Branch of the Association for Childhood Education met at Daniel Whitfield Elementary School Thursday for its annual yuletide tea and ingathering of gifts for Lapeer State Home and Training School residents.

The city's school children have helped enthusiastically to fulfill this ACE project for many years.

Guest speaker Probate Judge Donald E. Adams praised the group's efforts and explained methods of gift distribution by the Lapeer institution's staff to insure that no "forgotten individual" experiences a giftless Christmas.

MUSICAL GROUP

Mrs. Terry Cantrell, program chairman, introduced the Whitfield fifth and sixth-grade chorus whose members offered traditional and contemporary carols under the direction of Mrs. William Cheal.

Decorations were arranged by Mrs. Emmett Buckley, Mrs. Bruce Morrison, Mrs. Alton Madden, Mrs. Booker T. Yancey, Harold Rose, Thomas Murphy and Judy West.

Others helping were Mrs. Howard Booker, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mayme Myatt, Lamont Wertz and Virginia Fowler.

Hostesses for the tea hour were: Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Elvin Hodges, Mrs. Harold Muldowney, Alice Hagood, Miss Wertz and Miss West. Vida Walker, principal, and the Whitfield staff served on the hospitality committee.

Guests at the affair also included Mr. and Mrs. William Lacy, Lewis Crew and Gerald White.

Yule Party for Zontas Is Dinner

Thirty-two members and one guest attended the annual Christmas dinner meeting of the Zonta Club of Pontiac Thursday evening.

Assisting the hostess, Mrs. Hiram Smith of Edgfield Drive, was Beth Johnson.

During the business meeting Mrs. Beecher Fawcett, president, appointed chairmen for 1966 projects. Mrs. Jerry McLarty will have charge of the annual May breakfast.

Mrs. Carmi J. Odell will serve as chairman for a regional workshop May 14 at Oakland University. Cochairmen for the fall fair are Mrs. Earl L. Clark and Mrs. Thomas Fitzpatrick.

Art Institute Play Features Area Children

Two area youngsters are appearing in the theater production of "Peter Pan" at the Detroit Institute of Arts Dec. 18 and 19 and Dec. 26 through 30. Mark Welton of Birmingham and James Hips of Bloomfield Hills are performing in the third annual presentation of this classic.

Curtain time is 2 p.m. on every day the play is scheduled. There will be additional performances at 10 a.m. on Dec. 28, 29 and 30.

All seats in the auditorium (John R. street entrance) are reserved.

Ticket information is available at the Art Institute ticket office. Special rates are given for groups.

Present Annual Concert

The Pontiac Tuesday Musicales Chorus will present a Christmas concert Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Central Methodist Church. This program will be open to the public with no admission charge.

The 35-member chorus under the direction of Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer will be accompanied by Mrs. Walter Schmitz.

The "Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten will be presented by the group with solo-

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter who is in her late twenties. She is going to marry a man in his early thirties. He insists on separate sleeping rooms.

The reason being that my daughter likes to sleep in a warm room with several heavy woolen blankets over her. But he says he can't get a wink of sleep in a warm room, and he likes to sleep with all the windows wide open, regardless of the weather. And he can't stand anything over him except a thin sheet.

I just cannot visualize newlyweds in separate bedrooms. It seems such a strange way to commence a marriage. What do they figure their chances are for a lasting marriage under these conditions?

THE GIRL'S FATHER
DEAR FATHER: Since they are doing the only sensible thing. What I can't figure out is where YOU come in?

DEAR ABBY: After being a widow for seven years, I married Boswell. I was 27 and he was 37. I knew that there had been plenty of women in his life.

One of the women he used to know married a friend of his recently, and my husband said it would be nice if we became a foursome, inviting them to our home, going to theirs, etc. Well, this woman and Boswell were more than just friends. They had a very intimate thing going for them for years.

Knowing this, I don't care to be in her company. My husband says that since this all took place before we were married I should be more broad-minded. I can't understand how this woman could look me in the eye knowing that I know all about her former relationship with my husband. Am I wrong to feel this way?

TROUBLED
DEAR TROUBLED: No. Inform Boswell that he had better pick another couple with whom to form a foursome. And all his ex-leading ladies are disqualified.

DEAR ABBY: Please ask "RICHARD'S MOTHER" (the one who offered her son $50 for every "A" and $25 for every "B") if she would like to adopt a son. I have had very nearly straight "A's" consistently for many years now, and I didn't get a dime for them.

Watch for the New Income Tax Rules

By MARY FEELEY

Consultant in Money Management

"What's new, Uncle?"

As a taxpayer, ask your Uncle Sam now if there are any surprises coming up when you get ready to make out your 1965 income tax report.

One thing that's new on MARY FEELEY 1965 Form 1040 may be considered a mixed blessing: you must state exactly what is meant by contributions you deduct for.

For example, on separate lines you must state specifically the contributions you claim for donations of old clothing, antiques and other items for which you have receipts.

You can't just lump them all under the heading of contributions.

This new emphasis on itemizing extends to the necessity for specifying whether your donations were made by cash, checks money order or whatever. And keep this in mind: suppose you pay $10 for a ticket to see a benefit show.

If the regular price would have been $4 per ticket including tax, you've made a contribution to charity of only $6, not $10. So only the $6 may be declared.

MUST NAME CHILDREN

Also, with this new "refined" form — that's the Internal Revenue Service's word to describe the 1965 Form — the names of children you claim as exemptions, who are living with you, will again be included in your report.

Another new ruling is that if you do non-profit charity work which involves transportation, you list this item separately.

In other years, you probably just combined these expenses with church and charity contributions.

Enlisted men in the Armed Forces may exclude all service compensation for each month served in a combat zone or while hospitalized as a result of such service. Service for part of a month is considered a full month. A commissioned officer may exclude up to $200 a month of such compensation. W-2's may include combat pay for the early part of 1965, and amended returns can be filed for any part of 1964 in which there was combat duty.

Here's another new ruling if your job involves receiving tips: cash tips received after 1965 amounting to $20 or more monthly must be reported to your employer, not just declared on your income tax report. These tips will be subject to FICA tax (4.2 per cent) and withholding tax.

You'll be smart to get a copy of the new income tax book that states all the rulings, old and new, so if your financial situation has changed since you made out your last report you can get some early answers. You can write to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402 or you can pick up a copy at your Internal Revenue Service office after January 3. A copy costs 50 cents.

(For Mary Feeley's new book, "Make Every Dollar Count," send $1 to Dollar Book in care of The Pontiac Press.

On the whole, the new 1965 Form 1040 is much easier to read. And the fact that the rulings are more specifically spelled out works often to the taxpayer's advantage. It makes you think more clearly. Many of us short-change ourselves by failing to deduct things we are actually entitled to deduct.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Life is complex for most folks. However I have a suspicion that it is the small, varied, nagging little details which add up to the larger energy leak rather than big problems and decisions.

We have the big problems only once in awhile but the petty little details and annoyances are with us day after day.

I doubt that any of us realize what a tremendous toll of energy these seemingly innocuous, ridiculous happenings take. It is worthwhile to think about them and do something about all of them we can.

WINDOW STICKS

Maybe there is a window which sticks and is difficult to open or close. Perhaps you have an ironing board that falls on your foot once in awhile. You may be caught short over and over again when you need a card to send someone who is ill or has an anniversary or birthday.

On the busiest day you must rush downtown unless you keep a supply of these on hand. You can lessen wear and tear if you will keep a few choice items of food on the pantry shelf for unexpected guests. This will save you hurried and hurried trips to the store.

If you have children it is a wonderful idea to keep a small supply of children's gifts for the sudden birthday party.

At times it has seemed to me that I spend my life looking for things. It seemed impossible to keep a pen on my desk, the scissors disappeared into thin air and there is never a bobby pin or a safety pin when one is needed.

I once became so desperate that I chained a telephone directory to the wall.

THEY VANISH

Will you readers please tell me what happens to safety pins and bobby pins and paper clips? After living in a house for many years one would think they could be carted out by the carload but there isn't a one in sight. This house has been undreamed of crevices!

Whatever your irritants may be, try to banish as many as possible with a little planning. Of course the next step is to bring a sense of humor to those which remain and are unchangeable.

The point I am trying to make today is that we often fail to realize how much energy these take and how important it is to change as many as we can.

If you would like to have my leaflet about household organization send for "The Married Woman." Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

'Silver' Amongst Yule Glitter

Lucky, indeed, is the woman who finds sterling flatware or hollow ware nestled amongst the tissue paper on Christmas day.

This just might be the year you'll receive that longed-for gift of silver — and a casual hint dropped here and there could help make that delightful possibility an actuality.

If you've gotten along for some time with just the few sterling plate settings you received when you married, let your husband know he can endear himself by giving you those additional plate settings — or extra serving pieces — you need so much.

If your children ask what you really want this Christmas, why not tell them the truth — that you've had your heart set on owning a beautiful pair of silver candlesticks, or silver candelabra, ever since they were little.

A good friend might even be the one to guess your innermost longings for sterling, and present you with the silver butter dish, sandwich platter or vegetable bowl you've wanted for your very own.

TABLE MAGIC

It's only human to feel acquisitive about sterling, for it's one of the most cherished — and admired — of all worldly possessions. Its soft, mellow glow casts a kind of magic on tables, creating an aura of warmth and hospitality.

There's a mark of good breeding, of absolute rightness, about solid silver that says much about your good taste and your love of fine things. For sterling is truly the "queen of metals" — the standard of excellence on every well-set table.

SILVER IS TO USE

During the holidays, sterling flatware and hollow ware grace more tables than at any other time of the year.

But silver is one of the few beautiful things you can own that is not meant to be saved for state occasions. Instead, it is intended for three-times-a-day use, for family as well as guests, and for youngsters as well as adults.

The one thing, in fact, for you to remember about the sterling you may already own — or receive this Christmas — is that its beauty improves with use. There is a patina which forms gradually on much-used silver, resulting from the network of tiny scratches which blend together to give a soft, mellow glow.

It is this same patina which gives the antique silver you see in museums its depth of color and great richness.

Polly's Pointers

Hold In Tummy

DEAR POLLY — That Pointer you printed about the gal who holds in her stomach every time she has to wait for a red light to turn green was a great idea. I have been doing it ever since and I also do it while washing the dishes and, believe me, they take longer than waiting for a red light to turn.

Whenever the elastic gets loose in an otherwise good shower cap I throw the cap in the washing machine for a thorough cleaning and then use it as a large bowl cover.

MRS. E. B.

DEAR POLLY — When sending a wedding present I always write a brief description of the gift on the back of the enclosure card. I know from experience how easy it is to get cards mixed up during the excitement of unwrapping gifts and how embarrassing it is to the bride not to know who sent what.

Get Floors in Shape for Holiday

During the holiday season relatives and friends will be visiting, with the result that wear and tear on the house will be greatly increased. Because this is a time when you'll want to enjoy your guests and not worry about cleaning the house, a few simple rules will help keep household chores to a minimum.

The Better Floors Council advises getting resilient floors in good condition before the holiday season begins. If wax has not been stripped within the last six months, it should be done now. Stripping is the process of removing accumulated polish from the floor, leaving the wearing surface exposed.

To strip a floor, mix 1/4 cup of heavy-duty detergent and 1/2 cup of household ammonia in one gallon of warm (not hot) water. Scrub thoroughly to remove all old wax and rinse well. After the floor is completely dry, apply a new coat of wax.

One word of caution—whether you prefer a self-polishing finish or a buffable wax, be sure not to mix them! The result is a dull, cloudy finish which must be completely removed.

To keep wax from accumulating along baseboards, apply to within one inch of the wall.

Miss Hiller Will Travel for Group

Ola Hiller, former Pontiac Public Schools educator and pioneer in student radio broadcasting, has retired from the teaching profession and is residing in Los Angeles, Calif.

Miss Hiller, who was with the Flint School System until her retirement, will leave soon after the new year on an assignment for the trustees of The Delta Kappa Gamma Educational Foundation.

She will go to Central and South America to explore the possibilities of an educational project in one of the developing countries.

Last summer Miss Hiller journeyed to the Far East to spend seven weeks in seven countries as a member of the Seminar and Field Study Tour, sponsored jointly by the Comparative Education Society and Delta Kappa Gamma.

Both women are past international presidents of the society.

In her Christmas letter to Pontiac and area friends Miss Hiller wrote of her trip: "It was exciting to meet teachers and administrators in other lands to learn more of the history and cultures of the friendly people of Japan, Okinawa, Taiwan, Hongkong, Thailand, Malaysia and the Philippines."

Women Like Sea Charts for Walls

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—When a woman purchases a chart of the seas and heavens, she may use it for sailing—but it's more likely that the chart will become a part of the interior decoration of her home.

At least that's the opinion of Sam Sproull, a farmer sailor who is vice president and manager of Texas Nautical, Inc., agent for the Navy Oceanographic and Commerce Department Charts.

He explains that many of these charts are framed and hung as pictures. Sometimes a desk wall is covered with them—or a whole powder room may be papered with them.

Though we may take 20 years to add our extra poundage, we usually want a fast weight loss. Otherwise, we lose incentive and throw in the sponge."

"So in cool weather, use my dehydration diet whereby you women limit your calories to 800 per day and men to 1,200."

But the main secret for killing your hunger and also making a fast weight loss of 10 pounds within 10 days, is to limit your fluid intake!

So restrict all liquids to just one full glass (8 ounces) the first day.

Move up to two glasses the second day and then go on to three full glasses each day through the 10th day.

You should then be down at least 10 pounds at the end of your 10th day.

And this quick loss is very inflating to our ego, even though we realize part of it is water loss.

On the 11th day you can shift to a milder diet plan where you wives move up to 1,200 calories per day and your husbands to 1,600.

Remember, when fat is dissolved from your body, it changes into carbon dioxide and water.

You exhale the carbon dioxide in your lungs but can use the water for the body's needs.

One pound of fat thus gives you two glasses of water which you manufacture internally!

A camel's hump is not water but is fat.

But during long journeys across the desert sands, the camel burns up the fat and may then produce 10 to 12 gallons of water internally!

"Dr. Crane," Nora asked, "what about these total fasting experiments?"

Well, they do show rapid weight loss. But 65 per cent is due to the fact your muscles dissolve and become weaker.

So you should not penalize your muscles but that excess blubber when you diet.

Thus, I personally dislike the use of drugs to take off surplus weight.

For the drugs usually penalize your faithful heart. And it isn't your heart but your stomach which is the culprit.

For inspiration for this new furniture, the designers went to the classics of our century—the clean lines of today's architecture, sculpture, crystal and silver. The two pieces shown above reflect this elegant simplicity. At the left is a lingerie chest which would be equally at home in a hallway. The pier cabinet at the right can hold your choicest glass collection. Modern Classic by Broghill Premier. Line available locally.

Wives Eat 800 Calories Per Day

10 Pounds in 10 Days

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE X-427: Nora B., aged 37, asks some challenging questions.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I am 30 pounds overweight."

"And I understand that fat people are far more likely to develop diabetes, as well as cancer and heart attacks."

"So I'd like to lose at least 25 pounds, not only for my health's sake but also to become more alluring to my husband."

"For he is growing rather unromantic and actually stodgy!"

"But I notice that he shows great interest in slender girls, so I simply MUST lose weight!"

"So how can I do it with the least struggle?"

Countdown at Halfway Point

South Seas Post Set for French A-Tests

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — An atomic countdown has reached the halfway point in Paradise, and this overgrown South Seas trading post is adjusting to the atomic age.

Sometime, in about a year or slightly more, the French will produce a series of atomic tests in the idyllic atolls of Mururoa, Hao and Fangataua.

A spot check of preparations at about the halfway point shows that a smooth-running coordination effort is keeping the project on schedule.

Most of the blockhouses, special harbors, military canteens, docks and blast site facilities already have been started, and many already are complete.

To finish the task, the French have imported several thousand foreign legionnaires, soldiers and sailors, about 450 imported Portuguese and a scattering of laborers from Brittany. Also working on the projects are about 1,500 civilian Tahitians.

CEP IN COMMAND

The project is under the command of a powerful but tightly secure agency known as CEP (Centre de L'Experimentation du Pacifique). A flash of a CEP card opens doors normally closed to all but a privileged few.

The CEP has built harbors where once the spume and spray of Pacific breakers enchanted romanticist writers; has replaced musty coconut plantations with modern housing projects; and has brought an unprecedented financial boom to Tahiti.

The new atomic age pace is noticeable the moment one steps from a steamer in the docks of Papeete, which has grown fivefold in the past two years.

Sprawling camp sites have sprung up on the outskirts of Papeete, fleets of rolling stock from jeeps to cranes and crush-ers travel the modernized roadways, and an air armada containing everything from seaplanes to double-decker carriers shuttles between district and town and island and atoll.

SPECULATE ON TIME

As the activity increases, so does speculation about the actual time of the first tests.

It is widely assumed that the preliminary blasts will be atomic, with hydrogen explosions scheduled after completion of the new nuclear plant in Pierrelatte, France. Observers feel this is about two years off.

The Tuamotu Atoll of Mururoa is an example of the type of preparations being made, for both atomic and hydrogen testing.

Blockhouses have been built about 1,800 yards from the blast site. They are being crammed with automatically operated instruments controlled from a master unit.

Among the 120 islands of French Polynesia, there are 17 checking stations which will be fully operative at the time of the blasts. Men at these stations presently are studying wind currents and weather conditions.

Local authorities force no radiation danger in Tahiti and the immediately surrounding islands. They point to the fact that Tahiti is 800 miles from Mururoa, while American's test site at Johnston Island is just 700 miles from Honolulu.

The island nearest to the scheduled explosion site, 50-mile distant Tureia, will be evacuated of its 68 inhabitants. They will be replaced by a corps of military observers.

Balloons were used extensively as aerial observation posts during the American Civil War and the Franco-Prussian War.

PLAYTIME AT NURSERY — Three youngsters take a break from scholarly pursuits at the Whitney Nursery School in Walled Lake long enough to limber up on the "nesting rack." They are Suzanne Cook (left), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Cook, 2885 Summit, Novi; Gary Shapiro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shapiro, 8617 Ringwood, Commerce Township; and Marcia Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Butler, 2628 Red Arrow, Commerce Township.

Day Care Available

Nursery Opens in Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE—The accent on youthfulness has returned to the building at 177 N. Pontiac Trail, but the voice is different.

Until recently, the building housed the Bunny Shop, where clothing was sold for the small tyke set.

Now operating there is the Whitney Nursery School and Day Care Nursery.

Mrs. William Whitney has planned an open house from 2 to 6 p.m. Sunday to introduce residents to the facility, the first of its kind in the area.

Walled Lake Mayor Wendel G. Kellogg Jr. will cut a ribbon, officially opening the day care portion of the building.

OPENED IN HOME

Mrs. Whitney this fall opened a nursery school in her home at 2553 North Trail, Commerce Township.

Initial response indicated that more room was required, she said.

While moving into larger quarters, she also expanded the program to include a day care center for the children of working mothers.

Nursery school youngsters can be enrolled in one of two morning or two afternoon classes.

CAN SELECT HOURS

However, children can attend the day care program for optional lengths of time between 7:30 a.m. and 10 p.m. daily.

The facility, designed for three- to five-year-olds, has been licensed by the state.

Operating under the motto:

Board Rezones 50 Acres for Trailer Park Project

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — Development of a trailer park has won the approval of the township board with the rezoning of a 50-acre site for the project.

The decision by the township board to reclassify the agricultural property on Coats Road was not unanimous. The new zoning was adopted by a 3-2 vote.

Favoring the change to a mobile home zone were Supervisor Lee Valentine, Clerk Nina Chamberlain and Treasurer Luella Francis.

Trustees William Offer and Harold Albertson opposed the plan.

Proposed by the owner of the property, Pontiac attorney Anthony Remie, is a 300-unit development, including a park around the lake on the site, according to Valentine.

WEST OF VILLAGE

The area to be developed is west of the village of Oxford and about one-half mile north of Seymour Lake Road.

The trailer park is not the first in the township. There are two others.

The zoning change for the proposed development was approved by Township Zoning Board and the Oakland County Coordinating Zoning Committee prior to coming before the township board.

Valentine said that three public hearings on the zoning were held before the matter was decided this week — two by the zoning board, the other by the "Great Folks from Little Children Grow." Mrs. Whitney says she stresses physical, mental and social development.

With 14 years of public school teaching to her credit, Mrs. Whitney holds a bachelor's degree in elementary education and has an additional 10 hours of credit in child guidance.

She is assisted by Mrs. Edith Knapp, who worked in a Farmington nursery school for two years.

The secondary school now contains some central facilities to be used by both junior and senior high school students and a junior high classroom wing.

The proposed addition would include six high school classrooms, a physics area, chemistry laboratory, metal shop, commercial suite, instrumental music suite, an independent study center and expansion of library and physical education areas.

Bond Vote Set in Novi District

Financing Sought for High School Addition

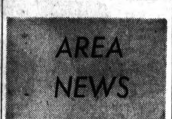

NOVI — A bond issue proposition to finance construction of a high school addition to Novi Secondary School will appear on a special ballot here Monday.

The board of education is seeking a $755,000 bond issue for the second phase of its program geared toward providing 13 years of education for Novi district youngsters.

The district now is sending students in 10th through 12th grades to Northville High school on a tuition basis.

Plans call for the high school facilities to be constructed by the fall of 1967.

Novi Secondary School on Taft

Road was opened in September, 1964.

Property owners approved the $865,000 for its construction after the Northville Board of Education warned it was running out of space for Novi students.

School board members have not yet decided on the method of financing to be used for the addition.

Because the district now is levying 7 mills for debt retirement, it could borrow funds from the state at a low interest rate and maintain the present tax level.

If the board decided to add the necessary amount to property taxes, it would raise the debt retirement portion to about 10 mills according to acting Schools Supt. Gerald Hartman.

The secondary school now contains some central facilities to be used by both junior and senior high school students and a junior high classroom wing.

The proposed addition would include six high school classrooms, a physics area, chemistry laboratory, metal shop, commercial suite, instrumental music suite, an independent study center and expansion of library and physical education areas.

'IS IT STRAIGHT?' — Mrs. Richard Eberline of 998 E. Tienken, Avon Township, hangs up one of the handmade Christmas decorations on sale at the recently opened "Little Market." The shop, which will be open until Dec. 24, features articles made by local persons. It is located above Ott Office Supply at 114 E. Fourth, Rochester.

Handmade Items Featured

ROCHESTER — The popularity of handmade items sold at the Art 'n' Apples Festival last August has produced a new business venture here.

Known as "The Little Market" it features the handwork of more than 50 local persons. All items for sale are handmade.

The Little Market was started with the idea of giving local talent an outlet to market their goods for the Christmas season according to Mrs. Walter Kowalczyk, one of the originators of the shop.

"The Art 'n' Apples Festival created an interest in articles by local talent," she said, "and people were asking where they could find these items after the Festival closed."

Sponsored by the St. Phillip's Episcopal Women's Guild, the Market will be open until Dec. 24. However, if the public supports the venture, according to Mrs. Kowalczyk, a permanent Market will be established.

The handmade items include oil paintings, ceramics, dolls and doll clothes, children's clothing, toys, handwoven articles, needlepoint and handknit items. The shop is open from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Back Merger of 2 Districts

Annexation of the Dublin School District to the Walled Lake system was recommended yesterday by the Oakland County School District Reorganization Committee in an 8-2 vote.

The merger will become reality if voters of both school districts give their okay in an election to be held next June.

Yesterday's action reversed a recommendation of the reorganization committee Nov. 24, proposing that Dublin be annexed to Waterford Township Schools.

The change of mind apparently resulted because of a petition signed by 1,650 Dublin citizens which requested that no district other than Walled Lake be considered in combining Dublin with a district operating a full 12-grade school system.

Signing a similar petition were 280 Dublin high school students who presently attend classes in Walled Lake.

Herbert Sillman of Oak Park, a member of the Oakland County Schools Board of Education, moved yesterday that his original recommendation for a Dublin-Waterford Township Schools merger be rejected.

Sillman said that a petition signed by 1,450 of Dublin's 1,450

480 voters could not be treated lightly.

Dr. Don O. Tatroe, superintendent of Waterford Township Schools, stated that the board of education was willing to accept its share of responsibility for the education of Oakland County children.

"However," he said, "if a group of citizens want no part of us; it is hard to take a position that we are eager to have them."

George Garver, superintendent of Walled Lake schools, requested that the northeast boundary of Dublin be extended to include a portion of the Waterford Township district west of Williams Lake Road and south of Elizabeth Lake Road.

Annexation of this parcel of land would permit Walled Lake buses to pick up students without going into Waterford Township, said Garver.

Rev. Richard Snodgrass of Troy proposed that this section be annexed to Walled Lake. However, the amendment failed for lack of support.

The motion to annex Dublin to Walled Lake without any boundary changes was introduced by R. A. Ambrose, a member of the Oakland County Board of Education.

'Young People Sleep Deeper'

UCLA Research Team Reports Study Results

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The deeper sleepers — and longer dreamers — are young people, researchers say, and they add that older folks get half as much sleep and avoid adventure in their dreams.

A research team at the UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute, headed by Dr. Anthony Kales, reported this week the results came from hundreds of electroencephalograph readings on sleeping adults.

Kales was assisted in the research by his wife, Dr. Joyce Kales, and Dr. Thomas Wilson. Kales said previous research on young adults had determined that sleep occurs in 90-minute cycles that recur throughout the night. Twenty per cent of the total sleep time is spent dreaming, the remainder consists of progressively deeper sleep stages.

MARKED DIFFERENCES
But the UCLA study showed marked differences in the sleeping cycle of elderly persons. First, sleep cycles vary. Some are longer, some shorter than 90 minutes. Many older people do all their dreaming early in the evening while younger persons dream more deeply as the night passes.

Most important, the report said, young adults spend 20 per cent of their sleeping time in the deepest stages of sleep, while older persons average only 10 per cent of deep sleep time. Still another difference between the two groups is in the types of dreams, the report said.

Older persons dream more of themselves when they were younger and were needed by their families.

MORE BIZARRE
Young adults tend to have more bizarre, adventurous dreams, Kales said. Many researchers now feel that older persons do more cat napping than young adults do, and that the naps consist of the deepest stages of sleep, he said. That might explain why they have less sound sleep at night, Kales said.

2 Detroit Girls Killed in Car-Truck Collision

YPSILANTI (AP)—Two 16-year-old Detroit girls were killed Thursday when the car in which they were riding and a truck collided about eight miles northeast of Ann Arbor in Superior Township. Officers at the Ypsilanti State Police Post identified the girls as Carol Rushin and Nala Marta.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Alarming Increase Seen in U.S. TB Rate

As soon as the prevalence of any communicable disease comes down we tend to become complacent about it.

A case in point is tuberculosis, the number of new cases of which began to fall about 20 years ago.

In the last 2 or 3 years a BRANDSTADT alarming increase has been observed.

Although traditionally the disease has been most prevalent where there has been poverty and overcrowding, victims are now appearing in all levels of society.

One reason for this is that the disease is often spread by domestic help or baby sitters.

LONG EXPOSURE
Although it requires long exposure to break down a healthy person's resistance to the tubercle bacillus, this is not true for babies or for persons who are classified as arrested cases.

One procedure that should be more widely used is tuberculin testing, especially of children.

This should be done routinely at about 6 months and repeated once a year as long as the test is negative.

A positive reaction indicates contact with the tubercle bacillus.

TRACK DOWN
If a young child has such a reaction all members of the household, including frequent visitors, should be examined to track down the source of the infection.

Early recognition and prompt treatment with modern drugs can bring about a cure if the treatment is continued until no trace of the disease remains.

Many persons still make the mistake of discontinuing treatment when they begin to show improvement.

Such persons spread the germs to others and are themselves in grave danger of a relapse.

VERY PATIENT
The tubercle bacillus is a very patient germ.

After an initial contact, following which the body builds up a resistance to it, it may lie dormant for many years and renew its attack when the body is weakened by malnutrition, fatigue or illness.

There has long been a vaccine (BCG vaccine) against this disease.

Sam Stern Is Making Name for Herself

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — They call her Sam Stern at Columbia studios, and that indeed is her name.

Movie audiences in increasing numbers know her more formally as Samantha Eggar. The wife of actor Tom Stern, she has quickly become the screen's most distinguished young actresses. In her first American film, "The Collector," she delivered a stunning performance that won best-actress honors at the Cannes Film Festival.

It's highly probable that her name will also pop up among the Oscar nominees next spring. Samantha is currently starring with Cary Grant and Jim Hutton in "Walk, Don't Run," in which she appears fully clothed, oddly enough.

"NO BATH SCENES"
"It is now written in my contract: no bath scenes," she reported with a straight face.

The reason for this drooliness is that her last two films have dipped her in the suds with rather sensational results. In "The Collector" she is pulled from her bath by Terence Stamp, who struggles to prevent her escape.

In "Return From the Ashes," she is again bathing when Maximilian Schell enters to push her under.

Samantha is not about to enter any more movie baths, thank you. "Walk, Don't Run" takes place in Japan, and she is leaving the bathing to the male members of the cast.

FORTUITOUS EVENT
The film represents another of a string of fortuitous events for the red-haired actress who was born in London 26 years ago. After schooling in the classics on the London stage, she gained film experience in such British movies as "The Wild and the Willing" and "Doctor in Dis- tress."

A more prestigious film, "Pygmalion," brought her to the attention of William Wyler, who was seeking unfamiliar faces to star in "The Collector." Samantha was signed, then unassigned as Wyler flirted with the notion of the more familiar face of Natalie Wood. Signals were reversed again, and Samantha was in.

"The Collector" was a grueling experience for her, and not merely because Wyler is a stern taskmaster.

"The physical aspects were extremely tiring," she recalled. "We struggled for days in the rain. The physical and mental strains were immense."

RUGGED EXPERIENCE
"Return From the Ashes" was also a rugged experience, because she was exposing her first child. She told no one, and once snapped at Schell when he handled her roughly. She apologized and said she would write him a letter after the film was over. She did, and he was astonished by the news. Nicolas Stern was born Sept. 12.

Samantha said she wanted to do a comedy next, scarcely thinking it would happen. When "Walk, Don't Run" was offered, she could scarcely believe it, especially since she was to co-star with her idol, Spencer Tracy. Because of illness, Tracy was replaced by Grant.

Today's Youth More Athletic

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tests show today's youngsters are faster, stronger and more agile than their older brothers and sisters were just seven years ago.

Today's average 12-year-old boy, for instance, can run the 50-yard dash 2-10ths of a second faster, throw a softball 10 feet farther, broad jump 5 inches farther and do 19 more sit-ups.

These facts and figures were reported yesterday by the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, a department of the National Education Association.

The association published the comparative results of two nationwide tests given boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 17. The 1957-58 survey covered 8,500 youngsters and the 1964-65 survey covered 9,200. There were seven tests for boys, six for girls.

Long Hunt Ends for Suspect in Nazi War Crimes

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — Police announced yesterday the arrest of a war crimes suspect who had been hiding under an alias for more than 20 years.

Herbert Weygandt, 59, former colonel of the SS Elite Guard and one-time head of the Nazi Secret Police, was spotted in Wuppertal working as a salesman under the name of Heinrich Walter.

The State Criminal Police Office said Weygandt is suspected of responsibility in the death of 56,000 Polish and German Jews in Nazi extermination camps. It said Weygandt also is suspected in the shooting of an undetermined number of Polish slave laborers.

N.Y. Dem: Triple Antipoverty Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell wants antipoverty spending tripled to an annual outlay of $4.5 billion.

The New York Democrat said at a news conference that the funds should be appropriated regardless of defense spending for the Viet Nam war.

Said Powell: "If we can spend billions of dollars to save some kind of democracy in Viet Nam — and I don't know what kind it is — then we must spend more to preserve real democracy at home."

Food: A new group has been organized to combat world hunger.

Naming the Committee on the World Food Crisis, it conducted an organizational meeting in Washington, and a spokesman said its birth was triggered by the fact that the U.S. Food for Peace Act expires next year and that U.S. farm surpluses are diminishing.

The latter was emphasized

when Kansas Gov. William H. Avery declared that wheat stocks are "less than our domestic needs even for one year."

Retiring: Another top official in the Food and Drug Administration is retiring. That wheat stocks are "less than our domestic needs even for one year."

Commissioner George P. Larrick is stepping out on the same date, and deputy commissioner John L. Harvey is retiring at the end of the year.

CAPITAL FOOTNOTES

President and Mrs. Johnson have mailed their 1965 Christmas cards. The cards are illustrated with a water color winter scene of the White House. Secretary of State Dean Rusk says McGeorge Bundy has rendered "extraordinary public service" as the President's special assistant for national security affairs. Bundy will become head of the Ford Foundation on Feb. 28. Retail sales last week totaled $6.3 billion, 9 per cent higher than the comparable week in 1964.

The Federal Maritime Commission will investigate reports of freight rate discrimination in trade between U.S. and British ports. Missile-Space Daily says North American Aviation, Inc., received nearly one-fourth of the $4.1 billion in contract awards made by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in fiscal 1965. The Justice Department has filed suit to end alleged racial discrimination at Shreveport, La., swimming pools and in the Carthage, Miss., restaurant.

'Lovable'
Max Led a Dog's Life

NEW YORK (UPI)—State investigators have entered the case of Max Donovan, last seen headed west in a sports car accompanied by a girl who modeled brassieres.

Representatives of both the state income tax bureau and the state department of labor said they are very much interested in Max — particularly in the fact he was salaried by a Wall Street firm and paid Social Security.

Most interesting is that Max is a dog. No ordinary dog, but a "lovable Schnauzer."

He has become a principal in the Supreme Court separation suit of Janet Owen de Lyra against her husband, John, a real estate developer and broker.

The two state agencies sent observers to court yesterday after learning of Mrs. de Lyra's testimony that Max was once on her husband's payroll, held a Social Security card and belonged to a book club.

EDUCATED DOG

"This must be an educated dog," Justice Thomas A. Aurelio said.

Mrs. Jean Kemp, who testified in behalf of Mrs. de Lyra, who seeks $250 a week in temporary alimony, was informally questioned by the state investigators yesterday.

She said Max was not as up-right as he might appear, since he lost his job with de Lyra's brokerage firm and went on unemployment insurance rolls.

Mrs. de Lyra said Max was last seen more than a year ago, leaving for California in a sports car with his owner, identified as George Mason, and a girl named Betty who modeled bras.

Shots Induce Hiding Away

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—It took 30 police officers to track down 5-year-old Karen Milstead when she hid under a nurses' quarter sink while hospitalized for removal of tonsils.

"I don't like shots," she explained Wednesday night when Detective E. R. Davenport found her. "Policemen don't give shots," replied Davenport as he coaxed her out then turned her over to doctors.

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — A C134 Globemaster aircraft left Dobbins Air Force Base today with 26,000 pounds of Christmas gifts for American troops in South Viet Nam.

An Air Force Reserve spokesman said Thursday night the flight is the fourth and final shipment to take off from Dobbins under the code name "Christmas Star." The first three shipments were made by the Air National Guard.

The Air Force Reserve under the Continental Air Command at Robins AFB at Warner Robins, Ga., handled the wrap-up shipment.

The spokesman said some children had addressed packages of toys and school supplies to the Vietnamese schoolchildren, but about 65 per cent of the load was for the servicemen.

Biggest Change in Man Comes After the Wedding

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Nothing changes a man more than marriage. He is never the same again.

Ask any wife. She keeps wondering all her life whatever happened to that sweet gallant boy who led her to the altar and murmured "I do."

For example: BOYLE When he was courting her he loved to shower her with flowers. Now the only flowers she gets are the dandelions she digs out of the front yard lawn.

Once nothing was too good for her. Now anything she wants costs too much.

After the wedding ceremony he picked her up and carried her lightly across the threshold. Now he is too weak to bring in the Sunday newspaper unaided.

PRICE OF STEAK

She remembers the candlelit restaurant where he leaned across the table and proposed to her. All he can recall is the price of the steak she ordered.

Before marriage she gaily cried, "After all, two can live as cheap as one!" After marriage, the miser tries to make her prove it.

There was a time when he told her he would go to the ends of the earth for her. Now he whines if she asks him to step across the street to the supermarket and pick up a carton of milk.

Before marriage he praised her lovely curls. Now he grunts, "What the devil have you done to your hair this time?"

Remember when he would sit in the front porch swing with you half the night watching a full moon? Now he is snoring on the sofa by 9 p.m.

Once he liked to romp with her through the snow. Now when they are caught in the rain, he holds the umbrella over himself.

Before marriage he looked like a Greek god. After marriage he begins to look like a middle-aged, heavyweight Bulgarian wrestler.

On the honeymoon he brought her breakfast in bed. Now, when the alarm clock rings, he says, "For Pete's sake, are you going to lie there all day? Get up and burn me some toast. I'm hungry."

LOVED CHILDREN

Before marriage he told her he loved children. After marriage he tells her, "You punish them — they're yours."

He used to send her mad exotic gifts at Christmas — such as a magnum of perfume. Now he says, "After all, I'm not Santa Claus!" — and he buys her a vacuum cleaner on the installment plan.

Before marriage he admired the way she dressed. After marriage all he wants to see are the price tags.

In the old days they used to listen to the radio together and munch candy. Now he watches the football games on television alone and drinks beer.

BEFORE WEDDING

Before the wedding he assured her, "We won't be like other married people." After the wedding he starts telling her, "Why don't you act like other wives? Why do you have to be different?"

Once he liked her to be gay in the kitchen and witty and amusing — the life of the party. Now if she says something funny he growls, "Are you on your second drink already?"

Before marriage he used to say, "A penny for your thoughts." After marriage he tells her he'd give anything if she'd just shut up.

There was a time when he'd run halfway down the block to meet her. Now, if she shows up five minutes late, he grumbles, "Can't you ever get anywhere in time?"

Then he was romantic. Now he is realistic. What really did happen to change him so much? Nothing. He just got married — and started acting normally.

Big 10 Freshmen to Set Schedule

CHICAGO (AP) — Big Ten freshman football teams will be permitted to play two intercollegiate games next November.

Permission was handed down Thursday by a joint meeting of the conference's faculty representatives and athletic directors. Big Ten meetings are to end today with a decision expected on allowing possibly eight grants-in-aid tenders to basketball prospects instead of six.

Basketball coaches have recommended the increase. Each Big Ten member is permitted a total of 70 tenders, which includes 30 for football and six for basketball, under present standards.

Waterford Comes Out on Top

Waterford grapplers came out on top in a battle of pins with Lake Orion yesterday, 30-23.

Eight of the 12 matches ended in pins. Three went to decision and one was a draw. Lake Orion posted two of the decisions.

Three of the bouts went less than a minute.

Deadline Monday for Cage Squads

The deadline for entering teams in the Waterford Township Recreation Department men's basketball program is Monday night.

Already 17 teams have registered for the scrimmage game sessions three nights a week at either the Isaac Crary or Pierce JHS gyms; and these will continue through Dec. 22. At that time the teams entered will be classified as either "A" or "B" teams and league play will begin next month.

Additional information is available from either program supervisor Bill Wood or department director Tom Simons at 674-0376.

Lesser Lights Lead 4-Ball Golf Tourney

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — A team of youthful lesser lights in professional golf who won gambles on long putts took a two stroke lead into a third round of the $125,000 PGA National Four-Ball Championship today.

Dudley Wysong Jr., 26, and Bert Yancy, 27, divided 10 birdies and overcame a bogey hole to card a 63 on the 6,549-yard East course Thursday for a 65-63-128 total, 16 under par.

The third round of the 72-hole tournament began with 47 of the original 107 teams which survived a cut of all but the 48 low scorers and ties. They had to shoot eight-under-par golf to stay in the running. Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus—teaming up for the first time in PGA competition—beat the cut by three strokes with 67-66-133.

North's four-club and five-club bids were Gerber and South's four and five no-trump replies showed three aces and three kings respectively.

North assumed that his fifth diamond would represent the 13th trick at no-trump and bid the grand slam with complete confidence.

"Nice bid, partner," remarked expert South as he prepared to claim the contract. He paused for a second when East discarded a heart and then made the further remark, "If clubs don't break I make the grand slam on a squeeze."

The tactic would be a simple squeeze against West if he held long clubs in addition to the five diamonds, so South tested clubs immediately by leading a club to dummy's queen and a second club back to his own king.

When West dropped a spade on the second club, South noted that he had an automatic double squeeze with the third spade in dummy a threat against both opponents.

The only thing South had to do was to time the squeeze properly. He started by cashing three hearts. Then he led his ace of clubs. West had already discarded one spade on the second club and had to let another one go at this point in order to keep all his diamonds. South checked a diamond from dummy and turned his full attention to East.

All he did was to cash dummy's three remaining diamonds. On the last of these diamonds poor East was squeezed in turn. He had to discard down to two spades, whereupon South announced that all three spades were good.

Cornell Quashes Cong Fund Drive

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Fund raising aimed at helping the Communist Viet Cong is forbidden at Cornell University's student-union building, by order of the building's student board of managers.

The board took that position Thursday night in dealing with a request from the Young Socialist League for permission to set up a collection booth in Willard Straight Hall.

The board said: "Any limitation of YSL's program incurred by the action is outweighed by the openly stated possibility that funds raised may well be used to the detriment of Americans in Viet Nam."

6 Firms Fined

in Price-Fixing

NEW YORK — The Federal Reserve Board is in a bind again with congressional critics and the White House. It's used to it. Nearly every year, critics of the central bank propose to amend the Federal Reserve Act of 1913 to strip the board of some of its powers to influence the volume and cost of credit.

The present ruckus is over the board's raising of the basic interest rate — its own charge for lending to its 6,223 commercial bank members. The issue is clean-cut: should the cost of borrowing go up to discourage borrowing, or should it be kept low to encourage borrowing?

The defendants pleaded no contest to charges in criminal indictments that they fixed prices on hydraulic hose sales.

U. S. District Judge Theodore Levin fined the B. F. Goodrich Co., Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and U. S. Rubber Co. $50,000 each.

The other three companies and their fines were the Electric Hose & Rubber Co., $25,000; H. K. Porter Co. Inc., $15,000; and the Lee National Corp., $10,000.

But back of the specific issue is the day is the basic one on probation for the years: whether the central bank should regulate money and credit as the Federal Reserve Board does, or whether it should be subject to orders from Congress or the president.

The companies were among 13 firms and six officials indicted by a federal grand jury last January. They were accused of violating the Sherman Antitrust Act by conspiring to obtain a price advantage over their competitors.

Hydraulic hose and couplings are vital equipment in nearly all manufacturing plants and tool shops.

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Faced with the loss of Kincheloe Air Force Base within the next few years, leaders of the Upper Peninsula community are planning a three-pronged effort to develop new areas of the economy.

Anderson said many persons probably would have to leave the Soo area if unemployment increased but added that "this has happened before and the Soo always has come out of it."

Dr. Kenneth J. Shoultice, president of the Soo branch of Michigan Technological University, said the school's development of the tourist industry, and renewed efforts to attract new industry.

The proposal now is before the State Board of Education and Gov. George Romney has promised to back it.

BRIDGE TOLLS HIGH
The primary block to tourism has been high tolls on the Mackinac Bridge which connects Upper and Lower Michigan, area leaders said.

It costs cars $3.75 one way. Efforts to refinance the bridge bonds met a brick wall in the Legislature this month.

The spiraling prices are not explained, farmers are not producing as many hogs as they used to, and when the supply is tight, prices go up.

The number of hogs arriving at stockyards is estimated to be 10 to 25 per cent below normal.

LOW PRICES
The reason: farmers were hurt by low hog prices last year. They were also low on feed because of last year's drought.

As a result they cut back production. The situation won't get any better, one expert said, until next fall or winter.

WYANDOTTE (AP)—If striking Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers ratify a tentative contract agreed tonight, terms of the pact will become effective.

Local 7-827 of the union reached that agreement Thursday with Wyandotte Chemicals Corp.

The immediate effect agreement would allow workers to return to their jobs at Wyandotte and receive fringe benefits without waiting for the final language of the pact to be written.

Wilson Trying to See Koygin

British Leader Has Hopes for Viet Peace

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson is trying to arrange a meeting with Soviet Prime Minister Alexei N. Koygin in Moscow during the first three months of 1966, British officials said today.

This encounter on Soviet soil is intended to serve as an alternative to a plan for Koygin to visit Britain. That plan has been shelved indefinitely because Koygin has made it plain to Wilson he would not care to come to London while British backs American actions in Viet Nam.

FALLS THROUGH
Koygin actually had accepted in principle an invitation to come to Britain last spring, but it fell through.

Wilson remains anxious to meet personally with Soviet leaders. He still has high hopes of playing a peacemaker's role for Viet Nam. He also wants to press toward East-West negotiations on a world treaty to the spread of nuclear weapons. And he seeks an expansion in British-Soviet trade.

When Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart was in Moscow he reopened discussions on the planned Wilson visit. Informants said he came away with a Soviet agreement — again in principle — to try to set up an arrangement for early 1966.

The matter now is under discussion by the British Embassy in Moscow and the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

The probability is that Wilson will raise the question of his meeting Soviet leaders with President Johnson, whom he is due to see in Washington, Dec. 17.

Seek to Limit Liability in Sea Disaster

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Owners of the cruise ship Yarouth Castle accused its passengers of negligence today in a lawsuit contending the company was not to blame for the fiery No. 13 sinking that cost 90 lives.

Chadade Steamship Corp., a Panamanian corporation, asked U.S. District Court to limit its liability to $32,402. This includes $24,352 received from passengers for the scheduled Miami-to-Nassau trip and six lifeboats valued at a total of $7,750.

Chadade said the passage money and boats represent the Yarouth Castle's sole value.

More than $15 million in claims and suits by passengers and crewmen have been filed against Chadade and two subsidiaries, Yarnouth Cruise Lines, Inc., and Yarnouth Cruises, Inc.

COURT PETITION
Chadade said in its court petition that the losses were caused "solely by or contributed to by the default, fault or neglect of the claimants" or else resulted from causes for which the company was not liable.

A Coast Guard board of inquiry into the disaster suspended sessions after hearing 11 witnesses in 12 days of hearings that started Nov. 22.

Rear Adm. Louis Thayer, who heads the board, said it probably will not reconvene for 10 days. In the interim, some crewmen who went home to Jamaica may be interviewed.

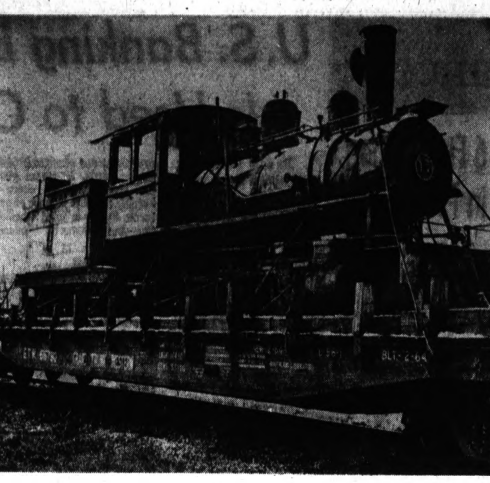

Churches to Participate in Cuban Resettlement

The combined choirs of the Paint Creek Community Methodist Church, and Howarth Methodist Church will present a Christmas Cantata, "The Celestial Visitor," this Sunday and Dec. 18.

Sunday the group will sing at the Paint Creek church, Collins at Rochester Road, Oakland Township, at 7:30 p.m. On Dec. 18, it will sing at the Howarth church, Silverbell at Bald Mountain Road, Pontiac Township, also at 7:30 p.m.

Astronomy Prof Dies

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Dean B. McLaughlin, 64, professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan, died at his home Wednesday following a long illness. A recognized authority on the planet Mars, McLaughlin had been a U-M faculty member for 36 years.

ON LAST LAP — This 45-year-old narrow-gauge steam engine is on the final leg of a 3,100-mile journey. Purchased from the Guatemalan Railroad Co. by Donald S. Gilmore of Kalamazoo, the engine made its way from Guatemala to Doster, where it was to be trucked to his Red Barn Auto Museum near Hickory Corners.

Senate Team Now in Manila

MANILA (AP) — U.S. Sen. Mike Mansfield and four other senators arrived here today with a partly completed draft of a report to President Johnson on peace prospects in Viet Nam.

The fact-finding mission had stopped in Paris, Moscow, Bucharest, Bangkok and Saigon before arriving here from Hong Kong. They met with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Koygin in Moscow and with French President Charles de Gaulle in Paris.

There had been reports that Mansfield might meet in Hong Kong with Jean Chauvel, former French ambassador to London, who has been traveling in Red China and North Viet Nam on a special mission for De Gaulle.

A spokesman for the U.S. consulate in Hong Kong said the mission met only with American officials in that city.

In Manila, the senators will meet with outgoing President Ferdinand Marcos and with Philippine President-elect Ferdinand Marcos.

People in the News

By The Associated Press
Evangelist Billy Graham can't spend Christmas with servicemen in Viet Nam because of his health, but he's writing personal Christmas greetings to at least 14 GIs from western North Carolina.

In one letter from Montreat, N.C., Graham said he and his family will hang an extra stocking on Christmas Eve and pray that "the Christ of Christmas will be very close to you as you do your various duties there."

Algerian Leader to Visit Moscow

Col. Houari Boumediene, Algerian strongman, will go to Moscow Monday for talks with Soviet leaders, the government announced last night.

The trip will be his first official visit to any foreign country since he ousted President Ahmed Ben Bella in a military coup June 19.

Relations between Algeria and the Soviet Union have been cool since the removal of Ben Bella and the introduction of anti-Communist domestic policies by the new regime.

Miss Bari, who may remain in Grace Hospital, in Hutchinson, Kan., several days, said it will give her a much-needed rest. She has been touring with the comedy since Sept. 25.

Viet Veteran Drinks Milk He Missed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Marine Lance Cpl. John Fogarty was drinking milk while his buddies hoisted sweating bottles of ice cold beer.

"Boy, I'm telling you, it's been a long time," said Fogarty. "Good milk is hard to come by back there."

"Back there" to Fogarty, of Wilmington, Del., and 29 other veterans was Viet Nam, where only a few days ago they were waiting for rotation Stateside.

Now, in their rumpled uniforms, they were lounging about in the overstuffed chairs of Cameback Inn, a swank Phoenix winter resort.

They are the blonde, blue-eyed twins who were born joined on the breastbone to the navel on Dec. 8, 1964. On Feb. 16, 1965, they were successfully separated in a dramatic three-hour operation at Texas Children's Hospital in Houston.

Their mother, Mrs. John Webber, says that both girls are "sparklingly healthy and normal."

Escapée Gets New Sentence

A 1- to 15-year prison term was ordered yesterday for a Madison Heights convict who held up a Pontiac bar after he escaped from a prison farm.

Freddie Bledsoe, 22, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Bledsoe pleaded guilty Nov. 15 to a armed robbery of Ducky's Bar, 800 S. Woodward, on July 1.

He was arrested 30 minutes after the robbery by Bloomfield Hills police who pursued him into Birmingham. All of the $4,000 taken in the robbery was recovered.

'Need' Plea Gets Thief to Return $10

Feeling sorry for a man he had just robbed, a bandit returned $10 of the money during a gas station holdup last night in White Lake Township.

The bandit and an accomplice escaped by car with $75 and six packs of cigarettes. The man is apparently very unarmed, according to Sheriff's deputies.

The victim, Leslie Winnie of 5428 M59, told deputies that one of the men placed an arm around his neck and demanded the money.

Winnie complied by placing his billfold on the counter. One of the intruders returned $10 of the money when Winnie pleaded that his wife was ill and that he needed the money.

The bandit told his partner not to harm Winnie prior to their departure.

Heroism of a Pilot Recalled in Eulogy

HAMPTON, N.H. (AP) — "I never Thursday, she told what have to be there. I feel I'm only here because he's gone."

Aleta D. Stiers, 34, Niles, Mich., one of 56 survivors aboard an Eastern Air Lines Constellation that crashed Saturday in North Salem, N.Y., tells why she's attending the burial today for his pilot in Arlington National Cemetery.

Her words, in a letter to the pilot's widow, were read during the eulogy at the funeral of Capt. Charles J. White, who guided the aircraft to the ground with the loss of only three lives besides his own after a collision with a Trans World Airlines jet.

The TWA jet landed safely at Kennedy Airport minus a 30-foot section of wing.

SECOND CHANCE
"His calm voice and great skill will be remembered by all of us who survived. We and our families owe him a debt we cannot repay — a second chance at life," Miss Stiers said.

In an interview after the funeral, friends and relatives of the pilot crowded into the Church of Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal Thursday. Among them were his widow, Angelus, and three children, Victor, 18, Stephen, 14, and Michaela, 14.

Gov. John W. King and 40 air force executives and pilots also attended.

Science Quiz

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: The rising bubble.

NEEDED: Soap solution and a glass funnel.

DO THIS: Dip the funnel into the soap solution and withdraw it, so that a film of soapy water is lifted with it. The film will be at the large end of the funnel, but will crawl slowly up to the little end as the funnel is held as shown. (The funnel must be clean and wet with soapy water for this to work successfully.)

HERE'S WHY: The film has two surfaces, both of which act like stretched rubber sheets (surface tension is the term for this). They tend to shrink to the smallest surface area, and their force due to surface tension is great enough to lift the film upward against the pull of gravity. Dirt tends to reduce the adhesive forces due to surface tension.

Tight Security Set for Hope's Trip to Viet

SAIGON (UPI)—It's the worst-kept secret of the Viet Nam war, yet it's still shrouded in military secrecy.

The mere mention of it long-keeps the glibest military spokesman and makes security officers shudder.

Everyone admits it will happen, but no one will say when, where, or how long it will last.

What is it? — the Bob Hope Christmas tour.

The comedian's Viet Nam tour is being cloaked in the tightest security wraps ever spun around the visit of a VIP.

TEMPTING TARGET

"We can make light of it," says one officer involved in the project, "but what a tempting target Hope would make. And think what the VC could do if they knew in advance where those crowds of American servicemen would gather."

For just that reason, the U. S. military will not disclose where Hope is expected to arrive, where his plane will touch down, how many performances he and his group will give or where.

The military's concern for Hope's safety was such that, before, in 1963, a South Viet Nam tour to entertain American GIs was called off.

Last year, Hope brought a show to Viet Nam, but was almost tossed out of Saigon by nervous security officials, after the Viet Cong pulled off their Christmas Eve bombing of a hotel less than 100 yards from his own.

Subject: City of Pontiac Bicycle Club of Pontiac

Bicycle safety will be discussed at 11:30 a.m. at Pontiac Police Department, 110 E. Pine Street, Pontiac, Mich. 48133.

Reapportioner Pay Authorized

House Okays Transfer of Funds for Account

LANSING (AP)—The Legislative Apportionment Commission returns to work today—assured that it will be paid, but unsure how or when it will be done.

The House passed a resolution Thursday authorizing the secretary of state to transfer $75,000 to an account to pay the eight commissioners at the rate of $100 a day—a substantial raise from $35 they received last year.

The Senate, however, did not pass the measure, referring it to the appropriations committee.

The commission is under mandate from the Michigan Supreme Court to try again to redistrict the State Legislature. It has been given until Jan. 1 to come up with majority agreement on one plan.

LEGAL PROVISION

No legal provision has been made for its salaries or expenses, however. Secretary of State James Hare, who is secretary to the commission, is prohibited by law from spending money for its activities.

To pass an appropriations bill would take 10 legislative days. The resolution in Thursday's one-day session was regarded as the only way the commission or staff salaries and other expenses could be paid this year.

The National Assembly of the People's Republic of China, with about 3,000 members, is the world's largest government legislative agency.

'Maine Mills Pay More Than Schools'

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP)—In seven Maine paper mill towns, a teachers' spokesman reports, the boy who graduates from high school and goes to work in the mill makes more money than his classmate who comes home to teach after four years in college.

The Maine Teachers Association said the average gross wage in manufacturing is higher than the average teacher salary in Bucksport, Millinocket, Winslow, Lincoln, Madawaska, Brewer, and Rumford — all paper mill towns.

"In this situation there is no incentive for study and professional preparation," executive secretary Clyde Russell said.

Eye Passport Forgery Ring

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Dominican officials and U.S. immigration authorities in Puerto Rico are investigating the forging of hundreds of Dominican passports by a ring operating in the Dominican Republic.

Rafael Edmundo Espinal, director general of Dominican immigration, said Thursday night the ring apparently is operating with about 3,000 blank passports stolen from the Foreign Ministry during the revolution last spring.

The ministry is in a suburban area of Santo Domingo that was controlled by the civilian-military junta at the time.

At least two men have been arrested in connection with the case, Espinal said after he returned from discussing the matter with U.S. authorities in Puerto Rico.

LOOK AUTHENTIC

He said the forged passports look so authentic that they almost defy scrutiny. They are being sold for between 325 and 500 pesos each, he added.

The Dominican peso is officially equal to the dollar.

Police agents, posing as Dominican civilians, nabbed two members of the ring. The agents pretended they had been deported from the United States and wished to return. They got passports issued to false names that would not be registered as inadmissible at the U.S. consulate.

Traffic to the United States from the Dominican Republic has increased considerably since the revolution.

Espinal denied published reports that the exodus was averaging 18,000 persons monthly. He said the average postrevolution figure is under 8,000. The largest number so far, 7,864, left in August, he added.

Britain Will Send Pedigreed Sheep to Red Chinese

LONDON (AP)—Two hundred pedigreed sheep are sailing for Shanghai to improve the herds of Red China.

Sheep experts from the Peking government were here last year and arranged the sale.

Colin Mace, 19, who usually tends sheep of his own in northern England, is in charge of the herd. Earlier he made three trips with herds to Romania and one trip to Bulgaria.

The consignment of Romney Marsh-Lincoln long wool sheep is worth $14,000. F.G.B. Barling, a director of the company which negotiated the order with the Chinese government, said the sheep are going for breeding purposes. Another consignment of nearly 200 ram and ewe lambs will leave Jan. 8.

Ship Suspects 14th TB Case

Crewmen Flown From
Gemini Pickup Vessel

ABOARD USS WASP IN ATLANTIC (AP) — Four crewmen suspected of having tuberculosis were flown to hospitals Thursday from the carrier Wasp, the prime recovery ship for Gemini 6 and 7.

Doctors determined previously that 10 others among the 2,800 men on board definitely had contracted the disease.

The Wasp's senior medical officer, pointing to the size of the crew, said the outbreak hardly could be considered an epidemic.

At the Manned Spacecraft Center outside Houston, Dr. Charles A. Berry, flight surgeon for the Gemini 7 pilots, said he did not feel there was any risk for the astronauts if they are picked up by the Wasp as planned.

NAVAL HOSPITAL

A space center spokesman reported the four men taken off the carrier were flown to Bermuda and then moved to the naval hospital at Chelsea, Mass.

The first tuberculosis case was confirmed last July. Doctors diagnosed the latest active case Saturday and the patient was flown to the naval hospital after they splash down Dec. 18.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration representatives on the Wasp said the Navy was taking all precautions and there was no reason to change plans for recovery of the astronauts after they splash down Dec. 18.

"All of these cases are off the ship and we feel that everything that is sensible from any sort of a public health point of view or a medical point of view has been done," Berry said, "and I don't see there's any risk involved here to the (Gemini) crews."

Spanish Bar Bill Argument May Lead to Jail Term

MADRID, Spain (AP) — If you feel impelled to argue about a bar bill in Spain, you'd better call a policeman first. The alternative may be the threat of up to nine years in prison for insulting the Spanish chief of state.

That is the advice of diplomats who over the past few years have been called more than a dozen times to come to the aid of countrymen who argued prices with Spanish bartenders — and ended up in jail.

Invariably the charge against these foreigners — some of whom have spent six months or more in jail awaiting trial — is that they slandered Generalissimo Francisco Franco or dishonored Spain in the heat of a discussion about the proper bill for brandy or champagne.

COMPLAINING WITNESSES

Bartenders frequently are the complaining witnesses. Usually such a witness describes fluently in Spanish the words used for such slander, but the defendant is free to walk out and catch the first plane home.

"In some cases it appears the bartenders simply dreamed up the charges in an effort to collect a contested — and often excessive — charge for a night's drinking," said a European diplomat.

Usually the public prosecutor asks for conviction and nine years' imprisonment in insult cases.

FREE TO LEAVE

The court ordinarily whittles this down to from six months to a year suspended imprisonment. But the period of waiting in a Spanish jail can be unpleasant. interpreter — or keep your mouth shut."

Brilliant Light Flashes Across State Skies; Burning Matter Falls

By The Associated Press
From the Northeast to California, a dazzling light flashed across the sky last night. Bits of burning matter fell in the Midwest.

Thousands of Michigan residents apparently sighted the brilliant flash that glowed briefly and then abruptly vanished over Lake Erie just before dusk.

One astronomer said he believed it was a fireball that burned up in the atmosphere.

The light was so intense it created shadows.

"As I stepped out of the door of my house, there was a tremendous flash of light, brighter than day," said Grosjean Pointe policeman Edmund Denthuy.

'SAW MY SHADOW'

"I saw my shadow on the ground from it," he added.

Switchboards of state and local police and other government agencies lit up with phone inquiries from anxious citizens.

The flash, variously described as a fireball, an explosion and "a white glowing object with a tail," was visible as far away as northern West Virginia, Virginia, Western New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois.

The first reported sighting was at 4:40 p.m. when an airline pilot en route from Detroit to Toledo reported seeing what appeared to be a very high contrail, then a puff of what seemed to be smoke, and "a brilliant white flash."

LIGHT ORANGE

"What I saw was a light orange flash and a stream enlarged like a ball, pushing away from the main stream," said John Prindina, 43, of Detroit.

Both civilian and military aviation agencies discounted the possibility that the flash might have been caused by an exploding plane or by rocket firings.

In Stormy Seas

Crippled Ship Still Afloat

LONDON (AP)—The crippled Greek freighter Costantis was reported heading under her own power today for a rendezvous with a tugboat after a night of drifting away in stormy seas.

Rescuers found the body of one of three crew members who went overboard when a gale-driven 40-foot waves battered the ship about 300 miles south-west of Ireland.

Another crewman was picked up alive. The third is missing.

The 7,300-ton freighter, escorted by three ships, was expected to make for Falmouth, England, after the rendezvous. She was believed to have 29 men still aboard.

The Queen Mary, with 1,000 passengers aboard, apparently resumed her voyage to New York after changing course and going to the scene to stand by the Greek ship.

A report received at Plymouth said the Queen Mary's master felt that the freighter now had an excellent chance of staying afloat.

STERN DOWN

At one point when the Costantis was drifting stern down the Queen Mary circled for three hours with her searchlights illuminating the scene.

The Costantis lacked the use of her own lifeboats, as one dropped off and the other was damaged in the storm.

Johnson Vows to Exhaust All Peace Efforts

LBJ: Hard Steps to Be Taken After Truce
Attempts in Viet Fail

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson says he will exhaust every peace effort "before other hard steps are taken" in Viet Nam. But while the British call again for negotiations, Moscow and Hanoi blame the United States for expanding the war.

A few hours after Britain sought Soviet support for an international appeal to North Viet Nam for peace talks as soon as possible, Johnson defended the U.S. role in Viet Nam in a telephone speech from his Texas ranch to the AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco.

Without specifying what the "other hard steps" might be, he said:

"Only this week we renewed our efforts for peace in detail. Our efforts to communicate our desire to talk about peace were met with silence from some, shrill propaganda from others."

On the critical question of readiness to meet without conditions, the response in Hanoi—still more in Peking—remains completely negative."

BRITISH PEACE APPEALS

The President's words apparently referred to two British peace appeals in the past week, and U.S. efforts through diplomatic channels to bring the Vietnamese war from the battlefield to the conference table.

In the past few days, Johnson said, "I have reviewed with my top advisers the situation in Viet Nam."

We are carefully studying how we can best continue to turn back that aggression, where all are determined to do all that is necessary.

"At the same time, we are equally determined that every prospect for peace be exhausted before other hard steps are taken."

Johnson confers today at his Texas ranch with top Pentagon leaders, including Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and the Joint Chiefs of Staff, presumably about some of the other hard steps that might be involved in stepping up the U.S. role in the war.

The meeting comes against a backdrop of the war's increasing costs in lives and money.

Hospital Land Sale Opposed

Mental Health Chief
Cites Expansion Plans

Dr. Robert A. Kimmich, director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health, went on record yesterday as opposing the sale of state land on Telegraph Road other than the parcel already approved for sale to Oakland County.

In opposing sale of Pontiac State Hospital property east of Telegraph, Dr. Kimmich joined others who already had voiced objections.

Among them are the hospital staff and the Foundation for Mentally Ill Children, a countywide organization.

Dr. Kimmich's objection to sale of the 2,600 feet of frontage north from Elizabeth Lake Road is based on the "strong possibility that this land will be needed in the not too distant future for expansion of state facilities."

A community mental health center on the hospital site, now in the preliminary planning stages, and increasing activity of the County Community Mental Health Services Board are factors in expansion, he said.

Similar reasons were cited in previous objections to sale of the property.

Several private groups, including the owners of the Pontiac Mall, reportedly are interested in developing the 2,600 feet of frontage commercially.

Pontiac Junior Miss Named Tomorrow

A record field of 19 girls will vie for the local Junior Miss title at 7:30 tomorrow night when the Pontiac Jaycees stage their fifth annual pageant at Pontiac Northern High School.

The entrants are from five high schools, according to Edward Hunter, chairman of the event. Leader, program chairman; Mrs. Richard Jorgensen, who will crown the new Juniors Miss; Mrs. Terrence Tolleson, Jaycee auxiliary chairman; and Richard Fitzpatrick, master of ceremonies.

The winner will advance to the Michigan Junior Miss Pageant Jan. 27-28-29, also at Pontiac Northern High School. She will also receive a $100 scholarship and gifts from local merchants.

The runner-up also will be awarded gifts, according to Hunter.

The new Junior Miss will be crowned by Mrs. Richard Jorgensen, co-chairman and one of the organizers of the state pageant.

CANT BE HERE
Last year's Junior Miss, Emilee L. Beaupre, a student at Cornell (N.Y.) University, is unable to participate in the coronation ceremony.

Macomb Judge Gets Test Case

Aimed at Clarifying Legislation on Terms

A Macomb County circuit judge will begin hearing a test case Monday aimed at clarifying legislation that extended the terms of two Oakland County circuit judges.

Judge George R. Deneweth of Mount Clemens was assigned to the case by State Supreme Court Administrator Meridith Doyle after members of the Oakland bench disqualified themselves.

The suit was filed Monday in Oakland County by Judges Philip Pratt and James S. Thorburn.

They want a court interpretation of the legislation recently enacted that allows them to remain in office until 1970.

The language of the legislation, they say, has created some confusion and uncertainty and the only way to resolve it is through a court ruling.

PREFERENCE

Both judges have stated that they would have preference to seek reelection, rather than be guaranteed a long term by the legislature.

Representing the two judges at the 8:30 a.m. hearing will be attorneys Edward Barrett, Joseph Potter and Dean Beler.

The decision of Judge Deneweth will go to the Michigan Supreme Court for a final ruling. Pratt and Thorburn were first appointed to the bench in 1968 and then elected to two-year terms last year.

Romney Gets Republican United Front

Dem Pleas Fail on Elderly Aid, College
Supplement, Veterans

LANSING (AP)—Wavering House Republicans united behind Gov. George Romney yesterday, refusing to surrender even one vote to override his veto of a bill liberalizing veterans' property tax exemptions.

The override attempt, witnessed by some 600 veterans, fell one vote short of the two-thirds majority needed. The vote was 73-30, with seven Republicans abstaining.

It was the focal point of the long session, which ran right up to the midnight adjournment deadline.

Off center stage, Senate Democrats voted unanimously to override vetoes of senior citizens' rent reimbursement and extra college money bills, but could not crack the Republican bloc for the three additional votes needed.

Oakland County's two Republican senators, Farrell E. Roberts and Robert J. Huber, voted to support Romney's veto of the college bill, though they had favored the supplemental aid on two previous occasions.

STRONG BACKERS

Democratic Senators Carl W. O'Brien and Sander M. Levin, strong supporters of the bill, voted to override the governor's veto.

House Republicans turned a deaf ear to Democratic challenges and the pressure of a gallery packed with an estimated 600 veterans.

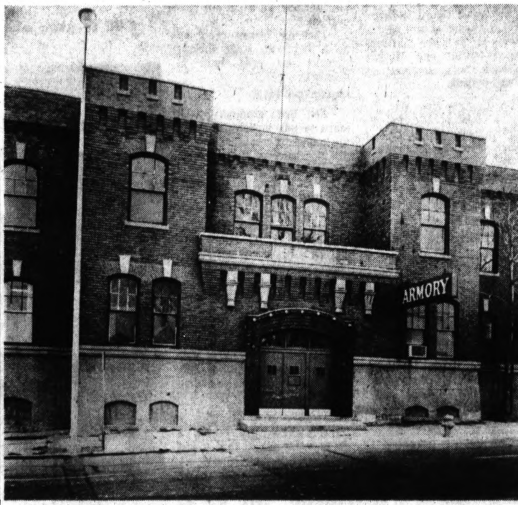

Republicans held firm through three hours of emotion-filled speeches by 38 House members. They spent almost as much time on Romney's potential presidential candidacy as on the veterans.

The debate included charges of politics and pressure on both sides, appeals to conscience, references to war, heroism, gratitude, crippled children, the war in Viet Nam and the checks and balances system in state government.

CITE PRESSURES

And Democrats joked about the pressures on the Republicans from Romney. "There'll be some sore arms around here for a while," one said.

The veterans sat in stunned silence when the vote was announced, then began to file. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Use of Anesthetics, Surgery Reevaluated

Administrators and staff personnel at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital are continuing to re-evaluate surgery and anesthetic procedures.

The review is being conducted in the aftermath of the deaths last month of three hospital patients from an accidental injection of ether.

Hospital Administrator Harry H. Whitlow indicated he was pleased with the evaluation efforts.

Among the hospital procedures being reviewed is the administering of anesthetics.

Earlier this week, Whitlow said Surital, one of the anesthetics involved in the patient deaths, would no longer be used in batches for use in several operations.

INDIVIDUALLY

Instead, individual doses are to be made up and administered.

Whitlow said he is awaiting a recommendation from the staff on whether this procedure will be followed for all anesthetics.

Meanwhile, the hospital chief said he has received the resignation of one doctor involved in the fatal injections. Dr. Lloyd R. Goodwin, 58, chief anesthesiologist, The modern resignation was mailed prior to the board meeting Monday, said Whitlow.

The hospital's nine-member board of directors met Monday to review the findings of an investigation into the deaths.

Whitlow then announced that Dr. Goodwin and another anesthesiologist, Dr. Stanley E. Abrams, 42, of 7127 Brookridge, West Bloomfield Township, would be asked to resign.

Dr. Abrams' resignation reportedly is on its way to the hospital, according to Whitlow.

Junior Miss Mystery Light Over State

University of Michigan astronomer Dr. William P. Bidelman said he was certain the phenomenon was a fireball, or bolide.

He said such fireballs are celestial objects made of stone, iron or nickel which travel at speeds of up to 35 miles a second through space.

William Schultz Jr., astronomer at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills, disputed the meteor reports. He said the fireballs were more likely "space junk," parts of rockets used in the various space experiments.

Lapeer County Sheriff Kenneth A. Parks said his office received a report an unidentified object fell into a field just south of Lapeer.

STRIPS OF FOIL

Parks said deputies dispatched to the scene found nothing except a bit of shiny metallic foil strips, each about an inch long and about one sixteenth of an inch wide.

Parks said he did not know whether the material had any connection with the reported fireball. He said similar material was found before in the area about two years ago.

Deputy Lanny Tolly said later an unidentified Air National Guard officer had called, saying such strips are thrown from planes to confuse enemy radar.

SMALL FIRES

The pilot of a small plane reported sighting four or five small fires in an area 6-7 miles southwest of Lapeer in an isolated area shortly after the fireball was sighted, Parks added.

The Coast Guard in Detroit got a report of an airplane down in the river that separates Detroit and Windsor, Canada. Boats searched and found nothing.

Whatever the light was, it attracted a lot of attention. Persons in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and parts of Canada said they saw brilliant flashes of light blazing across the sky at dusk.

Some said they saw fiery objects plunge to earth.

SCATTERED REPORTS

Police began receiving reports of small fires in widely scattered areas.

Fires were put out and, extensive searches were made, but there were no reports of significant findings.

Near the village of Kecksburg in southwestern Pennsylvania, fireman Roy Howard said he saw several blue flashes "like an acetylene torch" close to the ground.

Other persons said they saw the flashes, too.

FOUND NOTHING

State troopers and Air Force personnel tramped through the area for hours with Geiger counters. They said they found nothing and called off the search.

Birmingham Area News Symposium to Discuss Buildings for Schools

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — City and Country School of Bloomfield Hills, for years in the forefront of educational research and development, now plans to turn its attention to school buildings.

The institution tomorrow will hold a symposium aimed at development of ideas on the sort of building best suited for nursery schools.

City and Country School plans to construct such a building and use it as a center for research into the relationship of educational environment to learning.

Traveling to the Bloomfield Hills campus for the symposium will be architectural and educational experts from various parts of the country.

Also sharing the opinions will be the manufacturers of building materials used in schools.

MEETING HOURS

The meeting will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Dwayne E. Gardner of the U.S. Office of Education will be the speaker at the 12:15 p.m. luncheon. His topic will be "Comprehensive Educational Planning."

Also scheduled to discuss various aspects of the problem are Helen Park, senior consultant for nursery school and kindergarten for the State Department of Welfare, and Benjamin Hamilton of the State Department of Instruction.

Chairman of the event will be Charles A. Blessing, director of city planning for Detroit.

WORKSHOPS

Workshops will be held in the morning and afternoon.

A panel of architects, fabricators and experts in related fields will discuss the applicability of new concepts to the project.

Among these are partial prefabrication of units, styrofoam domes and plywood geodesic domes.

The psychology of space also will be considered.

PRESCHOOL CHILDREN

The school's program stems from recent emphasis on the education of preschool children through Project Head Start.

The one area which has yet received little attention is the classroom.

City and Country School plans to fill this gap and may seek federal funds to aid in the project, according to a spokesman.

Goodfellows in Waterford Top $3,000

Ernest Latimer, chairman of last Saturday's Goodfellow newspaper sale in Waterford Township, announced today that the $3,000 goal was surpassed in the drive.

The Goodfellows president expressed thanks to all participating organizations, including the Waterford Township Boys' Club, Eagles, police department, fire fighters association, fire department, police reserves and Kiwanis.

Also taking part were the Evening Optimists, Breakfast Optimists, Lions and the Rotary Club.

Receipts from the sale are being used to purchase food for needy families.

SCALE BENEFITS

Romney said his plan would scale benefits according to degree of disability — from $3,000 to $5,000 for disabilities ranging from 10 per cent to 30 per cent, and would cost $2 million a year.

The bill was intended to make up for unexpected losses when the exemption switched from locally assessed valuation to state equalized.

State Controller Glenn Allen Jr. has said the average loss would be made up if the exemption were raised to $2,000.

The college bill would have provided $12 million for eight smaller colleges and universities whose actual fall enrollment exceeded forecasts of a year ago.

Romney said it set a dangerous precedent of permitting the schools to determine their appropriations by admission policies.

The senior citizen bill would have given elderly renters an average benefit of $93 a year to match in indirect fashion the property tax relief voted earlier for homeowners over 65.

SHORT 3 VOTES

The vote on each was 23-14 — three short of the 26 votes needed to override.

While losing the $12 million, state schools would gain $21.2 million in federal funds under a House bill amended in the Senate, authorizing the State Board of Education to accept the funds The House concurred in the amendments.

Tory Leader is Elected to College of Organists

ALLEGAN (AP) — A county-wide vote, except for Plainfield and Saugatuck, has been recommended on reorganizing Allegan County's 59 school districts into nine K-12 units. The plan is being submitted to the State Board of Education for approval.

Chimps May Become Talkers

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A young chimpanzee will soon be asked to believe: —That a linguist named Dr. Arthur Schwartz is his mother.

—And that the eek-squeak noises from that electronic noise box in the doctors' hands are mother's loving words.

If this works, Schwartz and Dr. David Premack, researchers at the University of California at Santa Barbara, will ask even more.

—That the chimp grab the noise box and start making squeaks and eeks back at Schwartz.

LEARN TO TALK

—And that, gradually, he'll learn to talk to Schwartz with the sounds.

If this happens, the researchers will be the first ever to teach an animal to communicate with language.

There have been many attempts before, frequently with chimps — because of their intelligence, playfulness and curiosity. None succeeded.

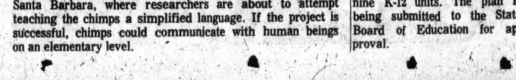

"The linguists have concluded that language for man alone," said Premack, 40, a psychologist. "Animals, they say, have only call systems — cries they make on a variety of occasions, such as food cries, mating cries, danger cries."

HUMAN SOUNDS

But suppose the reason a chimp can't talk is that it just can't make human sounds?

Schwartz and Premack devised a language a chimp could theoretically speak with his clever hands, rather than his limited vocal cords. They call it "stick talk."

"It's modeled, at the level of the rules of grammar and the

Defense Dept. Cuts Seen Only Skin Deep

A built-in trait of the generality of mankind is the capacity for exhibiting great anguish over seeming threat to one's self interest from a design initiated for the common good.

It is best expressed by a paraphrase of the age-old homily: "Do unto others, but not unto me."

Which brings us to the hue and cry reverberating across the land because for the first time in recorded history the Nation is blessed with a Cabinet officer bent on saving taxpayers some of their hard-earned dollars.

McNAMARA

The official is Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and the saving, from closure or contraction of 149 military bases at home and abroad, is estimated at $410 million while eliminating 53,000 superfluous jobs.

Coupled with a similar move affecting 703 military installations ordered closed by McNAMARA since March 1961, the combined savings will amount to $1.5 billion a year.

Additionally, the gradual reduction of the U. S. big-bomber fleet from 1,500 to 250 planes, with our overwhelming stockpile of intercontinental missiles becoming the Nation's No. 1 air punch, will effect further savings in the defense bite that currently eats up more than half of the $100 billion Federal budget.

But needless to say, from the 39 states wherein are located the bases affected (Michigan has two) have come protests from civic organizations, influential public figures and, of course, from their Congressional representatives.

Particularly from the latter. Being politicians, they fall easily into the Jekyll and Hyde routine of preaching government economy in one role while in the other they violently decry the ruinous consequences for their constituencies of programs of national retrenchment.

It would be hard to find an area or segment of the population that has not experienced temporary inconvenience or economic disruption during the amazing growth of America and the sound preservation of its fiscal structure. The communities now apprehensive over the fate of their military bases may rest assured that the continued expansion of our dynamic nation will in short order fill the economic void that they envisage—and very likely exceed in worth the assets replaced.

For our part, we render a 21-gun salute to Secretary McNAMARA on the businesslike operation of his vital department, and only wish that the Federal government were peopled with more of his kind.

Vote of Confidence Seen in Vote Recount

Possible stolen elections are deeply imbedded in American political lore. They are something like the suspicion of the fixed fight that haunts the boxing rings, and as difficult to pin down.

today. Of course, it might have been easier in days gone by.

Recounts of selected precincts are frequently called for in close election races. Not so common is a total recount of all the vote in a big city.

Such a rarity occurred, however, in recent balloting for mayor of Cleveland, Ohio.

Incumbent RALPH S. LOCHER had won by 1,924 votes, according to the official count made by the election board immediately after the election.

All but 28 voting-machine precincts of Cleveland's total of 1,175 precincts were recounted. Of four candidates, LOCHER increased his figure by 219 votes, one candidate lost 36, another gained 60 and the fourth picked up 24. Many of the errors were obviously poor arithmetic.

This is only one bit of evidence, of course, but the slim variation in the recount of about a quarter of a million votes is encouragingly on the side of those who want to be sure nobody's shaving any points in an event as important as an election.

Peace Chances Look Nil in Viet

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — How do chances for peace in Viet Nam look? No good now. The peace conditions laid down by the two sides are opposites. So any settlement will require one side to back down, which means defeat.

The gap between the United States and Communist North Viet Nam was made clear again this week by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

There has been speculation U.S. forces in South Viet Nam would be boosted from 165,700 to 300,000. Johnson has been criticized for the war by some groups demanding peace. Did the criticism shake him?

He showed it hadn't made a dent by saying Monday: this country will supply whatever men are needed "to help the people of South Viet Nam resist aggression." This is what he has always said.

On Tuesday Rusk, in an interview for educational television stations, said this country will support South Viet Nam until North Viet Nam leaves it alone.

By itself this statement might seem rubbery and vague. Actually it echoed what Johnson had said many months ago, thus showing a policy unchanged and unflinching while war increased in fury.

LEJ CONDITIONS

Last April 7 Johnson laid down the conditions for a settlement while saying this country was ready at any time for "unconditional discussion" about a settlement.

But before Johnson finished that talk, he had clearly emphasized the vast difference between putting no conditions on discussing peace and putting tremendous conditions on any settlement the discussions led to.

These were the conditions Johnson laid down before there could be a settlement, and the promises he made:

This country has pledged itself to help South Viet Nam and it will, for "to dishonor the pledge would be an unforgivable wrong."

The South Vietnamese must be left free by the North Vietnamese to run themselves, with their independent government.

The United States "will not be defeated, will not grow tired, will not withdraw either openly or under the cloak of a meaningless agreement. We must be prepared for a long continued conflict."

If the United States abandoned South Viet Nam it would shake the confidence of other nations in this country and in the end lead to unrest, instability and "even wider war."

But the Vietnamese Communists, a few days before Johnson made his talk, stated their own conditions, which Johnson hasn't accepted, just as they have not accepted his.

David Lawrence Says:

Business Facing Cost Squeeze

WASHINGTON — For three years, labor unions have been demanding higher and higher wages based upon a supposedly increased "productivity" of the worker.

LAWRENCE

But it is becoming apparent that the gains in productivity this year have been falling below last year.

The administration frequently talks about "guidelines" which should measure the extent to which wages might be increased without pushing up prices to inflationary levels.

The facts that are coming out now indicate a cost squeeze of major proportions which could hasten the much-talked-of recession. For, despite the failure of union labor to achieve the productivity it has boasted about, demands are being formulated for next year to increase wages just the same.

In fact, the AFL-CIO economists already are demanding that the productivity scale, which has been used to measure wage increases, be raised.

This would mean that the "guidelines" of productivity would supposedly justify high wage increases.

Productivity itself takes into account increased output per man-hour.

This is often not the result of human effort alone but the consequences of new machinery and equipment.

The employer who furnishes the capital for such improvements is nevertheless expected to limit his price increases, and any gains in efficiency now are regarded as something to be added to the wage demands, although costs go up just the same.

The "guideline" figure usually used to measure gain in productivity is 2.2 per cent. But this year, it has fallen to 2.5 per cent.

IGNORED FAILURE
Yet President Johnson has ignored the failure of labor to make the requisite gains in productivity and is practically blocking major industries from raising prices.

In the long run, the larger companies will be able to absorb these higher costs much more rapidly than the marginal companies, which will be hurt. This, in turn, is bound to increase unemployment.

Up to now, the impression given by officials here is that labor has kept within the "guidelines" of productivity, and that its demands for wage increases were normal and hence justified.

The difficulty with the productivity figures which are being widely used is that they do not take into account the cost of inefficiency due to the absence of skilled or experienced labor.

LABOR SHORTAGE

In many plants, there is a shortage of labor. Also, productivity often declines due to heavy overtime schedules.

What seems lacking, too, is any clearly defined relationship between productivity gains and demands for wage increases.

The administration has taken full responsibility for avoiding a recession, but it has done nothing so far to expose fully the failure of labor to make the productivity gains on which it has been basing its wage demands.

Bob Considine Says:

Hope Speech Shows Why He's Rated a Real Pro

NEW YORK — Bob Hope proved all over again what it means to be a pro the other night at the Dr. Tom Dooley Foundation dinner, where he was presented with the foundation's Splendid American award.

CONSIDINE

Secretary of State Dean Rusk received a similar award, as one who has labored long and well in the alien corn.

Author Bill Lederer, who co-authored "The Ugly American," said in his introduction of Bob that the best way to introduce him was to read a letter written by a boy who was killed in Viet Nam not long ago.

It was the boy's last letter to his mother. It described Hope's trip to Viet Nam last Christmas in the most heart-warming terms: how much his presence meant to the men... what a respite it was for a lot of battle-weary guys... how Bob made all of them feel that they were not forgotten by the people back home.

He wrote, too, of buddies who had died of late and assured his mother that, somehow, he was going to make it and get back home.

FEW DRY EYES

There was hardly a dry eye in the banquet hall at the New York Hilton by the time Lederer finished reading the letter.

Then he said, "I now present you, Bob, with the Splendid American award, and I wrap it in that boy's letter."

Hope had flown all the way from the coast with a typical, topical routine of sharp one-liners. Many present at the dinner had come mainly to hear Bob's robust humor. Now they were in tears.

Hope stood up, turned his script upside down, and spoke off the cuff with great tenderness about what it has meant to him to be with troops over the years — more than two million of them, by the way.

MARVELOUS LINE

Five minutes into his talk he said some marvelous line that brought a chuckle from the back of the room.

Ten minutes into his talk he had them all laughing, as only he can.

As he left, he put the letter in his pocket. I asked him if I could run it. He shook his head.

"Wouldn't be right," Bob said quietly.

In the past two years I have added more studies from a university; as well as two years' additional experience. I am told that at the beginning of 1966 my yearly income will be $7,000. At this time there are several in the department carrying double responsibility due to lack of staff members.

Mr. Koella had worked in the Treasurer's office for 28 years. How can Mr. Murphy's son fill that man's shoes without professional training? What type of test did he do so well on? Was it an accounting type exam or just a general knowledge test? Doesn't Mr. Seeterlin have anyone on his staff who is qualified to step up to that job? It seems that it would be a comforting feeling to work in an office where a person had a chance to advance on merit alone.

"Concerned," as a taxpayer, resents the expenditure of $8,500 per year with so little potential return for the money to be paid Hans Murphy. I resent the $400,000 the County has spent on the purchase of Allen Airport, audits, surveys and other aviation matters since 1962. The County has not derived one cent of profit from the airport. Perhaps Dan Murphy, Chairman of the Board of Auditors, can explain why he and the ways and means committee authorized the spending of $7,300 for an audit of Pontiac Airport without first bringing it before the full Board of Supervisors.

Since less than one-tenth of one per cent of the County residents derive any benefit from the airport, I suggest that taxpayers start worrying about stopping the spending of any more tax dollars on a useless airport because the worst is yet to come.

Gaiety in Uruguay Belies Near-Crisis

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst

As temperatures move toward the 90-degree mark and the southern hemisphere summer approaches, residents of Montevideo flock to the city's superb beaches gleaming white in the sun. In Plaza Independencia, dominated by the heroic figure of Jose Artigas, liberator of Uruguay, a high-rise office building nears NEWSOM completion and in nearby shops, visitors from Brazil and Argentina take advantage of Uruguay's depreciated peso.

The falling peso is evidence of a deep financial crisis which finds Uruguay close to bankruptcy.

The thronged beaches give the lie to a situation which elsewhere in Latin America could be the harbinger of violent revolution.

Since July, the country has been wracked by a series of strikes in state-owned public services and industries. Twice the government has proclaimed a state of emergency amounting to modified martial law.

INFLATION RAMPANT

The bitter conflict between the workers and the government stems from government efforts to stem galloping inflation, limit wage increases and reverse the adverse flow of imports over exports.

But even those difficulties, serious as they are, are but surface indications of troubles which go far deeper.

Uruguay is a welfare state which cannot balance overwhelming government expenses against an uncertain income derived from an agricultural economy.

Within the government, power is vested in a nine-man national council modeled on the Swiss system, with the presidency rotating each year. The council is split by factional disputes, and beneath the council is a top-heavy and slow-moving bureaucracy.

RETIRE AT 55

Under the country's cradle-to-the-grave welfare system, it is possible for a man to retire at 55 on 100 per cent income.

Of a population of 2.7 million, more than 210,000 persons are on the federal payroll. Their total comprises about 20 per cent of the country's work force.

The cost of living jumped 40 per cent in 1964. This year, the increase is estimated at between 60 and 70 per cent.

The government hoped to limit wage increases to 25 per cent. Government bank employees are demanding a 48 per cent boost. Other government unions ask as high as 60 per cent.

DEBTS HIGH

The government debt to the United States and to others of the so-called Paris Club is $550 million. In August, emergency action by U. S. banks staved off immediate disaster with an arrangement postponing $50 million in short term debts falling due this year.

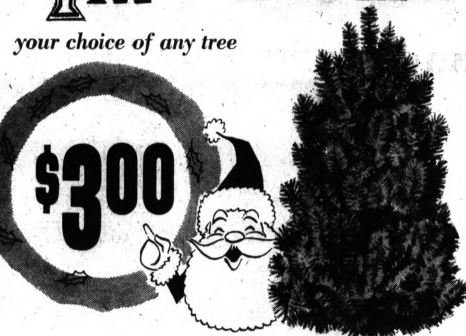

Modern Uruguay was created by a man named Jose Batlle y Ordenez. He brought Uruguay from a state of violence and chaos to peace and order.

It was a country of state-ownership of public services and some industries. It also was a state without an income tax. Even today, income taxes fall only upon the upper brackets.

Jacoby on Bridge

By JACOBY & SON

North's four-club and five-club bids were Gruber and South's four and five no-trump replies showed three aces and three kings respectively.

North assumed that his fifth diamond would represent the 13th trick at not-rump and bid the grand slam with complete confidence.

"Nice bid, partner," remarked expert South as he prepared to claim the contract. He paused for a second when East discarded a heart and then made the further remark, "If clubs don't break I make the grand slam on a squeeze."

The tactic would be a simple squeeze against West if he held long clubs in addition to the five diamonds, so South tested clubs immediately by leading a club to dummy's queen and a second club back to his own king.

When West dropped a spade on the second club, South noted that he had an automatic double squeeze with the third spade in dummy a threat against both opponents.

The only thing South had to do was to time the squeeze properly. He started by cashing three hearts. Then he led his ace of clubs. West had already discarded one spade on the second club and had to let another one go at this point in order to keep all his diamonds. South checked a diamond from dummy and turned his full attention to East.

All he did was to cash dummy's three remaining diamonds. On the last of these diamonds, your East was squeezed in turn. He had to discard down to two spades in order to hang on to two clubs, whereupon South announced that all three spades were good.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Utilize past experience. Time to apply pressure in certain areas. Message becomes crystal clear. After careful financial arrangements with mate, partner.
Capricorn (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Recent speculation bootstraps in your favor. You could come up with money-making schemes. Outline plans, dig deep for information. Avoid superficial judgment.
Pisces (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): Be considerate of needs of loved one. Avoid being penny-wise, pound-foolish. Means INVEST IN FUTURE. Express feelings.

Cornell Quashes Cong Fund Drive

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Fund raising aimed at helping the Communist Viet Cong is forbidden at Cornell University's student-union building, by order of the building's student board of managers.

The board took that position Thursday night in dealing with a request from the Young Socialist League for permission to set up a collection booth in Willard Straight Hall.

The board said: "Any limitation of YSL's program incurred by this action is outweighed by the openly stated possibility that funds raised may well be used to the detriment of Americans in Viet Nam."

Teachers Pick Union

WYANDOTTE (AP) — The Wyandotte Educational Association won the right to represent the school district's teachers in a collective bargaining representation election Thursday. The association polled 240 votes to 49 for the Wyandotte Federation of Teachers.
