Ground War Picks Up; Vietcong Leave Saigon Area

SAIGON (AP) — The ground war picked up south of Saigon yesterday and today, with 192 of the enemy reported killed. But a senior U.S. officer said large enemy units had moved westward from the Saigon area, and the next big Vietnamese offensive against the South Vietnamese capital is not likely before late July or early August.

The American source warned that despite the enemy withdrawals, the Vietcong still plans to attack Saigon. Da Nang and Hue, the two major cities in the northern part of the country, also were considered likely targets for a general Communist offensive.

After a prolonged lull in the ground war, infantrymen from the U.S. 9th Division — protecting the southern approaches to Saigon — tangled with an enemy force yesterday 16 miles south-southeast of the capital. The battle raged until just before dawn today, and the American Command sent in dive bombers, artillery and helicopter gunships to pound the enemy.

U.S. headquarters said 76 Vietcong troops were slain and 12 weapons captured, including six mortars. U.S. losses were seven killed and 21 wounded.

ENEMY BOXED IN

Forty miles farther south, U.S. and South Vietnamese ground, naval and air forces caught sizable Vietcong units pressing in on a provincial capital in the Mekong Delta and reportedly killed 116 of the enemy in an all-day battle yesterday. Seventeen Americans and two South Vietnamese were wounded, spokesmen said.

The Vietcong attack on Saigon had been expected this week, with the main punch coming from the west.

The senior U.S. officer said the larger sized enemy units to the west of the capital have pulled back, but he added that a mountain of intelligence information clearly showed the enemy still plans to attack.

Possible explanations were that the enemy troops had withdrawn to more secure positions to wait for reinforcements, or were feigning to lure the allies into believing the threat was over.

Despite the enemy withdrawal, allied troops were ordered to remain alert for possible small attacks to mark the 14th anniversary Saturday of the signing of the Geneva agreements that partitioned Vietnam.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford met with South Vietnam's leaders today.

The defense secretary was expected to travel to the northern provinces tomorrow and to leave for Honolulu Thursday for talks between South Vietnam's President Thieu and President Johnson.

Scrap Politics, Committee Says

Mail Corporation Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A commission named by President Johnson urged today creation of a special corporation to operate the nation's postal service and elimination of all political jobs in the mail service.

The Commission on Postal Organization, headed by Frederick R. Kappel, also recommended the postal corporation itself establish mail rates — subject only to veto by Congress.

Kappel is the retired board chairman of American Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

In a statement issued with the 212-page commission report, Johnson did not specifically endorse the group's findings for revolutionary changes in the Post Office Department.

TO BE REVIEWED

Johnson said the report "should be widely read and studied" and announced it will be reviewed by the postmaster general and the budget director, who will report their views to him.

The government would own the corporation operating the postal service under the commission proposals.

In a letter to Johnson, Kappel said: "The corporate form would permit much more successful operation of what has become a major business activity than is possible under present circumstances."

"The benefits which would flow from the introduction of modern management practices include not only greatly improved mail service but the early elimination of the postal deficit and far better career opportunities and working conditions for the individual postal employee," Kappel continued.

A suggestion for a postal corporation first was broached this year by Lawrence F. O'Brien, when he was postmaster general.

Kappel's report pulled no punches in assessing the present state of the Post Office Department.

"The United States Post Office faces a crisis," it began. "Each year it slips further behind the rest of the economy in service, in efficiency and in meeting its responsibilities as an employer. Each year it operates at a huge financial loss."

The report said solutions to the problem lie beyond the control of those who run the department and that a major shakeup is needed.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER — Robert Han (right), a Pontiac Press carrier for the past two years, has been named winner of a $1,500 Pontiac Press college scholarship. The award is made annually by The Press to one of its outstanding carriers. Congratulating this year's recipient is Arlo A. McCully, Press circulation manager and chairman of the scholarship-winner selection committee. Robert, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Han of 2375 Snellbrook, Pontiac Township. He will enroll at Oakland University in September in pursuit of a career in medicine and law.

COOL IT, SIS — Yesterday's high temperature of 92 degrees brought out many pool-goers, including the Hunsberger kids. Daryl, 3, tries to cool off his sister, Linda, 8, while Bobby, 5, relaxes without much concern. They live at 779 Monticello.

Viet Peace Talks Progress in Secrecy

PARIS (AP) — The United States and North Vietnam apparently have reached a point in the Paris peace talks where they can sound each other out secretly on possible arrangements to de-escalate the war in Vietnam.

Both now agree publicly that their delegation leaders have touched on "serious" issues in their private conversations during the coffee breaks in their formal sessions. In addition, the diplomatic channels used for communications between Washington and Hanoi in past peace probing are obviously still open and presumably in use.

The formal exchanges between Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy in their regular Wednesday meetings continue deadlocked and repetitious, mainly serving the propaganda purposes of both sides. But their informal contacts have gone beyond that rigid pattern, allowing a more flexible exploration of peace possibilities.

There is also some indication that leaders in Washington and Hanoi are engaged in policy reviews.

HUDDELL WITH LBJ

Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance is flying to Washington today for consultations with President Johnson before Johnson goes to Honolulu to confer with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

On the North Vietnamese side, Le Duc Tho, special counselor to Thuy, has been in Hanoi for about two weeks. He is a member of the North Vietnamese Communist party's policy-making politburo.

The deadlock over de-escalating the war arises from Hanoi's demand that the United States stop all bombing of its territory, and Washington's demand that North Vietnam show some military "restraint" to justify ending the bombing.

North Vietnam has said since before the talks started on May 13 that until the bombing is stopped no other issue of Vietnamese peacemaking can be discussed.

Exactly what President Johnson would consider a minimum adequate show of "restraint" on North Vietnam's part has not been spelled out. Harriman has proposed to Thuy a restoration of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam and has also called for a reduction in infiltration from North to South.

The fact that "serious matters" had been touched upon during the coffee breaks was disclosed by Harriman only last Saturday.

"One can't help but touch on serious matters," he said in a television interview, "and we're getting into a little bit more of the idea of what's important in each other's minds."

Fortas Tells Senate He Aided Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Abe Fortas told the Senate Judiciary Committee today he participated in White House meetings on the Vietnam war and on riots in the cities.

But he insisted his role was only to summarize for the President what others said in the sessions.

The justice, testifying on his nomination to be chief justice of the United States, said he was consulted on very few matters and that they have not been matters on which he could claim he was an expert.

"My role has been solely one who sits in the meeting while others express their views," Fortas said. He continued that the President "turns to me last to summarize."

SOLE FUNCTION

This alone, he said, was the function he served at White House meetings.

Fortas is an old friend and legal adviser to the President.

The leader of the fight to block his confirmation, Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., read news reports to the committee last week that Fortas has continued while on the bench to play a big role in framing White House policy.

Fortas, asked about these allegations, said, "I have never initiated any suggestion or any proposal to the President of the United States."

'NO LEGAL ISSUES'

He said he never recommended anyone for any position, and that he did not discuss any legal issues or matters that could come to the court.

"I don't want to talk about specific matters on which I have been consulted," Fortas said under questioning by Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., as to whether he has continued, as member of the court, to serve as a presidential adviser.

One specific question Eastland asked was whether Fortas had written the presidential order sending federal troops into Detroit during the racial riots there in 1967.

"I did not write that message," Fortas said. "I did see it before it was delivered, but I did not write it."

"Did you approve it?" asked Eastland.

"No, the President does not ask my approval."

Conventions Hit by New Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both national political conventions, the first just three weeks off, are threatened with new communications woes that could affect network television and broadcasting.

The new threat, which could affect not only the Democrats in Chicago and the Republicans in Miami Beach but any city big enough to handle a political convention, came to light yesterday.

WARNED POSSIBILITY

American Telephone & Telegraph Co. warned a customer of the possibility of a strike by 24,000 long lines installers who are members of the Communications Workers of America, a union spokesman said.

Such a strike could affect TV and radio facilities and teletype equipment, including that used by news services.

'Sea Spies' Irk Soviets

But, the U.S. Weather Bureau predicts

Town Awash After U.P. Rain

L'ANSE AU LUP — State Police at the Marquette post report heavy flooding in the Upper Peninsula village of L'Anse last night. The entire community of 2,397 was under four to five feet of water as a result of a heavy thunderstorm, police said.

U.S. 41 and other highways and roads have been washed out, and telephone communications as well as electrical power were knocked out by the rising water.

No serious injuries have been reported as a result of the flooding.

The Baraga County Water Board has advised all persons in the area not to drink any tap water for the next two days.

LOCATED ON BAY

L'Anse is located at the southern end of Keweenaw Bay.

Portions of the hamlet were flooded last month when a rare occurrence called a seiche — a type of inland tidal wave — rolled into the Keweenaw Bay.

Soviets Delay Pullout, Write Czech Regime

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — The Soviet Union has again delayed withdrawal of its troops from Czechoslovakia and along with four East European allies has sent a letter to the new liberal regime in Prague.

Contents of the letter were not disclosed, but it was the product of a conference in Warsaw of nations which already have expressed fear that the Czechoslovak liberalization drive was getting out of hand.

Communist party leaders from Bulgaria, Hungary, East Germany,

Poland and the Soviet Union — including party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin — met at Warsaw Sunday and yesterday. A communiqué on the conference said they exchanged information "on the situations in their countries and the development of events in Czechoslovakia."

One Communist source said the letter may contain a joint request for removal of the most liberal elements in the Czechoslovak leadership. Newspapers in the orthodox Communist countries have been warning that anti-Socialist elements were trying to use Czechoslovakia's democratization campaign for their own ends.

THREAT SEEN

Many Czechoslovaks saw a threat of Soviet military intervention in the continued presence in their country of Soviet troops who came for training exercises that ended more than two weeks ago.

Maj. Gen. Vaclav Prchlik, a top Czechoslovak defense official, announced last night that a large contingent of Soviet troops is delaying its departure six more days.

Prchlik said the troops would leave the country next Sunday rather than today as they had promised. He told the television audience the Soviet troops definitely were leaving and urged Czechoslovaks not to succumb to a war of nerves.

About 5,000 Russian troops participated in the Warsaw Pact maneuvers, and an estimated 3,000 remained in Czechoslovakia afterward.

MOVEMENT HALTS

After negotiations last week, the Prague government announced that these would begin leaving Saturday.

Some went, but the movement halted Sunday. Czechoslovak news media said heavy weekend traffic caused the delay, and the withdrawal resumed Monday.

At a news conference Monday night, Prchlik also demanded a revision of the Warsaw Pact to give the Soviet Union's partners an equal voice in running the organization's affairs. He also said members should be prevented from forming blocs within the alliance.

Prchlik said the calling of the Warsaw conference was a "regrettable act."

Pontiac Post Office Plans Cutback in Window Service

Pontiac's Post Office will cut Saturday and Sunday window service to a maximum of two hours beginning July 27, Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson announced today.

Saturday collections from street boxes will be put on Sunday schedules, he said.

The reductions, ordered by the Post Office Department, were blamed on manpower cutbacks dictated in the new federal tax bill.

The department also said 250 fourth-class post offices will be closed Aug. 2 and 97 more Aug. 30. The only small branch to be closed in Michigan by this order is the one at Northland. Business from this branch now will be handled at the Southfield Post Office.

The tax bill also requires the department to cut back 83,238 employees by filling only three out of every four vacancies. Donaldson indicated that the Pontiac Post Office is following this policy.

British Renew Charges on Ray

LONDON (UPI) — A British court today bound over James Earl Ray, accused slayer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., for another eight days on charges of violating gun and passport laws.

Sources close to Ray's defense said his lawyers were running into "local difficulties" hampering his appeal against a court-ordered extradition to America to stand trial for King's murder.

Ray's appearance at Bow Street Magistrates Court was routine.

The law says he must be taken before a magistrate every eight days while held on the charges of carrying a gun and two forged passports, charges on which Ray was arrested June 8 to end a worldwide manhunt.

'NOT ADMINISTRATIVE'

Defense sources said the "difficulties" they were talking about were not administrative and not connected with legal obstacles to their contention that King's slaying was a political crime. Political crimes are not subject to the Anglo-American extradition treaty.

Ray's British lawyer, Michael Eugene, has only one day left to file an appeal of Ray's extradition order, issued two weeks ago.

Frank Milton, chief metropolitan magistrate, ordered Ray held until July 24 on the gun and passport charges.

Only a few spectators were on hand when Ray arrived from Wandsworth Prison in a Black Maria escorted by three Jaguar police cruisers.

Workers Ratify Pact With City

An estimated 150 municipal clerical employees are to receive higher salaries under terms of a contract ratified yesterday by members of the Pontiac Municipal Employees Association (PMEA).

The City Commission still must ratify the pact, but commissioners last night were informed of its terms at an informal meeting. Commission consideration is expected next week.

A city spokesman said the agreement would set up new pay classifications rather than provide across-the-board pay boosts for the white collar workers.

PMEA spokesman said the agreement matters still remain to be negotiated, including contract language and the method of figuring vacation days.

City Teen Drowns in Commerce Lake

A Pontiac boy drowned in Commerce Township lake yesterday while playing with friends on a raft on Lower Straits Lake.

Steven McDonald, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McDonald of 430 Fourth was the victim, according to township fire officials.

Witnesses told officials the boy was playing on a raft with several other youths. After a jump from the raft, the boy failed to return to the surface.

The mishap occurred near 3294 Edgewood.

Mrs. Cavanagh Clifford Warns Cuts in Aid Could Affect Peace Talks

DETROIT (AP) — Former college beauty queen Mary Helen Cavanagh was to take the witness stand today as a divorce hearing for Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and his estranged wife continues.

The open court hearing began yesterday with charges and countercharges. The hearing followed three days of private sessions in chambers of Wayne County Circuit Judge Charles Farmer.

Cavanagh denied a charge that he had tapped his wife's telephone, but later admitted under cross-examination that the intelligence department of the Detroit Police Department had an extension on his home phone.

The mayor and Mrs. Cavanagh accused each other of drinking heavily, and Mrs. Cavanagh told the court, "I did know what foul language was until I married him."

'CHILDREN HEAR PROFANITY'

Mrs. Cavanagh accused her husband of using profanities in front of the couple's eight children.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford has told the chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee that drastic curtailment of foreign aid could affect the Paris peace negotiations.

The warning from Clifford, now on an inspection trip to Vietnam, was contained in a letter to Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., who released it on the eve of today's opening debate on the always controversial foreign aid bill.

"The impact of a drastic curtailment or a complete moratorium in economic aid on countries such as Korea and Thailand would be immediate and calamitous," Clifford wrote.

"Discontinuation of aid to South Vietnam and Laos could create internal situations which would prejudice the Paris peace negotiations and the ac-

River-Study Fund OK by City Seen

Pontiac city commissioners are expected to approve tonight the cost of a study to determine the best method of improving the Clinton River from Crystal Lake to the present improved area at Orchard Lake Road.

The commission will conduct its regular weekly meeting at 8 p.m. at the City Hall.

The study is expected to explore the best method of containing the river during heavy rainfall and flooding periods.

Commissioners also are scheduled to consider a proposal to begin a major project to provide sanitary sewers for the northwest section of the city. The project is expected to cost about $500,000.

The sanitary sewer would begin near Tallahassee and Sarasota, go west toward Oakland and then north across Hawthorne Park to Walton.

SHORTAGE OVERCOME

During the fiscal year ending June 30, seigniorage ran to about $380 million but it rose above $834 million the year before when the Treasury turned out coins in record numbers to overcome a shortage.

The reduced profit expected for this year results from the cutback in coins made because the shortage has eased.

The profits began with the Coinage Act of 1965 which took all silver from dimes and quarters and reduced the silver content of the half dollar from 90 per cent to 40 per cent.

This reduced the cost of coinage metal to the Treasury.

PROFITS RISE

In 1960, profit came to little more than $52 million but rose to almost $113 million during fiscal 1965.

With minting of the first sandwich coins in fiscal 1966, the profit rose to almost $650 million including about $25 million in the old 50 per cent silver coins the Treasury had on hand.

Birmingham

Study Slated in Effort to End Flooding

BIRMINGHAM — A comprehensive study of drains and flood plains will be undertaken as a first step in ending flooding conditions of the type that caused severe damage in the city three weeks ago, city commissioners were told last night.

An outline of the study was submitted to commissioners by City Engineer William T. Killeen, saying he would return at a later date with firm recommendations on the direction that the study will take.

He was unable, however, to offer any immediate measures that might be taken to control or alleviate flooding conditions.

A major problem, he said, is the inadequacy of the Acacia Drain which serves both Birmingham and the village of Beverly Hills.

CHANGES POSITION

The village, according to Killeen, has changed its position of the past and is now expressing an interest in cooperating on a project to relieve the Acacia Drain.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning said it is likely that the Oakland County Drain Commission will be approached by the city and village to review the drain problem and offer solutions.

Mayor David Brock, noting the unwillingness of the village to cooperate in the opening of 14 Mile Road, suggested that Kenning negotiate "slowly" with Beverly Hills in a pact over the Acacia project.

A joint meeting between the commissions of the two communities will be recommended to Beverly Hills as a method of working out mutual problems.

FLOODING PREVAILS

In a report received by the commission from A. P. Blethen, superintendent of public works, flood conditions prevailed in all sections of the city, and in all neighboring communities, as a result of the June 25 rainfall.

"There were two proximate causes for the flood damage which occurred," said Blethen. "One was the overloading of the drainage system; the other was the overflowing of the Rouge River, both east and west branches."

The flooding of the west branch was the worst in memory, according to city officials, while the flooding of east branch equaled that of a 1941 storm.

Blethen reported that basement flooding occurred generally in an area bounded by Lincoln, Grant, 14 Mile Road and Southfield; and on Derby, near Coolidge. Isolated reports of basement flooding came from every section of the city, he said.

The most costly damage occurred at stores and offices in the North Woodward-Harmon area from the waters of the east branch of the Rouge, and to residences near the intersection of Redding and Lakeside on the west branch.

Blethen said that considerable damage was averted when an alert resident informed city officials of a washout on the bank of Quanton Lake near the dam. The washout, he said, was raffled before nightfall, stopping the overflow.

1st-Degree for Sirhan?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The district attorney's office plans to seek the death penalty for Sirhan B. Sirhan although investigators have not ruled out a conspiracy in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Chief Deputy Dist. Atty. Lynn D. Compton, head of the three-man prosecution team, said he is preparing the case against Sirhan "with the idea of seeking the death penalty under the theory of first-degree murder which includes premeditation."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson yesterday sent the following Michigan postmaster nominations to the Senate: Alice S. Schlylander, Erie, and James E. Robb, Imlay City.

Rockefeller in Illinois Seeking Additional Support

By United Press International
Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York sought to widen his support in Illinois today, a key state in his drive to prove supremacy over Richard M. Nixon in industrial centers.

Rockefeller was well received in Indiana yesterday, where he drew cheers from an audience which included 17 of the state's Nixon-planned 26-member national convention delegation.

"The nation faces a crucial moment," he told the group. "We need new leadership who can understand change and who are not afraid of a change. President Johnson has not been able to face realities and take a stand in connection with human values."

Earlier Rockefeller told an Indianapolis news conference that Nixon had ridiculed the cities as "pie in the sky."

Rockefeller also took the former vice president to task for what he said was Nixon's failure to state a position on the draft. "I am in favor of selecting persons for the armed services by lottery," Rockefeller said. "Mr. Nixon has no immediate solution for these draft inequities and says only that after the war, he favors a professional army."

Brother Linked to Girls' Killing

DETROIT (AP) — The 14-year-old brother of 11-year-old twin girls, murdered July 1, has been arrested in connection with the slayings.

The boy was arrested over the weekend and is being held in the Wayne County Youth Home. Authorities were to file a petition today charging the brother of Deanne and Nora Ann Guiley with committing a delinquent act. Under Michigan law, a juvenile cannot be charged with murder or manslaughter.

Last week, Detroit police arrested two other youths in connection with the killings. Gerald Ivaldi, 17, was charged with murder, and a 15-year-old was held on delinquency charges.

The Guiley sisters were both stabbed to death with a butcher knife. Nora Ann was found dead in her bed.

Deanne apparently fled through a bedroom window and ran for nearly a block before being overcome by her assailants.

Illinois has 53 votes at the Republican National Convention. Prior to Rockefeller's current visit, 10 were leaning toward him and 43 toward Nixon.

Other developments:

• Hubert H. Humphrey — His week-long bout with the flu apparently over, the Vice President scheduled Washington conferences later today with an Indian group. In a statement yesterday, he said he favored reforming the draft by introducing a random selection method and calling younger men first.

• "TOO MUCH MILITARY"

• Richard M. Nixon — In a taped broadcast interview, Nixon criticized the Johnson administration "for placing too much emphasis on a military solution" in Vietnam.

• Eugene J. McCarthy — Two supporters of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in New York announced they were backing McCarthy for the Democratic nomination.

The support came from Eugene H. Nickerson, Nassau County executive who was defeated by a McCarthy supporter for his party's nomination for a U.S. Senate seat, and Percy H. Sutton, Manhattan borough president and a Negro.

• Ronald Reagan — The California Governor said Alabama Republican leaders urged him to campaign in the South to counteract the political strength of third party presidential candidate George Wallace. Reagan is scheduled to address a GOP rally in Birmingham July 24.

Traffic Accidents in May Cost U.S. Over $1 Billion

NEW YORK (AP) — Traffic accidents in May cost the nation more than $1 billion, according to the Insurance Information Institute.

The economic loss was estimated at $1,092 billion or $30 million higher than the figures for May 1967. The rise was attributed to increases of 7 per cent in accidents, and 1.2 per cent in injuries.

Total economic loss for the first five months of 1968 stands at $4,991,472,000, an increase of $300 million over the loss total for the same period last year.

Loss figures include such factors as lost wages, medical expenses, property damage and the service cost of insurance, the institute said.

The Negro arrest rate for murder is 10 times that among whites, although most of these crimes are against other Negroes.

Sun, Area Lake —a Placid Scene of Nature, Rest

The summer sun etches a warm invitation on the surface of Grampian Lake in Oxford Township. The reflections of the tree-lined shore seem to beckon nature lovers for a cooling swim, a quiet sail or hopeful moments at the end of a fishing pole.

In addition, the silvery reflections echo times of meaningful rest caught during an early morning walk or after a filling evening picnic.

Shining ferns and shimmering poplars whisper secrets of the woods in surrounding Camp Oakland.

Troy Gives Go-Ahead on Sewer and Paving Projects

TROY — Final steps were taken last night by the City Commission so that improvements could begin on both a local sanitary sewer project and a road-paving project.

After a public hearing, the commission gave approval to the construction of sewers on both McKinley and Houghton in the city.

The $92,300 project will be paid for entirely by special assessment to landowners on a per-front-foot basis. Construction will begin early this fall according to City Manager Paul York.

The assessment will be $11.71 per front foot.

TABLED FOR WEEK

The Hickory Street sewer project was tabled for one week to allow further study, although it is expected that the commission will okay the project next week.

The Macomb Concrete Corp. was awarded a bid last night so that work could begin on the Austin Street paving project.

While the firm's bid of $38,107 was accepted, the commission did not act on the paving of Big Beaver near the Civic Center. Planning Commission representatives recommended that asphalt rather than concrete be used in the surfacing of the roadway, necessitating new bids for the project.

In other action, the Commission heard a presentation by architect Frank Straub on completed plans and specifications for proposed alterations in the City Hall.

CHANGES PLANNED

The plans called for changes in the police department in the lower level of the Civic Center and in the former driver's licensing bureau on the upper level of the building.

City Manager York was directed to solicit bids for the estimated $15,000 project.

Bids were also awarded last night for additions to the city motor pool. The commission moved to spend $19,388 for the purchase of two tractor loader backhoes and a bulldozer.

In other action the commission gave tentative approval to the changing of a street name.

Acting on the request of Jerrell Cook and John O'Sowski, Eastport will be changed to Cook Court.

In other action last night, the commission moved to support a bill already vetoed by Gov. Romney that would give local authorities the power to declare emergency situations in their own communities.

A request from State Sen. George Kuhn has asked local governments to formally support the bill so that Romney may reconsider his decision.

The commission also tabled for a week a communication from the Oakland County Road Commission requesting an endorsement of their request for a 1-mill tax increase to improve and maintain county road services.

The Road Commission has petitioned all local governments in the county for support of their proposal.

SIMILAR ACTION

Troy's action to table the matter for further study before the Aug. 6 election is similar to that in several Oakland County communities.

The discussion of a fair housing act in Troy once again was introduced in the final portion of last night's meeting.

The commission decided to table for two weeks any more discussion on the matter. City commissioners requested the time so that they could study further the fair housing law already enacted by the state.

The question they are debating is whether it is necessary to have a local ordinance when state and national laws have already been passed.

Five-County Park Authority Serves 4 Million in Area

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority is one of the larger regional recreation agencies in the country. This is the first in a series of articles about several Oakland County people in the Authority.)

Since its beginnings in the 1940s the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA) has gradually built a chain of eight parks throughout southeastern Michigan which now serves over four million residents.

Enabling Act 147, creating the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, was passed by the State Legislature in 1939. The authority was approved in a referendum vote of the people of the five counties it serves in the 1940 presidential election. The electors of the five-county area voted 2-1 in favor of the authority.

Association of Oakland with the main office in Pontiac.

Clarkson of Waterford Township was elected by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors on June 22, 1964, and he will serve until 1970.

The authority's chief executive is Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, who was appointed director in 1951, succeeding George McCordic, who served as "engineer-director" from 1942 until his death in late 1950. Hallenbeck was superintendent-manager of the Washtenaw County Road Commission before joining the authority.

The main financial support for the authority comes from a one-fourth mill tax on all property within the five counties. It is the responsibility of the commission to levy the tax but all taxes are assessed, collected and returned as county taxes.

OAKLAND'S SHARE

Oakland County will contribute over $750,000 this year as its share of the over $3.8 million collected in tax funds. In addition, the authority will receive an estimated $600,000 in revenues from park fees and facility charges.

With these funds, the HCMA operates and maintains eight parks from Lake Erie to Lake St. Clair in the valleys of the Huron and Clinton rivers, from which the agency derives its name.

Three of the eight sites are within easy reach of Pontiac residents. These include Kensington Metropolitan Park, a 4,300-acre site near Milford, which opened in 1948; Marshbank Metropolitan Park, a 115-acre playground-park southwest of Pontiac which opened in 1950 and Stony Creek Metropolitan Park, a 3,500-acre site northeast of Rochester, which opened in July 1964.

OTHER PARKS

Other HCMA parks are Metropolitan Beach near Mount Clemens, Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville and Delhi, Dexter-Huron and Hudson Mills metropolitan parks northwest of Ann Arbor.

During 1967 about six million persons used the four major sites—Metropolitan Beach, Stony Creek, Kensington and Lower Huron metropolitan parks.

From a handful of people working mainly in planning during World War II, the authority has gradually increased its year-round staff to 225 employees, plus an additional 450 seasonal workers hired generally for a period of three to six months.

W. Bloomfield Teachers, Board in Accord

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Teachers association bargainers and the board of education here have reached a tentative agreement on wage scales for the coming year, new Schools Supt. Dr. Anthony Witham announced last night.

Witham, who was named to his new post recently to fill the vacancy left by Dr. Leif Hougen, said negotiating terms came to informal terms at a meeting Friday night.

Witham replaced Hougen after the board voted in early February not to extend Hougen's contract. The former superintendent had been Superintendent for 15 years.

Witham said teachers and school officials decided on a minimum $6,900 salary for beginning teachers with bachelor's degrees.

MAXIMUM SALARY

The maximum for bachelor's degree holders in the system was set at $11,050, Witham said.

Holders of master's degrees in the system will earn salaries from $7,345 to $12,000 in a series of 12 steps, according to the tentative agreement.

Witham said he expected the agreements to be ratified by both sides in the next few weeks.

Plans for the new West Bloomfield High School were also unveiled for the first time at last night's board meeting.

In a special presentation to the board and to the public, Birmingham architect Linn Smith explained design plans for the new structure that will be located on Orchard Lake near Walnut Lake Road.

The present high school facilities, at 6000 Orchard Lake, will be used for a junior high school when the new building is completed, said school officials.

Windshield Header Is Safer

EDITOR'S NOTE — This article, another in a series, is based on research on "Roof and Windshield Header Construction" by Edwin H. Klove Jr. and Gerald W. Ropers of Fisher-Body Division.

MILFORD—General Motors will introduce greater collision protection for front-seat passengers next model year, it was reported recently at an auto safety seminar at GM's Milford Proving Ground.

Edwin H. Klove Jr., engineer-in-charge of safety analysis for the auto maker's Fisher Body Division, reported that a skid windshield header will be incorporated in most General Motors 1969 passenger cars.

The seminar which Klove addressed climaxed a week of special events inaugurating a new safety research and development laboratory and a vehicle dynamics test area — the largest and most comprehensive facilities of their type in the world—at the Milford installation.

The new header runs across the top of the windshield and has been extended rearward almost three inches. The extension creates a smooth, inclined surface along which the passenger's head can skid and be protected from an abrupt impact with the header in the event of a collision.

WON'T BE APPARENT

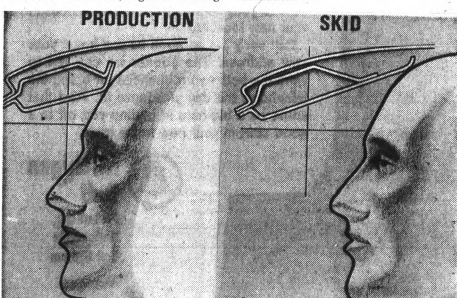

The new design improves the ability of the windshield header surface to deflect the head of a passenger who might be propelled against the rear wall of today's more conventional design.

"Like the improved windshield glass and the energy absorbing steering column, the improved header surface will not be apparent to our customers," Klove said, "but like the glass and the steering column, the skid header is expected to provide increased safety without requiring that the customer perform any special task."

A portion of Klove's address concerned GM's progress in improving roof design evaluations and the role these tests played in the design.

General Motors, he explained, has largely given up roll-over, drop and similar tests which could not be accurately repeated. In their place, Fisher Body developed a roof-crush machine.

The machine is superior in that it not only measures crush distance and other roof performance characteristics, but it enables tests to be conducted—and accurately repeated—under carefully controlled, scientific conditions.

NEW HEADER—A newly designed windshield "header" will provide added protection for front-seat passengers in most General Motors 1969 automobiles. The header has been extended three inches to the rear (right) to provide a sloping surface so a passenger's head will skid in the event of a front-end collision and be deflected from striking the blunt rear edge of the current header (left).

Construction Permits Drop

Total for Last Month
Down From '67 Figure

The Waterford Township Building Department last month issued 121 permits for new construction, additions, and alterations estimated to cost $726,297.

The figures were contained in a report accepted last night by the Township Board.

The total for last month represents a decline from the 141 permits for construction worth an estimated $1,840,645 that were issued in June 1967. The drop is believed to be due to strikes in the construction industry that began in May and lasted throughout June.

LARGEST CATEGORY
The largest single construction category last month was that of home remodeling. A total of 35 permits were issued for that purpose. 20 permits were issued for garage construction, 19 for additions to homes and 17 for house construction.

The permits for new houses were for buildings estimated to cost $349,574.

In addition to construction permits, 72 plumbing permits were issued last month along with 45 heating permits and 103 electrical permits.

VOCAL Exec Will Address Relations Unit

Guest speaker at tonight's meeting of the Waterford Area Human Relations Assembly (WAHRA) will be Albert Shaw, a leader of Voice of Oakland County Action League (VOCAL).

The group will meet at the Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church, 4269 Monroe, Waterford Township. The meeting is scheduled for 8 to 9:45 p.m.

Shaw, who is also community schools director for Pontiac's Jefferson Junior High School, is the WAHRA's third guest speaker. Previous speakers were Clarence Barnes, former head of the Pontiac Area Urban League, and Julian Cook, co-chairman of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

The group was formed several months ago in an effort to foster racial understanding in the Waterford area.

Self-Help Group Meets Thursday

The local unit of Recovery Inc., a national organization which provides people who suffer from nervous system disorders with methods of self-help, will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, West Huron at Wayne.

The group meets at the church each Thursday. Interested persons are invited to attend.

Bonding Power Request Is Tabled

The Waterford Township Board last night tabled, pending further study, a proposal to put on the November ballot a request for bonding power to finance construction of a fourth fire station in the township.

The township fire department presented the proposal which called for a referendum vote on a request for $170,000 bonding power for construction of the new station and for purchase of two fire trucks to equip it.

The station would be located on a site the township owns on the south side of Williams Lake Road, just west of Lansdowne. The ballot proposal would consist only of a request for authority to sell bonds and would not involve any increase in millage.

MATTER Tabled
The matter was tabled pending study of the proposal by the township financial consultants.

The board appointed Rev. James L. Meyer, assistant pastor of St. Benedict's Catholic Church, Waterford Township, and Trustees Ted McCullough Jr. and Herbert C. Cooley were chosen election commissioners for the August and November elections.

Bids on maintenance work on three pedestrian overpasses in the township were opened and referred to the township engineers for study.

The board tabled for another week action on a proposed package insurance policy offered to the township by Pauly's Insurance Agency. The insurance committee is studying the proposed policy.

Consideration of vacation and sick leave time compensation for the fire department was put off for one week to allow further study of the matter.

One lot split was approved.

Urge Adoption of Sunday Liquor Bill

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors should act to adopt a measure allowing Sunday liquor sales in Oakland County as outlined in recently passed State legislation. The board meets Thursday and the matter could be brought up for consideration at that time.

The bill would allow dispensing liquor on Sunday in Michigan for the first time in counties where supervisors vote to approve it.

Some may feel such a move inadvisable on grounds that it would lead to wide open liquor sales on Sundays by every bar and tavern in this area. This is untrue. The bill was written so that it will apply only to establishments which derive at least half of their receipts from the sale of food.

Therefore, adoption will not help bars which deal primarily in liquor sales. Instead, it should aid business potential at eating places in our area which also have liquor licenses.

In Oakland County, where we have an abundance of weekend tourist trade and many fine restaurants that serve liquor, enactment of such a bill should have a decidedly productive effect on local economy. Many of our large restaurants have remained closed on Sundays because liquor sales were banned, making Sunday business an unprofitable venture.

If the supervisors don't enact this bill locally by Sept. 1, those in favor of the bill would then be forced to circulate petitions and have the issue placed on the ballot. Those petitions would require the signatures of 19,000 registered voters to be valid.

Thus, we urge the County board of supervisors to enact this bill.

New Lifelike 'Doll' Used in GM Crash Tests

If you've ever had to buy dolls for children, you're probably well acquainted with Betsy Wetsy and Raggedy Ann. But, chances are you've never met Sophisticated Sam.

While the others say and do endearing little things, Sam is a different kind. He's not for the nursery. He wasn't made for his cuddle appeal.

Sam has a breakable skull, a brain sac, a pliable chest, a simulated lung-heart area and an abdominal area. He also has simulated hair, skin, flesh and muscle structures. When bruised or cut, Sam has skin that discolors or breaks much in the same manner as that of a human.

Sophisticated Sam is a lifelike dummy, commissioned by General Motors Corporation and manufactured by the Sierra Engineering Co. of California. He's used in crash tests.

Unveiled recently at the GM Proving Ground near Milford, Sam fills a need for a device that reacts physically to impact conditions in a manner closely simulating the human body.

Sam will never lull a little girl to sleep, but he may save her life someday.

Airports Must Meet Challenge of Air Travel

There has been much talk in recent years about the need for one or more major jet airports in the Oakland County area. Some of those who have opposed such construction here and elsewhere fail to realize just how necessary airport facilities of gigantic proportions are likely to become in the near future.

It's more than just a pipe dream. It's right around the corner. The recent first flight of the giant C-5 Galaxy was no dream. It was tangible evidence of things to come.

Although designed originally to carry troops and military equipment, these transports will render obsolete all present notions of civilian air travel when they appear as airliners carrying nearly 1,000 persons a trip, at fares probably well below present levels.

Utilization of these gigantic airliners may be a decade away. More immediate is the need to expand just to handle the Airbus and other planes carrying 300 to 500 passengers, only a few years in the future.

With the great strides in aeronautic technology rapidly becoming evident, where is the parallel advance in airport technology to complete the picture? It most certainly is a challenge that too many of us seem content to turn our backs on.

Imagine, if you will, several giant airliners landing within moments of each other to deposit 5,000 or 10,000 passengers on the ground almost simultaneously. This may be only 10 years away.

Will the airports of this country and the world be able to meet the challenges and cope effectively with the problems posed by these giant airliners? It's going to take some big planning and right now is not too early to start.

2-Party Setup: Balanced Antagonisms

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Many of our fellow citizens are sorry that the two major party candidates for President will be loyal party men selected by delegates who themselves are loyal party men.

Those who are unhappy about this quite normal procedure in a two-party system call Richard Nixon and Hubert Humphrey the products of old, discredited political establishments operated by unfeeling, unimaginative hucksters.

I should like, however, to show, by a bit of history, illuminated by the philosophy of an illustrious American philosopher, that this turn of events may well save us from the anarchy so zealously sought by theorists and extremists.

It is true that never since the Civil War has our society been so torn by divisive influences and never since then have so many Americans longed for a return of stability and order. I say "since" the Civil War because in the decade and a half before Lincoln's inauguration our society was suffering from the same sort of discomforts we are feeling today.

CAUGHT IN TURMOIL
Ralph Waldo Emerson was caught in the turmoil — he saw the anarchy produced by all sorts of extremists. Society was shaken by many conflicting antagonisms.

He spoke of the conflict as "bipolarity." And the solution seemed to lie in what he called a "balance of antagonisms."

While Emerson occasionally referred to politics in his lectures and essays, it was mostly to deplore the defects in political life.

In his intellectual isolation he never seemed to comprehend that the "balance of antagonisms" he sought might in part at least be found in the operation of the two-party system.

For since the Constitution requires the election of a president nationally, we are saved from the multiparty system that has plagued so many governments, especially France.

Support of a presidential candidate and discipline in Congress requires that the parties must accommodate themselves to the inclusion of all social, economic and sectional interests.

A national party must of necessity be an amalgam of many diverse elements. And its virtue in our society is that it must seek moderation among extremes.

Its platform, so often characterized as a mass of hypocrisy, has its virtue. For it cannot be the creature of any distinct ideology.

That is why two candidates so regular in their allegiance to their respective parties are measurably the assurance of the "balanced antagonisms" of which Emerson spoke.

Both candidates must of necessity seek the middle ground. And there, we may be assured, is where most Americans want to entrust their future.

It Sure Does Strike More Than Once!

David Lawrence Says:

Wallace, McCarthy Overrated

WASHINGTON — Preconvention trends in politics are often followed by an entirely different set of influences that become dominant after the presidential nominations have actually been made.

Thus, today there is much speculation about the meaning of the large percentages achieved in polls by George Wallace and Eugene McCarthy, respectively.

The truth is that the strength shown by both these aspirants could evaporate to a considerable extent once the party platforms take specific positions on current issues.

As of now, the most articulate and free-swinging critic of the Johnson administration is former Gov. Wallace, who has delved into many issues.

Sen. McCarthy, on the other hand, owes his support for the moment largely to the people who think the Vietnam war can be ended by some magic device which the Minnesota senator might invent.

WALLACE VOTE UP

The Gallup Poll over the weekend shows the Wallace vote nationwide has gone up from 9 per cent in April to 16 per cent in Early July.

When the details of the poll are examined, however, it is found that the biggest proportion of his support is in the South and that he gets a relatively small percentage rating outside that section of the country.

Rockefeller's strategists naturally are making hay out of this. They argue that, with Wallace in the race and running so strongly in the South, Nixon will be prevented from winning electoral votes in that region.

Their theory is that a Republican nominee who could carry many states in the West and East could pick up a majority of the electoral votes without the South.

POLITICAL PROBLEMS
As for the Democrats, there is talk of a Humphrey-Kennedy ticket. This raises some political problems considered before, and it will be recalled that the religious issue emerged in 1960 and became a factor in the campaign.

paigned. Defections occurred then in both parties. Despite the emphasis being given to the showing in the polls by Wallace or McCarthy, the real battle is inside the Republican party between Nixon and Rockefeller.

Those delegates who have a deep insight into politics know that the Republican nominee must be the type of man who will deal firmly with violence, enforce impartially the civil rights laws and regulations, and adopt policies that will curtail inflation and curb excessive spending.

Also, only if the candidate seems ready to handle the Vietnam problem without anything resembling a surrender or retreat will the Republicans unite behind him.

Rocky Highly Optimistic, Eyes Nixon for VP Spot

By CHARLES DUMAS

NEW YORK (AP) — For a man waging a tough uphill fight, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller takes a highly optimistic view of his chances of winning the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller is the best private ally for the Rockefeller-Nixon ticket.

Rockefeller has started a few candidates in recent days by speculating on the possibility that Richard M. Nixon, his chief rival for the nomination, might wind up instead as his running mate.

In presuming, however, that Nixon would be willing to settle for second place, Rockefeller illustrates the attitude he brings to his quest for the presidency — the best the Republican party has to offer and that it just has to recognize this.

In the nearly 11 weeks since he entered the competition against Nixon, Rockefeller has traveled more than 50,000 miles to carry his message into 43 of 50 states.

STRATEGISTS PLEASED

The governor and his strategists say they are pleased with the way that phase of the campaign is going — the object being to arouse popular support that will be reflected in public opinion polls and influence convention delegates or the party leaders who control them.

In another, more critical part of his strategy, Rockefeller has talked personally with the delegates in nearly all of the states he visited. He tells them in these closed-door sessions that he's the man who can win big in November and carry state and local candidates to victory with him.

At the same time, he suggests — but does not say so outright — that Nixon can't win, and he reminds them of the serious losses suffered by the GOP when Barry Goldwater was crushed by President Johnson in 1964.

Rockefeller and his chief advisers, campaign manager Robert Douglas and strategist Emmet J. Hughes, maintain that Nixon has not corralled the 677 votes needed for a first-ballot nomination at Miami Beach.

"If Nixon can't make it on this first ballot, he's finished," Hughes says. "Delegates who voted for him because they thought they owed it to him for his many years of service to the party then will feel free to go to someone else."

Rockefeller's person-to-person spadework with the various delegations then will begin to pay off, Hughes predicts.

The governor sees it precisely the same way, and his source of optimism seems to be the reaction of delegates in his plain talk sessions.

Odd Twist Given Vote Results

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Newspaper Enterprises Assn.

In the April 2 Wisconsin primary, the late Robert F. Kennedy, who had entered the presidential race just two weeks before, ran up a modest 6 per cent of the Democratic vote on a write-in he did not foster.

That was the contest won by Sen. Eugene McCarthy over President Johnson, both of whose names were on the ballot, by a margin of 57 per cent to 35.

By the logic the McCarthy camp is currently using in "analyzing" primary voting figures for the benefit of convention delegates it seeks to win, that Wisconsin vote (57 plus 35) represents a 92 per cent expression of sentiment against Kennedy.

Of course, the McCarthy people know that is not so. They know that if Kennedy had been on the Wisconsin ballot and had campaigned actively there, he would have polled a very substantial vote.

No one can say with any finality (though the McCarthy backers are trying to do so) how Johnson or Vice President Humphrey would have done as active campaigners in the Indiana, Nebraska, Oregon and California primaries where McCarthyites say the combined McCarthy-Kennedy

Voice of the People:

'Cause of Our Greatness Seems to Be Forgotten'

As a nation, we seem to be turning our back on everything that once made America great. Courts and parole boards pamper criminals and persecute policemen for performing their assigned duties. The Earl Warren Supreme Court has so hampered and handcuffed police authority that violent crime is rapidly growing into actual anarchy. Through the agency of spineless politicians we now have mob rule rather than majority rule.

Various branches of government pay billions of our tax money to people not to work, when jobs are available. Industries which provide millions of the best-paying jobs in history and were built out of profits made by hard-working men, who turned these profits back into their businesses to bring about added growth and more jobs, are now labeled selfish by big government and unions.

Loud-mouthed, unwashed, long-haired hoodlums take control, by force, of tax-supported universities. Thugs, rapists, looters, arsonists and murderers operate unchecked throughout the United States. And many too bright sociologists want to confiscate all our firearms so that we will be unable to defend our homes or ourselves.

Discusses Need for Oakland-Orion Airport

We can sleep better now, knowing the great political drop-out, Governor Romney, is looking out for us in Oakland County. He has denied the taxpayers the right to vote on whether we want or can afford to spend millions on the Oakland-Orion airport. He said his veto was for the public interest. I am "the public," as are the thousands who sent signatures opposing this program. The public needs roads, drainage, schools and police protection. Industry may need another airport; if so, let industry finance it. Many of us in the County have boats but we don't expect our neighbors to build us a marina.

The only way the taxpayer can defend himself is at the polls. The reorganized board of supervisors in the fall can start to unscramble the egg of wasteful spending. Let's elect people who will put first things first.

Question and Answer

Why was a premium being paid for silver certificates and other "hard" money of different denominations, as well as a deadline for redeeming them at premium prices?

MRS. A. B. HIGHLAND

REPLY

For a while, until June 24, the Treasury was redeeming silver certificates in silver bullion. According to Mr. Isaac of the Treasury Department, the market price of silver is somewhat above the monetary value and therefore some dealers were willing to pay a premium for certificates so they could redeem them for silver at the monetary rate and sell it at market price. Mr. Isaac knows of no premiums being paid for coins other than those having numismatic value. Some people may offer premiums for old silver coins, but a Treasury regulation prohibits the public from melting them.

especially the academicians who shared his anti-Vietnam war views.

Many in his primary voting constituency, however, were not strongly dovish, though weary of the war. To many who backed him, polls indicated, his war views were not very well known.

Moreover, McCarthy himself has just told a responsible reporter he knows he got many votes which were almost strictly anti-Kennedy. Kennedy was a controversial figure who had many voters to choose the only live alternative they saw on the primary ballots.

The final oddity is that, while Kennedy lived, it was he, not McCarthy, who stressed their many common views and proposed a harmonious collaboration against Humphrey. Having steadily rebuffed that proposal until the assassination, the McCarthy people now suggest that these two really quite bitter adversaries were always allied against a visible, highly competitive administration presence.

Kennedy was getting the poor, the undereducated, the Negroes, Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans, many of the blue-collar workers, and much of the young despite McCarthy's claims to this segment.

McCarthy was drawing the more affluent, the better-educated, the white suburbanites, people in the professions, and

Czech '2,000 Words' Shook East Europe Reds

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Reform-minded Czechoslovaks fired "2,000 words" into the ideological ramparts of the Communist world and evidently provoked a serious crisis in Soviet-dominated Eastern Europe.

Meeting in Poland, Communist leaders of the Soviet Union and four other countries on Monday drew up a "common letter" to Czechoslovakia. This has the ring of ultimatum. It suggests Big Brother is watching Czechoslovakia closely and will go to lengths to slow down, if not snuff out completely, the attempt to liberalize the Communist system there.

News Analysis

The "2,000 words" from Prague was a searing indictment of Communist rule in Czechoslovakia over the past 20 years. Published in the Prague newspaper Mlada Fronta June 27, it seems to have badly shaken other ruling European Communists.

Those leaders, led by Leonid I. Brezhnev of the Soviet party, are telling Czechoslovak party chiefs they are being subverted by "imperialist" influences and, by the example being set in Czechoslovakia, they are permitting the leading role of Communist parties everywhere to be endangered. Brezhnev indicates he will not put up with this.

THE '2,000 WORDS'

What was in those "2,000 words" to worry Brezhnev so much?

The broadside was entitled "2,000 words to workers, farmers, civil servants, scientists, artists and everyone." It was written by Ludvik Vaculik, a Czechoslovak author, and signed by 70 leading scientists and intellectuals. After its publication, tens of thousands of Czechoslovaks rushed to endorse it. The statement said after the Communists took over in 1948, the direction of Czechoslovakia "got into the hands of the wrong people."

"It would not have mattered so much that they did not have sufficient statesmanlike experience, practical knowledge or philosophical education, if they had at least possessed more common sense and decency," it said.

The Communist party changed "from an ideological alliance into a power organization which became very attractive also to egotists avid for calculating rewards and unprincipled people . . ."

'ALL RESPONSIBLE'

"We are all responsible for the present state of affairs. The greater responsibility rests with the Communists among us . . ."

"It took several months," it added, "for many of us to believe that we could speak out, and many still do not believe it. Nevertheless, we have spoken up, and so many things have been revealed that somehow we must complete our aim of humanizing this regime. Otherwise the revenge of the old forces would be cruel . . ."

"Let us demand the resignation of people who have misused their power, who have harmed public property or who have acted dishonestly or brutally . . ."

Coupled with this heady stuff was a warning that "foreign forces may interfere with our internal development." That could mean only the Soviet Union, even then exerting pressure through the device of Warsaw Pact military exercises. Communist nations fearful of that the pressure on Prague and which the reformers hope to the reform regime of Alexander Dubcek, the new first secretary hard-liners. But the hard-liners, Assembly, on the advice of Brezhnev warned sternly that of the Czechoslovak party, will though they have lost the first Premier Oldrich Cernik, re- "there is not, and cannot be, get heavier and heavier as the round, still may be counting on jected the "2,000 words," but socialism without the leading time approaches for the special powerful Soviet support for a this was not enough for leaders role of the Communist party." September congress of that comeback which will destroy of the Soviet Union and other. The Warsaw meeting suggests party. That is the congress at the reform movement for good.

Historic D. C. Hotel Closes Its Doors

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Willard Hotel, where presidents and their managers shut down the establishment last midnight.
The hotel's owners, the 1401
Realty Corp., and Howell Corp., both of New York, were not available for comment, but spokesmen in Washington acknowledged that financial difficulty for the past year-and-a-half finally resulted in shutting down the operation.

GATHERING PLACE
It wasn't always that way.
Almost as soon as the Willard Brothers moved from New England to the capital city and put up a hotel, it became the focus of Washington social and political life.

But the Willard couldn't fight 20th century economics and the first of the long line of presidents to stay at Willard's.

Hotel, as it was known then, was Franklin Pierce. He moved in after his November 1852 election and stayed until his inauguration the following March 4.

Then followed James Buchanan and Abraham Lincoln.
Later came William H. Taft, Woodrow Wilson, Calvin Coolidge and Harding.

They weren't all politicians, the guests who stayed at Willard's. Walt Whitman was there. So was Mark Twain,
Victor Herbert, John Philip Sousa and Carl Sandberg.

Another guest, in 1861, was Julia Ward Howe. After watching the Union troops return after the disaster at first Bull Run singing the abolitionist tune, "John Brown's Body," she returned to the Willard to set new words to the melody.

She called it "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Another line famous in American verse also was reported to have been coined at the Willard. As the story goes, Wilson's vice president, Thomas E.
Marshall, stood in the hotel's lobby and, enraged at the price of Willard's tobacco stand, said: "What this country needs is a good 5-cent cigar."

Hughes Falls Short in ABC Stock Bid

NEW YORK (UPI)—Billionaire Howard Hughes fell short of his original offer. It can extend the offer for one more week, it can accept the 1.6 million shares already offered, or it can reject the shares offered.

If Hughes Tool purchases the 1.6 million shares, the billionaire would become the largest single stockholder in the company.

The publicity-shy industrialist received 1.6 million shares for his tender offer issued through Loeb, Rhodes & Co. to buy two million shares at $74.25 a share.

"Considering all the confusion caused by numerous court hearings, it could be considered a victory," said the source close to Hughes sides here.

James C. Hagerly, vice president of ABC, said early today that the network would make no statement on the report that Hughes fell short of his two-million-share goal.

SEVERAL ALTERNATIVES
The Hughes Tool Co. has several alternatives under terms April 21 to May 10.

The original offer provided that, if at least 2 million shares were tendered, Hughes would purchase all of them and might elect to purchase all or any shares tendered in excess of 2 million. If less than 2 million were tendered, the offer said, Hughes might, but would not be obligated to, purchase all or any part of the shares tendered.

The first trip up the Mississippi River by steamboat occurred in 1823, when the "Virginian" traveled 729 miles from New Orleans to St. Louis.

Two Men Rob Detroit Bank

DETROIT (AP)—Two armed robbers escaped with between $30,000 and $50,000 from a branch of the National Bank of Detroit Monday.

Detroit police said the men entered the bank, located at the intersection of Grand River and 14th Street, and ordered the assistant manager to put the money in a paper sack. The men then fled, firing one shot into the bank ceiling.

Police said an automatic camera at the bank recorded the entire robbery. Authorities studied the film Monday night in an effort to identify the robbers.

The 'Roses' Summer Sour: it's like a drink of winter

It's Four Roses' newest idea for a tall, fast cooling summer drink. Making one's no sweat either, when you follow this recipe.

Pour into a shaker or blender 1 jigger of Four Roses (1 1/2 oz.) and 1 jigger of water—add 1 packet of instant whiskey sour mix—and ice. Shake or blend, then pour entire contents into a tall glass. Top with club soda. Stir. Garnish with cherry and orange slice. (Juice of 1 lemon and 1 tsp. powdered sugar may be substituted for instant whiskey sour mix.)

Keep this in mind: Four Roses is created to taste light. And to keep its flavor down to the last cooling swallow. That's what makes the 'Roses' Summer Sour a very special kind of summer cooler.

Drive, Avon Township (right) admire one of the dozens of rose trees decorating Hudson's new store. Dr. Collins is head of the Meadow Brook School of Music at Oakland University.

Festival Benefit, Glamorous Affair

By JANET ODELL
Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press

Start with a great store. Add some 500 attractively dressed individuals. Season it with a jazz quartet, a stringed trio, Duke Ellington and probably the two best known members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

What do you have? "A Night to Remember."

Joseph L. Hudson Jr. proposed to James Hicks, manager of the Meadow Brook Music Festival that Hudson's should be the scene of a benefit party in the new Oakland Mall store, prior to its opening Monday.

There would be no expense to the Festival and all proceeds from the black tie affair would be given to the Festival.

Where else but in a store would the receiving line wander through the cosmetic department?

From there, trees of yellow and orange roses and a dozen or more of Detroit's high fashion models pointed the way to the West Court of the Mall where the cocktail hour converged around the fountains.

BUFFET DINNER

A parade up the escalator, through the lingerie department and women's moderately priced dresses ended at three buffet tables set up in the aisles.

Plates were carried through infants' and children's departments and out to a balcony overlooking the court. The overflow sat at tables in children's shoes.

Jazz enthusiasts had their day first as Duke Ellington and His All Stars played in their inimitable manner.

Then Mischa Mischakoff and Sixten Ehrling took the stage and violin and piano notes of these two master musicians enchanted the audience.

Ellington concluded the evening.

In between, Virgil Boyd, chairman of this year's Meadow Brook Music Festival, D. B. Varner, Chancellor of Oakland University, and Joseph L. Hudson Jr., made appropriate remarks.

Mother of Ten Remains Prisoner to a Very Sick, Jealous Husband

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I feel like a prisoner. I've been married for 11 years, have 10 children, and I'm not yet 30. I thought I was in love when I got married, but all that is changed now because my husband has changed. He made sure I had a baby every year so I wouldn't "run-around."

ABBY

He is so jealous I can't take it anymore. I have consulted professionals about this, and they all tell me I should leave him, but he has threatened to kill me if I do. I have already informed the police about this, but what good will that do if he makes good his threat? Then our children will have no one.

I'm so nervous I can hardly write this. I could take my children to my Daddy's farm, but I'm afraid my husband would follow us.

If I knew someone who would take 10 children, I would end my misery tomorrow with a bullet. Sign me,

"A 28-YEAR-OLD-PRISONER"

DEAR "PRISONER": Your husband sounds like a very sick man. If he refuses to get professional help, add my name to those who advise you to leave him. You are doing yourself and your children a grave injustice by living with a man who is cruel, unpredictable, and possibly a mental case. If you remain, you are a willing "prisoner."

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating this young man for two months quite steadily, and he hasn't even asked to kiss me good night yet.

I wait patiently by the door after thanking him for the lovely evening, and he doesn't do anything about it. Don't tell me to grab him by the lapels as he wears nothing but turtle necks.

DEAR NO: He has all the earmarks of a real turtle. So grab him by his turtle neck!

NO KISSES

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I read "Concerned's" letter and had to write. "Concerned" had a fit because her brother's widow took up motorcycle riding at the age of 61. I say more power to the widow. It's a lot better than sitting in a bar some place.

I am a woman who is 60 and I've been riding a motorcycle for years.

It keeps me in good health to go sailing through the air out of doors. I'll bet "concerned" is just jealous because she hasn't got the get up and go. Or perhaps her get up and go has got up and went.

Sign my name if you wish.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A LASS FROM DUBLIN": There is one type of man I have never known to be strong, reliable and trustworthy, and he is the man who would ask for a loan of money from the woman he loves. Tell him "NO," then let me know how your "love" fares after that.

Purchase Gifts for Weddings and Send Them

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's nephew, whom we have seen only a few times, will be wed next month in a distant city. Since we will not attend the wedding or reception, I feel a check or gift for $10 or $15 would be sufficient. My husband insists on sending $25 because we gave that amount to my nephew. Another relative from the Midwest will be wed in September which will mean another $25.

We are far from rich and my husband was recently out of work for three weeks, so I feel I am correct and would welcome your opinion.

Dear Mrs. Johnson: The fact that you are not attending the wedding makes no difference, but a $10 gift, because of the effort put into choosing it, is often more appreciated than a $25 check.

Your local gift store or department store will be delighted to make suggestions for gifts in whatever price range you choose, and I would suggest that you send a present to both your husband's nephew and the other relative you mentioned.

HOMECOMING GIFT

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiancé will be returning from Vietnam in September. Is it proper to give him a gift upon arrival at the airport? It is customary to give a soldier a medal as a going away gift. Is there a comparable gift that can be given to him upon his return?

Dear Marilyn: A homecoming gift would show your happiness at his safe return, although his greatest pleasure will, of course, be in being with you again. If you decide to give him a present, something which will be related to your future life together would be most appreciated.

If you plan to be married soon, a gold key which can be made to fit the door of your future home would be appropriate. An article of jewelry, such as a gold tie-clip with your initials and his engraved on the back is always a good choice.

This hippo statue in Oakland Mall will intrigue every child who visits the shopping center. Oliver G. White of Sunnyside Court boosted his wife to a seat on the beast for The Press photographer.

OCC Theatre Continues With One-Act Plays in Area High School

The Oakland Community College-Court Theatre will continue its Summer Theatre series with productions of two one-act plays, "The Private Ear-The Public Eye," on Friday and Saturday and "In White America" on Sunday.

Curtain time will be 6:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 7:30 p.m. on Sunday. The productions will be staged in the Ferndale High School auditorium.

"The Private Ear - The Public Eye," written by the noted British playwright Peter Shaffer, author of the award-winning Broadway production "The Royal Hunt of the Sun," are accounts of a poignant, ill-starred romance and a rollicking comedy of an accountant who hires a private detective when he suspects his wife of infidelity, respectively.

"In White America" is a documentary recounting what it has been like to be a Negro in this country and received wide critical acclaim when it appeared off-Broadway in 1964.

Someone neglected to light the candles on the buffet table. Anyway, it made a good action shot for Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Trumbull of Covington Road. They were among some 500 area residents who attended the black tie benefit for Meadow Brook Music Festival.

A jetting fountain played its own quiet music and benefit party for the Meadow Brook Music Festival. It was a colorful crowd with women in summer evening frocks and the men in a variety of summer tuxedos.

Clean Brushes for Healthy Gums

If you would keep your family's teeth and gums healthy, their toothbrushes must be kept in a sanitary condition.

Frequently dip each toothbrush into boiling water to disinfect it, and as an added precaution every two or three weeks pour hydrogen peroxide over the bristles, and then rinse well with hot water.

When toothbrushes are kept thoroughly sterilized in this way, there will be far less sore mouth and gums.

This Teen-Ager's Thoughts Make Sense

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I am the 15-year-old girl who wrote you that angry letter about the column in which you said you couldn't identify the sex of the teen-ager who wore long hair, jeans and the "poor boy" sweater.

When you replied to my letter by asking me why we teen-agers dress and act as we do, I couldn't answer you right away. I had to think about our reasons before I could answer you and try to explain them to you.

We dress and act the way we do because you grownups don't respect us as people. For some reason, you regard us as puppets without brains. Or maybe you're just afraid of our new ideas.

We wear miniskirts because they are more comfortable than long ones. As to boys' long hair, that is comfortable, too.

I think teen-age hippies wear "weird" clothes because they don't want to live in the rut their parents live in when there's so much that is new in the world to explore and search for. Sure, many of them take drugs. But I am convinced that they only take them to try and see truth more clearly than you grownups can afford to. However, many hippies are fakes, too.

But many parents are fakes, too.

When we teen-agers use our said, "Seek—and ye shall find" God, the peace, love and eyes to see the condition this world is in, we just cannot be. We teen-agers are seekers. Brotherhood you people just believe you when you preach to thinking of us as brainless puppets about "love" or "peace"—pets, the fact that we are seek— If you still don't understand or even about God. So we have of truth you have lied about us, I'm sorry. You're just too to find something to believe in, to us might get into your stupid for me to waste my time don't we?

You, who often quotes Jesus, Mrs. Lawrence, we teen-agers. ANSWER: O.K. my lamb. ought to remember that he is seeking God—and through Thank you very much indeed.

BURSEY-McCALLUM

A reception at the American Legion Hall, followed once by Cheryl Gay McCallum and James Allen Bursey in United Presbyterian Church, Auburn Heights. For the Saturday evening ceremony, the bride wore a traditionally fashioned gown of Rochelle lace over tulle with a long train. A petal headpiece capped her bouffant veil and she carried chrysanthemums with orchids. Sandra Slaght and David Cole led a bridal party of 10. Parents of the bride are Mrs. Eugene Campbell of Orford Road, Orford Township and Robert McCallum of Third Avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. George Bedell of Onaway and the late James A. Bursey.

Rosellis Wed on Saturday

Honeymooning in Montreal are newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Roselli (nee Patricia Ann Smith) who repeated Saturday vows in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church.

A skimmer of organza with Venetian lace was chosen by the bride who completed her ensemble with a matching lace headpiece securing a court veil of imported silk illusion.

Her flowers were a bouquet of white roses, Stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Michael Gilbert acted as matron of honor for the daughter of the Garnet Smiths of Crocus Road.

Bridesmaids were Patricia Platz, Cathy Kelly, Carlotta and Paula Roselli and flower girl, Theresa Smith.

On the esquire side was best man, Russell Rizzuto with ushers, Phillip Bieri, Robert and Ronald Smith and Paul Roselli.

An evening reception in Metropolitan Club of Pontiac feled the couple. The bridegroom is the son of the Sam Rosellis of Tex Avenue.

Collector Gets Ancient Nails

SHAVERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Iron nails almost 2,000 years old are among the more unusual items in the collection of Don Edwards, whose store of antiquities also includes a Mayan burial mug about 3,000 years old.

The nails, used in the construction of the Roman fortress at Inchuthill, and found recently in Scotland were given to him by a friend, Dr. Ian Richmond, an archaeologist and professor of Roman history at Oxford University, England, whom Edwards met in the South Pacific during World War II.

SOME TRUTHS ABOUT 'SUN TAN PRODUCTS

Medical specialists agree too much sun is not good for the skin. Some people are so affected that serious bodily harm can result. True blonds and redheads often are so sensitive to the sun that it is a constant problem.

There are two types of sun protectives. One has a screening ingredient which filters out some of the harmful ultra-violet rays. The other does not. If you are the sensitive to the sun type you should only use the screening ingredient type. Do not expose yourself too long until you have acquired a tan. We will show you both types and will be glad to help you make a choice.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick it up if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service.

Pentagon Defends Its 'Oddball' Studies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The situation in developing nations weirdly named high priced studies ridiculed by Fulbright: Congress shouldn't ridicule his research studies on the basis of strange-sounding titles.

Reacting to criticism by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., Dr. John S. Foster Jr. says it is "dangerously misleading" to single out odd-named studies and conclude that all defense research is suspect.

Fulbright recently poked fun in particular at a Pentagon-paid study called "Witchcraft, Sorcery, Magic and Other Psycho-logical Phenomena in the Congo and Implications for Military and Paramilitary Operations."

That one, Foster said in a statement prepared for the Senate defense appropriations subcommittee, took one week, cost $522 and amounted to 11 pages gleaned from existing information reports have inadequate title descriptions, and that critics "because senior military officers have reported many incidents of dealing with military" Foster defended two other

One he submitted as an example: "Surface Waves on Symmetrical Three-Layer Sandwich in Particular at a Pentagon-paid."

Far from having anything to do with snacks, this report described a basic phenomenon in solid state circuitry required for advanced computers.

Foster said a check by his staff showed that 40 to 50 per cent of the Pentagon's research reports have inadequate title descriptions, and that critics "because senior military officers have reported many incidents of dealing with military" Foster defended two other particularly relevant to deep water work and in improving sea rescue operations of the Navy and Air Force.

The two services wanted to know how the Korean women are able to adapt to the chilly waters, and put up $25,000 for the study, he said.

Hail Damage to State Crops Called Severe

LANSING (AP) — Localized hailstorms caused severe damage to many crops during the past week, according to the State Crop Reporting Service.

Despite the hail and thunderstorms, nearly five days of the week were suitable for field work. The warmer weather late in the week dried fields. Soil moisture supplies were adequate.

Haying was a major farm activity during the week. The first cutting of hay was nearly three fourths complete. Cutting was more advanced in the southern Lower Peninsula where the second hay harvest was nearly 10 per cent complete.

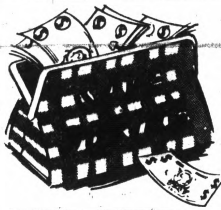

Progress was reported in the harvest of early varieties of winter wheat. About five per cent of the crop was harvested. The winter barley harvest was about one-fifth harvested.

CORN CULTIVATED

Many farmers were busy cultivating and spraying corn for weeds. Some early planted corn had started to tassle. Hoeing sugar beets continued. Farmers also were cultivating and fertilizing dry beans and soybeans. Some dry bean fields were being replanted.

The tart and sweet cherry harvests were under way in the fruit belt. Harvest of early apples had started in the southwest. Blueberries also were being harvested.

Vegetables being harvested included tomatoes, cucumbers, celery, lettuce, green beans and snap beans. The planting of cabbage and cauliflower was underway.

Consumers Power

The key to a child's life is in your hands.

The second you save by carefully walking away from your unlocked car may cost a child his life. A stolen car has a 200 times greater chance of accident than other cars. Innocent people are killed or crippled. Last year, more than 100,000 stolen cars were involved in accidents. Many fatal to one or more people. Teen-age joyriders — who steal most of the cars — are often scared, always dangerous. They watch for cops, not children crossing the street. You can help.

Don't help a boy go bad. When you park, take your keys.

Chrysler Lets Figures Tell Gains

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler will release its next quarterly report in early August.

Ordinarily, when auto firms release glowing sales or financial reports, the public relations men grind out some quotes in which the firm's top men tell of the new records.

But the 49-year-old Townsend, who rose from an accountant's desk to become Chrysler's board chairman last year, did not follow that idea.

Chrysler's financial statement showed the firm's auto sales zoomed to 800,317 cars in the first half of 1968. That was 18.4 per cent of industry sales—the biggest percentage bite Chrysler had bitten off since the first half of 1957 when it got 20.1 per cent of a smaller market.

WORLDWIDE SPIRAL
On a worldwide basis, Chrysler's car, truck and tractor sales zoomed past the 1.3 million mark, some 26 per cent ahead of the showing the firm made in the first half of 1967.

Chrysler's sales of $3.7 billion were 29 per cent higher than a year earlier and net earnings for the six months totaled $148.8 million or $3.20 a share. A year earlier, the comparable figures showed $2.9 billion sales and $66.6 million or $1.45 a share in earnings.

The firm's ratio of profits to sales rose to 5.1 per cent and division headed "all other" bore out predictions of Chrysler president Virgil Boyd that the company's ratio of profits to sales would improve eventually in demand for Chrysler products. Even the catch-all division headed "all other" bore out predictions of Chrysler president Virgil Boyd that the company's ratio of profits to sales would improve eventually in demand for Chrysler products.

SPAGHETTI SAUCE

You can see why the popularity gap is growing.

We could tick off a lot of reasons why more people keep getting into Chevrolet than any other car. Some samples: You get styling that's a clean step ahead of any other car in Chevrolet's field. The greatest choice of engine-transmission teams, with V8's available up to 385 hp. A remarkably serene ride. And outstanding spaciousness (for instance, Automotive News rates Chevrolet's four-door sedan roomier than any other sedan in the U.S. except the leading luxury make). But the nub of it all is this: Chevrolet just shows more partiality to people than other cars do. And people return the favor. Like we say, putting you first keeps us first. And especially now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

You get the biggest year-end savings just where you'd expect to.

Junior Editors Quiz on MOTHERS

QUESTION: Why are mothers the best things in the world?

ANSWER: Our correspondent, Catherine Guerin, sent her own answer along with this question. It tells the story so well and is such a heart warming tribute that we quote it here.

"On a cold winter day," writes Catherine, "while I was rocking on the rocking chair by the fireplace, my sister Joanne said, 'Why do you think a mother is the best thing in the world?' I said: 'She buys and makes clothes for us, and she cooks treats like cakes and cookies.'

"She also buys things from the store like potato chips, popcorn, peanuts, etc. she helps us with our homework and tells us to study for exams and does most of the work herself so we can play outdoors all day Saturday.

"Sometimes she takes us out to the movies. She even lets us go camping over the weekend with the family.

"If you will think of things, you will know why our mother is the best thing in the world."

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Carpenters Spurn New 2-Year Pact

SAGINAW (UPI)—Striking members of the Saginaw Valley Carpenters District rejected a two-year contract Monday, one that would have given the 1,800 members a $1.52 raise over the 24-month period.

The vote was 464 to 353 against ratification. The strike, which involved carpenters from Saginaw, Midland, Bay City and Flint, was in its 11th week today.

These 3 Driven Buggy by Job

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Down a long labyrinth of dark passageways walk three men barefooted. Their only lights are Japanese lanterns. A faint buzzing grows louder as the men proceed through locked vaults with steel doors 18 inches thick.

Then, the last door shuts. They are inside with the bugs. Thousands and thousands of bugs.

This is the insectary of the University of California at Riverside. Students call it the biggest bughouse on earth.

DECONTAMINATION

The three barefooted scientists are the only men allowed into the section known as the quarantine laboratory. Here they inspect species of insects sent in sealed containers from all parts of the world. After working in the room, the men shed their clothes and shower in a decontamination room to guard against diseases some insects may carry.

The insect laboratory has existed 60 years, and its research has aided in controlling pests which attack crops.

Secret Radio Calls for Purge of Mao Elements

HONG KONG (AP) — A mysterious Chinese radio station calling itself "Voice of the Peoples Liberation Army" has called upon PLA commanders and troops throughout Red China to prepare for a "true Communist" revolt against party chairman Mao Tse-tung, Defense Minister Lin Piao, and Mao's wife, Chiang Ching.

Violently denouncing the three for "usurping Communist power by the masses, and cheating the PLA," the almost nightly broadcasts accuse Mao of initiating and Lin and Chiang of helping carry out the "anarchism that has paralyzed and is destroying our country."

Lin is Mao's heir-apparent. Attempts to pinpoint the location of the station's transmitter have not been successful—at least so far as is known here.

It would appear from some direction-finding equipment to be somewhere north of Kwangtung Province, perhaps in the region of Changsha, capital of Hunan Province, or in Hupai's Wuhan area—the latter a hot-bed of anti-Mao activities for more than a year.

SIGNALS BENDING
Sophisticated equipment exists which can "bend" radio waves and there are some here who believe the transmitter may be located on Formosa.

Professional China analysts here tend to believe that the station is transmitting from mainland China.

They say areas of China are in such chaos because of Mao's cultural revolution purge that it would be possible to operate a clandestine transmitter in China.

They also point to the tirade of invective against Mao's wife, known to be hated by many long-time army veterans who fought the pre-1949 revolution that conquered China for the Communists and drove the Chiang Kai-shek government into exile on Formosa.

MAINTAIN BASE
This, coupled with their feeling that Nationalist Chinese propagandists have, in one expert's words, "never shown themselves this effective," is inclining them to the belief that it is a clandestine operation broadcasting from the mainland.

Broadcasts over the past week have charged that "the Mao-Lin minority's seizure of power in the (Communist) party is the dirtiest event and the most shameful exploit in our country's history."

They have also accused Mao, Lin, and Mao's wife of being "counterrevolutionary traitors to the (pre-1949) Socialist revolution that freed our nation" and of "trying to establish a Mao dynasty."

Through all broadcasts runs the theme that Mao and Lin seek to undermine the power and the prestige of the PLA and that Mao's wife is in the forefront of that campaign.

DEADLY ENEMIES
"All the evidence of what has happened in the past two years (the period of Mao's cultural revolution)," one broadcast this week declared, "has sufficiently proved that the Mao-Lin-Chiang minority are deadly enemies of our people and our nation."

GOP Delegates Set, Dems Shy 162 Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republicans finished manning their 1968 convention during the past week and the Democrats left themselves only 162 more votes to allot for their own presidential nominating session.

The biggest change in the standing of candidates, in terms of first-ballot votes committed on the record one way or another, was a pick-up of 33 1/2 votes for Democratic Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to 711. His opponent, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, made a gain of 1 1/2 to 415 1/2.

The count covers those bound by primary results, pledged at the time of election, or stating a stand in a poll by The Associated Press.

On those terms the Democratic situation remained extremely fluid, with 1,312 required to nominate in the convention scheduled to open in Chicago Aug. 26, and a bit more than that number either declining to commit themselves in public or backing favorite sons.

The Republicans completed their roster by means of Utah's state convention in which former Vice President Richard M. Nixon picked up 2 for a total of 507. New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller stood still at 192. The GOP, meeting in Miami Beach Aug. 5, had a total of 585 backing favorite sons or professing uncommitted status.

With a total of 1,332 delegates, the GOP nomination winner needs 667 votes.

Judge Curbs Remarriage of Divorced Men

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Dane County Judge William D. Byrne said Monday he's going to make it a little tougher for divorced men to get remarried.

Byrne said he will not give permission to remarry to any divorced man who has not been current for at least six months in his support payments.

The judge said he felt permitting a man to remarry who could not support the children of his first marriage not only burdened them and his divorced wife, but also the man, wife and children of any second marriage.

He laid down his new policy in the case of a man whose divorced wife is receiving Aid to Dependent Children. The man is also $395 behind in his support payments.

TAX SUBSIDY?
"In effect the taxpayers are at least in part supporting your wife and children, or subsidizing you," said Byrne.

"It seems apparent that you are financially unable . . . to support the children of your first wife . . . I can't understand how you can possibly be financially secure enough to undertake a new marriage with the possible addition of more children," he said.

"I think by granting you permission to remarry at this time I would only be compounding the problem so I must refuse to grant that permission," he said.

Wisconsin's family code prohibits remarriage of a divorced person with children he has been ordered to support without consent of the court.

One of the more interesting modern gadgets is the responsive double. The responsive double is a sort of response to an overall or take-out double made earlier by your partner and merely says, "I have some cards. Bid or pass as you think best."

We refuse to take a stand for or against this gadget. You can get on well without it but there are hands in which it fills a gap.

West's takeout double of one heart was not a good one. In fact it was a mighty poor bid but West felt like bidding.

North's jump to four hearts put a lot of pressure on East. He did hold two kings and two queens plus a couple of 10s. He might well have tried four spades but he was playing responsive doubles all the way to game.

Most responsive double addicts stop "responsiveing" and go to business doubles at slightly below the game level. Anyway, East chose the responsive double.

West also might have tried four spades but West knew he would not make that contract. Actually he would go down three tricks. So West passed and hoped there would be some way to set four hearts.

Four hearts is not a good contract. South has three losers in top tricks and must avoid losing a trump trick. With the king and a small heart, resting nicely in the East hand it looks as if he will avoid that loss but East and West proceeded to find a way to make a trump trick.

West had no decent lead and chose the ace of diamonds. He also had no decent second play and so continued the suit. East was in with the king and returned a spade.

The defense had three tricks in and West let another diamond. South overruled but there was no way to keep West from taking the setting trick with his jack of trumps.

♥CARD Sense♦

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♦	Pass	2♥
Pass	3NT	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠ A 10 K Q 10 8 8 ♦ K J 6 5 ♣ K 8

What do you do now?

A—Bid four diamonds. Your partner has indicated a good opening bid and you want to be in a slam but diamonds may play better than no-trump or hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid four diamonds and your partner bids four no-trump. What do you do now?

Class Tests Waterford Computer Project

A computer in Palo Alto, Calif., instructs 15 Waterford Township sixth graders in mathematics drill and practice routines in a unique summer program at Riverside Elementary School.

The summer class is a preview to the larger program under development by Waterford Township School District's Indicom project.

Beginning this fall all Riverside students in grades 2 through 6 will receive daily math instruction from the Palo Alto computer via a direct telephone line.

The youngsters receive instruction at modified teletype terminals which type out math drills prescribed for each student according to his own achievement level.

CUMULATIVE RECORD
The computer corrects the student's answers as he types them and keeps a cumulative record of his progress for his classroom teacher.

This record also determines the level of his next lessons and his review program.

The math program is only one phase of the three-year project which is under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. Eventually secondary students will receive computer-assisted instruction in language arts, mathematics and vocational education. Instruction also is being developed in science, art, music, French, social studies and classroom management.

ACCORDING TO NEEDS
The instructional materials are designed to provide individualized instruction for each participating student according to his particular needs in that subject area.

According to Indicom director Dr. John Pagen, "The major objective of the project is to use the latest in technology with the best thinking in education to permit each child to learn at his own rate and to his full potential."

A unique aspect of the project is the involvement of more than 40 classroom teachers who work after school and during vacations to develop the course materials in 11 subjects. Teachers working with the project are learning to evaluate and adapt available commercial materials as well as to develop original materials.

The teachers will not be re-teaching tasks.

An on-site RCA Instructional terminal at Riverside will be disconnected from the Palo Alto computer and hooked to the local computer.

When this occurs the instructional terminals at Riverside will be disconnected from the Palo Alto computer and hooked to the local computer.

Cleveland Reliever Strengthens Bid

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — If the Cleveland Indians can overtake the Detroit Tigers and win the American League pennant, Manager Al Dark will be the first to give a lion's share of the credit to pitcher Sam Williams.

Williams, a well-traveled journeyman who came up to the majors with the Dodgers a decade ago, has become the workhorse in the Tribe's bid to catch the Tigers. And if he has anything to say about it, he'll keep pitching virtually every day to try to win a pennant.

Williams, who will be 32 in September, snuffed out a Minnesota rally in the last of the ninth Monday to preserve a 4-2 victory for the Indians and starter Sonny Siebert over the Twins.

With the bases loaded, he got Cesar Tovar to line out to center to end the game.

"It makes you feel good to have a guy like Williams to come out of the bullpen and do the job," Dark said. "He likes to work, and it helps me to know I've got a man down there who can stop them. We've been using him mainly as a short reliever, and he's been doing the job."

Four State Pros to Compete in 50th Annual PGA

Four Michigan golfers will be on hand when play opens Thursday in the 50th PGA Championship at the Pecan Valley Country Club in San Antonio, Tex.

Heading the Michigan foursome is Pontiac's Tom Deaton, assistant to Walter Burkemo of Detroit Golf Club.

Deaton, a graduate of Pontiac Central, earned a spot in the 150-man field by winning the 1967 Michigan Section PGA crown.

The other Michigan entries are Jim Picard of Tam O'Shanter, Glenn Stuart of Grand Rapids and Bob Clark of Monroe.

Defending champion in the event is Don January, who won the title by defeating Don Massengale in an 18-hole playoff.

EARLY ARRIVALS

Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer and Sam Snead were among the early arrivals Monday to test their skill on the Pecan Valley Country Club course.

Bengals Losing Streak Reaches Three in Row

ANAHEIM — The California Angels are breathing the rarefied atmosphere of the first division for the first time since May 4. And, as in 1967, they're playing Detroit's American League title plans.

California moved into a fifth-place tie with Oakland Monday night as they scored their second straight victory over the league-leading Tigers, 4-0.

Jim Fregosi and Leo Rodriguez each hit a two-run homer in support of George Brunet's five-hit pitching to send the Tigers reeling to their third straight loss. The Tigers have lost four of their five starts since the mid-season all-star break.

Nine days ago, the Tigers led the league by 9½ games, and were dreaming of runaway. Now their margin over second-place Baltimore has been reduced to 6½ games and they're only five ahead of the Orioles in the all-important "games lost" column.

"It looks like we might have a pennant race, after all," said Angel Manager Bill Rigney after Monday's victory. "The Tigers still have 13 games to play against Baltimore — and that could decide it all."

ENDS SLUMP

Brunet, 9-9, had lost six straight decisions to Detroit. This time he limited them to five singles, three by Al Kaline, and permitted only one runner to advance as far as third base.

The Angels managed only three hits off loser Mickey Lolich, 7-5. But Vic Davallio was aboard with a double when Fregosi won the game with a third-inning homer, his ninth of the season.

A two-out error by first baseman Kaline set up the two-run homer by Rodriguez in the fourth inning. It was the 29-year-old third baseman's first of the season.

"Maybe the Tigers are starting to look over their shoulder," said Rigney.

OUT OF RACE

It was these same Angels who knocked the Tigers out of the American League title last year by splitting four games on the final two days of the season in Detroit.

The Angels came from last place to finish within seven games of pennant-winning Boston.

The Tigers are in Oakland tonight to face the surging Athletics. Denny McLain, 17-2, will be on the mound for Detroit, opposing Oakland's Chuck Dobson, 7-8.

Move by Orioles' New Mentor Puts Emphasis on Bat

BALTIMORE — Earl Weaver, with a 5-0 record, is hard to fault as a major league manager — especially his decision to get the hot bat of Don Buford into the Baltimore Orioles' line-up.

Weaver's first announcement after he replaced the departed Hank Bauer as manager last Thursday was that Buford would start in the outfield.

"It's an offensive move," Weaver said before Thursday's game. "We may have to give up something on defense, but I want his bat in there."

"Now, he'll probably strike out four times and make a great catch in the outfield," Weaver added as an afterthought.

So far, Weaver has been a better manipulator than a prognosticator.

BATTING STREAK

Buford has hit safely in every game since, including homers in the first two contests, and has played flawlessly in the field.

Buford has hit safely in his last six games and batted .312 in his last 13, raising his average to .248, not bad for a new Oriole who expected to be a utility player this season — backing up second baseman Dave Johnson, and possibly substituting a bit in the outfield.

Bauer started Buford in the outfield twice, but Weaver made the shift immediately, benching the slumping Pat Blair.

SAME NUMBER, NEW TEAM — Bill Munson, newly obtained quarterback of the Detroit Lions, and defensive tackle Alex Karras laugh it up as the Lions were issued equipment yesterday and enter camp today at Cranbrook. Munson will wear the same number he had while with the LA Rams, No. 19. Karras meanwhile added another number to his age in celebrating his 30th birthday yesterday.

Firebirds Unveil 'Four-F' Front 4

The Detroit Lions may have had the Fearsome Foursome defensive unit, but the Pontiac Firebirds now have the "Four F's" — meaning the Firebirds' Fearless Front Four.

The huge Pontiac defensive line which will open the exhibition season Saturday night against the Flint Wildcats at Wm. Stadium has a total weight of 1,111 pounds, led in size by 6-foot-9 and 301 pound Jerry Thiel at defensive tackle.

Next to him is 300 pound Ronnie Clark who stands 6-5, and at the defensive ends the Firebirds will start Dan LaRose at 6-5 and 265 and 6-foot-7 Willie Washington at 250 pounds.

None of the four is a native of Michigan. Thiel played his football in California; Clark is from Georgia. LaRose from Missouri and Washington from Mississippi.

But, all are employed in the Pontiac area.

GOOD BENCH

The Firebirds have depth on defense despite the loss of two defensive backs with injuries.

Jon Izer, a product of the Mansfield, Ohio, football hotbed, anchors the middle linebacker spot, with rugged Ed McQueen in the corner spot.

Steve Szabo, three time all MFL linebacker is expected to hold the other corner linebacker spot. However, he has been away since the end of the school year, during which time he teaches at Pontiac Central.

His spot may be filled by Ron Edwards a 220 pounder from Lansing who played at Ferris State.

Jesse Parrish, the runback star for the Arrows while in Pontiac two years ago, is now with the Firebirds, with Mike Pryor, Bob Lulek and John Lane completing the defensive perimeter.

Chris Payne, a regular defensive back was injured in Sunday's scrimmage and Area Golfer Qualifies for Junior Amateur Tourney at Brookline

James Fritch of Bloomfield Hills was among eight Michigan youths who qualified yesterday for the U.S. Golf Association Junior Amateur tournament to be held Aug. 1-2 at Brookline, Mass.

Monday's qualifying round at the Country Club of Detroit was led by Reese Lopucki of Ypsilanti who shot an even-par 72.

Jeff Reaume of Ypsilanti was second with 74 and John Ricci of Detroit third with 75.

Other qualifiers included William Zylstra of Grand Rapids with 76, Chuck Smith of Grand Rapids, 76; Fritch with 77, Robert Dykema of Grand Rapids, 77; Ron Perrino, Mason, 77, and John Vaden-Meiden of Grand Haven with 77.

To be eligible for the tournament, the players' 18th birthday must be after Aug. 3, 1968.

Chuck Stein had a re-occurrence of his knee injury.

MOVED TO FLANKER

Another ex-defensive back George Tanner of Romeo is being used on offense as a flanker and did a creditable job on Sunday's scrimmage.

The Firebirds' new quarterback Bob Pomery, former PCH griddler, will get his first start when Flint Saturday night.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. and part of the proceeds will go to the city class A baseball league to send the city champion to the state tournament in Battle Creek next month.

A week from Saturday, the Firebirds will meet the new Hamtramck Chargers in the Criterion Hospital benefit game at Rochester High School field.

Tickets for both exhibitions are on sale at Griff's, Osman's, VFW Post No. 1370 and Shelton's in Rochester.

Hilaria Named Race Winner

MACKINAC ISLAND — Class A yawl Hilaria, owned and sailed by Hugh Schaddelle of the Detroit Yacht Club, Monday was declared the over-all winner of the 44th, annual Port Huron to Mackinac yacht race.

The big white yawl won with a corrected time of 29 hours, 40 minutes, 29 seconds. Hilaria's elapsed time for the 205 nautical mile course was 32:38:53.

Winners, both over-all and in classes, are determined by corrected times, which are computed using a complex handicap formula.

The over-all finish also gave Norsaga top honors in Class A made up of the largest boats in the race. The NY32 sloop Sapphire, owned by Harry Neesley of the Detroit Yacht Club was second in Class A with a corrected time of 20:59:39.

City Mixed 2-Ball May Draw Record

A record number of teams, surpassing the 28 of last year, is expected to participate in the annual Pontiac Mixed 2-Ball tournament Saturday at Municipal Course.

Starting times will be determined by entries registered by Thursday night. Post entries will be accepted up to noon Saturday when the tournament is scheduled to start.

Defending champions are Feather Frechette and Ron Rothbarth. Miss Frechette was also winner in 1966 with Fran Bertram.

Registrations can be made by calling the course at 335-1702.

State Wrestlers Gain Honors

Three Michigan prep wrestlers, two from Oakland County, were among 50 high school wrestlers honored on the All-America teams.

Among the 25 first team members was Carl Myles of Kalamazoo Central, the state champion in the 180 pound class.

Ray Buffmeyer of Walled Lake in the 103 pound class and Bill Green of Pontiac Northern in the 112 pound class were among 25 receiving honorable mention.

Green and teammate John Wilson at PNH were both of fered scholarship tenders at Indiana University.

Old Folks Wilhelm Nears 45

Batters Knuckle Under

CHICAGO (AP) — Hoyt Wilhelm has been throwing a knuckle ball ever since high school days and no other pitcher can make that claim, or probably wants to.

The pitch usually is used in later years of a pitcher's career when his fast ball is gone and his arm is so full of bone chips a curve is agony.

But Old Folks Wilhelm has made it the main weapon of his arsenal since his kid days in Huntersville, N.C.

It has baffled major league batters going on 18 years now and has led the Chicago White Sox' elder statesman to the brim of one of baseball's oldest records.

NEAR RECORD
Possibly before Wilhelm celebrates his 45th birthday July 26 he will have broken the record of 906 game appearances set by Cy Young in 22 years.

That mark has stood since 1911 and was believed to be invincible. When Wilhelm, Mr. Flutterball, breaks it, this generation may never see it re-born.

Wilhelm made his 901st appearance Monday against the Washington Senators. He came in with two outs in the eighth inning and the Sox leading 3-2. He preserved the victory by getting the next four men in order, three on strikeouts.

"No one taught me the knuckle," he smiled. "I started experimenting with it in high school. I found I could control it. I thought it was a good pitch and just stuck with it."

"Pittsburgh's Elroy Face has pitched in some 800 games, but I can't see any pitcher overtaking me. I don't know how long I can go on, but I feel like I could pitch until I'm 60. I would really like to make it 1,000."

DON'T HURT
"I've been able to go this long only because of the knuckle. It doesn't hurt your elbow or shoulder. The kids nowadays pop too many elbows with their windmills and curves and their sliders. They can't last."

—Until Wilhelm breaks Young's record, his greatest thrill will be hurling a 1-0, no-hit victory over the New York Yankees on Sept. 20, 1958 in a duel with Don "Perfect Game" Larsen. He was with the Baltimore Orioles then and had been named a starter for the game although winning only twice that season.

Wilhelm always was an infrequent starter and can't remember when he last did it. The great relief artist, however, had been promised by Eddie Stanky that he would start on his record-breaking 907th game. Stanky now has left as White Sox manager with Al Lopez returning to the job.

"No, I don't think we'll follow through with any idea on Wilhelm starting that 907th game," said Lopez.

Wilhelm, the only player currently in the majors who fought in World War II, isn't going to make an issue of it.

"It doesn't make any difference to me," he said. "The idea was sort of a gimmick any way."

Lester Sack Gets Sacked in Net Play

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Lester Sack spends most of his time helping manage the family cotton farm near Clarksdale, Miss. He also gets up to Memphis weekends for tennis, and makes a few tournaments.

The 32-year-old farmer said he hasn't played the game seriously since he was a member of the Tulane University team. He was ranked 47th by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association last year. His best ranking was 31st. Sack decided to come to Milwaukee this week for the Clay Court Championships, and while he lost his first-round match Monday, he provided a strong challenge for young Jaime Filio of Chile.

Filio, seeded second among foreigners at the tourney, arrived in Milwaukee fresh from his upset victory over Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., in Sunday's finals of the Western Championships at Indianapolis.

Richey, the No. 3 seed, advanced by default Monday.

TOP-SEEDED

There were first-round matches on tap today for top-seed Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., and No. 4 seed Clark Graebner of New York.

Richey's sister, defending women's titlist, Nancy Richey, faced a second-round test today after a first-round bye.

Filio opened Monday's match with a 6-2 first-set victory over Sack.

"I played so badly I was embarrassed," said Sack. But the tables turned in the second set, with Filio losing 3-6. And Sack continued to force the South American into errors in the final set before losing 6-4. The final game in the set went to deuce several times.

Sack, who says his own game suffers from a poor service, thinks his young opponent has a good chance in this week's tournament, provided he settles down a bit.

"He's a very solid player," said Sack. "He can volley, hit serve to the back court, and shot. But he's prone to errors on his forehand."

Errors Help Teamster Nine

The Teamster class A baseball team stayed on the heels of league leader MG Collision with a 63 victory over Pass Excavating last night as Bud Heather led the attack with two hits and two runs.

The winners were out 10 to seven but six errors helped the Teamsters' cause.

Colavito Eyes Pitching Role

But Yanks Planning Outfield Job

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Rocky Colavito, one-time slugging idol of Cleveland's bobby soxers, was signed as a free agent by the New York Yankees Monday and promptly volunteered to try to help the team as a pitcher.

Always noted for his strong throwing arm, the 34-year-old Colavito pitched three innings of relief for the Indians in an American League game in 1958 and has pitched in several exhibitions games for Cleveland.

However, Yankee Manager Ralph Houk ruled out the possibility of using Colavito as a pitcher and said that the reason he was picked up was because the Yanks are short of outfielders.

Houk added that he doesn't expect to use Colavito as a pinch-hitter, but that he would probably start him on a fairly regular basis depending on how he hits.

Streak Snapped

Midjet Bar snapped Spencer's long winning streak with a 4-2 victory in Waterford Softball Sunday when Jim McLellan pitched, a three hitter and tripled home three runs himself.

Phillies' Allen Wields Big Bat

By the Associated Press

Forty-two ounces that's a lot. Maybe. But they've been hitting the spot for Richie Allen and the Philadelphia Phillies.

Allen, who wields a 42-ounce bat, crashed two homers, good for three runs, Thursday night as the Phillies beat the New York Mets 5-3 for their seventh straight victory since the All-Star break.

"He uses a very heavy bat," says Phillies' Manager Bob Skinner, "but he's so strong he can still whip it through the zone."

In the seven games since the All-Star Game, Allen has whipped his bat through the zone well enough to get 15 hits in 30 at-bats, five homers and 14 RBIs. This spree has lifted his season average to .314, with 20 homers and 53 RBIs.

CARDINALS WIN

While Allen was having a ball with New York pitching, St. Louis was topping Los Angeles 4-2, Chicago was edging Pittsburgh 2-1 in 10 innings and Atlanta was beating San Francisco 4-2 in other National League action. The Houston at Cincinnati game was postponed because of wet grounds.

Allen helped his Triple Crown cause in the first inning Monday night by homering with Tony Gonzales on base. He also homered in the fourth to give the Phillies a 3-0 lead and later added a single.

Leading 3-2, the Phillies wrapped up the game in the ninth by scoring twice on Tony Taylor's single and consecutive doubles by John Briggs and Cal Rymer.

Mike Shannon's two-run homer, tied the game and pinch hitter Phil Gagliano singled in the winner as league-leading St. Louis won its fifth straight and sent Los Angeles to its fifth consecutive loss.

Los Angeles took a 2-0 lead when Jim Lefebvre singled home one run and Willie Davis tripled and scored on an error. Chicago pitcher Ferguson Jenkins sent Pittsburgh to its 10th straight loss by driving in a run with a two-out single in the 10th. The losing streak equals the longest in the Pirates' modern history. The all-time club record is 23 straight in 1890.

Pittsburgh scored in the fourth when Maury Wills doubled and scored on Matty Alou's single. The Cubs tied it in the fifth on Dick Nen's triple and Randy Hundley's single. The winning run was set up when Hundley was hit by a pitch and advanced to second by an in-pitch field out.

Atlanta won its fifth straight—the Braves' longest winning string of the season—with the help of three first-inning runs produced by singles by Joe Torre and Tommie Aaron, two walks, a passed ball, wild pitch and an error.

Bullets Prexy Makes Deal Buys Out Partners of NBA Franchise

BALTIMORE (AP) — President Abe Pollin of the Baltimore Bullets has purchased the interests of his two partners in the National Basketball Association club, The Associated Press learned Monday night.

The purchase price given to Earl Foreman and Arnie Heft was not disclosed. The three owners bought the NBA club four years ago for an estimated $1.5 million.

Pollin, a builder from Bethesda, Md., is believed ready to resell the two-thirds interest in the club to a Baltimore syndicate.

There had been speculation since the end of last season that the franchise would be moved. There was an attempt to shift the team to Miami, but the deal was never completed and the Minnesota Muskies of the American Basketball Association was shifted to Miami.

Ben Kerner, who sold the St. Louis Hawks before that NBA franchise was moved to Atlanta, also was reported interested in buying into the Bullets.

Speculation that the club would be moved ended recently when the Bullets signed a new three-year contract for use of the Civic Center for home games. The Bullets will pay rental of $1,000 a game, $100 more than under the old contract.

Action Deferred on a New Jail

County to Check Into Possibility of U.S. Aid

The ways and means committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors decided at yesterday's meeting to hold off on any final decisions concerning the construction of a new county jail.

According to Chairman David Levinson of Birmingham, the committee is waiting in hopes of securing federal aid for the multi-million dollar project.

"On the basis of a bill recently passed by the U.S. Congress we think we can get a 50-50 match grant from the federal government," Levinson said.

"Therefore, we are hesitant to take any steps right now that would preclude receiving this aid which would save county taxpayers a lot of money," he said.

In other action, the ways and means committee approved a lease which changed control of 100 acres of county land from one department to another.

The parcel of land, located near the county service center, was leased by the board of supervisors to the County Parks and Recreation Commission for recreational purposes.

County Teens Camping With Guard Units

Some 25 Oakland County boys — most from Pontiac — are among 75 disadvantaged teenagers on a week-long campout with Michigan National Guardsmen at Camp Grayling.

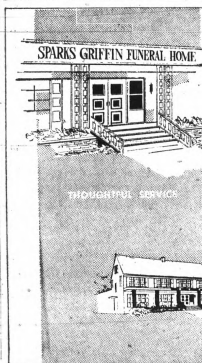

The youths, aged 13-16, arrived at the camp yesterday for seven days of trips to the Mackinac Bridge, firing ranges, a fish hatchery and various guard activities.

Purpose of the program, according to the camp public information office, is to establish a better understanding between the National Guard and the community and to provide the boys with an outdoor living experience. The Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) provided the names of eligible teen-agers, the Guard said.

Another contingent of youths, including some from Oakland County, will be brought to the camp next week.

Poor Maureen Stapleton!

Everything Happens to Her

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK - Everything happens to Maureen Stapleton-including her ceiling falling down.

"Ceilings are falling down all over New York," Maureen informed me. "At first I thought it was just me, but then I realized, I was in bed when it fell, and it fell on everything but me. My daughter thought something had exploded. The worst of it was that the ceiling fell on my tape recorder. It hasn't worked very well since."

"And this sounds bizarre, but my neighbor had arranged for a visitor from Rome to use her apartment, and she knew what happened? My neighbor's ceiling fell down. I called the superintendent and said, 'We've lost another ceiling.'"

I've thought for years that building buildings on top of each other would be too much for the rock we live on and that some day the whole thing's going to fall down. When my ceiling falls down, I think God's trying to tell me something."

Besides losing 100 pounds, being the star of "Plaza Suite" and winning an Emmy she didn't expect, and losing a Tony, she did expect, Maureen has been supplying courage to nervous people like George C. Scott and Walter Matthau who are scared to do the TV talk shows without her.

"I'm an absolute basket case when I go on. I get the shakes. I'm afraid of George and scared, too, but when they see me about to pass out, they say, 'Hey, don't be crazy, what are you nervous about?' and they feel all right."

"I worship George C. Scott. He and Colleen Dewhurst are very happy now. You know they were married twice. I think you really mean it if you got married twice."

A wistful note came into her voice as she said, "In this show you have to work at absolutely top energy. It's nonstop for 2 1/2 hours. Even the intermissions are no rest. You have new makeup, wig, change of clothes from the skin out. I guess I'll be in it for a year if my mind holds out."

"Vacation? I don't get one till after a year and then I get a week."

A Look at TV

'Bias and Police' Eyed

By JERRY BUCK

Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK - The raw nerve of antagonism and distrust between Negroes and the police was revealed Monday night in the airing by ABC of a project in Houston, Tex., aimed at achieving a better understanding of each other.

The network took its cameras into a session in which Negroes and policemen confronted each other with their real feelings and attitudes.

"It is generally recognized," said host Frank Reynolds, "that only when people are ruthlessly honest with each other can they begin to make progress for change."

The program, "Prejudice and the Police," was the fourth in an ABC series, "Time For Americans," examining white racism in America. The final two parts will be presented later this month.

UNDERLYING CAUSE

The series, as well as similar programs on the other networks, are an opportunity for white Americans to reexamine attitudes which the President's Commission on Civil Disorders said was the underlying cause of the riots.

The year-old Houston project was the outgrowth of an explosive incident at Negro Texas Southern University in May 1967. Since then, more than 700 representatives of the "black community and 800 policemen have met 20 a time in three-hour sessions.

One Negro complained that police apply double standards. Particularly irksome to him, he said, was that "they always say, 'Come here, boy,' or 'Come here, nigger.' That isn't the kind of thing that makes a teenager respect the police."

A policeman said he felt his attitude toward anyone he stopped was not influenced by the person's politics, or religion or race. "There is no reason that I'm going to give a person a hard time just because he's black and I'm white," he said. "I think generally most police officers practice their job this way."

PSYCHOLOGY

Besides direct confrontation, psychological methods were employed and one of the most revealing was the psychodrama in which the police and blacks exchanged roles.

A policeman assumed the identity of a 15-year-old boy and a Negro played the part of a policeman. Two group leaders stood by to reveal what each must be thinking.

In the first skit the black played the policeman role as he thought a white policeman would really do it. He called the youngsters "boy" and treated him brusquely. Then he showed how it really should be done and this time he called him "son" and was more gentle and understanding.

Small Towns Irate Over Plan to Close Post Offices

By United Press International
Santa's post office probably will be closed this year. Kids can thank a green giant who is not so jolly — money.

The announcement Friday by Postmaster General Marvin Watson that 347 small-town post offices will be closed by the end of August has touched off a cry of protest that will reach Congress, a United Press International survey shows.

Watson said the closing of 250 fourth-class post offices on Aug. 2, and of 97 on Aug. 30 was made necessary by Congress' orders to cut Post Office Department employment to the level of June 30, 1966. This meant 83,238 positions would have to be eliminated.

Watson said the closings could be stopped only by Congress rescinding its order to economize. The department also is curtailing weekend service in cities this summer, and plans to eliminate Saturday city home deliveries in the fall.

UP IN ARMS

Postmasters and Postmistresses of small-town post offices are up in arms about the closings.

Take Santa, Idaho, where Watson is being cast as scrooge.

It would be easy to take Santa — there are only 50 persons to its name. But millions of children in 60 years have mailed their Christmas requests from across the nation to Santa.

Mrs. William Freda, the Santa postmistress, called Watson's order a "tragedy."

MAY NOT BE AWARE

Last Christmas Mrs. Freda worked nights answering children telling them to behave. Every postmaster before her has done the same. Helpers from town have written letters.

"I intend to write Postmaster General Watson a letter because he may not be aware of the tragedy he's causing," she said. "The children always ask about the reindeer and Mrs. Santa."

Archie R. Derrickson, 65, became postmaster of Gotham, Wis., population 275, last April 27. He owns the building the post office is in, operates a grocery and is proud of his ability to work.

"This is the first time in my life I've been fired," he complained.

FIRST NEWS

Derrickson handles 5,200 pieces of mail a day and earns $4,500 a year. He said the first thing he heard of the closing was a news report on the radio Sunday morning.

"Picking up the mail is a daily routine that people here look forward to," he said. "The people are really upset."

Warren Schumacher, proprietor of Gotham's Tavern, said he stops off at the post office in the morning to buy stamps for money orders. Now, he says, "There will be no place to go."

Derrickson said Congress will hear from Gotham.

GOING TO FIGHT

"He's going to fight it," said Mrs. Essie V. Barton, who retired in April as postmistress of Sunset, S.C. "It's growing and we don't want it closed."

"This is the only one in the northwest part of Pickens County. We serve three routes to Pickens, Rothman, N.C., and the Jocassee power plant. We handle eight or 10 bags of first-class mail every morning," she said.

The post office has been there ever since Mrs. Barton, 66, can remember.

"You'd have to ask somebody older than me how old it is. My grandfather was in the Civil War and it was here when he was a boy. It's been Sunday, Hazel and whatnot, but we've always called it Sunset."

TO LOSE JOBS

The closing of the Sunset Post Office will put four people out of work: Mrs. Barton's daughter, who is acting postmistress, and three delivery women.

Bim, W. Va., has about 400 persons, most of them coal-mining families. Mrs. Mary Lou Vance, whose husband is a miner, has three children. She is the acting postmistress.

"I just don't think it's right and it's going to be a hardship on the people in this community. The people will have to go to Wharton or Bob White (three miles away). They're not liking it. They're asking me what they can do. I really don't know what to tell them," Mrs. Vance said.

Mrs. Vance said one man Bim has a few.

came into the post office Saturday morning and "said he guessed since the government turned the people down, then the politicians and that he was going to see the (state Democratic) executive committee about it."

Mrs. Vance said another man said all the money was going to unwed mothers, of which is $100 to $125, said Mrs. Wallen. She hands out part of a

At Moon, Ky., in the Appalachians, the postmistress is Mrs. Nancy Wallen. Her husband, Ballard, runs the country store in which the post office is located.

Moon's post office serves 100 people who live back in the "hollows." The town consists of three buildings. The revenue per week from the post office is $100 to $125, said Mrs. Wallen. She hands out part of a mail sack each day and writes maybe two money orders.

"People in the hollow should not have to walk all the way to West Liberty for a money order," she said.

WILL WRITE
Mrs. Wallen said she would write Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., asking that Moon's post office be kept open.

Merna's post office had been open 116 years.

Mrs. Margaret Merna's in-law donated the land for the railroad station and thus got a town named after them. She retired in April after 12 years as postmistress.

"Merna people are very proud people," she said. "We have always tried to keep our name unsullied. This is quite a blow."

Ground War Picks Up; VC Leave Saigon Area

SAIGON (AP) — The ground war picked up south of Saigon yesterday and today, with 192 of the enemy reported killed. A senior U.S. officer said large enemy units had moved westward from the Saigon area, and the next big Vietcong offensive against the South Vietnamese capital is not likely before late July or early August.

The American source warned that despite the enemy withdrawals, the Vietcong still plans to attack Saigon. Da Nang and Hue, the two major cities in the northern part of the country, also were considered likely targets for a general Communist offensive.

After a prolonged lull in the ground war, infantrymen from the U.S. 9th Division — protecting the southern approaches to Saigon — tangled with an enemy force yesterday 16 miles south-southeast of the capital. The battle raged until just before dawn today, and the American Command sent in dive bombers, artillery and helicopter gunships to pound the enemy.

U.S. headquarters said 76 Vietcong troops were slain and 12 weapons captured, including six mortars. U.S. losses were seven killed and 21 wounded.

ENEMY BOXED IN

Forty miles farther south, U.S. and South Vietnamese ground, naval and air forces caught sizable Vietcong units pressing in on a provincial capital in the Mekong Delta and reported killed 116 of the enemy in an all-day battle yesterday. Seventeen Americans and two South Vietnamese were wounded, spokesmen said.

Viet Talks Progress in Secret

PARIS (AP) — The United States and North Vietnam apparently have reached a point in the Paris peace talks where they can sound each other out secretly on possible arrangements to deescalate the war in Vietnam.

Both now agree publicly that their delegation leaders have touched on "serious" issues in their private conversations during the coffee breaks in formal sessions. In addition, the diplomatic channels used for communications between Washington and Hanoi in past peace probing are obviously still open and presumably in use.

The formal exchanges between Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy in their regular Wednesday meetings continue deadlocked and repetitious, mainly serving the propaganda purposes of both sides. But their informal contacts have gone beyond that rigid pattern, allowing a more flexible exploration of peace possibilities.

There is also some indication that leaders in Washington and Hanoi are engaged in policy reviews.

HUDDLE WITH LBJ

Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance is flying to Washington today for consultations with President Johnson before Johnson goes to Honolulu to confer with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

On the North Vietnamese side, Le Duc Tho, special counselor to Thuy, has been in Hanoi for about two weeks. He is a member of the North Vietnamese Communist party's policy-making politburo.

The deadlock over deescalating the war arises from Hanoi's demand that the United States stop all bombing of its territory, and Washington's demand that North Vietnam show some military "restraint" to justify ending the bombing. North Vietnam has said since before the talks started on May 13 that until the bombing is stopped no other issue of Vietnamese peacemaking can be discussed.

Exactly what President Johnson would consider a minimum adequate show of "restraint" on North Vietnam's part has not been spelled out. Harriman has promised to Thuy a restoration of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam and has also called for a reduction in infiltration from North to South.

The fact that "serious matters" had been touched upon during the coffee breaks was disclosed by Harriman only last Saturday.

"One can't help but touch on serious matters," he said in a television interview, "and we're getting into a little bit more of the idea of what's important in each other's minds."

Flash

WASHINGTON (AP) — A commission named by President Johnson urged today creation of a special corporation to operate the nation's postal service and elimination of all political jobs in the mail service.

The Vietcong attack on Saigon had been expected this week, with the main punch coming from the west. The larger sized enemy units to the west of the capital have pulled back, but he added that a mountain of intelligence information clearly showed the enemy still plans to attack.

Possible explanations were that the enemy troops had withdrawn to more secure positions to wait for reinforcements, or were waiting to lure the allies into believing the threat was over.

Despite the enemy withdrawal, allied troops were ordered to remain alert for possible small attacks to mark the 14th anniversary Saturday of the signing of the Geneva agreements that partitioned Vietnam.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford met with South Vietnam's leaders today.

The defense secretary was expected to travel to the northern provinces tomorrow and to leave for Honolulu Thursday for talks between Thieu and President Johnson.

Conventions Hit by New Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both national political conventions, the first just three weeks off, are threatened with new communications woes that could affect network television and broadcasting.

Planning for the Democratic convention, scheduled for Chicago Aug. 26, already is feeling the impact of a strike against Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

Party leaders say they may have to pick another city, possibly Miami Beach, site of the Republican meeting that opens Aug. 5.

The new threat, which could affect not only Chicago and Miami Beach but any city big enough to handle a political convention, came to light yesterday.

WARNED POSSIBILITY

American Telephone & Telegraph Co. warned a customer of the possibility of a strike by 24,000 long lines installers who are members of the Communications Workers of America, a union spokesman said.

Such a strike could affect TV and radio facilities and teletype equipment, including that used by news services.

Meanwhile, Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., said yesterday that Democratic National Chairman John Bailey has asked if Florida Democrats would raise the $600,000 needed to get the convention in Miami Beach.

In Chicago, meanwhile, Illinois Bell is studying a proposal by the union for binding arbitration.

U.S. Savoring Big Profit From Sandwich Coins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has been raking in huge profits from the nation's coinage since it replaced silver with copper and nickel in hard currency.

This profit, called seigniorage, shot into the hundreds of millions of dollars the past three years. It is expected to exceed $200 million in the current fiscal year.

Seigniorage is the difference between the face value of a coin and the cost of the metal from which it is made.

Metal in a quarter, for example, now costs the Treasury Department about one cent but the coin goes on the government's books as 25 cents, thus yielding a 24-cent profit.

SHORTAGE OVERCOME

During the fiscal year ending June 30, seigniorage ran to about $380 million but it rose above $634 million the year before when the Treasury turned out coins in record numbers to overcome a shortage.

The reduced profit expected for this year results from the cutback in coins made because the shortage has eased.

The profits began with the Coinage Act of 1965 which took all silver from dimes and quarters and reduced the silver content of the half dollar from 90 per cent to 40 per cent.

This reduced the cost of coinage metal to the Treasury.

PROFITS RISE

In 1960, profit came to little more than $52 million but rose to almost $113 million during fiscal 1965.

With minting of the first sandwich coins in fiscal 1966, the profit rose to almost $250 million including about $25 million in the old 90 per cent silver coins the Treasury had on hand.

Least profit comes from the Kennedy half dollar, only coin still being minted containing silver.

The Treasury figures this profit at about 22 cents while it makes more than 9½ cents on a dime and about 4½ cents on a nickel. A penny produces a profit of three-fourths of a cent.

Senate Move Blunts Anti-Fortas Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate session was canceled for today in a leadership move to blunt opponents' delaying tactics and insure uninterrupted questioning by the judiciary committee of chief justice-designate Abe Fortas.

But President Johnson's nominee still faced long and close scrutiny at today's committee hearing, put off from last week, particularly on high court decisions he has participated in since becoming an associate justice in 1965.

Thornberry's appearance, scheduled for tomorrow.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, spearheading the Republican opposition, said Monday he doubts the committee will report to the Senate until a week before Aug. 3, target date for adjournment of Congress.

Mrs. Cavanagh Tells Her Side

DETROIT (AP) — Former college beauty queen Mary Helen Cavanagh was to take the witness stand today as a divorce hearing for Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and his estranged wife continues.

The open court hearing began yesterday with charges and countercharges. The hearing followed three days of private sessions in chambers of Wayne County Circuit Judge Charles Farmer.

Cavanagh denied a charge that he had tapped his wife's telephone, but later admitted under cross-examination that the intelligence department of the Detroit Police Department had an extension on his home phone.

The mayor and Mrs. Cavanagh accused each other of drinking heavily, and Mrs. Cavanagh told the court, "I did not know what foul language was until I married him."

Mrs. Cavanagh accused her husband of using profanities in front of the couple's eight children.

Town Awash After U.P. Rain

L'ANSE (AP) — State Police at the Marquette post report heavy flooding in the Upper Peninsula village of L'Anse last night. The entire community of 2,367 was under four to five feet of water as a result of a heavy thunderstorm, police said.

U.S. 41 and other highways and roads have been washed out, and telephone communications as well as electrical power were knocked out by the rising water.

No serious injuries have been reported as a result of the flooding.

The Baraga County Water Board has advised all persons in the area not to drink any tap water for the next two days.

LOCATED ON BAY

L'Anse is located at the southern end of Keweenaw Bay.

Portions of the hamlet were flooded last month when a rare occurrence called a seiche — a type of inland tidal wave — rolled into the Keweenaw Bay.

Soviets Delay Pullout, Write Czech Regime

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — The Soviet Union has again delayed withdrawal of its troops from Czechoslovakia and along with four East European allies has sent a letter to the new liberal regime in Prague.

Contents of the letter were not disclosed, but it was the product of a conference in Warsaw of nations which already have expressed fear that the Czechoslovak liberalization drive was getting out of hand.

Communist party leaders from Bulgaria, Hungary, East Germany,

Poland and the Soviet Union — including party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin — met at Warsaw Sunday and yesterday. A communiqué on the conference said they exchanged information "on the situations in their countries and the development of events in Czechoslovakia."

One Communist source said the letter may contain a joint request for removal of the most liberal elements in the Czechoslovak leadership. Newspapers in the orthodox Communist countries have been warning that anti-Soviet elements were trying to use Czechoslovakia's democratization campaign for their own ends.

THREAT SEEN

Many Czechoslovaks saw a threat of Soviet military intervention in the continued presence in their country of Soviet troops who came for training exercises that ended more than two weeks ago.

Maj. Gen. Vaclav Prchlik, a top Czechoslovak defense official, announced last night that a large contingent of Soviet troops is delaying its departure six more days.

Prchlik said the troops would leave the country next Sunday rather than today as they had promised. He told the television audience the Soviet troops definitely were leaving and urged Czechoslovaks not to succumb to a war of nerves.

About 5,000 Russian troops participated in the Warsaw Pact maneuvers, and an estimated 3,000 remained in Czechoslovakia afterward.

MOVEMENT HALTS

After negotiations last week, the Prague government announced that these would begin leaving Saturday.

Some went, but the movement halted Sunday. Czechoslovak news media said heavy weekend traffic caused the delay, and the withdrawal resumed Monday.

At a news conference Monday night, Prchlik also demanded a revision of the Warsaw Pact to give the Soviet Union's partners an equal voice in running the organization's affairs. He also said members should be prevented from forming blocs within the alliance.

Prchlik said the calling of the Warsaw conference was a "regrettable act."

Study Slated in Effort to End Flooding

BIRMINGHAM — A comprehensive study of drains and flood plains will be undertaken as a first step in ending flooding conditions of the type that caused severe damage in the city three weeks ago, city commissioners were told last night.

An outline of the study was submitted to commissioners by City Engineer William T. Killeen, saying he would return at a later date with firm recommendations on the direction that the study will take.

He was unable, however, to offer any immediate measures that might be taken to control or alleviate flooding conditions.

A major problem, he said, is the inadequacy of the Acacia Drain which serves both Birmingham and the village of Beverly Hills.

CHANGES POSITION

The village, according to Killeen, has changed its position of the past and is now expressing an interest in cooperating on a project to relieve the Acacia Drain.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning said it is likely that the Oakland County Drain Commission will be approached by the city and village to review the drain problem and offer solutions.

Mayor David Breck, noting the unwillingness of the village to cooperate in the opening of 14 Mile Road, suggested that Kenning negotiate "slowly" with Beverly Hills in a pact over the Acacia project.

A joint meeting between the commissions of the two communities will be recommended to Beverly Hills as a method of working out mutual problems.

FLOODING PREVAILS

In a report received by the commission from A. P. Blithen, superintendent of public works, flood conditions prevailed in all sections of the city, and in all neighboring communities, as a result of the June 25 rainfall.

"There were two proximate causes for the flood damage which occurred," said Blithen. "One was the overloading of the drainage system; the other was the overflowing of the Rouge River, both east and west branches."

The flooding of the west branch was the worst in memory, according to city officials, while the flooding of east branch equaled that of a 1941 storm.

Blithen reported that basement flooding occurred generally in an area bounded by Lincoln, Grant, 14 Mile Road and Southfield; and on Derby near Coolidge. Isolated reports of basement flooding came from every section of the city, he said.

The most costly damage occurred at stores and offices in the North Woodward-Harmon area from the waters of the east branch of the Rouge, and to residences near the intersection of Redding and Lakeside on the west branch.

Blithen said that considerable damage was averted when an alert resident informed city officials of a washout on the bank of Quanton Lake near the dam. The washout, he said, was refilled before nightfall, stopping the overflow.

Patton's Son Is CO

SAIGON (AP) — Col. George S. Patton, son of America's most famous tank commander, took command of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment in Vietnam Monday, the U.S. Army announced today.

Patton is the son of the late Gen. George S. Patton Sr., "Old Blood and Guts," who commanded the U.S. 3rd Army in World War II.

Pontiac Post Office Plans Cutback in Window Service

Pontiac's Post Office will cut Saturday and Sunday window service to a maximum of two hours beginning July 27, Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson announced today.

Saturday collections from street boxes will be put on Sunday schedules, he said.

The reductions, ordered by the Post Office Department, were blamed on manpower cutbacks dictated in the new federal tax bill.

The department also said 250 fourth-class post offices will be closed Aug. 2 and 97 more Aug. 30. The only small branch to be closed in Michigan by this order is the one at Northland. Business from this branch now will be handled at the Southfield Post Office.

The tax bill also requires the department to cut back 83,238 employees by filling only three out of every four vacancies. Donaldson indicated that the Pontiac Post Office is following this policy.

Workers Ratify Pact With City

An estimated 150 municipal clerical employees are to receive higher salaries under terms of a contract ratified yesterday by members of the Pontiac Municipal Employees Association (PMEA).

The City Commission still must ratify the pact, but commissioners last night were informed of its terms at an informal meeting. Commission consideration is expected next week.

A city spokesman said the agreement would set up new pay classifications rather than provide across-the-board pay boosts for the white collar workers.

A PMEAs spokesman said noneconomic matters still remain to be negotiated, including contract language and the method of figuring vacation days.

British Renew Charges on Ray

LONDON (UPI) — A British court today bound over James Earl Ray, accused slayer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., for another eight days on charges of violating gun and passport laws.

Sources close to Ray's defense said his lawyers were running into "local difficulties" hampering his appeal against a court-ordered extradition to America to stand trial for King's murder.

Ray's appearance at Bow Street Magistrates Court was routine.

The law says he must be taken before a magistrate every eight days while held on the charges of carrying a gun and two forged passports, charges on which Ray was arrested June 8 to end a worldwide manhunt.

'NOT ADMINISTRATIVE'

Defense sources said the "difficulties" they were talking about were not administrative and not connected with legal obstacles to their contention that King's slaying was a political crime. Political crimes are not subject to the Anglo-American extradition treaty.

Ray's British lawyer, Michael Eugene, has only one day left to file an appeal of Ray's extradition order, issued two weeks ago.

Frank Milton, chief metropolitan magistrate, ordered Ray held until July 24 on the gun and passport charges.

Only a few spectators were on hand when Ray arrived from Wandsworth Prison in a Black Maria escorted by three Jaguar police cruisers.

City Teen Drowns in Commerce Lake

A Pontiac boy drowned in Commerce Township lake yesterday while playing with friends on a raft on Lower Straits Lake.

Steven McDonald, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McDonald of 404 Fourth was the victim, according to township fire officials.

Witnesses told officials the boy was playing on a raft with several other youths. After a jump from the raft, the boy failed to return to the surface.

The mishap occurred near 3294 Edgewood.

Oakland, Calif., Black Panther Leader on Trial

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Demonstrations outside the courtroom and argument over jury selection marked the opening of the murder trial of Huey Newton of the militant Black Panthers.

A defense attorney declared jury selection methods preclude Negroes from getting a fair trial.

The trial began yesterday in Alameda County Superior Court as hundreds of disciplined, black-jacketed Panthers and their supporters shouted, "Free Huey!" from the street seven floors below.

The 26-year-old Panther defense minister is charged with killing an Oakland policeman, John F. Frey, 21, and wounding another in a shoot-out last Oct. 28. Newton was wounded.

After 11 postponements, Newton's attorneys failed yesterday in two attempts to get another delay, and late in the afternoon filed an appeal with the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeal in San Francisco.

They asked a three-judge panel to reverse a denial earlier in the day by U.S. District Judge Lloyd Burke for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of Newton's trial in the state court.

AMONG SPECTATORS

Earlier yesterday, Newton's defense had failed to get a similar action from the State Supreme Court, where refusal enabled them to start up the federal court ladder.

Newton's three brothers and three sisters; his fiancée, Laverne Williams; and his Episcopal pastor, the Rev. Earl Neil, were among the spectators in the crowded courtroom.

Garry, alleging a "police state" atmosphere, said Miss Williams and the Rev. Mr. Neil had been unable to get in without first being photographed and fingerprinted by sheriff's deputies.

Security was tight. Newsmen were told they would have to obtain a news pass each day of the trial.

ATTACK LAUNCHED

Garry launched his attack on the jury selection process by questioning the man in charge, court secretary Edward T. Schnapp, who told how panelists are chosen from registered voters all over the county.

From another witness a University of California sociologist, Jan Vizard, he drew testimony that West Oakland is predominantly Negro but has the lowest percentage of registered voters of any district in the county.

Garry argued that this precluded selection of a jury that could give a Negro a fair trial.

Vizard, an assistant professor of sociology, said his study was based on the 1960 census, but that any changes since then would only have made the situation worse.

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford has told the chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee that drastic curtailment of foreign aid could affect the Paris peace negotiations.

The warning from Clifford, now on an inspection trip to Vietnam, was contained in a letter to Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., who released it on the eve of today's opening debate on the always controversial foreign aid bill.

"The impact of a drastic curtailment or a complete moratorium in economic aid on countries such as Korea and Thailand would be immediate and calamitous," Clifford wrote.

"Discontinuation of aid to South Vietnam and Laos could create internal situations which would prejudice the Paris peace negotiations and the accomplishment of our objectives in Southeast Asia," he added.

TO BE PUT ASIDE

Morgan sent copies of the letter to all House members.

Following today's debate, the bill will be put aside until Thursday so members attending the Wednesday funeral of Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex., can be on hand for the eight votes last year when Congress battle over amendments.

Pool died Sunday on a plane in Texas. Morgan's committee slashed the administration's request for the fiscal year that began July 1 from $2.96 billion to $2.36 billion.

The bill squeaked by the House by only eight votes last year when Congress authorized $2.67 billion for the program, but then appropriated only $2.2 billion.

A series of cutting amendments are in store along with an effort to clamp a one-year moratorium on the program and probably an attempt to kill it outright.

River-Study Fund OK by City Seen

Pontiac city commissioners are expected to approve tonight the cost of a study to determine the best method of improving the Clinton River from Crystal Lake to the present improved area at Orchard Lake Road.

The commission will conduct its regular weekly meeting at 8 p.m. at the City Hall.

The study is expected to explore the best method of containing the river during heavy rainfall and flooding periods.

Commissioners also are scheduled to consider a proposal to begin a major project to provide sanitary sewers for the northwest section of the city. The project is expected to cost about $500,000.

The sanitary sewer would begin near Tallahassee and Sarasota, go west toward Oakland and then north across Hawthorne Park to Walton.

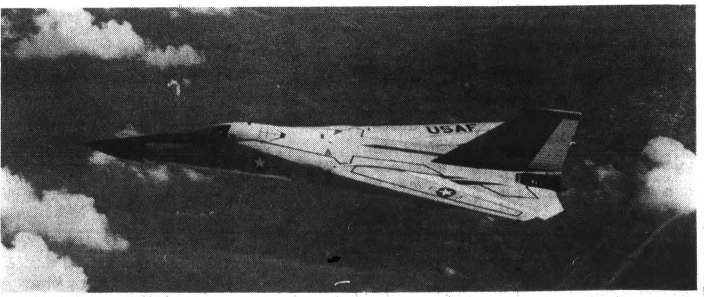

1st-Degree for Sirhan?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The district attorney's office plans to seek the death penalty for Sirhan B. Sirhan although investigators have not ruled out a conspiracy in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Chief Deputy Dist. Atty. Lynn D. Compton, head of the three-man prosecution team, said he is preparing the case against Sirhan "with the idea of seeking the death penalty under the theory of first-degree murder which includes premeditation."

Urge Adoption of Sunday Liquor Bill

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors should act to adopt a measure allowing Sunday liquor sales in Oakland County as outlined in recently passed State legislation. The board meets Thursday and the matter could be brought up for consideration at that time.

The bill would allow dispensing liquor on Sunday in Michigan for the first time in counties where supervisors vote to approve it.

Some may feel such a move inadvisable on grounds that it would lead to wide open liquor sales on Sundays by every bar and tavern in this area. This is untrue. The bill was written so that it will apply only to establishments which derive at least half of their receipts from the sale of food.

Therefore, adoption will not help bars which deal primarily in liquor sales. Instead, it should aid business potential at eating places in our area which also have liquor licenses.

In Oakland County, where we have an abundance of weekend tourist trade and many fine restaurants that serve liquor, enactment of such a bill should have a decidedly productive effect on local economy. Many of our large restaurants have remained closed on Sundays because liquor sales were banned, making Sunday business an unprofitable venture.

If the supervisors don't enact this bill locally by Sept. 1, those in favor of the bill would then be forced to circulate petitions and have the issue placed on the ballot. Those petitions would require the signatures of 19,000 registered voters to be valid.

Thus, we urge the County board of supervisors to enact this bill.

New Lifelike 'Doll' Used in GM Crash Tests

If you've ever had to buy dolls for children, you're probably well acquainted with Betsy Wetsy and Raggedy Ann. But, chances are you've never met Sophisticated Sam.

While the others say and do endearing little things, Sam is a different kind. He's not for the nursery. He wasn't made for his cuddle appeal.

Sam has a breakable skull, a brain sac, a pliable chest, a simulated lung-heart area and an abdominal area. He also has simulated hair, skin, flesh and muscle structures. When bruised or cut, Sam has skin that discolors or breaks much in the same manner as that of a human.

Sophisticated Sam is a lifelike dummy, commissioned by General Motors Corporation and manufactured by the Sierra Engineering Co. of California. He's used in crash tests.

Unveiled recently at the GM Proving Ground near Milford, Sam fills a need for a device that reacts physically to impact conditions in a manner closely simulating the human body.

Sam will never lull a little girl to sleep, but he may save her life someday.

Airports Must Meet Challenge of Air Travel

There has been much talk in recent years about the need for one or more major jet airports in the Oakland County area. Some of those who have opposed such construction here and elsewhere fail to realize just how necessary airport facilities of gigantic proportions are likely to become in the near future.

It's more than just a pipe dream. It's right around the corner. The recent first flight of the giant C-5 Galaxy was no dream. It was tangible evidence of things to come.

Although designed originally to carry troops and military equipment, these transports will render obsolete all present notions of civilian air travel when they appear as airliners carrying nearly 1,000 persons a trip, at fares probably well below present levels.

Utilization of these gigantic airliners may be a decade away. More immediate is the need to expand just to handle the Airbus and other planes carrying 300 to 500 passengers, only a few years in the future.

With the great strides in aeronautic technology rapidly becoming evident, where is the parallel advance in airport technology to complete the picture? It most certainly is a challenge that too many of us seem content to turn our backs on.

Imagine, if you will, several giant airliners landing within moments of each other to deposit 5,000 or 10,000 passengers on the ground almost simultaneously. This may be only 10 years away.

Will the airports of this country and the world be able to meet the challenges and cope effectively with the problems posed by these giant airliners? It's going to take some big planning and right now is not too early to start.

2-Party Setup: Balanced Antagonisms

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Many of our fellow citizens are sorry that the two major-party candidates for President will be loyal party men selected by delegates who themselves are loyal party men.

Those who are unhappy about this quite normal procedure in a two-party system call Richard Nixon and Hubert Humphrey the products of old, discredited political establishments operated by unfeeling, unimaginative hucksters.

I should like, however, to show, by a bit of history, illuminated by the philosophy of an illustrious American philosopher, that this turn of events may well save us from the anarchy so zealously sought by theorists and extremists.

It is true that never since the Civil War has our society been so torn by divisive influences and never since then have so many Americans longed for a return of stability and order.

I say "since" the Civil War because in the decade and a half before Lincoln's inauguration our society was suffering from the same sort of discomforts we are feeling today.

CAUGHT IN TURMOIL

Ralph Waldo Emerson was caught in the turmoil — he saw the anarchy produced by all sorts of extremists. Society was shaken by many conflicting antagonisms.

He spoke of the conflict as "bipolarity." And the solution seemed to lie in what he called a "balance of antagonisms."

While Emerson occasionally referred to politics in his lectures and essays, it was mostly to deplore the defects in political life.

In his intellectual isolation he never seemed to comprehend that the "balance of antagonisms" he sought might in part at least be found in the operation of the two-party system.

For since the Constitution

requires the election of a president nationally, we are saved from the multiparty system that has plagued so many governments, especially France.

A national party must of necessity be an amalgam of many diverse elements. And its virtue in our society is that it must seek moderation among extremes.

Its platform, so often characterized as a mass of hypocrisy, has its virtue. For it cannot be the creature of any distinct ideology.

That is why two candidates so regular in their allegiance to their respective parties are measurably the assurance of the "balanced antagonisms" of which Emerson spoke.

Both candidates must of necessity seek the middle ground. And there, we may be assured, is where most Americans want to entrust their future.

It Sure Does Strike More Than Once!

David Lawrence Says:

Wallace, McCarthy Overrated

DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Preconception trends in politics are often followed by an entirely different set of influences that become dominant after the presidential nomination have actually been made.

Thus, today there is much speculation about the meaning of the large percentages achieved in polls by George Wallace and Eugene McCarthy, respectively.

The truth is that the strength shown by both these aspirants could evaporate to a considerable extent once the party platforms take specific positions on current issues.

As of now, the most articulate and free-swinging critic of the Johnson administration is former Gov. Wallace, who has delved into many issues.

Sen. McCarthy, on the other hand, owes his support for the moment largely to the people who think the Vietnam can be ended by some magic device which the Minnesota senator might invent.

WALLACE VOTE UP

The Gallup Poll over the weekend shows the Wallace vote nationwide has gone up from 9 per cent in April to 16 per cent in Early July.

When the details of the poll are examined, however, it is found that the biggest proportion of his support is in the South and that he gets a relatively small percentage rating outside that section of the country.

ROCKEFELLER'S strategists naturally are making lay out of this. They argue that, with Wallace in the race and running so strongly in the South, Nixon will be prevented from winning electoral votes in that region.

Their theory is that a Republican nominee who could carry many states in the West and East could pick up a majority of the electoral votes without the South.

POLITICAL PROBLEMS

As for the Democrats, there is talk of a Humphrey-Kennedy ticket. This raises some political problems encountered before, and it will be recalled that the religious issue emerged in 1960 and became a factor in the campaign.

Despite the emphasis being given to the showing in the polls by Wallace or McCarthy, the real battle is inside the Republican party between Nixon and Rockefeller.

Those delegates who have a deep insight into politics know that the Republican nominee must be the type of man who will deal firmly with violence, enforce impartially the civil-rights laws and regulations, and adopt policies that will curtail inflation and curb excessive spending.

Also, only if the candidate seems ready to handle the Vietnam problem without anything resembling a surrender or retreat will the Republicans unite behind him.

Rocky Highly Optimistic, Eyes Nixon for VP Spot

By CHARLES DUMAS

NEW YORK — For a man waging a tough uphill fight, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller takes a highly optimistic view of his chances of winning the Republican presidential nomination.

Even to the point of talking privately about forging a Rockefeller-Nixon ticket.

Rockefeller has started a few candidates in recent days by speculating on the possibility that Richard M. Nixon, his chief rival for the nomination, might wind up instead as his running mate.

In presuming, however, that Nixon would be willing to settle for second place, Rockefeller illustrates the attitude he brings to his quest for the presidency — that he is the best the Republican party has to offer and that it just has to recognize this.

In the nearly 11 weeks since he entered the competition against Nixon, Rockefeller has traveled more than 50,000 miles to carry his message into 43 of 50 states.

STRATEGISTS PLEASED

The governor and his strategists say they are pleased with the way that phase of the campaign is going — the object being to arouse popular support that will be reflected in public opinion polls and influence convention delegates or the party leaders who control them.

In another, more critical part of his strategy, Rockefeller has talked personally with the delegates, in nearly all of the states he visited. He tells them in these closed-door sessions that he's the man who can win big in November and carry state and local candidates to victory with him.

At the same time, he suggests — but does not say so outright — that Nixon can't win, and he reminds them of the serious losses suffered by the GOP when Barry Goldwater was crushed by President Johnson in 1964.

Rockefeller and his chief advisers, campaign manager Robert Douglas and strategist Emmet J. Hughes, maintain that Nixon has not corralled the 677 votes needed for a first-ballot nomination at Miami Beach.

"If Nixon can't make it on this first ballot, he's finished," Hughes says. "Delegates who voted for him because they thought they owed it to him for his many years of service to the party then will begin to go to someone else."

Rockefeller's person-to-person spadework with the various delegates then will begin to pay off, Hughes predicts.

Odd Twist Given Vote Results

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

In the April 2 Wisconsin primary, the late Robert F. Kennedy, who had entered the presidential race just two weeks before, ran up a modest 5 per cent of the vote.

That was the contest won by Sen. Eugene McCarthy over President Johnson, both of whose names were on the ballot, by a margin of 57 per cent to 35.

By the logic the McCarthy camp is currently using in "analyzing" primary voting figures for the benefit of convention delegates it seeks to win, that Wisconsin vote (57 plus 35) represents a 92 per cent expression of sentiment against Kennedy.

Of course, the McCarthy people know that, is not so. They know that if Kennedy had been on the Wisconsin ballot and had campaigned actively here, he would have polled a very substantial vote.

No one can say with any finality (though the McCarthy backers are trying to do so) how Johnson or Vice President Humphrey would have done as active campaigners in the Indiana, Nebraska, Oregon and California primaries where McCarthyites say the combined McCarthy-Kennedy

Voice of the People:

'Cause of Our Greatness Seems to Be Forgotten'

As a nation, we seem to be turning our back on everything that once made America great. Courts and parole boards pamper criminals and persecute policemen for performing their assigned duties. The Earl Warren Supreme Court has so hampered and handcuffed police authority that violent crime is rapidly growing into actual anarchy. Through the agency of spineless politicians we now have mob rule rather than majority rule.

Various branches of government pay billions of our tax money to people not to work, when jobs are available. Industries which provide millions of the best-paying jobs in history and were built out of profits made by hard-working men, who turned these profits back into their businesses to bring about added growth and more jobs, are now labeled selfish by big government and unions.

Loud-mouthed, unwashed, long-haired hoodlums take control, by force, of tax-supported universities. Thugs, rapists, looters, arsonists and murderers operate unchecked throughout the United States. And many too bright sociologists want to confiscate all our firearms so that we will be unable to defend our homes or ourselves.

Discusses Need for Oakland-Orion Airport

We can sleep better now, knowing the great political dropout, Governor Romney, is looking out for us in Oakland County. He has denied the taxpayers the right to vote on whether we want or can afford to spend millions on the Oakland-Orion airport. He said his veto was for the public interest. I am "the public," as are the thousands who sent signatures opposing this program. The public needs roads, drainage, schools and police protection. Industry may need another airport; if so, let industry finance it. Many of us in the County have boats but we don't expect our neighbors to build us a marina.

The only way the taxpayer can defend himself is at the polls. The reorganized board of supervisors in the fall can start to unscramble the egg of wasteful spending. Let's elect people who will put first things first.

Question and Answer

Why was a premium being paid for silver certificates and other "hard" money of different denominations, as well as a deadline for redeeming them at premium prices?

MRS. A. B. HIGHLAND

REPLY

For a while, until June 24, the Treasury was redeeming silver certificates in silver bullion. According to Mr. Isaacs of the Treasury Department, the market price of silver is somewhat above the monetary value and therefore some dealers were willing to pay a premium for certificates so they could redeem them for silver at the monetary rate and sell it at market price. Mr. Isaacs knows of no premiums being paid for coins other than those having numismatic value. Some people may offer premiums for old silver coins, but a Treasury regulation prohibits the public from melting them.

especially the academicians who shared his anti-Vietnam war views.

Many in his primary voting constituency, however, were not strongly dovish, though weary of the war. To many who backed him, polls indicated, his war views were not very well-known.

Moreover, McCarthy himself has just told a responsible reporter he knows he got many votes, which were almost strictly anti-Kennedy.

Kennedy was a controversial figure who led many voters to choose the only live alternative they saw on the primary ballots.

The final oddity is that, while Kennedy lived, it was he, not McCarthy, who stressed their many common views and proposed a harmonious collaboration against Humphrey. Having steadily refused that proposal until the assassination, the McCarthy people now suggest that these two really quite bitter adversaries were always allied against a visible, highly competitive administration presence.

Kennedy was getting the poor, the undereducated, the Negroes, Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans, many of the blue-collar workers, and much of the young (despite McCarthy's claims to this segment).

McCarthy was drawing the more affluent, the better-educated, the white suburbanites, people in the professions, and

Planners Keep Busy Studying Consumers

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK—The information most sought by pollsters throughout the year is not voting inclinations, as you might suspect, but consumer information.

The National Industrial Conference Board has 10,000 consumers surveyed every month. CUNIFF, the University of Michigan's director of the Consumer Research Center, began in 1946 and since then has regularly and often very accurately forecast consumer behavior, based mainly on his expert interpretation of attitudes and sentiments.

Katona's methods are complex, and his reports are detailed. But basically he believes a consumer's discretionary purchases depend on ability to buy and willingness to do so.

In his most recent study, he found May 20 and June 3, he found a continuation of a wait-and-see attitude. The ability to buy remained high, he reported, but willingness was depressed largely because of Vietnam and inflation.

The Industrial Conference Board report, which is based on a survey conducted by National Public Opinion, stated in its July letter:

"At midyear the nation's consumers are less optimistic in appraising the likely course of business conditions than they were at this juncture in 1967." It found confidence lessened in the economy's immediate future.

The Commercial Credit survey, conducted in cooperation with the National Bureau of Economic Research, also stresses interpretation.

To illustrate how complicated the analyses can become, consider this comment by Dr. Tom Juster, one of those involved in setting up the Commercial program:

"There is a major defect in all buyer intention data. It's simple: Most people will not give you a definite 'yes' but they'll give you a flat 'no.' Most of the people who say 'no' do the purchasing."

The Sandler survey, conducted by telephone from New York, Pa., obtains its measure of consumer buying confidence from four economic questions included in a broad list. Recently it found consumer buying sentiment down slightly from earlier in the year.

FAA May Regulate Airlines' Scheduling

NEW YORK (AP) — Congested air traffic over New York airports has led the Federal Aviation Administration to station observers in control towers to deliberately slow down takeoffs and landings.

The FAA warned Monday that the ever-increasing air traffic here may force the federal government to regulate airline schedules if airlines do not take steps to limit incoming and outgoing flights.

Flights at Kennedy International, LaGuardia and Newark airports have been delayed as much as three hours during the past three weeks. During the past weekend, airports in the East and Midwest had delays.

The FAA observers' report is due in a "couple of days," a spokesman said.

The controllers are seeking more control tower help and have said privately they need a major Detroit effort to handle the traffic. But there has been no public acknowledgment of a slowdown.

Brand-Name

Drugs Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tests showing a third instance of a brand-name drug working better than the cheaper generic version is forcing the Food and Drug Administration to take an expanded look at its position that differences between such drugs are minimal.

Commissioner Herbert L. Ley Jr. announced Monday the new findings have prompted the FDA to expand the scope of its 18-month study of some 50 drugs to indicate degree of justification for higher brand-name costs.

"We still maintain there are relatively few of these (generic) drugs which don't perform up to standards," Ley said in an interview. "We may be wrong. But if we are, we'll be the first to admit it."

The generic drugs have the same active chemical ingredients but often cost a fraction of the price for brand-name drugs.

Differences in performance have been traced so far to such things as coatings, added inactive ingredients and the amount of pressure used to make tablets.

Ley said he believes differences still can be overcome by 1970 when the FDA hopes to be able to say that all drugs on the market are both safe and effective.

But an authoritative FDA source said the new findings have altered those prospects since former FDA Commissioner James L. Goddard testified last year that differences between brand-name and generic drugs are minimal.

"We've got a different situation now," the source said.

He said the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association was "more right than we gave them credit for" in contending brand-name drugs assure doctors of quality that generic versions do not.

The new findings could have an impact on proposals to lower the cost of prescription drugs and President Johnson's proposal that a relatively narrow range of reasonable prices be established for drugs paid for under federal programs.

Under the 18-month testing program ordered by its parent Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the FDA has been testing drugs and comparing its results with some tests being conducted by drug firms.

It was learned the latest report on the primary drug sulfisoxazole, used principally for ear infections. The tests at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., showed the generic versions did not perform as well as the brand-name original.

The other two cases of inequity involved the antibiotics erythromycin, used primarily for strep throat infections, and chloramphenicol, used mainly to combat typhoid infections.

Class Tests Waterford Computer Project

A computer in Palo Alto, Calif., instructs 15 Waterford Township sixth graders in mathematics drill and practice routines in a unique summer program at Riverside Elementary School.

The summer class is a preview to the larger program under development by Waterford Township School District's Indicom project.

Beginning this fall all Riverside students in grades 2 through 6 will receive daily math instruction from the Palo Alto computer via a direct telephone line.

The youngsters receive instruction at modified teletype terminals which type out math drills prescribed for each student according to his own achievement level.

CUMULATIVE RECORD

The computer corrects the student's answers as he types them and keeps a cumulative record of his progress for his classroom teacher.

This record also determines the level of his next lessons and his review program.

The math program is only one phase of the three-year project which is under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

Eventually secondary students will receive computer-assisted instruction in language arts, mathematics and vocational education. Instruction also is being developed in science, art, music, French, social studies and classroom management.

ACCORDING TO NEEDS

The instructional materials are designed to provide individualized instruction for each participating student according to his particular needs in that subject area.

According to Indicom director Dr. John Pagen, "The major objective of the project is to fuse the latest in technology with the best thinking in education to permit each child to learn at his own rate and to his full potential."

A unique aspect of the project is the involvement of more than 40 classroom teachers who work after school and during vacations to develop the course materials in 11 subjects.

Teachers working with the project are learning to evaluate and adapt available commercial materials as well as to develop original materials.

The teachers will not be re-teaching tasks.

An on-site RCA Instructional placement by computer-assisted instruction, but they will be re-71 system is scheduled, to be connected from the Waterford District in the fall of 1969 to the local computer.

When this occurs the instructional terminals at Riverside will be disconnected from the Palo Alto computer and hooked to the local computer.

INDICOM PLANNERS—Discussing the computer-assisted instruction program under development in the Waterford School System are William Yost, a member of the Indicom Curriculum design team; Dr. Don O. Tarro, Waterford Schools superintendent; and

Max Jerman, Stanford University curriculum designer. Jerman was one of the original developers of the math drill and practice program in use at Riverside Elementary School.

Action Deferred on a New Jail

County to Check Into Possibility of U. S. Aid

The ways and means committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors decided at yesterday's meeting to hold off on any final decisions concerning the construction of a new county jail.

According to Chairman David Levinson of Birmingham, the committee is waiting in hopes of securing federal aid for the multi-million dollar project.

"On the basis of a bill recently passed by the U.S. Congress we think we can get construction aid in the form of a 50-50 match grant from the federal government," Levinson said.

"Therefore, we are hesitant to take any steps right now that would preclude receiving this aid which would save county taxpayers a lot of money," he said.

In other action, the ways and means committee approved a lease which changed control of 108 acres of county land from one department to another.

The parcel of land, located near the county service center, was leased by the board of supervisors to the County Parks and Recreation Commission for recreational purposes.

County Teens Camping With Guard Units

Some 25 Oakland County boys — most from Pontiac — are among 75 disadvantaged teenagers on a week-long campout with Michigan National Guardsmen at Camp Grayling.

The youths, aged 13-16, arrived at the camp yesterday for seven days of trips to the Mackinac Bridge, firing ranges, a fish hatchery and various guard activities.

Purpose of the program, according to the camp public information office, is to establish a better understanding between the National Guard and the community and to provide the boys with an outdoor living experience.

The Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) provided the names of eligible teen-agers, the Guard said.

Another contingent of youths, including some from Oakland County, will be brought to the camp next week.

Small Towns Irate Over Plan to Close Post Offices

By United Press International
Small town post offices probably will be closed this year. Kato can thank a green giant who is not so jolly — money.

The announcement Friday by Postmaster General Marvin Watson that 347 small-town post offices will be closed by the end of August has stirred off a cry of protest that will reach Congress, a United Press International survey shows.

but we've always called it Sunset. The closing of the Sunset Post Office will put four people out of work: Mrs. Barton's daughter, who is acting postmistress, and three delivery women.

Bim, W. Va., has about 400 persons, most of them coal-mining families. Mrs. Mary Lou Vance, whose husband is a miner, has three children. She came into the post office Saturday morning and "said he guessed since the government turned the people down, then the people will have to go to the country store."

"I just don't think it's right and it's going to be a hard ship on the people in this community. The people will have to go to (Wharton or Bob White (three miles away). They're about it."

Mrs. Margaret Merna's in-law donated the land for the railroad station and thus got a town named after them. She retired in April after 12 years as postmistress.
