Weekend Date for Captain

AP Wirephoto

GENTLEMAN JOCKEY—RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend goes for an early morning gallop today on Juliet Jones in the park near Allenbay Hall, the country house where he and Britain's Princess Margaret are on a romantic weekend date. The rendezvous, deep in the heart of Windsor Forest, set the seal on the nation's mounting conviction that they will marry and that the only thing left to be fixed for the wedding is the date.

Captain, Meg Hide Away at Cousin's Country Estate

BINFIELD, England (INS)—Peter Townsend went riding today without the charming company of Princess Margaret who stayed behind in the Windsor Forest estate where they are spending the weekend together.

Townsend, boyish-looking and in high spirits, was wearing a riding habit of gray breeches, jumper and boots, when he arrived at a neighbor's stable in his Renault car.

He selected a chestnut filly, named appropriately enough "Juliet Jones," and rode off into the fields of Windsor where his romance with Margaret blossomed four years ago.

His ride, although accompanied by a number of stable boys, was shielded from the prying eye of press and public as was his well-chaperoned tryst with Margaret at the Allanbay Park estate of the Princess' cousin, Mrs. John Wills.

The rendezvous of the 25-year-old princess and the 40-year-old divorced commoner was blocked from the public scene by police equipped with walkie-talkies, motorcycles and dogs.

The handsome flyer said he was staying at Allanbay until Monday when he would "probably return" to his temporary London residence.

He said he hoped to ride at Epsom Downs before long but that it was "not arranged."

'Spy', 7, Talks Turkey on Meg, Townsend's Love

BINFIELD, Eng. (INS) — A seven-year-old "spy" revealed today that Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend "drank champagne" together and were "very happy" at their rendezous in the Windsor Forest estate of Maj. and Mrs. John Wills where they are spending the weekend.

The informant was the perky-faced seven-year-old daughter of Mrs. Wills, cousin and close friend of Margaret.

Marilyn Wills was thoroughly enjoying herself when she gave her "interview."

"Did you see Princess Margaret last night"?

'Of course," the girl answered.

"How was she when she arrived"?

"She was very happy. She drank champagne with Mummy and Peter for some time before dinner. They were all laughing and seemed very happy."

Marilyn then was asked: "What about this morning"?

"Margaret had breakfast in bed and read the papers.

"I could hear her laughing. She got up late and they were all talking about the pictures in the newspapers and laughing."

The child then was asked: "What do you think of Peter"?

"I would like him for a new 'uncle,'" she said. "He often makes me laugh."

Stabbing Fatal to Pontiac Man

Common-Law Wife Is Held for Investigation of Murder After Brawl

After a half-hour brawl in his house at 209 Cedardale Ave. last night, 42-year-old William Wagner was fatally stabbed in the chest and abdomen by his 26-year-old common law wife, Pontiac police said today.

Pontiac detective Richard Evans, who investigated the case with detectives William Hanger, August Martinez and Fred Stormer, said the wife, Dorothy Hooks (Wagner), readily admitted the slaying.

Neighbors said they had heard a quarrel begin at 11:30 last night, accompanied by sounds "as if somebody was bumping on the walls."

When police arrived, summoned by a call at 12:10, they found Wagner, still alive, lying in the kitchen. It was evident, they said, that the fight had moved throughout the five-room house.

WEAPONS LISTED

Weapons used, they said, included the knife, broken bottles and a steel curtain rod which Wagner was still clutching when police arrived.

Wagner was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital at 12:35.

Dorothy Hooks (Wagner) was arrested for investigation of murder. A third resident of the house, 29-year-old Ellen Middlebrook, was held as material witness.

Police also are seeking two men who may have witnessed the slaying.

Treasury Chief Flying to Ike's Bedside Today

Humphrey May Discuss Fading Hopes to Level Federal Budget

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower, safely into the fourth week of convalescence, holds another Cabinet level hospital conference today with joyful observance of his 65th birthday still fresh in mind.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey was flying in from Washington for an afternoon bedside meeting with the President. Humphrey planned a news conference later at the Denver White House.

The Eisenhower-Humphrey talk probably will deal with federal budget problems, particularly administration officials' fading hopes for bringing spending income and outgo into balance for the fiscal year ending June 30. The President hasn't discussed such matters since he suffered a "moderate" heart attack three weeks ago today in the early morning hours.

The 7 a.m. MST bulletin from the hospital this morning continued to reflect Eisenhower's steady progress since then. It said:

"The President had an excellent night's sleep of more than eight hours. He awoke refreshed and cheerful.

"His condition continues to progress satisfactorily without complications."

In Washington, associates said Humphrey had no pressing decisions on budget or tax matters to take up with the President. They reported Humphrey was taking some good news to the President about the Free World's economic outlook.

Humphrey's associates said the major item he would talk over with Eisenhower is a report that economic conditions throughout the Free World, and especially in Europe, are good and improving.

Beyond that, they said, the discussion would be pretty much up to the President, and might range from "duck hunting to the budget, taxes or anything else Eisenhower may want to talk about."

Returning to Denver with Humphrey was Eisenhower's chief deputy, Sherman Adams, who has been shuttling between here and Washington as top liaison man between officials in the capital and the recuperating President.

The accent on recuperation was heavy—and the brightest yet—yesterday as the President, in a quiet way, really celebrated the 65th anniversary of his birth.

Edgar Guest Improving After Slight Heart Attack

DETROIT (UP)—Edgar A. Guest, nationally-known poet of the Detroit Free Press, was reported improved today after suffering a slight heart attack Thursday night.

Officials at New Grace Hospital described Guest's condition as "better" following a good night's sleep.

Guest celebrated his 74th birthday Aug. 20. His poems have appeared in the Free Press and other newspapers for many years.

Military Court Will Try Peron

Argentine Army Starts 'in Absentia' Hearings of Ousted Dictator

BUENOS AIRES (UP) — Juan D. Peron, former President of Argentina, will be tried in absentia by an Argentine military court.

Army Minister Leon Bengoa, who made the announcement today, said Peron may be tried "on grounds of military honor." The announcement said Peron will be tried again later by a civil court "for civil crimes or offenses."

Peron is living in exile in Paraguay, where arrangements are being made to intern him at the request of the Argentine government.

The Ministry announcement said "happenings which are of public knowledge make unavoidable the immediate constitution of a Superior Court of Honor to analyze and judge the conduct observed by Gen. of the Army Juan Domingo Peron within its jurisdiction."

Peron was an army career officer and rose to power within the military. He was a colonel when he reached the presidency 10 years ago, and a three-star lieutenant general — the highest rank in the Argentine army — when he was overthrown last month by rebel forces.

Road Courtesy Is for the Birds, Driver Learns

Birmingham resident Joseph Anderson, 29, tried to be kind to a brace of pheasants Thursday night and landed in the hospital for his pains.

Anderson, of 5612 Putnam St., said he was driving along Inkster Road near the Maple Road intersection when he saw a pheasant cross the road ahead of him. He slowed, and came to a stop as the second pheasant followed.

At this point a car driven by Glen C. Richards, 56, of Detroit, who had seen Anderson slow down but didn't think he'd stop, crashed into him.

Anderson was treated and released at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, along with Richards' passenger, 17-year-old Paul Camp of Birmingham.

Repatriated PW Reports Nazis Killed Stalin's Son

CAMP FRIEDLAND, Germany (AP)—Stalin's son Jacob was shot to death in a Nazi concentration camp in 1945 after he flung himself on an electrified barbed-wire fence, a returning German war prisoner said today.

The story was brought back by Maj. Walter Reuschle, prewar director of Radio Stuttgart.

He said he interviewed Stalin's son, also known as Jacob Djugashvili, in 1941 after the latter was captured on the Eastern Front.

He said he got the details from the commandant of Oranienburg concentration camp near Berlin, where Jacob was a prisoner of war.

"Stalin's son suddenly made a dash for the high-voltage fence and flung himself on it," Reuschle said he was told.

"When SS guards shouted at him to get away from the fence," he said, "the Russian refused. Then they shot him."

Reuschle said Stalin's son apparently decided to commit suicide when he heard that the Red army was approaching Berlin, "because he was afraid the Russians would kill him for getting captured."

The German arrived here last night with 39 other war prisoners from Russia.

Reuschle, who served in an army propaganda company, was captured by the Americans. In 1946, they turned him over to the Russians.

He said he was convicted in the Soviet Union in 1947 of "having knowledge of dangerous secrets" and was sentenced to 25 years in prison.

French Arrest 105 Moroccans

Nationalist Mob Spends Night Burning, Looting in Fight for Home Rule

RABAT, French Morocco, (UP) — French authorities announced today the arrest of 105 Moroccans at Marrakech after an evening of burning and looting apparently connected with nationalist agitation for home rule.

Only one Moroccan was reported hurt — by firemen trying to get away from a hostile crowd.

The trouble started late in the afternoon, according to the official report. Friday is the Moslem Sabbath and a likely day for trouble because the population is idle. Police said the troublemakers were mostly boys, 6 to 14. They threw stones at the Cafe de France, a favorite spot for French and foreign tourists and the scene of several terrorist attacks.

Seven shops were reported burned, a warehouse pillaged and power and telephone lines cut.

Increasing evidence has come into the hands of French officials that rebel leaders are trying to create a solid front of resistance joining East Morocco and West Algeria.

The front would extend 100 to 150 miles from the embattled triangle on the Spanish Moroccan front to the area where rebel groups are operating in Algeria.

The operation is supported by nightly raids of "commando units" which charge out of the Spanish Moroccan section and raid deeply into the tribal area of the Beni Snassrene.

It's Fabulous

DENVER (INS) — Sharon Kay Ritchie, better known as Miss America, has announced she will get $5,000 for 10 five-minute appearances during the Christmas holidays at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev. Said Miss America: "It's fabulous. I just take a bow each night from Dec. 24 through Jan. 2."

6 Dead, 20 Hurt in Bus Collision

Eastbound Greyhound Crashes Semi-Trailer on Indiana Highway

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (UP) — A two-decker Greyhound bus, carrying 25 passengers, crashed into the rear of a parked semi-trailer truck early today, killing six persons and injuring 20 others.

The bus driver and six passengers remained in hospitals, some reported in critical condition.

The dead were identified by state police as:

Sylvia Money, York, Pa.
Sol Sender, Chicago.
Mrs. Charles G. Roth, Lafayette Hill, Pa.
Helen Rusnak, Chicago.
Mrs. Friedel Groenoff, Los Altos, Calif.
Anthony William Bruno, Wilmington, Calif.

Most of the passengers on the bus, an express from Chicago to New York, were believed asleep at the time of the crash, about 12:40 a.m. EST, state police said.

Harry Williams, 43, the truck driver, said he flashed a flare as a warning to the oncoming bus on U. S. 20, a four-lane highway, about six miles east of Michigan City but the driver apparently did not see it.

Williams said he had halted his truck, loaded with 15,000 pounds of freight, to repair a broken air line and had set out four flares.

Police Capt. Ogden Jarvis of Michigan City, said the impact of the crash sheared off the right side of the bus from the grill to where the second deck starts, about 10 feet back.

Meanwhile in Monson, Mass., 25 persons, including 22 University of Massachusetts students, were injured last night when their chartered bus hurtled through a barrier on a temporary bridge and dropped into a gully.

Heavy Rains Hit Middle Atlantic States; 18 Dead

Floods Close Highways in Pennsylvania, Jersey, New York, Connecticut

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern Seaboard was drenched and wind-whipped today, the result of a rain-laden gale that swept in from the sea and took at least 18 lives in the Middle Atlantic States.

For a time last night the battered area faced the chance of being hit by a second soggy blow. The Weather Bureau reported early today, however, that this second storm had failed to develop.

It had previously cautioned that one might be brewing off the Carolina Coast where the previous storm was born.

Strong winds, with gusts nearly up to hurricane force (75 m.p.h.), lashed rain that measured 5 inches in some places along yesterday's storm path. Roads were blocked, power lines broken and homes evacuated when floods threatened.

The storm, however, lacked the punch of hurricanes that pounded the area in late summer and early fall. It was technically described as an "extra-tropical cyclone," a storm formed outside the tropics by conflicting warm and cold air bodies. A hurricane is generated by warm air in the tropics.

The storm struck on the eve of the first anniversary of hurricane Hazel and generally followed her path up through central Pennsylvania toward Canada. By early morning the Weather Bureau placed the stormcenter in north west Pennsylvania, where its winds were reported somewhat diminished.

By veering inland from the coast, the rain-heavy gale spared much of New England. The area flood-conscious since Hurricane Diane nearly two months ago, had feared a heavy deluge but in general got only a light rainfall.

High tides still caused some flood damage in Providence, R.I., where a waterfront parking lot was inundated, and in Norwalk, Conn., where rising tides trapped 80 families, but posed no immediate threat to their lives.

Local flooding closed roads throughout Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey.

Weekend Forecast: Rain, Cloudy, Cool

The U. S. Weather Bureau says it will be cool with considerable cloudiness and occasional showers today, tonight and tomorrow.

The 30-day forecast for the period from mid-October to mid-November calls for temperatures to average above seasonal normals over the western half of the nation, the upper lakes and the northeast.

Below normal temperatures are predicted for the southeastern quarter of the country.

Precipitation is expected to exceed normal in the northeast and Pacific northwest. In the remainder of the country subnormal amounts are predicted, except for near normal over the Great Lakes, Southern Appalachians and South Atlantic States.

Today's high in Pontiac is expected to be from 54 to 58. Tonight the mercury may drop as low as 44 degrees. The high tomorrow will be from 56 to 60.

Downtown today's low before 8 a.m. was 42 degrees. The thermometer registered 55 at 1 p.m.

Few North of City Would Use Pike-Ziegler

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

An assertion that the proposed north-south toll road would serve only a portion of the people from Pontiac north to Bridgeport was made yesterday by Michigan Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

The commissioner spoke before the Pontiac Exchange Club in Hotel Waldron.

Points where autos would be able to get on the turnpike would be "few and far between," said Ziegler, "and persons desiring to make short local trips would find it more a barrier than an aid."

Only about 250,000 of the 3,000,000 people between here and Bridgeport would use the road with any regularity, he declared. "What would we do with the other 2,750,000 persons. They're entitled to have their needs met also."

A verbal battle has been raging between Ziegler and Chairman of the Michigan Turnpike Authority George N. Higgins over Ziegler's refusal to abandon plans for a north-south freeway.

The freeway is seen as making the toll road impractical by taking traffic from it and cutting toll revenues below the amount which would be needed to retire turnpike bonds.

"We had started on sections of the freeway before the turnpike act was passed," said Ziegler, "and can't simply abandon our commitments."

He said the Turnpike Authority had asked him to drop plans for expansion of many roads in this area so sufficient traffic would be available to make the toll road pay.

"I'm the only highway commissioner elected by the people in the United States," he asserted, "and my obligation is to build roads with the money they provide me. I can't do this by simply maintaining roads which need expansion in order to handle traffic."

He said the north-south freeway could be completed within five years with enough connections to existing roads to serve local traffic.

FEW TURN-OFFS

"While if you got on a toll road at Flint you couldn't get off again until you reached Pontiac."

Speaking of expense to individual drivers Ziegler said, "Each gallon of gas used on the toll road would cost 25 cents extra, including the gas tax and toll charge.

"The toll authority talks about having spent $450,000 already which would be lost if the road is not built. But we've spent several million on sections of the freeway already completed.

"They talk about their project costing $164,000,000, but the actual amount now planned for the bond issue is $194,000,000."

OKs Pike Shift in Dearborn

Chairman of the Michigan Turnpike Authority George N. Higgins said yesterday he has accepted a Ford Motor Co. proposal to alter a section of the proposed north-south toll road passing through Dearborn.

Higgins said the change would shorten the route by a mile and reduce cost about $1,000,000.

As previously planned, the road would pass within 40 feet of a church, encroach on an elementary school site and pass within 150 feet of a row of $40,000 homes.

The new plan suggested by Ford would move the turnpike west about a half mile, almost to Southfield Rd. Official Authority action is needed before the change can be made.

Sheppard Lawyers File Release Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—In a new bid to free convicted wife-slayer Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, attorneys have filed a 504-page brief with the Ohio Supreme Court.

The action came yesterday, a normal day in the prison life of the 31-year-old osteopath who is now working as an auto mechanic at Ohio penitentiary. A jury found him guilty last Dec. 21 of the July 4, 1954, murder of his pregnant wife, Marilyn.

The thick volume was laden with photographs and sketches of Sheppard's suburban Bay Village home, reproductions of newspaper headlines, and other materials. With it was a 111-page appendix dealing with action taken last July 11 by the Court of Appeals.

Sheppard's attorneys must convince the high court that his constitutional rights have been violated in order to obtain his release.

DEDICATION TOMORROW—Public dedication ceremonies combined with an open house will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. tomorrow at the new $1,700,000 Bloomfield Hills High School on West Long Lake off Andover roads. The school opened for the fall semester and houses over 600 students. Timed for 3:30 is the brief dedicatory program.

New Bloomfield Hills High School Dedication Sunday

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—The new Bloomfield Hills High School which opened its doors this fall, will be dedicated in brief ceremonies at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

Combined with the program honoring Perry Vaughan, a 35-year member of the Board of Education, and Edward Proctor, board president which plans for the $1,700,000 school were initiated, will be an open house from 2 to 5 p.m.

The public ceremonies will include the high school band and choir and tours of the building by the Student Council and faculty. The Parent Teacher Organization and the Board of Education are sponsoring the event.

Off West Long Lake and Andover roads, the tan brick building features a windowed front, and classroom wings to the rear which eventually will be expanded and joined, forming an interior court.

WILL HOLD 700

The 27-classroom school is of one-story construction, with the exception of a portion at the front, over the administrative quarters. This upper floor comprises the junior high school which ultimately will have a building of its own.

Designed by Swanson Associates for between 600 and 700 students, the junior and senior high already has an approximate enrollment of 610.

In addition to classrooms and offices are kitchen and cafeteria, auditorium-gymnasium, home economics and commercial units, science laboratories and a clinic. Bright colors have been combined with brick walls used throughout the interior.

LOW COST SCHOOL

New in school planning is the covered walk area for loading school buses. Parking space is provided for 400 cars.

"The school is about as low in cost as any in the area," said J. Robert F. Swanson, architect, "so there haven't been any fancy embellishments."

A 32-acre naturally landscaped site is the setting for the low building. "Because of the very fine homes in the area, we tried particularly to fit the school into its surroundings as much as possible and saved a lot of fine, old trees on the side," said Swanson, a Hills resident.

"It has made a beautiful thing out of the property and I think people are already aware of the beautiful park they have here."

Ready for play next fall will be a football amphitheater. Other recreational facilities available this spring incude tennis courts, baseball diamonds and soccer fields.

U. S. Faces Test in U. N. Fight

Philippine Issue Debate on Vacant Assembly Seat Prestige Battle

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States risks serious loss of prestige in the U. N. today as its all-out fight to win the Philippines a Security Council seat faced possible defeat at Soviet hands.

The U. S. delegation appeared optimistic. It contended Russia suffered a stinging rebuff yesterday in its failure to push through Poland's bid for the disputed council seat after four deadlocked ballots in the 60-nation General Assembly.

But many observers felt the United States could derive small comfort from Poland's defeat. They pointed out that, by switching its support to Yugoslavia, Russia stands a good chance of blocking the Philippines and winding up on the winning side.

The Assembly will resume balloting Tuesday. Behind-the-scenes maneuvering, meanwhile, could do much to change the picture, but at this stage most observers felt the Philippines had a slim chance.

On the sixth and final ballot the vote was 29 for the Philippines to 28 for Yugoslavia. This was the lowest tally for the Philippines on the six ballots. The U. S.-backed candidate started out on the first ballot with 33 to 34 for Poland and steadily gained until the third ballot, when it fell only one short of the required 39.

Father Snella will be assisted by Fathers Thaddeus Borzych of St. Charles Catholic Church, Detroit and Father Adolph Zagrodzki, assistant pastor of St. Joseph Catholic Church, Pontiac.

The Rev. B. F. Jarzembowski is pastor of the local church.

Stork Too Early but She Names Boy Ike Anyway

PORT CHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The stork brought him seven hours too early, but they named him Dwight D. Eisenhower anyway.

Mrs. Donald Eisenhower of Armonk, N. Y., had her baby Thursday at the Port Chester Hospital, seven hours before the President's 65th birthday.

Yesterday the happy parents said: "We had hoped the baby would be born on the President's birthday, but we're both so happy that it doesn't matter."

Said the husband: "If it had been a girl, it probably would have been named Mamie."

The Port Chester Eisenhowers are not related to the President.

State GOP Presents Blue Spruce to Ike

LANSING (AP) — A blue spruce from Michigan is being sent to President Eisenhower's Gettysburg farm as a birthday gift for the President.

The spruce will be part of a 48-tree park which Republican organizations in each state are donating.

The Republican state central committee said the tree will bear a plaque indicating it is a gift from Michigan.

The central committee said the following telegram was sent to the President on his 65th birthday: "All Michigan joins us in hoping that this is a very happy day for you. May you celebrate many, many more birthdays. We trust that you continue your speedy recovery from your illness and can quickly resume active leadership of the nation."

Water Supply at Utica Clear of Chrome Waste

Utica's supply of water from the Clinton River was reported clear again today after a new, but only small, trace of chromium waste turned up for the third time since July.

Officials from Utica and other communities on the river will meet with the Water Resources Commission Oct. 27 in an effort to resolve the problem.

this morning with Margaret they may do so sometime over the weekend as they did so frequently before he was forced into "exile" two years ago as an air attache in Brussels.

The belief that the bridle path was only a short step from the bridal veil was strengthened among the British public and press by the release of a 2-sentence statement on the romance.

The statement, authorized by Queen Elizabeth, said:

"In view of varied reports which have been published, the press secretary to the Queen has been authorized to say that no announcement concerning Princess Margaret's personal future is at present contemplated.

"The Princess Margaret has asked the press secretary to express the hope that the press and public will extend to her royal highness their customary courtesy and cooperation in respecting her privacy."

The statement, which broke a 2-year royal silence about Margaret and Peter, was interpreted widely as putting off, not killing off, a future announcement on the possible marriage of the two.

It was believed Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden would visit the Queen at Buckingham Palace Tuesday to discuss Margaret's future.

Parliament will not reconvene until Oct. 25 and it may be Eden's task to inform the world through parliament what the princess has decided.

At present survival rates, about 3,404,000 World war II veterans will still be living by the year 2000.

LUCINE AMARA

Pontiac's "Cinderella girl"—little Lucy Armaganian whose golden voice brought her a glamorous new name, a place as a Metropolitan Opera Company's promising young soprano, and transformed her into a princess of the world of music—will be heard again by her Pontiac friends when she appears as guest soloist Monday on the "Telephone Hour." The half-hour NBC program starts at 9 p.m. over WWJ.

Lucy, or Lucine Amara as she is now called, will sing Caldara's "Selve Amiche," a selection from "The Dead City," and "One Kiss," from Romberg's operetta "New Moon."

The lovely dark-eyed singer came to Pontiac as a young child with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Armaganian. The family lived on Wilson street here, and Lucine attended Wilson School where she took her first piano lessons. Later, at Eastern Junior High School, she played in the school orchestra.

During her childhood, the talented youngster studied violin under Bertha Marie Roth, a private music teacher here, who recalls that Lucine used to sing in accompaniment to her violin.

FAMILY MOVES WEST

When she moved with her parents to San Francisco at the age of 12, Lucine kept up her music training and also sang in glee clubs and her church choir. After graduation she became a typist, but joined the San Francisco Recreation Orchestra for her own pleasure.

At 18 she attracted the attention of voice teacher Stella Eisner Eyn, a former opera singer. She continued to work as a typist mornings, and then devoted six to seven hours a day to voice study and practicing.

Her voice soon won her scholarships and awards. In 1950, at the age of 21, she was signed at the "Met" to sing for the entire 1950-51 season.

In 1953, the beautiful Cinderella Girl from Pontiac added another sparkling jewel to her crown—her European debut, where she sang in Italy, Scotland and England. Now, a full-fledged member of the Met, she is acclaimed as one of the promising sopranos of our time.

AAUW members will also look over the books, magazines and records.

As always, proceeds aid the AAUW fellowship fund, used to assist women students doing college and special graduate work. Current fellowship award holder is Dr. Elinor M. Husselman, curator of the Kelsey Museum of Archaeology at the University of Michigan.

Probably not even the weather man is as interested in atmospherical conditions as city officials are these days. For just when the new 231-car municipal parking lot on Pierce will open, is hinged on the weather.

This week's rain didn't help any, said City Manager Donald C. Egbert, but with luck, contractors should finish the job in the middle of next week.

Tentatively, Chamber of Commerce dedication ceremonies have been scheduled for either Oct. 21 or 22.

Meanwhile, Charles Mortensen, chamber secretary, said yesterday the group's off-street parking committee has gone into action to come up with merchant's ideas for the on-street parking surrounding the lot, other than those proposed by Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley this week.

Among other things, he recommended changing the nearby 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. street meters to 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., which would chiefly affect theater parking and correspond to hours established for the lot. His studies will receive further consideration after the Chamber of Commerce is heard.

Young people at Holy Name Catholic Church will hear Father Edward Burkhardt, of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine for the Archdiocese of Detroit, speak following a communion breakfast at Devon Gables at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Donald Rickelman is breakfast chairman.

Mrs. Marion Fisk of Pontiac State Hospital, will address the Rotary Anns Club following a 1 p.m. luncheon Monday at the Bloomfield Hills residence of Mrs. A. G. Nancarrow. Mrs. John M. Wakevainen heads the luncheon committee.

A week of 7:30 p.m. revival services will begin tomorrow at Church of the Nazarene, the Rev. E. W. Varian, pastor, has announced.

Speaker at the services open to the public will be Dr. W. M. McGuire. He is district superintendent of the Eastern Michigan District of Church of the Nazarene.

Mrs. William H. Miller

Service for Mrs. William H. (Tina) Miller, 69, of 2200 Telegraph Rd., Pontiac, was held this afternoon at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home, with burial in Roseland Park Cemetery.

A former Birmingham resident, Mrs. Miller died Friday. Her late husband had been in the plumbing and heating business here.

She is survived by two stepdaughters, Mrs. Robert De Golia and Mrs. Robert Cochran, both of San Francisco; two stepsons, Robert Miller of Pontiac, Arthur Miller of Birmingham and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Henry Mimms of Detroit.

U.N. to Debate Island's Future

Present Dutch Control of West New Guinea Slated for Discussion

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The General Assembly will debate soon the future of a land used by Gen. Douglas MacArthur as a stepping stone in World War II.

Indonesia gained her independence from the Netherlands in 1949, but West New Guinea's future was left for future negotiations. These have not achieved any settlement and the Netherlands remains in control. Now the question is before the U.N. on a colonialism issue.

The territory embraces about 103,000 square miles—the size of Colorado. The Dutch give the population as around 700,000. The figure is approximate because the Dutch have been able to count only about 265,000. The remainder is the estimate for unexplored areas of mountains and swamps. The Indonesians say there are around a million natives.

The population includes about 15,000 Asians and 13,000 Europeans.

New Guinea, with a total area of 311,000 square miles, is the second largest island in the world (after Greenland). Australia, only a few miles to the south across Torres Strait, administers the eastern areas outside Dutch control.

The island's strategic importance was highlighted in World War II when the Japanese occupied both north and west New Guinea. Hollandia, on the north coast, was the first town to fall in 1944 to Allied troops in Gen. MacArrthur's stepping-stone campaign to drive the Japanese from the Philippines.

MCArthur established headquarters in Hollandia, now West New Guinea's capital.

GIs on New Guinea told the home folks about savage tribesmen who brought in heads of Japanese who tried to escape into the wild interior. Head hunting is still an occasional indulgence.

West New Guinea presently has little economic importance. The Dutch put total exports for 1953, mostly copra and crude oil, at 3½ million dollars against 20 millions in imports. There has been some exploration for deposits of metals.

In many of the interior areas metal tools are unknown. Missionaries have peneted into some remote areas. The Dutch estimate there were 170,000 Christians in 1950.

MEET YOUR PRESIDENT—6
The Inauguration

Even while Gen. Eisenhower was in Europe commanding NATO, lots of people wanted him to run for President.

On June 1, 1952, he returned to this country and took off his uniform. Three days later, in a rain and windstorm that swept Abilene, Kan., he made his first political speech. The following month at the Republican convention, he won the nomination on the first ballot.

Always a hard worker, Ike then tackled the presidential campaign in the same energetic manner he used in his military campaigns. He made 228 speeches and traveled 50,000 miles. He won the election in a "landslide"; that is, he won it with many votes to spare.

Solon Probers Awaiting Rule on Forced Testimony

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — Congressional investigators, ever ready to assert their power to compel testimony, again lie becalmed in a legal sea.

For once, Republicans and Democratic Congressmen find themselves in the same boat as they await the court's response to the clash between assertions of legislative power and claims of individual rights.

Crux of the problem remains the power to punish for contempt of Congress, when may a witness properly refuse to answer the questions of Congressional investigators? On what grounds may he base his refusal? Can a witness be forced to testify if he is granted immunity from prosecution?

In 1955, the Senate cited four persons for contempt, the House only one. In 1954, by contrast, 36 were cited, 29 of them on the initiative of the House Un-American Acitivities Committee.

The pendulum has been swinging for several years, guided by the judicial climate as well as the prevailing winds of investigation. The biggest year since World War II was 1950, when 63 persons were cited (59 by the Un-American Activities group) after clarification of the law by key Supreme Court rulings.

All 45 citations in 1951 stemmed from the crime probe by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D Tenn). But the number dropped to eight in 1952, to three in 1953.

WITNESS IMMUNITY

One case tests constitutionality of the witness-immunity law enacted in 1954. The law was designed to permit Congress and the courts to compel testimony from witnesses in matters involving the national security, even if they claim protection of the Fifth Amendment's "self-incrimination" clause.

The Amendment permits a witness to refuse to testify against himself. Under the 1954 law, U. S. District Courts may issue grants of immunity, in effect barring any punishment for crimes revealed in the course of testimony.

The theory is that compulsory testimony would not be self-incriminatory if punishment were barred.

Congress has not yet used the new law.

The second case of exceptional concern to Congress also revolves around use of the Fifth Amendment to withhold testimony. The question: Can a witness, for example, deny that he has ever engaged in espionage or subversive activities, then refuse to answer specific questions on the same subject on the grounds of "self-incrimination?"

Such a question is involved in the case of Diantha D. Hoag, one of the five persons cited for contempt in 1955. The case will go to trial in December.

Miss Hoga was cited by the Senate Feb. 4 for refusing to answer questions before the Government Operations Permanent Investigations Subcommittee in 1954, during a probe of Communist infiltration of defense plants.

BASIC ISSUE

The third case tests a basic issue: Does the First Amendment and its guarantee of free speech provide safe grounds for a witness' refusal to testify?

When the issue was presented in the contempt trial of Corliss Lamont, an author, in July, the court ignored it and dismissed the indictment on technical points. Now the issue has been raised in the trial of Harvey O'Connor before Federal District Judge Joseph R. McGarraghy in Washington. A decision awaits the filing of briefs.

O'Connor is an author who was cited for contempt in 1953, when he refused to answer questions of the McCarthy Subcommittee in a probe of the State Department's overseas library program.

O'Connor, whose books were used in the program, pleaded protection of the First Amendment, saying political opinions are of no legitimate concern to the Subcommittee.

Colombia's Censorship

Despite seizure of the newspaper El Tiempo of Bogota, there are signs of relaxation in the press censorship established by Colombia's President Rojas Pinilla.

Seizure of the newspaper, one of the finest in Latin America, occurred two months ago. So far, according to its publisher, Colombia's ex-President Eduardo Santos, who now is in New York, there is no indication as to when or if he will be allowed to resume publication.

The arbitrary closing down of the liberal El Tiempo was widely regarded as another long step toward dictatorship. Dr. Santos reports, however, that censorship has been lifted in his homeland. On September 23 the government adopted a new law designed as a step toward press freedom.

Some of its provisions, however, tend to nullify that freedom. For example, it bans publication of anything "disrespectful" of the president. Besides this old Latin American doctrine of "desacato" the new law permits the summary levying of fines without recourse to a judge or a court.

On the credit side, newsprint supplies have been freed and government censors have been removed from newspaper offices. But President Rojas Pinilla should remember El Tiempo has become as much of a symbol in Columbia as La Prensa is in Argentina.

Therefore, until El Tiempo is permitted to resume uncensored publication, the world at large won't believe that he has restored press freedom.

National Bible Week

The period October 17 through 23, set aside as National Bible Week, has double significance this year.

Not only is it a time dedicated to special appreciation of this greatest of all books, but it marks the 15th anniversary of the observance of National Bible Week.

As in previous years the observance is sponsored by the all faiths Laymen's National Committee. Members of this group feel that the annual observances have had much to do with today's inspiring resurgence of religion.

This year's theme is "The Bible Is the Rock on Which Our Republic Stands." In Bible Week posters distributed around the country, Plymouth Rock shares the center of attention with the Scriptures.

No finer tribute has been paid the Bible than that voiced by Abraham Lincoln back in 1864 in acknowledging the gift of one from the colored citizens of Baltimore:

"In regard to this Great Book, I have but to say it is the best gift God has given to man . . . But for it we could not know right from wrong. All things most desirable for man's welfare, here and hereafter, are to be found portrayed in it."

Redrawing India's Map

One of the most interesting political experiments of modern times has been recommended for India by a special three man commission.

The commission's proposal is that the map of India be redrawn along linguistic lines and that in the process the country's 29 states be reduced to 16.

Basis of the idea is the fact that 73 per cent of the people speak Indo-Aryan languages and about 20 per cent speak Dravidian. Other linguistic families are represented by smaller groups. Out of this confusion of tongues 179 distinct languages can be recognized, 14 of them being of major importance.

These 14 languages would be represented in the new map of India by 14 linguistic states. Each of the other two states, Punjab and Bombay, would have two languages. A concentrated effort would be made toward establishing Hindi as the official language.

At first glance the plan seems to emphasize factors which tend to divide instead of unite the people. Proponents argue, however, that the plan's advantages outweigh any such drawbacks by making possible greater administrative efficiency and economy. They also contend that Hindi as the official language, would provide the necessary national cohesion.

Prime Minister Nehru has asked for thoughtful discussion of this program. Certainly any such sweeping political and cultural experiment not only deserves that but should be watched sympathetically by all friends of India.

Hare's Fingers Nipped in Scrap With Sheriff

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING—Meet Sheriff Ferris E. Lucas of St. Clair County, operator of the sharpest political buzz saw in Michigan.

Secretary of State James M. Hare reached out this week to see if it was sharp and is still hunting for his fingers.

Worse than that, Hare's colleague, Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh, got bloodied even though he wasn't in sight.

Capitol folks haven't had so much fun since the State Office Building burned down.

Lucas cut deep gashes in the Williams administration's pride by disclosing what he said was favoritism in Hare's administration of the driver re-examination law. He insinuated that Hare or his staff had dropped an examination into Kavanagh's right to drive after the attorney general showed up with a bunch of traffic arrests.

SUPERB TIMING

The timing and adroitness of Lucas' little cutting-up job has seldom been matched in the Capitol. It left Hare sitting goggle-eyed at what an adept politician can do when he gets mad.

Hare had been warned by many friends not to monkey with the sheriffs, as tightly knit and politically smart a bunch as there is in all government.

But Hare was so enthused about improving highway safety that he ignored the advice—and walked into Lucas and the buzz saw.

Most folks probably think of a county sheriff as a plump old gent in a rumpled suit, chewing on a cold seegar and glad-handing the customers. Some of them are like that and a lot of them aren't. But Lucas definitely is not.

17 YEARS IN OFFICE

He has been St. Clair County sheriff for about 17 years and in those years has reportedly built an efficient arm of public service.

Lucas looks less like a sheriff than anyone you ever saw. If you met him on the street you'd think he was a customer's man in a first-class brokerage house.

In fact, he told Hare ruefully: "The State Police get a lot of publicity by canceling all leaves on vacation weekends to handle the traffic. I have been putting all my cars out every holiday weekend for 17 years and nobody ever put my name in headlines for it."

SHERIFFS INSULTED

Hare's proposal to take driver licensing away from local officials was bad enough, but what really got the sheriffs mad was Hare's implication that they were doing a bad job, issuing licenses to poor drivers and playing favorites.

Hare and Williams met once with the sheriffs in the House of Representatives and the sheriffs cannily assigned Lucas to do their talking.

In the opinion of observers, Lucas ripped so many holes in the Hare-Williams proposal that there wasn't much left. Hare didn't have the answers and Williams got mad.

So Hare gathered up the answers and called the sheriffs back again.

This time Hare was loaded and he produced a lot of figures to at least give color of substance to his charge that some local officials are not doing a good licensing job.

If the affair could have been settled then, Hare probably could have claimed a moral victory.

But he reckoned again without Lucas and he's been so busy hunting for his fingers ever since that the common folks haven't had a chance to think about the driver licensing matter.

In short, if you can spread a smoke screen with a buzz saw, that's what Lucas did.

Recognition of Growing Lay Interest in Churches Reaches Climax Sunday

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, October 16, Laymen's Sunday, is the climax of Churchmen's Week, an eight-day period of special laymen's activities that began with Men and Missions Sunday a week ago.

Sponsored by United Church men, the laymen's division of the National Council of Churches, the week is an annual recognition of the fast growing laymen's movement.

The past 15 years have been marked by a tremendous upsurge of interest among laymen, who in former years were inclined to pay the bills and leave church activities to clergy and women. For reasons still unclear, American men began, about a decade ago, to assume a role as participants in church work.

CHRISTIAN ACTION

The week's theme has been, "Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only," from the Epistle of St. James, chapter 1, verse 22. Laymen will take over worship services in thousands of Protestant churches Sunday. In accordance with the theme, they will choose hymns, prayers, scripture readings and sermons stressing the need of Christian action in the world.

ST. URSULA

St. Ursula was a princess in Cornwall late in the fourth century. All princesses, of course, are beautiful, intelligent and virtuous, and Ursula was no exception. Her fame spread far beyond Cornwall, far enough to reach a Scottish prince named Conan, who sent for her to come and marry him.

With his own proposal of marriage Conan requested that Ursula bring other girls to marry Christian soldiers who were with him.

Here legend takes over on a large scale. It says that Ursula set sail in three boats with 11,000 eligible young ladies. Caught in a storm, they were driven off their course and up the Rhine river. Here all were killed by the barbarian Huns, against whom they defended their virtue.

This was in 383 A.D., at Cologne.

It is far more likely that Ursula was accompanied by 11 maidens. They may have come to a violent end at Cologne, and it may have been under the circumstances set forth in the legend. But the extravagant number of girls purported involved is, scholars say, connected with the 12th century discovery of a vast quantity of human bones at Cologne.

AMERICAN PARALLEL

In the early history of our country there is an interesting parallel to this ancient story. It has a happier ending however.

Louisiana settlers in the 18th century found themselves in much the same situation as the bachelors in Prince Conan's army, and the King of France did what Ursula had done about it. Louisiana at that time belonged to France.

The King sent boatloads of girls to marry the lonely settlers. Each girl was given the "King's dowry," a small chest, called a casket, containing one blanket, four sheets, two pairs of stockings, six headdresses and a "Pelisse" an outer garment. They were called "casket girls" because of the chests of gifts they carried.

They were housed in the Ursuline Convent while waiting for the young men to make their choices.

Since pre-Christian times the palm has been a badge of honor and a symbol of victory or achievement. Triumphant generals were given palm branches. Palms were spread in the path of Jesus as He came riding into Jerusalem. Even today the palm figures in some military and state decorations.

In the early days of the church, when Christians not only had to resist the powers of darkness within themselves, but also to combat the pressures and persecution of the pagan world, the palm was considered the symbol of victory over the enemies of the soul.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Wife's 'Medical Specimen' Pregnancy Frightens Hubby Into Arms of Siren

Girls, "butterflies" in your stomach are not a sure guarantee that the boy friend will make you an ideal husband. Shop around shrewdly and use the "horse sense" outlined below. And after marriage, don't fall into that "medical specimen" stage during the first pregnancy.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case P-366: Rosa B., aged 23, is a new mother, yet is demanding a divorce.

"How could Terry have treated me like this?" she sobbed, and then unfolded the following story.

Married a year, they both had looked forward eagerly for their first baby. But Rosa was an only child.

So her parents were unduly solicitous about her medical health as soon as they learned they were to have a grandchild.

Unwittingly, Rosa became changed from a thrilling sweetheart into a medical specimen.

Her husband felt respectful and devoted and worried. But he grew vaguely squeamish when he kissed her.

She created the idea in his subconscious mind that she was "sick," and his childhood contact with hospitals resurrected some of the nausea he had felt when he had had his tonsils out at the age of 10 and later vomited from the anesthetic.

Terry couldn't grow as romantic about her any more and he felt alarmed on that score. So, when she was in the maternity ward at the hospital, and he had been sleepless all night, he finally headed to a tavern to anesthetize his mind and get temporary freedom from worry.

There a siren took him home with her, after he was drunk, and next day he woke up with venereal disease while his wife obtained a broken heart, despite her new baby.

Yet she was unintentionally as much at fault as Terry, and her well-meaning parents were also accessories to this tragedy.

So, wives, beware of that "medical specimen" complex. It can cause the same disaster to a 25-year-old husband as the Ponce de Leon complex will produce in men past 40 or 50.

PITFALLS IN MARRIAGE

Another social pitfall, especially dangerous to women, is what we psychologists term the '29 Panic.

For girls of 29 often view their next birthday as a very fearsome event. The number 30 seems very aged. So they may begin to worry lest they have missed some of the rollicking good times of youth.

And if they aren't yet married, they are often tempted into going the limit before the dreaded "old age" of 30 settles upon them. Don't be so stupid.

Then many young married couples also have the wrong notion of true love. Because they are accustomed to each other, after a year or so of marriage, they don't get the stagefright reactions when kissed by their mate.

Butterflies don't flutter in their tummy and they don't have the zooming blood pressure, pounding pulse and tremors which they experienced in courtship and on the honeymoon.

So they often imagine they don't possess the proper physical bond for true love. That is doubly impressed on them if a former suitor happens to meet them or steals a clandestine kiss.

Then the butterflies may have a convention in their stomach. But that is simply the stagefright reaction.

Every well adjusted married man will get more butterflies by kissing a strange Hollywood actress. And the same is true of wives who may kiss a matinee idol.

But butterflies don't mean true love, so learn to revive some of your courtship emotions by going through the motions of a romantic date together at least once per week.

Then stabilize your marriage by operating it on a budget and be sure you know the full sex facts outlined in the medico-psychological booklets offered as a non-profit adjunct of this educational column.

Send for my booklet "How to Live on a Budget," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Dr. Brady's Mailbag:

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
By Dr. Brady, M. D.

Is there such a thing as rabbit disease? Nephew has rabbit, which is kept in a coop in the yard. When nephew developed a rash recently the family doctor was not told about the rabbit, and I. M. Told . . . . (H. S.)

Answer—So you're M? How's brother Ben? Domestic rabbits are not subject to tularemia and it doesn't matter whether the boy keeps one or forty rabbits. Why not? Every kid should have a pet.

I want to thank you for the help I have received from the exercises you suggest in the pamphlet for displacement. (Mrs. O. W. G.).

Answer — On written request (do not use a clipping) any reader who provides self-addressed stamped envelope may have the pamphlet "Tumor, Displacement, Cancer."

Frankly, when I first read your pamphlet on the constipation habit I thought you were nuts. I tossed it aside and continued with my daily saline . . . but things you said kept coming back to my mind and finally I re-read the pamphlet, became convinced . . . and it worked! I have not used or needed any sort of artificial aid for over a year and I realize now that the physics I took for years harmed my health in many ways. . . . (E. F.).

Answer—That's what a lot of victims say. It's the second or third reading that opens their eyes. Any reader who asks for it in writing and encloses twenty-five cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope may have the booklet "Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene."

What sort of regime would you follow if you wanted to avoid diabetes? Please indicate the minimum amount of sugar . . . (C. W. B.).

Answer—I would pay little attention to the government or ruling social system. The regimen I'd follow cannot be described in a paragraph. Send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing for booket Training for Diabetes.

Boy, twelve, always has hard time getting to sleep nights. Pediatrician gave him (a barbiturate) to take to make him sleep better but . . . always planning to write a play or someting . . . (V. T. S.).

Answer—The boy should lose no time joining the Boy Scouts. As a Scout he will get some good healthy discipline and direction for his physical and mental activities.

For years I had taken literally quarts of mineral oil, trick cereal preparations and all vegetable laxatives . . . Read your book with great interest, was converted at once . . . the fight lasted six days, but I won out and ever since have been as regular . . . gratitude . . . (W. H. E.).

Answer—Send twenty-five cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet The Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene.

On receiving your pamphlet "It is Stupid to Suffer from Piles" I inquired at the County Medical Society for a doctor who gives such injection treatment, and they recommended Dr. ————. His treatments have been most successful, and I am now completely relieved, after having suffered for twelve years . . . (L. D. A.).

Answer—Yet there are a lot of stupid people in the country. On request I am glad to send the pamphlet—enclose stamped envelope bearing your address.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

'We Scrape for Charity While Peron Got Millions

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

How was it so easy for this multi-millionaire scoundrel and libertine Juan Peron to get another $20 million from the U.S.A when here at home we have to scratch around for a few pennies and dimes via rummage sales, pot holders, etc., in order to get a shelter for poor abandoned animals, the mentally ill and aged? All this, here in a supposedly Christian nation.

Reader Seconds Praise for Philadelphia Minister

I enthusiastically endorse the comments made by Mrs. Eva Wright concerning Dr. Donald Grey Barnhouse, pastor of the 10th Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia. Dr. Barnhouse is a scholar in every sense of the word and is a gifted and articulate Bible teacher.

In a day when cults, rank modernism and dead formalism are so much in evidence, the Bible-centered ministry of Dr. Barnhouse stands out as a beacon. His broadcast, The Bible Study Hour, may be heard each Sunday and he also has a TV program and is editor of a monthly magazine.

U. S. Is Planning to Build New Embassy in London

LONDON (AP)—The United States is about to start work on a new and bigger embassy in the Grosvenor Square area that Londoners call "Little America."

The present building is too small. There are 500 to 600 Americans in the embassy and closely related offices, such as visa and financial sections. In addition, there are many British employes.

Congress has appropriated three million dollars for a new building just across the square.

"You can be very sure the building won't be one of those all-glass affairs," an official said. "It will not be supermodern either. It will blend with existing buildings even though it may not be Georgian in design.

"We hope to get started on the new embassy late this year or early in the spring. In a couple of years it should be finished."

The present main embassy building is a five-floor Georgian structure.

The American government bought Grosvenor Square property during the 1930s and since then has occasionally added other bits of property in the area. Seven buildings of various sizes are in use When architects draw plans, they will try to get all the embassy offices under the same roof.

Jobs performed by Americans vary widely at the embassy, biggest in America's foreign service. There are teams of specialists working on almost every phase of international affairs, from East-West relations to civil aviation. Each department has a clerical staff, including some British nationals.

There are also a large Marine detachment and a big Navy headquarters.

Farmer Brown Raises 750 Birds Annually

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Press Milford Correspondent

MILFORD — Next Thursday morning pheasants will "take to the woods" and hide for their very lives. For two weeks they will crouch in ditches, hide behind shrubs and even perch in trees, in an effort to avoid the thousands of hunters who will invade the wide open spaces.

Not so on the Brown Pheasant Farm, located at 6310 W. Maple Rd., east of Milford.

Seven hundred and fifty gorgeous creatures walk around "as free as a bird" with no fear of gun-shot whatsoever, and according to owner Dwight Brown, "are darned near tame."

A sign in front of the place indicates that pheasants are for sale for eating and dog training. The meat of the bird that is a once-a-year-treat for most folks, i available to all at the farm, for about $3 to $4 each.

Brown explained that in using the bird for dog training, hunters gently turn the head of the pheasant in several circles, then they tuck their heads under the wing and the bird stays 'out' for about 15 minutes. This gives the hunter a chance to set the bird, race to his car, get the dogs out in the field and on the scent of the planted pheasant.

Asked which dog he preferred for hunting wild pheasants, Brown immediately said "the English Setter." The pointer rates next high in his estimation, and he says he ought to know as he has been hunting for almost 40 years.

Extending from West Maple road back to Walnut Lake, the Brown's 300-acre farm affords dog trainers the best training grounds in the area.

BIRDS RETURN

Many times hunters come and buy pheasants, 'set' them in a field and wait for them to come to. They then give them a fighting chance at about a 40-yard range and try to bring them down. Brown explained that sometimes they even miss these targets, and the semi-tame birds come back to the pheasantry and roost on top of the fenced-in yard.

When Lullen and Dwight Brown started to raise pheasants five years ago, they ordered a few chicks from the Oconomowoc Game Fields at Wisconsin, and business was so good that since that time they have handled more than 5,000 birds from the same company.

Semi-tame pheasants have almost all white meat, and according to Brown, is a much higher quality than the wild bird. Reason for the difference, he explained, was that his birds are kept in a 300-foot all fenced-in yard and are fed only high protein bird chow. The seed-food that the wild bird lives on makes the meat tougher.

Besides raising pheasants, the Browns have five children. They work the farm, have 50 head of cattle and 35 hogs. Two days a week Dwight Brown sells calves and lambs at the Michigan Livestock Exchange, handling about 500 animals each day.

Rather than go home empty handed, many hunters stop at the pheasant farm and buy a couple of the birds, in fact, Brown says, "Next Thursday between 3 o'clock and dark, we expect to sell more than 200 birds—and hunters want the necessary State Tag "wired on loosely, please!"

TIME FOR CHOW—Mrs. Brown holds one of the gaudy birds as she feeds them at chow time. Wire over top of pen keeps pheasants from flying.

TRAINING SYSTEM—Brown shows how most hunters train dogs. He swings the bird around, tucking the head under wing. Birds are quiet then for about 15 minutes while the dogs track them down.

The request for transfer of liquor license from John Carmos, 3211 Auburn Road, to Nick Leone was tabled for two weeks so that information on the status of the permit may be obtained from the State Liquor Control Commission.

The board approved the bid of A and A Asphalt Paving Company for the blacktopping of Cherryland Street, completion date being Nov. 10, 1955.

Keeping pace with a regular college homecoming, students have spent the past week working on oversized displays for the inter-house competition.

During the half-time period of today's game, between Cranbrook and Western Reserve Academy of Hudson, Ohio, the seventh and eighth graders of Cranbrook's lower school strutted up and down the field doing a satirical portrayal of the University of Michigan Marching Band.

Familiarity Embarrasses Girl Worker

Man Has Habit of Placing His Arm Around Her

By EMILY POST

"I have been working at my present job for the past two months. I like the work very much. However, there is one man in the office who has a habit of putting his arm around me every time he comes over to my desk to ask me to do something for him.

"I find this very annoying but don't know what to do about it without causing embarrassment. Can you offer a solution to my problem?"

Answer: If he does this to everyone, then just ignore it. But if he only does this to you, be frank and tell him, "Please don't do that, it really embarrases me."

"Dear Mrs. Post: How is a wedding reception invitation answered which merely says, 'immediately following the ceremony,' and does not give the actual time. You've said that when accepting, the time and date should be repeated."

Answer: The inclusion of a definite time is necessary only when accepting an invitation to a lunch or dinner or when exact timing is important. The following wording of your acceptance is sufficient.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown accept with pleasure
Mr. and Mrs. Smith's kind invitation for Saturday, the fifth of November

"Dear Mrs. Post: I belong to a branch chapter of a nationally known club.. It has been a long-established custom for members to rise when the district governor is presented on the occasion of his official visit.

"If it is Ladies Night, should the women rise too? The women are present only as guests, not as members of an auxiliary."

Answer: The women remain seated.

It May Take TNT to Shed Friend

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Some girls have a terrible time making friends. They're shy, unapproachable, not very easy to get acquainted with. And they wish they weren't.

Other girls have a terrible time getting rid of some of their friends. Intimacy can pall. You can see too much of some people.

Yet, it's difficult to remove the welcome mat from in front of the door. It's hard to restore your privacy without hurting the feelings of the friend you're locking out.

But there comes a time, as in this girl's case, when a girl friend who is doing her absolutely no good must be sloughed off.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm absolutely fed up with a girl friend of my daughter! For years I've been trying to help my girl see through her, but she has always forgiven the hurts she has caused. Now she's fed up, too, but doesn't know what to do about it.

"This friend drops in every night at suppertime to see what my daughter is wearing and to pick up any news she can.

"She twists everything in her imagination and finds fault with everybody. (I've never heard her say a good word for anyone.) Yet, she runs around with the people she downs the hardest.

"She steps into the picture every time my daughter has company or wants to go out. She'll sit here for one to four hours of an evening or on Sunday so my daughter can't go out, and so she is sure to meet everybody who comes here.

"We're sick of her sitting here all the time and always pushing her way in when she's not wanted. We're sick of the lies she tells, and the way she acts when boy friends of my daughter are around.

"I've tried gently telling her things, but she's bold—she just smiles and keeps barging in. Must I shut the door tight, or is there some other way to taper off this friendship?"

Answer: First of all, hold a family council on what she does that annoys you most. Then with the list in mind, close ranks for a united front against what seems like her attack.

Maybe it's her arrival at supper-time. That you can put a stop to. When supper is ready, come in and announce it to your family, then make everybody stand up as though waiting for the girl to leave. If she makes no move, remind the family that things are getting cold.

If she acts as though she'll just join you in the dining room, say sweetly that you'd like to serve supper to your family, but you can't very well do it until she leaves. (Your daughter won't have put her out that time, you'll have done it yourself.)

If she appears the next night at the same time, call gaily from the kitchen that supper will be ready in 10 minutes. Have your daughter excuse herself to come out and help you.

If she wants to hang around, let your daughter say that she has plans for the evening and make "ending the conversation" remarks that will remind the girl that you want to eat alone. Several nights of this and she'll realize that she's not wanted at that particular hour.

If she takes to turning up after supper, your daughter can stay in her room while you announce (with your fingers crossed) that she isn't at home. She won't stick around long.

Prod your daughter into finding the courage to announce that she has "other plans" and to insist that they're her business.

On Sunday afternoons you're just about to go out when she turns up and you're sorry you can't stay to visit with her. And go out—even if you come right back.

To take the sting out of this procedure, have your daughter line herself up a lot of evening activities, and make regular, if infrequent, dates with the girl to do special things.

It will be obvious that the old friend has no place in the new pattern of life around your house, and she won't barge in as before. It's rough, but it takes dynamite sometimes.

Trim Monte Sano Suits Rate as Good Investments

Monte Sano suits have always been and probably always will be gilt-edged fashion investments, based as they are on sound design, coupled with what Wall streeters refer to as "sex appeal," when a stock has special attraction.

This latest issue is typical of the Monte Sano flair for great chic and fine taloring. The jacket, which can be lined, has a top-stitched band only in front, extending from the shoulder line, around under the collar, down the front and off to the sides, where it finishes in the seam

The shorter-than-wrist-length sleeve has split, turned-back cuffs. A wonderful foil for fur accessories made up in textured wools, flannels or gabarcine, it has a new dressiness in faille, or other stiffened silks.

For resort wear it is significant in shantung, linen or novelty cottons.

Curves are a natural complement to your type, so why hide tiny waist and look broader in stiff tailoring?

Curves have been so generally overlooked by most designers that the line comes as something of a surprise (and a welcome one) to many of us. The sheath fits so lightly the waistline is not seen—but why not show a tiny waistline?

Common Ills of Windows Explained

Wood Expanded From Moisture Should Be Sanded

The two most common types of windows in this country is the double-hung window where there are two sashes that move up and down and the casement where the sashes swing out on hinges.

A double-hung window has its problems and so does the casement.

One of the chief troubles with a casement window is that the sash doesn't want to move.

If the sash is made of wood this can be due to the fact that the wood has expanded somewhat from moisture.
usually do the trick.

When a metal sash stick or won't close tight the trouble can often be traced to the fact that the house has settled a little and has twisted the sash frame.

If the condition is not too serious a little filing away of some of the metal will put the sash back into operation.

Sometimes, however, the situation is pretty bad and what you need then is a window expert.

Some casement windows can't be made to close tight and a simple remedy here is just to apply weather stripping.

For our money, the chief reason why casement windows don't operate properly is the fact that the little crank adjuster that is used to open and close the sash has not had much attention.

These little adjusters often have gears inside them and if the gear is covered with heavy grease and dirt, it's not going to work properly.

It's a simple matter to take the adjuster apart, clean out the dirt and old grease and then lubricate it with powdered graphite.

This will keep it well lubricated but won't collect dirt or become hard in cold weather as is the case with ordinary grease.

Also check to be sure that the arm from the adjuster to the sash itself is working easily and has not bent out of line.

Put Sweaters Under Carpet to Block Them

Fall brings a tip on sweater washing.

The best way to wash a sweater is to launder it in lukewarm soapsuds and rinse it well. Then lay a piece of terry cloth toweling on a large square of brown paper. Put the wet sweater on the terry cloth. Cover it with another towel. Then place all the items under the living room rug.

Divide Laundry Into Three Handy Sorting Bundles

It's common sense to sort your laundry into three piles: hand-washable, white and colored.

White wash responds best to very hot water; in fact, the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association recommends that you push the temperature control of your automatic gas water heater up to the top for 160-degree water. On the other hand, fast-colored cottons, linens and nylons do better if washed in 110-degree water, so it's best to wash them separately.

Then the articles that require the same temperature of hot water, the same washing time and the same amount of bluing or bleach will be washed together.

Smooth Pomade to Protect Lips From Chapping

As the weather turns tough again, many women will be coping with the problem of roughened or chapped lips.

In many cases, this problem comes on before the cold weather because today's very popular non-smear lipsticks can act in a drying manner on some mouths.

A simple solution for this small unattractiveness is a lip pomade. One kind will bring a touch of remembrance to many women, for it was often the "first lipstick," in its rose-tinted edition.

This kind covers the lips with an invisible layer of protection and also heals up roughness.

It can be applied directly from the tube, but for most effective use, it should be rubbed in gently with the finger.

If it's applied at night, along with whatever usual lotions and creams a woman chooses, it can do its healing work then.

Many women like to use the rose-tinted kind then to keep from looking so pale in the morning.

Colorful Prints in Sportswear

Her fall collection spotlighted the Norwegian rosemaling print, and now for holiday wearing, there is a group of cotton satin "Pepperoni" prints, Italian - inspired.

Dolores J. Hylla Speaks Nuptial Vows

Before an altar banked with white chrysanthemums and pompons, Dolores Joan Hylla became the bride of William O. Thomas Jr. at St. Michael Church this morning.

The Rev. Michael J. O'Rielly performed the ceremony in the presence of 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard F. Hylla of Florence avenue, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Thomas of Centerline.

Her bridal gown was of rose pointe lace and nylon tulle. The bodice of lace was accented by long sleeves ending in points at the wrists. The illusion yoke with irridescent sequins was finished with a mandarin collar of lace. The bouffant skirt of tulle featured an accordion pleated inset in the center front, and a cascade of five tiers of tulle edged with rose pointe lace extended into a cathedral-length train.

The veil of French illusion was secured by a crown of pearls and irridescent sequins matching those on her dress. She carried a white orchid surrounded with carnations on her First Communion prayer book.

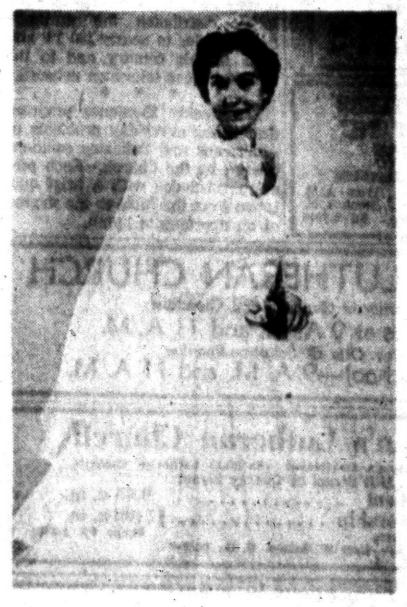

Grace E. Campbell, maid of honor, and the bridal attendants Marguerite Windiate, Esther Thomas and Patsy Sturgis wore gowns of irridescent multicolor nylon tulle over taffeta. Shirred bodices topped the bouffant circle skirts of their gowns. Lorraine Hylla was flower girl. The maid of honor and flower girl's dresses were lined with green taffeta and dresses of the bridesmaids were lined with pink taffeta.

Their headpieces were tiaras of pearls and sequins and they carried cascade arrangements of pink carnations with shattered carnations on streamers.

Wants College-Trained Hairdressers

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

In this age of atomic science, a good hairdresser needs a college degree, says Robert Fiance, who teaches the finer points of the pin-curl and the permanent at institutions of higher learning.

"Today's hairdresser needs a knowledge of chemistry, biology and engineering, along with an artistic eye for basic design," says Fiance, who was given the degree of honorary professor of hairstyling at the University of Maryland, and who has taught classes in hairdressing at the University of Miami.

"It's no longer enough to know how to wind a pincurl. When you use the chemicals of permanent waving and dyes on human hair, you'd better know what you're doing. You must understand the structure of the hair and the skin, and know exactly what reaction will result from each process, and why."

Fiance, a very young-looking grandfather, teaches hairdressers at his own Hair Design Institute in New York, and is almost constantly in demand for lectures and demonstrations all over the country. He started out to be a scientist, taking his degree at New York University, before he married into a hairdressing family. Says he:

"I got interested in the subject. I asked questions about what makes hair curl or change color, and nobody had the answers. So I decided to find out. I knew enough about chemistry and basic scientific principles to conduct my own experiments. And the more research I did the more I was convinced that this must be an exact science — not just a hit-or-miss business."

WSC Marks Anniversary

The Women's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church met Thursday for a business meeting and an observance of the 15th anniversary of the organization.

The Anna Circle served as hostess of the day. Mrs. Frank Coons opened the meeting with a devotional message on "Prayer."

The program, under the direction of Mrs. Sigmund Chmiloski, reviewed the work of the society to date, with brief messages from past presidents, Mrs. Harry Going, Mrs. B. D. Church, Mrs. Perry Ruffing, Mrs. Dudley Colby and Mrs. Fred Manes. Mrs. Clayton Rule, current president, gave the closing talk.

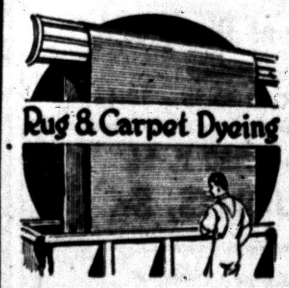

The society has planned a quiet day Oct. 25 at Galloway Lake Methodist Church.

Announcements were made of the Christian social relations study class to start Nov. 1 and of the fall assembly of the Detroit Conference WSCS in Romeo Oct. 28.

This has all been repaid and the mortgage note will be burned. The present pastors, the Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Wibley, came to the First Assembly of God Church in October 1951.

Vice President Extends Wishes

National Bible Week to Be Observed Oct. 17 Through Oct. 23

This yearly event, sponsored the third week in October, by the Laymen's National Committee Inc., an all faiths group, will be October 17 through 23.

In a letter addressed to William J. Grede, the National Chairman for National Bible Week Vice President Nixon had this to say: "On behalf of the President, I extend best wishes to all who will join in the 1955 observance of National Bible Week.

"By stimulating people to read the Bible, this annual observance serves to increase their awareness of the history of the origins of our civilization, their understanding of spiritual and moral ideals, and their capacity to lead happy and useful lives, both as individuals and as citizens.

"Please accept the President's best wishes for the fruitfulness of this year's National Bible Week."

Methodists Building California Hospital

PASADENA, Calif. (RNS)—Methodist leaders broke ground at nearby Arcadia for the first $2,096,000 unit of a new Methodist Hospital of Southern California designed to serve the extensive San Gabriel Valley.

Part of the construction costs will be covered by a federal grant of $625,655 under the Hill-Burton Act.

The institution will be non-profit and non-denominational with its facilities dedicated for use "by people of all religions, all races and all colors."

Warns Against Church 'Cynics'

Ike's Pastor Hails Job Done by Billy Graham and Dr. Peale

WASHINGTON, D. C. (RNS)—President Eisenhower's pastor said here that America's religious revival is being injured by "ecclesiatical cynics" who are "making sport" of Evangelist Billy Graham and Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

Though all signs indicate that a great religious revival is under way, said Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, "religious debunkers" are having a field day criticizing the popular preachers who have given it impetus.

Dr. Elson, pastor of National Presbyterian Church here, is the author of "America's Spiritual Revival." He observed that Mr. Graham's most vigorous critics are professors of theology and church administrators, and suggested they might feel differently if they had more day-to-day contact with lay people.

Those who contend Mr. Graham has no "social consciousness," Dr. Elson said, should note that in most of his sermons the evangelist "blames sinning on the evils of the day."

"No man is more vigorous in dealing with crime and divorce, selfishness and war," he said.

NO 'EASY' FAITH

While Dr. Peale may "overemphasize healing," the pastor said, he does not offer an "easy" faith as his critics allege. Theologians would not be so critical of Dr. Peale's approach, he added, if they lived "in daily encounter with individual men's agonies and aspirations."

Both Mr. Graham and Dr. Peale have been guests in Dr. Elson's pulpit. President and Mrs. Eisenhower were in the congregation on both occasions, along with high-ranking government officials.

Episcopal Bishop Foresees Tithing as Near Reality

WILMINGTON, Del. (RNS) — Bishop J. Brooke Mosley of the Diocese of Delaware predicted here that tithing will become a reality in the Protestant Episcopal Church within the next generation.

"There is a strong groundswell in the Episcopal Church in that direction," he told a Harvest Festival congregation in Prince George's Chapel, Dagsboro. "I believe that in a generation or so the Episcopal Church will be characterized by the fact that most of its people will be tithing."

* * *

The bishop said that giving is "essential in Christian life and worship and the only way we will know the fullness of God's grace."

Fraudulent Religious Distributor Arrested

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (RNS) — Murray Kram, 27-year-old operator of a mail order business in "religious articles," was held in $1,000 bail by U. S. Commissioner Edward Snodgrass Jr. here pending trial in federal court. He was earlier indicted by a federal grand jury on 10 counts of mail fraud.

The indictment charged that Kram sought cash contributions from people he misled into thinking medallions and other items he sent came from a religious organization. Each count carries a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and five years in prison.

Kram sent the articles to Catholic-sounding names selected from telephone directories. Government witnesses said people were misled into making contributions although the back of Kram's return envelopes said in small print: "This is for the benefit of Murray Kram."

Postal inspectors said many of the people they interviewed believed they had contributed to a religious organization.

Orthodox Prelates Urge Christian Peace Action

LONDON (RNS)—Eight leaders of Orthodox Churches, meeting in Moscow, issued an appeal to Christians of the world to work for peace.

According to the Moscow radio, the churchmen said Christian teaching compels the rejection of wars. They called on individuals and people to solve issues through mutual concessions.

The appeal was signed by Patriarch Alexei of Moscow; Patriarch - Catholicos Melchisedek of Georgia; Patriarch Justinian of Romania; Metropolitan Maracios of Warsaw; Metropolitan Eleftherios of Prague; Archimandrite Maxim of the Bulgarian Orthodox Church; Patriarch Christopher of Alexandria; and Metropolitan Niphon of Heliopolis and Basilius, representing Patriarch Alexander III of Antioch.

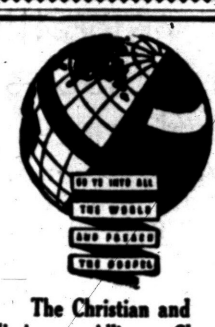

Catholic Society Urges Bus Travel for All Schools

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (RNS) — Bus transportation for all pupils, whether they attend public or parochial schools, was urged in a resolution adopted by delegates to the centennial convention here of the Catholic Central Verein of America.

The resolution charged that restricting such transportation to public school pupils was a violation of religious freedom.

"It creates a disqualification because of one thing — the exercise of freedom," the resolution stated.

Divorcees Form Church Group

Members Dislike Scorn; Want to 'Feel at Home' in Social Circle

PORTLAND, Ore. (RNS)—More than 100 divorced men and women, widows and widowers have formed a church club here so they can "feel at home" and be accepted.

The club grew out of a suggestion dropped into the collection plate at Piedmont Presbyterian church by Mrs. Verna M. Burke, a divorcee. She said divorced persons would prefer to join such a group rather than "bar hop."

Dr Paul Davie, minister, discussed the suggestion with members of his congregation and seven of them decided to organize the club.

Dr. Davie and the seven were startled when the first meeting was packed by a crowd that overflowed the church basement and hallways onto the sidewalk.

"The church is the place for a group like this," the minister told the group. "Most of you were wed in churches or by ministers. You began with the blessing of a church and minister.

"We are not here to cry over the spilled milk of what has happened since then, but we feel the church still has a stake in your happiness and your ultimate goal in life. We hope to give you something to lean on, something that will bring you together as people with the same problems, the same needs, the same hopes and hungers."

The group is open to members of all races and creeds. Dr. Davie said he believed it to be the third of its kind in the country, others operating at churches in Los Angeles and Pittsburgh.

'Martin Luther' Film to Be at Five Points

"Martin Luther," classic sound motion picture depicting the life of the great Reformer, will be shown at Five Points Community Church on Sunday at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

This full-length spiritual epic was produced in the towns, churches and castles of West Germany.

The script, based on careful documentation of the Reformation period, follows Martin Luther from his early days as a student through the feverish turmoil of the Reformation itself. It is uncut or unchanged from the original version.

Evangelistic Service Sunday Evening at 7:30

The South Side Church of God, corner of Nebraska and Motor Sts. will have the regular morning services Sunday morning. The Rev. Herbert O. Shankels, pastor of the church, will conduct an evangelistic hour at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Confident Living

Unlock Your Personality, Find Answer for Trouble

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A great deal it written these days about "problem-solving"—the techniques of finding solutions to those difficulties which beset the personality.

Authorities on this question seem to agree on one point. To deal effectively with a problem, you must have a key. So, I want to tell you about a golden key which many have used most effectively in unlocking their personalities and thus entering into a more satisfactory life.

DR. PEALE

A business man had a top employe whose work was growing worse and worse. Where this man had formerly been a hard and forceful worker, he was now definitely declining in efficiency. It was obvious to the employer that personal affairs were so much on his mind that they were adversely affecting his usefulness to the organization.

So my friend finally had to call in the man and ask him what was wrong.

"I have a great many things bothering me," the man said, "and, in addition, my wife is sick."

"What's wrong with your wife?" the employer asked.

"I don't really know," was the answer. "The doctors can find nothing organically wrong, but still she is sick all the time."

SUGGESTED HELP

My friend suggested that possibly he could help them. The wife presented her problems, the husband added others, and the problems began to pile up, so much so that it was apparent that this couple was completely swamped by their many difficulties.

As this confusion had overwhelmed the wife, her personality had retreated, and thus she felt and acted ill. The domestic problems, added to the business responsibilities of the husband, had overburdened his energies, thus reducing his efficiency on the job.

Fortunately, the employer had been reading a book entitled "The Golden Key," by the late Emmet Fox. In this book, Dr. Fox advocates the simple technique of thinking a problem through completely and conscientiously. The next step is to shift the thoughts from the problem and its details and instead to fix the mind on God.

His idea is that by bringing God into a situation as the central idea, problems will be clarified and the right answer found.

So my friend prayed with this couple. He started them thinking about God rather than about themselves and their troubles. By practicing this procedure they were able to get a proper perspective. By centering their attention on God and by spiritually sharing their problems with others, they learned to think objectively and therefore soundly. As a result, the wife got hold of herself so completely that she became a well person. The man is once more effective in business.

THINK ABOUT GOD

In your difficulties and your troubles try thinking about God. When problems come at you from every direction and seem to baffle you, apply that simple rule. Think about God and serve others. This will keep your energies strong and your mind will become quiet and peaceful. Thinking about God is not merely a religious matter, but it is also a tremendous mind-conditioning technique.

England's famous Cardinal, John Henry Newman, once wrote a prayer which expresses this better than I can:

"I need Thee to teach me day by day, according to each day's opportunities and needs. Give me, O my Lord, that purity of conscience which alone can receive, which alone can improve Thy inspirations.

"My ears are dull, so that I cannot hear Thy voice. My eyes are dim, so that I cannot see Thy tokens. Thou alone canst quicken my hearing and purge my sight, and cleanse and renew my heart.

"Teach me to sit at Thy feet, and to hear Thy word."

Special Series to Be Offered

Jewish Leaders of Past Wrote Message of God in Symbols of the Time

Starting Sunday evening at 7, a special series of six lessons in understanding the Old Testament, through the medium of its ancient symbolism will be offered at Bethany Baptist Church.

The Rev. Fred R. Tiffany, pastor, makes the following statement regarding the course: "The Bible is written by our great Jewish leaders of the past, who, inspired by the Spirit of God, wrote in the symbols of their time, the message of God.

"To know that message, one must know the historical meaning of the symbols. No one is better equipped to teach their meanings than the Jewish scholars of today, whose guide book of worship is the Old Testament. We of Bethany, are happy to offer this privilege to all who desire to register for the six consecutive lectures."

Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein of Temple Beth Jacob will be the instructor in the course.

W. J. Baumgartner to Show Pictures

The church school staff of First Presbyterian Church will be honored in a Service of Dedication, at the morning worship hour Sunday.

More than 60 people assist as department superintendents, teachers, secretaries and substitute teachers. The school enrollment is approximately 600 in the combined classes.

Walter J. Baumgartner of Silverside Drive will present pictures of Mexico at the dinner meeting of the church Men's Club Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Baumgartner returned recently from Mexico.

At this meeting, the local club will vote on affiliation with the National Council of Presbyterian Men. Bradley Scott will serve as chef at the dinner.

Church Unit Celebrates J. C. Penney Birthday With Luncheon

NEW YORK (RNS)—James C. Penney, founder and board chairman of the J. C. Penney Co. Inc., was honored on his 80th birthday by the Laymen's Movement for A Christian World Inc. at a luncheon here.

Rep. Ralph W. Gwinn (R-NY), one of the founders of the Movement and a long-time friend of the merchant, presented a plaque to Mr. Penney. J. Elmer Hahn of New York, president of Lebanon Woolen Mills Co., was master of ceremonies.

The son of a Primitive Baptist preacher - farmer, Penny developed a chain of retail stores that girdled the nation before the was 50. In 1932, as a result of the stock market crash, he lost all his stock in the Penney stores and, at 56, wound up beaten and despondent in a sanitarium.

There he heard other patients singing a hymn and found new peace and resolution. Getting a fresh start with borrowed money, he made a series of investments that enabled him to buy back into the company he had founded and eventually to regain control of it.

St. Louis Bus Drivers Returning to Work

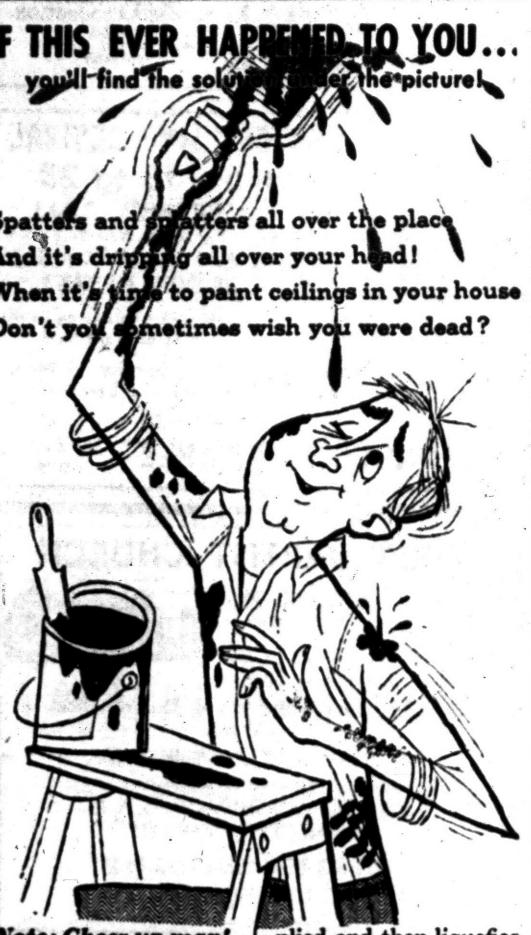

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Streetcar and bus service returned to normal here today and negotiators began seeking a settlement to the wage dispute which touched off a four-day transit strie.

Some 2,300 operators, members of the AFL Amalgamated Assn. of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes Union, shouted agreement to pleas by their union leaders yesterday for a return to work.

Some buses and streetcars went into service immediately, but service during last nights rush hour was below normal on some lines. However, most St. Louis workers had made other arrangements for rides and the limited service was no handicap.

The U. S. mints at one time were under the supervision of the secretary of state. They were established as a separate government agency in 1799.

IF THIS EVER HAPPENED TO YOU...
you'll find the solution under the picture!

Spatters and splatters all over the place
And it's dripping all over your head!
When it's time to paint ceilings in your house
Don't you sometimes wish you were dead?

(Note: Cheer up man! You don't have to put up with this mess any more. JELLED MAGIC doesn't drip and run and splatter like ordinary paints because it's jelled...clings to brush or roller until it's applied and then liquefies like magic to give you the smoothest, slickest, one-coat paint job you ever saw. Ask for a demonstration).

Comedian in the Rough

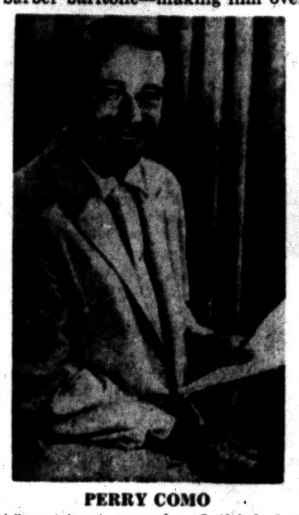

NBC Grooming Como as Gleason Challenger

"Conscience is that small voice in us that tells us when our neighbors are doing wrong."—Harry Rolnick.

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I've been covering the rebuilding of Perry Como.

The reconstruction job NBC-TV is doing on the Pittsburgh barber baritone—making him over into a comedian to compete with CBS' Jackie Gleason—isn't easy, because Perry, a sweet human being, disapproves of "insult jokes."

PERRY COMO

"Maurice Chevalier is the Liberace of the Stone Age" came out of one script because Perry thought it was unkind.

"All the girls are crazy about him—he's a Chevalier with a hydromatic clutch" also was deleted. To Perry, this wasn't Comoish.

Perry's demonstrated a considerable firmness about this. His head writer, Goodman Ace, the wit and author, long with Milton Berle, says, "Perry can do anything well and has his own ideas about comedy. I think he's right, too." And he adds, "It's a real challenge to write for him."

Perry got his first bad reaction to insult jokes on his first program for NBC. Julius La Rosa came on and advised Perry to have "humility."

Arthur Godfrey fans wrote angry letters.

"I've got to do something about this," Perry quite gravely told me a few days later. "I don't know whether to do it on the air or write Arthur a letter. He's always been so nice to me."

Perry talked it over with his wife, Roselle, and informed his gang he was going to apologize on the air.

★ ★ ★ ★

Perry spoke his apology right at the opening of the program where nobody'd miss it.

The big transition—from singer to singer-comedian—hasn't changed Perry's determination to go on being a nice guy with a homey following just as he has since 1943.

Sexy jokes aren't for him, he thinks. He didn't think it was good to speak of "The Warner Brothers Theater" in London, Paris, Oslo and Stockholm, and, in Copenhagen, "The Warner Sisters Theater."

★ ★ ★ ★

"Had you ever thought of yourself as an out-and-out comedian?" I asked Como, whom I've known since he opened 12 years ago at the Copacabana as the Copa's answer to Frank Sinatra who was at the Riobamba.

"No, but you see you can't sing songs for a whole hour," Perry said, swinging a golf club which he was carrying with him that day something like Darryl Zanuck totes a polo mallet.

"So we put in a few light things—and," he added with a laugh," some people said I ought to stick to my singing!"

He added in the characteristically humble way that endears him to millions of fans, "They're probably right."

They're probably wrong . . . in this observer's opinion. Perry accomplishes things slowly. Perry himself has tried making up some dialogue . . . such as telling a Marilyn Monroe, say, "My son would like your autograph, He's your fan."

PERRY: "Oh, he's 16."

He'll get there because, as he often points out, "NBC has given me just 12 years to make good."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Nat "King" Cole rejected a $30,000 Havana booking to ringside at Ciro's when his wife opened there . . . Mambo band "Loco Music Co.—Real Crazy" . . . Producer Grant Gaither gave "Loco Music Co.—Real McCoy" . . . Producer Gant Gaither gave Anita Ekberg a sign for her apt.: "Home Swede Home."

★ ★ ★ ★

Fiddler Florian ZaBach's concert costume will top even Liberace's: Orange jacket, alligator shoes, ruffled shirt . . . Tyrone Power, who's playing Eddie Duchin in a movie, hopes to do a B'way play in which he'll plunk a piano . . . Lt. Genevieve de Gallard-Terraube, the "Angel of Dienbienphu," visited Gilbert Becaud at the Pierre.

'Ike Will Run Again,' Senator Mundt Says

ta7 eessee vs15

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Said South Dakota's Republican Sen. Karl Mundt: "I'm for Ike. I think he's going to run."

Mundt added in an interview that "if Ike runs, the Republicans definitely will win." But he added that the Republicans must have "a strong, appealing platform and a strong Vice President."

Otherwise, he said, some Americans might not vote for Eisenhower because of a fear he might die in office.

The American farmer has increased his investment in tools and machinery about 900 percent since 1910.

KOREANS BJT

CRESWELL, Ore. (AP)—There was a "lot of bawling" at the Harry Holt farm home here last night when they tried to tuck eight new members of the family into their cribs.

The eight little oriental children, ranging in age from eight months to three years, were tired and irritable after the biggest day in their lives.

They arrived in Portland by airplane from Korea yesterday and then were brought by automobile to this little western Oregon town of 700.

Barbara, 16, one of the Holts' six other children, said things were pretty upset around the house last night.

"We would get them all quieted down and then one would start crying. That would set off the others—and we had to start all over again. There was a lot of bawling," she said.

Mrs. Holt, as expected, was too busy to talk to reporters. She said earlier in the day before she met the children at the airport that she was the "most expectant mother in the world."

And Holt, who with the help of nurse Kathleen Cowan, brought the children from Korea, was exhausted, too. "Oh, I'm tired, bu tawfully happy," he said when his wife met him at the Portland airport.

He hadn't seen his family since spring when he left for Korea to adopt the eight children—four boys and four girls — who had been abandoned by their Korean mothers and American servicemen fathers.

While he was gone Congress passed a special law to permit the Holts to bring the children to this country and adopt them.

OK on Hitler's Death Certificate Postponed

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany (AP) — A magistrate's court here announced today it will postpone issuance of a formal death certificate for Adolf Hitler until all 9,626 German prisoners whose freedom has been promised by the Russians are home.

The court had been expected to issue a death certificate soon that the Fuehrer committed suicide in his Berlin air raid bunker April 30, 1945. Hitler's valet, Heinz Linge and pilot, Hans Baur, who have returned to West Germany in recent POW transports, have given eyewitness accounts of the Fuehrer's last hours.

Hollywood Headlines:

Overworked Pinky Lee Won't Give Up to Mouse

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A sensitive fellow is Pinky Lee.

He has long been the butt of other comedians' jokes. This has hurt him deeply. He longed for the time when he could have their respect.

* * *

"I'm not a suave comedian, like Herb Shriner or George Gobel or Jack Benny," he says. "I've got a speech impediment. I'm ugly. So I do things that make people laugh at me and then feel sorry for me. Little wistful things that might bring a tear to your eye."

For years he lingered on the fringe of top stardom, rising from burlesque to night clubs and movies and then television.

But he never really clicked big until NBC slotted him in an afternoon program for children. The Pinky Lee show took off like a shot and soon overpowered even Howdy Doody in the daytime ratings.

Then along came a little mouse to scare him.

Well, it wasn't just any little mouse, it was the mighty Mickey. Backed by 15 million dollars of sponsors' gold, the Mickey Mouse Club was scheduled on ABC opposite Pinky. People said the Walt Disney show meant curtains for the little comic.

Pinky began working even harder. He already had a Herculean schedule—six half-hour shows a week. And he couldn't walk through his chore. He was knocking himself out like a trouper throughout each show. Even so, he stepped up the pace, brought in new gimmicks.

"The climax came when I had to give a commercial for Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck watches," he said. "Imagine, plugging the opposition on my own show! The only way I could get through it was to say, "buy a Mickey Mouse watch so you can tell what time the Pinky Lee show is on.'

"That was the day I collapsed."

He had even done 18 shows in two weeks, trying to get ahead to go east for the "Heidi' spectacular. That was canceled and he took a week's rest.

Now Pinky's back to the old six-a-week routine and he hopes he can hold out until June. Next season he'll seek an easier schedule.

But he isn't surrendering to the Mouse.

"I think Disney is a great creator," he says. "But you must remember that kids are loyal. They love me and I love them. I know they'll stay with me."

Premium Uranium Ore Mined in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Austin Statesman says premium grade uranium ore is being mined and shipped from a central Texas location near Burnet, 80 miles northwest of here.

The newspaper quoted Steve Steinhauser of the Austin office of the Atomic Energy Commission as saying that samples from the mine contained pitchblende.

"But we don't know how much," the AEC man said. R. E. Robinson, a consulting geologist, estimated at least 750,000 tons of ore will be available from the mine. The Statesman said ore samples tested as high as 2 per cent uranium.

Italy Plans Atom Plant

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Italy's major electric industries have announced plans to build a big nuclear energy plant somewhere in southern Italy.

The cost was estimated at 25 billion lire — $4,150,000.

Taking Advice to Heart Lands Driver in Cooler

WEST NEW YORK, N.J. (UP)—"Get down here as fast as you can and make a personal report," a police lieutenant told a motorist involved in a minor accident last night.

Lyle H. M. Watson, 17, followed instructions—but too well.

Police said he raced to headquarters at 50 miles an hour on the city's main street.

Another cop tagged him for speeding. His license was revoked for six months.

British Romance Alters Sermon

Billy Graham Revises Marriage Talk in Wake of Townsend Rumors

TORONTO, Oct. (UP)—Speculation on the romance of Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend, a divorced man, caused a change in a Billy Graham sermon last night.

Before he began his address on problems of the home to a crowd of 16,000 at the Canadian National Exhibition Coliseum, the evangelist announced he would omit a section on divorce and remarriage "because it might be misunderstood in London at the present time."

Graham had given advance notice of his subject for the first time and had appealed for the victims of broken homes to attend. Despite pouring rain, hundreds were turned away from the meeting long before it started.

"When your husband comes home tired, don't yell at him from the kitchen—greet him with a kiss. Keep his love at any cost. Keep young in spirit. Make your home attractive. Dress attractively—not immodestly, daringly or expensively. Read—keep up with him intellectually. Keep the house clean. Curtail unnecessary expenditure. Don't gossip. Don't criticize the Sunday preacher or other Christians in front of your children. Let your children play in the home. Don't nag and complain. Stay at home as much as you can to give your children a sense of security. Rear your children to know God."

For husbands: "You must provide love as well as money. Don't neglect your home for the lodge, the club or the theater. Make yourself responsible for spiritual life in the home — too many leave religious responsibilities to their wives —hold Bible readings and say grace at meals.

"Take your wife some flowers or a gift when she is not expecting it. Help her bear the burdens of the home—do the dishes occasionally. Don't be a tightwad—I know some women who have to ask their husbands for every dollar they spend. Don't be a roughneck. Be as courteous to her after your marriage as you were before. Remember the wife's whole life is her home."

Entire Village Attends Funeral of Crash Victims

TOWANDA, Pa. (UP)—This community turned out almost en mass yesterday for the funeral of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Merrill who were killed in a plane crash which took 66 lives. They and another couple won a ride in the plane on th flip of a coin.

Mrrill, a vice president of Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., his wife Ann, and Mr. and Mrs. James E. McGarr, were killed in a United Air Lines crash on Wyoming's Medicine Bow Peak Oct. 6.

Paul Felten, a Sylvania official, and his wife lost the flip of a coin to see who would get on the plane. There were not enough seats to include the three couples.

Felten was among the honorary pall bearers. More than 1,000 persons attended the funeral services at the Presbyterian Church. It was necessary to use the Sunday school room, the banquet hall, and the gymnasium as well as the main auditorium.

Merrill was in charge of the Atomic Energy Division of Sylvania. Funeral services were to be held today for Mr. and Mrs. McGarr at Beverly, Mass. He was general manager of the Tungsten Chemical Division of Sylvania.

Brain to Handle Checks for U. S.

Machine Will Replace 450 Employes at Saving of Millions of Dollars

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government is going to install a high speed electronic brain—replacing 450 employes—to keep track of the 350 million checks the government issues annually.

A joint announcement by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Comptroller General Joseph Campbell said today the move will save 2¼ million dollars a year.

They said the change from human to electronic check handling would take a year and that they hoped most of the workers whose jobs will be abolished "will be taken care of by transfers in filling vacancies which occur in the normal turnover of government agencies."

The changeover is expected to make a direct saving to the treasury of 1¾ million dollars, and to save a million dollars additional in operating costs of the Federal Reserve system.

The "brain" will not write checks, but will take over the complex disbursing and auditing accounting, which go before and after the issuance of a check by the government.

Woman in Kentucky Has 104th Birthday

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Miss Sallie Bullock is 104 years old today and she's just "taking it easy" with the family and close friends.

Though presents and cards were coming in from well wishers across the nation, Miss Bullock last night appeared more concerned over her 12-year-old great niece's first long party dress.

She has been confined to the home of her niece, Mrs. Harold Willett, since falling and breaking her hip on her 103rd birthday.

Negroes Attend Church Congress for First Time

WACO, Tex. (UP)—Seventeen Negro college students took part without fanfare yesterday in the Texas Baptist Student Union convention—the first time Negroes have participated.

There was no special mention of their presence and they ate in the cafeteria of Baylor University, host to the 3,000 delegates.

The colored students will stay in private homes here during the three-day convention. It was first announced they would stay at the all-white Baylor dormitories. But none was placed in them.

Indians Ambush Chiefs for 26-6 Win

By H. GUY MOATS

ATWOOD STADIUM, Flint—Central's Indians last night ambushed Pontiac High School's football Chiefs in this big athletic field, and practically cut the Oakland Country tribe off from any hopes of making a race for the Saginaw Valley title, this year.

Bill Doolittle's big warriors won the game on the very first time they took possession of the ball, three minutes after the kickoff. The final count of 26-6 was merely incidental to the victory.

Chiefs received the opening boot, but on the 3rd play a fumble was recovered by Central's linemen (two of them). Then quarterback Bill Ringer slipped the ball to fleet Willie Williams, halfback, on a handoff. Two effective blocks set Willie on his way, and he galloped for the TD, a 42-yard jaunt. Bradshaw booted the conversions. And that was the ball game.

Pontiac got its marker as the game faded out in the last minute. It had to do it the hard way, too. After driving to the Flint 4, Chiefs lost the ball on a fumble. But they recovered a Flint bobble on the next play, and three plays later had a TD. Charley Spann, who played a very good game, rammed over. Casteel's attempted kick for extra point was wide.

Prior to the final period tally by Pontiac, Central had scored three other touchdowns.

Their second came in the final minute of the opening frame. Chiefs lost the ball on downs on the 28. Williams and Ringer ran the leather to the 20, from where Ringer dashed over on a keeper play.

Chiefs came back strong in the second period and held Indians without a count. But they lacked drive of their own to get into scoring territory and the period was a scoreless duel.

During this period Don Hardy, Pontiac center, who had been doing a good job in the front wall, against a hard-driving and husky Central line, was injured.

Hardy suffered a head concussion and was removed to Hurley Hospital for observation. He was still there early today, and his condition was still being checked.

Central collected another counter near the end of the 3rd period. Charley Thrash, a fast, elusive halfback, went up the middle for four yards for this one. Central was on its own 18 when the session ended, 19-0 for Flint.

Chiefs got the ball on the 46 after a punt, but promptly lost it when Julie Strange, Flint tackle, stole the ball on an attempted handoff. Central then jammed its way up the field to the seven, and Ringer slid in for the tally.

Some slippery handling of excellent passes by Bob Casteel and Art Poe cost Pontiac at least four TD chances. On each of these instances the receiver was in back of the Central defense, with clear paths ahead. Three were held momentarily, but finally dropped.

Ineffective blocking and poor tackling were chief Pontiac faults. But there were some bright spots such as the running of little Kennie Fusilier and big Charley Spann, and the defensive play of Marvin Cagle. Poe and Casteel also tuned in creditable jobs.

Chiefs have now lost their first two Valley starts.

Scoring:

PONTIAC	0	0	0	6	6
CENTRAL	13	0	6	7	26

Touchdowns — Williams, Ringer (2), Thrash; Spann.
Pontiac after TD—Bradshaw (2).

Trojans Push Badger II Out of Unbeaten Ranks

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Halfback Jon Arnett and a battery of other Southern California ball carriers blasted Wisconsin out of the unbeaten ranks last night 33-21, before 75,162 fans in Memorial Coliseum.

The underdog Trojans exploded for two touchdowns to take a firm lead in the third quarter and were never headed from there on.

Arnett started the scoring parade for the night with a 55-yard touchdown run from scrimmage. He added his second touchdown on a 4-yard burst in the last 16 seconds, for a total of 134 yards in the 13 times he carried the ball.

Quarterback Jim Haluska, operating without his alternate, the injured Jim Miller, engineered the Big 10 visitors throughout the evening and completed a pass for 78 yards to halfback John Bridgeman in the waning moments, but it was too late to catch the Trojans.

Fullback C. R. Roberts of USC rambled 30 yards off tackle for the first of his two touchdowns, smashed 1 foot for the other and quarterback Jim Contratto scored the fifth Trojan touchdown on a 2-yard sneak play.

The Badger fullback, Charley Thomas, smashed over for two touchdowns from 1 foot and 2 yards out to account for Wisconsin's other two tallies.

Haluska, the main weapon for Wisconsin, completed 12 out of 21 passes for 232 yards but the Badger running attack found the big Trojan line too tough to consistently move.

Winless Lions Fear Big Four of 49er's Club

Seek 1st Win Sunday Against Potent Attack of San Francisco

DETROIT (UP) — Winless Detroit Lions, who find themselves with a futile 0-3 record, have a new worry Sunday: the fabulous four from 'Frisco.

The Lions know well who they are—Y.A. Tittle, quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers; Joe Perry, fullback; Hugh McElhenny, right half; and John Henry Johnson, left half.

Why is this combination so feared in the Western Division game at Briggs Stadium? Perry, McElhenny and Johnson have gained a combined total of 7,900 yards since they joined the club. Perry is the leader with 5,517 of those yards with a 5.7 average per carry.

Further, this trio has scored 77 touchdowns running and another 14 on passes.

Then there's Tittle, who has gained 13,156 yards passing in seven years, completing 958 in 1,769 tosses. He has thrown 63 touchdown passes.

Coach Buddy Parker has said before he still thinks he has a chance to take the National Football League title with an 8-4 record. But he added: "This is it. If we can't win the 1st one, we aren't going anywhere. But if we once get one under our belt, there's no telling where we can go."

Parker readily admits that if the defending NFL champions are going anywhere, that 1st one has to come real quick—like Sunday.

Jayhawk Would Like to Know Who's on First

LAWRENCE, Kans. — George Remsberg is a senior on the Kansas football team, but he isn't too familiar to Jayhawk fans.

Remsberg isn't too familiar with his position, either. Last year, he was carrying and punting against UCLA. Chuck Mather moved him to guard, pulled him back to fullback when an emergency arose.

In spring practice for this season, Remsberg was at end, then switched to guard and fullback.

Eaglets, Clements in Title Showdown

St. Mary's unbeaten Eaglets, shooting for their 1st Suburban Catholic League football championship, encounter their greatest obstacle to the crown Sunday afternoon when they meet Center Line St. Clement at Orchard Lake. Starting time is 2:30 p.m.

Tomorrow's battle matches the two top SCL powerhouses, currently deadlocked for league leadership with 3-0 records. The team surmounting this hurdle could coast to the title. The Eaglets are slight favorites.

St. Frederick and St. Rita clash at Hazel Park tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in a struggle between victory-starved squads.

Cosmah, Nasrina Picks in Gardenia Stakes

CAMDEN, N.J. (UP)—East Acres Farm's Cosmah and Nasrina from the Virginia Stables of Howell E. Jackson were favored to battle it out at Garden State today in the Gardenia Stakes, a $100,000-added race for 2-year-old fillies.

A field of 13 was expected for the first running of this richest race for juveniles fillies. They may have to run the mile and a sixteenth over an off track since the East Coast has been drenched by torrential rains over the past 24 hours.

United States, Russia Resume Weight Lifting

MUNICH, Germany (UP)—After a 2-day break, the contest between the United States and Russia for the world weight lifting championship will be resumed today with contests for titles in the middleweight and light-heavyweight divisions.

Russia has piled up 18 points to the United States' 3 with victories in the bantamweight, featherweight and lightweight divisions.

Final Start for Nashua

Skippers Clip Falcons

By GEORGE TRUMBULL JR.

A never-say-die Waterford Skipper eleven boosted its hopes for the Inter-Lakes League crown last night as it romped to an easy 40-6 triumph over Farmington Falcons. The tilt was a highlight of action in prep ranks in the area.

The Skipper squad jumped into 2nd place in I.L. standings as it spaced six markers over the 4 periods. Fullback Norm Probert paced the win with a 9-yard plunge in the 1st period and a 21 yard scamper, climaxing a 56 yard march in the 3rd frame.

In another top contest, Clarenceville grabbed sole possession of 1st place in the Wayne-Oakland loop as senior fullback Gene Garbin racked up both Trojan counters to hand Clarkston its 1st league loss of the season, 13-6. Wolves didn't score until the 4th period when they finally overcame a brilliant defensive stand by Clarenceville, with George Lang scoring the touchdown.

Fleet-footed Sam Manderichia's 43 yard gallop in the 4th period erased a 7-6 margin held by Walled Lake as he led the Southfield Bluejays to a 13-7 victory over the Vikings and held on to a share of 1st place in the I-L conference. Manderichia also accounted for the 1st TD.

Van Dyke Abes share the I-L lead as the result of their 19-0 decision over Berkley Bears. It was the Bears' 5th straight loss in which they have been blanked.

A blocked Brighton punt and a recovery in the end zone by West Bloomfield's Ray Brandshaw proved the necessary tonic for the Lakers' 13-6 victory over the Bulldogs and their 1st win in five starts this year.

Madison sits alone in the Oakland-B League top spot today as it blanked highly-rated Clawson 7-0 in the top tilt of the Oakland-B loop last evening. In the same conference, Troy and Fitzgerald struggled to a 6-6 deadlock.

Barons from Bloomfield Hills eradicated the sting of defeat for the 1st time in two-and-a-half years as they chalked up an 18-0 victorious win over Fraser of the Suburban Southeastern League. Al Bowland, Carl Marrow and Jim Kearney did the scoring.

Other area scores were:

Lake Orion 12, Oxford 13.
Holly 13, Milford 7.

SHAMROCK TD—St. Michael's Danny Dropps (above, with ball) smashed over the St. Mary's (RO) forwards to score the last of four Shamrock TDs in the final period of last night's 32-6 victory here. Mikes broke a 3rd period 6-6 tie with the big rally in which Dropps was the spearhead. An unidentified Shamrock (on bottom of pile) had blocked out a St. Mary lineman, while (47), another St. Mary's player was a little late with his tackle.

Target for Today

Spartans Set Sights on Uncrossed Irish Goal

EAST LANSING (UP) — An unmarked Notre Dame goal line is today's target for the Michigan State football forces.

The Irish, undefeated idols of a large section of football fans, have beaten and shut out Southern Methodist, Indiana and Miami so far this season.

Michigan State is trying to claw its way to a comeback after a 3-6 won and lost season in 1954, including a 20-19 edging by Notre Dame. The MSU Spartans took Indiana and Stanford this year and lost by one touchdown to Michigan.

"Possibly the toughest test of our season," said Notre Dame Coach Terry Brennan of the meeting.

"Notre Dame is always rough, and this year we think they're even better than last year," said MSU Coach Duffy Daugherty.

A bruising ground attack built around fullback Don Schaefer and halfback Aubrey Lewis has been providing most of the yardage for Notre Dame. But the Irish showed their usual inventiveness last week as quarterback Paul Hornung tossed two touchdown passes to mess up Miami.

Michigan State has backfield speed with halfback Clarence Peaks the top performer. Quarterback Earl Morrall changes the pace with a passing attack that demoralized Stanford the last time out.

A sellout crowd of more than 52,000 will be in Macklin Stadium for the 2 p.m. (EST) kickoff. The game is a national TV feature and also will be shown in color.

Navy Easy Favorite to Beat Penn State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) — Undefeated, untied and unscored upon Navy, an easy favorite on a hard, fast field, met Penn State today in the equalizing effects of mud.

The gale and rains which swept Pennsylvania and the rest of the East Coast yesterday made the Beaver Field turf rough for football.

But the game was a 30,000-seat Homecoming sellout for the feature attraction of State's centennial season.

Pick Skating Squad

CHICAGO (UP)—Leaders of the U.S. Figure Skating Assn. open a two-day meeting today which may end with the selection of the United States figure skating squad for the 1956 Olympics.

Campbell Takes Shot at World Mark Sunday

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—England's Don Campbell planned a final hard tune-up run today in the Bluebird and everyone hopes for good weather tomorrow when he takes a crack at his world speedboat record.

Campbell's jet-propelled craft hit 140 m.p.h. in a trial warmup yesterday, and he declared: "Both the Bluebird and I are all set to crack the record Sunday.

Campbell, who set the mark of 202.34 m.p.h. in England last summer, says he hopes the lake, which can get very rough, will be 'poply" (choppy)—not glassy calm.

Michigan Aims to Retain Clear Winning Mark

Wolverines Must Move at Top to Make Rose Bowl Trip

ANN ARBOR (UP) — If Michigan, ranked the nation's No. 1 football team in The Associated Press poll, sends its side of the scoreboard whirling to dizzy heights against winless Northwestern today, the reason is apparent.

The Wolverines have to be sure of preserving their perfect record against big 10 teams for a Rose Bowl trip Jan. 2, and their national stature demands an impressive showing.

Almost everyone, including nonsentimental gamblers who like Michigan by three touchdowns, is wondering how one-sided the game will be—not who will win.

Some 75,000 are expected to file into giant Michigan Stadium with cool, crisp weather predicted.

Northwestern will take the field with a lowly 0-3 record. Northwestern lost to Miami of Ohio, Tulane and, finally, Minnesota in its only Big 10 game to date. Michigan rolled over Missouri, 42-7, squeaked past Michigan State, 14-7, and smothered Army, 26-2 last weekend.

One of the game's most interesting points could be a fresh look for the fans, however. Michigan has yet to really cut loose with its passing attack or display its second and third-string backfield, which some say looks almost as deft as its first string.

Viking Harriers Take 19th Consecutive Win

Walled Lake Viking harriers tucked away their 19th consecutive triumph yesterday as they passed both Hamtramck and Redford Thurston in a triangular meet at Walled Lake. The score was Walled Lake 15, Hamtramck 59 and Redford Thurston 65.

The Vikings captured seven of the 1st eight places with team cocaptain Joel Bailey setting a new course mark at 10:43 6-10 with cocaptain Gerald Avery right on his heels to finish 2nd.

Cards Buy Pair

ST. LOUIS (UP) — The St. Louis Cardinals have announced the purchase of two players from International League clubs, the first player deals for the team since Frank Lane became general manager.

By BILL CORNWELL

After being held to a 6-6 tie for three periods, St. Michael's Shamrocks erupted with four touchdowns in the last quarter to crush Royal Oak St. Mary, 32-6, in a Suburban Catholic League football game Friday night at Wisner Stadium.

Victory enabled Bob Mineweaser's crippled Mikes to retain the "roamin' " jug for the 6th straight year. St. Michael has held the traveling award since its inauguration in 1950.

Shamrocks scored on the 1st play of the 4th quarter to begin the 4-TD avalanche. Dan Dropps pitched a perfect pass to Jack Erb and the Mikes' end raced 79 yards for a touchdown.

Dropps spearheaded the next tally with a 55-yard punt return to the Irish 15. Dropps moved to the one in two carries from where Ed Smith plunged across. Mike Lyons circled end for the extra point.

With four minutes remaining the Shamrocks struck again. Fullback Ron Elmy broke through the middle and galloped 71 yards to score. Dropps added the extra point on an end run.

A desperate St. Mary team took to the air and Dropps intercepted halfback Phil Brezinski's pass on the visitor's 25 and advanced to the one. Then Dropps powered across to wind up the scoring.

After muffing two golden scoring opportunities, a break permitted the Mikes to tally their 1st TD in the 2nd period. Elmy grabbed Brezinski's fumble on the Royal Oak five and rambled over for the six-pointer.

St. Mary's Irish came back to score their only touchdown and knot the count at halftime. Sparked by Brezinski's 52-yard run, the Irish moved to the Mikes' two. Brezinski bucked over.

Maples Collect Fifth Straight

Hand Hazel Park 33 to 13 Loss to Stay in Unbeaten Ranks

Hazel Park High School's new head football coach, Charles Skinner, was handed a rude reception in his debut Friday night at Birmingham. The undefeated Maples routed their Eastern Michigan League foe, 33-13, for their 5th consecutive victory and 3rd loop win.

Bill Swaney passed to Jim Tras from the Vikings' six-yard line for Birmingham's 1st touchdown in the 1st period. The aerial completed a 74-yard march.

Maples tallied twice in the 2nd quarter. John Appleford scampered 19 yards for the 1st TD and Swaney hit George Huffman on a 12-yard pass for the other.

Birmingham reached paydirt two more times in the final period to conclude its scoring. Wayne Geggie accounted for the 1st with a nine-yard run and Tony Evangelista went 18 yards for the other.

East Detroit defeated Port Huron, 14-7; Ferndale downed Mt. Clemens, 19-6 in EML scraps. Royal Oak trimmed Monroe, 34-6, in a Border Cities League game.

Women Stars Compete for Pentathlon Title

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UP)—The nation's most prominent women track and field stars, headed by defending champion Stella Walsh, competed here today for the National AAU Pentathlon championship.

The Eagles are on the outside looking in at a four-way tie for the division lead. Among the leaders are the surprising Steelers with a 2-1 record.

Cleveland and Washington, two of the other teams tied for first, meet in the nation's capital. The Chicago Cardinals, the fourth member of the quartet, are out to add another defeat to the hapless New York Giants' string of three.

The Eagles need a victory tonight if they are to stay in the running for the Eastern crown. They beat the Steelers 24-20 in an exhibition tilt here last month.

Also expected to see action are Dick Bielski, the highly-touted rookie fullback from the University of Maryland, and Jerry Norton and Bobby Walston, slated for the halfback slots.

Finks' quarterbacking and passing stopped the Giants and the Cardinals, in the Steelers two previous wins. Their only loss was to Los Angeles.

Baldoni Decisions Ray Drake in Bout

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UP)—There was a new face peeking through the lower rungs in the middleweight ladder today. It was a tough but pleasant face. It belonged to Tony Baldoni, a former Marine who still looks and fights like one.

Chief Harriers Mark Up 37th Straight PHS Win

One more dual meet victory, Friday, over Flint Northern pushed Pontiac's all-winning combination of cross-country runners into the 37th straight win for the school in eight years.

Chiefs' ace pair, Bill Douglas and Perry Williams, finished in their 5th tie of the season, to compile a winning time of 10:36

Pontiac's team placed five in the top 10, the smallest number of the season as Chiefs won 18-37. The two-mile event was held over the Beaudette Park course.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Trojans walloped the Badgers from the Big 10, ranked sixth nationally, 33-21 in a Friday night scrap before 75,162 in Memorial Coliseum at Los Angeles.

This could point the finger at Michigan, Maryland, Oklahoma, Notre Dame and Georgia Tech, the five teams ranked above Wisconsin in The Associated Press poll. All were favored to win today but a football takes some funny bounces and come sundown Northwestern, North Carolina, Kansas, Michigan State and Auburn might have reason to do some crowing.

Halfback Jon Arnett led Southern Cal as the Trojans blasted Wisconsin out of the unbeaten ranks with four touchdowns in the second half. Wisconsin led at the half 7-6.

Arnett tallied two touchdowns, one on a 55-yard sprint to open the scoring and the other on a 4-yard buck in the final 16 seconds. He was ably assisted by fullback C.R. Roberts who also crossed Wisconsin's goal line twice.

Quarterback Jim Haluska starred for Wisconsin. On one play he flipped a 78-yard scoring forward pass to John Bridgeman. Full back Charley Thomas bucked for two of the Badgers' scores.

Denver was favored to whip Utah, but was upset by the Redskins 27-7 in another Friday night encounter. The defeat erased Denver's title hopes in the Skyline Conference.

Vanderbilt battled hard against a reluctant Chattanooga line to win 12-0. Halfback Charlie Horton scored the first TD and halfback Joe Scales the other. Dave Orr, a skinny 148-pound halfback, scored three touchdowns to lead Colorado Mines to a 26-14 victory over Colorado College in the Rocky Mountain Conference.

Cloudy skies and mid-50 temperatures were forecast at East Lansing, Mich., as Notre Dame, unbeaten, untied and unscored upon, took on Michigan State. Light showers were possible.

The Irish, favored by a touchdown, rested its offense on the running and passing of quarterback Paul Hornung, fullback Don Schaefer and sophomore halfback Aubrey Lewis. Against them, MSC tossed quarterback Earl Morrall and halfback Clarence Peak.

Oklahoma, ranked No. 3, figured to have yet another winning Homecoming for the old grads, opening the Big Seven Conference season against Kansas. The Sooners, set to stretch their winning streak (longest active string among the collegians) to 23 games. They've already repealed the law of averages in the Big Seven — going through 47 straight games without a defeat in the conference.

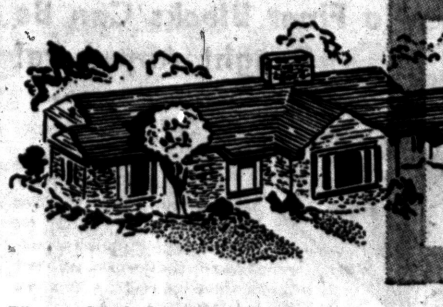

Michigan, No. 1 in the nation, and Maryland, dumped to No. 2 this week, appear to have it easy—on paper at least. Michigan had nothing more serious than winless Northwestern to tangle with in a Big 10 game. Maryland played an Atlantic Coast Conference game against North Carolina.

A pair of top intersectional games shared the weekend spotlight. Duke, champs of the Orange Bowl, and Ohio State, victors in the Rose Bowl, met at Columbus, Ohio, in a battle of Bowl barons. It was a "pick 'em" game, despite the fact Ohio State was beset with backfield injuries, including a minor hurt to All-American Hopalong Cassady.

Three important conference games also highlighted the day's schedule. Georgia Tech, No. 5, was confronted by Auburn's big bid for a Southeastern Conference crown; Texas Christian No. 7, had a chance to further its Southwest Conference ambitions against Texas A&M, beaten only by UCLA; and Cornell and Yale, co-champs of the Ivy League last season, met anew at New Haven, Conn.

Navy, No. 8 and UCLA No. 9, had semisoft pickings while West Virginia, No. 10 was expected to maul William and Mary. The Middies, also unbeaten and unscored upon, were confronted by mud and Penn State. UCLA, tops defensively in the Pacific Coast Conference, ran into Stanford, tops offensively.

Your Neighbor's House

New Lake Residents Are Enthusiastic

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Oakland county's lakes fascinate people. Families come to spend a summer at a cottage, buy a year-round home and stay permanently. The lure of seeing rippling waters from your own windows is irresistible. Dr. and Mrs. Howard Grattan discovered this after spending two summers at Maceday Lake.

Royal Oak residents for many years, the Grattans are now confirmed lake dwellers. With their two young sons, Edward, 14, and Kenneth, 9, they are at home in their new house on Dorothy Lane.

Their house was built and lived in for a short time by the A. C. Kirbys. The Grattans had summered next door while the building was going on and asked for first chance to buy when the Kirbys decided to sell. Far from regretting their bargain, they're more in love with country life every day.

Birch is the wood used throughout the house. Woodwork, window sills, the dado in the kitchen eating area, even the beautiful fireplace are made of birch. The exterior is made of gray cedar shakes. The trim is white.

Like so many country homes, this one has its main entrance in the rear. Down at the street level the family shuffleboard court is being constructed.

Visitors climb up past the rock garden and enter the back porch or summer living room. Jalousie windows insure plenty of light and ventilation. The furniture is informal and comfortable.

One step up, the entrance hall opens into the living room and on the other side the utility room. The floor is paved in irregular tiles.

The 15x23' living room with its 13x9' dining ell commands a sweeping view of the lake through the front picture window. The wall-to-wall carpeting is gray. Semi-sheer material, with a glint of gold in it has been used for all the traverse draperies.

Mrs. Grattan has chosen shades of green for the furniture in this room with the soft gray walls and white ceiling. Beside the golden fireplace with its green tile hearth, Dr. Grattan's deep aqua leather armchair holds a place of prominence.

The front door opens out of the small dining room. Birch corner cabinets fit snugly on two sides. The Grattans have added a handsome birch buffet, with sliding glass doors to house their fine display of crystal. Like all their furniture, this is a Heywood - Wakefield piece. The chair seats are green. Mrs. Grattan anticipates the time when they may need replacing and talks of making needlepoint covers. She already has made an exquisite piece of needlepoint for her piano bench.

The kitchen is large, with an abundance of cupboard space, efficiently planned. Here also the woodwork is birch. There's a bit of aqua in the wallpaper above the eating area dado, and the counter tops are aqua. The pink design in the short window ruffles echoes the pink ceiling.

To make her food preparation duties pleasant, Mrs. Grattan has a tiny planning desk in one corner. The windows above the long work counter open onto the back porch, making summer meal service simple.

Mrs. Grattan loves to cook and thoroughly enjoys her new kitchen. She likes the convenience of the utility room just around the corner.

She showed us one of her most treasured possessions, an antique Wedgewood teapot which had belonged to her grandmother. It is grayish white, with the traditional Wedgewood figures in dark blue. These figures are supposed to represent the story of life and death.

The Grattans' bedroom at the front of the house is done in rose and aqua. The fabric used for the draperies, the dust ruffle on the bed and the little slipper chair is aqua with pink roses and a sprinkling of gold on it. Mrs. Grattan did a professional job of recovering the boudoir lamps on the dresser.

The boys share a large bedroom at the back. Next to their room is the den and television room. All the bedrooms have windows on two sides. There are ample closets with sliding doors, even a cedar closet in the boys' room.

Taking advantage of its site —on the side of the hill—this house has a full basement. There is, of course, the furnace room. There is also a two-car garage, a billiard room and a large recreation rotom.

The fieldstone fireplace in this last room is the focal point. Beside it stands an old organ with foot pedals. The Grattans are a musical family and enjoy singing. On the other side is the mammoth table holding the boys' electric train. Mrs. Grattan says when their card club meets, the men migrate to the basement to play with the train!

HIGH ABOVE THE LAKE — High above the north shore of Maceday Lake the Howard Grattans have found a new home. The gray house with its white trim has a snug air about it. Dr. Grattan and the family's dog, Frisky, sit on the front doorstep, enjoying the Autumn's unseasonably warm weather. Dr. Grattan commutes daily to Royal Oak.

BACK ENTRANCE — Most visitors to the Grattan home enter by the back door. The lower door goes into the two-car garage. The slabs of rock help hold the hillside in place, as well as providing an interesting arrangement. The back porch, with its jalousie windows is the summer living room.

ROOM WITH A VIEW — The far shore of the lake can be seen easily through the front picture windows of the Grattan home. By now Dr. Grattan takes it all pretty much for granted. To the left can be seen the unusual fireplace made of polished birch. The small inner shell is made of white marble, while the hearth is green slate.

PLEASANT TO WORK IN — The lady of the house finds working in her new birch kitchen a definite pleasure. Everything has been built for convenience. The small cupboards just above the stove hold spices. The windows in this room, as well as in the rest of the house, are all thermopane windows. It is the windows in the back of the room that open onto the back porch and make meals out there easy to serve.

If you install a catch on the side of a stepladder so that the two parts can be fastened together and then a draw pull for carrying, you'll find life a good deal easier.

Coin Trick Assists Cutting of Materials

As suggested by Popular Mechanics, use a coin when cutting material with a razor blade or sharp knife that's pulled along the edge of a wooden or plastic straight-edge. That way, there'll be no cutting of the straight-edge.

Hold the blade and coin together, so the coin bears against the guide. Naturally, you must allow for the coin's thickness in determining the exact cutting point.

The same system may be used to cut narrow parallel strips from leather, paper or other materials.

Take a close look at your heating system. Defective heating systems cause 10 per cent of the total fire loss.

New Trailer-Houseboat Made by British Firm

The civilian DUWK, reminiscent of military amphibious trucks, is a combination houseboat and trailer. You can live on land on wheels or slide the body into the water as a houseboat powered by an outboard motor.

The DUWK is 16 feet six inches long and six feet eight inches wide. It draws 10 inches of water and stands six feet three inches above the water line. It has one double and two single berths, a wardrobe, kitchen and bath, all with a sundeck on top. Marine plywood is reinforced with mahogany and oak. It is made in England.

Thin Coat of Shellac

Shellac should never be applied in heavy coats. It is much better if you use several thin coats to build up the finish with a light sanding between coats. It should also be applied in long strokes in direction of the wood grain.

Here's Action to Take for Rabid Dog Bites

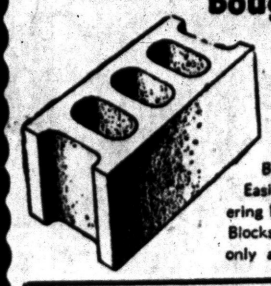

Q—The wall beneath one of our upstairs windows often gets wet during a rain, although there is never any water on the window sill. What might cause this?

A—The trouble may be due to the window frame being poorly built or improperly weatherproofed. Check first to see if there is a drip cap over the window. The cap is a piece of molding that extends outward from the top of the outside casing. On the underside of this cap there should be a groove, which may need to be scraped clean and painted. If the drip cap is in good shape, water may be entering gaps between window casing and the side of the house. Apply calking compound all around the window frame.

Heat Clogged Drains

When kitchen sink drains become partially clogged because they are full of grease, try heating up the drain line with a heat lamp. The heat will soften up the grease so that it can be flushed through the line with hot water.

Be Sure to Dust Well

Be sure to keep your closets, basement, utility room, in fact any place where mildew is likely to accumulate, extra clean. Dust which settles on articles will supply food for mildew when moisture and temperature are right.

An attractive centerpiece might be made with sprigs of wheat placed in a sunburst design.

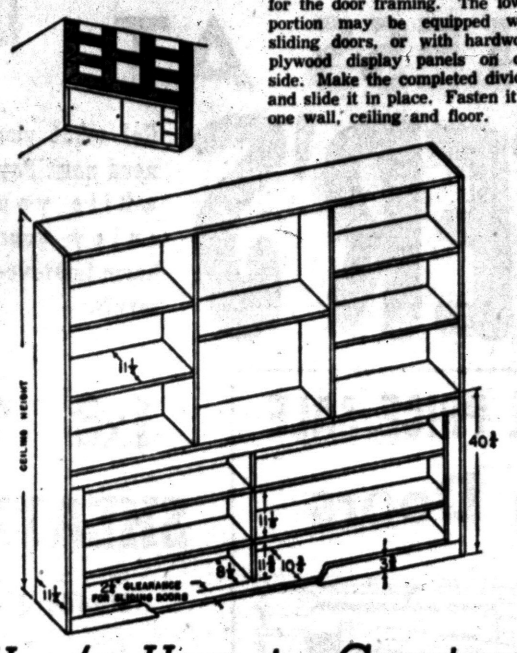

Greater Sense of Space

Narrow hallways become twice as wide in appearance when one wall is covered with mirrors of twin-ground plate glass. An even greater sense of space is achieved by papering the opposite wall with a scene wallpaper for reflection in the mirrors.

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A ROOM DIVIDER

An attractive room divider is made of 1 by 12-inch and 1 by 9-inch lumber for the shelves and frame, and 1 by 4-inch lumber for the door framing. The lower portion may be equipped with sliding doors, or with hardwood plywood display panels on one side. Make the completed divider and slide it in place. Fasten it to one wall, ceiling and floor.

Here's How to Construct Attractive Room Divider

An attractive and useful room divider is made of finished lumber, using 1 by 12-inch and 1 by 9-inch stock for the shelves and frame, and 1 by 4-inch lumber for the door framing. The lower portion may be equipped with sliding doors of hardwood plywood, or with hardwood plywood display panels on one side.

The height of the divider will depend upon the height of the room. The length will vary to suit the opening into which it is to be placed.

First make the outside frame—two sides, top and bottom—fastening it together with 8-penny finishing nails. Then make the center column for the lower shelves, cutting a dado groove 3-16-inch deep for each shelf. Add the lower shelves and center column. The shelves are fastened to the sides with 6-penny finishing nails. Then add the framing material around the bottom half.

The upper shelves are staggered so that they may be fastened at each end with 6-penny finishing nails. The upper shelf joints may be dado joints, if desired.

Depending upon the placement of the divider, one side may be completely covered with display panels, of hardwood plywood, or with board paneling to match the woodwork of the room it faces. If the divider is placed between a kitchen and dining area, the upper half may be left open and the center may be used for serving.

Slide the completed divider into place and nail it securely with 10-penny finishing nails to one wall, ceiling and floor. In nailing the wall and ceiling, the nails should be driven into studs and joists, if possible; or toggle bolts may be used in place of nails.

Set the heads of all nails and fill the holes with wood filler. After the divider has been sanded smooth, it should be given a finish to match other woodwork.

Be Fastidious in Rug-Buying

Because a new rug represents a large expenditure and may last many years it is well worth selecting carefully and handling wisely.

Machine-made rugs are produced in various grades. Quality of fiber, closeness of weave, density of pile and excellence of dyes all play a part in producing finished quality.

Genuine Oriental rugs are made by hand and the tufts are knotted as well as woven. Their sheen is due partly to the use of acid finishes.

If your new rug is sold to you as "washed," it has had this chemical treatment and you must make up your mind to sacrifice some quality for appearance, because the treatment weakens the fibers, so that some are likely to break off in a short time.

In buying any rug watch for density of pile, because this serves to give added wear. Cheaper construction will serve in such space as bedrooms, where there is little walking.

Almost always a large amount of fluff appears in any new rug, this consisting of loose ends left after the weaving. This does not indicate an inferior rug or any damage by the vacuum cleaner. In fact, the vacuum cleaner is doubly useful in removing this foreign matter, before it mats down and collects and holds dust and dirt.

Before the railroads established standard time zones in 1883, a traveler crossing the continent had to re-set his watch at least 20 times compared with three re-settings now.

Contemporary House Exhibit Opens Today

Starting today Pontiac residents can see the "House that Home Built." Sylvan Manor Construction Company has just completed its latest contemporary house on Mid-Pine, one block west of Middlebelt Road. The house will be open to the public from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily.

Plastic Tile Easy to Apply

Homeowners today are doing more of their own home modernizing than ever, and the big reason is the new ease of remodeling, using plastic wall tile. Old-fashioned bathrooms, kitchens, dinettes and other such areas can be converted into brighter, more livable rooms easily and inexpensively by installing plastic wall tile made of polystyrene.

Because plastic tile is light weight, a specially constructed supporting wall is not required—important in renovating an older home. Tile may be applied over smooth plaster, plasterboard, plywood, and many other surfaces. It is not satisfactory to "tile" over rough plaster. Wallpaper or oil cloth must be removed and paste washed off before tiling.

Walls must be true to insure a good job. If wall is not true or has holes, or large cracks, plastering should be done to form a smooth, level surface. After wall is prepared, follow these easy steps:

Begin setting tile in middle of wall at top level line, pressing each firmly into place by applying pressure at corners only. After laying a half-dozen horizontal tiles, lay a vertical row to lower edge of surface to be tiled. This provides accurage alignment and makes a neat appearance. All partial tiles then appear in corners. (Lower left.)

As each row nears corner, top tiling before corner tile is set. When several rows have reached this stage, place each corner tile, in turn, down the line. Special tile shapes may be used as finishing touches.

After installation, remove excess mastic with soft cloth and suitable cleaner. Do not polish until mastic sets. To polish, wipe with soft cloth dipped in warm water to which liquid detergent has been added (one tablespoon per gallon of water). Allow to dry; polish with dry cloth. (Lower right.)

Versatility Key to Decorating

Versatility is the key word in modern home decorating. There are good reasons for this, chief of which is that the same items used in different yet creative ways serve to integrate the home's interior.

Another good reason is economy. It usually costs less to stick to a relatively few basic furnishings and materials than it does to employ a wide variety.

Home materials now in the forefront are those natural ones which complement each other, serve a variety of uses, and are eminently durable. They include hardwood, stone, ceramic tile, quarry and brick.

Chairs should never be too large or small, because you'll want to move them around at times. They should be arranged in composite groups that complement, not clash, with each other.

Buy furniture which can be used in different ways. Note that top designers have developed chairs that fit in perfectly with either the living or dining room area. Small sofas, rather than large ones, make good sense because they are adaptable to different placement.

Color, too, plays a large role, but the rules are easy to remember. Keep your larger pieces in pleasant but neutral tones.

Long Ladder Needed

A 28-foot extension ladder is needed for painting the upper story of a two-story house. The Institute for Safer Living says an even longer ladder is needed for the gable ends.

Glass Frosting Spray Frustrates Peeping Tom

Looking out the window can be a trouble spot, too, especially when you always find somebody looking in. So now the paint industry has come up with a glass frosting spray. It's a coating that actually simulates commercially ground glass.

You can get it in cans through your hardware, paint or department store. Press the button and no one can look in your window again. It allows light to enter, even diffusing the light and reducing the glare. It should be handy whereever you want to blot out an unsightly view. Quick-drying, it produces a washable finish.

It works on plastic as well as glass.

Don't forget that a hand sander, a portable electric sander or an edge sander (usually rentable with the large floor sander) will reach into corners and other out-of-the-way places.

KNOTTY WESTERN PINE — Knotty western pine, long a favorite material for Early American settings, is being widely used today in homes of contemporary design. In this setting, a wall of knotty pine has been used to complement the adjacent wall of glass.

Worst Dwellings in U.S. Found in Mississippi

Census Bureau data reveals Mississippi had the highest percentage of dilapidated dwellings of any state in the union in 1950.

The report disclosed that one out of every four of Mississippi's 334,000 non-farm homes were in a dilapidated condition.

California appeared to have the best record with almost 87 per cent of its 3,400,000 non-farm homes equipped with all necessary household facilities and not dilapidated.

Paneling in Pine Gains Popularity

Popular for centuries for Early American settings, pine paneling has emerged more recently as perfect choice for contemporary design as well. And like other changes in fashion, once it happened we wondered why it hasn't happened long before.

The pine itself has not changed. The modern effect is created by the finish which is applied. Take knotty western pine paneling, for example. When finished in a medium or dark stain, it is usually associated with colonial furnishings. But when finished in clear varnish so that the light color of the wood is retained, it provides an excellent backdrop for modern furniture.

Another popular contemporary treatment involves the use of clear western pine paneling finished in pastel tints. This finish is achieved by mixng the desred color of paint with as many as 16 parts of thinner. This mixture is brushed or wiped on the paneling and then the excess is wiped off.

The longer the mixture is allowed to remain on the paneling, the more pronounced the color will be. A lasting protective coating is obtained by one or two thin coats of white shellac, followed by two or three coats of wax.

Opportunity for iindividuality is virtually unlimited, because of the great variety of finishes and because there are ten different woods from the western pine region.

No matter what the architecture —Early American, contemporary, or traditional — the pine-paneled wall is a practical and handsome way to impart warmth and interest to any room in the home. And because of its durability, and easy maintenance, a pine-paneled wall lets you forget about re-decorating problems.

Vitrolite Glass Aids Bathroom Surfaces

Steam and water, soaps and detergents, lotions and oils—the "bathroom hazards" so harmful to furniture surfaces—present no problem to solid-color glass.

Vitrolite glass, made in 10 opaque shades to complement the color scheme of any bathroom, is perfectly suited to use on counter tops, shower walls or as wall covering for the entire bathroom. It can be washed easily with soap and water.

Sanding the floor of an entire room is a rugged, not-to-be-recommended job unless you rent a floor sander.

Child's Electric Train Run by Voice Impulse

If your young son lets you run his electric train, you will be interested in a new device that permits you to stop the train and start it again by voice alone.

The device called audiengineer is made by Electro-Nuclear Devices Inc. of New York. It is shaped like a microphone, and you speak into it with a certain inflection in your voice to operate the start-stop sequence.

Coordinate Table Settings From Glassware Patterns

Even thought home accessories are in a mix-match age, it is fun to coordinate table settings. Variety store glass dessert dishes may be used with your best china, colorful napkins might be used instead of conventional white or egg shell or other formal linens. But when it comes to a motif, it is fun to coordinate it.

Take the motif from your glassware pattern. Bubbles, a spray of wheat, a star or what have you, might be painted or embroidered on table cloths and napkins for a different effect.

Place the tracing, ink side up on the fabric where you want the design to appear, and go over the ink outlines with a shar, hard pencil.

This should leave an outline on the fabric. Paint in the design with fabric paint, available in art supply, department or do-it-yourself centers.

After the colors dry, place a dry cloth over the design, face up, and press decorated areas with a hot iron. Turn the material over and press it on the back. This process should set the color, according to experts.

Another angle is to embroider over the design, if you prefer needlework and are handy at it. Or you might try your hand at a stylized applique.

Hallway Offers Decoration Site

There is one part of the home that is apt to be overlooked—the hallway.

An entrance hall gives your guests their first insight of your home. Why not furnish it as attractively as you would any other part of your home? Here is the spot where you could extravagantly place an ornate, but useful occasional piece of furniture.

To inject a note of utility, desks storage chest-servers, and storage units which double as seating units, are functional and beautiful suggestions.

A connecting hall between the dining room and kitchen, or dining room and living room, is a strategic position for any one of the delightful new versions of the serving cart. Serving carts today have been designed in accent moods, as well as being highly useful.

Desks, server-chests, storage unit, serving carts, comfortable occasional chairs, wall racks, bookcases, dressing tables, and telephone benches, all provide a wealth of ideas for the renaissance of the hallway.

Your hallway can be merely a traffic lane or it can be an interesting, integral part of your home.

Slum Clearance Progress Noted

WASHINGTON (INS) — Housing officials say the government's broad program to eliminate slums is making "steady" progress with 196 cities now participating in the campaign.

The goal—as laid down by administration leaders—is to rid the nation of its 15 million substandard dwellings and replace them with decent quarters as soon as possible.

Although the program has been slow in the making, officials report they are now able to see tangible results. They predict slum elimination will be a major activity of the construction industry in the next five years.

So far, the Housing and Home Finance Agency has approved 297 anti-slum projects in the 196 participating cities ranging from preliminary planning wrk to actual acquisition of slum sites for redevelopment.

Ninety-one of the projects, involving federal outlays of about 168 million dollars, are said to be in the "well-advanced" stage. When completed, they are expected to clear the way for 846 million dollars worth of new construction including housing and office buildings.

More Light, Less Heat

Fluorescent tubes provide three to four times as much light per watt as incandescent light bulbs, with less heat. However, incandescent light bulbs are less expensive and can be operated on a dimmer switch for adjusting to various lighting levels in the room as your mood dictates.

The homes in Hy Haven Lakeside Village require no down payment for veterans, with a total price of $11,600. Some of the features in these homes are maple kitchen cabinets, 10 big storage cabinets and tile baths.

A 200-home community is being built on Sashabaw Road in Drayton Plains by Hy Standard Builders of Detroit. The subdivision is being planned as a complete unit, with paved streets, coordinated exterior colors and a $200,000 water system.

Custom features from higher priced homes are being included in the low ranch-type houses. Wide over-hangs, covered ranch porches, sound conditioning and matching aluminum screens are a few of the innovations.

The three bedrooms are included in these starter homes, which contain more than 1200 square feet of living area. In addition to the 23-foot living room with its ventilating picture window, the house features a dining room, kitchen, utility room and bath.

"Living Flow" is the theme of the house which is planned on the basis of traffic flow rather than convention, according to Don Young whose firm designed Hy Haven homes.

Here's Some Helpful Hints on Insulation

CHICAGO (INS)—If you suspect your home insulation of not protecting you as it should, here are some signs which may give you the answer.

* * *

1. Homes with proper insulation were some 15 degrees cooler than outdoors during the summer heat spells.
2. A home that is cold, despite high fuel intake, is generally insufficiently insulated.
3. An uninsulated home is likely to collect dirt, particularly around the ceilings.

4. Check attic insulation with a ruler. If it is less than three inches thick all over, according to Dr. George E. Ziegler, director fo research for an insulation firm, additional insulation material is needed.
5. Be sure there are no roof leaks, as these often become waterlogged and deteriorate.

6. Some insulation materials provide nourishment for vermin, rodents and other pests, so check for these creatures.

Glass Doors Favored

Architects, to save room in today's space-conscious homes, are turning from conventional doors to sliding doors of plate or patterned glass. Glass doors are favored in "open plan" homes because they shut off draughts and sound without blocking passage of light and sight.

Housing in America

On a national basis, 70 per cent of the country's 40 million nonfarm dwellings measured up as good housing. The remainder were in various substandard stages with eight per cent classed as dilapidated in 1950.

AEC Says Chrysler Doing A-Research

Colbert, appearing before a Senate committee here last June, asked Senators not to print his answer as to whether his company was working on atomic power.

Double-Pane Insulating

Snugly Built Modern Homes Hampered by Ever-Present Moisture Problems

Happily or unhappily, depending on the way you look at it, we Americans have discovered how to build snug houses. Our homes, that is, are tightly constructed.

One way to look at it is that this has many advantages over the days when few houses were insulated and most were drafty. In another respect those were the "good old days," though. Of course the heating bills were high but nobody had heard of "vapor barriers" and they didn't worry about damage from "moisture condensation" within the walls.

That's all changed nowadays. People point to blistered house paint and declare knowingly, "Condensation does that," or "He'd better install a vapor barrier," or "They need to ventilate that wall," or "That didn't used to happen in the good old days.' "

At last we've learned that house, like people, need to breathe; that an airtight house is a problem house. But rather than keep our windows open in winter as well as summer, we've invented other means of ventilating our houses.

TINY LOUVER

One such product for this purpose was introduced by an East Coast manufacturer about eight years ago. It was a midget louver designed for easy installation in sidewalls, soffits, eaves and gables, in order to ventilate these dead-air spaces.

The tiny louvers are round and come in one to six-inch sizes. They are installed in holes drilled in wood with an electric drill equipped with a hole saw, whose diameter corresponds in size with the diameter of the louver shank.

The louvers have built-in screens that keep out insects, and are available with or without rain deflectors. Deflectorless louvers are installed in areas where there is no danger of rain blowing in.

Generally the tiny ventilators are placed in sidewalls to correct a moisture condition that has caused paint to blister. To accomplish this, two two-inch louvers are usually installed in each space between wall studs—one at the top of the space, another at the bottom.

Louvers installed at regular intervals along eaves and soffits help ventilate the air space between ceiling and roof. In summer this helps prevent the buildup of heat and moisture in attics.

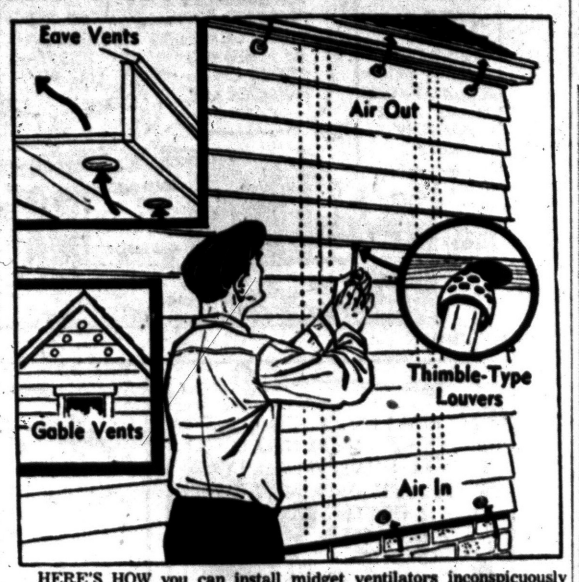

Moisture of course can ruin some types of insulation. In winter the louvers help equalize the temperature between the roof and the overhang of eaves or souffits, thus eliminating heat pockets that cause snow to melt on the roof.

In the absence of ventilation, heat from the attic melts the snow, water runs down to the overhang or gutters and freezes again. This causes "ice dams" which in turn cause water to back up under shingles, damaging ceilings, sidewalls and insulation.

The original manufacturer of midget louvers has just recently introduced a new and even smaller louver that resembles a thimble in size and appearance. It is specifically designed to ventilate the dead-air spaces on the back side of bevelled siding boards. It, however, does not ventilate the spaces within stud walls; this job is handled by its bigger brother.

The thimble-type louvers are installed by drilling 3/8-inch holes at a sharp angle upward through the butts of siding boards, and by inserting the louvers into the holes with a pencil. (The butts of siding boards are their thickest part. Holes drilled here are hardly visible except under close scrutiny.)

Many cases of paint blistering can be relieved simply by installing these super-tiny louvers. In severe cases it may be necessary to use the bigger ones as well, so that water vapor within the walls themselves can escape to the outside.

HERE'S HOW you can install midget ventilators inconspicuously in sidewalls, eaves, soffits and gables.

Well-Insulated Ceilings Keep Heat in House

A tightly sealed attic space used to be considered good insulation to keep a house warm in winter, until moisture problems from condensation began to appear and the superheated air in that space in summer made rooms below almost unlivable.

Nowadays roofs are engineered on the principal of the tent fly — that extra sheet of canvas used by campers to keep a tent permanently shaded from the sun.

House Hunting Hints

Builders still have to compete to capture the attention of the prospective home buyer. There's plenty of opportunity, therefore, to shop around and get the house which really fits your family's needs. Don't hesitate to look for a quarry terrace or a children's playroom in the new house. Don't settle for an uninspired kitchen when you can get one with practical built-in appliances. Take your time buying.

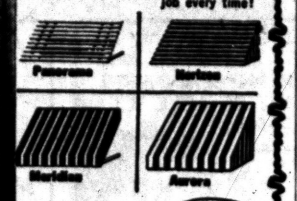

States Spending Soars

CHICAGO—The states spent an all-time high of nearly 18.7 billion dollars for all purposes during 1954 compared with 16.8 billion the year before. Outstanding state debt rose to a peak of 9.6 billion.

In a Poet's Eye We Think Meter's Slightly Awry

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The post card from Monroe, La., to Gov. J. Bracken Lee reads:

"Two, four, six, hut—
"We want a tax cut—
"Seven, eight, nine, ten—
"We want to know when—
"We don't want no hem or haw—
"We're for the governor of Utah."

The Louisiana doggerel was among more than 500 letters and cards piled across the desk today of Harold W. Simpson, Lee's administrative assistant. Lee is a Republican.

Simpson said all but four letters praised Lee's statement he will not pay all his income tax next year, hoping to prod the government into a suit in which he can challenge the constitutionality of using income tax funds for foreign aid.

"These letters would surprise a lot of politicians," said Simpson. "Judging from them, I believe a nationwide referendum would go against continuing foreign aid."

Utah Democrats have blasted Lee's proposal. They asked the governor to either retract or resign. Lee refused to do either. State Republicans have said "No comment."

Lee's assistant said 90 per cent of the letters came from outside Utah. Of the four opposing Lee's stand, Simpson challenged two. He said they appeared to come from the same typewriter, although different names were typed at the bottom. Both were postmarked Los Angeles.

Muskegonites Cry Havoc

MUSKEGON (AP) — Gilbert Dias, 40, suffered only minor hurts when he was tossed out of his auto in a collision. But his car went on to jump a curb, smash two chairs on a lawn, barge through a fence, crash through a garage wall and knock a parked car through the opposite side of the garage.

Wheat Shippers on Hudson Bay End Busy Year

CHURCHILL, Man. (AP)—The port of Churchill, 850 miles north of Minneapolis, is winding up its greatest shipping year in history. Before the ice closes in this month, about 15 million bushels of Canadian wheat will have moved out.

Churchill is on the west coast of Hudson Bay. Ocean freighters reach Hudson Bay from the east, coming through ice-cluttered Hudson strait, which lies between Baffin Island and the northern reaches of Quebec and Labrador. An icebreaker patrols the strait all summer.

Ships of the 8,000-ton class make the 2,936-mile trip from Liverpool, England, in 10 or 11 days.

The shipping season opened in July. Now flurries of snow are dancing along the docks as stevedores anchor down the giant grain spouts that send torrents of wheat into the holds of the last ships that will visit here this year.

Leading Lady Ann Todd Lures Star Into TV Play

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (INS) — Wendell Corey was tempted to take on his current television role without reading the script—he liked his leading lady.

"Of course, I'm not that foolish," Corey added, talking about "The Blackwings," a play he'll appear in Sunday on NBC-TV's Alcoa Hour. He explained:

"When I was in England in 1947 I met an English actress named Ann Todd and decided if I ever got a chance to play opposite her I would. When this opportunity came along I took it —I almost decided to do it without reading the play."

Corey is the only American in the cast, but says "it's all right because I play a German.

"This is the second German I've played on TV. I don't play them with a German accent — today every German accent is either a vaudeville comedy or Nazi type. My first part was as a Swede in a little theater group, and I learned I was no dialectician.

"It's just as well I play it straight—I portray a German who has been living in England for some years, and the difference between the English accents of most of the cast and my strictly American speech is a good touch."

MODERATELY WILD

Corey is a New England minister's son and answers the rumor that such youngsters are wild by commenting:

"I guess I was moderately wild —I didn't set any records but I was up there."

The tall, blue-eyed actor wanted to be a lawyer as a youth, but with the depression "there wasn't enough money and I just drifted into a department store job." His first acting role came when he dropped in to see a friend in a little theater and was talked into taking over the Swedish role in cast emergency.

"I did my share of three-night shows," he says of his 13-play Broadway career. "I was never in a hit until the last one—'Dream Girl.' I don't know which I prefer, movies of the theater. When I'm making a picture I'd rather be in a play, when I'm in a play, I'd rather be making a picture.

"After a year on the road recently in 'The Caine Mutiny Court Martial' I think I prefer pictures. They pay more—and it can be interesting work. You can get awfully sick of playing the same part —even a good part—over and over again, as you must do in a play."

"I do about three or four television plays a year. I've done all the shows that pay money. This is my last one for this year—you can wear yourself out on television."

Educator Is Prospect for Defense Post

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Clifford C. Furnas, chancellor of the University of Buffalo, appeared today as the likeliest prospect for appointment as new assistant secretary of defense for research and development.

The 54-year-old educator, attending a Buffalo alumni affair here last night, said he had "discussed the matter" with Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson a week ago, and would now ask the school's board of trustees "to consider granting a leave of absence of about a year."

* * *

Dr. Furnas would succeed Donald Quarles, who became secretary of the Air Force about six weeks ago, following the resignation of Harold Talbott.

Governors Urge Farm Price Aid

GOP Chiefs Pressing 4-Point Plan to Boost Sagging Income

DES MOINES, (AP)—Republican governors of the Midwest corn belt, politically conscious of 1956, have petitioned the Eisenhower administration for quick action "to restore to the farmer his fair share of the national income."

A four-point program asking for adoption of "short term emergency measures" to bolster sagging farm prices, was adopted here yesterday at a conference attended by the governors or their representatives from the leading hog producing states.

One of the major proposals was for a federal program of food purchases "for use and not for destruction."

A resolution adopted by the governors did not specifically mention hogs but participants agreed they would like to see Secretary of Agriculture Benson institute a prompt system of government purchases of pork for consumption.

Represented at the conference, initiated by Gov. Leo Hoegh of Iowa, were the chief executives of Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and Indiana and representatives of the governors of Illinois, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Also present were Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz and Fred Seaton, deputy assistant to President Eisenhower.

Butz reported the government has been considering a hog buying program but he did not know when one could be put into effect.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Unions Step Up Organization

Activity Evident Even Ahead of Big Merger of AFL, CIO in December

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor unions seem to be stepping up their organizing activities even ahead of the prospective AFL-CIO merger due in December.

One of the stated aims of merging the AFL and CIO into a single 15 million member federation is to concentrate organizing resources to make them more effective.

With the merger slated to be ratified at a series of New York conventions in early December, there already are signs of quickened organizing activity.

Philip Ray Rodgers, acting chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, said in a recent speech that the number of NLRB election cases before the board to determine bargaining status has picked up appreciably in 1955. It had been declining for some time, he said.

He said increased organizing activity has appeared in the retail trades, the oil, chemical and atomic energy industries; the auto service and machine service industries; the clerical workers and "so-called white collar groups."

Rodgers noted that the organizing pickup was particularly heavy in the South.

Apparently what is being planned is no great general scatter-shot organizing but well-planned drives on one or two selected industries at a time, a technique used by the CIO in its earlier member-getting efforts in the '30s.

Labor union leaders say they hope the AFL-CIO merger will spur the interest of both union and nonunion workers in organized labor. They hope, too, that the boost in the federal minimum wage from its present 75-cents-per-hour level to $1 will be an organizing aid. The increase will be effective next March 1.

Life in Shanghai Is Getting Worse, Refugees Claim

KOBE, Japan (AP)—An elderly American couple, released after long detention in Red China, said today life in Shanghai is dreary and nerve-wracking.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Ricks, who left Shanghai aboard the Dutch ship Straat Bali Oct. 12, said "conditions are gradually changing for the worse. That goes for foreigners, but primarily for the Chinese people."

They were met by their son, John Ricks, a Tokyo businessman. The couple will proceed to Tokyo to meet John's wife and two grandchildren they never have seen.

Howard Ricks, 65, a native of Boscobel, Wis., and his Shanghai-born wife, Lydia, 61, were two of 12 Americans held in Red China for lack of exit permits. Four of the 12 previously left China via Hong Kong.

Philadelphia Jury Formally Indicts Pair for Abortion

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—After deliberating one minute, a grand jury indicted Rosalie and Milton Schwartz yesterday on charges of performing the abortion that killed chainstore heiress Doris Jean Silver Ostreiche.

The quick decision came after the 22 jurors spent almost all day hearing 13 witnesses in the case. The Schwartzes were charged with abortion, abortion causing death and conspiracy. They were charged separately with perjury.

Most of those who testified had appeared previously as witnesses, either at the inquest into Mrs. Ostreicher's death, at a hearing for the Schwartzes, or at a hearing for Mrs. Gertrude Silver, mother of the dead 22-yea-old socialite beauty.

The mother, who has been charged with being an accessory to her daughter's abortion death, is in the Philadelphia Psychiatric Hospital suffering from bereavement shock. Both her personal physician and commonwealth doctors who have examined her say she is too ill to testify.

Bridge Players Stretch $150 Into Almost $138,000

DALLAS (AP)—The $50 each that three women anted up during a bridge game turned into a $137,736.38 pot today. But the money goes to their 11 heirs and a pioneer woman oil well driller who dug a hole for them.

The story of the fabulous bridge game begin in 1930. Mrs. J. M. Stinnette, Mrs Virginia Sanders and Mrs. George E. Light, now all dead, were playing. The name of the fourth player has been lost.

Mrs. Sanders, a Sherman, Tex., resident, said she knew of a good oil land lease that could be bought cheap. The other two players, both of Dallas, agreed to put in $50 each.

Mrs. Buda Mauldin of Dallas and her husband, H. C. Mauldin, agreed to drill for the women. The well came in as a gigantic producer and three other wells were drilled on the 15 acres of land. Since then, it has produced about $600,000 in oil

A compromise court settlement was entered formally yesterday in Dist. Judge Dallas A. Blankenship's court. A. C. Scurlock, attorney for Mrs. Mauldin, gave a sigh of relief.

For the past 17 years, he has devoted about 60 per cent of his working time to the litigation and associated matters. At one time it was estimated there were about 25 lawyers representing about as many clients in various complex phases of the litigation.

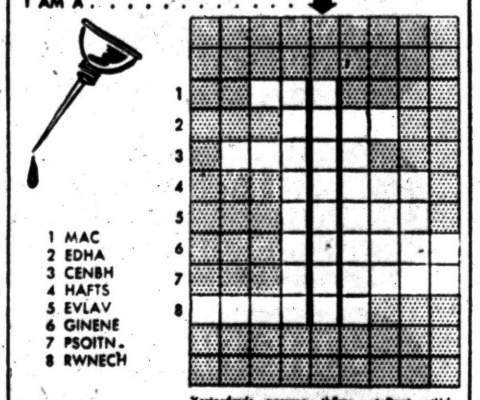

In all, there have been five suits and about 75 hearings since 1931 when the first case was filed.

In addition to the principals, some of the money will go to others who acquired interests in the property, including the heirs of Fred A. Perrenot. He was associated in drilling the first well, on the Doby tract of the Castleberry survey in Gregg County

Jap Men Outnumbered

TOKYO—Women outnumber men in Japan by nearly 1,500,000, according to the latest figures. The female population totals 44,778,000 and the male 43,302,000. The greatest disproportion between men and women under age 60 is in the 30-to-34 age bracket. The ratio in this group is 123 women for every 100 men—the result of the war.

DeSapio Discovers Drive for Stevenson

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A Tammany backer of New York's Gov. Averell Harriman for the Democratic presidential nomination found a burst of campaigning for Adlai Stevenson today while sounding out West Coast preferences.

Carmine DeSapio, the Tammany leader, said he was not campaigning for Harriman although he liked the governor. He said he wanted to sound out the "grass roots."

Almost simultaneously four of the five top California Democrats urged Stevenson to seek the 1956 nomination and declared, "This is the start of a movement that will sweep the West."

DeSapio also learned that a statewide campaign was being started at Los Angeles in behalf of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Missing Indiana Boy, 3, Now Believed Kidnaped

CRANE, Ind. (UP) — Tips were plentiful but genuine clues were missing today in the baffling disappearance of 3-year-old Ronnie Weitkamp.

The kidnaping theory appeared more and more likely as searchers combed the last areas within walking distance of his home without finding a trace of the brown-eyed blonde little boy who disappeared from play Tuesday.

Two men regarded with suspicion because of their past conduct with children were to be questioned about the boy today.

Eire's Minister for Industry said in Dublin he will not permit an increase in prices of drinks, now being sought by publicans—three cents on a glass of whisky.

Arab-Jewish Peace Effort Reported Near Collapse

WASHINGTON (UP) — The American-backed Jordan River development plan, conceived as formula for ending bitter Arab-Jewish strife, is reported on the verge of collapse.

Diplomatic officials fear that renewed Arab opposition may have killed the ambitious undertaking—at least for the time being. That raises the prospect Israel will go ahead to develop the river in the face of violent Arab protests.

Any such Israeli move would be virtually certain to add new tensions in the region already seething with excitement over Egypt's plans to buy arms from Communist Czechoslovakia.

The Eisenhower administration has not given up hope that Arab countries, led by Egypt, will reconsider their newest objections. The American plan would have linked four Arab states, Lebanon, Syria, Jordan and Egypt, with Israel in a joint 121-million-dollar dam-building and irrigation project which would have permitted all to share the Jordan waters.

Eric Johnston, President Eisenhower's special ambassador in charge of promoting the plan, is scheduled to return Saturday from a visit to Cairo, where he apparently has been unable to persuade Arab countries to back the idea.

The Arab countries asked for more time to study the proposal. But diplomatic officials familiar with the background said today this amounted to a thinly disguised turndown, even though Johnston said afterward he hoped difficulties could be resolved in the near future.

Johnston left Tel Aviv today for Washington after conferring with Israeli Prime Minister Moshe Sharett and other officials. He termed said problems with regard to to inconsequential technical differences."

What most officials fear now is that Israel will resume the Jordan River development project within its own borders which it abandoned two years ago after Syria threatened to protest to the United Nations Security Council.

The Indian government Yearbook for 1955 indicates India has about 350,000 motor vehicles. This is about one for every 1,000 persons.

Panama Canal Treaty Passed

U. S. Ratification Gives Latin America Nation Beneficial Concessions

WASHINGTON — The Panama Canal, which Lord Bryce once called "the greatest liberty man ever took with Nature," is today entering a new phase in its 51 years as focal point of relations between the United States and the Republic of Panama.

Recently ratified by the two nations is a far-reaching treaty signed after months of negotiation. Among its provisions are a number that favor the national pride and interests of the Panamanians, whose country is sliced through the middle by the United States-controlled "Big Ditch."

One concession is the return to the Panamanian government of land along the fringes of the Canal Zone now worth, with building improvements, an estimated $24,000,000, says the National Geographic Society. Some United States workers already have moved out. Rows of homes stand boarded up, clubhouses abandoned, and shopping centers darkened.

The Canal Zone itself will feel many of the treaty agreements. The annual fee the United States pays Panama for its use jumps from $430,000 to $1,930,000. Health-sanitation controls in Panama City, the Republic's capital at the Pacific end of the Canal, and in Colon on the Atlantic side, are formally turned over from Zone to Panamanian officials.

Panama, too, may now tax income of its citizens who work in the Canal Zone but live outside. And such citizens may no longer buy from commissaries in the Zone but must deal with Panama merchants.

AMERICAN FLAVOR REMAINS

Yet whatever changes take place in and around the Panama Canal Zone, this historic strip of land, five miles on either side of the great channel route, retains its Yankee personality.

The solid crust of the earth has been estimated to be 36 miles thick, which is thinner in proportion to the size of the earth than an egg shell is to the size of an egg.
