Wage Floor Bill OK'd by House Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Labor Committee approved today a bill that would set the minimum wage stages from the present $1.25 an hour to $1.60 and extend coverage to nearly seven million more workers.

House leaders plan to bring the measure to a vote next month.

Without even taking a record vote, the committee approved the measure in the general form worked out earlier by a subcommittee, but with one significant change.

Under that revision, minimum wage and maximum hours coverage would be extended also to 500,000 to 700,000 coal collar workers for the federal government, who are not included in the Civil Service system.

Other newly covered persons would include farm workers.

STEPS IN BILL

The bill would increase the present $1.25 an hour minimum wage to $1.40 next Feb. 1 and $1.60 a year later.

Woman, 27, Knifed in City

A 27-year-old woman was stabbed and seriously injured this afternoon at her home at 495 Second, Pontiac, police said. The victim was identified by neighbors as Mrs. Dorothy M. Daniels.

Police immediately launched a search for her husband, Lillard, who reportedly fled the scene in a car.

He was apprehended within 30 minutes by police who held him for questioning. Neighbors said the couple was in the process of getting a divorce.

Police said they found divorce papers strewn around the backyard.

The injured woman was rushed to Pontiac General Hospital shortly after 1 p.m. where her condition was reported as serious.

Yanks Lose Six Planes in Viet

Soapy, Jerry Face to Face

DETROIT (AP) — With preliminaries disposed of, the fight between Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and ex-Gov. G. Mennen Williams for Michigan's Democratic Senatorial nomination today headed into the long haul to the Aug. 2 primary election.

Supporters of the young mayor and the veteran, politician and six-times governor tried to gauge the effects of yesterday's Jerry and Soapy St. Patrick's street parade confrontation in Bay City.

Cavanagh, 37, and Williams, 55, shook hands and exchanged pleasantries when they came face to face as parade guests and participants.

The meeting, their first since Cavanagh's formal entry into the race Saturday, came on the heels of the mayor's vote-hunting plane trip all the way to the Upper Peninsula later Saturday.

Cavanagh flew to Flint, Bay City and Marquette — directly after his Detroit announcement.

Reactions were mixed. At Grand Rapids the Kent County Democratic committee boycotted his appearance. Nonpartisan Mayor Harry K. Cull of Flint extended support to Cavanagh, describing him as "close to the people."

At the Bay City meeting, Williams, nudged by a newspaper photographer, stepped out from the sidelines into the street.

As Cavanagh, walking, came by, Williams put out his hand. "It's good to see you and your merry men," Williams said. Cavanagh acknowledged with a "thanks" and the two exchanged "good luck" words.

The meeting lasted only two minutes or so.

12 Witnesses Are Policemen

Report 40 Saw UFO Land in State

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — At least 40 persons saw an eerie unidentified flying object land in a swamp near here last night, police said. Twelve witnesses were policemen.

Officers said four sister ships hovered in a quarter-circle above the object until it took off with a warbling sound like the echo of a ricocheting bullet.

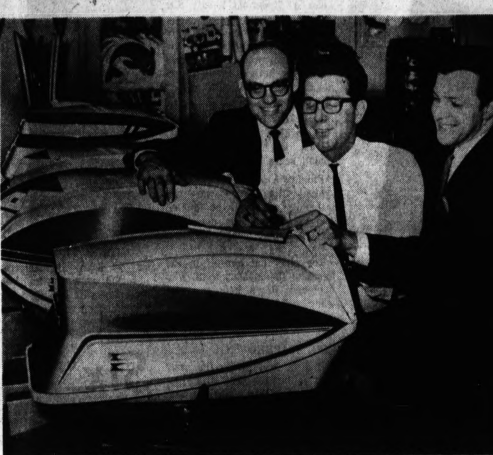

Patrolman Robert Hunawill of Dexter, a nearby village, said he and other residents of the area saw similar objects slipping through the skies early last Monday and Wednesday.

Frank Mannor, 47, a farmer, and his son, Ronald, 19, said they approached within 500 yards of the object. It lay in a swamp, they said, with pulsating halos of light on each end.

Mannor said it was pitted "like coral rock" and about the length of a car. He drew a picture of it, showing its shape about that of a football.

A KIND OF FOG

"There seemed to be a kind of fog underneath it," Mannor said.

City Adds 9 Patrolmen; Department Strength at 119

Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger has announced the addition of nine patrolmen to the city police department.

The nine, including eight new graduates of the Metropolitan Police Academy and one man previously with the Pontiac department, bring the department's strength to 119.

Addition of the new men will boost strength of the Traffic Bureau by two patrolmen, according to Hanger.

Traffic Bureau strength, now boosted to 21 men, has been cited by Lt. Clayton Randolph as inadequate in the face of rising accident rates in the city.

Forecast Fine for Flowers

"Spring unlocks the flowers," it said. With the fair and fragrant season's arrival today comes a forecast that soon should set tender buds blossoming here.

Occasional showers and mild is the outlook for tonight and Tuesday. The low this evening will be from 40 to 45.

Tomorrow the mercury is expected to ride in the 52- to 60-degree range.

Showers and a little cooler is Wednesday's weather word. Variable winds at two to four miles per hour this morning will become south to southeast at ten to 20 miles this afternoon and tonight.

In downtown Pontiac, the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 33. At 2 p.m. the reading was 58.

over the tree tops. They described the same noise. Mannor and others said it was like the warbling sirens used on some police cars or a ricocheting bullet.

Six police cars chased the formation but the objects vanished.

"The light went out over the center object (the one on the ground) and then it flew over the top us," Hunawill said.

RED GLOW

Robert Taylor, Dexter police chief, said he watched the object from Mannor's home on a knoll overlooking the 300-acre swamp about 12 miles northwest of here.

"I saw a red glow down in the swamp," Taylor said. "It was a pulsating bright red and then it grew dimmer. I put the binoculars on it and saw that there was a light on each end of the thing."

Two American Fliers Known Dead; 852s Hit Escape Routes

SAIGON (AP) — The United States lost six more planes in widening American air operations over North and South Viet Nam, a U.S. spokesman reported today. Two fliers were killed, two captured and two others are missing, he said.

In the ground war, about 3,000 U.S. Marines launched two separate operations — Oregon and Texas — against Communist units near Hue and Quang Ngai City on the north coast.

Attacking under Marine jet strikes and artillery fire, the Leathernecks reported killing 46 Viet Cong in ground attacks and possibly many more in air and artillery strikes in operation Texas at an Hoa, 15 miles northwest of Hue.

Marines in Operation Oregon near Hoa, just outside Quang Ngai, reported killing 34 enemy troops in heavy fighting this morning.

Marine casualties in both clashes — about 120 miles apart — were described as light.

Near Saigon, the U.S. Strategic Air Command (SAC) marked its 20th anniversary by sending Guam-based B52 bombers over the Communist D-zone strong hold 35 miles north of the capital to pound escape routes leading through the jungle to Cambodia.

225 CONG KILLED

In two other actions, South Vietnamese troops reported killing more than 225 Viet Cong.

Government troops killed 100 Communists in a stiff fight at Vu Xu, a rice producing area 75 miles north of Saigon that was liberated recently by the U.S. 172nd Airborne Brigade and the Vietnamese 10th Division.

A government spokesman said the Communists tried unsuccessfully to recapture the area three weeks ago and came back in force again yesterday.

Again they were beaten back and left 100 bodies behind, the spokesman said.

Government forces killed another 129 Viet Cong in a battle in the central highlands 150 miles northeast of Saigon, a spokesman said.

The heavy fighting 30 miles east of Ban Me Thuot erupted yesterday on the second day of an operation by Vietnamese army units trying to cut up a large Communist force reported in the jungled mountains.

On a sweep 12 miles south of the central coastal town of Tuy Hoa, U.S. 101st Airborne troops ran into North Vietnamese regulars, spokesmen said, and battled them for seven hours.

There was no assessment of Communist casualties, but American losses were reported light.

New Jersey Police Seek Slayer of Girl, 7

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — A photograph of Police Chief Michael Roy with makeup on will illustrate wanted posters for the killer of 7-year-old Wendy Sue Wolin.

Witnesses to the crime were not satisfied yesterday with the looks of two professional actors who came here to try to recreate the face of the killer.

Although a makeup man followed cues from 13 witnesses in working on the actors' faces, the correct likeness didn't seem to come through.

Finally, a couple of witnesses spotted Chief Roy, who was watching and said he looked like their man. His nose was right, too, they pointed out.

GIRL STABBED
Then he dressed like the man who stabbed the child on a busy Elizabeth street — dark felt hat, three-quarter length, green corduroy coat, dark, slightly baggy trousers, brown shoes and white socks.

He looked a great deal like the suspect, the witnesses said. Roy didn't mind.

"What the heck, if this helps," he said.

An artist will retouch the best picture today to make it conform as closely as possible to the witnesses' memory of the killer.

Thousands of the pictures, with the description of the suspect, will be distributed.

The man, believed to be between 45 and 50 years old, casually walked up to the little girl on the afternoon of March 8, appeared to punch her in the side, and then walked away into the crowd before witnesses became aware that he had stabbed the girl.

Chutes Fail, Sky Diver Dies in First Jump
MUSKOGEE (AP) — A 17-year-old would-be sky diver making his first jump was killed yesterday in a 2,650-foot plunge when his two parachutes failed to open.

The victim, Thomas Judd Jeannot of Whitehall, landed head first on a blacktop road north of here, the Muskegon County Sheriff's Department said.

The Federal Aviation Administration began an immediate investigation.

Jeannot, a member of the Lake Michigan Sky Divers Club, leaped from a Cessna 170-B plane piloted by George Wright Jr. of Muskegon, also a club member, sheriff's men said. The weather was described as clear and visibility good.

said at least 60 persons saw the strange lights in the air or on the ground.

McFadden and Deputy David Fitzpatrick left their car and slogged through the swamp after watching the object rise to treetop level, then sink down and apparently land.

A crowd of 40 to 50 people watched it on the ground, McFadden said.

"I went out there and I saw these lights on the ground," McFadden said. "It appeared it would go up about tree top level and then go down again."

WENT BACK
"Me and Deputy Fitzpatrick went back to check. There were probably 40 to 50 people watching it. At least 12 officers were watching it."

"I had a red and green light, one light on each side, and a white reddish glow in the center. Mannof and his son said it was like two (elliptical) bowls cupped together, with a globe on the top, brownish in color, with a waffle skin."

GEMINI TROUBLE — Diagram identifies No. 8 yaw thruster, part of Gemini 8's 16-rock system, which went wild to send the spacecraft into its harrowing spin after it had docked with an Agena rocket. A short lost yesterday over North Vietnam were superonic Phantoms from the nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise.

Six U.S. Planes Lost

The pilot of one F4 Phantom was seen taken prisoner after he bailed out 16 miles southeast of Vinh.

Another Phantom went down along the coast 28 miles southeast of Vinh.

The pilot was picked up by a rescue craft but his radarman splashed down among some Communist sampans and was captured, the spokesman said.

ABANDON HOPE

The Navy gave up hope for a two-engine Skyraider, used as an electronic jammer, and its two-man crew.

The plane, the first of its kind lost over North Vietnam, was hit Friday 50 miles southwest of Thanh Hoa, and search efforts have been fruitless since, a spokesman said.

Over South Vietnam, a light spotter plane was hit by ground fire this morning 100 miles northeast of Saigon, killing the pilot.

An Air Force A1E Skyraider took Communist fire while supporting an operation at Buon Meo in the central highlands, and the pilot was hurt but managed a wheels-up landing.

BOMBING DIVE

A Navy A4C Skyhawk failed to pull out of a bombing dive yesterday in Go Cong Province, south of Saigon, and the pilot was killed.

The Viet Cong killed five of their former comrades by exploding a shrimp-scattering mine at a government retraining camp for defectors in Binh Duong Province 15 miles north of Saigon.

Don't Blame Poor Fat Men

LOS ANGELES (AP) —

Nagging wives and harping husbands have lost perhaps the best weapon in the calorie-counting standoff because, now, a psychiatrist says, you can't blame a fat man for being fat.

The old ideas that people get fat because they're lazy or nervous or have bad glands are superficial, even if partly true, said Dr. A. J. Enelow, professor of psychiatry at the University of Southern California.

"People get fat for all those reasons, and for a great many more," Enelow said at a symposium on obesity.

He said some other causes are emotional and some are even a matter of social class. For example, he said, obesity appears to be most common among poorer persons and least common among the wealthy. And, he explained, the reasons are found in two words, carbohydrates and fashion.

POORER FOLKS

The poorer folks, Enelow said, consume more starch than their more fortunate brethren, whose diets show greater variety.

A more important reason, he said, is the feeling for fashion.

"It is probably only a slight exaggeration to say that what would seem to be unattractively fat in San Marino (a wealthy suburb) would seem only a rather pleasant plumpness in some other parts of the Los Angeles area," he declared.

Victims of easily diminished self-esteem.

CAN'T STAND PAIN

Unable to stand much pain, physical or emotional. Subject to stronger than normal craving for love and reassurance.

Subject to strong tendencies to withdraw socially.

COMMON TO MINORITIES

"It is interesting that these things so characteristic of upper-middle-class fat people are just about the same feelings so common among minority groups who feel persecuted," Enelow said.

City to Hear Joint Report on M-Week, Beautifying

BIRMINGHAM — The Beauty Birmingham Committee and the Michigan Week Committee tonight will submit a joint report on the committees' plans and accomplishments to the City Commission.

Mrs. Florence H. Willett, chairman of the Beautiful, Birmingham Committee, has reported that eight projects have been completed and approximately three are currently underway in the drive to clean up the city.

Included in the list of completed projects are the distribution of 5,000 litter bags; notices given to some unsightly lots in the area which were cleaned up; doubling of the number of trash containers in the city and establishment of a clean up and planting program in the elementary schools.

The committees are hopeful that awards for beautification will be presented during Michigan Week by the Michigan and local divisions of the garden club and by the city.

Plans for beautification approved in the past and still underway were outlined by the committees. Alley beautification, park benches as rest spots, "conversation corners" and flower boxes in the city were included in this category.

Mrs. Willett said that her committee has been asked to set up a week-by-week program, "Spruce-Up," development of a questionnaire by the PTA Council and the development and distribution of anti-litter brochures.

City Candidate Files Charge

Claims Circulation of Scurrilous Literature

A District 1 candidate for City Commission has filed a complaint charging that "false, deceptive, scurrilous and malicious" literature is being circulated and mailed in the city.

Charles M. Tucker Jr., 161 Earlewood, has requested a thorough investigation by the Oakland County prosecutor.

Tucker said also that a complaint had been filed with the U.S. district attorney's office and the Michigan Fair Elections Commission.

Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson, today confirmed that he had been contacted by Tucker. Bronson said Robert Leuthner, an assistant prosecutor, had been assigned to the investigation.

Bronson added that he had received affidavits as to who is passing out the literature. He said they would be asked to come in for questioning.

Announcing the filing of his complaint, Tucker said, "It is regrettable that those who are opposed to my candidacy would stoop to the slime of dirt, slander and to foster racial hate in the City of Pontiac. My campaign has and will be clean."

Tucker said the literature carried as its signature, "Committee for Honest Government."

CAP Planes Fail to Find Tennessee Pilot

ALPENA (AP) — Civil Air Patrol planes covered a 1,200-square-mile section of Michigan Sunday, searching without success for a missing Tennessee pilot or a trace of his two-engine plane.

CAP Maj. DeVerre Woods said 17 CAP planes scrutinized the area 60 miles north and south of Alpena and up to 100 miles west.

Release of Copper to Aid Contractors

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson released another 200,000 tons of copper today, primarily for defense contractors feeling the pinch of tight money and the need for direct defense needs for two to four years.

The copper will come from the government's stockpile and be released over a period of months. This will bring the stockpile down to 400,000 tons, which officials estimated would still be enough for direct defense needs for two to four years.

There is a worldwide scarcity of copper, and presidential assistant Joseph Califano said that some domestic industries are having a twin problem of getting the metal and paying high prices when they do.

Famed Soccer Cup Is Stolen in Britain

LONDON (AP) — The English Football Association announced today that a new World Soccer Cup is being ordered to replace the gold Jules Rimet trophy stolen from a Methodist Church hall by a thief who passed up an $8.4-million stake in the World Cup finals, to be contested by 16 teams in England next July.

Police checked criminal haunts in an attempt to recover the cup before it is melted down. But the Football Association was taking no chances for the World Cup finals, to be contested by 16 teams in England next July.

Scotland Yard held little hope that the trophy would be recovered.

"This was a professional job," one detective said, "and sentiment doesn't figure with these people. Almost certainly the cup will be melted down."

The cup, soccer's most coveted prize, is insured for $84,000, but the gold in it is worth only about a tenth of that.

"It is a disgraceful business," said British Minister of Sport Denis Howell, a former soccer referee.

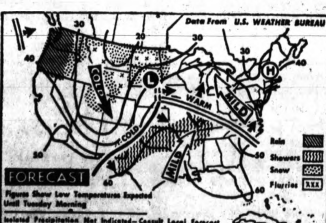

"One can only hope that the people who have taken the trophy have got some pride in the good name of Britain, in which case they will return it at once."

The Jules Rimet trophy was snatched from a padlocked showcase in London's Central

Gemini Trouble Traced, Spacemen Fly Home

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Manned Spacecraft center in Houston. They flew to Cape Kennedy Saturday from the Pacific where they spied down Wednesday night in the first emergency landing in the U.S. R. Scott leave aboard a jet plane for the 2½-hour trip to the Scott huddled with experts, discussing performance of spacecraft systems during the flight that came to a sudden end after the astronauts had executed man's first hookup with another satellite.

GYRATING CRAZILY

Shortly after the hookup with the Agena, Gemini 8 began gyrating crazily in the sky, rolling and yawing. Command pilot Armstrong fought a desperate 30-minute battle to regain control, separating from the Agena and finally using an emergency jet thruster system to stabilize the spacecraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced late Saturday that discussions with the astronauts and a study of radio and spacecraft tape recorder data located the trouble in one of Gemini 8's maneuvering jets. The problem, the statement said, probably was caused by a short-circuit.

The faulty jet was No. 8, one of 16 main thrusters used for steering and for holding the craft steady. No. 8 produces a relatively small 25 pounds of thrust for yaw (sideways) control, but in the vacuum of space that's a pretty good kick.

The short-circuit apparently occurred in a four-foot piece of wire that feeds electrical energy to the thruster. As a result, two solenoid valves stuck open and fuel and oxidizer poured freely through the opening, spilling into space and spinning Gemini 8 like a top.

FUEL DUMPED About 200 pounds of fuel dumped into space in an 18-minute period, and Armstrong used most of the remainder of the main fuel supply in trying to control the craft with the other jets.

Armstrong then had to switch to a separate control system normally used for reentry. With fuel running low and no backup system remaining for the reentry, it was mandatory that the astronauts return to earth as soon as possible.

The frightening moments were recorded by an automatic color movie camera mounted so it pointed out Armstrong's window. The film is an extraordinary record of a major space triumph and a near-disaster. It shows the steady, slow maneuvers of Gemini 8's nose. Armstrong, seated in on the Agena 185 miles above the earth and gently nudged into a docking collar on the target satellite. The hitchup was flawless. Suddenly, the combined vehicles began to spin, revealed by the quivering changes of light and dark. The Gemini nose quickly slipped out of the docking collar and moved away from the Agena. The spinning there Saturday.

Britain's Prince Philip piloted a twin-engine jet into the Royal Canadian Air Force base at Trenton, Ont., yesterday, following a flight from New York and a tour of the United States.

The prince began a three-day visit in the Toronto area.

In the United States he encouraged sales of British goods and helped raise funds for Variety Clubs International, a children's charity.

The prince left New York about 48 hours before the arrival there today of the Duke of Windsor and his American-born wife aboard the liner United States.

The duke gave up the throne which his niece Elizabeth, Philip's wife, now occupies.

Cute Brunette Keeps 'Prez' Waiting
A cute brunette kept President Johnson waiting yesterday in the nation's capital.

"You're late," Johnson told her, when she arrived. Then Courtney Lynda Valenti, 2½ years old, rewarded "the Prez," as she calls him, with a big kiss.

Courtney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Valenti, accompanied the Johnsons to 11 o'clock services at St. Mark's Episcopal Church. Valenti is a presidential aide.

While they were in church, Courtney was in the nursery. After the service, the Johnsons waited several minutes before she was brought from the nursery.

Defense Secretary Denis Healey disclosed yesterday: "Troops have been on duty there ever since the Napoleonic wars a century and a half ago, when they were posted to the spot to hold the Duke of Wellington's horse." The men have been put to more up-to-date work.

Hospital Dream Grows to Reality in Rochester

By JANICE KLOUSER
ROCHESTER — A dream which began 10 years ago is now materializing — but not quite in the same form as it was first envisioned.

Back in 1956, Rochester Village officials decided they needed a hospital to serve the needs of the residents.

A group of citizens worked for more than three years on plans to establish a 50-bed hospital on the eastern outskirts of the village.

As the population of the area grew, however, it became evident that the need was greater than had at first been anticipated.

When it became known that Crittenton General Hospital of Detroit was interested in moving north, the board of directors was approached.

COMBINED EFFORT
Members of the citizens group and administrators of the Detroit hospital combined their efforts, and in 1965 broke ground for the suburban unit of Crittenton Hospital.

When it is completed in April 1967 the $4 million building will serve an area "heretofore not adequately served by a hospital large enough to care for the growing population," according to Administrator A. Riley Allen.

From its location on a rolling 31-acre site on University near Livernois, the unit will serve a priority area within an eight-mile radius. It will not be limited to this area, however, Allen said.

So far 89 doctors, both medi-

Views of the Area

cal and osteopathic, have applied for staff privileges. The hospital will carry a staff of about 150 doctors.

NURSES NEEDED
"We'll take all the nurses we can get, too," said Allen, "but like all hospitals we probably won't have enough."

In all, the hospital will employ about 400 persons, including technicians, business office personnel, medical records people, aides and cooks.

More than 200 patients will be accommodated at one time. The layout of the hospital has been designed with an eye to future expansion to more than double its size.

The site has been planned so that a future tower can be constructed alongside the tower on the first unit. The top three patient levels will be connected by a bridge which in the future may serve as patient exercise-day room areas.

BUILDING FEATURES
The exterior of the building will be faced with exposed aggregate concrete panels which will serve as window frames and enclosures for the mechanical equipment.

The balance of the exterior will be of brick and exposed concrete. A rectangular chimney will enhance the front of the building.

The building will consist of six levels. The first or ground level will house the ancillary facilities such as a pharmacy, four surgery suites, laboratory and radiology suites, emergency facilities, business and medical records divisions, outpatient department, kitchen and cafeteria, employee facilities and a receiving area.

Three operating rooms and an orthopedic surgical room are included in the surgical suite. The radiology unit will be composed of four rooms equipped with the latest X-ray and fluoroscopic equipment.

LABORATORY AREA
The laboratory area consists of a pathologist's office, laboratory office and individual laboratories for bacteriology, hematology, serology, histology, bio-chemistry, urinalysis, blood bank, blood donating and glass washing.

A library next to the doctors' lounge on the first level will be named after the late Dr. Thomas T. Callahan, who was on the staff of the Detroit Crittenton unit.

Visitors will enter the building on the second level, which is the main entrance. In addition to the lobby and waiting rooms, the second level includes the nursery and obstetric departments.

Included in the obstetrical department are two delivery rooms, three labor rooms, and patient rooms to accommodate 55 adults and a nursery for 45 infants.

UNIQUE FEATURE

A unique feature of the obstetrical department will be the manner in which it can be closed off into three separate, self-contained units, each with its own exit and entrance.

"This way we can use the beds to much better advantage," said Allen. "If all the beds aren't in use, we can close off one section strictly for obstetrical patients and use the other two units for other patients."

The obstetrical unit will be named after the late Dr. Bertha VanHoosen of Rochester, a surgeon who practiced in Chicago from 1882 to 1950.

The third level is entirely devoted to mechanical equipment, including a unique heating and cooling system. This system, known as a heat wheel, recaptures heat or cold from air before it passes out into the atmosphere and uses it to help heat or cool new air being brought in.

EFFICIENT SERVICE
Allen explained that it is situated on the third floor to more efficiently serve levels below as well as above.

The top three levels are devoted to patient rooms which are located around the perimeter of the tower section.

In the center of the tower will be nursing stations, supply areas, utility rooms, examination rooms, medical preparation facilities, nurses' lounges, offices and conference rooms.

PRIVATE ROOMS
Allen said there will be very few private rooms. A definite number has not been designated but most rooms will be semi-private.

"Semi-private are most in demand today," he said.

A training program for residents and interns is to be set up some time in the future. Allen said it takes about a year to set up such a program.

Allen explained that to start with, a group of doctors will be formed to staff the emergency department. He said they will work out a schedule among themselves.

REDUCED COSTS
In some cases costs will be reduced by having the Detroit unit take care of certain functions for both hospitals.

Most of the accounting and purchasing will be done in Detroit. Laundry will be done in Detroit and trucked to Rochester and some stock will serve both units.

"It's a big job to set up a hospital," said Allen, "but we are fortunate in having 37 years of experience in operating the old hospital to draw on."

Architect's Version Of $6-Million Project

Preliminary Layout of Subdivision OK'd

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The Township Board has approved the preliminary layout for the proposed Cedar View subdivision No. 1 by unanimous vote.

Paul DeGrandchamp, the developer, said there will be 23 lots in the subdivision, which would be located near the southeast corner of Cedar, Island Lake.

Plans are also under way for blacktopping of roads in another proposed subdivision, called Cedar Shores. A public hearing on the matter was held last week.

Citizens in attendance at the meeting indicated their approval of the project in a vote.

The total cost of the project will be $60,532, according to Johnson and Anderson, Inc., township engineers. The next step will be to estimate the cost per foot for property owners.

The project will be released for bids and the final hearing held after receipt of the bids.

6 Killed in 2-Car Wreck, State Weekend Toll Is 12

By the Associated Press
Lloyd Green, his wife and their three young children had been to church in Crosswell, a little Sanilac County community. Afterward, they started for their home in nearby Lakeport.

On another county road, 17-year-old Cornelius Green was taking four teen-aged friends for a ride.

Sheriff Ross Dundas said Gross ran a stop sign at a rural intersection. Green's auto hit his roadside.

The result: six dead. Among them, four teen-agers, Green's wife and his five-year-old daughter.

12 KILLED
Their deaths brought to 12 the number killed in traffic accidents in Michigan during the weekend.

The Associated Press tabulation began Friday at 6 p.m. and ended at midnight Sunday.

Killed at the intersection Saturday night were Lauren Green, 25, and Malinda, her daughter; Gross; James Knox, 18; Thomas McIntyre, 16; and William Krenke, 17. All the teenagers lived in Port Huron.

Green and Gary Parker, 17, another passenger in the Gross car, were critically injured.

2 REPORTED FAIR

Two other Green children — Stephen, 3, and Melody, 6 — were reported in fair condition at a Port Huron hospital.

Other weekend victims: Roy Samuel Kessler, 50, of Belleville, who walked in front of a car on I-94 in Van Buren Township, Wayne County.

Ronald John Ranger, 18, Barton City, Sunday when his car and another collided head-on in Osceola Township, Isoc County.

CAR HITS BRIDGE
Willene W. Jackson, 43, Cleveland, Saturday when the car she was riding in hit a bridge off I-75 north of Monroe.

Lilly May Schrader, 48, De Witt, when struck by an auto Friday night as she stepped from her own car in De Witt.

Brandon PTA Session to Air Merger Plans

BRANDON TOWNSHIP—The proposed merger of the Clarkston and Brandon school districts will be explained at the 7:30 meeting tonight of the Brandon PTA.

Members of the Clarkston and Brandon boards of education will discuss the issue.

The meeting is to be held at Brandon High School.

Voters of the Brandon district will vote April 4 on the merger.

If annexation is approved, the combined district would total about 100 square miles in area. The combined enrollment would be about 7,000.

'NOTHING LATELY'

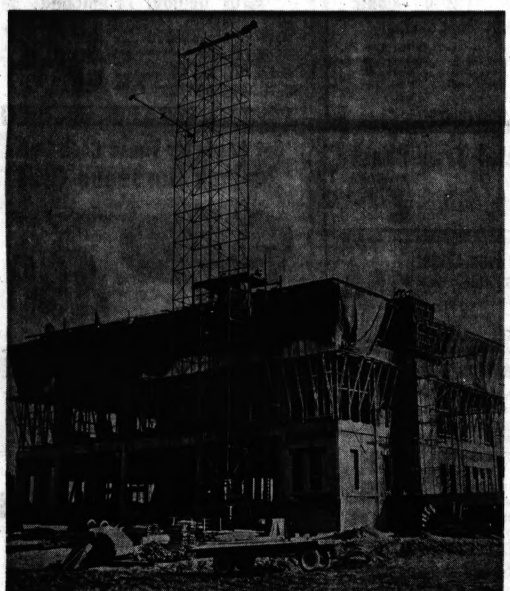

Some opposition to the plan has been evident but Brandon Schools Supt. Burl A. Glendenning said today he has "heard nothing lately."

Many residents object to a large district. They say they prefer to "retain their identity" in a small district.

A third public meeting on the matter is scheduled for next week.

Fulfillment Of A Dream Begins To Take Shape

MSU Eases Increasing Demand

Veterinarian Work Expands

LANSING (AP)—The work of the veterinarian has expanded far beyond the farm — and even into trail — blazing for human medicine.

And while more veterinarians are called into basic research, the population of pets is increasing and their owners generally have more money to spend caring for them.

Nationwide, veterinarians are in short supply. But thanks to Michigan State University, Michigan is not feeling a serious pinch.

There are 16 veterinary schools in the United States, said Dr. Charles Reed, assistant dean of MSU's Veterinary College. "The shortage is mainly in those states that don't have schools."

NEW CLINICS
To keep up with demands in Michigan, though, the MSU school is expanding this year from 65 students a year to 100 and has just moved into a brand new $4.7 million clinic.

Most of the basement is devoted to research on canine leukemia sponsored by a $600,000 grant by the National Institutes of Health.

While 25 years ago most veterinarians went into private practice, about one-third of today's graduates go to work for federal and state agricultural departments, pharmaceutical firms, the U.S. Public Health Service and various research agencies, Dr. Reed said.

MSU notes that animals are subject to many illnesses common in humans and that open heart surgery and other advances were worked out on animals before they were tried on humans.

90 VETS
Michigan's Department of Agriculture employs about 90 vets in its livestock disease control programs, which have been highly effective in recent years. When a combined federal-state attack on brucellosis began in the mid-1950s, inspectors were finding about 2,000 animals a month that were infected and had to be slaughtered, said Dr. George Whitehead, deputy director of agriculture.

The number now is about 40 or 50 a month, he said. Incidence of animal tuberculosis is the lowest it ever has been, he added.

SHORTAGES
"We never have to go out of the state to look for veterinarians," Dr. Whitehead said. "We pay a fair wage and we don't have too much turnover," he added.

Dr. C.L. Hendee, federal veterinarian for Michigan, believes that the state may feel a pinch eventually because of shortages in other states.

Some small animal hospitals which could use another man are having trouble finding one, but the situation is not acute, he said.

While the number of pets is increasing steadily, the biggest increase lately has been in the horse population, Dr. Reed said.

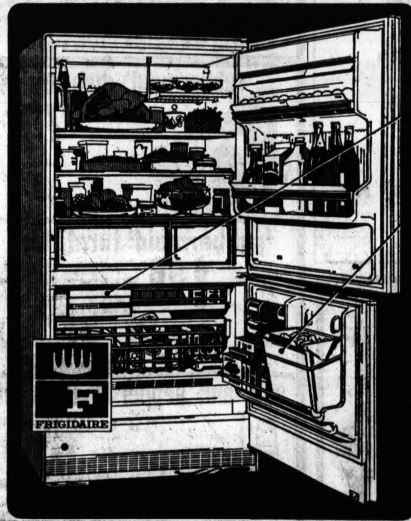

"One difficulty is that people who never have had anything to do with animals suddenly decide they want a horse, although they have no concept of how to care for it. Naturally there are more health problems," he said.

FARM ANIMALS

The number of farm animals is remaining about steady, he added, but since the number of farms is decreasing, animals are being concentrated on fewer farms.

"This calls for good, competent service," Dr. Reed said.

Camera Angles

Instant Film Developer Is Out

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

"So you take the 35mm 20-exposure cartridge out of the camera after shooting and you develop it in the roll of black and white film in four minutes while it is still inside the cartridge!"

"You can process the film anywhere in daylight or room light in a clear plastic jar that fits in the palm of your hand and uses one fluid ounce of a one-shot solution."

"It sounds impossible or crazy, I know, but it works!"

The caller at the other end of the phone was Jack Callahan, head of Burlinghams Inc., Englewood, N.J., a long-established name in the photographic importing and distributing field.

"The 'Brooks Instant Load Developing Kit,'" Callahan added, "will be demonstrated to camera dealers for the first time at the photo trade show in Cleveland."

SELLS FOR $2

"I'll sell for about $2 for the 20-exposure cartridge size. Extra one-shot solutions are 30 cents each. It's a few cents more for 36-exposure cassettes."

"Since you won't be in Cleveland, let me send you a kit to try at home. Just follow the directions!"

So I got out my 35mm camera and took pictures around the house, including a few of the developing kit itself. Following directions, I left the end of the film leader outside the cartridge and loosened the roll of film inside by using the jar cover as a turning key. With the pinkish processing solution in the tiny jar, the cartridge went inside with cover on top.

TWIRL KNOB

I twisted a knob on the cover back and forth for four minutes.

The one ounce of solution didn't seem to cover the cartridge but the twisting evidently forces the liquid in and around the film inside.

The solution was poured out of the jar and a cold water tap was turned on for a minute.

Then I pried open the end of the cartridge and . . . the roll of film had 20 perfectly good, developed and fixed images!

Still amazed, despite Callahan's assurance, I untaped the film from the cartridge and let it wash for another 10 minutes before hanging it up to dry.

Now that I know the process really works, here are some important considerations to keep in mind:

- You must get the cartridge open to get at the film inside so a special cartridge opener or a screw driver or pliers are necessary.

- Cartridges today are securely made and the ends don't come off merely with finger pressure.

- The right tool is essential especially if you plan this four-minute processing when traveling or you're in a hotel room.

- Be sure there's running water handy to wash the film after processing. You'll find a larger jar, dish or pan could be useful.

- The film must be wiped free of excess water and hung up to dry in an area free of dust or wind to avoid pitting or scratching the film surface while it is moist. A clean sponge or squeegee and film clips are useful accessories for this operation.

- A thermometer might be needed. Instructions call for the processing solution at 68 degrees. In my case, knowing room temperature is about 70 degrees, I went ahead without bothering to check and the results were satisfactory. However, the temperature might need adjustment in midsummer heat or in very cold climate.

- As mentioned earlier, it is necessary to leave the end of the film leader outside the cartridge when rewinding the film. If you keep on winding and the entire roll is inside the cassette, you can't use this unique processing technique.

RESISCAL

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A question Dominicans frequently ask these days is: "What will the United States do if Juan Bosch wins the election?"

The way Bosch sympathizers ask it, the question sounds like a rhetorical effort to convey two thoughts: that a victory by ex-President Bosch is certain, and that this will highly displease Washington.

There seem to be many Dominicans who feel the U.S. government is against Bosch and determined to do almost anything to prevent his election next June, or his taking power.

Ask how they got this impression, and you'll either get a shrug in response, or you'll hear that the American press and statements by congressmen reflect the position.

ACCUSED WASHINGTON

The seeds for the belief are believed to have been sown immediately after Bosch was overthrown in 1963. Bosch and influential members of his Dominican Revolutionary party — PRD — accused Washington of supporting the coup.

There are some indications the opposite was true. Dominican military leaders are known to have been warned against the coup, one of the worst-kept secrets at the time, by U.S. Embassy officials. Almost three months passed before Washington recognized the government that succeeded Bosch.

U.S. intervention in last April's revolution has also been exploited, with some apparent success, as another example of anti-Bosch sentiment in Washington. Bosch claims the United States acted to thwart a revolutionary movement that would have restored him to power.

Among the most convinced of such an official policy actually exists are Dominican right-wing extremists, some of whom are known to feel that by opposing Bosch they are doing Washington a favor. Their reasoning usually runs this way: The United States is against communism; Bosch is a Communist—despite his disclaimers and evidence to the contrary. This gets some encouragement from a few American businessmen in Santo Domingo. Their long residence here has involved them emotionally with the Dominican situation. To them, anti-U.S. nationalism, which abounds here, is nothing less than Marxism.

In recent weeks, right-wing extremists have been reinforcing their anti-Bosch feelings with violence. This has matched, and in some cases surpassed, left-wing extremist terrorism. There have been fairly well substantiated reports that some members of the armed forces have been supporting the right-wing extremists.

The terrorist campaign is believed primarily aimed at discouraging campaigning by Bosch's party in the interior. The former president has complained that many of his party officials have been beaten or otherwise intimidated by terrorists. Several scores of Bosch sympathizers have either taken political asylum or are "guests" in embassies.

All this has helped strengthen Bosch's argument that there is currently no proper climate for elections. It also weakens the claims of his adversaries that Bosch is deliberately exaggerating the true state of affairs in order to justify a future withdrawal from the race if he feels he has no chance to win.

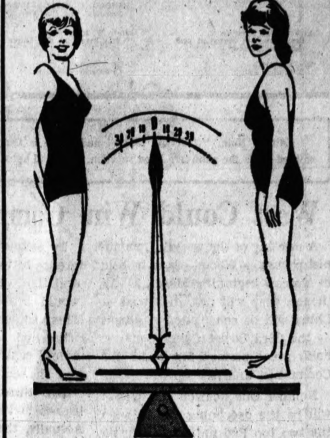

An Alarming Situation

West Could Win Commie Scrap

A meeting of the world's Communist parties — 90 odd—is to be held in Moscow beginning March 29. Although they will not all attend — China will be conspicuously absent — the 23rd Soviet Party Congress holds great portent for both the Communist and free worlds.

Number One item on the agenda will be the deepening rift between the two top Red nations — Russia and China.

Their quarrel which began six years ago has steadily worsened — worsened to the point where former Premier Nikita Khrushchev was making preparatory moves to expel Communist China from the international Communist movement. Although Russia's top team of rulers — Leonid Brezhnev and Alexei Kosygin — share "K's" disenchantment with the Chinese, observers doubt that they will go to the extreme of ousting their onetime comrades.

To enumerate the points of difference between the world's first and third most populous countries would be a taxing undertaking. Their antagonism ranges the spectrum from ideological conflict, economic contradictions and division over the war in Viet Nam.

But these are relatively recent breaks in the Sino-Soviet accord. Actually, the countries have been traditional enemies since 18th century rivalry between Czarist and Manchu empires.

Then the two power structures fought over a long list of unresolved issues, not the least of which was the perpetual territorial dispute over their common 5,000-mile border, the longest in the world.

All in all, the Moscow powwow promises plenty of fireworks — but the Chinese who are credited with the invention of pyrotechnics won't be there to shoot off any.

Congressmen Lose Job Dictionary 'Role' Call

Rep. HENRY B. GONZALEZ, D-Tex., is feeling left out of things.

It seems that the U. S. Labor Department's new two-volume Dictionary of Occupational Titles that outlines 250,000 jobs does not list "Congressman."

The Long Horn congressman has beefed about the omission to Secretary of Labor WIRTZ. GONZALEZ says that in looking under "C's" in search of reference to his own occupation he saw "confectionery drops machine operator," and "conical mixer."

another blank. The best he could do was "leg skinner," "lehr cutter," "lei maker" and "light bulb tester." And, adding insult to injury, "Lobbyist" was defined but no mention on whom the trade is usually practiced—legislators.

In desperation, he leafed through the Dictionary hoping to find "Democrat" — and was dealt the lowest blow of all when "Dancer, Belly" hit his eye.

By that time he had had a bellyful, he informed WIRTZ, and is reputedly introducing a bill giving lawmakers a status other than a symbol.

Japanese Girls Born in 1966 Imperil Husbands

Japanese abortions leaped tremendously in the last of 1965.

And there's a reason.

But it sounds very odd.

According to a sexagenary cycle of Chinese origin, 1966 is a very unhappy time for a girl to be born. A gigantic number of Japanese parents refused to accept the chance their 1966 baby would be a boy and acted accordingly.

This is the year of Hinoeuma and it means the year of fire and the horse; and women born then are quite liable to kill their husbands. Hence, girls born under this stigma are shunned by men when it comes to marriage.

This cycle appears every 60 years. But it isn't true in Oakland County.

Press Baseball Contest Ushers in Spring

Well, to coin a phrase, here we go again. What's afoot? We're surprised you asked. The Annual Press Baseball Contest that rewards the winner with a $500 U.S. Savings Bond, that's what.

This harbinger of spring—no less than awesome millinery, birds back for an early peck at the worm, small fry kited to Ben Franklin as they launch kites—each year attracts thousands of contestants bent on matching diamond divination against player performance.

To brief the uninitiated, entering the contest is about as easy as it is for a husband to forget the date of his wedding anniversary. Entrants have only to predict the American League batter with 50 or more times at bat and his average who will be leading the league when the contest ends with the games of May 15.

So-o-o, fans and fanettes, read carefully the following ground rules, put the old cranial gray cells to work and become eligible for the winner's windfall by indicating your predictions on the entry form (or copy) and get it winging Pressward.

CONTEST RULES

1. Everyone is eligible to enter contest except Press employees and members of immediate families (newspaperboys are not excluded).

2. All members of families may submit entries, but are restricted to one each.

3. LEADING BATTER must be the AMERICAN LEAGUE player, officially at bat 50 or more times, who leads the league at conclusion of games played Sunday, May 15.

David Lawrence Says:

School Bias Edict Is Arbitrary

WASHINGTON — Resentment and bitterness are emerging in different parts of the country — North as well as South — over the efforts of the federal government to impose "racial balance" in the public schools.

Throughout the debate on the Civil Rights Act of 1964, assuring LAWRENCE was given that no attempts would be made to achieve "racial balance" in education, and that the government's efforts would be confined to what the Supreme Court had ordered, namely that public schools could not remain segregated on the basis of race and must admit students without regard to color.

But what happens if not enough students of a particular race apply for admission to a school? The answer is that the federal government now is to step in and arbitrarily order a "racial balance."

This objective has been denied by governmental authorities here, who insist they are not trying to fix racial proportions.

The new "guidelines," however, which have just been promulgated by the U.S. commissioner of education reveal that certain percentages must nevertheless be attained if a school is to receive federal funds in the 1966-67 school year.

'FREE CHOICE' PLANS

Under the original "guidelines" issued in April 1965, many schools in the South adopted what are termed "free choice" plans. These were accepted by the commissioner of education as fulfilling the requirements of desegregation, but the new regulations now say:

"A free choice plan tends to place the burden of desegregation on Negro or other minority group students and their parents."

"Even when school authorities undertake good faith efforts to assure its fair operation, the very nature of a free choice plan and the effect of long-standing community attitudes often tend to preclude or inhibit the exercise of a truly free choice by for minority group students."

"In districts with a sizable percentage of Negro or other minority group students the commissioner will, in general, be guided by the following criteria in scheduling free choice plans for review:

"1. If a significant percentage of the students, such as 8 per cent or 9 per cent, transferred from segregated schools for the 1965-66 school year, total transfers on the order of at least twice that percentage would normally be expected.

SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE

"2. If a smaller percentage of the students, such as 4 per cent or 5 per cent, transferred from segregated schools for the 1965-66 school year, a substantial increase in transfers would normally be expected, such as more than 50 per cent, to bring the total to at least triple the percentage for the 1965-66 school year."

The regulations go on to set up various other percentages which would admittedly be used as "criteria in scheduling free choice plans for review."

If, after "review," a particular plan is not found satisfactory, another plan can be imposed or federal funds withheld.

School authorities now apparently are to be required by one means or another to influence more and more Negro parents to send their children to a particular school in order to achieve the approximate percentages set forth by the U.S. Office of Education. Otherwise, the schools may be denied federal funds.

Smiles

1966 is just another leap year — for pedestrians.

Folks who use namerep- ping as a status-symbol never realize how low the status is.

One argument for monogamy is that polygamy brings a flock of mothers-in-law.

Most women like to wear new things and department store owners get a charge out of that.

Bob Considine Says:

TV Subtitles, Interpreter Suggested for Space Talk

NEW YORK — One of my editors, Milton Kaplan, has a suggestion that might give aid and comfort to the millions who follow televised news conferences during space shots.

Milt would add an interpreter to the sound track, to put the questions and answers in to basic English. Or he'd run a little printed interpretation across the bottom of the TV screen, as is done with Italian movies on the late-late show.

Space jargon has gotten out of reach of the people.

We could understand Shorty Powers' "A-OK" and the nurse who used to say her Rosary before, let's say, John Glenn went up. But it's all so darned postgraduate now, and some of the worst offenders are the reporters who specialize in space matters.

Some of them phrase their questions as if they wanted to make sure that the NASA officials, as well as the viewing audience, know they'll have to get up pretty early in the morning to beat them at gobbledygook.

Sample REPORTER: Now, about the RKV. The data dump and the ACS gas quantitative. Would you say the memory readouts on the Agena's SPC system indicated the length of burn to raise the apogee, or would that have been handled better plate control, mode three?

NASA MAN: Yes and no. The proper way for a validated reading — that's the question.

I asked a question of Christopher Columbus Kraft at a briefing at Houston's Manned Spacecraft Center when a computer aboard an earthbound Gemini blew its stack and the astronauts were informed they'd have to land the thing manually.

"What's the difference between a computerized and a manual landing?" I asked, with a simplicity which many in the room found deplorable.

Chris sighed and said, "It would take me half an hour to explain it to you."

Or he may have said, "It would take me half an hour to explain it to you."

Probably a conservative estimate.

Some ZOO?

Then there was the little boy who ran to his mother and said, "Daddy took me to the zoo, and one of the animals paid $48.40 across the board."

Success in Failure

The Wall Street Journal

It is inevitable that most of the attention goes now to the failure in the Gemini flight, and that everybody should be asking the question: What went wrong?

The scientists want the answer to avoid a repetition. Those of us who sat through the long night vigil on television want to round out the drama with an explanation for our suspense.

For all of us, as in every endeavor, there is an instinct which bids us put our minds less on where we have succeeded and more on where we have not.

Still, in many ways this failure was a spectacular success. We are not referring here to the simple fact that the flight did accomplish the difficult maneuver of a mid-space docking, although that is a matter of pride. The really important thing lies elsewhere.

Voice of the People:

'Division of Democrats Is Prolonging Viet War'

The deep division within the Democratic Party over American policy in Viet Nam is prolonging the war, undermining the morale of our fighting men and encouraging the Communist aggressor. It has confused other nations about the American purpose and has led North Viet Nam to believe that in time we may falter, that we do not have the necessary will or determination to win. The peace that this nation and the free world seeks has been delayed, the fighting intensified, and the threat of a major war deepened.

The Administration policy and position on Viet Nam continues to be marred by indecision, sudden change and frequent reinterpretation. We Republicans in the House have called upon the President to disavow those within his party who would divide this country as they have divided the Democratic Party. The world is waiting for the President to take command of his party. Until this is done, the divisive debate will continue, the confusion will grow, and a peaceful solution will elude us.

Peace and freedom for South Viet Nam cannot be realized by admitting the Communists to a share of power in a coalition government. It would pave the way for a Communist takeover as did the coalition governments in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Hungary. It would make a cruel and indefensible mockery of the sacrifices of the fighting men in Viet Nam.

Two Discuss Waterford School Proposals

Regarding the school proposals for Waterford, if a "Yes" vote will not raise taxes and a "No" vote will not lower them, why spend the taxpayers' money for a special election? If our school teachers have to have a bargaining committee to speak for them, are they qualified to teach our children? Teachers are better paid for the time they put in when compared to some other jobs.

I have always backed proposals for better schools. This time I vote "No." If the district has enough money to play around in the restaurant business they don't need more money. Is better management needed in Waterford schools? Vote "No" on all proposals until management shows some ability as operators, not just a board to ask for more money.

GEORGE E. SMITH
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

On March 28, Waterford voters are asked to vote for two school proposals which "they say" will not raise the present tax authority. Have you ever voted for anything that did not raise taxes? Does it make sense to build a school pool when we are surrounded by 100 lakes? Lockers, shower rooms, dressing rooms, instructors and general upkeep of a school pool will cost taxpayers for 50 more years.

New school buildings have to be stocked with personnel, teachers, maintenance, etc. I have voted yes for many proposals they claim would not raise taxes, and taxes are still going up. You cannot build anything without paying for it.

According to the Michigan Department of State, from October 7, 1952, to October 26, 1965, his driving convictions were as follows: speeding-8, illegal turns-4, failure to stop-3, going through red light-3, disobeying traffic signal-2, driving in unsafe manner-1. During that time he was also involved in four accidents.

Liberals Allow Viet to Blur VP's Record

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG Jr.
Executive Director
National Urban League

In recent weeks I have been dismayed to find Vice President Hubert Humphrey come under violent attack from those for whom he has been a leading spokesman for the past 20 years.

No one in the nation has had a more consistent record of support for liberal policies and programs than has Vice President Humphrey, yet his critics are all too willing to forget this and publicly pillory the man because his position as a leading figure in the administration requires him to take a stand on Viet Nam with which they disagree.

Conversely, the new darling of the liberals is Sen. William Fulbright, (D-Ark.), whose opposition to the war in Viet Nam has made them forget that he has consistently voted and acted with that bloc of Southern senators who have consistently over the years obstructed measures aimed at extending the civil rights of Negroes.

The senator has not matched his courage in speaking out against Viet Nam with speaking out against his own Gov. Faubus and racial conditions in the South.

All citizens have their own opinions on the policies we are following in Viet Nam and I don't intend to discuss this very complex subject.

TEND TO FLUCTUATE

What concerns me is the way liberal intellectuals tend to fluctuate in their feelings about public figures and issues, and the effect this has on the civil rights movement.

One of the complaints liberal intellectuals have made is that, although they have participated in the civil rights movement with vigor, Negro leaders tend to mistrust them and fail to make full use of their abilities.

Why? Perhaps the answer lies in the current Viet Nam debate.

Liberals have almost abandoned the civil rights movement to do battle with the administration's Viet Nam policy. This fickleness, this seeming lack of commitment, is what limits their value to the movement.

HARDEST EFFORT

The civil rights demonstrations, as we know them, have diminished. Many of the necessary laws have been passed, others the pending, many strongholds of segregation have been breached, others are crumbling.

The time has come for that most crucial and hardest effort of all — to go into the neighborhoods and slums to organize and help people to deal effectively with their problems.

This will take energy and determination which cannot be diverted at will to any other issue which happens to come on the scene.

It is of no use to the future of the movement and of the nation if, at this crucial moment, yesterday's demonstrators and pickets swap their civil rights signs for antiwar banners and turn their backs on the immense job that remains to be done here at home.

KICKS' ISSUES

There are always issues around for people who get their kicks out of demonstrating. But for people who are genuinely interested in the society in which they live, for those who are interested in Selma as they are in Saigon, the civil rights movement has entered a phase in which the need for willing hands and willing hearts has never been greater.

These dissident liberals are greatly in need of political maturity — in the realization that politics and social change is never an all-or-nothing affair.

Progress does not come from sulking over a single issue to the exclusion of other major points. Statesmen cannot be boosted one day and then dropped the next. New heroes can't erase their records.

Those who criticize President Johnson over Viet Nam must realize that his domestic program — Medicare, urban aid, antipoverty programs, aid to education and countless other far-reaching measures mark the beginning of a new era in American life.

France's 1st NATO Pullout Move Due

By PHIL NEWSOM

France's first move toward getting out of NATO is likely to come soon. It probably will consist of withdrawal of all French officers from the various NATO military headquarters and integrated commands.

French officials say the allies probably will be given no advance warning but simply will be informed when it happens.

The next move is likely to be withdrawal of French forces in Germany from NATO command, but this may come somewhat later.

New Charge on Defendant in Noted Case

CHICAGO (UPI) — Daniel Escobedo, central figure in a 1964 U. S. Supreme Court decision on criminal law, was scheduled to appear in Federal Court today on a charge of illegal use of a weapon.

Police said they found a loaded World War II German P38 pistol under the seat of Escobedo's car yesterday when they went to investigate a report of a beating outside a tavern.

It was Escobedo's second brush with the law since he was freed Aug. 7, 1964, on a charge of murdering his sister's first husband, Manuel Valtierra, on Jan. 20, 1960.

The Supreme Court reversed the conviction and set a nationwide precedent that persons charged with crimes must be allowed legal counsel before undergoing questioning by police.

In the reversal of Escobedo's murder conviction, the Supreme Court ruled that his oral confession was inadmissible as evidence because he was not permitted to see an attorney while undergoing questioning at the police station.

Escobedo also was questioned two months ago in the slaying of his brother-in-law, Milton Winkla, who was shot Feb. 5 in his car along a South Side street.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko also has been out of Moscow for about a week and is reported to have spent the time with Brezhnev advising him on the foreign section of the report.

Not necessarily in connection with the report Brezhnev will make, the Russians seem busy mending foreign policy fences abroad.

Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Semenov traveled to Poland and East Germany.

Another deputy, Leonid Il'ychev is visiting Romania and other East European countries.

Nikolai Firinbin is touring Southeast Asia, and Yakov Malik is preparing an African trip.

In Moscow, the Russians have been giving the royal treatment to visiting Cambodian Vice Premier Sen Sann.

Presumably they are trying to smooth ruling Prince Norodom Sihanouk's feathers ruffled last year.

The Russians, annoyed with Sihanouk's pro-Chinese stance, canceled his proposed visit to Moscow.

VIET NAM SPEARHEAD: In Warsaw there is speculation that Poland is being made a spearhead in a Soviet attempt to line up concerted Communist action on Viet Nam.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Semenov carried to Poland a personal letter to Polish party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka from Brezhnev.

Informed sources said Poland unsuccessfully attempted to bring Albania and Communist China to the March 29 meeting in Moscow.

S. Oakland Communities Lead Way

Apartment Construction Is Record in '65

By JOE MULLEN

Construction of multifamily dwellings hit a record peak during 1965 in Oakland County, reflecting the growing attraction of apartment living.

A total of 5,278 multiple dwelling permits were issued last year in the county. This represents 43.5 per cent of the 12,132 permits for all construction.

Leading the way in multiple development in Oakland County was Southfield with 1,324 permits issued.

Next was Royal Oak with 919 followed by Madison Heights with 558 and Farmington Township with 346.

Other county municipalities issuing more than 200 multiple unit permits were Waterford Township, 264; Rochester, 257; and Bloomfield Township, 210.

PONTIAC PERMITS

The City of Pontiac issued permits for 190 multiple dwelling units last year.

George N. Skrubbs, director of the Oakland County Planning Commission, said the extent of future apartment development in the Pontiac area is related to the scope of urban renewal.

"Redevelopment of downtown Pontiac will create new jobs and could result in extensive multiple housing development," Skrubbs said.

He pointed out that the present high volume of apartment building in the southern area of the county in part is the result of the need to accommodate people who work in Detroit but want to live outside the city.

GREATEST POTENTIAL

"The Woodward corridor between Birmingham and Pontiac seems to offer the greatest potential for future apartment development in the Pontiac area," Skrubbs said.

"This is an ideal location as far as transportation is concerned."

Substantial redevelopment of Pontiac probably would also create more demand for multiple housing in communities near Pontiac, Skrubbs said.

The planning official anticipates continued high demand for apartment development in the southern part of the county due to the proximity to Detroit.

UPWARD TREND

Most land developers, builders and real estate sales people predict a continuation of the upward trend in multiple construction at least a few more years.

Many view 1966 as the peak for multifamily construction.

A prime factor in the intensified construction of apartment units is that the market for this type housing has expanded.

Figures prepared by the Oakland County Planning Commission indicate that the number of older people and the newly married — the two groups most interested in apartment housing — has increased sharply.

COUNTY ELDERS

The county's 65-plus age population has increased an estimated 29,464 since 1950.

The number of persons in the 20-29 age group has increased about 22,000 in the last 15 years.

The trend toward extensive construction of apartments, duplexes and row houses began in 1962 when 1,019 such permits were issued in Oakland County.

During the previous three years, the combined total of multiple dwelling permits was under 1,000.

NUMBER SWELLED

Then, in 1963, the number of multiple units swelled to 2,132 and went to 2,438 in 1964.

The 1965 upsurge in demand for multiple housing resulted in the issuance of 5,278 such permits, more than double the previous year total.

In 1959, a total of 5,141 building permits was issued in Oakland County.

SINGLE FAMILY UNITS

Only 262 of these were for multiple housing and 4,539 were single family dwelling permits.

Multiple family permits were only 2.9 per cent of the 1959 total.

The percentage rate for multiple housing permits doubled to 7.8 in 1960, to 11.6 the next year and to 19.8 in 1962.

Walled Lake Is Case in Point

Projects Often Controversial

By PAT McCARTY

Not every community welcomes apartment developments with open arms.

Many a zoning battle has been waged in Oakland County communities when developers have requested changes in the classification of their property, to permit construction of multiple residential units.

Such is currently the case in Walled Lake, where a disputed rezoning was placed on the April 4 ballot by referendum petition.

Roy V. Mercer, a Birmingham builder, had asked that the classification of four acres in the northern part of the city be changed from single-family residential to multiple residential.

Mercer planned to build 56 apartment units on the property he owns on the south side of Decker at the South Commerce intersection.

BACK REQUEST

City planning consultants at

Vilcan-Leman and Associates of Southfield recommended that Mercer's request be granted.

However, the planning commission reversed the recommendation after a public hearing in November 1965.

The City Council overrode the recommendation and the objections of neighboring property owners when it rezoned the property in December.

Council vote on the matter was six to one, with Marshall E. Taylor casting the single dissenting vote.

RALLIED AGAIN

Residents of Decker Heights No. 2 subdivision rallied again and collected enough signatures to place the question on the April 4 ballot.

Reasons for the opposition involve safety, aesthetics, privacy and — maybe — property values, according to one of the objectors, Mrs. Robert Wurst of 1311 Greenmeadow.

"This would cause a dangerous intersection and, I feel, a dangerous drive outlet for the apartments," she said. "The traffic from 56 units would be terrific."

She noted that the roads are not main ones and that the intersection already is a bad one because of a curve at the bottom of a hill.

ALREADY ZONED

"There is property in the city already zoned for multiple residences," she said.

Apartments, Mrs. Wurst feels, should be constructed on main thoroughfares.

"These were dropped right in our backyards," she said. "These two-story buildings would overlook our yards and take away our privacy."

Thus, the builder is often faced with "dropping" his development in the right "back yard," long before he breaks ground.

Apartment Life: Pros and Cons

To the rapidly growing fraternity of house dwellers turned apartment tenants, life is different.

Some like apartment living. Some don't.

Some wonder why they didn't make the switch years ago.

Others count the remaining days on the lease to the time they can move out.

"Apartment living is great," one man said. "I don't have to

DIM VIEW

Another took a dim view of his recent move from a single residence to multiple housing.

"I don't like sitting in my place and suddenly hearing a toilet flush a foot away in the next apartment," he lamented.

Asked if this meant he would return to a private residence when the lease was up, he said he hasn't decided.

"I'll certainly move out of here," he assured. "Either back to a house or to an apartment with thicker walls and some insulation."

LACK OF NOISE

Another man was bothered by the lack of noise in his apartment building.

"I wish I could hear a kid screaming once in awhile ... or a dog barking," he said.

Women generally seem more enthusiastic about apartment living than men and appear to adjust to the change more rapidly.

Most older persons appreciate the quiet resulting from the absence of small children and pets at most apartment developments.

LESS HOUSEWORK

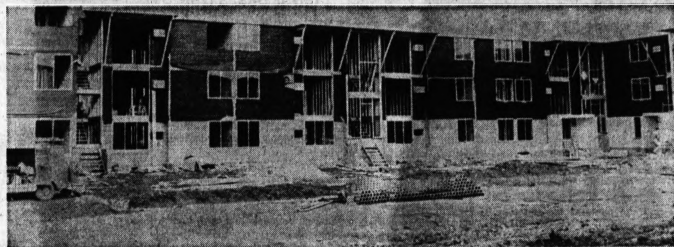

Smaller quarters mean less housework to the women just as maintenance chores are reduced or eliminated for the men.

Modern apartments often offer features tenants have never enjoyed in a private residence.

These include air conditioning, built-in appliances, step-out balconies and swimming pools in landscaped courtyards.

Rents vary considerably, reflecting the quality of construction and location.

Generally, one-bedroom apartments in modern developments range from $125 to $200 monthly. Two-bedroom units usually range in rent between $150 and $275. However, an attractive apartment in a desirable location could command a higher rent.

Apartments And Town Houses Going Up: A Big Boom In Oakland

It rose to 29.7 per cent in 1963, slipped to 28 per cent the next year and soared to 43.5 per cent of the total in 1965.

Skrubbs feels the volume of multiple housing construction would have been even higher had contractors not been faced with an acute labor shortage.

He agrees that 1966 probably will be the peak year for the percentage of multiple dwelling construction.

"It might have been 1967 or even this year if there were enough workers," Skrubbs said.

Last year a total of 12,132 permits was issued in Oakland County, 6,854 single family and 5,278 multiple dwelling.

Multiple residential development throughout the entire metropolitan region also experienced its greatest increase during 1965.

A total of 44 per cent of the permits issued in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw counties were for multiple construction last year.

This compares to 32.5 per cent for the four-county region in 1964 and 28.7 per cent the year before.

The trend to multiple development in the metropolitan region gained momentum also in 1962 with a 23.9 per cent rate of multiple construction that year compared to just 8.8 per cent in 1961.

DEVELOPMENT TREND

Nationally, the multiple development trend appears to have leveled off already based on figures available for the first three quarters of 1965.

Multiple construction permits issued during the January-September period of 1965 amounted to 41.9 per cent of the 945,500 total.

The year before the multiple ratio was 44 per cent and in 1963 it was 43.8 per cent.

Nationally, the stepped-up multiple dwelling trend began a year earlier than in Oakland County and the Detroit Metropolitan region.

NATIONALLY

The percentage of multiple permits nationally jumped from 20.9 in 1960 to 33.7 the following year. The percentage for 1962 advanced to 38.5.

Oakland County led the other three counties in the region in the number of multiple dwelling permits issued.

Its 5,246 total compares with 4,810 for Wayne, 2,649 for Macomb and 2,618 in Washtenaw.

COUNTY PERMITS

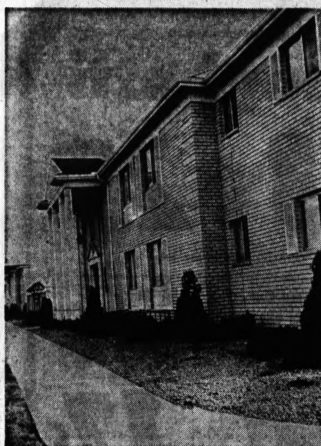

Its 12,132 permits for both single residential units and multiple dwelling units compared to 10,174 for Wayne County, 8,926 for Macomb and 3,887 for Washtenaw.

The Oakland County total was 2,424 more than the previous year's activity which represents a 39.2 per cent increase.

A permit increase of 5,951 from 29,166 to 35,119 was experienced for the total region in 1965 over 1964. This amounts to 20.4 per cent.

The region's 1965 construction activity was the highest in 10 years. A total of 44,409 units were permitted in 1965.

Views Tax, Driving, Drinking Problems

DETROIT (UPI) — State Sen. Basil W. Brown, D-Highland Park, issued a statement yesterday in which he bared his soul about his income tax, driving and drinking problems.

Brown, who was recently cited for not filing income tax returns in 1963 and 1964, said he has long admitted his failure to mail in the returns, even though they were completely made out and ready.

He said although money had been deducted from his salary, he found he owed the government an additional $1,029 and said, "I did not have the funds."

"This was undoubtedly a mistake in judgment of the greatest magnitude. This I admit and I admit flatly, without reservation, that such a gross error in judgment is deserving of just, honest, fair and severe criticism," he said.

PAIR CITED
Brown was one of two state lawmakers cited for failing to file their returns. The other was State Rep. James Bradley, D-Detroit.

"I have, perhaps, the most public traffic record in the entire state of Michigan. This record is bad," Brown said.

Brown is currently charged in Lansing Municipal Court with driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

He said he has requested the case come to trial before the upcoming elections so the public could know what he is guilty of.

ATTENDING MEETINGS
"Further, there is the question of whether I should resign or not run for reelection because of my reputation for drinking too much," he said.

Brown said he joined Alcoholics Anonymous in 1964 and has attended meetings since.

He said that after attending several meetings "I admitted that I was powerless over alcohol and that my life had become unmanageable," which is perhaps the first and most difficult of the 12-step program of Alcoholics Anonymous.

"The most important thing in my life now is the fact that I can stay sober, and not take the first drink today."

"PRESENT DAY"
"I didn't drink yesterday, I can't drink tomorrow, and, therefore, my only problem is the present day," he said.

Brown said that many prominent men, including Gov. Harold Hughes of Iowa, are members of AA, and are trying to straighten out their lives.

"In the interim, I am not going to resign because I have not used my official office or position to my own personal advantage."

"If I had, I would not have the problems I am confronted with today," he concluded.

Nations Link Efforts for Swiss Climb

KLEINE SCHEIDEGG, Switzerland (AP) — In brilliant weather, a tree-nation team pushed slowly up the north wall of 14,046-foot Mt. Eiger today.

The German and Anglo-American teams have abandoned competition and pooled their forces to try to reach the summit over the direct vertical route.

As dawn rose over the snow-capped peak, 28-year-old Layton Kor of Boulder, Colo., led the assault. Securing him on the rope below was Karl Golikow, 31, of the German team.

The two climbers are an advance party of 13 Alpinists making the climb. They hope to reach a treacherous glacier known as the Spider sometime today.

3 DAYS TO GO

From there on, it is still at least three days to the summit — if the weather holds out. German team spokesman Harry Frey said the climbers will have to hoist supplies to the Spider where they hope to set up a new bivouac.

Golikow and Kor spent the night huddled against the ice-covered wall and began their ascent at dawn.

Should Halt Opposition to Red China U.N. Entry—Fulbright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says the United States should drop its opposition to Communist China's admission to the United Nations and move toward "opening up communications" with Peking.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the United States has had "a frozen attitude" toward Red China.

"Someone has to take the steps to try to break this down to where communications can be established," he said.

"We should withdraw our opposition to the seating of China," Fulbright said. But he added:

"It may be too much for this administration, just before an election, to take that drastic step."

Fulbright gave his opinions on the Mutual Broadcasting System's "Reporters' Roundup" radio program. Views similar to Fulbright's were expressed by 100 students of Asian affairs. In a policy statement, they called for U.N. membership for Red China, negotiations on the exchange of diplomatic representatives and an end to the trade embargo against mainland China.

POLICY CHANGES

The group said changes in U.S. Asian policy would "reduce the likelihood that a crisis could turn into a major military confrontation."

The 100 represented most of those who responded to a policy statement mailed to 2,700 members of the Association for Asian Studies.

Adm. Ulysses S. Grant Sharp, commander of U.S. military forces in the Pacific, said the Chinese Communists have avoided the risk of a direct fight with the United States.

In an interview in the U.S. News & World Report, Sharp said the United States "certainly ought to be prepared for anything," but added: "I don't believe that the Chinese are ready or really desire to take us on, or that we are itching on our part to have them do it."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said on the CBS television-radio program "Face the Nation" that the United States has continued its attempt to bring Hanoi and Red China into negotiations on Viet Nam "but the difficulty is the other side keeps hanging up the phone."

pressed doubt that the war is leading the United States toward a direct clash with Red China. "I think there may be some cool heads in Communist China, too," he said.

'U. N. Could Slash Cyprus Peace Unit

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — President Makarios says the United Nations could cut its 5,000-man Cyprus peace force in half without peril if the reduction was carried out gradually "to minimize psychological shock."

Makarios told a reporter, however, that sudden withdrawal of the whole U.N. force could plunge the island's Greek and Turkish factions into new civil war.

The U.N. Security Council voted last week to extend for another three months the life of the Cyprus force, which costs about $2 million a month.

Junior Editors Quiz on Davy Jones

QUESTION: Why did sailors start talking about "Davy Jones' Locker" and what does it mean?

ANSWER: Sailors, constantly crossing the vast, mysterious ocean, have always felt a need for a legend to suggest some of the things which can't be defined in ordinary words.

The Greek Poseidon, the Roman Neptune, were mythical sea kings; Davy Jones is another such imaginary figure.

His name was originally Duffy Jones. A duffy was a West Indian ghost. Jones meant the prophet swallowed by a whale. Old-timer sailors coupled the names together to suggest a ghost living at the bottom of the sea, named Davy Jones.

They thought of him as a kind of underwater innkeeper, whose special job was to care for the souls of sailors lost at sea. Aboard a ship, a locker meant a small place where valuables were stored; so Davy had a locker to house his boarders in.

It is tragic to think of ships lost at sea. To an old-time sailor, however, this tragedy became more bearable if he was able to think of the souls of drowned shipmates as living in a cozy underwater hideout where there would be plenty of singing and dancing going on.

Perhaps the old sailors didn't really believe in such legends, but they liked to tell about them. Another such home for drowned seamen, on shore, was called "Fiddler's Green."

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can find out about Poseidon and what his relation was to the other gods of Greek mythology.

Poverty No Barrier to Happiness

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 23rd in a 40-part series by famous and unknown persons on how faith in God changed their lives.

By SAM LEVENSON
Star of TV

At a party my wife, Esther, and I attended recently, a woman remarked of a successful author, "He certainly had a privileged childhood."

"So did I," I added quickly. The others laughed, knowing I grew up in the slums of New York.

But I was serious, for I was privileged. I had wise parents who loved me and told me so.

Our poverty may have kept me from most luxuries as a boy, but Mama and Papa always found money for the essentials.

Just what the SAM essentials were SAM LEVENSON was not always clear to me, but Mama knew. One seemingly impractical purchase she made fascinated me to this day. It was a used violin — a $9 violin.

POOR FOLK

To realize what an outlay this was, one must know how poor we were.

I was the eighth child of eight children, seven boys and one girl, born to Hyman and Rebecca Levenson, immigrants to America from White Russia.

Papa worked as a tailor in a sweatshop when he worked — which was about seven months out of 12. We lived in a four-room tenement apartment where three in a bed was private, four in a bed semiprivate.

When Papa was out of work, we were lucky to have anything to eat. But somehow Mama managed and didn't complain.

FINANCIAL AID

My older brothers helped with the family finances. By the time I was old enough to remember, Joe, the oldest, was through medical school and had begun to practice. The same was true of Jack who was a dentist.

How did they find money enough to go to school? They worked, selling papers, running errands, anything.

The same kind of ingenuity that got them through school figured in the violin episode.

MAJOR EFFORT

For the next three months, she concentrated all her energy on finding me a junior-size violin.

She toured the pawn shops, watched the advertisements in the papers, put music teachers on the trail of an instrument we could afford (which would have been free). Finally, she located one for $9.

Conferences were held in whispers as Mama and Papa inventoried the family finances. When brothers Joe and Jack visited, Mother talked in hushed tones with them. (I'm sure they contributed to the cause.)

Though I yearned for a violin with all my heart, I couldn't imagine how she could even consider paying that much money for one when we had been eating off the same soup bone for a week.

Actually, there were many weeks when Papa didn't earn $9, but that didn't discourage Mama. By saving a nickel here, a dime there, the sugar bowl bank grew.

Then, one day when I came home from school, Mama and Papa put on a little ceremony

LENTEN GUIDEPOSTS

I trudged home and sadly reported the news. "Oy," Mother responded. (That's Jewish for "Oh my.") "But blessed are they who have arms — long or short." She always had a verse — real or imagined — from the Bible.

Actually, there were many weeks when Papa didn't earn $9, but that didn't discourage Mama. By saving a nickel here, a dime there, the sugar bowl bank grew.

Then, one day when I came home from school, Mama and Papa put on a little ceremony as they made the presentation. Mama's round face was one big smile.

When she saw my excitement, tears of pride came to her pretty blue eyes. Papa blew his nose.

"Make a joyful tune unto God all ye blessed," Mama said, quoting one of those Psalms I've never been able to find. But that wasn't the end of this gift.

Violin lessons cost money: 25 cents a week. Somehow Mama always was able to put her hands on a quarter for violin lessons. I know she went without food herself.

Now I didn't play very well, but I played in earnest. Whenever there was a special occasion, I was invited to play the violin — at home, at school, at synagogue.

Every teacher I had told me, with fingers in their ears, "Sammy, the violin is not for you."

Eventually, after I had become established as a comedian, I put aside my violin. But you can't put aside a memory as rich as this. It warms me now as I tell you about it.

RESPONSIBILITY

Though world conditions have changed a great deal since I was a boy, the responsibility of parenthood is still the same: staggering.

Kahlil Gibran knew what he was saying when he wrote, "You (parents) are the bows from which your children as living arrows are sent forth."

Mama and Papa never read Gibran, but their bows were true — full of love and encouragement. No parent can give a child more.

That's why I can picture a small boy cradling the world's most valuable violin and saying, "I was a privileged child."

Next — Mary Barlett, Phoenix, Ariz., housewife, tells the warmly human story of how kindness to a discarded old fisherman paid off in happiness. (From the Lenten Guideposts and copyright, 1966, by Guideposts Associates, Inc., Carmel, N.Y.) Distributed by The Register and Tribune Syndicate.

When Parents Fail to Act

Schools Urged to Stand Firm

By LESLIE J. NASON, E. D.
Schools must sometimes step in when parents fail to act. Last September, a junior high principal singled out boys who were "going over-board" in the long-hair fad and told them, one by one, to get their hair trimmed before they returned to school.

When pupils refused to comply, the parents were contacted. They approved of the action and cooperated with the principal.

This was the principal's first year at the school. Apparently his action paid off, since the rash of fights and turbulence occurring in the cafeteria and on the playground the previous year disappeared along with the long hair.

BEST INTEREST

In some cases, such as this, schools in the best interest of all students, must take a firm stand.

Parents seemingly do not want these decisions left entirely in the hands of the youngsters. Seventy-seven per cent said, for example, that schools are right to order boys to cut their hair short, and 87 per cent said schools are right to forbid girls to wear Bermuda shorts.

The law states that teen-agers may not drink intoxicating liquor. In this case, all agreed that the school is right when it says that students must not drink at its social functions.

In modern city living, parents do not have the close surveillance of their children's activities that could be maintained in the small community life of a half century ago. A teen-ager with an automobile can easily escape family and community pressures.

FIRMNESS NEEDED

While church affiliations do add strength to the family efforts to guide and control youth, the school is the only place where all children are involved.

BOOK BURNING — Indonesian students tear up Communist Chinese flags, books and magazines after taking them from classrooms in a Chinese school in Jakarta Friday.

The students then burned them on the school campus. This picture was made by a correspondent for a Tokyo newspaper.

Army Cracks Down

Indonesia AF Watched

SINGAPORE (AP). — The Indonesian army has cracked down on the air force to prevent any attempt by the airman to overthrow the new military regime. It was reported here today.

Travelers from Jakarta reported that the army arrested the former air force chief, Air Vice Marshal Suradarma, last Friday. He was considered a Communist, the reports said.

Army troops occupied all airports over the weekend, slashing aircraft tires and removing vital parts from plane engines to prevent their use against the 10-day-old regime of army chief Lt. Gen. Suharto, the reports added.

Veterans Bill Veto Looming

Dem Override Try Is Top Item in House

LANSING (AP). — If you missed the governor's veto of the Veterans Property Tax Exemption Bill, you might be able to catch the repeat performance this week.

Romney has pledged to vote the bill the moment it hits his desk. It is a near-duplicate of one he vetoed last year. House Republicans have pledged to withhold the one vote Democrats need for a two-thirds vote to override the veto — as they did last year.

Democrats have said they're going to try anyway.

The override attempt was one of the major items before the House this week — where the bulk of the work still is being performed at the committee level.

HOLDING OUT

Romney is holding out for a sliding-scale benefit plan — keyed to the amount of disability. Democrats want an across-the-board increase in exemptions from the first $2,000 of state equalized valuation to the first $3,500.

Veterans group leaders have agreed to sit down with lawmakers Wednesday or Thursday to try to reach a compromise settlement.

Key item on the Senate calendar — and likely to come to a vote finally — is Mackinac Bridge refinancing.

The House-passed measure needs two-thirds approval — seen by even its chief backers as difficult to muster.

NO IMMEDIATE EFFECT

Even if passed, the bill would have no immediate application. It would permit the state to sell general obligation bonds in order to buy back the $99.8 million in revenue bonds used to build the span.

But the bonds could not be sold for more than 3.25 per cent — rated as virtually impossible in the current bond market. The revenue bonds now outstanding draw an average 3.25 per cent.

Backers say tolls could be cut by about one-third if the bridge were refinanced.

Suradarma was chief of the air force from its organization during the Indonesian revolution against the Dutch until January 1962, when he was replaced by Air Vice Marshal Omar Dhanil. Suradarma later was made telecommunications minister in President Sukarno's cabinet.

ATTEMPTED COUP

Dhanil was implicated in the attempted coup last October and reportedly fled to Cambodia. Air force bases reportedly were used as bases for some preparation for the coup attempt.

The Suharto regime has won full support from the powerful Nationalist party, which Sukarno founded, the official Radio Jakarta reported.

Dr. Ali Sastroamidjojo, the party's leader, pledged assistance to Suharto's attempts to restore law and order. Sastroamidjojo said the party has ousted its secretary general, former minister without portfolio Surachman, Radio Jakarta added.

Surachman was one of 15 pro-Communist Cabinet members ordered under "protective custody" by the army Friday. The 15 included First Deputy Premier Subandrio, the pro-Peking foreign minister.

ELUDE ARREST

But a report reaching Singapore said four former cabinet ministers, including Third Deputy Premier Chaerul Saleh, have eluded army efforts to arrest them in Jakarta. It was not known if they had left the country. Suharto sealed off the airports when he ordered the arrests.

The military regime announced plans to bring Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, a militant anti-Communist, back into public view when he addresses a meeting this week. Nasution had dropped from sight after Suharto fired him as defense minister Feb. 21 for his far-reaching crackdown on Communists. Diplomats in Singapore said Nasution's return indicates he is destined for a high post, perhaps even the presidency, when Suharto announces his permanent Cabinet within a week. So far Sukarno has continued as figurehead president while the army controls the country.

Radio Jakarta also announced that the military government had temporarily banned all political parties, public meetings and demonstrations in North Sumatra to maintain peace and order.

Telegraph communications between Japan and Indonesia were restored today after a blackout that began just before the arrest of the cabinet ministers Friday. Telephone communications also were cut then, but KDD, the Japanese overseas communications firm, expected them to be restored at the normal time Tuesday.

Fumes Kill Three Aboard Greek Ship

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP). — The Greek ship Hellenic Star headed back up the Mississippi to New Orleans today after a sea tragedy that killed the captain, first mate and a seaman.

They died Sunday after being overcome by fumes from solvents being used to clean a hold.

The Coast Guard identified them as Capt. Iosie Papazoglou, 32, of Athens, Greece; First Mate Vasilios Karvelas, 34, Piraeus, Greece; and Michail Vovigaris, 34, of Kilac Granddion, Greece.

Softwood plywood production in the United States in 1963 was estimated at about 10 billion square feet.

Yanks May Die of Laughing

VC's Cockeyed Charley a Threat of Sorts

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
CU CHI, Viet Nam (NEA) — There is a Viet Cong sniper operating inside the 25th Infantry Division perimeter here who is having a heck of a time convincing anybody he's serious. They call him Cockeyed Charley.

And the thing is, he's a rotten shot.

He can't hit the ground with his foot, in fact. The gag is that you're only in danger if he's not pointing at you. He aims like he's got double vision.

Charley was loose again last night, a soldier will say.

"Oh, he get anybody?" another will ask.

"No."

"Well, they did find some blood in the bushes."

"Whose?"

"Probably Charley's."

"You mean ... ?"

WILD SHOT

"Yeah, he was shooting so wild they think he wounded himself."

Charley lives, presumably alone, in the acres of thickets surrounding this infant installation.

He scurries around at night like a flea in a flame, blasting away with a rifle that has the approximate accuracy of a licorice pistol.

He's a sneak thief, certainly, but not a coward. He is more precisely an idiot ... a single, sleazy individual hiding out amongst an overwhelming host of his enemies.

SAND IN HEAD?

The fact that he continues to stay is indicative of his apparent substitution of fortitude for good sense. He must have a head full of sand, in fact. If he had brains, he'd be dangerous.

Still, he's as elusive as a cockroach in the catsup. Troopers have taken thousands of shots at him with no positive results.

One, a young Pfc., came face to face with him recently only to prove that neither of them would ever be famous for marksmanship.

"I saw him, I saw him," the kid yelled to his sergeant.

"How far away was he?" the noncom asked.

"Maybe 20 feet, no more."

"What'd he look like?"

"Black shorts and a khaki shirt."

"Did he fire?"

"Yeah, but he missed."

"Did you fire?"

"Yeah, but I missed."

"Then what'd you do?"

"We both ran like hell, naturally."

TUNNEL SYSTEM

Charley's home is probably any one of the elaborate tunnel systems dug underneath what has been, until recently, solid VC ground. It changed ownership, of course, when the infantry moved in.

Cockeyed Charley, however, refused eviction.

In any event, he continues to wage his one-man war against the U.S. Army. And, although he seldom takes casualties other than those who die laughing, he presents a thorny woe nonetheless.

There is always the possibility, for example, he'll make a mistake and hit someone. Too, as long as he continues to thrive inside the basecamp area, 4,000 prospective GI targets will be aware that their perimeter and their lives are far from secure.

STILL A THREAT?

Everytime they travel down they stray out of talking distance with their fellows, everytime it gets dark ... there will be the ominous presence of Cockeyed Charley.

It's a bit nerve wracking, to be sure. But it could be worse. Charley might get sore some day and go away. That would be terrible.

His replacement might be a better shot.

Talents Said Needed

Drafting of Future Ph.D.'s Hit

By Science Service
NEW YORK — A protest against drafting graduate students working for their doctorates in science and engineering is registered in a communication to Science, Journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Robert A. Gross, professor of engineering sciences, Columbia University, New York.

"Near the culmination of their 20 or more years of formal training, they are being drafted to fill local quotas," Dr. Gross said.

"This is a poor utilization of scarce and nationally needed talent and is certainly not in the best interest of our country, yet the scientific community has not raised its voice in audible protest.

"The National Science Foundation, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and the National Academy of Sciences have developed strong financial support for graduate education in the sciences, yet all agencies are strangely silent while some of our brightest young men have their careers interrupted at a crucial time in their training."

"It is time for the agencies within and outside the government which represent the scientific community to speak out, loudly and clearly, against this. Failure to do so will cost our country dearly in the future, for all the battles are not being fought in Southeast Asia.

"Our future scientific strength resides with the young Ph.D.'s and drafting them to fight, or idly pass the time as former generations of soldiers have done, is to ignore history and misinterpret this meaning of democracy."

Physics Race to Be Costly

U.S. Surge Required to Keep Leadership

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — The United States will have to pay if it wants to keep its leadership in physics.

Although the U.S. is now strong in physics, it can maintain its position only through vigorous growth.

That promise — or threat — was one main conclusion of a report issued today by the National Academy of Sciences. Physics is the most basic of the natural sciences.

It provides an indispensable intellectual foundation for national achievements in other sciences and in technology.

To keep that foundation strong, the report urges giving immediate attention to many pressing problems, particularly the support of physics education to ensure an adequate supply of scientists in the future.

DREW UP REPORT

The report, titled "Physics: Survey and Outlook," was prepared by an 18-member Physics Survey Committee under the chairmanship of Dr. George E. Pake, provost and physics professor at Washington University, St. Louis.

It is the fourth in a series by the Academy examining the current status and future potentials of major areas of science. Previous reports have covered astronomy, chemistry and the uses of computers in university research.

Unless total science budgets are increased so that the rapid growth of a few years ago can be resumed, the country will be faced with a painful choice: whether to preserve the growth of general academic research or to make new commitments to large scientific projects.

One such large project recommended in the report is "the earliest possible authorization" to build a 200 billion electron volt accelerator.

EIGHT SITES

A special Academy committee will very soon finish making recommendations for eight possible construction sites, winnowed down from 55, from which the Atomic Energy Commission will make the final decision.

Foremost among the important problems facing U.S. physics is the need for increasing financial support to keep pace with revolutionary developments in the instrumentation and techniques of physics research, continuing large increases in the number of physics faculty and students, and the need for more physics teachers at all educational levels.

Mrs. Gandhi Fete Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Johnson will host a White House state dinner in honor of Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi next Monday night. Mrs. Gandhi, who has met the Johnsons several times here and in her own country, is expected in Washington next Monday morning.

Golters were recognized 2,000 years ago and were generally treated by sea salt, both eaten and applied externally.

"YOUR HEALTH" WHIPLASH

This is a frequent complaint from restless, tense, and irritable individuals. Your body is thrown forward suddenly, all except the head and neck.

The persistent jerk is sometimes great enough to cause a loose or two of the neck to slip off from their normal position with resultant discomfort with spinal curvature.

This may be due, however, to the rigidity of the neck and head. These may also be the cause of the head and neck pain.

Many individuals complain of a stiff neck. Head and neck pain may help, but CHIROPRACTIC manipulation of the neck and head aligned vertebrae is the sensible answer. If you have had this problem, or ever do have it, see your Chiropractic Physician today.

Some Interesting Tidbits Are Included in Hal's Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Inflation has hiked the cost of wives in South Africa. Bantu tribesmen now must pay from five to 200 cattle for a blushing bride, the price depending on whether she's a run-of-the-mill maiden or a chief's daughter. About 80 per cent of the Bantu men have two wives, some as many as 20.

BOYLE

What are America's most popular family names? Well, we now have at least 1.3 million Smiths, 900,000 Johnsons, 750,000 Williamses, 650,000 Browns, and half a million each of Wilsons and Davises.

Sign in a shuttered Broadway novelty shop: "Now do you believe we undersold everyone?"

Beginning: The first old-age pension plan in the United States was started in 1717 by the Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia. Called "The Fund for Pious Uses," it provided benefits for retired ministers.

Master, if you can't find the girl of your dreams in your old home town, take a trip to the District of Columbia, where the odds are more in your favor. It has only 88.3 men to every 100 women.

The big-hearted people: Last year 40 million Americans contributed between $10 billion and $11 billion to nonprofit worthy causes of all kinds. The only source: The National Better Business Bureau estimates that about $100 million of this went to gyms and charity swindlers.

Quip: Catholic Digest reports that a prison convict wrote a crime story and submitted it to a magazine with this note: "The facts in this story are true. Only the names have been changed to protect the guilty."

Uncommon facts about the common cold: More people catch colds in October than any other month. Women catch more colds than do men. Summer colds usually are harder to get rid of than winter colds. The older you get, the fewer colds you are likely to get.

Living it up: Despite widespread prosperity, millions of Americans are only one paycheck away from bankruptcy. Studies show that a third of all families with incomes between $5,000 and $7,000 have no savings at all. The same is true for almost a fourth of families earning from $7,000 to $10,000 yearly.

Worth remembering: "If at first you do succeed, it's too easy; try something else."

Up in the air: Race horses seem to prefer to travel by plane rather than ship or rail over long distances. Special padded planes now can carry 13 animals in first-class comfort. Like human passengers, the horses insist on facing in the direction the plane travels — or they make a kick.

What are the chances of your children graduating from college — even if you can get them into one? Only about 40 per cent of freshmen earn their degrees within four years, and only 60 per cent ever get a sheeplekin.

LONDON BRIDGE IS . . . — When Arthur W. Napert of Berlin, N.H., started driving across a bridge spanning an ice-covered river near his home, he never dreamed he'd take half of the 250-foot structure along with him. Napert, whose car can be seen under twisted steel beams, is being treated for cuts and shock.

Scores Injured

Uganda Quake Kills Over 100

KAMPALA, Uganda (UPI)—Police helicopters today rushed doctors and supplies into remote western Uganda, where one of the most violent earthquakes in recent African history killed more than 100 persons.

The first tremor struck early yesterday morning, and severe aftershocks continued almost without interruption for four hours.

The quake registered 7.7 on the Richter scale on European seismographs and 10 on a scale of 12 at a seismographic station in the Soviet Union.

Estimates placed the dead at more than 100, with scores injured.

The quake was believed to have originated near Lake Albert on the border between Uganda and the Congo, a seismically active area.

DOCTORS RUSHED

Helicopters rushed rescue squads of doctors and nurses into the area, inhabited mainly by dissident Toro tribesmen.

It was the first major earthquake in Uganda in several years.

The earthquake, centered about 200 miles west of Kampala, rocked the capital city.

Prof Studies Relationship of Body Builds to Men's Futures

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Dr. Albert Damon of Harvard University thinks that with a close enough look he can tell a lot about a man, including his chances of heart disease or of having more sons than daughters.

Damon, an anthropologist, is studying 18,000 men who attended Harvard between 1880 and 1920.

His study includes such Harvard students as Theodore Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Joseph P. Kennedy.

Detailed measurements of the students' body builds were in their school records. Damon and others spent years finding out what happened to the men.

PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Using a computer, Damon is checking to see if a man's physical appearance can be used to predict his future.

He has found some relationships that held true for his Harvard group.

"The stockier the men, the more likely they were to have sons," Damon said.

Are bolder men more virile?

NO RELATIONSHIP

Not in Damon's Harvard group. He checked the 5th reunion reports on 1,000 of the men who married and found there was "no relationship between baldness and either the number or the sex of their 2,775 children."

Damon is checking another theory—that Americans are getting taller.

He is checking the frequent cases where several generations of one family attended Harvard. He has three generations of Roosevelt and two generations of Kennedys.

A key part of his study, financed by a grant from the American Heart Association, concerns the relationship of body build to the incidence of various diseases.

"Body build has the same association with heart disease as smoking, high blood pressure and the amount of serum cholesterol in one's blood and a greater relationship than the amount of exercise one gets," Damon said.

How valid Damon's conclusions would be for other groups remains to be proved. But can 18,000 Harvard men be wrong?

The Small Business Administration lent 466 Alaska homeowners more than $9 million for rebuilding after the March, 1964, earthquake.

Authority Writes Good Grooming Book

EDITOR'S NOTE: For the next four weeks The Pontiac Press will be running excerpts from the book, "A New You" by Emily Wilkins (G. P. Putnam's Sons). We hope our teen readers will look for this feature each day.

CHAPTER 1

Certain girls are lucky enough to have been blessed with perfect legs, rosy complexions, patrician noses and wavy hair that doesn't seem to lose its shape in rain, sleet, hail, or dark of night.

But many others — more than you'd believe — have attained beauty. They've learned to emphasize their assets and play down their faults.

Maybe you think grooming is sort of superficial and frilly, and tell yourself you don't care how you look . . . but don't you?

Any girl who slops around in dirty sneakers, cuts her hair with the kitchen shears, and fastens her skirt with a safety pin is broadcasting that she doesn't think much of herself.

SELF-RESPECT

If you have a basically happy, healthful attitude toward yourself and others, you'll take pride in your grooming. It takes a certain amount of self-respect to want to be attractive—you're in effect asking to be noticed when you've made the most of your looks.

I've seen good grooming turn wallflowers into belles of the ball because it gave them confidence and a sense of worth.

Beauty is usually due to 90 per cent know-how and 10 per cent nature. Most stage and screen stars are active, busy people who have no more time to devote to their looks than you do.

Why are they always so mad-deniably poised, so not-a-hair-out-of-place attractive? Because they have the know-how: their beauty routines are organized, a habit as natural to them as breathing. They've heeded advice to play up their assets and minimize their faults.

It's often helpful — and fun besides — to pick an attractive public personality you like, and whose type you resemble.

Suppose, for instance, you've analyzed your looks and find you are the Audrey Hepburn type . . . tall, slim, narrow, longish nose, marvelous eyes. Play Sherlock-Holmes and track down her every photograph. Pore over newspapers and magazines, and clip out every article about her.

When you've compiled an overflowing scrapbook, study her, as if you were boning up for a final exam. How does she wear her hair? How does she make up those fabulous eyes? What clothes and accessories does she prefer?

Oh, I know what you're going to say — if you could afford designer dresses, you'd be beautiful, too. But it isn't money that makes Audrey Hepburn a show-stopping beauty, it's a total look of elegance . . . a combination of knowing exactly what she needs to enhance her own looks, and basic good taste.

Follow Audrey's lead for a while, right down to those tiny pearl earrings. Don't buy anything she wouldn't. How would she look in the pleated skirt you saw on sale — wonderful? Awful?

After a month or two, you'll have a deeply embedded style sense and can branch out a little and develop your own particular brand of chic. Beauties come in all sizes and types, and it's up to you to analyze yourself and make the most of your assets.

MAKE IT PAY

It's not the amount of time you spend on your looks, it's the way you spend it. You have to bathe, wash your face, brush your hair and teeth every day.

Good grooming is simply a matter of doing all these things the right way rather than the wrong way. And once you have the routine down pat, you won't even have to think about it.

Let's assume that you'd like to improve your looks. The big question is HOW? Perhaps you've read some books and tried other plans, and have just about had it.

You've followed directions from foundation to mascara and ended up with a complete makeup job, but somehow it didn't look at all like you. When you came down to the living room to show it off, your little brother had a giggling fit.

I think there's a very simple reason most beauty plans aren't too effective. They give all kinds of directions, but they don't take the individual into consideration.

There's only one person who's equipped to decide what makeup aids, if any, to use, which hair style is most flattering, the clothes that are zingiest — and that person is YOU. To do this, you have to analyze your own strong and weak points.

Tomorrow you will begin your self-analysis course — on the road to becoming a REAL beauty!

Camp Fire Girls Observe 56th Birthday Celebration

A full schedule of events is planned for the Pontiac Area Council of Camp Fire Girls during their 56th birthday celebration.

Founded in 1910 by Luther Halsey Gulick, it is the oldest national and non-sectarian female youth organization in America, and is for girls from seven to 17.

During birthday week, special emphasis is placed on home and family activity and in community service.

LAKE ORION

The Lake Orion area traditionally selects Founders' Day March 17 as the date of their annual cooperative dinner to which all parents, teachers, principals and friends of Camp Fire are invited. This year, the theme "Widen Your World" was used in both program and decorations.

On Tuesday Waterford Camp Fire groups will present "Where the Action Is" for parents and friends at the CAI Building. The evening will be highlighted with original skits and songs followed by refreshments made by the girls.

Thursday will find the Avon Pavilion in Rochester as site of that district's birthday open house with displays and dessert.

Whitefield and Wisner schools Camp Fire girls have invited their younger Blue Bird groups to be guests for birthday cake, while others at Bethune have asked their parents to help them celebrate.

PTA meetings in several schools are being dedicated to the Camp Fire Girls this month.

Pontiac Area Council of Camp Fire Girls is a member agency of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

NEW DIRECTOR

Dr. Hester Turner, a prominent civic and education leader in Portland, Oregon, has been named national director and secretary of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., according to an announcement by Robert L. Dillard, chairman of the board of directors of the national youth organization.

Dr. Turner succeeds Martha F. Allen who will continue as executive vice president until the end of the year.

Dr. Turner is currently dean of students at the faculty of Lewis and Clark College in Portland.

Commenting on the appointment of Hester Turner, Mr. Dillard recently said, "Camp Fire Girls is singularly fortunate to be gaining in Dr. Turner a vibrant woman of exceptional ability, humanity, and versatility."

Prior to her current post, Dr. Turner was dean of women at Lewis and Clark College, where she previously served as professor of education.

TEXAS BORN

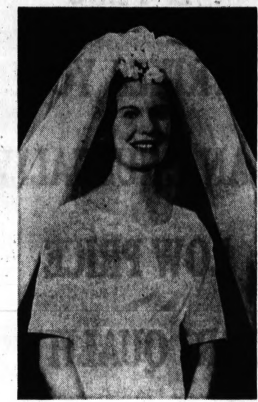

A native of San Antonio, Texas, Dr. Turner earned her bachelor of science and master of arts degrees at Our Lady of the Lake College and Southwest Texas State College.

She subsequently received her bachelor of laws degree at the University of Arizona and her doctorate in education at Oregon State University.

Two sons are serving with the United States Air Force, and twin daughters, both former members of Camp Fire Girls, will enter college in the fall.

Dr. Turner will assume her duties at Camp Fire Girls national headquarters in New York City in the autumn.

Martha F. Allen, retiring national director, has served in the organization's highest administrative post for more than 25 years.

MRS. ALBERT EDWIN HENN II

Henn-Koopman Vows

A dinner-reception in Dearborn Inn followed the marriage of Jeanne Ellen Koopman to Albert Edwin Henn II, Saturday in Martha-Mary Chapel, Greenfield Village.

The George Koopmans of Bunny Run Drive, Orion Township, and the Kenneth A. Hennis, Woodbridge, Conn., are parents of the Detroit couple.

EMPIRE GOWN

An illusion veil complemented the bride's Empire A-line gown of white peau de sole for the six o'clock rite performed by Rev. James B. Guinan.

Her lace handkerchief had previously been carried by three generations of brides in the bridegroom's family.

Dolores Gillies of Detroit was maid of honor. Tina Henn, Burlington, Vt., Beth Koopman, East Lansing, and Marie Vanderpool, Grosse Pointe Park, were bridesmaids.

Carol and Tom Kloss were flower girl and ring-bearer.

With Frank T. Henn, Oak Park, his brother's best man, were ushers James Koopman and Hillard Goldman, Ann Arbor; Lawrence Wan, George Baker, and David Anderson, Oak Park.

The couple are alumni of Michigan State University. She is working on a master's degree through the Harvard University Graduate School. Mr. Henn is a medical student at Wayne State University.

Old Guessing Game

She Has Multiple Choice

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For a long time I've suspected that my husband had an apartment, a room, or a girl-friend somewhere because he would leave home in a gray suit and come back in navy blue. When I first called him in that he tried to make me believe I was losing my mind.

ABBY

Now I am sure there is nothing wrong with me and he is changing clothes somewhere. What do you think of a man like that?

ORLANDO LADY

DEAR LADY: I think your husband has (1) more suits than he needs; (2) a closet elsewhere; (3) a very poor memory.

DEAR ABBY: My name is "Marjorie." Is that such a difficult name to pronounce? Why then do strangers as soon as they meet me insist on calling me "Marge"? When I tell them in a nice way that my name is "Marjorie," not "Marge," some proceed to call me "Marge-orce in a most-sarcastic and mocking manner.

What makes Americans behave this way? And how can I get them to call me "Marjorie" without all that ridicule and funny business?

FROM ENGLAND

DEAR MARJORIE: Nine out of 10 Americans are gullies as charged: A well-bred European addresses a new acquaintance as Mr., Mrs., or Miss. Not Americans! Charles immediately become Charlie, Robert is Bob, and Marjorie is Marge.

It's a good-humored American bid for friendliness, not familiarity. Forgive them.

Marjorie Sallie Head of Altrusa

Marjorie Sallie has been named president of the Altrusa Club of Greater Birmingham.

Others who will assume new duties include Mrs. W. C. Sproull, first vice president; Mrs. Axel Magnuson, second vice president; and Mrs. Stanley Saunders, recording secretary.

More are Mrs. Letha Frame Cook, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Leslie Shanks, treasurer; Mrs. Cyril B. Lewis, who was named to the board of directors.

Dems Appoint Two Delegates

Mrs. Mildred Jeffrey, Democratic national committeewoman from Michigan, and Miss Adelaide Hart, vice chairman of the Democratic state central committee, have announced the appointment of two leading Democratic women to work with the Michigan delegation to the 1966 campaign conference for Democratic women to be held in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Fred Huber of Detroit has been appointed state conference chairman and Mrs. Morris Arnowitz of Oak Park has been appointed publicity coordinator, according to Mrs. Jeffrey and Miss Hart.

Both Mrs. Huber and Mrs. Arnowitz have long been active in community affairs as well as the Democratic party.

Rules Are Changed for Wedding News

Starting on April first, new rules regarding engagement and wedding news will go into effect.

If pictures are desired for both occasions, there must be FOUR months between them. Girls announcing their engagements in April may not have both engagement and wedding pictures, if they are married before August.

No engagements are announced less than a month before the wedding date.

WEDDING PICTURES

While The Press prefers to receive wedding stories and pictures before the event, pictures will be accepted not later than two days after the ceremony (that is, Tuesday for Saturday weddings).

For out-of-town weddings, this deadline is extended. The Pontiac Press makes no promise to use every picture submitted but some printed mention of the event will be made.

NO CHARGE

There is no charge for editorial space, but it cannot be reserved. No promises can be made regarding size of picture nor its position.

All pictures are kept for two months, then discarded. They may be called for any time after publication.

Featured soloists singing with the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra and Oakland University Chorus on Tuesday at Pontiac Northern High School are (from left) Marjorie Gordon, lyric coloratura soprano; Russell W.

Smith, baritone; and Robert A. Angus, dramatic tenor. They will participate in the performance of "Carmine Burano" during the symphony concert. Concert time is 8:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the door.

Laurence Dumouchelle will come from Detroit to be the auctioneer again this year.

June vows are planned by Eileen Ann Salvetti, Oakland University alumna, and Timothy A. White both of Commerce Township. Their parents are the Robert Salvettis of Birmingham and the Jerry Whites of Hickory Wood Drive. Mr. White attends Oakland Community College.

EILEEN ANN SALVETTI

Festival Is Still Slated for Summer

The 750 women working all over the metropolitan Detroit area for this year's Meadow Brook Festival have not slackened their efforts. They have sold over 3,000 season tickets. Despite the flurry of the Detroit Symphony's union contract problems, Mrs. Ben D. Mills, who serves with her husband as general chairman of the glamorous event, expressed complete confidence that there will be a Festival this summer.

RED PENCIL JUNE 3

She urged her committee to sell-out the Pavilion seats by June 3, date of a victory luncheon set for Trumbull Terrace on the Festival grounds at Oakland University.

In the weekend meeting with her vice-chairman, Mrs. James O. Wright, and general area chairmen, Mesdames Virgil E. Boyd, Fred K. Cody, Walter F. Skinner, and Harry N. Wieting, Mrs. Mills also set the morning of April 20 as the date for the first worker report meeting on the Oakland campus.

In the meantime, committee members are scheduling teas and coffees all over the area to spur on ticket selling activities.

The first six weeks of programs will be offered subscribers on a season basis with tickets priced at $15 in the Pavilion.

Subscribers have a choice of Thursday, Friday, Saturday, or Sunday "Twilight" series of six concerts. Grounds admission tickets for any or all concerts may be purchased in advance, too, for $1.50 each.

'Twas Big Event for a Little Car

FORT WORTH, Tex. (U—) Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Livingston are owners of three new $60 U.S. Savings Bonds, thanks to a standing offer of Volkswagen to give bonds to the parents of any baby born in one of their automotive products.

The couple started on a stock run for Glenview Hospital, but made it only as far as the hospital's parking lot, where Tami Livingston was born in the little foreign car.

Pair Wed at Kirk-in-the-Hills

The Vincent Arthur Raspers (Ila Sue Powell) left for a Canadian honeymoon after their vows and reception, Saturday, at Kirk in the Hills Presbyterian.

Parents of the couple wed before Dr. Harold DeWindt, are the Walter F. Powells, Bloomfield Hills, and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Vincent W. Rasper of Springfield, Mass. The fitted bodice and sleeves of the bride's full-length gown of white satin were overlaid with Alencon lace touched with pearls.

An illusion veil and bouquet of white orchids and hyacinths complete her ensemble.

With honor matron, Mrs. Richard Wiberg, were the bride's sisters, Mrs. Earl Sawyer and Mrs. Jerry Roehrer as bridesmaids.

People planning on a vacation should take the time and effort to learn about local dress customs of places they will visit. For example, there are Caribbean resorts where the bikinis for gals and G-string-type trunks for men are quite okay.

But there are other places, mostly British, where women in slacks and men in walk shorts are stared at by the natives! You can spoil a vacation by taking the wrong duds, and a phone call to your travel agent will get the proper sartorial facts.

Furs need to breathe. Don't store them in containers of any kind, including garment bags.

The new Mrs. Rasper is an alumna of the University's College of Nursing.

MRS. VINCENT ARTHUR RASPER

Ila Sue Powell, daughter of the Walter Powells, Bloomfield Hills, and Vincent Arthur Rasper, Cincinnati, Ohio, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Vincent W. Rasper, Springfield, Mass., spoke vows Saturday at Kirk in the Hills Presbyterian.

OU 'Off-Campus' Class Slated in Birmingham

The Continuum Center Oakland University is offering its Psychological Assessment Course in bi-weekly sessions at the Birmingham Community House, starting on March 29.

This is the first off-campus venture for the Center and brings its novel approach to education right to the doorstep of women in the Birmingham area.

The program, planned to assist women in finding a more creative place in the contemporary home and community, is a coordinated one.

It includes personal assessment and educational, volunteer and employment valuations by staff members at the Center who are experts in their respective fields.

STARTS AT OU

The orientation and registration session will be on Thursday from 1 until 3 p.m. at the Continuum Center on the third floor of the Kresge Library on the Oakland University campus.

The psychological assessment phase of the program begins March 29 and will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays for two weeks from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Birmingham Community House.

William J. Schlicht, Ph.D., assistant director of psychology services at OU will administer the tests which measure aptitudes, interests, values and abilities.

He will interpret the results and each woman participating in the program will have a final one-hour private session with the psychologist who will explain what the tests scores might suggest to the individual.

Registration for the course which costs $40 should be in before Friday.

Interest expressed by area women in the unique program developed by the Center led to the decision to hold the upcoming three week program, according to Mrs. Walter (Priscilla) Jackson, director of the Center.

Mrs. Diane Place, consumer consultant for the Food and Drug Administration, United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will speak at the Woman's World Series Wednesday at 10 a.m. Preceding the program at the Pontiac Mall Community Room, will be a coffee at 9:30 a.m. The series is sponsored by the Oakland County Extension Service. "The Food Additives Puzzle" will be the topic of the talk.

Honeymoon in New York for Couple

The newlywed Kyle Cochran Kerbawys (Nona Gail Vogt) left for a honeymoon in the Plaza Hotel, New York City, after their reception, Saturday in Plum Hollow Golf Club.

Vows were pledged before Rev. Harold E. Bremer in the Franklin Community Church.

Parents of the couple are the Ralph A. Vogts of Shellmar Lane and the W. Nicholas Kerbawys of Joanne Court. A wide baroque-style border of Alencon lace, repeating the bodice applique, highlighted the bride's gown of ivory peau de soie styled with circular train. A tall open-crown pillbox held her imported illusion veil.

With Judith Vogt, her sister's honor attendant, was another sister, Kathleen, who joined bridesmaids Janis Adams, Patricia Godwin of Freeland, and Sylvia Nowlin.

Jack Marker was best man. Roger Stewart, John Zahnow, Rocky Roper, Ohio; Michael McCann, Evanston, Ill.; and Jack Armstrong were ushers. The couple will live in University Village, Michigan State University, East Lansing, where both are juniors.

'Little Old' Dress Has Tender Care

The drycleaner has been given him explicit instructions regarding a 75-year-old, full-length, pink crepe dress trimmed with white lace, and sun bonnet to match.

Why the confusion? Because the dress was only six inches high.

The little lady hastily explained that this had been her favorite old dress. Bonnet and dress received extra-special care and packaging, the National Institute of Drycleaning reports.

Why Grow Old?

Are the following statements true or false? Why not test your dieting know-how by writing "true" or "false" by each question and then reading the rest of the column?

- Toast has fewer calories than untoasted bread.
- Fruit juices are good for reducing because they are not fattening.
- Sugar is more fattening than honey.
- Skipping a meal is a good way to lose weight.
- Steam baths will reduce fat.
- Everything they eat just turns to fat in some people. It's just their glands.
- You can lose weight with exercise.

Toasted and untoasted bread have exactly the same number of calories. Toasting doesn't change anything.

Fruit juices are fine on any diet because of their rich vitamin content, especially the citrus fruits which are our richest source of vitamin C. However, the calorie count varies greatly with the different juices. One-half cup of unsweetened grapefruit juice has 50 calories, 1/2 cup of orange juice, 55 calories; 1/2 cup of prune juice, 100 calories; 1/2 cup of grape juice, 90 calories and 1/2 cup of apple juice, 60 calories.

SUGAR OR HONEY
One teaspoon of honey has about 21 calories while 1 teaspoon of sugar has 15 calories.

Study after study has shown that the most successful reducers do not skip a meal. They more than make up for it by eating more at the other two meals or by snacking between meals.

Steam baths will not REDUCE fat. A steam bath CAN cause you to lose pounds, but this is a water loss, not a loss of fat. The loss is also temporary. You will regain it as soon as you drink enough liquid.

PHYSICAL ACTIVITY

Some people do gain more easily because of a low metabolism or a lazy thyroid, but most often the difference between those who gain and do not gain (although they eat the same amount) is one of physical activity. Over a period of time this counts up.

You will have to count calories as well as eat moderately if you are overweight. However, exercise is also important. The most sensible and successful way to reduce is to increase your physical activity moderately and cut down on your food intake moderately. Also exercise redistributes the pounds more attractively.

If you would like to have my "Calorie Chart" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Sorority Stages State Meeting in Pontiac Area

Pontiac chapter, Beta Omega, was hostess for the annual state conference of Lambda Chi Omega national sorority, Sunday, in Morey's Golf and Country Club.

Mrs. June Hanf of Ferndale, past national president, gave the invocation preceding the buffet dinner attended by some 75 members from eight Michigan chapters.

Mrs. Cecil Poppy and Mrs. Ronald J. Milburn were co-chairman for the event which included reports of chapter projects.

Assisting them were Mrs. Martin McLaughlin, Mrs. Richard Ervin, Mrs. Richard D. Shettler and Mrs. Kenneth Black.

Mrs. Robert Hutchings and Mrs. Milburn were named as social and business delegates for subsequent meetings.

Best to Be Said It Doesn't 'Smell'

In by-gone days, every homemaker dutifully set aside time for soap-making — an operation so important that the first edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica (published in 1771) outlined the procedure for making olive oil soap. The best the Britannica could say about the result was that the soap "hath not a disagreeable smell!"

Now we can buy soaps — and detergents — with a great variety to choose from, depending on what we want to wash. And every one of these products has a pleasing smell!

Mrs. Richard M. Shipman of David K Drive casts her vote for the Pixie King and Queen contest being held by the Waterford Jayettes. Trying to catch a glimpse of the vote cast is Mrs. Harry Hague of Jones Road. The booth was set up at The Pontiac Mall. Crowning will take place Sunday at 4 p.m. in the CAI Building.

800 Calories Per Day

10 Pounds in 10 Days

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Y-463: Veima J., age 39, was unduly plump.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "when you addressed our Women's Club, you told us that fat wives were pleasing to cannibals."

"But not to romantic husbands!"

"Besides, I had noticed that my husband was becoming stodgy and unromantic, although he is only 40."

"Since I was weighing 155, DR. CRANE, though my wedding weight was but 125, I decided to follow your advice."

"So I suggested that our church women's club have a 'weighing in' party."

"Then all who wished to slenderize were to go on your dehydration diet."

"And we promised to add $2.50 to our Easter offering for every pound that we lost."

"Well, it proved to be a very popular project, for a lot of us girls were too heavy."

"We started our plan the Monday after New Year's Day and, most of us have stuck to it faithfully."

"At the end of the first 10 days we had lost an average of 10 pounds apiece."

"Even though part of that was water loss, our morale was bolstered greatly, for on most diets you lose only a pound or two per week and that is discouraging."

"On the 11th day, we shifted from our 800 calories per day and 3 glasses of total fluids, to 1,200 calories with no restriction on liquids."

"By Valentine's Day, I was down to 141, which seemed wonderful to me."

"And I then noticed that my husband began perking up in his interest, too."

"Previously, when he got home from the office, he'd just drop into an easy chair with the newspaper and then call out a greeting to me as I was in the kitchen."

"But by Valentine's Day he was coming out to the kitchen to kiss me with ardor."

"So think what will happen by Easter, for then I should weigh only 130."

"And we dieting wives figure we can contribute over $1,000 extra to our church without disturbing our budgets an iota."

"For what we save on groceries will amount to about $2.50 per pound of fat that we lose, won't it?"

CUPID TONICS

Wives, men associate romance with slender sirens and not fat wives who waddle when they walk.

If your husband is nearing 40 and secretly growing worried at the semi-platonic nature of your marriage, he may try to revive some of the former courtship emotions.

But do you then feel like a young hippopotamus when he tries to hold you on his lap?

Or do you lumber around like an elephant as he steers you over the dance floor?

Beware! You can't feel like a sports roadster with the chassis of a truck!

So lop off those 10 ugly pounds by Easter! Just send for my booklet "How to Lose 10 pounds in 10 Days," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Girl Scouts' Moms Will Be Honored

The Albert L. Malears of Gingell Court announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Lee, to Airman Appren. Joseph Edward Dumas III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Dumas Jr. of Benson Avenue. He is stationed at the Naval Air Station, Sanford, Fla. A guest vows are planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo A. Gaines of East Mansfield Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Sue, to Norman L. Sams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Sams of Stanley Avenue. He attended Cumberland College, Williamsburg, Ky., also Oakland Community College where his fiancée was a former student.

Moss Twins Are Wed in St. Trinity Ceremony

Twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Moss of West Highland Drive spoke their wedding vows, Saturday, in St. Trinity Lutheran Church.

Donna Jean Moss became the bride of William Kennedy of Whittemore Street, son of the J. W. Kennedys of Livingston, Ala. Darlene Elizabeth was wed to Lee Arthur Bouie, son of Mrs. LeRoy Bouie of Moore Street.

SATIN GOWNS

For the ceremony performed by Pastor Ralph Claus, the sisters chose floor-length gowns of off-white satin overlaid with Chantilly lace.

They wore short veils of imported illusion and held bouquets of white carnations and red roses.

Attending the sisters as honor matrons were Mrs. Frederick Milton and Mrs. Bonnie Milton, Ellen Moss, May Rose Kennedy, Mary Williamham, Shurle Warren and Gertrude Bouie were bridesmaids.

Judith Gracey was flower girl and Timothy Milton carried the rings.

Harold Ledinger was best man for Mr. Kennedy and Wilford Bouie stood as best man for his brother. Roy Boyer, Celester Boyken, Harry McCullough, Joseph Hall, and Anthony Milton were ushers.

HONEYMOONS

After a reception in the Bloomfield Boulevard home of the LeRoy Graceys, the Bouies left for a Florida honeymoon. She is a graduate of the Ann Arbor Practical Nursing Center.

The Kennedys' honeymoon plans are incomplete. She formerly attended Michigan State University.

Question Is 'Can You Afford This Home?'

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

"All my life I have longed for a home of my own. Can afford one now?"

This yearning to put down roots, to reach out for a sense of stability in an uncertain world, comes through in letters I get every day. And invariably when I read these letters I have a tussle between heart and head.

I want to say yes when often the figures say no. Buying and maintaining property is a hard-headed proposition, and it takes money. Emotion and high hopes won't pay the mortgage.

So let's look at some basics of buying and owning a home. Can you perform the financial acrobatics you'll have to go through if you do decide this

Is the year you're going to take the plunge?

Dear Mary Feeley:

It is my greatest desire to own my own home. But after talking to friends and relatives they all say "Don't do it" because of the great expense. What advice can you give us? We are in our 30's, have two daughters 7 and 8 years old. My husband is the only one working.

Mrs. A. D., Arverne, N. Y.

Dear Mrs. E.: Maybe your friends and relatives know what your income is, which you didn't tell me. However, no matter what it is, there are some of the questions you should answer, with pencil on paper, before you go house-hunting:

Will one quarter of your monthly take-home income cover payments for interest, amortization, insurance, property tax, heat? Are you making the mistake of comparing your present monthly rent with a monthly mortgage payment — and thinking it's just that simple? Can you take on adequate insurance to cover liability, fire, robbery, etc.?

To be on the safe side financially, figure that the annual cost of running the house will be anywhere from 4 to 5 per cent of its initial cost.

Dear Miss Feeley:

All my life I have longed for a home of my own. But early in my marriage my husband became incapacitated, and I have been unable to work for the past 15 years. Now, however, at the age of 48—I am beginning to wonder if it might not be possible to buy a house after all. We have no children.

My take-home pay is $93 weekly. Our present rent is $87. We have about $5,000 in savings. I would like a five or six room house, somewhere between $18,000 to $20,000. Do you think I could swing it?

Mrs. E. M., New York City

Dear Mrs. M.: I don't think you ought to try it. One reason is, you wouldn't be smart to put your entire $5,000 saving into a down payment. Even if you use just $2500 of it for the purpose, you'd have to handle a $15,500 mortgage on an $18,000 home. At 6 per cent interest for 17 years, this would cost you $212.40 a month.

Now adding the cost for taxes, heat, maintenance—say an annual amount equal to 4 per cent of the initial cost of the home—there's another $90. So your monthly financing burden could be $312.40.

I also raise the point that you might have difficulty in getting a loan, anyway, due to your husband's illness.

Pamela Cox Says Vows on Saturday

An evening ceremony and reception Saturday in the Emmanuel Baptist Church marked the vows of Pamela Sue Cox and Pvt. Jerry Andrew Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cox, 1005 Lake Road and the Jack A. Robertsons, Lochaven Road, West Bloomfield Township, are parents of the bride couple.

White Rochelle lace and nylon sheer over taffeta fashioned a bouffant gown and cathedral train for the bride, who also wore a silk illusion veil.

CASCADE BOUQUET

While repeating vows to Dr. Tom Malone she held cascading white orchids, roses and carnations.

Attending her sister was Mrs. Kelly McClanahan along with bridesmaids Mrs. Grant Reed, Sarah Schallert and Mrs. Lawrence Brooks.

With Jennifer Vaughn, flower girl, were Jeffrey Brooks and Danny McClanahan, ring-bearers.

James Champion was best man and Lawrence Brooks, John Cox and Val Brooks seated the guests.

After a Niagara honeymoon, Pvt. Robertson will return to Fort Knox, Ky.

Get Most From Credit

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — To get the most out of your credit dollar, make a large enough down payment and a short enough payment period, a Pennsylvania State University family home management expert advises.

Mrs. Magdalene E. Foster said to use credit at the lowest cost, borrow the least you need — not the most you can get. Make monthly payments as large as you can handle, not the smallest a creditor will permit.

Don't borrow far in advance of actual need — borrow from the lowest cost source, not the handiest or the quickest.

Melodic Mutt Joins Students in Singing Class

CLIVELAND, Ohio (U) — Gayle Gaylord, professional singer and voice instructor, has found unsuspected singing talent — in her dog, Minor, a nine-year-old mixture of beagle and fox terrier.

"She just came in one day while I was rehearsing with some of my students and began vocalizing with them," explained the teacher, who in private life is Mrs. Walter J. Ashby. "I sing with my students and when we go high, she goes high. When we're low, she's low. She breathes correctly because it is natural to her. I wish I could get some of my students to breathe as naturally."

The mongrel, daughter of Melodee and sister of Major, loves the singing lessons. When accidentally locked out of the studio she scratches the door until let in. Then she jumps onto the piano bench, lifts her head and joins in, her owner reports.

Trades Cake for a Cast

PARSONS, Kan. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Crane and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Henderson have the same wedding anniversary date.

This year, on the anniversary, Mrs. Crane whipped up a cake and headed toward the clinic where Dr. Henderson had his office. Just outside the clinic, she slipped on the icy pavement and fell, breaking her left leg.

She was carried into the clinic, where she presented Dr. Henderson with the cake. He presented her with a plaster cast for her limb.

Wear, Tear Frocks Are Fashion Set for Spring

Some fashions are dramatic, some are fun, some are crazy, and now, along comes one that is all three — the Paper Caper, a disposable paper dress.

Developed by Scott Paper Company, Paper Caper is a sleeveless A-line shift, available in two up-to-the minute patterns: Bandanna, a red and yellow paisley design; and Op-Art, a black and white geometric print.

Designed for casual living, Paper Caper is made of three plies of specially prepared paper, reinforced with rayon scrim. It has a textured surface which gives it softness, feel and drape.

Because it's made from paper, the wearer can adjust the hem with a snip of scissors or even be her own designer. The basic dress can become a chic overblouse, or a fashion-right tunic. All it takes is a pair of scissors.

Paper Caper, priced at $1.00 plus 25¢ handling charge, is available by writing: Paper Caper, P.O. Box 1966-A, Philadelphia, Pa. 19105

Mighty SAC Marks 20th Year With Usual Business Routine

OMAHA, Neb. (U)—It was just past midnight. In the half-darkness of the cavernous war room the two colonels huddled over their papers, occasionally looking up to study charts projected on two-story-high screens in front of them.

Col. George W. E. Harris, 44, Gilbert, Ariz., did most of the talking. At 30 minutes past the hour, he finished the briefing, handed over the snub-nosed 38-caliber revolver senior controllers wear on duty, and waited for his companion to sign for the classified documents.

Then Harris headed for home, another night's work done.

His tour in the underground command post near Omaha marked the end of 20 years of operation for the Strategic Air Command, the United States' bomber and missile nuclear strike force.

Col. Howard B. Norton, 47, Raton, N.M., who took over from Harris on the first tour of today's business-as-usual anniversary, set to work acquainting himself with the whereabouts of SAC's 700-odd jet bombers and nearly 900 missiles.

BASED ON GUAM

A small part of the command's B52 bombers were in Guam, their base for Viet Nam bombing operations.

Gen. John D. Ryan, SAC's commander, said over the weekend he was proud of the effectiveness of SAC's bombers in Viet Nam.

But he made clear that the conventional bombing operation there hadn't reduced SAC's readiness to throw its main nuclear punch.

"Our primary role is still to maintain capability in the nuclear environment of a general war," he said in an interview.

DETERRENT FORCE

"In fact, the only thing that enables us to keep the South Viet Nam war at its present level—the only thing that keeps us out of a nuclear war—is the deterrent force of SAC's bombers and missiles and the Navy's Polaris-equipped submarines," the general said.

In a muscle-building operation over the next five years, SAC will add new weapons to replace some old ones—the older model Minuteman missiles, the B58 supersonic jet bombers, and early models of the workhorse B52s.

Replacing the earlier B52s will be a bomber version of the controversial multipurpose TFX warplane, the B111.

"SAC asked for the B111," said Ryan, explaining that it will furnish a bombing system of greater accuracy and a better ability to penetrate enemy territory, particularly at low level.

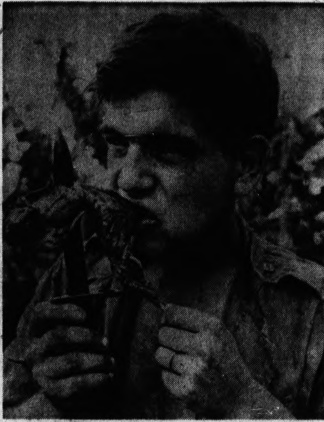

210 OF BILLS

SAC expects to get only 210 of the Bills to replace 345 B52s, but the important things, said Ryan, is to get production started.

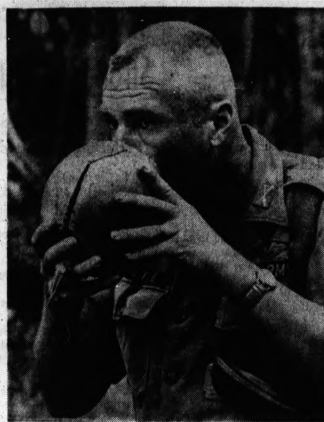

"If a threat develops in the future, you have a production line ready," he said.

SAC was established at Bolling Field, Washington, D.C., March 21, 1946, under command of Gen. George C. Kenney. The headquarters was moved to Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha in 1948.

Two other famous air generals, Curtis E. LeMay and Thomas S. Power, preceded Ryan, the first graduate of West Point to head SAC.

CHICKEN ON BAYONET — Spec. 4 Jerry Ritchie of Marietta, Ohio, chomps on a chicken spiked on his bayonet as a welcome change from the daily C-ration routine in Viet Nam. Homeless chickens have been known to launch suicide charges upon American positions with the end result of winding up in the cook pot. Ritchie is a member of the 3rd Brigade, 1st Infantry Division.

NUTS ABOUT COCONUTS — Lt. Col. Robert Little of Columbus, Ga., commander of the 1st Battalion, 5th Cavalry Division, drinks milk from a coconut during a military operation in Viet Nam. The large and delicious coconut can be found almost everywhere U.S. troops operate in Viet Nam and, by far, is the most popular supplement. Pleasing flavor and nutritional value were cited.

Yanks in Viet Adept as Chefs

By BOB POOS

AN KHE, South Viet Nam (AP)—The order to American troops operating in Viet Cong controlled territory is to deny the enemy local livestock, fruit and vegetables. Veteran troops deny it to the enemy by eating it.

There are 12 basic C-rations and, as American soldiers have 12 months to serve here, it takes them only a matter of days to grow bored with the regulation fare.

Some of them try for a variation by mixing such things as ham and lima beans with beef and potatoes. The more venturesome spice their diet with local chickens and pigs, coconuts and bananas and onions and peanuts.

Wary of first of eating available local food, the GI has now become an expert at discerning the edibility of Vietnamese fruit and vegetables. Homeless pigs and chickens have been known to launch suicide charges upon American positions — and wound up in the cook pot.

THE COCONUT

By far the most popular supplement is the large and delicious coconut which can be found almost everywhere.

"The milk is better to drink than water," an air cavalry trooper remarked, "because it has a flavor, seems to quench your thirst longer and is nutritious."

A common sight during a break on an operation is that of GIs knocking down coconuts, hacking them open, pouring the milk down their parched throats, and hacking out the meat.

"This is the most valuable use a bayonet has," a GI once remarked.

Also popular is the pomelo, which the GIs call "Vietnamese grapefruit." It is green with skin about an inch thick and the juicy pulp tastes like grapefruit. It is tough but offer a change of A less popular edible is the culinary pace.

"ol," a fruit about the size of a lemon that is filled with seeds. Troops chew on the pulp and spit it out.

Also quite popular are the little green Vietnamese bananas. It takes an expert to know whether they are ripe. They never seem to get yellow like bananas from other tropical areas.

Wild onions and peppers are found virtually everywhere. During field operation, the troops stuff a pocket with them and use them to flavor C-rations.

PEANUT FIELDS

Fields of peanuts also furnish an extra tidbit. Spec. 4 Jerry Ritchie of Marietta, Ohio, a soldier in the 1st Infantry Division, speared one of the Vietnamese chickens with his bayonet. The fowl are usually tough but offer a change of the culinary pace.

The same can be said of Vietnamese pigs, which somewhat resemble Arkansas razorbacks. Ritchie remarked "This ain't bad for a VC chicken." It is assumed that local animals are Viet Cong when found in enemy-occupied territory.

Otherwise, troops pay villagers for their extra victuals.

During the cavalry's An Lao Valley campaign, some Korean observers at one point were trying ineffectually to open a coconut. "It's plain to see you don't have these in your country," said a U.S. trooper. He opened it with three flicks of his machete.

Occasionally, a wild water buffalo is slain during a battle, but thus far no one has had the temerity to try and carve one up into steaks.

The day will undoubtedly come.

Senate to Act on Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders hope for speedy approval today of the administration's $13.1-billion appropriation bill that would provide more weapons and manpower for the Viet Nam war.

No major policy battles—similar to those that erupted when Congress debated legislation authorizing the war funds—are expected to break out, but some hitches may develop.

The Senate is considering making some minor amendments in the bill which would require House approval. The House passed the measure last week by a 389-3 vote.

The funds would be added to defense spending for the current fiscal year. Funds for fiscal 1967, starting July 1, are the subject of hearings now going on in the House and Senate.

ECONOMIC AID

Besides bolstering the armed services, the bill includes $415-million in economic aid. About $275 million of the aid money is earmarked for South Viet Nam.

The money bill is the major item on the calendar of both the House and Senate this week. Most of the Johnson legislative program is still in the hands of various committees.

One minor item may touch off a hot fight in the House. The bill would authorize $750,000 for an official residence for the vice president and Republicans are massing forces against it. With rising costs and the threat of inflation, they say, the administration should economize.

The bill was on the calendar last week, but Speaker John W. McCormack withdrew it without explanation. It is to come up again Tuesday.

COAST GUARD

Bills to authorize funds for the Coast Guard, to reimburse federal employees for certain moving expenses and to provide airlift to armed services post offices make up the rest of the week's light calendar for both houses.

Committee action continues at a full pace. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will hear more from experts on Communist China and the Joint Economic Committee will resume its examination of the economy and the possible need for tax increases.

The House Education and Labor Committee has before it a bill that would increase the minimum wage from $1.25 an hour to $1.50 by early 1968, and extend coverage to 6.5 million additional workers.

Fired Cuban Agrees With All Charges

HAVANA (AP)—Former Maj. Efigenio Ameijeiras, fired as armed forces vice minister last Thursday, agreed publicly today with charges leveled against him by the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

"I don't blame anyone for my errors," Ameijeiras said in a letter published in the Communist party newspaper Granma.

"I accept without vacillation all my faults; all of my reproaches go against myself."

Ameijeiras, a hero of Castro's revolution, lost his armed forces post and was expelled from the Communist party Central Committee in a crackdown on "immoral revolutionaries." Dozens of other persons have been arrested in the purge by the Castro government.

Ameijeiras was purged because of his association and friendship with former Maj. Rolando Cubela, who was sentenced to 25 years in prison for plotting to assassinate Castro.

SAID 'UNWARE'

The party Central Committee's political bureau said Ameijeiras was "completely unaware" of the plot but condoned Cubela's "unfriendly and critical attitude toward the revolution."

Soviets Set Off Strong N-Blast

Believed Aimed at Perfecting Warhead

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI) — The Russians set off a powerful underground nuclear explosion—the second in five weeks—in Soviet central Asia at Semipalatinsk yesterday, apparently aimed at perfecting a warhead for the world's most powerful rocket.

The high-intensity explosion was registered here by the seismological institute at 6.4 on the 9-point Richter scale—equal in intensity to a similar Russian explosion Feb. 13.

Western experts in Moscow at the time of the earlier explosion—described as the strongest blast since Jan. 15, 1965—said the Russians were trying to develop a warhead for huge new rockets which would have about 3 million pounds of thrust.

(In Washington, an Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said that U.S. scientists had also recorded seismic signals from the Semipalatinsk testing region. The spokesman said the apparent underground nuclear blast had an explosive force equal to between 200,000 and one million tons of TNT.)

There was no official announcement in Moscow and none was expected. The Kremlin never makes such tests public.

SERIES OF TESTS — Military experts in Moscow have pointed out that the Kremlin has been conducting a series of Pacific rocket tests to develop guidance systems for intercontinental missiles, and apparently plan to use the weapon as their main nuclear punch.

Underground nuclear tests are permitted by the 1963 partial nuclear test ban treaty. The Soviets, like the Americans, have continued to hold underground tests on a fairly regular basis.

The treaty forbids tests in the atmosphere, in space and under water.

- U-turns in the middle of busy streets.
- Crashing through safety barriers.
- Crossing highway white line safety markers.
- Parking illegally.
- Speeding.
- Failing to signal even a single turn.

HEAD-ON-RAIL CRASH — Two Gulf, Mobile and Ohio freight trains collided yesterday morning near Waterloo, Ill., killing one man and injuring three others. The

An International Study

Scientists Probe Indian Ocean

WASHINGTON — The Indian Ocean, one of the least known seas, is yielding its long-kept and sometimes startling secrets to a massive assault by world scientists.

Since 1962 oceanographers from some 28 nations have been cooperating in an international effort to probe the mysteries of the world's third largest ocean, the National Geographic Society says.

More than 40 ships have tracked its waters, taking innumerable measurements and samples from the west coast of Australia to the Bay of Bengal and from the Arabian Sea to eastern Africa.

Lying entirely within tropical or southern zones and enclosed by a land mass at its northern limit, the Indian Ocean is unique. Nowhere else is there a similar seasonal reversal of the prevailing winds. In the Indian Ocean north of the Equator, monsoons reverse direction every six months.

Though it is bounded by chronically underfed Asian and African nations, the Indian Ocean is a potential great source of food. Some progress had been made in examining the possibilities during the current International Indian Ocean Expedition being carried out under auspices of the United Nations.

RICH FISH HAULS — Expedition vessels have pulled in rich fish hauls from parts of the Indian Ocean where fishing was not known to be promising.

The research vessel Anton Bruun, formerly the presidential yacht Williamsburg, caught 5,000 pounds of fish in 30 minutes. Later, a 45-minute trawl netted 1,700 pounds of fish and 1,800 pounds of crabs.

The promise of these rich yields, however, is offset by an Indian Ocean phenomenon reported by Russian and British ships. Observers have found huge areas of the ocean—some as large as 75,000 square miles—covered by millions of tons of dead fish.

The explanation seems to lie in the upwelling of mineral-rich, oxygen-poor deep water which promotes the growth of plankton. As the plankton dies and decomposes, it uses up more oxygen. Fish asphyxiate.

GEOLOGY OF BASIN — Biology is only one aspect of the Indian Ocean study. Scientists have also been investigating the geology of the ocean basin, sounding its depths, testing salinity and mineral content, recording temperature, currents and weather.

Important discoveries made thus far in the course of the expedition:

- Huge streams of mud have carved enormous canyons four miles wide and 300 feet deep some 2,000 feet below the surface of the Bay of Bengal. The mud streams apparently flow from avalanches formed by the accumulation of silt carried into the bay from land.

- A wall-like ridge 8,000 feet high and 3,600 miles long runs north and south on the ocean bottom along the line of the 90th meridian of longitude.

- Undersea trenches, one east of the Chagos Archipelago and two off Ceylon, larger than the Grand Canyon.

Oakland County Sheriff's detectives are investigating a break-in early yesterday at a Pontiac Township service station in which a dozen tires, tools, and some $300 in cash were taken.

The break-in took place at 1-75 Mobil, 2395 Mount Clemens, and was reported by an attendant who opened the station at 8 a.m. yesterday.

Entry to the building had been gained by smashing a rear door glass.

Deputies said four vending machines in the station had been rifled and an office desk broken into.

The money, $317, was taken from a stock room.

London Bridge Unhurt by Dynamite Charge

LONDON (AP) — A gang exploded a dynamite charge near London Bridge early today, but the span was not damaged.

The explosion was under an arch at the big railroad terminal at the southern end of the famous bridge.

A railway spokesman said the raiders were probably after stuff in the customs' bonded warehouses near the station. They were not successful, however.

Griffin to Go to Viet, Check Profiteering

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., said today he will go to Viet Nam as part of a subcommittee to investigate reports of profiteering, black market activities, financial manipulations and port tie-ups.

Griffin is ranking Republican on the House Foreign Operations and Government Information subcommittee.

The four Democrats and two Republicans leave for Viet Nam April 2 and will return April 10. The subcommittee is headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif.

"We've heard some hair-raising stories about the handling of goods and money in Viet Nam," Griffin explained. "We want to see for ourselves whether these reports are true or exaggerated."

Woman Held in Shooting

A 41-year-old Pontiac woman faces arraignment on a charge of attempted murder today after the shooting of a city man last night.

Held at the Oakland County Jail is Mrs. Timmy Covington of 431 Ferry, arrested by Pontiac police just before 8 p.m. yesterday.

Victim of the shooting, Tommy L. Williams, 33, of 298 Perry, is reported in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Police said a single bullet from a small-caliber revolver struck Williams in the left arm, passed through his chest cavity and lodged near his spine.

Mrs. Covington told police she was in a parked car in front of her home when Williams' wife when Williams came up, ordered his wife from the automobile and then struck Mrs. Covington in the face.

Police said Mrs. Covington told them she took the pistol from her purse after being hit and fired the gun at Williams.

We are sure that almost everyone has heard: "Third hand high." This is a rule of play that goes back to Whist and means that the third hand should attempt to win a trick or two to force fourth hand to use a high card to win it.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARE

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Longing for past loves to work against your interests. Check details, obtain confidence. Then apply your own style. Methods. If you expect interruptions, you estimate elements of surprise.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Friend ships may be under unusual strain. Be patient. Bring emotions into line with reality. Sharp words account for misunderstandings. Be patient. Be patient. Be patient.

CANCER (June 21 - July 20): If you have constructive suggestions—express it. You are independent, direct, able to outline course of future and to follow it. You have business sense.

LEO (July 21 - Aug. 20): Travel indicated. Long-range projects now in sight. You can write, read, write, write. Test ideas and ideas. When your projects come into line, stick to your guns.

VIRGO (Aug. 21 - Sept. 20): Money, security, investments may require special review. You have ability to make right move. . . but you need more confidence, backing of male partner. Active period—major decision indicated.

LIBRA (Sept. 21 - Oct. 20): Stress on partnerships, legal agreements, marriage. Pressure from outside parties indicated. Make sincere appeal if necessary. Throw out old hatreds. Be sincere. Be sincere. Be sincere.

SCORPIO (Oct. 21 - Nov. 20): Best to avoid extremes. . . don't overplay your hand. You have ability to make right move. . . but you need more confidence, backing of male partner. Active period—major decision indicated.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 21 - Dec. 20): You are independent, direct, able to outline course of future and to follow it. You have business sense.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19): Avoid repeating yourself over family differences. Emotional storm passes. . . will be replaced by sunshine. Clear clear of people who encourage dissent for good reason.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 19): Important to keep thinking clear. You are independent, direct, able to outline course of future and to follow it. You have business sense.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 20): Excellent period of good fellowship. Don't overplay your hand. You have ability to make right move. . . but you need more confidence, backing of male partner. Active period—major decision indicated.

trick one, but today's will be about a conspicuous exception to the above rule. The exception is when you are able to bracket a card in dummy.

West opens the three of spades against South's three no-trump contract. The nine is played from dummy and in this spot East should play the ten, not the king. East is not making his strongest possible effort to win this first trick.

If South holds the queen and West the ace this ten-spot play will allow South to win the first trick with the queen but East will not lose anything at all. With three to the jack in dummy and the queen in his own hand South would be sure of a spade trick eventually.

If East plays the ten this time it makes all the difference in the world. Declarer will have his choice of shooting or he can duck. Either way his opponents will wind up with four spade tricks, and the ace of diamonds, provided, of course, that West remembers to hang on to all his spades until he gets to take them.

If East plays the king the whole defense collapses. Dummy's jack of spades will become a second stopper in the suit and instead of going down one trick at his game contract, South will make it with two overtricks.

Housing Confab Asks
LBJ Plan Revamping

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Housing Conference has asked Congress to revamp and strengthen President Johnson's proposed $2.3 billion attack on urban slums.

The President has described the program as "larger in scope than any that has gone before."

The conference, in its annual meeting here, approved a resolution that praised the proposed bill's intent but added that its provisions run "rather to the question of whether the federal resources which would be available... are sufficient."

Johnson outlined the six-year program to Congress Jan. 26. Described by him as a means of rebuilding American cities "on an unprecedented scale," it would allocate to 60 or 70 qualified cities of various sizes demonstration grants for the preparation of detailed plans to attack slums and blight on a massive neighborhood level.

FEDERAL AID
The cities, in order to qualify for the federal aid, would have to demonstrate that their proposals would be of sufficient magnitude to "arrest blight and decay in entire neighborhoods" and "bring about a change in the total environment of the area affected."

At the time, sources said the message amounted to an operating plan for the new Department of Housing and Urban Development and its head, Robert C. Weaver.

HUGE MANSION
It had begun at the same place last Thursday, when Hamilton met her and whisked her in a Rolls-Royce to his Beverly Hills mansion — once owned by silent film star Douglas Fairbanks Sr. — to meet his family and friends in the society and movie worlds.

In between, Lynda went nightclubbing at the Coconut Grove, toured MGM studios to see how movies are made, and capped off a gala Friday night party at Hamilton's home with a visit to a private discotheque called The Daisy.

Not a head in the sophisticated crowd turned as Lynda and Hamilton entered.

But, shortly after midnight, a cake with one candle was brought to her table and everyone sang "Happy Birthday, Lynda."

22ND BIRTHDAY
For Lynda's 22nd birthday Saturday night, Hamilton arranged an informal dinner for 12 at his home. The guests included singer Eddie Fisher and comedian Red Buttons.

Lynda's presents included a check for an undisclosed sum from her parents as well as gag gifts from family and friends.

Among the latter were an oversized pair of dark glasses "for going Hollywood" and a huge pen "to sign autographs for her fans."

White House aides indicated they were pleased at the "happiness" Lynda showed in pictures taken with Hamilton during the weekend.

The Hollywood weekend was the second consecutive one the pair had been together. The previous weekend, they were at the LBJ Ranch in Texas.

HOLLYWOOD — Yakima Canutt, who has dealt with just about every kind of movie action, has long been one of Hollywood's most colorful figures. A rodeo champion for five years, he came a cowboy star in silent films, later won fame as the screen's most fearless stunt man.

He is the chap who performed the memorable feat in "Stage Coach," transferring from an Indian pony to the rambling team of horses, falling between them and letting the coach pass over his body. Then he doubled for John Wayne, leaping from the coach onto the horses and finally controlling the runaway.

When Yak's bones began to object to such rigors, he turned to the direction of action scenes in film epics. His most notable achievement was the chariot race in "Ben-Hur." He also staged a gorilla hunt for "Mogambo," battles in "Helen of Troy" and "Fall of the Roman Empire," jousts in "Ivanhoe" and "El Cid," and comedy stunts in "Cat Ballou."

LARGE BATTLES
In Egypt he directed four large battles for "Khartoum," starring Charlton Heston and Laurence Olivier. His reaction: "Working conditions were rough for two reasons: the language barrier, and the fact that we were working with a government corporation. The government people said they would give us all the cooperation we needed, but all we got was promises."

"Once I found a couple of old Krupp guns in a museum, and I thought it would be a good idea to have close-ups of them being fired. We borrowed them and then got a bill for $25,000. I don't think we ever used them."

Despite his difficulties, Canutt managed to stage the desert battles with his usual dispatch. In the climactic massacre of Khartoum he used 5,000 foot soldiers, 750 camel riders and hundreds of horsemen.

Seas Hamper Bomb Salvage Storybook Weekend Ends for Lynda Bird

Some Fear N-Device
May Now Be Deeper

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP) — Heavy seas interfered today with recovery of the missing American H-bomb from its resting place more than 2,500 feet down in the Mediterranean.

As choppy seas buffeted ships of Task Force 65, some sources expressed fears that the elusive weapon lost from a crashing bomber Jan. 19 may have slid deeper into an undersea crevice, making its recovery more difficult.

The last official information said Rear Adm. William S. Guest, the task force commander, planned to move the bomb — called "an unidentified object with an attached parachute" — to a more favorable position before attempting to lift it to the surface.

Sources here said they believed undersea currents, perhaps strengthened by the high waves above, could have pushed the bomb further down the slope on which it was lying.

MAXIMUM DEPTHS
Maximum depths in the search area are far less than the capacities of the submarines, the tiny Alvin and the larger Albatross. Best estimates were that if the bomb slid from its precarious position on the undersea slope, it could drop to 2,000 feet at the most.

"The problem is not so much with the depth," one expert explained, "as with the fact that if the bomb slipped to the bottom it may be difficult for the subs to maneuver into position to reach it."

Both undersea craft have lights and grappling "arms." But at such a depth visibility is sharply limited, and the vessels themselves dare not move into positions from which they cannot extricate themselves easily.

Forecasters said weather conditions would remain unfavorable for the next two days, with high seas and continued winds.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The pumpkin was a Mustang and a sleek jetliner. Prince Charming was actor George Hamilton. Cinderella was Lynda Bird Johnson.

And the bell that ended their fairy tale weekend in Hollywood was a school bell, not a clock striking midnight.

There was no indication whether Prince Charming slipped champagne from Cinderella's slipper at either of the two parties he gave in her honor Friday and Saturday night at "Grey Fox," the 23-room mansion he shares with his family.

But there was little doubt that her friends at the University of Texas in Austin will be swarming around the President's daughter for the next few days to hear about her adventures in movieland.

'Father Barbour' of Radio Show Dies at Age 80
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The role of Father Barbour, the stern but warm parent on the "One Man's Family" radio show, was played for 27 years by actor J. Anthony Smythe.

Smythe, 80, who retired in 1959 when the show left radio, died at his home here Sunday.

He won the role at the program's inception but never appeared in the short-lived television version which followed the radio series.

Smythe is survived by a sister, Mrs. Eva Smythe of Los Angeles.

Rosary will be said Tuesday and Mass celebrated Wednesday, both in Cathedral Chapel.

Pakistan Has Returned 1,158 Indian Prisoners
Dacca, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistan has repatriated 1,158 Indians taken prisoner during the fighting last September between the two countries, the government announced today.

India has released 739 Pakistanis, a spokesman told a questioner in Parliament.

THE HOUSING CONFERENCE
recommended that the amount of funds available for urban renewal be increased by at least $1 billion annually for three years.

Otherwise, it said, the "increased demands for urban renewal contracts commitments which will be generated by the demonstration cities program can be accommodated only through a curtailment of urban renewal funds for other eligible projects either in the same cities or in other communities not participating in the demonstration program."

LBJ PROPOSAL
Johnson's proposal called for a $12-million budget allocation for the planning phase of the program in fiscal 1967, with annual appropriations thereafter of about $400 million.

The housing conference also strongly recommended that the total $2.3-billion recommendation "become available immediately upon the enactment of the legislation."

"The volume of the ensuing applications from qualified cities would then place both the administration and Congress in position to gauge the long-run need for financing," the conference said.

On another front, the conference urged that the program not be curtailed to only 60 or 70 cities but be opened to "all qualified cities which apply and in the order of their application."

Pipes, Cigars Cited in Cancer

May Top Cigarettes as Oral Illness Cause

ATLANTA (UPI) — Smoking pipes and cigars does not lessen the chances of developing oral cancer and, in fact, may be a greater cause of the disease than cigarettes, according to the president of the American Dental Association.

Dr. Maynard K. Hine of Indianapolis, Ind., speaking at a dental meeting here yesterday, said "because pipes and cigars generate more heat, it would appear that they might be a greater cause of oral cancer than cigarettes."

He said scientists have found that there is a "tight relationship" between lip cancer and pipe smoking, and recent studies have shown no significant difference in the development of oral cancer between cigarette smokers and those who smoke pipes or cigars.

Hine said that each year there are more than 36,000 new oral cancer victims.

Even though the rate of cure is still low, the death rate can be reduced by early detection of the disease, he said.

The ADA president said often the smoker does not even realize he has oral cancer until it is too late. He said this happens because oral cancer frequently is painless until the final stages.

Hine did say that recent studies show persons who stop smoking altogether have a better chance of ridding themselves of the cancer than those who stop smoking and then resume the habit.

Says Cream May Remedy Skin Cancer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An ointment that not only causes certain skin cancers to disappear but also makes some patients look years younger is under investigation at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

Dr. Theodore A. Tromovitch, a dermatologist, told the California Medical Association Sunday of experiments with a cream containing 5-fluorouracil, a chemical previously used with only partial success in treating internal cancer.

Dr. Tromovitch said researchers noticed it seemed to help those who also had skin cancer, so it was tried as an ointment.

In the past year, he said, 20 patients with skin cancer on the face were told to rub in the cream twice a day for a month. Within two weeks, he said, the lesions of all 20 disappeared and so far have not returned.

NOT A CURE

He said he would not call this a cure, however, until five years or more have passed without recurrence.

Dr. Tromovitch said 5-fluorouracil apparently is more successful on the skin than internally because a higher concentration can be applied on the surface.

It has one major side effect, he said. Ten per cent of the patients experienced severe peeling when exposed to sunlight while the cream was on their skin.

"It literally peeled the wrinkles off and made them look 10 years younger," he said. "But we advised them to stay out of the sun."

1,300 in Pakistan Dead of Smallpox

DACCA, East Pakistan (UPI) — A smallpox epidemic sweeping two districts of East Pakistan has killed 1,300 persons in the last three weeks, reports reaching here today said.

About 1,000 persons were reported to have died in Jessore District, 180 miles east of here, and 300 in adjacent Khulna. At Kotwali in Jessore, 223 deaths were reported since March 16.

Authorities said not more than 50 per cent of the population in the areas had been vaccinated. The reports said panic was spreading throughout the stricken area and no end to the epidemic was in sight.

Moreover, authorities said they were running short of vaccine. In Khulna 15 members of the family of a village doctor were reported to have died.

Proposed Nationwide Test Scores Some Educators

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Elementary school principals from all over the country have come to grips with a proposed new kind of nationwide education test. It scares some of them.

The test is called National Assessment. It requires new kinds of testing now being developed by private research organizations.

It is well on the way to becoming a reality, but it is something brand new in education and its backers feel it is widely misunderstood.

National Assessment was explained here Sunday night to grade school principals by Dr. Ralph W. Tyler, chairman of a committee which has laid the groundwork for the plan, using funds from private foundations.

CENTER DIRECTOR

Tyler is director of the Center for the Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences at Stanford, Calif.

Tyler said the committee would appraise the educational level of large groups, rather than individuals. This would be done by the sampling technique employed by public opinion polls.

There would be no comparison of individual students, school districts, or even states, Tyler said.

One of the things that has disturbed some educators is the fear that National Assessment would be a sort of national comparison test which might reflect adversely on a local school.

BY REGIONS

He said it would merely show where the United States stands educationally by regions, different age groups, and by different socioeconomic levels.

No one student would take the whole range of tests, since that may take 15 hours, he said. Instead, each student selected would take only a fraction of it, an amount that could be covered in half an hour. Others would take other parts of the tests and the results would be pooled to give a statistically accurate picture of the state of education in America.

In a recent article, Tyler compared National Assessment with important economic indicators.

He said that, in the depression of the 1930s, these valuable measurements of the nation's economic health were not available. This hampered efforts to counteract the depression, he said.

Probably a record ride in the Pony Express history was made by Robert Haslam, known as "Pony Bob," who rode 120 miles in Nevada in eight hours and 18 minutes.

Gardner in NHL Nets First Time

Rookie Goalie Helps Red Wings Rout Toronto, 6-1

DETROIT (AP) — The injury-riddled Detroit Red Wings won 6-1 over the Toronto Maple Leafs last night, 6-1.

Detroit ran up a 4-0 lead on goals by Paul Henderson, Floyd Smith, Gordie Howe and Dean Prentice before Leaf defenseman Kent Douglas spoiled Gardner's shutout bid with a slap shot at 12:12 of the final period. Alex Delvecchio added a short-handed goal and Andy Bathgate, his longscoring drought broken a week ago, scored his 15th of the season and fourth in as many games to wrap up Detroit's assault on goalie Johnny Bower.

The victory was Detroit's sixth in as many starts over Toronto at Olympia this season, and Toronto has scored only three goals in the six games.

It moved Detroit three points away from the third place Leafs, but Toronto has seven games left to play to Detroit's five.

Gardner, the American Hockey League's leading goalie, was called up to give regular goalie Roger Crozier a rest and, after a few jittery moments in the opening minutes, turned in 24 saves.

Detroit also was missing regular defenseman Leo Bova and Garry Bergman, both on the sick list.

Rookie Bert Marshall turned in a strong game at the blue line and his second period slap shot, deflected by Smith past Bower's glove, proved the winner. It was Smith's 20th goal and his first 20-goal season.

Chicago's Scooter Line, temporarily shut down when the Black Hawks were traveling extensively by Jet, is back in business.

The Scooters — Stan Mikita, Kenny Wharram and Doug Mohns — provided the punch last night as the Black Hawks defeated Montreal 4-2, trimming the Canadiens' National Hockey League lead to one point.

The Mikita-Wharram-Mohns unit, obscured in recent weeks by the record-breaking scoring of teammate Bobby (Golden Jet) Hull, clicked for three goals against Montreal as the Hawks rebounded from Saturday's 4-2 loss to Toronto in their drive for an initial NHL regular season title.

Boston held off New York 4-3 in Sunday night's other games. Wharram's 25th goal of the season snapped a 2-2 tie in the third period at Chicago and Mikita with 2½ minutes to play. Mohns hit the 20-goal mark in the second period after Red Hay opened the Chicago scoring.

Hull, however, tallied for the second straight game to add to his record of 53 goals and still needs three scoring points to tie the all-time season mark of 96 set by Montreal's Dickie Moore seven years ago.

Montreal, has six games to play, one more than Chicago.

Two goals by Johnny Bucyk led Boston past New York, moving the last-place Bruins within four points of the fifth place Rangers. Bucyk's second goal, No. 25 for the veteran left wing, opened a 4-1 lead and the Bruins hung on to take the season series from the Rangers 7-4-1.

MICHIGAN'S BEST — Ferndale coach Roy Burkhart clings to the trophy and joins the school's basketball team in a big cheer after the Eagles captured the state Class A championship.

EAST LANSING (AP) — The odds-on favorites were upset, sentimental favorites were winners and the hero was a player whose team lost in an exciting and unusual State High School Basketball Tournament.

The Class A fight climaxed the Saturday action, with Ferndale forced overtime before it could overcome Ann Arbor, 65-60.

Grand Rapids East Christian proved that a regular season record doesn't mean a thing when it comes tourney time. A surprising East Christian team took the Class B crown from River Rouge, 76-66.

Cochran Lofton Greene and his Rouge Panthers were seeking their sixth straight state title. But the Furniture City five, although beaten eight times during the regular season, had superior shooting and rebounding.

ONE-SIDED GAME The only lopsided game was the 89-70 triumph of L'Anse over Flint Holy Redeemer in Class C. The Purple Hornets from the Upper Peninsula stung outclassed Flint with fast-break passes.

The player everyone was praising highest afterwards didn't even have a winning time.

Bob Gale, star of Class D lower Trout Creek, pumped in 40 points, but his one-man effort wasn't enough. He received an unusual standing ovation when he finally fouled out. But while Gale got the applause, Covert won the game from the Anglers 84-70. It was the second straight Michigan title for Covert and its 48th consecutive victory.

SCORING DUEL The Class A finale turned into a scoring duel between small sharpshooter Dwight Dunlap of Ferndale and tall Earle Higgins of Ann Arbor.

Dunlap swished in four straight free throws in overtime to wind up with 31 points. Higgins hit 30 for the losers and was master of the backboards. Ferndale cagily played ball control before and during the overtime, content to win its first title since 1953 without taking undue chances.

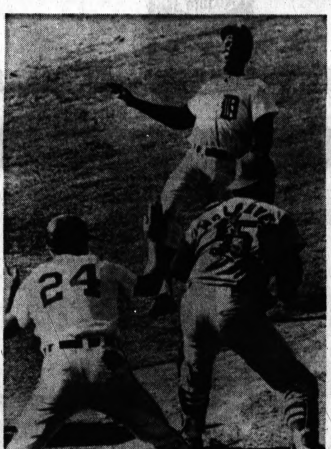

Grand Rapids East Christian, a school in existence for only two years, had just too much height for faster but smaller River Rouge. Bernie Kuiper, 6-7 center, was a 22-point and Bill Vander-Woode, 6-5 forward, had 35. "It simply was superior rebounding and shooting," praised River Rouge Coach Green in his dressing room afterward.

"They beat us on the boards. What great height!"

L'Anse, in its Class C victory looked as if it were playing pro football instead of basketball, throwing long passes down the court. Redeemer was unable to make enough interceptions.

TIGERS ON THE PROWL — Detroit catcher Orlando McCarver goes high as he starts his slide toward the plate during a seventh-inning rally that produced seven runs for the Tigers in a come-from-behind 9-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in an exhibition match yesterday at Lakeland, Fla. No. 24 is Tiger's Mickey Stanley who scored along with McCarver on a single by Ray Oyler. Cards' catcher Tim McCarver waits for a throw from the outfield.

The Tigers manufactured the seven-run outburst on three hits, four walks, a sacrifice fly, an error and any number of Cardinal mental fumbles, forced by Detroit's run tactics.

The three hits included a double by Wertz and singles by Norm Cash and Ray Oyler, all good for runs.

Dick McAuliffe kept in the long ball groove, smashing a double in his only time up. Oyler took over shortstop in his place later. Dick had injured himself by bouncing a ball off an ankle in batting practice.

Of all the players, Dodger shortstop Bart Shirley was the most outspoken. "Someone's going to break an ankle before they're through," said Shirley, who went on to explain that "one grounder I set my foot for a throw and all at once I felt the stuff give under me and my foot moved."

Despite the problems, the Astros were well-satisfied with the first test of the nylon surface, installed at a cost of $2 per square foot, and explained that most of those problems could be solved by changing the consistency of the dirt layer under the infield.

Detroit Pitching Gives St. Louis Only 3 Hits in 7th Triumph

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Everything, including the number "7," is rolling right for the Detroit Tigers and their spring training joys are big.

For the second time in three games, the Tigers put over seven runs in the seventh inning in winning their seventh Grapefruit League victory against two defeats Sunday, 9-4 over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Only the Chicago White Sox (9-2) top Detroit in the spring game records now.

With Al Kaline driving in three runs on two hits, the Tigers raked four Cardinal pitchers for 10 blows to win for Dave Wickersham, who worked the last three innings.

OUT OF CONTROL The Cards were held to three hits but had managed a 3-2 lead until their pitching went out of control in the seventh.

The game was played at the Tiger home park in Lakeland. Today Detroit met Baltimore, also 7-3 in the AL Grapefruit standings, in Miami.

Starter Joe Sparrano was in trouble with four walks and permitted St. Louis three runs in the first three innings. But he and Johnny Miller blanked St. Louis for the next three, as did Wickersham the rest of the way.

Hustling base running by the Tigers helped greatly in the seventh.

Don Wert slid into home so hard on a squeeze bunt that he knocked the ball out of catcher Tim McCarver's hands and scored.

RUSH TACTICS The Tigers manufactured the seven-run outburst on three hits, four walks, a sacrifice fly, an error and any number of Cardinal mental fumbles, forced by Detroit's run tactics.

Prep Tourney Has 20 Teams Coach of NCAA Champs Happy to Defeat 'Mr. Rupp'

Pontiac Country Club Site of 15th Event

A formal okay by the Michigan High School Athletic Association has cleared the way for the 19th Annual Pontiac Press Invitational Golf Tournament.

The 18-hole tournament is scheduled for May 27 at Pontiac Country Club, a 6,205-yard, par 72 layout.

Soccer Plans Unveiled

NEW YORK (AP) — William D. Cox of New York said Sunday tentative plans have been drawn up for a professional soccer league to operate in the United States and Canada.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Coach Don Haskins felt like a lucky "young punk" after his Texas Western Miners won the national collegiate basketball championship.

The 36-year-old Haskins and his underdog Miners had just scored a 72-65 upset over the Old Master, Adolph Rupp, and Texas Western Miners won the Kentucky Wildcats, Duke edged Utah 79-77 for third place.

"It's quite a thrill for me, a kind of young punk," Haskins said. "It's great just playing in a game with Mr. Rupp, let alone winning it."

Although both teams entered the title game with identical 27-1 records, Kentucky was an eight-point favorite to win its fifth NCAA championship. No other school has won more than two.

Kentucky was ranked No. 1 in the nation after the regular season and Texas Western was No. 3, with the suspicion that the Miners didn't play too hard a schedule. Haskins disagreed.

WITHOUT NAME "We don't worry about that kind of talk," Haskins said. "We played a lot of good teams before we got here. We played a lot of teams like ourselves... ones without a name."

Texas Western should no longer remain in that category. Since Haskins arrived at the El Paso, Tex., school five years ago, the Miners have won 108 games and lost only 25.

Three times in the past four years, the Miners have received a bid as an independent to play in the NCAA tournament. In 1964, they went to the National Invitation Tournament in New York.

"We weren't shooting well and our ball handling wasn't good," Rupp said. "When those two things break down, you're in trouble."

The Miners were led by speedy Bobby Joe Hill, a 5-foot-10 junior guard from Highland Park, and Dave Lattin, a 6-7 sophomore who uses his 245 pounds effectively.

Hill scored 29 points, four of them within 10 seconds after two steals early in the game. That gave the Miners a 14-0 lead and they were never headed.

Lattin scored 16 points and grabbed nine rebounds, while Orsten Artis added 15 points.

Hill, Dempster and Riley were named to the All-Tournament team by sports writers and sportscasters, along with Jack Martin of Duke and Jerry Chambers of Utah.

Miss Smith Wins Gals' Golf Open

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Marilyn Smith today owns the first tournament championship of the 1966 Ladies Professional Golf Association tour thanks to a blowup by Sandra Haynie.

Miss Smith, who plays out of Jupiter, Fla., fired a closing two-over-par 73 Sunday to win the $10,000 St. Petersburg Women's Open. Her total for the 72 holes was 285, worth $1,650.

Second, two strokes back, was Carol Mann of Towson, Md., who shot a closing 76 over the weekend, a 284-yard 5 under the wire and Country Club course. She picked up $1,310.

Nobody broke par in the last round thanks to the wind, but Miss Haynie, Fort Worth, Tex., might have won the tournament had it not been for the 16th hole.

She came up on No. 16—a par four, 319-yarder—leading Miss Smith by one stroke, and made a triple-bogey seven.

Miss Smith had parred the 16th and then gained still another stroke on the last two holes to finish three strokes ahead of Miss Haynie and long-hitting Mickey Wright, Dallas, Tex., who tied at 288.

Carl Hiller of Pontiac North led the local team with a 1:06.8 clocking in the 100-yard breaststroke, and the junior tanker placed sixth in the 200-yard individual medley.

Steve Yedlin, also of PNH, grabbed a third in the 200-yard freestyle and a fourth in the 400-yard freestyle. Ken Hughes placed fourth in the 100-yard backstroke.

Pontiac's 400-yard medley relay squad finished fifth, while the 400-yard freestyle relay team came in fourth.

East Christian Quint Most Impressive

Kent was the main target for those long passes, and made them pay off with three sinkers in a row just before the first quarter ended, with the Hornets winging 22-11.

Its loss to Covert was the first in 26 games for Trout Creek. Covert controlled the boards and had three consistent hitters—Jim Sarno with 23 points, Bernie Woods with 22 and Maurice Armstrong, 21.

But Bob Gale still was the man the college coaches were looking for.

Michigan State Coach John Bennington gladly would walk the 465 miles from East Lansing to Trout Creek to get Gale.

Class D Ace on All-Star '5'

EAST LANSING (AP)—Bob Gale, who scored 40 points in a losing cause for Trout Creek in the Class D Michigan high school championship game Saturday, heads the All-Tourney Team selected by The Associated Press.

Others selected were Bill VanderWoude of Class B champion Grand Rapids, East Christian, Deane Kent of Class C titlist L'Anse, Maurice Armstrong of Class D king Covert and Dwight Dunlap of Ferndale, the new Class A champion.

At mid-season, Michigan State was bogged down with a 4-9 record, including a 5-3 loss to Clarkson.

FINISHED SIXTH
Then MSU began to find the combination. The Spartans still finished sixth in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association, but the team had yelled. The Spartans whipped Michigan and WCHA champion Michigan Tech in the Western hockey playoffs to gain a berth in the NCAA meet.

By Saturday night, Michigan State had won 12 of its final 16 games to wind up with a 16-13 season record.
Clarkson finished 23-3.

The title game was no contest after football linebacker Bob Brawley fired home a 35-foot slap shot from the point to break a tie and send Michigan State into a 2-1 lead in the second period.

The Spartans rammed in four more goals in the third period to turn it into a rout, and wound up peppering Clarkson goalie Terry Yurkiewicz with 40 shots in addition to the six that hit home.

Mike Coppo got two Spartan goals and Bob Pallat, Doug Volmar and Bill Faunt one each. Faunt, Brian McAndrew and Don Heaphy each contributed two assists.

Scoring Clarkson's lone goal was Andrew Hamilton, whose 46-foot shot when MSU was two men short brought a 1-1 first period tie.

Fritz Crisler Speaks

It's a Different Game Now

ANN ARBOR (AP) — During Fritz Crisler's playing and coaching career, football was a relatively uncomplicated game which was won because one team simply knocked down more men than the other.

"The best example was in 1917 Michigan team which went unbeaten and then defeated Southern California, 49-0, in the Rose Bowl."

Fritz Crisler retired after that game presumably because it is difficult to improve on perfection.

He became athletic director at Michigan and an imposing figure in intercollegiate athletics.

He invented the two-platoon system, was one of the important figures in starting the college football series on national television, and is a life member of the Collegiate Rules Committee.

His life has been college football from the University of Chicago — where he played and coached, under Amos Alonzo Stagg — to Minnesota, Princeton and Michigan.

Now 67, and still director of athletics at Michigan, Fritz Crisler is concerned about his game and the way it is changing due to the influence of the professionals and the demands of television.

"Some boys," Crisler said, "are beginning to think of college only as a steppingstone to the pros.

"They are becoming so pre-occupied that I know of examples, though I won't mention names, of kids who actually save themselves on the field during their senior year. They don't want to risk an injury that may hurt their pro careers."

"I don't see how this economic situation can last. If I were with the pros, I would have another concern — morale. I think what they're doing with regard to salaries and bonuses to college kids would certainly invite a morale problem on their teams.

"As for TV... it has its pluses and its minuses. It creates new fans, but my concern is the fan it keeps away."

"I don't feel the person who is looking at TV is entitled to more than the person who pays admission, especially when the fan in the stands pays the kind of money he does for his ticket."

"I don't think it is fair to put the television viewer in the dressing room. I don't think those microphones in the helmets and other gimmicks like that are good either. And I don't like stopping games for commercials. There have been times when this has hurt a team that has been moving well."

"But it is a thing we have to live with. It is wonderful to bring the game to so many people. And the committee is trying to spread the exposure and get as many schools on the telecasts as possible."

"But the networks have problems. The sponsors want the blue chips. They're thinking mostly of their potential markets, so naturally they want Notre Dame and the big names."

And, as everyone knows, sponsors don't have much trouble getting what they want.

Tall BYU '5' Captures NIT Championship

Sharp Cougars Crush New York University in Finals, 97-84

NEW YORK (AP) — Lou Rossini had a complaint and at the same time an idea which would have made the championship game of the National Invitation Tournament a little more equitable.

"I think it was unfair for them not to lend me that 6-11 guy sitting down," said Rossini, whose New York University basketball team lost the final to Brigham Young 97-84 Saturday.

Thus, with a joking remark, the Violets' coach pinpointed the reason NYU still doesn't have an NIT championship after eight attempts. Instead Brigham Young has its second.

The reason was 6-foot-11 Craig Raymond, who scored 31 points, hitting on 10 of 14 shots from the field, and snared 18 rebounds.

But if he had faltered, Coach Stan Watts had two more 6-11 players on the bench. Each is a half-foot taller than anyone the Violets could have put on the court.

"For years we struggled with a 6-4 center," said Watts after completing his 17th season with the Cougars.

TRANSFER STUDENT "Then we got the Raymond kid and then the Eakins kid. We had to do a lot of proselytizing to get them. But then this Fisher kid comes in from Canada as a transfer student. It was a complete surprise."

Raymond, from Vancouver, Wash., has another year remaining while Jim Eakins of Sacramento, Calif., and Orrville Fisher of Fort Saskatchewan, (Alta.) have two to go.

Raymond played most of the time this season until he encountered two bad games against New Mexico and Wyoming two months ago. Eakins then replaced him until Saturday when Watts decided Raymond was ready for a good game.

During none of Brigham Young's three NIT games did more than one of the 6-11 giants play at the same time.

STOPPED HITTING NYU played the powerful Brigham Young offense to a near standstill in the first half, but weakened in the second half when all of the Violets except Stan McKenzie stopped hitting.

The 6-5 McKenzie, who tried vainly to contain Raymond, scored 19 of NYU's final 25 points.

The second-place finish for the Violets came after two years in which they lost consolation games to Army by one point. The Cougars first won the NIT in 1951.

Army was in the consolation game again, but this time lost to Villanova 76-65. Villanova's Bill Melchioni scored 29 points, giving him 109 for four games, and was named the tournament's most valuable player.

76ers Occupy Celtic Throne

By the Associated Press that determine the league champion.

For Coach Dolph Schayes, however, "this is the greatest thrill of my life. I feel this team can beat anybody now."

BIG RALLY A remarkable spurt of 24 straight points in the third period brought the 76ers from behind a 16-point deficit into the lead at 80-72.

The Bullets rallied on their home court to tie at 104-104 in the last minute before two fouls by Gerry Ward and Hal Greer and Lucius Jackson's basket wrapped it up for the 76ers.

"The 76ers won it, we didn't lose it," said Boston Coach Red Auerbach in extending congratulations. He added a warning: "I might point out that now we're playing our best ball of the season. We'll be mighty tough in the playoffs."

The best-of-five semifinal Eastern playoffs open Wednesday with Cincinnati again playing at Boston.

Philadelphia's victory overshadowed the 121-117 rout victory of the St. Louis Hawks over the Detroit Pistons, a triumph that earned the Hawks the last playoff spot in the Western Division. The Los Angeles Lakers, the Western Division champs, snuffed out San Francisco's last chance by beating the Warriors at home 124-112.

Playing coach Richie Guerin, with 37 points, led a St. Louis rally that wiped out a 109-104 Detroit lead. He scored six points in last 90 seconds. Jerry West's 35 points paced the Lakers over the Warriors who led by nine points at 36-27 at the end of the first quarter.

The All-Stars qualified by defeating Tacoma, Wash., 77-70 in opening round play Sunday. Dearborn made the grade by steam-rolling over Cushing Okla., 77-58.

CLOSED GAP The All-Stars were pressed all the way after a 22-9 opening explosion. By halftime, Tacoma had closed the gap to 33-31.

Dearborn muscled its way to a lopsided 58-21 intermission score over Cushing and then coasted the rest of the way. Russell concentrated mainly on passing and scored only 12 points.

Bartlesville, Okla., won the right to go up against Torrance, Calif., by trouncing Ottawa, Ill., 84-73. Torrance defeated Dayton, Ohio 83-68.

Local Cyclists Win Trophies Pontiac Competition Team members won three trophies in the season's first motorcycle scrambles races of the season Sunday at Addison.

Rex Beauchamp and Ed Mar-Villanova 76-65. Villanova's Bill Melchioni scored 29 points, giving him 109 for four games, and was named the tournament's most valuable player.

Champ of Shot Putters Works on Weight Woes

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — Randy Matson, the nation's greatest shot putter, is worrying about two things these days:

1. His weight. "I am so skinny I look like one of these high jumpers."

2. The opposition. "Parry O'Brien and John McGrath have been throwing the shot 64 feet and Neil Steinhauser of Oregon has thrown it 63-6. I've got to get busy."

Matson got behind in his track when he took time out to play with the Texas A&M basketball team. It did more than just put him behind; it also brought his weight down and he complains that he doesn't have the strength it took to throw the shot 70 feet 7 1/2 inches last May.

At Houston Saturday, though, Randy, who had been getting only 60 feet in practice, pitched the 16-pound ball 62 feet-4.

He also hurled the discus 181-84.

MISSPRACTICE "But I don't think I can get back up to 70 feet this year," Matson declared. "I am working on my weight program now so I can build my weight up to what it was (260 pounds) when I threw 70 feet. I only weighed 235 Saturday. You see I had cut to 239 playing basketball and then I had the flu last week, missed practice four days and lost another five pounds."

Matson can't decide if basketball hurt or helped him. "It sure hurt me right now because it invite a morale problem on their teams.

"As for TV... it has its pluses and its minuses. It creates new fans, but my concern is the fan it keeps away."

"I don't feel the person who is looking at TV is entitled to more than the person who pays admission, especially when the fan in the stands pays the kind of money he does for his ticket."

"I don't think it is fair to put the television viewer in the dressing room. I don't think those microphones in the helmets and other gimmicks like that are good either. And I don't like stopping games for commercials. There have been times when this has hurt a team that has been moving well."

France Faces Strike Week

PARIS (UPI) — France today faced a week of railroad and power strikes by labor unions fighting for higher pay and better working conditions.

A 36-hour strike by workers of the state-owned railroad system was ordered to start at midnight Thursday and was expected to be 100 per cent successful.

It followed last week's 46-hour railroad walkout for a 6 per cent wage increase which the railroad said was only 50 per cent effective.

But the coming walkout for a shorter workweek was being joined by unions which ignored the earlier stoppage.

French newspapers predicted a total paralysis of nationwide train services for the strike duration.

SUPPLY TRUCKS

As before, the army was supplying 400 trucks to try to get Paris commuters to and from the city.

The public also was being hit by a 24-hour strike for higher pay by employees of the nationalized electricity and gas companies. Supplies to homes and offices were scheduled to be cut off starting at 9 p. m. tomorrow. Gas officials claimed there were enough reserves on hand to maintain supplies although pressure would drop.

Chiang Re-elected President for 4th Term

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The National Assembly elected Chiang Kai-shek today to a fourth six-year term as president of the Republic of China. Of the 1,426 votes cast, Chiang received 1,405. Twenty were declared invalid.

Soviet Defense Outlay Viewed

Military Activity Adds to Suspicions of Boost

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union may be secretly increasing defense spending while publicly emphasizing economic programs that appear to promote world peace.

Informed sources say a suspicious gap between admitted military expenditures and limits still placed on civilian spending could indicate that money has been diverted to secret defense costs.

There are indications the Soviets are building a defense network against intercontinental missiles around Moscow and Leningrad. Large mysterious structures have been going up in the vicinity of the Soviet Union's two main cities. They appear to be radar networks and guidance systems.

Radar networks, if sophisticated enough, could detect incoming missiles at a considerable distance. Guidance systems could direct rockets at the enemy missiles.

NOW MODERNIZING
The Soviet government maintains a military establishment officially reported to have 2,423,000 men. It is now modernizing it and equipping it for nuclear, clear warfare, an expensive process.

There are also signs that the Soviets are moving troops from old positions facing Western Europe to areas along the frontier with Red China. This would involve considerable expenditures for logistic support.

Military spending is also believed linked directly with the Kremlin's ambitious space program.

Soviet authorities have been emphasizing consumer goods as never before and advocating the spread of communism by offering an example of prosperity rather than the use of force.

But the Soviet Communist party recently ordered economic planners to cut back economic goals set in 1961 for achievement by 1970.

Soviet officials admitted that defense costs have risen. They blamed the rise on the international situation, especially the Viet Nam war.

Parliament Elections End Today in Finland

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Voters streamed to the polls today to complete Finland's two-day elections for a new Parliament. At stake is the coalition government's 113-67 majority.

A swing to the left, predicted by some opinion polls, could put the opposition Social Democrats back in power for the first time since 1958.

Johnson Asks for Program to Protect U.S. Consumer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson recommended to Congress today a far-reaching program he said is needed to protect the American consumer in the market place.

Specifically, he renewed his request of two years ago for what he described as effective laws on lending and packaging. "We can protect both the consumer and the overwhelming majority of businessmen from the minority of producers who would compete unfairly and infringe the rights of the consumer and their fellow businessmen," Johnson said.

"We need reform in the credit area and we should encourage states to enact legislation to correct abuses."

Under legislation urged by Johnson, money lenders, including those who finance consumer purchases on time, would have to state the full cost of credit, simply and clearly, and state it before any contract is signed.

The proposal for packaging and labeling legislation would require that each package provide simple, direct, accurate information of contents, including ingredients where this is important.

6 U.S. Planes Lost in Viet

Soapy, Jerry Face to Face

DETROIT (AP)—With preliminaries disposed of, the fight between Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and ex-Gov. G. Mennen Williams for Michigan's Democratic Senatorial nomination today headed into the long haul to the Aug. 2 primary election.

Supporters of the young mayor and the veteran, politician and six-times governor tried to gauge the effects of yesterday's Jerry and Soapy St. Patrick's street parade confrontation in Bay City.

Cavanagh, 37, and Williams, 55, shook hands and exchanged pleasantries when they came face to face as parade guests and participants.

The meeting, their first since Cavanagh's formal entry into the race Saturday, came on the heels of the mayor's vote-hunting plane trip all the way to the Upper Peninsula later Saturday.

Cavanagh flew to Flint, Bay City and Marquette — directly after his Detroit announcement.

Reactions were mixed. At Grand Rapids the Kent County Democratic committee boycotted his appearance. Nonpartisan Mayor Harry K. Call of Flint extended support to Cavanagh, describing him as "close to the people."

STEPPED OUT

At the Bay City meeting, Williams, nudged by a newspaper photographer, stepped out from the sidelines into the street.

As Cavanagh, walking, came by, Williams put out his hand. "It's good to see you and your merry men," Williams said. Cavanagh acknowledged with a "thanks" and the two exchanged "good luck" words.

The meeting lasted only two minutes or so.

Cavanagh, an Irishman, marched with the Ancient Order of the Hibernians. Williams rode in a car in another part of the parade.

Although a makeup man followed Cavanagh in 13 witnesses in working on the actors' faces, the correct likeness didn't seem to come through.

Finally, a couple of witnesses spotted Chief Roy, who was watching and said he looked like him. His nose was right, too, they pointed out.

Deputy Called After He Cuffed His Brother

Robert Dockery, 229 Walton, Pontiac Township, found a pair of handcuffs yesterday morning. He put them on his brother Virgil of 1394 Taylor, Pontiac Township, "to see if they would work."

They did. Oakland County Sheriff's deputy Keith Lester answered the call from the Dockery home and was able to unlock the cuffs.

Reds Launch Earth Satellite

No Comment on Hint of Rendezvous Try

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today the launching of an earth satellite but made no immediate comment on foreign reports that it might be attempting a space rendezvous.

The announcement of the launching of Cosmos 113 was worded in the usual form for unmanned satellites. It was reported to be engaged in scientific research.

The Bochum Observatory in West Germany said Cosmos 113 might be trying to rendezvous with Cosmos 112, launched last week.

The Bochum Observatory suggested the new satellite's orbit was being synchronized with that of Cosmos 112.

However, No. 112 was sent up last Thursday at an angle of 72 degrees to the equator and No. 113 has an inclination of 65 degrees, according to the announcement distributed by the Soviet news agency Tass. This indicated different flight paths.

DIFFER IN ALTITUDES

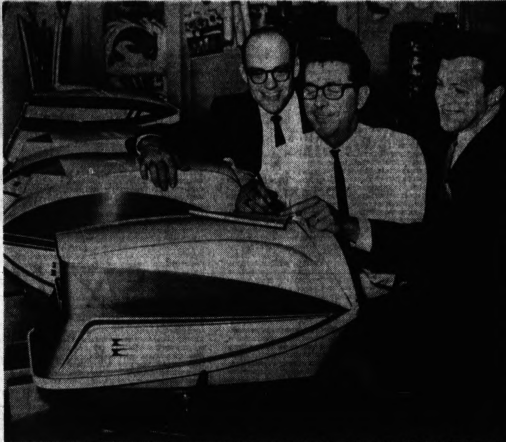

They also differed considerably in altitudes. No. 112 had a high point of 353 miles and a low of 153 miles. No. 113 orbits from 203 miles to 139.5 miles.

The announcement said Cosmos 113 carried scientific apparatus, was working normally, and information was being radioed back.

The Cosmos label is believed by Western analysts to cover a variety of purposes. The recent 22-day flight of two Soviet dogs in a Cosmos satellite. Others might be used for reconnaissance.

The United States is reported to have "spies in the sky" launched into polar orbits from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California. Various Soviet statements have indicated equivalent.

The satellite tracking station at the Wilhelm Foerster Observatory in West Berlin said yesterday that Cosmos 112 was in a polar orbit, apparently indicating a new launching point.

40 Report Seeing Eerie UFOs in State

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—At least 40 persons saw an unidentified flying object land in a swamp near here last night, police said today. Twelve witnesses were policemen.

Two sheriff's deputies said they saw eerie blinking lights—apparently on a flying object—rise above the trees, then dip again.

Another policeman said he and other officers saw a formation of four or five flying objects. One passed right over his car, he said.

A farmer and his son said they approached within 500 yards of the object. It took off with a sound like a ricocheting bullet, they said.

Six police cars chased the formation but the UFO's vanished. Washenaw County Sheriff's Deputy Stanley McFadden said at least 60 persons saw the objects in the air or on the ground.

McFadden and Deputy David Fitzpatrick left their car and stogged through the swamp about 12 miles northwest of here after watching the object rise to tree top level, then sink down and apparently land.

A crowd of 40 to 50 people watched it on the ground, McFadden said.

He said he, Fitzpatrick and most of the other witnesses could see lights only because of the darkness.

WITHIN 500 YARDS

But Frank Mannor, 47, and his son, Ronald, 19, told police they ran through the swamp to within 500 yards of the object.

They drew a picture of it and described it as the shape of a football, made of wadded material, with blinking lights and antennas.

Mannor said the object took off when his son said to him, "Look at that horrible thing there, Dad!"

"I went out there and I saw these lights on the ground," McFadden said. "It appeared it would go up about tree top level and then go down again."

WENT BACK
"Me and deputy Fitzpatrick went back to check. There were probably 40 to 50 people watching it. At least 12 officers were watching it."

"It had a red and green light, one light on each side, and a white reddish glow in the center. Mannor and his son said it was like two (elliptical) bowls cupped together, with a globe on the top, brownish in color, with a waffle skin."

"When we got there they (the crowd) said it left. They (the Mannors) said it made a ricocheting sound when it took off."

The sheriff's office said neither Wright nor club president Paul Davids of Nunica, a witness, could give an explanation. Davids was quoted as saying this was his club's first fatality in jumping. The club is about four years old.

Fair and Fragrant
Forecast Fine for Flowers

"Spring unlocks the flowers," 'tis said. With the fair and fragrant season's arrival today comes a forecast that soon should set tender buds blossoming here.

Occasional showers and mild is the outlook for tonight and Tuesday. The low this evening will be from 40 to 45.

Tomorrow the mercury is expected to ride in the 52- to 59-degree range.

Showers and a little cooler is Wednesday's weather word. Variable winds at two to four miles per hour this morning will become south to southeast at ten to 20 miles this afternoon and tonight.

In downtown Pontiac, the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 33. At 1 p.m. the reading was 54.

2 Yank Fliers Known Dead, 2 Captured

Leathernecks Launch Pair of Operations Against Communists

SAIGON (AP)—The United States lost six more planes in widening American air operations over North and South Viet Nam, a U.S. spokesman reported today. Two fliers were killed, two captured and two others are missing, he said.

In the ground war, about 3,000 U.S. Marines launched two separate operations — Oregon and Texas — against Communist units near Hue and Quang Ngai City on the north coast.

Attacking under Marine jet strikes and artillery fire, the Leathernecks reported killing 46 Viet Cong in ground attacks and possibly many more in air and artillery strikes in operation Texas at an Hue, 15 miles northwest of Hue.

Marines in Operation Oregon near Hoa, just outside Quang Ngai, reported killing 34 enemy troops in heavy fighting this morning.

Marine casualties in both clashes — about 120 miles apart — were described as light.

Near Saigon, the U.S. Strategic Air Command (SAC) marked its 20th anniversary by sending Guam-based B-52 bombers over the Communist Dome strong hold 35 miles north of the capital to pound escape routes leading through the jungle to Cambodia.

255 CONG KILLED

In two other actions, South Vietnamese troops reported killing more than 225 Viet Cong.

Government troops killed 100 Communists in a stiff fight at Vo Xu, a rice producing area 75 miles north of Saigon that was liberated recently by the U.S. 17th Airborne Brigade and the Vietnamese 10th Division.

A government spokesman said the Communists tried unsuccessfully to recapture the area three weeks ago and came back in force again yesterday.

Thai Bases Added 'to Be Used in War'

HONG KONG (AP)—The United States has added new air power to bases in Thailand from which American warplanes can range over North Viet Nam, according to responsible information in Hong Kong.

U.S. officials in Bangkok insist these Thai bases are used only for training purposes, although American airmen on recreational leave from their posts openly describe their participation in raids over Viet Nam.

Because of internal political considerations, Thailand strongly anti-Communist and a stout supporter of U.S. policy in Viet Nam — is reluctant to any publication of the role U.S. air bases there play in the Viet Nam war.

U.S. and other newsmen stationed in Bangkok normally would report on the U.S. air activity there, but they run into a wall of official silence.

Famed Soccer Cup Is Stolen In Britain

LONDON (AP) — The English Football Association announced today that a new World Soccer Cup is being ordered to replace the gold Jules Rimet trophy stolen from a Methodist Church hall by a thief who passed up an $8.4-million stamp collection.

Police checked criminal haunts in an attempt to recover the cup before it is melted down. But the Football Association was taking no chances for the World Cup finals, to be contested by 16 teams in England next July.

Scotland Yard held little hope that the trophy would be recovered. "This was a professional job, one detective said, 'and sent me down certainly the cup will be melted down.'"

The cup, soccer's most coveted prize, is insured for $90,000, but the gold in it is worth only about a tenth of that.

"It is a disgraceful business," said British Minister of Sport Denis Howell, a former soccer referee.

"One can only hope that the people who have taken the trophy have got some pride in the good name of Britain, in which case they will return it at once."

The Jules Rimet trophy was snatched from a padlocked showcase in London's Central Hall, headquarters of the Methodist Football Association, just before noon yesterday.

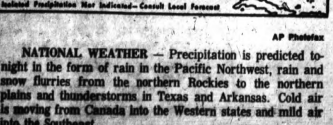

Police said the thief apparently went into Central Hall with a crowd attending the usual Sunday service in another part of the building.

Passing up the hymn singing, he walked up the stairs to the doors of the hall's exhibition center, forced his way in and forced open the showcase, they said.

NINE POUNDS — The trophy stands 10 inches high and weighs about nine pounds. It is a statuette of a female figure holding an octagonal cup above her head.

The Jules Rimet, a French lawyer and international football enthusiast, gave it to the game in 1930. Now the World Cup is seen only to the Olympics in international crowd appeal.

Tickets worth more than $2.5 million already have been sold for the matches this summer.

Crashed C130 Found on Peak

7 Americans Killed on Island in Arctic

BARDU, Norway (AP) — Wreckage of a U.S. military transport plane was found today on a mountain peak on the arctic island of Senja, but all seven American airmen aboard were killed, a military spokesman announced.

The C130 Hercules was based at Forbes Air Force Base, in Kansas. It was flying from Evreux air base, in France, to the base at Bardu to fly Italian troops back to Italy after a NATO winter exercise in northern Norway.

The big transport slammed into the Kolfjellet — Coal Mountain — on the Norwegian island in a blizzard early Sunday as it made the final approach to land at Bardu.

A Norwegian helicopter found the wreckage. The pilot reported that only the tail section was intact, sticking out of deep snow on the 2,630-foot peak. He said there were no survivors.

NAMES WITHHELD

The U.S. Air Force said the names of the dead would be announced in the United States after their families were notified.

Norwegian ski troops and other ground teams were on their way to the wreckage, directed by helicopter signals.

Later, ground parties reported they had found three bodies and were searching for the remaining four through deep snow that covered the scattered wreckage.

9 Patrolmen Added to City Police Dept.

Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger has announced the addition of nine patrolmen to the city police department.

The nine new patrolmen are graduates of the Metropolitan Police Academy and one man previously with the Pontiac department, bringing the department's strength to 119.

Additional of the new men will boost strength of the Traffic Bureau by two patrolmen, according to Hanger.

Traffic Bureau strength, now boosted to 21 men, has been cited by Lt. Clayton Randolph as inadequate in the face of rising accident rates in the city.

The other new patrolmen have been assigned to patrol duty in the uniformed division.

NEW MEN

The new men are: Richard A. Baldes, 29, of 1003 Lakeview, Waterford Township; Gary P. Lambert, 21, of 22 Jefferson; Sidney D. Preston, 27, of 3828 Silver Valley, Orion Township; Thomas E. Larrison, 32, of 265 Gray; and John J. Williams, 24, of 88 W. Princeton.

Police Chief Poses as Slaying Suspect and added a few lines to his GIRL STABBED

Then he dressed like the man who stabbed the child on Elizabeth street — dark felt hat, three-quarter length, green corset, dark, slightly baggy trousers, brown shoes and white socks.

He looked a great deal like the suspect, the witnesses said. Roy didn't mind.

"What the heck, if this helps," he said.

An artist will retouch the best picture today to make it conform as closely as possible to the witnesses' memory of the killer.

Six U. S. Planes Lost

HEAVY FIGHTING

Government forces killed another 129 Viet Cong in a battle in the central highlands 150 miles northeast of Saigon, a spokesman said.

The heavy fighting 30 miles east of Ban Me Thuot erupted yesterday on the second day of an operation by Vietnamese army units trying to cut up a large Communist force reported in the jungled mountains.

On a sweep 12 miles south of the central coastal town of Tuy Hoa, U.S. 101st Airborne troops ran into North Vietnamese regulars, spokesmen said, and battled them for seven hours.

There was no assessment of Communist casualties, but American losses were reported light.

6 OTHER PLANES

Two of the American planes lost yesterday over North Viet Nam were supersonic Phantoms from the nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise.

The pilot of one F4 Phantom was seen taken prisoner after he bailed out 16 miles southeast of Vinh.

clinging to the fiction they are used only for training. The U. S. Air Force has some reconnaissance planes based in Thailand.

Occasional U. S. Navy aerial visitors help out on search and rescue missions. Helicopters also fly over the border to rescue airmen downed in Communist territory.

The United States has several engineering battalions helping to build roads in Thailand.

DIRECT THREAT
These would be militarily important if the Communists ever made a direct threat to the Southeast Asian kingdom, which recently has suffered an irritating but not major increase in Communist activity in its northern provinces.

Disclosure of a Communist courier ring in southern Thailand recently indicated that the Communist network is not limited to the northeast.

The road network and a projected new deep-water port to take some of the load off Bangkok's shallow, crowded harbor also will facilitate supply of the U. S. air bases.

Another Phantom went down along the coast 28 miles south-east of Vinh.

The pilot was picked up by a rescue craft but his radarman splashed, down among some Communist sampans and was captured, the spokesman said.

ABANDON HOPE

The Navy gave up hope for a two-engine Skyraider, used as an electronic jammer, and its two-man crew.

The plane, the first of its kind lost over North Viet Nam, was hit Friday 50 miles southwest of Thanh Hoa, and search efforts have been fruitless since, a spokesman said.

Over South Viet Nam, a light spotter plane was hit by ground fire this morning 100 miles northeast of Saigon, killing the pilot.

An Air Force A1E Skyraider took Communist fire while supporting an operation at Buon Brien, in the central highlands, and the pilot was hurt but managed a wheels-up landing.

BOMBING DIVE

A Navy A4C Skyhawk failed to pull out of a bombing dive yesterday in Go Cong Province, south of Saigon, and the pilot was killed.

The Viet Cong killed five of their former comrades by exploding a shrapnel-scattering mine at a government retraining center for defectors in Binh Duong Province 15 miles north of Saigon.

Announcing the filing of his complaint, Tucker said, "It is regrettable that those who are opposed to my candidacy would stoop to the slime of dirt, slanders and to utter racial hate in the City of Pontiac. My campaign has and will be clean."

Tucker said the literature carried as its signature "Committee for Honest Government."

City to Hear Joint Report on M-Week, Beautifying

BIRMINGHAM — The Beauty Birmingham Committee and the Michigan Week Committee tonight will submit a joint report on the committees' plans and accomplishments to the City Commission.

Mrs. Florence H. Willett, chairman of the Beautiful, Birmingham Committee, has reported that eight projects have been completed and approximately three are currently underway in the drive to clean up the city.

Included in the list of completed projects are the distribution of 5,000 litter bags; notices given to some unsightly lots in the area which were cleaned up, doubling of the number of trash containers in the city and establishment of a clean up and planting program in the elementary schools.

Also included were a neighborhood pilot project called "Spruce-Up," development of a questionnaire by the PTA Council and the development and distribution of anti-litter brochures.

Mrs. Willett said that her committee has been asked to set up a week-by-week program, but that past experience has shown, it is difficult enough to establish a season-by-season program.

Plans for beautification approved in the past and still underway were outlined by the committees. Alley beautification, park benches as rest spots, "conversation corners" and flower boxes in the city were included in this category.

City Candidate Files Charge

Claims Circulation of Scurrilous Literature

A District 1 candidate for City Commission has filed a complaint charging that "false, deceptive, scurrilous and malicious" literature is being circulated and mailed in the city.

Charles M. Tucker Jr., 161 Earlemore, has requested a thorough investigation by the Oakland County prosecutor.

Tucker said also that a complaint had been filed with the U.S. district attorney's office and the Michigan Fair Elections Commission.

Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson, today confirmed that he had been contacted by Tucker. Bronson said Robert Leuthesser, an assistant prosecutor, had been assigned to the investigation.

Bronson added that he had received complaints as to who is passing out the literature. He said they would be asked to come in for questioning.

Announcing the filing of his complaint, Tucker said, "It is regrettable that those who are opposed to my candidacy would stoop to the slime of dirt, slanders and to utter racial hate in the City of Pontiac. My campaign has and will be clean."

Tucker said the literature carried as its signature "Committee for Honest Government."

Service will be 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at All Saints Episcopal Church with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy, by Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home.

Surviving besides her husband are two children, Jan Elizabeth at Michigan State University and James M. at Albion College, and a sister.

Don't Blame Poor Fat Men

obesity appears to be most common among poorer persons and least common among the wealthy. And, he explained, the reasons are found in two words, carbohydrates and fashion.

The poorer folks, Enlow said, consume more starch than their more fortunate brethren, whose diets show greater variety.

A more important reason, he said, is the feeling for fashion.

"It is probably only a slight exaggeration to say that what would seem to be unattractively fat in San Marino (a wealthy suburb) would seem only a rather pleasant plumpness in some other parts of the Los Angeles area," he declared.

Enlow said fat persons generally are: Markedly sensitive. Victims of easily diminished self-esteem.

Unable to stand much pain, physical or emotional. Subject is stronger than normal craving for love and reassurance.

Subject to strong tendencies to withdraw socially.

Dependent, sometimes, on their families and physicians who treat them.

COMMON TO MINORITIES
"It is interesting that these things so characteristic of upper-middle-class fat people are just about the same feelings so common among minority groups who feel persecuted," Enlow said.

Javits Urges Economic Unit

Wants New Group for National Planning

DETROIT (AP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., called today for creation of a new government commission to handle economic planning.

Javits, addressing the Economic Club of Detroit, also called for temporary federal tax increases and cutbacks in public works and space spending to help pay for the Vietnam war.

He said Congress should pass "emergency strike legislation" under which the federal government could appoint a "federal receiver to operate strike facilities to the extent required by the public health and safety."

Javits said the economic planning commission would "bring together national leaders in industry, labor and the academic fields to develop long-term national economic goals and to measure the impact of current policies against these guidelines."

"I should like to see a commission on national economic goals become a permanent and settled part of our government's approach to economic policy," he said.

Javits said "important federal spending programs such as anti-poverty, education and medicare" should not be touched.

"But it is necessary to defer federal spending for non-essential and low priority items, such as in some construction, public works and space projects," he said.

"And it is also necessary to face realistically the need for a modest and temporary increase in taxes."

He said the spending cutbacks and tax hikes "should aim for a total impact of $6 billion over and about the $6 billion tax restoration bill enacted by Congress last week."

Javits said laws were needed "to deal with major labor disputes which imperil the public health and safety on a national or vital regional basis."

"Such legislation should provide for fact-finding boards with power to make recommendations, mandatory cooling-off periods during bargaining on such recommended settlements, and even the appointment of a federal receiver to operate strike facilities to the extent required by the public health and safety," he said.

STOCK AVERAGES
Compiled by The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP)—The business month approaches its 62nd month with prosperity growing much faster than population. Today's personal income is a record, national production, retail sales, prices, profits and debts are measured in dollar figures so huge that 1961 looks like ancient history.

Right now the extra push the government gave the economy in 1964-65—tax cuts and increased spending—is still building up momentum. Jobs, industrial output, and consumer and wholesale prices are all rising faster than in the first years of prosperity's five-year run.

Bob Binder of Warren, Mich., was first in Class C (for intermediate six cylinder cars) with an average of 23.081 miles per gallon in a Plymouth Belvedere.

George Miller of Detroit, in a Dodge Coronet, led Class D (for intermediate eight cylinder cars) with 21.020 miles per gallon.

There were 1,000 bank robberies in this country in 1964, and the American Bankers Association puts the loss at $3.9 million.

IN NEW BUILDING—Stapp's Shoes, a long-time retail establishment in Pontiac, has moved into a new store at 931 W. Huron. The business is owned by H. Anne Stapp.

McGuire and J. B. Roosa, who closed the downtown store and one at 928 W. Huron, when they moved into the new 3,600-sq. foot structure.

Q "I am a college student, 26-years-old. I have $5,000 in savings of which I would like to invest $5,000 in good growth stocks. What is your opinion of Gulf & Western Industries; Chrysler; Baroughs; Litton Industries; Holiday Inns; Eastern Air Lines; and Southern California Edison?"

A Because of unsettled market conditions, I believe it would be advisable to put no more than half your savings into common stocks at this time—unless you have competent professional advice. The balance could be retained as a reserve for making purchases when and if prices come down further.

I like Gulf & Western, which is highly leveraged following its merger with New Jersey Zinc. The company is a leading distributor of replacement parts for the automotive industry and the New Jersey Zinc acquisition could build earnings up very sharply. Your remaining selections would all be satisfactory but under present conditions I prefer Litton Industries and Holiday Inns.

The three issues I favor all sell at relatively high earnings multiples, but I believe that at your age they represent the best choices for strong long-term growth.

Q "I read recently that Consolidated Foods plans to spin off its supermarket group. What is a 'spin off' and how will it affect Consolidated Foods?"

A A spin off occurs when a company distributes the shares of a subsidiary as a dividend to its shareholders. I do not believe Consolidated Foods has any ideas along these lines. Plans were made recently to sell publicly Consolidated's supermarket holdings, but the plan was dropped temporarily.

A spin off—providing no new revenues—is usually followed by adverse action of the stock. Under Consolidated's able management, the sale of the supermarkets and acquisition of new and more profitable businesses should ultimately lift the value of the shares.
