Waterford School Cutback Tentatively Set by Board

A plan to cut back the Waterford Township school program for 1969-70 tentatively was approved last night by the board of education.

Proposed are half-day sessions for one semester for grades one through six (a savings of approximately $653,600) and continuation of present cutbacks in other grades ($740,000).

Further tentative cutbacks and approximate savings include elimination of four vocal music teacher positions ($34,400), elimination of the district's subsidy to the district's camping program ($18,200); a reduction of in-service education program for teachers ($10,000) and cutbacks in school administration ($17,200).

Total reductions would cut expenses by an estimated $1.47 million.

This was the first time the board formally discussed further reductions since Dec. 7, when voters rejected a 9-mill increase and a $10.8-million bond issue.

★ ★ ★ ★

Supt. Don O. Tatroe said the deadline for final board action on the reductions would be April 1 to allow for adequate time in laying out next year's budget.

"I think the board and the community should be aware of the problems the administration is facing," Tatroe said. He added, the plan will be discussed further with groups of administrators and teachers' representatives.

★ ★ ★

Robert Crumpton, executive secretary of the Waterford Education Association (WEA) said the association will present the board with its reduction plan at the next board meeting.

U.S. Troop Cuts Aired

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. military commander in Vietnam, conferred today with President Nguyen Van Thieu on U.S. troop withdrawals and a possible cease-fire in light of the break in the peace talks deadlock.

The meeting took place less than 24 hours after an announcement from Paris that the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Vietcong's National Liberation Front will begin four-way talks tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, the U.S. Air Force disclosed it is reviewing its contingency plans for a troop withdrawal or a cease-fire.

One source said the meeting was "pretty high-level stuff," also attended by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Foreign Minister Tran Chanh Thanh. the informant said the leaders discussed "a whole spectrum of things" for nearly two hours.

Topics included:

- Withdrawal of American troops, how many and how soon.
- A truce, which could mean a total cease-fire, a partial cease-fire or a "cease-fire in place." The latter means all troops would simply stay where they are, without mounting any new operations or containing any old ones.
- How to retaliate if the enemy should attack Saigon during the new negotiations. "In other words," said the source, "would this mean an automatic resumption of bombing North Vietnam?"
- The demilitarized zone.

Ky, supervisor of South Vietnam's Paris delegation, is scheduled to return to Europe early next week.

Informants close to Thieu said the initial withdrawal announcement could specify from 20,000 to 50,000 men without a timetable.

On Thursday, Premier Tran Van Huong was quoted by a spokesman as saying he believes the United States could begin a withdrawal of 10,000 men a month without compromising the war effort.

3 Cosmonauts Are Down Safe

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Soviet cosmonauts landed safely in snow and howling winds today aboard Soyuz 4, Moscow Radio reported.

They landed in the Soviet Union about 1,500 miles southeast of here.

★ ★ ★

Related Story, Page D-3

The ship landed was commanded by Vladimir Shatalov, who was launched into orbit Tuesday. Two days later he was joined in his cabin by Alexei Yeliseyev and Yevgeny Khrunov, who climbed aboard from Soyuz 5 — achieving the world's first crew transfer in orbit.

ONE LEFT 'EXCELLENT'

Radio Moscow said Volynov reported from space after the landing of his comrades that he "feels excellent." There was no immediate report on his plans for a return to earth.

Soyuz 4 docked in orbit yesterday with Soyuz 5, and then separated after transfer of the two crewmen. The feat was reported here as a step toward creation of long-term space laboratories.

The radio broadcast said Soyuz 4 landed in the "predetermined region" at 1:53 a.m. EST, after a "smooth" parachute descent.

The three cosmonauts strapped themselves into their seats and then commander Shatalov made manual adjustments in the craft's position and fired a reentry blast from the ship's rocket.

An opportunity to compete in the national finals and a long list of prizes await the 1969 Michigan Junior Miss to be crowned tomorrow night in Pontiac.

Preliminary talent performances are scheduled tonight and final judging will be held tomorrow night. Both programs start at 8 p.m. in the Pontiac Northern High School auditorium.

★ ★ ★

The winner of the state pageant, sponsored by the Pontiac Area Jaycees, will receive a trip to the national finals in May in Mobile, Ala.

Other prizes include more than $1,000 in scholarships and more than $500 in savings bonds.

4 FROM AREA COMPETE

Four area Junior Misses will be competing for the state title. They are Patti Dell of 201 Draper, Pontiac; Pamela Munger of 2506 Little Trail, Commerce Township; Caryn Everly of 3440 Quick, Holly Township; and Linda Oldershaw of 28425 Peppermill, Farmington Township.

Tickets for both events may be purchased at the door or obtained in advance at Osmun's downtown and in the Tel-Huron Shopping Center and at the C. R. Haskill Studio, 1 University.

Romney Confirmation Near; County Man to Be Top Aide?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asserting firmly that "I will" be the one in the Nixon Administration to speak out on the needs of cities, Michigan Gov. George Romney won unanimous informal approval yesterday to be the next U.S. secretary of housing and urban development (HUD).

RICHARD VAN DUSEN

At the same time, reports were circulating that another Oakland County resident, Richard C. Van Dusen of Bingham Farms, Romney's former legal adviser, would be named the top HUD undersecretary.

Van Dusen, 43, of 32205 Bingham served two terms in Michigan's House of Representatives, 1954-56, and during 1963 was the governor's legal aide.

Romney is expected to receive formal confirmation from the Senate Banking and Currency Committee and the Senate without difficulty after the inauguration of President-elect Nixon Monday.

NO ORDERS FROM MOYNIHAN

The outgoing Michigan governor said he would take no orders from Daniel Patrick Moynihan, who has been named Nixon's assistant for urban affairs.

"I don't visualize Moynihan having operational responsibilities, or telling members of the Cabinet what to do. Nixon has made it clear that there will be no chief of staff in the White House telling us what to do," Romney said.

Romney said as the new leader of HUD, he would strive for a "large scale production of housing, particularly for low- and middle-income families."

He also announced a campaign "to improve the quality of life in this country both in the big cities and in the small towns."

CREDIT SQUEEZE

However, he told the committee that he believes the nation faces a "credit squeeze in the next few months which can adversely affect the amount of housing constructed this year."

He also said he would lead a campaign to get big business interested in the housing industry, to enlist the aid of unions and to push his "sweat equity" concept to give the poor the money and opportunity to build their own houses and contracting businesses in the ghettos.

1,000 Challenge PSH School Site

Voice of Oakland County Action League (VOCAL) last night presented the Pontiac Board of Education with petitions demanding that the board change its decision to locate the district's planned $19-million super high school on Pontiac State Hospital land.

Mrs. Shawlene Stanley, chairman of the VOCAL petition committee, said the petitions contained about 1,000 signatures.

Related Stories, Page B-11

The petition drive started shortly after the school board Nov. 18 selected the hospital site. The other proposed site for the three-school complex was in the Bagley-Orchard Lake roads area, a predominantly Negro section.

VOCAL's petition goal is 10,000 signers.

TO VISIT LEGISLATURE

Mrs. Stanley and her cochairman, Mrs. Carol Sweeney, said they would travel to Lansing today to meet with state legislators.

They said VOCAL is planning to petition the State Legislature to block sale of state-owned Pontiac State Hospital land to the school board. The Legislature must authorize the sale.

Cease-Fire Within 2 Months Possible, Lodge Is Quoted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., quoted Henry Cabot Lodge today as telling senators it was "entirely possible" that the Paris talks could produce a cease-fire agreement within two months and allow withdrawal of U.S. troops to begin from Vietnam.

Sparkman, who had been presiding at a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters as he left that he had the impression Lodge had softened his previous views that the United States could win a military victory.

★ ★ ★

Lodge, named by President-elect Nixon as his chief negotiator at the Paris talks on Vietnam, was said by Sparkman to have agreed to the latter's question that an agreement could be reached soon which would permit the withdrawal of up to 65,000 American fighting men.

Sparkman said he based his question on broadcast reports in this country and cease-fire could be attained in two months.

'NOT A PREDICTION'

"He thought that it was entirely possible," Sparkman said, alluding to Lodge. "He didn't predict that. But he said that if we got a cease-fire he saw no reason why we couldn't withdraw some troops."

Sparkman made it plain, however, that Lodge did not believe that any troops could be brought home until there was an actual cease-fire.

U.S. Hanoi Officials Approve Talk Tables

PARIS (AP) — American and North Vietnamese officials inspected and approved today a set of three tables provided by the French for the opening of the Vietnam peace talks, which are expected to be slow and tortuous.

The four delegations—American, South Vietnamese, North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong —National Liberation Front—assemble tomorrow around a round table about 15 feet in diameter. Their secretarial staffs gather at two rectangular tables aligned with the center of the round table and 18 inches from its edge.

This arrangement broke a deadlock of two months over the shape of the table and speaking order, but it was so vague and ambiguous as to becloud any participant's claim to victory. The vagueness of the arrangement seemed deliberate.

The French government quickly produced the tables— the big round one and the two small ones, each 5½ feet long by 3 feet wide.

Representatives of the American and North Vietnamese delegations arrived separately at the former Hotel Majestic, now the International Conference Center, to give their approval.

It was in the same conference room that the U.S.-North Vietnamese talks opened May 13 last year.

★ ★ ★

When officials first put together the tables specified by the American-North Vietnamese agreement reached yesterday, they found that the whole alignment stretched 23 feet, too long to fit into the conference room parallel to the walls, sources said.

With the agreement of the Americans and North Vietnamese, the secretariat tables were lined up diagonally across the room, which has two doors.

Autopsy Backs Warren Report on JFK—Experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A panel of medical experts which met in secret last year says the autopsy findings on President John F. Kennedy were correct as detailed in the Warren Commission Report and prove he was shot twice from behind.

The report was made public by the Justice Department last night, on the eve of court proceedings on a petition by New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison to gain possession of autopsy photographs and X rays in the hope of proving the President was hit by one bullet fired from in front of him, and another fired at his back.

★ ★ ★

Garrison subpoenaed the material as evidence in the trial of Clay L. Shaw, retired 55-year-old New Orleans businessman charged with conspiring to murder Kennedy. It is to begin Tuesday.

Garrison claims he can use the photographs and X rays to prove at least one of the bullets which struck Kennedy in Dallas five years ago was fired from his front.

PROOF OF CONSPIRACY

This would show that a conspiracy was involved, whereas the Warren Commission concluded Kennedy was shot by one man, Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone.

James Alcock, Garrison's chief assistant, said Thursday night the panelists' report "doesn't satisfy our subpoena. It just seems we're getting the same old slight-of-hand."

★ ★ ★

Garrison's office will press for autopsy documents, including photographs and X rays, at a sessions court hearing in Washington today, Alcock said.

Alcock said of the panel review, "it seems that they just don't have any confidence in the state" and physicians here who might testfy as expert witnesses on the autopsy material.

3 AGENTS SUBPOENAED

Meantime, Garrison subpoenaed three federal agents Thursday to testify at Shaw's trial, apparently in an attempt to prove his conspiracy theory.

Attorneys for Shaw filed their first subpoenas also, including one for William Gurvich, who was Garrison's chief investigator during the probe in 1967 and has said the probe had no basis in fact.

★ ★ ★

Salvatore Panzeca, an attorney for Shaw, said Marina Oswald Porter, of Dallas Tex., widow of Oswald, will be subpoenaed to testify for the defense.

and North Vietnam through the other. The press will be barred.

There is no word yet on just how the delegations will sit around the table. A South Vietnamese spokesman said the allies will sit to one side of the secretariat tables and the Hanoi-NLF group to the other.

★ ★ ★

Although the diagonal arrangement might slightly affect the claim, the Saigon delegation can point to the tables as providing a dividing line between two sides, which it has demanded all along, and even can claim that the conference room is divided in half.

Flowers for Happiness Bestowed by Strangers

ERIE, Pa. (UPI) — Mrs. Mabel Boyer's distrust of strangers is not so great now.

The Erie woman was standing on a downtown street corner Monday when she was approached by a young couple carrying a box. They attempted to strike up a conversation but Mrs. Boyer backed off.

The couple handed her a box and walked away. The woman hesitated a moment and then opened it. Inside was a dozen carnations and a note reading, "To an unknown friend. Hope this makes your day a little happier. Signed Pat and Mike."

Foes of Filibuster Fight On in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite apparent defeat, senators who want to make it easier to choke off filibusters have refused to give up.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told reporters the debate may go on two or three more days.

★ ★ ★

If so, Vice President-elect Spiro Agnew may find himself called on for rulings in the intricate parliamentary battle. He becomes the Senate's presiding officer Monday.

The Senate yesterday refused to sustain a precedent-shattering ruling by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey that a simple majority could shut off debate in the session-opening rules fight.

★ ★ ★

The 53-45 vote to override Humphrey's ruling appeared to be a fatal blow to a bipartisan drive for a less strict cloture rule.

House to Receive New Parochiaid Bill

LANSING (UPI) — A bill that would give $40 million annually in state aid to Michigan's 1,000 parochial schools is slated for introduction in the House next month.

The measure will follow recommendations of a joint legislative committee, which revealed its findings of a six-month study of school aid to parochial schools at a news conference yesterday.

The committee's report recommended an average grant of $125 per pupil for secular education courses. In ghetto areas, $250 for each student was proposed. Financing would come from the state's general fund, supported mainly by state income and sales tax revenue.

State aid to public schools now averages about $250 per pupil.

The money would be distributed through local intermediate school districts, with payment to be made to instructors for teaching subjects like reading, writing and arithmetic. No money would go for religious instruction.

Sen. Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo, chairman of the committee, said the payments would not require an increase in taxes because of an expected $70-million surplus in the state treasury by the end of the current fiscal year. Last year, the state had a $55-million surplus.

Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D-Midland, who said he would sponsor the bill in the House, predicted its approval there, with "little trouble."

The 1968 bill to allow direct payment to parents of children in nonpublic schools died in committee after thousands of letters poured into the Capitol on the issue. At that time, legislators decided they needed more information on the matter and set up the joint study committee.

Air Fare Hikes Tentatively OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has tentatively agreed to a 3.8 per cent increase in domestic airline passenger fares.

The CAB said final approval of the increases, which probably would go into effect March 1, will be made after a "careful analysis of tariffs" to be filed by the airlines.

Six major airlines had applied for fare increases of five to seven per cent. A CAB spokesman said Thursday increases that large are "not warranted at this time."

The six were American, Braniff, Eastern, Northeast, Trans World and United.

The increase tentatively approved would have this effect on ticket-buyers:

- Each first-class fare for a trip of "any distance" would go up $3 one way.
- Certain first-class fares for East-West trips of 800 miles or more in specific markets where fares heretofore have been lower than industry norms would be increased by $1 to $7, depending on the distance.
- Coach fares for flights up to 500 miles would be increased by $2 one way. For flights of 500 to 1,800 miles they would be increased by $1 one way. They would not be increased for flights above 1,800 miles.
- The lines would be permitted to establish a seven-day minimum stay requirement and a seven-day minimum ticket pickup requirement for "Discover America" excursion fares.

Brief Glances at Today's News

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. Willard Wirtz, outgoing secretary of labor, says the federal minimum wage should be increased from $1.60 an hour to $2, and, "Nobody who works should be left out."

Wirtz told Congress yesterday coverage "should be extended to every job within reach of federal authority and provisions should be made for encouraging full coverage, at the same level, through state legislation."

Soviets Getting Flu

GENEVA (AP) — Hong Kong flu is spreading quickly in the Soviet Union, the U.N. World Health Organization reported today.

It said flu has doubled in Moscow. A four-to-five-fold increase was reported in Central Asia.

'DDT Killing Birds'

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Use of the pesticide DDT is threatening extinction of some birds, a University of Wisconsin scientist said yesterday.

Dr. Joseph J. Hickey, a wildlife ecologist, told a state hearing on a petition to ban DDT — a ban that could have nationwide implications — that he is convinced DDT is nearing its extinction of some species such as the peregrine falcon, bald eagle and osprey.

Cruise Ship Is Freed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Lightened by departure of her 471 passengers and 202 of her crew, the British cruise ship Carmania was hauled off a sandbar near the island at San Salvador in the Bahamas today, five days after she ran aground.

The Carmania will go to Newport News, Va., for repairs.

Sirhan Trial Landmark?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Continued argument over a prospective juror opposed to the death penalty raises the possibility the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial may become a landmark case.

Yesterday Deputy Dist. Atty. David N. Fitts renewed his challenge to the seating of Alvina Alvidrez who told the court Wednesday that "under no circumstances whatsoever" could she vote for a death penalty.

Should the juror remain on the panel and Sirhan be convicted of first-degree murder, Deputy Dist. Atty. John E. Howard said, the judge would risk the problem of double jeopardy if the jury that convicted Sirhan had to be replaced by a jury to deliberate punishment.

Decision on Clark's License May Be Reached in Week

A decision may be reached in a week by a state medical board on whether to revoke the license of Dr. Ronald E. Clark, who is serving a 3-to-15-year prison term in the "truth serum" death of a woman office assistant.

Dr. Irvin J. Kurtz, chairman of the State Board of Registration in Medicine, said after a hearing on the question that the 10 board members would study the testimony privately before reaching their verdicts, probably next week.

Clark was brought under guard from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson for the hearing in Detroit, and then returned after the six-hour inquiry.

At the hearing, Clark was charged with acting improperly in treating Mrs. Grace Neil, 43, of Livonia with the truth drug, sodium pentathol.

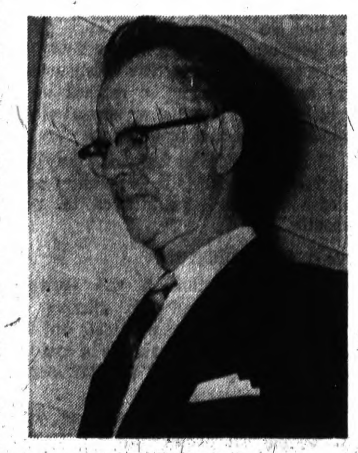

He was convicted of manslaughter last June in the November 1967 death of Mrs. Neil.

His attorney, James Wells, said yesterday that Clark used sodium pentathol "to bring an inexpensive form of psychiatric care to his patients."

Two medical experts testified that sodium pentathol had no therapeutic value. The drug is used at times with other forms of psychiatric treatment.

The Oakland County Prosecutor's Office also is studying Clark's involvement in the death of another part-time employe and patient, Mrs. Hannah Bowerbank, 66, of Detroit.

An autopsy showed recently that there were traces of sodium pentathol in her brain.

Urban Design Plan Slide Showings Set

BIRMINGHAM—John Jickling, chairman of the City Planning Board, will give a slide presentation of the city's urban design plan to members of the Rotary Club Monday at their noon luncheon and to Lions Club members Wednesday, also at noon.

Both groups meet at the Community House.

★ ★ ★

The urban design plan was devised after more than two years of discussion among members of the city commission, planning board, residents and Birmingham's urban design consultants, Johnson, Johnson and Roy of Ann Arbor. The long-range plan details Birmingham's urban planning projects through the 1970's.

YEAR'S PROJECTS

Projects in the design plan to be developed this year include construction of a plaza in front of the municipal building. Birmingham Jaycees will finance the plaza with funds derived from public solicitation.

★ ★ ★

Other immediate projects are an "experimental" block on Henrietta Street with experimental street lighting, street furniture and street design implemented to test public response.

★ ★ ★

The area around the city's new parking deck at Merrill and Pierce will be landscaped.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — "Indian Artists Attitude Toward Art" will be the subject of a lecture by Dr. Amitendranath Tagore Wednesday at 1 and 7:30 p.m. in the Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Tagore is professor of Chinese language and literature at Oakland University.

The lecture is part of a 10-week "Contrasts and Comparisons" series recommended for teachers of art and general studies. The series is designed to help teachers integrate art and culture into regular classroom programs. Guests are welcome at individual lectures at $2.50.

The Cranbrook Institute of Science begins its "Introducing Science" programs for youngsters in grades 1-3 Feb. 1. Sessions are set for four Saturdays with programs at 9 a.m. and 10:30 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Films and practical and personal demonstrations will be featured in the series. Scheduled topics are: Feb. 1, Weather for Beginners; Feb. 8, Life in Tropical Islands; Feb. 15, Expeditions Into Your Own Backyard; and Feb. 22, Baby Animals.

★ ★ ★

Youngsters are encouraged to bring in their own materials pertinent to the topic. The series is free to student members of the Institute, with a 50-cent charge per session for others.

Thieves in Area Take Explosives

A supply of explosives and 36 detonators were stolen in a burglary reported yesterday at Nitroform Inc., 4270 Haggerty, Commerce Township, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The explosive is the industrial wire type 3/16th of an inch thick. It is used in conjunction with the detonators and an electrical charge, investigators said. Eighty feet of the explosive wire is missing.

Both the explosive wire and the detonator are extremely dangerous; deputies warned.

In addition, about $1,000 in tools, including a $500 vacuum pump were taken, deputies said. Entrance was gained by prying open a metal storage building in the rear of the firm, deputies said.

Brief Waterford School Strike Ends

Waterford Township School District custodians staged a walkout for about six hours yesterday afternoon in protest to alleged "work overloads."

After an agreement with school officials, the men returned to work and were on the job today.

★ ★ ★

The walkout was staged by employes represented by Local 1295 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes. About two-thirds of the janitors left school buildings about 4 p.m. yesterday claiming work schedules were too heavy.

After a meeting between school and union officials, the walkout was called off about 10 p.m. A meeting to air complaints will be set later, it was announced.

Senate Panels Eying Nominees' Holdings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Senate committees considering top-level nominations in the new administration grapple today with the question of how far they should go in forcing government officials to dispose of personal financial holdings.

And Gov. Walter Hickel of Alaska, designated the new secretary of interior, was called for a third day of testimony before the Senate Interior Committee, which has been probing deeply into his experience and his views.

* * *

Winton W. Blount of Alabama, head of a large construction firm, appears before the post office committee on his nomination as postmaster general. No difficulties are anticipated.

He is the last of the 12 cabinet nominees called to Capitol Hill for committee questioning prior to Senate voting on confirming the appointments.

APPROVAL EXPECTED

Despite the prolonged interrogation of Hickel, which may extend into Saturday, and to questions over private finances, all 12 nominations are expected to receive speedy approval after Nixon's inauguration Monday.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield indicated Thursday that confirmations might be completed by next Tuesday.

The questions about personal financial holdings involved David M. Kennedy, a Chicago banker named treasury secretary, and David Packard of Palo Alto, Calif., chosen deputy secretary of defense.

The Senate Finance Committee, interviewing Kennedy, was told by one of its members Thursday that Kennedy's stock-trust proposal constitutes "a clear conflict of interest."

LETTER TO COMMITTEE

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said in a letter to the committee that under the trust Kennedy would not be actually divesting himself of stock in the Continental Illinois Bank, which he has headed.

Gore said some of his objections applied also to Packard's plan to place in a trust, from which he would not profit, the $300 million worth of stock he owns in the Hewlett-Packard Co. Since 1947, top Pentagon officials have been required to sell stock holdings.

The Senate Arms Services Committee acts on Packard's nomination today after passing on Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., as secretary of Defense.

Other Cabinet appointees either have, or are due to receive shortly, advance approval of the various Senate committees.

The procedure is unofficial. Nixon will submit the nominations formally Monday and the advance hearing procedure will permit prompt action.

Black-Owned Market Open; 1,000 Pour In DETROIT (AP)—More than 1,000 shoppers jammed the aisles of the Negro-owned Big A supermarket in Detroit Thursday as it celebrated its opening.

"It's something big for our people," said Jessee McGuire, a barber. "If we patronize our own in business we don't have to worry when someone won't serve us."

"I don't mean to be bitter," he added. "Just realistic."

Rev. Roy A. Allen, president of the Detroit Council of Organizations, and the Rev. M. B. Terrell, pastor of the Tried Stone Baptist Church, organized the ownership group.

With a $200,000 loan from the Small Business Administration, they leased the building from Allied Supermarket.

WORD SPREAD

Word of the Negro-owned supermarket was spread by Unearly two score Negro religious leaders.

"I heard about it in my church," said Mrs. Winnie Terry. "I've waited a long time for this day. By owning things, we as a people are treated as equals."

One official estimated opening day sales at $20,000. "That's 20 or 30 per cent more than an average opening day," said Charles Jolitz, board chairman of Allied.

Ranchers Gripe

'Roundup' Tab $15

DAVIE, Fla. (AP) — Big city police departments use a wrecker to tow traffic-blocking autos off the streets at $15 each and, in this South Florida ranching town, a horse catcher leads off stray steeds at the same price.

Davie, with narrow streets, some of them gravel, appears rustic, unlike Fort Lauderdale, its highly developed neighbor to the west. Davie is surrounded by pastures, and livestock abounds.

* * *

Ranchers are upset about Police Chief Richard Nickel's version of the town dogcatcher.

At a City Council meeting called to hear the gripes, rancher Carl Griffin — who paid $34 in bail and feed for two of his wandering ponies — was spokesman for 13 ranchers.

'FREE-LANCER PROFITS'

"I realize something has to be done to keep these animals off the highway," Griffin said. "But the man who picks up the horses should be a city employe, not a free-lance profiting from the fees."

He said an ambitious horse-catcher on the fee system might start cutting fences.

* * *

"How did you set the price at $15, anyway?" Griffin asked Nickel.

"They charge $15 to tow in a wrecked auto from off the highway," the chief said.

"Yeah, but those guys have $10,000 invested in the wrecking trucks. Your man uses a rope," was the reply.

The current horse catcher, Reserve Policeman Les Tucker, also rounds up cattle who break out of their pens, also at $15 a head. He keeps strays in his own corral until their owners show up.

* * *

Mayor Betty Roberts, operator of a plant nursery, told the cuuncilmen stray cows can be bothersome.

"One day there were 150 head of cattle in my nursery. They'd eaten my plants and done $8,000 worth of damage," the mayor said.

PART OF PROBLEM

Nickel said part of the problem was caused by children and weekend cowboys, city dwellers who keep their horses in untended pastures.

Councilmen postponed until Jan. 21 a decision on whether to abolish the horse-catcher job.

Planner Edward Hustoles Explains Program

Renewal Plans Favorably Received

Lapeer Hearing Draws 100

TOM GRAY

LAPEER — More than 100 residents of this city turned out last night to jam the City Commission chambers for a public hearing on a proposed $5.1-million urban renewal project.

No decision was made on the proposal by the commission at the three-hour hearing, which consisted of a model and film presentation by two representatives of Vilican-Leman and Associates of Southfield, the city's planning consultants, and a question-and-answer session.

★ ★ ★

The project, which has been in planning stages for about three years, has encountered opposition from some downtown businessmen.

Last night's crowd, however, was primarily friendly. A show of hands requested by commissioners at the end of the hearing found a sizable majority in favor of the program.

BIG CHANGES ENVISIONED

Radical changes in Lapeer's central business district (CBD), including construction of a parking ramp-business facility, alterations to Nepessing Street (the town's main street), and a loop road system are envisioned by Vilican-Leman.

Early development would include the creation of the loop around the downtown, with several streets converted to one-way traffic, and Fox and Court streets, which intersect Nepessing, being closed off.

★ ★ ★

In addition, buildings along the south side of Park Street and the south side of Clay Street would be removed to provide more parking space.

"At a glance it may appear that the 1975 (first phase) Lapeer Design Plan proposes a huge shopping center surrounded by a sea of parking," the presentation concedes. However, it goes on to point out the necessity of providing the CBD with the "convenience of a shopping center."

PEDESTRIAN MALL

Vilican-Leman's long-range plan (through 1990) projects all streets in the CBD being converted into a pedestrian mall, four parking structures, and creation of a plaza in front of the county courthouse.

The firm's presentation cites problems of congestion and inconvenience in the CBD.

"Nepessing . . . is usually congested with through and internal traffic, impeded by parking vehicles and hazardous intersections for both vehicles and pedestrians," the presentation comments.

Vilican-Leman's answer? Relieve the parking problems with a ramp to provide convenient access to the CBD, and curve Nepessing to allow on-street parking without obstructing traffic.

MOST COSTLY

The parking structure, the most costly portion of the program, drew fire from several residents and businessman, some with businesses in the block where the structure would be constructed.

Tom Beyer, owner of Beyer's Appliance Inc., 323 W. Nepessing, told commissioners, "I think a lot of us are in favor of the program except for this one facet. We agree on the need for parking, but we would rather see the parking spaces made available in some other way."

However, Edward J. Hustoles of Vilican-Leman responded, "Our advice is that the land should not be cleared immediately, that you should wait and see how much demand you have.

"If you find that demand is not increasing as fast as anticipated, you can make changes in the program later," he added.

"If we can study the situation as we go along and turn down the ramp later, I see no reason why we should not go along with the program right now," asserted Don Lyons, of Lyons and Smith, Inc., 194 W. Nepessing.

Another resident, Charles G. Mohl of 448 Fox, concurred: "It seems to me that the consuming public is going to determine what we will have to do in the way of providing parking space. It will be the final determinant of whether our plans will succeed.

"I have an interest in several properties in the downtown area, and I'm trying to decide now whether to stay with Lapeer or go somewhere else where the action is."

Time is an important factor now, the consultants said, because the city can be credited with $214,000 for the existing parking lots which it has built in recent years, provided the urban renewal contract is approved by the end of March.

If the city does not move by then, a three-year time limit on the credits will expire.

★ ★ ★

Cost of the parking ramp is estimated at $1.6 million, which would represent nearly all of the city's contribution to the project.

The consultants suggested that the ramp be financed with bonds, to be paid off through income from use of the ramp by shoppers.

Even if the ramp is not built, though, they added, the city will have to foot bills for added parking space.

Surveys show Lapeer services an area of 60,000 potential shoppers, both in Lapeer County and outside.

With the transition from farming to an extension of suburbia, that number is expected to increase to 80,000 within the next 10 years.

★ ★ ★

"The future is here," Hustoles declared. "There is a strong market here, and the dollars are going to be spent."

GOP Wins County Reins, Dem Caucus Ousts Rebels

By JEAN SAILE

Two defecting Democrats yesterday gave the Republicans a majority on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and turned their own party — which had held a 15-12 edge — into a minority group.

Carl O'Brien and George Grba, both of Pontiac, were removed from the Democratic caucus in a special meeting at the close of yesterday's long and hectic board session.

★ ★ ★

Philip O. Mastin Jr. of Hazel Park, Democratic caucus chairman, said the action had been taken unanimously as a result of what he called both O'Brien's and Grba's "self-interest."

The two apparently were lured to the Republican camp with promises of committee appointments refused them by their own party. Grba became chairman of the finance committee and O'Brien became a member of that committee in yesterday's board actions.

'TREACHERY' CHARGED

Democrats on the floor referred publicly to the exchange of "30 pieces of silver" and "treachery" in connection with the defections.

William M. Richards of Ferndale, chairman of the board's committee on committees, said, "I oppose (the appointments) as a Democrat and a public servant. I do not feel George Grba qualified to serve as chairman of finance. This is totally without honor. I publicly disassociate myself from Grba and O'Brien."

★ ★ ★

Grba, a graduate of Ferris State College where he said he received a degree in accountancy, was chief maintenance inspector for the Oakland County Department of Public Works before seeking office.

Grba told The Pontiac Press yesterday that because one of his friends (whom he refused to identify) had been removed from a committee "through a devious operation," he had become an independent Democrat.

SECOND BERTH

Meantime, O'Brien, a former state senator and former administrative assistant to the Senate Democratic Caucus, retained his legislative committee chairmanship promised to him by Democrats and gained the finance committee berth as well.

He said later, "The best compromise system won. I voted with them (The Republicans) on the basis of principle."

★ ★ ★

He intimated the Democrats had refused to change their stand in an effort to save face for their leader, Mastin.

Mastin accorded no chairmanship or vice chairmanship under the accepted committee structure — was left as a member of four committees.

EQUAL SPLIT

The remaining 10 committee chairmanships (excepting those chaired by O'Brien and Grba) were divided equally among Democrats and Republicans.

★ ★ ★

Republican-chaired committees are: Human resources — Robert Patnales; public works — Harry Horton; aviation and transportation — Wallace Gabler; local affairs — Richard Wilcox; and regional affairs — Delos Hamlin.

★ ★ ★

O'BRIEN

GRBA

★ ★ ★

It was a day of intensive parliamentary maneuvers by Republicans, who with Grba and O'Brien voted in a bloc throughout 17 roll calls.

FILIBUSTER FAILS

A filibuster attempted by Democrats never really got started and was killed for all time when Republicans were able to put through a permanent rule limiting total debate on a question to one hour — little more than two minutes per supervisor.

There were seven calls yesterday for recess or adjournment, none successful, and supervisors worked through the day with no break for lunch.

★ ★ ★

Democrats lost a plea that they at least be allowed to name their own committee members and also lost a chance to publicly chastise O'Brien and Grba.

Said Mastin, "They (the Republicans) will probably live to regret the selection of these gentlemen even more than we do."

FLOOR FIGHT LEADERS

Yesterday's Republican floor fight was headed by Christian Powell (who had already been granted the legislative committee vice chairmanship by Dems) and Paul Kasper.

★ ★ ★

Powell proposed the committee appointments as a minority report — later not allowed as such. His proposal followed a request from Richards that the committee on committees be given more time to complete board restructure.

★ ★ ★

Richards revealed that Democrats had agreed to give Republicans two chairmanships — the aviation committee and public works.

Said Mainland, "They told us they wanted five or nothing."

Tax Loss in Avon?

Cash Reasons Out ABMs

By L. GARY THORNE
Assistant City Editor-Suburban

AVON TOWNSHIP — Officials of this township may have come up with the best reason yet against a local Sentinel antiballistic missile (ABM) base.

It's spelled M-O-N-E-Y.

Through its financial consultants, the township has documented a net loss of more than $73 million in tax revenue over a 30-year period from 1970 to 2000.

This is the total loss in taxes which would be sustained by the township, the school district, the county and any other governmental unit that might be eligible for such revenue. Included is the potential loss to the township's water and sewer intentions (reckoned at $9.8 million).

News Analysis

ONE OF FOUR AREAS

Avon is one of four areas in Oakland County being considered by the Army as potential site for an ABM base and/or its related radar. The site being considered in Avon is at the southwest corner of Rochester and Avon Roads, known as Section 22.

Just south of Rochester, this corner is also proposed for development of another kind, namely, a multimillion-dollar commercial and residential complex. Some 525 acres are available for development.

★ ★ ★

Formerly the Mount Elliott Cemetery property, the land was purchased last September by Sullivan and Smith Builders and Howard Brothers; developers of Fox Hills subdivision in Bloomfield Township and owners of North Park Towers at Northland.

★ ★ ★

Proposed are a shopping center, professional buildings apartments and single-family residences. Reports are that constructon could begin late this year with completion due by 1977.

300 ACRES NEEDED

The Army reportedly needs about 300 acres to stable its nuclear-armed Spartan and Sprint missiles. This obviously would severly cramp the style of any development on the remaining 225 acres, providing of course, a store or apartment doesn't mind an underground silo as a neighbor.

But, what of the tax revenue?

★ ★ ★

The Army doesn't pay taxes. Commercial-residential developments do.

The current controversy has been created largely around the concern that Sentinel program missiles may be unsafe neighbors, although ther is some opionion that a functional-limited ABM system isn't such a good idea to begin with.

★ ★ ★

If money talks, Avon taxpayers might be persuaded to do just about anything — including write their congressman — to salvage $73 million in tax revenue. It well might be a stronger argument than to talk about people being in danger of nuclear accident.

Date Is Reserved for a Walled Lake School Tax Vote

WALLED LAKE — The board of education here has decided to hold April 29 open for a special millage election.

"The school district is considering its financial needs and in case the board decides to hold a special millage election, it wants the date reserved, "explained schools Supt. Dr. George Garver.

★ ★

The board must submit the proposed date to the Oakland County Election Screening committee for final approval.

The board has also voted to request opinions on a proposed name for the new vocational center from those in the school district who will be serviced by the center.

BEING CONSIDERED

The name being considered is "Southwest Oakland Vocational Center." The school is to open in September 1970.

★ ★ ★

Authorization to proceed with development of plans for putting administrative offices in Walled Lake Junior High School has been given by the board. Turning classrooms into office space is being planned in lieu of constructing a new building, according to Garver.

Hamlin PTA Plans Film, Panel on Sex

AVON TOWNSHIP — A film entitled "What Do You Really Know About Sex?" is scheduled to be shown at the Elementary School PTA.

Mrs. Barbara Underwood, an Oakland County health nurse, will be guest speaker at the meeting, and a panel discussion will follow the film.

★ ★ ★

The meeting will begin at 8 at the school, 270 W. Hamlin.

Troy Charter Requirement for Judge Hopefuls Voided

TROY — A city charter provision placing residency requirements on candidates for municipal judge was ruled invalid yesterday by Oakland County Circuit Judge Robert L. Templin.

The decision was requested by William E. Wilson, an attorney, after his nominating petitions for the post were rejected by City Clerk Kenneth L. Courtney.

★ ★ ★

The petitions were turned down because Wilson had only lived in the city 18 months, falling six months short of the residency requirement imposed by the charter.

★ ★ ★

Templin based his opinion on several state laws including one that declared justice of the peace candidates only have to be a resident of a county for three years, and another that equates municipal judges with the justices.

LONG-TIME RESIDENT

Wilson has been a long-time resident of the county.

Templin dismissed the argument presented by City Attorney Stanley Burke that the statute concerning the justices doesn't apply because it no longer is on the books.

★ ★ ★

Templin said that the legislature did remove the law in making court revisions in 1966, but that it was in effect when the charter was originally adopted.

★ ★ ★

Wilson, who has his law practice in Ferndale, and W. D. Bollinger, the city's associate judge, are seeking the office being vacated by Municipal Judge Charles H. Losey, who is retiring.

FEB. 17 PRIMARY

If more candidates file, all their names will appear on the Feb. 17 primary ballot, with the two receiving the highest number of votes going on to the general election on April 7.

There would be no primary if Wilson and Bollinger are the only candidates, and the April election would decide the race.

Wixom Council Member Quits

WIXOM — A long-time council member, Ray W. Lahti, has resigned because of his recent appointment to the Oakland County Board of Social Services.

LAHTI

Lahti of 2240 Nalone told council members that a state statute governing the board of social services forbids his holding any elective position while a board member.

He was one of three appointed to the board recently by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

★ ★ ★

Lahti, 53, was serving his third four-year term on the council. He had also served on two charter commissions and represented Wixom on the County Board of Supervisors.

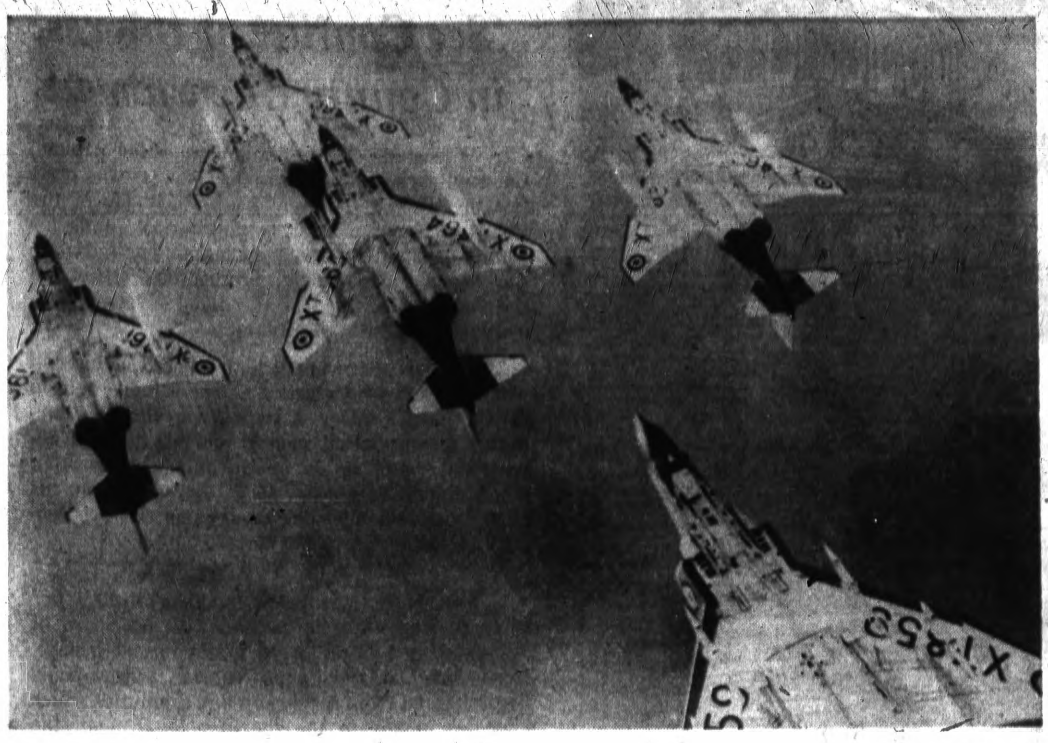

He is a civics teacher at Oak Park High School.

UNSUCCESSFUL CANDIDATE

Lahti was an unsuccessful supervisor candidate last November in district 27.

★ ★ ★

The council has scheduled a public hearing, for 8 p.m. Feb. 11 on Howard Keating's request for rezoning of some 25 acres of land from residential to multiple dwelling. The property in question is off Beck just north of Pontiac Trail.

State Bill Seeks to Save Raises

Legislators Could Pare Their Proposed Hikes

LANSING (UPI) — A bill apparently designed to salvage recommended salary increases for legislators and top state officials was introduced in the Michigan Senate yesterday.

The measure would permit lawmakers by a two-thirds vote in both chambers to pare down pay hikes proposed by the new State Salary Commission without rejecting the whole package.

★ ★ ★

The commission was created last year and is charged with recommending the salary of the governor, lieutenant governor, Michigan Supreme Court justices and legislators.

Earlier, Sens. Emil Lockwood R-St. Louis, and Charles Zollar R-Benton Harbor, introduced a resolution to reject the entire salary package. They said the state cannot afford increases of any kind.

RESOLUTION OF TRIBUTE

Before adjourning until Tuesday at 2 p.m., the Senate passed a resolution of tribute to the Robert G. Pushman family of Fenton.

The Pushmans donated the heart of their son, Robert, 11, who died in an automobile accident, for use in a heart transplant. "In that deed, society is given a living example of love of neighbor," the resolution read.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw, sponsored a bill to exempt senior service centers from all general property taxes. To qualify, a center would have to be nonprofit and organized solely to provide recreation and education to persons 55 or older.

When we guarantee an electric water heater, we guarantee that you get all the hot water you need. That's right. All the hot water you need. Or you get all your money back. And you have a full year to make up your mind about it.

Satisfied? There's more. For large families we have an 80-gallon heater that provides plenty of hot water for about $5.03 per month in normal use. And for not-so-big families a 50-gallon heater that runs about $3.30 per month in normal use.

Still more. Edison's No-Charge Repair Service. No charge for electrical operating parts or labor. Got the picture?

Applaud Stand Against Auto Critics

Ever since the automobile safety controversy which erupted several years ago with charges made by RALPH NADER, top auto executives with few exceptions have been reticent to speak up.

KNUDSEN

The first man to admit this publicly is SEMON E. KNUDSEN, President of Ford Motor Company. In a speech before the Society of Automotive Engineers a couple of days ago, Mr. KNUDSEN said, "I think the silence on our part can be misinterpreted by the public."

We believe this to be true, and admire Bunkie Knudsen for coming to the fore and admitting that he, along with the rest of the top auto executives, has been wrong in taking all the auto criticism lying down.

★ ★ ★

When you act meek, and fail to defend yourself, it is awfully easy for someone to get the wrong impression and assume the statements are correct and that you are at fault.

KNUDSEN pointed out that there were many inconsistencies in the criticism leveled at the industry. And he drew applause when he said: "I think we have the responsibility, to the public and the government, to contest and speak out against proposals that seem to us ill-considered, uneconomic or in any other way not in the best public interest."

We strongly believe the auto industry has not been willfully producing faulty and unsafe cars. Protecting the customers, and giving them what they want, has been uppermost in minds of auto industry engineers. And they have spent untold millions doing just this.

★ ★ ★

In summing up his talk, Knudsen told the audience that the industry has the responsibility to listen to the critics and heed them when they make a good case. But he further said we also have the same responsibility to speak up and set the record straight if they don't.

We couldn't agree more, and applaud BUNKIE KNUDSEN for his forthright stand.

Kennedy Games Inspire Young America

The first Kennedy Memorial Winter Games, scheduled to begin tomorrow at Lake Placid, N.Y., constitutes a fitting memorial to the martyred KENNEDY brothers. Both JOHN and ROBERT—to say nothing of the rest of their family—lay great store by physical fitness, and were responsible for the early 1960s touch-football craze.

The Kennedy Games will be sort of mini-Olympics. Up to 300 athletes from 22 countries will compete in various winter sports.

★ ★ ★

Improved physical education for American youngsters is one of the legacies of the Kennedy administration. In an article in Sports Illustrated, December 1960, President-elect Kennedy said: "We do not want our children to become a generation of spectators. Rather, we want each of them to be participants in the vigorous life."

★ ★ ★

Less than two months later, the President and his brother, then Attorney General, opened a national compaign for physical fitness at a conference in Washington. The President told newsmen that many foreign youths had "moved ahead" of American youngsters in physical capacity. He urged that the Country's schools provide a minimum of 15 minutes daily of vigorous activity for each student.

According to the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports (established under another name by President Eisenhower in 1956), substantial progress has been made.

When 200,000 boys and girls were given standardized fitness tests in 1961, only six of every 10 passed. When similar groups are given the same tests today, eight of every 10 pass.

Moreover, 84 per cent of the Country's high school juniors and seniors now participate in physical activity programs, as compared with only 47 per cent in 1961-62.

★ ★ ★

But the Council points out that much remains to be done, particularly in improving arm and shoulder strength. Tests consistently show that about 30 per cent of 12-year-old boys cannot do even one chin-up.

Who Will Speak for the Republicans?

By RAYMOND MOLEY

The meeting between President-elect Nixon and Republican National Committee Chairman Ray Bliss on Jan. 10 was far from a mere routine affair.

MOLEY

For the announcement by the president-to-be that he wanted Bliss to remain in his present post should put a stop to persistent rumors since the election that Nixon wanted to supplant Chairman Bliss with someone who would more glamorously preach the virtues of the new administration in speeches and public statements. These rumors I am sure emanated from people who coveted the Bliss job.

It seems to be true that Nixon believed that, in the situation in which he will find himself as president, he himself cannot be too partisan a spokesman because he will need the support of a Congress controlled by Democrats.

Nor can the Republican congressional leaders speak for anyone except their legislative supporters. For that reason he feels that there should be someone who can speak for the Republican party as a whole.

★ ★ ★

But the president-elect also realized that the GOP National Committee must be headed by a man who will maintain and strengthen the party in the states and localities in anticipation of the elections in 1970 and 1972.

Thus it is suggested that two quite different functions must be carried out if the Republican party is to have a major role in governing the country in the years to come. One is that of a sort of evangelist; the other the work of a manager. Unquestionably Bliss fits the latter role. He has no desire to be a spokesman.

TRIED BOTH JOBS

In the past, national chairmen of both parties have tried to perform both functions. And since most chairmen have been part-time workers, neither job has been done very well, at least in the years since Will Hays was GOP chairman 50 years ago.

Another aspect of the new situation is that the Republican party can no longer be in opposition since it possesses the great power and prestige of the White House.

★ ★ ★

An excellent suggestion has been made to resolve the problem faced by the president and his party; use the Republican Coordinating Committee through its chairman as the voice of the party.

The coordinating committee was established by Bliss shortly after he became chairman in 1965. It represents all elements of the GOP. Its members include:

- All former Republican presidential candidates who are still living: Goldwater, Nixon, Eisenhower, Dewey and Landon.
- Six officers of the national committee.
- All of the official members of the congressional leadership.
- A number of Republican governors selected by the GOP Governors Association.
- A representative of the Republican State Legislators Association.

Since its creation the coordinating committee chairman has been the national chairman, Ray Bliss.

The suggestion is that this coordinating committee be somewhat restructured with a party spokesman at its head who should be selected by the new president with the assent of Bliss.

This man would have an executive director whose duty would be to maintain continuous contact with the Nixon administration where, to a great degree, party policy would be created.

Bliss would remain as chairman of the national committee and while carrying on the normal activities of the office he should somewhat restructure his organization by appointing a number of regional directors on a full-time, paid basis.

In The Eye Of The Beholder

David Lawrence Says:

Government Marking Time Now

WASHINGTON — As one administration comes to an end and another takes office for four years, the government doesn't exactly stand still, but it loses a lot of momentum.

LAWRENCE

Appointed officials are getting ready to leave their jobs, their tasks often unfinished, and a great many day-to-day decisions are bypassed pending word from the newcomers as to what policies are to be applied.

It is difficult to estimate the loss of time involved in a change of government — the inevitable delays and the perplexity of career officials, who try to avoid making positive answers to the public until the desires of the new administration are formulated.

★ ★ ★

There are, of course, many phases of governmental operation which are covered by specific provisions of law, and these can be carried on without much difficulty.

But the big departments of government have not been functioning normally for several weeks due to the coming transfer of the presidency next Monday, and the ensuing change of the top men in departments and executive agencies.

Many constructive things have happened during the transition period, as outgoing officials have spent much time with some of the individuals designated for high offices in the new administration.

MOSTLY LISTENING

But even the men who have been selected for the Cabinet can hardly do much more than listen while the incumbent officials explain the duties of their respective offices.

The important decisions will come only when the new president has met with his Cabinet, and major policies have been discussed and adopted.

★ ★ ★

Probably the most complex of all activities is the handling of governmental expenditures and the making of plans for further appropriations.

Many of the appropriations are designed to cover more than a single year, and sometimes not all of the funds intended for a 12-month period are expended.

Also, pressures begin to be applied by members of Congress to see that money is spent in their respective areas

.PRESENTS A PROBLEM

This presents a problem for every administration — how to maintain friendly relations with the members of the Senate and House and yet apportion public funds equitably among the different states of the union.

By next Monday, a large number of persons who are staying on in the federal government will heave a sigh of relief, for they will no longer be torn by the uncertainty of serving their bosses of the last eight years and pleasing the new officials who soon will be telling them how to do their jobs.

Inside the government, inauguration day will be more like New Year's Day as the members of the old regime depart and a new team comes into power.

"Lippincott has published a book of mine based on a study of what probably afflicted some of the better known figures of the Old Testament," said Dr. Robert Greenblatt, the groom's distinguished father, who is head of the department of endocrinology at the Medical College of Georgia.

"Goliath, for example, open and shut case of pituitary gland malfunction," he said. "All giants suffer from some form of it. The sufferer is deprived of lateral vision. It must have been easy for David to approach him, then step to one side, which removed him from Goliath's view, and then hit him with that slingshot."

'NOT MADE RIGHT'

"I see you ordered a martini," a lady across the table called over to me. "It's not made right. Nobody knows how to make a martini right except Horace. He's my husband. He's somewhere here but I haven't seen him for four hours. Horace uses only marinated ice."

★ ★ ★

"I want you to put a blast on a couple of organizations for me," said a lady with a highball glass of the host's Moet. She took a swig and asked for more. "The Eye Bank tells me they don't want my eyes when I die. Did you ever hear of such a rude thing. They said sorry, we don't take eyes from people who have cancer. Write something mean about them."

"Now you take Esau," Dr. Greenblatt said. "I think I've traced his problem. It was both glandular and psychotic. He had a phobia about starving. Why else would he sell his birthright for a mess of pottage?"

"If Horace comes back he'll show you how to marinate ice and you'll never again drink one like you've got now."

REJECTED AGAIN

"I'm still shaking with anger over the way the Eye Bank people treated me when guess who calls? It's the Burn Bank. I willed my skin to them some time ago, before the cancer. Now they say they don't want my skin. Give both of them hell. When will the article appear?"

"Nobody will ever convince me that Saul, later St. Paul, suffered from epilepsy . . ."

It seemed like a good time for another martini. Even an unmarinated one.

Strike Against Life

Chicago Tribune

Judge Robert Hunt of the Peoria county Circuit court has sentenced a union business agent to 60 days in jail and payment of a $1,500 fine for defying his injuction restraining a strike by employes at a county-administered nursing home.

The business agent, Harold Benedict, pulled 88 union members out of a nursing home with 236 patients whose average age is 80. Police action was required to open Benedict's picket line to allow supervisors and relatives of patients access to the patients, most of whom are bedridden.

A member of the committee administering the nursing home said: "This strike endangers the life of every person in the home. It's despicable. It's a strike against human life."

★ ★ ★

After five days, Judge Hunt stayed his temporary injunction, pending further wage negotiations. On Thursday, Judge Hunt sentenced Benedict, fined the union $400 a day for its defiance of the temporary injunction, and fined 13 workers $50 each. He also issued a permanent injunction prohibiting picketing at the nursing home, and told union members to get on with the work or resign. They voted to do the latter.

★ ★ ★

A demonstration that public employes cannot necessarily count on resort to illegal strikes to get whatever salary demands they care to make will have a salutary effect thruout the state. It will be especially significant for Chicago public school teachers.

Rural Vote

The Hillsdale Daily News

The political influence of the American farmer is diminishing. Recently assembled information indicates that out of 435 members of the House of Representatives 47 members will come from districts where farmers make up more than 20 per cent of the voters.

★ ★ ★

The agrarian population declines as population in cities increases. It is estimated that as a result of this shift in population suburban and urban voters have an influence that can be rated at approximately 10 to 1.

A quarter of a century ago the farm vote was a major factor in national elections. With voters increasingly concentrated in cities, the rural vote is less a factor at the voting booth.

Voice of the People:

'See Conflict of Interest in County Government'

At least six of the 26 members of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors are lawyers who practice in Oakland County. The primary job of the Board of Supervisors is to appropriate funds for county departments and agencies. Among these are the sheriff's department, prosecutor's office and the courts. One-third of the judges' salaries are included in these appropriations.

It seems there might be a conflict of interest when lawyers who practice before a judge help to set the judge's salary. A lawyer who sits on a committee appropriating money for the sheriff's department could be in an advantageous position when defending a case. If at the same time his committee also allocates money for the Prosecutor's Office, justice might suffer.

★ ★ ★

This conflict of interest can be resolved in one of three ways: lawyer members of the Board of Supervisors could be forced to discontinue practicing before Oakland County courts; lawyers could be prohibited from serving on any committee which allocates money to the sheriff's department, the prosecutor's office or the court system; or we could make the office of County Supervisor a well-paid, full-time job so that these lawyers would not be confronted with any conflict of interest. In any event, immediate action must be taken.

Variety of Definitions for 'Democratic'

According to the dictionary definition, "democratic" has a variety of meanings. The prevalent one is "social equality and rule by the people." The one we learned in school was "decentralization of government and local self determination." Private enterprise, much harassed by labor costs, material costs, shipping costs and wage and hour and minimum wage laws would welcome the latter interpretation.

Labor costs are due to more reward for less service rendered, as are the other costs. Some laws are justifiable to prevent labor exploitation by unscrupulous operators but we should prevent free enterprise from being exploited, too. Mergers occur in order to stay in business. It is conceivable that a big depression or wild inflation could bring demand for federalization of these big outfits. This would result in government being our employer, our banker and our retailer. This is very cozy, but what would it do with our political freedom?

Question and Answer

Why is the speed limit 50 m.p.h. on Perry Street in front of two schools (Pontiac Northern High and Madison Junior High)? Hundreds of children must cross this dangerous street twice daily. Why isn't a cross-over built? A year ago the answer was "when the State has enough funds."

WORRIED MOTHER

REPLY

You'll be happy to know Traffic Engineer Koren says a very recent study was done by the State Highway Department from Wide Track to Walton. The recommendation is to reduce the speed limit from 50 to 45 between Montcalm and Giddings and from 40 to 35 between Glenwood and Montcalm. The answer for the crosswalk is the same. Other projects scheduled years ago have priority. But a traffic light was installed at that location specifically for the children. It allows ample time for safe crossing and should help relieve the problem. Mr. Koren says he'd like to see a crosswalk go up tomorrow, but the highway dollar is very hard to come by.

Because it's a special day set aside to honor the labor force. Originally observed in 1882 with a parade by Knights of Labor, it was first established as a legal holiday in 1887, and is now observed by all states and possessions.

Red Criticism Won't Halt U.S. Troop Airlift

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — Giant Starlifter jets will land 5,000 combat-equipped U.S. troops in West Germany next week for maneuvers near the border of occupied Czechoslovakia. East bloc nations have dubbed the airlift "highly provocative."

U.S. officials say the military maneuver, called Reforger 1, has no connection with the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia last August. But it is the first massive U.S. demonstration of combined air and ground power in Europe since 1963, and the date of the exercise was moved up from later this year.

★ ★ ★

Six years ago propeller planes lifted the 15,000-man 2nd Armored Division from Texas to Europe in little over 63 hours. Reforger 1 is not aimed at speed however, but on precision.

"We will not race the clock," said Gen. James H. Polk, commander of the U.S. Army European forces. "The emphasis will be on the orderly disposition of forces, procedures and techniques of deployment."

12,000 INVOLVED

The exercise involves 12,000 Army troops, most of them from the 24th Infantry Division, and 3,500 Air Force personnel. Most of the main body of troops will be flown to Nuernberg from Forbes Air Force Base, Kan., arriving Monday and Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

From there they will head to a test-firing and maneuver site at the Grafenwoehr training area, 25 miles from Soviet occupation troops guarding the Czechoslovak-West German border. The maneuvers will take place Jan. 29-Feb. 4.

★ ★ ★

The American troops returned from Germany to the United States last spring and summer under a dual-basing system drawn up by former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. Under this concept, 35,000 troops were withdrawn from Europe to save about $75-million a year in foreign exchange.

But these troops remain committed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization defense system. Their heavy equipment is stored in Germany, they return regularly for training and they are to fly to Germany in the event of an emergency.

'TESTING CONCEPT'

"We're not putting on a dramatic maneuver to impress visitors," said Polk. "We're testing a concept . . . to see if an airlifted unit, married up with its equipment, can accomplish the standard mission of a unit in Europe."

The Kremlin and its Warsaw Pact allies see it differently. The official Soviet news agency Tass said: "The NATO rulers are deliberately aggravating international tension with all the dangerous consequences flowing therefrom." Other East bloc nations had similar comments.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. Army chief of staff, brushed aside the Soviet charges, contending that Grafenwoehr was the only training area suitable for such large scale exercises in West Germany. Westmoreland visited the 90-square-mile reservation this week.

Although U.S. strategists hope Reforger 1 will become a blueprint for future military exercises in Europe, concern about its implications is not limited to the Communist bloc.

Some Western politicians have reasoned that if an emergency does arise and the airlift tactic is used, it could trigger a war.

Proponents of the "Big Lift" hope it will be used so frequently that it will come to be regarded as routine rather than provocative.

Plug for 'M' Irks Trustees

Romney View Rankles MSU

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The impending change in the governor's office is not disturbing the Michigan State University trustees who expect incoming Gov. William G. Milliken to be more receptive to the school's educational and financial needs than was Gov. George Romney.

The board of trustees of Michigan State Thursday expressed a general disatisfaction over statements made by Romney last week.

★ ★ ★

In a farewell statement last week Romney rankled MSU officials by urging the Legislature to give principal consideration to rival Michigan in allocating tax dollars for the 1969-70 fiscal year.

Romney said it would "be a tragedy if, in our effort to improve all our colleges and universities, we were to deny the University of Michigan the extra financial support required to maintain its margin of excellence and its well-earned world wide reputation."

MSU Trustee Warren Huff of Plymouth, a Democrat, reacted angrily to the governor's remark at the monthly meeting of the trustees.

"I am deeply dismayed and troubled that we have a governor who stands up and says that this (Michigan State) is a second, class institution," Huff said.

★ ★ ★

MSU President John A. Hannah urged the trustees not to get "unduely excited" about Romney's statement since he no longer will wield the power of the executive office.

Trustees' Chairman Don Stevens of Okemos said he looks for Milliken to view higher-education priorities different than Romney.

BROADER LOOK

"We have a new governor who takes a broader look at the educational picture and puts more time into studying the contributions Michigan colleges make," said Stevens, a Democrat.

"This is something Gov. Romney never did."

Stevens said the major problem facing MSU in the 1969 legislative session is adequate appropriations, including funds to expand the medical school from a two-to four-year program.

In matters of action, the trustees reelected Stevens, 54, a labor union representative, as chairman through 1970. He has served on the board since 1957.

'Shocking' AF Memo Revealed by Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., coaxed an Air Force official into insisting that no retaliation was planned against an efficiency expert who revealed a $2-billion Pentagon error in estimating the cost of a new plane, then dramatically read into the record a secret memo detailing three ways to fire the man.

The senator, chairman of the joint economy subcomittee and a persistent critic of Defense Department procurement practices, called the memo "the most shocking retaliation against a public servant I have seen in the 11 years I have been in the Senate."

★ ★ ★

Proxmire said it "directly contradicted" pledges by Air Force officials that no action would be taken against the efficiency expert, A. Ernest Fitzgerald, who disclosed the $2-billion error in earlier testimony before the subcommittee.

The incident occurred Thursday during a subcommittee hearing with Robert H. Charles, assistant secretary for installations and logistics, in the witness chair. Charles, unruffled, said the memo merely outlined "various things that could happen under certain conditions."

COST IS AT ISSUE

At issue is the cost of the C-5A, a giant jet transport plane built for the Air Force by Lockheed Corp. Fitzgerald, deputy for management systems to the assistant secretary for financial management, testified before the Proxmire subcommittee last November that development of the plane had cost $2 billion more than the Pentagon had bargained for.

Nonetheless, the Pentagon demonstrated its satisfaction Thursday with the airplane, if not the bargain.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force announced, while Assistant Secretary Charles was on the stand, that it would buy 23 more planes from Lockheed at a cost of $541 million.

Proxmire opened the subject of Fitzgerald's status by reminding Charles that the efficiency expert had been stripped of civil service protection 12 days after his original testimony.

'COMPUTER ERROR'

Charles replied that Fitzgerald wasn't entitled to civil service status in the first place, and had gotten it only because of a "computer error."

"No further action is planned against Fitzgerald?" asked Proxmire.

None, replied Charles.

★ ★ ★

Whereupon, Proxmire read him a memo entitled "Background Information Relating to the Fitzgerald Case," dated Jan. 6, addressed to Secretary of the Air Force Harold Brown and signed by Brown's administrative assistant, John Lang.

The memo said Fitzgerald could be removed from government service three ways:

- By bringing him up on charges in order "to promote the efficiency of the service;" a step not otherwise explained.
- By making a "reduction in force" government terminology meaning to abolish the job. The memo noted that Fitzgerald hadn't come to the Pentagon from any other government position and, therefore, "could neither 'bump' nor displace anyone" else.
- By converting Fitzgerald's assignment to a civil service career classification, and thus requiring that it be filled by competitive examination. The third method didn't appeal to Lang, who wrote:

"This action is not recommended since it is rather underhanded and would probably not be approved by the Civil Service Commission."

★ ★ ★

Assistant Secretary Charles resisted all efforts by Proxmire to get him to say that the memo proved the Air Force planned to fire Fitzgerald. He conceded only that "the wording was unfortunate."

Nor would Charles agree to Fitzgerald's original contention that cost of the original 58 airplanes ordered from Lockheed exceeded estimates by $2 billion. The "over-run," he insisted, was only $882 million.

Romney Riles Cavanagh

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh reacted angrily to a claim by Gov. George Romney Thursday that urban renewal programs led to an overcrowding of Detroit's 12th Street area and in turn sparked the 1967 riots.

★ ★ ★

Romney told the U.S. Senate Banking and Currency Committee in Washington that if urban renewal programs continue to push people from their homes, that guerrilla warfare could hit the cities.

★ ★ ★

In testimony regarding Romney's impending Senate confirmation as the new secretary of housing and urban development in the Nixon Administration, the governor said both highway land clearing and urban renewal programs overloaded the 12th Street area, the center of Detroit's riot.

Contacted in Detroit, Cavanagh commented quickly, "We had no urban renewal programs of any kind within three or four miles of the 12th Street area.

"You can't say urban renewal was the cause of the riot," Cavanagh said, adding "You might blame it for the (population) density in the area.

"That's the first time I've ever heard anyone suggest urban renewal was the prime source of the riot," the mayor said.

German Pulls Cheap Energy From Plants

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Literally by taking a leaf from plant life, a West German scientist hopes to produce almost unlimited, cheap energy for mankind.

This is the aim of Prof. Helmut Metzner, a 43-year-old Tuebingen University biochemist whose already-achieved "Metzner process" has created a stir in scientific and industrial circles.

★ ★ ★

The "Metzner process" amounts to a duplication of the first phase of plant photosynthesis, the mysterious method by which green plants produce food for themselves out of water, carbon dixoide from the air and sunshine.

In the first phase of photosynthesis, plants break down the water into its component gases, oxygen and hydrogen.

CHLOROPHYLL ONLY

Scientists can do this too by using expensive electrical energy to break down the water. But the "Metzner process" uses only chlorophyll — the material that gives plants their green color — light and cheap chemicals, silver chloride and a dye called janus green.

The point is that once you can break down water into oxygen and hydrogen, then you should be able to recombine the gases in a fuel cell like those which provide electrical energy for American spaceships.

★ ★ ★

The giant West German chemical firm Badische Anilinund Soda Fabrik (BASF) has taken an interest in the "Metzner process." It is reported to have purchased an option on rights to explore its commercial application, though neither BASF nor Metzner will go into details of the arrangement.

★ ★ ★

Metzner said he stumbled on his process while attempting to improve on an experiment by two University of California scientists who succeeded in producing plant sugar in a laboratory.

SPINACH MASHED

The Berkeley scientists, James Bassham and R. G. Jensen, extracted chloroplasts — the tiny bodies in plants that contain chlorophyll — by mashing spinach leaves and spinning the mash in a centrifuge.

Mixed with water and carbon dioxide and exposed to bright light, the chloroplasts began manufacturing sugar.

★ ★ ★

But chloroplasts die quickly outside plants.

"I was looking for a stable substitute for chloroplasts," Metzner explained, and conceded that his long-range goal of producing sugar in the laboratory probably is still far away.

★ ★ ★

In almost a year of experimenting in his attic laboratory at home, he achieved only the first phase. Now he needs a better lab and more money to go on. When Metzner let it be known he was considering transferring his work to the United States if help was not forthcoming, the West German Science Ministry announced hurriedly that it was looking into ways of increasing financial support for him.

No Candidates

EAST JORDAN (AP) — The deadline is Jan. 20, but so far none of the 2,500 residents of East Jordan has filed a petition seeking a position on a city charter commission. The community, located in Charlevoix County, voted overwhelmingly in the November election to form a nine-member commission to rewrite the antiquated city charter, with at least five members to be elected. No reason has been given for the sudden lack of interest.

Don't Count Me Out Yet, Says Humphrey in Farewell

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sounding more like a candidate than a college professor, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey made his last speech before leaving office and said, "Don't count me out . . . I'm not done yet."

The statement Thursday, to 350 members of the Greater Miami Jewish Federation attending an Israel fund raising rally, drew roaring applause.

★ ★ ★

"I'm a young 57," Humphrey said, "and I plan to spend the next four years taking to the countryside and modernizing the Democratic party."

When asked about possible future candidates in the party, Humphrey mentioned Sens. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, then added: "Don't rule me out."

REGRETS LEAVING

He said that even more than losing the presidential election to Richard M. Nixon, he regretted having to leave public office.

"I've been in elected office for 23 consecutive years," he said. "When I leave, it won't be the easiest thing in my life."

★ ★ ★

"The years since I was elected mayor of Minneapolis have been a special joy," he said, "and I can't help but be sad about going out to pasture—even temporarily."

Humphrey said he made his last official speech before the federation "to repay a favor to my dear friends." He told his audience that the world will never know lasting peace "until the independence and sovereignty of Israel is recognized and respected."

RULING NOT SUSTAINED

He spoke several hours after the Senate refused, 53 to 45, to sustain his precedent-shattering ruling that a simple majority could cut off debate on the anti-filibuster rule at the opening of a Congress.

Asked about this, he said, "The vote represents progress. I felt my ruling met the requirements of the Constitution. I believe that under the democratic procedures of the Senate you should limit debate for the purpose of action."

★ ★ ★

Humphrey will take a teaching post at the University of Minnesota and Macalester College and said he plans a speaking tour at colleges across the country.

He wouldn't say whether he planned to seek reelection to the Senate, where he sat for 16 years before becoming vice president.

WISHES NIXON WELL

As for President-elect Nixon, Humphrey said he wishes him well and said the two immediate problems he must face are Vietnam and the Middle East.

"Either could start World War III," he said.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey said he will be in the crowd when Nixon raises his hand Monday to take the oath of office.

"When a new president stands on the steps of the Capitol to take the oath of office, this is more than just one man—because he signifies that our democratic covenant has been renewed," Humphrey said, "that our faith in the democratic process is intact and that we are fundamentally united and free people."

★ ★ ★

The smiling vice president appeared rested and fit and wore a rose in his lapel.

"It's a red rose of Florida," he quipped, "instead of the yellow rose of Texas."

FAREWELL SPEECH — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in making his last official speaking appearance at a Jewish community fund-raising dinner in Miami last night, said microphones always scare him, especially if they are recording what he says. Retiring from 23 years in public office, he said, "Don't count me out yet."

Man Accused of Bid to Hire Killer of Son

MUSKEGON (UPI) — District Judge Edward C. Farmer yesterday concluded a preliminary hearing and took under advisement charges against Nick Kuris, a wealthy Muskegon businessman, who is accused of attempting to hire a gunman to kill his adopted son, Ralph.

★ ★ ★

Farmer will decide, possibly Friday, whether to bind over to Circuit Court for trial the 79-year-old Kuris, who operates a bowling alley and has a theater and various other investments in Muskegon.

Kuris allegedly offered $30,000 to have his adopted son slain. One of the witnesses was Deputy Sheriff Robert Spencer, a former Muskegon policeman, who purportedly received several kill-for-pay offers from Kuris.

★ ★ ★

Ralph Kuris, the adopted son and alleged target of the purported assassination plot, was a war buddy of the defendant's son, Nick Kuris, who was killed in action in Europe in World War II. Ralph was later adopted by the Kuris family.

Immolation Try a Sign of Riled Czech Youth

PRAGUE (AP) — The action of a student who set himself on fire to protest Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia aroused Prague students today and there were reports that more self-immolations were planned.

Jan Palach, 21, a history and political economy student at Charles University, was reported by his doctor to have suffered "very serious burns, but it cannot be excluded entirely that he will survive in view of the fact that he is a young, strong boy."

He poured gasoline over his body and set himself afire Thursday in Wenceslas Square, and a witness said, "He started running, burning from head to toe."

Students said a group of students reportedly are willing to burn themselves in an order determined by drawing lots and that Palach carried a letter saying the next immolation would take place within 10 days, and the immolations would continue until the Russians leave.

LIST OF DEMANDS

Several government leaders —including National Front Chairman Evzen Erban and Czech Premier Stanislav Razl —met hastily with student leaders at a session that lasted into the early morning hours. Students who attended said a list of student demands was prepared for the government.

They told leaders that students are observing a promise to avoid open conflict but that Palach's act was motivated by political protest.

The students told the politicians that to avoid a crisis the government must do nothing to denigrate Palach's act, for example by saying he was deranged.

The government representatives were expected to take the message back to the Communist party central committee, which convened again today.

The committee recessed Thursday night without completing a session that had been scheduled for one day. Eighteen speeches have been delivered, with 18 more on the agenda.

A trolley dispatcher who used his coat to smother flames on Palach's body told the youth newspaper Mlada Fronta the boy was running "burning from head to toe and shouting, 'Put your coat on me!' "

Oregon Man Active Again After Using This Pile Treatment

Treatment Shrinks Piles, Relieves Pain In Most Cases

Eugene, Oregon Mr. Chuck Gray of Eugene states: "Thanks a billion for Preparation H. Until Preparation H, I had almost run the gamut of preparations. But with Preparation H, I'm active again."

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases—Preparation H® actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced. There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

'Will Screen Stories'

Hubbard Raps Reporting

DEARBORN (UPI) — Mayor Orville Hubbard, the colorful and controversial mayor of this all-white Detroit suburb, announced yesterday he was through with interviews unless newsmen let him correct their copy.

"We are fed up with careless reporting," Hubbard said.

★ ★ ★

Hubbard, now in his 28th consecutive year as mayor, sent interview application forms to area news media. The forms, to be signed by a reporter before any interview, pledged the reporter to submit a resulting story to Hubbard for "necessary revisions of any inaccuracies."

Hubbard insisted he took this unusual step in the interests of accuracy, and had no intention of "striking out unfavorable quotes or comments from any other sources."

'FACT CHECK' SYSTEM

He said he agreed with auto pioneer Henry Ford's statement that "history is bunk." Hubbard said his "fact check" system with reporters would be similar to one operated by Ford in the 1930s.

What roused Hubbard's ire was an article in the New York Times Sunday Magazine Jan. 12 by Detroit Free Press reporter William Serrin, who wrote the story as a free-lancer during the 1968 newspaper strike.

★ ★ ★

The day following the article's publication, NAACP Director Roy Wilkins called Hubbard "the meanest man in race relations."

★ ★ ★

Hubbard contended the story contained wrong facts, wrong dates, a wrong name, a misspelled name and an incorrect salary. He denied he had opposed the construction of Oakwood Hospital, and objected to "liberally sprinkled profanities throughout."

On Fashionable Harley Street

London Doctors Face Eviction

LONDON (AP) — Hundreds of London's leading physicians face the loss of their consulting rooms in fashionable Harley Street, the address every British doctor would like to have.

Eviction notices have been served on surgeons and physicians occupying a row of 18th century houses at the northern end of the street. A London company plans to retain the present building fronts but back them with new apartments and offices.

For decades Harley Street has been a byword for medical excellence and high fees. When the demolition gangs move in next July, between 200 and 400 consultants are likely to be displaced.

Some have already moved out of the street and into new premises. They include Sir Ronald Bodley Scott, physicians to Queen Elizabeth II, and Dr. Roger Bannister, who ran the world's first four-minute mile.

WILL GIVE UP PRACTICES

Other doctors, particularly those near retiring age, say they will give up their practices and concentrate on hospital work. Finding other rooms in the Harley Street area has proved too difficult.

Dr. Max Odens, a gland specialist, told a reporter: "I shall probably have to leave Harley Street and will probably lose patients because of it. Many of my patients are film and theatrical people who are impressed by the address."

★ ★ ★

"Accommodation in this district is very scarce, and excessive rents are being asked," said Dr. Roland Lewis, an ear, nose and throat specialist. "I now pay 375 pounds ($900) a year to rent a room for the whole week but I am being asked to pay the same rent for just one morning a week."

Rebuilding of the old houses has been in the wind for more than five years. Recently a contract for redevelopment was granted to a London company by the Crown Commissioners, who own the property.

A spokesman for the British Medical Association commented: "There is great concern in the area about this redevelopment. The BMA is actively investigating what can be done."

LA Is Chief Indian City

LOS ANGELES (UPI)— The city of Los Angeles has the largest concentration of American Indians of any metropolitan area —a population estimated at around 45,000 and constantly growing.

By the year 1970, the migration of Indians from economically deprived reservations is expected to draw more than half of the country's 600,000 Indians to urban centers — Los Angeles and Chicago particularly.

★ ★ ★

Many of those in Los Angeles are grouped in the Cudahy-Bell Gardens industrial area where jobs for unskilled laborers are available. The Bureau of Indian Affairs has a vocational training program which has an average of 500 young persons enrolled.

Swedish Road Toll Up

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden's traffic accident rate is rising again after months of motoring caution that followed a switch from left-hand to right-hand driving.

The changeover in Europe's most motorized country — one car for every four persons — was made smoothly Sept. 3, 1967. The Swedes called it H-Day for hoeger, meaning right.

★ ★ ★

The highway death rate dropped sharply.

"Swedish motorists, with left-hand reflexes conditioned by years of driving, seemed to adapt well to the new rules, including more strongly enforced speed limits and other safety measures.

URBAN INCREASES

The lower accident rate carried over into 1968. But by last fall the rate climbed alarmingly, particularly in the cities, safety officials said. Confusing signs about right of way drew part of the blame.

In about 17,000 recorded traffic accidents during 1968, more than 24,000 people were killed or injured, according to preliminary statistics. The 1966 total was 23,000, the 1957 total 22,000.

★ ★ ★

Deaths in 1968 were estimated at about 1,200 against 1,077 in 1967. But this was below the figures for the three preceding years.

Scientists studying accident patterns have noted a lot of head-on collisions, attributed to left-hand reflexes and a lack of proper schooling.

DEPARTMENTS FEUD

Lars Skioeld, who masterminded the switchover, has followed up as director of a new national traffic safety agency.

Skioeld had a run-in with the minister of communications last fall. He charged the minister with meddling in the work of Skioeld's department by sudden shifts in speed limits without consultation and hesitancy about supplying the necessary funds for the traffic safety work.

★ ★ ★

Swedish researchers are pushing ahead work on an electronic system to prevent wheel-locking, and on polarized auto lights and electrical cars.

The government's obligatory control and test agency, which annually tests all cars more than three years old, provides statistics on common automobile faults.

SPECIAL TRACKS

Stockholm experts have been advocating more special tracks for drivers to practice safety-first driving, especially in winter conditions, more effective police supervision on the roads and more intensified driver education courses in the schools.

Junior Editors Quiz on AUTOS

QUESTION: What were the first American cars like?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Our artist has lined up a group of older cars in a sequence which will give you an over-all idea of American automobile development.

The first gasoline-powered cars were originated in Europe in the 1860s. The first successful American gasoline car was the Duryea of 1893. It had wagon-type wheels and lights and was a true "horseless carriage."

The breakthrough of American carmaking came in 1909, when Henry Ford's Model T, produced by mass production methods, began rolling off the assembly line in great numbers. This remarkably low-priced but efficient car is said to have "put America on wheels."

The Chevrolet of 1913 looks more modern, with its curved rear fenders. The Pontiac, in 1926, shows the closed-in sedan body with glass windows, but cars were still high and boxy looking.

The Mercury of 1939 shows a decided streamlined trend, away from the box-like look. The Kaiser used the longer, lower look around 1947. With the Edsel of 1958, cars were still lower and wider, but had larger windows.

Barbra Called 'Zuper' Star by Leading Man Montand

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD — Barbra Streisand has a new fan, Frenchman Yves Montand, who is going around behind her back saying, "She is a real zuper star like Hollywood had in the past . . . Garbo, Brando and Humphrey Bogart."

WILSON

The fact that he's her leading man in "On a Clear Day" might influence his opinion. But he seemed sincere when he came to lunch at Paramount on a cold, rainy day—which Californians call "a high mist."

"She makes one picture, and boom — all over the world they know she's a great star," Montand said.

Barbra is in Europe, for the Paris and London premieres of "Funny Girl." She and Montand filmed the opening scenes of their picture before she left. He is a psychiatrist who hypnotizes a girl student.

Barbra, who is in the class, flops to the floor, also hypnotized, and that's how it all begins.

"She is also a real woman, I hope," Montand said.

"You hope?" we asked.

"My English is not so good. I mean, I know."

He meant, he said, "She is intelligent, she has a brain."

★ ★ ★

I find opinion here switching back and forth about the Oscars. The studio people feel strongly that Barbra could win for "Funny Girl," though believing it a neck-and-neck or nose-and-nose race between Barbra, Joanne Woodward and Mia Farrow, and maybe Katherine Hepburn.

Friday, they will go on to Thunderhead Mountain where they will meet Waterford Kettering, and Charlevoix High teams.

'GOOD EXPERIENCE

"Our teams will be up against rough courses and tough competition," said WTH ski coach Alfred Cuthrell, "but it will be good experience for them. Kids always seem to ski better when they come back after a trip like this."

★ ★ ★

Girls being considered to go on the trip are Laurie Garant, Laurie Knight, Mary Jo Kosinski, Debbie Lundgren, Denise Pety, Judy Phillippe, Betsy Poole and Debbie Torrey.

Boys are Marty Erb, Rodney Erb, Dave Johnston, Don LeBlanc, Jim Nye, Paul Travis, John Waisamen and Ron Wilde. Manager Marsha Karnes also will go.

Six carefully selected varsity debaters will compete with schools from all over Oakland County. Finalists from this contest will go on to the state finals.

WTH is trying to beat its last year's record of $2,775 collected for the March of Dimes. Many activities to help the drive along are being planned or are under way.

Girls have signed up to compete in the Miss March of Dimes Contest and are collecting money now. Each dime donated to a girl counts as a vote for her.

OUTING PLANNED

Winner of the contest will be announced Feb. 8 at Mt. Holly. That night (to add to the excitement of the contest, skiing and dancing) a jukebox containing 100 hit records will be offered.

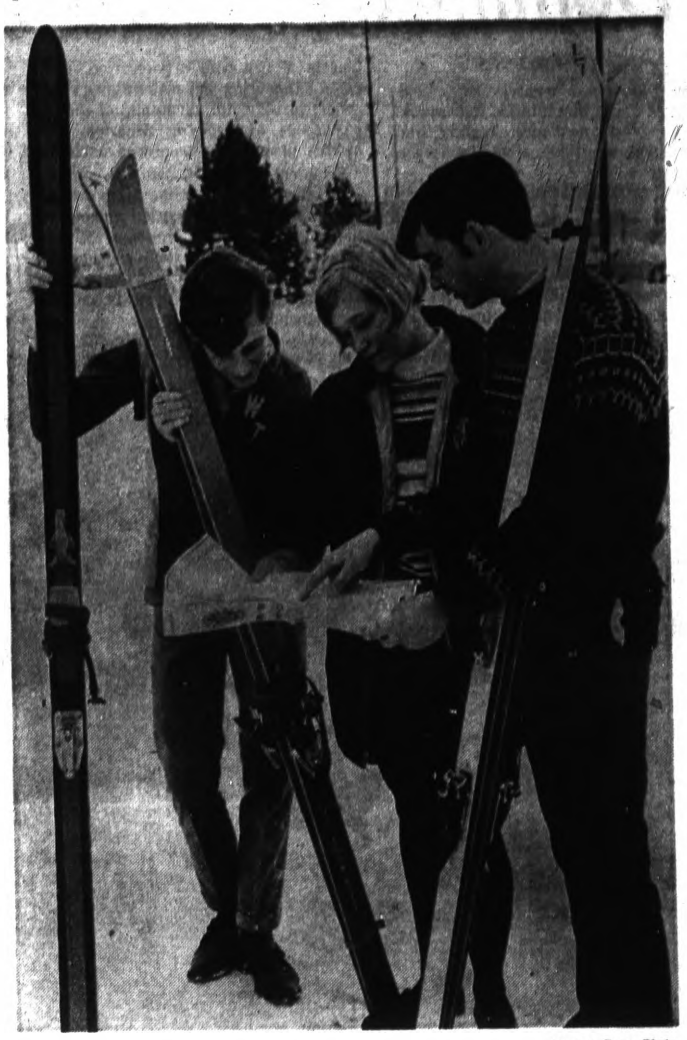

At Mt. Holly, the featured band will be the Plain Brown Wrapper.

Other activities include competition for the title of Ugliest Man on Campus, which will take place sometime in March, and penny pitches.

Girls at Groves Cottoning to Slackened Dress Code

By BENITA ROSEN

No, the boys at Wylie E. Groves High School have not started carrying purses —but the girls have started wearing slacks.

Ever since the new dress code ruling was made official by a public address system announcement on Jan. 7 girls have been free to attend the classes in slacks.

★ ★ ★

It all started after the Christmas holiday when a large number of girls came to school in slacks. One of the girls was not permitted in a class and was sent down to the office for disciplinary measures.

Following this action, a group of students went down to see Principal Richard Lyden to request that girl students be allowed to wear slacks to school because of the cold weather.

After some thought, Lynden approved the request and made the announcement, stressing that good taste be exercised in all cases. Stretch-type slacks and blue jeans are banned.

Groves' students Sheryl Cox and Vicky Potoczak have already made use of the opportunity and both see the advantages.

★ ★ ★

"This new ruling has really enabled me to stretch my wardrobe," said Sheryl.

"It was very nice of Mr. Lyden to let us wear slacks," added Vicky.

OPENING DOOR EXCEPTED

Richard Smith, Groves history teacher, has no objection to the girls in his classes wearing slacks. "But," he said, "none of them better expect me to open any doors for them."

Groves' creative writing classes have been finalizing their efforts as "The Lem-in" and "The Aboriginal" near completion. The classes, under the supervision of Trudy Marquardt, have written and directed a 30-minute color movie entitled, "The Lem-In." The production is a parody of student life at Groves.

Filming was handled by photographers Tim Latham and Rolf Weeks. The pair, who graduated from Groves last year, have worked on previous school productions.

The Aboriginal, a poetry magazine produced by the classes, is nearing publication.

★ ★ ★

Responsibility of the publication of the school newspaper will fall on the Student Council the rest of the year.

A tea was held for the teachers last Wednesday by the Student Council.

Waterford Mott Students Plan Frolic in Snow

MILLAGE BACKERS

The Student Millage Action Campaign (SMAC) is hard at work again. Students are getting petitions signed this week in hope of having another election on the Waterford school millage and bond issue proposals. The proposal was rejected by voters Dec. 7.

Yearbook Taking Shape

OLL Staff Lively at Deadline

By CHRIS GINGRAS

As Jan. 25 approaches, there is one room at Our Lady of the Lakes High School that seems to grow busier by the minute. To the already evident profusion of books, papers and kids are added more books, more papers, and even more kids.

Where is it? Where else — but the yearbook room, and another deadline is looming.

★ ★ ★

With the first deadlines met, the Lochmara staff is eight pages ahead of schedule and rushing toward that 34-page deadline on Jan. 25.

Another one of those mad picture sessions produced photos for the science and cheerleading sections, as well as other miscellaneous but necessary pictures.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

In two sessions with A. A. Whitehead, from Modern Yearbook Co., such questions as the use of color pages, kind of type for headlines and future headlines were decided. It was also decided that this year's Lochmara cover design will be olive green with embossed black design and "Lochmara" in black, lowercase letters.

This year's book is to have 136 pages, 20 of which will be ads.

★ ★ ★

According to editor Carol Rogers, this year's moderator, teacher Paul Mastrangel, deserves a lot of credit for his encouragement and guidance. "His English help has really imporved our copy," Carol said. "And he has wonderful ideas to make our pictures lifelike, not obviously posed."

★ ★ ★

Special credit was also given to two junior staff members, Ann Hoffman and Tom Rogers, for their work on the ad layouts, which received an "A" rating from Modern Yearbook Co.

★ ★ ★

"Everybody worked hard on them," said Carol, "but Annie and Tom really did the most."

Next week, the two classes which won in the Lochmara ad drive will meet to decide where they want to spend their free day.

SCHOOL NEWS ROUNDUP

Troy

By LUANNE GREENSTEIN

Last Friday, Troy High School was illegally entered, and damage was done to the school and Baker Junior High School.

Clyde D. Peterson, principal of Troy High, described the destruction as "just plain ridiculous. There is no reason for any destruction or vandalism of this kind."

Although school was canceled Friday, Monday, students were reluctant to discuss the break-in. "I was surprised at the lack of concern on the students' part," said senior Chris Pardy.

"Anyone stupid enough to break into school for pure vandalism has got to be out of his mind. I think it's really disgusting," added Diane Holden, sophomore.

MRS. HAROLD R. ROEHM

Today's Woman

Civic Role Key to Today

By JEANNE NELSON

The Harold Roehm home on Lone Pine Road vividly recalls the past with its generous array of historical furniture and priceless objets d'art. But Lucy Roehm is a woman keyed to the future.

Her keen interest in the cultural aspects of today's and future generations comes alive at the mention of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Along with 13 other women in 1962, she helped form the volunteer Docent program at the Institute. Its ranks now number 73.

The Docent program is an ambitious one, with a great deal of behind-the-scenes preparation involved. Prior to each new exhibit, the Docents go through a vigorous training course until each anticipated question can be answered. As might be expected, this sort of training is an ongoing program.

In addition to conducting the scheduled tours within the Institute itself, Docents are called upon to visit schools in preparation of classes wishing to take the tours. "This type of advance introduction into subject matter that will be viewed later is invaluable to a successful tour," says Mrs. Roehm.

★ ★ ★

The Docent program is one of many offshoots of the Institute's Founders Society. Membership in the Society, which offers a variety of services and benefits, is only $15 per year, reminds Mrs. Roehm, or $25 for a whole family.

Although the Docent program demands a great deal of her time, another interest vies for attention in her busy schedule — the new Bloomfield Township Library which opens soon. She is an elected trustee of the library and has devoted many hours to plans for the facilities on the corner of Lone Pine and Telegraph Roads.

The Roehm home stands on property her great-great grandmother, Katie Ann Vaughn, owned. One of her husband's ancestral homes is on display at the Detroit Fair Grounds.

In almost every room in the Roehm home there are old hanging mirrors with delicate china looking-glass knobs on them. Others of these looking-glass knobs are displayed in a massive carved breakfront. This fine old piece also holds a number of antiques collected on world travels.

But the down-to-earth Roehms live with priceless pieces of furniture and Oriental rugs, in an every day matter-of-fact way. The 18th century folding card table in the pleasant sun room is often used for games with the couple's seven grandchildren or to hold evening snacks.

"The joy of having these things comes with being able to use them," says Mrs. Roehm.

★ ★ ★

Another form of art Mrs. Roehm enjoys is that which comes out of the kitchen. She's known for her oxtail soup, the kind that "sticks to your lips," and for her baking. No better testimonial can be found for this than a busy physician-husband who comes home for lunch every day.

Both husband and wife love to garden and share a joint interest in dry fly fishing and partridge shooting.

★ ★ ★

Since her involvement with the Docents and the library, Mrs. Roehm admits her attendance at Birmingham-Bloomfield League of Women Voters has dropped, but not her interest in community matters.

She also belongs to the Birmingham branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association and The Great Books Movement.

Lady Bird's Liz Honored by Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elizabeth Carpenter left them laughing in her "Swan Song of a Lame Duck."

Through the years of the Johnson administration, Mrs. Carpenter has been its top comic as well as press secretary and staff director for Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Thursday was her day for an official farewell to the National Press Club, and hundreds attended a lunch in her honor.

Some samples of her rapid-fire humor:

—"The big question, for instance, is what Sen. McCarthy is planning to do next. When reporters ask him, he doesn't say anything, but he does let them kiss his ring."

—Unsuccessful in her effort to sell herself for preservation as a rare White House object, she turned to Secretary of the Interior — designate Walter J. Hickel "and offered myself as a national historical monument. He took one look at me and said 'I don't believe in conservation just for conservation's sake.' "

TWO PARADES

—"Actually there will be two inaugural parades, one to the White House led by the Whittier High School band, the other from the White House, led by Allied Van Lines. I was told which one I get to march in."

On the serious side, she expressed disapproval of an emphasis by some on style and charisma. She asked the newsmen:

"Is charisma really so essential to a good public servant?

"We daily pay homage to it in print — perhaps without asking if it really affects the way a government functions."

Area Book Club Selects Braider Book to Review

Mrs. Lester Blagg will host Monday's meeting of The Waterford Township Book Review Group in her home on Dixie Highway. A dessert luncheon will precede the review of "Color From a Light Within," by Braider. Mrs. Robert Haskins is the reviewer.

Assisting the hostess for the 1 p.m. affair will be Mrs. Clair Johnson and Mrs. Francis Kinkle.

Wives Brighten Male Gathering at Cobo Hall

By SHIRLEY GRAY

The national convention of the Society of Automotive Engineers Wednesday evening was predominantly a stag scene, but there were a few bright spots in the sea of serge at Cobo Hall—Mrs. William Rodger in green chiffon, for one.

Mrs. Semon Knudsen, just back from a week at Main Chance, wore a smart, white blouse-black jumper ensemble, complete with black hose.

Trudy Huebner dressed up in one of her Christmas presents — a pink and gold brocade frock with a wide band of black mink around the hem — shopped for in person by husband, George.

ON TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Ahrens of Bloomfield Hills left last week on the Pacific Grand Tour. Their cruise ship, the Sagafjord, will be docking at sun-drenched spots like Tahiti, New Zealand, Australia, and the Philippines.

They will stop again at a favorite spot, Hong Kong, then on to Yokohama, Honolulu, Acapulco and finally Nassau.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Andreae of Bloomfield Hills slipped away during the holiday week, first for New Year's Day in Oklahoma City with her parents, then on to Mexico for fishing, sunning on sandy beaches, and the like, in places like La Paz and Porto Vaillarta. They also visited friends in Mexico City.

The Winter Club, a 30-year-old dancing group, is having its winter get-together Saturday evening at Bloomfield Hills Country Club. On the membership roster are 70 Birmingham-Bloomfield couples.

Unique among clubs, this one has no officers, and at their meetings, they dance.

'Steady' Friend Wants Woman to Share Cost

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: I am divorced and going steady with a divorced man. Every Saturday evening he takes me out to eat at a nice restaurant, then to a night club. On Sunday afternoon he comes over again, then later in the evening he grills steaks on my hibachi.

★ ★ ★

My problem is this: He thinks I should buy the vegetables and the rest; he only wants to pay for the steaks. I think he should buy the food as it is cheaper for him to eat at my house than to take me out to eat in a restaurant. Am I being too greedy? I thought a woman wasn't to cook for a man until they got married. I admit that the steaks he grills are better than any I've eaten. — Julia

★ ★ ★

Dear Julia: You are presumably mature people, not a couple of teen-agers worrying about whether a girl invites a boy to dinner.

★ ★ ★

Since your friend is wining and dining you every Saturday and provides the expensive part of the Sunday meal, the least you could do is offer to buy — and prepare — the accompaniments. You're lucky. A lot of men might expect the whole Sunday dinner served to them under an arrangement such as yours.

Village Woman's Club Sets Slate of Winter Classes

The Middle East, setting for the increasing Arab-Israeli conflicts, will be the area studied in the annual lecture-discussion course "History In The Making," co-sponsored by the Division of Continuing Education at Oakland University and The Village Woman's Club.

There will be five speakers, all acknowledged authorities in some facet of the historical and social forces at work in the Mashriq countries. The eight week course, which is open to the public, will meet on Thursday morning beginning Jan. 30.

LITERATURE

Another new course offered to the community by The Village Woman's Club is a contemporary literature class to be taught by Professor Seymour Riklin, coordinator of special projects at the University Center for Adult Education.

★ ★ ★

The course will meet on Wednesday morning for eight weeks beginning Jan. 29 and will include discussions of novels, short stories, plays, political essays and poems.

Some of the authors to be discussed will be Harold Pinter, Frantz Fanon, Donald Barthelme, Peter Nichols and Norman Mailer.

Other classes being offered during the winter term, which begins the week of Jan. 27, include: Decoupage Under Glass — a six week course meeting Monday afternoon beginning Feb. 24 and taught by Mrs. Robert L. Sauer.

Rome First Fashion Center Stop as Spring Collections Unveiled

ROME (AP) — Italy starts the ball rolling today for a two-week marathon of spring-summer fashion collections in which three other countries will be taking part.

★ ★ ★

From Rome, the showings switch on Jan. 24 to Madrid, where Spanish designers will show their paces. Last stop is Paris, where shows start Jan. 27 and run on into February.

Fashion writers and buyers who follow the presentations will by then have sat through the showing of well over 10,000 creations and millions of dollars will have changed hands.

But perhaps only a handful of really new ideas will emerge as the next fashion crazes.

The shows are for women's wear but the men are steadily elbowing their way into the picture.

Rome shows kick off with 10 menswear designers presenting ideas for what the fashion-conscious male should wear for spring and summer.

Saturday it will be the turn of the ladies, with Valentino's eagerly awaited night-time showing keeping the fashion crowd wide awake until midnight.

VP

Veteran menswear designer Brioni, showing this evening, announces the VP line. VP stands for vertical personality or how to make a man look taller without hanging him up by the ears.

Brioni describes his collection as an evaluation of the changes for the better that have been made in men's fashion over the past 15 years. Fashion historians please take note.

★ ★ ★

About to turn the tables on all those women's wear designers who recently have become so busy trying their hand at designing modes for men is Sicilian-born Angelo Litrico. He will present "Litrico for her," his thoughts on what the well-dressed woman should wear.

When it comes to menswear, Litrico says his concept is the tall, thin, youthful man. There's nothing new in that. Fatty is nobody's favorite when it comes to designing clothes.

Wanver will add a topical note with his "space line" that will feature suits equipped with lots of seams shooting upwards to give an elongated line.

Capucci, just returned to brave the Italian critics after a seven-year stint with his own women's couture house in Paris, reveals that he also will be showing some pretty fancy outfits for the boys.

New Neighbor Refuses to Gossip Against Others

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For years several of us women in the neighborhood have had coffee together regularly. A newcomer has joined our group and she is our problem.

Abby, you know how women are. They talk about different things, and people, and so on. Well, nobody can say a word about anything without Mrs. Newcomer butting in with, "Were you there? Can you prove it? From where do you get your information?"

This puts a crimp in our coffee parties as no one wants to go on the witness stand and take an oath on a Bible that what she says is gospel.

We would like to drop Mrs. Newcomer from our group as she is not our kind. But how?

OLD TIMERS

DEAR OLD TIMERS: I doubt if you will be troubled with Mrs. Newcomer much longer, for she will soon conclude that YOU are not HER kind. And frankly, if I had to choose between her company and yours. I'd choose hers.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: When my married daughter visits me I always give her the best sleeping accommodations in the house, but when I visit her for a few weeks she puts me on her davenport or any make-shift place.

This year she has written to say that if I come again this winter, she will put me in her unfinished, unheated attic room. There is no bath on that floor and I had a stroke two years ago which makes walking stairs difficult for me. Also I have weak kidneys and need to use the bathroom during the night.

★ ★ ★

My daughter is kind and good in other respects, but I am terribly hurt by these sleeping arrangements and am thinking strongly of not visiting her this winter. What would you do?

HURT MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I would stay home.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have written to you several times before but have yet to see one of my letters in the paper so will be surprised if I see this one.

★ ★ ★

The letter signed "Rube's Wife" has prompted me to write now. I know what that lady means when she says she feels that her husband was cheated as far as affection from her is concerned, as I, myself would much rather go to bed with a good book than with my husband. How we ever happened to have three children I can't quite figure out.

It would not bother me one bit if my husband came home and told me he had found a nice woman about his own age who was able to give him more love and affection than I can. I would ask only, "Is she clean?" Then I would just go out and get another book, and say, like Rube's wife. "No one would have to know."

Carosa's white wool shirt-dress. The hat is of white felt. Our model is Leda Lojodice, "prima ballerina" of the legendary "La Fenice" opera of Venice and of the Spoleto festival of two worlds.

In a special collection aptly named "couples" comes this two-some of light tan wool by Angelo Litrico for the spring-summer showings opening today in Rome. The mood is young and on-the-move.

Marsha Thompson, 19, a secretary in the Iowa House of Representatives, found herself in the middle of a mini flap this week when an edict came down for secretaries to refrain from minis "for their own protection."

Iowa Legislators Try to Agree on Miniskirts

DES MOINES (AP) — Members of Iowa's House of Representatives devoted their maximum attention to a mini matter Wednesday — Marsha's miniskirt to be exact.

Attention turned in that direction when Mrs. Delores Abels, secretary to the chief clerk, suggested in an orientation session for new secretaries that they refrain from minis "for their own protection."

"I don't feel that these young girls, some from small towns and not used to big city life, should be subjected to comments which I am certain will come," Mrs. Abels said.

And there was Marsha Thompson, 19, of Sioux Falls, S.D., all decked out in an orange minidress that stopped about eight inches above her knee.

As word of Mrs. Abels' suggestion spread, a number of legislators sprang to the defense of the mini, even one as "mini" as Marsha's.

"The only objection I can find is that they are too long," reported Rep. William Hill, R-Marshalltown, after a quick check among his colleagues.

"I wish I could wear them," sighed State Sen. Charlene Conklin, R-Waterloo.

At least one legislator took a long view of the matter.

"Such dress creates a diversion from our work," said State Rep. Charles Grassley, 35, R-Hartford. "Not only that, they bring shame to the legislature."

Finally, it was grandfather's view which prevailed. Marsha is secretary to her grandfather, Rep. Leo Sanders, R-Estherville.

Sanders said he saw nothing wrong with Marsha's mini, but because of the furor he might suggest that she lower her hemlines.

Area Chorale to Honor Haas

The Kenneth Jewell Chorale will highlight its annual community concert on Jan. 24 with a performance of the highly unusual Hindemith Mass.

The performance, in the Community Arts Auditorium of Wayne State University, will honor Dr. Karl Haas who has been instrumental in furthering the appreciation of good vocal music among Detroit audiences.

★ ★ ★

Tickets are $3 each and are available at all J. L. Hudson major stores, Grinnell's and WSU. A limited number of student tickets at $1.50 are available at WSU Center.

Double the Life

To double the life of a growing boy's jeans, reinforce the knee area while they are still new and before they have ever been worn. Launder to remove sizing, then apply iron-on patch to the inside of the jeans leg. This puts the strain on the patch, rather than the material, and makes them last ever so much longer.

ELLEN STICKNEY

BARBARA FULSHER

The Bernard J. Stickneys of South Francis Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Ellen Corinne, to Leroy Gutierrez. Their son, Gregory Lee, and Barbara Jean Fulsher will wed in September. Miss Stickney's fiance is the son of the Salvador Gutierrezes of Going Street. Gregory's bride-to-be is the daughter of the Howard Fulshers of Southfield.

'Confusion!' Times Four

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Mrs. Yvonne Wise a kindergarten teacher in St. Louis, constantly sees double in her work. In her classroom, there are four sets of twins — three sets of boys, one set of girls.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wise, admitting confusion sometimes, explains why.

— Two sets are Negro.

— Two sets are Caucasian.

— Two sets are identiacal.

— Two sets were born one month apart.

— Two sets were born on holidays — Christmas and Thanksgiving

— Two sets of boys have the same first names — James and John.

REGULAR

Mrs. Wise said, "all four sets have perfect attendance — so they can confuse me every day."

The Industrial Resources Company

Famous 'Undercover' Designer Bares Fashion Teeth

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Olga Erteszek is an undercover agent whose aim has been to eliminate the number of undergarments a woman has to wear.

By combining such things as girdles and bras, slips and bras, the Olga Company was the pioneer in making it possible for women to control their figures while they wore less and less under their top layer of clothing.

★ ★ ★

But there is a great difference in a trend toward comfort and a trend toward nudity, Olga maintains.

This creative designer believes that today's undisciplined trend toward nudity has reached the point where bad taste is being indiscriminately promulgated as fashion.

"No woman," she said, "needs anything so silly as a 'no bra bra.' A designer can create such a thing and make money on it because the fashion press pushes it as the 'in' thing. But it's dishonest.

EDUCATE

"It's up to the fshion writers to educate women so that they will eventually become independent enough to know when they look good and when they look ridiculous. And this whole trend toward bareness is ridiculous."

Olga feels that whether the nudity craze runs toward a bare midriff, a neckline that plunges to the navel or a two-inch long skirt, the press makes every woman feel out of it if she doesn't get into it.

"Then they all look alike," she said. "And, of course, those who wear these things nearly always are the wrong type."

★ ★ ★

Olga could design a 'no bra bra' and make money on it, too. She has no business ax to grind in criticizing this kind of underpinning. But she has a conscience, too, and a feeling of responsibility about the women she underdresses.

She has even written an open letter on the subject, quoted in part:

"As a designer, and the mother of three daughters, I am deeply concerned with the role which fashion is playing in helping to build a better America and a better world.

"That is why I am moved at this time to express my views on the recent trend by some members of the fashion world to encourage American women of all ages (and figures) to indiscriminately reveal their bodies.

RESPONSIBILITY

"A designer has as much social responsibility as an educator, a writer, or any other artist. The pursuit of the sensational, the extreme, the provocative is not new in the history of fashion but today's attempt to capitalize on tasteless nudity is no more good design than pornography is fine art."

Mrs. Erteszek is an attractive, vivacious, chic woman with an interesting background.

She escaped from Poland in 1941 and after a tedious and lengthy journey arrived in San Francisco, where she joined her fiance. They married there and then settled in Los Angeles.

Money wasn't the most prevalent commodity in the household in spite of Jan Erteszek's degree as a doctor of law. Olga decided to do something to supplement the food budget.

LIKE MOTHER

"My mother was an old country corseteer," she said, "and I guess I inherited an interest in the business."

The Olga Company, which now has worldwide distribution and does a volume of over $12 million annually, started 25 years ago on an outlay of $10—$5 to rent a sewing machine and $5 for fabric.

Olga made a few lacy garter belts with the intention of trying to sell them to Sears, Roebuck.

Jan (now president of the company) who had promised to sell whatever items she came up with, didn't feel like making the long trek to Sears that day and went instead to Bullock's Wilshire, which was only down the street from where the couple lived.

★ ★ ★

"We knew so little about quality stores in California at that time," Olga said, "that it could have been Woolworth's for all we knew. It just was closer."

And before they knew what had happened, they had an order and a promise for more.

"What a scramble that was," she recalled. "I couldn't turn the garter belts out fast enough. Yet I had to. I was so unaware of any phase of the business that I didn't even know what to ask Bullock's for my work."

HELP OTHERS

Now in their four plants the Erteszeks are helping other strangers to America to get ahead. They have started a one-for-one learning program to help others learn the English language.

Supervisors and head personnel take the course in English weekly. In turn, they teach another person. That person, in turn, teaches another of the employes.

Olga believes that the second "generation" of students will still be in the plant but that the third could be members of families outside the community who will also be helped this way.

This is the famous Laubach system and Olga and Jan have also supported Dr. Laubach in his similar work abroad.

★ ★ ★

Laubach devised a picture alphabet which he uses to teach reading and language techniques, working chiefly among underprivileged children here and in Europe.

The engagement of their daughter, Betty Lou, to Kirk Pearson is announced by the Albert Traweeks of Mansfield Street. Miss Traweek's fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pearson of Joslyn Avenue. June 9 vows are planned.

The engagement of their daughter, Londa Kay, to Charles Foster, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Briles of Robinann Street. Summer vows are planned. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mrs. Maxine Foster of Bernie, Mo., and Stanley Foster of Paragould, Ark. Miss Briles attends Olivet Nazarene College.

"Loungerie" was introduced by Olga and loungewear will never be the same. You lavish yourself with glamorous comfort when you step in and lift up this elegant, terry-textured Arnel shirt dress. It has band of Paisley gold braid at the neckline and cuffs. You can relax with the graceful fashion assurance that the built-in secret bra provides.

Janice Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Leland F. Pratt of Walled Lake announce the engagement of their daughter, Janice Elaine, to John G. Schulter. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schulter of Farmington.

Rescheduled Concert Date Is Announced

A postponed concert that was to feature James Frazier conducting the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in his own "King" Requiem has been rescheduled to May 9 at 8:30 p.m. in Ford Auditorium.

Tickets for the original concert date, Jan. 5, will be honored on the new date.

★ ★ ★

Frazier wrote his "King" Requiem as a tribute to the late Martin Luther King, Jr. The text includes words taken from some of the speeches and sermons of Dr. King.

Choirs from the Second Baptist Church of Detroit, Berea Lutheran Church, and Inkster High School will participate in the performance.

Frazier also will conduct the orchestra in the Saint-Saens Symphony No. 3 with organist Eugene Hancock as soloist.

SPONSOR

The Second Baptist Church of Detroit is sponsoring the concert.

The concert had been postponed because many of the participants, especially choral members, had the flu.

Remove Stains

To remove stains from plastic or other cups, fill cups with water and add a couple of tablespoons of liquid bleach. Let stand for a few minutes, then wash thoroughly.

Plastic Finishes Eliminate Hems

Breakfast mats may be made out of plasticized cotton percale. Cut them to shape with pinking shears and it will eliminate the need of hemming.

Polly's Pointers

Needs More Horses

DEAR POLLY — Mary wanted Pointers on how to use an oversupply of linen and other napkins. I have made very attractive luncheon cloths by using four large dinner napkins sewed together with a strip of colored material, checkerboard-style. The colored material could be as wide as the napkins, depending on the size cloth you want.

★ ★ ★

Attractive sleeveless dresses can be made with very large napkins — two for the top part and four for a gathered skirt, or three for a slim skirt with perhaps a contrasting band around the bottom. Very nice kitchen curtains also can be made, especially cafe-style. Sew them with other material in alternating squares.

Two or more linen napkins make luxurious tea towels and large napkins make excellent "doilies" to use under lamps or wherever one uses them. — JOSIE

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I collect model horses and would like to have one from every state but do not know how to go about getting them. I would appreciate some advice because I love horses and would like to add to my collection. Should I write to each state capital or to an individual, like the governor? Please let me know this soon. I want the information before summer. — HORSE LOVER

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY — Unneeded linen napkins can be used to make dresser scarves or a tablecloth by crocheting a four- to six-inch insertion to go between the napkins and then a crocheted edge put all around the edges. — ARLENE

DEAR POLLY — Napkins can be joined together with a feather stitch or with rickrack to make cloths of desired sizes. — BERTHA

Youth Found in Contempt for His Retort

A West Bloomfield Township teen-ager has been found in contempt of court for making an obscene remark to a circuit judge who had sentenced him to prison for vandalism.

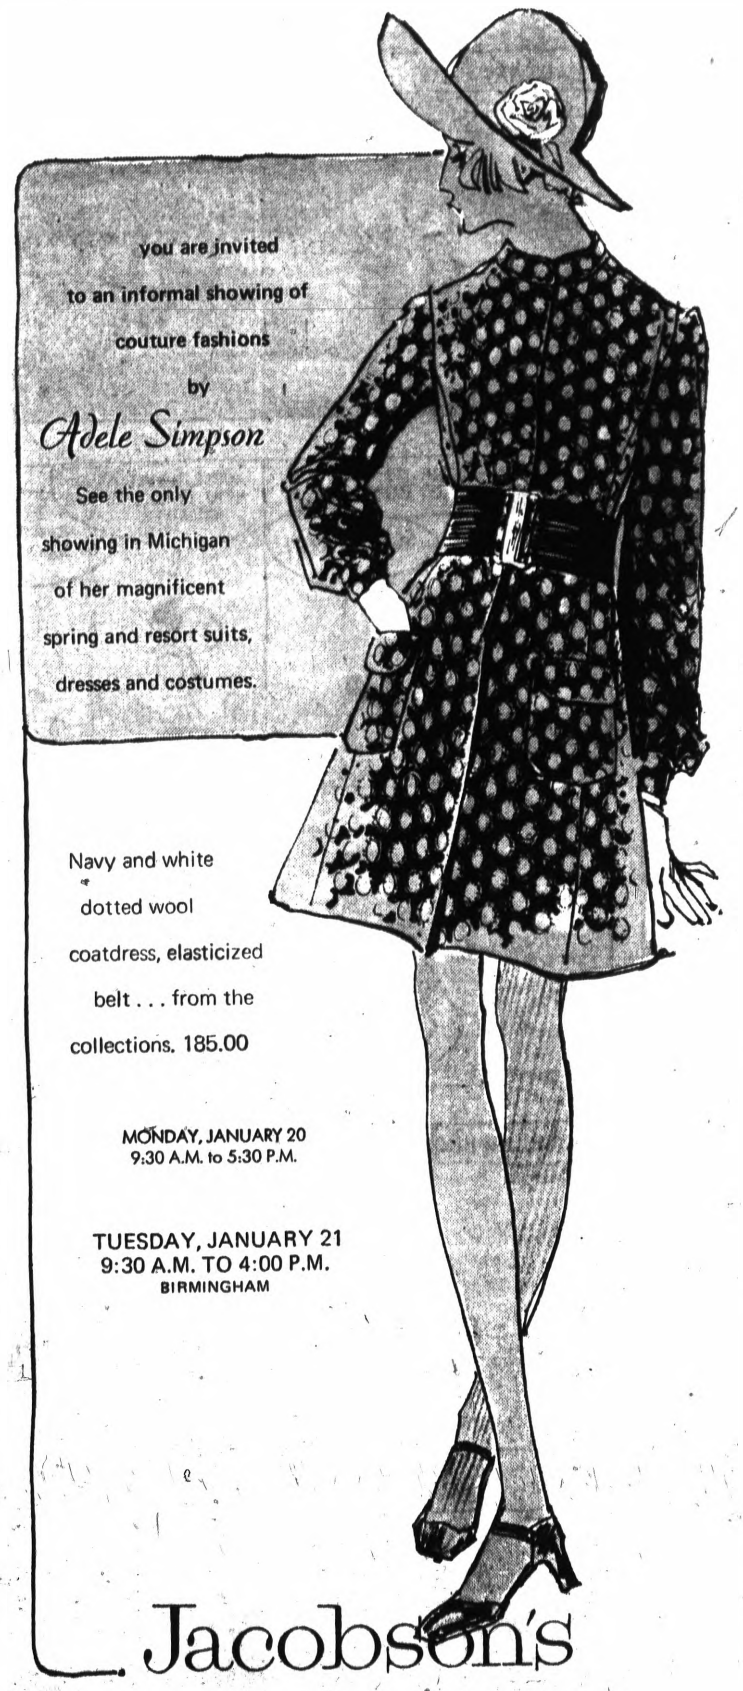

The contempt citation was leveled yesterday by Judge William J. Beer against Pat Noskey, 17, of 1555 Lookout.

Noskey was returned to the courtroom from the county jail where he is waiting transfer to the state prison at Jackson to begin serving a 1½-to-4 year term.

The outburst came Wednesday after Beer had imposed the sentence.

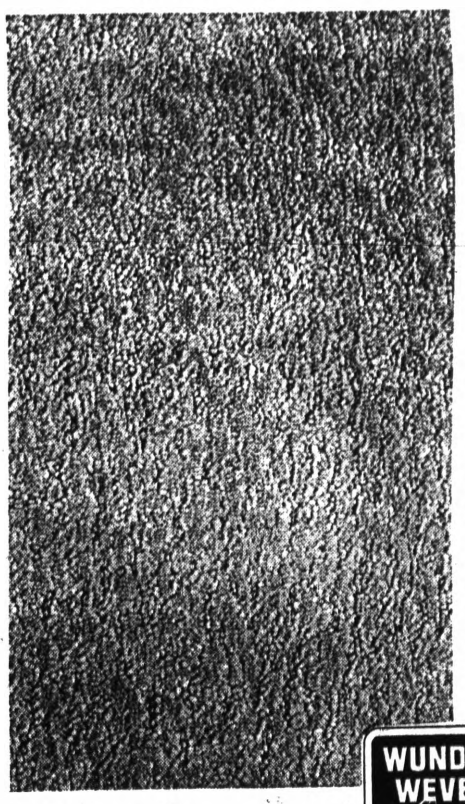

Beer will sentence Noskey on the contempt issue after he completes his prison term.

Noskey pleaded guilty in December to maliciously damaging a car by repeatedly jumping up and down on the roof and hood.

Opening lead—♣ A

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Today's hand was played by Oswald Jacoby in the semifinals of the 1965 Vanderbilt. It helped our team win that match and then go on to win the tournament. The hand presents the same sort of problem that declarer had in yesterday's made up hand and proves that at bridge, truth is just as strange as fiction.

Ira Rubin's jump to five diamonds was a trifle optimistic but if Jacoby had held some value other than the club king the game would probably have been lay down.

★ ★ ★

West opened the ace of clubs and shifted to his singleton trump. Jacoby won in dummy and led the four of spades. East played the eight and, after considerable study, Jacoby played the nine.

(Note from James Jacoby: "The study was three seconds. Dad may be getting old but he is still the fastest player in the world.")

The rest of the play was routine. West was in with the queen. He couldn't lead a second trump and played his queen of clubs. Jacoby ruffed, thought for a second and played his king of spades.

★ ★ ★

West ducked quickly but it did no good. Jacoby discarded from dummy, ruffed a small spade to drop West's ace and made his doubled contract.

The play was brilliant but like many such plays, it was made possible by a defensive mistake. Had East played either the jack or 10 of spades on the first spade lead Jacoby would have no chance to make his contract.

★ ★ ★

There was a lot of post-mortem speculation about what would have happened if East had started with jack-10-eight-small in spades and played the eight the first time and the 10 the second. Jacoby had an answer: "If he were that good, he would have set me on a hand that could have been made. Mistakes occur far more often than such brilliancies."

N.C. Program to Train Pediatric Assistants

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — The Bowman Gray School of Medicine at Wake Forest University says estimates show that by 1980 there will be 76 million children in America. It predicts that 100,000 new pediatricians must be trained by that time to look after them.

* * *

Currently, about 1,000 pediatricians enter practice each year.

* * *

As one solution to this problem, Bowman Gray is initiating a program designed to train a pediatric assistant, a person with responsibilities broader than those of a nurse, narrower than those of a doctor.

* * *

This new type of assistant will be qualified to handle routine physical examinations, give shots, record the child's medical history and inform the doctor of any findings indicating illness.

MORE CASES

They will be trained to perform all the tasks not requiring actual medical judgment, leaving the doctor free to diagnose, treat and manage problem cases. That way, the doctor can handle more cases.

A step toward education of pediatric assistants will be taken this spring at the Winston-Salem school under a $53,458 grant by the U.S. Public Health Service.

* * *

A similar course is scheduled to begin next summer at the University of Colorado.

The directors of the Bowman Gray program—Drs. Weston M. Kelsey and Leland E. Powers—said in an interview the primary purpose of the project is to relieve the critical health manpower shortage "which rapidly is growing to crisis proportions in the child care field."

70 PCT. MORE?

Kelsey, chairman of the Department of Pediatrics, and Powers, director of the medical school's Allied Health Division, said the pediatric assistant may be able to take enough of the workload off the pediatrician to enable the doctor to add as much as 70 per cent to his patient load.

Asked if the new pediatric assistants would be accepted by parents bringing their children to a doctor's office, a school spokesman said, "definitely, they will be accepted. It will mean simply that parents can get appointments for their children much quicker. For the routine examinations and return-visit checkups, the costs probably will be lower. It is a program aimed at providing better medical care to more people at less cost."

* * *

The pediatric assistant would need four years of post-high school study—two years of regular college work and two years in the medical school training program.

The pediatrician needs 11 years of post-high school study before beginning practice.

NOT SUBSTITUTE

The assistant, Kelsy said, "will not be a substitute for a doctor, but will be qualified to handle many jobs now forced on the physician."

In addition to regular office work, Kelsey envisions the assistant as one able to staff school health clinics and well-baby clinics and serve in rural public health clinics within an acceptable distance of a supervising physician.

* * *

The course for the new profession will include one year in the offices of selected pediatricians or hospital wards.

Kelsy said pediatric assistants probably could expect a starting salary of about $9,000 a year.

EXPERIMENTAL BASIS

The training program will be on an experimental basis the first year with only three or four students admitted this spring.

Kelsey said if the project proves successful, enrollment will be expanded each year.

* * *

Training programs for assistants in other specialities, such as obstetrics and orthopedics, are being studied.

Prof's Series of TV Tapes Shows Legislators' Work

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — "We can't bring the people to the legislature, so we're bringing the legislature to the people," says Gerald J. Neeley, an assistant professor at Rocky Mountain College.

Neeley, 26, has compiled a series of video tapes on state legislative operations, which he uses in closed-circuit television programs for audiences throughout the state.

* * *

Backed by $30,000 in federal and Rocky Mountain College funds, Neeley has taped interviews with legislators and meetings of state boards. He is planning to film sessions of the legislature this month

Sometimes he combines his closed-circuit program with live talks by legislative leaders and films of other state legislatures at work.

POST CLASS FOLLOW-UP

After the show, Neeley often seeks audience reaction and discussion of legislative problems. These discussions also are taped and sometimes included in succeeding presentations.

The reception has been mixed.

"The effort was fine but the response was atrocious," say State Rep. James P. Lucas, R-Miles City, who attended one of the programs.

Lucas says only about 12 persons attended the program when it was held in Miles City, and most of those were legislative candidates and other people who already knew much about legislative processes. Audience participation was confined to two or three individuals, Lucas says.

APPROVING AUDIENCE

Mrs. Hugo Eck, Bozeman, president of the League of Women Voters, believes the program does a good job of presenting problems of government and is more effective than lectures.

She says about 70 persons, half of them students, attended one program in Bozeman. She says audience participation was particularly strong from students concerned with proposals to lower the voting age to 18.

Neeley has done most of the recording himself and plans to make packaged presentations that he hopes eventually will be distributed to service clubs, schools and other groups.

GM System Automatically Routes Drivers

An experimental electronic system that automatically provides motorists with routing instructions to their destinations has been developed by the General Motors Research Laboratories in Warren and GM's Delco Radio Division in Kokomo, Ind.

The new concept, Experimental Route Guidance System (ERGS), was developed by General Motors under contract to the Federal Highway Administration, Bureau of Public Roads. The system combines two-way road-to-vehicle communications with roadside computerized logic systems. The contract calls for a hardware system design.

DASHBOARD MESSAGE — Nancy Monteith, a General Motors secretary, displays the dashboard message panel that automatically provides motorists with routing instructions to their destinations. The panel, which in operation would have only a single direction illuminated, is part of a new experimental electronic system that combines two-way road-to-vehicle communications with roadside computerized logic systems.

The ERGS method of providing drivers with automatic, high-quality routing instructions at significant decision points in the U.S. system of streets and highways was described in a paper presented by research engineers William G. Trabold of Royal Oak of GM Research Laboratories and Thomas A. Prewitt of Delco Radio Division.

When a driver leaves for a trip, the GM researchers explained, he enters a five-letter code word for his destination by setting small thumbwheels on a console under the instrument panel.

WHAT HAPPENS

As he approaches an instrumented intersection, within a few-thousandths of a second the following occurs:

- The console in the vehicle transmits the destination code to roadside equipment.
- The roadside equipment processes the code and transmits in turn an appropriate routing instruction back to the vehicle.
- The message received (turn right, turn left, etc.) is displayed in lights on a dashboard message panel.

Similar two-way exchanges of information occur at every instrumented intersection in the road network, Trabold and Prewitt reported. Routing instructions are derived from "best route" computer programs stored in the roadside equipment, which direct the driver from intersection to intersection until he reaches his destination.

Hardware in the vehicle includes a destination encoder, two-way radio, and display panel. The roadside unit contains a decoder, a small computer with an appropriate stored program of instructions, buffer storage units, and individual radio links to each traffic lane.

The communications link is highly reliable, Trabold and Prewitt say, with the solid state components designed to operate for long periods without maintenance or calibration.

The GM researchers say the destination-oriented approach to route guidance offers the following advantages:

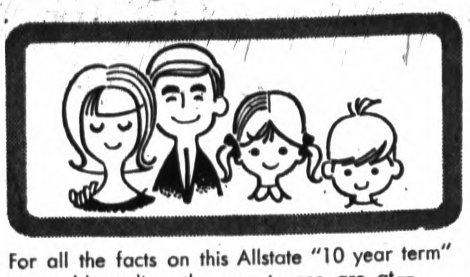

- The driver is independent of any programming source. The only information he requires is knowledge of the code word for his specific destination.
- The driver cannot get lost. If he does not follow the instruction to the next intersection, the next instrumented he intercepts will direct him to his specific destination from that point.

COMPLETE SET

General Motors has supplied the Bureau of Public Roads a complete working set of ERGS roadside equipment for one intersection, a highly instrumented Oldsmobile equipped for ERGS operation and use as a mobile human factors laboratory and a comprehensive report.

In the near future, officials plan to install equipment at 100 intersections in the Washington, D.C., area to test the effectiveness of the ERGS network.

Third Personnel Administrator Named

By MARY SUNDSTROM

Sixteen proposals on several recommendations of the Equality of Educational Opportunity (EEO) approved by a 5-0 vote of the Pontiac Board of Education last night. Members Russell Brown and Mrs. Lucille Marshall were absent.

Included was the appointment of a Negro as a third personnel administrator under a reorganized personnel division authorized by the board Dec. 5.

★ ★ ★

The other proposals will be implemented immediately or have already been acted upon, according to school administrators.

Richard Craig of 35 Pleasantview, principal of Jefferson Junior High School, was appointed as the third director of teaching and nonteaching personnel services.

EQUAL POSITION

Craig will assume a position equal to those of the two present personnel administrators for Pontiac Schools.

The EEO report, released last June, by the Pontiac School District Citizens Study Committee, contains about 130 recommendations. The remainder will be acted on in the future.

Also in accordance with an EEO recommendation, the board passed a resolution to declare publicly its intent to assign or promote candidates for administrative positions on the basis of merit.

The resolution continues, "that to assure achievement of a racially well-balanced administrative staff, special efforts shall be made to interest Negro candidates who are qualified for administrative positions to seek positions in the school district."

NEGROES POINTED OUT

Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer pointed out that there are in the school system, six principals, two assistant principals, one administrative assistant, and two central office administrators who are Negro.

The appointment of a third assistant principal for Northern High School also was approved by the board last night.

★ ★ ★

He is Theodore B. Martin, a Negro now on the Detroit Municipal Hospital Board.

Also appointed as an assistant principal to replace Donald E. McCracken at Pontiac Northern was Elden Johnson of 5420 Brunswick Waterford Township, now administrative assistant there. These two appointments expand the number of assistant principals at Pontiac Northern from two to three.

Whitmer reported in another proposal that a proposed reorganization of the central administration to provide another position at the level of assistant superintendent will be presented to the board at its next meeting Feb. 6.

He said that when the position has been approved, it will be advertised and efforts will be made to attract highly-qualified Negro candidates throughout the United States. The new appointee should begin no later than July 1, he said.

In response to an EEO recommendation that Negro teaching candidates must be guaranteed housing that benefits their professional status, assistant Supt. Richard C. Fell and Business Manager Vernon L. Schiller reported that the Pontiac Teachers Credit Union is planning construction of 80 to 100 prefabricated apartment units, to be leased on a cooperative basis. They would be ready by next fall, Schiller said.

Fell said that the credit union is planning to purchase a site in the Human Resources Center area, and that continued efforts of the credit union and school system officials should do much to provide a more adequate supply of suitable housing for teaching personnel.

RECRUITING EFFORTS

In another proposal, Fell reported that efforts have been made to recruit Negroes and Latin Americans who have been educated in the Pontiac school system because they would have a unique understanding of problems in the community.

"However, personnel administrators have not been able to devote sufficient followup time to achieve desired results," Fell said.

★ ★ ★

He added that the addition of a third personnel administrator should help in identifying and attempting to recruit these people.

HUD Funds Eyed for Wings of Center

Up to two-thirds of the cost of several wings of the planned Human Resource Center could be financed by funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), according to Pontiac Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

Whitmer told the board of education last night that he had met with State Department of Education officials seeking funds to finance the center.

★ ★ ★

At present a limit of $3.75 million is available for the estimated $4.69-million complex which would serve approximately 2,300 elementary students.

Although the Departments of Education does not have funds to help finance the complex, it will support the Pontiac Board of Education in its application to government agencies, Whitmer said.

PROVIDES FUNDS

He said that HUD officials said Pontiac schools could apply for federal funds under the Neighborhood Development Program, which provides funds for construction to serve adults and out-of-school youths.

Under this program, wings in the Human Resource Center which would qualify for federal funds include the prepschool wing, the community action area, auditorium, arts and crafts, homemaking, industrial arts and gymnasium areas.

★ ★ ★

Whitmer said he was told that if application for funds for these portions of the complex were submitted within four weeks, HUD's Neighborhood Development Program could review the application and act upon it in the next two weeks.

Whitmer said an application is being prepared. He also told the board that the City Planning Commission approved the center's preliminary site plan Jan. 8.

BEHIND SCHEDULE

Site acquisition activity for the center is still behind schedule, although businsss manager Vernon L. Schiller reported that he hopes to negotiate for several parcels rather than go into condemnation proceedings.

Whitmer also said that architectural progress by Urban Design Associates of Pittsburgh is up to date.

In other business, the board approved a set of criteria to determine the eligibility of pupils for reduced or free school lunches.

Congress recently appropriated $45 million to assist school districts in meeting the financial burden of providing reduced cost or free lunches to eligible pupils, Schiller said.

Michigan's share of the appropriation is about $1 million. Schiller told the board that Pontiac will receive 15 cents for each free or reduced-cost lunch. It currently receives four cents reimbursement; thus a substantially larger number of eligible children should be able to be served now, Schiller said.

Busing Study Is Authorized

Pontiac Schools Business Manager Vernon L. Schiller was directed by the board of education last night to make a study on school bus rerouting which could alleviate elementary and junior high transportation problems within the city.

★ ★ ★

He was asked to attempt to have the information available for report at the next board meting; Feb. 6.

Schiller reported last night as the result of a request at the Jan. 2 board meeting from parents in the Herrington School area to provide transportation for about 175 children living in the Emerson, Cameron and Kenilworth streets area.

★ ★ ★

Schiller said about 625 elementary pupils and 350 junior high students within the city limits are eligible for transportation on the basis of distance or hazardous walking conditions, or both.

NEW BUSES NEEDED

Schiller said that to handle the entire city situation about five or six new buses would be needed at a total estimated cost of up to $45,000.

He said money for the buses could come from the contingency fund, but that the buses could not be available until at least April 1.

★ ★ ★

Schiller also said that in order to service all the pupils in the city who have transportation problems, the entire bus-routing system would have to be studied and reorganized.

Youth May Owe Life to Cool Crew

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Doctors say William Mobley, 19, may owe his life to the cool heads of a couple of rescue team members.

A car had smashed into a chain link fence, killing one man, and a four-foot galvanized steel pipe had been pushed through Mobley's chest, pinning him to the car's rear seat.

★ ★ ★

One of the team members, A. K. Anderson, says he and another man used hacksaws to cut the pole in front of and behind Mobley, and he then walked to an ambulance.

Doctors said the pipe penetrated one lung and was against the undamaged heart and that if the pipe had been pulled out, Mobley probably would have bled to death quickly.

★ ★ ★

The doctors removed the pipe and closed the chest hole. A week later, Mobley is "holding his own" in an intensive care unit.

Judge Says Pay

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Grand Rapids City Controller Richard Harper Thursday was ordered in Circuit Court to pay a $2,500 bill which he had claimed was excessive and against a nonexistent account. Judge John Vanderwall ordered Harper's office to pay the fee to Thomas Blandford, who had been hired by the city to appraise some land.

Atlanta Mayor, Once Racist, Now a Champion of Civil Rights

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. took office seven years ago as a segregationist. He will leave at the end of this year with a national reputation for championing civil rights.

Allen says he changed when he saw "the horrors of segregation" during the turbulent years of the civil rights movements in the South.

★ ★ ★

How well he understood the problems can be measured by his emergence as one of the nation's most successful big city leaders. During his years in office, Atlanta gained a national reputation for peaceful integration and race relations.

Allen, courtly and silver-haired at 57, has a quick grin and tireless energy which seem to make him seem much younger.

ONE OF THE FEW

A man who once, as mayor, erected a physical barrier on an Atlanta street to separate the races, he later was one of the few local leaders to join the march honoring Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. on the day of his funeral.

He has also upgraded black employment in city government, fought for decent housing, supported the public accommodation law, and integrated the city's swimming pools. He personally led a group of Negroes into the cafeteria, dropping barriers in City Hall.

★ ★ ★

And he now considers supporting the barrier on Peyton Road — called "the Berlin Wall" by Negroes—to be one of the worse blots against his record.

The ebullient Allen used the announcement that he would not seek reelection to issue the strongest plea of his career to the community to come to grips with racial unity.

COMPLETE FREEDOM

Now, Allen said, he could speak "with complete freedom" and no one could say, "You're seeking the Negro vote."

The mayor said the Negro must be raised to a decent economic and social position if "Atlanta is to be a strong city in the future."

Allen said the racial problem is the greatest problem facing Atlanta—and all cities east of the Mississippi.

"We've got to eliminate prejudice to the extent that every man is accept for what he is and not his color," Allen said.

A wealthy man, reared in the old southern traditional white views on race, Allen readily admits he was a segregationist.

"We all were before the Supreme Court outlawed it," he said. "Those of us who followed the rulings of the court changed. Most of the changes came in the early 1960s. And when confronted, we tried to do the right thing."

★ ★ ★

When King was named Nobel Peace Prize winner in 1964, Allen was instrumental in the city's honoring him at a homecoming dinner.

And when King was felled by an assassin's bullet at Memphis in April 1968, Allen was one of the first to arrive at the King home, personally drove Mrs. King to the airport to fly to Memphis.

INTO THE MOB

In 1966, when racial disturbances flared in Atlanta, the mayor, disregarding rocks and tear gas, plunged into the jeering, shouting mob to calm demonstrators. When he climbed on top a police car, he was shaken off by the crowd.

"I felt I had a responsibility in such an outbreak to make a personal confrontation," he says of that incident. "I felt a deep responsibility for the conduct of these people because I had been a champion of their cause."

★ ★ ★

Allen says he thinks the South has made tremendous strides in civil rights from the viewpoint of the white man.

"But from the viewpoint of Negroes, not enough," he added. It depends on which side of the fence you're looking on."

JOHN RAUCH

Rauch Leaves Oakland for Buffalo

Bills Raid Raiders to Get Head Grid Coach

OAKLAND (AP) — Coach John Rauch and the Oakland Raiders announced late Thursday night that he has accepted the head coaching position with the Buffalo Bills. Both teams are in the American Football League.

Rauch is going from a team which he coached into the Super Bowl a year ago and to the AFL's Western Division championship in 1968 to the AFL's lossingest 1968 member.

* * *

At Buffalo, he can expect to have O.J. Simpson, Southern California's Heisman Trophy winning, yard-eating back. Buffalo has the No. 1 draft draw.

Rauch was coach of the year 1967 with the Raiders and his quarterback Daryle Lamonica was AFL Player of the Year.

* * *

With Simpson in the backfield he can expect to be Coach of the Year 1969, predicts the Raiders general managing director, Al Davis, former AFL commissioner.

SIX YEARS

Rauch, 41, has been with the raiders six years, three as assistant and three as head coach.

The announcement of his switch to Buffalo was made by telephone to some sports writers who were given his home telephone number.

But assistant coach Louis Engleberg, who will go to Buffalo with Rauch, read a statement in which Rauch said, "I have resigned as head coach of the Oakland Raiders to pursue another opportunity in professional football."

He thanked Davis and his players for "whatever success the Raiders have had under my tenure."

FINAL WORD

His final sentence said, "I have accepted a similar position with the Buffalo Bills."

The Raiders notified only a few sports writers, gave them the phone number to call late at night, and made positive the news would not leak out until too late for morning newspapers.

* * *

The Buffalo Courier-Express, however, published the story in it's Friday morning edition, quoting what the paper called authoritative sources.

* * *

In three years at Oakland, he compiled a 34-8-1 record, the best in the AFL. He took over the Raiders when Davis became AFL commissioner. There have been rumors that Davis has been second-guessing Rauch since his return to Oakland as managing general partner.

NO OFFENSE

Rauch's background, both as a player and a coach, is with the offense, one of the Bills' glaring needs.

Rauch was an outstanding quarterback at Georgia and had a playing career in college and professional football that ran from 1945 until 1951 when he was with the Philadelphia Eagles.

* * *

He coached at the University of Florida, Tulane, Georgia and West Point before joining the Raiders.

Streaking Wings Near Third Place After Sixth Straight Win

Detroit Goalie Edwards Sharp in 3-2 Victory

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings are still second from last in the National Hockey League's six-team Eastern Division, but:

— After edging Pittsburg, 3-2, Thursday night, the Red Wings now have a six-game winning steak, the longest in the NHL this season.

— The Red Wings, with 48 points, can move to third place if they beat Toronto and Montreal defeats Chicago in NHL action Saturday. Toronto and Chicago are currently tied for third with 49 points.

* * *

Goals by Alex Delvecchio, Gordie Howe and Pete Stemkowski powered the Red Wings past Pittsburgh in a game at Olympia Stadium Thursday night.

It was Detroit goalie Roy Edwards 10th victory in 11 starts, but coach Bill Gadsby expressed some worry about his health.

GOALIE AILING

"He's had a chest cold for two days," Gadsby said, "and with the pneumonia scare he had last summer, we've got to be careful.

"But he's got such a hot hand I hate to take him out of there. And there's no doubt about it, we play our big one Saturday night," he said.

* * *

The game will be at Toronto.

Delvecchio opened up the Red Wings scoring at 1:35 of the first period Thursday night when he blocked a pass made by Penguin Dunc McCallum near the Pittsburgh goal.

* * *

Delvecchio cut across the middle, fending off Pittsburgh's Leo Boivin, who managed to grab an arm. With the other, Delvecchio one-handed the puch into the far side of the net past goalie Les Binkley.

20 STRAIGHT

Paul Andrea tied the score at 12:31 of the first with a power play goal. At 15:30, Howe took a pass from Delvecchio and sailed in a goal, his 20th of the season. And it was his 20th straight year to achieve the 20 mark, comparable to a .300 hitter in baseball.

* * *

Fonteyne evened the score at 2:34 of the second period when he backhanded in a score. Exactly ten seconds later, Stemkowski gave Detroit the victory when he connected on a goal setup by teammate Danny Lawson.

Pittsburgh had 29 shots on goal and Detroit had 39. A total of 10,633 persons attended the game.

Wide Open Game Expected for AFL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A wide open scoring affair with footballs filling the air was the forecast today for Sunday's American Football League All-Star game matching the best of the East against the elite of the West in the Gator Bowl.

With the exception of Matt Snell, New York Jets' running star in last Sunday's Super Bowl victory, coaches Hank Stram of Kansas City and Wally Lemm of Houston have at their command the leading ground gainers of the season. For some reason, Snell didn't receive a single vote for the All-Star team.

Twenty-two players, 11 offensive and 11 defense, were selected by the league's 10 coaches. The other 11 players on each squad were picked by Stram and Lemm.

But one need only look at the quarterbacks and pass receivers to realize that the story of this game will be written in the air.

Joe Namath, who directed the Jets to their Super Bowl victory over the Baltimore Colts of the National League, will share the helm of the East with Bob Griese of the Miami Dolphins.

John Hadl of San Diego will quarterback the west through the first half with Kansas City's Len Dawson taking over in the second period.

Pioneers Seeking to Square Record Against Ferris '5'

The Pioneers of Oakland University will try to even their record at 5-5 tonight when they entertain Ferris State College.

It's the first of two weekend games for the Pioneers. They'll journey to Hillsdale to take on the Chargers tomorrow night.

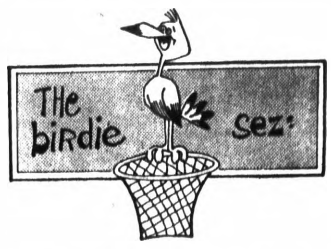

Ferris, meanwhile, owns a 6-2 record and after the visit to OU, the Bulldogs return home to meet St. Procopius College tomorrow.

* * *

The Pioneers have a well-balanced lineup which is averaging 76.5 points a game. Big men in the OU attack are 6-5 junior Greg Ranney, the team's top scorer with 149 points in nine outings, and 6-6 center-forward Tom Allan.

Defensively, the Pioneers face a tough assignment in Bulldogs' captain Jesse Mangham, who is averaging 30.4 points a geme. The 6-5 junior is a product of Flint Southwestern.

A bonus for area Ferris alumni will be a meeting with the Bulldogs and coach Jim Wink following the OU contest at Rochester Country Club.

Our friend The Birdie says his "Blue Plate Specials" have been tasting like toasted feathers recently.

The fit and fat chirping little Birdie is boasting a record of 41-12 for his crystal ball gazing on the prep games from his frost bitten nest, but last Tuesday he missed the Blue Plate Special for the third time this season.

Big 10 Race Resumes

'M', MSU Cagers Sharpen Shooting Eyes

By United Press International

Michigan and Michigan State will be shooting to project themselves back into the Big Ten basketball title picture Saturday and both hope it won't be with the same kind of shooting which has marked their recent conference outings.

"I wouldn't say I've got a poor shooting ball club," cracked Spartans' Coach John Benington, "but the other day the players had been firing away for some time before they realized the canvas covers hadn't been removed from the baskets.

* * *

"Funny thing," Benington added wryly, "but the coaches hadn't noticed it either."

Michigan State was nipped by Iowa away from Jenison Fieldhouse in its last outing but the Spartans' foe for their fourth conference game is the same Northwestern club which walloped them, 85-71, at Jenison. This game is at the Wildcats' McGaw Hill. MSU is 2-2 in the league.

While Northwestern sports a 1-2 Big Ten mark, Michigan's task will be a little tougher but the Wolverines hope the conference axiom of road victories being as scarce as seven-foot centers holds as Ohio State brings its share of the league lead to Ann Arbor.

"We just have to shoot better to have any chance," said Michigan Coach John Orr in a lament similar to Benington's.

* * *

"I know against Ohio State this Saturday those shots had better start dropping in."

The Wolverines' shots were dropping in their last game — dropping short, wide and over their mark as Michigan shot an icy 29 per cent in losing their first loop game, after a pair of wins, to Minnesota on the road.

The only other game on a slim conference card Saturday has Iowa hosting Minnesota in the week's televised affair, The Hawkeyes are 2-1 after shading the Spartans by a single point in their midweek match while Minnesota is 1-2.

PER CENT

Ohio State shot 50 per cent in its games last season to set a Big Ten accuracy mark and is hovering around the same percentage this year.

Dave Sorenson is the Buckeyes' top scorer on an Ohio State team which returns all but Bill Hosket from last year's co-champions and third-place team in the NCAA tournament.

Sorenson and his friends, notably Steve Howell, will be a good match for Rudy Tomjanovich, the 6-foot-7 Michigan center who was leading the Big Ten in scoring before hitting only half his average — 18 points — in the loss to the Gophers.

The Buckeyes are tied with idle Purdue at the top of the conference standings.

"We just didn't move against Minnesota and that was one reason we never shot very well," said Orr. One of the reasons the Wolverines didn't move too well, Richard Carter, who missed the game to make up an examination, will be available for the match with the Buckeyes.

* * *

Benington was especially pleased with the play of sophomore Rudy Benjamin in the loss at Iowa. Benjamin notched 26 points, 19 in the first half, before fouling out.

Eagles' Bowlers From State in Tournament Here

The third major bowling tournament to start here in eight days will commence tomorrow afternoon at Savoy Lanes when the 27th annual Eagles State Men's Tournament opens.

Mayor William Taylor will roll the first ball in the 2 p.m. ceremonies that will also include comments from the state Eagles president Perry Heath of Lincoln Park and Pontiac host lodge No. 1230 head man Gene Swartz.

* * *

Beginning tomorrow and continuing through May 4, more than 300 teams and 1700 men will compete in the team, singles and doubles action at Savoy.

* * *

A $8,000 prize fund plus trophies will be at stake. The team competition will be Saturdays, and the singles and doubles will be rolled Sundays. An East Detroit entry is the defending state championship team.

* * *

Last Saturday the 12th annual Elks Ladies' National Invitational Tournament began at the Pontiac Lodge No. 810, and the 28th annual state Knights of Columbus Tournament began with two exhibition squads at 300 Bowl. Both will resume tomorrow.

West All Stars Rely on Speed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Speed may be the key if the West is to outscore the East, in Sunday's National Football League All-Star game in Memorial Coliseum.

West Coach George Allen of the Los Angeles Rams worked with his several swift performers Friday as workouts eased for both his squad and the East, piloted by Tom Landy of the Dallas Cowboys.

* * *

"We have great speed in the receiving positions, more so than last year, and nothing is more important than that in an all-star game," Allen observed.

He singled out for particular attention Clifton McNeil of hhe San Francisco 49ers, the league's leading pass receiver. The slender fellow, a Cleveland castoff, caught 71 passes for 995 yards and scored seven touchdowns.

Allen has only to go back to the 49er - Ram exhibition game last season when McNeil early in the evening shocked his team with a 94-yard touchdown run on a flip from John Brodie.

City of Irving, Texas Gives Okay to Build New Domed Stadium

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — Voters in this small city voted 5,366 to 2,439 Thursday to allow the city of Irving to issue revenue bonds to build a new home for the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

This was the second vote for Irving. Last year voters also approved the selling of bonds for the stadium but the sale was halted after a resident, Howard Curren, filed suit against the city.

* * *

Curren agreed to drop his suit in return for the new vote.

The election Thursday spelled out specific financial details for building the stadium.

The 65,000 seat stadium will be the new home for the Cowboys who now play in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas. The stadium itself will cost about $20 million, club officials said and will feature a sliding roof so the seating area may be covered in bad weather.

47-Point Effort by Murphy Fails to Bring Victory

By United Press International

Calvin Murphy is breaking more records but enjoying it less these days.

The 5-foot-10 all-America from Niagara pumped in 47 points Thursday night in University Gym on the Columbia campus to smash the arena record. His 21 free throws also set a gym record.

* * *

But it was to no avail as the smooth Columbia team boosted its record to 12-1 by routing Niagara 107-84. Niagara, which doesn't have a supporting cast to go with Murphy, is only 5-7 this year.

"So, I set a record — wow," Murphy said dejectedly after the game. "I'd rather win and score less points. I really would."

Murphy's 47-point outburst smashed the arena record of 45 set by Columbia's Chet Forte in 1957. Murphy hit on only 13 of 40 field goal attempts as Columbia forced him to take numerous bad shots. But he was 21 of 22 from the free throw line and the 21 free throws broke Forte's mark of 19 in the cramped Columbia Gym.

Only 1,756 fans were able to cram their way into the old structure.

* * *

Niagara's problems that it doesn't have any big men to control the backboards. Bob Churchwell at 6-6 and Steve Schafer at 6-5 are the two biggest players on the team.

Columbia also doesn't have a player over 6-6 but the Lions are much better ballhandlers and are a cohesive unit with three standouts. Jim McMillian scored 29, Roger Walaszek 26 and Heywood Dotson 20 for Columbia.

OTHER GAMES

In the other games Thursday night, third-ranked Santa Clara rolled to its 15th straight triumph with an 89-69 triumph over Santa Barbara, Utah upset New Mexico 77-76, Utah State beat Denver 102-87, Brigham Young whipped Wyoming 89-78, Colorado State tripped Air Force 83-65, Arizona whipped Creighton 72-63, Clemson beat Furman 91-70 and Tulane stopped Miami of Florida 90-79.

Bud and Ralph Ogden, Santa Clara's brother tandem, scored 18 points each and Dennis Awtrey pumped in 30 as the Broncos routed Santa Barbara. Santa Clara now is 15-0 this season. Santa Clara rolled to a 41-33 halftime lead and then pulled away in the second half.

* * *

Utah built up a big lead and then just survived to edge New Mexico in a thriller. New Mexico, trailing by a 69-59 count with 10 minutes remaining, narrowed the deficit to one point and picked up a loose ball in the final 16 seconds. The Lobos then missed two field goals in the final minute.

Mike Newlin paced the winners with 28 points.

ABA Team Denied Injunction for Cager

By The Associated Press

Thursday was Lou Hudson's day in and on the court.

First, a federal judge in Greensboro, N.C., denied an injunction sought by the Miami Floridians of the American Basketball Association to prevent Hudson from playing with the National Basketball Association's Atlanta Hawks.

★ ★ ★

Then, the 6-foot-5 Hudson went out on the Carolina Coliseum court in Columbia, S.C., and scored 23 points as the Hawks beat the Phoenix Suns 112-107.

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere, San Francisco walloped Chicago 112-99 and Cincinnati turned back San Diego 120-109.

TWO CONTRACTS

Hudson had signed contracts in 1967 with both the Hawks and the Minnesota Muskies, forerunners of the Floridians. The court said the Muskies, "knowing that Hudson was under a moral, if not a legal obligation to furnish his services" to the Hawks, "induced him to repudiate his obligation."

Zelmo Beaty led the Atlanta scoring with 28 points as the Hawks climbed to within two games of first-place Los Angeles in the NBA's Western Division.

Jeff Mullins scored 15 of his 29 points in the third period as San Francisco overpowered Chicago. The victory enabled the Warriors to break a fourth-place tie with San Diego and pull within a half-game of Chicago in the West.

Nate Thurmond chipped in with 24 points while Bob Boozer paced the Bulls with 23.

64 Crack Par in Start of Kaiser Open

Bob Lunn Is Leading Field With 65 After Opening Round

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — The second day of action in the $135,000 Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament was launched at Silverado County Club today with expectations that the $27,000 first prize was still very much up for grabs. And many were trying to grab it.

Out of 156 golfers in the first rounds of action Thursday, no less than 64 scored under par and 82 of the total field had par or better.

★ ★ ★

Leading going into today's action with a 65, seven under par, was 23-year-old Bob Lunn of Sacramento, Calif., who seemingly could do no wrong Thursday. He attributed his good showing to his work on the greens, but then he really didn't have much problem otherwise. Playing on the North course, he had 34 for the first nine and 31 the second.

★ ★ ★

Jacky Cupit was close on his heels with a 66, with U. S. Open champion Lee Trevino, Miller Barber and Dave Hill ending the first day of play with 68.

SEVERAL AT 69

Twelve of the players had 69—John McMullin, Arnold Palmer, Johnny Stevens, Orville Moody, Jack Montgomery, Bob McCallister, Gene Littler, Tony Jacklin, George Knudson, Dow Finsterwald, Bruce Devlin and Harold Henning.

★ ★ ★

Bill Casper, who has been battling the flu bug and a severe cold for several weeks, had to be satisfied with a 70, two under par. He expressed regret that he hadn't taken some practice rounds over the course prior to the tournament.

Coleman Gets Other Position at MSU

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Don Coleman, former Michigan State football All-America, is quitting the college coaching ranks because of changes in the game in the past 18 years.

Coleman, a tackle at MSU from 1949 through 1951, was an assistant on Head Coach Duffy Daugherty's staff last fall and the first Negro mentor in the school's gridiron history.

★ ★ ★

Thursday he was appointed by the MSU Board of Trustees to work in the university's residence halls program.

"Frankly," said Coleman, "I found football coaching was not for me. During the years that I had been out of football the game had changed so drastically that I felt lost. The game was so different from what I knew."

NEW JOB

Coleman said his new job is "more closely related to what I had been doing since leaving college-educational administration."

Tie for Lead Continues in Waterford Rec

Kampsen Realty (4-1) and Duek's Speedo Service (4-1) remained tied for the lead in the American League following victories last night in Waterfeord recreation basketball.

Duke's knocked off Lighthouse Lanes (2-3), while Kampsen disposed of Lakeland Pharmacy (0-5), 55-42. In the other game, Coulacos Insurance (3-2) squeezed past Genesse Welding (2-3), 59-53.

Kampsen nursed a 22-19 lead at halftime but broke the game open early in the second half. Mike Miley paced Kampsen with 11 markers. Dave Struble tossed in 10 for Lakeland.

Sam Dean's 27 points spurred the Duke's attack. Mike Lansdorf pitched in 19 for Lighthouse, which trailed at intermission, 33-26.

★ ★ ★

Dick Nickerson, Bill Hayward and Bill Becker contributed 11 points apiece in Coulacos's triumph. Jim Lauer led Genesse with 18.

Kettering Ski Team Winner

Kettering's girls' ski team took the top three spots in competition with Gaylord and Boyne City Wednesday at Sylvan Knob near Gaylord.

Nancy Neipling came in first, followed by Sue Riley and Nancy Stoppert to pace the girls. Kettering's boys lost to both Gaylord and Boyne.

County Point Race Begins to Tighten

The runaway in the Oakland County basketball scoring race may be over.

Slender Tim Megge of Orchard Lake St. Mary, who seemed to have little opposition as he made a bid for his second straight scoring crown, now has a battle on his hands.

LOWEST OUTPUT

Cruising along with a 31.0 average, Megge ran into a tight defense at Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows and picked up only seven points as OLSM won, 46-33. That was his lowest effort of the campaign and it lowered his average through eight games to 28.0.

Hot on Megge's trail at the moment are Greg Carter of Roeper School and Jack Zwemer of Detroit Country Day.

CARTER

Carter owns a mark of 27.4 while Zwemer is rolling along at a 25.0 pace. And just a shade behind that pair is sharp-shooting Sam Brady of Pontiac Catholic (24.6).

Although Megge's average dipped a little, he and his teammates continue to mow down the opposition in their drive toward the Northwest Catholic League championship.

EAGLETS UNBEATEN

The Eaglets are unbeaten in eight games and they have a 24-game winning streak—league games—which they'll attempt to extend this evening against visiting Detroit St. Rita.

★ ★ ★

Well up on the scoring list are Gary Mize of Lake Orion (23.5) and Don MacAloon of Brother Rice (22.0).

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Central, with a 6-1 record, has two players among the scoring leaders in the Saginaw Valley Conference. Campy Russell owns an 18.5 mark while Jerry Ratliff has posted an 18.2 record.

★ ★ ★

Flint Central's Ken Brady is leading the SVC with a mark of 26.5, while Dave Frost of Flint Northern occupies the No. 2 spot in the race at 24.1.

Joe DiMaggio Heads Drive for Monument

BALTIMORE (AP) — Joe DiMaggio, the renowned "Yankee Clipper" of baseball, has accepted the honorary chairmanship of a drive to raise $80,000 for restoration of Babe Ruth's birthplace in southwest Baltimore.

★ ★ ★

DiMaggio, in Las Vegas, accepted the post Thursday on a special long-distance hookup which was amplified in Mayor Thomas J. D'Aleasandro's office.

★ ★ ★

"Needless to say, the Babe has always been an idol of mine," DiMaggio said. Both are members of baseball's Hall of Fame.

The house will be turned into a baseball museum.

Soviets Head for Canada

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet national hockey team left for Canada today after reinstating its canceled playing tour there.

The Soviet Hockey Federation created a furor in Canadian hockey circles three days ago by announcing it had canceled the tour.

A Canadian embassy official reported Thursday night that the cancellation had been withdrawn after various misunderstanding had been cleared up.

The Russians had complained that they were scheduled to play only second-rate Canadian teams and that financial arrangements were not in accord with oral agreements.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Hockey Federation announced departure of the team and said all its demands have been satisfied by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. The Soviet team is scheduled to remain in Canada until Feb. 5 and play seven or eight matches.

Tiger Expects Strike Woes

DETROIT (AP) — Outfielder Jim Northrup said Thursday that a possible players strike would diminish the Detroit Tigers' chances of winning the American League pennant this year.

"What I'm really afraid of," said Northrup, "is that a players strike will hurt the Tigers' chances to repeat as American League champions this year.

★ ★ ★

"Say even four or five key players hold out with the Players Association. What if Mickey Lolich, Al Kaline, Bill Freehan and myself, for instance, don't go to spring training. That could foul things up pretty good, right?" he said.

Lolich, Freehan and Willie Horton say they don't go to Florida until the pension dispute is settled. The Major League Players Association agreed to a boycott early this winter to back up demands that club owners contribute more money to its pension fund.

THREE SIGNED

Only three Detroit players have signed 1969 contracts. They are Mickey Stanley, Denny McLain and Dick McAuliffe. McLain, however, says he won't honor his contract until the players association dispute is settled.

"I hope this strike doesn't happen," said Manager Mayo Smith. "If you have to get in shape in half the time in Florida, you're prone to injuries."

★ ★ ★

The Tigers are scheduled to begin spring training at Lakeland on Feb. 22.

Outfielder Al Kaline and pitcher Joe Sparma said they would go to Florida in early February. But they added they wouldn't check-in at Lakeland.

Horton, who appears unusually trim, said, "I'm staying in shape. Who knows when I'll get to Florida? I may just show up at the stadium on opening day if this thing isn't settled before then."

Northrup predicted that negotiations between the association and club owners would be difficult.

"The pro football players struck last fall," he added. "And the owners said they'd play rookies if the veterans didn't show up. Can you imagine the TV networks showing some Triple A teams if they couldn't get major league baseball?

"Our owners better think again," he said.

Conn's Defeats Perry, Unbeatables Win

Conn's Clothes and Roy White's Unbeatables emerged with victories last night in Pontiac Class A recreation basketball.

Perry Drug was a 65-40 victim of Conn's, while the Unbeatables pinned a 92-67 setback on Club One Spot.

★ ★ ★

James Patterson's 24 points and Ed Williams' 20 markers sparked the Unbeatables attack. The winners were ahead at halftime, 41-36. Larry Edwards paced Club One Spot with 17 points.

Conn's opened up a 31-17 lead at intermission and coasted past Perry Drug. John Rollins tossed in 18 for Conn's, while Bill Allen contributed 16 to the Perry attack.

Oakland Oaks Need Rally to Keep String Intact

By the Associated Press

The Oakland Oaks had to rally from a 24 point deficit, but finally kept their 14 game American Basketball Association victory string intact.

Henry Logan broke through for a layup with two seconds remaining for the basket that broke a tie and gave the Oaks a 131-129 victory over Miami on the West Coast Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

The Floridians led 41-20 at the quarter, 68-57 at the half and 100-92 at the end of the third period. Don Freeman of Miami led all scorers with 39 points, while Warren Armstrong had 35 for Oakland.

In other action Houston beat Minnesota 128-121 in double overtime, New Orleans handed Denver its worst defeat since joining the ABA, 136-106, and the New York Nets continued their losing ways by bowing to Indiana 96-94.

TAKE LEAD

Willie Somerset's two free throws and a basket by Leary Lentz moved Houston ahead of Minnesota for good in the second overtime. The Pipers ripped a 15-point Houston lead in the fourth quarter to send the game into extra periods.

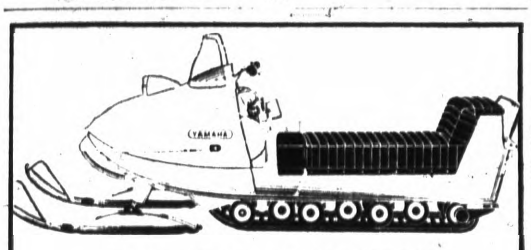

★ ★ ★

In their one-sided Victory over Denver, New Orleans made three quick baskets to open the game and was never in trouble. Jimmy Jones was high for the Buccaneers with 25 points, Larry Jones led Denver with 19.

★ ★ ★

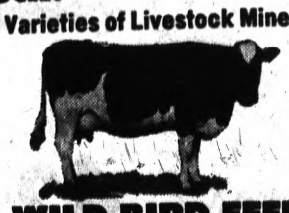

A basket at the buzzer Indiana's by Steve Chubin sealed the Nets' fate as they suffered their fourth loss in a row. Freddie Lewis topped the Pacers with 26 points. Walt Simon led the Net scoring with 24.

Dublin Meet Set at Cooley

Doubles Tournament in February

Entries are being accepted for the ninth annual Dublin Doubles Tournament beginning next month at Cooley Lanes for the benefit of the Dublin Community Center.

With their prize fund raised to a $600 top prize, the Dublin Doubles sponsors are looking to improve last year's all-time high turnout which was won by Al Schupbach Sr. and Jr.

★ ★ ★

The bowling will be weekends and includes Feb. 8-9, 15-16 and 22-23. Entries will be accepted up until the final squad. Bowling will be Saturday afternoons and Sunday afternoons and evenings.

A 75 per cent handicap (based on a 200-average) will be permitted. The highest 1967-68 yearbook average or this year's average for 21 games if 10 pins above last year's must be used.

The doubles are open to men and women and are sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress and the Women's International Bowling Congress. The entry fee is $12 per team. Entries should be mailed to Lowell Foster at Cooley Lanes.

Carter Holds 91 Pin Lead

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Don Carter of Tarzana, Calif., carried a 91-pin lead into today's semi-finals of the Professional Bowlers Association $45,000 Valley of the Sun Open.

Carter, who has won every major tournament in the books, finished the 24-game qualifying grind with 5227. Don McCune of Munster, Ind. was the No. 2 man with 5136.

Carter, who led after 18 games, shot 1288 in his last six games.

Keg 700 Club to Elect Slate

Election of officers is on the agenda for the Pontiac 700 Club chapter outing Sunday afternoon at Walled Lake's Maple Lanes.

After the members — who are men or women with a sanctioned 700 series to their credit — bowl at 1:30 p.m. there will be a buffet dinner and a brief business meeting.

The bowling will be in two divisions: those with 185-or-higher averages, and those at 184 or lower. Each member is invited to bring one guest. All those eligible for membership but not yet in the chapter are requested to attend the outing.

BOWLING

The Oxford Merchants— representing five businesses in the northern Oakland county village — put it all together last Friday in the Huron Bowl Classic.

They moved into a tie for sixth place in the high-scoring league with a resounding 3314 series for one of the area's better team actuals in the history of classic league bowling around Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Ther merchants produced the series with games of 1091-1110-1113. Bob Gronzo's 725 (243-248-234) stroking led the way and produced the Pontiac area's sixth best men's series this season.

He had lots of help from teammates Nick Coates, 279-211-215—705; Art Pearson, 640; Joe Myers, 637; and captain Fran Bertram, 607.

Veterans Disposal had a 3160 as Neil Ricketts rolled 212-257—672. Autobahn Motors, Herks Auto Supply and Joyce's Standard Service each topped the 3,000-pin mark, too. The Oxford keglers also have the area's second high men's series this season, a 3258.

Angott Vending captured the first-half championship by four Peterson points in the Cooley Lanes Wednesday Classic.

Last week's pinspilling included a 244-222—681 for Jim Goodale, a 257 for Jim Jenks, Jim Tinson's 256-212—630, Ed Gibbs' 215-238—657 and Bud Morohn's 244-212—631.

★ ★ ★

The Wonderland Masters Lanes Monday featured a battle among Dave Eby, Jerry Dunkel and Ron Hammer for high game honors. Eby won with his 251, Dunkel posted a 249 and Hammer a 246.

Dunkel's 625 was the night's top series although there were 40 games in the 200 class. Mory's Pro Shop has a .030 lead over Sportsman's Bar in the dual for first place.

If Bob Kwiecien has anything to say about it, the bowling season is just beginning at Lighthouse Lanes.

A veteran member of the Detroit All-Star Classic and the 1966 American Bowling Congress regular division doubles champion with Tony Loiacano, Kwiecien is a trouble shooter in the bowling game.

Actually he is a successful real estate salesman in Macomb County but he's still dedicated enough to the bowling business to respond to the challenge of an empty establishment.

BOB KWIECIEN

Coowners Earl Tuttle and Bill Forcier's program (or lack of one) have left the Dixie Highway house with only one league after two and a half years, so they have turned to Kwiecien to revitalize the Lighthouse bowling fortunes.

His first major project begins tonight. It is a King of the Hill competition using a 70 per cent handicap for the men and an 80-per-cent spot for the women. Each week's winner returns to defend against the next week's survivor.

The entry fee is $6 for three games. The "King" (or Queen) will win $100 and the loser of the rolloff with get $50, based on less than 35 entries. Squad times are midnight and 1:15 a.m. Saturday.

A certified instructor, Kwiecien also has started a free instruction clinic 7-9 p.m. each Wednesday, and registrations are being taken for a youngsters' instructional class Saturday afternoons beginning Feb. 1.

The only cost for the Wednesday night class is the cost of the bowling. The Saturday afternoon session will have a discounted rate and lead into organized leagues.

Kwiecien is also working with the Waterford Township Recreation Department and the YMCA to develop regular programs during the week. Lighthouse does have a bus available for transporting groups to the 16-lane establishment.

★ ★ ★

A Singles Mingle League for unmarried bowlers is planned for Friday nights beginning in February and applications are being taken already.

Kwiecien will be overseeing the conditioning of the lanes and is looking for a counterman who can learn the bowling business and handle the daytime responsibilities.

A two-time National All-Star finalist, Kwiecien is negotiating to bring the Michigan Majors monthly tournament to Lighthouse in March, hopefully producing some big scores.

His background also includes setting up the initial program at Orchard Lanes on Opdyke Road. Kwiecien bowls for Crest Lanes in the All-Star Classic.

Jim McClain excited his Monday Morning Pontiac Blind Bowlers teammates and rivals by converting the 6-7 split. Only in his second year of bowling, McClain — who is one of the league's totally blind members — carries a 57 average.

Rose Wagner is the sighted captain on McClain's team and she directed him Monday when he converted the split which is very difficult for all bowlers.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's Elks Lodge No. 810 has 73 teams and 392 men entered in this year's state tournament which will begin tomorrow at Saginaw.

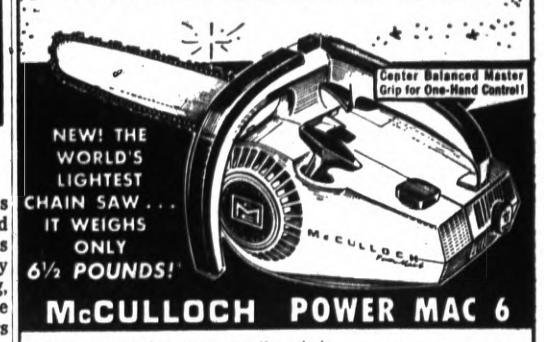

The 2:30 p.m. tournament-opening squad will have 10 Pontiac teams on it, and other 14 local entries will vie before the first day has ended for the 49th annual Elks state tournament.

★ ★ ★

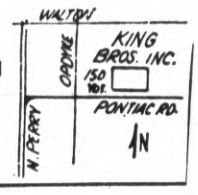

A big delegation of Rochester bowlers will go next weekend; Royal Oak and Ferndale entries are slated for Feb. 1-2; and Pontiac will send another large group Feb. 8-9; and one other Pontiac team plus Clawson-Troy entries will compete Mar. 8-9.

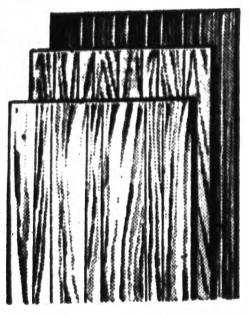

Farmington Elks also will go to Saginaw Mar. 15-16.

TV CAREER CHILDREN—Mary Jordan, 4, is interviewed by Majories Fields and her partner, Richard Voigts. The Voigts and Fields agency handles casting for TV commercials. There is no easy way in, but the youngsters who succeed get a small, early taste of fame and fortune.

TV Tots Get Taste of Success

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Everything is small fry about it, except the money they make. Youngsters, from months-old infants to high school age, are getting a piece of the billion-dollar television pie by doing commercials. Sometimes they come home with more money than their fathers!)

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — Marje Fields returned the telephone to its cradle and read the notes she had scribbled on a yellow scratch pad. They read: "Bouncy, old-fashioned kid—9-12—girl or boy—able to say 'wow-ee' with enthusiasm."

Miss Fields thought a minute and then went to her files, returning in minutes with several folders. Each contained a dossier of a child, complete with pictures.

★ ★ ★

They—actually their mothers — were clients of the talent agency of Voigts and Fields, and Miss Fields, who handles the child end of the operation, would send them to an audition held by an advertising agency in the process of creating a series of television commercials. Depending upon the way the completed commercial will be used, the youngster given the assignment could make $2,500 to $5,000 from his work. He could also wind up with the $120 minimum amount established by the performers' union, Screen Actors Guild, that controls commercials made on film.

DETERMINED MOTHERS

Youngsters usually start because their mother is determined, and also often a frustrated performer herself.

"The first step is to get a reputable manager to handle the child. The manager will see that proper pictures are taken, presentations are drawn up, and that they reach the right talent agencies."

★ ★ ★

Miss Fields keeps her files under the listing of the managers, but she knows each child in the records. Sometimes, however, her interest in a child is first stimulated by seeing a model's picture in a magazine advertisement. The next step is an interview with the child."

Although the whole business sounds like a glamorous lark, it involves frequent disappointment, lots of sitting around in offices, and, if one is lucky enough to be chosen for a job, long workdays, usually 8:30 a.m. through at least 5:30 p.m.

Youngsters with a flair for the work have not only done well with the commercials, but have gone on to other more purely theatrical careers—Patty Duke, Tuesday Weld, Carol Lynley and Eddie Hodges are among the graduates of commercials.

In the past few years, Miss Fields and her partner, Richard Voigts, have seen the general trend in TV commercials move from what she calls "pretty people" to men, women and children who look more like the people next door.

★ ★ ★

The trend also has moved from models—trained mostly just to stand there looking lovely—to performers who can give an impression of spontaneity to the copywriter's lines.

The experience of taking a youngster through an audition can be dashing—upsetting to the child and infuriating to a proud, ambitious parent not yet inured to the casual, often thoughtless, manners of the preoccupied commercials-makers.

"My wife took our son on one of those cattle-calls," said a young theatrical press agent, referring to an audition to which many were summoned but only one was chosen. "The boy got down to the final selection and then lost the job. But my wife was appalled at the way the children were discussed right in front of the kids and parents. One man said he liked one little girl except that she had squinty eyes and woudn't do. I would think that could be very distressing to a child who heard it."

The Gourmet Adventures of Jayson's

There should be nothing forbidding about Baked Alaska despite its being one of the most expensive desserts you can order in a restaurant. Make it for any number you like, with whatever flavor of ice cream you like.

Begin with a foundation of one layer of white or chocolate cake. Cover with a layer of ice cream which has been softened enough to handle. Place in freezer long enough to chill while you prepare the Meringue. Coat the ice-cream layer with the meringue and slide under a very hot broiler to brown, or sprinkle with granulated sugar, drench with heated rum and ignite it. This does the browning at the table and is very attractive.

Luscious! That's what you'll say about the steaks, chops, and seafood at JAYSON'S, 4195 Dixie Hwy. at Hatchery Rd., Drayton Plains, 673-7900. Insurance Men Get New Image

Quiet Methods Make Hard-Sell Obsolete

NEW YORK (UPI) — Computers and the post office have replaced the once-familiar "tenacious" insurance agent, an insurance company executive says.

The neighborhood "insurance man" who would stop by clients' and prospective clients' homes to chat and gossip and hope to sell insurance, has been replaced by mail advertising campaigns, says Lloyd Singer, head of a major U.S. insurance group.

★ ★ ★

"It began after the war," he explained, "with group insurance plans, employer-employee agreements and labor union-negiotiated plans."

Insurance companies began making use of the mails to spread their "message."

MUST BE SIMPLE

The key to the insurance companies' successful use of the mails, Singer said, is the use of the simplest possible plan — "And simple it must be if the sole explanation is to be conveyed by the written word.

"In insurance, it's selling the customer something he wants and needs, but doesn't really want to spend his money on," Singer said.

★ ★ ★

"Use of the mails, is extremely effective because it permits the potential customer to examine at his leisure the materials which may lead to his purchase of insurance.

The old door-to-door selling technique, Singer said, was expensive and often resulted in uncomfortable situations.

SLIPPED AWAY

"The other night at a party a man quietly slipped away from the group when my wife told him I was in the insurance business," Singer said, with a laugh. "It's an old and unfortunate — but still believed — stereotype. I guess he thought I might buttonhole him and try to sell some insurance."

Old Classmate Remembered

Search for a Sailor Is Ended

By JOE WING

NEW YORK (AP)—The sea winds blow strongly through the cornfields of Nebraska and that, they say, is why the U.S. Navy gets much of its manpower from the midwestern states.

When I was a boy and had never been closer than a thousand miles to the ocean, I read every sea story I could lay hands on and dreamed about entering Annapolis. That dream grounded on the rocks of poor eyesight and imcompetence in mathematics.

★ ★ ★

One whose secret dream did not founder was Carl Bender, a high school friend of mine.

Carl was a tall, grave youth from the other side of town. His mother was poor and his family had no tradition of higher education, but Carl became an outstanding student without apparent effort.

Geometry didn't bother him, and he would get up in Miss Jury's Latin class and read at sight passages I had been puzzling over for hours. He seemed like a natural for college.

★ ★ ★

Well, graduation came at last, as it did in those days for most high school students, and I began to figure out how, by working nights, I could attend the University of Nebraska where tuition was nearly free. Carl also talked vaguely about going to college. Instead, he dropped me a note from Omaha one day, saying he had enlisted in the Navy.

From time to time after that I got letters from Carl. He was serving on the East Coast, on the West Coast, in the Caribbean. He was advancing in grade from able-bodied seaman to mate, to chief. He thought he might yet get an opportunity to attend Annapolis.

But there is a limit to a high school friendship unnourished by renewed contact, and the exchange of letters finally ceased. Nevertheless the image of Carl Bender kept popping up every so often.

About a month ago something sparked me into action. I wrote an inquiry about Carl to the Bureau of Naval Personnel in Washington.

The matter had nearly slipped my mind this week when the answer came back. The big official envelope contained only my letter of inquiry, but someone had scrawled across the bottom:

"Missing and presumed dead, July 12, 1945."

Fogs Cleared by Helicopters

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — An Air Force civilian researcher belives he has found a quick, cheap way to get rid of a lot of the fog that costs airlines and highway travelers so much each year in accidents and lost time.

Vernon G. Plank of the Air Force Cambridge Research Laboratories has used a big helicopter to dispel warm-air fogs — the type which constitute about 85 per cent of all fogs.

In a three-week series of tests last month at Smith Montain Airport, near Roanoke, Va., Plank reports warm fogs 200 feet thick were clearned repeatedly with helicopters. Clearnings a mile in diameter were made in 10 minutes.

The helicopters' rotors force dry air into the fog layer from above. In the process, the dew point of the moist layer rises and the water droplets evaporate.

CLEARED EASILY

Cold fogs — ice crystals so tiny they do not form until well below freezing — are rare and are cleared easily by cloud seeding. Warm air fogs can be formed by warm air passing over cool water; warm breezes being forced upward and cooled; and by nighttime radiation cooling off the earth's surface.

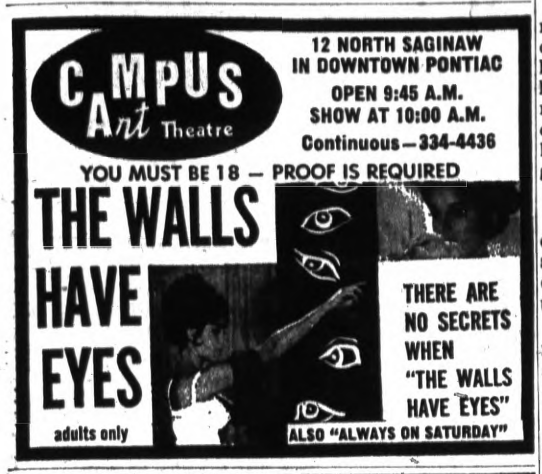

Plank, a 45-year-old cloud physicist, says maritime fogs "may form a bank 2,000 feet thick, and there the helicopter is useless."

The technique also is of no help in "temperature inversion" fogs which build up to similar depths. These account for much of the smog in the Los Angeles area, and occasional air pollution problems in New York.

During World War II, the British cleared warm ground fogs from airport runways by burning big cans of oil. This technique later was refined to the use of jet engines.

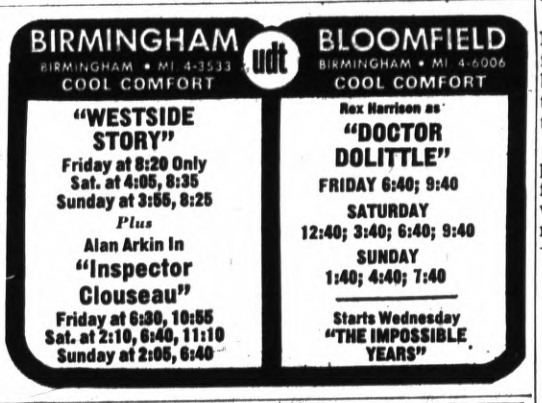

However, this method is expensive, and pollutants from the fuel may create particles on which water droplets form. The result would be smog.

Builder of F111A Calls Viet Performance a Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the firm building the Air Force's revolutionary but controversial F111A jet fighter-bomber says its Vietnam combat performance proved out successfully a new tactic in air warfare.

Frank W. Davis, president of General Dynamics Corp., said this is important to future warplanes which will use the same techniques involving flight to target at very high speed and very low altitude and hitting objectives accurately despite zero visibility.

★ ★ ★

Responding to questions posed by the Fort Worth (Tex.) Star-Telegram, Davis said the swing-wing F111A — known in its development days as the TFX — was committed to battle only "when planes and crews were deemed combat-ready."

Some critics of the much-criticized F111 contended the Air Force, possibly under prodding from civilian Pentagon leaders, sent the plane into action against North Vietnam before it was tested adequately. Three were lost out of eight committed.

NEW TACTIC

Davis said:

". . . the F111s were sent to Southeast Asia for a very important reason: to test a new tactic in aerial warefare. They were sent when planes and crews were deemed combat-ready. Results of combat missions flown proved that new tactic to be successful and this information is important not just to the F111 but to several future systems which will employ the same techniques.

"The loss of three F111s in Southeast Asia does not diminish the importance of what was learned, in my opinion. We think we know the cause of these three losses, and the cause has been removed."

★ ★ ★

But at another point, Davis said the causes of two "are unknown since the aircraft are still listed as missing on combat missions in Southeast Asia."

The Air Force said the third F111 lost while operating from a base in Thailand fell because a capsule of material used to seal fuel tanks became lodged in part of the plane's flight-control mechanism.

REPLY TO SYMINGTON

The General Dynamics president replied also to some criticisms of the F111 made by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former secretary of the Air Force and an air-power advocate.

Here are excerpts from the Star-Telegram's question-and-answer interview with Davis:

Q. There has been much publicity about the F111s crashing or being shot down in Vietnam. What is your reaction to this? Was the F111 committed to Vietnam too soon, or what?

A. Whether and when to send F111s to Southeast Asia was a decision made by the Air Force.

AIR NET TOUGH

It is a fact, widely reported in the press, that the air defenses in North Vietnam are the toughest ever encountered.

It is also a fact that, in war, the balance between offense and defense shifts constantly. In the buildup of North Vietnamese air defenses, using Soviet weapons, we have seen a steady shift in the balance toward the defense.

★ ★ ★

As has been frequently reported, the intensive ground fire over North Vietnam has forced our attacking aircraft up to altitudes where they become vulnerable to surface-to-air missiles (SAMs) or to enemy fighters.

Our military planners have sought to shift the balance back by first testing, then using, devices and tactics that help cancel out the enemy advantage.

RADAR CONFUSERS

One example is our growing use of electronic devices and tactics to confuse North Vietnamese radar.

Another example might be an airplane that could hit enemy targets without being vulnerable to the enemy's built-up defenses. But to be able to do this, such an airplane would first have to be able to fly at very low altitude at very high speed. If it could do this, it would be too low to be detected by enemy radar which, of course directs the enemy ground fire. It would also be too low for the SAMs.

★ ★ ★

Those capabilities alone wouldn't be enough as long as the enemy could see it. So you need to be able to fly in zero visibility, too.

All these capabilities still would not make such an airplane effective, however, unless it can deliver its weapons accurately on a target in zero visibility.

50 MISSIONS

What I have just described is the F111A and the type of mission it actually did fly in Southeast Asia. It can do and has done all the things I've described. Based on the results of more than 50 of these radar bombing missions, Air Force Secretary Harold Brown told Congress that the F111A "... did a job that no other aircraft that we have is able to do."

Summarizing, the F111s were sent to Southeast Asia for a very important reason: to test a new tactic in aerial warfare. They were sent when planes and crews were deemed combat-ready. Results of combat missions flown proved that new tactic to be successful and this information is important not just to the F111 but to several future systems which will employ the same techniques.

★ ★ ★

The loss of three F111s in Southeast Asia does not diminish the importance of what was learned, in my opinion. We think we know the cause of those three losses, and the cause has been removed.

HOW MANY

Q. How many F111s have been completed and flown?

A. One hundred and thirty-five F111s have been built and flown. They have amassed more than 19,500 flying hours.

Q. How many have crashed?

A. Eleven.

Q. What caused each crash?

A. Four losses were attributable to mechanical malfunctions in the airplane. These causes have been eliminated. One loss is attributable to improper maintenance; four to improper crew procedures; two are unknown since the aircraft are still listed as missing on combat missions in Southeast Asia.

Q. What about Symington's statement that the F111 is "too large and too expensive to be used for daylight dive-bombing, too sluggish and too unmaneuverable to risk in air-to-air combat and too expensive to commit to the kind of action where a man with a rifle might knock it down?"

OPTIMUM CONDITIONS

A. Let's take the bombing issue first. Sen. Symington assumes three conditions: daylight, good weather, and little or no enemy opposition. Given those three conditions, Sen. Symington is correct. You could bomb Hanoi with Piper Cubs.

Under Sen. Symington's set of ideal conditions, alternative aircraft could be more cost-effective than the F111, but these costs may not include support aircraft such as tankers, fighter cover, and radar surveillance. The F111 needs none of these.

Instead of Sen. Symington's conditions, assume these: night, bad weather and heavy enemy opposition. Since the Air Force already had aircraft able to be effective in the senator's scenario, it developed the F111 to be effective under a more arduous set. It needed both types of aircraft, now it has them.

As to air-to-air combat, it must be remembered that the F111A was developed to replace the F105 as the Air Force's workhorse fighter-bomber. This transition is now in progress. Like the F105, the F111A's job is to be able to fight its way through enemy defenses and hit targets accurately deep in an enemy heartland, then fight its way out again.

DIFFERENT CATEGORY

Fighter-bombers are a different category of aircraft than air-superiority fighters, and the F111 design was laid down as the former, not the latter. Despite this, the F111A is not defenseless against enemy aircraft. This observation could best be pursued with the Air Force pilots who are flying the F111A.

Q. What about Symington's statement that the plane does not have the range nor the bomb-carrying capacity of either the B52 or the B58, although the FB111 is supposed to replace these planes?

★ ★ ★

A. The primary reason that the FB111 can be a replacement for the early models of the B52 is that it has greater range when operated with a tanker, and they both require a tanker to accomplish long-range missions. Since the smaller FB111 requires less fuel from the tanker, it can be refueled over twice as far from the takeoff base as the B52.

During the combat portion of the mission, following refueling, the FB111 has a superior low-level range performance, because it was designed for the low-altitude conditions while the B52 was not. Accordingly, on this refueled mission, the total target coverage of the FB111 is greater than that of the early B52.

SMALLER SIZE VIRTUE

Since the FB111 can exceed the range of the older B52 on refueled missions, the smaller size of the FB111 is a virtue; i.e., it is harder to spot by radar. Because it is smaller, faster and more versatile, it is a much more serious threat to enemy defenses.

The FB111 can make its penetration to the target at very low altitudes and at very high speeds. The B52 cannot. The FB111 also can penetrate at high altitudes at more than twice the speed of sound. The B52 cannot—it is a subsonic airplane.

Trading Slackens

Market Holds Moderate Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market held a moderate gain early today as trading slackened below Thursday's pace.

The Dow Jones industrial average was ahead less than a point, but gains outnumbered losses by about 230 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

Benguet, up 1½, raced far ahead as volume leader on a series of sizable blocks, the largest of which was 70,000 shares.

General Motors supplied market leadership by advancing more than a point. Steels, rubbers, mail order-retails and aerospace issues were higher.

Active gainers of a point or better were American Smelting, Goodrich and United Air Lines.

Most airline stocks were slightly higher, aided by news that domestic airlines fare boosts of 3.8 per cent were tentatively approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Hopefulness concerning peace negotiations, a government forecast that wage and price increases will be slowed only moderately this year and the decision of stock exchanges to continue five-day-week, four-hour sessions were regarded as encouraging items for stocks.

Thursday The Associate Press average of 60 stocks rose 2.0 to 351.7.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Space Feat Is Hailed; May Give Lead to Russia

By GRANVILLE WATTS

LONDON (AP) — Europe hailed today the Soviet space station achievement and some newspapers said it put the Russians back neck and neck or even ahead of the United States in the space race.

Air correspondents pointed out the military advantages of a manned Soviet space station orbiting the earth.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's radio astronomy station, commented: "In a short time we can expect to witness the build-up of a permanent space station in earth orbit. This would determine the trend of Russian space activities for a long time ahead.

"It will certainly be used for important astronomical and geophysical investigations and probably with a shuttle service of Russian scientists from earth.

"Though it still seems unlikely that the Russians can be in competition with the Apollo program for a lunar landing, it will undoubtedly give them great flexibility for lunar and planetary exploration in the 1970s."

He contended the Russian achievement gives them a four-year lead over the United States in techniques of assembling space equipment in orbit.

Lovell said that if all went well with the Soviet program, small fry by the middle 70s."

Chapman Pincher, defense expert of the London Daily Express, said the Soviet space link-up suggests that while the United States is concentrating "my guess is that the Americans will be looking rather on a moon landing, the Russians are giving priority to mastering flights in earth orbit.

"British defense chiefs have long suspected this. Orbital flight offers the quickest military pay-off," Pincher said.

"The Russians have an H-bomb rocket which has world-wide range because it almost goes into orbit, They could now put up multiple satellites carrying large number of 'jump-down' bombs if these offer military advantage," Pincher added.

* * *

In Germany, the Frankfurter Neue Press said: "Nearly three years after the Americans, the Russians have now drawn even in one sector of space navigation."

* * *

The Frankfurter Algemeine Zeitung: "The current Soviet experiment, certainly a preliminary one, obviously leaves more doors open than did the primarily spectacular American Apollo mission."

Il Messaggero of Rome pointed out that if an astronaut had trouble in space, "another spaceship can now be sent to his aid, reach the faulty vehicle, save its pilot and then return to earth."

* * *

The Soviet space link-up was watched on television throughout Europe.

In Bulgaria, thousands assembled outside the Soviet Embassy to hail the achievement. Bulgarian newspapers carried banner headlines: "Outer space speaks in Russian once again" and "The Soviet Union creates first experimental outer space station."

* * *

In Vienna, the Austrian newspaper Volksblatt said in an editorial: "It is becoming clear that the space programs of the two great powers go different paths."

* * *

It said the Russians apparently are unwilling to enter a race to the moon, but are aiming at establishing a permanently staffed space station near the earth, and added: "The crew of this space station could undertake numerous scientific experiments, but it could also be used for military intelligence."

Jersey Isle Stays in the British Fold

LONDON (AP) — Delegates from the Channel Island of Jersey, a low-tax haven off the coast of France, went home today promising not to stage a Rhodesia-style breakaway from Britain.

Thus ended a half-hearted rebellion by the 70,000 islanders, fearful that Britain's Labor government was plotting to take away such ancient privileges as cheap cigarettes and liquor.

* * *

A seven-man delegation met with Home Secretary James Callaghan and emerged with an assurance that the island would be left to run its own affairs.

"A PAD THAT'S RIGHT OUT OF PLAYBOY!"

30-DAY OCCUPANCY

That's what one young swinger said when he first glimpsed an Oakland Valley Apartment! Modestly, we agree. We've put all the latest luxuries into these 1 and 2 bedroom apartments . . . sunken living rooms, terrace dining rooms, even private balconies. We've carpeted them, draped them, installed air conditioning, and sound-condition them so as not to inhibit parties. And just to show we're serious about the Playboy bit, we've built the great new Oakland Valley Club for Oakland Valley Apartment residents and their guests. It has a pool, card and game rooms, exercise room, sauna baths, and a very free-wheeling atmosphere. All yours for as little as $175 a month. P.S.—Bunnies Welcome.

Models Open Daily and Sunday—1 to 8 P.M. Saturday—1 to 6 P.M. Closed Wednesday.

A Look at TV

Bob Hope Scores Again

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK—That fine television institution, "The Bob Hope Christmas Special," arrived on NBC Thursday night — warm, moving, sentimental and funny as ever.

The star of the troupe of traveling entertainers, Hope, long ago evolved a fool-proof recipe for entertaining fighting men far from home and he wisely never changes the basic ingredients.

★ ★ ★

This year it consisted of 19 very pretty girls who could also sing, dance a bit and occasionally set up the straight lines for the comedians.

Hope's gags change from year to year and place to place, but as always some of the biggest laughs come from jokes about local weather and customs in remote places of the world.

HIGH MOMENTS

For the television audience, the show is a report about the fighting men to the folks back home, and for us, as always, the high moments were the shots of relaxed servicemen, many of them wounded, enjoying themselves.

Performer Ann-Margret, singer Linda Bennett and a singing group called the Golddiggers drew most of the whistles.

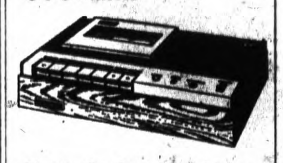

★ ★ ★

The program was followed on NBC by another excellent special, this one falling somewhere between variety and a topical revue and starring Alan King.

In the course of assorted sketches, musical numbers, blackouts and monologues, King and his guest stars satirized subjects from politics to The Pill, from telephone service to men's cosmetics.

Longer School Year Is Eyed in Waterford

The Waterford Township Board of Education last night unanimously approved the seeking of a grant for a study on feasibility of extending the district's school year.

It will be submitted to the State Board of Education for approval.

"An extended school year would aid in reducing the cost of further construction by using present facilities to the maximum," said M. Barrett Vorce, associate superintendent for personnel.

★ ★ ★

A study of the school district would determine if holding classes year-round would aleviate some of it's problems, he said.

In other business the board heard a report from Joseph Giddis, associate superintendent for business, regarding the lack of full and part-time bus drivers in the district.

OUT OF ACTION

He said there were two days last week when three buses did not run. All three served William Beaumont Elementary School.

Four students and several parents "representing concerned students and people of Waterford" asked to be heard at the next board meeting. They plan to present the board with a petition requesting another millage election.

★ ★ ★

They informed the board that after the Dec. 7 defeat of a 9-mill operating tax and a $10.8-million bond issue by voters they collected 1,100 signatures of registered voters to petition another millage election.

A student spokesman for the group said the millage is necessary to restore the district's secondary schools to a full program and forestall cutbacks at the elementary level.

COMMENTS OFFERED

Board members listened attentatively to the request and offered comments of explanation regarding the legal steps required before a millage and bond election.

Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe said another millage election could not be held before March 1 to allow the necessary time lapse for publication and voter registration.

The bond issue could not be presented again to the voters until June, he added, because state law requires that a six-month period elapse before presenting voters with the same request.

The board unanimously approved the adoption of a newly revised handbook of policies and administrative procedures.

Unanimous approval also was given a request by the superintendent for the issuance of pass cards for senior citizens. This will enable them to participate in any adult education class, tuition free, and attend, admission free, any school activity such as athletic events or drama and music programs.

Appointments to the Board of Canvassers were tabled until the next meeting. Board member Eldon C. Rosegart was asked to present two names for the boards' approval. The Board of Canvassers is composed of four members, two Republicans and two Democrats.

Waterford Panel to Discuss Future of School District

"What Now?" is the question to be discussed at Tuesday's meeting of the Greater Waterford Community Council at 8 p.m. at Pierce Junior High.

School officials will diseuss adjustments which will be made to keep within the school budget.

Panelists will be Donald Porter, board of education president; Dr. Don O. Tatroe, schools superintendent; M. Barrett Vorce, associate schools superintendent, personnel; and Robert Crumpton, executive secretary, Waterford Education Association.

The meeting is open to the public.

'Great Society' Back In for LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the end he came back to the great society.

President Johnson first used the term "great society" to refer to his program in a speech in Ann Arbor, Mich., in the spring of 1965.

But as he began to draw criticism he used the term less and less, and then, for a long time, not at all.

In his final State of the Union message, he came back to it once again.

★ ★ ★

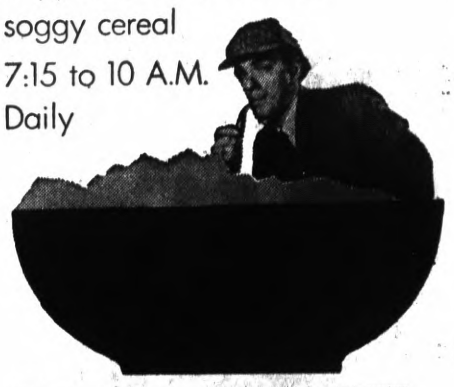

He said in his beginning remarks that he would talk "about the commitments that all of us have made together that will, if we carry them out, give America our best chance to achieve the kind of a great society that we all want."

Waterford School Cutback Tentatively Set by Board

A plan to cut back the Waterford Township school program for 1969-70 tentatively was approved last night by the board of education.

Proposed are half-day sessions for one semester for grades one through six and continuation of present cutbacks in other grades.

The district's secondary schools programs (grades seven through 12) were reduced one-sixth starting in September.

Further tentative cutbacks include elimination of four vocal music teacher positions and the district's subsidy to the camping program; a reduction of in-service education and reductions in school administrattion.

$1.47-MILLION CUT

Total reductions at the secondary and elementary level then would cut expenses by an estimated $1.47 million.

This was the first time the board formally discussed further reductions since Dec. 7 when voters rejected a 9-mill increase and a $10.8-million bond issue.

★ ★ ★

Supt. Don O. Tatroe said the deadline for final board action on the reductions would be April 1 to allow for adequate time in laying out next year's budget.

"I think the board and the community should be aware of the problems the administration is facing," Tatroe said. He added, the plan will be discussed further with groups of administrators and teachers' representatives.

★ ★ ★

Robert Crumpton, executive secretary of the Waterford Education Association (WEA) said the association will present the board with its reduction plan at the next board meeting.

Prizes, Finals Await Junior Miss Winner

An opportunity to compete in the national finals and a long list of prizes await the 1969 Michigan Junior Miss to be crowned tomorrow night in Pontiac.

Preliminary talent performances are scheduled tonight and final judging will be held tomorrow night. Both programs start at 8 p.m. in the Pontiac Northern High School auditorium.

★ ★ ★

The winner of the state pageant, sponsored by the Pontiac Area Jaycees, will receive a trip to the national finals in May in Mobile, Ala.

Other prizes include more than $1,000 in scholarships and more than $500 in savings bonds.

4 FROM AREA COMPETE

Four area Junior Misses will be competing for the state title. They are Patti Dell of 201 Draper, Pontiac; Pamela Munger of 2506 Little Trail, Commerce Township; Caryn Everly of 3440 Quick, Holly Township; and Linda Oldershaw of 28425 Peppermill, Farmington Township.

Tickets for both events may be purchased at the door or obtained in advance at Osmun's downtown and in the Tel-Huron Shopping Center and at the C. R. Haskill Studio, 1 University.

★ ★ ★

Tickets for tonight's performance are $2. The price is $2.50 for the finals tomorrow.

U.S. Troop Cuts Aired

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. military commander in Vietnam, conferred today with President Nguyen Van Thieu on U.S. troop withdrawals and a possible cease-fire in light of the break in the peace talks deadlock.

The meeting took place less than 24 hours after an announcement from Paris that the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Vietcong's National Liberation Front will begin four-way talks tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, the U.S. Air Force disclosed it is reviewing its contingency plans for a troop withdrawal or a cease-fire.

One source said the meeting was "pretty high-level stuff," also attended by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Foreign Minister Tran Chanh Thanh. the informant said the leaders discussed "a whole spectrum of things" for nearly two hours.

Topics included:

—Withdrawal of American troops, how many and how soon.

● A truce, which could mean a total cease-fire, a partial cease-fire or a "cease-fire in place." The latter means all troops would simply stay where they are, without mounting any new operations or continuing any old onds

● How to retaliate if the enemy should attack Saigon during the new negotiations. "In other words," said the source, "would this mean an automatic resumption of bombing North Vietnam?"

● The demilitarized zone.

Ky, supervisor of South Vietnam's Paris delegation, is scheduled to return to Europe early next week.

★ ★ ★

Informants close to Thieu said the initial withdrawal announcement could specify from 20,000 to 50,000 men without a timetable.

On Thursday, Premier Tran Van Huong was quoted by a spokesman as saying he believes the United States could begin a withdrawal of 10,000 men a month without compromising the war effort.

3 Cosmonauts Are Down Safe

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Soviet cosmonauts landed safely in snow and howling winds today aboard Soyuz 4, Moscow Radio reported.

They landed in the Soviet Union about 1,500 miles southeast of here.

★ ★ ★

Related Story, Page D-3

The ship landed was commanded by Vladimir Shatalov, who was launched into orbit Tuesday. Two days later he was joined in his cabin by Alexei Yeliseyev and Yevgeny Khrunov, who climbed aboard from Soyuz 5 — achieving the world's first crew transfer in orbit.

Radio Moscow said Volynov reported from space after the landing of his comrades that he "feels excellent." There was no immediate report on his plans for a return to earth.

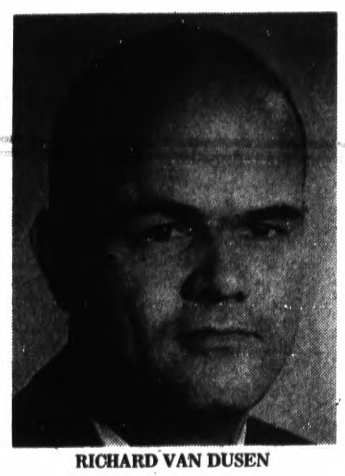

Soyuz 4 docked in orbit yesterday with Soyuz 5, and then separated after transfer of the two crewmen. The feat was reported here as a step toward creation of long-term space laboratories.

The radio broadcast said Soyuz 4 landed in the "predetermined region" at 1:53 a.m. EST, after a "smooth" parachute descent.

The three cosmonauts strapped themselves into their seats and then commander Shatalov made manual adjustments in the craft's position and fired a reentry blast from the ship's rocket.

Romney Confirmation Near; County Man to Be Top Aide?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asserting firmly that "I will" be the one in the Nixon Administration to speak out on the needs of cities, Michigan Gov. George Romney won unanimous informal approval yesterday to be the next U.S. secretary of housing and urban development (HUD).

RICHARD VAN DUSEN

At the same time, reports were circulating that another Oakland County resident, Richard C. Van Dusen of Bingham Farms, Romney's former legal adviser, would be named the top HUD undersecretary.

Van Dusen, 43, of 32205 Bingham served two terms in Michigan's House of Representatives, 1954-56, and during 1963 was the governor's legal aide.

Romney is expected to receive formal confirmation from the Senate Banking nd Currency Committee and the Senate wihtout difficulty after the inaguration of President-elect Nixon Monday.

NO ORDERS FROM MOYNIHAN

The outgoing Michigan governor said he would take no orders from Daniel Patrick Moynihan, who has been named Nixon's assistant for urban affairs.

"I don't visualize Moynihan having operational responsibilities, or telling members of the Cabinet what to do. Nixon has made it clear that there will be no chief of staff in the White House telling us what to do," Romney said.

Romney said as the new leader of HUD, he would strive for a "large scale production of housing, particularly for low- and middle-income families."

He also announced a campaign "to improve the quality of life in this country both in the big cities and in the small towns."

CREDIT SQUEEZE

However, he told the committee that he believes the nation faces a "credit squeeze in the next few months which can adversely affect the amount of housing constructed this year."

He also said he would lead a campaign to get big business interested in the housing industry, to enlist the aid of unions and to push his "sweat equity" concept to give the poor the money and opportunity to build their own houses and contracting businesses in the ghettos.

Senate Unit to Quiz Lodge on Viet Settlement Views

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee questions Henry Cabot Lodge, now chief of the U.S. negotiating team in Paris, today to try to find out if he still is personally opposed to a compromise peace in Vietnam.

As one member explained it, the committee is divided over whether there is indeed a "new" Lodge, now more agreeable to a negotiated settlement than when he was ambassador to Saigon. Opponents of the war, led by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., hold a majority on the committee.

★ ★ ★

Lodge will be asked about reports from Bonn, where he has been ambassador, that he has softened his view that the war must be carried on until the Communist Vietcong is decimated.

President Johnson, meanwhile, voiced pleasure that "certain basic procedural problems in Paris have been solved and new talks on the substance of peace in Southeast Asia can open."

★ ★ ★

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, Johnson's chief negotiator, has accepted Nixon's invitation to keep himself available for consultation, saying he would be "glad to participate."

Harriman, who returns Sunday to Washington, said in Paris that agreement on the seating of conference delegates removes an obstacle that might have caused considerably more delay in beginning substantive negotiations.

1,000 Challenge PSH School Site

Voice of Oakland County Action League (VOCAL) last night presented the Pontiac Board of Education with petitions demanding that the board change its decision to locate the district's planned $19-million super high school on Pontiac State Hospital land.

Mrs. Shawlene Stanley, chairman of the VOCAL petition committee, said the petitions contained about 1,000 signatures.

Related Stories, Page B-11

The petition drive started shortly after the school board Nov. 18 selected the hospital site. The other proposed site for the three-school complex was in the Bagley-Orchard Lake roads area, a predominantly Negro section.

VOCAL's petition goal is 10,000 signers.

TO VISIT LEGISLATURE

Mrs. Stanley and her cochairman, Mrs. Carol Sweeney, said they would travel to Lansing today to meet with state legislators.

They said VOCAL is planning to petition the State Legislature to block sale of state-owned Pontiac State Hospital land to the school board. The Legislature must authorize the sale.

Dismal Weather Seen for Weekend

Dark and dreary with a chance of light rain or drizzle is the outlook for the Pontiac area through tomorrow, with little change in temperatures.

TODAY — Cloudy and not much temperature change with fog and drizzle mostly this morning. High 37 to 42. Cloudy and little temperature change tonight with chance of light rain or drizzle. Low 32 to 37.

TOMORROW — Brief freezing rain possible early in the morning. Cloudy and mild with rain likely, the high near 40.

SUNDAY — Mostly cloudy and a little cooler, showers likely changing to snow flurries.

A foggy 33 was the low temperature prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The thermometer reading was 38 at 12:30 p.m.

Kelley 'Outlines Goals'

LANSING (AP) — Acting Gov. Frank Kelley outlined goals for his four-day administration yesterday in a tongue-in-cheek announcement.

Kelley is acting governor because Gov. George Romney is in Washington, Lt. Gov. William Milliken is in New York and Secretary of State James Hare is in Europe.

Peace Talk Progress to Be Slow, Tortuous

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnam talks will begin anew tomorrow under an agreement so vague and ambiguous as to becloud any participant's claim of victory. But new wrangling lies ahead, and few here expect progress toward peace to be anything but slow and tortuous.

The vagueness of the arrangements for the first enlarged meeting appeared to have been deliberate. The solution to an obstacle which held up this phase of the talks for more than two months centered about the arrangement of one large table and two small ones in the International Conference Center.

★ ★ ★

The break in the procedural deadlock which had stalled the talks was considered a preinauguration bonus for the incoming U.S. administration.

President-elect Nixon, working and relaxing at Key Biscayne, Fla., pleadged himself yesterday to purposeful and energetic pursuit of the Vietnam peace negotiations, without signaling any policy alteration in that quest.

His statement on tomorrow's coming resumtion of the Paris peace talks was brief and little more than a formality.

★ ★ ★

The French government has been asked to produce a big round table suitable for seating 16 delegates around it at one time, and two small rectangular tables, each 5½ feet long and three feet wide. The small tables will be placed at opposite sides of the big table, exactly 18 inches from its edges.

The South Vietnamese government can point to this table arrangement as actually providing the dividing line between two sides which it has demanded, and can even claim that the arrangements cuts the conference room in half.

★ ★ ★

North Vietnam and its ally, the Vietcong's National Liberation Front, can point to the fact that their original round table idea has been accepted, and that thus they consider the conference four-sided.

Autopsy Backs Warren Report on JFK—Experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A panel of medical experts which met in secret last year says the autopsy findings on President John F. Kennedy were correct as detailed in the Warren Commission Report and prove he was shot twice from behind.

The report was made public by the Justice Department last night, on the eve of court proceedings on a petition by New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison to gain possession of autopsy photographs and X rays in the hope of proving the President was hit by one bullet fired from in front of him, and another fired at his back.

★ ★ ★

Garrison subpoenaed the material as evidence in the trial of Clay L. Shaw, retired 55-year-old New Orleans businessman charged with conspiring to murder Kennedy. It is to begin Tuesday.

Garrison claims he can use the photographs and X rays to prove at least one of the bullets which struck Kennedy in Dallas five years ago was fired from his front.

PROOF OF CONSPIRACY

This would show that a conspiracy was involved, whereas the Warren Commission concluded Kennedy was shot by one man, Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone.

James Alcock, Garrison's chief assistant, said Thursday night the panelists' report "doesn't satisfy our subpoena. It just seems we're getting the same old slight-of-hand."

★ ★ ★

Garrison's office will press for autopsy documents, including photographs and Xrays, at a sessions court hearing in Washington today, Alcock said.

Alcock said of the panel review, "it seems that thy just don't have any confidence in the state" and physicians here who might testfy as expert witnesses on the autopsy material.

3 AGENTS SUBPOENAED

Meantime, Garrison subpoenaed three federal agents Thursday to testify at Shaw's trial, apparently in an attempt to prove his conspiracy theory.

Attorneys for Shaw filed their first subpoenas also, including one for William Gurvich, who was Garrison's chief investigator during the probe in 1967 and has said the probe had no basis in fact.

★ ★ ★

Salvatore Panzeca, an attorney for Shaw, said Marina Oswald Porter, of Dallas Tex., widow of Oswald, will be subpoenaed to testify for the defense.

Peace Returns at 2 Colleges

By The Associated Press

The death of its president brought peace to racially troubled Swarthmore College today, and officials of the University of Minnesota restored order in an administration building damaged by students in a 24-hour sit-in.

Still in turmoil, however, were San Francisco State College, where bombs came into play, and Brandeis University, where the campus communications center remained in the hands of 65 Negroes for the 10th day.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Courtney Craig Smith, 52, died of a heart attack in his office at Swarthmore yesterday, a day after naming a faculty committee to deal with Negro student demands for special racial privileges.

Because of his death 40 members of the Afro-American Student Society ended a one-week sitdown in the college admissions office and called a moratorium on discussions. They said they had not given up their demands.

President Malcolm C. Moos of the University of Minnesota said members of the Afro-American Action Committee and Students for a Democratic Society had caused $11,000 damage to furniture and records in an administration building which they had occupied Tuesday night and Wednesday.

At San Francisco State, where part of the faculty went on strike 10 days ago and the Black Students Union has been staging demonstrations for months, an unexploded time bomb was found yesterday near the office of President S.I. Hayakawa.

Foes of Filibuster Fight On in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite apparent defeat, senators who want to make it easier to choke off filibusters have refused to give up.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told reporters the debate may go on two or three more days.

★ ★ ★

If so, Vice President-elect Spiro Agnew may find himself called on for rulings in the intricate parliamentary battle. He becomes the Senate's presiding officer Monday.

The Senate yesterday refused to sustain a precedent-shattering rulong by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey that a simple majority could shut off debate in the session-opening rules fight.

★ ★ ★

The 53-45 vote to override Humphrey's ruling appeared to be a fatal blow to a bipartisan drive for a less strict cloture rule.

Brief Glances at Today's News

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. Willard Wirtz, outgoing secretary of labor, says the federal minimum wage should be increased from $1.60 an hour to $2, and, "Nobody who works should be left out."

Wirtz told Congress yesterday coverage "should be extended to every job within reach of federal authority and provisions should be made for encouraging full coverage, at the same level, through state legislation."

Soviets Getting Flu

GENEVA (AP) — Hong Kong flu is spreading quickly in the Soviet Union, the U.N. World Health Organization reported today.

It said flu has doubled in Moscow. A four-to-five-fold increase was reported in Central Asia.

'DDT Killing Birds'

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Use of the pesticide DDT is threatening extinction of some birds, a University of Wisconsin scientist said yesterday.

Dr. Joseph J. Hickey, a wildlife ecologist, told a state hearing on a petition to ban DDT — a ban that could have nationwide implications — that he is convinced DDT is nearing its extinction of some species such as the peregrine falcon, bald eagle and osprey.

Cruise Ship Is Freed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Lightened by departure of her 471 passengers and 202 of her crew, the British cruise ship Carmania was hauled off a sandbar near the island at San Salvador in the Bahamas today, five days after she ran aground.

The Carmania will go to Newport News, Va., for repairs.

Sirhan Trial Landmark?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Continued argument over a prospective juror opposed to the death penalty raises the possibility the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial may become a landmark case.

Yesterday Deputy Dist. Atty. David N. Fitts renewed his challenge to the seating of Alvina Alvidrez who told the court Wednesday that "under no circumstances whatsoever" could she vote for a death penalty.

Should the juror remain on the panel and Sirhan be convicted of first-degree murder, Deputy Dist. Atty. John E. Howard said, the judge would risk the problem of double jeopardy if the jury that convicted Sirhan had to be replaced by a jury to deliberate punishment.

House to Receive New Parochiaid Bill

LANSING (UPI) — A bill that would give $40 million annually in state aid to Michigan's 1,000 parochial schools is slated for introduction in the House next month.

The measure will follow recommendations of a joint legislative committee, which revealed its findings of a six-month study of school aid to parochial schools at a news conference yesterday.

The committee's report recommended an average grant of $125 per pupil for secular education courses. In ghetto areas, $250 for each student was proposed. Financing would come from the state's general fund, supported mainly by state income and sales tax revenue.

State aid to public schools now average about $250 per pupil.

The money would be distributed through local intermediate school districts, with payment to be made to instructors for teaching subjects like reading, writing and arithmetic. No money would go for religious instruction.

Sen. Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo, chairman of the committee, said the payments would not require an increase in taxes because of an expected $70-million surplus in the state treasury by the end of the current fiscal year. Last year, the state had a $55-million surplus.

Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D-Midland, who said he would sponsor the bill in the House, predicted its approval there, with "little trouble."

The 1968 bill to allow direct payment to parents of children in nonpublic schools died in committee after thousands of letters poured into the Capitol on the issue. At that time, legislators decided they needed more information on the matter and set up the joint study committee.

Air Fare Hikes Tentatively OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has tentatively agreed to a 3.8 per cent increase in domestic airline passenger fares.

The CAB said final approval of the increases, which probably would go into effect March 1, will be made after a "careful analysis of tariffs" to be filed by the airlines.

Six major airlines had applied for fare increases of five to seven per cent. A CAB spokesman said Thursday increases that large are "not warranted at this time."

The six were American, Braniff, Eastern, Northeast, Trans World and United.

The increase tentatively approved would have this effect on ticket-buyers:

- Each first-class fare for a trip of "any distance" would go up $3 one way.
- Certain first-class fares for East-West trips of 800 miles or more in specific markets where fares heretofore have been lower than industry norms would be increased by $1 to $7, depending on the distance.
- Coach fares for flights up to 500 miles would be increased by $2 one way. For flights of 500 to 1,800 miles they would be increased by $1 one way. They would not be increased for flights above 1,800 miles.
- The lines would be permitted to establish a seven-day minimum stay requirement and a seven-day minimum ticket pickup requirement for "Discover America" excursion fares.

Decision on Clark's License May Be Reached in Week

A decision may be reached in a week by a state medical board on whether to revoke the license of Dr. Ronald E. Clark, who is serving a 3-to-15-year prison term in the "truth serum" death of a woman office assistant.

Dr. Irvin J. Kurtz, chairman of the State Board of Registration in Medicine, said after a hearing on the question that the 10 board members would study the testimony privately before reaching their verdicts, probably next week.

DR. RONALD E. CLARK

Clark was brought under guard from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson for the hearing in Detroit, and then returned after the six-hour inquiry.

At the hearing, Clark was charged with acting improperly in treating Mrs. Grace Neil, 43, of Livonia with the truth drug, sodium pentathol.

He was convicted of manslaughter last June in the November 1967 death of Mrs. Neil.

His attorney, James Wells, said yesterday that Clark used sodium pentathol "to bring an inexpensive form of psychiatric care to his patients."

Two medical experts testified that sodium pentathol had no therapeutic value. The drug is used at times with other forms of psychiatric treatment.

The Oakland County Prosecutor's Office also is studying Clark's involvement in the death of another part-time employe and patient, Mrs. Hannah Powerbank, 66, of Detroit.

An autopsy showed recently that there were traces of sodium pentathol in her brain.

Urban Design Plan Slide Showings Set

BIRMINGHAM—John Jickling, chairman of the City Planning Board, will give a slide presentation of the city's urban design plan to members of the Rotary Club Monday at their noon luncheon and to Lions Club members Wednesday, also at noon.

Both groups meet at the Community House.

★ ★ ★

The urban design plan was devised after more than two years of discussion among members of the city commission, planning board, residents and Birmingham's urban design consultants, Johnson, Johnson and Roy of Ann Arbor. The long-range plan details Birmingham's urban planning projects through the 1970's.

YEAR'S PROJECTS

Projects in the design plan to be developed this year include construction of a plaza in front of the municipal building. Birmingham Jaycees will finance the plaza with funds derived from public solicitation.

★ ★ ★

Other immediate projects are an "experimental" block on Henrietta Street with experimental street lighting, street furniture and street design implemented to test public response.

★ ★ ★

The area around the city's new parking deck at Merrill and Pierce will be landscaped.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — "Indian Artists Attitude Toward Art" will be the subject of a lecture by Dr. Amitendranath Tagore Wednesday at 1 and 7:30 p.m. in the Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Tagore is professor of Chinese language and literature at Oakland University.

★ ★ ★

The lecture is part of a 10-week "Contrasts and Comparisons" series recommended for teachers of art and general studies. The series is designed to help teachers integrate art and culture into regular classroom programs. Guests are welcome at individual lectures at $2.50.

The Cranbrook Institute of Science begins its "Introducing Science" programs for youngsters in grades 1-3 Feb. 1. Sessions are set for four Saturdays with programs at 9 a.m. and 10:30 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Films and practical and personal demonstrations will be featured in the series. Scheduled topics are: Feb. 1, Weather for Beginners; Feb. 8, Life in Tropical Islands; Feb. 15, Expeditions Into Your Own Backyard; and Feb. 22, Baby Animals.

★ ★ ★

Youngsters are encouraged to bring in their own materials pertinent to the topic. The series is free to student members of the Institute, with a 50-cent charge per session for others.

Thieves in Area Take Explosives

A supply of explosives and 36 detonators were stolen in a burglary reported yesterday at Nitroform Inc., 4270 Haggerty, Commerce Township, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The explosive is the industrial wire type 3/16th of an inch thick. It is used in conjunction with the detonators and an electrical charge, investigators said.

★ ★ ★

Both the explosive wire and the detonator are extremely dangerous, deputies warned.

In addition, about $1,000 in tools, including a $500 vacuum pump were taken, deputies said. Entrance was gained by prying open a metal storage building in the rear of the firm, deputies said.

Brief Waterford School Strike Ends

Waterford Township School District custodians staged a walkout for about six hours yesterday afternoon in protest to alleged "work overloads."

After an agreement with school officials, the men returned to work and were on the job today.

★ ★ ★

The walkout was staged by employes represented by Local 1295 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes. About two-thirds of the janitors left school buildings about 4 p.m. yesterday claiming work schedules were too heavy.

★ ★ ★

After a meeting between school and union officials, the walkout was called off about 10 p.m. A meeting to air complaints will be set later, it was an-

Planner Edward Hustoles Explains Program

Renewal Plans Favorably Received

Lapeer Hearing Draws 100

THE PONTIAC PRESS
Area News
FRIDAY, JANUARY 17, 1969 A 4

TOM GRAY

LAPEER — More than 100 residents of this city turned out last night to jam the City Commission chambers for a public hearing on a proposed $5.1-million urban renewal project.

No decision was made on the proposal by the commission at the three-hour hearing, which consisted of a model and film presentation by two representatives of Vilican-Leman and Associates of Southfield, the city's planning consultants, and a question-and-answer session.

* * *

The project, which has been in planning stages for about three years, has encountered opposition from some downtown businessmen.

Last night's crowd, however, was primarily friendly. A show of hands requested by commissioners at the end of the hearing found a sizable majority in favor of the program.

BIG CHANGES ENVISIONED

Radical changes in Lapeer's central business district (CBD), including construction of a parking ramp-business facility, alterations to Nepessing Street (the town's main street), and a loop road system are envisioned by Vilican-Leman.

Early development would include the creation of the loop around the downtown, with several streets converted to one-way traffic, and Fox and Court streets, which intersect Nepessing, being closed off.

* * *

In addition, buildings along the south side of Park Street and the south side of Clay Street would be removed to provide more parking space.

"At a glance it may appear that the 1975 (first phase) Lapeer Design Plan proposes a huge shopping center surrounded by a sea of parking," the presentation concedes. However, it goes on to point out the necessity of providing the CBD with the "convenience of a shopping center."

PEDESTRIAN MALL

Vilican-Leman's long-range plan (through 1990) projects all streets in the CBD being converted into a pedestrian mall, four parking structures, and creation of a plaza in front of the county courthouse.

The firm's presentation cites problems of congestion and inconvenience in the CBD.

"Nepessing ... is usually congested with through and internal traffic, impeded by parking vehicles and hazardous intersections for both vehicles and pedestrians," the presentation comments.

Vilican-Leman's answer? Relieve the parking problems with a ramp to provide convenient access to the CBD, and curve Nepessing to allow on-street parking without obstructing traffic.

MOST COSTLY

The parking structure, the most costly portion of the program, drew fire from several residents and businessman, some with businesses in the block where the structure would be constructed.

Tom Beyer, owner of Beyer's Appliance Inc., 323 W. Nepessing, told commissioners, "I think a lot of us are in favor of the program except for this one facet. We agree on the need for parking, but we would rather see the parking spaces made available in some other way."

However, Edward J. Hustoles of Vilican-Leman responded, "Our advice is that the land should not be cleared immediately, that you should wait and see how much demand you have.

"If you find that demand is not increasing as fast as anticipated, you can make changes in the program later," he added.

"If we can study the situation as we go along and turn down the ramp later, I see no reason why we should not go along with the program right now," asserted Don Lyons, of Lyons and Smith, Inc., 194 W. Nepessing.

Another resident, Charles G. Mohl of 448 Fox, concurred. "It seems to me that the consuming public is going to determine what we will have to do in the way of providing parking space. It will be the final determinant of whether our plans will succeed.

"I have an interest in several properties in the downtown area, and I'm trying to decide now whether to stay with Lapeer or go somewhere else where the action is."

Time is an important factor now, the consultants said, because the city can be credited with $214,000 for the existing parking lots which it has built in recent years, provided the urban renewal contract is approved by the end of March.

If the city does not move by then, a three-year time limit on the credits will expire.

* * *

Cost of the parking ramp is estimated at $1.6 million, which would represent nearly all of the city's contribution to the project.

The consultants suggested that the ramp be financed with bonds, to be paid off through income from use of the ramp by shoppers.

Even if the ramp is not built, though, they added, the city will have to foot bills for added parking space.

Surveys show Lapeer services an area of 60,000 potential shoppers, both in Lapeer County and outside.

With the transition from farming to an extension of suburbia, that number is expected to increase to 80,000 within the next 10 years.

* * *

"The future is here," Hustoles declared. "There is a strong market here, and the dollars are going to be spent."

GOP Wins County Reins, Dem Caucus Ousts Rebels

By JEAN SAILE

Two defecting Democrats yesterday gave the Republicans a majority on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and turned their own party — which had held a 15-12 edge — into a minority group.

Carl O'Brien and George Grba, both of Pontiac, were removed from the Democratic caucus in a special meeting at the close of yesterday's long and hectic board session.

* * *

Philip O. Mastin Jr. of Hazel Park, Democratic caucus chairman, said the action had been taken unanimously as a result of what he called both O'Brien's and Grba's "self-interest."

The two apparently were lured to the Republican camp with promises of committee appointments refused them by their own party. Grba became chairman of the finance committee and O'Brien became a member of that committee in yesterday's board actions.

'TREACHERY' CHARGED

Democrats on the floor referred publicly to the exchange of "30 pieces of silver" and "treachery" in connection with the defections.

William M. Richards of Ferndale, chairman of the board's committee on committees, said, "I oppose (the appointments) as a Democrat and a public servant. I do not feel George Grba qualified to serve as chairman of finance. This is totally without honor. I publicly disassociate myself from Grba and O'Brien."

* * *

Grba, a graduate of Ferris State College where he said he received a degree in accountancy, was chief maintenance inspector for the Oakland County Department of Public Works before seeking office.

Grba told The Pontiac Press yesterday that because one of his friends (whom he refused to identify) had been removed from a committee "through a devious operation," he had become an independent Democrat.

SECOND BERTH

Meantime, O'Brien, a former state senator and former administrative assistant to the Senate Democratic Caucus, retained his legislative committee chairmanship promised to him by Democrats and gained the finance committee berth as well.

He said later, "The best compromise system won. I voted with them (The Republicans) on the basis of principle."

* * *

He intimated the Democrats had refused to change their stand in an effort to save face for their leader, Mastin.

Mastin accorded no chairmanship or vice chairmanship under the accepted committee structure — was left as a member of four committees.

EQUAL SPLIT

The remaining 10 committee chairmanships (excepting those chaired by O'Brien and Grba) were divided equally among Democrats and Republicans.

* * *

Republican-chaired committees are: Human resources — Robert Patnales; public works — Harry Horton; aviation and transportation — Wallace Gabler; local affairs — Richard Wilcox; and regional affairs — Delos Hamlin.

* * *

O'BRIEN GRBA

* * *

It was a day of intensive parliamentary maneuvers by Republicans, who with Grba and O'Brien voted in a bloc throughout 17 roll calls.

FILIBUSTER FAILS

A filibuster attempted by Democrats never really got started and was killed for all time when Republicans were able to put through a permanent rule limiting total debate on a question to one hour — little more than two minutes per supervisor.

There were seven calls yesterday for recess or adjournment, none successful, and supervisors worked through the day with no break for lunch.

* * *

Democrats lost a plea that they at least be allowed to name their own committee members and also lost a chance to publicly chastise O'Brien and Grba.

Said Mastin, "They (the Republicans) will probably live to regret the selection of these gentlemen even more than we do."

FLOOR FIGHT LEADERS

Yesterday's Republican floor fight was headed by Christian Powell (who had already been granted the legislative committee vice chairmanship by Dems) and Paul Kasper.

* * *

Powell proposed the committee appointments as a minority report — later not allowed as such. His proposal followed a request from Richards that the committee on committees be given more time to complete board restructure.

* * *

Richards revealed that Democrats had agreed to give Republicans two chairmanships — the aviation committee and public works.

Said Mainland, "They told us they wanted five or nothing."

Tax Loss in Avon?

Cash Reasons Out ABMs

By L. GARY THORNE
Assistant City Editor-Suburban

AVON TOWNSHIP — Officials of this township may have come up with the best reason yet against a local Sentinel antiballistic missile (ABM) base.

It's spelled M-O-N-E-Y.

Through its financial consultants, the township has documented a net loss of more than $73 million in tax revenue over a 30-year period from 1970 to 2000.

This is the total loss in taxes which would be sustained by the township, the school district, the county and any other governmental unit that might be eligible for such revenue. Included is the potential loss to the township's water and sewer intentions (reckoned at $9.8 million).

News Analysis

ONE OF FOUR AREAS

Avon is one of four areas in Oakland County being considered by the Army as potential site for an ABM base and/or its related radar. The site being considered in Avon is at the southwest corner of Rochester and Avon Roads, known as Section 22.

Just south of Rochester, this corner is also proposed for development of another kind, namely, a multimillion-dollar commercial and residential complex. Some 525 acres are available for development.

* * *

Formerly the Mount Elliott Cemetery property, the land was purchased last September by Sullivan and Smith Builders and Howard Brothers, developers of Fox Hills subdivision in Bloomfield Township and owners of North Park Towers at Northland.

* * *

Proposed are a shopping center, professional buildings apartments and single-family residences. Reports are that constructon could begin late this year with completion due by 1977.

300 ACRES NEEDED

The Army reportedly needs about 300 acres to stable its nuclear-armed Spartan and Sprint missiles. This obviously would severly cramp the style of any development on the remaining 225 acres, providing of course, a store or apartment doesn't mind an underground silo as a neighbor.

But, what of the tax revenue?

* * *

The Army doesn't pay taxes. Commercial-residential developments do.

The current controversy has been created largely around the concern that Sentinel program missiles may be unsafe neighbors, although ther is some opionion that a functional-limited ABM system isn't such a good idea to begin with.

* * *

If money talks, Avon taxpayers might be persuaded to do just about anything — including write their congressman — to salvage $73 million in tax revenue. It well might be a stronger argument than to talk about people being in danger of nuclear accident.

Date Is Reserved for a Walled Lake School Tax Vote

WALLED LAKE — The board of education here has decided to hold April 29 open for a special millage election.

"The school district is considering its financial needs and in case the board decides to hold a special millage election, it wants the date reserved, "explained schools Supt. Dr. George Garver.

* *

The board must submit the proposed date to the Oakland County Election Screening committee for final approval.

The board has also voted to request opinions on a proposed name for the new vocational center from those in the school district who will be serviced by the center.

BEING CONSIDERED

The name being considered is "Southwest Oakland Vocational Center." The school is to open in September 1970.

* * *

Authorization to proceed with development of plans for putting administrative offices in Walled Lake Junior High School has been given by the board. Turning classrooms into office space is being planned in lieu of constructing a new building, according to Garver.

Troy Charter Requirement for Judge Hopefuls Voided

TROY — A city charter provision placing residency requirements on candidates for municipal judge was ruled invalid yesterday by Oakland County Circuit Judge Robert L. Templin.

The decision was requested by William E. Wilson, an attorney, after his nominating petitions for the post were rejected by City Clerk Kenneth L. Courtney.

* * *

The petitions were turned down because Wilson had only lived in the city 18 months, falling six months short of the residency requirement imposed by the charter.

* * *

Templin based his opinion on several state laws including one that declared justice of the peace candidates only have to be a resident of a county for three years, and another that equates municipal judges with the justices.

LONG-TIME RESIDENT

Wilson has been a long-time resident of the county.

Templin dismissed the argument presented by City Attorney Stanley Burke that the statute concerning the justices doesn't apply because it no longer is on the books.

* * *

Templin said that the legislature did remove the law in making court revisions in 1966, but that it was in effect when the charter was originally adopted.

* * *

Wilson, who has his law practice in Ferndale, and W. D. Bollinger, the city's associate judge, are seeking the office being vacated by Municipal Judge Charles H. Losey, who is retiring.

FEB. 17 PRIMARY

If more candidates file, all their names will appear on the Feb. 17 primary ballot, with the two receiving the highest number of votes going on to the general election on April 7.

There would be no primary if Wilson and Bollinger are the only candidates, and the April election would decide the race.

Wixom Council Member Quits

WIXOM — A long-time council member, Ray W. Lahti, has resigned because of his recent appointment to the Oakland County Board of Social Services.

LAHTI

Lahti of 2240 Nalone told council members that a state statute governing the board of social services forbids his holding any elective position while a board member.

He was one of three appointed to the board recently by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

* * *

Lahti, 53, was serving his third four-year term on the council. He had also served on two charter commissions and represented Wixom on the County Board of Supervisors.

He is a civics teacher at Oak Park High School.

UNSUCCESSFUL CANDIDATE

Lahti was an unsuccessful supervisor candidate last November in district 27.

* * *

The council has scheduled a public hearing, for 8 p.m. Feb. 11 on Howard Keating's request for rezoning of some 25 acres of land from residential to multiple dwelling. The property in question is off Beck just north of Pontiac Trail.

Hamlin PTA Plans Film, Panel on Sex

AVON TOWNSHIP — A film entitled "What Do You Really Know About Sex?" is scheduled to be shown at the Elementary School PTA.

Mrs. Barbara Underwood, an Oakland County health nurse, will be guest speaker at the meeting, and a panel discussion will follow the film.

* * *

The meeting will begin at 8 at the school, 270 W. Hamlin.

MRS. HAROLD R. ROEHM

Today's Woman

Civic Role Key to Today

By JEANNE NELSON

The Harold Roehm home on Lone Pine Road vividly recalls the past with its generous array of historical furniture and priceless objets d'art. But Lucy Roehm is a woman keyed to the future.

Her keen interest in the cultural aspects of today's and future generations comes alive at the mention of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Along with 13 other women in 1962, she helped form the volunteer Docent program at the Institute. Its ranks now number 73.

The Docent program is an ambitious one, with a great deal of behind-the-scenes preparation involved. Prior to each new exhibit, the Docents go through a vigorous training course until each anticipated question can be answered. As might be expected, this sort of training is an ongoing program.

In addition to conducting the scheduled tours within the Institute itself, Docents are called upon to visit schools in preparation of classes wishing to take the tours. "This type of advance introduction into subject matter that will be viewed later is invaluable to a successful tour," says Mrs. Roehm.

★ ★ ★

The Docent program is one of many offshoots of the Institute's Founders Society. Membership in the Society, which offers a variety of services and benefits, is only $15 per year, reminds Mrs. Roehm, or $25 for a whole family.

Although the Docent program demands a great deal of her time, another interest vies for attention in her busy schedule — the new Bloomfield Township Library which opens soon. She is an elected trustee of the library and has devoted many hours to plans for the facilities on the corner of Lone Pine and Telegraph Roads.

The Roehm home stands on property her great-great grandmother, Katie Ann Vaughn, owned. One of her husband's ancestral homes is on display at the Detroit Fair Grounds.

In almost every room in the Roehm home there are old hanging mirrors with delicate china looking-glass knobs on them. Others of these looking-glass knobs are displayed in a massive carved breakfront. This fine old piece also holds a number of antiques collected on world travels.

But the down-to-earth Roehms live with priceless pieces of furniture and Oriental rugs, in an every day matter-of-fact way. The 18th century folding card table in the pleasant sun room is often used for games with the couple's seven grandchildren or to hold evening snacks.

"The joy of having these things comes with being able to use them," says Mrs. Roehm.

★ ★ ★

Another form of art Mrs. Roehm enjoys is that which comes out of the kitchen. She's known for her oxtail soup, the kind that "sticks to your lips," and for her baking. No better testimonial can be found for this than a busy physician-husband who comes home for lunch every day.

Both husband and wife love to garden and share a joint interest in dry fly fishing and partridge shooting.

★ ★ ★

Since her involvement with the Docents and the library, Mrs. Roehm admits her attendance at Birmingham-Bloomfield League of Women Voters has dropped, but not her interest in community matters.

She also belongs to the Birmingham branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association and The Great Books Movement.

Lady Bird's Liz Honored by Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elizabeth Carpenter left them laughing in her "Swan Song of a Lame Duck."

Through the years of the Johnson administration, Mrs. Carpenter has been its top comic as well as press secretary and staff director for Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Thursday was her day for an official farewell to the National Press Club, and hundreds attended a lunch in her honor.

Some samples of her rapid-fire humor:

—"The big question, for instance, is what Sen. McCarthy is planning to do next. When reporters ask him, he doesn't say anything, but he does let them kiss his ring."

—Unsuccessful in her effort to sell herself for preservation as a rare White House object, she turned to Secretary of the Interior — designate Walter J. Hickel "and offered myself as a national historical monument. He took one look at me and said 'I don't believe in conservation just for conservation's sake.' "

TWO PARADES

—"Actually there will be two inaugural parades, one to the White House led by the Whittier High School band, the other from the White House, led by Allied Van Lines. I was told which one I get to march in."

On the serious side, she expressed disapproval of an emphasis by some on style and charisma. She asked the newsmen:

"Is charisma really so essential to a good public servant?

"We daily pay homage to it in print — perhaps without asking if it really affects the way a government functions."

Area Book Club Selects Braider Book to Review

Mrs. Lester Blagg will host Monday's meeting of The Waterford Township Book Review Group in her home on Dixie Highway. A dessert luncheon will precede the review of "Color From a Light Within," by Braider. Mrs. Robert Haskins is the reviewer.

Assisting the hostess for the 1 p.m. affair will be Mrs. Clair Johnson and Mrs. Francis Kinkle.

Wives Brighten Male Gathering at Cobo Hall

By SHIRLEY GRAY

The national convention of the Society of Automotive Engineers Wednesday evening was predominantly a stag scene, but there were a few bright spots in the sea of serge at Cobo Hall—Mrs. William Rodger in green chiffon, for one.

Mrs. Semon Knudsen, just back from a week at Main Chance, wore a smart, white blouse-black jumper ensemble, complete with black hose.

Trudy Huebner dressed up in one of her Christmas presents — a pink and gold brocade frock with a wide band of black mink around the hem — shopped for in person by husband, George.

ON TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Ahrens of Bloomfield Hills left last week on the Pacific Grand Tour. Their cruise ship, the Sagafjord, will be docking at sun-drenched spots like Tahiti, New Zealand, Australia, and the Philippines.

They will stop again at a favorite spot, Hong Kong, then on to Yokohama, Honolulu, Acapulco and finally Nassau.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Andreae of Bloomfield Hills slipped away during the holiday week, first for New Year's Day in Oklahoma City with her parents, then on to Mexico for fishing, sunning on sandy beaches, and the like, in places like La Paz and Porto Vaillarta. They also visited friends in Mexico City.

★ ★ ★

The Winter Club, a 30-year-old dancing group, is having its winter get-together Saturday evening at Bloomfield Hills Country Club. On the membership roster are 70 Birmingham-Bloomfield couples.

Unique among clubs, this one has no officers, and at their meetings, they dance.

'Steady' Friend Wants Woman to Share Cost

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: I am divorced and going steady with a divorced man. Every Saturday evening he takes me out to eat at a nice restaurant, then to a night club. On Sunday afternoon he comes over again, then later in the evening he grills steaks on my hibachi.

★ ★ ★

My problem is this: He thinks I should buy the vegetables and the rest; he only wants to pay for the steaks. I think he should buy the food as it is cheaper for him to eat at my house than to take me out to eat in a restaurant. Am I being too greedy? I thought a woman wasn't to cook for a man until they got married. I admit that the steaks he grills are better than any I've eaten. — Julia

★ ★ ★

Dear Julia: You are presumably mature people, not a couple of teen-agers worrying about whether a girl invites a boy to dinner.

★ ★ ★

Since your friend is wining and dining you every Saturday and provides the expensive part of the Sunday meal, the least you could do is offer to buy — and prepare — the accompaniments. You're lucky. A lot of men might expect the whole Sunday dinner served to them under an arrangement such as yours.

Rome First Fashion Center Stop as Spring Collections Unveiled

ROME (AP) — Italy starts the ball rolling today for a two-week marathon of spring-summer fashion collections in which three other countries will be taking part.

★ ★ ★

From Rome, the showings switch on Jan. 24 to Madrid, where Spanish designers will show their paces. Last stop is Paris, where shows start Jan. 27 and run on into February.

Fashion writers and buyers who follow the presentations will by then have sat through the showing of well over 10,000 creations and millions of dollars will have changed hands.

But perhaps only a handful of really new ideas will emerge as the next fashion crazes.

The shows are for women's wear but the men are steadily elbowing their way into the picture.

Rome shows kick off with 10 menswear designers presenting ideas for what the fashion-conscious male should wear for spring and summer.

Saturday it will be the turn of the ladies, with Valentino's eagerly awaited night-time showing keeping the fashion crowd wide awake until midnight.

VP

Veteran menswear designer Brioni, showing this evening, announces the VP line. VP stands for vertical personality or how to make a man look taller without hanging him up by the ears.

Brioni describes his collection as an evaluation of the changes for the better that have been made in men's fashion over the past 15 years. Fashion historians please take note.

★ ★ ★

About to turn the tables on all those women's wear designers who recently have become so busy trying their hand at designing modes for men is Sicilian-born Angelo Litrico. He will present "Litrico for her," his thoughts on what the well-dressed woman should wear.

When it comes to menswear, Litrico says his concept is the tall, thin, youthful man. There's nothing new in that. Fatty is nobody's favorite when it comes to designing clothes.

Wanver will add a topical note with his "space line" that will feature suits equipped with lots of seams shooting upwards to give an elongated line.

Capucci, just returned to brave the Italian critics after a seven-year stint with his own women's couture house in Paris, reveals that he also will be showing some pretty fancy outfits for the boys.

New Neighbor Refuses to Gossip Against Others

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For years several of us women in the neighborhood have had coffee together regularly. A newcomer has joined our group and she is our problem.

Abby, you know how women are. They talk about different things, and people, and so on. Well, nobody can say a word about anything without Mrs. Newcomer butting in with, "Were you there? Can you prove it? From where do you get your information?"

This puts a crimp in our coffee parties as no one wants to go on the witness stand and take an oath on a Bible that what she says is gospel.

We would like to drop Mrs. Newcomer from our group as she is not our kind. But how?

OLD TIMERS

DEAR OLD TIMERS: I doubt if you will be troubled with Mrs. Newcomer much longer, for she will soon conclude that YOU are not HER kind. And frankly, if I had to choose between her company and yours. I'd choose hers.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: When my married daughter visits me I always give her the best sleeping accommodations in the house, but when I visit her for a few weeks she puts me on her davenport or any make-shift place.

This year she has written to say that if I come again this winter, she will put me in her unfinished, unheated attic room. There is no bath on that floor and I had a stroke two years ago which makes walking stairs difficult for me, Also I have weak kidneys and need to use the bathroom during the night.

★ ★ ★

My daughter is kind and good in other respects, but I am terribly hurt by these sleeping arrangements and am thinking strongly of not visiting her this winter. What would you do?

HURT MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I would stay home.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have written to you several times before but have yet to see one of my letters in the paper so will be surprised if I see this one.

★ ★ ★

The letter signed "Rube's Wife" has prompted me to write now. I know what that lady means when she says she feels that her husband was cheated as far as affection from her is concerned, as I, myself would much rather go to bed with a good book than with my husband. How we ever happened to have three children I can't quite figure out.

It would not bother me one bit if my husband came home and told me he had found a nice woman about his own age who was able to give him more love and affection than I can. I would ask only, "Is she clean?" Then I would just go out and get another book, and say, like Rube's wife. "No one would have to know."

Carosa's white wool shirt-dress. The hat is of white felt. Our model is Leda Lojodice, "prima ballerina" of the legendary "La Fenice" opera of Venice and of the Spoleto festival of two worlds.

In a special collection aptly named "couples" comes this two-some of light tan wool by Angelo Litrico for the spring-summer showings opening today in Rome. The mood is young and on-the-move.

Marsha Thompson, 19, a secretary in the Iowa House of Representatives, found herself in the middle of a mini flap this week when an edict came down for secretaries to refrain from minis "for their own protection."

Iowa Legislators Try to Agree on Miniskirts

DES MOINES (AP) — Members of Iowa's House of Representatives devoted their maximum attention to a mini matter Wednesday — Marsha's miniskirt to be exact.

Attention turned in that direction when Mrs. Delores Abels, secretary to the chief clerk, suggested in an orientation session for new secretaries that they refrain from minis "for their own protection."

"I don't feel that these young girls, some from small towns and not used to big city life, should be subjected to comments which I am certain will come," Mrs. Abels said.

And there was Marsha Thompson, 19, of Sioux Falls, S.D., all decked out in an orange minidress that stopped about eight inches above her knee.

As word of Mrs. Abels' suggestion spread, a number of legislators sprang to the defense of the mini, even one as "mini" as Marsha's.

"The only objection I can find is that they are too long," reported Rep. William Hill, R-Marshalltown, after a quick check among his colleagues.

"I wish I could wear them," sighed State Sen. Charlene Conklin, R-Waterloo.

At least one legislator took a long view of the matter.

"Such dress creates a diversion from our work," said State Rep. Charles Grassley, 35, R-Hartford. "Not only that, they bring shame to the legislature."

Finally, it was grandfather's view which prevailed. Marsha is secretary to her grandfather, Rep. Leo Sanders, R-Estherville.

Sanders said he saw nothing wrong with Marsha's mini, but because of the furor he might suggest that she lower her hemlines.

The Kenneth Jewell Chorale will highlight its annual community concert on Jan. 24 with a performance of the highly unusual Hindemith Mass.

Double the Life

To double the life of a growing boy's jeans, reinforce the knee area while they are still new and before they have ever been worn. Launder to remove sizing, then apply iron-on patch to the inside of the jeans leg. This puts the strain on the patch, rather than the material, and makes them last ever so much longer.

BARBARA FULSHER

The Bernard J. Stickneys of South Francis Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Ellen Corinne, to Leroy Gutierrez. Their son, Gregory Lee, and Barbara Jean Fulsher will wed in September. Miss Stickney's fiance is the son of the Salvador Gutierrezes of Going Street. Gregory's bride-to-be is the daughter of the Howard Fulshers of Southfield.

'Confusion!' Times Four

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Mrs. Yvonne Wise a kindergarten teacher in St. Louis, constantly sees double in her work. In her classroom, there are four sets of twins — three sets of boys, one set of girls.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Wise, admitting confusion sometimes, explains why.

— Two sets are Negro.

— Two sets are Caucasian.

— Two sets are identiacal.

— Two sets were born one month apart.

— Two sets were born on holidays — Christmas and Thanksgiving

— Two sets of boys have the same first names — James and John.

REGULAR

Mrs. Wise said, "all four sets have perfect attendance — so they can confuse me every day."

Builder of F111A Calls Viet Performance a Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the firm building the Air Force's revolutionary but controversial F111A jet fighter-bomber says its Vietnam combat performance proved out successfully a new tactic in air warfare.

Frank W. Davis, president of General Dynamics Corp., said this is important to future warplanes which will use the same techniques involving flight to target at very high speed and very low altitude and hitting objectives accurately despite zero visibility.

* * *

Responding to questions posed by the Fort Worth (Tex.) Star-Telegram, Davis said the swing-wing F111A — known in its development days as the TFX — was committed to battle only "when planes and crews were deemed combat-ready."

Some critics of the much-criticized F111 contended the Air Force, possibly under prodding from civilian Pentagon leaders, sent the plane into action against North Vietnam before it was tested adequately. Three were lost out of eight committed.

NEW TACTIC

Davis said:

". . . the F111s were sent to Southeast Asia for a very important reason: to test a new tactic in aerial warefare. They were sent when planes and crews were deemed combat-ready. Results of combat missions flown proved that new tactic to be successful and this information is important not just to the F111 but to several future systems which will employ the same techniques.

"The loss of three F111s in Souheast Asia does not diminish the importance of what was learned, in my opinion. We think we know the cause of these three losses, and the cause has been removed."

* * *

But at another point, Davis said the causes of two "are unknown since the aircraft are still listed as missing on combat missions in Southeast Asia."

The Air Force said the third F111 lost while operating from a base in Thailand fell because a capsule of material used to seal fuel tanks became lodged in part of the plane's flight-control mechanism.

REPLY TO SYMINGTON

The General Dynamics president replied also to some criticisms of the F111 made by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former secretary of the Air Force and an air-power advocate.

Here are excerpts from the Star-Telegram's question-and-answer interview with Davis:

Q. There has been much publicity about the F111s crashing or being shot down in Vietnam. What is your reaction to this? Was the F111 committed to Vietnam too soon, or what?

A. Whether and when to send F111s to Southeast Asia was a decision made by the Air Force.

AIR NET TOUGH

It is a fact, widely reported in the press, that the air defenses in North Vietnam are the toughest ever encountered.

It is also a fact that, in war, the balance between offense and defense shifts constantly. In the buildup of North Vietnamese air defenses, using Soviet weapons, we have seen a steady shift in the balance toward the defense.

* * *

As has been frequently reported, the intensive ground fire over North Vietnam has forced our attacking aircraft up to altitudes where they become vulnerable to surface-to-air missiles (SAMs) or to enemy fighters.

Our military planners have sought to shift the balance back by first testing, then using, devices and tactics that help cancel out the enemy advantage.

RADAR CONFUSERS

One example is our growing use of electronic devices and tactics to confuse North Vietnamese radar.

Another example might be an airplane that could hit enemy targets without being vulnerable to the enemy's built-up defenses. But to be able to do this, such an airplane would first have to be able to fly at very low altitude at very high speed. If it could do this, it would be too low to be detected by enemy radar which, of course directs the enemy ground fire. It would also be too low for the SAMs.

* * *

Those capabilities alone wouldn't be enough as long as the enemy could see it. So you need to be able to fly in zero visibility, too.

All these capabilities still would not make such an airplane effective, however, unless it can deliver its weapons accurately on a target in zero visibility.

50 MISSIONS

What I have just described is the F111A and the type of mission it actually did fly in Southeast Asia. It can do and has done all the things I've described. Based on the results of more than 50 of these radar bombing missions, Air Force Secretary Harold Brown told Congress that the F111A "... did a job that no other aircraft that we have is able to do."

Summarizing, the F111s were sent to Southeast Asia for a very important reason: to test a new tactic in aerial warfare. They were sent when planes and crews were deemed combat-ready. Results of combat missions flown proved that new tactic to be successful and this information is important not just to the F111 but to several future systems which will employ the same techniques.

* * *

The loss of three F111s in Southeast Asia does not diminish the importance of what was learned, in my opinion. We think we know the cause of those three losses, and the cause has been removed.

HOW MANY

Q. How many F111s have been completed and flown?

A. One hundred and thirty-five F111s have been built and flown. They have amassed more than 19,500 flying hours.

Q. How many have crashed?

A. Eleven.

Q. What caused each crash?

A. Four losses were attributable to mechanical malfunctions in the airplane. These causes have been eliminated. One loss is attributable to improper maintenance; four to improper crew procedures; two are unknown since the aircraft are still listed as missing on combat missions in Southeast Asia.

Q. What about Symington's statement that the F111 is "too large and too expensive to be used for daylight dive-bombing, too sluggish and too unmaneuverable to risk in air-to-air combat and too expensive to commit to the kind of action where a man with a rifle might knock it down?"

OPTIMUM CONDITIONS

A. Let's take the bombing issue first. Sen. Symington assumes three conditions: daylight, good weather, and little or no enemy opposition. Given those three conditions, Sen. Symington is correct. You could bomb Hanoi with Piper Cubs.

Under Sen. Symington's set of ideal conditions, alternative aircraft could be more cost effective than the F111, but these costs may not include support aircraft such as tankers, fighter cover, and radar surveillance. The F111 needs none of these.

Instead of Sen. Symington's conditions, assume these: night, bad weather and heavy enemy opposition. Since the Air Force already had aircraft able to be effective in the senator's scenario, it developed the F111 to be effective under a more arduous set. It needed both types of aircraft, now it has them.

As to air-to-air combat, it must be remembered that the F111A was developed to replace the F105 as the Air Force's workhorse fighter-bomber. This transition is now in progress. Like the F105, the F111A's job is to be able to fight its way through enemy defenses and hit targets accurately deep in an enemy heartland, then fight its way out again.

DIFFERENT CATEGORY

Fighter-bombers are a different category of aircraft than air-superiority fighters, and the F111 design was laid down as the former, not the latter. Despite this, the F111A is not defenseless against enemy aircraft. This observation could best be pursued with the Air Force pilots who are flying the F111A.

Q. What about Symington's statement that the plane does not have the range nor the bomb-carrying capacity of either the B52 or the B58, although the FB111 is supposed to replace these planes?

* * *

A. The primary reason that the FB111 can be a replacement for the early models of the B52 is that it has greater range when operated with a tanker, and they both require a tanker to accomplish long-range missions. Since the smaller FB111 requires less fuel from the tanker, it can be refueled over twice as far from the takeoff base as the B52.

During the combat portion of the mission, following refueling, the FB111 has a superior low-level range performance, because it was designed for the low-altitude conditions while the B52 was not. Accordingly, on this refueled mission, the total target coverage of the FB111 is greater than that of the early B52.

SMALLER SIZE VIRTUE

Since the FB111 can exceed the range of the older B52 on refueled missions, the smaller size of the FB111 is a virtue; i.e., it is harder to spot by radar. Because it is smaller, faster and more versatile, it is a much more serious threat to enemy defenses.

The FB111 can make its penetration to the target at very low altitudes and at very high speeds. The B52 cannot. The FB111 also can penetrate at high altitudes at more than twice the speed of sound. The B52 cannot—it is a subsonic airplane.

AP Workers OK Contract; Strike Ends

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking members of the Wire Service Guild return today to work at the Associated Press after voting to accept a three-year contract offer.

The union had been on strike for eight days. Basic AP news and photo services had continued uninterrupted. The decision to return was announced Thursday night.

Guild officials did not give exact results of the balloting, which was conducted for bureaus throughout the country. The end of the strike was announced before tabulating was completed, but unofficial sources said that with a majority of the tally in, the vote was running about two-to-one in favor of acceptance.

Members of the union's bargaining committee had recommended rejection of the management proposal. The vote came less than 12 hours after members of the United Telegraph Workers resumed work UTW members, who operate teleprinters and maintain other equipment, had refused to cross Guild picket lines since the strike began at 8 a.m., Jan. 9.

The proposal approved by the Guild included the $250 weekly top minimum in the third year of the contract which was offered at the start of the strike to reporters, photographers and some other employes.

A modified Guild shop which had been sought by the union was not included in the new offer. A top minimum of $264, maintenance of present union membership and a requirement that eight of 10 new employes join the union were other demands.

Referring to the modified Guild shop proposal, Wes Gallagher, general manager of the AP, had said: "The AP firmly believes that if it is to maintain its standards of objectivity in the eyes of the reading public—which is essential—it cannot force its news employes into any organization, including a union."

The accepted contract includes a number of added benefits from the prestrike offer.

The work week was reduced from 40 to 37½ hours for employes on night, overnight and Sunday duty.

An additional holiday brought the total in the contract to eight.

A cost-of-living factor was provided, based on any rise in the 1970 federal index above 4.7 per cent. For each 1 per cent rise in the index above that point, employes on scale or receiving a general increase will receive a 1 per cent salary increase in 1971.

Monthly hospitalization benefits were increased $2.

Vacation benefits were increased, with employes getting three weeks after four years, instead of after five years as previously, and four weeks after nine years, instead of after 10.

The previous top minimum of $207 increases during the first year of the contract to $224, to $235 in the second year, and $250 in the third. The top minimum applies to workers with six years' experience.

Trading Is Active

Stock Market Resumes Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market resumed yesterday's rally early today in active trading.

While some profit taking was evident, the Dow Jones industrial average showed a gain of less than a point and gains outnumbered losses by about 250 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

Active gainers of a point or better were American Smelting, Goodrich and United Air Lines.

Most airline stocks were slightly higher, aided by news that domestic airlines fare boosts of 3.8 per cent were tentatively approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Merck held steady, not stimulated by news that the company and Rockefeller University had announced a complete chemical synthesis of an enzyme.

Gains of a point or better were made by Schering, Xerox, Westinghouse Electric and Xerox.

Benguet became the early leader on volume as it sold on a block of 45,000 shares at 15¼, up ¾.

Other early blocks included:

American Smelting, up 1 at 86½ on 25,800 shares; Seaboard Finance, off ⅛ at 35 on 24,600; Molybdenité, up ¼ at 7¾ on 19,600; and Eastern Air Lines, up — at 29 on 15,700.

Hopefulness concerning peace negotiations, a government forecast that wage and price increases will be slowed only moderately this year and the decision of stock exchanges to continue five-day-week, four-hour sessions were regarded as encouraging items for stocks.

Thursday The Associate Press average of 60 stocks rose 2.0 to 351.7.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.
